SUMMERLAND, B.C., OCTOBER 3, 1913.

Whole No. 270

BIG CANYON IS NOW BRIDGED.

Over Forty Miles Ready for Track Laying.

This month will see the first locomotive enter Summerland. Work has been proceeding rather slowly on the big steel girder bridge spanning Trout Creek, but the erection has now so far advanced as to permit those in charge to say with confidence that it will be ready to carry locomotives and cars two weeks hence, and it is expected that the bridge will be quite completed by the end of the month. Immediately upon its completion the work of laying ties and steel will be rushed as rapidly as possible, the road bed being in readiness for some forty or fifty miles. The laying of the rails will permit the resuming of grading operations over the western summit.

Work has now begun on the three mile section of the Kettle Valley Railway east of Penticton. It will be remembered that grading was prevented there by some of the property owners who refused to accept the price offered by the railway for right-of-way through their orchards. The land has now been expropriated, however, and is now in the possession of the railway company. The claim of the property owners will be decided by arbitration.

Schacht Brothers have the contract for this, the only remaining section in the Okanagan. Already some seventy-five men and a number of teams are at work leveling the grade. An automatic digger, a machine said to be equal to fifty men is being used by the contractors.

MUSIC STUDENTS ATTENDING COLLEGE.

Last week the names of some seventeen local students attending Okanagan College were published. The list of musical pupils was at that time not complete, but we have now been furnished with the names of the local pupils who are taking music at the college. These are as follows:—Margaret White, Edna McLeod, Edith Thomson, Rena Thomson, Arthur Morfitt, Verda Morfitt, Beatrice Lang, Myrtle Clay, Ida Shields, Eva Shields, Wallace Wright, Ruth Dale, Miss Gallagher, Jean Ritchie, Jennie Brewer, Doris Williams, Georgena Elsey, Gertrude Elsey, Miss Dale, Gertrude Angwin, Marjorie Hatfield, Mrs. Everton, Jean McIntyre, Kathleen Brown, Kathleen Merrill, Dwight Ritchie.

During the week Elwood Bent has entered the Third Year, and Basil Steuart and Douglas Steuart the Commercial Department. There is now a total enrollment of 74 at the College.

Palace Sleepers For Okanagan.

An announcement which came as a surprise was made last week by Mr. H. W. Brodie, General Passenger Agent of the British Columbia lines of the C.P.R., that through sleeping cars were to be operated between Okanagan Landing and Vancouver. Last winter the C.P.R. were urged by the Boards of Trade to inaugurate such service in the spring and the C.P.R. promised to do so, seemingly making all the necessary arrangements. At the last moment the order was rescinded. A new sleeper service will connect with No. 1, the west-bound Imperial Limited, and on the return will be brought to Steamers by No. 2, the east bound Imperial Express. Passengers will now be able to book their berths here and take train at the Landing on the through car.

Scott Memorial Fountains.

To Be Opened On Sunday.

A very interesting little ceremony will take place on the lakefront on Sunday next at three o'clock when the drinking fountain erected to the memory of Commander Scott, the gallant Arctic explorer and his brave comrades will be dedicated. Mr. Hector Sutherland will unveil the fountain, and there is to be a brief and simple religious service conducted by the local clergy. It is hoped that all the residents in the neighborhood will make a point of attending, to do honor to this simple memorial of a brave Englishman, which they themselves have erected. Simultaneously with the ceremony on the lakefront Reeve Thomson will open the fountain at West Summerland, where there will also be a short service of prayer and singing.

STEEL AT SUMMIT BY DECEMBER 1st.

K.V. Road Now Ready 76 Miles West of Midway.

Steel on the Kettle Valley Railway will be laid to the Summit, 76 miles west of Midway, by Dec. 1st, according to plans of those now in charge of the work. The roadbed is in readiness, but there will be about 48 days of bridge building, and 20 days of steel laying in the 11 miles remaining to reach the Summit.

The laying of steel from Wolfe Creek, at mile 65 west from Midway, started last week, but there will be three bridges to build in the first three miles. The bridges are framed at Carmi ready for installing. The work is now being done by the railway company, but it is expected that it will be late next summer before the link to Penticton will be connected up. There is considerable roadwork yet to do.—Grand Forks Gazette.

Aviator Who Beat Fast Express Train in Race.

HE ALSO BROKE THE AMERICAN NON-STOP RECORD BETWEEN TWO POINTS.

An American rail-flyer and a sky-flyer engaged in a race from New York City to Washington, D.C. At one point the train pounded along the rails at a terrific rate; one hundred miles an hour was the pitch of the tune to which the engine sung. While the train stood at a station, the crew thinking the monoplane was away behind, the latter was soaring ahead at an unrecorded speed, but when calculations were made, it was figured that the aeroplane had beaten the train by 45 minutes.

MUSICAL EVENING.

Successful and well-organized was the first of a series of musical evenings and entertainments held at the College on Tuesday. Dr. Sawyer, who was in the chair, gave a brief and interesting address, and the program of music was excellent. Among those who contributed were Miss Hurchmann and Miss Edna MacLeod who played a piano duet brilliantly, and Miss Myrtle Clay whose singing was very much appreciated, and Miss Dorothy Harrington, rendering a delightful violin solo. These "evenings" are still in course of organization by the students and College faculty, and promise to provide a keen interest and variety throughout the winter.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE INVITED TO PENTICTON.

The ladies of the Women's Institute in Penticton have sent a very cordial invitation to the members of the Institute in Summerland to attend their regular meeting on Tuesday, the 14th inst., subject, "Homes Ancient and Modern." If it is known how many will be likely to go, transportation arrangements can be made and announced in next week's issue. In the absence from home of the secretary, please send names as soon as possible to Mrs. Lipsett or to Mrs. G. J. C. White.

DRIVING ACCIDENT.

An accident on Thursday, caused by a defective bridge or culvert, nearly resulted in the loss of a horse and serious injury to the driver. While driving over the plank culvert near Mr. Bent's, J. E. Phinney's horse went through the culvert and before he could be extricated it was necessary to tear up more of the planking. At the same time Mr. Phinney was thrown headlong and was considerably bruised. The horse was so badly injured that it will be some weeks before it is fit for work.

Change will be noted in the Okanagan Lake Boat Company's schedule this week. As an experiment this company some months ago put on a tri-weekly trip to Penticton. For many weeks, however, they have been operating daily, and have now decided to make these daily trips a permanent part of their advertised time table.

THE NEW HOSPITAL SCHEME.

Public Meeting Fixed by the Auxiliary.

Hotel Summerland Closed.

Talk Of Building Smaller House.

Hotel Summerland closed its doors for the winter on October 1st. For some days the proposed closing of the hotel has been one of the chief topics of conversation. The petition asking for a table license for the hotel, which was put in circulation some weeks ago, was dropped because of the strong opposition to the proposition, and while Mr. Robinson, as proprietor, has persistently declared there was no alternative but to close the hostelry, there has been a feeling that some arrangement would be made whereby the hotel would be kept open. At one time it was reported that the recent manager was prepared to rent the building, but the owner felt that it would be poor business for him to do this unless he could sell the furniture to the lessee. Several informal meetings of Board of Trade members have been held, and the question discussed, and there is a disposition with some to organize a hotel company. We understand that the majority of these are in favor of erecting a new building, and toward this between $5,000 and $10,000 has been promised.

When asked by the Review 'why not negotiate for the present institution rather than build a second one,' the reply of these gentlemen was that the majority were of the opinion that the price asked was too great. On the other hand Mr. Robinson informs us that the hotel and furnishings cost much more than he is asking. Among some at least there is a strong determination that Summerland shall not be long without satisfactory hotel accommodation. In the meantime the hotels across the lake are benefiting from the deadlock here.

ANOTHER PURE BRED STOCK ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED LOCALLY.

There are soon to be two active Holstein associations in this district, one in Summerland proper and the other covering Meadow Valley and vicinity. The latter association was organized last Saturday with the following officers:

R. W. Dean, Pres.; F. Munroe, Vice-Pres.; R. M. H. Turner, Sec. Treas.; R. S. Darke, T. E. Clay, H. A. Walton, F. A. Miller, Directors.

It will be known as the Meadow Valley Pure Bred Stock Association.

It was at first proposed that this association specialize in Shorthorn Durhams, but in view of the fact that the Summerland Association has decided on Holsteins the Meadow Valley Association very wisely decided to keep in line, with the view to establishing one large Holstein district.

Saturday's meeting, which was a representative one, was held at the home of Mr. F. A. Miller, at 2.30 p.m. Each person present gave evidence of a hearty interest in the movement. Dr. Lipsett accompanied Mr. Clay to the meeting and assisted largely with helpful suggestions and advice.

In the apple orchards brilliant patches of color are afforded just now by the scarlet beauty of the season's crab-apples. Material value even more than picturesque effect is quite a consideration, and this gorgeous small red fruit is much in demand and obtaining good prices this year. We hear of one grower who could have sold his half-dozen trees of crabs over and over again. Many pounds of crab-apple jelly have been made in Summerland and Valley households this week, and for flavor and transparent brilliance has never been rivaled in any previous year. The talents of the jolly makers vary of course, and the friendly social question of the afternoon tea moment is "Have you seen my crab jelly?"

From England To Okanagan.

Will Build And Live Here.

The latest arrivals from the Old Country are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rivington who have bought the ten acres known as the Christie lot, situated not far from the nearly completed bridge of the K.V.R. Mr. and Mrs. Rivington arrived on Monday night and are at present with Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Nelson. Mr. Nelson is proceeding immediately under instruction of Mr. Rivington, to build a house on the property, and the new arrivals are intending to settle down as soon as it can be completed, to their new life.

Mrs. Rivington who relinquished her name of Willans as recently as July 5th, when she was married in London, is the daughter of Mr. Willans, the late proprietor of the "Leeds Mercury," and so well-known a personality in the newspaper world. The favorite cousin of Mr. Asquith, Premier, Mr. Willans was closely connected with the famous statesman. Mrs. Rivington is therefore a second cousin to the great politician.

Mrs. Rivington, approached by the Review, cheerfully acknowledged her intimate acquaintance with "newspaper ways" and said she hoped she would like the new country and her new life, for she fully intended to make it her home for some years. She was impressed with both the scenery and the sunny climate, and as she is "heartily tired" of London's life and noise, solitude and quiet surroundings were both welcome. Mrs. Rivington's young sister will shortly be joining her here.

TOWN SCHOOL.

The following pupils in attendance at the town Primary School made a record of seventy-five per cent. or more in September:—Second Reader—Doris Rines, Ronald White, First Reader—Hilda Arnett, Mabel Shields. Second Primer—Marion Beavis, Helen White, Arthur Gartroll. First Primer—Lily Everton, Isabel Hogg, Laura McLachlan, Mildred Shields.

The Junior choir practice of the Lakofront Baptist Church, arranged for Saturday, Oct. 4th., is postponed because of threatening weather till further notice.

A meeting which should have an important and far-reaching result for our town—if the public will come in and help—was held by the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary on Tuesday afternoon. Thirteen members gathered at the residence of Mrs. J. N. Merrill, with Mrs. Lipsett, president, in the chair, and discussed the advisability of, and plans for, a new hospital.

Those present were, beside the president, Mrs. Andrew, Mrs. Downton, Mrs. Steuart, Mrs. R. M. Ross, Mrs. Angove, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Clouston, Mrs. Solly, Mrs. R. E. White, Mrs. Angwin, Mrs. Merrill, and Miss Hayes.

The business of the afternoon was the consideration of ways and means towards the end of securing before next year new hospital premises, and establishing the scheme of a cottage hospital on a sound and useful basis.

As Mrs. Solly was present to formally announce her departure from Summerland, and the expiry of the license which she holds under the present arrangement on May 1st, it was felt urgent to put matters in hand at once.

A letter was read from Mr. E. B. May suggesting the purchase of Mr. D. H. Watson's house in Beach Avenue, at a sum of $5000, and the fitting up thereof for a hospital. The matter was thoroughly discussed in detail, and the advantages and disadvantages of accepting such an offer considered by those present, and the matter was then laid aside for further consideration.

Mrs. Lipsett from the chair formally expressed the regret of the Auxiliary at the departure of Mrs. Solly, and the satisfaction in the work that she had accomplished while in charge of the hospital. The matter of new premises, Mrs. Lipsett thought, should be laid at once before the ratepayers of the municipality, and there could be no better way of doing this than to call a public meeting at an early date, explain the scheme and hopes for the future, of the Auxiliary, report the way in which the hospital has been maintained for the past two years, and the urgent necessity existing that so valuable an institution as a cottage hospital should not be allowed to fail for lack of public support.

No hospital in Summerland would indeed be to proclaim failure" was the comment of one of the ladies present. The prospect of securing the renewal of the government grant of $5000 towards the building of a thoroughly approved hospital at a cost of $12,000 was discussed, and also the offer made previously by the Summerland Development Company of a suitable site.

It was moved by Mrs. Downton, seconded by Mrs. Steuart and Mrs. Ross, that a public meeting be called for October 23rd, to be held in the Men's Club, if possible, and to be advertised extensively, as soon as all the details are arranged. The motion was carried unanimously, and it is hoped that a crowded meeting of all interested will be held on the date fixed.

The next suggestion from the chair was the holding of a Hospital Tag Day, on the first day of the Apple Show, October 20th. This was unanimously adopted, and it was decided that the badge of a small red cross on a white ribbon be the chosen tag. A large band of lady helpers may therefore be expected to wage war for the hospital at the Apple Show, on residents and visitors alike. It is felt that so potent a symbol as the Red Cross will not appeal in vain.

Other business of the meeting was the resignation of Mrs. Downton from the finance committee, and that committee was re-elected to consist of Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Steuart, and Mrs. Andrew. Mrs. Andrew handed over to Mrs. Lipsett the sum of $35, the proceeds of a recent raffle for an afternoon tea cloth.

At the conclusion of the business the ladies present were hospitably entertained to a dainty afternoon tea by Mrs. J. N. Merrill.

The business men of Enderby have taken a determined stand against the policy adopted recently by the telephone company. Beginning with the 1st of August, the company reduced the daily service, and at the same time raised the rate to $4 per month if not paid on or before the 15th of the month. In other words, the company placed a penalty of $1 per month for 15 days of service not yet rendered. It will be understood, of course, that all phone rents are payable in advance. If so paid, the rate was to be $3 if not so paid it was to be $4. At the same time the city charter under which the company is doing business in Enderby provides that the company shall not charge more than $3.

A month ago the business men jointly notified the company that unless the old hours of service could be maintained and the rental provided in the city charter adhered to, the company could discontinue their service on the 1st of October. The telephone company has made no answer to the communication, and it is quite probable most of the business phones will be out of commission on and after October 1st.

It is claimed by the company as a reason for their adopting their new policy, that the 'phone business in Enderby does not warrant the service heretofore given. On the other hand, it will be clearly seen that the company has adopted a peculiar way of getting more business in Enderby. Are the 'phone subscribers responsible for the lack of business? Are they supposed to get out and drum up more business for the company? —Enderby Press.

British Columbia's fishing industry is steadily growing in importance. A shipment of 700 tons of salt herring from the Queen Charlotte Islands leaves Vancouver October 1st for the Orient. When the Grand Trunk Pacific opens its through line next year, specially built fast trains will be put in service from Prince Rupert to the East.

INTERESTING LOCAL INVENTION.

A new orchard vehicle, the invention of W. R. Shields, is creating considerable interest. With this vehicle Mr. Shields claims that he can describe a small circle around a fruit tree. Only the other day with his horse hitched to his new rig he turned about on the narrow space between the freight shed and the edge of the wharf. The principle of the invention lies in having the rear axle on a swivel, as is usual with the front axle. The ends of the front and rear axle are connected diagonally by iron rods. Hence when the horse turns, drawing the front of the cart to one side, the rear wheels turn to the opposite direction, thus swinging that end quickly around. In this way a very short circle can be turned.

WORK FOR PHOTOGRAPHERS.

An edict from the immigration department at Ottawa has been issued requiring every Chinaman to have his photograph taken and filed with the local immigration officers. In addition, particulars of each man's age, occupation and genealogy must be given. The registrations must all be completed within a month. The object of the order is not to cause any trouble for any Chinese who are at present in Canada, but to make it simpler for them to travel back to China, and to prevent anyone impersonating them. Similar regulations are in force in California and other states.

BUILDING NEW C.P.R. BOAT.

There is every probability that the new steel-hulled steamer for the C.P.R. Okanagan Lake Service will be ready to go into commission next spring. Some months ago the steel was ordered in the east, and now that several carloads have been delivered at the Landing it is expected that the work of assembling these steel parts will begin next week.

At the annual meeting of the Grand Trunk Pacific directors in Montreal on September 25, it was officially stated that the last spike in the building of the main line will be driven at some point in British Columbia, probably within the next nine months. Construction has now reached a point 1204 miles west of Winnipeg, through the Rockies, and from Prince Rupert eastward through the Bulkley Valley to mile 305, leaving a section of 23 miles in British Columbia to be completed. The work of building grade on this last section is being pushed vigorously.

METHODIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIAL.

The young people of the Summerland Methodist Church had a capital time on Thursday evening of last week.

The first of what is to be a series of winter evening socials was quite a brilliant little success, and delighted those who are responsible for the excellent idea. Rev. R. W. Lee presided over the merry revels of games and music in the Club Rooms, which were brightly decorated with autumnal foliage. Everybody brought along a variety of light refreshments, which soon disappeared, for there were hearty young appetites present. Miss Ethel Brown sang among other songs "The Little Irish Girl," very charmingly.

HOBBLE SKIRTS AND STILES.

We are not troubled with such problems on this side of the Atlantic, for though we do have hobble skirts—in modified form—we have no stiles, but in the Old Country a most ludicrous situation arose a few weeks ago.

Picture an English Parish Council sitting in solemn conclave on a question of such thrilling interest as how ladies in hobble skirts were to climb the local stiles. But the Parish Council of a small place in Essex, named Hockley, have done so, and after much deep meditation came to the conclusion that if the ladies would be so fashionably foolish, gallant councillors must make provision for such a situation.

"If we adopt this style we must mend our stiles," said the councillors. So an emergency resolution was carried, 'midst some excitement, that new planks should be fitted to some of the most used stiles, because "as things are at present the ladies who wear such narrow dresses experience great trouble in cocking their legs over the stiles," were the words of the resolution.

"The stile which has caused most nuisance is the one leading from the village to the church," said the clerk to the council. "The top step over the crossbar is quite 20 inches up. I had an extra plank added this morning, after our meeting."

"I notice that another stile, close to this one, and privately owned, has recently been lowered a good five inches, on account of this narrow skirt business, with rows and rows of useless buttons on the outside, and colored satin linings, too!"

"The reason is that we're so close to Southend—only seven miles—and our young girls get these notions of binding up their legs in this ridiculous way from the people they see there."

Impressions of a Fleet Street Journalist

V.—By L. V. MILLS.

A little later in the crisp, bright mornings now, the sun pushes his brilliant face over the blue hills east of the Valley, a little earlier in the afternoon he withdraws lingeringly, gently, with a final blaze of soft coloring, behind the farther western slopes. The green of the cottonwood, Balm of Gilead, catalpa and maple trees is turning to golden yellow and fiery crimson and carpeting the dry ground pleasantly. Every berry bush by the wayside is ablaze with its scarlet burden of fruit, and the snowberry's white, and the purple bloom of the elder, and Oregon grape gleam in silver contrast. At sunrise and sunset there is a sharper, shriller note in the call of the blue jay, and a distinct agitated little "hurry, hurry" in the tap of the busy woodpecker on the sap-drying trunks of the trees. A first rainfall, soft and pleasant, laid the dust clouds low, and brought out on the grateful air the pungent scent of the moistened sage-scrub. A soft and snowy ribbon of mist lay for one night on the darkening purple of the fir hills, and trailed down to the still waters of the lake. By these few and simple signs alone was the advent of fall announced this week in the Happy Valley, and not only to the nature lover are they fraught with significance, for they mean many other and deeper things, and impart to the stranger from the Old Country a knowledge that is useful. To those dwellers in the Happy Valley who have never experienced the raw chill of the wet sou'-wester, the nipping bitterness of the October sea-blast, the first fog pall which blots out the sun early in October, it is difficult to convey a lesson in contentment. But to those who still remember the "beautiful little island" shorn of its brief summer glory, and delivered over into the chill embrace of early autumn and winter, it is not so impossible to talk of comparisons in climate.

Apart from every other consideration that would weigh in the balance of its favor, the perfect autumn of this "Last Best West" would recommend it climatically to every globe trotter who ever wandered into the Happy Valley in search of sunshine. As a money-making asset, a sun that ripens to luscious perfection a peach measuring ten and a quarter inches in rosy circumference, and coaxes into fragrant perfection of full bloom a La France rose in October, is a Heaven sent gift to any country wise enough to grasp its opportunities. I have tasted the luscious sweetness of that Alberta peach, and feasted my eyes on the La France rose this week, and to me, a new-comer, these trifling wonders are small miracles which are above and beyond the "familiarity that breeds contempt." Rather are they productive of a "joy that breeds content." In a sunny lot under a hillside this week I gathered simultaneously ripe red strawberries and the fruit of a laden bramble vine. Now, in the Old Country, there is a legend extant that the devil casts his hoof over the bramble on September 29th and renders the fruit unfit for food. As for strawberries in October, they would indeed be a miraculous "after crop" even in Devon and Cornwall, the sunny autumn land of England, and the English "Last Best West."

Away behind us, beyond the sheltering towers of the fir hills, lie the plains of the prairies, which before very long will be swept by the moaning snow blasts of winter. By distance this Italy of Canada is not separated so widely from the desolations of the great continent, and the feeling of snug and sunny security may well make the Happy Valley dwellers hug themselves with the knowledge that when winter does come here, they shall have been heartened by a warm and beneficent fall. We, of the Old Country, often indulge on chilly October evenings, when a blazing fireside and hot buttered toast are greatly in demand, in dreams of the "citrus groves" of California, and the flower and fruit laden soil of Florida, but we knew very little of the Peach Belt of British Columbia. A hill-locked valley, a blue lake, which can be an idyll of boating at nine o'clock on an October evening, a little corner of the beautiful earth where peaches and strawberries and June roses are to be found at the same date, is it not a Happy Valley? To eight out of ten in an October England the name of Canada conveys no idea of sunshine, ripe fruits and brilliant blue skies. The symbol of the Maple Leaf is, to the great majority, associated with radiant airs and vast winds assuredly, but as a land of summer it is too often held altogether negligible. Kipling's phrase, "Our Lady of the Snows" has taken firm root in the minds of so many across the Atlantic that British Columbia for a tropical summer of beauty, and a sunny autumn land scarcely suggests itself on the map. It is the bounden duty of the Okanagan to make itself better known; for its climate, absolutely unaided, is no small factor in its future prosperity.

FRIDAY, OCT. 3, 1913.

WON'T BE FORCED.

The folly of the policy adopted by the Okanagan Telephone Company is very evident. This policy which has been persistently adhered to, and is likely to be continued until death, is a sure and certain means of slow but effective suicide. The attitude of "take what I give you or do without," and lack of effort to co-operate with, and endeavor to meet the views of telephone users, is accomplishing the only possible result. As far as we can learn close to if not fully half a hundred 'phones connected with the Summerland Exchange have been ordered out, and in view of the increased price and the dwindling usefulness of the remaining 'phones others will rapidly disappear. Reference to the notes of our Peachland correspondent will show that the same result is experienced there. Seemingly but few 'phones remain. On page two of this number will also be found a report from Enderby showing the dissatisfaction of subscribers in that vicinity.

VANCOUVER CITY AND OKANAGAN FRUIT.

By the demand for peaches from the Okanagan shipped to the local market will Vancouver be judged by the fruit growers of that prolific valley. For a considerable time there has been a constant and ever increasing outcry that British Columbian produce met with an unfavorable reception in Vancouver, and that the customer was unable to satisfy his longing for the luscious fruit for which the Okanagan Valley is famous. This fame, let it be said, is well earned. The peaches of the Okanagan Valley are unrivalled even by those which are nursed and coddled in hot houses in climates not so suitable for their outdoor existence. It is said that to-day the demand for them in Vancouver can hardly be met by the wholesaler, which would indicate that the retailer finds his customers insisting on them. The question of transportation, packing and marketing does not enter here. The whole point is that the public, now it has an opportunity, shall prove to the grower in the Okanagan that if his produce is shipped to this city it will disappear before the demand like chaff before the wind. The retailer handling provincial produce should find the demand so good that he increases his demands upon the wholesaler. In this way, and in this way only, will the other issues be gradually solved.—Vancouver Province.

THE WEST AND THE CROP.

ACCORDING to Mr. Andrew Kelly, of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, the value of the 1913 crop will be about $170,000,000. This represents the approximate amount which will be returned to the farmers for their year's product. The quality of the crop is conceded to be the best yet. The wheat crop will run to well over 200,000,000 bushels; oats about the same as last year, and barley about 32,000,000 bushels. Flax should reach about 15,000,000. Based on present prices the yield should net the farmers $170,000,000.

The West needed this good crop, and this early crop. The banks—and quite rightly, too—shut down, so far as indiscriminate loans to the farmers were concerned. When he realizes on his grain the farmer will appreciate and benefit by the enforced economy.

The speculative element in the West is shrinking rapidly. The "wild-catter" is in his last agony. Well, his speculations meant profit for the few, but a good deal of misery for the many, and no one censures the banks who have been so much to the front in exterminating this specie of shark—if a wild-catter may be called a shark.—Canadian Courier.

CANADA'S POSTAL BUSINESS.

THE continued healthy growth of our Dominion and the improvements in conveniences in rural districts is evident from the rapid expansion of the business of the Post Office Department. Among the newer conveniences now becoming recognized as a necessity is the rural delivery system. On September 1st there were 1675 rural mail routes in operation in Canada, serving nearly 70,000 boxes. In addition 511 new routes were under advisement, so that there are nearly 2200 routes either already established or about to be set up, and nearly 90,000 homes receiving mail at their doors. Two years ago only 614 routes, serving 16,000 boxes, were in existence. Not only has there been rapid expansion in the rural mail routes, but there have been opened during the past eighteen months 1390 new Post Offices, 875 new money order offices, and 509 postal note offices. Both money order and postal note remittance show remarkable increase.

SHOULD TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

ONE OF THE REASONS given recently by some of the leading British journals why transatlantic freight charges between Canada and England were so high is that the ships engaged in the traffic return to Canada only partly loaded, and they argue that it will be to Canada's advantage to buy more extensively in the Old Country rather than from the United States, which country will not take goods in return.

The result of an investigation by De Forest Hicks, a writer in the New York Times Analyst, who has made a study of trade statistics, fully warrants the stand taken by the British journals. Mr. Hicks says that Canada is borrowing money from Britain and spending it in the United States. To quote:

"To one making a study of the foreign trade of the United States several facts stand out prominently. First: That while the total of exports and imports has advanced without serious setbacks from 1886 to date, the balance of trade, that is excess of exports over imports, has been subject to wide fluctuations. The magnitude of these fluctuations is shown by the fact that in 1893 the United States owed other countries in respect of its foreign trade for that year $18,000,000, whereas in 1908 other countries owed the United States $666,000,000. The result of our foreign trade for year ended June 30, 1913, approximates this banner year with a figure of $653,000,000. An analysis of the official figures brings out the surprising fact that to our favorable trade balance for the year ended June 30, 1913, $294,688,869, or over 45 per cent. of the total, resulted from our trade with the Dominion of Canada, which, added to our trade with the United Kingdom, constituted a total of $596,274,236, or over 91 per cent. of our total trade balance. If we added to these figures the balances with British colonies throughout the world the percentage would be even higher.

Following are trade balances of the United States for the past fiscal year with the principal countries of the world:

In favor of the United States arriving from—
Great Britain and Ireland	$301,585,367
Canada	294,688,869
Germany	142,721,141
Netherlands	87,728,895
Balance of Europe	44,952,011
Australia, New Zealand, and balance of Oceania	37,184,859
France	9,222,211
Philippine Islands	4,374,545
Africa	2,663,573

Against United States, arriving with—
Mexico	$22,972,258
South America, Central America, Cuba, West Indies, and balance of North America	87,847,550
Japan, China and balance of Asia	161,395,748

"So much for the balance of trade which the United States enjoys in her commercial relations with the Dominion.

Let us now consider the aggregate value of goods shipped to Canada as compared with our shipments to other countries.

In the past fiscal year we shipped to:		Goods valued at
The United Kingdom		$597,150,307
Canada		415,260,049
Germany		331,684,212
South America		146,147,993
France		146,100,201
The Netherlands		125,909,862
Cuba		70,581,154
Japan		57,741,815
All of China		22,439,594

Canada being part of the British Empire, we might naturally assume that the bulk of her imports, particularly manufactures, would come from England. This, however, is not the case, as a study of the figures extending over a period of years points out that in 1894 Canadian imports from the United States were $61,000,000, as compared with $59,000,000 from the rest of the world, and that in each year thereafter Canada purchased more in the United States than in the rest of the world combined.

HERE IS A NEW FEATURE of a complex question. The wholesale reduction of the customer's duties which will soon become effective in the United States is expected to materially reduce the cost of living in that country, and the question has been asked, what will the effect of the cut in the United States tariff be on Canada? There are those who say it will have a tendency to increase the cost of living here by drawing from Canada certain commodities which are not now in greater quantity here than will supply the needs of the home market. The effect, if any, however, seems problematical.

J. H. Bowering was the successful tenderer for the contract of carrying the mail between Summerland and West Summerland Post Offices, and entered upon his new duties on Wednesday, October 1st. We understand Fred Brind, who has had the contract, did not tender.

It is certainly ideal harvest weather, and this brilliantly blue still September weather makes even the folk of the Valley, accustomed as they are to such vivid skies and sunshine, comment casually, "Nice Day!" The apple harvest has well begun and there is a beautiful fragrance of the "King of Fruits" on the air. McIntosh Reds are well to the fore, and one or two growers seem to be sending out ample loads of them.

Quite a number of sportsmen seem to be around this week. We did not ascertain the object of each little expedition, but the young men who get a few hours off and were out with their rifles seemed to suggest game on the dinner menus of several residents for several evenings. The savoury odour of roast grouse has not been unknown, and wild duck and apple sauce is certainly an ideal dish for an October evening.

LARGE APPLE ORDERS.

North-west States Doing Good Business.

H. F. Davidson of Hood River, President of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors, speaking of the work of his association and of the last meeting of the directors held last week at Spokane, said:

"We went into the matter of crop estimates and reports from the various districts in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana in a most careful manner, and it is apparent now on the eve of picking time that the apple crop of the four north-western states will be 10 per cent. below what it was at a meeting one month ago.

"Last week the distributors booked orders for 1000 carloads of apples, ranging in price from $1.25 for fancy and $2 for extra fancy stock per box. This is an average price of over $1000 per carload f.o.b., and making a total sale of over $1,000,000.

"The distributors have recently opened an office in London, and have organized fifteen local associations in the potato territory of the several states recently, and with the new associations coming in, in the fruit districts we have now fourteen affiliated organizations.

"Southern Idaho has, to this date, signed up 1500 carloads of potatoes, and the way the potato districts are affiliating with the Distributors I am sure there will be an additional 1000 carloads signed up. A branch office has just been opened in Denver to look after the business in that part of the United States."

Much complaining of the very unsatisfactory electric light service. During the irrigation season there was a general disposition to overlook any shortcomings but now there is not the same forbearance shown. It seems difficult to fix the direct responsibility for the poor lights, but the final responsibility is placed upon the heads of the department. Lack of water in the dam was given for the darkness both Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Mrs. Pender and Dr. and Mrs. Keilor of Buffalo, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Gartrell left for Kelowna on Monday, whence, after a few days' stay, they will proceed to California before finally returning to their homes in the East.

Summerland as a holiday resort never loses its attractions! Two members of the banking world were visiting us during the past week. Mr. Muir of the Bank of Commerce at Kamloops spent the week-end here as part of his vacation, and Mr. Butterfield, teller of the Bank of Commerce, Kelowna, was here for several days.

An important meeting of the Summerland Musical Society is called for Monday evening (not Wednesday as originally intended), promptly at eight o'clock, in Elliott's Hall. Business of vital importance to the organization will be considered.

We are indeed glad to record the gradual but sure improvement in the condition of both Mrs. James Gartrell and Mrs. R. H. English, who have been seriously ill. The latter is now on the high road to recovery, and the former is considerably better than at any time during the past week.

Miss Ratto, Supervisor of Remedial Work among girls for the Presbyterian church in Canada addressed a well attended meeting in St. Andrew's Church last night, and spoke to the pupils in the schools this morning. Those who heard Miss Ratto will have reason to remember her visit. She treated her important subject with great tact and wisdom.

The Yellow Newtown Pippins in the Review window are of last year's crop and prove by their smooth, unshrivelled appearance, the unrivalled qualities of this variety as a fruit "for keeps." Last year's pippins should be a delicious dish for the Christmas dinner dearest, picked as they were in a perfect condition of sweetness and ripeness.

Mr. and Mrs. Cottingham, who have been managing the hotel for some weeks, left for Vancouver on Thursday morning.

Miss Eva Gowan from San Francisco spent the week-end at the hotel and visited some Summerland friends during Sunday and Monday.

Miss Rothwell of the Central School staff has returned from a three month's tour in Europe, and has resumed her duties at the school.

Mrs. Carbury, who has been spending the summer here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Clouston, has returned to her home in Massachusetts.

Rev. R. W. Lee last week declined a very tempting offer from the B.C. Liberal Association to become the permanent secretary of that organization.

Over 100 boxes of apples were shipped recently from here to Mr. Brandrith, Provincial Exhibition Commissioner, who will enter them in the big fair at Winnipeg.

The pre-cooling plant is now being run at night only for the purpose of cooling the fruit by circulating the night air through the packages previous to loading on the cars.

All who are interested in the proposed plans of the Ladies' Auxiliary for a Cottage Hospital are asked to remember that a big public meeting is to be called for Thursday, October 23rd.

Mr. J. Craig of the Dominion Fruit Company, and Mr. C. Lavis of the Bank of Montreal spent a pleasant time together last week-end at Penticton, and attended the dance at the Incola Hotel.

The surveying of the Meadowland property is forging ahead this week. Mr. B. A. Moorhouse, surveyor, of Penticton, is busily employed there just now with Mr. T. E. Clay, manager of the Okanagan Realty Company.

Quite a little crowd of gaily disposed young folks from Summerland attended a dance held at the Incola Hotel, Penticton, last Saturday night. We hear that these dances are to be held every Saturday night throughout the winter.

Two family parties from the city of Victoria spent the week-end very pleasantly at Summerland, and stayed at the hotel, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sloggett, and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sloggett, with their small sons and daughters. They left early on Monday.

A dance in the Empire Hall after the last film of the Moving Pictures had been thrown on the screen last Friday night was quite a little success. Refreshments were served, and we hear these "hops" are to be a weekly feature during the picture season.

The work of erecting the 20,000 gallon tank in Peach Valley for the K.V.R. is now under way. The tank will be enclosed within an outer building, and be supported on a trestle-work with cement base. T. McAlpin is in charge of the work.

We understand that several local people are tendering for the construction of the new government wharf which is to be built here this winter. Among those mentioned as tendering are the Ferry Company, T. McAlpin, James Michael, and James Clark.

The perfection of the fall weather is evidently tempting the return of the summer holiday, for there has been quite a little holiday making during this week. Among residents who have taken a late holiday are Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Sharp of Trout Creek who left on Monday morning for a visit to the Coast.

Mr. W. J. Freed from Silvertown was visiting Summerland this week in the course of a tour which he is making in search of a permanent residence in some place with climatic conditions suitable to his health. He was impressed with the brilliant sunshine and blue skies of the Okanagan.

Mr. R. B. Borka of Victoria spent Friday and Saturday in Summerland on a business journey last week, and delighted some of his old friends with his brilliant piano-playing. On Friday evening he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thornber, and on Saturday evening left by the boat for Penticton, where he spent the week-end.

Your Town.

Said old man Haskins, with a frown: "A man is a fool to knock his town. It's easy to find fault all day long, It doesn't take brain fer to do that stunt; It's simple to knock and to grouch and grunt

And say that everything's going to pot,
 Whether it's exactly true or not.
 And crabbin' a town, fur as I kin see

Don't never bring no prosperity,
 If you find that you've got to growl about

Your town, it is time to get clean plumb out

And hide your discontented face,
 And let the folks stay who enjoy the place.

Just wrap up your duds in a big red scarf

And beat it down to the steamer wharf,

When the boat pulls out, you kin shake your fist,

And go your way; you will never be missed;

For there ain't no room on the old home roost

For the feller who don't know how to boost.

There are lots of men who can't earn their salt

'Cause they spend all their time a-findin' fault.

The booster's the guy who knows his cue,

And he sticks right to it, through and through.

If he has kind things of his town to tell

It's dollars on his jeans, and he knows it well.

And the feller who finds fault, day and night,

Will never find a town that will suit him quite."

Symbols of a delightful fall and a fruitful season loth to pass are not lacking. The dish of Elberta peaches in the Review window this week are from Mr. John Tait's orchard; the largest of the fruit measures 1 1/2 inches circumference—surely a splendid example of what Summerland can do. On Tuesday, October 1st, there were picked on the lot of Mr. Percy Thornber, outside his residence three fine ripe strawberries of beautiful color and flavor, growing not far from a laden blackberry vine. Strawberries in October should be an advertisement for this Italy of Canada.

A fertilizer factory, to cost $175,000, to use the refuse from the fish canneries of the Skeena River is a project now under way. The company is to be backed by Scotch capital, and will turn what is now waste into a commercial product.

Naramata Notes.

Mr. Bunt was in Pentiction on Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Jack Lawler of Summerland spent Tuesday with Mrs. Logie.

Miss Ruth Chambers spent Saturday with Mrs. Frank Edgar in Summerland.

We are glad to see Mr. George Nuttall about again after his slight touch of illness.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bane on Thursday, September 26th, a daughter.

Mr. Mulford's "down-town" residence has lately been improved by an exterior stucco finish.

The launch "Naramata" was pulled up in its winter quarters last Thursday after a quiet summer season.

Mr. J. Lawler of Summerland was in town on Wednesday in the interest of the packing-house business.

Mr. F. H. Hole says he intends to take a month's vacation after his mighty tussle with the fruit growers this summer.

Miss Emma Davies and Mr. Fred Roe spent Thursday in Kelowna on the business of selecting furniture for the Syndica Hotel.

The pool room in the rear of the Lakeside Hotel has been closed, and its manager, Mr. Maston, is leaving Naramata on Saturday.

Mr. "Bud" King was in town on Wednesday night before leaving for California on Thursday morning, where he will remain for the winter.

Several Summerland people came over last Thursday and organized a riding party whose destination was to be the tunnel at Bacher & Har-mout's camp.

Messrs. K. C. Griffin, O. C. Davidson, Guddy Eckstrom and Gilbert Brandt were in Pentiction last Saturday. It is said that further remarks are superfluous.

A great number of traveling men are glad to take advantage of the good service found at the Syndica, and make the trip on the ferry to stop here at Naramata.

Mrs. V. L. Watson is spending a few days at the home of her parents. On Friday Mrs. Watson and Miss Lois Wells entertain the Unity Club at the club house.

Miss Vera Roe is entertaining a number of tennis enthusiasts at the club courts on Thursday afternoon. The tournament is to be followed by a supper at Miss Roe's home, and an informal dancing party.

Probably the largest catch of kickaninnies this summer was made at Chute Creek last Thursday where Mr. Myers and Stewart Allan captured 325 of the finny tribe, and report that they didn't get them all at that.

The moving picture show at Summerland is attracting many of our townspeople. The good films and lengthy programs are deserving of patronage. The "Skookum" makes special trips for those wishing to see the pictures.

On Tuesday of this week all domestic water was shut off on the flat to allow of some connections being made on the water pipes. Two fire hydrants are being installed; one near the Supply Store and one near the Sven Hotel. A very good move we think, since heretofore our town has had no fire protection.

Miss Crow of Pentiction, who has been connected with the Hotel Naramata force entertained her two sisters also of Pentiction one day last week. They missed the "Okanagan" for their return to Pentiction and remained over night at the Naramata. All three went to Pentiction on Thursday via the "Skookum."

Wednesday was Grandma Roe's birthday, and a quiet surprise was planned for her which has long been brewing in the minds of her family. A room was furnished and set aside for her at the Syndica Hotel, and every appointment of it was made or secured by some one of her family. Each article must speak to her of their love and forethought. Some of the old family furniture, which meant so much to her, was renovated and placed in her room. On Saturday night her sister, Mrs. McDougal of Penchland, arrived to be present with her with the little family party at the Syndica. At a late hour she was presented with the key to her room, and passed upstairs to her big surprise. No one but Grandma Roe herself can express what must have been her feelings then, as this pleasant room with its tokens of love was revealed to her.

The local packing-house is to be closed on Friday of this week since the fruit and vegetable shipping is about over, making it unprofitable to keep a packing-house running here. However, a mixed carload may be shipped by the various growers if the local market does not meet the supply produced. A little later, apple shipments may be made to the Summerland packing-house if the local trade cannot handle them all. Though the construction camps are taking large quantities of fruit and vegetables they cannot be depended upon to use all the produce here. The apple crop is supposed to amount to about 400 or 500 boxes. Both Mr. Carroll Aikins and Mr. John Schreck expect to have 100 boxes of apples to ship. The other growers will have enough to make the total something like 500 boxes. Manager Hole reports a very good season here, and rather better than had been counted on when the packing house was started.

Review Want and Sale ads give Good Results.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT.

Reeve Thomson informs the Review that, as is the custom, he will again this year deliver apples to any address in the British Isles, and that the charge will be last year, $1.50 per box. Mr. Thomson shipped 680 boxes for Summerland residents last fall, which were very acceptable on the other side as Christmas remembrances. It is expected that the car will leave this year October 20th, and the Reeve would like to hear at once from intending shippers.

WHOLE CAR LOAD OF APPLES SENT TO CREMATORY.

A carload of Jonathan and Grimes Golden apples was bodily destroyed at the crematory at Vancouver one day last week by order of the fruit inspection officers. The apples, which came from Entiat and Wenatchee, in Washington, were badly infected with Codling Moth.

It is wonderful what coolness can be caused by hot words.

Gurney - Oxford Baking Worthy of the Art of a Chef

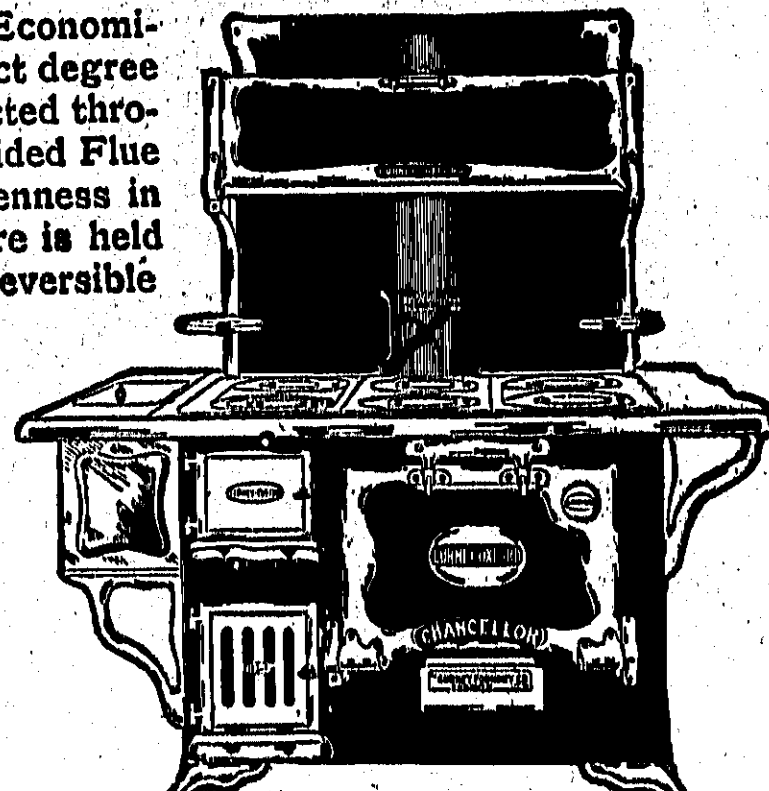

The average woman abhors having to spend all her time in the kitchen striving to accomplish some new dish in baking. But when she can have a range like the Gurney-Oxford, cooking becomes a pleasure and a fascination because of its consistent assured success.

The heat of the whole range is controlled by one lever, called the Economizer, with remarkable ease and effect.

The oven is entirely surrounded by a perfectly even heat of any degree required for any kind of baking. Pans of biscuits, light rolls, or cakes, all cook evenly with a delicate, golden brown crust without having to be constantly changed around next the heat as in other ranges.

This perfect Gurney-Oxford oven encourages a woman to attempt delicious and unusual recipes of her own invention. Her reputation for being a "splendid cook" is at once established.

The Gurney-Oxford Economizer regulates the exact degree of heat which is directed through the oven by a Divided Flue Strip with perfect evenness in every corner. The fire is held low on a Special Reversible Grate which burns every coal to a white ash. There is a lift-up Broiler Top to expose the full fire, and a smooth polished surface that requires no black lead. The Warming Closet is big enough and strong enough to hold a whole dinner service.

This Gurney-Oxford is the range for women of to-day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Dear People of Summerland,

We don't want to lose the hotel. Even the counter-petitioners admit that—some grudgingly. No great effort of imagination is required to picture the result of such an untimely occurrence as the closing of our only hostelry.

Can't you hear it over and over again?

"Summerland? Nothing there. Can't even give a fellow a decent place to sleep. Dead hole."

Or, more politely, "I wish we could stop a day or two at Summerland. We know some people there. But there's no hotel."

This would never do. Sometimes being alive is not really amusing, but to be dead is even less interesting. That is what the closing of the hotel will mean. Not only dead, but decently laid out, nailed down, and under six feet of horrid dry earth, in less time than is usually given to the process.

We have the owner's word that the place does not pay. The question that naturally arises is, WHY?

Various reasons are given, but the real one is this; a management struggling against prices which turn necessities into luxuries, in the endeavor to please a public which has acquired the habit of calling luxuries necessities. Another and a most disagreeable habit is also common. That of finding fault with hotel service in the effort to cloak the fact that at home paid service was seldom or never known. People who go to an hotel expect the service that goes with the name, and for all we know they may once have stayed a night at the Cecil, or have dined on one occasion at the Waldorf-Astoria, and are still feeling it keenly.

Surely a good stopping place is as necessary and as worthy of public support as a hospital. Why should not the municipality take the hotel at a reasonable figure? Of course the owner of a place that doesn't pay and can't be made to pay, will not stand for an excessively high rental.

Why not have a real "Home House"? Call it that; advertise it as that; let the poor people who travel either from necessity or choice know exactly what the name implies; then stand back and watch them come for a rest.

"To what," did you say?

To this simple structure of a healthy mind. A clean attractive entrance hall, with a fire on chilly evenings, and flowers whenever possible. Always papers and magazines. A really cordial greeting, as unlike the icy condescension of the ordinary desk dignitary as the host can make it. Clean bedrooms, with perhaps a few flowers or a magazine for the expected guest.

A sitting room that invites one to sit down and read, sew, play the piano, or have a game of bridge.

Corridors—well, there are only two things a corridor can be, and we'll have the first, which is, "clean."

The dining room—to many the most important room in the house—as unlike the general run of hotels as possible. Picture father's or brother's pleasure after a few days or weeks of uncomfortable splendour, on sitting down to a meal consisting of a well-made pot-ple, or a truly "boiled dinner" of pork and cabbage, with vegetables served in civilized vegetable dishes, hot, instead of those little bathtub abominations that commonly encircle his plate. He can have another potato if he wants it without having it brought from regions unknown, and perhaps cooked in the interval.

A kettle of hot water somewhere in winter, and a cold drink in summer, so that no one need retire with too great a thirst. But there 'll be no stick in it. Good fruit in season in the hall and in the sitting room, as well as at table.

Reasonable rates. A kind "Good-bye," and a hearty "Come again."

Every housewife and a few of the least obtuse husbands will immediately see the economy of labor in the homely table service.

Do you think it cannot be done? Do you think people would not come? Do you think many would take an unfair advantage of the home privileges? It would at least be an interesting and probably a profitable experiment.

Very sincerely,
A RESIDENT.

SHOW YOUR FRUIT.

Shall I exhibit at this year's Apple Show, and what shall I exhibit? is the question that is passing through the minds of a number of our growers who have never before placed their fruit in competition in the Summerland Apple Show. The management are hoping to have a greater number of exhibitors this year than ever before, and the chances of a more general distribution of the prize money seems good. Some of those who have been showing from year to year and capturing a good portion of the prizes find it impossible to enter this year. The secretary states that in view of this a number who might not otherwise be disposed to compete are expected to enter this year. Some of the exhibitors who have usually succeeded in carrying off a good share of the prizes, but find it impossible to compete this year, are Reeve Thomson, Alex. and Muir Stuart.

IN DOING UP FRUIT—

It is well to look at all canned fruit a week, or so after it is put away. By that time air bubbles will have arisen if they are to appear. When these are evident, cook the fruit again. In making marmalades or preserving it is well to put the fruit and sugar into the kettle in alternate layers. The fruit, of course, is put in first. Stir occasionally to prevent the mixture catching.

It is always a good plan to rinse the preserving kettle with cold water. The moisture on the bottom and sides is a factor in preventing the fruit burning.

In making jelly let the fruit juice drip through the jelly bag. When no more drips easily, the remainder of the fruit may be squeezed, but keep this liquid separate. Use it in making marmalade or a second-grade jelly. It will taste as well but will not be so clear as the drip jelly.

DISTRIBUTING RETURNS.

A number of cheques were sent out by the Summerland Fruit Union early this week. It is anticipated that to-day and Saturday there will be considerably more money put in the hands of the growers. Insufficient office help has delayed the distribution of proceeds which have been accumulating in the local bank for some time. The work proved heavier than anticipated, but with the needed additional help it will soon be up-to-date.

DANGEROUS!

Pat and Mike were crossing the lake on the ferry boat. They were watching intently the dredging barge that was sending its mammoth scoops under the water and bringing up tons (more or less) of mud.

"Pat," says Mike, "wouldn't yez loike to be a-workin' over there on that mud-digger?"

"'Yis," says Pat, "but begorra, O'd hate to be one of the fellows under the water that's fillin' up thim shovels."

WHETHER for a silo, a milk-house, or a million bushel grain elevator, concrete is the most economical building material in use today. Concrete never requires repair, and the saving in repair-expense alone makes the greater economy of using concrete more apparent every day. The cost of other building materials is constantly increasing. The cost of concrete is being reduced.

Canada Cement

which Canadian farmers use, with their own sand, stone and gravel to make concrete, is the only ingredient you have to buy. We have, by reason of our large output and scientific methods, been able to bring the price of "Canada" Cement so low that it is within the reach of everyone.

An increase in demand results in a greater economy of production, and when conditions have warranted it, we have, from time to time, shared this saving with the consumer by reducing the price of Canada Cement. This demand will continue to increase—as fast as farmers learn of concrete's superiority over other materials.

When you buy cement, see that you get "Canada" Cement; by so doing you will assure the complete success of all your concrete work. Send a post card for our book "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete." It is free.

There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

BIRTH.

PURVES—On Wednesday, 24th September, to Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Purves, a daughter.

Peachland Notes.

Mr. Harold McCall left on Saturday to attend the fair at New Westminster.

Mr. John and Miss Bina McLaughlan left for the Coast on Saturday morning.

Mr. C. C. Inglis, late of Okanagan Landing is spending some time with friends in town before leaving for the East.

Mrs. W. A. Lang left on Sunday morning for New Westminster where she will be an exhibitor in several of the different classes.

Miss Alice McDougald and Mr. Marr of Penticton spent Sunday at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. M. E. McDougald of town.

Mrs. McLaughlan and Miss Lang were both successful exhibitors at the Kelowna exhibition, taking many prizes for apples and other fruits.

On Tuesday morning Miss Alice Harrington left for Langdon, Alta., where she has taken a school for the winter. We wish her success in her new calling.

Mr. Wm. Urquhart has returned from a successful trip to the Middle States, and is busy preparing for the survey of lands in the Trepennier Creek district for the influx of settlers.

Rev. C. H. Daly of West Summerland will meet the Presbyterian congregation on Monday, October 6th, at two o'clock in the afternoon, to consider matters concerning the affairs of the church. A good turn out is desired.

There is considerable dissatisfaction expressed with the Okanagan Telephone Co.'s rates, indeed so much so that almost all the phones among the farmers have been taken out, and also some of those in business places. Out of twenty on this side of the town not one remains. There is some talk of a local system, but nothing has been done towards it as yet.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith, late of Summerland, spent part of last week with relatives here, leaving on Saturday morning for Vancouver, from which place they will go East, spend some time travelling on the Continent, and finally settle down in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., where the Dr. has a position on the consulting staff of the hospital, and where his only son is in the drug business.

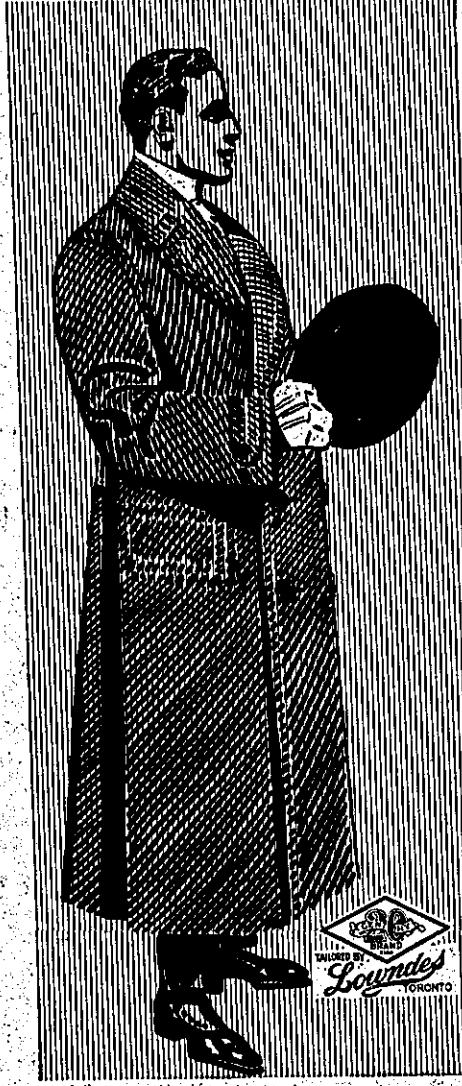

Sunday was Rally Day in the Sunday School here, and a very interesting session was held. Mrs. Elliott, teacher of the Senior Bible Class gave a brief synopsis of the quarter's lessons, and Mr. R. J. Hogg, the superintendent, spoke of our conception of the church. Special music had been prepared; a solo by Mrs. J. L. Elliott; a solo by Miss Elsie White and Miss Jean Dryden (verse about), and a quartette, Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Cousins, Mr. A. Ferguson, and Mr. R. J. Hogg.

On Thursday afternoon, September 2th, the Women's Institute of Peachland was organized by Mrs. R. C. Lipsett of Summerland, with over forty member, a large number of whom were present. The election of those officers appointed at a previous meeting was confirmed, a board of directors chosen, and a social committee selected. It was decided to hold the meetings in the Sunday School room of the Baptist Church on the first Tuesday in each month. The programs for the remainder of the year were distributed, and are indeed very interesting, especially to the householder. Mrs. Lipsett contributed some pickle recipes which she had tried and found excellent. Each lady was advised to provide herself with a note-book and paper to jot down helpful hints and recipes. Mrs. Clarence will read a paper on "First Aid" at the next meeting, and Dr. Buchanan will demonstrate.

CANNERY IS BUSY.

For the past week or so the cannery has been very busy, and all this week peaches have been coming in in large quantities. Last Saturday the factory was so well stocked with fruit that it was found necessary to work late into the night. Accordingly an order was sent to the Syndica House, Naramata, for supplies for 40 men, who were given their supper and continued their work canning the fruit on hand.

The chief difference between genius and talent is that talent gets paid on Saturday.

SCOTT MEMORIALS UNVEILED.

Sunday's Dedication Ceremonies.

More significant in many ways than imposing monuments that may be erected in some great world's centres are the two small fountains of plain white stone that now stand in Summerland, tributes paid by the men and women of this thriving little town to the late Commander Scott and his comrades of Antarctic Exploration fame.

Very quietly on Sunday afternoon these modest memorials were opened and dedicated to the public service. Simultaneously at West Summerland and on the lake front groups of Summerland people stood by the fountains, which were covered with the bright folds of the British flag while prayers were said, hymns sung, and brief eulogies of the dead heroes spoken by clergy and citizens.

In each case the ceremony was very simple and impressive, and the numbers of people present at both centres spoke of appreciation and public interest.

At the lake front a temporary platform had been erected beside the fountain, which stands near the bandstand. Rev. R. W. Lee offered prayer, and a hymn from the Methodist hymnal was sung.

Mr. H. C. Mellor, President of the Board of Trade, made a few brief remarks from the chair, and Rev. R. W. Lee delivered an address in which he urged the claims of a profound patriotism which should have far-reaching effects throughout the English-speaking world. He also added the tribute of the people of this British Columbian Valley to the brave memory of the Antarctic heroes, whose names, he said, would live on the roll of fame even long after the enduring stone of the memorial fountain should fall. He voiced the deep appreciation they all felt for the efforts of Mr. W. Sauter and the construction committee, to whom they were indebted for this most useful and enduring form of public memorial.

Mr. Hector Sutherland made an exceedingly apt little speech as he drew aside the enshrouding colors from the fountain and "in the name of the loyal and patriotic citizens of Summerland unveiled this tribute to the memory of Captain Scott and his brave fellows." From a land of peach blossom and apple blossom, said Mr. Sutherland, their thoughts went swiftly to that land of eternal snows where had perished in brave but futile endeavor, a group of the noblest men England had ever known. So the bonds of patriotism encircled the earth.

Mr. R. H. English proposed and Mr. W. J. Robinson seconded a vote of thanks to Mr. W. Sauter and the committee who had undertaken and so well carried out the idea and actual construction of the memorial fountain. Mr. Sauter briefly and suitably responded. The National Anthem, heartily and tunefully sung, concluded one of the most quietly impressive and significant open air ceremonies we have yet had in Summerland.

On the higher land at West Summerland a similar dedication service was held at the same hour, three o'clock.

Mr. R. H. Helmer of the Overseas Club was in the chair. In the course of his opening remarks he said that Mr. F. A. Miller had conceived the idea of the memorial fountains for Summerland, and it was to him and to Mr. Sauter and Mr. C. A. Marshall that their thanks were due. Mr. J. Robertson had also to be gratefully mentioned for the excellent design and carrying out of the work.

After those assembled had sung the appropriate hymn "Flight of the good light," Rev. C. H. Daly offered prayer, and a stirring address by Rev. H. A. Solly rector of St. Stephen's, followed. It was the British prerogative, he said, to be pioneers, discoverers, and leaders in such gallant adventure as that undertaken by Captain Scott and his followers; the value of such work could not be over-estimated, though indeed, many had questioned whether the splendid pluck of those heroes had been justified by what it had accomplished. If only for the great example they had set in HARVEST THANKSGIVING AT ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH.

The brilliant October weather brought a large congregation together for the Harvest Festival at St. Stephen's Church on Sunday last, and the true spirit of Thanksgiving seemed to pervade the beautiful little church, most picturesquely decorated with the fruits and flowers of the earth. A simple and most effective scheme of decoration was carried out by the ladies of the congregation.

Choice fruit, with the glowing foliage of crimson creepers filled the windows, and at the sides of the chancel stood the tall feathery heads of Indian corn, while on the altar rails were placed a few choice specimens of fruit, with golden pumpkins and melon stacked at the steps.

The preacher at matins was the rector, Rev. H. A. Solly, and at evensong the Rev. D. E. D. Robertson.

The rector in his sermon emphasized the true reasons for thankfulness for the fruits of the earth which were felt this year by the people of Summerland. They were, he said, particularly blessed in this favoured corner of British Columbia, for theirs was a lovely and fruitful valley. Abundant health and enjoyment of a perfect climate were theirs, and in the golden autumn of this year they felt they had ample reasons for thanksgiving. Conditions were better in every way than last year, and the fruit returns so satisfactory that their hopes for the future were rising high.

The rector also referred to the great value of the missionary work accomplished by that parish on the railway camps, in which the Methodist and Baptist Churches had been associated with them.

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE.

All members of the Women's Institute are asked to remember that next Tuesday, October 14th, is the date fixed for their visit to Penitence in response to the invitation from the Institute there. The "Skookum" will leave the wharf here at two o'clock sharp, and the special return fare is fifty cents. The hour of return is fixed for 5.30, and members may rely on reaching home by 7 o'clock.

The value of the work of the Women's Institute certainly increases. Mrs. R. C. Lipssett, the indefatigable president for Summerland, left by the boat this (Friday) morning for Salmon Arm, where she is to meet Madame Groat, head of the Anglo-Parisian School of Dressmaking, to arrange for the short course of sewing classes which is to be held here this session.

THE BASKET BALL CLUB.

The rally for the winter session of the members of the Basket Ball Club is called for next Monday evening in the Men's Club, and "our boys" are very keen on having a real good series of games this winter. New members will be warmly welcomed, and those who know know and appreciate the attractions of this fine game urge the call of the Summerland Basket Ball Club, which should establish a record this season.

the nobility and spirit of comradeship evidenced in the details of the tragedy, it had been surely "worth while."

The Reeve then removed the British flag from the neat little stone fountain, and a final prayer and the National Anthem closed the proceedings.

The fountains have been erected at the approximate cost each of $42, and are of neat workmanship and simple but good design. The water supply in each case is unlimited, and the value of these memorials in summer and winter for travellers or their horses is unquestioned.

The World Peace Conference.

Japanese At Peace Conference.

The jingo press got a decided setback as a result of the part played by Japan during the recent peace conference at the Hague, and which has attracted the attention of the Western world. The representatives of the Mikado, two of whom are shown here on their way to the Peace Palace, entered fully into the spirit of the congress, to the gratification of all present. Their most conspicuous action was the overtures made to the delegates from the United States, the object of which looks towards a peace pact between the two nations, whose relationship recently was so sensitive as to cause alarm throughout the civilized world.

A CALL FOR THE REV. F. W. PATTISON.

An urgent call has come to the Rev. F. W. Pattison to a charge in the Old Country, and such are the circumstances that he feels it demands his very serious attention. In the early days of his work some months were spent by Mr. Pattison with Dr. G. Campbell Morgan the world-renowned Bible expositor of London, England, and it is for a further ministry under Dr. Morgan that an invitation has come to Mr. Pattison. The idea of a removal to England and to an extended work was suggested to Mr. Pattison by Dr. Morgan himself when they met in the East in the early summer, but Mr. Pattison was reluctant to leave his charge in this lovely valley, and a place and people to which he is very much attached. A cable has just reached him announcing that the mail is bringing the formal urgent call to work at Westminster Chapel. The responsibility and scope available at the great London People's Church, as Dr. Morgan's first lieutenant, offers a wide and splendid field for the abilities of so earnest worker as Mr. Pattison, and those who know him and value his fine qualities here in Summerland, will understand the grave importance of the decision now confronting him.

We hope that he may conclude that duty requires that he and his good wife remain with us, while heartily wishing the best for them both.

DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT RETURNING TO CANADA.

It is officially stated from Clarence House that the Duchess of Connaught will accompany the Duke of Connaught when his Royal Highness sails from England this day week, October 17. The Princess Patricia will also travel with the Duke. The Duchess has made remarkable progress during the last few weeks, and it is confidently hoped that in the near future all the effects of her recent illness will have disappeared.

The Duke and Duchess and Princess Patricia are at Clarence House, where they will be in residence until the date of their departure for Canada. Canadians have received the news of the return of the Duchess with unfeigned pleasure, for H.R.H. shared fully in the great popularity of our Governor-General.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WINS $25.00 PRIZE.

The Department of Agriculture is very generous in its aid to Women's Institutes, recognising what a great factor these are in the upbuilding of the country. This year, beside other assistance, a sum of $50 was allowed for expenses in collecting and forwarding exhibits to the Provincial Fairs at New Westminster and Victoria. The local institute sent a number of exhibits to the New Westminster Fair, not for competition, as cooking, dairy products, and some other classes could not be competed by institutes in our district.

As a full competition could not be entered into the local institute was not eligible for a prize. However, the ladies felt that in view of the generous aid of the department, and for the good of the cause, they should do what they could to make the institute competitions a success.

Mrs. W. H. Hayes, who had charge of the exhibit, returned on Tuesday evening from the fair. Her report is most encouraging. In the four exhibits sent excellent points were secured.

Mrs. Hayes is to be congratulated in securing "perfect" for display. The prizes awarded by the New Westminister Association were $100, $50, $25. Mr. McKenzie, manager of the fair said, that, while he did not wish to belittle the third prize, he felt that the efforts of all the institutes should be recognized, and he accordingly awarded $25 to each.

TENNIS CLUB DANCE.

The annual dance of the Tennis Club held in the Empire Hall was quite a brilliant success. Some fifty members and friends were present and an excellent program of dances was thoroughly enjoyed. The floor was in capital form and the music provided by an exceptionally clever pianist who was engaged from Kelowna. The hall was charmingly decorated with brightly colored late October flowers and foliage, and the crimson shades for the electric lights cast a rosy glow on the scene which was most effective. Refreshments were served at a well provided buffet, and dancing continued till the small hours of Thursday morning.

Invitations are being sent out by the local St. Andrew's Society for a Social Gathering to be held in Campbell's Hall West Summerland, on Friday, October 17th.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

Inspector Enquires Of Manual Training.

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES.

Important Changes.

Beginning next Sunday, October 12th, there will be a change in the time of the services at the Lakeshore Baptist Church, Summerland. The Sunday School will meet at 2.15 p.m. The regular church service will begin at 3.30 p.m.

This alteration is made for several reasons. It will enable the children to attend the service; a part of the service will be regularly given to the young people a short address suitable to children to come before the usual sermon. By thus grouping the services together the people can attend both with but one journey. Friends at Naramata find it difficult to come across the lake for an evening service who would come in the afternoon. Captain Roe now expects to make a regular trip each Sunday afternoon. Friends at West Summerland can be at the afternoon service and return home before dark. Prof. Eyerton of the college staff will be come teacher of the Young People's Bible Class as it is now to meet at 2.15. No afternoon service is at present held in our municipality, while four services are convened for Sunday evening. For these reasons it has been decided to make this change for the coming six months.

The twilight hour is one peculiarly well chosen for thought and prayer, and at these evensong services it is proposed to make music a feature, the organ to be assisted by the violin. Next Sunday afternoon Dr. W. Evans Darby, LL.D., D.D., is to be the speaker.

W.C.T.U. MEETING.

The W.C.T.U. meeting in the ladies' parlor of the Men's Club on Monday afternoon was well attended, and two new members were enrolled. There were expressions regretting the loss by removal of two valued members, Mrs. C. M. Smith, having gone recently, and Mrs. A. W. MacLeod, who is to go soon.

The educational part of Monday's program consisted of the report of the union's provincial rescue home at Victoria, towards the support of which the local union contributes annually. The home has been doing a good work for friendless women and girls for the past twenty-four years, and a new wing is being built in order to supply the need.

The union decided to do something to help relieve the present need in the new rescue home recently established in Vancouver by Miss Ratte, and which is doing work somewhat similar to that done in the W.C.T.U. home in Victoria. The next meeting will be held at West Summerland on the first Monday in November.

The arrival of new settlers and health seekers from the Old Country continues to infuse new energies into the Valley, and Summerland comes in for her share of interest. A ten acre lot has just been purchased in Meadowland by Mr. J. Darach, and that gentleman arrived here from London this week. He has been staying at the Hotel Naramata, and has now come across the lake to begin seriously his work. He is delighted with the country, and finds the beautiful valley an inspiring change after the tempestuous and strenuous life of London.

Little but routine business was brought before the School Board which met in its regular monthly session on Monday morning.

All the members of the board were present with the exception of Trustee Docking.

Principal Mott of the Central School met with the trustees for the purpose of discussing with them some routine matters with reference to his school.

After the confirming of the minutes of the previous meeting communications were dealt with. Among these was a pressing invitation from the Secretary of the British Columbia Association of School Trustees, urging that every member of the board, and also the secretary, and any teachers, if possible, attend the four day session to be held at Victoria, beginning October 21st. It was urged that much of vital importance to the educational work in the province would come up for consideration, and that by attending these meetings information of great value could be had. Later in the morning two delegates, Chairman Robinson and Trustee Caldwell were appointed to attend these meetings.

The reports of the various school departments were received and inspected by the board. The following was gleaned from these reports:

An inquiry was received from the Inspector of Manual Training Schools asking of prospects of opening a department for Manual Training here, and offering to come and consult with and advise the board.

A motion was passed asking that the Inspector come at the earliest date to discuss with the board the financial and other aspects of Manual Training work here.

The board were advised that a car of coal is expected to arrive in a few days, and the chairman and clerk were appointed a committee to receive and pay for car on delivery.

Then again to KILL BITING AND SUCKING INSECTS either by contact, poison, or suffocation.

INDIRECTLY TO CHECK THE SPREAD OF THE FIRE BLIGHT by doing away with the larvae of Aphids, adult Ants, Bees and Wasps, and the forms of any other insects most easily killed.

Finally it is a SPLENDID SPRING TONIC FOR THE TREE, given even, that nothing (fungous, insect or bacterium) affects the tree.

WHEN?
The following is a simple Spray Calendar:—

FIRST APPLICATION	Kind of Trees	For Fungi (Preventative)	For Insects
Shortly before the buds burst.	Apple	Scab	Bud Moth

THIRD APPLICATION	Kind of Trees	For Fungi	If necessary for Blight Carriers
Immediately after the petals fall	Apple		Aphids
	Pear		Wasps
About two weeks later than second application	Plum		Ants
	Cherry
About four weeks later than second application	Plum
	Apricot

Use concentrated Lime-Sulphur s.g. 1.009 or 1.008 and Arsenate of Lead 4 lbs. or 2 to 3 lbs. or Bordeaux—Lime 4 lbs., Bluestone 4 lbs., Water 40 gals., and Paris Green 4 ounces.

Use Concentrated Lime Sulphur, s.g. 1.008 Arsenate of Lead, 2 to 3 lbs. Bordeaux Mixture and Paris Green as for 2nd application.

PREPARATION OF HOME MADE CONCENTRATED LIME SULPHUR.

Into a large tank or iron pan which holds about sixty gallons put in a bag of flowers of sulphur or flour of sulphur. This weighs about 110 lbs. Add about 40 to 50 gallons of water, hard or soft, and bring to a boil. Then add 55 lbs. of stone lime nearly free from magnesium and other impurities, one half by weight of sulphur, and continue to boil briskly for one hour. Stir constantly—a hoe is convenient for the purpose—keeping the sediment in suspension and aiding all the sulphur to go into solution. When boiling is completed pour off the clear solution into a barrel. This solution is the stock solution which may be diluted at will.

For the winter wash dilute one part with about six parts of water, or if a hydrometer is used dilute until the specific gravity or reading thereon registers 1.032 or 1.030. For the summer washes dilute one part with from twenty to twenty-five parts of water, until the hydrometer reading is from 1.009 to 1.008. Growers can reduce the cost of spraying considerably by clubbing together and making this concentrated wash at a central point.

ONE FINAL WORD ON FIRE BLIGHT.

Cut out all cankered limbs whether the cankers are "hold over" or not. They will run in the spring whatever kind these cankers may be; and the results are disastrous.

When the leaves are off the trees the cankers are more readily seen. Winter patrols are therefore advisable. Burn all blight in sight and at sight.

Do not scalp any limbs except the very large ones and the trunk, and even then—

WATCH THAT TREE.

In nine cases out of ten such a tree must eventually come out. Do not forget to disinfect all cuts, wounds, scalps and "hoof cankers" with one part of corrosive sublimate to one thousand parts of water. Late infection results from neglect of this precaution.

Rigid obedience to the rules results in complete annihilation of the Fire Blight.

Continual neglect results in complete annihilation of all the apple, pear, and quince trees in the orchard.

Owing to the severe drought which is being experienced in the States of Iowa, Kansas and Oklahoma, the immigration from the United States has gone up 80 per cent. during the last four weeks, says J. Bruce Walker, Immigration Commissioner at Winnipeg. He points out that the reports show that the drought has been so serious in the above mentioned states as to bring about the ruination of from 60 to 70 per cent. of the crops.

The red colors in apples cannot be increased materially by any kind of fertilizer applications, though potash and possibly phosphates may be of some slight assistance. These colors are directly dependent upon sunlight and maturity, with the latter occurring preferably on the tree. Late picking, open pruning, light soils, sod culture, and mildly injurious sprays, therefore, tend to increase the reds in fruits, while opposite conditions decrease them.

Impressions of a Fleet Street Journalist

VI.—By L. V. MILLS.

When the rain mists hurry up the lake and shroud these purple hills above with their writh-like garments of white, and the wind whistles eerily through the dark pines in the gulches, it is "fall" indeed in the Happy Valley. More contrasts and more comparisons crowd in upon me as I watch the outdoor folk of this outdoor world preparing reluctantly to withdraw from the plundered peach orchards, the stripped and devastated fruitlands where only the splendid Canadian apple, ripening and swelling on the trees in autumn sun and rain remains to be harvested. In the Old Country the hour of the autumn fruit is long over, and the apples that remain in the wind-swept orchards of mid-October, are indeed late garnered, even the sturdy "rusty coat," or the tough-skinned brown russet so beloved of English palates, is by now hoarded in attic and cellar and barn. The cider barrels are filling rapidly and the last Harvest Home has been celebrated. But in this wonderful land of contrasts, there are snows on the hills above and peaches still lingering amid the yellowing foliage in the valley beneath. Walking home last Sunday morning from the first Harvest Thanksgiving Festival celebrated in the beautiful Anglican Church on the high land above the town, the sharp, keen air tempered by a golden sun blew down from the heights above Naramata where the sunshine glittered on the gleaming silver snow peaks. Its radiant exhilaration was like nothing that one could ever breathe in the soft, temperate atmosphere of that "sceptred isle;" this was Canada, but Canada as first met in a Happy Valley of British Columbia. The blue-black pines stood out sharply against a sky as sapphire as in an English June, and at my feet lay over-ripened peaches that the first fall winds had brought to the ground in a heavy shower of sweetness. Veritable apples of Eden in their gorgeous crimson, clustered thickly on young low-growing trees at my right hand, and a medley of thought—pine trees, ripe peaches, the first snow fall, the apple of the reddening Valley—all concentrated slowly into the music of the Harvest Thanksgiving hymn still ringing in my ears.

To an English mind and in English eyes the beauty and opulence of this Happy Valley appeal vividly in its every changing phase, and even as it is a land where there is no twilight, and the shadows of night fall with an awesome swiftness on the autumnal afternoon, so its contrasts with the Old Country have their peculiar value. As your harvest here is a fruit harvest and not one of golden grain, and the fruitlands wait for the cornfields, the Canadian Thanksgiving Day of late October holds an original appeal and a deeper value as viewed from the English standpoint.

As the blue smoke of the wood fires curls upward into the still autumnal air, there is a suggestion of indoor activity creeping into the life of the Valley. At nightfall I can see the gleam of lighted windows in homes on hill tops and nestling under the shelter of the hillsides, and though there are but few Old Country hearthsides blazing with the warmth of coal fires, there is no suggestion of fear of winter cold. An October night in London town and an October night in the Happy Valley—what a world of contrasts lies between! Behind heavily curtained windows home parties gather in snugly warmed rooms, and shiver at the thought of the chilly wind-swept streets. In the wind-swept streets pedestrians hurry home to their firesides—or to theatres and concert halls—it is no season for out of doors. And lurking at dark street corners the homeless and outcast envy the furled rich and shiver in their rags. Winter has come to town and it has to be endured with set teeth and as cheerful a hope for a late spring as can possibly be cherished.

Not so in the Happy Valley. A late lingering in the lap of summer, the Canadian fall goes out cheerily to meet ruddy snow-crowned winter filled with a happy assurance of perfect readiness. In these snug Valley homes for weeks past housewives with the forethought of the busy ant of fable lore, have been bottling and canning and preserving the plenty of summer to supply meagre winter. The commissariat management of an English household as compared with the thrift of Canadian methods reminds me irresistibly of the unhappy grasshopper overtaken in his summer chirping by the pang of autumn hunger. It is fortunate for the English grasshoppers that food supplies are garnered in for them at reasonable prices by limited companies! I am full of eager curiosity to see how the ceaseless activities of the Happy Valley housewife will continue throughout the winter. How the workers in the orchards and on the land will continue their vigorous career of toil. Nature is beginning to show signs of winter somnolence among her busy autumnal preparations—but beyond the increase in the volumes of blue wood smoke from homesteads whose doors still stand wide open, I can trace no slackening in the evidences of that activity characterizing daily life in this land of out door work. Living near Nature we learn nature's ways, and with a profound wisdom that the city-bred will never fathom and that has been long forgotten in the crowded metropolises of the Home Country, the people of this wonderful land know the secret of enjoying summer while utilizing its sunny days, and how to anticipate winter right merrily.

THE KAISER A TEETOTALER.

Emperor William has joined the ranks of teetotalers. He has forsworn the Fatherland's famous beer and cut out his choicest wines. His favorite drink is now lemonade with a dash of orange juice, but he does not force this "Bryanado" on his guests, to whom the usual wines are served.

Persons who are in close contact with him say that this is the result of the Emperor's conviction that alcohol lessens the working capacity of a man. He often expresses the opinion to members of his entourage that immoderate drinking is one of the greatest factors in retarding the development of nations.

Some time ago the Kaiser demanded the latest alcoholic statistics as to suicides, accidents and crimes which resulted from immoderate drinking. After a study of these statistics he experimented on himself and found that even small quantities of liquor lessened his energy and capacity for work, whereupon with characteristic impulsiveness he cut out alcohol entirely.

He never misses an opportunity to descend on the value of temperance, and there are some members of his suite who take their wine lightly when dining in his presence. While he was swearing in the naval recruits at Wilhelmshaven recently, the Emperor took occasion to deliver a lecture on temperance and drank a toast in water. He also recently told army officers who asked if there would be any objection if his health was drunk in water that on the contrary he would be well pleased.

FRIDAY, OCT. 10, 1913.

THE INDIAN COMMISSION.

THE OKANAGAN has this week been visited by an important public body of men upon whose findings and decision will depend the future policy of the Government with reference to Indian Reserves.

As is generally known there has been for some time an agitation in this Province, with which the Provincial Government is in sympathy, to make some radical change whereby much or all of the land now held by the Indians, and most of which is non-producing, may be brought under cultivation. The Indians, when these reserves were made, were given, as it were, first choice, and as a result in almost every section of the Province it is the best land that is withheld from production, and there are now so few Indians living on many of the reserves that they are holding much more acreage than it was originally intended they should.

There has been a difference of opinion as to the best policy to adopt. There are those who would sell the land and let each Indian family take their proportion and shift for themselves. Still others would cut down the quantity of land held by the different groups to the amount that they would actually utilize. Our Provincial Government has been urging upon Ottawa the necessity of doing something whereby this land may be put under cultivation. These two Governments have recently come to a working agreement of which the present Indian Commission is the outcome.

The Commission is comprised of two men appointed by the Province and two by the Dominion with Ex-Chief Justice Wetmore of Saskatchewan as Chairman, and to a certain extent the Governments are pledged to abide by the decision of this commission. If, as our Province would urge, slices are taken off the present reserves the portions so taken will be put up at auction and half the proceeds will be paid over to the Indians and the other half will go to the Province. This must always have the consent of the Indians directly concerned. Just here it may be stated that the Provincial Government claims that Indian lands in this Province are the property of the Province. With the Dominion consenting to this arrangement the Province on the other hand will relinquish to the Federal Government any claim it may have in the unsold portions.

The Indian Commission has toured the Province very thoroughly, visiting all the reserves, taking evidence, gathering statistics, etc. Beside the adjusting of the matter of Indian reserves, which is their chief commission, these men will probably make recommendations on many other matters including game and fish laws, Indian schools and other matters in which both Indians and neighboring whites are concerned.

CANADA to-day stands where America stood one hundred years ago, but it will not take Canada a hundred years to catch up and outstrip the heavy-footed giant. Canada, in the progress it has made in recent years, will be the nation of the world. It has serious purpose and serious ideals. The younger sister of the "Sceptred Isle"—England, that land "dear for her reputation through the world," who like a tender elder shows her and guards her against the hardships she has had to overcome; teeming and bounding with triumphant youth, the horizon is limitless for this wonderful country. Why then does it not lead in everything and have the courage of its own freedom? It has vitality enough to carry it through. If "England bound with a triumphant sea" was able to lead the world for so many generations, what in a few years will Canada do with the same breed of men and their millions of population? She need fear nothing.—W. Faversham, in News-Advertiser.

GOLDEN fences of exceptionally fine sunflowers are a feature of good many gardens around our neighborhood, the growers finding them excellent and nourishing chicken food. If the sunflower growth were to be encouraged by any Experimental Farm enthusiasts, another useful and valuable by-product might be within our reach, for soil and sunshine are both splendidly suited for this heavily seeded blossom. It is stated that sunflower seed is as fattening as any oil cake for cattle; but others hold the opinion that a heavy growth of sunflowers would interfere with bee-keeping, as it tends to spoil the honey.

A Fine Recital.

Very enjoyable indeed was the olocutionary recital given in the Men's Club by Rev. R. W. Leo last night, also the musical half of the program contributed by local talent. Mr. Leo's fine interpretation of "Enoch Arden" was thoroughly appreciated, but especially did he do justice to the quaint and resonant music of the "Songs of Cheechako" and "Songs of the Sourdough."

long from the crowded audience. Many other evenings like these will be very welcome during the winter now facing us, and we are immensely proud of the amount of local talent we now possess.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

"Do you believe that all men are created equal?"
"I used to before I was married."
"And now?"
"Now, I find that I can't begin to compare with other women's husbands."

Virtue must be its own reward—that's why so few of us get rich.

Petty Larceny In Town.

Charges Against Two Young Men.

For some time reports of stealing of wood and robbing of the gardens in the neighborhood of the high flume have been current and while there has been little direct evidence the suspicion has rested on some young men living close by. On Tuesday a charge was sworn out by L. Sutherland against Wm. Boyle and Hugh Farworth for stealing orchard boxes and wood. The orchard boxes, he said, were taken from his orchard known as the Colwell property, while the wood was taken from a pile of fuel cut from peach trees and which was lying nearby. The defendants were brought before Magistrate English on Wednesday morning.

Boyle admitted to taking some of the wood and also to picking up a box while coming through the orchard and which, he said, he used for making a fire. Farworth, who has been cooking at the Hotel and has only been living with Boyle for a few days, admitted that he picked up a box and carried it home when coming through Mr. Sutherland's orchard with Boyle. Magistrate English before drawing out these admissions told the men that they were liable for trespass and later warned them to keep off private property or if crossing such not to interfere with anything found thereon.

Mr. Sutherland was present with two witnesses but these were not called on to testify.

The Magistrate told the accused that it was not Mr. Sutherland's wish that a heavy fine be imposed and he accordingly made the fine as small as the law would permit, $10 each and costs, and with a warning from the Magistrate to keep themselves straight in future they were allowed to go home to procure the money necessary to pay the fines.

"Versatiles" Pay a Return Visit.

The English Musical Comedy Company, "The Versatiles," who played here last year, paid a return visit to our town last Tuesday, and gave a capital entertainment to a fairly full house at the Empire Hall. Mr. Stuart-Whyte's company is an excellent one, and the long and varied program contains some really excellent numbers, while others fall so far below the usual standard of original comedy that they might, with distinct advantage, be entirely deleted. There is too striking a contrast between the humor and musical quality of several of the numbers, and the talented members of the caste could find better scope for their decided ability. If, for instance, the opening chorus were improved, and the comic duet between the baritone and soprano omitted altogether. We venture to question altogether the good taste of the number which makes death the subject of farce.

The individuals of the company are all possessed of distinct talent, the Scotsman's dry humor was excellent, and his songs were received most enthusiastically. The little lady who made a hit in the quaint song "Edward Eney's Mother," was a great favorite, and that masculine member of the company who told the story of "Steve," was immensely popular. Encores were frequent, and the second part of the program, consisting of the musical farce, "Up the River," was a picturesquely mounted affair altogether.

Particular praise is due to the talented accompanist, Mr. Collin Campbell, who is a pianist of great talent, and whose crisp bright playing made for the success of the whole evening.

About as contemptible a deed as has come to our ears in a long time is that told of one of the newer citizens of Summerland. Being without employment this young man was given a job of splitting wood by the wife of an invalid and for which work he was promptly paid. The surprise and annoyance caused this same invalid can better be imagined than described when late that evening while lying in his sleeping porch he heard someone enter the yard, load up his arm with wood and carry it away. This is not the class of citizen of which our community is comprised and the sooner such are run out of town the better for all concerned.

THE WORLD'S PEACE.

Visit of Peace Society's Secretary to Summerland.

Next Sunday will be a kind of Peace Sunday for Summerland, for there will be three opportunities afforded us for hearing the great subject of the World's Peace discussed by so able an authority as Dr. W. Evans Darby, L.L.D., S.T.D., D.D., Secretary for twenty-five years of the Peace Association of Great Britain. Dr. Darby was a delegate at the recent Peace Congress held at the Hague, and is travelling eastward to Quebec on a tour in which he is addressing meetings of Canadian Clubs, churches, brotherhoods, and many other public bodies with the object of strengthening the Peace Society of Western Canada. As a writer on, and student of, his particular subject, Dr. Darby cherishes ideals of international concord and human harmony, and his views will no doubt prove keenly interesting.

The fixtures for next Sunday are as follows: Dr. Darby will preach at 10.30 a.m. at the West Summerland Baptist Church, morning service. In the afternoon at 3.30 the afternoon service at the Lakeshore Baptist Church, and in the evening at seven at the Methodist Church.

A public meeting will be held on Monday evening in St. Andrew's Church at eight o'clock in the interests of the Peace Association, and Dr. Darby will give an address on its aims and objects and the subject of International Peace and the methods of arbitration as a substitute for war.

Proposed New Hospital.

Report Of Past Work Accomplished.

For the benefit of those people in Summerland who are interested in hospital matters, and who wish to see the continuance of one here, it may be as well to repeat the information that the building now in use must be vacated next April, as for sanitary reasons it has been declared no longer fit for the purpose.

The question now arises can another suitable house be found at a reasonable rent and conveniently situated, or would it be better once more to take up the idea of building or purchasing?

The Hospital Society is incorporated, and as such it may reasonably be expected that it could secure government aid, not only for building purposes, but for maintenance also.

The fact has been ascertained that the government donates $1 per day per patient for maintenance at Armstrong. It is understood that in Penticton they are anxious to secure incorporation in order to enable them to apply to the government for a maintenance grant.

It is to be regretted that Mrs. A. H. Solly has decided to give up the management of our hospital at the end of her second year, which will be about the 18th of next April. It has been conducted so satisfactorily under the arrangement that had been entered into with her.

The community will heartily thank the Ladies' Auxiliary for the trouble they have gone to in raising the necessary funds for all the above purposes, besides which, they have donated such utilities as towels and more than one stove.

The following is a report of work done by the Summerland Hospital for the year beginning April 18th, 1912, ending April 18th, 1913:

Table with 2 columns: Item, Count. Includes: Number of patients admitted (68), Maternity cases (23), Operations (20), Out patients treated (3), Total number days treatment (725), Deaths (1), Stillborn (2), etc.

The nurse-in-charge has occasion to remark that many times they have felt the need of more room, and have been uncomfortably crowded.

The above figures should at once settle the question whether a hospital is a necessity here. A Public Meeting has been called for a date near at hand, for the purpose of discussing the whole question, when it is to be expected one or two feasible propositions will be brought forward.

Look out for all notices of that meeting.

Place your printing orders locally—and all your other orders—each dollar spent at home is an investment in your own behalf.

A new departure for the Province of New Brunswick has been made in the starting of a training farm near Hampton for the instruction of women in dairying and poultry farming.

At the Land and Apple Show in Winnipeg in October there will be an "Ontario Day," "British Columbia Day," "Maritime Province Day," and "Prairie Province Day."

Hops are grown to quite an extent at Agassiz and Chilliwack, B.C. This year there are about 600 acres at the former place and 750 at the latter. The picking is done by Asiatics and Indians.

"To be clever enough to get lots of money one must be stupid enough to want to devote one's life to getting it," writes Honore Willste in Harper's Weekly, with what is nothing short of inspiration.—Toronto Globe.

On Friday, October 17th, the Women's Institute are calling a special meeting. The president will be glad to see a full attendance of members for some important matters are to be decided.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bell of Scott, Sask., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Tully. On leaving here Mr. and Mrs. Bell intend making a tour of the coast cities and crossing to Portland and Seattle.

From Devonshire to the Okanagan came two more settlers this week, Mr. Thomas and Miss Shepherd, his widowed sister, arriving on Tuesday night last. They are taking up a proposition here and have rented G. A. McWilliams' cottage for the coming winter.

We regret to hear that Mr. T. E. Clay's indisposition of last week has returned in such a degree that he has been for several days confined to bed again. As Mr. Clay is planning a trip to England some time next month it is essential that he be careful for a while in order that illness may not interfere with his business journey.

The latest date on which discount would be allowed on Municipal taxes was fixed for September 30th, but after careful consideration and because of the delay in the returns to fruit growers the Council deemed it advisable to extend the date one month. Formal notice appears on page five of this issue.

A very pleasant little afternoon tea party was given by Mrs. D. H. Watson on Tuesday. A number of invitations sent out were accepted by friends who seized the opportunity of meeting Mrs. D. J. Scott and her son from Winnipeg, and Mrs. Charles Quandt from Regina, who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Watson.

Norman Alexander returned on Friday of last week from Kaleden.

Mrs. J. C. Findlay and Miss Findlay of Kaleden are guests at the home of Mrs. Findlay's daughter, Mrs. James Ritchie.

Mr. David Lister will recite original Scottish selections at St. Andrew's Thanksgiving Concert on Monday evening, October 27th, ad.

Mrs. Club and Miss Club and Miss Elizabeth Houston arrived here from Vancouver last week and are now living in the Hunt Cottage.

Mrs. W. H. Hayes who went down to the Provincial Fair at New Westminster with an exhibit from the local Women's Institute, returned on Tuesday night.

That Summerland must not be without a hospital has already been decided by the wisest of our people. Will every ratepayer make a point of being present at the public meeting to be held on Thursday, October 23rd, in the Men's Club?

Those who wish to attend the Penticton Apple Show, horse races and baseball match to-morrow (Saturday) may go by "Skookum," leaving Naramata at 12.30 and Summerland at 1 o'clock. The boat will leave Penticton at 3.30 and again about 6 o'clock.

The committee in charge of the Scott Memorial Fountain wish to thank the following gentlemen through the Review for their kind efforts and assistance: Messrs. Allan Agur, James Ritchie, William Ritchie, Alex. Steven, Thos. Dale, R. H. English, and J. G. Robertson.

An At Home to former Pilot Mound and Crystal City residents was given this afternoon by Mrs. Wellington Watson. The purpose of the entertainment was to enable those living here who came from that district to meet Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Watson's sister-in-law, now of Winnipeg, but formerly of Pilot Mound. Music was furnished by Mrs. Robbins.

As a result of the recent visit to the Okanagan from Mr. F. W. Peters, General Superintendent of British Columbia lines, for the C.P.R., there is likely to be a number of improvements in the facilities at many of the different places in the Valley. The advisability of enlarging the steamship service on the lake, and also of extending the train service will as a result of Mr. Peter's visit have serious consideration. It is generally understood that when the new boat, which is being built at the Landing, is completed, there will be a double daily boat service on the lake.

Victor and Vanquished In World's Championship Tennis Game.

THE RESULT OF THE MATCH BROUGHT OUT THE TRUE QUALITIES OF THE ENGLISHMAN.

Our picture shows Dixon, the Englishman, who was defeated in the final tennis match for the Davis Cup, emblematic of the world's championship, heartily congratulating McLoughlin, the American champion, his conqueror. Dixon is the man on the left.

In many respects this struggle was one of the most brilliant ever seen in the history of the game. At no time has Dixon ever underestimated the playing of McLoughlin. Recently when reporting a game for the newspapers Dixon referred to McLoughlin's performance as thoroughly outclassing all his opponents.

The Early Cold Spell

The early cold spell that seems to have been felt throughout Canada since Sunday touched the Valley certainly but not seriously. While registering with surprise one degree of frost here on Saturday last and on Sunday two degrees, we note that Saturday brought sixteen degrees of frost to Calgary, a distinction indeed with a difference.

Above us the snow now lies white on the mountains and on Saturday it was most curiously interesting to watch, while walking on the sunny side of the street here, snow falling thickly on the far heights beyond Naramata. This is unusually early for a cold spell, but no damage has been done by the frost with the exception of the nipping of some tender vines on some high places around.

Fall flowers are still blooming gaily, quite untouched, and the nasturtium blossom, the first to wilt, is also quite untouched in many gardens. The following table is an interesting record of previous frost dates:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Frost Date. Includes: 1907 no frost in October, 1908 first frost October 15, 1909 " " " 15, 1910 " " " 19, 1911 " " " 18, 1912 " " " 12, 1913 " " " 4, 1 degree of frost, 2 degrees on the 5th.

These are the records at the government weather station in Prairie Valley since its establishment, and show how unusually early last Sunday's frost really was.

Naramata Notes.

Mr. K. C. Griffin and Mr. C. M. Martin spent Sunday in Kelowna.

Mr. C. G. Griffin, of Kelowna, is in town on his usual inspection trip.

Mr. K. Hogg and Miss Grace Logie were Naramata visitors on Wednesday.

Mr. Carroll Aikins returned on Wednesday night from Banff. Mr. Aikins is very much improved in health.

Miss Gordon, who has been nursing in Prairie Valley, Summerland, returned to her home the first of the week.

The first signs of winter are here in the form of frosts and thin coatings of ice. The first was noticed on the flat last Sunday morning.

A fine son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wells on Wednesday, October 8th, 1913. Mrs. T. O. Williams, who returned from Summerland, is the nurse in charge.

Mr. R. H. Eviman, of the Milwaukee Locomotive Company, returned to Seattle after spending a few days at the tunnel camp, looking after the locomotive they have installed there.

The social given last Friday night by the teachers of the Naramata Sunday School was well attended, and the evening passed off with games of various sorts, much to the pleasure of their participants.

Mr. G. H. Feldtmann arrived on Tuesday to make a week's business stay in Naramata. Major Feldtmann is a fruit expert in government employ, now engaged in taking statistics, and making inspection of the fruit orchards here.

Mr. William Armour recently purchased the horse and outfit belonging to Mr. Robert Reed, and Mr. Ireland bought a cow from Mr. Reed a short time ago. This leaves Mr. Reed free to leave and spend the winter in his old home, Winnipeg.

We are pleased to note that one of our local young men (i.e. "Eckie" again) has shown unusual talent as newspaper vendor. His melodious voice and winning ways touched the hearts of fifteen fair damsels of Penticton and enabled him to dispose of his stock.

Mrs. A. B. Allen very nearly lost her family horse, "Old Dan," last Thursday. The horse was taken with colic in a severe form, but luckily, with the combined aid of Mr. Myers, Mr. Ireland and Mr. Walters they were able to save him. He is now seen going about his duties on the flat as usual.

Mr. H. J. Wells is taking his first vacation since coming to Naramata, when he and Mr. Chas. Grimaldi leave the first of next week for a hunting trip of a week's duration. They intend going some five or six miles back of the Blair Construction Camp. Too bad there is a regulation to limit the amount of game killed, otherwise

Mrs. Languedoc entertained the last meeting of the Ladies' Aid on Wednesday at her home. Everyone reports a very pleasant and profitable afternoon. It is decided that the ladies will give a Chicken Pie Supper on Thanksgiving day—just one week from Monday—at the church basement.

Mr. John Brandt, the brother of Gilbert Brandt, railroad contractor, was injured while loading a hole with dynamite on Monday morning. He sustained injuries about the face and hands which were very painful but of no serious consequence. Mr. Brandt is now in the local hospital but expects to be back at work in the course of two or three days.

The Syndica Hotel accommodated the "Verantiles," a musical comedy troupe playing at Penticton on Monday night, and at Summerland on Tuesday. The company, numbering twelve, arrived at the Syndica on Tuesday morning, was taken to Summerland by the "Skookum" to make their appearance that evening, returning to the Syndica to remain till Wednesday.

Mr. Kennison returned from his temporary position with the Knowles Jewelry Company at Kelowna on Saturday night. He remains here till Thursday when he leaves for Alameda, California. A splendid position is offered him from a jewelry firm of that place. Mrs. Kennison and baby daughter accompany him there. We are sorry to lose both Mr. and Mrs.

Kennison, for during their short stay in Naramata, they have made many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed and daughter, Edna, will leave on Saturday morning to spend the winter on the prairies. After visiting relatives at Duval, Sask., and Deloraine and Cypress River of Man., they intend going to Winnipeg where they formerly lived. Mr. and Mrs. Reed expect to return in the spring and build again on their lot, which is the wish of their many friends. Miss Edna may remain in the East if she secures a position to her liking.

The Unity Club will give a series of monthly dances during the winter, probably all of them to be held at Hotel Naramata. The management has kindly consented to throw open the rotunda and large dining-room for the parties, which will be much more preferable to the accommodations of the hall. Mr. and Mrs. Walters will furnish the music, and nothing better can be asked for. The first dance will be given on Friday, October 10th. The committee is arranging for some unique parties, and their dates will soon be decided upon and published.

Mr. C. J. Johnson, a foreman at the Valley Construction Company, while loading a hole with dynamite, accidentally exploded the same, which resulted in rather serious injuries about his head and hands. He was taken to the local hospital where upon examination it was found necessary that he be taken to an eye specialist in order to save his eyesight. He was accordingly sent to the Vancouver General Hospital in the care of Tony Manzini and put under the care of Dr. Glen Campbell, a noted eye specialist, who says that his eye injuries are very serious. Mr. Manzini returned on Tuesday night from his trip to Vancouver.

Even the worst day yet could not spoil the anticipated good time at Miss Vera Roe's tennis party last Thursday. In spite of the wind and dust the game went merrily on, though, in fact, no specially brilliant plays were noticed, unless it be the almost impossible feat of "serving" a ball through a window pane, situated directly back of a tightly-woven wire backstop. The delicious supper which followed the game was greatly appreciated. Especially noticeable was the beautifully appointed table whose decorations carried out the idea of the game which was the order of the day. To complete an exceptionally enjoyable afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Roe conducted the whole party to the "Skookum" where the trip was made to Summerland to attend the picture show there.

HOW DOES HE EAT PEACHES?

The following ought to make interesting and topical reading for the ladies in the Okanagan. The peach season, too, is not over even yet!

"If you want to know the character of the man you intend to marry, watch him eat a peach," is the advice given by Elie Dautrin, a well-known French writer. "You should watch carefully at table the young man on whom your whole future may depend. If he is immoderately fond of sweets, he is of a nervous disposition and will nag. If he be a bread eater at times, he is fond of the country. If a lover of fine old wine, he has the soul of a landed proprietor. The best test of your future husband is to watch him at the moment of dessert. See how he handles a peach. Does he take it distractedly, or like a man in a hurry? Does he swallow it hastily? Then you say to yourself, 'He is not the man for me.' But if he takes it slowly, tenderly, like a connoisseur who appreciates what he eats; if he does not swallow it at once, but peels it with the air of an artist and treats it with devotion, then don't hesitate to marry him as quickly as you can."

WHEN TO EAT CHOCOLATE.

Chocolate, though one of the most wholesome and nutritive of foods, should never be eaten just before a meal, for it ruins the appetite. Never eat chocolate until after meals. Good chocolate should consist of equal parts of sugar and of cocoa. When more sugar is incorporated, as sometimes is done in the cheaper sorts, its value is impaired. Athletes, polar explorers, and mountain climbers well know the nutritive value of chocolate.

In the Swiss Alps it is usual to carry chocolate in the pocket, and to eat a little of it whenever the climbers pause for a rest. But chocolate is fattening, and should therefore be eschewed by those who have a tendency to too great corpulence. It is an ideal addition to the diet of a vegetarian.

Chocolate and cocoa are almost as stimulating as coffee and tea, but have none of the injurious effects upon the nervous system which are for many people the great drawback to these drinks.

Business is sure to be "rotten" if you let some other section of the country do the work that can be done just as well in your own. What else do you expect?

MOTHER WAS IN.
 Little Bobby was told to sweep the sidewalk, and while he was doing so a friend came along.
 "Hello, Bobby," said the lady.
 "Is your mother in?"
 "Sure, she's in," answered Bobby.
 "Do you think I'd be sweeping the sidewalk if she wasn't?"

Everywhere women are coping with the same difficulty—the securing of domestic help.

A Gurney-Oxford with its wonderful devices for the saving of time and labor enables you to be independent, if from necessity or choice you are without a servant.

The Divided Flue distributes the heat evenly throughout the oven, and by means of the Economizer the temperature is determined, kept constant, or changed as desired. It is easily controlled by a little lever working around six notches.

Dough and batter-mixtures will always be light, thoroughly cooked, and nicely browned.

This stove saves you the dreaded black leading process for it has an unchanging polished top.

If you must do your own work you owe it to yourself and to your family to spend less time in the kitchen.

No woman need be a drudge with a Gurney-Oxford range.

Non-Militants Invade London.

"Peaceful Appeal To Reason"

Over on this side of the water we have heard so much about the militancy of the Englishwoman who believes in suffrage that we have come to regard them as wholesale destructionists and not understanding the Englishman as well as they do, we have never known just how they expect to accomplish results via the smashing route.

We were more intimately acquainted with Carrie Nation, the original woman smasher, who, with her little hatchet mowed down saloons after saloons like a western cyclone. We fail, however, to remember that she ever really accomplished any practical results.

Now comes the above picture from London which goes to show that all English suffragists are not necessarily "smashers." Hundreds of members of the suffrage cause who do not believe in militancy invaded London from all points and held a large demonstration in Hyde Park.

This picture shows some of the non-militants just as they arrived in London headed by one of their number on horseback. We will await with interest the result of this peaceful demonstration or the "Appeal to Reason."

Peachland Notes.

Miss Leone Morrison and Miss May Henderson were visitors in Kelowna on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cutbill are rejoicing over the advent of a little girl, who arrived on Saturday.

Seven automobiles loaded with Indian Commissioners and their luggage passed through town on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. A. Lang returned from the Coast on Sunday's boat. Her usual success in exhibitions attended her there also.

Miss Nash, sister of Mr. Percy Nash, returned from Lumby on Friday, where she was staying for a week or two with the doctor.

Rev. J. F. Miller, of Penticton and Rev. C. H. Daly, of Summerland were in town on Monday on business in connection with the Presbyterian Church.

The Free Masons gave Mr. A. Chilton a send-off supper on Friday night. Mr. Chilton and Mr. Gordon McDougald both left for Vancouver on Sunday morning, where they had orders from the Northern Crown Bank to report.

The Women's Institute will meet on the second Tuesday of the month instead of the first Tuesday, as stated in last week's notes. The first inconvenienced so many of the members that it was thought advisable to make the change.

Mrs. John Gummow, one of the successful pioneer peach growers, left for her old home in Agersville, Ontario. It is twenty-one years since her last visit, so she will likely see a great deal of change, if not in the place, in the people. We wish that she may enjoy every moment of her well-earned holiday. Miss Gertrude Gummow, of Penticton, came up on Saturday to wish her mother a pleasant journey and to say goodbye.

What came near to being a serious accident, but which happily turned out not so badly, occurred on Monday evening, when Mr. F. Topham was leaving for home with his rig piled up with orchard boxes on which were seated his little boy and Mr. Chas. VanSoymortier. His horse being cold, we suppose, went round the corner pretty lively, causing some of the boxes and the live freight to tumble to the ground. Both were considerably shaken up and bruised, but Mr. Buchanan, who was called in could find no broken bones. They are able to go around again although stiff and sore from the fall.

"JANE."

Saturday evening, October 11th, Mr. Richard M. Custance will present for the first time in Summerland Messrs. Burch and Foster's all English Company in Harry Nicholls and W. Lestock's phenomenal successful farce entitled "Jane," the title role being played by Miss Aileen Macdonald from the Shaftesbury Theatre, London, who comes to British Columbia with a big reputation as a clever and dainty comedy actress. This is Miss Macdonald's first tour through B.C., and she has met with a great reception all along the line. Mr. Richard M. Custance who presents the company, in an interview in Vancouver said he was convinced the residents in the various towns in British Columbia do not have sufficient opportunity afforded them of witnessing really good English plays and farces, played by English artists of ability and repute, and that given that opportunity they would gladly avail themselves of it. He had entered into arrangements with Messrs. Burch and Foster to present their company from time to time, and the present tour is the result. The company is a clever and capable one. Mr. Custance will play "Charles Shackleton," and he and Miss Macdonald will be supported by many well-known English players, including Miss Grace Guthrie-Firth, lately of Oscar Asche and Lily Brayton's "Kismet" Co. Mr. Percy Settle of the Bandmann Opera Co., Mr. Bob Arthur of the Irish plays, Miss Elise Morison, Miss Kathleen Beresford, etc. "Jane" was played for over 300 nights at the Comedy Theatre, London, and at the present time is being toured by the author in the English provinces. It abounds with intensely humorous situations and sparkling wit, and is a laughter maker from start to finish. The visit of the company will be limited to one performance only, which should on no account be missed. Seats may be secured at the Drug Store.

STORING GREEN TOMATOES.

Just as soon as the average date of the first killing frost approaches, gather all the green tomatoes, big and little, and sort them over, putting the fairest and largest in one lot, and the smaller and inferior ones in another. Put a large crumpled newspaper in the bottom of a clean wooden box (a cracker box is best, because it has no resinous odors, such as a pine box gives out, that may be imparted to the fruit); place a layer of the large tomatoes upon the paper, leaving a space of say an inch between; then put on another layer of crumpled newspaper, pressing it down carefully into the interstices and around the edges, so the tomatoes may be kept from contact and from the air, and so on, layer upon layer with crumpled newspapers between until the box is full; tack a cover on, so that mice may not attack them, and set the boxes in some dry, cool place, such as a fruit or root cellar.

If they are kept thus at a cool and even temperature, somewhat above freezing, the time of their ripening may be delayed until or beyond New Year. It will, of course, be found necessary to examine them from time to time, to remove ripe or decaying fruit. To wrap each one separately in a piece of paper makes the examination more difficult, as each tomato has to be unwrapped to ascertain its condition.

The larger ripened fruit should bring a good price in market in mid-winter. They should be wrapped separately, or two together, not touching each other, neatly, in square pieces of clean, unprinted newspaper, and packed in boxes or crates. Put the fruit in on edge. The contrast in color of the brilliant red of the fruit with the white paper, when this is partially removed, will be found very pleasing and attractive.

VIOLATION OF SEED CONTROL ACT.

A case of general interest to farmers and others throughout British Columbia was recently brought under this Act, when the Sylvester Feed Company of Victoria was convicted of selling cabbage seed of low vitality, without indicating the percentage of germination of the same. Under section 10 of the Dominion Seed Control Act all farm and vegetable seeds which germinate lower than two-thirds the standard vitality of good seed for that particular variety, must be labelled with the percentage of germination.

It is the intention of the Dominion Department of Agriculture to strictly enforce all the provisions of the Seed Control Act of 1911, and anyone handling seeds should see to it that their seed complies with this Act. The Dominion Seed Laboratory at Calgary, Alberta, is at the service of anyone desirous of having seed tested, either for vitality or weed seeds. Copies of the Act, and information as to the same may also be obtained from the same address.

FRUIT PACKING SCHOOLS.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture, through its Horticultural Branch, will continue this year its policy of conducting practical Schools of Instruction in Fruit Packing throughout the fruit districts of the province. The work begun four years ago in a small way has been very much extended each year to meet the requirements. The results in the improvements of the fruit packing methods throughout the province have been very gratifying, and amply justify the continuation of the work. At the present time over 80 per cent of the fruit packed commercially and for fruit exhibits in this province is packed by pupils of Government Packing Schools.

Government Has Big Plans For Water.

Policy of Province is Explained to Council by Mr. Wm. Young, Water Branch, Dept. of Lands.

Storage, Distribution and Duty of Water to be Made Equitable to All.

Board Pleased With Water Plans.

The Municipal Council held a long session on Tuesday. All the morning, up to one o'clock the Council was occupied in listening to the requests and petitions of a number of citizens.

A DANGEROUS ROAD.

The first to come before the Council was Mr. J. L. Hilborn, who asked permission to take some gravel from the hillside at a turn in the road near his property. He believed its removal would be advantageous to the road, and he would not leave an unsightly hole. The matter was left to be arranged between Mr. Hilborn and the Superintendent.

Mr. Hilborn also complained of a short turn in the road at the foot of the hill coming from Jones Flat, and instanced a number of cases where loaded teams were unable to make the turn, which he pronounced dangerous and inconvenient. He asked that a retaining wall be built and the road widened, or better still that the road be extended across Mr. Graham's lot. This latter course was preferred by Mr. Logie and other residents of Jones Flat, and both Messrs. Hilborn and Logie offered to help remunerate Mr. Graham for any land taken for road purposes, as they did not believe he should be expected to furnish the land without at least partial remuneration. It was suggested by a member of the Council that residents of that neighborhood arrange for the right-of-way, upon procurement of which the Council would build the road.

FIRE PRECAUTIONS AND BUILDING RESTRICTIONS.

T. B. Young asked that a fire brigade be organized, and that the Council enforce a building restriction to cover the West Summerland townsite. In reply to the first he was told that this was up to the citizens, as a brigade must be wholly a voluntary one; the municipality has furnished the apparatus.

With reference to the building of shacks, Coun. Dunsdon thought this should have been guarded against by the man who sold the land. While it was generally believed by members of the Council that restrictions with reference to fire proof buildings might be enacted, there was some doubt if any legislation that required buildings to cost not less than a certain figure, and that they be placed at a fixed distance from the street, would be popular.

WATER MATTERS.

Messrs. Carefoot, James, Fosbery and Rivington each applied for water.

Mr. Carefoot renewed his application, and later in the day the chairman of the Board of Works stated that if the cost were not too great the water should be furnished him.

Some provision will be made to supply Mr. Rivington.

Mr. James wished the ditch service to be continued for some time, so that he might not be compelled to draw water.

Mr. Fosbery wanted domestic water, and a better irrigation service for his lot above Crescent Beach. Lack of funds with which to do such work prevented the Council from making any definite promise.

A good part of the morning was occupied with a general discussion of the water question with Mr. William Young, of the Water Branch, Department of Lands. Mr. Young's explanation threw a great deal of light on the policy of the Provincial Government with reference to the administration of water.

Mr. Young has found the work of organization a bigger undertaking than he anticipated, but it was very evident from his remarks that order and system is being brought about. Not only must he organize, but there must also be administration, and a preparation of the necessary machinery for administration. With reference to the latter, districts are being created and district engineers appointed.

He had deemed it wise not to go too fast with reference to the Okanagan, the most important water section of the province. At first he thought of making it one district, but now concluded to divide it into two. For the southern half Penticton will be the centre, and an office has been opened there. A staff of engineers are now on the ground gathering data. He hopes this will soon be completed, and expects next year to take up seepage, duty of water, policing, etc. Organization is now so far advanced that complaints of abuse of privileges can be made and an equitable distribution of water assured. It frequently occurs that a certain parcel of land will have a record for so many inches and cannot use probably more than half. This will be remedied so that other land can be supplied.

The bill with reference to irrigation which had recently been put through the Legislature was found to have a number of unworkable clauses, and was not made law. The thorough investigation which the government has been conducting will put them in position to make the law practicable.

CONSERVING WATER.

Mr. Young's description of the work already accomplished was greatly to the satisfaction of every member of the board, some of whom at least seemed to have had a very different impression of the aim and work of the Government along this line. Conservation of water will be an important work of the new organization. Judging from the remarks made by Mr. Young it would seem probable that the Government will stand ready to give financial assistance to farmers' associations or municipalities wishing to establish or extend water systems. While he does not believe in Government operation Mr. Young does believe in Government conservation. There are great preserves around this lake, and next year he purposes determining how many sites there are suitable for storage, and will ascertain their location. In fact a thorough topographical survey will be made.

Coun. Robinson pointed out a local condition which he claimed unfair to the Municipality. The Municipality had built and is maintaining and operating storage dams outside of its limits, and has priority records on Trout Creek. Nearly all the year there is sufficient water for both the Municipality and land adjacent to Trout Creek outside of the Municipality. But there is a time when the Municipality must depend wholly on its stored water, and it seems unfair that at that time landowners between the dams and the organized district should be permitted to use this water, and often indiscriminately. Mr. Young said that already provision had been made for policing, and if such privilege was abused next year a man would be put on to make matters right.

ADJUSTMENT OF WATER RECORDS.

The Reeve wanted the water records adjusted. This has been pending a long time. Mr. Young replied that an immense amount of work was being done along this line, and that at any time the Municipality might expect to have its papers completed. Laws regulating the irrigation water, domestic water, and power will be enacted, and while a common main may be used separate records must be kept at the distributing end. He pointed out that the Government had had great difficulty in getting experienced men, men who had worked with and under irrigation laws. However, during the last year or two, men of wide experience had been brought in, and copies of the laws of all countries relating to water had been gathered, and with the interests of the people in view the Provincial Government is trying to make conservation and distribution of water a business proposition. The Government proposes putting a rate on water used, probably five cents per acre foot. In organized districts the province will collect direct from the user. The matter of distributing companies is a difficult problem, but this and other questions will be brought to an equitable solution. Mr. Young then retired, going from here to Peachland the same afternoon.

Mr. A. E. Hespeler again visited the Council to ascertain their proposals with reference to the road through his Prairie Valley lot No. 41. The filed plan does not show any road allowance, and it would seem that an error on the part of someone had been made. The Council were unanimous in declaring that compensation should be made to any persons, a portion of whose land is appropriated for road purposes. Upon the proposal of Coun. Robinson a valuation committee will be appointed by the Reeve to settle this and other disputes with reference to road allowances.

At 12.40 the minutes of the previous meeting were read, as were also communications. As it was then after one o'clock, the Council rose for lunch, re-assembling shortly after two.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Mr. E. B. May wrote thanking the Council for the improvements to the road leading to his home, and calling the attention of the board to a leaky pipe on that road which should be repaired and lowered before cold weather.

Mr. Hamilton Lang in a communication suggested the strengthening of the rail at the side of the turn on the switchback hill.

Mr. R. Van Allen complained of seepage from the south main, and urged that immediate steps be taken to stop the flow of water which was doing much damage. In answer to this Chairman Lewes declared that Council Sits All Day Tuesday.

It would be necessary to regrade all of that main, and that at least parts of it be cement lined.

Robert Hill of Glasgow asked for further information with reference to bonds.

Complaint of the meagre supply of water on his lot on Jones Flat was made by Rev. J. M. Harrison. C. Meredith & Co. Ltd., Montreal, bond brokers, inquired for some statistics chiefly regarding population.

Solicitor Kelley upon request submitted an opinion with reference to the slaughter house, and the powers of the Council to regulate same. While it was realized that before acquiring the property for such purpose permission should have been obtained from the Council, the board were not disposed to inconvenience Mr. Woodworth any more than necessary, and believing that he would do all in his power to make things satisfactory, the matter will again be taken up with him before any other measure to abate the nuisance complained of with reference to the burning of refuse is undertaken.

Mr. H. Sutherland asked permission to remove some dead trees standing in the park. This will be dealt with by Supt. Mitchell.

Mr. James Gartrell submitted a written offer to grant land on which to build an easier grade from Trout Creek flat to the bench above. The Clerk was instructed to accept the offer, expressing the thanks of the Board.

There were three applications for electric light. Coun. Lewes recommended that these be granted, provided there was no other expense than providing the meter. He reported that due to the general adoption of tungsten lamps there was more current available than formerly.

In a letter from Penticton G. R. Raincock denied all responsibility for water and light bill for the past year, charged against his Peach Orchard property, claiming that he had ordered the water disconnected, and had not asked for electric light. A letter written some months ago was produced by the clerk in which letter Mr. Raincock made formal application for electric light connection as soon as a line was put past the property.

During the morning Messrs. Mellor, Andrew and Hogg presented a formal application for franchise for the Summerland Telephone Company. This came up for discussion during the afternoon, and while the members were unanimously in favor of granting the franchise, several of the board urged the necessity of a very thorough and

Thoroughbreds Arrive

Holstein Bull Greatly Admired.

Some very fine animals have just been imported by the Purebred Livestock Association, and are being generally admired. These latest additions to the farm stock of our community, and which arrived last Saturday are an Holstein Bull of dairy strain, a Duroc Jersey boar, and a Berkshire boar. All are of the purest blood, and their offspring are expected to be greatly superior to the average animals now found here.

The Holstein, which was purchased only after a careful search for the very best by Dr. Toimie of the Dominion Livestock Branch of the Department of Agriculture, is pronounced a handsome animal, though yet under two years old, and is bred "up in the purple." His dam gave 2875 lbs. of milk in 30 days, by government test, testing over 3 per cent butter fat.

The bull and Duroc are now at the Dairy Ranch, and the Berkshire is in the charge of H. C. Mellor, but both the Holstein and Berkshire will be kept on the farm of Coun. Thos. Dale. These animals are the sole property of the Stock Association, and only for the use of its members.

A Patriotic Anniversary.

Trafalgar Day In The Old Country.

There are few more popular patriotic anniversaries in the Old Country than October 21, Trafalgar Day, on which faithfully year by year tribute is paid in London to the undying memory of the great "little admiral." From his towering column in Trafalgar Square the bronze hero of Trafalgar surveys a bigger crowd, a more imposing mass of laurels and floral tributes each anniversary, for Nelson Day has grown to be an opportunity for Imperialists to show their colors. Right out against the skyline, above the admiral's cocked hat, waves on October 21st a fluttering string of tiny flags spelling the immortal signal, "England expects that every man this day shall do his duty." Annually, that message of a call to duty never fails to stir a thrill of patriotic emotion in the hearts of every loyal British man and woman reading it. On Tuesday next the base of the Trafalgar column will be gay with costly masses of flowers and the wreaths sent by the Navy League and the United Service League are always most noticeable. Every patriotic organization in the kingdom sends its tribute, and each bears an appropriate legend. A great crowd surges all day in and out the square, and the scene is a significant and interesting one for all Overseas visitors, of whom there are many in London at this time of year. Hawkers selling copies of the 'Times' issue containing such news of the great victory as journalistic enterprise of those days could afford, at 5c. a piece, are quite a feature of the day, and these odd little sheets always have a good market as souvenirs. Many fathers and mothers make a point of bringing their children to see the decorated column and read to them the signal of the fluttering bunting. October 21st ought to be a day binding all Britishers the world over together with the links of Imperial patriotism — "England expects" — and may she never expect in vain.

Canada's Brilliant Prospects.

Striking Speech By Premier Of British Columbia.

All Canada discusses the recent remarkable speech made by the British Columbian Premier, Sir Richard McBride, at the Carlton Club in London. His significant remarks made a profound impression on a gathering consisting of leading financiers, bankers, and business men of England's capital, who gathered together with several well-known members of parliament, including Mr. T. P. O'Connor. Cheers greeted his prophecy of the prosperity ahead of British Columbia with the opening of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific through to the Coast next year, and also that of the Kettle Valley line of the C.P.R. Sir Richard's speech lasted half an hour, and the Premier's declaration of his belief that the population of Canada would be twenty millions within ten years, repeating the history of the United States, was received enthusiastically by this gathering of prominent and influential Englishmen.

"We occupy in the United States a much higher and stronger position than ever before," he said. "We have been able to demonstrate that, as Canadians, we can stand on our own feet and run our own concern."

"There has been, I believe, what is called a quiet season in the money markets of the world. We live thousands of miles away, but we always move sympathetically. In a small measure we appreciate what a quiet season means. But, notwithstanding, the work of development in Canada is proceeding stronger than ever. Three thousand miles of railway are under construction in British Columbia, costing $175,000,000."

Regarding the trade of Canada Sir Richard said it was interesting to consider whether there could not be a better adjustment of things. While 40 per cent. of Canada's exports came to England, only 20 per cent. of Canada's imports came from the Mother Country.

Sir Richard regretted that his countrymen had been obliged to cancel their contribution to the Imperial Navy, but he believed the battleships promised would, in the near future, be forthcoming from the Canadian Government.

Summerland and West Summerland

Phone No. 34 and - Blue 3

From London to the Okanagan.

VII.—By L. V. MILLS.

There are two ways of travelling. One is to be a world traveller, and to plan your peregrinations on the "do Europe in a week and the British Isles over a week-end" manner, and the other is to choose some favored corner of this beautiful earth, and for an allotted time make your home in it, new friends in it, and its interests yours. The first method of travelling is that of the social butterfly, or the one who has the "wander-drop" burning feverishly in his veins. "Wander-lust" as our German cousins call it, is something to suffer from and to find a cure for, and is rather on a par with that process known as "sowing wild oats." It does not tend for world service, though it may cram your mind with assorted knowledge. I do not think the call of the West carries Wander-lust with it, unless it is to explore and know better, the wonderful and glorious territory that lies all round you. There is not a month passing now in the Old Country but the Call of the West comes to some hundreds of the men and women who have had their homes for a long while within the magic bounds of the Beautiful Island. When that call rings in their ears, without a moment's hesitation, they break all the bonds that have fettered them, say goodbye (or is it Auf Wiedersehen?) lightheartedly to friends and familiar surroundings, pack their household goods and all their most cherished treasures and away to the West. There is no doubt about anything when you hear "the West a'calling"; the note never rings falsely, it is never a mistaken call, and the message seldom gets transmitted "on the wrong line." The true call to the right men and women is something which distributes humanity over all this great earth, ameliorates the cramping conditions that injure so many of us in crowded cities, and sets free many who for years have beaten their wings in vain in some small prisoning cage. Something in the call of the West plays a splendid game with men and women; re-adjusts all these round personalities that have been uncomfortably set in square holes and vice-versa. With the radiant air and splendid winds it heals many a heartache, and brings peace of mind and restored health of body to many others.

The Happy Valley population is being recruited day after day with these who have heard the call and recognizing it, have responded with out hesitation. The peace of the Happy Valley is disturbed when a sufferer from "Wanderlust" has come hastening through it, and flinging cursory glances hither and thither, and gleaming casual impressions here and there in his flight announces himself as an authority and gives forth his uninformed opinion to the world. We have heard the voice of a butterfly traveller recently and we resent his criticisms of the Okanagan, those of us who are "citizens of no mean land," and those who are here in answer to the call of the West, alike.

At this moment when the golden and crimson burden of fruit of the apple harvest is bending down the trees in the Valley orchards, and where boxes of ruddy fruit are being dispatched as Christmas presents to the folks at home, the Happy Valley celebrates with all the rest of the Last-Best-West Thanksgiving Holiday.

With much rejoicing, great preparations are going forward for public feasts and feasts by the fireside. The pleasant bustle of preparation seems to be fussing all around me, and here is provided another new and delightful experience in my harvest of contrast gathering. There is a wonderful atmosphere of home out in the West, that home of the dear old comfortable days when the hearthside was cosier and far more preferable to the hotel and restaurant. In the Old Country we are fast losing that beautiful old ideal of the "ain fireside," and "Home Sweet Home" is considered by moderns a rather foolishly sentimental and ridiculous old ballad. To hear the true melody of "Home Sweet Home" one has to answer the call of the West, come well out into the great open land of promise and think awhile of contrasts and things—the Old Country is still "home" to many who are now for good and aye people of this country of the future, but the ideal of the hearthside has been transferred with us. Those who are "tenderfoots" and those who are "old timers" alike in the Happy Valley are full of the spirit of the true colonist. A great and beautiful territory is spread out before their wondering eyes—it is theirs to do the best with, a splendid gift, a life opportunity. The Thanksgiving of those who have made the West home is the Thanksgivings of men and women for a future given in exchange for a settled monotony of outlook—this is the spirit of the West as it broods over the Happy Valley.

Naramata Unity Club.

Pretty Dance At Hotel.

A very pretty little affair indeed was the dance given by the Unity Club in the Hotel Naramata last Friday night. Most of the members of the Club and a great many friends were present; and the program was a long and delightful one. The dance was held in the great dining room which was thrown open for the occasion and most charmingly decorated with flowers and palms. The rotunda and tea room were used for "sitting out" rooms and were most beautifully arranged for the purpose. Tall palms, autumn flowers and foliage and Chinese lanterns turned both into a veritable fairy land, and it was generally admitted that seldom has there been a prettier scene at this picturesque Hotel. One or two of the last new dances for the season were successfully introduced into the program to the entire satisfaction of the dancers who declared the floor all that could be desired for the purpose. Some very dainty gowns were worn by the ladies present, and the choice of white, pale pink and pale blue by many added considerably to the bright color effect of the scene when the dancing was at its height. Several dancers from Summerland were among the guests, including the Misses Bona and Grace Logie, but the majority of those present were Naramata folk. It is being planned that dances of a similar description will be given at the Hotel frequently during the coming winter, and though it is not yet actually decided it is probable that the Unity Club will give one once a month, and Summerland and Naramata guests united hold another also once a month, so that there will thus be a dance every fortnight.

Local Baseball Triumph.

$50 Prize Carried Off.

Our local baseball team are to be congratulated on their victory at the match arranged in connection with the Penticton Fall Fair. A prize of $50 was offered by the Penticton Turf Club, and a very fine game was witnessed by a big crowd of spectators in the Fair Grounds last Saturday. Our team was in excellent condition, and some capital play was shown by them. The Penticton team is a strong one, and there was a spirited struggle for victory. Summerland however won by the score 5-3, and are in proud possession of the $50 prize.

REV. A. T. ROBINSON RESIGNS PASTORATE.

Rev. A. T. Robinson has resigned the pastorate of the First Baptist Church in Santa Monica, and with Mrs. Robinson, also a gifted speaker, will take the lecture platform under the auspices of the Los Angeles County Sunday School Association.

A farewell reception for Rev. and Mrs. Robinson was held at the church.

Explaining to his people why he felt impelled to sever his relations with them Mr. Robinson said, "I feel that I have a message to deliver, a message of value to parents and teachers, in discussing with them why it is that so many people fall down on their financial obligations despite their religious professions. It is estimated by dependable authority that about 60 per cent. of all teaching and preaching is now lost because of the missing link in moral education."

FRIDAY, OCT. 17, 1913.

OUR WANTON WASTE.

This article is written with an endeavor to draw the attention of the people of Summerland to the immense sums of actual cash that go out, we might say, are drained out, of Summerland, for articles of everyday use that might just as well be produced here, and thereby not only stop this drain, but at the same time find means of comfortable livelihood for many more families.

It would mean that this money would circulate in our midst instead of disappearing altogether.

The first and we think the foremost that should be mentioned is butter—for which we send out of here, the large sum of $15,000 fifteen thousand dollars) per annum. Surely there are stretches of country surrounding Summerland that are well adapted to the raising of dairy products, not to say anything of the individual cow in the orchards. Such a sum as $15,000 is something well worth picking up, and it is extraordinary that we should be letting this slip through our fingers.

Another big purchase is case eggs. For this we find $1,700 or more goes out of the place. Anyone going into poultry scientifically, as it is done on Vancouver Island, should find a very nice living in this line. He could probably export after supplying the local demand for eggs. The additional to be made from poultry, which should be very considerable, should at once make any man, so inclined, decide that there must be a good living, not only for him but for others as well in this line. It is without doubt a good all-the-year revenue producer for the orchardist. There is little doubt a scheme of economical cold storage could be arrived at for case eggs, for which in a few months there would be a large export demand.

Canned milk, we presume, there will always be some demand for, no matter how well a community is supplied with the fresh article, but we do not think that $4,000 should go out of this district for this article each year.

It has been called to the attention of the writer that hams and bacon might just as well be produced locally, and of this there is no doubt. This would mean the retaining in the district of no less a sum than $10,000 per annum.

Hay has always been a great drain on the resources of the people here, and to some extent it will remain so, but the orchard man is apparently getting on to the idea that he can economize by producing at least a portion of his feed, which will undoubtedly be the means of cutting into the $10,000 or more that we send out for this article.

At one time there were plenty of fine cattle in the Okanagan Valley but the prairies appear to be getting a heap of our money now for this staple article of our food. The writer would hardly be prepared just now, to venture a calculation of the sums of money that go out of Summerland for cattle. There must be many a man the poorer round here by not turning his attention to the raising of a few head of cattle, and it is the small bunches that make up the large totals, while in the matter of pigs, we are sure that every orchard man would actually benefit by the keeping of two to four of them, even if it were for no other reason than to eat up the windfalls. This would be the means of raising probably sufficient pigs to eliminate all importations of them, and go a long way toward supplying a packing house, where hams, bacon, and other pork products might be manufactured. Why should our turkeys, at Christmas and Thanksgiving time, have to be brought in from perhaps the next place to us, or worse still, the prairies and Ontario which is beyond even the Valley? Our dry climate surely should make this the best place possible for that industry, and we should be exporting turkeys not sending out our cold cash to bring them in.

Of course it may be argued that we are in the fruit industry and not general farmers, and that our exports of fruit go against our imports of all other commodities in the ordinary exchange of trade, but we are not yet receiving full and adequate returns for our exports. Therefore, and until we do, economy should be studied so far as to eliminate all articles of import that might be made auxiliary lines of industry, in and around the community, and there will even then be left plenty of lines that we will have to import and that will go to make up the natural exchange in trade.

It will also be said that this is not a dairying country, but we venture to contend that there are districts surrounding us that are particularly well adapted to this industry, and within convenient distance too. A great deal of this land is held for fruit land which is even better adapted to intensive farming, being highly suitable for that purpose, where we believe dairying would prove more lucrative than fruit growing.

With only the partial list that we have given of articles that could be as economically produced here as elsewhere, which, if a figure were put on lard and other pork products not valuated, (and altogether excluding beef and food), it will be seen that we are sending fully $50,000 away annually that should be kept in our own pockets. This is a matter for most serious consideration and should not be lost sight of until the appalling evil is remedied.

If any of our readers would be interested in the actual figures in cattle, taking local consumption only (as railway construction is only a temporary matter, and of course upsets present figures), Mr. E. B. May, of whom we are deeply indebted for the statistics and other information given here, has kindly offered to compile them.

COUNCIL MEETING

careful agreement being entered into. The application for franchise, also carried with it a request for permission to use municipal poles wherever possible. The Clerk was instructed to refer the matter to solicitor Kelley.

Engineer Latimer submitted a report of his examination of the flumes, ditches, etc., built by the K.V.R., on their right-of-way. His report fully confirmed that of the Superintendent, that the structural work was very flimsy and frail, and altogether unsatisfactory. Mr. Latimer stated that it was necessary from the point of view of both the railway and the Municipality that these conduits be made good. He also reported on the putting in of a pipe between Trout Creek and the reservoir, advising that an 8 inch pipe be used. There is a fall of little over 8 feet in the distance—nearly a mile. By going up the creek 1100 feet more an additional head of 8 feet can be had.

Before the slaughter house question was finally disposed of at the afternoon sitting it was shown that as a complaint of a nuisance had been made the Council had no alternative but to have the nuisance abated, and that such complaints could not be disregarded. The clerk was instructed to write Mr. Woodworth.

A formal motion was passed by the Council extending the date of granting rebates on rates and taxes to October 31st, provided all rates are paid in full.

URGENT NEED OF FUNDS.

Chairman Robinson of the Finance Committee, who had a statement of the financial situation of the Council, urged that expenses be reduced, and pointed out the necessity of raising a considerable sum of money between now and the end of the year. There is a large sum of money due the Municipality for irrigation rates, and a considerable amount for domestic water and electric light. With reference to the latter Coun. Lewes believed it would be necessary to enforce a rule to cut off water and light if each quarter's bill was not paid in reasonable time. A number of citizens owe for two or three years irrigation water, and a number of them were well able to pay. The Reeve pointed out the necessity of collecting long outstanding accounts, and it was reluctantly decided to take drastic measures if necessary to enforce payment. A motion was passed instructing the collector to collect under distraint if necessary all irrigation, domestic water, and electric light rates in arrears.

Coun. Robinson urged that all work be stopped until money comes in, as it cannot well be carried on without money. Chairman Lewes on the other hand said that the money must be gotten. Many things are constantly coming up and needing immediate attention, and the work cannot be shut down. Mr. Robinson's reply was that he could see no reason why expensive men need be kept for the amount of work that is to be done.

"If anybody wants to run the Public Works Department without a Superintendent let him try it," was Coun. Lewes' reply. "I will not do it." He thought the Finance Committee should go ahead and sue those who would not pay their rates. Coun. Dale said the Council must always be ready for emergencies, and there was plenty of work with which to keep busy.

A new trade license by-law prepared by Solicitor Kelley was given its first, second and third reading. This by-law provides for a nominal charge of $1 for each six months for local tradesmen. A $5 fee for agents and a $50 fee for peddlars, hawkers, etc.

DEBENTURES DEALT WITH.

The question of the latest issue of debentures was again brought up by Coun. Robinson, and he urged that the issue be cancelled with the exception of the $7000 re-purchased with sinking fund and $3000 to be held for emergency. This brought out a general discussion and propositions to amend the by-law, changing the date of the present debentures and also increasing the rate of interest. Another suggestion was to cancel all except $50,000 for irrigation. But as the program for public work improvement and extensions have been materially altered since these debentures were authorized, and it was shown that it was absolutely impossible to meet sinking fund which must be provided against these bonds. It was finally decided by unanimous motion to cancel the domestic water bonds except $5000, and the irrigation except $5000, and the electric light with the exception of $3000. $3000 of each of the two first and $2000 of the electric light have already been purchased by the sinking fund account. This leaves $2000 for domestic water, $2000 for irrigation, and $1000 for electric light yet in the treasury. The Council adjourned at five o'clock.

Lack of space compels the holding over of the municipal accounts passed for payment, until next week.

SUMMERLAND FRUIT AGAIN.

Receives Gold Medal.

C. J. Thomson on Monday night received a gold medal won at the Dominion Exhibition at Brandon for the best collection of early fruits. The receipt of the medal was a surprise to him, as in some way he had not been advised of the success of his exhibit. Were more of our citizens to make a feature of exhibiting at the various shows more honors would be won, as everywhere our fruit is shown it invariably leads.

Mrs. George Anderson returned on Saturday last from a most enjoyable fortnight spent with friends at Kelowna.

Presbyterian services will be held in St. Andrew's Church next Sunday morning and in the Methodist Church in the evening. Mr. Daly will conduct both services.

The week-end habit has grown to affect a number of the younger members of our community. Mr. Jack Craig was again a visitor to Penticton last week-end. We hear "but enough said!"

The illness of her sister, Mrs. Vernon, called Mrs. Downton away to Kelowna in haste early in the week. We are very glad to hear that Mrs. Vernon is better, and that Mrs. Downton was able to return to town.

More of "our boys" should have turned up at the meeting called for last Monday for the Basketball Club, but it was a busy evening "otherwheres" apparently. However, those present got to business quickly, and though no actual club organization was arranged, practice was called forthwith, and a strong team is ready. Some good games are hoped for later.

The latest arrivals from the Old Country are Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hall from Richmond, London, who landed here on Tuesday night after a fairly rough crossing of the Atlantic on the Empress of Ireland. Mr. and Mrs. Hall are at present with Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Watson, and have taken possession of the Fulton lot at Crescent Beach, which they have purchased, and where they intend to build and settle at once. Mr. H. C. Mellor has undertaken the putting up of the new bungalow.

"The affair of the season." This is the current description of the Thanksgiving Banquet to be held in the Men's Club next Monday by invitation of Rev. R. W. and Mrs. Lee. A gorgeous spread is on the board, and to judge from rumors a very large crowd of very hungry people will be needed! Just one of the items on the menu will be fifty fowls already promised! Pumpkin pies from a famous local recipe will also deck the board. One local bachelor has publicly announced his intention of abstaining from food altogether over the week-end in order that his appetite will be able to do justice to the feast, but we do not like greedy folk! Mr. Martin Beavis is decorating the rooms with colored foliage.

Mr. Harold Rivington enjoyed his first experience of hunting in the Valley last week, and with a small party consisting of Mr. Marsden and Mr. R. W. Nelson's two younger sons had some sport back in the mountains. Mrs. Rivington drove down to Summerland on Tuesday afternoon; both are very much occupied just now with the arrangements for the building on their newly-acquired property. An error occurred in the paragraph regarding the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Rivington in the Review. Mrs. Rivington is first, not second, cousin to Mr. Herbert Asquith, Prime Minister. Mr. Rivington is the son of the well-known physician whose works are of value in every medical man's library.

A company has been formed in Denmark to manufacture two medicinal preparations from hog brains.

Passing Events: Social, Personal, &c.

Mr. O. F. Zimmerman was at Armstrong this week on business.

Supt. Mitchell has some men at work putting down the domestic water pipe on the Victoria Gardens property.

Don't stay away, then kick afterwards, if the discussion of next Thursday's meeting is not in accordance with your ideas.

The local cannery sent a carload of canned goods to Vernon last Saturday. The goods will be reloaded there into assorted cars.

A fine well-bred mare will be offered for sale at auction, subject to reserve bid, at Dale's corral, West Summerland, at 2 p.m., October 25, 1913. o17-24

Mr. Edwin Smith who installed and has been in charge of the pre-cooling plant since it began operation, left for the Coast on Tuesday. He expects to be back to the Apple Show.

Miss Eva Gowan, who arrived here a week or so ago and spent a week-end at the Hotel, came as teacher appointed for the Upper Trout Creek School. She is now busily engaged at her duties.

Miss Myrtle Conway who has been in Winnipeg for a number of months returned last Saturday. It is understood that after spending a month here with her parents she will go back to the prairie capital.

On Tuesday Messrs. C. N. Borton, Dan Williams, George Barkwill, and J. N. Merri, all members of the local Oddfellows' Lodge went up to Armstrong to attend to some society work and returned on Wednesday evening.

Activity in the way of apple packing for the "old folks at home" is going on quietly at a good many ranches this week. To judge from some beautiful samples of Wagener and Gravensteins as they are boxed in glistening red rows ready for transport, there is not much to complain of in the way of fruit quality on the orchards.

A quite considerable landslide occurred during Wednesday night at that end of Beach Avenue not far from Mr. Agur's boathouse, and the road is obstructed with the result. A great deal of material was taken from the sides of the very high bank just there a while ago to fill in the creek near Dr. Smith's, and there have been several falls of earth since. It was not a remarkably safe performance!

Men in the employ of the K.V.R. have dug a trench for a pipe to connect the water tank at the station site with the Municipal water main. It is not expected, however, that the Council will give connection until the various unsettled questions between the Municipality and the railway are satisfactorily adjusted. It is expected that everything can be arranged immediately upon President Warren's return to the Valley early next week.

The social gathering in connection with the local St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society at the Campbell Hall to-night will be a very pleasant little affair indeed. It is the first for the season, and some hundred and fifty invitations have been sent out by the President, Mr. J. G. Robertson and the secretary Mr. Alex. Smith. There should be a large response from local Scots and their lady friends and relatives. There are many natives of the happy "land o' cakes," in our neighborhood. The Caledonian Society, which has not long been started promises to grow and flourish.

The Kinema Show at the Empiro Hall is running some capital films just now. Mr. Shaw has this week acquired a new lens that considerably heightens the attractions of the pictures shown, magnifying and giving clearer action. It is very much to be regretted that the enterprising proprietor is so excellent an entertainer is not receiving more patronage and encouragement. His real and honest efforts to please, and to provide a bright and thoroughly enjoyable picture show of irrefragable taste for the people of Summerland has met with but very little reward. We might venture to point out that outsiders often come in and give performances here, and can obtain good houses. Our Kinema show is a local affair, putting local money in circulation and spending its receipts largely in our town. It deserves not only justly, but wisely, a much more substantial support.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Avar Black left on Tuesday morning for their home in Amherst, N.S.

Miss Heber-Percy will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Fetherston-haugh on their journey across the Atlantic early in November.

Mr. Simms of the Horticultural Department, who, with Mr. Dash of the same service, has been at Grand Forks, returned last night.

T. H. Boothe of Naramata, district Manager of the Manufacturer's Life Insurance Company is in town for the purpose of establishing an agency.—Princeton Star.

One of the latest electric vibrators for face and scalp massage has just been installed by F. B. Tully, Call and have your face made new.

You are reserving Thursday afternoon of next week for the big public meeting? Business: to provide for a hospital. Time: three p.m. Place: Men's Club.

Miss Dorothy Harrington, assisted by Miss Hurschmann, will contribute violin solos at the Tea Meeting and Concert in St. Andrew's Church on Monday evening, October 27th. ad

Mrs. Lloyd Jones is this week visiting her mother, Mrs. James Gartrell at Trout Creek. We are very glad to hear that Mrs. Gartrell is making a good recovery from her recent severe illness.

Mr. W. J. Robinson is going out by the boat to-morrow (Saturday) morning en route to the Coast to attend the Tenth Annual Convention of the School Trustees to be held in Victoria next week.

Mr. E. J. Rowley arrived here on Thursday night on a short visit to his father, our local jeweller and optician. Mr. Rowley, who is a citizen of Vancouver, is returning from a business trip to New York.

Rev. G. A. Wilson, M.A., of Vancouver, will conduct a Thanksgiving service on Sunday morning, October 26th, in St. Andrew's Church. Rev. Ferguson Miller, B.A., of Peniticon will conduct the evening service. There will be special music.

All sorts of merry-makings are planned for Thanksgiving Day, and it is being fervently hoped that sunshine and blue skies will be part of the day's program, as a number of celebrations will take the form of outdoor entertainment. Many of our younger folk are having a change and spending the week-end away with friends. A big crowd of Naramata folk have arranged for Monday what has been the favorite fun of the season on that side of the lake—a visit of inspection and a picnic at the railway tunnel.

A wonderful profusion of flowers is still blooming in and around Summerland. A lovely bouquet of asters, roses, and gladioli and other vivid colored summer and early fall blooms was presented to a local lady who is a great flower-lover on Thursday by some of her neighbors. A mass of bright-tinted and scented stocks may be seen in the garden of a bungalow in Beach Avenue, and Gloire de Dijon and La France roses, still retaining their mid-summer fragrance, may yet be gathered. The sunshine and brilliant skies we have enjoyed this week are worthy of the best of Valley weather, and in the radiantly clear air the gorgeous coloring of the tree foliage has an added beauty.

Dr. Evans Darby's visit to Summerland last week-end was productive of much interest in the Peace movement. As secretary of the British Peace Association Dr. Darby put before three large congregations at the West Summerland Baptist Church, at the Lakefront Baptist Church, and at the Methodist Church the cause for International Peace. His reasoning was given with a clear knowledge of his subject, and was attentively followed. At the Baptist Church on the afternoon Dr. Darby was cordially thanked for the able way in which he had stated the reasons why war should be abolished, and how the world's peace was an attainable ideal. As a result of his visit a local committee has been formed to constitute a unit of the Western Canada Peace Society, recently started in Victoria. Rev. C. H. Daly was elected president; Miss Janet Rothwell, vice-president and Prof. D. H. McIntosh, secretary.

James Ritchie was at Vernon early this week.

Dr. Sawyer occupied the pulpit of the Vernon Baptist Church last Sunday morning.

Mr. T. E. Clay is expecting to leave about the first of November on a three month's trip to England.

In view of the fact that the Summerland Fruit Union is arranging to ship a car of Christmas apples to Britain, Reeve Thomson has decided not to make up a car.

We very much miss Mr. Dunrobin from around town. He has taken up his abode for a while in Kelowna where he is very busy in a temporary position which he has accepted.

C. A. Jackson, D.D.S., of Peniticon, will be in Summerland for some days—beginning next Tuesday, and will occupy the offices formerly used by Dr. R. Mathison. adp

In addition to a number of local contractors it is expected that several from outside points will submit tenders for the construction of the new wharf. Several of the latter have been here recently.

Service will be conducted in the Methodist Church on Sunday next at 10.30 a.m. by Rev. R. W. Lee, who will give another address on the "Sermon on the Mount." The evening service will be held at West Summerland, and will be conducted by the pastor.

The social gathering held jointly by Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. members at the college on Tuesday night was very successful. A glorious moonlight night tempted a number of visitors to make the trip up to the college, walking and driving, and an excellent musical program was provided.

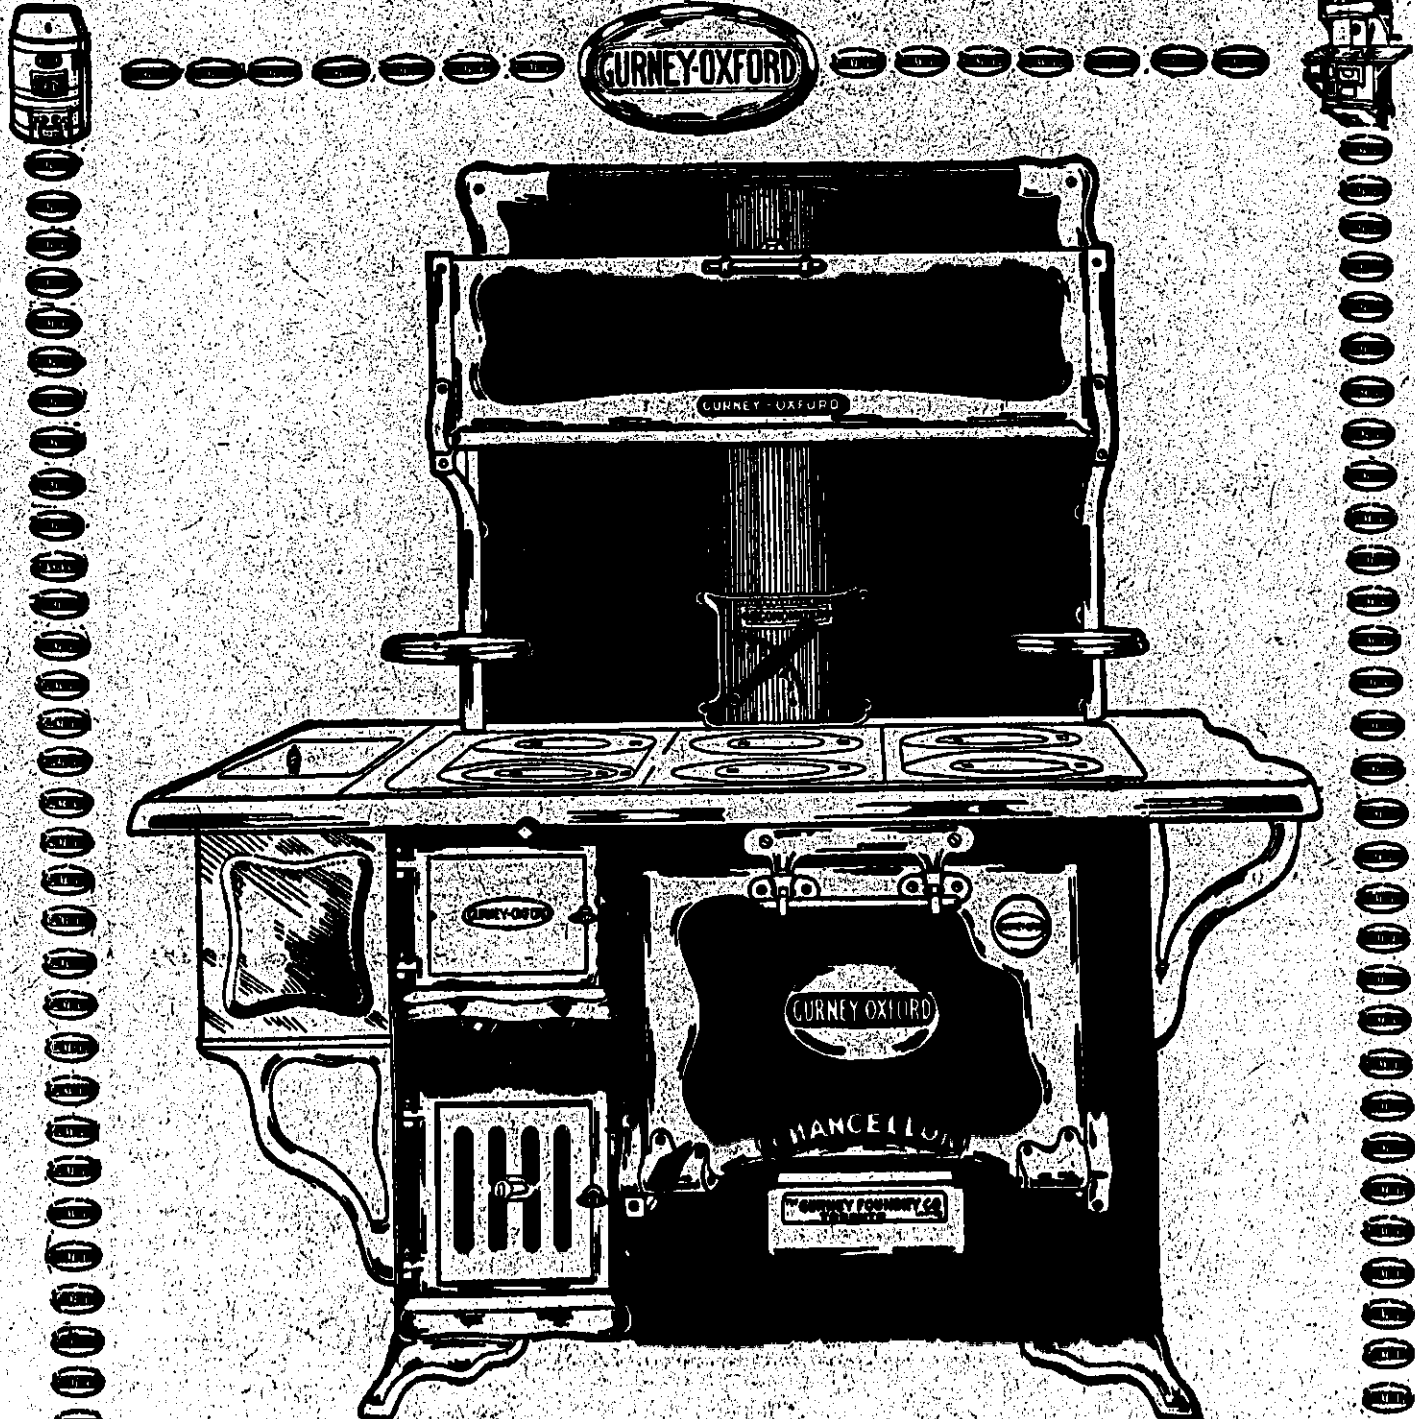

The Methodist Thanksgiving Banquet will be held on Thanksgiving Day, Monday next, Oct. 20th, at 7 p.m. A large attendance is expected. A splendid program of vocal and instrumental music has been arranged, also a number of "toasts," which will be replied to by representatives of the churches and public bodies.

Mr. J. M. Robinson, according to cable advice just received by his sons, sailed to-day (Friday) from England on his way out here. He is staying down East until the end of November, when he hopes to leave for Naramata. Mr. Robinson purposes to return to England in time to be with his family at Richmond for the Christmas festivity.

"The Siege of Lucknow" as presented at the Empire Hall on Thursday was a great success. It is a capital film, full of thrilling scenes, and a splendid lesson in history and patriotism for the boys and girls. It will be given at the matinee to-morrow afternoon. Quite a good house enjoyed it last night, with several other new pictures, which are beautifully reproduced.

A very pleasant little farewell gathering for Mrs. A. W. McLeod was given by Mrs. Hayes on Thursday afternoon. All the fellow-members of the two ladies at the Senior Bible Class of the Lakefront Baptist Church were entertained to tea at Mrs. Hayes' residence to wish God-speed to Mrs. McLeod who is leaving shortly to join her husband at Chilliwack.

Thanksgiving services are planned at both Baptist Churches this coming Sunday. It is hoped to make appropriate displays of the bounty of nature as it is seen in the rich harvest of fruit and flower. Service at the West Summerland Church will be held at the usual hour, 10.30 a.m., and in the lakefront section at the new hour of 3.30 p.m., preceded by Sunday School at 2.15. A thought of Rally Day for both Church and Sunday School will be brought into the services in this section. All will be welcomed.

Gurney-Oxford
The Aristocrat of the Kitchen

After a glimpse into the kitchens of thousands of well managed homes throughout Canada, the Gurney-Oxford Range may truly be spoken of as the "Aristocrat of the Kitchen." It is the first range to-day in Canada both in point of appearance and cooking efficiency.

A bright nickel trimming that never tarnishes, a smooth polished top that never requires black lead, this range is to woman just one beam of gratification.

But besides its handsome appearance, the Gurney-Oxford more than fulfils the purpose every range is built for—successful cooking. It contains a device called the Economizer which not only actually saves one ton of coal in every six burned in the ordinary range, but so regulates the heat in the oven that deliciously dainty cakes, golden brown biscuits, and light flaky pastry are sure results from every baking.

It is a range which elevates woman from the constant toil and labor in the kitchen to a higher level of life. Its Economizer allows her to go visiting or shopping and keeps a low fire ready for her return, when by simply turning the lever a hot fire is quickly produced.

Employ the Gurney-Oxford in your household.

The Okanagan Lake Boat Company,

Naramata, B.C. D. S. Mc, Manager. Limited

Naramata Notes.

Mr. Ireland was in Vernon last Saturday.

Mr. T. H. Boothe returned on Wednesday from a two weeks' business trip to Princeton.

The Hughes family are own comfortably settled in the R. C. Robinson house on Third Street.

Messrs. Aikins and Aveson are having cement tanks built on their fruit lots to aid in irrigation.

The production of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" played in Penticton drew a large crowd from here on Wednesday night.

Mr. J. M. Robinson sailed from England on the 16th of this month, and is expected in Naramata some time the first of next month.

The Lakeside Hotel has been closed recently, and its manager, Mr. George Nuttall now has employment at the Blair construction camp.

Mr and Mrs. Lewis Block will make a two weeks' visit in Kaleden, going on Friday of this week. Kaleden is the home of Mrs. Block's parents and brother, A. S. Hatfield.

The men who were in the local hospital are recovering from their injuries nicely. John Brandt, who was hurt in an explosion of dynamite last week has recovered and returned to the construction work.

News came down from Residency 3 that Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Watson are moving to the Bacher and Harcourt construction camp. Mr. Watson has recently been appointed tunnel inspector, and is moving to be nearer his work.

The dance given by the Unty Club last Friday night was a success in spite of the continued rain all day and evening. Though quite a number were kept at home on account of the bad weather conditions the evening was a thoroughly enjoyable one to the dancers, as well as one of profit to the Club.

The Syndica Hotel is installing a steam heating plant which the authorities report is the "last word" in efficiency and reliability. The Hotel will be comfortably heated by the last of this week. The lower floor is heated by pipes at the ceiling and the upper floor in the usual manner. Mr. Morgan of Penticton has the work and the contract price is said to be $1,700.

Another dramatic company finds excellent hotel accommodation on this side. The troupe, numbering twelve, arrived on Saturday and remained at the Syndica till Tuesday morning. They were taken to Summerland for two rehearsals and two performances which they gave there on Saturday and Monday nights. Their productions were well attended from Naramata and very much enjoyed.

At the last meeting of the Ladies' Aid it was decided to give a Chicken Pie Supper in the Church basement on Thanksgiving. But because the date conflicted with a previously planned event that is to be given by the Methodist Church of Summerland the supper is to be postponed one week, bringing it on Monday, October 27th. Rev. Lee, of Summerland, will that night give a lecture on "The Indians of British Columbia," illustrated with views, in connection with the supper.

BREVITY.

The palm for brevity in speech should be awarded to a marine who testified about the explosion of a gun on a war vessel—an explosion which had sent him to the hospital for some months.

"Please give your version of the explosion," he was asked.

"Well," he said, "I was standing beside the gun; there was an awful racket, and the doctor said, 'Sit up and take this.'—Everybodys."

Confidence in British Columbia seems to prevail in London, for during the past week municipal bonds of Vancouver to the value of $2,240,000 were purchased there as soon as put on the market. They were taken at 95 and bear interest at 4 1/2 per cent. A somewhat larger block of Vancouver bonds was taken in the same market last July.

British Columbia is setting new mining records this year. The mines of the Kootenay and Boundary districts have paid $1,600,000 in dividends so far in 1918. This is half a million more than was paid in all 1912.

A shipment of thoroughbred birds direct from Orpington, England, has just arrived at Naramata. Mr. J. Aldridge is the purchaser of the shipment, which includes a pen each of White, Buff, and Blue Orpington fowls, a pen of Buff Orpington ducks, and a pen of large geese. This is the foundation stock for a pure bred poultry plant which Mr. Aldridge is establishing in Naramata.

The new tariff law of the United States is considered to be most favorable to British Columbia, and in fact to all Canada as well. Lumber, coal, fish and wood pulp are the exports of this province chiefly affected, and all these will have a better chance in the American market. The tariff, it is thought, will stimulate trade and be of mutual benefit to both countries.

A THANKSGIVING STORY.

A story is related of a brave and resourceful little teacher, which contains a valuable hint for school teachers, who help support her mother and three younger sisters on her salary. Her mother called her up by telephone two days before Thanksgiving. "Listen," wailed the old lady, "a whole bunch of relatives is coming to Thanksgiving supper to-morrow evening. I'll have to make a whole lot of cakes and there isn't an egg in the house; the hens have stopped laying—just sheer perversity and—"

"Never mind, mother—I'll fix it," answered the young teacher cheerily. Then she turned again to her class.

"Now, children," she said, "to-morrow will be the beautiful story of Columbus and how he made the egg stand on end. Each of you will please bring an egg to school to-morrow. The class is dismissed."

THE EARLY SETTLER.

"You treat that gentleman very respectfully."

"Yes, he's one of our early settlers."

"An early settler? Why, man, he's not more than 40 years old."

"No; but he pays his bills on the first of every month."

English Comedy Company at Empire Hall.

Two Good Performances.

An excellent Comedy Company visited us over the week-end and gave two capital performances on Saturday and Monday in the Empire Hall. A fairly good house thoroughly enjoyed the acting of a well-selected and capable caste under Mr. R. M. Custance, on Saturday, though their efforts certainly deserved a larger crowd.

The merry three-act farce "Jane," by Nicholls and Lestocq, which has had a big success in the Shaftesbury Theatre, London (Eng.), was given on Saturday night, and laughter rang out from start to finish as the amazing situations of the young spendthrift deceiving his guardian were unravelling one after another.

Miss Aileen Macdonald is a bright and clever little actress, and as "Jane," took every advantage of the opportunities afforded by the part of comedy parlour maid in the dual personality of mistress and maid. Mr. Richard M. Custance held the stage throughout as the hero of extravagance, right heartily supported by Miss Macdonald. Mr. F. M. Gibson was the amiable, and afterwards irate, guardian to the life, and the Misses Elise Margson and Grace Firth interpreted the "An amorous old lady," and "Her niece," both persons essential to the plot. Mr. Settle's "Tipson," the valet, was one of the successes of the evening, and an exceedingly clever bit of acting. Praise is also due to Mr. Bob Arthur for his "Buttons," and Miss Kathleen Beresford and Mr. C. Baker filled minor parts successfully. Scenery from the Avenue Theatre, Vancouver, and charmingly pretty costumes from Peter Robinson, London, and Caldwell and Ellis, Vancouver, made a picturesque setting for the play.

But a poor house greeted the company and their efforts on Monday night. The farce "My Turn Next" was played in rollicking fashion, the principals who did so well on Saturday, admirably maintaining their reputation in this most grotesque sketch. Something was evidently wrong behind the scenes throughout the second piece, "Ici On Parle Français," it could be but inferior farce at the best, and the company who had hitherto been playing so excellently failed here in their efforts to entertain. Many of the items also on the musical interlude are to be regretted as presented to a Summerland audience; the coarseness and broadness of the humor was most unacceptable to our taste.

Great praise is due to the two accomplished dancers, Miss Grace Guthrie Firth and Mr. Fenton Gibson, late of a leading English theatre company for their dance drama, "The Apaches." It was a very fine interpretation of the description of dance.

Lower Cost Of Living.

Selling Agencies May Be Established As Result Of Ontario Government's Investigations.

As a result of the Ontario Government's investigation of co-operative plan of selling, agencies may be established in the big centres for the sale and disposal of the produce of the Ontario farmers, and thus reduce the price of living.

This scheme, it is ascertained, will insure the farmer much better prices, while it would save the consumers a very great deal.

It has been suggested by officials of the Farmers' Institute and agricultural societies that a profitable plan both to consumer and seller could be established by the government through these associations as a medium.

Vancouver, B.C., October 5.—(Special) — "British Columbia is marvellous," declared Sir Gilbert Parker after a tour of a portion of the province. "I do not think that anything that has been said about Canada equals the demonstration of the facts themselves." The distinguished writer was much impressed by the many changes noticed since a former visit over twenty years ago.

Large shipments of British Columbia fruit and vegetables were sent to Australia on the last steamer sailing from Vancouver. Sixteen carloads of choice Okanagan fruit and 800 tons of potatoes were included in the cargo.

The only building material that has not increased in price is

CANADA Portland CEMENT

It makes concrete that you can depend upon for satisfactory results, whether you use it for a sidewalk or a garden walk.

High quality and low price are made possible by efficient organization and manufacturing economies due to a large and growing demand.

Council Burns Petition.

Unusual And Commendable Action Of Board Of Valley Town.

A most remarkable story comes to us from an Okanagan town, a story that carries with it much to be regretted, and at the same time causes admiration for the courage of the men who took it upon themselves to judge the will of the majority to decide what was best for their community.

Some months ago, according to the narrator, a woman whose reputation was not the cleanest, was sent to the provincial jail at Kam-loops on a three months' sentence.
Her return was but recent. Almost immediately she began to circulate a petition which in intent asked for an "open town." How the petition was worded, or how the signatures of so many citizens were obtained is not very evident from the information at hand. But whether by deception, or with the petitioners' full knowledge of what they were asking for, a sufficient number of signatures were obtained to encourage the woman so far that she presented the document to the Council.

The petition bore the names of some of the town's most prominent citizens, greatly to the astonishment of the members of the Council. One of the signatures was that of the proprietor of the principal retail store.

It was not for some moments that the Councillors recovered from the shock of astonishment and surprise, but when they did the petition was given quick dispatch. One worthy citizen and Councillor moved that the document be burned forthwith, and he was quickly followed by a second, and almost as quickly was the question put and carried.

Present was a man taking notes for his publication of the proceedings of the meeting and whose name a councillor remembered having seen among the others to the petition, and much to his discomfort, it is hoped, he was asked to explain and show cause why the motion of the Council should not be carried out. Happily, and to the everlasting credit of the "city fathers" of the fair town the nefarious petition was burned.

Our informant tells us further that immediately the facts became known a number of citizens called at the office of the merchant referred to, paid their accounts, and severed their business connection with his establishment.

Miss Henrietta Gummow visited Kelowna on Saturday.

Miss Daisy Wingate, who has been the guest of her brother here for some months, left for Calgary on Wednesday morning.

Miss Nancy Buchanan who was staying with Mrs. Somerville, during the absence of her son on the prairies, returned home on Saturday evening.

On Saturday evening Mr. Chas.
Somerville returned home from Regina, where he spent the autumn months threshing. He reports a bountiful crop this year.

Mr. R. J. Hogg, Fire Warden for this district left this morning with a party of men to clear a bridle path through the hills from the North Fork to Bear Creek.

Miss Leone Morrison and Miss Kate Miller entertained a few friends on Friday afternoon, in honor of Miss Mae Henderson, who

Wednesday morning for Kelowna where she will join a party of friends with whom she will go to California to spend the winter.

A few days ago Dame Nature covered her Pincushion with a beautiful, feathery looking white velvet covering, on which her solitary darning needle showed conspicuously among the smaller needles and pins, but she is so fickle those days that in a short time she whiffed it off again uncovering all its ragged edges.

The Women's Institute met on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance. The secretary reported a membership of fifty-three. An interesting paper on "First Aid to the Injured," was read by Mrs.
Clarence, after which Dr. Buchanan gave a demonstration in bandaging.
The tying of the knots seemed to be very difficult to many of the ladies who will require practice to be able to do them quickly. A vote of thanks was given the doctor after which the meeting adjourned to meet on the second Tuesday of November.

St. Andrew's & Caledonian Society.

First Social of the Season.

A delightful evening full of the hearty sociability characteristic of their "home-land" was spent by the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society last Friday, when, joined by friends, the members had their first social for the season, in the Campbell Hall. Under the shadow of the entwined St. Andrew's cross and the Union Jack, which decked the room, a large and merry company went through a splendid program of Scottish music and of Scottish dances, and the whole evening was redolent with the true atmosphere of "Bonnie Scotland."

There could be no mistake about the kind of entertainment that was being carried on. The sight of sprigs of blooming heather frae "Auld Scotia's" hills, and the broad Scotch dialect heard on all sides was sufficient to convince anyone of the nationality of the majority of those present.

The president of the Society, Mr. J. G. Robertson made a hearty and cordial chairman, and in a few characteristic and humorous remarks referred to the achievements the world over of his fellow countrymen, and his sentiments were promptly applauded.

The musical program, a lengthy one, was capably interpreted by a large company of talented members and friends, and many items on it, of course, were chosen from the overflowing measure of the national music.

Rev. C. H. Daly gave an interesting address on the aim of the society, and later a reading.

After the serving of refreshments—a bountiful supply of all sorts of dainties provided by the ladies—the floor was cleared for dancing. Here again the national element was marked, and Messrs. T. Blaikie and T. Ramsay provided many Scottish dances. Mr. R. Callan made an admirable master of ceremonies.

It was growing very late when after the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," with due ceremony and enthusiasm, a reluctant company dispersed into a glorious moonlight night which had specially favored the happy occasion.

The committee deserve great commendation for their efforts, resulting in such a successful affair.

Following is the program which it seems unnecessary to say, was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated:

- Gramophone Selections, T. Blaikie
- Song "Annie Laurie," D. McKellar
- Reading "Tragedy at Sloan's," R. Callan
- Song "Bluebells of Scotland," Mrs. Lang
- Melodeon Selections, T. Ramsay
- Song "Mary of Argyll," Mr. Purves
- Song Misses Mina and Winnie Yule "O Gin I Were a Baron's Heir," Rev. C. H. Daly
- Address "Aims of the Society," Mr. A. Vickery
- Song "When Father was Mother For a Day," Mr. Secrest
- Violin Solo, D. L. Sutherland
- Song "Highlandman's Toast," G. Fisher
- Gramophone Selections, T. Blaikie
- Song "Auld Granny's Leather Pouch," J. O. Smith
- Reading, Rev. C. H. Daly
- Song "Rest for the Weary," D. McKellar
- Song "Molly Bawn," D. McKellar
- Song "Don't You Think He was Mad," A. Vickery
- Melodeon Selections, T. Ramsay
- Song "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," Miss McLaren
- Song Misses Mina and Winnie Yule "The Bonnie Woods o' Craigielon," Mr. Secrest
- Violin Selection, GOD SAVE THE KING.

Special mention should be made of the kind services of Mrs. D. L. Sutherland who was a most sympathetic and capable accompanist throughout, no light task. Miss Secrest accompanied her brother in his violin selections. Miss Bena Logie also accompanied Mrs. Lang in her rendering of the "Bluebells of Scotland."

STORAGE DAMS.

During the past few weeks some good work has been accomplished at the head waters of both Eneas and Trout Creeks under the direction of Supt. Mitchell. The lake from which Eneas Creek draws its supply has been dammed and a head-gate put in. A pipe was placed three or four feet below the original level, and this, together with the increased head given by the dam, will make seven feet of water available for the dry season.

Another considerable body of water will be held by the dam put on another lake above the present dam at the head of Trout Creek. This is a lake covering considerable area, and has been raised 8 ft. by means of the dam.

Our Thanksgiving Banquet.

A Brilliant Success.

Both socially, and as indicative of the public spirit of Thanksgiving, the banquet held in the Men's Club on Monday last was certainly a brilliant success. Invitations had been sent out plentifully in the name of Rev. and Mrs. Lee, and responses from all classes and churches gathered together in cordial good fellowship a very large company in the beautifully decorated rooms. By the bountiful provision of a large proportion of the ladies of our community a splendid menu was produced for the banquet, thoroughly typical of "Harvest plenty," and certainly was evidence of the perfect culinary powers of our local housewives!

The picturesque and charming scene presented at the hour of the opening of the proceedings would have done credit to any similar function in some large city and centre of important population.

A most elaborate and artistic scheme of decoration had been carried out by a committee of willing workers with Mr. Martin Beavis as leading spirit, and the effect was really beautiful. Heavy garlands of the brilliantly tinted scarlet and purple Oregon grape swung across and across overhead from a cunningly wrought centre-piece fresco in pale pink and white. Shields and similar devices with appropriate lettering framed in vivid autumn foliage hung on the wall, and there were flowers everywhere. The long tables with their snowy napery groaned under the burden of good things and as every lady contributing had provided silver and cutlery there was an exceedingly effective service. Epergnes full of choice fruit, and tall vases of flowers, some of them perfect late roses, crimson, pink and cream, stood at intervals up and down the tables, and green smilax trailed prettily from centre-piece to centre-piece. By the place of each guest were placed tiny bouquets of flowers, sweet peas, nasturtiums and roses according to the prevailing scheme of decoration at each table. Adding to the brilliant aspect of the room were the pretty gowns worn by all the ladies present, and most of the younger ones acted as ready and deft waitresses.

It was not long before the assembly settled to their places for the business of the evening—the enjoyment of the menu—and Mr. H. C. Mellor President of the Board of Trade, presided over a merry company. The toast list was a long one, commencing, as fitting, with "King and Country," proposed by Mr. R. H. English. This was given with musical honors, the entire company rising and singing the National Anthem. "The Old Folks at Home" was proposed in a neat little speech by Mr. Gilbert Thornber, the Rev. R. W. Lee responding. "The Ladies," given by Mr. J. R. Brown in most felicitous terms, was replied to most gracefully by Mrs. D. H. Watson. The other toasts were: "Our Educational Institutions," by Rev. R. W. Lee, Mr. G. J. C. White responding for the College, and Municipal Schools, and Mr. Mott for the Central School; "The Clergy" by Dr. Andrew, replied to by Rev. C. H. Daly.

Significant speeches of the evening were those of Mr. J. L. Hillborn, who, in proposing the "Suc-

Public Meeting, Not Too Well Attended, Makes This Unanimous Decision.

Considering the importance of the question to be discussed the public meeting held on Thursday afternoon in the Methodist Church was not as well attended as it should have been. However, satisfactory progress was made, and without a dissenting voice it was decided that the hospital must be continued and another building provided for the work.

Mr. H. C. Mellor was asked to take the chair, and Mrs. Lipsett, President of the Ladies Auxiliary, was called upon to explain the purpose of the gathering.

Mrs. Lipsett, in giving a history of the hospital, told of the management being taken over by the Ladies' Auxiliary, and of the ruling of the newly appointed Provincial Hospital Inspector that the building at present occupied was unsuitable, and that a license would not be granted further than April next. Mrs. Solly, who has been conducting the hospital, had resigned, her resignation to take effect on April 18th. The ladies, she said, could no longer assume the responsibility. They believed a hospital was needed, and that it would be disastrous not to continue the good work.

The need of the institution and the place it is filling in our community life was emphasized by the secretary's report, which showed excellent financial management, and also gave statistics of the large number of patients passing through the institution each year.

After hearing the report the meeting passed a unanimous motion of congratulation and thanks for the able way in which the ladies had conducted the hospital business. A motion of Dr. Lipsett, seconded by Mr. May, that the hospital should be continued was also unanimously carried. Thereupon Mrs. Lipsett read three proposals that had been made to the Ladies' Auxiliary offering three private houses for sale on terms all three claimed by the owners to be suitable for hospital purposes. These properties were that of D. H. Watson, offered for $5,000; Prof. W. H. A. Moore's, for $6,000; S. Bartholomew's, for $5,000. It was shown that before any building could be decided upon it must have the approval of the Inspector.

Rev. C. H. Daly asked what connection the society had with the Victorian Order of Nurses, and if it were receiving assistance from the Provincial and Federal Governments. This brought forth considerable discussion, and it would seem that some cottage hospitals in the province are receiving $1 per day grant for every patient. If provision is made for Indians further assistance is given from Ottawa.

It was generally conceded that to put up a hospital building would be preferable, but that financial conditions would not justify this step at present. Government aid toward the purchase of a building could not be expected. Mr. May pointed out that to purchase one of the cottages offered would mean but a small present cash outlay, while to build might not cost our people more than $5,000 or $6,000 (as the balance would be paid by the province) but this $5,000 or $6,000 would need to be raised upon completion of the building. The cost of maintenance of the larger building would be another matter requiring serious consideration.

A committee of Dr. Andrew and Messrs. May, Daly, Mellor, Stark, Clouston, Lipsett and Lee was finally appointed to inspect the buildings offered, and to generally investigate the question of new quarters and to make recommendations to the Hospital Society.

BUILDING ACTIVITIES.

There is considerable building activity at present and as a result our local contractors and carpenters are likely to be unusually busy for some months at least. Local lumber yards are likewise enjoying a period of increased activity. Among the more recent buildings constructed is the cottage now nearing completion for Mr. and Mrs. Rivington. Messrs. Nelson have the contract.

The same contractors will also at once begin work on a new house to be built by for F. J. Nixon on his home property near the Anglican Church.

D. L. Sutherland has completed plans for the erection of a cottage on the Colwell orchard which he will himself occupy.

J. Steven has recently taken the contract for building a new home for Mr. J. L. Logie, and has already entered upon the work of construction.

Another building upon which the men are now at work is a cottage for G. Marshall which is being built on his lot near T. J. Garnett's. H. Tomlin has the contract for this.

Included with the above should be the new hotel, the ground for which is now being prepared.

cess of Summerland" pictured a glowing future for our community, and of Mr. H. C. Mellor who gave some remarkable figures illustrating a present state of affairs. Regarding the imports and exports of Summerland these figures showed a great discrepancy between the two, the imports being three times the value of the exports. While predicting that the imports would remain stationary, the President of the Board of Trade declared his belief that the exports would, from henceforth, increase rapidly and would, next year, double the record of the present. In four years they would assuredly amount to half a million dollars, and thus be near-

ODDFELLOWS' SUPPER PARTY.

The ordinary weekly meeting of the I.O.O.F. Okanagan Lodge No. 58 on Friday last, was supplemented by an interesting diversity of the usual program. The Grand Master, R. Dudley of Fernie, was to have been present, but was unfortunately prevented from attending, and in his absence the Initiatory Degree was put on in the presence of District Deputy Grand Master Glass, of Penticton.

After the ordinary business, the company adjourned to the basement of the Lakeshore Baptist Church and dined, the catering being in the hands of the proprietor of the B. C. restaurant. The menu for the banquet was excellent and the service was the best. A long toast list was interpreted—"The King" by the chairman, "Grand Lodge" by Bro. Borton, P.G., responded to by Bro. Glass, D.D.G.M., and Bro. E. C. Graham, P.G., "Sister Lodges," Bro. K. S. Hogg, responded to by Bro. De Giro, N.G., Dempsey, P.G., Yule of Penticton, and other. "The Ladies" was given by Bro. P. Tilley, and responded to by Bro. Everett, N.G., and Bro. Barkwill, P.G.

Interspersed throughout the speeches was an excellent musical program, and Miss Hurschmann acted as an admirable and untiring accompanist. Vocal solos were given by Miss E. Brown, and Messrs. Alex. Smith, A. V. Vickery, and J. O. Smith. Miss D. Harrington rendered a brilliant violin solo which was encored.

A cordial vote of thanks, on the motion of Dr. Lipsett, seconded by Mr. S. Sharpe, was given to the ladies who had provided the feast, and to the "waitresses," also to Mr. Martin Beavis and his helpers for the decorations.

PEACHLAND ANNIVERSARY.

Next Sunday, October 26, special anniversary services will be observed in connection with the Peachland Baptist Church. A Harvest Thanksgiving sermon will be preached in the morning by Rev. H. G. Estabrook, of Vancouver. The Anniversary sermon will be preached in the evening by Rev. F. W. Pattison, of Summerland. As all other services will be withdrawn for that day, the public are heartily invited to worship with the Baptist friends.

On Monday evening an illustrated lecture will be given by Rev. H. G. Estabrook on "The Earthly Ministry of Our Lord. Views of British Columbia will also be shown. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Reception and Social For The College.

Pleasant Annual Function.

Summerland Baptists were responsible for a very pleasant and enjoyable evening on Friday night last, when their church and minister "received" the Faculty and students at the West Church.

A long and interesting program was carried out with speeches and music and social intercourse. Mr. Thomas Dale was in the chair and Rev. F. W. Pattison opened the proceedings with a cordially worded address of welcome to the Faculty and students.

Dr. J. P. McIntyre spoke on behalf of the Board of Governors, and Professor S. Everton in the name of the Faculty, while Mr. John Marshall voiced the sentiments of the students.

A delightful musical program was interpreted by Miss D. Harrington and Miss Myrtle Clay, the former rendering a violin solo, and the latter singing Tosti's "Goodbye," very sweetly. Mr. Wallace Wright and Miss Hayes, who also contributed, were heartily applauded.

Rev. C. H. Daly concluded the program with a characteristic address, and the serving of refreshments was a signal for general conversation and introductions.

There were a large number present, most of the Faculty and students attending what was made nevertheless one of the inaugural social events of the college session.

K.V.R. ENGINEERING DIFFICULTIES

Construction operations on the joint section of the Kettle Valley Railway between Hope and the Coquihalla summit have been started from both ends, says Mr. J. H. Kennedy, engineer for the V.V.&E. Railway, who has been making a trip of inspection. Contracts have been let to station men, he states, for portions of the new line sixteen miles north-east from Hope, and for six miles southwest of the summit end. Roads for transporting of supplies and equipment have been built and a large force of men is employed on the clearing and grading work. The entire section to be built by the Kettle Valley, and used jointly by that road and the V.V.&E. is thirty-eight miles in length.

The construction operations near the Pass are fraught with great engineering difficulties. In order to transport supplies to the right-of-way from the roadway near the summit portion of the proposed railway a cable tram will be used. The road in some places is nearly one thousand feet from the route, and goods will have to be lowered over a big bluff into the valley below.

Prospects for Pre-Cooling.

Experimenter Meets Fruit Union.

Before leaving for the Coast Mr. Edwin Smith met the directors of the Summerland Fruit Union and laid before them some details with reference to the pre-cooling plant, the erection of which he directed and which he managed during the peach season.

It was late in the season before the plant was ready, and only nine cars of peaches went through the pre-cooling plant. The excellent condition which the fruit maintained in transit and after unloading fully exemplified the advantages of pre-cooling.

Valuable use was also made of the plant in holding a large quantity of cooled fruit in readiness for packing. This was perhaps the best use to which the plant was put. During the period of operation some 3,850 packages of outside fruit were also held in cold storage.

In all 40 tons of ice and 4 tons of salt were used, and about 4 hours labor a day was required for crushing, etc. Mr. Smith estimates that 5 horse power for 7 hours per day was the amount of current used.

In discussing the future with the Union directors Mr. Smith intimated that it might be well for the Union to erect an ice house on the hill above the pre-cooling plant, recommending a building 20 x 24, 14 ft. high, which would hold 120 tons of ice. Beside this he would build a place for the crusher about 8 ft. square. The crushed ice could then be sluiced directly into the fan-room.

During his stay here Mr. Smith has been making a number of experiments with reference to fruit temperatures, and the best way to handle the soft fruits. He is convinced that it would be of great advantage to leave the day's picking in the orchard boxes in the orchard boxes in the orchard over night, and to bring these in the early morning to the packing house. In this way the expense of pre-cooling would be lessened, and the fruit could be handled to much better advantage here. He found fruit temperatures to run to 82 degrees when brought in during the heat of the day. Fruit in this condition should be immediately chilled, but to do this would run the risk of sweating after being brought out to be packed. After standing in the orchard over-night and brought in early in the morning the fruit could be packed during the day and put into the cooler.

It would seem probable that the government will require that at least the expense of ice and salt must be borne locally next season.

As the period for experimenting was so short it is reasonable to suppose that Mr. Smith will continue along his line for another season before this plant should be adopted as a model for other pre-cooling plants to built throughout the province.

LUCID!

A small boy, a member of our public school had the task given to him on Tuesday of writing some account of the trip he had taken with some of his schoolmates on Thanksgiving Day to the railway tunnel beyond Naramata. He wrestled with words for some time and finally produced this incoherent and beautifully lucid word picture. "We climbed the hill to the big tunnel We saw a donkey there, and ate our dinner at its mouth!"

who has seen the purple-hued complexion, sodden features and perspiring, relaxed skin of an intoxicated man needs no medical training to know that here is a case of complete relaxation, the body presenting as sad evidence of crippling as does the mind. If this result may ensue in an individual who is in health, how much more seriously must the vital powers be depreciated in diseases in which other poisons are already playing havoc with the heart and nervous system. Alcohol as a stimulant is dying hard as did blood-letting as a panacea. The latter succumbed to an enlightened pathology and the former is now sharing the same fate. When the quantities formerly consumed in hospitals are compared with that now supplied to the best-conducted institutions the view of Professor Ewald is confirmed.

In the great hospital of which Dr. Ewald is the chief, alcohol is ordered only in two conditions, in severe collapse and as a means of euthanasia, easy death, in hopeless disease. The difficulty of removing the long established habit of ordering stimulants in infectious diseases was demonstrated in a certain hospital in this city the chief benefactor of which was a prohibitionist who to the day of his death was chagrined by the surreptitious introduction of alcohol into the wards. He endeavored to counteract this tendency by certain prohibitive provisions in his will. The most enlightened physicians of the day realize not only the inutility but the serious harmfulness of the former free use of alcohol stimulants in disease. The "Sun" has repeatedly presented evidence that the internal use of alcohol handicaps the well to the extent that large industrial enterprises like the Pennsylvania and Union Pacific railroads have followed the German interdiction of alcohol to their employees. The layman who "takes a drink to warm up" should know that the warming action is due to relaxation, widening of the blood vessels of the skin, attended by more or less stagnation of the warm blood within them, and that this condition is accompanied by an effort of the heart to overcome the loss of tone in these superficial and other internal small vessels that necessitates an increase of the heart action, evidenced by increased pulse rate. The self-regulating powers of the system eliminate small doses of poison and reinstate normal heart action, hence no immediate unfavorable change is noted. Not so in disease. Here every drop of alcohol should be watched, and the reasons for its administration clear. The facile prescriber of alcoholic stimulants needs watching by a consultant.

Mr. Harry Beach, a member of the famous English jam manufacturing company, T. W. Grand Forks purposes having a locally owned cannery. A few days ago a preliminary meeting of the shareholders was held and officers were elected. The company are asking for tenders for the building of a brick or cement structure 125 feet by 50 feet, to be completed this winter.

Someone has aptly remarked that one hundred years from now people would be looking back at the last century in much the same attitude with which we now regard that era which observed with awe the first steamboat and the first railroad train. Why, we think we have reached the limit with our forty storey skyscrapers, our mile-a-minute trains, and our giant ocean steamers. But people of the future will not be amazed at buildings 400 stories high, and will regard trains that travel 100 miles an hour as no great feat. Then instead of land transportation and water transportation, air transportation will be used exclusively. People going to work, going visiting, going to the theatre, instead of going by automobile or by car, will have their airship ready to take them.

The above photograph shows that this futurist might more truly have said within twenty years all this will have come to pass, and he would probably have struck it about right. Already a noted millionaire in Chicago comes to work in an aeroplane and goes home at the end of his day's work the same way. Now they are using the airship as a thrilling ride for the children; thus preparing them for what is bound to occur—"Supreme control of the air." In the picture above an aeroplane has been converted into a passenger transporter, capable of holding six children, that skims through the air about a foot above the ground. The aviator is shown ready to start with a load of passengers. This novelty was first introduced by the managers of the Brighton-Shoreham Aerodrome (England), and has already become very popular.

The Passing Of Alcohol In Medicine.

(The Sun, New York.)

In the International Congress of Physiotherapy recently convened in Berlin, Professor Ewald, perhaps the most eminent clinical teacher in the Berlin University, gave the coup de grace to alcohol as a stimulant when he said he had reached the conclusion that in no infectious disease has the value of alcohol been proved, and that it diminishes the natural resistance to the inroads of disease.

This confirms what every clear-visioned physician of experience has observed at the bedside, that whenever alcohol is administered it handicaps the patient, because it lowers the blood pressure; it is a temporary spur to the failing heart, with subsequent depression to which many a sick man has succumbed without realization of the cause of "heart failure." A "World Traveller" Criticises The Valley; And Summerland's Answer.

In a correspondence on the subject of fruit growing and orchard buying which has been going on in the "Over-seas Daily Mail" recently, a writer signing himself "World Traveller" has penned in the course of a lengthy communication an indictment on the subject of fruit growing in the Okanagan Valley, which has occasioned some comment in our town. Some of our citizens think they can trace the identity of the writer and are consequently the more vexed that a visitor should enjoy our hospitality and returning home, so unworthily requite it. We quote relevant portions of the letter and a reply mailed last week to the Editor of the Over-seas Daily Mail.

Dear Sir,—

In reply to "Orchard Buyer," who writes from Java, may I give my experience? I know Canada and Australia, having lived in these Overseas Dominions for thirteen years.

I visited the famous Okanagan Valley in British Columbia in 1910, one of a party wishing to purchase bearing orchards. We were disappointed, as things seemed to be in a bad way, no doubt owing to want of organization and the class of settlers there. I have just returned from a further visit to that valley. I found things even worse this year than before. Numerous farms were for sale—in itself a bad sign—and numbers had shown losses on the year's working. There seems still to be a want of organization among the growers, and there were too many settlers of the class that expects orchards to look after themselves rather than working hard upon them. There were too many settlers who had been sent out from home, usually with capital, knowing nothing about the business and caring less.

In Australia things are entirely different. Here you have a regular rainfall. The apple harvest in British Columbia is late, usually October, whereas Australian apples get home in April or May, in time for summer.

British Columbia is a lovely country but the class of settler who is to be found in the beautiful Okanagan has practically ruined the Valley, and intending purchasers, when hearing of failures and want of co-operation, etc., among the growers; and the orchards being neglected, naturally will not invest. I, with many others, came away disgusted."

Letter Sent To "Overseas Mail" Answers Attack Of "World Traveller."

I have just read in the "Over-seas Daily Mail" a letter signed "World Traveller," which contains so much that is misleading and ill-informed regarding the beautiful fruit Valley of the Okanagan, that as a happy settler in this favored corner of British Columbia I heartily resent what is an unjustifiable attack on a hard-working and hopeful community and likely to do us mischief among those ignorant of real conditions out here.

"World Traveller" says that in 1910 he "visited the Okanagan Valley, one of a party wishing to purchase bearing orchards. Things seemed in a bad way." On a further visit to the Valley this year he finds "things even worse than before." On the strength of flying visits as a prospective buyer and not an experienced grower, he presumes to send out his emphatic opinion of the state of affairs in this Valley. Let me take his accusations serially.

1.—"Numerous farms were for sale, in itself a bad sign."

Land for sale is usually taken by experts as a sign of activity and "business doing." A new country would be in a pretty comatose condition if there were no sales and exchanges going on. A fruit farm in bearing is a more desirable speculation than virgin or unimproved land. I understand it was a farm in bearing that "World Traveller" was himself desirous of purchasing.

2.—"There SEEMS to be still a want of organization among the growers."

This is untrue. There are local Fruit Unions in every town throughout the Valley and all have delegates at a Central Selling Agency which handles the fruit selling of the Valley. If individual growers do not come in to these Unions, or if they do not agree to conditions made by local managers, it is their own fault if they suffer from the inevitable result of the lack of loyal co-operation.

3.—"There are too many settlers who had been sent out from home, knowing nothing about the business, and caring less, and too many of the class that expect orchards to look after themselves."

"World Traveller" was certainly unfortunate in the class of folk he encountered out here, and has apparently adopted the ill-advised course of taking the opinion of the unsuccessful. Who wants to listen to the failures? It is "up to" the settlers themselves who come out to this wonderful Valley whether they "make good" or not. They will find every natural advantage here in the shape of well-nigh perfect climatic and soil conditions, and every possible artificial assistance such as irrigation, shipping facilities, etc.

About twelve hundred "straight carloads of fruit, vegetables, etc., have been shipped from the Okanagan up to the middle of this month with a value closely approaching one million dollars. This does not include smaller freight shipments nor express shipments. As yet but a small portion of the winter apples have been shipped. It seems very probable, therefore, that the total season's shipments will be greater than at first anticipated.

Perhaps the most foolish of all "World Traveller's" criticisms of the Valley is his last, where he compares the harvest time of the Okanagan with that of Australia. He says, "The British Columbian apple harvest is late, usually October, whereas Australian apples get home in April or May, in time for summer."

Truly remarkable! The season of our apple harvest that comes in full and abundant at the exact moment when it will not have to meet the competition of the Australian apple is one of our greatest assets. One of the difficulties which the Australian apple market has to meet is the fact of "getting home in time for summer." This is the time when England is in full enjoyment of her own delicious crop of small fresh fruits. There is at this time no demand for the apple.

At the moment of writing, freights of the finest specimens of the King of Fruits that the world can afford are being shipped home to the Old Country in time for the greatest of apple markets—Christmas.

Space forbids further comments on "World Traveller's" valuable(?) advice to "Orchard Buyer," but suffice to say the Okanagan has no use for this class of settler, and we are not really sorry that he "came away disgusted." Many wiser than he have no doubt this week read the stirring speech of the Premier of British Columbia, Sir Richard McBride, made in London, in which he referred to the three thousand miles of railway now under construction in British Columbia, and foreshadowed the expansion which the province would experience with the opening of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific through to the Coast next year, and also the Kettle Valley line of the Canadian Pacific. The Kettle Valley line runs through this particular part of the Okanagan Valley, a British Columbia Land of Promise with a future in which such derelictors of her as "World Traveller" will happily have no part.

CRYING FOR OUR APPLES.

Complaint is made by an eastern exchange that, because of the market established in Australia and New Zealand—largely through the efforts of the government—for our apples, a large section of our country is deprived of this fruit. We cannot see the justice of the complaint, as it is only right that the grower should sell his goods in the market which will pay the highest price, and it is up to the prairie dealers, for whom our eastern contemporary is so solicitous, to offer a price that will keep the fruit at home, if such is their desire.

That "we have amongst us and beside us the greatest market ever placed before the producers of any time or any nation" is very true; and probably there is equal truth in what the writer has to say of our home distributing methods. We quote:

"The grower at Niagara must be content with forty or fifty cents for a basket of peaches, and he must join a co-operative society to obtain that. Yet twelve hours later the Toronto consumer pays $1.25 for the same basket picked only a few miles away. The fresh eggs for which the farmer's wife gets twenty cents a dozen, in the neighboring city, fresh from cold storage command the fancy price of sixty cents. The traveller on the train speeding through eastern Ontario pays five cents for woody, tasteless apples; yet on all sides of him are luxuriant orchards with thousands of barrels of choicest fruit rotting beneath the tree scorned even by the swine wallowing in an excess of luxury."

Another paper, the Farmers' Advocate, of Winnipeg, commenting on the recent announcement that the Okanagan United Growers, Limited, had contracted for the export of thirty thousand boxes of apples to Australia at a rate of $1.40 per box f.o.b. Okanagan points, protests against what it terms "the injustice" of the whole scheme. That journal asks why this fruit should be exported while inhabitants of the prairie provinces are eating about one apple for every ten they should eat, and would eat if the fruit were cheaper.

With the rapid increase in the production of our orchards which we may henceforth look for, and the greatly improved market facilities which, no doubt, will be further improved before next season, everyone on the prairies will be given opportunity to buy all the apples they will eat, and at reasonable prices. At the same time advantage will be taken of the valuable and expanding market which has been established in the Antipodes.

NEGLECTED OPPORTUNITIES.

In a certain Western town three concerns in one line of business were regular advertisers in the local paper. Some months ago they got together and entered into a "gentleman's agreement" to discontinue all publicity. They believed that there was a fixed amount of business to be divided among themselves, and that each was incurring a needless expense in advertising.

At the end of the first fiscal year following the discontinuance of the advertising it was found that their total business had fallen off twenty-one per cent, while their combined totals had shrunk twelve per cent. Business had not gone elsewhere. They had simply withdrawn the natural stimulant. Following their discovery the "gentleman's agreement" was immediately dissolved, and to-day the three are again advertising.

Practically speaking there is not a business of any nature that cannot be aided by judicious publicity.

Speaking of the value of publicity the "Journal of Commerce," Montreal, says:

"There has never been an age in the history of the world when publicity played so large a part as it is doing at the present time. Every day instances are cited of men and business succeeding through publicity and on the other hand the records go to show that other business and men fail because of their failure to make use of publicity. The remarkable feature about advertising is that it can be applied to every line of human endeavor; the banker, the broker, the insurance agent, merchant, manufacturer, commission agent and everyone else can build up his business by judicious advertising."

Are our local merchants taking full advantage of their opportunities in this respect? It may be easy enough to hold the trade of an habitual customer, especially if he be a credit customer; but we are satisfied that a little effort and small expense would largely stop the heavy and constant drain of cash that is being made by the distant mail order houses. Fight them with their own ammunition—advertising.

FROM TIME TO TIME we read of a number of British Columbia towns taking permanent display space in the exhibition rooms of the Vancouver Progress Club. This is a place visited by a majority of the visitors to, and many of the citizens of Vancouver and it might be advantageous to Summerland to have a district display.

THAT CANADA will have a population of twenty millions within ten years is the prediction of Sir Richard McBride. In a recent London speech, given in a most optimistic spirit he also foretold yet more wonderful development awaiting Canada upon completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Canadian Northern, the Pacific Great Eastern and the extensions of the Canadian Pacific system.

VERNON APPLE SHOW.

The Apple Show held at Vernon this week is said to have been a disappointment to the promoters. There was plenty of empty space and the variety was also limited. A Summerland citizen who visited the exhibition on Thursday afternoon says that it compared very unfavorably with the usual exhibition held there. There was very little shown outside of apples and entries for these, as has been said, were light. The first prize for district apple display was taken by the Fintry Ranch, Okanagan Lake, the second by Coldstream, the third going to Penticton. The display of the last named was as good as any, but was not given first position because of the fact that some of the less standard varieties were included in the exhibit. Penticton, however, took first prize on its mixed fruit display, which was very nice. Summerland was not represented. So many honors have come to her that she now seems indifferent and is losing interest. Some good advertising is thus being lost. The news that the "Aberdeen" was scheduled to make a special trip will be received here and elsewhere in southern lake points as a surprise. It would seem that visitors who went up on the early boat were to be brought back by the "Aberdeen," passengers leaving Vernon at eight o'clock. This arrangement, however, was not advertised, and only one passenger got off here at 1.30 this morning, namely, Mr. G. J. C. White, who attended a directors' meeting at Vernon, of the Okanagan United Growers, Limited. There was only one passenger, too, for Penticton.

RESIGNATION OF REV. F. W. PATTISON.

Much to the regret of his many friends here Rev. F. W. Pattison has decided to accept the call to important work at Westminster Chapel, London, England, particulars of which have already been published. Mr. Pattison feels that duty calls him to this wider sphere of work, and deeply as he regrets leaving Summerland, he has had an obligation laid upon him to accept this ministry in the Old Country, which he is obliged to recognize.

At a meeting of church members held on Wednesday evening the resignation was accepted and a resolution expressing regret at Mr. Pattison's departure was passed unanimously. A committee was also appointed to take steps to find a successor. The date of Mr. and Mrs. Pattison's actual departure is not yet fixed, but the resignation takes effect not later than December 7th.

Peace does not dwell in outward things, but within the soul; we may preserve it in the midst of the bitterest pain, if our will remain firm and submissive. Peace in this life springs from acquiescence even in disagreeable things, not in an exemption from suffering.—Fenelon.

English engineers claim that enough coal to last the world 800 years still is available at Newcastle.

Ferry Service Temporarily Suspended.

Through a technicality Naramata, Summerland, Penticton and other south lake points have been deprived of an excellent ferry and local freight service—by long odds the best they have yet enjoyed, with an excellent fleet of boats, splendidly handled and managed.

Because the "Skookum," which was duly inspected and passed, is not officered by a certified captain and engineer, she has practically been "arrested" and forbidden to move unless so manned. The same order applies to all the company's boats.

It is not difficult, says "Captain" Roe, to guess from whence the trouble originates. His company, through push and perseverance, has worked up a business at this end of the lake which has heretofore been the territory of a monopoly, and for a time at least the public will again suffer from inadequate services.

The ferry company do not propose to submit to defeat, and are rushing every effort to secure the services of "certified" men. In the meantime, Captain Roe says that rather than have his patrons seriously inconvenienced, he will carry them free in cases of necessity.

That our towns should thus be so needlessly inconvenienced seems absurd. The question looks to be one of sufficient importance as to have the attention of the Boards of Trade of the various towns affected.

Okanagan United Growers.

Six hundred and forty-four cars of fruit and vegetables have been shipped by the United Growers up to the beginning of this week. From 100 to 150 more cars would have been shipped from the northern end of the Valley had not wet weather interfered. There has been a great deal of rain in that section during the last few weeks, so much so as to seriously interfere with the harvesting of crops.

Mr. G. J. C. White returned this morning from a meeting of the directors held at Vernon and brings very favorable reports of the season's work. Prices throughout have been fairly good but would have been better had not some strong Valley competition undercut the Growers' prices.

The first season's experiment has been so successful and promises so much for the future, that it is the intention of the government to encourage and assist further organization throughout the Province. It is probable that the United Growers will be asked to release Manager Robertson for a time to assist the government in its work.

"THE PLAYERS."

On Tuesday, Nov. 4, "The Players" will present "Good For Nothing," a humorous drama which affords opportunities for some excellent acting.

"The Players" have already given this piece before Kelowna and Penticton audiences, and it was booked to appear here on May 24th, but owing to an unfortunate accident to one of the caste the performance had to be postponed.

The performance will be preceeded by Mr. Shaw's Cinematograph, some special films being procured for the occasion.

A son was born at the Summerland Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Nelson on Sunday night, October 19th.

Guests with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown of Trout Creek for a Thanksgiving Dinner on Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thornber.

The cannery ceased packing some days ago, and the staff is now busy labelling and casing the season's pack. Two carloads were shipped on Thursday.

Since the Naramata Notes were printed we are informed that the date of the Recital and Chicken Supper has been changed from Monday to Tuesday.

Next week is Apple Show week. Be sure to have your entries in on time. There will be a two days' Show on Wednesday and Thursday, October 29th and 30th.

We heartily congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Robinson on the advent of a little daughter, who arrived at Naramata early yesterday (Thursday) morning.

George Robinson of Peachland rode down on Friday last and spent the week-end and Thanksgiving with his aunt, Mrs. R. C. Lipsett, returning home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley and five children arrived on Saturday night from Vancouver and have taken up their residence for the winter at the Collinge cottage in Peach Orchard.

Harold Sutherland, a younger brother of D. L. Sutherland, who has been for some weeks visiting the coast cities of Vancouver, Victoria, and Seattle, returned here on Wednesday night.

The Basketball Club had a capital practice on Wednesday night at the gymnasium. There was a good rally of the members, and the prospects of some good games during the coming season were discussed.

Chairman Robinson and Trustee Caldwell of the School Board are at Victoria this week attending the annual meeting of the School Trustees of the province, convening there from the 21st to the 24th.

Jack Conway came in on Saturday last and spent Thanksgiving at his home here. On Tuesday he was accompanied to Vernon by his wife, who went on a house hunting trip. Mr. Conway will make Vernon his headquarters.

Eustace Lee, the young son of Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Lee, received a nasty scalp wound while at play with his school mates. He has been under the care of the doctor for some days and is making satisfactory improvement.

Many little home festivals marked the keeping of Thanksgiving Day in our district in addition to a public gathering. The glorious weather favored week-end visitors and out-of-door picnics, but private and personal Thanksgiving dinners and suppers were enjoyed.

During the busy season the C.P.R. received fruit until late into the night for shipment by the morning boat. Of late, however, there has been no night staff, and the Review has been asked to request that intending shippers endeavor to get their shipments to the wharf not later than 5 p.m.

The manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. F. F. Hannington, is expected in by motor car from Merritt on Sunday afternoon, and will be accompanied by his father. Mr. Hannington will remain here for a few days before proceeding to Vernon to relieve the branch manager there for three weeks or a month.

Mr. A. E. Koehaly, a native of Persia, is expected to give a lecture next Wednesday evening at the Lakeshore Baptist Church at eight o'clock. He will be dressed in native costume. His lecture will deal with first hand information about the people of Persia, their religions of Fire and Devil Worship, everyday life and social customs, mode of dress, travelling, Zenana life and other subjects of interest. Mr. Koehaly is a young man of promise who is studying at McMaster University, preparatory to returning to Persia as a missionary among the Mohammedans. He is defraying his expenses by giving lectures upon his native land. No admission will be made. A collection will be received. The public is invited.

En route to a visit to Kamloops, Miss Tunstall, daughter of Mrs. Solly, went up to the Landing on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conway and their baby daughter who have been visiting at Vernon returned home on Wednesday night.

Miss L. V. Mills, who spent the week-end with friends at Okanagan Mission returned from that pretty little English colony on Wednesday night's boat.

Two points of interest were visited by several parties on Thanksgiving Day, the great K.V.R. tunnel beyond Naramata and, on this side of the lake, the wonderful bridge spanning the big canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Morgan had a large party of friends for a Thanksgiving Dinner at their home at Trout Creek on Sunday, including Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thornber, Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Gilbert Thornber, Mrs. Livesay and Mr. H. Smith.

It was Children's Thanksgiving Day for the Methodist Church and others on Tuesday last. A very big party of our local little folk enjoyed a ten cent tea in the Club Rooms, still gay with decorations for the previous day's Thanksgiving festivities.

Deputy Minister Scott is expected here next week to attend the Apple Show. Mr. Scott wishes to buy at least two hundred boxes of exhibition apples to be used in the provincial exhibit at Chicago and other places. It is understood that $2.50 cash per box will be paid.

Mrs. James Gartrell went up the lake on Saturday with her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Jones, and will make a brief stay at the latter's residence in Kelowna. We are very glad to hear that Mrs. Gartrell, though still far from strong, is recovering slowly and steadily from her recent illness.

The C.P.R. winter time table goes into effect on Sunday next. While there are some changes in the train schedule no orders have been issued for a change in the lake service and it is expected that the boat will run during the winter on practically the same time as at present.

A small plate of the most perfectly ripened strawberries were picked by Mr. E. O. James on his fruit ranch at Rydal Mount on the sunny slopes of Peach Valley on the morning of October 23rd. Ripe strawberries within a few days of November! Yet another tribute to our wonderful climate and the possibilities of fruit growing!

A THANKSGIVING DAY TRIP.

A party of twenty boys from St. Andrew's Sunday School, with their minister, Rev. C. H. Daly, and Mr. Wm. Kerr, teacher of the Senior Bible Class, crossed the lake on the early ferry on Thanksgiving Day.

They tramped up the hill to the big tunnel, and, through the courtesy of Messrs. Baehner & Harmount, contractors, and Mr. Linz, time-keeper, as guide, saw the wonderful construction work which is going on there. The big tunnel, 1500 ft. long, now over half completed, is not the only object of interest at this camp. One of the cuts is 69 ft. deep, and one of the fillings 58 ft. high. It has been found necessary to timber a very considerable part of the tunnel to prevent the rock from falling. It is interesting to note that while the contract of this firm extends over 1 1/2 miles the points where the work begins and where it ends are only 300 ft. apart.

The last turn of the switchback is taken in the tunnel. The day was fine and warm, and the boys enjoyed a hearty outdoor lunch at noon.

LARGE EXPRESS SHIPMENTS.

Three quarters of a million pounds of fruit was shipped from this district by express during the soft fruit season, covering a period of three months. This is an average of practically three carloads per week for the season, by far the heaviest shipments yet made by express.

A fine well-bred mare will be offered for sale at auction, subject to reserve bid, at Dale's corral, West Summerland, at 2 p.m., October 25, 1913.

The ladies of the college auxiliary intend holding their annual sale of fancy work on or about Thursday, November 13th. Watch for further announcement.

Mrs. Lipsett had a number of callers on Wednesday afternoon when she was "At Home" as usual, quite a large party of local ladies filling her pretty drawing room.

Dr. C. A. Jackson, Dentist, of Penticton, will be in Summerland for some days beginning Tuesday, October 21st, and will occupy the offices formerly used by Dr. R. Matheson.

Services will be held in the Methodist Church on Sunday next at 10.30 a.m. and 7 p.m., both services being conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. W. Lee. The Harvest Festival services will be held on Sunday, Nov. 2.

The usual social meeting of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. members took place at the college on Tuesday night and was very well attended. The Misses Harrington and Clay were among those who contributed to the musical program.

The Misses Bena and Grace Logie were among the guests at the dance held in the Hotel Naramata on Thanksgiving Day. It was quite an informal but very enjoyable little affair, got up by the hotel guests to celebrate Thanksgiving.

Mrs. F. W. Pattison was "At Home" on Tuesday afternoon, and entertained a large number of guests. Mrs. Robbins, assisted by Miss Hayes, poured out tea, and the general topic of conversation was the approaching departure of Rev. and Mrs. Pattison—a subject of universal regret to their many friends here.

A party of eight of the college boys had a splendid Thanksgiving week-end holiday. Under the escort of Mr. Montgomery, house master, and Prof. McIntosh the jolly party went up, armed with an entire camping outfit, to Fish Lake, and spent the three days in the open, returning on Monday night very exhilarated with their experiences.

WOMEN'S SOCIETIES MEET.

A Record Of Good Work.

The Women's Missionary and Ladies Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church met at the home of Mrs. C. H. Daly on Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance of interested members. The work of the Women's Home Missionary Society is gaining a large place in the affections of the women of St. Andrew's congregation.

The work in the Peace River district was brought very near by a letter from Miss Agnes Baird, nurse-in-charge of the W.H.M.S. hospital at Grande Prairie. She told of patients travelling seventy-five and even as far as two hundred miles over the rough trails to the hospital, the only centre of help in all that great new district.

Large contributions were brought by the ladies to a "bale" to be sent to Dr. Arthur, to be used in his work among the Ruthenians at Vegreville, Alberta.

OKANAGAN COAL.

Discovery at Short's Point Now Being Worked.

That Okanagan coal is soon to be put on the local market is the prediction of those interested in holdings at Short's Creek, near the northern end of Okanagan Lake, and which is now being opened up by the Okanagan Lake Coal and Coke Company, backed by Kelowna capital. Seams of two, five, eleven and twenty-two feet in width are shown by surface outcroppings, according to the statement of the promoter. A tunnel has been driven one hundred and twenty-five feet which shows over six feet of clean coal, which is reported to be of best bituminous quality. It is the expectation of the company soon to have the property on a shipping basis.

Naramata Notes.

Rev. Thompson of Pentiction will conduct the services in the Naramata Church next Sunday.

Mrs. T. H. Boothe entertained the Ladies' Aid at her home on Wednesday. The meeting was well attended and combined much pleasure with considerable work.

Mr. Hilderbrand of the Valley Construction Co. has given up his contract and left on Saturday for his former home in Wash. The work at the camp is now in charge of Mr. Peterson.

Mrs. Hill left on Monday morning's boat to return to Montreal. Mrs. Hill was delighted with Naramata, but feels that she must return to be with her son and daughter who have employment in that city.

Dr. W. R. Robinson leaves on Saturday of this week for Vancouver where he expects to remain for about three weeks. Dr. Robinson will take the medical examination given by the province of British Columbia while there.

The Ladies' Aid will give their Chicken Pie Supper in the basement of the church next Monday night at six o'clock. It will be followed by an eloquent recital under the management of Rev. R. W. Lee, of Summerland.

Thanksgiving Day was generally observed in Naramata in the various homes, as well in Hotels Naramata and Syndlen. A number of Summerland and Pentiction visitors arrived in the morning to be part of a party to visit the camp of Messrs. Griffin & Hunt. After a splendid trip they returned to take their Thanksgiving dinner at Hotel Naramata. Dinner was followed by dancing which was participated in by the other Hotel guests as well. At the Syndlen Hotel a regulation dinner was served to something like twenty-five guests. In all the day, graced with ideal weather, passed to be recorded as just another of our good times.

Lost! Lost! Messrs. Wells and Grimaldi returned from their hunting trip on Saturday. Finding too much snow for hunting around the region of the Blair camp they came back and confined their efforts to the country surrounding the camps of King Walsh, Brandt and Bacher, and Harmount. Just as a vindication to a man who has tramped the hills some, and had a compass besides, we wish to say that the story which was circulated to the effect that Mr. Wells was lost was all a mistake. All reports varied as to detail, but all agreed to the one fact, Lost—well, so did Mr. Wells—with qualifications. He wasn't lost really, but at nightfall, when he found himself in some pretty rough country, and in possession of just as rough an idea of his whereabouts, he didn't care to take the time just then to locate himself, further than against a rock and beside a cozy fire. Yes. He spent the night there while search parties were sent out from the camps to find him. We pass over the next few hours till we see him at Brandt's camp No. 4. (he wasn't particular which camp he struck), telephoning his whereabouts. The search parties were recalled and all excitement over. Messrs. Wells and Grimaldi, though not successful in bringing down any deer, report themselves more than satisfied with their vacation. "And it sure is some country up there."

NIAGARA APPLES FOR AFRICA.

Cape Town Merchant Buys Output Of Orchard.

Ontario has found a new market for her apples. The first shipment was made last week from St. Catharines to Cape Town, South Africa. The shipment comprised three thousand bushels of "King" apples, the chief rival of the famous "Northern Spy". The output was gathered from 245 trees, and was packed in special boxes in compliance with the fruit shipment act.

A prominent merchant of Cape Town, while passing through the Niagara Peninsula about a month ago was so impressed with the fruit that he made an offer for the entire output of the orchard. As a result a price fully twenty per cent. better than could be gotten in the home market was obtained, besides being relieved of the freight charges.

It is also understood that the same purchaser made contracts for apples to be shipped to South Africa next year with several other producers in the district, who could not accommodate this year on account of the fact that they had already closed contracts.

SUMMERLAND BOY TELLS OF JOLLY DAY.

The following interesting description of a day full of fun spent in the hills back of Summerland was sent by James Stuart Daly (aged 9) to the "King's Own," and was published by that paper:

West Summerland, B.C.

Dear Editors—

I am sure no Sunday School in our big Dominion had a jollier picnic than "St. Andrew's S. S., West Summerland." The day was bright and fine, and over a hundred and fifty people gathered at the church, and filled the wagons that were waiting to take them to the picnic. There were eleven boys in our wagon, nine of these were Boy Scouts who, with their scout-master, walked three miles from their camp on Lake Okanagan, to go to the picnic.

The first two miles of the drive was through Prairie Valley with fine orchards, of apples and pears and cherries on each side of the road. Then we began to climb high hills covered with big pine and Douglas fir trees. At the top of the first hill, there is the reservoir that supplies water for the irrigation works of Summerland. Then we went up and down hill on a winding road, till we came to a poplar grove on the banks of Upper Trout Creek. There wasn't a house in sight, only a couple of Indian tents with fat little "Siwashes" standing at the door.

We had lots of fun wading in the creek, fishing or climbing trees. The Boy Scouts built a fire and boiled water for the tea. Only boys and girls in the fine mountain air of B.C. could eat so many pies and cakes and sandwiches and fine ripe peaches. After dinner we had races and sports of all kinds. The boys thought the best part of all was the ice cream and peaches and cake again at five o'clock. It was cool and pleasant for the drive home, and down hill most of the way, so that tired boys and girls didn't have to get out and walk to rest the horses.

I will let you know in plenty of time before our next picnic, for I am sure you would like to come. Your friend,
James Stuart Daly.

The Englishwoman In Canada.

A woman journalist, who last Christmas relinquished a nice little connection in Fleet Street, to go out to Western Canada with her husband and children contributes an interesting sketch to a recent issue of the "Overseas Daily Mail," in which she describes the pioneer experiences of herself and family and party. Mrs. Hamar Jackson is a hard worker and enthusiast and one of that class of Englishwomen who make desirable settlers in the new land, and she has entered upon her venture to fortune equipped principally with the spirit of adventure and a tremendous enthusiasm.

She is now, nine months after the date of her sailing from England, in possession of a new home in Canada. She gives full particulars of the process of establishment which are fascinating but too long to give in detail. In the course of a long article she says:

"I had never thought of farming. Books were the delight of my life, but then I had not heard of, or seen, the wonderful boundless prairie of Canada; I had not heard the call of the West; I had not felt the fascination of its vastness, of its open life, of its freedom from the trammels of civilization. . . .

After my first trip through the Canadian continent I decided to do all in my power to give my children the advantages of the free and open life and the many chances for future independence which can be found in this new and growing country.

My husband, with complete confidence in my enthusiasm, was ready to give up everything, and, with our children and a group of friends, we left London in the middle of winter, regardless of the terrifying and, let me say at once, exaggerated reports on the severity of the Canadian climate.

In the first days of spring we settled in the centre of Alberta, taking a ranch of 640 acres, five miles from the railway station.

Snow, wind, rain, frosty weather and plenty of sunshine—we had experience of all weathers—sleeping under canvas on beds of hay, with no fire except that of the open-air prairie trench, dug out in front of the tents.

Regular farm work was not possible. We had only two horses and a buggy with which to go to town, and the best time of the year to plough the virgin soil is after the rainy season is over—about the end of June or the beginning of July.

When the fencing was completed and simultaneously the barns and houses were ready the real farm life started. Barns had to be filled, and we bought cattle, Holstein and Shorthorn cows, Yorkshire pigs, and Leghorn and Buff Orpington fowls. Model piggeries and large model poultry houses were built by the men of the party. We bought six more horses and all the agricultural implements necessary for farm work. The men did the ploughing of the land which is to give us our first crop next year. The girls milked the cows, separated the milk, and made the butter.

To-day the farm is quite established, and the routine of the work is perfect, the feeding of the animals and tending of the cattle going on with clockwork regularity. No one gets any salary, everyone will share the profits.

The next move will be the building of a model dairy and the installation of a cheese-making plant. A large vegetable garden has been prepared for next spring, to which I hope later on to add a glass-house, and an acre of ground prepared for the reception of strawberry plants.

By a special arrangement with the provincial government, the Kinemacolor Company have recently prepared a remarkable series of colored motion picture films of Okanagan's fruit industry. These will be put on exhibition in the farthest parts of the British Empire, including Australia, South Africa, Egypt, as well as in Great Britain itself. These colored pictures will illustrate the growing, picking and shipping of Okanagan fruit.

The Progress Club of Vancouver is making arrangements to install a complete exhibit showing the manufacturing development throughout British Columbia, intended to include all provincial industries. The newly formed Manufacturer's Association is at work on the matter.

It's curious, but it's the fair girl that takes the men by storm.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-west Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre. For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

Work Trains

Cross Bridge.

Steel Being Laid Thro' Summerland

Kettle Valley Railway work trains are now through as far as Prairie Valley and track-laying is proceeding steadily, at the rate of half a mile to a mile per day. The road bed being completed to the Summit, it will not be many days before the steel is extended to that point. The trestle bridge over Trout Creek Canyon was so far completed last Saturday to admit of the passing of the first train, and since then track-laying has been going forward with all possible speed.

The big bridge, which is the connecting link that has been delaying the progress, will, it is said, cost about $11,000, and is the highest railway trestle bridge in the province, being about 250 feet above the creek bottom, and spanning a chasm of about the same width.

When one looks at the site on which this structure was built it seems almost marvellous that only one life was lost in the work of spanning the canyon.

The advent of the first locomotive into Peach Valley was hailed with joy, flags being raised by residents in that vicinity.

Of late several engines have been brought down the lake to facilitate the work of track laying, and the bringing in of steel and ties is adding to the volume of traffic on the lake.

The work on the summit north of Naramata is proceeding rapidly, and before long the road bed from Carmi to Ponticton will be completed, with the exception of the big tunnel and an occasional trestle. Altogether more progress than was anticipated is being made on the east side of the lake.

Speaking to a Winnipeg reporter last week, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the C.P.R., said he hoped that the Kettle Valley line would soon be finished. This line with its connections with the Crows Nest branch would, he declared, offer another important road for the hauling of grain. He added that it was likely that this line would handle most of the grain which the C.P.R. expected to convey by way of Vancouver, even when the double track now being built along the main line is in operation.

SUMMERLAND APPLES FOR CHICAGO FAIR.

Some 225 boxes of exhibition apples were purchased by government representatives at the Summerland Apple Show this week. These, together with apples from other points in the Valley, and a few from other sections of the province, will comprise a carload to be exhibited at Chicago by the province. Nearly all the plate exhibits at this week's fair were donated for the same purpose. The government is also taking a quantity of Mrs. Fosbery's Sugared Sunbeams for distribution at the Chicago Fair.

Among those from Peachland who attended the Apple Show were Mr. W. A. Lang, Mr. R. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin, and Mrs. Murdon.

HOTEL SUMMERLAND RE-OPENED

Hotel Summerland has been leased by Mr. A. C. Wallace, who, with his cousin and her husband, and a staff of help will arrive here early in November. Mr. Wallace comes from Vancouver where he has been running a large rooming house. The hotel was opened for roomers on Wednesday, and will remain open for that purpose until the 10th, when Mr. Wallace is expected to open all departments.

The new leasee comes highly recommended, and the re-opening of the hotel under his management will be welcome news to all.

Mr. R. C. Horno, of Victoria, who is travelling in the Valley for his firm, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Robinson at dinner on Thursday night. He has spent two or three days at Naramata, Summerland, and Peachland, and leaves for Ponticton to-night.

Fine Array Of Splendid Fruit

Apple Show Most Successful In Valley This Year

Complete List Of Prizes Awarded

"Commercially, especially as regarding the quality, selection and variety of fruit—the best show for the year in the Valley," is the comment of experts on the Fifth Annual Apple Show, which was held on Wednesday and Thursday in the Ellison Hall.

Certainly the display of ruddy and beautiful fruit, as shown in the massed boxes of nearly every known variety of the King of Fruits, occupying the centre of the hall, was convincing of the value and quality of our fruit. It was evidence, too, that the harvest, in spite of the adverse forces of hail and blight, which have had to be combated this year, is well up to the standard.

Brilliant weather favored the Show, and on Thursday there was a crowded attendance of residents and visitors in the large hall. Vegetables, flowers, and several interesting by-products varied the attraction of the shining array of apples and pears, and there were two or three attractive trade stalls.

There were only two artistic displays—Mr. A. A. Derrick, and Mr. J. R. Brown's (the latter arranged by Mr. S. Sharpe). The former represented a triumphal arch in white wood, draped with purple, and decked with Oregon grape, the place of honor being occupied by a small cannon, labelled Summerland, "firing" apples at a target which was the map of the world. The apples were represented as "hitting the mark" wherever arriving. Mr. J. R. Brown's display was a good presentation of the wide distribution of Okanagan apples. To Australia, outlined in small red crabs, the Yukon, a desert of cotton wool, and to the prairies—a procession of crimson fruit was seen passing out of the fruitful Valleys of B.C., a profile of the province being admirably represented in moss and white wool. Silver vases of red and cream roses decorated this stand prettily, and were evidence of this beautiful fall. The side exhibits were most interesting, though it is regretted that more advantage was not taken of the opportunity to display the excellency of the market garden vegetable crop which can be so easily produced here.

The early and late potatoes were of splendid size and quality, and the prize collection of vegetables contained some magnificent squashes, peppers, marrows, and pumpkins.

The exhibit of honey attracted universal admiration, and a sweetmeat stall stocked with original fruit confections booked a great number of orders. Cider, apple-butter, and jelly, and various preserves and bottled fruits and such by-products, though the display was small, were of splendid quality.

Material evidence of the keeping qualities of Summerland apples are shown by a small exhibit of Salome apples from the orchard of Mr. James Gartrell, which had been stored in his cellar for more than a year.

The Apple Show has been pronounced by many as the best held in the Valley this year. Visitors from points up the lake describe it as being better than the exhibition given at Vernon, which was supposed to be representative of the whole Valley.

The exhibition was formally opened by Inspector Thos. Cunningham whose remarks were preceded by a few words from Mr. H. C. Mellor, one of the directors.

Mr. Mellor pronounced himself as pleased with the splendid display of fruit and was surprised also with its volume. This predicted well for future shows. Mr. Mellor after a few more happy remarks called upon Inspector Cunningham to formally open the exhibition.

Mr. Cunningham regretted the absence of the Minister, the Hon. Price Ellison, whose absence was unavoidable. The Premier being at present at Ottawa, the Finance Minister's presence at Victoria was essential.

Mr. Cunningham congratulated Summerland on its splendid exhibit, and Secretary Watson for his excellent management of the Show. Speaking for the future the speaker predicted a record year for 1914. The trees were well ripened and bore plenty of well-formed buds, and everything points to a big crop next season.

Reviewing the work of this season the Inspector urged that all undesirable and susceptible trees be cut out, and requested the co-operation of the growers in maintaining clean and healthy orchards, and also to stamp out the peach worm which was in evidence this year. The latter he said was very easily controlled and must not be permitted to injure our fruit. In addressing the audience at the 1912 Show Inspector Cunningham had outlined a proposition for establishing quarantine against the importation of fruit from any and all infected districts, and in his remarks on Thursday he said that he was still contending for that right, and declared that it will come ultimately. The question had not been properly put before the government at Ottawa, but was by no means dead. Soon we will have quarantine against the fruit from any infected community. By way of emphasizing the constant vigilance necessary the Inspector said that just before leaving Vancouver he had condemned four cars of beautiful apples shipped in from one of Oregon's finest fruit districts because of the presence of codling moth larvae in the fruit. If this pest is detected the cars are immediately sealed up and sent back to shipping point.

American shippers have three high-salaried agents stationed in Vancouver to look after their interests. The Okanagan has not one, but Mr. Cunningham declared that an agent for this district should be stationed there next season. In speaking further of the protection given our orchards against the importation of pests, Mr. Cunningham stated that $100 per day was spent in this work and as long as he lived he would insist on codling moth and other pests being kept out.

President Warren And Municipal Council.

Hold Conference. Matters Arranged.

President J. J. Warren of the K.V.R. met the members of the Council on Thursday afternoon, and discussed with them several matters that had been in dispute between the railway company and the Municipality.

After a thorough discussion of the principal matters outstanding an adjustment that is expected to work out to the mutual satisfaction of both parties was arranged. The principal of these was the question of the upkeep of the water system which crosses and re-crosses the right-of-way. President Warren has promised that the Railway Company will take over that part of the system on their property, and will keep it in perpetual good repair, assuming all responsibility for breaks, wash-outs, etc. The Municipality has agreed to furnish the railway with water at its tank in Peach Valley at a present nominal rate of $25 per month. The piping of the water between Trout Creek and the reservoir, so that cold weather will not interfere with the supply, was also considered, and it now looks as though this work would be done at an early date. Cement pipe, instead of steel, will be used, and the railway company will take $2,000 of the debentures and the cement company $1,000. The pipe will be placed on the site by railway.

HOSPITAL TAG DAYS.

The Summerland Hospital Tag Day, or to be accurate—days—was an unqualified success, and the Ladies' Auxiliary are to be congratulated on their enterprise in carrying out thoroughly so excellent a scheme.

On both days of the Apple Show, Wednesday and Thursday, a number of attractive young highway women most successfully "held up" the population and visitors alike, with a financial result that is most encouraging for the prospects of our new hospital. Many of the Auxiliary, and all the young ladies who were willing to undertake the no light task were here, there, and everywhere for two days, and two were stationed outside the Ellison Hall on duty all day. Wearing the Hospital insignia, the Red Cross, on their arms, and carrying a bountiful supply of tiny tags, the Red Cross on white silk ribbon, the ladies worked indefatigably, with the result that by the evening of Wednesday everyone one met seemed to be wearing the red cross tag. Some of our young men in their eagerness to claim exemption appeared to have bought tags by the yard, and the red and white streamers pendant from their buttonholes had rather the appearance of an outbreak of wedding favors! Many others wore a tag on either side of their coats, and anything from ten cents to a dollar had to be dropped into the collecting boxes as fee for exemption.

The Summerland Supply Company generously offered prizes for the two ladies who were successful in obtaining the largest amount of cash, and the two pretty lace scarves were won by Miss Myrtle Clay and Miss Janet Sutherland who obtained respectively $31.85 and $26.60. Miss Anna Hayes came in an excellent third with about $24.

The result of the Tag Day was an addition of $145 to the fund now being raised for the acquisition of a suitable building for the new hospital.

The ladies of the Auxiliary wish to tender their hearty thanks to all those who have so generously responded to their appeal, and also to the nine ladies who worked so hard in collecting.

At a committee meeting of the officials of the Ladies' Auxiliary on Tuesday evening a committee was appointed to view the properties suggested for acquisition for the new hospital, and on Wednesday afternoon the ladies drove round the various properties and viewed them and inspected the houses. No decision has as yet been arrived at and a further consideration meeting is fixed for Monday evening next.

FRIDAY, OCT. 31, 1913.

WHERE THE "MIXED FARMER" SCORES.

WHICH would you prefer: a steady, all-the-year-round income, or payment after a year's work? The former would be doubly preferable if it carried along with it the likelihood of totalling more than the annual cheque.

The farmer or rancher—or whatever term you choose to use—who depends on fruit alone gets his year's salary in practically one lump sum, and that lump may be greater or smaller, depending upon many uncontrollable circumstances. In this respect his situation is not one bit different from that of the prairie man who goes in for "wheat mining."

An authority says: "The farmers who have suffered in the West this year are those whose whole income is derived from grain. Those who possessed a few cows, pigs and chickens were never short of cash." The same applies equally in the fruit districts. With a cow or two—fed largely upon alfalfa grown among his trees or on otherwise waste land—to supply milk and butter, a flock of hens to provide eggs and poultry, and perhaps to pay the grocery bill as well, and some hogs to market regularly at the present high prices, the problem of ready cash all the year through would be largely solved, and an otherwise heavy annual expense cut out.

OUR TURN.

IT IS OUR TURN to kick. We hear frequently of the complainings of the prairie householder against the excessive prices he is compelled to pay for the product of our orchards, and which prices are seemingly unjustifiable when compared with the price received by the grower.

Now we are given figures that cause us to wonder why we must pay such prices as we are compelled to pay for beef. A Chicago press dispatch says that more than a million pounds of fresh dressed meats arrived in that city from Canada in one day immediately following the removal of the duty—and here is the amazing part of the story—that the prices ranged from 6¢ to 8 cents a pound. Why should Chicago get Canadian beef at that price when our dealers must pay 12 to 15 cents?

"THE PLAYERS" OF SUMMERLAND.

The presentation of Buckstone's "Good For Nothing" in the Empire Hall by the Summerland Players on Tuesday next, November 4th, promises to be an unusually good theatrical performance. Mr. Wm. Sauter, Mr. C. H. Cordy, Mr. E. R. Simpson, and Mr. Wm. Fosbery are taking the leading male characters, and Mrs. Harry Reynolds is cast for "Nan," the centre of interest in the brief piece. The performance is preceded at 8.30 by some special pictures on Mr. Shaw's cinematograph, and the prices of admission are being lower than is usual for two good programs, Reserved seats 75 cents, Admission 50 cents.

"Good For Nothing" is a "humorous drama" of quaint old-world style—light comedy touched with pathos. It has all the peculiar charm of the bygone day when it was first acted by Mr. Buckstone in the Old Haymarket Theatre, London, in the early fifties, and deals with the humble life of a small group of working people. The story of the regeneration of pretty Nan, the wild, untamed and fascinating little "Good For Nothing," is very simply told and in the hands of so capable a cast should provide a delightful evening's entertainment.

Inspector Cunningham will return to Vancouver on Saturday morning.

Mr. T. C. Stinson has recently removed from Burnaby to Grand Forks.

At the services this week at the Anglican Church, the festival of All Saints is being celebrated. On Saturday, All Saints' Day, there is a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a.m. Sunday is in the octave of All Saints, and the morning services are: 11 a.m., matins will be read, and at 11.30 Choral Eucharist with sermon. Evensong and sermon at 7.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES AT ST. ANDREW'S.

Special Thanksgiving services were held in St. Andrew's Church last Sunday, the preacher in the morning being Rev. G. A. Wilson, M.A., of Vancouver, and in the evening, Rev. Ferguson Millar, B.A., of Penticton.

Mr. Wilson's subject was "Our Godly Land." In his capacity of Superintendent of Missions for B.C. Mr. Wilson spoke with a fullness of knowledge of our country, possible only for the expert.

Rev. Mr. Millar spoke of the right of the individual to enjoy all the good gifts of God provided he was using them in the spirit of stewardship. The congregations both morning and evening were large.

On Monday evening a Concert and Tea-meeting was given in the church. Rev. Mr. Wilson gave the address of the evening. Most acceptable solos were rendered by Mrs. G. W. Morfitt, Miss McLaren, and Messrs. Fisher, McKellar, Alex. and Jas. Smith. Miss Dorothy Harrington contributed artistic violin solos. Mr. Wm. Sauter and Mr. David Lister gave further variety to the excellent program with admirable readings. Rev. R. W. Lee brought greetings from a sister church. The work of the choir both at the Sunday services and on Monday evening was most praiseworthy.

The church was tastefully decorated with fall flowers, berries, and foliage.

Protestant services will be held next Sunday in St. Andrew's Church both morning and evening. Mr. Daly's evening subject will be "You and the church."

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Orr are leaving in a few days for Toronto and other eastern points. They will probably be absent for some months.

Members and friends of the College Auxiliary are busily occupied preparing work for a sale and tea to be given in the Gymnasium probably on the evening of November 18th.

Impressions of a Fleet-Street Journalist

VIII.—By L. V. MILLS.

The birds have begun their southward flight and there is a nip in the clear air that makes the blood tingle in one's veins and sharpens one's appetite in a most remarkable way. One or two youthful gales have howled down the lake, and the sunny days are very much shorter in the Happy Valley. But there are still more leaves on the trees than on the ground; there are roses, carnations, mignonette and the delicate pale-hued nicotine and petunias still blooming, not only in sheltered lakeside gardens but on higher ground above us. The cottonwood is a blaze of sovereign gold against the brilliantly blue skies, and not even the midsummer vividness of color could outrival the radiant purity of the lights which the October sunrays are flinging broadcast over the Valley. Every leaf and twig stands out sharply defined against a distance which is all color, and there was never an autumn which burned so gorgeously in the soft airs of the Old Country. There, we pride ourselves on the mellow beauty of the October countryside; when silken mists half veil the crimson yellow of the fading foliage, but a British Columbian "fall" is a splendour of nature's decay that has to be seen to be understood. And the crisp buoyancy of the mountain air goes to one's head like strong wine; there should be no languor or relaxing of effort in this exhilarating climate, and at the risk of being constantly asked "whereabouts poets' licenses may be bought," I find myself again merely revelling in words when attempting to paint an autumn picture of a Canadian fruit valley. An English October in town and country has its own attractions, and before the rains and mists of the English winter blot out the face of the sun, and the westerly gales sweep those island shores, we often have a St. Martin's summer, or an Indian summer, which is a brief respite from the grey bleakness that November brings. But there was never an Indian summer in our western land to outrival the beauty and healthfulness of this.

The fragrance of ripening apples seems to linger everywhere just now, and it is a little discouraging to find that there is a familiarity that breeds contempt in the attitude of the orchardist who surveys the ruddy burden bearing down his trees. For some years I have been familiar with certain interesting barrels which arrived home about Christmas time, and proved to be full of red-cheeked hard-skinned and very juicy apples. These were Canadian, or as I called them in my ignorance, American apples. I do not to-day seem able to trace any relationship between these rather commonplace necessities for making an apple pie and the glowing beauties whose juiciness and flavor remind me of the past summer's peach—the apples of the Okanagan. Unheeding owners of so much color and sweetness seem to put their October orchards into the category of the commonplace, but they must surely have forgotten the small, ripe, prettiness and the gnarled old lichened trees that were the Old Country orchards of their youth. Good and sweet indeed was the fruit of these bent old trees, in the thick boughs of which we hid as children, and it was sufficient for the modest needs of us all. English apples are cheap enough and plentiful enough for all the folk who want them, but who dreams of making a fortune out of them? Who would send them out into the markets of the world to compete with the wonderful tropical fruits ripened by the glowing suns and soft winds of better climates?

Who has not tasted a Snow or a Winter Banana or a Cox's Orange Pippin, does not know what an apple really is, or realized the possibilities of that fruit which legend lovers tell us was the original cause of all the evil in the world. Eve would not have been very hardy tempted by the rosy prettiness of even a Devonshire or Hereford pippin. It must have been one of the crimson or yellow beauties painted by the untiring sunshine of the Okanagan Valley that grew in the Garden of Eden.

Youth and sunshine bring the fruit of our Valley into unrivalled perfection, and there is a future in these apple orchards for which every autumn now will mark a step of further prosperity. The old-time red-cheeked barrelled apple is quite a thing of the past. It will be a curiosity presently. The Tasmanian apple has been popular for a long time and is a cheap good fruit, but to compare it in color and flavor and variety to the magnificent specimens which will be sent from the southern Okanagan to the "Old Folks at Home" next month, is almost ridiculous.

The apple is the symbol of harvest time, the last good gift of mother Nature from her rich abundance before the barren days of winter close in upon us. It is late November before we see the last of the Okanagan apple; it is its own particular festival at All Halloween, tonight, and while there is fruit in the Valley it is still "Happy."

"I don't exactly know the geographical position of the 'Happy Valley' on the map," wrote a friend to me from Fleet Street this week, "but from the description we've just read of it we are generally supposing it to be Paradise. Congratulations!"

Well, even if it isn't Paradise, the fruit of Paradise was the apple, and the apples that grew in the Garden of Eden were surely not much bigger, juicier, or more gorgeous in coloring than the apples of the Okanagan!

filed, all objections thereto, and the plans prepared for the use of the Board will be open for inspection. All persons interested are entitled to examine these and to file objections thereto in writing if they deem fit.

At this meeting claimants shall prove their title to lands to which their water records are appurtenant. Objections will be heard forthwith if the party objected to has received sufficient notice of the objection.

The Board, at the said meeting, will determine the quantity of water which may be used under each record, the further works which are necessary for such use, and will set dates for the filing of plans of such works, and for the commencement and completion of such works.

For the Board of Investigation,
 J. F. ARMSTRONG,
 Chairman.

THANKSGIVING DANCE AND DINNER.

One of the most interesting of recent events in Naramata was the Thanksgiving Dance and Dinner at the Hotel Naramata, organized by the guests then in residence there.

The table was most artistically set out, the centre piece consisting of two immense yellow pumpkins hollowed out and holding lighted candles, while Oregon grape and other colored foliage trailed among the flower-filled vases between lighted candelabra.

The dance was held in the large dining hall which was beautifully decorated with flowers and foliage and Chinese lanterns, and the effect of all the electric globes being enclosed within miniature "jack-o-lanterns" was exceedingly pretty.

Over thirty guests enjoyed a long program of dances on a floor which was pronounced delightful.

Virtue may be its own reward, but a balance at the bank is useful.

"CINDERELLA" DANCE.

A series of dinner dances at the Hotel Naramata promises to be one of the social features of the winter season this year.

Mr. McCoy and Mr. Myers, of Penticton, who organized the evening's entertainment, brought some nineteen guests up the lake on the "Skookum".

Naramata Notes.

Mr. Lewis Block returned home from Kaledon on the boat on Tuesday.

Dr. Will Robinson left for Victoria on Saturday morning and will spend the next week or two there and at the Coast, completing his medical degrees.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Aikins had a small dinner party on Monday night, the guests including Mr. and Mrs. Burnett and Mr. J. O. Robinson.

Mr. George Wolstencroft and Mr. H. W. Endacott were called out for service on the grand jury, and have been up at Vernon attending the assizes for the last few days.

There are two or three small cases of injury at the little Cottage hospital and the patients are under the careful attention of Mr. Antonio Manzoni, known locally as "Tony," and popular among the men as a skilful and patient nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Shreck are delighted with their fine crop of apples which is their first year's yield of fruit, and much exceeds their expectations.

A number of local ladies organized quite a large party and walked up to the neighborhood of the tunnel camp on Wednesday afternoon with the object of paying a visit to Mrs. Victor Watson who has been living up there since her marriage in July last.

hall where the dance was held were full of late blooming roses from the Hotel garden and Mr. George Wolstencroft's, and these gave a tropical air of summer to the evening, making an enjoyable contrast to the big fire of logs blazing on the open hearth in the hall, which was decked with branches of fir and spruce.

Mr. Tom Kenyon, who is enjoying his first trip home after a residence of several years out here writes glowing accounts to friends in Naramata of the happy holiday he is having in the Old Country.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Ina Ireland, the little daughter of Mr. J. B. Ireland is seriously ill with pneumonia, and is in the constant care of Dr. Andrew and Nurse Williams.

Mrs. George Burnett and Mrs. Schatt drove over to Penticton on Monday. The roads around are really in good condition for this time of year, and quite a number of folk are enjoying long drives just now.

Among those who are welcomed when they come down the lake on the boat to spend a weekend at this part of the lake was Mr. Howard Rounds, who came down from Kelowna on Saturday and stayed at Naramata till Monday morning.

Mr. G. Burnett is removing his camp over from the Summerland side of the Kettle Valley Railway construction to Naramata, and arrived on Tuesday night with a party of four or five engineers who will occupy one of the Hotel cottages for some six weeks to come.

The nightly disturbance of the tinkling bells of the cows that stroll around Naramata awakening babies and grown-ups alike reached a kind of climax this week. Passive complaints seemed of no avail, and perhaps it was a little drastic, but someone went out with buckshot, and—well, the cows are now put to bed more carefully.

The picturesque bungalow being erected by Messrs. Fred and Mark Manchester is approaching completion, and will be one of the prettiest little residences in Naramata when finished, with broad cemented verandah and pergola porch and its snugly arranged rooms.

Mr. T. H. Boothe was called to Vernon this week where he will remain on business for possibly two weeks.

Miss Bessie Mitchell spent Tuesday in Summerland and Naramata.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Steele are temporarily occupying the Pitman House while their residence is being plastered.

We noticed a large flock of sheep being driven through from Kelowna along the trail south. A flock of some 1300 sheep is quite a novelty.

The little daughter of Mr. Ireland who has been suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia is slightly better at the present writing.

Mr. A. E. Boyer, the customs collector stationed at Kelowna, came to Naramata last Friday, deputized to inspect the ferry service at this end of the lake.

We understand that a number of men in the employ of the K.V.R. Co. have arrived and gone up along the right-of-way for the purpose of cutting ties in preparation for the laying of steel in the spring. One camp will be near the Blair Construction camp.

The ferry service is now back to its original schedule after the interruption caused by the visit of the inspector of lake traffic on last Friday and Saturday. Since Captain Roe has not taken out master's papers, and hence is barred by the law from navigating a boat carrying passengers he has secured the services of Captain Languedoc who does possess the qualifying papers.

METHODIST CHURCH CHICKEN PIE SUPPER.

The Chicken Pie Supper and Concert held at the Naramata Methodist Church on Tuesday night was a great success, both as regards the quality and quantity of the menu and the excellency of the music which followed the banquet.

The tables were laid in the basement of the church, which was lavishly decorated, and as the title indicates Chicken Pie was the leading interest of the menu. Some splendid examples of culinary skill were dispatched by a large gathering of appreciative guests, with salads and fruit pies and excellent tea and coffee as supplementary attractions.

A special trip was made by the ferry and a very large number of the Summerland Methodists crossed over, returning about eleven across the lake. The return journey of a merry party on such a magnificent and peaceful start night was one of the little items of the evening's program that was most thoroughly enjoyed.

The concert program was given after supper in the church. Rev. W. P. Bunt was in the chair, and small informal speeches were made by the Rev. R. W. Lee and Rev. Mr. Thomson of Penticton.

Rev. R. W. Lee gave as recitations selections from "Enoch Arden" and "Songs of the Sourdough" and Mrs. Morfitt, Miss Ethel Brown, and Messrs. T. G. Beavis and J. O. Smith sang. Mr. Percy Thornber accompanied with his usual ability throughout the program, and the choir of the Summerland Methodist Church sang an anthem as an opening item. Mrs. Lang accompanied the songs given by Mrs. Morfitt.

THE UNITY CLUB.

The Unity Club is now in the full swing of its activities for the winter season, and the program that is promised will be full of interest. The membership has greatly increased since last year, and just lately a dozen more ladies' names have been enrolled. The sores of dinner dances which the Club proposes holding once a month at the Hotel Naramata will be not the least of the interesting festivities of the coming winter, and promise to be excellently supported.

Mrs. J. Rowley of Summerland spent Tuesday with Mrs. Peter Roe.

Mr. Brodie is confined at home with a troublesome case of dry pleurisy.

Probably the first fruit to go on exhibition from Naramata are the ten boxes of apples sent to the Summerland Apple Show by Mr. Wm. Mitchell. Fine looking fruit it is too. Soon Naramata will be counted on to carry off some prizes.

Passing Events: Social, Personal, &c.

The Peachland branch of the Northern Crown Bank is reported closed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Arnett and daughter are leaving early next week for a visit to Winnipeg.

Miss Grace Logie spent Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. R. C. Robinson, at the Hotel Naramata.

The "Okanagan" was unusually late on her down trip last Friday night. She docked here about 9.30 p.m.

Willie Angove, who has been with his brother on his farm near Stettler, Alberta, arrived home on Tuesday.

Mr. A. Stewart, who has for some weeks been selling fruit on the prairies arrived home in time for the Apple Show.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ross, who have been enjoying an extended vacation, are expected to return about the middle of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle, who have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Fosbery left on the Tuesday boat, returning to California for the winter.

Mrs. Morfitt is giving a Masquerade Halloween party for children to-night, and a number of little folk are looking forward to splendid time.

Miss Cooper spent last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Aikins at Naramata and enjoyed two or three motoring expeditions with them in the neighborhood.

There was a large contingent of Summerland ladies among the party who crossed the lake on Tuesday evening for the Chicken Pie Supper at the Naramata Methodist Church.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the Presbyterian Church, West Summerland, on Monday, November 3rd, at three o'clock.

Rev. H. G. Estabrook arrived here last Friday night and drove to Peachland last Sunday where he took part in the anniversary service. He will probably return to the Coast this week-end.

The honey stall at the Apple Show demonstrated very clearly the possibilities in the way of bee-keeping which are here among us. Mrs. Phillips' show of pure, exquisitely colored honey was admirable.

The snow is lying thickly on the mountains behind Summerland, and Snow Mountain is heavily snow capped. The effect as seen from the flats, of dazzling sunshine on wide stretches of snow, is of some strange winter scene, viewed from a land where autumn is still at its best.

Failure on the part of the C.P.R. to give notice of its intended cancelling of the Sunday morning boat caused great inconvenience to several people last Sunday morning. They had the added annoyance of seeing the boat pass up the lake without calling at either Naramata or Summerland.

New street lights have been placed on Shaughnessy Avenue northward to the former lumberyard site. A few feet more of wire and another lamp would light a very dangerous turn, namely that of the hill over the packing house. The Gulch Road is equally in need of better lighting.

In a modest corner of the Apple Show there are some examples of art reproducing nature which are so beautiful that the artist should have given them a more prominent position. Mr. C. P. Nelson's colored plates of some Summerland scenery are perfect little gems, and as local views illustrate the wonders of the Valley and the wonders of colored photography equally well.

White sprinklings of crystal frosts have been seen on the flower gardens along the lakeshore this week and have fallen more sharply on orchards and vegetable gardens higher up. It is curious to note the vernality of the early frosts this year. While a few tomatoes on the higher lands were nipped as early as Oct. 4, in one or two cases occasioning quite a serious loss, in some lakeside gardens this week, there are the most susceptible of flowers still blooming gaily on the threshold of November.

Shiloh

Mrs. M. M. Robinson spent Tuesday with friends in Peachland.

Miss Clouston has invited several guests for a Halloween party to-night.

Mrs. Andrew and Miss Blott, her sister, left last Saturday for a visit to Vancouver.

Mr. Fosbery has been at Vernon this week serving on grand jury at the assizes there.

Mrs. A. L. Moreland came down from Kelowna on Tuesday, and is the guest of Mrs. R. C. Lipsett.

Mr. Reg. Tait went up to Sicamous on Thursday morning to see his brother who is on his way from Montreal to the Coast.

Mr. J. Rowley is soon to open a branch store in the building last occupied by Mr. H. H. Esley, next the Bank of Montreal branch.

Mrs. A. W. McLeod, with her three youngest children, Leighton, Dwight, and Audrey, expect to leave for Chillwack on Tuesday.

We are informed that Mr. R. H. Helmer has severed his connection with the Balcom Ranch, and will for a time at least be a resident of Peach Orchard.

Mrs. George Grey and Mrs. W. J. Robinson went up the lake to Kelowna Tuesday morning and joining Mr. W. J. Robinson on his return from the Coast, returned that evening.

Eighty-five per cent. of headaches are caused through eye-strain, so if you are troubled that way do not fail to consult Dr. S. L. Taube at Summerland Drug Store on Wednesday, November 19th.

That Okanaga apples are O.K. is quite an understood thing. But it was none the less a neat little idea that took the public fancy, to emblazon the letters on either side of one of the artistic displays designed for competition.

Mr. J. L. Logie visited his daughter, Mrs. Campbell Robinson on Tuesday last and made the acquaintance of his new little granddaughter. After lunch he went down to Penticton, returning later in the evening on the ferry.

A large list of household effects will be auctioned to-morrow (Saturday) by Cordy & Higgin at the home of C. L. Fetherstonhaugh, Esq. The sale begins promptly at 1.30. There will doubtless be many bargains offered during the afternoon.

Our local Jam Factory again won the cup at the Okanagan Apple Show for the best display of preserved fruit. Thus the cup has come to them two years in succession. To hold the cup in perpetuity they will need to win it but once more.

Competition in judging is a new feature being introduced at some of the apple shows in the north-west states. Teams of three students each, judge the exhibits, and their work is checked by experienced judges, and prizes awarded to the team doing the best work.

Special prizes by Summerland Supply Co. for greatest number of first prizes won on boxed fruit. First Prize, secrétaire, value $25, C. M. Woodworth; Second Prize couch, value $15, J. R. Brown; Third Prize, chair, value $10, Bankhead Orchards Co., Kelowna.

Okanagan Sugared Sunbeams! Here is surely poetry and effective advertisement combined in the title of a sweetmeat! Mrs. Fosbery's pretty-looking and delicious confections made of the sweetened pulp of Okanagan fruits were a most attractive little side exhibit at the Apple Show.

The young Christian native of Persia, Mr. A. E. Kochaly, who gave a lecture at the Lakeshore Baptist Church on Wednesday evening, thoroughly interested a large audience. His interesting and intelligent personality and picturesque native dress considerably added to the effect of his address. Mr. Kochaly speaks excellent English, and his account of the conditions, climate, and customs of his native country were eloquently described. He passed from one subject to another with the ease of a practised lecturer, and the business and railways, fruit crops and climate, marriage customs, dress and religion of Persia were all graphically put before a thoroughly appreciative audience.

WHEREFORE THIS?

"The Summerland Hotel has closed down permanently owing to lack of business. It is stated that a smaller hotel may be built suitable to the needs of the place."—Penticton Herald.

Yet another unnecessary, unneighborly and untruthful stab from the Herald. Such reports, while doing us injury, do no credit to our contemporary. True, Hotel Summerland was closed temporarily, and also with equal truth a new hotel is being built. The implied reasons, however, bear the appearance of malicious intent. Summerland expects to have enough business for two and soon for three hotels.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-west Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre. For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY, Deputy Minister of the Interior.

PEACHLAND ANNIVERSARY.

Peachland, Oct. 30.—On Sunday last the Baptist Church here celebrated its third anniversary. Rev. H. G. Estabrook of Vancouver preached a Thanksgiving sermon in the morning. The church was beautifully decorated with the products of the field, orchard, and garden. In the evening Rev. F. W. Pattison of Summerland preached the anniversary sermon. This is probably the last time many of the people will be privileged to hear Mr. Pattison as he leaves shortly for England. A united choir under the leadership of Mr. R. J. Hogg helped materially in each of the services.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Naramata, B.C., Oct. 30th, 1913 While we appreciate very much the good word said of the Okanagan Lake Boat Co., and its efforts to serve the public, in the article published in the issue of Oct. 24th, still we feel it is unfair in that it has a tendency to suggest the influence of legislation on the part of someone who might have a desire to hinder the operations or hurt our interests.

If the assertion was suggested by anything said in conversation with P S Roe, it was a matter of personal opinion with him, and is not to be construed as an expression of the opinion of the Okanagan Lake Boat Co. as a whole.

The main reason for the tie up was on account of the necessary equipment required by the law not having been installed; also that the vessel and captain had not the required papers, and we much regret we did not act in this matter as promptly as we might.

We are, however, pleased to state that, having complied with requirements as far as possible, we were able to get our release within 48 hours.

We desire to thank the public for their good nature, patience and support, and to admit without reserve, that we ourselves were entirely to blame in the matter.

Yours truly, The Okanagan Lake Boat Co., Ltd. J. H. Pushman, Secy.-Treas.

The Methodist Church will hold their annual Harvest Thanksgiving services on Sunday next. The morning service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. W. Lee, while the preacher at the evening service will be Rev. R. M. Thompson of Penticton. Special music will be rendered, and the church will be decorated in harmony with the occasion. On Monday evening at eight o'clock a conversation will be held. A splendid program of music will be provided, and refreshments will be served. A hearty invitation is given to all.
