IRRIGATION PLANS ARE APPROVED BY COUNCIL

Engineer Instructed to Start Work at Earliest Possible Moment on Extensive Reconstruction Program

Plans showing profile of the north main ditch, with grades and cross sections with dimensions and capacity of concrete ditches and wooden flumes were laid before the Council on Tuesday by Engineer Fawkes and were carefully considered section by section.

General approval was given the plans, with the exception that a motion was put through ordering the taking down, regrading and rebuilding of a section of wooden fluming near the Garnett Valley siphon, so as to give it a capacity not materially less than the section above. Coun. Kirk urged that the Engineer first be required to prepare specifications of the work before approval was given, but in this he was not supported, as it was argued that the plans as prepared were ample unless the work was to be done by contract and further time was too essential to be spent at this time in further such preliminaries. Engineer Fawkes was instructed to proceed at once with all possible speed with the construction program covering the north main.

Over sixty thousand feet of lumber, ton of nails and 3,000 bags of cement will be required on this job, according to a statement from the Engineer.

Pointing out the value of a late irrigation to an orchard, particularly one that had been short of water during the growing season, Inspector J. Tait urged that provision be made to give the orchards of the district irrigation water late in the season. Reeve Simpson pointed out that the construction program would make this impossible for some of the sections, but he saw no reason why water could not be provided where work was not being carried on.

Upon the request of G. Roy Black, a war veteran who claimed interest in Lot 13, D.L. 2196, Paradise Flat, which had been bought by the Municipality at tax sale, he was given the privilege of redeeming same with six payments covering 18 months.

Correspondence to date on the invitation of the Council to the Prince of Wales to call at Summerland was submitted by the Reeve. In a letter to Reeve Simpson from Hon. Martin Burrell, the latter stated that he would take the matter up with Col. Henderson as soon as he reached Ottawa.

An offer from C. McCutcheon of $25 for a shack on a lot near his newly acquired home was accepted.

That the bridges in Peach Orchard had been strengthened and the flume to the Gordon lot, so called, which had been recently burned had been rebuilt, was information contained in a report from Foreman Tomlin. Electrician Thornber reported several applications from a section of Peach Orchard for electric light. As the total cost of this extension would be small approval was given to his recommendation that the several applicants be given the service.

The treasurer submitted a letter from Mr. T. J. McAlpine received in answer to several requests for payment of past due instalments on a judgment and asked for instructions. Mr. McAlpine in his letter stated that he was unable to meet the payments at the present time, owing to the high cost of living and other heavy responsibilities which were forced upon him whilst he was demanding what is known as British fair play from an envious dominating force, which has since been broken. It was shown that not one of the $25 monthly payments had been made this year. Reeve Simpson gave it as his opinion that the Council would be remiss in its duties did it not collect the amount given by the judgment, which did not cover all the expense to which the Municipality had been put. The Clerk was accordingly instructed to advise Mr. McAlpine that payment must be made by Sept. 15th, or judgment would be executed.

Alterations to the power line to permit the use of a larger and more powerful X-Ray outfit at the hospital were authorized.

Sugar Scare Is Causing Unwarrantable Hoarding

Vancouver, Aug. 30.—During the week the movement in fruits was fair up until Thursday when a slight slackening was noticeable, due to the "sugar lines" regarding the sugar shortage. Such publicity, coupled with the unwarranted hoarding of the consumers, can make a shortage any time.

It is reported that some housewives are laying in a supply sufficient for a year and that the demand on grocers has been greater than ever known. If consumers bought only for their present needs there would be very little hardship, and a possibility of sufficient supply to carry over the canning season. However, as the situation is, there is every likelihood of fruit growers suffering a severe loss unless the consumers can their peaches and plums without sugar, which can be done just as successfully as by the use of sugar and is much more economical in the long run.

OKANAGAN LEADS IN FRUIT PRODUCTION

Returns for Last Season Show Big Percentage Shipped From This Part of the Province.

According to figures compiled in the Provincial Department of Agriculture, British Columbia in 1918 produced 3,719 minimum cars of fruit. The total fruit crop for the year was valued at $4,415,160 for 42,516 tons. For 1917, with a production practically the same, the value was $2,894,954, and for 1916 with a production of 39,931 tons the value was $2,176,662. Imports of fruit from foreign countries for 1918 reached $519,315, as compared with $454,213 for 1917. These figures probably refer to imported fruit which could be grown here and not to such fruits as oranges and bananas.

The total agricultural production of the province for 1918 is valued as $49,444,308, compared with $37,661,850 during the preceding year.

That the Okanagan has a clear lead of all fruit growing districts in B.C. is indicated from the returns. In 1918, out of a total apple production in B.C. of 1,343,450 packages valued at $2,319,227, the Okanagan and Boundary produced 1,080,936 packages valued at $1,826,350 or slightly over 75 per cent.

Of crab apples the province produced 67,351 packages, valued at $96,660, and of this the Okanagan was responsible for 54,422 packages worth $81,692, or nearly 85 per cent.

Of pears produced 81,362 packages worth $165,053 the Okanagan having 51,332, valued at $109,100, or 60 per cent.

Plums and prunes showed a total production for the province of 210,292 packages, valued at $200,646. The Okanagan produced 163,292, valued at $158,225, or more than 75 per cent.

Peaches reached 207,566 packages for the whole province worth $212,305. The Okanagan produced 20,399 packages, worth $207,539 or about 98 per cent. In apricots B.C.'s total production was 51,150 packages, valued at $66,878, while the Okanagan produced 51,150 packages, worth $66,864, or over 99 per cent.

This district also led in cherry production with 40,366 packages, valued at $73,425, a shade over 50 per cent. of the provincial total of 78,584 packages, valued at $141,120.

HOSPITAL DONATIONS

Donations to the Summerland Hospital for August were as follows: Mrs. Lee, Mineola; lettuce; Sam Uzawa; Tomatoes; Charlie Veno, Ice cream; fruit, vegetables; Mr. C. H. Elsey, raspberries; Miss Frowse, vegetables; Mrs. H. A. Solly, apricots, old linen and canned fruit; Mrs. R. H. Holmer, vegetables and flowers; Mrs. A. Moyes, fruit and vegetables; Mrs. J. O. Arkell, vegetables; Mrs. C. H. Gayton, canned fruit and canned vegetables; Mrs. H. C. Mellor, tomatoes; Rev. W. H. Bates, chickens for nurses; Mrs. E. Hunt, canned fruit; Mrs. J. Downton, asparagus; Mr. C. Craig, fruit and vegetables.

After Head of Road Supt. T. McAlpine

Kelowna Gathering Resolves For His Dismissal and Reinstatement of Local Foreman

All who travel the roads of which Foreman W. Watson has been in charge will learn with regret that he is being transferred to another part of the district. For several years Mr. Watson has been spending much of his time on the lake shore road between Summerland and Peachland, and on that part of the same highway from Trout Creek south to the district boundary, a distance of a mile or so, and the condition of his roads is indeed creditable, considering the small sum allowed him for expenditure on his section.

On the 15th of this month Mr. Watson will take over the larger territory adjacent to Kelowna, which position has recently been vacated. Without a doubt, Mr. Watson is the best road foreman in the whole district and Summerland's loss will be Kelowna's gain.

But Kelowna is not satisfied with the change. Judging from what has been transpiring there lately a considerable element of the population there are determined to have a local man as foreman. They would also have District Foreman/McAlpine dismissed and a citizen of the Kelowna district appointed in his place.

The following taken from last week's Kelowna Record will be read here with interest:

The action of Road Superintendent McAlpine in dismissing the local road foreman, C. Fowler, this week, apparently brought to a head the dissatisfaction with which the former is regarded in some parts of the district, and at an indignation meeting gathered together Tuesday evening in the Board of Trade room resolutions were passed calling for his removal and the reinstatement of Fowler.

Some thirty people had been assembled from various districts, and as each section apparently has its own grievances over the road question, McAlpine, who had been invited to be present, was subjected to a heavy fire of criticism, which grew fairly warm at times.

Mr. P. Heron, who was the principal speaker, stated that the meeting had been called for two reasons: first dissatisfaction over the dismissal of the road foreman, and secondly, general discontent over the road conditions. The roads, he said, were an absolute disgrace, and would be worse when the heavy hauling commenced.

The whole fault, he claimed, rested with the road superintendent, who did not know his job. The road foreman had done his best, but had been given wrong instructions. The same kick, he said, came from all over the district, and nothing would satisfy the farmers but to have a Kelowna man in charge here.

Mr. S. T. Elliott supported this (Continued on page 6.)

Canada, A Shining Example

She Takes Her Full Rank With The World Nations.

The forward step was taken when her plenipotentiaries signed the treaty of peace at Versailles with those of the world powers. From the time the first British settler came to this country, the possibilities were here of founding and developing a great nation to eventually take its place along with the other great nations of the world. Many weary years have intervened since then, and at times it seemed as if such a thing could never be accomplished. But the faith of the pioneers has been justified and they "who builded better than they knew" bequeathed to their children a rich heritage—which is now reaching its full fruition.

Its growth has been accelerated, not forced, by the awful hours of agony endured during the last four years of horrible warfare. But that is now a thing of the past and to-

To Push Work on Water System Vigorously

Assembling Men and Materials For an Early Start on Main Getting Additional Men In

Preparations for the reconstruction of a larger and more permanent irrigation system for Summerland are now being pushed by Engineer Fawkes. Literally miles of concrete ditches are to be built and more miles of fluming to be put in. It is possible that a considerable length of steel fluming may also be used. For this work the ratepayers have voted $75,000.

The time in which all this work may be done to best advantage is limited and all haste that is consistent with efficiency should be exercised. For this Engineer Fawkes may be depended on. Already he has the work well advanced and will have all camp arrangements made and all local men available lined up as well as the needed material on the ground before he returns next week with laborers for whom he will go to the Coast early next week.

Last spring splendid progress was made when 200 lineal feet of concrete was laid each day. This fall Mr. Fawkes has set 250 feet as the day's work and is having the necessary extra forms made so that this length of lining can be laid each day.

While this ditch work is being done other crews will be busy on the erection of flumes and it is hoped that a good portion of the constructional program will be completed before cold weather interrupts.

Game Regulations

Open Season For Grouse, Ducks, Etc. Starts Saturday. Prairie Chickens Must Not Be Shot

The game regulations for 1919-20 provide that the open season for grouse of all kinds, ducks, snipe, geese and brant starts in the eastern sections (of which the Okanagan electoral districts are part) on September 6th. For grouse the shooting season lasts from the 6th to 21st of September, and for ducks and geese from September 6th to December 20th.

The shooting of prairie chicken is prohibited except in the Kamloops electoral district of the eastern section.

Deer of all kinds may be killed between September 13 and December 15th. Bear may be killed between September 1st and June 30th.

It is unlawful to offer for sale game of any kind in this district.

The limit of a bag is confined to 6 grouse of one species or 12 of all species in a day, or 50 for the season; ducks 20 for one day or 150 for the season; two deer of one species or three altogether.

It is unlawful to carry firearms without a licence or to use another person's licence or badge.

day her sons and daughters, regal in the dignity of their newly acquired nationhood, stand upon the threshold of a new era.

Whatever may be the national characteristics that eventually will be one of the chief traits of Canadians, it is of vital importance at this stage of development that habits of thrift should be cultivated by the people. To "teach the young idea how to shoot" is no longer necessary—but to teach the children the true meaning of thrift—in all its relationships, will be to provide them with an equipment for fighting the battle of life successfully and for developing a sturdy free character.

Habits, even bad ones, are not acquired in one day. It therefore must not be expected that within the short time the thrift campaign has been in progress that any great impression has been made upon the habits of the people. But its continuation upon a permanent basis will bring results of untold value, even unto the "third and fourth generation."

Contracting For Apples At Very Good Prices

Wenatchee, Wash.—During the week contracts have been made for Winter Banana apples at $3.50 to $3.75 and on Winesaps at $3.00 per box, with orchard run at $2.50, the buyers to do the picking and furnish containers. Eastern buyers are competing against one another to clean out Washington orchards.

Seattle buyers are holding off and will depend on consignment later in the season when outside operators have been satisfied. Local jobbers say prices are too high. Present bid prices would easily call for a $5.00 level for the opening of the season. Numerous contracts for Winter apples at $85.00 per ton, or straight 5c. per lb. orchard run, worm stung and all have been closed this week. Apple crop is over 85 per cent. sold, average price $2.25 per box orchard run.

A large number of Doukhobor women are picking fruit at Okanagan Centre.

SCHOOLS RE-OPEN FOR FALL TERM

Greatly Increased Attendance. Domestic Science Starts In Splendidly Equipped Quarters.

Tuesday morning saw the re-opening of the public schools of the Summerland district. Even with the two extra rooms that have been provided every department is filled. Perhaps never in the history of the community has there been as many beginners as there were this week.

There are also many new pupils in the other grades from families that have recently settled here. During the vacation the Central buildings had been thoroughly renovated inside by Mr. J. R. Barclay, giving them a fresh and inviting appearance.

A new department this year is the domestic science in charge of Miss Oliver. There nearly everything is now in readiness to carry on work. A fine new range has been installed and a full line of excellent furniture, including cabinets, tables, etc., constructed by or under the direction of Manual Training instructor Baker, has been provided.

Things in the College building were not quite ready on Tuesday and classes were adjourned until Thursday morning. Already there are 56 pupils enrolled in the high school with more to come. Three class rooms, beside the science room have been provided, with Miss F. Todd in charge of the third room. It has been impossible to get a complete record of pupils in the several schools this week but we have been promised this information for next week.

WIFE DESERTER AND BIGAMIST REMANDED

S. Soames, with Wife and Child in Old Country, Deserts Wife and Infants in Kelowna.

On a charge of deserting his wife and two infant children, S. Soames appeared before the local magistrate Wednesday morning, and was remanded for eight days.

Soames disappeared from the city about two years ago, and information gleaned shows he enlisted in the Army Service Corps in Edmonton, though he never saw overseas service. Investigation by Chief Thomas and a wire directed to Ottawa disclosed Soames to be a much married individual, having at the time of his marriage here, a wife and child of about nine years, living in Norfolk, England.

A charge of bigamy will be preferred against Soames, and until all needed evidence arrives he will remain a guest at the local Bastille.

This is not the Soames known to many of our readers through his connection with the stage of the Okanagan. He is A. L. Soames.

The average Canadian cow produces 4,000 pounds of milk in a year; the average Danish cow produces over 6,000 pounds. They are serious in their belief in pure bred sires in Denmark.

CODLING MOTH STILL EXISTS IN WASHINGTON.

Mr. R. C. Treherne Tells of Conditions South of Us and Reports Colorado Beetle is in Kootenay.

After an absence of two weeks in the State of Washington, R. C. Treherne, field officer of the Dominion Entomological Branch, has returned to his laboratory in the Okanagan.

Mr. Treherne made it a point to visit as many of the county agents and local inspectors as possible in the territory immediately adjoining the British Columbia boundary line. Inasmuch as the trip to Pullman was made in an automobile, a great many points were reached which could not have been visited if the journey had been made by railway. "It will be of great interest to British Columbia fruit growers," Mr. Treherne said, "to hear that the well-known Colorado beetle has at last made its appearance in the eastern Kootenay district."

"This beetle is well known to Ontario farmers. It was imported across the Rockies into Idaho some 20 years ago by some settlers, and it has spread north in gradual stages until now it may be found quite readily in the Flathead country of Montana and in the northeast sections of Washington State."

"It is not believed that the rate of spread or the productivity of the beetle will be as great as in Eastern Canada, but it should be a matter of interest to our British Columbia farmers to know that this beetle does to some extent threaten our production of potatoes in the Kootenay and Boundary sections."

According to Mr. Treherne, the much-dreaded codling moth is now present in the orchards at Oroville on the boundary line on Osoyoos Lake, and the San Jose Scale is more or less common in orchards growing at a point 50 miles south of the boundary.

"If I may be allowed to judge our cousins to the south of us in the brief stay I made in the section between Wenatchee and the boundary north," said Mr. Treherne, "I would say that the Washington fruit growers have been exceedingly lax in allowing infestation to occur in some of their young orchard sections, particularly when one observes great stretches of country separating orchard sections."

"The loss to apple growers at the present time in the sections immediately south of the line runs about 8 per cent. from codling moth infestation, not including the cost of applying four or five distinct and separate codling moth spray applications in a year. The carload yield of apples approximates 9,000, hence the loss may be readily figured."

"These facts are known by Washington growers, but no real or apparent steps are taken to segregate new orchard sections. A proper realization of the importance of quarantining new centres of infestation would have a most direct bearing on our conditions in British Columbia, especially as it would tend to delay the day of general infestation until our prospective fruit growers in the Lower Okanagan become properly established in the fruit growing business."

Besides obtaining the more up-to-date ideas on the values of spray methods, Mr. Treherne went over the territory that has been created for outbreaks of the couleé crickets and migratory grasshoppers.

Mr. Treherne seemed quite convinced that ranchers interested in grasshoppers should become fully conversant with the recommended control measures, but more important yet, should take time by the forelock and take steps to obtain, before next season, fair supplies of the essential bait materials.

THE FAR SEEING HERALD

IS THIS A CASE OF GUILTY CONSCIENCE? Last week we gave space to a complaint of Vancouver wholesale fruit men of the quality of a carload of fruit which had arrived there from the Okanagan. At the same time we expressed confidence that the fruit complained of had not been shipped from Summerland, Naramata or Peachland, and pointed out that, no matter from what part of the Valley the stuff was shipped, it hurt the whole Okanagan fruit district.

This week the Penticton Herald quotes the article referred to and says The Review is "endeavoring in its usual side-stepping, back-handed way to get in a dig at Penticton." This accusation was read by us with complete astonishment. We must confess that we made no attempt whatever to locate the source of the damaging shipment, and had not thought of Penticton as being any more likely to be responsible than any other section of the Valley not covered by The Review. What concerned us most was whether it could possibly have been shipped from within what we legitimately claim as our territory. Not making any pretense to the Penticton territory which we do not cover, and with whose shipping business we do not keep in touch, we did not make any reference to that district.

Is it because the condemned fruit was shipped from Penticton that our contemporary read between the lines something that was entirely foreign to the thoughts of the writer?

WHAT THE VALUE WAS TO THE FRUIT GROWERS under the several systems of the work done this spring on the ditches and flumes here and at Peachland and Naramata would be almost impossible to calculate. Certain it is that had not the work been done crops in many cases would have failed entirely and nearly every grower would have suffered a partial crop failure. Instead, the large majority were carried through the driest year in the history of irrigation in the Okanagan. Here and at Peachland the supply has been well maintained and but for a mishap at Naramata their water would have lasted well. When further storage facilities that are to be provided on that system and repairs to the distribution are completed Naramata will be well provided for. Reference to the report of our special correspondent at Peachland will show how well the improvements made to that system have carried them through. For the Summerland system may we use the words of a well known citizen who, after viewing the upper mains on Saturday and noting the volume of water still flowing said, "I am proud of Summerland and her water system." Completion of improvement programs in all three areas will give immediate and large returns by further increasing the rapidly expanding annual output.

RECOGNITION WAS GIVEN the need of improving and beautifying the Okanagan highway as it passes through Summerland and especially that portion of it known as Beach Avenue and Shaughnessy Avenue, when a citizen's gathering last spring started a movement for re-grading, surfacing and tree planting. It was then too late to properly start such a program and the matter was left over until fall. This important and much needed work should not be lost sight of. Probably the same assistance would be given here by the Government as was given Penticton this summer. Their Main Street was resurfaced by the Government road men largely at the expense of the Province.

WESTERN CANADA IRRIGATION ASSOCIATION HAVE SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION.

The Thirteenth Annual Convention of the Western Canada Irrigation Association was held at Medicine Hat, Alberta, August 4th, 5th and 6th. The convention was a very successful one in every way. It was well attended, the addresses were interesting and the discussions valuable. The strong feeling of the meeting was the need for more irrigation in Southern Alberta and parts of Saskatchewan. There are few opponents of irrigation in these parts of the country now and it was not necessary to prove its value and advantages. If there had been any doubters their doubts would have been dispelled by the visit to the Ronalane Farm owned by the Canada Land and Irrigation Company, where the delegates were invited to spend a day. The wonderful crops seen on this farm and contrasted with the surrounding prairie would have convinced the most skeptical. At the farm a practical demonstration of the preparation of land for irrigation and the various means of applying water was given and was followed with much interest by the visitors.

The papers and discussions dealt with various phases of irrigation both from the point of view of the engineer and that of the farmer. The papers on the Economic Phase of Irrigation by R. S. Stockton; the Irrigation Development Association of Southern Alberta, by S. S. Dunham; the Progress of the Taber Irrigation District, L. Peterson; Reservoir Development in Saskatchewan, D. J. Wylie; Why We Want Irrigation as an Adjunct to Dry Farming, P. Baker; The Proposed Northwest Saskatchewan Irrigation Scheme, William Pearce; led to very interesting and animated discussions.

Very strong resolutions were passed at the close of the Convention urging on the Dominion and Provincial Governments the need of immediate action in the extension of irrigation throughout Southern Alberta and parts of Saskatchewan. A very heated discussion arose as to the responsibility of the Dominion and Provincial Governments in the construction of these works, and a resolution was passed expressing the opinion that it was the duty of the Dominion Government to maintain all main canals and reservoirs and deliver water at cost, and that the Provincial Governments concerned should assume the responsibility for creation of water districts and lend their financial support to these districts.

In view of the importance of the extension of irrigation throughout Southern Alberta, the British Columbia and Saskatchewan representatives at the convention agreed to forego their right to having next year's convention in either of their provinces, and a resolution was moved and seconded by representatives of those provinces respectively that next year's convention be held at Lethbridge, Alberta.

Most women would rather be envied than educated.

Mrs. Haynes, nee Lulu Brown, of Consort, Alberta, came in last week to visit old friends and acquaintances, and her brother Cecil Brown. She is accompanied by her little child.

After spending a short vacation visit here, guests with Mrs. and Miss McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Lang took their departure on Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. E. House, accompanied by her daughter Mrs. Robt. Howell, left on Wednesday the 27th en route for their old home on the prairie for a time. They intended going via Edmonton to stop off for a short time.

After spending her holidays here with her brother, during which she had a very enjoyable time, Miss Helen Tees left on her return trip on Wednesday morning of last week.

Mrs. Cartwright of Okanagan Landing accompanied by her daughter Miss Margaret left on Wednesday of last week to return to their home, after a pleasant visit here with Mrs. Cartwright's parents Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore.

Miss Lily Cousins spent a couple of days in Kelowna last week, going over on Wednesday and back on Thursday.

Miss Measures of Kelowna, Mrs. Walker Aitken's sister has been spending a short time in town. While here she was the guest of Mrs. E. P. Smith. She returned to Kelowna on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Lupton and her children moved back to Kelowna on Saturday to remain for some time again.

Mrs. Roland of Kelowna was a recent guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young. She left on Saturday morning to return to her home.

Mr. Everett Law of the staff of the Penticton Herald, was a visitor in town Monday. On his return in the evening he took with him his little niece Pearl Law. Friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Law were pleased to learn that Mrs. Law is improving in health.

Mr. Sootherin has been enjoying a short visit from a brother, who left on Tuesday night for the Coast.

Mrs. MacMillan and family left on Tuesday night to return to their home in Vancouver, after having spent two months pleasant vacation in town.

The Misses Enid, Olive and Mabel Smith of Merritt left on Monday night to return to their home, after spending a few weeks visiting the MacKenzie and McCall families. The girls had a very pleasant time here, and took part in several picnics and outings.

After enjoying a portion of their holiday season in their home town and district, Miss Bessie and Mr. Lyle Seaton left on Saturday morning to take up their duties for the coming term.

Mr. P. N. Dorland's sister, Mrs. Aylsworth of Vancouver, came in last week end to spend a month visiting with Mrs. Dorland.

Miss Milne, who will be remembered as having been on the school staff a few years ago, paid town a short visit last week, taking her departure again on Thursday.

The Baptist Sunday School held its annual picnic on Thursday of last week, down at the lake shore at Deep Creek. Considering the busy times a good turn out was in evidence and a very pleasant time spent during the afternoon and none the less pleasant time around the 5 o'clock spread.

Miss Margaret Birch of Kelowna spent a short time in town last week visiting her aunts and cousins the Wrights and Elliotts. On her return home Friday she was accompanied by Gerald Elliott. Gerald stayed over till the following day.

Passengers to Kelowna to spend Friday in that city were Mr. H. E. McCall with Arthur and Henry. Mr. McCall and the boys met and accompanied home Mrs. McCall with Alice and Willie on their return from the East.

Captain Higgins is enjoying a visit from his father, who came in on Friday.

After a short visit down to Naramata Mrs. H. McDougall returned to her home here on Saturday.

Friends here of Miss Whitworth who taught in our school here will be interested to learn of her marriage to Mr. Gilbert Jukes. Mr. and Mrs. Jukes spent the week end in town, coming in on Saturday and leaving again on Monday.

Mr. A. J. MacKenzie and family have been enjoying the pleasure of a visit from two of Mr. MacKenzie's cousins from Vancouver, Don and Russell MacKenzie. They have enjoyed their holiday very much, and are leaving for home again on Saturday.

Miss Sifton and Miss Brown of Calgary, who have been holidaying here left on Saturday night, expecting to spend Sunday in Penticton, returning on Monday morning en route for home.

The Rev. Dr. Rawlings came up from Penticton again last Sunday to preach in the Baptist Church in Pastor Grieve's place. There was a fair turn out considering weather conditions just at the time, and those present listened to a most interesting and able sermon. Several have remarked since that they had not heard any better for years.

Mr. R. J. McDougall of the Penticton Herald, spent Sunday and Monday with his kiddies at the home of Mrs. Dorland.

Mrs. Allan McDonald, accompanied by her friend Miss Lila Letts of Penticton, spent Monday last in town visiting Mrs. MacDonald's relatives, the McCalls, both returning in the evening.

After spending his holiday at the Coast, Mr. McLeod returned to Peachland on Monday night to resume his duties as Principal of the public school.

The same boat brought the teachers to fill the two vacancies left, Miss Morley to take charge of the intermediate room and Miss McIntosh to take the Trepanier Township school. Miss Leone Morrison is taking charge of the primary division in the central school and Miss Whitman continues with the high school. School was opened on Tuesday morning with a full staff.

Master Robert McKechnie left by Tuesday night's boat after spending a few days in town visiting friends and relatives.

AMPLE WATER FOR SEASON'S NEEDS

We have noticed in former issues articles boosting other towns on the lake, and naturally we do not like to drop behind the front line at all. We feel that we have much to be proud of here, among other things the quality of fruit we ship as well as the quantity per acre shipped out. Another point we have to congratulate ourselves on is the matter of water supply for this trying season. We are able to report full rations up to the present and a good supply still in sight. On a recent investigation trip to the dam it was found that there was still seven feet to come and go on, which we expect will safely put us through the irrigation season. Even if rations have to be cut down it will not be till danger will be pretty well passed for this season.

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Symons and family, who have been residing in Summerland, have purchased the Chas. Johnson fruit property and came over last week to live in their new home. Mr. Symons is an expert plumber and will be a welcome addition to our community.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Manchester went over to Summerland on Tuesday to continue their dancing class.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Unity Club house on Tuesday afternoon. Roll call was responded to with grandmothers' names.

Mr. Gordon Hayman has accepted a position with the Summerland Fruit Union and will move over there this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cash motored in on Sunday to visit Mrs. Cash and call on friends.

Mrs. McDougall of Peachland is visiting her sister Mrs. E. P. Roe.

Mr. Bartlett who has been on a vacation in Peachland for the past week has returned to his duties here.

Mr. W. Winger, who was doing concrete work here, has returned to Peachland. He expects to return again and take some more contracts in his line of business soon.

The Rev. Mr. Ewing who has been here for the past month on his vacation has returned to his home in Penticton.

The recent rain came just in time to put a damper on the forest fires that have been raging for the last few weeks and incidentally helped to irrigate some fruit lots that were sadly in need of water.

The concert for the Red Cross that Mrs. C. C. Atkins has been directing was given on Thursday night to a good attendance and was a most pleasing success. There was a very interesting Indian dance given by a group of our young ladies and the costumes for this number were elaborate. The girls had been well drilled and it was a fine bit of unison work. A comic song by Mr. Guy was well received. Mrs. L. B. Smith gave a pleasing vocal solo. While the times for rehearsal were limited on account of the men fighting fire, still the minstrel show was good and snappy with catchy songs and jokes that provoked laughter and applause. The end men were Mr. R. C. Robinson and Mr. F. C. Manchester, and the centre was taken by Mr. Dick Leckie. Then there was Susan which was most ably taken by Mr. Norman Mitchell. Susan received a most beautiful bouquet of vegetables, much assorted, for her part of the fun. Extra songs were given by Mr. Flannigan and Mr. Griffith. All of the numbers were much appreciated and there is talk of some more of the same before long. The most pleasing part of the show was the playlet called "Pierrot and Pierrette and The Maker of Dreams," which was performed by Miss Gladys Robinson, Miss Jean McDonald and Mr. Griffith. The parts were especially suited to the performers and the setting was perfect. The play itself was sweet and dainty and mighty enjoyable. Someone said it was high class and that expresses it. The whole performance was handicapped on account of poor light, but in spite of the fact all got their money's worth. There was a dance after the show and that made a fine finish to a most successful evening.

Presence of Mind Saves Child's Life

Prompt action on the part of her mother no doubt saved the life of the six-year-old daughter of George J. Frasier, who lives on the Hill ranch, on the east side of Osoyoos Lake, close to the international boundary.

The child had opened the screen door in the rear of the house to step outside when a rattle snake that was coiled up on the doorstep, struck her. As the child jumped back, the door swung shut and the snake was caught between the door and the jamb and was killed by members of the family.

Word was sent at once to the customs office at Osoyoos and Dr. Efner of Oroville was summoned. The frightened mother acted at once and her promptness saved the child's life. Mrs. Frasier slashed the tiny wound made by the snake's bite with a butcher knife, thus permitting the blood to flow freely, and put a tourniquet about the leg above the bite, preventing the poison from getting into circulation.

Dr. Efner responded to the call as rapidly as an auto could convey him to the scene, and applied such remedies as were necessary.

APPLE PROSPECTS IN THE UNITED STATES.

The special commercial apple report of the Bureau of Crop Estimates, published on July 9th, estimates the total crop in the United States as 24,454,000 barrels as compared with 24,584,000 barrels in 1918.

There is a very noticeable decrease in New York State which now promises less than one-third of an average crop or 46 per cent. of last year. There are good prospects in the New England States, but the middle Atlantic States show a decrease of about 20 per cent.

There is a very heavy estimated production of boxed apples in the Western States and it looks as if this section would produce its largest crop. The boxed apple production is estimated at approximately 29,000,000 boxes as compared with 21,309,000 boxes in 1918 and 25,689,000 boxes in 1917.

What a beautiful world this would be if flowers only grew to resemble their pictures in the seed catalogues.

WHY BUY AT HOME?

Wise Words For Patrons of Mail Order Houses.

Because some part of every dollar I spend at home stays at home and helps work for the welfare of the town and district.

Because the home merchant I buy from stands back of his goods, thus always giving value received.

Because the merchant I buy from pays his share of the city, municipal or district taxes.

Because the merchant I buy from helps support our poor and needy, our schools, our churches, our lodges and homes.

Because if ill luck, misfortune, or bereavement comes, the merchant buy from is here with his kindly expression of greeting, his words of cheer, and, if needed, his pocket-book.

Because my interests are here. Because the community that is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in.

Because I believe in transacting business with my friends.

Because I want to see the goods I am buying.

Because I want to get what I buy when I pay for it.

Because my home merchant will take care of me when I run short of cash.

Let us make this town and district a good place in which to work and live. It's easy and certain if everyone will do his share. The dollar sent away seldom returns, while the money spent at home is apt to leave a "scrapling" at your door.

Okanagan's apple crop will be thirty per cent. larger than in 1918, according to the latest estimates compiled by Dominion Fruit Commissioner C. W. Baxter. The pear and apricot crops are estimated to be the same as last year while peaches will show a ten per cent. increase, prunes ten per cent. decrease and plums a fifteen per cent. decrease.

Usually at this season of the year the hospital is kept fairly well supplied with fresh vegetables by public contributions. This year very little has been coming in, due no doubt to the fact that everybody is busy. All who can send such supplies to the hospital now may be sure that their contributions will be appreciated.

MAKES NEW RECORDS.

Express shipments from here on Thursday morning established a new record for one day's shipment. Twenty-five express trucks were loaded with fruit destined to 602 different purchasers.

Mr. Ernest Lock, accompanied by his mother, left last Friday to resume his work as teacher in the New Westminster High School. His wife and little one will remain for a time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Williams, Peach Orchard.

GOING HIM SEVERAL BETTER.

The oldest good story is the one about the boy who left the farm and got a job in the city. He wrote a letter to his brother who elected to stick by the farm, telling of the joys of city life, in which he said: "Thursday we auted out to the Country Club, where we golfed until dark. Then we motored to the beach and Friday there."

The brother on the farm wrote back: "Yesterday we buggied to town and baseballled all afternoon. Then we went to Mod's and pokered till morning. Today we mated out to the cornfield and hohaywed until sundown. Then we suppered, and then we piped for a while. After that we staircused up to our room and bedstoded until the clock fivod."

Removing Barrier to Cross Boundary Road Traffic

Motorists who have journeyed south across the international boundary into Okanagan County, Washington, know how quickly bad roads are experienced once the line is crossed. It must have occurred to many that but little appreciation can be put on the visits of B.C. citizens to Oroville and vicinity. Certainly it would be hard to find a section of what one would expect to be a highway in quite the abandoned condition one finds portions of the trail between the line and Oroville. The reclaiming of the land which is now under irrigation has resulted in fences being thrown across former trails, leaving travelers to find a way around, and at one point, long a bad one with a heavy grade, irrigation has caused all cars travelling north or south to find a way as best they can up a sidehill of dust, sage brush and greasewood. A visitor to Oroville was told that not less than seven cars had come to grief on that bit of sidehill in one day. It is over this road, too, that the stage to Oroville must travel.

No longer is this section of road to be neglected, according to the Oroville Gazette, the last issue of which says: Commissioner Hershberger with two or three residents drove up to a point on the road toward the boundary line where travellers have experienced so much trouble recently, Monday, and viewed the conditions as they exist. And the conditions as an impediment to travel could hardly be worse. From town to the Kelsey place the road is in very fair condition, but from that point to the line a more miserable excuse for a road would be hard to find. The road north of the Kelsey ranch, going up over the hill, never a creditable highway at the best, is a bottomless mud hole for a short distance. This bog is caused by seepage from the main irrigating ditch, a considerable distance beyond, and also from surplus water that flows from an adjacent alfalfa field. It is really astonishing the amount of water that goes to waste through seepage, for at this particular place there is enough to open up a spring with a steady flow of water. Many cars have come to grief at this mud hole and it was necessary to abandon that route entirely. Cutting off from that road cars have made new roads through the sage brush topping the hill. These routes of travel are not roads, but deeply rutted tracks, with the ruts so deep as to be almost impassable. Mr. Hershberger will arrange to make a passable road which at the best can only be temporary, as the aim is to eventually run a road directly north near the lake, where there is a good bottom and much reduced grades. It is to be hoped that the State will supply an appropriation sufficient to construct a permanent road over the selected route to the line, there to connect up with the British Columbia roads.

 view. He said he had been here twenty-seven years, but had never known worse roads than we had today. Mr. McAlpine was here probably one-tenth of his time, when he should spend at least three-quarters of it here. Complaints were registered by the speakers regarding the K.L.O., Glenmore and Mission roads.
 Mr. McAlpine while maintaining that it was the district engineer who should have been there to answer most of the criticisms, defended his work in the district, which he believed was the best that could be done with the money available. He resented the abuse which had been heaped upon him, which he believed originated largely in personal spite.
 Asked as to his reason for dismissing Fowler, Mr. McAlpine would say no more than that he considered him inefficient, and that he was putting in his place the best man in the district. Fowler, he said, had quit him on three different occasions and he had tried to get a Kelowna man to fill his place, but could not do so.
 The meeting, however, was not to be pacified, and after further stormy discussion a resolution was prepared and carried unanimously, asking for the removal of McAlpine and requesting the re-appointment of Fowler. This was to be wired to the Minister of Public Works and to Engineer Gwyer.
 Discussion then turned to the serious bush fires which were burn-

ORCHESTRA FEATURE OF BIG DANCE AT PENTICTON

It is announced by M. F. Dixon, general agent for the H. E. Dixon attractions that arrangements are completed for the first monthly appearance in Penticton of Elmer's Original Jazz Band and peerless dance orchestra.
 This organization is said to be one of the finest travelling companies on the Pacific coast. It claims to be a Canadian organization with players recruited from leading dance halls, hotel orchestras and cafes, under the management of H. E. Dixon of Vancouver.
 At the present day the dance seems to reign supreme over all other forms of amusement, and with this idea in mind this aggregation of singing, dancing, dippy-mad-kings of syncopation was organized with the sole purpose in view of affording the dancing public the opportunity of hearing real jazz music and enthuse over the harmonious singing and mad antics as well as to participate in the big show, dancing anything from the schottische to the ever changing present day fancy steps.
 Announcement of the first appearance of this band is made in the advertising columns of this number.

ing in the district, and it was left with the chairman to see that effective action was taken to control them.

ADVANTAGES OF FALL PLOWING IN THE DRY BELT.

By R. H. Helmer, Supt. Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C.
 In plowing under sod or cover crops early plowing is to be preferred, especially if the land can be irrigated before plowing, as this tends to rot the sod or cover crop and absorb any rains that may fall and allow the moisture to penetrate to a greater depth than on unplowed land. On most farms the manure output is greater during the winter months and manure put on fall plowing will work into the soil much better before re-plowing in the spring for roots or corn. On fairly level land fall plowing may be disced and harrowed to avoid loss of moisture during the fall. On steeper land, plow along the slope if possible and allow the land to lie fairly rough. One harrowing would be enough. This obviates any tendency to wash when a quick run off of rain or snow occurs and the furrow lines act as a check to running water and allow it to percolate to a greater depth quickly.
 Putting the water content, manure and cover crops out of the question, fall plowing puts our soils (which are apt to pack badly) in much better condition to be weathered, thus allowing moisture and air to break down plant food for the coming crop. We are fortunate in having long open falls, and each acre plowed is an acre caught up in spring work when everything is rushing. And where spring plowing is advisable this is helped considerably by shallow plowing in the fall, a more uniform seed bed being obtainable, the soil not being so hard packed on the surface.

 Plowing is the beginning of the crop. The first operation should be done well, good plowing makes good cultivation easy. The cut and cover method is a set back that it is hard to overcome with the best cultivation.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2 50 an acre.
 Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.
 Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.
 Partnership pre-emption abolished, but parties not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.
 Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating, at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.
 Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 5 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.
 Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $500 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.
 Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires larger conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.
 Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as business title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.
 For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 40 acres may be leased by one person or company.
 Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased, conditions include payment of stumpage.
 Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.
PRE-EMPTOR'S FREE GRANTS ACT.
 The scope of this Act is enlarged to include jointing and serving with His Majesty's forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.
 No fees relating to pre-emption are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.
 Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 1, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.
 Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.
SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.
 Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers, not called to complete purchase, involving forfeiture on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original purchase price, taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.
GRAZING.
 Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commission. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged, priority for established or stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Naramata Is Prospering By Early Experience

Special Article in Vancouver Province Sings Praises of District Output Is Growing and People Are Of The Best

There have been appearing from time to time in recent issues of the Vancouver Province special articles on various Okanagan centres from the pen of Mrs. Charlotte Gordon. This week the following on Naramata was published, the material for which was gathered a few weeks ago during a tour of the Valley by Mrs. Gordon:

Situated in the heart of the Okanagan Valley, Naramata was the last fruit district to be opened up and the growers have profited by the experiences of the early settlers. An extensive cultivation has been made of apricots, apples and cherries.

"Fewer varieties of the various fruits were planted and the growers knew those best adapted to the section of the country," said Mr. J. M. Robinson, who is a pioneer in the Valley, and first opened it up for fruit culture.

It is largely due to his energy and vision that such a wonderful transformation has been made on the once brown, barren hills of the Okanagan. The "Red MacIntosh" has proved the apples, and a very fine quality of Tokay grapes is grown which equals anything in the south of France. They readily market at 20 cents a pound.

The manager of one packing house stated that his firm alone shipped 30,000 packages of fruit last year, which meant $50,000 to the growers. The total output this year for the district promises to be very large as many of the orchards are now in full bearing.

An industry that is meeting with success in its development is the making of cider, using apples that cannot be shipped. Three years ago an expert in the process of cider making was engaged and has developed the industry to the extent that 3,000 gallons of cider were produced last year.

The townsite of Naramata is level with the lake, extending back to the fertile hills; it is skirted with fruit ranches. There are about 3,500 acres in this special district which lies in a natural terrace for eight miles along the lake and every tract is afforded an unobstructed view of the water. The situation is ideal in that it is without land currents, with its background of unbroken mountains and the lake in front, thus having only lake breezes, chiefly from the north and south.

This has a tendency to modify the climate, making the summer cooler and the winter warmer than in the surrounding districts. It also accounts for the excellent quality and distinctive flavor of the fruit.

Journeying by ferry from Summerland to Naramata, it would be difficult to make a perfect etching of this idyllic land. Above, a splendid mass of fluffy clouds, the sun—

Start Work Monday on Irrig. Sys.

Active construction work on the Summerland Irrigation system will begin on Monday, according to the present plans of Engineer Fawkes. Last week and this camp have been assembled; foramen and what local help is available have been engaged. More forms are being constructed so that greater lengths of ditch may be lined each day.

For the feeding of the half hundred men that will be on the job a contract has been entered into with the Supply Company for camp provisions on a "cost plus" basis, and fresh meats will be supplied by J. Downton.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Fawkes went down to Vancouver to engage additional men and he expected to be back with about forty men, not later than Sunday morning, so as to begin work on Monday morning.

G.W.V.A. Meeting

Telegrams to the local member at Ottawa and to Premier Borden in support of a request of the G.W.V.A. that a parliamentary commission be appointed to consult with the G.W.V.A. committee, already named, on the country's ability to pay further gratuities and bonuses has gone forward from the Summerland branch as a result of a decision reached at a meeting of the veterans on Wednesday.

Four new members were added to the roll, bringing the membership up to 42.

The proposed organization of a women's auxiliary to the G.W.V.A. was left in the hands of the executive. A meeting of all women who had relatives on active service will be called at an early date.

New Assessment of All Lands and Improvements

Council Will Have Thorough Revision of Assessment Roll. Tax Sale

Every parcel of land within the limits of Summerland and the improvements thereon are to be carefully re-valued and the assessment roll thoroughly revised. If the plan of the Municipal Council are realized. Recent amendments to the Municipal Act require considerable work on the assessment roll and the Clerk has been asking that this work be undertaken at an early date. He was instructed by the Council at this week's meeting to advertise for an assessor.

A new road will be opened and graded to run east and west just south of the Parkdale Baptist Church, along the north side of blk. 63. This decision was reached by the Council after hearing the request of Mr. H. W. Harvey, speaking for himself and several other lot owners in his neighborhood, for another outlet beside the one over the Sinclair hill. Mr. Jas. Ritchie was sent for and he offered to allow a quarter of an acre of land toward the road. It was finally agreed that the strip, 40 ft. wide containing three quarters of an acre should be bought from Mr. Ritchie for a road at a price to the Municipality of $250, plus the cost of survey.

Upon recommendation of Foreman Tomlin, who pointed out the need of another wagon for road work, a wagon was purchased from T. B. Young, subject to approval of Coun. Campbell, Chairman of the Roads Committee, who was not present. Price when thoroughly repaired to be $90.

Following representations made by Dr. Lipsett on behalf of the hospital by Coun. White an order was put through re-establishing the all night electric light service.

Though there will be the usual tax sale this year, the customary list of properties for sale will not be published. This was formerly required by the Act, but the publishing of the list is now optional and the Council on Monday decided to dispense with the usual advertisement and insert only a notice of the fact that a sale would be held.

In a communication from the School Board the Council was advised of the resolution of the Board covering the purchase of a school site and was asked to act accordingly. Following a brief discussion it was agreed that the School Board should be asked to meet the Council and discuss the matter.

Subject to certain reservations, an option was given Mr. R. S. Monro on behalf of his son on blocks 50 and 51 in D.L. 1078 for $2,000. Mr. Monro tendered his cheque for $100 and offered to pay $1,000 down and the balance in one and two years.

Domestic water connection was granted Arthur Gould for the Blakely lot in Victoria Gardens, recently purchased by him. A. Moyes was also granted domestic water connection for blk. 24 in D.L. 2196, provided no extension was required.

A man gets a lot of credit for being a good husband—after the undertaker has him on ice.

Dominion Bank Will Operate Branch Here

Looking For Share of Expanding Business of Summerland

Mr. O. F. Zimmerman Is Appointed Manager

The Okanagan is proving to be an attractive field for banks and no place in the Valley is receiving more attention as a place in which to develop business than is Summerland. For many weeks rumors have been current of the opening of other banks here. It is known that strong recommendations were made by some of the officials best able to judge that one of the strongest banking institutions in the country, not now represented here, open an office here, a site on Shaughnessy avenue having been held by option for a time. Some of the "higher ups" are said to have held up the move for further investigation. In the meantime the name of other banks have been mentioned as contemplating opening here.

More recently the Vancouver manager of the Dominion Bank, Mr. R. C. Patton, visited Summerland and before leaving expressed himself as very much impressed with the district and its prospects. The impression left was that he would recommend the establishment in Summerland of a branch of the Dominion Bank.

On Wednesday, Mr. O. F. Zimmerman, who has been appointed manager for the Dominion here, received instructions to proceed at once with preparations for starting business.

The Dominion Bank office will be in that part of the Empire Hall block occupied by the Bank of Montreal up to the time of its removal to its own new building. As soon as the office is ready for occupancy the Dominion Bank will be ready for business, says Mr. Zimmerman.

Discuss Picking And Storing Of Apples

The United Farmers of British Columbia (Trout Creek Local) had a good attendance at their regular monthly meeting held on Thursday, September 4th. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting the question of amalgamation with the Farmers' Institutes came under discussion, but this was deferred for a subsequent meeting.

The programme called for "Discussion on the Picking and Storing of Apples," led by R. H. Helmer. This was a timely topic and gave rise to a very interesting and instructive ventilation of ideas. Mr. Helmer was of the opinion that a great many varieties of our apples are picked too late. The packing houses in their demand for a minimum percentage of color for No. 1's are to a great extent responsible for this. The mere fact of an apple attaining a high degree of coloration is a sign of deterioration. Mr. Helmer stated that he frequently receives samples of fruit which show signs of premature decay, which can be attributed only to remaining too long on the trees. Similar conditions exist in the States of Washington and Oregon as evidenced by an article which appeared in the January 1919 issue of "Better Fruit," from which extracts were read. Brief reference was made to the ideal conditions under which fruit should be stored, particular attention being called to the necessity of moisture in the cellar.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. Helmer and the meeting closed at about 10 o'clock.

VERY TRUE.

New Isolation Ward For The Hospital

Contract Awarded and Construction to Begin at Once

Hospital Society Will Put On "Drive" for Needed Funds

Plans for the new isolation ward for the Summerland Hospital were considered at the regular meeting of the Hospital Board on Monday, when there were present, President R. C. Lipsett, Messdames Solly and Bentley, and Messrs. Mellor, Wright, Robinson, Zimmerman and Helmer. Amended plans were presented by Mr. H. W. Harvey, who offered to erect and complete the building for $2,000, work to start at once. This offer was accepted, subject to the approval of the plans and specifications by a special committee: Messrs. Lipsett and Mellor. Messrs. Mellor and Wright, appointed at an early meeting to deal with the question of financing the new building, presented a report for discussion which resulted in the decision to undertake a "drive" in the immediate future.

The committee will make all necessary arrangements for canvassers and for advertising, etc.

The objective of the drive will be $5,000. Beside the isolation ward the sum needed to pay for the X-Ray equipment, approximately another $2,000, and necessary alterations and improvements to the hospital building to accommodate the up-to-date X-Ray machine soon to arrive, must be obtained.

The raising of the hospital rates was proposed, but after some discussion the question was laid on the table.

Until now the range of charges for operations has been from $3 to $5. The Board has changed this to $10 for the maximum.

Takes Trout Fry From Here To Chute Lake

Cut throat trout fry were successfully introduced into Chute Lake this week by Fish Warden G. N. Gartrell, after several unsuccessful attempts made by experts from the New Westminster hatchery. From the time the fry were removed from the hatchery pond in Peach Orchard here until they were set free in Chute Lake was more than 30 hours, but only five out of the thousand or so had died on the way the others being quite active and showing no ill-effects of the close confinement. They ranged from one to two inches in length and were brought to Summerland from Paul Creek, near Kamloops, from which creek Mr. Gartrell had dipped them out a few days before.

In a small way and wholly on his own initiative, Fish Warden Gartrell has been making various experiments and has the beginning of a very complete little hatchery in Peach Orchard Park here, and with a little more time and some assistance and encouragement from the Government Mr. Gartrell could do much toward stocking the lakes of the district from the Summerland hatchery.

In Mr. Gartrell's opinion trout are not the best fish to use for that purpose, especially in close proximity to irrigation works, as trout spawn in creeks and these are interfered with by the irrigation dams so that at times the creeks may be practically dry. Such lake spawning fish as black bass, pike and pickerel are favored by Mr. Gartrell.

That perch are to be had in Okanagan Lake will be learned with surprise by many. Mr. Gartrell caught a number of these recently in Tekolnuit Lake, near Fairview.

Advertising, like liniment, does not do much good when applied with a feather. It needs to be rubbed in for results. Apply it through the right medium to the right people at the right time, and keep on rubbing it in until returns begin to come in. Then still keep on rubbing.

Was Recommended For The Victoria Cross

Lieut. John McLeod Returns Home After Three Years Service Overseas

After three years of service overseas, during which time he was recommended for the Victoria Cross for bravery in action, Lieut. John P. G. MacLeod, D.S.O., arrived back in Vancouver on Monday morning. This gallant officer left in 1916 with the 196th Universities Battalion, and early in 1917 was sent to the 46th Battalion as a private. Owing to his ability as a leader he was soon promoted to the rank of sergeant and in the summer of 1918 was granted his commission, returning to his regiment in September as a lieutenant. He was attached to a platoon and soon came into prominence for his work in the Battle of Cambrai, but it was at Valenciennes that he showed the most daring which led to his being recommended for the Victoria Cross, but for which he received the Distinguished Service Order. Sergt. Kearns, who was in the particular action with him, received the coveted honor, but unfortunately died from wounds received in the encounter.

It was in the fight for Valenciennes that Lieut. MacLeod went forward with Sergt. Kearns and a small party into the village of Aulnoy on patrol work. In the cemetery of the village they ran across a party of sixty Germans who immediately opened upon the Sergeant, who was in advance with a Lewis gun. The fire was returned despite the fact that the sergeant was severely wounded. Single handed Lieut. MacLeod tackled the German party until two men attempted to get Kearns out on a door. In crossing the open both men were wounded and he was forced to carry the three in to safety, one after another, under heavy machine gun fire and all the time fighting off the Hun with nothing but a revolver.

After the Armistice he acted as adjutant at the dispersal station at Witely camp in England. He was welcomed home by relatives and a number of his former comrades at the front. He is the son of Rev. A. W. MacLeod of North Vancouver, and formerly of Summerland, and has three brothers two of whom have recently returned from service, one being in the R.A.F. and another a despatch rider in the 3rd Canadian Division.

Reports Bright Prospects For British Columbia

So Says General Manager of Bank of Montreal. Atmosphere of Activity Everywhere, With Sane Outlook

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager of the Bank of Montreal, was a recent visitor to British Columbia, and the prairie provinces, and since his return to Montreal has given to the press his impressions of Canada's great western country, including British Columbia. Of this province he says:

In British Columbia, as in the northwest, trains are full and hotels crowded to overflowing. British Columbians have confidence in the future of their rich and beautiful province. Their men of affairs have an unusually sane outlook as to the future of British Columbia and of the Dominion at large. There is a general atmosphere of activity.

Shipbuilding in the coast cities, particularly Vancouver, has contributed much toward this activity, and while this industry is in doubt owing to expiring government contracts, strong efforts are being made to secure private orders with reasonable chance of success. British Columbia shippers do not find themselves so severely handicapped in open competition as was formerly believed.

The mining outlook is completely changed because of the rise in the price of copper and the maintenance of silver values with increasing efforts toward production of gold. A good deal of development work is going on. The Trail Smelter and its controlled properties are in a high state of activity. In general the mining outlook is promising, with assurances of a continuance in the increased production.

The lumber industry is most active. American and Eastern Canadian markets are taking the bulk of the output. The local demand is good. The depreciation of the Canadian dollar is stimulating exports to the United States. Most of the mills are working to full capacity, and having difficulty in keeping up with their orders. The manufacture of newsprint and sulphite fibre is steadily progressing, and two mills in process of construction will materially increase the output next year.

The fishing industry is at the peak of its activity for the year. No statement can be vouchsafed as to the pack, but reports show that the Skeena River and Vancouver Island districts are tending to offset the poor results on the Fraser River. Prices are high and the better grades are in keen demand. It is not expected that the pack will assume the proportions of last year, when all records were broken.

The agricultural outlook for increasing yields is somewhat impaired by dry weather. The berry crops of the coast were large, and the fruit crops of the Okanagan and Kootenay much larger than last year. But for drought the fruit and vegetable crops of the interior would have been phenomenal. As it is, farmers will undoubtedly experience an unusually prosperous year.

The labor situation has lost much of its menace, and in consequence labor disturbances are not at present anticipated.

Destructive Storm Visits Arrow Lake

The worst hail storm that has ever struck the Arrow Lake district occurred last Thursday, lasting fifteen minutes and ranging from Arrowhead on the north to Burton City on the south, a distance of over fifty miles. Many apple orchards and vegetable gardens were completely hulled out.

Thomas Abriel will lose $3,000 at Nakusp and a Hindu at the same place $1,500 in vegetables. Many windows were broken in the district affected, which included Nakusp, West Dumas, East Arrow Park and Grahams Landing. The hail stones which fell at Nakusp were an inch in diameter.

THE WEEK IN CALGARY.

Prairie Markets Commissioner J. A. Grant, says in his latest weekly bulletin:

The Stampede drew visitors from far and near. We had a visit from Mr. C. Oldfield, of Elk Lake, Victoria, who with Mrs. Oldfield was taking in the Stampede and visiting friends in Alberta. Mr. Oldfield is viewing the prospects for buying grain in car lots. It will be a few weeks before any marketing will take place. We intend to get in touch with those who have grain to sell, and would like to hear from those who are in the market to buy, what quantity, kind and quality they would like to negotiate for.

Now that the children are back to school and housewives once more in the kitchen we expect to see a speedy revival of the demand for preserving fruit. The sugar being obtainable at current prices should be a strong incentive to restock the empty larder before the preserving fruit season passes.

Some nice B.C. cantaloupes are coming in from the Okanagan Valley, and are meeting the rearguard of the Wapatos, but will soon have a clear field. Some nice Wealthies are coming in from Creston, they are from 125 to 150 in size and fair color for this season. Armstrong celery is now going in heavy shipments in the woody B.C. crate and the California open crate. The California open crate shows it off best, and is better for ventilation. All U.S. shippers of rhubarb and celery are moving their product in well aired crates. We predict a rapid improvement in the trade here this month. The weather is cold, unsettled and showery.

BARN FEEDING OF THE DAIRY COW.

Good pasture is generally acknowledged to be the ideal feed for the dairy cow. In a great many dairying districts it is very difficult to get good pasture throughout the entire summer season. Usually good returns are obtained by supplementing the pasture with concentrates, soiling crops, or other feeds. Of late years a number of dairymen are using silage as a supplement while others confine their cows in the barn and feed silage entirely. This latter practice has been in vogue for a few years at

NEW INSTRUMENTS SOON.

Soon it will be possible to have complete meteorological records in Summerland. The visit here this week of Mr. F. Napier Denison, Superintendent for B.C. of the Dominion Meteorological Service, is expected to result in the establishment at the Dominion Experimental Station here of several other scientific recording instruments, which, with those already installed at the Farm, will make it possible to have about all the information possible on climatic conditions.

One instrument to be set up at once is an anemometer, a device for measuring and recording the velocity of the wind at all times and with this will be a second recording machine for wind direction. This addition to the meteorological station at the Farm will be set up close to the instruments now there and which were inspected by Mr. Denison this week.

Other instruments to be installed provided present plans are approved, will be a barometer and an evaporationimeter. This latter instrument should be of particular value and interest here, where evaporation in its relation to scientific irrigation is an important matter.

Another visitor here this week in connection with the Experimental Station was Dr. C. E. Saunders, of Ottawa, Dominion Cerealist.

the Experimental Farm, Agassiz, B.C. The chief criticism is that it seems an unnatural way of handling cattle, but it has nevertheless given good results. During the hot weather the cows are put in an exercising paddock at night and kept in a barn with screened windows during the heat of the day, while during cool weather the cows are allowed in the enclosure in the daytime and stabled at night.

By handling them in this manner little trouble is experienced from flies or excessive heat, and the cows are always handy at milking time.

WHY NOT?

If a female duke is a duchess,
Would a female spook be a spuchess?
And if a male goose is gander,
Then, would a male moose be a mander?

If the plural of child is children,
Would the plural of wild be wildren?
If a number of cows are cattle,
Would a number of bows be battle?

If a man who makes play is a playwright,
Would a man who makes hay be a haywright?
If a person who fails is a failure,
Would a person who quails be a quailure?

If the apple you bite is bitten,
Would the battle you fight be fitten?
And if a young cat is a kitten,
Then would a young rat be a ritten?

If a person who spends is a spendthrift,
Would a person who lends be a lendthrift?
If drinking too much make a drunkard,
Would thinking too much make a thunkard?

But why pile on the confusion?
Still I's like to ask in conclusion:
If a chap from New York's a New Yorker,
Would a fellow from Cork be a corker? —Life.

Corporation of the District of Summerland.

Applications are invited for the position of ASSESSOR to prepare the 1920 Assessment Roll and fulfill the duties of the position as outlined in the Municipal Act. A careful re-valuation of each parcel of land and improvements is required, and the work is to be completed not later than 31st December next.

Applications must be forwarded to the Municipal Clerk on or before Monday, 22nd inst., and should state remuneration required. Further information may be obtained from the undersigned.

Tumbleweed as a Crop.

On the farm, as in other places, the best way to deal with an enemy is often to make him a friend. Sweet clover, now a recognized valuable forage crop, was for many years among the most detested farm weeds of the Middle West. The Russian thistle, a tenacious weed of the Intermountain West, has made its debut as a farm crop under dramatic circumstances.

Stock raisers in drought stricken regions cut it and ensiled it extensively the past season. In some cases it was the veritable salvation of a discouraged farmer, whose planted crops has failed him. The Russian thistle along its numerous branches has an endless series of small needle-like spikes, but these in the silo lose all their terror. The stuff comes out first class feed for live stock.

The Russian thistle is utterly dissimilar from the thistles most American children are familiar with. It was brought to the Dakotas by Russian emigrants. It is a bulky plant often several feet wide and high. It will flourish in desert like places where cactus is the only other vegetation. The Intermountain West does not call the plant by its original name. Its home made term, the tumbleweed, is far more expressive. The dead plant breaks off readily at the ground in the fall. Then the wind seizes it. The tumbleweed's structure is so tough, yet resilient, that a plant will whirl for miles before the wind, only stopping when hung up by a fence, a ditch, or some other obstruction. So out of proportion to its size is the weight of the big plant that it will lightly fly high in the air during a hard gale.

Children in the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho and Utah, find tumbleweed a splendid late fall playfellow. Two big weeds are harnessed to a string and in front of a wind they go hurtling down the street "driven" by shrieking, happy boys and girls. At other times, the weed becomes a kite, attached to a long cord dangling from a fish pole.

Another western plant formerly regarded as undesirable is yucca, or soapweed, which in the silo is found to make edible and good livestock feed. The plant is called soapweed because Mexicans and Negroes make a soap from its juice. It is also called the Spanish bayonet, and the dagger plant, from its shape.—Scientific American.

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Mr. Ed. Taylor enjoyed a visit from his brother Will, from Winnipeg this week; he coming in to join his wife who has been visiting here for some time accompanied by the children.

Mrs. Mussen, who spent a large portion of last winter in Peachland and since visited the Coast, returned on Wednesday last for another sojourn here and is residing with her brother and sister in law Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Miller, in their cottage on Beach Avenue.

Mrs. C. Aitkens was a passenger to Kelowna on Wednesday of last week, returning on Thursday afternoon's boat.

Mr. I. Cousins went to Kelowna on Monday and on his return brought with him Mrs. Cousins and the baby, who are both doing nicely.

Miss Hamilton arrived on Saturday night to visit her mother and brothers at the cement works.

After a pleasant visit spent here with his brother for a short time, Mr. W. Taylor and his wife left here on Saturday afternoon's boat to return via K.V.R. to their home in Winnipeg.

Mr. Otto Sanburg with Mrs. Sanburg (nee Miss Minnie Card who spent a short time in town a couple of years ago) arrived on Saturday morning, and with a collection of their household belongings moved up to the saw mill, where Mr. Sanburg is going to work for a time.

Miss McIntosh, teacher of the Trepanier township school spent last week end at her home in Westbank, taking Saturday morning's boat north.

Mr. G. Whittaker, who will be remembered as having spent some time here a few years ago, spent a couple of days in town this week. He too has been over and done his bit, but is thankful to be home again, and has settled on his place at Kaleden. He reports good crops in his vicinity this year.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dearman left on Friday afternoon for the Coast, where they expect to take in the exhibition.

Mr. H. C. Lasta spent a night in town last week, coming down on Friday night's boat and returning the following morning.

Roy White arrived on Monday night's boat to visit his people here for a short time.

The rumor has advanced far past the rumor stage now about the Fall Fair for Peachland and everyone is talking about the fair we hope to have on October the ninth, under the auspices of the Farmers' and Women's Institutes. The Committee in charge hope and expect to have the prize lists and other information out shortly.

Mrs. Haynes (nee Miss Lulu Brown) left on the north bound boat Tuesday morning to pay a short visit in Kelowna before taking leave of the Valley for her home.

Mrs. W. A. Lang having sold her fruit land and home in Peachland and completed arrangements in connection with the balance of her interests here, left on Friday morning to return east and join Mr. Lang at Ottawa. She expected to visit en route with Mr. and Mrs. J. McGregor at Shaanavon for a short time. We are always sorry to see any of our citizens sell and leave the community, but Mr. Lang was not able to devote any time to the work of the place and Mrs. Lang found it too much to handle, hence the sale. Although they have sold the portion of their property which demanded the most attention, they still hold property here, and will no doubt come to see the old dwelling place as they have occasion.

It is quite like old days to see Ernie Pratt at work in the community, he being one of a crew of three men working under Manager Dobbie, clearing the right of way of the Okanagan Telephone Company through this Municipality. They have spent about a week here now.

Mr. P. N. Dorland and Mr. R. J. McDougall were enabled to motor up from Penticton and spent Sunday with Mrs. Dorland and Mr. Dorland's sister, Mrs. Aylesworth, who is visiting here from Vancouver for a time.

"Sugar Enough For All"

(Prairie Markets Commissioner).

This was the remark of one of the Eastern refiners at the investigation held by Judge Robson in Montreal the other day. We have been fighting for enough sugar at Prairie points to save the B.C. crop of crabapples, peaches, plums, prunes and pears. Mr. R. M. Winslow, who is in Montreal representing the Western jobbers and B.C. shippers has placed our cause before the Board of Commerce so well that the Board has ordered immediate dispatch of 300 tons of sacked granulated sugar from the Vancouver refinery and the same quantity from the Dominion refinery. The conditions are current prices, bank guarantee and an understanding by purchasers that they will buy 4 tons of B.C. fruit for every ton of sugar received and secure the same understanding with the retailer.

The Calgary jobbers met and arranged the distribution of these 40 cars for Alberta. All of the different places agreed to the terms, and wired in their order. This quantity of sugar will save the situation for B.C. fruit growers, as 40 cars, 20 from the east and the same from the west will be ample to tide over the peak of the preserving season. We wanted sugar and fought for it and won. It comes a week late but is welcome.

Current Events of Town and District

Mr. George Culver and Mr. Riley of Winnipeg are guests of Mr. C. C. Aikins.

Mr. R. Harvey and Mr. Fiuq of Vancouver arrived recently and are working on the fruit lot of Mr. C. C. Aikins.

Mr. Harold Steers is with us once more. Harold came in Sunday morning and found everyone glad to see him.

Messrs. J. M. Robinson, F. C. Manchester and R. C. Robinson motored to Summerland on Wednesday, where they were joined by Messrs. W. J. Robinson and J. L. Logie. The party continued their trip into Meadow Valley and spent some time looking over this property.

Mrs. M. B. Smith is in Calgary on business for a short time.

Miss Kathleen Robinson has been accepted for training as nurse in the Vancouver General Hospital and will leave shortly to take up her duties there.

Mr. Symons visited Summerland on Wednesday to arrange for the transporting of their household goods to their new home on the benches. The family is now getting settled and liking the life more every day.

Mr. C. W. Jarvis of Fort William, Ont., was here on business connected with the selling of his fruit lot.

The Misses Robinson gave a most delightful dancing party on Friday evening in honor of Miss Carmen Mathers and Mr. Keith Leckie of Vancouver, who have been visiting here for the past few weeks. The dancing was much enjoyed and so were the piano solos that were given during the evening by Mr. Fiuq. Miss Mathers and Mr. Leckie departed for their homes on Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Stallard have moved from the benches and are now living in the nurses cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kenyon were in Penticton on Monday.

School is now open and running smoothly with the large number of 57 pupils enrolled. The ever increasing attendance has made it necessary to add to our teaching staff and this season will start us off with a two year high school course as well as the entrance and junior work. The principal, Mr. E. C. Richards, will take care of the high school work and entrance duties, while the junior studies will be in the hands of Miss Gladys Stonehouse. Both teachers come highly recommended and we expect this will be a banner year of efficiency.

Mrs. E. P. Roe, Mrs. T. I. Woodly and Mrs. Kendall went to Peachland on Tuesday morning to visit Mrs. McDougall.

Rev. Mr. Hagggett and family of Banff are occupying the Mitchell cottage. They expect to be here some time. Mr. Hagggett officiated at the Sunday church service.

Mr. Hunt and son of Kelowna spent the week end here visiting friends.

Mrs. Seevera went to the Landing on Monday to meet her daughter, Miss Emily Seevera, who is coming to Naramata for a visit.

Mr. Sam Cuff is spending a few days at the Coast before returning to his home in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallory and Mr. and Mrs. Jns. Myers motored to Okanagan Falls on Saturday.

Apple Scald and Jonathan Spot

(Experimental Farms Note).

In a recent paper (Journal of Agricultural Research, Vol. XI, No. 7), there are given some very interesting notes on these two storage troubles of apples, and since present conditions demand most careful preservation of all food materials, the Central Experimental Farm through its pathological service, issue a statement which should be of especial interest to every Canadian who has apples in his cellar or warehouse. The following short account of these two apple troubles, based largely on the article in question, aims at pointing out the means that may be taken to avoid scalding and spotting of our scanty but valuable supply of this fruit in storage.

Scald in apples is a browning of the skin and outer tissues. It is different from rots because in rots the browning goes very deep into the tissues, whereas scald only affects the skin and the flesh immediately beneath. Rot spots are usually definite in outline, while scald areas are often more or less irregular in shape. However scald areas are very often invaded by rot fungi so that ordinarily one may expect to find all sorts of combination of the two.

The "Jonathan Spot" so called from its being found very frequently on the Jonathan variety, also develops in storage on several standard varieties such as Northern Spy, Greening, etc. The spots are usually small, less than a quarter inch in diameter, and are sunken and brown. The flesh under the skin is brown and somewhat dry and corky. There is another spot disease, the Baldwin Spot, or Stippen, which may be mistaken for the Jonathan Spot. The Baldwin Spot, however, develops when the apple is growing and will be present when the fruit is picked, whereas the Jonathan Spot develops during storage. Moreover, the Baldwin Spot may be found all through the fruit, while the Jonathan Spot occurs as small sunken brown spots on the surface only.

Both spot and scald arise from improper storage conditions and will likely be worse on fruit that has not matured properly before being picked. The three storage conditions that favor spot and scald development are, (1) high temperature, (2) humidity and (3) stagnant air. It should be understood that the fruit is not completely dormant during the storage period; but there is a constant, if small continuation of growth processes throughout the whole period. These processes result in maturing or mellowing the apple, and the chemical processes that occur during them, involve the absorption of oxygen from the air, and the giving out of carbon dioxide. It is, in fact, a slow breathing process. When apples are stored in a place where they have no free access to air they are "smothered" and the scald which develops on them is due to abnormal chemical changes brought about because of an inadequate air supply. If the room is too warm the growth processes are quickened and scald or spotting is increased. Very moist or humid air also aggravates these troubles.

It is obvious that in an ordinary cellar, spotting and scalding can be largely avoided by a little attention to the needs of the fruit for cool, dry conditions and a continuous supply of fresh air during the storage period.

It is recommended (1) that apples should be stored in small lots rather than in large close piles or bins. They should be preferably be kept in open slatted boxes or other similar containers which will allow the fruit to have free access to air.

(2) That the temperature be kept as low as is consistent with protection from frost and (3) that plenty of ventilation be provided. If the air is changed frequently in the cellar, the incoming supply will not only renew the oxygen but will drive out the old, stagnant air which is laden with moisture and over-charged with carbon dioxide. The method of ventilation can best be determined by conditions; in some instances air shafts can be used, while in others the opening doors and windows of and doors on mild days will be possible. In almost all cases some simple means of securing frequent change of air can be readily adopted and the fruit thus kept free from scald and spot troubles.

Dr. F. W. Andrew of Summerland has been appointed by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment as Medical Representative, whose duties are to attend to all returned men who require medical attention. This attention is being given free to men who may be taken ill any time within one year of discharge, whether the cause be from war service or not, and to men who are suffering a recurrence of disability caused by war service, at any time.

Among the Summerland visitors to the Vancouver Fair were Messrs. W. Watson and J. Shepherd.

Messrs. Jas. and Wm. Ritchie went out to Vancouver Wednesday morning on a short business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McAlpine went down to Vancouver last Saturday. Mr. McAlpine returned on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Babbitt was a K.V.R. passenger from Vancouver one day last week, and visited with her sister, Mrs. T. J. McAlpine.

J. Graham, son of R. Graham, Jones Flat, has left Summerland to enter upon studies that will fit him for a new profession, that of dentistry. He has gone to Toronto for this purpose.

Mr. Egglestone, a war veteran who has been taking instructions from Mr. Hilborn under the soldier re-establishment plan, has completed that part of his course and went out to the Coast on Wednesday.

The excellent class of pictures now being shown at The Rialto is attracting an ever increasing number of citizens to that theatre. The fine programme announced in these columns should assure even greater patronage for a now popular place of amusement.

Friends here will be interested to learn that Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Dunrobin have recently gone to Los Angeles from New York. During the past few months Mr. Dunrobin has been giving dramatic instruction to a large class in New York and it is quite probable that his next move will be to London to engage in theatrical work there. Mr. W. Sauter, another Summerland man, is also at Los Angeles.

Gun licenses in considerable number are being issued this year at the Municipal Office.

With practically every ward full the staff at the Summerland Hospital is now particularly busy.

Fruit Pests Inspector Ben Hoy is now the proud parent of a daughter, born at Vernon on August 31st.

Mrs. A. McLaughlin is a visitor for a time at the McLaughlin home on Shaughnessy Avenue.

Mrs. Lipssett of Holland, Man., after a stay here at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Lipssett, has returned to her prairie home.

Mr. Turnbull from across the line is now a visitor with the Misses I. and J. Spencer. His home is in North Dakota.

Two unusually large sweet peppers were received at this office this morning from a field of peppers grown by Mr. C. Craig.

Miss E. McIntyre, niece of Mrs. J. P. McIntyre, who has been in Summerland on a long visit, returned to her home at Victoria one day last week.

According to a recent letter received by friends here, Lieut. Claude D. Hampshire is still in Egypt, but expects to be returned to England soon for demobilization.

Tom Hickey, one of the first of our young men to enlist, is back again in Summerland, having come in by boat Thursday evening, his arrival being announced by the welcome blasts of the steamer's whistle.

Rev. A. Henderson will leave the first of next week for a visit to the Coast. From there he will go east to Toronto, and expects to accompany his brother from that city to Florida to spend the winter.

August weather records at Bathfield show that there was some precipitation on four days, according to Mr. F. A. Miller in charge. The total rainfall was .62 of an inch, .47 of which fell on the 4th. On August 1st there was .04; 5th, .07; and 31st, .04. There was thunder with imperceptible rainfall on the 8th and 27th. Thunder was also heard on the 1st, 2nd, and 31st.

An excellent and impressive musical service was rendered last Sunday evening by the choir of the Lakeside Church before a crowded assembly, and the address of Mr. Chas. Baker, who led the service, was on the subject of music and its relation to divine worship. The vocal numbers were: solo by Miss Brown; trio, Mrs. Craig and Misses Brown and Conway; duet, Messrs. Beavis and Newton; solo, Mr. Newton; and solo, Mr. Beavis. A violin solo was given by Miss Walker.

A social was held in the Parish Hall on Friday evening last by the members of the G.W.V.A. and their friends. The first part of the evening was devoted to a whist drive, after which a presentation was made to the Secretary, Mr. S. A. McDonald, coupled with the felicitations of the members and those present, on the occasion of his recent marriage. A delightful supper was served by the ladies, after which dancing and music was engaged in, completing an enjoyable evening. It is the intention of the G.W.V.A. to form a local branch of the Women's auxiliary at an early date, particulars of which will be duly circulated.

Mr. A. E. Rose has erected a house on his fruit lot out near the big railway bridge.

Mrs. Theo. Hermon returned Thursday morning from a brief visit to the Coast.

Mr. Arthur Goold is building a house in Victoria Gardens on the Blaikie lot recently bought by him.

Mrs. T. B. Young was a recent visitor to Vancouver having gone down last week and returned Thursday morning.

The W. Watson cottage on Shaughnessy Avenue has been leased by Mr. S. A. McDonald, principal of the Summerland public schools.

A baseball team composed of Summerland High School students went down to Pentiction on Labor Day last week and proved their prowess on the diamond by defeating a team formed by the Pentiction High School. The score was 5-4.

Rev. Mr. Stoodley, recently of the Point Gray Methodist Church, has been chosen by the Board of the Summerland Methodist Church as successor to Rev. A. Henderson. Mr. Stoodley will take charge of the service on Sunday evening in the Lakeside Church.

"Mickey" shown at the Empress Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, drew large audiences. As Mickey Mabel Normand was seen at her best in this photoplay. Next Monday and Tuesday Manager Berry will have another special attraction in "Daddy Long Legs."

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mitchell are recent arrivals here from Vancouver. They have come bringing their household effects, intending to settle here, and have already bought two acres between A. H. Steven's home and the Baptist Church from Mr. Jas. Ritchie, on which they will build.

Mrs. George Bell of Saskatoon, who is spending the summer on her fruit ranch in Naramata received an urgent request a few days ago as Commissioner of the Girl Guides of Saskatchewan to be present at and be presented to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales at the reception to be given in his honor on September 11th.

Though the change was made some weeks ago there are many, who when wishing to call Mr. Vaughan, or some one else in what was formerly the grocery department of the Supply Company's upper store, still call number 6. The Mercantile Company's number is 29. By remembering this you will save time for yourself and others as well as avoid unnecessary demands on our busy telephone exchange.

The house commonly referred to as the McWilliams place, together with the two acre orchard recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon has been purchased by Mr. Goold, one of the newer citizens. Mr. McCutcheon has bought the Limmer house nearly opposite and already in possession, Mr. and Mrs. Limmer having moved to the Fenner cottage at the foot of the Gulch road. They are there only temporarily, however, as they have bought the Merrill cottage, next to the Watson place, and will be moving into it next month.

"MR. STANDFAST."

Those who have read with enjoyment Mr. John Buchan's clever romances, "Greenmantle" and "The Thirty-nine Steps" will turn with eager anticipation to his latest work, "Mr. Standfast." Although this continues the adventures of General Richard Hannay, it is written in such a way as to hold the interest of those who have not read the earlier books, while those who have will follow with deep interest the further fortunes of the hero.

From rendering distinguished service in France General Hannay is suddenly recalled to England and much to his disgust given the task of co-operating with the British Secret Service in running to ground a series of leakages of important official information which is proving of immense profit to the enemy and sacrificing the lives of hundreds of Britain's "bravest and best." Assured that his country really needs him in this capacity at this time, the general poses as a pacifist, and in the days which follow finds himself called upon to match wits with one of the cleverest minds in all the German spy system. The scene shifts from London to a quiet village in the midlands, then to the wild highlands of Scotland, back to London, over to Switzerland, down into Italy, and finally back across the mountains into Switzerland in the midst of a raging blizzard. The master spy is finally captured and meets his death by a bullet from a German machine gun. A charming little love story runs through the book, and a brusque old South African airman, who earns the title of Mr. Standfast, a middle west American named Blenkiron, and a pacifist named Wake, whose love for his country finally drives him into the ranks, are characters worthy of note. Don't start the book if you have only a few minutes to spare. You'll not want to lay it down until you finish it.

BIRTHS.

WHITE. — At the Summerland Hospital, Thursday, September 11th, to the wife of Mr. Gilbert V. White, a son.

Making a Good Road

(Oroville Gazette) Friday last Engineer Zediker ran a preliminary survey of the proposed extension of the road to the north from Oroville to the British Columbia line. There is only a short stretch of this road from the Kelsey ranch to the boundary, and it eliminates the hill pull and the rotten piece of road that has been a perpetual source of annoyance and trouble to all who are called upon to travel over that route. This proposed new road is an absolute necessity, can be made substantial and permanent with little expense and in no place has over a two per cent grade. It is hoped that state aid can be secured in the construction of the road, linking up the highway with the always excellent roads just across the line. A member of the State Highways Commission is expected here within the next few days to inspect this short piece of road in conjunction with State Road No. 10 through the valley, of which this proposed new road is an extension.

WOODEN MONEY IN CANADA.

The only wooden currency is issued by the Hudson's Bay Company, and circulated all over the vast territory controlled by that powerful trading concern. It is coinage consisting of pieces of wood known as "castors," which are stamped with a die. These are accepted everywhere in that territory as cash, and are exchangeable for all sorts of supplies and commodities at the widely scattered stations of the corporation. Over all of this region the corporation exercises a complete dominion, employing the native Indians, chiefly Ojibways and Cree, to collect the furs which furnish its revenue. Hudson's Bay is about two-thirds the size of the Gulf of Mexico. It is an almost landlocked sea, with 300 miles of coast line. More than 300 years ago Hendrik Hudson, trying to find the Northwest Passage, wintered there. His crew mutinied and set him afloat in an open boat with his son and seven others. He and his companions were never seen again. The unit of value in that part of the world is a beaver skin. Two martens are equal to one beaver, and twenty muskrats are equivalent to one marten. The trapping is done in winter, and in spring the Indians bring the pelts to the stations, receiving in payment for them wooden money. With the latter they buy what supplies their needs at the store maintained by the Company at the station.

The Prince Invests In War Savings Stamps

Not the least among the many gracious acts performed by the Prince of Wales during his brief stay in Ottawa was to invest in a complete certificate of War Savings Stamps. His Royal Highness was delighted to find that in Canada War Savings Stamps are on sale similar to those that are so popular in England. It was his intention to call at the Post Office and make his purchase of the stamps in the regular manner, during his stroll around Ottawa incognito, but pressure of other engagements prevented this being done. The Stamps were therefore sent to him at Government House and the sale duly made in cash, by the Secretary of the National War Savings Committee. The Prince was quite willing that his investment should be made known, and kindly sent the following letter, with permission to publish it, to Sir Herbert B. Ames, Chairman of the National War Savings Committee.

Government House,
Ottawa,
1st September, 1919

Dear Sir Herbert,

I am pleased to be the holder of a Canadian War Savings Certificate.

I am delighted to find that in Canada you have War Savings Stamps on sale, similar to those we have in England.

I wish the War Savings campaign every success.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
(Signed) Edward P.

NARAMATA PROSPERING

mer sun sank in a golden haze over the wooded heights, blended with the vague soft greens and blues and purples of the park-like town of Naramata, reveal a charming sylvan picture. The vivid green squares of orchards on the hillside make a striking background for the artistic houses on the fine sandy beach. It has become an attractive spot for visitors, and a number of prairie residents are spending the summer in the town and district. It is difficult to secure accommodation. Even tents are being used on the beach.

PEOPLE ARE PROSPEROUS.

Beautiful winding roads crossing narrow ravines, where hidden streams sing their way to the lake, lead to the homes on the benches, while everywhere in the orchards, there are signs of unusual activity. There are workers, boys and girls from Vancouver, Victoria, Calgary, and as far east as Winnipeg. One of the older residents of Naramata stated that the various ranchers were people of distinct individuality—that the district was settled with people of unusual charm and broad culture. On closer acquaintance with those residents of Naramata, one would agree with that eulogy. Such a happy combination of nature at her best and people at their best puts one in the mood to declare that Naramata is one of the most charming and prosperous districts of British Columbia.

The Ladies' Unity Club of the town has struck a rising note in club work in that they have erected and own their club house, and have made of it a real community centre. A ladies' society was formed for this welfare work and a hospital tent opened. Later the ladies increased their scope of work and the Unity Club was organized about eight years ago. A lot was donated on the South Bench and a commodious bungalow erected. It is now valued at $2,500 and there is less than $700 owing on it. The members state that they were the first club in British Columbia to own their own building.

NEED GREATER PUBLICITY.

The club house is used for all patriotic functions and the meetings of various organizations are held there. The Farmers' Institute and the Women's Institute have it as their centre for meetings. It was given over to the service of the Red Cross during the war. It is a social centre for the district and the residents are especially energetic in arranging theatricals, Picnic and launch parties from around the lake engage the club house for their various dances, and it has generally been of great service in promoting the interests of the town.

Travelling is of particular interest at this season, and many tourists are to be met in this delightful valley.

An English lawyer, who was a captain in the Imperial Army, was locating in the valley, which he continually spoke of as "a gorgeous country." He had seen four years of active service, been badly gassed, and required outdoor life, so he had chosen the Okanagan as his future home.

A lady from New York who had "done" Europe and knew all the playgrounds of the United States was ardent in her appreciation of British Columbia. She declared that it was all quite beyond the potency of word painting and frequently remarked:

"Why don't the people in the East know more of the wonders of these corners of British Columbia?"

"Yes," replied her host, "and we intend to let the world know more of this marvelous province."

Short: I say, old man, can you lend me a fiver?

Long: Impossible. I've tried to lend you money several times, but you always seemed to look upon it as a gift.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $500 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homestead; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company. Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the date of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retrospective.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded according to this Act. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys secured, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

INTEREST ON AGREEMENTS TO PURCHASE TOWN OR CITY LOTS HELD BY MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, ACQUIRED DIRECT OR INDIRECTLY, FROM ENACTMENT TO MARCH 31, 1916.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, and fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1916.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and their administration under Commission. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged, priority for established owners, flocking may be for Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

HAY BOX USED AS FIRELESS COOKER.

Cheaply Made Article which will Economize Time and Heat.

A convenient aid for summer cookery, which economizes both time and heat, may be cheaply made in the following manner:

Obtain a box of suitable size, line the inner surfaces and lid with felt, flannel or sacking and newspaper, then place enough hay inside to form a nest for a saucepan. This completes the apparatus.

It is used by partly cooking the dish in course of preparation over a gasoline or oil stove, then immediately placing the saucepan in the hollow in the hay, putting some hay over it and fastening down the lid tightly with a weight or strap. After a little experimenting, a woman may prepare her dinner before engaging in other household work, or before going out, and find it hot and ready some hours later.

It is possible to cook more than one dish at a time, but on no account must the box be opened until the food which requires the most cooking is ready. All meat dishes require a good start.

A calculation should be made as to the length of time they would take in the ordinary way; they should then be cooked for half that time on the fire, and finished in the box. After a little experience many things can be left on the fire one-third or even less of the time required in the ordinary way.

The following are some of the things which may be cooked in the hay box:

BOILED CHICKENS—Half the usual time on the fire, three hours in the box.

STEW—Prepare in the usual way, stew gently for forty-five minutes on the fire, leave in the box for three or four hours.

BOILED BEEF—Half the usual time on the fire, and in the box as long as possible.

POTATOES—Put into cold water, boil one minute. Leave in the box for two or two and a half hours.

DRIED PEAS, BEANS AND PORRIDGE, ETC.—May be boiled and put in the box over night, and be ready for use in the morning.

The Editor,
Summerland Review.

Dear Sir:

I should like to get in touch with all ex-Service men who have seen service in H.M. Armed Forces prior to the late War, who would like to form part of the Veteran Guard of Honor to His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales at Penticton.

The Veterans of Penticton extend a hearty welcome to all comrades in Summerland and vicinity.

Communications from those wishing to take part should be addressed to the undersigned and full particulars as to date and place will be sent.

Thanking you for your courtesy in inserting this,

Yours truly,
GEO. F. GUERNSEY,
Stipendiary Magistrate.

Vernon, B.C.,
Sept. 6th, 1919.

The Editor,
Summerland Review.

Dear Sir:

I would like to correct an erroneous impression that is apt to spread from an article printed in your issue dated August 28th, under the heading "Says New Peach Box Causes Loss."

In the eleven inch box (the one in former use) the ruling for size for a number one grade for peaches was as follows: "In addition to conforming to the other requirements of the section, peaches graded No. 1 shall not be passed if they run smaller than 90 to the box, except Alexanders and other early varieties, which may be 96 to the box (tightly packed)."

In view of the fact that the new standard box is half an inch wider a ruling was issued by the Fruit Commissioner that 96 would be the minimum No. 1 for all varieties. This not only offsets the difference in the size of box for everything but the very early varieties, but avoids complications as to the minimum in different varieties.

Most of the shippers have been notified of this.

Yours very truly,
FRANK E. LOVEDAY,
Dom. Fruit Inspector.

Matt. Wilson In Another Bad Accident

Condition Serious With Some Wounds on Head and Broken Thigh

That a hoodoo has encamped on the trail of Mr. Matt. G. Wilson, of Paradise Ranch, would not be hard to believe after learning that he has been a victim in another serious accident as the result of which he now lies in a serious condition at the hospital in Penticton.

Capt. W. J. Kane, in charge of a saw mill operated by the Government at Camp McKinney, also suffered injury and is in the hospital.

The two were with Capt. Beddall, of Kaleden, in his new big McLaughlin, bought since his recent return from the war, and were going south over the Kaleden hills, when at that point in the road where it dips under a rock, between two "slow" signs, Capt. Beddall noticed an American car coming down the incline he had just started to climb. To avoid what to him seemed would otherwise be a collision, Capt. Beddall swerved to the left and off the road. The top of the car was down and Capt. Kane was thrown clear and Mr. Wilson driven through the windshield. Capt. Beddall held his position at the wheel and though the car turned on its side and was badly wrecked he escaped without a scratch. The American car stopped and brought the injured men back to Penticton. Mr. Wilson was unconscious and was found to have sustained a fractured dislocation of his left thigh, beside being badly cut on head and neck.

Capt. Kane was cut about the face and body and considerably bruised but suffered no broken bones.

This is, we believe, the fourth serious accident which Mr. Wilson has suffered in little more than as many years, and he has the deepest sympathy of a wide number of Okanagan friends.

Winslow "Camped" Until Satisfied

Calgary.—Mr. R. M. Winslow, who has returned from a prolonged visit to Ottawa, where he represented western interests at the Board of Commerce Investigation, gives out the information that 2,000 tons of sugar have been secured for the west, and that parties buying it are expected to use it largely for fruit preserving.

It has been suggested that the ratio of distribution of this sugar be one ton of sugar to four tons of B.C. preserving fruits. This is very welcome news and Mr. Winslow deserves the congratulations of every fruit grower for the able way he has presented our case.

Miss Matthewman Married at Ottawa

The many Summerland friends of the Matthewman family will be interested in the following item taken from the Ottawa Journal of Wednesday, September 10th.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at Christ Church Cathedral at 2.30 this afternoon, when Miss Gladys Matthewman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. P. Matthewman, was united in marriage to Mr. H. B. Carlaw, of Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. Carlaw left on the afternoon train for Montreal.

Fruit Crop Is Best In British Columbia

Late Statistics Show Favorable Position of Province

The report on the fruit crop issued by the Department of Agriculture states that the weather during the past month has been particularly favorable to apple prospects, and has improved conditions greatly in the Nova Scotia section. It is stated that the possible apple exports from that province may reach 1,500,000 barrels, although 1,250,000 barrels is probably nearer the mark. No changes worth noting have taken place in any other apple district the report states. The high percentage of Spys throughout Ontario is emphasized generally. Conditions in Western Ontario, except the Georgian Bay district, are much less favorable. British Columbia will undoubtedly have a large crop of fine quality, with Jonathans and McIntosh leading.

B.C. FRUIT YIELD.

In British Columbia the peach crop is estimated at 200,000 boxes in the Okanagan Valley, pears 50,000 boxes, plums 20,000 crates and prunes 100,000 boxes. There is a slight decrease in the pear crop as compared with last year, but the quality is excellent. The total yield is still placed at about 70 per cent. of last year. There is a very light crop of plums on Vancouver Island, where the yield will be only about 25 per cent. of average.

The yield of tender fruits in the Niagara Peninsula has been much reduced owing to the unfavorable weather during the past month. The crop of peaches, now being shipped freely, is generally very light. Grapes are practically a full crop, and the one redeeming feature of the Niagara Peninsula.

OBITUARY.

The late Mr. W. G. Raby who passed away on Monday the 11th inst., was born in England in the year 1877 in the month of October. Coming here to reside from Calgary in the late fall of 1912 he engaged in fruit and vegetable growing, being the proud possessor of one of the most beautiful orchards in our district.

He leaves to mourn his loss a father, a sister, Mrs. C. E. Craig; another sister in Vancouver, Mrs. C. G. Harvey, and a brother, H. E. Raby of Calgary.

The funeral service was held at 2 p.m. on Thursday in St. Stephen's Church.

Though in poor health for years Mr. Raby had always taken an active part in public affairs especially those related to fruit growing. Quite recently he accepted the position of show secretary with the Agricultural Society. Death came quickly following a hemorrhage.

"Blessed are they who die in the Lord."

Local Cattle for Provincial Fair

Okanagan Livestock will be represented at the New Westminster Fair by three head of cattle and two hogs from the Balcoemo Ranch here, and about a like number of animals from the K.V.R. Farm at Penticton. Messrs. Agur will send from here three pure bred Holsteins, a cow, a heifer and a bull calf, also a boar and a sow from their pure bred Yorkshire drove.

Increasing Demands For Light and Water Indicative of Growing District

Permanently Fixing Location of Roads. Council Changes Hour of Meeting

Extension of the domestic water system in different directions to serve the homes that have been built or are awaiting the assurance of water service, was again given serious consideration by the Council at the regular weekly meeting. Several more applications for both domestic water and electric light had been received. Councillor White told of several houses that were to be built as soon as water was assured, and similar applications have been reported from time to time. Others who have already built are without water. The discussion ended in the giving of instructions for a report as to cost on the several extensions now desired with the view to getting at the total cost and putting the matter before the ratepayers.

In this connection Coun. Kirk pointed out that there was nothing so urgent as the making sure of sufficient water through the winter by increasing the efficiency of the present pipe to the reservoir or other method.

For some time the councillors have been meeting at 2.30 each Tuesday to take up committee work and opening the regular council meeting at 4 o'clock. There has often been so much work that it frequently has been necessary to continue on into the evening. On Tuesday it was agreed that council meetings should begin at 2.30 p.m. and other provision be made for committee work.

Coun. White told of requests of the packing houses and others for an all day electric light service, and a offer made by one house to help pay the cost of operating. The matter was referred to Couns. Campbell and White to make satisfactory arrangements.

Chairman F. R. Gartrell of the School Board met the Council to confer with the members on the matter of a by-law to raise money with which to purchase a school site. Mr. Gartrell said a trustee should be elected at the same time to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Dale. He pointed out that it would be necessary to act at once in order to secure the site offered by Mr. Ritchie. After getting some information regarding boundaries, etc., Mr. Gartrell asked that the matter be laid over for a week, when he hoped more of the trustees would be present.

Mr. Gartrell asked for water for two acres beside the "sand hill" and for permission to change the position of the road. This latter was granted subject to the approval of the Chairman of the Road Committee.

Representing the Development Company Mr. J. L. Logie asked the

British Fruit Buyers Coming to Valley

Of interest to fruit men is the announcement of the coming to the Okanagan this month of Mr. C. Simons, of the well known British fruit concern, Garcia Jacobs & Co., Ltd., of London, Liverpool and Glasgow.

Mr. Simons has been visiting California, Oregon and Washington in the interests of his firm. Other English fruit men coming to this province are Mr. A. Aldridge, representing McGeorge & Jardine, fruit importers, Temple Court, Liverpool, and Mr. Wilshen, representing a large London house.

Engineer Fawkes At The Coast

Tells of Favored Position of Summerland re Water

Purchasing supplies for an irrigation contract is the business on which Mr. E. W. A. Fawkes, municipal engineer of Summerland, is in the city, says the Vancouver Province of Tuesday.

Although Summerland is the only municipality in the Okanagan whose water supply for irrigation held out for the season the residents wish to improve the system. Penticton, Naramata, Vernon and other municipalities have gone dry for periods varying from two to six weeks, and the crops have been seriously impaired in size and quality.

Summerland spent $35,000 on irrigation contracts in the spring and then carried a by-law by 20 to 1 majority to spend $75,000 this fall. The ditches are to be lined with cement in order to conserve the water supply and prevent damage to land immediately adjacent to the main ditches.

Mr. Fawkes, who has been in Summerland for only a short time, claims that it is one of the most progressive municipalities in the Okanagan, a contention which his presence there seems to uphold, for Mr. Fawkes was previously water engineer of Calgary.

At one time Mr. Fawkes was an alderman of Calgary also, but he does not consider politics a very happy employment for one with too much technical knowledge. "Just the same," he said, "there ought to be more engineers in public life. I believe there is not one member of the engineering profession in the House of Commons, and there are very few in the provincial legislatures or municipal councils throughout the country. The reason for the distastefulness of public life is that an engineer naturally has a certain interest in seeing good and economical work accomplished on projects over which he presides. This does not please many people who unfortunately take a deep interest in a certain kind of politics."

Irrigation is going to prove one of the biggest factors in the development of British Columbia, according to Mr. Fawkes, who says there are vast areas just as suitable for cultivation as the few scattered municipalities in the Okanagan.

Okanagan Grows Best Cantaloupes

Vancouver markets reports for Tuesday make special mention of 70 crates of cantaloupes shipped from Naramata and Summerland. These were selling at $4.00 per crate. Seattle had also sent in a supply of melons and although about fifty cents per crate over the price of the melons from here was being asked, the Vancouver World says that, though smaller in size, the Okanagan stock was declared to be fresher and of finer quality than those from the south.

Was Well Known In Fruit Circles

Mr. John McMillan, known to quite a number of fruit men in this part of the Valley through his former connection with the Vancouver City Market, of which he was the first manager, died in that city on Tuesday morning. At the time of his death he was president of the Vancouver Wholesale Fruit and Produce Association. Until he was forced by ill health to quit work he was head of the B.C. Farmers' Exchange, which he organized after leaving the Market.

Hospital Anniversary

This week saw the fifth anniversary of the opening of the Summerland Hospital. It was on September 17th, 1914, that the institution was formally opened. Between 800 and 400 guests registered and many others were present to hear the speeches and inspect the new building. Over 100 quarts of fruit and many other things were donated. Since that time many hundreds of patients have been treated, over 200 operations have been performed and more than a hundred new citizens were born at the hospital.

Local Hotel Property Has New Owners

E. F. Cooke and H. S. Blanchard Took Possession on Monday

Hotel Summerland has passed into new ownership and new management this week, the new proprietors being E. F. Cooke and H. S. Blanchard. The sale was effected on Monday following the receipt of news on that day that a Mr. Bates of Nelson, who had taken an option on the property, had decided not to exercise his option.

The Hotel has been the property of the Summerland Development Company since it was built and was leased last spring to Mr. Figgis. The owners have been approached by different persons who wished to buy or lease and for a time it was understood that a deal had been made for the purchase of the hotel by a Mr. White of Kamloops, who has been here for some months, and who proposed putting some considerable expense on the property and engaging an experienced manager.

A few days ago it became known that the deal had not gone through and at the same time reports became current to the effect that a Nelson man was buying. About the same time the owning company arranged with Mr. Figgis for the cancelling of his lease which did not expire until next spring.

When on Monday, Mr. W. J. Gibbons, representing the Development Company, learned that Mr. Bates was not coming, he immediately got busy for Mr. Figgis was already moving out and it looked as though the hostelry might be closed for a time. He was not long in making a deal with Messrs. Cooke and Blanchard. The price asked was a tempting one and low enough to permit the expenditure of a considerable sum on any improvements the new proprietors may wish to make. Already they are making plans for giving the travelling public a better service and for catering to local business.

Coast Business To Visit Okanagan

Considerable interest is being shown by the members of the Vancouver Board of Trade in the trip planned early next month to this valley, according to Vancouver press reports. The itinerary of the Vancouver business men, who will start from that city on October 5th, will include Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna, Peachland, Summerland, Naramata, Penticton, Fairview, Princeton and Copper Mountain, returning to Vancouver over the K.V.R., the whole trip to take a week.

While here the excursionists will have an opportunity to witness the gathering of the apple crop and the grading, packing and shipping of the world's finest apples.

Illegal Killing of Pheasants

Further protection of the pheasants in this district is greatly needed, according to reports reaching the municipal authorities. It is said that they are being shot, notwithstanding the season is not yet open, and further that hen birds are being killed off. There is no local official to lay charges against the guilty persons and following representations of a citizen who waited on the Council on Tuesday the Clerk was instructed to write the Chief Game Warden with the request that a local deputy be appointed to enforce the game laws here.

Deanery Meeting

Several clergymen of the Okanagan assembled here this week to attend a meeting of the deanery. Those from the north came in Monday evening and returned Wednesday morning. Following the deanery sessions on Tuesday a church service was held that evening. The visitors were: Rev. Archdeacon Greone; Rural Dean Rev. J. Gratton; of Enderby; Rev. H. F. Cheshire, Salmon Arm; Rev. G. Lardner, Vernon; and Rev. J. A. Cloland, Penticton.

Thanksgiving Day

Monday, October 13.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—Monday, October 13th has been fixed by the Government as Thanksgiving Day for the Dominion.

WEDDING.

NEVE-BOWERING

Last Thursday afternoon Mr. Harold Nevee and Miss Grace Mary Bowering surprised their friends when they went down to Penticton and were united in marriage at the Anglican Church there by the Rev. J. A. Cloland. The bridegroom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Nevee of Summerland, served in the Imperial Army in hospital work and has recently accepted a position as drug clerk in Penticton. The bride, who has been with the Summerland Drug Company, is the oldest daughter of Mr. J. H. Bowering, and has many friends here who will wish her many years of happiness.

Summerlands Sunny Centre Of Okanagan

Visitor Writes of Activities of Some Local Industries

Last week we published an interesting article written for The Province by Mrs. Charlotte Gordon covering her brief visit to Naramata some weeks ago. From Naramata Mrs. Gordon came to Summerland, but was unfortunate in not being able to get much information which she might have been furnished had sufficient notice of her visit and its purpose been given. As it was she found several, including the secretary of the Board of Trade, who could have furnished required statistics, absent from their places of business. With the information obtained during her stay here in "Summerland, the sunny centre of the Okanagan," she has made a very interesting story, so well written that it cannot but be regretted that the writer was not given more complete information on the business and social activities of Summerland and district. Here is Mrs. Gordon's article as published last week in The Province:

Summerland, the sunny centre of the Okanagan, is the nearest point in the Valley to Vancouver, being 150 miles in a direct line. It is the point in British Columbia from which the most fruit is shipped by express. The output was large this year, as the settlement is now well developed and most of the orchards in full bearing. There is, as well, an extensive cultivation of early vegetables.

The manager of one packing house stated that his firm purchased 206,000 boxes of fruit and vegetables last year, which meant $350,000 to the growers. This year their purchases will be much larger and the output for the district is estimated at $700,000.

The pre-cooler, installed under government supervision, was viewed with deep interest. It eliminates the latent heat and chills the fruit before shipping. There are only two of these plants in Canada, and the installation of one in Summerland has made that town one of the most important points for the shipment of fruit.

TAKE PRIDE IN PACKING.

There are six packing houses, two having very modern equipment while a great many ranchers ship their fruit direct.

"The packing houses take a distinct pride in their work, endeavoring to build up the brand," stated Dr. Andrew, president of the Summerland Board of Trade. The "OK" brand is used by the United Fruit Growers, and government inspection is being intensified each year. There are three forms of inspection; each packing house has its own special superintendents, and Provincial and Dominion inspection. The Provincial inspection is to prevent diseased fruit being shipped. The orchards are very carefully inspected as well as the packing houses. The Dominion inspection is to see that the packers are following Dominion regulations as to label, variety, number of peaches or apples in a box, grade and number of packer. In this way every box can be satisfactorily traced.

Mr. Lawler, a prominent shipper, stated that last year he shipped apples, in one day, to Australia, South America, Japan, South Africa and England. It would seem that the Okanagan Valley is doing a part in promoting international trade.

Mr. Helmer, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm, which is adjacent to the Municipality of Summerland, has made extensive experiments in seed growing. Tomato seed obtained from this farm, has sold as high as $11 an ounce. All seeds are taken from selected plants and each seed is carefully examined. Several varieties of onion seed have obtained first prizes at various fairs. At the provincial seed show it was declared by an Ottawa expert that Summerland produced the finest mangel seed and the best variety of corn.

The various societies of the district are active in promoting matters of interest to the community, now that Red Cross work and war demands have ceased. The Summerland Women's Institute, organized twelve years ago, was one of the first of its kind in British Columbia. It was given legal standing in 1911 by the Agricultural Associations Act, and has proved one of the social and educative forces of the community.

The Summerland Hospital, on the benches, is an institution of deep interest to the ladies of the district. It is in a flourishing condition, well equipped, and of service to a large country.

Wanted: Listings of Bearing Orchards

We have the best located land office in Penticton, and are equipped to handle your property to the best advantage to you.

Most of the intending land purchasers buy their tickets to Penticton. Therefore we come in touch with large numbers who come to the Valley seeking land. As you know, our orchard lands are limited at this point, and as we wish to please and keep among us at this end of the lake as many new settlers as possible, it is our earnest request that the people of Summerland, who have orchards for sale, will at once send particulars to us.

We now have three customers who wish to buy bearing orchards, and have instructed us to locate properties for them. As you know, it is impossible for us to go from place to place to find out who is willing to sell.

The parties sending their listings to us first will have the best chance of sale at an early date. Sit down now and send us full particulars of your place.

We trust the above will be the beginning of mutual profitable business relations.

Yours for business,

L. A. RATHVON,

Manager.

Peachland Doings

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Mrs. Haynes returned on Wednesday evening of last week after a few days visiting in Kelowna.

Another of our war veterans to return last week was Mr. John Mc Dougald. He arrived on Wednesday evening's boat accompanied by his bride who was Miss Margaret Marr of Raxton, Tarves, Scotland. They have not been over long enough for Mrs. McDougald to see much of the country and conditions here, but she is well impressed thus far on her sojourn. We have all rejoiced over the return of our men, and we extend the hand of welcome as well to those who have cast their earthly lot with them and joined them for Canada, and, to centralize it, Peachland.

Mrs. A. Town motored to Kelowna on Wednesday of last week and returned by boat on Thursday evening, after leaving Miss Verna to have a little special treatment on her throat.

Mr. Roy White was a passenger to Summerland on Wednesday of last week, leaving for the coast on Friday, where he expected to undergo medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Brinseand and family arrived on Friday last to take up their residence here. We are always glad to welcome newcomers and trust that they will find the place all they expect it to be.

After spending a pleasant holiday in town and district for a few weeks, Mrs. and Miss Jean Pollard left by Friday night's boat. We were very pleased indeed to be able to enjoy the visit from these old timers of the community, and many were the compliments passed on her vocal ability by those who had the pleasure of hearing Miss Pollard sing. A very pleasing feature of her entertaining lay in the fact that it did not take a whole evening to get her coaxed to favor her friends with some music. It would be much nicer if more of our capable musicians would be more ready to use their talent to the pleasure of those less favored.

After having spent some time working in the Vernon district Sam White returned to his home here on Friday last, accompanied by a chum.

On Saturday last Mrs. Lowndes left on a trip to Chicago to visit her people. We are sorry indeed to realize that she is not likely to return to Peachland for some time as Mr. Lowndes expects to leave shortly, having found his health demanding a change of conditions.

Mrs. Haynes on Saturday went to visit in Naramata a short time before returning to her home on the prairie.

After spending a pleasant few days visiting friends here Mrs. Roe and Mrs. Woodley left on Saturday's boat to return to Naramata.

Friends of Hugh Ferguson will be interested to learn that he has come back to the Valley to reside and has accepted a position in Mr. Main's drug store in Penticton. He surprised his folks somewhat when he came up unannounced to spend the weekend with them, returning to be on duty on Monday again. The Soldiers' Reception Committee which was appointed at a civic meeting some time ago to prepare for a public reception for our veterans on their return, held a meeting on Tuesday night the 16th, with nearly the full committee present. They practically unanimously decided on a public "Out of Doors" reception, to be held on the 1st of October in front of Mr. Wilson's residence, commencing at 2 o'clock p.m. A motion was passed to request the Reeve and Council to declare a civic half holiday for the occasion, and the committee are planning and expect to make the day memorable and to this end would be pleased to have all the willing assistance possible from the citizens. There will be further particulars later of course by bulletin and poster.

Mrs. Simpson and friend from Naramata spent a couple of days in town, visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Morsch. They returned on Tuesday evening.

Weston and Vernor Winger are sojourning in Naramata for a short time again, where they have some work on hand, having gone down on Saturday night last.

The officers of the Community Club which has lately been organized entertained the young people of the town to a corn roast on Monday evening last. A goodly number of the young folk and those interested in their welfare assembled around a large bonfire on the beach and while the corn was roasting sang songs. Everyone apparently had a good feed of corn, which tasted all the more appetizing for being cooked out of doors. All those who were able to avail themselves of the opportunity for an evening's fun were greatly indebted to the ladies.

The Rev. Mr. Haggath of Banff preached in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening last, to a goodly sized congregation, and those who were present enjoyed a very able address indeed. The choir rendered special music. Mrs. Haggath and the children accompanied Mr. Haggath, Rev. Mr. Clark having motored down to Naramata for them. Mr. Haggath spoke very warmly of the hospitality of many friends made during his vacation being spent in the Valley.

At the first annual general meeting of the local branch of the G. W. V. A. held on the 17th of September the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:— President, Com. J. L. Vicary; Vice-President, Com. P. C. Tees; Second Vice-President, Com. J. D. Henderson; Secretary Treasurer, Com. C. G. McDougald. Arrangements were made for a travelling Lyceum Company to perform to the Peachland people three times this coming winter and early spring. The dates will be announced later.

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

Dr. Andrew of Summerland was here on professional business on Thursday.

Mr. Dick Leckie left on Saturday for his home in Vancouver. He has secured some land near Fairview and will probably take up his work there next season.

Mrs. D. O. Hughes has gone to Montreal to meet her son Frank who is returning from France. They will both be with us again soon.

Mr. Russell Wells took a jolly party to Penticton on Monday night to see 'Daddy Long Legs'. There were over twenty in the party and all enjoyed the trip.

The combined Institutes will hold their annual Fair the 23rd of October. Details of the general plan of this event will be given later. All we know at present is that it is to be a banner occasion and every one is getting ready to take prizes.

Miss Gladys Robinson was compelled to go to Summerland on Saturday for a throat operation. She returned home on Monday and will soon be as good as new, and we hope improved in health.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Unity Club will be held on Friday the 16th. It is hoped there will be a good attendance as there is business of importance to be discussed.

Mr. Gerald Roe came back to us on Monday night. Gerald is looking none the worse for his harrowing experiences and we were all glad to have him back once more.

Mr. Jas. Miller of Calgary is here for the rest of the season visiting friends and looking after his fruit interests. He has taken up his quarters at the home of Mr. F. C. Manchester.

Synopsis of #### Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $500 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 80 acres, may be leased as homestead; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 40 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stampage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers or pre-emptors recorded after June 30, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions. Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enactment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commission. Annual grazing permits issued by numbers ranged, priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Fees, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

The work on the power plant building on Mill Creek is being rushed forward to completion now and we are getting nearer to electric lights every day. The work is in the hands of the Winger boys of Peachland.

Hunters are scouring the hills now in search of game but not with very much success outside of a few grouse. The deer have been driven back by the fires and the hunting will be better after some snow is on the ground.

Rev. H. A. Solly held Anglican service in the Church on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Peter Roe and Mrs. Guy Brock were visiting here on Sunday.

Mr. George Gray of Ottawa is visiting Mr. Hugh Davies.

Scarcity of cannery boxes and orchard boxes and also packers are handicapping the fruit growers to a considerable extent. It is to be hoped that the situation improves in the next few days.

Mrs. Pollard and daughter Jean of Winnipeg spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Robinson. Miss Pollard is a delightful vocalist and is very generous with her talent. She expects to come here next summer and open a summer school for voice culture.

Mr. Gordon Hayman and Mr. Farabee of Summerland were here on Sunday.

Mr. R. Harvey and Mr. Figg who have been visiting friends here, left on Monday for Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kelley returned on Monday from the Coast, having taken in the Vancouver Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gould and family moved into the McWilliams house recently purchased by them.

Geo. Weaver, piano tuner, will be in Summerland daily next week. Appointments can be made by telephone or mail through The Review office.

Roy Eisey has recovered sufficiently from his recent operation to permit his removal from the hospital and he expects to go home on Saturday.

Mrs. J. A. Darke and children have arrived here from Alberta and Mr. Darke is expected the last of the month. They have come to remain and have taken the "Eristow" house overlooking the lake.

Ernest Clarke, a student in horticulture and son of Dominion Fruit Inspector R. G. L. Clarke, who has been spending the summer on the Cartwright orchard, has returned to the University to resume his studies.

Pres. E. R. Simpson of the Summerland Fruit Union went up to Vernon Thursday morning on one of his periodical visits to O.U.G. headquarters. From there he planned to go to Armstrong on a short visit. He hopes to meet there and bring home with him on Monday Mr. R. H. Babbage of Calgary, a friend who has visited him here before.

Having sold his blacksmith business to Mr. Chas. Schwass, and with it the lot and buildings including shop, garage and house, Mr. Scott Darkis is preparing to vacate. It will be news to many to learn that the new proprietor was the original owner of the business, having sold it nine or ten years ago to Mr. W. A. Hannington, Mr. Darkis's brother-in-law. It was but a few weeks later that Mr. Hannington died and Mr. Darkis came from New Brunswick to look after the business for his sister, later buying it from her.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lees motored down from Kelowna on Saturday and spent Sunday here.

There is a possibility that H.R.H. the Prince of Wales may view the Okanagan Valley from an airplane on the occasion of his coming visit to the Valley this month.

Mr. O. F. Zimmerman went down to Vancouver Tuesday morning on business in connection with the Dominion Bank, soon to open here. He was accompanied by Mrs. Zimmerman.

A straight carload of peaches, 1,200 packages, was shipped from the Greata Ranch early this week. Manager J. Long says he will have the largest crop yet produced on the ranch, and now has 19 pickers and a staff of 11 in the packing house.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bagg, residents of Trout Creek Point since coming to Summerland some months ago, are removing to Creston, where Mr. Bagg has taken up land on the soldier settlement tract being opened by the Government.

A shipment of fine McLaughlin cars arrived here a few days ago for the Summerland Garage, and all have since been disposed of. Mr. Hatfield, the proprietor, regretted that he has not more to arrive immediately. It will be some weeks before his next shipment arrives.

School Secretary J. H. Bowering informed The Review Thursday morning that all the High School fees for the current month had been paid. Some of the pupils had paid for the whole term, thus lessening the work of the secretary and doing away with the necessity of making monthly payments.

Even standing room was at a premium at the Rialto theatre last Saturday night and the management realize that the proposed enlargement cannot be made too soon to provide for the steadily increasing number of patrons. Preparations are being made this week to lengthen the building which will be done without interrupting the regular program and when completed the addition will be thrown in with the present auditorium by the removal of the stage and screen wall.

Two local cars, one driven by W. Watson and the other by Mr. J. Tait met in a head on collision on the corner on the Trout Creek road below the school house. A rank growth of brush on the road sides completely obstructs any view of approaching cars and has made the roadway like a narrow trail cut through brush. It is one of those corners that should have attention under the Municipal Council's recent order covering the clearing of such corners on our principal highways.

Mrs. J. E. Pares returned on Wednesday from a short visit to the Coast.

Two big landslides on the Summerland-Peachland road delayed traffic for a time last Saturday. One was near Peachland while the other had the road completely blocked between Peach Orchard and Crescent Beach. The road was cleared by noon.

D. D. Lapsley, who for several years has been manager of the dry goods section of the Armstrong Departmental Store, Limited, Merritt, B.C., has resigned that position and removed to Vancouver to accept a position as travelling salesman for the Leckie Shoe Company, with whom he was formerly employed.

Agent-General F. C. Wade has written to the provincial police asking assistance in finding the son of a prominent timber man in London whose name is similar to his own, C. J. Wade. The son's name is Vernon Dudley Wade, and he was in 1910 connected with the Orchard City Record at Kelowna, since which his family have heard nothing of him.

MARKET PRICE OF OKANAGAN APPLES BEFORE THE COURT

What the market price of Okanagan apples was in each of the years from 1914 to date is the problem presented to court for decision in the consolidated actions between John Kidston of Vernon and Stirling & Pitcairn Limited, of Kelowna. There are two actions in which each is suing the other, but for the purpose of proceeding Mr. Kidston presented his case to the court first. The suit arises over a contract that the company should market Mr. Kidston's crop for seven years, paying him the market price. Mr. Kidston began action some time ago for an accounting in which he claimed that the company had not paid him enough. Recently the company brought another suit on which an injunction was obtained to restrain Mr. Kidston from selling his crops to other parties, as it was alleged he intended to do. This injunction is still in effect.

Messrs. R. L. Reid, K.C., and W. H. D. Ladner of Vernon, who appeared for Mr. Kidston, and Mr. E. C. Mayers for the company explained that the construction of the term "market price" was the real issue now to be determined.

Messrs. Stirling & Pitcairn, Limited have lost their action against Mr. Kidston. The judge found that the contract on which they sued was non-existent, because its terms were impossible of interpretation. The firm sought to have Mr. Kidston restrained from selling his fruit crop to anybody but the plaintiff, under an agreement by which the company was to pay him "the market price." His lordship found that this constituted no contract. Mr. Kidston, however, has been supplying his fruit to the company for six years in accordance with this arrangement and has had a suit for an accounting pending for some time. This matter was referred to the registrar to find how much is due, as Mr. Kidston claims the amounts paid him have been inadequate.

BILLY OSWALD IS COMING TO EMPRESS

An important event of the fall theatrical season is the forthcoming appearance at the Empress theatre of the ever welcome favorite, Billy Oswald, in his latest starring vehicle, "I Love a Lassie," in which he is said to have unlimited scope to display his inimitable drollery.

Mr. Oswald's supporting company this season is the best that he has ever had in Canada, including among the more prominent members Beatrice Carmen, Patricia Salmon, Phyllis Hughes, Myrtle Cree, Alice Whitnell, Shorrold Paige, Ernie Impitt, James Mount, James Whitehouse, Dick Barr and Arthur Doyle.

According to press reports, Mr. Oswald is scoring the hit of his career this season in "I Love a Lassie," it being one of the few musical hits of the decade.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF SUMMERLAND, PEACHLAND AND NARAMATA

Prince Coming Next Tuesday.

Will Receive Civic Address of Welcome at Wharf.

To Inspect Boy Scouts and Witness Packing of Fruit.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will arrive at the C.P.R. station here at 10.30 on Tuesday morning, according to a telegram received by Reeve Simpson.

School children, Boy Scouts and war veterans are to participate in giving the heir apparent to Britain's throne a right hearty welcome to Summerland and the citizens of Peachland and Naramata have been asked to join with the people of Summerland and district in extending a welcome to the Prince.

According to the plans of the reception committee the children will be lined up on the wharf and will sing as the boat comes to her moorings. It is then expected that the Prince will informally inspect the Boy Scouts and the Veterans, those of our two sister towns having been asked to join the Summerland men. The Prince will then be invited to visit the Fruit Union packing house close by and to witness the most modern methods of grading and packing apples. As he spends but a half hour here it is improbable that there will be time for much else. God Save the King will be sung by the school children as the boat pulls out.

At the Council Meeting on Tuesday it was decided to ask representatives of local organizations to cooperate with the Council in welcoming the Prince and on Wednesday morning President Andrew of the Board of Trade, Secretary Bowering for the School Board, President Nixon of the G.W.V.A., Vice-Presidents Mrs. Zimmerman and Mrs. Bentley of the Women's Institute, and President Wright of the Automobile and Good Roads Association met with the Municipal Council to further the arrangements. Reeve Simpson was appointed President of the Committee, and Mr. F.A.C. Wright, Secretary. Several sub-committees were named for decorations, placing of the several groups of citizens, and regulation of traffic. Special policemen will be appointed by the Reeve.

Shortly after the opening of the school the children of all except the town school will be conveyed to the C.P.R. station and in the meantime they are being drilled in the singing. According to present arrangements they will be taken back to the schools immediately the Prince has departed.

Invitations have been forwarded by the Council of Summerland to the Council of Peachland asking the citizens there to join with Summerland and also to the Farmers' Institute of Naramata with a like request.

The Committee requests the citizens to assemble at the wharf in good time so that there may be no confusion. Cars will not be allowed between the Post Office and the corner north of the wharf.

Tuesday will be a strenuous day for the Prince, as he makes the whole tour of the Okanagan in the one day, giving Penticton, Summerland, and Kelowna each a half hour and he will have an hour for Vernon, including a run out to the Coldstream. Arriving at Penticton in the early morning His Royal Highness will leave the train at 9.30, stop at the school for the civic address, etc., and then continue to the boat, coming direct to Summerland. From here the boat will go straight through to the Landing. The party will motor from Vernon to Kelowna, reaching the boat which will be awaiting them there about 6 o'clock. A half hour will be spent at Kelowna and returning south the party will board the royal train to leave for Nelson between 9 and 10 that evening.

Commissioned by the Overseas Club, Mr. Francis Jones, now touring Canada, spoke before a small audience in Campbell's hall last Friday night on the war achievements of the organization, and also of its aims and success.

Selling of Debentures Is Delayed

Some delay in disposing of the issue of municipal debentures will be occasioned by a recent request to bond houses by the Canadian Government that they refrain from dealing in such securities until after the new Victory Loan has been floated. Several Canadian bond houses have advised Municipal Treasurer Nixon of this, though one house, not a member of the bond dealers' association, has written making an offer, evidently hoping to get the bonds at a lower price because of this fact.

Reeve Simpson in commenting on the action of the Government, said he did not think the Government was playing fair with the municipalities. Some time ago the Government had urged the municipalities to undertake public works and now it is talking the work by making it impossible to sell the bonds.

The Chairman of and Finance Committee thought that the debentures should be prepared as soon as approved by the Inspector, and that it would be possible to borrow against the debentures to carry on until the bond market was in condition to pay a fair price.

It was unanimously agreed that the work must not be held up because of any probable delay in selling the bonds.

Duke and Duchess of Devonshire Coming Oct. 10

Their excellencies the Governor General and the Duchess of Devonshire are making a tour of the province and are to visit Peachland on the 9th October and Summerland the next day. They come to the Valley from the Coast over the K.V.R. arriving at Penticton early Thursday morning. Leaving there at 8.30 a.m. they go by boat to Peachland, thence to Kelowna and the Landing, arriving at Vernon about five that afternoon. Spending the night on the steamer at the Landing, the vice-regal party will leave there in time to reach Summerland at 10.30 and will be here until noon. The same committee of councillors and citizens as is arranging for the visit of the Prince will be in charge of arrangements for the Governor General and party. The Automobile and Good Roads Association will be asked to co-operate in giving the party a look over the district. Otherwise much the same plans as for the Prince and party will be carried out.

A Growing Business

These be strenuous times for the Okanagan Valley, and nowhere are the days more hectic than here in Summerland, which has come to be recognized as the centre of the express business in fruit shipments. Always has Summerland led the rest of the Valley in this regard, and this year appears to be adding fresh laurels to her wreath of fame, as all previous records, including that of last year, when it was thought that the zenith had been reached, have been smashed beyond all expectation.

It is a curious and inexplicable truth that though carload shipments from other places on the lake have shown the increases attendant on a far greater production of fruit, it is only at Summerland that the individual package shipments have shown such an enormous advance.

These express packages go to all parts of Canada, even as far east as New Brunswick, many of the orders of course having placed with the shippers months ago.

Express shipments, again, have lately been averaging 27 trucks a day, with an average of 70 boxes, or packages, to the truck. Some idea of the intensity of the work to be accomplished by the Express Company most immediately concerned may be gained from the following figures, covering the last six weeks alone. The first of these six weeks saw 6,771 packages expressed, the next week saw 9,015, the third, 9,028, the fourth, 7,805, the fifth, 9,808, and last week saw 10,875 shipped. These represented

Work on North Main Proceeding

Old Ditch Found To Be Considerably Out of Grade In Some Places

Several hundred feet of concrete ditch has been completed this week on the north main. For some days a large gang of men had been at work tearing out old fluming, sections of concrete and blasting rock and boulders and on Wednesday this work had been carried forward sufficiently far to permit starting the pouring of concrete without likelihood of being held up.

According to the profile plan it was necessary to lower the grade as much as two feet in places in order to obtain an even grade throughout, 2.5 to the 1,000. Fortunately it has been found possible, by eliminating several loops and sharp turns, to reduce the length of that portion where the excavation was the heaviest by about 200 feet. In this way a higher level can be maintained and the bottom of the new ditch over a distance of about 1,500 feet will be from 18 or 20 inches lower than the old ditch.

To one who had gone over a section of the ditch that had been cement lined and had noted that it had never been more than half filled with water it would seem folly to consider tearing out to build larger. This week when a representative of The Review visited the scene of action nothing of this stretch of concrete remained but a ribbon along one side or the other of the larger cut and this high up on the side and left to make a backing for new concrete. Then it was very apparent that there had been no other course but to remove the old cement work. The work that had been done toward preparing for the putting in of the new lining also revealed why the ditch along here had been so much out of grade and why it had never been filled to overflowing. Projecting ledges of rock and tops of huge boulders had apparently been built over at the sacrifice of grade rather than remove them.

While, as stated above, Engineer Fawkes had planned to dig down to a true grade he says he did not expect so much obstruction in the form of rock, but he expected the saving he had effected in shortening the ditch would largely offset this added cost.

This rock work and heavy digging is to the west of the road which divides the Carr and Agur properties. When the flume just east of this road is reached the old work is again on grade, but beyond it falls away, according to the Engineer, only to climb again later. Rather than fill where low he is carrying the increased fall around to where the ditch takes a steep drop above the Young property.

Nearly forty men are at work on this ditch and more men are being engaged as they come along. A second and possibly a third crew will be organized to carry on work on other sections of the system if enough men are available.

PREPARING FOR BETTER ROADS

Ratepayers of Summerland will be asked to approve of a by-law authorizing the purchase of equipment necessary for the efficient and economic improvement and upkeep of the roads of the district. This is a subject that has been before the Council on several occasions and during a sitting of the Council on Wednesday Councillor Campbell and Engineer Fawkes were asked to bring in a list of equipment and an estimate of the cost of same so that action may be taken at the regular meeting next week.

A total of 1,388,794 lbs. or close on 700 tons, and all for six weeks' express shipments.

Not a bad showing, truly, for Summerland.

This, however, is not the full tale, for there are the carload shipments that are being sent away by the several packing houses, all of which are now running full blast with fruit coming in so fast that it is rapidly overtaking the packers, even though work is carried on well into the nights.

Fall Fair Now Well Under Way

10th Annual Fair Next Month Merits Wholehearted Support From District

The Summerland Fall Apple Show and Peace Fair will take place on the 29th and 30th of October. This is the tenth annual fall fair, and being the first since the cessation of war, it is thought the event should be made a little better than in former years to fittingly mark the return of peace. Undertakings of this kind were carried on with more or less difficulty during the war, and last year the influenza epidemic served to still further interfere. There is, therefore, every justification for planning a bigger and better Fair for 1919.

A meeting of the directors was held last Saturday evening which had very largely to cover the same ground as a meeting some time previous. At that time W. G. Raby was acting as secretary, but his death unfortunately intervened before a record of proceedings was made.

At the meeting on Saturday evening a new secretary in the person of F. A. Williams was on hand to take over the work, and in spite of the unforeseen delay, plans for the Fair are now well in hand. A careful revision of the prize list has been made, additions to some of the classes resulting. Two new classes are provided for, one for grade hogs and one for honey. The box making contest is done away with, and in its place there will be a packing contest, open to all comers. Three boxes in fifteen minutes will be required in this competition. The packing contest for new packers, or those who have not won a prize, remains as in former years. In the vegetable section the big display has been abolished and eighteen or twenty new sections for single varieties put in. The Women's Institute classes, for household work, etc., has also been revised, while the school section remains practically unaltered. Prize lists will be ready in a few days and mailed round the district. Any who fall to receive a copy are requested to get in touch with the secretary, who will also supply extra copies where needed.

There are newcomers to the district who may not have seen a Summerland Fall Fair. To such a special invitation should be necessary to get into the exhibits with the old timers. There is no apple show in the Province of the proportions of the one held here annually, and on this account alone a special value is attached to the event. Membership to the Summerland Agricultural Association at $2.00 per year allows free entry to a whole family for any number of exhibits. It is hoped that those who have formerly exhibited will do so again, but with more to show, while any who have hitherto not allowed themselves time to get exhibits together are urged to look at the community value of this event and do their share towards making the coming show a record one both in entries and attendance.

DISREGARDING SUGAR ORDERS

Discussing the sugar situation in Alberta and the shipping of sugar from the Coast, Fruit Markets Commissioner J. A. Grant of Alberta has the following to say in his weekly market letter:

"The five cars of sugar from Vancouver refinery to Calgary and five cars to Edmonton from the same place arrived and were distributed on Monday. The sugar was intended to relieve the situation in preserving British Columbia fruit, but owing to the low state of sugar supplies for ordinary use most of this sugar was sold without regard to the order of the Board of Commerce. Only one wholesale house in Edmonton applied the fruit conditions as set by the Board of Commerce, and none at all in Calgary. The eastern five cars for each city is dribbling in and meeting the same conditions. We have been creditably informed that thirty-eight cars of sugar have arrived in Calgary in thirty days and the Board of Commerce should demand a record of who bought it and what it is used for.

Urgent Need For More Apple Packers

Women and girls who can grade and pack apples are urgently needed to help take care of Summerland's apple crop, the largest in the history of this growing district. The fruit is coming in faster than it can be taken care of and is rapidly attaining such bulk in the packing houses as will soon make efficient working impossible and unless packed and moved off more rapidly there will be great risk of thousands of boxes of fruit being frozen.

The Summerland Fruit Union now has three grading machines, one at Naramata and two here, said to be the largest in the Valley. Only one of the three is now in full operation because of insufficient help. In our advertising columns this week the Union, believing that there are a number of women and girls in the district that are not now employed who can pack apples, is appealing to them to help save the apple crops of Summerland and Naramata. The two idle machines, one here and the other at Naramata must be started at once if the fruit growers are to get their crop marketed without serious loss. If you know anything about fruit packing offer at once to help. Turn to the advertisement now.

Site Is Selected For Big New School Building

Five acres of land immediately to the south of the Central and High School grounds and about one and three-quarters acres to the west of the school site have been selected by the School Board for school purposes. This decision was reached at a special meeting of the Board on Monday. This will give the Board a block of about nine acres in all, intersected by the road running east and west in front of the present buildings.

The Council was given a copy of the resolution containing the action of the Board by Trustee Marshall on Tuesday and requested to prepare a by-law to be put before the ratepayers. Accordingly the following motion was carried: That in accordance with the request of the School Board a by-law be prepared for the raising of a sum of $4,400 for the purchase of a school site and that the by-law be presented to the ratepayers for approval.

The secretary of the Board also wrote asking that an election be held for the appointment of a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Dale and naming Mr. F. J. Nixon as returning officer.

Hilborn Farm Sold

The Hilborn fruit and vegetable farm on Jones Flat has been bought by Mr. A. McLachlan, who will take possession on November 1st. This farm has for some years been one of the show places of Summerland and became widely known as a demonstration farm under the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Its proprietor has, since coming to Summerland, made a remarkable success of growing melons and other semi-tropical crops, in fact introduced that industry to the Valley. His successor is also an expert in these lines and will no doubt continue this work.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilborn are moving to Victoria as they find that the lower altitude better suits Mrs. Hilborn's health. Not to be idle Mr. Hilborn has bought 4 acres just outside the city limits with nursery and greenhouses. His new property is near the normal and university schools.

Summerland Weather Report

Drive Starts On Sunday.

Hospital Will Make First Appeal in Five Years.

Must be Extended to Meet Growing Demands.

In view of the fact that the general public of Summerland and district is being asked next week to contribute to the further development of their local hospital, a few further facts as to the cost of operation and annual income and expenditure should be of interest.

The hospital was opened on September 17th, 1914. The building and equipment cost $9,834.00.

The total receipts up to August 31st, 1919 are as follows:

Charges to patients	$15,166.88
Government grants	6,123.10
Cash donations	986.09
Municipal grants	1,847.00
Contributions in kind	1,910.74
Total	$26,033.81

The total expenditure for the same period has been, including both depreciation and insurance, $25,295.18, giving us a credit balance, when all collectable accounts are paid of $738.63.

The total number of days' treatment is 7,484, with the number of patients 573. This gives us daily cost of treatment per patient of $3.37.

Thus it is a matter of great satisfaction and cause for congratulation that the Summerland Hospital, through the last five strenuous years has, with the aid of grants from the Government and the Municipality, been almost entirely self-supporting and has kept out of debt. Too much praise cannot be given to the Board of Directors, Ladies' Auxiliary, the Hospital staff, for having maintained this condition of things without in any way losing the high mark of efficiency in nursing and treatment. The more so, when we read in the papers of other hospitals going further and further into debt each year and of having to increase their fees or reduce staff.

The attitude of the general public towards a local hospital or similar institution is in many respects like that of an individual towards his appendix, in that while it is in a healthy state and functioning properly little or no thought is given to it, or concern taken as to its inner workings. It is only when it begins to show signs of distress or want of attention that the public or private individual is reminded of his responsibility and duty.

But Summerland is going ahead both in size of population and in prosperity and the hospital must go ahead with it both in size and efficiency. An isolation ward has been a long felt want by the Directors and a modern X-Ray plant will not only assist the medical staff in their work, but also be a means of saving both time and money to many a patient.

So that the Board of Directors have every confidence in coming out to the public and asking for the means of making the hospital more efficient, more up-to-date, and more worthy of the Municipality of Summerland and District.

Summerland has always come out on top when appealed to for any worthy object, whether patriotic, charitable or local, and we feel sure that she will not go behind in assisting so worthy a local institution.

With the present prosperity and good prices of fruit, $5,000.00 is surely not too much to ask and expect to get.

On behalf of the canvassers we would ask the public for a little pity and sympathy. Those who ever tried know what a thankless and arduous task it is at the best.

Give readily and willingly and as you can afford, and let us be able in the near future to announce that Summerland has again gone over the top.

If it is not convenient to pay cash at the moment, the promise of monthly subscriptions for a given term will be welcome. Regular receipt forms and forms of promissory agreements have been printed to meet all requirements.

Synopsis of ### Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $50 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesteads; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 40 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mills, factories or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 25, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, limited from enlistment to March 31, 1919.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, or fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commission.

Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Mr. Victor DeBeck and Mr. Jas. Glenn of Penticton were visiting friends on Thursday and stayed over for the dance at the Pavilion.

Mr. Stuart Leckie and Mr. Earl Gray and party of Penticton gave a corn roast at Dog Lake on Wednesday night. A number of young people from here went down and participated in the fun. The night was pleasant and the eats were numerous and a general good time was the result.

Mr. Will Young who has been visiting Mr. James Young has returned to his home in Selkirk.

Mr. Jack Lawler was in town on Tuesday, looking after Fruit Union business.

TIPS TO MOTORISTS.

Most car owners drain the oil out of the crank case about three times a year, and as a general rule this used oil is simply thrown away. By adding 50 per cent. of kerosene to this waste oil an excellent spring lubricant is obtained. The method of using the mixture is to spray it over the springs once a week. The oil furnishes the lubrication, while the kerosene keeps the springs free from rust.

When foreign matter of some kind finds its way into the fuel pipe between the two sections of the vacuum system the result is that the vacuum tank is empty in spite of the fact that there is plenty of fuel in the main tank. When this happens fill the float chamber of the carburetor with gasoline, which can be drawn from the main tank, and then start the engine. The resulting suction will draw out the obstruction and permit the system to function again. The same trouble is sometimes caused by obstruction of the small air hole in the filler cap of the main fuel-tank, which must be kept open to induce atmospheric pressure on the gasoline.

While a deep gouge in the car's bodywork will usually call for the attention of the coachbuilder, still the really skilful owner may be able by running into the scratch beeswax and resin melted together and then smoothing off the surface and repainting, to accomplish a satisfactory repair.

Pamphlets descriptive of Kootenay and Boundary as a fruit growing district are being issued by the Nelson Board of Trade and sent to fruitgrowers' unions and farmers' institutes with the object of having them placed in each box of apples shipped from the district.

To Returned Soldiers.

Dr. F. W. Andrew of Summerland has been appointed by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment as Medical Representative, whose duties are to attend to all returned men who require medical attention. This attention is being given free to men who may be taken ill any time within one year of discharge, whether the cause be from war service or not, and to men who are suffering a recurrence of disability caused by war service, at any time.

Prince of Wales Proves Himself Good Fellow

Incident From The Front Shows Popularity of Prince Based on Kindly Acts

Under the head "Impressions of the Prince of Wales" the Kelowna Courier last week published a most interesting story written by Captain E. H. Rhodes Wood, covering an incident in France which just now is most timely reading and which we take the liberty of reproducing here in full:

A call came through from the F.O.O. (Forward Observation Officer), for two linesmen with 500 yds. of wire—"immediate." A kindly corporal (!) wakened Smith and I with the toe of his boot, and, cursing the corporal, the F.O.O., and the whole war generally, we found ourselves, half-awake, tired and decidedly bad tempered, on the road to the front line on a wet night, attached to a large drum of telephone wire. We were then up in "The Salient," and to reach the communication trench where the Observation Officer was to meet us, we had to traverse the Menin Road and a few other undesirable thoroughfares. This, coupled to the facts that we had a four mile tramp ahead, that it was then 2 a.m. on a perfectly filthy morning, and that we had been out repairing telephone wires until after midnight, will explain our fed up feeling to those who have "had some."

Conversation languished—it usually does when you can think of nothing to repeat—but bad language. An occasional shell spluttered into the sky on one side or in front, but we had seen too many to be interested, to us they but served to show a puddle we had trodden in or were just about to tread in. The tall unsympathetic poplars flanked each side of the road, rising black against the sky line, soulful subjects to an artist or a poet, but stirring no memories or tender feelings in the souls of that fatigued party of two.

Occasionally a sentry would halt us, the conversation varying little: "Alt, 'oo are you?" "Royal Artillery." "Ruddy night, aint it?" "Eli!" "So long, chum." "Cheerio, mate."

—And then silence and the everlasting road. Once I tried to light a cigarette, but it became wet through almost before I could light it, so I replaced it with an empty pipe, and trudged on uncomforted.

A huge motor lorry showing no lights passed us, forcing us to the side of the road, and smothering us with a shower of mud. We cursed it heartily and fluently for a moment and then lapsed into a sullen silence.

We had traversed about a mile of our journey when a motor horn warned us off on to the side again. "Another blinkin' lorry," Smith growled.

"Swine!" I returned. We turned and saw a big touring car slowing down behind us.

"Bloomin' start officer this time," reflected Smith, "probably wants to know why our buttons ain't clean, or if we've got our little gas masks 'with us'."

The car pulled up level, and slowed to a stop. "Going far, boys?" called out a voice.

"Communication trench at Hell Fire Corner," I replied.

"Better jump in then, I'm going that way," returned the voice.

"What's your luggage?"

"Telephone wire," I answered.

"About seventy ruddy miles of it," added Smith.

"Bightin' in you jump," and a hand leaned back and swung the door open invitingly.

In the dim light we could see that the car inside was clean and well upholstered. We looked at our uniforms with the rain and mud soaking through, and caked on them, and hesitatingly hung back.

"We're in the 'ell of a mess chummy," Smith volunteered the information sadly, "p'raps we'd better 'ang on to the step, or the Lord 'Igh What's 'Is Name as owns this'll be arter your blood."

The driver, who was to us simply a silhouette, laughed merrily. "Don't you worry, boys," he replied, "there won't be any blood spilled this journey. I'm only responsible to myself for this bus—climb in and make yourselves comfy, only don't do any damage with that wire of yours."

The engine started up and we nestled comfortably into our seats. There were two occupants of the car, both sitting in the front seat. The second person had never spoken since our meeting. Taking stock of them we decided in whispers that they must be officers, an opinion which was confirmed when by the light of a star shell we saw that both had red bands round their caps.

"Ope I never said anything wrong to 'em," Smith remarked to me, and added, "Anyway, 'e don't seem to worry much if I did," nodding to the man who had done all the talking.

We had nearly arrived at our destination when, as we were approaching a certain cross road, well known to those who served in that sector of the line, we were held up by a military policeman. "Better stop here a moment, sir," he said to those in front, "they're shelling the road pretty bad lower down and croopin' up to this cross road. I'd advise you to go back for about a hundred yards and wait till it stops."

Accordingly, we went back a short distance and pulled up on one side of the road.

"We can walk the rest of the way, sir," I said to the officer, "It isn't far now."

"You'd better stay here," he replied, and then, bringing out a cigarette case, "Do you smoke?"

We did.

Before either of us could get at our inside pockets to unearth matches, the officer had a box out, and was applying a light to each of our cigarettes. We saw him clearly then for the first time, and somehow his face struck me as being familiar. My attention was directed, however, to his breast, where two rows of ribbons showed beneath his unbuttoned Burberry. I also noticed that he wore two stars on his shoulders.

Smith nudged me. "D'you know 'im?" he asked in a whisper.

I shook my head. "Prince o' Wales," he murmured in an almost breathless tone.

I knew at once that he was right. The young boyish face that seemed familiar, a lieutenant, and two rows of ribbons. For some minutes he talked pleasantly to us, asking us about our homes, our army life and our service in France.

The shelling, which had rapidly increased in volume along the road in front of us, as rapidly died away. We climbed back into the car and were driven the last quarter of a mile in silence.

"We get out here, sir," I said as we approached the nearest we could get to our destination along the main road. The car stopped, and Smith and I got down, hauling our drum of wire after us.

"Alright?" the man in front asked.

"Beggin' yer pardon, sir," Smith broke in, "but you are the Prince of Wales, ain't you, sir?"

The boy in front laughed. "Why yes," he replied, "I'm afraid I am."

"No offence in asking," said Smith, "but I thought I'd like to tell my missus 'ow I'd seen you, sir. Goodnight, sir, and—er—Gawd bless yer Royal 'Ighness."

"Good-night, men, best of luck."

The engine started, and we were alone. I believe we stood in the centre of that muddy road, standing to attention, and saluting the back of the Prince's car for quite a minute, each standing more erect than we would have normally done. It wasn't a duty salute, one that we felt that we had to give, but one that was given involuntarily to a man who, while holding second place in the great Empire of Britain, was quite unaffected by his social superiority, a man who was, first and foremost, a splendid type of that highest degree of all—a gentleman of England.

We lifted our drum and walked on in silence for a minute or two.

"What do you think of him, Smith?" I asked.

"Think of 'im? My lad, 'e's a man, an' so long as we've got blokes like 'im for a King, well—kings is good enough for me, an' to 'ell with your bloomin' republics."

And I—well, I agree with Smith.

Winding Trail

By Autolycus.

INTRODUCTORY.

One of the first impressions of a stranger to mountain districts is that of bewilderment at the unexpected and apparently wrong turns necessary to bring him where he wants to go. He is apt to lose all sense of location at times, and to feel that the trail is winding around in just the very direction which will lead him away from his destination. It is easy to draw an analogy between the winding trail of the mountain, and the equally erratic trail of life, with its doubts, hesitations, mistakes, mishaps, and final achievements. And on all roads the traveller will find matters of interest in exact proportion to his capacity for taking notice of them.

Let us journey together for a time, and note some of the doings of mice and men.

AN EFFICIENT ALARM CLOCK.

"Go to the ant thou sluggard," says Solomon, having in mind the admirable but tiresome virtue of early rising. I doubt whether Solomon suggested such a literal interpretation of his advice as I heard of lately in this Valley, my informant being the person who actually put it into practice. He was at the time employed on some pioneer work somewhere around Westbank, and was camping out alone. Having no alarm clock, and being a somewhat heavy sleeper, he made his couch at night directly beside an extremely well developed ant hill, knowing that just as soon as daylight began to appear his friends alongside would become active, and put a period to his slumbers. My friend assured me that the plan worked like a charm, and I can easily believe it, except that I have not yet begun to realize just where the "charm" came in!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

There recently appeared in a Saskatoon paper an interview with a Rev. gentleman who spent part of his summer vacation in the Okanagan Valley, and while here took notes of prices obtained by local fruit growers, afterwards comparing them with the figures ruling in his native village, or maybe we should say his home town, of Regina. He informed the reporter who interviewed him, that the same cherries which fetched 60c. per lb. in the Saskatchewan capital netted the Okanagan grower 10c. or thereabouts, and displayed much curiosity as to the various apportionments of the half dollar increase which accrued on the journey. There certainly seems room for elucidation, which may possibly be sought by one of the various commissions on the high cost of living: meantime I notice that the Rev. enquirer did not take into account the item of loss by spoiling, of perishable fruit, which has to be considered by both wholesaler and retailer when fixing a price.

Though the domestic science equipment is not entirely complete, the full time table has been arranged and all classes taking domestic science are at work in the kitchen. Parents or anyone interested will be welcome at any time to visit this department of the school work. On Friday afternoons from 1 to 2.30 Miss Oliver, the teacher in charge, will be free, and will be pleased to make any explanations regarding the equipment and the domestic science work in general.

Many a poor man has nothing but money.

His many friends will be glad to learn that Mr. Matt. Wilson is making very satisfactory progress following his serious accident of last week.

Howell and Allen Harris left on Monday to enter the University. Others who will be leaving this week to resume their duties at the U.B.C. are Donald McIntyre and Roy Elsey.

For want of time and space we have been forced to withhold several items of news, which, however, we trust will be as interesting next week, among them being part of the business transacted at two sessions of the Municipal Council.

Parking of cars at right angles to the sidewalks on the principal streets of Kelowna is now compulsory. According to a recent amendment to the traffic regulations by-law, "Motors shall approach and leave sidewalks as nearly as possible at right angles." Some weeks ago Pentiction passed a by-law requiring motors to be parked at an angle of forty-five degrees to sidewalks of certain streets.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Raby and family wish to thank the many kind friends for their help and sympathy during the illness of son and brother and especially at the time when death so suddenly removed a loved one from our midst.

Miss Nora Bates left by K.V.R. Monday morning for a short visit with her aunt in Victoria, following which she will enter the Vancouver General Hospital to train for nursing. She was the recipient of a number of presents from a group of young friends who met to wish her success and give her a happy send-off.

As chairman of the last victory loan campaign Rev. H. A. Solly has been requested to call a meeting of citizens for the purpose of making all preparations necessary to the successful carrying through of the new loan in this district. As advertised in these columns the meeting will be held in St. Stephen's Hall and as many of our citizens as can possibly do so are urged to attend.

Recognizing the value of dairy-farming as an adjunct of fruit growing the Pentiction Agricultural and Horticultural Association are featuring dairy cattle at the fair to be held there on October 15 and 16. A copy of the prize-list is now before us and we hope to give some space, not available this week, to the inducements being offered prospective exhibitors. Attention is directed to the advertisement in these columns, which will be changed from week to week, giving further particulars.

Fruit Inspector John Tait went out on Tuesday morning's boat on a journey to points in central B.C. that will take about three weeks. He has gone in connection with the agricultural fairs that are being held at the different points in that section about this time. He expected to go north on the P.G.E. to Quesnel, finally getting into Prince Rupert, and from thence he will return by way of Victoria.

Mr. John Brown of Innisfail, Alberta, was a visitor to Summerland this week, staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Sanborn. Mr. Brown came into the Valley by the K.V.R., reaching Penticton on Saturday, and coming up to Summerland by car. He has sold his farm at Innisfail, and is now a land seeker in the Okanagan. The future, perhaps, may see Mr. Brown located in Summerland. He left on Tuesday morning's boat.

Pte. H. Ansell, Summerland, was among the war veterans to arrive at Halifax last Saturday on the s.s. Regina.

R. H. English is expecting a car of Drumheller lump coal to arrive in a day or two. Price $12.50 per ton at the station. Phone him your orders. 9

Ian Brown returned Wednesday morning from Vancouver with the news of the arrival of a son on Sunday. He reports both mother and child as doing well.

Mrs. Grey, nurse at the hospital here, has been given the appointment of matron of the Princeton hospital, and leaves next Tuesday to take over her new duties on October 1st.

An enquiry regarding the Fall Fair with a request for a prize list has reached the secretary of the Agricultural Association from Innisfail, Alberta. If this indication of how outside entries are going to be attracted, it augurs well for the Fair.

His many Summerland friends were glad to welcome Corp. C. H. Simey, who with his wife returned from England a few days ago and has since been visiting his brother in Penticton. Though still in uniform he was busy at the Fruit Union packing house on Wednesday, and intends to make Summerland his home.

Peachland Doings

A Weekly Chronicle, Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown of Summerland, accompanied by Mrs. Brown's sister, were visitors in town last week, coming up by boat on Wednesday morning and returning on the afternoon boat. They were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson.

The Rev. Chas. H. Huestis of Red Deer, Alberta, Secretary for Alberta and British Columbia for the Lord's Day Alliance, addressed a public gathering in the Reading Room of the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening of last week. There was not a very large attendance, but those who were out were glad for having turned out. Mr. Huestis is thoroughly acquainted with the work and well informed as to details in connection with the workings of the Alliance, and was able to give quite an interesting account of the various phases of the work. He spent Wednesday night in town, a guest of old Eastern acquaintances, Mr. and Mrs. R. Harrington, going on by auto to Summerland the following morning by the kindness of the Rev. Mr. Clark.

Mrs. J. S. Moore went north on Monday to spend a short time visiting on Okanagan Landing.

Major and Mrs. Hardisty were passengers south on Monday's boat, returning the following morning.

Mrs. Middleton and Miss Morrow of Victoria arrived on Monday night as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore at the Lambley Ranch. They left on Wednesday morning.

Miss Campbell of the Zanana Mission in India addressed a meeting of the ladies in the home of Mrs. Wm. Dryden on Monday afternoon last at 3 o'clock. It was decided to again take over the support of a bed in the hospital at Lucknow, India, under the name of "Peachland Memorial Bed." For several years Peachland supported a bed until about two years ago and now that the good work has been taken up again any contributions will be gladly received by the collectors, Mrs. Dryden and Mrs. J. B. Robinson. Miss Campbell left by boat the same evening to fill her appointment at Summerland.

Mr. Hayes of Summerland was a visitor in town on Friday, arriving here on a little shooting trip and returning by boat in the evening.

Mr. Jack Ray spent a couple of days up the lake this week, going up on Monday and returning on Tuesday.

Mr. A. Lowndes left for the Coast on Friday morning, having found that his health was not good here. He will be very much missed by the public from the general store here where he has been employed for two years. He purposed making a trip south before settling anywhere.

After a pleasant visit in town with his son, Mr. Higgins Sr. left via the Seacomus on Friday morning to return to his home.

Mrs. J. A. Moore of Princeton has been visiting Mrs. Town and Mrs. Ferguson for a couple of weeks.

Miss Metcalf left by boat on Tuesday morning to return to her home in Winnipeg after a pleasant visit here with her brother and her nephew, Mr. Tees. She expected to stop over in Calgary on her way home.

After a pleasant sojourn in our midst lasting over several months, Mrs. Morgan's father, Mr. Cooper, left this last week to return to his home in Calgary.

Came To Summerland Also For Head of School

Writing to the Kelowna Courier a resident of Rutland says: What is wrong with Kelowna, that all the government jobs are given to men outside? Look at the list:

Game warden—Vernon.
Fire ranger—Westbank.
Provincial police—Summerland.
General road foreman—Summerland.

New road foreman—Summerland. It's a wonder if they don't appoint a police magistrate from Armstrong and postmaster from Lumby. There must be something wrong. I for one would like to know what it is.

One of our town girls recently sent twenty-five cents for a receipt to promote and preserve beauty. She received the following reply: "Mind your mother and stay home nights."

WATER NOTICE

Use and Storage.

TAKE NOTICE that The Okanagan Securities Company, Limited, whose address is Naramata, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use eight hundred acre feet and to store eight hundred acre feet of water out of Chute Creek and Chute Lake, also known as Lequime Creek and Lake, which flows south-west and drains into Okanagan Lake about 500 feet from N.W. Corner Lot 212 C.G.

The storage dam will be located at the outlet of Chute Lake about 500 feet from S.W. corner S.L. 9. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 1,000 acre feet, and it will flood about 1,000 acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about 300 feet from N.E. corner Lot 891 where Creek crosses north line of Lot 891, and will be used for irrigation and domestic purposes upon the lands described as Lots 891, 212, 208, 285, and 286, Osoyoos Division of Yale District.

This notice was posted on the ground on the 22nd day of September, 1919.

A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Vernon.

Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper.

Stranger Dies At Hospital

Following an illness of but a few hours Albert Parlee died Thursday morning at 12:30 at the Summerland Hospital. The man was a stranger here, having come in from Vancouver a few days before with other men to work for the Municipality. He was at work on Tuesday but that evening complained of having a cold and not feeling well. The cook gave him a hot drink and he went to bed. About three o'clock he was much worse and soon became unconscious and was removed to the hospital about six o'clock. He did not regain consciousness and died 18 hours after entering the hospital. Pneumonia was the cause of his death.

Nothing is known of his connections, but he was a member of a loggers' union at the coast and on Wednesday the union was advised by wire of his condition with request to advise relatives.

The remains were interred in the Peach Orchard cemetery Thursday afternoon, Rev. W. H. Bates officiating.

Children's Event at Fall Fair

An effort is being made this year to interest school children in what is known as the Canadian Bankers' Competition at the coming fall fair. The competition is put on by the Canadian Bankers' Association, in conjunction with the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, its aim being to promote interest in livestock on the part of the children.

Two classes are offered, namely for pure bred or grade heifer calves or pure bred bull calves, and pure bred or grade sows or pure bred boars. Five prizes or more in each class are awarded, the first in each being $5, graduating down. There is no entry fee, and the most important conditions are that the exhibitors must have fed and cared for the animals they show for at least six weeks, the animals must have been born on or after March 15th of this year, and entrants must not be over 17 years of age.

Notice of entry must be made not later than three weeks prior to the show. Pamphlets have been distributed this week giving full particulars, and children who can
