Apples Selling At 5-cts. Each

Edmonton and Other Prairie Towns
Good Apple Markets.

Washington Keen For Capturing Canadian Market.

$1.45 to $1.75 per box for "orchard gem" apples, and fairly good apples at three and four pounds for 25 cents, and the so-called "fancy" apples retailing at five cents each is the discovery made at Edmonton by a Spokane citizen now temporarily in Alberta, and he urges his people, through the columns of the Spokane-Spokane Review to ship in their apples.

Writing further of prices he says: "At that rate a fancy Spitz should fetch from $5 to $6 a box. What is more, I haven't seen a first-class north-western apple in any of the stores, restaurants or hotels in Edmonton, Calgary or any other city or town in Alberta."

This informant thinks it would be well to send an agent into Alberta and neighboring provinces to work among the hotels, restaurants and fruit stores.

PRAIRIE'S ARE EXCELLENT MARKET.

"The people have money and are ready and willing to pay the price for really first-class fruit. In fact, they are paying it now for ordinary grades. The duty is 20 cents a box and with added freight charges of 25 cents, the apples, now going begging at $1 in Spokane, might be sold here at a handsome profit."

"The Provincial Government of British Columbia has had agents in the three prairie provinces looking over sites for cold storage plants. The province sends large consignments of apples and small fruits into Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Growers of peaches, cherries and berries in the Lewiston (Wash.) district also send lots of fruit into Alberta. People here paid as high as 40 cents for a pound of Bing and Royal Ann cherries last summer."

"With the facilities now afforded by the International and Canadian Pacific railroads between Spokane and Edmonton a consignment of fruit, leaving Spokane on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, could be placed on the market here the following Wednesday morning. From this point railways are operating main and branch lines to the east, west, north and south."

EXPANSIVE TERRITORY OPENED UP.

"We can go north by rail to within a few miles of the 55th parallel, west to Fitzhugh, B.C., in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, and east to Winnipeg."

"North of Athabasca, 100 miles from here, the stuff is carried by river and lake in the summer, and by horses and ox teams in the winter."

"Here in central and northern Alberta, containing a population of more than 300,000 and in the contiguous territory east and west with as many more, Washington growers would meet no local competition. There are no commercial orchards, though we have been told by the Department of Agriculture that the hardy varieties would do well in this province. We buy hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of oranges, bananas and other fruits in season from all parts of the world, and it would seem that Spokane might contribute its quota in good juicy apples for which the people are prepared to pay the highest market price."

"I note also that choice apples are selling in Spokane at a half cent each. Send the fancy ones to Edmonton; we'll pay at least 10 times that price."

APPLE ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN.

"It is gratifying to learn that the president of the Wenatchee commercial club has placed himself on record in favor of an advertising campaign to popularize the apple. California was successful in a campaign last year, when the orange growers raised $40,000 for a nation wide advertising campaign. I was in Los Angeles at the time the movement was started, and I have heard since that it was a 20 to 1 investment. To-day one hardly hears anything about the Florida orange, which, experts say, is the best flavored of the two.

"There are growing in the State of Washington about 10,000,000 apple trees. If each grower would contribute a half cent for each tree on his land you would have $50,000 for a campaign, which would make the 100,000,000 consumers on the North American continent sit up and cry for apples. If the States of Oregon, Idaho and Montana would join in the movement, Washington's portion of a $50,000 fund would be about $15,000, or one-and-a-half mills a tree. The price of half of the apples in Spokane storage now would pay the bill for the entire state."

MEN'S MASS MEETING.

There was a good attendance of men at the meeting in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon at which Rev. F. W. Hardy presided. The gathering was first favored with a duet by Mr. T. Beavis and Mr. Geo. Fisher. Mr. Hardy then called on Dr. Spencer to address the meeting.

Dr. Spencer opened by saying he was pleased to be present to address a Baptist Brotherhood in a Presbyterian Church presided over by a Methodist minister. He then spoke of the different evils we have to fight against in the advancement of moral and social reform. He instanced cases of the danger of the drink traffic, and urged upon Summerland to keep a clean town. He said he was opposed to any measure for the curtailment of the liquor evil unless it contained a prohibition clause. He said Local Option was a measure to be aimed at. He desired his hearers to get a hold upon politics and force reforming legislation.

Throughout his address he held his audience interested and finally urged upon all who had not done so to put their names on the voters' list, and use their vote to the advancement of reforms irrespective of party.

Mr. Beavis then gave a solo, which was much appreciated.

A short meeting of the B.C. Alliance was held at the close and officers elected for the coming year. They are as follows: President, G. J. C. White; Secretary, A. W. McLeod; Treasurer, J. L. Logie. Revs. F. W. Pattison, F. W. Hardy, and C. H. Daly with A. G. Munn, J. R. Brown, and J. H. Bowering and the officers named above comprise the executive.

GOING TO KALEDEN.

Party Will Go From Here to Attend
Opening of New Church.

The new Baptist Church at Kaledon which has just been completed is to be formally opened on Sunday the 6th inst. Quite a number of Summerland citizens will be present at the dedication, and a number will take part in the service. While a few will go down on Saturday, nearly all of those from Summerland will go by the special trip arranged for Sunday morning, returning that afternoon. A through quick service has been arranged with the Skookum, stage and Cygnet, so that by leaving here at eight o'clock the party will arrive in Kaledon shortly after ten, in good time for the service at 11 o'clock, and will probably return arriving at Summerland again at 5. Post-master Hayes has the matter in hand and any who wish to attend may communicate with him or be present at the Summerland wharf at 8 a.m. Sunday morning. A special round trip fare of $2 has been arranged for.

SCOTT MEMORIAL FUND.

At a meeting of the Overseas Club on Thursday, April 3rd, a resolution was passed to the effect that a memorial fund be started in Summerland in honor of the heroes of the Scott Expedition. A further meeting will be held in the club room, Campbell's Hall, on Wednesday April 9th, at eight o'clock, at which it is earnestly requested that all members be present to hear what has so far been suggested and give their views. So fine an object should call forth the best endeavors of every member. There will also be a discussion as to the arrangements with regard to the sports on May 24th.

Expert to Lecture on Co-operation.

R. Robertson, Who Has Had Much To Do With Fruit, Chosen By Government To Tour Okanagan.

In connection with the efforts that are engaging the attention of all interested in the fruit industry of the province and the promotion of co-operative methods both in marketing the produce and in the purchasing of supplies, Mr. R. Robertson, a member of the firm of Messrs. Morris & Robertson of Vancouver, has been commissioned by the Department of Agriculture to address a series of meetings throughout the Okanagan, and deliver addresses on co-operative methods, and generally to give growers the benefit of his knowledge of a subject of which he has made a special study.

The Okanagan district handles over 75 per cent. of the total fruit output of the province, and consequently the adoption of practical and co-operative methods of co-operation here will be a long step towards the banding together of all B.C. fruit growers, but though the government stands ready to give any such movement its hearty support, it is felt by the leading fruit growers and dealers that the initial steps must be taken, and their own salvation worked out by their own exertions, and Mr. Robertson's mission is to do no more than give them the benefit of his long experience and study of the subject.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES' ACT.

This action on the part of the government is the sequel to the amendment made to the Agricultural Societies' Act at the last session of the legislature, and this in turn was the outgrowth of the conditions which prevailed in the valley last autumn, and which put the problem of fruit marketing acutely before the grower, dealer and consumer. An unusually heavy crop in the Okanagan of the finest peaches and apples that could be grown on the continent, was in a large degree a loss, because of the absence or collapse of the necessary machinery to put it on the market, on the Coast particularly, on a fair basis of competition with American fruit.

Mr. Robertson, Mr. F. R. Stewart, the veteran dealer of Vancouver, and other experts at various meetings which were held, pointed out a solution to the difficulty, viz., a more adequate organization to quickly transfer the product of the orchard to the stall of the consumer.

GOVERNMENT LOANS.

A strong deputation waited on the government prior to the session, urging this change, and partially as a result legislation was passed which seems to provide the facilities which the dealers declare are necessary. In this act the farmers in any particular locality may organize with a capitalization sufficient to co-operatively handle their own fruit. They are required to put up 20 per cent. of the capital stock, and by complying with this and other minor conditions, the government advances them a sum of money equal to 80 per cent. of the capital stock for a period of 20 years, with interest at 4 per cent.

Department of Agriculture,
Victoria,
25th March, 1913.

The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,

Will you kindly allow me the privilege of addressing a few words to the fruit growers of your district through the medium of your valuable paper.

The experience of the past year has shown very forcibly and clearly that if the fruit growers of the Okanagan Valley are to receive the prices for their fruits which they should secure, and to which they are entitled, it is necessary that some immediate steps be taken towards the formation of a central selling organization, which would arrange for the distribution and marketing of the output.

The grade and quality of Okanagan fruit, as is well known, cannot be excelled, but so long as the different shipping organizations are marketing their produce independently, and without mutual co-operation, the best results cannot be obtained.

The Department of Agriculture realizes that this is a matter which must be decided upon by the growers themselves, but in order to give the growers in the different producing centres an opportunity to thoroughly investigate and discuss the question, so that if possible some satisfactory solution may be arrived at, the services of Mr. R. Robertson of Vancouver, who possesses an intimate knowledge of the marketing and distribution of fruit, and also the principles of co-operation, have been secured.

Mr. Robertson will hold a public meeting in your district, and due notice will be given as to time and place very shortly. At this meeting, after a full discussion of the subject, your district will be asked to appoint a fully accredited delegate, who will attend a subsequent meeting, composed of delegates from all the other producing centres, who will take in hand and arrange details for the formation of a central selling agency for the valley if this line of action meets with the approval of the fruit growers.

I would like it to be distinctly understood that this action is being taken by the Department not with any idea of dictating a policy, but in response to numerous requests which have been made that we should send someone through the district with a knowledge of co-operative methods and marketing of fruit. The line of action to be pursued in this connection must be decided upon by the growers themselves.

That the principles of co-operation and united action are correct cannot be gainsaid. Let us therefore all get together and with a little give and take, and the sinking of local rivalries, effect a suitable arrangement whereby the fruit industry of the province may be placed on a basis of progressiveness and lasting prosperity.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

WM. E. SCOTT,
Deputy Minister.

In correspondence with Mr. Robertson the Review learns that he will be here on Monday, April 21st, and will hold a meeting at two o'clock that afternoon. A free and frank expression of views from each district regarding the matter of a central selling organization is what he is seeking, and intimates that if each district is favorable to this plan they may be requested to appoint a delegate, and when the first series of meetings are over, delegates will be called together for a general conference and to work out, in detail, plans to be again submitted to the various local organizations for approval.

With one delegate from each district it will be impossible for any particular district to control the central organization. Mr. Robertson is sure we have here as capable and energetic fruit growers as it is possible to find anywhere,

Talks Okanagan Fruit.

Best Form of Advertising Done by Former Citizen.

A well-known and much-respected former citizen of Summerland is setting an example which if followed by others would do much to quickly establish a specific demand for Okanagan fruit. We refer to Mr. H. Cancellor, now manager of the Strathcona Lodge, Shawnigan Lake, Vancouver Island, who, in a letter to the Review, writes as follows:

"I always read with interest news of Summerland and look forward to great progress and prosperity to all the good people there. Fruit farming is uphill work at first, but I still have faith in it, and consider that on the whole it is a much better paying proposition than poultry farming on the Island, which I tried for a short time. I do my best, in a small way, to still advertise the Okanagan, especially Summerland, and generally have the best Okanagan fruit on my table, and also inform my guests where it comes from, and the varieties to ask for. I am sure if all hotels did the same as I do it would help the Okanagan fruit industry considerably."

I enclose a few views of this place which may interest you.

Wishing Summerland and the Review good success,

Believe me,

Yours very truly,
H. Cancellor.

LOCALS.

Rev. A. W. McLeod will preach at Peachland on Sunday.

Miss Byers of Vernon is this week the guest of Mrs. H. C. Howis.

Full dress rehearsal of the Summerland Musical Society will be held at 7:30 in Empire Hall, next Tuesday night.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church held a successful sale and tea on Thursday afternoon when about $100 was realized.

"Billie" Robinson returned on Tuesday from Toronto where he has been attending college. He will have charge of the hotel restaurant and annex during the summer.

Mr. D. F. Brewer regrets to announce to the public that owing to the indifferent health of Mrs. Brewer he is reluctantly compelled to discontinue serving meals at his recently constructed restaurant. On the 15th inst. and after that date the premises will be let or for sale.

Mrs. A. A. McLeod of Vancouver will give an address on Missions in India at the mid-week service at the West Summerland Baptist Church on Wednesday evening, and on Thursday afternoon she will speak on the same topic before the Women's Missionary Circle at the same place.

Rev. F. W. Pattison and Dr. E. W. Sawyer will preach the dedicatory sermons at the opening of the Kaledon Baptist Church on Sunday. The former in the morning and the latter in the evening. Rev. Mr. Britten of Penticton will preach both morning and evening to the Summerland Baptist congregation.

There was a blaze in the Carter tenhouse near the hospital which for a time looked serious. A number of men near at hand were, however, quickly summoned, and were not long in getting the fire under control. The loss, which includes some clothing, will not be very great.

According to the local bureau the weather of last month was the worst of any March on record. And it wasn't so bad either. While it hasn't been the much-basted Okanagan ideal spring weather it has been much superior to that enjoyed by almost all other parts of this continent.

and if they got together in the proper spirit success will be sure to crown their efforts. Needless to say there will be a large gathering ready to greet Mr. Robertson and listen to his message and words of advice.

Everyone should get on Voters' List.

All who are qualified are urged to have their names placed on the voters' list at the earliest possible moment. Some misunderstanding seems to prevail as to the need for registration. All the old Provincial and Dominion voters lists have been cancelled, so that all who want to vote at forthcoming elections, either Federal or Provincial, must register anew. Those who fail to do so will have no voice in the public affairs of the country.

The lists close next Monday, April 7th, so further delay is fatal.

SCHOOL REPORT.

QUESTION OF SPRAYING.

Whether misunderstood or not many of our growers are acting under the supposed advice of a government official in not doing the usual winter spraying. This fact has been brought to the attention of the Inspector's Department, and we learn from undoubted authority that spraying will likely be made compulsory throughout the valley. Not to spray is looked upon by the Inspector as the worst possible policy. To wait until the orchards are attacked by insect pests before preventive measures are taken is a policy which, he says, must not prevail.

"THE MIKADO."

The Summerland Musical Society have decided to again present "The Mikado" on Thursday, April 10th, and the net proceeds will be given to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Summerland Hospital.

It is to be hoped that all those who have not seen this production will avail themselves of this opportunity, and thereby help a most worthy cause, as well as encourage the talent of Summerland. The price of admission has been placed within reach of all, namely, reserved seats, 75 cents, general admission, 50 cents.

B.C. Fruit Culture Profitable

Writing to the London Times, H. C. Waterfield, of the Kootenay district, British Columbia, gives sound advice to those about to become fruit ranchers in this province. "To become a fruit rancher," he says, "sufficient capital is needed not only to cover the initial expenses, but to tide over the first two or three years. A ranch should be self-supporting (from small fruits and vegetables), after the standard trees are planted. If not, it is probably the owner's fault. The necessary amount of capital must depend upon the individual, but speaking generally, about $800 will be required to start an orchard of ten acres if there is no private income.

"Fruit growing is a business, and must be treated as such if it is to pay. Though it is a pleasant and healthy life, it will not be profitable unless the owner is prepared to work hard. The usual advice—if possible, see the land before buying—is, of course, sound, for it is advisable to gain first-hand knowledge as to one's future surroundings; but the ordinary person cannot tell fruit soil from poor land, especially when under timber, so he is obliged in any case to take a good deal on trust and be guided by others. It is of paramount importance that he should enquire thoroughly into the standing of the vendors. There are unscrupulous men in every profession, and one's risk is considerably lessened if one deals with a large land company which has a big stake in the country and a reputation to maintain. All the same, it is advisable to take little for granted and to demand proofs. It should also be remembered that the large returns so freely quoted about British Columbia, authentic though they be, are very often exceptional, and must be discounted to ascertain the average yields.

"In spite of these words of caution there are undoubtedly good opportunities for Englishmen in British Columbia at the present time, when some of the best fruit land is still procurable for about $25 per acre. Provided they have a taste for an outdoor life, a moderate amount of capital, the intention of working hard, and no objection to roughing it a bit at first, there is no reason why they should not 'make good.' I farmed land for several years in England and I venture to express my firm conviction that there is more profit to be made by fruit growing in British Columbia."

A new garage is being built for Ned Bentley at Penticton, and is now about complete. The garage is 60 x 46, and will accommodate twenty cars.

"Why They Fail."

By Rev. A. T. ROBINSON, A.M.

The research work which Mr. Robinson had in mind when he left Summerland en route to the great university libraries of Chicago has borne fruit in his recently published book, which local friends have been awaiting with much interest. The book is evidently the result of wide reading; and is a distinct contribution to the ethical literature of the year. The starting point is a question sent out to 500 leading business men, which had for its object the testing in some concrete way the moral calibre of to-day's average man: "How many people would you be willing to trust with $10,000 in the dark, i.e., assuming they could get away with it and no one be the wiser?" Whatever we may think of the adequacy of this as a valid moral test the answers are interesting, especially the plain spoken one of the man who replied that any man who would ask such questions "ought to be taken in charge by his friends, if he has any." A sufficiently low percentage of replies being satisfactory the author assumes failure in to-day's moral activities and proceeds to elucidate very readably on "Things as they are." The purpose of this first chapter is to demonstrate "that there is a serious and wide-spread degeneration of the moral fibre in the warp and woof of society."

"The body politic is full of sores, needless, unsightly, intolerable" in spite of "the full blaze of twentieth century knowledge." To-day's political practices, abuse of criminal law, justice dethroned, divorce evils, swollen fortunes, and pitiful poverty, stock gambling, adulteration of foods, dishonest sport, church problems, a great variety of American practices as revealed through the somewhat doubtful medium of American magazines, and kindred sources, are all compiled to lead us to believe that we have not enough "honesty, manliness or justice to go around," indicating a "gross leak somewhere in our educational systems."

Chapter two presents the "confusion of tongues" of a wide variety of church leaders. "As to what to do about it there exists the widest differences of opinion." Since we are in frank disagreement with both premise and conclusion of chapter one we may be pardoned if we feel that the author has hardly even added another voice to the confusion when he says, "The real trouble lies, not in the fact that they will not do the good, or do not know the good, but that they do not find themselves able to do the good they know." This is hardly original. We have read somewhere before of a man who confessed that "The good which I would I do not." To those of us who believe that "a man's reach must exceed his grasp," and follow the modern creed which believes in "the progress of man onward and upward forever," the statement made as the conclusion of chapter two that "the work of church and school has largely failed because it is incomplete," is not a fact to be deplored, or for which any system, good or bad, is a cure-all, but rather a self-evident law of growth. The author is specific, however, and finds to-day's incompleteness to consist in an overlooking of a fundamental principle of education, namely Reflex Action. To show us just what he means by this the author takes us into "the secret chambers of the physiologist, the neurologist and the psychologist." We learn for example from the first of these technical gentlemen that muscular reflex "is the result of a peripheral stimulation reaching motor spinal centres and thence centrifugally manifest in a reaction." Through this and similar scientific arguments we ultimately come to the finding given us several years ago in Normal School, "No impression without correlative expression." All of which is doubtless true, and has been stated in words of one syllable by the little girl who brought to his first church service her little brother who whispered at the close, "Is it all done now?" The wise little maid replied, "No! It is all said; we are going out to do it," which we believe is precisely the tendency of to-day's education and church activity.

The remedy for the moral failure the author sees in to-day's life he finds to be the regeneration of "atrophied ethical calls" by a "long and carefully-supervised training in the art of Doing the Good." Details of method follow with an interesting chapter on the work of the Industrial Guild of the Great Commission as a typical organization offered as a contribution toward moral educative activity. This is a practical missionary experiment along the line of the author's theory. In conclusion we are asked "If it be true that we have in our church work largely failed to turn out a man who is ethically fit to be tested in the market place; if the failure be due to an oversight—the failure to provide for the proper expression of ethical emotions and ideas in the young"—what are we going to do about it?" To be quite candid some of us will continue to do much as we have been doing, believing that there is more justice, manliness and honesty in the market place to-day than ever before; and so interpreting "Why They Fail," as of value, not because of its scientific theory, but as an interesting type of to-day's emphasis upon concrete morality. The book is thoughtfully compiled, and brightened by many racy touches of humor and illustrative anecdote. It is on sale here and will doubtless find its way to a worthy place on every local book shelf.

SIX PER CENT. DEBENTURES.

The ratepayers at Penticton have authorized the re-issuing of nearly $200,000 debenture stock on a basis of 6 per cent. The best offer they have had on a 5 per cent. basis is $2.1. To carry out the proposed program would necessitate a further issue to make up the deficit. This further issue would be to the limit of that corporation's borrowing powers. By changing the rate of interest to 6 per cent a price of 97 will probably be obtained. At last week's session Penticton's council authorized the sale of some school debentures at $2.1.

Fix up. The most humble cottage in our village can be made neat and attractive. A common board fence, without plane or paint, can be made neat. Don't tie up your gate with a fence post. You can get a fastener for ten cents or make one yourself in thirty minutes without a cent of cost. It takes no money to burn up the old rubbish, fix up broken fences and make your home look homelike. The busy and industrious find time to fix up their fences, but often the men who make little or no garden, and let the yard resemble a last year's bird's nest, are those who have the most leisure time on their hands.

Onions, according to a leading physician, have little food value. But they are not to be despised as the doctor probably will admit. They impart a sort of—of lasting aroma, don't you know, to real food, when engulfed as a concomitant thereto.

The Home Circle

Crude Thoughts From the Editorial Pen.

HOME.

One of our subscribers who enjoys the Home Circle column hands the following beautiful thoughts on the appreciation of the home, which we gladly give place in our Home Circle department, and wish that more of our lady readers might become contributors to this column, for we do feel it an opportunity granted us to make the world feel a little bit better and brighter for our having lived in it:

"When the chill blasts of winter shriek across the frozen earth, and the pitiless snow hides from our sight the last vestige of what remains of summer, when the frozen streams and leafless trees look barren and desolate, and even the beasts of the field cling closer to their protecting shelter, how dreadful is the thought that perhaps some poor homeless wanderer is out in the storm. It is then that we turn to our own fire-side and smile at the dear faces of our loved ones; it is then that we fully appreciate that priceless gift which God has given us—home, where we can find rest and comfort unmolested; home, where we can breathe our sorrows to sympathetic ears; home, where our joys are the happiness of others; home, where true hearts beat in unison with one another, and happiness is found in its fullest meaning. So should we each strive in our own way to make our homelife better and brighter. A kindly word at parting, a pleasant smile in greeting, an approving glance, an encouraging word, or a helping hand, each in their place, and we never know their power for good. So let us, to whom God has given these blessings, make them what they should be, a paradise on earth, where weary hearts can find rest and peace after the toil of the day is over.

A LADY received the following reply from a neighbor in answer to a question as to why she allowed her children and her husband to litter up every room in her house. The sentiment will find lodgment in the heart of every home-loving person in the land: "The mark of the little muddy feet upon the floor can be more easily removed than the stains where the little feet go into the highway of sin. The prints of the little fingers upon the window pane cannot shut out the sunshine half so much as the shadow that darkens the mothers heart over the one who is but a name in the coming years. And if my Joe finds home a refuge from care and his greatest happiness within its four walls, he can put his boots in the rocking chair and hang his coat on the floor any day in the week. And if I stand it and he enjoys it, I cannot see that is anybody's affair."

EGG PRESERVATIVES.

Only a Few Are Entirely Satisfactory.

There are various egg preservatives in common use, but only a few are entirely satisfactory. The old-time oats or salt is pretty well extinct. The eggs preserved in this manner usually show considerable evaporation, and in the case of bran or oats they usually have a musty flavor. Those packed in salt generally taste salty. The best method of preserving eggs seems to be some material which excludes the air by filling up the pore space in the egg shell, thus preventing evaporation; at the same time also excluding moulds which injure the quality of the egg.

One of the best preservatives is the water glass solution made of eight parts of water (previously boiled) to one part of water glass. Eggs placed in this solution will keep indefinitely. Take an ordinary five-gallon crock or wooden pail, put in the eggs, and pour on enough of the cool solution to cover all the eggs. Melt some paraffin and pour it on top, thus forming a thin covering or blanket which excludes all air.

Another good preservative can be made by taking two pounds of fresh lime, one pound of salt, and four gallons of water. After the lime is well slaked, stir the solution and let it settle. After it has settled stir again and let it settle once more. Then pour off the clear liquid and use it as a preservative. Place the eggs in a crock as in the water glass solution, and also use the paraffin.

ADMISSION A MISTAKE.

Member of Presbyterian Mission Board
Condemns Oriental Immigration.

A vigorous denunciation of the admission into British Columbia as permanent settlers of Chinese, Japanese and Hindus has just been issued by Rev. Dr. McKay, Toronto, of the Presbyterian Foreign Missionary Board.

In his statement Dr. McKay says that it was a mistake to admit the Hindus at all, for at present they are quite incapable of self-government, and to them Canadian citizenship has no meaning. He further states that those who are here should be allowed a reasonable time to return home, and that no further immigration should be tolerated. These regulations should apply to all Oriental laborers now here, and no others should be admitted.

AGRICULTURE IN COUNTRY SCHOOLS.

By W. C. Palmer, North Dakota
Agricultural College in "Dry-Farming."

Advocating that the boys and girls stay on the farm, and at the same time teaching city subjects in rural schools, is contradictory. If the boys and girls are taught one thing, they cannot be expected to want to do something else, even if they are advised to.

The question was asked the boys and girls in 34 schools, "What do you want to do?" Of the 164 boys, 157 wanted to leave the farm, and 163 of the 174 girls wanted to do likewise.

After agriculture and home economics had been taught for three years the same question was asked in the same schools. This time 162 of the 174 boys wanted to stay on the farm, and 161 of the 178 girls.

This changing an almost unanimous desire to leave the farm to an almost unanimous desire to stay on the farm seems almost miraculous; yet it was done through making a little change in the course of study. It is simple, however, for boys and girls will want to do the things that they have been taught to do. Their interest will be developed in the things they are taught. They will see more in them than in things they know less about.

Again, agriculture and home economics are the things that boys and girls are the most interested in to begin with. They live in an agricultural and home economics laboratory. The knowledge that they have when they come to school is on these two subjects, so that education, to be the most effective, must begin with what the children know, and not, as Professor Minard says, "take them from where they aren't to where they don't want to go." That is what makes the school irksome, that causes the boys, especially, to want to leave school. The way to keep the boys on the farm is to teach about things they have to deal with. If it is desired to have them leave the farm, then keep agriculture and home economics out of the course of study.

The will to do springs from the knowledge that one can do. One likes to do that one can do well. Doing work that one doesn't understand is drudgery. Most boys must enter productive work. If they are not educated for it then it will be drudgery. Most girls will manage homes. If they are not taught for it home making will be drudgery. So it is in the power of the schools to make either enthusiastic workers or drudges of the boys and girls.

"THE FOLLY OF IT."

THROUGHOUT the long-drawn-out controversy in the House of Commons over the Naval Bill the Canadian Courier has persistently condemned the whole mode of procedure. Some of that nation-wide-read journal's weekly utterances have been very pointed equally condemning both parties and stoutly maintaining that a question of such vital importance should not be made a party bone of contention. Here is what it has to say of the recent deadlock which is described as "an unedifying spectacle":

"Despite all warnings and pleadings, the two political parties have come to a deadlock on the navy question. The leaders on both sides have been urged to settle the matter on a non-partisan basis, but they have refused. There is no need of saying which side is most to blame; it would not help the situation. The leaders of both have shown disrespect for each other and for the country's good name, which is not calculated to heighten their reputation as statesmen. They may all regret it, but the result is there.

"Last week the house did what it has not done since 1895, when it remained in session continuously for five days. The Liberals talked incessantly, day and night, and the Conservatives listened with as much patience as they could muster. In the meantime the business of the country is delayed and no good purpose is served.

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier says it is not his fault, as there is an important principle involved. He and his followers believe they are fighting in a just cause. On the other hand, Premier Borden maintains that the party which he leads is entitled, after a fair amount of discussion, to have its proposed legislation passed on division. Each side thinks it is right and refuses to yield.

"Obstinacy in a man is a vice or a virtue. It is a vice, when there is no superlative reason why it should be exhibited. This is an occasion when it is difficult to see the superlative reason for the obstinacy of both parties."

The issue is concisely described as follows:

"The conservatives propose to give thirty-five million dollars to Great Britain in the form of three ships, but refuse to state whether or not they intend to follow up with more contributions. The liberals are willing to vote the thirty-five millions, but only with a declaration of a general policy in favor of a Canadian navy. Both are in favor of doing something to help the Empire, but each wants to do it, in its own way.

"There it is in a nutshell. Forty columns of solid brevity type would not make it any clearer. If you are a "centralist" you must sympathize with Mr. Borden. If you rate an ordinary imperialist, opposed to centralism, then you may sympathize with either him or his opponents. If you think both sides are playing politics and refuse to take either seriously, fear not—you have plenty of good company.

"The issue is vital if pressed to a conclusion, but most of us feel that the dignity of Canada and of the Empire seems to be of less importance to the members of the House of Commons just now than mere party advantage."

Recently this was put out for the benefit of our politicians:

"THE FOLLY OF IT!"

"If the conservatives force a vote of thirty-five million through Parliament, will it be a gift of which the Empire can be proud? Is a closure gift likely to breed true Imperial sentiment here or elsewhere?"

"If the conservatives force the Bill through the House, and it fails in the Senate, who or what will be benefited?"

"If the conservatives fail to force it through the House and are compelled to drop the Bill, what will Great Britain think of us?"

"If the Bill fails to get through the House, and a general election is brought on, what good will be accomplished? If the conservatives are returned to power, will their gift be any more the gift of a united and loyal people? If the Liberals win, will their policy be considered national and Imperial by the defeated conservatives?"

"The only solution, as the Canadian Courier has maintained from the beginning, is a non-partisan settlement of the navy question. The only way to preserve Canada's good name among the Britannic peoples and to establish a naval policy which will be honorable to Canada and beneficial to the British Alliance, is to settle upon a naval policy on which both parties may unite.

"Mr. W. F. Macleann, a conservative, Mr. Hugh Guthrie, a liberal, and some others have proposed a compromise. The non-partisan memorial, signed by three hundred prominent citizens and presented to the leaders in November, urged a compromise on a non-partisan basis. Can Hon. Mr. Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier ignore these suggestions? What will the people of Canada and the public opinion of the Empire say of them if they continue this partisan battle on a question which affects other nations as well as ourselves? Are parties greater than principles, or the prejudices of politicians greater than our reputation among the nations?"

Here is the Courier's latest:

"Compromise is the spirit of the age, and some compromises bring evil results in their train. Nevertheless, we are firmly convinced that compromise on the navy question is the duty of the hour.

"The liberals may bring down the opinion of Sir Rufus Isaacs or any other high authority on rules of procedure; the conservatives may bluster about closure and all the other items in their calendar—but there is only one duty before the leaders of the two political parties. They must settle this naval question on a non-partisan, national basis.

"In some ways the conservative policy is good—and in some ways the liberal policy is good. What Canada wants is a policy which will combine the best feature of both and on which all parties, classes and sections may agree. This was the advice given by three hundred prominent citizens in the non-partisan naval memorial sent to Premier order and Sir Wilfrid Laurier in November last. It was good advice then; it is better advice now.

"The country does not want a general election nor a referendum. It wants the naval question settled by the present House of Commons, and settled unanimously. The present partisan attitude reflects no credit on either side. Therefore, the duty of the hour is compromise. Canada's good name among the Britannic nations is at stake."

IRRIGATION DANGERS.

A STATEMENT made by Dr. B. T. Galloway, Chief of the United States Bureau of Plant Industry, before the present House of Commons, and for the Department of Agriculture has caused much discussion, and will, no doubt, result in much official experiment and investigation. There are certain serious dangers confronting farmers on irrigated lands, which dangers are all due to excessive use of water. These dangers, according to Dr. Galloway, lie not only in the alkali on irrigated soils but also in the gradual leaching from the soil of its organic matter and the consequent reduction of soil fertility, both directly due to excessive irrigation.

It has long been recognized that irrigationists in every western state generally use water, when they can get it in sufficient quantities, as a partial substitute for labor, and that the application of excess supplies of irrigation water not only creates a surface deposit of alkali through capillary attraction and evaporation, but also causes the surplus alkali in the sub-soil to leach onto lower lands and largely destroys their fertility and consequent value. The actual fertility of the irrigated lands themselves is thus gradually lost through the washing away of the vital elements needed for successful crop production. The elements of fertility are found in all semi-arid lands in great abundance. The use of water makes them available for plant life. Every growing crop assimilates a certain percentage of them and permanently removes that much from the soil.

Exhaustion comes when too much water is used. Too many farmers put on their land infinitely more water than is consumed through evaporation and the production of crops, and the excess leaches through the soil, dissolving and removing soil fertility as it goes. The result will some day be barrenness.

There is but one remedy. Use less water. Conserve the rainfall through deep plowing and surface cultivation. Add only that amount of irrigation water necessary for the maximum production of crops. Increase the duty of water by adding labor on the soil. All the fertilizer in the world will not serve as a substitute for the plow, the harrow, and the disc with an intelligent man behind them.

The wise irrigationists already know, and all irrigationists are coming to know, that the principles of "dry-farming" form the basis of all agriculture. Irrigation is merely an adjunct to good farming.

WHAT is our Council going to do to assist the Board of Trade? It is better organized even than before and hence will be more efficient in advancing the interests of Summerland. The Penticton board has asked for a half mill on the assessment, the Kelowna board has asked for a $5,000 grant, while Vernon and the other upper valley towns are all giving financial support to their Boards of Trade. Kelowna purposes employing a Publicity Commissioner, and will spend over $6,000 as follows: Publicity Commissioner, $2,500; special travelling expenses, $300; other travelling expenses, $600; booklets, $800; office stationery and expenses, $500; rent, heat and light for office, $350; general advertising, $500; special advertising, $750; grand total, $6,300.

DON'T run down your own town. Be loyal to its institutions as you are to your personal interests. Don't condemn its enterprises and at the same time withhold your support and patronage, which would aid in making the enterprises a creditable success. And this sentiment will also apply to the treatment of your home paper as well as to other business.

EVERY once in a while someone intimates that we ought to "rip someone up the back." Say they deserve it, and they don't see why we don't do it. Friends, we are not in the roasting business. Apply at a crematory. If you have it in for someone, go to him and fight it out like a man. Don't try to mix the printer up in your grievances. He has troubles of his own. None of us poor mortals here below are perfect, not by a long shot, and other people may think that you yourself deserve special attention.

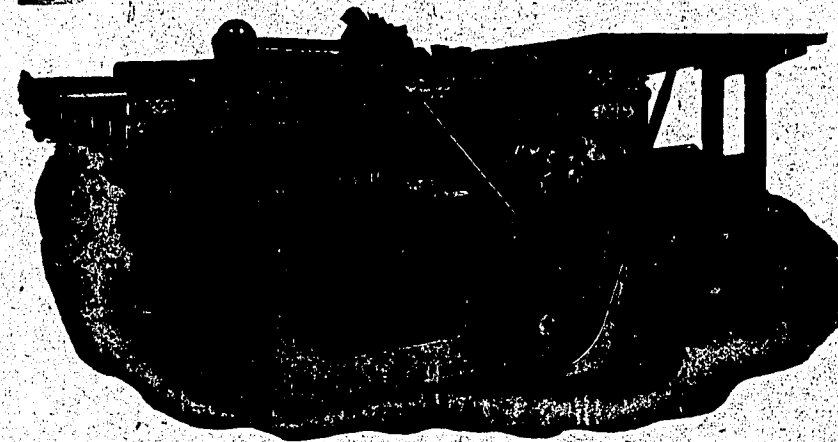

THIS year every citizen should take a deep interest in the welfare of the municipality. If you sincerely believe that conditions are prevalent that need changing, don't be afraid to start something. This year the very best effort that is in every citizen should assert itself to the end that this town's advancement is sure and safe. The fellow who kicks is often the man who does his community the real service. There is a difference between a grouch and a good healthy kickler.

Our Philosopher

THE ministers say, "Whom God hath joined together, let no man put asunder." How little the United States Courts value their admonition is seen in the report that in that country during 1912 over 100,000 divorces were granted, and in the last forty years 3,700,000 adults were legally separated.

TEARING another's character to pieces will not help yours no matter how dirty the other man's may be. Pointing out the weeds in your neighbor's yard will not make those in your own yard more beautiful. The white cottage and brown mansion each hide trouble from the world. People talk and know not whereof they speak. They retail slander to show how foul is the dish most palatable to them. Let us walk straight along. Let us each mind our own business and we will never be out of employment.

Mr. Fetherstonhaugh and family will shortly move into the Gayner cottage which overlooks the town and lake.

Rev. F. W. Hardy will occupy the pulpit of the Peachland Church on Sunday, exchanging with the Rev. Mr. Henderson.

The St. John Ambulance Class for men will be held on Tuesday evening, April 8th, at eight o'clock, instead of Monday evening.

Mrs. Courtland Watson and family moved up to Kelowna on Thursday morning. Mr. Watson preceded them, going one day earlier.

H. C. Packham, student at Okanagan College, travelled to Peachland on Saturday morning's boat. He conducted the service on Sunday in the Baptist Church, and returned on Sunday evening.

The Moore auction sale to be conducted by Auctioneer Cordy begins promptly at 1.30 to-morrow, Saturday, afternoon. Additional copies of the catalogue will be available at that time.

During the service in the Baptist Church at Peachland last Sunday morning Mr. E. Lang was taken suddenly ill and had to be medically attended to, the incident bringing the service to a premature conclusion.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. D. Lorne Sutherland passed away last Friday at the Summerland Hospital. The little one was only one week old and up to a short time before its death was seemingly in the best of health.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilkinson and child, accompanied by Mrs. Tait, Mrs. Wilkinson's mother, returned to Summerland on Saturday evening. At present they are at the hotel but will soon move into the Moreland cottage which they have rented.

Messrs. White, Logie, Mellor, Higgin, Thomson and Agur, the fruit growers' organization committee, and a number of others are planning to attend a meeting at Penticton to-night, the 4th, at the invitation of the Penticton fruit growers' committee, which has the organization of that district in hand.

"David Livingstone" was the subject of a special service last Sunday in place of the regular Sunday School in St. Andrew's Church. Interesting episodes in the fearless explorer's life, given by a number of the pupils, made the time spent most profitable to the scholars, old and young alike. Special music for the occasion was rendered by the choir.

A nasty accident befell Rhodes Elliott, youngest son of A. B. Elliott, last Sunday night, which necessitated a hurried call on medical assistance. It seems the boy got too near one of his father's horses, and the latter, "feeling good," struck out, landing a severe gash on the boy's forehead, requiring some five or six stitches from the doctor. Latest reports are the wound is healing rapidly.

There was a large attendance at the meeting arranged by the Brotherhood in the Baptist Church last Friday. The chief feature of the evening was the reading, by Mr. Sauter, of the play, "The Servant in the House." This was excellently rendered and was easy to follow as Mr. Sauter assumed the different characters of the play, and the audience were delighted with the evening's entertainment.

Interment was made here on Monday of the body of the late Mr. George Loomer, sr., who passed away at his home at Penticton on Saturday last. Those left to mourn include, beside his widow, two sons, George of Summerland and Arthur of Penticton, Dominion Express Agent on the S.S. Okanagan, Mrs. W. E. Rines of Summerland, Miss Gertrude Loomer, teacher at the Peachland School, and another daughter, Amy, at home. The body of Mr. Loomer was laid beside that of his son in the Summerland cemetery.

BANK ACT AMENDMENT.

A proposed amendment to the Bank Act, now before the Federal House provides that in future when a bank charges more than 7 per cent. interest the amount may be recoverable in any court of competent jurisdiction. The present Bank Act makes the maximum interest charge 7 per cent., but the supreme court has ruled that where higher charge has been made and paid it is not recoverable. Another amendment of which notice has been given by Mr. Emmerson is that the banks in making their monthly returns to the department of finance must make a statement as to the highest rate of interest charged during the month.

THE TIME TO QUIT.

When the grasshopper ceases to hop and the old cow quits her bawling; when the fishes no longer hop and the baby stops its squalling; when the dunners no longer dun—and the hoot owl quits its hooting; when the riders ever cease to run and the burglar stops his looting; when the vine no longer runs and the skylark stops its larking; when the sun no longer shines and the young man quits his sparkling; when the heavens begin to drop and the old maids stop advising, then it is time to shut up shop and quit your advertising.

The gigantic S.S. Olympic goes into commission again this week after having been fitted with an extra skin, and water-tight compartments from bottom to top, at a cost of $1,000,000 and is said to be now absolutely unsurpassed both as regards accommodation and safety.

Naramata Notes.

Mr. Howard Rounds of Kelowna was in town over Sunday.

Mr. Griffin of Kelowna has been in town for the past few days.

Mrs. Peter Roe and Mrs. Frank Edgar have been on the sick list this week.

Miss Freda Mitchell is inviting a number of her friends to spend Thursday evening with her at card playing.

The Mesdames Manchester will entertain at the Club House instead of at their home as was their first intention.

At the next meeting the ladies of the Unity Club will spend a social afternoon with Mrs. King, before her removal to Penticton.

Mr. F. G. Roe of Montreal is at the Coast on a business trip and is expected here in a few days to visit his relatives for a short time.

We are very glad to welcome Mrs. J. S. Gillespie back to Naramata after her trip abroad. Mrs. Gillespie arrived last Saturday night.

Owing to the recent increase in the livery business in town, it has been necessary for Mr. Harold Endacott to purchase another driving team.

Mr. Wm. McGann of Penticton was calling on friends on Monday morning. He reports a busy season travelling as salesman for massage vibrators.

The play to be given here April 15th by Penticton talent has been set at a later date on account of the absence of one of the leading participants.

Mr. Carroll Aikins and his mother left for the East last Saturday morning, where his marriage with Miss Katherine Foster will take place on April 14th.

Mr. W. W. Mitchell has purchased the property across from the Daniel McKay residence, and adjoining that of Mr. Pittman. He intends to make additions to the house and move there soon.

The strike among the employees of the construction camps which was feared would come off on April 1st, has been averted. Some of the men decided to leave the work but the majority stayed. It is to be hoped that any such trouble will be avoided entirely.

Hans Larson, an employee in a rock-cut at Brandt's camp, No. 1, had the misfortune to have his legs broken while at work on Tuesday afternoon. He was brought down to the local hospital, and is at present under the care of Dr. Whitehouse. A speedy recovery is hoped for.

Mrs. Campbell of Battle Creek, Mich., is expected to arrive about the middle of April for an indefinite stay with her daughter, Mrs. F. H. Rounds. It will be remembered that Mrs. Campbell has before spent a year in Naramata, and surely we will all be glad to hear of her return.

We notice that our road superintendent, Mr. Wm. Nuttall, is busy strengthening bridge supports in anticipation of an unusually large amount of water following the "break-up" in the hills. Also that one of his first moves will be to extend Second Street through to the lake shore on the south.

The Farmers' Institute of Naramata is now an officially recognized institution. At the meeting held last Friday evening permanent officers were elected as follows: President, Mr. H. J. Wells; Vice-President, Mr. R. Reid; Secretary, Mr. H. Pushman. The association has an enrollment of thirty-eight, and especially wish for the attendance of the ladies also. At the next meeting Mr. Reid has something of especial interest to present before the members.

According to Mr. J. T. Bonlby, owner of a commercial orchard on Kootenay Lake, cherries are coming to be the most profitable product in the fruit-growing industry, although involving possibly the most labor. Mr. Bonlby's cherry orchards show a gross production of from $1,200 to $1,500 per acre. After the first four years merely ordinary care is required, with a little spraying and trimming. Apples give an average return of $250 per acre gross.

A CRUEL JOKE.

One of our most popular young ladies played a cruel joke on her mother, and this is how it happened. She accidentally found a love letter that her father had written to her mother in their halcyon days of courtship. She read the letter to her mother substituting her own name and that of her lover. The mother raved with anger and stamped her foot in disgust, forbidding her daughter to have anything to do with a man who could write such nonsensical stuff to a girl. The girl then gave the letter to her mother to read and the home suddenly became so quiet that she could hear the snowflakes falling in the backyard.

According to a press report, Mr. R. D. Prettie, Chief Forester for the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated recently at a banquet in Toronto, that that company was spending as much on forestry this year as is being spent by the whole United States Forest Service.

with complete confidence that your concrete work will be thoroughly satisfactory. You ought to have this confidence in the cement you use, because you have not the facilities for testing its qualities, such as are at the disposal of the engineers in charge of big contracting jobs. These engineers know that when cement has passed the tests made upon it at Canada Cement mills, it will pass all their tests. And this same cement is sold to you for your silo, your foundations, your feeding-floor, your milk-house or your watering-trough. Used according to the directions in our free book "What the Farmer can do with Concrete," Canada Cement never fails to give satisfactory results. Write for the book. It not only tells you how to mix and place concrete, but will also suggest scores of uses for it on your farm. Every one of them valuable to you. In asking for the book you do not incur the slightest obligation.

THE JEWS IN CANADA.

The Jew is becoming a most powerful factor in the making of Canada. During the last thirty years, the Jews in Canada have increased from 667 to 100,000 (including 45,000 in Montreal, 22,500 in Toronto, 12,000 in Winnipeg.) Jewish Colonization Associations propose settling hundreds of thousands more in Canada. During the last three years, 1,000 Jews each year were added to Montreal's population, and 1,400 to Toronto. Jewish farming colonies exist at Oxbow, in Qu'Appelle and Hirsch colony in the west. In Montreal Jewish children number 1 in 3 of those at school.

COMPOTE OF APPLES.

Put a cup of sugar, a cup of water, and an inch or two of stick cinnamon into a sauce pan, heat to boiling point, and boil slowly for ten minutes, skimming well. Pare eight or ten tart apples, and remove the cores. Cook the apples in the syrup till tender, then remove them and boil the syrup down to almost jelly thickness. Arrange the apples on a dish, fill the core cavities with marmalade, and pour the syrup over. Whipped cream may be placed around the apples in the dish.

SOME FRUIT FACTS.

Canada's fruit imports 1911-12, $15,442,652; exports, $5,992,571. Canada shipped 3,934 cases of peaches to Britain in 1911, and 8,443 in 1912. These landed in good condition and brought remunerative prices. Canada exported, 1911-12, 1,664,165 barrels of apples, value $5,104,107—the largest on record. Shipments for 9 years, 11,147,970 barrels; value, $32,908,355.

The revenue of the dominion for the fiscal year which closed on Monday was close to $170,000,000, an increase of approximately $38,000,000 over the revenue of the preceding year. The total expenditure for the year is estimated at between $153,000,000 and $154,000,000 leaving a surplus of some $16,000,000 over all expenditures. The steady-growing revenue will probably enable Hon. W. T. White to present next month a budget statement showing another record surplus of revenue over all ordinary expenditure.

Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

College Notes.

The College department are trying to settle down to hard study as their final exams will be upon them, in a very few weeks.

The gymnasium has been the scene of much practice both of the boys and girls this week, and if we take this as a sign we are going to have an excellent concert tonight.

On Tuesday evening Dr. F. G. Harrington gave the boys a very interesting address at the Y.M.C.A. meeting, basing his remarks on Two Young Men. This was listened to attentively, and we hope to hear the Doctor again before College closes.

We hear that two of the boys are asking for advice on the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling for the big event at the concert. The College has two worthy representatives and we hope one will be enough for Mr. Young to deal with in the fifteen minutes.

The College baseball team go to Peachland to-morrow (Saturday) to play a return match with the Peachland boys. They expect to have a stronger team than that which played on Easter Monday, as they have been practicing hard for this event. The Skookum has been engaged to make the special trip.

It is a good thing to have interest enough in one's farm to give it a name.

A UNIQUE CAR.

Mr. H. A. Burbank, sales-manager of the Kelowna Garage & Machine Works Company, was a visitor in town this week, the guest of C. H. Cordy, the local representative of that company. Mr. Burbank brought with him a Cartercar, the provincial agency for which is held by his company. The Cartercar is unique in many features, the most radical departure from the conventional style being in the transmission. The manner of transmitting the motive power from the engine to the rear axle has always been complicated and generally admitted unsatisfactory, due to the intricate mechanism, especially in that part used for the changing of the speed. In the Cartercar all this is done away with.

Attached to the rear end of the engine crank shaft, and directly under the front seat is a large flange with a wearing surface of a metal compound giving a good gripping surface against which the face of a wheel of good diameter is pressed. This wheel slides on a shaft parallel with the axles, and this movement of the wheel on the shaft gives a varying range of speeds from a standstill when it is at the centre of the disc to the highest speed when it is at the outer edge. The power is then transmitted directly by a Coventry chain, quite different from the usual sprocket chain. With this mechanism it would seem that very little of the power is lost in transmission. An electric starter and electric lights are a few of the other improvements. While the Kelowna Garage has a number of agencies Mr. Burbank is very enthusiastic over the Cartercar, which he says will be copied by many other makers.

PROPOSED STRIKE A FAILURE.

Work is going on at the different railway camps on the east side of the lake as usual, of which the continual firing of shots in the rock blasting is an evidence. Evidently the agitators, who have for some time been attempting to stir up discontent, over-estimated their efforts as but a very few men quit work at the end of the month; practically none or any more than would have done so had there been no proposition of a strike. The men on the railway construction work along the K.V.R. are getting as high if not the highest pay offered for that class of labor. Evidently the men realize this and are disposed to be satisfied. Many of the men have joined the I.W.W.'S. but with no particular enthusiasm, saying they could not well do otherwise. They have no desire to strike and will continue to work as long as permitted. If a strike is forced these will not participate in any struggle but will look for work elsewhere away from any scene of trouble.

One of our newest citizens is Mr. John MacLean of Montreal, who has acquired the orchard in Peach Valley formerly of the Smith estate.

OBITUARY.

F. J. TINGLEY.

Summerland lost a well known and highly respected citizen in the death of F. J. Tingley, which took place at his home, West Summerland, early on Monday morning, the 7th inst, at the age of 62.

Mr. Tingley had not been in the best of health for some considerable time, but his death was nevertheless somewhat sudden. He was up and about, though ailing, till the end of last week, taking to his bed on Friday evening. The immediate cause of death was diabetes.

The funeral took place on Wednesday morning. Rev. F. W. Pattison, pastor of the Baptist Church, of which Mr. Tingley was an active member of long standing, conducted the service at the home, and interment was made in the local cemetery. The concourse of people who attended these last rites testified to the respect in which Mr. Tingley was held. The pall-bearers were Dr. E. W. Sawyer, Messrs. Thos. Dale, Brewer and Graham.

Mr. Tingley came to Summerland from Sackville, N.B., in 1908. He leaves a wife and family of two sons and two daughters in Summerland, and two daughters in Lynn, Mass., also a sister, Mrs. W. Estabrook of Summerland, and three brothers, J. B. Tingley of Moncton, N.B., B. B. Tingley of Rapid City, Manitoba, and F. A. Tingley of Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. F. A. Tingley and Rev. H. G. Estabrook, brother and nephew, arrived from Vancouver on Tuesday evening to attend the funeral. To all the sorrowing relatives the Review extends heartfelt sympathy.

EDITH HAMILTON.

The many friends of the Misses Hamilton and their brother Clayton, and those who have met their mother during her stay here, were shocked to learn of the sudden death of Miss Edith on the steamer Okanagan last Monday morning. For some time it had been realized that Miss Hamilton was failing gradually, and she was very desirous of returning to her home in Winnipeg. The journey was accordingly undertaken on Monday morning with but little thought of death depriving the patient of meeting the friends at home.

The deceased was a native of Forest, Ontario, born on September 28, 1892, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, now of Winnipeg. After attending public and high school she came to Winnipeg in August, 1911, where she took a course at normal school, and engaged in teaching at Suthwyn until January, 1912, when she and other members of the family suffered an attack of measles. It was because of the unsatisfactory state of health which followed that caused the removal of three of the members to Summerland.

She is survived by both parents, two sisters, Eva and Rose, and one brother, Clayton. The body remained in Vernon for a day in care of the brother, while Mrs. Hamilton and Miss Eva continued directly to Winnipeg, where burial will take place this Friday afternoon.

A Local Market.

Railway Camps Take Many Apples and Potatoes.

The railway camps on both sides of the lake have been quite a market for Summerland apples. Grant-Smith & Co. have purchased nearly 1,000 boxes from the Fruit Union this winter and spring, while 400 boxes have been used by Carlson & Co. Hundreds of boxes more have been purchased by individual camps direct from the grower.

Our local potato growers have held potatoes at a price that lost to them much of the orders that could have been had from the railway camps. Outside growers have been offering at absurdly low prices. The Fruit Union have sold 19 cars of potatoes among the contractors, only one car of which was gathered in Summerland. About three cars were sold by the growers to the camps at Naramata.

School Board Meeting.

Little but routine business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the School Board which opened at 9.45 on Monday morning, with only three present, namely Chairman Robinson and Trustees McIntyre and Shields. Trustee Docking came in later in the morning. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and communications were then dealt with. Two applications from Nova Scotia teachers were received. These were evidently sisters, the Misses Ritcey, Nictau Falls, N.S. Both these applicants hold first-class certificates for this province.

Some communications from the office of the B.C. School Trustees Association were read. The local board's membership fee of $15 was ordered paid. The Inspector of the Manual Training Schools wrote asking when this district would be ready to take up this branch of education. The Secretary was instructed to write that, financial conditions warranting, a beginning would be made on the building this fall or winter, ready for opening either next April or the beginning of the fall term.

A requisition for supplementary readers and other material for the different school divisions was received, and a committee, Trustees McIntyre and Shields, were appointed to deal with this matter.

Contractor Garnett had advised the Secretary that the temporary change in the route had not proved satisfactory to the pupils or parents of this district, and an order was passed instructing him to go back to the old route at a former price.

The actual and average daily attendance of the different divisions as reported to the board is given here:

WORK ON BIG BRIDGE HAS BEGUN

Foundations For False Work Being Prepared. Steel Arriving.

That the big bridge over Trout Creek will be completed at an earlier date than has been given out is the assurance given by the foreman now at the bridge, who says that it should be completed by July. It has been thought that material would not be gathered in time to commence the false work before the creek became a torrent, and that hence the work could not be commenced until after the freshet had subsided. There are, however, now men at work preparing the foundation for the false work, and a start will be made on this at once, thus gaining much time.

There will be about one million feet of lumber used in building the false work up from the bottom of the creek, some 250 feet below the track level. The bridge itself will be a single span girder bridge of 250 feet, and will be the longest girder bridge of one span in Canada. Some 480 tons of steel will be used, and it is said the bridge itself, not including piers, approaches, etc., will cost $30,000, and that the contract price for erecting the 480 tons of steel is $20 per ton. There are now seven cars of bridge steel at the site, and ten or eleven cars will follow immediately.

With the completion of the bridge in July the laying of sleepers and steel from Trout Creek to the Summit will quickly follow. It would seem, however, that good time will be made if the bridge is finished by September.

Two Sessions of Council This Week.

Citizens Occupy Much of Tuesday's Session of Board.

Heated Discussion Over Police Court Fines. Proposal to Curtail Expenses. Adjourned to Friday.

The Council sat in regular monthly session until well after 1 o'clock on Monday and left a lot of unfinished business which is being further dealt with this (Friday) afternoon.

A great deal of time was occupied in listening to the petitions, requests, etc., of private citizens who waited upon the Council. The first in order after the reading of the minutes was the reading of communications. Only a few of these, however, were finally disposed of.

CITIZENS HEARD.

Atkins Brothers asked permission to remove a dead tree on the roadside near their home. Granville Morgan wrote the Board calling their attention to some needed repairs on a road which annually suffered from overflow and could now be repaired to better advantage than later. W. C. Kelley asked that the Council take the responsibility of raising and widening the sidewalk in front of his new store in West Summerland, he to pay the cost. The Board of Trade asked that necessary steps be taken to regulate the height of awnings over the sidewalks. The Tennis Club asked for rebate on water charges. Billings & Cochrane requested the return of the Taube license fee. A communication from the Attorney-General Department advised the Board that all expenses incurred in connection with criminal cases up to the time of commitment for trial must be borne by the Municipality.

The Tennis Club claim was recognized as in order, and no doubt their request will be formally granted at next sitting. There was some further discussion in reference to the Taube matter, and a suggestion from the Clerk that the opinion of the Attorney-General be obtained was adopted. Coun. Lewes objected to this, claiming that the Council should rest on the advice of the Municipal Solicitor. The final conclusion was to ask the solicitor to get the ruling of the Attorney-General, the Council realizing that a similar situation may arise at any time.

The monthly report by the constable on Police Court matters was read. Most of the matters dealt with have already been reported in the Review. The list of stock impounded under the Herd Law included four horses owned by Fred Brind, three by Wm. Raincock, and one whose owner is not known.

OBJECTED TO FINE.

Councillor Dunsdon strongly objected to the action of the constable and Police Magistrate in reporting and fining his brother whose horse was complained of to the constable as running at large. Coun. Dunsdon claimed that discretion should be used, and that the evidence given was not considered. The constable was present to get the approval or disapproval of the Council, and he was instructed to enforce the by-law as heretofore.

R. W. Nelson asked that a change be made in the location of a flume at the rear of his house. This flume, he said, was leaking, and as a result water accumulated in his cellar. He was advised that this was on the list of work to be undertaken as soon as possible.

A report from the Public Works Committee recommending that certain applications be granted, and others not granted, was read but not acted upon. This report included a recommendation that the superintendent be allowed $1 a day for horse hire rather than that the Council purchase and keep a horse. This committee's report is included among the business left over for Friday.

A number of citizens waited on the Council with a variety of requests. The Over-seas Club, represented by Mr. Sauter, informed the Council that they had undertaken to raise a Scott Memorial Fund, and proposed to expend the amount in either a drinking fountain or a town clock. They wished to learn the Council's preference, and if a site would be granted. The proposition for a drinking fountain was received with much favor, and the club was asked to choose their own site for the fountain, and later ask the approval of the Board. Coun. Robinson favored the corner near the Supply Store at West Summerland, which was suggested by the club, and thought that if the funds would warrant a second memorial a fountain in town would be appreciated and of much service.

W. C. W. Fosbery asked the Council to have water for sprinkling purposes laid to the churchyard. This was granted at a fee of $6 per year. The same citizen called the attention of the Council to the fact that some person or persons was using the side of Peach Orchard Gulch road as a dump. Later the constable was instructed to take action with reference to this.

A. B. Elliott asked for a refund of domestic water rates charged him for several years, claiming that he was not getting domestic water service. It was shown that his source of supply was cut off every fall with the irrigation water, although it was delivered to him through a pipe. The Council recognized his claim for the winter months only, and rebate for that period will be granted. It would seem that a mistake had been made in cutting off the supply each fall.

Cliff McWilliams and C. N. Borton asked that water be laid on the cemetery, and suggested that a surface pipe be laid from the Simpson cottage, or other connection nearby, to the middle of the cemetery, where hose could be connected for sprinkling, etc. This request was favorably received, and an early effort will be made to have water available for such purpose.

H. C. Howis presented a petition, signed by Prairie Valley lot owners, asking for protection of the road against inundation, wash-outs, etc., as repeatedly occurred there. This will be dealt with by the Public Works Committee.

George Gartrell asked for the privilege of removing some dead trees in the park which he would use for fuel and pay for at 50 cents a cord. Granted.

WATER FOR CANNERY.

A question of water for the cannery was introduced by Coun. Robinson, who suggested that free water be granted, as the cannery people did not seem very anxious to operate temporarily this season, and urged that no excuse for not operating the wharf cannery be given. This recommendation was opposed by Coun. Lewes on principle. He expressed himself as surprised that this democratic community should grant free water. He would prefer a cash grant. While no motion was put through the majority were disposed to stand back of the Board of Trade's promise to the cannery people that they would be granted free water.

It was intimated that the Board would, at an early date, enact a by-law fixing the height of awnings to six feet six inches above the sidewalk.

POOLROOM BY-LAW.

By-law No. 46, a by-law for the regulation of poolrooms, was introduced. This by-law fixes the license at $5 per table for each six months, prohibits the presence of a youth under eighteen years of age in any poolroom, either as employee, player or witness. As introduced the by-law requires that poolrooms be closed at 11 p.m., and kept closed until 6 the following morning, and will be closed on Sundays. Gambling games of all kinds are prohibited. This by-law will probably be given its first,

Valley Fruit Growers Meet at Penticton.

Local Organizations and Affiliation with Central Exchange Favored.

In the absence at the commencement of the meeting of Mr. E. W. Mutch, chairman of the Penticton committee, Reeve E. Foley Bennett took the chair, and explained that the meeting had been called to discuss the marketing of Okanagan fruit and the formation of a central selling agency, and any other questions as to the marketing of fruit, from the growers standpoint.

Mr. Garroway, manager of the Okanagan Fruit Union; Mr. Speer of the Vernon Fruit Co.; Mr. Macdonald, manager of the Kelowna Farmers' Exchange; Mr. Warren, President of the Kettle Valley Railway Co.; Major Feldtman, Mr. Kinney, Mr. Mutch of Penticton, Mr. White, Mr. Logie, Mr. Ritchie of Summerland, Mr. Bullman of Kelowna, and others gave the meeting their views on the subject, all being agreed that it was necessary to form local associations under the Agricultural Societies Act, so that the local associations, when formed, could appoint representatives to organize a central selling agency.

Mr. White stated that in Summerland they had already formed a local association on the basis of one share of $50 to each 5 acres, $5 payable on each share in May, and $5 in June, the government finding the remaining $40 per share, no further money being required from the shareholders, the interest and sinking fund due to the government coming out of the fruit returns.

Mr. Bullman thought that the government should release some of the share capital so that working capital could be raised from the bank. He laid stress on the advisability of using all by-products, and securing supplies at reasonable prices.

Mr. Warren stated that he had been recently appointed director of the Okanagan Fruit Union, and his opinion was that unless the fruit growers changed their method of doing business they would never make money, the union had been in business five years and had lost two-thirds of its capital. They must make the wholesalers work for them instead of being in the hands of the wholesalers, a manager who knew his business and had a little initiative and push was a necessity to them, even if they had to pay him $5,000 a year, and they must go to the buyers instead of waiting for the buyers to come to them.

By sending round to the consumers they would be in a position to dictate prices to the wholesaler and retailer, allowing them a reasonable profit but no more. If the wholesalers and retailers would not work with the growers association, the latter should be in a position to pass over their heads but a good manager could soon make amicable arrangements. He had talked to wholesalers in other parts of America, and they agreed with him.

There was a discussion between Mr. Speer and Mr. Warren, in which Mr. Bullman also took part, as to the practicability of Mr. Warren's suggestions, as the businesses, warehouses, etc., in the northwest would require lots of money to finance them. It was stated that it would be impossible to revolutionize the marketing to such an extent this year.

Mr. Warren stated that his company had the money ready to put up cold storage warehouses as soon as the Penticton growers had decided where they wanted them.

Mr. Speer said his company was willing to sell out at a reasonable price, but if not bought out they would continue their operations. It was stated that Messrs. Stirling & Pitcairn of Kelowna would not agree to come into the new organization.

Mr. Warren said he did not in any way ensure the various fruit agencies, they had to start from the beginning and pay for their experience.

Mr. Logie said there was no doubt the formation of a central selling agency was the principal business before the meeting. He suggested more fruit advertising, and thought the B.C. Government might do worse than do some advertising of B.C. fruit.

After much interesting discussion the following resolutions were put and carried unanimously:

White—Mutch. "Resolved that this meeting of fruit growers from various districts of the Valley, meeting at Penticton, April 4th, 1913, expresses its conviction that it is necessary for the profit of their business that Local Co-operative Associations should be formed for the handling of fruit."

White—Feldtman. "Resolved that a Central Selling Agency should be established for the sale of fruit, and further resolved that we ask all local organizations to nominate three members from each to form a committee to outline a plan for organizing the Central Selling Agency, and that this committee meet at Penticton two weeks from to-night (April 18th), on arrival of the boat."

(Contributed by Mr. J. M. Stevens, Secretary of the meeting.)

V.V.C.T.U. Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Hayes on Monday afternoon.

After the devotional exercises, which were participated in by Mrs. Lipsett, Mrs. T. N. Ritchie and Mrs. McLeod, several matters of business came up for consideration.

The Provincial Political Equality League are in need of funds to carry on their work, and the Union decided to have some form of an entertainment, probably in May, to raise some money for that cause.

The district convention is to meet at Vernon toward the close of the present month, and Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Fenner were appointed delegates.

After deciding these and several other matters of business the educational part of the program was taken up. Mrs. T. N. Ritchie presented the subject of anti-narcotics, dwelling on the importance of training the young people concerning the evil effects of alcohol and tobacco. The speaker advanced the idea, that as, in the not far distant past, it was a commonly approved custom to serve wine at the table, whereas now it is quite generally considered wrong, so there are still advances to be made, and that some of our present practices in eating and drinking will, as we receive greater light, be seen to be injurious, and that we shall learn to avoid taking anything into the system which causes injury.

Many are coming to believe that most sickness is caused by lack of self-control in eating and drinking. Mrs. Fenner read the anti-tobacco law, which is in force in all the provinces, and is intended to prevent the sale of cigarettes, cigarette papers, and tobacco in any form, to boys under sixteen years of age.

Mrs. McLeod gave a talk, carrying out the thought of Mrs. Ritchie's address concerning the training of the children. We women feel the need of a Loyal Temperance Legion, or some juvenile organization for giving the children more teaching along temperance lines than is at present afforded by the public school and the Sunday School, but it is difficult to find a woman who will undertake the responsibility of the work.

Our annual meeting will be held on the first Monday in May, at the home of Mrs. R. E. White. There will be the election of officers for the ensuing year, and a report from the Vernon convention. All ladies interested in the work will be welcomed as visitors or as members.

WILL SPECIALIZE IN GRAPE-GROWING.

Some twenty acres of land have recently been purchased, north of Jones Flat, which will be devoted to grape-growing. The purchaser, Mr. Waldon, is a citizen of the State of Illinois, who has there become expert, and is said to have made considerable money in the growing of grapes. He has in that state, it is said, perfected some very fine grapes of hardy variety which he proposes to introduce here. The lot is below that of John Steuart's, and was purchased from James Ritchie. Mr. Waldon is expected here in a few days.

THE KETTLE VALLEY RAILWAY COMPANY, (Applicant) By NORLEY F. TUNBRIDGE, (Solicitor).

Corporation of the District Municipality of Summerland.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the first meeting of the Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll, for 1913, will be held at the Municipal Office, West Summerland, on Tuesday, May 6th, 1913, at 10 o'clock a.m.

J. L. LOGIE, Municipal Clerk.

COUNCIL MEETING

PROPOSITION TO REDUCE EXPENSES.

The Reeve proposed that until construction work is resumed the staff be asked to go on half time. It was understood that this would be satisfactory to the office staff, but there was some doubt if such a plan would satisfy the superintendent. Coun. Robinson thought a better plan would be to employ the office staff full time and have the outside work directed from there, while Coun. Dale said that it would look bad to let the superintendent go now after having kept him at full pay through the winter.

ACCOUNTS PASSED.

The following accounts were recommended by the Finance Committee for payment, which recommendation was adopted:

Canadian Land and Apple Show.

Canada's First Exhibition to be Held in Winnipeg from October 10 to 18.

Canada is to have a huge "Land and Apple Show." The exhibition will be held in the new Auditorium Hall of the Winnipeg Industrial Bureau on October 10 to 18 of this year.

The project is one which will meet with favor from agriculturists of all classes, and will be particularly welcome to the Okanagan fruit grower.

The program outlined for cash prizes, diplomas, and for a year's free scholarships in each of the provincial Agricultural Colleges throughout Canada, called for an expenditure of nearly $4,000. A sum of $7,500 was placed on the estimates for expenditure in advertising and publicity, and a resolution was passed requesting the advertising committee to submit a campaign based on that estimated expenditure.

The show will be an all-Canadian one, and correspondence from the east as far as Nova Scotia, and west as far as British Columbia, was read at the meeting.

A recommendation from the exhibits committee, contained the following schedule of prizes to be awarded for the best exhibits of grain and fruits, which was approved by the meeting:

Wheat—1, $250; 2, $150; 3, $100. Oats—1, $100; 2, $75; 3, $50. Barley—1, $100; 2, $75; 3, $50. Apples—1, $200; 2, $100; 3, $50. Pears—1, $100; 2, $50; 3, $25.

In addition to the cash prizes, diplomas will be awarded for the finest general display of grains, and grasses and fruits, etc., exhibited by provincial governments, agricultural districts, and fruit growing associations, all of which the committee is assured will compete.

Dr. Spencer of Victoria was in town on the 1st of the month, having motored down from Summerland with Mr. James Ritchie.

Mr. Clarence Eisey of Summerland is down with his team to work on the lot for a time. He is making his home with Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Park, with Mr. and Mrs. Park, senr., and other friends drove down from Penticton on Sunday, and were the guests of Mrs. O. E. Tomlin.

Mrs. Redstone, with her daughter Margaret, and Mrs. Abbie Kerr, with her son, all of Penticton, have been staying with Mrs. W. P. Simpson for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Eisey, with their daughter Phyllis, drove down from Summerland on Saturday, and remained as guests with Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Henderson, until Tuesday morning.

It is reported that Mr. Purley Simpson has decided to remain in our midst, and has purchased a ranch near by. The community will all be glad to know he is not likely to leave town.

The new house that is being erected for Mr. W. P. Simpson is progressing rapidly, the roof is on, and it will be a fine residence when completed, and another great improvement to our town.

On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Seaman Hatfield, with Mr. and Mrs. Rourke, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ferrier, drove out to their place, "Sleeping Water," for luncheon, and spent a very pleasant time there.

On Saturday evening about fourteen of the young men of the town sat down to an oyster supper, which was served in the hotel, to celebrate the clearing away of the ice, and the commencement of the season's new interests.

The Rev. F. W. Pattison, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Pattison, came down from Summerland on Saturday. The former spent the time with Captain and Mrs. Chas. Hatfield, and the latter with Mrs. O. E. Tomlin.

Amongst the visitors to town on Sunday were noticed Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stark, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. White, Mr. Lee McLaughlin, Mr. Ed. Armstrong, and many other friends from Summerland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ferrier of Penticton arrived on the 3rd, and have spent the last week in Hotel Kaleden. They express themselves as being very pleased with the place generally, and appreciate the attentions they have received.

Dr. Sawyer, Principal of Okanagan College, Summerland, arrived in town last Saturday to take part in the opening services of the new Baptist Church on the following day. He was staying with Mr. and Mrs. Seaman Hatfield until Tuesday morning.

Mrs. James Ritchie of Parkdale, West Summerland, came down with her two children on the 1st to visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Findlay. We regret to say that Mrs. Ritchie has been sick since her arrival, having taken a severe cold on the journey down. It is hoped she may soon be restored to her usual health.

It was with great satisfaction last Friday that the ice was seen to be moving away from the wharf, and on Saturday afternoon we welcomed once more the arrival of our excellent boat the "Cygnet," on her first trip of this season. Arrangements are now made for a daily run up and down the lake, and a daily mail service has again been made possible.

Dedication of New Baptist Church at Kaleden.

(By our Kaleden Correspondent.)

On Sunday morning, the 6th, a very large congregation gathered in the Baptist Church to dedicate the new building to the praise and worship of God. A special excursion from Summerland brought a large party of friends ready to show their sympathy and help in the event.

The weather was all that could be desired, and at 11 a.m. the doors were opened for the first service in the new church building. A special Dedicatory Service had been prepared, with special music by the choir. Miss Anna Hayes very kindly came down from Summerland, and gave much pleasure by her singing, which was both suitable and appropriate to the occasion. The Rev. F. W. Pattison preached in the morning from the words found in Mark 7, v. 5, "How many loaves have ye?" The sermon was a very impressive and earnest discourse, and was listened to with rapt attention.

Dr. Sawyer and the Rev. J. H. Bowering of Summerland led in prayer, while Rev. M. C. Henderson, the present pastor, in charge, conducted the service. At 3 p.m. we were obliged to say farewell to our friends, the boat returning at that time.

In the evening at 7 p.m. the services were continued, and a very good congregation was present.

Dr. Sawyer preached a fine and helpful sermon from words found in Mat. 11, verses 28 to 30. It was good to have Dr. Sawyer with us, and to hear such a message of love from him. Mrs. M. C. Henderson gave "Oh! rest in the Lord," which she sang very feelingly, and with good effect.

On Monday evening a supper was served in the cook house at 6 p.m., to which about 70 guests were welcomed, and which was appreciated by all. About 8 p.m. a public meeting was held in the church, which was well attended. The principal speakers of the evening were Dr. Sawyer, Rev. F. W. Pattison, Summerland, Rev. Chas. Britten, Penticton, Mr. Smith, Okanagan Falls, Mr. J. C. Findlay, Kaleden, Mr. Jas. Ritchie, Summerland, Mr. John Marshall, Peachland, Mr. Harry Packham, Okanagan College, Mr. H. H. Whitaker, Kaleden, Mr. M. C. Henderson was in the chair. Solos were given by Mr. Ravenscroft and Mr. Newton.

The total collection for all services amounted to over $73, which will be placed to the Building Fund.

Base-Ball at Peachland.

(Contributed.)

The return game between Okanagan College and Peachland was played at the recreation park on Saturday, April 5th, when our boys were defeated with a score of 4-1.

The "Skookum" brought up a crowd of forty-six from the College.

When little "Frenchy" brought in the first run for the O.K.C. in the third innings the rooters threw up their hats for Monsieur Dupont. Hayward scored the second run in the fourth. During the next four innings Gummow's "Gum drops" proved too much for even "Frenchy," and Frank, "Nick," and Morlock brought in two runs during the ninth innings. Although "Frenchy" was batted heavy he had gilt-edge support, and only "Bill" McLaughlin succeeded in seeing home. Hurrah for "Bill"!!

There was "foul" play by "Weary" McDougall when he merable visu—jumped a bench and met the ball half way. Cunningham looked extremely "Cunning" when he muffed the fly knocked by Shaw (captain). O.K.C. pennants were lowered when "Nick" and "Clowso" ran into each other at second and missed the ball.

"Dad" Miller distinguished himself as short stop, and Ferguson played well on second. Capt. Shaw did some pretty work in centre field, and Holden was serenaded by a bunch of O.K.C. boys at first base. "Mutt" Leary surely must be descended from the cannibals, for he wished to eat the team alive—alive—alive.

George Nodham umpired, and earned a College course—tuition free—by the decisions he gave. There will be no next time for his "Umps."

REACHING MATURITY.

ANOTHER evidence that Canada is reaching the age of maturity, and that she is disposed to conduct her own business in her own way, is in the recent announcement of the Post-Master General in the House of Commons that a contract had been entered into with the Canadian Pacific, Canadian Northern, Allain, White Star and Dominion Steamship lines under which in future all mails for Britain and return will be carried on Canadian ships from Canadian ports. Heretofore it has been the practice to send a portion of the mails via New York, but this will be discontinued. The four companies will have twelve ships in summer, giving a tri-weekly service, and eight ships in winter, giving a semi-weekly service. Sailings will be from Montreal and Quebec in summer, and in winter from St. John or Halifax. The subsidy for the improved service will total one million dollars as compared with six hundred thousand now being paid.

$100 Fine With Costs.

Sentenced On Two Charges.

For some time Joe Mahoney, an Austrian, has been under suspicion for "boot-legging" whisky along the railway line, and sufficient evidence was obtained this week to convict. Mahoney is said to have made a regular business of buying liquor in Pentiction, bringing it here and retailing it in the railway camps. He has too been looked upon as rather a dangerous man and on Saturday assaulted a man in one of the camps, striking him with a gun stock. A charge was laid before Magistrate English and Mahoney, who came in town this week, was arrested and tried Thursday afternoon. A fine of $50 was imposed for selling whisky and another $50.00 for carrying a gun and the assault. Costs of $22.00 are in addition to these and it was upon the condition that he leave the country at once that the prisoner was allowed his liberty.

Just because you can't see your own children's faults is no sign that you need the service of an oculist.

The young lady who will acknowledge that her own sweetheart has any faults isn't far enough in love yet to make an ideal wife.

Presentation.

Immediately after the service in St. Andrew's Church, last Sunday morning, Mr. A. L. Moreland was presented with a neatly bound Bible by Mr. John Robertson, on behalf of the members of the congregation. The presentation was made in recognition of Mr. Moreland's faithful services as Secretary and Treasurer, which position he has held since the church was organized. Mr. Moreland's removal to Kelowna is a distinct loss to the church.

An Explanation.

Our having been deprived of power on Thursday forenoon while some repairs to the power main were being made has necessitated our omitting some late contributed articles as well as editorials from this issue. It was found impossible to get the matter set up in the remaining time.

A man is apt to admire the things he makes himself, even his mistakes.

She—"You're always late. You were late at the church the day we were married." He—"I wasn't late enough."

Local People Visit Kaleden.

Special Sunday Trip To Attend Dedication of New Church.

Quite a number of citizens took advantage of the special trip arranged for the occasion and were present at the first service in connection with the dedication of the new Baptist Church at Kaleden last Sunday. As announced last week a round trip, with close connections at Pentiction and at the head of the lower lake, were arranged, and Sunday's experience showed it possible to make the trip from Summerland to Kaleden, via this route, in two hours. The weak spot was the connection overland between the two lakes. With good service there the trip might be done in even less time.

Leaving here at eight o'clock under ideal weather conditions, which maintained throughout the day, the trip was greatly enjoyed by all. Three quarters of an hour was consumed on the journey to Pentiction where a stage was in waiting to transfer the party to the head of the other lake. Sufficient accommodation was not provided, and at least half an hour was lost before the Cygnet had all on board. It is about half an hour's sail from the landing to Kaleden, wharf where the party arrived about 10.30, still in good time for the service beginning at 11 o'clock. The return trip was made leaving Kaleden a few minutes after 3, and arriving in Summerland at 5.20. Some time was lost again in waiting for the stage after landing from the Cygnet.

Of the dedication service we will say but little, leaving this to our Kaleden correspondent, from whom we have a full report of the morning and evening services of Sunday, and of the social and special service on Monday evening (see Page 3). It may be said, however, that the morning service throughout was most impressive. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. F. W. Pattison, who was in his best form, and delivered one of the strongest and most convincing sermons he has ever given. Others who took part in the service were Rev. Mr. Henderson, pastor, Dr. E. W. Sawyer, Principal of Okanagan College, and Rev. J. H. Bowring. There was an exceedingly good choir, being particularly strong in male voices. Misses Anna Hayes and Edna McLeod assisted the choir, the former singing very acceptably the solo, "Come unto Me."

The new church is completed without and within and is very pleasing and neat in design, the interior finish receiving much favorable comment. The pews, evidently of local make, are very comfortable and roomy. The pastor announced at the morning service that all the expenses to within about $200 or $250 had been paid, and it was hoped that the collections at the special services would help to wipe off this amount. Much credit is due the pastor, Mr. Henderson, in his untiring efforts to have the congregation furnished with a comfortable church home, nor must the ladies of the congregation be forgotten. From what we could gather in a short time it would seem that a few ladies (about eight in all) have indeed put forth a great effort, and have worked hard throughout. An example of their untiring effort was shown in their preparation to provide a bounteous supper for some seventy-five people on Monday evening.

Thirty or more people from here attended the opening service, a number of them remaining for the evening service, and a few for the social, etc., on Monday night.

LOCALS.

C. H. Cordy was at Vernon on a business trip early this week.

Mr. Titton of the Bank of Commerce staff spent last weekend in Pentiction.

The ferry company's new scow has been put afloat, and has already been put into commission, making another valuable addition to their equipment.

Local poultrymen will be interested to learn that the various local associations of the upper valley have agreed to amalgamate for show purposes, and will hold their first joint exhibition in Vernon.

Women may be the wine of life, but they would strenuously object to being put on the shelf until properly aged.

The Gymnastic Concert.

The concert given in the College Gymnasium on Friday evening, 4th inst., was the best of the three so far put on by the College. The musical and literary features were conspicuous successes, including a much appreciated reading by Miss Colwell, and solos by Misses Anna Hayes and Ethel Brown, and by Messrs. A. Bentley, and James and Alex. Smith. It is sufficient to say that all these artists were at their best, and the enthusiastic applause of the large audience, which filled the spacious auditorium, bore eloquent testimony to that fact. The violin solos by Miss Dorothy Harrington were especially fine, and the accompaniments by Misses Hurschman and Harrington and Prof. Moore all that could be desired.

The gymnastic features were well staged. A class of young ladies from the College opened the concert with fancy marching and an Indian club drill. The grace and precision of movement evinced by this class won hearty plaudits. The class work on the parallel bars, led by Physical Director McLeod, was especially good. This was intermediate work. Four specialists—Messrs. John McLeod, Thomas B. Young, W. Middleton and Joe Graham—gave a splendid exhibition of advanced work on the bars. The pyramids and the tumbling were high class. A wrestling match between Messrs. T. B. Young, A. McDougall and E. Shaw caused great excitement, especially during the time when Young and McDougall held the mat in deadly grapple. McDougall showed great class, but the superior knowledge and strength of Young gave him the victory over his plucky opponents in 12½ minutes.

An interesting feature of the entertainment was the presentation of the championship cup to the Town basket-ball team by Mr. Rowley, and special prizes to the Town team and the Bean-eaters by Mr. McLeod. Mr. Rowley was loudly applauded when he announced his intention of presenting a larger cup for competition between the two teams next year. The candy presented to the Town team by the High School girls, and Cliff McWilliams' speech were of a high order.

The National Anthem closed an exceptionally fine entertainment.

"Mikado" Cancelled

Repeat Performance in Aid of Hospital Auxiliary Cannot Be Given.

Much to the disappointment of many citizens the repeat performance of the "Mikado" which was to have been given last night was cancelled as has also been the engagement announced for Pentiction on the 14th. The loss of voice of one of the principals, Mr. Fred Manchester, whose place the society were not able to refill, is the cause of the change in plans. Mr. Manchester undertook the work rather against the advice of his physician, and has at times sung with great difficulty. After Tuesday night's rehearsal his voice failed completely, the result of paralysis of the throat. For a time he could not even speak. It will be months at least before Mr. Manchester will be permitted to again do any singing, and although an effort was made to get one of two men who had taken the parts of Nanki-poo and Ko-ko from Kelowna, neither could be obtained, and there was no alternative to cancelling the engagements.

The nett proceeds from this week's performance of "Mikado" were to have been given to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Hospital Society. However, the committee have practically decided to give a benefit concert for the same cause at an early date.

Rev. Mr. Henderson pastor of Peachland church, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Jessie, were visitors in town last Sunday. Mr. Henderson occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church both morning and evening, his pulpit in Peachland being filled by Rev. F. W. Hardy. Mr. Henderson also addressed the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church on Monday evening.

Messrs. White and Logie, Chairman and Secretary of the Fruit Growers Committee who have the organization of the growers in hand, visited Naramata last night and were successful in enlisting practically all the growers there, as members of the local society. This was considered the better plan for the present and later when more of Naramata's orchards come into bearing a local society may be formed.

Henceforth the XL ranch will be known as the Lakeview Ranch. This property, which has recently been purchased by P. G. Coop of Vancouver, has been placed in charge of H. C. Mellor. The properties, which in all comprise some sixty acres, include the ranch proper, the place now occupied by H. Bristow, ten acres of meadow land at Prairie Valley, and a quarter-section in Appledale, also two town lots on Shaughnessy Avenue.

The proposition to have the Rev. A. W. McLeod take up work in the railway camps on the east side of the lake is being favourably received. Already a considerable sum of money in aid of the work has been promised from Kelowna. Messrs. White and Logie, two of the members of the local committee, who are directing the work, interviewed the railway authorities at Naramata last night to get their support and approval of the undertaking.

Mr. R. B. Wilkinson's family have this week moved into the Moreland cottage.

Naramata Notes.

Miss Bessie Mitchell is home from Penticton this week.

Mr. R. Reid has recently purchased a fine-looking driving horse.

The Trust Company has been extending its pipe-line to the most northerly fruit lots.

Dr. Whitehouse was very elated upon receiving a cable from England announcing the birth of a little son.

Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Pushman were in Penticton on Wednesday, combining lunch at the "Incola" with shopping duties.

Mrs. F. A. Languedoc welcomed her friend, Miss Reid of Edmonton, on Tuesday night. Miss Reid intends to make a protracted visit in Naramata.

Miss Crawford, whose arrival was expected the early part of last week, reached here on Saturday night. She is a friend of Mrs. Steel, from her home in Glasgow, Scotland.

As was expected, the blasting has greatly affected the hatching of eggs. In one case, out of 109 eggs set in an incubator only 16 chicks hatched; another resulted in an extraordinary number of "freaks." No one has reported a great success at it, as yet.

The community regrets its inability to do more than extend its sympathy to the William Mitchell family upon the illness of Miss Violet. Last Saturday night, a severe cold developed into pneumonia, and she has been in a critical condition since. The crisis of the illness is looked for Wednesday night, and the hopes of all are for a speedy recovery.

For the past week Mr. A. B. Allen has been very low in health. Though being in a very weakened condition all the winter, a perceptible change for the worse was noticed last Friday. His father, who was in Los Angeles, Cal., was telegraphed to, and arrived in Naramata the middle of the week. There has been no change in Mr. Allen's condition for the last few days.

That the Okanagan Valley, and Naramata especially, has made a favorable impression upon the Roe families, will be proven the last of the week, when they expect to welcome several more of their relatives as permanent residents. Mrs. Hughes and children, Mrs. Noyes and daughter, Miss Emma Davies, and Miss Alberta Gray will arrive on Friday night. Mr. Fred Roe and Mr. Ally Noyes will meet the party at the Landing. After a year's acquaintance with the Ottawa people we are very glad to welcome any more of the same good sort.

A Happy Slogan.

Consumers Urged To "Buy B.C. Products."

The movement initiated by the New Westminster Progressive Association for the purpose of securing public co-operation in the matter of preference to home-grown products is bearing immediate results and it is expected that the movement will embrace the whole province, and be made sufficiently influential to bring about the betterment of present conditions by creating a demand that will be of valuable assistance to the farming community in procuring proper marketing facilities.

"Buy B.C. Products" is a patriotic slogan which should be adopted to a practical end, and if the ultimate consumer does his or her part at the corner grocery it should be the means of securing a fair price and ready market for the farmer, and solve to a large extent the question of the cost of living on the part of the consumer.—Saturday Sunset.

MORE DOUKHOBORS COMING.

Saskatoon, Sask., April 1.—A trainload of Doukhobors, westward bound, on the exodus from Saskatchewan to British Columbia, passed through here to-day. There were six hundred Doukhobors and their families in the party. This is the third consignment, two trainloads numbering 1,500 having left last fall. They are bound for Castlegar and Kinross, where their compatriots have established fruit farms.

APPLE SNOW.

Quarter and core three large tart apples, but do not pare them. Steam the apples till they are soft, then put them through a fine sieve. Beat the whites of three eggs stiff, add half a cup of powdered sugar, beating it in and then add the apple pulp. Beat the mixture till it is white and fluffy. Pile in a glass dish and garnish with currant jelly.

Would Beautify Town.

Some Advantages To Be Gained Therefrom.

Winnipeg, Man.,
April 3, 1913.

Dear Editor,
It was with much more than ordinary interest that I read your article in the Review of the 28th ult. in regard to beautifying Summerland. This action of the Women's Institute is a good one, and I sincerely trust that the matter will not be allowed to go by default, but that the ideals of the most ambitious will be realized. The advantages are many. First it is a good advertisement. Nothing impresses visitors more favorably (unless it be the moral atmosphere) than the clean and business-like appearance of a place. The Okanagan Valley has made a reputation for growing apples, but when visitors come and see carelessness and indifference exhibited in looking after the public appearance of the community it will without doubt detract a great deal from what we have gained in other ways. Second, it should be done for the sake of the refining influence it will have upon the growing boys and girls. Third, for the satisfaction and pleasure it will give to the older folks, and, Fourth, for the additional value it will give to property.

While I am specially interested in Naramata I am also interested in the Valley as a whole, and would be willing to contribute my share to any concerted action along this line, as a valley or locally.

I have not written this for publication, but simply to express my views in the matter in order that it may encourage the women in what I believe to be a good work. If you think its publication would help on the matter any, I have no objection. My only desire is to see the scheme made a success.

Yours sincerely,
W. H. Irwin.

B.C. FRUIT GROWERS ARE TO ORGANIZE.

(Spokane Spokesman-Review).

The leading fruit growers of the Kootenay district, British Columbia, are alert to their need of big organization and a central marketing agency. They naturally look upon the prairie provinces of Canada as their own territory, and are organizing to capture and control the markets.

At a large gathering of fruit growers and interested business men at Nelson on Thursday night a district co-operative organization for the handling of the fruit of Kootenay district was outlined by J. D. Hensberger of Grand Forks and A. T. Davis of Mirror Lake.

A committee of six men was appointed to submit a full report to the annual meeting of the Kootenay Fruit Growers' Union, to be held in Nelson shortly. It was the consensus of opinion that each district, instead of having separate competing concerns, should cooperate and assist each other in the successful handling of the fruit crops, from picking to marketing. Organization is in the air. Authorities everywhere in the broad west, from Canada to the Mexican line, are convinced that without it there can be no future for the fruit industry. If growers of the Spokane district still lack a moving comprehension of this truth, it may be driven into their consciousness later by the hard logic of financial loss.

Recent Departmental Post-Office statistics show that in one month fifty-two rural post-offices were closed. Forty-five of these were closed on the request of the citizens of the neighborhoods they served, petitions having been sent in for the free delivery service with all the accompanying advantages given by the recently extended service. By this system each household has a post-office at its front gate, giving free delivery and collection service together with the conveniences of a money order and registering office.

Notes on Sporting Events.

The College baseball team, with a large and enthusiastic bunch of rooters took Peachland by storm on Saturday last. They made the trip on the Skookum, which left the wharf here at 11.45 a.m., and just one hour and fifteen minutes later landed the mountaineers at the Peachland wharf. The Skookum is a very fine little boat, and the Collegians were loud in her praises. By the way they also like Captain Roe and his business methods. The game between the College and Peachland was interesting, and ended in a victory for the College by the score of 4-1. On the play the score should be closer, but superior knowledge of the fine points of the game enabled the College to squeeze in a run or two which had the Peachland boys been more wide-awake, would not have come in. A large crowd attended the game, and the rooting was tremendous. A good-looking, and somewhat elongated specimen from the Emerald Isle regaled the crowd with Irish oratory and wit and humor. He was ably seconded by a young man who, like the famous Darius Green, said "the birds can fly and why can't I," and took recently a "soaring leap" from the top of a telephone pole, with results somewhat disastrous to his anatomy. "Frenchy" did the twirling for the College, and was in great form. Gummow was effective in the box for Peachland. Both pitchers were ably supported in the infield and outfield, the College having slightly the best of it there, and behind the bat, where McDougall covered himself with gravel and glory. Holden at first, and as the only original kicker, was a star of the first magnitude. However, he couldn't hit "Frenchy," and thereby hangs a tale. Gordon McDougall scored the only run for Peachland. The Skookum, with a tired but well-satisfied crowd of fans, returned to Summerland immediately after the game.

The juniors of the College and Public School played their first game on Wednesday afternoon. The score was 14-2 in favor of the College. To those who remembered the five games played by the juniors last year it was something like a fiasco. Another such exhibition and interest in the junior contests will be as dead as Julius Caesar. The thing that makes baseball interesting to the "noble army" of fans is a close contest. The average base-ball enthusiast is a dead game sport, and an attack of seniors with chin whiskers on the "cradle roll," fills him with unutterable disgust. In the interest of the game the seniors on both teams should go away back and sit down, and give the juniors a chance to develop the good material available.

The unseemly squabble between the gamblers into whose hands lacrosse, Canada's national game, has temporarily fallen, should cause arrest of thought to those who are professionalizing and commercializing that which should be strictly amateur. It is encouraging to note that the famous Shamrocks and Capitals have returned to the amateur fold.

The lack of interest in matters athletic and gymnastic, manifested by many of Summerland's leading citizens, may have disastrous results in the not distant future. Increasingly as the year's go by the fine climate of Summerland will make it a haven for the physically unfit. Under such circumstances only systematic physical education can offset physical deterioration in the case of our growing boys and girls. A word to the wise ought to be sufficient.

LOST, STRAYED or STOLEN—the Town base-ball team. Any information as to their whereabouts will be suitably rewarded by Quill-driver.

C.P.R. WHARF RE-CONSTRUCTION

Construction work started this week on the promised improvements at the C.P.R. wharf. Promptly after deciding on this work the material was quickly gathered and now one of the large barges loaded with a train of workmen's cars, steam pile-driver, and about fifteen men are at work. Piles are being driven on the north side of the present wharf, which will be widened by twenty-four feet. Along the middle of the enlarged structure a building to include offices, waiting-rooms, fruit warehouse, etc., will be built.

IMPORTANT REAL ESTATE DEAL.

One of the most important real estate deals and one which has been pending for some time, was completed this week. Through this deal Mr. W. P. Secrest becomes the owner of the 20 acres held by J. D. Johnson, 10 acres of orchard land, on which Mr. Johnson resides, and 10 acres of meadow land at the mouth of Prairie Valley, and Mr. Johnson takes the half section at High River, Alta., owned by Mr. Secrest. This deal was made through the efforts of Mr. H. H. Elsey. Mr. Secrest has been in the community for some days, and when interviewed about two weeks ago said he was so pleased with conditions here that if he did not get the Johnson property, he would buy some other orchard.

A NEW TOWNSITE.

Another sub-division is being planned within the municipality. The survey has already been made, and the approval of the Council will no doubt be asked at an early date. The opening of a new townsite is proposed in Peach Valley, and the reason is the decision of the K.V.R. to put its station there.

The Hosmer property, which immediately adjoins the station site, as well as another directly east of the former have been laid off into building lots in anticipation of the opening of the new channel of traffic. Miss Clouston is one of those interested and will have charge of the business here.

"Mikado" At Home.

The Summerland Musical Society's At Home last night in Empire Hall was one of the most successful functions of that nature given here. About 160 guests were present by invitation, including the members of the society, and the evening was given over to dancing, music and cards, not forgetting a most generous repast and the after dinner speeches.

The ladies of the society wore their Mikado costumes giving the event the appearance of a fancy dress ball. Shortly after one o'clock a grand march was called, and following this was probably the greatest surprise of the evening. The caterers had provided large tables, daintily spread, in an adjoining room, and the grand march ended at the tables there. Much credit is due not only to the committee but Miss Hopkins, who so ably assisted in the catering, for the rather novel manner of serving a repast at a function of this kind. About an hour and a half was spent at the tables, at which 154 plates were spread, and practically every place was occupied. Mr. A. W. Stanley, who presided, proposed a number of toasts which were responded to by Messrs. William Sauter, Dan Williams, C. H. Cordy, J. L. Logie, W. C. W. Fosbery, Dr. Andrew and Mrs. Gillespie. In acknowledging a vote of thanks for the catering, which was done under the direction of C. N. Borton, the latter gave much of the credit to Miss Hopkins, without whose assistance the work could not have been so successfully carried through. During the toasts musical conductor D. Williams was presented with a baton by A. W. Stanley on behalf of the society.

Saskatoon And The Marketing Question

Being equally interested with our fruit growers in the much-discussed marketing question the Review has been gathering all information possible bearing on this subject that might be of assistance to our readers. The following extremely interesting and pointed expressions of opinion have come in reply to an enquiry made of the Commissioner of the Board of Trade at Saskatoon, where fruit is looked upon as a luxury, and which city, with its immense tributary country, should be one of our best markets. To some of Commissioner Selanders' remarks we may take exception, but nevertheless his letter in full will be read with much satisfaction.

Saskatoon City, Sask.
7th April, 1913.

The Editor,

Summerland Review.

Dear Sir:

Thanks for your esteemed favor of 31st ult., and I might say that a committee of our business people are now investigating the fruit business here; but have not yet tabled their report. However, we expect it shortly now.

Here is the fruit situation as we see it here: with us, prices place fruit in the realm of luxuries. Yet, we are told that the growers are very inadequately rewarded for their labors. Further, we read in the press that in many fruit growing portions of the Dominion, fruit is actually going to waste for lack of a profitable market. Such a situation seems ultra-absurd, and warrants the view that there is something very far wrong. Neither the growers nor the consumers are getting justice. Then, who is skimming the milk? It is my hope that our committee's report will answer the foregoing question. Meantime, I am personally inclined to believe that the middleman—the drone—is doing particularly well. This opinion may err; but that is unlikely.

To my mind, the situation largely arises from the fact that fruit growers are not business men, in the modern acceptance. They can grow exquisite fruit, but they FALL DOWN ON THE MARKETING END. They are incomplete from a commercial standpoint. They want to be business men as well as husbandmen. Otherwise, they fall a prey to the middlemen, who do for them that which they really ought to do for themselves. For instance, why can't your people send a representative here—the brightest man they have. Send him right through the Prairie Provinces to every important point. Let him book orders, and do for his fellows that which the middleman has been and is still doing.

Your fruit growers are very like many of our farmers: there is lots of market truck, milk, butter and eggs throughout the country, but the farmer, very often, has not got the business energy and resource to market it to advantage. Consequently, when he sells in the country he gets a very much lower price than he could by sending his stuff here. He falls down on the business end of the proposition. It is because that so many of our farmers do this that the middleman finds it easy to step in and draw his unsparing tribute on the hard work of other men's hands.

I may be all wrong in the above; nevertheless such are my conclusions from evidence so far submitted to me.

We want our brother husbandmen to get a fair, square price for their fruit, but we do not want to have to deny it to our children because its price here is beyond the ordinary purse. And, fruit is actually rotting on the land! It would be funny were it not so devilishly tragic and so utterly unnecessary.

Faithfully yours,
F. MACLURE SCLANDERS,
Commissioner.

His Satanic majesty grins when he hears a man say he will reform—to-morrow.

Irrigators who use water in wasteful quantities upon their land and then neglect cultivation are measurably depleting the sources of supply.

Summerland Fruit Union

Fruit Growers Organize Under New Agricultural Act.

Provisional Directors Elected. Organization to be Completed at once.

Another step, and a most important one, was made on Monday night toward the organization of the growers of this district, and ultimately of the valley, into a practical marketing organization. A good number of growers met in the Club Room on that evening, at the call of the Farmers' Institute, to hear the report of the organization committee and to act thereon.

At the previous meeting it had been decided to organize, provided 300 shares of $50 each were subscribed, and the committee have been busy getting members enrolled. While the required number had not on Monday night been obtained the result was encouraging, and it was thought that when the question was fully understood by resident and non-resident lot owners that all would subscribe, thus giving the required amount of working capital. In view of this, as well as the fact that the season is rapidly advancing, it was decided at Monday's meeting to proceed to organize at once.

Of the $15,000 of working capital recommended in the 300 shares of $50 each, only $10 per share is required from the subscriber, the other $40 being advanced by the Provincial Government at 4 per cent. This low rate of interest is another reason why many shares as possible should be subscribed.

Among other conditions on which this loan is made is that the application made to the department be signed by at least twenty-five persons declaring their intention of organizing themselves into a co-operative company. This petition was duly drawn up, and at Monday night's meeting was signed by more than thirty fruit growers. The committee's recommendations were adopted after having been read and considered clause by clause, each receiving an explanation from the committee's chairman, Mr. G. J. C. White, who also generally outlined the situation and the advantages of organizing as proposed. He expected the organization plans as outlined to be carried through, and that it would be a great success.

Mr. J. L. Hilborn, President of the Institute, declared that it was only as a result of organization that success could be attained. In Ontario, his home province, all the best fruit sections depend on organization. For some years they have been packing and selling co-operatively with district organizations. A central selling agency for the various district societies is being organized.

In speaking on the committee's report Mr. J. L. Logie, the secretary, remarked that all the valley was moving in the same direction. The first clause of the committee's recommendation was that the growers proceed to organize along the lines laid down by the Agricultural Act. This was carried unanimously. The second clause was also adopted without comment, giving the name of the new organization that of the "Summerland Fruit Union." The authorized capital was fixed at $100,000 by clause 3, which, after explanation from the committee, was unanimously adopted. Clause 4 related to the provisional directors, the committee recommending that seven be appointed, one of these to represent Naramata. This, too, was adopted with but little comment.

Coun. Robinson thought five directors sufficient, and he would pick the men who can and have sold their own fruit to profit. He thought it might be better not to establish the central agency this year. Each district would have a man whom they would consider the best for the central. It would be better to have each one tried out in his own organization and then choose who should be best as manager for the central. As to the proposed number of directors it was pointed out that these were only provisional directors. The permanent board might have less or more.

Mr. Hilborn believed the central idea would prove the cheapest, easiest and simplest means of marketing, while Mr. White pointed out that with the central agency the duties of the local managers would be materially lightened, they only needing to look after the local matters, and would have nothing to do with the selling. Further discussion on the central agency was deferred awaiting the visit of Mr. Robertson, the accredited agent of the department, who will discuss this matter with the growers on the afternoon of the 21st.

There was some difference of opinion as to where the meeting for Mr. Robertson should be held. Of late Institute meetings have been held alternately between the Club Room and Campbell's Hall, and it was therefore claimed that the next meeting should be held in the latter place. As against this it was suggested by Reeve Thomson that Empire Hall should be used as he would expect to see enough present to well fill it, and that Campbell's Hall would not hold the crowd, while Mr. White thought that with Empire Hall the residents of Naramata would be more likely to attend. A vote was taken and there was a majority for Campbell's Hall.

A number of those present then added their names to the list of shareholders and all these proceeded to elect provisional directors. Nominations were made and the directors elected by ballot. The following were nominated: J. L. Logie, W. A. Caldwell, C. N. Higgin, R. V. Agur, Adam Stark, C. J. Thomson, J. L. Hilborn, G. J. C. White, H. C. Mellor, H. J. Wells (for Naramata), and James Ritchie. The seventh and eighth received a tie vote, and upon motion of the shareholders the number of provisional directors was fixed at eight. Those elected are as follows:

J. L. Logie, J. L. Hilborn, H. J. Wells, G. J. C. White, Adam Stark, C. J. Thomson, W. A. Caldwell, and C. N. Higgin. Each of the latter two were disposed to withdraw in favor of the other. This suggestion was not received with favor, and a motion to include both was carried unanimously. The provisional directors were asked to appoint two of their number to attend a meeting at Penticton this (Friday) evening.

Mr. White, speaking for the directors, said they were thankful for the confidence placed in them if not for the work put upon them. They desired the fullest co-operation, and asked that all help to get members both from among resident and absentee lot owners. Mr. Thomson suggested that a carload of apples be shipped at once under the name of the new organization, but no action was taken.

The meeting then adjourned.

Mr. R. Robertson, who has been commissioned by the Department of Agriculture to visit the various districts in the Okanagan Valley to talk with the fruit growers on the subject of a Central Selling Agency, will address a meeting of the local growers on Monday at 2 p.m. It has also been learned that Deputy Minister W. E. Scott, who is deeply interested in food industry will accompany Mr. Robertson. In view of this, as well as the fact that the growers of Naramata propose to attend Mr. Robertson's meeting, the officers of the Farmers' Institute have decided that it would be necessary to hold the meeting in Empire Hall, and the secretary has asked that every grower be urged to be present to hear Mr. Robertson's message, and also Mr. Scott on the Government's attitude toward this matter.

Only one-half of Canada's great west is surveyed; only one-tenth under cultivation.

The Story That Thrilled The World.

"We are weak, writing is difficult, but for my own sake I do not regret this journey, which has shown that Englishmen can endure hardship, help one another, and meet death with as great a fortitude as ever in the past. We took risks—we know we took them.

Things have come out against us, and therefore we have no cause for complaint, but bow to the will of Providence, determined still to do our best to the last. But if we have been willing to give our lives to this enterprise, which is for the honor of our country, I appeal to our countrymen to see that those who depend on us are properly cared for.

Had we lived I should have had a tale to tell of the hardihood, endurance, and courage of my companions which would have stirred the heart of every Englishman.

These rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale, but surely, surely a great rich country like ours will see that those who are dependent upon us are properly provided for."

(Signed) R. SCOTT.
March 25th, 1912.

These few simple words, found in the diary of a brave man, must touch a sympathetic note in the heart of all other brave men and women, and whether we think the end aimed at—and achieved—was worth the sacrifice or whether we think it was not, we have only to look back over the history of the past to realize that the enormous empire that now covers practically two-thirds of the globe, has been built up by just this spirit; and if it were possible that it should serve no other purpose, this world tragedy will live as an object lesson of heroism, of unaffected bravery, that should help us and those who come after us over many a rough road.

A Penny Fund has been started in England enabling even the humblest to participate in the realization of Captain Scott's pathetic appeal.

In order that an organized collection may be made in Summerland the Over-seas Club and the St. Andrew's Society unite in an appeal to the public to give what they can towards "The People's Tribute to the Heroes of the Antarctic."

The sum collected will be devoted to the erection of a drinking fountain in Summerland for horses and the public which will stand as a useful memorial to our British Heroes.

An entertainment is being arranged, half the proceeds of which will go towards the "Scott Memorial Fund."

The program will consist of a one-act play, "Good for Nothing," presented by "The Players."

Instrumental Quartette, the Misses Higgin, and "The Prologue from 'Pagliacci,'" Mr. Alex. Bentley.

How Bill Adams won the Battle of Waterloo, Mr. T. F. Knox. The Lady of Shallott, Mr. Sauter, accompanied by Miss M. Higgin. Coster Song, Mr. Miller.

Further particulars will be given later.

Council in Session

Adjourned Meeting Held Last Friday.

An adjourned meeting of the Council was held last Friday afternoon. The principal business transacted was in connection with the extending of water services and making some alterations thereto.

Two citizens waited upon the Council, namely, James Ritchie and George Gartrell, the former to follow up his request for water connection, and the latter applied for a rebate on his electric light bill.

At the previous meeting Mr. Ritchie had applied for irrigation water service on a block in district lot 1178, which he had sold to be used as a vineyard, the planting of which would be done this spring. The Superintendent had been asked to report, and his report being favorable, a motion was carried authorizing irrigation connection to the east side of district lot 1178 and box 9 in district lot 2194 adjoining the former. This latter is the property of J. L. Logie.

A change in the domestic water service was ordered in Peach Orchard. At present the pipe, which is not giving satisfaction, runs through the Moyes property on the hill overlooking Peach Orchard, and Mr. Moyes has asked that the pipe running through the property be cut out. On the recommendation of the Clerk, who had looked into the matter, a motion was carried authorizing the discontinuance of the service over the hill, and connection with the pipe between the properties of Fred Anderson and George Raincock, which will be extended to the J. M. Sutherland lot. Another connection will be made at the cemetery. $100 was granted for this purpose and for the erecting of a neat tool house and some other necessary improvements about the cemetery.

A domestic water pipe will be laid on the south side of the subdivision of blocks 4 and 5 in district lots 3640, this being the property immediately south of Victoria Gardens. This was carried on the motion of Councillors Dale and Robinson, with the proviso that the total length will not exceed 200 ft., and the cost not to exceed $100. This pipe will be paid for by the owner, James Ritchie, and the cost will be re-payable at the end of the year. By this arrangement all the lots affected will be liable for general domestic rate next season.

Some time ago Mr. Gartrell had complained that his electric light bill was too high, contending that the meter was not working right. Accordingly the meter was tested. The report showed that the meter was correct, and as Mr. Gartrell's account for electric light had been accumulating pending the test, he applied for the usual cash rebate. This was granted on motion of Couns. Lewes and Dunsdon.

The Council then adjourned till its next regular monthly meeting on May 6th at 9 a.m.

The apricot trees are showing blossom, and have every appearance of the promise of a large crop of fruit this year.

Inspector Denton was in town last Friday visiting the school, and making a survey of the work that had been accomplished since his last visit.

Mr. Burton Hatfield of Summerland is down for a few days fixing the boat belonging to Mr. Wilkins. He is staying with his parents, Capt. and Mrs. Hatfield.

Mrs. James Ritchie of Parkdale, West Summerland, was sufficiently recovered from her sickness to return to her home on Tuesday morning. Miss Annie Findlay went up with her for a few days.

Mr. Laurie Hatfield drove down from Summerland last Sunday, bringing a friend from Nova Scotia who was able to renew his acquaintance with several whom he had previously known there.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Club was held on Wednesday the 16th, at the home of Mrs. W. P. Simpson, when plans for the continuance of the work in aid of the young men's reading room and library were discussed.

It has been noticed that one of the improvements of this season is a whistle on our boat the Cygnet, so that on her approach to the wharf, and also on her departure, the residents have timely warning, in case they need to go on board.

At 3 p.m. last Sunday, in the Baptist Church, a service was held by those of the Anglican Church, and the Rev. J. A. Cleland of Penticton came down for the occasion. The service was interesting, and well attended, and the sermon was of a very high order, being practical, and very helpful to all.

Great improvements are being made in Hotel Kaleden since Mr. and Mrs. McDonald took charge there, and it now presents a very smart appearance. We understand a large sign is to be erected, so that any travellers coming to the place may the more easily know where to find good accommodation.

Mr. William King, builder, who has put such excellent work into the building of the Baptist Church here and is now engaged on Mr. W. P. Simpson's new house, will go to the head of the lake as soon as that work is completed, where he has the contract for the building of a warehouse in which to store goods in transport.

It was arranged that the service of the Baptist Church should commence last Sunday at 10.30 a.m., when Mrs. A. A. McLeod again spoke to those present. It is regretted that so brief a time was given to her, as she was quite unable to do much more than introduce her subject, the preliminaries of the service taking up most of the time.

Mrs. A. A. McLeod, who was a missionary amongst the Telugus in India, was with us last Saturday, and addressed the Mission Band in the Baptist Church at 2 p.m., to whom she gave a very interesting talk. At three she met the ladies of the Mission Circle to whom she very ably described the manners and customs of the Telugu women, giving several of her own experiences as a missionary. An informal tea was served about 5 p.m., and a most enjoyable time was spent.

The Hotel Kaleden register contains the following visitors: John Mahony, Penticton; W. J. Mahony, Penticton; Chas. Robinson, Penticton; — Boveridge, Vancouver; M. C. Kendall, Penticton; H. Richardson, Enghad; J. L. Hatfield, Summerland; J. P. Leany, Summerland; J. R. Brown, Summerland; J. R. Rowley, Summerland; W. J. Jones, Penticton; R. S. Conklin and wife, Penticton.

DUTCH APPLE CAKE.

Sift a pint of flour with a teaspoonful and a half of baking powder, and half a teaspoon of salt. Rub into the flour two tablespoons of butter and a tablespoon of sugar. Mix with a beaten egg and milk to make a thick batter. Pour an inch thick in a greased baking pan. Have ready some apples pared and cut into eighths, and lay the slices overlapping each other on the top of the cake pressing the sharp edges in a little. Sprinkle with mixed sugar and cinnamon, and bake in a brisk oven.

Concrete
is the cheapest building material

WHETHER for a silo, a milk-house, or a million bushel grain elevator, concrete is the most economical building material in use today.

Concrete never requires repairs, and the saving in repair-expense alone makes the greater economy of using concrete more apparent every day. The cost of other building materials is constantly increasing. The cost of concrete is being reduced.

which Canadian farmers use, with their own sand, stone and gravel to make concrete, is the only ingredient you have to buy. We have, by reason of our large output and scientific methods, been able to bring the price of "Canada" Cement so low that it is within the reach of everyone.

An increase in demand results in a greater economy of production, and when conditions have warranted it, we have, from time to time, shared this saving with the consumer by reducing the price of Canada Cement. This demand will continue to increase—as fast as farmers learn of concrete's superiority over other materials.

When you buy cement, see that you get "Canada" Cement; by so doing you will assure the complete success of all your concrete work.

Send a post card for our book "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete." It is free.

PROFIT IN CHERRIES

Cherries, according to J. T. Bealby, owner of a commercial orchard on Kootenay Lake, are coming to be the most profitable product in the fruit-growing industry, although involving possibly the most labor. Mr. Bealby's cherry orchards show a gross production of from $1,200 to $1,500 per acre. He states that one tree on his ranch has given an average of $70 worth of fruit every year for several years, and that $25 is a fair average for the entire acreage. After the first four years merely ordinary care is required, with a little spraying and trimming. Apples, he says, give an average return of $250 per acre gross. Mr. Bealby purchased his ranch of 25 acres about six years ago, and has made a marked success from the start.

Crude Thoughts From the Editorial Pen.

BETTER CORN, PIGS AND CATTLE— WHY NOT BETTER BABIES?

IN the March Woman's Home Companion appears the first complete report of a great campaign that is springing up with astonishing virility—a campaign for "better babies." A year or two ago a woman in Iowa, Mrs. Mary T. Watts, conceived the idea that in her state the principal enthusiasm among the people was for better cattle, better corn and better hogs. At the county and state fairs there were occasional "baby shows," but the whole purpose was to pick out and reward babies for their beauty and attractiveness rather than for their health and development. In other words the baby was simply a side-show for entertainment and not taken seriously, while in every other exhibit science ruled, and the object was to cultivate knowledge of the best ways to produce better products.

Mrs. Watts saw that Iowa was neglecting her most valuable crop—her crop of babies. With the co-operation of a physician, Dr. M. V. Clark, she organized a real baby contest. The object was to award prizes to those children who made the best physical showing. Dr. Clark prepared score-cards, the principal items of which were adapted from the cards used in judging cattle and animals of various kinds. These cards formed the basis of a scientific inquiry calculated to reveal the physical and mental efficiency of the child examined.

The results of this first contest were appalling. They showed that Iowa had better corn and cattle than babies, and awakened public sentiment to a wide study of all those matters that concerned the care of children—diet, clothes, baths and so on. One child who had received a low marking in the first contest, won a prize at the second because the mother carried out the suggestions as to the child's diet and care, which she never would have heard of had it not been for the aroused state of the public mind. This year thirty-five states have already arranged to hold scientific baby shows in connection with livestock shows and state fairs. Women's clubs, newspapers and physicians are awake, and one of the most important world-movements has begun.

COURTESY IN THE HOME.

THE fact is, life would be far more agreeable to many of us, if home politeness were more assiduously cultivated. We know how brutal the frankness of home can be; how sensitive natures bleed and suffer, because of the inexcusable candor of criticism which takes to itself license in the privacy of the family circle.

We vex our own
With look and tone,
Though we love our own the best.

How are they to know that we love them best if we never take pains to show it by small acts of attention, by gentle words, by open admiration. "I never knew that my father cared for me at all," said a young girl, pathetically unaware of the sadness of her speech, "till once when I was very ill and they thought I was dying, I heard him sob behind the curtain." There is far too much taking love for granted in the Christian home.

In a like manner some of us fail to show the courtesy we ought in our intercourse with friends and acquaintances. Do you tell the pastor how much you have enjoyed his sermon or how greatly it has helped you? If not you are missing an opportunity of cheering and aiding the pastor which he would prize, and which would react in blessing yourself. Do you always, and promptly, send a note of acknowledgement in return for a little gift, for flowers and books and dainties left at your door in times of illness? Are you careful to answer ordinary letters within a reasonable length of time, and to write often to the dear relative on the frontier, or in the distant city? The one who is among strangers, and whose heart yearns unspeakably for news from home? Are you thoughtful about the feelings of little children; and, above all, do you defer to those older than yourself even when sure in your mind that they are wrong and you are right? Have a care, my friend, for these small genuine courtesies of life.

TOMATO CULTURE.

Almost anyone with a garden or farm in a temperate climate can grow tomatoes with greater or less success, but there is a great difference between the extent and quality of the crops grown by different persons in the same locality. These differences are due to several causes among which the varieties grown and methods of cultivation practiced are perhaps the chief.

According to experiments carried on for years at the Experimental Farm at Ottawa, Earlana, of which there are several strains, is the best early sort, but Bonny Best, Chalk's Early Jewel, are also good early kinds. Of later varieties Matchless Trophy, Livingston's Globo and Plentiful rank high. It is the early fruit that makes the profit. In growing plants what should be aimed at is the production of a stocky, sturdy plant which will have some fruit set upon it when set in the field. After planting the chief work is cultivation, which should be done both ways in the plantation.

In order to protect tomato plants from diseases, of which there are several, they should be repeatedly sprayed, even when quite young, with Bordeaux mixture. These and many other points, which cover practically the whole field of tomato culture in the greenhouse as well as in the garden and field, are fully treated in pamphlet No. 10, of the Central Experimental Farm, prepared by the Dominion Horticulturist, Mr. W. T. Macoun. This work is for free distribution to all who apply for it to the Publications branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1913.

"PENTICTON in the Similkameen."!! "Kelowna in the heart of the peach land of the Okanagan."!! These from the leading editorial of the Daily Province, which aspires to be the leading metropolitan daily for British Columbia. The editor was taking comfort from the fact that the short route over the Hope Mountains would soon connect his city with these towns of the interior. It would seem from some of the able editorials recently appearing in its columns that the learned editor of the Province knows more at the present time of the geography of the Balkans than of his own province. For his information may we say that Penticton is located in the Okanagan, about eight miles south of Summerland, which latter place, by the way (and not Kelowna), is generally recognized as being in the centre of the peach district. As a matter of fact Summerland produces much more than 50 per cent. of all the peaches grown in the Okanagan belt, while Kelowna grows practically none. Furthermore, when our esteemed fellow-editor takes his first ride eastward over the K.V.R. Summerland will be the first place he enters in the Okanagan, and he will find it a place where he will be tempted to remain for a time and get some first hand knowledge of this beautiful valley. Later he may continue to Penticton in this same valley, but at no time will he be within miles of Kelowna while travelling on the K.V.R.

REX VAUDEVILLE COMPANY.

It is some time since a vaudeville company has visited Summerland. The Rex Vaudeville Company have promised to give the people of this place an excellent performance of this nature on Saturday, a refined, varied, classy performance, by a company of selected British comedians. Judging from the press comments throughout the west the Rex Company have met with unusual favor everywhere. Extra performances have been given by request, and at many places the company have been booked to return. As a result of a successful touring of the northern Okanagan last fall the company was asked to return to Armstrong, Enderby, Vernon and Kelowna. In the latter town the company is booked for three nights next week, and is this time extending its circuit through the southern Okanagan. The company's representative says that they will give a show here which will open the way for their coming back again.

The fact that the place was not billed earlier is due to the illness of the advance agent who, as a result, is some days behind in his work. The company plays at Penticton to-night, and here on Saturday night, where they will remain over Sunday. Particulars of their program will be found in their announcement in our advertisement columns.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT" COMING.

For some time we have been hearing much praise of the able production by the Kelowna Musical and Dramatic Society of the world-famous comedy, "Charley's Aunt," by Brandon Thomas. The society has been playing at different towns of the valley with much success, and has been booked for Empire Hall next Thursday evening, April 24th.

Here is the comment of the Vernon News on the play as given in the Empress Hall, Vernon, last week, and our Kelowna friends are sure to be greeted with a large house upon the occasion of their visit here:

"Charley's Aunt," that over popular play which did much to make its author, Brandon Thomas, famous, was presented at the Empress Theatre on Wednesday night of last week before a crowded house. The many outbursts of hearty applause which punctuated the performance afforded unmistakable evidence that the Kelowna Musical and Dramatic Society had made a decided hit, and it is a pleasure to us to be able to state that we can recall few amateur productions that were so well worthy of unqualified praise. From start to finish the play went off with that smoothness which can only be obtained by hard work under capable management, and the leading parts were taken in a manner that left no room for adverse criticism. The company has the advantage of having among its members Mr. A. L. Soames, who played the part taken by him here—Jack Chessey—in the Comedy Theatre, London, and interpreted it in a manner that could hardly be excelled. Nothing but the most hearty praise is the due of Mr. R. C. Reed, who, in the title role, gave complete satisfaction, and as the "Aunt from Brazil, where the nuts come from," scored a complete success. All the other parts were well sustained, and mention should be made of the fact that, owing to unforeseen circumstances, Miss Binger, who was billed as Kitty Verdun, was unable to play, and Mrs. Soames, who took this part with such charming grace and capacity, assumed the role at a few hours' notice. Much favorable comment was heard regarding the beautiful scenery, which was the work of Mr. C. E. McKie, of Kelowna. It is a matter for congratulation that our neighboring city possesses amateur ability of such a distinctly high order, and the Kelowna Society may always be assured of a warm welcome in Vernon.

K.V.R. PROGRESS.

Important announcements assuring the early completion of two links in the through line from the Crow's Nest Pass to Vancouver have just been made.

From the information given out it would seem that traffic west bound would not long require to go via Merritt and Spence's Bridge. It has been known that there has been for a long time a fight between the two rival companies, the K.V.R. and the G.N.R., for the right-of-way over the coast range east of Hope. An agreement has now been entered into by President Warren of the K.V.R. and L. C. Gilmon of Seattle, assistant to the president of the G.N.R., by which the former company will build, own and operate a single track line of 57 miles over the Hope mountains, from Otter Summit to Hope. Over this line the Great Northern will have running rights. Thus a long protracted strife is ended and the way is open for direct connection with the Coast for both lines.

The other announcement makes clear to the public the C.P.R.'s plan to run the K.V.R. trains eastward through the Crow's Nest Pass. This will be done, and an easy grade obtained, by running for a few miles south of the border in the Kootenay district.

It is learned from the Kootenay district that the C.P.R. is negotiating for the purchase of the Idaho and Washington railway running from Newport to Metaline. This, with the proposed new trackage, would make another link of the short line across southern B.C.

Local News Items

A. S. Hatfield of Kaleden is about town to-day.

Rev. H. A. Solly conducted the usual monthly service of the church at Naramata last Sunday.

About two carloads of trees arrived during the past week for planting in the local orchards.

Mr. Robert Hampson of Montreal is visiting at the home of his uncle, Mr. R. G. Tait, West Summerland.

W. C. Kelley is planting a prune orchard this spring in Garnet Valley. The orchard lot is being planted exclusively to that fruit.

Mr. J. Rowley left on Monday with Indian Agent J. R. Brown for a trip through the south country. They will probably be absent for a week or ten days.

W. J. Docking is carrying an arm in a sling this week. While placing a chain around a stump the horses started, catching his thumb between the chain and stump, tearing the thumb quite badly.

Our local plumber, C. N. Borton, is at present overhauling the plumbing in the Aikins cottage at Naramata, and painting and decorating is being done preparatory to Mr. Aikins' return with his bride next week.

It has been found necessary to cancel the St. John Ambulance Corps' lecture which would in the ordinary course have been given on Monday evening. Notice of the change of date will be given by postcard to all members as soon as possible.

D. H. Watson, who for some months has been on the prairies in the interests of the Western Okanagan Orchards Company, is being welcomed back to Summerland. Mr. Watson returned last Monday evening, and may now be found at his office as usual.

Mrs. John Lawson, who formerly resided here, is a visitor to Summerland from Denver, Col. She is accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Charles Pringle. They are here in connection with the estate of the late Mr. Lawson, and are guests at the Hotel Summerland.

A local bee-keeper informs us that, last year, owing to a number of orchardists spraying trees when in blossom, they had a considerable number of their bees destroyed. Perhaps it is possible to remedy this, either by spraying right now or waiting until the blossom has gone. We need the bees.

Mrs. Mason, formerly of Neepawa Man, who with her daughters has been living in Summerland for some months, has rented the cottage at Naramata at present occupied by R. C. Robinson. Mrs. Mason and the Misses Theo and Rubae will spend the summer in Naramata.

From May 6th to July 12th, inclusive, the White Star-Dominion steamers sail from Quebec on Tuesdays instead of Saturdays. This change in the sailings is made because of the recent arrangement by the Post-Office Department for an all British trans-Atlantic mail service.

James Ritchie is now the owner of the car imported last season by C. H. Cordy. The latter, who is local agent for the Kelowna Garage and Machine Works, visited that establishment this week, and returned on Wednesday, via the Peachland road, with a Ford runabout which he will use as a demonstration car.

The many local friends of Miss Hadley are welcoming her back to Summerland. Miss Hadley, who has been training as a nurse, graduated from the Kootenay General Hospital at Nelson last week, and is now the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Angove. After a short visit here Miss Hadley goes east and will spend the summer at her former home, Canso, N.S.

When your home merchant presents you with his bill do not allow the hair on your spine to rise like porcupine quills, and look as though you had been insulted. The chances are he trusted you for the shirt on your back and the groceries to keep your family. Speak kindly to him who has accommodated you, for you know you like prompt pay in others. A man whose temper rises to ninety degrees in the shade when asked for a just account, and feels his dignity has been trampled on is a good man—not to trust.

Mrs. Clarence of Peachland spent last week here the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Solly.

Last week-end Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Tait enjoyed a visit from the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison of Kaleden.

We regret to announce that Mrs. Downton, who has been feeling unwell for some weeks, has again been confined to her bed since last Saturday.

The Board of Trade quarterly general meeting will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 3.30 at the office of Secretary Cordy. Many matters of interest will be dealt with. During the last quarter business of much importance to the municipality has come before the board. No doubt Tuesday's meeting will be well attended and encouraging general progress made manifest.

The drug store at Naramata, a branch of the Summerland Drug Co., and at present managed by F. C. Manchester, will, after May first, be under the direct charge of J. W. S. Logie. Mr. and Mrs. Logie will reside in Naramata and will look after the company's business there; Mr. Logie doing the prescription work here as well, coming over the morning ferry and returning by the 5 o'clock boat. Messrs. Suckling and Bentley, of the Bank of Montreal, have rented Mr. Logie's cottage in Peach Orchard.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary, held at the home of Mrs. Merrill, officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Lipsett; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. F. W. Andrew; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. R. Clouston; Treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Ross; Rec. Sec., Mrs. W. H. Hayes; Cor. Sec., Mrs. J. N. Merrill. Finance Committee—Messdames R. W. Ross; J. Downton; J. Tait; R. Steuart. House Committee—Messdames J. W. Angwin; W. J. Robinson; G. Anderson; S. Angove.

Rev. H. A. Solly is, at the request of the bishop, about to take up organization work in the diocese. In fact arrangements have been completed whereby Mr. Solly will enter upon his new duties on May first. These will require that the reverend gentleman be absent practically all the time, and accordingly an assistant priest has been appointed in the person of the Rev. D. E. D. Roberson now of Okanagan Centre. Mrs. Solly and family leave for England on the thirtieth, and will be absent for perhaps a year. The rectory will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robertson and child. Miss Esther Lintern will accompany Mrs. Solly to England.

"Mr. Robinson's theories and arguments ring true and sincere; the least that can be said is that his book is worthy missionary work, and it is no mere form of words to say that he has made a real contribution to the fund of thought which will eventually—one likes to believe—bring the world a little nearer to hailing distance of the millenium than it is to-day. Indeed, Mr. Robinson ventures a solution of his great problem by which no one shall rashly say that 'they' may not convert 'their' failure into success. . . There is no sermonizing in this book. It is intensely practical. . . That Mr. Robinson cries for no Utopias is one of the most convincing features of the book"—Mail Empire, Toronto, on "Why They Fail" by Rev. A. T. Robinson.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

The season's work has now commenced, the first shoot taking place last Saturday. Most of the members were trying out new rifles or new sights, and the scoring consequently suffered somewhat. The only two to pass the 80 mark were—

	200	500	600	Total
A. E. Nelson	26	29	29	84
W. Nelson	31	28	23	82

A program has been completed for the whole season, comprising competitions for Dominion Salver, Dominion Rifle League, three local cups, besides buttons and spoons, so that there should be no lack of interest. Additional members are required, and full particulars will be supplied anyone desirous of joining on applying to the secretary.

FARSIGHT IN CAR SELECTION

THE measure of your pleasure in motoring depends on the discrimination you use in purchasing your car.

Not alone should you investigate the worth of the car itself. You should be particular about the firm that makes the car. Look a little ahead—ask yourself whether the car you're about to purchase is likely to have a factory at all behind it six months hence.

There's sure satisfaction in the choice of a McLaughlin Car—not only are McLaughlin Cars trustworthy in themselves, but they come from a factory that has been producing high-grade cars for five years, and was making high-grade carriages nearly half a century before that—a factory that is the keystone of a big organization, with completely-equipped sales depots all over Canada.

Naramata Notes.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Peter Roe still remains on the list of those sick.

Mrs. Butler, a niece of Mrs. Cash, is leaving for her home on Friday after a month's visit here.

Mr. A. B. Allen remains about the same and his father was obliged to leave after a two day's visit with him.

Mrs. J. W. Pushman gave a reunion dinner last Friday in honor of their relatives who arrived from Ottawa on that evening.

Miss Violet Mitchell is improving daily after her seige with pneumonia. Miss Bessie Mitchell returned to Penticton on Sunday.

Miss Gordon returned from a case in Brandt's camp on Tuesday, to take charge of Mr. Aldrich, jr., who has contracted pneumonia.

Mr. Carroll Aikins and bride are expected to arrive here next Monday night to spend a part of the summer, at least, at their ranch home.

Mr. Doswell, who is acting as local policeman, is expecting his wife to join him soon, and is having a cottage built for him on the north shore.

The Robert King family moved to Penticton on Wednesday. We are sorry to lose them and hope they will soon remove to their home in our town again.

Mr. Burnett, Assistant Chief-Engineer of the K.V.R., will reside the greater portion of the time here in Naramata. At present he and his wife have taken rooms at one of the hotel cottages.

It is rumored that Mr. J. W. S. Logie of Summerland will run the branch drug store in Naramata, and that Mr. and Mrs. Logie will move here to conduct it. We will be very glad to welcome them here.

Contractor Hilderbrandt is this week moving his Camp No. 1 from its present location on Mr. Hodson's lot to a site nearer Camp Creek, where his heaviest work is now; the big cut and fill on the north side of the falls.

Mrs. Mary Campbell of Battle Creek, Mich., arrived on Sunday night. Her arrival was expected on Saturday, but she was delayed by a snow-slide near Revelstoke. Mrs. Campbell is in the best of health and very glad to be in Naramata again.

Next Thursday afternoon Miss Hazel Wells and the Girls' Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. J. S. Gillespie. The event is the first of a series of teas which will be given in Miss Wells' honor before her marriage to Mr. Victor Watson, who is connected with the survey.

Two of our young matrons drove to Penticton on Saturday for shopping purposes and did not return till eight o'clock in the evening. Was not the search party warranted? No, when you consider that it was done in kindness to the worthy horse. (It took only three hours to return).

If report be true we are to lose Dr. Whitehouse and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manchester as citizens of Naramata. Mr. and Mrs. Manchester and Dr. Whitehouse and family plan to be part of a small party leaving for South Africa about the middle of May. We hope that the charms of Naramata may keep them with us.

The Backer & Harmount Co. are this week installing a steam drill which will do away with much of the hand drilling on the work at the big tunnel. The actual tunnel work has progressed but a few feet, but with the drill, of course, the work will advance much faster. The engine weighs 7,000 lbs., and made a hard pull for a six-horse team up to the camp. Teamsters are now busy hauling up gasoline.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent at the last meeting of the Unity Club. The Club's president, Mrs. Gillespie, presided for the first time since her return, and two new members, Mrs. Ellwell and Miss Reid, were welcomed to the club. At the next meeting, April 25th, officers for the coming year will be elected, and it is hoped every member will be present. At the following meeting the club will give a "utility shower" for one of its young lady members.

Miss Hazel Wells, whose approaching marriage the ladies of the club are very glad to recognize in this way. We think it will be a case of "it never showers, but it pours."

Mr. Aldrich and son, recently of England, arrived the latter part of last week to take up employment with the Trust Company. Mr. Aldrich is to assist gardener Moore, and his son is to do teaming work. On Monday of this week the son was taken very ill with pneumonia. He is now in one of the hotel cottages, under the care of Dr. Whitehouse. At the present writing, there is no change in his condition, but no grave apprehension is felt for his recovery.

Rev. G. O. Fallis conducted the services in the Naramata church on Sunday morning last, giving a very interesting sermon on his "observations" during his trip to the prairies. He made an announcement that he had been so successful as to obtain $700 to apply on the indebtedness of the church, and was very hopeful of receiving more. We will still remain greatly indebted to Mr. Fallis for his efforts to secure funds in order to decrease the debt on our church building.

The base-ball team which visited Summerland on Saturday had a jolly outing, having chartered the Skookum for the occasion. They are all delighted with the new boat and speak in glowing terms of the kindness and courtesy of its master.

"Fruit and Farm."

The Fruit Magazine this month makes its appearance in a new form, as "Fruit and Farm," with an editorial announcement of a change in ownership from the Fruit Magazine Publishing Co. to the new proprietor, Mr. John Nelson.

Mr. Maxwell Smith, the founder and editor, retires. Mr. Nelson is well-known in daily journalism in Canada, and is the general manager of the Vancouver News-Advertiser. He announces the appointment of a competent staff, and the enlargement of the scope of the magazine, to cover every form of agricultural activity. A vigorous policy is reflected in the excellent table of contents in the March number. These include a fine frontispiece of the Minister of Agriculture; a resume by Clito Phillips Woolley; a resume of the agricultural legislation of the past season, by Deputy Minister of Agriculture, W. E. Scott; Our splendid Inland Empire, by John Ridington; Agricultural problems of B.C., by H. E. Stone; Sheep-Raising in B.C., by C. E. Lawrence; the story of Luke Pithor's poultry farm at Gordon Head; the Doukhobor Colony at Brilliant; the problem of the milk supply in B.C., by F. M. Logan, B.S.A., and many other very readable articles. There is an up-to-date Woman's Department, by Kathleen Ferguson. The number is well illustrated and altogether a most readable one.

Notes on Sporting Events.

The Peachland base-ball team, with a large number of fans from the little burg, came down on the Skookum on Saturday morning, 12th inst., and on the afternoon of the same day registered a decisive victory over the College team by the score of 17-9. The terrific batting of the Peachlanders, especially when Monsieur Dupont was in the box for the College, won the game for them. It could hardly be called a ball game. It was a slugfest. Both teams were up in the air occasionally. The College gave the poorest exhibition that has been seen on the campus for many moons, and Peachland showed what they were capable of in the way of punk ball when the College team scored 8 runs in the sixth inning. Capt. Shaw, for Peachland, pitched good ball for several innings and then blew up. Gummow did the twirling after that, and was effective when he settled down. It was Frenchy's off-day, and he was batted for 9 runs in three innings, giving place to Morlock, who pitched for the College during the remainder of the game. His support was poor. McDougall behind the bat played a great game, and did his best to stem the tide of demoral-ization which overwhelmed his team.

The Peachland team has been repeatedly beaten by the College, and their persistence and pluck in the face of repeated defeats is worthy of all praise. They deserved to win, and win they did.

The adverse criticism appearing in this column re. the junior games between the College and the Public School has not been justified by the logic of events. Since that criticism appeared two games have been played, and a fine article of ball has been presented by both teams.
On each occasion the school team won, but had to fight every inch of the way to turn the trick. The game played on Tuesday afternoon, 15th inst., was a battle royal, and went 12 innings before the school emerged victorious by the close score of 9-7.

Harvey Phinney pitched for the College all the 12 innings like a veteran, and the school in the same time had Ralph Brown and John McLeod as slab artists. Dalgleish was behind the bat for the College and Darkis for the School. Both are good catchers, though both are a little slow in getting the ball to second. The fielding was fine, and as long as the juniors keep up the record made in the last two games they can be assured of good crowds of excited spectators. It costs money to play even junior ball, and an occasional collection would be quite in order. No enthusiast would begrudge two bits for the kind of ball presented on Tuesday.

The Local Union.

Chairman White Appeals to any "holding back."

Meeting with Success, but More Members Needed.

Good success is being met with in getting the support of lot owners for the co-operative association—The Summerland Fruit Union. Just a word to those who are holding back to find whether the association will be organized and officered in every point in accordance with their ideas. Every one may rest assured that the directors desire to make a success for all and will welcome suggestions from any one to this end. I, as your delegate to help form the central selling agency desire to learn the ideas of all in reference to how it should be organized, and how the marketing may best be done. I do not expect to be able to please all, for I recognize that it may not be possible to adopt every one's plan, or even it may be to reach the ideal method at once. We need to go easy at first, and use to some extent existing conditions before going into large expenditures and gathering large funds for the purpose. We also have to give way to some extent to the majority and work together, even if in our wisdom, their ideas are not the best. But now, attention! In whatever way you ship your fruit—boxes, paper and nails will be required. To buy these at the best price for ourselves, and to make sure of getting them when wanted, we need to order in large quantities, and to order now. We can only calculate the quantity by the number signing up with us, and can only guarantee to supply those who come in on time. If you want these benefits, as well as what is believed to be a profitable way to dispose of your fruit, we ask you to sign for stock at once. If you get left it will be your own fault. The secretary, Mr. Logie, and other directors, have forms for stock subscriptions.

G. J. Coulter White.

FIRE-FIGHTING DEMONSTRATION.

The Reeve has appointed Mr. R. H. English as Fire Chief. This position has been held by Mr. D. H. Watson, but as the latter's business requires that he be away much of the time, a change has become necessary. It is realized by the authorities that were a fire to occur many of our people would be at a loss to know how to use the equipment, and accordingly there will be a demonstration under the direction of Mr. English next Thursday afternoon. All interested in fire protection are urged to be present. The lessons there learned may be of great value at any time. One needs to know how in order to make the hose connections, and get the high pressure, and this will be shown at the demonstration on Shaughnessy Avenue next Thursday.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE CLASS.

The final lecture for the male members of the class on transportation of sick and injured will be given, with practical illustrations in Campbell's Hall on Monday, 28th inst., at 8 p.m.

This will conclude the course, and examinations will be held shortly, of which due notice will be given. Lakofront class has not yet been filled.

The local centre has supplied and distributed the large posters, issued by the Royal Humane Society, to the C.P.R. and ferry officials.

Success Of Fruit Industry Now Assured

Marketing, The Only Difficulty, Will Be Overcome

Plan Aably Outlined by Deputy-Minister Scott and Mr. Robertson

A UNITED VALLEY

"There is in the Valley a united spirit such as I have never seen anywhere else."
"The basic principles of co-operation are solid. The universe moves on these principles."
Mr. R. Robertson.

Two most able addresses were listened to on Monday afternoon by a representative meeting of fruit growers. These addresses, on the movement for better organization, were given by Deputy Minister of Agriculture, W. E. Scott, and Mr. Robertson, a wholesale fruit man of Vancouver. While the attendance was not as large as would have been the case at an evening meeting the speakers were greeted by a larger audience than they had yet met in the valley, and were given the closest attention throughout, and it was very evident that their arguments and appeals made a marked impression, strengthening and encouraging the movement already well under way to organize on lines similar to those laid down by the speakers.

After a few introductory remarks the chairman called upon Deputy Minister Scott to address the meeting.

In his opening remarks Mr. Scott emphasized the importance of the occasion, wishing that every fruit and vegetable grower were present.

DEPUTY MINISTER SCOTT.

The Deputy Minister, entering at once upon his subject, outlined the present situation of the fruit industry, and showed that the prevailing low prices were not due to over-production. Several reasons were given for unsatisfactory prices. Lack of comprehensive effort and the failure to co-operate with some of these. Of the latter he gave an instance of a dealer in Vancouver. This dealer knew that several Okanagan fruit men were in the city and expected calls from them. Accordingly when one man offered a carload of Jonathans at $1.25 he did not buy, although he considered the price satisfactory, and asked him to call the next day. When the next man called he beat him down to $1.15. Continuing this process he had the price down to 95 cents when the first man called again on the second day. There was a lack of co-operation among the sellers otherwise the $1.25 first quoted would have been paid.

While local co-operative societies were desirable this was not enough. This year the American growers were linking up their local associations to one central marketing agency; the Okanagan must do the same.

The speaker did not anticipate a repetition of the slaughter of prices by the Americans who had had enough of consigning, and he thought they would hold the prices up to fair remunerative prices. This would remove another cause of last year's poor prices. Another factor was the record crop everywhere, not only throughout America but in Europe as well. This might not occur again in one hundred years. The newer districts were producing more largely, and had not a systematic distributing system. That there was no over-production was proven by figures quoted by the Deputy Minister that there were 25 per cent. less trees in bearing in the United States now than there were ten years ago. The lack of business arrangement in the handling of the crop was the cause of the failure.

HOW TO BETTER CONDITIONS.

Mr. Scott then enumerated several remedies, first, proper co-operative methods among the producers; second, economy of production, the aim being to produce the highest quality of fruit at the minimum cost. Speaking along this line Mr. Scott declared that many growers put too much expense on their orchards. While he believed in spraying, spraying should be done for a purpose, and some were doing too much spraying. Others over-irrigating, while yet others might over-cultivate. The third remedy is the extension of our markets. With this object the Federal Government have subsidized large new steamers running from Vancouver to Australia, a good market for our apples. China and Japan also offer good opportunities for the disposal of our fruit. He had never thought much of the European market. In order to get the proper price there fruit had to be picked over too carefully, but with the opening of the Panama Canal the European market may be thrown open to us.

MUST ADVERTISE.

Proper and effective advertising would greatly increase the consumption of our apples and other fruits. No other business but that of the agriculturist would last two years without advertising. This means should be used to educate people to eat apples. Here the speaker cited the marvellous demand that had been created for breakfast foods wholly through advertising. One concern spent a million dollars in this way before putting its goods on the market. Canadian prices will always be based on American competitive prices, and while the cost of production was greater here the 13 cents per box duty put our grower in as good or better position than the Washington grower.

While not in a position to give the particulars Deputy Minister Scott hinted at some very important legislation which will be put through at Ottawa as a result of the visit of a committee to the capital, and which will materially benefit the fruit industry. He believes the fruit industry is all right, and while not particularly an optimist he believes in the province and the fruit growers, and that the future was most bright for the industry.

PRACTICAL CO-OPERATION.

Co-operation and its advantages were then dealt with by the Deputy Minister, who declared that co-operation meant co-operation all along the line from grower to consumer, and instanced some results of co-operation between consumer and grower. He had been in Chicago during the time that the Women's Council there had forced down the retail price of milk, at the same time maintaining the farmer's price. He suggested that in the same way the sympathy of fruit consumers be enlisted. Were the people of the Coast cities to say they want Okanagan fruit the dealer would furnish it. Mr. Scott does not believe in the elimination of the wholesaler or retailer, but says they should be controlled. The object of the government in taking a hand in this movement was not to dictate any line of policy but rather they had taken the matter up as a result of numerous requests, particularly that a man be sent out who was well-versed in co-operation methods. They had looked about for such a man, and in Mr. Robertson, who would follow him, they believed they had a man who filled the bill.

GOVERNMENT'S POSITION.

It was the duty of the growers to work out their own salvation, but the government was ready to give assistance. The proposed plan to organize a central association from the various local associations had been unanimously endorsed at every place visited so far. "Form local associations controlled by the people and from these form the central selling organization." Contracts between the growers and the locals and locals and central would bind together the whole organization. He thought it best to organize the Okanagan first, and that to form a central to include all B.C. would at present not be sound business. The sinews of war was provided for by the very generous amendment of the Agricultural Act. Okanagan Valley last year shipped 1700 cars of fruit and would ship more than 2000 this year; so that there would be plenty of work for an Okanagan organization. The government was prepared to advance money on a good sound proposition, and provided all come together the money will be forthcoming.

SUCCESS ASSURED.

With just a little give and take here and there this would be easy. With the people back of this movement it is sure to be a success. The organization will not be perfect the first year but will be improved from year to year. The marvellous success of the California fruit growers' organization was referred to. As a result of efforts to that organization the average price of oranges had been reduced $1 per box to the consumers, and the net returns to the growers increased 75 per cent.

Mr. Scott had writer Sir Thomas Shaughnessy outlining the proposition which would be put before the fruit growers. This plan received the approval of Sir Thomas, who also suggested the operating of canneries by such an organization. He assured Mr. Scott that the C.P.R. was ready to assist the industry in every way possible, and the Deputy Minister thought that with local organization marketing their products through a common channel, and with the friendly co-operation of the C.P.R., we would have a strong combination.

ASSISTANCE OF PRESS.

Mr. Scott recognized the power of the press in assisting such a movement as this. The press of the Okanagan had always been ready to help the fruit industry, and the Department owed a great deal to them for their assistance. The press can do a great deal to forward this movement.

There were two roads before the fruit growers, and success or disaster depended on which road was taken now. He felt confident that Summerland growers would know which road to take. If they approved of the plan as suggested he would ask that before the meeting close a resolution endorsing the central agency plan be passed, and that a delegate be appointed to attend a meeting for the purpose of drawing up a constitution, etc., which would be held probably next Wednesday. The growers would in no way be committed by this delegate, and the constitution would be referred back to the local union for approval. Mr. Scott urged, however, that the work be not held up because some little point in the constitution might not be acceptable to all. These minor matters could be adjusted later.

MR. ROBERTSON'S POINTED ADDRESS.

The next speaker, Mr. R. Robertson of Robertson, Morris & Co., Vancouver, has made a special study of co-operative methods, and was selected by the Department of Agriculture to investigate matters both here and to the south of the line, and though much was expected of him he, in his strong, straightforward address, more than filled the anticipations of his hearers, and early got their sympathies, which he held throughout. Mr. Robertson, who had once before visited this place as the guest of the late R. H. Agur, made in few words a very touching reference to the departed citizen, of whom he declared it might be said that: "All the world stood up and said he was a man." The speaker was glad to note the feeling of confidence and faith in the future of Summerland. Some believed in the theory of co-operation but wished to see it tried out. This was perhaps due in a measure to the failures in the past, but nothing worth while comes without an effort, and failures in the past is no reason why we should not believe in the future.

A STRONG COMBINATION

Deputy-Minister Scott says that the C.P.R. will co-operate with the local Unions as represented by the Central Agency, making a combination the American growers will find it hard to beat.

DOCTRINE OF CO-OPERATION.

The basic principles of co-operation are solid. The universe moves on this principle, and it is only mortals who have failed in its adoption. The value of co-operation has been recognized throughout all time, and it was many years ago that a great man told his hearers to "bear ye one another's burdens," etc., and, said Mr. Robertson, if you don't get this principle you are not bearing one another's burdens. Only in so far as you co-operate will the Summerland Fruit Union be a success, and this also applies to the valley. Mr. Robertson then proceeded to show what co-operation had done for others, first mentioning the United Fruit Company of Nova Scotia. For some time there had existed small local organizations, and it was only last year that these were united into one selling organization. This organization has nothing in itself, being solely and wholly a selling agency, and marketed 400,000 barrels of apples last year at a cost of selling and handling of only 2 cents per barrel. Their No. 1 and 2's brought $2. Their No. 3's, 95 cents, and 45 per cent. of the crop was No. 3's. Neglect of orchards and lack of spraying caused this large percentage. Organization is overcoming this. Their contracts this year will require members to spray at least four times. For this year the society has ordered $100,000 worth of fertilizer, saving to its members $15,000 on this alone, or twice as much as the cost of selling all last year's fruit. The Norfolk Association in Simcoe County, Ont., was next cited. This is, perhaps, the most successful organization in Ontario. Spraying, pruning, etc., are supervised by this society, and it has been very successful in its marketing.

OPENING NEW MARKETS.

The St. Catharines Association, through co-operation, has opened to Ontario a big market in Manitoba, which could never have been opened in any other way than by a co-operative society. The grain growers' troubles and how they have been overcome in Saskatchewan by the organized farmers was also referred to. There the local societies are loaned 85 per cent. of the subscribed capital. A central board for the whole province has accomplished much, and deals directly with the government, railways, etc. Elevators are placed wherever the board recommends and altogether

"Why They Fail"

Very Readable Exposition of his Remedy by Rev. A. T. Robinson, the Author.

Dear Editor:

I trust you will not be so ungracious as to recall a certain Max proverb to the effect that "every dog praises his own tail," if I venture to say a word among old friends, about my recent offence in literature known as "Why They Fail."

I would like in the first place to thank the Review for the space so kindly devoted to the "tale." I am sorry that it should have seemed a tale of woe. Were it a matter of fiction I should not presume upon your good nature and your space, but since it is not, and is not in fact even a matter of merely academic interest, but rather, in my judgment at least, one of vital practical concern to society, possibly the philosopher editor of the Review may be able to find place for a few words of explanation.

The ground of criticism seems to be threefold. (1) That it is a case of "much ado about nothing," since, "to be quite candid some of us will continue much as we have been doing, believing that there is more justice, manliness and honesty in the market-place to-day than ever before."

(2) That the sources of the author's information as to the social life of the time are unreliable—"the somewhat doubtful American magazines and kindred sources."

(3) That the doctrine of reflex action advocated as a cure is nothing new anyhow, since the law of teaching enunciated by Professor James: "No impression without correlative expression," is taught in every normal school, and is exemplified in every church where the pastor urges his people to do the good he has just presented, as per the little maid in reply to the small brother's question, "Is it all done now?" "No! it is all said; we are going out to do it."

With regard to the first criticism it is only fair to say that it is beside the mark, since the author nowhere claims that there is none of those virtues left, nor yet that there is less than there used to be. His claim is that of the college student whose only objection to the taint of Mr. Rockefeller's gift is, "taint enough." Probably about two-thirds of our preaching and teaching fails to be translated into the correlative deed. The reason for that I shall endeavor briefly to explain presently. People on this side of the line don't seem to have any doubts about the moral shortage, but they do seem to be considerably exercised over what to do about it.

With regard to the second criticism it is perhaps enough to say that the standard American magazines are regarded over here as good enough sources of information on matters affecting the life and manners of the time. In all the great universities and public libraries they are bound every year, and students in college and high school are continually referred to articles in those volumes. Writers are not paid $500 to $1,000, nor do they spend months of their time in patient search and sifting of the materials contained in a single article, only to have it labelled in the end, "unreliable."

The third criticism lies nearer the heart of the situation. It is true the doctrine of reflex action is not new. It is also true that it is taught as a fundamentum in our normal schools as summed up in the maxim: "no reception without reaction; no impression without correlative expression."

This point, however, has been overlooked, (and a very sharp point it is) that while that law has been and is every day most carefully, persistently and rigorously invoked and observed in the home, the office, the workshop and the day school, no intelligent and systematic attempt has yet been made to apply it in our religious education. The result is that we turn out a morally lopsided product—a man who knows what he ought to do but somehow falls down when it

A Stormy Passage

First of a Series of Interesting Articles by a Canadian in England.

[Written specially for THE REVIEW].

London, Eng. April 8th, 1913.

What might prove interesting to some of the readers of your paper is the description of a few incidents which come before the notice of a Canadian on his first visit to the Old Country.

The first experience on leaving Canada happened about half way between Montreal and Portland, Me., where we were informed at 3.30 in the morning that the Connecticut River had over-flowed its banks and had washed away the roadbed of the railway. We were given the option of trans-shipping to another train some half a mile along the track or waiting for a few hours until the damage was repaired. At that hour of the morning the beds appealed more to the majority than the walk in the dark. However, the few hours stretched into twelve hours when we learned that the river was rising at an alarming rate. Preparations were then made for another trans-shipment. Teams were procured from farmers to carry the baggage, and after another two hours delay, the passengers were conveyed by means of hand cars on a railway track running parallel but on a greater elevation from the river than ours. After a few smaller delays we reached Portland at 8.30 p.m., and embarked immediately on the steamer "Canada," of the White Star Line. In half an hour's time the ship was headed for Liverpool.

The first two days of our voyage the sea was quite calm; however, the motion of the ship, slight as it was, proved very puzzling when walking the deck, so we devoted a great amount of the time to getting our "sea legs." The game of shuffle board, which is along the same line as curling, proved to be very fascinating as well as exciting at the end of a tournament. At any rate it is an excellent means of passing the time which might otherwise hang heavily on one's hands.

During the third day out we struck a gale which soon developed into a hurricane. We travelled in the trough of the waves through it all, thus getting the benefit of the side roll, and alternating occasionally with the "cork screw" motion. At numerous times the ship rolled over so far on the leeward side that the railing on the decks was very near the level of the sea, while on the windward side immense waves were breaking over the hurricane deck. A small portion of the deck was roped off where passengers were allowed to sit in their deck chairs (which were roped to the ship) to get the benefit of the fresh air to fight off seasickness. However, the fresh air was quite insufficient for the majority, who went below to their cabins, not to be seen for a few days. The supreme test, however, was to be shown at dinner that night. The weak ones were soon weeded out, while the others tried to look comfortable and contented as they hung on to their dishes with both hands.

The storm raged for about seventy four hours, and shortly after the sea quieted down we were assured that there was such a thing as real solid earth by sighting the south coast of Ireland. That evening we turned into the Irish Channel and steamed up along the coast of Wales. At eleven o'clock the pilot was taken aboard, and some time after midnight we were anchored in the river Mersey at Liverpool to await the incoming tide next morning before docking.

The next morning, about eight o'clock, our ship was taken in charge by two tug boats, and the way those small boats handled the great ocean liner was wonderful. It really is an art with them, because we were taken through gates with no more than a few feet wider than the beam of the ship, yet neither side touched. In the dock-yards, as far as the eye could see, were masts and funnels of ships of the various nations. Close by us was the "Grampan," an Allan liner, while on the other side was the C.P.R. boat "Empress of Britain." We also passed quite close to the "Baltic," which was getting things in readiness for its sail to New York, and just beyond her, the four funnels of the "Lusitania" loomed up. Even at that we had but a mere glance at those wonderful docks. A faint impression of Liverpool's importance as a shipping centre may be had when you realize that her docks extend along the river a distance of eight miles.

The first duty on disembarking was to have our trunks pass the customs. With one hand in a pocket dealing out tips, and the other waving at porters, the trunks were soon loaded on to drays to be conveyed to the railway station. The passengers were then conveyed in omnibuses through the narrow, winding streets of Liverpool to the Lime Street Station. Every building we passed seemed quaint to the newcomer, and gave the impression that some historical value was connected with it. No doubt the style of architecture, the narrow, winding streets, and the cobble stones had a lot to do with producing that effect.

At first sight, the railway trains caused some amusement in our party. They seemed like mere toys in comparison to the trains on the other side of the Atlantic, and an American remarked that we would have to be careful lest we klick it off the track. But on seeing the interior of the coaches, the amusement turned to admiration. The compartments are beautifully upholstered and everything is provided for the comfort of passengers. The trains pull out of the station right on the dot of time and travel at the rate of from fifty to sixty miles an hour, and sometimes even faster than that. The almost perfect road-bed cutting through beautiful green fields, enclosed by well-trimmed hedges, makes travelling through rural England a real pleasure.

At about 7 p.m. we pulled into Euston Station, and after chasing up our baggage, took taxicabs for Waterloo Station, where we took a District train for what is to be our home for the summer at Richmond, a suburb of London.

comes to doing it. To remind us that Paul said, "the good which I would, I do not," is simply to say that Paul admits the fact and was no better off educationally than we are.

Nor does it mean that we are doomed to stay as we are. If Prof. Gates, by a carefully arranged and supervised series of experiments in reflex action can do more for a dog's education in color discrimination in one year than six hundred generations of ordinary canine hit or miss methods without it, giving him a brain, which in that respect approximates the human, then it is time we seized this instrument and made definite use of it in the moral education of our boys and girls.

For the trouble does not lie primarily in the soul but in the brain. The centres in the brain which govern our every act, be it physical, intellectual, moral, aesthetic or spiritual, are built, and can be built, only by the reflex occasioned by the doing of the correlative deed.

If you get the boy to do the act you get in turn automatically the brain that will enable him to do that act again a little more easily, and more readily, and more pleasurably. If he is not led or made to do the specific kind of act demanded by life's purpose he will not have the required brain-action centre developed, and therefore will not be able to do it on demand.

This is so clearly recognized in our public school system which has to do with the development of the boy's intellect, that the teacher is required to see to it that every lesson she gives him is immediately followed by the correlative act on his part. Not any act, but, the correlative act—one most carefully selected and supervised. If she has given him a lesson in writing she at once puts the pen in his hand and supervises the stroke; if a lesson in cooking it is followed up with the frying pan. The frying pan is not given after the lesson in writing, nor the pen after a lesson in cooking, because it is the correlative act, or act natural to it, which is required every time. There is no escape from this. Indeed this is considered so important in the development of the intellectual centres that the whole power of the state is behind the teacher if little Billy raises objections to doing as directed. That is, there must be "no impression without correlative expression." Since the boy's intellect is built not by our activity but by his own, no amount of preaching or lecturing will "go down" with the public school inspector. He judges by the action every time—writing, drawing, reading, figuring or whatever it may be.

Now in Summerland homes and Sunday schools, which have as their peculiar business and responsibility the turning out of a man, not of intellectual but of moral power, what similar systematic, intelligently devised, rigorously operated, and carefully supervised acts are required of the children when they have been duly inspired and instructed about manliness, honesty, beneficence, kindness, social helpfulness and the like? Mother, preacher and teacher are all in hand with the precept for little Billy, which is right enough and the first half of education; but only half. Where is the other half—the machinery for the correlative specific act required, without which the centres of moral will and moral action cannot possibly be developed, nor the good teaching find its way over into the good conduct required by society or a religious profession? Knowing the good does not necessarily mean that we shall do it. A man may know the whole Bible and do none of it. Or, as Prof. Rugh of Berkeley said the other day, "A boy may know the whole ten commandments so that he can reel them off like a gramophone, and then go out and break every one of them."

The fact is the educators of America have now waked up to this and are casting about for something that will furnish the correlative moral expression for the good impressions we are constantly pouring into the brains of the children.

"Why They Fail" may seem to "hardly even add another voice" to the confusion of tongues on the subject in the opinion of the Review, but I was pleased to note that at the recent convention of the Pacific Coast branch of the Religious Education Association of America, it, and the Industrial Guild were strictly in line with the most advanced positions of the leading experts in education down this way—men like Mr. Hough of Los Angeles high school who has 2,000 pupils under his care; Mr. Millpugh, who has charge of approximately 1,000 normal school students, and Dr. Baber, who for many years was principal of a normal college, the

A.B. degree of which is taken at Yale and Chicago. The last named gentleman tells me privately that the book is "a hummer."

The erudite editor of the Pacific Baptist says: "With broad and accurate knowledge of psychology and pedagogy, Mr. Robinson clearly recognizes the defect in the religious education of to-day (most of us have done that), but he goes farther and makes a definite contribution toward supplying the need."

The book assuredly casts much light on a dark aspect of our national and church life in this generation. And the Toronto Mail Empire considers it "a real contribution to the fund of thought which will eventually—one likes to believe—bring the world a little nearer hailing distance of the millennium than it is to-day. Indeed, Mr. Robinson ventures a solution of his great problem by which no one shall rashly say that "they" may not convert "their" failure into success."

But alas! Where doctors thus disagree who shall decide? My apology for this intrusion on your valuable space must be twofold—the fact that neither with the Review nor myself is the matter one of private concern, and the further fact that both the I.G.G.C. and myself have many friends in the Okanagan who might be interested in this word of explanation.

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for your grace.

Fruit Prospects, 1913.

Bulletin Prepared for Distribution Among Absentee Lot Owners.

The marketing of the fruit crop for the season of 1912 was not only very unsatisfactory, but, in many instances, a loss to the grower. This state of affairs caused the fruit growers in the Okanagan Valley to take steps to endeavor to overcome, if possible, some of the causes and prevent a repetition, one of which was the competition of our own fruit. For this purpose a meeting was held in Penticton, at which the various districts in the valley were represented.

At this meeting a motion was unanimously passed in favor of a Central Selling Agency for the whole of the Okanagan Valley, a further meeting being called at a later date to perfect this organization for the carrying out of the said resolution. The various districts throughout the Okanagan are organizing under the Agricultural Associations Act to work in harmony with the Central Selling Agency. Such an association is now well under way in Summerland and we solicit your co-operation in what we believe will be a solution of the fruit marketing question, if properly carried out, and a suitable man can be obtained who can make good as a manager. The shares are placed at $50 each, 10 per cent. payable May 1st, 10 per cent. payable June 1st. The balance, 80 per cent., can be borrowed as it is required from the Provincial Government at 4 per cent. interest, repayable in 20 years. No fruit will be handled of any others than shareholders of the association, who are required to take one share for each five acres or fraction thereof in fruit or vegetables. We would be pleased to have your application for as many shares as you require under the above condition. We are of the opinion that the hearty co-operation of the fruit growers in this municipality, in this respect, will be to our mutual profit and benefit. An early reply will much oblige.

"SECOND TO NONE."

In a very readable article in the Western Outlook in reference to his recent visit to Summerland the Rev. D. Spencer makes considerable reference to the college. In his closing paragraph the writer urges that this is not only the time to build up the college but for ranchers to get established in the fruit business. Here is the paragraph referred to:

Okanagan College is centrally situated in British Columbia, and will shortly be connected with east, west, south and north by railways. Now is our time and now is the time also for ranchers to get in here and grow fruit—second to none in the province.

HEALTHY PROGRESS.

IT is with great satisfaction that we have watched the course followed by our fruit growers in their endeavors to solve the marketing problem. The organizations as proposed are quite in line with the expressed views of the Review on this subject, and we predict for the fruit growers, as a result of organization, a vastly improved situation. They will have their sales made in a business-like way through an agency competent to find the best markets, and in a large measure in a position to dictate its own prices. It will be for the local organization to establish a reputation for its home fruit by careful selection and honest packing, while the central specializes in selling. May we be permitted to offer a suggestion to the directors of the new local organization who ever they may be? In selling fruit by the carload they will sell with it a good many dollars worth of box material as well as labor put into the manufacture of the shooks and boxes. We are looking to the finding of a good market for the product of our orchards through the new channel. Why cannot we have at the same time a market for the lumber which grows on our hills, and we hope that preference will be given to shooks of local manufacture. This suggestion is along the lines advocated by this journal, in that home industries should be patronized always in preference to the foreign. In this way wealth is as surely accumulated to Summerland as by the production of fruit in our orchards.

TOWNS THAT GROW.

IN every district and in every province can be found towns that are continually forging ahead, while others remain practically at a standstill and accomplish nothing in the way of advancement. In every case the fault can be found to rest, not with the town, but with the people themselves. An exchange has been thinking pretty seriously along this line and it presents its conclusions in this way:

"The reason why some towns grow is because they have men in them with push and energy who are not afraid to spend their time, energy and money in anything that will boom and benefit the town. They have confidence enough in their town to erect substantial and modern buildings and residences and work for public improvements in the same order.

"They organize companies, and establish factories, induce industrial enterprise to locate and use every means to further the best interests of the town. Their work is never considered finished, and the accomplishment of one thing is only an incentive of another.

"On the other hand, the town that does not get ahead will be found to be dominated by either a set of men who are perfectly satisfied with their surroundings or who are afraid somebody else will be benefited in the event something is started; consequently no effort of any kind is made by this class for these two reasons. "If some men, or set of men, endeavor to start something they are met by opposition and discouragement, and it is uphill work all the way and very often failure.

"Every town, however, has a certain progressive element which hopes for a turn of the tide when the town will go forward by leaps and bounds and occupy a position of importance, and obtain numerous advantages which go to make a good town in every sense.

"But this stage cannot be accomplished by mere wishes or suppositions. It can only come from harmony in purpose and action and the eternal vigilance of its citizens.

"The town with these things will continue to grow and improve, but the town without them can be expected to remain in a state of lethargy indefinitely without affording its residents anything but a mere existence."

It is all true.

We are glad to give space this week to a communication from the Rev. A. T. Robinson which letter was brought out by a recent review we gave of his much discussed book "Why They Fail." We have read Mr. Robinson's letter with a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction. Reading his book in a broken way with a few minutes snatched from time to time for that purpose we were not able to follow his line of thought as clearly as one would wish. That Mr. Robinson has, after long study and much investigation, propounded a practical theory for the moral advancement of mankind seems evident, and, as outlined in his letter, which is devoid of many of the technical phrases of the book, his scheme does not seem at all an impractical theory. With the plan of thought as outlined in his communication we shall re-read "Why They Fail" with additional pleasure and insight.

AN important interpretation of the Indian Act has been made by the government, which will prevent a repetition of the St. Pator's Reserve scandal at Selkirk, Man., where scheming land agents and political heelers succeeded in getting the Indians to dispose of their reserve.

It will be recalled that at that time the vote for a surrender of the reserve was only passed by a majority of nine of the red men present at the meeting.

Clause 40 of the Indian Act says that a surrender is only legal when majority of the braves vote for a surrender. Hon. Frank Oliver declared this meant a majority of those present, and despite the protests of George H. Bradbury, member for Selkirk and the Conservatives present, this interpretation was upheld by the Laurier Government. The result was that the tribe lost its reserve, although a majority of the red men did not favor surrender.

To prevent another such scandal, and to protect the rights of the Indians, the wards of the people of Canada, an official interpretation has been made that in future no surrender is legal unless a majority of the members of the tribe vote in favor of it.

ONLY two per cent. of the working-men of Great Britain were unemployed during February. There has been a steady improvement, and this record for a winter month is considered exceptionally good. In certain districts, and in special trades, there is an actual shortage of labor.

Our Philosopher

YOUNG man, young woman, let us whisper in your ear. By all that is good, by all that is holy, by this twentieth century of marvellous discovery and wonderful progress, if you don't wish to be left lying on your back, see to it that your education is not neglected while you have the time. If you haven't the time, take it. "A pound of pluck is worth a ton of luck." Do not let your God-given intellect wither for want of nourishment when our schools offer such splendid facilities wherewith to fit yourself for the best, the broadest and the noblest things of every day life.

DON'T be afraid to do your duty because some one ridicules or opposes you. A man who has opinions of his own and the courage to advocate them will be sure to have opposition in this world because he runs contrary to other people's opinions; but just keep right ahead if your cause is right and your conscience clear. Don't bother yourself about what people say; life is too short for that. Some will abuse you through envy, others for the want of principle, and some because they honestly differ from you; but if you keep right on openly, manfully and intelligently, and with proper dignity and character, honesty of purpose and self-respect, those who differ from you will respect your opinions.

IF a man ever really loves a woman, which some people doubt, it is a woman who never abuses him. Every woman seems to imagine that she is a sort of missionary, and that as soon as she has "influence" over a man, she must reform him; that is, make him different from what a man ever will be. No woman ever admitted that a man had a right to be natural. So she begins her reform work, and in a little while she has lost her influence. A man hates nagging and fault finding; he hates a woman who pretends to love him one minute and then abuses him the next. The only thing positively known about angelic men is, that there are none.

A GOOD TIME COMING.

THE most perilous hour of a person's life is when he is tempted to despond. The man who loses his courage loses all. There is no more hope for him than there is for a dead man. It matters not, however, how much he may be pushed by circumstances if he only keeps his courage up, holds up his head, and with unconquerable will determines to be and do what becomes a man; all that makes or unmakes. Keep a stiff upper lip. Realize that success or failure depends, after all, on you and you alone. A man makes his own bed and must lie on it. So make up your mind that you will succeed and then get down to work with determination. "The road to wealth is as easy as the road to market." You must call to your aid all that can honestly assist you; can help you invest your savings, however small; that can invite you to further thrift; that can develop in you courage and cheerfulness.

At Penticton Deputy Minister Scott and Mr. Robertson met with an equally good reception as they did here, although the attendance was not nearly as large. Capt. I. M. Stevens was appointed representative. The Peachland meeting was held yesterday and the meeting at Kelowna will be held on Saturday. Everywhere the scheme is enthusiastically approved. The meeting of the delegates to organize a central agency will probably be held in Vernon next Wednesday. Salmon Arm, Enderby, Armstrong, Vernon, Kelowna, Peachland, Summerland, and Penticton will each have a local organization and unite in forming a general selling association.

A large number of railway navies came down the lake on the Okanagan on Thursday night. About one hundred disembarked at Naramata, and were immediately conveyed to the camps. A lady, evidently of middle age, writes the Review a letter of considerable length giving an account of her experience, capabilities, etc., with the object of securing a position here. This woman has spent many years in Canada, giving up her position and returning to England because of the illness of her daughter. She gives a number of references and seeks a position as housekeeper or nurse. If any of our readers are interested the applicant's letter may be read at this office.

FARSIGHT IN CAR SELECTION

THE measure of your pleasure in motoring depends on the discrimination you use in purchasing your car.

Not alone should you investigate the worth of the car itself. You should be particular about the firm that makes the car. Look a little ahead—ask yourself whether the car you're about to purchase is likely to have a factory at all behind it six months hence.

There's sure satisfaction in the choice of a McLaughlin Car—not only are McLaughlin Cars trustworthy in themselves, but they come from a factory that has been producing high-grade cars for five years, and was making high-grade carriages nearly half a century before that—a factory that is the keystone of a big organization, with completely-equipped sales depots all over Canada.

Naramata Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyons spent the week-end with the Robertson's at Penticton.

Mr. W. R. Robinson is expected to arrive in Naramata the first of next month.

Mr. F. G. Roe of Montreal, arrived last Thursday night for a short visit among his relatives here.

The Morsch family has his week moved to the residence of Mr. King, who has lately moved to Penticton.

Mr. Doswell's wife and child arrived on Monday night. They will soon move into their new home on the north shore.

Mr. Aldrich was confined but a short time with pneumonia. He is now around about his duties apparently as good as ever.

Mrs. Wells and two sons are among the many new-comers, arriving on Monday night. We understand that they have purchased the Wellband fruit lot.

Mr. Daniel McKay is enlarging the house recently purchased by Mr. Wm. Mitchell. The family expect to move into their new home the latter part of next week.

There is considerable talk among the young people about organizing a tennis club for the summer. For you know "We've got the time, we know the place" so let's start the club! Watch for announcements of a meeting to talk it over.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Robinson are this week moving from their home on Third Street to Hotel Naramata, which they are busy getting in readiness for the opening. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will take the management of the hotel for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Walters will give fortnightly dances throughout the summer season, beginning with Saturday night of this week. Judging from the success of the winter's series, there can be no doubt as to the many pleasurable evenings ahead of us.

Naramata is lucky in receiving a new business departure; a jewellery and optician establishment, a long-felt want. Mr. Kenison, of Bellvidere, Ill., who, with his family, arrived last Friday, will be ready for business soon. Mr. Kenison is a brother-in-law of Mr. Dean Walters, and is a very welcome addition to our community.

Mrs. Mason and daughters, Misses Thea and Rubae, have rented the R. C. Robinson house, and will live in Naramata for the summer. They have been residing in Summerland since last fall, coming there for Mrs. Mason's health. The Misses Mason have been frequent visitors to Naramata, and their many friends will be glad to welcome them here.

JUVENILE BOSTONIANS COMING.

The novelty of the theatrical season is in store for Summerland theatregoers next Wednesday evening, April 30, when the Juvenile Bostonian Opera Company opens a limited engagement of one night at the Empire Hall in "The Dream Girl."

This attraction, a musical comedy organization, is unique for the double reason that it is comprised of artists all in their early teens, and that every single one of their clever number is a girl. Not a man nor boy in the company.

The organization, now in the ninth year of a wonderfully successful history, holds its especial niche of established popularity in the theatrical world because of the winsome attractiveness, clever acting abilities, remarkable singing voices and dancing skill of more than a dozen of its "girlish but not girly" principals. These—and the always irresistible charm of fresh, wholesome youth. The past two seasons have been the best of the company's history, for it has brought out several new stars among the younger "trouper," each of whom reigns a popular favorite all by herself. Those who may have seen the company last year doubtless will recall these in the persons of Thom Hallon, Stubby Myling, Patsy Henry, Dottie Canfield and Dixie White. Also carried forward from last year's notably successful company are Daisy Henry, Billie O'Neill, Flo Myling, Fny Crawford and Ina Mitchell.

Fares and particulars on application to H. W. BRODIE, G. M. ROSS, G.P.A. Vancouver. Agent, Summerland.

For the reasons stated the present tour of the Bostonian Juveniles brings them over the circuit in the most pretentious showing they ever have made. To make their productions attractions of all-round general excellence the management has provided a lavish impedimenta of new costumes and scenic investiture, ample for the complete and exactly correct mounting of no less than ten different operas of the season's entirely new repertoire.

THREATEN TO STRIKE.

From reports brought down from the K.V.R. camps this week, it appears that the long mooted "big strike," which was scheduled for April 1st, has been postponed for about five weeks, when a general walk out all along the line is commonly predicted. The laborers are apparently waiting for warmer weather and easier living conditions before dropping their shovels and powder kegs, but those who have arrived in town recently are certain that the strike will occur, unless hasty improvements are effected in the matter of wages and comforts.—Kolowna Courier.

Oven Results From A Gurney-Oxford Range

The value of a stove to a woman is measured by the successful results in cooking obtained from the oven. With this primary object in view, stove experts have invented means of absolute control over the distribution of heat to every part of the range.

The Gurney-Oxford is constructed with a Divided Flue that carries the heat to the back of the stove through two different divisions. By this scientific arrangement the two back lids of the stove are given equal cooking value and the oven is thoroughly surrounded by a steady even heat.

With a Gurney-Oxford, it is never necessary to open the oven door several times during the baking of a pan of biscuits to turn them around next the heat.

Biscuits, pastry, cake, or bread all bake evenly, rise evenly, and brown evenly without any attention whatever from the cook.

A simple device aptly called the Economizer regulates the exact temperature of the oven by moving a small lever around a series of six notches. A woman soon learns the important value of each notch, one of which immediately checks the hottest fire and keeps it low until she requires it again.

A wonderful cooking reputation is made and lived up to through a Gurney-Oxford range.

the organization has transformed conditions for the grain grower.
Down in Washington the Puyallup and Sumner Association has accomplished marvels in the small fruit business. They are shipping successfully from near the Pacific Ocean to as far east as Chicago, raspberries in carload lots. 40 carloads were shipped last year, and there was not a single claim. The association has 700 members and ship thousands of crates of the most perishable fruit, own and operate a cannery worth $30,000, and the growers are getting from a cent to one and a half cents a lb. more for their fruit through co-operation.
By adopting business methods and commercial principles the men of Summerland will as successfully market their peaches and other perishable fruit.

GREATER DIVERSITY.

Mention was also made by Mr. Robertson of what organization had done for California. Referring to the disastrous freeze in California Mr. Robertson said this was likely to be a direct benefit resulting in more diversified farming, which is being advocated by the official organization of the California Fruit Exchange, and is being widely adopted. This idea might well be applied here, said Mr. Robertson, who declared that our ranchers cannot afford to grow nothing but apples, and that enough ground should be set aside for other purposes to tide over in case of crop failure.

The Yakima Valley was much like the Okanagan, with very similar conditions. It was a long valley running north and south, but lacked a beautiful lake like ours. All its fruit was shipped out through the northern end as here. There were thirteen local associations throughout the valley, and while they did not then realize it all were competing one with the other. Two years ago they formed a central organization to sell only. They have a three-fold contract which runs in perpetuity. It is a triplicate contract from grower to association and association to central. Once signed on a grower continues indefinitely, unless he gives formal notice of withdrawal at least twenty days before the first of March to his local secretary and to the manager of the central. This saves a lot of expense and detail work in getting signed up each year. One year their central handled fruit to the value of one million and a half dollars, on which the central charged 7 per cent. The locals charged 4 or 5 cents a box on apples and pears, and 1 1/2 cents for peaches, etc. These expenses are more than made up by the better prices obtained.

OUR GROWERS CUT PRICES.

Mr. Robertson knew of Okanagan Jonathans selling at 90 cents which should not have been sold at $1.25, and he believed $50,000 would not cover the loss to this valley last year as a result of lack of co-operation. The saving in the buying of supplies would more than pay the cost of selling through the proposed central. Our fruit growers reminded Mr. Robertson of the manufacturer who had a good thing and built a factory to manufacture a specialty while he forgot to organize the selling end and disaster resulted.

Referring to advertising Mr. Robertson said that last season retailers got sick of apples and neglected to push them. An organized effort could have greatly increased consumption. Through such a movement of a co-operative nature 20,000 boxes had been sold in Portland, Oregon, where an "Apple Day" had been declared, and the movement was supported by the press.

COAST LOOKING TO OKANAGAN.

In both Vancouver and Victoria there is a most kindly and receptive feeling for the Okanagan, said Mr. Robertson, and he intimated that by proper methods that market could be ours.

The salary for the manager of the central was a more incident. The manager must be a man of experience, a specialist in that line. Select a good man but afterwards don't try to tell him how to run the business. Consult together on general matters of policy, but leave the management to him. Because one manager of a co-operative scheme was a failure was no reason why co-operation should be condemned. As well close the public schools because a teacher has failed, or close your church because a certain pastor fails to meet requirements.

There is in this valley, said Mr. Robertson, a united spirit such as he had never seen anywhere else. All are working for the good of the valley.

Mr. Robertson asked that any of his hearers who had any questions might put them, and Mr. Scott and himself would answer to their best ability.

Before throwing the meeting open Chairman Hilborn said that the optimistic spirit he found here more than anything else gave him assurance for the future of this valley. He approved of Mr. Robertson's remark in reference to growing apples only. He believed in diversity of crops.

Messrs. Coulter White, W. J. Robinson, C. Quipp, H. J. Wells, C. J. Thomson, H. C. Mellor and others took part in the general discussion which followed. In answer to questions Mr. Robertson thought that for this season pooling for each locality rather than for the district should be practiced. The central should make proper inspection of the fruit of each locality. Financing of the local under the new act in view of the probability of our local exchange not requiring to own its own packing houses came in for much discussion, as did also the necessity for finding capital for the central. A number of plans were suggested for the latter, probably the best being that a small amount be retained on each box of fruit handled, say 5 cents or less per box on apples, and 1 cent or 1 1/2 cents on soft fruits; this to be returned to the grower later with interest. This was Yakima's plan, said Mr. Robertson. California's lack of foresight in not providing for this was the cause of serious trouble this year.

A motion, made by Reeve Thomson, seconded by H. C. Mellor, President of the Board of Trade, that the meeting endorse the central agency plan, was carried without a dissenting voice, and upon Mr. Mellor's motion the chairman of the organization committee, namely Mr. G. J. C. White, was appointed to represent Summerland at the district meeting next week, when a constitution for the central will be drawn up. Probably eight men, representing eight districts, will meet with Messrs. Scott and Robertson for this purpose.

After a hearty vote of thanks to the speakers a most successful meeting was brought to a close.

EMPIRE DAY IN SUMMERLAND

A meeting of an energetic committee was called to discuss the question of holiday sports on the 24th of May celebration, and which proved to be a popular one, and from the enthusiastic gathering it would seem that Summerland is not yet so sleepy but that she can rise to the occasion if need be. To show the spirit of the meeting they intend to offer prizes for the various events. It is to be a Summerland Day—a day of sport and merriment worked and carried out by the united friendly and athletic organizations of the district of Summerland. Empire Day will be celebrated on the College Campus, West Summerland, and will consist of a grand display of field athletic sports.

It is the intention of the Overseas Club to light a bonfire, which will be one of a chain round the globe, to mark our sense of rejoicing at all that Empire Day means to us as Britishers. May the lighting of the chain round the world be symbolic of the flame of patriotism which the Overseas Club is kindling, but only in so far as the flame—our patriotism—must never die out.—Chas. A. Marshall, Hon. Sec.-Treas.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

The second practice shoot of the season was held last Saturday. Owing to rather tricky conditions at the 600 yards range, the scoring suffered somewhat.

Loading scores:

	200	500	600	Total

G. Loomer	29	20	27	85

W. Nelson	30	20	24	83
G. Barkwill	29	30	22	81
J. Dunsdon	20	25	20	80

To-morrow, Saturday, the first Salver shoot will be decided, and as this competition is governed by the number of members attending, it is urgently requested that every one who is able to get to the range will make a point of doing so. The rig is running same as last year.

Notes on Sporting Events.

The Kelowna Base-ball team journeyed to Summerland by special boat on Thursday to play a game with the College. The game resulted in a victory for the College by the close score of 13-12. The visitors got a bad start. Their pitcher lost control of the ball, and several fielding errors enabled the College to get a good lead.
However, this did not continue long, and for the last nine innings Henning pitched good ball, and good batting, and a few errors on the part of the College netted Kelowna 7 runs, and at the end of the eighth inning the score was even, 8-8. From that time to the end of the eleventh inning
the teams remained on even terms.
The excitement rose to fever point.
The rooters worked overtime. The players were up on their toes playing fast, snappy ball, and trying all the expedients known to baseball to get in the winning run.
Finally in the eleventh inning with two men down, and two strikes on Captain McDougall, his good Scotch blood enabled him to rise to the occasion, he swatted the ball mightily, two men raced across the home plate, and the Kelowna team said something about Waterloo, and a few things about the umpire. For the visitors Hennings on the pitcher's mound,
Feeney behind the bat, and Fuller on first played fine ball. Morlock the College twirler, catcher Mc-Dougall, and Wolverton on first sack, played well for the College.
Both teams showed the lack of batting practice. A return game will probably be played in Kelowna on Thursday, May 1st.

The juniors have played two games since last writing, and maintained their record for close exciting games. The result—a victory for each team. The College won the first with a score of 8-7.
The school won the second, 11-8.
The boys are putting up fine games,
and it costs nothing to see them.
They deserve all sorts of encouragement.

The last issue of the Okanagan
Lyceum reflects credit on all concerned in its production. Speaking from an athletic standpoint, it is regrettable that presumably the last issue of the College year should leave so many important events unreported. For instance the closing games of the basket ball games season, and the annual gymnastic concert with its award of trophies, etc.

Nelson River waterfalls are estimated to have 6,000,000 horse power, double that of Niagara, and sufficient to electrify the Hudson Bay Railway.
