

Telephone Compy Must Rebuild Line

Judgment Given In Suit Between Rival Companies.

The Summerland Telephone Company has been given three months in which to rebuild the section of line in the Garnett Valley district which the Okanagan Telephone Co. charged them with destroying.

Failing their putting the line in the condition it was as at June 1st, 1916, the Okanagan Telephone Co. may take judgement for $570, or rebuild the line and charge the cost, together with reasonable charges for superintendence, to the Summerland Telephone Co.

This, briefly, is the effect of a lengthy judgment just handed down by Mr Justice McDonald in the long pending suit in which action was entered, without any attempt being first made to obtain satisfaction by the Okanagan Telephone Co. against the Summerland Telephone Co.

A copy of the written judgment of Mr Justice McDonald has just been received by the officials of the Summerland Telephone Co.

The judge takes the view that even though the Okanagan Telephone Co. had no legal right to the street, the Summerland Telephone Co. had no right to remove the unused lines and poles.

It is said that the cost to the home company to make good the line will not exceed $200.

Mr L. E. Taylor, appointed by the Food Controller to represent the Kelowna district, speaking as to the vegetable situation for next year, before the Kelowna Farmers' Institute recently, said he could not see any contracts coming from England, and, personally, he would much prefer to put in grain than vegetables for evaporation.

Japanese Residents Buying Properties

The Morfitt property, a well-known ten acre orchard with a good house on Jones' Flat, has recently been purchased by one of our Japanese citizens, Jack Iwayoshi. The price paid is authoritatively stated to be $6,000.

This makes the third property in that vicinity the titles of which have passed to Japanese men who, after working here for several years and learning and appreciating the possibilities for making good returns, do not long hesitate to snap up a bargain when it comes their way.

OBITUARY.

MAY HOLDER.

DIED—On Tuesday morning at the home of her mother, May Holder, aged 27 years.

Miss Holder came to Summerland in ill health nine or ten years ago, having been told that she could not live through another winter if she stayed in England.

The funeral was held on Wednesday at 10 a.m. from her late home, Rev. A. Henderson officiating. Beside her mother there remain to mourn two sisters, Mrs. M. Tait and Miss Nellie. There is also a brother, Edward, who enlisted from Vancouver, but was not permitted to go overseas. He is now in Quebec.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mrs Holder, who, since coming to Summerland, has been bereaved of her husband, and also of her son, Percy, who was killed in Flanders. Among the floral tributes were a wreath of lilies and narcissi from the Rebekahs, and a wreath of pink and white primulas from the Home Comfort Club.

The original Maximalist was little Oliver Twist.

Council Appoints New Water Supt.

R. Mitchell given the Position Three Other Applicants.

Pumping Motor Ordered.

Ok Telephone Co. Must Put Dilapidated Lines in Condition, or Remove From Streets.

The Municipal Council held an extra session on Wednesday forenoon, when several items of business were attended to.

Four applications were received for the position of water superintendent, the applicants being: H. Dunsdon, J. C. Arkell, A. Rutherford, who held the position last season, and R. Mitchell. Mr Arkell did not state the salary required. The appointment was given to R. Mitchell, who, of the other three, asked the least for his services, namely $100 per month.

A slightly used gasoline engine, capable of developing 40 h.p., and equipped with a self-starter and a clutch throw-out, permitting of the engine being started without the load, was ordered for pumping water on to the Trout Creek Point properties which are to be irrigated for the first time this season. The purchase is being made from a well-known Vancouver house, and the engine has been inspected and recommended by Mr Broder, the man who has leased the properties on which the engine will be used.

Permission was given the clerk to loan some band instruments to some of our local men, who will each become responsible for the instrument he obtains. Complaint had been laid against the lessee of the Calder lot, to which the domestic water service has not been extended, that he had turned water from a stand-pipe some distance from his home into the cement ditch to carry it to the lot, and that the water had frozen, damaging the ditch and flooding a neighbor's orchard.

In the past the municipality has paid six per cent. on any loans obtained from the Bank of Montreal.

The by-law fixing the water and light rates as published in these columns recently was finally considered and passed as it stood. A request was made by W. A. Caldwell that a waste flume be put in at his lot to carry any surplus flow down to the lake.

A tax sale certificate for one of the properties bought by the municipality last year was sold to an applicant, putting over $300 into the treasury. Frequent complaints have been made for many months past of the

Annual Meeting Of Fruit Union

Directors are Re-elected, with One New Member.

Very Successful Year.

Selling and Packing Costs Have Been Cut Very Close. Outlook Bright For 1918.

Tuesday was shareholders' day for the Fruit Union members, and the all-day annual meeting was well attended, with a full program of matters of interest and importance. The session lasted from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., with two intervals, when lunch and tea were served by the ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary.

A comprehensive report of the past year's operations was given in the address of the president, Mr E. R. Simpson. Satisfactory balances were shown on the right side of the various trading accounts. A specially large profit was very apparent to result were the returns to the growers to be made for their apples with a deduction of 39c., the fixed charge, for box, packing, and other local charges. The board, therefore, had decided to deduct only 38c. Of the returns made to growers, President Simpson said in part: "It is highly gratifying that the Union this year has been able to make returns to the growers which are higher in Summerland than any of our competitors."

Following the president's address the financial statement and auditor's report were considered.

Three of the 18 shares in the Okanagan United Growers are held by the Summerland Fruit Union. In other words, three of the 18 men comprising the Central are appointed from the local Union.

The need of increasing the tonnage of the Union was discussed at some length. Prompt payments would gain more members, and the directors were recommended to arrange for this, and the suggestion that the Union buy from non-members was also referred to the board.

An offer was received from the local office of the Bank of Montreal to discount members' notes, endorsed by the Union, against crop returns, the Union to limit the amount of each note according to the members crop, and to keep a list of such notes and retro the notes from the members' returns.

A motion was carried unanimously recommending that the directors purchase another auto truck. Much of the afternoon was given over to representatives of the Okanagan United Growers, General

The Council will sit again next Monday as a Court of Revision.

Asking Release Of Assigned Accounts

At the time of the forming of the various fruit unions one of the conditions under which government financial assistance was given was that each union which borrowed against the unpaid balance shares of members must assign to the government its book accounts and stock. This, of course, has been a handicap on getting credit, to which the unions would otherwise have been entitled.

Officers Re-elected

At a meeting of the re-elected board of directors of the Summerland Fruit Union the same officers and officials were appointed: E. R. Simpson, president; W. H. Hayes, vice-president; and J. A. Kirk, secretary of the board.

Local Mail Service Suspended

The local mail service between the K.V.R. train from the west and the local post offices has been suspended until further notice. This service was put on during the time that the C.P.R. was giving a tri-weekly lake service, since when the trains from the west have been putting off the mail at the Peach Valley station for the two local offices and for Naramata.

What she wanted was to get down to facts, find out how many girls are required for each district and each orchard; the kind of work, the number of hours per day; the rate of wages, whether for piece work or by the day or how; whether Sunday labor was necessary, etc.

As far as possible it was proposed to establish central camps with a matron or chaperone in charge. A cook would also be furnished if necessary.

FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1918.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FRUIT UNION.

Manager Walter J. McDowall gave a number of statistics on the financial condition of the Central, and of the volume of business done. Sales Manager C. L. Lowe dealt with the marketing end of the business, as did also Mr. A. H. Flack, who is the Okanagan United Growers broker at Calgary.

Mr. McDowall presented the annual statement of the Okanagan United Growers. He pointed out that a saving of $10,000 had been effected in the selling expenses in 1917 over those of 1916. Selling expenses in 1916 were, in round numbers $28,000; in 1917, $18,000.

Growers' 5.3 per cent. 1917 crop as against 7.6 per cent. 1916. 28,370 boxes of apples exported, and 13,300 boxes shipped into the States. Contracts have been made for about 10,000 more packages of export apples for 1918 over the exports of 1917. The Okanagan United Growers turnover last year totaled $1,117,748.98, an increase of $54,647.67 over 1916, and of $315,562.57 over 1915.

Losses from bad debts had been one-fifth of 1 per cent. The great saving in selling costs was due to the establishing of their own brokers on the prairies. He expected these selling offices would soon be self-supporting, quite apart from the business of the Okanagan United Growers, when the Okanagan crop would be sold without cost to the grower. The Okanagan United Growers was seeing increased tonnage and were going after it on the 1917 record.

Mr. Lowe expressed confidence that the Okanagan United Growers would do even better this year than last. All that is needed is support of the growers. The Central he described as belonging to the growers. He told the members how fortunate they were in having such a good board of directors, and such a good local manager. The staff is always shipped promptly, and the Summerland Fruit Union is always ahead of the others in this respect. More such men as Mr. Lawler were needed as local managers.

Prospects for 1918 look rosy, but it was somewhat dangerous to say just what the results will be. Indications are that they will be at least as good as last year if the organization has the support of the Valley.

Mr. Flack spoke much along the same lines as he did at the recent meeting of the United Farmers and Farmers' Institute when Markets Commissioner Grant was here. He went more fully into the details of the establishment of brokerage offices by the Okanagan United Growers, and told of the great saving in selling costs that had resulted, and further explained the arrangement whereby the growers' sales offices on the prairies will handle the business of a number of the largest accounts of their kind in the United States, including orange shippers, banana southern fruits and vegetable concerns, and also the Northwest Fruit Exchange. With these the Okanagan United Growers can stay in the market twelve months in the year, and can conduct business economically. He had been asked how they could possibly handle Washington apples without conflicting with our own. His reply was that this Valley can not nearly take care of the demands of the prairies. It is advisable since the American stuff must come in that it come under our control. By having this other source of supply they were able to take care of their customers. Mr. Flack made a most impressive address, and urged that the growers hold together so that they might continue to be in control of the situation. A brokerage office is to be opened by the Okanagan United Growers in Vancouver.

Another speaker was Dominion Fruit Inspector Clark, who also urged co-operation, and gave some good advice on the picking of fruit. Too much of our fruit was being gathered before it had sufficiently matured. Fruit that might otherwise be a credit became a discredit to the Valley.

The directors of the Union for 1918 are: E. R. Simpson, W. H. Hayes, J. A. Kirk, G. Thorner, M. G. Wilson, S. M. Young, and C. C. Aikins, the last named being the only new member having been nominated in place of Mr. Rolt, retired.

The idea of general advertising, he declared, was that although it might not act immediately, eventually the name of the advertiser would come to mind when the reader desired to make a purchase. That many advertisers spent thousands of dollars to bring people to their stores, and that to make this effective there should be follow-up advertising, was a statement of the speaker, who said that one permanent customer was worth 10 transient.

As to advertising character, the expert said, it should first attract attention and awaken interest, which was often by an attractive heading. In this the merchant should use his selling point. Advertising with blind headings he did not think paid, for the reader was apt to become antagonistic and decide that if he would be fooled in the advertising he might expect to be fooled in the goods. Of the attractive and informing illustrations the latter were better. Desire must also be created in the mind of the reader. Advertising copy should, furthermore, carry conviction by appeal to reason, by argument, should inspire confidence by its earnest style, and the truth should be adhered to.

HOW MUCH TO SPEND.

Answering the question as to when advertising paid, the speaker said there were two times—when business was good and people wanted to buy, and when business was poor and people didn't want to buy. In fact, a merchant could not afford to ever cease advertising.

Another feature of the advertising end of selling, he said advertising appropriations should be based on the capacity of the premises and the stock on hand. Big department stores figured from 3 to 6 per cent. of their gross takings, dependent upon their location, the poorly located store being required to spend more in advertising.

"Advertising," concluded the speaker, "has built up many a big business; it has made many a big business greater, and has saved many a business."

It is easy to appreciate the points of a sermon when they jab the other fellow.

"If you have the goods, tell the people about it. Turn on the white light of publicity," was the advice recently given before a gathering of retail men. "What is 100 per cent. efficiency advertising, and how can I apply it in my business?" the speaker asked.

There are two essentials necessary. The first is that a merchant must have the goods that the people want. The next requirement is that the merchant must have the price, not necessarily lower than his competitor, but the value must be there for the price.

The primary object of advertising is selling. Therefore, if advertising is salesmanship and a merchant has the merchandise to sell, the desire is to reach as many people as possible, so he resorted to type and picture. To be successful in this, he must first know the goods he intends to sell. Many advertisers, in preparing their ads, said the speaker, become sort of intoxicated and get away from their main selling arguments. It was because they did not themselves know the goods.

A second point to be borne in mind was the merchant must also know the people, for he could best present his arguments if he knew the life and needs of those he desired to do business with.

Minister of Education Sends Circular to Teachers Pointing Out Defects of Present System.

To impress upon the teachers in the schools of the province the necessity of so arranging the home lessons of the pupils that they may be more in keeping with their ability to undertake additional work after a day at school, the Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, has caused to be issued a special circular over the signature of the superintendent. Every teacher in the schools of British Columbia is being supplied with a copy.

Information has been supplied to the Education Department from time to time, both by parents and school boards, to the effect that many teachers, especially those of the senior grades, are in the habit of giving the pupils too many home lessons. It has been claimed that much of the work assigned is unsuitable for home preparation. It has been further alleged, says the superintendent, that the children prepare all their home lessons at home while the teachers devote a great part of the school time to testing preparation of home tasks, rather than actual teaching.

DISCRETION NECESSARY.

The circular suggests that while criticism in the nature of the foregoing does not, of course, apply to the great majority of teachers, there is no doubt that in many class rooms greater discretion in assigning home tasks is necessary. Of the value of home work, if wisely assigned, the department has not the slightest doubt.

With the belief that objections to home lessons centres on the fact that much of the work assigned is not suitable for study out of school hours the department makes reference to some of the more glaring misfits in this connection. Says the circular: "Problems in arithmetic and exercises in analysis and parsing (time-honored assignments) are most unsuitable. They are simply tests and can be conducted only in the class room. A child may spend an hour or more on a single problem in arithmetic and yet even fail at the end of that time to find a solution of it." The superintendent contends that it is this sort of thing, and as a result of such work, that many pupils become discouraged, take a dislike to school, and gradually weary of the ordinary tasks.

DOUBTFUL VALUE OF MAPS.

The circular further points out that map-drawing, too, is of doubtful value as home work. The filling-in of blank maps and the sketching of memory maps in class rooms are much better exercises, he suggests, and more effective aids to the teaching of geography. History, it is suggested, suffers more from poor teaching than any other subject on the school course.

It is quite suitable for study after school hours, but it is not always assigned with sufficient care.

Care should also be taken to emphasize the great concerns of history, great biographies and great national events, while the rest should be left to the private reading of the pupils. To quote: "The time is past when children should be required to memorize the provisions of acts repealed centuries ago, or the names of all the battles of the Seven Years' War, or any other war, with dates, leaders of the opposing armies, and results."

HOME STUDY SUGGESTIONS.

The final appeal of the superintendent reads as follows: "Let me ask, then, that home tasks be carefully assigned, be not too heavy, but of such a nature that they can be done by even the slower pupils without assistance."

"Tasks for home preparation should be confined to the language subjects (memorization of stanza, of poetry, preparation of spellings etc.) review work in history and geography, collecting nature study material, and getting information or illustrations about topics to be taken up for study in the class rooms.

"Few, if any, written exercises should be given to do out of school hours," continues the circular. "Home work ought not to be demanded of junior grade pupils. The time devoted to it by intermediate grade pupils should not exceed one hour each evening, and by those of the senior grade, one hour and a half. Children must not be denied time for recreation and play. Education must not be secured at the expense of health, which, after all, is the child's greatest asset."

'GET IN THE BOOSTIN' BIZ'

Do you know there's lots of people Sittin' round in every town, Growlin' like a broody chicken, Knockin' every good thing down?

Don't you be that kind o' grouch, 'Cause they ain't no use on earth, You just be a booster rooster, Crow and boost for all you're worth.

If your town needs boostin', boost 'er,

Don't hold back and wait to see If some other fellow's willin'—

Sail right in, this country's free. No one's got a mortgage on it,

It's just yours as much as his; If your town is shy on boosters,

You get in the boostin' biz.

If things just don't seem to suit you,

And the world seems kinder wrong,

What's the matter with yer boostin' Just to help the thing along?

'Cause if things should stop agoin' We'd be in a sorry plight,

You just keep that horn blowin'— Boost her up with all your might.

If you know some fellow's failin',

Just forget 'em, 'cause you know That the same chap's got some good points,

Them's the one's you want to show.

"Cast your loaves out on the waters, They'll come back," a sayin' true;

Mebbe, too, they'll come back 'but-tered'

When some feller boosts for you.

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

Seed Growing In British Columbia

Prior to 1907 very little root and vegetable seed was grown in British Columbia. A number of farmers, market gardeners, etc., produced each year sufficient seed of the more common crops to supply their own requirements, but not sufficient to allow them to place any considerable quantity on the market. Inexperience on the part of the grower and the prevailing scarcity of cheap labor militate against the establishment of this industry on a permanent basis.

During the past few months, however, a serious world seed shortage has developed, and it is predicted that the shortage will be even more acute in 1919. The suitability of the climate of this province to the growing of seed has been recognized for some time, but the prevailing high prices now paid for seed of all kinds are such as to make seed-growing a remunerative undertaking, even for the inexperienced.

The wholesale seed houses have turned to British Columbia for a supply of seed for 1919 and 1920. They are prepared to place contracts for the growing of the seed with the B.C. farmers. They look to British Columbia for thousands of pounds of seed of the more common root and vegetable seeds, including mangels, turnips, carrots, beets, rape, radishes, parsnips, onions, cabbage, lettuce, peas, and beans. The seed houses supply the stock seed from which the seed crop is to be grown, they supply sacks, and pay all freight on seed. This is an opportunity which the farmers of the province should not fail to grasp. It should enable them to establish the seed industry in this province on a permanent basis.

The seed industry involves the use of special machinery, the passing of special legislation, and if seed that will be a credit to the province is to be marketed, it will involve an educational campaign and the collection and distribution of all available information on seed growing.

A number of prominent Vancouver Island seed growers have organized a British Columbia Seed Growers' Association, which aims to further the interests of seed growers throughout the province. Any farmer or gardener interested in seed growing should write at once to the Secretary of the B.C. Seed Growers' Association, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., for further particulars. The Seed Growers' Association is in a position to bring prospective seed growers into touch with those who are handling the seed contracts. Prompt action is necessary if all the seed contracts available are to be placed in B.C. this year.

Keeping a man in hot water all the time apparently does not always make him tender.

Mating The Breeding Pen

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The shortage of labor and the tremendous increase in feed prices make it imperative that only the very best producers should be kept. Stock that would return a substantial profit in pre-war times, when feed was cheap, will now, under the changed conditions, show a loss. This, perhaps, applies more strongly to poultry than to any other class of live stock as the securing of suitable feed is becoming more and more difficult.

In the mating up of the breeding pens these conditions should be borne in mind. Aim to use nothing but your very best birds, as it is only from these that the highest results can be obtained.

The male to head the flock should be from a high producer, and, if possible, to know that his sisters are showing their ability to lay, all the better. Not only should his pedigree be right, but he should show vigor in every move. A bird of this description will show a fairly broad head with a rather short, stout beak, a bold piercing eye, a skin that is soft and velvety to the touch, shanks with fine scales and showing a certain amount of red pigment down the outer sides.

His mates should be vigorous females that have shown by egg production what they can do. If trap nests are not used—and they are not on most farms—band those pullets that start to lay first, and select the breeding pens from them.

The ideal mating is a well developed cockerel of the foregoing description mated to young hens, but if enough hens of the desirable type are not available do not hesitate to use pullets, so long as they are well matured and vigorous they will give the best of results.

A Ford Car Takes the Place of All These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitchforks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

Both reside in Peachland. The sympathy of the whole community is extended to the sorrowing relatives. The funeral, which was very largely attended, took place from the family residence on Tuesday, the 26th inst. Rev. J. A. Rowland officiated.

There is every prospect that there will be a good crop of peaches this summer in the South Okanagan, as Mrs Hugh McDougall had some lovely branches of peach blossom for a bouquet at the Baptist Church, which shows that the blossoms are all right up to date. These were sent to Mrs McDougall by her sister, Mrs Roe of Naramata.

Mr J. T. Long and Master Geo. were passengers for Westminster and other Coast points on Monday night.

Letters From Our Soldiers Addressed to the Secretary of The Home Comfort Club.

1st Eastern General Hospital, Cambridge.
January 9th, 1918.

Dear Mrs Hogg,
Your Christmas parcel arrived at this hospital last week and had been to France and back. Please convey to all those who so kindly contributed to the parcel my sincere thanks. The shirt was very acceptable, and will come in very handy when I leave this hospital. I expect to be out by next week, when I go to a convalescent home for a month. By now you must have got my letter thanking you for the other parcel you sent.

Beginning the new year it is not unnatural to take a backward glance at the year that is just closed, and in doing so it is impossible to deny that we have had our ups and downs, our triumphs and our disappointments. Whatever the year may have in store for us, we are far from taking a gloomy view of the prospects. We must not be thoughtlessly optimistic nor pessimistic, but full of confidence. Yea! confidence that souls will be united once again with the firm declaration of faith in the righteousness of our cause and clear re-assertion that its triumph is of vital import to the future of humanity.

I will now give you a short description of my stay in hospital at Christmas.

Christmas is always a great time at the military hospitals despite the many adverse conditions now prevailing. I cannot say when I spent a happier Christmas. The efforts of the commanding officer and his wife to secure the enjoyment of the inmates were admirably seconded by every patient. The decorations were especially good. There was a good deal of friendly rivalry between the various wards, and much pains and considerable taste were expended on making them as bright and seasonable as possible. Seasonable mottoes abounded. Some were quite artistic productions, an excellent example being "A Merry Christmas," in rustic lettering worked in broken sticks on a yellow background. The decorations were the result of the joint labors of patients, sisters, and nurses. A noteworthy feature in many wards was the skilful way in which colored paper flowers and tufts of cotton wool had been employed. This is where I came in, for the paper roses and carnations and poppies I made won the first prize. I had the honor of presenting the Lord Lieutenant of Cambridge with a special rose and carnation. Our ward, 24, got first prize.

The celebrations commenced with Christmas carols on Christmas Eve, when between 8 and 9 o'clock the choir of Trinity College went round to the various wards carrying Chinese lanterns and sang, to the great enjoyment of the inmates.

The Christmas dinner was served at 12 noon, and was well worthy of being described as the great event of the day. There was a bountiful supply of roast turkey, sausages, and vegetables, and the cooks had also managed to concoct some Christmas pudding, which despite

"The Unspeakable Scot."

In the last issue of the Review some passing interest was given to an article titled a juvenile essay on Scotland. While the majority of native born Scotch are not always so slow in appreciating a joke, even should it be at the expense of their proverbial thrift, they are not so mean as the purse-proud Sassenach would have the world at large believe. This, beyond doubt, is borne out by the following irrefutable figures:—

Glasgow	$70,858,800.00
Birmingham	33,517,195.00
Edinburgh	23,823,195.00
Manchester	22,250,100.00
London	17,116,320.00
Newcastle	15,161,620.00
Liverpool	10,305,060.00
Leeds	7,608,510.00
Bristol	7,000,905.00
Sheffield	6,633,065.00
Southampton	708,985.00

What a record for Glasgow, and such a position both it and its sister city of Edinburgh hold in a cause in which the citizens of the kingdom are called upon to give unstintingly of their means, in order that democracy may become triumphant. All hail, Caledonia! for surely no unit of our great Empire has responded more nobly in men and means. You are wee, geographically speaking, but you loom large when the nation asks you to make a material showing.

There is no wandering Gael today who happens to scan the aforementioned figures but must feel that he can with honor, born of true patriotic elation, raise his head above the world's throng and shout "Hurrah for Scotland."

their war-time character, proved very satisfactory, and was highly appreciated. There were also mince pies, crackers, nuts, apples and pears. After tea various games and entertainments took place in the wards, and there were several large Christmas trees from which gifts were distributed among the occupants of the wards. We had a Pierr6t Troupe to entertain us. On Christmas Eve a convoy of about sixty wounded arrived while the carols were being sung, and another convoy of about the same size came

The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,
The pitiful exhibition of unchristian and ungentlemanly conduct at a recent meeting "gives one furiously to think" as to what effect such unseemly manners may have on the minds of our non-christian population.

One can hardly imagine such a scene being enacted by the dignified and polite Japanese, or by our own Indian neighbors in council.

Without exception last year's Directors held themselves correctly and courteously in the face of innuendo and accusation, but the two leaders of the brawl exhibited the characteristics of the lowest viragoes and the dishonesty of the politicians.

May one venture to believe that in the future, when Christianity has passed through its present crisis with credit, we may show by example, as well as by precept, in our local assemblies, some results from Christ's teachings is the sincere hope of "MILES."

Some people being satisfied that they cannot hear money talk, are still loafing around waiting for it to make signs.

in about 7.30 on Christmas Day.

We are having it very cold, in fact it is snowing while I write these few lines. The cold seems to penetrate one's bones after good old Canada. Shan't I be glad to get back to the sunny Okanagan once more.

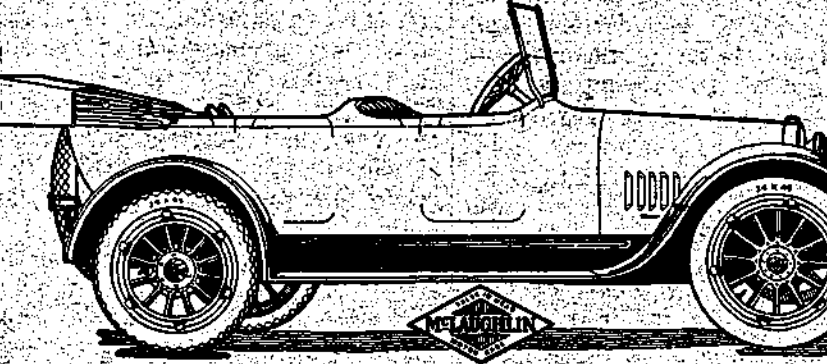

If you write again you had better address to the Army Post Office, London, England, because being away from my unit I may be stationed at any place in England and moved again. I cannot say if I shall be going to France again, but it's very unlikely.

Now I will close, with renewed thanks to the Home Comfort Club, Believe me,
Yours sincerely,

The orchard on Jones' Flat, known as the Nolan lot, has recently been repurchased by Mr W. T. Broad, who sold it to Mr Nolan some years ago. It immediately adjoins the Broad orchard, and the two together will make one of the finest properties in the vicinity. Thos. Washington has been managing the Nolan orchard.

At the request of the Department, Indian Agent J. R. Brown has been conferring with the Indians in this district regarding increased production from lands within the Indian reserves. The Indians are exempt from military service, and this is being pointed out to them in the appeal for greater outputs from their farms. The bands at the head of the lake and at Armstrong have received the message with enthusiasm. Those on the reserve south of Summerland have been called together for Saturday, and will doubtless show equal readiness to assist. Some government aid in procuring seed may be necessary in some instances. The Indians hold some of the best land in the Valley, and if they can be properly organized and encouraged they should be able to add materially to the tonnage of the Valley.

Mr S. McGee, a former resident of Prairie Valley, was in town on Thursday night on his way through from Alberta to the Klondike.

Mrs J. Taylor, who recently came to Summerland, has taken the middle store in the Campbell Block, and also the whole of the second floor. The store has been converted into a restaurant and bakery, while some of the rooms upstairs have been furnished to provide sleeping accommodation. She is now serving meals and taking orders for bread, pastry, etc., and carries a stock of fresh bakery goods.

An "Old Time Dance" arranged by Mr T. J. Garnett, was held on Monday night in Campbell's Hall, and proved a most successful affair. There were present a goodly number of dancers, many coming from Mineola, and splendid music was furnished by Mrs Laffan on the piano and Mr Secrest the violin, and Mrs Burgoyne, Mineola, violin, and Mrs J. B. Thompson, piano. The entire cash proceeds, $18.50, was turned over to the local branch of the Okanagan Ambulance League.

Comfortable opera chairs recently put in place at The Rialto make up largely for the, as yet, unfinished appearance of the interior of the new picture house. The operator has now become quite familiar with the really fine machine, and good pictures are being shown. The Saturday night performances are drawing over-crowded houses. Equally as good and sometimes better pictures are being shown on Tuesdays, when comfortable seats can usually be found for all. On Saturday afternoon the management begins adding a matinee to the program.

Alex. Robinson, a young man of about 20 years, who came here last fall from Regina, accompanied by his mother and sister died about four o'clock this morning at their temporary home near the College Gymnasium. His father had been advised of his critical condition and is expected to arrive to-night.

Figures showing the fractional parts of the inches in the precipitation column in the January weather report from the Experimental Station, as published last week were incorrect. The corrected report is given in this number. Will those of our subscribers who clip these reports kindly substitute that given this week for the one published in the last number.

The Trout Creek local of the United Farmers of B.C. had a very full evening on the 21st when they held their usual fortnightly meeting. There was a large attendance, and this was augmented by the presence of some of the members from the West Summerland branch. Mr Clark Wilson gave his experiences in the Feeding and Care of Hogs, and some very sound advice was gathered from his remarks. Mr Magnus Tait followed with a paper on Vegetable Growing, which, as was natural at this season of the year, gave rise to a very interesting discussion. The question of seed growing was next introduced, and some interesting figures were given relating to this branch of farming. The program for the next meeting calls for papers from Mr A. Anderson, on Irrigation of Young Fruit Trees, and Mr G. Thornber on Co-operation.

been formed and had made considerable progress in a plan to utilize all available local labor. This committee would gladly co-operate with her for additional assistance. At her request a committee of three ladies will be named by the Women's Institutes, with which committee Miss Perry can keep in touch. Several buildings were suggested as obtainable for a camp.

Miss Perry was informed that, while the C.P.R. had stated that even the small reduction given farm help last year would not be granted this season, the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association was still hopeful of being able to convince the railway of the wisdom of granting greatly reduced fares.

The question of wages was touched upon several times during the general discussion which followed Miss Perry's address, but she declined naming any figures. She was now asking information, but felt confident that the farmers would pay for value received, and that there would be no attempt to exploit the girls. She expressed surprise that the C.P.R. was not ready to carry the girls at a nominal charge.

Miss Perry left on Saturday morning for the Coast, and will go to Victoria to complete arrangements for necessary assistance from the government for the carrying out of the Y.W.C.A. labor organization scheme.

The selection of material for suit or overcoat is important. The best work of designer and workmen may be spoiled through poor taste shown in material made up.

We can always help in a selection, and our range of materials is of a size to give the widest choice.

But all other things being equal, it is the skill shown in designing and workmanship that makes or mars the suit.

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

Following a meeting with the directors of the Farmers' Institute by Markets Commissioner Grant and Messrs Lowe and Flack of the Okanagan United Growers, which was really intended to have been a public meeting, arrangements were made to hold a meeting of fruit growers on Monday of this week. At this there was a full attendance, and the three visiting gentlemen, Messrs McDowall, Lowe and Flack, who talked on the work of the Unions and of the Okanagan United Growers, were well received. The necessity for thorough organization and co-operation among the growers was emphasized.

Mrs H. T. Davies, one of the B.C. women invited to Ottawa to meet with a cabinet committee to discuss several matters of national importance, left on Saturday morning for the capital. Before going she received the congratulations of many who were delighted because of the honor conferred upon a worthy citizen.

In the death of Mr. W. J. Steele, which occurred on Monday, Naramata has lost a good citizen. Mr Steele, who owned a large fruit ranch here, had been ill for several months. The funeral service was held in the Naramata Church on Tuesday afternoon, following which the body was conveyed by sorrowing friends to the cemetery. The deepest sympathy of the community is felt for the bereaved widow.

Because of Mrs Johnson's condition of health, Mr and Mrs C. W. Johnson, who went down to the Coast recently, have decided to remain there for the summer. They have rented their place here.

ed, one being for Mrs. M. M. Allen, another for Mr. Fred Young. A McLaughlin six and a Ford have been ordered by Mr. C. C. Aikins for his big fruit ranch.

Allie Noyes, a former Naramata boy, who enlisted early in the war, was reported one of a number of returned soldiers recently arriving in Vancouver.

Capt. and Mrs. Roe are hoping to get word any day that their son Russell has sailed for Canada from England, where he has been in hospital for some weeks.

Two evangelists from the prairies Messrs R. G. Graham and W. J. Ness, visited Naramata this week.

We understand that arrangements have been made to hold a week of services in the local church.

The annual meeting of the Fruit Union, held in Summerland, was well attended by Naramata members.

A REAL GUNMAN.

"That man Jones," yelled Jimson, "has more nerve than all my neighbors put together."
"What has he done?" inquired an interested friend.
"Why last night he came to my house to borrow a gun to shoot a dog—and it was my dog."

HOW TIME FLIES.

The Mexico Ledger thinks merchants should be more prompt in presenting their accounts. It tells of a druggist who brought a young man in his town a bill two years old, and on the first part of the bill was a charge for a box of chocolates, and on the other end was a charge for one nursing bottle. How time flies!

If the home merchant will not hold the home business in the home town by advertising in the home paper, he cannot blame the mail order house for taking advantage of the opportunity to get the business.

Women are inherently dishonest. They think nothing of robbing a man of his peace of mind and stealing his heart.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

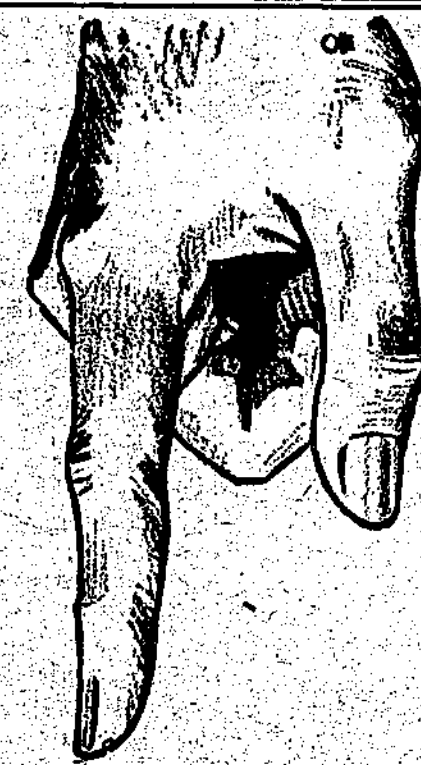

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

Deputy Minister of the Interior,

what the big fellow thinks

MERCHANTS in the smaller towns sometimes say of business conditions that "there is nothing doing," and that "it would be a waste of money to advertise." They complain that their particular businesses could not be improved by publicity. The following expression of opinion, made recently by the manager of one of the large Mail Order concerns speaks for itself:

"WE HAVE A BUREAU WHOSE DUTY IT IS TO READ THE COUNTRY PAPERS. THERE IS NOT A PAPER OF ANY CONSEQUENCE IN OUR TERRITORY WE DO NOT GET. THE BUREAU LOOKS OVER THESE PAPERS AND WHEN WE FIND A TOWN WHERE THE MERCHANTS DO NOT ADVERTISE IN THEIR LOCAL PAPERS, OR WHERE ADVERTISERS DO NOT CHANGE THEIR ADVERTISEMENTS REGULARLY, WE IMMEDIATELY FLOOD THAT SECTION WITH LITERATURE. IT ALWAYS BRINGS RESULTS FAR IN EXCESS OF THE SAME EFFORTS PUT FORTH IN TERRITORY WHERE THE LOCAL MERCHANTS USE THE LOCAL PAPERS."

No doubt if a tally were kept of the amount of money sent to these Mail Order stores from day to day from Peachland, Summerland, and Naramata it would show that there is indeed a lot of money being spent; but it is going to those firms who make a bid for the business—those firms who know the value of advertising, and who do not hesitate to spend one dollar to get five.

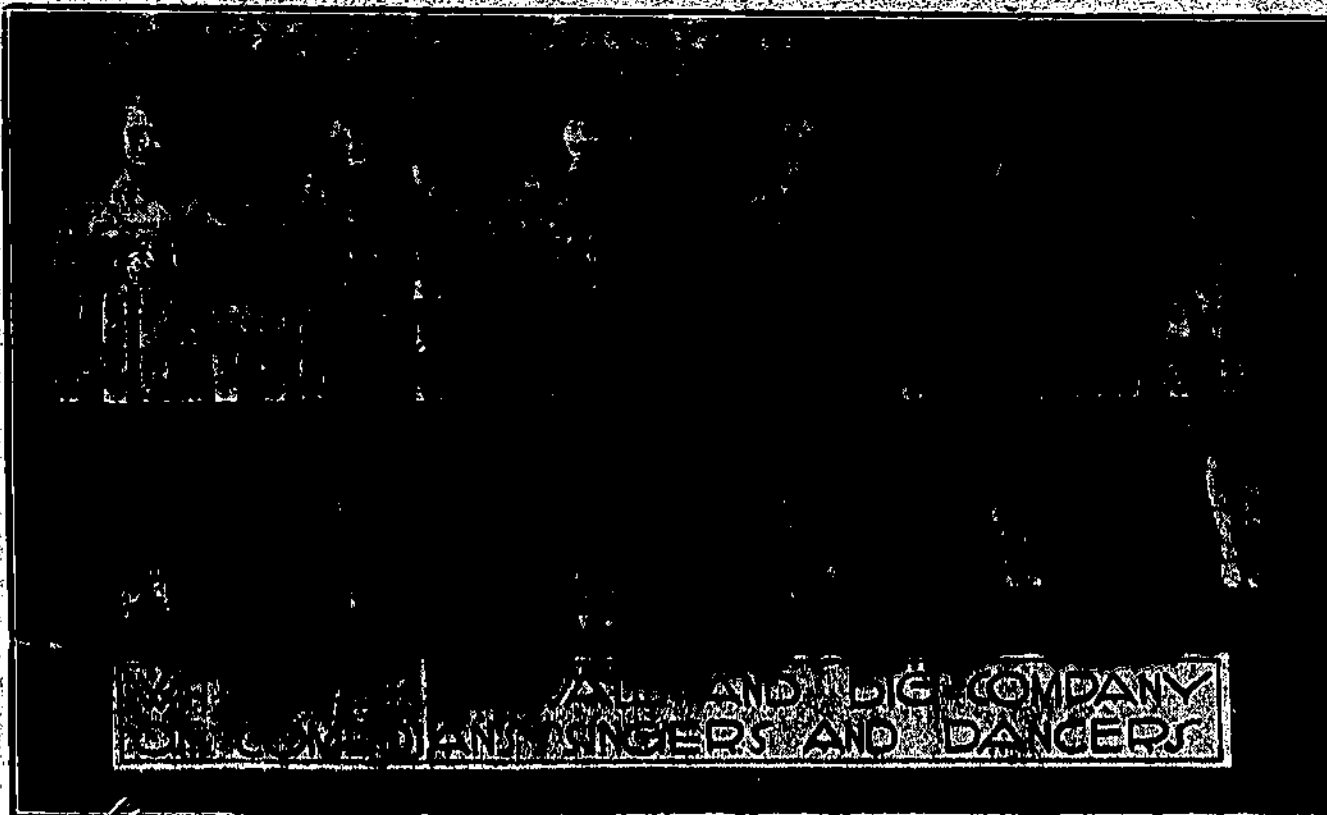

Local Stores have a Big Advantage

They can appeal to the people very forcibly in many respects. They can point out numerous advantages in buying at home, where the public can examine the goods, and where they do not have to wait a couple of weeks to get them. But such a large proportion of business houses fail to do this! They sit in despair while the Mail Order Houses do a rushing business and gather in the CASH.

Mr. Home Merchant, the business is yours if you will go after it.

The Review

will gladly co-operate with you in curtailing this heavy drain on our cash resources.

Hears Appeals On Assessment

Court of Revision Sustains Higher Valuations On Business Lots.

Few Appeals Entered.—Some Slight Reductions.

One Assessment Raised.

The Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll sat on Monday to hear appeals. After each councillor had taken the prescribed oath the court was opened at 10 a.m. and it was not until well into the afternoon that the last of the cases were disposed of. Though the list was not a lengthy one, considerable time was taken up by some of the appeals.

R. Joseph of Montreal, owner of nine acres under the railway in Prairie Valley, assessed at $2,300, asked that the valuation be placed at $1,000, the original price.

After a careful comparison with other lots in the neighborhood, the assessment was sustained.

The next asked that his assessment be increased. This was J. B. McTaggart, also an owner of land adjoining the railway. Part of his original lot is now traversed by the railway, but it would appear that he and the company had not yet agreed upon a price and he asked that he be assessed for the whole until he had made the transfer. Assessment sustained. Two lots in Garnett Valley, held by Harry and James Dunsdon respectively, were reduced from $1,950 to $1,750 each. This was done after due consideration of the claims of the owners and comparison with adjoining lots, and with the recommendation of Coun. Campbell, whose knowledge of the properties made comparison possible.

Appeals were made by Mr W. C. Kelley against the assessment on his home lot and the three business lots from the barber shop west. Mr. Kelley was present and argued his cases at some length.

In 1914 his home lot, then five acres, was assessed at $2,000. In 1916 it had been reduced to 4 1/2 acres by the sale of a half acre for $600, and the assessment was reduced to $1,800. In 1917 this was again reduced by 10 per cent. to $1,620. This year it was placed at $2,000. Mr Kelley maintained that this increase was not justified. It could only be considered as farm land, and the soil was poor. There was considerable waste land, and he had spent quite a lot of money in putting the lot in its present condition, in stoning and levelling. He claimed that the price obtained for the half acre sold did not militate against the appeal as that price included the cost of clearing and planting. The only grounds on which such a value could be based was that it was centrally located, and there had been no extra value added in the last twelve months.

Assessor Logie, being called, said that all lands in West Summerland had been raised. An even higher valuation had been placed on them by Mr Cooper, ending in a compromise being effected. Mr Kelley's lot would sell for more than its assessed valuation. The School Board had been trying to buy five acres just across the street for which $700 an acre had been asked and $600 offered by the Municipality. He thought the Council would be glad to give $500 an acre for four acres from Mr Kelley. Land values were up, and will be better. The increase in the assessment is not equal to the increase in values. There was just now a stampede for West Summerland. Lakeside business lots had been lowered as a consequence, but he predicted that business would go back to the lake again.

Asked if he would sell four acres for $2,000 to the Municipality, Mr Kelley replied that he would.

Mr Cooper supported the higher valuations placed on West Summerland generally. He was getting offers of $40, $60, and $80-an acre rent for farm land. Mr Kelley said he had not been able to get a tenant for his lot because of the nature of the soil. Questions from the councillors brought out the facts that the Solly lot was assessed at $750

Premier Brewster Succumbs To Sudden Illness

After an illness of but a few days Hon. H. C. Brewster, Premier of B.C., died at Calgary last Saturday. The premier had been at Ottawa on urgent national business, and was on the way home when he was taken sick on the train from which he was removed at Calgary. He died last Saturday from pleuropneumonia. The remains were taken to Victoria, where, with impressive ceremony, they were interred on Tuesday.

Nearly fifteen thousand persons turned out to watch the parade, which was over a mile long, and included members of parliament, civil and military dignitaries, bodies of troops and sailors, and many citizens.

The Metropolitan Methodist Church was crowded hours before the opening of the service, which was conducted by the leading clergy. The obsequies at the grave were in charge of the Masons.

The members of the Summerland Liberal Association learn with sincere regret of the death of Premier Brewster. As the head of the administration the province sustains an irreparable loss, while the world at large laments the removal of an honored citizen. To the members of his family and to his parliamentary colleagues we offer respectful sympathy.

The above is a resolution of condolence passed at a special meeting of the local Liberal Association last Saturday evening shortly after the news of the untimely death of Premier Brewster reached Summerland.

for the acre adjoining the Kelley block, and the remaining 3.8 acres at $1,150; the Ritchie properties, just west of the Kelley lot, at $500; and the two-acre Greenhow lot on the north for $720, as compared with $444 per acre for the lot in question.

Later in the day the arguments on both sides were reviewed by the Court, and the assessment sustained.

In considering the arguments pro and con in the appeal against the assessment made on Mr Kelley's lots Nos. 1, 2, and 3, now occupied by tenants Messrs Barclay, McCutcheon, Noble, and Rowley, the Court of Revision was guided largely by the assessed values of surrounding properties, and here again the assessment was sustained. The corner lot has a frontage of 120 ft. on the side street and 15 ft. on the front. The others each have a frontage of 25 ft. In 1914 the corner lot was valued at $300 and the other two at $500 each. In 1916, as the result of an appeal, Judge Brown ordered them assessed at $250, $375, and $375, a total of $1,000 as against $1,300 in 1914. Last year they were reduced to $1,170, 10 per cent. under this latter valuation. Present assessments are: $400 for the corner, and $600 each for the other two, $1,600 in all.

In supporting his claim Mr Kelley pointed out that the 30 ft. lot on which the Bank of Montreal building now stands is assessed at $450, as against $400 on his 15 ft. lot. Three lots where the bank is located were in 1917 assessed at $1,050. Mr Kelley asked if his location was so superior to that of the bank as to justify an assessment of $1,170 on his. He insisted that there was no difference in the value of the lots in the different blocks from the bank to the Summerland Supply Store. Rents on the ground floor of the Campbell Block were as high or higher, he said, than anywhere else.

Mr Cooper argued that the Bank of Montreal corner did not compare with the Kelley corner as the latter had a frontage on much used streets, with sidewalks of 135 ft., 120 plus 15, while the side of the bank lot was on an unopened street that would only lead to a stable. To follow out the general practice, if the inside lot, taken as the unit, was worth $600, as he thought it was, the one between it and the corner lot was worth 10 per cent. more, $660. In cities corner lots are valued at 60 per cent. above the unit, while in vil-

Fruit Growers Hear Practical Addresses On Timely Topics

Lecture Course Under Auspices of Farmers' Institute Of Value To Orchardists.

Stay With The Peaches, Says Prof. F. M. Clement

Summerland Can Prosper On Growing Fruit Impossible In Other Districts, Says Provincial Horticulturist.

The series of lectures given on Tuesday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Farmers' Institute was well attended, especially in the afternoon, and proved very instructive and enjoyable.

The first speaker was Prof. F. M. Clement, Horticulturist on the faculty of the University, and also secretary of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association. Beside talking association he gave a very interesting talk on peach growing. He, of course, condemned the planting of peach trees with apples. The treatment they require is so very different that they should be planted apart. Prof. Clement strongly urges the growing of peaches here. Production of this fruit has been falling off, and much higher prices are certain. Further, the fact of having peaches to include in cars of mixed fruits will enable the grower to get better prices all round. The peach tree requires an open soil, one that never becomes water-logged. To get best results water should be applied sparingly, with frequent cultivations during the first part of the season. After the fruit begins to expand water should be applied more liberally. He mentioned a new root now being used for peach trees which is very hardy, will do well on alkali soil, and withstands drought.

Abundance of good reasons why every fruit grower should be a member of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association were advanced by Prof. Clement. Just now with the association, labor is the main question. Other work ahead of the association is the defending of the duty on apples, the obtaining of lower express rates and reduced freight rates. To accomplish these it is essential that there be a big organization back of the demands, and money is also needed to carry on the work and to advertise B.C. fruit. He intimated that each shipper would be asked to contribute a half cent per box to this fund.

When asked his opinion regarding alfalfa in the orchard, Prof. Clement asked: "What are you growing, alfalfa or an orchard?" With both in the same soil there was a continual fight for water, and there was no question as to which would get it. The value of the alfalfa comes after it is plowed under, quite contrary to the opinion that the living roots add to the soil.

CONTROL OF PEACH WORM.

"Peach Worm Control and Spraying" was the topic of the address of Mr R. C. Treherne, Dominion Entomologist. This pest, he said, can be easily controlled. In this latitude there were but two generations of this pest. Through the winter it harbors as a worm in the new wood. When it comes out it wanders about from twig to twig, biting as it goes, causing twig blight. Later, after it has developed into the moth, eggs are laid, and the young from these feed mostly on the fruit of the peach, apricot, plum, and other stone fruits. Spraying with limo-sulphur, winter strength, just as the leaves are breaking will reach them while still in their winter galleries into which the spray penetrates. If sprayed after the trees are in bloom, arsenate of lead must be used. He would not attempt to treat for the second generation. In big commercial peach orchards the peach worm is not considered an important pest, it is so easily controlled.

Simply spraying with limo and water before the breaking of the leaves he had found an excellent remedy for peach leaf curl.

Having learned the life history of the onion maggot a satisfactory means for keeping down this dreaded pest had been discovered. It is the grubs that hatch from the eggs which the fly has laid on the crown of the onion that destroys the bulb. It has been discovered that the fly is on the wing from 10 to 12 days before it lays these eggs. They are attracted by sweets. Sodium arsenite 1 lb., boiled in 1 gal. of water, and sweetened by 1 lb. of molasses and sprinkled at intervals in the onion field when the plants are young killed off the fly. Molasses is used instead of sugar as the latter will attract bees. The bait may be put in tin pie plates, 20 to the acre, if there are no hens, etc., to drink it.

WATCH FOR APPLE MAGGOT.

Mr Treherne spoke briefly of the lesser apple worm and methods of control. He warned his hearers, however, to keep a sharp lookout for the apple maggot, next to the codling moth, the worst of all the pests. Traces had been found of it in Penticton two years ago, and last year at the Coast. It can be controlled only at great trouble. The egg is laid under the skin of the fruit and when the maggot is hatched it burrows galleries inside the apple and eventually finds its way to the core. Slight, if any evidence of its presence is apparent. A tiny scar or slight depression where the egg was laid will be all. These apples may be shipped as perfect, to be opened later and found "wormy." Another pest which must be guarded against, particularly if seed is grown, is the pea-weevil. It will attack peas, beans, corn, etc., and has put whole sections of Ontario out of the pea business for years to come. Destruction of the infested seed was the remedy.

Irrigation Policy Criticised By Local Member

Mr J. W. Jones, local member in the Provincial House, in a lengthy speech during the debate last week on the speech from the throne, criticised the government policy regarding the P. G. E., returned soldiers, and land settlement.

He also criticised the government for not coming to the relief of the onion growers by financing evaporators. The farmers, in response to appeals, had produced the crop, but the evaporating companies, not having book orders for the British Government declined to buy.

"Hundreds of tons of onions are rotting," he said, "but the government will not put up a dollar to save them."

The South Okanagan representative argued that the Department of Lands had given insufficient and inadequate attention to the irrigation situation. He pointed out that nine constituencies of the province were in dry belt or irrigated regions. Twenty million dollars were invested in orchards in British Columbia, 80 per cent. of them being in the Okanagan. Two-thirds of the food products of the world came from irrigated lands. The investments of twenty thousand people in the Okanagan Valley were at stake upon the irrigation legislation of the administration.

He scored the Minister of Lands for delay in making an appropriation for one particular district in that Valley at a time when it was necessary to conserve water in the mountains before the spring flood. Eventually, after the flood waters had gone, about half the sum needed was supplied. It served to provide water which lasted just two days.

Mr Jones said that he believed that the department had never taken advice from the interests involved on the irrigation question.

He suggested that if the government brought down comprehensive schemes to settle the great irrigation problem, it could at the same time solve the returned soldier question, as lands for these men could readily be provided in the dry belt districts. But the government was apparently unwilling to meet the need of the returned soldiers, and was passing it on to Ottawa.

Council Holds Short Session

Making Preparations For Enlarging North Main Ditch Under Foreman.

Still More Applications For Electric Light.

Hospital Gets Grant.

A short session of the Municipal Council was held on Monday morning previous to the opening of the Court of Revision, when several matters were given attention.

The Council was informed that it would be impossible for J. J. Mitchell to take charge of the building of a new flume on the north main ditch, as he would have to leave soon to attend to some business on the prairies. He had, however, consented to run the levels, and the Public Works Committee was authorized to engage A. Rutherford to take charge of the work of building the flume. The new water superintendent, R. Mitchell, will begin the season by giving his attention to enlarging the carrying capacity of ditch and flume between the intake on the creek and the reservoir.

The Jap lessee of the Drake property, the owner of which had applied for domestic water connection, has offered to dig and fill the trench for the pipe, about 30 rods, if the Council will provide the pipe. Referred to Public Works Committee.

An application for electric light extension to his property line was received from Mr F. A. C. Wright. Referred to Electric Light Committee.

A request was received from the Summerland Hospital Society to the effect that a grant similar to that given last year be made to the hospital. Granted under like terms.

Acknowledgement of instructions re the McAlpine law suit was received from the municipal solicitors in which they are permitted to accept $25 monthly until the judgment is settled. The solicitors said they could not refrain from saying that the Council has treated Mr. McAlpine with far more than the usual consideration.

Another application, from Mr. Logie, was received for electric light connection. Mr. Logie thought at least two other houses in the vicinity would be glad to have connection. Referred to committee.

Naramata Apples Were Rare Treat

Twenty-two Canadian wounded soldiers from many parts of the country now in the 13th Canadian General Hospital in Sussex, England, have sent grateful acknowledgements to the people of Naramata for a supply of apples which, evidently, gave much delight.

Some weeks ago a shipment was made up by the people of Naramata and sent to England for distribution amongst the wounded soldiers in hospital there. Full reward has already been received in the letter of acknowledgement, evidently written by one of the nursing sisters, and signed by the 22 appreciative recipients, among whom the fruit reaching that hospital was distributed. The letter reads: We, the undersigned Canadian boys, wish to express our sincere thanks for those lovely apples. They were in such good condition, and were considered a rare treat in this country by the boys of Ward A-2 of this hospital.

THE LATE PREMIER.

BY THE DEATH OF PREMIER BREWSTER the governing party of the province lost a strong and capable leader, and the country one of its most respected statesmen. A man of strong convictions, honest, and straightforward, the late premier was a public man whose character was above reproach. His integrity and genial manner made him popular with the members of the House whether Liberal or Conservative. He was always held in high esteem by his political opponent, Mr W. J. Bowser. He had not held the reins of office long enough to permit him to carry out his policies nor to demonstrate his qualities of statesmanship, but there were many who looked to him as a man who would accomplish much. Of the man no better tribute in fewer words can be uttered than that paid him by Rev. Dr J. L. Campbell, for a long time a friend of the departed premier and his family, at the funeral service.

"After all," said Dr Campbell, "the only memorial that has enduring value is the one we build for ourselves. Our words will soon pass away and be forgotten, but what a good man is and does will live in other lives and go on forever."

"First of all I would place in my estimate of our departed friend the unselfish character of his personal and domestic life, for character is selfhood. He came of good stock. His father was a man of sterling Christian worth. His mother was equally eminent in her way. Few men left a deeper impress on the education system of Ontario than the uncle of the deceased, Professor James Wells of Woodstock College. Another uncle," proceeded Dr Campbell, "was an honored deacon in my church in New York city. The middle name of our departed brother—Carey—points to the great Baptist missionary, so that he began life in the best environment. He lived that life with never a breath of anything unworthy of his private and personal life. And the people have a right to demand no less than that of those who are in the people's public service."

THE SOUL.

WHEN THE SUBJECT of the soul is mentioned, it almost invariably arouses a controversy; but even at the risk of this we venture to draw attention to an article of much more than average interest which appears in the January Hibbert Journal, says the Victoria Colonist. It describes the stumbling efforts of instinctive man to describe, or name, or depict the thing within us, which no one has ever seen, or heard, or touched, and yet which make the greatest of all differences between the living and the dead. Professor Murray, the author of the article, who is Oxford Professor of Greek, says that we can conclude that the thing is really there, and "that man's powers of thought and language, trained as they are on the experience of the material world, have been unable to define or comprehend it."

The Emperor Marcus Aurelius asked of himself the question, "What art thou?" and gave back the answer to himself, "A little soul carrying a corpse." Professor Murray thinks this definition separates the body and soul too sharply. He then points out that M. Bergson, the most modern writer who has dealt with the old Stoic phrase, has made it clearer. To him, says Professor Murray, man consists of a body which is so much matter, governed by the law of gravitation and all the other laws of dead matter, governed also by the laws of biology or animate matter; and the soul, or will, which is free, he admits, is one of those problems that has never been solved. It is an eternal problem, regarding which any contribution which tends to give it a new aspect is of absorbing interest. M. Bergson, it is pointed out, asserts that the will—that is man himself—acts for the greater part of his life automatically. He follows steadily the line of least resistance. "But," says M. Bergson, "you will sometimes find that when you expect him to follow the line of least resistance he just does not. He can resist, he can choose; he is after all a live and free thing in the midst of a dead world, capable of acting against the pressure of matter against pain, and against his own desires."

Commenting on this conception of M. Bergson, Professor Murray tells of how he received a letter from a friend who was in the heaviest fighting on the Somme. It describes the strange impression he received from that awful experience, of the "utter difference between man's soul and body; the body is so weak and frail a stuff, so easily broken, scattered, torn to rags, or trodden indistinguishably into the mire; the soul so resolute, so untouched and unconquerable." Viewed from this standpoint the strength of the soul is amazing, and on the belief that it is Professor Murray says that if it could get free from the burden of entangling chains, get rid of desire and ambition, and hatred, and even anger, and think of nothing but what it wills as right, then it would be one of the most formidable fighting forces that exist on earth. Pointing the moral of what he relates as the conception of the soul, the author says:

"Persons in power should be very careful how they deal with a man who cares nothing for sensual pleasures, nothing for riches, nothing for comfort, or praise, or promotion, but is simply determined to do what he believes to be right. He is a dangerous and uncomfortable enemy—because his body, which you can always conquer, gives you no purchase upon his soul."

Professor Murray might have taken as the text of his article, "Fear not them that kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul."

Although such is not his purpose, what he says is a powerful vindication of the Divine power which is implanted in each human breast. He points out that it is a serious thing for any organ of material power to be found fighting against the human soul—"Least haply ye be found to be fighting against God." Governments, and those in authority, do not always realize this because their roads lie along material ways, and they often do not consider sufficiently the moral aspect of their deeds and their psychological consequences. It was failure to appreciate the strength of the soul of their nation which led to the downfall of the Romanoffs. Other nations, if they do not profit by that dire example, may be led "through prouder eminence to a less pitied destruction."

FRUIT-GROWERS HEAR PRACTICAL ADDRESSES ON TIMELY TOPICS.

More attention will be demanded than has been given by some. It is attacking apricots and other stone fruits. There is going to be a good market for peaches. It is now causing heavy losses. He showed how spraying, which would not cost more than 20c for a large tree, paid well in immediate increase in saleable fruit. The government may have to spray the orchards of non-residents and charge the cost against the lot.

BEST VARIETIES FOR THIS DISTRICT.

A very interesting address was given by Mr Middleton on "Varieties Suitable to This District." Twenty years of tests in the Valley have eliminated many of the early planted varieties. Summerland can rely upon making a success of fruit growing. It is more favorably situated than most districts. The list of fruits that can be grown successfully here is larger than where the weather is colder. It has been found that the colder places can produce only the earlier and harder varieties of apples. This will result in a tremendous demand for the late varieties and at good prices.

The McIntosh Red, though a fall apple, might be one of the varieties to stay with here. If planting or top-working have some McIntosh Reds. They grow to perfection here, and as they ripened earlier here than further north they would come on the market early and bring a good price. It also stores well. He advised, however, that we avoid competition by adopting those varieties that others cannot produce successfully. Rome Beauty would be a good variety to graft to good sound trunks. Asked to name those he would recommend for Summerland, he mentioned Duchess and McIntosh Red for early apples, Wagener, Jonathan, Northern Spy, Rome Beauty, Gano, and with less certainty the Yellow Newtown, Grimes Golden and Winter Banana. The Delicious was another that could be grown well here. One of the visitors believes, however, that there is much likelihood that this variety has been over-planted across the line, and will be offered in greater quantity than the market will take.

Mr Middleton was told that in some orchards Jonathans had been planted as standards and Wageners as fillers. Later developments made one disposed to retain the Wageners and remove the Jonathans. He was not sure that he would not do this if he owned such an orchard.

A report of the evening lectures will be given in the next issue.

In view of the urgency of the food situation, the Canadian Food Board makes a public appeal to all owners of vacant lots that they place them freely at the disposal of local cultivation committees.

ON TITLES

By Alpha of The Plough.

The only letter I wrote in connection with the New Year's Honors or the O.B.E. honors was addressed to Mr Galsworthy, and it was in these terms:

"My Dear Galsworthy, I did not write to congratulate you on receiving a knighthood, but I cannot deny myself the pleasure of writing to congratulate you on not receiving a knighthood. The first announcement filled me with wonder and regret; the second has given me a pleasure which, I am sure, is shared by all your friends and admirers."

I do not know how many letters of that sort Mr Galsworthy received, but judging from my own circle they must have been very numerous. On New Year's Day I sat in the midst of a group of his friends, all of whom seemed as though a wet blanket had fallen on them. It was as though Aristides the Just had been discovered pilfering a till, or Joan of Arc taking a bribe, or George Washington telling a thumping lie. Next day we met again, and we all felt better. I did not feel sorry when I saw that Sir Edmund Brown had been made a knight, and that Sir George Riddell and Sir Henry Dalziel had been turned from knights into baronets. Nor did I object when I saw that interesting cement merger from Canada, Mr Max Aitken, become Sir Max Aitken, and then, for his services in a notorious political coup, blossom into the peerage as Lord Beaverbrook. Nor when my Lord Northcliffe became Viscount Northcliffe. I should rejoice to see him the Duke of Northcliffe. I hope to see Mr Horatio Bottomley Sir Horatio. I want to see Mr Handel Booth decorated. Why has he been overlooked so long when all his distinguished friends are honored? I rejoice to see that Viscount Northcliffe's manager has become a knight. I hope his lordship will not overlook his footman. I am particularly anxious about his footman. I have revelled in the O.B.E. honors. My only regret is that there were but two thousand of them. Or were there three?

All these tendencies are gratifying to me, for I am convinced that we shall never get a healthy democratic spirit in this country until we have got rid of social funkyness, and that the only way to get rid of social funkyness is to make it a thing of derision. I want to see the time when the offer of a title to a man of real distinction will be regarded as an impertinence, and it is because recent events have hastened that time that I rejoice in them. It is ridiculous that kills, and I suspect that Mr Lloyd George is pursuing his policy of "dilution" with that in mind. He is bringing in the happy time, predicted by Gilbert, when dukes will be "three a penny" and knights as plentiful as tabby cats and as common as you can make them.

It is because Mr Galsworthy has helped him in this cleansing work that he is entitled to our thanks.

For the real obstacle to Mr Lloyd George's scheme is the acceptance of titles by people who command public admiration. They interfere with the process of dilution. They stem the current of ridicule. Their excuses when driven into a corner generally fall into one of two categories. The first applies chiefly to professional men, and is illustrated by the reply of a doctor who had been knighted and who said quite frankly, "Well, it means business." That indicates one of the evils of this detestable thing, for the fact that Mr Jabez Jones gets a knighthood and Mr Jenkins Jones doesn't does not mean that Jabez is a more skilful surgeon or dentist than Jenkins. It may only mean that he is a more skilful tuff-hunter. I was sitting in the dining-room of a club the other night with a well-known politician when a mutual acquaintance, a professional man, passed. I made some reference to his change of views. "Yes," said the other, "you see he wants a knighthood. His practice is a little shady, and a title will help him. He failed with one party, though he was prepared to pay pretty handsomely. Now he is knocking at another door. I think it will probably open."

The other excuse is usually summed up in the words, "Well, you see, it pleases my wife." That, I admit, is a hard case. It is hard to have a wife with the soul of a funkney. It is hard to have to make a choice between your principles and your domestic peace. It is all very well for you, sir, who are not benpecked, to scoff a such a choice; but what if you were married to Mrs Caudle? What would you do then, my dear sir? And consider the force of her argument when she asks whether you are going to deprive your children of the advantage of "a good send-off."

I confess I have a good deal of pity for a man afflicted with an ambitious wife and a foolish son; but that does not mean that I think he ought to yield. It only means that I think he ought to tell them nothing about it. Let him keep the temptation dark and tear the offer in very small bits and carefully burn them. If he respects himself, nothing will induce him to interfere with Mr Lloyd George's honorable purpose. The process of "dilution" will proceed to its ordained end. Titles will be so cheap that you won't be able to give them away, the stream of democracy will be cleansed, social snobbery will perish, and John Bright's ideal of the "plain and simple citizen" will remain unchallenged.

From a London (Eng.) Journal.

An old farmer and his wife were standing by their pig-sty looking at their only pig, when the old lady said:

"Say, John, it will be our silver wedding to-morrow. Let's kill the pig."

John replied with disgust: "What's the use of murdering the poor pig for what happened twenty-five years ago?" — Exchange.

Orchard and Farm:

Topics of Timely Interest and Helpfulness in the complex Business of Farming.

"Soldiers of The Soil."

The Canadian Food Board, under Henry B. Thomson of British Columbia as chairman, Hon. C. A. Dunning, provincial treasurer of Saskatchewan, as director of production, and Mr J. D. McGregor of Manitoba as director of farm labor, is effecting the organization of the Soldiers of the Soil, for the purpose of enlisting the help of older boys of Canada on the farms during the coming season.

Mr Taylor Statten, National Boys' Work Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who has been appointed National Superintendent by the Canada Food Board, and Mr C. M. Wright, National High School Work Secretary, who will be provincial superintendent for B.C., have just completed arrangements with the B.C. Government for the placing of Teen Age older boys on the farms. Hon. John Oliver, Minister of Agriculture, Deputy Minister Scott, and Deputy Minister Gibson of Education, heartily endorsed the movement, and assured the fullest cooperation of the Provincial Government.

GAVE GREAT AID.

During 1917 several thousand Canadian boys demonstrated not only their willingness but their efficiency in farm work. Many farmers, at first skeptical, have since declared that without the help of the boys last season they could not have cultivated and harvested their crops.

Mr Scott is responsible for the statement that the very best labor available to-day is the older teen age boy, who after two weeks' trial, invariably adapts himself to farm work.

Every boy from fifteen to nineteen years of age has a chance of getting into Canada's "second line of defence," the food production line.

All boys, whether school attendants or not, are eligible to be enrolled in the "S. O. S."

ENROLMENT WEEK.

The week of March 17 to 23 will be known as "Enrolment Week" for Soldiers of the Soil throughout Canada. During this week it is hoped that at least 25,000 boys will fill in application forms.

Care will be exercised in placing the boys, and every effort will be made to prevent any boy being employed amid undesirable surroundings. A national "Soldiers of the Soil" badge will be issued to every boy between thirteen and nineteen who completes three months of satisfactory service.

Care and Feeding of the Horse

The care and feeding of horses was the subject of a lecture delivered recently by Prof McLean at the University of British Columbia to students who have been taking the short course in agriculture.

The lecturer recommended sweet clover as a feed for horses, though in the past it had been considered nothing more than a weed. It was easy to grow, and the same bacteria might be found on it as in alfalfa. The yellow clover was preferable for hay. Sweet clover carried 12 per cent. of digestible protein.

In reply to a question by members of the class as to whether or not sweet clover would crowd out the other clovers, the lecturer replied that it would not. He went on to say that there had been less experimental work with horses than in any of the other branches, and what had been done was by large companies.

Continuing, he recommended careful feeding, and said it went hand in hand with good breeding. They worked in harmony. The basic idea he wished to impress on the class was that good feeding was essential. Timothy hay, he said, was the best of the bulky feed material. Grass hay came next. Cutting hay as soon as the first bloom was off was recommended. There was no nicer feed than clover if it was ripe, he said, and also wished to impress on the class the fact that it was absolutely necessary to have clean feed for horses. Clover and alfalfa, if cut too young, was not a desirable feed for horses, as it had a tendency to scour the animals. If it got a little dusty it ought to be wet.

Grain and root crops in feeding horses were also taken up in this lecture, and when to feed them was gone into thoroughly.

West Summerland, B.C. 5th March, 1918.

The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir, I wish to write a word of protest in reply to the sanctimonious effusion, which your correspondent "Miles," (it is to be regretted that he had not enough manly spirit to sign his real name) contributed last week.

Human nature is human nature, and even the most angelic amongst us is liable to find that his feelings sometimes get the better of him. In the opinion of many who were present at the meeting the regrettable incident to which he refers was satisfactorily ended by the frank public apologies made by each of the offenders.

If he was a little better acquainted with his colored friends he would find that they also are human, and can give expression to their feelings in a very forcible manner when occasion arises, and it may be that even the saintly "Miles" is quite capable of transgressing the parliamentary rules of debate to an even greater extent, when the opportunity offers, than did the two men he criticizes; indeed it is quite possible that he also would be benefited if he took to heart some of the teachings which he recommends to others.

Yours truly, W. C. W. FOSBERY.

W. H. Lyne, Inspector of imported fruit and nursery stock, has received notification from Ottawa that in future pineapples and bananas may be imported into Canada from the Hawaiian Islands, provided each shipment is accompanied by a certificate from the United States' Department of Agriculture, stating that the fruit is free from infection of the Mediterranean fruit-fly, and that the boxes, crates, bales, and other containers shall be marked with the name and address of the consignor, and the name and address of the consignee, with the original or duplicate copy of the certificate of inspection attached.

The regulations of British Columbia also demand that no such fruit may be delivered from the dock at which it arrives until it has undergone a thorough inspection by the provincial fruit quarantine officials.

The many friends of Miss Amy Brown will be interested in learning that she has signed up for service overseas as a nurse. Miss Brown, who was for several years on the office staff of the Review, will complete her course in nursing at the Toronto General Hospital in April. There is a great shortage of nurses at the hospital, and she will continue for a while longer, but plans on making a visit home before crossing the Atlantic.

The dance given last night in the College Gymnasium was pronounced by all as a most successful affair. The large floor, which was in splendid condition, was well filled by the large crowd in attendance. There were quite a few visitors from Penticton, and a few from Naramata. Excellent music and good catering helped largely in making the evening so enjoyable to all.

There has been recently organized at Trout Creek Point a third local group of ladies for carrying on Red Cross work. Summerland women are thus meeting in three different places for this work, Parish Hall, Elliott's Hall, and at Trout Creek. The action of the ladies in the last named branch in following up the suggestions for food conservation by dispensing with afternoon tea, while at the same time paying into the treasury the usual ten cents, is to be commended.

Coming To Talk Seed Growing.

Prof. Paul Boying of the University of British Columbia staff, and A. McMeans, the Dominion expert on seed raising, have concluded their work on Vancouver Island. The intention is to commence at once an active campaign on the Mainland, which will take the mission through the Fraser Valley, thence to Ashcroft, Kamloops, down through the Okanagan and Similkameen Valleys, and through the West and East Kootenay districts, thence north to Revelstoke, where the tour will finish about the middle of April. Eighty acres of land on the island will be devoted this year to seed cultivation, or as much as in the whole of British Columbia last year. These gentlemen are to visit Summerland shortly, when, we understand, Mr McMeans will be prepared to enter into contracts with growers for the production of seeds.

Cheaper Fish.

British Columbia fish, other than salmon or halibut, may now be shipped from Pacific Coast ports to points in the Interior of the province, for just one-third of the cost in the past. This is the ruling of the Dominion Fisheries Department. In order to enable a campaign to be carried on by the Canada Food Board for an expansion of the demand for Pacific sea fish, other than halibut or salmon, in the inland portions of British Columbia, the Department of Naval Service has undertaken responsibility for two-thirds of the railway transportation charges on shipments of fish, other than halibut or salmon, from the sea ports of British Columbia to points in the Interior of the province.

Retail Grocers Under Licence.

Order Affecting 22,000 Dealers In Canada Issued by Food Board

An order has been issued by the chairman of the Canada Food Board bringing the retail grocers of the Dominion under license. On and after May 1 it will be illegal for any retail grocer to carry on business without a license.

The regulations in regard to this trade are similar to those covering the licensing of other retail dealers except that the last day for licensing of other retail grocers has been fixed at May 1, while the other trades will not be under license until May 15. The regulations contain provisions against speculation, unreasonable increase in price, restriction of supply, or attempts to monopolize food products. Destruction of food fit for consumption, and waste or failure to prevent waste or deterioration where such is preventable are prohibited.

Licenses are made uniform with those for other retail dealers in food products, namely, $2 for a turnover of $20,000 or less a year, and an additional $2 for every additional $20,000 or fraction thereof of turnover.

Home production of sugar is advocated by an article in a recent number of the Literary Digest. Extraction in your own kitchen of the sugar in the beet grown in your own garden is said to be quite practicable. A fair-sized sugar beet, when soaked for twenty minutes in water, and then boiled on the kitchen stove, will give a cupful of heavy syrup. The sugar beet is said to contain 17 to 20 per cent. of saccharine matter.

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

For nearly two hours on Monday morning, during a high wind from the north-west, the C.P.R.'s big steamer "Sicamous" was held in against the shore by the force of the wind which had caught her broadside and swung her against the gravelly beach. It was after much work with cable and winch that she was drawn far enough out to get under way.

A pleasing bit of news came to Mrs Mitchell recently to the effect that her two sons, Norman and Harold, who are both in France, had been spending a few days together, the first time they had seen each other since arriving there, though they had frequently been in the same neighborhood.

Misses Vera Partridge and Margaret Salting spent last week-end with Miss Lucy Hargreaves, Summerland.

Over six dollars was realized by the Red Cross from the card party given last week. The ladies, who met in regular session on Saturday, are now planning a box party to further augment their funds for the cause.

We learn with regret that Sgt. Frank Palmer, who was badly gassed some weeks ago, has not been making the progress that could be wished. He has been transferred to the Seaforth Hospital where he lies quite ill. Much sympathy is felt for his mother and sister, Mrs D. McKay and Miss Clara Palmer, and all will hope that the next news will tell of improved condition resulting from the change of environment.

Mrs Carroll C. Atkins returned home on Saturday after an absence of some weeks.

A team of horses was recently purchased by Mr J. M. Myers to replace those lost by sickness last winter.

The local Red Cross supplies for February, which have gone forward, consisted of twelve suits of pyjamas, three shirts, twelve housewives, forty-two handkerchiefs, eighteen T bandages, six stretcher caps, twenty-four towels, eight slings, twelve pillow cases, forty-two P.P. bags, thirty pairs socks.

Mr Robinson, brother of Mrs J. W. Steele, arrived here on Monday. He is likely to stay for an indefinite period.

Naramata Farmers' Institute

At the regular meeting of the Farmers' Institute held last Friday, Mr D. I. Walters gave a very interesting paper on "The Ground Squirrel."

More work is yet to be put on the school grounds before the offer of trees and shrubs from the department is accepted.

The Institute has decided to give a special prize for the pupil in the school making the best all-round marks for the year, provided the trustees offer prizes for the best pupil in each class.

HEARS APPEALS ON ASSESMENT.

lages the practice is to add 20 per cent. He considered nearly $2,000 as being nearer the right figure for the three. On this he had given way to Mr Logie, $1,600 being fixed upon.

The Court was informed that the two Canadian Bank of Commerce lots, opposite the Kelley corner, were assessed at $625 and $575 respectively. These are on the unused side of the side street and have sidewalk only on front. This gave a valuation of $1,200 for 50 ft. as compared with $1,600 for 65 ft. Continuing east, Dr Andrew's two lots are assessed for $1,100. J. R. Campbell's for $1,000, a lot between his and the bank for $475, and the two bank lots for $900.

Later when the evidence was being considered, the opinion was expressed that the Kelley corner was the most valuable on that street. Coun. Campbell, who owns two lots, said that he did not think the assessment was high enough, and did not think there was a man in the block would kick if the assessors had raised them more. The Bank of Montreal corner, he said, was too low. The assessor admitted that he had overlooked the fact that the corner lot had a 30 ft. frontage. The Court decided to raise the assessment on this lot from $450 to $550, giving the usual time for the owners to appeal.

Coun. Campbell compared valuations on Granville Road, the main business street, with valuations on a side street in Penticton. There a corner lot was assessed at $1,500 and the next two at $900 each.

Mr Hespeler, though he had not made the formal appeal, called during the sitting of the Court, and asked that his hay lot be assessed lower. It is assessed at $2,100 and, it was stated, was considered a bargain when bought at $3,000. The assessment was considered equitable with similar lots.

Mr John Tait, who appealed against the assessment on his home lot, said he was told a year ago that there would be a general readjustment of the assessment down town. He was sorry to note that while there were plenty of kickers against the assessments of the lower town as they stood, none of these had made appeals except himself. Residential lots in his neighborhood were assessed higher last year ing to present plans of the Institute.

The meeting was terminated by a short social time, during which the ladies served refreshments.

than the business lots in the upper town. He thought it unreasonable and unfair that the assessment on lakefront business lots should be so much higher than the latter.

Mr Cooper argued in favor of the higher values on lakefront business properties, claiming that, while now in little demand, they would be worth more in the near future. Residential lots in the vicinity of Mr Tait's were the most valuable in the district, and would command good prices. He said that even now they would bring good returns in rents if they were occupied by moderate priced houses, furnished.

Mr Tait said he would not kick at the high assessment if the town was put in half decent shape. He wanted it tidied up.

It was stated that lots on both sides of his were assessed at $500 each. His four were a little smaller, but the assessors claimed that this was fully offset by its corner position. The assessment was considered by the Court as equitable with adjacent properties.

Miss Sinclair, who recently bought a lot in Victoria Gardens from St Andrew's Church, asked that her assessment be reduced from $225 to $200, as this was what she had paid for it. This price was considered a very low one, and was not looked upon as a basis for fixing values. Assessment sustained.

At the request of the assessor the roll was reopened to permit of several changes which were each given the approval of the Court. Chief of these was a considerable reduction in the acreage of the James Gartrell property. For some years the owner has been taxed for six acres more of bottom land than the property contains. Proof of this in the form of a report from Engineer Latimer had recently been presented by F. R. Gartrell. A reduction of $1,500 for the six acres was permitted. For the same reason a reduction of $150 was allowed on the F. R. Gartrell lot. One or two other small changes were made in other sections for reasons satisfactory to the Court. The Court adjourned for fourteen days.

Teaching Packing In Vancouver

Largely attended morning, afternoon, and evening classes in apple packing are being held in Vancouver. This is the first time that such instruction has been given outside of the producing centres. Applications for enrolment in these classes greatly exceeded expectations, and it was necessary to engage another instructor and extend the course. Four classes a day with one instructor, as originally planned, are being held. In the work of teaching the young women in wrapping and packing apples Mr James Gibb of Vernon, a government fruit packing instructor, is being assisted by Mr S. F. Sharp of Summerland, the latter taking two of the four classes each day.

Not only are the young women desirous of learning how to pack fruit, but they are asking to be given instruction in general orchard work, including pruning.

Cheap Rates for Fruit Pickers.

There is good reason to hope that the C.P.R. will make special concessions regarding transportation for the thousands of women and girls that will be needed in the orchards and gardens of the Okanagan this summer. Vice-President Grant Hall of the C.P.R., accompanied by Supt. Peters of Vancouver; Divisional Supt. MacNabb of Revelstoke, and Chief Engineer Sullivan, was in the Valley this week on his annual tour of inspection, and when approached at Vernon on this subject said he would be glad to give favorable consideration to any request for cheap rates from the Coast to the Okanagan this season for such help.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

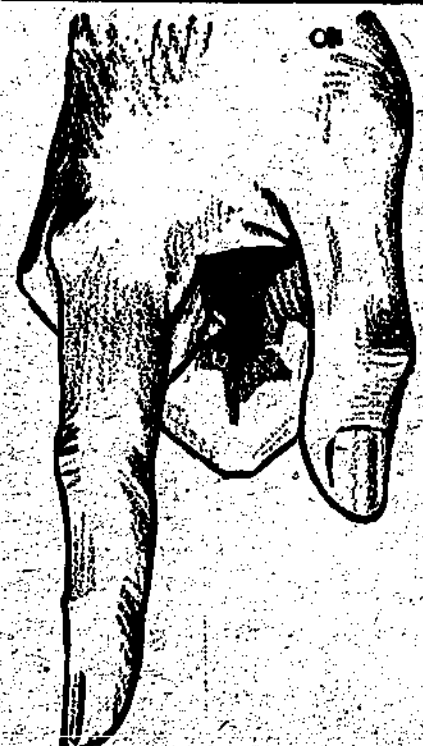

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

MERCHANTS in the smaller towns sometimes say of business conditions that "there is nothing doing," and that "it would be a waste of money to advertise." They complain that their particular businesses could not be improved by publicity. The following expression of opinion, made recently by the manager of one of the large Mail Order concerns speaks for itself:

"WE HAVE A BUREAU WHOSE DUTY IT IS TO READ THE COUNTRY PAPERS. THERE IS NOT A PAPER OF ANY CONSEQUENCE IN OUR TERRITORY WE DO NOT GET. THE BUREAU LOOKS OVER THESE PAPERS AND WHEN WE FIND A TOWN WHERE THE MERCHANTS DO NOT ADVERTISE IN THEIR LOCAL PAPERS, OR WHERE ADVERTISERS DO NOT CHANGE THEIR ADVERTISEMENTS REGULARLY, WE IMMEDIATELY FLOOD THAT SECTION WITH LITERATURE. IT ALWAYS BRINGS RESULTS FAR IN EXCESS OF THE SAME EFFORTS PUT FORTH IN TERRITORY WHERE THE LOCAL MERCHANTS USE THE LOCAL PAPERS."

No doubt if a tally were kept of the amount of money sent to these Mail Order stores from day to day from Peachland, Summerland, and Naramata it would show that there is indeed a lot of money being spent; but it is going to those firms who make a bid for the business—those firms who know the value of advertising, and who do not hesitate to spend one dollar to get five.

Local Stores have a Big Advantage

They can appeal to the people very forcibly in many respects. They can point out numerous advantages in buying at home, where the public can examine the goods, and where they do not have to wait a couple of weeks to get them. But such a large proportion of business houses fail to do this! They sit in despair while the Mail Order Houses do a rushing business and gather in the CASH.

Mr. Home Merchant, the business is yours if you will go after it.

Board Would Unify Local Post Office Statistics.

Summerland, West Proposed as Name For Upper P.O.

The disadvantage to which Summerland is placed as regards statistics was the occasion of a suggestion at the Board of Trade meeting on Tuesday evening that the name of the upper post office be changed from West Summerland to Summerland, West. The discussion resulted in a resolution favoring this proposal. When outsiders, not familiar with the situation, refer to government blue-books, particularly the statistics furnished by the Post Office Department, they note at once that the figures given for Summerland do not compare favorably with those under the names of other communities in the Valley. This discrepancy would be rectified if the enquirer turned to the W's and finding "West Summerland" added the figures given here to those furnished for "Summerland." It was to bring the two together in such lists and to help to remove the impression with many that West Summerland is a place quite apart and distinct from Summerland that the change was proposed. Another proposal which was put in the form of a resolution, was that the name West Summerland be dispensed with entirely, the name Summerland only being used, and that while two post offices were maintained they be under one postmaster. This latter was favored by Mr Zimmerman, Mr Solly and others. Mr Zimmerman pointed out the confusion that now existed, and believed that under the one postmaster, delays in delivery due to misdirection would be removed. In support of his argument, he stated that a large portion of the business of the lower office came from the rural route, without which there would not be much left. Mr Solly suggested that, while it might yet be too soon, all the business might be centred in one post office and the patrons of the lower office put on the rural route. The secretary was asked to communicate with the Post Office Inspector to learn what action was necessary to have the change effected, and the Council authorized to proceed along the lines suggested by the inspector.

The Board was informed in a communication from the local member at Victoria, Mr J. W. Jones, M.L.A., that a new road engineer had been appointed for this district, and that he would be very acceptable to the people. Mr Jones believes that under the newly appointed engineer, trunk roads running through municipalities will get due attention.

Mr Zimmerman, convener of the banquet committee, made a verbal report. There remains a small surplus, which is being turned over to the treasurer of the Board.

Progress was reported on the preparation of matter descriptive of the district for the proposed pamphlet which the Board hopes to publish at an early date.

The road question was again discussed, and an outcome of this was the suggestion that organization of the automobile association, preliminary work on which was undertaken last year, be completed. Further information as to affiliation with other local organizations, etc., will first be sought.

By an unanimous resolution, which the secretary was instructed to forward to General Superintendent Peters of the C.P.R., that transportation company is asked to grant a special rate to bona fide orchard and field workers from the Coast cities and other points to the Okanagan and return, whether they come in groups or singly.

Editor's note: There would seem to be a wrong impression even among some of our own people of the volume of business done within our municipal limits. One of the speakers at Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Trade was evidently of the impression that the rural route was the chief source of revenue for the lower post office. We are informed that the sale of stamps at that office is averaging $250 a month, and that only about ten per cent. of this business comes from patrons on the rural route. It was further stated that not less than seventy families and places of business, apart from the rural Tells Just Wherein Fruit Shippers Fail.—Practical Advice from Markets Commissioner.

Must Practice Clean Cultivation With Fall-sown Cover Crops Or Sacrifice Fruit.

How better to meet competition of imported fruit was one of the themes of the address given the fruit growers in the Lecture Course last week by Markets Commissioner Grant. In a most outspoken manner, but with the one object of helping the shippers, he dealt with the failures and mistakes of our packers and shippers as he had found them. At the same time the good things he had to say were so much in excess of the reverse that nothing but the most optimistic outlook was left with his hearers. They have a few things to remedy. This done, their products would be supreme on the prairie and eastern markets. Starting with the cherries, he urged that no Governor Wood or Early Richmond cherries be shipped, as these only came into competition with Bings and Lamberts from the south and left a very bad impression of B.C. fruit as compared with the American. Beside, no profit could be had from the price they brought. Here, as with other fruit, he had found too much of our stuff short-weighted. As an instance, he mentioned a shipment of good cherries from Trepanier that were poorly packed and only commanded 10 to 15c. as compared with Kennebec cherries that brought 25c. Though the buyers prefer to take B.C. stuff, yet if ours is in competition with the American and the latter is better packed and heavier it will be taken. The same was true with plums and prunes. The United States growers realize that the more they get into a package the more it will bring. The dealer will pay more for the heavier package every time.

Mr Grant is confident of the future good demand for peaches and at much better prices. The story of B.C. peaches being frozen out, which had been circulated, had the effect of increasing the sale of imported cherries.

Apricots were more in demand, and few had come from the United States. When our shippers got together better prices would be had for apricots. The only competition was with ourselves. There is a rapidly increasing demand for apricots. He urged that an effort be made to increase the size of apricots, and also of prunes. When we can ship larger prunes we can get better prices. For B.C. prunes the market also was extending. Montreal wants our prunes.

Of our pears and apples, he says these are the finest that come on the prairie market. We have the country in which to produce the best fruit, and the people with the necessary ability. There was no good reason why we should not do better. He urged that we aim to establish a reputation for honesty, over-weight packages. It pays.

Not only is Summerland and district superior in its fruit, but Summerland has something that is different from any other district. He heard no complaints of our tomatoes. Our cucumbers were as good as the best. But of those the prairies had about all they could get away with last year. Any great increase in the supply would mean a loss. On the other hand there was a large demand for the small pickling cucumbers. The market was unlimited at from $85 to $100 a ton. Another Summerland specialty was egg-plant, the taste for which was slowly growing, and for which the people paid the price.

Summerland melons come on the market at a good time. Those from the south have ceased, and there is route, are served from the downtown office. Further argument this for grouping the figures in some such way as will enable not only outsiders but our own citizens to appreciate the volume of local post office business.

Court Of Revision Has Another Appeal To Hear.

Bank of Montreal Gives Notice Of Appeal Against Increased Assessment.

Kelley Appeals Go To County Court.

Council in Regular Session.—Ditchmen Appointed.—Other Business Regarding Water and Lighting Systems.—Roads To Have Attention.

The Bank of Montreal will appeal against the assessment put by the Court of Revision on the corner lot on which the bank building stands. Notice to this effect, and also that an appeal will be made in the County Court by W. C. Kelley against the assessment on his properties and which had been sustained by the Court of Revision, was served on the Municipality last week. The information was placed before the Council, at the regular meeting last week on Monday. That the bank should take such action was greatly resented, judging from the remarks of the councillors during a visit from Mr Kelley, solicitor for the bank, who called to formally put a question required by the War Relief Act, and again, at another time when what action the Municipality should take to defend its stand was considered.

The bank is appealing against the increase of assessment made by the Court of Revision on one of the two bank lots when it was discovered that the corner lot had a frontage of thirty instead of twenty-five feet as understood by the assessors.

Coun. Johnston remarked that each member of the court had taken an oath to decide on each case to the best of his knowledge and judgment, and for the bank, with which the Municipality did its business, to appeal against an increase, made only after careful investigation, that meant only about two dollars more in taxes, was pretty small.

Coun. Campbell, who has property on the same street, would not oppose an even higher assessment, and said he could not understand anyone in the Municipality stooping to anything so small. He felt there must be something behind the appeal other than the extra taxes involved.

Equally pronounced were the denunciations of other members, Reeve Blair being most pronounced in condemning the action of the bank.

Several members of the Board declare their intention of transferring their accounts, or curtailing their patronage of the financial institution if it refused to abide by the decision of the local Court of Revision and appealed to a higher court. The Court of Revision sits again on Monday, next, to give the bank an opportunity to argue its claim for reduction of assessment.

Equally outspoken were the remarks of the Reeve and some of the councillors in their criticism of Mr Kelley in taking his appeal to Petition instead of having it heard here. Mr Kelley, other than to deny that there was any personal motive behind his appeal, took the invectives hurled at him in seeming good grace.

Mr Kelley complained that the clerk had not sent the bank a proper notice of the action of the Court of Revision in raising the bank's assessment. This the clerk finally admitted, Mr Kelley also admitting that he had made a mistake.

For several years Mr J. A. Kirk has been coming before the Council each spring to ask that the ditch above his lot near the Hutton property be made water-tight, claiming that seepage from this ditch had made it impossible to work the lot since 1910. Past councils have always given his request consideration, and last year, if not before, Mr Kirk was promised that an effort would be made to stop any leaks. Comment lining the ditch was then contemplated, another alternative being the carrying of the water round the other two sides of the lot in a treated flume. The latter would be expensive and only temporary. The objection to the cement lining was that the domestic water main had been laid along and under the ditch and the cement would have to be broken to effect any repairs. Mr Kirk, on Monday, suggested that a flume over the ditch be used. This was favorably considered, and the matter was referred to the Public Works Committee with instructions to carry out the work.

Several requests for repairs to flumes and ditches were referred to committee.

Messrs G. J. C. White and W. A. Caldwell asked that the front bench road from Munn's corner to Shaughnessy Avenue be improved. Some parts were in dangerous condition, and a few steep pitches should be graded down. A great deal of fruit was drawn over this road. These two and other users of the road would be willing to give voluntary assistance toward its improvement. Favorably recommended to the Public Works Committee.

The chairman of the Electric Light Committee presented a report from Electrician Thornber showing sixteen recent connections to the service, with several more to be made. At the same time Chairman White urged that the Electric Light Committee be given permission to make a change in the relative positions of the machines in the power house so that more power might be derived from the generator. This is a 30 watt machine guaranteed to develop 25 per cent. overload. As at present connected to the water-motor it is impossible to get more than 26 watts. Reversing the position of the two and using a longer belt had long been recognized as necessary. Poor lights will be experienced next fall unless the change is made. This change is recommended, too, by the electrician. The Reeve advised incurring no expense if it were learned that power from the south could be expected in a year or two.

Our irrigation system is divided into ten sections for administrative purposes, and over each section or division a ditchman is put in charge. The appointment of the ditchmen was made on Monday, with the exception of division 5, there being no applicant for this, the ditch which has been in charge of R. Mitchell for several years.

Ditchmen named are: G. Gray, J. Thompson, H. L. Gallagher, A. Rutherford, H. Tavender, D. F. Brewer, H. Dunsdon, E. T. Mountford, and E. Vanderburg.

Upon recommendation of the Electric Light Committee, a new arrangement was entered into with the electrician. He is to work for the Municipality only, and all wiring and other electrical work for private citizens will be done on account of the Municipality, the latter to charge the regular rates for such work. This will remove any possible chance for complaint that he was doing work for his own account when he should be attending the municipal work. His salary was raised from $110 to $125, and an allowance of $15 is made. The profits from the private work done and material supplied, to say nothing of the more satisfactory working arrangement, it was stated, will more than justify the taking over of his private business and making the increase in salary.

The need of having fixed days for irrigating each lot in Garnett Valley, as in all other parts, was urged, and an effort will be made to bring this into effect. The need of having the supply of water to each lot, the community over, in proportion to the acreage charged for was pointed out by Coun. Simpson. It had been stated by one citizen during the morning that the same service was given for his 12 acres as to the next lot which had been reduced to 7 acres. No less

Produce Pork But Make It Profitable Line

G. S. Harris, Successful Farmer, Tells How To Grow Pork Economically.

How To Make The Cow Pay Is Also Explained.—The Value Of The Silo.

"We are not asking you to go into the pig business unless it is practicable for you. Don't try to grow pigs if you have to buy all their feed. Try to figure out how you can grow crops that you can profitably turn into pork." Thus were the fruit growers and others assembled in the Campbell Hall last Saturday night advised by Mr G. S. Harris of Moresby Island, a man who is reputed to have made a signal success of dairying, with pork production as a side line, and who has been engaged by the government to visit the farming districts of the province for the purpose of stimulating hog production. Being an enthusiast on the dairy cow, Mr Harris does not miss an opportunity to talk cow, and his discourse on that subject was equal in interest to his Summerland audience as was his excellent treatment of the question of greater hog production.

After pointing out the urgent need for more and still more food, much of which could be more quickly supplied in the form of pork, and without which thousands of women and children in Europe will die of starvation, Mr Harris took up the question of economic production. Even if none of the pork produced in this province was exported, yet much could be done in relieving the situation by increasing home production to the extent of making importation into this province unnecessary, as in the past only ten per cent. of the pork consumed in B.C. has been produced within her boundaries. Every pig we raise will liberate that much for shipment to starving Europe.

He did not ask that the farmers take up increased pork production from a patriotic view only. He believed it was practicable for nearly every farmer to keep at least one brood sow, especially if he had a cow.

If it was for financial reasons that any held back, he knew how that could be overcome. He had just been informed that the Vancouver Board of Trade had decided to loan $5,000 to farmers with which to buy brood sows. The loan will be made upon the notes of responsible farmers. He could even go further and tell where to get the brood sows. The Vancouver Board of Trade is out to help us, and he would like to see every dollar of this amount taken up in three weeks. It was a hopeful sign to see the city man thus co-operating with the farmer.

Mr Harris gave his reasons for believing that the producer would get good prices for his pork, and that the packers had been put under control.

One way to greatly increase production was to keep the pig for six weeks or two months longer when it would weigh perhaps 40 per cent. more, at least 25 per cent., than if killed when it weighed 110 to 125 lbs.

Those who have the skim milk should at least raise the litter until weaned when the boys and girls, clubs and others could be supplied.

Plan to feed on the cheapest food possible," continued Mr Harris, who said he had found alfalfa and clover almost sufficient in themselves for raising the pig.

His practice is to divide his clover plot into two, with pigs enough on one to keep it down, transferring the pigs to the other half when it had grown. In self-feeders he always kept dry feed before them. In a specially prepared vessel water, too, was always available. After deducting the price of the grain his clover crop thus fed returned him $75 per acre, when pork was worth 12c. At present prices an acre of clover or alfalfa should return $125.

There was more value in meat fed dry from a hopper than in any other way. More pounds of gain

Packing Classes Proving Popular In Vancouver.

Instruction will be Continued Under S. F. Sharp.

The four classes in apple packing which have been carried on simultaneously in Vancouver under the instructorship of James Gibb of Vernon and S. F. Sharp of Summerland, completed their course on Tuesday. So many applications have been received from the young women of Vancouver for instruction in this branch of the fruit growing industry it has been decided to continue the classes for some time further. Two more classes started in on the course on Tuesday, with Mr Sharp as instructor, and when these have finished at least two more will be organized.

The instructors have been well pleased with the attention given the work by the pupils. All have attended faithfully, and the usual average of proficiency has been attained.

We understand that classes are likely to be opened in Victoria, and it is quite probable that Summerland may again be called upon to supply the instructors.

Express Shipments Growing Rapidly

Something of the marvellous growth of the fruit industry of B.C. is shown in some figures covering express shipments of fruit from the province during the past seven years as furnished by Prairie Markets Commissioner J. A. Grant. The following table shows the steady growth since 1911:

Year	Packages	Lbs.
1911	104,705	2,784,777
1912	166,400	4,330,233
1913	208,262	5,203,946
1914	259,470	6,326,903
1915	318,752	7,598,997
1916	312,622	7,496,151
1917	426,039	10,526,784

In 1917 the Shuswap and Okanagan Lake section expressed 2,695 tons of fruit, or over half of the entire express shipments from the province that year.

The freight returns are not yet complete, but they will show an increase of twenty-five per cent. over 1916.

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTES.

There was a large attendance at the West Summerland Women's Institute meeting held on the 8th. After the business was over Mrs Bentley read a paper on "War Economies" which was followed by a discussion.

Mrs Barnes' paper was on "Why We Should Use More Potatoes," and had been sent to her from England.

A seed growing competition has been started, twelve ladies entering. The Summerland Institute will be invited to join in this.

The Institute is going to offer prizes to children for saving money earned by themselves, full particulars of which will be announced at the next meeting.

A social time terminated the meeting. The members had brought samples of War Cooking, also the recipes of same, which were sold for 5c. each. $3 was the amount thus made, and will be sent to the Prisoners of War Fund.

National Prohibition Law Effective on April First

Ottawa.—Canada virtually goes dry on April 1, under regulations just issued, the manufacture of intoxicating liquors is prohibited from that date. It is provided, however, that "in case the sale of intoxicating liquor of any class for beverage purposes is permitted in any province, this regulation shall not apply to the manufacture of such intoxicating liquor in such province until December 31, 1918."

The Okanagan Oriental Farming Association, with office at Vernon, has recently been incorporated.

THE ADVANCEMENT OF AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

THE PROMOTION OF WELFARE of the agricultural community as a basis for the industrial and commercial prosperity of the country, was the object aimed at by the Parliament of Canada when, in 1913, at the instance of the then Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. Martin Burrell, it adopted the measure known as the Agricultural Instruction Act. By means of this Act the sum of ten million dollars was set apart for distribution among the provinces over a period of ten years to provide for a greater extension of instruction and education for those engaged in farming.

An investigation made prior to the introduction of the measure has revealed two outstanding deficiencies in connection with agricultural development. In the first instance, the response to the teachings of colleges of agriculture and experimental farms was too slow to effect an immediate and noteworthy improvement in the conditions surrounding farm life. The second weakness was found in the fact that little or no attempt was being made to adapt the country's educational system to the specific requirements of country boys and girls. The form of instruction was the same whether the child was destined for employment in the country or in the town.

The placing of funds at the disposal of the provinces in the manner indicated has led to a much wider extension of instructional work among the men and women and boys and girls who are living on the land. A marked development of the short course idea has resulted in the extension of courses in agricultural topics and in household science throughout the country. These courses are designed not only for farmers and their wives but for the young men and women who have left school and are about to actively enter upon the affairs of life. In the schools themselves an attempt is being made to develop a system of instruction which will utilize the objects associated with rural life as a medium through which to educate the child. In the higher departments of education, the efficiency of the provincial colleges of agriculture has been promoted, and, in several provinces, at least, schools of an intermediate grade, as between the public school and the agricultural college, have been established. The object of these special schools is to provide vocational training in agriculture and household science. As time goes on and their usefulness is demonstrated, it is certain that, owing to the financial assistance given by the Act, their influence will be greatly extended. How wide a field is being covered by agricultural instruction work is indicated in a pamphlet just issued by the Dominion Commissioner of Agricultural Instruction, Mr W. J. Black. It is entitled "Agricultural Instruction in Canada," and a copy may be had on application to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

THE KEEPING OF PIGS.

THE LIVE STOCK BRANCH of the Federal Department of Agriculture is rendering a service in reissuing a bulletin at this junction on the "Feeding and Housing of Swine." Three of the best authorities on the subject contribute to the bulletin, viz., Professor G. E. Day, formerly of the Ontario Agricultural College, who deals with selection, feeding and management; Mr E. S. Archibald, Dominion Animal Husbandman, who takes for his treatise the farmer's cheap piggery, furnishing at the same time diagrams and dimensions for the buildings, and Mr G. B. Rothwell, Assistant Dominion Animal Husbandman, who describes a cheap, portable hog cabin, also with diagrams and specifications. Between the three authorities, keepers of swine whether on a large scale or a small scale, can obtain valuable information which will make the task of pork products a great deal easier than might be imagined.

The pamphlet, which can be had free by application to the Publications Branch of the Department, is in reality a text book on the keeping of swine, couched in plain and definite language.

Are Farmers Lacking In Business Vision?

"If I were manager of the Cape Cod Cranberry Growers' Association, I would move heaven and earth to get an appropriation of money for the purpose of showing people that cranberry sauce tastes about as good at other times as on Thanksgiving Day, and fits roast chicken about as well as roast turkey. "Now, while I believe advertising would be a good thing for the cranberry or strawberry growers of Cape Cod, I would not relish the job of trying to extract from them the money it would require to do it. Farmers are pretty 'set' in their ways, and the profits of farming do not look large enough for them to see much of it go for co-operative efforts along lines that do not yield pretty easily seen returns.

"Some years ago, through the efforts of a young lawyer in a certain Kentucky town, the growers of Burley tobacco organized an association, and, by means of it, forced the tobacco trust to pay better prices for tobacco. I think the returns for one year, at least, were something over $1,000,000 better than the year before. The young lawyer charged the association $10,000 for his year's work. These days a man who could increase the selling price of a firm's product $1,000,000 a year for that salary would be classed as a Simon-pure philanthropist, but not so with those Kentucky farmers. To them his young lawyer's salary looked too big and they fired him. He probably shortened his life several years just getting them organized.—H. H. Hannah, in Report of Mass. State Board of Agriculture.

"That Which Is Eternal"

Twenty years ago a little woman came with her husband and seven children to "take up" a ranch in the High Desert of Eastern Oregon, says the Bend Press. It was real pioneering—for they lived fifteen miles from the nearest neighbor. Their water had to be hauled five miles in barrels. There was very little money, and a great deal of hard work, which, perhaps, after all was a blessing, because it served to break the monotony of the desert life. This woman was well-educated, and had always enjoyed association with intellectual people. She missed it very much. She longed for music, but there was not enough money for even a phonograph.

After twenty of these starved, monotonous years her two boys found good positions in a California city. They wrote her that they were going to send her money to buy some good clothes and a ticket to come and spend the winter in California with them. About that water was being supplied than when the latter was assessed as 10 acres. An effort will be made to give more equable distribution.

Chairman Campbell of the Properties Committee, reported that he had received an offer to lease one of the properties with an option to buy. He advised that no move toward selling be made until July, when the time limit given former owners expires. Advertising for tenders for renting for the season was favored. Properties not rented will be cared for until sold.

Stating that a heavy grader was needed for a few days on the municipal roads, Coun. Campbell asked for, and was given permission to obtain the use of such a machine and put it on the roads.

Women Stretcher Bearers.

One of the many ways in which the fair sex have shown their willingness and ability to help.

time our country was plunged into war, and the message from her boys which had made her so happy was followed by another asking "Shall we enlist?"

The mother sat down in her desert home and wrote this letter to her boys who were to have been the means of liberating her from her prison of poverty and monotony:

"This is a matter for you to decide for yourselves. If I were in your place I know I would go. If you should not come back life is but a little span at best, and you would have a part in establishing the finest civilization of which the world has ever dreamed. On some cathedral in Italy, I cannot recall just now which one, there is an inscription, "That only is important which is eternal."

Her boys have gone; the dream of the winter in California has gone. She has taken up her life again in the desert—but the most wonderful sunsets in the world are seen in the desert!

Proposes Fund for Water Storage

Minister of Lands Introduces Bill Amending Water Act.

Victoria. — Water Act amendments providing for a conservation fund of $500,000, arranging for the formation of water communities and for co-operation in the joint use of irrigation ditches by small users, were introduced in the Legislature by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands.

It is set forth in the bill that the Minister may expend directly or by way of loan various sums from time to time from the conservation fund in building, reconstructing, repairing or extending irrigation works, storing irrigation water, draining lands, drilling wells, maintaining ditches, reservoirs, and water systems, and acquiring lands or easements. In cases of loans for such work, repayments shall be by annual instalments during a term not exceeding twenty years.

Wide powers are given to the Water Board in dealing with companies which have made unfair agreements with users or have failed to deliver a proper supply of water or have refused to enter into an agreement with a land owner desiring water.

EXPLAINS BILL.

A statement from the Lands Department in explanation of the measure reads:

"With the exception of a number of new sections to be enacted, in particular, on conservation and enlargement of the powers of the Board of Investigation, the amendments brought down in the Water Bill are largely confined to points that have arisen from the administration of the Water Act during the last four years. A number of amendments are merely corrections; other sections are amended that there may be no doubt as to the exact meaning; and, again, other amendments are very necessary, and in this particular mention might be made of the extension of time to 1920 for the filing of riparian claims, of provisions and means whereby the business of a power company or similar concern may be carried on in the event of a sale of the property or the appointment of a receiver or liquidator, and of the provisions to enable water communities to be formed with a view to permanency with a proper organization for management.

"The principle aimed at in amendments to any sections that have to do with irrigation is co-operation, and in particular the common use of ditches wherever this is possible among several users, and to, as far as possible, simplify procedure for the small land-holder.

"A study of the amendments to the first six parts of the act will show that the fundamental principle of the act as to beneficial use has been emphasized.

A NEW ERA.

"Coming to the new sections on conservation and enlarged powers of the Board: Such may be said to represent the beginning of a new period in water administration. The situation had become aggravated by reason of the financial and physical conditions of irrigation works under which large areas of land have been brought under cultivation. The organizations controlling such works are, in a number of cases, in such straits that it was deemed advisable to make provision for the conservation of the districts they at present serve. Hence the creation of a conservation fund by means of which a working resource of the province may be conserved on a business basis. The scope of this legislation is, however, made broad enough to permit of the reclamation of lands, where this is possible, at a charge that will not be burdensome. Closely associated with these provisions and those of the Water Act Amendment Act of 1917 are the provisions for enlarged powers of the Board. It has been found in dealing with the irrigation company problem that if it is to at all be coped with, the companies, as common carriers, must be classed as public utilities, and the Board's powers so enlarged that it may deal accordingly with them.

"Under the Water Act Amendment Act of 1917, the Department has, to a greater or less extent, dealt with seven irrigation systems. The bill now before the House, it is expected, will place the administrators in such a position that the rulings now in effect in respect of these companies may be enforced in such a way as to not only protect the water-user, but encourage production, assure permanency in the management of works, and at the same time deal fairly with the companies."

Apple Sales Increased Ten-Fold by Advertising

Seattle, March. — That it pays to advertise has again been fully demonstrated in the direct results obtained by a great marketing agency in opening up new channels of trade for the apples of the Northwest.

During the past two seasons the Northwestern Fruit Exchange has conducted a national advertising campaign, with the view to increasing the consumption of apples in the smaller towns of the Middle West and South. As a direct result of this nation-wide publicity the demand for apples from these sections has increased tenfold within the past few months, and means added prosperity to the apple growers of the Northwest.

Said R. H. Lang, local manager of the General Sales Agency, Inc.: "Through the nation-wide publicity given the Northwest apples by the Northwestern Fruit Exchange the consumer has commenced to enquire of his local dealer in regard to certain brands of apples which he has seen advertised.

"The result has been immediate and an unheard-of demand was established. Dealers in small towns, who in the past received limited shipments through their Chicago jobber, are now ordering in carload lots direct from the exchange. Another feature is the fact that the consumer has been educated as to the quality of apples, and his taste now calls for fancy and extra fancy fruit.

"To supply this demand stocks are rapidly cleaning up at advanced prices. Extra fancy Winesaps are running now almost entirely to the smaller sizes; 175s and smaller are quoted at $1.60 f.o.b. shipping point.

New Methods Of Handling Freight Now In Effect.

Attention of the shipping public is directed to changes ordered by the War Board in methods of loading L.C.L. (less than carload lot) freight. The custom which prevailed up until recently was to load a car for, say, "Xboro and points east." This car might contain freight even for St B—, at the far end of that line. The shed was "pulled" probably every day. The car for Xboro and points east reached Xboro, we will say, in 24 hours. It was placed at the freight shed. The goods for Xboro were unloaded and the car forwarded in possibly 24 hours after its arrival. The car proceeded then to Yville Junction. Here it lost another 24 hours in switching and unloading.

This process was repeated at perhaps another point between Yville Jct. and St B—. The car reached St B—in five days instead of two. The cargo for St B—in the meantime had been subjected to the usual strain of over-much shunting and switching. The car itself had lost three days' working time.

The new method was put in force in December. The sheds may not be "pulled" as often. The cars are now held long enough to obtain a full cargo for some definite point. Each car then proceeds to its destination, is unloaded at one time, and is released within 24 hours of its arrival! The time it lost waiting for a full load at the point of shipment is much less than it previously would have occupied in being switched to the freight shed at several terminals. This economizes the time of the car, saves time for the L.C.L. shipper, and reduces the wear and tear on his shipment.

In November, before the new system was put into general effect, 34,829 cars of L.C.L. freight were loaded at points loading five cars and upwards of such freight per day. The average weight of the contents of a car was then 11,442 lbs. The change in methods brought into effect in December increased the average load per car to 12,407 lbs. A gain of 965 lbs. per car. There were in this month, 29,647 cars loaded at points, such as the above. Had the same average per car obtained in December as in November, 32,149 cars would have been required. Therefore 2,502 cars were saved by the better handling of the cars.

Get Behind the Wheel of a Ford and Drive

TRY it just once! Ask your friend to let you "pilot" his car on an open stretch. You'll like it, and will be surprised how easily the Ford is handled and driven. If you have never felt the thrill of driving your own car, there is something good in store for you. It is vastly different from just riding—being a passenger. And especially so if you drive a Ford. Young boys, girls, women and even grandfathers—thousands of them—are driving Ford cars and enjoying it. A Ford stops and starts in traffic with exceptional ease and smoothness, while on country roads and hills its strength and power show to advantage. Buy a Ford and you will want to be behind "the wheel" constantly.

Peachland Doings

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Rev. Walter Daniel, B.A., Baptist Missionary Evangelist for B.C., last week visited a number of the Baptist families in the neighborhood, and held several meetings. The meeting at the Townsite Schoolhouse was very well attended, and produced a deep impression. The meetings in the Baptist Church at Peachland were also of a deeply impressive character, especially the meeting on Sunday afternoon, when the evangelist spoke on the Love of God.

Mr McPherson of Binscarth, Manitoba, who has been visiting at the Coast, called here on his way home on Wednesday and spent the day with Mr and Mrs R. J. Hogg.

Mr Lee Mills was a passenger to Vernon on Wednesday, returning on Thursday night.

Mr A. J. MacKenzie was a passenger to Kelowna on Wednesday, returning on Thursday night.

The Methodist Ladies' Circle met at the home of Mr and Mrs H. E. McCall on Wednesday.

Mr C. Somerville returned from Kelowna on Thursday. Mrs Somerville and their infant son returned with him.

Mr Victor Jones, our returned soldier, was a passenger north on Thursday.

Mrs E. F. Smith was a passenger to Kelowna on Thursday where she has gone to visit friends.

Mr Earnie Aitkins and Miss Vera Hay came down from Kelowna on Thursday to visit friends, returning on Friday morning.

Inspiring Report of Red Cross and Comfort Club Work.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Friday afternoon. The president, Mrs W. Douglas, presided, and after the opening exercises and reading of the minutes by the secretary the following committees were appointed: Musical Committee, Mrs Elliott, Miss Scott; Social Committee, Mrs A. Town, Miss Olive Ferguson, Mrs Sanderson. A committee to look after the Red Cross sewing is still to be appointed. Miss Olive Ferguson gave the Motto and Miss Scott Current Events. Mrs Buchanan gave a very interesting report of Red Cross and Comfort Club work in part as follows:

"I trust that the Red Cross sale opening to-day will be a great success, and that we will be able to send forward supplies to the mother branch that will reflect credit to us as an Institute and Peachland as a town.

Had there been folks about on the first of this month they must have noticed an air of unwonted jubilation, very badly restrained, about the members of the Institute, helped by a member of the Ambulance who had gone to the Reading Room to pack the parcels for the boys in France, and enquiring as to reason of same, would have had answer, that the parcels were to cost next to nothing, because some kind Samaritans, hearing of shortage in the treasury, had again come forward with supplies. Messrs Hardie, Clement, and Mr S. McLaughlin paying for our tinied goods, and Mr Grota handing in $5 for postage. Our Trepanier members, with wool supplied from the funds, sent forward eight pairs of socks, three pairs came from the Girls' Comfort Club members, and the rest were supplied by the Ambulance League in accordance with the generous offer made in 1917. Seventeen boys in France and Flanders shared alike. The parcels contained pair socks; handkerchief; cake of soap; tin pineapple; tin cocoa and milk; tin instant heat; 2 bars chocolate; vermin proof shirt, and were valued at $2 each, postage 24 cents. The vermin proof shirt seems to be of great service, for one boy said in his letter of acknowledgement, "I was glad to get the shirt as I was feeling them." Considering "them" quite worthy of a large T. The beauty of the Christmas Card and the stirring heartening verse which was written thereon seemed to appeal to each and all. We have already thanked Mrs Coldham. The boys' gratitude must be very dear to her."

Ambulance League and Comfort Club Sale Unqualified Success

The Sale of Work and Home Cooking held on Friday afternoon in the Masons' Hall, and which was kindly loaned for the occasion, was largely attended. The selling was brisk, and although all the departments were well stocked at the start they were soon cleared. The candy and home cooking departments looked very attractive, and the miscellaneous tables were laden with useful and pretty articles such as cretonne bags for knitting, aprons for all purposes, tatted bonnet caps, crocheted yokes, etc. The tea tables were well patronized, and were constantly filled. The receipts amounted to $100.

Mr M. N. Morrison, who has been at the Coast for a month, returned home on Monday morning.

Mr A. W. Lee, Inspector for Dominion Express offices, paid an official visit to Peachland on Monday.

Messrs N. A. and Lorne Shaw were passengers up the lake on Tuesday morning, going up to cut logs.

The regular sewing meeting of the Ambulance League was held in the Reading Room on Tuesday afternoon. A parcel of socks and one of stretcher caps were packed. A resolution thanking the Masons for their kindness in loaning the hall for the sale was passed.

What might have been a serious fire was prevented by the presence of mind of Mrs. A. Smalls, for the roof of the kitchen caught fire when the chimney was overturned. She threw a couple of pails of water on the blaze and extinguished it in a very few minutes after it was discovered. The firemen were called, and came very promptly, but found that the fire was practically out.

Word was received on Friday that Archie Seaton was dangerously ill with measles and diphtheria, and as four days passed without any further word his friends here were hoping that the worst had passed, but on Sunday the sad news came that he had passed away. On Friday Mr Reynolds Harrington received the sad news that his brother, Professor Harrington, had passed away the week before in the Montreal hospital, following a minor operation. Professor Harrington will be well remembered here; for he taught at the Summerland College for some time, and also lived here for about a year. Coming as it did after the severe illness of his wife it was a great sorrow to Mr Harrington, and we deeply sympathise with him and the family in their bereavement. We are glad to state that Mrs Harrington is gaining strength daily.

The receipt of $25 in cash and goods to the value of $58, the result of the shower on Tuesday is gratefully acknowledged by the Home Comfort Club. The club desires to thank Mrs Cooper, Mrs Matthewman, and the other ladies, and also the public generally for this substantial contribution to the comforts of our soldiers.

The usual fortnightly meeting of the West Summerland branch of the United Farmers of B.C. was held in Campbell's Hall on Thursday, March 7th, the president, Mr A. McLachlan, presiding. Dr Lipsett gave a very interesting talk on the care of cows, dealing especially with milk fever and also bloating. Mr McLachlan introduced the subject of vegetable growing. Although the attendance was poor, owing to the number of meetings during the week, those who were present spent a profitable evening and acquired useful information on the topics mentioned.

Lieut. Ronald Snider, who has been at the Coast for several weeks since coming to Canada on leave, is now here to spend several weeks with his parents.

The receipt of $5 from Mr H. B. Young, one-third of the proceeds of the dance given by him, is gratefully acknowledged by the treasurer of the Home Comfort Club.

Mrs Gerald McLaine and little daughter, Mona, returned last Friday from a visit of some weeks in the East. Mr and Mrs McLaine are moving this week to Penticton, where Mr McLaine will continue in the life insurance business.

Fully a dozen carloads of apples were carried through the winter here by growers and shippers. Most of these have now been disposed of. Any that remain unsold will be picked up quickly, now that there has been a marked advance in the price.

Summerland is likely to ship soon its first car of potatoes. But a few years ago a large quantity of potatoes were brought in for local consumption. More recently local production has been equal to the demand, while last season saw a greatly increased production. Reeve Blair is arranging to ship a car of potatoes to the prairies.

Forced ventilation by mechanical means has been adopted at The Rialto. A ventilator, which can be regulated from the gallery, has been put in the roof, and an electrically driven fan installed. Mr Young, the manager, has secured a film service, which, he says, includes nothing but high-class matter by some of the best performers, and now that perfect ventilation has been assured the house should enjoy an increasing patronage.

The sixty-first bale of hospital material to be made up by the Red Cross workers of Summerland was sent forward this week. These bales are of substantial dimensions, and contain a large quantity of material. Here are the contents of the last one shipped: 78 prs. socks; 34 trench caps; 11 stretcher caps; 18 housewives; 18 slings; 6 prs. pyjamas; 2 prs. bed socks; 1 grey flannel shirt; 5 prs. ward shoes; 12 operation socks; 6 laundry bags; 18 T bandages.

Twenty-five dollars for the Red Cross and a like sum for the Home Comfort Club, and a generous supply of material, valued at $58, to be included in soldiers' packages, was received at a "shower" and tea at Hotel Summerland on Tuesday afternoon. The proceeds of the "tea" went to the Red Cross, while the "shower" was for the Home Comfort Club. The affair was organized by Mrs Cooper and Mrs Matthewman, assisted by Mrs A. B. Williams, Mrs G. L. Young, Mrs Kirstine, and others. A large number of ladies responded to the invitations at the same time contributing generously many nice cakes for the tea. The generosity of Mrs Downton in providing the large room, prettily decorated with spring flowers, was greatly appreciated.

The Trout Creek local of the United Farmers of B.C. held their usual meeting on Thursday evening, March 7th, when there was a full attendance, practically every resident in the district being present. The ordinary business included the report of the delegate to the annual convention, which was held at Victoria on Feb. 20th. This concluded, the meeting settled down to hear the two papers which the program called for, "The Irrigation of Young Fruit Trees," by Mr A. Anderson, and "Co-operation," by Mr G. Thornbor. Mr Anderson had obviously given his subject much thought and attention, and the result was an excellent paper. He laid much stress on the necessity of knowing one's soil, and especially the subsoil, even to a depth of six feet. Mr Thornbor's subject was a wide one, yet he dealt with it ably. He quoted many instances where co-operation had been the salvation of farming communities, and impressed his hearers with the great necessity of working in unity.

When a merchant has finally dispensed with the notion that advertising is an expense, to be regulated by the amount he can spare for it, he has hurdled the most difficult of his handicaps.

Miss Olive Hayes, demonstrator in war cooking for B.C., under the Food Board, arrived here on Wednesday and gave her initial lecture on Thursday afternoon in the Parish Hall.

It is with satisfaction that we are able to announce that the deal for the sale of the Morfit property has been called off. General regret was expressed when the sale was announced. We are informed that the deal made by Mr Morfit was conditional upon its meeting with the approval of Mrs Morfit and the family who were then at Victoria. It did not take Mrs Morfit long to decide whether she would prefer to live here or at the Coast, and the result of the decision is that the family are now back on their Summerland orchard and delighted to be again settled here.

Mrs J. Taylor of the Rosebud Inn, West Summerland, evidently believes in advertising. Monday night saw the formal opening of Mrs Taylor's business of restaurant and accommodation for travellers when the event was celebrated by a dance and supper in the Campbell Hall. Mrs Taylor had invited the business people of the district and their friends, and judging by the comments heard during the evening everyone enjoyed themselves to the utmost capacity, it being unfortunate that more people did not avail themselves of the hospitality. Music was provided by Mrs Laffan and Mrs T. H. Walker, and the dancing was continuous till 2 a.m., except during the supper interval. No doubt Mrs Taylor's establishment will enjoy the popularity it deserves.

The attention of the Review has been called to a canvass being made for signatures to a petition to the Canadian Government asking for the removal of the ban recently placed by the censors on "The Finished Mystery," a publication which the authorities have thought best to suppress here as it has been in the United States. It is said that a number of signatures have been obtained from women who did not know what they were petitioning for, and if left to their own free will would not have endorsed. We have been asked who is financing this movement, and if it be true that there is German money being thus expended to bring about dissension in Canada. Of this we know nothing, but we are quite well satisfied to leave with our appointed authorities full power to prohibit the circulation of any printed matter, which, in their judgement, is detrimental to the prosecution of the war.

The first public appearance of the recently organized Community Choral Club was greeted with a full house in St Andrew's Church on Sunday afternoon. The Club members made a choir of nearly forty voices which, in this initial sacred concert, made a most favorable impression. The program included several beautiful anthems, solos, and gospel hymns. The "Hymn of Peace," in which the ladies voices take the leading part, was beautifully rendered, as were the other selections. Miss Evelyn Brown sang very beautifully and feelingly "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," and another solo that delighted and impressed the audience was "The Pilot Song" by Mr J. O. Smith. Mr T. P. Thornbor accompanied in his usual efficient manner at the piano, which had been kindly loaned by The Rialto. To Miss Harrison, the choir instructor, who conducted the program, much of the credit is due for the progress the organization has made and for the success of the concert. The public will await in anticipation the announcement of the next performance of the Choral Club.

Current Events of Town and District

The community is looking forward to the bazaar and concert to be held next Monday by the Ladies' Aid of the local church. An excellent program has been arranged.

Mr. Vader, section foreman on the K.V.R., was a recent visitor to town looking for a suitable house for his family. He plans on making his home here for the summer at least.

Bishop Doull of Vernon, delivered an excellent sermon here on Sunday at the Anglican service, in which he was assisted by Rev. H. A. Solly of Summerland. Several from here were candidates for confirmation on Sunday at Summerland.

An extra effort is being made by the Red Cross workers to make up a large shipment to go forward the first of next month. The local branch met on Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Myers served the refreshments.

The free travelling library, maintained through the Farmers' Institutes, is much appreciated here, and it is with regret that it is learned that no more books will be circulated until a fresh appropriation has been made by the government.

Mrs. D. McKay has considerably improved, we are glad to report, from a recent illness.

Pte. Guy Brock, who has been in England since he enlisted in the Imperial Inland Waterways Service, has gone to Mesopotamia, to which far-off field he was ordered last month.

An excellent paper on "Domestic Science" was the chief item on the program at the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute, and which was largely attended. In the absence of Mrs. Davies, the president, vice-president Mrs. Allen took the chair. Unfinished business brought up the judging of the aprons, which had to be postponed until the president's return. Two dollars was voted toward the fund for the school prizes. It was decided to hold a fair next fall if possible. A free labor bureau was organized with the secretary, Mrs. Howard Rounds, in charge. Mrs. D. O. Hughes was re-appointed librarian, and asks that all books be returned as soon as possible to enable her to get them sorted and the books donated catalogued. Mrs. T. I. Williams gave an excellent paper on "Domestic Science" which was very interesting and instructive. The communication regarding the coming of Miss Hayes, provincial food economy demonstrator, on the 19th of this month, was read, and it is expected a full house will attend the lectures.

Dean Klinck of the University of British Columbia announces that C. E. Lumm, at present engaged in extension work at Amherst, Mass., and formerly with the Oregon State Agricultural College, is coming to the University of British Columbia as assistant professor for the poultry additional course.

no other fruit on the market for dessert. The Hoodoo is very popular. He advised having not over two varieties. More can be sold than we are growing. As yet Summerland melons have not gotten much beyond Alberta.

This district might well specialize in certain lines and have a preserve to itself, when it can make a name and demand the price for its stuff.

Our Bings and Lamberts were as good as the best and brought the price.

Large prunes should be shipped in 4-basket crates, and the smaller ones in lugs, or all in lugs.

Mr. Tweedale, the provincial statistician, followed Mr. Grant with an explanation of the purposes of his branch and of its importance to agriculture, and asked for full cooperation of the farmers in making complete and accurate compilations of statistics. Much progress was being made in farm cost accounting by simple methods. The "dairy system" of farm accounting has been adopted in B.C. With the daily records complete the producer can send these to the Department, where costs will be worked out.

Keeping up Soil Fertility was the subject of Inspector B. Hoy's address in the short lecture course and on which he gave much that was food for thought. As our trees are getting older the fruit was becoming smaller. This was due to lack of soil fertility, and few were doing anything to improve their soil.

The growing of alfalfa, or any other soil crop, he condemned utterly. Irrigation was interfered with, the roots fed where there was the most nourishment, just where the trees should be feeding, and they attracted the gophers. To enrich the soil something more than manure was needed. Most reports condemn commercial fertilizers. Annual cover cropping, and keeping the soil clean cultivated until fall had proved the most satisfactory. The cover crop was good for soil and trees in winter. Vetch made one of the best cover crops. The high price of hairy vetch seed was a serious matter, but by leaving a strip between the trees and cross cultivating when it was desired to re-seed, there would be only the cost of the first seed.

were made from grain by the young pigs when the sow was fed the grain. The little pigs should be given grain for three or four weeks after weaning.

Some time was given to the growing of other soil crops and the feeding of roots and grains. Mangels with alfalfa hay made good winter feed. The sows should have plenty of exercise, and be kept rather thin.

Mr. Harris found it a good practice to take the baby pigs away from the mother and keep them in a warm box, returning them regularly to feed.

A strong plea was made for every encouragement to the boys and girls. We want to keep the boys and girls in the highest profession.

Outlining the plans for organizing boys' and girls' pig clubs, and telling of the educative value these will be (everyone will be required to keep cost records). Mr. Harris asked that this movement be encouraged. He longed for the time when our university will give a full course in agriculture.

Numerous questions were put to the speaker at his request. Skim milk was worth its weight in barley, shorts, etc. It was a great appetiser, and was most valuable when fed moderately, either sour or sweet, preferably the latter. Two parts ground oats, two of shorts, and one of oil cake meal, to which could well be added ground barley, was a very valuable feed.

Six pounds of skim-milk was equal to one pound of grain; 5 pounds of grain to 1 pound of pork. Salt and correctives, such as sods, etc, should be used in winter.

NOTHING EQUALS THE OLD COW.

Mr. Harris is certainly a booster for the cow. But, to succeed, one must like the job. One cannot afford to be mean with the cow. You must like the cow and the cow must like you. Good cattle and cheap food were the secrets of success. He recommended no particular breed, while advising a community breed. There were good strains in all breeds. Good sires were all important. $150 for a six months' old calf was not too much for a pure bred. He must have good ancestry and heavy milking sisters.

Close record must be kept on production, both in weight of milk and percentage of butter fat. A test every ten days was enough. Mr. Harris gave instances in his own experience showing the fluctuation in the percentage of butter-fat in the milk of each cow. He kept no cow giving less than 300 pounds butter-fat.

Cheap feeds must be aimed for. No one with five cows or more should be without a silo. He fed from the silo 10 months of the year, and believed it might be practiced 12 months here, where pasture is scarce. Any green stuff will make silage, even mustard and thistle. Russian thistle would be good for silage. A succession of crops to follow one after the other into the silo should be grown. The silage must be packed in close, using considerable water, especially near the top. Peas, oats, clovers, alfalfa, corn, all of these were used.

Mr. Harris' comments on dairying were followed by a general discussion, during which he was asked many questions.

Apple Prices Moving Upward

Vancouver. — Higher trend of apples is the feature of the Vancouver produce market. Advances in nearly all varieties have been marked up within the last week, and predictions for still higher prices are freely being made. The reasons are plain, say wholesale dealers. They point to the rising markets across the line, upon which Vancouver is now mainly dependent for its supplies. A three-dollar-per-box price is being predicted by the wholesale trade in Seattle, which would mean $3.50 to $3.75 per box wholesale for American apples when landed here. Increased demand in the United States, through national advertising, and because of the almost prohibitive price of oranges, are contributing factors in the rise south of the border. In Vancouver demand for apples "by the box" has been exceptionally strong lately. The Okanagan, according to all accounts, is practically cleaned out of last year's crop. There are said to be a few remaining at Keremeos.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated. In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

If you want to Sell you must Advertise

what the big fellow thinks

MERCHANTS in the smaller towns sometimes say of business conditions that "there is nothing doing," and that "it would be a waste of money to advertise." They complain that their particular businesses could not be improved by publicity. The following expression of opinion, made recently by the manager of one of the large Mail Order concerns speaks for itself:

"WE HAVE A BUREAU WHOSE DUTY IT IS TO READ THE COUNTRY PAPERS. THERE IS NOT A PAPER OF ANY CONSEQUENCE IN OUR TERRITORY WE DO NOT GET. THE BUREAU LOOKS OVER THESE PAPERS AND WHEN WE FIND A TOWN WHERE THE MERCHANTS DO NOT ADVERTISE IN THEIR LOCAL PAPERS, OR WHERE ADVERTISERS DO NOT CHANGE THEIR ADVERTISEMENTS REGULARLY, WE IMMEDIATELY FLOOD THAT SECTION WITH LITERATURE. IT ALWAYS BRINGS RESULTS FAR IN EXCESS OF THE SAME EFFORTS PUT FORTH IN TERRITORY WHERE THE LOCAL MERCHANTS USE THE LOCAL PAPERS."

No doubt if a tally were kept of the amount of money sent to these Mail Order stores from day to day from Peachland, Summerland, and Naramata it would show that there is indeed a lot of money being spent; but it is going to those firms who make a bid for the business—those firms who know the value of advertising, and who do not hesitate to spend one dollar to get five.

Local Stores have a Big Advantage

They can appeal to the people very forcibly in many respects. They can point out numerous advantages in buying at home, where the public can examine the goods, and where they do not have to wait a couple of weeks to get them. But such a large proportion of business houses fail to do this! They sit in despair while the Mail Order Houses do a rushing business and gather in the CASH.

Mr. Home Merchant, the business is yours if you will go after it.

will gladly co-operate with you in curtailing this heavy drain on our cash resources.

Bank of Montreal Withdraws Appeal

Manager Resents Attitude of Councillors.

Favors Higher Taxes.

Councillors Sore Because Appeal to be heard at Penticton.

An adjourned sitting of the Court of Revision was held on Monday when the business of the court was finally disposed of. The object of the adjournment was for the purpose of giving the Bank of Montreal an opportunity to appeal against the increase made in the assessment on its corner lot. Notice of intention to appeal had been received at a meeting of the Council a week earlier.

The bank's manager, E. B. May, came before the court to enquire, he said, what all this storm in a teacup meant. He asked if the bank did not have the right to appeal. The right was admitted. Yet, continued Mr May, members of the Council threatened to withdraw their accounts if the bank appealed against the action of the Court of Revision. Against this attitude of some of the councillors he protested. It looked too much like coercion. Remembering this attitude, a storekeeper, who felt that he had just cause for appeal, would hesitate lest he should lose an account, and, likewise, a municipal employee, lest he should lose his position.

Of course, the increase was only a small matter, but he had just issued a cheque in payment of the lots, equal to the former assessment, and now he was asked to pay taxes on a higher valuation. His object had been to protest against this. He had written a letter last week withdrawing the appeal, but upon reading the comments of the councillors he had decided to withhold the letter and visit the court in person.

Mr Blair explained that fault had been found with the assessment of the year before, and that Mr Cooper had been asked to assist this year. The assessment had been carefully made, but it had been found that the bank's corner lot had a frontage of 30ft. instead of 25ft. as calculated on by the assessors. Hence the change made by the court. What was resented by the councillors was not so much the appeal as the taking of the appeal to Penticton to be heard.

Coun. Campbell thought that if Mr May would look into the assessments he would find that the bank lots were assessed lower than some others.

After a further exchange of opinions, during which Mr May gave full approval to the action of the court in increasing the rates, on the ground that all commodities were costing more; he said that he was voluntarily withdrawing his appeal.

After Mr May had retired, the court formally sustained the higher assessment.

'Germany and her Strategy'

In a very interesting lecture before a good-sized audience, in the Parish Hall last Thursday night, Mr F. A. C. Wright, late Sgt. in the 7th Bnt., C.E.F., dealt in a thoughtful manner with his chosen subject "Germany and Her Strategy." Analyzing the book, "Germany at Bay," he dealt with the military organization of the Germans and showed where her plans had been checkmated. Beginning with the organization under Bismarck, which was taken up later by the present Kaiser, he told of the wider imperial aims of the latter, and of the dismissal of Bismarck because of his disapproval of the aggressive plans of the Kaiser. German psychology and morality were compared with those of the Anglo-Saxon race, and phases of the so-called yellow peril were dealt with. The lecture was followed by a general discussion, in which a number participated. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all, and incidentally the treasury of the church aided by the admission charged.

Devoting Acres To Seed Growing

New Line Taken up by Number of Farmers Here.

When Prof. Boving of the B.C. University and A. McMeans of Brantford, arrived here last Friday on their mission of stimulating seed production they found the district well prepared and ready for their coming by the excellent missionary work that had been carried on for some weeks by Supt. Helmer of the Experimental Station.

A meeting was held on Friday evening, and a day or two was spent in visiting the farmers who had signified their interest in the movement.

The growing of seed, Professor Boving pointed out, is a business where careful attention to details can make a great difference in both the yield per acre and the quality, and he therefore advised growers not to attempt too much at the outset. He counselled rather concentrating on one or two varieties in order to establish the best possible strains.

The business was a very profitable one, though he admitted there seemed too great a spread between the price paid to the grower and the price at which the seed was sold to the user.

The professor gave a very detailed and interesting explanation of the methods adopted in producing different kinds of seed, with the probable yield and returns to be expected. As an instance, mangel seed should show an average yield of 2,000 lbs. to the acre. The contract price was 25c., and with a subsidy of 3c. would give a return of $560. The cost of growing had been worked out at $150 to $160 per acre. Two years were required to produce the seed crop.

Mr A. McMeans, who is connected with the Seed Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, gave some startling figures regarding the immense quantities of seed demanded by the market. California had already gone extensively into the business, and he told of one concern which has raised 9,000 acres of sugar beet seeds at a cost of 8c., which compared very favorably with the former price for imported seed. There was no reason why B.C. should not enter this business and make a success of it.

At the Experimental Station 13 to 14 acres will be devoted this year to the growing of seed from roots produced last year. Another 20 acres will be used in producing more of the roots which will be sufficient for an 80 acre field of seed in 1919. Mangels and carrots are the seeds to be grown.

The largest plot to be devoted to seed production by any one individual will be by Thos. Dale, who is preparing to grow mangel seeds next year. Some others who are going in for the growing of mangel seeds are: Agur estate, 2 acres; M. Tait, 1 1/2 acres; G. Thornber, 1/2 acre; E. T. Mountford, 1 acre. C. J. Gale will grow 1 acre of carrot seeds, and E. Thomas has undertaken to grow 2 acres of carrots and 1 of beans.

A. Moyes and G. Marshall will both sign up for the growing of seeds of some kind.

Ideal and Giant Rose Sugar mangels, Chantony carrots, and Wardwell's wax beans are the varieties selected for local production.

Have Ordered Motor Trucks.

The motor truck and gasoline will this season further supplant the horse and hay and oats, judging from the orders already placed by local concerns. Shortage of help, and particularly the very high price and scarcity of horse feed are the reasons advanced for adopting the motor. A shipment of trucks is due to arrive here soon, the order having been placed by B. L. Hatfield during a week-end visit to Vancouver. Some of the trucks are of the Little Giant make advertised by the Summerland Garage.

The Fruit Union and P. S. Roe are each getting one of these, and T. B. Young and Wm. Ritchie will use converted trucks.

Citizens Are Behind the Home Telephone System

Determined That It Shall Not Be Put Under By Rival.

Capital Needed To Put It In Good Standing Will Be Provided.

An enthusiastic and determined group of citizens attended the special meeting last Monday evening called by the Summerland Telephone Co. Shareholders and subscribers were well represented, and gave ready response to the canvass there made for more paid-up shareholders. With a capital investment of over $23,000.00 and a paid capital of but little over $14,000.00, the directors of the company have never found it easy to finance the business of the company. In fact, such heavy interest has had to be paid that the annual profits have been materially reduced below what otherwise they would have been. The profits have remained up to the present, in the business to pay off the plant investment because of this short capitalization.

In calling the meeting to order, President H. C. Mellor said that because of this difficulty which had been added to by the recent judgment in favor of the Okanagan Telephone Co., it was thought best to call a meeting of the citizens and put the facts before them. The decision of the court was not what had been expected, but it had created a situation that must be met. $2,000 was needed at once, and must be had. $5,000 additional capital would put the company in good shape.

Referring to the court case, the president said it was very apparent that the purpose of the Okanagan Company in entering the suit for the large sum they did was to shake the local company as much as possible. An effort had been made to settle the case out of court, which effort had the support of the judge.

The judge's findings were read in full by the secretary, and were reviewed at some length by W. C. Kelley. He advised immediate action toward rebuilding the section of pole line as required by the judgment. Mr Kelley expressed the opinion that it was not right that the Okanagan Telephone Co. should have the power it has been given. It has now the whip hand throughout all the municipalities in Yale.

Dr. Andrew, vice-president of the home company, gave a brief history of the company and of what it had done for the people of this Valley, to whom it had saved hundreds of thousands of dollars in rentals.

Several suggestions were offered for putting the directors in funds. One subscriber, R. S. Monro, proposed that each subscriber be asked

Will Protect Seed Growers

Government Proposes Bill Forbidding Seed Growing, Except by License.

In order to aid in the development of the industry of seed growing in this province, the government has introduced in the legislature a Seed Protection Act, the object being to see that every possible precaution is taken for the purity of the output.

A seed commissioner will be appointed, with inspectors under his direction. The Department of Agriculture will keep a register of seed crops, wherein will be entered the location and area of each seed crop grown, together with the variety and the name and address of the grower.

No person will be allowed to grow seed without the permission of the Department of Agriculture, who will have in his absolute discretion the granting or refusal of a license. Each permit will be issued for one year only, but may be renewed. A fine of one hundred dollars is provided for growing seed without permission, and the crop in such cases will be dealt with under the Noxious Weeds Act.

to contribute $10. He and others recognized the fact that the company had saved him $18 or $24 a year since its existence. E. R. Simpson suggested that small debentures be issued. He felt confident that there would be no difficulty experienced in selling $5,000 of them locally.

Issuing of shares seemed to be more generally favored, and quite a few offered to take a share each. In fact, when it became known that there might be a possibility of the company offering for sale shares on which small payments had been made, for the balance, there was quite a clamoring for such shares. There is over $5,000 still outstanding on these shares, and it now seems probable that the sale of these shares will put the company in the position it should have been had all the subscribed capital been paid.

Women Enter Seed Growing.

Competition Organized by Institute. Boving Cup as Prize.

With the approval of and high commendation from Prof. Boving and Mr. McMeans, the ladies of the West Summerland Women's Institute have inaugurated a seed growing competition open to all the women of Summerland.

An informal meeting was held last Monday evening at the home of Mrs Bentley at which Prof. Boving, Mr. McMeans, and Mr Helmer were present.

Prof. Boving has started the prize list by offering a silver cup as first prize, to be won three successive years for possession. Other prizes will be announced later. This competition should be very interesting and highly instructive, and will result in further stimulating the production of seeds in this district.

The silver cup will be awarded to the grower of the five best roots of Yellow Intermediate Mangel, from seed supplied by Prof. Boving; best seed grown from ten roots, mangel, supplied by Mr Helmer; best Sweet Pea seed grown on the remainder of the plot. Seed supplied.

Each plot will be 145 feet long and 15 ft. wide, approximately one-twentieth of an acre. Rows 3 ft. apart. Each competitor will be provided with 4 oz. of mangel seed, which, with the roots supplied by Mr Helmer, will occupy two rows of the five in the plot. The remaining three rows will be devoted to sweet peas, and will amount to enough, it is expected, to fill a contract with a seed firm for one-half acre.

With Mr Helmer's assistance, the Institute will procure a small piece of land near West Summerland, to use as an educational seed growing plot for the benefit of the public. Here will be grown seed of mangels, carrots, onions, parsnips, and possibly a few flower seeds.

WEDDING.

SMITH-POLLOCK.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs R. Pollock, last Sunday was solemnized the marriage of their daughter, Joan to Oliver Smith, the wedding ceremony being performed by Rev. A. Henderson. Only a few relatives and close friends were present.

Both bride and groom are well known here, having both been residents of Summerland for a number of years.

Mr and Mrs Smith have taken up residence in the Hatfield house overlooking the lake.

Enlisting "Soldiers Of The Soil."

Boys who Help Feed the Allies to be Awarded.

With the purpose of getting the "Soldiers of the Soil" movement started in Summerland and district Rev. J. A. Miller of Vancouver was in town last week, and as a result of his visit definite steps were taken in readiness for "Enlistment Week," which opened on Monday last and closes on Saturday night.

The movement seeks to enlist the services of High School boys from 15 to 19 years of age, to assist in farm work and production during the coming season. As this new youthful army is expected to have at least 25,000 boys on its roll in Canada, many of whom have already had some experience in farm work, the effect on production this year should be enormous. The scheme is not entirely new, for a similar plan was tried with great success in Ontario last year.

This great scheme, inaugurated by the Canada Food Board, will be under the direction of Mr Taylor Statten, the national secretary for Y.M.C.A. boys work. Mr M. Wright of Vancouver, will act as provincial secretary.

The Canada Food Board has secured the co-operation of the Provincial Departments of Agriculture and Education, and, in addition, has secured considerable financial assistance. The Federal Government appropriated a sum of $28,000.00 towards the enterprise, and this has now been supplemented by churches and the Y.M.C.A. by not less than $40,000.00 for proper supervision of the boys.

The Department of Agriculture has undertaken to prepare a roll of farmers requiring help so that no time may be lost, while the movement itself will look after all details of enlisting, placing, and supervising the boys.

Recognizing that this is war work just as much as other branches of non-combatant service, a special bronze medal will be struck, and boys who can show three months' service with the "Soldiers of the Soil" will be entitled to wear it. Even boys who are working on their father's farms can enlist, and their services will count just the same.

Arrangements are being made by the Department of Education so that boys who thus serve in farm work may be released from their studies with as little loss of position and interruption in the progress of their studies as possible.

Principal McIntosh of the Summerland High School is representing the movement here, and has the enlistment forms, and can furnish all particulars.

Tri-Weekly Service East of Okanagan

Under a new train schedule which went into effect last Sunday, K.V.R. points east of Penticton will be given a tri-weekly service. The eastbound trains will run on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays through to Nelson. Trains from Nelson will run on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. This change is only of a temporary nature, and the schedule is expected to be reverted to the daily runs as soon as the Coquahalla Pass is reopened, if not before.

Daily, except Sunday, trains will be maintained between here and the Coast. According to the new schedule there will be no train leaving Vancouver on Sunday morning, which means that there will not be any train here from the Coast early on Monday morning.

No train will be run out of here westward on Sunday mornings.

Good Friday.

Next Friday, March 29th, is Good Friday. The Review will go to press one day earlier next week. Will advertisers and correspondents please remember this, and send in their "copy" as early as possible.

Pump Ordered For New System

Council Decides on Pump for T. C. Point.

More Street Lights.

Granville Road to be Better Lighted. Other Business done.

For the third Monday in succession the Council sat last Monday for a short time, and afterward went over a section of ditch so as to be able more intelligently to deal with a request that it be lined or flumed. Some minor matters were attended to and correspondence dealt with. The position of ditchman on the south main was offered to R. J. Carefoot at the advanced wage being paid this season, namely $75.

Geo. Sinclair was again before the Council asking that he be given domestic water on his orchard lot, on which he proposes to build provided he can get assurance that water will be available. He stated that the owner of the next lot, B. Steuart, would also take the service, and he believed that one of the lots on the other side of the road would soon need domestic water. He suggested that he and Mr Steuart advance $100 each against rates.

Chairman Johnston of the Public Works Committee said a 4 inch pipe would be necessary. The Public Works Committee was asked to bring in a report.

Chairman White of the Electric Light Committee, stating that he had been much surprised when shown that Granville Road had only one light from end to end, asked permission to have three additional regulation street brackets and lamps put on that street, one at the Supply corner, another near T. B. Young's residence, and a third in the low part of the street between the latter and the Bank of Montreal. Approved.

He also brought up again the question of reversing the position of the motor and generator in the power house with the view to developing more power. Unless this were done dim lights will be the result next fall when the full load is on.

Reeve Blair advised getting along as it is until it is known that power cannot be had from the south. In this connection it was stated that the Summerland Experimental Station had applied to the Kootenay Power Co. for current equal to 100 h.p. No reply has yet been received to an enquiry made some time ago by the Council as to whether the Municipality could hope to get power at a price that would be satisfactory.

Coun. Simpson had brought back from Vancouver some particulars regarding a suitable pump for the Trout Creek Point pumping proposition. A six-inch centrifugal pump was decided upon and the clerk instructed to order same.

The constable was instructed to enter a charge against local stock owners who permitted animals to get on the streets, first warning them of the consequences. Those who have put prunings on roadsides will be required to remove them.

Before adjourning, the councillors visited the lower ditch between S. M. Young's and Dale's. For several years J. A. Kirk has complained of seepage from this ditch and asked that it be lined. At a recent meeting of the Council he suggested that it be flumed. The Council realized the injustice of continuing without making an effort to stop the water, which now makes his lot wholly unworkable, and the fluming has been agreed upon.

According to the judgment handed down by Mr Justice Duff, the central appeal judge, bank clerks will not be exempted under the Military Service Act. The military need is inexorable, according to the learned judge, and consequently over 2,000 clerks will be affected by the judge's findings. The first draft, consisting of 834 clerks, has been called to the colors, while the remainder will be called up in three approximately equal drafts on May 15th, July 15th, and September 15th, respectively.

Kolowna has purchased a motor chemical fire engine.

WHAT IS BEHIND IT?

THE PRESS ON BOTH SIDES of the international line is giving considerable space to the active propaganda of the "International Bible Students' Association" and the circulation by that organization in this district of a petition to which, by strong persuasive arguments, a number of signatures were obtained, has made the matter a topic of general local conversation.

One of the first questions that comes to the mind of any thoughtful citizen is "who, or what, is behind this movement?" The Press Censors of Canada, or of the United States, would not suppress any publication without good reasons, reasons which, if all the facts were known to the voters, the censors are satisfied would be considered sufficient to justify their action. So damaging to the cause of the Allies and detrimental to the successful prosecution of the war is some of the literature that has been circulated recently by this organization that anyone who is found in possession of the stuff is severely dealt with. A number of arrests have been made, and at least one of the two agents who covered this territory seeking supporters had recently been under arrest for distributing the prohibited literature. From coast to coast across Canada they have been at work, and active measures have been necessary to stop the seditious propaganda.

Not only have arrests been made in B.C. and other provinces, but the same effort is being made in the United States to suppress the traitorous campaign. Further down this Valley, at Okanogan, a man was arrested a few days ago for distributing this "Bible student" literature, and at Oroville the sheriff was looking for another. It will thus be seen how wide the campaign is.

No less disastrous would the spread of this movement be to Canada than was the Bolshevik in Russia, and the wonder is that our authorities have been so long suffering to allow the movement to be so wide spread and to permit the agents of the traitorous plot to go about the country and endeavor in a measure to accomplish what the prohibited matter was intended to do.

Declaring that the whole proceeding should be stopped the Kamloops Sentinel-Standard deals with the matter editorially under the caption:

IS IT A HUN PROPAGANDA?

If there is any organization in Canada, religious, or otherwise, that is endeavoring to inculcate into the minds of the young men of the land, a conviction that war is wrong, and that it is their duty to protest against military service; if there is an organization of this character that would teach, yes, even urge, the young men who are followers of this cult or religious propaganda to resist military enlistment, as a matter of conscience, would not such an organization be the very best medium that the Kaiser would desire for spreading throughout the Dominion a movement that would militate against every act of the government in the direction of supporting the boys who have gone overseas by means of reinforcements? If this is the case, then what should be done to stop the spreading of such a propaganda? The International Bible Students' Association seems to be doing this very thing, and what is more, their activity is becoming exceedingly pernicious. Every young man who is a member of this association, is a conscientious objector against military service. They are the followers of the late Pastor Russell. Their lecturers are holding forth in every city, town and hamlet in this province at the present time. They hire expensive halls, and are filling the newspapers with large and costly advertisements. They seem to have plenty of money, although they take up no collections. Their lecturers are cautious in their discourses, but in an insidious manner they protest against the ban of the government on the works of Pastor Russell, and with apparently innocent intent, plead for peace and religious liberty.

They are castigating the preachers of the land and charging them with dealing in platitudes of the Pharisees and being responsible for the war.

Strange as it may seem, they are getting many followers. Under the cloak of religion they are making converts by the dozens, and sowing the seed of discontent among the people. Some who are workers in this cause may be innocent, but the fact remains that it is rapidly growing into the strongest kind of a propaganda that savours much of the hand of the Kaiser. It has reached that stage where it is absolutely dangerous to the state and to the welfare of Canada as an ally in this great struggle for freedom and principle. In our opinion it is time that measures be taken to stop the whole proceeding. While they are crying for religious liberty, Canada's sons and husbands are paying the supreme sacrifice in France and Flanders to give Canada the liberty of man. What is going to be done about it?

THE REASONS FOR DISLOYALTY.

A CORRESPONDENT in the Oroville Gazette deals with the subject thus:

Having noticed a great deal in the press of late in regard to certain literature put out by the so-called International Bible Students' Association, a number of things suggest themselves that are of special interest at this time. This association is everywhere being charged with disloyalty to their country. If they are disloyal there are reasons for it. Some of the reasons follow:

1. They are religious anarchists, in that they are against practically every organization, political, religious, social, and business.
2. They are anti-social, not recognizing any social obligation to life, nor appreciating any obligations of citizenship.
3. Their propaganda is made up of purely destructive criticism, rather than constructive suggestions.
4. They are never leaders in social or political reforms.

5. Their propaganda deals with political-religious problems rather than personal religion.

6. They are disloyal to their own name and history. Whenever they become too unpopular under one title they assume another alias. They were first known as "Zion's Watch Tower," later, "Watch Tower and Tract Society," still later "International Bible Students' League," "Bible House and Tract Society," and now, "The International Bible Student's Association." What next?

7. They carry on their propaganda in a dishonorable manner, under cover of assumed names, under the protection of being international, and often under cover of darkness.

8. Their founder and patron saint, Charles T. Russell, was a comparatively ignorant person, but with ability to agitate. He had an unsavory moral reputation and a court record.

I believe that if the more intelligent of the followers of this cult will investigate the above statements it will help clear their confusion and make them better citizens. It is unfortunate that so many well meaning people are carried away simply because of an appeal to their peaceable natures, forgetting that permanent peace has to be founded on personal and national justice.

IF IT BE TRUE that the petition which was circulated locally was signed by many of our people, under representations that were not at all in accordance with the explanations given above it would be quite in order for those whose signatures were obtained to write the office of the Press Censor at Ottawa, so stating and asking that their names be expunged from the petition. While we do not believe that the petition will have the effect of changing the course of action of the authorities, still we would dislike to have those petition forms go on file at Ottawa bearing the names of some of our most loyal citizens in the most loyal section of a loyal Canada.

INCOME TAX GRADUATED.

IF THE INCOME WAR TAX LAW, about to be applied, did nothing more than cause a national stock-taking, it would serve a most useful purpose.

The taking of an inventory of one's resources invariably induces a desire to save, and a desire to save, when translated, as it very frequently is, into a determination to save, means getting on with the war, as well as happiness all round. This process, first an inventory of one's resources, then a desire to save, applied to every unmarried person, or widow or widower without dependent children, receiving an income of $1,500 and over, and to all other persons receiving an income of $3,000 and over, will unquestionably result in a large proportion of cases, in a determination to save. And that means more general prosperity and renewed national strength.

But a national stock-taking is only incidental, of course, to the chief purpose of the income war tax, which is to provide revenue for the prosecution of the war in as equitable a manner as possible. The tax is graduated, according to one's ability to pay. Those who are in receipt of only a living wage or salary will not be called upon to pay; those enjoying the highest incomes will be called upon to pay the greatest amounts, and the great body of income receivers between, will be called upon to pay in their proportion.

Moreover, the purpose of the act is to distribute the burden equitably among all classes. By way of illustration, the farmer will be required to add to the value of his actual income, the value of the home-grown products which his family consumes. This places the farmer on a plane with the salaried man, the value of whose services is wholly represented in the income received and against which he must charge all his living expenses.

Canada has established a war record that is the envy of the world. It is certain that the Canadian people will run true to form in answer to this latest call of the war government.

At an informal meeting of the Council on Tuesday afternoon the new bill amending the municipal act was considered, and the clerk appointed a delegate to attend a conference of Valley municipalities held in Vernon on Wednesday and Thursday to make certain recommendations to the government. Mr Logie went up to Vernon on Wednesday morning.

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

The Naramata Fruit Co. are to operate a packing house this summer at Poplar Grove, between here and Penticton.

Classes in pruning and packing opened here this week with Inspector Tait as instructor. He had as his assistant in the packing lessons Miss Violet Mitchell of this place.

Nip! snip! nip! Spring is here and all about is heard the snip of the pruning shears. Our fruit growers are looking forward to an even heavier crop than this district enjoyed last year.

After spending most of the winter with friends in Michigan, Mrs. Wells and her daughter, Miss Lois Wells, returned home by last Saturday's boat.

Mr and Mrs. Brown, recent arrivals from Missoula, Montana, have taken up residence here for a time. We understand that Mr. Brown has secured work in Summerland, and it is now probable that they will move over there.

The annual church bazaar, which was held on Monday night, was quite a success, nearly forty dollars being realized for church purposes.

Mr and Mrs. James Young are enjoying a visit from their son, Albert, who has come from his home in the East.

News of the death of the pastor's father made it advisable to postpone the church concert which had been advertised for Monday last.

Rev. J. M. Miller, who is organizing officer in the "Soldiers of the Soil" movement in this province, is contemplating holding a camp conference here in connection with this commendable undertaking.

A brief, but unusually heavy electrical storm for this district, passed over Naramata early on Monday morning. It was accompanied by heavy wind, and hail fell in quantities.

Miss Hayes, the demonstrator in food economy under the Food Control Board, is spending most of the week here demonstrating. She arrived from Summerland on Monday night, and started her series of lectures and demonstrations on Tuesday afternoon.

The spacious floor of the big building formerly occupied by the Naramata Supply Co. was the scene of a successful dance last week given in aid of the local Red Cross. The floor, a fine one for the purpose, had been put in good trim by the ladies, who were also responsible for the tidy appearance of the whole place, which had been tastefully decorated. Card tables had been provided for those who preferred to play. Talent had been secured from Summerland and Penticton to help the local talent in providing really excellent music. Not only did our own people turn out in force but the ferry brought a good number of visitors from Summerland.

The world is rough, but never mind! Keep cheerful as you go. For if you stop to kick you'll find You've only stubbed your toe.

KASLO EDITOR PROVES CHURCH ADVERTISING PAYS

(Kaslo Kootenian)

As a general rule people never realize just what a force advertising is. I have with me this week a concrete illustration of it.

Last Monday the pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church came to me and asked me for my help. He said that he wanted to get his church filled on Sunday night, just once—just to see what it looked like. He wanted my advice on how to do the trick. He had a big patriotic service in contemplation, he said.

Well, you know, I set my-think tank to work and in about fifteen seconds said:

"I tell you what I'll do, Mr. Campbell, but you must not expect me to do it again. I'll give you ten dollars worth of advertising space in The Kootenian, and pay for it myself. You fix me up copy for an ad, for your patriotic service and let me have it not later than Tuesday morning, and I'll guarantee to fill St. Andrew's so that you will have to stick out the S. R. O. sign."

He laughed, because he thought that I was just joking, or running a bluff, I think; but had his copy in on Tuesday morning. I gave the ad about ten dollars worth of display space, charged it to my personal account, and let her go gallagher.

Well, last Sunday night St. Andrew's Church was packed to the doors, and they had to rustle some benches to accommodate the crowd. All denominations besides Presbyterians were represented, and I have no doubt that the service was enjoyed and appreciated by all, and in a large number of cases would prove beneficial to case hardened sinners, who have never been out to church for years. For myself, I am a hard one to get out to church, because I realize that I am past all hope of redemption; but in the present instance I revelled in my ability to show what I could do in the way of swinging a crowd. Somehow I feel certain that in the Book of Life my record will be credited with that ten bones—a credit as against many debits of a short but sin-blackened life. It is some consolation to me to feel that I shall be thus credited, because I am equally certain that I shall receive no credit (except from Pastor Campbell) from the tight-fisted Scotch that comprise the bulk of the congregation of St. Andrew's.

A Challenge

Mr. Edison is admitted to be the world's greatest inventor.

He says that The New Edison is his favorite invention; which means his greatest invention.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

has been compared in public before almost a million people with the living voices of thirty great artists, including many members of the Metropolitan Opera House.

It has been proven that The New Edison's Re-Creation of the human voice cannot be detected from the actual voice itself when both are heard in direct comparison.

MAKE THIS TEST: Some artists, whose voices have been Re-Created by The New Edison, also make talking machine records. We will give you the names. Hear these at the talking machine dealer's. Then return to our store, and hear the New Edison Re-Creation of the voices of these same artists. Let your-own ears be the judge.

Peachland Doings

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Mr J. L. Vicary, who has been overseas since the beginning of the war, and who has received his discharge owing to ill health, reached home on Thursday accompanied by Mrs Vicary and Miss Mary. Quite a number were on the wharf to meet him, and he was greeted with a hearty cheer and many handshakes when he landed.

At the last meeting of the Council Mr John McLaughlin was appointed electrician. A money by-law was passed in connection with borrowing. It was decided to keep the municipal funds in the Bank of Commerce, Kelowna, in future. The by-law in connection with the obstruction of the roads was up for discussion. The by-law forbids prunings or stones being put on the roadway. It had been noticed that there were places where these were put on the roads last year, and it is well that this by-law should be known just as a warning.

Mrs Howells was a passenger north on Wednesday going to visit friends in Lumby.

Mrs G. Mitchell was a passenger to Kelowna on Wednesday, and remained over until Saturday.

Mrs Walters of Naramata, who has been visiting Mrs W. Morsch, returned home on Wednesday night.

Rev A. Henderson and Miss May came up on Thursday morning and spent the day here. They were accompanied by Mr Clayton Crawford of Toronto, who is on a visit to the Valley. They all returned to Summerland at night.

Mrs J. L. Elliott was a passenger to Kelowna on Thursday, returning home on Monday night.

Word has been received in town that John McLaughlin of the Flying Corp, who has been training in Texas, has been transferred from there to the flying station at Leamington, Ontario.

At the end of last week Mr R. Harrington received the sad news that another brother had passed away. Mr William Harrington was the chief of the Post Office Savings Department at Ottawa. The greatest sympathy is felt for Mr Harrington and for the family in the double bereavement.

Mr Robb of the Peachland Lumber Co. spent the week-end with his family at Penticton, returning on Tuesday morning.

Mr Alex. Miller was a passenger south on Saturday, returning on Monday morning.

Mrs L. Vivian, who has been visiting her brother, Mr Everett Law of Penticton, returned to Peachland on Monday morning.

Mrs Hendrickson, who has been visiting for some time in Summerland, returned home on Monday morning.

Mr Chas. Vanceymortia came up on Monday morning to prune his fruit lot here and to make arrangements for the care of it for the summer.

Mr T. McAlpine of Summerland spent Monday in town inspecting the roads with a view to the repairs needed. He returned to Summerland at night.

Mr J. S. Moore was a passenger to Penticton on Monday night.

Mr Fred Fruen was a passenger to the Coast on Monday night, going out with a view to changing his location if he can find a place that suits him.

Mr Alex. Miller was a passenger south on Tuesday night.

In our last report we stated that the Ladies' Circle met at the home of Mrs H. E. McCall. It should have read the Ladies' Auxiliaries of the Methodist Church.

OBITUARY.

FREDERICK G. HARRINGTON.

Rev. Frederick G. Harrington, B.D., D.Litt., for 25 years a missionary in Japan, died of pneumonia following a surgical operation at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, on the 27th ultimo. Dr Harrington was born at Sydney, N.S., 61 years ago. He began his college education at Acadia University, and was a member of the class of '83, but did not graduate. Subsequently he attended Chicago University, where, under Dr Harper, he attained his B.D. degree. He was a distinguished linguist, devoting himself at Chicago to Hebrew and allied languages. He was offered a teaching post at the University by Dr Harper, but chose instead missionary work under the auspices of the American Baptist Missionary Society. His great work in Japan was a complete revision of the Scriptures into Japanese. This work occupied his attention continuously for seven years, and received the highest commendation from Japanese scholars. Dr Harrington is survived by his wife (nee Richardson) and two daughters, Muriel and Dorothy, now residing in Ottawa. Rev. C. K. Harrington, his missionary co-worker in Japan, now at Sydney, engaged in the preparation of missionary biography for the American Society, is a brother. Rare scholarship, unequalled modesty, and Christian devotion characterized the life that has passed beyond. To have made more accessible to millions in their own tongue the imperishable revelation of the Holy Scriptures, with its message of salvation to men, is surely an accomplishment worth while! Henry T. Ross, in the Canadian Baptist.

The Baptist Women's Mission Circle met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs Macdonald.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

The poor cripple thumped his crutch on the ground and said to his lawyer:

"Merciful heavens, man, your bill is outrageous! You are taking four-fifths of my damages! I never heard of such extortion!"

"I furnished," said the lawyer, coldly, "the skill, the eloquence, and the legal learning for your case."

"Yes, but I," said the client, ruefully glancing at his injuries, "I furnished the case itself."

"Boah!" sneered the lawyer. "Anybody can fall down a coal hole."—More Play.

Mr and Mrs H. Cancellor, former residents of Summerland, have arrived here from Vancouver Island, and are the guests of Mr and Mrs Cooper in Peach Orchard. They have taken the Emmerson cottage close by, and are likely to remain here for some time, if not permanently Mr Cancellor, some years ago, was lessee of the Hotel Summerland.

Miss Warne and Miss Ruth Blair went down to the Coast the first of the week to teach fruit packing under the auspices of the Fruit Branch of the Department of Agriculture. A very successful dance was held last night in Empire Hall, which was largely attended. Several cars came up from Penticton, and the ferry brought a number from Naramata. Our own citizens were also out in force, and a good time was had by all. The members of the Home Comfort Club, for which organization the proceeds were for, did the catering, and nothing but praise is heard of this, one of the men stating that the coffee served by the Club being particularly good. Net proceeds of $41 have been handed over to the Club.

"Skovgaard," Denmark's greatest violinist, and metropolitan company of all new artists, will be heard in concert next Thursday night at Penticton. Clement, of the University of British Columbia, will be the representatives of this province at an important conference of fruit growers of Canada called at Ottawa on March 26th and 27th by Dominion Fruit Commissioner D. Johnson.

One of the principal questions to be discussed will be the desirability of securing a better definition of No. 2 and No 3 grade apples and other matters that will be discussed relate to the marketing of open fruit packages, and the proper filling of packages to be compulsory; the standardization of packages for all fruits, including boxes and crates for export use, and the uniformity of peach, pear, and prune baskets.

The Dominion Fruit Commissioner hopes to see different parts of the country sacrifice their prejudices and arrive at an amicable agreement on these marketing questions, which will be made the basis for legislation.

The annual loss to this province in the destruction caused by gophers is considerable. In an effort to reduce this loss, and in response to appeals from the farmers, the Provincial Government is offering $10 to every Farmers' Institute that will put up another $10 as prize money for those trapping the most gophers. Boys and girls are entering into the competition in places where the Institute has taken up the offer from the government.

The Government of British Columbia is not necessarily bound to accept the lowest or any application submitted.

A. E. FOREMAN,
Public Works Engineer,
Department of Public Works,
Victoria, B.C., 15th March, 1918.

The Department of Agriculture has notified the Farmers' Institute that they have purchased 50 tons of whale fertilizer, which will be sold to farmers at cost, namely, $72.00 per ton f.o.b. Victoria. This fertilizer analyzes 12.4 nitrogen against 15.5 nitrogen in nitrate of soda; so that it takes 2,500 lbs. whale fertilizer at a cost of $90.00 to equal 2,000 lbs. nitrate of soda at $127.00, showing a saving in favor of the whale fertilizer of $37.00. On page 267 of the February Agricultural Journal farmers will find some particulars of this fertilizer. Applications must be made at once, and when approved, cheque to cover cost must be sent to the Department.

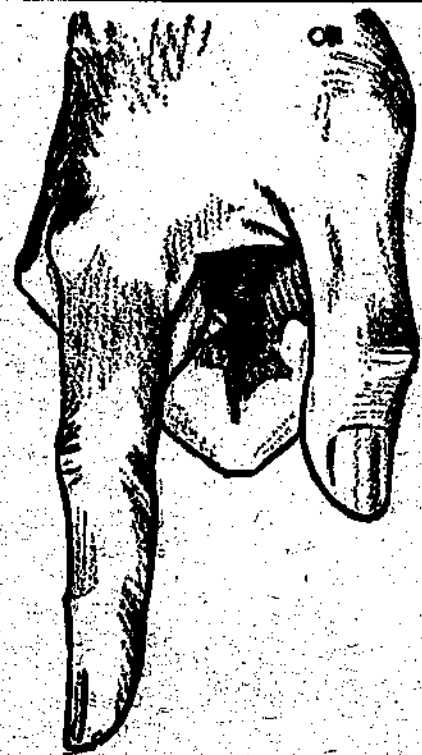

Within the next five years it is asserted that the dried vegetable business of the Pacific Coast will surpass the canning industry. Extensive enlargements are now being made to existing drying plants in California, Oregon, and British Columbia.

No one in the Royal Household of Great Britain is allowed to exceed the rations. Meat is seldom served at the family table, the King and Queen rarely eat butter, and bread and jam often constitute the tea meal.

MERCHANTS in the smaller towns sometimes say of business conditions that "there is nothing doing," and that "it would be a waste of money to advertise." They complain that their particular businesses could not be improved by publicity. The following expression of opinion, made recently by the manager of one of the large Mail Order concerns speaks for itself:

"WE HAVE A BUREAU WHOSE DUTY IT IS TO READ THE COUNTRY PAPERS. THERE IS NOT A PAPER OF ANY CONSEQUENCE IN OUR TERRITORY WE DO NOT GET. THE BUREAU LOOKS OVER THESE PAPERS AND WHEN WE FIND A TOWN WHERE THE MERCHANTS DO NOT ADVERTISE IN THEIR LOCAL PAPERS, OR WHERE ADVERTISERS DO NOT CHANGE THEIR ADVERTISEMENTS REGULARLY, WE IMMEDIATELY FLOOD THAT SECTION WITH LITERATURE. IT ALWAYS BRINGS RESULTS FAR IN EXCESS OF THE SAME EFFORTS PUT FORTH IN TERRITORY WHERE THE LOCAL MERCHANTS USE THE LOCAL PAPERS."

No doubt if a tally were kept of the amount of money sent to these Mail Order stores from day to day from Peachland, Summerland, and Naramata it would show that there is indeed a lot of money being spent; but it is going to those firms who make a bid for the business—those firms who know the value of advertising, and who do not hesitate to spend one dollar to get five.

Local Stores have a Big Advantage

They can appeal to the people very forcibly in many respects. They can point out numerous advantages in buying at home, where the public can examine the goods, and where they do not have to wait a couple of weeks to get them. But such a large proportion of business houses fail to do this! They sit in despair while the Mail Order Houses do a rushing business and gather in the CASH.

Mr. Home Merchant, the business is yours if you will go after it.

The Review

will gladly co-operate with you in curtailing this heavy drain on our cash resources.

GOOD Footwear

With the approach of Easter

the attention of the Fair Sex is turned to apparel suited to the Spring Season; and the question of suitable footwear to those who show good taste in matters of dress is of paramount importance.

WHITE FOOTWEAR will predominate this Season. This is the dictation of Fashion, and in view of this dictation I placed heavy orders for White Canvas Footwear, High Cut Boots in both Leather soled and Rubber soled styles, with low, medium, and high heels; White Canvas Pumps also in both Leather and Rubber soled descriptions in Colonial Front, Plain, and Strap Designs. A large part of this order has just arrived, and a further heavy shipment is expected shortly.

Many of the above lines are now on display in my Store; you are invited to call and inspect them.

I invite comparison in the three main features: "Quality, Price and Style."

The quality is good, the Prices reasonable, and the Styles the Latest.

In addition to the above do not overlook my Stock of 1918 VASSAR FOOTWEAR in leathers. The selling of these lines is exceeding my best expectations. If you have never worn a VASSAR SHOE BEGIN NOW! You will not regret it. If you desire novelties in Footwear call to see me; I have some new catalogues of Footwear Specialties from houses who carry large stocks for immediate shipment and I will be pleased to get in the shortest possible time any "Special" which you may desire.

In addition to the above mentioned lines of Ladies' Footwear I have received several lines of MEN'S HEAVY CANVAS WORKING SHOES with stout rubber soles and leather in-soles, very strong and comfortable, and a great saving as against leather Working Boots.

The Summerland Review

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF SUMMERLAND, PEACHLAND AND NARAMATA

Vol. 10, No. 35. Whole No. 504.

SUMMERLAND, B.C., MARCH 28, 1918.

To Force Removal Of Dead Pole Lines

Council will Apply to Court for Order in Interests of Public Safety.

Extra Session Held Saturday.

Particulars of Basis of Kelley Appeal.—Now Busy on Flumes and Roads.

Formal notice that an application will be made by W. C. Kelley to the court at Grand Forks for leave to proceed with his appeal against the decision of the court of revision, notwithstanding the provisions of the War Relief Act, was received by the Municipal Council at an extra meeting held on Saturday forenoon. Notice was also received of his purpose to appeal to the county court to be held at Pentiction against the assessments. He will claim that the valuations and assessments as revised were made contrary to law; that the said assessments are unequal with that of surrounding lands of equal quality and utility; that said valuations and assessments are excessive; that the Court of Revision in making its decisions ignored the law and the laws of evidence governing said decisions, and that the provisions of the Municipal Act governing the completion of the Assessment Roll for the year 1918 were not complied with. The clerk was instructed to engage Cochrane & Ladner to defend the municipality.

The clerk, who had attended a special conference of the Valley municipalities at Vernon, made a brief report of the actions of the conference regarding proposed amendments to the Municipal Act.

The Public Works Committee was formally authorized to build a wooden flume along the ditch running around the west and north sides of the Kirk lot, south of Major Hutton's. The flume will connect with the existing flume further up the valley. The estimated cost is close to $600, as compared with $1,600 or more for cement work. An objection to cement in this instance is that a domestic water main is buried in the bottom of the ditch for some distance, so that it would be necessary to break the concrete for the purpose of repairing the wooden pipe, also, any leakage would cause heaving and breaking of the ditch lining in freezing weather.

By motion of Couns. White and Johnston each ditchman will be required to have a phone, the municipality paying half the cost.

Coun. Johnston reported the arrival of the pipe for the Trout Creek Point pumping system, saying the pipe was already on the ground. He proposes putting a few measuring boxes on the irrigation outlets on the pipe-lines on Jones' Flat and the level below, so as to have knowledge of the actual flow.

United Farmers

The Trout Creek local of the United Farmers of B.C. held their meeting at the schoolhouse on Thursday the 21st inst. Owing to the fact that there were several other attractions on that evening the attendance was not so large as usual. This was to be regretted, as two excellent papers were given, one by Mr J. A. Kirk on "Cement," and Mr E. T. Mountford expressed his opinion on "What Can be Grown on a Five Acre Lot."

Mr Kirk confined himself more or less to the first principles of cement work, the all-important principles, and his remarks were listened to with great interest and profit. Mr Mountford considered that a portion of a small lot, with our splendid climatic conditions, should be devoted to seed growing, and he contrasted the profits and labor in connection with this particular branch of farming, with those connected with truck crops.

The Trout Creek local propose to continue their meetings throughout the summer, but they will revert to monthly meetings, and topics of timely interest will be discussed.

Kelowna boasts 150 automobiles in that district.

and be in a better position to deal with the question of supply from the pipe line.

Asking if any further communication had been received from the Okanagan Telephone Co. regarding the dilapidated condition of its lines on our streets and roads, Coun. White reported a fallen pole lying in a dangerous position with a guy-wire suspended across the street at a level that was a menace to public safety. He feared that the municipality would some day be in for a suit for damages unless action was taken to compel the company to either remove its poles and wires or put its lines in a good state of repair. Coun. Johnston pointed out that the Okanagan Telephone Co. did not have a single employee here to look after its lines. The discussion on this subject ended in a motion by Couns. Simpson and White that an injunction be applied for compelling the removal from our streets and roads the poles and lines of the Okanagan Telephone Co. not in use. Adopted unanimously. At the suggestion of Reeve Blair it was agreed to engage C. M. Woodworth of Vancouver to act for the municipality in this instance. Mr Woodworth is a tax payer here, and has asked that he be given a share of the municipality's legal work.

Coun. Campbell, who had offered to look after the road work, was authorized to hire a team for this and other municipal work.

R. O. Blacklock, stating that he had been paying for water for 8 acres and was only working 5 acres, wrote asking for reduction of charge. Referred to Public Works Committee.

P. G. Koop wrote reporting that the road to his lower property had been entirely washed away. Referred to Public Works Committee.

Coun. Johnston reported that work had been started by Water Supt. Mitchell on the repairing of flumes and ditches.

Lantern Views Of School Work

At a special meeting of the School Board held last Saturday evening a communication was read from Mr John Kyle, Organizer of Technical Education for British Columbia, in which he advised the Board that he was coming to Summerland, in compliance with their invitation, and asked that arrangements be made for his meeting the people of Summerland and explaining to them by way of lantern views and otherwise the aims and results of including manual training and domestic science in the curriculum of the public schools. Immediate steps were taken to carry out this wish, and Mr Kyle will be heard at the College Gymnasium next Monday evening. Particulars are given in the advertisement appearing in this issue. The Board instructed the secretary to send special invitations to the reeve and councillors, and several other citizens, to be present and give short addresses after the lecture. Reeve Blair will be in the chair. Summerland is one of a very few places of its size and progressiveness that has not yet taken up with the more modern methods of child development made possible by these lines of technical education, and it is important that every interested citizen should be at Monday's meeting so as to be the better able to deal intelligently with this question, which, we believe, will be put up to the ratepayers by the School Board.

Canada will soon put into effect the "Daylight Saving" plan. The United States Daylight Saving bill goes into effect next Sunday.

Fruit Shipping by Summerland Women's Institute

The following report of the West Summerland Women's Institute Fruit shipping Committee was communicated to the Agricultural Journal by Mrs Kate Bentley:

The fruit-shipping by this Institute was first undertaken two years ago. Mrs Fosbery did the initial work in thinking and planning out the details.

The first year the result was satisfactory; the second season showed an increase; this year a much larger business was done. The members are well satisfied with the results, and realize they have made more money from their fruit than they otherwise would have done.

The business this season amounted to over $4,200; many late orders arrived when the fruit had been otherwise disposed of. Had the orders arrived in time they would have brought in another $500, and as it was, the money had to be returned to the customers.

I, as secretary of this business, have received many letters from customers who fully appreciate getting their fruit fresh from our orchards; the prices also have given satisfaction. We receive very few complaints; our rule of "Cash with order," or, in the case of an order from a Women's Institute, "cash deposited with the secretary of the Institute," has been strictly adhered to, with the result of no bad debts. This movement has been a bit of the union of women with other women in their work, and the attempt has certainly proved satisfactory.

If only the express charges were lower or a better system of freight arranged, whereby we could send fruit with assurance of its being delivered in a definite time, it would make a lot of difference to our possibilities. Fruit sent by freight in the ordinary way may be weeks on the way or may get through in a short time. This uncertainty makes it useless for any of the smaller fruits. Express freight would help us a lot if it could be relied on for certain days each week.

Peachland Fruit Union Has Very Successful Year

Larger Tonnage Brings Down Expenses.

Rebate of Six cents made Growers on each Box of Apples, Pears and Crabs.

The annual meeting of the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union was held on Wednesday evening in the Orange Hall. The president, Mr W. Douglas, was in the chair. Mr Douglas, in referring to the presence of Mr Vicary, said that Mr Vicary had helped in the formation of the Union, and was its first president. All felt extremely pleased to see him back again.

The secretary, Mr W. Dryden, read the financial report, and the following directors' report: To the shareholders. Your directors have much pleasure in submitting the fifth annual report and balance sheet for the year ending February 28th, 1918, and certified to by the Union's auditors.

FRUIT DEPARTMENT.

This department has had a very successful year. The total shipments for the season 1918 was 37,165 boxes; for the past season, 47,027 boxes. This shows an increase of 9,862 boxes over the previous year. The satisfactory prices of the season 1918 have been more than fully maintained. The profit in the food department for the twelve months is $2,010. This profit is due to the increased tonnage handled at a very small additional cost. Your directors have invested $500 in "Victory Bonds" to add to the sinking fund against the present mortgage on the Union building. The amount in this fund now is $755.59. The sum of $650 has been set aside for contingencies. A refund of charges on all apples,

Confident Fruit Pickers will be Given Reduced Fares

Vancouver. — Arrangements for the organization of the B.C. National Service Girls are now well on the way to completion. Miss Perry, the National Service Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., who has been in conference with government officials at Victoria, has returned to the mainland. She found much interest being taken on the Island in the organization of women fruit harvesters, and a bureau is open at the "Y" for registration. Those enrolling in the capital city will work during the strawberry season at Gordon Head and other Island points, continuing for other fruits if required. Any surplus of workers, or those wanted for later fruits on the Mainland, will probably come here.

Miss Perry is confident that there will be substantial reductions in railway rates which will encourage enrollment. She also anticipates little difficulty, if any, in obtaining the 2,000 women for which the government has asked. Registration in this city will open on the Tuesday after Easter at the Y.W.C.A., where all particulars will be available to those seeking information. Miss Perry found the apple-packing classes in Victoria well started and attracting much interest. She is full of enthusiasm for this summer's prospects, and her own initiative and experience has aroused the same spirit in others. She imparts a realization that this work of fruit harvesting is truly national service, and this attitude is in no small way responsible for the spirit of co-operation with which all interested appear to meet Miss Perry's efforts.

Kelowna is to have the next annual convention of the B.C. Dairy-men's Association. These are held early in each year, the last being held at Chilliwack. The year before it was at Nanaimo. An interim convention was held at Kelowna last fall. Recognition is thus given to the Okanagan as now being a factor in the dairy industry of the province.

S'land Banner Express Shipping Point for B.C.

Has Long Lead Over Hatzic, which comes Second as a Fruit Expressing District.

Okanagan Bulks Half of Total.

Arrangement of Official Statistics Nearly Lost Summerland Her Leading Position.

With one and three-quarter million pounds of fruit Summerland took a long lead as the principal shipping point in the province of fruit by express, according to a comparative statement just issued by the Department of Agriculture at Victoria.

Some of the figures contained in this statement were published in these columns some weeks ago, these being a comparative statement of the packages and weight of such shipments for the whole province for the period between 1911 and 1917 inclusive, when it was shown that 2,784,777 pounds of fruits and early vegetables had been expressed in 1911, while in 1915 this business had grown to 7,598,997 pounds. Last year it totalled 10,526,784.

Of this respectable total Okanagan and Shuswap Lake points are credited with just over half, 5,391,850 pounds.

Not only was Summerland away in the lead among the Okanagan and Shuswap points but she far outdistanced Hatzic which came second in all the province and had a total express business of 1,047,822 pounds as compared with Summerland's 1,740,143 pounds. Third and fourth places were taken by Armstrong and Pentiction respectively.

Below are given the number of packages and the weight shipped by express from the Valley points:

	Number of Packages	Weight
Summerland	66,718	1,740,143
Armstrong	863,819	804,411
Pentiction	34,365	804,411
Kelowna	30,562	757,595
Naramata	11,924	256,971
Vernon	8,497	230,074
Peachland	7,450	179,253
Okanagan Centre	2,659	62,668
Okanagan Landing	184	3,264

It will be noted that the places are named above in the order of the total weight shipped by each.

the success of this department during the past year. The sales for the year 1916 amounted to $10,248.72; for 1917, $14,871.71, an increase of $4,622.99. The expenses for 1916 amounted to $901.84; in 1917, $1,114.58. The increased turnover reduced the cost of operations from 8 1/2 per cent. in 1916 to 7 1/4 per cent. in 1917. This department shows a profit for the year of $476.11, making a total profit on both departments for the year of $3,386.21.

As no nominations had been received by the secretary the old board of directors were re-elected for 1918.

Mr Ferguson in moving a vote of thanks to the directors in appreciation of their work during the past year said that the growers should be just as quick to appreciate the good work of the directors as they would be to find fault if anything had gone wrong. He said that the directors had spent a good many days in attending to the business of the Union, and that he for one could appreciate what they had done, and that it was clearly shown that there was no lack of confidence in them because there had been no other nominations.

Mr Cutbill moved a vote of thanks to the secretary for the painstaking way he had attended to his work.

Mr McDowell, Manager of the United Growers, then addressed the meeting. He said that the Okanagan United Growers must have increased tonnage for 1918, and that they can get it by going to the growers on the 1917 record. That Kelowna and Pentiction were breaking away from the Union was not true. Speaking of the establishment of their own brokers at Winnipeg, Regina, and Calgary, he said that it was a great advantage, and that in nine months it

Of the Summerland shipments 46,829 packages weighing 1,245,551 pounds went out over the C.P.R., and 19,884 packages of 494,592 over the K.V.R.

As published by the Department the above are shown as from two distinct points, and the division thus made might have lost Summerland her premier position, but as it was the shipments over the C.P.R. were in themselves sufficient to put her at the top of the list. With the shipments over the C.P.R. listed under "S" and those of the K.V.R. under "W" another good argument is given those who are advocating that the division in statistics be remedied by having but the one name, Summerland, or that Summerland, West be adopted instead of West Summerland as at present.

C.P.R. Officials Coming To Talk Traffic Matters

Next Thursday, April 4th, an important meeting of C.P.R. traffic officers and fruit and vegetable shippers will be held at Kelowna, when any person or organization desiring to place any matter before these officers will be given the opportunity to do so, either in person, or through the local agent. Below is a copy of a letter on the subject received by C.P.R. Agent Sharpe from Gen. Supt. F. W. Peters:

Vancouver, B.C.,
March 25th, 1918.

Agent, Summerland, B.C.

A meeting is to be held in Kelowna on April 4th at which our traffic and operating officers will be present to discuss any matters affecting the fruit and vegetable traffic for the coming season, such as minimums; the loading of cars; and the class of equipment.

You might mention this to anyone interested in this traffic at your station, and say to them that if there is any matter which they want brought before our officers, and they will give you a memorandum, you will have it placed before us; or, if any of the parties care to be in Kelowna, we will, of course, be glad to see them, and hear anything they have to say on the subject; the object being to have a clear understanding as to what our regulations will be so that the misunderstandings that arose last season will not be repeated.

F. W. PETERS,
General Superintendent.

B. Steuart Buys Morfitt Orchard

The Morfitt orchard on Jones' Flat was purchased this week by B. Steuart. Mr Morfitt went out to Calgary yesterday to spend a few days in that city attending to some business matters. Possession of the house and garden will remain with the former owner until next August, and Mrs Morfitt and the family will remain here until then.

When seen by the Review shortly after the sale had been made, Mr Morfitt was feeling very much broken up over the prospects of having to surrender his orchard in which he has taken so much pride, and in leaving Summerland, business reasons having made it necessary that he live elsewhere. He has great confidence in the future of the district, and is satisfied that many of our orchards, now reaching the age of good production, will make splendid returns to their owners, particularly those places on which the fertility of the soil has been kept up by cover-cropping.

FOOD VALUE OF THE POTATO.

PEOPLE WHO WISH TO HELP in food conservation should consider potatoes as a partial substitute for wheat flour. Potatoes are the chief staple of the semi-perishable foods. We Canadians do not eat our fair share of potatoes even in normal times. We have been largely a wheat, beef, and pork consuming people. These staples are now required for overseas, and it behooves us to substitute other foods for them whenever possible. We consume, perhaps, two and one-half bushels of potatoes per capita per year, or about one-third of a pound per day—equal to one fair-sized potato. In some European countries one pound per day per capita is consumed, and in some districts four pounds per day, nearly twenty-six bushels per year.

Despite the increase in price since the war, potatoes are still among the cheapest of foods. One pound of roast beef costs at least ten times as much as a pound of potatoes, and twenty per cent. of beef is bone. Three and a third pounds of potatoes supply 1,000 calories of energy, at a cost of less than 10 cents, while about 2,500 calories are required for full grown persons working indoors. That is to say, if all foods were as cheap as potatoes we could live on 25 cents a day. Healthy men have lived and worked for months on a diet of nothing else than potatoes, oleomargarine and a little fruit. Potatoes contain protein of the very best kind. They also contain mineral salts which neutralize harmful acids in the body. The food material in potatoes is 98 per cent. digestible.

Canada has large supplies of potatoes, carrots, onions, and turnips, and by consuming these vegetables freely we can economize with bread.

More than 300 ways of cooking potatoes are known. They combine well with many flavors. They can be used to economical advantage with meat and fish, in stews, croquettes, hash, chowders, meat pies, etc. One half a cup of mashed potatoes and two cups of flour make a bread mixture that helps the flour to go further.

Good cooks know the ways of using potatoes are various—boiled, steamed, lyonnaise, baked, chipped, fried, hashed brown, creamed, scalloped, stuffed, au gratin, and scores of combinations.

Canada has plenty of potatoes, and although the price may be high compared to normal times it is not high in comparison with other foods in war time.

MOTOR CAR A NECESSITY.

ACCORDING TO AN EASTERN AUTHORITY who has knowledge of the prevailing conditions throughout Canada, the automobile has become a necessity, "not only in the city, but on the farm, and it is in its use in the rural districts that the biggest development of the immediate future is bound to occur. I noticed this especially in the West, where the farmer whose holding is ten, fifteen, twenty or more miles from the railway, is, by the possession of an auto, placed in as favorable a position as the man whose farm is situated along the right of way. I would like to combat the mistaken idea that there is a prospective scarcity of gasoline, which has given rise to rumors that the government may restrict the use of automobiles as a conservative measure. Gasoline is a by-product of the process of refining crude oil into fuel oil. The latter is being produced to-day in enormous quantities for the use of oil-burning vessels of the British and United States navies, and as a result the output of gasoline is perhaps greater than ever before. There is no intention on the part of the United States Government to restrict the legitimate use of gasoline, although consumers are being urged to avoid waste, such as is incurred, for instance, by leaving an engine running during prolonged stops. It has been estimated that if each car owner by reasonable economy saves 1 1/2 pints on each filling of his tank, the resultant saving would supply the entire demand of the government. The same computation would doubtless apply to the Canadian situation."

CANADA IN WARTIME.

THE MAGNIFICENT QUALITY of the sacrifice made by Canadians on the Western fighting front is pretty well fixed in the minds of all who have followed the record of the war, says the New York Sun. The offering of 10,000 lives at Ypres alone was a glorious deed, but it has been followed up by the steady support of the Dominion wherever called upon to carry arms. Moreover, the support given by Canadians in Canada is not to be considered less important than her faithful service in France. We are just beginning to realize, in the United States, how integral and necessary a part of the work of war is the industrial and economic and financial work which is done far back of the fighting front. The devotion and sacrifice of the Canadian people at home has been so great as to command unqualified admiration. Their devotion has resulted in splendid achievement, and has, incidentally, brought gratifying consequences to communities and individuals. In a word, it has paid them well, both in concrete results for war supplies of all kinds and in maintaining and bettering the general morale of the civilian.

A branch of the K.V.R., costing over a million dollars, is to be built out from Princeton to Copper Mountain to bring in the rich ore being mined there by the Copper Company.

It is said that a man could easily carry a million pounds if the money was in £1,000 notes. It is worth while for every man to know this, so as to be prepared for an emergency.

Current Events of Town and District

"Afternoon Tea in Friendly Village," an amateur play that had been staged at Penticon by the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church of that place, was repeated here on Monday evening for the benefit of the Naramata Church. The hall was well filled, several friends coming up by motor with the performers, and quite a number were present from Summerland, having come over by special ferry, while our own people were out in good numbers. The play, which was exceptionally well carried through by the visiting ladies, assisted by several gentlemen, was greatly enjoyed by all, as were also the other numbers of the program, which included a piano duet by Mrs Walters and Mrs Languedoc, a vocal solo by Mrs Ewing, a reading by Mrs Hayward, and a piano solo by Mrs Walters. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the kind friends through whose instrumentality the funds of the local church were augmented to the extent of $45.

After spending the winter in California and looking into fruit growing conditions there Capt. and Mrs Languedoc have returned to Naramata well satisfied to continue in the fruit growing business here. The city of San Francisco, says the captain, takes only five standard varieties of apples in any quantity in the large shipments that go to that city from the famous Yakima Valley. These he took particular interest in, and is convinced that South Okanagan can equal or excel the Yakima in the quality of its apples. Fruit growers in the southern state have much more to contend with than they do here. In

Dairy Calves Will Be Saved

Government Has Scheme To Purchase Heifer Calves That Else Would Be Killed.

The Provincial Land Settlement Board is working upon a scheme that it is expected will do much toward developing the dairy industry in the B.C. Interior. The scheme will be applied only in sections where conditions appear to be favorable to dairying, and where the farmers and ranchers show a disposition to enter the dairy field.

The board proposes that the government shall purchase every heifer calf of anything like milk strain, that would otherwise be slaughtered, and to place these animals with farmers who are not at present in the dairying industry extensively or at all.

one place visited there were miles of orchards of Yellow Newtowns, but so infested with pests were they, that not a packing house is operated in the whole district, every bit of the crop going to the evaporators.

We are glad to learn that A. H. Hook, one of our ranch-owners, is soon coming to Naramata to reside. Beside fruit trees he has taken up in quite a large way the growing of strawberries, and will give considerable attention to this line.

Canadian Battle-Front Sermon

Like a bomb in a secluded dug-out dropped the words of one of our best-known padres, as he delivered his anniversary sermon on Sunday, August 6th.

"As this Sabbath marks the beginning of the fourth year of war, you may expect me to pray for peace," rang the clear voice of this man who had left his pulpit, and spent two years right with the boys in France. "But I don't pray for peace. I pray for war, war, and more war, until we are fit for victory."

Would that this sermon could be written word for word on the minds and hearts of every British subject and the subjects of our Allies. That we are but tools in God's hands, carrying out God's work, was his contention. Germany had so philosophized Jesus Christ out of her national and individual life that God had found it necessary to stamp her out, her false creeds and material beliefs, her idea that might is right, and that the weak have no right to exist. But we would never be victorious, we would never win this war, until we ourselves were fit for victory, until we wiped out the same creeds and beliefs which we have been accepting and living by for years; until we went forth a clean, God-fearing army, backed by a powerful God-fearing nation.

Ours was the lot to execute God's commands and punish the nation that, leaving Christ and a real religion out of its life, was responsible for the same attitude to a lesser degree throughout the world. But until we ourselves are made pure, and in simple faith accept our duty as God's wish, He would not permit us to be victorious.

Truly the sermon had a lasting effect. Every man fortunate enough to hear it, sat in rigid attention, drinking in the words of this spirited Canadian padre. It was no "wishy washy pulpit talk." It was man to man among soldiers who had faced death and God day by day as the enemy shells roared and crashed around them. The speaker was the padre who had seen two years of Canadian fighting in France, who had gone over the top on several occasions with the boys, and who had knelt in prayer with Sir Julian Byng, beloved and respected of commanders, when after all other preparations had been completed, he sent for the padre and spent a half hour in humble petition and prayer for his boys, before he issued the word that would start the roar of the artillery barrage and send the infantry scrambling over the top to the assault.

Truly it was a glorified fatalism that the padre expounded on that anniversary Sunday morning—the belief that we are doing God's work and will not be victorious until we are fit for victory.

Was the padre right?—Canadian Courier.

Packers Get What They Earn

Says Local Fruit Packer Now Teaching at Coast.

Miss Warne Gets Into Print On Fruit Matters.

Miss Warne, who is now teaching packing classes in Vancouver, and, incidentally, Summerland, were given quite a "write-up" on the Woman's Page of last Thursday's Province. In part it was as follows:

An expert fruit packer in the person of Miss Warne of Summerland is in the city this week to take the government classes in apple packing.

Miss Warne has had five years' experience with the Summerland Fruit Union packing house, and is quite in love with the work as a business for women. That it is a business in the real sense of the word, and not a mere pastime with which one can make large sums of money after two weeks' training may be gathered in the course of a short conversation with her; but also that it is eminently suitable for women, and with experience a good income may be earned.

There are long hours in the busy season, said Miss Warne, when answering questions as to prospects for the novice. The packer must be strong, able to stand at the boxes for many hours, and also must learn to work with speed. Miss Warne had no hesitation in acquiescing with the suggestion that the average worker during her first season could not expect to make large wages, and that she would be doing well if she made $2 a day with which to pay her room and board. Women who find themselves particularly adapted to the work might do better, even in their first season, but they have to be prepared to do good work with speed.

"It is just like everything else," declared Miss Warne, "you get what you are worth, nobody is going to give you anything."

Miss Warne made it plain that there was only room in Summerland's packing houses for efficient workers, and that pickers would be needed in larger numbers. As she had not worked in connection with the picking she could only say that as far as she knew the growers were well satisfied with the women last summer, and that they would be needed in even greater numbers this year.

She was glad there was to be no importation of Oriental labor, as she felt that the women would become accustomed to the outdoor life, and be glad to resume it each year. Hitherto a great deal of the packing had been done by local people, girls at Normal School, or studying during the winter months, returning to the land in the summer.

Many young orchards were coming into bearing, creating a demand for more labor, and there was a good market, apparently, on the prairies, said Miss Warne, explaining that the fruit farmers' prospects were bright. Apple packing begins about September, but the packing houses are busy with the small fruits from cherry time. There would not be much demand for the amateur for the small fruit, she thought, help for the apple crop being likely to be the most needed.

Tomatoes in large quantities would be sought by the canneries this summer, said Miss Warne, and Summerland people were apparently awake to the possibilities of tomato growing. In the dry, hot weather they ripen well, and offer a profitable field of investment.

The apple packing school is working with a vim under Miss Warne's able supervision, and as she quietly moves among the students she has a helpful word of encouragement for all.

Occasionally she gives a demonstration of what familiarity with the round, red fruit will do in the way of quickly filling a box with neatly wrapped apples. Many pairs of eyes watch her enviously as she carelessly tosses an apple from one hand to the other, deftly wraps it with a turn of the wrist, and places it in the box, while the right hand has already selected the next one.

The Importance Of Seed Testing

In these days of stress it is important that no labor shall be lost in agricultural production, therefore we must be sure that none is wasted at the start of production, viz., with the seed. Few in normal times take the trouble to do any seed testing—just taking a chance that the seed has good germination power. To-day, when stocks of seeds are low, it is known that seed of fairly low vitality is being put on the market the world over, so that it is very essential that germination tests be made.

Seed testing is a very simple matter. Count out 100 seeds, place them between folds of moist flannel or blotting paper, and place these between two plates; keep in a warm room, and count the sprouts at from three to six days, and so determine the percentage of germination. Beans, corn and large seeds should be tested between folds of flannel, ordinary vegetable seeds and grain between blotting paper. Start the children off at seed testing, it will interest them to procure this useful information. Official certificate of germination can be obtained by sending sample of seeds to J. A. Fryer, Dominion Seed Analyst, Calgary.

There were several surprises in store for those who imagined apple packing was child's play, but soon all settled down patiently to demonstrate that only "practice makes perfect."

Boy Scout Column

The first meeting of the local Boy Scouts since their re-organization was held last Friday evening in the College-Gymnasium.

There was a good turnout, practically all the old Scouts being there, as well as several recruits.

After the boys had been lined up they were given a short talk by the Scoutmaster, after which Rev. H. A. Solly read over the Scout Law, fully explaining the meaning of it.

What was expected of the new troop was also explained to the boys. Several of the business men of Summerland have promised to aid the Scouts in training them for the different badges, while ex-Sergeant F. A. C. Wright has kindly consented to be drill instructor.

The whole troop is being thoroughly re-organized, and all "slackers" are to be weeded out.

All old Tenderfeet have to thoroughly re-pass their Tenderfoot examinations before April 5th, or if they are not keen enough to do so they can drop out until they are given another chance.

New recruits will have to pass their examinations also within a given time. The examinations are part writing and part verbal, while a percentage of 85 is required.

As last year, the Scouts will gather up old rubber, etc., for patriotic purposes, and citizens are asked to save until the roads are in better condition. This will be advertised in the Review later, however.

The next meeting will be Friday, April 5th, when the Tenderfoot examinations will be written.

"AMEN, PARSON!"

The Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton is saying to the men who are building ships for the United States, "Germans? I say to hell with the Germans! You fellows are doing a work here as important as the work of the men in the trenches, and you've got to realize it. You are going to get a lot of spies here. They'll creep in. If you ever come across a man with a bomb don't say to him, 'Come outside, brother, and let us pray.' Don't slap him on the wrist. Trust him up, take him out to the meadows, place his damned bomb on his chest and then stand off a few feet and watch him get blown to hell." Amen, Parson; by G-d, amen!

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING RIGHTS of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

"WHAT IS BEHIND IT?"

The Editor, Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,
Your editorial of last week, under above heading, although somewhat late to aid in checking the pro-German efforts of the "International Bible Students' Association," against Canada's war efforts, will doubtless have the effect of causing well-meaning people among us to think carefully before signing any petition that may be presented to them.

A week or so ago we had in Peachland one of these I. B. S. A. friends of Germany. He is a smart fellow, wide-awake throughout, glib and plausible of tongue. In behalf of freedom of speech and religious liberty he sought signatures to the petition you refer to. He came into the Council Chamber here. There were only two friends and myself present. He handed his petition to me. I began reading the few lines with which it opened, making a brief running comment upon it the while. Coming to the term "Liberty" I asked if it was "Liberty" or "License" he was after. He immediately saw the point, snatched his precious document from my hands, and rushed from the room as if smitten by a plague, exclaiming: "I don't want your names; I don't want your names." As a parting shot I called after him that if I had my way he and his friends would be placed behind bars to be taken care of.

He gave me no time to read the full list of signatures he had obtained, but I did catch the names of a few of our prominent citizens, names which I feel sure would not have appeared there had their owners taken the trouble to think of the purport of what they were signing. It is to be hoped that these people will take your advice and write to the Press Censor at Ottawa, "asking that their names be expunged from the petition." If this course be taken, your editorial, although belated, will prove to be far from fruitless.

I do not personally know, but it is rumored here that the way for the petition being signed was paved by someone from Penticton a few days prior to its presentation. As just intimated, I cannot vouch for the accuracy of this, but no harm can be done if our good citizens of that thriving place keep a sharp look-out there with a view to preventing the spread of that disloyalty which this misnamed liberty of speech and religious freedom is so well calculated to foster.

Don't postpone ordering fruit trees for Spring 1919 delivery, until Fall; ORDER NOW. B.C. Nurseries Co., Ltd., tf

Lieut. Ronald Snider, who has been here on a visit to his parents, left on Tuesday for Vancouver. After spending a week in that city he will start for the east on his way to re-join his regiment, the Royal Marine Infantry.

It is said that well over 100 acres of Summerland soil will be devoted to tomatoes this season. Prospects of good prices, in fact, high prices for cannery stuff, are already assured, is greatly stimulating this branch of horticulture.

The date for the West Summerland 500 Club Dance has been definitely fixed for Thursday evening next. As are the other funds of this club, the proceeds of the dance will be devoted to patriotic work, the entire net proceeds being for the Red Cross.

Fifteen tons of potatoes were this week loaded into a car here for shipment to Calgary. Half the quantity was produced by the shipper, Reeve Blair, and the other half was gathered up by the Stewart Fruit Co. This is the first time that potatoes in any quantity have been shipped from here.

In fact, it is but a few years since several carloads were required to augment those grown here in order to satisfy local needs. We understand that $32 a ton f.o.b. is being received for the shipment.

A. E. Smith and family have moved from the Rivington place to the Gaffney cottage near Miss Dale's.

Pte. Bert Nelson, who has returned to the Coast after a visit to his home here, is now in hospital for an operation on his wounded knee.

Mrs O. F. Zimmerman returned on Wednesday morning after a month's visit with her parents, Col. and Mrs Cartwright, now in Victoria. Her health is much improved by the change. Mrs and Miss Cartwright are planning to return to their home here next week.

A Swede, Richardson by name, is in the Summerland hospital in a very critical condition of health. He is a laborer who has worked at Kelowna, Penticton, and at the mill here, and had but recently returned to Summerland. Little is known of him, as to whether he has any relatives or friends in this country. It is doubtful if he can recover.

Down at Hood River the wives and daughters of the horticulturists have donned overalls and are assisting in spraying and pruning. The exodus of skilled labor as a result of enlistments is very serious, and many non-resident orchard owners are leasing their places to Japanese, owing to inability to find Americans in a position to operate them.

Some days ago a wagon drawn by a team became so tangled up in fallen telephone wires, said to be a part of the old Lakeshore lines, and which had fallen on the roadway, that it was necessary to use nippers to release one of the wheels, which had caught up the wire and had wound it round and round the axle. Action to remove these dangerous wires has been taken by the Council none too soon.

A full house on Saturday and again on Tuesday witnessed good performances on the movie stage at The Rialto. The able playing of the well-known artist, Ethel Barrymore, in "The White Raven" on Tuesday was particularly well received. Every performance at the local picture house is being well patronized, in fact, interest in the good line of pictures that is being shown seems to be increasing.

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute was held last Friday afternoon in the Elliott Hall, with a good attendance. Roll Call was answered with Irish quotations. After the Institute business was gone through Rev. A. Henderson gave a most interesting talk on "Feminism," which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Mrs Solly followed with a brief talk on the "Significance of Easter," after which she read a paper on "Food Conservation," which contained many useful hints. A social time terminated an interesting and profitable afternoon.

All retail grocers will, after May 1st, need to have a license from the Canada Food Board in order to legally transact business. Retail meat dealers, bakers, produce dealers, flour and feed dealers, fruit and vegetable dealers, and fish dealers, must have their retail licenses by May 15th.

The pool rooms act has been amended by the Victoria Government so that instead of a flat fee, pool-rooms will in future be charged "a fee of twenty-five dollars for one table for the playing of pool, billiards, bagatelle, or other similar game kept in such pool-room, together with a fee of ten dollars for each additional table so kept."

Irrigation rates at Penticton are considerably higher than those charged by the Municipality of Summerland. There the minimum charge is $5. For one acre, $10; above one acre and up to 3 acres, $5 per acre, and above 3 acres $4.25 per acre. Thus a 10 acre orchard would pay $42.50 as compared with our new rate of $30.

Selections from Ralph Connor's "Black Rock" are to be used in an elocution contest by a number of young people of school age. The contest will be under the auspices of the W.C.T.U., which organization will issue silver medals to the winners. The program will be augmented by music, etc. Further particulars of the entertainment, which is to be held on April 8th, will be announced next week.

A fog bank which had settled down over the lake near Kelowna was the cause of the grounding of the steamer "Siamous" on Monday morning. The big boat was proceeding at good speed and had turned in toward the eastern shore, heading, as the officers believed, for the wharf at Kelowna, when suddenly she grounded, and ran with considerable force into the mud. The location proved to be at the mouth of the creek some distance this side of the wharf. This was the cause for her late return that night.

The Young Women's Christian Association is co-operating with the Provincial Government in organizing girls and women for fruit picking and other work on the land for the coming season. Registration begins on Tuesday, April 2nd, at Y. W. C. A. Buildings, Victoria, Vancouver, and New Westminster. Any local help that can be secured in the rural districts should be registered with the Women's Institutes in such districts. Two thousand girls at least will be required for this work. All applications for such help should be made to the Labor Department, Provincial Government, Victoria, B.C. The girls and women are willing and anxious to undertake this work, and the success of the movement is already assured.

Will Soon Have Orchestral Music

Five violins, piano, drum, small drum and traps, trombone and horn. These are the instruments comprised in an orchestra organized here some time ago, and which has been making good progress of late in its weekly practices.

To J. A. Read, who is conductor and first violinist, is due the credit for this commendable movement in attempting to get together an organization that will fill a great need in the life of the community.

Others in the new orchestra are: pianist, H. Davidson; violinists, B. L. Hatfield, F. Anderson, O. Atkins, and M. Tait; drums and traps, J. J. Blewitt; trombone, J. W. S. Logie; horn, R. Hatfield. It is expected that the number will be added to. A cornet player and a celloist are needed.

Some of the instruments being used by the orchestra are from the collection of the once famous Summerland Brass Band and loaned by the municipality.

Some good playing is now being done by this new group of local musical talent, and we shall soon hear of them as being ready to furnish the music for dances and other public functions.

PEACHLAND FRUIT UNION HAS VERY SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

had reduced the selling costs by $10,000, and that in the next two or three years it would go a long way towards paying the cost of selling the crop.

Mr C. L. Lowe, sales manager of the Okanagan United Growers, then spoke. He told how the Growers' Sales Agency had secured the general sales agency for one of the biggest shipping organizations on the American continent, including the North-West Fruit Exchange, and what a wonderful thing it was for the Okanagan. He said that he did not believe they realized the power it gave our people on the prairies. To illustrate the power of co-operation he said that nine years ago the California orange growers were in a worse position than the Okanagan growers could ever be, but to-day they were the most prosperous people in the world because of organization. The Sunkist Orange is known from coast to coast, and the Exchange has a broker in every city which puts a stop to dishonesty on the part of an unscrupulous dealer.

Our brokers have this same power. Talking of cash buyers he said that they always came around with tales of bad conditions for the future, and would argue that a good year is always followed by a bad one. Some people complained of the lack of cash buyers, but the cash buyer had shot the Ontario apple market all to pieces. Co-operation is the only safety for the grower.

Mr J. A. Grant, Prairie Markets Commissioner for B.C., then spoke. He also urged the necessity of organization. He gave a lot of information about the selling end of the business, and told how the growers could improve conditions for themselves by adopting a standard package for soft fruits, and putting the net weight on the outside. Never send out anything underweight, but rather put in a little extra. He advised specialization. If each district just went in for a few varieties of fruit—the ones that district could grow better than any other—there would be no difficulty about marketing. He said that he was told that there were a great many varieties of apples grown in Peachland, but advised that only a few standard varieties be planted in future, such as the Ontario, Wagner, and McIntosh Red, which latter could not be overdone.

Mr Powell, in moving a vote of thanks to the speakers, which was seconded by Mr Hardy, said that when he was at Victoria rumors got around to the effect that the Okanagan United Growers was going bust. Mr Oliver heard it, and plainly got scared, and spoke to Mr Scott about it. Mr Scott got into communication with Mr Trask, and they went over the whole situation. Mr Trask convinced Mr Oliver that it was the hand of an enemy. Mr Oliver said "you can tell those fruit growers in the Okanagan that if they do not hang together they will hang separately."

That is the keystone of the whole business. That is the message of this evening, let us take it away with us.

The adjourned meeting of the Farmers' Institute was held in the Council Chamber on Friday night. There was a good turnout of members and a good deal of discussion took place as to the advisability of amalgamating the B.C. Fruit Growers and Farmers' Institute, resulting in a decision to unite the two organizations. It was thought that it would be better to have the two in one so that the business of both could be transacted and would result in a better attendance. T. Powell was re-elected president; L. D. McCall re-elected as vice-president, and Dr Buchanan re-elected as secretary-treasurer. R. J. Hogg, J. T. Long, A. N. Pope and S. Murdin as the executive. A resolution, passed at the annual meeting raising the fee to $1, which entitles each member to a yearly subscription to the Agricultural Journal, was endorsed by this meeting.

MERCHANTS in the smaller towns sometimes say of business conditions that "there is nothing doing," and that "it would be a waste of money to advertise." They complain that their particular businesses could not be improved by publicity. The following expression of opinion, made recently by the manager of one of the large Mail Order concerns speaks for itself:

"WE HAVE A BUREAU WHOSE DUTY IT IS TO READ THE COUNTRY PAPERS. THERE IS NOT A PAPER OF ANY CONSEQUENCE IN OUR TERRITORY WE DO NOT GET. THE BUREAU LOOKS OVER THESE PAPERS AND WHEN WE FIND A TOWN WHERE THE MERCHANTS DO NOT ADVERTISE IN THEIR LOCAL PAPERS, OR WHERE ADVERTISERS DO NOT CHANGE THEIR ADVERTISEMENTS REGULARLY, WE IMMEDIATELY FLOOD THAT SECTION WITH LITERATURE. IT ALWAYS BRINGS RESULTS FAR IN EXCESS OF THE SAME EFFORTS PUT FORTH IN TERRITORY WHERE THE LOCAL MERCHANTS USE THE LOCAL PAPERS."

No doubt if a tally were kept of the amount of money sent to these Mail Order stores from day to day from Peachland, Summerland, and Naramata it would show that there is indeed a lot of money being spent; but it is going to those firms who make a bid for the business—those firms who know the value of advertising, and who do not hesitate to spend one dollar to get five.

Local Stores have a Big Advantage

They can appeal to the people very forcibly in many respects. They can point out numerous advantages in buying at home, where the public can examine the goods, and where they do not have to wait a couple of weeks to get them. But such a large proportion of business houses fail to do this! They sit in despair while the Mail Order Houses do a rushing business and gather in the CASH.

Mr. Home Merchant, the business is yours if you will go after it.

The Review

will gladly co-operate with you in curtailing this heavy drain on our cash resources.
