"The Minister's Bride" Proves Laughable Sketch

Splendid Amateur Theatrical Performance Put On By St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid.

The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church have every reason to be satisfied with their entertainment on Monday night. That it must have been a distinct success from a financial standpoint was quite apparent from the crowded hall. Home made candy helped to swell the proceeds, the supply soon becoming exhausted.

Every one of the three hundred or more persons in the College Gymnasium seemed to enjoy the entertainment. All available seats were occupied soon after the curtain rose on the first scene, and there were a number at the back of the hall that had to be content with standing room.

"The Minister's Bride" was the title of the sketch presented, and it seemed to be a laugh right from the start. What little the audience was not able to catch in the way of words was usually obvious from the gestures or actions of those on the stage, so that nobody missed very much of the play. Some of the old time costumes worn by the ladies were very attractive, some, indeed, distinctly fetching, while the four men were also dressed up to their parts with nothing lacking.

Chief interest, of course, centred round the Minister and his Bride. Mrs. A. H. Steven made a charming bride, carrying her part through in fine style. Whether it was taking the exceedingly pointed remarks of Mrs. Sharpe, receiving the "cheerful" advice of Mrs. Charity, or entering into the numerous other situations that arose, the minister's bride played the part. She received able backing from the minister himself to whom fell the task of introducing his bride to his people, making the best of their reception of his choice, and meeting the little notions and mannerisms that some of them seemed to cherish. What appealed most of all was the gallant way he supported and comforted his weeping bride when she had to give way under the well-intentioned but nevertheless somewhat distressing remarks from a few of the women callers.

Mrs. Joe Crabb looked without question the part she was, that of the strong-minded wife who had her harmless and unassertive husband quite under her thumb. Joe Crabb, nevertheless, meek man that he was, kept the audience continually in laughter from the moment of his first appearance. He made very proud reference to some of his handiwork in laying out the Kettle Valley station grounds, the Presbyterian Church lawns, and the Baptist Church rockery. Miranda Meek and her swain through long years, Jim Curtis, who always was "a man of his word," but who nevertheless couldn't quite screw up his courage when it came to standing up with his bride in the minister's study, were another couple who provided very amusing diversions, especially in the third scene. Mrs. Sharpe, with a tongue just about as cutting as her name; Mrs. Charity, whose disposition did not seem to be quite as angelic and benign as her name indicated; and Mrs. Battereddays, Mrs. Seegood, and Mrs. Black were the women of the minister's congregation who figured prominently in the circle of the bride's new acquaintances. All these parts were entered into in the spirit of the play, that of Mrs. Charity especially. Mr. Amos Right seemed choked up with learning of all kinds, literary quotations, scientific allusions, and city ways, and incidentally was somewhat struck on Miss Molly Charity, although he said that her conversation lacked the knowledge that he seemed to more than make up for. So bashful and awkward was Mr. Ephraim Snolgrove that he did not seem to be able to have time for much else but mopping his heated brow, especially during his heated colloquy with Miss Jones, when he excelled himself in gawkishness.

A synopsis of the sketch itself appeared in these columns last week, and little more need be said but that it fulfilled the promise of plenty of fun. It had fitting culmination in the presentation to

PEACHLAND TURNS MORE TO DAIRYING.

Will Depend More On Home Products And Mixed Farming.

Diversified farming, even where fruit growing is and will remain the chief effort and feature, is becoming recognized as essential to success. First the chicken, then the cow, and later the hog each finds a place of usefulness in the orchard. It is now to be regretted that their value, their indispensability in the general scheme of community building was not recognized long ago. Many, many thousands of dollars have been sent out of our infant fruit growing communities, with no possibility of its returning, for the essentials of life that should have been from the first produced at home. And Peachland was one—only one—of these communities that made that mistake and suffered seriously because of it. Thousands of dollars have been squandered (speaking from a community viewpoint) for many things that should have been created from the soil, air, water and sunshine, for which that hillside district is famous. Even yet Peachland's butter, canned milk, lard and meat bills, are a heavy drain on the community pocket-book, to say nothing of the yet relatively large bill for hay, etc.

But all this is soon to be remedied—at least if one may judge from present indications. And with his money going out for the necessities that should be produced at home there will be more to spend at home for comforts, conveniences and pleasure.

Just one of the indications of the coming change is the recent move of the Peachland Farmers' Institute to bring in a number of well bred cows, and to obtain through the Department of Agriculture a pure bred Guernsey sire. Mr. S. Murdin, who was delegated for the job, went down to Chilliwack last week to purchase some cows of established quality, and the government has already consented to provide a pure bred male. It is proposed to make the Guernsey the community breed, and to make Peachland famous for its Guernseys.

Soon, no doubt, will follow the pure bred swine, and with prospects of an assured market through the Fruit Growers' Union, eggs and poultry will become large factors, supplying home needs with a good margin for export.

We predict soon for Peachland the stopping of a big leakage, which will be turned into an inflowing stream of ready cash.

Starting a year or two earlier, Summerland, with its pure bred Holsteins, its Duroc-Jersey and Yorkshire hogs, and several varieties of pure bred fowl, has already gone far on the way to accomplish this desired and necessary position.

WOMEN ACTIVE IN FRUIT MARKETING.

The direct marketing plan inaugurated last year by the West Summerland Women's Institute by which members dealt directly with the members of similar organizations on the prairies is to be further extended this year. Price lists will be sent to Institutes in all three prairie provinces for distribution among the members. The price list will quote f.o.b. Summerland prices, and the object is to encourage express shipments of tree ripened fruits direct to consumers.

A meeting of members interested in the plan was held on Tuesday when Mrs. Fosbery, who from the first has taken a foremost part in the scheme, was again given the direction.

It was decided that each member desiring to benefit by the plan should contribute one dollar toward the initial expenses; orders falling anyone, the money to be refunded. Thus only those members benefitted would be contributing.

It was also proposed that an effort be made to get all express shippers together to arrange uniform prices, and in this the Fruit Union and A. Stewart & Son may be asked to participate.

God gives to every bird its food but does not throw it into the nest.

B.C. Fruit Growers & Prairie Farmers

Discuss New Tariff on Apples

Grain Growers Assured Of Reasonable Prices.

A conference held at Moose Jaw this week, between representatives of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association and members of the executives of the farmers' organizations and Grain Growers' Associations of the three prairie provinces brought out full discussion of the higher protection which British Columbia fruit growers are asking to prevent unfair competition from American growers.

Thomas Abriel, of Nakusp, B.C., president of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, pointed out that Oregon and Washington could supply the world with apples, when all the trees were bearing, and 75 per cent. would have to be destroyed on account of over production. In British Columbia, however, there was little over production, and the consequence was that Canadian growers were forced to meet competition in inferior grade of fruit dumped on the market at prices lower than the cost of production in British Columbia. The increased duty asked was to protect against dumping.

FARMERS' OPINION.

Representatives of farmers' associations, however, expressed the opinion that additional duty would not solve the problem, as the cost of production in British Columbia was greater than Ontario and Nova Scotia. While recognizing the stand of the British Columbia growers, the farmers' representatives considered it unfair for the growers in the coast province to seek by legislation to force the prairie consumer to pay a higher price in order to cover the higher cost of production in British Columbia, which is brought about largely by the necessity for irrigation and other overhead expenses.

Those from this province attending the conference were: Thomas Abriel, Nakusp, President of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association; James Brook, Grand Forks, President of the Grand Forks Fruit Growers, and Mr. Mutch of Penticton.

Mr. Mutch, who returned on Wednesday, said that he had little to give out for publication beyond the fact that he thought there were excellent prospects for the Fruit Unions to do business this year with the Grain Growers Association, several points of difference, mainly in regard to the increased duty on apples having been cleared up as a result of the conference.

No Local Inspector Has Been Named

Re-Arrangement Of Districts

Ben Hoy In Charge Of Lake And South Territory.

The fruit inspection work in this province which was under the direction of the late Mr. Thos. Cunningham, has been divided. Mr. Lyne, who has for a number of years been inspector under Mr. Cunningham, retains charge of the quarantine work, or inspection of imports, as the Review has already given out, while Mr. R. M. Winslow, B.S.A., Provincial Horticulturist, takes charge of the field work and inspection of B.C. products. Mr. R. C. Abbott, Coast Markets Commissioner, has been appointed inspector in charge of exports and local shipments under Mr. Winslow. Mr. Abbott has done a remarkable work for British Columbia fruit ranchers, and this promotion is the well-deserved reward of hard and effective work. The inspection work, in addition to the former duties of his office, brings Mr. Abbott in close touch with his ordinary work. The two offices will work well together.

In connection with the rearrangement of the work of the fruit pests field inspection, Provincial Horticulturist Winslow has arranged to have the assistant horticulturists in the various fruit districts take control of this work, doing both the fruit horticultural inspection and the pest control work. The pest inspectors will be placed under the direction of the assistant horticulturists.

A rearrangement of territory has also been made. The territory of Mr. P. E. French, horticulturist at Salmon Arm, has been extended to include Vernon and other points in the northern-Okanagan, and in future Mr. French will have his headquarters at Vernon. Mr. Ben Hoy, horticulturist for the Okanagan, is moving his headquarters from Vernon to Kelowna, and in future will direct the horticultural and pest inspection work from Kelowna south into the Similkameen.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture is putting up a strong fight against the inroads of the codling moth in northern Okanagan, and now has four big power sprayers at Westbank, across the lake from Kelowna, with three more power sprayers at Vernon. Mr. Winslow says that it is hoped to buck the codling moth this season to the point of extermination. Much of the infection comes from foreign fruit cars entering Canada, and then getting to the fruit districts for the loading of British Columbia fruit.

The Women's Institutes.

Because of Good Friday the date of the regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute has been advanced one week, and will be held next Friday, the 14th, in the Men's Club. Mr. Hilborn will address the members on "Vegetable Gardening." The members are asked to remember the "shower" for the Belgians. A question drawer will also form part of the program.

The West Summerland Women's Institute will meet in St. Stephen's Hall on Friday, the 14th April, at three o'clock sharp. There are several letters from the Department of Agriculture to be read. There will also be an interesting debate and several other good things. A large attendance is requested.

The Prize List prepared by the Summerland Women's Institute for their 1916 Flower Show and General Exhibition are now just about ready for distribution, and will likely be in the hands of intending exhibitors very shortly. The nature of the exhibits is such as in former years, but this is the first time that the list has been prepared in time to give every woman ample opportunity to make up exhibits without the need for any haste that may endanger the quality of the workmanship. This step is to be much commended, and the wisdom of it will probably be manifested in a larger and more representative entry. The date of the exhibition is set for Friday, August 4th.

GOVERNMENT APPROVES TROUT CREEK SCHOOL.

Trustees Arranging For Improvements To School Grounds.

The Department of Education, upon the advice of Inspector Anstey, has granted the Summerland School Board the necessary permission to open a primary school at Trout Creek Point. The communication conveying this intelligence was read at the regular monthly meeting of the board held on Tuesday morning. On the motion of Trustees Hilborn and Sharp, the Secretary was instructed to ask the Department to erect the school building.

Trustee Hilborn was asked to meet Mr. Gibson, the official directly in charge of the school garden work and consult with him in reference to the beautifying of the school grounds and getting the promised financial assistance for this work. Mr. Gibson had advised the board that he planned to make Summerland a visit shortly.

Mr. Hilborn will also consult with an architect, Mr. Pelton of Penticton, who will be asked to come and advise what should be done to properly heat the Central building. It is expected that it will be necessary to discard the present system and put in two hot air furnaces, one at each end.

The subject of physical training was introduced by Trustee Sharp, who would like to see a regular course in this work.

He would like to see this made an outdoor feature of the school work. During the discussion it was stated that no physical exercises whatever were being given in one of the departments at the Central, and the Chairman undertook to take this up with the principal.

Trustee Mrs. Kelley reported that soon music would be made a part of the regular studies in B.C. schools, but just when it would be introduced had not been stated.

A requisition for equipment and material was received from the teaching staff. Among the equipment asked for was a sand tray for the purpose of moulding relief maps, etc. Upon the recommendation of Trustee Mrs. Kelley the cost of providing one for use in the Central will be learned by Mrs. Ross.

The unsatisfactory condition of some of the flags and flag poles was told of by Mrs. Ross, who strongly urged that respect for the Empire's ensign be made more of a feature of school training, and that the children be taught to better care for the flags furnished. She said further that the children were not being taught to sing the patriotic songs. She reported that Miss Lister of the Town School was preparing her pupils for a public concert to be given about the 20th, the proceeds to be used for school purposes.

The question of discipline and proper supervision of the children during noon and recess intervals again provoked a long discussion. This matter has given other boards considerable concern, and it was decided to have it finally disposed of.

Dr. Sawyer offered to discuss the subject with Principal Lees with a view to definitely arranging some satisfactory way of supervising the pupils during these intervals of play and recreation. He looked upon this as one of the problems of the consolidated school system which must be worked out if that system is to be continued.

The usual budget of accounts, amounting to $1,040 was passed for payment.

Why This Difference?

If anyone comparing the difference in the condition of the roads in the Okanagan and Similkameen districts finds the result detrimental to this district, some inkling of how it comes about may be seen in the following figures, which are given for comparison. Special warrants, authorized by the Provincial Government for roadwork, between the sessions of the Legislature in 1915 and 1916, for the two ridings, are as follows:

Okanagan district - $ 86.50
Similkameen district - $3,543.88
These amounts are for work done since the beginning of August last year. The Okanagan district had the smallest amount authorized and the Similkameen the second largest.

Substantial Contribution To Patriotic Fund.

Nearly Five Hundred Dollars Is Summerland's Second Monthly Instalment.

As a result of the organized effort of the Summerland Patriotic Fund, and the generous support given it by our citizens, Summerland's contribution to the fund for the month of March, as represented in the bank draft forwarded to the provincial treasurer, was $462.95. The sum forwarded at the end of February was $399.30.

The March total was made of monthly pledges paid in $136, amount received from "Cafe Chantant," $139.15, other cash donations $187, and bank interest, 80 cents. A bank draft for the total $462.95 was mailed by Treasurer E. B. May on April 1st to the Treasurer in Victoria.

Had all the pledges been paid the sum would have been $96 larger. No less than 58 subscribers whose pledges totalled that amount failed to make good, and had it not been for some special substantial cash donations, the result would have appeared like an early fall-down. This failure on the part of so many of those who pledged monthly payments may be partially due to the fact that there is only one place at which to make the payments, the Bank of Montreal, and that the hours in which that office is open are short. To facilitate collections and make it more convenient for subscribers to keep paid up it is probable that pay stations will be established at convenient points.

St Andrew's Church Fifth Anniversary.

The anniversary services in St. Andrew's Church last Sunday were long to be remembered ones, both for their strongly devotional and inspirational character and the large attendances. The evening service especially drew a large congregation. Rev. N. McNaughton was the preacher of the day, and he left with his hearers after each of his three sermons, much that can be of help and encouragement along the way of life, besides providing much food for reflection in the points he advanced.

A full choir gave some splendid music morning and evening. At the former service their anthem was "Incline Thine Ear," with a bass solo by Mr. J. O. Smith, while in the evening they rendered "O Lord, How Manifold Are Thy Works." At this service the congregation enjoyed the privilege of a solo from Miss Fairbanks of Penticton, who was a visitor in Summerland for the day. She sang the familiar words of "Abide with me," to a beautiful solo setting.

Special mention should be made of the decorations which were carried out in such good taste, under the general direction of Mr. R. B. Forsyth. A great variety of spring flowers and bulbs provided a rich mingling of white and colored blooms, and these were set off well by the sombre green of Oregon grape. On the end wall, facing the congregation a simple but effective design had been worked in leaves of Oregon grape, "1911-1916," which tended to emphasize the anniversary occasion very suitably. The windows also lent themselves to decoration, and were brightened with flowering plants. The main body of decoration was in front of the pulpit, however, where an effect of great beauty had been wrought, by the judicious use of daffodils, geraniums, azaleas, cyclamen, hyacinths, and other flowers.

THE EGG SITUATION.

THAT STATEMENT made by Manager Jackson that the Central Selling Agency would consider the question of marketing eggs as well as fruit and vegetables, should be looked into. The egg situation in this district is very far from satisfactory. Eggs are plentiful, the local demand is strictly limited, and many are finding that the only thing to do is to preserve the eggs, though it is generally conceded that June eggs are best for this purpose. But there is nothing else to do with them.

The egg consuming public in Summerland is greatly diminished over that of previous years, owing to the fact that a large number of single men, many of them large buyers of eggs in the usual course, are now away. This has considerably lessened the demand in the local stores, which means that local prices will not be any too profitable from the poultryman's standpoint.

The co-operative marketing plan is the soundest method of disposing of eggs, as it is of other agricultural and horticultural produce. If the Fruit Union can market eggs for as reasonable a margin as it disposed of fruit, then there is yet a possibility of the poultry business getting on a firm basis. And if eggs can be handled in that way, why not dressed poultry?

But, as Mr Jackson pointed out, what is essential is a dependable supply of eggs, not a fluctuating quantity. The marketing body must not be used as a convenience but as the constant source of disposal. Local stores could get their needs for retail selling supplied from the Fruit Union, and thus complete solidarity among poultry keepers would be attained, which always spells success.

AIDING RETURNED SOLDIERS.

BRITISH COLUMBIA is one of the first provinces in the Dominion to announce a definite policy of aid for returned soldiers. A bill was introduced the latter part of last week at Victoria which announces some measure of privilege which will be accorded to soldiers who lay down their arms. The bill is termed the Soldiers' Homestead Act. It provides that between two and three million acres of good agricultural land which has been sold by the government, but which has not been paid for be brought back to the crown. Portions of these huge released areas will be given free to returned soldiers without the present restrictions surrounding pre-emptions. The military pre-emptors will also be given assistance in the way of loans from a fund provided by the government from the sale of land. Besides providing benefits for those who have done their "bit" for their country, the measure is also designed to relieve somewhat a difficult situation that has arisen owing to the fact that huge acreages are now withheld temporarily from settlement, being nominally in the hands of private owners who find themselves unable to make their payments to the government.

Another feature of the act is that which will give pre-emptors who enlist or who have enlisted for service full title to their pre-emptions without payment of any kind, and without the necessity of observing present requirements in respect to occupations and improvements.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

MERELY TO MENTION "daylight saving" to some people is to provoke the kind of indulgent smile that tells you they are sorry you suffer from such spells. But the common sense of the idea is gradually taking hold of thinking people, and so it is found that cities such as Winnipeg and Calgary are among those whose civic authorities have decided to put the plan into operation during the summer months.

It is literally what its name says—daylight saving. One hour of daylight between sunrise and whatever hour constitutes the beginning of one's daily activity, usually spent in sleep, is utilized for work, that hour of sleep being tacked on to the first part of the night. This is brought about by the simple expedient of advancing the clocks just one hour, and guiding our work by the new time. It really amounts to this: that we live more by the natural divisions of night and day.

Taking it for granted that there are seventeen hours or more of daylight in the summer months, it does not take much reflection to reach the conclusion that the average person uses only about fourteen of these. The other three, the first three, are spent in sleep. When nightfall comes, the average person is not ready to retire, but feels it necessary to turn two or three hours of night into day by the use of artificial light. By daylight saving one's waking activities are better centred into the hours of daylight, and the night is spent as it should be—in sleep.

There are practical reasons why Summerland should take some consideration of such a plan. Here are a few of them:

The fruit crop is going to be larger than that of last year, if indications hold out. But how about the labor to handle it? Of the one hundred and fifty men or so who have enlisted from here, it is safe to say that one hundred were directly concerned in the summer with the handling of the fruit crop, doing work that someone else will have to do this year. It will be a case of working long and late, and it will be cheaper to do it in daylight than after dark. Every hour's work will count.

Every summer it is found necessary to curtail the electric light supply to the minimum of hours, in order that the precious water used for power may be used for irrigation purposes. By putting the daylight saving plan into operation another hour still can be chopped off the summer light schedule. This means considerable saving not only for the electric light user, but also for the orchardist who wants the water.

Daylight saving is a double saving in dollars and cents. It saves the hour of electric light or oil and turns that hour into one of productive labor. Result, you are saving something and making something as well.

There are objections to the scheme, of course, but the advantages its adoption for the summer months would offer, seem to far outweigh the disadvantages. Daylight saving is already in effect at the Experimental Station to the extent of half an hour a day, though the purpose in this case may only be to allow of getting into town in reasonable time.

It would be worth while considering its adoption for the whole district.

MORE TO FOLLOW. Winnipeg Free Press.

BRITISH COLUMBIA is the first Canadian province to embark on the business of acting as intermediary between the farmer who needs money for the development of his property and the money lender. It has borrowed $1,000,000 under the new Agricultural Credits Act, at 5.63 per cent., and expects to reloan this money under the New Zealand system, which has been adapted to the conditions of the Pacific Province, at an advance of 1 per cent. A despatch from Victoria says that it is expected that during the next year some six or seven million dollars will be loaned to farmers in British Columbia under the terms of the act. Nothing is more certain than that every province in the Dominion will be obliged to follow the example thus set by British Columbia, although possibly different systems may be followed, unless the Dominion Government tackles the problem for the whole Dominion and relieves them of the responsibility. Credit is ceasing to be a matter in which only the borrower and the lender are supposed to be interested. The State, representing the whole people, intends to have something to say about it in the future.

§ § § § §

THE DUTY ON APPLES is calling forth much adverse criticism and comment in the press of eastern Canada and the Prairies. One is almost led to think that this is for one reason because the duty is chiefly to enable British Columbia orchardists to supply the market on the Prairies. This is probably the way it will work, although eastern growers will admittedly reap some benefit also. After all, the purpose of the duty is not to raise the price of British Columbia apples to the Prairie consumer, but rather to keep the home market for fruit originating in this province. The "Nor-West Farmer" has gone so far as to describe the new apple tariff as the "British Columbia Fruit Growers' Relief Fund," and time may prove that truer word was never spoken, though in jest.

WHEN you are clearing up the rubbish this spring from about your land and premises, clean up that fence line that became such an eyesore last summer when the weeds grew up around it. The labor will amply repay itself in the neat and tidy appearance the fence line will take on. Be public spirited enough to include the road sides adjoining your property in your spring clearing up operations as well, and you will call down blessings on your head from your neighbors and friends. Besides, the clean-up spirit is catching, by setting the example you may be the means of greatly improving the looks of your particular section of the district. Try it.

PEDIGREED Duroc Jersey Swine

The Government records show the following percentage of increase or decrease (1910-1915 compared) of the breeds:

Berks 10 per cent loss	Chester White 47 p.c. gain
Yorks' 19 " "	Poland China..222 " "
Tams 7 " "	Durocs653 " "
Hampshire .50 " "

This is a correct view of the way the people have headed in five years—showing a big tendency toward thicker hogs, and especially the DUROCS.

My herd contains some of the best Duroc blood in Canada and the States, and is from stock that has never been defeated in the Shows from Winnipeg to Victoria.

Orchard and Farm:

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

Destroying Pocket Gopher.

The pocket gopher is a small, dark brown, rat-tailed rodent. The species found in the Okanagan is about half the size of a rat. It lives beneath the ground, and we see much more of its work than we do of the animal itself.

At ordinary altitudes they do not hibernate, and are active throughout the year. In summer they do much damage to root crops of the garden and to such field crops as alfalfa, potatoes, and carrots. They cut up pasture land, and render meadows difficult to mow. In winter they destroy young trees, frequently cutting the roots entirely off, to such an extent that the trees can be pulled from the ground.

Their presence may be detected by the small mounds which they throw out. These little heaps of earth usually follow a more or less clearly defined line, indicating the presence of the runway. Unlike the mole which also throws out little mounds, the pocket gopher does not root up the earth between these mounds. The gopher has many of these runways lying near the surface, which he uses for his convenience in feeding, often leading them under a row of parsnips or carrots. His nest is deeper down in the dryer earth.

Professor W. T. Shaw of the Washington Agricultural Experiment Station at Pullman, Washington, states that we now know that much of his food is stored in caches near the surface, in little side pockets off the runways. Therefore, it is possible to poison him, especially in early spring, by dropping poison bait down into his runway where he is accustomed to find his food. The direction of the runway is indicated by the way in which the mound has been made in throwing out the earth from the burrow. About a foot back of the mound prod around in the earth with a sharp peg about the size of a fork handle. When the burrow is struck, drop three poisoned cubes down into it and cover with a little dead grass to keep out most of the light.

The poison cubes are made in the following way: Cut sweet potatoes into cubes of half an inch; wash and drain well. While the sides of the cubes are still moist, sprinkle four quarts of them with this mixture:

Strychnine (alkaloid, powdered) 1 ounce
Saccharine 3/4 ounce

The strychnine and saccharine are mixed dry.

This is the formula recommended by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture.

In case sweet potatoes cannot be secured, carrots or parsnips may be used.

It is very important that the work of extermination should be done early in the season, when the ground is most free from vegetation.

The Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has recently published a booklet prepared by Mr. J. F. Singleton, Chief Inspector of Dairy Products, on "The Testing of Milk, Cream, and Dairy Products by Means of the Babcock Test." It contains in simple terms, complete instructions for using the most approved methods of testing milk. The booklet is known as "Bulletin No. 45, Dairy and Cold Storage Series," and a copy may be had by addressing the Department.

Fruit Refuse Will Kill Trees.

It is not an uncommon thing to see a quantity of refuse fruit thrown about a tree or on a piece of ground which it is desired to enrich. That such practice is dangerous. The Dominion Division of Horticulture in its annual report tells of a whole peach orchard being killed outright by dumping cannery refuse in it. Similar injury, though on a small scale, often occurs where piles of refuse are dumped, resulting from the excess of acid. A sterile spot in the soil results, on which for a year or two, or until the excess is removed by rains or otherwise, nothing will grow. Such piles should obviously not be put in close proximity to trees.

West Summerland, B.C.
April 5th, 1916.

The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,
Referring to your last week's report of the meeting of the Summerland Fruit Union, I wish to take exception to the remark of the director who stated that—

"Having practically forced feed dealers out of business, the directors felt it was but just that they should exceed their authority and sell to non-members, which they have been doing, charging $2 per ton over members prices."

Now had the Union gone into feed with the view to putting feed concerns out of business, this might have been a boast; but my idea of their policy was to reduce prices for their shareholders only, and this would certainly be legitimate.

However I know of many non-members who have been getting feed at the same price as members, which method is neither fair to the business man who cannot compete, or to the shareholder who has invested good money for advantages which ANYONE can procure.

Now I have been and am handling from 2 to 4 carloads of flour, feed, and hay per month, and naturally do not feel that I "have been forced out of business."

Thanking you for the privilege of correcting an assertion, which, though perhaps not ill-meant, might at least be misleading.

Yours faithfully,
THOS. B. YOUNG.

APPLES WITH FRIED ONIONS.

Peel onions and slice. Fry in fat until a rich brown; drain on soft brown paper. Fry unpared quarters of apple in the fat left from the onions. Arrange apples in a border on a platter; fill centre with the fried onions and serve hot.

Preparations are now being undertaken in real earnest on almost every ranch for a big season's work. In setting your place in order and taking stock, as it were, of your farm equipment, haven't you come across some articles that you do not use, and that you might turn into cash? Perhaps it is an implement, or some farm material, or it may be a hundred and one other things. It may be, too, that you have some equipment you would replace with new if you could sell what you have. These are some of the diversified uses of the Review Classified Ad. Column. The ability of these inexpensive ads to bring results may surprise you.

The B.C. Telephone Company is establishing a new copper circuit between Nelson, Kaslo and New Denver, which besides giving Nelson verbal communication with the entire Shocan district also gives direct connection with the Kootenay-Boundary country. People in Nelson will now be able to talk with Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, or even San Francisco.

"Father," said the minister's son, "my teacher says that 'collect' and 'congregate' mean the same thing. Do they?" "Perhaps they do, my son," said the venerable clergyman; "but you may tell your teacher that there is a vast difference between a congregation and a collection."

Boy Scout News.

A meeting at the home of Mr Nuttall of the Scout Council is being held on Saturday evening to lay plans for the summer. A full attendance of the council is anticipated.

Parents who are interested in the Scout work should pay an occasional visit to the scout hall to see for themselves the nature and scope of the work being undertaken. It is probable that when the next Scout exhibition is held a good deal of the regular work will be worked into the program. Most of the physical drills are such as should be worked into the regular practices of the senior and intermediate classes of our public schools, in which case the girls would be receiving the same amount of physical development as the boys.

Robinson Avenue, in the intersection of Fourth Street, received some much needed attention this week. Until this section is drained it is altogether likely that these occasional coatings of gravel will ever be found necessary.

Current Events - OF - Town & District

Mrs J. H. Pushman paid a visit to Penticton on Tuesday.

Miss Gwen Robinson spent the week-end in Summerland as a guest of Mrs G. Ross.

Mrs G. Ross of Summerland was a guest for a few days of last week of Miss Robinson.

Mr Geo. Cook, who is at present at the Summerland Hospital, is now on a fair way to recovery from the effects of a recent surgical operation.

"A Town is What Its People Make It," is the title of a paper by Mr J. H. Pushman at the April meeting of the Farmers' Institute, and it might well be made an open night for the general public to attend.

Speaking of the community interests reminds one that the town bill board—or "Town Crier"—has not yet made its appearance. It is to be hoped that the people who have authorized this board being installed may not have long to wait.

The Naramata W.C.T.U. ladies are anticipating a fine trip, across the lake to Summerland on Friday, April 7th, where they have been invited to visit that Union. It is to be hoped that ALL the ladies will avail themselves of the fine opportunity of visiting our sister W.C.T.U. in that town.

April 14th—next Friday—has been receiving a good deal of attention at the hands of the ladies. At the Women's Institute meeting on Tuesday afternoon, when arrangements were made for dishing up refreshments to the men who turn out to help in beautifying the grounds in the vicinity of the school.

Amidst showers of rice and confetti and the oft-repeated "toot! toot! toot!" of the "Sicamous," Mr Guy Brock and his bride, nee Miss Vera Roe, stepped off the boat last Saturday night. The young couple have the best wishes of a wide circle of admiring friends for a long and joyous matrimonial voyage.

The card party last Thursday evening at the ladies' club room while not attended by the usual crowd of enthusiasts, proved quite an enjoyable social function of the week. Mrs Cook for the ladies, and Mr Fred Young for the gentlemen were the top notchers when score cards were footed up. The hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames F. Rounds and F. Simpson and Miss Robinson.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday, April 4th, with the President, Mrs H. T. Davies, in the chair. The secretary, Mrs Carroll Aikins, being unable to be present Mrs Cook ably filled that vacancy. After the regular routine business of the month was dispensed with several papers were read. Mrs John Schreck read a paper on "Child Culture," Mrs Kenyon on the "Various Foods Children Should Eat," and Mrs Dan McKay on "Current Events." These papers were all intensely interesting. Mrs Languedoc gave a verbal report on her visit during the previous month to the school, saying that she found everything in fine order. An item of special importance was the preparations made by the Institute for assisting the men folk who have pledged their support and active assistance at the "Community Bee" to be held at the school on April 14.

BOOST.

Boost your city, boost your friend, Boost the lodge that you attend, Boost the street on which you're dwelling, Boost the goods that you are selling, Boost the people round about you, They might get along without you, But success will quicker find them if they know that you're behind them.

Boost for every forward movement, Boost for every new improvement, Boost the man for whom you labor, Boost the stranger and the neighbor.

Cease to be a chronic knocker, Cease to be a progress blocker, If you'd make your city better, Boost it to the final letter.

ADVERTISING IS NEEDED.

"Advertising is the education of the public as to who you are, where you are, and what you have to offer in the way of skill, talent, or commodity. The only man who should not advertise is the man who has nothing to offer the world in the way of commodity or service."

"Go for them for all you are worth!" This is the advice a valued subscriber gives us in speaking of the mean people. "I notice," he says, "that though some people will not continue their subscription to the local paper, when they call at a house where it is taken they always ask for it, and read it through." Of course there are some folk who cannot see anything mean in doing this, and it does depend somewhat on the motive behind it. As our correspondent says, "Poverty should be despised by none, but meanness by all." It is good to know that someone has our viewpoint of the matter, and we welcome such moralizing all the more for the accompanying remittance which paid this subscriber up for many months in advance. Thank you, come again!

"Advertising is no good," said the man in old clothes, "It never helped me none." The millionaire merchant smiled, "that is because you tried it, John, as the Indian tried the feather bed. An Indian took a feather, placed it on a plank and slept on it all night. In the morning he growled: 'Paloface say feather heap soft. Paloface heap fool, ugh!'"

When you hear a man sneering at the local paper, you can safely bet he doesn't spend his time making it better. Those who don't see a benefit coming to a town from its newspapers haven't as much sense as a dove oyster, and are about as much value to a town as a ten-year-old delinquent.

Young Man, Do you know

that some of the best paid men right here in B.C. educated themselves for advancement at home, right in the village or on the farm, and that they had no better chances than you have, some, indeed, being extremely poor, and only having a knowledge of reading and writing? These men have, through the study of International Correspondence Schools' courses, and a determination to succeed, risen to where they are. Why not you?

Others with good general education have found that without special training along one line, they could not hope for much in exchange for their services, and have taken up the International Correspondence Schools studies and made good.

The International Correspondence Schools have contracts now with over two hundred railroads alone for instructing their employees, including the C.P.R., the C.N.R., the B.C. The 11th Canadian Mounted Rifles, which was recruited last spring, and which has been much disappointed as a corps in not having been transferred to England before this, has now received instructions to mobilize as an infantry battalion. This means that the regiment will have to be recruited up from its present strength, which is about 550, to infantry strength, about double that number. Steps are being taken right away to bring this about, the commanding officer having received the assurance from Ottawa that in view of the exceptionally long spell of training the corps has had in this country, it will be sent across the water as soon as it has gathered full strength. Okanagan College's "Roll of Service" extends to at least thirty-five names, this number having been computed by two who formerly taught at that institution, and it is possible that there are still a few others who have not been noted. Several of these have appeared on the casualty lists as wounded, and one, Arthur Wilcox, is known to have made the supreme sacrifice for his country's sake, as the Review noted some weeks ago.

At the home of Mrs A. Stark yesterday afternoon, Miss Lillian Brown was the honored guest at a shower party on the occasion of her approaching marriage. About twenty-five guests were present, and both as a surprise for the bride elect, and as a social event, the function was a marked success. Beautiful gifts of every description were brought for the happy guest of honor, who had no inkling of the shower of valuables that was to come to her.

A number of Summerland men of the 172nd Battalion came in from Kamloops on Monday evening's boat on seed time leave, that gives them a furlough of two or four weeks. Among those whose arrival was noted were Robert Barkwill, Harold Smith, Thomas Whitfield and S. Bartholomew, who are off duty for four weeks, and Harry Barkwill, whose leave is only for two weeks. Roy Darkis was an arrival on the boat later in the week, but his stay at home is only for a few days. A. Pentland and R. Vorrier were also down from Kelowna on a brief leave before being moved to quarters in Kamloops.

Miss Stella Brown, accompanied by Miss Fairbanks of Penticton, spent last week-end at her parents' home here.

Miss Aitchison left on Wednesday morning on her vacation, to travel East. Her duties as matron at the Hospital have been assumed by Miss Gordon of Naramata, who entered upon her work on the first of the month.

Mr William Armstrong, formerly an Okanagan College student, and for some time past in charge of a church at Redcliff, Alta., has settled at Edson, Alta., temporarily, where his energetic work and effective messages are meeting with encouraging response.

Reeve Blair, who went out last week to Calgary with a carload of apples, returned on Wednesday. While he did not get as good a price as he hoped to, he expressed himself as fairly well satisfied, the price received fully justifying holding the fruit over for the spring trade.

Sunday last gave good weather conditions for automobiling, and several local motorists were out of town for the day in bright and shining newly painted cars. O. Atkins, going south as far as Oroville, and E. Graham, who went up the lake to Vernon, were two of those taking the longest trips.

Mr and Mrs D. E. Hatt and little one started on their journey to the Coast on Monday morning, going up the lake. Mr Hatt will give several recitals en route, and planned on visiting the Mara internment camp yesterday, Thursday, to give some variety to the life of the 300 persons and 60 guards there.

Mrs R. C. Lipsett returned on Wednesday from a visit to several northern towns where branches of the Women's Institute were organized or officially visited. Vernon now has for the first time a Women's Institute, and another was organized at Tappen. Next week Mrs Lipsett goes to Roek Creek on a similar errand.

Among the visitors to arrive on the "Sicamous" on Monday night was Mr W. J. Wilcox of Salmon Arm. Mr Wilcox owns an orchard adjoining Mr Mellor's and near the Koop orchard. Among our young people he will be best known as the father of Arthur and Ida Wilcox, who attended Okanagan College some years back, the former of whom recently lost his life fighting for the cause of right. Mr Wilcox also has here many acquaintances and friends of earlier Prairie days.

From all appearances the Sale of Work being held by the ladies of the College Auxiliary on Friday next, will be far more than an ordinary success. The College Gymnasium is likely to present a very animated appearance during the afternoon and evening, when the event will be on. Emphasis has been placed on useful articles, and there will be a great assortment of goods of this nature placed on sale. Tea will be served during the sale. A reference to their advertisement in this issue will be worth while, and those ladies who are contributing goods to be sold are directed to the paragraph which appears elsewhere on this page, which asks that their goods be placed in the proper hands not later than next Wednesday.

Good Piece Of Road Work Accomplished.

What co-operation between a public spirited body of citizens and the municipal authorities can be the means of accomplishing in the matter of road improvement is seen in the work that has been put in on the Lakeshore road between town and Trout Creek this week. From one of the most poorly conditioned stretches of road in the whole municipality it has been transformed into one of the best.

Credit for the successful carrying out of the work must be divided between the Board of Trade and the Municipal Council. The Board of Trade took the matter up with the Council, and took the initiative in devising a scheme whereby the undertaking could be put through without undue strain on the public purse.

Coun. J. R. Campbell of the Board of Works Committee took charge of the actual work, and in about two days produced a fine stretch of road out of what was formerly anything but a credit to the district as a highway. The municipal team, a government grader, and a number of other teams and workers whose services were given free by citizens who recognized the need of improvement, were employed to best advantage. The road has been properly graded from just south of town right to the point where the government stopped work last fall near the Lakeside Ranch. Besides being properly crowned up, a ditch has been provided on the inside edge, and later culverts which it is hoped the government will provide, will be placed at suitable intervals, giving proper drainage. A little gravelling has been done, and more may be done in the future as opportunity offers.

There are many other stretches of road that are in need of similar treatment, and it is hoped that the good work will not cease. Coun. Campbell is confident that with very little attention this particular stretch of road can be kept in the best of condition. Already it has

While fruit growing continues to hold its place as the staple industry of this district there are many evidences that other branches of farming are being demonstrated as distinctly profitable when undertaken on the proper scale and in due regard to conditions. Dairying and poultry keeping are the two commonest adjuncts of this nature encountered here, but that hog raising on a commercial scale is also to be considered as such, is seen from an advertisement by which Mr S. Thomson offers young pure-bred Duroc-Jersey pigs for sale. Mr Thomson has specialized in this breed as the most popular, most prolific, and most suitable for commercial purposes. His herd embodies some of the best Duroc-Jersey strain to be had on the entire American continent. It pays every time in farming to get the best, and if any farmer contemplates investing in spring pigs, it will pay him to look into this Duroc-Jersey proposition.

Bishop Doull of the Kootenay diocese paid this district a visit at the beginning of the week, and remained here for a few days at the home of Rev. and Mrs H. A. Solly. The Bishop is visiting every parish in his diocese, conducting parochial missions, with a view of obtaining all the enthusiasm possible in the progress of church work. He preached at four services in St Stephen's Church, two on Sunday, and again on Monday and Tuesday evenings. A very large congregation attended the Sunday morning service, and the other services maintained a good level of attendance. Bishop Doull is an earnest speaker, and his addresses were a source of pleasure and profit alike to all who heard them, well fitted in their simple persuasive power to the missionary errand he is undertaking.

"Can't Afford It"

That's what a merchant said the other day about his advertising. He said that trade was falling off and that he would have to economize.

ADVERTISING

is to stimulate business, but evidently Friend Merchant has it figured out: that when times are good and folks have plenty of money to spend, he will demonstrate the advantage of spending it with him. But in dull times he will let the other fellow have the business.

It is a Fact

that advertising pays better when times are dull. It is the open season for bargain hunters, and the merchant who has nothing to offer the economical buyer is the first to suffer. The time to advertise is all the time and you can LEAST AFFORD to quit when you need the business most.

Newsy Paragraphs from PEACHLAND

Mr R. E. White, editor of the Summerland Review, was a visitor in town this week.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs R. J. Hogg on Wednesday, April 5th.

Messrs Wm. Moore and J. McLaughlan were passengers to Kelowna on Saturday of last week.

Miss Ethel House went to Vernon on Monday morning, where she intends to remain for the next few months.

Miss Olive Ferguson, who was a visitor to Kelowna last Saturday, spent an enjoyable day at the home of Mrs Jas. Kincaid.

Miss Marjorie White was a passenger to Summerland last week. She will assist Mrs George Gartrell in her household duties.

Miss G. Eisey, who has assisted Messrs Thompson & McCall for the past year, returned last week after a two months' pleasant vacation spent at her home in Summerland and Coast cities.

After the service on Sunday night many of the young people gathered at the home of Mr and Mrs H. McCall, where an enjoyable time was spent in singing hymns and exchanging greetings.

Pts. Osborne Needham of the 172nd Rocky Mountain Rangers, spent last week-end at his home here. He was down again on Tuesday night to say good-bye before leaving for Kamloops.

Mr Ben Gummow and his sister, Gertrude, of the Penticton teaching staff, returned to Penticton last Saturday evening for the re-opening of school on Monday 3rd, which was closed on account of measles.

The Philathea Class of the Methodist Sunday School will hold its quarterly social on the evening of April 11th, at 7.30 sharp, in the class room. All members are invited to attend. The social committee has a most enjoyable time in store for you. Don't forget the date—April 11th.

At a meeting of the members and adherents of the Methodist Church it was moved and carried that the constitution drawn up by the Board of Management of the Presbyterian Church and Quarterly Official Board of the Methodist Church be adopted as a basis of Church Union for the two said congregations.

The missionary service held in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday at 2 p.m. was a decided success. The attendance was large, and the program very good. The latter consisted of varied musical items, dialogues, recitations, and a fine missionary address by the superintendent, Mr R. J. Hogg. The recitation entitled, "Jesus' Little Lambs," by Pearl Law, is deserving of special mention. It was excellent for such a little tot, and was greatly appreciated. The collection amounted to four dollars, which goes to missions. The members of the school would be pleased to see many—indeed all, if it were possible—of these visitors back again next Sunday. So come to the morning service and stay for Sunday School.

TELEGRAPH RATES REVISED.

Judgment has lately been handed out by the Railway Board in the telegraph rates case, which has occupied the attention of the board for some time.

The judgment finds the existing maximum rate of $1 for a ten-word day message from section A, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to British Columbia, not unreasonable. It may be noted that this is the same rate that applies from New York to Seattle. The judgment directs a readjustment of intermediate rates, these readjustments being concerned almost wholly with the rates from Fort William and west thereof.

The maximum rate from British Columbia to Manitoba is reduced from 75 cents to 65 cents, and the excess word rate in the West is reduced to one cent.

The matter of telegraph forms has stood with those telegraph rate investigations. At present the company undertakes that to guard against error it will repeat back any telegram for an extra payment of one-half the regular rate, and it limits its liability for damages to 50 times the amount received for sending and repeating. By a new order issued this liability is now fixed, where damages arise from negligence of the company, at $200.

Tariffs carrying into effect the decision of the judgment are to be filed to be effective within 60 days.

Last Monday evening Mrs A. Town, Misses E. Pentland, and O. Ferguson, Messrs H. Keating, W. O. Williams, and G. Robinson drove to Summerland to attend "The Minister's Bride," which was put on by the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church. All were highly delighted with the play, and decided it was well worth the long drive, if only to see Joe Crabb and his wife.

The next meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Friday evening, April 14th, at 7.30 p.m., in the usual place. The members' husbands and the gentleman friends of the unmarried members are cordially invited to attend. There will be a special program. The social committee will have lots of good things to eat. So come, everybody! If you are not a member of the Peachland Women's Institute you'll be sorry. Join now, and attend this social, April 14th at 7.30 p.m. in the Baptist Sunday School room.

Despise your enemy and you will soon be beaten.

"THE MINISTER'S BRIDE" PROVES LAUGHABLE SKETCH.

the bride of one of the renowned steam cookers, a gift from her husband's flock. Stage details had been well looked after, which shows that there had been someone at work seeing to it that things went smoothly. All the players carried their parts well, the principals especially conducting themselves in a manner that certainly did not seem amateurish at all.

Music was introduced in the last two scenes, "Love's Old Sweet Song," being rendered splendidly by "Molly Charity," and an instrumental selection entitled "Golden Ringlet Waltz," by "Janet Heather." In the last scene the minister's impromptu concert presented the following program:

- Chorus by All.
- "Bonnie Banks o' Loch Lomond," Solo, "Ye Banks and Braes," Janet Heather.
- Recitation, "Her Two Letters," Mr Amos Right.
- Song, "Queen of the Earth," The Minister.
- Song, "Mush, Mush," Joe Crabb.
- Duet, "The Crookit Bawbee," The Minister and Molly Charity.

Miss Bena Logie and Miss Edna English supplied music between the acts.

The committee of the Ladies' Aid, who were actually responsible for the production and organization of the play are deserving of congratulation, the amount of work entailed obviously being far from trifling.

The complete cast was as under: The Minister, Rev John West, Mr J. O. Smith.

- The Minister's Bride, Mrs A. H. Steven.
- Mrs Joe Crabb, Miss M. Aitchison.
- Joe Crabb, Mr G. Marshall.
- Mrs Charity, Mrs A. B. Elliott.
- Molly Charity, Mrs J. D. Wood.

- Miss Miranda Meek, Mrs A. Rutherford.
- Mrs Betterdays, Miss Isabel Stewart.
- Mrs Soogood, Mrs J. J. Mitchell.
- Mrs Black, Mrs J. G. Robertson.
- Janet Heather, Miss Edna English.
- Miss Jones, Miss J. Mitchell.
- Mr Amos Right, Mr T. B. Young.
- Jim Curtis, Mr A. B. Elliott.
- Ephraim Snelgrove, Mr H. English.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF SUMMERLAND, PEACHLAND AND NARAMATA

Vol. 8, No. 37. Whole No. 402.

SUMMERLAND, B.C., APRIL 14, 1916.

$2.00, payable in advance.

Municipality Effects Saving of Fifteen Hundred Dollars

Invests Sinking Fund Money In Own Thirty Year Debentures At $84.43.

Somebody's need for cash and readiness to sacrifice to obtain it has made it possible for the Municipal Council to buy in a $10,000 block of Summerland thirty-year debentures, bearing interest at 5 per cent, and maturing in the year 1940, for only $8,443. This value was arrived at by the bond brokers by figuring the present value of cash at 6 1/2 per cent as against the 5 per cent at which the debentures were issued.

As is generally well known, when debentures are authorized, a fund, known as a "sinking fund," must be at once started which, when added to each year, will be sufficient to meet the obligation. Savings banks are commonly used to care for this money, and it was from such an account, or fund, that the money was drawn to retire these debentures, offered at such a favorable price. Thus was not only the sum of $1,557 saved on the principal, but money earning only 4 per cent in the bank was made to yield large returns. Another feature worth consideration is the reduction of our bonded indebtedness by that amount, $10,000.

The particular debentures redeemed were $2,000 of by-law No. 24 of May 5, 1910, for the purchase of irrigation systems, and $8,000 of same date for improvement of irrigation system. All were thirty year issues.

COLLECTORSHIP GOES TO MR. K. S. HOGG.

Receives Appointment Of Collector And Accountant During Absence Of Mr. Nixon.

The dual position of municipal collector of rates and taxes and accountant made vacant last month by granting to Collector Nixon leave of absence so that he might enlist has been filled by the appointment of Mr. K. S. Hogg. Though no invitations for applications had been advertised, there were four letters from citizens asking for the appointment when the Council met in extra session last Friday afternoon.

The Clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Hogg of his appointment and to request that he be at the office a week before the end of the month when Mr. Nixon's duties terminate. The salary was fixed at $100, being $25 a month less than is being paid at present.

SOME SUMMERLAND MILITARY OFFICERS.

In an enumeration of the officers of the 11th Canadian Mounted Rifles given in a recent issue of a Victoria paper, the following paragraphs relating to officers from Summerland will be of interest:

"Major E. E. Hutton, second in command - South Africa, 1900-1902; commanded Compton's Horse, and subsequently second in command 86th Battalion Imperial Yeomanry; Queen's medal and five clasps."

"Lieut. T. E. Paros - 1908-1908, Cape Mounted Rifles."

The regiment's chaplain is Captain and Rev. J. M. Comyn Ching, formerly Anglican Rector at Vernon. He has seen service with the Royal North West Mounted Police from 1897 to 1900.

A. E. Nelson, who enlisted from Summerland into this regiment last summer has been certified as a sergeant, thus confirming a provisional appointment made some time ago.

Don't worry because spring is a little tardy, which makes you late in getting your garden seeds in, for here is a way to force them to grow quickly. Sow as usual, then cover with a single sheet of newspaper, held firm by stones at each corner. Wet this paper thoroughly three or four times a day while the sun is shining. Remove the paper after three days or sooner, if any seed sprouts show.

MAKING IT EASIER TO KEEP PAID UP.

Pay Stations At Convenient Points.

At a meeting of the local Board of the Canadian Patriotic Fund held on Wednesday evening at St. Stephen's Hall, it was decided to request the Postmasters at Summerland, West Summerland, Naramata, and Mineola to kindly accept any subscriptions to the Fund that anyone may wish to pay in through them. The Postmasters would then send the Treasurer (E. B. May) such collections with list of names say once a week.

This idea is with a view to giving greater facilities to the subscribers, as it is not found feasible, so it seems, for everyone to make their payments into the banks. The Postmasters will not be requested to ask anybody for any amount that may be due or to solicit new subscribers, but merely to accept any payment that they may be asked to receive.

It is hoped in this way that the number of delinquents of last month, viz. 58, will be cut down to a minimum. If promised subscriptions do not come in more promptly before the last day of each month, then the substantial totals that have been sent forward during February and March will drop away in a very humiliating manner, which it may be truly said the Summerland people would not like to see.

It may be well to here point out again that it is impossible for those who undertook the original canvass to look up each subscriber each month, and again if the Treasurer were to notify each one it would not only necessitate the giving up of most valuable time at this season of the year, but would cut into the total received for postage and stationery. It is therefore hoped that every subscriber will make a point of paying his subscription with regularity as a thing that must not be overlooked.

The returns should be in the neighborhood of $230 each month according to the canvassing lists, so a comparison with the published remittances month by month will demonstrate how people are keeping up their payments.

Municipality Borrows $10,000 Against Taxes.

After some considerable correspondence between the Municipal Office and various officials of the Bank of Montreal, that financial institution has granted a loan of $10,000 to the Municipality against the current rates and taxes, thus permitting the Council to anticipate to that amount the taxes falling due late in the year. In addition, the Council, if necessary, may have an overdraft in May to meet debenture interest maturing before the last day of discount for irrigation rates. This loan being against those rates.

The borrowing limit of the district, as stated by Treasurer Logie, is over $29,000. There is now a balance of $9,000 due the bank in last year's advance against taxes, which with the new loan will make the sum so borrowed total $19,000. But as it is proposed to immediately apply one-half of the new loan toward the reduction of the 1915 balance the total borrowed against taxes past due and to accrue will be only $14,000.

The Arrow Lakes are again open for traffic and the C.P.R. steamers have resumed their run from Arrowhead to Robson.

In the Supreme Court of B.C. lately a peculiar situation arose out of an application made on behalf of the Okanagan Investment Company for the issue of a writ against Captain Von dom Hagon, and for substituted service. The action is being brought for the foreclosure of property sold to Captain Von dom Hagon, who is an officer serving in the German army. He formerly resided in Prairie Valley, and as long ago as four years he was suddenly recalled to join the army in Germany, on account of an Anglo-German war scare that was then in the air. It was proposed that the service be made through the German consul at Portland, Oregon,

Garnett Valley Flume Causes Hot Debate

Mr. Kelley Gives Notice Of Appeals. Asks That Assessment Roll Be Open To Public During Business Hours.

The Municipal Council has held two meetings within the past week, a special meeting on Friday the 7th and the regular meeting on Monday the 10th. Usually the Council meetings are comparatively uneventful, little more than routine matters coming up and not often anything of a contentious nature. But at both these meetings there were moments when the discussion became more animated, and on Monday there were accusations and counter-accusations.

It was the rebuilding of the flume on the west side of Garnett Valley that caused the skirmish, and has for long been a debated subject. Last fall, deciding that a new flume was necessary, and with a view to having the work that far advanced, Supt. Mitchell was instructed to take the levels. This he did, changing the grade and providing for a larger flume. His plans, as submitted, required a flume 4 ft. wide, and 7 ft. higher at the F. A. C. Wright property, where the syphon is connected to serve Jones Flat. During the occasional reference to the work to be done, it had practically been decided that an increased head of three feet at the syphon was sufficient, particularly when enough water had been provided to keep the pipe full. Arriving at this decision Chairman Johnston of the Public Works Committee was authorized to see Mr. Mitchell and have him run the new levels for a 3 ft. flume with the heavier grade. At Friday's meeting Council, Johnston reported that he had seen Mr. Mitchell but he had refused to have anything to do with the flume unless it was put in according to his recommendation. The Clerk said Supt. Thomson was awaiting instructions, and Council, Johnston remarked, that the Superintendent had his other work pretty well in hand, and was ready to take up the Garnett Valley work. To this the Reeve replied that Thomson had nothing to do with it, and asked that the matter be left with him, and he would see Mr. Mitchell and report on Monday.

Council, Johnston could see no reason of again seeing Mr. Mitchell, if the flume was to be built on his levels. However, the Reeve insisting the matter stood at that, the chairman of the Public Works Committee declaring, when the meeting adjourned, that he would have nothing more to do with the work.

On Monday Council, Johnston pointed out that no authority had yet been given for the building of the flume, that though the subject had been frequently discussed, no formal decision had been reached, to proceed with the work. Such an order was necessary before the Public Works Committee could proceed, and he also wanted to know where he stood. It began to look as though he might as well remain at home, and he charged the Reeve with having taken the work in hand, and hiring a team to put on the job. He thought the work could well be done by the Superintendent.

The Reeve: It was plainly understood from the first that Thomson was not to have anything to do with this work.

Council, Johnston: The Reeve had no authority to go ahead with the work.

Reeve Blair: Neither had you any authority. Thomson was hired to superintend irrigation and attend to maintenance. This is on another account altogether.

(In this the Reeve was supported by the Clerk who said that the $1,500 set aside for maintenance was the money to be expended by the Superintendent, but that the Garnett Valley work would be paid for out of capital account.)

Continuing, the Reeve said Mr. Mitchell had refused to take the new grades, and having heard through Council, Campbell that Council, Johnston would have nothing more to do with it there was nothing else for him to do but order the work done.

Council, Johnston: But the work has not yet been authorized. We have not yet been able to come to any decision. Every time I have proposed anything in connection with it I have been sat upon. The grades were taken and stakes put in, but later it was decided to give the flume more grade and make it smaller.

Council, Johnston's contention that no motion authorizing the work had been put through was supported by the minute book.

An estimate had been submitted by the ex-Superintendent, showing a cost of $2,900, which included 742 ft. of cement ditch.

Council, Stark asked if a 4 ft. flume would be necessary to carry water from a 16 inch pipe.

Council, Campbell believed that a 3 ft. flume was plenty big enough, and he had suggested the smaller flume to save cost but as the saving would not be very great he was willing to abide by the decision of the others. He believed that more and more water must be taken from Trout Creek to supply Jones Flat, as at present storage water is being drawn upon on Eneas Creek, while in Trout Creek water is running to waste.

In this opinion Council, Johnston concurred, and while not sure he believed by some changes in ditching enough water could be carried around to make the Dunsdon dam unnecessary.

The Reeve: Mitchell says the flume should be raised 7 ft. at the syphon, and the men are waiting outside ready to go to work. He had not hired Mitchell, and the whole trouble was that the Public Works Committee thought that he wanted to have Mitchell do the work. He had never spoken to Mitchell about the job until Saturday. Mitchell was not able to do it.

A motion authorizing the rebuilding by the Public Works Committee of 620 ft. of flume at the Gallagher intake, and 3,543 ft. further down, and the cement lining of 742 ft. of ditch was carried unanimously. Again the dispute grew heated, the Reeve charging the other members of the Public Works Committee with holding the idea that he had been working to get the ex-superintendent on the Garnett Valley job. This was not much disputed by chairman Johnston, who said that the Reeve wanted to take the work out of the hands of himself and Council, Campbell. The Reeve expressed the belief that he had the authority to go on with the work quite independently of the other members of the Public Works Committee. It can scarcely be said that peace had been restored when the meeting adjourned. It is understood that the Mitchell specifications will be followed, and that the work is now being done under David Kean as foreman.

At Friday's session the resignation of J. T. Washinton as ditchman was accepted, and E. Vandenburg appointed in his stead.

Further correspondence was read referring to the Garnett Valley (Dunadon) dam. The water authorities will permit the rebuilding of the dam provided the Municipality will come to some arrangement with the Public Works Department respecting the road, a portion of which would be flooded. The Municipality maintains that this road was built where it is, despite protests made at the time, and that they have witnesses to prove this. However, Engineer Latimer will be asked to make a report, including also an estimate of changing the location of a section of the road.

The road grader was not shipped till March 25th, and in the opinion

RED CROSS ASKING FOR MORE SOCKS.

How Material Supplied Is Distributed.

The attention of all Red Cross workers is called to the large number of socks that will be required for our soldiers in the trenches during the spring and summer, and also to the vast quantity of surgical dressings and hospital supplies that will also be needed after the "Great Spring Drive" commences. The Red Cross Society has done nobly, shipping from the Central Depot at Vancouver, during the month of February alone, 2,650 pairs of hand knitted socks for our fighting force, and 58,057 hospital articles for our wounded. But the need will be much greater during the next few months, and it is urged that all Red Cross members put forth all their efforts to double their supplies, both for the trenches and the hospital.

It has been frequently asked whether hand knitted socks, received by the Red Cross Society, are sent to the trenches or to the hospitals only. For the benefit of all such enquirers the following information has been given out by the Central Depot:

All supplies arriving at the Red Cross Central Depot are packed in two kinds of cases, FIELD and HOSPITAL. Each FIELD CASE contains socks, day shirts and khaki handkerchiefs, and is marked "FIELD COMFORTS," while the hospital cases contain colored or machine knitted socks and other supplies suitable for hospital use. These cases are then shipped to Toronto, and thence to London, England, the hospital cases going to our own Canadian Commissioner, Colonel Hodggets, and distributed by him to our own Canadian Hospitals, the FIELD COMFORTS going to the headquarters of the Canadian War Contingent Association at the Westminster Palace Hotel, London, England, and by them are distributed without delay to our men in the trenches. We would emphasize the fact that the Canadian War Contingent Association handles all FIELD COMFORTS sent in by ALL organizations.

of Council, Campbell will arrive too late to be of much use this year.

A deed for the J. R. Brown road at Trout Creek point was received.

Replying to the Council Mr. McDiarmid, Solicitor for the B.C. Municipalities, said it was not likely the government would this year grant councils the right to appoint the police commissioners.

T. P. Thornber was given the contract to repair the road beside his home property, he to hire the grader. The contract price is $80.

R. Mitchell's complaint of damage by water, M. Joyce's request for a road to his lot and W. P. Secrest's for water to the J. D. Johnston lot were all referred to the Public Works Committee.

The indemnity by-law was again presented for consideration, and again tabled.

The Clerk asked if the Council would pay Jas. Ritchie $40 again this year for the use of the sports ground.

Council, Johnston: It is too bad Ritchie had not accepted our offer for the five-acres in front of the school.

The Clerk: Why, he did accept it long ago.

This latter was received with much surprise by all the Council. Mr. Logie explained that Mr. Ritchie had told him that he would accept $600 an acre as offered, and he understood Mr. Ritchie had or intended to so inform the Council. Council, Johnston would like to sell five acres in Peach Orchard and purchase this block.

The Experimental Farm were granted water for two sprinklers at $4 per month.

The Clerk was authorized to order a copy of the consolidated statutes. Replying to enquiry the Clerk reported that Summerland had no police magistrate as the government had not made any appointment. The Reeve expressed the desire to have a magistrate resident near the Municipal Office.

This finished the Friday session. The powers and duties of committees and of the electric light committee in particular was asked of Council, Stark at the regular meeting. (Continued on page 2.)

Okanagan Telephone Poles Encumber Local Highways

Dead Pole Lines Obstruct Work Of Development. Unightly & Dangerous.

With only two sides to a road and both occupied where is a third and necessary line to be placed? Such a problem has been put up to the Municipal Council on more than one occasion, and at the sitting last Friday a letter from the local telephone company again brought the question to the surface, and many interested citizens are wondering how long the dead pole lines of the Okanagan Telephone Co. are to be permitted to hinder the development of the community and remain to disfigure the landscape and menace public safety.

At least one dangerous corner remains in darkness because the places that the light poles should take are occupied by a dead telephone pole line, which for weeks was permitted to recline on the road side and across fences. Here and there all over the Municipality these poles are to be seen inclining at dangerous and unsightly angles.

On the road running north from the Municipal Office the east side is occupied by the pole line put in to disuse when Summerland refused longer to tolerate the Okanagan Company, and the west side by the abandoned poles of the government trunk line—which line now follows the shore—and temporarily used by the new company. Last fall it became necessary to extend the lighting system along that road and having in mind the fact that the Summerland Telephone Co.'s use of the government poles was only a temporary arrangement and the west side also served the purpose better the light poles were placed there.

Now the Telephone Co. is asking permission to put up something more permanent, and it being contrary to the laws governing pole lines to permit the use of light poles for phone lines, the company has been instructed to place its poles on the east side of the road already occupied by the Okanagan Company's poles. This is the decision of the Council, but unless the Municipality takes some action to get rid of the unused poles they may at any time be the cause of trouble, putting phones out of service. Why this unnecessary multiplicity of poles? Some dark night there will be an accident (already several very narrow escapes have occurred) and someone will be asked to foot a bill for damages.

W.C.T.U. AT HOME.

The Lakeside Baptist Church was the scene of an animated and pleasing event last Friday afternoon when the ladies of the Summerland W.C.T.U. were "At Home" to the ladies of the Naramata W.C.T.U.

There were nearly sixty ladies present, and a very enjoyable social time was spent—music and social converse made the time pass very pleasantly. There were solos by Mrs. Allen of Naramata and Misses Edna English and Myrtle Clay of Summerland.

Shortly after four o'clock dainty refreshments were served, a variety of sandwiches and cakes with ice cream, tea and coffee.

Mrs. Conway and Mrs. Lipssett presided at the tea table, while Miss Edna English and Miss Bartlett served the guests of the afternoon.

One Naramata lady remarked that all the good cooks were not confined to Naramata. Before leaving, a hearty vote of thanks was given the Summerland Union by the visiting sisters for the pleasant afternoon.

The Naramata ladies returned on the 5.30 ferry.

"PRODUCTION AND THRIFT"

ENCOURAGED by the practical results of its "Patriotism and Production" campaign last summer, the Dominion Government is preaching to the farmers in every part of the land similar gospel this year, the new slogan being "Production and Thrift." The first of a series of advertisements setting forth the aims of the campaign appears in this issue of the Review.

Never were there times when the necessity for thrift was more apparent. Never was there better opportunity than in this Valley and even in this district for showing how the matter of thrift is wrapped up in the problem of production. Increase the production of your farm and thrift becomes easy.

It is no idle doctrine that the government is trying to spread. Agriculture forms the base of all wealth, so that after all, it is the farmers who hold the progress of the country in the hollow of their hands, though the politicians may claim otherwise. These are times when everyone must be a producer, even if it only be to the extent of a bushel of potatoes. Give the children their little plot of garden or their acre, and show them how to make the most of it.

And don't be afraid of producing too much.

SEPARATING FINANCE AND AGRICULTURE.

IN PURSUANCE of his promise to introduce legislation to provide for the appointment of a minister to supervise the agricultural affairs of the province, Premier Bowser last week introduced to the Legislature the bill for that purpose. The great importance of the agricultural industry, the necessity of properly carrying out the policy of the government to advance the interests of the agricultural element, especially in respect of modern methods, are reasons for the step. The change necessitates an amendment to the "Constitution Act," which at present provides for the Executive Council being composed of eight members, one of whom is the Minister of Finance and Agriculture. Under the new arrangement that portfolio will be made into two, thus increasing the membership of the Executive Council to nine.

In addition, a new act to repeal the existing Department of Agriculture Act is necessary, to outline the duties of the new minister and provide authority under which the new department shall be administered.

Further amendments to the Constitution Act were set forth, one providing for the dissolution of the House, in the absence of proclamation by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, after the expiration of five years instead of four.

OLD ONTARIO is going dry, at least for a year, and with prospects of remaining so thereafter. Prohibition will be put into force in that province on September 16 next. A referendum on prohibition will be taken on the first Monday of June, 1917. This means the province will be "dry" at least from September 16, 1916, until June, 1917.

The Liquor License Act now in force in the province will be repealed when the Ontario Temperance Act goes into effect. If when the referendum is taken the people should vote against a continuance of prohibition, the situation would be just as it is at present.

It will not be long before the whole Dominion is under prohibition. Nova Scotia is dry, Halifax being excluded no longer. Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick enjoy prohibition. Ontario has long had local option, but will now soon have total prohibition. Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta have voted out the liquor traffic, and B.C. remains the most unprogressive province of the whole Dominion in this matter, even falling behind Quebec, which does enjoy the privilege of some measure of local control. But B.C.'s opportunity is coming before long to give her say in the matter, and it is not difficult to forecast a victory for temperance sentiment.

THE AGRICULTURAL COMMITTEE of the Provincial Legislature has been waited upon this week by a deputation representing the fruit growing interests of Vancouver Island and the lower mainland. The object is to secure for the fruit growers of these sections protection by legislation against commission merchants of Victoria and Vancouver, some of whom in the past, it is alleged, have robbed their consignors of a large part of their profit through unfair business dealing. One grower, it was related, placed small fruits to the value of more than $750 with one commission merchant last summer, and after clamoring for some months for returns was met with a demand for expenses, which the merchant claimed were coming to him. If any protective legislation covering dealings of this kind is given out by the Government, it should be extended to all fruit districts, not only particular districts. Many Okanagan growers could relate experiences somewhat similar, though not, it is to be hoped, to the same amount of loss.

WHY NOT AIM to establish a creamery for the Summerland district? There are already two creameries operating in the Valley, and operations in butter making on a commercial scale will soon be commenced in the Kamloops district, where a creamery is now in process of organization. Premier Bowser and the provincial member for the district have interested themselves in the project, and have conveyed to those in charge of the organization work the intimation that when 20 per cent. of the stock is subscribed by bona fide farmers, the Government will supply the balance of the working capital. The possibility of the early operation of the Agricultural Credits Act, they added, will also make it much cheaper for the company to get working capital. With such inducement as this held out by the Government, which is much along the lines of the policy followed in the organization of the Fruit Unions up and down the Valley, the establishment of a creamery here is surely brought visibly nearer. True more cows than are now found here would be needed to support a creamery, but there are a lot of young animals nearing the milking age and a creamery would induce the purchase of others.

ing of the Council Monday morning. First he wanted to know who was chairman of that committee, as that matter seemed to be questioned. The Reeve answered that Coun. Johnston should have been by reason of priority, and it had been his idea when naming the committee that he should be; but having named Coun. Stark first, and the minutes showed it that way, and Coun. Johnston not desiring to be chairman he was content to let Coun. Stark have the chair.

Referring to the act, the Clerk said all committee proceedings must be subject to the approval of the Council, and they were limited to an expenditure of $50 without first being sanctioned by Council. Otherwise duties of committees were not defined.

Coun. Stark: As one of the Electric Light Committee I did not like the tone of the electrician's letter published in the Review last week. The Clerk should be instructed to write him and put him in his place. He should not have so tried to inform the public that he is boss. Of what use is the Electric Light Committee?

Reeve: The letter was perfect rubbish. Mr. James should certainly have come to the Council. The Electric Light Committee are the ones responsible to the public. After further discussion the Clerk was instructed to write the electrician, with reference to his published letter and his relations to the Council, committee, and public.

With two exceptions all applications for milk licence were granted. In these two cases the barns and surroundings were reported by the Sanitary Inspector as being in unfit condition.

The quarterly report of Medical Health Officer Andrew was received and filed. The officer reported this district exceptionally free from infectious diseases. Measles, so prevalent elsewhere, had not developed here. There were no complaints of water except in Eneas Creek. There conditions were being improved. The slaughter house was being moved and other precautions were being taken. One dairy in particular was mentioned as being a menace to public health. This was being given attention. Generally, dairy conditions were improving. There had been a number of complaints of the poor quality of milk being sold, and the Medical Health Officer recommended the frequent testing of milk for butter fat. The use of standard bottles should also be enforced.

A bill from Electrician James for $349 for overtime since October 1st, 1915, was referred back for an itemized statement.

President Warren of the K. V. R. wrote giving the Municipality the right to go on to the right-of-way to do certain flume work, and stated that he had instructed his engineers to put certain other flumes in good order.

In writing, giving notice that he purposed making a number of appeals against assessments, Mr. W. C. Kelley asked that the Council make some ruling with reference to the rights of the ratepayers to inspect the assessment roll, and that it be open to inspection. He complained that now no one is permitted to see it except when Mr. Logie is present, and to this ruling he objected.

Mr. Logie took exception to this, saying, Mr. Kelley wanted to do detective work. He can arrange to see any municipal papers at any time. Mr. Logie said he had told the accountant that if papers were brought out by him during his (Mr. Logie's) absence, he would be held responsible for them.

The Reeve thought any ratepayer should have access to the books but that it should be done by arrangement. A formal motion along these lines was carried.

J. A. Kirk was again before the Council, asking that the ditch above his lot, near Major Hutton's, be lined. He favored a wooden flume, as in the same ditch the water pipe has been buried. It would be easier to remove the wood than cement to effect repairs to the pipe beneath. He reported a very large loss of water at that point, which made his lot wholly unworkable. Referred to Public Works Committee.

E. O. James asked that a slough be drained and repairs be made to the main ditch crossing his property. Referred to Public Works Committee.

Electrician James came to the Council saying he had heard that the Council proposed discontinuing the all night service. He pointed out what an inconvenience this would be especially at the Hospital. He proposed a change at the power house, to cost very little and that would reduce the amount of water used, while maintaining the pressure, to very little. He would also put in an automatic device between the flume and reservoir, near St. Stephen's Church, that would cut out the heavy waste of water, and keep the pond at a proper level. The Clerk read a statement showing a much smaller surplus of earnings by the electric light system during the past quarter than a year ago.

It was decided to cut down the hours of service after the 15th, and further curtail it after May 1st.

D. Dickson was granted 50 cents per day for a horse.

Coun. Simpson brought up the daylight saving question, and after a short discussion the movement was endorsed.

Absence of street lights was referred to by Coun. Stark. He had offered lamps to use until these on order should arrive, but the electrician would not use them. An order was issued that what lights were to be had be used pending the arrival of a shipment now on order.

The death of Major R. J. Mutrie, of the 2nd C.M.R., was announced last Saturday in the casualty lists. Major Mutrie was a partner in the firm of Mutrie & Mutrie, real estate and insurance brokers, of Vernon, and in that city as well as throughout the Valley, he was well-known and highly esteemed. With his brother, Major Mutrie was instrumental in bringing about the formation of the 30th B.C. Horse at Vernon, and he enlisted from that body into the 2nd C.M.R. when the formation of this latter corps was undertaken. No particulars as to the way in which he met his death are forthcoming as yet.

Money For Farmers At Low Rate And On Easy Terms.

The New Act And What It Will Do For This Province, As Told By Mr. A. LUCAS, M.P.A.

A very clear and concise outline of the recently enacted bill, "The Agricultural Credit Act," was given by Mr. A. Lucas, M.L.A., one of the Royal Commission which proposed financial aid to farmers at the recent Farmer's Institute Convention at Victoria. The address drew a great deal of favorable comment at the time, and at the request of one of the delegates who heard it, we give it here in full:

MR CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN:
I have been asked to give you a short address on Rural Credit and its effect on the agricultural industry, with a short description of the Agricultural Credit Act passed by the Parliament of British Columbia at its last session.

The Act passed last session is largely based on the Rural Credit Act in force in New Zealand, with some important changes, making it, in the opinion of the Royal Commission on Agriculture, more applicable to conditions in British Columbia. As I will have to refer to some length to the operations of the Act in New Zealand, I deem it advisable for a better understanding of the subject, to give you a brief outline of the conditions found to exist in British Columbia and New Zealand by the Commission.

CONDITIONS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.
British Columbia is a country of enormous natural resources in timber, minerals, and fisheries, and offers exceptional opportunities for the profitable investment of capital, and in the employment of labor. The rapid growth of the coast cities has been phenomenal, and the result has been that men with capital coming to this province find many opportunities for investment that promise better returns than can reasonably be expected from farming, and the higher wages paid in the cities, mining, and lumber camps attract the laboring classes. Consequently, few men with capital engage in farming, and efficient farm labor is scarce, and the wages usually demanded higher than a farmer can afford to pay.

There is no monetary institution in the Dominion of Canada that will loan money to farmers to enable them to make permanent improvements of a productive nature for a sufficiently long period of time, and at a low rate of interest, with the privilege of repaying the whole or any part at any time, and the experience in other countries and the Dominion of Canada demonstrates clearly that that is the kind of credit the agricultural industry requires.

In the older settlements, in the heavily timbered districts of the province, it is very commonly found that when a man has succeeded, perhaps after years of effort in clearing enough land to make a living from it, with perhaps some earnings from other work, he makes no further attempt to bring more land under cultivation. In the Interior, we have a dry belt and prairie land requiring irrigation, and with the exception of those who were early in the field and secured favorable locations, the cost of irrigation was very heavy and more than the average individual could undertake.

Many witnesses who gave evidence before the Royal Commission of Agriculture, explained to us that the struggle to accomplish what they had done without capital and without credit, and make a living at the same time, was too strenuous to encourage them to continue the effort. The result was that their sons drifted into the cities, or into the mining or lumber camps to secure employment. They further represented that if they could borrow money on the terms above referred to, they would be anxious to use it towards clearing and bringing under cultivation more of their holdings, and they were confident that they could not only provide for interest and amortization payments on such loan, but could largely increase their revenues, and this confidence was based on the operations of the past and from the operations of their neighbors who were fortunate enough to have sufficient capital for their requirements.

In other cases, where better live stock, silos, buildings, and similar improvements would greatly increase the scope of their operations, lack of capital or credit had deterred them.

After a thorough investigation, extending all over this province, and after a careful study of the reports of the Agricultural Credit systems adopted in various countries, the Commission decided that one of the first and most pressing needs of those engaged in the agricultural industry in this province was an adequate rural credit system, and that the operations of those systems should be investigated on the ground, and for that purpose one of the Commissioners was sent to Europe, and I visited New Zealand and Australia.

CONDITIONS IN NEW ZEALAND.
Natural conditions in New Zealand resemble those in British Columbia closely enough to make comparisons valuable. The country is for the most part heavily timbered along the coast with heavy rain-fall, and with lighter rain-fall and lighter clearing in the Interior. As in British Columbia, mixed farming, dairying, stock-raising, and fruit-growing are the most important branches of agriculture pursued.

The people of New Zealand, their government and their institutions, are all sufficiently like our own to make the operations of the Rural Credit Act in that country an object lesson of special value to the people of British Columbia.

HISTORY OF THE RURAL CREDIT SYSTEM IN NEW ZEALAND.
The history of the Rural Credit system which resulted in the establishment of the New Zealand Advance-to-Settlers Office is briefly this:

For the twenty years between 1873 and 1893, the value of domestic exports, in spite of the rapid expansion in population and their large increase in their national debt, had only increased very slightly, and in view of the financial obligations of the colony, it was felt that some decisive action on the part of the government was imperative in order to increase production. Of all the industries in New Zealand, the agricultural industry appeared to offer the greatest opportunity for expansion, and the surest market for the increased production. To secure this increased production they decided that the agricultural industry was in much the same position as any other industry. If the output was to be increased, the capital invested and the labor employed must also be increased, or, in other words, that the agricultural industry required credit on terms suitable to the industry, just as much as the mercantile and manufacturing industries required credit suitable to their industries.

After a thorough investigation of the various European agricultural credit systems, for which work experts were retained, they decided that none of them could be applied to New Zealand, as conditions both in regard to the farmers themselves and the supply of capital were absolutely different from the old settled communities of Europe. They realized that no private company would or could loan money to farmers for a sufficiently long period of time and at a sufficiently low rate of interest to enable the farmers to meet their payments from the net earnings of their farms; and at the same time leave them a sufficient surplus to justify them in adopting a better standard of living on the farm, and it was fully realized that if the industry were to attract the best class of men, and retain them on the land, life on the farm must be made as pleasant and profitable as any other industry or calling in the Dominion. They claimed that every citizen in the Dominion, and every industry in the Dominion was vitally interested in the agricultural industry and in increased production, and therefore it was the duty of the whole people, through their representatives in parliament, to provide the machinery and furnish the capital.

Accordingly, in 1894, legislation was introduced and passed by the Parliament of New Zealand, and was known as the "Advance-to-Settlers Act." Money was borrowed from England on government guaranteed bonds and loaned to the farmers and settlers through the Advance-to-Settlers Office, for the establishment of which the Act made provision. The management has loaned in the last twenty years approximately $70,000,000. The rate of interest charged is 1 per cent more than the money costs. The 1 per cent is disposed of as follows: to pay flotation charges, working expenses, and to credit a reserve fund. During the first eighteen years, there has been a net balance, after the above items have been provided for, of over $1,500,000.

You will notice that, although it is not a co-operative system, each borrower being responsible only for the amount of his own loan, yet all the borrowers do pay a fraction of 1 per cent per annum into a fund to provide against individual losses. During the eighteen years, there has only been thirty-five foreclosures, and no losses. The actual cost of the administration and working expenses is now .14 of 1 per cent.

EFFECT OF RURAL CREDIT ON AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTION.
At the time the Rural Credit system was introduced, the per capita value of domestic products exported amounted to only about $80. In 1912, they had risen to $111.78, being the highest of any country in the world. The number of bank accounts had increased until there was one bank account for every two and a half persons in the Dominion, and to their credit an average amount of $207 to each bank account. It is claimed that this is the highest percentage of bank accounts and the largest amount of money to the credit of the people in the banks of any country in the world in proportion to their population. And, in addition to that, the people of New Zealand are carrying something over $70,000,000 of their own national debt.

That farmers require credit and know how to use it to their own advantage when it can be obtained on terms suitable to their business, is proved by the fact that they avail themselves of the opportunity wherever the system is provided. There has been about $1,000,000,000 loaned in the various countries having Rural Credit systems, and there has been no loss that was not provided for by a fraction of the extra 1 per cent usually charged. This is a record of safe loaning that has not been equalled by any other industry in the world, and proves conclusively that farmers require credit and will avail themselves of it where it can be obtained to their advantage, and to the great advantage of the countries in which they live.

In countries where long term farm loan systems have been adopted, there has been a marked improvement in the standard of rural life, which, including as it does, more recreation and culture is not only good for the farmers and their families, but tends to keep the boys and girls on the land, and to attract others to follow their example. This is found to be good for the welfare of the whole people.

With money thus available, the farmers of New Zealand have built better houses, or re-modelled their old ones; have brought a large acreage of land under cultivation that would otherwise be lying idle; have bought and kept better live stock; have used more labor-saving machinery on the farms and in the houses; have erected elevated tanks and windmills; have laid on water in their dwellings and in their outbuildings; have irrigation for their vegetable and flower gardens; have increased their dairy herds; they keep more sheep and pigs, and have so largely increased the revenue from their farms that they are able to meet the payments on the mortgages and to adopt a higher standard of living and a better one, and throughout the whole Dominion a better rural life is being evolved. The young men and women who are growing up are happy and contented, and find ample time and opportunity for recreation and entertainment.

The Act passed by the British Columbia Legislature last session is based on the New Zealand system, and when we take into consideration the conditions in British Columbia and the conditions in New Zealand, we have every reason to believe that the increase in production in British Columbia, and the improvement in rural life in British Columbia, will be equally as satisfactory as it has proved to be in New Zealand.

The idea underlying the Act is wholly constructive, the loans being calculated to supplement the industry and ability of the farmer, and while the provisions of the Act apply directly to those who are now on the land and who are endeavoring to make homes for themselves—and it is from these that the greatest immediate increase in production may be expected—the Act also provides facilities for the beginner. A man without capital, but who is able and willing to work, may start in on a raw farm and receive advances as his work of making a farm progresses. In short, the institution which this Act will bring into force, will in effect be a friendly loaning company, with $15,000,000 available as needed, and with the credit of the whole province of British Columbia behind it in order to obtain further credit when necessary. It will be an institution brought into existence for the sole purpose of financing those engaged in the agricultural industry, an institution that will finance every agricultural producer who is willing to help himself, and not only help him make a living for himself and his family, but enable him so to increase the revenue of his farm that he will be able to adopt a standard of living equal to that enjoyed by those engaged in any other industry in the province.

The Act will be brought into operation by proclamation in the very near future, and in addition to the Rural Credit referred to, it also provides for organization and financing a co-operative system in production, marketing and selling under Government leadership.

When we consider the fact that under existing conditions and without credit facilities, over 24,000 pre-emptions have been taken up in this Province during the last twelve years, and that there is land available for 24,000 more, and that the natural agricultural production has increased from less than $7,000,000 to about $30,000,000 during the same period, we can reasonably expect that with the impetus the industry will receive from the operations of this Act, the agricultural industry will grow and prosper beyond anything before experienced in this Province, and that within the next ten years the natural toll of wealth that will be taken from the soil of British Columbia will exceed $100,000,000.

PEDIGREED Duroc Jersey Swine

The Government records show the following percentage of increase or decrease (1910-1915 compared) of the breeds:

Berks 19 per cent loss	Chester White 47 p.c. gain
Yorks 19 " " "	Poland China. 222 " " "
Tams 7 " " "	Durocs 653 " " "
Hampshire. 50 " " "

This is a correct view of the way the people have headed in five years—showing a big tendency toward thicker hogs, and especially the DUROCS.

My herd contains some of the best Duroc blood in Canada and the States, and is from stock that has never been defeated in the Shows from Winnipeg to Victoria.

Birthday Party.

A decidedly cute and altogether charming birthday party given in honor of little Miss Margaret Alice Nuttall, was the event of Saturday afternoon last. The guests, all wee tots, like the unconscious little hostess just passing her first mile stone were of course accompanied by the proud mothers. A feature of the afternoon was the sight of the happy youngsters sitting at the miniature table, and drinking out of miniature cups and using the dainty wee spoons. The event is further preserved in photos taken by Mrs Nuttall as the little ones sat round on the lawn. Mrs Nuttall was assisted by her mother and sister in serving the refreshments.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

The Municipal "Bee" "Off."

The committee of the Farmer's Institute having to do with the proposed municipal "bee" for Friday, April 14th—to-day—decided at a meeting on Saturday that with the present rush of work and consequent scarcity of available teams, the date had better be postponed. There is really a distinct scarcity of men to attend to all the work now imperatively pressing. It seems too bad to take this step as much of the success of the day gained through the co-operation of the Women's Institute and the publicity already given it bids fair to be lost. However, these are part of the game and it is to be hoped they will be more fortunate in selecting a more convenient day later on in the year.

Another item is the final decision in awarding the prize for the best map showing the shortest route by trail or otherwise to either Mr Jas. Young's home or to the railway siding at Arawana. The social event of the week of note was the visit of about a score of the W.C.T.U. workers to Summerland last Friday, where they attended an "At Home" held by their sisters across the lake. The Naramata ladies boarded the 12.30 ferry, and were met by the President of the Summerland branch, Mrs Conway, who led the way to the Baptist Church. Here it was at once evident that special preparations had been made for the incoming guests. These preparations, aside from the usual and ever welcome social intercourse, took the form of a choice program of vocal and instrumental music. This was followed by the only intertemperate part of the afternoon—a pardonable and, shall we say it, a commendable intemperance. Reference is made to the splendid luncheon served toward the close of the afternoon. Certainly the ladies all enjoyed themselves, and hope that these visits may become a regular feature of their society life.

Yet three more of our young men have applied for enrollment in the ranks of Empire's defenders. These three are George Harwood, William Snow, and Creon Hatt, and having successfully passed the physical test they are awaiting immediate orders to join the C.M.R.'s at Victoria. This regiment will go forward soon as infantry.

E. Garnett arrived back in Summerland again last Saturday evening from a trip to Calgary. While in the Alberta city Mr Garnett closed a deal trading a Saskatchewan farm property for a house in the city of Calgary, and he expects to proceed to his new property with his family before long. He will take up farming again in the vicinity of the city.

Okanagan imported its lime-sulphur this spring, instead of buying the product of coast manufacturers as in former years. The change was a forced one, as the home manufactory was fully occupied on war orders. The shipment of lime-sulphur received here a few days ago was part of a shipment of 50 barrels brought up from Wenatchee over the G.N.R. to Princeton, thence east over the K.V.R.

Mate McDonald, the well-known officer of the "Seamous," met with a particularly painful mishap as the boat was making a landing at Naramata last Saturday evening. One forearm was caught between a pile and some of the boat structure, lacerating the flesh badly from the elbow to the wrist. It was feared at first that the accident was of a very serious nature, but after being treated at Penticton it was found that the injury, while extremely painful in nature, will by no means permanently disable Mr McDonald.

The first coloring of apricot blossoms made its appearance in the Yakima district on Sunday, April 2nd, in an early section of that valley. With favorable weather it was then anticipated the whole valley would be adorned in nature's brightest hues. Last year blossoms were first reported on March 22nd.

The children of the Town School have been for some time preparing to give a public entertainment. "Go for them for all you are worth!" This is the advice a valued subscriber gives us in speaking of the mean people. "I notice," he says, "that though some people will not continue their subscription to the local paper, when they call at a house where it is taken they always ask for it, and read it through." Of course there are some folk who cannot see anything mean in doing this, and it does depend somewhat on the motive behind it. As our correspondent says, "Poverty should be despised by none, but meanness by all." It is good to know that someone has our viewpoint of the matter, and we welcome such moralizing all the more for the accompanying remittance which paid this subscriber up for many months in advance. Thank you, come again!

Rev. David Lister of Benvoulin, Kelowna, has been spending the week with his family here. His church has about completed a manse, and Mr Lister will be moving his family from here shortly. It is understood that Mrs Lister will remain till schools close.

To those who love good music, the performance of A. R. Gaul's oratorio, "The Ten Virgins," advertised in this issue will appeal especially. The production is being put on by the Summerland Musical Society under the conductorship of Mr T. G. Beavis. It takes place in the Lakeside Baptist Church on the evening of Good Friday next week. Rehearsals of "The Ten Virgins" have been going on for the last two months or thereabouts and the finished performance is likely to be one of considerable merit. There are five soloists, none of whom need any introduction to the people of this district and whose reputations speak for themselves. In addition the oratorio presents some strong single and double choruses as well as quartets, trios and duets. The admission price has been fixed at 35 cents.

Financial Success Attends Sale of Work.

With the proceeds standing in the neighborhood of $126, the ladies of the College Auxiliary achieved a great success at their sale of work held yesterday afternoon and evening in the College Gymnasium. The ladies interested in the affair had thrown a great deal of energy and foresight into the preparations they made, and they were successful in obtaining the co-operation of some friends of the College at outside points in the way of help, which chiefly took the form of material and goods for the sale. There was a good attendance of buyers and prospective buyers in evidence, especially as the afternoon wore on. Business was carried on at about half a dozen stalls, including fancy work, aprons and neckwear, candy, home baking, plants, flowers, and bulbs, millinery, and others. The ladies in charge of these stalls made themselves adept at pushing their wares, the majority of which inclined very markedly toward utility rather than mere ornament. Afternoon tea was served during the progress of the event and this feature was taken advantage of by a majority of those present. Music was also enjoyed during the course of the sale.

The annual general meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary will be held next Tuesday at three o'clock in St Stephen's Hall.

Ward, who has been acting as cashier in the same institution, has been transferred to the Princeton branch, and left for that town on Wednesday. A. Cascadden has taken up the teller's work in the local branch, and by some readjustments in the duties of the remaining members of the staff, the Bank is planning to carry on its business with a somewhat decreased staff.

There was a good showing both of Scouts and Cubs at last Friday's meeting. The Scouts were given physical exercises by Scoutmaster Tait. After some of this drill they were dismissed to study Scout work. Then the Patrol Leaders and Scoutmasters held a conference and decided to hold the Scout Concert on Thursday, April 27th, at eight o'clock. There will be a varied program, including parallel bar work, tumbling, etc. Local talent will also contribute some items. The chief feature will be the two plays, "The Train to Mauro," and "Taking the Census." Another item will be a wrestling match, Summerland v Naramata. Admission will be, Adults 50 cents; Children 25 cents. Part of the proceeds will be donated to the Ambulance League. After deciding about the Concert the Scoutmaster called all the Scouts to the drill hall. Here, on the mats, a number of wrestling matches took place, and everybody enjoyed them. Why don't visitors come and see us at work on Friday evenings? A hearty welcome is extended to all.

The committee in charge of the social held in the Philathea Class room Tuesday night is to be congratulated, as it was indeed a success. One feature of the evening's entertainment was a "hat contest," tissue paper of various colors, pins and scissors were supplied. Each was to design for his or her partner a new spring hat. When this feat was accomplished each pair had to promenade down the room wearing the new hats. Some were very fetching, and others would rival the latest styles from New York. Miss Leone Morrison and Mr. W. Williams were awarded the prize, which consisted of bouquets of fragrant violets. Everything went off splendidly. Everybody brought their good time with them, and all had a jolly time.

Considerable opposition is being manifested among Coast Battalions to the proposal that the Vernon military camp be re-established again this summer on even larger lines than last year. The 88th Victoria Fusiliers, the 102nd Battalion, "Warden's Warriors," the 103rd Battalion, "Vancouver Island Timber Wolves," and the 11th C.M.R. are four regiments which are especially strong in their protests against being moved inland. The chief argument they advance is that a census of the men reveals the fact that by far the greater number of all ranks have their homes in the vicinity of Vancouver, Victoria, or on Vancouver Island, and that to move the men inland again would work hardship on their families. Another ground for protest is the poor quarters which the married men found available for their families. For these quarters, nevertheless, the rents exacted were not always inconsiderable. Officers and men alike are joining in the protests, but what weight these will have at Ottawa cannot be conjectured.

"Can't Afford It"

That's what a merchant said the other day about his advertising. He said that trade was falling off and that he would have to economize.

ADVERTISING

is to stimulate business, but evidently Friend Merchant has it figured out that when times are good and folks have plenty of money to spend, he will demonstrate the advantage of spending it with him. But in dull times he will let the other fellow have the business.

It is a Fact

that advertising pays better when times are dull. It is the open season for bargain hunters, and the merchant who has nothing to offer the economical buyer is the first to suffer. The time to advertise is all the time and you can LEAST AFFORD to quit when you need the business most.

Production and Thrift

"CANADA from her abundance can help supply the Empire's needs, and this must be a comforting thought for those upon whom the heavy burden of directing the Empire's affairs has been laid. Gain or no gain the course before the farmers of Canada is as clear as it was last year—they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made, and I believe this to be especially true in regard to live stock, the world's supply of which must be particularly affected in this vast struggle. Stress and strain may yet be in store for us all before this tragic conflict is over, but not one of us doubts the issue, and Canadians will do their duty in the highest sense of that great word."—HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture.

"MODERN war is made by resources, by money, by foodstuffs, as well as by men and by munitions. While war is our first business, it is the imperative duty of every man in Canada to produce all that he can, to work doubly hard while our soldiers are in the trenches, in order that the resources of the country may not only be conserved, but increased, for the great struggle that lies before us. 'Work and Save' is a good motto for War-time."—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

We must feed ourselves, feed our soldiers, and help feed the Allies. The need is greater in 1916 than it was in 1915. The difficulties are greater, the task is heavier, the need is more urgent, the call to patriotism is louder—therefore be thrifty and produce to the limit.

Modification Of Plans For Vernon Camp.

Colonel J. Duff Stebart, Officer Commanding this military district, has made the announcement that following the presentation to Ottawa of protests made by some Coast units being moved to Vernon this summer, it has been decided to maintain four battalions as an infantry brigade on Vancouver Island. Whether the remaining battalions at the Coast will be brought back to Vernon for the summer camp is still undecided, since mainland regiments at Vancouver and New Westminster are now petitioning to be allowed to remain where they are. The 88th Battalion is announced to be going to England shortly, and the 143rd B.C. Bantams, has received the assurance that it will not be brought to Vernon this summer, permanent quarters having been established at Victoria. Outside of these two regiments there still remain four other units on Vancouver Island, the 102nd, 103rd, 11th C.M.R. and the 50th regiment of militia which is soon to be converted into a Highland overseas battalion. The B.C. Company of the Western Universities' Battalion is expected to remove to Sewell, Manitoba as soon as it reaches sufficient strength, and at that camp it will join the remaining companies of the battalion. The 172nd, now over strength at Kamloops, is expected to be moved into Vernon about the end of May.

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTES.

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute was held last Friday afternoon. The attendance was only fair. After the general routine of business was over, Mr. Hilborn kindly came forward to address the meeting on Vegetable Growing. The talk was very interesting, and being so appropriate for the time of year was listened to very attentively, and the speaker was questioned at various points of his talk. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hilborn for his address.

His kindness in coming to the meeting at a busy time when there is so much hot house work was greatly appreciated. Another feature of the afternoon was the question drawer which proved very helpful. At the close of the meeting a large case of goods was ready to be despatched to the Belgians.

The finest broom corn ever seen by the chiefs of the Crown Broom Works, Vancouver, was grown in South Okanagan last year. In talking of the trial shipment sent his concern, Mr. G. E. Cooper said his people would pay almost any price to get such corn. Nothing like it for quality was ever imported. It was of good length, lively and tough. If shipped in car lots, his house would gladly pay $185 a ton for such broom material. Mr. Cooper believed about 2 1/2 tons could be grown to the acre.

W. T. Shatford of Vernon, President of the British Columbia Conservative Association, has resigned from office in that body for the purpose of going to the front with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces. He is now in training at Toronto, and on receiving his commission will be posted to an overseas battalion. In view of the fact that he expected to be away from the province for the better part of the remaining portion of his term of office, he stated in his resignation that he thought it best to retire.

Ministers of the Gospel are to be given the right to sit in the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia, a right not heretofore enjoyed, by a bill to amend the constitution introduced last Friday in the Provincial House by Premier Bowser.

HOME COMFORT CLUB IS DOING REALLY USEFUL WORK.

Richmond Camp,
Yorkshire, England.
March 30, 1916.

The Secretary,
Home Comfort Club,
Summerland, B.C.
Dear Madam:

I beg to offer to you and to the other members of the Summerland Home Comfort Club my most grateful thanks for the parcel of most useful articles that you have so kindly sent me.

I appreciate your kindness more than I can express. The things enclosed will be of the greatest value to me on my return to the trenches.

I am sure the ladies of Summerland deserve the heartiest congratulations from all on their noble work, and their effort will be well rewarded by the pleasure and comfort their gifts will afford to the Summerland boys at the war.

Yours very truly,

L. R. DOUGLAS-HAMILTON,
8th Service Battalion,
Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders.

Two Brides Honored.

A shower given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. K. S. Hogg and Miss Grace Logie at their mother's home in honor of Miss Lillian Brown is pronounced by those present as a most successful social event. The rooms were tastefully decorated in Easter colors, yellow and white, calla lilies and daffodils being much in evidence.

The bride-to-be was showered by confetti when she first entered the parlors, while Miss Edna McLeod played a wedding march. Later followed a shower of things more substantial, including many beautiful and useful articles of silverware, fancy work, etc. Those assisting in the musical part of the afternoon's enjoyment were Miss Evelyn Brown with a solo, Misses Harrison and Logie a piano duet, and Miss McLeod also at the piano.

A tea-table shower was the novel form a shower party took this afternoon, given by Mrs. N. McNaughton and Mrs. Angwin, at the home of the former, in honor of Miss Margaret White, on the occasion of her approaching marriage. The bride-elect became the happy recipient not only of gifts of choice table linen, but also of silver and other articles of adornment and use on the tea-table.

"THE TEN VIRGINS."

Quite in keeping with the real sentiment of Easter is the oratorio "The Ten Virgins," to be given to-morrow evening, Good Friday, in the Lakeside Baptist Church. To those who wish to keep the true spirit of the day with them, the music will appeal.

The greater portion of the very graphic parable of our Lord on which the oratorio is founded has been allotted to the Narrator, mostly in recitative form. The other solos and choruses for the most part are in the nature of reflections, interspersed to accentuate the spiritual teaching underlying the various sections of the allegory.

The performance will commence at eight o'clock, and it is requested that people be in attendance as near that hour as possible in order that there may be little disturbance by late comers during the first numbers. A special ferry is expected to bring a number of Naramata people over, a combination price of 50 cents having been arranged to cover both admission and the double trip.

A glance at the advertisement on page 2 shows the calibre of the soloists. They are all of established reputation and capable of doing full justice to the expressive words and music they are called upon to render. The choir comprises in all about two dozen voices.

It is hoped that the public will do justice to the performance by filling the church to the utmost. The admission price has been fixed at 35 cents, and tickets are now being offered for sale throughout the district.

What Message Has This Easter- Tide For You?

The real significance of the times of year we call "holiday seasons" come in for but little attention in these days. Yet to ponder for a while on the Easter thought would be good for us all. Easter embodies the hope of the world. The spring time of itself, bringing every year the revival of nature, speaks eloquently of encouragement, hope, and new aspirations, and Eastertide is the symbol of the immortality of nature. Put its message of hope and encouragement into your own life.

Council Reaches Deadlock Over Garnett Flume.

Reeve Refuses To Pass Motion Of Public Works Committee
Laid On Table Till Engineer Latimer Makes Report.

Supt. Thomson Urges That Definite Plan Be Laid Down.

These To Be Kept In Mind And Followed When Making Any Changes Or Improvements.

Of more than the usual interest was the special meeting of the Council held last Friday afternoon when matters relating to the irrigation system, more particularly the Garnett Valley flume and Siwash and Jones Flats distributing systems, were again discussed.

According to Superintendent Thomson, who addressed the Council at some length, there is danger of unnecessary expenditure of considerable money within this and the next two or three years unless certain facts are taken more into consideration and a more comprehensive plan of improvement and expansion is laid down to be followed for some time to come.

Mr. Thomson in his remarks said that since taking up his new duties he had been going over the system and had noticed a lot of improvements and also some mistakes. One thing struck him most forcibly, and he had after much thought been compelled to bring the matter to the attention of the Council before the work now being done on the west side of Garnett Valley had proceeded too far.

In the early days there were two irrigation systems in the district, those of the Summerland Development Company and the Garnett Valley Land Co. The two systems, Mr. Thomson stated, paralleled one another for miles, the systems crossing each other for a long distance at the west of Siwash Flat, while further up the Valley the situation was even more complicated, and unless the work was carefully planned the Council in making repairs and improvements would spend a lot of unnecessary money on these duplicating systems. Mr. Thomson could see no need of spending so much money on a big flume on the west side of Garnett Valley only to bring water down that side to be syphoned across to the east side when the big flume on the east side must be maintained. Both flumes take water from the same source, the intakes being on the same level and within 20 yards of each other. To bring more water down the west side than was needed locally looked as though they just wanted to pour it through the syphon. Again, water from Trout Creek was being carried away past the west end of Siwash Flat, through another syphon, and by an extensive flume system, back under the ditch again. Water for the west end of the Flat should be brought down directly from the ditch above. The miles of unnecessary fluming and the absurdity of maintaining the dual systems had struck him very forcibly when looking over the situation, and he urged that this be taken into consideration before proceeding further with the work of building the big flume down the west side of Garnett Valley. Mr. Thomson, pointing out the necessity of repairing the big flume on the east of the valley, advocated making that large enough for all requirements, and that the other be rebuilt for more local use.

Mr. Logie, replying to Mr. Thomson, said the idea was nothing new to him, as he was particularly familiar with that part of the system. He further pronounced Mr. Thomson's suggestion as impractical. To this Mr. Thomson replied tartly that it was new to Mr. Logie, and judging from his remarks he did not yet know what he was talking about.

Coun. Johnston could see no reason for carrying so much water away up past Col. Cartwright's only to bring it back again after going through the syphon. To renew the syphon, which Mr. Thomson pointed out must soon be done if present plans are carried out, he said would cost $1,000, and this was wholly unnecessary. He asked that the councillors go with him to the head of Jones Flat and he would show them in a few moments how thousands of dollars might be saved.

The Reeve, after listening to Mr. Thomson, said it was too late now to make any change in the plans for the west flume, and he would not favor making a change in either the size or grade. Anyway, there was no money with which to enlarge the east flume.

Coun. Simpson thought Mr. Thomson's proposition worth looking into, as they should save all the money they could.

The Reeve wanted to know why Superintendent Thomson had not thought of this plan before, to which the latter replied that he had nothing to do with that part of the work, and in fact had been ordered to keep away from it.

A rough plan of the flumes was drawn by the Superintendent, and a general discussion followed, Mr. Logie advancing the argument that there was no early water to be had from Eneas Creek and the Dunsdon dam would be needed, and that further the east end of Jones Flat was under Trout Creek water records, and might claim that water if a shortage ever occurred. Supt. Thomson claimed that this record business had been all exploded. The whole place was under the one

SOLDIERS APPRECIATED RED CROSS APPLES FROM OKANAGAN.

Vernon, B.C.

Dear Sirs,

It gives me great pleasure in forwarding to you to-day a copy of the Bramshott Weekly Chronicle just received from England, referring particularly to the 47th Battalion and the receipt of the shipment of apples that went forward from B.C. last fall.

I have received letters from every regiment from B.C. that was in England and France at that time, and each and every one of the Colonels speak in a most appreciative manner of the kindness and thoughtfulness of the donors.

If it is possible I would like your local newspaper to print this article in full so that the contributors from the Okanagan Valley will realize how much their kind gift was appreciated.

Yours truly,
Sgd. J. R. SEYMOUR,
Vice-Chairman.

Extract from the Weekly Chronicle of the 47th Battalion at Bramshott, England, Jan. 15, 1916.

Vancouver and B.C. through the "Red Cross" send 2,000 boxes of apples to their sons overseas.

Boys of the B.C. Regiments recipients of a fine New Year's gift.

Great was the delight of the boys of the 47th when there arrived last Wednesday several hundreds of boxes of apples from Vancouver and B.C.

Each but received its quota, and everyone had as many apples as he desired.

The kindness and thoughtfulness of our friends at home was much appreciated.

It was through the good offices of the Canadian Red Cross Society that system, it did not matter where the water came from. The upper flume behind Col. Cartwright's would soon need replacing. There is now a drop of 60 ft. in the flume near S. M. Young's. He would put the flume on a better grade, and carry more water from Trout Creek. He would not do away with the syphon fed by that flume.

The discussion was continued after the councillors repaired to the brow of the hill overlooking the entrance to Garnett Valley. There it was shown by Couns. Johnston and Campbell that the flume taking water from the Garnett Valley syphon was not large enough for the present water supply, and the grade was too level. They proposed augmenting the supply of water by taking water from the big ditch in Jones Flat down a flume beside the Raby property.

Coun. Campbell again urged that the new flume be a 3 ft. one instead of 4 ft. as now planned, (the present flume is 2 ft. wide) and drop back to the present grade. This would carry all the water the 16in. pipe could deliver, and would save several hundred dollars by making it unnecessary to syphon across the Wright property, beside the difference in the cost of material and labor. All the men up and down the valley realized the 4 ft. flume was a waste.

The Reeve told Coun. Campbell that it was out of pure selfishness that he approved the plans as prepared by Mr. Mitchell. Though evidently hurt and angered, Coun. Campbell replied that he had 15 acres under the system, and if any selfishness entered into the question it would favor the larger flume if he had any doubt of the other not being large enough.

Supt. Thomson, who again outlined his proposal, charged the Reeve and Clerk with backing his suggestions without giving them due consideration, and declared it was the last time he would ever go to the Council with any suggestions.

Coun. Campbell again spoke disapproval of this method in which the Garnett Valley work was being Appointed As Local Fruit Pest Inspector.

The position of local fruit pests inspector, recently opened by the enlisting of Mr. Randall, has been filled by the appointment of Mr. John Tait. Mr. Tait had applied for the appointment some time ago, and was told of the decision of the department last Saturday by District Inspector Hoy. A letter from Victoria that same evening confirmed Mr. Hoy's report. Mr. Tait has had many years of experience in the fruit business, and knowing his territory thoroughly, will quickly get his new duties well in hand.

the consignment arrived, and in an interesting letter to Colonel Winsby, Mr. J. R. Seymour tells how the apples came to be sent. The letter runs:—"At an entertainment at the Pantages Theatre some few weeks ago a lecture was given entitled, "The Silent Navy and its Work," and in a letter written by a naval officer in His Majesty's Navy, a paragraph was read which said how grateful the boys would be for some of those juicy B.C. apples, and how much our boys would enjoy them. This brought forth an immediate response by one gentleman in the audience offering 50 boxes. I was approached, asking if the Red Cross Society would make an appeal for our boys. After consultation with some of our Executive, I was detailed to look after this appeal, with the result that I managed to secure four carloads, or 2,115 boxes."

This was a magnificent New Year's gift, and we are at a loss to know when the generosity of our friends at home will cease. We almost feel embarrassed at the quantities of gifts that come from time to time from those we have left behind.

The Canadian Red Cross has done such a tremendous lot for her soldiers at the front. The Greater Vancouver organization closed the year with a report of 1,088 cases of goods sent to Toronto and London, England, amounting in weight to no less than 80,000 lbs. and valued at 145,000 dollars.

This was all material made up ready for our wounded, sick, and diseased soldiers in the Red Cross Hospitals, besides thirty thousand dollars cash sent to London for medical and surgical supplies that could be purchased in London. Then outside this are the countless numbers of socks that have been knitted for the boys at the front, and the wonderful work done by the Daughters of the Empire, to say nothing of the $5,854 dollars raised in one day on the mainland of B.C. for the B.C. Base Hospital, now known as No. 5 General Hospital, C.E.F., recently sent to Malta.

Yet, in addition to all this, "The Prisoners of War Fund," working through the Canadian Red Cross Society, have cabled no less than 15,000 dollars to London, for the purpose of sending gifts to the prisoners in Germany.

We do indeed thank the generous donors of those apples to us; the gift was more than appreciated, for many had not even seen an apple, leave alone tasted one, since we left home.

We are glad that we are able, through the courtesy of Mr. J. R. Seymour, to publish a list of the names of the contributors, and we know that all other units which received their portion of the gift will unite with us in giving thanks to one and all.

IS IT THE BEST WAY?

DOES IT NOT become apparent that the policy being pursued by the Council of separating the different departments of public works and utilities is not the wisest? With a superintendent, answerable to the Council, over all the branches of municipal activity, there is some semblance of co-ordination. Such a man has a grasp of the whole situation in his mind, knows the relation of one branch to the others, and should be able to regulate the work so it could be accomplished most efficiently and economically. There have been examples of late where the duties of heads of departments have not been clearly defined enough to avoid misunderstanding. There is doubt as to where the Council's authority ends and where the responsibility of the official begins. This is one unsatisfactory result arising from a policy which segregates the different departments by setting up independent officials at their head. Another is that such men become apt to develop an eye single to their own particular work to such an extent that they lose the proper perspective of things. Then trouble comes by the Council wanting to know who's running things.

In municipal government the cheapest is not always the best, and we think this applies to the present method governing the conduct of the different branches of the public work. Year in and year out it would prove very little more expensive to get the services of a man competent to take the control and responsibility of all the public works and utilities. What a saving in worry to some of the councillors such a step would bring about! Their main concern could then remain with matters of policy, leaving the responsibility for the due execution of such upon shoulders paid to take it.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION BILL.

ACCORDING to the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Bill, introduced in the House at Victoria a few days back, a fund for the payment of compensation to injured workmen will be raised by assessments on employees, beginning next October, and the scheme will itself go into effect at the beginning of next year. To what are considered the best features of a similar Ontario act, the British Columbia measure provides a system of medical aid to workmen and a plan of accident prevention which has not been incorporated in the eastern bill. Clerical workers, and those employed in direct agricultural work are not included within the scope of the act, but may become so by arrangement. Another addition eliminates the element of individual liability now resting on the employer. Workmen need not go to the courts to sue their employers for compensation for injuries. They must apply to a compensation commission, and the decision of this board is made final. The bill grants compensation to workmen for all working days except the first three after the date of their injury thereby giving the men new privileges. The present form of the measure commits the government to the principle of state insurance in its entirety.

Another advanced piece of legislation B.C. may soon have is votes for women. Premier Bwaser promised last week that at the forthcoming election a referendum would be submitted to the people on the question of extending the franchise to women. If the vote is favorable, votes for women will become effective January 1st, 1917.

NEED OF PRODUCTION.

IT MUST BE PLAIN to the most obtuse and unreasoning mind that twenty-four or twenty-five million of men cannot be withdrawn even from the swarming population of Europe without effecting a huge reduction in the produce of labor and of the soil. Women may in a measure supply the places of men, but it must be remembered that women have also their sphere in the economics of life. Therefore in taking them to the land they are being taken, in the main, from other employment. Consequently, if for every man who goes to fight there was a woman to take his place in agriculture or other industry there would still be a deficiency not only in labor but in production. At the present time 400,000 women are being called for to take the place of 250,000 British soldiers recruited from farm work.

Hence it is clear that no matter what steps may be taken, either during the war or after the war, there must be an enormous shortage of the requirements across the Atlantic for many years to come. And that shortage for a period subsequent to the declaration of peace will be as keenly felt as at any time during the gigantic struggle. With the normal scramble for existence resumed there will be less immediate government control—in other words there will be less systematic regulation of supplies. To meet the huge demands that must succeed extra consumption, tremendously less production and immensely greater wastage, there will be abundant use, not for one year's bountiful crops, but for similar blessings during a score of successive years. Where and how can this assured demand be met? There is but one answer to the dual question—by the undevastated countries and by redoubled efforts at production in those countries.

That Canada is not the only country that has not had its resources in large part exhausted or destroyed, is true; but there is plenty of reason to believe that the nations of Europe not engaged in the war, have been drawn upon to the utmost by those so engaged; hence when the time comes all eyes will be turned from east to west for succor. Canada, being the nearest to the great centre of demand, will, of necessity, apart from sentimental reasons, be the first looked to, and will have the greatest opportunity. The bogey of released Russian harvests has been on parade since the war commenced, but Russia, with twelve or fifteen million men called to arms, largely of the peasant class, has suffered and is suffering, like the rest. She, too, will need reorganizing, rejuvenating and regenerating. Hence, while for a few months after the outbreak of hostilities, there may have been something to be expected from the release of stores of wheat and other grain from Odessa and other Black Sea ports, there is nothing available now, and there may be little in the next decade. Hence, Canada's role is plain—to go on producing, to go on garnering and storing, if necessary, in the sure and certain hope of ultimate profit and prosperity. There never was a time, and probably never will be another time, when we were more urgently called upon to produce, in increased quantities, not alone all articles of food, but every article that enters into the industrial life of peoples.

THE DOHERTY BILL, a government measure, the object of which is to prevent the importation of intoxicants into provinces which have enacted prohibition laws, has passed the House of Commons. Railways and steamships are forbidden to carry liquor into such provinces. Thus the federal government leaves it to each province to decide whether it will suppress the liquor traffic, and gives it protection from outside its borders when abolishing intoxicants within those borders.

THE COUNCIL might have gone a little farther in the matter of the daylight saving plan than merely endorsing it. They should start their outside work going by it, thus setting an example that would be a good precedent for other institutions. Several expressions of approval have been heard since the matter was broached in this column, coupled with a desire to see the scheme put into operation. Concerted action, of course, is essential, and it now rests with the Board of Trade perhaps, to discuss the matter with the business houses and others most interested. The sooner it goes into force the better, for the usefulness of daylight saving ceases not later than September 1st, on account of shortening days, while already the morning hours that would be utilized are bright enough to fill with work.

COUNCIL REACHES DEADLOCK OVER GARNETT FLUME.

erintend the work, and he found them packing lumber on their backs when a team should be doing the work. Consequently the work was going along slowly.

Reeve Blair adhered to the 4 ft. flume on the higher grade as the only way to assure an adequate supply of water for Siwash Flat this year. If they could rebuild the east flume this spring he might consent to some change in the plans.

Resuming the debate around the Council table, Couns. Johnston and Campbell moved that the flume now being built be continued at a width of 3 feet and on the old grade. The Reeve declared he would never sanction such a motion. The present plans were the recommendations of a man who knows more about such matters than any other man in the place.

That he never knew the conditions till then was Coun. Stark's admission, and he now quite agreed with Couns. Johnston and Campbell. He believed the 3 ft. flume would carry more water than the 16 inch pipe would deliver.

The Reeve said there was another flume leading into the main below the pipe but this was pronounced by Coun. Campbell as a waste flume and delivered very little water.

Coun. Simpson understood the object had been to get more water through the syphon. Was the idea now to drop that?

The Reeve said the difference in the cost of the 3 ft. and 4 ft. flume would not be great. Coun. Campbell again pointed out the cost of a concrete syphon at Wright's. The present flume was only 2 ft. and the grade was uneven and the flume leaked more than half the water put into it. He was there to use his judgment whether good or bad, and he had now said all he was going to say on the matter.

Reeve Blair declared they might pass the motion over his head but he would never sanction it.

Coun. Simpson, taking up a suggestion from the Clerk that the Engineer be called to report on the matter, asked if he could be gotten at once, and when told that he could said he did not feel like assuming the responsibility of voting until he had expert advice and favored getting Mr. Latimer. This was unanimously agreed to, the motion standing over in the meantime.

In reply to a further question from Coun. Stark, the Reeve said he did not know the size of the flume above the 16 inch pipe at Theed's, but did not think it was 4 feet.

Among the communications was a notice from Mrs. F. A. C. Wright

ing done. He did not blame the men, who were doing the best they could under the circumstances, but they were without anyone to sup-advise the Council that she could not give permission to carry out the proposed flume changes on her property. If the Council insisted she would be forced to refer the matter to the Water Commissioners.

F. A. Miller, for the Overseas Club, complained of the absence of water in the fountain at the Supply Company's corner. This had already been remedied.

A detailed account for the 349 hours overtime billed for by Electrician James was referred to the Electric Light Committee. With reference to this, Coun. Campbell remarked that there should be some definite understanding. Coun. Johnston believed that meter reading and work at the plant was part of the Electrician's regular duties. He should be paid for new extension work. The Clerk said Mr. James had come to the office and learned just what his duties would be. No fixed hours were mentioned. This was before he applied for the position. Later he had a general understanding with the Council. No hours were mentioned.

Coun. Johnston, chairman of the Public Works Committee, asked for the authority to at once proceed with the work of cement lining about 300 feet of ditch at Reed's, south of Giant's Head. Granted. He reported that he would not recommend draining a pond near E. O. James. This was a natural pond and could only be drained through private property.

As he understood Mr. Secrest, the owner, would be satisfied, he recommended that water rates be discontinued on a lot in Prairie Valley rather than build 300 feet of fluming to deliver water to it.

D. Cameron Barr had applied through Coun. Simpson for payment for damages to his lot by water from the flume. This brought up the larger question of whether there should be any acknowledgment of responsibility in such cases. In this instance it seemed fairly certain that a municipal employee had obstructed the flume causing it to later overflow. Coun. Simpson will ask Mr. Barr to state the amount of his claim.

Engineer F. H. Latimer spent Tuesday here going over the Garnett Valley flumes and those serving Siwash and the west end of Jones Flats, preparatory to advising the Council. His report reached here this morning and it is expected there will be a special meeting of the Council during the day to receive and act upon it.

Supt. Thomson was instructed to replace the flume crossing the Railway at Otley's with new.

MARKET FOR SPUDS.

Australia Will Require a Large Quantity of Potatoes This Year.—B.C. Tubers Worth $74 per Ton.—Commonwealth Wants Smaller Apples.

The latest report of Trade Commissioner D. H. Ross to the department of trade and commerce reveals facts of great interest to British Columbia apple and potato growers in regard to Australian markets.

Owing to the drought in 1914-15 the Commonwealth was obliged to import over 19,000 tons of potatoes last year, these supplies being chiefly from British Columbia and California.

Large shipments of British Columbia potatoes arrived at Sydney, N.S.W., from October to December, 1915, on an exceptionally bare market. Generally the quality was excellent, especially those packed in crates, and sizes were satisfactory to the trade. Some of the shipments made in sacks arrived in bad order, which demonstrated the advantage of packing in crates for the trip across the equator.

B.C. POTATOES WORTH $74 PER TON.

The report further states: "While admittedly it is somewhat premature to offer a decided opinion what the Australian market conditions on potatoes will be when the first shipments of 1916 growth from British Columbia land at Sydney, yet the present outlook indicates that the prices will be distinctly remunerative.

Prime qualities which were quoted in December by wholesalers in Sydney at about £15 ($73), have now advanced to $17 ($82.73) per ton of 2,240 pounds, or approximately $74 per short ton. Whether these prices will be maintained or materially altered is now a question of conjecture.

After careful investigation of the trade situation, and as the result of expert advice, it is considered that large quantities of potatoes will require to be imported this year. The reasons given are that the New South Wales crop has been a failure, and the area under crop in Victoria and Tasmania has been reduced by about one-third less than normal. The position is accentuated by unfavorable reports concerning the condition of the New Zealand crop.

LARGE APPLES NOT POPULAR.

The growing importance of the Australian market for British Columbia apples is indicated by the fact that during the Australian fresh fruit importing season of 1915—from September to December—steamers from Vancouver landed 80,290 cases of apples at Sydney, an increase of 19,351 cases over 1914. Okanagan district supplied most of the Canadian apples on the Australian market.

Mr. Ross states that Australian importers of British Columbia apples take exception to the considerable proportion of large sized fruit—120 and 130 etc., to the case—which were shipped last year. The trade requires nothing larger than 150 apples to the case (i.e., imperial bushel) especially as all imported apples, in comparison with the Australian product, are sold at high prices.

B.C. APPLES HIGHLY PRIZED.

Canadian shippers are advised under normal conditions not to incur the risk of consigning apples or other perishable products for realization on the distant Australian market. Firm orders from reliable Australian fruit merchants should be preferable to exporters, even if the profit is smaller, rather than the larger prospective—and uncertain—profit which might be obtained by consigning shipments for realization. Such is the deservedly good name enjoyed by well-established brands of British Columbia apples that letters of credit are established at Vancouver by Australian buyers, thus constituting a cash purchase on surrender of the bill of lading. It is there evident, states Mr. Ross, that special care should be devoted by the packers to maintain the reputation of their brands of apples on the Australian market by shipping only high-grade fruit.

AUSTRALIAN FRUIT FOR CANADA.

As the former continental markets are now cut off and there is insufficient tonnage to carry the large quantity of apples available for export to Great Britain, Australian fruit exporters are submitting quotations to buyers in Victoria, Vancouver, and at other points in the Dominion with a view of placing their fruit on the Canadian market. Information has been furnished to several Australian export houses in the interests of encouraging, in the reverse season, the interchange of shipments of fruit between Canada and Australia.

CARE OF SOW AND YOUNG PIGS.

One of the most disappointing things about hog raising is to have a big strong litter come and then to see them die off. Such a result may be due to the sow being too high in flesh and her milk not of the best quality as a result, or to her crushing the pigs because of being too fat and lazy, and sometimes the sow eating her pigs due to the depraved appetite. This latter condition is generally due to feeding upon heating concentrated foods, such as barley and wheat, and may be avoided by giving a larger proportion of oats and mill feeds with salt, charcoal, ashes, and roots.

After farrowing, sows are frequently put on heavier and heating feeds, and this in turn acts upon the young pigs, causing constipation. Feed a freshly farrowed sow sloppy milk feeds or ground oats for a day, then thicken up the feed, but as long as she is nursing, keep the feed moist and never thicker than a well-cooked porridge.

Young pigs frequently get very fat at from three to six weeks of age, and in this condition die of indigestion. To avoid this, feed the sow sloppy food and give her exercise. If in a small pen she may be made to move about by giving her roots to eat or fresh earth to root over, and sometimes she can be exercised in the passage or yard of the pen. The huddling together of sow and litter day after day after the first week from farrowing is almost sure to be fatal to some of the pigs.

Marked departures from natural conditions with the object of giving the sow greater comfort are almost sure to be followed by fatal results or by a poorer pig crop.

CARING FOR THE FRESHENING COW.

The average cow that freshens in the spring begins her year's work with a serious handicap. She does it if she is poor in flesh, and the cow that is dry during the winter is apt to be, for a low production or no production does not prompt good feeding. It is now generally recognized among farmers who make a study of their cows that good feeding during a dairy cow's six weeks or two months of rest is as profitable or even more so than at any other time. The flesh a good dairy cow lays on at this time will be converted into milk later. Her milk flow will be larger and her test will be higher when she freshens, if she is in first-class condition.

Shortage of food, the rush of spring work, and the temptation to turn the cows on pasture before there is food there for them are all to the disadvantage of the cow that freshens in the spring. Whatever may be the portion of the rest of the cows and stock, it will pay to feed the cow well that is soon to freshen. Not only a low milk production and a weak calf follow poor feeding at this time, but after birth retention, which may lead to serious ailment.

The Farmers' Institute.

The Farmers' Institute meetings are rapidly becoming the general exchange office for ideas of vital interest to the community. It is the debating ground, too, for all the local orators, of whom there are a few—and some fiery ones too. Last Friday proved no exception. Besides a lively discussion on the Fruit Union methods, there were papers read by two of the members. One by Mr. J. Bruce on Current Topics for the month, and another by Mr. J. H. Pushman on "A Town is What its People Make It."

In the course of a lengthy speech on matters pertaining to the Fruit Union, Mr. Frank Rounds advocated that a committee be selected to examine the last car of hay shipped in here, to be sold to the benighted citizens of Naramata. He asserted that the hay was unfit for anything but bedding—to judge from the action of his team at least. The outcome was that a committee was authorized to examine the hay and report at a public meeting to be held on Thursday, April 20th, at 7.30. Accordingly Messrs King, Rounds and Boothe were delegated to this important task.

Wounded At The Front.

In a letter received from Bandsman Roy Boothe to his mother last night he speaks of feeling so terribly cut up on account of the recent report of his friend, Walter Talbot, being wounded at the front. It will be remembered that Roy and Walter were among the very first who enlisted from our town, in fact they both went out on the same boat, but after being in Vernon for a while they were separated, Walter going with the 4th C.M.R., who joined in with another regiment, and sailed for England a year ago. Walter has been in the trenches for some months, but up to the present has escaped the terrible German bullets. The whole community will, we are sure, regret to hear of this casualty, as Walter was a great favorite around town.

Rev R. M. Thompson of Penticon conducted divine services in the Methodist Church last Sunday.

We are pleased to see Mr Pushman, Senr., who has been so ill the greater part of the winter, able to be out and around again.

Miss Hall, sister of Mrs Allen, is visiting at the home of Mrs Fred Young, on the south benches, for a while. We are pleased to report that Miss Hall is much better again after her long illness during the cold weather.

Mrs M. M. Allen entertained at her own home on Friday evening in honor of the birthday of one of the guests, Mrs H. T. Davies. None but the immediate relatives of the guest of honor were present, but all report a good time spent.

It is truly gratifying to see the fruit trees in such a healthy condition this spring after such a terribly cold winter. In talking with an old orchardist one day he told the writer there was only a very small percentage of the peach trees which suffered at all.

Miss Edna Noyes entertained her Sunday School class at her own home on Thursday afternoon, April 13th, to a very pleasant party, the day in question being the birthday of one of her pupils, Miss Laurel Pushman. The little girls all expressed themselves as having a fine time.

There is an urgent request for every member or "would-be" member of the Ladies' Aid Society to be present at their next meeting, the regular yearly meeting, to be held in the church basement on Wednesday afternoon, April 26th. The regular election of officers for the incoming year will take place, and refreshments will be served.

We hear on good authority that three soldier lads who joined the forces some few weeks ago, namely, Harold Mitchell, Allie Noyes and Harold Steers, have all been promoted to Lance Corporal. We understand they are still camped at Kamloops. Naramata, considering its size and age, is certainly to be congratulated on the number of men she has sent forth to help in the great struggle for King and Empire.

We are pleased to report the fact that Mrs C. H. Daly of Summerland gave a temperance talk to the school children in the interest of the W.C.T.U. on Wednesday, April 19th, at the school house. This was a good opportunity for all the mothers at least and fathers too to hear this gifted speaker along temperance lines. The W.C.T.U. ladies invited the public to be present. While here Mrs Daly was the guest of Mrs W. W. Mitchell. We hope to have Mrs Daly visit us again in this capacity.

The Sunday School is to be congratulated on the fine library that has been recently opened for the benefit of the scholars. There seems to be a very good class of books in circulation, and the principals who were instrumental in getting all these books in shape, surely deserve a great deal of credit, as the work involved was no small task. We have a splendid Sunday School now, the teachers and officers all working together in unison, which is a great impetus to the community.

Mr and Mrs Harry Hook and children, who have been staying in Naramata for the past two weeks, left for their home at Greenwood, B.C., on Tuesday morning, the journey being made by the K.V.R. While here Mr Hook has been a decidedly busy man, superintending the planting of his orchard property, and among other things has set out 8,000 strawberry plants. We are pleased to see that Mr Hook is another man who takes as his standard, Produce to the Limit, as this year above all other years, it is up to the people to make the land pay, and pay to the limit.

Naramata people will be afforded an opportunity to take in the oratorio, "The Ten Virgins," to be given in Summerland on Good Friday evening. It is understood that a special ferry will make the trip across, and 50 cents will pay for admission and round trip. With the Lakeside Baptist Church so near the ferry landing this trip should prove popular to-morrow evening.

(Other Naramata Notes will be found on page 6).

TESTING SEED FOR GERMINATION.

Sometimes seeds are received by growers which are low in germinating power, or sometimes even will not germinate at all. The seed is sown, and much valuable time is lost before it is discovered that the germination is poor. It often happens then that it is too late to plant that kind of crop that year. Such loss may be avoided by obtaining seeds early enough to test them, and if necessary to obtain a fresh supply in good time. Seeds may be tested either in soil in pots, or between folds of blot-

Mrs George Boles of Douglas, Man., who came to Summerland to visit her parents, Mr and Mrs W. A. McLaughlin, left for her home on Monday. Her sister, Miss Grace McLaughlin, who accompanied her here, will remain for some time. A brother, J. Arthur McLaughlin of Port Arthur, Ont., who was also here for short time, has returned to that city.

At the last meeting of the Hospital Board it was decided to ask the Provincial authorities for a grant of $500 toward the cost of finishing the upper storey of the building. Recently some 45 trees, donated by the Riverside Nurseries, have been set out on the hospital grounds, which have been further improved by grading, seeding, etc., and the board decided to try to arrange to employ a man two days a week on the care of the grounds.

Mr and Mrs John Stuart and two children Dora and Allan went out this morning for Lacombe, Alta. Their stay there is quite indefinite. Mr Stuart goes to take up farming again on a place already rented by his sons Douglas and Roy who have been there some time. Mr and Mrs Stuart have been resident here for a long term of years, and they have many friends who will hope that their removal to the Prairies is not going to be permanent. In Presbyterian circles especially they have been active workers, Mrs Stuart having acted as organist in St Andrew's Church for some time past, while Mr Stuart has been a faithful choir attendant. Mr and Mrs John D. Wood will occupy the Stuart house during the summer, Mr Wood having rented the property.

Mr F. G. Graham, of Seattle, son of Mr Geo. Graham, arrived here on a visit on the Tuesday evening boat.

Jas. Ritchie was an inward bound K.V.R. passenger this week, stepping off Monday evening's train from the Coast.

A shipment of mowing machines, a half dozen or so, arrived here on Tuesday. Begins to look as though diversified farming had become a realization.

Harry Thornthwaite, who belongs to a machine gun section of the 103rd Battalion, came in from Victoria Wednesday evening on a short visit to relatives here. His stretch of leave is only six days.

The Summerland Boy Scouts will hold their annual Concert in Empire Hall, Thursday the 27th. There will be sketches and gymnastic movements by the boys, and vocal and instrumental music by local talent.

Yet another of the Bank of Montreal staff is resigning. This time it is Mr Cascadden, who goes to Peace River to join his father in the implement business. It is understood that he goes out on Tuesday morning.

Mr K. S. Hogg commented his duties as Municipal Accountant and Collector to-day, a week or so before Mr Nixon vacates the dual position. This is in accordance with the recommendation of the Council in appointing Mr Hogg. He assumes full responsibility for the office next Tuesday.

Mr and Mrs Arnett and Miss Hilda plan leaving shortly for a year's stay in the East. Business affairs will require Mr Arnett's attention in Dauphin, Manitoba, for some time, and they have concluded to remain away for a year. Mr and Mrs O. Vaughan will occupy their house during their absence.

Leighton McLeod, third son of Rev and Mrs A. W. McLeod now of Chilliwack, has gone with his brother John into the Western Universities' Company being mobilized at the Coast. Thus the three eldest sons of Mr and Mrs McLeod are now serving their country and empire, surely a record any parents should be proud of.

Irrigation water is again on for another season. Water was turned into most of the ditches and flumes the first of the week. Since the season opened a good many miles of ditches have been cleaned and repaired and miles also of fluming have been gone over. Superintendent Thomson has besides replaced a very considerable length in total of worn fluming with new.

Engineer Favors Small Flume.

Chairman Johnston Orders Supt. To Take Charge Of Construction.

Engineer Latimer's report on the Garnett Valley flume and neighboring sections of the irrigation system was received at the Municipal Office this morning, and is said to have wholly approved of the views of the Public Works Committee, recommending the smaller flume. The Reeve and the chairman of the Public Works Committee were present when the report was opened. Chairman Johnston announced his intention of putting the work under Supt. Thomson, and having it rushed to an early completion. It is said the workmen are finding it difficult to make a good job with the tongue and grooved planking, which is described as not sufficiently seasoned, and that ordinary material may be used to finish the job.

Small beginnings in live stock farming are more likely to lead to success than are those on a large scale undertaken without sufficient experience. Pure bred animals in any class are, of course, the kind to keep where experience and capital combine to render success a certainty. Beginning with the grade permits of learning the business in a cheaper school, then the lesson once learned, the change to the more difficult to handle pure-bred classes may be made gradually, and with a certainty of success not otherwise possible. Make a little start in live stock this spring, if not already into the thing. If you cannot get the live stock till fall, plan at least to grow some crops suitable for their profitable maintenance when you get them, after harvest.

Nearly two hundred children took part in the cantata presented last Friday evening in the College Gymnasium, entitled "A Saloonless Nation." The children were divided into various groups, and each appearing in appropriate costume, they made a pretty spectacle. This was especially true of the grand march the children gave round the hall before taking their places on the stage. The audience entered by the middle door into the body of the hall, and the children were marshalled outside by groups and entering by the rear door paraded round the hall twice, singing the martial hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers." Each child wore or carried a bannerette or flag, some bearing appropriate mottoes. The Boy Scouts led the procession in uniform.

On the stage, Miss Kathleen Brown as Miss Canada and George Dale as Johnny Canuck, both in costume, were prominent figures. As each section of children presented its part, Miss Canada enquired of Johnny Canuck if the arguments were not sound, endeavoring to impress upon him that all classes and sections of the country are calling for prohibition.

The different parts of the cantata were as follows: Recitation - Fraser Lister. Song and Speeches - The Boy Scouts.

Speech - Allen Harris, as a representative of the People's Prohibition Party.

Speech - Miss Pearl Darks, as a representative of the W.C.T.U.

Songs and Recitations - Group of High School Girls, as Suffragettes. Recitations - Group of Indians.

Prohibition was the theme of all these numbers, some of which were especially effective. The entertainment was arranged under the auspices of the local W.C.T.U. Miss B. K. Harrison acted as conductor for the performance, and the music at the piano was provided by Mrs Dale and Miss Gummow. An orchestra of several pieces was also assisting. The young performers showed evidences of a great deal of training, and in addition to Miss Harrison, Miss A. Dale, Miss Rothwell, Mrs Lister, Miss Lister, and Miss Gummow also deserve some share of the credit for the good results from their hard work. The children seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves as they went through their performance, and the audience of close upon two hundred had great pleasure in the good time the children had.

Over forty dollars was taken in for admission at the door of the hall, making a very creditable showing at the popular price of 25 cents. "Advertising is no good," said the man in old clothes, "It never helped me none." The millionaire merchant smiled, "that is because you tried it, John, as the Indian tried the feather bed. An Indian took a feather, placed it on a plank and slept on it all night. In the morning he growled: 'Palface say feather heap soft. Palface heap fool, ugh!'"

NOW IS THE TIME TO CLEAN UP BACKYARDS.

Back yards can be made a valuable health investment for yourself and your children. Back yards left to dirt and ugliness are a health menace and a deadening environment. Clean up. Plant flowers where tin cans have grown, and in place of dangerous garbage piles, build seats and make playgrounds. A few cents and a few hours spent in making a sweet-smelling, clean place for your children to play may mean a big saving in doctor's bills, perhaps the life of a loved one. And you'll find satisfaction in it, too.

APRIL ON THE FARM.

The clouds extend themselves over the fields; the earth is moistened, and man is enriched by the bountiful gifts of Providence. "The hail, the winds, and the dew become sources of happiness to all around." Sweet, lovely April showers! Ye are renewing the face of nature, and calling forth again all the life and bloom of hill and dale! The valley and groves are again vocal with the melody of birds, and busy industry and health and cheerfulness are everywhere seen. It is now time that farmers pay particular attention to all that is connected with their occupation.

"He who trusts to chance for a crop, deserves none, and he generally has what he deserves." He that is negligent and sluggish in this month will be generally so throughout the year, and perhaps all his lifetime; and a shabby farm is portentous of neglected morals, and inclination to idleness, tipping and litigation. Come, then, let us be busy with the plow, that the earth may be thoroughly stirred. It does not matter how much the ground is tilled with this instrument, more especially if manure should be short.

Spring fever is apt to be very prevalent in April. Perhaps the horses, too, have a touch of "that tired feeling." Better not rush ahead too fast till the teams become hardened to their work.

The Trail smelter, in which the Canadian Pacific has a large interest, has started construction of a plant for the manufacture of sulphuric and hydrofluoric acid, which is expected to be ready for operation in two months. A site is also being cleared for a copper refinery, and the existing lead refinery will also probably be extended. The new plant for the manufacture of zinc is now in operation, though shipments have not yet commenced. The copper converters now in course of installation are nearing completion, and should be working shortly. The new lead mill is in operation and is working well.

Scott. Rev. A. Henderson then gave an address, "Germany vs. Great Britain, and the Causes Leading up to the Present War."

Mrs O. Keating gave a very appropriate reading on the war. This part of the entertainment was brought to a close with an instrumental selection by Miss M. Miller. After an hour or so spent in a social way, refreshments were served by the members of the Institute. The enjoyable evening was brought to a close by singing "God Save the King."

Miss Maude Walker is to spend her Easter holidays at her home in Vancouver.

A report of the public meeting held on Thursday is of necessity held over till next week's issue.

It is reported that the Walters family that left here last year to take up residence in California, contemplate returning to Naramata.

L. E. Wright Boothe, of Moorefield, Ontario, whose name appeared in one of this week's casualty lists, is a son of Capt. Boothe, of the 30th Wellington Rifles, and a cousin of T. H. Boothe of town.

That the Naramata Church will again be favored by having a regular settled pastor seems altogether likely. The service rendered the last two years by Rev. R. M. Thompson of Penticton has been of a very high order, but the labor involved in crowding three services and forty miles of driving when you include the mid-week prayer and praise service, is altogether inconsistent with the dictates of "things reasonable."

L. V. Rogers, B.A., High School Principal, and Liberal candidate for provincial honors at the forthcoming election in June, addressed a small sized but attentive audience here in the rotunda of the Syndica House. Mr D. McKay, president of the local Liberal Association, occupied the chair. From Mr Rogers' remarks one would infer that the present government is capable of considerable improvement. In fact, the speaker was at times quite outspoken in his more emphatic moments of denunciation. Some of the "lights" of the Conservative party who were present were observed to wriggle in their seats, evidently wishing for the proof to be produced to substantiate the charges.

If we work upon marble, it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds—if we imbue them with right principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellowmen, we engrave on these tablets something that will brighten for all eternity.—Daniel Webster.

"Can't Afford It"

That's what a merchant said the other day about his advertising. He said that trade was falling off and that he would have to economize.

ADVERTISING

is to stimulate business, but evidently Friend Merchant has it figured out that when times are good and folks have plenty of money to spend, he will demonstrate the advantage of spending it with him. But in dull times he will let the other fellow have the business.

It is a Fact

that advertising pays better when times are dull. It is the open season for bargain hunters, and the merchant who has nothing to offer the economical buyer is the first to suffer. The time to advertise is all the time and you can LEAST AFFORD to quit when you need the business most.

The wolf loses his teeth but not his inclination.

Business men who advertise are at least enterprising. They spend money to let you know that they want your trade, and when business men say they want your trade they will try to satisfy those who trade with them.

Production and Thrift

"To win the war with the decisiveness which will ensure lasting peace, the Empire will require to put forth its full collective power in men and in money. From this viewpoint it is our true policy to augment our financial strength by multiplying our productive exertions and by exercising rigid economy, which reduces to the minimum all expenditures upon luxuries and non-essentials. Only in this way shall we be able to make good the loss caused by the withdrawal of so many of our workers from industrial activities, repair the wastage of the war, and find the funds for its continuance. It cannot be too frequently or too earnestly impressed upon our people that the heaviest burdens of the conflict still lie before us, and that industry and thrift are, for those who remain at home, supreme patriotic duties upon whose faithful fulfillment our success, and consequently our national safety, may ultimately depend."—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

PRODUCE MORE, SAVE MORE.
MAKE LABOUR EFFICIENT.
SAVE MATERIALS FROM WASTE.
SPEND MONEY WISELY.

LET US PRODUCE AND SAVE—

The war is now turning on a contest of all forces and resources—men, munitions, food, money. The call to all is to produce more and more. It may be necessary to work harder. The place of those who enlist must be taken by those at home, men and women, old and young. The more we produce the more we can save. Produce more on the farms and in the gardens. Save more and help to win the war.

LET US NOT WASTE OUR LABOUR—

In this war-time all labour should be directly productive or should be assisting in production. Make it as efficient as possible. If your labour is on something that can be postponed, put it off till after the war and make your labour tell now. Making war is the first business of all Canadians. Efficiency in labour is as important as efficiency in fighting.

LET US NOT WASTE MATERIALS—

Begin at home. The larger portion of salaries and wages is spent on the home—food, fuel, light, clothing. Are any of these things being wasted? $20.00 a year saved from waste in every home in Canada will more than pay the interest on a war debt of $500,000,000.

LET US SPEND OUR MONEY WISELY—

Are you spending your money to the best advantage? What do you think of extravagance in war time? Tens of thousands of Canadians are daily risking their lives for us at home. Is it not our duty to be careful and economical? Canadian dollars are an important part of the war equipment. Make them tell. Have a War Savings Account. Buy a War Bond.

Busy With Matters Of Community Welfare

Good Interest Shown At Meeting Of Board Of Trade.

Nearly thirty members of the Board of Trade showed their interest in the recently reorganized body and its work by attending the regular monthly meeting last Tuesday evening in the Board's quarters on Shaughnessy Avenue. The attendance might have been even better but for the fact that the annual meeting of the Poultry Association was slated for the same evening. President F. W. Andrew was in the chair.

The Secretary reported that the membership of the Board has now reached the very creditable figure of 102, of which 75 are paid up. This statement speaks for itself, and disposes of any contentions that the community generally is not behind the movement.

The reading room committee presented a report which showed that this branch of the work will very soon be in working order. More tables and chairs had been offered than were needed, and the coat of paint applied to the tables by a well-disposed member has made their appearance quite in keeping with the general air of neatness that the room has. The place has been well cleaned out, curtains placed before the windows, and these are improvements that will tend to invite members in. The Board has authorized the expenditure of a sum of about twenty dollars for periodicals, prices on which will be obtained at once and the orders placed. Provision has also been made for a few games, cards, checkers, etc., which have also been donated.

An amendment to the by-laws of the Board was offered for consideration by which the Council appointed originally to act in an executive capacity, transferred the authority vested in them for the general transaction of business to the Board as a whole. This amendment was thought well of and passed by a unanimous vote.

Road Superintendent Hamilton Lang and Mr. J. W. Jones, Conservative candidate for the riding at the provincial elections, will both be memorialized by the Board with a view to ascertaining whether some needed improvements cannot be obtained for the lakeshore drive between Summerland and Peachland.

The question of road improvement within the municipal limits is a very live question with the Board. Far-sighted members advance the view that the issue is a vital one, affecting as it does the hauling of the fruit crop. As the president remarked, it costs just as much, in damage to the stuff hauled, repairs to vehicles, and loss from reduced loads, to allow a road to remain in poor condition, as it does to spend some money on it and keep it in good shape. If it is too late to do very much along this line this year, the Board is likely to take up with it in good time for next spring.

Mr. K. S. Hogg advanced a proposition for the Board to take up jointly with the Telephone Company what seems quite a workable advertising scheme in more ways than one. It is for the publication of a directory of the Summerland system, setting forth also the long distance connections that are available through the Government Long Distance Office. There, it is planned, to place in the hands of commercial travellers and others who have occasion to do business with Summerland, and also in all the government offices throughout the province, and possibly in hotels and other places where desirable. The idea is to make it plain in outside points that Summerland is within telephone reach of every town touched by the Government Long Distance lines. Such a step might help to counteract some of the bad opinions of the place known to have been given out by dissatisfied travellers. A joint committee from the Telephone Company and the Board of Trade will look into the scheme. The total expense would be about $18 or $20, which cost it was proposed to divide between the two concerns. The same resolution that authorized the appointment

Burglary at Naramata.

Sometime during Thursday night, or early this morning, a burglar or burglars entered Hotel Naramata, occupied by the family of Mr. J. M. Robinson as a residence, and took several loaves of bread, a quantity of butter, some bacon, a hat and overalls. It has not been the practice to lock the doors, and access was easy. This morning the floor was strewn with burnt matches. Although it is not known whether anything more valuable was taken, it is believed only the above articles were stolen. The stealing is probably the work of a tramp.

McALPINE vs. SUMMERLAND.

Second Writ In Damage Case Served On Municipality.

The writ for damages entered by Mr. T. J. McAlpine last summer against the Municipality is likely soon to be brought into court again as a writ has been served, no date or place being named.

It will be remembered that Mr. McAlpine, failing to get what he thought a proper hearing from the Council when he complained of water in his cellar, which water he claimed was caused by a leaking pipe passing the lot, took the case to court and sued for $800 damages. When brought before Judge Swanson last September the Municipality's solicitor, Mr. Buckingham, succeeded in having the case thrown out on a technicality, whereupon the plaintiff announced he would put the case into Supreme Court. Whether it will be ordered back to the County Court or heard in the higher court has not been learned. If in the latter the costs to the losing side will be considerable. To the present Summerland's expenses are stated as over $260, about half being court expenses paid at the time, the balance for lawyer's fees, payment of which was authorized at a recent sitting of the Council. $150 was provided by the Treasurer for legal expenses in a recent estimate of 1916 expenditures.

The plaintiff's claim against the Municipality is set forth as follows: (a) Damages (no amount stated) for injuries sustained to the land and premises of the plaintiff owing to the defective and negligent operation by the defendant, its servants, or agents of the defendant's system of water works, etc.

The defence will be conducted by Mr. Buckingham, who also represented the Municipality in the first instance.

C.P.R. May Electrify Mountain Division

The C.P.R. is contemplating the use of electric locomotives through the mountains on the British Columbia division.

"We have made no decision on this whatever," Grant Hall, vice-president and general manager of western lines, has said, "further than that we are considering it seriously. I can make no statement at the present moment."

Craig's general store at Okanagan Falls was burned to the ground early on Monday morning. With the store was burned the entire contents, including post office and also dwelling and furniture and other buildings. Mr. Craig was alone at the time, Mrs. Craig and son, George (a former Okanagan College student) having motored over to Keremeos the day before. It is reported that the store was well stocked, particularly in groceries, and that the insurance carried was very little.

Steps are being taken to urge upon the Dominion Government the wisdom of appointing for British Columbia a dairy export acting under the Dairy and Cold Storage Branch of the Department of Agriculture. This course is followed in the case of some of the other provinces, and the dairy industry in this province seems to have reached that stage where the services of such an official would be of great assistance.

Grappling With Problem of Outstanding Rates

Board of Works Greatly Hampered on This Account.

Delinquents Must Arrange For Payment, Says Resolution

At Least One Councillor Is Chary of Pushing McAlpine Case Through Court Again Without Trying Conciliatory Measures.

Finances took up much of the time at a special session of the Municipal Council held on Wednesday afternoon. The large amount of taxes and rates in arrears is causing much worry, or rather it is the need of the money which those arrears if paid would make available that is giving so much concern.

It was a report of the Public Works Committee that precipitated the discussion. That branch of the Council sees much needed work to be done to assure adequate water supply and just administration, but are handicapped by lack of cash.

Coun. Simpson, chairman of the Finance Committee, asked why continue to do injustice to many because others are holding back their rates and taxes? If that money were collected the Council could administer a measure of justice. He urged that the money due be collected, all necessary measures being taken to do so. There was over $3,000 due for 1914 irrigation alone, to say nothing of the 1915 rates, and in a few days a third year's rates on these properties would be due. If necessary to bring the ratepayers to realize that the rates must be paid, they must be refused water till they do pay.

Coun. Stark: If you cut off the water you make it as the fruit growers cannot pay.

Coun. Simpson: I felt the same way last year. But here are people paying good money and not getting the service because others are not making the same effort to pay up. It is working a great injustice. In some places land is being flooded by leaking ditches and flumes and others are without water.

A resolution that arrears be collected before water will be supplied to lots in arrears, and that the Superintendent of Irrigation be so instructed was carried unanimously.

The Clerk reported the serving of a writ on the Municipality in the McAlpine case, and stated that the matter had been put in the solicitor's hands.

Coun. Stark asked the Reeve if he thought it advisable to go on with the case, to which the Reeve replied that he certainly did, as there was nothing else to do. Coun. Stark said he objected to going on without the Council first looking into the merits of the case.

He was given every assurance by Clerk Logie that the plaintiff could not possibly win, and to give in or compromise would create a dangerous precedent.

Coun. Stark: I believe in using every citizen right. Why, when you found that the water had come from the leaking pipe, did you not settle? It would not have cost anything if Mr. McAlpine had been approached right.

The Reeve replied that the water had not come from the pipe, which reply was received with astonishment by Coun. Stark, and for a time the argument waxed warm, but the majority supported the Reeve.

Coun. Stark asked that his objection be recorded in the minutes.

Supt. Fisher of the K.V.R. wrote assuring the Council that all flames across the track will be put in order, those paralleling the track to be repaired by the Municipality under supervision of a railway representative.

Electric light will be supplied the College Gymnasium under certain conditions.

Some months ago the Council, feeling it would be advisable to have another entrance to the cemetery, asked Mr. Wilcox of Salmon Arm if he would sell some lots adjoining the cemetery and to name a price. He has now expressed a willingness to sell, allowing the Council to fix the price.

Engineer Latimer's report, mentioned in these columns last week, was formally accepted and filed.

Cameron Barr will be paid a sum not exceeding $10 for damages done by an overflow.

The Council sits as a Court of Revision, on Wednesday next, May 3rd.

Endorses Holstein Bull.

The Summerland Pure Bred Stock Association recently approached Dr. Tolmie, Dominion Live Stock Commissioner, as to the advisability of dehorning their Holstein Bull, "Delta Butter Boy." A few days ago word was received from Dr. Tolmie authorizing the dehorning, and urging that it be done in a competent and careful way.

In view of some feelings a few local dairymen have entertained in regard to the quality of "Delta Butter Boy," a few words from Dr. Tolmie's letter are of great interest.

"As an indication of how I appreciate the breeding of 'Delta Butter Boy,'" he writes, "it may interest you to know that I bought his full brother at two weeks old for a substantial price. He is now being used in my pure bred herd, and I expect to obtain excellent results."

RARE MUSICAL TREAT IS "THE TEN VIRGINS."

Although organized primarily for their own enjoyment and study of good music, the members of the Summerland Musical Society might very justifiably feel a trifle disappointed at the turnout to their presentation of A. R. Gaul's oratorio, "The Ten Virgins," on Good Friday evening. The body of the Lakeside Baptist Church was well filled, but the merit of the performance deserved a building full to overflowing. Those who went enjoyed a rare musical treat, those who didn't missed a great deal.

The work is based on the parable in Matthew's gospel. To the Narrator are allotted these verses in recitative form. The presentation of these verses by Mr. T. G. Beavis in his strong and true baritone was a splendid foundation and upon it the whole structure of the music rested. The choruses and other solos are all in the nature of reflections bearing upon the Narrator's words.

It was her last public appearance before a Summerland audience, Mrs. G. M. Ross, soprano soloist, left with her hearers a splendid memory of her gift of song. She was in splendid voice, and displayed rare sympathy with her theme. It is difficult to say whether the sweet, lingering air, "Sin of My Soul," or her second solo, "Wisdom Crieth in the Streets," a more pretentious and very impressive effort, can be said to have made greater appeal. Both were renderings that added lustre to Mrs. Ross' already shining reputation as a soloist.

To Miss Anna Hayes, mezzo-soprano, was allotted an aria paraphrasing the Lord's Prayer. She maintained the dignified character of the music, and with studied articulation of her well-known words, they must have, taken on some new meaning to her hearers. Much as was expected from Miss Hayes, on account of her known ability, she disappointed no one with her solo.

In her two solos, "Thou art the Guide of our Youth," and "God Willeth, Not the Death of a Sinner," Miss Clay, contralto, found good scope for her unusual power. Her presentation of these solos must rank as one of her best local appearances.

With its beautiful Easter decorations of lilies, daffodils, and Okanagan sunflowers, the church was in festive array. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Nove of Summerland, and who has a large circle of friends both in her home town and in Penticton, was given away by her father. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. J. A. Cleland.

After the service and the signing of the register in the vestry, the wedding party repaired to the home of Mrs. N. F. Tunbridge, sister of the bride, where congratulations were received and a delightful few hours were spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotton boarded the "Seamoss" that evening, leaving the following morning on their way to Victoria where they will make their home. Mr. Cotton's parents reside at New Westminster, where they may make a brief stay before proceeding across the water to Victoria.

Presentation & Address to Coll. Nixon

Council In Special Session Fittingly Remembers Faithful Services.

During a special meeting of the Municipal Council held on Wednesday afternoon, a happy little incident transpired which truly portrayed the esteem in which Collector Nixon is held by the Council, officials, and employees of the Municipality, when Mr. Nixon, who has been granted leave of absence to enable him to enlist, was called into the Council Chamber, together with the other members of the office staff. Mr. Nixon was taken wholly by surprise when Reeve Blair addressed him as follows:

April 20th, 1916.

Fred J. Nixon, Esq.,
West Summerland.

Dear Sir:

The members of the Municipal Council, officials and employees, on the eve of your departure to take up new duties and responsibilities, at what you have been pleased to consider your country's call, wish to express their appreciation of the faithful services rendered by you, in the position you have so ably filled in the service of the Municipality for the past six years.

Realizing the need and the importance of a ready response to the call to rally to the support of the Empire to which we are all so proud to belong, our best wishes go with you as you take your stand in Britain's army in the great fight in which they are now engaged along with our allies. They fight for liberty which is the right of every nation to enjoy, and the fulfilling of a pledge given by the British nation, a pledge too sacred to be repudiated, no matter what the cost.

That you may have some tangible proof of our esteem, and enjoy something that will be of daily service to you, we have much pleasure in presenting you with this small token of our esteem and appreciation. We look forward to a successful issue of the great world's trouble and that at its close you will be spared to return again to your municipal duties. We will follow with no small interest, the part that the Battalion with which you are allied will take part in, doing their share in this great world conflict.

Signed on behalf of the Municipal Council and officials and employees,

ISAAC BLAIR, Reeve.
J. L. LOGIE, Clerk.

A fitted leather toilet case was brought forth and handed to the surprised official at the proper moment during the reading of the address. Mr. Nixon, in a few appropriate remarks, heartily thanked the Reeve and Council and the others for their kind words, and assured them that it was through no desire to make a change or any inclination to soldiering that he had asked for leave of absence, but because he felt the time had come for him to offer his services in defence of his country.

Mr. Nixon leaves on May 8th to join the 172nd for overseas service.

Cost Of Farmers' Institutes.

The average cost of a Farmers' Institute to the Department of Agriculture in 1915 was $77.81. This sum included proportional amounts of per capita grant, Department grant to secretaries, field crop competitions, short courses, and general lecture work, miscellaneous advertisements, etc. This compared very favorably with the average expenditure in 1914, which was high owing to the Annual Convention being held, at which all expenses of delegates attending were paid by the Department.

The Okanagan Telephone Co., for the year ending June 30, 1915, reported a net income of $24,440.62, according to a government Blue Book just issued. On a capital of $300,500, a dividend of $22,510.88 was paid (this is less than 8 per cent). $406.01 went to Reserve Account, and $1,821.28 remained to credit of Profit and Loss Account.

WEDDINGS.

CRAIG-BROWN.

A wedding of much interest to a wide circle of friends was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Brown on Wednesday last, when their fifth daughter, Lillian Vera, was united into the bond of holy matrimony to George Craig of Summerland, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Craig of Arnprior, Ontario.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are well known, locally and highly respected, and consequently great interest was manifested in the wedding of the popular couple.

A large number of invited guests were present. During the playing of the Wedding March, the bride entered the marriage room leaning on the arm of her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Evelyn, as bridesmaid, while little Margaret Hogg made a beautiful flower girl, carrying a basket of carnations. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Gordon DoRenz, The bride's bouquet was composed of white carnations and roses, while that of the bridesmaid was pink carnations and orchids.

The bride was attired in a beautiful white silk dress, and she wore the conventional wreath of orange blossom, with a bridal veil. The dress of the bridesmaid was of apricot silk.

The service in choral form was conducted by Rev. R. W. Lee, pastor of the Methodist Church.

A dainty luncheon was served on the verandah following the ceremony, at which the customary toasts were honored. The health of the bride and groom was proposed by Dr. F. W. Andrew; the bridesmaid and best man, by Rev. R. W. Lee, and the host and hostess by Mr. Gilbert Thornber.

The soldier falls to the lot of a couple to receive a larger and more varied assortment of choice wedding presents than was received by the bride and bridegroom, and this was ample testimony to their popularity. The happy couple left by auto later for Penticton, en route for Vernon, where they will stay for a few days prior to taking up their residence on the lakefront.

The congratulations and best wishes of their numberless friends are extended to them as they commence their married life.

COTTON-NEVE.

St Saviour's Church, Penticton, was the scene of a very interesting and happy event on Easter Monday at 12.30 o'clock in the afternoon, when Mr. Arthur Frederick Cotton of Victoria was united in marriage with Miss Alice Constance Nove of Summerland.

The groom was formerly with the Bank of Montreal at West Summerland, and is now with the same service at Victoria. He arrived from the Coast by the K.V.R. on Friday last.

AGRICULTURAL CREDITS.

THE AGRICULTURAL CREDITS COMMISSION, the body authorized under the legislation passed last year by the government for the purpose of carrying into effect the recommendations of the Commission which two years ago investigated the whole question of agricultural development, has now been appointed by order-in-council. It commenced its duties on Wednesday. By this step the government has given further effect to the most important piece of legislation ever passed in any province of Canada in the interests of agriculture.

The newly appointed board will consist of Hon. William Manson, superintendent; Reeve William Bridge, of Steveston, Reeve of the Municipality of Richmond; and Mr William Duncan, of Sandwick, Comox. The Act requires that the securities upon which funds shall be borrowed wherewith to provide funds for the loans must be issued by the Agricultural Credits Commission. The first work of the newly-appointed board will, therefore, be to authorize the issuance of the bonds for $1,000,000, and as soon as this is done the money will be paid over.

The Agricultural Act, 1915, provides for the organization and appointment of the "Agricultural Credits Commission" to consist of a superintendent, and four directors, to be a body corporate. The superintendent and two directors are appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, to hold office for ten years. Two of the directors must be farmers; the other two to be the deputy ministers of finance and agriculture. The superintendent is ex-officio a director.

The great feature of the work of the commission and the chief aim of the government in bringing into effect the legislation, is to provide the farmers of the province with cheap money wherewith to permit them to improve their lands and encourage development along agricultural lines. The government's loan for $1,000,000 has been negotiated at an interest rate of 5.6 per cent. The act provides that the basis upon which the commission shall fix the rate to be charged to the farmers shall be the adoption of a rate which shall exceed by not more than 1 per cent. per annum the rate actually paid by the commission on the amount realized. Thus, on the basis of the rate secured on the $1,000,000 loan, the commission will be enabled to advance money to the farmers at about 6.50 per cent. As financial matters improve on the termination of the war, this rate will undoubtedly be lessened.

The aggregate amount of securities which the commission may issue is fixed in the act at $15,000,000, unless the legislature gives its sanction thereto. Loans made by the commission to farmers will be secured by first mortgages and very specific regulations are set forth in the act as to the purpose of the loans, the grounds upon which the loans must be justified, etc. No loan will be made for more than 80 per cent of the appraised value of the land calculated upon the basis of value and productiveness when the improvements in respect to which the loan is desired shall have been effected; no loan shall be made for an amount of less than $250 or more than $10,000 to any one borrower other than an association, and any loan to an association greater than $10,000 can only be made on the authority of an order-in-council. Loans will be made only in order of application, and applications for loans not exceeding $2,000 shall have priority in consideration. Loans may be either long term (for terms of 20, 30, or 36 years); short term (from 3 to 10 years), or single season loans repayable within twelve months. The terms of the act are made applicable to pre-emptions on certain conditions; powers are given to the commission to recover money in arrears by the sale or lease of the mortgaged holdings or by taking title thereof itself in the case of pre-emptions.

THOSE RED CROSS APPLES.

IN SO WORTHY a project as sending apples forward to the soldiers overseas, it seems only right and proper that credit for the origin and working out of the scheme should go just where it belongs. Under the heading, "Soldiers Appreciated Red Cross Apples From Okanagan," we published last week an extract from the Weekly Chronicle of the 47th Battalion at Bramshott, England, with reference to those gift apples. This article set forth that one, Mr J. R. Seymour, vice-chairman of the Vancouver Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, was the person mainly responsible for the launching of the scheme, and as such should get the lion's share of the soldiers' gratitude.

Somebody is away off on this point, and the Review is glad to be able to put them straight. It was stated by Mr Seymour in a letter he sent to England that the idea originated at an entertainment of a patriotic nature given in Vancouver, and following the reading of a letter from a soldier or sailor expressing a desire for an opportunity to taste some B.C. apples again. As a matter of fact, however, away before the time of this entertainment in Vancouver, Mr George Wolstencroft of Naramata had the idea for such a movement well matured. As far back as July he had lists circulating and even had hundreds of boxes promised before the Vancouver entertainment referred to took place.

Further, it would appear from this letter written by Mr Seymour that he was instrumental in getting all the apples together. He said, "I was detailed to look after this appeal, with the result that I managed to secure 2,115 boxes." Here again Mr Seymour is at sea. All the apples he got was 573 boxes, and 329 of these were donated by Greek fruit merchants in Vancouver. The balance of 1,542 boxes was secured by the efforts of Mr Wolstencroft, who went to considerable trouble and expense in rounding up this shipment. It will be remembered that he enlisted the services of the ladies connected with the Red Cross and other societies. The Canadian Red Cross Society had no more to do with it than arranging for transportation of the loaded cars from Vernon. Mr Wolstencroft never even heard of the existence of such a person as Mr Seymour until the apples collected were ready for shipment, when he wrote asking if those he had collected could accompany those donated by the Okanagan. This being the case, it seems that neither Mr Wolstencroft nor the Okanagan Valley have had a square deal. What Mr Seymour did was to write personally to every Colonel of a battalion drawing their attention to the shipment and asking them personally to see that the apples were delivered to them at the earliest possible moment.

Mr Wolstencroft had intended going into the movement again this coming fall on a much larger scale if the war continues. It is to be hoped for the soldiers' sakes that this misunderstanding will not deter him from undertaking the good work again.

WILL NOT HANDLE IT.

IN BRITISH COLUMBIA and Ontario as well, druggists as a whole have set the stamp of disapproval on the sale of liquors, beers, and wines from their places of business. They have made it plain to their respective governments that they do not relish the idea of being forced to dispense liquor if the hotels are voted out of business. To a man almost the druggists of this province have made their desires clear to the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association through a plebiscite just completed, which shows an undivided opposition to the proposal to make liquor dispensaries adjuncts to the drug stores.

In Ontario wholesale vendors employed by the government will dispense liquor after prohibition goes into effect. The government had been hoping, as a minister of the province stated, that this trade would be handled by wholesale druggists, but it has transpired that they would prefer to have nothing whatever to do with the business.

§ § § § §

"THE BOARD OF TRADE for everybody, and everybody for the Boards of Trade." This slogan suggests itself as one views the activities which the Board is embarking upon. There are now over a hundred members enrolled, but there is still room for more names on the roll. The whole community will benefit from the work of the Board, and the more support that is forthcoming from the citizens generally, the more influential and weighty will the decisions of the body become. It is only necessary to bear in mind the nature of the topics taken up to realize that the Board of Trade is doing very essential work in the community interests. The condition of the roads, daylight saving, advertising the community generally without undue expense are only three important questions being dealt with at the present. Get enrolled if you are not already, and "do your bit" towards helping your home town along.

§ § § § §

NO TOWN IN THIS VALLEY or in any other place for that matter, can expect to thrive and prosper without the concentrated effort of its citizens and the judicious expenditure of money. The towns in the west today that are prosperous are the ones that have donated liberally to enterprises which employ labor. Thus it is and always will be that the liberal and broad gauged town will thrive while the tight fist ed ones are struggling for the necessities of life. It is within the power of every town to increase her population. With which class do you desire to be rated? Do you wish it to go out to the world that you lack the energy necessary to protect your own interest? If not, get to work and do something that will increase your own wealth and make your neighbor more contented.

At an early hour baskets were brought out, and from the capacious pockets, eatables of every description were produced. These were enjoyed in picnic style. After supper, games of various sorts were played, till a late hour, when the genial hostess served refreshments. All went home after a good day's outing, vowing to do it again.

PLANT SOME SHADE TREES.

Planting shade trees is good investment. Aside from the pleasure of having trees, shrubs, vines and flowers in the grounds surrounding a home, few realize how much these add to the commercial value of a place. A purchaser having to decide between a house with bare, unkempt grounds, and one surrounded by fine ornamentals, invariably chooses the latter at a marked advance in price, because he sees that he will at once enjoy what would otherwise take years to secure. Sagacious men are led by a knowledge of these facts to plant fine trees and shrubs about vacant lots they are intending to put upon the market. Lots thus planted readily secure purchasers at good prices when bare grounds go begging for buyers.

Trees increase rapidly in value. Some purchased now for a matter of cents will be worth many dollars in a few years time. In addition to the pleasure and comfort that trees afford, it is a sound investment.

Orchard and Farm:

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

The farming business is now coming to a point where it is generally recognized as the most prosperous business, offering the best future and the brightest prospects. That being so, there will be no trouble about keeping the boy on the farm for he will be keen to see that it is the best place to make money, gain the respect of his fellow men, and obtain that standing amongst men which is the ambition of every right-minded boy. It is to gain these things that he has heretofore gone to the city; it is to gain these things that he will hereafter stay on the farm and that will send the youths of the cities to join him. All he wants to know is as to what pays best in the sum of human happiness and comfort and success. It is now being demonstrated that in all these things the farm offers the best opportunities.

A Potato Seed Cutter Which Any Farmer Can Make.

A Generally Tedious Job Is Made Easy By This Method.

Cutting potatoes for seed, as usually done with a jack knife or an ordinary table knife, well sharpened, is tedious work. With a view to helping the farmer who will be planting large areas to potatoes this year there is described below an easier and also quicker method of performing this operation. It is a homemade potato seed cutter which compares favorably with those made by the implement manufacturers.

The cuts can be made in the potato to make sets which have approximately two eyes to each. The greater number of eyes are to be found in what is known as the "seed end" of the potato or the end which was attached to the stem of the plant.

In cutting potatoes, care should be taken to see that the sets are not made too small. There should be sufficient food matter in the set to provide sustenance for the young plant until it is able to assimilate plant food from the soil. Experiments conducted with large and small sets have proved that the best results have been obtained from potato sets weighing about 2 ozs., and containing two eyes each.

To make a simple and handy cutting device all that is needed is a small barrel, a narrow board long enough to cross the barrel, and a sharp, thin-bladed knife. Fasten the board on the top of the barrel by means of cleats so that it can be removed if necessary. Drive the knife through the board and the cutter is ready for use. Make the first cut from end to end, the juice of the potato will hold the parts together, so that the other cuts can be made easily. The sets are allowed to drop into the barrel when cut which saves time otherwise wasted in putting them into another receptacle.

It is sometimes advisable to wear gloves in order to avoid cutting one's thumbs.

Horticulture & Field Crop Competitions

The Horticultural Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture has announced that horticultural crop competitions will be conducted again this year.

The various competitions are: Five acre plots of bearing orchard, five acre plots of young orchard, quarter acre plots of raspberries and strawberries, half acre plots of onions and tomatoes, quarter acre plots of celery, farm gardens, city gardens.

Twenty such competitions were held last year throughout the province, and by encouraging greater care and attention assisted materially towards better crops.

Farmers' Institutes and fruit growers' organizations are required to organize the competitions, in which work, however, they may call on the services of the assistant horticulturists.

The Department, in addition to providing assistance in organization and in supplying the major portion of the prize money, will also supply the judge from its official staff.

The announcement in full, with rules and regulations, application forms, etc., can be had from the office of any assistant horticulturist, or from the Department at Victoria.

"Field Crop Competitions" is the title of the latest bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture at Victoria. It deals with the competitions to be carried on by the Department this year, as well as the results of last year's events. It is profusely illustrated, and appeals to the farmer as very few bulletins do. H. O. English, Provincial Soil and Crop Instructor, is the writer. Copies may be had, post free, by addressing the Department of Agriculture, Victoria, B.C.

Good Egg-Laying Hens Are Hustlers

The egg-type hen is nervous in disposition. She is active, always searching for food. She has a large crop because she is a heavy eater. Her toe-nails are well worn off. She is the first off the roost and the last to go to roost. She has a long body in order to make room for the egg-producing organs. An examination of her breastbone will show that it is sharp and fine, not coarse, and her breast will not be covered with flesh, though the bird is in good, fleshy condition. Her pin bones, which are just above and on each side of the vent, will be sharp and fine. Coarse pin bones are found only on the meat-type chickens, which are poor layers. In a hen that is laying these pin bones will be spread three to five fingers apart. This test will tell you whether the hen is not laying, for they must be spread apart far enough to permit the eggs to pass through. The egg-laying hen should have great depth of body, which is measured by the length of space between the points of the pin bones and the end of the keel or breast bone. In laying hens the abdomen, or part of the body below the vent, will be pliable and soft to the touch. In the meat type of hen it will be hard and carry a thick layer of fat.

The man who does little and does it well does a great deal.

MILK A STIMULANT.

The famous Pasteur Institute declares that milk is the most powerful stimulant known. Army authorities, it is said, are acting on the advice of scientists, and in the trenches milk is being served to the men, and they are also advised to drink it as a beverage when off duty as much as possible.

If this is true, and the statement is made on good authority, there will be a great increase in the use of milk throughout all classes of men and women. A stimulant that will not leave an after-effect of a clouded brain and a weakened will, but on the contrary will build up the tissues of the body, should be popular. It is not unreasonable to suppose, whether it has the stimulating powers claimed for it or not, that milk will prove for grown-ups as well as for children, a far more wholesome beverage than drinks containing even in small quantities drugs which are poisonous.

If a few very early potatoes are desired the seed should be placed in the light to start the dormant eyes. If strong, healthy sprouts, from one-half to one inch long are secured before planting time, from ten days to two weeks will be gained.

A loud-smelling hog pen is an offence to the entire neighborhood, and there is no excuse for it now-a-days, nor for a filthy hog wallow, with its menace to hog health.

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

An Advisory Board For Fruit Union

Car Of Hay Passed Upon By Special Committee.

The public meeting held last Thursday to discuss certain outstanding abuses resulted in what is hoped may prove a solution of the problem of Fruit Union management.

The large crowd that attended proved conclusively that the community are pretty thoroughly imbued with the idea that some definite action should be taken to improve the management of Fruit Union affairs.

After the chairman, T. H. Boothe, had outlined in general terms the purpose of the gathering, and with the appointment of J. H. Pushman as secretary, the first item of business was a report of the committee appointed at the previous Friday night's Farmer's Institute to examine the last car of hay put on sale by the Fruit Union.

The report showed that the hay was not first-class timothy by any means, and the price asked, $20, was far above its actual value.

Speaking to this report, Messrs White and Mellor, and Manager Lawler of the Summerland Fruit Union, who came over specially to hear and, perhaps, receive the "kicks" from the Naramata "kickers," shed much light on the whole question of feed supply. At present it is impossible to get really first-class hay, and all we can do is

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

to seek to have all hay inspected and passed upon before the first bale is opened or sold.

Then came up the general question of Fruit Union management in Naramata, with all its many unsolved problems such as the orchard box problem, the problem of waste, how best to handle and dispose of "dump" fruit, and how to stop leaks in the business management.

It was decided to appoint a Board of Advisers to act in conjunction with the directors and manager in better looking after the details. The result of the poll placed Messrs F. H. Rounds, R. H. King, and W. Nuttall at the head.

Owing to the lateness of the hour the water problem of the community was not touched on, and will have to be dealt with subsequently.

The meeting was closed appropriately by the singing of our National Anthem, Mrs Languedoc graciously responding to the request to act as accompanist.

Prominent Citizen And Fruit Grower Enlists

Mr Lewis Block went out on Monday morning's boat to Vancouver to join his regiment in that city, to do his "bit" for King and Empire. The community at large all wish Mr Block the very best, and hope to see him return again to his home covered with honor and glory. Mr Block, a man of fine sturdy physique, a trained mechanic, and with a scholar and a linguist with at least three languages at his command, at this stage of the game is giving the lie to the statement so often heard, "that the best recruits all went first." The fact of the matter is that many of the very best available men are only now getting themselves and their business affairs in such shape as will enable them to take up the pressing duties of military service.

Mrs Block and little daughter are now comfortably situated in the cosy bungalow formerly occupied by M. D. Manchester and family.

Arthur Hayward Dies The Hero's Death

Word was received by wire on Saturday from the Military Department, Ottawa, by Mr. James Hayward that his son, Corporal A. H. Hayward, of the tunnelling engineering staff, died on April 12th, as the direct result of gunshot wounds. The news of his death came as a great shock, as the family had not as yet learned that the young man was at the seat of active fighting. He must have only gotten down to work when the fatal moment arrived. The sympathy of the whole community is with the Hayward family, for there are two other sons, Frank and Ed, serving in the ranks.

First Fruit And Flower Show For Naramata

Date Selected Well On In October

That we are to have a Fruit and Flower Show in Naramata this year has been decided upon, and the date set is well on in October. The show will be run under the joint management of the directors of the two Institutes. This decision should prove a popular one indeed, and even though the amount of prize money available may not be large, the zeal of the local enthusiasts should not be lacking in ardor. More than this cannot be said. But just get busy everyone and "grow things for the Show."

A Close Shave.

Reginald Boothe writes to his parents from the trenches thus: "I have been in some pretty warm places, but have managed so far to keep whole, but last night while in the trench I was hit in the leg with a spent bullet. It just grazed my "puttie" near my ankle, but never touched my skin. It was lucky for me, for had it been half an inch closer, my leg would have been broken."

Current Events — OF — Town & District

T. H. Boothe, wife, and little daughter, Gwendoline, were visitors to Penticton on Friday.

Dr McGregor of Penticton was here on Saturday, coming up by motor on professional business.

Mr Partridge and two daughters, Miss Vera and Miss Dorothy, were passengers to Penticton on Thursday last.

Mrs J. M. Myers was the hostess to a pleasant little gathering at her home on the benches one evening last week.

Little Miss Margaret and Miss Muriel Birch of Kelowna are visiting their grand-parents, Mr and Mrs Jas. Hayward, for a while.

Mrs D. O. Hughes was the hostess at a very pleasant gathering at her home on Saturday evening last, it being the birthday of one of her sisters.

Miss Edith Hayward of Victoria, who has been home visiting her parents for a while, has gone to Kelowna to visit her sister, Mrs Birch.

To-day, Friday, the yearly business meeting of the Unity Club was held, but the account of proceedings will necessarily have to be kept over till the next issue of the Review.

The regular quarterly communion service was observed in the church on Easter Sunday. The whole service throughout being in line with the Eastertide, Rev. R. M. Thompson of Penticton officiating.

Rev. J. S. Allen of Nakusp, B.C., is expected to visit his daughter-in-law, Mrs M. M. Allen, shortly. Mr Allen was formerly the Methodist preacher at Peachland, and well and favorably known in Naramata.

The lowering of the flags to half mast in honor of the death of Corporal Arthur Hayward by a number of business houses in town was a sympathetic action, and one which should be more generally followed by private citizens.

President White, Vice-President Mellor, and Manager Lawler, all of the Summerland Fruit Union, motored into town on Thursday evening, coming around by Penticton, to be present at the citizens' meeting held that evening.

The Boy Scout movement is still going merrily along in Naramata. Scoutmaster Nuttall is very busy drilling the boys every Tuesday and Thursday evening, getting them ready for the approaching concert which takes place some time in May.

It is very gratifying to see the improved condition of the road between Naramata and Penticton at the present time, as a drive now between the two towns is looked upon as a pleasure leading up to increased business relationships between the two centres.

Mr A. G. Robertson, formerly of Naramata but now of Penticton, paid a business visit to our town on Friday. Mr Robertson was one of the first settlers here, having once owned a ranch on the benches. His oldest son, Harold, is now serving King and Country in England.

School has now closed for the Easter holidays, which will give the youngsters their freedom from books for ten days, and the teachers a breathing spell for a little while. We are sure, though, that both teachers and scholars will welcome the reopening on Monday, May 1st.

The "town crier," in the shape of a tidy bill board has been put in position in a convenient place in front of the old hotel where all the latest notices may now be read. To Mr Frank Rounds—the committee of one credit—is due for the expedition in according to the wishes of the community in providing such a convenience.

Mr and Mrs James Wells are now living in the cottage which was formerly known as the hospital during railway construction here. Mr Wells on account of his recent severe illness while away at Calgary last winter, has not yet sufficiently gained strength enough to go ahead with his ranch duties this summer, and it was thought advisable to take up residence down town.

Spraying, cultivating, and general cleaning up of the orchard lands is the order of the day around Naramata, the greater part of the pruning having been done. The orchardists are all busy getting the land in shape for planting, but on account of the lateness of the season, the cold nights, etc., there has been nothing of any account planted as yet. We hope, though, to see the weather make a change soon so that we may be able to make a start in the near future in our vegetable gardens at least.

The regular weekly sewing circle of the Red Cross Society was held last Saturday afternoon in the Unity Club rooms. The ladies are all busily engaged in this good work as usual, some knitting, others sewing, and all with one "big aim" in view, and that is to help in our small way to make garments, to knit socks, or do anything in our power for our brave soldiers who have gone forth to do so much for us all.

that some of the best paid men right here in B.C. educated themselves for advancement at home, right in the village or on the farm, and that they had no better chances than you have, some, indeed, being extremely poor, and only having a knowledge of reading and writing? These men have, through the study of International Correspondence Schools' courses, and a determination to succeed, risen to where they are. Why not you?

Others with good general education have found that without special training along one line, they could not hope for much in exchange for their services, and have taken up the International Correspondence Schools studies and made good.

The International Correspondence Schools have contracts now with over two hundred railroads alone for instructing their employees, including the C.P.R., the C.N.R., the B.C. Electric Rly., and the Dominion Government railways in Canada, and the text-books of the School which have become famous for their clearness, practicality, and thoroughness, are now used in nearly 800 large colleges and schools, including in Canada, McGill, Toronto University, Department of Technical Education, Halifax, Shawinigan Technical Institute and others. A large number of colleges in the United States, including the United States Government Aeronautical School, Army War College, etc., also use International Correspondence Schools text-books.

A large number of Agricultural Colleges are also using the International Correspondence Schools books in their classes in preference to all others. The International Correspondence Schools can either start you at the bottom of the ladder or where you probably now are, part way up, and help you to the attainment of your ambition. Are you enough in earnest to inquire? It costs you nothing for information.

Last Thursday afternoon the children of Miss Lister's department of the Public School delighted parents and friends with an excellent concert in the Men's Club. Refreshments were served during the afternoon, the proceeds from this and the small admission fee being for school purposes.

The poultry business in this district is reaching a profitable proportion. Many are breeding fine birds, and over the community can be found fine poultry yards. The best birds are being raised, and the profit is good. The old scrub fowl is hard to find in this section, even if the people as a whole are not in the business as an occupation. The people are learning that it is just as easy to raise thoroughbred fowls, horses, cattle, and swine as it is scrub stock, and the profit is much more. Registered swine is another industry that is engaging the attention of the farmers.

OBITUARY.

DAVID CLARK.

A telegram received here on Monday afternoon told of the decease that morning at New Westminster of David Clark, until recently a resident of Prairie Valley, here. The deceased had no relatives in this country, so far as known, and the body was interred at New Westminster. David Clark, who was about 48 years of age, came to Canada about twenty years ago, and to Summerland nine years later. He leaves an aged father and one sister in Burreilton, Perthshire, Scotland.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

After a lingering illness, death came on Sunday morning to relieve the sufferings of James Campbell. Death occurred at the Provincial Hospital at New Westminster, whither he had gone some time since for treatment. The body was brought back to Summerland for burial, and the funeral was held on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. He was a man of middle age, a son of Mrs Mary Campbell, from whose home the funeral was held. Ross, C. H. Daly and N. McNaughton officiating. Interment was made in the Peach Orchard cemetery. Much sympathy is expressed for Mrs Campbell and the Misses Campbell in the loss of son and brother.

Mr C. D. Denton, now principal of the Armstrong High School, is spending the Easter holidays at his home here. Mr Denton was greatly surprised and delighted to find practically no injury to the orchards here from the effects of the unusually cold winter—quite a marked contrast to the orchards of the northern end of the Valley.

Pres., Mr Atkinson; Pres., Miss Gummow; Vice-Pres., Ernest Adams; Secy. Treas., Miss Marion Wismer; executive committee, Miss Minnie Gallagher and Ernest Campbell. An open invitation is extended to all to attend at the opening.

Mrs R. C. Lipsett entertained a large number of ladies at her home on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Geo. Ross, who was shortly leaving for Armstrong. The ladies spent a most enjoyable afternoon, among other things being called upon to display their ability in modelling various animals upon cards. Needless to say some striking specimens resulted. Delightful refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Mr Heeps, who some time ago purchased from the Garnett Valley Land Co. a tract of land about the old mill site, came in last week accompanied by another Vancouver man, and both inspected the property. The latter gentleman, Mr Brown, is a practical man, and it is stated that after their inspection Mr Heeps expressed himself as being highly delighted with his purchase. While plans had not been worked out it is known that it is proposed to stock the property under the direction of a practical live stock man.

The young people and the choir of the Parkdale Baptist Church combined on Wednesday evening to do honor to Mr Walter Wright on the occasion of his pending embarkation on the sea of matrimony. A kitchen shower was the form the gathering took. It was held at the home of Mrs T. Dalio, and about thirty young people and friends enjoyed a most hilarious and eventful evening. The articles comprising the shower were made up into the form and resemblance of a "bride," which was brought in and presented to the groom-to-be by the pastor, Mr McNaughton. It was a decidedly original way of bringing about the presentation, and carried out to good effect.

Wm. Sauter left on Monday for Calgary to join the Calgary Producing Company, an organization which has three travelling companies on the road, one of which is expected to visit the Valley shortly in the play "The White Feather." Mr Sauter's unusual abilities as an actor are too well known to require comment, and we are sure he will be eminently successful in this undertaking.

Services will be held in the Baptist Churches next Sunday at the customary hours of 10.30 a.m. and 7 p.m. As his evening subject Rev. N. A collection will be taken up on behalf of the movement. All interested are strongly urged to be present.

The average woman will find that a dozen geranium plants of different kinds will give her more satisfaction for house plants, summer and winter, than anything else. They will bloom profusely, give plenty of brightness and color, will stand neglect, will not die easily if a light frost gets a nip at them, or if she should forget to water them, and they are almost insect-proof.

An Excellent Performance.

A gymnastic concert for which the Boy Scouts have been preparing all winter was successfully staged last night in Empire Hall, and proved a most excellent performance. The program included flag signalling, tumbling, wrestling, parallel bar work, and other gymnastics. Miss Clay, Miss Evelyn Brown and Mr J. O. Smith assisted with solos. The Naramata Scouts were guests of the Summerland Scouts, and assisted somewhat in the program, taking part in the flag signalling when the Summerland troop signalled, "Welcome, Naramata Scouts" to which was replied, "Thanks for Greeting." There was a comic dialogue given by the boys which caused much laughter, and a tableau, "We'll Never Let The Old Flag Fall," was also greatly enjoyed.

The parallel bar work and other exercises were particularly good, and showed much careful training, and for which much credit is due Physical Instructor Geo. Dale, who himself gave some clever performances. Scoutmaster Nuttall, Naramata, assisted with an exhibition of Indian club drill.

Rev. C. H. Daly acted as chairman, and put in a strong plea that parents keep in close touch with and take more interest in what the boys are doing.

High School vs. Penticton.

The baseball achievements of the local High School team this week hie us back to the time when Summerland boasted a squad of diamond dusters that could trim up anything in the Valley. The local boys met a team from the High School at Penticton on Easter Monday afternoon at that town, and made the best of jobs in trimming them up. The score piled up by the visitors extended to 12 to 0. Having made such a good job of things in the afternoon, the boys of the team and their two dozen or so admirers and rooters who accompanied them on the trip, naturally made holiday in the evening. They dissipated by attending the moving picture show, and finally returned to their home town a little before midnight, after a most enjoyable and satisfactory outing.

The score by innings noted below shows how the Summerland boys accounted for their dozen runs. Ritchie, the Summerland pitcher, must have had the Penticton batters very badly tangled up with his variety of twirling.

Yesterday afternoon the Penticton boys made a return trip to Summerland, but they fared little better. This despite the fact that they had reinforced their line-up somewhat from other teams. They were vanquished this time to the score of 14-1. It must have been gratifying to the boys from the south to have obtained that single one. At any rate it was far better than to have to go home runless altogether. Score by innings in this game:

The victorious High School boys here are planning to visit Peachland in the near future to try conclusions with the nine of that town.

A good cow will always command a good price, regardless of market conditions. Therefore, it pays to go in for good cows, whether to keep or to sell.

If you have made up your mind to live in a town, then stand up for it, and if you know positively no good, then silence is golden. Do all you can to help along every man who is engaged in legitimate business. Do not send away for everything nice you want and still expect the home men to keep a stock to suit the whim of one or two customers. The success of your fellow townsmen will be your success.

Ammunition for House Cleaning

The earlier the house is given a thorough cleaning the better.

During the long winter, with stoves and furnaces going all the time, dust and dirt accumulates in every nook and corner. In the winter, too, there is usually insufficient ventilation in the home, and disease germs find no better breeding places. Just because they cannot be seen is no indication they are not there, take no chances, but get your supply of house-cleaning ammunition at once. Read carefully these suggestions:—

Powdered Ammonia

Softens the water and eases the work of rubbing the floors and furniture. Packages 15c., two for 25c.

Chloride of Lime, or IZAL Powder

Nothing better for sweetening drains. One of the finest chasers of disease germs known. Per Tin, 15c. and 25c.

Liquid Ammonia

Some prefer to use Ammonia in liquid form. Simply moisten the cleaning cloth with it, and it's ready for use. Large Bottle, 25c.

Sink and Bath Tub Cleanser

You know how hard it is to get the dirt off the sides of the sink and bath tub. Old Dutch Cleanser, Pearlina, or Gold Dust, does the work with the least amount of rubbing.

New arrival of PAINT, for indoor and outdoor use.

We guarantee every line of Housekeeping helps. All have been tried and tested.

Summerland Supply Co.

Lye

Another fine disinfectant is Lye—there are few houses which do not keep a plentiful supply on hand. It will take up grease and other dirt from the floor as quickly as anything. Per Tin 15c., two for 25c.

Furniture and Floor Polishes

To make the chairs, tables, window sills, and floors clean, use Liquid Veneer, Cedar Oil, Va-Ava Spray, Johnson's Floor Wax. Just rub it on with a clean cloth and it will produce a bright shine like new.

Brushes and Brooms

A full supply to choose from.

Dustless Mops

These mops are working wonders in thousands of Canadian homes. They get into the corners and pick up all the dirt.

Soaps

Of course you will not attempt house-cleaning without a good supply of soap. We only carry the ever-reliable Sunlight, Royal Crown, White Swan, and Fels-Naphtha.

Mops, Washboards & Clothespins

A full supply on hand for the cleaning season. Made by the most reliable manufacturers.

There are those who do not believe in osteopathy and the physicians hereabout declare that there's nothing in chiropractic. But we have heard of one radical cure by the laying on of hands, and it didn't take but one dose either. A mother, we are told, laid her hand on her boy's neck, and her left hand on one substantial slipper, and then laid the slipper where it would do the most good. The youngster had been smoking cigarettes, and the story goes, has been permanently cured of his habit.

That such performances can be presented from time to time. It is not every town that can boast the talent for such, but Summerland is giving repeated evidence of its ability along this line.

BUSY WITH MATTERS OF COMMUNITY WEAL.

ment of the committee sanctioned the share of the Board in the proposition, leaving details to them. The Board of Trade representatives are Messrs Stark and Galt. It should be understood that the local Telephone Company gets nothing out of the scheme. The government line would get the greatest benefit from any additional business that might be gathered up in this way, but the community as a whole would get a good name by providing such facilities for easy communication between outside points and local business houses.

In view of the good circulation of the Vancouver Province through the district, this paper will be approached by the Board to ascertain whether it cannot see its way to appoint a local correspondent. It was felt that the community could get much desirable publicity through such a channel. The Vancouver World will also be approached to the same end.

Mr R. H. Helmer brought forward the matter of daylight saving for local adoption. He introduced a resolution advocating its introduction in this municipality, but this was finally held over till the next meeting, when it is hoped that the fruit growers, to whom as a body the scheme is thought to offer most benefit, will be able to present some more opinions. It was pointed out that the daylight saving plan would give an extra hour at least in which to handle the fruit crop, and this season, when short-handedness will be felt on all sides, the step would help in the orchard and packing houses as well. The general sentiment seemed to favor the idea. A letter from the Council also endorsed it. The business houses, so far as they were represented seemed ready, apparently to shape their course to the wishes of the community at large. This matter will be finally considered at the next meeting of the Board.

The last matter to be touched upon was the advancing of a resolution seeking to make enquiry as to whether the Associated Boards of Trade of the Okanagan Valley is still in existence. There are matters in abeyance that such a body could assist with to great advantage. The next meeting of the Board will be held, it was stated, three weeks from that night, Tuesday, May 16.

The ill-omened, the croaker, can do a town more harm in a minute than the good citizens can repair in a month.

It was a fortunate chance that made the services of Miss Evelyn Brown available, and in her care was placed the longest and most difficult solo in the entire work, "How Long, O Heavenly Bridegroom." Miss Brown combines in her rich contralto a fullness and sweetness that coupled with perfect confidence made her difficult work something well above the average.

There were several quartette numbers in which a certain precision and balance of the parts were features that added to their effectiveness. The singers were Mrs Ross, soprano, Miss L. Brown, contralto; Messrs S. F. Sharp, tenor; and F. A. Williams, bass. In two numbers the quartette combined with the chorus making eight-part passages.

Especially in the early part of the work, there is a good deal of duet and trio music for ladies' voices. Few forms of music make so tune-ful an appeal as these and in some passages especially the ladies were heard to splendid effect. A dialogue chorus was one of the most difficult passages the ladies had to tackle, and it went well throughout, resolving into a very melodious trio at its conclusion.

The chorus of about two dozen gave a good account of itself in the full numbers, and gave due dignity and emphasis to these portions of the work. They were not by any means elementary in character, and if it is possible to make any choice of one, chorus above another, many might pick upon the contrapuntal number, "Oh, How Great is Thy Goodness."

The performance all through gave evidence of careful rehearsing, and was a credit to the conductor, Mr T. G. Beavis, the soloists, and the chorus as well.

Nor must mention be omitted of the work of the accompanist, Miss E. McLeod. Her ability is unquestioned, her performance at the piano speaking for itself. The "Festal March," one of the instrumental intermezzos, deserves to be noticed especially in this connection.

"The Ten Virgins" deserved a far better audience, and when the high standard of this performance is borne in mind, any future musical presentations by this body of singers will doubtless be afforded better support. It speaks much for the musical talent of the place

Production and Thrift

"GAIN or no gain the cause before the farmers of Canada is as clear as it was last year—they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made, and I believe this to be especially true in regard to live stock, the world's supply of which must be particularly affected in this vast struggle."—HON. MARTIN BURRELL, Minister of Agriculture.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENTS ARE BASED ON REPORTS CONTAINED IN "THE AGRICULTURAL WAR BOOK, 1916," PUBLISHED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, OTTAWA, ONT.

LIVE STOCK—The herds and flocks of Europe have been greatly reduced. When the war is over there will be a great demand for breeding stock. Canadian farmers should keep this in mind.

MEATS—In 1915 Great Britain imported 604,508 tons of beef, mutton and lamb, of which 304,245 tons came from without the Empire. Out of 430,420 tons of beef only 104,007 tons came from within the Empire.

The demands of the Allies for frozen beef, canned beef, bacon and hams will increase rather than diminish. Orders are coming to Canada. The decreasing tonnage space available will give Canada an advantage if we have the supplies.

DAIRYING—Home consumption of milk, butter and cheese has increased of late years. The war demands for cheese have been unlimited. The Canadian cheese exports from Montreal in 1915 were nearly $6,500,000 over 1914. Prices at Montreal—Cheese: January 1915, 18½¢ to 19¢; January 1916, 18¼¢ to 18½¢ cents. Butter: January 1915, 24 to 28½¢ cents; January 1916, 22 to 23 cents.

EGGS—Canada produced $80,000,000 worth of eggs in 1915 and helped out Great Britain in the shortage. Shippers as well as producers have a duty and an opportunity in holding a place in that market.

WRITE TO THE DOMINION DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND TO YOUR PROVINCIAL DEPARTMENT FOR BULLETINS ON THESE SUBJECTS.

Tens of thousands of Canada's food producers have enlisted and gone to the front. It is only fair to them that their home work shall be kept up as far as possible. The Empire needs all the food that we can produce in 1916.

"Can't Afford It"

That's what a merchant said the other day about his advertising. He said that trade was falling off and that he would have to economize.

ADVERTISING

is to stimulate business, but evidently Friend Merchant has it figured out that when times are good and folks have plenty of money to spend, he will demonstrate the advantage of spending it with him. But in dull times he will let the other fellow have the business.

It is a Fact

that advertising pays better when times are dull. It is the open season for bargain hunters, and the merchant who has nothing to offer the economical buyer is the first to suffer. The time to advertise is all the time and you can LEAST AFFORD to quit when you need the business most.
