Death was Caused By Asphyxiation

Tragic Passing of O. E. Tomlin. Had been in poor health.

The coroner's jury hastily summoned last Friday at Penticton to hold an inquest over the body of O. E. Tomlin, of Kaleden, who had been found dead beside the engine in the "Mallard," which plies between Okanagan Falls and South Penticton, brought in a verdict of poisoning by gas fumes. Mr Tomlin was making a night run, as it is the experience that the waters of Dog Lake are invariably calmer at night than in the day time, and he had probably passed Kaleden about midnight. He failed to arrive at South Penticton at the expected time, and Mr A. S. Hatfield, by whom Mr Tomlin was employed, started out in search. He found the boat floating idly on the lake just below the wharf, and on boarding it was shocked to find the dead body of Mr Tomlin lying beside the engine.

Mr Hatfield immediately notified the coroner, and a jury was empanelled, which visited the scene of the sad occurrence. In the meantime Dr McGregor had made an autopsy and reported that Mr Tomlin had come to his death by poisoning, caused by the fumes from the distillate used as fuel in the engine. After hearing all the evidence the jury brought in a verdict of poisoning, along the lines of Dr McGregor's report.

Mr Tomlin, it is reported, had been in ailing health for some time, and it is the opinion that his physical condition aggravated the effect of the poison fumes on his system, and that when death came it was sudden. He had been in charge of the "Mallard" for over two years, and was a trusted and valued employee of the Southern Okanagan Transportation Company, genial and courteous to all travellers and patrons who had reason to travel with him.

The funeral took place from the family residence in Kaleden last Sunday afternoon, and was attended by a number from Summerland. The long line of mourners who followed the cortege to the cemetery gave silent testimony to the esteem in which Mr Tomlin was held throughout the large district which he served so well. Rev. A. Grievie of the Baptist Church, Penticton, performed the last rites over the bier. Mr Tomlin was 44 years old.

New Pastor at St. Andrew's Church

Rev. W. H. Bates has accepted the call to the pastorate of St Andrew's Church here, and took up his new duties this week. He will preach his first sermon, as pastor, next Sunday morning. The quality and forcefulness of his preaching are already well-known to many Summerland people. For his sermons on Sunday morning and Sunday evening he has chosen most timely topics, as will be noted in the formal announcement elsewhere in this number.

Before coming to the Okanagan, Mr Bates had won for himself considerable fame as a speaker, his last regular pastorate being that of St Paul's Presbyterian Church, Vancouver.

Ill health made it advisable that he leave the Coast, and for a time he lived at Armstrong, coming to Summerland about a year ago. During part of last winter he was in charge of a church in the Kelowna district, and resigned there to take charge of the church in Summerland, his home town.

The Canadian Y.M.C.A. has secured the rental of the old Tivoli Theatre site on the Strand, London, on which it will erect a building at a cost of $75,000. This exceptional site will be an advertisement for Canada, will serve a useful purpose during the demobilization, and is the one thing necessary to complete the chain of work for our soldiers overseas.

Over 300 halibut boats are working out of Prince Rupert, the great fish city of Canada.

German Prisoners taken by French

German prisoners captured during a French attack, being marched under guard of French cavalry to the rear. It is noted that the French cavalrymen are wearing their steel helmets.

Wanted At Once, $100.

Red X Tag Day to Raise Needed Funds.

Arrangements are now completed for making Saturday a "tag day" for local Red Cross funds. The raising of one hundred dollars at once is essential if the faithful workers of the local Red Cross organizations are to be provided with wool for making socks. This commodity is steadily growing scarcer, and more difficult to obtain. A chance of getting a good supply of wool has come to the ladies which they feel they should not let pass. Accordingly they have enlisted the services of a number of girls attending the Central School to help on Saturday. You will find it a practical impossibility to avoid these young ladies—even if you wish to, so be prepared in order not to give disappointment to the first one who finds you still untagged.

Closes Its Most Successful Year

A splendid showing has been made for the past year both in attendance and financially by the Lakeside Union Sunday School, according to the report presented at the annual meeting last night, an extract of which was kindly furnished the Review by the secretary, Mr L. McLaughlin.

The membership has been steadily growing, the highest attendance on any one Sunday during the school year just closed being 186. The average for the year has been 91. The total receipts from all sources was $322 58. Several funds have been aided in addition to meeting the usual expenses of the school. To the Halifax Relief Fund was contributed $35; $40.50 to the relief of suffering Armenians; $20.15 to the Barnardo Orphan Homes; $18.25 to the Y.M.C.A., and $35 to Christian Missions.

The members of the Summerland Lawn Tennis Club will open the season on Saturday afternoon when the first play will be held on the club courts. At the annual meeting of the club held recently, officers were elected as follows: Hon. President, Mrs R. H. Agur; President, P. G. Koop; Vice-President, E. R. Faulder; Secretary, H. M. Lumsdon; Committee, Messrs Dodwell and Higgin and Mrs May, and Messrs. Dodwell, May, and Theod.

More than 60,000 cups of hot tea and coffee are distributed daily in France by the Y.M.C.A. free. The estimated cost for this service for eight months is $48,000.

At the second session of the fourteenth parliament of B.C., closed last week, 114 acts were passed and assented to.

E. D. Barrow Now Minister of Agriculture.

Member For Chilliwack. A Practical Farmer, Heads Important Department.

Mr E. D. Barrow, member for Chilliwack, whose appointment to the position was forecasted last week, has been sworn in as Minister of Agriculture.

Mr Barrow, who is an ex-Mayor of Chilliwack, and for years one of the most successful farmers of that fertile district, succeeds to the portfolio dropped by the Hon. John Oliver, the latter finding the cares of the Premiership enough without this added responsibility.

It is the intention of the Premier to hereafter devote his attention to the Premiership and the Department of Railways.

Mr Barrow has been a resident of the Chilliwack district for a number of years, during which time he engaged in farming. He is a practical farmer, and, in addition, has demonstrated his business attributes by the successful manner in which he organized the co-operative movement here among the farmers, with the result that in the dairy branches especially the district has benefited very materially.

The Red Triangle

More than 150,000 magazines are distributed free every month by Y.M.C.A. Estimated cost $15,000.

Within a thousand yards of German guns; in positions which are continually under shell fire, Y.M.C.A. workers are courageously performing heroic duties.

There are over one hundred pianos in Y.M.C.A. camps in England and France; also 300 gramophones, and 27 moving picture machines.

Ten days after the Canadians began their Somme offensive, the Y.M.C.A. had thirty-seven centres operating on the battlefields. New marquees, transportation and depreciation cost for this one move $84,000.

In a recent campaign for the "Red Triangle" with the American armies over $55,000,000 was raised to supply the recreation, social, religious, and other needs of the men, to be conducted by the Red Triangle. There is a Red Triangle man and hut wherever the Sammie goes on duty or leave. It is the nearest approach of home influences for the lonely boys "over there." In fact, the doughty Y.M.C.A. men go right into the trenches with the doughboys, with their packs of reading matter, small games, and refreshments, not to mention the stocks of stationery to enable the boys to keep in touch with home.

Building Big Packing and Storage House

At a meeting on Wednesday of the shareholders of the Vernon Fruit Union it was unanimously decided to form a company to be known as "The Vernon Storage Co., Ltd.," for the purpose of erecting a big fruit warehouse to accommodate the growing needs of the Union.

The building will be 250 x 150 in size, with a frost-proof basement and first floor. It will be capable of storing upwards of 250 cars of fruit. Building operations will be started at an early date.

Three Day Campaign Begins Next Tuesday

Twelve Hundred Dollars is Asked from Summerland to help the Y.M.C.A. Carry on at the Battle-front.

Committee has succeeded in getting Lieut. Whittaker to give his interesting story on Saturday Night. Contributions already coming in.

Everything is now in readiness for the opening of the big Red Triangle drive in Summerland, final organization having been completed at a meeting of the committee held on Wednesday afternoon. Having, after careful consideration of the situation, agreed upon twelve hundred dollars as the objective for the local canvassers, the territory was laid out for the volunteer canvassers, so that the work could be done thoroughly and expeditiously on the three days, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of next week, set for the canvass.

Summerland is fortunate in being able to hear Lieut. Whittaker, a returned soldier with exceptional platform ability, who has come to the Valley to tell of the indispensable part the "Y" is filling in the lives of the soldiers at the front. It was at first stated to be impossible to get him here, all his time being filled; but, with much satisfaction, the committee was advised that by some rearrangement, he would be available for Saturday night. Plans were at once laid to give the people of Summerland an opportunity to hear Lieut. Whittaker.

A program of music has also been promised by the Choral Union without charge, and the committee decided that no admission fee should be asked nor collection taken. Lieut. Whittaker will doubtless be greeted with a full house. An advertisement elsewhere in these columns gives all particulars.

So few there are who have not relatives at the front who have told them of the splendid work the "Y" is doing "over there" and in the training camps that practically all know of the social centres, the rest rooms, the trench huts where everything possible is done for the soldiers' comfort, and the successful effort of the big organization to provide for the needs and comforts of the men.

Summerland has made an enviable record for itself as a community that most generously responds to the many pressing calls for help, and it is taken for granted that the $1,200 which is looked for from here will be obtained, and perhaps exceeded.

At the request of some of those present at the last meeting of the committee the list has already been opened and about three hundred dollars has been already voluntarily subscribed. Mr C. N. Higgin, one of the canvassers was the first to contribute, and has given $50.

Others who have come forward, and the sums offered are: J. L. Hilborn, $40; W. C. Kelley, $40; Dr Andrew, $30; R. H. Helmer, $30; Reeve I. Blair, $40; H. Scott, $20; W. Ritchie, $20, and W. T. Broad, $20.

No one should miss the opportunity of hearing Lieut. Whittaker's interesting story on Saturday, when they can better judge for themselves just what support each should give the Y.M.C.A.

Victor Hugo declared that there is nothing in history more fascinating and wonderful than the realization of "an idea whose time has come." Men are at the crossways of the world's events and speaking their views and reactions to history now in the making.

Leon Trotsky, in wide, bold strokes, sketches a world in which the contradictions between feudal autocracy and modern industry are so vast that existing governments cannot function and the nations at war represent natural law striving after a new form of government and of economic society.

Charles M. Schwab, addressing a public school alumni association, asserts that "we are at the threshold of a new era," and "the man who labors with his hands, who does not possess property, is the one who is going to dominate the affairs of this world."

Lord Northcliffe, ordinarily a decisive analyst who speaks with an assurance of finalities, while in Chicago observed with hesitancy and the manner of one baffled that a "myterious something is swooping the world," and actuating men to inexplicable deeds.

Is the world witnessing the birth of "an idea whose time is come?" When men are far apart hitherto as Leon Trotsky and Charles M. Schwab arrive at an explicit understanding that a reorganization of the fundamentals of human society is on the way, then the world must be near to acceptance of something strikingly new. In more than one sense this war is not "merely another war." The readjustments of the future will show that this war more truly than any other war ever fought is "a people's war." What, then, is this new thing that stands so close behind the veil of the future?—Chicago News.

There ought to be plenty of work for intrepid missionaries in Germany after the war.

Last Friday's meeting proved to be a very interesting one as the patrols were matched against one another as to which should take first place. The honor fell to Lander Gayton's Patrol, after a tough struggle.

After the contest Rev. H. A. Solly gave a short talk on the war, touching on the splendid showing the Summerland Troop has in comparison with other Troops as to Scouts who have enlisted. Below we print a list as it is on the Scout Honor Roll in Victoria.

A letter appealing to the Scouts of Canada for aid to the Sorbians, was read by the Scoutmaster.

Y.M.C.A. literature was then handed to the boys for distribution. The Troop is now preparing for the junk collection to be made on the 18th.

NEXT WEEK'S BIG DRIVE.

THE OVERSEAS battle front is not the only centre where big drives are the order of the day. Next week, May 7th, 8th, and 9th, the Canadian people at home will be invited to lend substantial assistance in a big push the military Y.M.C.A. is launching to secure $2,250,000 from all Canada to finance that organization's work for 1918.

As the war drags on, and people become the more acquainted with the various efforts that are being made to look after the men in khaki overseas, the magnificent part the Military Y.M.C.A. is playing in keeping up the efficiency of the troops physically and spiritually is daily becoming more appreciated.

As with the Red Cross endeavor, words fail utterly to convey anywhere near an adequate appreciation of what Military Y.M.C.A. work has meant to the men, whether in training camp, in billets, going up or coming back from the firing line, or in the front line trenches. Everywhere the soldier goes he encounters the Y.M.C.A., and whether he needs refreshments, amusement, recreation, a quiet spot to read, or write letters, or someone to tell his troubles to, or to write letters for him, the Y.M.C.A. offers all these things without money and without price, twenty-four hours a day and seven days a week.

Such a work requires more and more money as the number of fighting men increases, and the needed revenue can only be raised from voluntary contributions. Between now and next Tuesday give the Military Y.M.C.A. a serious consideration. Calls for patriotic purposes are fairly numerous now, we know, and some sacrifice will be entailed to help them along, but surely of the lot of them none is more righteous, or provides more needed comforts direct to all the fighters than the Y.M.C.A. And, after all, what is the sacrifice we have to make when compared with the danger and sufferings our overseas defenders travel hand in hand with every day. Freely ye have received, freely give.

THE COURSE OF WISDOM.

ACCORDING TO American press reports the committee on public information at Washington, acting on the report of the National Education Association, will shortly issue a recommendation to all schools in America to substitute practical for "cultural" education next year, only the English language to be taught in the grade schools. It is proposed to eliminate Latin, Greek, Spanish, and German from the high

PICKING UP the other day an exchange published in Okanogan County, Wash., we noted an advertisement of respectable dimensions and telling display, inviting farmers to enroll in a second annual corn contest. The advertisement is inserted by one of the banks doing business in that district, and the object of the contest and the prizes offered by the bank is to further stimulate the growing of corn as a substitute for wheat. One cannot imagine a banking office in Canada, under our present banking system, taking a sufficiently lively interest in local development as to conduct a "corn show." Not long ago, in another district across the line, having concluded that more and better dairy cattle were needed to build up its territory, another bank engaged an expert, provided him with the funds, and sent him east to buy several carloads of dairy cows. These were sold to farmers at cost, each farmer leaving with the bank a proportion of his increased monthly creamery cheques until his purchase was paid for. While this was good for the farmer, it was equally good business for the bank. Local banks, such as they have to the south of us, must necessarily depend on local expansion and development for increase of business, and naturally do everything in their power to assist that development. Under our system, unfortunately, the progress of any one community is of little concern to financial institutions with centralized control, with each of its offices a comparatively insignificant part of a great whole.

The Manufacture Of Cream Cheese

At some time or other during their career, most dairy farmers have experienced difficulty in marketing their produce satisfactorily, says an Experimental Farms Note.

The trouble may have been because of a poor demand for the product, or the quality may have been below standard.

The dairy produce from the Experimental Farm, Agassiz, B.C., has been sold in a number of different ways, one of the most satisfactory of which is in the form of cream cheese. The cream cheese appears to be the most popular soft cheese.

It is easily made on the farm, and requires very little special apparatus. The labor and cost of making and packing are small, so that the manufacture is well suited for any producer within a reasonable distance from a market. It is a suitable and remunerative method of marketing cream. During cool weather we have been able to keep this cheese for a week or ten days without any appreciable deterioration in flavor, but, as evaporation is going on continually, the cheese, unless originally made overweight, will not be up to the standard weight at the end of this time. It is therefore advisable to place it on the market as soon as possible after completion.

The market as yet is limited, but the demand appears to be increasing. We have sold during the past twelve months 5,420 of these cheeses in the city of Vancouver. The wholesale price obtained is 15 cents each, which amounts to $813 for the product during the past year. Each cheese weighs six ounces, and approximately ten dozen are now being manufactured weekly from 170 pounds of twelve per cent. cream. This brings a return of ninety cents per pound butterfat for the cream, with the whey retained for feeding purposes.

The shape of the cheese is cylindrical, from one to one and a half inches deep and three inches in diameter. When moulding, the cheese is pressed into a cheesecloth cover, and when ready for shipment is incased in a neat cardboard carton. It is a cheap cheese, and a convenient size for table use. Pioneers have found it a suitable substitute for meat as a filling for sandwiches. It is also found to be very delicious and palatable when served with lettuce, celery, or any of the various kinds of vegetable salad.

The method of manufacture is concisely described in Exhibition Circular No. 23, which may be obtained for the asking from any of the Experimental Farms.

"The shrewdest buyers have confidence in the merchant that advertises continually in his local paper. They know such merchants cannot afford to do otherwise than give a square deal."

Infantry In Action, and An Aeroplane Battle.

The Non-Combatant.

By Capt. John MacNab, 2nd Divisional Artillery.

The dugout measured seven feet by ten, the man measured less, but the spirit of the man was immeasurable. The dugout was just an ordinary dugout. Steel sheeting overhead, then sandbags, brick, still more sandbags. It differed from others of its kind only in that it had a canvas sign. Other dugouts too had their sobriquets inscribed, but this was not "Maggie Murphy's Home," nor "Uncle Tom's Cabin," nor "Lyddite Shelter," nor "The Mudlark's Nest," but the "Y.M.C.A."

Its position was decidedly precarious. On one side of it was a battery of Canadian Howitzers, on the other side a battery of eighteen pounders. The ground all round was torn up by high explosives. Even the sandbags were ripped and torn by shrapnel, and the canvas sign was slashed by shell splinters. Up the road was Ypres—Ypres, the storm centre of the war's wildest passions—Ypres, where three of the biggest and bloodiest battles of the war have been fought—Ypres, where the first poisonous gas clouds floated over the Allied trenches—Ypres, with scarce one stone standing on another—Ypres, once a city of princes, now a smouldering Gehenna. This dugout was close to Ypres.

The Non-Combatant in charge of the dugout had been a minister in peace time, a native of the breezy western plains of Canada. He had joined the ranks as a stretcher-bearer and was later transferred from the banner of the Red Cross to that of the Red Triangle. He was serving as indefatigably in his branch to help men as he had in the other, and the sergeant's stripes indicated that his work was being appreciated. Once again the Ypres salient was resounding with intense artillery fire. The British regulars had blown six giant craters in the enemies' lines at St. Eloi, and the Canadians were holding the captured territory. But the ground was held at great cost. Our men were returning wounded, broken, and weary. In those days both the man and the dugout were needed. Early and late he toiled over a troublesome gasoline stove to prepare hot cocoa for the wayfarer. A constant stream of heroes came down the road.

Men who had not been too severely wounded, in the head or arm, called "walking patients" were sent from the trench dressing station to the field dressing station lower down. Some who passed by were buried by "rum jars," others were victims of shell concussion, but most of them had been struck by shrapnel and were faint from loss of blood. Wounds had taken all the "sand" out of them, and the hot cocoa was a welcome tonic for the weary and wounded marchers. At night, working parties crept by. Men who went up to rebuild the parapets and stretch new wire, dragged themselves back fatigued and unnerved by their operations in "No-Man's Land," under the flare of the star shells.

It was often the grey dawn when they returned, but the Non-Combatant had a hot drink ready when they passed by. There he toiled all alone, serving hundreds of cups of cocoa daily, stoking the stove, washing the mugs, and by his cheery presence and kindly word comforting the passing men. He stayed there through a furnace of shells whizzing around him in that whole month's battle of St. Eloi, and he was still at his post when the battle of Hoge began, with its still more devastating shell fire. But he was forced to find a new dugout. Two or three times pieces of his little shelter were torn by flying fragments; this time the most destructive of all the German shells, a 5.9, got a direct hit. He was buried in the debris, but he escaped. In two days another dugout and another stock were procured, and a new sign graced the side turned away from the Germans. There he began again to minister to the many.

One night the Germans blew up the mine north of Wytchaete. It was so dark that one could not see a yard ahead. There was an unearthly stillness on the front, that spelled mischief. About midnight the explosion of a mine sent the gun pits quivering. In an instant every gun the foe had was going from "whizz-bangs" to "Jack Johnsons." The reply was staggering, and the Canadians gained the superiority of fire. The Non-Combatant got busy in the dugout. Soon the procession began. Men, wet with blood, dodged the shrapnel to gulp down a hot drink. The high explosives were searching like wild beasts in anger for the batteries, and the ground was pock-marked until each shell-hole dipped into the other. One shell dropping not ten feet from the dugout, churned up the earth, the next went crashing through the steel sheeting.

A party left the battery to search for the Non-Combatant. Clambering through the shell-hole, they saw the fruit cans gashed as if by a hundred chisels; the stock scattered and destroyed; the mugs broken; the cocoa-urn overturned; and when they had thrown the debris aside they found the Non-Combatant with a dark red stream oozing from his head, still smiling, but sleeping his last sleep.

The padre was sent for, and while they waited, a shell hole was prepared for the remains. He came as the first streaks of dawn were tinting the sky. Wrapped in a blanket the Non-Combatant was placed in his last dugout. As the padre prayed, the party stood staring into the unknown. Death faces them so frequently that they have no fear of it. They accept it not as life's greatest tragedy, but as one of its most dramatic episodes. Then came his simple sermon, reiterating their thoughts. "Death has severed us from our comrade, but out here, face to face with the great realities, we have learned that death is but the portal to a larger life. Aye, it would take more than death to stop Harry; he will carry on."

Lord Rhondda Cables:

"We Cannot Achieve Victory Without Food."

"Canada Food Board, Ottawa"

"In these stern days it is inspiring to learn that Canada is tackling the food problem with redoubled energy. The terrific pressure on our military front makes it all the more imperative that those behind the line should strain every nerve to defeat the enemy's avowed object of destroying the British Empire.

"Germany hoped first to starve the Old Country by the submarine campaign and then to smash her land forces. She has failed to starve us and she will fail to smash us but we cannot achieve victory without food. There never was a time when it was more needed.

"The Canadian farmer and the Canadian farmhand now have the opportunity to make an effective reply to the enemy's present onslaughts by bending their undivided energies to the increased production of those food supplies for which we depend to such vital extent upon your great Dominion."

(Signed) "RHONDDA"

London, April 10th

"The Prime Minister of Canada, in a call to Greater Food Production, says: "The crisis is grave and urgent beyond possibility of exaggeration."

Our Allies are depending upon Canada to produce this year more cereals—especially Spring Wheat—and more meat—especially Pork.

The world shortage will inevitably continue for years after the war—with this continent the nearest source of supply for the 200,000,000 persons in Europe who will be clamoring for food.

Measures have been taken and plans have been formulated which, on the authority of the Director of Agricultural Labor, will provide help needed for harvest.

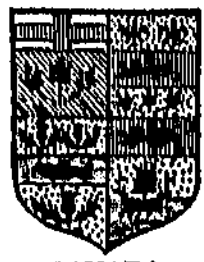

City and town people who cannot go on the farms are helping to feed themselves by growing their own vegetables, so that the farmers may grow more food for export.

The food crisis calls for the utmost effort by all the people of Canada, because, as Lord Rhondda says, Food is essential to Victory.

Sunday Service

SUBSCRIBERS are asked to note that the 16 hour regular service on Sundays, 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., is too heavy a demand to make on our present staff of operators. The work on the switchboard is steadily growing, and competent operators are difficult to obtain. The directors have therefore decided to limit the regular Sunday service to the hours:

9 to 11 a.m.

5 to 10 p.m.

Before 9 in the morning and after 10 at night emergency service may be had. Present conditions make this change advisable, and subscribers are asked to cheerfully adapt themselves to these hours.

Announcement

Having been called to report for military service on May 15th, necessitating my leaving Summerland on May 11th, I have given my Assistant, Mr. L. G. HARDING, full power of Attorney to manage my business affairs during my absence.

As most of my patrons know, Mr. Harding has had a wide experience in leather work of all kinds and a complete knowledge of my stock and the special requirements of the district, particularly in the Footwear line, and the service we have rendered heretofore will not be impaired in any way. Other help will be engaged to ensure this service.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank my many customers for their patronage in the past, and particularly during 1917 and the Spring of 1918, in which period my business has grown very markedly; and I trust that while absent I shall be further favored with the continuance of this liberality, which I have appreciated. The lines I carry have been from time to time set before you through the medium of The Review (whose services in this regard are also appreciated). They consist of Boots and Shoes, Harness and Harness Parts and Accessories, Gloves and Mittens, Tents and Awnings, Rope, Trunks and Bags and Travelling Accessories, etc., etc.

In addition to the above my Agency for Pressing, Cleaning and Dyeing (which business has also steadily increased) will be continued.

My Repair Department is equipped with the latest machinery, and at your service at all times.

Small Profits with Quick Returns has been my object in time past, and this policy is the policy Mr. Harding will follow in the future.

Mr J. Jefford, who is living on the Wingate lot, had the misfortune of having his barn burn down on Monday morning. At about 7 in the morning he heard a cracking noise and on looking out saw the barn in flames. It was too late to save anything, for the roof was beginning to fall in, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that the house was saved. All their hens and young chicks, besides canned fruit, and twenty sacks of potatoes were lost. How the fire started is a mystery.

HER ANSWER.

It was during the daily lesson on patriotism, and teacher had finished telling the children the duty of one's country and the blessings of citizenship.

"And now, children," she said, "what is it that binds us together and makes us better than we are by nature?"

Little Evelyn raised her hand.

"Well, Evelyn, can you tell?" asked the teacher.

"Yes, ma'am, corsets," said Evelyn.

Potato Cultivation

Be wise in time, and if you are cultivating potatoes send to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for Bulletin No. 90. This bulletin, which is a popular edition of a more ambitious work, prepared by the Dominion Horticulturist, is calculated to prove an invaluable aid to the potato grower, whether amateur or professional, whether cultivating field or vacant lots. It tells how to prepare the soil, how to fertilize, how to select good seed, how to plant, how to tend the plant, how to prevent the ravages of insect pest and fungus disease, how to spray, how to dig, and how to store. A list of the varieties best suited to different districts in every province is also given.

Live on boiled fish, baked potatoes, and fresh buttermilk until the war is over, says an Exchange. This diet will make healthy people, and keep the Food Controller from getting hoarse from shouting at you.

One day last month over a ton of cream was received by the creamery in Armstrong.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of the community Choral Union, which organization will give a concert in the College Gymnasium next Friday evening. Much work has been put on the varied program, and all can be sure of a musical and literary treat.

The enterprise shown by the management of the Rialto in securing for their patrons the wonderful picture "France in Arms," which is having a great run in both Canada and the United States, will doubtless be fully appreciated by all. In order to make it possible for everyone to see this remarkable film, an official French war office cinematograph, there will be three performances. Low prices are being offered for children at the matinee, and the admission for adults is also below the evening figure. Doubtless there will be a full house in the afternoon, when the program will be quite as complete as the two that will be put on in the evening. Full particulars are given in the advt. in this issue.

Mrs Findlay, an aunt of the McWilliams' boys, and who was a visitor to Summerland several years ago, has come to Summerland to reside. She was preceded by a few weeks by her son, who is with Mr Hilborn.

The local treasurer of the Prisoners-of-War Fund, Mrs Gayton, has recently been handed the sum of $20.25 by the treasurer of the Summerland Choral Union, the net proceeds of the sacred concert given several weeks ago by the Union in St Andrew's Church.

Mr P. Laidlaw, son-in-law of Mr Graham, who has been spending the winter with Coun. R. Johnston, has arrived from the prairies to make his home here. Mrs Laidlaw and children preceded him, and have also been guests at the Johnston home. Mr Laidlaw has taken the Dunham place, now owned by Mr G. A. McWilliams, and is moving in this week.

There is to be still further delay in carrying out the instructions of the council to place the several street lights recommended by the light committee. Great difficulty is being experienced in getting the necessary fixtures. A few days ago parts of these arrived with the advice that other parts would have to be ordered from Montreal. Even the ordinary copper wire is scarce.

Mr O. Atkins of the Summerland Telephone Co. has been lying at his home critically ill since Sunday with an acute attack of gastritis, brought on, it is thought, by ptomaine poisoning. Taken violently ill that day he has been under the influence of opiates practically ever since. We are glad to be able to report that his condition seems somewhat improved since yesterday.

Rev. Thos. and Mrs Bennett of Montreal were visitors to Summerland a few days ago on their way to the Coast. They came here to get first-hand information of the district with the view to possibly locating here, and particularly to visit their daughter-in-law, Mrs Geo. Bennett, who, with her son, has been living for some time with Mrs Gayton, and whose husband is with the Canadian Army in France.

The Masked Rider was well received by a crowded house last Tuesday evening at the Rialto. The movies shown at the local picture house are receiving much favorable comment, but, we are informed, that even better pictures have now been arranged for and that under the new contract just made by the management a complete change of program will be given which we are assured will surpass any former service.

Two "Little Giant Trucks," for which he has the agency for practically all the Valley, arrived here this week for B. L. Hatfield, and have been delivered to the purchasers, the Summerland Fruit Union and P. S. Roo. Another truck, a converted Cadillac, has also been sold by Mr Hatfield to T. B. Young, and the parts necessary to convert his Cadillac into a truck to Wm. Ritchie. These two are now here.

Water has been appearing on the lakeshore road a short distance south of town in quantity sufficient not only to make the road dangerous to traffic but to make a slide of the cliff above almost a certainty unless the flow of water is stopped at once.

The operetta "Pandora," founded on Hawthorne's Paradise of Children, is being given in Penticton to-night by the Penticton Junior Choral and Dramatic Club. The plot deals with the golden age of the Greek legends, and the score is very tuneful and appropriate. With the costuming, etc., the effect is very dainty, and pretty, and will be well worth attending. See advt.

As announced elsewhere in this number a "farewell dance" is to be given on Monday evening next in the Empire Hall. Still others of our citizens are leaving within the next few days to join the colors, and the promoters are putting on this dance at this particular time in order to give the many friends of these citizen soldiers an opportunity to spend a social hour with them before they go.

Donations were received at the hospital during April as follows: From Mrs Bert Dennis, Mrs H. A. Solly, Mrs R. C. Lipsett, Mrs R. Clouston, Mrs A. B. Elliott, Miss Snow, 23 doz. eggs; Mr P. G. Koop, ham; Mr J. Downton, tripe and sausage; Mr Agur, potatoes, carrots; Mr R. H. Helmer, asparagus; Mr W. J. Robinson, asparagus, lettuce, radishes. Chairs would be very acceptable, any kind.

Mrs F. W. Andrew left the first of the week for Dunnville, Ontario, to spend three months at her former home. She took with her her young son, Billy. Mrs Andrew expects that her sister, Miss Blott, well-known to many here, will spend a few days at the old home also; Miss Blott, who for a year or more was a nursing sister on the Saloniki front, is now on Atlantic transport service, and is given a few days' leave on each arrival in a Canadian port.

Current Events of Town and District

The Unity Club, a pioneer institution here, elected its officers for the year last Friday. They are: Pres., Mrs Mitchell; Vice-Pres., Mrs Howard Rounds; Secy., Mrs V. Watson; Treas., Mrs Nuttall; Program Committee, Miss Violet Mitchell and Mrs R. J. Wells; Advisory Board, Mrs J. H. Wells, Mrs G. Cook, and Mrs H. T. Davies. Visiting Committee, all the members. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs Block, who, with her daughter, Miss Block, served refreshments. Miss Vera Salting added to the pleasure of the afternoon by her playing at the piano.

Mr and Mrs J. M. Robinson and several members of the family are expected in from the Coast on Saturday morning.

Rev. H. G. Estabrook and Lieut. Whittaker addressed a meeting here last Friday in the interests of the Military Y.M.C.A. The meeting was well attended and greatly enjoyed by all.

At the annual meeting of the local church, held a few days ago, the following officers were elected: Stewards, Mr James Young, Mr F. J. Young, Mrs M. M. Allen, Mr J.

S. Dicker, Mr Gerald Williams, and Mr S. Allen, Mrs Lyons and Mrs Hughes were appointed envelope stewards; recording secretary, Mr James Young, and treasurer, Mr F. J. Young. Excellent reports were submitted from the Sunday School and Ladies' Aid department, and, taking everything into consideration, a satisfactory year ended.

Harold Mitchell has been wounded in the head, and is now in hospital in France, according to the distressing news received by his parents here. Fullest sympathy is felt for Mr and Mrs Mitchell, and all will hope that further news will relieve the present anxiety of the whole community.

Mrs M. L. Smith of Ottawa, who has been in Naramata for several days, has returned east to settle her affairs there with the view to locating in the Valley. She is contemplating buying a fruit ranch, and has been looking over the district before deciding where to locate. It is hoped that her decision will be in favor of Naramata.

Another meeting of the water committee was held on Monday for the purpose of definitely arranging for the care and operation of the irrigation system for the season. Capt. Languedoc has been asked to again assume charge of the system, and will probably do so, if given required assistance.

The company owning the water system and the water users committee are working together with the view to assuring an adequate supply of water throughout the season. Mr J. O. Robinson is representing the company, but expects to leave shortly, having waived exemption from military service.

The Y.M.C.A. saved hundreds of lives at Vimy Ridge by caring for the walking wounded.

And Here Likewise.

The Los Angeles Times sympathizes with the housewives of the land who have honestly endeavored to adapt their table and their baking to the various mixed flours that have been recommended from time to time in government literature. It doubts if any real economy has resulted by adopting the various blends of flour set forth in the bulletins. "The bills of fare put forth by some of these collegiate protein experts would be fine for a livery stable or a dog show, but wouldn't make much of a hit at the Good Samaritan Hospital or the Angelus. Come to think about it, a woman who has been hanging over a cook stove for twenty or thirty years is more apt to approach kitchen and table problems with clarity and common sense than is some hirsute professor who has spent a lifetime deciphering the bricks of Babylon."

Why not a municipally owned laundry? Why not provincially-owned and operated canneries? Why confine civic ownership to parks, water, and fish? Why not a civic bakery? Is there any reason on earth why a profit should be made in war-times out of bread?—B.C. Federationist.

Vast Issues Depend Upon the Welfare of Our Men!

Cheer Up and Thank God for the Y.M.C.A.

TRY to picture yourself in the muddy cold trenches after exciting days and long nights of mortal danger and intense nervous strain. Rushing "whiz-bangs" and screaming "coal boxes" are no respecters of persons. You are hit! But despite shock and pain you still can face the long weary trudge back to dressing station. Weary, overwrought and depressed, you are prey to wild imaginings of that other coming ordeal with the surgeon. There are other "walking wounded," too! You must wait, wait, wait. And then—

Up comes a cheery Y.M.C.A. man, the ever-present "big brother" to the soldier, with words of manly encouragement. Close beside the dressing station the good generous folks at home have enabled him to set up a canteen. He hands you biscuits, and chocolate or coffee.

Canada-Wide Appeal

"In thousands of cases," writes an officer, "it was that first hot cup of coffee that dragged the man back to life and sanity."

The tremendous helpfulness of the Y.M.C.A. as an aid to the "morale," or fighting spirit, of the soldiers is everywhere praised. No wonder the Germans make every effort to smash the Y.M.C.A. huts out of existence.

The Y.M.C.A. is everywhere. You first met the helpful, manly Y.M.C.A. worker in camp, then on train and boat, at camp in England and in France, close to the firing line. Often he risks his life to reach you in the trenches. He has won the warmest praise from military authorities, statesmen—the King!

Have you a precious boy at the front? You cannot be "over there" to guide him away from fierce temptations of camp and city. You cannot comfort him in his supreme hour of trial. Your parcels to him are necessarily few. But the Y.M.C.A., thank God, is "over there," going where you cannot go—doing the very things you long to do—doing it for you and for him.

Will you help? This vast organization of helpfulness needs at least $2,250,000 from Canada for 1918. For your boy's sake be GENEROUS!

Six thousand Canadian older boys are invited to earn and give at least Ten Dollars ($10) to the Red Triangle Fund. That means $60,000 in all! Splendid! Five thousand dollars will be used for boys' work in India and China; another $5,000 for the National Boys' Work of Canada, and $50,000 to help big brothers in Chalki. Ask your local Y.M.C.A. representative for information and pledge card. When you have subscribed one or more units of Ten Dollars, you will receive a beautifully engraved certificate.

School Exhibit will be United with Fall Fair

Conveyance Problems and other matters considered by School Board.

Probably the chief item of business transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the School Board on Tuesday was the passing of the usual monthly accounts, principally teachers' salaries, and conveyance costs, totalling in all just over a thousand dollars.

Reports that the children of two or three households were not attending school resulted in instructions to the secretary that the parents be notified that children of school age must be sent to school.

Chiefly because of the difficulty experienced locally in getting men and teams it was decided, after some correspondence with Director Gibson, to take no immediate action toward carrying out the program of school grounds improvement. This will come up again at the June meeting.

Plowing and fertilizing and other preparatory work will likely be done this fall.

Any changes in the school routes, some having been suggested, will be decided at the next meeting.

Quite a few children from families resident on the Experimental Station are attending the Central and Trout Creek Schools. The conveying of these children to the Central is giving the board some concern, and, while there is no desire to in any way hinder their attending the municipal schools, it was felt that extra assistance from the Department should be given in view of the fact that these children are residing outside the bounds of the municipality. The secretary was instructed to take the question up with the Department of Education.

The proposal that the school exhibit be held in conjunction with the district fair has been favorably received by the Agricultural Society, and matters are now progressing satisfactorily toward an amalgamation with the larger show.

For the next few months at least the regular meetings of the board will be held at 7.30 on the evening of the first Tuesday of the month.

Hold Kindly Thoughts

The Review has been asked by Mr and Mrs D. R. Barkwill of Haslemere, Surrey, England, to extend their gratitude to all the kind friends in Summerland who were so good to their boys whilst they lived here. They state that Summerland was always uppermost in the thoughts of the boys. Mr and Mrs Barkwill had hoped to end their days in this pleasant place, but owing to this terrible war, that has been denied them.

Two of their sons, well-known to many here, George and Harry, have both made the supreme sacrifice, and, we are informed indirectly, that a third brother has also given his life. Robert, another of the Barkwill boys who has long resided here, is broken in health, according to this same informant, and is undergoing treatment in England. Thus are families wiped out, and long cherished plans rendered impossible by this frightful struggle precipitated on the world by the murderous Hun.

Storage Dams Are Now Full.

Plenty of Snow yet at Headwaters—Coun. Johnston has Strenuous Trip.

With the storage dams all full and with still plenty of snow on the mountain sides about the headwaters, the season has opened with promise of an ample supply of water for irrigation purposes. Very dry weather later in the season, with heavy demands on the stored supply may again prove, however, the need of more or larger storage dams.

Coun. Johnston, accompanied by his friend Mr. Graham, visited the big dam at the head of Trout Creek this week and closed the gate. The trip was a most trying one, the last two or three miles of the wagon road and a great part of the pack trail being obstructed with fallen trees. Not less than fifty trees had to be cut from the road before the trail was reached. Only eight miles was made from Tuesday noon, when lunch was eaten about four miles west of Peachland, and it was not until 10 o'clock on Wednesday that the dam was reached. In many places trails around fallen trees had to be found. Coun. Johnston says it will be necessary to send men up to clear road and trail so that the way to the headwaters may be kept open.

Snow still lies thick on the ground in many places, and both nights they were out it froze hard enough to bear a man easily, and almost strong enough to carry a horse. As an indication of the difference in seasons up there and on the lower levels Mr. Johnston stated that only here and there in sheltered spots did he find any "pussy-willows" starting. Poplar trees had not yet begun to show signs of leafing out.

The second dam and all the heavier dams are full, and with two big streams flowing into the large dam he expects the latter to be completely filled in three weeks or less.

Will Sell Spokane's Fruit Output.

Following a meeting last week of the trustees of the Spokane Fruit Growers' Company, representing 1,200 growers, announcement was made that the Northwestern Fruit Exchange will market the 1918 crop produced by the company.

The Spokane company operates forty shipping stations, serving a wide territory. It penetrates the Yakima Valley, and also serves important districts in the Columbia River basin, including White Bluffs, Hanford, and Kennewick. It also controls nearly the whole strawberry tonnage of the Kennewick-Richland district. It is with the Northwestern Fruit Exchange that co-operative arrangements have been made by the Okanagan United Growers.

Move To Unify Educational System in Western Province

Text Books and Teaching Standards Adopted at Conference of Ministers.

At a conference at Calgary of the Ministers and Deputy Ministers of Education of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, it was unanimously agreed that, subject to satisfactory arrangements as to price and revision, uniform text books in spelling, composition, British history, civics, music, hygiene and geometry be adopted for the schools of the four western provinces.

Regarding arithmetic, geography, grammar, and Canadian history, readers, copy books, and drawing books, these matters were left open for a future meeting. Contracts for readers have not expired, and nothing can be done in view of this fact until next meeting.

Uniform text books will be adopted for all subjects in high school work with the exception of English grammar, arithmetic, chemistry, general history, and geography, which have been held over awaiting the selection of suitable texts and particulars of costs.

To improve the status of the teaching profession it was agreed: That the condition of admission to a course of training for second class professional certificates shall be a Grade 11 certificate, or standing recognized as equivalent by any of the provinces.

That the condition of admission to a course of training for first class professional certificates shall be at least a Grade 12 certificate, or standing recognized as equivalent thereto by any province.

That the course of training for first and second class professional certificates shall be at least 33 weeks in duration.

The longer normal term will become effective in 1919.

A uniform nomenclature for both public and high schools, and uniformity in the matter of acceptance of teachers' certificates outside the four western provinces is held over for consideration.

Another matter of special educational importance discussed by the ministers was the urgent desirability of establishing a national bureau of education for Canada, similar to that at Washington.

Homespun In Demand.

"Blights" tweeds are now on the market in Manchester, England. These are cloths which are being made by crippled soldiers on hand looms, and every effort is being made to develop the industry. The convalescent soldiers in the Canadian military convalescent hospitals are turning out a sister fabric on similar looms. There is a steady demand for the Canadian homespun both in the Dominion and the United States.

National Service Girls at Farm.

Find Work Pleasant—Are Working on Seed Production in Comfortable Quarters.

Farm work as they find it at the Summerland Experimental Station is lighter and more pleasant work than is the manufacturing of munitions, at least that is the verdict of three of the four young women who came up from the Coast last week and started work at the Farm on Friday. The fourth, Miss Marjory Gilley, of New Westminster, who had just completed her first year at the University, was not finding the work of irrigating, at which all four were engaged when seen by a representative of the Review, quite as easy as were her companions, but she is confident that she will soon develop the strength of muscle to do a day's work with as little discomfort as the other three. Miss Florence, Townsend of Vancouver; Miss Violet Allen of Burnaby; and Miss May Evemy of Vancouver. Miss Gilley says that it is her intention to take a course in agriculture at the University. All four of the young women had enlisted for national service, and Supt. Helmer secured their services through Miss Perry of the Y.W.C.A., who, it will be recalled, spoke here on this work some weeks ago.

Previous to their arrival four individual tent-houses, with a larger common one which they use as a kitchen and living room, were erected for the girls, and they expressed delight with the accommodation given them. Their hours of work are from 7 to 11 a.m., and from 2 to 6 p.m. This eight-hour day was so arranged by Mr. Helmer as to give the girls plenty of time for rest and for preparing their mid-day meal before returning to the fields, as well as to permit them to escape the hottest part of the day outside. The group of tents has been erected in a sheltered spot close to the flower gardens.

When seen by the Review the young women were busy irrigating carrots from which seed will be produced this year. Altogether there are planted at the Farm seven acres to field carrots, and six acres to mangels, and much of the time of the girls will be spent in the care of these. A striking instance of the value and importance of careful selection of roots and attention to planting may be seen in one of the fields of carrots where a half row of these plants are very much in advance of the rest of the field in every way. As an experiment Mr. Helmer had personally selected a number of the best roots and planted them with particular care to getting the sandy soil snugly packed around them. The contrast is very marked. He proposes to cover these with chamois-cloth and from them select the best, and from these seeds will be saved with the expectation of raising generally the standard of quality and yield of future crops.

Splendid Response to Appeal from Red Triangle

Summerland will Exceed Allotment by Over Fifty per cent.

Incomplete Reports Indicate that much more than the $12,500 asked from the District will be Largely Surpassed.

Summerland's contribution to the Red Triangle Fund in this week's three day "drive" will approach close to two thousand dollars when all returns are in. The canvassers have been pretty well over the territory, but still have a number to call on who were missed or who asked for time to consider. Up to noon to-day, Friday, cash and pledges totalling nearly $1,600 had been reported, according to Chairman Hilborn. Here and there a few were met who refused to contribute, but generally the response has been excellent, with a desire to help in the providing of the cheer and comforts that the "Y" is furnishing the boys at the front and in the training camps. Those of our Japanese citizens who were approached have contributed gladly and generously, in fact, some have come forward voluntarily, and a desire has been expressed that the local Japanese association be informed in future when anything like this is proposed so that all the members may have the time to share. Several amounts of $5 have been handed in by the Japs, and at least one contribution of $10 was made by one of them.

In a telephone communication this morning with Mr. J. H. Patterson, the district secretary, it was learned that the response throughout the whole district has been a liberal one. Final figures were not available, but it is confidently expected that the $12,500 asked for from this section of the province will be considerably exceeded. Incomplete reports from Kelowna gave $3,400, with more to come. Westbank had contributed $50; Peachland $173; Naramata, $100; and Mineola, $50. From $2,400 to $3,000 will come from Phoenix, with Greenwood yet to hear from. Grand Forks had $1,600, with more to come. Up to last night Penticton had reported $1,300. Final reports are expected to bring this up to $2,000 when outside points are heard from. Keremeos had not made any report, but from Copper Mountain $525 was reported, and Princeton expects to raise this to $1,600. Hedley's contribution was $1,600.

Lieut. Whittaker, a soldier now home from the front on sick leave, and who is giving voluntarily of his time during the campaign, gave a particularly fine address last Saturday night in St. Andrew's Church at which the field secretary Mr. H. G. Estabrook also spoke on the financial needs of the Y.M.C.A. work. Mr. W. C. Kelley occupied the chair, and the program was added to by a large choir of Choral Union members.

In a most effective manner Lieut. Whittaker, throughout his stories of his experiences in transport, in camp in England and in France, illustrated the noble work being done by the "Y" that otherwise would remain undone. He declared that his appeal was not for the Y.M.C.A., but for our splendid boys who are rendering such noble service at the front.

To Limit Holdings Of Flour and Sugar

In a telegram received this morning by J. Tait, secretary of the local food conservation committee from the B.C. Committee of the Canada Food Board he is asked to give the widest publicity to the fact that the order recently issued dealing with hoarding of flour and sugar is most emphatic, and unless all consumers return to dealers before May 15, any surplus over that permitted to be in their possession they are subject to fines from $100 to $1,000 or three months' imprisonment or both. Surplus flour or sugar to be confiscated to the Crown.

All police officers, Dominion and Provincial, have power to enforce the law, and are ready to do so. Ignorance of the law is no excuse. Any dealer found encouraging excessive purchases of flour will be liable to withholding or cancellation of licence.

Red Cross Sends More Supplies.

The sixty-third bale of Red Cross supplies was shipped a few days ago by the Summerland branch of the Okanagan Ambulance League; and was made up as follows: 32 prs. socks; 6 stretcher caps; 42 slings; 8 prs. pyjamas; 6 prs. bed socks; 5 shirts; 18 housewives; 17 prs. slippers; 5 laparotomy socks; 1 bundle old linen.

The very satisfactory sum of $133.82 was collected by the Summerland branch of the Okanagan Ambulance League for Red Cross purposes on Tag Day, last Saturday. The objective—$100, was exceeded by one-third. Of course every cent can be well used for Red Cross material for many active hands to work up into hospital supplies.

Patriotic Fund

Since the first of the year there have gone forward from Summerland in local contributions to the Canadian Patriotic Fund $1,097.73. Each month all monies received by the local treasurer, Mr. E. B. May, are sent to the treasurer at Victoria. The amounts thus sent in the past four months are: January, $138.15; February, $301.00; March, $256.75; April, $311.83.

Another U-Boat Base Smashed. Germans Still Exhausted.

The German submarine base at Ostend was completely broken by the British sinking the obsolete cruiser "Vindictive" filled with concrete across the mouth of the harbor. The operation took place last night, and the Admiralty reports it to be a complete success. The casualties were light.

Zeebrugge was bombarded by British aeroplanes. The Prussian momentum appears to have spent itself on the western front. The resumption of the drive is not expected for two weeks.

The financial situation in Austria is desperate. Conscription in Ireland is believed about to be enforced.

NOT ASKING TOO MUCH.

SPEAKING AT REGINA on Saturday last with regard to Food Conservation matters, Mr J. D. McGregor, Western Representative of the Canada Food Board, stated that an appeal would be made to all organizations conducting social functions at which food is served, whether for patriotic purposes or otherwise, to conform strictly with the regulations governing hotels and restaurants. If such an appeal is made we feel confident that it will meet with the entire approval and support of everyone who has at heart the welfare of our armies overseas.

Summer brings with it numberless picnics and other out-of-door entertainments at which refreshments are served. The mainstay at most of these is the ever popular sandwich in one form or another, although of course, their use is not by any means restricted to out-door functions. When we consider that one of the main objects of the regulations referred to is the conserving of wheat flour bread, it must be admitted that the sandwich is really a most extravagant article of food. There are, however, plenty of substitutes which can and should be used instead.

Regular advertising in The Review pays big profits

All that is required is the exercise of a little thought and ingenuity on the part of the refreshment committees.

The people of British Columbia should not wait to be appealed to on this score. Our various societies and organizations, patriotic and otherwise, should take the lead in the matter, and announce that all refreshments served at future entertainments of any kind will be "war" lunches, dinners, or suppers. This province was not behind hand in supplying men for the fighting forces, and we are not to lag behind now when it is necessary to make sacrifices (which after all are small enough) to supply the fighting forces for our men and those of our Allies.

Surely no one who views this matter from the standpoint of patriotism and loyalty to the men who are fighting our battles will consider the Food Board's regulations as constituting a hardship. As a matter of fact we should be ready and eager to go them one better wherever possible, and of our own accord do anything and everything within our power to bring about the desired result.

Food Value of Vegetables

Becoming More Generally Recognized.

All vegetables contain valuable minerals that are needed to keep our bodies in good condition. In cooking, these minerals are extracted, especially if the vegetable is cooked in large amounts of water. This vegetable stock should never be poured into the sink and so into the sewer.

Vegetable stock should be turned into soups, soups, purees, and beverages. The soups made of vegetables contain by far much more nourishment than do the soups made of meat. Meat soups are eaten almost wholly for their flavor. Unless combined with eggs, cereals, breadstuffs, gelatin or vegetables they contain so little food value that hot water would serve the purpose just as well. Clear meat stock acts only as a stimulant.

Vegetable stock on the contrary contains very valuable minerals. These minerals act as tonics to the body. They build the framework of the body, they keep it in repair. Vegetable stocks combined with milk make the so-called cream soups, and by the addition of milk a vegetable soup is made much more valuable as a food. As the variety of vegetables is almost endless, the variety of cream soups that can be made is almost endless. Every vegetable can be utilized for this purpose except parsnips, eggplant, green beans and beets.

The general rule for making cream soups is:

One and one-half cups vegetable stock.

One and one-half cups milk.

Two tablespoons flour, or one tablespoon cornstarch.

Two tablespoons butter substitute.

If vegetable pulp is added to the above a puree results. In that case the amount of milk and stock may have to be increased, depending somewhat on the amount of mashed vegetable that is added and the thickness desired in a puree. From puree, milk may be omitted. Peas, beans, potatoes and mixed vegetables make good purees without the addition of milk.

Summerland Young Man Gives Thrilling Account of Visit to Volcano.

Camps on Bed of Hot Lava.

To camp for twenty-four hours on a spot where the cracks in the "floor" emitted heat enough to boil coffee quicker than he ever saw it boil before was the unique experience of Edmund Sawyer, and which he describes in an interesting letter to a friend here.

After leaving Summerland last fall Edmund was appointed to a position with a company operating a telephone and connecting wireless telegraph system on the Hawaiian Islands. In his letters he expresses delight with his occupation and his surroundings, and says he feels as though he had been transported to a new world, and to be living a new life as he "never felt so fine."

In addition to his duties with his company, Sawyer is conducting a class in the study of "wireless." He writes that his classes are coming along well, and that he has a fine bunch of students.

Below is an extract from his letter telling of his trip from Honolulu to Hawaii and the top of the volcano:

Four of us left here, Honolulu, on Saturday afternoon, took one of the interisland boats, and made the 180 odd miles to Hilo. Let me give you a glimpse of the approach to Hilo harbour as I saw it that bright sunny morning. The first glimpse of the coast line of Hawaii was certainly a beautiful sight. Imagine the shore line from Naramata to Penticton, extended for another 25 miles or so, but instead of those bare cliffs think of them as covered with green moss and ferns, and hundreds of water falls, both large and small, every few yards falling in some instances sheer for 1,000 feet. Then think instead of those orchards, you have a solid tract of sugar cane plantations gradually sloping back for some miles, then on above them a dense jungle growth, and away in the background, 14,000 feet, a snow-capped mountain. The sugar cane seemed to completely cover all the foreground with the exception of a few plantation villages, and scattered here and there a few dense mingo trees, with the blue sky overhead and the blue water beneath certainly made some picture. Hilo is a town of about 10,000, fairly modern. The town is scattered along a crescent-shaped bay, with a long breakwater running out into the sea and a continuous line of breakers dashing over its whole length. At Hilo we took a car for the 38 mile drive up to the volcano. We travelled through mile after mile of sugar cane up and up until we came to a jungle growth, the road cutting right through a solid mass of green, mostly giant ferns, some sixty feet high. At last we go to the volcano house, a hotel built right on the brink of the crater, overlooking an immense hole with the sides dropping sheer 1,000 feet, the circumference about 8 miles, the whole bed of the pit covered with old lava, everything black as far as the eye can see. On all sides the steam is oozing in clouds through crevasses and away in the centre, the pit, or the mouth of hell as it is often termed. That is where we camped for 24 hours, cooking our three meals over red hot crevasses in the lava. We took the car around, and he dumped us out, baggage and all, on the most desolate piece of coun-

The Manurial Value of Clover

The amount of semi-decomposed vegetable matter or humus present in our cultivated soils—sandy and clay loams—bears an intimate relation to their productive capacity, says an Experimental Farms Note.

Humus not only fulfils the mechanical function of rendering soils porous and more retentive of moisture, but furnishes also the essential medium for the activities of the bacteria which liberates plant food in the soil. Furthermore, humus constitutes the chief natural source of the soil's nitrogen supply.

Applications of barnyard manure may be considered the chief means employed in the maintenance of humus in the soil. Supplementary means are the growing and ploughing in of a green cover crop such as rye, buckwheat, rape, vetches or clover. Of these, clover—where conditions are conducive to its satisfactory growth—is to be generally preferred. By means of its deeply ramifying roots, clover disintegrates and aerates the lower soil layers and brings up therefrom plant food supplies unattainable by other more shallow-rooted crops.

An additional advantage which clover, in common with all members of the legume family possesses, is that of its ability to assimilate the free nitrogen of the atmosphere by means of minute bacterial organisms living and operating in small nodules on its roots. Thus clover gathers the greater part of its nitrogen from the air, and its phosphoric acid, potash, and lime largely from soil depths beyond the reach of the roots of ordinary crops, consequently enriching the surface soil with these constituents for the benefit of succeeding crops.

How does clover compare with manure as a fertilizer? Barnyard manure of good average quality contains approximately 10 pounds nitrogen, 5 pounds phosphoric acid, and 10 pounds potash per ton. Therefore 10 tons of barnyard manure would furnish about 100 pounds nitrogen, 50 pounds phosphoric acid, and 100 pounds potash.

Experiments conducted at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, have shown that a vigorous crop of clover will contain, at a moderate estimate, in its foliage and roots, from 100 to 150 pounds nitrogen, 30 to 45 pounds phosphoric acid, and 85 to 115 pounds potash per acre.

A good crop of clover from one acre, if it were turned under, may, therefore, be deemed equal, in fertilizing value, to an application of ten tons of barnyard manure.

try in the world, on all sides of us nothing but the black lava and clouds of steam rising like fog. We carried our stuff along to the pit, and never thinking that some of the cracks were red-hot, I laid my overcoat down, and when I picked it up in a few minutes found I had burned all one side right through. So we at once began to look round for a place not quite so hot, where we placed our suitcases and grub. The pit consisted of nothing but a sea of molten red-hot lava, with a few crags or islands, which had been forced up two weeks before—when old Pele, the goddess of fire, got peeved, and, starting a regular show of fireworks of her own, got excited and rose some 250 feet and went over the top covering some acres many feet deep in lava. It was this recent flow that we camped on, some twenty feet from the edge, where every hour or so the whole pit would work itself up into a fury and boil, bubble, and spit molten lava high in the air. The whole place was smoking and steaming, and when one got to leeward he was nearly suffocated by the sulphur fumes. We got a long stick up there and tied a fry-pan to one end and dipped out red hot lava and dumped it in the form of red hot dough, in which we embedded nickels, spoons, etc., for souvenirs. This lava would soon harden, and in the pool the whole surface would have a crust on it which would be broken every hour or so when things began to boil. Then this crust would break and fountains would spurt high in the air, and there would be regular waves of red molten lava beating on the shores; it certainly was a sight at night. I turned in about two, about twenty feet from the edge. Suddenly I was awakened from a sound sleep and I thought the whole thing was going and I was going too. Flames were spurting up, and a regular deluge of drops of molten lava were dropping all around, and we had to step lively so as not to get burned. I might say we didn't do very much sleeping after that. It was certainly the strangest camping grounds I have ever had, and I have camped in several places of interest. Imagine sleeping on your cook stove, for that is what we were doing, for not four feet away from where we slept we were boiling coffee and frying eggs, and I never boiled coffee so fast in my life as we did over that crack in the lava.

Mr and Mrs Taylor of Manitoba, who spent the winter here with their son, Mr R. E. Taylor, have returned home.

Mr R. J. Hogg has been appointed Fire Warden for the electoral district of South Okanagan, and commenced his new duties on the 1st of May. He is getting a new Chevrolet car.

Miss Robinson, who was at one time teacher of the High School here, came in on Thursday, and is visiting friends in the district.

Mr and Mrs Frith came up from Summerland this week, and are staying at Mr Henderson's house.

Mr McIntyre of Vancouver came in on Thursday, and is living in the Sutherland cottage at the new town-site.

Mr P. N. Dorland, who has been spending his holidays with his family here, received instructions to go on the steamer "Sicamous" and relieve the mail clerk there for three weeks.

Mrs Miller and her daughter came in on Saturday night. They are friends of the Jefford's, and are going to live in the Jefford house on the hill.

Mr Fred Fruen, who has been working at the logging camp at Bear Creek, came home on Saturday night. He intends to remain at home for some time and work at his trade of paper hanging and kalsomining.

Mrs Will Aitkens was a passenger to Kelowna on Saturday, returning the same day.

The sum of $13.25 which was realized at the Red Cross Dance given by Mrs Davidson last week was turned over to Mrs R. J. Hogg, secretary-treasurer of the Ambulance League. Mrs Davidson supplied everything herself, and those

Half a dozen of the local Scouts attended the annual concert of the Kelowna Troop last Friday, cycling up on Friday and staying the weekend.

It was quite a hard cycle there, but the Scouts were well rewarded by the excellent program provided.

Rooms had been arranged for in advance by the Kelowna troop for the Summerland boys.

The concert was well worth seeing, great work having been taken to make it a success.

On Saturday 23 of the Vernon Scouts were down for the matinee, returning, however, the same night.

The Scouts were then entertained to supper by the Kelowna troop, finishing up the evening at the movies.

Next morning one of the Kelowna Scouts took them for a long car-ride around Kelowna, which was certainly appreciated.

The afternoon ferry was then caught, and the trip home was soon made.

There was not such a large attendance at last Friday's meeting as several were attending the Kelowna Troop Exhibition. However, a good night's work was put in, several new fancy drills being gone through.

Next Friday we hope to have a full turn-out.

who were there enjoyed the evening very much. The only regret is that so many people in town who would have gone had they heard of it in time, did not receive notice until too late.

Mr N. A. Shaw returned home on Saturday night from the logging camp at Bear Creek.

At the School Board meeting held on the 6th inst. in the board room of the school all the members were present. The board spent most of the time discussing the advisability of converting the school here into a superior school. The board is faced with the necessity of spending more of the people's money, and how best to economise is a serious matter.

Council Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the council was held in the Council Chambers on Thursday the 2nd inst. Notice was received of a meeting to be held in Kelowna in connection with irrigation and a delegate was appointed to attend. Mr Williams was appointed Weed Inspector for the municipality. The calling for tenders for the upper Keating Road are to be held over for further information. Mr J. L. Elliott is to go on and construct the road into the D. Wallace lot, along the Deep Creek bank. Specifications were agreed upon and a grant made. A complaint was received in connection with the speed of motor travel through the town, and joy riders or others who take careless risks will be proceeded against. A concrete pipe is to be supplied for the Huston Road where the water gathers and runs over. The usual accounts were passed.

Gold Refinery at Ottawa World's Largest.

Since the beginning of the war, according to reports, the mint at Ottawa, had handled $1,000,000,000 worth of bullion for the British Government and the Bank of England. The claims are made that its recent enlargement has made it capable of treating 250,000 oz. per week by the chlorine process, and that it is the largest gold refinery in the world.

All records for cream delivery at the Armstrong creamery for the corresponding time of the year were broken last Monday, when the total amount taken in weighed 2,210 pounds, with a butter output of over 700 pounds.

To-day's publicity is newspaper publicity—the kind that scatters, like shrapnel, and hits targets in all directions. It is the surest, most direct, and biggest return for the money method yet discovered.

Pte. James Ritchie, who was invalided home some time ago, has been given his discharge and has returned to his home here.

The "Okanagan" went on the lake run of the "Sicamous," on Tuesday. The latter boat is being overhauled in preparation for the coming season.

Mr J. G. Robison and Mr W. M. Dryden, manager and secretary respectively of the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union, accompanied by their wives, motored down from Peachland last Sunday. They visited Mineola before returning home.

Mrs Adamson, now of Aspen Grove, after spending a few days here with her former neighbors, Mr and Mrs J. L. Logie, has returned home. It is currently reported that she is selling her orchard property here to a prairie buyer.

Much hard work has been put in by the members of the Choral Union in preparation for the concert which is to be given this evening. A more pretentious program than that of their first public performance has been prepared, and every citizen should plan to attend. Quite aside from the full measure of enjoyment that will be had there is the fact that all such local efforts deserve every encouragement.

A meeting of the irrigators of the Okanagan Valley will be held next week at Kelowna to make arrangements for the Western Canada Irrigation Congress at Nelson in July. The meeting will take place on Thursday, and it is expected that William Young, Comptroller of Water Rights for British Columbia government will be present, also F. H. Auld, Minister of Agriculture for Saskatchewan. R. J. C. Steud, acting secretary of the Western Canada Association, will be at the meeting.

A fine send-off was given Fred Pardee last Saturday night by his fellow townspeople of Mineola, when many gathered at the school-house to bid him farewell on the occasion of his departure to don the khaki. Most of the evening was spent in dancing. Advantage was taken of the occasion by his fellow employees of the Summerland Lumber Co. to present him with a gold wrist watch and a sum of money. Several people went out from Summerland to attend the presentation and dance.

There are many in Summerland who will learn with regret the death of Gordon C. Perry, a former student at Okanagan College. Obtaining leave of absence from training camp, he returned to his home in Brooklyn, N.Y., to visit his parents on Sunday, April 7th, and was stricken with a severe case of pneumonia, and died the following Saturday. The following reference to his training at the College here is taken from an obituary notice in an eastern publication: "His intellectual preparation for his part in life was secured at Okanagan College, and so well was this foundation laid that he won generous recognition from the business world; and in a few months from his enlistment at the call of his country he was recommended for promotion to the grade of sergeant, first-class, in the 14th Provisional Ordnance Depot Co." His only sister is a student at McMaster University, Toronto.

Mrs Hinton, wife of Capt. Hinton of Victoria, and her young son, are guests at the Cartwright home.

Mr K. S. Hogg went down to the Coast last week-end for a short visit. He took with him his youngest daughter.

Don't postpone ordering fruit trees for Spring 1919 delivery, until Fall; ORDER NOW. B.C. Nurseries Co., Ltd. tf

During the last two or three days Mr O. Atkins has been making quick recovery from his recent sudden and serious illness.

Mr George Dobie, manager of the Okanagan Telephone Co., got the better of his North Okanagan friends when he came up from the Coast a few days ago, took unto himself a wife at Kamloops, and started on a honeymoon trip in the States.

According to a report received here from Vernon, Jack Conway has severed his connection with the Slade concern and has joined the Mutual Brokers, and will work in the Okanagan under Mr Skinner, formerly of the Vernon Fruit Union. He takes up this week the new work of soliciting fruit for the Nash concern.

The operetta "Pandora," given by the Penticton Junior Choral and Dramatic Club, and which was well received by a crowded house last week at the Empire Theatre, Penticton, will be repeated for the benefit of Summerland music lovers next Friday evening in the College Gymnasium. The proceeds will be donated to the Y.M.C.A. Details are given in the advertisement in this number.

After an absence of about two years, Garnett (Curly) Cascaden has returned to Summerland. In that time, his experiences have been many and varied. Succeeding in getting into the army when so many of Summerland's boys were enlisting he went through training here and in England, and saw service in Flanders. He was but little more than sixteen when he enlisted, and his return to Canada a few months ago was because of his age. He came here from the Peace River district where his parents now reside. As is natural for a boy of 16 he has changed considerably since last he was here.

Nearly Doubles Requested Sum For Red Triangle

Summerland Responds Nobly to Call for Money to maintain Work of "Y" Among Our Soldiers.

Between $2,100 and $2,200 is Summerland's contribution to the Red Triangle Fund in the three days' Dominion-wide drive made last week. This is quite apart from the monthly contributions that have been made for many months to this fund by a number of our citizens in amounts which, if computed for a year, would look pretty good beside even some of the larger sums subscribed in last week's canvass.

Two hundred and forty people of Summerland assisted in making up this really very satisfactory total of well over two thousand dollars. The average per capita was thus about an even nine dollars.

Turned into the bank up to the time of writing were $1,590, of which $1,095 was cash. From $250 to $300 was still to be handed in by one canvasser, while one of our lady citizens has volunteered $300, which will also be in cash.

Having fixed their objective at the modest figure of $1,200, the committee is justly delighted with the results of the campaign, which, when all returns are in, will show that almost twice the sum aimed for has been contributed.

If other centres contributed as generously as did Summerland the sum asked for from the district and province will be greatly exceeded.

Very incomplete figures are yet available from the other centres in this district.

Outdoor Fires Now Banned

Closed Season Closed May 1, and Permits must now be Obtained for Burning.

During the closed season for fires, which started on May 1st, it is necessary to obtain a permit to burn out of doors. These permits may be obtained from the local forest officer or the assistant forest ranger in the district in which it is intended to set out fire. A permit must be obtained for every open burner and every fire for industrial purposes.

All inflammable material must be cleared away three feet in every direction from the edge of every camp fire, and every camp fire must be totally extinguished before the person making it leaves the place.

Lighted matches and burning tobacco, before being thrown away, must be thoroughly extinguished.

Brush and slashings accumulated by any person within 200 feet of any public railway must be disposed of under the direction of an officer of the forest branch. In clearing rights-of-way, all slashings must be disposed of. The same applies to logging and land-clearing operations.

Former Markets Commissioner Will Go Overseas.

W. E. McTaggart, who resigned in 1916 his position with the province as Prairie Markets Commissioner to resume journalistic work, and has since been in the Canadian army, has been given an overseas commission with the Y.M.C.A. Mr. McTaggart accompanied Mr. Geo. Warburton on his trip across Canada in the work of organizing for the Red Triangle Fund campaign, and later was in charge of publicity work for the same fund for Manitoba and Saskatchewan. It is not long since Mr. McTaggart was given his discharge from the army, and he has now been selected by the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. to go to London to engage in patrol work for the Y.M.C.A.

Official Certificate Record of Performance Awarded Local Cow.

To Balcom Ranch is Honor of Obtaining First Certificate in District.

To a Summerland owned cow was recently awarded the government official certificate for record of performance. This cow is one of the herd at the Balcom Ranch, Summerhill Topsy, 16111. During the 365 days of her official test she produced 13,822 pounds of milk, and butter fat 452 lbs., sufficient to make 565 pounds of butter. Summerhill Topsy is the first cow in Summerland to qualify for the Dominion Certificate for Record of Performance, and Balcom Ranch is, we are informed, the second farm in all the Valley to obtain such a certificate.

The certificate is given only to pure bred cows, the minimum of milk production for 12 months being 10,500 pounds. The cow must again freshen within 15 months from the beginning of the test. 357 lbs. of butter fat is the minimum of fat allowed under the standard fixed for this test.

Converted into quarts Topsy's yield for the year would be 5,528, which, if sold at 10 cents per quart, would have returned the owners $552.80, surely a good margin over the highest possible cost of her feed and care. By converting the butter fat into butter and selling it at 50 cents a pound there would have been a return of $282.50 for the butter, and the skim milk would have been left for the feeding of young stock, pigs, and poultry.

To assure the accuracy of the records kept on the farm, official inspectors drop in unannounced and weigh the milkings, test for butter fat, and also test the scales. He stays over the second day to make absolutely sure that the performance of the cow or cows is as recorded.

There are other cows in the Summerland district that are now under test and will soon be awarded certificates if they maintain their present records.

Summerhill Topsy is a Holstein of excellent breeding, and well demonstrates that good breeding pays.

Cow testing associations are now common throughout Canada for the encouragement of improved milk production in the common or grade cow.

OBITUARY.

ALVIN GARNETT.

Alvin Garnett is dead! The news of his death came as a great shock to his many young friends of Summerland, as but few of them knew that he was ill.

During the Easter holidays, Alvin and four young companions were playing on a raft in the brook near Vernon when all five were precipitated into the water. His chums built a fire and around it dried their clothes, but Alvin did not take that precaution, and went back to town with his bicycle, and did not go home for some time. He developed a serious cold, and acute rheumatism with high fever soon resulted. His heart became affected, and the end came suddenly about eight o'clock on Wednesday evening at the Vernon Hospital, where he had been for a week.

Had he lived until next Thursday he would have completed his sixteenth year. Practically all his young life had been spent in Summerland, he having come here with his grand-parents thirteen years ago. Lately he had lived much with his uncle, T. J. Garnett, and with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Williams, by whom he had been adopted, and he was with them at Vernon during the past winter.

The body was brought to Summerland last evening and taken to the Lakeside Church, where the funeral service will be held this afternoon at five o'clock, conducted by Rev. A. Henderson, and interment will be in the Peach Orchard cemetery, the pall-bearers being selected from among his former school mates.

Some people manage to get up with the clock all right, but they have an awful struggle to keep up with it all day.

Kelley Assessment Case Will Not Be Appealed

Council Disposes of Volume of Business at Monday's Session Water is subject of several Requests

Asked to Settle Dispute Between Supt. and Ditchman.

Road-Supt. McAlpine Assumes Charge of Section of Lakeshore Road.—Citizen Takes New Method of Paying Tax.

Considerably less time was spent around the table by the members of the Municipal Council at the regular meeting on Monday than has been generally occupied during the earlier sessions this year. Several citizens called on various matters of business, but the time required to attend to their requests was brief, and the communications were quickly disposed of and the accounts passed without any undue delay.

J. L. Hilborn asked for a second irrigation connection from the pipe line. He noted that others were being given two or more connections, and these extra connections had the effect of reducing the pressure, and hence the supply obtainable through the one was reduced. True he had not suffered greatly from water shortage, but he attributed this to frequent cultivating. Referred to Public Works Committee.

G. A. Marshall and M. Stewart asked for a change in the water service on the hill south of T. J. Garnett's. Mr. Stewart is setting out a quantity of tomato plants here, and the present method of water distribution is causing flooding in places. Referred to Public Works Committee. Mr. Stewart's request for a connection to the Wilson lot on Jones Flat, formerly served across the Watson lot, was also referred to the same committee.

That the pipe line from the tank at Dale's corner to his lot is too small to supply him and those beyond on the same line, was the claim of A. E. Hespeler. He complained of serious water shortage, and stated that frequently it was impossible to get domestic water because of reduced pressure caused by irrigating on the lower levels. The fact that one of the valves at the tank was temporarily out of commission and also that the screens at the intakes were frequently choked by floating leaves, were suggested as reasons for the lowered pressure on this and other lines. The Public Works Committee was asked to have these remedied. Mr. Hespeler has for several years been urging the council to cancel a registered roadway running straight up the gulch near the water fall, and to take a dead of that part of the existing road that runs through the Hespeler property as originally surveyed. He claims that there are now the registered road and the constructed road, both of which he must recognize, and that until the former is cancelled he cannot extend his fence line. He further claims to be paying rates on this registered road. The clerk disputed the claim that rates were being paid on this road, and claimed that an exchange of deeds was not necessary.

To his knowledge, Coun. White said, this matter of roadways has been coming up periodically for several years. Why not get all the facts and finally dispose of it? Coun. Simpson also spoke in favor of satisfying Mr. Hespeler in respect to this.

Mr. Hespeler stated that he was having the property lines re-surveyed, and promised to lay the plan before the council at an early date. Before retiring he intimated that action to compel better water service would be taken unless the service was immediately improved. If it was impossible to supply him through the pipe line he asked that a flume be built.

H. C. Moller obtained from the council an understanding as to his planting the Thomson lot, under the hill east of the Kerr property, now held by the municipality, and also obtained permission to plant about a half acre of land just outside the cemetery fence. He was going to say something about getting water, but seeing the difficulties the council was up against, he would say nothing on that point, believing that water would be supplied as soon as possible.

P. G. Koop complained that a gate through which his lot No. 16 had been supplied with water had been closed up, and stated that the proposed means of supplying water would not suffice. This, and his complaint that his lot 21 had not been supplied with water last season, were referred to the Public Works Committee, with promise of immediate attention.

Indications of friction between the water superintendent and one of his ditchmen was apparent in the comments of H. Dunsdon, who operates the Garnett Valley section of the irrigation system, when he came before the council complaining that the superintendent had interfered with the headgates on his section. It became apparent from the statements of Mr. Dunsdon and from those of Supt. Mitchell, who was called in later, that the former had not let down to Jones Flat as much water as he had been instructed to, and that the ditchman had taken it upon himself to over-rule the orders of his superintendent with the object of conserving the water for the Garnett Valley farms. Mr. Dunsdon was informed by Reeve Bluff that the ditchmen were under the superintendent, and must carry out the superintendent's instructions.

To supply water to Jones Flat, Supt. Mitchell said he had been temporarily drawing on the Garnett Valley dam, but immediately the work on the north main was finished all this flat would be supplied from Trout Creek and the water in Eneas Creek conserved for Garnett Valley. He was now getting a supply from the lower dam in Garnett Valley. Coun. Johnston and Campbell all stated that there was plenty of snow in the hills to fill both dams in Garnett Valley, and Coun. Campbell said he believed it was all right to let the water down now and to hold it back later. Mr. Dunsdon had stated that he would resign if the superintendent interfered with his gates. When questioned Supt. Mitchell said he had no desire to touch the gates himself, but he had asked that more water be let down, and had been told that the gates were open. He went up the ditch to investigate the small flow, and found that the gates were not opened, and had adjusted them to permit an increased flow.

A communication from Inspector J. Tait reminded the council that he had not yet had a reply to his enquiry as to what would be done by the municipality in spraying and other preventative work in orchards held by the municipality. Constable Craig submitted a list of dog owners who had not yet paid their dog tax. It will be handed back to him with instructions to enforce the by-law. Instead of paying his water rates on a certain parcel of land P. G. Koop wrote to inform the council that he had paid the money to the Bank of Montreal "in escrow," the money to be paid to the municipal collector upon the council making matters regarding his irrigation supply satisfactory to Mr. Koop. This method of paying a water rate in time to save the discount was given no recognition by the council, Chairman Simpson of the Finance Committee stating that the only fact that could be considered was that the money had not been paid into the municipal office.

The Vancouver Board of Trade wrote calling attention to the offer of that body to finance any reliable farmer in purchasing brood sows, which is now accommodating a number of convalescent soldiers,

Madame Ferrell sang in unison with the New Edison a number of selections, records of which she had previously made. Standing beside the machine she paused at times to permit a comparison of her pure, rich, soprano voice with the recreation of it being made from the record.

Miss Freeman, who, in a most delightful manner, told of the attainment achieved by Mr. Edison, and announced the numbers of the program, also greatly delighted the audience by her inimical playing of the violin, also in unison with the New Edison.

Though at times the playing and singing of the artistes seemed stronger than the machine, yet this very fact only further demonstrated the perfection of its re-creations. And the same sweet voice of Madame Ferrell was pouring forth from the machine as from the throat of the singer. Allowing but little for the difference in tone between Miss Freeman's violin and that of the violin from which the record was made the music from the machine was identical to that from the violin beside it.

A delightfully varied program given by two such artistes was a treat not soon to be forgotten, nor will the successful demonstration of the perfection reached in the New Edison be passed by.

It was suggested that the Municipality of Summerland assist in this work. The clerk was instructed to answer that the local hospital has in a small way been doing similar work. An application for domestic water to a lot in Peach Valley was received from W. C. Kelley. It was referred to committee, but before adjourning the council was informed that there was no main from which a service could be given, the old pipe running past the property having been discarded.

A communication from Provincial Road Superintendent McAlpine informed the council that the Provincial Department of Public Works had decided to take care of half of the lakeshore road lying within the limits of the municipality and that he had selected the northern half.

Coun. Johnston expressed some dissatisfaction with this, as he did not appreciate the idea of the municipality having to take up the maintenance of the other half of the road.

While it was to be regretted that the government had declined to take over all the road, Coun. White said that we should gladly accept this assistance, as legally the municipality might be required to maintain it for its full length. We would now have to prepare to keep up the road from town to Trout Creek bridge, Coun. Simpson expressed much the same opinion.

Telling of a recent experience with the water system at the point where the Experimental Station supply leaves the municipal flume, Supt. Helmer wrote suggesting that a spillway be put in from that point to the creek. Referred to Public Works Committee.

Musical Recital Greatly Enjoyed by Large Audience.

Through Courtesy of Local Merchant, Many Hear Noted Soprano.

An unusual treat was afforded music lovers on Tuesday evening when through the joint arrangement of the Summerland Supply Co. and W. R. King, dealers in Summerland and Penticton for the New Edison phonograph, Mme. Florence Ferrell, the famous soprano, and Miss Grace Freeman, a noted California violinist, were heard in the Empire Theatre, Penticton. Invitations were issued by both dealers to the capacity of the house, and it is stated that well over one hundred and fifty Summerland people attended the recital.

The purpose of the recital was to demonstrate the perfection in the art of re-creating music that has been attained by Thos. A. Edison in his New Edison. For this purpose a regular stock machine was used, the one used on Tuesday evening being bought some time ago by Jos. Brent from the Summerland Supply Co., and loaned by him for the occasion.

Madame Ferrell sang in unison with the New Edison a number of selections, records of which she had previously made. Standing beside the machine she paused at times to permit a comparison of her pure, rich, soprano voice with the recreation of it being made from the record.

Province Will Maintain Half Lakeshore Road

That Portion of Trunk Road Lying within Municipal Limits will be Put Under District Superintendent.

The Provincial Department of Public Works has announced its intention of maintaining one half of the lakeshore road within the municipal limits of Peachland and Summerland. Intimation of this decision, in so far as it affects Summerland, was received in a letter from Road Supt. McAlpine to the Summerland Municipal Council. In the same letter he stated that he would take over the northern half of the road within the Municipality of Summerland. To the Review Supt. McAlpine stated later that he would maintain the section of the road within Summerland limits from the northern boundary to just south of the corner of the Peach Orchard road at Mr. G. N. Gartrell's house. He will also take care of the northern half of the road within the Peachland limits.

Considerable disappointment is felt by municipal authorities that the Department had not consented to take over the care of the whole length of the road within municipal limits. While it is true these roads are used as part of the municipal highways systems they are principally used as sections of the through trunk road paralleling the lake, and the authorities in both Summerland and Peachland have been endeavoring to get the government to see it that way. On different occasions Supt. McAlpine has said that he would prefer to have the full care of the sections traversing the municipalities, and we believe that the district engineer would prefer that the thoroughfare in its entirety be put under his department.

Believing that the province would assume the maintenance of the road, and feeling that it would be an injustice to leave the work for the municipality to do, very little has been done by the Municipal Council on the lakeshore road from Peach Orchard to the Trout Creek bridge. There will be much heavier traffic on this road during the coming summer and fall than ever before, and considerable work will be necessary to put it in a reasonably satisfactory condition.

There will still be a piece of the road, between the Trout Creek bridge and the southern boundary of South Okanagan District, to be kept up by Supt. McAlpine.

We are informed by Supt. McAlpine that he has been advised that the same appropriation has been made for road work in his territory as was granted last year, namely, $21,000. This, as he says, will mean that less will be done this year than last, unless considerable economies can be effected. Team work, labor, everything that goes into road construction is costing considerably more than a year ago. Even at the higher rate he is finding it almost impossible to get men. Only a few days ago he had to lay off some teams that he had been successful in hiring because of inability to get men for loading, etc.

Almost any day there will arrive in Summerland a motor truck built especially for road work, and Mr. McAlpine is expecting to be able to effect a considerable saving over the present cost of team work with this outfit, beside being able to do much more work with the same number of men.

A GOOD FRIEND.

To have a good friend is one of the highest delights of life; to be a good friend is one of the noblest and most difficult undertakings. There is no man so poor that he is not rich if he have a friend; there is no man so rich that he is not poor without a friend. But friendship is a word made to cover many kindly, impermanent relationships. Real friendship is abiding. Like charity it is long-suffering and is kind. Like love, it vaunteth not itself, but pursueth the even tenor of its way, unaffrighted by ill-report, loyal in adversity, the solvent of infelicity, the shining jewel of happy days. Friendship has not the iridescent joys of love, though it is closer than is often known to the highest, truest love. Its heights are ever serene, its valleys know few clouds. To aspire to friendship one must cultivate a capacity for disinterestedness, a clear discernment. Friendship is a gift, but it is also an acquirement. It is like the rope which climbers bind themselves to in the high mountains for safety, and only a coward cuts the rope when a comrade is in danger. From Cicero to Emerson, and long before Cicero, and forever after Emerson, the praises of friendship have been set forth. Even fragments of friendship are precious and ought to be treasured. But to have a whole, real friend is the greatest gift of earth save one. To be a whole, real friend is worthy high endeavor.

KELLEY ASSESSMENT CASE WILL NOT BE APPEALED.

W. H. D. Ladner, counsel for the municipality with reference to same. Pointing out that there could be no appeal against the judgement in itself and that the matter could be taken to a higher court on points of law, though the judgement worked a hardship on the municipality, Mr Ladner said there was little to be gained by appealing, and suggested that the matter be dropped, hoping that the law pertaining to assessments would soon be changed. In substance, the reasons given by Judge Brown for reducing the assessments on the for faith, truth, courage, and loyalty bring one close to the Kingdom of Heaven.

Kelley properties were that the two Bank of Montreal lots were assessed at $1,000 and the lot next these had been sold for $300. The price obtained for the Greenhow lot, less the valuation put on the buildings on it by witnesses had governed the value put on Mr Kelley's home lot. It was stated at the council meeting that the price of $300 put on the lot next the bank was a nominal figure, the property having been sold in an exchange deal.

There was but little comment on the result, Coun. Simpson stating that he did not consider sales made in times of depression as establishing actual values.

There will be no appeal made by the municipality.

Coun. Johnston and Clerk Logie, with Coun. Simpson as an alternative were appointed delegates to a meeting of irrigationists to be held at Kelowna prior to the irrigation convention at Nelson.

In reply to an enquiry Chairman Johnston, of the Public Works Committee stated that he expected that the work on the north main would be completed sufficiently by Friday to permit the turning in of the water.

Coun. White told of complaints of water shortage near the lake front, the ditchman having stated that the supply of water reaching his headgate being short. This was referred to the superintendent. He asked that the roadway running around from the Union icehouse to the Moyes' property be put in better condition. At present the residents there are put to undue expense because of the need of a little road work. Coun. Campbell promised to give this his attention. Accounts as follows were recommended by the Finance Committee for payment:

Buy In Your Own Community

A Patriotic Motto that Should be Spread Broadcast Throughout the Entire Countryside

(Prepared by the Community Loyalty League. Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

The integral part of the nation is the individual community.

A nation is made up of communities.

Communities hold the nation together—furnish the adhesives that make it a concrete substance.

The stronger these individual communities become the greater the nation becomes.

National patriotism has its rise in the community, and just how powerful national patriotism becomes depends upon the extent of the local patriotism evidenced in the communities.

Some communities are more progressive and more prosperous than others because they are more patriotic to their home interests.

"Buy in your own community" is the most patriotic and in the long run by far the most profitable watchword the people of any community can set before themselves. Unthinking, heedless people, if present in sufficient numbers, can wreck any community in a short space of time by practicing a system of false economy.

WHAT A LIVE COMMUNITY MEANS.

A live, growing, aggressive community is one that takes patriotic pride in its own local enterprises and patronizes them to the fullest possible extent.

Here, the local merchants, with cheerful confidence, stock up with an abundance of every requisite for use in the community—because they can depend upon the people of that community to do their buying from the home merchants. This makes for mutually helpful, congenial relation, moderate prices, and healthy trading conditions.

In such a community you will find active interest in all public affairs. There are good schools and churches, social advantages, sport and entertainment for young and old.

Advancement is the order of the day; progress is the watchword, and achievement is the realization that carries the spirit of the people to greater and grander goals.

Such is the community that is harkened to with attention and respect when it has something to lay before the legislative bodies or the directors of commercial corporations.

It is a "live-wire" community in the real sense of that oft-abused term, and it turns out boys and girls reared in an environment whose atmosphere breathed inspiration and whose precepts spelled success.

That is what it means to have a community with character.

KEEP THE HOME DOLLARS EARNING.

The community lacking this spirit, this character, will dwindle and die of stagnation.

Every dollar sent away to enrich some great metropolitan centre at the expense of local enterprises assists that much in the work of devastation.

Community buying is the running mate of development.

It precedes and is synonymous with the blossoming-out of every successful commercial centre in Canada. It means more wealth to a country than the discovery of gold; its rays are warmer than radium; it outshines the diamond, and flows smoother than oil.

Every dollar spent at home—and kept within the community as long as possible—enriches the country two-fold. In the first place, your home-spent dollar performs an essential, patriotic duty to the primitive source of its birth—production—and the community reaps its just measure of benefit. In the second place, when your home-spent dollar is finally called upon, in the exigencies of greater commerce, to roam elsewhere, its mission is one of necessity, and it performs its second duty—the duty of wise economy toward the nation, and it sends home interest on its investment abroad.

While the interests of the community and the nation are mutual, your first duty is to your own community. The more the community is enriched, the more the nation is enriched; because, as has been pointed out, the nation is an unknown quantity without the community.

YOU KNOW IT'S TRUE?

You are only playing at food saving yet. In England and France they are "doing" it.

Fruit in some form should be provided every day for the children's lunch boxes.

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Mr A. J. McKenzie was a visitor to Kelowna on Tuesday.

Mr Robb, of the Peachland Lumber Co., who spent the week-end with his family in Penticton, returned on Tuesday morning.

Mrs Stevens and three little daughters came in on Tuesday night and are visiting at Mr Wm. Coldham's.

Mr and Mrs Sheppard and four children came in on Tuesday night and are staying at the Edgewater Inn. They want to locate somewhere in the Valley, and are staying in Peachland until they find a place to suit them.

The regular semi-monthly sewing meeting of the Ambulance League was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Reading Room.

Mr J. Michael returned on Wednesday morning after taking his team down to W. D. Miller's logging camp.

Mrs Kincaid of Kelowna came down on Friday night and spent the week-end with her daughter, Miss Jean. She returned home on Monday morning.

Mrs H. E. and Master Arthur and Miss Alice McCall were passengers out on Friday night for Vancouver. They stopped off in Merritt for a few days on their way out. They will be away for three weeks.

Mrs W. D. Sanderson was a passenger to Penticton on Friday night where she has gone to visit friends.

There was a good attendance at the open meeting of the Women's Institute which was held in the Baptist school hall on Friday evening. The president, Mrs W. Douglas, was in the chair. The Roll Call was answered by a quotation from Shakespeare. Miss White gave an interesting reading on Jerusalem, and Mrs Mitchell sang "The Holy City." She was accompanied by Miss Muddell. Rev. W. J. Scott then gave an instructive talk on Jerusalem as it was in Bible times, and as it is under present day conditions. He used a fine plan of the city, which was drawn by Rev. J. A. Rowland, and about sixty picture postcards to illustrate his subject. A collection was taken for Red Cross work.

Mr Manu of Cappelle, Sask., came in on Saturday night and is visiting friends here. He is looking for a location, having sold his ranch in Saskatchewan.

Miss Wright, who is visiting her brother here, Mr J. Wright, accompanied by her two nieces, the Misses Alice and Helen Wright, were visitors to Kelowna on Tuesday.

Mrs McKay and her daughter Miss Clara Palmer of Naramata came up on Tuesday morning and spent the day with Mr and Mrs Robert Michael and Mrs Lee Mills.

Mr Groves, district water engineer, spent a day in the district this week looking after the water affairs at Trepanier. He went on down the lake Tuesday night.

The regular meeting of the Trepanier Lodge A.F. & A.M. was held in the lodge room over Thompson's store on Tuesday evening. They were honored with a visit from the District Deputy, Mr P. B. Willits of Kelowna. Quite a number of people came down from Kelowna in cars to attend the meeting.

Rev. W. J. Scott and Mr W. J. Moore were passengers to Kelowna on Wednesday, returning the same day.

The Baptist Women's Mission Circle was held at the home of Mrs P. Dorland on Wednesday afternoon.

Dr and Mrs Buchanan received a wire on Thursday saying that their son John had been shell-gassed. So far they have not received any further word as to his condition, and we sincerely hope that this means that his case is not serious.

The amount collected for the Y.M.C.A. last week was $253.60 in Peachland, and $73.10 in Westbank, making a total of $326.70 for the district. This amount was all cash with the exception of $31.00.

How to Preserve Eggs for Winter

Eggs laid in April, May, and early June keep better than those laid later in the season. If properly treated, they will keep in perfect condition from eight to twelve months. If the eggs are to be boiled, the larger end should be pierced with a needle point before putting them in the boiling water.

The eggs, to begin with, must be fresh and clean, not washed clean, but laid clean. If the shell of an egg is not clean, use it at once. If there is a spot of soil on the shell, the water glass does not come in contact with the shell and the egg will decay.

A quart of water glass in a five-gallon crock or agate-ware container will suffice for 15 dozen eggs. Clean the crock thoroughly, scald till hot, wipe dry, and stand in the sun, if convenient.

Boil 9 quarts of water, allow it to cool thoroughly, then add the water glass and stir well in the crock. Stand the crock in a cool, dry place and do not move unnecessarily after the eggs are packed. Put the eggs loosely, but carefully, in the solution, leaving a depth of two inches or more over the top layer of eggs. Tie heavy oiled paper over the crock to prevent evaporation. For more than 15 dozen eggs, two crocks are preferable to one larger one. After using the water glass once, it must be thrown away.

If water glass is too expensive or is unobtainable, add 3 pounds of unslacked lime to 5 gallons of

According to the report of the organizer of Domestic Science for the Province of British Columbia, there are forty-five domestic science centres in the province. The subjects embodied in the course are well taught, and great advancement in sewing and knitting has been made. Considerable attention has also been paid to economical cooking, as well as to canning and preserving of fruit, vegetables, and fish. The necessity for such knowledge has been amply demonstrated by the war. Teachers adopt many different methods of teaching the lessons in domestic science centres, but they all practice those which are more or less scientific in character, and discard those of a purely empirical nature. This instruction is already given to great advantage in the normal school at Victoria.

Use honey, maple syrup, molasses, and brown sugar instead of granulated sugar. The first three of these cannot be shipped to our Allies in Europe as they require too much shipping space. Brown sugar cannot be shipped as it ferments. Use these commodities at home so that granulated sugar can be shipped abroad.

O. F. Zimmerman, Scoutmaster. Headquarters, College Gymnasium.

Meets every Friday evening at 7.30 p.m.

Our last Friday's meeting was postponed until Monday owing to the Choral Union Concert held that evening.

On Monday the troop was able to welcome our Commissioner, this being his first official visit since the reorganization of the troop.

After roll call the troop was placed in his charge while he put the boys through the different questions on Scout work.

Commissioner Heneage then gave the boys a short but interesting talk on Scouting in general, and the work going on in other troops as a whole.

The secretary then took the Scouts, and measurements were taken for uniforms, which we hope to have shortly.

It was suggested that the Scouts hold a field day on May the 24th, inviting Kelowna and Penticton to participate. The boys are all strongly in favor of such a scheme.

Preparations for the big "Junk Day" are being rapidly pushed forward, and we hope the citizens of Summerland are doing the same. Get in touch with Mr Zimmerman. Remember to-morrow is "The Day."

Miss Dorothea Cooper returned on Monday evening's boat after spending the winter in Ottawa. On her return journey she stopped off at several points, the last being at Calgary.

Among the accounts put before the council last Monday were two items totalling $35 incident to the death in the local hospital of the Swede, and which was recorded in these columns several weeks ago.

Mr and Mrs T. P. Thornber went out to Vancouver by the Thursday morning train. Mr Thornber will consult a specialist, and expects to undergo an operation that will require that he remain in the Coast city for two or three weeks.

Rev. A. Henderson, who had intended to go down to the Coast to attend the annual conference of the Methodist Church, did not feel equal to the strain of the journey and meetings, not being in his usual good health of late, and now expects to occupy his place in the pulpit of the Lakeside Church on Sunday evening.

Mr W. J. Bowser, leader of the opposition in the provincial house, accompanied by Mr J. W. Jones, member for this district, arrived in Peachland this morning from Kelowna, and they are due in Summerland about noon to-day. The visitors will attend a special meeting of their supporters in the Parish Hall this evening and will leave for the south on Saturday at noon.

Splendid pictures of actual scenes at the front were shown last Saturday at The Rialto when the official films "France in Arms" were screened. That there was no more action shown was a disappointment to the management, but in no other way could such realistic impressions of what is being done by our men overseas have been portrayed. Something more in line with the requirements of Manager Young, and in which there will be abundance of action as well as being a most fascinating story, will be found in the wonderful picture "For the Freedom of the World" which will be shown at The Rialto next Saturday afternoon and evening. This picture is meeting with unqualified success everywhere, and the prices have purposely been made low, which is only possible because of the early booking of the films.

PROCEEDS + FOR + RED + CROSS

The Okanagan Telephone Co. have had men about the district for some days clearing up fallen pole lines.

Mr and Mrs T. G. Beavis and Mr J. R. Brown are among those who went out on Thursday morning to attend the Methodist conference at Victoria.

Mr Gus. Anderson of Kelowna, recently returned from active service overseas, was a visitor at the home of his mother in Peach Orchard last week. He was accompanied by his family.

Miss Bartlett of Victoria in company with her mother, is a guest at Hotel Summerland. She has come here, because of the fame of our climate, to recuperate after a recent illness, and is already much benefited.

"Mothers' Day" was observed last Sunday in St Andrew's Church. In the morning the prescribed service for the day was followed. Beside concert readings, recitations were given by members of the Sunday School, and Miss Lister sang a solo, "I'll Wear a White Flower For You, Mother Dear." At the evening service, instead of the pastor's address, a paper prepared by Ian McLaren was read by Alex. G. Smith, a solo, duet, and anthem being sung at intervals. Mr J. G. Robertson presided, the pastor, Rev. W. H. Bates, being at the Lakeside Church.

Miss Gertrude Perry, National Service Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., in a letter to Mr G. J. C. White of the local labor committee, states that she will be leaving Vancouver this week for the Okanagan. Announcement of her arrival in Summerland is expected any time. Miss Perry will be accompanied by Miss Sutherland, who has been appointed district secretary for the Okanagan, and who will remain during the season to render any assistance she can to the growers in making arrangements for the girls. Regular contract forms for this labor are being supplied by the government.

The Community Choral Union gave a splendid program last Friday evening in the Colloge Gymnasium. Unfortunately the attendance was not as large as could have been expected and the quality of the entertainment warranted. Every number showed the results of much hard practice, and was greatly enjoyed. Quite apart from the aesthetic pleasure one is certain to obtain from such a well-prepared program there is also due such an organization from every citizen a recognition of the good work being done by them in the training that is being given our younger citizens in concert music, the facilities for which are so often negligible in our young western communities.

Pte. J. M. Buchanan of Peachland is reported among the gassed in the casualty lists.

Every bed at the Summerland Hospital is occupied, and some additional nursing help is being sought.

The third car load of box shooks for the Broder Canning Co. has arrived and the material is being made into shipping boxes.

In a recent letter to his parents, Pte. Harold English says he is enjoying camp life in England, where he arrived about a month ago.

Thos. Behan, of the K.V.R. engineering staff, and who has been on construction work in the Coquihalla Pass, spent a few days here this week with his wife and baby.

Miss Anderson of Victoria, who has been a patient at the hospital, and for some time a guest with her mother at Hotel Summerland, went out this week to her home accompanied by her mother and Mrs Downton.

Rev. T. R. Heneage, Commissioner of Boy Scouts for B.C., was a visitor to Summerland this week. He expressed much satisfaction with the progress being made by the re-organized troop, having attended the Scout gathering on Monday evening.

A cabaret dance, which will be a novelty here, will be held next Monday evening in the Empire Hall. Three young women of the Summerland Fruit Union are promoting the dance, the entire proceeds of which will be turned over to the Red Cross workers. They have been fortunate in securing free of charge the services of the Pentiction Orchestra of eight pieces, and everything is being arranged for a delightful and successful evening. A cabaret dance is — well you can learn this better on Monday than by reading any description of such form of entertainment. Other particulars of Monday's affair will be found in the advertisement on this page.

S.O.S. Help For Valley Farmers

Some 1,500 boys have enlisted in B.C. under the "S.O.S." call, but only 500 boys so far have been placed. Rev. A. H. Sovereign, Vancouver, B.C., has been asked to take charge of this work for the Valley, and is now here appointing local supervisors in each centre, and spent Thursday in Summerland. Mr D. H. McIntosh, Principal of Summerland High School, has been appointed superintendent for this district. Farmers requiring boys, aged from 15 to 19, are asked to apply at once to Jas. H. Beatty, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, and boys will be allotted to them as required. In the United States last year the farmers used 100,000 boys, and they made good. Over 7,000 boys worked on farms in Ontario last year, and this year the farmers have asked for 15,000, and they will be supplied. Without doubt, as the war department calls up our manhood, allowing no exemptions, the boys will be our last reserve for farm work and food production. A boy can do work on the farm which releases the experienced man to do work requiring experience. Give our boys a fair chance and they will make good. Alberta has used up nearly all of its boys and is asking now for B.C. boys, and if B.C. farmers do not want them, they will be sent to Alberta. In fact, some already have gone. If you need a boy or boys, apply at once.

being built at Poplar Grove for the Naramata Fruit Co. is nearing completion, and will soon be ready for occupancy. This local company is looking forward to a very busy season.

District Water Engineer Groves arrived here on Monday morning, and, after engaging two of our boys, started out over the local irrigation system.

Road Supt. McAlpine was a recent visitor to the district. He was accompanied by Mrs McAlpine and her mother, Mrs Grieves, who spent the day with Mrs Hughes.

At the annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. held on Tuesday all the officers were re-elected. The receiving of reports, which were all very satisfactory, and other routine business occupied a good portion of the time. The amount raised for the "cocoa fund" by the giving of teas, and the sale of home-made cooking totalled $8. Master Lester Williams had assumed the responsibility of providing the program, and succeeded admirably. Included in his program were a quartette by the Misses Margaret Allen, Flora Lyons, Margaret Mitchell, and Dorothy Partridge, accompanied by Miss Alice Myers, and recitations by Miss Dorothy Partridge and Stanley Alen.

We are informed that the Syndica House, which has been closed for some months, is soon to be reopened with Mrs D. O. Hughes in charge.

Mrs Scoevers of Ottawa arrived here a few days ago and is the guest of Mrs H. T. Davies.

Mr and Mrs R. Campbell Robinson with their two children arrived last Friday night from Silver City, Idaho, where they now reside. Mr Robinson, who has not been here since he first went down to the mine, will return to Silver City after a few weeks' rest, but the others of the family will spend the summer here and at Summerland.

Jack Robinson left by last Friday night's boat for Vancouver where he will enlist in some branch of army service, the air service if he can succeed in getting his choice.

Master Mariner Again.

Capt. F. J. Languedoc, a former deep sea mariner, but for some years a successful fruit grower here, will leave almost immediately to take charge of a steamship at a Canadian Atlantic port.

When a call for men for the Inland Water Service was made more than a year ago Capt. Languedoc volunteered for that service. Last Friday he received a wire to report at Vancouver, and it was there that he received instructions to proceed across the continent to resume his former calling.

Beside operating his orchards Capt. Languedoc has been in charge of the local irrigation system, and his position in the community will be hard to fill. We trust his absence will be brief.

It is hard to get used to getting a dollar's worth of something and having to pay a dollar and a half for it.

Sunday Service

SUBSCRIBERS are asked to note that the 16 hour regular service on Sundays, 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., is too heavy a demand to make on our present staff of operators. The work on the switchboard is steadily growing, and competent operators are difficult to obtain. The directors have therefore decided to limit the regular Sunday service to the hours:

9 to 11 a.m.
5 to 10 p.m.

Before 9 in the morning and after 10 at night emergency service may be had. Present conditions make this change advisable, and subscribers are asked to cheerfully adapt themselves to these hours.

W. J. Bowser on Visit to Valley.

Free From Cares of Office, Enjoys His Trip and Learns Much.

Mr W. J. Bowser, Leader of the Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, and Mr J. W. Jones, member for South Okanagan, were visitors to Summerland last Friday, remaining until Saturday forenoon, when they crossed over to Naramata.

Mr Bowser, accompanied by a friend, Mr M. P. Gordon, is making a leisurely trip through the Interior, and was met at Salmon Arm, where he left the C.P.R., by Mr Jones, who took him over the Okanagan district by motor.

Advantage was taken of the short notice of their coming to call a meeting of their political friends in the Parish Hall, where Mr Bowser was heard at good advantage in an excellent address on some of the questions now in the minds of the public. Mr Jones also spoke, giving particular attention to the water policy of the government.

Mr Bowser looks several years younger than when he visited Summerland, and seems to be thoroughly enjoying his trip. Free from the cares of office, with no possibility of finding delegations awaiting him, Mr Bowser told the Review that he was deriving more pleasure and profit from his trip taken in a leisurely way than any member of a cabinet or government leader could ever get. Being now in opposition nothing was expected of him by the electors, and he was able to get into closer touch with the people and learn of the actual conditions and local needs. He would thus be able, when he returned to the capital, to better advise Premier Oliver on the real needs of the Upper Country, and especially as regards the water question, than he could have been in any other way.

After lunching at Naramata, Mr Bowser and Mr Gordon went over to the Similkameen, and from there they have since gone to the Boundary and Kootenay districts.

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTES.

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute was held last Friday in the Elliott Hall. Roll Call was answered by "What the War has Taught Me." It was a pity the attendance was not larger, to hear a very interesting and timely paper on B.C. Laws by Mrs R. C. Lipsett. Mrs Rau also helped with the program of the afternoon by demonstrating "Shirt Waist Making." The members are to be benefited by another lesson a few months hence.

Three dollars and thirty-five cents was the proceeds of a small sale held in aid of the Prisoners-of-War Fund, a fund to which the Institute subscribes monthly.

At the last meeting of the West Summerland Women's Institute, which was well attended, Mr W. C. Kelley spoke on the Laws of B.C. Affecting Women, suggesting that it was for the women to get busy on having the objectionable laws remedied. A paper on pictures prepared by Miss Aitchison, was read by Miss Dale. An album of Perry pictures had been sent to the meeting by Miss Aitchison, and was much enjoyed. The meeting decided that the members be asked to contribute eggs to the Summerland Hospital.

The Review is indebted to Pto. W. J. Beattie for another copy of the Iodine Chronicle, a front line publication edited by members of the army hospital service.

The Red Cross workers will meet in Elliott's Hall next week as usual.

Excluding farmers' wives, there are almost 2,000,000 women in the United States who give their whole time to farm work.

Little Surplus Flour or Sugar Held by Consumers.

Enquiry among the local dealers would indicate that there has not been any great amount of reserve flour in the possession of the householders of the district and no extra supply of sugar. The recent order-in-council pertaining to the supplies of flour and sugar held by consumers and dealers fix a limit on the amount each may have in his possession, and anyone who disobeys is open to severe punishment. Some months ago, when the order went forth that no more white flour should be manufactured, local dealers tried to make an equitable distribution among their customers of what white flour was then in stock. Had such an order as that recently issued come at that time quite a few tons of flour would have been returned to the dealers. Since then any flour that has been purchased has been the war flour, and has only been purchased in limited quantities.

To be holding in reserve any surplus flour is now a grave offence, and to do so is to assume the risk of severe punishment, beside failing to do one's share in the country's effort to maintain a supply of flour to our men and Allies overseas.

The regulation regarding sugar is to make available to all a share of the sugar supply of the country, rather than to conserve it for shipment across the Atlantic.

Big Road Maps To Draw Tourists.

An idea which originated in Summerland, but which has been taken up by Kelowna, and with the co-operation of Summerland and other districts in the Valley, to materially increase the tourist traffic through the Valley, is now likely to be carried through. An informal meeting of representatives of the Boards of Trade of Kelowna and Summerland was held here this week to further the plan.

For some time it has been realized that too few of the tourists motoring up from the south or coming in from the Similkameen have not come beyond Penticton. That this is because these visitors have not been duly informed of the towns and of the roads of the Valley, and of the connections made by the latter is felt to be one of the chief reasons of this situation. To furnish this information in a clear and concise form the proposition has been made that the Okanagan towns join in the expense of erecting a large sign-board in the form of a map, showing the lake and the country to the north, and also by a red line the through road, the ferry crossing at Kelowna, and in narrower lines the side roads. The map would show Kamloops and Revelstoke, and would thus show that it was not necessary to return over the same road if the motorist continued up through the Valley.

Summerland Boy Is Prisoner-of-War

Jack Kennedy is a prisoner of war in Germany. This information was received by some of his friends in Summerland a few days ago when a card was received from him written in a German prison camp. Kennedy was taken prisoner early in the big German drive on the western front in March, and it is said, is the first of the many from here to fall into the hands of the enemy. It has been suggested that his capture has created a new and special duty for some one of the local patriotic organizations, to attend to the forwarding regularly to this young citizen of Summerland, parcels containing such articles as would be most acceptable to him, and that would be accepted for transportation to a prisoner-of-war.

Masons are busy this week laying the foundation for an addition to the ground floor space of the Stouart packing house. The addition will be of one storey at present, and will practically double the size of the ground floor.

Cabaret Dance And Supper a Great Success

Red X Funds Augmented by nearly Seventy dollars.

Affair was Largely Attended and Greatly Enjoyed.

Of a number of successful dances held this season that held in the Empire Hall last Monday evening is described as the most successful. Certainly everyone seemed to enjoy himself or herself thoroughly, and the monetary results were most satisfactory to the promoters. It was attended by close to, if not quite, two hundred people, including a number of visitors from Penticton and other places.

Much thought and work had been spent by the three young ladies of the Summerland Fruit Union staff, who were the promoters; in the hall decorations, which were carried out quite in keeping with a "Red Cross" dance.

A most pleasing innovation was the cabaret supper. More than two dozen small tables, each with its complement of chairs, were arranged around the edge of the big floor, and at these was maintained a continuous service in the sale of ice-creams, cakes, and drinks. This feature helped to make up the very substantial sum that has been turned over to the local Red Cross workers.

Much favorable comment was heard of the music furnished by a recently organized orchestra from Penticton, whose services, we are informed, were given without charge.

Misses Warne, Sutherland, and Blair, to whom is due the chief credit for the success of the event, fell under obligation to the ladies who so generously responded when asked to help with the refreshments, and also to the girls who served at the tables, and to these and all others who so willingly assisted, the Review has been asked to extend the gratitude of these three young ladies.

The total receipts, including the sale of refreshments, were $116.30. Cost of refreshments, hall rental, advertising, and other incidental expenses were $50, the net proceeds being $66.30, and this sum has been handed over to the Summerland branch of the Okanagan Ambulance League, receipt of which the treasurer has asked the Review to acknowledge for her. Particularly grateful are the Red Cross women for this money just now, as it has come just at a time when the coffer was empty and much material needed.

Preparing to Supply Labor.

Miss Sutherland, who has been sent up from Vancouver by the Y.W.C.A., was a visitor to Summerland on Saturday. She was met by the local labor committee in the Council Chamber, and the labor situation was discussed. A committee was appointed to canvass the district to get in at once the applications of all growers who will require help from this organization. The applications are to be in by Saturday and forwarded to Miss Sutherland at Kelowna, which place she will make her headquarters. From there she will visit other places in the Valley as she may be needed. Her special duty will be to look after the welfare of the girls who are volunteering for this work, to adjust any differences between them and their employers, and to try to meet the needs of the district for such labor as these National Service girls can offer.

ALBERTA'S WOOL CLIP.

The wool clip in Alberta increased from 500,000 pounds in 1914 to 2,080,000 pounds in 1917, with an advance in price from 16 cents to 57 cents per pound. This year Alberta expects to lead all the provinces in the volume of this product.

A critic by any other name would be a knocker just the same.

Will Resume Traffic Through Coquihalla Pass

Travellers will have Choice of Night or Daylight Run.

Excellent Train Service Okan. to Vancouver begins June 3.

The conveniences of the business man and also the desires of the tourist and sight-seeing traveller have been taken into consideration in the arranging of the summer time-table of the Kettle Valley Railway. With the putting into effect of the new schedule, travel through the Coquihalla Pass will be resumed, as will the through service between Vancouver and Nelson.

This service to the Kootenay will be a tri-weekly one, as it is now, and trains will run westbound on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and eastbound on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, running on about the same schedule as last year. The train for Vancouver will leave West Summerland station at 9.33 p.m., and the train from Vancouver will reach here at 7.28 a.m., both very convenient hours for the travelling public.

While the traffic east of the Okanagan can be handled by this tri-weekly train service a daily service between here and the Coast is necessary, and in order to take care of the extra business, and at the same time provide for the tourist traffic, a tri-weekly daylight train service will be maintained between the Okanagan and the Coast in addition to the through trains. This train will start from Penticton at 8 o'clock in the morning on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, leaving here at 8.43 a.m., and will make a close connection with the C.P.R. No. 3 at Ruby Creek, arriving in Vancouver at 10.05 p.m. the same day. After the arrival of C.P.R. train No. 4 at Ruby Creek on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, which train leaves Vancouver at 8.30 a.m., the daylight journey will be continued through the Coquihalla Pass to arrive here at 8.01 p.m.

This arrangement of train schedule affords an excellent passenger service between here and the Coast, as passengers wishing to make the daylight trip and avail themselves of the wonderful scenic attractions of the K.V.R. short-cut between the Okanagan and the Coast can do so, while those who wish to make a hurried business trip to or from the Coast may travel while they sleep.

This summer schedule goes into effect on Sunday, June 2nd.

Province May Buy Coldstream Ranch.

The Land Settlement Board has presented to the Provincial Government, among other schemes, a proposal that the province buy the Coldstream ranch for the purpose of dividing it up into small holdings for purchase by returned soldiers and others. No immediate cash payment is required from the government, the purchase price of $900,000 being payable, according to the proposal, in five per cent. twenty year Provincial Government bonds, issued at par.

There are some 12,000 acres, comprising 890 acres of full bearing orchards, 1144 acres of other agricultural land actually under cultivation, 400 acres cultivated meadow land seeded to clover and timothy; 1321 acres of available irrigable land requiring no addition to the existing water system to bring it under cultivation; 858 acres of good agricultural land lightly timbered and involving little expense in clearing; 7070 acres first-class range land; $50,000 worth of stock, implements, and general equipment and $70,000 worth of farm buildings.

The C.P.R. is encouraging vegetable production throughout its system this year. Greenhouses are being furnished and expert instructors employed. Land is being given to employees, and in many cases free fertilizer is being supplied.

Nearly $2,200 Contributed to Red Triangle.

When all returns were made by the canvassers at a committee meeting held this week it was shown that Summerland had contributed $2,148 to the Red Triangle Fund. Of this sum $1,289 had been received at the bank. The balance is in pledges, a considerable portion of which will come in immediately.

The treasurer was instructed to forward at once $1,200, and other sums will go forward from time to time as the money comes in.

The committee were justifiably delighted with the result of the local campaign, and the chairman, Mr J. L. Hilborn, was congratulated on its success.

It is yet impossible to get complete figures from other centres of the district of which Mr H. G. Estabrook was organizer. From what are available it is evident that Summerland did relatively better than any section of what was the best district of the province, in so far as incomplete provincial reports indicate.

In conversation with Mr J. H. Patterson, the district secretary, we learned this morning that Kelowna expects to show $3,750 when the lists are totalled. Grand Forks will contribute $2,000, and Phoenix, $3,000. Princeton has not yet reported but Copper Mountain has reported $525. Penticton is hoping to make its contribution $1,800. This amount will be made up from contributions from White Lake, Kaleden, Okanagan Falls, Fairview, and Osoyoos, as well as from along the railway east and west. It will be a satisfaction to Summerland readers to know that the contribution from here is strictly local. Even the neighboring town of Mincola made up its own contribution.

Effecting Change In Banking Hours

Beginning on Saturday of next week, the first day of June, the banks in the Okanagan, as elsewhere in the province, will open for business at 9.30 a.m., each week-day and will close at 2.30 p.m., with the exception of Saturday, when the closing hour will be at 12 o'clock, as at present.

The change is in line with the action taken by the Canadian Bankers Association, and will affect all the banks in Canada. Notice of the change is posted at the entrance of the local office of the Bank of Montreal, the reason given for the change being the depletion in the staffs caused by enlistments.

A Request

Will secretaries of local organizations and others having contributions for the columns of the Review kindly send in their copy as soon after the meeting they wish to report or as early as possible in the week in which it is desired the article should appear. It is not infrequent to receive at the editor's desk on the day of publication, or the evening before, reports of meetings or social gatherings that were held perhaps a week earlier. It is impossible to do justice to any article which we are asked to prepare from matter furnished at that time, and often quite impossible to get copy, even though ready for the compositor, in type and into the forms for that week's issue. Better treatment of the news and a lessened strain on every member of the staff in their effort to "catch" all the mails will result by more thoughtfulness in this respect. Give us ALL the news and give it to us EARLY. Thank you.

Although the result of the discussion of the incident at the last council meeting may have given the impression that the ditchman for Garnett Valley had taken it upon himself to over rule the instructions given by the water superintendent, Mr Dunsdon assures the Review that such was not his intention. He states that he opened the gates to a position that he considered, from his long experience and his judgment as the correct one, and that he was quite ready to do otherwise if so instructed.

Frantic Efforts to Rescue Digger.

Following Cave-in of Grave. Escape a Narrow One.

There occurred in the Peach Orchard cemetery a few days ago an accident that will not soon be forgotten by at least two of our citizens. It would seem little short of a miracle that one of these escaped from being entombed in the grave he was digging. The other who, from an adjoining field, noted that something had happened, rushed to the scene and dug as, perhaps, he had never dug before in his frantic effort to release his fellow citizen before he should be suffocated.

The soil in the cemetery, particularly in that section of it, is quite sandy, and this, together with the fact that there had been so little rain had made the digging of a grave very difficult for the municipal employee, Mr Hobbs. Several times parts of the walls had fallen in, and only after much work had the work been completed.

Nearly Mr Kirstine and a Chinaman were working just where they could see the progress of the work of the grave-digger. Though not looking in that direction Mr Kirstine noticed that suddenly something out of the ordinary had occurred, and in an instant realized that the grave had fallen in. After waiting but an instant longer to see Mr Hobbs climb up or resume digging, he rushed to the spot, there, to his horror, to find only a shovel on the loosened earth. Not only had the earth for some distance around fallen into the freshly dug grave but two stones, each weighing several hundred pounds, had also tumbled into the cavity. Hastily, and with a feeling almost of despair, Mr Kirstine began digging, after having sent the Chinaman off for help. Soon he uncovered the hat of the grave digger, and still exerting fullest energy he proceeded more carefully in order not to strike the buried man with his shovel. If still alive he fully expected to find that Mr Hobbs had been stunned or had suffered broken bones from the falling tomb stones.

Coming up over the crown of the hill from the brook nearby, where he had gone for a drink, Mr Hobbs was astonished to see earth flying in all directions from the grave which he had just finished digging, and wondered what was the matter. He had left no one there when he went to the brook. Coming up to the graveside he found Mr Kirstine still working frantically, and asked, "Did you think I was beneath that fallen earth?" The surprise and relief his unexpected appearance caused Mr Kirstine can be imagined.

Had it not been that Mr Hobbs left just when he did it is said that his escape from serious injury if not from death would have been almost impossible.

PLEASED WITH HIS HOME TOWN.

Victoria, B.C., May 15, 1918.

Dear Mr Editor:— Will you permit me, in this way, to thank the friends of Summerland and vicinity for their generous co-operation in bringing about the splendid results of the recent Red Triangle Campaign. You will all be gratified to know that in realizing the total of over Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000.00) for the Dominion, that the Southern Okanagan District exceeded its objective by about Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000.00). In this Summerland took a splendid part.

It is not unnatural, either, that the writer should share in an especial way with the Summerland citizens in the sense of satisfaction they must feel. The message of the Red Triangle grips the hearts of all loyal Canadians to-day, for there is scarcely a home anywhere (Continued on page 3.)

THE KELLEY ASSESSMENT CASE which has been a source of "copy" for several weeks is still to the fore. A contribution from Mr Kelley on this much discussed subject is published in this issue. We must confess to some surprise that Mr Kelley should accuse the Review of garbling the reports of this case and that these reports have "been very one-sided." Possibly in looking at the question from his standpoint there may be some justification in his holding that opinion. It certainly has not been the intention to give a "one-sided" report, and in order to try to see the case from his viewpoint more than one visit was made to his office.

After reading his assertion that the reduction in the assessments was not made on the basis of the sale of the Greenhow property and the bank lots and the lot adjoining them, we can only conclude that Mr Kelley has not yet applied for a copy of the judgment, or else that it had not yet reached him.

One might conclude from reading his letter that the assessments on land here had not been reduced, whereas it is a fact that there has been a general reduction. As a matter of fact only in a small section of the district have assessments been increased, and this only where outward appearances at least would justify such increase in the mind of the average citizen. It would seem that Mr Kelley is quite ready to take all the advantages that come to him as a property holder in that neighborhood as the result of the concentration of business there, but strongly opposes any increase being put on the assessed values of the properties enjoying the increased prosperity.

It can only be regretted by all who would see the community spirit fostered that this regrettable dispute ever came up and was carried through to such cost to the municipality. It is not discernable to us how his winning the case against the municipality is going to make our community more prosperous.

SOME SURPRISE HAS BEEN EXPRESSED by the general public at the new sugar regulations put in force the 1st day of May by the Canada Food Board. People wondered why the sudden scarcity of sugar, having understood since the first of the year that the new Cuban crop was sufficient to supply the wants of this country and the United States, whatever might have been the situation in Europe, where Java sugar was cut off owing to war conditions.

The situation in this country, however, has been materially changed since the first of the year. At that time the International Sugar Commission of New York, which handles the raw sugar of this continent, allocating and distributing the amounts in Canada and the United States, as well as other countries, considered that there was sufficient sugar in Cuba to allow Canada 320,000 tons as against 400,000 imported last year. As Canada last year exported 55,000 tons of refined sugar, her consumption was then 345,000 tons and this year at 320,000 tons her supply would be reduced merely by 25,000 tons or 6 per cent, which would not have been a severe hardship upon anybody or made much disturbance in the trade. In addition to this outlook the commission expected to have a surplus of 700,000 tons to work on later, of which Canada's share would be 70,000 tons or 10 per cent., so that before the year was out this country would have been supplied, under former arrangements, with 45,000 tons more sugar this year than last.

Consequently there was no necessity for the Food Board placing any restrictions upon the consumption of sugar in this country, in view of the fact that trans-Atlantic shipping was so taken up with other more vital cargoes that space could not be spared for sugar. Wheat, meat, munitions, and men for the army are more imperatively needed in Europe than even sugar, and there are not ships enough to carry everything.

It was expected, however, that there would be shipping enough in the coast-wise trade of the United States to bring raw sugar from Cuba and the West Indies to New York and other American points. Owing, however, to the congestion at the wharves of the Atlantic Coast, the breakdown in railway transportation and the general and totally unexpected demand upon the American transportation system generally, it has become a difficult matter to move the freight necessary for this country, and the difficulty has not been overcome as yet. It was hoped that some arrangement for bringing sugar direct from Cuba to Canadian ports could have been effected, but this attempt has had to be dropped. Shipping is not available, consequently the new sugar regulations.

FAULT NOT ALL ON ONE SIDE.

(Prepared by the Community Loyalty League. Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

That the foreign "catalogue habit" is the most serious handicap to progress confronting local communities in Canada to-day cannot be denied.

Merchants, individually and collectively, have worried much over the fact, and have tried to devise ways and means to counteract the inroads of this commercial parasite. Little or nothing has so far been accomplished. The evil remains rampant.

Many local newspapers have done and are doing their part to brand the catalogue habit as a disease and a blight that has sent hundreds of once promising towns to the industrial and commercial boneyard, decreased realty values, put social conditions on the blink, and halted educational progress.

A proportion of the merchants have also done their part. Many merchants, however, are not doing their part—or doing it only haphazardly. At the present time the retail merchants of the country have under way a gigantic scheme for co-operative buying that will supply them with an important leverage for appealing to the people to give preference to the local store on a basis of competitive comparisons.

But this alone will not fill the bill satisfactorily. In the opinion of the writer there are two further essentials which must be consistently and persistently practiced:

1. Adequate advertising in the local newspapers;
2. Community loyalty and community propaganda that will reach every resident of every locality.

It has been found to be absolutely true that districts where the merchants use but sparingly of the advertising columns of the local newspapers, and where there is no healthy spirit of local pride and patriotism and congenial community relations, are the districts where the big mail order concerns of the distant cities work their greatest havoc to the community economic interests.

A statement to this effect was made some time ago in an address given before an advertising association in the United States by the advertising manager of the well-known mail-order firm of Sears-Roebuck, Chicago. This firm employs a large staff of clerks to check up on the advertising carried by local newspapers throughout the country, and to tabulate the general community spirit existing. In communities that are lax in these regards, the work of flooding such districts with the mail order catalogues and other literature begins, and, says the advertising manager referred to above, "We find that we always secure more business in those sections."

Does this signify anything to the home merchant?

The big mail order houses make continual war upon the local merchant in the latter's own territory. Surely it is time the home merchant was utilizing every possible weapon to put the unscrupulous enemy to rout, for the sake of his business, his dignity, and the community's prosperity.

An Invitation

To the people of the Southern Okanagan Valley we issue a most cordial and neighborly invitation to attend the Big Six CHAUTAUQUA which is to be held at PENTICTON June 4th to 10th inclusive

The wonderful Chautauqua is being brought here this year purely as a community enterprise, to foster and increase friendly intercourse between the various communities whose interests to a large extent are common ones and to provide an ideal opportunity for social development.

While the six day Chautauqua this year will contain many attractions of a purely entertaining nature the main appeal will be made through the wonderful educational features that will be provided during the week. Both the governments at Ottawa and Washington have placed the stamp of unqualified approval upon the splendid work that is being done by the Chautauqua people, and an attendance at all of the sessions or at least a portion of them will be an inspiration to you and from many standpoints one of the best investments you have ever made.

Season tickets which will admit you to the entire twelve performances will cost you $2.75 including the war stamp.

We invite you to spend the week June 4 to 10 with us, and we promise you the best time you have ever had. If by any chance you fail to get a copy of the splendid program write to the secretary and one will reach you in the next mail.

1918 Chautauqua Committee,

F. LORNE ROE,
Secretary.

Sunday Service

SUBSCRIBERS are asked to note that the 10 hour regular service on Sundays, 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., is too heavy a demand to make on our present staff of operators. The work on the switchboard is steadily growing, and competent operators are difficult to obtain. The directors have therefore decided to limit the regular Sunday service to the hours:

9 to 11 a.m.

5 to 10 p.m.

Before 9 in the morning and after 10 at night emergency service may be had. Present conditions make this change advisable, and subscribers are asked to cheerfully adapt themselves to these hours.

Editor Review, Summerland.

Dear Sir,

For some weeks past your columns have bristled with reports of assessment appeals. While these reports have been garbled and very one-sided, with quite a few personal slams at myself, I could not reply so long as the appeals were before the Court. Now that judgment has been given in my favor and vindicating my position I trust you will permit me to deal with the question in part, from my view point.

The judgment was not as stated by you given on the basis of recent sales, but largely on the evidence of the Municipality itself.

I regret some of the councillors persist in dragging in personalities and imputing false motives in a most unseemly manner. I have appeared before many public bodies but never saw such an exhibition of undignified conduct as in the language used by the Council in discussing the appeals in which I was engaged. Such a tirade of twaddle as was indulged in over the Bank appeal was incomprehensible to me as coming from men of mature experience. Surely citizens appearing before a public body of their own representatives ought to be treated with dignity and courtesy instead of with intimidation as to the dire consequences that may follow any opposition.

Further it does not promise well for the future when concrete issues cannot be treated squarely on their merits. The Councillors are all men of integrity and we have a right to expect them to regard the dignity of their positions and to deal with questions without personalities or cocksure judgments as to private motives, which judgments are merely figments of imagination.

One thing I greatly resent is the charge, openly and by insinuation that my appeals were made merely to escape paying a few dollars taxes. So far as the recent appeals are concerned: I would have been at least $50 better off had I let the assessments stand. I have paid several thousands of dollars in taxes in Summerland and hope to pay more, but my objections to the assessments are not because of saving a few paltry dollars.

In the main my objections are that the assessments are not made as provided by the Municipal Act and that these war times are not such as warrant increased assessments. Your last issue quotes a Councillor as stating that sales in times of depression are not a test of actual values. This is an admission, if one were needed, that land values are depressed. Why a Municipality should raise assessments in such times is incomprehensible to me. My store property was raised exactly sixty per cent. in the last two years. My other property was raised this year twenty-five per cent. Next year some more would be added and so on ad infinitum. I deny that West Summerland has gained in business all that the lake-front has lost. The facts show that this is not true.

One would think that our Municipal authorities would pay some attention to general conditions governing assessments in other parts of the west, particularly in B.C. Vancouver this year, although more prosperous than we are, reduced its assessments two million dollars. Kelowna has reduced its assessments about fifty per cent. since the war. In prairie cities assessment appeals have been made literally by the thousand, and Courts of Revision and County Judges have spent weeks in revising and reducing assessments. I challenge you to show any other Municipality than Summerland has increased its assessments since the war.

Our Legislature took cognizance of the fact that B.C. assessments generally were inflated and realizing that if citizens at large appealed assessments of all their lands then the magnitude of the aggregate reductions would hamper municipal administration, it passed a law whereby no appeal could be made against an assessment if it were ten per cent. less than in the previous year, and if the total assessments of a Municipality were ten per cent. less than in such previous year. This enabled Municipalities to reduce assessments generally and without disturbance and most Municipalities adopted this method. Certainly none of them increased assessments except Summerland.

A favorite contention of some Councillors is that it is immaterial whether we have a low assessment and a high tax rate, or a high assessment and a low tax rate. This will not stand examination and any way does not apply to increasing already high assessments in war times.

A man's temper improves the more he does not use it.

I contend that a high abnormal assessment is dishonest and very dangerous. It creates on paper a fictitious showing of assets which is a temptation to over borrowing, and it deceives prospective lenders. It also deceives prospective settlers if they do not investigate actual facts, and in the end it operates as a boomerang on the Municipality itself. Just recently a party came to Summerland to examine and report on a property for a prospective buyer and settler. He went

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Mrs Robert Michael was a passenger north on Thursday morning for Oak River, Man., where she has gone to visit her daughter, Mrs W. Henry. Her daughter, Mrs Lee Mills, accompanied her as far as Sicamous, and saw her on the train there, returning home on Friday night.

Mr T. Powell spent Thursday in Kelowna.

Rev. A. Henderson of Summerland spent a few days on his ranch here this week.

Mr Sheppard, who is staying in the Valley looking for a location, returned home from Armstrong on Thursday night.

Miss Kate Miller was a passenger for Banff on Friday morning, where she has gone to nurse in the hospital there.

Mr McCluskie of Vernon, chief fire warden for this district, spent a day here last week, returning home on Friday morning.

The two lady evangelists who were holding meetings in the district were passengers north on Friday morning.

Mr W. J. Bowser, who is making a tour of the Interior, passed through Peachland on Friday. He stopped off for a couple of hours here and was joined at luncheon by a number of the men of the municipality, making seventeen in all. After lunch Mr Bowser spoke for some time to those present, stating that this was not a political trip at all, but only a trip to ascertain the needs of the different localities, so that he would be in a position to assist the government to pass legislation that would be helpful to the growers of the various districts. Mr Jones, M.P.P. for this district, also spoke for a few minutes emphasizing the importance of the agricultural needs, and stating that he would do all that he could to help in the passing of such legislation as would lead to the government storing and conveying the water for the different localities. Mr Bowser was accompanied on his trip by his old friend and school mate, ex-Reeve Gordon of Oak Bay.

Mr H. E. McCall, who has been appointed as organizer in this district of the Boys' Campaign for the Y.M.C.A., held a meeting of the boys in the Baptist schoolroom on Friday afternoon. The object of the campaign is to enlist boys who will earn and give $10 each for the Y.M.C.A. At the meeting on Friday seven boys were enlisted, each of whom promised to enlist another member.

Mr Manu, who has been visiting friends in the district, was a passenger for Summerland on Friday night, where he has gone to look around before returning to his home in QuAppelle.

Mr Stanley Brown of Penticton motored up on Friday to visit his father, Mr John Brown.

Mrs R. A. F. Moore from near Spokane, Wash. came in on Saturday morning to visit her parents, Mr and Mrs John Gummow.

Mrs W. B. Sanderson, who has been visiting her cousin in Penticton for a week, returned home on Saturday morning.

Mr A. Town was a visitor to Kelowna on Saturday.

Mr Sheppard, who has been looking over the district for some time, went out with his family for Victoria. We understand that he is coming back in two weeks as he has about decided to locate here.

Last Monday a number of Mrs Hugh McDougall's friends gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday. After an enjoyable tea they were greatly entertained by inspecting a pestle and mortar made by her father. In her girlhood she had often pulverized salt in it, for the only salt they could buy then was in big lumps. Another interesting family relic was an old steelyard which by holding it one way weighs 9 lbs. and by holding it another weighs 30 lbs. Photographs of scenes and friends at Clarence on the Ottawa River, where she was born, and at Moose Jaw on the prairie, where many years of her life were spent, were enlivened by her graphic descriptions and witticisms. Before separating, Mrs McDougall's favorite hymn was sung at family worship, and thus a very happy evening was brought to a close.

to four or five residents near the property and got their valuations of it; and then went to the Municipal Hall and got the assessed value. It greatly exceeded any of the prior valuations. This made him suspicious of our conditions and was a factor in the sale not being made.

I agree with some of your editorial remarks regarding equalizations being now necessary. Certainly the Municipality cannot continue to ignore judgments of higher Courts. I could deal with many other phases did space permit, but it is to be hoped the citizens will give this question some study and that the Council will be more tolerant of those who do not see eye to eye with them and their officials, and particularly that they will consider public questions apart from personalities, and that however we may differ in opinions we may all seek to make our Community more progressive.

Drowning Accident Casts Gloom Over Whole Community

Cyril E. Sharpe Falls From Ferry Within Few Yards of Wharf.

Body Recovered After More Than Two Days of Searching. Interred at Vancouver.

A most distressing drowning accident, the second within a few months to occur here, happened on Sunday morning, when Cyril Evan Sharpe, eldest son of A. E. Sharpe, local C.P.R. Agent, lost his life within sight of his home. Just how the accident happened will always be a mystery. On several occasions he had assisted Capt. Roe, on the power-boats "Skookum" and "Trepanier." On Sunday morning about nine o'clock Capt. Roe, accompanied by Cyril, pulled out with the "Skookum" from the government wharf and headed the boat towards Paradise Ranch. The lake was very smooth, and Capt. Roe asked Cyril to take the wheel and keep the boat on her course, while he made some adjustment to the engine. After making this adjustment Capt. Roe went again to the wheelhouse and noticing that a small boat which he was towing was in the wake of the propeller, he went to the stern of the boat to tie the row boat on one side. He had untied the painter from the post on the stern and had just made a hitch on the side post when, hearing a cry and turning his head slightly, he was shocked to see his young companion in the water on the other side of the boat. Young Sharpe was swimming, and instantly Capt. Roe untied the small boat and pushed it in his direction and rushed to the wheel to bring the "Skookum" around. Coming within a short distance of the boy, Capt. Roe threw a lifebuoy to him, but though it fell within ten feet of him, Cyril was unable to reach it, and in his swimming seemed to make no progress, presumably because of the heavy boots, overalls and gloves he was wearing.

Cyril's fall into the water from the boat was seen by several, including his mother, and the alarm was spread quickly. Not a boat or canoe seemed to be available in the immediate vicinity, but W. R. Shields, one of those who witnessed the accident, noticed Bert Bryant in a row boat close to the Smith wharf, and, running to within hearing distance, he shouted for him to go to the boy's assistance, but before he had reached him, or Capt. Roe could get closer to him, Cyril had disappeared, his cap marking the place where he had gone down.

The whole thing happened so quickly and so close to shore that it seemed almost impossible to believe that he had been drowned. Immediately Capt. Roe put into the wharf for assistance with the hope of rescuing him in time for resuscitation. Grappling irons were prepared under the direction of G. N. Gartrell, and all day Sunday and until late that evening, and until noon on Monday these were dragged over the lake bottom in the vicinity of the accident. Monday afternoon strands of weighted barbed wire were used, and that evening electric lights were lowered from a boat to the lake bottom which was searched for the body but without success, though every part of the bottom covered by the lights was plainly visible. It was not until nearly one o'clock on Tuesday that the body was brought to the surface, the search having been conducted by Provincial Police Constable McDonald, assisted by G. N. Gartrell and others.

On Tuesday afternoon a coronor's jury was empanelled, and after viewing the remains coronor F. W. Andrew conducted an inquest, which was held at Hotel Summerland that evening. The jury members were: J. R. Brown, S. Angove, F. G. Anderson, T. J. McAlpine, T. Beavis and Geo. Craig.

Capt. Roe was the first examined, and his story was in substance as that narrated above. His only solution of the accident was that Cyril, who was always very ready to help, knowing that the boat would hold to its course, may have left the wheel with the object of offering assistance at the stern. W. R. Shields told what he had seen, and of his efforts to get assistance. B. L. Hatfield, who lives at the Felix Hotel, just off from where the accident occurred, told of hearing the cry, and of seeing the boy's head above the water, and of Capt. Roe running forward to turn the boat. It seemed to him as if the buoy which Capt. Roe had thrown had gone right to the boy. Evidence given by G. N. Gartrell told of the efforts to recover the body, and of ultimate success. The jury, after having been out a short time, brought in a verdict of accidental drowning.

A short and impressive memorial service, which was largely attended, was held at the home of the boy's parents on Tuesday evening, Rev. W. H. Bates, assisted by Rev. H. A. Solly, officiating. Accompanied by the grief-stricken parents the body was taken to Vancouver by the Thursday morning train, being conducted from the house by six young companions of the deceased as pallbearers, these being Joseph and Warren Gayton, Clifford Roe, Laurence Beavis, Donald Ross, and Robert Hatfield.

For some time previous to his coming here last fall, Cyril had lived with his grandmother, Mrs. W. Williamson, Vancouver, and was a member of St. Paul's Church, Sunday School and Boys' Brigade. Learning of his death the brigade asked that the body be brought to Vancouver to be buried under its auspices, and this request was granted. Although not fifteen years of age until June 7th, Cyril was a manly young fellow who had made many friends in the few months of his residence here, and his untimely death has cast a deep gloom over young and old, and the deepest sympathy is felt for his mother and father and other members of the stricken family.

School Vacations Continue Till After Labor Day.

Victoria, May 30.—All public and high schools throughout British Columbia will commence the summer vacation period in future on the last Friday in the month of June, and the schools will re-open on the Tuesday immediately following the first Monday in the month of September.

Hon. J. D. McLean, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, explained that the reason for the extension from the last Monday in August was to provide for the invariable request from the interior sections for additional holidays on account of hot weather.

Berry Prices.

The Burnaby Lake Fruit Growers' Association have been offered from $1.50 to $2.40 per crate. This will be the net price to the grower on the ranch for strawberries and raspberries. Jam strawberries not fit for shipping in crates will fetch 10 or 11 cents per pound in pails. Last season the price was 8 cents, and in some cases less. Black currants will fetch from 10 to 15 cents per pound at least, and gooseberries 7 or 8 cents per pound. There will of course be fluctuations in price, but the fact that the above prices are mentioned looks well. There is likely to be considerable discussion as to methods of dealing, contract, consignment, etc, but these matters will be adjusted without doubt in a very harmonious manner.—Exchange.

Youthful Traveller Makes Long Trip.

Little Marie Bodwell, whose father is employed with the Naramata Fruit Co., and who recently made the journey from Spokane to Naramata unaccompanied, is the seven year old child referred to in the following paragraph taken from the Oroville Gazette:

Last Tuesday evening Marie Bodwell, a seven-year-old child, arrived at this station from Spokane, without a tag and without instructions to the conductor as to the destination, other than that relatives would be at the train to meet her. Reeve Frank was on the train, and noticed the child travelling alone, and when the train reached Oroville there being no one to receive her he became interested in the little one. Upon being questioned all the information that could be secured was that she was put on the train by a Mrs. Austin, and the number of her house in Spokane was 1023. Fortunately Mrs. H. H. Hemmingway was at the station, and she at once took charge of the little wif. Mr. Frank searched a telephone directory, found that a Mrs. Edith Austin lived at 1023 Garland Street, and he at once called her up. She acknowledged sending the child, and expected that her mother would be at the train to meet her. The case created much interest and comment during the evening, but the night brought a solution of the apparent mystery. It appeared that the mother of the child lives 10 miles north of Pentleton, over 60 miles from Oroville, and the driver of the Pentleton-Oroville stage had

The "Home Call" Comes To Widow of Dr. C. M. Smith.

On Friday morning, May 24, the "home call" came to Mrs. Charlotte A. Smith, widow of the late Dr. C. M. Smith. On the previous Tuesday evening she was seized with paralysis and suddenly became unconscious, remaining so until her death.

Mrs. Smith, nee Duncan, was born in 1843 in York township, Ontario. Her father came to Canada from the north of Ireland and bought a considerable quantity of land near Toronto. No man in the country was more respected, and better loved than he; his hand was ever ready to help the needy, and his home was always open to the homeless. After finishing her studies at Hamilton Ladies' College, Charlotte Duncan spent some time travelling in Europe, thus broadening her mind and giving her a "wider vision." After her marriage to Dr. Smith, she lived in Orangeville, where her only son, Reginald, was born. When her stepson, Bert, opened a drug-store at the Canadian "Soo," the family moved there, where both husband and wife made many warm friends. The rigor of the Soo winters induced Dr. Smith and his wife to come to the Okanagan Valley, and, after a short stay in Peachland, they settled in Summerland. After Reggie's death they went back to the Soo, but afterwards moved to Long Beach, California, but un-British atmosphere and declining health brought them back to Canadian soil. The death of her husband last fall was a severe blow to Mrs. Smith, from which, although she remained cheerful, she never really rallied.

As long as Mrs. Smith's health permitted her, she was an active member of the Methodist Ladies' Aid, and was always ready to help in every good cause.

Changed Opinion.

A Summerland boy now with the Canadian forces across the sea, in a letter to his mother writes thus of the Y.M.C.A.: "I never had much use for the Y.M.C.A. before I joined the army, but I now realize what a great institution it is. It helps the soldiers immeasurably. It supplies paper, pen and ink, and information about anything and everything. They maintain canteens where cigarettes, chocolates, etc., are sold, and maintain reading and writing rooms, with a supply of daily papers as well as magazines and illustrated papers. Concerts are held in these rooms, and the Y.M.C.A. will send wires for us at cut rates."

It is hard to conceive that in 1896 three wares but four automobiles on this continent.

Instructions to receive the little traveller and convey her north. The stage man found the child on Friday morning and took her to her home.

Sale of Cement Plant Reported.

K.V.R. Needs Buildings For Auxiliary Repair Shops.

There seems to be good reason for taking seriously the report that the Kettle Valley Railway has completed negotiations for the purchase of the cement plant buildings and property at East Princeton, which also includes the power plant now under lease to the Canada-Copper Corporation. It is said the buildings will be fitted up for machine shops to handle the work between the Coquihalla branch and this point. A half mile spur will connect the place with the K.V. main line. The buildings are massive structures, built of stone, and when equipped with machinery cost close to a quarter million dollars. The cement company went into liquidation about two years ago.—Princeton Star.

Rev. A. Henderson Is Superannuated.

At the annual conference of the Methodist churches of B.C. recently ended, Rev. A. Henderson of the Summerland Church was superannuated. Mr. Henderson has been long in the service of the church, and could have claimed retirement from active service some time ago, but being still comparatively young in years he has had no reason or desire to retire. For some weeks he has not been in his usual good health and had suggested that he be given leave of absence. But a short time ago a strong invitation was extended to him to continue here, and an arrangement has been effected to meet his wish of his congregation. Though superannuated he has been assigned a smaller field by curtailing his preaching services to those of each Sunday evening.

Rialto Theatre Under New Management.

The Rialto Theatre, our local picture house, passed into new management this week when Manager H. B. Young was relieved by Scott Darkis. The plant was under lease to Mr. Young, which lease expired at the end of June. Since leaving the K.V.R., Mr. Young has had several offers to return to railway work, and an offer from the Great Northern received a few days ago helped him to decide to return to his former occupation. In order to do so he arranged with Mr. Darkis, who, we understand is the principal owner, to take over his lease. Mr. Young went over to Princeton on Thursday morning to look into the offer made him by the Great Northern. Mr. Darkis was in charge at the theatre at last night's performance.

Crop Damage By Late Frost

Frozen Tomato Plants will be Replaced. Others Purchased.

Total Loss Less Than First Feared.

Cold Wave Covered Large Area of Dry Belt.

It has long been the boast of Summerland that it is immune from late spring frosts. Not since the establishment here of the government meteorological station has there been a killing frost later than May 10th. Some of the pioneers tell us that about thirteen years ago there was a frost in late May that nipped tomato plants.

On Thursday evening of last week a clear bright night, the temperature dropped quickly, and those who were out state that the temperature had dropped to the danger point by midnight. Next morning it was realized that the worst frost in the history of the district had struck the Valley. Nothing approaching an accurate estimate can yet be made of the damage done, but on the whole it will be less than was at first feared. In the Summerland district Garnett Valley seems to have fared the worst. A narrow valley with high hillsides and lying just in line with the flow of the chilling northern breeze, the full effects of the frost was suffered there, and even the apples were affected. About Jones' Flat and on Swish Flat the damage is in streaks and spots. Prairie Valley almost wholly escaped, and only small injury was done elsewhere, except on bottom land, such as at Trout Creek Point, where tomato plants suffered heavily.

Tomato growing had been taken up more extensively this year than ever before and many thousands of plants were already in the fields and others in beds under cotton. In the sections hit by the frost the tomato plants were killed and the total loss runs up into thousands of plants.

Through the energetic action of the Fruit Union officials this loss has been greatly minimized by the procuring of enough plants to replace those frozen. Pres. E. R. Simpson got into communication with Manager Lawler, who, with Mrs. Lawler, had left here last Wednesday for a motoring tour of the south fruit districts, and who was then at Spokane. There 150,000 plants were secured, all fine, big sturdy plants, according to Mr. Lawler, that will be producing quite as early as those frozen. Further supplies, totalling 63,000 were obtained from the Coast and Kere-meos.

M. Stewart, manager of the Stewart Fruit Co. says that of nearly 100,000 plants which his company had out about 20,000 were lost, but that he had enough under cover to nearly replace these. The greatest loss will therefore be with tree fruits, apricots especially. The shrinkage in this fruit is variously estimated from 15 to 25 per cent. for the whole of Summerland.

Other stone fruits have also suffered some. An estimate has been made that the apple crop will be 10 per cent. loss because of the frost.

It is pretty tough on those whose losses have been complete, and for whom much sympathy is felt, but some of them will be able to put part of their land under other crops such as beans, potatoes, and tomatoes.

Peachland, Grotn, and Naramata escaped with little or no damage. The loss at Kelowna was considerable, especially with tomato plants, but many of these are being replaced.

It is stated that Gollaty & Sons, fearing a frost, had refrained from setting out any plants.

Vernon is reported to have escaped the first night, but it is stated that they suffered on Saturday night. Pentleton seems to have been somewhat worse hit than Summerland, the damage being estimated at from 25 to 30 per cent.

MANY PRAIRIE FARMERS who visited this province last winter are now back home completing the sowing of what they expect will be their last crop on the plains. Money has come in unexpected quantity to many of these in the last year or two, and with another good crop at present prices their faces will be again turned westward. Some of these men, who, with their families, have put in years of hard work, have already purchased homes in this fair province, but many have yet to find the particular spot that best suits their desires. Too many, we think, will go from extreme activity of farm life to the other extreme of a life of idleness in our Coast cities, and of which they will quickly tire. A small plot of ground with a comfortable house and ideal climatic conditions would suit them much better. Just here is where the advertising matter that is being prepared by the Summerland Board of Trade will be of great value. Too few have yet heard of the Okanagan and fewer still know anything of the attractions of the South Okanagan. We have here just what these people who are coming west are seeking. Now is the time to tell them so.

AFTER READING the open letter from Wm. Brent to the Reeve and Council of Summerland, published in these columns, one would conclude that an injustice is being done our neighbors just outside the municipal boundaries and whose activities are confined largely to stock farming in the valleys and on the hillsides on higher ground than that devoted to fruit growing within municipal limits. We doubt if the condition described in Mr Brent's letter ever entered the thoughts of those who were concerned in drafting the Municipal By-law. In adopting such a by-law for the regulation of the care of live stock within our municipal limits it is not likely that range cattle entered into the matter. A square deal for our neighbors is without doubt desired by all, and if anything can be done to remove any cause for a just grievance it doubtless will be done.

THAT THE PRESS OF CANADA, generally speaking, is in a particularly healthy condition is shown by the 1918 Edition of the Canadian Newspaper Directory, just issued by A. McKim, Limited, Advertising Agency, of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, and London, England.

There are 1,490 publications of all kinds now being issued in Canada, as against 1,381 in 1917, an increase of 109. This number of made up of 185 dailies, 5 tri-weeklies, 41 semi-weeklies, 1,018 weeklies, 8 bi-weeklies, 32 semi-monthlies, 228 monthlies, 1 bi-monthly, 20 quarterlies, and 2 miscellaneous.

Since the firm of A. McKim, Limited, Canada's oldest Advertising Agency, issued its first Canadian newspaper Directory, 27 years ago, they have seen the birth of most of the publications listed therein, and are in a position to have accurate knowledge of the field in which they and the Canadian press have grown up. The present day condition of the publishing business in Canada enables the Dominion to boast the largest reading public in the world in proportion to population.

Besides giving full details in regard to every newspaper and other publication issued in Canada, the McKim Directory shows in concise form the business possibilities of any section of the Dominion. Its Gazetteer contains a wealth of general information regarding every town and city where a publication is issued, giving populations, country

It wasn't so long ago that people carded their own flax and wool, spun and wove their own fabrics—but who does it to-day?

It's more satisfactory and economical to buy fabrics now than to make them.

Well, that's absolutely true of laundering. May we demonstrate this to you this month?

seats, railroads, and waterways touching each place, telegraph, express, and banking facilities. With the aid of its supplementary maps, it locates every newspaper town in Canada, and the descriptions are so written that these towns may readily be visualized by the reader in relation to the territory in which they are situated and the entire Dominion.

A MORAL OBLIGATION.

WHILE THE REGULATIONS governing public eating places and the orders of the Canada Food Board prohibiting or restricting the manufacture of certain varieties of biscuits, cakes, etc., which involve wasteful use of wheat, sugar, and shortening, are not compulsory in the case of private households, they are being observed voluntarily in thousands of homes. These regulations have not been issued for amusement, but because there is real necessity for them, in order that we may support our soldiers and Allies to the fullest possible extent. Consequently, their observance is a test of patriotism and good citizenship.

A moral obligation and responsibility rests upon every citizen to follow these regulations just as closely as circumstances possibly will admit, and to use his or her influence to secure more general observance in private homes. If every Canadian realizes a personal duty to be a food controller, there will be an eagerness to adopt the suggestions and advice of the Food Board and not to shirk that food service which is necessary in order to feed those who are bearing the brunt of the fighting and suffering.

SUGAR FOR PRESERVING will be available to all, according to advice from Ottawa. The success of the Canada Food Board in chartering ships to carry raw sugar to Canadian ports, together with the saving which is being effected by consumers, and which conservation must be continued, is confidently expected to provide a sufficient supply for preserving and canning the largest quantity of preserved foods ever "put up."

PRESS REPORTS from Nova Scotia predict a very short apple crop in that province with indications of an almost complete failure. Frost in some sections last Monday night destroyed the blossoms of the early varieties. Prospects look so discouraging that many orchardists are abandoning spraying operations.

"HOLD ON"

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting, too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about don't deal in lies,
Or being hated don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;
If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thought your aim;
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;
If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it all on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose and start again at your beginnings,
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them: "Hold on!"
If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch;
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you;
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

An Invitation

To the people of the Southern Okanagan Valley we issue a most cordial and neighborly invitation to attend the Big Six CHAUTAUQUA which is to be held at PENTICTON June 4th to 10th inclusive

The wonderful Chautauqua is being brought here this year purely as a community enterprise, to foster and increase friendly intercourse between the various communities whose interests to a large extent are common ones and to provide an ideal opportunity for social development.

While the six day Chautauqua this year will contain many attractions of a purely entertaining nature the main appeal will be made through the wonderful educational features that will be provided during the week. Both the governments at Ottawa and Washington have placed the stamp of unqualified approval upon the splendid work that is being done by the Chautauqua people, and an attendance at all of the sessions or at least a portion of them will be an inspiration to you and from many standpoints one of the best investments you have ever made.

Season tickets which will admit you to the entire twelve performances will cost you $2.75 including the war stamp.

We invite you to spend the week June 4 to 10 with us, and we promise you the best time you have ever had. If by any chance you fail to get a copy of the splendid program write to the secretary and one will reach you in the next mail.

1918 Chautauqua Committee,
F. LORNE ROE,
Secretary.

A Western Town That Fostered The True Spirit

(Prepared by the Community Loyalty League. Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

Some few years ago a certain growing western town, in the course of a campaign advertising the town and district as offering superior attractions for new settlers, laid great stress upon the fact that no business enterprise had ever gone bankrupt there.

"Not a single business failure has ever been recorded here, was the proud boast of the publicity matter."

To-day that same town is one of the most prosperous young cities of the country, while the farmers of the district enjoy many splendid modern advantages, and the wage earners are happy and contented. Town property and farm lands have gone to attractive figures, with a lively demand always in evidence. The secret of the success of this town and district is entirely due to the splendid spirit of community loyalty which started with the pioneers, and which was encouraged and fostered by the great majority of the newcomers. These were readily imbued with the very atmosphere of home patriotism that abounded on all sides and was so enthusiastically practiced.

The point for absorption is that these people realized that whatever injured the business of the community was a direct injury to every person resident therein, because at first of the unfavorable reflections cast upon the community as a whole, and later because it was a policy that paid good dividends.

In a word, the people of this town and district recognized the truth of the great fundamental principle that loyalty to home interests is progressive, whereas disloyalty to home interests is retrogressive.

Progression means going ahead; retrogression means going behind—and no place and no man or woman in this age can stand still. As individuals and as communities we must go either forward or backward.

If everyone would but recognize the importance of the injunction that "home enterprises to exist and prosper must be loyally supported by home people, how much happier would be both our material and mental state.

The person who spends abroad what is legitimately home money is not only doing a community injustice, but sets an example that others will follow, and, in the long run, the practice proves disastrous to all. It is a practice that will kill progress, deplete employment, lower intrinsic values, discourage industry, and divert creative energy.

On the other hand, nothing is more profitable, nothing more praiseworthy, nothing more patriotic than loyalty to the home merchant and all the home institutions of your community.

Start in to-day and prove it out for yourself.

Boy Scout Column

SUMMERLAND TROOP BOY SCOUTS.

O. F. Zimmerman, Scoutmaster. Headquarters, College Gymnasium.

Meets every Friday evening at 7.30 p.m.

There was a good turnout at the last meeting, which was held on Wednesday owing to Friday being a holiday.

Following the roll call the Scoutmaster took over the Troop, and read over the program for the sports on the 24th, and also apportioned the different duties to the several patrols necessary for getting everything in shape for that day.

After the Troop had been dismissed, the Leaders met to arrange for the billeting of the visiting Scouts.

On Thursday evening the Scouts went down to meet the boat, and those Scouts who were billeting the visitors took charge of their guests for the evening.

On Friday morning the Pentiction troop arrived by motor, but several of the sports had to be deleted owing to the rain, and the Scouts retired to the Gymnasium where two good games of basketball were played. Kelowna vs. Pentiction and Kelowna vs. Summerland, Kelowna being victorious in the first and Summerland in the second. Kelowna, however, was at a disadvantage owing to two of her team being unable to be present in the morning.

Lunch was served to the three Troops in the Gymnasium. The afternoon turned out to be perfect in every way for sports. There were good entries for the different races from each Troop, though the Pentiction Troop was somewhat at a disadvantage owing to the fact that the majority of the Scouts were smaller boys than those in the other Troops. They had entries in every race, however.

By the time the sports started there was a good crowd, many motoring from both Kelowna and Pentiction.

The program was arranged so that the events would be through by 3.30 in order that the campus could be used for the baseball game between Kelowna and Summerland, the honor of winning which fell to the visitors.

The results of the sports program are as follows:—

50 Yards Dash (Scouts under 15)—W. Gayton, Summerland; N. Marshall, Kelowna; R. Reid, Summerland.

100 Yard Dash (Open)—W. Gayton, Summerland; D. Parkinson, Kelowna; J. Gayton, Summerland.

Running Broad Jump (Scouts under 15)—W. Gayton, Summerland, 14 ft.; R. Reid, Summerland, 13 ft. 10 ins.; N. Marshall, Kelowna, 13 ft. 7 1/2 ins.

Running Broad Jump (Open)—W. Gayton, Summerland, 15 ft. 5 1/2 ins.; C. Gaddes, Kelowna, 14 ft. 10 ins.; D. Lloyd, Kelowna, 14 ft. 9 ins.

Running Hop, Step, and Jump—C. Gaddes, Kelowna, 34 ft. 4 ins.; W. Gayton, Summerland, 33 ft. 8 ins.; D. Lloyd, Kelowna, 32 ft. 2 ins.

Sack Race—W. Robertson, Pentiction; C. Burch, Pentiction; W. Crossman, Pentiction.

Relay Race—Kelowna; Summerland; Pentiction.

High Jump—J. Gayton and R. Reid, Summerland, a tie; H. McIntyre.

Three-Legged Race—J. Calder and D. Parkinson, Kelowna; R. Reid and H. McIntyre, Summerland; W. Crossman and C. Burch, Pentiction.

After the baseball game the three Troops, about 80 boys in all, sat down to a splendid supper in the Parish Hall, it being arranged so that there were a Summerland, Pentiction, and Kelowna boy all sitting together.

Supper being finished, Rev. H. A. Solly called a toast to "The King." This was responded to heartily by the boys who sang "God Save The King."

The next toast called was to "The Army and Navy." Mr. W. C. Kelley proposed this, giving a few very appropriate words to the boys on individualism and what the Scout movement meant to a boy, whose "bit" was to be done at home. The Scouts hereupon sang "The Lively Little Lad in Navy Blue."

Mr. F. A. C. Wright, in answering to this toast, touched upon the work being done in the trenches, and pointed out to the Scouts how much more can be done by all working together than each individually.

"The British Grenadier" was then sung, following which "Our Country" was proposed by Rev. Walter Daniel, who spoke on the great resources of Canada. "Canada's greatest resource; though," he said, "is her men and women, and it is to make the boys into good citizens that the Scout movement was inaugurated."

The Scouts then sang, "Oh, Canada!" The toast of "Our Country" was responded to by Scoutmaster Atkinson of Pentiction in a few appropriate words.

"The Maple Leaf" was then given with goodwill.

Rev. H. A. Solly then proposed "Our Guests," which toast was heartily drunk by all the Summerland Scouts. Scoutmaster Weddell of Kelowna, in responding to this, said that he was delighted that the Scouts of the three towns had again had a chance of meeting one another, the last time being at the united camp at Pentiction in 1915, and he hoped that at no distant date Kelowna would be the host.

Scoutmaster Atkinson also spoke a few words in response.

The Scouts then all joined together in singing "The Long, Long Trail," and "Auld Lang Syne," after which the supper broke up.

The Pentiction boys returned home that night by car; the Kelowna boys returning on the next morning's boat.

The officers and Scouts wish to thank all those who so kindly tended to make the Field Day the success it was, especially those who so kindly entertained the visiting Kelowna Scouts on Thursday and Friday nights, also all who contributed to the supper, and those who worked so hard getting ready the hall and serving at the tables.

Splendid Music at Chautauqua

Witepskie's Concert Orchestra Appears in Two Concerts on Fourth Day

WITEPSKIE'S CONCERT ORCHESTRA.

Witepskie's Concert Orchestra, which comes on the fourth day, is the greatest musical feature of the Chautauqua as well as one of the most popular Chautauqua attractions of the platform. For many years this prominent Chicago organization has occupied a conspicuous place in the musical world.

Meyer Witepskie, the director, is a young Russian whose merits as a musician, composer and director have attracted favorable attention in all the musical journals during the past few years. He has surrounded himself with a company of splendid musicians. Their long association with him on concert tours throughout the United States and Canada has resulted in their playing as one man, in perfect unanimity.

From the standpoint of glorious music their two programs on the fourth days are artistic triumphs. Nor do you have to be musically educated to appreciate their playing. Their concerts are for all the people—a splendid combination of popular, patriotic and classical music. In the evening Gladys Shaw, Canadian prima donna soprano, will appear as soloist.

DEATH OF MRS. C. A. SMITH

Mrs Charlotte Amelia Smith, widow of the late Dr Charles Merrill Smith, who came to Peachland from Alberni, B.C., last Easter Sunday, and who was then, though almost blind, in fair health, was stricken down with paralysis on Tuesday the 21st inst., at the home of her nephew, Mr Harold McCall. The day before, as she had not felt well, Nurse Wilson had come to take charge of her, and Dr Buchanan had been summoned, but the day she was stricken she felt much better. In the afternoon, however, without any warning, the stroke occurred. The doctor was immediately summoned, and everything possible was done, but she never regained consciousness, and passed away on Victoria Day, at 2 p.m.

Mr Harold McCall accompanied the remains to Summerland on the boat on Saturday evening, and the interment took place at the Peach Orchard Cemetery shortly after 10 o'clock on Sunday morning, the ceremony being conducted by Rev. W. J. Scott of Peachland. The body was laid to rest in the family plot, between the remains of her husband and her son, the former having been laid there only last September and the latter several years ago.

Mrs Smith will be greatly missed by those who knew her. She was a woman of great intelligence and ability, of sterling integrity and great kindness. Her character was the fruit of her faith. She had been an earnest Christian since her youth, uniting first with the Methodist Church near her father's home in Emery, near Weston, Ontario.

GIRLS WORKING AS SECTION HANDS ON C.P.R.

There are many vacancies in the line of labor open for the women these days, and they are taking the opportunity of doing men's work when the opportunity affords.

The latest acquisition, or at least one of them, is the employment of four young women on the C.P.R. track at Mission, cutting the weeds, grass, etc.

The other morning these new employees were working in front of the station while some passengers were waiting for the next train. One young lady traveller who afterwards left on the south train for the United States carried away several snapshots of the Willing Workers. Close at hand were several Orientals making faces and talking in a loud strenuous tone as if excited. One was heard to say in broken English "me no now gette work, girlie she do it."

It is probable the girls are getting the same pay as was paid to Chinamen.

Get Behind the Wheel of a Ford and Drive

TRY it just once! Ask your friend to let you "pilot" his car on an open stretch. You'll like it, and will be surprised how easily the Ford is handled and driven.

If you have never felt the thrill of driving your own car, there is something good in store for you. It is vastly different from just riding—being a passenger. And especially so if you drive a Ford.

Young boys, girls, women and even grandfathers—thousands of them—are driving Ford cars and enjoying it. A Ford stops and starts in traffic with exceptional ease and smoothness, while on country roads and hills its strength and power show to advantage.

Buy a Ford and you will want to be behind "the wheel" constantly.

CROP DAMAGE BY LATE FROST.

fruit is grown quite extensively there. M. Steuart, whose company will operate there this summer, reports the damage done as heavier than at first believed.

That frost was general all through the dry belt, extending well down to the south, seems apparent. Mr Lawler reported frost at Wenatchee and Yakima, and he says that on Sunday night at Spokane considerable damage was done.

A new regulation which affects all passenger carrying boats came into effect this year. It deals with the provision of life-belts which had to be provided in case of accident. The pattern which has been familiar for many years is now discarded and a more modern form of cork jacket substituted. The advantage of the new pattern is that it supports the head in case the wearer becomes unconscious and still gives a chance of being saved. The old life-belt had many other disadvantages, one of which was that if the wearer jumped from a height into the water it was apt to slip up and hit the chin, sometimes resulting in a broken neck.

REWARD

A liberal reward will be paid any person giving information leading to conviction of the parties who have broken into Okanagan College buildings, or who may at any time break in or enter said buildings. Notice is hereby given that any person found trespassing on College grounds or in the buildings or stealing contents will be prosecuted in Police Court, and parents are warned to see that their children are not permitted to trespass or enter buildings. Such conduct is punishable by imprisonment and the authorities will prosecute to the full extent of the law.

On Tuesday of last week our municipal electrician, P. T. Thornber, was operated on at the Vancouver General Hospital. He was able to leave the hospital on Saturday, but is still under treatment. He hopes to be home the first of the coming week. Mrs. Thornber is at the Coast with him.

Rev. R. W. Lee, who has been pastor of the Armstrong Methodist Church for the last two years, has been appointed to the important charge at Cranbrook. Mr Lee has also been appointed chairman of the Kootenay District, and will have under his supervision the important work in the Crow's Nest Pass.

It would seem that it has been nobody's business to empty the mail box at the wharf, and it is stated that letters mailed there to gain time have not gone forward promptly. A complaint of this nature has been made to the Post Office Inspector, with the result that R. H. English, who has the contract for carrying the mails to and from the boat, has been engaged to empty the box every morning and evening upon the arrival of the boat.

Miss Amy Brown, daughter of Mr and Mrs J. R. Brown of Summerland, is now a graduate nurse, having been one of a class of sixty to be graduated from the Toronto General Hospital on Friday, May 17th. Miss Brown is continuing at the hospital, but hopes to get away to come home about the first of July for a visit before she is called for service overseas, for which she volunteered some time ago. Reg. Verrier, returned on Wednesday evening and went out to his sister's at Upper Trout Creek. He suffered the loss of an arm in France, and we are informed that he has been in Toronto getting fitted with an artificial limb.

The pumping outfit for the irrigation project at Trout Creek Point has been set up under the direction of Chairman Johnston of the Public Works Committee. Here and there some little difficulties turned up, and water being urgently needed it was deemed inadvisable to take any chance on delay, especially as it was thought that the pump was not lifting as it should. Accordingly the vendors of the pump were advised of the situation and asked to send a man to get it running smoothly. He arrived on Thursday morning, and our latest information is that he expected to have everything in working order this afternoon.

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

The picturesque sunken gardens and mounds on the grounds of Hotel Naramata are this year giving place to a war garden. The hotel, which is now used as a private dwelling by Mr J. M. Robinson and family, has not been open to the public for some time.

The frost which put its blighting touch on many spots up and down the Valley dealt leniently with Naramata. But slight damage was done in this section.

The community is shocked by the sad drowning accident at Summerland, in which the son of C.P.R. Agent Sharpe was lost overboard from the Naramata-Summerland ferry boat "Skookum." Deep sympathy is felt for the grief stricken parents and for Capt. Roe, whose efforts to save the young man proved unsuccessful.

Mr and Mrs Routh, recent additions to our citizenship, have taken the cottage recently vacated by Mrs D. O. Hughes.

A "flag raising" will be held on Monday, the King's Birthday, at the Unity Club. Final details were arranged at the regular meeting of the club on Friday. Mrs Mitchell, who has been re-elected president of the club, is supplying the staff and Mr J. W. A. Block has kindly donated the flag. A community picnic will be held at the same time when it is expected everyone will be there with the necessary basket. It was announced at last Friday's meeting that the autograph quilt bearing the names of the families of the community, which the club members have been making to be

John Steuart, a former citizen of Summerland, came in from the prairies on Monday evening for a short visit.

W. J. Wilcox of Salmon Arm and owner of a property in Peach Orchard was a visitor to Summerland this week.

Mr K. S. Hogg left early this week on a visit to Washington State, making the trip in his car by way of Oroville.

P. G. Dodwell is now the owner of a McLaughlin "light six," recently purchased from Hatfield & Wright, the local dealers.

Mr and Mrs T. G. Beavis, who were delegates to the Methodist Conference, came in from the Coast on Tuesday morning's train.

Indian Agent J. R. Brown, who was one of the delegates from the local church to the annual Methodist Conference, came in from the Coast last Saturday morning.

Mrs W. Estabrook, Peach Orchard, returned on Thursday morning from Victoria, where she has been visiting at the home of her son, Rev. H. G. Estabrook.

Norman Phinney, who is now at the Coast, is again in civilian clothes. It will be remembered that he returned from the war zone some time ago still carrying a piece of shrapnel in his lung.

M. Steuart, G. A. MacLaine, H. Vanderburg, F. Graham, and C. Elsey made a tour of the fruit districts of interior Washington by motor, leaving here last Thursday and returning on Tuesday night.

Jack Woods, now of Vernon, and at one time proprietor of the local barber shop, who returned from France some few months ago, suffering from the effects of trench fever, has been given his discharge.

Mrs R. W. Kelly of Armstrong was a visitor to Summerland this week. Her daughter, Miss "Babe" Kelly, who left here to take a position at Princeton, has resigned her position there and returned to Armstrong. She plans to return to railway station work.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr and Mrs A. E. Sharpe and family take this means of thanking all kind friends for their help and sympathy in their sad bereavement.

A tax of ten cents per seat on railway coaches with a tax of 10 per cent. on sleeping-car berths, with a minimum charge of 25 cents, is a means being adopted to maintain war expenditures.

Major A. Megraw has received notification that his work as Inspector of Indian Agencies for this district has been extended to cover all of British Columbia. Chief Inspector Ditchburn and Major Megraw now constitute this department for this province. A short but extremely welcome letter, the first he has been able to write since he was wounded, has been received from Sgt. Harold Mitchell by his mother. Sgt. Mitchell was wounded in the face, and though bad enough the wound is not as serious as was feared. It is believed that the bullet had considerably spent its force before reaching him.

LOWER FLOUR PRICE SECURED

As a result of a conference between the Canada Food Board and the milling interests, spring wheat millers have been required to make a reduction of 15 cents per barrel in the price of flour.

NO MORE ICED CAKES.

A recent order-in-council commands that housewives must cease using icing for cakes, and the making of candy from cane sugar. The order reads:

No person shall make in Canada for private consumption, French pastry, iced cakes, or biscuits or cakes with icing of cane sugar between the layers or added to the exterior; and no person shall use in Canada cane sugar for making, for private consumption, what is commonly called candy.

The most essential thing in the world costs nothing, and for that reason many people are dying for the lack of it. It is fresh air. You can live only four minutes without it, but you can live one hundred years without a beefsteak.

A delicious fruit salad is made with any kind of fruit set in a gelatin foundation.

Make Every Chicken Count.

The aim this year should be to make everything count. Make every hen lay her best, make every chick mature early enough, and thereby make every pound of feed give the maximum returns.

HATCH EARLY.—Make every effort to get your chicks out this spring before the first of June. As a rule the heavier breeds hatched later than that date are not satisfactory. At least 90 per cent. of the pullets in Canada were not laying during November and December of the past winter, because they were hatched too late.

A LITTLE SAND OR GRIT FIRST.—When the chicks are removed to their brooding quarters there should be some coarse sand or fine chick grit scattered where they can have free access to it. They should be left until they show positive signs of hunger, which would be between the second and third days after hatching. They may then be given some bread crumbs that have been very slightly moistened with milk, this may be scattered on clean sand or chick grit. If being brooded by a hen she will see that no food is allowed to lie around, but if in a brooder, that part of the food that the chicks do not pick up in a few minutes should be removed, as nothing in feeding causes so much trouble as leaving food of that nature around until it is sour.

FEED FOR THE FIRST TEN OR TWELVE DAYS.—The following daily ration of five feeds given about two hours and a half apart and continued from the time the chicks are two to three days out of the shell until ten or twelve days of age may be altered or adopted to suit conditions:

First Feed—Dry bread crumbs slightly moistened with milk.

Second Feed—Finely cracked mixed grains or commercial chick feed.

Third Feed—Rolled Oats.

Fourth Feed—Dry bread crumbs moistened with milk.

Fifth Feed—Finely cracked mixed grains.

In addition to the above, give the chicks a little green food such as grass, lettuce, sprouted oats, etc. Do not have the moistened bread sloppy but in a crumbly state, and during this period let the chicks on to fresh soil or grass every day if possible.

POUND LAW.

To the Editor of the Summerland Review.

Dear Sir,
As a sufferer of the Pound Law of the Municipality of Summerland I would like to ask the Reeve and Councillors if they think the Pound Law a just proposition for the people who live outside of the municipality. You say if our stock stray into your bounds you will impound them and charge us the necessary amount to oil your machinery and improve your roads, etc. You turn your stock on our land (as you no doubt know all land here of any consequence and watering places are alienated) by the dozens, and they mingle with ours. We don't say anything. But, your stock stray back and take ours with them. Then, we are charged the necessary. Or, if you should need one or more animals you send someone on our lands who runs down a whole bunch, takes yours, and ours are not driven back; therefore, we are charged the necessary again. How long is this kaiserly method going to go on? Do you wish us to get together, form a district with Pound Law similar to yours, and, with the Indian Reserve (which already has a Pound Law) impound all your stock? Would it not be a great deal better to get out of this 2x4 method and act like men and notify us if any of our stock should stray down (as you may be sure we are only too glad to bring them back) and let the citizens who have stock out here help building a large corral or corral out here to round up stock and not take any stock down into the municipality but their own or ones they are sent for, and above all not to run stock. Let them drive stock back to where they got them. And anyone not heeding this let their punishment be, well, I would suggest, boiling oil.

I thank you, Mr Editor, for the space.
WM. BRENT.

Our Thoughts.

We should be just as careful how we think as how we act, because our thoughts govern our actions. If we are heedless and careless as to our thinking, we will bring upon ourselves untold misery, because it is a fixed law that every thought we send out carries with it a power that calms or irritates. Therefore, if we are particular as to the thoughts we think, we shall likewise be able to use only such words as shall give comfort, peace and joy to humanity. We are entirely too inconsiderate with the words we use from day to day, and we unconsciously harm when we intend to help. Every word represents a thought, and as soon as spoken it sends out a vibration that is sure to be felt somewhere by someone.

How careful we should be, then, to gauge our language so that our children may imitate us and speak only such words as shall convey the highest thoughts possible. We can not be faithful to ourselves if we allow our minds to dwell on thoughts which contradict the truth, nor can we expect to be healthy if we talk about disease and illness. There are so many bright, happy, cheering thoughts to occupy our minds that it is a waste of time to hunt for shadows.

An Exchange says:—That dandelions can be kept well under control by cutting them in the blossoming season every other day with the mower. This not only keeps them from seeding, but the dandelion that cannot manage to blossom soon dies.
