Growers Adopt Plan As Prepared By Committee

Federation, Bound by Contract and to Cover all Province Committee Goes to Provincial Meeting With Ideas of Local Growers—S. J. Kinney Proposes Plan.

To a capacity audience in the Parish Hall on Friday afternoon, the results of the findings of the growers' committee were culminated in a resolution which carried unanimously as it was presented.

Mr. R. H. Helmer, who was in the chair, opened the meeting introducing Mr. G. J. Coulter White, the chairman of the growers' committee. The latter explained the work done by the committee and introduced the following resolution:

"Resolved, that this meeting of Summerland fruit growers favors the formation of a federation of the interior or the province for the purpose of stabilizing prices, regulating distribution, adjusting freight rates and generally to promote the fruit business by seeking co-operation with others, encouraging allied industries by every means available, and further resolved that the federation shall be bound together by agreement and bonds penalizing any or all who fail to live up to their agreements or contracts." In addition to this he read suggestions bearing on the resolution, among which was the sending of two delegates to a meeting at Kelowna on December 6th; the formation of a nominating committee for the appointment of the said delegates and the financing of the growers' committee. In speaking to the resolution, Mr. White stated that the members of the committee were agreed that the proposed resolution was not perfect, but that the idea was to take it before the big meeting at Kelowna, where it would be considered along with others from various organizations, and possibly a complete plan formed, this latter being again brought before the growers here for its confirmation or otherwise.

Mr. C. H. Tate seconded the resolution, which was then opened for discussion. A rapid fire of questions ensued from different parts of the hall, in fact, so much so, that the chairman found it necessary to have a secretary, and Mr. G. W. Johnson was elected to that position. Mr. John McLean wanted to know the meaning of the resolution, and was answered by Mr. White to his satisfaction. Rev. H. A. Solly drew attention to the fact that the resolution proposed adjusting freight rates and suggested that it should be altered to "seek to adjust freight rates," which Mr. G. J. Coulter White thought was no improvement, but rather the seeking "to have freight rates adjusted," was what was meant.

Other speakers were Mr. Jas. Shepherd, Mrs. W. C. W. Fosbery, who pointed out that the proposition was contrary to Mr. Sapiro's pamphlet. She also considered that it would be necessary to eliminate the O. U. G., and have an organization of growers only.

Mr. H. S. Sharman moved an amendment, calling for two federations instead of one as proposed; one each of shippers and growers, but this was not favored. Mr. P. G. Dodwell enquired as to the control of routes under the new organization and Mr. John McLean elicited the information that all shippers must ship through the proposed association.

Mrs. Fosbery wanted to know how the proposed penalty was to be enforced, and Mr. O. E. Mann enquired as to whether the express shipments were included in the arrangement, which was replied to in the affirmative. Rev. H. A. Solly wanted to know whether the local shippers had been approached, a course which he considered should have been adopted.

At this point, Mr. S. J. Kinney, of Penticton, who had come to the meeting armed with a proposition, was, on motion of Mr. P. G. Dodwell, allowed the floor and spoke for 15 or 20 minutes, outlining a scheme of his own, as distinct from the one provided by the growers' committee. This elicited much questioning and was finally disposed of as not feasible at the present time.

Mrs. Fosbery moved an amendment to the resolution, as proposed by the committee and sought to have the words "on the basis of commodity," inserted after the word province. After much discussion the audience did not appear to favor this amendment, which had been seconded by H. J. Fenner, and on Mr. White's objecting, it was put to the meeting, when only one voted in its favor. The original motion was then put as outlined above, and carried unanimously.

Mr. White then moved the two following resolutions, both of which were approved by the meeting:

(1) Resolved, that the above resolution and suggestions and Mr. Ritchie's suggestions and others submitted, be placed in the hands of the delegates to the Kelowna meeting.

(2) Resolved, that voluntary contributions be taken at this meeting to defray expenses for hall, advertising and expenses of delegates, and that the money be placed in the hands of John Tait to administer.

For the appointment of delegates to the Kelowna meeting, Messrs. Lipssett, Higgin, J. S. Campbell, Hutton and R. V. Agur were appointed a nominating committee, the result being that Messrs. G. J. C. White and T. M. Croil were elected as delegates for the meeting at Kelowna.

On the motion of R. V. Agur the delegates were instructed to endeavor to obtain the presence of Mr. Aaron Sapiro in the Okanagan Valley, at the earliest possible date.

Very many phases of the proposed new organization were discussed and in the majority of cases satisfactory explanations were made to all questions and the meeting was apparently unanimous in wishing to carry out the provisions of the proposed resolution, as the best means, at present, (Continued on Page 6)

CONSIDERING INCORPORATION

Naramata Board of Trade Not Satisfied With Premier's Reply.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade was held on Monday evening with a good attendance. Many matters of interest were discussed and replies read from the provincial departments acknowledging receipt of protests against certain recent legislative amendments decided on at the last meeting of the board.

It was reported by the secretary, Mr. Manchester, that the Arawana siding promised by the K. V. R., had been put in, and that work on the bridges and the creek was progressing satisfactorily. The matter of road improvement at the junction of Robinson avenue and the Penticton road was again brought up by Mr. Salting and it was decided to ask for same to be taken in hand, if possible.

The president, Mr. Geo. Weaver, read a letter he had received from Premier John Oliver acknowledging receipt of the resolution passed at the public meeting of Nov. 16th, asking for some relief in the matter of taxation. The meeting agreed with the view expressed by the president, that the contents of the letter could not be regarded as satisfactory since the specific features of the resolution were entirely ignored. It was resolved that a further communication be sent to the premier, asking for replies on the points raised in the petition.

Arising out of this matter the subject of the wisdom of incorporating under the amended Village Municipalities Act, was discussed and it was decided to obtain some information from Victoria as to preliminary steps necessary, with details as to approximate cost.

The meeting adjourned at 10 p.m. Mrs. Noyes and Mrs. Hughes went up to Peachland on Wednesday to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. McDougall.

The Women's Auxiliary held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Geo. Weaver on Thursday afternoon. Members present were Mrs. Langue-

ARE BACK TO 1912 SAYS R. G. L. CLARK

R. G. L. Clark, chief Dominion fruit inspector for this province, was a visitor to the Valley last week. He finds conditions in the fruit industry very similar to the critical period of 1912, and says that all the opinions that are being advanced at the present time with respect to marketing fruit were heard at that time. He states further that a great deal of the losses suffered during the past two years could be blamed on the grower. All wholesale fruit houses were opposed to consignments, he declared. Internal competition and not playing the game in the Valley were the principal reasons for the unsatisfactory state of affairs, was the trouble in his opinion.

SUMMERLAND GIRLS LEAD AT LONDON FAIR

Former Union Packers Win in Apple Packing Competition.

It was two Summerland girls who took the principal prizes in the apple packing competition at the recent Imperial Fruit Show, held in London. This competition was open to all comers and while visiting the exhibition, Miss Helen Shuffrey and Miss Dorothy Jeffries, learning that there was such a competition, entered for the contest, with the result that Miss Shuffrey captured the first prize of $5, and Miss Jeffries the second prize of $3.

Miss Shuffrey is a granddaughter of Mrs. Kate Bentley and went over to England about a year ago. Miss Jeffries, who is a niece of Mrs. Bentley, recently learned apple packing while here with Mrs. Bentley. Both young ladies were pupils of Jack Lawler.

FORMERLY LIVED IN SUMMERLAND

Mrs. R. C. Lipssett was advised by telegram, Tuesday morning, of the sudden death of Mrs. Ida Simpson, at Vancouver, at 7 o'clock Monday morning. Mrs. Simpson, who was the widow of the late Rev. N. K. Simpson, was well known in the Okanagan. She was a sister of Mrs. Bulyea, wife of ex-Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea of Alberta.

When they first came to the Okanagan, Rev. N. K. and Mrs. Simpson lived at Peachland. Later they moved to Summerland and built the house and planted the orchard, now occupied and owned by Edgar Gould. Later they moved to Kaleden and it was there that Mr. Simpson met death in an accident, while in the saddle.

They had one daughter, Miss Marjorie Simpson, who was a student at Okanagan college here and with whom her mother was living in Vancouver.

Growers To Adopt Central Agency Plan

This is Prediction Based on Developments at Big Meeting Now in Session at Kelowna—May Have Board of Control Until Organization is Effected.

The formation of a central selling agency to market British Columbia's fruit crop is likely to be the choice of the large number of fruit men now in session at Kelowna. The fruit industry is well represented at the gathering, there being a large number of delegates from the Kootenay district, as well as from the Okanagan.

Mr. J. Kinghorn, Sorrento, was appointed to the chair on Wednesday morning and Captain Jervis, Rutland, was made secretary.

Mayor Sutherland, in addressing the gathering, urged careful consideration of the several plans. Many resolutions, covering the subject, were introduced and yesterday afternoon were referred to a special committee. This committee dealt with the subject last night and prepared a report which went to the printers this morning, and will be before the meeting this afternoon.

This morning several matters relating to the fruit-growing industry were under consideration.

In a telephone conversation with Mr. G. J. C. White, one of the Summerland delegates, he said at noon today the indications are that from 90 to 100 per cent. of the growers will be in the new organization.

It seems that the central selling agency plan will be adopted, but it may be that a board of control will operate to permit of ample time in which to effectively organize the selling agency.

SHIPPERS PROPOSE BOARD OF CONTROL

Appoint Committee to Meet Growers to Consider Plan.

After discussing plans for controlled distribution of the fruit crop of the Okanagan, at Kelowna on Friday, and Saturday, shippers who handle about 90 per cent. of the tonnage favored the organization of a board of control to govern all marketing arrangements for the sale of crops. This plan was submitted to a representative meeting of growers, held at Kelowna this week. The shippers named E. Doberer, manager of the Salmon Arm Farmers' Exchange, to present the plan to the growers, and also named a committee, consisting of Messrs. L. Hayes, manager Occidental Fruit Co., Kelowna; J. T. Mutrie, president Okanagan United Growers, Vernon; W. H. Smith, Vernon Growers, and Thomas Bulman, Kelowna, to discuss marketing problems with a similar committee to be appointed by the growers.

A central selling agency plan was advocated by several shippers, but the general opinion after taking into consideration all the questions brought up, was that as the two plans had the same objective it was a matter of detail as to how the scheme should be brought. The shippers unanimously agreed that the growers must give whatever plan finally adopted their unanimous and whole-hearted support.

IS CROSS BETWEEN PEACH AND ALMOND

New Fruit Has Flesh of Peach—Pit is Good Commercial Almond.

Washington, D.C.—A new fruit combining the luscious taste of the peach and the tang of the almond has just been produced by Dr. Juan Balme, plant wizard of the Mexican horticultural department, after years of experimenting. Seven years ago Dr. Balme began the work of fertilizing the blossom of the peach with the pollen of the sweet or edible almond, says a report just received by the department of commerce from its representative in Mexico, City. Prior to this he imported from the United States trees of a fine, juicy sweet freestone peach and of the fine papershell almond grown in California. What Dr. Balme has done is to eliminate the useless bitter kernel of the peach and substitute in its place a valuable article of commerce. The new seed looks like the edible almond, and while a little thicker than that on its maternal ancestor, the shell has the fibre of the almond shell and the kernel is of the size, consistency and taste of the edible almond. The flesh of the new fruit is sweet and juicy and agricultural experts think it superior in delicacy of flavor to its paternal ancestor, the peach. The new fruit is called the Peachmond.

LOCAL POTATOES BRING PRIZES

With scores of 98 and 96 points, two entries made at the Provincial Potato Exhibition, held recently at Grand Forks, Mr. J. C. Blacklock, of this place, was among the prize winners. Mr. Blacklock had one entry in the commercial class and another in the uncertified seed class. In the former there were 32 entries. The winner of the first prize made 99 1/2 points, Mr. Blacklock coming in fourth with 98 points. In the uncertified seed class, in which there were 26 entries, Mr. Blacklock was again fourth with 96 points. Mr. Blacklock states there were very few entries from this part of the province.

SUMMERLAND WON LAURELS FOR OKANAGAN

Fruit Packed Here by S. F. Sharp Headed O. U. G. Exhibit at Toronto.

Further information with respect to the prizes won at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair at Toronto, by the O. U. G., has been received. The prizes are:

One-box Lot—1st in Yellow Newton; 1st in Winesap; 2nd in Wagener; 3rd in Jonathan.

Five-box Lot—1st in Yellow Newton; 2nd in Jonathan; 3rd in Delicious; 4th in Rome Beauty.

Ten-box Lot—1st in Yellow Newton; 2nd in Jonathan.

Twenty-box Lot—3rd in Jonathan. Plates of Five—2nd in Macintosh. Plates of Ten—1st in Macintosh. Pears in Plates of Ten—1st in Anjou.

Of this exhibition the Summerland Fruit Union supplied 16 boxes Yellow Newtons and it was with this shipment that all the first prizes in the apples were won, with the single exception of one box of Winesap.

The Summerland apples were packed by Mr. S. F. Sharp, to whom, in addition to the excellent quality of the fruit, the credit is due for the splendid record made by the Summerland apples.

Credit is also due the Summerland Fruit Union for the enterprise, which thus further advertises the Summerland fruit district.

POULTRY AT VERNON.

There were more than 700 entries at the North Okanagan Poultry show, held last week at Vernon. The judges were Professor Lloyd, of the University, and C. W. Traves, provincial assistant poultryman.

There were entries from Nelson, Revelstoke, Salmon Arm and Penticton, besides those from North Okanagan points.

Once every seven years we are said to change every tissue of the body—but that evidently doesn't apply to some people's dispositions.

Bill Before Legislature To Control Codling Moth

Would Establish Control Area and Collect Cost of Fighting Pest by Special Levy on Orchards in Affected Area—$20,000 per Year for Purpose.

A new government bill for the control of codling moth is now before the provincial legislature. It provides for the expenditure of up to $20,000 per year to fight the pest and for the establishment of codling moth control areas and for the assessment of costs upon lands within such areas.

The full text of the bill is: Bill No. 55. An act to provide for the control of Codling moth.

His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of British Columbia, enacts as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the "Codling Moth Control Act."

2. In this Act "fruit lands" means lands planted to apple or pear trees, whether or not the trees have reached a bearing age, and whether or hot they in fact bear fruit.

3. For every purpose of preventing injury to fruit lands through the spread of the codling moth (Cydia pomonella), and for the extermination of the codling moth in the province, the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may, in addition to all other moneys appropriated by the legislature for that purpose, advance from the Consolidated Revenue Fund, in such amounts and at such times as may be considered expedient, any sum of money, not exceeding the total sum of twenty thousand dollars in any one year, for expenditure under the provisions of this Act.

4. (1) The expenditure of all moneys advanced pursuant to this Act shall be under the direction and supervision of the Department of Agriculture, and the Minister of Agriculture shall determine the area within which any sum so advanced shall be expended.

(2) Every officer, servant, and every employee of the Department of Agriculture may enter upon any lands within any area determined by the minister, without the consent of the owner of the lands or of any person having any estate or interest therein, and may do all things necessary or convenient for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

5. Upon the report of the Minister of Agriculture describing any area the fruit lands within which have, in his opinion, been benefited or protected by the expenditure in any year of a sum of money under the provisions of this Act, the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may constitute that area a codling moth control area.

6. The Minister of Agriculture shall forward to the Provincial Assessor of the assessment district within which the whole or the greater part of a codling-moth control area is situated a certificate containing a description of the codling moth control area as constituted by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and stating the sum of money expended therein under the provisions of this Act.

7. All moneys required to repay the sum so advanced and expended in any codling-moth control area shall be assessed and levied in respect of fruit lands within the area, and every person shall be assessed and taxed on his fruit lands within the area.

8. Upon receipt of the certificate from the Minister of Agriculture, the provincial assessor shall apportion the sum stated therein by a fair apportionment in respect of fruit lands liable to assessment therefor within the codling moth control area according to the valuation of the fruit lands, including the trees planted thereon, as contained in the provincial assessment roll or as may be determined by the assessor, and shall enter in his assessment roll, or in a supplementary assessment roll, opposite the names of the persons liable to be assessed and taxed under this Act in the codling moth control area the respective amounts of tax according to his apportionments; but in every case in which the tax on the fruit lands of any taxpayer would be less than one dollar when apportioned according to valuation, the amount to be taxed and levied shall be fixed at one dollar without affecting in any way the general rate of the apportionment.

9. (1) All the provisions of the "Taxation Act" shall apply to the assessment, levy, collection, and recovery of taxes on fruit lands imposed under this Act in any codling moth control area, and to the apportionment of penalties for such taxes, when delinquent, in like manner as to taxes imposed on lands under the "Taxation Act," and notwithstanding the fact, in any case that the fruit lands assessed are wholly or in part situated within the limits of a municipality or are owned by a municipal corporation.

(2) All taxes on fruit lands when so assessed shall, for all purposes of the "Taxation Act," be deemed to be provincial taxes imposed and assessed under the Act, and upon collection or recovery shall be accounted for as such.

(3) In applying the provisions of the "Taxation Act" to taxes on fruit lands imposed under this Act where the fruit lands are comprised in a larger parcel of land which is separately assessed on any provincial assessment roll, the taxes so imposed on these fruit lands shall, for all purposes of collection and recovery, be deemed to have been assessed in respect of the whole parcel of land in which they are comprised.

10. The provisions of this Act shall be retrospective in their operation, and shall apply in respect of all sums of money expended for the control of codling moth out of the sum of twenty thousand dollars provided by special warrant issued pursuant to Order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council Number 442, approved on the eighteenth day of April, 1922.

MANY U. S. APPLES HELD IN STORAGE

An unsatisfactory feature of the apple market is the large holdings in the United States, of apples in cold storage. These were on Nov. 1st, 47 per cent. over last year and 36 per cent. over the five-year average from 1917 to 1921.

The following figures were issued by the B. C. Traffic & Credit Association to the several shipping houses, including the Summerland Fruit Union, to whom we are indebted for this information:

	1922	1921	1917-1921 Average
Barrels—	4,012,000	1,822,000	2,784,000
Boxes—	4,094,000	5,464,000	3,468,000
Total	5,377,000	3,648,000	3,938,000

Total represents barrels.

THE BOX FACTORY BY-LAW.

That there should be any opposition to the by-law with respect to the proposed box factory, on which the electors are asked to vote, does not seem probable unless it should be through misunderstanding.

Strong bids are being made to have the Summerland Lumber Company go elsewhere to establish its box factory, tempting inducements in the way of concessions being offered.

What the company is asking is a guarantee against taxation on its plant, should it come within the municipal bounds, and in the event of improvements being taxed sometime within the next ten years, which may be considered a very unlikely thing. They do not ask exemption from the present tax being charged on the land which they propose to occupy, but do not want the assessed value of that land boosted as soon as a box factory is built on it.

Summerland needs and must retain its box factory, which will be of very much greater value to the community if established within our boundaries, than where it has been.

The requests made by the Lumber Company seem to be very reasonable and by granting them we are assured an industry that will be of general benefit to the community and will put our fruit growers in the position of being able to obtain box shooks at home, without any risk of transportation or other troubles that might arise, should these purchases have to be made elsewhere.

OUR COLLEGIATE ICEMEN

Never in the history of the colleges and universities of Canada, or of the United States, has there been so many young men enrolled.

This marked increase in the attendance at our colleges is due largely to the change in viewpoint of our educational institutions. Many cobwebs have been swept away.

Today the college means more than the accepted understanding of academic teaching. It means a broader vision of life and a greater understanding of the necessity for the thing worth while.

The college man today is to be found everywhere. He is at the head of a great banking institution, he is a chauffeur, he drives an ice wagon, he tills the soil, he appears in literature and ornaments the plumbing establishment.

Sometimes the unthinking criticize the college because its graduates may be found driving a milk wagon and the like. The answer, of course, is that if all milk wagon drivers were college men milk would be delivered more orderly and even our babyhood would be helped.

The greatness of the college does not lie in its being the gangway down which one may walk to the professions. Its worth is in giving to the country men who can thoroughly perform the duty of the hour.

The college is not the panacea for empty skulls. The best it can do is to equip the man who has something under his hat.

FRUITS AS MEDICINE.

It is rather strange how few people know the medicinal value of our common fruits and vegetables. What a pity more fruits and fruit juices are not used, instead of the drugs and patent medicines! We find in the humble and much maligned prune one of the best, safest and most pleasant cathartics there is to be had. Nothing, excepting, possibly, pineapple juice, is more soothing to sore and inflamed throats than the juice of canned pears. For the parched conditions of tonsillitis, try slowly swallowing a spoonful of pear juice. It gives instant relief, but must be repeated as often as the throat becomes dry. For a common case of sore throat, pineapple juice is an excellent remedy in itself. Just eating a raw pineapple without sugar is a great aid to digestion.

THERE was a jolly merchant Lived on the River Dee
He worked and sang from noon till night
No lark as blithe as he
And this the burden of his song Forever used to be
"I sell my wares, I have no cares
I advertise, you see."

RURAL CANADA WILL DO IT

Law enforcement is more generally practiced and respected in rural districts and small towns than in the larger cities. All the great cities were, by a large majority, opposed to the elimination of the saloon. And yet it was the saloon in the large cities that did the most of the soul and body-destroying business.

Bad in any place the saloon was at its worst in the big towns. Yet the majority favored its retention and today register protest against prohibition. On the other hand, by a large majority, the small towns and the rural districts favor the laws of decency.

For this reason the smaller towns do not today experience, as do the larger cities, that which has been termed the crime wave.

Our big cities are so busy with what they regard as the pressing business of the hour, that they are less likely to weigh the moral worth of an issue than are the smaller towns and rural districts. Therefore, the moral support of a righteous redress against a wrong social tendency comes from the less populated places.

The big town men too often think they are the big idea builders. That is their big mistake. It is the small towns that both make and save the big towns.

It is the small towns and the farmers of the land who put across the big ideas.

HONEY CROP A RECORD BREAKER

The B. C. bee harvested this year 711,356 pounds of the sweetest crop on earth, according to compilations made by W. S. Sheppard, provincial apiarist.

Man has tamed to do his service many animals and birds, and even reptiles, writes J. W. Winson, in the Vancouver Province, but apart from the silkworm, which changes mulberry leaves into gossamer threads, the honey bee is the only insect that is set to work for human profit.

Seeing that about two thousand beekeepers in British Columbia owned and manipulated eleven thousand hives this season, about five hundred million bees must have spent themselves in garnering the provincial honey crop.

This amazing horde of livestock required no sowing, cultivating or reaping; no crop was planted, threshed or "ensiled." The bees sought their own raw materials in the tree blossoms and wild flowers, in the blooms of fruit and clovers where the nectar would have run to waste without their culling, and the blossoms would have lost the fertilization of their seeds if the bees had not hummed and sipped among them.

Nor is it fair to estimate the virtue of the honey bee solely by the honey in stores for the sweet tastes of humanity. When the fruit-growers reckon up their thousands of crates and boxes, and commend themselves for the great work they have done, they must include in their congratulations the bee that made this fruitage possible. Many fruit men now rank the pollinating bee as their chief assistant.

The production of wax is not accounted for in these official figures, but both dentists and tentmakers would fail in their business if the bees did not use this unique substance in their hive economy; about five tons of wax must have been taken with this yield of honey.

In gathering this 350 tons of honey, the bees have been limited, of course, to the settled areas. The great flower belt of the central and northern lands has not been touched. Fifty-three tons is contributed by the Kootenay bees, the Okanagan and Thompson Valleys yielding another fifty. From Vancouver Island and the Gulf islands twenty-nine tons was gathered, while twenty-four tons was harvested from Greater Vancouver and New Westminster.

The populous Fraser Valley, with its commercial beekeepers and farmer sideliners, produced more than half the whole crop, nearly 200 tons coming from this district. Matsqui and Langley made the best district showing, Vancouver giving the lowest average. Yet within the city limits the bees found over 3,000 pounds of honey in the garden flowers and fruit trees.

The great crop is about twice as much as that of the biggest previous year, due partly to improved methods of beekeeping, but more to the exceptionally favorable season. The flowers secreted more nectar during the bright summer, and made from it a finer flavored product, making altogether the best honey year the provincial beekeepers have experienced.

STRONGHEART IN "THE SILENT CALL"

Half-dog, half-wolf, Strongheart presents one of the most unusual characters the screen has seen in H. O. Davis' presentation of "The Silent Call," the Laurence Trimble-Jane Murfin production, released through Associated First National Pictures, Inc., which comes to the Rialto next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Because of this dual nature the animal is in constant conflict with the forces of civilization and the wilderness. The development of this mixed strain is worked out in a plot that teems with action and embraces a love story of the far West.

Of equal importance with the story is the acting of Strongheart, the Belgian police dog, who was imported to this country by Miss Murfin to play the leading role of Flash. Never before has the screen seen an animal that can take a role in a film drama without constant misuses and prompting; but the producers promise that this canine's intelligence is equal to every contingency, so that the hand of the director is never in evidence.

Laurence Trimble directed the picture and Miss Murfin did the adaptation from Hal G. Everts' "The Cross Pull," which was first published in the Saturday Evening Post.

The capable supporting cast includes: John Bowers, Kathryn McGuire, William J. Dyer, James Mason, Nelson McDowell, E. J. Brady and Robert Bolder.

WHAT THE DOCTOR SAID.

"Do you know what you are eating?" said the doctor to the girl.

"An apple, of course."
"You are eating," said the doctor, "albumen, sugar, gum, malic acid, gallic acid, fibre water and phosphorus."

"I hope those things are good. They sound alarming."

"Nothing could be better. You ate, I observed, rather too much meat at dinner. The malic acid neutralizes the excess of chalky matter caused by too much meat, and thereby helps to keep you young. Apples are good for the complexion. Their acids drive out the noxious matter which causes skin eruptions. They are good for your brain, which those same noxious matters, if retained, render sluggish. Moreover, the acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach that comes with some forms of indigestion. The phosphorus, of which apples contain a larger percentage than any other fruit or vegetable, renews the essential nervous matter of the brain and spinal column. Oh, the ancients were not wrong when they esteemed the apple the food of the gods—the magic renewer of youth. I think I will have an apple," concluded the doctor.

Way to Life.—He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?—Micah 6: 8.

TUESDAY

Seek Eternal Things.—We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.—2 Corinthians 4: 18.

WEDNESDAY

Do Good to All Men.—Let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith.—Galatians 6: 9, 10.

THURSDAY

Rules for Right Living.—Let all bitterness, and wrath and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice: and be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—Ephesians 4: 31, 32.

DON'T TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO BED.

You may labor your fill, friend of mine, if you will;
You may worry a bit if you must;
You may treat your affairs as a series of cares,
You may live on a scrap and a crust;
But when the day's done, put it out of your head;
Don't take your troubles to bed.
You may batter your way through the thick of the fray;
You may sweat, you may swear, you may grunt;
You may be a jack-fool if you must, but this rule
Should ever be kept at the front:
Don't fight with your pillow, but lay down your head,
And kick every worryment out of the bed.

That friend or that foe (which he is I don't know),
Whose name we have spoken as Death,
Hovers close to your side while you run or you ride,
And he envies the warmth of your breath,
But he turns him away with a shake of the head,
When he finds that you don't take your troubles to bed.

Correspondence

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—Referring to Mr. Thos. Powell's letter in your paper of Nov. 30th; with all due respect to Mr. Powell, I think he is putting the cart before the horse, and is endeavoring to support the O. U. G. to the detriment of the fruit industry of British Columbia.

The O. U. G. does not buy from the growers and therefore none of the other shipping houses can give a set price. So all the shipping houses have our fruit with no price set, and they cut prices on each other on the market to such an extent that there is practically nothing left for the growers. Now, I claim that this system of handling our fruit must be stopped, and a system put forward which would prevent shipping houses from cutting prices and consigning our fruit, thereby putting some stability in the market and giving the grower some returns for his labor.

What we need is a new and better system of marketing our fruit, a system which will work for the benefit of the growers as well as of the packing houses; and in order to get this, we must have men who are big enough to lay aside personalities and pet organizations.

As for our present representative from Peachland to the Central Board, I must say that he is a big enough man to declare from public platform that it is his own stand and, he believes, the stand of the O. U. G., that while they materially would like all the growers to line up with that organization, yet they would not stand in the way of a better system, and were ready to step down and out; if the fruit growers wish. I do not wish to blame any man or any group of men, but it is my firm opinion that the O. U. G. system is wrong and cannot be successfully applied to our present conditions.

Mr. Powell says the O. U. G. has not closed its doors yet, but will still allow other growers to join up. There are not many growers anxious to avail themselves of this generosity, indeed, I know of many who wish the doors had been closed before they did enter—then why speak of long-term contracts?

A year ago, when the Union was in much better favor than it is now, the five-year contracts which they issued were treated very gingerly.

It is quite possible to create a new organization without sundering present unity; but it is absolutely impossible to unite all the growers under the O. U. G., even if you change its name. Changing the name is not enough, and besides it is always a suspicious procedure.

Mr. Powell says that the O. U. G. has not fallen down so badly as some would have us believe. But he did not say how near down and out the growers are who shipped through the O. U. G. I may tell him that a good many of them are nearer down and out than they would like to have us believe. And in the face of this, how can anyone say the O. U. G. has not fallen down?

The O. U. G. as a shipping house is all right. They have fine offices, high salaried officials and lots of them. But all these have to be paid before the grower gets anything—and quite often there is mighty little left for the grower to get.

As for being inspired with the belief that life is a great and noble calling—a man cannot philosophize on an empty stomach! When a man works hard producing fruit to ship through the O. U. G. and gets practically nothing for it, then faces a long winter with seven or eight small children depending on him, why life becomes a pretty hard and bitter grind. The money that he should have to clothe and feed his family is being used to keep up the fine offices and high salaried officials, aforesaid.

For the majority of our growers are not in the happy position that Mr. Powell is in financially. They have to depend on their fruit crop for their livelihood. I venture to say that if Mr. Powell was in this position, he might not be so much in favor of the O. U. G. And I might point out that Mr. Powell did not come into his present financial position through shipping fruit to the O. U. G.

In conclusion I would like to say that it is a great pity that a man of Mr. Powell's education and literary ability does not direct his energies for the benefit of the growers rather than for that of a packing house.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am,
Yours truly,
FRUIT GROWER.
Peachland.

IRISH AND CANADIAN POEMS

The sphere of influence of Canadian poets is spreading. "United India and Indian States" has the following review of the above mentioned book:

"This anthology is an elegant tribute paid by an Irishman to the grandeur and natural beauty of his motherland, and also is a splendid compliment to the glorious scenery of the Land of the Maple Leaf, his adopted home. The poems in the book deal with the diversity of subjects and cover a very vast field. Whatever theme is taken up whether it is the description of a scene or the expression of a sentiment, whether it is a tender tribute to the valour of a friend, living or dead, or a retrospective narrative of his own early school days, the poet's facile and graphic pen strikes a fine chord. Mr. Hargadon is a born poet, full of love, piety, patriotism, faith and sympathy, and his poems abound with freshness and sunshine. The language and the metre used are so simple and easy in flow that even a schoolboy could follow them with pleasure and enjoyment. We cull a few lines that appeal to us as being of outstanding merit, sentiment and simplicity.

In "The Hero," the poet pays a handsome tribute to one of his dear friends, Captain the Hon. A. Shaughnessy, who was killed in France on March 31st, 1916:

"We grieve for the hero who grieved not to part
With his life for the cause that was dear to his heart;
But few be our tears! for he takes the command
Of great souls who inspire us to fight for our land.
The oak that is strongest may fall in the blast,
But a forest will grow from the seeds that it cast;
Thus each drop from the breast of this flower of our race
Will spring up a soldier to stand in his place."

The natural course of passing away from this world is thus described in "Going Away":

"Yet those we leave shall go away,
And those they leave shall go;
All to the great Eternity
We follow in a row."

Troubles, worries and disappointments are the natural shares of human beings, and the poet offers a little consolation in his poem "Broken Buds" in these words:

"Perhaps the flowers of heaven are little flowers
That here at birth were broken on the ground;
Perhaps the hours of heaven are happy hours
That here we often sought, but never found."

His own countrymen are described in vigorous and forcible language: "No other race has such a love For God and native land, And none can fight for liberty With such a stalwart hand; On scaffold, prison yard, or field None dies a death so grand."

ONE WAY TO GET AN EDUCATION

Some time ago, writes a subscriber to The Youth's Companion, "I was traveling in Europe with a young lady who lived in a small town way Down East in Maine, and who was more generally informed in the history, literature, art and music of the countries we visited than those who had lived in and had the advantages of a large city. "Where were you educated?" I asked. "I was brought up in my home town and on The Youth's Companion," was her reply. And this same liberal education is in The Companion for anyone who will seek it. ## Something for Merchants to think about!

NAME ten merchant princes who never advertised. No? Name nine, then. Six? Two? One. Why, what is the meaning of this?

Your knowledge of history and current affairs is comprehensive; your memory is excellent. Why, then, can't you name the great leaders of commerce who built up their enterprises WITHOUT ADVERTISING? It's never been done, has it?

On the other hand, great commercial successes, since the dawn of history, have been erected largely by advertising, of one sort or another. And as the means of advertising improved, the number and extent of business enterprises increased correspondingly. Cause and Effect.

But this has to do with big city successes, you say? Wrong again. Read below.

Newspapers come first on the advertising budget of Fred P. Mann, Devils Lake, N. D., country merchant, whose store does nearly a million dollar business a year. This much he told retail dealers who gathered at Boulder, Mont., last week for their annual convention.

He sends out grocery specials and personal letters. Mr. Mann is known the country over for achievements in building a million dollar store business in a small community started in business with a $75 capital. Through a wholesale house he was given "time" on $1,600 stock.

A newspaper friend urged him to tell the public about what he had to sell through newspaper columns. He did this when other merchants were satisfied to carry only a card in the local paper.

The first year Mr. Mann did a business of $23,000. He continued to use newspaper space judiciously and has kept at it ever since. Now the fixtures in his store alone are valued at $40,000.

Mr. Mann said that after taking the presidency of the North Dakota association, he sent out questionnaires from which he learned that seventy-five per cent. of the merchants of that state did not advertise and that ten per cent. advertised only because they wanted to help out their local papers.

At the same time, he said, the mail order houses were sending seventy-two carloads of catalogues into the state and it was reported by wholesale houses that seventy-two per cent. of the merchants were insolvent. He said he took up a campaign to induce the country merchants to go on a cash basis and to advertise, and he has since succeeded in bringing 200 of them around to his system.

Mr. Merchant, you don't have to do business in Dakota nor belong to Mr. Mann's association to do business under his system.

Start now. Right here in your own town. TODAY. Your publishing friend is trying to help you when he lays down his own money to furnish you with a big advertising service like THIS.

Collides With Truck at Turn Near Peachland—Jumps for Boat, Falls in Water.

One of the sharp points in the road south of the old mill saw a little excitement one day last week when a Penticton car, driven by Mr. Farrell collided with a Peachland truck driven by Mr. Alpaugh. The truck was loaded and having come to a standstill, proved too much for the Chevrolet car and the consequence was a complete turnover for the Chevrolet. It landed on its wheels some yards out in the lake in a pretty badly battered condition. The driver was extremely fortunate, being protected by the top and came off unhurt, although he was wrong side up and in the back of the car when the quick firing ceased. The truck received only slight damage. Both drivers came to a perfectly mutual understanding as to the cause and particulars of the mishap.

It is reported that the baker's effects have arrived and it is expected we will soon have a bake shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Dryden, accompanied by Mr. Hawkes and Mrs. H. E. McCall, motored to Kelowna last midweek on a short business trip.

A number of the young people of the community enjoyed themselves at a dance held in the Orange Hall on Thursday evening of last week.

Stanley Bunch left on Friday morning for England after having spent some months with Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hansen in the upper Trepianier district.

Mr. J. S. Moors, with his wife and little girl, motored up from Summerland last week-end and are spending a few days here with friends and relatives. While here Mr. Moore is enjoying a deer hunt.

Excitement was the order of the day for a few minutes just as the Sicomous was pulling out from the wharf on Friday evening last. Mr. Robt. Morgan, of Kelowna, known as "Scottie," being a through passenger on the boat that evening, thought he would have time to run to the store while the boat was at the wharf and telephone Penticton. He tried it. The boat whistled for out just as he got his party on the wire, so he dropped the phone and made a desperate effort to reach the boat before her departure. He reached the edge of the wharf just in time to see the stern of the boat "so near and yet so far." Hatless and overcoatless and very anxious to complete his journey, he was very loath to see the boat leave without his being aboard. He tried it. The yell went up from some boys on the wharf that a man had fallen in the water. Presence of mind and quick thought on the part of one, Robbie Williams, brought the life buoy from the end of the C. P. R. warehouse and with the assistance of the few persons on the dock "Scottie" was soon brought to safety, and was heard to say that the temperature of the water was somewhat different to what it was when he tried it in July. He secured the services of Earl Weitzel, who motored down to Penticton with him, managing to beat the boat to that point.

The Peachland branch of the W. A. (Women's Auxiliary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada), on Saturday, Dec. 3rd, held a before-Christmas sale, which was opened by the Rev. H. A. Solly, who, with Mrs. Solly, had motored from Summerland for the purpose. A splendid opportunity to buy suitable Christmas presents was offered and the public took full advantage of the same, as nearly everything was sold by early evening. Many who came in to shop remained to enjoy tea, which was served at 4 o'clock; others came in to supper and during the evening some of the girls put on a small play, which was enjoyed by both shoppers and diners. There was music throughout the evening. In spite of hard times the sale was most successful from a financial point of view as the following shows—our net profit was $191.65, says C. E. Weston, sec'y-treas.

Miss Doris Bradbury returned to Kelowna on Monday morning after a short visit to her home here.

Mr. Richard Walters, former packing house manager here, arrived in town Monday morning to join his wife and daughter, who preceded him some days ago, and has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smalls.

Rev. H. A. Solly motored up from Summerland on Sunday afternoon and conducted the regular service in the Anglican church here, going on to hold his Westbank appointment in the evening. He remained in Peachland over night and visited the central school Monday morning and after listening to the principal, Mr. Harris, give the scholars their lesson, gave them a short talk on singing.

As is shown by the various concerts and musicals given in Peachland by local talent, Peachland has had its fair share of musical talent, but judging by the number of pianos which are arriving of late, she will be in the running for a larger share, there having been seven pianos come in during recent weeks.

Mr. Gerald Roe, of Naramata, was among the arrivals on Wednesday morning, as was also Mr. Dorland, of the S. S. Sicomous mail staff, to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. H. McDougall. Mr. Roe returned home on the evening boat.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Hugh McDougall took place from the Baptist church on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 29th, at 2 o'clock. The service was conducted by the Rev. Isaac Page, pastor of the Peachland Baptist church. The church was filled almost to capacity, the gathering comprising beside local friends, others from Naramata, Penticton, Summerland and Westbank. There was a very great wealth of floral tribute representing many tokens of esteem. The deceased has been a well-known and highly respected citizen of Peachland for many years, having accompanied her husband, the late Hugh McDougall, from Moose Jaw, Sask. She came formerly from near Ottawa. Being 80 years of age, she has served well over the allotted span and hers has been a life of real service to her Master, having been a faithful Christian from tender years. She has always been a loyal supporter of the Baptist church in the community in which she made her home. Although frail of late, she was cheerful and bright up to the last. She walked down stairs about twenty-four hours before her call came to go home, which shows the wonderful vitality and spirit of the woman. She leaves to mourn her loss a daughter, Mrs. F. N. Dorland, Peachland, a married daughter in Moose Jaw, and two sons, Mr. J. E. Kerr, who has lived with her in Peachland, and Mr. R. J. McDougall, of Penticton.

A public meeting of Peachland fruit growers was called for 7.30 in the Municipal Hall on Wednesday evening of this week, for the purpose of appointing a delegate to represent Peachland at the convention of growers, to be held in Kelowna on Dec. 6th. The meeting was well attended and besides the specific business of the appointing of a delegate there were many phases of the fruit industry well aired by many enthusiastic speakers. Mr. R. J. Hogg was appointed delegate for the convention and a meeting was fixed for Dec. 8th, for the purpose of hearing the report of the delegate.

Mrs. J. T. Long and her daughter Doris, left on Tuesday morning for England. They plan to spend two or three months there.

Mr. O. Keating was a visitor to Kelowna on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Walters and their little daughter, guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. A. Smalls, left on Tuesday morning to return to their home in Kelowna, after having spent the fall months in Nelson.

NEW CURWOOD PICTURE COMING

The Golden Snare, declared by many to be James Oliver Curwood's best and most thrilling story of the Far North, will be the screen attraction at the Rialto theatre on Friday and Saturday.

Lewis S. Stone is the featured player. He will be seen once more in his favorite role—that of a Royal Northwest Mounted policeman. Ruth Renick has the feminine lead. Other well known players in the cast, in addition to Baby Esther Scott, are Wallace Beery, Melbourne MacDowell, Wellington Playter, and Francis MacDonald.

The scenes of this gripping story are laid among the picturesque wastes of the Arctic barrens. The plot involves the hunt for a madman of the north and the discovery of a golden-haired princess in the wilderness.

The Golden Snare was produced and directed by David Hartford. It is released by Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

Women detectives are increasing because they are good lookers.

VERNON GROWERS FAVOR AGENCY PLAN

The fruit growers of the Vernon and Coldstream districts, last week, adopted the following resolution, to be presented at the general meeting in Kelowna: Resolved, that this meeting is unanimously of the opinion that a central selling agency, not under the control of the shipper, with the growers tied up to it by contracts, is the proper solution of the marketing problem, and that the B.C.F.G.A. be asked to take over the preparation of a scheme for such an agency, and to call in an expert from outside, such as Mr. Aaron Sapiro or his equivalent, before they submit any scheme to the growers.

for the better working out of the fruit growers' problems. Here are suggestions that were advanced by the local growers' committee, with respect to the proposed federation of growers:

The federation shall consist of representatives from local associations of growers in each community on a per capita basis, and of all shippers according to quantity shipped.

The federation to meet at least annually and appoint a board of trustees or directors and also to pass upon the general policy of the federation. The board of directors or trustees of the federation shall consist of a representative from each shipper or firm handling at least one car per annum and an equal number of growers who are not shippers. The directors or trustees shall appoint an executive board, consisting of two or more nominated by growers and two or more nominated by shippers and one selected or appointed by the executive or board of management itself, who shall be the general manager. The executive board shall carry out the objects of the federation subject to the regulations or instructions of the trustees or directors and shall report their doings to them at least quarterly. They shall also at all times keep in touch with shippers and growers and supply them with needed information.

All shippers and growers shall enter into agreements to abide by the regulations and prices agreed to, subject to penalties for breaking the same and shall give bonds for the carrying out of the same.

The local association of growers shall consist of those agreeing to ship through shippers duly affiliated to the federation and bonded to abide by its regulations. The members of the local association shall pay such fees as may be necessary to pay local expenses of the delegates to the meetings for the federation.

The other expenses of the federation and the executive board shall be paid by the shippers by a car charge.

"They Don't Answer"

When the telephone operator says, "They don't answer," it is after sincere endeavor to get your party. She cannot compel an answer.

The party called may be unwilling to leave a particular household duty—may be in another part of the home beyond closed doors—may be chatting with a neighbor—may be marketing—may be slow in answering. Strange, but true, calls are sometimes designedly unanswered.

Telephone records show that the great majority of "don't answer" reports come from residence calls. In business, where it is a matter of dollars and cents, it is always the assigned duty of some one to be within sound of the telephone bell.

"They don't answer" is the statement of a situation absolutely beyond the control of the telephone operator.

FRUIT JOBBERS PLAN TO MEET AT CALGARY

Extend Invitations to Growers and Shippers to Discuss Question of Distribution.

A. E. Burns, secretary of the Western Canada Fruit Jobbers' Association, has issued notices for the annual convention of that organization, which is to be held at Calgary on Jan. 8th, 9th and 10th.

Extracts from a letter received from Mr. Burns follow:

"Will you be good enough, on behalf of the Western Canada Fruit Jobbers' Association to extend a general invitation to all the growers and shippers of British Columbia to attend our convention, which will be held at the Palliser Hotel, Calgary, on January 8th, 9th and 10th, 1923."

"Every arrangement is being made to make this a large and unique convention and the time and location should bring a large number of shippers and growers from your province, who are greatly interested in the distribution of their product, and I might say that the question of distribution will be given a full day at the convention."

"The growers and shippers should take part in the discussion and this is their opportunity to foster better relationship between the different factors, and will probably be the foundation of better distribution methods for the future."

"I know that a number of jobbers are going to take in the Growers' Convention at Kelowna, which is to be held on January 17th, 18th and 19th, and we are giving this convention every publicity on the prairies, as we are anxious that a number of our members go to Kelowna."

It looks as if B. C. may capture the cascara market, as manufacturing chemists of New York and London are in the market for five hundred tons annually of this medicinal bark. At the present time the industry of collecting the bark from our forests is very largely in the hands of Japanese.

TWO NURSES DEAD—WORKED IN HOSPITAL

Coast papers of last week record the deaths of two women who were at different times connected with hospital work here. One, Mrs. Mary D. Sinclair, was, we believe, the first to run a hospital in Summerland. For a short time she took patients into her home, the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon, and later she leased the Fenner house at the foot of the gulch road and carried on her hospital work there.

At the time of her death, Mrs. Sinclair was manager of the Lindsay Lodge, Vancouver.

The other death was that of Miss Alice Gordon, who was a member of the nursing staff of the Summerland hospital, and left to be with her mother in Nanaimo, not many months before the hospital was destroyed by fire. She died in the Vancouver hospital on Tuesday of last week.

HOSPITAL MUST COLLECT MONEY DUE OR QUIT

Income Dwindles While Expenses Mount—Heating System is Disappointment.

The Summerland Hospital Society is giving notice to those in debt to the institution of the necessity of paying their accounts, and at the same time issuing a note of warning of what the consequences of non-payment will be. During the past two months receipts have been much below the average and if the institution is to carry on, larger cash revenue is necessary.

Always higher in the winter than in the summer months, expenses of operating occupied much of the attention of the board at the last regular meeting, held on Monday evening, and all were agreed that action must be taken at once to collect delinquent accounts.

Expenses are being trimmed to the very smallest possible and much to their regret the directors decided to

Board of Control Plan is Adopted By Fruit Growers in Convention

Growers to Be in Majority on Board, Which Will Include Shippers—Details of Plan Left With Committee—Aim to Organize Central Selling Agency for 1924—Shippers' Representative Gives Support to Plan—Expert Advice to Be Obtained.

Growers representing all the fruit growing districts of the interior, assembled at Kelowna last week, and adopted the board of control plan, as was forecasted by The Review. Accordingly all fruit grown in the interior next year will be under the control of the growers until it is sold, if this plan is supported by the organizations and individual growers and by the shippers, and there is every reason to believe that it will.

After discussing the plans for a Central Selling Agency which would market the total crop, many growers thought it would be impossible to bring about such an organization in time to function in 1923, and decided to support the Board of Control plan. It was agreed, however, that the Central Selling Agency should be organized to begin operations in the spring of 1924.

A resolution, embodying the control plan, was sponsored by Reeve Cunliffe, of Coldstream, and Jas. Goldie, of Okanagan Centre.

Under this method shipping firms will on their own initiative find buyers as in the past, but all sales, contracts, shipments, credits and general policies would be defined by the board. A steady flow of fruit to all consuming centres would be arranged so that each would be supplied as demand required, thus preventing glutting and consequent lowering of prices, one of the evils long condemned by all those engaged in the business. Delegates all declared that such a plan would have the unanimous support of every grower in their districts.

It is proposed that a committee of seven will draw up plans for the Control Board.

Growers were emphatic that control of fruit should be in their hands even after it leaves their orchards and that they should have a say in how it should be marketed and not left to the whims and fancies of an uncontrolled shipper.

L. E. Taylor, member of the growers' committee, asserted that there were too many shippers in the business and some of them will have to be eliminated.

Gen. Harman, who, with Mr. Taylor, has visited every fruit district in the province during the past two months urging the growers to assume responsibilities which are theirs, outlined some details which in his opinion were essential in the new scheme. All fruit above that which is required for Canadian markets should be exported under pool system, the growers should have their own representative in the old country markets and contracts between grower and shippers, affiliated with the board, should be drawn by the best legal lights and both parties must be bound to adhere to the dictates of the governing body, were features of Gen. Harman's plan.

E. Doberer, manager of the Salmon Arm Farmers' Exchange, who attended the conference as a representative of the shippers, was called upon frequently for information which he gave in a manner that called forth most favorable comment of delegates. Mr. Doberer repeatedly assured the conference that it is the wish of the shippers that an equitable arrangement be arrived at and that the latter would give hearty support to any plan that was agreeable to the growers.

The resolution adopted: "Whereas, the fruit growers of British Columbia during the past two years have been unable to obtain for their products sufficient to cover the cost of production;

"Whereas, if this situation is allowed to continue for another year many growers will be forced out of business, and those remaining will be unable to give the care to their orchards that is necessary if the present high quality of B. C. fruit is to be maintained.

"Whereas, it is the belief of this convention that the chief cause of the present deplorable condition is to be found in the existing competitive system of marketing; and

"Whereas, if any action is to be taken towards ensuring a reasonable price to the producer for his next crop it is imperative that such action be taken immediately, therefore

"Be it resolved by this convention, here assembled,

"1. That immediate steps be taken for the marketing of the fruit and vegetable crops of 1923 by the organization of a central board of control composed of both growers and shippers;

"2. That such board of control consist of three growers and two shippers, or such number at such future date be determined upon, provided always that the majority of such board be composed of growers;

"3. That the general function of such board shall be the absolute control of price and distribution;

"4. That a committee of seven members be appointed at this convention to formulate a plan for such a board of control and having full

BOX FACTORY AND PLANING MILL ASSURED

By a vote of 174 to 17, the ratemakers of Summerland gave approval to the Box-factory By-law, known officially as By-law No. 176.

Now that the ratemakers have met the requests of the Summerland Lumber Co., Ltd., plans will be completed for the removal of the box-factory machinery from Mineola to the new site, together with the purchase of the additional equipment necessary.

In addition to a box-factory plant, the company will finish all its lumber here. The mill to be erected at Myran Camp will simply saw the logs into the various dimensions, which will be loaded directly on the cars. The factory to be erected here will plane and shape all lumber not sold in the rough.

SEEDLESS AND CORELESS APPLE

Montreal Firm Makes Producer Conditional Offer—Guarantee of $1,000,000.

Montreal.—Much enthusiasm was evoked at the annual meeting of the Pomological and Fruit Growing Society of the Province of Quebec, at Macdonald College, St. Anne's, on Wednesday, by the announcement of the discovery at Abbotsford of a seedless and coreless variety of Fameuse apples.

Prof. F. C. Seers, of the Amherst, Mass., Horticultural College, who was present, examined the fruit and pronounced it evidently a Fameuse in every detail.

The apple is slightly different in shape to the typical variety, longer and flatter at the ends, but of the same coloring and flavor. A slight marking in the heart of the apple was the only indication of where the core of an ordinary specimen would have been.

The representative of a large fruit distributing firm in Montreal assured the grower of these coreless apples that if the latter would produce the parent apple tree from which they were grown, and prove that it would reproduce trees by grafts giving similar fruit, he would guarantee him $1,000,000 for it, as it would revolutionize apple growing in Canada.

"5. That this committee fill any vacancies that may occur in its numbers.

"6. That this committee to have power to name the grower members of the board of control, it being understood that the members of the committee are eligible to appointment on the board of control.

"7. That this committee, before proceeding with the formation of a board of control, shall endeavor to arrange a conference with Dr. MacKlin, Mr. Sapiro, or any other recognized expert.

"And further be it resolved that this convention:

"1. Approve of the formation of one central agency under the control of the growers, to control the distribution of all fruit and vegetables produced in commercial quantities in the province;

"2. That this convention instruct the committee of seven members, charged with the duty of forming the board of control for 1923 to formulate a plan for a central selling agency;

"3. That the duties of this committee shall be:

(a) To assemble data concerning the fruit industry and fruit marketing systems in B. C. and prepare an impartial statement covering all interests affected by the proposed organization;

(b) To submit the data to a competent expert, such as Mr. Aaron Sapiro for his analysis, with the request that he draft a plan for organization based on the fundamental principles adopted by this convention.

"4. To call a convention of fruit and vegetable growers from each district for the presentation of this plan;

"5. It is expected that the work mentioned should be so far advanced that the next convention may be held within three months from this date."

The above resolution was unanimously passed at the Kelowna meeting Friday at noon, after the morning session had developed into a debate as to whether the control board would effectively carry out the objects for which it was intended. Some of the Kelowna delegates held out for the central agency plan and once or twice it appeared as if there would be a deadlock.

Wednesday's Session

A federation of shippers and growers to control the marketing of British Columbia fruit appeared to be the end to which the growers at their meeting here were working when they adjourned Wednesday night at 6 o'clock, after the first session. A committee was appointed to draft a resolution embodying the principal features of a number of resolutions which were submitted. These all emphasized the fact that control must be in the hands of the grower. The new resolutions were presented at Thursday morning's session.

The meeting was marked by a spirit of friendly co-operation, both shippers who were invited to address the afternoon session and the growers, numbering forty from the Okanagan and Kootenay districts, being anxious to work out an arrangement which would solve present problems.

E. Doberer, who was spokesman for the shippers, said growers would have received 25 cents more per box this year only for indiscriminate shipping to irresponsible firms.

Thos. Bulman, president of B. C. Growers, one of the big independents, told the growers that if they unannouncedly supported central agency selling plan that his firm would be prepared to sell out to the new concern, and if such scheme were agreed

LICENSE NUMBERS WILL BE DIFFERENT

Motor vehicles are not likely to have the same license numbers next year. A new system of licensing will be followed. Instead of the small metal squares, changing the year, a whole new plate will be issued. These license plates have already been distributed among the several licensing offices and from there will be issued in order of number as applications are received. Two thousand have been sent to the Vernon office.

The plates are colored green, with the license number, date and letters B. C. in yellow and a narrow yellow border surrounding the whole.

More coal discoveries have been made on the Skeena river near Hazelton, Central British Columbia. Assays show the latest find to be of anthracite quality, according to the local press.

FRUIT UNION MEMBERS FAVOR CASH SALES

Will Carry on Feed Department on That Plan—Credit to Creditor Members.

At a meeting of members of the Summerland Fruit Union, called for the special purpose of discussing matters relative to the flour and feed department of that organization, the principle of selling for cash was approved, but the resolution which was adopted, favored giving credit to those members who, in the opinion of the directors, would have a credit balance on their current year's fruit shipments. The resolution authorized the selling of fertilizers and spray to members when, in the opinion of the board, credit was warranted.

Due to the unusually cold weather, there were only about 75 members present.

Before the meeting adjourned, Mr. John McLean proposed that the president be paid an honorarium of $500, in addition to his expenses. Several of the growers expressed appreciation of the work done by Mr.

FREIGHT CARS WERE SAFELY LANDED HERE

Car Barge Which Put in Here Out of Storm Refloated—Load Transferred.

The C. P. R. car barge, which sank near the wharf here as a result of damage suffered at the Pentiction wharf during the storm last week, was successfully floated on Saturday.

One of the C. P. R. tugs came down from the Landing and after a temporary patch had been put over the outside of the hole in the barge, the pumps on the tug were put to work pumping the water out of the barge. After she was floated, the barge was moved over to the car ship and the eight cars moved off, after which they were reloaded on another barge and taken up to the Landing.

Captain B. Brown, of Nelson, head of the C. P. R. lake and river service in this province, was here on Friday and Saturday and gave personal attention to the salvaging of the damaged barge and its load of cars.

Three C. P. R. employees, who were on the damaged craft, had a rather close call. As is the practice during rough weather, the tug was towing the barges, one behind the other, with long haulers. These three men, when they discovered that the barge was filling, were not able to communicate through the darkness to the crew on the tug, but by chance one of the latter looked back and discovered in the darkness that all was not right. It was then that the second barge was cut adrift and a hurried effort made to reach shallow water in the shelter of the harbor here.

Wilson and said that, personally, they would like to second Mr. McLean's resolution, but felt that the state of the finances of the organization, and the prospects of small returns to the members, made it unwarrantable. Finally, upon suggestion, the matter was laid over until the annual meeting.

MESSAGE TO ONTARIO FARMERS HAS LESSON FOR B. C. FRUIT GROWERS

Aaron Sapiro Tells Producers of Eastern Province How to Attain Independence and Comfort—Tells How California Growers Are Organized by Commodities.

Aaron Sapiro, the young California lawyer, whose name has been frequently before the fruit growers of British Columbia of late, and who has made the subject of co-operation a hobby and is recognized as a genius in the organizing of producers, spent some time in Ontario last March when he gave a series of addresses on "Co-operative Marketing."

There is much of value to the Okanagan fruit grower in the speeches given before the Ontario farmers, copies of two of which have been received by The Review:

"In Ontario," he said, "you are in the centre of your own country and you put down into the most populous section of the United States. In addition, you have a water route to European markets." This situation he contrasted with California, which is at the extreme end of the continent and far removed from points of consumption. As a result of this isolated situation, the labor of the farmer and his whole family brought zero profits, even when excellent crops were produced. The commission men told the farmers that their low prices were due to supply and demand, but the growers failed to see why supply and demand should make middlemen wealthy while they were kept poor. It was this adverse situation that gave birth to co-operative marketing on the Danish principle in 1892.

At first only local associations were formed among the growers. Each association tried to market its own product and the competition between associations broke the markets almost as completely as had competition between individual growers. It was a banker who first pointed out that, while local associations were all right to handle the pack, the associations should be united for marketing.

Mr. Sapiro strongly advocated that marketing organizations should be on a commodity basis. There are now 22 such organizations in California. It takes a different type to handle perishable products and every product has little peculiarities of its own that can best be handled by a separate organization. As a result of the operation of this system California had net profits for its growers in "the black year of 1920," and theirs was the only system that was able to produce profits in that year. As a result, it has been generally adopted in the United States. "In California we count net profits only when the labor of wife and children has been paid for," added Mr. Sapiro. He mentioned that at one time, California growers got eight cents of the consumer's dollar, while now they are getting 48 cents without increasing the cost to the consumer.

He then went on to define the difference between merchandising farm produce and dumping it. Canadian cheese, he said, is dumped. It is

IS AUTHORITY ON MARKETING OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS

Dr. Macklin, of University of Wisconsin, Now in the Valley to Investigate the Fruit Situation, Will Confer With Committee on Organization.

Dr. Theodore Macklin, professor of economics in agriculture at the University of Wisconsin, arrived in the Valley this week from the Fraser Valley, where he had been studying the dairy business, and will consult with the growers' committee on the subject of organization for co-operative marketing. He has been making a study of co-operative marketing concerns all the way from Los Angeles to British Columbia.

He is a recognized authority on the marketing of agricultural products. His publications, including that on "Efficient Marketing of Agriculture," are used as school textbooks and are recognized as standards by many commercial concerns.

Prof. Macklin is one of the economists who do not shout for the abolition of the middleman as do many producers and consumers. Sentiment, combined with lack of facts and understanding contribute both to confusion of thought and to demand for remedial action, he says. Unfortunately, both consumers and farmers are especially uninformed and, therefore, willing to give their influence and support in behalf of impractical solutions. Their sentiment is frequently the cause of violent outbursts against a system which, however imperfect, is essential to commercial production. In consequence of both inadequate economic facts and conclusions as well as misinformation, the public unavoidably becomes skeptical and suspicious of marketing and middlemen in general.

In Prof. Macklin's opinion the most successful co-operative agricultural marketing concerns are those which work in harmony with the middlemen. Those producer concerns, he has found, which endeavor to market through their own retail organizations are not nearly so successful as those which devote their energies to selling co-operatively to the distributors.

Successful co-operative marketing for producers he has found to be largely a willingness for all interested to get into the one organization. Then comes storage and warehousing facilities in order that at no time will the market be glutted. The middleman seldom suffers as heavily through glutting the market as does the producer and it is to avoid the latter contingency, he says, that co-operation between the producers is so necessary.

As one who has studied agricultural activities all his life, Prof. Macklin declares it is in scientific marketing where agriculturists have failed lamentably.

"Our agricultural schools and universities have taught farmers how to grow two blades of grass where but one grew up previously," he said, "but they have failed to teach him how to market that extra blade of grass. This is the defect that all progressive and farmers' organizations are now endeavoring to remedy."

The marketing expert has made a close study on his present trip of the growers' organization at Hood Valley and at several points in California in preparation for his visit to the Okanagan. Until he has classified the mass of information he has gathered, he is not prepared to draw any conclusions, much less to discuss the Okanagan situation. However, he does go so far as to declare that until all the growers in the Okanagan are prepared to work together for the relief of the conditions which they are now suffering, there is little hope of these conditions being improved.

WHY THESE IMPORTATIONS ?

"Two more cars of Wenatchee Winesap apples rolled in last night to go into storage, part of the shipment of twenty-five cars which are expected, provided no obstacle occurs. There is some talk as to ability of local plants to handle the stock for storage in addition to the regular demand on this class of space. The Washington fruit is said to be of excellent grade."

This is a news item taken from a Vancouver paper. Does the inconsistency and the import of the facts stated therein strike you? Twenty-five carloads of Washington apples coming into British Columbia! Into British Columbia, whose fruit growers are hard hit for lack of a market for their apples!! What does it mean? This news provokes many questions that should be answered. Who is importing them? Has he not been able to get B. C. apples? Or is this another of those cases of alleged disloyalty to the home province? Does it mean that these twenty-five carloads of late winters in storage in Vancouver have usurped the market of twenty-five carloads put in storage in the Okanagan or elsewhere in anticipation of that market?

Perhaps this and the disastrous condition of our apple markets earlier in the season is evidence of a disproportion of production of early and late varieties. Does it mean that we are not growing enough of the long-keeping varieties to supply home needs? Who can answer these questions to the satisfaction of British Columbia apple growers?

FRUITGROWERS' ORGANIZATION.

There are many difficulties to be overcome in the complete organization of the British Columbia fruitgrowers for the marketing of their products. Nevertheless there is no other process by which they can hope to obtain a fair return for their products in favorable years or to reduce and fairly distribute the losses in adverse periods. Care of perishable products, handling of widely-scattered markets with variable demands, the exploration of new markets with expensive publicity, maintenance of the standard of production and packing, problems of transportation and distribution, are matters calling for close co-operation under the wisest possible direction. More difficult still is the psychological and ethical problem of holding into close association a body of producers who do not know each other, maintaining among them a sense of mutual confidence and in all of them confidence in their elected management.

It has been found in other such co-operations that the participants are apt to be satisfied and trustful when the returns are good, and any kind of management can declare good profits. But when conditions are hard and the management is bearing a burden of care and anxiety, it has also to endure suspicion and disparagement. A good deal of philosophy, and faith in the honesty and wisdom of their fellows, is required to establish and maintain the kind of organization that the fruit-growers require.

Happily the communities of fruit-growers in the Okanagan districts and the other valleys which produce most of the fruit on the British Columbia mainland are a fine class of people. The eugenists would credit them as a body with intelligence far above the average. They are all educated men and women. If they can not accomplish the proposed organization and make it work, what hope is there that such co-operation can be accomplished on a democratic basis anywhere in the world?—Vancouver Province.

CONTROL BOARD PLAN ADOPTED

to he would support movement to fullest extent.

In all discussions the growers realized that the independents had certain investments which must be considered.

W. H. Smith, Vernon Growers, and J. T. Mutrie, president of the Okanagan United Growers, Vernon, advocated the central selling scheme but pointed out that unanimous support must be extended by growers if it were to be a success. J. R. Kinghorn, Sorrento, was chairman of the meeting.

Delegates attending were: Sorrento, J. R. Kinghorn; Salmon Arm, Col. B. Scott, F. Wilcox; Armstrong, W. Millard; Coldstream, E. H. Cunliffe and M. V. McGuire; Okanagan Centre, James Goldie; Oyama, E. S. Towgood; Vernon, L. F. Decker and A. Leguen; Benvenuto, Capt. J. D. Cameron and R. S. Hall; Ellison, Capt. H. C. Atack and W. H. Stonehouse; Glenmore, G. A. Barrat and J. A. M. Grogan; Winfield, G. E. Seon, jr.; Rutland, Capt. C. R. Bull and J. Monford; Okanagan Mission, W. C. Renfrew and W. D. Walker; Westbank, W. B. Gore; Peachland, R. J. Friday afternoon forty growers from every section of the Okanagan and Kootenay left for their homes after earnestly discussing for two days and a half, ways and means of improving methods for marketing British Columbia fruit crops.

An amicable arrangement known as the board of control plan was evolved after all details of the intricate fruit business had been laid bare and examined from every angle. Growers in all districts sent to the meeting their best brains and those who have been attending fruit meet-

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

Mrs. Salting left on Thursday for a few weeks' visit to her mother in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowden, of Penticton, were in town on Friday on a short visit to their daughter, Mrs. Earl Hughes.

An interesting deal has been made whereby Mr. Donald McKay becomes the owner of the Dean Walters ranch adjoining the Gillespie property. Mr. McKay has been assisting Captain Languedoc this season and evidently thinks well enough of the district to become a permanent resident.

Naramata has had its share of the prevailing weather. On Tuesday the Summerland ferry was unable to make its usual trip and on Wednesday the Sicamous looky coldly on the wharf as she passed by, no call being made on Wednesday.

The bazaar and sale of work held by the Ladies' Aid on Thursday was fairly successful, approximately $65 being realized. Rev. H. E. Livingstone and Mrs. Livingstone came over, returning on special ferry. The main stall, containing articles worked by the members, was attended to by Mrs. Young, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Gamman. An attractive candy stand was presided over by the Misses Marie and Kathie Hancock, Miss Florrie Lyons and Miss Iverson. Tea was served by a staff of helpers, including Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. Kenyon, Mrs. Cargill, Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Languedoc and Mrs. George played several piano selections during the evening.

Beginning on Tuesday morning, Dec. 19th, Naramata will dispatch mail direct for Vancouver, via Summerland. At present, mail addressed to Vancouver and coast points, is made up in the evening and dispatched by the early morning boat and goes by way of Sicamous. Under the new arrangement, mails will be brought over on the ferry, leaving Naramata at 10 o'clock, and will be dispatched from the Summerland office with the mail closing here at 11 a.m.

Naramata Women's Institute, at their last meeting of the year, held a few days ago, elected officers for 1923. The new board is made up as follows: President, Mrs. Horswill; secretary, Mrs. Walters; directors, Mrs. J. M. Robinson, Mrs. Ruth Rounds and Mrs. Kenyon.

ings in British Columbia for the past fifteen years were well pleased with the solution arrived at. The business-like manner in which all problems were tackled showed that the growers realized their responsibilities.

Shippers are also pleased because they say that for years they have endeavored to get the growers to take an interest in the selling end of business but the latter held aloof. Now they have seen the error of their ways.

Prominent among those attending were J. J. Campbell, Willow Point, in the Kootenays, who told with considerable pride that apple production there was rapidly increasing. Mr. Campbell is one of the stalwarts of the industry. H. H. Erridge, Nakusp, another delegate from the Kootenays, who impressed the convention with his bright and pithy address. J. Adlard, Creston, was also an able representative.

H. E. Woodland, Grand Forks, and H. B. Morley, Naramata, were other men who guided discussion along proper lines, while Coulter White, Summerland, and R. J. Hogg, Peachland, upheld the views of the growers of soft fruits. G. A. Barratt, Captain Bull, Gen. Harman, L. E. Taylor and W. A. Corner, Kelowna, put forth the views of that section.

"Jim" Goldie, Okanagan Centre, and Reeve Cunliffe, of Vernon district, W. Millard, Armstrong, and Col. Scott, Salmon Arm, were spokesmen for the northern end of the Valley.

J. R. Kinghorn, Sorrento, who presided, has taken a keen interest in growers' affairs for many years and to his wise judgment in handling the chairman's gavel, is credited much of the success of the meeting. D. McCallum looked after the interests of the Keremeos growers.

Capt. Jervis, of Rutland, was the secretary.

The control plan will have the endorsement of every grower and shipper in British Columbia, it is certain, and with business interests solidly behind the scheme, delegates left for their homes well satisfied that another milestone has been turned in the development of British Columbia's fruit industry.

Friday's Closing Session.

The first business before the growers' convention on Friday afternoon was the nomination and appointment of members of the central committee.

Up to that time no mention had been made of the Traffic and Credit Association, but Mr. E. Doberer, Alfred Johnston, of Summerland, returned home last week-end after having spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Williamson and family at the Trepanier Townsite. While here he spent the major portion of his time deer hunting, at which he had a measure of success.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peachland Women's Institute was held in the Municipal Hall on Friday afternoon. Being the last meeting of the year the election of officers was the principal business. Following is the result: President, Mrs. Wm. Dryden, re-elected; vice-president, Mrs. C. Drake; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. Jones; directors, Mrs. Wm. Buchanan, jr., and Mrs. H. Williams. The reports of the various committees, read, together with the president's inspiring address, showed that the institute had been active during the year. The retiring officers were the hostesses for the afternoon and served a dainty lunch.

At a meeting of fruit growers, held in the Municipal Hall on Friday evening, the delegate to the recent convention at Kelowna, Mr. R. J. Hogg, submitted a report of the convention. There was a fair attendance of growers in spite of the severity of the weather and they listened with interest to the report. As the doings of the convention are being officially printed, it would be out of place to attempt it here. Several of the phases of the resolution passed at the convention were discussed by the growers. Major Hardisty occupied the chair and before the meeting closed a committee was appointed to take charge locally and arrange for necessary meetings of the growers in connection with the new project and also to attend to any financial matters in the same connection. A motion of thanks was tendered Mr. Hogg for the able manner in which he reported the convention.

Peachland Doings

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

The Rev. T. A. and Mrs. Sadler entertained the young people of the Union church here and of Westbank on Tuesday evening at their home in Peachland. A large number motored over from Westbank and the evening was spent in playing parlor games, etc. Refreshments were served. The singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne" brought a very pleasant and successful social gathering to a close.

Mr. S. Stephens, of Vancouver, has just arrived and is getting the old Royal Bank site property into shape for dwelling purposes for him and his wife, preparatory to fitting the place up for a bake shop. When questioned as to when he expected to get the bake shop into operation, he stated that he would have considerable work to do getting the building altered and added to and an oven put in and that it would probably be some little time before he would be ready to open.

Mrs. Craig, of the Trepanier Townsite, recently left to go over to Brookmere to join her husband, where he has been employed in connection with the sawmill in that vicinity.

At the recent annual meeting of the Peachland L. O. L., No. 408, the members re-elected their officers for the ensuing year and among other important business transacted, passed a resolution forming the lodge members as a committee of the whole, known as the "Good and Welfare" committee. It will be the duty of this committee to take charge of any good and welfare work found necessary throughout the entire community.

Peachland's Appreciation.

Peachland is to be congratulated on her good fortune. The delegate which she sent to the Kelowna convention of fruit-growers has been chosen as one of seven, out of a great number of delegates from all over the province.

Not only Peachland, but the Okanagan Valley, and indeed the whole of British Columbia, is fortunate to have such a man as R. J. Hogg to act on the organizing committee. A man of refinement, of superior education, and exceptional ability, and whose honor and integrity are above reproach.—Com.

"I Was Run Down"

"Body was completely covered with Boils"

"If you have ever had boils, you know how painful and annoying even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a watchmaker by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a nervous individual like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months, brought me almost to a state of collapse. I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would send me up in the air. If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky. I had no appetite for food. I certainly was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would go into a decline. As I had no money I couldn't do this. In fact paying doctors' bills and buying medicines used up all the money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was completely run down as any one could possibly be with a bad case of nerves. What I needed was building up. After reading descriptions of different preparations, the one which appeared to be the best for me was Carnol. It has simply performed miracles for me. Four bottles have done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old. I sleep eight hours every night and eat three good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as nerves. I want everybody who is ailing to know about Carnol, because I have such faith in it I believe it will cure any human ailment."

Mr. J. H. Mc. C. Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of The Review:

Sir,—When your correspondent who signs himself "Fruit Grower," is man enough to publicly proclaim his identity, I may, perhaps, consider it worth while to deal with the strictures he passes upon my letter published in The Review of November 30th. A man who is either ashamed of the name he bears, or is afraid to openly acknowledge the views he holds, is unworthy serious recognition.

DOUGLAS FIR STANDS ALL TESTS

Proven to be Among the Most Durable of Woods.

There have been many arguments from time to time about the durability of Douglas fir, and in view of the fact that much unreliable information about this wood has been circulated, a recent report of the U. S. forest products laboratory at Madison, Wisconsin, is of timely interest. This laboratory, which is the highest authority on wood on the continent, has prepared a table which shows the exact status of Douglas fir as regards its durability and ability to resist decay. Taking commercial white oak as a unit of 100, the durability of Douglas fir (dense) is reckoned at 70 to 100; Douglas fir (average mill run) 75 to 85. This places this species as the most durable soft wood on the continent, with the exception of the cedars, and absolutely controverts the statements that have spread abroad from time to time about its inferior durability. Not only does Douglas fir come out at the top of the soft woods but there are only about half a dozen hard woods that excel it for quality of resistance to decay, and these are such comparatively rare woods as catalpa, chestnut, black locust, mulberry, osage orange and black walnut.

PREPARING ANOTHER CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Horticultural Branch to Place Card Every Orchard for Clean Bill of Health.

The Horticultural Branch, Department of Agriculture, is again inaugurating a fall clean-up campaign on Fire Blight. Splendid results were obtained last season in this direction, and it is to be hoped that all growers in the Valley will again wholeheartedly take up the campaign.

An important change of policy on the part of the department has been announced, which, it is expected, will render the clean-up more thorough. Last season growers were urged to cut their blight early and to notify the officials of the department of agriculture when this had been accomplished. Splendid co-operation on the part of the growers along these lines was secured in most sections, but the work of inspection was unduly retarded by a large number of growers in many sections who failed to complete the work early and consequently the inspection work was held up.

This season the officials of the department have been instructed to proceed at once with systematic inspection and if an orchard is clean, it will be posted at once, otherwise it will be checked over again later in the season. In this way the inspection of each district will proceed rapidly and the work will not be held up pending the notification of the grower to the inspector that any orchard is ready for inspection and certification. At the same time inspection will be given any orchard at any time, in order that a "clean bill of health" can be secured by any grower who desires to see his orchard posted as having been cleaned up. The certification cards will be blue this season instead of white, as were used last season.

Every grower is urged to clean up his orchard at the earliest opportunity and to co-operate with his local inspector in making the clean-up campaign this season an even greater success than it was last year.

The campaign slogan: "Wake up! Clean up! Get your card up!"

The Pacific Berry Growers' Association has decided to build a pre-cooling plant at Mission City, which will have a capacity of six carloads per day and is expected to be very much more efficient than the plant at Port Haney, through which fifty-six cars were passed last season.

Something for Merchants to think about!

NAME ten merchant princes who never advertised.

No? Name nine, then. Six? Two? One. Why, what is the meaning of this?

Your knowledge of history and current affairs is comprehensive; your memory is excellent. Why, then, can't you name the great leaders of commerce who built up their enterprises WITHOUT ADVERTISING? It's never been done, has it?

On the other hand, great commercial successes, since the dawn of history, have been erected largely by advertising, of one sort or another. And as the means of advertising improved, the number and extent of business enterprises increased correspondingly. Cause and Effect.

But this has to do with big city successes, you say? Wrong again. Read below.

Newspapers come first on the advertising budget of Fred P. Mann, Devils Lake, N. D., country merchant, whose store does nearly a million dollar business a year. This much he told retail dealers who gathered at Boulder, Mont., last week for their annual convention.

He sends out grocery specials and personal letters.

Mr. Mann is known the country over for achievements in building a million dollar store business in a small community started in business with a $75 capital. Through a wholesale house he was given "time" on $1,600 stock.

A newspaper friend urged him to tell the public about what he had to sell through newspaper columns. He did this when other merchants were satisfied to carry only a card in the local paper.

The first year Mr. Mann did a business of $23,000. He continued to use newspaper space judiciously and has kept at it ever since. Now the fixtures in his store alone are valued at $40,000.

Mr. Mann said that after taking the presidency of the North Dakota association, he sent out questionnaires from which he learned that seventy-five per cent. of the merchants of that state did not advertise and that ten per cent. advertised only because they wanted to help out their local papers.

At the same time, he said, the mail order houses were sending seventy-two carloads of catalogues into the state and it was reported by wholesale houses that seventy-two per cent. of the merchants were insolvent. He said he took up a campaign to induce the country merchants to go on a cash basis and to advertise, and he has since succeeded in bringing 200 of them around to his system.

Mr. Merchant, you don't have to do business in Dakota nor belong to Mr. Mann's association to do business under his system.

Start now. Right here in your own town. TODAY.

WASHINGTON GROWERS GET FAIR PRICES

Okanagan Valley Apples Lead at Seattle Show—Thinning and Spraying a Success.

Orchardists from both the Yakima and Wenatchee districts, who attended the apple show recently held at Seattle, were not in the least pessimistic about the commercial side of apple-growing and the financial returns from this year's crop, according to press reports.

One grower from the Okanagan district said that the returns from the earlier varieties of fall apples had ranged from $1.20 to $1.60 per box and the stock had been practically disposed of.

A shortage of refrigerator cars had occurred when they were ready to ship the later varieties and they had had to hold them for a time.

The greatest care was taken in the selection of foremen of the packing houses, and his association paid its foremen $300 per month. By such methods the best results were obtained and they were assured of the highest price.

The selling part was entrusted to the North American Fruit Exchange of Wenatchee, which handled a large proportion of the output of that part of Washington.

Yakima growers expressed themselves equally well satisfied with the results of the season. They, too, had suffered from the car shortage, and while they did not look for such high prices for the later varieties as prevailed a couple of years back, owing to a heavy crop in the Eastern States, they considered the results for the season would be satisfactory.

In both sections it is the intention to keep in storage a large amount of late winter apples until the spring.

Both Yakima and Wenatchee growers were confident that they would find a good market in Europe for their surplus crop now that adequate shipping facilities were provided.

When told of the poor financial results obtained by B. C. growers—in many cases a return of forty cents per box on last year's shipments—they were incredulous and said there must be something radically wrong in the management.

The chief honors of the show in the ten and five-box classes for commercial apples went to the Okmag Association, which captured thirty-five first prizes out of thirty-seven entries.

This champion fruit-growing district is about midway between Summerland and Wenatchee, being 100 miles south of here and 96 miles north of the town of Wenatchee, and is in the Okanagan irrigation project of the United States, the ultimate cost of which scheme will be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

Okmag shipped its first car of apples in 1913 and this year its estimated export will be 1400 cars. Mr. E. M. Adams, a prominent orchardist of that district, who was in charge of the exhibit, said the orchards averaged twelve acres in extent, the trees being usually planted fifty to the acre, though a few put in as many as sixty.

Careful attention to the orchards has, in Mr. Adams' opinion, achieved the district's remarkable success. During the winter all excess wood is pruned away so that the sunlight may not be excluded. Early in the spring, sprays are applied and continued at regular intervals into the summer so as to prevent any possible injury from insects or fungus growths.

As soon as the apples have formed the thinning process begins, all ill-shaped apples, and also the surplus fruit which the tree would be unable to mature, being removed. The result is good-sized and well shaped apples, and in many orchards the yield grades as high as 60 per cent. extra fancy.

MAKING USE OF APPLE WASTE

Before the war great quantities of what is known as apple waste were shipped from Eastern Canada to England, France, Holland and Germany, where it was manufactured into various products and shipped to the markets of all parts of the world.

The war put an end to this trade and Canada is now taking care of this waste herself. This material comprises scrubby fruit, windfalls and peelings and cores. A number of useful products are obtained.

The plodder often makes more progress than the rapid worker who has to hurry to make up for wasted time.

ARE BUILDING UP WONDERFUL FLOCK AT SIDNEY STATION

World's Record Egg Production Broken—Wyandotte is Breed Kept.

In spite of all that has been said about ultimately weakening the strain by breeding flocks for egg laying capacity, the superintendent of the station at Sidney, B.C., of the Dominion Experimental Farms, in his report for 1921, says that by selecting the best layers of the flock, and breeding only from these high producers, it is possible to build up flocks of still greater worth from the standpoint of production.

Only males of the highest producing strain have been used at the station, and several hens of great merit have been the outcome. This policy has been followed for a number of years and, as a consequence, last year one hen broke all records at the station by producing 307 eggs as a pullet, and the flock quite nearly approaches an average of 200 eggs per hen per year.

White Wyandottes are kept at the station because of their exceeding popularity on Vancouver Island.

The development of high producing strains was commenced in 1916, and a hen that herself produced 261 eggs in her pullet year has six daughters that have shown in their pullet year, respectively 274, 214, 300, 292, 243 and 201 eggs.

Pedigrees are given in the report in genealogical form of the males used, and also a number of production tables. The records for five years of the best ten pullets show an upward trend, graduating from 2,462 eggs in 1916-17 to 2,824 eggs in 1920-21.

The many poultry experiments being conducted at this station include the testing of electric incubators. Relative to brooding the statement is made that for the small flock no device can compete with the mother hen, but for the up-to-date commercial poultry plant the hen as a brooder has little value.

In a test for meat production in crates, carried on for two years, the most satisfactory ration has proved to be equal parts of fine ground oats and white middlings mixed with sour milk and fed liberally twice a day. Commercial feeds are under rigorous test. Tables detailing the feed cost of producing eggs are given for each of three years.

Pullets have proved much superior to hens in egg production, but from the breeding standpoint hens are superior to pullets. A test as to when chicks should be hatched for the most profitable egg production shows that, in keeping with the experience of many poultrymen, April is the best month. Other information of importance to poultrymen is given in the report, which can be had at the station or of the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

"WHERE LIGHTS ARE LOW"

Superlatives are justified in describing "Where Lights Are Low," Sessue Hayakawa's new starring vehicle released by R-C Pictures Corporation and screened for the first time at the Rialto theatre on Friday and Saturday. The noted Japanese-American picture star, who undoubtedly ranks at the top among dramatic artists of the screen, has just the sort of role for which his unusual talents best fit him.

Adapted from the novel "East is East" by Lloyd Osborne, "Where Lights Are Low" unravels a story of adventure and romance in which the noted Japanese-American star is seen at his absolute best in just the sort of role for which his exceptional talents are best suited. Mr. Hayakawa interprets the role of a Chinese prince who is in love with the daughter of a gardener on his uncle's estate and his experiences in winning her form the background for a story of vivid color and exceptional dramatic interest. Gloria Payton plays the part of the Chinese maiden with high artistry.

This is the 15th Christmas season in which A. B. Elliott has been serving the people of Summerland. Fourteen years ago last August, Mr. Elliott opened his store at the foot of Shaughnessy avenue, and claims that he has saved dollars for the public ever since. This week he is celebrating the fourteenth anniversary by putting on a sale, in which special prices on all lines except groceries are given.

PASSING EVENTS
LOCAL, PERSONAL, SOCIAL & OTHERWISE

Because of the cold weather, the C. P. R. has put an embargo on all fruit shipments.

The stores of Summerland will remain open on Thursday afternoon of next week and also on Friday evening.

In his advertisement this week, A. J. Beer is making a number of offers that are very suitable as practical Christmas gifts.

Mr. H. Foreman, of the Broder Canning Co., and Mrs. Foreman, went out on last Thursday's train to their home in Vancouver.

Mr. J. R. Davey, who was reported last week to be preparing to build a bakery shop here, has decided to do nothing in that line at present.

A new Presbyterian church, the first church to be opened in Oliver, was formally opened on Monday of last week. Rev. Mr. Feir, who has been serving in that district, is the pastor.

Work at the night school, being held in the new Central building, is progressing well. In the commercial department, under the tuition of R. Pollock and A. H. Steven, there are 26 pupils, and 22 pupils are taking carpentry, joinery and cabinet work under the direction of W. Cumliffe.

We need your help and boost. But don't crowd at the door—Empire Hall is large. 774-6

For several days this week the westbound train has been arriving here late, because of the damage done to the track by the wreck at Chute Lake. On Monday the train was about six hours behind schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Snider are leaving on Saturday for Vancouver, where they will spend the holidays with their daughters, Mrs. McPherson and Miss Snider. After Christmas they will go to California, where they will remain for a couple of months.

Mr. J. J. Mitchell was a visitor recently to Myren Camp, having located at Faulder the household effects of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mayne, and attended to the unloading at Myren. Mr. and Mrs. Mayne have moved from Mineola to the latter place, where he will be in charge of the operations of the Summerland Lumber Co., Ltd., there.

G. W. V. A. assure you of a good time and good music Monday night, January 1st. 774-6

Mrs. R. M. Ross and her son Donald, are leaving tomorrow, Friday, for Castlegar, where Mrs. Ross will remain for some weeks at the home of her son, Mr. George M. Ross. After the holidays Donald will go to Vancouver, where he proposes taking a course in telegraphy. During their absence Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hayes will occupy the Ross cottage.

Natalie Milne, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Milne, was quite badly burned on Friday. She and a number of other girls had just been served with hot soup at the Central school, and while moving about, one of the dishes was spilled on her neck and chest. First aid was given by the teachers and later the doctor dressed her burns.

FREIGHT TRAIN WAS WRECKED

Penticton.—A Kettle Valley railway westbound freight train of 24 cars was wrecked on Sunday night, a short distance east of Chute Lake. The engine and tender and nine cars were derailed, the engine being thrown onto its side on one side of the track, while the cars are said to be piled up indiscriminately on the other side. Engineer Carney, Fireman Tombs and Headbrakesman Mahoney are all reported to have had narrow escapes, but came through without serious injuries.

The accident occurred, it is believed, through a flange on the engine striking the fog of a switch, but the railway officials are not prepared to make any definite statement regarding this until an investigation has been held. After the smash, however, Engineer Carney is stated to have found himself close to the smokestack of the engine, while the fireman was safely thrown onto the snow. Brakeman Mahoney, who was riding on the engine at the time, suffered a slight scald on the face and was picked up, it is reported, from under some portion of the engine.

Among the freight cars were four loaded with lead and spelter, and it is stated, these cars burst open, with the result that the contents are spread around in the snow for a considerable distance in all directions.

The Summerland Hospital Society

The Board of Directors of the Summerland Hospital Society wish to draw the attention of the citizens to the situation regarding hospital finances.

The number of patients treated during the last two months and the number of prospective patients are so small that it has become necessary to reduce the staff.

Fewer patients means less income and unless outstanding accounts are paid the public will be called upon to decide whether to close the institution or find some other means of financing.

Traves Heard at Institute Meeting

Mr. C. W. Traves, provincial poultry instructor for the interior, gave a very instructive and interesting informal talk to the fruit growers assembled at the Farmers' Institute meeting last evening.

During his discourse and the general discussion which followed, the poultry business was pretty thoroughly covered. Phases of the business dealt with included breeding stock, laying stock, poultry houses and their economical layout, feeding and marketing.

With a properly laid-out and equipped poultry house, a flock of 500 birds may be attended to with two hours' labor daily.

With respect to marketing, Mr. Traves assured his hearers that there was no danger of over production. The reorganization of the poultry association here was up before the meeting, but was laid over until January. Mr. Traves suggested that the local association link up with the central exchange, which is doing much for B. C. poultrymen as a whole.

Mrs. W. C. W. Fosbery told in an interesting way of the success she had met with in poultry-keeping. Raising her flock of young chicks by means of an electric brooder, Mrs. Fosbery had 190 pullets. In November their egg production was sold for $85, while $25.55 was the total feeding bill. She hopes to have well over $100 clear this month.

MESSAGE HAS LESSON FOR B.C. FRUIT GROWERS

rushed to market during the months of flush production, none of the salesmen knowing how much the market will consume without collapse and, as a result, they break their own prices. Instead of this system, or lack of it, the product should be merchandised, and in merchandising there are steps.

1. Grading the products to improve the quality. "We grade our products more strictly than the state government ever dreamed of imposing on us; then we stand behind our brand," he said.

2. Work out the right kind of package. California prunes were first sold in 25-lb. boxes, which were unattractive in appearance and did not encourage consumption. Various packages were tested, and it was found that the 2-lb. carton appealed most to the consumers. California butter is put up in everything from one-quarter pound packages to eight-pound packages, to satisfy all shades of demand. By packing apples carefully in boxes, California had captured the New York apple market because New York growers insisted upon selling their better flavored apples in barrels, which consumers do not want. Mr. Sapiro then ridiculed the package in which Canadian cheese is placed on the market, which, he said, "only Sampson could handle gracefully."

Keep Summer Prices Up.

3. Extend your markets. (a) By time. Distribute the marketing over the year. Over half the eggs in California are laid in three months. When these eggs were dumped on the market the price during this period of flush production would be about 10 cents a dozen. The poultrymen organized and put their surplus eggs in cold storage. They kept the summer price up to 20 cents, and were able to borrow 17 cents a dozen on the eggs in storage as an advance payment to the producers. When these storage eggs were fed on the market during the non-producing months, a further 14 to 16 cents net was realized for the producers. "You throw cheese on the market as we throw eggs, and the dealers let you break your own markets," said the speaker. "The man who carries a product over is absolutely the man who fixes the price of any imperishable product." He mentioned that there are now over 20,000,000 pounds of Canadian cheese in storage at less than 14 1/2 cents a pound. Now the price has been advanced to over 25 cents for the benefit of the dealers. "The storage game is the safest game in all dairy industry," advised Mr. Sapiro. "To handle this problem you have to organize the whole commodity." (b) Extend markets by place. California oranges were once sold in fourteen cities. They are now sold in every city of America, exclusive of Florida. Prune sales are being pushed in Europe. The co-operative association is obliged to sell the full crop. The dealer has to sell only what he buys. Hence the co-operatives are the only ones who will ever saturate the market. (c) Extend markets by increasing consumption as through advertising campaigns. (d) By encouraging constant use instead of occasional as has been done by raisins. California co-operatives will spend $4,000,000 on advertising this year; and get back $10 for every one spent." He added: "If we had your wonderful cheese in California, the whole world would know about it."

4. Control the flow of supply, so that the market will never be over-supplied.

5. Make prices depend on supply at point of consumption, not at point of production. Cheese is sold on the basis of supply in Canada, forgetting the 12 months' consumption by 50,000,000 people in Britain.

"If you get all of this, all that is necessary is the technique of organization," stated the speaker. This he defined as follows:

- 1. Organize by the commodity alone.
2. Make it non-speculative. Don't handle a pound of produce for the outsider.
3. Democratic in control. One man one vote, one factory one vote.
4. Avoid sectional control. The directors should be geographically representative.
5. Have a written contract for a term of years.
6. Grade and pool by grades.
7. A method of finance, such as provisions for advancing money on produce held.
8. Do not even start a pool until a big percentage of the entire industry can be controlled.
9. Make contracts enforceable. "We make it worse than the measles to break a co-operative contract in California," said Mr. Sapiro.

The cost of heating has greatly exceeded all expectations and the board has taken the matter up with the manufacturers of the heating system, feeling satisfied that some changes must be made before the plant can be considered satisfactory. It is stated that twenty-one tons of coal have been burned in the last two months.

"They Don't Answer"

When the telephone operator says, "They don't answer," it is after sincere endeavor to get your party. She cannot compel an answer.

The party called may be unwilling to leave a particular household duty—may be in another part of the home beyond closed doors—may be chatting with a neighbor—may be marketing—may be slow in answering. Strange, but true, calls are sometimes designedly unanswered.

Telephone records show that the great majority of "don't answer" reports come from residence calls. In business, where it is a matter of dollars and cents, it is always the assigned duty of some one to be within sound of the telephone bell.

"They don't answer" is the statement of a situation absolutely beyond the control of the telephone operator.

Board of Control Plan Not Workable Macklin Advises Committee

Shippers Fail to Endorse Growers' Plan—Representatives of Growers and Shippers Confer—Shippers to be Asked to Put Price on Their Interests.

That an effort should be made to organize a central selling agency for the coming year instead of working for one season through the board of control, would appear to be the drift of events since the Kelowna meeting. Dr. Macklin, with whom the growers' committee has been in conference, strongly urges the whole-hearted support of the entire community. This he considered absolutely essential and obtainable.

Mr. F. E. R. Wollaston, chairman of the fruit-growers' committee, has issued the first report on the work of that committee, a copy of which has been received by The Review.

The committee was in session throughout last week and considers it in the general interest to report on developments and its proceedings. Mr. Kinghorn, as chairman of the Kelowna convention, attended and presented the records of the convention.

The committee first took into its consideration methods of operating a board of control, including the matter of contracts.

Later in the week the committee met Dr. Macklin in three private sessions, including one with representatives of the bank and once in a general meeting. There was also a joint meeting with the shippers' committee.

At the shippers' meeting of Dec. 13th, which the growers' committee attended by invitation, their chairman, Mr. Doberer, as their delegate to Kelowna, reported the proceedings of the Kelowna convention and recommended the adoption of the resolution. The shippers, however, failed to endorse it. They then appointed a committee of seven to confer with the growers' committee. The two committees met on the 14th, and the shipper representatives stated their individual views. A majority were strongly opposed to a temporary board of control, and none present favored it. Their attitude toward a central selling agency, with the present shippers operating only as packers, was much the same.

A third alternative was then introduced, on the principle of a straight co-operative packing and selling organization owned outright by the growers. The answers of the shippers, made on the assumption that they support it, differed. Several were quite prepared to sell out on an equitable basis, others were not able to answer for their organizations without consultation.

The shippers agreed to the proposal that the growers' committee for its confidential information, ask all shippers as to their willingness to name a price on their interests, subject to arbitration, the replies to be received by the end of December.

Dr. Macklin put himself very fully at the committee's service. He expressed his very strong conviction that, for permanent success in marketing, a selling organization must give the best possible service to the consumer. He considered it not only inexpedient but impossible to carry out a policy of sound merchandising under a combination of growers and shippers with necessarily divergent interests. He was quite sure that the proposed board of control would be a failure in consequence of dual interests and was confident that the necessary co-operative system could be as readily created now as a year later, and strongly recommended that the whole-hearted support of the community and not of the growers alone be enlisted; this support he considered absolutely essential and obtainable.

Mr. Wollaston's report concludes thus: "In view of the attitude of the shippers and of Dr. Macklin's advice, your committee purposes to continue investigations, paying particular attention to the principle of complete co-operation, both in packing and marketing.

"The members of your committee realize more and more strongly the magnitude of the problems before them, and of the great responsibility that has been placed upon them.

"Your committee will not lose time, but have no intention of making a hasty decision.

"Any expression of opinion from your district will be of the utmost value in guiding your committee in further deliberations."

LITTLE INTEREST YET IN MUN. ELECTIONS

Little interest is being manifested in the approaching annual municipal election, but this is not unusual for Summerland, as it is not until after Christmas that there is anything heard on this subject.

Two school trustees retire this year, these being Messrs. Ritchie and Darke. It is not unlikely that they will be willing to accept nomination for another two-year term.

Though none of the members of the council have committed themselves, it is safe to predict that all will accept nomination for another year, if satisfied that their services are desired.

ASKS EARLY APPLICATION ANTI-DUMPING

Provincial Government Makes Request of Ottawa to Protect B. C. Fruit Growers.

By a resolution submitted by Dr. K. C. MacDonald the provincial government is calling upon the Minister of Customs to invoke the existing legislation early enough in the season to protect the British Columbia fruit industry from competition from American fruit in the Canadian markets. This is in line with the resolution of the select committee on agriculture, which was submitted to the House.

The committee's resolution was as follows: "Whereas, the fruit industry is of paramount interest to British Columbia;

"And whereas all reasonable precaution should be taken to prevent the dumping of foreign fruit on the Canadian market, thereby demoralizing the natural markets of the fruit growers of this province;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Honorable the Minister of Customs for Canada be respectfully urged to put into complete operation the legislation passed by the Dominion government at its last session, for the safeguarding of the Canadian fruit growers, sufficiently early in the year to prevent the dumping of fruit on the Canadian market;

"And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the prime minister, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King; the Hon. Jacques Bureau, minister of customs; Hon. Dr. King, minister of public works, and Hon. Senator Bostock, the speaker of the senate."

Both sides of the legislature manifested enthusiasm for federal fruit anti-dumping legislation.

YELLOW APPLES ARE PREFERRED

Creston.—Twelve dollars a box for pears and $11 a box for apples is the new high mark in selling prices for Canadian fruit in the Old Country. The record was established by Robert Stark, of Creston, whose prize-winning Clairgeau pears and Cox Orange apples took first prize at the recent Imperial Fruit Show at the Crystal Palace, London. His fruit fetched these prices in half-dozen lots at the close of the big British exhibition. Word to this effect has reached here by mail from the auction firm entrusted with the sale of the Creston exhibition fruit.

Other Creston Cox's Orange that were not in the prize money class sold as high as $6.50 per box and, also some boxes of the Winter Banana variety, with $6.25 the top price for Spitzenbergs.

The bright red apples, which are such favorites with both Canadian and United States consumers, do not meet with favor with the British buyer and some very choice McIntosh Reds sold as low as $3.75, the lowest price fetched by any variety.

Between the sale of his exhibition fruit and prize money, Robert Stark made over $6000 in cash, as well as two gold medals and a bronze one. This was the best showing of any individual exhibitor at the Imperial Apple Show this year.

DICKSON—RICE

A quiet wedding took place at St. Andrew's manse, December 14th, when Mrs. Adelia Ann Rice became the bride of Mr. David Dickson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickson are well-known in Summerland, both having been employees of the municipality for some years, and there are many who will wish them much happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will reside in Victoria Gardens.

TROUT CREEK FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Their last meeting of the year was held by the Trout Creek Farmers' Institute last week at the home of the president, Mr. Magnus Tait. In spite of the extreme weather there was a good attendance.

An accumulation of correspondence was dealt with. A challenge from the Summerland Farmers' Institute for a debate, to be held in April next, was accepted and referred to the program committee for the selection of a suitable subject.

The program called for a discussion on municipal problems and the reeve and councillors were invited to be present. Two of the councillors who had promised to be present were prevented from doing so owing to car trouble, but Reeve Campbell went down on horseback. His presence was very much appreciated and after a lengthy discussion on many subjects of vital importance to the district the reeve was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for the keen interest he had taken.

Mr. S. F. Sharp, chairman of the school board, answered several questions relating to school affairs and at the conclusion of the meeting the hostess very kindly served coffee and cake.

B.C.F.G.A. CONVENTION AT KELOWNA JAN. 17-19

The annual convention of the B.C. F.G.A. is to be held at Kelowna on January 17, 18 and 19. It will be a "genuine, old-fashioned fruit growers' revival meeting," according to the advance notices.

G. E. McIntosh, Dominion fruit commissioner, and J. H. Ruddick, Dominion dairy and cold storage commissioner, will be among the speakers. F. M. Clement, dean of agriculture, University of B.C., will give a talk on the subject "The Evolution of a Marketing System."

Big Independents Are Willing to Quit Valley In Interests of Growers

Shippers Realizing Organization is Essential Will Sell Out to New Co-operative Organization—Plan of Financing Outlined.

Prospects are very encouraging for a satisfactory organization of fruit growers for the marketing of next season's crop, according to Mr. Matt G. Wilson, president of the Summerland Fruit Union, who has just returned from Vernon.

Not only are the members of the growers' committee working hard and with considerable progress, but the shipping concerns are also busy and their movement is along lines that will be acceptable to the growers. The O. U. G. is taking an active interest in the movement and is apparently willing to merge itself in a larger organization, and all the larger independent houses agree with the O. U. G. that the merging of the shipping houses of the Okanagan and Kootenay must be accomplished.

A plan that is being favored by the shippers is the formation of a large co-operative concern which would take over the buildings and other property of the various co-operative concerns, which would include that of the Summerland Storage Company, and also of the different independent shippers. Present owners would be paid from capital received through an issue of serial debentures which it is proposed to ask the government to guarantee. By making the loan on serial bonds a certain amount would be retired each year and it is claimed a very small deduction per box of fruit would be sufficient for this purpose. When the debentures are retired the growers would own outright the packing plants of the various fruit centres.

It is proposed that the prices paid be fixed by arbitration. Through this plan it will be possible for the growers to have the one central selling agency which they desire, instead of operating next year through a board of control as at first proposed.

vice to Paradise Flat, it was stated that one of the citizens there was watering quite a herd of cattle without paying extra for domestic water service. The clerk was instructed to advise him that a charge would be made for all over four head during the season of pumping.

The building of a roadway out of the cemetery will be left over until spring.

The council gave approval to plans for a new telephone line along the road from Trout Creek bridge to S. F. Sharp's corner. This new bit of line is being built as a link in the Government Telephone line, which is being re-built along the lakeshore and through the municipality. This new line will also carry the wires of the Okanagan Telephone Company and provision was made for the Summerland Telephone Co.'s lines to go on these new poles. The council asked that a pole at Jas. Gartrell's corner be put further back from the travelled road.

A suggestion from the Peachland Irrigation District that the several water districts of the Valley organize, was favorably received, but any decision on the matter was left over until a later meeting. The opinion seemed to be that it would be desirable to have an occasional informal meeting, but any organization requiring considerable annual dues or other expenses would not be endorsed.

Claims of A. Biagoni for extra work on the Garnett Valley dam, including a larger measurement of earth than was named in the contract, were again before the council, and it was mutually agreed that a payment to him of $100 would close the account.

The Summerland Development Co., in a strongly worded letter, complained of the fact that irrigation connection had not yet been given Lots 24, 25, 26 and 27, in District Lot 675, small lots purchased by J. Tait, from the Development Co. several years ago. The letter stated that because of this the company had to repurchase the lots at the last tax sale and that Mr. Tait had made claim for losses totalling $533, being $124 for trees, etc., and $409 loss on a tomato plot planted out this year. The letter intimated that action would be taken against every member of the council for dereliction of duty. The matter was referred to the 1923 council. Judging from the discussion, it would seem that the idea of the present council is to give this and adjacent properties connection with the irrigation system next spring.

The offer from J. J. Blewett of $50 for two tax sale lots in Peach Orchard, was accepted. E. Thomas and W. M. Jenkinson were given electric light connection with the Giant's Head road line. The council will meet again on Saturday afternoon of this week to clear up the business of the year.

Discovery of two huge lakes of oil near Point Barrow, the most northerly point on the American continent, and the mapping out of an oil belt extending from the Mackenzie River in Canada to Siberia, was reported by Alexander Malcolm Smith, noted Arctic explorer and traveller, at Seattle.

BALMY BREEZES CHANGE WEATHER

The southerly breezes which started in early in the week have brought back more acceptable weather. During several nights since the 11th of December, the thermometer dropped to zero or slightly below, according to Experimental Farm reports. The lowest was on the morning of Dec. 11th, when it was five below.

For the last few days the thermometer has been around freezing point, and today what little snow is on the ground is melting rapidly, especially on the lower levels.

The Grand Finale

MEMORIAL FUND IS INCREASING

Twenty-two dollars and eighty cents has been added to the Citizens' Memorial fund. This was half the net proceeds of the sports program held at Crescent Beach on June 3rd. After paying up the accounts the G. W. V. A. committee had on hand, $45.55, and as arranged, half the amount goes to the memorial fund, of which the reeve and the president of the G. W. V. A. are trustees, and a cheque for the above amount was deposited last week to the credit of the fund.

SUMMERLAND AND B. C. F. G. A.

Is Summerland to take second place in membership in the B. C. F. G. A.? If so, this will be the first time, but it must not be. For many years Summerland has been the strongest district, of which there are now twenty-five. The December bulletin shows Summerland with a total membership of 220, with Keating a close second, 216. This latter district came pretty nearly putting Summerland into second position a year ago.
Penticton is also making a fight for premier place.

The B. C. F. G. A. is doing a splendid work for the fruitgrowers of this province and they deserve your dollar. Phone or see the local director, Mr. R. V. Agur, who has been working hard to keep his district in the lead. You will regret it if your failure to pay your 1922 membership fee puts your district in second or third position.

LET'S GET ACQUAINTED.

The other day we discovered, by chance, that one of our citizens had talent or training along a line which would be of special value at times to the publishers of a newspaper. No doubt, there are others in our midst who could be called into service occasionally to the advantage of The Review, and to some profit to the citizens whose services were utilized.

Perhaps there are some who have had experience in newspaper reporting, writing of advertisements, selling of newspaper space or soliciting subscriptions, whose services could be used by the publishers of this newspaper.

If there are any such, we would be glad to have their names, so that when we require such help we would know where to look for it.

HEALTH LAWS IN OUR SCHOOLS

If good is to come out of the Department of Health regulations which are supposed to be in force in connection with school attendance of a child having any of the contagious diseases, then should not every school be under the supervision of a district nurse, whose duty it should be to examine every scholar's general health condition at least once a fortnight to see that he or she is not the unconscious bearer of measles, chicken-pox and the like?

As now enforced the health regulations in this respect are a farce. Parents are required to report a child they know or suspect of having one of these contagious diseases. But how many do, or will? While most parents are as pleased as not to have their children "take" the measles and kindred ailments, and few think of calling in a doctor in such cases, it frequently happens that a school is well along in the epidemic stage with one of these complaints before the medical officer learns anything about it. Then, if a parent, who wishes to comply with the intent of the Act, reports to the medical officer, his child or children are penalized by being kept out of school for the required two or more weeks, depending on the "run" of the illness and the number afflicted, while at school there may be many scholars who "show the marks," yet have not been kept out of school except for a day or two when "a cold with spots is all they had."

One cannot blame parents for not wishing to keep their children out of school. But the point is, if the regulations are not enforced on all, why on any? And how can there be general enforcement if there is not some disinterested person in the school at regular intervals, such as a district nurse, whose duty it should be to guard the health of the school, regardless of parents' wishes.—Okanagan Commoner.

SCATTERING POPULATION.

J. M. Humphrey, a Malakwa farmer, who, for the last two or three years has been prominent in the United Farmer movement in British Columbia, is now interesting himself in the government's immigration policy, because he believes that the present policy of settlement of new areas will have a tendency to increase our tax burden. He suggests that idle land in the settled districts be populated first.

Mr. Humphrey's point is well taken. There is a lot of unoccupied land in the settled and partially settled districts of the province, good land, too, and every one of these districts already enjoys the facilities of railway transportation, roads, schools, churches and other recognized necessities. The filling up of these areas would mean a greater population among whom to divide the heavy burden of taxation. The settlement of new areas, on the other hand, means an increase of taxation, for it means an increase in the debt of the province through the provision of such facilities as schools, roads and bridges. And the pioneers of the new settlement will contribute little in taxes until their homesteads are developed, while development in the settled areas would be almost immediate.

No one can object to the development of the whole province, but it would be better policy to first fill up our areas enjoying facilities for living under normal conditions, areas in which social intercourse is possible, where families can be brought up under favorable conditions and where products can be put on the market without the great cost in labor or money of long hauls.—Kamloops Telegram.

CARS REQUIRE EXTRA CARE IN WINTER

Expert Gives Valuable Advice to Those Who Must Use Motors in Cold Weather.

Timely advice and suggestions to owners on how to secure maximum efficiency from their cars during the winter months is given by a motor car expert.

"Winter care is more than a matter of proper attention to the cooling system and the use of anti-freeze mixtures, important though these matters may be, he says. "Since the cooling system is highly important, however, we will consider it first.
Before any anti-freeze solution is placed in the water circulating system, the latter should be inspected and repairs made if necessary. It is usually a good plan to replace hose connections at this time of year.

"No anti-freeze compounds containing calcium chloride or other similar compounds should be used as they corrode the inside of the radiator. The only satisfactory solution we know of is alcohol and water. Denatured alcohol is preferable, although wood alcohol can be used.
Wood alcohol often contains free ac-etic acid, and should never be used unless it is known to be free from acid. If acid is present, damage to the radiator will result.

ent proportioned mixtures, and temperatures at which each solution will begin to freeze: Denatured alcohol—10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 per cent.
Water—90, 80, 70, 60 and 50 per cent. Will begin to freeze at degree F.—27, 19, 10; 2 below zero, 18 below zero.

"Glycerine is sometimes used with alcohol to keep the amount of alcohol evaporated at a minimum. However, it is rather expensive and also has a tendency to damage the rubber hose connections. If glycerine is used mix in equal proportions with alcohol and use this mixture in the same percentage as specified for alcohol in the foregoing table.

"It is necessary to add alcohol from time to time to replace what is lost by evaporation. Therefore, when filling the radiator, use a slightly larger percentage of alcohol than specified for alcohol left in the radiator.

"In order to allow the motor to run warmer than it otherwise would, the fan belt may be loosened during the winter months, thus reducing the flow of air through the radiator.

"Radiator and hood covers should be used. By using a radiator cover that is adjustable a large part of the radiator can be covered while the motor is warming up, and the opening can then be increased as it warms up. A hood cover prevents the engine from cooling off rapidly when stopped, thereby making it easier to re-start.

"Due to the low gravity gasoline now being used, it is essential, especially in cold weather, to get as much heat as possible in the mixture to vaporize the gasoline properly and to prevent condensation. Radiator and hood covers are a help in this direction. Where a hot-spot in the manifold is used and is controlled by a valve, care should be exercised to see that the valve is open for cold weather driving. In starting the motor, make sure that the choke is closed completely until the motor starts. Then open it slightly until the motor warms up, but do not have it even partially closed longer than is necessary.

"Racing a cold motor will not warm it up; retard the spark and let the engine idle slowly.

"Thought should be given to the lubricating system. Oil should be drained more frequently from the motor in winter than in summer.
Cold temperature aggravates the dilution of oil by raw fuel, especially when the choke is kept closed too long. The owner should not start to drive his car until the motor has been turning over at a low rate of speed long enough to get the oil into all of the working parts.

"Condensation in the cylinders due to cold weather, often results in the mixing of the gasoline with the oil.
During winter driving, when the car is operated every day, the oil should be changed about every 500 miles, but it is advisable to change the oil every month during winter driving regardless of when fresh oil was last added. This will guard against excessive wear of the bearings or cylinder walls. The oil pan should be removed and washed out with kerosene occasionally in order to prevent the accumulation of sediment which might have a detrimental effect upon the bearings.

"On the subject of the storage battery it may be said that in cold weather the capacity and voltage of a battery are less than at normal temperatures. The engine requires more cranking because of the incomplete carburization of the fuel when the motor is cold.

"Because of the heavier drain on the battery and its decreased efficiency in the winter, the energy taken from the battery should be conserved as much as possible. If the clutch is thrown out when starting the motor, it will prevent unnecessary turning of gears through con-gealed oil in the transmission and consequently reduce the load placed on the starting motor and battery.

"The owner should also see that all connections are tight throughout the electric system and that no wires are grounded or shorted. The battery should be tested with a hydrometer every two weeks; and if on any two consecutive tests the specific gravity is 1200 or under, remove the battery from the car, have it charged, and see that the generator is charging properly. When adding distilled water to the battery in freezing temperature, make sure that the motor is immediately run for a short time to charge the battery.
This will mix the added water with acid and prevent freezing.

"If a battery is not properly charged, freezing will result and the specific gravity, therefore, should be frequently checked. The following table will be found a convenient reference: Specific gravity—1.280,
1.250, 1.215, 1.180 and 1.150.
Amount of charge—Full, three-quarters, one-half, one-quarter, empty. Freezes at degrees F.—90 below zero, 60, 25, 8 below zero, and 5 above zero.

"A good hot spark is needed for starting in cold weather. Make sure that all electrical connections are tight and clean, that distributor breaker points are clean and opening set to .020 inch, and that spark plug gaps are set to .025 inch.

"Tires should be properly inflated.
If chains are used they should not be too tight. Watch cuts in tires; otherwise water will soon work into these and loosen the tire structure.
Adjust the brakes and fit new linings if necessary. See that the brake shafts and such parts are oiled.
It is highly essential that the steering gear be properly adjusted and that the wheel alignment be correct.
Slippery roads make it important that the brakes and steering mechanism be in the best condition.

"Following the foregoing suggestions will result in fewer complaints and will assist motor car owners in obtaining the greatest degree of satisfaction from winter driving."

INDIANS ARE ENJOYING BETTER LIVING CONDITIONS

This is Claimed as Result of Work of Major Megraw, Inspector of Indian Agencies.

A quarter of a century ago when Major Megraw was editor of the Vernon News, and later as editor of the Hedley Gazette, unconsciously, perhaps, but none the less effectively, he was preparing for the service he is now rendering as superintendent of Indian reserves, by learning firsthand what the Indian lacks and, generally, how to turn his faults into virtues.

Eight years ago when Major Megraw gave up newspaper work to become general adviser of the Indians and spokesman of the Indian Department to the Indians, he found the reserves placed under supervision in some need of a sort of paternal direction and this he has conscientiously given.

He found the Indians lacked everything in the nature of initiative, but many of them showed a willingness to learn provided the right course was taken to teach them. He soon discovered that if the competitive spirit could be aroused in the Indian he became a willing worker. So he suggested to the Indian Department the inauguration of farm competitions in order to bring about the better development of the Indian reserve lands.

The department at once recognized the good points in Major Megraw's recommendation and gave him a free hand to prepare a plan of action.

Three years ago Major Megraw started his farm competitions, giving marks for each branch of field work as well as improved sanitary conditions in and about the homes and the general condition of live stock and farm implements. Substantial cash prizes were given. The Indians responded enthusiastically and each year has seen more farms entered in the competitions, and a vast improvement of general conditions on the farms of many of the reserves.—Okanagan Commoner.

The "Kokanee Glacier Park" is a park reserve recently made by the government of this province in West Kootenay. It is a very beautiful area, contains no less than 30 lakes and has the advantage of being within easy reach of Nelson, from which point there is a motor road right up to the park.

with all men, and holiness, without

ADVERTISE FOR MORE PEOPLE AND CAPITAL

Californians Starting Extensive Campaign—Example British Columbia Might Follow.

The Saturday Evening Post, Literary Digest, and other publications with a large circulation in Canada as well as the States, are carrying double page advertisements costing thousands of dollars, each setting forth the claims of California as a place for people with capital, small or large, to settle in. British Columbia is the California of Canada, and the present tendency of our young people to go to California should make us stop to think whether we are doing enough to attract capital here. There is only one way to get things done—advertise. Advertising costs money. The Boards of Trade are badly handicapped by the apathy of the people with regard to the provision of funds for its work. The following article from the Orland Register explains the origin of the advertising that is getting results for California:

Under the name "Californians Inc." a non-profit corporation organized under the laws of the State, a national advertising campaign for the development of California, initiated in San Francisco last summer, has been started. San Francisco subscribed $400,000 for the purpose, and the opening gun of the effort to attract more people to California, as tourists, investors, settlers and home-seekers, will be a double-page advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post, to be quickly followed by a single page in the Literary Digest, and double-pages in The Century, Harper's, Scribner's, Review of Reviews, World's Work, Atlantic Monthly and the National Geographic Magazine. The Saturday Evening Post advertisement is intended to serve as a general introduction of "Californians Inc." to the world; the other advertisements are designed principally to take care of the first problem which presented itself, that of increasing winter tourist travel to that part of the state lying north of the Tehachapi. Tourists are considered very important, not alone because of the money they spend while passing through, but more importantly because the tourist is a potential settler, home-seeker or investor.

"The preliminary advertising described above will be followed in well ordered sequence by other copy in Eastern newspapers and other magazines and periodicals of proved advertising value. The campaign will be carried on through the winter and into the summer.

"Californians Inc." is the outcome of plans made by a group of San Francisco business men some months ago. Encouraged by an inspiring editorial published in the newspapers of Central and Northern California, wherein unity and progress were urged, this group formulated definite lines of action which so far have been followed with success, which success is largely attributed to the support of the press. These men realized that a great opportunity for development and advertising of the interests of California lay untouched and almost unnoticed before the people of this section of the state. Southern California had already shown, most efficiently and effectively, what could be done by intelligent advertising and publicity. Organization of an informal committee was followed by the appointment of a general committee of 125 by the mayor of San Francisco which included heads of all the business and civic organizations of the city. K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, was elected chairman of what became known as the California Publicity Fund. Dr. B. M. Rastall, a community engineer of national reputation, was employed as director.

"An executive committee, consisting of leading business men of the city, was appointed and then a campaign for funds was begun.

"In a very short time, approximately $400,000 was raised and now the actual campaign has been launched.

"While all of this money has come from business men and firms of San Francisco, the campaign is not for San Francisco alone. Those in charge are proceeding on the theory that San Francisco will profit most by the up-building of the country back of this port. Hence the advertising is for the state and not for San Francisco. And it will be particularly for that portion of the state lying north of the Tehachapi mountains, if for no other reason: that it would be wasteful to duplicate the work already so well done for Southern California by Los Angeles and San Diego.

"Equally as important as the advertising is the necessity of a state-wide organization. The whole problem is one of salesmanship and if, through advertising, customers are brought thither, there must be a sales organization to display and to sell the wares which the state has to offer. Dr. Rastall is engaged in working out the final details for this state-wide organization.

"The advertising campaign will be built on a solid foundation of indisputable fact. The committee has available for this purpose great reservoirs of most useful information compiled by various organizations and institutions, including state and federal, but has found it necessary to undertake a certain amount of original research to meet special needs of the marketable resources and opportunities of the state. It is felt that the organization has no greater responsibility than that of protecting and satisfying customers whom it induces, through advertising, to come to California, a responsibility which cannot be met unless the organization is in possession of all attainable information and is organized to utilize it.

"As the name of the new organization indicates, the whole movement is to be conducted on sound business lines. Every line of advertising copy will be conservatively written, nothing but facts and authoritative information will be disseminated. 'Boosterism' has been eliminated by 'Californians Inc.' which will use only the plain language of the world of good business."

DISHONEST PREACHERS

It is rather a strange subject for me to discuss, and yet it is a subject which is very timely.

Ministers will wince, some will get angry, some unsophisticated preachers will deny that there are dishonest preachers, and the dishonest preachers will pretend to be exceedingly pious, and will hurl their pious bricks at anyone who makes the suggestion.

The fact remains that there are dishonest preachers. We are not referring to men who fail to pay their debts, although there are many preachers who do not understand that an engagement must be kept on the day the note falls due.

We are talking about the blasphemous, premeditatedly dishonest preachers who remain in orthodox pulpits and draw their salaries from orthodox members of the church while they preach rationalism, socialism heresy and anarchy every Sunday.

Any rationalistic preacher who stands in the pulpit and denies the fundamental doctrines of God's infallible Word and continues to draw his salary from the treasury of orthodox churches is dishonest. He is mentally dishonest, morally dishonest, and financially dishonest. He is getting money under false pretenses, is living before the public a lie, and is practicing a fraud upon the congregation.

He is drawing his meat and bread from the pockets of honest, orthodox men and women.

Why isn't he honest enough to resign the pulpit? Why doesn't he go to his own crowd and ask them to give him a crust of bread and clothe his unworthy body. No, he defames God, and demands of God's people that they support him. If that isn't dishonest, then I do not know the meaning of the word.

The time has come when every church in this land composed of honest, concentrated, orthodox Christian men and women should rise and drive from their pulpits such dishonest men.

Send them to the fields to eat grass.

Kick them out of your pulpits; cease to feed and to employ men who deny the infallibility of God's Word, who deny the Deity of Christ, and reject His vicarious atonement.

Drive from the pulpit these dishonest, time-serving, salary-grabbing opportunists.

"Would Wake Up Screaming"

"The Least Sudden Noise or Loud Talking Would Startle Him."

"Up to the age of eight, my boy was a strong, healthy lad, full of life and energy. While playing leap frog one day with some boys of his own age, and, while in a stooped position, a big boy jumped on his back and in falling my boy caught his foot in an iron grating and dislocated his hip. The pain was so great that he fainted and the other boys were so frightened they ran away. For hours he suffered terrible pain and when found and brought home was very weak, with his thigh and leg swollen twice its size. The doctor set the bone but the pain and exposure were too much for the poor boy and he became unconscious. A high fever set in and for weeks he lay between life and death raving for hours at a stretch. One day he opened his eyes and murmured 'Mother,' but this is the only word he could utter he was so weak, but I knew the worst was over. He got stronger but for months was in a nervous condition. The least sudden noise or loud talking would startle him and he would begin trembling. He was quite lame and the swelling still remained. The doctor gave him a tonic and told me to rub the leg with olive oil. This reduced the swelling and took away the lameness, but the nervousness remained. The poor child would waken in the night screaming at the top of his voice. The doctor gave him several different tonics but they were no use. I found a circular about Carnol and it seemed so different from other tonics I had heard of, that I thought I would get a bottle. Three bottles were all that was needed to make my boy like his own self again. It is hard to convince my friends that the change in him now is entirely due to Carnol. Of course I still have to watch him and give him Carnol occasionally but I know that he will soon be as strong again as ever he was."

Mrs. P., Montreal.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

A Secret For Business Success

Wm. Wrigley, Jr. discloses his system of

"THE TIME TO ADVERTISE"

"The time to advertise is—now and—all the time.

The reason for advertising—and the necessity for advertising—is the same yesterday, today and tomorrow.

People have new wants. New babies are born every minute. Old things are worn out. New things must be bought.

These things are going to be bought somewhere. Why not have them bought in your store or have your trademark on them?

Your rent goes on, your store or your factory is open. Why not spread the overhead over as large as possible an output?

By so doing, you can reduce your cost, and you can serve the public by reducing prices or giving better quality or more goods for the same money.

Advertising is an economic and public servant whose benefits should be enjoyed by every manufacturer, merchant or consumer."

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

Mr. R. J. Hogg, who is on the committee of seven appointed at the recent fruit growers' convention held at Kelowna, spent a portion of last week in Vernon in the interest of the growers.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Dorland on Friday with a fair attendance. The meeting was opened with a memorial tribute to the recently deceased faithful member of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. C. K. McDougall, followed by a Christmas reading. Among other business of the afternoon, $10 was voted to be sent to Miss Sproule, W. C. T. U. City Missionary, Vancouver, to be used for Christmas cheer in her work among the poor and unfortunate in the city. Also final arrangements were made for organizing a Loyal Temperance Legion in Peachland, with Mrs. Keyes as superintendent and Miss M. Smith as teacher. The organization meeting is to be held in January. Mrs. Sadler and Mrs. H. McCall were appointed to take charge of the music.

Mrs. Hohensee returned home last week after several weeks spent among friends and relatives in the states and elsewhere.

After a pleasant visit of a couple of days with former friends and acquaintances, Rev. Wm. Scott, former Baptist pastor in Peachland, left to return to Vancouver, where he has been residing for some time.

Rev. H. A. Solly, of Summerland, braved the weather and roads with his auto on Sunday and motored to Peachland to conduct the regular service in the Anglican church.

Mrs. Geo. McBean left last week on a trip to England to spend some weeks visiting friends and relatives and old familiar scenes.

Mr. Harris returned on Monday morning after having spent the week-end at his home in Summerland.

The last days of the deer hunting season saw a number of deer brought out to the front in the form of meat, the recent heavy snowfall having driven them out where the hunters were able to connect with them.

Mrs. A. McKay was a visitor to Kelowna on Monday.

Mr. Adams spent Monday out of town, returning the same evening.

Miss Metcalf returned home Monday evening after a short visit out of town.

Mr. Arthur Henderson received a telegram on Saturday last telling of the serious illness of his father, the Rev. A. Henderson, former pastor of the Methodist church at Peachland for several years. Just as Arthur was about to leave on Sunday morning to catch the westbound K. V. R. train to go to Sardis where his father has been residing for some time now, he received the message telling that his father had passed away.

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

A hunting party, composed of junior members of the Partridge, Williams and Lawrence families, spent a few days in camp at Glen Fir, and report a chilly time up there. Four deer were sighted, but the trigger end of the sportsmen's guns were frozen up and failed to respond to the pull of the fingers. Consequently the game secured a reprieve until next season, and the party drew a blank.

The bazaar held on Saturday last by the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican church, was successful in adding $85 to the treasury of the society. The sale of work produced by the members at their regular meetings, was superintended by Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Rushbury, who did considerable business. A home cookery stall, presided over by Mrs. J. M. Robinson and Mrs. Weaver, was filled with good things and was liberally patronized. Donations for this department were sent in by Mrs. Cross, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Horswill, Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. Sievers, Mrs. Manchester, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Rosser, Mrs. Hancock, Mrs. Languedoc, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Rushbury, Mrs. Coates, Mrs. Partridge, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Devitt, Summerland. A candy stall was attended to by Miss Nessie Rushbury. A magic goose was operated by Miss Gordon and Miss Sievers, and tea was served by Mrs. Coates and Mrs. Watson, tribute being collected from the many patrons by Mrs. McKay. The Rev. H. A. Solly and Mrs. Solly were present, the function being opened by the former.

The annual meeting of the local branch of the B. C. F. G. A. was held in the Unity Club on Tuesday afternoon, about 35 members being present. Mr. Nuttall was in the chair, with W. Armour as secretary. The report of Mr. Morley, respecting the proceedings of the recent meeting at Kelowna, was received and a vote of thanks tendered the Naramata delegate for his services in connection therewith. Mr. W. H. Irwin was appointed provincial director of the association for 1923, and Messrs. Partridge and Irwin as delegates to the annual convention at Kelowna. The election of officers for the coming year was postponed to a further meeting, to be called shortly.

Mr. Andrew George has purchased the Stanley Dicken Ranch and will build on same next spring. This sale is another instance of a transfer without the loss to the district of the vendor, as Mr. Dicken will remain here in residence.

The first piece of construction on the proposed Kamloops-Edmonton highway, the stretch between Mt. Olie and Blackpool, has just been completed. Kamloops has now direct connection by road with Avola. Eventually the road will be continued through the Yellowhead Pass to the prairie, which will be of immense advantage to both B. C. and Alberta.

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Powell's letter in your paper of Dec. 14th, I may tell Mr. Powell that I am neither ashamed of the name I bear, nor yet of the views I expressed in my letter of Dec. 7th.

But if Mr. Powell is not ashamed of his name, it would undoubtedly appear that he is ashamed of the views which he expressed in his letter of Nov. 30th, or he would try to defend them, and not look for an excuse to hide behind.

If Mr. Powell has the interests of the fruit growers at heart, he should not allow a name to stand in the way of doing anything in his power for their betterment. For the fruit growers to know the name of the man who criticized Mr. Powell's letter, will not help to feed and clothe their families or pay their taxes, and neither will O. U. G. propaganda.

I may also say that I did not write that letter as a personal affair to gain favors or popularity, but I wrote it in the interests of the fruit industry. The fruit growers are not so much interested in the name of the man who wrote that letter, as they are in the views which are expressed in it.

It is only too obvious that Mr. Powell is side-stepping, and is endeavoring to divert public attention from the main issue by quibbling over a name. And seeing that my name can in no way help Mr. Powell to defend his own opinions or to criticize mine, I shall again sign myself

FRUIT GROWER.
Peachland.

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—Referring to the letters from Mr. Powell and Fruit Grower, which appeared in your paper recently, I wish to say that I am wholly in accord with the views expressed by Fruit Grower in his letter of Dec. 7th. If I knew who Fruit Grower was, I would take off my hat to him, as his letter was entirely in the interests of the fruit grower. If Mr. Powell was one-half the man Fruit Grower is he would try and defend his letter of Nov. 30th and not look for a hole to crawl into; and I am proud to sign myself

CAMPAIGN TO AID BUSINESS

Penticton merchants will probably be asked shortly to co-operate with the board of trade in staging a campaign to stimulate business. The matter was introduced at the board meeting on Tuesday night by Manager Dawson, of the P. Burns Co.

While the question has not yet been fully canvassed it is believed that the merchants will probably be willing to join with the board in staging a series of dollar days, or lines of goods upon which to offer special bargains. The sale day will then be advertised throughout the whole district and any one coming in on that occasion to shop will by means of a visit to all of the stores participating be able to purchase a wide range of goods at very attractive prices.—Penticton Herald.

If we were to ask those who preferred patronizing out of town stores, the reason for doing so, the answer would invariably be "the stores in this town are not so progressive as those in other towns."
Firstly, this is not so. Secondly, if it were, the blame would rest entirely upon those who shopped out of town.
And we'll anticipate the answer to their question, "why."
No store can be progressive and prosperous unless it receives the co-operation of the people in its town.
If you do not do your buying at Home, how can you expect these stores to be all you demand? It's right up to you if you want your stores here to improve.
Give them the opportunity to do so.

"PECK'S BAD BOY" TO BE SEEN HERE

The long-heralded production, "Peck's Bad Boy," with lovable little Jackie Coogan in the stellar role, will be the feature offering at the Rialto Theatre on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

As the mischievous lad who makes a lot of trouble for his "Pa" and sets a whole town "by the ears," Jackie Coogan is said to give an even more delightful and amusing impersonation than that which brought him fame and fortune in Chaplin's "The Kid."

"Peck's Bad Boy" is an adaptation of the works of the late Governor George Peck. The subtitles were written by that inimitable humorist, Irvin S. Cobb.

SUDDEN DEATH OF REV. A. HENDERSON

Rev. Arthur Henderson is dead. The news of his passing was received here on Sunday and spread rapidly among his many intimate friends, to whom the news of his sudden death came as a shock. It is not many weeks since Mr. Henderson was in Summerland and Peachland, when he seemed to be in excellent health.

For about a year Mr. Henderson has been living at Sardis, where he had purchased a small fruit lot.

On Saturday his sons, Douglas, of Vernon, and Arthur, of Peachland, were advised by wire of his illness, and on Sunday morning a second wire brought the news of his death, which took place Saturday night. Douglas left Vernon by motor and caught a main line train, while Arthur came to Summerland and went out on the noon train on Sunday.

Mr. Henderson was well-known and highly respected throughout the Okanagan, having been a resident of the Valley for many years. His last pastorate was that of the Summerland Methodist church, and because of ill-health he had been compelled to retire. After an extended visit with relatives in Eastern Canada and the States, he returned, much improved in health.

Besides the two sons already mentioned, three daughters survive, Miss Jessie and Mrs. Crawford, both of Toronto, and Miss Cathleen, a nurse-in-training in Chicago.

GRADED DAIRY PRODUCTS NECESSARY

A hopeful view of the outlook for our export trade in dairy products may be taken from the evidence of the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who recently returned from a visit to Great Britain, where he took occasion to enquire as to the relative standing of these on the Old Country market. Addressing a gathering of senior officials of the Live Stock Branch in Ottawa a few days ago, Dr. Grisdale prophesied a big development in dairy products provided our commodities are uniformly graded, are better advertised abroad, and are produced and marketed with a view to meeting the exacting taste of the British consumer. On the latter point, Dr. Grisdale was able to say from his observations that our butter is at a disadvantage as compared with butter from New Zealand and Australia, for the reason that it lacks the uniformity so necessary to secure and maintain an established position on the market.

At the same gathering the dairy and cold storage commissioner, Mr. J. A. Riddick, made the important announcement that, after April 1 next year, it is proposed to grade all dairy products for export. This practice, it is expected, will have a great influence in stabilizing our butter trade, and in maintaining for our cheese the reputation that is now being jeopardized when considered side by side with New Zealand cheese. For some years, cheese from New Zealand, owing to its greater uniformity, has been creeping up on Canadian cheese on the British market and now sells at an even price, and in many cases at a few cents above the price received for fine Canadian. With the system of grading that will go into effect next spring, no further ground should be lost by Canadian cheese, but rather it should again assume the lead that it held for many years.

"I think it looks excellent," is the comment of Mr. P. Phillip, Public Works Engineer, Victoria, in a letter to Mr. J. H. Bowering, school secretary, on the subject of the new Central School building. Mr. Bowering at the request of Mr. Phillip, had sent the department some photographs of the new building.

The Provincial Legislature is considering a measure aimed at preventing persons from having the assistance of a lay friend when presenting cases before an inferior court, when two lawyers reside in the district where the case has to be tried. If this becomes the law of the land a curious anomaly will be established, as any lawyers will be able to assist in the trying of cases before Justices of the Peace, very few of whom are lawyers.

GROWERS WILL HEAR REPORTS

Meeting on Friday Afternoon Will Learn of Progress Toward Organization.

Summerland fruit growers will be given an opportunity tomorrow to hear of the progress that is being made by the growers' committee toward a reorganization of the fruit industry of this province. Under the auspices of the Summerland Farmers' Institute, a public meeting will be held tomorrow, Friday afternoon, particulars of which are announced in another column, when the delegates to the Kelowna convention will make their report.

Mr. R. J. Hogg, of Peachland, who was appointed one of the organization committee by the Kelowna meeting, will be present to tell of the work of that committee. This is a subject of vital importance to every citizen, whether a fruit grower or not and the hall should be packed to capacity.

STORING WATER AS PRECAUTION

Advantage Being Taken of Mild Weather to Fill Reservoir.

Though there was still a fair supply of water in the reservoir following the recent cold spell, advantage is being taken of the mild weather and the increased flow in Trout Creek to carry an additional supply through the flumes to the reservoir. This move, it is explained, is being made against the possibility of a protracted cold spell.

In speaking with Chairman Kirk, of the water committee, with respect to the winter supply of domestic water, he stated to a representative of The Review that there is a heavy underground leak from the reservoir in addition to the amount drawn out through the main for distribution through the system, and unless this can be prevented, it may be advisable to extend the winter pipe farther up the creek in order to obtain additional head.

WEDDING BELLS AT CHRISTMAS

Two Young Couples Start Journey on Sea of Matrimony.

WHITEFORD—BISHOP
St. Stephen's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday forenoon, December 27th, when Miss Ethel May Whiteford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Whiteford, of West Summerland, became the bride of Mr. Alfred Bishop of Vancouver, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. H. A. Solly, while Mrs. Solly presided at the organ.

The bride looked very winsome in a gown of white georgette with accented panels back and front and silver trimmings. She also wore a beautiful veil and wreath of orange blossoms and her shower bouquet was of white and pink carnations. Her attendant, Miss Sue Whiteford, wore a turquoise blue satin with overdress of nylon and hat to match. Her bouquet was pale yellow chrysanthemums and asparagus fern. Miss Margaret Steven acted as little flower girl, and was daintily dressed in a white French embroidered voile with blue and silver girdle and cap to match, while her artistic basket was of white narcissi and asparagus. The groom was attended by Mr. Russell Munn.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Wood, where, after a daintily served luncheon, the usual toasts were pledged and replied to. Numerous wedding presents were in view, and considerable interest was centered in the wedding cake, the decorative effect of which was entirely due to the painstaking effort of Miss Marie Arkell.

The young couple left by automobile early in the afternoon for Peniticon en route to Vancouver, where their future home will be, the

CHILDREN GIVE FINE PROGRAM

Annual Concert by Central School Pupils is Great Success.

A very successful program was staged in the College Gymnasium on Friday evening last, in the form of the children's school concert, which is becoming one of the most popular annual events in the community, and one which throws great credit on both pupils and teaching staff.

The program was opened by a short address from Mr. S. F. Sharp, chairman of the board of trustees, who, in a few words pointed out the objects of the evening, in the training of the children, while the proceeds would be devoted to the improvement of the sports equipment at the schools.

The first item by the children, the opening school chorus, went off splendidly, giving good promise of an enjoyable evening's entertainment.

Each division had some special place on the program, sixteen boys and girls in divisions seven and eight, next giving an especially unique and interesting parol and umbrella drill.

Recitations were given by Misses Marjorie King, Edna Baker, Elva Pirie and Isobel Zimmerman, all giving evidence of fine talent and careful training.

Two splendid drills were given by divisions three and four, the first a scarf drill, by twelve girls and the other, a sword drill by the boys.

The pupils have lately, under the careful leadership of Mr. Alex. Smith, teacher of division two, developed a couple of rousing school yells, which they delivered with hearty enthusiasm.

Probably one of the most striking features of the evening was the staging of several tableaux with choruses, each illustrative of some nursery rhyme, the costumes being remarkably well thought out.

Another very original item was "The Run-away Bear," carried out by divisions five and six, with six dainty eyes in the leading role.

A short sketch by a number of boys took well, and revealed some rather remarkable oratorical ability on the part of at least one of the pupils, Tommie Harris, who acted the part of the manufacturer and travelling salesman of a truly remarkable patent medicine.

The last item on the program was another chorus by the school, bringing to a close a series of events which reflect most creditably on the work our teachers are doing among the children, and display as well a store of exceptional talent among the pupils themselves.

The appreciation of the capacity audience was shown by the hearty clap for the teachers, at the request of the chairman.

bride travelling in an extremely smart navy blue suit with fur trimmings and tailored hat of French blue velvet with silver trimmings.

The groom is a veteran of the Great War and holds an important position under the Soldier Settlement Board. A rousing send-off was extended to the happy couple, who left amid a perfect deluge of rice and confetti.

MILLEY—YULE.
A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening, Dec. 23rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Yule, when his eldest daughter, Mina Elizabeth, became the bride of Mr. Harry Milley, of Myren. Rev. W. A. Alexander officiated, the ceremony being performed beneath a bridal arch was given away by her father, arch and white wedding bells. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Snow, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Josiah Milley. A reception followed the ceremony, a number of relatives and friends being in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Milley will spend their honeymoon at the Coast. Later they will reside at Myren.

PASS BLOCKED TRAINS LATE

Mud Slides in Coquahalla Pass Make Detour via Spence's Bridge Necessary.

The Kettle Valley railway train, due from Vancouver at 7 o'clock Sunday morning did not reach here until nearly midnight that day. The delay was caused by a big mud slide in the Coquahalla Pass, which covered about 150 feet of track. The westbound train ran down to the slide and passengers and baggage were transferred across the slide from one train to the other.

All Kettle Valley trains, both west and east, have been detoured by way of Spence's Bridge and as a result, are arriving several hours behind schedule.

Since Sunday other smaller slides have been keeping the men busy in the pass, but it is hoped that by tonight the track will be again clear.

POSTAGE RATES NOT UNDERSTOOD

Judging from the experience of the local post office authorities, there are many people who are not sufficiently acquainted with the regulations with respect to local postage rates. Quite a number of letters intended for the other local post office or the Rural Route are posted with only a two-cent stamp. Drop letters only, that is, letters addressed to patrons of the same post office, should bear a two-cent stamp. If addressed to the other office or the Rural Route the letter requires a three-cent stamp. It is not uncommon for addressees to be asked to pay two cents postage to make up the one-cent shortage.

FILM COMPANY GOES INTO NORTH FOR BIG SCENES

Rarely does a production company travel as many thousands of miles from its base of operations as was done in photographing "The Heart of the North," which is to be shown at the Bialto Theatre on Friday and Saturday. At great expense beautiful exterior scenes were photographed in Northern Canada, the locale of the story.

As part of the romance develops around an Indian village, special guides were sent out to find a band of Indians to appear in the picture. Fortunately a tribe chanced to be encamped not far from the settlement where the photoplayers had made camp.

Not only are the scenic splendor and quaint natural settings a feature of this intense drama of the Canadian country, but there are many other equally interesting scenes. Among them are several teams of real Eskimo dogs drawing heavily-laden sleighs across the snow and ice, an actual chase of a silver fox that eventually meets its doom in a trap, and the awe-inspiring spectacle of a terrific forest fire.

MEETS INSTANT DEATH WHILE COASTING

Kenneth Gartrell is Victim of Shocking Accident Friday Night.

Clara Calloway in Hospital With Fractured Skull—Condition Encouraging.

Through a shocking coasting accident on Friday night, Kenneth Gartrell met instant death and Clara Calloway now lies in the hospital in a precarious condition.

Along with a number of others, the two shortly before had left the College gymnasium, where Kenneth had taken part in the annual school concert. The coasting was good and they yielded to the temptation for another slide, and went up to the switchback road, where they might have a swift and exhilarating slide down that grade. Kenneth had his bob-sleighs and along with them, with his own sleigh, was Gordon Blewett.

While they were going up the grade, they met Mr. and Mrs. Willis Walter, who were in a Ford truck. Mr. and Mrs. Walter had gone around by the bench north of the Peach Orchard to take some friends home from the concert and stopped on the side of the road, where the road leading out from the Williams and other homes joins the main road. Mr. and Mrs. Walter, Sr., who reside in the A. B. Williams house, were keeping Mr. and Mrs. Willis Walter's baby for them and they stopped there to permit Mrs. Walter to run in for the child.

According to Mr. Walter's story, he stayed in the truck and left the engine running, but when about time for Mrs. Walter to come out, he stopped the engine, thinking the glare of the light would make it more difficult for her to follow the road back to the car. Just at that instant he heard the coasters coming and called to them, but evidently was not heard.

Following closely behind the Gartrell sleigh, Gordon Blewett came along on his own sleigh and, thinking he saw a spill, swerved off the road to the right and at the same instant he first noticed the truck. In making the turn he struck his left leg against the right rear wheel of the truck, with considerable force. He and Mr. Walter reached the rear of the truck about the same time and, striking a match, they were shocked to find Kenneth and Clara lying motionless on their bob-sleigh.

Thinking that Clara was only stunned, Mr. Walter applied snow to her face, but immediately realized that her condition was more serious, and at the same time Gordon discovered that Kenneth had been killed. Their sleigh had been travelling at a terrific speed and there is no doubt that death came instantly to Kenneth. Both had been lying face-down on the track with the left wheel of the truck with his forehead, which was terribly fractured by the impact. The girl had apparently been driven forward by the momentum and struck the chain on the wheel, and rebound-

HAY BILLS AND HORSE POWER

By R. H. Helmer, Superintendent Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C.

The hay supply is always a problem in orchard areas in the irrigated sections of British Columbia. In earlier years, when most orchards were practically all in clean cultivation, large amounts of hay were imported and large amounts of horse power needed. The idea still prevails, with many, that a two-horse team is needed. In new districts where orchards are now being planted and where payments have to be made while the trees are growing, the cost of horse power is an important item. We have discussed with many farmers the matter of the horse power needed on the average ten-acre farm. With proper management it is found that one horse is sufficient under a system whereby one-third of such a farm would be in hay of some kind. The following rotation is suggested as one which would permit of this, and at the same time increase the supply of hay:

Second year vegetables.
Third year annual hay (such as oats and peas).

With this rotation the vegetables follow the soiling crops, while the annual hay follows the vegetables; the soiling crops are planted on the last year's hay ground.

Tractors and horses are expensive luxuries on a farm if you have no work for them. A good, stout horse, weighing 1200 to 1500 lbs., will handle a ten-acre lot very well. If a team is occasionally necessary a horse may be hired for a day or so, or one may co-operate with his neighbors. Every expense we can keep down is that much saved.

ed back almost into her original position on the sleigh.

Dr. Andrew was immediately summoned by phone and relatives of the young people advised of the accident. Both were lifted on to the truck and taken to the home of Mr. W. White, and from there the girl was removed to the hospital, while Kenneth's body was taken home by his father.

At the hospital it was found that the bone over the left eye of Miss Calloway was fractured, but by a delicate operation, which required the insertion of a silver plate, the pressure on the brain was removed, and there are now fair hopes of her ultimate recovery.

The accident had the effect of casting a shadow over the Christmas festivities of the community, and from many a home, quietly enjoying family reunions, sympathetic thoughts went out to the suddenly bereaved parents and family, whose plans were so cruelly interrupted.

FUNERAL VERY WELL ATTENDED

Great Sympathy Shown for Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Gartrell.

On the shoulders of his brother Boy Scouts, the casket enshrouded with the Union Jack, the body of Kenneth Gartrell, on Sunday afternoon, was carried from his home to its last resting place in the Peach Orchard cemetery, followed by an unusually large procession of citizens, young and old. The funeral service was held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Gartrell, Peach Orchard, the service being conducted by Rev. H. A. Solly.

The funeral was under the auspices of the Boy Scouts and the members of the Summerland troupe followed the remains to the graveside, many carrying wreaths and sprays of flowers. One large wreath from the Boy Scouts, was placed on top of the casket, following the brief graveside ceremony, while the others were heaped on the grave mound.

The pall-bearers were Scouts W. Thornber, N. Solly, O. Dunham, J. Dunsdon, R. Elliott and J. MacLachlan, relieved by I. Harris, J. Harris, N. Wright and A. Wilson.

The chief mourners were the parents and brothers, Arthur, Walter and James; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gartrell; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Gartrell (uncle and aunt), and Mary, Willie and David Gartrell, cousins, all of Summerland; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Day (uncle and aunt), and William Day and William Lloyd-Jones (cousins), of Kelowna.

The very large number of floral tributes bore evidence of the sympathy felt for the bereaved parents. Among those who sent wreaths and sprays were: Kenneth's brothers, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Gartrell, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. French, Princeton; Mr. and Mrs. David Lloyd-Jones, Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. Hinkson, Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Day, Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. Will Lloyd-Jones, Kelowna; his brother Scouts; the staff of the Central School, the Lakeside Sunday School, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Mellor, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Walter, Mr. John Gowans, Mrs. H. A. Solly, Mrs. F. A. C. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. J. Downton, Mrs. F. D. Cooper, Mrs. K. Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tullett, Dr. and Mrs. Turner, Mr. Ben Blair and the Misses Blair, and "the neighbors of Peach Orchard."

KENNETH (Contributed)

Slowly the mournful procession wends its way up the road to the silent cemetery overlooking Okanagan Lake, the coffin borne on the shoulders of his youthful scout companions. Overhead a dull lead sky, with heavy dark clouds drifting to the north, adding to the gloom of the last act of the tragedy that has taken place.

The open grave is reached, the coffin, covered by the Union Jack, is gently and with awe and subdued whispering, lowered to the ground. The officiating clergyman takes his stand at the head of the grave to deliver the last sad rite, when suddenly there is a break in the clouds and the setting sun shines forth in all its great splendor, dispelling the surrounding gloom. Coming at such a time, what did it mean to the company surrounding that silent tomb—surely the triumphant announcement that God himself had received the little scout into his own grand army, and in its ranks he was marching on.

And so we say good-by to little Kenneth of the "smiling eye and ready shout." No more shall we hear his joyous voice rising from the waters of the Okanagan, or receive his hearty greeting on the highway or the hills. His call was sudden, but when this comes to every one there is no turning aside.

Yet after all it may be best, just in the happiest, sunniest hour of all the voyage, while eager winds are kissing every sail. On such occasion as this we are reminded of the words of a famous American author:

"The grave hath won thee. I shall hear the bush Of music, and the voices of the young. And life shall pass me in the mantling bluish And the dark tresses to the soft wind flung; But thou no more, with thy sweet voice, shall come To meet me, Absalom."

VOTING DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Returning Officer Gives Qualifications Necessary for Candidature.

Official notice is given in another column by Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon, of the annual municipal elections, when a reve and four councillors must be elected and also two school trustees and a member of the police commission.

It is not uncommon for citizens to nominate persons who can not qualify for election and it would be well for every ratepayer to make himself acquainted with the qualifications required and which are described in the official notice.

Nominations will be received on Monday, Jan. 8th, while the date for balloting is the following Saturday, Jan. 13th.

As has been the practice, a ratepayers' meeting will be held prior to nominations, official notice of which is also given in this number.

BAPTISTS CALL A NEW PASTOR

Maritime Province Man to Begin Ministry Here Next Month.

Rev. Z. L. Fash has accepted a call to become pastor of the Summerland Baptist church and expects to begin his ministry here on the first Sunday in January. Rev. Mr. Fash comes here from Fredericton, the capital of New Brunswick, where he has been pastor of the George Street church. He has also been pastor of the First Baptist church of Charlottetown, the capital of Prince Edward Island, and of a number of other prominent churches in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Fash is a graduate of Acadia University and last year was president of the Maritime Baptist convention.

Rev. James Dunlop, the late pastor of the Summerland Baptist church, is now in St. John, N. B., and has been called to the pastorate of the Central Baptist church of that city. He has not yet accepted.

ONTARIO FRUIT GROWERS LOSE

General Conditions Bring Misfortune to Niagara Fruit Growers.

The Grimsby (Ontario) Independent recently carried the following story:

"During the past season the Niagara district produced probably the largest crop of fruit it has ever done, a large proportion of which was handled through the company. For example, the greatest previous record of carload shipments in one day from the Niagara district was 85; this year the record was 145, of which the company shipped 109."

"It is not too much to say that very few fruit growers, whether within or without the company have had a profitable year, and many have lost money. And it seems to me, from an impartial standpoint, that both classes have a tendency to blame all their troubles on the company, and all kinds of rumors are flying round as to the terrible blunders committed by the management. Undoubtedly the latter have made mistakes, as they will themselves admit, and as indeed one would expect any concern to do that is just beginning to function, as it were.

"One great difference, by the way, between a bunch of business men going into a new company and a bunch of fruit-growers, is the former do not expect much success for several years and if the idea appears a good one, they are inclined to wait and trust their directors, in spite of some mistakes. And I may say that many of Hamilton's most successful companies, big and little, lost money for the first few years, and some bad mistakes were made, but the shareholders, while pointing out some of the mistakes at the annual meetings,

CHRISTMAS TRADE.

Local merchants tell a varying tale of Christmas business. While there are a few who state that business was much below normal, others express themselves as agreeably surprised with the volume of business done, which at some of the stores compared very favorably with previous years.

Cash, according to some of our merchants, did not appear to be as scarce as unsatisfactory fruit marketing conditions might indicate. At least one merchant informed The Review that his cash takings amounted to more than those of a year ago.

Probably at no other Christmas season have we been able to note from the several comments of our merchants a more positive indication of the response to advertising, as in nearly every instance the measure of business done tallied with the amount and efficiency of the store news given their customers through the home paper.

Newspaper reports from Seattle state that Alvo von Alvensleben, the reputed millionaire German, who for several years figured largely in business circles in Vancouver and who made himself obnoxious during the earlier part of the war, is now a humble vendor of dolls in the Sound City. We bet they're German dolls.

Contributors to the correspondence column of The Review occasionally overlook the fact that contributions are not accepted unless accompanied by the name of the contributor. One such letter was received this week from "Ratepayer," and although it might seem that no harm could be done by publishing this without the name of the writer, the established rules must be adhered to, which would explain to the contributor, whoever he or she may be, why the letter is not published.

BENEFIT BY GOOD ROADS

Some Convincing Data Prepared by Federal Authorities on Subject.

Economic benefits to the nation of good roads are set out in a new pamphlet written by A. W. Campbell, chief commissioner of highways for Canada. Data compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics indicate that throughout Canada the cost of carrying agricultural produce is 37 cents per ton mile over dirt roads, 34 cents over gravel roads and 25 cents over macadam roads. The savings effected by good roads are remarkable when these small savings are multiplied by the total tonnage carried. For instance, the commissioner estimates that by improving the status only of improved earth roads all the highways used for marketing wheat in Canada an additional saving of more than $5,000,000 a year could be effected for farmers. Good roads have, too, the advantage of enabling farmers to market at seasons when prices are favorable and not only when roads are in good condition.

The effect of good roads on tourist traffic, on automobile traffic, upon social and moral conditions are also set out by Commissioner Campbell, who says in the introduction to his pamphlet:

"With a total registration in the Dominion approximating a half million owners of automotive vehicles, the necessity of wide improvement of the leading roads of the country is being generally recognized. And the wisdom of framing policies of highway development, having regard to the momentous change in the last few years in the character and amount of traffic now using our roads, is being considered.

"Figures supplied by the different provincial departments of highways indicate that in 1920, about ninety-three per cent of the 447,884 miles of road open to public travel in the Dominion were still without road metal of any kind.

"The urgency of the matter is that bad roads injure pneumatic automotive equipment perhaps as much as traffic injures roads that used to pass as improved. Owners of high-class costly road vehicles object with reason to road taxes in the form of wrack and strain, leading to repair, caused by bad road conditions. Accordingly, service to the travelling public, as well as a reasonable protection of the public investments in road construction, demand as hard and durable a construction as possible, followed by methodical maintenance.

"Enterprise in building improved highways invites and generally arouses enterprise in every citizen who may have occasion to use them. In no respect will a comparatively unimportant ripple of public enterprise develop so effectively into a composite wave of individual enterprise, reacting in various directions, as that of improving poor roads. Such improvements react not alone upon the actual travellers on the roads, but also upon the public spirit of whole communities.

"No attempt to appraise and sum the benefits to be derived from good roads can overlook the more or less indirect and intangible results accruing to a country, as a consequence of a general program of highway improvement.

"Any presentation of the more concrete advantages and gains to the nation, the community and the individual from good roads, should treat of the drawbacks and losses entailed by bad roads. With the latter, at all events, every traveller is more or less familiar. Hence such a treatise must necessarily embrace trite topics. In fact, the necessity for reform in conditions of highway transport in Canada is rather generally recognized."

The booklet is published by the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and is evidently one of the series to be produced with a view to educating Canada to the necessity for good roads and for achieving by publicity a more uniform method of road building and financing.

Kootenay Indians Baseball Champions

The Kootenay Indians who played such a prominent part in the pageant arranged in connection with the David Thompson Memorial celebrations at Lake Windermere, B.C., are not only expert riders and canoeists, but have recently taken to baseball with wonderful enthusiasm. At the Lake Windermere District Fall Fair they played against a white team for the silver cup offered by Randolph Bruce, a local mine owner, winning it with a score of seven to five. The accompanying photographs show the team in their day clothes, and in their baseball rig-out. The team is captained by Donnie Nicholas, who is seen standing immediately behind the cup, and is supported by Martin Sam, Conrad Short, Christopher Joseph, Frank Whitehead, Noah Alpine, Gabriel Paul, Joseph Eugene, and Jerome Joseph. The Kootenays are one of the healthiest and most athletic tribes of Indians in America, the records of David Thompson over a hundred years ago intimating that they have always been a fine upstanding set of men. In the old days they were famous hunters, but now they spend more of their time farming and are adepts in the use of irrigation. During the pageant they appeared in a wonderfully fine costume, rich in blues and purples, and harmonious reds, making a display which greatly impressed their white brethren. Every Kootenay Indian is a born horseman or horse-

Correspondence

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—As apparently the proposal to combine the shippers has failed, I want to put forward a plan some of us have been discussing for forming a growers' union on the lines of a trade union, which would not involve engaging in business of any kind. A union of this kind would appeal to many who have a strong antipathy to tying themselves to anything similar to the O. U. G., and bring together a larger proportion of the growers. After all, the co-operative associations in the States which are held up as models, are only ten years old and against them is the record of the last 80 years, which shows that 85 per cent. of co-operative concerns have failed. The growers' business is to grow fruit, not to distribute it and if shippers were paying a fixed minimum price for the fruit as they are for boxes, packing, etc., they would soon organize to distribute it right. The union would restrict its members as little as possible and only in a way that would appeal to ordinary business caution. Members could only sell to licensed shippers of good financial standing or who were under bond. The union would fix minimum prices, varying according to market and crop conditions, at which growers were to sell to packers, but a grower whose crop was largely No. 1's would get more for his No. 1's than a man who wanted a shipper to take care of a large proportion of No. 2's. An objection has been made that the packers might combine to depress the price and refuse fruit just as the packing season was opening, when the growers would be helpless, but this could be met by insisting that contracts be made early in the season. The contract would not necessarily be at a fixed price, but read "at — per cent. over the current price fixed by the growers' union." In the event of a conflict between a packers' confederation and the union there would be time to organize in any season some other packing arrangements. Besides, with 85 per cent. of the prairie fruit being held up, there would be any number of outside buyers ready to break the confederation if union prices were correct. We would hope that the union could avoid engaging in business of any kind, but in order to keep a check on its members it would be necessary to employ bookkeepers, etc. At each packing house the weigher-in would be a union official, paid by the packing house through the union. These men would not be an additional charge on packing, as they would simply take the place of existing men. The union could also easily check up the totals of the various grades shipped out by the packing houses and see that they agreed with the returns to the growers. This would get over the present position where the grower is absolutely at the mercy of the packer in regard to returns on grading. All payments would be made through a union and a uniform system maintained either monthly or as arranged. In the event of a firm failing to pay at a due date it might be necessary for the union to put in a receiver, but otherwise the only business of the union would be book-keeping and an occasional meeting of the executive to fix prices. Yours truly, R. G. RUSSELL.

To the Editor of The Review: Sir,—The B. C. fruit growers have by this time learnt the necessity of co-operation; but how to obtain it is the problem which must be solved in time for the marketing of the crop of 1923, for many of us who have invested our little all in the fruit industry will be practically ruined if marketing conditions are no better next year than they have been this season. I do not think so much of the blame should be placed on the O. U. G. Had it not been for the great number of independent concerns and grower-shippers, the situation would not be so serious. It seems to me that the O. U. G. has spent a good deal of the growers' money in opening up new markets and in advertising the fact that apples are a necessity, not a luxury, but the independents and the grower-shippers have reaped the lion's share of the benefit without much expense to themselves. But had the O. U. G. been grower controlled, as it was supposed to be when it was formed, and had all the directors been true to the name instead of being the directed ones, as a few of them appear to have been, there would not be so much dissatisfaction. The Central Selling Agency if supported by 100 per cent. of the growers should be successful. But how to get this support is the question. The poor unfortunate grower has been fooled so often by empty promises that he will be apt to be suspicious of any scheme. It is not fair to ask him to sign a long-term contract, if the shipper is not bound to fulfill his part of the contract as well. Can a grower be blamed for withdrawing from a so-called co-operative concern when he does not know, even at Christmas, what he got for fruit sold in September? Then, should not the selling agency be bound to inform the grower frequently during the season of prices he is actually getting for his fruit? Telling him the prices fixed at the place of production is no good; what he wants to know is the price obtained at the place of consumption. It takes, at the least, 80 cents to grow and pack a box of apples, and 60 cents a box of peaches. That being the case, when the agency finds out that it is impossible to sell the fruit for even the price of production it should be bound by the contract to acquit the grower of the fact at once, so that he may dispose of the fruit otherwise, provided he does not sell on consignment. If the growers are treated fairly they will, I believe, unflinchingly support a true co-operative plan, so let us hope that we all may benefit from the mistakes of the past and laying aside all petty jealousies, enthusiastically work together for the good of the whole community. M. SMITH.

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—To the intelligent on-looker, the attacks made by some fruit growers (?) recently on Mr. Powell through the columns of your paper, are rather amusing if it were not for the serious aspect of the situation, a situation which has, no doubt, been taken advantage of to further their own personal feelings, regardless of the good or more probable harm they may do to that industry which they wish to pose as championing. Fruit Grower No. 1 evidently holds a much greater feeling of antagonism towards Mr. Powell than he has towards either the O. U. G. or their methods; whereas Fruit Grower No. 2 is obviously using the controversy simply to attack Mr. Powell, and dresses that attack in a masquerade of good fellowship and fellow feeling for fruit growers' interests. I venture to say that those families to whom Fruit Grower refers to as finding it hard to pay taxes and feed and clothe families, have, perhaps, had occasion more than once to know how loosely are tied the strings of Mr. Powell's purse, than the strings of sympathy (which is cheaper) of Fruit Grower No. 1 or No. 2. It is markedly noticeable that those who have taken all this trouble to attack Mr. Powell and his policies for the strengthening of the fruit industry, have failed even to take the trouble to give us anything better. It is, of course, much easier to criticize than construct. Any laborer can pull down, it takes brains to construct. Many a great scheme of construction, many a splendid movement has been destroyed through the actions of the man lower down who, not having the ability himself to build up, spends his time destroying that which others are trying to create. One has little but pity for the person, who descends so low, that he will put aside or wreck plans for the betterment of his community or country and jeopardize its interests merely to get a chance to attack one towards whom he may feel animosity. In this case using the fact that Mr. Powell is ready to stand behind his name with his statements, whereas his attackers descend to personalities from ambush and spend their time trying to attack him, much more strongly than his policies. One cannot but feel that Mr. Powell is perfectly right in refusing to enter into personal arguments that cannot have any benefit for anyone, with persons who use the De Valera methods of striking from ambush, while carefully keeping their own names back. In conclusion, Fruit Grower says that the policy or suggestions he made were of much greater interest to the community than his or her name. Having overheard some dozen criticisms of Fruit Grower's letter, I noted that the policies referred to in it were not even mentioned, but the name of the writer was anxiously desired. A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

After several weeks spent in Kelowna receiving treatment on his knee, Mr. C. Aitkens returned home on Wednesday evening of last week, with his knee showing considerable improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, of Seattle, arrived here Wednesday evening to spend the festive season with Mrs. Lincoln's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore at the Lambly ranch. Mr. Lincoln is an officer on one of the boats plying from Seattle up the north coast.

Mr. H. E. McCall was a visitor to Kelowna on Wednesday and instead of looking down in the mouth, went over to have one of the Kelowna dentists do that.

Mr. and Mrs. Cudmore visited Kelowna on Thursday.

Having been employed at W. D. Miller's logging camp here for some time, Mr. Pete Johnson completed his contract and left on Thursday morning.

Mr. R. J. Hogg returned home on Thursday evening after having spent a few days out of town on committee work in connection with the fruit selling situation.

The concert gotten up and given by the public school last week was a decided success. It was held on Thursday evening in the Municipal Hall and the building was well filled despite weather and road conditions.

A lot of preparation and untiring effort had been made on the part of the teachers, Mr. Harris, Miss Murdin and Miss Noble, and the pupils; and the result was a real good program, which was appreciated and well received by the audience.

The program as given was as follows: "God Save the King"; three part song—"Now is the Month of Maying," senior and intermediate classes; recitation, "Christmas Morning," Jean Hyde; recitation, "Ard Times for Jimmy," Jimmy Sadler; nursery rhymes (in character) by children of the primary grade.

This number was given as a contest and the prize was awarded according to the applause of the audience. Each rhyme was given and acted so well by the tiny tots, and the applause so generous, that it was hard to decide which was the heartiest, but the rhyme decided on was "Old King Cole."

The next on the program was a Christmas bell drill by twelve intermediate girls; recitation, "When Pa Shaves," Taddy Clements; recitation, "When Papa's Sick," Frank Browne; duet (piano), Edna Cudmore and Hertha Hohensee; action song, "The Dwarfs" in comic costume and setting, eight senior boys; dialogue, "Women's Rights," Annie Taylor, Arthur McCall and Lloyd Williams; duet (vocal), "Were I a Birdling," the Misses Alice and Helen Wright; recitation, "The Crippled Doll," Helen Douglas; parade, "Roosters," in costume as such, eight juniors; stocking drill, eight intermediate girls; recitation, "Santa in a Flat," Margaret Harrington; song and chorus, "John Peel," Gerald Elliott taking the solo part and the school joining in the chorus; dialogue, "Jake Hayseed in the City," Irene White, Ormond Eddy and Wallace MacKenzie; part song, "Sweet and Low," ten senior girls; scarf drill, eight senior girls; recitation, "Week Before Xmas," Rose Zold; parade, "The Crows," in costume as such, by four senior boys.

Many were the favorable comments on the various costumes for the different numbers as they were very realistic and showed a great deal of careful work in getting them up. The proceeds of the evening amounted to upwards of $40, the net amount of which is to be used in connection with the school library. The evening's entertainment was closed by the singing of the Canadian National anthem.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dryden, Dr. Buchanan and Mr. Ian Sutherland were visitors out of town on Friday, returning on the evening boat.

The school closing exercises in the primary and intermediate rooms were held on Friday afternoon. There were a goodly number of visitors present. Miss Noble in the primary room, and Miss Murdin in the intermediate room, with the assistance of their pupils, had prepared a short program (short on account of the recent school concert and the Sunday school entertainments being prepared) which was enjoyed by the visitors. Each teacher had provided a treat for the scholars and the visitors, and altogether a pleasant afternoon was spent. At the close, Principal Harris made a few remarks referring to the assistance which he had received and appreciated from Miss Noble and Miss Murdin and expressing sincere regrets at Miss Murdin's leaving with the closing of the term, she having decided to complete her normal training. He spoke very highly of her work and referred to the splendid reports of the inspector for the different departments.

Mr. J. Seaton returned on Friday evening after a short visit out of town.

The Union Sunday School Christmas entertainment was held in the Municipal Hall on Friday evening. There was a good turnout of grown-ups as well as the children and the children acquitted themselves nobly on the platform. The program was nicely varied, there being recitations, songs, drills, etc. Rev. Mr. Sadler acted as chairman. At the close of the program Superintendent Ferguson expressed his appreciation for the assistance rendered by the different ones who had assisted in the getting up of the program and other details worked out in connection with the entertainment. While he was yet speaking, Santa's bells were heard in the distance and soon he arrived through the back door and then excitement was rife among the front rows of seats in the hall. Santa got busy at once, after an introduction to the audience, and the bags were soon flying in various directions till all the boys and girls had received the reward of the evening. This brought a pleasant evening to a close.

An Outside View of Canada. "Our friends the Canadians are prosperous and booming. Their money is at par, their crops are abundant, their railroads are running and efficient. Strikes don't tie them up. They have excellent government, resources practically unlimited. Shop at Home! If we were to ask those who preferred patronizing out of town stores, the reason for doing so, the answer would invariably be "the stores in this town are not so progressive as those in other towns." Firstly, this is not so. Secondly, if it were, the blame would rest entirely upon those who shopped out of town. And we'll anticipate the answer to their question, "why." No store can be progressive and prosperous unless it receives the co-operation of the people in its town. If you do not do your buying at Home, how can you expect these stores to be all you demand? It's right up to you if you want your stores here to improve. Give them the opportunity to do so. Shop at Home!

WAS HAPPY EVENT

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Washington was the scene of a very enjoyable dinner party on Friday evening last, in honor of their son, Broydon Tom's, 21st birthday.

The home was beautifully decorated, as also were the tables which seated thirty guests.

Dr. Windeler was the spokesman of the evening, while Miss Edith Stuart very gracefully presented Tom with a bouquet. Tom was the recipient of many beautiful presents, which he opened at the close of the dinner.

Afterwards a most enjoyable evening was spent in dancing and music, the latter of which the Misses Lockwood and Miss Eva Barkwill ably contributed. Mr. Lockwood also performed with his banjo and was the hit of the evening.

At midnight the birthday cake was cut by Tom and served with coffee, the souvenirs which the cake contained being carried off as a remembrance of a very enjoyable party.

The party finally broke up in the wee sma' hours of the morning with the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

WHAT THE APE KNEW

In the Zoological Society Bulletin appears an interesting and wonderful story of an ape. The monkey was brought up by an English family. He was taught to sleep in a bed, bathe every day and sit at the table with the family, where he behaved as a well-trained child should.

One day, says his former mistress, when I was sitting dressed ready to go out, John wanted to sit on my lap.

"Don't let him," my sister said; "he will spoil your dress."

Since my dress happened to be a light one, I pushed him away and said, "No." He at once lay on the floor and for perhaps a minute cried like a child. Then he rose, looked around the room, found a newspaper and, picking it up, spread it on my lap and climbed up. That was the cleverest thing I ever saw him do.

One day a piece of beefsteak had just come from the butcher, and, since I occasionally gave him a small mouthful of raw beef, I cut off a small piece of the coarser part of the steak and gave it to him. He tasted it and gravely handed it back to me. Then he took my hand and put it on the finer part of the meat. From that I cut off a tiny piece and gave it to him. When my nephew came home he would not believe it; so I tried it again, and the result was the same, except that he did not even taste the coarser meat.

It must have been a great grief to the lady when she was forced to part with her pet. For his part, the faithful creature was heart-broken and soon died.

"Would Wake Up Screaming"
"The Least Sudden Noise or Loud Talking Would Startle Him."

"Up to the age of eight, my boy was a strong, healthy lad, full of life and energy. While playing leap frog one day with some boys of his own age, and, while in a stooped position, a big boy jumped on his back and in falling my boy caught his foot in an iron grating and dislocated his hip. The pain was so great that he fainted and the other boys were so frightened they ran away. For hours he suffered terrible pain and when found and brought home was very weak, with his thigh and leg swollen twice its size. The doctor set the bone but the pain and exposure were too much for the poor boy and he became unconscious. A high fever set in and for weeks he lay between life and death raving for hours at a stretch. One day he opened his eyes and murmured 'Mother,' but this is the only word he could utter he was so weak, but I knew the worst was over. He got stronger but for months was in a nervous condition. The least sudden noise or loud talking would startle him, and he would begin trembling. He was quite lame and the swelling still remained. The doctor gave him a tonic and told me to rub the leg with olive oil. This reduced the swelling and took away the lameness, but the nervousness remained. The poor child would waken in the night screaming at the top of his voice. The doctor gave him several different tonics but they were no use. I found a circular about Carnol and it seemed so different from other tonics I had heard of, that I thought I would get a bottle. Three bottles were all that was needed to make my boy like his own self again. It is hard to convince my friends that the change in him now is entirely due to Carnol. Of course I still have to watch him and give him Carnol occasionally but I know that he will soon be as strong again as ever he was."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 2-622

ONTARIO FRUIT GROWERS LOSERS

(Continued from Page 6) and having then rectified, did not dream of forsaking the ship at the first setback as fruitgrowers usually wish to do. The difference between a successful company and an unsuccessful one is just this: that the former profits by its mistakes and the latter does not.

"What, then, are the reasons for such an unprofitable season, and to whom are we to lay the blame?"

"First and foremost, market conditions were so unfavorable as to create an almost impossible situation all over this continent, for it must be remembered that these troubles are by no means confined to the Niagara district. The fact is that the buying capacity of the public has been cut in two, owing to the high taxation, and to the small business profits, strikes, lack of employment for working men, for they are usually the fruit growers best customers when they have the money, and even stock and grain farmers have been too hard hit to purchase fruit as they usually do. On top of this come high freight and express rates, so as to cut off a good deal of trade from east to west, and to leave but a small margin of profit in what remains."

SOUND ADVICE.

A London magistrate gave good advice to an old man brought before him. He advised the unhappy old man to seek the society of children so that he might absorb something of their brightness—and jousiveness and become young again.

It has often been noticed that teachers of the young, and those much in association with children, retain youth and hopefulness longer than most people, so the magistrate's advice was sound.

Age is sometimes afraid of youth, and youth is often afraid of age; but each has a great deal to give and to get from the other, and love between the old and young is often the best and most beautiful of all.

C. O. D. SERVICE IS CONDEMNED

Postmaster and Merchant Gives Views on Amended Postal Regulations.

Metropolitan daily newspapers and mail order houses are making much of the recent amendment to the postal regulations, whereby parcels are delivered C.O.D. and rural postmasters become collecting agents for the big department stores. The big newspapers are helping their advertisers to get additional business from the smaller towns through this new postal service.

One of these papers is the Toronto Globe and in it was published recently a letter from a rural postmaster and merchant on this subject. This letter covers the question pretty thoroughly and is reprinted here:

To the Editor of The Globe: I have read with much interest your advertising sheet, booming the new postal C.O.D. service, also your questionnaire, and thought it might be of interest to give you my views on the matter, from a double standpoint, first, of a rural postmaster, and secondly, a retail merchant in a rural district.

We admit, of course, that this service, from the standpoint of a Toronto daily paper, looks like a pretty good thing, not as much, perhaps, for the general public as for the Toronto department stores, whose money, collected from all parts of the Dominion, yields large profits that are invested in Toronto.

However, to be fair in this matter, we must look at all sides of the question. In every postoffice in the country the postmaster and his assistants spend all their time and energy in a service that is more arbitrary and exacting than any other public service, with less pay and longer hours of work, and are finding themselves every year more and more an "Annex" to the Toronto department stores.

The postmaster's salary is based—not on the mail matter he distributes, or the tonnage that he handles, but on the number of stamps that he sells. Consequently, two or three stamps that he sells will bring him fifty or a hundred pounds of mail matter to distribute, for which he receives neither pay nor commission.

This in itself would seem to be a sufficient burden to add to the ordinary postoffice work, but now a paternal government, imitating our American neighbors, makes the postmaster, already nearly crowded out of his office with mail order parcels, responsible for the collection of the department store accounts, through the C.O.D. service. It is of absolutely no benefit or convenience to the public; a package cannot be delivered until the charges are paid, and it simply adds work and expense. As an instance of this: A firm in Toronto advertised a two-dollar article at a special rate of one dollar. A patron of this office sent the dollar, and the article is mailed to him with a C.O.D. charge of $1.15. Including charges, the amount to pay is $1.22, which he must pay before he gets his purchase.

That is the postmaster's side of the story; now, look at it from the standpoint of the retail merchant, and show us where the public receives any benefit. True, the Toronto merchants are enabled to unload "sight unseen," as small boys trade broken jack-knives, a quantity of goods that they could not handle over the counters, and the money they receive is invested in Toronto, and nine times out of ten they get away with the transaction because it is less bother to keep an unsatisfactory article and wear it out as soon as possible, than to return it and try to get your money back.

In the meantime, the retail merchant in the country or small town is trying to hold his trade, compete with the big department stores and make ends meet, and does not always find it an easy problem; in the first place, he must keep a better class of goods, because he could not sell over the counter the class of goods sold by mail, and in the second, place, in many cases, he is waiting up and call you blessed, when the parcel post and the C.O.D. service are abolished.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

- THAT it takes real co-operation between the head of a business, the ad man and the clerks to make a bigger business.
THAT advertising is the power that brings the customer.
THAT too much attention cannot be paid to careful, persistent advertising.
THAT some merchants advertise themselves more than they do their merchandise.
THAT merchandise is what they have to sell.
THAT good service, good goods and good prices, plus good advertising is what will make any merchant's business better.
THAT if that is kept up it will give the merchant plenty of personal advertising.
THAT THE MERCHANT WHO CONTINUES TO IGNORE THE BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING IS JUST BUYING GREASE TO OIL HIS OWN FAILURE.
THAT the man who succeeds in business is no great wonder, he is just the man who went ahead while the other fellows sat around and said it could not be done.
THAT the customer knows that the secret of economical buying is information he will find in the advertising columns.
THAT THE THOROUGHNESS BY WHICH THE PRINTED PAPER COVERS A COMMUNITY GIVES AN OPPORTUNITY TO REACH EVERY FAMILY.
THAT IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING TO SELL LET THE PEOPLE KNOW WHAT AND WHERE AND WHEN TO BUY IT.
