C. J. Thomson Made Irrigation Supt.

Five Application Received For Position.

Councillors Not of One Mind on Question of Management.

Of the five applicants for the position of irrigation superintendent, Mr C. J. Thomson was made the unanimous choice of the Reeve and Councillors at a special meeting held on Wednesday morning to consider the applications.

A longer list was anticipated, but though a number of others had looked into the conditions, there were only the five formal applications received. These were from Messrs Thomson, McAlpine, Bristow, Tomlin, and Gale.

The Reeve asked that all personal inclinations be set aside, and that each application be considered with the view only to efficiency. The qualifications of the different applicants were discussed, and immediately it developed that only three would have any chance of consideration, these being the three best known to the councillors, and in debating on these the question of policy for the year as regards new work or any extensive reconstruction again came up. Chairman Johnston of the Public Works Committee, would have this decided upon before selecting a superintendent, but the Reeve maintained that the one question had no relation to the other, and he pointedly refused to entertain the suggestion that the work of rebuilding the Garnett Valley flume and Siwash Flat laterals be done under the direction of the new superintendent.

Coun. Campbell favored having that work done by the superintendent and suggested Mr. Tomlin as the applicant best qualified. Reeve Blair named Mr Thomson, a former Reeve, and for some time chairman of the Public Works committee, saying he was the one most familiar with the system, and that he would get on smoothly with water users.

Either of these two would suit

Coun. Johnston, who expressed some inclination to recommend Tomlin because of his recognized ability as a mechanic and a good manager of men. If another man was to be engaged to attend to the building of flumes, then he had little choice between Messrs Tomlin and Thomson, and because of his former relations with the system would be ready to support Mr Thomson's nomination.

Mr McAlpine was the choice of Coun. Stark, who said that there were only two men in the community recognized as capable of filling the position of superintendent. These were Mr Mitchell and Mr McAlpine, and as Mr Mitchell was not an applicant he asked that "by gones be by gones" and past disputes between Mr McAlpine and this Council be forgotten. They would find he was an easy man to get along with, he would suit the public, and could attend to any construction work. Coun. Simpson's choice was between Thomson and Tomlin, and he thought the position ought to go to the former, unless Tomlin's mechanical knowledge and skill was a consideration.

Mr McAlpine's connection with the reconstruction of flumes on the K.V.R. right-of-way after the grading was brought up, and the south main contract, were touched upon. Coun. Stark was confident that Mr McAlpine would well earn his salary, but seeing he had no supporters, said he would under the circumstances favor Thomson. It looked for a moment as though a ballot would be necessary which, according to the Clerk, would have been the second ballot taken by any council since the municipality was organized. The first was on the occasion of selecting a Clerk. The Reeve still insisting that the appointee should not be given any supervision of construction work, the former supporters of Mr Tomlin intimated that they were willing to vote for Thomson, if he seemed to be the choice of the majority, and when Coun. Johnston and Campbell moved that Mr Thomson be given the appointment, the motion carried unanimously.

The question of the appointment of a constable for 1916 was introduced through a complaint made by a citizen to the Reeve, but the matter will be referred to the Police Commission as the proper body to deal with it.

As a result of a complaint of rabbits being permitted to run at large, the Clerk was instructed to enquire of Victoria as to the legal position of the Council in this matter. Impounding could not be considered, nor were the councillors satisfied that the rabbits could be considered as wild animals.

For some time the Clerk had been trying to get accurate data of the fruit and vegetable shipments from Summerland last year, and finally had asked Mr W. B. Lanigan, Assistant Traffic Manager for the C.P.R. at Winnipeg for the figures. Mr Logic reported that these had been refused without explanation. He had again written. The figures are required to complete information asked for by municipal bond holders. Much surprise was expressed that the C.P.R. had declined to furnish the information asked for.

The next Council meeting is the regular meeting, which will be held on Saturday, March 11th, at 9 a.m.

Mr B. L. Hatfield on the first of this month took possession of the building used by Mr Shields, and will sit it up at once as garage. Mr Hatfield's growing business has made a move necessary, and he has acquired Mr Shields' interests in the property formerly held by Shields, Hatfield & Clark, in which he has a two-thirds interest. Mr Shields will move his blacksmith business across the street. An addition is being made to the building being vacated by Mr Hatfield to accommodate Mr Shields.

Lake Navigation Re-established.

Str. Sciamous Cuts Thro' Ice to Wharf Here on Sunday.

Ice Fast Disappearing.

After twenty-five days suspension, navigation between Summerland and points north was resumed on Sunday, February 27th. It was on February 2nd that the continued cold north winds had so filled the south end of the lake and the drift ice off Crescent Beach had become so heavy, that the "Sciamous" could not make the wharf at Summerland. For some days longer Peachland was reached, but soon ice kept all the C.P.R. equipment busy from Kelowna north. For a week Peachland was without boat service, but fairly regular calls were resumed. On Sunday, February 20, the heavy ice off Crescent Beach was cut through by the tug "Naramata," and but for the loss of a rudder, the "Sciamous" would probably have reached Summerland. But it was not until the following Sunday that the big steel-hulled steamer plowed her way through nearly two miles of ice, about 6 inches thick, to her wharf at Summerland. It was eight o'clock on Sunday morning when, shrouded in a dense mist, she struck the ice, and after steaming forward for an hour and a half, guided by the compass, Capt. Robertson judged he was about off the wharf, and curved his course shoreward. Soon after he found himself off the end of the Smith wharf, still buried in a dense fog. When the C.P.R. wharf was reached she was greeted by a crowd of citizens waving flags, blowing horns, and rattling tin pans.

During that afternoon a turning basin was broken, and fairly regular evening calls have since been maintained. The tug "Naramata" accompanied the "Sciamous" on her ice-breaking trip, and had on board three cases of explosives, but they were not needed. The "Naramata" has been kept pretty busy all week improving the channel, and by Tuesday night had also cut a way to Naramata. Explosives were used in two or three places crossing the lake.

It is probable that a start may be made on an opening to Penticton on Sunday next, but progress will likely be slow as the ice is reported to be very thick.

Later, the favorable south wind and the busy tug "Naramata" cutting away at the ice have worked wonders since Thursday morning. At noon today ice on the western side of the lake from the C.P.R. wharf northward had largely disappeared. This morning the "Naramata," pushing a scow, started south from here, and it was but a short time before she had passed Trout Creek point on her way to Penticton. Heavy ice will be met from there down, requiring explosives to break up.

Junior Ambulance League.

Prizes Awarded For Work Done.

Saturday last was a red letter day for the busy workers of the Junior Ambulance League, for in the afternoon their meeting at the Central School was of a very special nature. Parents, mostly mothers, were present in good numbers, to see the children get rewards of their hard work in the shape of prizes for the best work, as well as encouragement for all in the shape of a little patriotic badge, a maple leaf emblem, done in enamel. Revs. H. A. Solly and C. H. Daly were present and addressed the children suitably, while Mr J. G. Robertson handed the prizes out to the children. Refreshments were served during the course of the afternoon. The list of prize winners was as follows:

Cafe Chantant Decided Success

Excellent Performance by Local Talent Last Night.

Greeted by Full House.

It was something out of the ordinary. More than that, it was something distinctly above the ordinary. People here and elsewhere have come to expect in any entertainment connected with the name of Sauter a production of superior order, and the Cafe Chantant of last night disappointed no one in this respect. Far from it, even those who knew enough of the program in its preparation to hold high hopes for the success of the ultimate production found their expectations more than realized.

From every aspect the Cafe Chantant was a brilliant success. To the performers the full house and whole hearted applause must have been gratifying in the extreme, and from the standpoint of the audience the very general comment that it was worth twice the money bespeaks the opinion of the big crowd. It was a big crowd, too, the number of which but few occasions have eclipsed.

Setting off the admirable variety, high tone and general artistic accomplishment of the whole performance, was the constant evidence that every detail had been studied. The concert ran along smoothly without the jarring and miscarriage of plans that is very apt to interfere with the enjoyment of the audience. Action and gesture, as well as the strikingly picturesque array of costumes added a splendid effect to the numbers on the program, an effect, however, to which it was apparent that natural talent contributed as well as constant rehearsal.

The long program was divided into three parts. Nine pierrots and a like number of pierrettes, with the addition of Messrs Wm. Sauter and H. M. Lumsden contributed the first ten numbers. Gay costumes and blithesome action lent fitting atmosphere to the numbers that called for a bright setting. The opening item, "Garrods," by Mr Lumsden and chorus gave an indication of the standard that was to be maintained all through the program. Later in a comic song, "Me and Mrs Brown" Mr Lumsden made a good hit not only with his song but with the fetching costume, Miss Gladys Robinson's song, "Whoopsiedaisy" was bright and catchy, and it took very well with the added prettiness of her dancing. A whistling solo, "Has Anybody Here Seen Rover" brought the house down. Mrs Andrew's novel accomplishment has not been given public scope before, and there was a great climax when a very diminutive toy Rover was brought in on the end of a length of hawser. The audience called for more, and were given a very clever piece of step dancing. Mrs R. V. Augur's song, "Moonstruck," was a bright item by another performer whose first public appearance must be put down as quite a success. There was a pretty dancing effect to this number also. Mr Sauter contributed a clever comic song "Hughie," with a local hit about automobiling on the ice that did not go unappreciated. Of a more serious nature was Mr Sauter's other number, a musical monologue, "The Land of the Might-Have-Been," showing up the possibilities of the "Can Be" as well as the regrets of the "Might Have Been." Other numbers in this section were songs by Miss Myrtle Clay and Mrs G. M. Ross. The former gave "My Little Gray Home in the West," an old song that always takes well, and to Miss Clay's rendering of it an encore was demanded. "My Hero," a ballad, was sung by Mrs G. M. Ross in her own inimitable style and with the expressiveness that never fails to endear her songs in the hearts and minds of her hearers. She also was called back and gave a sweet encore. The chorus, "Winter" closing part one of the program, was an exceedingly effective number, and the scene as the snow was falling and snowballs flying was pretty indeed, and the audience pronounced it a curtain raiser.

Board of Trade Takes on New Life

Starts Campaign For Record Membership.

Every Citizen to be a Booster For Summerland.

At a well attended meeting of citizens, held last Saturday afternoon in the Gartrell building, Shaughnessy Avenue, it was decided to carry out the recommendations of the meeting held a week earlier to change the membership fee from $5 to $1, and start in at once on a membership campaign. It was pointed out that as at present constituted there was not a membership truly representative of the business and material interests of the community, and further, the membership fee was so high that there were but a very limited number of citizens who would become members. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion of those present that it was very desirable that all interested in the welfare of Summerland be united with the board, and that the annual fee might be no hindrance to this object, it was unanimously resolved to fix the fee at $1.

During the past year the Board of Trade as an organization has been almost non-existent, and many matters of considerable moment to the community have as a result been left unattended to or turned over to the local political organization most likely to get the ear of the party now holding the seats of government. That these matters might in future have prompt attention and opportunity be given to formulate plans for the advancement of the community, monthly meetings will be held henceforth.

The time to be the evening of the Tuesday on or before full moon, so as to make it convenient for the man on the lot to be present. The selection of a permanent place of meeting, fitted perhaps specially as Board of Trade rooms, was left to the new president, vice-president, and secretary.

Following a few remarks by the retiring president, Mr R. H. English, over twenty members were enrolled and officers elected.

The elections resulted as follows: President, Dr F. W. Andrew. Vice-President, K. S. Hogg. Sec. Treas., J. Galt. Council—the above, and Messrs R. H. English, R. H. Helmer, S. M. Young, Wm. Ritchie, J. M. Sutherland, and J. L. Hilborn.

Part two was given over to a costume play, "The Gay Lothario." The part of Sir Harry Lovell, a dashing and gallant Lothario, was presented by Mr Sauter with the polish and grace that characterizes all his acting. Mrs E. B. May sustained the part of Amanda Goldacre splendidly, and the situations into which these two were led by the gossiping of their valet and maid respectively caused great merriment. Miss Cartwright and Mr W. C. Fosbery carried their minor parts as Lotty, the maid, and Sparks, the valet, with ease and ability, and the entire bright one-act playlet presented some extremely good amateur acting. The costumes were noteworthy achievements that should not be omitted from mention of the play.

The third part of the program consisted of vocal numbers, solos and duets. Mr Cavin Wright found splendid scope for his volume and fullness in his first solo, "Love's Coronation," and drew down appreciation in the form of a strong encore demand to which he responded. The duet by Miss Clay and Mr Wright, "O, That We Two Were Maying," is a favorite that never fails to receive appreciation, and Mr Wright made still another appearance in the song, "My Little Persian Rose," to which the concealed chorus added a great deal. Mr and Mrs Lumsden's comic duet, "Our Farm," was well received, and contained local allusions that everyone saw the points of. Mr Boav's has seldom been heard to better advantage than in the patriotic song, "Keep The Home

At the suggestion of Secretary Galt a plan of campaign was instituted that will include a canvass of the whole district. Fruit grower or business man, everybody is needed to help with their presence and advice at every meeting, and to do all they can in an organized way to advance the interests of the place.

Since the meeting there has been a suggestion advanced which is likely to be brought up at the March meeting, and that is that some of the monthly meetings be held at the upper town.

On Thursday afternoon over 50 of the 100 or more members determined upon had been obtained.

Secretary Galt, who has had considerable experience in Board of Trade work, is putting a good deal of energy and practical work in the extension campaign, and we predict as a result a strong and united Board of Trade that will do much to advance the interests of Summerland. The possibilities are many, and the field for profitable endeavor a large one.

Every member of the Council has a membership subscription list, and other copies have been placed on store counters. Each loyal citizen is asked to sign the first one he sees or to make it a point to enroll if he has in some way been missed.

Four Hundred Dollars For Patriotic Fund.

Local Branch Forwards Tidy Sum To Provincial Branch.

A bank draft for $399.30 was forwarded on the first day of this month by Mr E. B. May, Hon. Treasurer of the local branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund to the Secretary of the provincial branch at Victoria. This represents the amount contributed by the people of Summerland during the month of February, and was made up of eighty cash contributions and payments from seventy-one monthly subscribers to the fund.

The cash contributions were	$211.00
Monthly contributions paid in	196.75
Bank Interest	.55
A total of	$408.30
Less expense, Hire of Hall	$ 5.00
Postage and stationery,	4.00
Total	$9.00

A few subscriptions have not yet been paid in for February, which the Treasurer is expecting the various canvassers to secure, but he would like it to be known, that for each month from now on including March, contributors will be expected to pay directly, a list being kept in the Bank of Montreal for the purpose as it cannot be expected that the canvassers will be able to give their time to it beyond what they have already done.

"I shall be glad," said Mr May, in discussing the subject with the Review, "to receive contributions from any parties whom the canvassers have missed as it is the general opinion that all ought to contribute, many people feeling very particularly on that point, and those that are upon the monthly plan are the most valued as the assistance granted to the dependents of our soldiers by the fund is made monthly."

Some who have made a straight cash donation only may see fit to change their minds and contribute monthly. These the Treasurer, on hearing from them, will be glad to change on the lists. The smallest monthly contributions are welcomed, where more cannot be afforded, as it all tends to swell this valuable fund.

Apricots Stood Cold Winter Without Injury

Some Varieties of Peaches will be Light Crop.

There are those who say Summerland, Peachland, and Naramata will ship more peaches this year than were shipped in 1915. At any rate it seems certain that the several weeks of cold weather did not do the wholesale injury to peach blossoms that was feared. Here and there trees unfavorably placed with dry roots and much exposed have been killed. The fruit buds of the Crawford and peaches of that type are likely to be largely injured, but harder varieties are expected to show little frost injury. The closer to the lake the less injury to all varieties. Apricots, however, seem to have suffered little if any damage. Such is the opinion of Inspector Randall, and a number of others best able to judge of the conditions throughout the district.

Mr Hilborn, who recently returned from a trip about the upper part of the Valley says that west of Sciamous cherry blossoms have suffered, and that probably serious injury has resulted to pear trees under four years of age. Mr Ben Hoy was of the opinion that there was undoubted injury to pear trees in the Kelowna district and at Westbank.

At Peachland, Summerland, and Naramata, except for the buds of the more tender peaches and some killing back of young twigs, and perhaps the root killing of a few dry and unprotected trees there has been little injury. The damage done in Washington, and the prospect of a short peach crop, will be an additional incentive to thorough pruning, spraying and thinning, and though the local production may not equal that of 1915, there should be more large, clean fruit for shipment.

COAST FRUIT MARKETS.

WE MAKE NO APOLOGY for publishing this week at considerable length the gist of addresses delivered last Friday by Messrs Edwin Smith, A. H. Flack and R. C. Abbott. They are government men handling subjects that are of more than passing importance to the fruit grower. The whole fruit industry will be put on a paying basis, at least from the growers' standpoint only when the mass of detail through which the fruit must pass before it reaches the consumer has been worked out properly. There are so many things to be taken into account that neglect means dollars and cents out of the growers' pockets.

If it were wise to pick out any one of the three addresses as standing out above the others, we would mention that of Coast Market Commissioner, R. C. Abbott. It is true, as he said, that the Coast market has been somewhat neglected by the fruit growing districts of the Interior. It is almost as much a reproach to us in the Okanagan as to the pseudo-patriotic dealers at the Coast, that Vancouver has been such an Americanized city in the past as regards fruit supply. It is also true that with the completion of the short line to the Coast by the K.V.R. the haul from the Southern Okanagan to Vancouver will be the quickest and most economical market route available north, south, east or west. The government, through Mr. R. C. Abbott, has been clearing the way for Okanagan fruit to take possession of its share of the Coast market and if the dependable supply is not forthcoming that he so emphatically said was necessary, all the time, energy and money expended in "preaching 'Buy B.C. Fruit'" in Vancouver and other Coast points will be wasted. Mr. Abbott is a man that it will profit Okanagan growers to keep in touch with.

One point he made clear might be further enlarged upon. He mentioned a large department store in Vancouver, doing mail order business all over the province, and showed how it was largely the policy of this concern to import fruit from over the line, or to take any fruit in fact that could be put on retail sale a little cheaper than other stores could do. This store gets trade from growers all over B.C., Mr. Abbott said, and then that money helps to bring in American fruit to compete with our own. Surely a fine spirit!

The point is obvious.

MORE APPLES—LESS TENNIS.

THE Financial Editor of the Canadian Courier, the Canadian national weekly, that has largely supplanted Colliers on this side the line, fully approves of the new tariff imposts, as well as the tax on corporation profits. "Melon-cutting is obviously to be put to an end. . . . St Thomas has done well." Continuing the Courier says, "The new tariff imposts on apples and oils are fair." With a Toronto man's point of view the writer says further: "The apple tax is something to be rejoiced in. It should give the British Columbia apple growers a chance to show what they can really do. Maybe it will encourage more apple growing and less tennis. Meantime the American fruit trust won't sell so many Washington apples in Toronto and other quick lunch places. These handsome productions of Pacific coast orchards—though inferior in flavor—make fine window displays and good pies. But if we can't stand Ontario apples in Ontario, at least let us have British Columbia beauties instead of the American article. The tariff may help in this respect. If it doesn't we shall know that the British Columbia apple growers are still wanting in organization and selling ability."

"ONCE UPON A TIME"—AND AFTER.

Some men may yet be found, incredible as it may seem, who are attempting to do business as merchants, and depending upon mouth to mouth conveyance of news for the spread of the good repute of their business, believing that they do not need to advertise in their local papers. They are, however, becoming less and less by virtue of such belief. Here is the opinion of a contemporary on such methods and merchants:

"That condition may have prevailed many years ago when people had nothing to do but gossip about their neighbors. In those times everyone discussed all of his home purchases with all of his neighbors. To-day a man who depends upon conversation and gossip to spread the news of his store will not find that his place of business is much frequented. People do not exchange information about their domestic habits as they did years ago. You have little idea whether your neighbors buy their goods of Smith, Jones or Brown, at home or abroad. The world is full of wide interests, and the bargains one may find in a certain store are ordinarily known only to those who find them. The newspaper is the only efficient means of acquainting the public with the business news of the community. For one person that will learn something about a given store by word of mouth, a hundred learn about it through newspaper notices. The advertising columns of a newspaper are read just as attentively as any sensation that may appear in the news columns.

"The results of the two policies are obvious. In one case the merchant drags along, with only a small part of the community knowing anything about what is happening in his store. In the other case, practically everyone knows when that merchant has special bargains, and what can be done in his store at any given time. Can there be the least question as to what kind of merchants got the business?"

"ROAST HIM."

Never a day passes that the newspaper man is not stopped by someone, who wants somebody or something "roasted." And always the newspaper man is expected to do the "roasting" on his own responsibility. Always is he urged under no circumstances to use the name of the person who demands that the roasting be done. It may be that at some time in the past, the newspaper was considered the official "roaster" of the community, and there have been newspaper men who considered that "roasting" as many people and things as possible was their sacred duty. They fell to the task with avidity, and derived much greater pleasure from it than most people derive from performing what they consider their duty.

It is even possible that a number of readers like that sort of stuff. They get into the habit of scanning the paper with that very thing in view, and are disappointed if there is no "roast" in the issue of their favorite sheet.

After all, that is an entirely wrong view. It is not the duty of the newspaper to be a common scold, a perennial fault finder, and, after all, nothing is accomplished by trying to be that. And then it is ever so much more pleasant to find things to praise. And that is easy. It is a happy duty to attract the attention of the news gatherer, and that makes for the better things in life. And he who follows this course, after all, comes nearer to fulfilling the mission of the newspaper, which is to give a faithful portrait of every day life of the community. The "roaster" inclines to the mistaken view, that almost everything is bad, and is growing worse, whereas, in fact, the world is growing brighter and better every day. Instead of asking the newspaper man to "roast" this or that person, or this or that state of affairs, how much better to call his attention to some laudable enterprise, to something that merits praise. And by so doing, no doubt, better results are reached in the long run, and the very things may be accomplished that cannot be done through mere fault-finding and "roasting."

CAFE CHANTANT DECIDED SUCCESS.

Fires Burning," the sentiment of which also found strong favor. He gave as an encore another song of similar nature, "We'll Never Let The Old Flag Fall." The closing item was one of the prettiest of the whole evening, a song scene, "Knitting." It showed a full chorus on the stage occupied with knitting and other work, and the song by Mrs. Ross with the chorus completed the effectiveness of the number. Costumes in a great variety of style and color made an exceedingly pretty stage setting, and among the knitters little Miss Alannah Sutherland, but five years old, appeared to be able to do a share quite as well as her elders.

Such a performance must have meant a great deal of assiduous practice, and the fact that everything passed off so well is a tribute not only to the creative talent, foresight and energy of Mr Sauter, but also to the ability of the performers, who entered so heartily into the spirit of their parts. On the capable shoulders of Miss Robina Logie a great deal of arduous work fell as accompanist of the evening, and it must be said that she, too, upheld her end well.

Refreshments were on sale during the first intermission and from the sale of coffee, cake, sandwiches and candy, the sum of $30 was realized. Mrs. J. M. Sutherland and Mrs. J. Downton had charge of this part of the arrangements, and while to them the management of the entertainment and the audience as well feels indebted for undertaking the direction of this work, they in turn desire to thank those who contributed the refreshments, or helped in the actual work of serving.

The proceeds of the entire evening are to be devoted to the Canadian Patriotic Fund. It seems beyond doubt that the donation that will be made to this worthy cause will be a substantial one, but full financial returns will not be available till after the matinee performance which takes place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30.

At the conclusion of the concert a dance was held, and those who remained enjoyed an additional hour or two of dancing which capped an already pleasurable evening.

He that rides when he could just as well walk is likely to have to walk when he would ride.

Kelowna Institutes Unite In Happy Event.

An exceptionally successful social function of a nature quite too rare in the Okanagan was held at Kelowna on Thursday evening of last week at which at least one citizen of Summerland was present, and it was that citizen, Mr. J. L. Hilborn, who gave an account of it to the Review, expressing the opinion at the same time that similar affairs might be instituted here to good advantage. The Farmers' Institute and Womens' Institute of Kelowna united in preparing a banquet to which many citizens and interested public men were invited. Two hundred and fifty plates had been laid, and nearly two hundred and thirty guests sat down to a bountiful spread. Music of an excellent order was a feature of the program and many of the addresses too were particularly good. Mr. Lionel Taylor, President of the Farmers' Institute, was chairman, while Mayor Jones welcomed the guests. The speakers included Judge Swanson, Mr. Price Ellison, Mr. L. V. Rogers, Liberal nominee for South Okanagan, Supt. Moore of the Agassiz Experimental Farm, Mr. H. O. English, Dominion Fruit Inspector Clarke, Mr. E. Cruthers, President of the Kelowna Board of Trade Mr. R. A. Copeland, President of the Kelowna Agricultural Society, and Mr. J. L. Hilborn.

BIRD HOUSE COMPETITION.

The Summerland Womens' Institute is very anxious to know if any boy or girl has begun building yet. Now if you do not know of this exceedingly interesting competition, will you please find out about it at once? Prizes? Why, yes! of course there are! Do you know that we have too few native birds staying over the summer in Summerland, and few of us appreciate their great economic value. Our crops of fruit and trees are constantly preyed upon by insects which means a loss of many hundreds of dollars. Now the birds who stay over with us and some of which may build in your new made house will certainly help in destroying many destructive insects. The preservation of bird life lies along educational lines.

Orchard and Farm:

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

Pre-Cooling, Standardization and Coast Markets are Subjects of Speakers.

Government Lecturers Given Good Hearing Last Friday. Meeting Supports Package Standardization by Resolution. Much Light on Coast Market Conditions.

The addresses of the three speakers at the meeting held last Friday evening in the Men's Club under the joint auspices of the Summerland Fruit Union and the Farmer's Institute, deserved an audience twice or thrice the number of the one that was on hand. The subjects were vital ones, and the speakers men appointed by the Federal and Provincial Governments to positions which enable them to gather much information of great value to the fruit grower.

The chairman of the evening was Mr G. J. C. White, who briefly introduced the speakers.

PRE-COOLING EXPERIMENTS.

Mr Edwin Smith, pre-cooling, refrigeration and storage expert, was the first speaker. Mr Smith spent some time in Summerland a year or two ago, superintending the installation of the pre-cooling plant here, and taking charge of the work in connection with it during its first season of operation. He has of late been at Grimsby, Ont., in charge of a larger plant, conducting extensive experimental work under the direction of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Mr Smith described his work as of importance to the whole dominion, though the scene of his work lay in the east. The operations he had been carrying on he divided into three heads, commercial pre-cooling and cold storage, demonstration work on the picking, packing, and shipment of fruits, and direct experimental work, concerned largely with the efforts to ascertain the storage and shipping qualities of various varieties. Describing extensive experiments he had carried out last season in shipping strawberries, Mr Smith said that the results were distinctly encouraging. Three different styles of package were used, the two most generally used in this province and the regular Ontario crate. The best results were obtained with the B.G. 24 pint crate, the Ontario package proving the most inferior. The 24 pint crate carries full, and pleases the consumer, because there is no shaking down of the berries. The prices realized also showed up the 24 pint crate to best advantage. Passing on to experimental work with cherries, Mr Smith said that the growers of his district were not willing at first to co-operate in the work, but the prices realized from the pre-cooled fruit wakened them up to the possibilities of the process. The experiments had been confined largely to the Early Richmond variety, and here again three kinds of package were used. Best results were had in the 6 quart basket, orchard pack better than even with fruit repacked in the packing house, both in the 6 quart basket and in the 4 tintop crate.

Experiments which he had carried out served to prove conclusively that there was nothing in the criticisms of pre-cooling sometimes advanced, that fruit so treated would not stand up after being unloaded. In sending cherries to Winnipeg, he had held the fruit in refrigeration for ten days, and then had some reshipped on to Brandon. The cherries had appeared in good condition when reaching their ultimate destination. Mr Smith described minutely the processes that work on fruit that has been under refrigeration, when it is exposed to ordinary atmospheric conditions again. The heat encountered in bringing the fruit out of the cars caused a certain amount of moisture to collect on the surface of the fruit, tending to assist any decay or mould. There is no apparent effect the first day, but deterioration commences on the second day if there are any bruises on the fruit, and extensive decay and waste then sets in.

In plums, Mr Smith named the Burbank and Abundance as two of the best shipping varieties. He knew of a case in which some plums of the first named variety had been shipped from Grimsby to Brandon, brought back again to Grimsby and then kept for two or three days longer. He had shipped plums as far west as Prince Albert, Sask., and also across the Atlantic to Glasgow, Scotland, with complete success. The Abundance, Burbank, Bradshaw, and Monarch, were named as first class shippers; Yellow Egg as medium good, and the Imperial Gage, Washington, and Lombard as not good for shipping far. Pond Seedling had not been very extensively tried.

Tomatoes, the speaker said, do not color up much under pre-cooling, but if left till a good color before picking, good results would be had from putting them through the process.

Yellow St John and Elberta peaches had also been shipped to Scotland successfully from Grimsby. Peaches for pre-cooling should be picked before they were ripe, but they can safely be left on the trees longer than fruit handled in the ordinary way without cooling. Different varieties showed different characteristics in the matter of pre-cooling. It was also a well-known fact that the peach loses its flavor under refrigeration, and so should be handled as rapidly as possible. How the pre-cooling process hastened the real cooling of the fruit Mr Smith showed by pointing out that peaches in an ice car would have to stand for about two days before being reduced to an even temperature of about 40 degrees, whereas in a proper plant this could be brought about in about 6 to 24 hours at the most. Too often, in the case of peaches especially, the pickings were not made often enough, and so an even degree of ripeness was not obtained.

After touching on the degree of maturity at which different fruits should be picked for pre-cooling, Mr Smith passed on to a consideration of the different types of fruit cars in use on the Canadian railroads. Some dissatisfaction was found with the different kinds of cars in use. The brine tank car, so admirable for meat hauling, was not so satisfactory for fruit. He had experimented in Vancouver with car temperatures, and found that by using crushed ice and a small percentage of salt, good results were to be had. This had been tried in the shipment of fruit from the Okanagan to the Coast, and found to work well. With the bunker type of car it was not usual to use crushed ice, but he had tried it in Ontario very successfully. Mr Smith said he was trying to arrange for more demonstration along these lines to be tried here. Great advantage was to be had if the brine tank car could be made to answer the fruit shippers' requirements, since there would be a gently decreased danger of car shortage if this type could be utilized satisfactorily.

How great an effect pre-cooling could have in the marketing of tender fruits Mr Smith showed by stating that from the vicinity of Grimsby not less than 900 per cent more sour cherries had been shipped to new markets since the experiments had been begun. There was undoubtedly a field for pre-cooling in the shipment of other fruits. It opened up a new field for eastern and western soft fruit. Canada imported in 1915 up to the end of November, no less than 1910 cars of tender fruits, and in addition 1290 cars of apples from the United States, the vast majority of which this country was able to produce herself. The prairie markets, which took the greater portion of this imported fruit, was not being worked hard enough by the Canadian growers. If salesmen were put out he thought better results could be obtained. Taking into account the vast increases in the population the prairie provinces have received in the last few years, there was the need for more marketing work to be done. Are the imports going to increase, asked Mr Smith, or are we going to take those markets? Pre-cooling was an important factor in capturing those new markets, since it was a necessity that the fruit should reach them in prime condition.

Mr Smith closed his address by a few remarks on apple storage. He pointed out that increased production in this line means that it would become necessary to hold back some of the fruit, and this is where home storage facilities would come into play. If any contemplated building a store house for this purpose he advised that they look into the matter very carefully. The slightly increased cost of proper construction would easily be saved by the decreased losses. No chances should be taken with the frost proof qualities of the walls, and good insulation should be provided. Mill shavings made the best material to pack between the walls, better than sawdust, which harbored dampness unless specially dried, and also was liable to settle from its own weight. Each side of the packing there should be two ply of boards and a thickness of building paper. For the ceiling he recommended two ply of boards and a ply of building paper each side of dry sawdust. Cement floors were not advised, since they were liable to dry out. Rather, an earth floor kept moist was preferable. Ventilation was important, and the flues for this purpose should be not less than about 12 or 14 inches square. Ventilation should be carried on during the night rather than the day, and there would be no danger from keeping the earth floor moist if the air was kept circulating constantly. Storage facilities would greatly help the grower who had not the time to pack all his crop in the fall as it was picked.

possible while being packed and shipped. Touching briefly upon the capabilities of the local pre-cooling plant Mr Smith said that almost as good results could be obtained with it as with the more elaborate plant at Grimsby. He had concluded, though, that fanning was not altogether sufficient to cool the fruit properly, but ice must be used.

STANDARDIZATION OF FRUIT PACKAGES.

A. H. Flack, Dominion Prairie Fruit Inspector, was the second speaker of the evening, on the subject of standardization of fruit packages. He read a carefully prepared paper that went very extensively into this matter, which was one, he said, to which not enough attention had been paid in the past. The diversity of opinion existing makes any solution of the problem a difficult matter, but the standardization of fruit packages would work to advantage no matter how or through what channels marketing was done. Defining his subject, Mr Flack said it meant merely selecting the best packages to be used for all purposes, and standardizing them, that is making the size of package the only one to be used for that purpose. Allowing the same fruit to go on the market in different styles and sizes of packages makes confusion, and often causes price cutting, Mr Flack said. Standardization also meant further protection for the home grown product against imported fruit, since importations from across the line would only be allowed in packages that conformed to the Canadian requirements. American fruit, being on the market in most instances, would only be allowed in packages that conformed to the Canadian requirements. American fruit, being on the market in most instan-

Mr J. H. Rounds was in Penticton on business for a few hours on Wednesday.

Mr Pushman, senr., whose illness was reported in a recent issue, is still confined to his room.

T. H. Boothe expects to leave on Monday for Victoria to attend the annual convention of the Farmers' Institute.

Mrs J. M. Robinson, who went out last Wednesday en route to join her husband at Victoria, was obliged to drive to Peachland to catch the boat.

The recent evenings have been enlivened by the choruses of the coyotes, who appear to vie with each other in their efforts to prolong their mournful and famished howlings.

An epidemic of cough, cold, and la grippe appears to have taken up headquarters for the season at Naramata. Two of the more recent sufferers from the attack are Miss Minnie Block and Miss Violet Mitchell.

The funeral of the late "Mr Know It Never Will," who declared the ice around the wharf never could be broken, was solemnized with a scant ceremony on Tuesday evening last, when the steam tug "Naramata" (Capt. Joe Weeks) broke the ice right across from Summerland. The service was attended by a large concord of citizens, who wasted no tears in the departure of the "Know-It-All-Knocker." The following morning the same boat brought over a quantity of freight—much to the delight of the merchants.

Mrs J. O. Noyes has decided upon taking a trip East as far as Ottawa in the near future.

Mrs Morsch of Summerland a former Naramata resident, spent Friday and Saturday in town, the guest of Mrs Boothe.

Stewart Allen, after having spent the winter months at high school, has been obliged on account of stress of spring work on the farm to call a halt in his studies. Stewart hopes to again renew his work in the fall.

Master Guy Waterman, a recent arrival from England, is the latest pupil to enroll in the local high school. The lad rides into town every morning from Paradise Ranch.

The school assembled at nine o'clock and remained in session until three-thirty, on March 1st. The change will prove helpful to the senior pupils especially, who will have henceforth a whole hour more than during the winter months.

Perhaps Frank Hayward forgets whether he said "A beast of an old time" or "a bear of an old time," but the latter is what he did actually say. Let this correction stand for the sake of the few, to whom the former specimen of Western slang has a different meaning.

The Ladies Aid Society held a busy session at the Unity Club Parlor last Wednesday afternoon. The ladies had planned to give the afternoon to some special sewing along the line of Red Cross work. Towards the close of the afternoon, Mrs Cook played the part of my lady hostess, serving sandwiches, cake etc.

Rev. R. M. Thompson was in town on Friday evening to attend the junior Epworth League. A number of helpful papers were read by the young people. Vera Salting read a paper on her favorite author Longfellow; Stewart Allen on his favorite author Joseph Addison; while Hedley Reesor read a paper on current events.

Mrs Hughes is in receipt of encouraging letters from her husband and son Frank, now in camp at Kamloops.

Mr J. Dobie is anxiously awaiting the coming of spring and good roads in order that he may get his house built on his lot.

Mrs H. P. Davies has received a number of very fine photos taken recently of her son Sherwood, now a member of an artillery camp in England.

Mrs Wolstencroft and Mrs Cook journeyed south on Wednesday morning with their husbands as far as their fruit farms, where Mr Wolstencroft is having a snug packing house erected on his lot.

Its ice and its mud and its slush, slash of clogging feet—but the ladies have evidently decided to ignore the two scarecrows—"bad roads" and "bad weather," who find it so easy to scare folks, especially we, who live and have our being in the Okanagan. There are good attendances at the various social gatherings. Why, on Friday you should have seen the way the bunch of ladies turned out to the Unity Club function. The parlor was crowded. Needless to say a pleasant social afternoon was the result. The hostess for the occasion was Mrs Aikins. Then the following day, Saturday, almost as large a number turned out to Red Cross. For this work of caring for soldiers knows no let-up, there must be no faltering, no hesitating, no backing out, and that so far seems to be the style of the women (and girls, too, bless their hearts) of Naramata.

5,000 Facts About Canada.

The public will welcome the new issue for 1916 of "5,000 Facts About Canada," the popular and valuable cyclopaedia of Canadian dates, compiled by Frank Yeigh of Toronto, the well-known writer and lecturer on the Dominion. No up-to-date and intelligent Canadian can afford to be without this "hardy annual," which is a revelation in concrete form of the wonderful growth of our country in a single year, despite war conditions; indeed, it circulates all over the world, and as such is a splendid advertisement. The chapter of "War Facts" is, by the way, both timely and illuminating. Fifty other chapters are devoted alphabetically to every phase of our national life, from Agriculture to the Yukon, while several sketch maps are of high value. Copies may be had from newsdealers or by sending 25 cents to the Canadian Facts Pub. Co., 588 Huron Street, Toronto, Canada.

The Age Of Advertising.

This is the age of advertising. This agency has at last come into its own as a powerful factor in business. Crude and unscientific methods have often been employed in the past, and sometimes on behalf of unsound propositions, thus tending to create an impression, once rather widely held, that advertising was unreliable, and that advertised goods lacked merit.

Experience soon established the wisdom of true and the folly of fraudulent advertising. It did not take long to convince the retail merchant and the mail order man that honestly written and intelligently placed advertising paid—they got direct returns in orders and in cash which they could feel and count. The manufacturer of branded goods learned more slowly that a properly planned advertising campaign would create a sale for his goods through the regular channels of trade. Experience, however, has proven this to be a fact, until to-day there is scarcely an article intended for human use which has not been branded or trade-marked, and that brand or trade mark driven home in the public mind through intelligent, persistent advertising.

Even in the conservative ranks of the members of what are known as the learned professions, the practice of advertising is spreading despite the tradition that it is "unethical"—though why it is "unethical" to announce a readiness to discharge the service which it is the ambition and life business of the professional man to perform is a little puzzling to plain persons outside of the charmed circle.

Business, trade, society, and the whole structure of the community is bound together by the co-operation of individuals and institutions and the inter-relation of their services, and that social organization is the most efficient in which these interchanges are most readily and rapidly effected. The agency which best facilitates these exchanges of service is that of advertising; and an intelligent and universal resort to it is a sure sign of alertness and progressiveness in a community.

Review Advertisers.

The Review will print from time to time in this column a list of those who use display advertising space in the Summerland Review. The advertisers have confidence enough in their goods or services to place them before the people of Summerland and district in this open way, and for this reason, if for no other, they deserve your trade. Under the genial warmth of the returning sun old mother earth is waking with a shiver or two, she is throwing off the stupor of a chilly winter, and in doing so she reminds some of us of the latent powers lying underneath her wrinkled crust. Twice last week, about 5.40 p.m. on Tuesday and again shortly before 6 on Friday morning, earth tremors were noticed by many. That of Friday morning is described by those not too sleepy to make a comparison to have been of longer duration than the one earlier in the week, but seemingly it was not accompanied by the peculiar rumble that was heard with Tuesday's quake. Neither were of sufficient violence to be at all alarming.

Menloia is the name of a new post office and thriving little community in our neighborhood. Since the establishing of the Summerland Lumber Co.'s mill in Meadow Valley there has grown up about the plant a busy little centre, now grown to such proportions as to be worthy of recognition by the Post Office Department, and before next winter expects to have a public School. The name given to the new post office is the recommendation of Mr J. W. Wheeler, head of the Lumber Co., who has been appointed post master. A daily service each way will be maintained, the new office to be served from the West Summerland post office. The office will be opened immediately the contract for carrying the mail is completed.

Mrs Wellington Watson will be at Home on Wednesday afternoon next, March 8th, from 3 till 6.

Packing School commences 9 a.m. Monday at the Fruit Union packing house. Pupils are asked to be on hand at that hour.

Pte. Harold Smith of the 172nd Battalion boarded the "Sicamous" on Tuesday night to rejoin his regiment at Kamloops.

A basketball game to assist the Home Comfort Club treasury has been arranged for Saturday night in the Men's Club, High School vs. Res. of District.

Mrs W. C. W. Fosbery arrived back in Summerland on Wednesday evening this week, after an extended visit to her parents, Mr and Mrs W. A. Doyle at Los Angeles, Cal.

A party of friends numbering twenty-five gave Mrs R. M. Ross a genuine surprise party last Friday when they presented themselves at her home for an evening of cards. Mrs Ross rose to the occasion admirably, however, and made her guests very welcome. A most enjoyable evening was the outcome, even to the refreshments the guests brought with them.

The annual general meeting of the Summerland Fruit Union will be held on Saturday, March 25th, when, it is hoped, Mr Jackson, Central Manager, will be present. Nominations for new directors should be in the hands of the secretary at least fourteen days before the meeting.

It seems a remarkable coincidence that it should be "Billy" Haddrell who was the soldier who should open the box of Christmas apples sent along with others from Summerland and Okanagan points for our soldiers overseas. He found in the box Mr Harry Scott's card, and has advised that gentleman how greatly they were appreciated of their good condition on arrival and how quickly devoured.

Mrs Alex. Smith suffered a particularly painful injury early this week, the effects of which will remain with her for some time yet. She stepped down from the rear porch on to a piece of board which the children must have placed there in the course of their play. Two projecting nails penetrated her foot to a considerable depth, one in the ball of the foot, and the other at the heel. The wounds bled profusely, and besides causing considerable pain the injury almost incapacitates Mrs Smith from her daily work.

Pte. Frank Fox, who enlisted from here into the 54th Battalion, which regiment is now at Witley, England, is suffering from with spinal meningitis. Percy Holder and another occupying the same hut were also quarantined as germ carriers. Mr Holder writes his mother that though he had some of the germs, the disease has not developed with him, but he had an attack of German measles instead, a very unpopular disease in a British camp just now. He was not sick enough to be in bed, but was fretting under the monotony of isolation.

Mrs Gertrude Young and her brother, Clarence Pinoo, have received word of the death in Australia of their aunt, Mrs Geddle. Mrs Geddle was a very interesting person, being the wife of the first missionary who was ever sent out by the Presbyterian Church in Nova Scotia. Seventy years ago Dr Geddle was designated a foreign missionary to the South Seas. It was of him that the famous inscription was written on the island of Ancoityum: "When he came here there were no christians—when he left there were no heathen."

Men working at the Experimental Station seem to have an especially strong spirit of patriotism, if the number who have left their work there to take up arms is anything to go by. Another imminent enlistment from "The Farm" is that of Hugh A. Walton, who expects to leave in a week or two for Kamloops, where he will get a transfer into an overseas battalion. Mr Walton saw service in the Boer War of 1899-1902, with the South African Constabulary, under Capt. Duff-Stewart, who, promoted to the rank of Colonel, held the staff appointment of Camp Commandant at Vernon last summer. Mrs Walton and family expect to remove to Prairie Valley, where she will stay with her mother, Mrs Nettie.

PRE-COOLING, STANDARDIZATION AND COAST MARKETS ARE SUBJECTS OF SPEAKERS.

ces somewhat in advance of the Canadian grown, foreign packages have in the past set the precedents to a certain extent. If a package introduced into Canadian markets by American growers takes well with consumers, the home growers have been compelled to follow suit.

British Columbia prune shippers, according to Mr. Flack, have in the past used no fewer than four different packages. He showed how this confusion affected the wholesaler and the retailer, bringing packages of different dimensions into competition with each other on unfair terms. This was apparent also in the matter of strawberry marketing, Mr. Flack instancing cases where two crates of berries, one with only three-fifths of the contents of the other, were in direct competition with each other, and generally speaking brought the same prices.

As a rule, the American packages were somewhat smaller than those in use in Canada, Mr. Flack said. The fruit they contained was usually of splendid appearance and took well, which made it somewhat difficult in many cases to sell the larger package of home grown produce. Everyone would be put on an equal basis if the packages were standardized.

Dealing with the case of the apple package, Mr. Flack mentioned that last year there were five different sizes on the market. All might be suitable for this purpose, but he thought it would not be difficult to pick out one size and make it the only one to be used for that purpose. All shippers would concede that f.o.b. shipments were the most satisfactory from their point of view, and the standardization of packages would encourage this, since the dealer would know exactly what he was getting. The fact that two shippers at the same point sometimes offered different sized packages often led to disastrous price cutting, which developed unsettled market conditions, and often encouraged the practice of shipping on consignment. Standardization would help to stabilize things.

There were three points of view to be considered, those of the manufacturer, the packer and shipper, and that of the consumer. The cost of material to the grower could be reduced if there were standard sizes, and still more so if the lengths of different standard types could be kept uniform. It could easily be seen how this would cheapen the cost to the manufacturer. The packer and shipper, Mr. Flack urges, should consider the matter with a broad mind, not opposing the adoption of any standard size because it was not the one they had been accustomed to using. Standardization would protect the consumer, always giving him the same amount.

Dealing with dimensions, Mr. Flack gave the inside dimensions of the two apple boxes which he thought were the most suitable. These were the export box measuring 10 x 11 x 20 inches, and the Oregon box 10 1/2 x 11 1/2 x 18. There was little difference in the merits of these two, but in his view the latter size would be preferable since the length and width would conform to what could be made a standard peach box, allowing of some economy in the manufacture.

Other packages were touched upon by Mr. Flack as follows:

Peach Crate—The two most in use measured in width and length, 11 x 18 and 11 1/2 x 18. The latter he advised by the same reasoning as he picked out his apple box. The standard depths allowed should be 3 1/2, 4 and 4 1/2 inches.

Pear Box—11 1/2 x 8 1/2 x 18 was Mr. Flack's recommendation, giving top and bottoms as for the apple and peach package.

Cherry Crate—To hold 25 pounds of fruit net, 14 x 5 1/2 x 16 1/2 inches. Lugs if necessary to be 1 1/2 x 1 1/2 x 1/2.

Hallocks—Instead of the small hallock sometimes used, 4 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 1 1/2, another Mr. Flack considered more suitable measured 4 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 1 1/2.

Four Basket Crate—The recognized B.C. tintop measures 7 1/2 x 6 1/2 top dimensions, and 3 1/2 inches deep. Of the two Washington sizes, 8 x 6 1/2 x 3 1/2, and 7 1/2 x 6 1/2 x 3 1/2, Mr. Flack remarked that the latter size had a great advantage in that it helped to overcome the fault of slack packing.

Mr. Flack's suggestion for a cantaloupe crate was 11 1/2 x 11 1/2 x 20 1/2.

All the above dimensions are inside measurements.

A point not usually touched on in considering the marketing question was advanced by Mr. Flack when he stated that different markets called for different packages. This diversity in market demands he considered called for study and efforts on the part of shippers to meet the conditions called for. He thought it reasonable to expect that towns and cities of vastly different populations should call for different kinds of packages, and these contentions were backed up by extensive returns he had compiled showing what the demands in various centres called for. Our competitors, Mr. Flack said, studied these differences and often obtained the advantage. Competition was keen these times, and all such considerations as these should be taken into account. The viewpoints of different markets should be studied. If this had been done last season two carloads of cherries arriving in Winnipeg from the Okanagan, would not have been shipped in packages that the market there did not call for. As it was these cherries came into competition with smaller Washington packages, but the Okanagan fruit was forced down to the same price, which was about $2 per crate less than what it would have been.

Answering questions, Mr. Flack described the 10 pound cherry flat as a dead issue. It was popular in the very earliest market, but was not good for later crops. For nearby points he advocated the 25 pound cherry package as better even than the 4 basket crate.

Some phases of Mr. Flack's address aroused some discussion.

Before the subject was disposed of, however, Mr. Flack asked the meeting for an expression of opinion on the standardization question. Dominion Fruit Commissioner Johnson was interested in the matter, and Mr. Flack being instructed to report the sentiment of fruit growers as he came in contact with them, asked that a resolution be passed. A motion giving approval to the movement for the standardization of fruit packages, and pointing out its advantages was accordingly proposed by W. M. Wright, seconded by H. C. Mellor, and passed unanimously.

COAST MARKET CONDITIONS.

R. C. Abbott, Coast Market Commissioner, was the final speaker of the evening. It was already late when he rose to speak, and consequently his able address was somewhat curtailed on account of the limited time at his disposal. Mr. Abbott managed nevertheless to make the most of his opportunity, and threw much new light on a question that the Okanagan should be greatly concerned with.

British Columbia was not taking full advantage of the Coast markets, Mr. Abbott said in opening. It was his intention to show some of the work his office was doing. It was a big question, a conclusion which he backed up by remarking that it had been hard to tell from the origin of the fruit on sale in Vancouver in the past whether that city was American or Canadian. He seriously questioned the patriotism of the dealer who imported American fruit when the Canadian product was quite easily available.

Mr. Abbott knew from personal experience the hard feelings which growers entertained in regard to the Vancouver market. He knew the disheartening experience of working all through a season only to find at its conclusion an expense balance charged up. The grower blamed the wholesaler, but marketing methods in the past and the absence of a dependable supply had worked against the B.C. grower. Dependability was a strong point in favor of the American fruit, and the Vancouver dealers often took the stand that they must have the stuff whether it has to be imported or not. Relating to efforts made to change the viewpoint of some of the dealers on Wholesale Row, Mr. Abbott told of the troubles he had encountered. Independent shippers in some instances undoubtedly caused more trouble, but it was his duty to protect the grower shipping independently as well as those shipping through an organized channel.

By the aid of a big chart Mr. Abbott was able to compare the imports of American fruit into Vancouver with the quantity of B.C. produce marketed there during the two seasons of 1914 and 1915. How wonderfully the imports were cut down in 1915, and the sale of home grown stuff built up was clearly shown in this way. Among other illuminating facts revealed was the reorganization of the City Market which had been brought about, and which catered to the needs of the small shipper. That institution last year disposed of $85,000 worth of produce, in spite of the prediction that the reorganization process would not be a success.

Referring particularly to a situation that arose in connection with the marketing of the strawberry crop of the lower mainland and Vancouver Island, Mr. Abbott characterized it as sheer folly for growers to attempt to say in effect to the wholesalers, "You must buy B.C. fruit—but when we can supply it." This attitude was displayed when, after having promised a continual supply of berries for Vancouver, the growers had changed their minds, shipped carloads through to the Prairies, and attempted to make a convenience of Vancouver. What should be done, said Mr. Abbott, was to work the home markets first, and then send the surplus away.

After showing how largely the imports of small fruits into Vancouver was decreased in 1915, greatly to the benefit of the growers of this province, Mr. Abbott dwelt upon the larger fruits.

Currants—People were using more every year, so that there was a great increase in the consumption. The black currant and the big red currant were the most in demand.

Plums and Prunes—There had been trouble in 1914 owing to big crops and poor marketing of the B.C. product. The American crate of from 23 to 27 pounds arrived on the market in splendid shape and took the cream of the trade. Matters were very largely mended in 1915, however, and imports had been greatly cut down, the movement of American varieties only reaching any volume before the arrival of the B.C. plum on the market.

Apricots—The imports into Vancouver in 1915 were only 3,596 crates as compared to 11,915 in 1914.

Peaches—Shipments of B.C. peaches to Vancouver had risen in 1915 to 12,225 cases against 5,692 in 1914. Mr. Abbot said that all the imported peaches could be cut out if B.C. would supply the fruit. If the fruit was forthcoming, it could be sold readily, and at a price, too. "What price?" interjected someone. "We can sell them at a $1 a box, which should give to the grower 65 cents," replied Mr. Abbot. He stated further that consumers would not pay more than $1. People wanted to get the Okanagan peach. It was superior to the American peach, and people called for the best article last year and would this year. Vancouver was not the "cheap city" some thought it to be, though in the past it had been treated as something of a dumping ground for the poor stuff. Poor stuff had gone from the Okanagan and Summerland as well as elsewhere. Later reference was made to a specific case, when a car of peaches had been sent down from Summerland by an independent shipper, and almost broke the market. The fruit was not well packed, and very much inclined to mildew. Curbstone brokers and cut-rate stores had got hold of the shipment, and they were advertised to the public at 65 and 70 cents a box, or about 20 cents below the prevailing price. Owing to its poor quality the stuff did not sell well, but it was only by strenuous efforts and much personal interviewing that Mr. Abbott was able to induce the other dealers to hold up the price of good Okanagan stock.

Pears—While the imports had been greatly cut down last year, the pear market was neglected in Vancouver. There was always a strong demand for good canning pears.

Onions—800 tons of onions from the Okanagan were on sale in Vancouver in 1915 as against 171 from the whole of the province in 1914. The Okanagan onion, unfortunately, was not an especially good keeper.

Tomatoes—In this variety, the tables were being turned on the American growers. Imports that in 1914 reached Vancouver totalling 14,959 boxes had shrunk in 1915 to 4,060. B.C. tomatoes were now to be had in Vancouver every day in the year, and this year would likely see some exports to Seattle on a considerable scale. He awarded the palm to Keremeos for producing the best tomato in the province, known as the "Beefsteak" variety.

Potatoes—Extensive shipments had been made into Seattle from this province while the American embargo was lifted. Here again the imports into the Coast markets had decreased greatly. Owing to damage to stored crops this winter, Mr. Abbott expressed the opinion that Vancouver would see $40 potatoes before the new season's crop came in.

Cantaloupes—Miscellaneous packages had been used last year, though Summerland shippers had used only one. The volume of imported cantaloupes had greatly diminished in 1915, but the value of the home grown shipments had not increased in proportion. The B.C. cantaloupe was generally preferred to the American, in appearance as well as flavor—fitting the eyes as well as the taste, is the apt way Mr. Abbott put it. There were a good many questions put to Mr. Abbott in this connection, and in the course of his answers he stated he preferred the California crate measuring 12 x 12 x 22. The "Hoodoo" was the variety he named as favoring. The "15" crate was also a good one for the small retailer to handle, containing that number. He had noticed that for some reason the Summerland melons had a tendency to rot at the stem end, although the flavor was splendid. He had used a crate for demonstration purposes, and every melon showed it. It seemed to be the opinion of the growers present that the melons must have been picked too ripe. Questioned regarding the "Economy crate," Mr. Abbott did not favor it. The solid ends looked much better, and handled a lot better also.

Mr. Abbott closed his address by inviting correspondence, and visits from growers who happened to be in Vancouver at any time. He was there for their information, and his experience was that there existed a great lack of information from the producing centres at the Coast markets.

It was about 11.30 when the meeting finally adjourned.

SHIPMENT OF APPLES & ONIONS.

Two carloads of apples and one carload of onions were shipped early this week from the Fruit Union warehouse. On Monday a car of Ganos were loaded on to the "Sicamous" for Brandon. Tuesday, the onions were started to Edmonton, and on Wednesday a carload of Yellow Newtown Pippins was made up for Vancouver. Both the Union and A. Stewart & Son have several carloads of apples yet to be shipped and which will be moved out as soon as cars can be obtained.

THE REVIEW

Young Man, Do you know that some of the best paid men right here in B.C. educated themselves for advancement at home, right in the village or on the farm, and that they had no better chances than you have, some, indeed, being extremely poor, and only having a knowledge of reading and writing? These men have, through the study of International Correspondence Schools' courses, and a determination to succeed, risen to where they are. Why not you?

Others with good general education have found that without special training along one line, they could not hope for much in exchange for their services, and have taken up the International Correspondence Schools studies and made good.

The International Correspondence Schools have contracts now with over two hundred railroads alone for instructing their employees, including the C.P.R., the C.N.R., the B.C. Electric Rly., and the Dominion Government railways in Canada, and the text-books of the School which have become famous for their clearness, practicability, and thoroughness, are now used in nearly 300 large colleges and schools, including in Canada, McGill, Toronto University, Department of Technical Education, Halifax, Shawinigan Technical Institute and others. A large number of colleges in the United States, including the United States Government Aeronautical School, Army War College, etc., also use International Correspondence Schools text-books.

"Cafe Chantant" Adds One Hundred and Thirty-nine Dollars to Worthy Cause.

It was not to be expected that the matinee of the Cafe Chantant last Saturday afternoon would have as full a house as the first performance the Thursday before. Nevertheless there was a fairly good attendance, mostly children, with a sprinkling of adults. The proceeds from the admission amounted to about $40, and with the reduced prices of 50 cents and 25 cents that prevailed it may be estimated that the total attendance was somewhat less than a hundred and fifty. As on Thursday the long program gained everyone's enthusiastic approbation, and by putting on the second performance many were given the enjoyment they would otherwise not have had the opportunity to take in.

An episode of great interest took place at the close of this performance, when with the pierrots and pierrettes assembled on the stage before the dropped curtain, Mr Sauter, on behalf of those taking part in the Chantant made a presentation to Miss Robina Logie, whose admirable and incessantly hard work as accompanist was no small factor in the success of the undertaking. The gift took the form of a silver toilet set, and Mr Sauter performed his pleasing duty gracefully and feelingly. Miss Logie, taken completely by surprise, though she was, made fitting reply to her friends.

Financially as otherwise, the entertainment Cafe Chantant has been a complete success. The sale of seats for the principal performance last Thursday, resulted to slightly over $200 gross. To this was added the proceeds of the sale of refreshments and the takings for the matinee. After the payment of all expenses there has been paid over to the treasurer of the Patriotic Fund the sum of $189, being $109 from the entertainment proper and $80 from the refreshment sales, conducted by Mesdames Sutherland and Downton on Thursday evening.

Friends here of Acadia College, Wolfville, are numerous, and they will learn with interest that the president of that institution, Dr G. B. Cutton, has dropped his work to enter upon military service. He has been accepted for overseas service, and will command a company of the 219th Battalion in the Nova Scotia Highland Brigade. Dr Cutton has begun his officer's training course. Twenty-five undergraduates of Acadia have enlisted for the com-

SUMMERLAND LIBERAL ASSOC'N.

Organization Meeting Addressed by Mr. L. V. Rogers.

The annual general meeting of the Summerland district Liberal Association was held in the Campbell Hall on Friday evening, March 3rd, when a good attendance was present, Col. R. Cartwright presiding.

The principal business before the meeting was the election of officers for the current year, the following being appointed: Hon. President - H. C. Brewster; President - Col. R. Cartwright; Vice-President -

Wellington C. Kelley; Secretary-Treasurer - A. H. Steven; Executive Committee:

Ward I., T. J. McAlpine and K. S. Hogg; Ward II., Wm. Ritchie and J. R. Campbell; Ward III., Thos. Dale and A. Ruth-erford; Ward IV., T. J. Garnett and O. Zimmerman.

At this stage of the proceedings Mr Leslie Rogers of Kelowna, the Liberal candidate, arrived, and upon the suggestion of Col. Cartwright he was introduced to the meeting by Mr W. C. Kelley, Vice-President.

Mr Rogers in the course of an hour's address, which was listened to with rapt attention by his hearers, refrained from making any special arraignment of the government, confining his remarks largely to the question of income and expenditure of the province in comparison with that of other provinces and making a brief allusion to the features of the Liberal platform.

At the conclusion of the address several members took occasion to pay their annual subscriptions, and there came to a close the most enthusiastic meeting ever held under the auspices of the Association.

St. Andrew's Ladies Form Missionary Society

Miss McGregor, Travelling Secretary of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, visited Summerland last Sunday, arriving in the afternoon from Penticton, where she had addressed a meeting in the morning.

Through an unfortunate misunderstanding Miss McGregor's visit was not announced. She gave an address before those assembled at the evening service at St. Andrew's Church, after which a branch of the Women's Missionary Society was organized. Miss McGregor's address was an interesting and inspiring one, and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Primary School for Trout Creek

Preferred by Parents to Uniting With Town in Larger School.

Inspector To Decide.

Heating and Plumbing at Central School is Not Satisfactory.

Public School Inspector Anstey made a special visit to Summerland on Friday last to look into the proposition of establishing a primary school at Trout Creek, in accordance with the request of citizens of that section. A special meeting of the School Board was held to discuss the subject with the inspector, and some matters pertaining to the Central School were also taken up with that official.

Trustee Mrs Ross told of a suggestion being received with favor among the people in the vicinity of the Town School, that that section and the Trout Creek people use a two room modern school building at the south end of town. This she pointed out would be much better in every way than the smaller one room building with the larger number of grades under one teacher could ever be. Then, too, some thing must be done right away to provide more comfortable and sanitary quarters for the classes now using the old town school building. The erection of a new building being necessary, why not make provision for the Trout Creek children at the same time?

After some discussion the matter was left with Trustee Sharp to take up with the Trout Creek people, and Mr Anstey, after visiting the Central School, went away to return in a few days after a decision had been reached.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board held on Tuesday of this week, Trustee Sharp, who said he saw the advantages of the larger school, reported having submitted the question to the parents of his district, but found them unanimously opposed to using a conveyance even to town for the younger children. The secretary was accordingly instructed, after a long discussion, to so advise the inspector, who will look into the request of the Trout Creek ratepayers, which has now the endorsement of the School Board, and advise the Department of Education.

Medical Inspector Andrew submitted a report touching upon sanitary conditions. Among other things he asked that water be supplied the schools as soon as possible.

Some further correspondence was received from the Department on the subject of school grounds improvements and school gardens, grants for both being obtainable under certain conditions.

The secretary reported having been called upon by the agent of a Calgary firm who offered floor oil for 55 cents a gallon, and asked permission to order a half barrel. The Board had been paying $1.25 a gallon for the oil now being used and purchased locally. He was authorized to make the purchase.

Dr Andrew's report provoked a long discussion of the plumbing and heating of the Central, which, according to Trustee Hilborn, is far from right. He told of drawing water from the boiler expansion tank through a tap from which water for drinking is frequently taken. That a new heating system will be put in is practically decided upon. Final action will probably be taken at the April meeting.

The Summerland St Andrew's and Caledonian Society has placed its Honor Roll framed complete upon the walls of Campbell's Hall, its meeting place. The names of nine members who have enlisted are set forth on the roll. The Union Jack and the Canadian Ensign crossed appear above the names, and suitably mounted and placed in a dark frame the Honor Roll makes a very suitable but quite undemonstrative remembrance of members who are doing service for the Empire in this time of stress.

Greater Vigilance in Fruit Inspection

Railroad Cars Greatest Source of Infection by Codling Moth.

Dread Pest Gets In.

Board of Horticulture Determined to Prevent Its Spreading.

The Dominion and Provincial Horticultural authorities will co-operate this year to fight that most unwelcome of American visitors to this province, the codling moth.

Codling moth came into British Columbia about four years ago, but at no time was public attention drawn to the fact because of the desire of the agricultural department of the province to fight off the invading pest with just as little publicity as possible. It had previously been frequently said by British Columbia officials that this province was free from codling moth, which infests nearly all of the American fruit sections as well as Ontario and the Maritime Provinces. Rigid inspection of outside fruit brought to British Columbia was successful in preventing the entrance of the codling moth in fruit boxes, but unfortunately the pest found another source of entry. It came in empty fruit cars from across the line. These cars brought fruit to the Coast and to Calgary and then as empties were frequently taken up to the interior to be loaded with British Columbia fruit also for the Coast and Alberta points.

The situation with respect to this evil was fully discussed this week at the Coast sessions of the British Columbia Board of Horticulture, an advisory body which is of great assistance to the agricultural department.

The whole question of the danger to the fruit industry of the province through the possible spread of codling moth was thoroughly discussed. Members of the board agreed that the infection came in fruit cars from the other side of the line, which had been used after unloading at centres here to carry B.C. fruit. Every case of codling moth has been traced to infected cars. A good deal of the inspection work in regard to the watching of imported fruit itself has therefore been to some extent lost.

Last year a system of car inspection at points of shipment in the fruit districts was inaugurated, and this coming season it will be extended considerably. It is proposed that all freezer cars which are to be used for the carrying of British Columbia fruit will be inspected for codling moth at points some distance from point of shipment.

For example, westbound cars, to be used for carrying Okanagan fruit, will likely be inspected at Revelstoke, eastbound cars at Kamloops. Cars on the Crows Nest & K.V.R. at Hope and Cranbrook. It is said that at the present time about 500 acres of fruit land in various sections of the province are infected. Codling moth exists in Kamloops, Westbank, Okanagan Landing, Vernon and Kelowna. There was quite an outbreak in Westbank in 1914, and another in 1915.

There was also an outbreak of considerable proportions in Kelowna in 1914, when an area including about 5,000 trees was infected, according to reports. Codling moth showed up in Vernon in 1915, and also in numbers at Okanagan Landing, a point where there are always many fruit cars. Most of the trouble of course has been in the northern end of the Okanagan Valley. So far codling moth has not appeared south of Westbank.

With a rigid inspection not only of imported fruit, but also of all cars used for the shipping of provincial fruit, the authorities expect to be able to get rid of the trouble in a very few seasons. Fruit growers will watch their efforts with a good deal of anxious interest.

The inspection of B.C. potatoes for export markets was discussed by the board. At the present time the pest inspectors in Vancouver are up to their eyes in potatoes, so to speak. It is said that there are

WARM CHINOOK BREAKS UP ICE.

Sent Drifting Northward—From Whence It Came.

Although the "Sicamous" has been able to make the daily call at this point since the beginning of last week, the big boat still encounters considerable trouble from the ice. The south winds that have prevailed for some days past have done wonders in loosening up the ice at this end of the lake, but most of this has been blown up the lake, and in some parts it has congregated in quantities sufficient to give the boats no little inconvenience. Between Kelowna and Gellatly the ice has not loosened up as it has here, and the floating fragments have made the obstruction worse. An incoming traveler on the boat this week estimated that there was ice in that locality for about fifteen miles. Though there is a channel through it, the drifting ice has gathered in it so that the boats do not have by any means a free path. On Sunday last the "Sicamous," leaving here about 10 p.m. got into some difficulties with ice near Gellatly, and after getting clear put into the wharf there about 1 a.m. and tied up till morning.

Since Tuesday last the ice immediately south of this point has been disappearing rapidly. The lake is now open well beyond Trout Creek, and Naramata has practically got a free shoreline again. The "Sicamous" made her first call there on Tuesday evening. The "Trepannier" of the Lake Boat Company's fleet has been freed this week, and will likely be seen in operation again very soon, preparations to this end being now under way.

The Boy Scouts of Naramata, joining with the populace in general, turned out in real style, motley uniforms included, and welcomed the big boat with their newly organized pipe and drum band. The boat itself joined in the jollification with syncopated whistle blasts, the why and wherefore of which caused some wonderment to listeners on this side of the lake.

about 200 cars awaiting inspection. Thirty-one moved last week. Many of the potato shipments were injured by the frost of January, and cannot be sent forward. Some are rejected because of blight.

A recommendation was also made that several inspectors be appointed for new points of fruit entry.

Probably the most important business transacted by the board was the decision to recommend to the Department of Agriculture that the fruit pests inspection work, formerly under the direction of the late Thos. Cunningham, be brought within the scope of the Horticultural Branch of that Department.

Okanagan Company Fighting Caribos

A Full Company of Okanagan Lake Men Being Recruited by the New 172nd Regiment.

Arriving here on Wednesday evening from Kelowna, Sergt. Chaplin and Pte. J. A. Haynes have been busy canvassing the district for recruits with the object of forming a full company of 250 men from the South Okanagan electoral district for affiliation with the fighting "Cariboo" Battalion of the 172nd regiment now being organized at Kamloops for overseas service.

This company will include a number of men from this district already in training at Kamloops. A phone message from Kelowna this morning stated that over 140 men had been secured for the Okanagan Company in that district. Sergt. Chaplin expects to get from 25 to 30 men from Summerland, Peachland, and Naramata, and is remaining here until Sunday in order to make a thorough canvass.

A good many have intimated willingness to enlist, and as we go to press we learn that several have already passed the medical examination and signed on. These include Magnus Tait, Walter Verity, Garnett Cascaiden, and Levi Johnston, Summerland, and Thos. Coldham and G. O. Needham, Peachland. During to-day and Saturday a number more are expected to sign on.

Later information is that Mr Tait, though expressing a willingness to serve, and has passed the medical examination, has not actually enlisted, but promised to do so if he could find a suitable man to take care of his fruit lot. Mr Verity's enlisting is likewise conditional.

Interned Prisoners On Transprovincial Road.

The Princeton Board of Trade has revived the agitation to have a force of interned prisoners put to work on the trans-provincial road as soon as the weather will permit. This movement is receiving the support of many similar organizations, including the Summerland Board of Trade. As the Princeton Board points out in its letters to the other boards, this matter has been under negotiation for the past year, but appears to have reached a deadlock, unless further vigorous efforts are made to bring about action on the part of the provincial authorities. This road is important as forming an artery, which would permit of the opening up of abundant mineral resources in the province, and it will also form an important military highway.

B. C. GOING DRY.

"YOU WILL be laid before you a measure for the prohibition of the sale of liquor in the province which will become operative on January 1st, 1917, subject to approval by popular vote. To meet conditions created by the war, amendments to the 'Liquor Act' will be submitted, further restricting and regulating the sale of liquor until peace has been declared."

The above is a momentous extract from the speech from the throne delivered last Thursday by Lieutenant-Governor Barnard at the opening of the Legislature at Victoria. It indicates that the government has seen fit to submit to the demands of the prohibitionists, convinced that the sentiment of the electorate is behind the movement. The incorporation of prohibition into the governmental policy was first announced the day previous by Premier Bowser himself, replying to a strong prohibitionist deputation which waited on the executive council.

The Premier gave the promise of the immediate preparation of an act, in the drafting of which the prohibition interests will be given a share. The measure will be introduced at the present session of the Legislature, advanced to its third reading, and then submitted to the people at the forthcoming election.

Briefly the act will incorporate the best features of existing prohibitory legislation in Alberta, Manitoba, and elsewhere. It will contain a section stating that it will come into operation after the people have approved of it, and, if approved, will become effective on January 1 next. The majority vote of the electors will prevail, and if a voter when registering his vote for his candidate does not take sufficient interest to vote on the measure, his vote will not be considered at all. In contrast to this proposal was the vote taken on the local option plebiscite, when all those not voting on the local option ticket but voting for the election of candidates were counted in the grand total as against the measure.

But in addition to the new measure to be placed before the people Premier Bowser was emphatic in his declaration that stringent amendments to the existing Liquor Act will be passed at the forthcoming session, especially in respect to closing hours, etc. These amendments will be effective during the duration of the war. If the new act is approved by the electors, it will, on January 1 next, supersede the existing act, and what amendments may be made thereto.

Manitoba is another province vitally interested in prohibition at this time. On Monday next the endorsement of the people of that province is being asked to the Macdonald Temperance Act. Ontario is discussing prohibition for the entire province, and even in the federal house, prohibition is to receive one day this week or next.

DOING OUR BIT.

THE FRUIT GROWERS of British Columbia are good citizens. In the present crisis, no province has responded more warmly to the call for men than has British Columbia, and in all our province, no sections have contributed a higher percentage of enlisted men than the fruit districts. The Okanagan Valley, with a population of 15,000 at the outbreak of the war, had by the end of 1915 supplied 1,800 accepted men. The executive of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association reports that out of a membership of about 900 no less than 200 are now under arms. Further, it is estimated that no less than 85 per cent of the skilled apple packers are now enlisted. If this is the case, it is plain that whoever else may be shirking, the fruit growers are certainly doing their patriotic duty. In this connection a sentence from the Agricultural Gazette of Canada for February makes good reading, looking at the matter from another aspect; "The Okanagan Valley in British Columbia sent 1,400 men to the front by July 1915, out of a total population of 15,000, and then nearly doubled the value of the food production."

TO CONTRIBUTORS AND OTHERS.

WE ARE ALWAYS GLAD to publish any contributions that will be helpful to our subscribers, and especially the fruit grower, but it becomes necessary to remind our friends that such copy must be in our hands early in the week. Though the Review does not appear till Friday, much of the matter must necessarily be already in type early on Thursday. By that time the space remaining is usually almost all arranged for.

There seems to be an increasing tendency on the part of advertisers and contributors to bring in their changes of copy or their contributions almost at the last moment. They may think that their's is likely to be the only late copy, but unfortunately this is seldom the case. Our efforts to meet the wishes of such friends has often caused considerable expense, and also the risk of missing the mails. Some weeks it is almost overwhelming, and something has to be held over till the following week.

Thoughtfulness in bringing in copy, whether for advertisements or otherwise, in good time will greatly assist us and will be much appreciated. A consideration that is sometimes lost sight of is the fact that a large proportion of meetings, public gatherings, concerts, and other functions take place on Thursday afternoon or evening, the community half holiday. The Review always endeavors to report such in its issue of the day following, though it is often only accomplished with a great deal of inconvenience.

There are other considerations also which enter into the matter, and we are confident that those who make use of our columns in any way have only to be shown the inconvenience in handling their contributions late in the week to discontinue the practice excepting in the few cases where it is clearly unavoidable.

§ § § § §

THE IDEA of establishing a reading and social room either in connection with the Board of Trade or perhaps apart from it, has many advocates, and not only just among the men in the immediate vicinity of the town section either. It is felt that if the quarters the Board of Trade is seeking as a permanent home will be available, an additional fee of about 50 cents among sufficient members would provide funds enough to stock the room with literature and whatever else it may be desirable to install. Many men feel the need of a place where they can meet freely, see current papers and magazines, discuss the war, politics, and the multitudinous other subjects men want to talk about among themselves, and generally to pass an hour or two in a social way. There is much to be said for the project, and the men are likely to take up with it enthusiastically.

§ § § § §

TWO ANNOUNCEMENTS of interest to the Okanagan in common with other agricultural sections of the province have lately been given out by the government. One is that the creation of a separate portfolio of agriculture will be authorized by special legislation during the present session. The new minister will be appointed after the general election. The other, equally or more welcome, states that it is the intention of the government to bring into operation as speedily as possible the "Agricultural Credits Act." Arrangements are just about completed for a million dollar loan which will provide the government with funds to put the new legislation into force.

Orchard and Farm: Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming. Spray at the Proper Time

"A Stitch in Time Saves Nine."

To any person who is much interested in the success of this district it is very pleasing to note the increased interest evident in such a large number of orchardists, which is stimulating all the better growers to make renewed and increased efforts not only to care for their own orchards better than heretofore, but also by all fair and honorable means to prevent the breeding of insect pests and contagious diseases in any and every neglected orchard in the district.

The spirit of united effort to accomplish this end which is now so evident has undoubtedly been fostered by the excellent articles on the subject written by Mr L. L. Palmer, and published in the local paper, and later by his address at a meeting called for that purpose.

The majority of the best growers are now fully alive to the importance of individual responsibility for united effort if we are to continue producing fruit of such high standard as we have in the past, and in greatly increased quantities which is desirable if we are to make the financial success which we all desire.

In so far as one can judge from past seasons one of the most important orchard operations requiring prompt and united effort is the spraying of our cherry and apple trees for the destruction of aphid.

While I have no doubt that much time and money has been expended in past years in spraying that was not specially necessary, conditions now are such that some spraying is absolutely necessary if we are to have best results.

For the past two seasons both apple and cherry aphid have increased very rapidly throughout this Valley, and in the northern portion during the past season many thousands of dollars damage was done by the apple aphid. A great amount of spraying was done in some of the largest orchards in the endeavor to hold this pest in check. In far too many cases the work was not begun at the proper time for obtaining best results.

As this pest was present here in largely increased numbers during the past season it is more than likely that it will be much worse the coming season, particularly so if there be even half as much rainy weather as we had last year. As the apple aphid helps greatly in the spreading of blight, also because of its tendency to breed and feed much the most on the slow growing trees, thereby stunting the trees which we are most anxious to have grow the best, it undoubtedly does much injury under present conditions, and it is of the utmost importance if we are to succeed well to get after this pest at the proper time, as I am convinced one good spraying at the proper time (which is when the buds are just showing green and the aphid are hatching rapidly) is of more importance in the control of this pest than all future sprayings, because if this first spraying is not done at the proper time and WELL DONE it is almost impossible to get satisfactory results with later sprayings.

Any orchard, especially the neglected one which is growing slowly, that is not sprayed thoroughly at the proper time, becomes a veritable hotbed for breeding the pest to reinfest neighboring orchards, hence the importance of systematic and united effort at the proper time. A general public meeting is being arranged for which will be held as soon as Mr Palmer returns from the Coast, probably on March 11th, of which further notice will be given, when it is to be hoped every man who is interested (and who in this municipality is not) in the success of the fruit industry, will be present.

J. L. HILBORN.

Fruit Growers, Get Busy on Your Pruning and Blight Cutting.

When spring comes, spring work will come also. On permanent trees, prune back to good sound green wood. Darkened, black-hearted (frozen) wood never fully recovers. All blight and blight cankers must be removed and burnt, whether you prune your trees or not.

The practice of scalping should be discouraged, and must be done only in exceptional cases, as on the trunks and very large branches. Scalping on most varieties in the past has proven a waste of time, and the continuance of blight spreading has been due to this practice. Always use disinfectant on scalp wounds and cutting tools. Cut well back into good sound bark, and watch these wounds very closely when sap commences to flow. In removing blighted branches, always cut, if possible to a good leader or side branch, providing it is one foot or more below infection (this rule applies to winter cutting). After growth of trees commences, heavier cutting would be necessary, and the chances of control much less. At all times branches must be removed well below all evidence of blight infection.

There is very little blight in the district compared to previous years; this but increases the danger. Many growers may be inclined to regard its presence as insignificant.

Traffic Resumed.

After Thirty-four Days.

The "Sicamous" again put in at our port on Sunday unloading a carload of hay that had been held at the Landing for about four weeks till such time as the condition of the ice round the Naramata wharf should warrant the boat landing. This long period of isolation or ice-olation—extending over thirty-four days, to be exact—has gone a long way toward accustoming the citizens to looking to Penticton as the next nearest town to do their extra shopping.

It has been a period trying on all classes. Possibly the merchants themselves have been hampered as much as their patrons. When the history of Naramata and the Okanagan is being written it is probable that some attention will be paid to this "freak" winter and its many privations.

A Naramatan's Day Dream.

Read this you who say you don't care to know whether Tom, Dick or Harry went to Halifax or contemplate going to Halifax, or have returned from Halifax:

This is a dream—a day dream. A citizen in driving past the Naramata Cemetery recently—save the mark—began to dream of the possibility of his dying and being buried there—here, in this quiet, secluded, somewhat romantic, but nevertheless lonely and absolutely deserted spot. He thought of the vaunted civilization and artistic taste of the people of Naramata. His day dream proceeded toward a solution. A solution quite within the bounds of a possibility. He heard of the Women's Institute proposing in solemn and determined council to enlist the cooperation of the men folk in getting the grounds enclosed by a neat and durable fence, and with water laid on at the grounds so as to enable the be-veaved ones—and the number is increasing all too rapidly—to properly care for the resting place of their departed friends.

Seriously speaking is it not pretty near the time for the citizens to get together and clean up and fence up this cemetery of ours?

Women's Institute Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute of Naramata was held on Tuesday afternoon, with the President, Mrs. Davies, in the chair. The roll call was responded to by each lady giving some valuable suggestion along house-keeping lines. There were then some very interesting and instructive papers read. Mrs. Wolstoncroft gave an excellent paper on Rose Culture, and any one viewing her beautiful rose garden during the summer and fall months will certainly know that she knows a great deal about the growing and culture of the rose.

Mrs. Cook read a fine paper on the growth and culture of the vegetable garden, while Mrs. Aldridge gave a splendid paper on the growth and culture of old fashioned flowers, and stated that if any one needed information further that Mr. Aldridge would be pleased to give it. These three papers were certainly very fine, and gives one an insight into how to do things the right way. Mrs. Hancock gave a splendid paper on Current Events, while Miss Gordon read a very interesting paper on Notable Events.

Town & District

Miss Gladys Robinson returned from Summerland on Monday, after several days absence.

The orchardists have gotten down to their pruning in real earnest. It will probably occupy a period extending well on into May to accomplish this very necessary and arduous task.

Word has reached town that two of our fellows who enlisted recently for home defence duty, Mr. D. O. Hughes and son Frank, have been transferred to Mara, where they are employed as guards at the internment camp.

Word has been received of the departure from England to France of the last remaining sections of the 30th Reserve Battalion, of which Pte. Reg. L. Boothe was a member. The date of leaving Southampton was February 11th.

"The finest military band in Canada," are the words used by a Nainaimo paper in a recent issue in giving advance notice of a benefit concert by the 11th C.M.R. band, now stationed at Victoria, of which organization one of our local chaps, Roy Boothe, is a member. The eulogy, while voicing the opinion, it may be, of only a section of musical critics, yet shows that Roy is travelling in high class company.

The example recently set by the two Institutes at Kelowna—the Farmers' Institute and the Women's Institute—in holding a joint meeting in the form of a banquet is one to be commended, and to be more generally followed. After a bountiful feast had been done ample justice to by the two hundred and fifty guests, there was a fine program of short addresses interspersed with music, was especially good. The idea is a happy one, and one which if carried out here at Naramata, would go a long way toward cementing the common interests of these two helpful and necessary organizations.

As the date is near for the annual meeting of the members of the Summerland Fruit Union—of which Naramata forms a part—it behoves us to bestir ourselves. If we are to secede from the organization and form a local union of our own, with our own manager and board of directors, there is not time for moon-gazing. The committee having the compilation of facts and figures relative to the feasibility of the proposal, have had ample time to collect the necessary data. There is a growing restlessness at Naramata over the way the Union is working out so far as their own immediate interests are concerned, and prompt and decisive measures are the only measures that will "go down." It is therefore hoped that at a date not later than next week, there may be another call for an assembly, when the question can and should be thrashed out.

Two of our citizens, Messrs J. H. Pushman and Gerald Roe had quite a thrilling experience on Friday last in effecting a safe return from Summerland by the ice route. The trip across to the neighboring town was made without incident in the forenoon, but shortly after reaching their destination it was discovered that the steam tug "Naramata," propelling a barge in front of her was heading for Penticton, thus breaking a wide channel of ice and cutting off connection with Naramata, as far as our pedestrians were concerned. Decided action had to be taken or else there was nothing to it but a long weary tramp round by Penticton. Hastily attending to business, which included the getting of some 300 lbs of His Majesty's Mail, fastened to their hand sleigh, the fellows set out to overtake and circumvent the ice breakers. This was no easy task, and if it were not for the fact that the crew called a halt at lunch hour, our friends would have had to have exorcised the speed and endurance of Tom Longboat. As it was the snow was overtaken and passed about opposite Three Mile Creek, and the remaining part of the arduous journey made without incident. But certain it is that if over two more weary travellers hit Naramata it will be on some such occasion when the whole double journey will have been accomplished as far as Penticton.

Naramata Current Events.

Mrs F. H. Rounds and son Wesley, were at Penticton on Saturday last on a business trip.

Miss Vera Roe was a passenger on the "Sicamous" on Tuesday evening visiting friends at Summerland.

Mr Harold Steers has joined an artillery section of the forces now in training at Vancouver. His plans were to leave for the Coast on March 10th.

T. H. Boothe boarded the "Sicamous" on Sunday afternoon in order to reach Victoria in time for the opening session of the Farmers' Institute Convention on Wednesday morning.

The ice has at last nearly all disappeared, and for the first time since the end of January the "Sicamous" has landed at our wharf. The strong south wind is responsible to a big extent for the lake being clear of ice once more.

Rev. R. M. Thompson of Penticton conducted service as usual on Sunday afternoon, preaching to a fair sized audience on that phase of the Kingdom of God, as illustrated in the parable of the vineyard workers who at the close of the day were each paid off at a uniform price though for the performance of unequal amounts of labor.

The scarcity of hay in Naramata during the past month has been one of the more serious of the drawbacks, as it necessitated driving to Penticton in order to supply the need. However, as all things have an end sometime, the scowload of feed brought over by the C.P.R. tug "Naramata" has had this serious inconvenience removed.

The Whist Drive given by Messdames Mitchell and Nuttall on Tuesday evening, March 7th, in aid of the Red Cross was well attended, there being seven tables in all. The prizes were awarded to Mr Harold Steers, first gentleman's prize; Mrs Hancock first ladies prize, while Mrs Languedoc and Mr Fred Simpson got the consolation prizes. The amount realized will be a big help to the ladies of the Red Cross society, who are working away faithfully and doing all in their power to help along the cause.

It is stated that the bounty of $3 on coyotes has been suspended temporarily.

The Summerland Fruit Union will ship a car of apples of mixed varieties to Vancouver the end of this week.

Now that the ice has gone the government dredge has resumed the work of deepening the slipway in front of the C.P.R. barge dock.

Mrs H. A. Young will receive next Thursday afternoon, March 16th, from three till six, at the home of her mother, Mrs J. Treffry, Trout Creek.

It is reported that the military department will re-establish camp at Vernon this spring. It is said by some that there will be 15,000 men in training there.

A. Stuart & Son started a car of apples rolling early this week, the destination of the fruit being Regina. They are preparing another carload for immediate shipment.

Mrs Solly informs the Review that she will be sending off another bale of Red Cross material next Tuesday, and asks all friends who have any finished work on hand to bring it before that date.

W. C. Ricardo, well known here through his connection with the fruit industry of this Valley, has been made paymaster, with the rank of captain, of the 67th Western Scots, who are leaving for overseas in a few days.

Dr. Jackson, dentist, will pay his regular monthly visit to Summerland next week, beginning on Tuesday the 14th inst., and remaining until the end of the week. Dr. Jackson will, as usual, occupy Dr Andrew's West Summerland Office.

A flock of 150 sheep, driven up from Okanagan Falls, were put on the "Sicamous" on Wednesday evening, to be taken up the lake. They were destined for the vicinity of Vernon. The sheep were all grade Merino, and were the objects of considerable notice while corralled at the wharf.

The packing school being conducted this week by Jack Lawler at the Union Packing House, is described by Mr Lawler as the best he ever conducted. About a quarter of a hundred pupils are learning the art of grading, wrapping, and packing apples for commercial purposes.

The Experimental Station loses another man this next week in the person of Henry Scutthorpe, who has joined His Majesty's forces for overseas service. Mr Scutthorpe has seen service with the colors before, having served with the 3rd Canadian Regiment at Halifax during the Boer War, and transferring to the A.M.C. bearer company, and again with the Governor-General's Foot Guards at Ottawa. Mrs Scutthorpe and family have returned to town from residence at the farm.

A whist drive arranged by the Women's Auxiliary of St Stephen's Church took place on Monday evening of this week in the Parish Hall. The affair was well attended, and proceeds amounting to $15.25 will go to church funds. Twelve tables were required to accommodate the players, who passed an evening of a most enjoyable nature. Prize winners for the ladies were Miss Mabel Cordy, first; Mrs A. B. Elliott, second. The lady at the other end of the scoring was Miss Sturgeon, and she was made the recipient of the consolation prize. For the men the highest scorers were George Armstrong, first; Messrs O. Vaughan and J. E. Phinney tying for second place, and at the uttermost other end was Mr W. C. Fosbery.

Friends of Mr L. R. Dunrobin were anxious this week to learn how he had fared from so long a stay at his pre-emption near Squally Point, weather conditions having made it impossible for him to get into touch with other points. Taking advantage of the mild weather of the last few days, one of his friends rowed up to the ranch, and found the hermit pre-emptor quite well, though a little out of touch with things of the outside world. Mr Dunrobin had no record of the time, and though without means of artificial light, his stock of provisions was by no means exhausted. His launch was sunk some time back in about six feet of water. Other ranchers in the vicinity have also felt some little inconvenience from the prolonged winter weather but none are known to have suffered severely.

Jas. Ritchie came in on the "Sicamous" on Wednesday evening, from Vancouver.

After several months' absence Miss Armstrong has returned from Vancouver and again taken up her work as nurse at the Hospital.

Mrs R. C. Lipsett goes up to Vernon the latter part of the month to organize a Womens' Institute at Vernon on the afternoon of the 31st.

John Tait boarded the boat on Sunday afternoon last on his way to Victoria, where he is attending the sessions of the British Columbia Farmers' Institute Convention, representing the local Institute.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in St Andrew's Church on Sunday morning, March 19th. The preparatory service will be conducted on the previous Friday evening at eight o'clock.

A meeting of the Summerland Fruit Protective Association is called for Saturday, the 11th inst. at 2.30 p.m., at Campbell's Hall, to receive report of committee and to adopt constitution and by-laws. It is hoped Mr L. L. Palmer, Assistant Fruit Pests Inspector, will be present.

Electric light users in one part of the town section had perforce to revert to the more primitive oil and candle illumination last week-end, when on account of damage to the transformer on the circuit, no light was to be had. The current was off from Friday afternoon till some time Monday.

R. G. Clarke, Dominion Fruit Inspector, went down to the Coast on Tuesday with a shipment of 500 boxes of apples collected from this and other points in the Valley for exhibition purposes at the San Diego Exposition. Another car for the same purpose went from Kere-meos a few days ago.

Miss Anna Lister, graduating from the Vernon Jubilee Hospital last week after a three year course, came down the lake on Monday for a stay at her home in Prairie Valley. Accompanying her was Miss Macdonald of Edmonton, a friend and a sister nurse who first entered the Jubilee Hospital only a day or so before Miss Lister.

About forty couples assembled in St Stephen's Hall last Tuesday evening and enjoyed a Carnival Dance. It was an affair arranged by the Pierrotts and Pierettes who took part in the Cafe Chantant of last week. Others appeared in fancy dress as well, and the hall presented a bright and animated scene when the dances were in full swing. Music was provided almost entirely by Miss Robina Logie. Refreshments provided by the ladies of the company were partaken of during the course of the happy function.

The spilling of a load of theatre scenery and trunks was the occasion of the tug "Naramata" making a special run down from Kelowna on Wednesday morning. A theatre troupe had played at Penticton on Tuesday night and was brought up early on Wednesday morning to board the "Sicamous," leaving here at 4 a.m. The scenery, etc., was to follow to go up to Kelowna on the same trip. When within about a mile of Trout Creek the truck load of paraphernalia met with misfortune, and it was not until hours after the "Sicamous" had sailed that it reached the wharf. Help from here was obtained by the truckman who had the job. It is said that he is also out the cost of the trip of the tug.

In a late issue of the Family Herald and Weekly Star appeared a picture of Summerland, somewhat out of date, and surrounded with the information that the picture presented "An Irrigated Slope on Okanagan Lake." "Situated between high mountains and silvery lakes," the legend runs, "many of the slopes of the Okanagan Valley have been transformed into beauty spots through irrigation. Above scene is at Summerland." The actual picture was one taken a good many years back from the hills overlooking the south end of town. But the view has changed somewhat since that camera took in the scene. Two wharves, those built by the C.P.R. and the Dominion Government, have been pushed out into the lake, and the Fruit Union building is another into addition to the landscape that is missing. But perhaps it is too much to expect an up-to-date picture.

Application for enlistment in the Home Guards has recently been made by J. E. Phinney.

L. C. Woodworth was among the passengers who landed here from the "Sicamous" on Wednesday evening.

Two cars of Yellow Newton Pippins were shipped to Vancouver via Sicamous, on Monday by the Fruit Union.

The Home Comfort Club gratefully acknowledge the receipt of $5.65, the proceeds of the basketball game.

Pte. Thos. Whitfield is home on a ten days sick leave. He had a slight operation at the Kamloops Camp Hospital a few days ago, hence the holiday.

On Monday, March 13th, at 8.30 p.m. Myrtle Rebekah Lodge No. 32 will entertain the Home Comfort Club and friends to a miscellaneous shower of tobacco, chocolate, etc.

Mrs Frank Marshall, received word a few days ago that her son, for some time in France, had suffered a bullet wound in the shoulder. The bullet had been removed, and he was expecting to be invalided home to England.

U. F. D. Norrington, civil engineer and government water administrator for the Southern Okanagan, is now at Victoria attending the military school with the object of qualifying for a lieutenant's commission in the 143rd Battalion, the B.C. Bantams.

The death of Geo. H. Wilson, a Summerland citizen resident of Prairie Valley is reported. Mr Wilson, who enlisted early in the war was in camp in England when he contracted a cold, bringing on an old throat trouble, which resulted in death.

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute will be held next Friday afternoon at 3 p.m., in the Men's Club Parlors. The main features of the meeting will be "The Principles of Home Decoration" by Mrs R. M. Ross, and "Description of Model Room," by Mrs Angwin.

The annual general meeting of the Summerland Fruit Union will be held on Saturday, March 25th, when, it is hoped, Mr Jackson, Central Manager, will be present. Nominations for new directors should be in the hands of the secretary at least fourteen days before the meeting.

Last Wednesday evening the program of the Young People's Society of St Andrew's Church consisted of views of Holland and of celebrated Flemish paintings thrown upon the screen and explained by Miss Rothwell, who, as a visitor to Holland was able to give a very pleasant evening. A collection was taken in aid of the Prisoners of War Fund.

The farewell recital by Mr D. E. Hatt to be given under the auspices of the College Auxiliary on Tuesday evening, March 14th, in the College Gymnasium, will be both a literary and musical treat. The first part of the program will be entirely new, including a number of dialect pieces. The second part will consist of selections given by request. Mr Hatt will be glad to have anyone ask for any favorite he has ever given, and requests they do as soon as possible. Solos by Mrs Geo. Ross and Mr C. Wright; piano solo by Prof. W. H. A. Moore; piano duet by Messrs Harrison and Logie.

Ed. Sawyer, who has been studying wireless telegraphy for the last few months, is now filling a position as assistant wireless operator on the steamship "Salvor," one of the boats belonging to the B.C. Salvage Company of Victoria. Mr Cooper, who many will remember as a visitor at Kalavista Resthome last summer, is chief operator on this boat, and got the position of assistant for his friend. During a short spell of sickness when Mr Cooper was forced to retire from his work Ed. Sawyer filled the post satisfactorily, but was not allowed to hold it for long owing to the fact that he has not yet obtained operator's papers. The "Salvor" has lately been engaged in salvaging the "Konkon Maru," a big Japanese freighter, wrecked on the Belle Chain Reef at the eastern entrance of Active Pass, loaded with war material for Siberia. Ed. describes the salvaging work as very interesting in a letter to the Review, and also mentions other urgent calls which his boat would have to attend to in the near future.

Geo. Loomer is expecting to go into training at Kamloops, and will probably leave here to-night or Saturday.

Messrs G. J. C. White and R. V. Agur are at Victoria this week attending the annual agricultural conventions being held there.

Four young deer were seen recently by Frank Steuart on the hill immediately behind his mother's home. This is unusually close in for deer to be seen.

Jas. Andrews, who lives on one of Dr Andrew's lots, a near neighbor of F. G. Barnard, enlisted early this week, and expects to go to Kamloops early in April.

Amounts as follows are acknowledged with thanks by Mrs H. A. Solly, treasurer of the Okanagan Ambulance League:

"The Tyranny of Time" is the subject of the address to be given by Rev. N. McNaughton at the Parkdale Church on Sunday morning. At the Lakeside Church on Sunday evening he will speak on "Vision and Life."

Continuing the very creditable attendances which they have maintained for some time past, the members of the Patriotic Whist Club presented themselves at the home of Mr and Mrs H. Tomlin on Wednesday evening the 1st March, in numbers which considerably taxed the accommodation which was available, and, in this connection, a word of thanks is due to Mr and Mrs Tomlin for the manner in which they at all times considered the convenience and comfort of the members. Play at this drive was carried on at some twelve tables, and was of an interesting nature throughout, with some close scoring on both sides. Eventually Mrs W. J. Tullett was awarded highest honors on behalf of the ladies, while Mr T. H. Walker had the best card among the gentlemen. The collection which was taken on behalf of Red Cross work realized the sum of $8.10. The ladies were again responsible for refreshments, which appeared to satisfy every taste and requirement. Kindly note next drive for Saturday, 11th March, at the home of Mrs Tomlin.—Contributed.

MONEY FLOWS FROM B.C. AND IS LOST.

Some interesting facts were laid before the members of the British Columbia Consumers' League at its annual meeting held in Vancouver this week. The league now has 8,000 members pledged to buy British Columbia goods. The members are scattered throughout the entire province. British Columbia spends daily over $100,000 for imported goods which are, or can be, produced in this province. The B.C. Consumers' League wishes to point out the folly of this form of buying. It was established for this purpose, and it has convinced 8,000 members who have pledged themselves to see that their money, at least, does not join this outgoing flow. The league is issuing a monthly magazine which is sent free to the members. There is no membership fee. All that the league asks is that everyone with the interests of the province at heart shall sign the pledge and then live up to it.

HIGH SCHOOL v. REST.

It was reminiscent of the winter previous to hear the stamping of feet on the floor of the Men's Club and the howls of the rooters in the gallery last Saturday.

The proceeds of the game went to the Home Comfort Club, and the amount realized totalled a trifle over $5.60.

The players were: High School Rest E. Logie forward C. H. Sismay G. Dale B. Steuart C. Clay centre C. McWilliams H. Harris guard A. Pentland C. Adams R. Darkis

Another game has been arranged for between the same teams to take place this evening also in the Men's Club. Of greater interest though is a second fixture arranged for this evening, when teams of girls representing the same interests are to take the floor, if plans fixed upon earlier in the week hold, and if the courage of the fair players does not flag.

The proceeds from these two games resulting from the ten cent admission fee, will also go to the Home Comfort Club.

The "Knife Sharpening Competition" was held during the evening. Each boy had his Scout knife and a small whetstone, provided by the committee, and the competition was to sharpen the knife in ten minutes. At the given signal the competitors began. After the ten minutes had elapsed the knives were mixed and then judged. Some time afterwards the decision was as follows: First, A. Harris; Second, R. Hatfield; Third, Hugh Miller. Mr James was the originator of this competition and furnished the prize, and the Scouts wish to thank him for his interest in the organization.

The next meeting will be the selection of Patrols for 1916.

WHICH ARE YOU?

When the Creator had made all the good and beautiful things, in order that they might be truly appreciated He then made the beasts, reptiles, and poisonous insects.

When He had finished, He had left over scraps that were too bad to put in the rattlesnake, the hyena, the scorpion, or the skunk, so He placed all these together, covered it with Suspicion, wrapped it with Jealousy, marked it with a Yellow Streak, and called it a KNOCKER.

Then as compensation for this fearful product, He took a sunbeam and put in it the heart of a child, the love of a mother, the brain of a man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet, and a grasp of steel, and called it a BOOSTER.

He made him a lover of fields and flowers, and many sports; a believer in equality and justice. And ever since these two were created, mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates. The BOOSTERS of the District of Summerland assemble next week as a Board of Trade. Are you one of them?

THE REVIEW

that some of the best paid men right here in B.C. educated themselves for advancement at home, right in the village or on the farm, and that they had no better chances than you have, some, indeed, being extremely poor, and only having a knowledge of reading and writing? These men have, through the study of International Correspondence Schools' courses, and a determination to succeed, risen to where they are. Why not you?

Others with good general education have found that without special training along one line, they could not hope for much in exchange for their services, and have taken up the International Correspondence Schools studies and made good.

The International Correspondence Schools have contracts now with over two hundred railroads alone for instructing their employees, including the C.P.R., the C.N.R., the B.C. Electric Rly., and the Dominion Government railways in Canada, and the text-books of the School which have become famous for their clearness, practicability, and thoroughness, are now used in nearly 300 large colleges and schools, including in Canada, McGill, Toronto University, Department of Technical Education, Halifax, Shawinigan Technical Institute and others. A large number of colleges in the United States, including the United States Government Aeronautical School, Army War College, etc., also use International Correspondence Schools text-books.

S'land Orchard Protective Ass'n.

Fruit Growers Complete Organization of a Co-operative Vigilance Society.

Bugs and Pests Will Have But Slim Chance To Escape The Watchful Eye Of Associated Growers.

The organization of the Summerland Fruit Protective Association was completed on Saturday afternoon at a special meeting held in Campbell Hall. The report of the special committee dividing the district into divisions, and nominating the divisional superintendents was adopted. The district has been divided into eight divisions, with divisional superintendents as follows: H. Dunsdon, Dr McIntyre, P. G. Koop, G. D. Marshall, S. B. Snider, T. P. Thornber, P. G. Dodwell. The superintendent for the Paradise Flat division had not been appointed at that time.

Chairman Higgin reviewed the objects of the organization and of the work that awaits it. None of the officers are to be paid officials, and the chairman emphasized the fact that the organization was co-operative. Every member should do his duty, watching carefully for the appearance of any pest in his neighborhood and reporting immediately to his superintendent. Lest some might look upon this institution as a philanthropic one, Mr Higgin gave assurance that any work done in any orchard in the way of blight cutting or spraying would be charged for, and the law makes such expense a first charge against the property. Mr Higgin stated that the increased duty should now put the apple industry in "good feather," naming several authorities who had recently said that the industry now has a good future. This should further stimulate vigilance against introduction of pests and diseases. The knowledge that his neighbors are spraying and keeping out blight will greatly encourage the grower to get heart into the work, and he will then feel it is worth his while to do likewise. He urged that each member canvass his neighbors and get them to join the association. The wisdom of precautionary measures was pointed out by Secretary Zimmerman, who stated that in the Coldstream district it was now necessary to have one power sprayer for every forty acres. To keep out pests and diseases in this section will be to save this enormous expense.

Inspector Randall and Supt. Helmer answered a number of questions put by the growers present with reference to spraying and the life habits of the more common pests. Mr Randall stated that fire blight and woolly aphis, were the worst pests to be found in the district. There was some powdery mildew. Cutting out would get rid of this. He urged that careful watch be kept of the aphid eggs, many of which could be gotten rid of during pruning, provided the prunings are burned before the egg hatch. Spraying when hatching would kill most of the others. The woolly aphis winters in the ground and is harder to keep in check.

Mr Randall considers the twelve power sprayers now in the district sufficient for present needs. One general spray now might obviate the necessity of several sprays in later years.

Mr Helmer named several distinct varieties of aphids to be found in the district, and urged the necessity of keeping them under control. The possibility of godling moth being introduced seemed to give the members present much concern. Mr Helmer assured them that once established the godling moth can never be eradicated.

Mr Randall laid great emphasis upon the controlling of woolly aphis which has made its appearance in four different orchards in different sections of the district. This can be done by spraying.

To spray or not to spray seems to be a live question with the growers. Many realizing the preventive it would be, would like to spray as a precaution. Many others do not approve of the expensive unless spraying is absolutely necessary. It is certain, however, that with the close watch now being kept, spraying will be insisted upon immediately any pest becomes apparent.

Summerland to Vancouver In Twelve Hours.

New Direct Line Will Cut Journey In Half.

Mr O. E. Fisher, Traffic Manager of the K.V.R., has just returned to the Valley from Winnipeg, where he has completed arrangements for a through service beginning about the end of June. Trains will then be running through the Coquihalla Pass after June 4th. The direct service will effect a saving of about 12 hours between here and the Coast. Coastward bound trains will leave here about 10.30 p.m. arriving 12 hours later in Vancouver. Eastward bound trains are to leave Vancouver about 6 p.m., and will reach here about 6.30 the next morning. During the summer trains will run daily, including Sunday.

Rally Day at Hospital

Board Appeals to Citizens.

Matron Granted Leave of Absence.

A full meeting of the Hospital Board on Monday last received with interest the Matron's report that at present five patients are taking advantage of the up-to-date facilities of that institution. Miss Atchison proposes to take a vacation shortly which will probably extend over a period of two months, giving her an opportunity of visiting her home in Ottawa. During her absence it is hoped that the services of Miss Gordon of Naramata will be available, the Board being convinced that the interests of the hospital will be in excellent hands.

The question of the planting out of the grounds was brought to the fore, by the fact that it will soon be necessary to take advantage of Mr Beattie's offer of a contribution of shrubs, etc. It was decided to appeal to the public to rally together on Tuesday next, 21st March, and once for all to clean up the whole place, grade the land, lay out the walks, and leave everything ready for the planting of the trees, shrubs, and flowers, and the sowing of the grass. This is one of the most conspicuous plots in our municipality and should therefore be the most attractive both for the benefit of the public and for the convalescence of the patients. It is to be hoped that all who can possibly spare a day or half-day next Tuesday, will come and give willingly to this cause. If you can bring your team to work a scraper so much the better. At least bring a shovel and a good heart. Those who can make the grade will greatly assist by communicating with the secretary, Mr Thos. H. Riley, as it is the intention of interested friends to prepare lunch for the workers.

To Improve Pure Bred Dairy Stock.

The Meadow Valley Pure Bred Stock Association intends going more extensively into pure bred shorthorns, of the dairy variety. At the annual meeting held recently in the schoolhouse at Faulder, it was decided to take advantage of the assistance offered by the Department of Agriculture to purchase a carload of pure bred dairy shorthorns in the East. Application for this assistance will be made at once. The members of this association expressed unanimous satisfaction with the pure bred sire loaned them two years ago by the Department, and decided to keep him another year. They now have a nice lot of young grade shorthorn animals.

The officers for the current year are: President, E. R. Faulder; Vice-President, F. Munro; Sec.-Treas., R. M. H. Turner. Members of the Executive: T. Dale, J. J. Baker, B. Colk, and F. A. Miller.

The association adopted the constitution as proposed by the Agricultural Department with but few changes.

Municipal Council Has A Full Day Of Business.

Bond Brokers Ask For More Summerland Debentures.

Difference With Province Over Dam And Road In Garnett Valley.

Decide Not To Rebate Water Rates Where Water Pipes Frozen.

The Municipal Council sat in monthly session on Saturday last. All the members of the Board were present, and took their seats shortly after nine o'clock, and the business was not completed until three in the afternoon.

Dr Lipsett, as President of the Agricultural Society again brought up the question of charges for electric light used at Ellison Hall. The hall is used by the society only during the fall show. The Poultry Association makes similar use of it, and the Boy Scouts use it weekly for a portion of the year, and during the fall and winter A. Stewart Son have the basement. The electric current is all supplied through one meter, and the Agricultural Society is held responsible by the Municipal Office. At the same time, the Council makes a grant which is considered sufficient to cover the current used by the Boy Scouts. Dr Lipsett was promised a rebate of $12 per year as a grant to the Boy Scouts, and the Agricultural Society must collect from any of the users, as the society will be held responsible for the current used.

The Experimental Farm will put an acre or two of land into lawns and shrubs this spring, and Supt. Helmer came to the Council to arrange to have domestic water turned on, so that he might have water under pressure for sprinklers. In discussing farm matters, Mr Helmer informed the Council that in fifteen months $46,000 has been spent at the farm, $26,000 of this had come direct to Summerland. Wages paid during the last twelve months were $16,000.

Mr R. S. Monro asked that a ditch near his place be repaired, and also a bad washout on the road fixed at once.

COMMUNICATIONS.

In reply to a request for figures showing the amount of fruit and produce shipped from Summerland, Mr W. B. Lanigan of the C.P.R., Winnipeg, wrote declining to furnish this information, the reason given being that it would require too much of the time of his clerks in the C.P.R. office to satisfy the many requests for statistics. This was not considered very satisfactory, and the Clerk was asked to again make a request for these statistics. Bond holders have been asking for this information. The Clerk stated that all the necessary information could be had from the local office here, if the Agent were given the necessary permission.

Jas. Ritchie asked that a piece of property on Paradise Flat held by C. W. Haddrell, now fighting for his country, which property had been purchased by the Municipality at the last Tax Sale, be not resold. The Council decided to make an exception of the property of soldiers.

The Summerland Telephone Co., in a long letter explained the excessive amount of current used for a time at central. The company by an agreement is furnished current free of cost for charging its storage batteries. It would seem that the switch board does not consume enough power to keep the batteries in the best condition, and the manager has been using current from them for other purposes. The directors assured the Council that current for telephone purposes only would be used.

McKinnon & Co., Toronto, Bond Brokers, wrote pointing out the one fault they could find in the financial report, namely that the sinking fund had not been kept up and advised that this be done. They look upon Summerland bonds as good security, and asked if there were any more to offer.

Hon. Martin Burroll's secretary acknowledged two letters from the Council, one with reference to the application of the B.C. Telephone Co., for a Dominion Charter under the title of the Western Canada Telephone Co. The action of the Council is similar to that of many other municipalities of the province, affiliated with the Union of B.C. Municipalities, asking for certain amendments to the bill under which the charter would be granted, the object being to further safeguard municipalities. Mr Burrell has promised that these amendments will be incorporated in the bill. The second letter from Mr Burrell's secretary was an acknowledgment of a letter of regret of the Minister's recent accident. He is still suffering from his burns, which, however, are healing very satisfactorily. As soon as his condition will permit, he will need to go away for a complete rest, as he is suffering from nervous shock.

SITE OF GARNETT VALLEY DAM.

Another communication from J. F. Armstrong, Chairman of the Board of Investigation, was received relative to the dam at Garnett Valley being rebuilt. He opposes this, asserting that the site had been abandoned by the Municipality, and the road up the valley would be inundated if the dam were rebuilt. The Council take the stand that the site had never been abandoned, and that the road was built without the approval of the Municipality. The dam is needed to store the early water so that a sufficient supply may be had during May, previous to the snows supplying the headwaters of Eneas Creek. Further information will be supplied to the Department.

T. B. Young wrote asking that a ditch above his meadow be repaired so as to stop seepage. He had lost one crop of timothy last year, because of the excessive water. Referred to the Public Works Committee.

G. W. McLaren asked for an extension to flumes, which will be granted.

T. P. Thornber reported a bad washout on the road beside his property, and made application for the job of repairing it. Referred to committee.

After considerable discussion the Council decided unanimously, by motion, not to make rebates on water because of the freezing of pipes; the view taken being that the Municipality is in no way responsible for the unusual weather conditions, and all of the ratepayers inconvenienced were supplied from other taps on the system. During this discussion the Reeve threw out a suggestion that an old automobile might be purchased, and the small dynamo now on hand fitted to it, to be used as a thawing outfit.

Early each year the Municipality borrows a certain sum from the bank against current taxes. There being a large amount of unpaid taxes, part of this loan remained unpaid at the end of each year for the past two or three years. The Bank of Montreal wrote insisting that all arrears collected, including that for the sinking fund account, be applied against the loan. Though considered by the Council an unfair demand, they decided to comply with the request, for a time at least, under protest. In the meantime the matter will be further discussed with the Bank.

WOMEN PROPOSE CLEAN UP.

Rev. H. A. Solly, on behalf of Mrs Solly, President of the Summerland Women's Institute, asked that the Council provide a scow to be used as a dump during the general cleanup about the lakeshore and streets. Mr Solly was given assurance of co-operation, but just in what way was not stated. There

Okanagan United Growers Hold Annual Meeting.

Summerland Man Close Run For President.

Two of the three representatives of the Summerland Fruit Union at the Central, Messrs Simpson and Pushman, returned last night from the annual meeting of the twenty-seven members, held at Vernon this week. Mr White, who was appointed to the executive, remained to attend meetings of that body. Matters went along smoothly at the shareholders meeting, and the tone was decidedly optimistic. A new scheme for providing working capital was adopted. In the past 3 per cent has been held back as a three years' loan. After this year it is proposed to hold 2 per cent for five years. This will provide about $100,000, with the present volume of business.

At the organization meeting of the executive, F. D. Nicholson, president for last year, and G. J. C. White were both proposed for presidency. The vote resulted in a tie, 6 to 6, the chair casting the deciding vote in favor of President Nicholson.

Farewell Recital by Mr D. E. Hatt

The audience that gathered in the College Gymnasium last Tuesday evening to hear Mr Hatt in his farewell elocutionary recital, he himself regards as one of the best he has had facing him locally. The recital was under the auspices of the Ladies' College Auxiliary, and among the seats provided in the big hall, there were very few vacancies to be seen. Many people, probably realizing that this would be the last time for an indefinite period the popular reciter could be heard here, made a special effort to be present, and without question they were rewarded by hearing Mr Hatt at his best.

The first part of the program, with the exception of "Somewhere in France," consisted entirely of new compositions from his own pen. Notable among these was "God's Great Out-of-Doors," one of Mr Hatt's latest, and also one of his best. Five selections in the Nova Scotia Dutch dialect introduced to Summerland people Mr Hatt's endeavor to perform for the "Dutch" of the maritime provinces something of the service that Drummond has done for the French-Canadians. These five selections were very enthusiastically received, and provided another example of Mr Hatt's versatile poetic bent.

The second part of the program presented pieces by Dr Drummond, which were given by request. They were all old favorites, but one never tires of hearing Mr Hatt's interpretation of them.

Between the two parts of the program enjoyable musical numbers were given by Mrs G. M. Ross, whose song drew forth an encore, and Mr W. H. A. Moore who rendered a piano solo. Mr Hatt's composition "Somewhere in France," was given in the form of a monologue to original music provided by Mr T. P. Thornber. The new form of these well-known verses was very pleasing, and it is to be regretted that it may not be heard again for some time.

Rev. C. H. Daly made a capable chairman for the evening, and in the course of his remarks voiced every one's feelings when he spoke of the regret the community felt in losing Mr Hatt.

The complete program was as follows:

- Part I.—D. E. Hatt's Compositions
 - "God's Great Out-of-Doors."
 - "Somewhere in France."
 - "Fishing Outfit."
 - "Susan."
 - Dutch Dialect Pieces:
 - "A British Dutchman."
 - "Dot Lottie Boy ov Mine."
 - "Ruobon's Song."
 - "Dot Poety Anmilo."
 - "Jakoy's Fiddle."
- Part II.—Drummond Selections.
 - "Luc Souci."
 - "Johnie's First Moose."
 - "The Dovel."
 - "Getting On."
 - "The Stove Pipe Hole."

Board of Trade also Pushing for Improvements of Lake Shore Road.

With One Hundred Active Members, Board Out To Advance Interest In Matters Civic And Commercial.

The wretched condition of the Lakeshore drive, within the Municipal limits, and the pressing need for immediate repairs before the soil becomes dried out and hardened, and the very unsatisfactory accommodations at the K.V.R. Station were two of the local questions dealt with at the Board of Trade meeting held on Wednesday evening.

The meeting was well attended, and a large part of the evening was spent in re-organizing. The goal of at least 100 members has been nearly reached. Ninety-five have already signified their intention of paying their fee and becoming members.

Dr Andrew, in opening the meeting, made a few timely and pointed remarks, emphasizing the necessity of active co-operation and action of the members. Committees who never made reports were unnecessary cogs in the machinery. He urged the necessity of more system in the conduct of the meetings, and requested that the bylaw requiring that a resolution be submitted in writing be adhered to. Ordinary rules of debate should be followed, which would enable the getting through of business with dispatch. Interest and action in the work must be maintained. Presence indicates interest, and is encouragement to others. "We want men of ideas and action. Unfinished tasks must be completed and new problems await us."

Continuing, the President outlined some of the work to be accomplished. Statistics must be revised up to the minute of land, population, production, cost of living, labor, freight and express tariffs. Facts and figures are strong arguments to desirable settlers, and with definite information, business concerns and intending settlers need not be deceived. The President suggested that photos be placed in conspicuous place. He urged that no opportunity be missed to get into the papers, and get the name of Summerland before the public. "Let Summerland exports be marked plainly. Brand everything we ship, and be jealous of the name. Do not hesitate to reprimand the one who uses the name on an inferior product."

"Probably our energies should be first directed to securing better highways both in and leading to our municipality. The 'good roads' movement is no longer a fad. It has been frequently proven that the expense of building and maintaining the average poor road is more in ten years than the building and maintaining of a good road. If our municipality could see their way clear to build a single mile or even half mile of permanent road, I think the ratepayers would demand more and be willing to pay for it." Great need for industries was emphasized, to establish which only capital is required. Concluding, the speaker stated that we should be prepared to take our share of the trade expansion which would follow the termination of the war.

When new business was called there were several resolutions presented for discussion. One asked the executive to urge upon the K.V.R. the necessity of establishing a proper station here, and appointing an agent. Carried unanimously.

Equally unanimous was the support given the motion of Messrs English and Holmer that immediate steps be taken to put the Lakeshore road in good condition. Others who spoke in favor of this resolution, including Dr Andrew, declared that the Council were shirking their duty in their effort to put this work off on to the provincial authorities. The province will no doubt give material assistance.

A homo made grander of the split log style was considered sufficient by several speakers. Mr Hillborn stated that he had for several years

PUSH THIS MOVEMENT.

IT WILL BE SEEN from a reference to the report of Council proceedings last Saturday, that one of the Women's Institutes has in mind a clean-up for Summerland. This idea commends itself to every person who has the slightest interest in the appearance of the town. It is not a matter that concerns any one particular section more than another, for there is scope for clean-up activity almost on every hand.

Unfortunately, it is not so much a matter for municipal ordinances as for public spirit. It is of course open to question if the Council would not be taking a big step in the right direction by undertaking something more definite in the way of garbage disposal, but the fact remains that the municipal authorities cannot be expected to do everything. In past years there have been efforts to establish "Clean-Up Days" throughout the community, but the trouble has been that there has been little effort to follow up these crusades, and the dirt of three hundred and sixty-four days cannot all be cleaned up on the three hundred and sixty-fifth. Let us clean up and keep cleaned up.

The Board of Trade should give the women their co-operation in the matter. One of the objects of organizations of this kind is to foster civic pride, and if that spirit were once thoroughly imbued into the minds of its members there would be a strong force ready to start on a clean-up crusade. But it is very hard to cultivate civic pride in a town that is ornamented profusely with tin cans, weeds, miscellaneous refuse and rubbish.

Within a very short while everyone will be busy with spring work, so there is no time to be lost. It is almost a case of now or not for another year. Which is it to be?

ANOTHER DRY PROVINCE.

TEMPERANCE SENTIMENT in Manitoba gave the liquor traffic a blow straight from the shoulder at the polls last Monday, and to continue in the vernacular of the ring, the "wets" took the count. By a vote of two to one the electorate of that province decided that the legalized sale of liquor within its confines shall cease after June 1st next. Only one constituency showed a "wet" majority out of the forty-four voting, and this only by the narrowest margin. Very significant is the fact that the vote of the soldiers in the different camps favored prohibition in every case. David Lloyd George has said that Britain is fighting Germany and the drink traffic, and is apparently able to make more progress against the former than the latter. Canada is also waging the dual warfare, and while helping the Mother Country in the fight against Prussian militarism, is also vanquishing its own great domestic enemy. British Columbia is now the only "wet" spot on the map of the Canadian west, but with both political parties pledged to sound the people on the matter, this province will have an opportunity to redeem itself within a few months at the most.

§ § § § §

DEPUTY MINISTER W. E. SCOTT, said at the Farmers' Institute Convention last week that the way the farmers of the province could best help the Empire win the war was by producing more crops and better crops. This is in line with Hon. Martin-Burrell's patriotism and production campaign last season. It goes to bear out the old truth that the man who makes two baldes of grass grow where only one grew formerly does greater service to mankind than all the politicians and legislators. At the same time, it is not much use producing more crops if they cannot be better crops. The standards of quality and quantity must both be raised, and if it comes to sacrificing one of these requirements let the quantity become the lesser consideration. Make this your farm slogan for 1916, "More Crops and Better Crops."

A slice of lemon cooked with lamb or mutton cuts out the "greasy taste."

The dredge "Heron" left the scene of its recent labors at the carslip at noon today, and is leaving immediately for Kelowna. Through the labors of the dredge the carbarge and tug were able to dock at the slip this afternoon, for the first time since about the beginning of the year.

The man who is always just going to do it seldom gets it done.

Four more recent enlistments that should be chronicled are those by which Athol Agur, D. J. McIntosh, G. Harrison, and J. Wigham took up arms for their country. Athol's brother, Phillip, joined up with the 11th C.M.R. last summer. The three last named are all from the Shingle Creek district.

National Association of Audubon Societies Places Advantages at Disposal of our School Children.

At the last annual meeting of the Commission of Conservation, Dr. T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies, of New York, gave a very interesting and instructive address on Bird Reservations.

The association is international in its scope, and an outstanding feature of its work for the protection of bird life is the education of children to a love of wild birds. Dr. Pearson has kindly arranged to extend to Canadian school children all the advantages of this work, and it is hoped that school principals and teachers will interest their pupils in the great work of saving Canada's wild bird life.

To this end Dr. Pearson says: "For the past few years we have engaged in systematic organization of the school children into classes for bird study and bird protection. The children each pay a fee of ten cents, and receive material which costs us much more than that to publish and place in their hands. This consists of a series of birds, together with outline drawings, which the children, by means of water colors or crayons, can fill in and thus fasten in their minds the correct coloring of the various birds. The children also receive a very pretty bird-button bearing the words 'Audubon Society.'" To the teacher who forms a class of ten or more, and sends in their fees to the Audubon Society, 1974 Broadway Avenue, New York, there will be forwarded free for one year the magazine Bird Lore and other matter on the subject of bird study. In 1915 about 150,000 children were thus organized in the United States.

Dr. Pearson further states: "As a further indication that there is nothing of a commercial character about this proposition, I may say that this work last year cost us at the rate of 26 cents for each child enrolled. For the present school year we have at our disposal a fund of $26,000 to use in this work, and I shall be very happy to share the advantages of this plan with the children of Canada."

There is thus placed before our school teachers an opportunity to interest pupils in this branch of nature study and at the same time secure for themselves valuable material to assist them in their work.

Roy Darkis went up to Vernon on Wednesday morning for the purpose of enlisting.

Jas. Ritchie, who arrived here early last week, returned to Vancouver last Friday evening.

G. Fosbery, of the Mara internment camp guards, came home on Wednesday on a short furlough.

Mr G. J. C. White returned from the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association Convention at Victoria on Friday evening's boat.

It is reported that the Dr. L. M. More property, near P. G. Koop's, has been leased by a prairie farmer who will arrive soon to take possession.

Divine services will be conducted in the Methodist Church on Sunday next at 10.30 a.m., and 7 p.m. by Rev. R. W. Lee. All are heartily invited.

Early this week H. C. Mellor started work repairing the Lakeshore Drive in the vicinity of Crescent Beach. Culverts have been put in in some places, and washouts have been filled in.

Another car of Okanagan Newtown Pippins is in the yard and due for unloading this afternoon. The Okanagan is supplying more apples than it was expected she would. These are pressed and are of prime quality.—Vancouver Province.

Miss Clouston boarded the boat on Friday evening last for Bear Creek, where she will visit Dr and Mrs Davidson. Bear Creek is at the end of the big tunnel being cut through the Selkirks. Dr Davidson made many friends during the time he was in charge of the hospital at Faulder, and is in similar work in the construction camp at Bear Creek.

We learn on good authority that Mr Duckett, who has for some time been the manager of the Highland Farm at Shingle Creek, owned by Mr Ruckland of Kelowna, has resigned. The Highland Farm has been making a good supply of butter, most of which has been marketed in Summerland. It is understood that henceforth the cream will be sent to the creamery at Kelowna.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL HAS A FULL DAY OF BUSINESS.

are some deep washouts to be filled, and teams may be provided to carry refuse to these.

Coun. Johnston regretted that people were making use of road sites for a dumping ground. The Reeve remarked that as unsightly a spot as could be found was that in the rear of the Municipal Office. He suggested a shed for wagons and tools, and a box for manure.

Coun. Johnston had seen Mr Mitchell and received his promise to take any levels necessary in connection with rebuilding the flume on the west side of Garnett Valley. The Public Works Committee are to visit the flume and finally decide on what changes are necessary. It is possible that a three foot flume, regraded to about four feet higher than is the present flume at the syphon intake, will be decided upon. This will give a largely increased supply of water from the syphon for Jones Flat.

NINETEEN APPLICANTS FOR DITCHWORK.

Irrigation Eupt. Thomson, discussed with the Council matters pertaining to his duties. He was instructed to have the ditches cleaned out and put in repair at once. There were nineteen applicants for ten jobs as ditchmen. The list was gone over carefully by the Council and Superintendent, and the following selected, as best qualified to do the work, place of residence also considered: H. Dunsdon, A. E. Shaw, T. Washington, Jas. Thompson, Geo. Gray, A. Rutherford, R. Mitchell, D. F. Brewer, H. Tavender, C. J. Gale.

West Summerland Women's Institute.

A prominent feature of the afternoon's program at the regular monthly meeting of the West Summerland Women's Institute, held on Friday last was a very practical paper by Mrs. H. D. Bentley on Poultry. She went thoroughly into every detail in feeding, housing, and the taking care of poultry. Mrs. Bentley gets a good egg yield from her own fowls from early fall right through the winter, and is therefore well qualified to give advice to sister members.

The marketing of surplus eggs was discussed at some length, and a committee formed to look for outside markets.

Short talks on spring gardening were given by Miss Spencer, Mrs. Fosbery, and Mrs. Cartwright. Full reports on the marketing of fruit through the Women's Institutes on the Prairies had not been received, consequently Mrs. Fosbery, who has been taking the lead in this work, was not able to give a final report. The Institute decided to contribute $5 monthly to the Patriotic Fund.

A young man, Cox, from Kelowna, is now doing Lee Hatfield's shift at the power house. Lee joined his father in his motor business on the 15th.

H. G. Estabrook returned last night from a business trip to Vernon in connection with the manufacture of his recently invented and patented "Utility Duplex Door." Mr Estabrook has made arrangements whereby the S. C. Smith Co., of Vernon, will undertake the manufacture of the new door for the Okanagan and adjoining territory. For the present, the output will be confined to a single style of door, an unembellished model designed to meet the largest need. Mr Estabrook expects to have one of these regular manufactured doors on view in Summerland within a few days, when he will be in a position to quote prices and take orders for spring delivery. It is also the inventors' plan to exhibit the door at other Valley points with the same end in view. There will be many people who will learn with satisfaction that the "Utility Duplex Door," which was exhibited in model only last fall is now being placed upon the market as a commercial venture.

BASKETBALL.

Last Friday saw a double header pulled off in the Men's Club between High School teams and the rest of the district. The event was unique, in that while the boys provided one game they were quite eclipsed by the fact that two girls' teams appeared on the floor before them. The girls showed themselves no mean exponents of the game, and they stood up well through the strenuous experience. They put up a surprisingly good brand of basketball, and it seems a pity there cannot be more of it. The game went to the High School girls by the score of 6-4. The Town girls put up a game fight, but it was generally conceded that the palm of victory went where it was deserved. The players were:

High School—Misses Pearl Darkis and Jean Babbit, forward; Miss Edith Bristow, centre; Misses Alice and Ida Brown, guards.

Rest—Misses Edna MacLeod, Myrtle Clay and Kathleen Babbit, forward; Mrs. J. Lawler, centre; Misses Helen Phinney and Blanche Babbit, guards.

The boys' game was a hard one, the High School team striving hard to reverse their fortunes of the week before. They were almost successful, for when the whistle blew time, the score was tied at 10-10. An extra few minutes was played to decide the tie, and the Town team got the game by the narrowest of margins. It was a good game, marked by some good checking. The make-up of the teams was exactly the same as in the previous encounter.

Still a further and third meeting between the High School and Town boys was spoken of for next Friday evening, but it is learned that this game will not take place, the Town not being able to gather up a team, two more of its members having enlisted. For the same reason it is not likely that a game that Penticton wants will take place. This is the first time in three or four years that Summerland has not been able to put up a team to trim up the Penticton basketball artists, but under the circumstances it is quite excusable.

Proceeds from last Friday's games amounted to $7.10, which has been donated to the Home Comfort Club.

Potato growers should exercise great care in selecting seed. Do not plant scabby or otherwise diseased potatoes if you expect to sell the product. If it is impossible to procure good clean healthy potatoes for seed, scabby potatoes may be planted on a small scale, for home use, by previously dipping them in a solution of 1 lb. formalin in 30 imperial gallons of water. They should be soaked for three hours. The old sacks should also be dipped if the potatoes are put back into them.

Bridge Grafting Trees To Save Them About The Trunk And Crown.

Each year many trees are lost through being girdled during the winter by mice and rabbits, by frost injury about the trunk and crown, sun scald, fire blight, and injuries caused by cultivating, etc. If taken in time many of these trees may be saved by bridge grafting. This furnishes a means by which the sap flow may be continued between root and top.

For the best results bridge grafting should be done in the spring of the year, at about the same time as ordinary grafting. This should be done just before growth starts, in the latter part of this month or early next.

Scions are selected from the well-ripened growth of last summer and should be cut from two to three inches longer than the wound you wish to bridge over.

Prepare the girdled or dead area by cleaning out all dead or injured portions, and disinfect with corrosive sublimate, one part to one thousand parts water.

The ragged uneven edges of the wound must be trimmed back to live tissue squarely and evenly.

Prepare the scions as for ordinary grafting. Trim them to wedge shape at each end, with long sloping cuts so that they may be inserted underneath the bark at the top and bottom of the wound without danger of splitting the bark. These scions may be held in place with small tacks or staples.

In placing the scions care must be taken to get the cambium layers in contact with each other. The cambium layer is situated just where the bark separates from the trunk. This is where all growth takes place, and the only place the scions will unite with the tree.

After the scions are in place they must be covered with grafting wax and bound with cloth.

Advertising fruit as an article of daily use rather than a luxury is being actively taken up by Mr. D. Johnson, Dominion Fruit Commissioner. Increasing quantities of fruit are being placed on the market every year, and it is Mr. Johnson's opinion that the growers must not look for high prices. It is better he thinks to move all the crop at a fair price and let the consumer have a little more fruit for his money. During the past year advertisements appeared in almost every paper of size in the Dominion. The consumer was advised as to the quantity of fruit available, when best to preserve fruit, and what were the most desirable. New ways of cooking and preparing fruits were also brought to the attention of the housewife.

Continued efforts are being put forth by Mr. Johnson's department, in conjunction with the Department of Trade and Commerce, to open up new markets abroad for Canadian fruits. J. Forsyth Smith, a successful British Columbia fruit grower, and formerly Prairie Markets Commissioner, has established his office in Liverpool, and has embarked upon a campaign to put more Canadian fruit on the English market. When conditions are more normal abroad, men will be placed in other large centres of consumption. Cold storage, transportation for tender fruits is also being arranged. It is hoped by these means to create new markets for the enormous crops which Canada will be producing during the next few years.

Carefully prepared and accurate telegraphic reports are compiled twice weekly at Commissioner Johnson's office in Ottawa, and mailed all over the Dominion to growers who desire them. Many fruit dealers resent this action stating that it is the growers' business to produce the fruit and let the dealers look after the marketing. Mr. Johnson views the matter differently, and says it is the object of his department to give the smallest fruit grower in the Dominion as much information on marketing conditions as the largest dealer or shipper.

Poultry Pointers.

Brooders with early flocks of chicks should have sunny, well-ventilated places in a building free from vermin and disease germs.

Now, when getting ready for the breeding season, all undesirable specimens, like those which are undersize, weak in constitution, off color for the breed, not good shape, etc., should be taken out of the breeding pen and only the best bred from.

There is all the more need for green feed toward the end of the winter to get the fowls in condition to lay fertile eggs for hatching. Second quality cabbage, mangels, specked apples, or anything of that kind will do.

When there are colds in the flocks the poultry house should be frequently disinfected, and the drink and feed dishes scalded or otherwise disinfected every day or every other day at the most.

The early hatched chicks are the ones which pay the best profits, whether for eggs or for the poultry market, and early laying pullets for next fall should be hatched in March unless they are of the lighter breeds, in which case the fore part of April will do.

Women's Institute Doing Good Work.

The March meeting of the Naramata Women's Institute was held at the Unity Club House on Tuesday, March 7th.

Acting upon committee reports it was decided to supply the school with sanitary towels, and to celebrate Arbor Day in conjunction with the Farmers' Institute by planting a permanent avenue of trees in front of the school.

Interesting papers were read on the following subjects: "Rose Culture," by Mrs George Wolstencroft; "Vegetable Gardens," by Mrs George Cook; "Old-Fashioned Flowers," by Mrs George Aldridge.

A book and magazine club was started by a donation of forty volumes from Mrs Carrol Aikins.

A number of scrap books were made by members and sent to the soldiers: Twenty pounds of wool were distributed for socks.

Papers on Current Events by Mrs Hancock and one on St Patrick's Day by Miss Gordon were greatly enjoyed, and the meeting closed with the singing of "Oh, Canada!" and "God Save The King."—Contributed.

The W.C.T.U.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Tuesday afternoon in the dining room of Hotel Syndica, the Vice-President, Mrs Hughes, in the chair. After the reading of the minutes, the roll was called, each member responding to their names by a verse of scripture. The regular business was then taken up, after which the corresponding secretary read a letter from the secretary of the Summerland Union, inviting all the ladies of the Naramata Union to visit them at their next meeting on April 8th, to be held in the Club Room of the Methodist Church Summerland.

The program, which was very good, consisted of a solo by Miss Edna Noyes, reading by Mrs Russell Wells—this was very much enjoyed by all, being along the line of temperance, a duet by Mesdames Lyons and Hayward, and a solo by Mrs Allen, Mrs Boothe accompanist. After repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison the meeting was brought to a close, after which Mrs Allen served refreshments which were greatly enjoyed. All present joined in singing our Dominion Rally Song.

Central Manager Meets Fruit Growers.

Manager Jackson, whether he lays any claim to be an orator or not, can draw a crowd at Naramata at least once a year, when his topic is that of reporting on the work of the Fruit Union. This was proved to a standstill when on Monday evening, at the Syndica, nearly every grower—and some that are not so recognized—turned out en masse.

Mr Jackson impressed every one with his thorough knowledge of details, by his ready and full replies to numerous questions put to him by the various orchardists.

In the matter of Naramata organizing a separate branch, the speaker of the evening very sagely remarked that, whatever course is pursued he himself was prepared to further the problem of financing the undertaking, yet he would point out that it might be more judicious to postpone the change for at least another year. He advanced two reasons in support of such a decision: Because the year now past was one of a heavy crop and the consequent likelihood of 1916 crop being a light crop, thereby increasing cost of operation; because that the present condition of finances were all too precarious to warrant our assuming any unnecessary risks.

The regular meeting of the Red Cross Society was held on Saturday afternoon. There was a good crowd present, but owing to a lack of material, which was ordered and should have been here, the ladies were unable to accomplish as much work as usual. However, they hope by next week that everything will be in shape again for a big day along the sewing line. Mrs Rounds and Mrs Boothe served tea and cake.

Current Events — OF — Town & District

We learn with regret that Mr Pushman, Senr. is still quite ill.

It is refreshing to see the lake again free from ice, and to have the ferry boat in operation once more.

We are pleased to see that Mrs Jas Hayward is better again and able to be around amongst us once more.

We learn that Nurse Gordon has been called to Penticton to fill a vacancy in the hospital there for a few weeks.

Mrs Reesor has moved into the Bartlett cottage, a very cosy place on the shore of the lake—an ideal summer home—the former home of Mr Walter Miller.

Rev. R. W. Lee of Summerland conducted divine service in the Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon in the absence of Rev. R. M. Thompson. Mr Lee was brought over by special ferry, accompanied by his wife.

In a recent letter addressed to Mrs Boothe from Mrs James Wells of Calgary we are sorry to learn that Mr Wells, Senr., is quite ill, and it is still uncertain whether they will be able to come back to their home here in Naramata or not. We hope though, to hear of his recovery soon, and that he will be able to resume his orchard duties here once more.

Mr J. C. Williams has accepted a position at the Dominion Experimental Farm over at Summerland, and with his family is moving over. As Mr Williams is one of the Old Timers (having come in at the very beginning of operations here) he will be missed around town. Ever since Harry Pitman's departure for England Mr Williams has been our Scoutmaster, and the boys all join with the older citizens in wishing him and his family all kinds of success in his new field of labor.

Prohibition in Oregon Increases Consumption Of Dairy Produce

Prohibition has brought a great increase in the amount of milk consumed in Portland in Oregon, according to information received from dairymen and creamerymen by Dr D. W. Mack, chief of the city Milk Inspection Bureau. While no figures have been compiled Dr Mack estimates that the demand for milk has increased by several thousand gallons daily.

Increase in the consumption of buttermilk has also been reported. And the dealers are looking for a still greater increase next summer.

PEACHLAND INSTITUTE.

A LIVELY ORGANIZATION.

Women's Society Growing In Numbers And Influence.

The regular meeting of the Peachland Women's Institute was held on Tuesday the 14th, with an attendance of thirty-five. This good attendance gave enthusiasm to the meeting, as shown by the lively interest taken by all. After the ordinary business, an interesting program was presented. "Old Ireland" its customs and bonny being vividly set forth by Miss McDonald. Mrs N. K. Mitchell rendered an Irish song; a quartette was given by five of the school girls, Myrtle Keating, Mary Vicary, Jean Dryden, Illyva Murdin, and Verna Town, accompanied by Mary Miller. An instructive half hour in the demonstration of blouse cutting and fitting was presided over by Mrs Keating.

The Institute are supplying the Peachland School with a First Aid outfit. This will be recognized by all concerned to be a useful and extremely beneficial addition to the school equipment, and not alone useful at the school but instructive for all the children who wish to benefit by it for knowledge of handling cases outside of school. We understand that Dr Buchanan has offered his services, to give in-Provincial Constable MacDonald of Penticton paid an official visit to the town and district recently.

The Farmers' Institute regular meeting is being held to-night, and it is hoped that a very full attendance will mark the event.

A delightful little party last Saturday afternoon upon the occasion of little Miss Audrey Northcote's twelfth birthday was the event which put a punctuation mark in the lives of each of eight or more little participants.

T. H. Boothe returned on Monday evening's boat after a week's absence at Victoria, whither he went to attend the 17th annual convention of the Farmers' Institute. He reports a fall of rain slightly over 11 inches in the course of the three convention days—a precipitation about equal to a whole season in the Okanagan.

The packing school which opened here on Monday under the direction and direct instruction of Manager Jack Lawler of the Summerland Fruit Union, has another day to run. To judge from the full size of the class, and the very evident great interest manifested in the instruction it is a safe guess to predict that in the future Naramata will have but little occasion for importing expert packers from outside points. A full report on the examination for diplomas will be given in next week's issue.

Rev. H. A. Solly, Anglican clergyman, conducted divine service, on Sunday evening last. We were very pleased to again welcome Mr Solly who has been unable to be with us since December last on account of transportation being impossible across the lake. After the service Mr Solly spoke on the Canadian Patriotic Fund, and circulated a subscription list which was responded to quite liberally. We surely must Fight or Pay, and must congratulate the local branch of the Canadian Patriotic Society at Summerland for the splendid work in hand. It is surely up to us ALL to help the man at the front to fight our battles.

struction to either the Women's Institute or the school or both, which in connection with the First Aid outfit would be exceedingly helpful to the community as a whole.

Owing to the newly added members to the roll, the Institute was entitled to two new directors, who were elected at this meeting. They were Mrs R. J. Hogg and Mrs R. Harrington.

He is a handy man in winter and in summer.

Young Man, Do you know

that some of the best paid men right here in B.C. educated themselves for advancement at home, right in the village or on the farm, and that they had no better chances than you have, some, indeed, being extremely poor, and only having a knowledge of reading and writing? These men have, through the study of International Correspondence Schools' courses, and a determination to succeed, risen to where they are. Why not you?

Others with good general education have found that without special training along one line, they could not hope for much in exchange for their services, and have taken up the International Correspondence Schools studies and made good.

The International Correspondence Schools have contracts now with over two hundred railroads alone for instructing their employees, including the C.P.R., the C.N.R., the B.C. Electric Rly., and the Dominion Government railways in Canada, and the text-books of the School which have become famous for their clearness, practicability, and thoroughness, are now used in nearly 300 large colleges and schools, including in Canada, McGill, Toronto University, Department of Technical Education, Halifax, Shawinigan Technical Institute and others. A large number of colleges in the United States, including the United States Government Aeronautical School, Army War College, etc., also use International Correspondence Schools text-books.

A large number of Agricultural Colleges are also using the International Correspondence Schools books in their classes in preference to all others.

The International Correspondence Schools can either start you at the bottom of the ladder or where you probably now are, part way up, and help you to the attainment of your ambition. Are you enough in earnest to inquire? It costs you nothing for information.

Mrs H. Sculthorpe and family are now occupying the Shaughnessy Avenue cottage in which Mr and Mrs Clark Wilson lived last year.

For the third time within a few months Matt. G. Wilson, Paradise ranch, has suffered a serious accident. While riding, his horse fell and rolled over him, the cattle of the saddle causing painful injuries to his shins.

Passing Events: Social, Personal, &c.

It seems probable that the services of a special constable are to be dispensed with by the municipality. The Council have recommended to the Police Commission that one of the employees in the road work department of the municipality be appointed to do any necessary police work.

With the opening of another season, motorists are required to part with another $10 bill in order to get the necessary license and the official number plate for 1916. The plates this year have a yellow ground with figures in black. Otherwise they are similar in design to those of 1915.

Mr Arthur McLaughlin, who, with Mrs McLaughlin, has occupied for some time the Tomlin cottage, formerly the home of Rev. A. W. McLeod, is seriously ill. Mr McLaughlin, formerly of Cumberland Co., Nova Scotia, came here from the Prairies last fall and is an uncle of Lee McLaughlin.

The store on the western side of the Campbell Block has lately been remodelled and fixed up as a meat market. A commodious refrigerator has been installed in the rear, sufficient to care for a large quantity of meat.

Mr J. R. Campbell, whose announcement appears in our advertising columns of this issue, has opened there a store for the retailing of meats and fish.

Helped by the mild weather and also by the fact that one of the tugs had preceded her and smashed a way in through the fast rotting ice, the "Sicamous" made its first trip to Penticton since some time in January on Saturday night. The people of that town probably welcomed the boat fittingly after its long absence. With the re-establishment of the regular boat schedule once again, the last reminder of the much-to-be-talked about winter has gone.

There has been on display this week in the Review window in neat cases, specimens of various insect pests and diseases. These specimens were prepared and furnished by the Horticultural Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Leaves, twigs or fruit infected with their various pests are shown. Specimens include mildew of apples, apple scab, oyster shell scale and the codling moth; also potato scab, both common and powdery, alfalfa leaf spot and peach leaf curl.

The cap which Pte. W. Atkinson wore at the time he received his wound in the forehead has been on exhibition in J. S. Ritchie's window for some days. The Maple Leaf badge, plainly indicates the angle at which the bullet struck. Glancing from the badge and piercing the capband it was further turned from its course by the skull bone. Other trophies of the war sent home by Pte. Atkinson were a badge of the Lincoln Regiment, picked up on the field of battle, and a piece of German shrapnel. Beside these are some British and German bullets.

The Women's Missionary Society and the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church are arranging a very interesting evening for Monday next. The Ladies' Aid will provide a "Bean Supper" in the Club Room at 6.30 p.m. The quality of these suppers in the past should be a good guarantee of an excellent time on Monday next. The supper will be followed by a popular gathering in the church when an address will be given on "Missions and the War," by Rev. J. C. Switzer of Kelowna. A special program of music, etc., will be rendered. The ladies are sparing no effort to make this event a great success, the proceeds being divided between the funds of the Ladies' Aid and the Women's Missionary Society. Further particulars in our advertising columns.

T. N. Ritchie was a passenger westward bound on Saturday morning. He expects to be away about a week.

Several young ladies of Summerland, and at least one of Naramata are named by Dame Ramor as prospective principals in weddings soon to take place. In fact in some instances the date of the occasion has been fixed.

The Municipal Council is considering using some of the sinking fund now on deposit, and earning 4 per cent to purchase some of our bonds issued some time ago at 5 per cent, and which may now be had at 85. This will effect a considerable saving and also increased earning in interest.

Four young fellows of this place, responding to the persuasion of the 172nd recruiting officers who were here over last week-end, went out on Monday morning for Kamloops, the battalion headquarters. They are Levi Johnston, Garnett Cascaden, Arthur Pentland, and Cyril Woodworth.

There is a possibility that a portion of the 1,300 or 1,400 acres at the upper end of Garnett Valley, recently vacated by the Summerland Lumber Co. will be developed this year. There is an unconfirmed report that this is the intention of the Vancouver man, who recently acquired the property from Mr Ritchie.

It has been suggested that the citizens willing to volunteer for road repair in co-operation with the Municipal team advise the Municipal Council. The suggestion was made to the Review by a citizen that many would be willing to assist in repairing the roads adjoining their properties providing the Municipality send along a team, etc.

Mrs John Galt entertained about twenty-five ladies at her home on Beach Ave. on Thursday afternoon to a shower party in honor of Miss Connie Neve, upon the occasion of her approaching marriage to Mr. A. Cotton, formerly of this place, and now at Victoria. The bride-elect was the recipient of a miscellany of beautifully worked pieces of the sewing art. The affair was delightfully contrived, the hostess of the afternoon seemingly leaving no detail unarranged that could add to the enjoyment of her guests.

R. Randall, District Fruit Pests Inspector, has tendered his resignation to the Department in order that he may be free to enlist. His resignation was sent in on Feb. 20th to take effect as soon as a successor could be appointed and on the ground for a few days. Until that time Mr Randall will not actually sign on. He expects, however to leave in a short time to go into camp at Comox, Vancouver Island. Mr Randall has been connected with the fruit industry in this Valley ever since 1900. Mrs Randall will go to Vernon.

Perhaps the attention of the municipal authorities has already been drawn to the condition of affairs where Prairie Creek runs under Shaughnessy Avenue in front of Elliott's store. The creek was swollen to unusual proportions during the rapid thaw of two or three weeks back, and the rush of water has been washing into the bank as the creek passes under the road on a slight curve. The result is that dangerous holes are appearing on one side of the bridge planks. The soil under the sidewalk has also been washed away, leaving a short stretch of very wobbly walk. Incidentally Mr Elliott's collar has suffered from frequent flooding.

The Hospital Auxiliary meets next Tuesday at the home of Mrs May.

John McLean returned from the East yesterday morning, coming via K.V.R.

Next Sunday morning the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in St Andrew's Church. There will be no Presbyterian afternoon service.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the St Andrew's Church is preparing an entertainment called "The Minister's Bride" which will be presented early in April. Watch for later announcement.

Mr and Mrs Mathison, and Mr and Mrs Black, with their children, who have been spending some time at the Coast, were last weekend guests at the home of Mr and Mrs H. Sutherland on their way to their home in Springfield, Man.

D. L. Sutherland has received acknowledgment of receipt of a box of apples sent to his brother J. R. Sutherland, now serving in the trenches in France. His brother reports that the apples arrived in good condition, and that they were the best he had ever tasted. The box was instantly emptied.

"We have never tasted apples with such a delicious flavor." This is the unsolicited testimony given, Summerland apples by a family in Bothwell, Lanarkshire, Scotland. The apples were sent to them by a Summerland friend in the car of Christmas apples going from here, and arrived in excellent condition.

With a largely increased capacity the Summerland Lumber Co.'s mill, which has been idle for some time during the installation of a large stationary boiler and engine, resumes sawing next Monday. Over 2,000,000 feet of logs will be converted into box material and other manufactured lumber during the next few months.

In a letter to his parents, received here a few days ago, Ralph Brown tells of his having enlisted in a battery at the Ontario Agricultural College, under an officer formerly an instructor at the O.A.C. Students at the college have been training all winter, and since being formally enlisted, they are billeted at the college. In one day 48 of the students enlisted.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs D. McLaughlin on Thursday of last week, when a Five Hundred party was given in honor of Miss M. Ross, who leaves shortly for her home in Vancouver. There were six tables, and play continued till eleven o'clock, after which refreshments were served. When all had done ample justice to the good things provided, the scores were tallied up and prizes awarded, Mrs Rines winning the ladies prize, while Mr Rowley captured that given for the highest gentleman's score. Mrs A. Milne succeeded in securing the booby prize. At twelve o'clock the guests departed, all loud in their praises of the evening's entertainment.—Contributed.

Mr McMillan, with his son and daughter, Mr and Miss McMillan, were arrivals in Summerland by the "Sicamous" last Saturday evening. Mr McMillan, son, is a sufferer from asthma and bronchial trouble, which compelled him to travel in a prostrate condition from Brandon, Man., in the care of a physician. On the arrival of the boat here he was conveyed direct to the hospital, where he is being treated. Miss McMillan is a guest at the home of Mr and Mrs A. Stark, while her brother is at present staying at Hotel Summerland. The accompanying doctor returned to the Prairies early this week. It is the intention of the party to rent quarters in Summerland as soon as the invalid's health permits of his leaving the hospital, after which they intend to remain here for some time. Another daughter of Mr McMillan is the wife of a brother of Mr Stark, and there are also other friends here, acquaintances of former Manitoba days.

Mrs Lipsett will not receive next Wednesday.

Mrs Harold Smith was operated on last Saturday at the hospital for appendicitis, and has been making excellent recovery this week.

Crawford T. O. Rush, who enlisted from here last summer into the 11th C.M.R., has lately been granted a provisional lieutenantcy. Mr Rush was accountant in the Bank of Montreal.

Members and friends of the Home Comfort Club, on Monday evening last were the guests of Myrtle Rebekah Lodge, the occasion being a shower of comforts which will be forwarded by the Club to the Summerland boys, now serving overseas. The comforts included milk chocolate, gum, pencils, soap, tobacco, cigarettes, cigarette papers, etc. A thoroughly enjoyable social evening was spent with music, dancing and cards.

Some forty members attended the eighth drive of the Patriotic Whist Club held at the home of Mr and Mrs H. Tomlin on Saturday last, and an exceedingly enjoyable evening, in every way, was the result. Two members—new to premier honors this season—namely Mrs T. J. Garnett on behalf of the ladies, and Mr J. F. Dandy for the gentlemen, were successful in recording the highest scores on this occasion. The amount donated by members to further the work of the Red Cross Society totalled $6.75. The sampling of some choice refreshments brought a really pleasant affair to a conclusion.—Contributed.

500 Club Winds Up Successful Season.

The series of meetings at the Hotel of the 500 Club came to an end on Tuesday last, when 60 members met to do justice to the occasion.

Play finished at 10.30, and music enlivened the proceedings for a time, the vocalists being Mr. T. Beavis, Mrs. G. Gartrell, and Miss Clay, Mr. Percy Thornber providing the accompaniments, and Mr. Van Hise giving a much appreciated recitation.

The committee, consisting of Messrs T. B. Young, G. Anderson, and Lee McLaughlin, having counted and adjudicated on the scores, attendances, etc., Mr. R. H. English, in the unavoidable absence of Mrs. Solly, proceeded to distribute the prizes as follows:

Ladies—1st Prize, Mrs. Bisette; 2nd Prize, Mrs. McCutcheon; 3rd Prize, Mrs. Downton.
Gents—1st Prize, Mr. A. Moyes; 2nd Prize, Mr. G. Anderson; 3rd Prize, Mr. F. Gartrell.

Consolation Prizes—Ladies, Mrs. Blower. Gents—Mr. E. A. Jones. Grand Slams—Ladies, Mrs. J. Rowley. Gents—Mr. G. Anderson. Attendance Prizes—Ladies, Mrs. Moyes, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. J. Rowley, Mrs. Rines, Mrs. G. Anderson. Gents—W. E. Rines, F. Anderson, G. Anderson.

Mr. Marshall in a brief speech, on behalf of himself and wife thanked the members for their regular attendance and hearty support, which had made the Club such a splendid success, also the donors of prizes, Mrs. J. Downton, Mrs. English, Mrs. A. C. Stuart, Mrs. J. Rowley, Messrs K. S. Hogg, J. Downton, W. E. Rines, A. B. Elliott, Leo McLaughlin, A. Stark, O. Vaughan and A. J. Beer, and desired to place on record his indebtedness to Rev. R. W. Lee, for use of chairs and dishes, Mr. A. B. Elliott also for the use of chairs, Mr. R. E. White for his courtesy in acknowledging the weekly receipts in the Review and other items concerning the Club, not omitting those who had in various ways given valuable assistance.

The announcement that the receipts totalled $114.25 for the benefit of the Red Cross Society was received with hearty applause, and a speech from Mr. R. H. English, in which he warmly praised the energy and management Mrs. Marshall had displayed in conceiving the idea and carrying it to such a highly successful conclusion, brought the proceedings to an end.

kept a road in good condition with very little labor by going over it frequently with such an implement. Mr. English volunteered to loan a team for two days if the Public Works Committee would show any desire to repair the road. He would also give the lumber to make the grader if Mr. McAlpine would build it. Mr. McAlpine's reply was that he would build it, but he was afraid the Council would not use it.

By another resolution the council of the Board of Trade were instructed to urge upon the C.P.R. the desirability of furnishing a summary of the output of this community, which up to the present had been refused.

CHECKER TOURNAMENT.

The final event in the series of matches played during the winter months by the West Summerland Checker Club was a tournament by the members at the home of Mr and Mrs T. B. Young on Friday evening last. Messrs Butler and Forsyth were elected captains, and after choosing sides, the play began. Each player in turn played his opponent, and at the conclusion of the match the score stood 23-10 in favor of the latter team. Refreshments were served by the host and hostess when the playing had been concluded, and were much enjoyed by the guests.

Citizens Give Time and Labor For Beautifying Hospital Grounds.

The Ploughing Bee at the Hospital grounds last Tuesday was eminently successful.

In spite of the south wind which persisted in depositing the soil in the eyes and ears of the workers—a willing band of some 18 men with 9 teams stuck to their shovels till the whistle blew and the overseer declared the work completed. That half of the lot on which the building stands is now graded, and will be immediately seeded down. The road in front is leveled, and only needs a few loads of shale to compare favorably with any road in the Municipality, and any of our friends would help by hauling a load or two at odd times.

A few hitching posts would also be a welcome contribution, and there is still room in the borders for any addition to our collection of plants. Mr F. D. Cooper has kindly accepted the responsibility for the supply and setting out of perennials and shrubs, but this will still leave space for annuals. By the time Summer is with us the hospital will be surrounded by grounds worthy of the building.

Mr H. C. Mellor assumed charge of the proceedings, and teams were supplied by Mrs T. J. Garnett, Messrs H. Bristow, R. H. English, H. G. Estabrook, C. Napier Higgin, H. M. Lumsden, H. C. Mellor, D. L. Sutherland, and S. M. Young.

Labor was evident in the persons or representatives of Messrs H. Bristow, A. Britten, R. H. English, H. G. Estabrook, R. H. Holmer, C. Napier Higgin, R. C. Lipsett, H. M. Lumsden, H. C. Mellor, A. Milne, W. E. Rines, Dr Sawyer, D. L. Sutherland, J. Tate, and S. M. Young.

A welcome and hearty lunch was provided for the workers by Mrs R. C. Lipsett and Mrs T. H. Riley. The Board wish to thank very heartily all those who have helped to put this work through.

Good Work By Young Fingers.

An interesting afternoon was spent on Saturday at the home of Mrs J. L. Hilborn. It was the last meeting for the winter season of a small class of young girls who had been sewing every Saturday for the soldiers—the youngest aged 4 1/2 years, and the eldest under 14—eleven of them in all.

The sewing they had done was quite a fair quantity, and there was some very good work amongst it. 42 towels, 18 tray cloths, 5 napkins, 810 wash cloths and 100 handkerchiefs were sent to the Red Cross as the result of their labors. Several of the little ones had never used a needle before, and Mrs Hilborn with much patience taught them with wonderful good results. Several friends had donated small

Made Dominion Inspector.

Mr. W. H. Lyne Succeeds Late Thos. Cunningham in Government Service.

Mr W. H. Lyne, the well-known assistant fruit inspector of the province under the late Mr Thomas Cunningham, has been notified by the Dominion authorities of his appointment under the Federal Government as a Dominion inspector of destructive insect pests in succession to the late Mr Cunningham. Mr Lyne, who will retain his provincial appointment, has been with the fruit pests inspection office for the past eleven years.

The new office will extend the scope of jurisdiction of Mr Lyne in the task of inspecting fruit and agricultural products for insect pests, both those imported into the province and those exported to other provinces. At the present time British Columbia is a large exporter of potatoes to the United States, the eastern provinces, and Australia, all of which must pass rigid inspection.

There will be no new appointment of provincial fruit inspector, rendered vacant by the decease of the late Mr Cunningham, until the appointment of a new Minister of Agriculture. It is rumored at Victoria that the work will probably be divided, Mr Lyne being given the superintendence of all the fumigation and inspection work both in regard to fruit and nursery stock, while the field work and orchard inspection will pass to the departmental entomologists.

Nigerian Missionary Gives Addresses.

The service at St Andrew's Church last Sunday was a memorable one. The speaker of the evening was Rev. G. W. Playfair, of the Sudan Mission, now home on furlough. The scene of his labors is Nigeria, on the west coast of Africa, and his earnestness and zeal on behalf of the work were very apparent as he told the story of missionary endeavor in that country. Mr Playfair has a distinct gift as a remarkably clear and concise speaker. He had with him a stereopticon lantern and an extremely interesting series of slides depicting scenes of the country and incidents in the missionary's work, which made his words of far greater value. The large congregation thus had placed before it the actual views and scenes which Mr Playfair was picturing in words and many must have formed new ideas on the essential nature of the evangelist's work as a result of the address. The Sudan Interior Mission, for which Mr Playfair labors, depends entirely on voluntary and unsolicited contributions from Christian friends. It is an undenominational endeavor, all the outstanding bodies being represented in the workers and missionaries who are doing a remarkable work there. Nigeria comprises the most densely populated section of the African continent, with large native cities, some of them numbering between one hundred and two hundred thousand souls.

On Sunday morning Mr Playfair preached in the Parkdale Baptist Church. During his stay here from Friday to Monday he was a guest at the home of his cousin, Mrs Wm. Ritchie.

An epidemic of measles has broken out in Ponticton. Already seventy-five cases have been reported, and to prevent further spreading the schools have been closed, and all public functions where children congregate have been postponed. The disease is said to be of a mild type.

Prizes which were presented to the children, and afterwards a very delightful tea and games finished up an enjoyable afternoon.

Special prizes were given for neatness to Helen Shuffrey, Gertrude Arkoll, Eva Hilborn. For quantity to Carol Graham, Laura McLachlan, Mary Munn. Each child had a nice case of needles presented to her.

MUNICIPAL OFFICIAL WILL ENLIST

Collector Nixon Gets Leave of Absence.

At the meeting of the Council on Wednesday, the resignation of F. J. Nixon, Accountant and Collector, was on the table for consideration. Mr Nixon has had this step in mind for some considerable time, but it is only lately that he has been able to make the necessary arrangements that would allow of his enlistment. The Council refused to accept the resignation, but granted Mr Nixon leave of absence till the cessation of hostilities.

The opinion was expressed that it would be hard to fill the vacancy, no suitable names being advanced for consideration as Mr Nixon's successor. He will lay down his work here the 15th of next month, and purposes enlisting soon afterwards with the 172nd Battalion.

Walter Verity, his brother-in-law also intends to enlist in the near future with the Army Medical

O. VAUGHAN SELLS TO SUPPLY CO.

Takes Charge of Upper Store Grocery.

One of the most important business transfers to be consummated here in a long time is the purchase this week of the grocery business of O. Vaughan by the Summerland Supply Company. Rumors of a pending change in business houses have been current for two or three days, but it was not till Thursday that anything definite became known, and when seen by the Review to-day Mr Vaughan confirmed the report of the sale of his stock in trade to the larger concern. The transfer takes place on April 1st at which time Mr Vaughan joins the Supply Company and will be in charge of their grocery department in the upper store.

Corps. Mrs Nixon and Mrs Verity will stay together at the home of the former.

Irrigation Superintendent Makes Preliminary Report.

Question of Unpaid Taxes a Problem for Finance Committee to Wrestle With. Must Realize on Taxes Due or Raise Rates.

At a special meeting of the Municipal Council held Wednesday at three o'clock, Irrigation Superintendent Thomson submitted a report showing work that must be done on the main flumes and ditches before water is turned in. This work he estimated would require an expenditure of $3,000. At the same sitting of the Council the Treasurer brought in an estimate of revenue and expenditure for the current year. In this he had only provided $1,500 for maintenance of the irrigation system, which the Superintendent declared to be greatly short of the amount imperatively required.

The Treasurer pointed out the surplus of the Municipality now largely in the form of delinquent rates and taxes and of real estate, saying it was up to the finance committee to realize on these, or increase the tax-rate to meet the demands on the treasury. The Superintendent submitted a written report detailing the work to be done, and also pointed out the deplorable state of the flumes, etc., crossing the railway at various places.

Receiving the endorsement of the Public Works Committee the report was adopted in full, it being realized that the money must be provided or the fruit lots would suffer, and by special resolution the Clerk was instructed to appeal to the Railway Commission to compel the K.V.R. to have the flumes on the right-of-way put in good condition without delay if the company did not immediately put them in shape. Mr Thomson said there might just as well be screens put in to carry the water as the present flumes, and as the Municipality could not go on to the railway property to repair or replace these, something must be done at once to compel the company to do it. This had been going on for three years and was still unsettled.

Coun. Simpson: We must have the question settled at once and for all time.

The Reeve: Better go to the Railway Commission at once.

Coun. Simpson: It seems strange that there is no one in connection with the railway but the president, who is away so much of the time, that will attend to such matters.

Mr Thomson discussed some of the water crossings as makeshifts and did not believe Mr McAlpine could have put them in.

The revenue from irrigation and domestic water as estimated by Mr Logie and made up of rates and taxes and a tax of 5 mills, totalled $30,000. The expenditures: Interest, $14,405; Sinking Fund, $7,210; Operating, Domestic Water and Irrigation, $6,000; Maintenance, Domestic Water and Irrigation, $2,000; Total, $29,615. The small amount left for maintenance after the fixed charges were provided for showed the necessity of realizing on delinquent taxes and rates or increasing the rate to 6 mills at least.

Reeve Blair could see nothing but to raise the rates unless some of the property now held by the Municipality is put up at auction, and he doubted if that would be wise.

With a surplus of over $20,000 which the Treasurer claimed was unnecessarily large, the district was in a sound financial condition, but unfortunately too much of this surplus was temporarily tied up.

Coun. Simpson said it would be awfully hard to sell up people now. He hoped future Councils will take a lesson and make people keep paid up in good times.

Coun. Stark: Why raise the rates if there is any possibility of getting anything out of the properties we hold now?

Coun. Campbell: The rates are high enough now for those who pay. We pride ourselves on Summerland having a low tax rate, and it will work an injury to the place by discouraging new-comers if the rates are raised.

It is the opinion of Coun. Johnston that the non-payment of rates and taxes is largely a matter of habit with many. He knew of several who could pay if they would, but finding they were not forced used their money for other purposes.

Coun. Stark urged that some of the properties held be at once offered for sale. Nothing definite was done.

A letter from the Board of Trade, addressed to the Chairman of the Public Works Committee requesting him to put the matter before the Council, urged that the Lakeshore road be repaired at once, was received with some resentment on the part of some of the councillors, and provoked some discussion. The Reeve said he supposed the Board of Trade would supply the money. Coun. Johnston said the Board had no right to send such a letter to him, while the Reeve noted that they proposed sending Mr Helmer to dictate what to do. Mr Helmer was the delegate of the Board of Trade to present the matter, and had already approached Chairman Johnston of the Public Works Committee.

Coun. Simpson believed in good roads, and ultimately the Council must begin to give considerable attention to the question of roads. It was admitted by all that much road work is needed and as soon as the graders now on the way arrives it will be put to work.

Coun. Stark entered a protest against the electrician employing a citizen of Kelowna as assistant at the power house without his first consulting the electric light committee, and he threatened to resign as chairman of that committee if such things are going to be taken out of their hands. The Reeve and Coun. Johnston, the other members of that committee, told of having talked with Mr James, and while admitting that the electrician had acted unwisely in going outside for help, they were disposed to let the matter drop, as the engagement was only for a few weeks at most.

New Route Cuts Fare in Half.

K.V.R. Short Line to Coast Will Make Attractive Rate. Quick Trip Will Be Popular.

It has been costing eighteen dollars and twenty cents for a ticket to Vancouver over the C.P.R., and for a return ticket thirty dollars and thirty-five cents was asked. With the opening of the direct K.V.R. line a Summerland citizen can go to the Coast metropolis for less than $10, or buy a return ticket for little more than sixteen dollars. In about like proportion the K.V.R. will effect a saving to our people who have produce or other goods to ship to the Coast. It is not likely that there will be any great saving over existing express rates.

The distance from Summerland to Vancouver via Sicamous is 479 miles. By the present K.V.R. route it is 367 miles. With the opening of the line through Coquihalla Pass the journey will be reduced to 245 miles, almost one-half of the former route to the Coast. It has required from 26 to 28 hours to go via Sicamous, as compared with a K.V.R. journey of 12 hours, as noted in these columns last week.

Since the opening of the K.V.R. the C.P.R. has been selling a one-way limited ticket to Coast points for $16.15.

It is stated on good authority that the K.V.R. will greatly improve the station accommodation here, and that a station agent will be placed here when the daily train service commences.

Successful Bean Supper and Gathering.

The ladies of the Methodist Church realized nearly eighteen dollars from the bean supper held in the Men's Club on Monday night, this sum including the proceeds of a collection taken during the meeting which followed. Rev. J. C. Switzer was the speaker at this after gathering, his subject being, "The War and Missions." Mr Switzer is a speaker whose ability needs no introduction to local people. He dealt with his subject very comprehensively, and a pronounced strain of optimism was traceable through his remarks. Musical items were contributed to the program by Mr T. G. Beavis, and a quartette—Messrs Harrison and Brown, and Messrs Beavis and Sharp.

WEDDING.

King - Doyle.

An event of interest to many of the residents of Summerland and vicinity took place on Wednesday, the 22nd inst. when Miss Clara Doyle, formerly a popular member of our community life, was married in St Stephen's Church, by the Rev H. A. Solly, to Mr Stanley B. King, of Monitor, Alberta.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the bride, wearing a neat travelling suit of dark blue serge, entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr W. C. W. Fosbery, to the strains of the wedding march. After the brief and simple ceremony, the wedding party repaired to the home of Mr and Mrs Fosbery where a few of the most intimate friends of the bride offered their congratulations over a fragrant cup of tea.

Following a pleasant hour of happy talk and good wishes, Mr and Mrs King left on the 4 o'clock train on route for Calgary.

Rosland's chief of police has just notified the city merchants that drawings for prizes and guessing contests in connection with retail business are illegal.

Ing that they had carefully investigated the municipality and thought well of it. They issued one word of warning and advice, which was that the sinking fund must be considered as a trust fund, and must be kept intact. They protested against using sinking funds rates to pay bank loans against general revenue, as the treasurer reported was now being insisted upon by the bank.

OLD FRIENDS' HAPPY MEETING.

One of the strange coincidences of war comes to light this week in letters received here by friends of Pte. J. A. C. Kennedy. He has again been wounded, and was invalided back to England. With others he was taken to the Duchess of Connaught Hospital, Taplow, Buckinghamshire, and his surprise and pleasure can be imagined when he recognized in one of the stretcher bearers from the station to the hospital a face he knew well in Summerland, that of Will Angove, who has been doing duty at that hospital for many months. It can be readily imagined that the two Summerlanders would make the most of their good fortune.

One letter received by a friend from Pte. Kennedy mentions the incident as follows:

"I had no sooner got off the ambulance at the hospital and whom should I meet but 'the bold' Bill Angove. What a surprise for both of us! I hadn't much time then to speak to him, but told him to come round to the ward later on and see me. He came round last night and brought Vanderburg and Graham along with him. We had a great time talking about the good old days, and all the people at Summerland. Jennings is here also, but he couldn't come around last night as he was on night duty. To-day, again, I saw Bill around at the grocery stores.

"Tell all my old friends I wish to be remembered to them."

Government Relief For Kelowna Irrigation Water Users.

The question of irrigation, one of great concern to the people of the Kelowna district, was last week taken up with the Premier and members of the government by the Mayor and a deputation from Kelowna, with a reassuring result. The government promised, pending definite legislation based upon the report of Mr McKenzie, who has been investigating irrigation conditions, that they would stand behind any system not able to take care of accidental breakdowns, so that the water users would not be imperilled during the present season. The whole question would later be taken up and embodied in a bill calculated to put the irrigation needs of the Valley on a firmer basis.

The question of the building of the C.N.R. branch line from Kamloops to Kelowna, was also made the subject of enquiry, and the information was obtained that there seemed to be little doubt that the company now had their finances sufficiently in hand to make a start with the construction during the coming spring. Money was also soon to be available for the purposes of the Agricultural Credits Act, and the Mayor was assured that the Kelowna district would receive its full share of the $2,000,000; which would be the probable amount of the first appropriation.

At Vancouver Mayor Jones was able to make financial arrangements on behalf of the City of Kelowna which will do much to relieve the immediate pressure on the worried city council. This was in the form of a loan negotiated with the Superintendent of the Bank of Montreal at Vancouver, which will enable the city to pay off all outstanding arrears of salaries, both of the city staff and the school teachers, and also to furnish funds for urgent financial needs during the year. The Mayor was also able to secure measures of relief from the Educational Department for some of the rural schools, who have found themselves short of funds.

Bird House Competition.

All entries for the above competition should be sent to Mrs John Tait, secretary of the Summerland Women's Institute, not later than Saturday, the 25th inst. The competition closes on Thursday, the 30th inst. Now, boys and girls, don't forget to take the houses to school that day for inspection.

At Kelowna a man and team have been busy for some time going over the streets with a drag. Alderman Copeland estimated that $50 expended in this way would make the necessary regrading.

Peachland Growers' Union Economically Managed.

Annual Meeting Held Last Week. All Directors Returned.

The annual general meeting of the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union shareholders was held on March 14th, at 8 p.m. The financial statement for the year ending February 29th, 1916, showed a surplus in hand of $187.27 on the actual operations of the fruit department, and a profit of $4.25 on the operation of the feed department. The showing of these small margins of profit, combined with the fact of the low rate of handling charged, were favorably received by the shareholders as an indication that the local union is being operated on the fundamental principles of co-operation and not as a profit making institution. This was further borne out by the fact that at the present time the union is carrying a full line of flour and feed at prices which compare favorably with any in the Okanagan.

The amount of depreciation written off on buildings and equipment caused the balance sheet to show a deficit of $127.30 for the year. This, however, not being an actual loss, but only a paper depreciation was not viewed with alarm by the shareholders. A resolution providing for a yearly appropriation for sinking funds was put through. Plans of the Central organization for better co-operation and results were outlined and received with approval. The election of officers for the year 1916 resulted in retaining all members of the old board.

MOCK TRIAL PROVED HIGHLY AMUSING.

A mock trial held on Thursday evening in Campbell's Hall provided a most successful diversion from the ordinary social program of the St. Andrew's Young People's Guild. In addition to the numerous court officials of every capacity, there were enough spectators of the trial to fill the hall to overflowing.

The case was a damage suit for breach of promise, Miss Isabella Spookindike (Frank Stewart) sued her fickle lover, Clarence Adams.

Counsel for the plaintiff were Messrs K. Elliott and D. McIntyre, and these astute lawyers by examination and cross-examination of witnesses and the defendant himself, made the case look bad for the prisoner. His counsel were B. Tingley and E. Logie, who had to work hard to give a rebuttal to all the damaging evidence that was advanced by the prosecution. The witnesses put on the stand were Miss O. Gummow, Miss I. Stewart, and Messrs A. B. Elliott, and G. Dale, and the plaintiff and defendant both underwent questionings at the hands of the opposing counsel. The amusement of the listeners was such that very frequently Clerk of the Court G. Marshall had occasion to call on Court Crier Daly to maintain order. After listening to powerful harangues from both prosecution and defence, the learned judge, Mr W. C. Kelley charged the jury, laying both sides of the love-tangle before them for their guidance. The jury retired and shortly brought in their verdict. They found that the defendant was guilty of playing upon the affections of the lady in the case, and recommended to the judge that he pass the dread sentence of an enforced visit to the chair of the local hairdresser. This penalty was accordingly imposed—although the defendant did not look as though he needed it.

An exceedingly distinguished jury was empanelled to hear the case. In private life they pass under the following names—G. Sinclair, E. Arkoll, J. S. Ritchie, R. B. Forsyth, H. A. Young, H. W. Trefry, G. L. McWilliams, C. McWilliams, H. Riddell, J. O. Smith, D. Ritchie and H. Harris. They took the oath to consider the case fairly and squarely on its merits, so help them Timothy Eaton.

The evening provided a genuine good time, and the experiment should be tried again if it can be done with anything like the same degree of success.

The Co-operative Growers of Pentecost has taken a forward step with regard to the importation of power spraying machines, and has arranged for the shipment of a carload of sprayers. There are 18 machines in the shipment. This move on the part of the Co-operative Growers will do not a little in giving support to the protective associations being organized throughout the province.

Duplex Utility Door On Exhibition.

It is good to know that H. G. Estabrook, inventor and patentee, of the Duplex Door is disposed to give the people of this Valley the first opportunity of seeing the new door in a commercial model, with arrangements made so that orders may be taken for early delivery. Local people are being offered the first chance of making use in their own houses of the advantages which the Duplex Door is known to possess over the articles now so commonly in use.

The new commercial model of the Duplex Door is being exhibited in Summerland for four days over this week-end. To-day and to-morrow it is being shown in the lakeside section and next Monday and Tuesday at West Summerland. Owing to the fact that the model is to be placed on view in every community in the Valley for a day or two at each place, it is necessary to restrict the exhibition here to the four days stated. It will thus be to the advantage of people who are interested to seize these opportunities of seeing the door in the model that is considered to adapt itself to the greatest demand.

The manufacture of the Duplex Door has been placed in the hands of the S. C. Smith Lumber Co., of Vernon. This concern is very well satisfied with the new enterprise it has taken in hand, and has confidence in its future. But for the recent spell of severe weather, which interfered with the working of their plant and caused a certain volume of business to accumulate, the Smith Lumber Company would have taken in hand the Duplex Door before now. They were able to test out the door from the manufacturer's standpoint last week, however, and the selling arrangements which are being announced are the direct result of these tests.

When the Highlanders (in kilts) first went to the front, the natives couldn't make out what they were. One said to another: "It isn't a man—it has petticoats!" Another said: "It isn't a woman—it has whiskers!" Finally one exclaimed: "The English have a regiment called the Middlesex, and no doubt this is it."

The stage from Pentecost to Keremeos, via Olalla is no more. The K. V. R. assumes the mail contract.

Constable Graham has placed his resignation in the hands of the chairman of the Police Commissioners, the resignation to take effect April 30th.

We regret greatly to announce the death at Vernon of the daughter of Mr and Mrs Percy French, which occurred last Friday. She was a bright and winsome child of about two years and had just returned with her parents from a three-months visit in Ontario. Mr French is a brother of Mrs George Gartrell and is known to many here through his connection with the Horticultural Branch and his judging at our apple shows. Both he and Mrs French have the sincere sympathy of many friends in their sudden and sad bereavement.

The joy that is not shared has an early death.

A district meeting of the Liberals of the south Okanagan electoral district will be held here to-night in Oddfellow's Hall. A number of delegates are expected from Kelowna and vicinity, and also from Peachland and Naramata. The party candidate having already been selected there is not likely to be anything of outstanding importance to be considered at the annual meeting to-night. At the last district meeting held at Kelowna Mr L. V. Rogers was selected as the party candidate in the next provincial election.

What constitutes a day's work? We figure it out that it depends altogether on your occupation. Is you lay brick, eight hours; if you keep house, sixteen hours; if you preach the gospel, two hours; if you are a porter in a sleeping car, twenty hours; if you serve the government, one hour; and if you are a newspaper man, twenty-four hours.

"Can't Afford It"

That's what a merchant said the other day about his advertising. He said that trade was falling off and that he would have to economize.

ADVERTISING

is to stimulate business, but evidently Friend Merchant has it figured out that when times are good and folks have plenty of money to spend, he will demonstrate the advantage of spending it with him. But in dull times he will let the other fellow have the business.

It is a Fact that advertising pays better when times are dull. It is the open season for bargain hunters, and the merchant who has nothing to offer the economical buyer is the first to suffer. The time to advertise is all the time and you can LEAST AFFORD to quit when you need the business most.

A BIASED VIEWPOINT.

PERHAPS SOME OF OUR READERS have heard of the Canadian Council of Agriculture before. To those who have not we are glad to introduce. It is a body consisting of farmers in the provinces of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. We may be underestimating its status when we make the statement that its membership is not large nor its sphere of influence very wide. Nevertheless, the Canadian Council of Agriculture deserves to be introduced to the Okanagan fruit grower, because of the attitude it has taken up on the question of the new apple import duty. It is easy to picture in the mind's eye the righteous indignation of these prairie farmers as they sat in annual conclave and framed the resolution we print below. It is also easy to see what a staunch friendship the Canadian Council of Agriculture has for brother farmers in the Okanagan:

Resolution—"Whereas, at the request of the British Columbia fruit growers, the duty on apples has been raised from 40 cents per barrel to 90 cents per barrel;

"Whereas this is an enormously high duty—approximating one hundred per cent ad valorem of the cost of production of apples in Canada;

"And whereas the evident purpose of the imposition of this duty is to force the prairie consumer to pay a higher price for apples;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that this, the Canadian Council of Agriculture in meeting, declare this to be an unrighteous attempt to exploit the prairie farmer for the benefit of the British Columbia fruit land speculators, fruit growers, and middlemen, and we advise the farmers of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, that if this becomes law, and they are to be taxed in this manner, they pay this money into the Federal treasury by purchasing imported apples rather than pay the same duty together with profit thereon to British Columbia land speculators, fruit growers and middlemen."

After having read the views of the Canadian Council of Agriculture upon the apple tariff question, as embodied above, we are sure that there will be very few growers in this district who will care to accept any higher returns for their fruit that may come this season. They will be too pricked in conscience for "exploiting" the prairie farmer to think of putting a few extra cents into their pockets. It is to be hoped that such short-sighted and suspicious motives will not prevail on the prairies, outside of the charmed circle of the C.C.A. membership, and it is also fervently hoped that some of these men may also get some new light on the matter, which will show them that the fruit growers of this province, far from being crooks and exploiters, are merely trying to do as their prairie brethren are doing—get a decent living off their farms.

ALTHOUGH primarily of interest to the women of the district, the men folk also should be glad to learn of the determination of the Summerland Women's Institute to revive their annual Flower Show and General Exhibition. They are starting now, at the right time of year, the intention being to have prize lists in the hands of those who may be expected to exhibit within a few days. By this step everyone will have the list in plenty of time to allow of planning their exhibits, and also time to execute them to their liking. This should result in a larger entry than ever before.

With the revival of this Exhibition and the Fall Fair, and also the continuance of the Poultry Show which it is hoped may be taken for granted, Summerland is giving good evidence of improving conditions. There is one more step that should be taken, and that calls for a regular district exhibit at some of the larger fairs, notably that held every August in Vancouver.

If the Okanagan intends to dominate the Coast fruit markets, the Valley must make itself known to every fruit user and dealer in that territory, and more than that, must keep its name constantly before them. Indications seem to be pointing to the conclusion that a good deal more fruit will go from Summerland Coastwards this year than in any previous season, and if our fruit were to be seen in the big Vancouver Fair in an exhibit of fitting proportions not only this year but in succeeding years, it would help sell Okanagan fruit there unquestionably. Exhibitions of that kind have an especial value that ought not to be overlooked.

What is the matter with the Board of Trade taking in hand this project now that it has a better representation of the district at work? Summerland sent a carload of mixed varieties of apples to the Vancouver Exhibition a few years back, and brought back the first prize. There is no reason why this feat could not be repeated this year or any other year.

Orchard and Farm:

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

Selecting Potatoes Suitable For Seed.

Every grain grower knows from his own experience that seed selection is beneficial in growing grain crops, but there has not been the same attention paid to selecting seed potatoes, which are just as important. A government circular issued from Ottawa gives the following suggestions, which will have the effect of reducing very greatly the number of "misses," and also keep the crop free from disease:

When selecting potatoes for planting, all bruised, decayed, externally diseased, or unsound tubers should be removed.

Tubers showing common scab should, preferably, be all removed. The chances are that scabby seed will produce a scabby crop.

After having removed all externally diseased and otherwise injured tubers, the seed should be soaked in bags or bulk for three hours in a solution of bichloride of mercury, 1 part in 2,000 parts of water. After treatment, spread out and dry.

When dry, cutting the potatoes will commence for "sets." Provide each person with a potato knife, and keep a number of knives in a wooden pail containing a solution of 1: 1000 bichloride of mercury.

The stem end of the tuber is the seat of several internal diseases. Cut a thin slice off the stem end of each potato; if perfectly sound and free from brown streaks, rings, or spots, continue cutting it up to required size.

Discard at once all tubers showing discoloration, when cut as above, at the stem end, and throw out those showing any kind of spotting inside, though the stem end itself may have shown no disease.

Having used the knife on a tuber showing any kind of discoloration inside, throw it at once into the disinfecting solution, and take out another knife before cutting up another tuber. A knife that has cut through a diseased tuber conveys certain diseases to the new tuber, hence it is very important to change the knife after having thrown out a diseased tuber. It is waste of time to cut out brown spots and use the rest of the tuber.

After following these precautions, everything has been done to eliminate disease conveyed by unsound seed potatoes. The sets are now ready for planting.

Holstein vs. Jersey.

Relative Qualities Compared In Figures And Verse.

Hoard's Dairyman, published at Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin, reflects the old contentions between fanciers of Jersey and Holstein cattle. A correspondent in the current issue says:

"The popularity of the Holstein cow rests upon two facts. First, she is able to produce more butter in a year than any other breed, therefore at a greater profit to the producer; and second, the Holstein cow is the most prolific of all dairy breeds.

"The first statement is proven by the fact that the average of 1,991 Holstein cows for yearly production is 492 pounds fat; the average of 3,971 Guernseys is 436 pounds fat; the average of 3,216 Jerseys is 413 pounds fat; and the average of 1,752 Ayrshires is 369 pounds fat. The Holstein breed also has more cows with over 700, 800, 900, 1,000 or 1,100 pounds fat than all other dairy breeds combined.

"The second fact is borne out by the increase in registration for the different breeds for the last five to twenty years. In 1898, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, there were 50 per cent. more Jerseys than Holsteins in America. In 1914-15 there were registered 67,680 Holsteins and 88,006 Jerseys."

The Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has organized a system of Egg Circles to enable farmers to secure good prices by the co-operative marketing of eggs. A large number have already been organized in the East. Members pay an entrance fee of 50 cents to cover the cost of a stamp, with which the eggs are marked for identification. Each branch has a board of seven directors. Business is done by a branch manager, who receives 1 cent or 2 cents per dozen for eggs, according as they are delivered to him or collected by the farmers. Farmers are bound to gather eggs twice daily, keep them in a cool place, and ship once a week. When the eggs are candled and graded, the farmers are paid accordingly. Results show that members of egg circles have received from 18 to 22 1/2 per cent higher than local store prices, and great stimulus has been given to poultry raising.

Control Of Plant Pests.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture has now on the presses Bulletin No. 68 entitled "Diseases and Pests of Cultivated Plants in B.C., and their Control," which has been prepared by Messrs J. W. Eastham, B.Sc., Provincial Plant Pathologist and Entomologist, and Max H. Ruhmann, Assistant Entomologist.

This bulletin will fill a long felt want, because the authors have POET HAS PREFERENCES.

The Jersey Bulletin and Dairy World (Indianapolis, Ind.) bursts into verse in derision of the Holstein. Appended is a sample:

The Holstein came with her udder full,
And she gave it down quite free;
She gave two pails of foaming milk
Just as blue as blue could be:

And when the milker carried it off,
He was pleased and well content,
But when it stood in the bottle neck
It showed up two per cent.

The Jersey filled one flowing pail,
With this she was content,
And when 'twas tried by the Babcock test
It showed up six per cent.

The Holstein stood at the big barn door
And ate all within her reach;
She gave thirty pounds of sky blue milk,
And they said she was a "peach."

The Jersey ate from a six-quart pail,
And she was quite well supplied;
For she paid it all back in milk and cream,
And she gave lots more beside.

Both breeds are good in a way, you know,
And I like them both, all right:
I like the Jersey around the place,
And the Holstein out of sight.

Better write right now, while you think of it, to the Department of Agriculture, Victoria, B.C., and ask them for their latest advice concerning any problem of farm or orchard management which confronts you. If it doesn't happen to fit your case you are not compelled to use it. But write for it, anyway, you may find it is just what you want.

spent much time on experimental work in British Columbia, and are thoroughly conversant with the problems of the fruit growers and orchardists.

There is also a short article on Sprays and Spraying, by Ben Hoy, the Assistant Horticulturist for the Okanagan district, which has appeared in print before, but as this is such an important part of the work of the fruit growers, it is re-printed in this bulletin.

Requests for this bulletin should be sent in to the Department now.

were he able to produce all his feed on his own ranch.

Still another question. What a distinct benefit to Naramata if there were say ten men or twenty men all raising similarly high-class fowl of the heavy laying strains with control of an exclusive high-class market!

A report of the recent convention of B.C. Institutes was read by the returned delegate, T. H. Boothe. Mr. W. R. Bartlett delivered an entertaining address of the Mark Twain style on current events. Mr. Bartlett's sage witticisms on the war and its problems were well received.

Then followed a few remarks by Mr. L. L. Palmer of the Fruit Pests Department of Horticulture. Mr. Palmer, after apologizing for speaking at so late an hour, expressed himself in eulogistic terms on the character of the evening's papers, and spoke briefly on aims, methods, and times for spraying.

Naramata Boy Sends Letter Home.

In a recent letter from Reginald L. Boothe—who is now in France—to his parents here, he says: "I think I had better drop you a line or two before I leave. The base. I expect to leave here some time this week. Will sure be very pleased to get back to my old Cariboo bunch again, as you know nearly all of my pals have been in the firing line for some time.

We have certainly been having swell weather here (I don't think) for all week long it rained practically every day, and yesterday, by way of a big change, we got about five inches of snow, and believe me it is not very nice sleeping in tents and in damp blankets and knowing you wake up in the morning for a bread and jam breakfast. Say, mother, if any one ever mentions jam to me after this war is over, I sure will do something desperate to them. However, this is active service, so I guess I have no kick coming.

We were out on a long route march to-day in the snow and slush, and I feel pretty tired and weary tonight. Our beds will feel pretty good. Reville at 5.30 will come all too soon in the morning. I am sure I haven't had a letter from any one since I left Hythe. All our letters will have gone up the line; expect there will be quite a bunch waiting for me when I rejoin my battalion.

A fellow is certainly at a big disadvantage writing letters here—hence the pencil. I cannot tell you lots of things, but would sure like to. I guess the big thing you want to know though is that I am still alive and well."

What some people call the blues is just sheer laziness.

Current Events OF Town & District

Public School Inspector A. Anstey of Vernon paid the local school an official visit on Wednesday.

Mr. A. Aveson of the Experimental Farm, Summerland, spent the week-end visiting friends at Naramata.

Assistant District Fruit Pests Inspector L. L. Palmer was in town last Friday, and Saturday in connection with fruit protection plans.

The first rain for many months fell here on Sunday last, the effects of which are already apparent in the ever lengthening blades of early vegetation.

Mrs. L. V. Watson and baby daughter, Elizabeth, were week-end visitors with Mrs. Wells. The return trip was made on Monday evening's boat.

The scarcity of material that retarded progress for a week or so has given place to an opposite condition of affairs. Last Saturday was most profitably spent by a score or more ladies in the club rooms. Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Wilson served an enjoyable luncheon toward the close of the afternoon.

It is stated on good authority that Mr. and Mrs. Dean, former citizens, but more recently residents of Montreal, intend shortly to return to again take up residence here at Naramata. It may be of interest, too, to note that the Dean household has recently been gladdened by the birth of a son and heir.

It may be your turn next to lose your footing at the wharf, and slip into the lake, at a time most inconvenient; so be sure you can swim before you laugh when you hear that Mr. So-and-So—that fellow so much in the public eye—took an unpremeditated plunge last Saturday morning in the icy fluid known locally as Okanagan Lake.

The packing school conducted here last week under the direct instruction of Manager Jack Lawler of the Summerland Fruit Union, concluded its sessions on Saturday afternoon, with thirteen out of the original fifteen students staying with the game till the final whistle. Mr. Lawler expressed himself as being highly pleased with the class as a whole. It is remarkable, too, that the whole thirteen final contestants won sufficiently high marks to warrant each and all obtaining diplomas.

A charming social function in the form of an afternoon Ten Cent Tea in aid of the Unity Club exchequer was held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Mitchell. The attendance was large, nearly every member of the club being present. There was a short musical program, which was greatly enjoyed by all present. This was followed by refreshments, Mrs. Julius Block pouring tea. Mrs. Mitchell was assisted by her two daughters, Mrs. W. Nuttall, and Miss Violet. The collection in aid of the Unity Club amounted to between four and five dollars.

Doings in Scout Circles.

Since the removal to Summerland of Mr. J. C. Williams, who so ably handled the Boy Scout work, the troop have been fortunate in so soon selecting a successor in the person of Mr. Wm. Nuttall.

The new master has taken hold with characteristic energy, vim and enthusiasm, and the lads are responding splendidly. Already plans are being outlined for the summer, which plans include at least a week of camp life. Mr. Nuttall has properly sensed the idea at the bottom of the whole Scout movement. It is more along the line of character-building—to develop self-reliance, courage, and initiative; to foster a love for God, for home and country; to train the boys to rise above circumstances, and to conquer, overthrow or surmount the difficulties that bestrew their paths.

To this end a week of life in the hills will be a splendid idea, and with an experienced hunter like the present Scout Leader, the desired results are assured.

This week's program included a night's scouting that "caught" the lads in the right spot.

On Tuesday evening, after the preliminary drill, fourteen Scouts were tolled off to surround the home of a special friend of all the lads to prevent the entrance of two dispatch carriers. The "guard" were to keep within 100 yards of the house, and to the credit of the two stealthy messengers, both succeeded in getting their message delivered. Here is the message—I'm sure you would like to know what military secret it contained:

"Mr Boothe, Dear Sir,—If the bearer gets in—treat him well; if not, kick him well."

H. Nuttall, Scoutmaster." The "guard" having missed their quarry, were called in for the rest of the evening, to be spent in camp fire songs and stories, topping off with a hearty lunch, served by the hostess, Mrs. Boothe, assisted by Mrs. Nuttall and Mrs. Allen.

Peachland Paragraphs

Mr. B. F. Gummow and his sister, Gertrude, of the Pentiction Public School staff, spent last Saturday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gummow. Miss Gertrude returned the same evening, but Ben rode down on Sunday.

St. Patrick's Day has come and gone. Not so the memories of that night. The Methodist Ladies' Circle had the Orange Hall suitably decorated for the occasion with sham-rock and Irish flags. The evening's enjoyment consisted of different games and a short program. The treat of the evening however was the box supper. This consisted of gaily decorated boxes, each containing lunch for two. The boxes each held a number, which was duplicated in a bag, and on the purchase of the duplicate you became the owner of the box, and incidentally partner to the lady to whom it belonged. A percentage of the proceeds went to the Patriotic Fund.

Mr. Hugh Ferguson, who has had charge of the Fairview Public School since Christmas, is spending an enforced holiday at his home here. Measles are prevalent in the district, which necessitated the closing of the school for a few weeks.

He is a handy man in winter and in summer.

Young Man, Do you know

that some of the best B.C. educated themselves for advancement at home, right in the village or on the farm, and that they had no better chances than you have, some, indeed, being extremely poor, and only having a knowledge of reading and writing? These men have, through the study of International Correspondence Schools' courses, and a determination to succeed, risen to where they are. Why not you?

Others with good general education have found that without special training along one line, they could not hope for much in exchange for their services, and have taken up the International Correspondence Schools studies and made good.

The International Correspondence Schools have contracts now with over two hundred railroads alone for instructing their employees, including the C.P.R., the C.N.R., the B.C. Electric Rly., and the Dominion Government railways in Canada, and the text-books of the School which have become famous for their clearness, practicability, and thoroughness, are now used in nearly 300 large colleges and schools, including in Canada, McGill, Toronto University, Department of Technical Education, Halifax, Shawinigan Technical Institute and others. Athol Agur was a visitor to his home here over last week-end, arriving from the Coast on Friday, and returning again on Tuesday. He is with the Engineers, and in a few days will proceed to Ottawa with his corps for further training. His brother Philip, who joined the 11th C.M.R. last spring, has now been in training for almost a year, and is naturally not any too well pleased with the prospect of being back in Vernon again this coming summer. There are many guesses being ventured as to why this crack regiment is being held for so long, while battalions raised later are going forward.

The employing of outside labor at the power house has been the subject of many a conversation during the past week and much adverse criticism has been heard. True, the position is an unimportant one, but such is the temper of the people that the engaging of boy help from outside, when there are in our midst those who would have been glad of the employment, that the action of the electrician is resented, and the matter was complained of to the electric light committee. When it was decided last fall to give a 24 hour light service a third operator became necessary and Mr James was instructed to put a want advertisement in the local paper, and make his selection from among the applicants. Leo Hatfield was his choice. The latter having now quit to join his father, the position was again open. Mr James, as he stated, his case to the Rowley, felt at liberty to fill the vacancy, and knowing a young man in Kelowna whose family needed aid, who had before worked for him, sent for the lad. The question asked by citizens who have discussed the subject is why one of the former applicants was not given a chance, or the former method of getting an assistant was not again employed.

There are few people, indeed, who are not able to contribute in this way, and everyone is accordingly asked to bear in mind that these contributions will be gratefully received at the hospital all next week. At the Baptist evening service on Sunday next, Rev N. McNaughton will commence a series of four evening sermons based on a recent notable book by Dr Cabot, an eminent physician of the eastern American states. The title of the book is, "What Men Live By." It treats of four subjects, Work, Play, Love and Worship, and it is with these topics that the sermons will deal in turn.

With the 62nd Battalion that left Vancouver a few days ago for training in England, were Tremlett F. Knox, of Balcom, and Russell Roe of Naramata. Summerland men with the 172nd at Kamloops were at the depot when the troop train passed through that town, and exchanged greetings with their fellow townsman. The 67th Western Scots is another Battalion that has been at Vancouver and is due to move overseas, if it has not already gone. At least one Summerland man is in its ranks, namely James Coutts Runaways are always exciting while they last, and one morning this week people on Shaughnessy Avenue witnessed a very peculiar mishap of this nature. A team of young horses from R. H. English's livery stable were being taken down to the wharf for freight, and the driver, having to call at Mr. Beer's store on his way, left the team with the reins fastened in the door. In some way the door opened releasing the lines, and the horses started off up the street towards the Supply Company's store. At this point another team, the property of Messrs. Fyffe and Winger, was standing, and the runaway team struck the standing democrat in such a way as to land one of the horses up in the body of the vehicle, three legs well inside and one between the body and the wheels. The standing team started off from this untoward disturbance, and the strange looking outfit of rigs and horses made off up the hill in the direction of the Telephone Company's building, but did not progress far. The horse that was bundled up into the democrat did not suffer except for a few scratches, and none of the other animals suffered any physical hurt.

Women's Institutes Have Instructive Programs.

Topics To Be Discussed Are Live Ones. Every Woman Should Join.

Printed below is the subject matter of the programs for the present year which the two Women's Institutes of the district have drawn up, and which have both been brought out in printed form. They are produced in the hope that they may meet the eye of some women who may be unacquainted with the Women's Institute work, and perhaps inducing them to join and get some of the benefit that arises from the consideration of the up-to-date topics the programs set forth. It is also due to the progressive women back of the Institutes that the people of Summerland generally should know the class of essential and really live matters pertaining to the realm of housekeeping that the Institutes are tackling. The Institute motto, "For Home and Country," is in itself a very concise and complete epitome of the aim of the organization.

The Summerland Institute opens and closes its meetings with patriotic music, opening with "O, Canada," and closing with "God Save The King." A report from the secretary and any business to be transacted also has a part in the beginning of their program.

The two secretaries, Mrs J. J. Mitchell for the upper Institute and Mrs J. Tait for the down town body will be pleased to enroll any women who are not yet members.

Whist Club Finishes Its Winter's Program.

The Patriotic Whist Club concluded its program for this season on Thursday evening of last week, when the final drive was held at the home of Mr and Mrs R.-W. Nelson. A full attendance of members was obtained, and this being the occasion for the distribution of the season's prizes for the best averages, interest and hopes ran high. Everyone appeared in excellent spirits, and an exceedingly delightful time resulted.

An admirable program had been arranged, and several innovations were introduced. Home made candy, made by some of the members, was on sale at five cents a large bag, the receipts being devoted to the cause of the Red Cross. Cards occupied the first part of the proceedings, and best scores from the 24 games were secured by Mrs T. Washington and R. Randall respectively.

Each lady member had been invited to bring refreshments, and a very appetizing and delicious array was collected. After refreshments, the men's committee, assisted by three scrutineers, retired to determine the average scores. Meanwhile some high-class gramophone selections were given, and the song "Come Back to Erin" was very effectively rendered by Mrs Walker and the Misses M. Pollock and W. Dunn. Whilst this song was being given dainty green bows, the work of Mrs T. J. Garnett, were offered for sale at five cents each, and all were taken up.

The event of the evening was then reached, when Mr H. Tomlin presented the prizes for the season to the winners as follows:

Ladies—1, Dessert Knives, Mrs Darkie; 2, Spoons, Mrs Figgis; 3, Butter Knife and Sugar Shell, Mrs T. S. Secrest; 4, Plates, Mrs Everett; 5, Barpin, Mrs Tullett; Consolation Prize—Box Chocolates, Miss Darkie.

Gentlemen—1, Flashlight, Mr T. Walker; 2, Fountain Pen, Mr T. S. Secrest; 3, Cuff Links, Mr J. H. Dandy; 4, Thermos Bottle, Mr H. Everett; 5, Butter Knife, Mr H. Tavender; Consolation Prize—Rolled Oats, Mr G. Robertson.

A tubful of packages furnished by the members was then produced, each bearing a number. Ten cents was charged for a numbered ticket entitling the holder to the article with the corresponding number. On the bundles being opened, considerable amusement was aroused, the packages disclosing articles ranging from the useful and ornamental to the extremely humorous and comical. Nevertheless everyone was highly satisfied with the result of their purchase. Further articles had been donated to be disposed of for the benefit of the Red Cross, and a mock auction was accordingly held, with Mr Tomlin in the role of auctioneer. Some spirited bidding ensued, and cakes, boxes of chocolates, eggs for setting, a rooster, and a box of apples were knocked down to eager buyers in rapid rotation. A musical program then followed, several members obliging in this respect, and each item was well applauded.

Votes of thanks were then passed to those members who had so kindly thrown open their houses for the accommodation of the Club; to the ladies' and gentlemen's committees for their efforts in making the initial season of the Club such a striking success; and to the editor of the Summerland Review for his kindness in publishing the doings of the Club.

A motion to continue the existence of the Club throughout the summer, not with the intention of holding meetings, however, each member contributing fifteen cents a month to the Red Cross, was carried unanimously. The amount realized on this last occasion was $20, while the total receipts for the season amounted to over $100, all of which proceeds go to further the work of the Red Cross Society.

At the close everyone united in singing "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem.

together with the President and Secretary of the district associations.

Two resolutions were placed before the meeting and carried unanimously. First—

Resolved, that the South Okanagan Liberal Association in meeting assembled, hereby expresses its unbounded confidence in Mr Leslie Rogers, as the Liberal candidate for this constituency, and that we will do our utmost to secure his election at the ensuing provincial elections.

Second—

Resolved, that the South Okanagan Liberal Association in meeting assembled, hereby expresses its appreciation of the vigorous work of Messrs Brewster and Macdonald at the present session of the Legislature, and hereby pledges its loyal support and endorsement of them as our leaders, and of the policy of the Liberal party of B.C. as enunciated by them.

We also hereby express our unbounded confidence in the future of B.C., and our belief that with competent administration of public affairs our province will furnish prosperous and happy homes for many thousands.

The attendance totalled 35 members, from all parts of the riding, and the tone of the meeting was decidedly optimistic, and the results already achieved marked progress toward the election of the Liberal candidate, Mr Leslie V. Rogers.

Mr Rogers feelingly thanked his many friends for the confidence which they placed in him.

The enthusiastic meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

UNION OFFICERS AS LAST YEAR.

The newly elected directors of the Summerland Fruit Union held an organization meeting the first of the week and reappointed the officers of 1915. These are:

President, G. J. C. White
Vice-President H. C. Mellor
Secy. of Board C. N. Higgin

That another packing house will be operated this year has been decided upon. Whether it will be the building sub-leased to A. Stewart & Son or a building to be erected near the railway depends upon the action of the K.V.R. An early answer has been promised.

RED CROSS SOCIETY.

Those who interest themselves in Red Cross work will be pleased to know that the following communication was received from Vancouver last week:

The Central Depot acknowledges with thanks Summerland's generous donation of Red Cross supplies which reached us this morning in excellent condition. They are beautifully made, and will be repacked for shipment for London to-day.

Yours faithfully,
MARGARET MILLS,
Chairman of Property Committee,
Red Cross Central Depot,
207 Hastings Street, West.

OKANAGAN AMBULANCE LEAGUE.

The thirty-third bale of hospital supplies was made up and sent to Vancouver for reshipment this week by the local branch of the Ambulance League. The following list, furnished by Mrs Solly, is some indication of the work the shipment represents:

20 nurses' pockets; 36 pr. socks; 1 sheet; 11 head bandages; 13 T bandages; 2 pr. pyjamas; 210 wash cloths; 100 handkerchiefs; 8 dish cloths; 1 day shirt; 40 hand towels; 2 hot water bottle covers; 2 laundry bags; 2 socks for bandaged feet; 2 pr. wristlets; 2 scarves.

WHOSE ARE THEY?

To find upon visiting their chicken house one morning this week a sack containing a rooster and two hens caused a downtown family some considerable surprise, and for a time they were at a complete loss to account for their being there.

A careful look over the situation soon brought the conclusion that the birds had been stolen from some chicken house and the thief wishing to add to his booty was about to make another haul when he became suddenly alarmed and made too hasty a retreat to take the birds already bagged, or else believed that to take them meant a certain betrayal of his actions.

In spite of the increased duty on apples, 3,800 boxes of American fruit were received in Victoria this week ending February 26th.

FRUIT UNION DIRECTORS RETURNED TO OFFICE.

F. T. Jackson, Manager of the Okanagan United Growers, Discusses Marketing With Local Growers.

Results Show Economical Management. Ranking Third in Volume of Output, Summerland Has Lowest Package Expense.

With but one exception the 1915 directors were all returned to office for 1916 by the shareholders of the Summerland Fruit Union at their annual meeting held on Saturday last. Wm. Ritchie is the new director who takes the seat vacated by D. H. Watson, who, because of business reasons, found it impossible to again serve.

The business of the day began about ten o'clock, and continued until nearly 6 p.m., with an intermission at noon, during which the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary served luncheon in the parlors below the Men's Club Gymnasium, where the meeting was held. Part of the day was given over to Manager F. T. Jackson of the Okanagan United Growers.

Opening the morning session, Vice-President Mellor called upon Director Higgin to give a summary of the minutes of the directors' meetings held during the past year. Having practically forced feed dealers out of business the directors felt it but just that they should exceed their authority and sell to non-members, which they have been doing, charging $2 per ton over members' prices.

The Board had opposed the financing of a cannery by Central. The death of a member of the board, H. J. Wells, was noted with deep regret. He was a staunch supporter of the Union and the principles it represents.

When too late they had been asked to operate a second warehouse. No doubt the new board will arrange to run the Union's warehouse on the benches this season.

A grant of $50 had been made to the Fall Fair, and this was justified by results. Mention was made of the success of the Union's packers in the packing contest, due to the training given them by Manager Lawler. Several thousand boxes of apples had been held over at the request of members, for better prices. For this an extra charge of five cents was made. The Board had received no encouragement from the K.V.R. when they asked for a spur. They were also unsuccessful in their efforts to have Wagstaff establish a jam plant here. This is one of the pressing needs of the place. The pre-cooler had been operated by the Union at the request of the Department, which guaranteed the Union against loss. Summerland fruit will be in a separate pool with fruit from other points south of Vernon. Thirteen shares had been allotted during the year.

President White, who at that moment arrived from Vernon with Mr Jackson, then gave his address. He congratulated the members on the success of last year, which would have been better had it not been that so much in the way of vegetables was grown in town and city plots, the result of the Patriotism and Production campaign. The increasing of the outside marketing staff of the Okanagan United Growers had been advantageous. They had practically saved their salaries in making adjustments of claims. Special men will be employed during the coming season. There had been a marked growth in the consumption of apricots, both in the fresh fruit markets and by the canners. There will also be a growing market for melons. Peaches are more in demand, a large and new market having been opened by the mixed cars to small centres. They should now yield better prices.

Mr White recommended that a more simple statement be issued to growers, and that a fixed package charge be made instead of the present percentage charge. Returns could be made more regularly and promptly.

He urged that each member try to get others to come into the Union. Increased volume meant lower costs for operating.

He regretted that internal competition was not yet all eliminated, and told of a Summerland shipper who made a practice of basing his prices on those of the Okanagan United Growers and Stirling & Pitcairn. When these were known Summerland fruit was quoted so much less. Results had shown that Union returns averaged far ahead of competitors.

A shippers' union or coalition board for the whole Valley was now being arranged, and at Kelowna 90 per cent. of the growers are insisting on their shippers coming into this arrangement before signing their contracts.

The increased duty has given great encouragement, giving us our market free from dumping. It now behooves the growers to use this advantage well and send out only good apples. It was a great feat to get this increase of duty, and was the crowning example of the value of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, and warrants the Union members joining the association in a body.

The day is coming when more of the fruit will be packed on the ranches. An increase in the charge for handling home packed fruit was necessary to make it equitable.

A large contract has already been made for tomatoes for next season. There is an exceptional opportunity here to make a success of the apricot. Let us make a study of it and aim to supply all Canada. There is a growing demand for this fruit, and this is the place to grow it.

As a director of the Okanagan United Growers, Mr White also made a brief report. Central is doing much to extend the export trade for apples. For pooling purposes the Valley has been divided into three districts, Vernon, north of Vernon, and south of Vernon. Baskets had been tried during the past year, but had not proved satisfactory for general use. They will be used next season for sour cherries. The crate package had been abused, there having been no regulations governing the pack.

A highly satisfactory increase in the volume of output handled by Central was noted. In 1915 the total was 954 cars; 1914, 1,189 cars, and 1913, 1,536 cars. The value of the 1915 output was $654,682.95, not including apples, etc., still on hand. The volume of business for last year was over $800,000.

Complimenting Summerland on the economic operation of its packing house, which had the lowest packing charges of any in the Valley, Manager J. T. Jackson gave some figures showing the costs at the various locals. Vernon, with four times the output (400,000 packages), figured out 84 cents per box of apples. Kelowna, with twice as much volume as Summerland, was above us in cost. At Penticton the cost was 3 cents above Summerland, and at Peachland 2 cents. Summerland must have been efficiently managed.

As to prices, Mr Jackson said that at a conference with the heads of the Mutual Brokerage, the criticism was that they had been soaked by the Okanagan United Growers last year. They had been held up for prices. In other words the sore spot was that the Okanagan United Growers had maintained prices. On the other hand, the growers kicked because they have not gotten more.

Mr Jackson went quite fully into the necessity of carefully grading melons for size and maturity. A crate 12 x 12 x 21 1/2 had been decided upon. 45 to 54 to a crate were the most marketable sizes. There will be another crate for the lower priced sizes. Severe culling in the field, as well as thinning should be practiced. Only the best should be picked. In districts (Continued on page 6.)

BIRD HOUSE COMPETITION.

The judging in the Women's Institute Birdhouse Competition was held at the Central School on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. Each competitor brought his or her house to school that day, and it was quite an event for the young ornithologists. There were twelve in all put up for inspection, ten juniors and two seniors. This number was very good considering that the competition was only gotten under way just one month ago, and that the idea is new to most of the children here. The judges, Mrs W. C. W. Fosbery and Mrs Wm. Kerr, had no easy task set before them. The variety in both sections, along with the ingenuity displayed and also the artistic architecture displayed were exceedingly good for minors and such young hands.

There was a fair attendance of visitors including Mrs R. M. Ross, Mrs W. C. Kelley and Dr E. W. Sawyer of the School Board, and Mrs H. A. Solly, president of the Summerland Women's Institute.

Dr Sawyer gave a short address to the children, saying how pleased he was to see such a splendid start made along the right lines, to preserve our wild birds; he also referred to animal life in general. Dr Sawyer spoke of Joe Gale, a would-be competitor, who was very anxious to have his house occupied, so had hung it out, and now has a tenant. He ought to get into the next competition.

Mrs Solly announced the prize-winners: Senior—1, Warren Gayton; 2, Joe Gayton. Juniors—1, Arthur Morgan; 2, Alan Estabrook. The other competitors were Jean Moore, Frank Dickinson, Joe McLachlan, Charles Tullitt, Alastair Moore, Nicholas Solly, Eric Johnson and Campbell McAlpine.

The Home Comfort Club, Summerland, B.C.

Your very acceptable parcel reached me shortly before leaving the trenches. The gifts you sent were most useful for the front, especially the vermin-proof underwear, it was the first remedy I ever had for lice. They are, as you probably all know, the greatest pest we have to put up with, even a bath once a week will not keep them away. This gives you an idea what a useful present you sent.

I can assure you that the kindness you have shown me is very much appreciated. I can't say that I deserve any whatever on account of my bad behaviour when living at Summerland.

You would no doubt like me to explain why I am writing this from hospital. While in the trenches I managed to strain myself, and therefore found it very difficult to walk, and painful. The result—I was sent over here. I am glad to be able to report that I have made satisfactory improvement. I will probably have to undergo an operation. This I think will be very simple.

This hospital is situated about three miles outside Taplow, and built on grounds of a very large estate. For recreation we have golf, tennis, billiards, and concerts, so we are very well off.

I had the pleasure of meeting Bill Angove, Graham, Vanderburg, and Jennings, a great surprise for all of us.

I would like to thank you once more for your kindness to me.

With best wishes and success to the Summerland Home Comfort Club.

Yours very sincerely,
J. C. KENNEDY.

Board of Trade Furthers Road Repairs.

Conference With Public Works Committee on Subject.

The Council of the Board of Trade held a special meeting last night in the Board of Trade rooms at which the Municipal Council was represented by two members of the Public Works Committee, Couns. Johnston and Campbell.

The Board of Trade have been active in devising ways and means for the immediate improvement of some of the most important streets and roads, and volunteer work for ten-days teaming and several other offers of additional assistance have been received. On the motion of Messrs Helmer and Young it was proposed to turn these offers over to the Public Works Committee, and ask that they supervise the volunteer work.

The letters passing between the Board of Trade and Municipal Council relative to road improvement were read, and any idea that the Board was undertaking to dictate to the latter was undoubtedly removed.

Secretary Galt was instructed to apply to Road Superintendent Turner of Similkameen for loan of a road grader, pending the arrival of the municipal grader, now on the way. This has already been accomplished, and the grader will be brought up this week ready for work on the Lake Shore Drive on Monday morning. The work will be done under the supervision of Coun. Campbell.

Referring to Mr McAlpine's remark that the Municipality would not use a road drag that he might make, Coun. Johnston said that he would be glad to use any good drag and would give such a trial if he had to put on his own team to do so.

The Board of Trade are stating the local situation with reference to the through trunk roads to Road Supt. Lang, and asking that he furnish 100 ft. of piping for culverts.

The Board of Trade reading room committee are making very satisfactory progress towards fitting up such a room. The quarters are to be thoroughly cleaned, several tables have been procured, and the committee say that any offers of weekly publications will be gratefully received.

OBITUARY.

DONALD McMILLAN.

The death of Mr Donald McMillan occurred on Tuesday morning at the Hospital. Although, since being brought here, three weeks ago his general condition had seemed to improve somewhat, he suffered from relapses, and it was following one of these that he passed away very suddenly. The invalid had made such progress since an operation of about a week before that preparations were being made to wheel him out on to the verandah, so that he might enjoy the bright spring sunshine. While the nurse was out preparing the cot, leaving the invalid's daughter by his bedside he sank quickly and passed away almost immediately.

Mr McMillan was about seventy-two years of age. He was brought here from Brandon by his son and daughter suffering from throat and chest trouble. Mr David McMillan, his son, left last Friday returning to the Prairies, thinking that his father was so much improved. Miss McMillan remained here with the intention of looking after her father when he would be able to leave the Hospital.

The remains were put on to the "Steamer" on Wednesday morning, to be taken back to Brandon where interment will be made. Many expressions of sympathy for Miss McMillan have been heard for the sad and lonely journey she would have to take.

Summerland Leads Province In Fruit Shipments By Express.

Summerland is the premier express shipping point in the Province of British Columbia. The district maintained this proud record during the years 1912, 1913, and 1914, and there is no reason to suppose that it was wrested away by some other place for the year 1915, for the reason that statistics show that there is no other place within whistling distance. Summerland in the year 1914 shipped express fruit and vegetables to the extent of 30,847 packages, weighing 818,724 pounds. The nearest of any other place in the province to this total was attained by Hazelton, which shipped 25,621 packages, weighing 549,008 pounds.

In the following table, shipments from the Okanagan Valley are compared for the three years mentioned above. The remarkable increase to be noted in the year 1915 over the previous year, which are apparent in the cases of Summerland and Penticton, may be accounted for by the fact that it was just then that early vegetable raising began to find favor in the eyes of local growers. Since that time it has become a firmly established practice with many.

IS THIS NOT TRUE?

PERHAPS WE ARE too prone to think that our neighbor has an easier lot in life than our own. The man who does manual labor often enviously thinks of the person whom he imagines has a real "easy" job, it may be in an office or store, or some sedentary work. And yet if the truth were known, these very people are often to be heard regretting the fact that their own occupations preclude manual exertion—they envy the man who works with his muscle.

This strange phase of human nature was dwelt upon very tellingly last Sunday in the course of a sermon delivered from one of the local pulpits. There should be joy in work, the congregation was told, whatever our occupation might be. A truth was pointed out that is common in almost every life and which deserves to be brought out into wider notice. It is that men and women invariably take more joy out of doing what they undertake of their own volition, as contrasted to what makes up the daily task. We sometimes find ourselves doing things of our own free will that would become a task if any one asked us to do them. Why can we not put something of the same spirit into both types of work? Perhaps the reason for failure in the former and comparative success in the latter may be found in the vastly different attitude of mind in which we go about what we commonly term "our work," and that which we do not call work, though it may be equally as strenuous.

Akin to this human foible is the remark quite frequently heard almost anywhere. "Oh yes," we say, "Summerland would be a very nice place to live in if we did not HAVE to live here." Why shouldn't it be the better place on that account? The people who think in this wise, who are convinced that the other fellow has all the joy in life will extract but little pleasure indeed from their stay on this earth. The man that takes no joy in his work will not find that he is prospering. If you are living in Summerland be glad of it and take advantage to the full of what it has to offer that is good. It is poor policy to let all the virtues of your home town stay on paper; put them into your own experience and you will take on a new lease of life. Can we not show as we pass along our days of work one by one, that we are glad to be living in Summerland? It is worth while trying to do it.

THE BUDGET.

THE 1916 BUDGET was brought down in the Legislature at Victoria this week by Hon. L. Campbell, acting Minister of Finance. It contains the customary mass of items that appear from year to year, diminishing revenues not justifying any but the most pressing expenditures. In making road allowances for the different sections of the province it is noted that the Okanagan is treated as one district. The sum to be set aside for this work is $79,000, while the Similkameen riding to the south gets $72,000. For agricultural purposes a total of $176,500 is laid aside. The following grants appear in this sum:

Administration and outside service, $20,000; Board of Horticulture, $500; Crop competitions in fruits and vegetables, garden and vacant lot competitions, $2,000; Demonstration orchards and experimental trees, $1,000; Fruit packing schools, $1,500; Agricultural Associations, $30,000; Dairymen's Association, $2,500; Entomological Society, $250; B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, $5,000; B.C. Poultry Association, $2,500; Stock Breeders' Association, $2,500; Farmers' Institutes, $20,000; Women's Institutes, $7,500; Inspection of nursery stock, trees, etc., $20,000; Suppression of diseases affecting fruits, vegetables, etc., $15,000; $20,000 is also set aside for agricultural education in the public schools. For all educational purposes the sum of $1,524,500 is required.

THE CRESTON, B.C., Board of Trade made a good move recently when it forwarded to Victoria a consignment of reasonable apples for consumption by the members of the Legislature. This makes good publicity for the Creston district, and gives another instance of what a live body of energetic Board of Traders can do in the way of helping their district into due prominence. Spitzenburg and other varieties are being included in the shipment, and legislators are looking forward to the arrival of the fruit, which will be put before them in the best of shape. Creston fruit will also be served in the Legislature restaurant for the rest of the session. The Okanagan seems to have missed a good chance of extending its fame.

A SPECIAL DAY devoted to tidying up the appearance of the community is becoming fashionable all over the province, even in the larger cities appreciating the value of "Clean Up Days." Dates are now being set by different places for the special effort to be made this spring. If Summerland is going to revive this good custom it would seem to be time that it was heard about. We would not like to insinuate that Summerland needs a clean up campaign at all, or that such places as the foreshore, roadsides, sundry vacant lots or back yards need any attention. But we would like to point out that many eyesores, if indeed they are nothing more, that seem to have become permanently embodied into the landscape in different parts of the district would be better rooted out. Are we going to get ourselves worked up to it?

Scoutmaster J. Tait.

Physical Instructor, G. Dale.

A very good turnout showed up at the last meeting and lots of good work was done. Since the picking of new patrols the chief thing has been organizing them. Each patrol will have its own secretary and it is up to him to look after the badges and subscriptions of his particular patrol.

After the usual preliminaries the patrol leaders took charge of their patrols. The first four patrols were given a series of marches while the signalling patrol took their first signalling practice.

After good work for some time the Troop was dismissed excepting the physical squad who remained for parallel bar work, etc.

Scout Master Tait has had instructions from headquarters to send the names of all Scouts or ex-Scouts who are now serving their King and country. The following is a list of them from our Troop:

Scout Master Borton; Quartermaster W. Angove; Assistant Scout Master H. Phinney; Assistant Scout Master Harold Bindley; Assistant Scout Master Jas. B. Turner; Scout William Clark; Scout Walter Mumm; Scout W. Bateman; Bugler Levi Johnston; Scout Herbert Simpson; Patrol Leader Volney Merrill; Scout Roy Darkis.

This week an order for badges was sent off including two King's Scout badges and three sets All Round cords.

Another Month Added To Trapping Season.

Season Partial Failure Owing To Extreme Weather.—Great Demand For Fox Skins.

Good news for local trappers was contained in an announcement issued by Provincial Game Warden Bryan Williams last week to the effect that the trapping season is to be extended for one month, from March 31 to the end of April. The heavy snowfall in certain districts has interfered with the work of the trappers, and their revenue has been much depleted. Owing to the season being so far retarded, the pelts are still in prime condition. For this reason the authorities have felt justified in extending the season in order to give the British Columbia trappers an opportunity to pull up financially.

Prices at present are pretty high in the fur market. They are not as high, of course, as they were a few years ago. For the red fox and cross skins there is a great demand, particularly in the United States, and there is a tremendous amount of money in that particular variety of pelt for the trapper.

The prohibition imposed by the Legislature in 1914 as to hunting, trapping, taking, wounding, and killing of bears is removed for a period of four years from April 1, 1916, by a recent order-in-council.

Inactive Hen a Poor Producer

The success of egg production depends largely upon the activity of the bird, says the Independent Farmer. The reason the Leghorns excel in egg production is largely because they keep themselves in good physical condition. They exercise. The hen that is inactive and shows long toe-nails is seldom a good producer. The hen that is first off the roost in the morning, keeps busy during the day, and is last to go to roost at night is the profitable hen. Some birds have the disposition to take exercise; others have to be forced. This especially is true of the heavier breeds. Strains of Rocks and other breeds are inclined to be lazy, and in a short time get so fat they cannot produce eggs in satisfactory quantities. The circulation of blood to the ovary is restricted by the excessive fat. This unquestionably interferes with the normal functioning of the ovary, and reduces egg production. Exercise can best be encouraged by not overfeeding. The poultry house should be bedded with a foot or more of straw, and the grain buried in this. The skill of the poultry feeder is tested by the manner in which he compels the hens to exercise. Overfeeding causes inactivity, which will be manifested by few holes being dug in the straw. Egg production is quite largely dependent upon keeping the birds in condition. In summer it can be encouraged by sowing in the yards and letting the hens dig up the grain.

The lower mainland has been exporting potatoes heavily for several weeks, mostly during the past five or six weeks. Shipments began with 16,100 sacks sent to Australia, then California began calling for B.C. potatoes, and 9,827 sacks of 100 lbs. each have been shipped south, while to Ontario and other eastern points 33,767 sacks of 90 lbs. each have been shipped. The demand still maintains, and shippers of B.C. potatoes are having many inquiries.

Seed potatoes will soon be in strong demand. If you have any to dispose of, a classified ad in the Review will help to sell them, and the cost is so small.

Million Dollar Loan For Farmers.

Govt. Provides First Sum To Be Used To Assist Agriculture Under The Agricultural Credits Act.

The B.C. Government this week placed with a Canadian financial house a loan for a million dollars, which, under the terms of the Agricultural Credits Act, will be lent out to farmers all over the province. The government succeeded in getting the money for a twenty-five year term, at the rate of 5.63 per cent.

In New Zealand, where this system has been fairly well perfected, the cost of administration of the fund runs to about 1 per cent. This means that applied in British Columbia, the farmer will get his loan for a period of 25 years, if he wishes, at 6 1/2 per cent., or a fraction more.

The money is expected to be placed in the hands of the government some time this week, and the operation of the act is to be brought into force at once by an order-in-council. Then will come the organization of the loaning and inspection board and the arranging of the official machinery to handle the business. It is presumed that six weeks or two months will elapse before the first cash advances by way of loans will actually be made to the farmers.

Attracting Birds.

It is possible with a little care and forethought to attract birds about our dwelling places, adding thereby, not only to the cheer, but providing one of the best means of protecting our gardens and orchards from the ravages of insects.

One of the easiest birds to attract is the Mountain or Arctic Blue-bird. These birds are invited to remain with us not so much by the planting of slow growing shrubs and vines, as by erecting bird houses for them. Even on the treeless prairie this form of invitation will usually induce them to remain throughout the nesting season.

Naturally, they nest in holes in trees, or cracks in buildings, sometimes in the most unexpected places, states Professor W. T. Shaw, zoologist of the Washington State Experiment Station. I once knew of a pair to nest in the tool box of an old abandoned reaper. Consequently, anything in the form of a box of the proper dimensions, furnished with a hole of sufficient size to admit the bird, will be used by them.

A suitable bird house may be made by converting a small box into one. A box six or eight by ten inches is one of about the right dimensions. In one end, about two inches from the floor, a hole should be made, two and one quarter inches in diameter. This may be cut flat in the bottom and arched. The box may be made still more attractive, not only to the birds, but to the owner of the place as well, by being covered with strips of bark sawed from yellow pine or fir. The door might be furnished with a little step of sound bark.

The box should be placed at least ten or twelve feet from the ground. It is well to locate it near a building, as under an eave. It may be made to furnish endless enjoyment for the children by placing it close to an upstairs window.

To renovate lawns that have become worn out the whole surface should first be scratched over with a sharp steel rake. After stirring the surface without unduly injuring the grass roots, lawn grass should be sown on the surface, one pint for every three hundred square feet. Now rake over so as to cover seed. The seed should then be rolled or beaten down.

COW IS ECONOMIST.

The cow will produce seven times as much human food per unit of feed consumed as will the steer. In fact the corn stalks, leaves, and cobs produced on one acre of good corn, if fed to a steer, will provide material for about 50 per cent. edible dry matter in the form of flesh, while, if fed to a dairy cow, about 330 per cent. edible dry matter will be produced. Ordinary economy, then, would demand that our hill pastures and meadows, as well as coarse fodders of our cultivated areas, should, as much as possible, be employed in the production of milk.

The people of British Columbia annually send out of the province for agricultural products and manufactured goods approximately $47,000,000. This sum would support 100,000 families in comfort. And yet we are complaining of bad times and of a serious decline in our population!

OUR NARAMATA SECTION:

Everything of Business and Social Importance Transpiring in South Okanagan's Newest Town

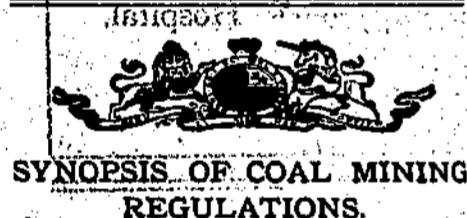

The Town Crier Now Provided.

In lieu of a town crier or an evening news sheet, the Farmers' Institute have ordered that a black-board serve as a public bill board, by affixing in some conspicuous place. It is felt that too many hurry-up notices are put up where few can see them in due time to be of any avail. The fact of the matter is what the community needs is some recognized local newspaper or newspapers to be recognized in an official or semi-official way. Then by printing the announcements of general public weal regularly, a good deal of misunderstanding would be avoided. This service—the service of a local news sheet, is precisely what this Naramata section is designed to meet. How you read thus far?—then the moral—as in the old fable yarns is not far to seek. But lest a single soul should fail to "tumble" let it be said: Therefore, Firstly, Subscribe for the Review; and Secondly, Boost the Review; and Finally, Do what you can to overcome the difficulties in providing a full service of weekly news, and especially you Naramatians, for the Naramata Section.

A Community Bee.

April 14th is to be a Red Letter Day in Naramata, and if the plans of the ladies of the Womens' Institute and the men of the Farmers' Institute pan out even 70 per cent. work and balance of 30 per cent. fun or nonsense, rest assured the school grounds will have a different aspect along Robinson Avenue front by the time Old Sol sinks behind Giants' Head. The committee in charge of the work have the plans well-in-hand, and will be in a position to set at least 50 willing helpers at profitable labor. It is expected that the ladies will be in sight, about lunch time to dispense the needful refreshments, and by their very presence lend COAL-MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.
N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be held for.

encouragement to the splendid proposal. In the afternoon the work of planting trees will be proceeded with. However, the essential thing to do just now is to properly grade the grounds, and if at all possible to seed the same down.

It is to be hoped that all the pledges will be fulfilled a week from next Friday, and that April 14th may go down in history.

Red Cross Notes

The secretary, according to instructions from the local society, acknowledges with thanks the donation from Mr Boothe of a supply of wool.

The following comprises a recent shipment of necessities, contents of bundles No. 31 and No. 32, from the Summerland-Naramata branch of the Okanagan Ambulance League:

7 suits pyjamas; 10 shirts; 1 colored handkerchief; 1 hot water bottle cover; 3 laundry bags; 5 operation socks; 1 sheet; 55 pairs ward slippers; 10 tray cloths; 7 bundles handkerchiefs (70); 18 pr. socks; 9 bundles face rags (90); 12 bundles mouthwipes (1200); 10 face cloths; 37 head bandages; 32 T bandages; 23 dusters; 2 unwound bandages.

Boy Scout News.

On Thursday, March 23rd, the Boy Scouts held a very interesting meeting in the Scout Hall. Scoutmaster Nuttall is very busy teaching the boys the various phases of Scout work, marches, drills, etc. The boys hope to be able to put on a concert this summer some time, and are therefore very enthusiastic in their work.

"Go for them for all you are worth." This is the advice a valued subscriber gives us in speaking of the mean people. "I notice," he says, "that though some people will not continue their subscription to the local paper, when they call at a house where it is taken they always ask for it and read it through." Of course there are some folk who cannot see anything mean in doing this, and it does depend somewhat on the motive behind it. As our correspondent says, "Poverty should be despised by none, but meanness by all." It is good to know that someone has our viewpoint of the matter, and we welcome such moralizing all the more for the accompanying remittance which paid this subscriber up for many months in advance. Thank you, come again!

Mr Dobie was a visitor to Pentiction on Tuesday.

Mr J. H. Pushman and Mr Rolt were visitors to Pentiction on Wednesday.

Mr and Mrs Jas. Wells, who have spent the winter in Alberta and Saskatchewan, are expected back early next week.

Mr W. W. Mitchell has the honor of breaking soil first, round Naramata, this season. Next week it is probable that cultivation will be quite general.

The work of touching up the Naramata roads where the action of the spring freshets has caused trouble, is being attended to by government road foreman, Mr Wm. Nuttall.

Are the peach trees affected by the Frost? Some of the orchardists are of the opinion that the frost has done considerable harm, and for that reason are deferring pruning till later developments decide the question.

The annual meeting of the Fruit Union members was held on Saturday last, and was attended by a fair representation from the Naramata side. Amongst those present from here were: Messrs J. H. Pushman, W. Armour, G. Partridge, W. W. Mitchell, Jas. Young and Geo. Cook.

A fat hog which, when killed and hung up, tipped the scales within a few pounds of the five hundred mark, is a record breaker. The animal was but three years old, and having been fattened on corn has yielded a high class pork—both tender and sweet. Mr Geo. Cook, the owner, evidently does not believe that only pigs of a hundred pounds can be produced at a profit.

Drs White of Pentiction and F. W. Andrew of Summerland paid a hurried call on Sunday night to Rekadom, the occasion being the sudden illness of Mr Aikins. Fortunately the patient's condition was not as serious as at first thought, and it is believed that a few weeks of careful dieting is all that is necessary toward a complete recovery.

After a certain group of prospective recruits now awaiting orders proceed to their respective mobilization quarters, leave town, Naramata must certainly prove a barren field for recruiting officers, as fully 50 per cent of the men have enlisted, and if any more were to leave, certain it is that there would at least be a few cases in which one man was being called upon to do a good deal more than his share.

Mrs Peter S. Roe entertained on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Miss Vera Roe, whose approaching marriage to Mr Guy Brock of Hartford City, Indiana, early next week, is already announced. The function was attended by a large circle of admirers, full testimony of the high esteem in which the hostess and her daughter are held. In the course of the afternoon, Mrs Geo. Cook, an aunt of the prospective groom, assisted in the tea service.

Missionary services were observed in both Sabbath School and Church last Sunday, March 26th. The school had a regular missionary program, there being four excellent papers read by the scholars pertaining to missions both home and foreign. The class of Miss Edna Noyes rendered a very pleasing Missionary Hymn. On the whole it was a very pleasant as well as profitable hour spent. The church service was ably prosided over by Rev. R. M. Thompson of Pentiction, he being brought over by special ferry from Summerland where he was assisting in the missionary services in that place.

Postmaster Bartlett was a visitor to Summerland for a few hours last Saturday.

Mr and Mrs Hunt and son Roy, who have been at Rakadom during the winter, leave shortly for their home, where their ranch property now demands their attention.

Nurse Gordon expects to leave for Summerland the first of April, to take charge of the hospital there, in the absence of Miss Aitchison, who is taking a rest for a while.

Mr R. H. King has this week renewed clearing operations on the Hook property. It is understood that it is Mr Hook's intention to go somewhat extensively into the growing of strawberries.

A number of friends here are in receipt of interesting letters from Mr Walter Land from England, where he is still in camp. He speaks in eulogistic terms of Naramata, and hopes that he may be soon in a position to return.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the church met at the Unity Club parlors on Wednesday afternoon, with the President, Mrs M. M. Allen, in the chair. After a busy afternoon spent in sewing, the regular business of the Aid was taken up. The next meeting will be held in April, the regular yearly business, election of officers, etc., which is always held in the church. An urgent request for all the members to be present at this meeting is the wish of the president.

EASY TO CRITICIZE.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

It is easy to sit in the sunshine,
And talk to the man in the shade,
It is easy to float in a well-trimmed boat
And point out the places to wade,
But, once we pass into the shadows,
We murmur and fret and frown,
And our length from the bank we shout for a plank,
Or throw up our hands and go down.
It is easy to sit in our carriage,
And counsel the man on foot;
But get down and walk and you'll change your talk,
As you feel the peg in your boot.
It is easy to tell the toiler
How best he can carry his pack;
But no one can rate a burden's weight
Until it has been on his back.
The upcurled mouth of pleasure,
Can preach of sorrow's worth,
But give it a sip and a wryer lip
Was never made on earth.

"OUTCLASSED."

The Devil sat by the Lake of Fire, on a pile of sulphur logs; His head was bowed upon his breast, his tail between his legs; A look of shame was on his face, the spark dripped from his eyes— He had sent his resignation to the throne up in the skies! "I'm down and out," the Devil said—no said it with a sob— "There are others that outclass me, and I want to quit my job. Hell isn't it with the land that lies along the Rhine; I'm old and out-of-date, and therefore I resign; One Krupp-munition maker, with his bloody shot and shell, Knows more about damnation than all the Imps of Hell. Give my job to Kaiser Bill or to Ferdinand the Czar, Or to Sultan Abdul Hamid, or some such man of war, I hate to leave the old home, the spot I love so well, But I feel that I'm not up-to-date in the art of running Hell." And the Devil spat a squirt of steam at a brimstone bumblebee, And muttered: "I'm outclassed by Hohenzollern Devilry." —The Spectator.

Major Hutton of the 11th C.M.R. was up from Victoria this week on regimental business. Miss Motion, late of the Summerland Hospital nursing staff, is still at Toronto with the staff of doctors, nurses, and orderlies composing the Ontario Military Hospital, which is soon to take up serious work at Orplington, Kent, England, in new quarters recently prepared for the purpose. The Toronto Daily News recently published an article of some length containing very interesting descriptive information of this Hospital unit. All the nursing sisters have their homes in the Province of Ontario. "It is no holiday jaunt on which the men and women are bent," says the News, "and with military discipline and surgical and medical knowledge and resourcefulness, day by day while they wait their orders to leave, they are becoming more familiar with the work which lies before them."

Sergt.-Major Alex. Grieve, of the 131st Battalion, New Westminster, has lately been doing instruction work in military training schools at the Coast. Following the completion of two of these courses, one at Victoria and the other at his home city, he was made the recipient of handsome presentations, from those taking his instruction, as marks of their appreciation of his work. The gifts were a military watch and a substantial silver-headed cane. Sergt.-Major Grieve expects to spend some time at Vernon this summer with his battalion.

While it might reasonably be supposed that street lights are provided primarily to illuminate certain portions of the public highways after nightfall, there is a growing impression that some of them, at least, are merely put up for the appearance of the thing. We would not like to venture an accurate estimate of the number of street lights at West Summerland that are doing proper duty every night, but it is certainly not half of them. In the other section of the district, the junction of Shaughnessy Avenue and Thirteenth Street, usually fairly well lighted at night, has lately been enjoying primeval darkness that might well be associated with a place in the war zone in hourly expectation of Zeppelin raids, owing to the failure of two lights there. Pedestrians and others having occasion to use the roads at night might as well be given all the light the street lights can throw out. It is little enough, anyway, many people think. Of late Ninth Street has the appearance of a dark alley, while on the hill, between town and the hospital, several lights are missing.

Divine services will be conducted in the Methodist Church on Sunday next at 10.30 a.m. and 7 p.m. The morning service will be conducted by Mr Harold Southam of Penticton, a candidate for the Methodist ministry. At the evening service the preacher will be Rev. H. G. Estabrook. A hearty invitation is extended to all.

Not only having booked a number of definite orders, but also having located several other prospective purchasers, Mr H. G. Estabrook expresses himself as being well satisfied with the results of the exhibition of his new Duplex Door in this district over last weekend. This constitutes the first step in placing the new invention on the market as a commercial venture. Mr Estabrook made a trip to Penticton this week in the same interests, and it is his expectation that the door will have an equally good reception in that town.

Vancouver papers lately announced an engagement that many Summerland people will be interested to learn of, particularly those who were at all acquainted with the student body at Okanagan College six or seven years ago. One clipping reads as follows: "The engagement is announced of Miss Nettie H. Wilson, daughter of Mr H. Wilson, Spruce Street, to Dr Wilbur S. Watson, also of Vancouver, the marriage to take place in April." Dr Watson, when attending the College here, was popular and very well thought of. He frequently occupied the pulpits of local churches very acceptably.

In the conduct of St Andrew's Society social gatherings, to which members with their wives, families and friends are bidden from time to time, the method of drawing up a formal, set program has given way to a completely informal method of procedure. One of those gatherings was held on Friday evening last in the Campbell Hall, and between fifty and sixty people, adults and children, enjoyed a most hearty and thorough Scotch social time. Music was the chief means of providing entertainment, interspersing those items being dances, various games and card playing.

J. G. Robertson, the society's president, acted as chairman throughout the evening, and during the course of the social himself provided a most acceptable recitation in the broadest dialect one must think that the land o' heather can show. Others contributing to the program were: Mrs J. D. Wood, Messrs G. Marshall, Alex. and J. O. Smith, and Master Fraser Lister. The accompaniments were provided by Miss M. Lister. Selections on T. Blaikie's gramophone also added pleasant variety. Refreshments were partaken of towards the close of the evening and heartily appreciated, with plentiful helpings of social intercourse. A feature of the refreshments was the generous samples of Scotch shortbread made by Mr R. Pollock, son. It was close upon midnight when the company dispersed.

Mr Grant Hall, C.P.R. Vice-President, on a tour of inspection, confirmed recently at the Coast in an interview the statement published in the Review recently, that daily traffic will be inaugurated over the Kettle Valley line via Hope on June 4, giving a 27-hour service between Nelson and the Coast, and providing direct route to the Interior. It is the purpose of the C.P.R. to place the Kettle Valley line on a par with the main line of the system in the matter of rolling stock and equipment, by placing the regulation standard cars on all its trains.

That's what a merchant said the other day about his advertising. He said that trade was falling off and that he would have to economize.

ADVERTISING

is to stimulate business, but evidently Friend Merchant has it figured out that when times are good and folks have plenty of money to spend, he will demonstrate the advantage of spending it with him. But in dull times he will let the other fellow have the business.

It is a Fact

that advertising pays better when times are dull. It is the open season for bargain hunters, and the merchant who has nothing to offer the economical buyer is the first to suffer. The time to advertise is all the time and you can LEAST AFFORD to quit when you need the business most.

"The Minister's Bride."

For an evening of genuine humor and entertainment all roads should lead to the College Gymnasium next Monday evening. On that date the Ladies' Aid of St Andrew's Church, assisted by a few men of the church and some of the young people, are presenting the bright little character sketch named above. The occasion is the entertainment in connection with the anniversary of the church, which is being commemorated this weekend.

Many will recall "The Ladies' Aid Meeting at the Mohawk Cross Roads," which was presented by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church two or three winters ago. "The Minister's Bride" is of the same type, presenting many laughable situations. With the picturesqueness that the old time costumes promise, this latest piece should be no less successful than its predecessor.

The characters it presents are as follows: The Minister and his Bride; Mr and Mrs Joe Crabb, a meek, retiring husband, somewhat henpecked, and a strong minded woman; Mrs Betterdays, Mrs Sharpe, Mrs Charity, Mrs Seegood, women of the Minister's congregation, whose names are very expressive of their respective attributes; Jim Curtis, a very reluctant bridegroom; Miranda Meek, who is not just altogether what her name says; Molly Charity, Miss Jones and Janet Heather, young ladies who contribute no little interest to the piece; Mrs Black, who formerly boarded the Minister; Mr Amos Right, a knowing young man fashionably dressed and much given to learning; Ephraim Snelgrove, a very bashful and awkward young man; and other young people.

Scene I. of the play shows the good women of the congregation preparing the Minister's parlor for the arrival of him and the bride of his choice. The taste they display seems to be somewhat peculiar, to say the least, and Scene II. shows how the Minister's Bride, having duly arrived, unwittingly treads on the susceptibilities of some of the good women by seeking to arrange things a little more to her liking. The newly married couple are also seen receiving many visitors from among their flock. Scene III introduces among others the reluctant bridegroom and his would-be bride, and several ludicrous situations arise creating endless merriment. The final scene shows a number of young people gathered at the Minister's house, and during the scene a program of music and recitations is introduced in the form of an impromptu concert.

An advertisement on page 2 gives full announcement of the entertainment. The popular admission price of 25 cents should be something of an attraction in these hard times, and should also be the means of filling the hall.

We received another reminder on Tuesday morning that Peachland is still doing her bit in this World's Great War. Mr Bryson Whyte and Mr Wm. Sanderson left for Ottawa where they intend joining the 207th Sportsman's Battalion. This is one of the premier regiments now being formed in Canada. Already it boasts of one Peachland boy, Mr John Santon, formerly of the 6th Field Co. Engineers. Both young men were very popular in the district and carry the best wishes of the whole community with them.

Mrs Jas. Miller gave a progressive Bridge Party at her home on Thursday evening of last week. A small admission of 25 cents was charged for the evening's entertainment. This was given to the Ambulance League. Mrs W. A. Lang carried off the honors for ladies in the contest, Mr Nuttal capturing the men's first. Mr Alex. Miller was the winner of the consolation prize. The Ambulance League has an additional seven dollars and fifty cents at its disposal as a result of the evening's enjoyment. The evening was brought to a close with a couple of hours spent in dancing.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute for March was held in the Sunday School room of the Baptist Church. It was a very profitable meeting in several ways, one of which was the good attendance. This was gratifying from the fact that the Institute allows one director for every ten paid-up members. The local branch have only had three directors since the first year, and from the large increase of members are now entitled to five.

FRUIT UNION DIRECTORS RETURNED TO OFFICE.

where melons are specialized in 40 per cent are left on the vines. The Hoodoo is perfectly satisfactory, both for size and quality.

Much is yet to be learned in the proper handling and marketing of early vegetables. The Central was placing this stuff direct with the retail trade. He suggested that each local have certain days for the gathering of vegetables, so that they could be gotten together in volume and moved off at once. The drum package is being considered for corn. A special package holding a piece of ice in the bottom is used by United States shippers for green vegetables.

Mr Jackson said when he assumed the management of the Central last spring he found that his predecessor had established a completely organized institution, one on which he could not improve. Replying to a question from Mr J. McLean, Mr Jackson said he used to think the growers could cut loose from the wholesalers and establish their own warehouses, but now he had given up that idea. The 60 wholesale houses on the prairies have 480 salesmen in the field. The Growers could never get such a service independently of the wholesalers, and besides they were only in the market for a part of each year. The method of selling mixed cars of fruit, direct to retailers in small towns, made it possible to get away from United States competition. Three-fifths of the output of the Okanagan United Growers had been marketed last year through their own salesmen.

Mr Jackson urged that it would be a serious mistake to "go out of peaches." Last year the price averaged 60 cents, and there would be an increasing demand at good prices for the mixed car trade. He encouraged the growing of more apricots, particularly No. 1's.

To Mr Wright's question re corn, Mr Jackson replied favoring Country Gentleman, though rather late, and Early Malcolm in preference to Golden Bantam, which it resembled. The yellow color of the latter led buyers to think it was overripe.

Touching upon the desire of some of the Naramata members to form a separate Union, Mr Jackson said they would have to count on a higher cost for packing and shipping.

After the noon recess more questions were put to Mr Jackson. He told of a big reduction to be made in the Central charge for marketing apples from 14.2 cents as in 1915 to a straight package charge of 9 1/2 cents. This, with the proposed local charge of 8 1/2 cents will make a total package cost of 41 cents on apples.

(It is said at the Union that this local charge may be further reduced next season.—Ed.)

Mr Jackson, when further questioned, did not give much hope of better prices for apples, but expected to be able to make better returns for soft fruits.

Central is preparing to handle eggs, and will probably be ready to market these in a few days. He insisted that they must be given a steady supply.

There has been in the past a sacrifice in the keeping qualities of the red varieties of apples for the sake of color. The red apple will sell irrespective of quality. The Gano was now bringing within a few cents of the price obtained for Yellow Newtowns at Vancouver. Chinamen are the chief buyers of the latter and Germany has been the principle market. Winter Bananas are almost unobtainable. A market will have to be developed for these. Central is considering a 10 pound box for fancy trade in this variety.

Regulations for grading in 1916 will be more strict. A man who brings in choice stuff should have a special pool. Mr Jackson predicts more thorough organization along marketing lines; as yet they have only been a collection of growers. He suggested a charge of 30 cents per hour for handling culls in excess of a certain percentage.

A number of nominees were on the board for the vacancies. The count of the ballots showed that Mrs R. J. Hogg and Mrs R. Harrington were the successful candidates. During the discussion it was moved and carried that the Institute install a First Aid box in the school building for the use of the High and Public Schools; also that the regular meeting day be changed from the second Tuesday of the month to the second Friday. Members will kindly bear this change in mind. As part of the afternoon's program, Mrs O. Kenting gave an interesting and instructive lesson on cutting and fitting. Some of the school girls sang "O, Canada," which was greatly appreciated.

In closing, the speaker promised the growers his best efforts for 1916.

A sum of $200 was appropriated for local executive work by motion of Messrs Caldwell and Hespeler, an amendment making the sum $400, proposed by Messrs J. McLean and R. W. Nelson, having been lost by a small margin.

Replying to a complaint of prices posted during the shipping season President White said this subject had been giving Central considerable concern, the inaccuracy of the figures being admitted. They represented actual sales but were subject to pool averages, rebates, etc. For the coming season it was proposed to post daily the quantities sold, and the price, the amount consigned to Okanagan United Growers agents, and the amount shipped in general consignment.

The recommendation of the board that a simpler statement be given shippers, showing only net returns, was adopted, as was also the proposed change from the percentage basis for deductions to a straight per package charge.

Something of the work being done by the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association was told by Mr R. V. Agur, and on motion of Messrs Agur and H. Sutherland the Fruit Union members instructed their board to have every member made a member of the association. It was stated that the Union will thus add 163 members to the association.

During the distributing of the ballots for election of directors a venomous and insinuating attack was made on President White by Mr Hespeler who demanded that he withdraw his name from the list.

A motion of thanks to the retiring directors, proposed by Mr J. McLean, seconded by Mr Zimmerman, was carried with applause, as was also the motion of Messrs Watson and Mellor conveying thanks to the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary for the splendid luncheon served. Auditors Crehan, Martin & Co., were reappointed. The seven candidates for the directorate receiving the most votes were reported as follows: G. J. C. White, H. C. Mellor, C. N. Higgin, R. V. Agur, E. R. Simpson, J. H. Pushman, and Wm. Ritchie.

Summerland, B.C. March 29th, 1916.

The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir, I notice in the columns of the Review of March 24th that there has been some criticism about the way I am managing the electric light plant. Personally, I have not heard a word direct from the offended parties, and only hearsay from indirect sources, including the Review.

As manager I have the right to employ whom I consider fit and reliable to assist me in operating the plant, without reference to the Council, as that privilege was given to me in open Council when I proposed to run a twenty-four hour service.

Now, up to the present, as stated, Mr Lee Hatfield has been the day operator, and I may say that that position is as important a shift as either of the night shifts, if anything, more so, as the load is constantly fluctuating rapidly, thereby causing wide fluctuations in voltage and needs constant attention.

I here take the opportunity to say that I was well pleased with Mr Hatfield's services, and he always attended to his work in a very conscientious manner, and I was sorry to have to part with him; but his move was to better his position, and I did not stand in his way as regards time.

It takes time to get acquainted with the capabilities of young men, and, as I knew of one who could fill the position pro tem, and do what I wanted him to do without a lot of constant watching, I lost no time in engaging his services in order that the efficiency of the service might not be impaired.

My interest is in operating the plant in as serviceable a manner as possible in order to give the public the best possible electric service, and courteous treatment, and to this end I engaged my assistant, Mr Sherman Cox of Kelowna, B.C., who had previously worked for me.

Yours truly, CLAUD H. JAMES, Manager Summerland Municipal Electric Light Plant.
