

Soldier's Fate Still In Doubt

Pte. Callan Again Designated Missing Instead of Killed.

Was Private Robert Lauriston Callan, of the 54th Battalion Bombing Section, killed in action in September? The military authorities themselves seem to be unable to state definitely just what fate the young Summerland soldier met. In the meantime, so long as there is any ground for hoping that Private Callan has escaped death, his relatives and friends here are clinging tenaciously to it.

It will be recalled that Pte. Callan was first posted as missing. In the Review at the time was published a comrade's story of the exploit in which Pte. Callan was engaged at the time he encountered his fate, whatever it was. Later the casualty lists reported him among those "previously reported missing, now killed in action."

Again lists sent out from Ottawa this week give the names of some soldiers "previously reported in error killed in action, now missing." The name of Pte. Callan appears in this list, and though one of the initials is not correct, the regimental number is that of Pte. Callan.

Naturally his sister, Mrs T. H. Ramsay, as well as the many friends of the young Scotch soldier are eagerly awaiting any further information that can be gleaned.

It is a coincidence that this should come to light almost at the same time as the fact that Pte. Callan's parents in Scotland received condolences from the King and Queen on the presumption of their son's death.

OBITUARY.

Gordon Wilson McLaren.

The announcement circulated last Saturday that Mr G. W. McLaren had passed away that morning at his home, Jones Flat, was received with keen sorrow by all those who had known him, for they realized that there had gone a man whom to know was to respect. He had not enjoyed really good health for a long time back, being frequently confined to his bed for varying periods. Not many days ago, however, he was up and about, and the news of his death from heart failure last Saturday came as a shock to those of his friends who had not known he was seriously ill.

Mr McLaren had been resident in Summerland for many years. He came here in 1906 from Morden, Manitoba, where he engaged in his profession as a chemist. A native of Lanark County, Ontario, he was in his fifty-ninth year at the time of his death. He was a staunch and lifelong Presbyterian. Much hard work had been put into the development of his orchard property, Sunnybrae Ranch, by Mr McLaren, and as a result it had been brought to a high state of productivity. He was a firm believer in the possibilities of small fruit culture and other departures from the doctrine of straight tree fruit growing. For many years past his orchard has accordingly produced a wide variety of tree fruits, small fruits, vegetables, etc.

While not taking any position of prominence in public life, deceased was usually in attendance at gatherings of an agricultural or horticultural nature, where his experience entitled him to speak with authority upon many lines.

He was twice married, and besides the widow left here, there is

Cannot Spare More Citizens

When a copy of a resolution from Armstrong was read before the Kelowna City Council the other day asking the Council to support a movement to raise a battalion in the Okanagan the Record says:

It was apparent the Council did not favor the resolution. It was the opinion that the district had already been drained of men in such a way as to greatly cripple farm industry, it being pointed out that had this autumn not been an exceptionally dry one, thousands of dollars' worth of produce would have been lost in the Kelowna district, through the impossibility of securing labor to harvest it. It was decided to communicate with one of the larger Coast cities suggesting the expediency of passing a resolution in favor of a form of conscription which would raise the required number of men for the army in those districts where the absence of such men would not seriously affect the local supply of labor or the business of the country at large.

The attitude of the Kelowna City Council on this question is essentially similar to the stand adopted by the Council here, as touched upon in the report of proceedings at the meeting last week. It seems unlikely therefore that with opposition to the project rising at some points, the Armstrong body will proceed with its proposals.

Going--- To Return

Mr T. N. Ritchie has recently sold his lumber business to his brother, Wm. Ritchie, who formerly conducted the business, and will remove to Vancouver, there to join his brother James in his lumbering business. In conversation with the Review Mr Ritchie expressed his regrets in leaving Summerland, if only for a time, but for many weeks he has realized that his condition of health demanded a change. He expects to move with his family shortly after the middle of December. That they will all return to Summerland within a year or two is Mr Ritchie's present anticipation.

Generous Donation To The Hospital

A very substantial donation in the form of twenty cords of seasoned firewood has been made the hospital by Mrs Frank Osler, now overseas. Wood is a scarce commodity, particularly the seasoned fuel, and this liberal supply will therefore be doubly appreciated. A member of the hospital board informs the Review that it is the intention of that body to call a "bee" for the hauling of the wood to the hospital.

one daughter well-known locally, Mrs T. B. Young.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon. Rev N. McNaughton conducted a service at the home, and after the cortege had wended its way to the cemetery at Peach Orchard, later concluded the observances at the graveside. The pall bearers were men of long friendship with the deceased, Messrs J. L. Logie, A. H. Stevon, R. H. English, D. Kenn, J. D. Wood and J. O. Smith.

In extending sympathy to the bereaved widow and daughter, the Review is but giving expression to the feeling of the entire community.

Is Now First Sea Lord

REAR-ADMIRAL SIR JOHN R. JELlicoe.

Commander of the British Fleet, was on Wednesday appointed First Sea Lord of the Admiralty, being succeeded in command of the grand fleet by Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty, who commanded the British battle cruiser squadron in the Jutland naval battle.

Admiral Sir Henry B. Jackson, the present First Sea Lord, has been appointed president of the Royal Naval College at Greenwich.

Arrangements for Supply of Fruit Cars is Best Possible.

Refrigerator Cars Are Short Owing to War Demand and Railway Commission Cannot Improve C.P.R. Arrangements.

That the board of railway commissioners can make no better arrangement for fruit shippers than the Canadian Pacific Railway is making is the view taken by the commissioners in an order just issued. It deals with a complaint of the Vernon Board of Trade and, as the case concerns fruit shippers in general, the details will be read with interest.

In a telegram to the Board of Railway Commissioners, the Vernon Board of Trade "viewed with alarm the inability of the C.P.R. to furnish sufficient refrigerator cars to ship fruit and vegetables from the Okanagan Valley," and asked that "the Dominion Railway Commission take immediate steps to relieve the situation or loss to the growers will be serious."

They pointed out that storage facilities were limited, and stated that the C.P.R. could only supply 10 per cent of the refrigerator cars needed in October. This condition, they claimed, still exists, and one thousand cars, all highly perishable, remain to be shipped.

The company, proceeded the telegram, is now supplying box cars double lined with paper and carrying two heaters. This is reasonably safe if the company gives the cars proper attention in transit. The Vernon Board of Trade suggested that such cars be billed without compelling the shipper to assume all frost damage. The situation was considered to require emergency measures.

The Board of Railway Commissioners in an order signed by Sir Henry Drayton and Mr D'Arcy Scott replied that the matter had been taken up with the company with a view, if possible, of obtaining sufficient refrigerator cars to look after the movement. It was found that this is impossible.

Proceeding, the order of the Commissioners states:

SHORTAGE OF CARS.

Owing to the unprecedented and, of course, unforeseen conditions created by the war shortage of refrigerator cars exist, speaking generally, on the American continent. The Canadian Pacific point out that they furnish refrigerator cars to other lines owing to the shortage which exists.

For example it stated that the Northern Pacific in the Yakima Valley are approximately 1,000 refrigerator cars short; that the Great Northern in the Wenatchee Valley are approximately the same number short; that a like shortage exists on the lines of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation Company, Portland & Seattle Railroad Company.

The shortage on the American lines is in the fruit producing districts of the American Western States. It is perhaps unnecessary to say that the requests of those lines made to the company for as-

Victoria And K.V.R. Service

Reference has been made in the Review to the objections being filed against the present schedule in operation on the Kettle Valley line by Victoria merchants and others, the matter having been taken up by the Board of Trade of that city. In a recent conversation, Mr J. J. Warren, president of the Kettle Valley line, assured the president of the capital city Board of Trade that he would make every effort to meet the wishes of the Victoria business interests with regard to the service being maintained by the road. It was represented to Mr Warren that needless delay is caused to passengers and freight travelling between Vancouver Island and points all along the line to Nelson, on account of the fact that Kettle Valley trains reach Vancouver after the departure of the boats for Victoria and vice versa.

It is learned later through Mr F. W. Peters of the C.P.R., that the wishes of the Vancouver Island and Kootenay people will be met, and a schedule arranged for both boat and train that will permit of quick connection. The train to the Coast will be made to reach Vancouver a little earlier than at present, and the Victoria boat is to be held till the arrival of the train if possible. Similarly at night the K.V.R. train will leave Vancouver a little later than at present, waiting for the arrival of the boat from Victoria, which is to leave a little earlier.

Mr Peters has intimated that these changes will go into effect next Monday, but it has not been learned whether the schedule this far along the K.V.R. line will be affected.

Later information is to the effect that the evening train, west bound, will leave here twenty-five minutes earlier and the morning train from the Coast will arrive twenty minutes later. Slight though these changes are they will make the hours of departure and arrival much more convenient for travellers using the local station.

Cannot Quit Summerland

Jas. Ritchie and Family Will Return Next Year to Live at "Parkdale."

That he expects to return to Summerland in a year or perhaps in the spring with his family to again take up residence here was the assurance given the Review by Mr Jas. Ritchie, who is for the time a citizen of Vancouver. The Coast or the city can in no way compare with the drier climate and the greater freedom afforded by Summerland as a place in which to live or bring up children. Already Mr Ritchie is planning improvements to his local residence "Parkdale," to make it a better and prettier home. He expects to have affairs in connection with his new lumbering business at the Coast so arranged as to be "free" to return to Summerland within a few months.

While here Mr Ritchie attended to the shipping of a quantity of his household effects to Vancouver, where he has recently purchased a house in exchange for a cottage property at Peachland. The remaining furniture, farm tools, etc., were sold at auction on Tuesday. Mr Ritchie went back to Vancouver on Saturday night.

It is only within the past few days that a start has actually been made on the cutting and marketing of the standing lumber from Mr Ritchie's now quite extensive holdings of timber land at the Coast.

Who Will Get Appointment?

Fight For Official Position Not Yet Vacant.

Whispers have been current for some time that there was to be a change in the postmastership at the upper post office here, and of late these reports have been taking on more persistent form to the effect that the present incumbent of that political position will be asked to resign, and that the local Liberal-Conservative executive has named a successor.

The removal of Mr Ritchie to Vancouver has no doubt given further argument to those who would have a change, and on the other hand that such a move was probable was evidently anticipated, as it is learned that a petition has been circulated and widely signed by business men and residents of the vicinity praying that Miss Logie, who has been in charge for months, be appointed to the position.

At the time of the provincial election suggestions of the removal of the postmaster were heard because of his activity in politics, and report has it that Mr J. E. Phinney was recommended for the position by members of the Liberal-Conservative executive. It would appear that action, if any, is slow, and a telegram has now gone to Ottawa urging the immediate appointment of Mr Phinney. About the same time the petition favoring Miss Logie was mailed to our representative at Ottawa, Hon. Martin Burrell. In the meantime Mr Ritchie has not resigned, and has stated that he has no intention of resigning till he is forced to.

Big Highway Should Touch Lake District

Boards of Trade and municipal councils throughout southern B.C. have recently been circularized by the Vancouver Board of Trade asking support for the movement to have the trans-provincial highway completed. There are yet several links to build to make a continuous highway from the sea to the prairies. As at present proposed this great highway would cross this Valley away to the south, and would be of greater benefit to Oroville and other Washington centres than to any place in the Canadian Okanagan. The Penticton Board of Trade is asking for the co-operation of all the towns of the Valley to have this route changed to one farther north. Here is a copy of their circular letter to the newspapers, boards of trade and councils:

Within the past few weeks you have doubtless received a resolution from the Vancouver Board of Trade with respect to the early completion of the Hope-Princeton road.

With this resolution we have no quarrel. It is a necessary road. But it may be that you are not aware that the transprovincial road crosses the Okanagan Valley at a point close to the international boundary line where there is comparatively no development. Unless touring motorists were to make a wide detour to the north they would not see the developed section of the Okanagan Valley at all.

In this connection this Board has a counter proposal to make to the following effect. That between Keremoos and Rock Creek the route of this road should be changed. Instead of running through Rich-

Sues For Account.

Cutbill vs. Mitchell: A Dispute Over Hauling Material for Trout Creek Dam.

A disputed account of long standing was argued out in the Petty Debts Court here last week and was the subject of more than usual interest. Suit for payment of a balance of an account was brought by S. N. Cutbill & Co., Peachland, against Robert Mitchell, Summerland. The account with the plaintiff was contracted in the fall of 1914 when Mr Mitchell was repairing the storage dam at the head of the Summerland irrigation system on Trout Creek. Mr Cutbill was given the contract by Mr Mitchell to haul lumber, cement and other supplies from Peachland to the end of the wagon road at a price of 40 cents a hundred pounds. It would appear from the evidence that an account was rendered in due course for some $150 and receipt of this was acknowledged and a sum of $100 paid on account by Mr Mitchell. Some months later according to plaintiff defendant made claims for overcharges, this being the first intimation that the account was questioned. Failing to effect a compromise the case was brought to court.

The largest item in dispute was that for hauling lumber. There had been delivered at Peachland by the Summerland Lumber Co. 150 pieces of lumber of uniform size, and Mr Cutbill brought evidence to show that he had weighed several pieces and found them to average 72 pounds each. Owing to the heavy grades the loads could not much exceed a ton each. According to Mr Mitchell, and also the evidence of E. N. Rowley who was working with him, notice was given the teamster, and a letter sent by Rowley to plaintiff to bring up no more lumber when but little more than two-fifths of the pile had been drawn. Cutbill's evidence was to the effect that all but a few sticks had been hauled when he received notice to stop.

Defendant also claimed for overcharge in weight of other loads, saying he had seen the loads on the way up. When cross-examined he admitted that his figures were estimates based on what the driver told him was in the loads and his own judgment. Mr Cutbill swore that the weight of each load was carefully calculated before the team left Peachland.

Yet another claim was for cement alleged to have been received in a worthless condition because of having been left on the roadside and to get wet. Cutbill in his evidence declared that Mitchell had told him that the cement was but little damaged. Some blacksmith work had been done by plaintiff, including bolts, washers and material for gates in the dam. The latter were not made right, swore the defendant, while Cutbill swore they were made according to instructions given by Mr Mitchell. That the price charged for iron work was too high was another claim and W. R. Shields who was called as a witness pronounced the price a little high. Another difference was a charge by Mitchell for some empty cement sacks which defendant admitted had been left at Tolman's feed store instead with Mr Cutbill but he claims to have so notified Cutbill. While agreeing to pay him for sacks returned Cutbill contended that he had never received any and knew nothing of any notice to get them at Tolman's. Cutbill told of offering to cut the charge for the gate slides in half, which seemed to satisfy Mitchell at the time. Why no complaint had been made till months afterwards was asked and Mitchell's explanation was that he did not have the money to settle in full when he paid the $100 and left these to be adjusted when making settlement later.

Messrs A. Town and S. J. McGirr of Peachland were witnesses for plaintiff and Messrs Rowley, Fenwick and Shields for defendant.

About three months after paying the $100 Mitchell tendered Cutbill $40.40 in settlement. It was for the balance of $50 odd that suit was made.

Judgment was reserved by the Court to give time to consider the bulk of evidence given.

W. C. Kelley conducted the case for the plaintiff and N. F. Tunbridge represented the defendant.

B.C. To Join.

The Canadian Council of Agriculture, in session this week at Winnipeg, is considering an application from British Columbia to be included within the scope of the organization. Thirty delegates constitute the gathering, including representatives from all the prairie provinces.

700 CARS FROZEN.

A Spokane shipper declared last week that 700 cars of apples had been frozen in the northwest during the recent cold spell. Open firepots were used in some of the frame packing houses and tents used for packing, to keep the fruit from freezing.

Thrift is a national duty, so that the money thus saved may be invested with the government.

BIG HIGHWAY SHOULD TOUCH LAKE DISTRICT.

ter's, Lower Pass, through Osoyoos, and then up that notorious steep sand hill, climbing Anarchist Mountain, that from Keremeos the road should run via Marron Lake—eleven hundred feet lower than the road running via Clarke's, and completed all but a few miles—to Penticton, and then up to Carmi on a good hard road, and a lower summit than at Osoyoos, and from Carmi down the Kettle River to Rock Creek on a water grade. On the other hand there is a very steep, high hill on each side of Rock Creek—the creek—not the town. A goodly portion of the road between Penticton and Carmi is already finished.

The advantage of the change is obvious. At Penticton, the touring motorists could easily be induced to take a run up the Okanagan Valley, and the other towns might be expected to reap some benefit. Crossing at Osoyoos where there is no hotel or garage, touring parties would have to go to Oroville for accommodation, and if they wanted to take a side trip into the fruit districts, would be as likely to run one hundred and fifty miles to the south into the American Okanagan, as to run one hundred and fifty miles to the north into the Canadian Okanagan.

A special committee is drafting a resolution which is being carefully prepared. You may expect to receive a copy shortly. In the meantime we would suggest that you take no action, unless you are prepared to qualify your endorsement of the Vancouver resolution by endorsing our position with regard to a change of route.

We believe that our move is of sufficient importance and interest to your district and the whole Okanagan to warrant this request for your assistance. We should be glad to hear from you.

Yours truly,

EDGAR DYNES,
Secretary Penticton Board of Trade.

Organization of Newspaper Men Covering South B.C.

Newspaper publishers of Southern B.C. from Hope east organized last Friday at Penticton as the Southern B.C. Section of the B.C. Branch of the Canadian Press Association, the latter being a large and influential organization of newspapers covering all Canada. Preceding the larger gathering, the members of the Okanagan Press Guild held several busy sessions. Of some of the business transacted that will be of any public interest more will be told later in these columns. This was the annual meeting of this Valley organization, now in existence for several years, and officers were elected as follows: President, H. M. Walker, Enderby Press; Vice-President, John Leathley, Kelowna Record; Secretary-Treasurer, R. E. White. The formation of the larger body will not dispense with the need for or the usefulness of the Guild which unites the press of the Valley in a work of general advantage to the publishers and the public.

On the second day publishers from the Kootenay and Boundary joined the Okanagan men and organization effected. The officers elected are: R. J. McDougall, Penticton, President; W. B. Wilcox, Trail, Vice-President; C. F. Hayes, Creston, second Vice-President; and T. A. Love, Grand Forks, Secretary-Treasurer.

The final session of the section was held around the table of the Incola Hotel where the newspaper men had been well entertained during their stay in the progressive town. On this occasion they were the guests of the Herald, whose editor and staff did everything possible to leave with the publishers pleasant memories of their stay in Penticton. Beside the visitors there were at the spread Traffic Manager, O. E. Fisher of the K.V.R., Reeve Conklin, Secretary Dynes of the Board of Trade, Mr F. E. Trautman, press agent of the C.P.R. in Western Canada, and several members of the Herald staff.

Reeve Conklin in a few happy words welcomed the visitors, and other speakers were Messrs Fisher, Trautman, Roe, Love, Dynes, Leathley and McDougall.

Mrs H. E. McCall and little daughter of Peachland have been visiting here with friends.

The Ladies' Aid of St Andrew's Church will hold a sale of useful Christmas gifts in the Parish Hall on December 19.

The Kaleden Hotel is another of his Okanagan Valley properties that has been disposed of by Mr Jas. Ritchie in exchange deals for Coast holdings.

Pte. Harry Chapman, listed as a resident of Peachland, whose parents have a ranch property some miles back, has been reported among those killed in action.

Flour Prices Down.

The somewhat sensational decline in cash wheat prices last Saturday at Winnipeg had a quick reaction at the Coast where the price of flour was dropped 30c. per barrel by the wholesalers. This put the price of best grades at $10.50, and a further drop may occur according to predictions.

Pte. Feathers, a Peachland soldier invalided home is now in hospital at Victoria.

The British Columbia Telephone Company, operating at the Coast, and in the Kootenay and Boundary districts, has 41,764 instruments in use at the present time. This is an increase of 1,964, or 4.9 per cent over the figures for last January.

Suppose the Review Ceased Publication

JUST suppose this community were left without a local newspaper! What would become of its local pride? Summerland would be just a name on a railway time table or a post office guide. Men and women might die, or marry, or go away, or suffer accidents, or entertain friends, and you would hear about it all only through gossip. Municipal affairs and other news of interest to this particular part of the wide, wide world would have no publicity. Our local merchants would have no cheap and quick way of telling you what they provide for you. Our churches and schools and other institutions would have no medium of news or appeal. And this whole community would slip back and be the sport of jokesmiths.

Would city papers take the place of the Review?

You know they would not.

THE point of it all is: Like all other newspapers we are feeling the pinch of higher prices for paper and other material. But, unlike hundreds of other weekly papers, we do not propose yet to raise the price, but simply ask that each and every subscriber pay up his or her subscription and keep it paid up. Nothing unfair about that is there? Now to "kick" at this and drop your subscription, would be to say, in effect, "This community doesn't need a local weekly. If I can do without the Review, all others can."

We do not believe for one moment that the good people of Summerland, Peachland, Naramata and neighborhoods will "kick" or drop their subscription to the Review. We expect all our subscribers to recognize the new conditions of living and publishing that have made this policy a necessity. Do you realize that your weekly newspaper at the rate of 4 cents a week—little more than the price of a postage stamp—costs an insignificant sum when you reckon up the service it renders you and this whole community.

Be loyal to and proud of the community you live in. Keep it on the map.

Will Hold Seed Fairs

Exhibits to be Staged at Armstrong and New Westminster.

Mr Wm. E. Scott, deputy minister of agriculture, has announced the dates when the provincial seed fairs will be held. It has been decided that the first, which will take place at Armstrong, will be held on December 7 and 8, the second to be held at New Westminster on December 14 and 15.

All intending exhibitors from the Kamloops district and east shall send their exhibits to the Armstrong fair and exhibitors from the Nicola and west shall send their exhibits to the New Westminster Fair.

The exhibits, in all cases, have to be grown by the exhibitor this year, and the department of agriculture reserves the right to take samples of all seed exhibited.

There is no entry fee to be paid, and all that is necessary is for the exhibitor to fill up and sign an entry form that is obtainable from the soil and crop instructor, department of agriculture, Victoria. Transportation charges on seed shipped to the fairs will be paid by the department of agriculture, but exhibits will only be returned at the expense of the owner. If the exhibitor wishes his seed returned, he must notify the soil and crop instructor.

All seed should be shipped so as to arrive at the place of the seed fair at least one day previous to the opening of the fair, but should any exhibitor find it impossible to send his exhibit to the fair before the morning of the first day of the fair, he must notify the chief soil and crop instructor, care of provincial seed fair, at either Armstrong or New Westminster at least one day previous to the opening of the fair of his intention to enter, sending in a list of the exhibits which he wishes to enter in competition. This is to facilitate the arrangement of space.

All shipments of seed for these fairs must be sent either by parcel post or express, to the chief soil and crop instructor, care of the provincial seed fair, either at Armstrong or New Westminster, as the case may be. For further information of particulars intending exhibitors should write to the soil and crop instructor, department of agriculture, Victoria. Cash prizes ranging from $5 to $15 will be awarded at each of these fairs for various exhibits.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR SUPPLY OF FRUIT CARS BEST POSSIBLE.

istance have been refused. In addition to the demands of the fruit traffic, which ordinarily might have been well looked after by the company, the company has to provide and carry some 800 refrigerator cars loaded with chilled and prepared meats for the use of the British and French overseas forces.

These supplies are urgently needed and are in effect a direct war necessity. The ocean space has been contracted for. It is impossible for the board to order that these 800 cars so required, under these circumstances, should be put to any other use. The price of steel and the scarcity of labor has made it almost impracticable for the companies to add to their stock of refrigerator cars, at least to any appreciable extent.

WILL PROVIDE ATTENDANT.

The Canadian Pacific, however, now offer to supply lined box cars with racked floor. They also agree to supply a stove and the necessary fuel with each car. The company is willing to agree in view of the emergency to carry without charge an attendant, to be employed by the shipper, to accompany such cars, whose duty it shall be to see that the fires are kept burning properly and the shipment protected from the frost damage. The company is also willing, in view of the emergency to carry the attendant back free of charge. The board can make no better arrangement or order.

As to possible damage by frost this must, as in the past, be borne by the shippers. The attendant is the employee of the shipper—the shipper knows much better than the employee of the railway just what should be done to protect fruit, and presumably the attendant selected as he will be by the shipper will know what should and ought to be done. It would not be just to fasten the company with any liability for his neglect.

Poultry in Canada.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture points out that "never before in the history of the Dominion was there anything like the demand for eggs and poultry existing at the present time. The demand for eggs is unprecedented both at home and abroad, and the department thinks it is far more likely to increase than diminish. So great is the call for export eggs that the cold storage stock is almost depleted, and there will have to be large importations to meet the domestic demand. Until the year before last the home product was not equal to the home demand, but last year and this year a very considerable surplus was produced. Last year we sent nearly 8,000,000 dozens of eggs to Great Britain, and to show how the demand keeps up it is mentioned that during the first week in last October the shipments to the United Kingdom exceeded 1,000,000 dozens. The supply in the United Kingdom remains very short. This is possibly due to the interruption in the imports from France, which under normal conditions are very large. The Department, while urging increased production, does not lose sight of the greater cost of feed, but it points out that the enhanced price of eggs more than compensates for this. This is a point upon which the views of local poultrymen would be interesting.

Some prairie farmers' local associations are demanding B.C. apples, which shows that the organized farmers are not all of one opinion.

Unity Club Ladies Meet

The Unity Club ladies met in their club rooms on Friday afternoon after about a month of routine of social duties. As the day was rather raw and chilly, the attendance was below the average, but those who did brave the conditions were rewarded for their effort. In the course of a short business session the secretary, Mrs Salting, announced that the matter of renewing the insurance on the club room and its contents had been attended to for another three years. This announcement was received with a hearty show of approval.

Under the head of "Good of the Order," Miss M. Block contributed an instrumental number; Mrs Boothe provided a reading from an incident, an amusing one, from the life of Mark Twain. It was entitled "Misplaced Oratory." Little Miss Margaret Allen's recitation, "Just Being Happy," was most opportune.

The hostesses, Mrs W. W. Mitchell and her daughter, Mrs Wm. Nuttall, came forward at the close of the afternoon with that touch of enjoyment which added the finishing touches to the pleasant social function.

Advance notices from a number of supply houses, having the temerity to spend some of their loose change on advertising, proclaim the fact that Santa Claus has decided to visit the Okanagan and will stop over at Naramata as per usual.

Current Events - OF - Town & District

Good time to subscribe for the Review. $2.00 from now to end of 1917.

Mrs Dean Walters returned on Monday from a week-end visit with her friend, Mrs M. Morsch, at Peachland.

A. G. Robertson of Pentiction, who holds the contract for cutting a thousand cords of wood up at Arawana Siding, is busy this week putting up a rough shack and stable for use during the progress of the work.

The service at church last Sunday was featured by an event none too common in Naramata—that is by a christening ceremony—or as is commonly called the sacred rite of Holy Baptism. The three children of Mr and Mrs R. H. King were duly initiated into the privileges of church membership. Rev. R. M. Thompson officiated.

Naramata citizens who have visited the siding east of town where three car loads—and huge loads too—are being sent out daily to the mills at Pentiction have regarded the spectacle as an "eye-opener." Few people have any idea of the immense size of some of the timber now being handled. Frequently a four horse team is needed to haul a single log.

The Prisoners of War Fund is receiving special attention through the Department of Education. The scholars are being solicited for small weekly pledges. So far the response is meeting with very fair success, but the success appears at times spasmodic. To stimulate the good cause the youngsters in the primary room, under the guidance of their teacher, Miss Walker, are being coached for a program to be given some afternoon toward the close of the present school term. A fee for admission will be charged—a nickel is the minimum—and it is hoped to stimulate the giving spirit toward our poor fellows who are now suffering the privations of a prisoner-of-war life.

Lieut. S. B. Cash came in on Saturday evening's boat from Vernon camp, and spent the week-end at his home.

Mr F. H. Rounds and son Wesley were visitors to Pentiction on Saturday in search of hay. Mr Rounds finds that he can purchase hay much cheaper by going direct to the man who has the hay for sale. The man who grows it.

Additional evidence of the easy times prevailing in the district is furnished by the building contractors, who have recently been asked to figure on the cost of at least four new dwellings, all, too, from parties living on the fruit ranches.

Farmers' Institute meetings for the year 1916 will come to a close next Saturday afternoon. It is expected that Mr Helmer, Manager of the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, will be present to address the meeting on some branch of horticultural work.

Word has reached here that since going to Los Angeles, both Dorothy Robinson and her sister Marguerite, have resumed their several courses of study, formerly undertaken at Moulton College, and that the girls have begun already to feel quite at home amidst their new associates.

Mr J. C. Miller of Calgary, accompanied by Mr Bodkin, a fellow citizen, was in town last Saturday on a periodical trip of inspection to his fruit ranch. While here he made provision for the erection of a small building which for a short period will serve the purpose of a store room and packing house.

The snowstorm on Monday forenoon, which was accompanied by such a terrific gale, did not prove to be the forerunner of the serious winter spell that was at the time anticipated. The high wind prevailed for less than an hour, after which the sun came out nice and warm and most of the citizens decided to wait another month for any really cold snap.

Amongst the list of recent visitors from Naramata to leave on extended vacations at Vancouver and Victoria are the families of Mr Dobie and Mr Lyons. Mr and Mrs Dobie expect to be absent for at least three months. Mr and Mrs Lyons—whose objective is Victoria—do not anticipate prolonging their stay beyond six weeks or two months at the outside.

Pruning operations on Rakadome, the 100-acre fruit ranch of Mr Carroll C. Atkins, are now in full swing. The apricots have been completed, and a start is now made on the apples. In the case of the peach trees, the pruning was done with an axe laid at the roots, as it is the intention of Mr Atkins to abandon the original intention of raising peaches. Close upon a thousand trees were removed a year ago, and about half that number were uprooted this fall.

Women's Institute visitors to the school this month were Mrs Frank Rounds and Mrs Boothe. The interest displayed by the mothers in thus paying periodical visits to their school should prove of an all round assistance. The teachers appreciate the interest thus displayed in the welfare of the school as a whole; it should tend to give the parents a better insight into the every day problems of the teachers, and the pupils will see that the work in progress within the confines of the walls of the classrooms is receiving special attention, and hence must be of more value than pupils are apt at times to think. It is another proof of the value of co-operation.

The management of the local Sunday School has decided upon holding an entertainment during the holiday season. There will be this difference when it comes to the Santa Claus part—instead of the pupils coming with the expectation of getting presents it will be a case of each one bringing a contribution to Santa himself, who has made arrangements to convey to and to distribute among the soldiers at the front. The idea is thoughtful, patriotic and unselfish, and should, if backed up by the co-operation and assistance of the older folk, meet with a splendid response. The motto then should be, Gifts, gifts, for the soldiers bring, To make their hearts rejoice and sing.

Mr J. Russell Wells, salesman for the Naramata Fruit Co., at Calgary, is expected home this evening after an absence of three months.

Mr John Brooks with his wife and family motored up recently from Pentiction, on a short visit. While here the jolly family were entertained at the home of Mr R. H. King.

If the ten virgins of Bible times had been living in these days of high prices, the five wise ones would have had the forethought to put away a supply of eggs when eggs were cheap, in order to tide over the present period of scarcity, when eggs can scarcely be had for either love or money.

In a recent letter to his parents Pte. W. L. Boothe of the 11th C.M.R. band, gives expression to the delightful experience of sleeping on mattresses, after many months of camp life at Shorncliffe, where, especially during the rainy season, conditions were none too congenial. The boys are, however, in the best physical condition, and it looks as though they are being inured to many of the hardships of trench warfare.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessees may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Mr W. J. Robinson is about again after a short but severe illness last week.

Mr J. D. Lewis, formerly manager of the local office of the Canadian Bank of Commerce is spending a few days' vacation with friends here.

The storing recently of a quantity of coal and other arrangements pertaining to their Summerland office does not tend to confirm the seemingly well established report that the Okanagan Telephone Company purposed closing its office here soon.

Mr D. H. Watson, who severed his connection with the Okanagan United Growers some weeks ago is establishing himself along with a partner as a fruit broker in Edmonton. This leads us to wonder if "Dave" has changed his opinion of the middleman.

Mrs Fred Gartrell was given a pleasant surprise on the anniversary of her birthday last Monday when a party of about thirty friends arrived at her home to offer congratulations and good wishes. The evening was pleasantly spent with games and music.

The members of the Anglican Church are holding a Sale of Work next Thursday afternoon, December 7th, in the Parish Hall, from 3 to 8. Useful and dainty Christmas gifts, dressed dolls, toys, home cooked edibles, will be on sale. There will also be a stall of second-hand goods. Afternoon tea will be served. Admission free.

Capt. W. V. B. Webb, of Summerland, is getting back into active military service. He held the rank of captain formerly in the Imperial army, where he served in the Royal Garrison Artillery, being stationed in various parts of the world, including Malta and Hong Kong. He has now taken the rank of lieutenant in the 6th Regiment, Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles, and has been entrusted with the work of raising a company for immediate overseas service. A letter from him published in this issue gives fuller information regarding this company.

Among those from this district to attend the Spokane Fair were Messrs H. C. Mellor and G. J. C. White, directors of the Summerland Fruit Union and J. Lawler, the manager, and G. A. MacLaine, local manager for Stirling & Pitcairn. The trip to the capital of the "inland empire" was made by auto, that of Mr Lawler. Note we said "to," for the return was made by train by two of the party, Messrs Mellor and White, who could not wait till repairs to the car were completed. The party was but a short way on the return journey when something went wrong with the engine and after waiting a day the two Union directors came home by rail via the Boundary country, reaching here Sunday night. It was Tuesday when Mr MacLaine returned. Mr Lawler has not yet returned, it being found necessary to send to San Francisco for a new part. Mr Mellor says that the Okanagan of B.C. is becoming well and favorably known, a number of Americans who had visited here having told him that this is the most desirable district of all in which to live.

MUNICIPAL VOTERS' LIST, 1917

TAKE NOTICE that the Municipal Council will sit as a Court of Revision to revise and correct the Municipal Voters List, on Monday, December 11th, 1916, at three o'clock, in the Council Chambers, Peachland.

WM. M. DRYDEN,

17,18,19 Municipal Clerk.

New furniture, linen, silver, etc., by Auction. Page 2.

The annual general meeting of the Home Comfort Club will be held at the home of Mrs Hayes on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6th.

Mrs Bisette, who has been in ill health for some time, suffering with throat trouble, went down to Vancouver Sunday night for special treatment.

M. Steuart is away to Grand Forks again this week attending to business in connection with the shipping of fruit from that district by his firm.

The subject of Rev N. McNaughton's address on Sunday morning will be "Can Religious Forces Help Decide the War?" In the evening, "Who Says I'm Honest?" will be the unusual subject discussed.

Four young local hunting enthusiasts are out in the hills with their guns this week after deer or any thing else in the way of large game that may come within range. They are Messrs George Dale, Cliff McWilliams, Clarence Elsey and Hilton Snider.

There has been little or no change for the better in the heating service at the Central School. It is stated that many are suffering with colds and that a number of the children are being kept at home either with colds or for fear they will catch one. Those who are attending find the rooms exceedingly uncomfortable much of the time.

Messrs James Kean and Ken Thomas went out about the middle of this week for Vancouver where both intend to join an artillery unit recruiting there, the same into which Mr F. Munro, of Meadow Valley, enlisted not long ago. They went down to Penticton the end of last week for formal enlistment and received their transportation from there out to Vancouver.

A plan of supervision during the noon hour has been adopted at the Central School, the news of which will be welcomed by every parent of a pupil attending. This subject has been discussed at different sittings of the School Board, and came up again a few days ago at a special meeting. A proposal prepared at that meeting has been acted upon, and beginning last week with the principal all the teachers but Miss Brown of the primary department will take turn about a week each remaining in the room used by the children for a lunch room during the noon hour.

Included in the contribution of $146 or thereabouts made by the Summerland schools to the Belgian Children's Relief Fund was $10.05 from the Garnett Valley School. Miss Ruth Dale, the teacher, had trained her scholars very assiduously in a little concert program, and this was given the same Friday afternoon as the larger event at the Central School. Just about all the ladies of the Valley were present at the school, and witnessed the performance of the children. At the Trout Creek School a collection was taken up among the children, so that this school also had a share in swelling the substantial total that went from here towards the Belgian Children's Fund.

While any national movement looking towards the unification of religious denominational work does not seem to be going ahead very fast, Summerland is continually providing evidences that its people are alive to the advantages to be derived from a closer co-operation between the different denominations. There has been for some time an arrangement whereby the Presbyterian and Baptist congregations have worshipped together, and now in the lower town the scope of this arrangement has been broadened so that on Sunday evenings the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist people may all enjoy union worship. The customary service on alternate Sunday evenings in the Methodist Church has been withdrawn, being joined up with the usual service in the Lakeside Baptist Church. Rev. A. Henderson will conduct one of these two services formerly held in the Methodist Church. It is anticipated that the larger congregations that should result will mean more hearty worship for all concerned. Such a move deserves the most cordial support of all concerned.

Mrs H. Phinney is leaving tomorrow evening for the Coast, this being the first stage of a trip she is taking to California.

One week more, is the announcement in the Summerland Supply Co.'s ad. on the last page of this paper. Don't fail to read it.

Mrs John Tait is leaving by this evening's train for Victoria, where she will make a visit at the home of her mother for two or three months.

Mr E. B. May made a hurried visit to his sister, Mrs Doherty, at Vancouver last week-end. Mrs Doherty had just received the sad news that her husband, Lance-Corporal Doherty, had died of wounds.

Lieutenant H. Rivington spent October at Hythe, Kent, to take the musketry course. He passed the seven examinations, including machine guns, and now holds a first class instructor's certificate.

Sergt. F. A. C. Wright was given final physical examination when he reported recently to Victoria, and has been given his discharge as being permanently disabled. Sergt. Wright will likely always be troubled with a weak knee as the result of a trench accident while in the first line trench in France.

It is reported that, finding he had to wait for his car to be repaired, Jack Lawler went from Spokane to Vancouver to try to enlist for service overseas, his desire being to a post at driving one of the recently invented "tanks." Before leaving here he made it known that it was his intention to do this when he returned from Spokane.

Numerous telephone enquiries last Saturday bore evidence, very gratifying to the publishers, of how eagerly the Review is awaited each week as the hour of its appearance comes round. These enquiries were all from subscribers on the rural route, whose copy had failed to reach them as usual. This information was received with some surprise at the Review Office, and later at the Post Office, where enquiry was made. Immediately it was known that the bundle for the rural route had gone astray the postmaster sent out a tracer over the wires, with the result that the stray bundle was returned the same night, but, as Sunday unfortunately intervened, the papers could not then be sent out to subscribers until Monday morning. Errors of this kind are rare indeed at our Post Office, and no doubt will be overlooked by our disappointed readers on this occasion.

Miss Helen E. Phinney left on Saturday night's train for the Coast, in company with her brother Roy. On Wednesday at Seattle, she was married to Mr D. W. Shaver, the young couple intending to make their home in Portland, Oregon. There are few Summerland brides who have been honored by their friends to the extent of three shower parties, but this was the good fortune enjoyed by Miss Phinney, and it indicates that she had established many friendships during the years of her residence here. The third shower party given in her honor took place on Thursday afternoon of last week, being given by Mrs A. L. Moreland and Mrs R. C. Lipsett, at the home of the former. It is sometimes difficult to effect arrangements so that the true nature of such an event comes as a real surprise to the guest of honor, but there was no doubt as to whether this bride-to-be encountered a surprise when the true nature of this function burst upon her. There were about thirty guests in all. Leading up to the crucial event of the afternoon was an effort made by some of the young ladies who were blindfolded to unlock a heart with a large key put into their hands. By design Miss Phinney was not allowed an opportunity to do this, but before she realized anything else might happen, she had been given a very liberal shower of confetti from a parasol concealed above. When the bandage was taken from her eyes she saw beside her a beautiful array of articles calculated to make the heart of a young homo maker very happy. Completing the pleasure of the afternoon were the refreshments provided by the hostesses.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs McLaren and family hereby desire to thank all friends for the kindness and sympathy shown and expressed during their recent bereavement.

Mrs Loomer and her daughter, Miss Amy, are guests at the home of Mr and Mrs W. E. Rines. Another daughter, Miss Gertrude, who is now studying at Vancouver, will join the family here shortly. Mrs Loomer, who has been living at Penticton for some years, is Mrs Rines' mother.

According to Coun. Johnston the trouble from water on the En-ear Creek gulch road above Peach Orchard was caused by boys who wished to have some fun coasting. A flume crosses under the road and this had been so adjusted as to turn the water down the road so that it might spread and freeze.

A number of citizen volunteers have been at work for a week repairing the lower end of the Gulch Road from just above the sharp turn to the foot. Teams and men have been doing good work under the direction of Mr W. Watson rounding up the face of the road and putting on a new top of sand and shale. The sand is for the purpose of fixing the dust, or mud when the weather is wet, and to make a better bottom for the shale. Yesterday and to-day the good work continues, Shaughnessy Avenue receiving a partial coating of shale, which is being drawn from the front of the Logie hill. At the same time the municipal team has been engaged regrading and shaling the road east of Giant's Head.

WANT RECRUITS FOR ENGINEERS

The Engineers are at the beginning and end of all movements in modern warfare. Whether it be the building of the camp at the opening of mobilization, fitting up the lighting, heating, water and sanitation systems, to the far off work at the front where they are bridge building, cable laying, preparing tracks and roads for the advancing troops, the Engineers' work is daily one of absorbing interest. It will readily be seen what numerous opportunities are afforded to the handy man to become skilled in any particular branch of work he may desire. When joining up, a man is given the chance of deciding what special trade he is most adapted for, and he can then acquire a knowledge and experience which will assuredly be of use to him at the conclusion of the war and when he returns to civil life.

Dominion Fruit Commissioner, Dan Johnson, has had estimates compiled of the amount of fruit being kept in storage at points all through the country. The estimates of these quantities, while reasonably accurate, will vary of course as shipments are made from the warehouses. The figures given for the interior of British Columbia are:

Kootenay and Arrow Lakes 10,500 boxes; Wabachin and Salmon Arm, 2,000 boxes; Okanagan, Grand Forks and Keremeos, 112,000 boxes; Rock Creek, Midway and district, 4,100 boxes.

Summerland, B.C.,
The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,
Re letter in your last issue on use of St Andrew's Presbyterian Church for sacred concert by Welsh Singers on Nov. 12th.
The Board of the church passed a resolution recording their 'emphatic disapproval of the METHOD USED by which the church was handed over" for this concert.

As I was acting for the Welsh Choir in this matter, and as the letter implies that the church was obtained by giving or permitting a wrong impression as to the disposal of the proceeds I wish to state the following facts.
As announced on the Saturday night, the gymnasium was engaged for the concert—the authorities being fully aware that the Welsh Choir were taking the whole proceeds after paying expenses.
It was not until the Sunday morning that a representative of the church invited us to use it instead, and no question of the disposal of the proceeds was mooted—certainly no impression was given him that they were going to any charitable or benevolent institution.

I trust this will serve to show that as far as the Choir and myself are concerned, there was no cause given for the authorities to be misled.
With the remainder of the letter I am of course not concerned, but while on this subject, wish to express my regret that some few individuals were led to contribute at the concert more liberally than they would have done had they known where the money was going, though none with whom I have spoken have been able to trace the source of their impressions.
This class must surely have been small, however, as the average of only 15c. per head does not leave any large amount above what the concert was admittedly worth.

Yours truly,
THOS. H. RILEY.

Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,
The Sixth Regiment, D.C.O.R., has just been authorized to raise a Company for overseas, and I am to have the privilege of commanding it.

I wish to ask for the hospitality of your columns and for your valuable assistance in appealing to any Summerland men who may yet be hesitating, to come to the support of a Summerland man.

I know what Summerland has done, and how few eligible men are left; but there may still be some of my fellow citizens who for one reason or another have not yet made up their minds to join. It is to them that I wish to appeal.
There will be no undue delay in going overseas. The Company will proceed to England as soon as raised, and should there be any hitch in recruiting, the first 100 or 150 men will be sent forward without waiting for the rest.

The chances of quick promotion could not be better, for practically all the N.C.O.'s will be recruited, and where all start level, what is to prevent a Summerland fruit grower from coming to the front?
I shall be proud indeed to know that, however small their number, there are men from my own home

Patriotic Fund Collections Fall.

Arrears Now Large. Contributions Short of Local Disbursements.

On the last day of November the treasurer's list shows unpaid subscriptions to the Canadian Patriotic Fund of $409.50, which it is sincerely hoped will be all paid in by the end of the present month.

Our remittance to Victoria for November amounted to $146.25 only, and when it is pointed out that the Central Fund (at Victoria) distributed to the dependents of soldiers in Summerland the sum of $312 during that same month, and $329.50 during the month of October, it will be seen that we are receiving very generous treatment, making us feel that we might do our best to do rather better. The total amount under promise of subscription in Summerland at the present time is $201, so that if every subscription were paid in regularly every month it is obvious we should still be getting back over $100 more than we subscribe per month in distribution from the Central at Victoria.

As most of the subscriptions were promised for the present year only, it is the intention to endeavor to have another public meeting here when a new board for next year will be elected, and a new canvass made.

Many people have already signified their intention of subscribing during the "period of the war."

Peat Engagement Was Cancelled.

Beyond the fact that one or more of the party in the Peat troupe of entertainers who were to be here on Tuesday had been recalled to Edmonton, the local branch of the Okanagan Ambulance League have had no explanation for the sudden cancelling of the engagement. The party was being well received in the Kootenay and Boundary districts and had been delayed by pressure for repeat entertainments, this latter having already caused the changing of the date of the local appearance, and their coming was being looked forward to with much interest. It is not known whether they will come at a later date.

Who does right need not fear the wrong that his enemies say about him.

Furnace Coming Says Contractor Trustees Meet

Can Do Nothing But Wait In Hope Of Early Relief.

Little Business Transacted by Bare Quorum.

A letter was read at the School Board meeting last Tuesday which gave some hope that the present almost unendurable condition of affairs as regards heating the Central School would soon be at an end. The contractor wrote that he was expecting the arrival of the second furnace immediately, and would not delay in getting it installed. He regretted the annoying delay, and also confirmed the explanation as suggested by the Review that the recent serious trouble with the hot water system was due to too great a fire. Regarding the latter the chairman, Dr Sawyer, expressed his disapproval of the removal by the contractor of the radiators from the front rooms before they had been directly connected with the second furnace. With more radiating surface the water would not so readily have been converted to steam. That the Board were powerless to do anything but wait for the furnace and its installation was admitted.

There was only a bare quorum present: Dr Sawyer, Mrs Kelley, and Mr Sharp.

Included in the usual bunch of monthly reports from the teachers were letters from each of the members of the Central teaching staff agreeing to the new regulations as to supervision during the noon hour. In this arrangement each of the teachers, including Miss Brown, take a week about remaining on duty during the mid-day recess. Miss Brown, who teaches the primary department, and who stays in the building every noon, has always kept a watch over the little ones and will continue to do so, beside doing her week in the larger plan.

The secretary was instructed to advertise for the wood needed at the different schools, and also to advertise for tenders for the work of janitor for the Central and High Schools. These appear in this issue of the Review.

Accounts as follows were approved for payment:

Teachers' salaries	$775.00
Secretary's salary	10.00
Janitors	36.00
Conveyance contractors	206.80
Municipality	9.00
Hookham & Co., coal	203.45
S'land Drug Co., supplies	20.15
Hendry Co., supplies	4.68
S'land Supply Co.	13.15
G. Thornber, wood	20.95
Total	$1,209.18

The next regular meeting of the Board will be on the afternoon of Friday, December 22nd.

Elections, Jan. 13.

Little Stir Yet.

Though the date of the nomination for reeve, councillors, and new members on the school board is but a month away there is but little apparent interest shown by the electors. Nomination day is fixed for Monday the 8th of January, and elections on the following Saturday, the 13th.

According to general understanding of the new law pertaining to the half-holiday, it will be necessary to take a referendum to decide on what day of the week our legal half-holiday shall be.

Farmers' Institute Opening Session

Preparing Plans For Busy Winter.

Last Friday night the Summerland Farmers' institute held the first of their winter monthly meetings, which was well attended. In the absence of the President, Mr Hilborn, the vice-president, Mr E. R. Simpson, took the chair. The secretary had a sheaf of business for the chairman to put through before the lecture part came on.

A delegate to the Kelowna conference held this week was appointed, Mr S. M. Young being the lucky candidate. The meeting also endorsed the directors' desire of holding Pruning and Packing Schools here again this season. The secretary was instructed to make application for them. With reference to the Packing School the secretary informed the meeting that he was trying to arrange with the department to have a class for older boys and girls immediately after school hours at a reduced fee. The discussion led on to summer holidays, and a resolution was passed asking the secretary to get the department to extend the holidays until the first Tuesday in September; also to make some arrangement whereby some students will be available for apple picking and packing next season.

The business end being gotten through, the chairman called on Mr R. H. Helmer, Superintendent of the Experimental Station, to give his address on "Planting and Care of Young Trees in Old Orchards." He threw out many valuable hints which were much appreciated, and a number of questions were asked and satisfactorily answered. He also gave some pointers on pruning the young tree in the early stage of growth.

Mr C. H. Tate also gave his experience along this line of orchard work.

Other speakers, Mr Snider and Mr G. Marshall, gave short accounts of their work along this line.

The next meeting will be the annual meeting early in January. It will be held in the afternoon, and a good program is to be arranged.

Liberal District Executive Formed

At a meeting of the representatives of the various local Liberal organizations held here at the office of Mr W. C. Kelley last Friday night an organization of an executive for the constituency of South Okanagan was effected. Matters relative to the policy of the new government at Victoria were discussed and plans for local usefulness laid. The visitors included Messrs L. V. Rogers, D. W. Sutherland, D. H. Rattenbury, C. H. Jackson and S. T. Elliott of Kelowna, T. Morrison, Rutland, A. Town Peachland, D. McKay and G. Partridge of Naramata. Local Liberals at the meeting were Messrs W. C. Kelley, A. H. Steven, and T. J. McAlpine.

Sent Out Two More Bales.

Two bales have been dispatched to the Red Cross headquarters this week. One contained 98 pairs of socks and 3 scarves, and the other contained 15 pr. pyjamas; 12 tryp cloths; 6 laundry bags; 5 bundles mouth wipes; 30 wash rags; 10 handkerchiefs; 20 hot water bottle covers; 7 dish cloths; 1 bundle old linen; 5 pillow cases; 7 slings; 8 triangular bandages; 5 comfort bags; also 20 cases of jam have been sent overseas—in all 1,200 lbs.

J. E. Phinney Is New Postmaster

Present Incumbent Notified To Quit.

The appointment of postmaster at the upper post office goes to Mr J. E. Phinney. Such is the information received by Miss Logie by mail last night from Ottawa. When called up by the Review this noon Mr Phinney, knew nothing of his appointment, but a rumor to that effect had come to him from the Central School. It is quite probable that the notice from Ottawa advising him of his appointment would go to the office of which he was being given charge. Miss Logie's instructions are to be prepared to hand over the office at any time. The change will, of course, be made under the direction of the inspector or a representative from his office.

While nominally the office has been held by Mr Jas. Ritchie, Miss Logie has really been in charge since its opening, some seven years ago, and quite naturally feels keenly her being asked to resign.

It was learned this week that a supplementary petition had been forwarded to Ottawa protesting against a change. This latter was said to bear the signatures of 28 patrons of the office, being heads of families. This with the earlier petition brings the total so signing up to 88.

There has been a meeting called for to-night, and judging from what is heard on the street it will be one of a very unusual nature, being styled, as it is, an "indignation meeting."

Certain Victory Tone of Letters From Our Soldiers

Lieut. Bentley & G. Barkwill Write From France.

Letters to Home Comfort Club Full Of Optimism.

After reading the several letters from Summerland soldiers as published here this week the one predominating impression will doubtless be the marked spirit of optimism. Victory is ours, of that all are sure. Just when the end will come and the victors return none know as yet. The knowledge of victory assured makes the uncertainty of the time when peace shall be declared a matter of secondary importance.

The genuine words of appreciation to the Home Comfort Club for the good work they are doing as conveyed to them in these letters from our own soldiers is, without question, a constant stimulation to further endeavor.

Since writing the letter published here Lieut. C. E. Bentley has been wounded, according to general opinion, although relatives here are hoping that it may not be true. The name of Lieut. C. E. Bentley was included in a list of wounded, his home address being given as England.

Brief though they are and perforce almost wholly devoid of any war news, yet these letters are able to convey impressions of the life at the front that tell more than appear in the written words.

France, November 1st, 1916.

Mr Dear Mrs Andrew:

I have to thank the Summerland Home Comfort Club for a very welcome parcel which arrived a few days ago. Everybody's efforts are very well repaid if you could only see the boys when they receive parcels from home, and even if a boy doesn't get one he gets a little of some one else's, they are fine that way always divide up, and if a parcel comes for a man who has gone down wounded it is the rule to distribute the contents amongst his pals in his own platoon or company, as the parcels cannot be delivered to him in hospital and would just go to dead letter office. I have just gotten a letter from my dear mother saying that she expects to start for England soon. I think that the trip will do her good, and she will see all the old friends again. She has certainly been a marvel in B.C.

This is a strange life with nothing but soldiers in it, we very seldom see anyone else, and you would marvel where everybody goes to and all the transport; it is just one long line of men and transport heading towards the line, and a muddy bunch covered from head to foot with it, coming back after their "tour" in the line. The country is a lovely farming land absolutely laid bare, the trees stripped of limbs, and the villages reduced to a mass of bricks, and hardly a square yard of ground without a shell hole, and the whole covered with old rifles, equipment, tanks, aeroplanes, etc., and here and there an unburied corpse, and in spite of all the most wonderful feeling of victory. We are nibbling at Fritz all the time, and he gets about 6 or 10 to 1 for every shell he puts over.

I can sympathize with the boys when the conditions were the other way, and they had to sit and take whatever Fritz put over. The con-

Shipping Horses to the Prairies.

There are prospects that the exporting of horses from this district to the Prairies may continue. This business had assumed surprisingly large proportions under the development of the late L. C. Woodworth.

Some five or six weeks ago Dr J. B. Shearer of Edmonton, with whom Mr Woodworth had been doing business, and who is a veterinary surgeon in that city, had a car of horses shipped from here. Last week more horses were gathered from here by him and sent to Penticon, whence, with others bought there, they went to Edmonton in two cars. Included in these were some very fine heavy young horses purchased from the Brent farm at Shingle Creek.

Dr Shearer informed a friend here that he purposed continuing his buying of horses here for the northern Alberta market.

He Had Varied War Experience

Capt. Demuth, Young Medical Man, Home on Three Months' Leave.

That his medical training with the knowledge of just what to do, has saved him much suffering and quickly put him on the road to complete recovery, was the statement made by Capt. Demuth when seen in company with his proud father, Mr Fred Demuth, a few days ago.

Captain Demuth (McGill, Med. '15), after serving with the Royal Army Medical Corps since June 4, 1915, returned to Canada a few weeks ago, suffering from injuries received through being thrown from his motorcycle as the result of the explosion of a German 5.9 shell immediately behind him. The shell killed two men and wounded three, smashing Capt. Demuth's machine and giving the rider a wound in the leg.

After a short stay with friends in Montreal Capt. Demuth continued west to his home at Demuth's mill. He has been granted a three months' furlough. At McGill he was a noted athlete, being on both the senior football and hockey teams.

His career since his enlistment early in 1915 has been a most varied one, he being taken overseas with the No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) and being immediately commended for the commissioned ranks of the Royal Army Medical Corps. He was then sent to Limerick, Ireland, where he spent four months as instructor to Irish troops, being transferred on September 29 to Malta, where he was placed on medical work in St George's Hospital.

Of the 457 surgical patients under his care he had the record of only losing one. After six months' service there he was seized with paratyphoid fever, which later caused him to be removed to Naples, and later to the Third London General Hospital. After two months' sick leave he became surgeon specialiat on the staff of the Herne Bay Military Hospital of 250 beds, and on July 8 last was transferred to ditions in the air are the same, many times the number of planes to his, and most of the air battles are fought over Fritz's side of the line and not on ours, which explains why you read of Fritz bringing down our planes behind his

A WISE MOVE.

A SUGGESTION was made in these columns a short time back that it would be to the advantage of the Dominion Government to cater more to the people of small means in the floatation of bonds for war purposes. The matter must even then have been receiving the attention of the government, for it is now announced that a new scheme has been devised to work along this line. Its explicit purpose is to encourage small savings for the purchase of war bonds. Full details are being submitted to the Minister of Finance on his return to Ottawa from England. It has been drawn up jointly by representatives of the government and prominent banking institutions.

The general plan is that the banks will receive deposits for small amounts, and for a sum that will likely be fixed between $21 and $22 a government certificate for $25, repayable in three years will be issued. This is almost identical to the plan that is in existence in England and elsewhere, except that the deposits are usually received at post offices. Some further official announcement is to be made early this month.

STILL FIGHTING THE INEVITABLE.

ALTHOUGH the prohibition referendum is thought to have carried beyond all chance of defeat by the vote already taken in this province and among some of its soldiers overseas, the issue is by no means a dead one yet. The big men in the liquor campaign of last summer are now on the other side of the Atlantic, trying hard, it is said, to influence the soldiers in France who have till the end of the year to record their votes, to stave off the entrance of prohibition into their home province. Their methods include the use of voluminous printed matter which is distributed right in the trenches, and canvassing by men in uniform. The prohibitionists of the province are convinced, however, that the adverse majority piled up against the pleas of the liquor interest cannot be overcome.

Is prohibition coming for Great Britain? The signs look promising. The food situation has strengthened the hands of the prohibition-ists, and a bitter fight has been started to make the Old Land "dry" till the end of the war. In view of the government's admitted shortage of sugar, corn and cereals, it is contended that there is need for prohibiting the manufacture of intoxicants which draws upon the supplies of these necessities so heavily. A measure is to be introduced into parliament shortly looking towards total prohibition.

SEPTURDAY HALF-HOLIDAY.

AT the convention of newspaper men at Penticton last week, one of the questions of public interest which came up for discussion was that of a Saturday half-holiday. It will be remembered that when the Provincial Legislature passed a law making a half-holiday each week compulsory on all retail merchants, the question of day became an important issue. At Vancouver and Victoria a vote was taken, and the advocates of Saturday won at the polls. Elsewhere in the province no day was set, but the law requires one half day in the week to be so observed until the approaching municipal elections are held, when the question of day is to be voted upon.

The newspaper men from all the towns in the Okanagan and the Interior represented at the convention, stated that in their towns the mid-week half-holiday has been a failure, as a holiday. The stores, it is true, have closed their doors, but the mid-week afternoon off has been anything but a holiday. On the contrary, the mid-week closing has very largely killed the holiday spirit amongst the people, the mid-week half-day off doing no more than check business and disturb trade, at the same time making it impracticable to hold the oldtime Saturday afternoon sports which have been such a harmonizing factor in the life of all the communities in past years.

The same results, it seems, have been obtained in each of the towns of the Interior where the midweek half day off has been observed. Not a single town reported the midweek half holiday satisfactory. It is now generally admitted that to attempt a compulsory half holiday on a day of the week which it is impossible for the public schools, the banks and all public institutions to observe, is to attempt the impossible. Not only is it attempting the impossible, but it deprives the public of the right to observe the half holiday on a day of the week which can be made a holiday. To argue that a mid-week holiday is more convenient for the retail merchants is to put the mark of class legislation on the face of the half holiday law. There is the larger question at stake—that of the harmonizing influence of the holiday and the holiday spirit, without which any holiday legislation must finally result in failure, as well as the disruption of business conditions.

The spirit of the newspapermen of the convention, as representatives of the towns from which they came was strongly against the mid-week half day off and in favor of Saturday.

Orchard and Farm:

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

B.C. Growing More And Importing Less

Report of Department of Agriculture Shows Progress Being Made in Right Direction.

Full report of the activities of the Department and the status of agricultural development in the province is given in the annual report of the Department of Agriculture for the year ended December 31st last, recently issued. A striking feature of the report is the statement showing the increasing production of the province, which, coupled with diminishing imports of agricultural products, indicates that the much-desired goal—a self-sustaining province is being approached. The total value of the agricultural products of the province in 1915 was $31,127,800, compared with $30,184,100 in the preceding year. Imports of agricultural products aggregated in value $16,434,970, compared with $25,199,125 in 1914, a decrease of $8,764,155. The comparatively small increase over 1914 in home production, with the corresponding large decrease in imports, is due first of all to the fact that nearly all farm produce in 1915 averaged approximately ten per cent. less than in 1914, and if the same prices had been given in compiling the statistics for 1915 as were used in 1914, the value of the home production would have been $34,240,581; second the decrease in population, owing to the war and other reasons; thirdly the lessened purchasing power of the people, which has led to the practice of greater economy.

The year 1915, the report states, was generally favorable for crop production, the yield for most crops being considerably above normal. The report gives a full survey of the results of the year for each variety of produce, grains, fodder, fruits, livestock, etc., etc., deals with the up-to-date methods adopted by the department through its various branches to instruct the grower in the most modern methods; the good results following systematic and intelligent inspection; enlargement of markets for fruit and other produce, especially in the prairie section, by means of the work of the markets commissioners in that section. Appreciative reference is made by Mr W. E. Scott, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, to the loyal work of his subordinates at the head of the following branches: livestock, horticulture, inspection of imported fruit and nursery stock, publications, plant pathology and statistics.

An outline of the work done by these various branches is given, and special reference is made to the demonstration work, which has proved of such practical value to the producers. The good work being done by the women's institutes, fifty-six of which were in existence during 1915, is set forth.

Is It Wise To Hold On To Potatoes

Prices Are Dropping, And May Go Lower Yet.

Eastern consumers of British Columbia potatoes are rebelling against the high prices being asked, and at least one city, Montreal, has experienced a potato boycott. The consumers in the eastern markets say they are being held up, and the reply of the dealers is that the high prices are justified.

A short time ago, it will be recalled, the Review ventured to predict that it would be well for local potato growers who are holding their crop back to watch market conditions closely, and events lately have well justified this warning.

Anent this situation the Province lately said:

"The old law of supply and demand is regulating potato prices this year as it always does, but some growers are to blame for not unloading their stock and thus relieving the situation to some extent at least. It will be to their best interests, say those who know, to sell at the present time and then they will realize good profits as well as helping the consumers to have a more liberal vegetable diet.

"Growers in British Columbia who have pitted their stock should sell. A bird in the hand is worth three in the bush any day, and this old proverb is as good to-day as over it was, but a large number of growers are of the opinion that they will be able to sell to better advantage later on. In the past, speculating in this manner has paid some farmers, but generally it has not worked out to the best advantage.

"There is still in British Columbia a large share of this season's crop and it behooves the farmers to take advantage of the present market which assures them a good profit. Prices are good, why not realize a good profit now?"

Sales have lately been made at the Coast as low as $18 per ton, and the highest price within the last few days has not gone above $23 per ton.

No man has anything more to be proud of than his good name.

It is easier to criticize the small mistakes of others than it is not to make a few large ones yourself.

Province Should Not Be Importing Eggs

Farmers Might Increase Poultry Business, Is Specialist's Advice.

Mr W. A. Brown, of the Department of Agriculture, accompanied by Mr W. H. Ault, who is in charge of the Dominion government's egg trade improvement campaign, arrived in B.C. from the East last Sunday and will spend a week in the province, visiting the various centres of the poultry business, with a view to inducing a larger production of eggs. The Dominion government for the past two years has been urging Canadian farmers to enter into the poultry business on a larger scale in order that there may be more eggs for exportation to Great Britain, where there is a ready market at big prices for all the eggs that any of the overseas dominions may ship there. The campaign has been quite successful in that whereas Canada was importing large quantities of eggs, she is now exporting larger quantities. The production has been increased many million dozen in the last two years. Mr Brown thinks that British Columbia should make an effort to supply more eggs for local consumption. The government does not expect this province to produce eggs for export, but would like to see it produce as much as possible for home consumption as the local consumption of eggs throughout the Dominion has largely increased on account of the high prices of meats, a dollar's worth of eggs going much farther in a family than a dollar's worth of meat.

Suppose the Review Ceased Publication

JUST suppose this community were left without a local newspaper! What would become of its local pride? Summerland would be just a name on a railway time table or a post office guide. Men and women might die, or marry, or go away, or suffer accidents, or entertain friends, and you would hear about it all only through gossip. Municipal affairs and other news of interest to this particular part of the wide, wide world would have no publicity. Our local merchants would have no cheap and quick way of telling you what they provide for you. Our churches and schools and other institutions would have no medium of news or appeal. And this whole community would slip back and be the sport of jokesmiths.

Would city papers take the place of the Review?
You know they would not.

THE point of it all is: Like all other newspapers we are feeling the pinch of higher prices for paper and other material. But, unlike hundreds of other weekly papers, we do not propose yet to raise the price, but simply ask that each and every subscriber pay up his or her subscription and keep it paid up. Nothing unfair about that is there? Now to "klick" at this and drop your subscription, would be to say, in effect, "This community doesn't need a local weekly. If I can do without the Review, all others can."

We do not believe for one moment that the good people of Summerland, Pencland, Naramata and neighborhoods will "klick" or drop their subscription to the Review. We expect all our subscribers to recognize the new conditions of living and publishing that have made this policy a necessity. Do you realize that your weekly newspaper at the rate of 4 cents a week—little more than the price of a postage stamp—costs an insignificant sum when you reckon up the service it renders you and this whole community.

Be loyal to and proud of the community you live in. Keep it on the map.

School District Boundaries Defined.

Other School Matters of Interest.

Inspector of Public Schools, Mr. A. Anstey of Vernon, paid the local institution of learning an official visit on Tuesday. At the close of the afternoon session he conferred with the School Board in reference to the boundaries of the district. These have now been adjusted, so that any complaints about certain lot owners being exempted from paying school rates should from now on, be a thing unheard of.

Another matter under discussion was the establishment of free dental clinics in connection with our schools. Already in the larger centres of population the people have simply gone ahead and had the children whose teeth needed attention treated by a properly qualified dentist, absolutely free. Same as under the provisions for free medical attention.

And this it is felt is how it should be everywhere. Only it is first necessary that the government of the province bring forward the necessary legislation.

Inspector Anstey informed the Board that this question was discussed at the recent convention of School Trustees at Vernon, and that it might not be amiss to forward a resolution to the local member, with a request that steps be taken to have the necessary law passed.

Arawana Siding has added to its further activities the scene of wood cutting on a rather wholesale scale. Fully fifteen cords are being cut, split and loaded each day. A. G. Robertson & Sons have the work in hand. As the wood is being cut from the sawn logs—formerly owned by the Penticton Lumber Co.—the task of handling the material is by no means a light one.

Current Events - OF - Town & District

Mr Gerald B. Williams expects shortly to take a trip to the Coast on a few weeks visit with relatives.

Mr A. Aveson of the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, spent the week-end at his home in Naramata.

Mrs Dean Walters returned on Friday evening's boat after a week's visit at Peachland, as guest of a former Naramatan, Mrs M. Morsch.

The Women's Institute on Tuesday afternoon was a fine success from every point of view, but the fuller account has had to be held over till next week.

Mrs W. W. Mitchell, with her daughter Marguerite went out on Friday morning's boat en route to Blackie, Alta, to visit for a while her oldest daughter, Mrs L. L. McDonald, nee Miss Bessie Mitchell.

A number of our citizens were across to Summerland to take in—and possibly to be "taken in"—at the auction sale on the "Flat." All the visitors expressed themselves as being well pleased with their bargains.

An eloquent appeal for a higher conception of life's hum-drum duties marked the service on Sunday afternoon by Rev. R. M. Thompson. It was an appeal for a strong and unwavering faith in the ultimate outcome of a life spent in the service of truth and righteousness.

Would a city paper take the place of the Review? Could a city paper take the place of the Review? We all know that one's local paper is our only true medium for expression. And it follows then that—morally at least—it is as much a part of one's duty to support it as to pay one's ordinary taxes or water rates. Do you get the Review?

Messrs Partridge and G. Dempsey were business visitors to Penticton on Saturday.

Mr J. Jacobson, from the Britannic mines, near Vancouver, is home for a visit to his family.

Mr E. H. Hancock has added a commodious and substantial garage to the equipment of his ranch home.

Mrs P. S. Roe, after several weeks' visit with friends in Vancouver, returned on Friday morning.

A full account of the annual bazaar held in the church basement yesterday afternoon by the local Ladies' Aid Society is of necessity held over till next issue.

Mr Fred J. Dennison has accepted a position for the winter with the Great West Saddlery Co. at Penticton. Fred sure finds his trade a good standby.

Mr J. H. Pushman, now a full-fledged citizen of Ottawa, reports that he and his wife and family are becoming quite at home again in the midst of their former surroundings.

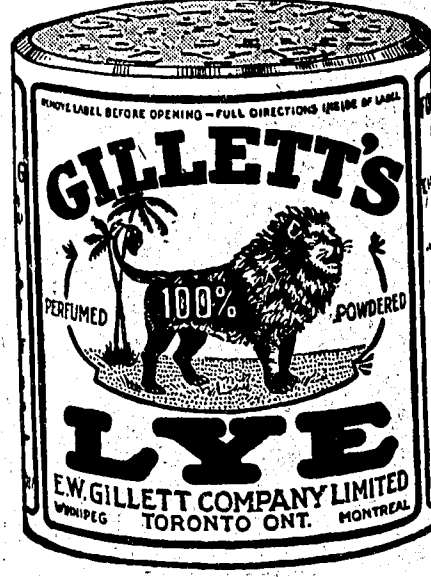

A valuable horse, the property of Mr F. H. Rounds, was found dead in the stable on Saturday morning. The cause of the death is unknown, as the animal appeared to be all right at the time of the evening meal.

Red Cross Notes

The Saturday afternoon session at the ladies club rooms continue to be scenes of genuine activity. There is evidence of good progress along right lines. There is a constant demand from headquarters for the different classes of articles which at set periods are leaving Naramata.

As an aid in obtaining cash with which to purchase the necessary material for keeping the good work moving, a card party is being given—or conducted—next week by two of the club's most active workers, Mesdames Cook and Steel.

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

Capt. F. J. Languedoc has about completed the work of excavating for his residence to be built next spring and summer.

Mr J. Russell Wells has returned from Senlac, Saskatchewan. While away on the prairies he disposed of most of the season's output for the local firm—the Naramata Fruit Co.

In the absence of a really genuine old-fashioned blizzard—relic of Manitoba days—a half hour hurricane on Sunday, accompanied by hail and sleet, proved almost as thrilling.

The public school pupils, senior, intermediate, and primary, are all quite busy during spare time rehearsing for their concert to be given shortly in aid of the Prisoners-of-War Fund.

Owing to the mildness of the weather, and the consequent lack of snow on the lower reaches of the mountains, most of the local sportsmen have decided to wait for a fall of snow before again setting out after the pursuit of the nimble deer.

An "Outsider" who happens to have certain interests in following this Naramata section asks "How many women's clubs and other organizations have you in Naramata? Are the women ever at home; and do they never get tired?" Will someone who knows come to the rescue and pen a correct and proper reply to those several queries.

Mr R. H. King with Mrs King and children were visitors to Penticton on Friday. The return journey was made the following day.

During the absence of Mr and Mrs Lyons at the Coast, Miss Florence is staying at the home of Mrs J. M. Myers, and thus her studies are continuing without interruption.

The Naramata Fruit Co. shipped out another car of apples on Monday. The last car will follow shortly. The reports indicate that this young and ambitious firm have had a very successful season.

The ladies working for the advancement of the local church—and more especially for its financial advancement—got seriously down to business last Wednesday afternoon. A report on finances read by the treasurer, Mrs Boothe, showed the Aid to be conducted on very systematic and economic lines. One change in the organization was necessitated by the removal of the former secretary, Miss Edna Noyes, who has gone to Ottawa, Mrs Hunt of Rakadom is to be the new secretary. Refreshments were served at the close.

A NEAT TURN.

An eminent lawyer was once cross-examining a very clever woman, mother of the plaintiff in a breach of promise suit, and was completely worsted in the encounter of wits. Before sitting down, however, he turned to the jury and said:

"You saw, gentlemen, that even I was, but a child in this woman's hand. What must my client have been?"

By this adroit stroke of advocacy he turned his discomfiture into a victory.

THE MORAL STANDING OF OUR SOLDIERS.

West Summerland, B.C.,
December 5th, 1916.

The Editor, Summerland Review:
Dear Sir:

I should be glad through the medium of your paper to make a vigorous protest against remarks made as to the moral condition of our men when they return home from the front, as if they would not be fit to associate with us. These remarks I heard at a public gathering last night, so I would like my reply to be made public.

In contradiction of these statements I would like to say that I am hearing on all sides how our brave men are passing through the fires and being purged from the dross, which apparently stays with us, if we have to be bribed with the promise of songs to services which it is hoped will attract great numbers! I was present at a sermon preached by the Bishop of Athabasca lately, and he spoke of the splendid men who had gone in great numbers from his diocese, and the censor writing from the front told the Bishop how all the men in writing home asked their friends for their prayers—these men are led by the spirit of God, while we, according to the speaker I heard, have to be offered inducements to make us pray. May we pray to be fit to receive our men home, and not hang them from the spiritual drights to which their self-sacrifice and suffering has raised them, down to our self satisfaction and worldliness.

Yours truly,
E. M. SIMPSON.

P.S.—I have frequently heard it spoken of as a grave responsibility that we should not by our lethargy weaken our men's faith in God when they return to civilization again.

He who prays without confidence cannot hope that his prayer will be answered.

GOODNIGHT AND GOOD BORDEN.

With Sincere Apologies to Lord Houghton.

A fat little boy sat under a tree
Scowling because it was time for tea.

He could not say without a fight
"I've finished my work, Goodnight!
Goodnight!"

Ghosts of the past flew over his head
Crying "Sham! Sham!" on their way to bed.

He said as he watched their curious flight
"Little black things, Too tight!
Goodnight!"

Some people Yea'd, while others
No'd,
But most mere men marked time on the road

All seeming to say with a quiet delight
"Never mind, Sam! Goodnight!
Goodnight!"

He did not say to his clothes
"Goodnight!"
Though he found them getting uncommonly tight,

For he knew their seams wouldn't really burst,
Prepared as he was for the very worst.

The tall, grave Premier bowed his head
Not a bit too soon, most people said,
And poor little Sammy tore his hair
And said, in Chinook, a short, sweet prayer.

And while on his pillow he softly lay
And midnight visitant seemed to say
"Who on earth will they get to do what you've done?"
Good Borden! Good Borden! Your work's just begun!" —L.F.

Passing Events: Social, Personal, &c.

It is now said that Pte. T. F. Knox, who was reported to be missing some five or six weeks ago was killed in battle.

Mrs Waterman, of Paradise, is a guest at present with Mr and Mrs George Anderson, recuperating after a long stay in the Hospital.

WATER AND LIGHT USERS please take notice that these rates are payable by the 15th inst., in order to obtain the Rebate.

Roscoe McWilliams is now a wireless operator on one of the C.P.R. boats making the triangle trip between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

"Pat" Borton, who was wounded some time ago is now serving in one of the transport offices in France. "Billy," another of the Borton boys well known here, is also serving his country in France.

Mr W. Watson went down to the Coast on Monday night and will be followed by Mrs Watson this weekend. They purpose renting furnished apartments there and will remain for the winter at least.

The Ladies' Aid of St Andrew's Church will hold a Sale of Useful Christmas gifts, fancy work, home made candies, cakes and biscuits, etc., on Saturday, December 16th, from 2 to 7 o'clock. Tea will be served.

"A Desperate Venture" is the subject of Rev. N. McNaughton's sermon to be given at St Andrew's Church on Sunday morning. The evening speaker there will be Rev. A. Henderson. For his evening subject at the Lakeside Church Mr McNaughton has chosen "Today's Tragedy."

Mrs Babbit and daughter Jean, who have been making their home with Mr T. N. Ritchie and family, will remove to Vancouver with them this month. Mrs Babbit's two other daughters, the Misses Blanche and Kathleen are now in Vancouver where they are training for professional nurses.

The annual general meeting of the Summerland Branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund will be held on Thursday evening, December 14th, at eight o'clock, at St Stephen's Parish Hall. Business of the meeting will be election of officers for 1917. reports of work done in 1916. Everybody is heartily invited to attend.

The ladies of St Stephen's Church held a most successful sale yesterday afternoon and evening in the Parish Hall. In all, the handsome sum of $250 was realized. There were a variety of stalls at which goods and wares of all kinds could be bought. A fish pond for the children was another feature, but the most successful of all, at least judging from the returns, was the stall for the sale of second-hand goods, at which $68 was taken. Afternoon tea further added to the takings of the day.

Mr and Mrs George M. Ross have been in the district this week, staying at the home of Mr and Mrs W. Atkinson, and also making a round of visits with their host of friends here. Mrs Ross came down from Armstrong last Saturday, and Mr Ross followed on Wednesday. On Thursday evening the congregation at the special meeting in St Andrew's Church were given the privilege of hearing Mrs Ross' splendid gift of song as she sang a gospel solo. Mr and Mrs Ross are now on their vacation, and expect to go on to the Coast this week-end.

Now that the long winter evenings are drawing in, the thoughts of some of the more active men are beginning to centre round basketball possibilities. Especially is this the case since there seems to be a similar inclination manifesting itself at Ponticton, and there is also a strong desire expressed to have teams from the two towns meet. The best of the teams that played a season or two ago are now serving their country in uniform, but there is still some talent that can be worked into the game. It is therefore quite possible that something in the way of organization may develop before long in this line of winter sport.

Mr H. Hardy of Peachland was a visitor to Summerland on Friday last.

Mrs G. Noble, who has for some time been indisposed, and partly under doctor's care, is still being compelled to rest.

After spending a few days here, Mr Frank Marshall returned to the Coast Tuesday evening to resume his duties on the C.P.R. boat plying between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

It is learned here that Miss Kathryn C. McLeod, formerly lady principal of Okanagan College and later holding a similar position at Columbian Methodist College, New Westminster, is ill in Vancouver.

Mrs H. Phinney after spending about three months at the Coast and a like period in California plans to go East to her former New Brunswick home, and will not return to Summerland for about a year.

Mrs J. Downton has returned from Kelowna where she has been spending much of her time for many weeks at the bedside of her sister, Mrs Vernon, who is now at rest after many months of great suffering.

"How Consolidation Has Worked in Summerland" is the subject of an address that will be given by Mrs W. C. Kelley at Keremeos this evening. She accompanied Inspector Anstey to that town to-day to attend a public meeting where the question of consolidating the schools of that district will be considered.

What impression do you think people get of you from the letters you write? Printed stationery adds dignity to your friendly letters and weight to your business correspondence. Nothing nicer nor more useful as a Christmas gift. The prices are low in spite of climbing paper costs. Get in touch with the Review Office.

Mr Fred Demuth, who is a lumber operator and mill owner west of here on the K.V.R., was recently admitted to the Vancouver General Hospital for the purpose of undergoing an operation. He was accompanied to the Coast by his son, Dr Otto Demuth, a graduate of McGill, and who is now home on sick leave, having been wounded at the front.

After an absence of several weeks Mr T. J. Garnett returned from the prairies last Friday night. While there he disposed of two carloads of apples, the first at really good prices direct to farmers, who bought from the car door, and part of the second was sold out of Calgary, but as freezing weather came on he was forced to have the car rolled into that city, where the remaining apples were disposed of to a jobbing house, which was glad to get the fruit as apples were very scarce at that time.

Mrs J. S. Chalmers of Thrums, B.C., will lecture to the members of the Summerland and West Summerland Institutes, at the Parish Hall, West Summerland, on the afternoons of Wednesday and Thursday, December 13 and 14. The subjects will be The Home Garden, Vegetables and Flowers, Live Stock on the Farm, Soils and Crops, Home Canning, etc. Lectures are free to members of the Institute. Others may have the advantage of the lectures and become a member of the Institute for a year by paying fifty cents. Meetings will open at two o'clock sharp.

Like most other bodies of its kind the St Andrew's and Caledonian Society has had its resident membership greatly depleted by enlistments. Nevertheless those remaining are going to do their utmost to hold the society together till better times appear. At a meeting this week officers were elected for another year, the office-holders of last year all being re-elected, and the decision arrived at to carry the work on even if it has to be in a limited way. "Burns Night," January 25th, will probably not be allowed to pass without some recognition, even if St Andrew's Night had to be, owing to unpreventable circumstances.

The sale to be held by the ladies of St Andrew's Church will be on the 16th and not on the 19th as announced last week.

The sale held by the Ladies' College Auxilliary was a very successful affair. Well over one hundred dollars was realized.

After a short stay at Vancouver, H. W. Snider, who spent the summer on the Dr More orchard has returned and is now working at Mineola.

Mrs John Borton was a K.V.R. passenger coastward bound on Saturday night. She expects to spend the winter with a young daughter-in-law, Mrs Lionel Borton of Victoria. "Pat," as he is better known here, was married to a young lady of that city about a year ago, shortly before he left for France.

Notwithstanding persistent reports that we have discontinued our Penticton trips we wish to state we are running every day but Thursday as usual. Our patrons will find our boat cabin comfortable and warm as it has been recently fitted with proper and efficient heating apparatus. Ok. Lake Boat Co.

Five refrigerator cars were loaded with apples here this week, all of them being well filled, and some carrying away nearly a thousand boxes. A. Steuart & Son loaded two and the Union three cars. The Union expects to load a fourth tomorrow. There are yet on hand at the Union warehouse seven carloads of apples.

Beginning on Tuesday evening there have been held each night in St Andrew's Church special patriotic prayer services. On Thursday at 12.30 there was a service of the same nature attended by the school children. All the services have been well attended. Beginning on Monday evening next they will be continued in the Methodist Church.

Mrs H. Sculthorpe received word by wire early this week that a brother-in-law, of Ottawa, had been killed in action on November 18th. Owing to the fact that his Christian name was Clifford, and it being by this name that he was mentioned in the telegram it was thought at first to refer to Sergeant C. N. Borton, of this place, and a brother of Mrs Sculthorpe. This proved not the case, however, Sergeant Borton being still in England, so far as is known.

"I look for the Review like a letter from home," writes a soldier overseas, whose name a relative here has placed on our mailing list. Don't you think your soldier friends would be just as grateful if you were to have the Review sent to him every week? Present subscribers may still order the Review for soldier relatives at the rate of one dollar per year, less than the cost to produce. Start it now as a Christmas gift, and it will take overseas every week a reminder of your thoughtfulness and kind remembrances of the home town.

Good Prices, Prompt Returns

(Grand Forks Gazette)
Good prices were secured for shipments of the better grade apples from the valley this season. One settlement has just been received by J. A. McCallum, liquidator of the Grand Forks Fruit Growers' Association, who shipped the car for the Co-Operative Association. It was sold through the Okanagan agency to the McNaughton Fruit Co. of Winnipeg.

The car was of McIntosh Reds, and the settlement was on a basis of $1.40 for number ones, $1.25 for number twos, and $1.10 for number threes. A shipment of Hyalop crabs brought $1.35. For pears $1.75 was received for number ones, and $1.50 for number twos. These prices were for per box for the fruit f.o.b. the packing house, Grand Forks, and are certainly very satisfactory prices.

When the price of freight of 30c. a box and profits at the other end are added, it will be seen that Grand Forks apples are commanding pretty good prices in the prairie city. The settlements are also coming along much better than in former years.

BIRTHS.

HOLMES—To Mr and Mrs Holmes, Prairie Valley, on Wednesday, November 29th, at the Hospital, a son.

HOWARD MORRISON DIES OF WOUNDS.

J. Howard Morrison, of Peachland, son of Reeve Morrison who was wounded in the thigh last week, died of his wounds at Liverpool. Word of his misfortune was received by cable by his father on Saturday last. A later message told of his serious condition, but further news that he had been removed to a hospital in Liverpool gave hope of his having a good chance for recovery. This hope was dispelled by later cable advices that the young soldier had succumbed to his wounds.

Judgment For $37.00.

In the case of Cutbill vs. Mitchell heard here last week, and in which judgment was reserved, the presiding justice, Mr R. H. English, has now given the plaintiff judgment for some thirty-seven dollars. The balance claimed was about an even fifty dollars. Full allowance was given for the drayage charge, deductions being made on the prices for iron work and for cement sold.

Rebuilding Mill.

The Demuth mill which was burned, together with much of the lumber in the yard, some weeks ago is again to be. A new site has been selected by Mr Demuth, some eight miles nearer Summerland, at a point on the K.V.R. known in the days of construction as "mile twenty-seven," approximately fifteen miles above the local station. Several buildings have already been erected and a new mill with new machinery will be ready for sawing in the spring.

Lieut.-Col. Henniker, an Okanagan officer, who went overseas in command of the 103rd Battalion, has been promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, to command the fifth Canadian Brigade, which will comprise four western battalions.

After a stay of only three or four weeks in England, the 196th Western Universities Battalion is already being sent over to France in drafts to act as reinforcements. No other battalion perhaps has been utilized for active service so soon after arriving in England.

Mr Price Ellison, of Vernon, Minister of Finance in the McBride administration, and member for the Okanagan in the Legislature for many years, has made an assignment of all his personal property, real estate, credits and effects to T. A. Norris, of Lumby, for the general benefit of his creditors. Messrs Cochrane and Ladner are solicitors for the assignee.

After laboring for forty-three years in the service of the Post Office Department, Inspector John R. Greenfield died this week at Vancouver after a very short illness. He paid periodical official visits to the local post offices, impressing one on meeting him with the fact that he was wrapped up in his work, which he prosecuted with energy, but withal without any ostentation. He has been nearly twenty years in the west.

The Kettle Valley line is not having undisputed control of the Coast to Kootenay traffic. Now that the Hope Mountain cut-off is in operation the Great Northern, which has running rights over that piece of line, is also making a bid for the business. They are making a feature of a heated car service for less than carload lots of perishable freight between points east and west in southern British Columbia. Their route is via Hope, Keremeos, Oroville, Midway and Grand Forks.

$2.50 is now being paid Winnipeg brokers for No. 1 B.C. Northern Spy apples, according to the Fruit Commissioner's report. B.C. McIntoshes bring 25 cents less, while Wagoner and Jonathans are going at $2, Kings at $2.15 and Baldwins at $1.80. Washington "C" grade apples of all varieties are held at $2. A car of "extra fancy" for Christmas trade will sell at $2.75 for Delicious, Spitzenburg and Winter Banana. Recent arrivals in that city were 5 cars of Ontario apples, 2 of Washington apples and 2 of B.C. apples.

the 59th Heavy Artillery, being later sent to France.

He then became medical officer of a group composed of two Australian batteries, one South African, and two English batteries, later being again transferred to the staff of General Fraser, commanding the Anzac Heavy Artillery in France.

At the beginning of September he was transferred to the Canadian Heavy Artillery Corps, with which he was serving at the time he received his injuries. He spent some time in No. 14 General Hospital at Boulogne and at the Royal Free Hospital in London before returning to Canada.

Speaking of the Canadians, he said, "The Canadian troops have excelled any infantry units, bar the Imperial regulars, in the recent fighting. They have had to face the picked troops of the kaiser, and in spite of adverse weather conditions, have done their work well and taken vital points in the German line. They have had a hard go, and their casualties have been surprisingly light in view of the importance of the gains which they have made."

lines. We seldom get the chance to bring his down behind ours. It's all a most wonderful war, and the organization must be marvelous.

This will be a little ahead of the date, but please wish all the people that I know a merry Christmas from me, and very many thanks for the parcel.

Yours sincerely, C. EDMUND BENTLEY.

November 11, 1916.

Dear Madam,

I thank you from the bottom of my heart for the parcel, which arrived in perfect condition. Believe me, the good work you are doing is more than appreciated by the boys out here. I can assure you I derived the utmost pleasure from the contents, which were from their usefulness undoubtedly selected with great care and judgment.

I might mention that I was in the Okanagan Valley for about two years, and was acquainted a little in Peachland and Summerland; and whilst out here had the pleasure of meeting with a few of the boys I used to know well, notably, poor Bert Figgis (who, as you no doubt have heard, died of wounds), also Teddy Smith and Frank Chapman, and a few others whose names for the moment I cannot remember. Bert and I were particular chums, and I have felt very keenly his loss.

We are just now in a quiet part of the line, but the weather conditions make the trenches very bad. I would like to tell you something of our doings here, but you, of course, understand that the censor would have something to say on the matter, so no doubt you will excuse the short note.

Again thanking you good people for your kindness,

Believe me, Sincerely yours, R. A. HODGES.

B.E.F., France 30th Oct. 1916.

Dear Mrs Hogg,

I wish to thank the ladies of Home Comforts for the parcel which arrived on Saturday. We had just come into billets after spending two weeks in trenches, when your parcel was given to me. I cannot tell you how much we appreciate these luxuries over here, especially after being in dugouts for a few days. Since coming to this part of France have met several old Summerland boys. Harry McLeod, J. Lintern, J. Forsyth, and B. Newton were the first. Finley McWilliams was with the machine guns. They must have gone away now, as I haven't seen them since. We see lots of life in this particular spot. Everything is moving, including the Huns, and they take good care not to leave anything behind for us. There is nothing more I can say this time. Hope to have luck enough to dodge a few more whizzbangs, and look forward to the time when I can thank you personally for these kindnesses. With every good wish to the members of the Home Comfort Club from

Yours sincerely, CORPL. G. BARKWILL.

Seaford Camp, Sussex. Nov. 8th, 1916.

Dear Mrs Hogg,

I received the parcel sent me in good shape by the Summerland Home Comfort Club, and I wish to thank you very much for the same.

I have not been over to France yet, but I can assure you it was a most acceptable gift for any soldier boy to receive either in the fighting line or at the base.

We have had a very good time in England, and we have sure been treated well wherever we have been, although of course a little more leave than we have been getting would have been most acceptable. The country around the different camp where I have been stationed is certainly very pretty, being mostly of a ragged rugged nature, and thickly wooded.

I can always find a certain amount of pleasure in visiting the different places of interest which are to be found around nearly all the old English towns and villages.

I am supposed to get the Review every week. Sometimes it reaches me and sometimes it doesn't, and I was very pleased to get one in my parcel, also the Vernon News. I always think of the Review as a letter from home, and when one is so far away it is more interesting to read of the busy life and happenings throughout the Okanagan Valley.

I think this place, Seaford, is a very nice place, but I am still longing to be back again to the lake and the side hills of the sunny Okanagan.

In closing I wish to thank you and all the ladies of the Summerland Home Comfort Club once more and I wish you every success in your good work.

I remain Yours sincerely, L.-CPL. H. THORNTHWAITE.

The Electric Light Extension Work Will Be Delayed.

By-Law Technicalities Are The Cause.

Tax Sale Properties Are Tying Up Needed Money.

Much Work Necessary On Big Ditches.

The last but one of the regular meetings of the Municipal Council was held on Monday. During the same forenoon those of the Board who were on the Court of Revision sat as such, but there was little to do beside approving of the voters list as prepared by the returning officer, Mr Logie.

Communications read included a protest against the 'issuing of water notices to be paid by the 15th, or suffer a fine.' The complainant believed that ratepayers should have the same time to pay for the water used in the last quarter as in the previous quarters and not be required to pay in advance.

The Penticton Board of Trade asked for support of their redemption to have the trans-provincial highway pass through their town.

A resolution from the Union of Municipalities asked for the operation of the Tranquille Sanitarium by the provincial government and on a larger scale. This was endorsed by the Council.

WANTS ANOTHER BY-LAW.

Further delay in electric light extension is apparent from the reading of correspondence with the Inspector of Municipalities, whose approval to matters such as money by-laws must be had. He contends that according to sub-section 22 of section 54 of the Municipal Act a second by-law giving authority for the construction should have had the assent of the voters at the same time the by-law was voted upon for the borrowing of the money with which to pay for the work. The Municipal Clerk expressed the opinion that the new Attorney-General would not put the interpretation upon the act as had been ruled by Mr Bowser, and advised waiting and having the matter submitted to Hon M. A. Macdonald for his ruling.

A motion was put through authorizing the Clerk to issue deeds to the Summerland Development Company for a number of properties redeemed by them. More than thirty parcels were included in the list.

MORTGAGE TAX SALE LOTS.

The Municipality is now the owner of and holds deeds for quite a bunch of properties bought at tax sale. There is no desire on the part of the Council to hold these. The money represented in the investment is needed for public work. The total assessed value of these deeded holdings is $52,875. They

Military Cross For Bevel Acland.

Has Since Been Badly Wounded.

Bevel Acland is, we believe, the first who might be claimed as a Summerland soldier to be recommended for the Military Cross. This recommendation was made some few days ago. Just in what way he proved his valor is not known here. Almost immediately after, however, the gallant soldier received a bad wound in the arm, and he is now in hospital in London.

Shall We Import Our Box Material

Local Manufacturers Claim Are At Disadvantage.

Washington Mill Is Bidding For Business.

Would Mean Heavy Cash Drainage From Valley.

Will the fruit growers of the Okanagan Valley use American box material next year? It would seem from what is believed to be excellent authority that the fruit shipping organizations of the Okanagan Valley are being tempted by a price quoted by a Washington shoo manufacturer which British Columbia manufacturers say they cannot meet. Like practically every other commodity the cost of producing box shooks has advanced with the progress of the war and it looks, if the suggestion to import box shooks is entertained, as if the Washington mills are now able to cripple the box mills of B.C.

In a short conversation with Mr J. W. Wheeler, manager of the Summerland Lumber Co., which concern supplied a large quantity of shooks used in the South Okanagan, he stated to the Review that as he understood the situation the American mill has given a price which with duty and freight added is still below B.C. prices by a cent a box. He was not sure, however, that the war tax of 7 1/2 per cent. had been included, which if not would reduce the difference to .4 of a cent per box—apple box. Mr Wheeler says that he is prepared to meet local or Coast competition, but could not break even under present labor and other conditions if he were to meet the American's price. At the price received last season he had better to have let his box machinery lie idle and sell his lumber on the prairie market. Next year the cost of production will be considerably higher. It is currently reported that the Coast mills which shipped shooks into the Valley last season lost $60 a car, due to the rise in the cost after contracts were signed. The Kelowna mill, Mr Wheeler states, admits they must have 18 cents or lose on every box sold. He was feeling somewhat discouraged for, he stated positively, he has gone as low as he could in his quotations and was fearing the American offer might be accepted, in which case his expensive plant must remain idle.

Mr Wheeler believes that it would be very bad business policy to send the thousands of dollars across the line rather than pay a cent or less a box more in the Valley and keep the money at home. He pointed out, too, that the competition is an unfair one and one which the B.C. manufacturers should not be expected to meet unless they are allowed to bring in the American labor now prohibited.

The Armstrong creamery is now producing some 800 pounds of butter per week. Forty-one cents is the price now being paid for butter fat, and this rate will be increased within a week or two. The total output of the creamery until the summer months has been sold in advance, and at a price that will bring the farmers from 40c to 45c for their butter fat all winter and spring.

Pte. Holder Meets Uncertain Fate

Among Those Listed Missing

Official word came to Mrs Holder last Friday that her son Percy, has been missing since the 18th of November. This week his name appeared in the casualty lists given in the daily papers.

Private Holder was a member of the bombing section of the 54th Battalion, the same unit to which Private R. L. Callan was attached, and other Summerland men as well. While his mother and other members of the family are without any definite word as to how Private Holder came to be missing, they are hoping that news may come from one of his Summerland comrades.

Besides his mother here, Private Holder has three sisters, Mrs Magnus Tait and the Misses May and Nellie Holder. Naturally their anxiety is intense, and there are also many friends in the district who will wait further news of Private Holder with keen interest.

"Fight or Pay" Is Fund Motto

Dependents Of Our Soldiers Must Be Cared For.

Treasurer of Patriotic Fund Submits Annual Report.

Officers And Committee Elected. Will Canvass.

There was not a large attendance at the first annual meeting of the local branch of the Patriotic Fund held in St Stephen's Hall last night. Reports were received and officers and committees elected.

Not many changes were made in these, a few names being added to the finance committee. Elections resulted as follows:

President Dr F. W. Andrew

Vice-President The Reeve of the Municipality

Secretary W. C. W. Fosbery

Treasurer E. B. May

Finance Committee: Rev. H. A. Solly, Rev. A. Henderson, W. Ritchie, W. C. Kelley, S. B. Snider, and J. R. Brown.

Relief Committee: Mrs Solly, Mrs Kelley, and Dr Andrew.

The finance committee were instructed to meet at an early date and organize a canvass for further support.

The work done in the past year, the need for further effort, and, in fact, a thorough insight of the aims and needs of the fund are all so well covered by the report of the Hon. Treasurer, Mr E. B. May, that we publish the report here in full.

November 30th, 1916.

The total amount of subscriptions paid in from the commencement of the fund last February, up to and including 30th November, 1916, is $2,224.87, made up as follows:—

On the monthly subscription basis, $1,640.00.

Straight cash donations $581.15.

Bank interest on monthly balances, $3.72.

The expenses incurred locally for the operation of this fund for the same period have amounted to $23.17, being for rent of hall when meetings have been held, postages, post cards calling up arrears, etc.

The total remittances to the Central Office in Victoria up to 30th Nov. have been $2,201.70.

There have been no charges made by the bank for these remittances.

There were at same date outstanding subscriptions unpaid amounting to $400, some of which have since come in, and it is sincerely hoped that the majority of them will be paid into the fund before the year closes. A very few subscribers have at one time and another withdrawn their names,

Going East First Of New Year.

Rev. N. McNaughton Returning To Yale.

Rev. N. McNaughton has decided to go east again to continue some post-graduate work at Yale University. This news is being received with general regret, for Mr McNaughton has proved himself a pulpit orator of more than usual talent. His masterful and forceful sermons are being listened to every Sunday morning and evening with growing interest. Especially is this true since he has been contrasting his sermons on the war and its relation to the present generation. It is expected that Mr and Mrs McNaughton will leave here immediately after New Year.

Fruit and Vegetable Shipments Nearly Two Million Dollars

Valley Shipments Growing Rapidly.

Okanagan United Growers Developing Export Trade.

Handle Major Part Valley Output.

More than 1800 cars of fruit, vegetables, etc., have been shipped this season by the Okanagan United Growers, according to the statement of Manager Jackson. This is an advance of 300 cars over the shipments of 1915, and indicates a heavy increase in apples, as peaches, plums and pears were short of the crops of last year. The United Growers, which acts as the selling agency for the various Fruit Unions of the Valley, have had a satisfactory season indeed, both as regards output and prices, a particularly gratifying feature being the wide distribution obtained. This is a point towards which the United Growers are devoting great attention, as Mr Jackson considers that the solution of many present problems will be met in time by working up a big export trade.

EXPORT TRADE.

In addition to supplying their markets in the Prairie Provinces and the Coast cities the Okanagan United Growers exported about 68,000 boxes of apples, and could have sent out a great deal more had shipping space been available. This distribution was made as follows:

	Boxes
Australia and New Zealand	33,500
South Africa	3,400
Great Britain	16,850
South America	1,950
New York City	1,800
Dakota and other N.W. States	11,360
Quebec and Ontario	18,950
This is equivalent to 161 cars.

Hear History of Post Office Appointment

Patrons Protest Against Change

At a meeting of about sixty citizens, nearly all patrons of the West Summerland post office, held last Friday night in St Stephen's Hall, the matter of the appointment of a new postmaster was discussed from many angles. There was at first a strong disposition to criticize the executive of the Liberal-Conservative Association, but when the history of the appointment was given by the president of that organization and other members of the executive, the feeling towards them was considerably changed. Rev H. A. Solly was elected to the chair and the business in hand was introduced by a motion proposed by Reeve Blair to the effect that the Postmaster-General be asked to give Miss Logie the appointment, in view of the contemplated change. When it was stated that the appointment had already gone to Mr Phinney, there were many expressions of disapproval.

Several members of the Liberal-Conservative executive were present, including President J. A. Kirk, who was asked to address the meeting. Mr Kirk told of how in April, 1915, the executive had been informed that Mr Ritchie was ready to resign in favor of an appointment of the government, and of Mr Phinney coming to the executive and telling them that he had applied for the position and asked for VALLEY SHIPMENTS.

FAIR PRICES.

Mr Jackson considers that the returns to the growers this season will be considered fairly satisfactory. A slightly higher price for the best grades of fruit has been obtained than that of last season, while for inferior grades the returns have shown a slight decrease. The economy crate shipments have been brought to a higher standard of grading this year, and have given better satisfaction to buyers. Business is now getting to a point, says Mr Jackson, when better facilities for handling it are becoming imperative, and a big increase in storage room is imperatively demanded.

TONNAGE INCREASING.

The tonnage of shipments is showing a rapid increase, and will keep on growing as new orchards come into full bearing. The output is growing at the rate of at least 200,000 boxes per year, and the car shortage this season was a serious problem, which will have to be remedied.

COST OF HANDLING.

While some reduction has been effected in the cost of handling fruit at the packing houses, this has been offset by the increased price in material, wrapping paper and nails having gone up, and paper is climbing so rapidly in price that it promises to add a good deal to the cost of shipping the higher grades.

Had the grain crop been up to the average this year, the Okanagan would have experienced by far the most successful season in its history, and even as it is, an increase in fruit and vegetable production running to half a million dollars in excess of last year indicates that the farmers and fruit growers have good reason to congratulate themselves upon prevailing conditions.

Was Not Seriously Wounded.

Relatives Hear From Lieut. Bentley.

Lieut. Ed. Bentley is now in a field hospital in France. He is suffering from a wound in the thigh, but that his injury is not serious is the hope entertained by his sister, Mrs C. Noel Higgins, after receiving a letter from her sister in England. Readers will recall he was listed among the wounded some days ago.

Car and Driver Drop Into Lake Over Wharf Edge

"Huh," said the skipper of the trustworthy Summerland-Naramata ferry last Saturday morning, "I can drive that car." The car in question was the Fruit Union Ford. Manager Lawler had just driven round from the warehouse with some feed which had been loaded on to the "Skookum" at the government wharf. The car stood ready to leave, and suiting action to the word, the skipper jumped into the driving seat and took the wheel, while Mr Lawler took standing room on the running-board to await developments. They came. If the wharf had been twice or three times as wide, the captain of the "Skookum" might have been able to demonstrate his ability to drive a car as well as a launch, backwards at any rate. But the Ford did not answer its helm like the boat, and the levers may be placed a little differently. However it was, the car moved in the wrong direction, and very soon came to rest on the bottom of the lake, and the skipper's experience of Ford driving came to an end. Mr Lawler managed to jump clear before the car went over the wharf. Mr Roe was helped out of the chilly water as soon as possible, and has been resting this week, recovering from the effects of his experience. The car was pulled out from the shore, and has also been recuperating ever since in Hatfield's garage.

There is a Chinese organization in Canada for the purpose of returning the bodies of deceased Chinamen to their native country. Once every seven years, according to a representative of the organization who a few days ago obtained permission from the Kelowna City Council to remove the bodies of two of his countrymen buried in the Kelowna cemetery, the remains of all Chinamen who had died in Canada are exhumed and forwarded to China for reinterment.

Will Enroll Citizens For National Service

There is to be a national service week in Canada. The date will be announced shortly by Mr R. B. Bennett, M.P., Director of National Service. It probably will be the first week in January. One of the features of the week will be the issuance of a card to every man in Canada. This card will have printed on it a number of questions regarding national service, and must be filled in and returned by all men between the ages of 16 and 65. The questions are as follows:

1. What is your name?
  2. How old are you?
  3. Where do you live? Province.
  4. Name of city, town, village, or postoffice, street number.
  5. In what country were you born?
  6. In what country was your father born?
  7. In what country was your mother born?
  8. Were you born a British subject?
  9. If not, are you naturalized?
  10. How much time have you lost in the last 12 months from sickness?
  11. Have you full use of your arms?
  12. Of your legs?
  13. Of your sight?
  14. Of your hearing?
  15. Which are you, married, single, or a widower?
  16. How many persons besides yourself do you support?
  17. What are you working at for a living?
  18. For whom do you work?
  19. Have you a trade or profession?
  20. If so, what?
  21. Are you working now?
  22. If not, why?
  23. Would you be willing to change your present work for other necessary work at the same pay during the war?
  24. Are you willing, if your railway fare is paid, to leave where you now live and go to some other place in Canada to do such work?
- Two millions of these cards will be issued and it is understood that the services of the Canadian Postmasters will be requisitioned to issue them. The object is to secure an accurate inventory of the number of men available for vital industries, such as agriculture and munition manufacture.

Overbuying Is Tendency In The Mail Order System

In discussing the ultimate effect of the habit of catalogue buying in the homes of those who follow the practice, a well-known authority on the subject gives it as his opinion that the tendency is to overbuy is perhaps the most marked characteristic of the mail order patron.

"Go into any home," he said, "that draws its supplies from that source, and you will find goods the family does not need and never would have bought from a local merchant. In many cases these unneeded goods—these freak purchases—amount to a surprisingly large percentage of the total family outlay. If the catalogue house were suddenly cut out of this class of sales their dividends would undoubtedly suffer a decided shrinkage.

"These buyers see something alluring in the catalogue and become fascinated by it. The silent salesman in the home keeps on teasing them with it until they find some excuse to justify their purchase of the coveted article. Those utterly unjustified whim sales amount to millions of dollars a year.

"With some women freak buying becomes a passion. They make absurdly foolish purchases from mail order houses that they would not dream of making from their home dealer. How to account for it? Simply the psychological effect of the catalogue perhaps. Anyhow this matter of freak buying, of over-buying, is so universal that not one catalogue buyer in a thousand is wholly exempt from it. The mail order catalogue, which so loudly proclaims itself an apostle of prudence, is in fact a most subtle and pernicious agent of household extravagance."

SLIPPERS

The time is approaching, if it has not already arrived, when each and all of us will be puzzled to know how to make gifts appropriate to Yuletide, and calculated to be both attractive and useful. To meet these requirements there is perhaps no suggestion so adequate as a pair of nice soft, cozy slippers; for several reasons more or less apparent. In the first place Slippers are easy to fit, half sizes are seldom used in slippers for this reason; secondly, they are bound sooner or later to work in usefully even if they are unfortunate enough to conflict with some other kind friend's well-expressed regards; thirdly, their virtue of warmth renders them more than ordinarily seasonable at this time when ice and snow are the order of the day; and fourthly, the need of using them daily constitutes a constant reminder of the giver's kind thoughts.

Slippers this year have been exceedingly hard to obtain, certain lines are, in fact, unobtainable to-day. However, by placing orders early last spring I am fortunate enough to have in stock at the present time:—

Orchard and Farm:

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

Okanagan Now Grows Four-Fifths of Province's Fruit Production.

Output of Valley Grows Faster Than Rest of Province.

Much information of interest is to be gleaned from the report of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, just issued from Victoria, and now available for distribution. Every farmer or fruit grower at all interested in the agricultural development of this province should possess himself of this volume, which may be had by addressing the Department at Victoria, and make an intelligent study of its contents.

From the statistics set forth in the report the following interesting comparisons of the fruit output of the Okanagan for the three years 1913, 1914 and 1915 to the rest of the province have been compiled. They go to show that the Okanagan is at the present time producing not less than about eighty per cent. of the fruit grown in the entire province. Moreover the Valley's output seems to be growing faster in proportion than the remainder of the province.

The actual figures in carloads are as under:

	Okanagan	Province	Percentage
1913 - - -	956.1	1,290.1	74.2
1914 - - -	1,303.6	1,773.9	73.5
1915 - - -	1,883.6	2,360.6	79.8

Figures for the present year are not yet available, but there is every indication that the production in the Okanagan Valley has maintained the rate of increase of the years shown above, notwithstanding the shrinkage in the soft fruits.

More Eggs Are Needed.

Canada wants eggs and more eggs. Never were the prospects for a bigger demand and better prices more promising than right now.

In spite of this, with the cost of grain high, the tendency is for farmers and poultrymen to sell stock that should produce the high-priced eggs this winter. The fear is that eggs cannot be produced at a profit, but, though high prices will have to be paid for the feed, eggs will be correspondingly high, and eggs can be produced at a profit even with the high prices of grain, if proper conditions are supplied.

Last winter at the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, a pen of 100 pullets, whose per cent. egg yield by months ranged from 5 per cent. in November to 50 per cent. in April, an average of 27 per cent. for the six months, produced eggs at a cost of 24 cents per dozen. The percentage of egg yield determines more than anything else the cost of production, for instance, when the egg yield was 20 per cent. the cost was 21 cents

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S FISHERY RESOURCES.

By virtue of its salmon and halibut fisheries, British Columbia occupies first place among Canada's provinces in the annual value of fisheries production. During the last year, these two species, jointly, contributed approximately $12,700,000, or over 87 per cent. of the total output of British Columbia's fisheries. It is evident, therefore, that, if British Columbia is to retain its predominant position in the fishing industry, her salmon and halibut fisheries must be accorded effectual protection against depletion, and it is a matter for serious concern that both the halibut and Fraser River salmon fisheries have reached the stage where rigid protection is urgently required. In both cases, international action between Canada and the United States will be necessary to secure the desired result, and steps should be taken without further delay to arrive at agreements whereby halibut and salmon fisheries will be subjected only to such exploitation as will not impair their permanent value and productivity.

Men well governed should seek no other liberty, for there can be no greater liberty than a good government.

The easing up of the outside potato markets has put a stop to our export trade for the present, says Const Market Commissioner R. C. Abbott. Some farmers who refused to sell at $25 and $27.50 per ton three weeks ago have offered their stocks as low as $20 and $22 per ton. It is reported that one buyer who bought one thousand sacks of potatoes at $22.50 and $25 per ton, is now soliciting sales at $22, delivered in the city.

The water users of the K.L.O. benches, Kelowna, at a recent meeting decided to organize a water municipality to take over and operate the two water systems covering that section. These systems, now owned by the South Kelowna Irrigation Company and the Canyon Creek Irrigation Company, serve an area of over 3,000 acres which are now in grave danger of being without water. The ranchers are anticipating many difficulties in the acquiring and financing of the systems and if they could be given reasonable assurance of service they would not attempt to take over the systems.

per dozen, and at 40 per cent yield the cost was only 10½ cents per dozen. This pen was selected as it was thought to be equal in production to an average farm flock. The average dozen eggs sold for 20 cents more than the cost of feed required to produce it.

Each hen gave 99 cents over cost of feed in the six months, which, though not large, shows that even at the high price of feed, eggs can be produced at a profit. The prices paid for grain were local Ottawa prices and were high. The price received for the eggs was 44 cents per dozen. This was not as high as the Ottawa local market, and no higher than many farmers obtained during the same time. But the farmer in addition might cut down cost, for he has table scraps, milk and other feeds that may be used which were not available at the farm.

Apple Growth in the Different Provinces.

Named varieties of apples are very numerous, being over probably 3,000, says M. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, in Bulletin No. 86, of the Division of Horticulture at Ottawa, entitled "The Apple in Canada; Its Cultivation and Improvement." At the time of the census there were 10,390,457 bearing apple trees in Canada, and 5,578,965 non-bearing. The production of apples in the year preceding the census, that is in 1910, was 10,408,457 bushels. Mr Macoun sketches the history of the apple in every province. In Prince Edward Island apple trees made their appearance in 1753, with the first settlement of the English. New Brunswick has made slow progress in cultivation of the apple, although climate and much of the soil are adapted to the growth of the hardier varieties. In Nova Scotia the apple has been grown since the advent of the French settlers in the early part of the seventeenth century. In 1911, 1,704,000 barrels were packed and sold from the Annapolis and adjacent valleys. Records show that the apple has been grown in Quebec since 1663. It was in this province that the famous Fameuse is supposed to have originated. Ontario produces more apples than any other province, having in 1910, six and a half million bearing trees, to one million and a half in Nova Scotia, and one million two hundred thousand in Quebec. The industry, Mr Macoun points out, is developing rapidly, although in British Columbia apple growing has only been cultivated to any extent since 1887, the development has been very rapid, especially during the past ten years. In the Okanagan Valley are some of the finest orchards to be found in the Dominion. Manitoba produces more apples than either of the prairie provinces, partly due to earlier settlement and to the adaptability of the climate and soil of Southern Manitoba. As to Saskatchewan, Mr Macoun says "The fact that the small or crab apples originated by the late Dr Wm. Saunders can be grown so successfully in many places in the province and that some hardy Russian varieties have been matured, leads one to believe that in the future there will be other varieties originated which will succeed more generally." In Alberta, the best results have been obtained in the southern section, but apples have been produced in Edmonton where the climate is moister. The farthest north in Canada that apples have been grown, as far as Mr Macoun is aware, is the sub-station at Fort Vermillion in the Peace River district, where crab apples have been gathered. The bulletin, which can be had free on application to the Publications Branch of Agriculture, Ottawa, is a complete compendium on the cultivation and treatment of the orchard.

Suppose the Review Ceased Publication

JUST suppose this community were left without a local newspaper! What would become of its local pride? Summerland would be just a name on a railway time table or a post office guide. Men and women might die, or marry, or go away, or suffer accidents, or entertain friends, and you would hear about it all only through gossip. Municipal affairs and other news of interest to this particular part of the wide, wide world would have no publicity. Our local merchants would have no cheap and quick way of telling you what they provide for you. Our churches and schools and other institutions would have no medium of news or appeal. And this whole community would slip back and be the sport of jokesmiths.

Would city papers take the place of the Review?
You know they would not.

THE point of it all is: Like all other newspapers we are feeling the pinch of higher prices for paper and other material. But, unlike hundreds of other weekly papers, we do not propose yet to raise the price, but simply ask that each and every subscriber pay up his or her subscription and keep it paid up. Nothing unfair about that is there? Now to "klick" at this and drop your subscription, would be to say, in effect, "This community doesn't need a local weekly. If I can do without the Review, all others can."

We do not believe for one moment that the good people of Summerland, Pechland, Naramata and neighborhoods will "klick" or drop their subscription to the Review. We expect all our subscribers to recognize the new conditions of living and publishing that have made this policy a necessity. Do you realize that your weekly newspaper at the rate of 4 cents a week—little more than the price of a postage stamp—costs an insignificant sum when you reckon up the service it renders you and this whole community.

Be loyal to and proud of the community you live in. Keep it on the map.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1916

POLITICAL GOSSIPS at Ottawa have been busy again with the name of Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, and member for Yale-Cariboo. The latest rumor is that he may retire from the government and take one of the thirteen vacancies in the senate. R. F. Green, member for Kootenay, is mentioned as the successor of Mr Burrell in the portfolio of Agriculture. A dispatch from Ottawa published in Coast papers this week said there has been considerable dissatisfaction expressed at Ottawa with the present "political standing" of Mr Burrell as nominal leader from the Pacific Coast, and Mr Green is said to be regarded as a more astute politician and a much better organizer. This constant coupling of Mr Burrell's name with changes said to be impending in the government seem to indicate that there is some influence at work seeking to effect his transference from his present post. Is such a change desired by the agricultural interests of the country, or is it something sought from a purely political motive? One of Mr Burrell's outstanding virtues in his public life seems to have been that he has shown himself to be more of a farmer than a politician.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE is planning to reorganize the work of the Farmers' Institute Branch, with a view to greatly increasing the usefulness of that body to farmers in general throughout the province. Instead of the customary annual convention at Victoria, which has proved a somewhat costly affair, the entire province is to be divided up into sections, and in each of these will be formed a district body. Meetings of these district bodies will be much more accessible to members of the individual institutes, and questions of district interest will also come in for a greater measure of consideration. From each of the district bodies a member will be chosen to have a place on a provincial advisory board, to be in close touch with the officials of the department and the minister of agriculture. Frequent meetings of this advisory board will tend to much speedier action on urgent questions affecting farmers' interests.

BY A VOTE OF ABOUT forty thousand to six thousand, the people of Saskatchewan have gone on record to abolish the government liquor dispensaries which have taken the place of the open bar in that province. They will accordingly be closed at the end of the year, and Saskatchewan will enter the ranks of the bone-dry prohibition provinces. As a half-way measure between the licensed bar and absolute prohibition the government dispensary has been a failure. The vote for its abolition found equally strong support in town and country.

CO-OPERATION IS SPREADING to the prairie provinces. An amalgamation has been effected now between the grain growers of Manitoba and Alberta, with prospects that Saskatchewan will also fall in line. Final arrangements with this in view were put through at a recent meeting in Winnipeg of the Grain Growers' Grain Company. The resulting organization will be known as the United Grain Growers, Limited. Its authorized capital will be five million dollars.

AFTER HIS STRENUOUS thirteen years of political life in this province, Mr W. J. Bowser is mentioned as a possible nominee for a vacant senatorship. A story to this effect has emanated from Ottawa lately.

Will Provide Rooms for Staff

The Hospital Board had their monthly meeting at the Hospital last Monday, and advantage was taken to go thoroughly into the plans for the finishing of the upstairs—the intention being to provide more accommodation for the staff.

The receipt of $65.25 from the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary—the proceeds of the tag day held at the Agricultural Show—was gratefully acknowledged. This amount the ladies wish to have earmarked for the above purpose.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mrs F. L. Osler through Mr W. C. Kelley for the handsome donation of twenty cords of dry stove wood. A committee consisting of Messrs C. N. Higgin and S. M. Young was appointed to arrange for the hauling of this wood and the hope was expressed that citizens having teams, who are willing to haul a cord of wood or two free of charge this winter would communicate with one of those gentlemen.

The Board regretted the fact that so few citizens are members of the Society and it was decided that subscriptions received from now on should be considered as for membership for 1917. Mr E. B. May, the treasurer, and the secretary, Mr T. H. Riley were deputed to canvass for subscriptions, a list of those paid to be displayed at the Bank. As all the benefits of membership are to be had for the nominal sum of $1 per year, it is to be hoped sincerely that many will show their interest in the Hospital and the work of the Board by joining.

It was decided that the annual meeting of the Society shall be held at the Parish Hall at 2 p.m. on January 18th next.

OUR TOWN.

If you meet a man who is down in the mouth, who thinks that his town is all wrong; just take him aside or out for a ride, and hand him this quaint little song: There are fancier towns than our own little town; there are towns that are bigger than this, and the people who live in the tinier town all the city amusements miss. There are things you can see in the wealthier town that you can't in the town that is small; and yet, up and down, there is no other town like our own little town after all. In the glittering streets of the glittering town with its palace and pavement and wall, in the midst of the throng you will frequently long for your own little town after all. You measure a town, not by money, or miles that its border extends; the best you can have, wherever the town, are contentment, enjoyment, and friends. If you'll live and work and trade in your town, despite of the fact that it's small, you'll find that the town—your own little town—is the best little town of them all.—Walt Mason.

Word has reached Mr and Mrs J. O. Smith, of Victoria Gardens, that their eldest son, John, now at Victoria, has for the second time been declared medically unfit to take up arms. At a largely attended mass meeting of farmers in Kelowna last Friday, Mr W. E. Scott, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for the province, spoke at some length on co-operation and the labor problem as affecting the entire province, and particularly that section of it surrounding the farming and fruit growing district of the Interior.

Labor problems were also touched upon by Mr J. W. Gibson, Director of Agricultural Education; Mr W. T. MacDonald, Live Stock Commissioner; Mayor J. W. Jones and L. V. Rogers. The consensus of opinion was in favor of excluding Orientals, and, instead, to secure permission from the government to permit extra holiday periods to High Schools so that extra help might be secured from the Coast cities for sowing and harvesting. A resolution to that effect was unanimously passed.

Donald Ross is now in Des Moines where he is taking a course in business training.

Farmers' Institute Holds Final Meeting of the Year.

Address By Supt. Helmer on Inter-Cropping of Orchards.

The final meeting of the local branch of the Farmers' Institute held on Saturday, featured by an address by Supt. R. H. Helmer, of the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, proved one of the finest gatherings of the entire year.

The budget of correspondence read by the secretary produced at least two subjects of special interest. A communication from the Penticton Board of Trade, praying for support to a resolution in favor of having the proposed trans-provincial auto road diverted so as to cross from Keremeos through Penticton, following the route as planned in 1912, was supported by the Institute. The arguments advanced by the Penticton people were considered sound and just.

The matter of the establishment of an express office at Naramata was again up for a further airing and the Secretary will have a little more work carved out to keep himself, the local representatives and express superintendents from forgetting Naramata. The Institute is not going to quit, not yet.

Supt. Helmer, after modestly introducing himself and his topic, got right down to practical methods, the tried methods. And it would be in this very thing that the value, the chief value, of the address lay. It was spoken by a man who knows. He knows all about the different epidemic and spasmodic methods at different periods sort of foisted on an innocent, receptive and gullible public here in this Valley from time to time.

The first epidemic was "clean cultivation" which results in due course in a lack of humus and orchards which don't won't or can't pay for their keep. The next epidemic was alfalfa. Grow alfalfa and grow rich. This has resulted otherwise. Alfalfa alone won't do. It requires a big flood of water, and—and—and—to skip several reasons, clover is better for several reasons.

"No," says Mr Helmer, "our orchards must be made to pay their own way—right from the drop of the hat." It can be done. It is being done right along, through a safe system of inter-cropping. Now just here the speaker got down to hammer and tacks. Plant several crops, following out a system definitely planned ahead. Seed down a part to clover one year, to be later on, in about three years, broken up and sowed to a root crop. These were enumerated.

He emphasized the great value of barnyard manure. Speaking of manure gave him his chance to speak a word on the value of livestock on the farm. He would favor the Ayrshire breed for the southern Okanagan Valley.

A vote of thanks was tendered at the close coupled with a request that the Institute seek to have Mr Helmer visit our gatherings at least occasionally.

One other item on the program of the afternoon, "The Outlook for 1917" was read by T. H. Boothe.

The next meeting of the Institute will be in January, when the reports for the year will be presented and officers selected for 1917.

More Attention to Health of School Children.

That the idea of establishing free dental clinics in the schools is not confined to our own district or province is indicated by the following from the Alma, Michigan, Record, dated November 16:

"Good health is essential to the child if he is to receive instruction under the most favorable circumstances. With this idea in mind it has been deemed feasible by the board of education to inaugurate dental inspection in the grades of our city schools. Two inspections each year will be made and a record of each inspection filed. If, in the opinion of the inspector, a child's teeth need attention, a report to that effect will be made to the parents by the teacher."

It is to be hoped that our legislators may get their minds down to this crying need of the country.

Current Events - OF - Town & District

Word has reached town that Walter Talbot, who for a very considerable period has been confined to the Epsom Hospital in England suffering from severe injuries, has had to have one of his lower limbs amputated.

Naramata juveniles will have a skating rink this season if only Jack Frost can be induced to enter into partnership. The water has been turned on the old tennis court, a spot admirably situated and as level as a floor. Go to it, boys. Hope you get a spell of zero weather.

Rev H. A. Solly of Summerland conducted Anglican service here on Sunday last.

Every Naramata soldier boy would surely like the Review, and don't you think that we should see that full advantage is taken of the generous offer to send it to each one of the lads at half price? Been thinking about it? Then get busy. $1.00 to January 1st, 1918.

The closing exercises at the schools next week are to be marked by a silver collection in aid of the prisoners of war fund. It is to be hoped that the parents may make a special effort to go to the school next Friday afternoon.

According to the Department of Labor at Ottawa wholesale prices of some thirty staple articles of food have jumped 50 points during the past two years and as a further progress in the same direction, it took $9.30 to purchase in October what could be purchased in September for $8.97 This being so it would appear to justify the tendency of the people generally to seek for the most advantageous market when every five cent piece counts for something. All the greater need for local merchants to advertise if they wish to hold the trade slipping through the daily mails to the big department houses.

Whether a phonograph gets into every home is a matter of one's musical taste—and ability to pay the price. There is no moral obligation. But a Review in every home should be looked upon in a different light. Certainly in every home in Naramata in 1917 a copy of the home paper, the medium of interchange of ideas for the whole community is as it should be, an indispensable news-agent. Only 4 cents a week.

A special feature of the final meeting of the Women's Institute is worthy of note. It seems that several months past sides were chosen with Mesdames Cook and Salting as captains—or is the right word "captainesses?"—with the object of maintaining a uniformly regular attendance, etc., the side scoring the fewest number of points was to be "stuck for the treats." This spells "supper," "dinner," or "luncheon," according to the hour of the day when the banquet will be served. Rumor has it that the men's organization is to be invited, but that remains to be seen. The result of the count places Mrs Cook and her "side" as winners, and Mrs Salting and co-workers will have the pleasant duty of serving the repast. The Institute is to be congratulated upon the genuine interest maintained throughout the year.

The regular monthly meeting of the local branch of the W.C.T.U. was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs R. H. King. An appeal for funds was made through the provincial organization to purchase a quantity of cocoa for distribution amongst the B.C. boys now serving in the trenches. Arrangements are being made whereby a substantial contribution may go forth from Naramata.

Mrs J. S. Chalmers, of Thrums, B.C., is booked to lecture to the Women's Institute here on Monday and Tuesday, December 18 and 19.

Mr Helmer, during the course of a few remarks at the Farmers' Institute meeting last Saturday urged upon his hearers the wisdom of as many as at all possible taking the lessons in apple packing. He pointed out the almost certainty of having to import apple packers from across the line otherwise. The money should be kept at home. Names of intending pupils for either the packing or pruning schools should be sent in at once to the secretary of the Institute.

The card party at the Unity Club on Tuesday evening last under Red Cross auspices was the special social event of the week. The attendance was really in excess of what was anticipated on account of the large number away from home. The hostesses for the occasion, Mesdames Cook and W. Steele, had made every arrangement for the conduct of the evening's play—which by the way had a fine variety of different "plays." The top-notch scorers, Miss Walker for the ladies and Mr Wm. Nuttall for the gentlemen, carried away the coveted souvenirs, while the less fortunate seekers after playing honors were Mrs V. Watson and Principal Raynor.

In 1915—"How many miles an hour will it go?" In 1916—"How many miles will it go on a gallon of gasoline?"

Medical Journal Condemns Card Playing.

A report that a certain prominent church is to relax its discipline so far as to countenance dancing and card playing among its parishioners calls forth in the current number of the New York Medical Journal an editorial on card playing, in which the pastime is denounced as a "pure and simple dissipation which grows upon the victim like all other dissipations, to the eventual exclusion of logical and close thinking."

The writer of the editorial hopes that "any religious body which has the power will continue to enforce a regulation evidently based years ago upon observation of the stupefying effects of card playing, effects which are identical with those of playing the races, a pastime which finally incurred extinction at the hands of none too squeamish Legislature."

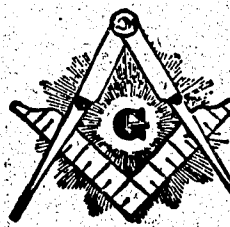

Card playing may be "a valuable distraction for the elderly," the writer grants, but once a week only, and upon others, young people in particular, who indulge in it oftener, he declares, "it exercises narcotizing influence with irresistible force." He says further:

"The legend which attributes the invention of playing cards to the necessity for amusing a mad king of France possesses verisimilitude. Appealing primarily to the unbalanced mind they soon reduce that of a better quality to the same level. They are comparable in every way to the habit-forming drugs, and lead surely to the neglect of every sane and healthy amusement, to say nothing of business and professional duties."

"Skill counts for only three per cent. in even the most scientific of card games, much less in the popular gambling forms."

PATRIOTIC FUND ANNUAL MEETING.

mainly on account of enlistments in the family, or some equally good reason and some have left the district.

During the months covered by the above, the central fund in Victoria has, according to the secretary's figures, distributed among the dependents of Summerland's soldiers who are on overseas service, the total sum of $2,658.50

It will therefore be seen that if the $400 arrears of subscriptions can be collected, Summerland will have just about broken even for the past 10 months, which is perhaps as well as any district has done in British Columbia.

A great effort will now have to be made this month, to get these arrears in, and those who have the good name of Summerland at heart, and will consider her past reputation for always holding her end up, will come forward and pay up if they owe the fund anything.

The impression must not be run away with, however, that because we have broken even this year that we can run along as we are and do the same next year, as such will by no means be the case for the following reason: - The first month of distributions to dependents was very light indeed, totalling only $61, as there were only three being supported by the fund. The next month there were 8 dependents drawing a total of $180.50, and so on, increasing each month, until in August, September, and October, $329.50 was being distributed among 19 dependents.

These 19 are undoubtedly going to continue until the war ceases, and the number may yet be increased by further enlistments, so that we may look forward to having to do our best towards subscribing over $300 per month if we have any notion of trying again to break even in the future.

The canvassing lists that were filled up last February contained varying conditions attached to the subscriptions, for instance many were promised until further notice is given, others for the period of the war, others again for the year 1916, while some were for stated months only. The total of names that have been subscribing on the monthly basis this year is 135, and a new canvass will immediately have to be made of all Summerland people except in those instances where the period already covered by a promise is for the duration of the war or until notice of withdrawal is to be given.

At the time of canvassing last February no less than 91 cash donations were made, among which were a few by our allied nation the Japanese, and it is hoped that all those who cannot see their way to become monthly subscribers to the fund will again show their sympathy with the cause by finding another handsome cash donation when called upon to do so, or as soon after as they can find it convenient.

It is hardly necessary to point out, however, that contributions upon the monthly basis are the most valuable to the fund, as they enable us to refund the Central source of distribution at Victoria, at the same moment that such distributions are being made and that office becomes used to knowing that an average amount will be sent them monthly by us and can depend upon getting it.

It may not be generally realized that one of the objects of the Canadian Patriotic Fund will be to continue payments to dependents even after the war ceases, until such time as the soldier has had opportunity to return, as it is obvious that with such immense bodies of troops that are on overseas service, they will take a long time being shipped back to this country again, especially in view of the curtailed shipping facilities consequent upon the war.

This fact makes it necessary for the fund to maintain a very large surplus balance on hand at all times, and it is gratifying to see that the treasurer of the National Fund at Ottawa is able to report that at 30th November, 1916, he had a surplus in hand of about $3,000,000, which he considers would be sufficient at the present rate of disbursements to continue payments to dependents for about three months if peace happened to be declared now. This is made up by the difference in receipts up to that date of $16,615,778.28 and disbursements made of $13,447,214.73, a formidable range of figures.

Referring again to the new canvass which will soon be put in motion here, it is to be hoped that those who have so far not allowed their names to appear as subscribers will now see their way to do so, as it is quite evident that at least $3,000 will be required in 1917 if the war continues. There were many who were understood to refuse subscription on the ground that they considered the Patriotic Fund should be financed and administered by the Federal Government but it is very doubtful if they have been able to see the difficulties and disadvantages of such a plan.

In the first place the burden on the country would be heavily increased. The government could not discriminate. It would have to pay the same amount to each person, even as it now pays a uniform separation allowance.

The fund as at present pays only in case of need. There are about 105,000 families drawing separation allowance, but of these only 60,000 are on the Patriotic Fund. The average of payments to these 60,000 families is $192 a year. If the government administered the fund and paid 192 to every family, the cost over the present system would be $8,640,000 yearly, and every dollar of this would go to people who are really not in need of it. But this estimate is based on the "average" payment from the fund. If the government administered it, and paid only this average, the families now below the average would receive too much, those above it too little. The alternative would be the payment to each family of a sum equal to the maximum now paid by the fund. This maximum in Saskatchewan is $24.09, or an advance of fifty per cent. over the average. In addition to the large sum mentioned, there would be the cost of administration.

Under existing conditions, in every town there are willing workers who gladly contribute their time, labor and thought to the philanthropic work of the fund. If the government assumed control and administered the fund through a department, all this work would have to be paid for at a cost difficult to estimate, but certainly stupendous, and it would not be as well done. But to the policy of Federal administration there is this one crowing objection: The burden would be handed down to future taxpayers, and the very men whose families we are pledged to support would be called on to bear their share of the cost.

The voluntary system makes large demands on the men of wealth. Even those who are not generous givers nor particularly public-spirited, feel the call of the fund is so insistent, its objects so praiseworthy, and sympathy with its aims so universal that they give to it freely.

A great deal more might here be said about the advantages of the fund as at present in force, such as the immense saving to the country in interest alone, should it have been necessary to borrow in order to meet the requirements of the fund, but it should be unnecessary to raise any further points beyond those already put forth, and it is earnestly hoped that a longer list of supporters will be found in Summerland in 1917 than in the present year.

Council Sits In Final Session of Year.

The Municipal Council held its regular monthly meeting on Monday last. Owing to the fact that this was the last meeting of the year the session was a long one, there being a good deal of routine business to attend to.

Among other things that came before the Council was an amendment to the electric light by-law incorporating in it the charge for electric irons. The dog tax was the cause of considerable discussion, it being stated that it is not fairly enforced. The statement seemed to be not justified and the judgment of the Council is that as long as the tax remains, the law must be enforced without favor. The same applies to the herd by-law. For some time past in the sidewalk area of the town residents have been bothered with loose horses and have wondered why these animals were not impounded. The opinion of the Council seems to be that the officer who is responsible must see that the law is enforced or leave himself open to action for damages. In that case the said officer had better get busy.

Owing to trouble with ice at the intake of the water system the Council decided to have the intake pipe extended about twenty-four feet into deeper water where ice cannot accumulate.

The resolution of the Penticton Board of Trade dealing with the coast to coast road was before the Council but was left over for the January meeting. The opinions expressed strongly favored the proposed change in the course of the road but there would seem to be considerable doubt in the minds of the Councillors as to whether this is an appropriate time to press for the completion of the road.

Mr Dryden, the Municipal Clerk, was appointed returning officer.

Erskine Brown visited his parents Mr and Mrs J. Brown.

Last Saturday the people of the town were saddened at the sight of the flags flying at half-mast again for still another of her brave boys who had given up his life for his country. It was quickly learned that Reeve and Mrs Morrison had received news of the death of their son, John Howard Morrison. The whole community sympathises deeply with them in their great sorrow.

Sergt. W. B. Sanderson left for Ottawa on Friday and expects to go overseas very shortly with his battalion.

Walter and Emmet Shaw returned home from the Prairie a day or two ago.

D. A. Kirkby and Mr Keys of Penticton hunted for several days in the district. They must have been good shots for they each took home a fine buck for their pains.

Mrs J. McLaughlan returned home from a visit to Penticton on Monday.

Theodore Scott went to Vernon on Monday on a business trip.

Mr Wright went to Kelowna on Tuesday.

Mr and Mrs Scott and family have moved from Miss Dimock's house to Mr W. A. Lang's house on the Lakeshore road.

Mr Harry Slater, late manager of the Fruit Growers' Union here, has left for a holiday in California. When he returns in January he will go to Vernon to take up his new duties with the United Growers on January 15th. He was very efficient and will be missed by many.

Rev A. Henderson of Summerland was here Wednesday after conducting a wedding at Glenrosa. He left on the boat for Kelowna Thursday morning.

The following guests have registered at the Edgewater Inn: O. Jennens, Penticton; S. W. Hicks, Vancouver; Mr Elliott, Glenrosa.

Mr Ferguson is now in charge of the Fruit Union warehouse.

The Baptist Women's Mission Circle held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs McDougal on Wednesday, the 6th inst. Several papers were read telling of the work in India and refreshments were served at the close.

Institutes Gather.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute met in the Sunday School hall of the Baptist Church last Friday, Mrs Murdin, president, in the chair. A very interesting session was held. A social time at the close, at which refreshments were served, was enjoyed by all.

The Farmers' Institute also met the same afternoon. After the regular business had been attended to it was decided to hand over the packing school to the Fruit Growers' Union, who will look after the same. Anyone wishing to enrol should do so before the end of the month by giving their names to Mr Dryden. It is hoped that more than the number required by the government will enrol so that there will be plenty of skilled workers ready to do the packing next year.

had not exceeded their rights but assumed from the tone of the meeting that the recommendation was not a popular one. The idea of the meeting was to let the government know the feeling of the people of West Summerland and to recommend someone acceptable.

The suggestion advanced by J. T. Washington was later embodied in an amendment submitted by H. Sutherland that the government be asked to let matters stay as they have been till a returned soldier, who could fill the position was available. This was seconded by Mr Kirk but voted down. The chairman then suggested that nothing be done till the arrival of the Inspector. He asked if Mr Kirk would ask that the turning over of the office to the new appointee be delayed. Mr Kirk said he did not feel like recalling the recommendation, but he would write and tell the minister just the feeling of the meeting.

Reeve Blair said that when moving the resolution he did so with the idea that it be wired that night. Coun. Simpson, who is also a member of the Liberal-Conservative executive, noted that the resolution did not disapprove of the appointment of Mr Phinney, but if the sense of the meeting was such it should be stated. The executive had netted in good faith, and he believed all fair-minded people would so admit. This suggestion was not approved by the mover and the original motion was carried with the suggestion that the resolution be accompanied by a letter expressing to feeling of the meeting.

It is a very timely protest that is made to us about the substitution of the X for Christ in our use of the word Christmas. Of course it must not be forgotten that the formula began with the use of the cross and the letters "inna" after it. But in these modern days the cross has become the X. Gradually our Christmas cards and banners have adopted the words "Merry Xmas" until it is rapidly becoming the exception to find the word Christmas used. Let us spell out the word Christmas, and insist upon buying only those cards and using only those decorations that do so. The X may well be left for its indication of the unknown quantity in mathematics. It does not belong in the word Christmas.—The Ladies Home Journal.

About 70 carloads of apples will be shipped from Keremeos this season.

their support. There was no other applicant and they knew of no reason why he should not be given the position. He was a citizen of the place with a family and unless given the position was likely to go elsewhere. Later when Mr Ritchie was approached he said he had changed his mind and the government looked upon it that he should not be disturbed. When the member, Hon Martin Burrell, was here last summer the speaker pointed out to him that the position was being held by a non-resident and he reminded Mr Burrell that there was an application for the position already in the hands of the Postmaster-General. Mr Burrell did not think it quite right that the position should be held by a citizen of Vancouver, and asked that he be written later when he returned to Ottawa. Mr Kirk had done so and had heard nothing further till he heard that there was a petition being circulated supporting Miss Logie. He thought Mr Burrell should know of this and wired him. None upheld the patronage system whereby such appointments are made but it was claimed for the Liberal-Conservative Association and admitted by the Liberals that such was the prerogative of the Liberal-Conservative executive, some stating however that the patrons of the post office should have been consulted.

Does A Box Shook Combine Exist?

Okanagan United Growers' Feel They Are Being Held Up.

"There are two sides to that box story," said Mr G. J. C. White of the Okanagan United Growers' executive to the Review this week, "and if the manager of the local box mill referred to the Okanagan United Growers last week when he said there was a likelihood of an order going to Washington for box shooks, let me tell you that we do not expect to buy shooks in the U.S.A. Nevertheless, if we could not get our box material at a less price than has been fixed by what looks very much like a combine, we would be quite justified in going to the States. The Okanagan United Growers do not want to be held up and forced to pay too high a price and won't be held up. It is the desire of the Growers to buy their boxes in the Valley, or all of it that they can, and the balance within the province.

"All material is costing more. Nails have advanced very much. By buying well in advance we will get off with an advance of only 25 per cent on this item, while the price of paper has more than doubled. We realize that the cost of making shooks has advanced, and we are prepared to pay more than we did last year. But an advance of about 2½ cents a box is unwarranted, and further, we do not have to pay it. We have already contracted for a large quantity of boxes at a much lower price than that quoted by the combine, and they are B.C.

All Lake Points Feel the Benefit.

K.V.R. Offers Cheaper Fruit Rate to Coast Even From Vernon.

This, the first season when the Kettle Valley line, has been in full operation for carrying a share of the Okanagan fruit crop, has shown that to Coast points it is cheaper to ship even from as far north as Vernon via the new line, than by the old route to the north. Even though from the uplake points the barge service to Pentleton is involved the rate is lower than via the Shuswap and Okanagan branch and thence by the C.P.R. main line out to Vancouver.

One effect of the new service has been to make a better market for the lower grades of Okanagan apples. This fruit is just as good in flavor as the higher grades but does not come up to specifications in appearance, and is sorted out and not shipped to the prairie markets. Heretofore much of it went begging for a market. This year a great deal of this fruit has found a fair-priced market in Vancouver, and it has been passed on at a reasonable retail figure to the consumer, which has worked a benefit to all.

When the people can be made to understand that it actually costs more in time and money to travel over a poor road than it does to travel over a good one, they will be less inclined to begrudge the expense of good roads, and what is more important still, will be willing and anxious to put the business of road making into the hands of intelligent men who understand the business.

Was Not Wounded As Reported.

C. W. Haddrell Tells Of Close Call. Suffering From Shell Shock.

1st Canadian Pioneers, B.E.F., France.
Editor, Summerland Review.

Seeing by various reports in Okanagan papers that I have been wounded, I do not wish that this should be generally thought, as all that happened is that a 5.9 shell came into the section of trench that I and others were digging, and killed the man next to me, and mortally wounded the next. I fortunately was working on what had been a bank of earth and was about 18 inches above the man that was killed. The shell dropped and buried itself in the ground beside the bank, and the explosion sent me out of the trench and into another a short distance away. The weight of earth stopped the splinters coming my way, so my only injuries were a strained leg in starting out of the trench and a good shaking up, commonly called shell shock. I tried to finish my work but I could not, as my strength was entirely gone. They sent two men back with me to the dressing station. Another shell dropping about 20 ft. away was a good hint to get a move on, and we went overland to the dressing station, about a mile and a half away. The reason we went overland would not be fair to tell, but the boys and myself often laugh about that trip through mud. I was sent to a rest hospital where 30 hours sleep pulled me round, and I

Passes Million Dollar Mark

Business of the Okanagan United Growers Shows Healthy Expansion.

Other Organizations Seeking Admission.

The volume of business done by the Okanagan United Growers, Ltd., has this year passed the million dollar mark by several thousand dollars. This sum represents the total of the sales of fruit and produce handled for the various affiliated unions and also the sales made to these unions of feed and other material handled by them for the convenience of their members. Not only has the value of the commodities handled been larger than ever before but the volume has also much increased, notwithstanding the very marked falling off in stone fruits. We believe this total turnover, as given above, includes the business done for the Grand Forks organization.

No better proof of the success of our big Valley organization could be had than is manifested in the desire of other parts of the province to become affiliated with the Okanagan United Growers. Both the Kootenays and the Boundary district have looked with envy upon the rapid expansion of and solid position which the big farmers organization is making for itself in the markets at home and abroad, and are making such overtures as are likely to result in the enlargement of the organization.

Present indications are that there will be two groups of local unions formed this winter, one for the Kootenays, and the other for the Boundary. These, if the plan is carried through, will be sort of sub-centrals affiliated with the Okanagan organization. Farmers at the Coast, too, are looking this way and are asking how they may be linked up with the farmers big co-operative marketing concern, and it may be that the Okanagan United Growers will soon be marketing the crops of the co-operating farmers of that section of the province as well, thus making the Okanagan the head of the co-operative marketing unions of all the southern part of the province.

Will Operate New Plant in Valley.

The Dominion Cannery evidently find the Okanagan a good field for operation. It is now known that they purpose operating another cannery in the Valley, just in what town is not stated, nor is it known that they have reached a decision on this point. They are now operating extensively at Vernon, and a guess has been ventured by our informant that the second factory will be established at Kelowna.

The coming of the Dominion Cannery to this Valley is now a matter of history known to many of our readers. For their coming the Summerland Board of Trade has the credit, and it is a matter of regret that the plant here was not better suited to their requirements, is there not the possibility of having the concern put up a plant of their own here where they could get the stone fruits to assort with the output of the more northern plant at Vernon?

All sections and all classes will benefit by good roads. Few movements are so truly beneficial in as many ways, as the flourishing cause of highway improvement.

OBITUARY.

Mrs Emma Sawyer.

After a year or more of patient suffering, rest has come to Mrs Emma Sawyer, the wife of Dr E. W. Sawyer. She passed over the border this (Thursday) morning at the home of Mr and Mrs Walter Wright, where with her daughter she had been visiting. In her going Summerland loses one of its most respected citizens. By nature modest and retired, she lived a quiet home life, and endeared herself to all whose privilege it was to know her.

It was in 1907 that Dr Sawyer and his family came to Summerland from Wolfville, N.S., at which time Dr Sawyer was under appointment as Principal of Okanagan College.

Mrs Sawyer was the daughter of Dr E. A. Crawley, the first president of Acadia University, and one of the foremost pioneer educators of the Maritime Provinces.

Beside her husband there are left to mourn one daughter, Helen, at home, and a son, Bernard of Halifax, and another son, Edmund, well known here and now in Guatemala. An only sister, Mrs A. de Bars, lives in Wolfville, N.S., as also does a brother, E. Sydney, a lawyer. Another brother, Bernard, has been living with the family here for several years.

The funeral will be held take place at the Parkdale Baptist Church, at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Summerland Leads In Apple Quality

Summerland shipped during the past season a higher percentage of number one apples than any other point in the Valley. This is what figures just compiled by the Okanagan United Growers show, as far as shipments through that organization are concerned, and there is no doubt that this ratio prevailed through all shipments. In this honor Naramata has a full share with Summerland as a good portion of the output of that district was handled by the Summerland Fruit Union.

Of all the apples shipped through the Summerland Naramata packing houses of the Union 75.8 per cent graded number ones and 9 per cent number twos. Other points to grade well were Pentleton with 71.1 per cent of ones and 11.9 per cent of twos, and Peachland, whose output graded 67.4 per cent ones and 23.3 per cent twos.

A firm of Toronto buyers recently commented very favorably on the apples shipped them from Summerland, Naramata, and Peachland. They could find no fault whatever with the apples shipped them from the Union warehouses in these towns, which, they said, was more than they could say of shipments from other points.

New Co-Operative Union Formed.

Last week's issue of the B.C. Gazette gave notice of the incorporation of the Grand Forks Growers' Co-Operative Association, with a capital of $50,000. Their head office will be at Grand Forks.

This has resulted from the re-organization of a former concern which had to give up business. This last summer the Okanagan United Growers, Ltd., have marketed a considerable quantity of fruit from that district, and it is thought probable that next year will see the newly formed union at Grand Forks in with the Okanagan parent concern as one of the affiliated local associations.

Will Wilson Attempt to Interfere?

Another of the Wilson Notes Arouses Intense Indignation.

Believed to be of Bernstorff Origin.

Thursday, December 21 — Fearing that the United States may drift into the war because, as he alleges, American rights are interfered with by both sets of belligerents, President Wilson has addressed a note to both sides calling on them to state the objects for which they are fighting.

The note has aroused intense indignation among British circles, though the censor has not allowed it to be published.

The Allies' reply will be identical, and will be sent simultaneously.

The feeling prevails that though penned by Wilson the hand that guided the pen was that of Bernstorff, the German Ambassador to the United States.

Nothing in today's war reports beyond the capture of German trenches and German prisoners.

Finley McWilliams Back From Front.

Finley McWilliams is home again. He slipped in quietly on Wednesday morning from Victoria, where he had gone a few days before along with a number of other B.C. soldiers invalided home.

An informal reception is being given the returned soldier this afternoon at the Methodist parsonage, which is giving many of his younger friends and also those of maturer years an opportunity to welcome him back. Though somewhat broken in health his youthful vigor and healthy living is expected to soon restore him to, at least nearly his former strength. And he returns without a wound!

The young soldier now being welcomed back with joy by his relatives and friends was among the very first to enlist, leaving here more than two years ago. Nearly all of the many months in the trenches he spent with a machine gun, having latterly been in charge of a section. The long service and trying life in the trenches finally told on his health, and he was sent to England last summer, and has just returned from there. Mr McWilliams was through some of the fiercest engagements experienced by the Canadians.

New Fruit Packing House For Pentleton

Growth in Apple Production in That District.

In order to cope with the fruit tonnage which is increasing yearly at a very rapid rate, the Pentleton Fruit Growers' Union are negotiating for the erection of a large two-storey fruit warehouse. In addition to taking care of local needs the Pentleton people hope that much of the fruit of the Southern Okanagan may be assembled for car lot shipments there.

An indication of the increase in production is gained from the fact that the union shipped 75 per cent. more apples in 1916 than in 1915. Their requirements in the way of box material grow beyond the output of local mills, and ten carloads of box shooks had to be brought in from the Coast.

Doings of Peachland

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Mrs McDougall who has been enjoying a few days visit with Mrs Macdonald has now returned to her home.

Nearly every householder has at least a few hens and there is a pleasant rivalry on as to who will get the most eggs, now that they are so well worth producing. There are many methods of feeding, some pinning their faith to wheat, others to corn and so on; but some who are feeding their hens whole corn morning and evening with a wet mash at noon, despite what people say against it, are getting the most eggs. It remains to be seen who will win out in the long run.

Mr J. Tait, the Provincial Fruit Pests Inspector, was in town on Friday.

The home of Mr and Mrs L. D. McCall was the scene of a happy family gathering yesterday to celebrate Mr McCall's birthday.

Last year the Union and Baptist Sunday Schools united in giving the "White Christmas" entertainment, and it was such a success that it was decided to unite again this year. Last year the "White Christmas," which means giving instead of getting, took the form of giving self and service. This year the gifts are to be of substance, and it is hoped that a good collection will be taken which will go to help some of the desolate people in the war zone. The children have set the grown folks an example by giving up the candy they usually get at the Christmas entertainment, and this amount will be added to the collection. The children are busy practising, and are making good headway under the able leadership of Mrs R. J. Hogg.

We are all hoping that what some of the Indians have prophesied about a mild winter will come true. They base their predictions on the fact that the beavers and the muskrats have made their winter homes very light and have not dug themselves in deeply.

Mr J. M. McKinnon was a passenger to Kelowna on Saturday.

Rev. W. J. W. Fortune, formerly secretary of Social and Reform Work for the Presbyterian Church in Alberta, who has taken a prominent part in the recent prohibition campaign, was in town on Friday collecting funds to wind up the business obligations of the provincial committee. He left by the evening boat for Summerland.

Private Ernest Aitkins has been very ill but is now recovering.

The closing exercises of the school will be held on Friday afternoon.

Mr Gummow and Mr Cutbill were passengers to Kelowna last Thursday, returning the same day.

The saying is that you never know how much you miss a thing until you lose it, and last week we had the opportunity of finding out how much we missed the electric light and water, for they were both off for several days. The light came on again on Saturday in time for the stores' busy night.

Mr George Keys and Mr Seth Davidson went over to Kelowna on Monday.

Nearly every man in the district who had a license was out hunting last week with varying success. Mr George Keyes and Mr Williams each brought home a buck. Mr George Keyes is the only one in the district who has been fortunate enough to get the three which are allowed by the law.

Rev. James Lang arrived in town yesterday from Alberta, and is staying with Mrs Macdonald.

Our town clerk, Mr Wm. Dryden, has been suffering from an attack of the grippe, but is recovering now.

Guests registering at the Edgewater Inn during the week are as follows:— R. Echlin, Penticton; Jno. J. Dunne, Penticton; Rev. W. J. W. Fortune, Vancouver.

Carload Of Jam For Soldiers.

B.C. Doukhobors Make Notable Donation For War Purposes.

The Doukhobor settlement at Brilliant, near Nelson, has donated 24,000 lbs. of jam "for use in Canada for the suffering ones caused by the war." The gift will make a carload, and is valued at $5,000. The jam is made from fruit grown in their own gardens, and is noted throughout the country for its excellent quality. It has been declared to be the finest jam in the world.

Premier Brewster has accepted the gift of jam on behalf of the province, and is now discussing the best ways of distributing it. As it is possible that the gift is so large that it cannot be all advantageously used in British Columbia at present, some of the jam will probably be supplied to soldiers in other parts of the Dominion.

The gift is considered noteworthy because of the non-resisting and anti-war philosophy of the Doukhobors. This is the first time they have taken any part in a war activity of any kind, and their magnanimity on this occasion has surprised even those who know them best.

It has been announced by the Militia Department at Ottawa that no more officers in this country above the rank of lieutenants have any prospects of seeing active service, for the present at any rate. Apparently they are being offered the alternatives of reverting to the rank of lieutenant, or remaining indefinitely in Canada. For some time it has been felt that there was a superabundance of senior officers in England, owing to the imperial policy of utilizing the Canadian troops as reinforcing drafts instead of as entire battalions.

The Okanagan United Growers, Limited, have lately commenced an action against the Canadian Pacific Railway for the recovery of $3,900 damages for the loss of goods alleged to have arisen through negligence on the part of the defendant company.

Orchard and Farm: Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

The Fight Against Insects.

Codling Moth And Apple Maggot Found In Okanagan Valley.

Writing of the insects affecting agriculturists in B.C. during the past year, Mr R. C. Treherne, Field Officer, Entomological Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, says in part:

"The codling-moth situation presents the most serious insect problem occurring to-day in the province. Efforts have been made by the Provincial Department of Agriculture at Okanagan Landing and Westbank to reduce the degree of infestation, which was reported first in the autumn of 1915. The infestation still remains in a moderate degree of intensity. Orchardists are cautioned against relying too implicitly on continued immunity from this pest, as it is probable that strenuous individual effort will be required in a few years to effect control. Equipment has been installed at Vernon for the study of the codling-moth under local atmospheric and climatic conditions as they prevail. Information thus gathered will be of service in undertaking the control of the moth, both now and in the future.

MADE SERIOUS ADVANCES.

The woolly aphis and the bud moth are two insects noted which

THE FARM SELF-SUPPORTING.

Aim to make the farm as self-supporting as possible. On a recent visit to a Swiss family's homestead in the North Thompson Valley, everything on the well-supplied dinner table, except the sugar, was found to be produced on the homestead. The menu included goats' milk, cheese and butter, several kinds of canned vegetables and wild fruits, canned grouse, eggs and home cured pork. The bread, made from home grown wheat ground up in a small mill at home, was coarse but sweet and nourishing. Even the coffee was home made, being ground from roasted wheat grains. It is safe to say that if there was some process of obtaining sugar from sugar beets on a small scale, that sugar would have been home made too.—S. H. H.

PREVENT WASTE OF MANURE.

Remember that when properly cared for, the manure from a well fed horse is worth $18 per year; from a dairy cow, $25; from a sheep, $3; from a hog, $5. It is well worth-taking care of.

Over half the fertilizing value of the total manure, liquid and solid, is contained in the liquid. Do not let this go to waste.

If the pile is exposed to the weather without a shallow concrete pit to catch the leachings, the losses may run from one-third to one-half of the original fertilizing value.—S. H. H.

CANNING CHICKEN.

During the fall months all careful poultry-raisers are culling their flocks so as not to keep through the winter any stock that is not valuable for either egg production or breeding purposes. By canning the culls by a method similar to the coldpack process for vegetables, the farm-woman can be assured of a supply of chicken, ready at a minute's notice, to last until next season's spring chickens are of good size. Among the many ways in which this chicken may be used, the following are mentioned:

Chicken pie, stew with dumplings, creamed, salad, sandwiches, and even rolled in cracker crumbs and sauteed in fryings.

The following recipes for poultry and game are adapted from the recipes for meat-canning furnished by the United States Government canning experts:—

Recipe No. 1.—Kill the fowl and draw at once; wash carefully and cool, cut into convenient sections, boil until meat can be pulled from bones, remove from boiling liquid and remove meat from bones, pack closely into glass jars, fill jars with hot liquid, after it has been concentrated one-half by boiling add level teaspoonful of salt per quart of meat for seasoning, put rubber and cap into position, not tight, and sterilize 3 1/2 hours in a boiler or pail fitted with a false bottom and tight cover. Water in this sterilizer must cover top of jar at least an inch. Remove jars, tighten covers, invert to cool and test the joints.

Recipe No. 2.—Kill fowl and draw at once; wash carefully and cool, cut into convenient sections and pack at once into glass jars, fill with boiling water, add level teaspoonful of salt per quart, put rubber and cap into position, not tight, and sterilize 4 hours. Remove jars, tighten covers, invert to cool and test the joints.—The Nor' West Farmer.

It is now estimated that the loss to the apple growers of Hood River, Oregon, on account of the ear shortage that resulted in the glutting of storage facilities, compelling the growers to care for their fruit as best they could, will approximate $100,000. Every vacant store building and basement in Hood River has been filled with storage apples. One of the last buildings to be occupied in this manner is an undertaking parlor.

have made serious advances as destructive insect pests. The lesser apple worm also appears to have increased in the Okanagan Valley as a whole. All of these insects may be largely held in check by a uniform and systematic practice of spraying. The peach twig borer is the most important insect enemy of the peach grower at the present time in the south end of the Okanagan Valley. Demonstrations in its control by arsenate of lead spraying in the spring were satisfactorily carried on by individual growers. It is unfortunate to note, however, in the case of this insect, that neglect of the past few years of the peach trees has resulted in their attacks becoming marked on apricot, plum and prune trees.

During August two specimens of the apple maggot fly were taken at Penticton. This is the first authentic record of this species occurring west of the Rockies. The damage which it commits in the orchards of Ontario and the maritime provinces places it in the front rank of the important insects attacking apples, consequently it will require very close watching in the next few years. Fortunately it must occur at present in extremely small numbers, otherwise report of its presence would probably have been made before.

The Bacon Hog Industry.

Few people realize the change that has taken place in trade owing to the war. An example of this is shown in the bacon industry. Prior to 1914 each year saw the exports from Denmark to Great Britain increase and those of Canada decrease, for at least a decade back. Since that time Denmark has seemingly switched her trade from her friends to the enemy, for in 1915 the exports declined 73,000,000 pounds. At the same time Canada's exports have been continually on the increase, having been 23,620,861 pounds for the year ending March 31, 1914, 72,036,025 pounds for 1915 and 144,150,309 pounds for 1916. Against this has to be recorded a decrease in the last five years in the number of hogs in the country of one million. These facts are given in a pamphlet entitled "The Bacon Hog and the British Market," by John Bright, Live Stock Commissioner, and H. S. Arkell, Assistant Commissioner, that can be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. The author points out that this state of affairs is most unfortunate in the face of the rare opportunity that is offered to further extend our "Wiltshire side" trade with Great Britain, a trade that for the year ending December 31, 1915, amounted in value to $15,957,652. While there is a certain demand also for the fat hog, Messrs Bright and Arkell do not favor increased breeding in that direction for the export trade, as the United States are in a superior position to Canada for the raising of that particular sort. The bacon hog is our opportunity, but to take advantage of it we shall have to be more conservative in our methods. As the pamphlet says, the world over there exists a confidence in the future of the live stock trade which has no parallel in history. Canada has now the opportunity of placing herself in a very very powerful position in the export bacon business. The most stable condition of affairs can be brought about by each farmer doing "his bit" to increase production without involving him in any great financial outlay.

Suppose the Review Ceased Publication

JUST suppose this community were left without a local newspaper! What would become of its local pride? Summerland would be just a name on a railway time table or a post office guide. Men and women might die, or marry, or go away, or suffer accidents, or entertain friends, and you would hear about it all only through gossip. Municipal affairs and other news of interest to this particular part of the wide, wide world would have no publicity. Our local merchants would have no cheap and quick way of telling you what they provide for you. Our churches and schools and other institutions would have no medium of news or appeal. And this whole community would slip back and be the sport of jokesmiths.

Would city papers take the place of the Review?

You know they would not.

THE point of it all is: Like all other newspapers we are feeling the pinch of higher prices for paper and other material. But, unlike hundreds of other weekly papers, we do not propose yet to raise the price, but simply ask that each and every subscriber pay up his or her subscription and keep it paid up. Nothing unfair about that is there? Now to "kick" at this and drop your subscription, would be to say, in effect, "This community doesn't need a local weekly. If I can do without the Review, all others can."

We do not believe for one moment that the good people of Summerland, Peachland, Naramata and neighborhoods will "kick" or drop their subscription to the Review. We expect all our subscribers to recognize the new conditions of living and publishing that have made this policy a necessity. Do you realize that your weekly newspaper at the rate of 4 cents a week—little more than the price of a postage stamp—costs an insignificant sum when you reckon up the service it renders you and this whole community.

Be loyal to and proud of the community you live in. Keep it on the map.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1916.

CHRISTMASTIDE has a twofold interest, a material and a spiritual. Some love it because it comes "but once a year, and when it comes it brings good cheer;" others, because it is pre-eminently the season of universal reconciliation of "peace on earth and goodwill toward men." Families may be scattered during the rest of the year, but at this time their members strive to reunite, and, where this is impossible, the exiled ones turn their faces longingly towards hearth and home.

All the world keeps Christmas day. From the land of the midnight sun to the sunny south of perpetual summer is a far cry. But in the long distance there is no land where Christmas is not kept. Its celebration is a part of the universal history of the human race. Whatever may have been its origin and whatever peculiarities may have gathered about it in its adoption to different people and different circumstances, it is to us Canadians today practically a national feast.

To keep it was at one time, in certain parts of Christendom, a penal offence. It was thought to savor of prelaty and to foster unpleasant memories of political servitude. But it has grown with humanity, and the broad-mindedness of the people is seen at its best in the hearty commemoration of the nativity of the Christ from year to year.

ALL HAIL TO CHRISTMAS DAY; it draws all the good forth from our natures until we really love our neighbors as ourselves. We rise out of our selfishness and seek to bless others, and we rejoice over another's joy. We are happy because others are happy and our happiness makes other hearts glad. We have a sorrow, but put it away; have we an animosity, we bury it; have we grudges, we pierce them with an arrow; have we an unforgiving spirit, we crush it; and come forth in newness of life this day into a new world ruled by love, ordered by love, and permeated with love. A wonderful place hallows all things, and kindness wells up in every heart throbbing, and our "Merry Christmas" carries with it so much of good will the whole atmosphere is filled with the music, and the re-echoes of the Merry Christmas keep returning as if it could never quite die out again, and so it goes ringing, ringing on, Merry Christmas, and we pass it along—to all a Merry Christmas.

§ § § § §

WHEN SHEPHERDS WATCHED BY NIGHT.

Some historians contend that the shepherds could not have watched by night on the Bethlehem plains in December, it being a period of great inclemency. In answer to this a well-known student says: Bethlehem is not a cold region. The mercury usually stands all the month of December at 46 degrees. Corn is sown during this time, and the grass and herbs spring up after the rains, so that the Arabs drive their flocks down from the mountains into the plains. The most delicate never make fires till about the end of November, and some pass the whole winter without them. From these facts it is established without doubt that our Saviour was born on the 25th day of December, the day which the church throughout the world has united to celebrate in honor of Christ's coming in the flesh.

(Quoted)

I come no more in grey disguise,
With grasping hands and greedy eyes,
Living on larceny and lies.

No longer do my mighty hosts
Of ministers and servants boast
Of giving least and getting most.

But now, with eyes greed cannot blind,
With open hands and willing mind,
I live in SERVICE to mankind.

And hold him first among the rest
Who bears this motto on his breast:
He PROFITS most who SERVETH best!

A lady who understands advertising says, "No lady wishes to be looked upon as a shopping fiend; she does not care to go into a store and have a merchant show all his stock in order to find out whether he keeps what she wishes to purchase and whether the article is sold at a price she can afford. It is much easier and pleasanter to look through the advertisements of a paper than it is to bore the clerks and waste her own time. Next to the local news items, the advertisements in a paper stating articles for sale with prices, will keep much of the money that goes to the large cities at home."

LOCALS.

Telephone service will be limited on Christmas Day. In order to give the operators a chance to enjoy as much of the day as possible, hours of service will be between 9 and 11 a.m. and 2 and 4 p.m.

On Thursday next at three o'clock in the Parish Hall the members of the Anglican Church will have their annual Christmas tree on which will be placed gifts and presents for soldiers at the front. 21

In some of the departments of the local public schools public examinations and other special features are this week marking the termination of the fall term. The children will be free from school duties till Monday, January 8th.

A woman's work on the farm is quite as hard as a man's if the man could only be made to realize it, but he won't, in many cases. He consults his own interests, and lets his wife get along the best way she can, forgetful that her interests are identical with his own, and should be so considered by him. Lighten the labors of the women all you can. Don't think it will encourage idleness to introduce machinery in the kitchen. It never has done so, and it never will. Back of the machine is the woman, and the woman on the farm will always find enough to do.

Last week we referred to the national registration to be made of all male citizens between the ages of 16 and 65. Further notice of this appears in the official advertisement in this issue. Cards to be filled in, with envelopes in which to place and seal the information, asked for, will be sent out the latter part of next week by Postmaster Hayes to all on the rural route and placed in the boxes of box holders. Others, or anyone are missed, are asked to apply for their cards. Further official announcement will be given in the government advertisement to be published next week.

The lectures by Mrs Chalmers in connection with the Women's Institute held on Wednesday and Thursday of last week were fairly well attended. It is to be regretted that the attendance was not larger, as Mrs Chalmers was an able speaker. The first day her subjects were soils and crops, also live stock on the farm. Second day the home garden and home dressmaking. She explained how one could grow all their own vegetables, also have butter, milk, meat, eggs, etc., and lessen the high cost of living. She advised keeping good milking cows, and explained how it could be done even on small lots. The Farmer's Institute members were invited to be present. The Summerland and West Summerland Institutes combined to hold the lectures.—Cont.

It is reported here that Cyril Woodworth has found it impossible to get past the final test in England because of his former trouble, asthma.

So many important questions were to come up before the Board of Trade at the meeting on Wednesday evening in the Parish Hall that the small attendance of that evening did not warrant their being discussed, and it was decided to postpone the meeting until Thursday, December 28th, when the Board will meet in the Parish Hall at 8 p.m. An especially large attendance is hoped for as such important questions as the following are to be considered: the changing of the route of the trans-provincial highway; hotel accommodation; choice of a day for the half-holiday; consideration of further road work. 21

Passing Events: Social, Personal, &c.

Mr T. N. Ritchie and family left for Vancouver by train on Wednesday evening.

Attention is directed to special trips of ferry to Penticton, Saturday and Christmas. 30

Mrs J. Robinson of Peachland spent Wednesday here with her sister, Mrs Lipsett. She came down with her son George in his car.

Miss Edna MacLeod leaves tonight, Thursday, for Chilliwack, to spend Christmas with her parents, Rev. A. W. and Mrs MacLeod. She will be away for a week.

Mr and Mrs J. C. Robson are expected from Rossland this weekend to spend the Christmas season at the home of their daughter, Mrs E. R. Butler.

Ben Hoy of the Provincial Horticultural Branch is in the district this week giving instruction in pruning to the class formed here under the auspices of the Farmers' Institute.

There is a possibility, it would seem, of Rev. N. McNaughton remaining in the province. The Baptist Church in New Westminster has invited him to become their pastor, and it may be that he will be induced to accept.

Mr and Mrs Wm. McMillan, who are among those who have recently taken up residence in Summerland, leave to-night, Thursday, to spend Christmas at the Coast. Mr and Mrs McMillan are now living in Mrs Phinney's house.

After Electrician Thornber and assistants are through with the job in hand the C.P.R. wharf and approach will be much better lighted than heretofore. A half dozen lights are being put up along the line of the car slip and loading tracks.

Dr and Mrs Matthewman, of Ottawa, are expected here early in the new year and will reside in the Cartwright house. Dr and Mrs Matthewman were here last summer, when they were the guests of Coun. E. R. and Mrs Simpson. It is understood that the visitors may make this their home.

Fred Neve, who has been a foreman in the union packing houses this summer, has enlisted, according to local report. He will join the forces following the completion of an engagement with the provincial Department of Agriculture this winter to do instructing for packing classes.—Penticton Herald.

Rev. W. G. W. Fortune, of Vancouver, was in town last week in the interests of the People's Prohibition Movement, of which he is secretary. He says the liquor interests are making a desperate effort at the front to obtain the soldiers' vote with the hope of defeating the people's movement for prohibition in this province.

The Sunday Schools of St Andrew's and Parkdale Churches will unite in a special service next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. "White Gifts to the King" is the style of the program for the afternoon, the idea being a day of giving of gifts instead of receiving. Each class or individual will name the person or cause to which their present is to go.

Summerland now has an up-to-date garage. B. L. Hatfield, the efficient machinist, who has been doing repair work for some two or three years, and who some time ago took over the large building which he now occupies, has lately greatly improved and extended his means of service by putting in a fuller stock of tires, tire chains, and other accessories as well as oils and greases. His latest investment in the interest of his patrons is a Bowser gasoline tank fitted with an automatic measuring pump and as announced in his advertisement in another column, he is now prepared to fill your tank at any time of day or evening. The gasoline pump is so placed that a piece of hose carries the gas right into the tank of the car. The artistic brush of our local painter and decorator, J. R. Barclay, has lately given the garage a business-like and attractive appearance.

Mr F. Munro, who recently enlisted for artillery service is home for a few days.

Attention is directed to special trips of ferry to Penticton on Saturday and Christmas. 21

Mr John Tait is leaving this evening for Victoria, where he will spend Christmas with Mrs Tait and relatives.

Christmas Day services at St Stephen's Church will be, matins at half past ten, and choral celebration at eleven.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held on Friday, Dec. 29th, at three o'clock at the home of Mrs Elsey. 21

Mr G. A. McWilliams came down from Vernon early in the week to welcome back his soldier son and to spend the holiday season with his family here.

Mrs Kelley of Summerland was guest of Mrs McCallum on Friday, and spoke at the meeting held to discuss the consolidated school question.—Hedley Gazette.

Mr Harbottle, a guest at Kalavista Resthome, has rented the T. N. Ritchie cottage, and will be joined here shortly by his family now in Saskatchewan.

Mrs R. M. Ross is still in Webster City, Iowa, where she is assisting her brother in his office. She does not expect to return to Summerland until June, or perhaps not till a later date.

Word has been received from England by a Summerland resident which would seem to indicate that a reinforcing draft of the 172nd Battalion has already been sent over to France.

Mr and Mrs Arnold, who for some weeks have been guests at Kalavista Resthome, have rented the cottage lately occupied by Mrs L. C. Woodworth, and plan on moving in at the end of this month. Mr and Mrs Arnold came here from Shelbourne Co., N. S.

Mrs Thos. Behan has been joined here by her husband, who has been engaged in railway engineering work in the Coquihalla Pass. They will spend Christmas here, and intend some time after the holiday season to proceed east to Montreal on a visit to relatives of Mr Behan.

Christmas services will be held next Sunday morning in the Methodist Church conducted by Rev. A. Henderson, when he will give a Christmas sermon. In the evening Mr Henderson will be the preacher at the union service in the Lakeside Baptist Church, when he will speak on the Great War's Contribution towards Universal Peace. An extremely strong choir has prepared some appropriate Advent anthems, and some solos will also be rendered.

Summerland may enjoy the unusual experience of listening to carol singers on the night of Christmas Eve, if the plans of the union choir at the front materialize, as they seem likely to. A couple of automobiles may be requisitioned to convey the singers round the district, and at different vantage points the carols will be rendered. It is many years since this has been done here, and doubtless the revival of this old time custom will be well received.

Splendid success rewarded the efforts put forth by the members of the St Andrew's Ladies' Aid in their sale of work held last Saturday afternoon and evening in St Stephen's Hall. A great variety of goods of a very varied description had been provided and some were sold out entirely or nearly so when evening came. What portion of the goods remained unsold in the evening were put up at auction, Miss Aitchison proving a signal success as an auctioneer, being able to dispose of almost everything in this way. Home cooking of many varieties, and candles found a very ready sale all through the event. The proceeds realized amounted to just over a hundred dollars.

R. Pollock is expected back from the Coast on Sunday morning.

Mrs and Miss Cartwright will be leaving at once to join Col. Cartwright at Victoria. They expect to remain there for the winter.

Ralph Kent, a former resident of Summerland and owner of property here, spent a week in the neighborhood and returned to New Day-ton, Alberta, last night.

Both A. Stewart & Son and the Fruit Union are shipping out apples as fast as cars can be had. The Union still have about five carloads in their warehouse, and Steuarts' have two carloads. Some of the larger growers still hold some apples that in the aggregate will total quite a few carloads.

A number of the young friends of Miss Jean Babbit met by invitation at the home of Mr and Mrs Elsey on Friday night to bid her good bye and spend another pleasant evening with her. Miss Jean and some of the members of T. N. Ritchie's family left on Wednesday for Vancouver, with Mr Ritchie. Mrs Babbit and the others of the family follow to-night, Thursday.

Messrs C. Wharton and E. N. Rowley returned a few days ago from something out of the ordinary in hunting expeditions. They went to Albert Canyon, near Revelstoke, and for their bag got two deer and a caribou. There are undeveloped sulphur hot springs near the canyon, and among other relaxations, the hunters enjoyed the luxury of them. The caribou head is being mounted by the local taxidermist, Mr Fred Anderson.

Local car drivers would do well to act as considerately as possible to pedestrians, users of horse vehicles and others who have to depend on less luxurious means of locomotion. The practice of driving at dusk and often well on into the darkness without any lights for instance, is recklessness pure and simple on the part of automobilists. If they met with accident from this cause they would only have themselves to blame, but unfortunately others usually come in for any damage sustained. Equally dangerous is the practice of driving at night with only one light going. It is absolutely impossible for any vehicle meeting an auto so driven to determine on which side of the car the light is, and the Review has the impression that this is an offence punishable by law. If it isn't it certainly ought to be. Of late several little occurrences have come to light reflecting not at all creditably on the carelessness of automobile drivers on the narrow roads of the district, and in one or two instances serious damage has only been narrowly averted. When one becomes the owner of an automobile that fact does not invest him with any more rights of the road than he had before.

Assistant Post Office Inspector Clark of Vancouver was here on Tuesday to take over the upper post office from Postmaster Jas. Ritchie, or more correctly his representative, Miss Logie, and to initiate the new postmaster, J. E. Phinney, into the varied duties of a post office. Mr Phinney has been in charge since then.

Something unusually elaborate in the way of Sunday School Christmas entertainments is advertised for next Friday evening, as seen by the announcement elsewhere in this issue. Well rendered children's concerts are extremely popular, and from the amount of practice the young performers have been having in this instance there is little doubt but they will render a good account of themselves next Friday. The first part of the program it will be seen consists of recitations, choruses, drills, etc., while the second part will present an operetta, "Red Riding Hood's Rescue." The entertainment is to be given in Empire Hall, and the proceeds resulting from the popular admission prices will be divided between the Prisoner's of War Fund and the Sunday School funds. Mr S. Sharp and his helpers in preparing the program are confident that the concert will meet with the success it is deserving of.

Women's Institute Lectures Well Received.

Something out of the ordinary, yet it sure was fine to hear a woman talk on farm topics as one that KNOWS—that's right, spell it with capitals.

That was what made the lecture stick. They were uttered in concise, fitting phrases which caught—and the results will doubtless speak for themselves.

On Friday the lecturer dealt with the care and management of poultry from the standpoint of a successful poultry woman, a thoroughly practical heart to heart talk and was altogether of a stirring character. Then followed a talk on fruit and vegetable canning which was brimful of hard commonsense ideas—many of them along the lines of economy.

Then on Saturday afternoon the talk was on soils and crops. An invitation to the Farmer's Institute was responded to by a few of the men folk, who came to see if a woman could tell them anything about such a subject, and take this down—as Capt. Cuttle would say, "make note on"—these farmers learned a few things.

How to make an acre grow as much as two or three; how to make an acre produce enough fodder for an animal and a half; how best to preserve fodder; the making of a silo; the care of live stock, and so on.

At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the clever speaker, who responded in fitting terms.

RED CROSS NOTES.

The secretary of the local branch, Mrs Aldridge, reports that the following shipment of articles intended for hospitals was made this week:

- 13 suits pyjamas; 6 bed jackets; 4 night shirts; 5 day shirts; 24 pair socks; 5 pair mittens; 4 pair wristlets; 15 scarves; 19 trench caps; 3 bundles handkerchiefs; 36 pillow cases; 30 towels.

Current Events - OF - Town & District

A Merry Christmas!

Mrs Munroe, after several months' residence here at the home of Mrs W. Armour, has removed for an indefinite period to Trail, B.C.

Mr Gerald B. Williams is spending his Christmas holidays at Vancouver and Victoria.

Mr and Mrs George Wolstencroft left on Thursday evening en route for Vancouver, where they expect to spend a month's holiday.

Rev W. Fortune, general secretary of the provincial prohibition was the speaker at Sunday's service. In the course of his address an appeal was made for funds to liquidate the debt contracted by the prohibition party during the course of the recent campaign. The deficit, which at one time had reached the substantial amount of $6,500, has been reduced to $1,700 as a result of the present special appeal and it was the earnest desire of the temperance workers throughout the province to have this outstanding obligation fully met before the end of the month.

Private H. J. Pitman, former scoutmaster at Naramata, was recently reported amongst the list of wounded. Further news gives the details of Harry's close call. While suffering most from a bullet wound in his arm, he was hit by a shrapnel in the right arm. However under the excellent care of the attendants at the General Hospital at Nottingham, England, he is hopeful of a speedy recovery.

Mr F. H. Rounds and son Wesley drove to Penticton on a shopping expedition on Saturday last.

Our old and genial friend, F. Lorne Roe, the head scribe at the Herald office, Penticton, was in town on Friday evening.

Miss Walker has gone to her home in Vancouver to spend her holidays.

The lumber for Capt. F. J. Languedoc's new house is being placed on the ground. The captain evidently believes in the doctrine of preparedness.

The heavy fall of snow accompanied by a beautifully mild spell of weather has again dashed in pieces the rising hopes of the youths of Naramata in the skating rink dreams of last week. Alas! for the best laid plans of mice and boys. "But never mind," say the lads, "it is not January yet!"

The School Board are having seats made for use in the old school. This will make a fine building in which to hold meetings of a general character.

The results of the midwinter examinations at the High and Public School departments will be made known in next week's issue.

It is reported on the streets this week that there is a likelihood of Hotel Naramata being opened in the near future, not as a hotel but for a convalescent hospital for returned Canadian soldiers. Certainly no more delightfully situated nor more admirably appointed building could be found in the heart of British Columbia.

In a letter to his mother, Private Frank Hughes notes the decided difference in the training in England from that in Canada. The whole tone of the English camp life smelt of the powder of the very battlefield. He notes, too, the absence of the "slacker" on the streets of London upon the occasion of a recent visit to the great metropolis. In common with many another Canuck he was struck with the evident welcome accorded the boys from Canada.

During her stay in town last week Mrs Chalmers was the guest of Mrs Hayward.

On account of the Christmas season's rush and other social duties, the December meeting of the Unity Club has been cancelled.

NO ALUM

The school closes its doors this Friday for the usual mid-winter holiday of two weeks, extending to Monday, January 8th.

As a result of the strong advocacy of Mrs Chalmers on Saturday afternoon last in the course of her lecture, that the farmers should erect silos for fodder storage it is not unlikely that at least a fair start may be made this year.

"Good Master, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" The text of the address last Sunday afternoon by Rev Fortune was accompanied by the remark that the "rich young ruler" went away very sorrowful because "he wouldn't pay the price." Does not this contain an answer to that query so frequently heard today as to the cause in the falling off in church attendance?

Mrs Cash and Mrs Languedoc were at home on Thursday afternoon of last week to a limited circle of their lady friends who had been asked to bring their knitting. The result of thus usefully employing the time after the fashion in the "good old days of yore" was so gratifying that it is not at all unlikely that the example thus set will become a regular feature of Naramata social life. Towards the close of the day the hostesses served an appreciable luncheon.

Even the worst pessimist does not believe that woman can do as much harm with a ballot as she once did with the apple.

The Fun Of Farming.

In the old farming cycle the crop that brought the best prices one year was sure to be overplanted the next. But the philosophy of diversification has appealed to the common sense of the farmer generally. It makes a better rounded life on the farm, if there are many diverse interests. The chickens bring a steady and welcome income to the farmer's wife. The cattle and hogs are sure profit makers, and, besides, engage the best skill of their owners. Many farmers are just finding out that bees are mighty interesting as well as highly profitable, without involving a great deal of labor. Soon the beekeeper learns that fruit trees help out the bees, and are themselves induced to bring forth more and better fruit by the pollenizing helpfulness of the little honey gatherers. The fact is, farming was never of such absorbing interest as it is to-day. But it should be diversified, so that the monotony of raising main crops may be chased away by the fun of pursuing profitable specialties.—Victoria Times.

ANOTHER SHIRT TALE.

Robinson Crusoe was persistent when he advertised. He wanted a ship. He put up a sign—a shirt on a stick. When the wind beat that shirt to shreds he put up another. That, in its turn, went to ribbons, and he used another, and kept that up until the ship came.—Empress Express.

Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

Tears vs. War.

The women of these troublesome times of war must be well armed if the poet's ideas are correct. What is a woman's weapon? has been asked and answered in various ways. A quarter of a century ago, perhaps, there went the newspaper rounds an exquisite little triplet of stanzas each bearing an answer to the question, and below is the way it went:

A WOMAN'S WEAPON.

"What is a woman's weapon?"
I asked a charming girl;
She dropped her lashes slyly
And stroked a vagrant curl;
Then consciously she murmured—
This rosebud newly cut;
"I have a strong suspicion,
Her weapon is a pout."

"What is a woman's weapon?"
I asked a lover true;
He turned him to a maiden
With eyes of heavenly blue;
Her velvet lips were parted,
All innocent of guile,
And eagerly he answered,
"Her weapon is a smile."

"What is a woman's weapon?"
I asked a poet then;
With sudden inspiration
He seized upon his pen;
"Oh, I could name a thousand,"
He cried with accents clear;
"But a woman's surest weapon
I grant you, is a tear."

Then, if tears are being shed from the weeping eyes and wounded hearts of troubled women of these countries in proportion to the blood that flows from the gaping veins of the fallen soldiers, surely peace, white winged, must soon surely come, with her mission of love and mercy.

"Oh peace! thou source and soul of social life;
Beneath whose calm, inspiring influence
Science, his view enlarges, Art refines,
And swelling Commerce opens all her ports;
Blest be the man divine who gave us thee."

To Encourage Wool Industry

An Eastern wool expert who visited B.C. recently, remarked, after a careful analysis of the province, that if there was a woollen industry in British Columbia, where the farmers and sheep ranchers would be able to find a ready market for their wool, that the sheep raising industry of the province would double itself in three years.

There is now a company in the process of formation at Vancouver for the purpose of establishing and operating a woollen mill in that city. City Industrial Commissioner Davison is now looking about the district for persons with some knowledge of the industry with the object of having the plant operated by local workers as well as financed by local capital.

A sharp and sudden drop in the price of hard wheat was the cause of an equally sharp cut in the wholesale price of bread flour in Vancouver last Friday when the wholesalers made a cut of 70c. a barrel of 196 lbs. This drop to $9.20 was not for long, as on Saturday morning the price had been raised by 50c. to $9.70.

Some Excellent Menus For the Christmas Dinner

Satisfying Meals With All Due Regard For Economy.

Such interest has been shown in the competition held at the December meeting of the West Summerland Women's Institute, which was touched upon in the secretary's report published in the last issue of this paper, that a more detailed account will be read with pleasure and profit, not only by the preparers, but by the providers and partakers of the Christmas dinner under consideration.

The competition, "Best Menu for Christmas Dinner for a Family of Five Adults, at a Cost Not Exceeding $2.50, every item to be charged at Local Market Prices," was instituted with the idea of obtaining a beneficial knowledge of possible economies for this war time Christmastide, and passing on the knowledge gained for the general good.

On account of the unfortunate neglect of proper advertising, the competitors were few, but the six menus submitted were so excellent, suggesting such a variety of good things, that the decision of the judges must have required careful thought.

The first prize menu is a revelation of exact figuring and careful preparation, including one or two new ideas in the best economy—that economy which is so disguised by the success of the result that the casual observer fails to recognize it as such. Its study is interesting and instructive.

Total $2.44

The soup is made from trimmings of chicken augmented by bones and fragments from a previous roast, 1 cup of water from boiled rice of previous day's dinner, 1 cup strained tomato juice, onion, curry or whatever seasoning is desired.

The tomato jelly is made from gelatine extracted from the feet of chickens, almost the best gelatine, and obtained at practically no cost. The tomato used in this, as in the soup, was prepared in the autumn from small, irregular fruit of no market value. The Dutch salad is made from finely shredded and thoroughly chilled apple and cabbage, sprinkled with celery salt or paprika, with a boiled dressing, the ingredients of which are all reckoned with the eggs, butter, vinegar, etc. The garnish for salad may be either parsley or water-cress—available without cost.

The crust of the deep apple pie is shortened with the carefully tried out fat removed from the chicken before stuffing, which for this purpose excels the best butter. In the pudding, chopped pork fat is used instead of suet, being less expensive and sweeter. Home dried fruits—apricots, black currants, and prunes—take the place of the usual raisins and currants. The pits of uncooked apricots, dried, make a good substitute for almonds, a little almond extract being used to help along the delusion.

"Finances, new laws, and principles," says this tip-top economist, "necessitate eliminating the blazes for the pudding."

Baked potatoes are used instead of the traditional mashed potato, because of their greater nutritive value, and the fact that they need neither cream nor butter in preparing for the table. The quart of milk set over night furnishes cream for the deep apple pie and milk for the pudding and fudge. Prices of fruit, eggs, and vegetables are those of the summer and fall, when the thrifty housewife is "storing."

The second prize menu sounds a different note—a quack instead of a cackle—which may be more acceptable to some tastes. Its perusal makes one feel hungry, even after a hearty meal.

It is impossible here to give the other dinners, excellent as they are. This, however, can be truly said; could we but be sure that each man, woman and child of the nations which celebrate the birth of the Leader of Men, were to partake of a dinner one-third as delicious and satisfying, with the additional snuff of "Peace," next Monday would indeed be a Happy Christmas.

Bank Has Remarkable Enlistment Record.

In an "Honor Roll" issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce some remarkable figures are given showing the high percentage of the bank's staff enlisted in the present war. A total of 1,200 officers of the bank have taken up military duty, representing 65 per cent. of the male staff between the ages of 18 and 45; 60 per cent. of the entire male staff, and 40 per cent. of the bank.

Of these 77 have been killed up to the present date, 165 wounded, 7 missing, 8 prisoners of war, and 17 ill.

The girls in a certain town have an anti-slang society. A certain miss was elected president. Asked if she would accept, she replied: "Sure, Mike, but gosh, girls, I'm so rattled in my cupola, that I'm really short on gab. We are certainly hitting the high places, and I never tumbled to such a poise before, but when I give you the high ball I expect you to get there, Eli, and whoop'er up for all that's out. I think I'm up to snuff enough so the flies won't light on me while doing the president stunt of this society act, but I won't stand for any monkey doodle business from you gals while I'm running the ranch. We gals ought to extend an invite to the married ladies to get out and help us shoot this slang business, it's setting to be fierce."

Advertising For Churches Urged.

Experts Say Newspaper Publicity Most Powerful Agency

Leading clergymen and laymen representing Brooklyn and Manhattan churches to the number of eighty or more attended a church publicity conference under the auspices of the Brooklyn Y.M.C.A. central branch held recently. The conference discussed the question of increasing interest in the work of the church by advertising. The keynote of the conference was how the churches should advertise.

Rev. S. Edward Young, who presided, stated by way of introduction, that he was glad the church was waking up to the possibilities of advertising. He introduced Rev. Dr. Christian F. Resner, pastor of Grace M. E. Church, Manhattan, president of the department of church advertising and publicity in connection with the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world. Dr. Resner spoke of the success of the church advertising convention held by the New Haven Chamber of Commerce on Monday, and stated that the church advertising movement was "the best and biggest thing he had ever seen in its promise."

Rev. D. E. Weigle, minister of the Messiah Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, secretary of the church advertising and publicity department of the Associated Advertising Club of the world, spoke on "Church Advertising That Succeeds." He said that advertising is the most potent and powerful agency in the world.

An open discussion followed in which it was stated that the legitimate end and aim of church publicity and advertising is to advertise the church rather than "my" church, that it was to be co-operative, borough-wide, and church-wide campaign.

WAS NOT WOUNDED AS REPORTED.

was back with my battalion in five days, although I was no use for any work for about six weeks. Since that I have not laughed at anyone with shell shock.

I have met lots of Summerlanders lately. Here are some: Douglas Male, Warren Bateman, William Beattie, James Gordon, Percy Holder, and a Mr Reid, also Mr Rush, since killed. These boys have seen some hard work since I saw them. Recent arrivals are Bert Nelson, Ernest Smith, Roderick Munro, and Mr Marson, who are now in the old famous seventh battalion. These last named are all well. I expect to see them in a day or so again. Then there is Keith Elliott who I am apt to run up against anywhere.

Well, I do not intend to tell you what I am doing and where I am, but I am writing this in an underground dugout, lying on the bed and my foot resting on the ceiling. My knee is the writing table; there is not room to sit down. We, that is our shift, work at night. We sleep by day, and do this at odd times.

My wife is enjoying life in England fine and the dear baby is quite well at present. I am not too bad now, but I have not done much work since my second trip to hospital, and cannot yet say how I am going to stand the strain. This is the fourth attempt at work.

Well, good luck to old Summerland. I hope this war will soon be over, so that I can get back there again.

From Yours,
C. W. HADDRELL.

Aged Westbank Resident Disappears.

Apparently Made Preparations To Go Travelling.

Kelowna Record, Dec. 14.

Search parties of Westbank and Kelowna people, the provincial police, and Indians from the reserve have been scouring the country across the lake during the past week for some trace of Mr J. Dobbin, an aged Westbank resident who mysteriously disappeared from home on Wednesday, and has not been heard of since. Despite the most careful combing of the district for a radius of many miles not a clue has been found to afford the slightest indication of what can have happened to the old man. The searchers, however, are still persisting in their endeavors.

Last Wednesday evening it appears that Mr Dobbin, who is 86 years of age, went for his mail as usual to the house of a neighbor, and returning home, sat reading the papers until a late hour, his wife and daughter retiring and leaving him thus occupied. In the morning he was nowhere to be found. His fur coat and hat, over-shoes, pipe and tobacco, and cheque book were also missing. Obviously moved by some sudden fancy he had prepared himself for a journey, and had set out without disturbing the family. What direction he took, and what was his aim, remains an impenetrable mystery. The house he occupies is about four or five miles back from the lake, and there is very little choice of direction except by rough climbing over hilly country, which would scarcely seem possible to a man so old and feeble. On Thursday a light fall of snow made chances of tracking him still more remote, though several expert Indians, tempted by a reward of $50, have taken up the task. The weather has been fairly cold lately, and unless the old man has been able to find shelter, it is extremely unlikely that he can have survived the exposure for so many days, especially as he apparently took no food with him.

It appears that the old gentleman, who is an old soldier and veteran of the Indian mutiny, has been very much exercised over the war lately. The paper he was reading contained the news of the Teuton successes in Roumania, and it is thought possible this may have preyed upon his mind somewhat, and prompted him to forget his years, and to set out with some vague notion of "doing his bit." He was very proud of his past record as a soldier, and could often be seen wearing the medals he had acquired during his long service. He had no particular troubles except his anxiety over the war and it seems impossible to assign any other motive for his action. In any case it is remarkable that no trace of him can be found as it is a difficult country to get out of, and his tall old-fashioned figure would command attention anywhere.

One of Mr Dobbin's sons Arthur went away this fall with the Foresters' Battalion, while another son, John, resides in the Westbank town.

Do not get so far in advance of the times that they will not be able to catch up.

Fruit Growers Must Advertise.

Something of What In Being Done.

There has come to the editorial desk an attractive booklet "Advertising B.C. Fruit," containing reproductions of advertisements published last season in prairie papers by the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association. For the copy we are indebted to Mr W. E. McTaggart, our energetic Fruit Markets Commissioner, who makes Calgary his headquarters during the fruit shipping season. The aggressive advertising campaign under his direction has helped much in the extension of our markets and the increase in the consumption of our fruits.

"We must map out a still bigger and more comprehensive campaign for next year if we are to reach the goal of wider and better markets," says President Thomas Abriel, in the "President's Foreword."

DOES A BOX SHOOK COMBINE EXIST?

boxes, too. Evidently the combine did not get in all the possible box makers. However, the local Union is anxious to buy its shooks locally, and as the order already placed does not cover all the need of the Growers there is yet an opportunity for the Valley mills to revise their prices."

Mr White said that both the local Union and the manager of the Central entertained the best of feeling for the manager of the Summerland Lumber Co., and hoped they would be able to place an order with them to the capacity of their factory.

Millenium — the time when the number of "found" advertisements in the newspapers will exceed those in the "lost" column.

The world would be better if neighbors in country places would visit each other more, and try to be just a little more agreeable and kindly interested in each other's affairs. Such visits help to banish household cares, and enable good ideas to go from life to life and home to home for the good of all.

Reeve Will Serve a Third Term

Believed Other Councillors Will Seek Re-election.

Coun. Stark Retires

Will Be Two to Elect to School Board.

We are now within ten days of the day set for the nomination of candidates for municipal honors by election to the council board and to the board of school trustees. That matters have been well managed one would conclude from the total lack of any "turn-him-out" spirit, and it would seem that there is to be less opposition to some at least of the present holders of these positions than they would wish.

Under our municipal act we must appoint a reeve and four council men each year, and this year there are two to elect to the school board.

That Reeve Blair will consent to re-election is now certain. He has expressed himself as desiring more of an endorsement from the people than the coming to him of two or three to ask him to consent to run again, and the promise that he will not be opposed. He would like to have opposition, and then if elected he would feel that he was the people's choice. Up to the present writing no other candidate for the reeveship has been heard of.

Coun. Johnston, representing Ward IV., has also stated his willingness to serve another term if such be the wish of the ratepayers. It would seem that he is likely to be returned unopposed, but of course one cannot tell what may develop in the next few days.

Another who would relish opposition so that he might the better judge if he were pleasing the electors in his ward is Coun. Simpson. He would prefer to be returned in a stiff fight against a good opponent. Then he would know that he had been giving satisfaction. This is the way Coun. Simpson looks at it. He favors the idea of remunerating the councillors in part for their services so that more citizens may be induced to offer themselves for public service. That he will have opposition now seems unlikely for, as expressed by one ratepayer, if the present men are willing to carry on the work the people are willing that they should.

Coun. Stark is dropping out. He finds it impossible to give the work the time it needs, and told the Review that it would be unfair to accept nomination again under these circumstances. Several citizens are mentioned as possible successors to Coun. Stark. That all of them have consented to run is not known at this moment. The citizens so mentioned are Dr Andrew, John Tait, and H. Bristow. It is said that at the request of some friends Mr Tait has recently registered a deed so that he might qualify if needed.

Whether Coun. Campbell will accept renomination is not known, but his friends are still hoping that he will. He objected last year on the ground that he had not the time to give to the work, and it is said that he was urged to run then with the promise from Mr Wm. Ritchie that if he did so Mr Ritchie would stand for election this year. Mr Ritchie is being mentioned now as a possibility, but he states that he finds himself even more tied to his own business affairs than he was last year. Ex-Supt. Mitchell is also mentioned as a possible candidate for the same ward.

Chairman Dr E. W. Sawyer and

Joining New Inland Water Service.

Messrs Chas. Wharton and Gerald Roe of Summerland and Naramata respectively, have enlisted into the service of the new inland water transportation service being organized by the imperial authorities, and expect to leave about the 8th of next month for England. This service is being established primarily to improve the transport service on the Tigris River in Mesopotamia, where military operations on a larger scale seem to be pending. The new service may also be of use on the inland waters of Egypt, and possibly in other zones of war. The chief qualification applicants must possess, of course, is some knowledge of navigation or marine engineering. Messrs Wharton and Roe completed the enlistment formalities a few days ago, and are to be sent direct to England.

Telephone Service Partially Interrupted

Section of Underground Cable Decomposed.

Saturday Will See Phones Re-Connected.

Those telephone subscribers whose phones have been out of commission for some days will be glad to learn that there is now good prospect of renewing the service on Saturday. No less than thirty-one phones, mostly house phones, have been "dead" for about ten days, and some of them for a longer time. The trouble has been located after a good deal of digging, in a section of the cable under Shaughnessy Avenue, where 250 feet of the cable has been ruined by electrolysis. Rather than effect temporary repairs, which would have been very unsatisfactory, a section of cable on the pole line at Campbell's corner has been taken down and will be inserted in the underground cable. Otherwise the company would have had to wait for a piece of cable to be shipped from Montreal.

According to Manager Atkins the cause of the trouble was a poor "grounding" of the ground wire at the Central. When the system was installed under the direction of the Kellogg man the ground wire was attached to the domestic water pipe, a common practice. It would appear that in this case the pipe, after but a short distance from the Central is of wood, a poor conductor. It is supposed that the current found an outlet along the wet ground in which the cable is laid, and at the point where the damage was done the cable has been lying in water which favored the electrochemical action on the lead casing of the cable resulting finally in honeycombing it with innumerable holes. It is expected that the splicing of the numerous wires will be effected on Saturday, thus again connecting the phones with Central, and the whole job finished early in the week.

Trustees Hilborn and Sharp hold office for another year. Trustee Mrs Ross has already resigned, and Trustee Mrs Kelley's term of office expires at the end of this year. It is understood that she will seek re-election. The town district and that of Garnett Valley, in both of which there are schools, are looking for representation on the board. At the same time candidates seem scarce. School trustees are elected at large, and not by wards as are the councillors. Nevertheless it has been the practice to elect the trustees from the different sections following the ward system fairly closely.

Council Hold An Extra Session

Bank Loan And Security Asked For Discussed.

Several By-Laws

Constable's Report Depicts Orderly Community.

Municipal business was transacted at a special meeting held last Friday at 3 p.m. with only the Reeve and the chairmen of the Public Works and Finance committees present. This meeting was for the purpose of passing accounts for December so that they might be in shape for auditing and closing of the books for the year, and to clean up other business including a by-law to secure the bank for a loan of $10,000 that will not be paid till 1917.

Electrician Thorner reported finding a number of faulty meters some of which were not recording while others were running slow. He asked permission to replace these with new ones and have the others gathered in for the inspector. He recommended further that where meters were now exposed to the weather that householders be required to cover them. Adopted.

Mr O. E. Fisher, traffic manager of the K.V.R. asked that the charges for water supplied at the local tank be reduced as the railway was taking but little water. It was pointed out that the minimum rate being charged was fixed by agreement between the railway and municipality and ratified by the ratepayers. To alter the rate a new agreement endorsed by the ratepayers would be necessary. Mr Fisher was so advised.

When the Council was asked at an earlier meeting to support a diversion of the proposed trans-provincial highway from a route close to Oroville to one passing through Penticton, it was suggested by the editor of the Review that if it was desired to follow an easy grade and to get into the heart of the Okanagan the route between Princeton and Summerland should be selected. This was the route selected by the railway engineers; it was the shortest route to the Okanagan and brought the Coast motorist to a point where he could be within easy access of other Valley centres both north and south. This suggestion was immediately seized upon by the Council and the Clerk was instructed to communicate with Mr J. W. Jones, M.L.A. Mr Jones' acknowledgment was read at Friday's meeting. He doubted if the government would do any construction work. However, he was getting all information possible as to routes, etc.

We are a healthy, law abiding people—with the appetite of an aesthete. This is proven by the constable's report. Since his appointment some months ago he has made no arrests and there have been no fines imposed. Only one case of infectious disease was reported, a case of measles brought in from another town. As to the appetite, a number of growers of small fruits reported losing some from their orchards. This the constable termed pilfering. His report told of numerous small but necessary duties performed.

It has been found necessary, according to the official interpretation of the act, to get the approval of the ratepayers to make the proposed electric light extensions as well as to borrow the money for such purpose, notwithstanding that the by-law for the latter carries such implication. By-laws for these pur-

G. N. Gartrell Is Now Fisheries Overseer.

The position of Dominion Fisheries Overseer for this district has been given to Mr George N. Gartrell. Announcement of the appointment appeared in a recent issue of the Royal Gazette. Mr Gartrell has been a most efficient Deputy Game Warden for the provincial authorities and will without doubt prove as capable and efficient in the larger duties under the Dominion government. The appointment carries with it that of Justice of the Peace. It is understood that his territory will extend from the C.P.R. main line down through the Valley to the international boundary.

The position was at one time held by a citizen of Vernon but has been vacant for some months. We will look for a more vigorous enforcement of the fisheries regulations henceforth.

Shale Pit Belongs To The Municipality

Councillors' Opinion When They See Registered Plan

Bank Loan By-Law Gets Another Reading

According to the opinion of the councillors at Tuesday's meeting, the shale pit, over which there has been some dispute between the Council and Mr H. Tomlin, is entirely outside his line, as is also the road to it. A plan from the registry office, just received, confirmed them in this belief. Mr Kirk will be asked to run the lines according to this official plan.

The reason for the Council again meeting was to further the by-laws submitted at the meeting on Friday. The same three members were present.

The polling booths for the coming election were selected and the date of the ratepayers' meeting fixed. That by-law to secure the bank for the loan of last spring was again considered at length. The purchases at tax sales made by the municipality have already tied up considerable sinking fund money, and the statement is going to show a shortage of several thousand dollars in that account. The councillors felt that the bank was amply secured without giving that institution a lien on the sinking fund taxes as well as the general and school taxes. That some such arrangement as will suit the bank without involving the sinking fund taxes can be arrived at is expected. A further meeting will be necessary to finally fix and pass this act.

Messrs Elsoy and Vanderburg, who are running the rink, were promised electric light upon their paying for the cost of connection and paying the rates in advance.

Mr A. A. Derrick, a Summerland fruit grower registered at the Hotel Alcazar, says that he gets better prices for his product by selling direct to prairie consumers and retailers. He states that he never sells his fruit through the various growers' associations because it is of a superior quality. Mr Derrick originally came from Winnipeg and he has been in the fruit business at Summerland for nine years. —Vancouver News-Advertiser.

Proposals were prepared and given first readings. It will be necessary that the by-law authorizing the debentures with which those prospective ratepayers, who were advancing the money for extension work, were to be secured must be voted upon again at the same time as the by-

M'Alpine Case Goes to Appeal Court

County Court Evidence Now Being Transcribed.

May Charge Perjury

Municipal Witnesses Swore Four Inch Pipe Was Six

That T. J. McAlpine will carry his case against the Municipality for damages alleged to have been done to his house by water from a domestic water pipe, to the Court of Appeals was the assurance given the Review this week. The opinion was expressed at a recent Council meeting that the time in which the appeal could be made had expired, and it was implied from the fact that the Council had received no notice of appeal that the case had been dropped. Mr McAlpine states however that he has still to the end of January in which to enter his appeal and that he is now having the evidence prepared to submit to the Appeal Court.

Opinion on the outcome is as sharply divided as it was on the result of the original suit. There are not a few citizens who declare that Mr McAlpine will win the appeal, while many others are equally as positive that the judgment of the county court will be sustained.

An outcropping of the hearing in the county court at Vernon, when the verdict went against the plaintiff, is the avowed intention of Mr McAlpine as reported about town to enter a charge of perjury against several of the municipal authorities. It would appear that in their evidence they each swore that a new piece of six inch wood pipe had been laid down beside the older four inch pipe. When Mr McAlpine returned, so sure was he that this was not so, he, according to current report, unearthed a section of the new pipe and found it to be four inch and not six as the municipal witnesses swore.

That the authorities so stated and that such was their belief, the Review would gather from recent enquiry. From what has been learned it would seem that the Reeve and other members of the Public Works Committee, as well as the superintendent, Mr Mitchell, concluded that when putting in the new section it would be good policy to lay the larger pipe as it was thought that more of it would have to be replaced in the near future with larger pipe to meet the demands for more water. The accountant was instructed to order the pipe. It is now stated that he made a mistake by ordering the same size as that which he knew to be there already and that the pipe arrived and was put in place and covered by some of the employees without being seen by the superintendent or any of the authorities mentioned above.

That these men swore to what they believed to be true and could not be charged with perjury is their opinion.

Rev Oliver E. Mann, of Bowden, Alberta, has purchased through Mr E. D. Cooper the orchard portion of the Peach Orchard property commonly known as the Fulton lot. This is the property now owned by Mr S. J. Emerson, who retains the house and grounds about it. Mr Mann was a visitor here last fall and has a site already selected for a house on his new holding. It is understood that he will spend at least a portion of next summer here and plans on making Summerland his permanent home at an early date.

Want Further Light Tension.

That the proposed electric light extension around the east of Giant's Head should stop at Pollock's corner does not satisfy those living just beyond, and they are of the opinion an error has crept in in the estimating of the cost of continuing to T. J. Garnett's. A delegation of two, Messrs Garnett and G. Marshall, waited on the Council on Friday last and persuaded that body to look further into the matter. Not only was the estimated cost of extension high but the estimate of the revenue was too low, according to these gentlemen. They want the line to reach the Nelson, Marshall and Garnett homes. The Fenner house is already wired and while they could not promise, they thought Mr Fenner would want connection. The electrician's estimate will be referred back for fuller details.

Pastor Leaving for New Westminster

Farewell Sermons Will Be Delivered Sunday

Planning For Union Social Evening Monday Next

On Sunday next Rev. N. McNaughton concludes his ministry of two and a half years with the Summerland Baptist Church. He is going to New Westminster to take charge of the church there. There is no question that during the course of his pastorate here his earnest and particularly forceful sermons have won for him many staunch admirers and friends among the adherents of other denominations than the one with which he is most closely associated. With Mrs McNaughton and family he is leaving on the evening train next Tuesday for the Coast.

Mr McNaughton will conduct his final services on Sunday next. In St Andrew's Church in the morning at 10.30 his subject will be "What Religion Has Done." In the evening at the Lakeside Church at 7 o'clock his topic will be "The Religion of the Future."

At the evening service special music will help to make the occasion one of unusual note. Anthems will be rendered by the large union choir, further augmented by other voices from Miss Harrison's choir, and Miss Evelyn Brown will be the soloist, her selections being Handel's "Angels Ever Bright and Fair."

Plans are being completed for a social evening at the Parkdale Church on Monday, in which the united congregations will join in extending good wishes and bidding farewell to their pastor and his wife.

To Publish Thursday Next Week.

Next week's issue of the Review will be published on Thursday instead of Friday as customary. This will be on account of the fact that the annual municipal statement for the year 1916 will appear in this issue, and so that the paper may be put into everyone's hands in plenty of time to allow of adequate perusal of the figures before the annual meeting of ratepayers, which takes place on Saturday, January 6th, as stated in an advertisement elsewhere.

Correspondents, advertisers, contributors and others interested are especially requested to govern themselves according to this notice and put themselves forward one day.

THE YEAR'S WORK.

AT THE MEETING OF RATEPAYERS last January the suggestion was made that the Council undertake to get a copy of the annual financial statement in the hands of the ratepayers before such meetings, so that an intelligent discussion of it would be possible. This course is to be followed this year, and in next week's Review the figures for the last year will appear. In connection with this there is another suggestion which will meet with the approval of all who are really interested in civic progress, and something that would give an even better idea of the way the money collected in these hard times is disposed of. No one is attempting to insinuate that such moneys are not being spent to the best advantage, but if a statement over the signature of the chairman of the public works committee were prepared and given to the ratepayers generally, showing just what has been done in the way of public work, reconstruction and repairs to the different utilities, we are confident that it would come as a revelation to many in the way of shrewd financing, besides putting the quietus on much captious criticism that is sometimes heard at this time of year. Similarly the Reeve might hand out a statement relative to the general status of the municipality, the financial outlook, and such other matters.

If the annual financial statement were accompanied by such documents as these, the course of the ratepayers' meeting would be much more direct, and from the fact of everyone coming forearmed, so to speak, much valuable time would be saved. Intelligent questions would become the order of the meeting instead of aimless discussions very often carried on quite in the dark as to the real state of things.

The Council would be more likely to get full appreciation for their work under difficult conditions, the individual councillors would get just credit for their share in the year's activities, and the ratepayers would be quicker to see that they have been getting one hundred per cent. value for their money.

The Review commends this suggestion to the proper authorities.

A. D. 1917.

NEW YEARS have dawned under far more propitious circumstances than those which are being recorded in the world's progress at the dawn of 1917. Indeed it is probable that never before was there such national anxiety rife at the present time. It can be shown, however, that this feeling of anxiety should not be beset with any undue pessimism, but rather when the true import of events is gathered and the signs read aright, with real optimism.

It has become quite a confirmed annual procedure on the part of some people to go through at this time of year a certain formality they call making new year resolutions. This custom is in some ways commendable, though if there is at any time the desire to turn over a new leaf in one's life or to begin the cultivation of any desirable trait, it is difficult to see just why such a step should not be undertaken on any one of the other three hundred and sixty-four days in the year.

Nevertheless it is natural that just at the time when another year is slipping into the inexorable past there should come the desire to bring up in retrospect the achievements since the last new year, and also the mistakes and failures, and read in them the way to greater success in the future. It is more in the latter that the way to true happiness is to be found, since the faculty of profiting from one's own failures is something to be greatly desired. Most human beings can point out the failings in their neighbors' lives, but as to our own there are often scales on our eyes.

Here are a few new year resolutions which, as a citizen, each might steadfastly attempt to put into action:

Resolved that as a Canadian citizen I will assume my full share of national responsibilities, not shirking anything in this connection that I know to be my duty.

Resolved that I will show myself to be a useful citizen by performing whatever public services opportunity may bring to me.

Resolved that I will always speak well of my home town, realizing that any fool can criticize, but that to praise judiciously is a rare gift.

Resolved that on all occasions I will combat the pessimist with optimism.

NATIONAL SERVICE WEEK.

NATIONAL SERVICE WEEK is drawing very near and the fact that the first week of the New Year bears that title is something in which everyone in Canada has an interest. The men are interested because it is obligatory upon each of them, between the ages of 16 and 65 years, to fill out one of the cards which the government is sending to them through the post office authorities. The women are interested because their co-operation is being invited, in seeing that their menfolk attend to this important duty. The children are interested because their school teachers have explained to them the meaning of National Service and the way in which father and the big brothers at home have to reply to the various questions.

To write in the answers and return the card promptly is a good New Year's resolution for every man throughout the Dominion, and it has the advantage of being easy of fulfillment. It only means a few minutes' enrolment thought.

National Service means that we are to get into that frame of mind which will cause us to think of the needs of the country, to realize that the interests of the State have a greater claim on us than our self-interest. This applies to everyone, from the highest in the land to the lowest. The Prince of Wales' motto "I serve" may well be the motto of every citizen of the British Empire at this time.

There are many ways of serving the nation besides going to the front. The man on the farm and the mechanic in a workshop may be serving the nation as usefully as the man in the trenches. Every man should be doing the work which represents his most efficient service to his country.

The war is teaching us, or should be teaching us, great lessons. Terrible as are its effects, those who have faith in Canadian manhood hope and believe that the nation will emerge from this experience a stronger and a better people. If the meaning of National Service is thoroughly grasped and properly understood, if the government's call for information is responded to in the right spirit, the coming year will be the banner year in Canada's history.

THE HALF HOLIDAY.

STRENUOUS EFFORTS are being made at the Coast cities to break the Saturday half-holiday and force a midweek half-day off. Some merchants of Vancouver and Victoria are leading the fight, and the clerks and labor element are working as strenuously to prevent the change being made. This fight at the Coast is being used by the merchants of the Interior towns as an indication of dissatisfaction with Saturday, and an inducement for the Interior to hold to the midweek half-day off. At the same time there are many business men who realize the futility of attempting to force a half-holiday on the community on a day that cannot be utilized by the people as a holiday, and are personally in favor of adopting Saturday as the day throughout the province. On that day the schools are closed, the banks are closed, and all public business is discontinued for the half day. Therefore, they argue, it is the only day on which to inaugurate the weekly half-holiday with any possibility of making it acceptable or popular.

The only real objection to the Saturday half-holiday which has been raised by the Coast cities, has been on account of the weekly Saturday pay day. They argue that if they had a weekly Friday pay day all objection to the Saturday half-holiday would disappear. Then why not press for a Friday pay day rather than for a change to an unpopular day? This would do away with any appearance of class legislation, and would permit British Columbia to fall into line with the general Saturday half-holiday adopted in almost every country under the sun?—Enderby Press.

YESTERDAY AND TO-DAY.

THERE WAS A TIME when man was supposed to be at his best when he was alone. That was taken as the highest reach and lonely men were called holy men. To-day a man who is out of touch with fellow men is a useless man. His beatitude and exaltation do not in the slightest enhance his value. For men ask of one another that each help in the work and business of life, and contribute his ability and his manhood. No man has the right to forsake his fellow men, and every man has the duty to co-operate with the men of his town and time. In former days, isolation was a great virtue—to-day it is a great vice and the source of most crimes.—Rabbi Grossman

Caught Supplying Liquor To Indians

Constable Graham's Smart Capture.

(Kelowna Courier)

As a result of the energies of Prov. Con. Graham the beginning of this week saw the end of an illegal liquor selling business which has been running for some time, possibly a year or more, and which has baffled the police of the district repeatedly. For several months past, especially during last summer and fall, the police had been aware that someone was supplying liquor to Indians contrary to law, but it was not until last Saturday that Constable Graham cleverly succeeded in discovering that Reuben Draper, Sutherland Avenue, was the culprit, and that the place of business was his shack near the Anglican Church. Before arresting his man, Constable Graham also secured abundant evidence which proved amply sufficient to convict the accused.

Originally, the police had only been aware that gambling and drinking, and the purchase of liquor by Indians, was taking place somewhere between Kelowna and Okanagan Mission, but gradually Constable Graham got nearer and nearer to the place, and finally located it as Draper's shack. Last Saturday afternoon he hid himself near the building, and was soon rewarded by seeing four or five Siwash and a kooch come out. When he made his presence known, however, they all took to their heels in different directions. In spite of his best efforts they reached the lake before him and got afloat. By the time he got a boat they were so far away that it was impossible to follow them on the water in the twilight. Coming up the street, however, he encountered another Indian, Eli Antoine, and arrested him for being under the influence of liquor. Although Antoine had the odor of drink about him and was plainly suffering from its effects, he swore he had not tasted liquor. Upon being reminded by Magistrate Weddell that last time he was sentenced he got six months, and that this time he would probably get the same unless he confessed, he chose the latter course, and informed his worship where he had obtained the drink, admitting that the Indians had been in the habit of getting it there for years.

Antoine was kept at the police office while Constable Graham went back to Draper's shack, and was again rewarded by seeing three more Indians come out. He promptly went after these and succeeded in capturing two of them. All this time Draper was quite unaware of the evidence which was rapidly being secured against him. Constable Graham next arrested him, after which he searched the house. It was here that one of the biggest surprises came along, for not only did he find five or six bottles of whisky, but he also ran across a great quantity of dry-goods, clothes and shoes, which looked suspiciously to him as though they had been through the recent fire in the Raymer Block.

Summerland now has a substantial representation in the ranks of the 143rd Battalion, B.C. Bantams, a popular unit now finishing its recruiting at the Coast. Privates John Pollock, James Ritchie, and Edward Logie are three who are already enrolled, and the fourth from Summerland to join is George Dale, who has already signed up, and expects to leave to join the regiment after the New Year holiday.

Doings of Peachland

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

The plans for the public school closing last Friday had to be changed somewhat because so many of the children were detained at home owing to heavy colds. For the last week or two the numbers have been steadily decreasing, and reached the climax on the closing day, for out of a class of thirty-five children only fourteen were present. Miss Pentland's class was to have joined with Miss Elliott's in the closing exercises, but as there were so few children present Miss Pentland went on with the ordinary work, though visitors were welcome, and the program was given by the younger children in Miss Elliott's room.

The room was very prettily decorated with festoons of paper chains in many gay colors, and suspended from these were little cornucopias and lanterns. On the platform was a miniature Christmas tree hung with woven paper mats, paper picture frames, etc., made by the children for their parents. The parents and friends of the children were very much interested in their work, which was displayed around the walls. There were outline pictures illustrating Mother Goose rhymes, colored tastefully and well, woven paper mats in bright colors, samples of writing, and pictures outlined in colored worsted. This work all reflected credit upon the teacher, and showed that the children were really interested in their work. The following program was well rendered and enjoyed by those present:

- "Boy's First Speech" - Kenneth
- "The Gingerbread Doll" - Paulina
- "Santa Remember" - Jimmie
- "A Christmas Wish" - Douglas
- "Her Vision" - Helma
- "Christmas Carol" - Wallace
- "The Cripple Dolly" - Frances
- "Jack Frost" - Sidney
- "Who Is It?" - George
- "Dressing" - Fred
- "Santa's Boy" - Ray
- "St Nicholas" - Chorus

Rev. Mr. Rowland spoke a few words at the close congratulating teacher and pupils.

Owing to so much sickness the White Christmas entertainment which should have been given in the Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening has been postponed until further notice.

Next Sunday evening the members of the union choir are going to sing a number of Christmas carols.

Mr George Gartrell, Game Warden, came up from Summerland on Thursday and spent the day in the district.

Mr John McLaughlan and Miss Olive Ferguson went to Kelowna on Thursday.

Mr R. Harrington went to Kelowna on Friday.

Mr Jack Stewart came from the prairies to spend Christmas with Mr and Mrs Keating.

Three teachers left for the Coast on Friday to spend their two week's vacation at their various homes, Miss Pentland going to New Westminster, Miss Whitworth to Sardis, and Miss Robinson to Victoria.

Mr and Mrs J. H. Hyde came in on Saturday to spend Christmas with Mrs Hyde's mother, Mrs Lee Mills. Mr Hyde returned to Penticton on Monday night.

Miss Morrison returned on Friday from Vancouver where she has been attending the Normal School.

Mr A. Town, Masters Albert and Gordon Town, Hugh Ferguson and Walter Shaw spent Saturday in Kelowna.

Miss Bessie Sonton came in from Vernon on Saturday to spend the holidays with her mother.

Mr Moore's daughter, Mrs Thomas Cartwright, of Okanagan Landing, came home for Christmas.

Mr Walter Morsch came from Summerland to spend Christmas with his family here.

Mr and Mrs D. A. Kirkby and family came up from Penticton for Christmas and are staying with Mrs Kirkby's father and mother, Mr and Mrs John McLaughlan.

A meeting of the executive of the Patriotic Fund was held on Saturday evening in the Council Chamber. Rev W. J. Scott and Coun R. J. Hogg were present by invitation. The secretary-treasurer, Mr A. H. Cutbill, gave a report of the year's transactions by which it appeared that the district had received considerably more from the fund than it had contributed. It was therefore suggested that steps be taken to canvass the Municipality, and it was therefore determined to divide the place into districts to obtain and collect monthly subscriptions. It was thought that people who would only give a dollar when asked for a lump sum annually would willingly give $3 by giving it monthly at the rate of 25 cents a month.

Many of the people here are separated by long distances from their relations, and as it is impossible for them to go to them for Christmas, they did the next best thing by inviting some other lonely family to enjoy the Christmas dinner with them. And these happy groups enjoyed the day much better than if they had spent it by themselves.

School Closing.

According to previous announcement the closing exercises for the school took place on Friday afternoon. The large attendance of parents and others was evidence of the interest taken in the progress and welfare of the scholars and in the efforts of the teachers toward such a worthy end.

The program had been prepared by the pupils of Miss Walker's class and reflected very creditably on her careful coaching.

The following is the program as rendered:

- Recitation Stanley Allen "Xmas Welcome."

- Recitation Elsie Brodie "Old Santa Claus."
- Dialogue "No Presents."

School Board Meeting.

The regular meeting of the month of the Board of School Trustees was held on Friday afternoon at the close of the exercises. In addition to the three trustees, Messrs Partridge and W. M. Armour were present to hear and discuss the report of Inspector Anstey on the school boundaries. The boundaries as the inspector explained included practically all the land subdivided and held for speculative purposes. That all the land as far north as Mr Cash's property should this year be assessed.

The question arose as to the right of the district to levy school tax on the railway company and on the telephone company which has extended their line from Pentiction. The secretary was asked to take the matter up with the Department of Education and to report at the January meeting.

Special Christmas Service.

Peace! Peace! But there is no peace! The service at the church on Sunday afternoon was featured by special and appropriate music, and by a stirring Christmas message from Pastor R. M. Thompson, of the Pentiction Methodist Church. Basing his remarks on this passage in Luke's gospel, "Glory to God in the highest and on earth, peace and goodwill toward men," the speaker showed that though there is an apparent mockery in such words under conditions prevailing at the present, yet at the birth of Christ the physical and religious world was in a state of unrest, and there never has been any lengthy period in the history of the nations of the world when one could dream of lasting peace. And not till the teaching of the Master had thoroughly permeated the nations might we look for or expect the idealistic state of peace on earth. He justified the part Canada is playing in this titanic struggle on the ground that it was a fight for the principles of freedom and justice.

The service of song was featured by a solo by Mrs M. M. Allen, "Star of the East." Mrs Languedoc presided at the organ throughout the service.

Current Events OF Town & District

Mrs Thompson of Pentiction accompanied her husband upon the occasion of his trip to town on Sunday.

Mrs W. W. Mitchell accompanied by her youngest daughter, Marguerite, returned on Saturday evening's boat from a few weeks' visit at the home of Mrs L. L. McDonald, Blackie, Alberta.

Postmaster W. R. Bartlett and Mr Billy Robinson spent Christmas in Summerland as guests at the home of the latter's father, Mr W. J. Robinson.

In a recent letter to friends here, it is learned that Mr Fred C. Manchester has been successful in undergoing a critical operation at Battle Creek, Mich.

The home of Pte. and Mrs D. O. Hughes was the scene of a merry family gathering on Christmas night. Amongst those present were: Mr and Mrs H. P. Davies; Mr and Mrs John Noyes; Mr Gerald Roe; Lieut. J. A. Noyes of 231st Seaforth Highlanders.

It is likely that Mr Ben Hoy will be in Naramata shortly to conduct a pruning school. It therefore behoves all intending students to enrol at the very earliest date.

Friday evening witnessed quite an exodus of citizens en route to Vancouver to spend a holiday. Amongst those who were noticed were Mr Russell Wells, Mrs Wells and two children; Miss Maude Walker, besides a number of men from the big lumber camp now established above the railway grade east of town.

Mrs T. H. Boothe is in receipt of an interesting photo from her son, Reg, taken "somewhere in France." The picture, labelled "Innocents Abroad," shows Reg, along with two others, one of whom, Corporal Black, has since been killed.

Mr Dave Robertson, at one time a school boy here, but now a full-fledged fireman in the service of the K.V.R., was in town for a short while on Tuesday. Just at present he is helping his father, Mr A. G. Robertson with the 1,000 cords of wood contract at Arawana Siding.

A birthday party on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr and Mrs T. H. Boothe in honor of their son Edmund was an event of interest to a score or so of the young boys and girls present. The evening's entertainment included besides a goodly number of old-fashioned games, a number of new and entertaining ones.

Mr J. C. Lyons and wife returned on Saturday from a three weeks' visit at Victoria and Vancouver. They express themselves as being more than well satisfied with their stay at the Coast, but find nothing quite so fine as this favored spot in southern Okanagan.

Christmas day in Naramata was spent quietly—and as far as knowledge goes—spent soberly. Many of the families have got into the pleasant custom of doubling up for the two chief days of the mid-winter festive holiday season. A sort of pairing off and sharing the responsibilities and doubling the pleasurable and joys of the occasion. Mr and Mrs Walters and family, Mr and Mrs Salting and family, and Mr and Mrs W. J. Steele were one happy group; while the homes of Messrs J. P. H. and F. H. Rounds, Mr W. Steel, and Mr G. Cook comprised the membership of another equally happy gathering.

Mr W. R. Bartlett, postmaster, is in receipt of instructions from Ottawa regarding the military census cards now ready for distribution amongst all the male portion of the district between the ages of 16 and 65. He reports that already a start has been made, and that inside the limit of time set it is expected that full particulars will be available from Naramata.

Naramata holds rather an enviable recruiting record. Already, according to definite data, slightly over 50 per cent. of the military strength of the place have enlisted either for home or for foreign service. The most recent list includes the name of Mr Gerald Roe, engineer of the Okanagan Lake Boat Co.'s crew. Mr Roe will likely connect up with the motor boat transport service—a position which his experience as a practical motor boat man eminently qualifies him to fill.

Beginning to look as though the predictions by the Indians early in the season of a mild winter are likely to prove true, but just whether that prediction prove true or not the need of wood and coal still continues to haunt the dreams of some, if not all of the ranchers. It sure is cold enough to wear shoes at least to say nothing about Sox.

The need of a good road at least as far as four mile creek, is being more than emphasized by the increase of traffic to Pentiction. The most of the horse owners now depend upon getting their blacksmithing done at Pentiction rather than by a journeyman from Summerland, a service all too erratic for effective business getting or holding. It is noticeable too that Pentiction merchants are gradually drawing the bulk of surplus trade their way—and to give these merchants their due they certainly go out after the trade as their persistent advertising shows.

Mr Frank Young of Edmonton, where he holds an important position in the government accounting department, had more than the usual difficulty in reaching Naramata in time for Christmas dinner with his parents. Mr and Mrs James Young. He failed to make connections at Sicamous, which necessitated his travelling on a freight to Vernon. From Vernon to Summerland by auto is long enough even in summer, under ideal conditions. Summerland was reached on Sunday, and as there was no ferry service a wait over till the morning service enabled the tired traveller to get across the lake in a ample time, and with an appetite for plum pudding and other accessories of a spanking good Christmas dinner.

Possession is nine points of the law—self possession ten!

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

ing, and although he pleaded not guilty the evidence was so overwhelmingly strong against him, that he was fined $100 and costs or six months. Draper admitted he had given several drinks to Indians, but denied that he had sold it to them. Against this, one of the Indians, Prene Simpson, stated that he had been purchasing liquor from him for the last two years.

Under the direction of Magistrate Weddell, Constable Thomas then arrested Draper and held him pending information concerning the property found in his shack. A further search of Draper's shack by Constable Thomas revealed more dry-goods, while the shoes were identified as having been originally in Muirhead's store. "Girle" McDougall, widow of Arthur Gillard, stated that she had picked out a roll of silk which was being held for her pending probable purchase, she also stated that she had paid the accused $1.50 for a bottle of rye whisky, and later in the day had bought a square bottle of gin for $2.50. Other evidence also went to show that Draper had been trying to sell clothing to the Indians. As there was insufficient evidence really forthcoming to show that the various goods had been taken from the buildings after the fire, and that they had not been purchased from salvage stock the charge in this connection was dropped.

On Tuesday morning therefore, Draper was brought up in the City Court to face a similar charge to that for which he had appeared the previous day in the provincial court. He was defended by Mr R. B. Kerr, while Mr J. Burne prosecuted on behalf of the city. Magistrate Weddell again found the accused guilty, and sentenced him to a further fine of $100 and costs.

Both the fines were paid by Draper, the affair costing him altogether in the neighborhood of $215.00. Some of the other interesting facts brought out in the cases were that Draper had been employed as night watchman to guard the salvage after the recent big fire; that he had recently sold at least five or six pairs of shoes to Indians and had nine more pairs left in his house; and that he was convicted in 1913 of staying on the Indian reservation.

Mr and Mrs B. M. Richardson of Killam, Alberta, are spending the holiday season here at the home of Mrs J. R. Brown, Mr Richardson's sister.

Private D. C. Thompson of the Army Medical Corps came in from the Coast on Saturday morning's train to spend a few days' furlough with his family here.

Mr and Mrs Thomas Behan left Wednesday morning for a visit with Mr Behan's relatives in Montreal. Mrs Behan's mother, Mrs Conway, accompanied them as far as Winnipeg where she will remain for two months.

Archie Rutherford went out by the boat on Thursday morning of this week on his way to the prairies, where he will visit for about a month. His parents are farming near Brandon, and it is seven years since Mr Rutherford last saw them.

In a letter to his parents written the first of the week, Pte. Roy Darkis, now in hospital at Victoria, said that he was not feeling as well as he had been since his last operation, and that he would have to be operated on again this week when parts of two more ribs would be removed.

The special joint service of the Presbyterian and Baptist Sunday Schools planned for last Sunday afternoon in the Parkdale Baptist Church was duly held, the presentation of "White Gifts for the King" from the members of the two schools being the main feature of the service. The different classes brought their packages containing individual gifts, and with each was indicated the wishes of the donors as to the disposal of the gift. Needless to say most of the gifts brought were to be given for the benefit of the soldiers overseas.

The 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, a unit recruited mostly in British Columbia, and which left Victoria for overseas early in the spring of 1915, is now to be reinforced by a company of men which it is planned to raise in the interior of the province. The original 2nd C.M.R. has taken part in many of the most important actions occurring on the western front. The enlistment of a reinforcing draft of 250 men is now to be proceeded with from headquarters at Kamloops or Vernon. Efforts are to be made to raise the number in the Okanagan Valley, and this step may in part satisfy the demand made from the northern end of the Valley for the authorization of a purely Okanagan battalion.

Miss J. Rothwell of the Central School staff went out by last Friday evening's train for the Coast where she will spend the vacation.

Raymond E. Bent came in last Saturday from Seymour Arm, where he has been teaching school for the past year, to spend the vacation with his parents.

Mr and Mrs C. E. McCutcheon and family will occupy the J. C. Wilson cottage to be vacated in the next few days by Rev N. and Mrs McNaughton.

James Ritchie, son of Mr and Mrs William Ritchie, and now with the Bantams spent Christmas at his home here, returning to camp on Tuesday night.

James Pollock, now of Duncan, B.C., were he is engaged in the lumber business, was home over the holiday and returned to the Island early in the week.

Miss Edna MacLeod of the Municipal Office spent Christmas with her parents in Chilliwack, leaving here on Thursday evening and returning on Thursday morning.

Miss Clay went down to Vancouver on Friday evening to spend Christmas with her parents and the other members of the family. She returned on Wednesday morning.

The many friends of Mr F. C. Manchester, of Naramata, will be glad to learn he is slowly but surely recovering from a serious operation, which took place at Nicol's Hospital, Battle Creek, on November 17th. He is still at the hospital but is looking forward to spending Christmas at home.

Practices and rehearsals have been going on every day this week excepting Christmas Day, for the Methodist Sunday School Christmas Entertainment, which takes place this evening in Empire Hall. There is little question that if it meets with the support it deserves, the hall will be full to the doors.

H. C. Howis, who left Summerland with the 54th Battalion, has had a long siege of illness, or rather illnesses, of a very severe nature. After serving for a spell in the trenches he developed diphtheria, and after getting the better of this he was taken with appendicitis. From late word received here it is now apparent that he is recovering.

It will be recalled by our readers that some weeks ago the Summerland Women's Institute offered prizes for the best essay written by those young folk who earlier had participated in the competition for the prizes for the construction of the best bird house. The subject of the essay to be "My Tentants." There were three essays presented, and on Friday afternoon last Mrs Solly visited the school and on behalf of the Institute presented the prizes. Alan Estabrook was the winner of the first prize and Fred Gale of the second. A consolation prize was presented to the writer of the third paper, Ralph Purves.

Mr W. M. Armstrong arrived on Christmas night from Edmonton, Alberta, where he is attending the provincial university, holding at the same time a student pastorate. The same evening his marriage took place quietly to Miss Helen R. Sawyer, only daughter of Dr E. W. Sawyer and the late Mrs W. M. Wright. The young couple have many friends here who wish for them the best that life can bring, and at the same time extending sympathy to the bride in her recent severe bereavement. Mrs Armstrong is not accompanying her husband back to Edmonton, but will remain here with her father according to present plans. Mr Armstrong will return to Alberta in a few days and will offer himself for service overseas.

Board of Trade In Busy Session

Discuss Half-Holiday, Hotel, and Other Matters.

Penticton's resolution regarding the trans-provincial highway, the question of hotel accommodation, the public half-holiday, and National Service were all dealt with at a meeting of the Board of Trade, held last night in St Stephen's Hall. Illness prevented the attendance of Chairman Andrew, and the rush of work at the Municipal Office kept the vice-chairman, Mr Hogg, away. Mr Kelley was appointed to the chair, and made an efficient presiding officer.

After considering the highway question and listening to a number of speeches on the subject, in some of which it was stated that the route proposed by the Penticton Board of Trade was much inferior to the more southern route, it was decided to take no action until a representative of that board was given the opportunity to place the views of that body before the local board.

In the absence of the other members of the executive, Secretary Galt stated that there had been rumors going about that the Board of Trade had been actively supporting one of the applicants for the hotel. This was wholly without foundation, he said, and further, the Board had neither received nor sent any communication on the subject, and last night's meeting was the first at which the question had been brought up. He suggested that a vote be taken to decide whether it was the wish or duty of the Board to discuss the subject. So deciding, the Board finally favored the endorsing of the application of Mr and Mrs Downton, who had already received many signatures to their petition supporting their application, and instructed the secretary to write the Summerland Development Company that they would recommend these applicants when any change was being made in the hotel management.

Saturday was almost the unanimous choice for the legal half-holiday. One merchant, A. B. Elliott, favored mid-week, and he was supported by one or two other speakers. The resolution favoring Saturday, providing other towns nearby adopted that day, was carried by a large majority.

Another resolution endorsed the National Service movement, but beyond recommending that each member give it every support the Board felt that little could be done to assist in making it a complete success.

The accounts for the past year were reviewed and approved. The Secretary-Treasurer promised to publish at an early date a complete statement of the year's finances.

That it is not necessary either to live or hold property in the particular ward for which a candidate for election to the Council is running may be information of value to some of our readers.

Don't forget the Children's Concert in Empire Hall to-night. 22

E. N. Rowley spent last weekend out at the Coast, being a passenger outwards on the Saturday evening train.

Mr John J. Blewitt came in from the prairies on Sunday, just in time to spend Christmas with his family here.

Teddy Logie came in from the Coast for Christmas. He has rejoined his battalion, the Bantams, having left again on Tuesday's train.

Alex. Young came in from the Prairies where he has been teaching to spend the holidays with his wife at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs Treffry.

Coun. J. R. Campbell has been ill for some days, being confined to his home. He was unable to attend either the Friday or Tuesday sittings of the Council.

Mrs C. C. Chittenden of Penticton and baby daughter have been spending the week here with the members of her family, Mr and Mrs W. Limmer and Mrs M. Stewart.

Mr and Mrs David Kean and son Willie were passengers out by the K.V.R. last Friday evening bound for Victoria, where their eldest son, James, who lately enlisted, is now in training.

Dr Goldsmith leaves to-morrow night for his former home in Eagle Grove, Iowa, going by way of Midway and Spokane. He expects later to visit his mother in Chicago, and hopes to return in the early spring with his wife to settle permanently here.

Jack Pollock, who now wears the King's uniform, having enlisted some time ago in the Bantams at Victoria spent Christmas here with his parents. He returned to the Coast early in the week.

Mrs Anna L. Gillespie, formerly of Naramata, has been honored by appointment to the office of General Superintendent of Lyceums in U.S. and Missionary at Large. Mrs Gillespie has a large church in Battle Creek.

The West Summerland Skating Rink is now open to the public with an excellent sheet of ice and good electric lighting. For Saturday night, December 30th, there will be a leap year skate. The regular nights for skating will be Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. 22

Various Municipal notices of import appear in this issue of the Review, and should have the attention of all citizens. There are the two by-laws setting in order the proposed electric light extensions; a notice calling for nominations for the public offices, and setting forth the qualifications required for those who aspire for these positions; another notice stating the date set for the annual ratepayers' meeting; and still others referring to the referenda to be submitted to the electors next month, and yet another drawing attention to the due dates of the trade license and dog tax.

The funeral of the late Mrs E. W. Sawyer took place last Saturday afternoon. The remains were taken from the home of Mr and Mrs W. M. Wright, where she passed away on Thursday morning, to the Parkdale Baptist Church, where Rev. N. McNaughton conducted a touching service. A good number of sympathizing friends of the family were present at this service, proving that one does not have to achieve notoriety in order to gain friendship. Mr McNaughton in a simple address touched upon the splendid embodiment in the life of the deceased lady, of the Christian principles which she professed, and of her fortitude when she knew that the inevitable could not be long stayed off. Interment was made in the Peach Orchard cemetery, where the brief graveside service was read by Mr McNaughton. Those acting as pall bearers were Messrs G. J. C. White, H. G. Estabrook, G. Graham, J. C. Wilson, F. A. Williams, and W. M. Wright.

GENEROUS OFFER TO HOSPITAL.

The Editor of the Review.

I think you mentioned in a recent issue of your paper, that rooms are to be built at once in the upper storey of the Hospital for the accommodation of the nursing staff.

In this connection the Hospital has just received by way of a Christmas present from Mr J. G. Robertson, an offer to do the skilled work of building an open fireplace in the living room without any charge whatever, provided someone can be supplied to assist him in the carrying upstairs of the material used, and he of course stipulates at this time of year that these materials shall be placed in some frostproof place, presumably the basement. In expressing appreciation of this kind offer which was made to the Treasurer, it will be remembered that Mr Robertson did a similar generous service about a year ago when he laid the cement flooring of the Hospital basement without charge. Mr Robertson speaks very strongly of the great value to a community of an institution such as we possess here.

Yours truly,
E. B. MAY,
Hon. Treasurer.

COUNCIL HOLD AN EXTRA SESSION.

Two other referenda were prepared, one to fix the weekly half holiday and the other to give ratepayers an opportunity to say whether the reeve and councillors shall receive fees for their services.

That which provoked the most discussion was a draft of a by-law proposed by the Bank of Montreal by which that institution is to be secured for advances on tax moneys. The bank would have all arrears of taxes assigned as security. All present felt the bank was unreasonable in its demands, and that as only 1916 taxes had been borrowed against arrears should not be hypothecated. Coun. Simpson stated, though, that as some of the current year's taxes had been collected and the loan had not been reduced, further security might be reasonably asked. The treasurer maintained that there was still ample security in the unpaid school and general taxes. And herein is the chief difference between the bank and the Council: the former would have all arrears earmarked to it, while the Council contends that debenture taxes were not borrowed against, and being already earmarked for the specific purpose of securing bondholders, should not be diverted. The by-law was given its first reading.

Some 60 or 70 head of horses, the property of Fred Brind, now at the front, have been giving much annoyance to orchardists in the last few weeks. An effort is being made to have them cared for. It may be necessary to soil a few to cover constable, pound, and other expenses.

Coun. Johnston was given authority to have a culvert put across Shaughnessy Avenue at its lowest point near English's Livery, to take care of water running along the inner side of the street.

Coun. Simpson told of having an offer to the Council of $1,000 cash for a property now held by the municipality to secure taxes and rates now amounting to $742. As the property is valued at several thousand dollars, the offer was not considered.
