J. W. Jones, M.L.A., Is Not Satisfied With Water Act

South Okanagan's Member would Bring About Government Ownership at once.

Victoria.—“You cannot indefinitely pile bricks upon the settler's back and expect him to continue carrying the load,” said Mr J. W. Jones of South Okanagan in offering some criticism of the new Irrigation Bill in the House. The member pointed out that there were four classes to be considered in government legislation, and apparently none of them had been taken into account. They were the company shareholders, company bondholders, the water users, and the private investors who had loaned money on orchard mortgages.

Mr Jones said he was glad to know that Hon. Mr. Patullo proposed to tour the dry belt district during the coming summer. As a result it was to be hoped that the government would go ahead with its plank of government ownership of public utilities. The speaker detailed the history of progress in irrigation in the Okanagan, explaining that nearly three million dollars had been invested in the systems, some of which contained from thirty to forty miles of waterways. Since 1907, as a result of their establishment, remarkable progress had been made in the Valley, and shipments had risen from a few dozen cars to thousands of carloads of fruit and vegetables.

The position of the irrigation companies had been excellent until the arrival of the dull times accompanying the war outbreak. Then water revenues fell behind, land sales ceased, bond floatations were dropped, and some of the companies lost their sinking funds, which had been invested with concerns that crashed.

PRESENT POSITION.

At the present time, of the seventeen water systems in the Okanagan Valley, two were municipally owned, five were mutually owned by the land-holders, three of which were in difficulties; one was a water company and was in trouble, and nine were water and land companies combined. Of these latter five were in difficulty.

Mr Jones declared that the new bill imperilled the shareholders, bondholders and water-users. It meant that if the government guaranteed or loaned any money for repair purposes it took a first mortgage on private lands, served by the systems which was unfair to the landowners and the mortgage investors already holding charges. It also took first charge on the revenues of the company. In the clause providing for the confiscation of company systems there was apparently no protection for either bondholders or shareholders. Those people had invested money in an industry designed to increase production and should be given consideration. Government ownership was the only solution he thought. Under the proposed bill the position of the landholder served by a system in poor condition and requiring heavy expenditures would become unbearable.

“Who will bear the cost of repairs if the landowner does not pay?” asked Hon. Mr. Patullo.

“That is why I urge government ownership.”

“Who will pay for government ownership?” returned the minister. “I will be prepared to discuss

Will Erect New Office Building.

Bank of Montreal so Decides. Site Near Campbell Block.

The Bank of Montreal will commence at an early date the excavating preliminary to the erection of an office building on Lots 1 and 2 in Block 59 in the West Summerland sub-division. Information of the decision to erect its own office building, rather than lease premises, was received to-day by the local manager, Mr E. B. May, from the Inspector of B.C. Branches of the Bank of Montreal.

Plans are now being drawn by an architect in Montreal, and the intention is that operations will be commenced as soon as the necessary details are completed.

The site of the new bank building is the two lots on the corner just east of A. B. Elliott's store in the Campbell block, there being two 25 ft. lots between the latter and the new bank property. The lots were purchased from J. C. Wilson.

That the building will be of brick veneer and designed in the usual architectural style used in all the office buildings of this institution is the opinion formed by Mr May from the preliminary designs submitted. The building will be much like that of the Bank of Montreal office at Pictou, but with wider front.

A Business Change.

A transfer of business that has been under negotiation for some weeks was completed last week-end when the meat market operated for the past year or more by Coun. J. R. Campbell, was purchased by C. E. Rennie, who has been in charge of the store for eleven months.

As announced in his advertisement, Mr Rennie will devote his whole time to the retail business, and will keep the store open during the usual shopping hours.

According to the recent statement of Hon. Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, the total vote for war measures for the past year was $10,050,000,000, and since the war began, $18,960,000,000.

that question with you when you bring in a government ownership proposal,” said Mr Jones.

LIST OF EVIL RESULTS.

He went on to say that in several cases complete repairs were necessary and storage reservoirs would have to be provided. The burden was too heavy for the companies at the present time, owing to conditions over which they had no control; and the load was also too great for the landholders, many of whom were not obtaining adequate returns as yet. He prophesied that the bill would crush the companies, provide nothing for reconstruction, stop private enterprise in the development of dry belt areas, eliminate the chances of the companies selling bonds, indicate that obligations to bondholders were not being dealt with in an honorable way, thus hurting future bond sales of other provincial interests, municipal and otherwise, put in a secondary place the present land mortgages held by investors, add additional charges upon the lands of water users without their consent, force the water companies to increase their rates and fail to provide any adequate means for rate collection.

Dr K. C. McDonald of Vernon moved the adjournment of the debate.

Road Repairs Greatly Needed

Board of Trade Members will Again Give Assistance.

Better Lighting Is Still Live Subject.

Will Ask Council to Install Street Lights and Help With Sign Posts.

Good roads, better lighted streets, direction and danger signs, and the policy of our provincial and municipal governments towards municipal roads were discussed at some length at a well attended meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening at Hotel Summerland.

One outcome of the talk on roads was the offer of volunteer work for improving the Doherty hill at the upper end of Prairie Valley. This road, leading, as it does, to points outside the municipality, it was pointed out by R. V. Agur, has been considered in the past a trunk road, and as such has been kept up by the province. Several car owners present, and also Mr Wheeler of the Summerland Lumber Company, told of the impassable condition of the Doherty hill, and Mr Wheeler offered to send a team for two days to help repair it. Messrs. English and Agur also offered similar assistance for a day each, provided the Municipality gave aid and took charge of the work. A committee, including the two councillors present, Couns. Johnston and English, were named to go further into the matter with the Council.

Councillor Johnston told the Board that all the time that the team could be spared from the hauling of lumber to build flumes was being put on the roads. The present shortage of funds prevented the Council doing much needed road work now, just when the most could be accomplished. He said the Council would gladly co-operate in any work undertaken by volunteers.

A letter from Mun. Clerk Logie was read in which he stated that the Council could not accede to the request of the board that some nine lights be put at places considered dangerous for night driving, as all the spare power would be needed to supply current for the proposed extensions to the domestic service. This reason was not very well received, the president stating that had the council pleaded shortage of funds it would have been better received, and could have been met in part by private assistance with the labor, etc. He had been advised that the current needed for those few extra street lights would be a small matter, and, in fact, could be nearly made up by shutting off the lights in the bandstand.

That the citizens should first be protected before private houses are supplied was the opinion of S. M. Young.

Mr Agur also favored the proper lighting of the streets first. This, he said, would enable those who have no prospects of current to their homes to enjoy some of the privileges of the municipal plant.

G. A. MacLaine, W. H. Haynes, and R. E. White were named a committee to get further information on the subject and put it before the council.

The subject of erecting posts at forks and corners of our roads, and danger signs at inconvenient positions approaching dangerous turns, or other places where caution is advisable had been discussed at previous meetings. (Continued on Page 2.)

Not Enough Dairy Cows

Incomplete Data Leads to This Conclusion.

Creamery and Jam Factory Discussed.

Well Attended Meeting of Board of Trade Consider a Number of Live Subjects.

Prospects for the early establishment here of a creamery and for the reopening of the jam factory were two of the topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening at Hotel Summerland.

Considerable data had been received as to the number of cows in the district, and quite a few ranchers gave assurance that they would keep from two to ten milkers if a creamery were established. Superintendent Helmer of the Experimental Station had gathered together much valuable information on the cost of a suitable plant, and of the cost of operating a creamery. It was very apparent that there is keen interest in the movement, and that many of the ranchers are anxious to have a creamery in operation here. That there are not yet enough cows in the district was the conclusion reached, though there was not sufficient information to indicate what increase might reasonably be expected within the next year or so with the young stock now coming in.

That it is now too late to obtain the services of a good process man was the opinion of one wholesale creamery concern which had been asked to operate the jam factory. Wagstaff, Ltd., a large eastern concern which buys a quantity of our apricots, and is now considering operating at Creston, will be communicated with.

Among the correspondence read was a letter from Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, replying to a request that the lakeshore road from Trout Creek to Crescent Beach be repaired. He stated the government had no funds for this work, and inclined to the opinion that as it is within the municipal limits the road should be kept up by the municipality. However, he said, that the policy of giving assistance in such cases was being considered.

The secretary reported receiving a number of inquiries for literature descriptive of the district, and regretted he had no suitable matter to hand out. F. D. Cooper and Postmaster Hayes made similar reports. With the material assistance of W. C. Kelley and R. H. Helmer the special committee appointed for the purpose had compiled considerable information in a report to be used in support of Summerland's claim to be the logical place as the site for the up-country Agricultural College. Another committee will take this information and arrange it preparatory to getting out a descriptive folder for distribution.

Daylight saving was again endorsed, although some opposition developed. The Council will be asked to bring about the change to be put into effect from April 15th to October 1st.

A membership committee was appointed. Last year there was a membership of about an even 100, and it is desired to increase the membership to 125 in 1917. Messrs O. F. Zimmerman, G. L. McWilliams, and J. Tait are the membership committee.

The Union Bank is closing its branch in Vernon.

Car Turns Over On Passengers.

Miraculous Escape when Auto Rolls off Roadside.

Five passengers of a touring car homeward bound late on Saturday night had a most unpleasant accident and a miraculous escape from death or serious injuries. The car was the new one purchased by T. B. Young, and was being driven by him up the hill past T. J. Garnett's, and with him was his wife, his parents, and Miss Isabel Stewart. He had almost reached the summit on “intermediate” when, finding that the car would not make the grade he threw out the clutch and attempted to apply the brake, while throwing the engine into low gear. The brake failed, and immediately the car began to roll back down the hill. In the dilemma, Mr Young says, he made other attempts to hold the car, but it quickly left the road and turned completely over, pinning his wife and mother, who had been sitting in the car rear seat, beneath the car where they were held till, by a supreme exertion of strength, Mr Young lifted one side of the car high enough to let them out. Not one of the five received any injuries worth speaking of. Mr Young explains the accident by stating that the pedal of the foot brake had not been properly adjusted and brought up on the floor of the car every time he attempted to depress it. The wind shield, the steering gear and mud guards were considerably damaged.

Escapes New Pruning Knife.

Appropriation For Agriculture Will Stand.

One governmental department which will probably not feel the effects of the provincial executive's pruning knife in the course of its economical budget provisions is that of agriculture. It has been conceded that on account of the size of this province, and the extensive scope of the technical and educational work undertaken, that the approximate $100,000 annual cost of this department (including the salaries, travelling expenses, etc., of some 25 expert officials) is not excessive, especially by comparison with some other departments which run into an annual cost of millions.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture is regarded as one of the most economically operated in the entire Dominion, and while expense estimates of other departments are known to have been subjected to some extensive cuts in preparation for the budget, it is believed that the work of agriculture will not be curtailed by any lessening of the annual apportionment. In addition to the $100,000 annual cost to the province, the department receives an additional federal grant of about $45,000, but to offset this is the fact that several salaries are carried by the department under the federal grant.

Advocate Change In the Basis for Representation

Local Unions' Control of Central Based on Tonnage. Value Basis Urged.

What is the most equitable form of representation for the locals on the Central Board of Directors? Shall it be one director for each local? This is claimed by some to be the only method of carrying out the true principles of co-operation. Or shall representation be according to the tonnage handled by Central for the various locals? This is in accordance with the original arrangement, but does not meet with general favor. Still another plan, and one that has a number of supporters, is that representation should be according to the value of the output of each local. As at present a ton of hay commands as much power in the management of the Okanagan United Growers as does a ton of cherries.

Mr E. R. Simpson, President of the Summerland Fruit Union, and one of the shareholders in the Central, strongly favors the plan of representation according to the value of the output of each local. The following figures, showing the value of the crop handled by the Central last season for each local union, was kindly furnished the Review by Mr Simpson. The number of shareholders in the Okanagan United Growers and number of directors to which each local is entitled are also shown:

	Shareholders	Directors
Vernon	$273,760.45	6 2
Kelowna	166,245.32	6 2
Summerland	74,095.19	3 1
Penticton	56,216.48	2 1
Peachland	31,129.92	1 1
Armstrong	28,478.63	6 2
Salmon Arm	22,211.71	2 1
Enderby	6,846.98	1 1
Tappan	4,236.95	1 1

The vexed question was discussed at considerable length by the shareholders at their recent annual meeting, and was finally left to a committee of the full board to bring in a report on the subject. It was pointed out by Mr McDowell, who proposed that the Okanagan United Growers seek Dominion charter, that under such charter the number of directors would be limited to fifteen. It will be seen that with any great extension of the organization some of the smaller or the contiguous locals would need to unite on a director.

At the first meeting of the new Central Directors, F. W. Rolt advocated the placing of the auditor's report and the financial statement in the hands of all contract holders not less than fourteen days before the annual general meeting of the shareholders. His motion to this effect was adopted.

when Mr Hale noticed a roaring sound which he attributed to the draft of the stove, and was shutting this off when he discovered a spark on the ceiling. The noise quickly increased. Going outside he was shocked to find the roof and all the upper part of the house ablaze, and when he returned to the living room it too was on fire, and there was only time enough to save two or three articles.

It is believed the fire started from a spark on the roof, and must have been well under way when Mr Smith was walking on his way home.

Fortunately for the sufferers the loss is partly covered by insurance, Mr Hale having put on insurance last fall when he tried to enlist a thousand dollars on the house and four hundred on the contents.

THE WAR—THE CHURCHES—THE KINGDOM.

THE WAR IS DOING in a few years more than the same number of centuries might have failed to accomplish had the world continued under pre-bellum conditions. The dreams of many social leaders are being speedily realized. One has only to cite the almost bloodless revolution in Russia, and England's promise to grant the franchise to women to show the rapidity with which these things are now being brought to pass.

In the world of thought, religious and spiritual, changes are now equally rapid. Just recall, if you can, how the following would have been received by your good old orthodox father or grandfather of but a few years ago. Thus writes an army chaplain:

"We fellows know no denominationalism in the army. We worship together, pray together, commune together, and no questions are asked. The brotherhood of the army is a wonderful thing. And the men at heart are essentially religious. But how little the churches seem to understand them! Here are thousands of men, rough on the exterior, many of them, yet with a profound reverence for our Lord; approachable, self-sacrificing even to life itself for a comrade in distress, unselfish to the dividing of their last shilling, manly and brave in the defense of everything that we as a nation hold dear. And yet, oh the pity of it! The churches have but little place for them because they fail to subscribe to certain hidebound theological tenets. When will we wake up to the fact that it was not a church that our Lord came to establish, but a Kingdom, and in that Kingdom I am not sure that He meant that we must pronounce the same 'Shibboleth.' I cannot write you all that is in my heart about this, but the churches back home should be made to realize that the 300,000 or 400,000 Canadian men who will return to Canada after this awful struggle is over will shape the destiny of the nation and of the churches for weal or woe for generations to come. . . . The churches must have leaders, leaders who are in touch with men as well as with God; leaders who are not slaves of mechanical organizations, of traditions or ruts, or fearful of enterprise in new departures. Men who are in touch with their times; who have caught the Christ vision of humanity at large; who are not afraid to do their own thinking, and to phrase their thinking in their own words."

Are our churches as at present constituted going to measure up to the task that is before them? Conditions can never be the same as before the war. Will our churches throw off the non-essentials and elevate the one great reason for their existence. The leaven is at work. It is essential that it work quickly, else there is danger of the whole being discarded or so discredited that another reformation will be necessary to reinstate the church—"the Kingdom"—in the minds, hearts and souls of thinking people.

PERPETUAL DAYLIGHT SAVING.

FROM THE LIVELY REPORT which has just been issued by the Committee on Daylight Saving we learn that it recommends the adoption of daylight saving in perpetuity, but with some slight changes as compared with last year. The alteration in time is to come into force earlier and to cease earlier. The earlier the better, and we hope that the necessary act will be passed at once. The only casualties last year from the adoption of this great reform were among striking clocks, whose owners, when the country returned to Greenwich time, in Hun fashion, forgot that neither machines nor man can be made to progress backward without injury.

So greatly did the gain of daylight recommend itself that it was adopted by all the states of western Europe and by Italy and Portugal. Even the Hun introduced this conventional form of time, thus doing homage to a purely British idea. The people who used to say, nine years ago, that daylight saving was one of those things which can't be done would do well to study the chorus of praise which is embodied in this report. It is the fullest possible justification of one of our numerous campaigns in the remote ages before the war.—Daily Mail.

A SUGGESTION MADE to the municipal committee of the provincial house that municipalities be empowered to borrow on lands which had been bought in at tax sales has met with the approval of that committee, and is likely to be embodied in a bill amending the municipal act. Now, while unpaid taxes may be put up as security for loans, there is no power to so hypothecate these lands.

Makes Appeal For Co-Operation

The following is a verbatim report of an address given by Mr William Dryden at the annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union, in which the speaker emphasized a number of reasons for co-operative selling of Peachland's fruit crop.

Mr Chairman and Shareholders:

Might I have the privilege of saying a few words on the question so vital to every one present, that of getting the best possible price to the grower for his fruit.

The condition of the fruit marketing in this Valley prior to the inauguration of the co-operative movement is ancient history, not very palatable to the growers.

Conditions since then have vastly improved, if we except the disastrous year 1914. The outbreak of the war in that year tied up the export trade of the East with the Old Country, consequently the Eastern crop was placed on the Western markets causing a complete disorganization throughout the whole of the markets chiefly supplied from British Columbia.

I say if we accept that bad year, conditions have been better for the fruit grower in this province than they ever were before.

The private shipping concerns have been forced to pay better prices to the growers, so that those who do not ship through a local union receive to a great extent the benefit of the co-operative organization.

The co-operative organization labor under the disadvantage of having to make public their returns, while on the other hand private concerns and individuals do not do so, making it difficult to get reliable information in regard to actual returns.

This is the time for the growers to discuss matters pertaining to the management of their business, and I feel sure the directors will welcome all kinds of suggestions and criticism for the betterment of the growers. Good healthy criticism is helpful in many ways, and nothing but good can accrue from it, provided it is done in the right spirit.

Misrepresented statements, innuendo, malice and selfish motives will never accomplish anything but harm. I personally would like to see this community united with the one object in view, that of working for the benefit of all.

This cannot be accomplished without some sacrifice by the individual, chiefly the setting aside of self, which is sometimes a very hard task. The question of the exorbitant charges for the packing, handling, and selling of fruit have been freely discussed prior to this meeting, in fact one grower made the statement to myself that the charges amounted to 40 per cent. I asked this grower if he had included the 3 per cent retained for the reserve fund in the 40 per cent, and he said he had. This of course is wrong, the amount retained is repaid at the end of three years with interest at the rate of 4 per cent, added thereto, therefore the 3 per cent, must be deducted from the 40 per cent, leaving the total cost at 37 per cent.

Compare this with a grower who packs his own fruit and sells it through a private concern. The box, paper, nails have to be bought, the apples packed and made ready for shipment. The cost to the grower will be, at the very least, 25 cents per box, and the grower's time for nailing up thrown in. No commission house will handle such fruit under a 10 per cent basis, some 15 per cent. Take the 10 per cent, house, and add the packing of 25 cents, this will give 35 per cent on a one dollar a box f.o.b.

Therefore we have, allowing the grower to throw in part of his time nailing up, a difference of 2 per cent on a price of one dollar a box.

The co-operator has the benefit of receiving a larger sum for the better varieties of apples that is not usual in selling to the general run of private buyers.

I would suggest to the directors that if any grower wishes to pack his crop at home, that he be allowed to do so, and earn for himself the amount charged for packing, etc.

By providing the grower with a number to stamp on his boxes any claim made on his fruit through bad packing or inferior fruit could be traced and he held responsible.

I feel sure that should this concession be made to the growers, they would not be found wanting in integrity in keeping up the present high standard of British Col-

Preparing For The Fall Fair.

For the purpose of revising the prize list a special committee was appointed by the Agricultural Association some little time ago. That committee, which is as follows: R. H. Helmer, C. Craig, H. Bristow, R. C. Lipsett, and W. M. Wright, met last week and completed a part of their work, that part of the list pertaining to live stock. Another meeting will be held shortly to further the work.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture recently prepared a model prize list for the guidance of the various local exhibition societies, and this is being followed this year, varying it to meet local conditions.

The Agricultural Association have proposed to the Women's Institutes that they join with them in holding a combined exhibition. There is every likelihood that this plan will be adopted.

vious meetings of the board. Another step towards attainment was made on Tuesday night. B. L. Hatfield, of the Summerland Garage, has promised to put up two or three signs on the outskirts of the district, and Postmaster Hayes will put a sign on the Post Office upon condition that the other signs are erected. A committee, Messrs MacLaine, Hatfield, and Solly, were named to wait on the council and request assistance.

Onions are a grand specific for the complexion. They should be boiled whole in milk—drink the latter—or steamed, and eaten with bread and butter and cheese. Then they make a satisfying and nutritious meal, on which you can do brain work or manual labor. Try onions! The taste and after-smell? A mouthful of hot coffee takes away both.

umbia fruit. I speak from an unbiased standpoint, and personally wish to see the grower get the best possible price for his crop, but the grower must not forget that he has a duty to perform by co-operating one with the other for the benefit of all.

Increased tonnage means less charges, and less charges mean more money to the grower.

The growers have had an opportunity placed before them in reference to the possibility of having the Cannery in operation this year, provided they rise to the occasion and provide the crop required.

Mr Leeson said he was prepared to also include an evaporating plant in order that the cannery could be operated during the greater part of the year.

This concern is backed by a sound financial house who are prepared to pay cash on delivery should the growers wish settlement along these lines.

This proposition is worthy of the very best consideration of not only the growers of the district but of every responsible person in the place. Let us as a community rise to the occasion, and in the words of the poet Milton,

"Accuse not Nature; she hath done her part, Do thou but thine."

"The Country Doctor"

The announcement that the St Andrew's Ladies' Aid are planning to present another of their laughable plays on the evening of Easter Monday, will bring to mind the success which attended their previous efforts in this particular line. Last year "The Minister's Bride" was presented, and before that there was the "Meeting of the Old Time Ladies' Aid at the Mohawk Cross Roads," both of which proved huge successes. "The Country Doctor" to which the ladies are now giving the final rehearsals is by the same author as the two other plays mentioned above, and of the same bright nature. There are a dozen or so characters, and the complicated situations they enter into give rise to no end of merriment. The drift of the play concerns the experiences of a young doctor who establishes himself in a country town. Before long he finds himself captivated by the daughter of his landlady. Incidentally he cuts in on the attentions which a budding young lawyer is paying to the same young lady, and before the medical man wins his bride a wondrous maze of humorous developments transpire.

The play is being presented in the College Gymnasium on Easter Monday evening, April 9th, as announced in the advertising columns of this issue. The admission price has been placed very low, and it is not unreasonable to expect that there will be a big crowd on hand when the curtain goes up. The Ladies' Aid surely deserve a little commendation for the practice which they are seemingly following in making the presentation of a play of this nature an annual event.

Only the survivor really believes in the survival of the fittest.

Orchard and Farm: Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

To Grow Potatoes

Practical Hints by the Editor of "THE SMALLHOLDER."

Wise gardeners when they start growing potatoes turn their land over in the autumn and winter, and give the frost and air a chance to make the ground wholesome and sweet. They give the land opportunity to absorb sun heat, and, if they have a choice they select for their particular potato patch a nice sandy loam, although, of course, potatoes will grow in almost any soil, even clay. They break up the ground two feet deep if possible, smashing lumps, and producing as fine a tilth as they can, but they always take care to avoid bringing a poor sub-soil to the surface.

DOES IT REQUIRE LIME?

If the soil is too heavy they add road grit, burnt garden refuse, and decayed garden rubbish, so as to make it lighter; and if the land is otherwise poor, they also, early in the year, use liberal doses of farm-yard manure. Before they plant their potatoes they also take care to find out if lime be required. That is very easily ascertained by a simple chemical experiment. They fill a wine glass, or a cup, with the soil, add to it a little weak spirits of salts—that is hydrochloric acid—consisting of two parts water and one part acid. If there be effervescence, they know that the soil contains a sufficiency of lime if not they see that the soil is deficient, and take steps to lime it.

There is a very simple reason why they insist on deep cultivation for potatoes. All experts agree that this induces deep rooting, and that it enables more water to pass down freely in wet seasons than shallow dug land could possibly do. The roots find the manure below, and the sub-soil becomes greatly improved. They never lose sight of the fact that the potato came originally from Peru, and that it revels in heat, light (which produces starch), and air, but above all, demands moisture.

SEED POTATOES.

Practically every gardener just now is not only doing his best with his potato plot, but is putting his seed potatoes out in shallow trays in a light, cool place, safe from the frost, so that they may sprout. He knows that the ideal seed potato weighs 2 oz. or 3 oz.—in other words, is about as big as a hen's egg. If however, he finds some large tubers are included in his consignment of seed he cuts them in two, but takes care to leave each piece with two sprouts. If there are more than four eyes he rubs off all the weak ones, leaving not more than four.

THREE PLANTINGS.

Nowadays every gardener should make three plantings of potatoes—one early in March for a very early crop, another at the end of March for a mid-season crop, and a third the second week in April for a main or storing crop.

The advantages of splitting the planting season up in this way are many. In the first place, early crops are more valuable. In the second they occupy the land only a very short time, and the ground becomes again valuable for other crops. Nevertheless it must be recollected that to grow really good early potatoes the soil cannot be too rich or too well aerated or sweetened by exposure to the air, and the crops throughout must be carefully tended.

There are three popular methods of planting potatoes—with a dibber, in a drill, or by cutting out sections of the plot 3 in. to 5 in. deep, 16 in. apart, and in rows 2 ft. 6 in. apart. This last method is held to be the best. The work, however, is not then finished, as many suppose, by ridging up and by keeping the ground free from weeds. In cold districts and seasons it is a wise plan to draw soil over the shoots as they appear.

Hints On Orchard Spraying

BY BEN HOY.

No one orchard operation pays better than spraying, but large sums of money are sometimes lost, both from spraying too much and not spraying enough. Some of the causes of loss are—

Not knowing what the spraying is for.

Not having a thorough understanding of the pest to be destroyed.

Spraying at the wrong time.

Spraying with the wrong mixtures or mixing sprays that do not combine with each other.

Discarding old sprays for new, untried mixtures.

Use of improper outfits, wrong kind of nozzles, etc.

Lack of thoroughness.

There is not any single spray or any one time of the year for spraying that will control all of our orchard insects and fungus diseases.

The kind of spray to use, the number of times to spray and the correct time to apply the spray is governed by the type, life history, and habits of the pest to be destroyed, and to some extent by the species of tree attacked and weather conditions.

Lime sulphur, arsenate of lead and forty per cent nicotine sulphate (black leaf 40) and soap are the chief sprays used in this district and will control practically all of the orchard insects and diseases existing here that can be controlled by spraying.

Lime sulphur is useful in controlling the following pests found here: scale insects, apple scab, pear leaf blister mite, peach leaf curl, peach twig borer (found in apricots, peaches and prunes), and red spider.

Arsenate of lead is useful in controlling bud moth, pear and cherry slug, codling moth and practically all other leaf eating caterpillars.

Forty per cent nicotine sulphate (black leaf 40), and soap is effective in the control of aphids and summer spraying for scale and other sucking insects.

MIXING SPRAYS.

It frequently happens that the time to spray for some sucking or biting insect coincides with that for a fungus disease. It is therefore possible by combining certain sprays to make one operation do the work of two or three. Lime sulphur, arsenate of lead and black leaf 40 will all mix readily without impairing the efficiency of either one. Soap must never be used in any spray containing lime sulphur.

TIME TO APPLY SPRAYS.

For scale insects, peach twig borer, pear leaf blister mite, apply lime sulphur testing 32 degrees Baume, 1 gallon of lime sulphur to 9 gallons of water just before the buds open.

For apple scab: First spray, lime and sulphur 1-30 when the blossom clusters have expanded and the blossoms are showing pink. Second spray, lime sulphur 1-35 just after the petals have fallen. Third spray, lime sulphur 1-35 two to three weeks later. If aphids are present black leaf 40, ½ pint to 100 gallons of water, the above mixture may be added. For insurance against codling moth add arsenate of lead 2 lbs to 40 gallons when putting on the second or calyx spray.

For peach leaf curl, lime sulphur 1-9 two weeks before the buds swell.

For red spider, lime sulphur 1-80 when the insects become numerous.

For bud moth, arsenate of lead 2 lbs to 40 gallons water just before the buds open.

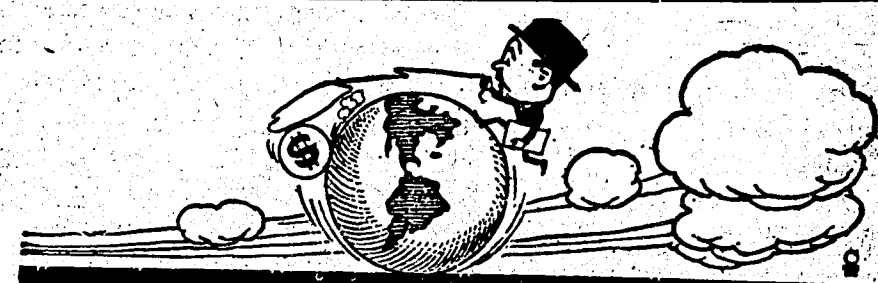

For codling moth, arsenate of lead 2 lbs. to 40 gallons water just after the petals fall.

For pear and cherry slug, arsenate of lead 1 lb. to 40 gallons of water when the insects first appear.

For aphides, black leaf 40, ½ pint and 4 to 5 lbs of soap to 100 gallons of water. When aphides first appear, usually with most species just as the buds are opening, is the most effective time to spray for them.

All sprays recommended above are well tried out, reliable sprays, but for good results high pressure must be used, and all parts of the trees thoroughly covered with the spray.

Anyone wishing further information about any of the above mentioned pests or any that are not mentioned, write your District Field Inspector or to the Horticultural Branch, Department of Agriculture, Kelowna.

Women's Institute Hold Successful Session.

The regular session of the local branch of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Unity Club parlors.

There was the usual sheaf of correspondence to handle, and the usual amount of business. Then followed the feature of the meeting, a good, sound, and thoroughly practical talk on "Poultry for Profit," by our well-known poultry man, John M. Schreck.

Mr Schreck showed how with a little care hens may be brought to lay at 5, 6, 7, and 8 months, when eggs are eggs. That is when nobody else can supply the market.

In concluding he made an offer to the ladies to cause to be hatched out in his incubator, young chicks which he will supply to the members of the Institute for the nominal sum of five cents each, limiting this to 15 chicks to any one person. Several of the ladies went home more determined than ever to have May chicks and December eggs.

Mr John McLean of Summerland was a visitor to town for a short time this week.

Mr J. M. Myers has the honor this year of turning the first sod. This occurred on Saturday at the fruit farm of Mr Fred Simpson.

Mr and Mrs Hunt, who have been looking after Rakadome ranch during the absence of the proprietor, Mr C. C. Atkins, will shortly return to their own ranch home at Glenmore near Kelowna.

An epidemic of la grippe appears to have hit upon Naramata citizens for its next batch of victims, to judge from the number of people at present laid up. Space and delicacy precludes the mentioning of names.

Friends of Harry J. Pitman will be pleased to learn that the report current here some weeks ago that the young soldier had lost an arm is not according to fact. He is still in hospital suffering from the effects of his wounds, and while it was feared that his arm might have to be amputated, it is now believed that recovery will be certain.

Mrs Panrucker and Mrs Mitchell of Alix, Alta., after several weeks stay in town took a trip out to the Coast this week, making New Westminster their permanent stopping place amongst friends of the latter. During their stay in Naramata the ladies were entertained at the home of Mrs Rayner. Before returning home it is likely that they will be back to Naramata for another short visit.

The formation of a local live stock association in order to introduce a pure bred stock of cattle, is one of the matters now engaging the attention of a number of citizens. It is hoped to secure the necessary signatures at an early date. The question is a community problem that should be solved at the earliest time, and this year would be a good year to make a start. Another community problem is that of the telephone. An effort should be made right away to get the telephone company to extend their system so as to serve a greater number. Manager Atkins of the Summerland Telephone Company was in town on Monday to attend to some pressing business in connection with the system.

Mrs Roe of Naramata, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs Hughes, and her granddaughter, Miss Noyes, came up on Friday to visit her sister, Mrs H. McDougall. They returned home on Monday.

The Philathea Class met in the reading room of the Presbyterian Church on Friday evening. After the routine business had been transacted light refreshments were served consisting of apples and peanuts.

Mrs Clarence visited Summerland on Saturday returning on Sunday.

Mr A. Town returned from the Coast on Monday where he went as a delegate from Peachland to the Prohibition Convention in Victoria. He reports that the convention was a great success, and that it is generally felt that something will be forthcoming from the legislature as result of the meetings. One of the by-products of the convention was the meeting of old friends. On the return trip from Victoria to Vancouver he discovered in one of the delegates an old friend from his native town in Ontario whom he had not met for thirty years.

Mr Nuttall was a passenger south on Monday night on his way to Seattle.

Mr Cousins returned home from Penhold, Alberta, on Monday night and expects to spend the season on his ranch at Trepanier.

Owing to ill health Miss Whitworth was obliged to go to her home in Sardis, B.C. on Monday, for a complete rest. Her many friends wish for her a speedy recovery and return to school. Miss Leone Morrison is supplying for her during her absence.

School Board Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the School Board was held on Monday in the board room of the school. Miss Whitworth was granted leave for this week as there is a suspicion that she might be contracting typhoid fever. In the meantime the Board secured Miss Morrison as a substitute.

The following committees for the year were appointed on Monday: Finance—Hogg and Houston; Management—Central School—Hogg, Williams, and Town; Management—Trepanier School—Drought and Houston; Grounds and Property Committee—Central School—Williams and Hogg; Grounds and Property Committee—Trepanier School—Houston and Drought. The Finance Committee was authorized in the usual way to make payments for the Board.

The Management Committee was authorized to get earth hauled and prepare the grounds for planting.

The following trees and plants are to be sent in from the government nurseries: 14 trees, including 6 box, 2 cedars, retinospora and golden feather cedar (plumosa aurea); 18 roses—6 climbing roses and 12 ordinary; 24 columbines, 12 campanula, 12 delphinium (hardy larkspur), 12 funnkia (day lily), 12 spiraea.

Accounts were passed to the amount of $504.40.

A thing of beauty is a joy for ever, until the cost of it leaks out.

Current Events OF Town & District

To-morrow, being Good Friday, the school will be closed.

Mr E. R. Simpson of Summerland was a visitor to town and the district on Friday last.

Mr G. Hume of Kelowna spent the week-end at Naramata, returning to his home on Monday morning.

Tells Of Old Days In The Valley.

London Newspaper Prints Some Recollections.

In a recent number of the London Daily News appears an article, written by Frederick Niven, giving a rather picturesque description of Penticton, the writer claiming to have visited the town during its early days. The article, which is given a prominent position on the front page, has a good deal to say about the peaches grown in the district, and after a little general chat on the nature of the country, its inhabitants, and its real estate men, the writer goes on to discourse as follows:

Not many years ago, when I ambled through that country with blankets and frying-pan, flour and bacon (more to be mistaken for a hobo than for a tourist), there was no Peachland, there was no Summerland, and now there are landing stages for both of these obviously-named places, and one looks down from the stern-wheel steamer deck on a kaleidoscope of parasol tops and flounces, and on the crowds of many Stetsons or straws. There was a place called Kelowna even then, upon the east shore; but when people wished to refer to human habitation upon that side of the lake, they seldom mentioned Kelowna. It was just "Mission."

In these recent and yet how far-off days, the dust of milling cattle rose all day at round times on the rolling hills where now the peach blossom foams. Old-timers, with a sprinkling of kids from England, premiums paid by their folks at home—although the boys surely deserved wages, so keen were they—sparsely peopled the Valley, with their decorated "chaps" (Spanish Chaparreros), striped cotton jackets, and spurs a-jingling. The fringed leather chaps, or woolly ones, are certainly in the minority now.

As I pen this they may be gone wholly, so quickly does the west change. But I know the peaches as well as I know the punchers, and although I am the wrong person to write boosts for the real estate man, and can't tell how many tons of fruit they export, I know that the peaches are juicy. Eat one in the pagan fashion, and the juice runs down your chin and into your neck. Quality rather than quantity, I lean to; and the people who sell land talk in tons and dollars instead of in juice and sunshine.

It will pay to make a careful test of all seed purchased this season, for much poor seed is on the market. The test is easily made by placing a few seeds of each variety between small sheets of blotting paper kept moist and in a warm corner. W. B. Knox, night operator at the local K.V.R. station is visiting his family at the Coast for a few days. His place is being filled in the meantime by T. A. Oliver, of the auditing department. Mr Knox, who returned from the front but a few months ago, has just learned that his son has been wounded.

A visitor to Summerland this week was David Traub from the Similkameen. Mr Traub is now the owner of the J. C. Brown orchard, of which he took possession this week. Mr Traub was accompanied by E. F. Thompson of Princeton, who has rented the orchard, and will move here with his family.

The death occurred on Sunday afternoon of Mr Drake, a citizen of Vancouver, who came here an invalid about two years ago, since which time he has been residing on Jones Flat. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from St Stephen's Church, interment being made in the Church of England cemetery.

Word has been received by his parents here, Mr and Mrs H. L. Gallagher, that Pte. W. E. Gallagher was wounded on Friday, March 16th. The nature of the wounds, whether serious or otherwise, was not stated, so that there is good hope that our young citizen has not suffered seriously. His friends will await hopefully that the details will confirm this opinion.

The results of the season's playing as regards prizes won and contributions to the funds of the Home Comfort Club were announced last night at the final meeting of the 500 players which was held at the home of Mrs Stark. During the fortnightly gatherings $45.05 had been raised for the soldiers. The first of the ladies' prizes, donated by Mrs Dowton was awarded to Miss U. Watson as the best player, while the second prize, donated by Mrs Stark, went to Mrs Mountford. Two prizes had also been put up for the gentlemen by Mrs Andrew and Mrs Hogg, and were won by Mr Rines and Mr G. Craig. The consolation prizes went to Miss G. Blair and Mr Shields.

The Confederation Life Association of Canada has subscribed $2,000,000 to the war loan.

Mr and Mrs A. A. Derrick and family are now occupying the K. S. Hogg house, situated on the hill just north of and overlooking Peach Orchard.

Easter music is to be a feature of the services of the united churches on Sunday next. The preacher, Rev. A. Henderson, has also chosen appropriate topics for his Easter sermons as will be seen upon reference to our advertising columns.

That Will Angove and Keith Elliott were the two men of the Ambulance Corps who gave first aid to Bert Nelson when he was wounded, as has already been reported, was the remarkable coincidence told by Keith in a letter just received by his parents.

The Department of Agriculture has again announced by Bulletin No. 73 that they will hold Field Crop and Seed Competitions this year. There are prizes offered to the value of $30. Some of the following crops could be entered for competition in this district quite easily: oats, wheat, fodder corn, alfalfa, potatoes, mangels, field carrots, etc. Entries close on the 1st of June.

Dr W. H. Sutherland, M.L.A., for Revelstoke, in a speech last week in the local house, made a novel suggestion that should have consideration. He said that he would like to suggest to the Minister of Public Works that the government should take steps to secure from the C.P.R. their abandoned right-of-way between Revelstoke and Golden, which, with the construction of a few additional miles of road by the government, with that required between the former city and Malakwa, would make a through highway from Calgary to the Okanagan, and felt sure that this highway would be the most wonderful from a scenic standpoint, in America.

The Greenwood Ledge is not a large paper as papers go these days, but it is one of the landmarks of British Columbia journalism. It is in its twenty-fourth year, and at present consists of a single sheet printed on both sides. "Colonel" R. T. Lowery, its "editor and financier," is well-known throughout this end of Canada at any rate as a profound mining authority and a newspaper man whose style is best described by saying he invariably "calls a spade a spade," and doesn't say much more about it. He was recently cartooned in the Vancouver World "Popular Profile" series. The cartoonist's legend under the picture is very apt: "Knows whole lore of ore. Is a colonel by courtesy, more militant than military. Wields a pungent pen, in a crisp, racy and concise style. One of his obituary notices in full, read: 'Old Bill... died Christmas Eve. Too much booze.' Once described Phoenix as 'the place so near to heaven the people there can snowball the angels.' A prominent lady in Greenwood who sought a free advertisement of a church bazaar in The Ledge, because the funds aspired for 'were for the church,' was stunned to hear the response: 'Can't do it, can't do it. Our rate is fifty cents an inch straight—to saints or devils, and no discount.'"

An exchange says that the government is seriously considering not granting marriage licenses to "fit" young men, except on condition that they enlist.

An indication of "better times" is the statement that the hotels of Vancouver have experienced an increase of business of 50 to 100 per cent during the past year.

These are good times for the creamery business. The capacity of the Grand Forks creamery is to be doubled, and the Kelowna creamery will be considerably enlarged.

The Advertised Store or Product Wins.

Before an audience of more than a hundred interested Manitoba retail merchants, Secretary Albert Myer, American National Association of Optometrists, delivered a highly instructive address recently on "The Standardization of Prices in Business," his remarks earning the comment from the president of the Manitoba Retail Merchants' Association that he "could not recall ever before having heard such an informative address in so short a time."

Dealing with the relations of manufacturer, retailer and consumer the speaker pointed out the serious loss of energy incurred by the retailer who elects to spend his time in pushing the sale of some unadvertised brand of product when the general public has already evidenced its confidence in and preference for the brand with which they are familiar. "How many of you would buy an anonymous make of automobile?" queried the speaker by way of emphasizing his remarks at this juncture. He traced the relation between increased volume of sales and the accompanying decreased unit cost to the consuming public.

As to whether or not the local retail merchant desired to retain his identity in any community the speaker thought it was largely a matter of individual choice.

It was unreasonable of the local merchant to expect his townfolk to bestow their patronage upon his store in preference to buying of the mail order house when the latter used aggressive advertising methods and the local merchant refused to advertise to his own people that he had the goods for them right at home.

In travelling the thousands of miles that his official duties occasioned, the speaker's observations had led him to conclude that the mail order houses made their greatest progress in those localities where the local merchant was indifferent to his own best interests—where the stores were poorly kept, poorly lighted, inanimate, and providing little of changing interest to those from whom their trade should logically be derived. He deprecated those practices of local merchants by which they encouraged the public to "sponge" upon them, to give free of just charge such services as must necessarily involve a great loss annually to the merchant himself, services which necessitated the investment of considerable sums of money in skilled labor, wages, in mechanical equipment, etc. "Let the customer understand what such a service entails to him," remarked the speaker, "and the vast majority of them are prepared to pay reasonably for it."

A Soldier Poet.

Life in the army has its effects on the civilian soldier according to his temperament. For one young Summerland Bantam it seems to have intensified his poetical proclivities. Here are only two of a number of his literary efforts that he has recently sent home:

Tho' the tide of the hours is rolling,
And the reaper's drawing nigh,
When the curfew starts its tolling,
I will not give a sigh;
For I fought for my King and Nation,
And I'm wounded in the lung,
Yet I'll laugh at that last station
If I feel that the Kaiser's stung.

He tried to conquer England,
Jove, the thought of it makes me mad,
But a Kase like Kaiser Billy's,
Sure must make the world feel sad;
And he tried to conquer Russia,
But he got pulled "on the hair,"
So the eagle of old Prussia,
Is eclipsed by the Russian Bear.

G.C.D.

I'm in the Army now,
No more I'll chase the cow;
But such is life
Without a wife,
I'm in the Army now.

I'm fond of bacon, and
The tea all full of sand;
It's weary as sin
To ever be in
The Army of the land.

But, never you mind,
You'll always find
Some hearts of purest gold;
I've found some here,
Be of good cheer,
Remembrance ne'er grows old.

Summerland Supply Company, Limited.

This Newspaper is the "Trade-Journal" of the Buyers of Home Supplies for this District

A MAJORITY of the women who read the Review READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN IT WITH EVEN GREATER INTEREST THAN THEY GIVE THE NEWS. For, after all, the news is interesting in an abstract way—usually; while the advertisements are interesting in a directly personal way.

The Review conducts a persistent campaign of education for its readers as to the value and interest to them of the "ads" in the paper. It suggests the value of the SERVICE which the merchants render to them in their advertising.

A business man, engaged in a distinct kind of business, has his "trade journal," a publication devoted to that interest, keeping him in touch with all that is going on in his line. Often his trade journal saves him appreciable sums of money through the facts and tips which it gives to him.

Every woman, who is the "buyer" for a home, is engaged in a very real "business." It is a complex one, and one in which much money may be unwisely spent—and in which economies are nearly always possible. To those buyers for the home the Review comes—with its "store news"—as an indispensable TRADE JOURNAL.

The merchant whose business is not advertised in this trade journal of the home, "buyers" may expect very little attention from those buyers. The merchant whose advertising is fullest and most informing may expect, and receive, the largest share of their attention and favor.

Macdonald Favors Irrigation Bill

Supports Government Ownership Later.

Minister Proposes Some Amendments.

Dr K. C. Macdonald, member for North Okanagan, who spoke on the water bill following Mr Jones, defends the government amendments to the water act. He considered that under conditions which had arisen the bondholders and shareholders of the irrigation companies must now take second place to the needs of the water users. While the legislation proposed was merely temporary it was timely and would meet the situation until a full investigation could be carried out with a view of bringing down more extensive measures next year. The increasing fruit production of the Okanagan was threatened by the failure of some of the companies to keep their water systems in proper condition, and unless drastic steps were taken the land owners would find themselves in a serious condition with the necessity of a heavy land tax to provide for a remedy. He thought that the government would do well to give the companies formal notice that unless they must step aside and allow the government to act. He had always been a firm advocate of government ownership of irrigation systems, he pointed out, and had that step been taken long ago much of the present trouble would have been obviated. Land prices would have been kept at a reasonable figure. Under the conditions which had existed the land companies added the cost of their irrigation systems to the price of the land so that the people had already paid for the irrigation works when they bought their orchards. Now the companies not being able to sell any more land could not operate successfully. As soon as an investigation was held government ownership should be entered into. Dr Macdonald denied that the people of the Interior looked upon the bill as confiscatory in principle, and to prove his point he quoted an editorial from the Vernon News. Dr Macdonald felt that in its effort to give the water user water the government had a right to step in and take precedence over all other interests. When the companies refused to carry out their obligations to the water users then the government, as the bill before the House proposed, had the right and responsibility to take over operations.

Hon. Mr Patullo, Minister of Lands, has already given notice of one amendment to the bill. In the clause in which he had provided that loans or guarantees from the government to irrigation companies for repairs and maintenance should stand as a first charge on the revenue and assets of the company and the lands of the water users served by the system, he is now arranging for modifications.

His proposal is that instead of these loans or guarantees being first charges on the exclusion of all other charges, as originally intended, they shall be in priority to other charges. Further, instead of making it definite so they shall be first charges on the lands of the private water users they shall simply take that position "if so stated in the order-in-council." In other words, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council is given power to say whether a charge will be held against private lands or not. The bill as introduced gave no such latitude.

Pass Resolution Of Sympathy

Peachland Council In Monthly Session.

The monthly meeting of the Peachland Municipal Council was held in the Council Chambers on Tuesday afternoon.

Before the meeting opened a deputation was received representing property owned on Ellison Avenue. The request was made that the hill approaching the first bridge be lowered to make an easier grade for hauling fruit out. The Council promised to send a committee over the road with a view to seeing if anything could be done.

Before the orders of business were called a resolution was passed by the Council expressing their deep sympathy with the Clerk, Mr Dryden, whose only son has been killed in action at the front.

Reports from committees were received and the correspondence on file disposed of.

The following matters of general interest were dealt with. The Court of Revision is to be held on Wednesday, the 9th of May in the Council Room at 7.30 in the evening.

The time of the regular council meetings has been changed from the second Tuesday in the month to the second Wednesday, and during the summer the meetings will be in the evenings.

Mr Hugh Williams was appointed pound keeper for the Municipality and notice was given that at the next council meeting an amendment to the Pound By-law will be introduced.

Now that the Municipality owns the cemetery it was deemed proper to appoint a committee of the Council to look after that property and the Reeve named Couns. Hogg and Douglas as the committee. It is hoped that arrangements may be made to put this much neglected plot into such shape that it can be better cared for.

The Council expressed willingness to grant the use of the west end of Fourth Street to an organization that may undertake to make use of it for tennis courts in the summer and for a skating rink in the winter.

Arrangements are to be made to have the old bridge over Trepanier Creek, which is still in place, removed before the period of high water when it might, if left, endanger the new bridge.

Will Assist Board of Trade in Sign Post Scheme.

Council Wants Petition Before Acting on Daylight Saving Plan.

Kelley Assessment Adjusted.

Large Delegation from Institutes Want Summerland Made More Attractive.

Travellers will have no reason to lose their way about Summerland if the sign post plan formulated by the Board of Trade and presented to the Council at its regular sitting on April 10th is carried out. Dr. F. W. Andrew, as spokesman for the Board of Trade representatives, outlined the proposed program of improvement, and asked the Council for financial assistance.

It is proposed to erect sign posts at the approaches to the district, also directing signs at such road junctions within the district as are specially confusing to strangers. A large sign is to be erected at the K.V.R. station, calling attention to the advantages offered by Summerland. "Go Slowly" signs will be placed at dangerous points, such as the top of the horseshoe on the gulch road. The scheme was discussed by the Council, and upon the motion of Councillors English and Simpson, a grant of $20.00 was authorized.

Rev. H. A. Solly, speaking for the Board of Trade, asked that the Council introduce a Daylight Saving By-law, to have effect from April 15th till October 15th. The subject had been discussed and a resolution voted upon at a recent meeting of the Board of Trade the expression of opinion favoring the change. Subsequent discussion revealed that the Council was by no means of one mind in the matter, but all agreed that the request of the Board of Trade did not, in itself, warrant the introduction of the bylaw. The Board of Trade will be asked to present a petition, the suggestion being advanced that "For" and "Against" columns might be provided in the petition, and that the signatures of as many ratepayers as possible be secured, thus giving a full expression of opinion. It was decided that, whatever form the petition may take should the majority of the ratepayers be found to favor Daylight Saving the necessary by-law will be forthwith adopted. It was further suggested that the likelihood of the proposition being favorably received by the ratepayers would be greatly increased if the proposed period were shortened.

Mr W. C. Kelley appeared before the Council, requesting that a larger pipe be laid to his lot on Jones Flat, maintaining that whereas he had seven acres to irrigate his water pipe provided sufficient for two acres only. The matter was referred to the Board of Works.

Mr Allan Agur applied for the extension of the domestic water pipe-line to his boat-house south of town, his proposal being that the line serving Mr P. G. Thornber be extended. The fact that the section of piping from Mr Hayos' fence to Mr Thornber's house is owned by the latter and passes through his land complicated matters, but by an agreement between Mr Agur and Mr Thornber the Council was enabled to make temporary provision of the desired service.

A large deputation representing a joint committee of the Women's Institutes, the Farmers' Institutes, and the Board of Trade waited upon the Council with reference to the movement recently inaugurated with the aim of beautifying Summerland. It was pointed out that the first and most necessary step should be the elimination of the unsightly weed nuisance. The specific requests of the committee were as follows: that the Council instruct the constable to see that the weeds on the road are cut; that the weeds on the lots of non-resident lot owners be cut and the costs charged to them; and that the Council urge upon resident lot owners the need of care and co-operation in getting rid of the weeds, in order that the appearance of the community may be improved. A general discussion followed, in which members of the Council and members of the Committee took part. All recognized the necessity of making Summerland more attractive to prospective settlers, the remarks of Mrs D. H. Watson in this respect being particularly pertinent, but little progress was made as to ways and means. Reeve Blair stated that it was impossible for the Council to spend much money this year on anything not absolutely necessary, but gave assurance that the Council would do all in its power to forward the movement. Councillor Simpson was of the opinion that as this was a matter of interest to every citizen, and one in which results depended so largely upon individual effort, the associations represented could do more in the matter than could the Council.

There were four applications for the position of constable. The appointment of constable being in the hands of the Police Commissioners it is customary for the Council to appoint a noxious weeds inspector and sanitary inspector, on the condition that he is acceptable to the Commissioners as constable. Upon motion of Councillors Johnston and Campbell the appointment was given to Mr C. E. Craig.

After dealing with various minor matters arising out of the correspondence the Council passed on to the discussion of finances, after which the following accounts passed by the Finance Committee were authorized to be paid:-

Sitting as Court of Revision, between 11 a.m. and 12 noon the Council arrived at a final decision regarding the assessment against which an appeal was entered by Mr W. C. Kelley at the former sitting of the Board. After careful consideration of the depreciation in value of the balance of the property due to the sale of the corner to A. Stewart & Son it was decided to reduce the assessment from $2,400 to $2,200.

Fine Performance By Amateurs

Dramatic Circle Give Annual Play.

The College Gymnasium was filled to its capacity on the evening of Easter Monday when the curtain went up for the first act of "The Country Doctor," the clever little character sketch put on by the dramatic circle of the St Andrew's Ladies' Aid Society. The reputation of these talented players having been established by the highly humorous entertainments of two successive years, it is safe to say that those who went on Monday evening anticipating an evening of that pure fun which "drives dull care away" were in no way disappointed, judging from the hearty and sympathetic applause which repeatedly greeted the players as each humorous situation developed.

The character of the young doctor was ably taken by Mr J. O. Smith, who proved that a sense of humor is the greatest asset in dealing with the varied ills of body and mind.

Mrs J. D. Wood, whose charming interpretation of Jane, the landlady's winsome daughter, proved herself quite equal to the part.

To Mrs A. B. Elliott, in her clever impersonation of the talkative Mrs Crane, is due in no small degree the success of a highly humorous play. Her ease of manner marked her as thoroughly conversant with her part.

Miss Isabel Steuart, as sentimental Belinda Clinger, won laurels in a difficult part, while Miss Rothwell's interpretation of studious Miss Knowing was well done.

Mr and Mrs Grabbe, old friends of "The Minister's Bride," were greeted with hilarious welcome, and as usual merriment held sway whenever they appeared. Mrs Darks' did good work in her presentation of the widely different characters of Mrs Grabbe and Mrs Frost; while the versatile Mr G. Marshall, as well as presenting the amusing part of the hen-pecked Mr Grabbe also took the part of the doctor in attendance on Dr Young after his accident.

Mr L. McLaughlin, as love-lorn Mr Lovejoy, came in for deserved applause, while Mr T. B. Young maintained the reputation of the courtly gentleman under most trying circumstances.

Miss Aitchison, as pathetic Widow Ware, at once won the sympathy of the audience, and a ready response from the kindly doctor in her anxiety for her sick child.

The entry of Solomon Wisenere upon the stage was the signal for uncontrolled merriment, when our genial citizen, A. B. Elliott, was recognized. Brief as his part was it did not lack weight or importance in the play.

The character of Mrs Groan was admirably portrayed by Mrs A. Rutherford, the very name being vividly illustrated by the clever actress, and the bugaboo of imaginary ills was successfully ridiculed.

The closing scene in which the "course of true love" for the Dr. and Jane comes to happy culmination in the post-nuptial reception to their friends, the quaintly costumed company formed an effective tableau. The entrance of Mr A. Smith as the returned soldier, Tom Bravo, brought happiness to sorrowing Miss Knowing. With trite speech and hearty congratulations the evening's fun came to a fitting close in Mr Smith's song, "Pack up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag, and Smile, Smile, Smile," followed by the National

McAlpine Appeal Is Dismissed

Appellant will be Taxed with All Costs.

Judges Say He Had No Case.

By dismissing the appeal case of McAlpine vs. Summerland yesterday the four judges who presided over the Court of Appeal at Victoria sustained the verdict of the County Court in this now, locally, famous case.

The case was argued yesterday, according to advice received by phone by the Municipal Office from Mr Cochrane of Cochrane & Lader, the solicitors for the Municipality, who stated that the judges were a unit in their declaration that the appellant had no case. All expenses of the Municipality from the beginning of the case are put upon Mr McAlpine, according to the information received.

Buys Moore House

Probably one of the most important real estate transfers made recently was concluded this week when F. A. C. Wright became the owner of the large house and 2½ acres of land, until recently the property of Mrs W. H. A. Moore. Mrs Moore still retains 2½ acres facing on the lower road. Mr Wright intends to make considerable alterations and improvements to the property before moving with his family from his present home in Garnett Valley.

Mr F. D. Cooper, local real estate agent, with whom the property was listed, made the sale for the former holders, who are now residing in Lebanon, Ill.

Coming Back To Okanagan.

The many Summerland friends of Mr H. D. Suckling will be glad to learn that he is returning to the Okanagan, having been appointed manager of the Bank of Montreal at Penticton. Mr Suckling was for several years accountant with the Bank of Montreal here, and left this place to take a position in Winnipeg with the same institution, and later was transferred to Montreal where he has been connected with the head office for the past two or three years.

Mr Suckling will arrive at once to assume the duties that have been carried by Mr Nosbitt, who has been transferred to Chilliwack.

Anthem.

The company is certainly deserving of high praise, for their interpretation of their parts was entirely original. The hearty unaffected way in which each person entered into his or her part, and helped to round out a full evening's enjoyment, forbids anything other than commendation. The unique old-time costumes added not a little to the charm of the entertainment, and the local hits met with ready response from the audience.

Mr H. Davidson contributed greatly to the evening's enjoyment by his delightful piano selections between the acts. Miss English accompanied Tom Bravo's song.

The treasury of the Ladies' Aid was increased by nearly $100 as a substantial result of the entertainment.

During the month of March nearly all British newspapers have doubled in price.

More Expressions of Gratitude From Our Soldiers to the Home Comfort Club.

Frank Hayward—We're having such rotten weather these days that it's hard to keep one's spirits soaring to the altitude appropriate to the season, even though we're not in the trenches, but the parcel from the Summerland Home Comfort Club helped considerably, I assure you. A few of us have a billet to ourselves, and we certainly enjoy it. Since Christmas Day, when we had a real feast, our fare has been very ordinary.

There are something like 10,000 parcels on the way from Canada to this unit, at least that's what I figure, because every fellow says he has at least 12 on the way. However, up to last night there are still 9,999, so you can imagine the welcome mine got. Again, I ask you to convey my thanks to the members of the club for their kind work.

The only Summerland boy whom I've met here lately is George Barkwill, and I had time for only a few words from him. I'm hoping to see Bill Angove to-morrow. He is stationed quite close to us here, I understand, and I don't think I'll have much trouble finding him. It's great to meet somebody from back home.

Thanking you again for the parcel, and wishing the club every success.

George Barkwill—I must again thank you and the members of Home Comfort Club for parcel which arrived yesterday, the contents of which came in mighty handy, especially at this time of the year when the evenings are so long. We generally sit around in our dugout, and share out our parcels. I have a section to look after. We are Brigade Scouts, and it's our duty to find out all we can about Fritz. The section is made up of three scouts from each unit in the brigade, and they are a fine bunch of boys. Although I have not had the pleasure to stick a Hun yet, I am sure we have accounted for a good many in a different way. If we are spared to the end of this struggle I will be able to thank you personally for all these kindnesses shown to us, and tell you a few of our experiences which it is impossible to write about. Cannot stay to write more this time, we are kept very busy these days. With best wishes to the members of the Home Comfort Club.

Jno. Mendham—I thank you most sincerely for your very useful parcel, which I received yesterday. It reflects great credit on its members for the splendid work it is doing. I thank you for enclosing the Summerland Review, which I read and handed to some of the boys to read, who have friends and were acquainted in the Valley. In conclusion I ask you to accept again my thanks for the token of your kindness, which I find most useful. All the boys I'm sure won't forget, wherever they are, the interest you are taking in them. One other thing I think they will appreciate, and that is the magnificent climate of Summerland.

Arthur Pentland—Just a line to convey my thanks for being so kind to send me a parcel. It was very much appreciated both by me and the boys in my platoon. We are having pretty cold weather here just now, but it makes it much easier to get around after the slush and mud. There are quite a few Summerland boys in this battalion, namely: J. Forsyth, B. Newton, P. Agur, J. Andrews, G. Harwood, F. Ford, and myself. I was drafted into the 2nd C.M.R. from our own battalion. Most of the Summerland boys in the 172nd Battalion are quarantined with measles. I hope you will excuse the pencil and scrawl but I haven't exactly got a writing desk. I would like to write a dozen pages and let you know a lot more, but you know the censor won't stand for it.

W. F. Brind—Many thanks for parcel, which I received O.K. at the beginning of the month. The contents were very much appreciated, especially the socks, as we're having it very cold for a while. I think the Summerland people are hard to beat. We have quite a number of Okanagan boys in this bunch. We often say to each other the Okanagan would look good to us now. I hope some of us will be back in time for the apple crop. I have not tasted a good apple since I left Canada. Wishing your club every success in your good work.
P.S.—Old Fritz is going to get it hot pretty soon.

R. H. Atkinson. From far-off Salonika—I was very pleased indeed to receive the parcel from the Home Comfort Club, which arrived on the 17th in splendid shape, although so long on the way. It is very kind of the ladies of Summerland sending us these good things so frequently, this makes the third I have received since coming to Salonika. I must say both the kind thoughts and good things are greatly appreciated.

I am putting in a much better winter than I anticipated, the weather is simply grand, warm and sunny day after day. The hills are beautifully green, and already carpeted with crocuses and mission bells. However, we are all hoping to get a move before the hot weather of summer sets in.

This Canadian Hospital has got a splendid record, having served in France, Egypt, the Dardanelles, and Macedonia. I doubt if any Imperial Hospital could beat that.

R. Randall—I must apologise for not writing you before, this in acknowledgment of receipt of parcel from the Summerland Home Comfort Club. I received this very nice parcel a day or two before Christmas. The contents were O.K., and I appreciated your kindness very much, especially as I was in the trenches for Christmas. We are out for a few days' rest now, and I expect after our next spell in the trenches we shall be out for a few weeks' rest. We are having very cold weather here now, and some snow. It is hard to keep warm at times, but I think it is preferable to the mud and rain. It is fairly quiet on this, our third, front, still it is lively enough at times.

W. H. Milligan—Please thank the Home Comfort Club for me for the very welcome parcel, which I received yesterday. It was a long time coming, and I'd been looking forward to its arrival for over a month. I don't suppose you can realize what a pleasure it is to get a parcel, especially a surprise packet like this one, with a little bit of everything in it. We're having it pretty cold now, though it is dry, which is a blessing. We expected to be in the trenches two weeks ago but mumps broke out and we've been quarantined, and are still. My address is 54th Canadians, B.E.F., France. I've not met any more Summerlanders yet.
Wishing you success in your good work.
P.S.—The underclothes have relieved my mind immensely as most of the men have got 'em.

H. C. OF PAPER.

The men who make the white print paper are trying to get rich on a caper. No pent-up Uffia counteracts them. They view Ye Printer's protests sourly, and keep on raising prices hourly. At noon they send they price up higher, and laugh to scorn the frenzied buyer; and in the solemn midnight watches they raise the price a few more notches. There is no reason for this plunder, for doubling prices up like thunder, save that the paper sharks are greedy, and are not loth to strip the needy. From every section of the nation come cries of grief and agitation, from publishers and kindred colonels, who say they must suspend their journals, and take to washing for a livin', unless relief to them is given. The paper makers hear the roaring, and see the flood of briny pouring—the storm of wrath around them thickens—and raise the price to beat the dickens. Before the finish of this winter, we shall behold, methinks, Ye Printer, shorn of his old-time smile and chortle, draw near the gloomy soup house portal, and draw a free and filling ration provided by a weeping nation.—Walt Mason.

The Easter services of the united congregations in St Andrew's and Lakeside Churches were largely attended. In fact at both services the preacher, Rev. A. Henderson, was greeted with crowded churches. Topics suitable to the anniversary of the Resurrection were ably dealt with by the speaker. Easter music was a feature of both services, particularly at the Lakeside church in the evening.

Farmers' Institute Hold Lengthy Session

Many Matters of Public Interest Discussed.

If a full attendance, a live interest in the proceedings, coupled with a lengthy session, constitute the chief features of a successful meeting of a Farmers' Institute, then the gathering on Friday evening last will likely go down in history.

Fact is it was another of those meetings where fag ends of business were disposed of, but in which nothing of special importance was accomplished. If the members were to meet more often there would not be so much correspondence to wade through, to the hindrance often of other matters of greater import.

However, there is no getting away from this: progress was made along several lines to be carried on at future nights. In the first place on the evening's program was the live stock question. It is felt that there is need for the introduction into the district of a pure bred bull—whether a Jersey or an Ayrshire or a Holstein—is a matter for the people to agree upon, and the sooner definite steps are taken the better. In fact it would have been wise to have introduced the question last fall. The secretary read a communication from the provincial branch of Animal Husbandry, outlining the plan, which is that the Institute be simply the medium of exchange, the animal to be bought outright by one or more of the members, as individuals, who will have full charge. There would be three years allowed for the payments, without interest.

Under the plan of the Federal Government the animal is simply loaned to the district, or to the Live Stock Association, which must have a membership of at least ten. The membership fee of one dollar is to cover the cost of correspondence and to provide a veterinary fee.

Of course there has to be a suitable man selected to have charge of the animal, and there has to be provision for the cost of maintenance. After a full discussion it was decided to leave the matter now with those of the members most vitally affected who would be expected to get together and organize an association.

In dealing with the cemetery problem it was decided to appeal to the government for the law in such cases. It is felt that the firm or company that has the cemetery plots for sale should be obliged to enclose the same and to maintain the grounds in fair shape.

Referring to the violations of the herd law, some caustic remarks were passed in reference to the practice of people allowing their animals to roam at will. The secretary was instructed to interview Mr Mitchell with a view to getting him to reconsider his resignation. It is felt too, that the citizens as individuals should seek to have the terms of the law better observed. One other point. Those who tie their stock along the roadside should be reminded that the tether should not permit of the animals having access to the highway.

Then there was another decision arrived at. It was this: to hold another fall fair along the lines followed last season—in conjunction with the Women's Institute. With this authority the directors are free now to go ahead and make the best arrangements in their power.

Mrs Jacobson and family left on Wednesday for Britannia, where Mr Jacobson has prepared a home for them.

The service in the church on Sunday last was conducted by Rev. H. A. Solly of Summerland. A feature of the occasion was the christening of the youngest child of Mr and Mrs V. L. Watson.

Mr and Mrs C. W. Johnston have moved up to their, recently acquired Avesson property. A comendious addition has been made to the dwelling of the former owner, and is now very much improved.

WEDDING.

NOYES—HUME.

The home of Mr John O. Noyes was the scene of the chief and specially to be noticed social event of the week, when Miss Edna, the eldest, and only daughter became the wife of a well known rancher of Kelowna, B.C.

The ceremony was practically a private one, none but the immediate relatives being present, Rev. R. M. Thompson of Penticton officiating.

The floral decorations, importations chiefly from the greenhouses of Victoria, added greatly to the elegance of the scene, and was a distinct compliment to the skill of those who were responsible for the arrangements.

Mr Ernie Noyes of Victoria, a brother of the bride performed the duties of groomsmen, while Mrs D. O. Hughes, an aunt, acted as the part of bridesmaid.

The ceremony over the happy group repaired to the dining room where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served, followed by a short toast list. In this Rev. R. M. Thompson, Mr F. L. Roe, chief scribe of the Penticton Herald, and the Groom, Mr George Hume, were the chief speakers.

In the evening the principals departed for Penticton, but, not by the boat—whereon hangs a tale. A tale of disappointment on the part of the juveniles who had made elaborate preparations for a send-off in the way of rice, old boots, etc. The merry group left by auto, amid the best of good wishes of a host of friends.

W.C.T.U. Notes.

The regular monthly meeting of the local branch of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs Wm. Nuttall on Tuesday afternoon last.

The president, Mrs Fred Young, in a few well chosen words, welcomed Mrs E. P. Roe, the former president, back again, after an absence of over a year. The regular business routine was then proceeded with after which a short program was rendered as follows: reading by Mrs Jas. Myers; recitation by Miss Florence Lyons; and a very interesting talk by Mrs E. P. Roe.

One new member was added to the Union at this gathering. At the close the hostess served refreshments.

Red Cross Notes.

Work at the local headquarters is proceeding with the accustomed regularity and cheerfulness. The appended list of goods recently shipped from this centre is some little indication of the efforts of the ladies: 54 pr. socks; 18 suits pyjamas; 6 day shirts; 2 doz. T. bandages; 1 doz. scullatus bandages; 6 slings; 2 doz. pillow cases; 2 doz. handkerchiefs; laparotomy stockings; 9 hospital ties.

Doings of Peachland

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

There was a record attendance of parents and friends of the children of the Junior Division of the Public School last Thursday afternoon in their schoolroom when the following excellent program was rendered: Chorus, O Canada; School; recitation, Her Thimble, Emma Hockyard; recitation, Grandpa's Watch, Douglas Elliott; recitation, Rat-a-tat-tat, Cyril Ashley; song, Marching through Georgia, Annie White; recitation, From One to Six, Pearl Law; recitation, Buz! Buz! Hellen Wright; recitation, Don't Forget, Polly Topham; chorus, Tramp! Tramp! School; recitation, Little Hands, Lizzie Topham; recitation, Two Faces, Gerald Elliott; recitation, See-saw, Ella MacKenzie; duet, Buttercups, Lillian Town and Polly Topham; recitation, Grandpa's Boy, Jack Hyde; recitation, Little Yellow Head, Isabelle Taylor; recitation, Autumn Leaves, Alice Wright; song, An April Girl, Frances Clements; recitation, Hoeing, Ray Harrington; recitation, Her Trouble, Lillian Town; dialogue, Dolly's Letter, Annie Taylor and Robbie Williams; Chorus, The Merchant's Song School.

After the programme the sale of work commenced and the children made efficient salesmen and women. There were many useful and pretty articles displayed, such as aprons, small bags, kettle holders and fancy boxes filled with home made candy which was so much appreciated that it disappeared almost immediately. With the exception of some fine photographs kindly donated by Mr Hogg and Mr Somerville all the articles were made by the children and it was good to see their pleasure when the tables were all cleared and the money counted. The proceeds of the sale amounted to $17.00, which is to be devoted to patriotic purposes.

Easter Sunday In the Churches

There was a good congregation and a very happy service at the Methodist Church on Easter Sunday morning when the minister, Rev. J. A. Rowland, took as his text Romans 8, 34, "Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea, rather that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us." He spoke of the joy and gladness which the thought of Christ's resurrection always brings and more especially in this time of war the comfort that it brings to those who have lost loved ones. Though some may doubt the fact of the resurrection because they cannot understand it yet they ought to have faith to believe the account given in the Gospels, for if they only stopped to think there are innumerable things all around them that they cannot possibly explain and have to take on faith, such as how the seed germinates and grows, or the egg becomes a chicken, or how the force we call electricity, but cannot see, lights our houses. The two outstanding messages of this Easter-tide, when almost the whole world is locked in a fearful struggle, are these: first, that at the darkest hours in human history, as at the cross of Christ, when Satan's hosts seem almost to prevail and the forces of evil are launched against the forces for the right, then God appears and shows Himself most clearly; and secondly, that those who sorrow do not sorrow as those without hope for just as surely as Christ rose again those we love and have lost will rise again. The special Easter carols rendered by the choir were much appreciated.

At the combined service in the Baptist church on Sunday afternoon the Pastor, Rev. Wm. J. Scott, took for his subject Christ's first word to His disciples after He had risen, namely, "Peace" from John 20, verses 19 and 26. It was a comforting and helpful address and concluded with a running comment on that beautiful hymn, "Peace, perfect peace." (Continued on Page 6.)

School will open again on Monday morning with the teachers and pupils ready to square themselves to the next term's work.

Mr R. Ecklin, manager of the Okanagan Telephone Company at Penticton, was over the district with a view toward extending the usefulness of the service.

Mr Wm. Nuttall returned on Saturday from a weeks stay at Paradise Ranch, where he assisted in the pruning of the Wilson orchards, now coming into full bearing.

Word has been received here that Mr Norman Alexander, a former Naramatan, with his wife and family, have removed from Quebec to Lindsay, where he will work in the new arsenal.

Amongst the list of visitors on Saturday afternoon to Penticton the following were noticed: Principal and Mrs T. H. Raynor, Mrs Panrucker, Mrs Mitchell, Mrs A. P. Wilson, and Miss Minnie Block.

A real estate sale of some note took place this week when Mr A. P. Wilson became the owner of the Dorking lot. The price said to have been paid would indicate that it does not pay to hold land here for ten or more years without improving, with the hope of turning over at enormous profit.

Anyone that doubts whether Penticton is becoming more and more the shopping centre for the district would only have to meet the Saturday afternoon ferry to be convinced. Just what that is going to mean for the town of Naramata is not all observable on the very surface of things. But certain it is that the local merchants had better look and learn the only and oft repeated principles of advertising.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

That Summerland is in need of an up-to-date bakery is apparent from the frequent expressions of our women folk. Such a bakery turning out good bread, cakes, etc., would from the start undoubtedly enjoy good business, which would steadily increase.

A new McLaughlin car was brought in this week for Mr F. A. C. Wright, the dealer taking Mr Wright's new Ford, which he then exchanged with Mr Brent for his new Ford runabout. This latter will be equipped with starting and lighting apparatus for Dr. Andrew.

Miss Lister, teacher at the Town School, was a K.V.R. passenger to the Coast on Friday morning. She was joined at Vancouver on Saturday by her sister Miss Anna Lister, nurse at Golden. They will spend the Easter vacation at the Coast. Mrs Lister, who is teaching at Seymour Arm, was unable to join them as the lake there is still frozen over.

In a letter received by his parents this week from Harold Hillborn he tells of his unit having received a shipment of Summerland apples. Naturally the boys were all delighted with the apples, from which Harold derived the additional satisfaction in being able to tell his companions in hospital work in France that they were from his home town in far-away British Columbia.

An indication of the strong feeling that exists with some of the mothers whose sons are now at the front and their determination that the war be carried through to a successful issue is contained in the remark of a woman whose son is now in the trenches and who was a recent visitor here. Rev. W. H. Bates and family of Armstrong moved in this week and are now occupiers of the cottage and orchard property belonging to Mr A. H. Steven to the west of Mr John Dale's. Mr Bates makes the change entirely in the interests of his health. It is understood that Mr Steven has assumed Mr Bates' interests at Armstrong, but it is not his intention to move his family there for some time at least, although he may find it necessary to make frequent visits to that district during the fruit season.

It is said that only those who have been in the Coquihalla Pass recently have any idea of the task that faces the K.V.R. officials and workmen in the endeavour to open that link in the K.V.R. line to traffic. The spring on the coast side of the Cascades has been unusually wet and the very heavy precipitation on the lower mainland has fallen in the form of snow in the upper reaches of the Pass, until some days ago it was said that there was no less than fifty feet of snow. Late enquiry brings the information that it is not expected the Pass will be cleared this week, but there is good reason to hope that trains will be again running over the short line in another week. In the meantime the connection with the C.P.R. is being made at Spence's Bridge instead of Hope.

By hard work, and the assistance of his instructors, he has completed in four months the course which usually requires three years, and made a high score in passing the final exams.

Special singing by the choir was a pleasing feature of the service and which helped to emphasize the joy of the Easter season. Mr Scott and Mrs H. E. McCall sang a duet entitled "Sweeter as the Days Go By," a quartet by four of the girls with chorus by the choir. "He lives our Conquering Saviour" followed and the choir sang that well known but ever new and stirring piece "Up From the Grave He Arose."

Miss Olive Gummow and Miss Dynes came up on Friday to spend the Easter holidays with Miss Gummow's parents. Miss Dynes returned to Pentiction on Monday.

Their trip will cover the Okanagan and Nicola valleys going by way of Pentiction, Merritt and Kamloops and coming back by way of Vernon and Kelowna. They expect to be away about a week.

It seems a crying shame that the Government does not give a badge to those who have offered their services to their country and been rejected. There are men in every community who have failed to pass for active service and yet who look physically fit, and so are set down as slackers. Now these men have done all in their power to help and would have sacrificed themselves if it had been possible and surely the Government ought to recognize this and make it impossible for anyone to point the finger of scorn at them.

Mr J. H. Hyde came up from Pentiction on Saturday morning and returned at night accompanied by his wife and children who have been visiting for some time with Mrs Hyde's parents, Mr and Mrs Lee Mills.

Mr J. McKinnon returned from Calgary on Saturday. We understand that he brought back a man and his wife to work on the lot.

Helén and Hazel McKay came from Vernon on Friday to visit Mr and Mr Robison.

Mr Robert Howell came in on Tuesday morning and is visiting Mrs E. House.

Baptist Quarterly Church Meeting and Change of Service.

The members met in their school hall on Friday afternoon at 8 p.m., Pastor Wm. J. Scott presiding. The meeting began with worship, the controlling thought of which was Christ's sufferings on the cross as foretold in the 22nd Psalm, which has been called the "Song of Sobs."

After this reports respecting the church were presented by Raymond Harrington, the Church Clerk, and L. D. McCall, the Church Treasurer. The report concerning the Sunday School was presented by Harold McCall for John Kerr the secretary, and that for the Women's Mission Circle by the secretary, Mrs Hugh McDougall. Much thankfulness is expressed that the balances were on the right side, and progress reported.

Business ended about 25 of the members of the church and congregation sat down to a very inviting supper provided by the ladies.

It was decided for the present to have the combined service one Sunday in the morning and the next in the afternoon. Next Sunday it will be in the morning at 11 o'clock.

Another Peachland Hero Fallen in Battle.

Yet again the flags are flying at half mast. Mr and Mrs Wm. Dryden received word on Monday morning that their son William had been killed in action. Words seem very empty things at such a time but the whole community sympathizes deeply with them in their great sorrow. Willie was so young and his life was so full of promise, but he died a hero's death and gave his life in the cause of freedom.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Ambulance League was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. in the class room of the Presbyterian Church. There was a good attendance and refreshments were served by Mrs A. Smalls.

The regular meeting of the Trepianier Lodge of A.F. and A.M. was held in the Lodge room over Thompson & McCall's store on Tuesday the 10th inst. Mr Whitehouse of Armstrong, District Deputy, paid an official visit to the Lodge.

Mrs Seaton and Miss Bessie Seaton were passengers north on Wednesday morning.

Mr and Mrs Hugh Williams and family moved into town on Tuesday and are now living in Bryson White's house.

Two men were killed at the Nickel Plate mine at Hedley last week by drilling into a missed hole.

This Newspaper is the "Trade-Journal" of the Buyers of Home Supplies for this District

A MAJORITY of the women who read the Review READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN IT WITH EVEN GREATER INTEREST THAN THEY GIVE THE NEWS. For, after all, the news is interesting in an abstract way—usually; while the advertisements are interesting in a directly personal way.

The Review conducts a persistent campaign of education for its readers as to the value and interest to them of the "ads" in the paper. It suggests the value of the SERVICE which the merchants render to them in their advertising.

A business man, engaged in a distinct kind of business, has his "trade journal," a publication devoted to that interest, keeping him in touch with all that is going on in his line. Often his trade journal saves him appreciable sums of money through the facts and tips which it gives to him.

Every woman, who is the "buyer" for a home, is engaged in a very real "business." It is a complex one, and one in which much money may be unwisely spent—and in which economies are nearly always possible. To those buyers for the home the Review comes—with its "store news"—as an indispensable TRADE JOURNAL.

The merchant whose business is not advertised in this trade journal of the home "buyers" may expect very little attention from those buyers. The merchant whose advertising is fullest and most informing may expect, and receives, the largest share of their attention and favor.

Plan Good Roads Convention Soon

Want Hope-Princeton Road Completed.

It is likely that a good roads get-together convention will be held in Vancouver in July, at which there will be representatives of automobile clubs and interests from many parts of British Columbia. The prime movers in the project are Industrial Commissioner Davison of Vancouver and Mr D. A. Hamilton, who was secretary of the recent Vancouver Automobile Show.

EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD ROADS.

There are some exceptionally good roads in the province, according to Mr Hamilton, which could be put into fine shape for automobile travel. They have been allowed to become out of repair, and the feeling of automobile enthusiasts is that the provincial government would be very glad to consider any reasonable suggestions for putting the roads in proper shape. There is no better asset to a province than good roads. In British Columbia they would be of especial value, owing to the scenery of this province, which is unequalled on the continent.

Mr Hamilton believes that British Columbia will be famous the continent over when it is linked up with the rest of the Dominion by the projected coast to coast highway. Public spirited citizens in every part of Canada have expressed their approval of the highway, and a convention would do much to promote its completion.

HOPE TO PRINCETON HIGHWAY.

Every live automobile man believes that it would be in the interests of the province to have the 75-mile Hope to Princeton highway completed. It would give access to one of the most picturesque and prosperous parts of British Columbia, and would open up a new scenic wonderway that could not be surpassed in the west.

Mr Hamilton states that the British Columbia section of the highway to Seattle used to be excellent, and provided one of the finest runs on the coast. It is considered out of repair now, he said, owing to the fact that it has been cut up by heavy trucks hauling shingle bolts, and by other commercial vehicular traffic.

Sales Larger Than Reported

Further Lead Given to Third Largest Shipping Union.

According to the statement of a director of the Summerland Fruit Union the sales made by the Okanagan United Growers for the local Union for last season totalled $88,000.00. This sum is greater by $9,000 than the figure given in the annual statement of the Okanagan United Growers. This is explained by the local Union by the statement that since the closing of the books of the Central, returns for export apples have increased the total sales by that amount.

The smaller figure was given the Review by Mr E. R. Simpson in an interview published on the 6th inst., on the subject of representation of the different locals in the Okanagan United Growers and the Central directorate. The larger sum gives further argument for his contentions.

Lieut. Wm. Broad Falls at Vimy.

Second of Family to be Killed in Present War.

The Summerland friends of the Broad family were advised by phone on Saturday that another of their boys had fallen in battle.

Prof. Broad, who left here on Saturday morning to return to Calgary, was met at Vernon with the dread official telegram telling him of his loss.

Lieut. Wm. E. L. Broad is the second son of Professor and Mrs Broad to have been killed in the present war, as it will be remembered that in September last Pte. Percy Broad, who was, before enlisting, with a Calgary law firm, surrendered his young life. In the present instance it is the eldest son that has been killed, and this has come as a terrible blow to the parents. Another brother, Lieut. Harold Broad, is now at the front.

The late Lieut. Wm. E. L. Broad was a member of the law firm of McLean, Patterson & Broad of Calgary, where he has a large circle of friends. He was also well-known to many in Summerland, having visited here at the orchard home of his parents on Jones' Flat. Much sympathy will be felt for the bereaved family.

Irrigation Bill Again Discussed

Victoria, April 18.—That the new Irrigation Bill is the beginning of public utility legislation was declared by Hon. Mr Patullo, Minister of Lands in the House yesterday, during committee consideration of the bill. The minister was kept busy answering criticism of Mr Jones of South Okanagan with regard to the measure, Mr Bowser and Mr Ross also putting in a word now and then. The committee did not make any material progress on the bill, and it is still in committee stage.

Mr Jones thought that in the event of systems being taken away from the companies ample notice should be given to the Old Country bondholders. Mr Bowser criticised the measure as being confiscatory, too drastic, retro-active, and wrong in principle because it took property from one set of men and handed it to another.

Mr Jones objected to the wording of the provisions making water systems appurtenant to the lands of the individual owners. For example, where a company had five thousand acres it could build its main canals to carry water for that area but its laterals and its reservoirs would be built year by year to take care of development and cultivation. If it had sold two thousand acres that area would be getting and paying for water. If the government decided to declare that particular system appurtenant to the individual water user's lands, what would happen about the three thousand acre area?

Hon. Mr Patullo said that this section would have an interest in the same just as the owners of the sold portion held.

"Then you would be taxing lands not getting water," objected Mr Jones.

Mr McDonald of North Okanagan considered that as the unsold lands or unsettled lands without water laterals were enhanced in value by the existence of the system they should pay water rates. Hon. Mr Patullo remarked that no doubt the water users would form water municipalities.

Capt. Pearson Will Visit Summerland

Y. M. C. A. Officer will Tell What Is Being Done for Canadian Soldiers.

Captain H. A. Pearson, for two years senior officer of the Y.M.C.A. in France, will be in Summerland on Monday evening next to address a public meeting of the citizens of the community in Campbell's Hall.

Capt. Pearson will tell how our boys live in France, of their heroism and sacrifices, and what the Y.M.C.A. is able to do to supply comforts for their lives. His message should be heard by everyone.

For two years Captain Pearson has been in close touch with the work of the Y.M.C.A. on the firing line, and his work will be of a most interesting nature. He will tell of the early days of the conflict when England's "contemptible little army" undertook to stem the tide of Germans on their march to Calais and the sea, and of how they did it. He will relate how with bulldog pluck and tenacity, with unexampled courage and admirable fortitude the little army held on and on, despite overwhelming odds, with the result that even in the first flush of victory the enemy was met with a resistance that has grown stronger and stronger, until now the pendulum has swung the other way, the tide of battle has turned, and is carrying the Allied arms to victory.

In all the long three years of struggle the organization of the military Y.M.C.A. has done a wonderful and most helpful work, and although practically lost sight of in the hurrying of great events it still remains as one of the greatest blessings to the soldier at the front, in the hospitals, and in the training camps. It is to point out the value of this association and the necessity of maintaining its efficiency that Captain Pearson is visiting Summerland, and it is to this end that the public are invited to hear him next Monday.

"Then I take it the government is continuing the policy of water municipalities which has been a policy for several years," remarked Mr Jones. He wanted to know the government's intentions respecting government ownership, but the minister promptly refused to give him any information on that point. The minister, when Mr Jones intimated that some of the companies were ready to hand over their systems to the government, replied that some of them, indeed, were threatening that unless they were taken over they would cease to supply water. This legislation, he declared, was the beginning of public utility legislation governing public utility bodies such as irrigation companies, and requiring them to live up to their duties. It might be necessary later as a matter of fact to take even larger powers than this bill contained.

"Are we to take it that the government is committed to public utility legislation?" asked Mr Ross. The minister denied that he had made any such statement.

Forms for the signature of citizens, "for" or "against" the re- adoption of the daylight saving plan have been placed about the community in a number of public places. From what has been learned the signatures are nearly all on the side of the "fors."

Will Continue Experimental Work Here

Prov. Minister of Agriculture Answers Questions on Experimental Plots.

Some information of interest to the farmers of this Valley and the province generally as to the work being done by the local government to develop and encourage agriculture by the maintenance of experimental and demonstration plots, came out in the House the other day when the Minister was asked to answer some questions put by Mr Stewart. To the question as to how many such plots were controlled by the government, and where situated, the Hon. Mr Oliver replied:

Twelve demonstration plots in field crops; twenty-seven demonstration and experimental orchards, small fruit and vegetable demonstration plots, spraying experimental plots, etc. Field crop demonstration plots are located at Armstrong, Chilliwack, Rose Hill, Edgewood, Grand Forks, Rock Creek, Courtenay, Errington, Pitt Meadows, Fort George, Aldermere, and North Nechako; and the demonstration orchards at Cowichan, Nanaimo, Hammond, Aldergrove, Salmon Arm, Birchbrook, Willow Point, Shuswap, and New Denver. Experimental orchards are maintained at Rossland, Wardner, Waldo, Windermere, Golden, and Nicola, and apple-seab spraying experimental plots at Kelowna, Nelson, Salmon Arm, Vernon, and Creston. There is an apple-anthrax control experimental plot at Keating. We have the Southern Okanagan Small Fruit and Vegetable Experimental Station at Summerland, and a small fruit demonstration plot at Chilliwack, and strawberry experimental plot at Hatzic. General experimental plots at Terrace, Lawn Hill, and Bella Coola are also controlled by the Department.

These plots are maintained for the purpose of experimental work in the growing of alfalfa, corn, and other soiling and fodder crops; grains grasses, etc; for the purpose of demonstrating proper methods of tillage and rotation and, to find out the varieties of different kinds of crops which are best suited to the different districts, and for the production of selected seed, and for general experimental and demonstration work. The horticultural plots are for the purpose of demonstrating correct methods of orchard practice; the testing of the suitability of different varieties of fruits for districts; the control of insect pests and diseases; to carry out investigational work in the growing of small fruits and vegetables; to indicate which are the best varieties of each kind of fruit for different districts; what soil improvement methods are necessary; what fertilizers are required; and generally to carry out educative work in horticultural matters.

When asked the annual cost of working these plots the Minister's reply was:—Cowichan, nothing; Nanaimo, nothing; Hammond, nothing; Aldergrove, nothing; Salmon Arm, $34.20; Birchbrook, nothing; Willow Point, nothing; Shuswap, nothing; New Denver, nothing; Rossland, nothing; Wardner, nothing; Waldo, nothing; Windermere, $16.10; Golden, $49.40; Nicola, $18.11; Kelowna, $36.07; Nelson, $1.50; Salmon Arm, $66.70; Vernon, $59.53; Creston, nothing; Keating, nothing; Summerland, $1,000; Chill-

Brush Fire at Trout Creek Point

Gives cause for Alarm among Citizens there.

Many of the inhabitants of Trout Creek Point put in an anxious few hours this week in fear that a brush fire which had gotten beyond control would sweep over the district. Fortunately there was but little wind, and what there was, was in a favorable direction so that no great damage was done.

The conflagration started from a small fire which Mr McKay had set on Tuesday evening to burn up some rubbish on his lot, and which quickly got beyond his control, and soon assumed alarming proportions, spreading over about twenty acres, south of the old wharf road and east of the main highway. By Wednesday evening it had so extended and the blaze was so intense as to attract attention for miles around. It was not until Thursday that the fire was under control and the neighborhood again rested easy. Had the wind sprung up it is said that it would have been impossible to save at least two or three homes.

Peachland Gets More Bad News

Pte. Gordon McDougall, one of Peachland's young soldiers, has been seriously wounded, according to a cabled message to his mother, Mrs Elizabeth McDougall.

The cable stated that Pte. McDougall had received a serious wound in the neck on Tuesday, the 10th. As it is now ten days since he was wounded and there has been no further news there is good reason to hope that the condition of the young volunteer is satisfactory.

Will Remain In The East

Word has been received here that A. L. Moreland, who went east a few weeks ago, has finally decided to accept a responsible position in Hamilton, Ontario, and will not return to Summerland. He was offered the position while here, and was asked to go and investigate before giving his answer. The position is that of business manager of a hospital, to which extensive additions have recently been made to accommodate invalided soldiers. Mrs Moreland and family will leave shortly to join Mr Moreland.

Coquihalla Pass Open Next Week

That the Kettle Valley railway line through Coquihalla Pass will be open for traffic early next week is now confidently expected. Weather conditions have improved, so far as snow falls are concerned, and there remains only the clearing of the track of the numerous small slides not already shovelled off.

wnek, $171.46; Hatzic, $150.25; Terrace, $1,301.05; Lawn Hill, $861.28; Bella Coola, $735.31.

It is the intention of the Department to discontinue some of the field crop lots. Others will be operated till the objects for which they have been started have been obtained. It is proposed to continue the horticultural plots at Wardner, Waldo, Windermere, New Denver, Kelowna, Nelson, Salmon Arm, Vernon, Creston, Keating, Summerland, and Hatzic.

O.U.G. Appoint Sales Manager.

Important Position Goes to H. W. Morgan.

Vernon, April 19.—Special to the Review.—The Directors of the United Growers, Ltd., have announced the appointment of Mr H. W. Morgan as sales manager. This decision has been reached after careful consideration of the various applications received.

Mr Morgan, who assumes his duties early next month, will have entire charge of the selling operations of the business and comes to the United Growers very highly recommended, being at the present time manager of the Lethbridge Mercantile Company, Ltd., previously manager of the Brown Fruit Company, Ltd., Edmonton. He has had years of experience in the marketing of fruit and vegetables, and holds the goodwill of the trade throughout the prairie provinces.

The directors have given considerable time and thought to the matter of filling this position, realizing that the man required must of necessity be possessed of considerable experience in the actual marketing of fruit and vegetables at prairie points.

With the outside selling staff already appointed and lining up business in their respective territories, it is felt that the sales force is now complete, and is such that the growers can with confidence rely on the successful marketing of the increased tonnage expected.

Offering Prizes.

A visit was made to the Central School this week by Messrs. R. H. Helmer and W. M. Wright for the purpose of interesting the young folk in farm production. There will be formed here, if there are enough applicants, a club or clubs, for the growing of potatoes, raising of chickens, pigs and calves. Substantial prizes are offered for competition in these lines.

Competitors will be given full instructions and looked after during the season. Seed for one-tenth of an acre of potatoes will be provided free, and where the boy or girl cannot get eggs, pure bred eggs will be supplied for 50 cents for the setting.

In addition to the local prizes of $5.00, $3.00 and $2.00 there are provincial prizes of $10.00, $8.00 and $5.00 offered in addition to a silver cup for the highest score made.

It is hoped that there will be a large number of entries for these competitions. The education and the inspiration they will give will make it well worth while.

No Exemption for Church Property

Municipal Committee at Victoria Opposed to Amendments

Victoria, April 18.—Exemption of church sites from taxation as applied for by way of amendment to the Municipal Act was refused by the municipal committee this morning. There will therefore not be any change in the existing situation unless an amendment to the act is successfully introduced and carried on the floor of the House. The municipal committee this morning declined to approve of the reported requests by advocates of church exemption placed before it at various times during the present session.

FRIDAY, APRIL 20, 1917.

IF THE SMEAR—not the only one—not the political character of this province, the Vancouver ballot plugging, is really to be investigated and the besmeared punished, the hearts of many of her citizens will be made glad.

Premier Brewster has at last brought before the legislature a bill authorizing an enquiry into those alleged by-election irregularities.

It gives the three commissioners Judges Galliher, Murphy, and Macdonald, the power necessary to make the inquiry as searching as possible, and to get to the very bottom of the plugging conspiracy, as it is now publicly known. The commission will meet in Vancouver, though if found necessary it may sit in other places in or outside of Canada. The commission is also empowered to make inquiry into facts and circumstances subsequent to the time of the by-election.

There are thousands of both the chief political parties and also of that other section of the electorate, the independents, that desire and are determined to have clean politics. Let us hope, for the well-being of our future, that it is but a small minority of our citizens who will condone anything but honorable dealing and British fair play in our public life. The majority will support any political leader in a sincere endeavour to remove disease from our political organism—the stain that now blackens the reputation of this fair province.

And may we see early action to discredit the statement that this part of our beloved Canada is in the grip of the ballot manipulators—the heads of the liquor traffic—who are alleged to have so corrupted the ballot as to defeat the will of the people.

BRITISH COLUMBIA contains 250,000,000 acres, 92,000,000 of which are forest land, 33,000,000 of this latter area carry commercial timber, the other 60,000,000 acres having been burned over and is now more or less covered with young growth. Even the 33,000,000 acres of forest mentioned above did not escape fire, for there are only about 17,000,000 acres entirely uninjured by fire.

These figures have just been published from Ottawa, and are pronounced authoritative. The stand of merchantable timber is reported by the investigators to be about 360,000,000,000 feet. Measures are now in effect to protect this enormous wealth. A very satisfactory feature of the report is the statement that the annual growth of timber in British Columbia is five or six times the amount of the annual cut, so that, if cutting be properly regulated, a great increase in the annual production might be made without impairing the permanency of the supply.

Why in the name of all that is good, great and glorious should this or any other paper be asked to run gratuitously a long discourse on how to plant spuds—important as that subject is just now? Why not, in a business like manner, prepare a campaign of paid advertising on the subject and send it out on a business basis to the newspapers of British Columbia, just as the Dominion, the Ontario, the Manitoba, and the Alberta governments have done or are doing? Do they think all editors and publishers lack ordinary business sense? It is time our government was waking up to this subject.—Trail News

Orchard and Farm:
Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness
in the complex Business of Farming.

Disinfection of Potatoes for Seed.

The object of seed disinfection is to kill the pathogenic organisms on the surface of the tubers before planting. The treatment may be made shortly before planting or earlier, but in either case care should be exercised to prevent reinfection of the tubers by their coming in contact with old sacks, containers, or implements containing any of the disease germs. Seed treatment is necessary for the control of such troubles as black leg, common scab, Rhizoctonia and silver scurf.

The most important fungicides for potato disinfection are corrosive sublimate and formaldehyde.

The standard strength for the corrosive sublimate steep is as follows: Corrosive sublimate, 4 ounces; water, 30 gallons. The corrosive sublimate should be dissolved in hot water and diluted to the requisite volume. The seed tubers should be dipped in the solution for an hour and a half to two hours. In carrying out this treatment the following special points should be kept in mind:

1 Use wooden vessels, (pails, barrels or tanks), as the solution will corrode metals.

2 Use a new solution after treating five or six lots of seed, since the fungicidal value is rapidly weakened. The solution does not lose strength by standing.

3 Corrosive sublimate is a DEADLY INTERNAL POISON. It is not injurious to the skin, and hence may be handled without danger.

4 Potatoes treated with this poison should never be eaten or fed to animals.

Seed stock may be treated some weeks before planting or the disinfection may be delayed until the planting season. In the former case only whole tubers should be treated, while for immediate planting they may be treated either before or after cutting. The advantages of treatment after cutting are that some of the smaller infected areas will be exposed and more effectively disinfected; also that bacteria or fungous spores that have been deposited on the cut surfaces of the tubers will be exposed to the action of the fungicide and killed.

BRIDGE GRAFTING OF FRUIT TREES.

For the treatment of trees that have been girdled round the base of the trunk by injuries due to quadrupeds, parasitic insects, or mechanical agents, W. F. Fletcher in United States Department of Agriculture Farmer's Bulletin No. 710 advises "bridge grafting," made by using scions or small limbs to connect the two portions of the bark of a stock which have been separated by injury, the ends of the scions uniting with the uninjured parts above and below the wound.

When the girdle of bark removed from the trunk is too wide to permit of the above grafting, young plants of the same species are transplanted round the base of the tree. All their branches are cut away and the top of their trunks are grafted into the trunk of the tree below the upper edge of the wound. The old tree is thus provided with a new root system which enables it to survive.

A WORLD CHALLENGE TO FARMERS.

Produce, produce, produce! It is a world challenge as we stand at the threshold of another springtime. Never before have farmers faced a growing season when their efforts to grow something to eat seemed so certain of reward. From reichstag, parliament, and congress come warnings that another half-crop will put whole nations on starving rations. From a world viewpoint things are bad enough as they are, but the silver lining is the 1917 harvest. The genius of those into whose hands the soil is given is put to the test. How will it be met? Is the work of the year planned for the maximum production? Will the seed grow? Will it yield heavily? Is the land to be put in good tilth? Is there power enough or equipment enough? Is the soil fertility high, or can it be made so? Are the animals well enough bred to turn rough feed into maximum amount of meat, milk, wool and power? Are the wastes stopped, the inefficiencies corrected? Is every man at his proper post in the farm organization? All that is left is the weather, and many centuries of work in the open fields have taught the farmer how to substitute faith for prophecy in that regard.—Breeder's Gazette.

Gets Information On Farm Loans

Only 27 per cent. of the applicants for loans under the Agricultural Credits Act have received the assistance asked for, according to the replies to questions asked by Mr Jones, M.P.P., and answered by Hon. J. Oliver, as below:

A Tractor For The Garden.

A garden tractor now on the market develops nearly three horsepower, the pull on the drawbar being a little less than one horsepower. It weighs 450 pounds, and has wheels 25 inches high, 3½ inch tire. The height of the handle can be adjusted to suit the operator. It will cultivate anything that grows in rows.

Any kind of garden hoes, cultivator tooth, knives or disks can be quickly attached, and a boy or girl can operate the machine, for it needs only to be steered. By going astride the row this tractor cultivates all vegetables grown in narrow rows such as onions, beets, carrots, and by going between the rows it will cultivate maize, potatoes, peas, etc.

This tractor can also be used for driving other small machines such as pumps, churns, cream separators, wood-saws, and the like.

11. Are instalments of principal and interest due by borrowers being promptly paid? Yes.
12. How many have fallen due to date? 20.

Further Beautify School Grounds

Prof. J. W. Gibson, Victoria, director of elementary agriculture in the schools of the province was in town recently to make a preliminary survey of the grounds of the local school built some three years ago. The object is to be in a better position to advise as to the best plan for further improvement. It will be recollected the School Board, with the assistance and co-operation of the Farmers' and the Women's Institutes last fall in the course of a two days' "bee" effected very commendable improvement to the grounds. They hope to do still more at another time.

The Professor expressed himself as being delighted with the chosen site of the school, and offered a number of suggestions to the School Board in reference to the continuance of the work — suggestions which no doubt will meet with the approval of the people generally.

When the suggested improvements to the already attractive ground is completed, Naramata will have a beauty spot second to none in the province, and one which will be a credit not only to the district but also to the wisdom of the government in erecting so fine and commodious a school in this corner of the Southern Okanagan.

Arbor Day Soon.

The regular monthly meeting of the School Board on Tuesday evening, aside from the routine business, resulted in a decision to go on with the Arbor Day idea. It is understood that an effort will be made to secure the assistance and co-operation of the Farmers' and the Women's Institutes, same as last year, when so much actual progress was made.

Just now it would appear that a very little more by way of improvement will enable the board to draw a grant of $125 for other and necessary improvements. While no day is set as yet, it is thought that May 10th might be as good as any in the near future. The aid of the Institutes will be sought in selecting a Schools Improvement Committee.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

Current Events — OF — Town & District

Capt. Languedoc is going ahead with the construction of his new residence on his fruit lot.

Master Harry Roe, or as he is more generally known, "Happy," spent the Easter holiday season with his aunt, Mrs D. O. Hughes.

A party in honor of a recurring birthday anniversary was held last evening at the home of Mrs H. T. Davies, in honor of her sister, Mrs D. O. Hughes.

The two daughters of Mrs H. P. Salting, after a pleasant holiday at Summerland, returned to their homes to again resume their studies at the school.

The two youngest children of Mrs M. M. Allen were laid up for several days recently, both afflicted with la grippe, but in more than an ordinary degree.

Recent visitors to town were Mr and Mrs Chas. Tomlin and children. The party travelled by auto, and while here were the guests of Mr and Mrs J. C. Lyons.

Mr D. O. Hughes has removed with her family to the Scaffie cottage, formerly occupied by Mr Hall of the Naramata Supply, at one time the local manager.

Quite a large shipment of fruit trees from the Fraser Valley Nurseries at Aldergrove, B.C., reached town this week to the firm's local agent, T. H. Boothe, for distribution amongst the Naramata customers.

On account of the special trip to Penticton on Sunday to hear the address on Y.M.C.A. work, the regular church service is to be dispensed with, and the Sunday School will meet at ten o'clock in the forenoon instead of at two in the afternoon.

The jitney service in aid of Red Cross work by Mr Aikins is proving quite attractive, as indeed it should. Early this week a party consisting of Mr and Mrs J. Young, and Mr and Mrs King, availed themselves of the pleasure and comfort of the convenience.

Mrs W. J. Steele is giving a series of chain teas in aid of Red Cross. This week she entertained in honor of the young boys, and next week will give one in honor of the young girls. This act on the part of the hostess is greatly appreciated for its thoughtfulness and liberality.

The Okanagan Telephone Company, ever alive to the calls of and for extensions, have this week added several more subscribers to their already lengthy list in this place. The need for this service is becoming more and more insistent as the business of the community enlarges.

Mrs Panrucker and Mrs Mitchell of Alix, Alberta, after several weeks in town enjoying the benefits of the Okanagan climate, returned to their homes last Friday. Both the visitors formed quite a circle of friends during their stay in Naramata, and both expressed a wish to come back at another time.

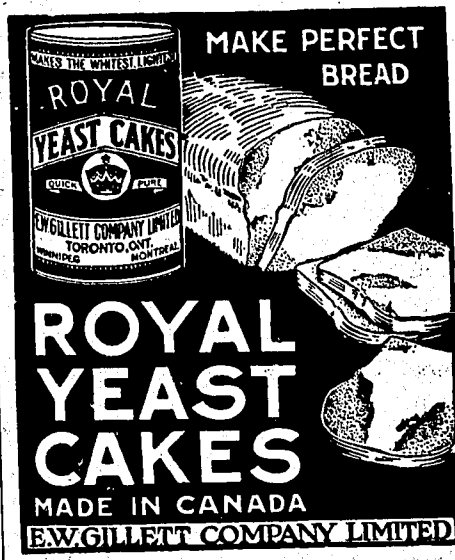

Manager R. Echlin of the Okanagan Telephone Co. at Penticton, was in town on Saturday last on business. An effort is being made to have the service of the 'phone more widely extended, and it is understood that a number of the ranchers have signified their intention to connect up their homes with this modern necessity.

The fruit ranchers are planning upon a big season this year. Everyone appears to wear the glad smile of returns at the end of the season. If these hopes are realized, it is safe to predict that the whole of the Okanagan will automatically become one vast booster's club, with every resident an active member, and everyone with his or her dues paid up a year in advance.

Another real estate transfer is reported this week whereby the Reid place becomes the property of Principal Thos. Rayner of the local superior school. This and other transfers, and others now pending, would lend to the revival of the hope that the Okanagan fruit farm pendulum was taking another swing in the right direction and that before long we would be back into the old swing of events.

The Farmers' Institute, under whose auspices and management, associated with the Women's Institute, last year's fall show of fruit and vegetables was conducted, are planning upon holding another exhibition this coming season, and already have their plans pretty well under way. It is hoped that through the attractive prize list to induce a greater number to take an active part in the activity so deserving of support and encouragement.

The card party last Thursday evening under Red Cross auspices, and conducted by Mrs Fred Simpson and Miss Grieves, drew the record crowd, and the record collection too. There were nine tables, counting the extra table for the few who do not play the progressive game. The scores throughout the evening were, on the whole, average. The final count placed Mr Cook and Mrs W. Steele as the top notchers, while more belated positions and honors fell to the lot of Miss Clara Palmer, who played "man" in the dearth of male partners, and Mrs P. S. Roe. The dainty lunch served in the middle of the program was fully up to standard and was much enjoyed by the merry guests of the evening.

Staff-Sergeant Lewis J. Block of the Canadian Ordnance Corps has come back from England. He arrived at St John on Monday the 8th from Woolwich, where he has undergone, at the Military College there, a five months' study in armament and equipment. After reporting at headquarters he came west, and passed through Naramata on Tuesday the 17th. He just got off the boat to greet his father and sister, who were on the wharf expecting him, after which he went straight on to Kaleden, where his wife with their child has been staying with her parents for some weeks. At the end of the present week he is to proceed to Esquimalt, where he will be stationed at present. His numerous friends here and in the neighborhood will be pleased to hear that the result of the three examinations at different times of his studies has been highly satisfactory in every way. Sergt. Block says all at the college, instructors right up to the adjutant and colonel of the college, have been most kind and pleasant, but we all know that when a man shows aptitude and a thirst for knowledge in the subject he studies teaching no longer is a task but becomes a pleasure.

A new apple-grading machine is operated by motor power, and has a capacity varying from 40 to 60 barrels per hour. The apples can be graded in seven different sizes, from 2½ inches up to 4½ inches in diameter, each size varying one quarter of an inch. The principle on which the grader is designed and constructed is very simple. It is an endless belt with plates forming hollow squares which change their size as they travel towards the end of the grader. The variation in the size of the squares is accomplished by the spreading of the belts.

Some five thousand or more coyote skins have been shipped out of Ashcroft this winter, the bounty on which alone amounted to $15,000.

Doings of Peachland

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Friday afternoon, the 13th inst., when, after the reading of the minutes, Mrs Keating gave Current Events, and Miss Needham gave the following as the motto for the month: "A little bit of patience often makes the sunshine come, and a little bit of love makes a very happy home; a little bit of hope makes a rainy day look gay, and a little bit of charity makes glad a weary way." The Roll Call was answered by the name of a favorite flower. Mrs R. C. Lipsett, member of the Advisory Board, then gave a very interesting and instructive paper on "The House Fly." It is rather alarming when you consider that one fly may have 125,000,000 descendants in a single season, and that each of the hairs that cover their legs carries an average of 1,000 dreadful disease germs. How many millions or billions or trillions of disease germs are we exposed to with even a few flies in the vicinity. So it behooves us to be up and doing, and swat the fly, and clear up their breeding places, which are places of filth, and see that the windows and doors are well screened, and the sugar, butter, milk, etc., are kept covered during the summer months. Mrs Lipsett told us that at the outset of the Spanish American War the sanitary arrangements were anything but up-to-date, and more soldiers died from cholera, typhoid, etc. than from the enemy's bullets, because the disease germs were carried by the supposedly innocent little house fly and mosquito. These conditions were all changed when the filth was cleared away, and marshes drained and the buildings screened. Mrs Lipsett also gave a demonstration of useful household conveniences which have been thoroughly tested and found to be of value. These articles can be obtained through the Institute. Refreshments were served by the social committee at the close.

Mrs J. N. Harrison of Summerland spent the day in town last Wednesday when she arranged for the care of her fruit lot for the season, returning to Summerland at night.

Mr R. Howell of Penticton visited at the home of Mrs E. House a couple of days last week.

Mrs Will Aitkins is enjoying a visit from her niece, Miss Lupton of Kelowna.

Mrs Lee Mills was a passenger to Penticton on Wednesday, returning home on Monday.

Mrs Buchanan is visiting her brother, Mr J. D. McDonald of Penticton.

Mr R. Harrington is having the pleasure of entertaining his mother and sister, who have spent the winter in Vancouver and New Westminster. They expect to leave next week for their home in Sydney, Nova Scotia, staying off at Calgary and Toronto to visit friends.

Mr A. J. McKenzie returned home from the prairies on Wednesday. Though he did not make any deal while there, yet he has two prospects in view.

The regular monthly meeting of the Baptist Women's Mission Society was held at the home of Mrs Murdin last Wednesday afternoon. Several interesting papers were read, and the election of officers took place, which resulted in the re-appointment of Mrs Scott as President, Mrs Murdin, Vice-President, and Mrs McDougall, Secretary-Treasurer. Refreshments were served at the close.

The regular monthly meeting of the Methodist Women's Circle was held at the home of Mrs I. Elliott on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs Bennett arrived home on Thursday to get things in shape for the summer's work on the lot, and get the house ready for her sister, Mrs Moore, who will be coming back soon.

Mr W. D. Miller came up from Penticton on Thursday. He stayed a day, and Mr Cutbill took him back in his car.

Mrs D. A. Kirkby and Mrs Lowe of Penticton, who have been visiting Mrs Kirkby's parents, Mr and Mrs J. McLaughlan, returned to Penticton on Thursday.

Miss Ethel House was a passenger to Penticton on Thursday, where she was married to Mr R. Howell. After the marriage ceremony the happy couple left for a short honeymoon at the Coast. Mr Howell went to Victoria to enlist on Monday, for he feels that he must do his share in defending his country, while Mrs Howell returns. (Continued on page 6.)

The one in the head is causing some deafness, but he expects that time will remedy that. He expected to be sent to a convalescent hospital soon.

It is reported here that about 90 per cent of the men of the 143rd, the Bantams, who went overseas for railway construction work, are going into training in England as infantry. That proportion of the battalion passed into the "A" class when examined on the other side, and were evidently considered too fit to be put on railway construction work. Jns. Ritchie, Edward Logic, and George Dale all passed the test, and are together in the infantry training camp.

It is understood that Mrs Harwood, who went to stay with her daughter at the Coast, when Mr Harwood enlisted, will return to Summerland shortly.

Jas. Kean who joined the C.F.A. some time ago is now in hospital suffering from a sprain caused by his horse falling on him, while training at Hastings Park.

The enterprising proprietor of "The Glen," Penticton, is extending an invitation to the readers of the Review to visit his attractive ice cream parlors when in that town. See page 2.

Mr Geo. Spencer of St Thomas, Ontario, reached here on Wednesday evening, and is at the home of his nieces, the Misses Spencer. Accompanying him were Mrs Rice, a niece, and her little son. Mrs Rice is a sister of Mr Stockdale, vice-president of western lines of the C.P.R.

Mr and Mrs Bates and family, of Knob Hill, left on Wednesday for Summerland, where they will make their home in future. Mr Bates has been forced to seek a change owing to failing health. Mr Bates has purchased a small farm at Summerland, and Mr Alex. Steven of Summerland has taken over Mr Bates' farm at Knob Hill.—Armstrong Advertiser.

Mrs Downton entertained last Friday evening at a dance at Hotel Summerland in honor of her niece, Mrs T. A. Woods of Kelowna, who with her two little ones has been visiting Mrs Downton since early in the month. Both she and Mr Woods, who spent a few days here, are delighted with Summerland, and may return at a later date to take up fruit growing. Mrs Woods will return to Kelowna on Monday.

It is said that the voters' lists close at the end of this month. If so it is time the many new lady voters and others who are not sure their names are now on the list were giving this their attention. The secretaries of the local political organizations, Mr J. A. Kirk and Mr A. H. Steven can put any enquirer in touch with the officials in charge of the local lists. Our Peachland and Naramata readers should also give this matter attention.

The regular monthly meeting of the West Summerland Women's Institute was held on Friday, April 13th. After the business was over Mrs Andrew read a paper on "Emergencies in the Home and How to Meet Them." Dr Matthewman spoke for some time on "Dentistry for Children." It is to be regretted that the attendance was not larger, as it is not often we have the pleasure of hearing such good subjects so well treated. After the meeting a short social time was spent, 10c. being charged in aid of Y.M.C.A.—Cont.

WAS A WISE CHOICE.

The class had been instructed that the house fly was dangerous to health. The lesson sank deep into the mind of little Archibald, who, when asked to write a composition on the subject, produced the following:

"The fly is an insect, he has six legs, he is more dangerous than a lion, but I had rather a fly bite me than a lion."

WHERE ARE THEY?

The man who had made a huge fortune was speaking a few words to a number of students at a business class. Of course, the main theme of his address was himself.

"All my success in life, all my tremendous financial prestige," he said proudly, "I owe to one thing alone—pluck, pluck, pluck!"

He made an impressive pause here, but the effect was ruined by one student, who asked impressively:

"Yes, sir; but how are we to find the right people to pluck?"

The members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church were At Home on Wednesday to the members of similar organizations affiliated with the Presbyterian and Baptist churches. An excellent program was enjoyed by the goodly number of ladies present.

An employee of the contractor for the building of the new Trout Creek School arrived this week to make preliminary preparations for work. The contractor is expected to arrive next week. The first thing to be done after the ground is ready is the moulding of a concrete foundation.

Those of our citizens who made the acquaintance of Mr Scott Rand during his short residence in Summerland will be glad to learn that he is to return at once. Mr Rand had been settled on his Garnett Valley farm, between the Wisner and Adams properties, when he was forced to go back east by the death of his father. It is now stated that he has sold the home property and is on his way here with a carload of effects. Mrs Rand and their son are coming too.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Friday, March 30th, at the home of Mrs H. D. Bentley. The subject for the day was "Narcotics." The following resolution was passed and sent to the Hon. H. C. Brewster and Mr J. W. Jones, M.L.A.: Resolved that in view of the grave doubt as to the honesty of the soldier's vote on the prohibition measure, we urge the Government of B.C. to pass a prohibitory liquor law, to take effect on July 1st, 1917, subject to a second referendum two years after peace is declared.

The position of honorary corresponding secretary of the Overseas Club has been accepted by Mr F. A. Miller of Upper Trout Creek. This Newspaper is the "Trade-Journal" of the Buyers of Home Supplies for this District.

A MAJORITY of the women who read the Review READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN IT WITH EVEN GREATER INTEREST THAN THEY GIVE THE NEWS. For, after all, the news is interesting in an abstract way—usually; while the advertisements are interesting in a directly personal way.

The Review conducts a persistent campaign of education for its readers as to the value and interest to them of the "ads" in the paper. It suggests the value of the SERVICE which the merchants render to them in their advertising.

A business man, engaged in a distinct kind of business, has his "trade journal," a publication devoted to that interest, keeping him in touch with all that is going on in his line. Often his trade journal saves him appreciable sums of money through the facts and tips which it gives to him.

Every woman, who is the "buyer" for a home, is engaged in a very real "business." It is a complex one, and one in which much money may be unwisely spent—and in which economies are nearly always possible. To these buyers for the home the Review comes—with its "store news"—as an indispensable TRADE JOURNAL.

The merchant whose business is not advertised in this trade journal of the home "buyers" may expect very little attention from these buyers. The merchant whose advertising is fullest and most informing may expect, and receives, the largest share of their attention and favor.

Daylight Saving Meets with some Opposition.

Favor Nation-wide Adoption

The local adoption of the Daylight Saving plan is being more opposed this year than it was last spring when first proposed. Before the Municipal Council would take any action on the request of the Board of Trade that the plan be again brought into effect here, a petition from the citizens stating their wishes was asked for. Accordingly forms for the signatures of citizens both for and against were left in a number of public places. A recent inspection of a number of these reveals the fact that a good proportion of the total signatures are in the "against" column, although the "fors" are doubtless in the majority.

That the Daylight Saving plan is a good one when made general is conceded by nearly every one, and many who have expressed disapproval of the local adoption of the plan are strongly in favor of its adoption by Canada as a whole, or even by the province.

Whether there will be enough opposition when the lists are completed to discourage any action on the part of the Council, cannot be foretold with certainty. Certain it is, however, that there is now apparent more opposition than was anticipated by the advocates of the Daylight Saving plan.

Road Engineer Is Appointed.

North and South Okanagan, Similkameen, Greenwood, and Grand Forks have been grouped into one district for road purposes, and all the roads in unorganized districts in these five electoral districts will be in charge of one engineer, Mr Athol Stewart, C.E., of Victoria. Under this engineer general foremen, presumably for each riding, or at least for territories following closely the electoral boundaries, will be named. The position of general foreman for South Okanagan has been given to the Summerland man who has been acting in the capacity of road foreman or superintendent for some weeks, T. J. McAlpine.

Engineer Stewart is now at Princeton, and is expected here any day.

Was Downed by Enraged Bull.

To be forced almost to death's door by an enraged bull was the terrible experience of one of Summerland's most respected citizens, Thos. Dale. Though the struggle was a severe one, and sorely tried the vitality of a man not now enjoying his wonted strength, and severely bruised and unstrung in nerve, it is now believed that there has been no internal injury, and no bones were broken. The accident occurred on Saturday afternoon last, and Mr Dale is now making good progress towards recovery.

It is said that the pure bred Holstein, which has been on the Dale farm for two or three years, has been showing a disposition to be ugly, and that Mr Dale would not permit any one else to care for him. He had taken the animal out into the yard for water when it suddenly turned on him. It was not long before the pole by which the bull was led broke, and being at this additional disadvantage, and the struggle continuing, Mr Dale was nearly exhausted when he was discovered by a passing citizen,

Architect's Plans For Bank Building Now Completed

Will be Handsome Structure of Stucco and Wood Design

The architects plans for the new bank building to be erected on the site recently purchased by the Bank of Montreal has been received at the local office of that institution.

The building will have a frontage of 28 ft. 3 in. and a depth of 52 ft. 3 in., and, though differing considerably from the original proposals, will be of very pleasing design, and will add greatly to the appearance of the streets on which it will front. Instead of being of brick with flat roof, as was at first proposed, it will be a pitched shingle roof, and the sides of stucco on metal lath, the upper storey being finished in the Elizabethan style of beams and stucco.

The interior plans are most complete. In the basement, which will be under the back half of the building, there will be a furnace room, a store room, a men's coat room and lavatory, and the lower portion of the vault, which will be used for the storage of old office books and papers.

The manager's office will be on the south-east corner of the main floor, the windows of which will look out on both streets. The entrance and vestibule will occupy the rest of the front. To the right, as one enters, and just beyond the manager's office will be the accountant's desk, and next the teller's cage. Beyond this, and at the end of that portion of the floor given over for public use, the ledger-keeper will be stationed. To the rear there is ample provision for further desk room. At the extreme rear, in the north-west corner, the plan provides for a vault, and beside it a ladies' toilet.

The entrance door from the street and the stairs to the floor above, will be in the north-east corner.

Along the east side of the upper floor, from front to rear, there will be a living room, dining room, and kitchen, while on the west side, separated from these by a hallway, three good sized bedrooms and a bathroom are provided.

It is the intention to set the building back from the street to give ample room for the steps up to the front entrance.

When asked when construction would begin Mr May informed the Review that specifications would first have to be prepared from these plans, and tenders for construction advertised for. The specifications and tenders will then be sent to Montreal for the approval of the head office. As soon as this approval is obtained the work will be proceeded with.

Rev. Mr Bates, lying on the ground with the enraged beast doing his best to kill him, but Mr Dale still had the animal under partial control by keeping the remaining portion of the leading pole under his leg, and thus holding down the bull's head. Mr Bates called for help, and R. T. Cook who was near quickly responded, and entering the yard at considerable risk, was successful in getting the now furiously enraged beast back to his stall.

It was feared for a time that the animal had been more than Mr Dale, in his now too rugged condition of health, could survive, but he has quickly revived, and his condition is reported to be very satisfactory.

Instructions have just been received from Dr. Tolmie, of the Department of Agriculture to dispose of the bull, and he has been sold to the butcher.

Dramatic Story Of Trench Life

Captain Pearson Depicts Surroundings of Soldiers and Tells of Great Helpfulness of Military Y. M. C. A.

It was a wonderfully fascinating story of life in the front trenches and of the terrible disadvantages under which our boys fought in the early days of the war, and also of the big place the Y.M.C.A. filled and is filling in the life of our nation's defenders to which a Summerland audience listened on Monday evening.

St. Andrew's Church was filled when Capt. H. A. Pearson, who has spent two years with our boys in the front trenches, began his wonderful story, much of which was of the very first days when our soldiers labored against great odds, facing a fully equipped and gunned army, while our men had not the guns nor the munitions. Captain Pearson pictured many of the touching scenes about the famous Y.M.C.A. camp at Hill 63. When it was first suggested that a camp be established at this dangerous point the idea was frowned upon by some of the officers who stated that the camp would not last for a day and a night. When this prediction was reported to the general of the division he said, that even if this were so, a Y.M.C.A. camp for even a day would be a God-send to many a soldier, who would not otherwise know the taste of a hot cup of tea or coffee, or have an opportunity of writing a letter home.

J. M. ROBINSON IS FINANCIAL MANAGER

Company Organized to Exploit Preserving Process.

There has been recently formed in New York a company to acquire and exploit what has become to be known here as the "Hemmings Process" of preserving various perishable commodities, such as non-alcoholic beverages, milk and dairy products, fruits, meats, fish, etc. There has, during the past few months, been a change in the control of the patent rights in this process, which have, as we understand it, reverted to the inventor, Mrs Franks, nee Miss Nellie Gallagher of Bombay, India, and the process is now termed the Gallagher Method. The story of how the possibilities of the method appealed to J. M. Robinson when he learned of it during a visit to England, is already known here.

With the inventor and others interested in the method, Mr Robinson has been busy this past winter in New York perfecting machines and organizing a parent company. Mr Robinson plans on coming to the Okanagan in the near future to carry on experiments and demonstrations, and will be accompanied by the inventor, Mrs Franks.

The directors of the Gallagher Method Corporation are: Mrs N. Franks, B.A., president and general manager; J. O. Robinson, vice-president; J. M. Robinson, financial manager; A. A. Michell, attorney, New York, secretary; L. D. Langely, New York, treasurer; F. A. Gorling, mechanical superintendent; Ralph Moore and T. S. Crane, patent attorney, New York. It is the purpose of this corporation to form parent corporations for the acquiring of the rights for the application of the method to each of the commodity lines named above.

Union Members in Extra Session

Strongly Urge Separate Pools for S. Okanagan Lake Points. Some Complaints Aired and Explained.

The shareholders of the Summerland Fruit Union were called together in special session on Tuesday when a number of subjects were discussed. There was some sharp criticism of the new directorate by several of the shareholders, and for a time it looked as though there might be a break in the ranks.

This being the first opportunity since the annual statement of the Okanagan United Growers was issued, the former president and the local Union's representative last year on the Okanagan United Growers board of directors, reviewed the reports and went into details very thoroughly.

A resolution that the Summerland Fruit Union insist that the fruit of the south lake points be pooled and sold separately, and that Peachland, Naramata, and Penticton be asked to co-operate in this, so that the fruit from all these districts be marketed apart from the products of the orchards of the more northern points was carried unanimously.

It was when certain charges were made against the president and directors that things became warm. These were that the president had demanded and accepted an increased salary, and the directors were criticised for making such an arrangement without first referring the matter to the shareholders. These charges were followed by a motion to the effect that the president be asked to resign.

President Simpson then withdrew from the chair and Vice-president W. H. Hayes was asked to preside.

The reasons for the decision of the directors to increase the remuneration of the president was explained by request by Mr Wilson. He told of the desire of the board to have the president spend more time at the Central office, and that he also give more time than had been in the past devoted to local matters. Mr Simpson, when asked to accept the position, told the directors that it would be impossible for him to give so much time to the work without being paid for his time. Two hundred dollars had been appropriated by the shareholders to pay the directors giving extra time to the business of the Union. Half of this had gone last year to the president, $80 to the vice-president, and $20 to the Naramata director. Realizing the injustice of expecting the president to give so much of his time without further remuneration, the other two paid members of the board offered to serve without payment, so that the whole $200 might be available for the president's salary. The arrangement finally agreed upon was that the president should give half his time at a total remuneration of $750, $200 of this had already been provided for. Much of the balance would be made up by the fees paid by Central for attendance at meetings in Vernon. The deficit would be made up by the local Union.

When the matter had been thoroughly discussed there seemed to be but little, if any, objection to the arrangement, though some of the members did object to the method of procedure in not having the matter put before the shareholders, notwithstanding that it had been shown that the directors had not exceeded their authority.

Can No Longer Be Separatists Says Preacher

Delivers Forceful Address on Present-day Church Problem

On Sunday evening last in the Lakefront Baptist Church Rev. A. Henderson preached a sermon which we think was most opportune under the circumstances. His text was "And Moses said unto Hobab the Midianite, we are journeying unto the place of which the Lord said I will give it you, come thou with us and we will do thee good, for the Lord hath spoken good concerning Israel." The speaker said that Moses' loyalty to his own people could not be doubted. For their sake he had refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter, with all the associated privileges of that high rank. He loved the Jewish sect to which he belonged to the extent of sacrificing himself in its interests, but in the text he stands forth as one who was not a sectarian so much as a man of cosmopolitan sympathies. He reveals a breadth of mind and a generosity of feeling astonishing to us when we think of his time and circumstances. The Jew was a pronounced separatist. In reference to all Gentiles, and particularly the Midianites, his motto was "come out from among them." But in the text we see that Moses was bigger and better than his Jewish kinsmen in that he extended to the hated Midianite not a closed fist of hostility but an open hand of welcome. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good." Hobab is the type of a large class of people who surround us to-day. They are outside the church, outside all the churches, and I often wonder if our attitude towards them is half as intelligent or half as Christian as that of Moses towards this Midianite. We are so apt to dismiss them from our mind by assuming that they are altogether so bad and we are altogether so good that there can be nothing in common between us, therefore they must go their way and we must go ours, and we are too satisfied to have it so. It is so comforting to think their unmitigated badness keeps them out of the church and that we are without fault in the matter. We need a little self-examination here, and we also need, if possible, to get at the viewpoint of "these other fellows." Perhaps a little conscientious investigation of both sides of this question would reveal that we church people suffer from some of the limitations of the Pharisee, that we are seriously handicapped by these limitations. Perhaps it would reveal that among these "outlanders," these non-church-people were men and women whose shoes latchet we are not worthy to unloose. Jesus Christ was a great mixer among men. The saints of His day thought that they

Splendid Results

On Saturday last the girls of the High and Central Schools held a sale of Home Cooking in the Parish Hall and met with generous patronage. Though they started the day with a large stock of nice things to eat the demand was greater than the supply, and the brisk sales left the girls without any goods early in the day. The young ladies have good reason to be delighted with the result of their effort, and are very grateful for the support given them by the public. The Red Cross Fund was made the larger by $25.55 as a result of the sale.

Every Qualified Voter Should Be Registered.

How to Get on Voters' List.

The amendments to the Provincial Election Act providing for the registration of the women of British Columbia as voters is now law, and every British Columbia subject, male or female, over twenty-one years old, is entitled to vote, if registered in the usual way. Under the changed law, the time for registration as a voter has been extended until Monday, May 14th, and every woman voter should make it a point to have her name upon the list.

Forms are provided by the collector of voters upon which the application is made, the form varying according to whether the applicant is a British subject by birth, by marriage to a British subject by birth, by marriage to a naturalized British subject, or by naturalization in person.

As there is a possibility of an election before another revision of the list, it is urgent that every qualified voter should make it a point to see that the proper application is filed before Monday, May 14th.

It may not be generally known that in addition to the usual number of specially appointed commissioners there is a long list of public officers who are qualified to receive applications for registration of voters. The officers include Justice of the Peace, Reeve, Councillor, Commissioner for taking affidavits in the Supreme Court, Notary Public, Provincial Constable, Judge of any Court, Stipendiary Magistrate, Municipal Clerk, Municipal Assessor, Postmaster, Postmistress, and Indian Agent. There is also the Registrar of Voters. In our case, Mr L. Norris of Vernon, and there are the local Election Commissioners, some of whom in Summerland are J. A. Kirk, D. Gray, R. V. Agur, A. B. Elliott, T. H. Riley, A. H. Steven, O. F. Zimmerman, W. Ritchie, and W. C. Kelley. There may be others of these whose names we do not have.

Preparing For Increased Sales

The Stewart Fruit Co., formerly A. Stewart & Son, are making further additions to their packing house near the Municipal Office. A 32 ft. extension is being put on the west end, the north half of which will be included in an extension of their flour and feed storage. The other, the front portion, will be used for orchard boxes, and it is the intention of the manager, M. Stewart, to change the receiving clerk and the weighing-in scales to this end. With this change the congestion of traffic on the main street at the east end of the building will be avoided.

If satisfactory arrangements can be made with the K.V.R. it is the intention of the Stewart company to erect a warehouse at the railway station.

Road Grants Heavily Cut.

The grant to be made by the province for roads in South Okanagan this year is $21,700 and for North Okanagan $27,700, making a total for both of $49,400. Last year the Okanagan grant was $79,000. Similkameen's grant of last year was $72,000, and this year it will be $25,700.

OUR READERS would do well to turn to page 4 of this issue and give earnest and serious consideration to the announcement there concerning the movement by our Boy Scouts for the conservation of waste material.

As everyone knows the Y.M.C.A. and Red Cross Society, since the beginning of the war, have been working for the comfort of our soldier boys, providing facilities for their rest and recreation and contributing to the supplies necessary to meet the demands of the different hospital units, both in France and in England. To enable these organizations to adequately cope with the increasing demands of the situation, and ensure that their activities will develop to cover every phase of the work, more and more funds are urgently needed, and our Scouts, recognizing the urgency of the cause, are going into the junk business, so that material which in all probability would otherwise be destroyed may be converted into dollars and cents for the maintenance of these organizations.

It may be that you have only a little of the materials specified and asked for, but every article counts, and the Scouts, knowing that it is the small quantities which in the aggregate make up the grand total, appeal to you for every article in the various lines which you can spare. Magnificent results have already been achieved in collecting material of this description, one city in the east realizing thousands of dollars.

Consider! Is your son, your husband, your brother at the front? What home is there not represented in some way with the Overseas Forces? REMEMBER YOUR BOYS, and show your practical sympathy with them, and such as them, by digging up all your waste material in the lines specified. If possible please put the articles in sacks, placed at some convenient point, so as to be ready when the boys call, as much ground has to be covered.

Listen for the bugle, which will announce the boys are in your neighborhood and will shortly make a call on you.

CANADA SHOULD BE AS PROUD of her wounded soldiers' victory over their wounds as she is of the glorious fights in which they fell. Their struggle up from the depths of disablement is often as hard and even as heroic as their desperate defence of Ypres, or their dashing capture of the Vimy ridge.

We hear little, altogether too little, of these hard-won victories, won by disabled men, because they are fought out in the seclusion of a hospital, not in the theatre of war, with the whole world looking on. But such victories equally deserve public recognition. They show the same spirit, the same pluck, and still more indomitable perseverance.

A preacher on Easter morning was thanked for the inspiring sermon he had just preached, on the resurrection. He said: "I had my text in front of me—a man in khaki, with an empty sleeve. He has had two resurrections already. He was buried by a shell explosion, and was dug out only just in time to save his life. That was the first. He spent months in hospital, fighting his way back to health. That was the second.

"Doctoring and nursing of course did much for him; so did the exercises and occupations that they provide nowadays—perhaps the best part of the treatment. But the man himself was working out his own resurrection, by resolutely putting his own will-power into the task. Now he is almost ready to go out into the world, a better and abler man, he says, than he was before, in spite of his lost arm.

"While the rest of us are thinking of a resurrection beyond the grave, he has won a resurrection this side of it, to a new life of activity and independence among his fellow-countrymen."

Authentic cases resembling that are not rare in the records of the Military Hospitals Commission. Here are a few that have just been communicated to us:—

A mechanic who enlisted in the Princess Patricia's Regiment was wounded, returned to Canada, spent three months in a convalescent hospital, and now earns double his former pay, having taken full advantage of the mechanical drawing and arithmetic classes carried on there. Writing to the hospital instructor, he says:—

"When I enlisted, I was earning about $3 a day at my trade. At present and since my discharge from military service, I am, technically, a better man all around; I am able now to hold a job as foreman in a machine shop, with more than twice the salary I was getting before. This benefit to me is greatly due to your practical information, and my only regret is that I was unable, after my discharge, to continue instruction with you as you had advised."

Another letter received is from an ex-private in the 18th Battalion. Before enlistment, he was getting $12 a week as driver on a city milk round. "I always had a liking for drawing," he says, "and felt that if over I had the chance I would take up a course in mechanical drawing." This opportunity came to him at one of the Commission's convalescent hospitals. After six weeks' application to the work there, he was able to secure an appointment with a salary beginning at $75 a month, with good prospects of advancement.

A locomotive fireman enlisted, was severely wounded, and had to have his left arm amputated. Under the Commission's scheme of re-education, which is offered to all men incapacitated for their former work by service, he received special training in telegraphy and railway routine. As a result, he secured an appointment as station agent and despatcher, at $110 a month.

Still another patient, formerly a mechanic, passed the Civil Service qualifying examination after instruction in hospital, and has got a Custom House position at $900 a year, rising to $1,500.

A man who had been a guide and trapper, and had never handled tools returned from the front with one eye destroyed by a wound, and the sight of the other eye impaired. In spite of all these old and new disabilities, by putting his mind to it he became a first-class carpenter after three months in the hospital workshop.

Equally remarkable is the case of a Polish laborer. He came to Canada six years ago, and worked in a coal mine till he enlisted. At the front he was both gassed and buried. Though he knew absolutely nothing about carpentry to begin with, after two months of instruction in hospital he was able to hold his own with any ordinary carpenter.

Not every man, of course can "double his pay." But one of the most cheering facts proved by experience during the war has been this—that almost all the disabled men, including the very seriously wounded, can be equipped once more with power to earn a good living.

And often, as Lord Shaughnessy said the other day, the occupations and training provided by the Military Hospitals system "reveal astonishing talents which even the man himself did not know he possessed."

DRAMATIC STORY OF TRENCH LIFE.

So the camp was established at the base of Hill 63, sheltered by some woods, and here it remained for not a day and a night, but for 91 days and 91 nights. Here the soldiers congregated in the evenings to enjoy an hour or two from the vigil of the trenches, had refreshment, listened to the music, and most important of all, wrote letters home.

Captain Pearson told his audience about the difficulty the soldier boys had at times to get these letters written. The camp at Hill 63 catered to some 80,000 men, and while there was always plenty of writing material it was an entirely different thing when it came to providing places where it might be used.

The comparatively few tables were always occupied, indeed the back of the writers would in turn be used as tables by others. Many would walk about using their caps for rests, some would hold their paper against the walls of the immense hut, while still others would lie on the ground to write. This, the Captain said, was the reason why, perhaps, the anxious ones at home did not receive letters as frequently as they might wish, and why, when some of the letters did come, they were not altogether legible.

"The Canadian soldier writes much longer letters home than does his English cousin," said Captain Pearson, "the following being somewhat typical of an English Tommy's letter: 'Dear Mother, I'm in the pink, hoping you are the same. Yours, Bill.'

Most realistic was the story of that first gas attack and its terrible effects, and of the amazing patience of the suffering lads who lay in the farm-yard next morning, their bodies being consumed with the gas.

All through his narrative of the soldier's life Captain Pearson had many amusing stories, some of which were also pathetic, when it was shown how little it took to give cheer and gladness to a weary lad: a picture postcard from home, a parcel, or even a tin of soda biscuits. How the Y.M.C.A. has encouraged letter writing is revealed in the fact that the Y.M.C.A. huts require 1,800,000 sheets of writing paper each month.

For an hour and a half or more the speaker held the crowded house in closest attention. A hint of how the boys now engaged in that great world task regard some of the things at home was contained in the suggestion that many of the home newspapers should be censored. Our politics are a mighty small thing to the boys in France. Neither will the boys when they return have any desire to separate into the denominationalism of the present day church. They will want to meet and worship in some place common to all, for over there they have learned that there is not much difference between the various sects.

Rev. A. Henderson was chairman and in introducing the speaker he described the Y.M.C.A. as the Christian organization that had shown adaptability more than any other.

Summerland Man In Important Post

(Hamilton Times.)

The Hamilton Health Association, which is responsible for the Mountain Sanatorium, has made an important and much needed appointment in a business manager to relieve the medical superintendent of much of the detail of administration. Even before the new infirmary was given up to the caring for returned soldiers, Dr Holbrook was endeavoring to do two men's work, and it is no exaggeration to say his responsibility has since doubled. Mr A. Moreland, who hails from the Pacific Coast, has entered upon his new duties with energy and with the westerner's breadth of vision, giving promise of being the right man in the right place.

had said their worst of Him when they called Him "a friend of sinners." They did not believe in associating with so-called sinners or even with one another if they failed in every respect to see eye to eye. Have we not followed their lead rather than the Saviour's. We have been separatists with a vengeance. The few Baptists have kept by themselves, and the few Methodists, and the few Presbyterians. Our relations to each other have not always been cordial, leave alone Christian, and our divided front to the outside world has not been appealing. Outside the church there is a large body of unorganized, unnamed Christianity. The war has revealed that among those same young men, who, when they came to church felt so ill-at-ease with us that they crept into the back seats to be out of sight, are some of the sublimest Christian qualities. We talk the self-sacrifice of the cross. They live it to the literal laying down of their lives for our sakes. They took no interest in the theological abstractions which kept us apart, and they never will. Out there on the battle front they have learned the force of reality more than ever, and perhaps more than we. If they will not respond to the argument, "Come with us and we will do thee good," shall we not, like Moses with Hobab, ply them with another argument, "Come and do us good, we need you." At any rate, if we desire to have their confidence, and any influence with them whatever when they return, broadmindedness will have to be our characteristic.

Orchard and Farm:

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

Fruiting of Trees in Consecutive Season.

Fifteenth Report of the Woburn Experimental Farm, England.

The view that fruit trees tend to bear heavily and lightly in alternate seasons is often made the basis of a recommendation to thin a heavy crop borne one year, in order to obtain a better crop the succeeding year. It appears, however, that the tendency towards alternate cropping, as it may be called, is very feeble, and that there is at the same time an equally potent tendency towards consecutive cropping, that is, that a tree bearing particularly well or badly during one season, will probably do the same in the succeeding season, whilst the chief factor in determining good or poor bearing is undoubtedly the atmospheric conditions, and not any innate tendency of the individual tree to either alternate or consecutive fruiting. The existence of a tendency towards alternate bearing is indicated by the fact that young trees, if prevented for four years from bearing after they have come to the age for so doing, will bear exceptionally heavy crops as soon as they are allowed to bear. But it was only in one series of experiments on some 300 young apple and pear trees during the seasons 1899 to 1903, that such a tendency was actually recognized. Observations on the same trees, made when they were younger, during 1894 to 1897, showed that their tendency then was towards consecutive bearing; and in another case of apple trees where the observations apply to over 5,700 instances extending from 1904 to 1915, the tendency has been, with only one slight exception, towards consecutive bearing. But this tendency affects the results to only a slight extent, about 12 per cent, the remaining 88 per cent being attributable to peculiarities of the season, and not to the individual behavior of the trees. It is noticeable that the preponderating influence of external conditions becomes more marked as the tree is left more to its natural habits, i.e., as it is less pruned, and, also, as the age of the tree increases; and it is more marked in the case of trees on the paradise stock than in those on the crab stock, this being doubtless a consequence of the latter coming less rapidly to full maturity than the former.

If, in a plantation consisting of a large number of individual trees, whether of the same or of different varieties, it is found that good and bad fruiting seasons alternate with each other, it is evident that such alternation must be caused by some conditions affecting all the trees alike, and not to any tendency to alternate bearing exhibited by the individual tree; for such a tendency, if it existed, would be exhibited by different trees in different seasons, and the effect of it would be to bring about uniform production in the plantation as a whole. The alternation of good and bad years has been uniformly exhibited to a most marked extent in some plantations available for observation over a period of 20 years. As the injury to these crops has nearly always been due to spring frosts, it is evident that the alternation of good and bad years is due to the tendency of such frosts to occur alternately in consecutive seasons.

Cause of Soft Butter

Due to Spring Change in Butter Fat Itself.

It is a common belief that soft butter in spring is due to the large amount of water in the new grass. Some feeders have even gone so far as to cut down on the amount of water allowed in this season, thinking it would improve the product. The fact of the matter is, the water has no effect on the condition of the butter, but the change is due to the butter-fat itself.

Butterfat is composed of two kinds of fats known as volatile and non-volatile. Each of these in turn is made up of a number of substances called fatty acids, but which for convenience we will speak of as oils.

The non-volatile oils are six, and their relative amounts in the butterfat largely cause the variation in hardness and softness of the butter. The most important of these oils is olein, since it has been found to be present in the greatest proportion during spring when the cows are on grass. Olein has a much lower melting point than the other oils, and consequently an increase in its amount causes the butter to melt at a much lower temperature. We can readily see the cause or soft butter in the spring is not the water in the grass. In fall or winter, when normal feeds are given, the percentage of olein is less, the melting point is higher, and we have a firmer, harder product from the churn.

Cutting down on the cow's water supply, because the grass is soft, does not make the butter harder; it only cuts down on the amount of milk your herd can produce.

The Farmers' Era Arrives.

Governments Trying to Get on the Good Side of Land Tiller

According to the evidences of the naked eye there is a wild scramble by all governments of Canada to get on the good side of the farmers. Which must cause chuckles among our friends in the country who have vivid recollections of the days when the powers scorned their intelligence and influence. It is being borne in upon the leaders of Canada that this is a country that is dependent for its greatest wealth production upon its agriculture. Hence those who produce this great wealth must be respected. And further, legislation, that will put the farming class on a par with the banking, manufacturing, and transportation classes in the matter of rights and benefits is being enacted with more haste than decorum. Truly it is a great day for the farmer. —Calgary News-Telegram.

Substitute For Wheat.

New Variety of Bean contains All Food Elements of Wheat

There has been developed in South America a new variety of beans which contain all the food elements of wheat, and four times as much can be produced to the acre. It is called "mulatinho." Over 2,000 tons of it were shipped from January 1 to October 31, 1916, from the State of Sao Paulo to the different states of Brazil and to foreign countries, particularly to Europe, for the feeding of the Allied soldiers, and they declare that soldiers in the trenches are growing fat on it. It is expected that an immense acreage will be planted this season, and that the product will come into direct competition with wheat. It is said that the flavor of these beans is so fascinating that they are preferred to any preparation of wheat. —Omaha World-Herald.

Current Events — OF — Town & District

Comptroller of Water Rights, Wm. Young of Victoria, was in town on Tuesday evening. It is understood that a solution of the local water problem is now quite assured.

Mr H. P. Salting has been temporarily incapacitated for work on the pipe line owing to disturbing injuries received on Thursday last, through a fall from his horse.

Word has been received here by Mrs Hayward that her son, Frank, has been seriously wounded. No more definite details have as yet been received, but it is hoped that such will be available soon.

The vigor and earnestness with which the Naramata growers are out after the fruit pests this season with the applications of heavy doses of lime-sulphur spray is a hopeful sign. However, in spite of the oft-repeated warnings of those in a position to give good advice, there still remain a number of growers who prefer to "chance it," when it comes to spraying.

Mr R. H. Helmer has signified his intention to attend the next meeting of the Women's Institute next Tuesday to give an address on gardening.

The coyotes, now that the chicken season has commenced, have evidently decided upon the policy now quite popular, of "co-operation." Their plan, to judge from the report of one prominent citizen, is to congregate in the vicinity of his ranch, set going their entire grand chorus of screechers to thus attract the attention of the settler and his flock, while one or two trusty scouts of the band quietly slip round and make away with the coveted fowls. Whether it is that the bounty on these pests is not sufficient or not is a question, but certain it is that a remedy to the evil is needed in Naramata.

Staff-Sergeant Lewis J. Block spent a few hours here on Friday last on his way to Esquimalt.

The special ferry trip of last Sunday to enable Naramata folk who cared to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Capt. Pearson speak on military Y.M.C.A. work in France, was well patronized, there being a capacity crowd on board.

A small blaze here on Tuesday afternoon caused by the young son of Mr Wilson taking unwonted liberties with E. B. Eddy's matches, resulted in the complete loss of the stable at the back of Mr Wilson's lot down town. The loss, though considerable, would doubtless have been much more serious had the wind been in any other quarter. The fire, owing to the lack of sufficient pressure on the pipe line in that part of the town, fully demonstrated the need of a better system of protection in just such emergencies.

Three Million Dollar Deal Has Been Called Off.

It has been authoritatively announced in Vancouver that the three million dollar deal for the Emil Voight mining property on Copper Mountain, near Princeton, has been called off. This was the deal that was given considerable publicity recently, and which has in consequence been reported all over Canada and the United States as having gone through. But there is many a slip between the cup and the lip. Complications arose which could not be overcome, and as a result the syndicate who proposed bonding the property threw up their hands and quit. Their action it is said, was not taken because of lack of faith in the value of the property. It was simply a case of not being able to get the interests together. The Voight property is a big group, and some of the claim owners would not agree to the terms of the bond.

Emil Voight still has the claims he staked many years ago, and upon which he has done a great deal of development work, and he also has partners in the group evidently whom he has not been able to bring into harmony when the question of a big deal is broached.

One of the several newspapers published at the front is the Shell Hole Advance. Here is one item from it: "We have more miles of trenches on the British front in France than they can show miles of public roads in British Columbia. And yet we are not boasting of the achievements of our public works department."

Doings of Peachland

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Thompson & McCall's store was the centre of interest for the ladies of the district last Wednesday who came to see the array of spring hats displayed by Miss Buchanan of Kelowna. These were very attractive, and so a good many sales were made.

Miss A Macdonald of Winnipeg arrived on Wednesday evening, and is staying with Mr and Mrs R. Harrington.

Mr and Mrs Dorland and Master Hugh Dorland returned from Midland on Thursday where they have spent the winter. Their many friends are very glad to welcome them back.

Mr Lee Mills was a passenger to Penticton on Thursday, returning on Saturday.

Peachland had still another shock when it became known that word had been received that Gordon Mc Dougall had been seriously wounded. As a week has passed now and no further news has been received it is hoped that he is progressing favorably. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs McDougall, and it is hoped that she may receive good news before long.

Mrs Carter was a passenger to Summerland on Friday, where she went to spend the week-end with Mrs Estabrook, Sr. She returned home on Monday morning.

Mr W. J. Moore went to Penticton on Friday evening, returning on Saturday.

The following were passengers to Kelowna on Saturday: Mrs I. Cousins, Mr A. Town, and Mr Seth Davison.

George Robinson took a party to Penticton in his car on Saturday, including Ernest Aitkins, Ben Gummow, and Emmet Shaw.

Mrs Dearman, with her visiting friends, Mrs Shedden and Mrs Grant, spent Monday in Kelowna returning in the evening.

A meeting of those interested in tennis and hockey was held on Tuesday night in the reading room of the Presbyterian Church. Rev. J. A. Rowland was appointed secretary, pro tem., and all present were appointed a committee to ascertain the actual amount of money needed to prepare the ground for both tennis and hockey, also the possible membership, and to obtain donations of both money and work, either of which will be equally acceptable. This committee is to report at a general meeting to be held in the same place on Friday evening at eight o'clock, when it is hoped that a large number will turn out as the election of officers will take place. It is suggested that the membership fee be $1.00.

Ben Gummow and Emmett Shaw left on Monday morning to join the Forestry Battalion at Kamloops.

Mr J. Stewart has accepted a position as fireman on the steamer "Steamous," and began his duties on Monday.

Ben Gummow has left his pet saddle horse with Mr H. McCall, who will care for it during his absence.

The Origin of Graham Flour.

A lady of Peachland at one time was very familiar with Dr Jackson's large sanitarium at the head of the Genesee Valley in New York State, better known as "Our Home on the Hillside."

There was a flour mill in the neighborhood belonging to a Mr Graham, who was a chronic dyspeptic, and could not eat with comfort his own white flour, although it was of the very best. It occurred to him that perhaps the whole wheat might agree with him better, so he asked his wife whether she could cook the whole wheat without his grinding it. Like a good wife, as she was, Mrs Graham boiled some whole wheat until it was quite soft, and he found that it suited him perfectly.

Mr Graham told Dr Jackson of the sanitarium about it, and as might be expected he was greatly interested.

Mrs Graham later suggested to her husband that he crush some whole wheat so that she could make a loaf of it, and he could see whether that would suit him as well. He did so, and found that it agreed with him just as well as the boiled wheat had done.

Dr Jackson followed the experiment closely, and when he found that the bread made from Mr Graham's whole wheat flour did the miller himself so much good he used to tell his patients to go to Graham's mill and get Graham's flour. And in this way Graham flour got its name.

Wm. Williams returned from his vacation, which he had been spending in Summerland, on Monday morning.

Mr and Mrs L. D. McCall were passengers to Vernon on Tuesday morning, returning on Wednesday evening.

Government Veterinary Surgeon Dr B. R. Ilsley of Armstrong, came in on Tuesday to attend a sick cow belonging to Mr Hohensee.

Mr. N. Morrison and Mr Michael went to Westbank on Tuesday.

BORN—To Mr and Mrs I. Cousins on April 24, a son. Both mother and child are doing well.

We are sorry to hear that Frank Hayward, brother of Mrs J. Elliott and Mrs J. Wright, had been wounded.

Mr William Young had an informal talk with the users of water in the New Townsite on Monday night, and another in town on Tuesday morning.

Mrs Lupton and family came in on Wednesday morning to visit her mother, Mrs C. Aitken.

Word has been received that the boys who enlisted in the Forestry Battalion have all passed the medical examination.

"TANK" INVENTOR IS KNOWN HERE.

British papers of recent date have been telling an interesting story of the discovery of the real inventor of the now famous "tank" or "land ship" which has done such good work against the enemy. It would appear that credit for the invention went at first to some naval men, but after further investigation the government satisfied itself that the originator of the travelling fort was Wm. Tritton, of Wm. Foster & Co. Ltd., Lincoln, who has since been knighted. Mr Tritton was quite well known to Mr W. Atkinson of Garnett Valley, here, who was for some years with this big engineering firm.

AFTER 30 MONTHS' STRAIN

We are at last compelled to admit that conditions have got the whip hand of us. As thus:—

Article	Cost in 1914	Present Cost
Bleaching	$1.50	$18.00
Starch	6.00	8.50
Soda	3.00	9.00
Paper	5.50	12.00
Fuel	3.50	5.00

And all other articles are advanced from 20 to 500 per cent. Up to the present this extra cost has been met by greater effort on the part of the management—increased turnover allowing of larger purchases of raw material thereby obtaining larger discounts—and elimination of profits, but to prevent an actual loss it is necessary to raise the price of service in future.

Our clients are therefore respectfully notified that from May 1st we shall be obliged to charge 8 cents per lb. for Rough Dry work instead of 7 cents as heretofore.

Price list for all other work remains as before for the present.

A little consideration of the above list of increase in price of materials will convince the thrifty housekeeper that money will be saved by sending us the family wash instead of buying the necessary materials in small quantities and doing the work at home.

An hour spent in the garden at this season of the year will produce more than you THINK you will save by doing your laundry work yourself.

We receive at West Summerland up to 4 p.m. on Mondays, and in Town up to Tuesday mornings. Phone for our rig to call.

From Our Soldiers

Philip B. Agur—I am under the impression that I have not acknowledged the last parcel you sent me, which arrived about twelve days ago in good condition. I want to thank you very much for it, and to tell you how much the Summerland boys think of the Home Comfort Club. I believe that Summerland has sent more soldiers to France than any other town in B.C.—that is comparatively speaking; and it is certainly doing very well to be able to send each of these soldiers a separate parcel. It seems rather strange, no doubt, but the boys from the small towns seem to fare better for parcels than the boys from the cities, and I do believe that in most cases there are more soldiers from these small towns than the large, in comparison. The other night there were a few Summerland boys in my billet and they all had a good word to say about the Home Comfort Club and its splendid work.

In the battalion there must be about twenty-five Summerland boys now, so we generally look up one another when we feel at all blue, and have a talk about the good times we used to have before we became soldiers. We all look forward to the end of the war this summer and a speedy return to the good old Okanagan.

Thanking you again for the splendid parcel.

Ernie F. Smith.—I wish to thank you very much for the nice parcel you sent me, and which I received yesterday. I see by the slip inside that it was intended for Christmas, but it could not have arrived at a better time. As it happened we had just come out of the trenches where the MUD is knee deep, and we were all tired and wet. If you could have seen the way the boys dug in and enjoyed themselves you would understand far better than I can tell you here, how we appreciated it. As I had plenty of socks I gave the ones you sent to a man who had nothing but wet ones. He wishes me to tell you that they saved his life.

Well, we are getting weather just now which is typical of this month; one hour it is as sunny as a May day and the next it is snowing.

Everyone seems to be feeling fit and ready for the big push, of which there is evidence everywhere, especially in the form of iron rations for Fritz.

I saw Punch Elliott to-day and he is looking well. He told me that he helped to dress Bert Nelson, who was wounded in a raid by our battalion a while back. He said that Bert had a nice Blighty and was feeling quite content when he left the dressing station.

I have met quite a number of Summerlanders and everyone talks of our home coming day, which let us hope is not distant.

Once more in closing I will thank you for four kindness, and wish your club every success.

W. F. Brind—Many thanks for parcel which I received last night in good condition. Your club is sure doing good work in helping to keep the boys' spirits up. When one feels a bit tired, as we do here sometimes, a parcel or a letter makes all the difference; it makes a fellow feel that someone thinks of him. I can't tell you any news but hope to thank you all in person, in the fall.

Again thanking you for your kindness.

Summerland Supply Company, Limited.

This Newspaper is the "Trade-Journal" of the Buyers of Home Supplies for this District

A MAJORITY of the women who read the Review READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN IT WITH EVEN GREATER INTEREST THAN THEY GIVE THE NEWS. For, after all, the news is interesting in an abstract way—usually; while the advertisements are interesting in a directly personal way.

The Review conducts a persistent campaign of education for its readers as to the value and interest to them of the "ads" in the paper. It suggests the value of the SERVICE which the merchants render to them in their advertising.

A business man, engaged in a distinct kind of business, has his "trade journal," a publication devoted to that interest, keeping him in touch with all that is going on in his line. Often his trade journal saves him appreciable sums of money through the facts and tips which it gives to him.

Every woman, who is the "buyer" for a home, is engaged in a very real "business." It is a complex one, and one in which much money may be unwisely spent—and in which economies are nearly always possible. To those buyers for the home the Review comes—with its "store news"—as an indispensable TRADE JOURNAL.

The merchant whose business is not advertised in this trade journal of the home "buyers" may expect very little attention from those buyers. The merchant whose advertising is fullest and most informing may expect, and receives, the largest share of their attention and favor.
