Ladies' Aid In Annual Session

The regular monthly as well as yearly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society was held in the church basement on Wednesday afternoon, April 25th, with the president, Mrs J. M. Myers, in the chair. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs Hunt, Mrs M. M. Allen was voted to act for the meeting, after which the regular business routine was proceeded with.

The treasurer, Mrs Boothe, gave a detailed statement of all moneys paid in as well as paid out during the year ending April 25. This was a very encouraging report, considering the times, there being a substantial balance to the credit of the Ladies' Aid in the Bank of Montreal at Summerland.

At the close of the meeting there was some little delay as Rev. R. M. Thompson was expected to be present to conduct the yearly meeting, as is customary in this church, but a phone message from Mr Thompson gave the Ladies' Aid power to act in his absence, he being unable to be present.

The meeting was called to order and the regular election of officers took place, every member being eligible for nomination. Mrs Fred Young and Mrs T. H. Boothe acted as scrutineers. The balloting resulted as follows: Mrs J. M. Myers, president; Mrs M. M. Allen, vice-president; Mrs Russell Wells, secretary; Mrs T. H. Boothe, treasurer. The other committees were appointed from the chair and are as follows: Mrs Wells superintendent of flower committee; Mrs Allen superintendent of purchasing committee; Mrs Boothe, sick committee. The hostess for the afternoon served refreshments.

Water Subject Is a Live One.

There is a running sore at Naramata. At least that is the opinion of many of the discontents. This sore that apparently heals up only to break forth anew is the question of water. Every year at about the time the bills for this valuable service come to the notice of the users the noise and trouble starts. And every year the same things are said about the system and the service.

But that the troubles are to be unearthed this season there appears to be a certainty, to judge from the activity of the special committee appointed by the people some little time back. It is understood that the recent visit of Comptroller Wm. Young will have a very direct bearing on the settlement of the difficulty. It is believed that in the future the people themselves that pay their proportion of the cost of up-keep and repairs are to have a measure of protection. And what is more to the point—a measure of the say-so when it comes to dealing with the question of maintenance and repairs. But just how far the Water Act will be enforced in the vital question of "Inherent Rights," is yet to be seen.

This much is certain. The people will not stand much longer the present method of administration unless the whole system is given a complete overhauling. The water has to be delivered till the end of the irrigation season if full and prompt payments of rates are to be expected.

Help Your Town!

The task of writing an open letter every week in the year to a number of friends telling the doings of one's district would be a really stupendous task. And yet after all is that not about what a weekly newspaper undertakes to do?

Many of the townspeople understand this and willingly assist in gathering the news of the community. Have you done so as yet? It is astonishing what certain items mean to the absent one.

So reader if you can assist in improving the Naramata Section, even once in a while, kindly accept this as an invitation to do so.

Only the man who has nothing to live for can afford to loaf.

Doings of Peachland

Mr and Mrs L. D. McCall have returned from Vernon where they had spent a few days. They had a very enjoyable visit, for they met an old friend who took them to all the points of interest in the town and district, including the Internment Camp and the site of the summer training camp.

Mrs W. Coldham with her infant son returned from Kelowna on Wednesday.

Mr DeLong, High School Inspector, paid Peachland an official visit this week.

The C.P.R. barge has brought in a load of fluming lumber for the Townsite Company.

Provincial Grand Master of Masonic Lodges, William Dishley, paid an official visit to Trepanier Lodge A.F.&A.M. on Thursday evening. There were also present several visiting brethren from Summerland.

Quite a number of Peachlanders went down to Pentiction on Thursday to enjoy the concert given by the violinist Skoogaard, who is said to be Denmark's foremost violinist, and who plays a $13,000 violin, and insured his hands for $50,000. Mr Cutbill took a party consisting of Miss Robinson, Mrs Tewart, Mrs Creswell, and Miss McDougald, and another party went down in George Robinson's car, consisting of Mrs Lupton, Ernest Aitkins, Miss Hays, and Herbert Keating; while Mr and Mrs H. E. McCall drove to Summerland and joined their friends, Mr and Mrs Fred Gartrell, and motored with a party to Pentiction.

Between 11 and 12 last Saturday night Mr Heuston went upstairs and lighted a lamp. Thinking that the match was out he threw it down and went downstairs to read, but in a short time he smelled smoke and on investigating found the upper part of the house in flames. The fire had gone ahead so fast that he could do nothing to save the house or the contents, and they were quickly burned to the ground. We sympathize with Mr Heuston greatly as he carried no insurance.

Rev. A. Henderson came up from Summerland on Tuesday to look after his lot.

Mrs Sutherland, nee Miss Olive Young, came down on Tuesday night's boat from Okanagan Landing to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr and Mrs F. Young.

Mrs J. Brown returned Monday from Vancouver where she underwent an operation. We are pleased to report that she is very much better. Her son Stanley accompanied her home from Pentiction.

Mr and Mrs H. H. Thompson were passengers to Vancouver via the K.V.R. Monday evening and expect to be away about a week. They will take in the War Dance while away.

Mr Lee Mills was a passenger to Pentiction returning on Saturday.

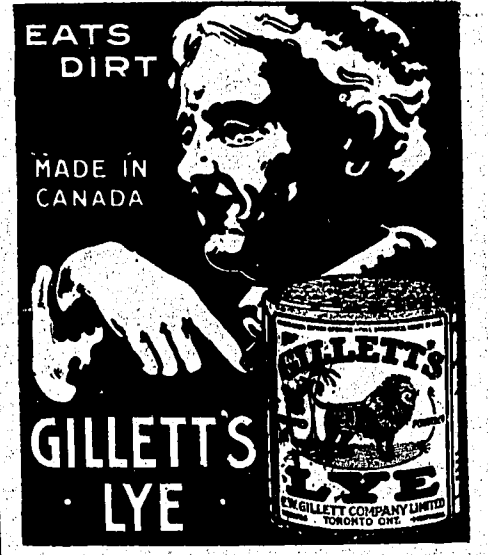

Mr M. Morrison arrived from Penhold, Alberta, on Friday, with a carload of settler's effects. They have taken the Pollard house.

Last Thanksgiving Day the Baptist friends had dinner together in their church hall. There were two visitors in khaki, Hector McCall of Gibson's Landing, and J. Birkenham, a friend of his. Hector was a nephew of Mr and Mrs L. D. McCall. He later went to the front "Somewhere in France." His friend was kept in England through sickness and wrote Mr McCall at Hector's request. Last Friday Mrs Harold McCall was reading one of the casualty lists when she saw that Hector had died of wounds received in action. How many are the avenues of suffering in this war of wars!

Mr D. J. White came up from Pentiction to spend the week-end with his family here.

A meeting was held last Friday evening in the reading room of the Presbyterian church to talk over the proposed tennis club. Pledges of both work and money have been received towards putting the grounds into shape. The following committee was appointed to receive subscriptions and to plan the work: A. H. Cutbill, Rev. J. A. Rowland, R. J. Hogg, Charles Morrison, and Herbert Keating.

Mr and Mrs Michael received a cable from their son Samuel on Saturday last saying that he was in England and the next morning they received an official telegram from Ottawa that he had been wounded in action and taken to a hospital in England, and most thoughtfully wished his aged parents to get a message from himself that he was safe in England before they got the news that he was hurt. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to Mr and Mrs Michael and their family, and earnestly hope that their dear son may be restored to them.

In telling of his experience amongst the wounded and dying a chaplain gives an instance of a case which showed how well remembered is that comfort which only a mother can give. He says: "There is nothing more impressive than a tent of these suffering men, so still it is, so dim and prayerful. There was one boy near the door, a Scottish lad, who had been a gunner. He seemed to be very weak and I went over to his side. He thought I was his mother and he said: 'Put your arm under my head, Mummy. I'll be easier then.' And as I did so he began to say the Lord's Prayer, as so often he must have said it in the quiet hour at home, when the light was low, ere the curtain of sleep came down between him and another day. He went through the prayer, groping in the middle of it, with a blind kind of stumbling difficulty. 'Kiss me,' he whispered, and then he fell asleep, to wake no more on pain and weariness in any hour thereafter.—The Canadian Baptist.

Summerland Boy Scouts' Field Day

For the Conservation of Waste Material.

RECOGNISING THE URGENT NEED OF FUNDS for the development and maintenance of the work of the Red Cross Society and the Y.M.C.A., and realising that, to meet the increasing demands of these organizations, no possible source of revenue should be overlooked,

THE BOY SCOUTS OF SUMMERLAND

Have arranged to collect on SATURDAY, 5th MAY, material in the following lines:

Old Clothes and Old Rags of every description

Old Automobile Tires

Old Inner Tubes

Old Rubber Boots and Shoes of every description

Old Bicycle Tires

Old Carriage Tires (Rubber)

Scrap Copper, Brass, Lead and Zinc

A market has been secured for this material, and the net proceeds will be equally divided for the work of the Red Cross and the Y.M.C.A.

In order to facilitate the work, and ensure that ALL material of this description will be gathered in, the Scouts would appreciate it if the citizens would begin NOW to look out this material, and assemble it at some convenient point on their premises, so that, when the boys call, no time will be lost in securing the goods.

JNO. TAIT, Scoutmaster.

NOTE: Good readable magazines of recent dates suitable for soldiers' camps, barrack and Y.M.C.A. use, will also be gladly received.

CHURCHIANITY.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,
From your last issue I learn that my old friend, Rev. A. Henderson, has been holding forth on the request, "Come thou with us and we will do thee good," as applied to present day churches. Mr Henderson does not seem to have much hope that the entreaty will be enthusiastically responded to, and so he varies it, and says to the non-church-goer, "Come and do us good; we need you."

Isn't that refreshing? And what an admission! It is an acknowledgment that the church of to-day is out of touch with the people—with the masses—and that it needs them in order that it may get along and progress.

The life-blood of the church has been drained of its vitality by the elimination therefrom of that living, all-consuming Christianity—that practical Christ living which Jesus demanded, and the substitution of Churchianity in its stead. The difference between the two is that Christianity, the Christ-life, tends to unite people, whereas Churchianity tends to separate them. This was clearly brought out by Mr Roderick McKenzie when speaking before a crowded audience of farmers at the Government Buildings in Victoria on 16th February last. Urging the farmers to organize, he said:

"I think our Grain Growers' Association in Manitoba has been more successful in getting the people together than the churches have. I say that as an orthodox Presbyterian. Here is the situation: You go to a little village and find a few Presbyterians, a few Methodists, a few Baptists, a few Anglicans, and so on, and they each have their own little church building. The natural tendency of those churches, everyone of them, is to be hard-up and poor; they cannot be anything else. And instead of drawing the people together those churches are separating them."

Not only was this statement allowed to pass unchallenged, but it was applauded from all parts of the room.

Here we have the practical results of Churchianity as against those of Christianity. Under existing conditions of Church life and organization the church may invite outsiders to go with them until doomsday, but the invitation will not be accepted. It is for those inside the church to find the remedy. The great mass of the people do not want and will not have Churchianity under any denominational name or guise, but they yearn for the Christ life—for Christian living.

Keep the probe going, friend Henderson; you are on the right road, but do not be surprised if you find yourself ostracised and slandered on account of the stand you take, for such is the penalty pretty generally meted out to those who try to purify the inside of the Cup.

An exchange tells of a newspaper reporter who interviewed thirty successful business men and found that all of them when boys had been governed strictly, and frequently thrashed. He also interviewed thirty loafers, and learned that twenty-seven of them had been "mamma's darling," and the other three had been reared by their grandmothers.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

This Newspaper is the "Trade-Journal" of the Buyers of Home Supplies for this District

A MAJORITY of the women who read the Review READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN IT WITH EVEN GREATER INTEREST THAN THEY GIVE THE NEWS. For, after all, the news is interesting in an abstract way—usually; while the advertisements are interesting in a directly personal way.

The Review conducts a persistent campaign of education for its readers as to the value and interest to them of the "ads" in the paper. It suggests the value of the SERVICE which the merchants render to them in their advertising.

A business man, engaged in a distinct kind of business, has his "trade journal," a publication devoted to that interest, keeping him in touch with all that is going on in his line. Often his trade journal saves him appreciable sums of money through the facts and tips which it gives to him.

Every woman, who is the "buyer" for a home, is engaged in a very real "business." It is a complex one, and one in which much money may be unwisely spent—and in which economies are nearly always possible. To those buyers for the home the Review comes—with its "store news"—as an indispensable TRADE JOURNAL.

The merchant whose business is not advertised in this trade journal of the home "buyers" may expect very little attention from those buyers. The merchant whose advertising is fullest and most informing may expect, and receive, the largest share of their attention and favor.

Finds It Pays To Advertise.

Churches in East Adopt Efficient Means of Getting at non-Church-going Classes.

There are very few churches today which do not do more or less advertising in our newspapers, and they find that it pays, says the Christian Guardian. Sometimes it is the sermon, sometimes it is the preacher, sometimes the choir, sometimes the social advantages which the church offers, upon which stress is laid, but in most cases the advertising concerns itself exclusively with the local church.

Of late, however, there has been a growing conviction that it is possible to do more than this. Instead of advertising a Methodist church, or a Presbyterian or Baptist church, and a local church at that, the attempt has been made to advertise the church in such a way as to help all churches. One striking method of doing this has been adopted by the Advertising Agency of Canada in its great "Go-to-Church" posters which it freely contributes to this campaign advertising church-going. And the newspapers also are being used in this way. It has been suggested that the churches might well get together, and, in addition to their own local advertising, institute and carry on an advertising propaganda aiming at reaching especially the non-church-going class in each community. Such advertising would necessarily have to adapt itself to the class it aimed to reach, and would need to be of such a character as would strike the ordinary eye at once and arrest attention. There can be little doubt as to the effectiveness of such a campaign, and the united churches could finance it without difficulty.

"What's the difference," inquired the landlady, "between turkey dinner and a mess of stewed prunes?" "I don't know," said the solemn boarder. "In that case," she continued, "I might as well save money and serve prunes."

Those who are the last to call for peace may be those who want peace the most.

HE IS ONLY A PRINTER.

"He is only a printer!" Such was the sneering remark of a leader in a circle of aristocracy—codfish quality, says a writer in the Century Magazine. Who was the Earl of Stanhope? He was only a printer. What were Prince Edward William and Prince Napoleon? Proud to call themselves printers. The Czar of Russia, the Crown Prince of Russia, and the Duke of Battenburg were printers, and the Emperor of China worked in a private printing office almost every day. William Caxton, the father of English literature, was a practical printer. What were J. P. Morris, N. P. Willis, James Parker, Horace Greeley, Charles Dickens, Benjamin Franklin, James Buchanan, Simon Cameron, Schuyler Colfax? Printers all, and practical ones. Mark Twain, Amos J. Cummings, Bret Harte, William Dean Howells, Joel Chandler Harris, and Opie Read were plain, practical printers, as were Artemus Ward, Petroleum V. Nasby, and Sut Lovingood. Senator Plum of Kansas, and James J. Hogg, ex-Governor of Texas, were both printers, and the leader of science and philosophy in his day made it his boast that he was a "jour" printer. In fact, thousands of the most brilliant minds in this country are to be found in large cities and towns. It is not every one that can be a printer—brains are absolutely necessary.

As a result of lining with concrete about 40 per cent of the canals and laterals of the Okanogan irrigation project in Washington, seepage losses have been reduced from 51 to about 15 per cent of the total water received at the head works. The lining has been placed in the sections of the canals where seepage losses were greatest, those localities having first been determined by current meter measurements. The losses in the canal system for 1911, with 43 miles of canals and laterals in operation and only 1 mile concrete lined, was 51.1 per cent, an average of .21 per cent per mile. The loss for 1915 was 20.4 per cent, with 76 miles of canals and laterals in operation, or an average of 0.27 per cent per mile. It is estimated that the further lining for 5 1/2 miles will reduce the losses to less than 15 per cent.

The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,
May I, through your columns, draw the attention of the people of Summerland, especially the Reeve and Council, to a local incident, small but significant?

One of our most respected rate-payers was recently killed in France. Immediately the news was received here, a bill for his taxes was sent to a sister, once resident here, now in Alberta, who has nothing whatever to do with the administration of her brother's estate. Her comment was: "I do not know whether they meant to insult or to hurt me. Surely Summerland is not so hard up that they cannot wait more than a few days after the news of _____'s death before trying to collect his taxes."

The comment of most people of brain and heart might justly be, "Germanly prompt; entirely unbusinesslike; distinctly unkind."

May I suggest that an official letter of condolence to a member of the family of any ratepayer of our municipality killed in France would be a dignified and fitting recognition of the great sacrifice, and more balm-like to a wounded heart than a tax notice.

Allow me, as a ratepayer, to further suggest that the arrears in taxes of our residents killed in France could be wiped off the municipal books by a very small extra tax on those who, through their efforts, are privileged to remain in this peaceful country, under the British flag, happy and free.

Sincerely yours,

LILLY FOSBERY.

This Newspaper is the "Trade-Journal" of the Buyers of Home Supplies for this District

A MAJORITY of the women who read the Review READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN IT WITH EVEN GREATER INTEREST THAN THEY GIVE THE NEWS. For, after all, the news is interesting in an abstract way—usually; while the advertisements are interesting in a directly personal way.

The Review conducts a persistent campaign of education for its readers as to the value and interest to them of the "ads" in the paper. It suggests the value of the SERVICE which the merchants render to them in their advertising.

A business man, engaged in a distinct kind of business, has his "trade journal," a publication devoted to that interest, keeping him in touch with all that is going on in his line. Often his trade journal saves him appreciable sums of money through the facts and tips which it gives to him.

Every woman, who is the "buyer" for a home, is engaged in a very real "business." It is a complex one, and one in which much money may be unwisely spent—and in which economies are nearly always possible. To those buyers for the home the Review comes—with its "store news"—as an indispensable TRADE JOURNAL.

The merchant whose business is not advertised in this trade journal of the home "buyers" may expect very little attention from those buyers. The merchant whose advertising is fullest and most informing may expect, and receives, the largest share of their attention and favor.

Institutes Affected By Amendments To Agricu'al Act

Credit Commission Replaced By Farm Settlements Board.

The superceding of the old Agricultural Credits Commission by the proposed new Farm Settlements Board is provided in a new bill which Hon. J. Oliver has brought down in the House. This step was forecasted when the Farm Settlements Bill was introduced in the Legislature some days earlier. The bill is quite drastic in the changes it proposes. It abrogates and abolishes the board appointed by the old government, and revokes the appointment of all employees, including the appraisers and valuers.

The new bill also includes a number of provisions dealing with farmers' institutes. Changes are made in the clauses covering government assistance to farmers' institutes and women's institutes. Hereafter the grants will be as follows:

"To each institute having not less than fifteen and not more than fifty members, whose annual fees are fully paid up, the sum of one dollar for each paid-up member.

"To each institute having more than fifty paid-up members, the sum of one dollar each for the fifty paid-up members, the sum of fifty cents each for all paid members over fifty and up to one hundred, and the sum of twenty-five cents for each paid-up member over one hundred.

"Provided that in no case shall the allowance made per member exceed the amount of the annual membership fee payable by each member."

The Minister may approve from time to time for the formation of a farmers' district institute with one delegate from each institute within the territory specified. An advisory board may be nominated by the district institute to consult with and advise the Minister.

The Minister may purchase stumping powder and explosives for land clearing, etc., up to the amount of $20,000 at any one time, and resell to the farmers' institutes. Women's district institutes and an advisory board may be formed along the same lines as the farmers' district institutes.

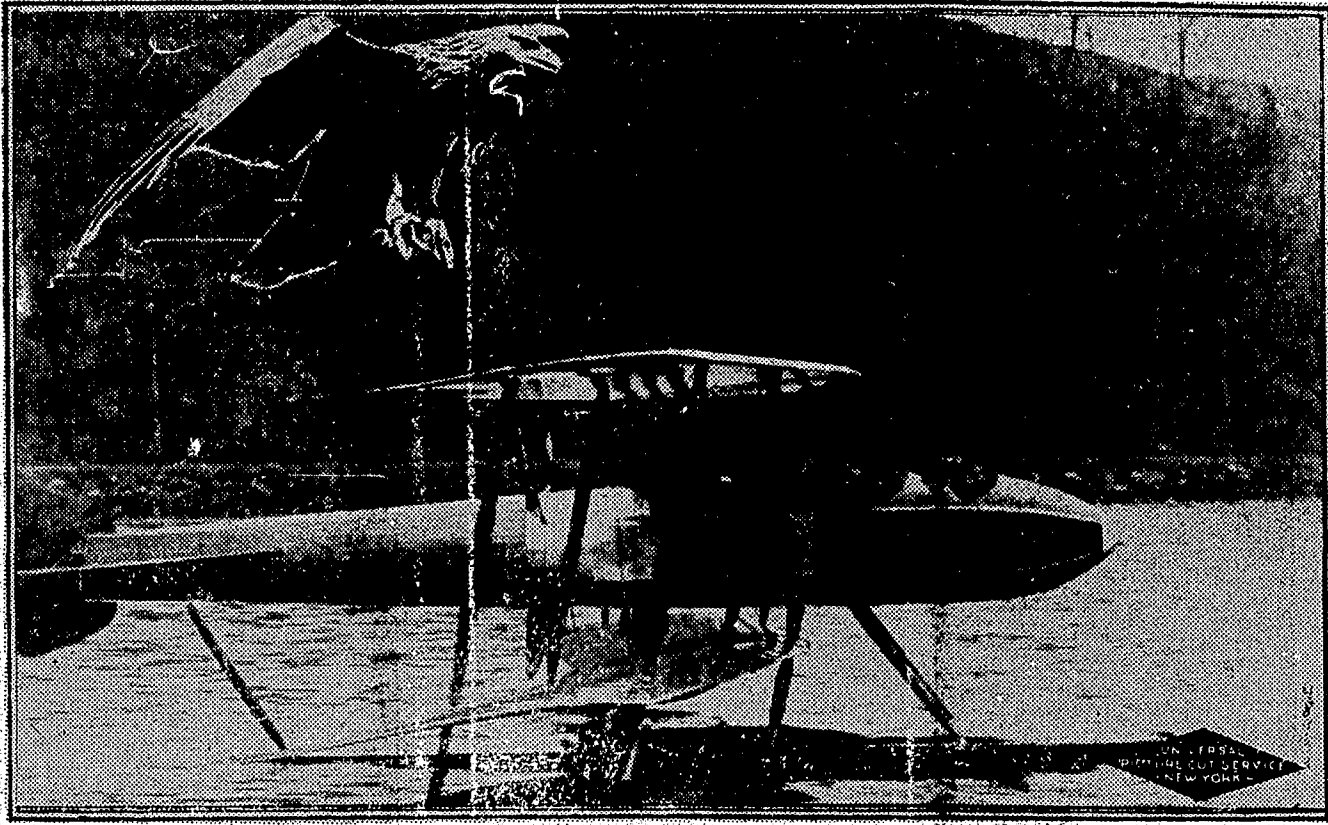

Increased powers are conferred in connection with the incorporation of farmers' mutual associations and other associations organized under the Agricultural Act.

Moving Store In Sections.

A rather novel undertaking is that of W. Harvey, who has taken the contract to move a portion of the Summerland Supply Company's downtown store building up to and connect it with the upper store. To undertake to move a building is nothing unusual, but in this case it is the method being employed. The plan is to move the rear half of the long building in sections and put it together again on the rear of the company's upper store. The walls, the roof, and, after first taking up the top flooring, the floor will all be cut up into sections and moved piece by piece.

It is said that this can be done and still effect a big saving over the cost of buying lumber and other material and building anew. The furniture has already been moved to the Kelley block, and Mr Harvey is now at work getting ready to move the building.

A New Seaplane for United States Navy.

This 300 horse-power twin motor Gallaudet seaplane is a speedy and powerful machine of new design, and is said to be capable of coping with the best seaplanes of other navies. A number of machines of this design are being rapidly completed. It would seem that the designer of this model had patterned closely his country's emblem. Note the resemblance of the contour of the seaplane to that of the eagle in the insert.

Seven Day Lake Service

C.P.R. Officials Hold an Important Meeting at Vernon.

Twenty-seven officers and agents of the Canadian Pacific Railway and a representative of the Dominion Express Company attended a conference at Vernon on Saturday for the purpose of discussing the improvement of transportation facilities in the Okanagan, and decided to operate a daily train and boat service immediately along the Okanagan Lake. The trains and boats previously operated six days per week, Sunday being excluded, but under the new arrangement the citizens in this district will be able to travel daily from now on.

The number of landings for the boats on the lake was reduced, as it was stated that the steamers were frequently carried several miles out of their course when flagged by settlers who merely wished to mail letters.

The party was entertained at luncheon on Saturday by the Vernon Board of Trade.

Trees For Boulevard.

The energies of the members of the West Summerland Improvement Club are now being expended on the south side of Granville Road, the sidewalk on the north side having been forsaken for the time being. A strip of land, partly on what is known as the campus, and partly on the roadway has been plowed, and by the labor of members is being smoothed off ready for grass seed.

In the meantime a sum of money, sufficient to buy 50 Normandy poplar trees has been raised, and those trees were delivered on Wednesday afternoon, and the trees will be planted along this park strip fifteen foot apart. The making of this strip of park and the planting of the trees will make it necessary, if they are not to be marred or destroyed, that more care be taken as to the tying of horses and the tethering of animals in the vicinity. Of course, it will be essential, too, that there be no more cutting the corner with vehicles as has been the practice.

The Council has agreed to put a pipe across the street from the fountain, and also to put a stand-pipe opposite the barber shop. These are expected to supply ample water to reach from one end to the other of the 180 foot strip.

Fruit Grading Machines For Packing Houses

Shortage of Labor thus to be Overcome.

The labor shortage has resulted in the decision by both the Fruit Union and the Stewart Fruit Company to install apple grading machines. There are several makes of machines for grading fruit into the various sizes and their use has proven them highly satisfactory and economical in labor, time, and packing house space.

The packers handling the fruit from one of these machines, not having to give any attention to the sizes, can pack much more in a day, effecting a saving of a cent or more per box in the packing cost. Just now, Manager Lawler, of the Fruit Union, and George Craig are on a motoring trip south, and while away will investigate the various makes to ascertain which is best adapted to the local need. There is now one grading machine used in the Valley, that in the Union packing house at Vernon.

Messrs. Lawler and Craig, who left on Wednesday afternoon, were accompanied by their wives, and will go as far as Wenatchee.

Mr M. Stewart, of the Stewart Fruit Company, announced some days ago that he had decided to put in a grader, and will probably decide on a machine while at Calgary or soon after he returns.

Affecting Sale Agreements.

A measure of far-reaching interest, affecting realty sale agreements was introduced at Monday's legislative session by H. C. Hall, Victoria. It provides, during and until twelve months after the war that a person who has entered into an agreement to purchase a property may offer a quit claim deed, and the only amount for which judgment against him may be obtained shall be the amount received by defendant as proceeds from such, and by way of rent and amount of depreciation in the value of the land between the date of purchase and date of tendering the reconveyance, less every amount paid by the defendant on account of the purchase price.

Many thousands of dollars worth of realty agreements will be affected should the bill pass.

Is Just Like Found Money

Efforts of Boy Scouts Bring Cash to War Funds.

The splendid idea proposed by a former Boy Scout worker, Mr R. Pollock, and ably carried out by the Summerland Boy Scouts, has resulted in more than a hundred dollars being dug out of waste heaps and refuse piles and converted into war funds.

After due announcement of their coming and the request that the citizens co-operate and have placed at convenient spots all old rubbers, old rags, and clothes, and scrap metal, the district was covered by the Scouts and a quantity of material assembled and shipped to Vancouver.

Returns which came to hand on Thursday night show how well worth while the effort was, for after deducting freight, etc., there is a net sum of $95.50, which the Scouts will divide equally between the Red Cross and the Military Y.M.C.A.

Another shipment yet to go forward will very materially add to this already handsome amount.

DIED OF WOUNDS.

Mrs H. W. Tavender received news on Saturday morning of the death of her youngest brother, Pte. Claude Hawthorne, in France. Only on the Wednesday before had she received a letter stating that by the time it reached her the young soldier expected to be in France. Pte. Hawthorne was the youngest, only 21, of four brothers, all in uniform. He could have been in the trenches only a few days at most when he received wounds which caused his death. His mother, after living here for about two years, removed to Briarcrest, Sask. about a year ago.

Shipping To Prairies.

In addition to the manufacture of lumber for the local trade, and of box shooks for this and other fruit shipping districts in the Valley, the Summerland Lumber Co., Ltd., is going quite extensively into the manufacture and shipping of lumber for the prairie market. Already a quarter of a million feet of finished lumber has been shipped, the cars being loaded at Faulder. It is anticipated that these shipments will total one and a half million feet for the season. A limited quantity of a special kind is also ordered for shipment to Toronto.

Through Fight At Vimy Ridge

Summerland Soldier Gives Glimpse of his Experience.

Came Through Fierce Struggle without a Scratch.

Even from what little we have learned of that terrible struggle at Vimy Ridge it seems almost incredible that a single soldier could go through it all and still come out without a scratch. Such was the luck of Norman Phinney, who writes an interesting letter just after the engagement telling of the fight. His letter brought relief to anxious ones at home, who were dreading lest they might hear that he had been among the many who had fallen in that history making conflict. About the same time came news that his brother, Harvey, a member of a crack cycle corps, had gone over to France. A third brother, Clarence, is still in England. Here is what Pte. Phinney writes just after Vimy Ridge:

France, March 13, 1917.
My dear folks,

Well, here I am back in billets. We came out of the trenches last night, all in, down and out.

No doubt you have heard or seen in the papers just what the Canadian troops did at Vimy Ridge. Well, I can tell you what we did, and I hope never to see another morning like it. We went over the top about 5.30, just breaking day. What I mean by over the top is climbing out of our trenches into No Man's Land. It was the hardest thing I have ever had to do, with anything from 303 bullets to 16 in shells coming our way, and the noise and flash. My God! It was awful. However, we reached Fritz's front line, then his second, and then he beat it entirely, and is still going. Then we had a look at his dugouts, and found a few Fritzies still hiding. Their first cry is "Mercy Comrade!"

I had many narrow escapes, but I came out without a scratch. I lost many a good comrade. My blanket mate was killed by a sniper the second day we were in. That's when it hits a fellow pretty hard.

I saw Jack Woods once in "No Man's Land." He came out alright. We were reviewed by Brigadier Lipsett to-day, and he told us what a great bunch of men we were. I believe he is some relative of Doc. Lipsett.

The weather was something awful. Rain, hail, snow, sunshine, all mixed up together; but I never noticed it. You have no idea what the strain is on the nerves. Probably this writing shows what mine are like. I had shell shock. In fact, every man has it to a certain extent, and when it gets a fellow bad he shows it very plainly.

Well, this is enough of this, and I have to get back to my billets.

We hope to see the end of the war this summer. Have received no mail for three weeks, but hope to in a few days.

Love to all, and tell them to write often.

I am well and kicking as usual.
Lovingly,

NORMAN.

Bedford Tingley Wounded.

News that her son, Pte. Bedford Tingley, had been wounded was conveyed to Mrs F. J. Tingley in an official telegram on Wednesday. It is hoped that his wounds are not serious, suffering though he is from numerous bruises. He is now in hospital at Boulogne, France.

Big Land Slide On Trout Creek

Feared will cause much Trouble for Farmers at Point.

Thirty Acres of Bench Land Slipping Into Canyon.

A huge land slide that is giving the residents of Trout Creek Point much concern has been discovered at Paradise Flat. For some time the users of irrigation water at the Point have been much troubled with sand. In fact so filled has the water been with sand that it quickly chokes gates and flumes, and, wherever its rapid flow is checked, it is deposited in large quantities. So excessive is it that it is practically impossible to do any irrigating.

What is believed to be the chief source of the troublesome sand is the slide referred to above.

At least thirty acres of the land on Paradise Flat, bordering on the creek canyon, are included in the slide, according to Coun. R. Johnston, who visited the site on Tuesday. Fully ten acres have dropped about four feet in the movement toward the creek, while the other part of the area affected has settled less.

Part of Paradise Flat is included in an amphitheatre shaped depression, roughly the shape of a half circle, and it is along the edge of this that the slide is developing. It is not the cutting under of Trout Creek that is causing the slide, but the saturating of the sandy soil by water, the source of which is a mystery. Out of the face of the cliff there is now flowing quite a stream of water. Asked if this might not be a periodic recurrence of an effect that has been the cause of the larger depression in this section, or if an accumulation of rain water might not be centreing here and over-saturating the soil, Coun. Johnston stated that he did not think it possible that any such flow as there is pouring from the face of the canyon could be caused by rainfall. He could offer no suggestion as to the source of the water.

With the rising water in the creek there is the danger, unless the flow from the bank ceases, that large portions of the sandy soil will fall into the creek and be carried down to the water system below, perhaps burying dam and flumes.

The government engineer inspected the slide on Monday, and was accompanied by Mr T. P. Thornbor, water bailiff at Trout Creek Point.

More Than 400,000 Canadians Enlist.

The total enlistments of Canadians for active service up to March 31 were 407,221 men, and of that number 48,088 have been discharged as physically unfit. This includes men who have been incapacitated by wounds.

Recent returns show that 29,658 men were discharged in Canada, exclusive of those who have returned from overseas; 11,217 have returned to Canada and been dropped from the military forces as physically unfit, and 1476 were discharged overseas.

An analysis of recruiting returns indicate that in 1916 245,051 recruits volunteered for overseas service and 108,842 only were accepted. The percentage of acceptances throughout the Dominion was thus 76, while 84 per cent. were rejected.

If you want a politician to admire your judgment tell him that you admire his tact.

TOO AMBITIOUS? Is it because Summerland was, in the past, too ambitious that her cannery, her evaporator, and her jam manufacturing plant are not now in operation? Were these enterprises started before we were old enough and big enough to keep them going? This is probably true of the cannery at least. There are now several districts less able to keep a cannery running than this district now is, that have their canneries. Evaporators, too, are becoming quite numerous. It would seem that if Summerland had not made a beginning quite so early she would now have these, and perhaps other related industries. But we should not be discouraged. Any or all of these could be successfully carried on here under practical and efficient management. Who is there in our midst who will follow the good example set by Reeve Morrison of Peachland, through whose persistent efforts that district will have its cannery in operation, and an evaporator established in its midst at an early date?

THE HOUSING OF POULTRY.

THESE ARE THE DAYS when the more study is allied to practice the greater the success. In food production, as in all other things, this is eminently true. Book-learning is no longer an object of sneering by the man of practical experience. He has been forced to the conclusion that an earnest study of books, pamphlets, and bulletins is a tremendous help to the beginner, and often of the greatest value to himself. In by-gone times poultry-keeping was of a haphazard nature. If the hens were healthy and laid in mysterious places all was well. If they didn't, the true cause was rarely discovered, and the fowls, having seemingly failed of their usefulness, were summarily dispatched. Today much of this is changed and poultry-keeping has become a systematic pursuit permitting of research and subject to experiment, the same as any other branch of agricultural industry. A better aid to the very foundation of poultry-keeping could hardly be desired than a bulletin recently issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and entitled "The Principles of Poultry House Construction, with General and Detailed Plans." Mr F. C. Elford, Dominion Poultry Husbandman, is the author, and in the 55 pages of which this publication consists he has succinctly told, with abundant illustration, how poultry can best be housed, and what is needed in that respect to make the birds good producers. There is little in the science of the proper housing of poultry that is not here set forth, from comparatively palatial structures and model runways to the modest arrangement of occupants of villas and bungalows and dwellers on the outskirts of towns and cities. Besides plans of desirable structure, details of the material required, and the dimensions are all given. In short, the publication, which can be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, is a complete text book on the matter with which it purports to treat.

States had refused to come in our Canadian neighbors would, rightly or wrongly, always have considered us a recreant to the ideals which underlie their institutions as well as ours; and they would have cherished a resentment which would have interfered with their future ability to act and think along common lines. Flour Declines.

Following the slump in wheat prices at Winnipeg and Chicago one Vancouver flour dealer announced this week a drop of 40 cents per barrel in the wholesale price of flour. This company's leading brand is now being quoted at 15.70 per barrel of 196 pounds. This is the first sign of lower prices that the market has displayed for many weeks. Other flour companies are expected to fall into line.

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTES.

There was a good attendance at the West Summerland Women's Institute meeting on Friday, May 11. It was then decided to send all funds raised for the military Y.M.C.A. direct to the secretary at Calgary.

The West Summerland Institute will co-operate with the Summerland Institute and the Agricultural Society in holding a Flower Show. The Institute will assist the teachers of the public school by giving prizes for the growing of vegetables, also for raising poultry.

"Home Economics" was the subject of a paper given by Miss Spencer. This she dealt with under three headings, "Garden Gains," "Misfits in Food," "Conserving Strength."

Contest for plans for the best arranged kitchen and dining-room brought out some excellent ideas. Four ladies submitted plans. Mr B. Harvey and Mrs R. E. White were the judges. Mrs Munn's plan won first prize, Mrs Estabrook's second. Mr Harvey spoke very highly of the plan which took the first prize, and also pointed out the good features of the other plans. The Institute gave small prizes, an aluminum pot scraper 1st, and 2nd, an indoor clothes line. Both plans will be sent in to the Department. Current Events were given by Mrs Kolley.

Turn Waste Into Pork

Are we Canadians a wasteful people? It is said that an ordinary French or German family could be fed on what is wasted in the average Canadian home. Never having had to conserve foodstuffs, with "plenty more where the last came from," the housewife has not learned the art of economy in the kitchen. But the day is here, says an exchange, when she must learn it, and each member of the family must learn it. The advice is given to the people of England to get a pig to eat the waste from the kitchen. Of course it is a better plan to stop the waste, but if this cannot be done, then the next best thing is to get a pig. Municipalities which have ordinances against keeping of pigs within the town limits are urged to repeal them or hold them in abeyance until the war closes. Pigs mature for market within a few months. Pork buyers are predicting that they will be paying 20c. a pound on the hoof before the summer is out.

Using the pig as a middleman it is found that 25 per cent of the protein and 45 per cent of the total energy is returned to the consumer as pork. The pig charges 55 per cent. brokerage for converting vegetable proteins and fats. Since the human animal seems to need some fat and protein from animal source,

Control Of Garden Insects.

The Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture will issue early in May Circular No. 9 on "Common Garden Insects and their Control." This publication includes an account of the more important insect pests of the vegetable and flower garden. It has been prepared for wide distribution at this time when everywhere throughout Canada efforts are being earnestly made to increase the production of vegetable foods, etc., in back yards, vacant lots and other areas near cities and towns. The remedial measures for controlling the common destructive species and also formulae for the making of the chief insecticides are given. For easy reference the insects are grouped under the crop or flowering plants they infest. Gardeners will find this publication a most useful means for solving many troubles that will arise. Application for this Entomological Circular No. 9 should be made to the Chief of the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Insects concerning which further information is desired should be sent with a covering letter to the Dominion Entomologist, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Packages and letters so addressed up to 11 ounces in weight may be forwarded free of postage.

Farm Help Secured.

The efforts of the National Service Board and the Dominion Government to secure farm help to meet the pressing needs of the agricultural situation in Western Canada have been a complete success, according to reports from the western provinces, where there is now a sufficient supply of labor, and for the present there is no need of any further effort. Some 6,000 skilled farm laborers, mostly farmers' sons from the great central and western states, were induced to come into Canada. This number of men, combined with the men the National Service Board was able to secure in the western cities, has resulted in supplying all the men the farmers of the west need for their spring sowing.

Under normal conditions human beings perspire about twice as much when asleep as when awake.

Rice Now Replacing Potatoes

Owing to the scarcity of potatoes, rice has to a large degree been substituted in many parts of the United States. And the demand for rice has so increased in British Columbia that the wholesale price has jumped $25 a ton.
 The way of cooking rice properly is simply to boil with such a quantity of salted water that the grain tumbles freely about, and when done to strain off the water. It is not then the soggy, unappetizing mass we usually know at home, but a beautiful snowy pile, each grain standing well separated from its fellows.

Ellis McCammon and others have entered a damage suit for $485,000 against the parties who are operating the Epsom salt deposit near Oroville. McCammon claims that he was deprived of the property by fraud.

A 30,000 gallon oil tank is being put in at Oroville. The locomotives running to Wenatchee burn oil. The Great Northern trains may all have to burn oil if the coal strike does not end soon.

Our Churches Must Advertise

An Object Lesson In Britain's Appeal For Men.

(Charles Dingman in the Christian Guardian).

Ever since the war began England has been making lavish use of newspaper advertising in furtherance of war schemes. Whenever men or money have been wanted, immediate resort has been made to public appeal through newspaper advertising columns. The work has not been left to amateurs. The best writers of advertising "copy" have been employed, and their efforts have been seconded by able artists. The result has been some of the most striking and effective advertising that has ever been produced. The advertisements have carried a direct, personal challenge to men such as only the slacker and the stolidly indifferent could well resist. The advertisements have even attracted notice on this side of the Atlantic, and many United States newspapers have reproduced some of the advertisements as illustrating a unique phase of war making.

OBJECT LESSON.

Is there not in this remarkable advertising campaign an object lesson for the church? Why should the church not make use of newspaper advertising to enlist men and women in the service of the King of Kings? It will be answered, of course, that advertising for war service is different, in that it makes appeal to the heroic and to the spirit of self-sacrifice. These factors have no doubt contributed to the success of war advertising. It would be useless to advertise that which nobody wants or that nobody needs. Has the church nothing that men need? Has the church no appeal to the spirit of service and self-sacrifice? If it hasn't, it would be useless to advertise. If it has, why should it not make use of so effective a means of reaching the man in the street, who to-day is indifferent or even antagonistic to the church?

VITAL FACTS.

But another factor has contributed to the value of England's war advertising. It has been bold, candid, and direct in its appeal. Every advertisement, in illustration and reading matter, has brought the men of the nation face to face with vital facts. Men have been faced with a crisis in their lives. Every advertisement has been a real challenge. What is there in these appeals that could not—nay, that should not—be duplicated by the church?

PURPOSEFUL CHURCH.

The maintenance of a vigorous, purposeful church is as vital to the welfare of the nation and the Empire as the winning of the war. Men are fighting to-day on the battlefields of France and Flanders for just those things that the church stands for—the principles of human liberty and justice, for the rights of the weak and the oppressed, for the triumph of righteousness and truth. These are the very foundations on which the church is established. Yet while our brave men fight abroad, men at home maintain an attitude of indifference to the church. Their attitude constitutes a challenge to the church.

MEET CHALLENGE.

Let the church meet the challenge. If men need the church—and they do—let us show them. If the church has anything worth while to offer them—and it has—let the church say so with a clear and convincing declaration. The church to-day is on the defensive. It is challenged daily for its alleged ineffective service, both from within and without the pulpit. If the criticism is undeserved let the church boldly assert itself and claim that place of leadership that rightfully belongs to it.

There has been criticism of church advertising as it is being conducted to-day; but the criticism is concerned more with the method than with the principle of newspaper publicity. Much church advertising has been badly done. Much of it has been in bad taste. It has smacked of the sensational. It has sought to advertise the man rather than the message.

EMPLOY BEST MINDS.

The advertising campaign I have in mind would go deeper and much farther than the Saturday pulpit announcement. I would employ the best advertising minds available to conduct the campaign and to prepare the advertising matter. There are in our churches hundreds of splendid Christian men whose sympathies and training fit them in a unique way to undertake such work. I would employ the best available illustrators. The advertisements, without being sensational, should be bold, direct, and forcible appeals. They should state the case for the churches in such a way as to anticipate the question of the indifferent man, or the man who fancies he "has no use for the church." Much of this indifference and assumed opposition have their basis in ignorance of what the church stands for, and what it offers to men.

WHY LIMIT CHALLENGE?

Does some one ask, "Why not preach these things from our pulpits?" Thunder them from our pulpits by all means. But why limit the challenge and the appeal? The people who already attend church are not the ones who need to be reached; it is the non-church-goer we must get after. The newspaper would follow him to his home; it would greet him in his office; it would face him with pointed advertisement in the company of other men. The newspaper would reach its thousands where the pulpit would not reach hundreds. Newspaper advertising would not displace the pulpit; it would supplement and strengthen its efforts.

WILL ANSWER APPEAL.

Would men respond to such an appeal? Let me answer by asking, "What has the church to offer?" England's war advertising has clearly shown that men will answer an appeal to worth-while things. The easy criticism is often levelled against the church that it has lost its leadership. I am not so sure of that. It may not be as aggressive as it should. But there is still plenty of vitality and energy within the church awaiting proper direction. The church is the most potent factor for good in the community and the nation. Just in the measure that its appeal to men is vigorous and aggressive, just in the measure that the church assumes a place of true leadership, will men follow. A church that has nothing to offer men will never get them.

You cannot always judge a dinner by the price.

HOGS AND FOOD SUPPLY.

Hogs Fit Into Modern Scheme of Farming.

The meat supply of the country can be increased more quickly by the hog route than by any other. The country's need to augment its supply is great, but prevailing high prices alone should be of sufficient inducement to farmers to raise more hogs. The prospect of success never was brighter. The high prices ruling in all markets show that the demand for pork is in excess of the supply.

No branch of live stock farming is more productive of satisfactory results than the raising of well-bred swine, if conducted with reasonable care. Hogs fit into the modern scheme of farming on nearly every farm, and are one of the most important animals to raise both for meat and for money. They require less labor, less equipment, and less capital, make greater gains per hundred pounds of concentrates fed, reproduce themselves faster and in greater numbers, and give a quicker "turn-over" of money than any other animal except poultry.

The hog has no rival as a consumer of by-products and numerous unmarketable materials which but for him might be wasted. Kitchen refuse, not only from farms, but also from hotels and restaurants, when cooked before being used, make an excellent feed.

The value of skim milk as a hog feed is known on every farm, though not always fully appreciated.

To prevent tuberculosis, all milk and milk products should be cooked before being fed to hogs. To control hog cholera, use sanitary precautions and anti-hog cholera serum treatment.

Give your hog every chance to become meat.

Disease such as cholera, has been taking a smaller toll the past season than in recent years; more pure bred and high grade hogs are available than ever before; prices of hogs are now past the 16-cent level; demand for pork for home consumption and for export is keen. All of which means that the farmer who does not raise hogs is losing a chance to increase the supply of pork, and thus serve the country, and at the same time expand a profitable phase of farming.

Prospects of Cheaper Fish.

Successful Experiments at Coast.

Though not so many miles from the Coast, we, in the Upper Country, pay a high price for all fresh fish we consume. Any process or means that will reduce the price and bring fish into more general use will be welcomed. Household-ers will be glad to learn that as the result of recent experiments carried on at Vancouver it is believed that a way has been found to not only put a better class of fish on the market, but also to effect a saving in the retail price. The experiments have been conducted in the presence of a representative of the United States Government, besides B.C. business men, and it is claimed have been very satisfactory, demonstrating that fish after passing through the treatment known as the Henderson Fish Process can be shipped without the use of ice, with flavor unimpaired, and without the use of chemicals or other preservatives.

Trial shipments to Florida, Calgary, and other places have been highly favorable. The Florida consignee wrote: "The fish arrived in perfect condition."

By the use of the Henderson process fish can be kept firm and fresh for ten days without the use of ice, which effects a saving in transportation charges, the cost and labor involved in using ice, and affords a wider radius for shipment.

This looks as though the "Hemings Process"—or as it is now known, "The Gallagher Method"—is to have a rival.

This Newspaper is the "Trade-Journal" of the Buyers of Home Supplies for this District

A MAJORITY of the women who read the Review READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN IT WITH EVEN GREATER INTEREST THAN THEY GIVE THE NEWS. For, after all, the news is interesting in an abstract way—usually; while the advertisements are interesting in a directly personal way.

The Review conducts a persistent campaign of education for its readers as to the value and interest to them of the "ads" in the paper. It suggests the value of the SERVICE which the merchants render to them in their advertising.

A business man, engaged in a distinct kind of business, has his "trade journal," a publication devoted to that interest, keeping him in touch with all that is going on in his line. Often his trade journal saves him appreciable sums of money through the facts and tips which it gives to him.

Every woman, who is the "buyer" for a home, is engaged in a very real "business." It is a complex one, and one in which much money may be unwisely spent—and in which economies are nearly always possible. To these buyers for the home the Review comes—with its "store news"—as an indispensable TRADE JOURNAL.

The merchant whose business is not advertised in this trade journal of the home "buyers" may expect very little attention from these buyers. The merchant whose advertising is fullest and most informing may expect, and receives, the largest share of their attention and favor.

Resents Action of Council On Daylight Saving Petition

Board of Trade will ask that Subject be Re-considered and Plan Adopted for Soft Fruit Season.

Was Committed to Result of Petition

Action of Council Defended by Coun. English.

The turning down of the Board of Trade's petition for the adoption of day-light saving and the reasons for so doing, as contained in the Municipal Council's reply, provoked much criticism at Tuesday's meeting of the Board. A delegation from the Board of Trade will wait on the Council and ask that the matter be reconsidered, and that the system be put into effect at least during the soft fruit season, July 1st to September 15th. The secretary reported that a petition for and against was submitted to the Council bearing 177 names in favor and 77 opposed to the plan. It had not been considered necessary to have the petition supported by personal representation from the Board. The reasons given by the Council for refusing the petition were that the system was not universal, would result in confusion, etc., was opposed by the School Board, who had reported that the Department of Education would not permit the schools to run on the advanced time. It was also claimed that the petition contained names that should not have been on the list.

Despite the overwhelming majority the petition had been over-ruled and the question decided on the personal feelings of the councillors, declared Dr Andrew. This is an agricultural district, and if the daylight saving is of benefit to the fruit growers he would like to see the question again considered. He would like to have the point of the schools not falling in line taken up. The petition should have governed the Council, was the declaration of John Tait, who stated that there were between 70 and 80 express shippers in the district that would be greatly benefitted by the plan. The extra hour in the evening at the express office meant a great deal to these. The fruit packing houses, too, would be greatly helped. He thought the matter should be again taken up with the Council. That body does not seem to have the community spirit at heart nor is it at all progressive, he declared.

Something of what the extra hour during the soft fruit season might mean to the grower was told by J. Lawler. The adoption of daylight saving would give an extra hour for packing and shipping, and often meant the gaining of dollars by getting on the market a day earlier during falling prices, and made it possible to get all fruit away in better condition than if held over for 24 hours. He urged that the plan be adopted for the soft fruit season.

Vernon Camp May Not Open This Season.

According to information from the east there will probably be no training camp at Vernon this year. Announcement has been made in Toronto that in the list of camps in Canada to open on May 29 the names of Camp Vernon and Hughes had been omitted. Whether or not these camps will be opened this year was not known at the time of the Toronto announcement. The training camps to open in Canada the end of this month are Borden, London, Barryfield, Petawawa, Valcartier, Aldershot, and Sarcee.

P. G. Koop: It would seem that the petition did not matter; the majority seemingly did not count.

H. C. Mellor: I do not take it that the Council tried to go against the wish of the people. There was something in the reasons given for not granting the petition.

Dr Andrew objected particularly on their making the petition a mere joke. It had an overwhelming majority. Any councillor with such a majority would consider himself lucky. What will petitions be worth in future? After submitting to considerably more such pointed remarks aimed at the Council, Coun. English defended the attitude of the Council and its ruling.

The fact that the C.P.R., the post offices and the long distance telephone would not change was considered. Also the other towns were not changing. The strongest point against the petition was the number of names favoring the plan that had no business to be on the list. Coun. English was told that the list opposing contained an equal proportion of such names as the Council had taken exception to.

Mr Lawler reported that the head of the C.P.R. refrigerator car service had said that there had not been a single kick on fruit from Summerland, during the 1917 shipping season. Mr Lawler thought this was in quite a measure due to the better condition of the fruit and the cleaning up every night, made possible by the extra hour.

Mr Huddleston asked if the shipping advantage had been duly put before the Council, and urged that the subject be again brought up.

The gain to fruit growers should be pointed out to the Council, said Mr Koop.

Dr Andrew asked if there would be any saving by adhering to the old time or any loss by adopting the new.

That there would be no difficulty with the government telephone this year was stated by Mr Lawler, who said the connection with the local exchange had done away with the former inconvenience.

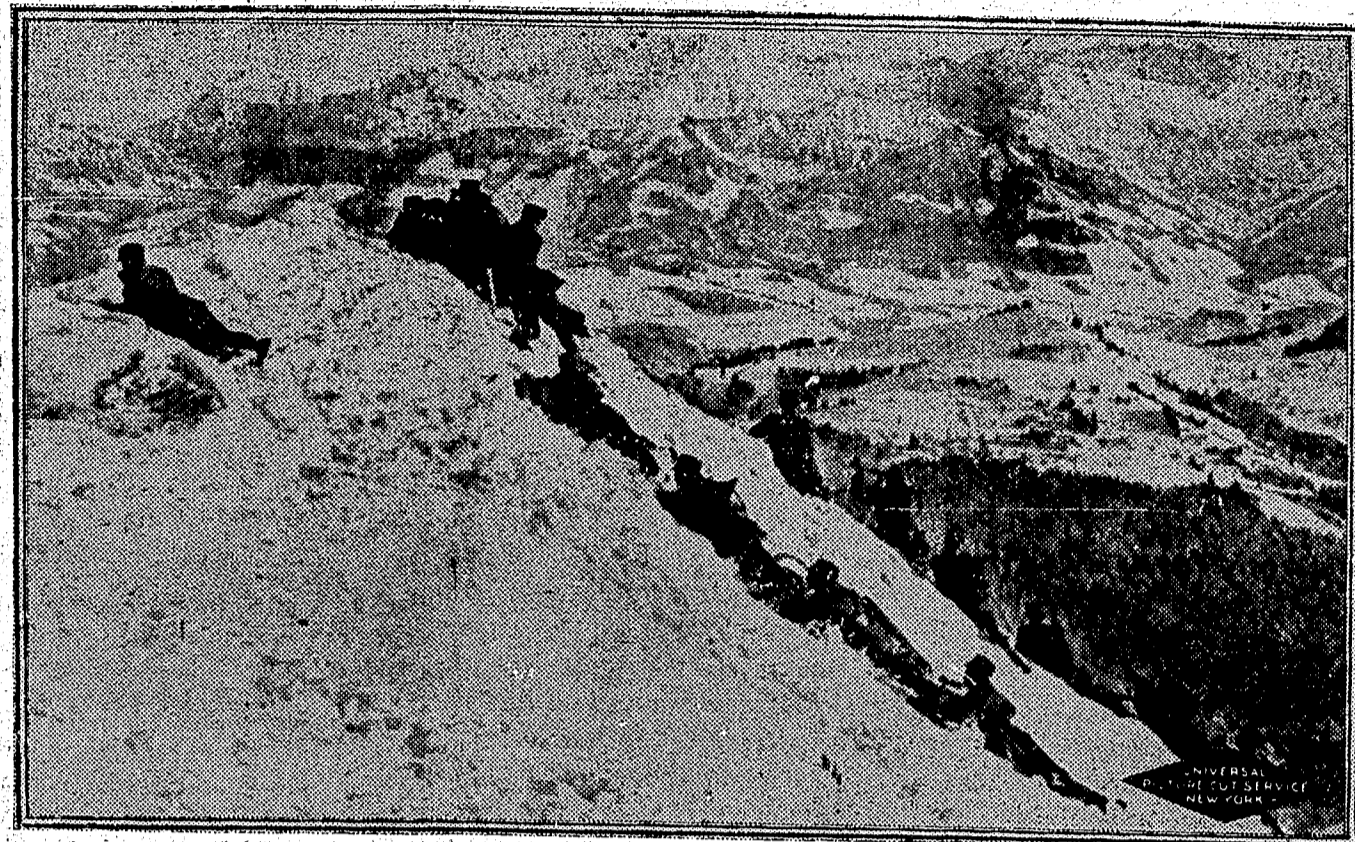

A motion to the effect that the question be re-opened, and that the strong arguments in favor of daylight-saving be presented to the Council by a deputation, and that they be asked to bring the plan into effect during July, August, and September, was carried unanimously.

The deputation named by the chair: Messrs Solly, Lawler, Stewart, Koop, and Tait.

Delinquents May Now Vote.

An amendment to the Municipal Elections Act provides for the granting of the municipal vote on by-laws, etc., to those ratepayers who are not delinquent more than one year in regard to tax payments. The former act only gave this vote to those who had paid the current year's taxes.

Fighting on the Mountain Tops

Big Increase In Production.

Apple Shipments of the Okanagan Increase Fourfold In Four Years.

At the recent meeting of the officials and agents of the C.P.R. held in Vernon some figures were produced which show that the shipments of apples from the Okanagan last season were just about four times as much as in 1913, while the shipments of vegetables were about doubled in that time.

Last year the total shipments of produce from the Okanagan over the C.P.R. lines came to 3086 cars, of which 1612 cars were apples, 275 cars of other fruits, and 1149 cars of vegetables, etc. In 1913 the output was 1492 cars, of which 449 cars were apples, 417 other fruit, and 626 vegetables. Had last year been an average one for peaches, apricots, and other soft fruits, the totals would have been swelled by at least 500 cars, as there were 753 cars of these fruits shipped in 1915, as against 275 in 1916. The shipments of fruit and vegetables for the season of 1917 are expected to run in the neighborhood of 4000.

Trustees Make Salaries Uniform

Mrs. David Lister will Succeed Miss Ballantyne.

At the last meeting of the Board of School Trustees several matters were discussed in camera and decisions reached which are only now being made public. The question of the salaries of the teachers in the Central School was again up for discussion at this secret session. It is now stated that it was then decided that all salaries, except that of the principal, should be uniform, viz. seventy-five dollars a month. This will mean the reducing of the salary of the teacher in Division II. by ten dollars, and raising that paid the primary teacher by five dollars.

The increase made in the salary of Mr Denton and the increase in the appropriation for janitor work have already been reported.

The application of Mrs Lister, a former member of the local teaching staff, who is now teaching at Seymour Arm, was accepted. She will be put in charge of Division III, in place of Miss Ballantyne, who is resigning.

Letter Box for Late Mail Much Desired by Board of Trade

Better Week-end Service from Upper Post Office also needed.

Road Repairs Again Discussed

Believe Grader should be Busy Throughout Spring Season.

Accommodation for the gathering in the early morning of late letters so that they may be mailed on the boat, and a better week-end mail service from the upper post-office, were two of the subjects dealt with at the Board of Trade meeting on Tuesday evening in the board rooms.

The subject was introduced by a resolution by J. Tait to the effect that the postal authorities be requested to have a street letter box placed near the lower post office for the receiving of late letters, the box to be opened by the courier as he goes to the boat with and for mail each morning. In speaking to his motion, Mr Tait pointed out the short time that intervened between the receiving of mail in the evening and the time of the closing of the outward mail, nine o'clock each evening, with eight o'clock on Thursday. True, there was now, through the kindness of Mr English a way to get late matter away by taking it to the livery where it was a common thing to see a large stack of letters ready for the morning boat. This accommodation was appreciated by those who knew of it, but was somewhat of an imposition on Mr English. Besides, the mail was there open to the public, and the service was not known to all, and therefore not available to the general public or visitors. A letter box outside the post office is what is needed. Kelowna has such a service, a box having been put on the wharf where the mail is lifted by the postal clerk on the boat.

That there is no mail sent from the upper post office between five o'clock on Saturday afternoon and the same hour on Monday evening was pointed out by Secretary Lees, who said that as the department would be entering into new contracts next fall for the carrying of the mail, this would be a good time to press for better service.

A resolution asking for the letter box down town and the better week-end service for out-going mail from the upper office was given unanimous support.

The Board was advised by Mr J. W. Jones, M.L.A., that there was no possibility of the government considering the establishment of an agricultural college in the Valley at present.

Though no work has yet been done on the road, Coun. English reported progress on the movement of the Board to have the road at the upper end of Prairie Valley improved. Mr Wheeler had promised a team and man for a week. R. V. Agur, Dr Andrew, and R. H. English had also offered to assist, as had others from Upper Trout Creek. The Public Works Committee had been asked to make the necessary arrangements, and he hoped that work would be undertaken soon. It is proposed to improve the road in the vicinity of the forks of the Shingle Creek and Upper Trout Creek roads, which would give a better grade than the Doherty hill.

Progress was also reported by the road signs committee, a grant of $20 having been promised by the municipality. Sixteen signs were now being made, and would be placed in a few days. The committee would welcome suggestions for the wording of the big sign to be placed at the K.V.R. station.

Better roads and the urgent need for immediate repairs, when introduced, caused a good deal of comment. Many of the speakers were of the opinion that the municipal authorities were practising poor economy by not putting the roads in condition during the spring. It was pointed out that there is every prospect of traffic being much heavier than ever, and that both the gulch road and the Peach Orchard road should be improved to accommodate the traffic. J. Lawler gave it as his opinion that the Peach Orchard road would be much used if it was fit, and suggested that the Council be asked to improve that part of it near the jam factory. It was suggested by A. Stark that the Peach Orchard road be used for heavy traffic and the gulch for motor cars. It would not cost much to put the former in condition.

Has a way been Found to Quell Submarines?

Chairman of Naval Consulting Board tells of New Invention which will end U-boat Menace in a few months.

Mr William L. Saunders, chairman of United States Naval Consulting Board, gave to the newspapers the other day a statement to the effect that a way had been found to conquer the U-boat menace.

He did not tell the nature of the invention but said it had been tested and was a sure success.

No details of the plan could be given, even if known; for that might help the enemy. The Washington dispatches state, on "unquestionable authority" however, that the Naval Consulting Board has submitted to the Secretary of the Navy a definite and finished plan to cope with the U-boats. This plan, whatever it may be, is said to have convinced the most skeptical among the Navy Department's experts. It is described as an invention wholly unlike anything which has been suggested by others. It is the work of an American, not Mr Edison, who is already the author of at least one remarkable invention.

The invention is understood to be not a mere contrivance for protecting merchant ships, but rather a means of making positive, aggressive and successful war against enemy submarines.

These reports have given rise to high hopes that the submarine—Germany's strongest weapon—will soon be rendered comparatively harmless. With submarines unconquered, the Kaiser might win the war; without them he can hardly hope to win.

A Striking Tribute

The other day the Metropolitan Magazine cabled Lord Northcliffe asking him if he had any suggestions to make as to how the United States could efficiently prosecute the war. Here is what the great British journalist replied:

"If you come in, I have one thing to say to you, and it is this: You can learn a great deal from the example of Canada."

This tribute to Canadian achievement, from the man who stands out above all others as the ablest critic that the war has produced, should be for every Canadian a matter of pride. For what the Government and people of Canada have done in this great struggle the outside world has only admiration and praise.

No Sunday Boat For a Month.

R. W. Kolloy, C.P.R. Agent here was advised by wire on Wednesday that the summer time schedule, which was announced to go into effect on Sunday, June 3rd, will not be established until the 24th of June. The seven day service on the lake and line to Steamboat will not be inaugurated until traffic becomes heavier, and is not looked for before the summer time table goes into effect.

The local Women's Institutes are busy preparing for a picnic to be held in July at which the two Summerland Institutes will entertain the Institutes of Peachland, Naramata, and Pentleton.

Whole Wheat.
 Dr Charles E. Banks of the United States Public Health Service is calling attention to the hygienic necessity of using whole wheat bread as a staple article of diet. This time of stress, when economic necessity may cause radical changes in our diets is an opportune one. He says that the flour in general use has been bleached white by the millers. It represents the starchy white powder remaining after the most of the nutritional elements except the starch and gluten have been bolted out. He says that experiments show that test chickens fed exclusively on bleached white flour after 20 days will become paralyzed from malnutrition, and that a few days' feeding on the part of the grain bolted out will restore them to health.

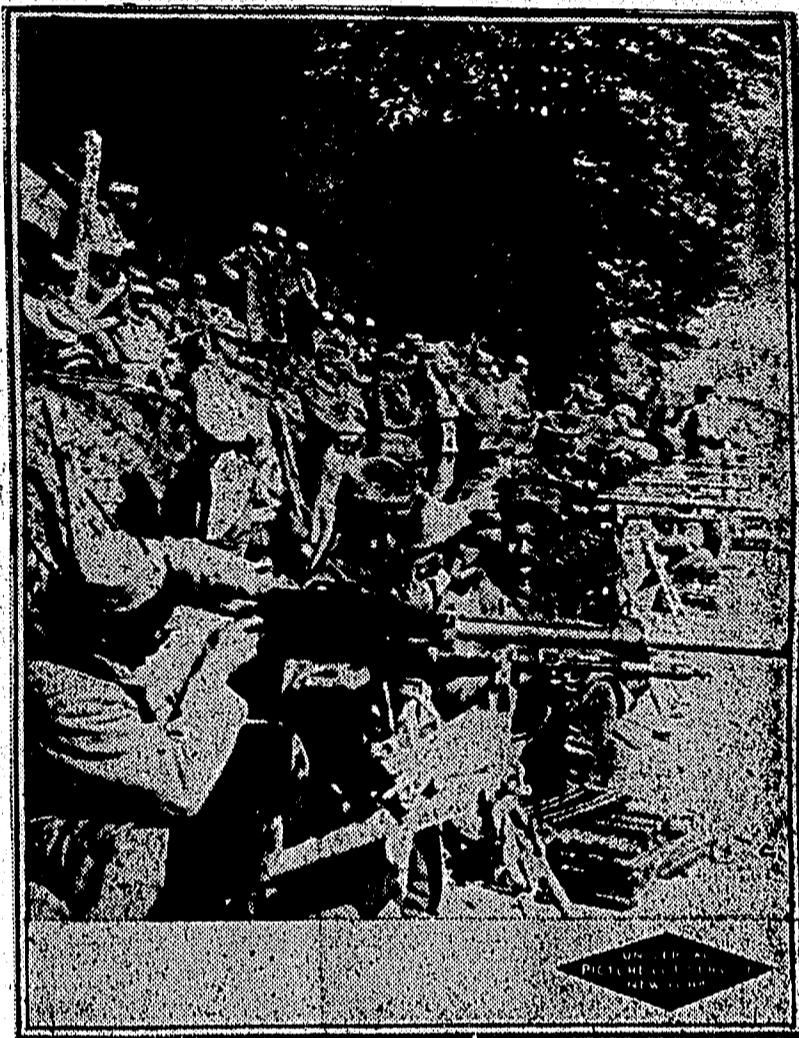

White flour has no value except that due to starch and a moderate amount of wheat protein. It appeals to the housewife because it looks white and pretty, it keeps well, it works up well into bread and pastries, and it makes attractive bread. It is commercially attractive because it keeps well in all climates. It is a dead, inert substance that resists bacterial processes well, and is not easily fermented.

On the other hand, whole wheat flour contains the wheat germ and

A Poor Excuse.
 The consumption of 2,500,000 tons of barley per annum in "the manufacture of that which has only produced national drunkenness, poverty, disease, crippled efficiency, and moral degradation" does not admit of defence at any time, and under war conditions it is altogether criminal. It is said that a great amount of food for stock is obtained as a by-product of the malting of barley. Assuming this to be so, it does appear a very round about way of utilizing barley as a food for stock. One who has tested the point says that if the feeding units of barley are placed at 92, the feeding units of the after-malting products are 28.64, or a loss of 71.64 per cent. in the coefficients of the original barley.—The Scottish Farmer.

Must Not Listen.
 The gossip in Ontario who listens to a conversation on a rural telephone line, and repeats it to the neighbors, will have to pay a fine not exceeding $25, if detected. Operators who offend will also be punished in the same way. A bill to this effect has been introduced in the Legislature by Hon. I. B. Lucas, Attorney-General.

Not only have the French a superabundance of the famous Seventy-Five guns, but the batteries of quick-firing guns have been a power invincible against German attacks, spitting out death at the rate of 1000 rounds per minute.

in consequence does not keep so well. The very vitalizing quality of the flour makes it less stable. In the parts of the wheat berry ordinarily bolted out are the vitamins, so necessary for continued health, the phosphates and other mineral salts needed by the human body, a considerable part of the proteins, most of the fats and some of the carbo-hydrates. The very ingredients of the berry most needed for health are made into by-products and sold to farmers as food for cattle and hogs. The United States Public Health Service issued a bulletin on this subject in 1916. Any one who reads this bulletin will understand why many Americans are constipated, weak, pasty and anemic. As things now are the consumer has trouble in getting whole wheat flour from the dealers. Having unsuccessfully tried some of the grocery stores some have purchased coffee mills and ground their own flour. A person taking a mixed diet expects to get from other foods the ingredients which are lacking in flour. The suggestion offered by Dr. Banks is that we change our custom now. A wide demand for whole wheat flour would be followed by an easily obtainable supply. The change in custom would increase the supply of flour and increase the healthfulness of bread.

The Allies, the onion and potato, are still holding their own, but before Christmas they will both be in the soup.

Newsy Letter On Camp Life In England

Corpl. Harry Everett, who in private life was connected with the local office of the Bank of Montreal, has written an interesting letter to his former superior, Mr May, who has kindly given us permission to publish the letter. Harry finds many changes in Old England.

24th Reserve Battalion,
Seaford, Sussex.
May 5th, 1917.

E. B. May, Esq.,
Summerland, B.C.

Dear Sir:

Just a line or two to let you know I'm still amongst the living. We are having beautiful weather just now, although it has been a very rough winter; however, one soon forgets that now that spring is here. This town is very pretty, somewhat small, but a very nice sea front, and we hope shortly to be able to have sea bathing parades. There are very few of the original 172nd Batt. left here now, nearly a I have been sent across, only those not fit are left. I had hoped they would have sent me across after coming all this way, but the Adj. seems to think I'm filling this job satisfactorily and he won't grant a transfer. I've had two transfers in for C.A.M.C. but both have been turned down, so I'm not bothering any more. Dan Williams is in the next reserve here, I saw him a few days ago, he is looking quite well and is feeling fit. I also ran across Roy Black who is back from France with a gold stripe on his arm. He is not looking the man he was in Summerland, but says he is feeling fit.

We have one or two little exciting incidents here sometimes. Yesterday morning about ten o'clock a submarine was seen about a mile off the coast here. A couple of armed merchantmen had a few shots at it but did not make a hit. A destroyer then came along and just had one shot and—goodnight submarine. There is now a red flag attached to a buoy where it went down, it has been there two days now. I suppose they are left there just to be sure they won't be upsetting any more of our shipping, and that's one bunch of dead men the German's went got at their "Margarine" factory.

A few weeks ago, on a Saturday I think it was, in the evening, a great number of the troops were in town, when an order came for everybody to get back to camp and "stand to." Orders were coming in from all directions. Us fellows in the hospital had to pack up ready to leave any minute; where we were to go, of course, nobody seemed to know. And that's how we were all night through, and the next day had to unpack and carry on just in the same old way. This is what happened, I understand, all over England. One fellow I know had just the day before gone to the north of England and was recalled as soon as he arrived. So you would imagine how he felt, besides being quite a few shillings out of pocket in railway fare.

The 148rd arrived here March 15th, known as the "Bantams." At the medical inspection I was quite surprised to see young Logie come in. He is looking well, also Dale, who is training for overseas. Logie is working in the Battalion orderly room, he being under age. Isn't it too bad about Hector Agar. He had a long illness and a disease which was taking off quite a number of men at Bramshott. I had begun to hope he would come out all right because the other poor fellows would only last a couple of days. It was rather strange, the very day I received a cutting from the Review saying he was improving, in fact was reading it at the time, I had the letter stating he had died of spinal meningitis. I feel so sorry for his wife, and hope the service will see she is looked after. I see the Bank has been removed to West Summerland now. Is the roof water-tight? I shan't be at all sorry when we can all get back again. C. A. Marshall left a couple of weeks ago for France, also H. Sculthorpe. I was speaking to a Lieut. C. A. Thomas, the assistant adjutant. He says he knows you, and also Mr Collas. His original regiment was 11th C.M.R. I hear Phillip Agar is back in England wounded, so I expect to see him here after his discharge from hospital. I don't know which hospital he is in. R. H. Barkwill left to-day for France, also J. H. Fisher and H. A. Walton.

An order has just been published to-day that troops can send mail to Canada and any of the allied countries without postage.

The whole of the available space in the camp has been dug up by a regiment of black fellows and all planted in potatoes. So at least we will have potatoes to eat after a while if all else fails us. So far we are getting three good meals a day, and plenty of it, but by what the papers say we don't know how long that is going to last, but we are not worrying any yet. I was up to see my sister in London last week-end and she tells me that to get a few pounds of potatoes one has to wait from two to three hours outside the store, all lined up as at the theatres. I fancy I should do without them. Sugar is rather a problem too. Can only get one pound at a time. So I don't think there will be much fruit put up here this season.

It is very strange to see the girls as conductors on trams and busses. They are very quick and quite polite. It is marvellous the way the women of this country have taken all kinds of work on, and some of it is real hard. The Y.M.C.A. huts here and other soldiers' rest places are all run by the ladies of the town, who give their service gratis, and you see them there day after day, and always pleasant. The battalion is going to parade tonight at 8.30 for some kind of manoeuvres until 11 o'clock, and I have to take my medical haversack and two men and stick around in case anything happens; and as I was on duty at 6.45 this morning it will make some long day. But as they say around here; "There's a war on," and one has to expect these long days. Well, sir, I will close now, wishing to be remembered to all in Summerland, and hoping to be back soon as possible.

I am, Yours sincerely,
H. EVERETT.

The Finish Of The Race.

It is the finish that is the win or loss of the race. Despair not then, nor let oft-repeated falls discourage thee. Rise up quickly from every defeat, and go bravely forward, keeping thine eyes and thy heart steadfastly fixed upon the goal: "He that overcome shall inherit all things." Never give up the battle, but renew it day by day, and thou shalt be numbered with the "overcomers" at the "finish" of the race.

A drummer, being very fond of corn on the cob, ate one after another. Finally, the pretty waitress, after she'd brought him his fourteenth one, said tartly, "Don't you think you would save half a dollar or so a day if you boarded at a livery stable?"

Since prohibition became operative crime has been reduced 61 per cent. in Alberta.

To the Summerland Home Comfort Club.

James Maguire—Just a few lines to let you know I have received a parcel from you, and I'm sure I appreciate it very much. You could not have sent me anything else more needed than those socks, for I'm just in my bare feet. We had boxes sent us but never got them. The wife has sent me socks but I never got them, and Mr Derrick has sent me a box but I haven't got it either. Well, I see Teddy Logie and Harold Pendor are in this camp also. I haven't been to France yet but I'm doing my bit in bean cooking all the time, and we have our hands full cooking for all these men. We are going back to Summerland just as soon as the war is over. Please tell Mr Hogg to give my best regards to all the boys in the I.O.O.F.

W. Atkinson.—Many thanks for the parcel received while in hospital. Have been in hospital eleven weeks with rheumatic fever but expect to be out again very soon. I met Pitman from Naramata in this hospital also Talbot from the same place who came over with us in the 2nd C.M.R.'s. One of the nurses in the hospital at Shorncliffe spoke of the Okanagan to one of the patients. Of course I inquired of her if she came from there, and she told me she had a brother in Summerland, George Craig.

We are having very cold windy weather. With best wishes to yourself and all the members of the club.

The Imperial Oil Company will build a refinery at Vancouver costing $2,000,000. It will give employment to several hundred people.

In these times the men who corner food supplies in order to squeeze more money out of consumers can hardly be classed among the patriots, who are willing to die or suffer for their country.

"Can you tell me of my wife's whereabouts?" asked the husband of the housemaid.

Bridget hesitated a moment and then replied: "Foith, sir, I believe they are in the wash."

Sugar Abstinence Advocated.

Food Expert Tells of the Harmful Effect of Too Much Sweet Food.

The war promises another blessing in disguise—according to food authorities. The rise in the price of sugar, along with the restrictions that have been in full force for months in Great Britain regulating its sale, have brought forth some protests, but mainly apologies for the advantages that will follow the war if a restricted consumption is maintained.

Eustace Miles, one of the foremost food experts in London, England, gives it as his opinion that indirectly an excess in its use results in the deterioration of the teeth and bones and in a large number of other troubles, which are usually put down to some other cause.

"I am not speaking here," he adds, "of the fact that sugar may become alcohol—so that many teetotalers, who pride themselves on their 'abstinence,' but indulge in gross excess of sugar and sugary things, should really be arrested for the possession of illicit private distilleries within themselves. I am speaking of certain definite signs and symptoms which result largely from regular and continued excess of sugar and other carbohydrates.

"Up to a certain point let good sugar be taken, but let it be realized that, as sugar is taken now to excess, it is largely a stimulant, and is also a cause of many all too common troubles.

"How much better it would be if people had less of the white sugar and sweets, etc., and more of the crisp foods (such as potato chips, toast, fried bread, biscuits, rusks, etc.) in so far as they really need carbo-hydrates."

Some of the colleges and universities in the State of Washington may have to close on account of the number of students leaving to enlist, and to help on the farms. Washington State College at Pullman is losing many students every day.
