NATIONS OF EARTH LOOK TOWARD B. C.

It may sound exaggerated to state that half a dozen nations of the earth are today looking toward British Columbia, and eyeing this province with trade interest, but proof is seen in a special article on the subject that appears this week in The Province of Vancouver, wherein the resident consuls of other lands evince interest in the development of Pacific Canada. From the new Republic of Latvia, created as an aftermath of the war, to old Spain, and thence across the seas to China in her awakening, it is seen that British Columbia has a specific "something" to suit each nation, something in export or import, something that must mean its bit in fostering an expansion of British Columbia's destiny as the Empire's great Pacific gateway of the North American continent.

At least seven of the B. C. consuls see wherein this province has much to offer in supply or demand. The consuls, with few exceptions, are not worrying about caring for their subjects in B. C. They are concerned with something that means more in revenues. Each nation, somehow, seems to offer more than it seeks. In other words, the Pacific Canadian exports to each country goes further than the imports from that land. There is no suggestion of importing products that are found here. Trade relationship points to the advantages mostly on the side of British Columbia, if one may accept the views of these consular agents. There are nations, like Mexico, that want to open a merchant marine system of trade reciprocity. China wants to buy fruit, canned stuffs, machinery and whatnot, and only seeks to send over rice, silk, ginger and things that are not produced here. The same with other countries. Norway and Sweden are exceptions. They produce the same kind of things that are produced in B. C., only on a more limited scale. Japan wants lumber and other things. Peru expects to transform its present market into a great exchange; and so do other Latin American republics. Spain is opening a regular B. C. consulate. Germany, also, it is reported, is anxious to get in on the good things here with a consulate of her own. "Let us forget past foolishness, and settle down to business,"—this is what was said the other day by a merchant prince from Berlin, on his visit to Vancouver and Victoria.

Nearly everything produced in B. C. is bound to play a part in this great trade expansion that is opening up. It will do its part for our mines, our agricultural areas, our orchards, our collieries, our new wheat market, our industrial plants, our everything! Seen through consular eyes, British Columbia is stepping forth upon a destiny of commercial greatness. It will be interesting to compare notes and conditions with this statement, say, a year or two hence.

Peachland is to be congratulated on its action in organizing a Board of Trade. Such an institution will be of inestimable value to the community. Through its Board of Trade Peachland will be able to co-operate more closely with the other Okanagan towns in matters of vital importance to itself and the Okanagan as a whole.

"British Columbia's claimed prosperity only amounts to what is brought in by American tourists," says a bilious writer in a Seattle daily.

Tut, tut, brother! Try an emetic.

WILL IRRIGATE CAWSTON BENCH

Eight Hundred Acres to be Served by Electric Pumping Plant.

Eight hundred acres of the fertile bench at Cawston are to be put under irrigation this spring by means of a 200 horse-power electric pumping plant, energy for which will be supplied by the West Kootenay Power & Light Company, from a sub-station to be installed at Oliver. The power company will erect a 20,000 volt line, from Oliver to Cawston, on the main high tension pole line from Bonnington Falls to Copper Mountain. This line enters the Similkameen valley at the north end of the Cawston district and it is expected that in addition to supplying the current for the pumping plant the power company will install electric light connections for the Cawston and Keremeos districts.

A rate of 2c per K.W.H. for current for the pumping plant has been granted to the land company by the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. This is thought to be a low rate when the cost of constructing the line from Oliver to Cawston, for approximately a five months service each year, is taken into consideration.

It is understood that some 200 acres of the land to be put under irrigation will be leased by the Dominion Canners, B. C. Ltd., for a term of years, for the purpose of growing tomatoes for its large cannery. The land is generally acknowledged to be the finest in southern B. C. for tomato raising and with this large tract of bench land under water, the future of the Cawston district is practically assured.

Hindus Want Police Jobs.

Vancouver, March 2.—Bearing testimonials showing they had served as policemen in India, and claiming their rights to receive recognition in city employment, a number of Hindus are petitioning the municipality, through Guy Cornyn, barrister, with applications for appointment to the force. They also ask to be appointed to provincial constabulary vacancies. It is doubtful, however, if any of them succeed, because few could pass the civil service test.

FARMERS, INSTITUTE MEETS IN VERNON

L. E. Taylor Appointed to Advisory Board at Annual Meeting Last Week.

(Vernon News)

The annual meeting of District G. of the Farmers' Institute of B. C., was held in the court house here last Friday and Saturday. Mr. L. E. Taylor, of Kelowna, called the meeting to order and after welcoming the delegates from the different institutes in North and South Okanagan asked for nominations for a chairman and Mr. J. Goldie, of Okanagan Centre, was unanimously selected. Mr. G. R. Venables was chosen secretary.

The previous minutes having been disposed of, Mr. Taylor dealt with the work done by the advisory board which had been rather extensive some 87 resolutions having been disposed of. Those of more direct interest to this district were those referring to the amalgamation of the U. F. B. C., and the Farmers' Institute, the Oriental question, the Agricultural Journal, secretaries' salaries, stumping powder, importation of Chinese eggs, noxious weeds, agricultural credit loans, road work, coyotes, assessment, field crop competition, fire permits, provincial bank, blasting near poultry ranches, agricultural lime, workmen's compensation act, railway rates on seed grain, the pound act and rural credits.

A running discussion followed on these topics in which Mr. Jas. Bailey, chairman of the board, Mr. Whitney-Griffith, secretary, took part and a flood of information as to what had been done. Questions were asked and the answers were of a most satisfactory character.

The report of the agricultural committee of the provincial legislature was read by Mr. Taylor. As no action was taken by the legislature, a most animated discussion took place. It was felt that the agricultural interests of the province as presented to the agricultural committee by the representatives of the U. F. B. C., and the F. I. had not received due attention. Some were inclined to blame the agricultural committee and others the legislature. At a later stage of the meeting Dr. K. C. MacDonald, M.P., chairman of the agricultural committee, was present and made explanations such as led to the passing of a resolution expressive of regret that legislation action had not been taken but that specific blame therefor should not be attributed to the members of that committee. The manner of procedure was pointed out and it is anticipated that representations will, in future, be made at an earlier date so that there may be sufficient time for due consideration by the members of the legislature and the enactment of resolutions into legislation if agreed upon. Dr. MacDonald was tendered a hearty vote of thanks for the helpful part he took in the discussion.

Mr. L. E. Taylor was unanimously re-elected member of the advisory board for this district. On motion of Messrs. Perdue and McCallum, it was decided to form a district association consisting of all the institutes in the district. The officers elected were: President, J. Goldie; vice-president, J. G. Perdue; secretary-treasurer, G. R. Venables.

Resolutions from different institutes were discussed and passed favoring an amendment to the Soldier Settlement Act to provide for the three years' moratorium, favoring the establishment of stockyards, appreciating the action of the government inspector and advocating amendments to the assessment act to provide for appeals from assessors to county court judges in certain cases, to change the delinquent tax date to Sept. 30, and to modify the basis of assessment in certain cases. In some cases resolutions were withdrawn or not carried.

During the closing session able addresses were made by Messrs. Bailey and Whitney-Griffiths. The former dealt with the agricultural question, the effort for betterment on the part of the farmer, the difference between the cost of farm produce to the consumer and the price realized by the producer, the cost of transportation, railway dividends, the trend of population from the country to the city, high taxation, etc. Suggestions were made as to securing improved conditions by personal effort and by co-operative means. The success of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association was instanced and the beneficial results to producer and consumer were alluded to. Farmers were advised to "hang together" or they would probably be "hanged apart."

Mr. Whitney-Griffiths emphasized the apparent lack of earnestness on the part of members and advised the giving of careful thought to the preparation of resolutions so that they might be more acceptable to the government. Members of the legislature should be invited to attend institute meetings. The province was divided into nine districts in each of which there should be successful conferences held by the delegates from the various institutes. Their problems should be carefully studied and concerted action taken to have their findings enacted into legislation or know why they were not acceptable to the legislators. There was about 140 institutes in the province with a membership of about 5,000. A lack of interest was shown by some, 26 had not reported and 14 had not even applied for the government grant. The members of the legislature had approved the work done by the advisory board and were willing to pay the necessary expenses. The appointment of a special representative to attend at the sessions of the legislature on the part of the Farmers Institute and the United Farmers was advocated. The speakers were tendered the cordial thanks of the meeting. Chairman Goldie in closing the convention emphasized its salient closing and advised the delegates to convey as large a measure as possible of its enthusiasm to their respective institutes so that valuable work would be carried on for the benefit of the farmer.

The delegates present were: L. E. Taylor, Kelowna; J. Goldie, E. C. Maile, G. R. Venables and P. W. Pixon, Okanagan Centre; M. P. Williams, Winfield; C. H. Hancock, Grindrod; C. H. Tate and R. Johnston, Summerland; J. Monk and M. Monk, North Okanagan; J. McCallum, Armstrong; J. G. Perdue, Naham; I. L. Howlett, Westbank.

Besides the president and secretary of the advisory board, there were present during the whole or part of the sessions the following: Dr. K. C. MacDonald, F. Copeland, S. P. French, P. E. French, and J. R. Brown, of the United Farmers, the latter giving a cordial address of welcome on behalf of the United Farmers. Mr. Laidman, by request, took part in the discussions.

The week of March 6 to 11 will be campaign week in Vernon, when $7000 will be solicited from residents of the town and district.

Bill Collector—But why do you let your wife spend all your money? Mr. Henpeck—Because I'd rather argue with you than with her.

NEW ROAD WORK

The roadwork program for the southern interior during the coming season will be an extensive one, according to statements made by Road Engineer W. K. Gwyer. On various work extending between Hope and Roseland, and north from the boundary line to Sicamous, more than 1000 men will be employed during the summer.

Mr. Gwyer announced that thirty-five miles of the transprovincial highway between Hope and Princeton, would be built this year. This will be constructed in two sections, one being the first 25 miles east of Hope, and the other a section of ten miles westward from the present end of the road which is 8½ miles out of Princeton. Thus by the end of the construction season the transprovincial highway will be 18½ miles east from Hope, leaving a gap of 25 miles in the centre which is to be finished in 1923. The end of that year should, therefore, see the coast connected up with the interior by motor road.

There is a possibility that tenders for the Hope-Princeton sections will be sought within the next two weeks, work to start as soon as the season opens there.

The Hope-Princeton road is to be of secondary construction, 12 feet wide on the straight stretches and 18 feet wide at the turnouts.

The road engineer stated that the gap of 19 miles between the Christina lake and Roseland sections of the transprovincial road would also be finished this year. The completion of this roadway will give the Okanagan and Similkameen direct road connection with Nelson.

It is expected that considerable improvement work will be carried out this season on the lakeshore highway between Penticton and the Westbank ferry wharf. Some work has been carried out during the winter and further funds will be expended in the spring and summer, particularly with a view to providing retaining walls and taking off more of the rock points.

A good deal of construction will also take place on the Southern Okanagan project roadway. This road was built last year from the McIntyre bridge to the demonstration farm. As soon as the season opens up it will be gravelled for summer use. There is a likelihood as well that the road will be extended during the coming season down to the boundary line.

The expectation is that a considerable sum of money will be spent at Kelowna on the Mission Creek protection work.

The usual amount of maintenance will be carried on throughout the district.

The Northern Okanagan highway has been finished through to Sicamous to give connection with Revelstoke.

According to computations the Hope end of the transprovincial highway will require 300 men this season, with 200 for the Princeton

Memorial Concert.

The community social, held last week in the Orange Hall as arranged by the memorial committee, was a real success. There was a large attendance and the program was well received. It consisted of solos by Mesdames Hardisty, Wright, Elliott, Jones and Miss Betty Buchanan; quartette by Mrs. Wright, Miss Buchanan, Messrs. Hogg and Black; piano duets by Miss Buchanan and Mr. Ian Sutherland; violin quintette by Messrs. Hogg, Coad, Buchanan, Cousins and McCall; violin duet by Mr. Coad and one of his pupils, Master Edgar Taylor, and a violin solo by Mr. Coad; a vocal duet by Messrs. Metcalf and McCall, accompanied by the piano and four violins; and a vocal duet by Mesdames Elliott and Wright. After the program and while lunch was being served, five violin players joined forces and played a number of familiar airs, accompanied by Mr. Ian Sutherland at the piano. The accompanists for the various selections were Mrs. Coad, Mrs. Martin and Mr. Ian Sutherland. The receipts for the evening amounted to over forty dollars, which goes to the memorial fund.

Mr. Hogg, acting chairman, gave some detail as to the results of the canvass for the memorial monument. There was only a very small balance due on the monument and almost enough funds were on hand to clear it and still a number of subscriptions to come in. However, he stated, there would be need for further funds for the cleaning up and otherwise beautifying the grounds around the monument. The chairman expressed the suggestion from the committee that the community hold a like social or entertainment annually in commemoration of what the memorial stands for and as a means of augmenting the fund to keep the grounds in order. Armistice Day was unanimously voted as the best day on which to hold this annual gathering.

New Board of Trade.

At a recent meeting, held in the council chambers, a Peachland Board of Trade was formed. Mr. H. H. Thompson was appointed secretary pro-tem; Mr. Geo. McBean was appointed president; Major Hardisty, vice-president; Dr. Buchanan, secretary-treasurer, and the following added to the executive: Reeve G. Lang, Mr. Harrison, C. Drake, W. Sanderson. The president, Mr. McBean, Reeve G. Lang and Mr. Harrison were appointed as a committee to secure necessary data for the proper organization of a Board of Trade and report to the executive. The membership fee was set at $2 per annum. Meetings will be held on the first Thursday of each month at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. N. A. McDonald, of Penticton, with her baby daughter, spent Wednesday in town with relatives.

It is understood that Rowell Bros., of Kelowna, have succeeded in contracting with about a score of growers in Peachland for the handling of the 1922 crop from their orchards.

It has been reported about the community that the Occidental Fruit Company had made arrangements to operate a combination packing house and small cannery in town this season, but there seems to be no likelihood of a move to this effect.

Mr. Allan Wilson returned home on Thursday after a few weeks spent at his former home in Alberta.

Police Magistrate Thos. Powell sat on a couple of cases which were held in the council chamber on Thursday last, when Mr. Last of Glenrosa and Mr. Art Gellatly, of Gellatly, were fined for having had horses at large within the bounds of the municipality. These animals had been impounded in town and when sold had not brought enough to cover the charges against them.

Mr. Tomlin, manager of the skating rink, put on a voting contest for the most popular lady on the ice; the voting to be done on Friday and Saturday evenings, the last two nights of the season. There was a fair crowd out on Friday and a considerably better one on Saturday and the excitement ran high, more especially on Saturday evening, when the results of the contest were marked up from time to time throughout the evening. The final count gave little Miss Edna Cudmore the highest number with quite a lead. The ice was in good condition and everyone had a very enjoyable time. When the crowd was about to disperse for home three hearty cheers were given for Mr. and Mrs. Tomlin for the good times they had given the skaters.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. F. Moore, of Penticton, and family spent the week here with friends and relatives.

BALCOMO RANCH GETS WRITE-UP

Agur Family and Property Subject of Special Article by Visiting Correspondent.

Following a recent visit to Summerland, "H. Glenn-Ward," of Vancouver sent the following story to the paper:

In a sheltered valley high up among the hills overlooking the Okanagan lake is situated one of the most beautiful farms and certainly one of the best laid-out, that it has been my pleasure to visit since I have been touring the province for "Farm and Home." The house and gardens in this particular setting of undulating-upland scenery reminded me of a long-established Old Country estate in the Highlands of Scotland, and the orchards, model dairy farm and fields with their trim wire fences and well-kept walks can only be likened to the "home farm" attached to one of the "stately homes of England."

The late Mr. R. H. Agur came to British Columbia from Winnipeg sixteen years ago with Mrs. Agur and four sons, two of whom are still on the ranch.

When Mr. Agur settled on his 100 acres of what was, in those days nothing but free-range cattle country, he spared neither pains nor money to make a very perfect home out of it, and he succeeded.

Mixed farming with preponderance of dairying and fruit growing is what the Balcomo Ranch is famous for, and that it is producing the highest possible standard of these is shown by the fact that some of the young Holstein heifers are averaging 4.5 per cent. of butter fat and that the Agurs' apples were the ones chosen to be exhibited at the New Westminster Fair last fall by the district.

Of the sons, the eldest, R. V. Agur is acting manager, and Eric Agur is foreman of the ranch; they have three permanent men working for them, and take on a couple of Japs at odd times for irrigation work. One of the men is herdsman and specially responsible for the cattle and the dairy.

There are twelve head of Holsteins, eight of them milking and all these on R. O. P. tests; the best of them are milked three times a day, and the herd has passed its first test for Accredited T. B. The Agurs obtained their foundation stock indirectly from Steves, of Steveston, and one of their bulls, "Sir Balcomo Ormsby Mechtild," is the son of Steves' famous $5,000 bull. Their best cow is "Summerhill Topsy" with a record of 17,817 pounds milk, and 625 pounds butter-fat; she was bought from Pat Owens, of Salmon Arm, who brought her originally from Ontario. A folder is kept for each cow, giving her complete history and a daily record of her performance.

Mr. Agur told me he was trying to breed his cows, especially with a view to future butter-fat production. He has won several prizes with them at New Westminster. He uses almost entirely sunflower silage with a little corn, as the Balcomo soil produces 15-20 tons of sunflower to the acre. They ship cream to the Kelowna Creamery, on an average 280 pounds a month, and the skim milk, of course, is fed to the pigs and calves. The Agurs used to go in largely for hogs, but they have sold them off and now keep just a few Duroc-Jerseys. They have but one team of horses, as they use the most up-to-date motor machinery for everything, even for spreading manure.

There are some thirty acres in alfalfa and roots, and three acres of sunflower. Another three acres are devoted to tomatoes with which the Agurs have been particularly successful, shipping thirty tons of them last season. The seed is sown under glass the first week in March, and the growers follow a special system of their own in planting out for early crops and rotation. The early prices, of course, are the ones to aim for, a 20-pound crate in July fetching $1.40 net. In 1920 the Agurs netted a total of $660 for their tomatoes, but reckoned that this was a poor year. On the principle that the best is local Union, was up the lake for a couple of days last week-end.

Master Willie Rice came in from the coast on Saturday to spend a few months with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. White. He intends attending school here.

Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright, of Okanagan Landing, were this week guests of Mrs. Cartwright's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore.

When one of the C. P. R. tug boats was down on Monday they picked up a small launch and left it moored near shore in front of town.

Government Road Foreman Murdin has taken on a few extra men and is busy blasting off some of the rock points on the Peachland-Summerland road, now working just below Mr. D. McLachlan's place.

DODGING INFLUENZA.

Taking Care at the Right Time Will Save One From More Serious Trouble.

Influenza is one of the most catching of winter diseases. During each winter many thousands of Canadians are laid up with it. While it is not in itself very serious it may have disastrous consequences. When to the loss of health, of time for work and pleasure, is added the suffering caused, this apparently mild disease has much to answer for.

Much of this suffering could be prevented if certain simple precautions were better understood and more generally adopted. The prevention of a simple cold often means the prevention of influenza or grippe, as it is sometimes called. Proper food, sensible clothes, plenty of sleep, good ventilation indoors and ample exercise in the fresh air all tend to strengthen our power of resistance and reduce the chance of infection.

The patient can do much to prevent the disease passing to others. The greatest care should be exercised to guard with a handkerchief all coughing and sneezing. Sputum should be safely deposited in a paper cup or handkerchief for destruction. Spitting is a dirty habit at all times but a spitter with grippe is a positive danger to his associates. To every person with influenza, pneumonia is a possibility. Bed is the only strategic ground on which to combat grippe germs. "Go to bed and remain there until your family doctor considers it safe for you to go out." A famous health authority gives this rule. It is the rule for safety and a rapid recovery.

Newspaper Advertising.

"Diogenes," in the Saturday Review, Victoria, has this to say on the subject of newspaper advertising that every business man who wishes to succeed, should read and ponder:

"The first privilege of a newspaper is to afford the whole community the widest possible opening for publicity, at the lowest rates, consistent with sound business. Liberal, but discriminating advertising is the sure foundation of any paper, and I venture to think there can be no better place for an advertisement than the pages of a newspaper, where it is accessible to all and offensive to none."

A sensible man doesn't care if he isn't good looking. He knows there are others.

None too good, they have a flock of 40 beautiful specimens of Solly's White Wyandottes, which Mrs. R. V. Agur makes her especial charge. They are kept in a long up-to-date house, scrupulously clean, and fed entirely on home-grown grain, so far as that part of the ration is concerned, while skim milk is plentiful. The best grain-feed for them Mr. Agur has found is "Quebec 28," and I certainly saw magnificent full-seeded cobs of this corn in the granary. He has made a specialty of "Quebec 25," taking many prizes with it and selling a good deal for seed.

A happy flock of Aylesbury ducks were disporting themselves in the pond, which was made for them by damming up the creek and this with its overhanging shade trees at the bottom of a sloping lawn makes a perfect beauty-spot in summer. There are a couple of creeks running through the estate, so they are never short of water.

In spite of his predilection for dairying and mixed farming, Mr. Agur agrees with many others when he says that tree-fruit is the best paying on most Okanagan farms as well as his own. There are 40 acres of orchard with trees of varying ages, chiefly apples, the varieties being McIntosh, Yellow Newtowns, Jonathan, Wagner, Gravenstein and Northern Spy. They shipped 6,000 boxes of apples this year and 400 crates of peaches. These last are grown all in one block and not merely used as fillers amongst the other trees, as many other growers use them; they are of the "Alberta" variety, and in 1920 these brought in $1.60 per crate, for "ones," "twos" and "threes."

There are also pears and twenty cherry trees grown in one long row from which 264 crates were shipped this year, bringing in net returns of $469.34. These figures do not include labor charges.

It is difficult to describe the beauty of the Balcomo Ranch, with its beautiful spreading fields and surroundings, comfortable red-roofed house with its many gables and porches, white walls, half-hidden in creepers, the lawns around it and flower garden with its long pergola supported by concrete pillars, the barns, cow-stables and other out-buildings in keeping to every detail. The pity of it all is that to admit of the estate being wound up it must be placed on the market. One cannot but hope that it will not altogether pass out of the hands of the family who have made it.

BOOKDOM'S BEST FOR B. C. HOMES

Provincial Travelling Library at Victoria Will Supply Individuals.

Although the days of something for nothing are generally conceded to have gone with the past, or never to have really existed, yet it is possible right now for any resident in British Columbia, at the cost of a three-cent stamp, or virtually nothing, to bring to his home any of a storehouse of 25,000 books. City library facilities are thus the possession of every rural resident.

By merely paying the trifling parcel post rates on the books any man or woman may borrow, from an excellently variegated selection, volumes on any subject he or she may be interested in.

Thousands are getting these books already, for they are in the Travelling Library at the Parliament Buildings, Victoria; but they are enjoying them chiefly through the auspices of various clubs and bodies, such as Women's Institutes, which have sent requests to this adjunct of the Provincial Library and have received boxes of books in return.

In this way, however, only a limited portion of the rural population of the province is benefitting by the library. It is the purpose of this article to enlighten as many as possible as to how they may individually profit by the great selection placed at their disposal, and as to what the selection comprises.

Thousands of Books. In the first place, the Travelling Library consists of stack upon stack of books stored temporarily some six floors under the main library floor of the Parliament Buildings. The word temporarily is used advisedly, for although this library may be found there permanently, its books are in such constant circulation that a returned volume has but a brief stay.

Yet there are thousands of books on the shelves at all times, although by no means always the same books. They stay until a request is received for them. In many cases their usefulness is wasted, however. When an application comes for a miscellaneous selection of volumes on special subjects, as Bee-farming, Dairying or Poultry Raising, they may be sent out and find at their destination no one particularly interested in them. Thus the books may lie idle for six months or so, or even longer. But if a special request is made individually by a man or woman for a volume on a subject in which he or she is particularly interested then it is assured that the most use is being made of the library.

It is the wish of Mr. Herbert Killam, secretary of the Public Library Commission, who supervises the operation of the Travelling Library, to intensify the work of the library in this wise as much as possible.

"The Travelling Library is designed almost entirely to suit the needs of the rural population of this province," said Mr. Killam in a recent interview.

Aid to Farmers. "The volumes, although many are fiction and designed purely for recreation, are to a large extent chosen from the viewpoint of the small community. Is a man interested in dairying; would he like to get more out of his cows; to care for them better than he is now doing, and so get better results,—we have a number of standard books on the subject that will help him.

"Likewise in the other phases of farm life. In fact, it is not too much to say that we can procure one a book on any subject that he or she may be interested in if it is pertinent.

ing to any matter that may come up in his life on farm, ranch or in small community. What we do not have in our own library we often find at our disposal on the shelves of the Provincial Library.

Mr. Killam cited the instance of a woman student of agriculture at the university in Vancouver, to show the wide scope of the Travelling Library. Desiring books for advanced study of a subject she was interested in, the student combed the University Library and the Public Library in Vancouver but without finding anything to assist her. When it began to look as if the study would have to be abandoned someone suggested the Travelling Library. From this source the lady received everything she required and finished her work successfully.

Some time later the lady wrote to the library asking for a book of books on poultry, with the stipulation, however, that they be so written as to be comprehensive to a boy of seventeen. Once again she had failed to find books in the Vancouver libraries, but the Travelling Library filled the bill. The boy is now well versed in the raising of poultry.

Evidence of another phase of the library's service was given by Mr. Killam when he cited the case of a young, illiterate rancher, living some miles from any school. From him came a request for books to enable him to overcome his deficiency. The request was unusual but among the library's 25,000 books were found some suitable for his study. When he was through with these, others were provided and the rancher has so far progressed by this time that he has read with great enjoyment such of the old favorites as "The Three Musketeers," "Lorna Doone" and others.

Relieves Drudgery.

Reference was next made by Mr. Killam to the great service the library is prepared to perform for the women on the farm and in the small community. Much of the drudgery and monotony of their life can be eliminated by drawing on the facilities of the library.

No one will gainsay that there is much drudgery and monotony, to say nothing of the depressing feeling of being away from the world, detached, out of it. To a certain extent magazines and farm papers offset this feeling, but, at best, their influence is ephemeral. Here then, the travelling library is prepared to step in.

Does a woman feel there is something wrong with the layout of her home? The library will send her books on simple architecture. From these she may learn much; at least she is bound to learn something. Likewise, if she would add new recipes to her present kitchen list she can, by simply requesting it, obtain from the library a number of books on the subject. She may keep the books for many weeks and, at her leisure, transfer the recipes that appeal to her into a scribbler or other note-book.

Likewise in every other phase of her daily life. Books on the sick room, on first aid to the injured—knowledge of which every woman should have—on sewing, even on millinery, can be got from this same source. Likewise books on the care of the children, on motherhood, and, especially, books for the children.

Books for Children.

Perhaps no section of the library's books have been chosen with greater care than have those for the youngsters. Nursery rhymes, fairy tales, nature studies—all the books dear to the child heart and mind are to be found on the shelves of this immense storehouse. Particularly have they been chosen with a view to getting books artistically illustrated. None of the weird grotesqueries of brush and pen to be found in cheaper children's books are to be found in these volumes, for it is the wish of the librarian to instil early in the child's heart a love of the artistic and beautiful. It is not instruction in the beautiful and artistic, but subtle inspiration to favor that which is refined as against that which is monstrous.

Other books for children include romances, which are none other than the dry, greatly dreaded, histories of our younger days. But so different are they now, so intensely alive and interesting. These, however, are meant principally for use by teachers who can assist the eager child mind to a better comprehension of the past with these profusely illustrated texts.

While speaking of children and teachers, Mr. Killam drew particular attention to the great work of instruction being accomplished by the various Women's Institutes of the province. Already they have done a great service to the Travelling Library by circulating the library's books, but Mr. Killam suggested that a still greater service could be accomplished if members of the institutes would themselves get up papers on the books the library sends out and would read them before the institute body.

Mr. Killam did not under-rate the work of outside lecturers paid by the institutes, but expressed it as his opinion that the women would benefit to a much larger extent if they would deliver their own lectures on the books placed at their disposal.

Booklets on Health.

In this regard he suggested as a starter lectures based on a set of fourteen booklets issued gratis by the Department of Health, Ottawa. These books, covering a wide range of subjects of daily interest to the average woman, can be obtained from the Travelling Library, by which they are loaned. Twenty-five copies of each booklet are at the disposal of the library.

A glance at the titles of the "Little Blue Books," as they are called, gives a fair idea of their scope which also includes aid to new residents in the Dominion. The books are:

1. Good Wishes to You from Canada.
2. How to Build the Canadian Home.
3. How to Make Our Canadian Home.
4. How to Make Outpost Homes in Canada.
5. Canadians Need Milk.
6. How We Cook in Canada.
7. How to Manage Housework in Canada.
8. How to Take Care of Mother.
9. How to Take Care of the Family.
10. How to Take Care of the Baby.
11. How to Take Care of the Children.
12. Household Cost Accounting in Canada.
13. How to Take Care of Household Waste.
14. How to Avoid Accidents and Give First Aid.

They may be obtained in either English or French.

Information for a further study of any of these topics may be obtained from the Travelling Library where entire shelves are devoted to volumes on women's daily problems.

A Real Service.

That the Travelling Library's service is real and that many are benefitting by it is in no way better attested than by the countless letters of thanks which the librarian receives. An excerpt from a not unusual letter is given below.

The writer, living in the neighborhood of Chilliwack, is a returned soldier. He desired a "good" book on the feeding of stock and a history of a particular period of the World War. The Travelling Library supplied the books. In returning them the recipient writes, in part:

"I am returning under separate cover, by this mail, the books I had from you: Henry's Feeds and Feeding," Stuart's "Feeding Animals" and two volumes of Nelson's "History of the War." I have been guilty of a somewhat irregular piece of business, inasmuch as I have kept these books beyond the allotted time and have lent them to three others, returned soldiers, who were very anxious to look into them at once and incidentally save cost of mailing. They were greatly interested and I think profited by Henry's "Feeds and Feeding." Stewart's is a good book, but Henry's is right up to date. The three men are in the dairy business, so I trust my reason will justify my act."

Although Mr. Killam selected the above books himself, being given only a general idea of the man's needs, he modestly declared that it was a mere nothing and seemed to imply that with the quality of books at his disposal selecting ones best fitted to a person's needs was a very simple matter.

Because of the nature of its circulation the library maintains no printed catalogue, and it is therefore best, in sending for books, to give only the subject they should cover. Mr. Killam and his assistants will do the rest. All letters should be addressed to the Public Library Commission, Parliament Buildings, Victoria.

SOME AUCTION SALE

The following is a copy of an auction notice, more than 70 years old, and as such is of considerable interest to present day readers, who are sometimes told of the good old-fashioned days:

HOUSE BURNS DOWN WHILE AT THEATRE

(Special to The Review)

Vancouver, March 1.—Returning from the theatre the other night with his family, James MacDonald found his home a smoldering mass of ruins. The cause of the fire is laid to the explosion of the furnace. It seems that before leaving the house, Mr. MacDonald filled the fire-pot with coal, to have the house warm when they came back, but neglected to lower the back draft. The gas given off, being unable to pass off exploded when the fire burnt up. The house and its contents were a total loss, but fortunately covered by insurance.

The fire inspector, who examined the ruins, sounded a warning to other householders, who would not emulate Mr. MacDonald's ill-fortune. He explained that coal when breaking up gives off a highly explosive gas, which, if ignited in the open, will only flare up, but when it is confined will explode with terrific force. If the back draft is left up the pressure of air holds the gas on top of the coal like a blanket, with the foregoing dire results.

FACE BURNT BY EXPLODING TIRE

(Special to The Review)

Vancouver, March 1.—John Cormack had his face very severely burnt and may lose the sight of one eye, as the result of a tire bursting while he was filling it with air. Cord tires, when new, lie very flat on the road and Mr. Cormack was testing his pressure with his thumb instead of a regular pressure gauge. The consequence was that he got over one hundred pounds of air in the tire before he was aware of it, and when the casing went the friction from the escaping air caused a five-foot flame, which passed across his face, burning his face and most of his hair off.

SOCIAL EVENING ENJOYED BY SCOTS

About one hundred members and friends were present at the whist drive and dance, held under the auspices of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society in the Parish Hall last Friday evening. Progressive whist was played until 10 o'clock, the prizes being awarded to Miss Fisher, Ben Newton and Geo. Yuile, when refreshments were provided by the ladies and an interesting program of dances, including some vigorous Scotch numbers, carried on until about 12 o'clock.

During the evening songs were contributed by Ben. Newton and Mrs. A. Fenwick, and a very interesting item was the reading of a letter from the St. Andrew's Society at Vernon, sending congratulations to the Summerland branch just formed.

Mrs. D. L. Sutherland, the official pianist of the society, presided at the piano, ably assisted by Miss Bertha Johnston, while Tom Ramsay, with his concertina and H. B. Mair with his violin, added greatly to the success of the evening.

About thirty new members joined the society, the total membership of which is now fifty.

Recent changes with respect to examination of public school pupils seeking admission to high schools have been approved by the Council of Public Instruction. In schools of the class such as the Summerland Central, the Department of Education in June will examine 40 per cent. of the pupils approved by the principal. These pupils will be the lowest in rank. The others will be promoted on the principal's recommendation.

SPEAKS HERE ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Prof. Boggs Heard in Able Address on Present Day Economics.

Prof. T. H. Boggs, of the University of British Columbia, dealt with the subject of "Unemployment," in a very able manner in his lecture in St. Andrew's Church last Friday night, under the auspices of the Summerland Branch of the Social Service Council.

Rev. H. E. Livingstone, who occupied the chair, called on Prin. D. J. Welsh to introduce the lecturer. In doing so, Mr. Welsh stated there were two factors that go to make up a great university. First, great students who possess inherited ability and a thirst for knowledge; second, great professors, men of high scholarship, force of character and strong personality. The U. B. C., declared Mr. Welsh, is fortunate in possessing both. Already many of her graduates are commanding attention in the realms of science and literature; while the staff is made up of the best scholars obtainable in Canada.

Dr. Boggs is a Canadian by birth and training and has achieved distinction in the field of economics and was prepared to bring to the audience the best and latest suggestions for relief of the present economic distress.

Dr. Boggs prefaced his address by speaking of the very high regard in which the university faculty holds the students from Summerland and other parts of the Okanagan. Kelowna, he said, has sent the largest percentage of students to the university of any town or district in the province.

The business depressions in England during the last 140 years were referred to and it was shown that revivals followed depressions in complete cycles. Also in Canada and in the United States, the years 1868, 1879, 1884, 1893, 1905, 1908 were marked more or less by business depressions. The present depression began in 1920.

Some of the underlying causes given were, business changes affecting capital and labor, maladjustment of industrial activities, price collapse following inflation of prices. In a number of the leading countries, the amount of paper money increased since 1914 from seven and one-half billions to 125 billions, while the gold backing it had fallen from 87 per cent to 6 per cent, and the paper money of some countries was almost worthless. The national debts increased from 40 billions to 400 billions and had doubled since the armistice. Extravagant expenditures led to precarious business conditions.

While prices continued to rise, business was apparently prosperous but with the drop in prices in 1920 came the great change. Consumers' strikes and "frozen credits" were also contributing causes.

Unemployment was prevalent in Great Britain in the 16th century. Since then the measure of unemployment has varied from 25 to 75 per 1,000. In 1916 it was only 4 per 1,000. In Canada and the United States it was 10 per 1,000.

States a smaller number would apply, while the last reports from Ottawa show an alarming increase. The causes mentioned were decline of industries, seasonal character of business, and business depression. Unemployment is not a casual or accidental affair, but a usual condition which marks a weakness in our economic system, able-bodied, earnest willing men were unable to secure work in a land abounding with the sources of wealth. The opinion of Secretary Hoover, of the United States Department of Commerce, was quoted that unemployment was inefficient, unhuman and degrading.

Remedies suggested were measures of relief and of prevention. The former were temporary not fundamental, and included the bread line, soup kitchens, stonebreaking, government credits, etc. Preventive measures suggested were the establishment of government employment bureaus and labor exchanges, of training camps and farm colonies, of unemployment insurance on equitable terms and the creation by national, provincial and municipal authorities of funds to provide for periods of returning depression. Interesting evidence and statistics were quoted bearing on the favorable experience of other countries with some of these topics.

A somewhat lengthy and interesting discussion followed. Those participating were Messrs. Riley, Logie, Ritchie, Kolley, Cline and Welsh.

DRUG RUNNERS MAY BE COMING

Because of the publicity which is being given to the campaign against the sale and use of narcotic drugs in Vancouver, some of the drug peddlers are taking to cover in the small towns and rural parts of the province where they are continuing their nefarious trade. Because of this province-wide moral and health problem, the Provincial Division of the Canadian Red Cross is sending this warning to be published in every newspaper in the province in order that not only the officials but all citizens, especially teachers and parents, should be on the alert against the insidious traffic in drugs.

Dance halls need special watching. Watch the stranger in town. Avoid "snow" parties, where snuff (cocaine) is given. Close chaperonage of girls is the greatest safeguard, and parents should insist on this.

The habit begins by the snuffing of cocaine, which causes a feeling of exhilaration. After three or four doses the user cannot sleep and must then resort to morphine.

The eight-day clock is a hard worker and a chronic kicker.

PERSONAL HEALTH FORUM SUBJECT

Dr. Pirie Deals With Important Topic in Practical Address Last Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon a very appreciative audience heard Dr. Pirie speak on the question of "Personal Health," at the Open Forum.

Introducing his subject, the speaker said he would avoid technical terms, and call a shin bone a shin bone since that is the name by which it is best known among the common people.

Apart from character, personal health was perhaps our greatest asset in life. Some might have heard of the man who spent his health to get his wealth and then spent his wealth endeavoring to regain his health.

There were four great essentials that formed the basis of personal health: (1) diet; (2) exercise; (3) rest, and (4) mental poise. There were many secondary things that entered into the issue, such as inherited tendencies, environment, occupation and accident, but it was in general terms he spoke.

Concisely health is the proper functioning of the human system in accordance with nature's laws and when any part of any of the human system failed to function and to properly fulfill nature's purpose, we became ill at ease, or, to use the common term, we had dis-ease (dis-ease).

We have seven different systems, all co-operating and co-relating with each other, viz., the respiratory, the digestive, the circulatory, nervous, eliminative, generative and muscular. Dr. Pirie described these systems and their relation to each other. It was essential that harmony and co-operation should be maintained in connection with the cell life of the body, and it is our food, exercise, rest and mental attitude that formed the basis of the health and function of these.

Citing nature as being regular in all its activities, the speaker advocated greater regularity at meals, declaring mankind was the most irregular in habit of all living things that controlled their habits of life. Diets should not be mixed too much, there should be no drinking at meals, and all worry or work should be avoided during meal time.

He urged that eating should not be merely a social function but a scientific act intended to supply the needs of the body. Water should be taken early and often, two quarts daily or more still for better results.

The speaker contended that most people wear too much clothes. From the standpoint of personal health, clothes should be worn for warmth and protection. Warmth is best maintained by stimulating the circulation within the body rather than by wearing heavy clothing. Too much clothing tends to suppress and discourage nature's effort, to maintain proper heat by blood circulation.

The doctor then dealt successively with the questions of exercise, rest and mental poise, discussing in a most interesting and intelligent manner the relation of each to personal health.

Health was not something that could be had out of a bottle, or secured in any way outside of one's self. Good health was generated within ourselves, and only as we knew or adjusted ourselves to natural laws of living could we have good health.

Some discussion took place at the close of the address, and a number of questions, written and oral, were asked and replied to by the speaker. T. H. Riley occupied the chair.

Surprising Intelligence.

BORING REVEALS SEAMS OF COAL

Local Company Finds Deposits in Workable Quantities, Says Manager.

Interviewed by a representative of The Review this week as to the progress made at the property of the White Lake Collieries, Ltd., Mr. G. R. Hookham, the managing director, reported that the results of the drilling have given the greatest satisfaction. The last hole drilled, 450 feet in depth, had proved an aggregate of twenty feet of coal, including three seams of workable size from a commercial point of view.

The development of this property the value of which is now clearly established, will, without doubt, be an important factor in opening up all the southern Okanagan, and we extend to Mr. Hookham and his directors our congratulations on the success which has attended their enterprise.

ROUTE PATRONS WITHOUT MAIL

 more than 50 per cent. of the rural routes in the province.

Uncertainty as to when to meet the courier on the route was much complained of and comparisons made with former couriers. In reply to a question the postmaster declared that the K. V. R. mail from the Coast was not the occasion of the irregular service. He personally had the mail arranged ready for the courier by the time the latter arrived, and sometimes it was awaiting him an hour before his coming. Route patrons informed the inspector that while Mrs. Orr was on the route she did not vary more than 15 minutes from schedule, while Mr. Caldwell was anywhere from one to three hours behind time.

To enquiries, the inspector stated that the boxes along the route must be left closed; punctuality and regularity were some of the most important factors of the service; the courier should carry a box for mail collected and not use his pockets as alleged.

The question of stamp service was discussed at length, Mr. Hayes stating that this was his chief complaint as only through the sale of stamps was he recompensed for his services. The courier was only selling $3 worth of stamps each month, where the sale should be $50. R. V. Agur looked upon this question of stamps as a vital thing, and others agreed that the courier should provide the stamps used along the route.

The delegation was assured by Inspector Trant that a satisfactory service would be maintained. The inspector and contractor and the latter's solicitor, W. C. Kelley, held a long conference Wednesday afternoon, and we are informed that Mr. Caldwell's hour of departure from the post office has been changed to 10 o'clock; that he has promised to give a regular service and to carry an ample supply of stamps. Inspector Trant expressed the wish that patrons will co-operate by purchasing their stamps from the courier. Mr. Hayes has agreed to replace the oil heater with an electric heater.

We understand that Mr. Caldwell informed the inspector that he would not again tender for the contract.

WOULD CHANGE SELLING PLANS

"That the town council is hereby asked to give the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union an option for three years to purchase the four lots on the lake front between the government and C. P. R. wharves."

"That this annual general meeting of shareholders of the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union recommends that its board of directors nominate Mr. T. Powell to be our representative on the Central Board of the O. U. G. for the ensuing year."

It was intimated that the secretary was thinking of giving up his position, but after strong pressure was brought to bear on him by those present he finally consented to serve for another year, but asked that the Union be prepared to let him drop out at the end of this year.

Mr. Thos. Powell submitted plans and estimated cost of a new packing house with a frost-proof basement, and the following resolution was passed by the meeting: "That the board of directors constitute themselves a committee on proposed new building and report later."

The newly-elected board of directors of the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union held their organization meeting last week and the following is the result: Major Tallyour, president; Dr. Buchanan, vice-president. A motion was carried to re-engage Mr. Dryden as secretary for the current year at present salary, and that he be allowed to hire whatever help he may require, such help to be paid by the Union. Mr. Hardy was elected as director in charge of the packing house and Mr. Ferguson director in charge of the feed department.

WEST SUMMERLAND BRANCH—A. B. Morkill, Manager

The resignation of the manager, Mr. Atkinson, was accepted and a motion passed to engage Wm. Buchanan as manager.

The board elected Major Hardisty to be the representative on the Central board. The shareholders in annual meeting, as stated above, had unanimously recommended to the incoming board that they appoint Mr. Thos. Powell as the Peachland representative to the Central. As a result, considerable indignation is expressed by some of the members and many are perplexed to understand the action of the board, particularly in view of the fact that at the annual meeting no objection was made to Mr. Powell being the representative. Some are seriously talking of refusing to sign up on the new five-year contract as a protest. When seen about the matter Mr. Powell smiled and said he sincerely hoped none of his friends, and he has many, will be foolish enough to quit the Union.

ANTI-DUMPING

Laws to Continue in Effect is Assurance Given B. C. F. G. A.—Better Sanitary Conditions Wanted.

That there will be no changes in the present laws with respect to the importation of fruit into Canada, was the statement made by R. V. Agur, one of the directors of the B. C. F. G. A., at the regular meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening. This matter has been before the new government at Ottawa, and the B. C. F. G. A. officials are quite confident that the anti-dumping clause will remain in force for this year at least.

The secretary was advised that the third annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of the province is to be held in the capital city on the last three days of this month. It was decided to hold a special meeting on the 21st to prepare resolutions and appoint a delegate to this convention.

Much indignation was expressed by members over the action of the provincial public works employees in entering upon and cutting trees and removing gravel from Crescent Beach properties, privately owned. R. V. Agur is one of those who have suffered, and introduced the subject at the Board of Trade meeting. His property is near the Point and is fenced. He claimed that very serious damage had been done to the property by the road gang in removing large quantities of gravel and the cutting of trees. He had taken this matter up with the foreman, who claimed that the government had full right to do what they had done. There was a lengthy discussion over this matter and much resentment

LOCAL GARAGES AMALGAMATED

Bentley Joins Peckham and Nesbitt & Foster Take Over Young's Garage.

With the coming of spring there materializes the culmination of new plans for the season, and in this regard a number of changes are developing, and new ventures are being started, among the business men of Summerland.

Amongst the number appearing in this issue, is the amalgamation of the Ned Bentley Garage in West Summerland, with the Summerland Garage, carried on by Messrs. Nelson & Peckham, by which Mr. Bentley's business up town is closed and he joins forces with Mr. Peckham in the downtown garage, Mr. C. P. Nelson retiring from the business.

Almost simultaneously with the foregoing, comes the announcement of the taking over of T. B. Young's garage repair work by Messrs. Nesbitt & Foster, who will give up their downtown business premises and take over from Mr. Young the garage at West Summerland.

These two changes will mean the elimination of two garages, leaving two auto repair shops in West Summerland and one in Summerland to handle the local business.

The real estate business is to be augmented by the addition of H. M. Zumsden, who has decided to enter the "lists" in the business arena, and whose advertisement appears elsewhere in this issue.

The absence of two-thirds of our staff on account of the "flu" epidemic, during the last ten days, has seriously affected the efficient management of the business, as it has curtailed our endeavors to cover the news of the district, as well as the mechanical end in printing the paper, and we ask our readers to make allowance accordingly.

shown. The secretary was instructed to write Victoria on the subject and the matter will also be taken up with District Engineer Gwyer.

The improvement of sanitary conditions around the business centre of West Summerland was again up for discussion and after being considered from many angles was referred to the civic improvement committee.

Originating with the Vancouver Board of Trade, the boards throughout the province are preparing for "B. C. Invitation Week," which is to be held from April 10 to 16 inclusive, and the movement was endorsed by the Summerland Board and preparations will be made to make the campaign effective in advertising this district.

President J. C. Freeman occupied the chair and the attendance was good considering that the Fruit Union meeting had been largely attended from 10 o'clock until after 6.

Our enterprising citizen, W. W. Borton, makes an interesting announcement in the advertising columns of this issue. For the past year or two Mr. Borton has been doing quite a business in metal fluming and is now launching out into the manufacture of this much used commodity in a larger way. He returned on Tuesday from a visit to Vancouver, where he ordered the necessary equipment and some tons of steel metal, specially manufactured for rust resisting qualities. Already he has orders booked for many thousand feet of fluming and immediately the machinery arrives it will be set up and the making of flumes started.

Mr. Borton expects that this new undertaking will require the employing of several more men.

Mr. Cross makes a brief formal announcement of the change elsewhere in these columns.

When questioned as to his plans for the future, Mr. Cross said that he had been here but a few hours and had nothing definite to give out at the present time. He has engaged two members of the staff of the old concern, Miss Arkell and Mr. Vaughan, who will be in charge of their respective departments as formerly.

Penticton, March 8.—G. P. Gibbons, manager of the Hotel Incola, was charged before Magistrate T. A. Pope, in the municipal police court, this morning, with assaulting W. C. Bray, recently head waiter at the hotel, last Saturday afternoon on Main street. The magistrate found the defendant guilty of the assault, since it was admitted that he struck the first blow, but in view of the fact that the court considered there had been provocation and that Bray inflicted more punishment on Gibbons than was justifiable, the defendant was not fined. He was bound over to keep the peace for twelve months.

A prominent western judge says: "It is time to revert to the good old principle of punishment in the home and then there will be less punishment to be done in the courts."

Large Attendance at All-day Annual Meeting of Members—Greatly Regret Withdrawal From Office of E. R. Simpson, Five Years President.

More Working Capital Voted—Some Criticism, But Mostly of Constructive Nature—Not Ready to Criticise Operations of Central.

The annual shareholders meeting of the Summerland Fruit Union is said to be more largely attended than that of any similar organization in the Okanagan, and it will be hard for any other local to exceed the attendance at the meeting held on Tuesday when the Empire Hall was filled almost to capacity from 10 o'clock in the morning till after 6.

The gathering was in some respects the most interesting held for some years, and the general impression resulting is that co-operation as practised by this organization of fruit growers is more firmly established than ever before.

The annual financial statement and report was presented in printed form and was discussed at some length.

A number of questions prepared at an earlier meeting of shareholders, were presented by Mr. G. I. Gray. These were answered by the president, Mr. E. R. Simpson.

Some of the information this drew out was that the pre-cooling plant is not an expense to the local union. It was installed for experimental purposes by the provincial government; is operated by the Union for the O. U. G., which pays 3 1/2 cents per package.

The total annual cost to the Union for the storage building for 1922 will be $11,870.

The salary paid the manager in 1921 was $250 and the secretary-treasurer, $200.

The contingent liability of the Union because of members' notes under discount, and which was not shown in the statement, was acquired by Mr. Gray. This paper totaled $108,000 and will be reduced to $40,000.

These loans were made on crop estimates made by the manager as to

The 1922 Directors of the Summerland Fruit Union elected at the annual meeting of the shareholders, held on Tuesday, are:

quantity, and by the board as to values.

The aim of the board had been to keep these loans within 60 per cent. of the estimated value of the individual member's crop. Hail, winds, shortage of water, and heavy drop in prices all unanticipated, had made it necessary to carry over some of these loans. No provision was made to supervise the expenditure of money loaned. This is the only Union in the Valley that makes advances to growers. Total advances made to directors were $11,400.

To a question as to overhead charge, Secretary T. G. Beavis was asked to reply. The total local charges against apples was 70 cents including packers' and other wages, box, paper and nails. Nine and a half cents was also charged by the Central.

President Simpson recommended a closer check on box and other materials. This account should be so handled that it would be known where losses, if any, occurred. Boxes were too valuable to allow any one who pleased to take them away. A record should be kept of every box.

Another question related to the wrapping of early apples. Mrs. Fosbery quoted a prairie man, head of a retail merchants' organization, advising that early apples be unwrapped. This occasioned considerable discussion, in which W. J. McDowall, general manager of the O. U. G., took part. He said, while there is a certain limited trade for unwrapped crates, most of the fruit must go farther afield and be wrapped. Wrapping was also a protection to the fruit. Central had consistently urged growers to ship Wealthy's in crates. Now the trade does not want crates, because the shippers have not maintained the standard of quality; a buyer did not know what he was likely to get when he bought crates.

Mr. C. E. Barnes, who had just returned from the fruit conference at Ottawa, said that B. C. had endeavored to get legislation to cut out anything below number three apples in crates. There had not been the slightest idea that this would meet with opposition, but the east seemingly suspicious, had voted solidly against it.

Another question proposed by Mr. Gray, asked if the executive was aware that at this time, while the storage building is empty, there is a good demand for late apples.

Mr. McDowall replied to this to the effect that in the opinion of the sales manager it had been deemed advisable to get the fruit away to distant markets. Experience had been that better prices were realized earlier in the season than at other times. Apples would not bring the present price if the fruit was in storage here. Another reason for the early marketing was the belief that the 1921 crop was not going to hold up. Apples seemed to ripen unusually early. Apples put in cold storage, such as McIntosh and Jonathan shipped to New York, were holding up exceptionally well and were creating somewhat of a sensation among the trade in that city. So favorable was the impression, he confidently predicted direct f.o.b. sales will result.

Mr. Gray—Are the local directors able to hold and store, or must they ship at the direction of the O. U. G.?

Mr. Simpson—They may do so. My own opinion is that having good storage situated as is the new storage building, it would be advisable to store late apples. A grower can elect to have his apples of right varieties pooled with other stored apples. To another question Mr. Simpson replied that all the directors shipped through the O. U. G., with (Continued on Page 6)

Organization Further Advanced at Recent Meeting
—Large Membership.

Considerable progress was made in the plans and organization of the Lakeside Recreation Club at another general meeting of the members, held at the Summerland Hotel on Wednesday evening, with President Leslie in the chair. Reports were received from committees, and grounds were decided upon for tennis courts and bowling green, to be situated centrally on Shaughnessy and Beach avenues. Following considerable discussion, membership fees were fixed by resolution, and the energies of the members will be devoted to the laying out of the tennis court at once. A large number were present, and the membership is expected to reach over 70 in the near future.

E. J. WHITE GOES TO MERRITT BRANCH

Will be Succeeded Here as Manager Bank of Montreal
by C. B. Winters.

Notification has been received by Mr. E. J. White, local manager of the Bank of Montreal, of his transfer to the Merritt office of the same institution. In view of the fact that the bank does considerably larger business at Merritt than here, where there is more competition in the banking business than in the Nicola centre, this is really a promotion for Mr. White, who, with Mrs. White and their daughter will be leaving within a fortnight to take up his new duties. Mr. White will be succeeded here by Mr. C. B. Winters now in charge of the branch at Armstrong. Mr. Winters has followed Mr. White in his promotions for several years, having succeeded him at Enderby, Armstrong and now here.

He is well spoken of and is familiar with Okanagan and general western conditions. Mr. Winters takes an active interest in community life and, we are informed, will be quite an addition to local musical and amateur theatrical circles.

The regular monthly meeting of the Naramata Board of Trade was held on Monday, March 6th, President George Weaver in the chair. There was a good attendance and several matters of interest were dealt with. A communication from the Vancouver Board suggesting various means of giving publicity to the attractions and resources of British Columbia, and it was decided to offer prizes to pupils in the local schools for the best letter along such lines, addressed to friends in the prairie provinces. Amongst other subjects handled in the meeting were certain improvements in Robinson avenue contemplated for the coming

TWELVE MONTHS HARD LABOR

Sentence Received by Charles
Barnes Recently Arrived
Here From Prairies.

PLEADED GUILTY

Said He Needed House Furniture,
so Helped Himself
From College Buildings—
Arrested at Grand Forks.

Chas. Barnes, whose arrest was effected at Grand Forks last week was brought back to Summerland off Thursday morning, and his case was remanded until Friday afternoon.

After hearing the evidence of H. H. Elsey, Jas. Ritchie, Mrs. Margery Borton, Bernard Taylor and W. J. Rutherford, Police Magistrate Hutten committed the accused for trial, and he was handed over to the provincial police on Saturday. W. C. Kelley appeared for the prosecution.

That it is the intention of those in charge of the property to prosecute any who break into the college buildings, is the statement made to The Review this week. We are informed that several locks have been broken, and that although put to considerable expense by barricading the premises, these have been removed. This they are determined to stop.

One year's imprisonment with hard labor, was the sentence meted out to Charles Barnes, whose arrest on the charge of having stolen goods in his possession was reported in last week's Review. Barnes elected for a speedy trial and his case came before County Court Judge J. R. Brown on Wednesday at Penticton. Barnes pleaded guilty and stated that he had come to Summerland from Sceptre, Sask., about three months ago. Living at the foot of the hill near the college buildings, and wanting furniture, he had helped himself, the larger pieces having been moved under cover of darkness. W. C. Kelley prosecuted for the Attorney-General's Department.

RAISING MONEY FOR SPORTS GROUNDS

Summerland Amateur Athletic Association Applying for Charter.

A subscription list for shares in the Summerland Amateur Athletic Association, now seeking incorporation, is being circulated. The promoters of the association have taken an option on Crescent Beach sports ground at a price of $1500, and have made a deposit of $50, $250 more being required to complete the first payment. It is confidently expected that this amount will have been raised by the time The Review is in print.

MAIL ORDER INCUBATORS COMING IN BY THE SCORE

(Special to The Review.)
Vancouver, March 2.—If there are any incubators made in this province, few of the provincial poultry raisers seem to know about it, for the incubator mail order people across the line have been doing a rushing business for months, according to trade reports and import manifests. It is seen that more than 34 incubators went into the Okanagan district between November and February 18th. Of course, many more probably went, but these are on record. During the months of December and January, and up to Feb. 18, the Fraser Valley poultry people bought about 36 mail order incubators from the States, while many more mail order incubators were received by suburban householders.

General appreciation was expressed at the president's announcement that Mr. J. M. Robinson had kindly placed his new offices at the disposal of the board for its meetings. The meeting adjourned at 10.15.

EARLIER WINTERS.

Mr. Geo. C. Rose, editor of the Kelowna Courier, may well be termed one of the pioneers of his district, being among those who took up residence in the Valley more than 30 years ago, and so what he says on the subject of early "exceptional winters" in the Okanagan may be taken as authentic. The following extract from an editorial in last week's Courier, will be read with interest:

In an exceptional winter such as the present, long and steadily cold without any abnormally severe temperatures, it would be interesting to know whether the pioneers of the 60's, 70's and 80's had occasionally to endure similar conditions. When not set down upon paper, the recollections of old-timers in such matters are apt to be nebulous and inexact as to degrees of cold, and periods of duration. As a "chechako" of the immature vintage of 1891, we can write only of the 90's and of the memorable freeze of February, 1893, which has not since been equalled in the history of the Okanagan. The traditional oldest inhabitant at that time could not remember of such a cold spell in previous years, so perhaps it constitutes a record.

Fortunately, we do not have to trust to memory for all the recollections of that extremely chilly February. From an old notebook, which chronicled in a fragmentary way a few notable circumstances, the following extract is taken:

"Sunday, Jan. 29, 1893. Cold weather began this day. Wind from the north accompanied by a low temperature. The cold lasted, with drifting snow, until Thursday, Feb. 2. The thermometer at Lequime's showed readings every night at 6 o'clock lower than 20 below zero. At Lequime's on Monday, the 30th, at 6 o'clock, the reading was 26 below, and on the same night at Conroy's it was said to have been as low as 38 below. Thursday at noon it was 4 below. The cold moderated on Thursday night and although frosty at this date, Sunday, Feb. 5th, the cold is not severe."

But the mischief was done; the lake had frozen over. The little steamer "Penticton" could not break the ice, and for several weeks following the little town of Kelowna, born only the preceding year, had to fall back upon road transport from Vernon. The ice was so thick and strong that sleighs crossed with hay and wood from the present Westbank. The exact date when the ice broke up is not mentioned in the notebook, but an entry under date of March 15th states, "rowed across the lake," so that the water could not have been open very long, as there was need to get to the west side as early as possible in connection with representation of a pre-emption.

ONLY! IS MORE CORRECT.

"Canada's population is over 8,770,000," says headlines that tell of Federal census results. Of course, it is good news to know that our population is growing, but somehow it would seem more the truth to realize that "Canada's Population is ONLY 8,770,000." Looking at the plain facts, our census increase is not what we would wish. Canada's growth is steady, but it is too steady and not getting ahead fast enough. Our own good province can stand ten times its present population, and then have room for more. Our rich farm acres need more settlers, more orchards, more sheep and cows. Some of the provinces made good progress, but giving them all a looking over, it is not seen that Canada is making much headway with increasing numbers. Away back in 1912, the population stood at about 7,000,000, leaving us with about one and three-fourths million addition people to show for a decade. In the same time our American neighbors gained more than 20,000,000 and immigrants are pouring in at the rate of half a million a month. It is nice to know our Dominion is growing, but it would be nicer to know the growth were a little stronger. In other words, our immigration problem does not seem to be working out very well.

OUR ALIEN SETTLERS.

A protest arises against the colonization of Ukrainians, Armenians, Mormons and others alien to the Canadian and British element of this province. Districts affected by the proposed colonization object to their coming, and the prospective settlers claim there is unjust prejudice. The Doukhobors are largely responsible for this condition. These extremists suggest other problems to follow by encouraging unusual sects and unfamiliar aliens to the rural acres of British Columbia. It is hard to accept the stranger without understanding him. Armenians wishing to settle in the Okanagan and the Cariboo country are objectionable, say many. They are probably all they claim in being thrifty, law-abiding and good agriculturists, but are they of the desirable, assimilative class necessary to make a permanent race of future Canadians? It is conceded that the Mormons are also thrifty, making excellent farmers, miners and stock-raisers, but they, too, form an unusual race not easily understood, and theirs is a sect whose proselytizing might not prove popular with the majority of people in the community in which they would colonize. They have traditions to live down. While there are thousands of British subjects available for colonizing British Columbia's vacant acres there hardly seems the necessity to encourage aliens to these parts. Religious freedom is as it should be, but surely we can get along without religious fanaticism in our midst.

NEEDLESS EXPENSE.

In his last issue of the Kelowna Courier says: "Practically all the contributed matter and local correspondence in this issue arrived at the Courier office yesterday, so, if the paper is late in spite of working until 3 o'clock this morning, our readers will know the reason why. Apparently the evil habit of procrastination has too grim a grip upon the majority of people in the community to permit them to remember the Golden Rule or to think of the hardships their remissness entails upon others.

"There are others," neighbor! We experience with every issue the same difficulty. Perhaps we are somewhat to blame ourselves in not sufficiently informing our friends on this subject and because of our desire to accommodate. Sometimes we wonder if the general public believes that the type matter of The Review is set up and the paper printed and mailed inside of two days, such is the flood of matter that comes in upon us on Wednesdays and Thursdays, much of it that we could have handled to better advantage to all concerned two or three days earlier and which could just as well have been in the printers' hands at that time. Frequently we have to work "overtime" and every week are put to extra expense and occasionally have we missed the mails through this thoughtlessness or lack of knowledge of the actual conditions.

Our office rules require that all changes of contract advertising be in by Tuesday noon, if on Monday morning, so much the better. News should be sent in as it occurs.

THEY SHOULD COME HERE.

Over in the Old Country, the hop-pickers of Kent are raising a wail of protest against the hop growing industry of Canada and the States. Marching through the streets of London, the protesting hop pickers are singing a refrain that goes like this:

And shall hops picked by Chinamen,
Make England's hop trade die!
Here's forty thousand Kentish men
Who'd know the reason why.

Those 4,000 Kentish men are misinformed. At least, our hop fields of British Columbia are not in the hands of Chinamen—yet. It might be a good idea for those 40,000 Kentish men to migrate to British Columbia and abandon their crowded, sparse hop fields and other meager fields of labor. We have thousands of acres here, all ready to be filled.

Tempus fugit; time flies; and now it's nearly fly time.

Possibly permanent peace may be established in the Free State of Ireland, at least for March 17.

Now, if Mr. Peter Veregin will only issue picture post cards of his Doukhobor colony and organize a Board of Trade or something, his publicity campaign should be perfect.

Consular report, published in The Province tells of millions of American dollars ready to be diverted to British Columbia industrial, mining and agricultural enterprises. Which adds another sign to prospects of better times for B. C.

Here is an object lesson in the mail order trade and the "wisdom" of certain B. C. manufacturers: About 100 mail order incubators were shipped to B. C. from the Yankee factories within the past few months, and all the time a couple of incubator plants in B. C. have been waiting for orders. But nobody knew a thing about them. They knew better than to spend money on advertising!

B. C. Manufacturers' Association says Made-in-B. C. campaign was organized to diffuse propaganda and given fund for publicity purposes. The Association resents criticism of accusations made by weeklies that say they have been "worked" for gratuitous advertising. It is none of our business to place the blame: all we know is that some of the weeklies did rather more than a public duty boosting the B. C. product and barely got thanks for it.

Has the smooth stock salesman called on you, yet? Reports from some of the interior weeklies tell of a crew of "sure thing" stock specialists getting away with the savings of workers and the crop receipts of farmers. If you have any money to invest, consult your banker. Make sure the money will be safe. If it goes out of town in some of the spurious "investments" now on the market, you may be sure the agent gets out-fourth, his boss gets another rake-off, another fourth goes to "overhead expenses," and a very small fraction ultimately reaches the project itself—perhaps.

A Business Change

Mr. Frank Cross, recently of Vancouver, announces to the buying public of the Summerland District that he has purchased the stock-in-trade, together with furniture and fixtures, formerly owned by the

and that he has re-opened the store for business.

The patronage of the customers of his predecessors and of the general public is respectfully solicited. You will find Miss Arkell and Mr. Vaughan in their accustomed places and ready to serve you with goods at prices that will please you.

Some further announcement of interest to the public will be made shortly.

A SCOTCH SOCIAL

As usual on Saturday forenoon the village worthies met in the back shop of Jock Tamson, the saidler, to discuss the affairs of the place and arrange other folks business generally.

Jock himself, a Scot of quiet pawky humor, usually enjoyed playing the part of listener, but would occasionally break forth in story as he sat plying his awl along the paraphernalia of his trade, while the others found positions of comfort such as on the orchard box, the "shewin" machine stool, or maybe leaning against the wall. Once in a while someone would drop in who was unfortunate enough to have been born on the other side of the border, and usually before he left, Jock would manage, in a few well chosen sentences, to convey to him his sincere sympathy that the visitor belonged elsewhere than to the land of thistles and heather.

The discussion this morning had centred on the Scotch dance the previous night. "Weel, whit did ye think o' the social?" says Jock, by way of introduction. "Man, it wis jist fine—jist like a rare auld kintra yin," says Jamie Anderson, "and the way they had a wee while at the cards, then a bit sang, and afterhin the dancin', wis whit a wid ca' a perfect arrangement." "Some o' thon cairds wis awfu' sticky," says Sandy Tosh. "A bate ye thon packs has been in the fairly fur a generation or two," but Sandy was never quite pleased with anything, like the grumbler who got to heaven and complained that his croon didna fit, so nobody paid much attention.

"Thon president body wis jist the richt man fur the job, and tae listen tae yon tongue o' his A had jist to close ma een and A thoct A wis awa hame at Speyside," says another, Willie Wabster. "Aw, dae ye hear him gettin' poetic," says Sandy. "A doot he's hed a stone ginger afore he left hame, an' forbye yon lad didna come frae Speyside ony-wei, but faur faurrer north, in fae' if ye wis ony faurrer north, ye wid get droon't in Scappa." "Fine A ken that, but it wis jist his hielan tongue A likit," retorts Willie.

"Man," continues Willie, "A wis rale vexed thon meenister, wisna there; he wis a guid yin. Thon yin that tell't us a' about Rabbe at the concert." "Ay, aye, it's an awfu' peety about him." "Peety! whit wey peety?" was the chorus that greeted this remark. "A jist mean peety about him bein' a Baptist and sich a brow lad," explains Willie. "Aye," says Jock, an' anither peety is he'll be a teetotaler tae—man, if he wisna, whit na nicht ye could hae wi' him. A bate ye his heid's as fou o' bawrs as a wulk's fou o' meat. Aye, they'll be at the tip o' his tongue and him no able tae tell them for fear o' affrontin' himsel'."

"There wis a lot o' folk there that wis rale sorry for theirsel's," chimes in Jamie. "A mean sorry they werena Scotch. A heard yin o' them tryin' tae git a bit hooch at the dancin', but A warn't him, says A. "Watch yerse, ma mannie" it taks generations o' tannin' and treatment wi' the mountain dew tae mak a thrapple stau a rale Scotch hooch; sae ca' canny or ye'll maybe get larry-giticks or pit yer Aidan's apple oot o' jint a' thegither." Jamie's hearers heartily agreed with his statement.

"It wis a mercifu' providence they hidna anither haggis like thon yin at the last social," says Jock. "A heard that a wumman taen it hame and fed it tae her hens and hauf o' them deed tryin' tae lay tairtau eggs. It pits ye in min' o' the cullan wha went until a penter's shop seekin' a pun o' strippit pent fur a barber's pole."

"Thon's a great yin at the pianny," quoth Jamie, "thon Mrs. Calthness; it maks an awfu' difference tae get guid music like yon fur the jiggin'." "Aye," says Sandy, "and Tam Soutar wis awfu' guid wi' the concerteeny; man, it pit me in min' o' the fern lasses an' lads dancin' at the cross roads—in Nithdale thirty year ago."

"You wisna a concerteeny, thon wis a melodyum," says Jock. "The concerteeny is the roon kin', leastweys the kinna flat sidit roon yins." "Aweel, it disna maitter," says Sandy, "an' the way auld Tam kept his fit gaun it wis as guid as a hale orchestry."

"Weel A hope we hae anither yin sune," says Jamie. "Man ye-ve nae idea the feed A had. Some mis-guided lassie left a hale ashet fu' o' beps richt in front o' me an' anither kep' fillin' ma tinny every time she passed, an' man A clean't up the hale rick ma tick." "Eh man," says Jock, "talkin' o' eatin', its twa meenits tae twal, lowsin time," and, taking off his apron, threw it on the bench and donned his coat preparatory to going for dinner, and the cronies went their various ways. SEESTU.

THE "ANTI-DUMPING" CLAUSE

How it Operates as Applied to Apples

Some of our readers may not clearly understand what the "anti-dumping clause" means, so for their benefit, in the light of recent developments over that portion of the customs regulations we will attempt to explain the workings of this clause as we see it.

Briefly, it is a proposition which calls for duty for value in the tariff. It refers not only to fruit grown in Canada, but also to any other articles produced by farm or factory within the Dominion. It has no reference, however, to such things as dates and oranges, or to type-setting machines, because these articles are not produced within the Dominion.

The design of the anti-dumping clause is to prevent importers who pick up slaughter stocks abroad, from bringing the goods into Canada and prostrating local industries. For instance, the anti-dumping clause has the effect of shutting out a lot of German goods.

Such a clause is not a new thing. Australia and New Zealand both enforce it. Great Britain and the United States also have it, and they are more rigid indeed than is Canada, because they place the "cost of production" not as in the country of origin, but as in their own production centres. Thus outside goods entering those countries have to come in at the local cost of production.

Here is where the anti-dumping regulation affects the fruit industry in B. C. The growers of Washington and Oregon produce a much larger amount of apples than is grown in this province, and naturally have larger markets. They grow three grades, known as Extra Fancy, Fancy and C grade. Generally speaking, they attempt to keep the C grade stuff away from the home markets in the big cities where they sell Extra Fancy and Fancy. It is axiomatic that if expensive fruit and cheap fruit get on to the same market the lower priced article will have a tendency to bring down the price of the better goods.

Any year there is a surplus stock of fruit the American growers are glad to ship a few hundred cars into Western Canada, and they nearly always ship in the C grade apples. Five hundred cars of fruit would not mean a great deal to the American growers because of the large quantity they produce, but thrown upon a Canadian market at slaughter prices, such an amount would prostrate the B. C. shippers.

The fruit growers of B. C. do not ask for excessive returns, but they do believe that their home markets should be held for them so they can sell at cost plus a small return. To allow the much larger growing areas of the United States to "slough" off surplus low grade fruit into Canada merely means ruin for the local growers, because B. C. producers lack the number of big city high-priced markets open to American growers, and consequently they have to sell their good fruit on the same markets as are reached by the slaughtered American C grade. The C grade pulls down the price and the Okanagan man finds himself forced to get rid of his very best fruit at a heavy loss.

Now this is how the anti-dumping clause works out. The Canadian government has computed the cost of apples in the country of origin and places the cost in Wenatchee at 80 cents per box loose. To this is added 65 cents for packing and handling. The total is $1.45 per box, to which is then added, say ten cents, for profit, making a total of $1.55.

If a wholesaler on the prairies or at the coast brings in a shipment of these apples at $1.00 per box plus freight, which often happens, he is really buying at an unfair price because the stuff cannot be produced for that figure. But the American growers do not mind getting rid of a few hundred cars at a little above packing charges, because they know that the more fruit of that class they can keep off their high priced markets in the eastern cities, the more money they can make in the aggregate.

C grade apples cost as much to grow and pack as do the Extra Fancy, hence the anti-dumping clause hits them harder, so to speak, and gives the better class apples of the B. C. growers a fair chance on the Canadian markets.

The customs officer in dealing with an apple importation, at say a dollar a box, levies the ordinary duty of thirty cents per box. But he also says to the importer: "Our figures show that it costs $1.45 to grow and pack these apples, plus ten cents for profit. You are buying them at $1.00. The government therefore requires you to put up another 55 cents so that when you bring these apples in, you will be importing them at about what it really costs the American grower to produce them."

It can readily be seen that if the importers have to pay a price equal to the cost of production they will not be so keen for the foreign fruit.

At the same time, fair competition still continues because B. C. growers have no advantage over the American grower except the standing specific duty of 30 cents per box. In view of the fact that production costs are higher in this country in any case, the net result of the specific duty and of the anti-dumping clause is to give the two sets of growers about an even break on the Canadian market.

The American government has an anti-dumping clause in force against Canadian and other foreign goods, so why shouldn't we have one against American goods, for the benefit of our own producers?

So long as a tariff wall and tariff devices do not give local growers and local manufacturers any extra protection above their actual production costs, surely it does no harm to the consumer. As a general economic principle, no consumer has a right to expect to buy articles for less than they cost, no matter where they are produced. And more than that, we ought never to ruin our own industries, whether manufacturing or farming, simply because other people of outside lands have reasons for desiring to "dump" a lot of their goods into our country.

SHIPS MUST DEPEND ON BRITISH CHARTS

Would Take United States Five Years to Become Independent in This Matter.

United States navy hydrographic records have disclosed the fact that there are 1200 points on the globe to which ships of the navy as well as the merchant marine necessarily navigate on British admiralty charts, if navigation is to be accomplished. It means, says the New York Commercial, that the United States though aspiring to a navy equal to any, and a merchant marine surpassing all, has failed to chart the seas on its own behalf in about one-third of the navigable globe. Failure of congress to furnish adequate appropriations is held responsible by the hydrographic office.

In the Eastern Atlantic waters and along the west coast of Europe there are 712 different charts employed by American battleships and merchant marine vessels. Exactly 539, or 75 per cent. of those are British admiralty charts made available to us during the recent war in which we happened to be associated with the British.

Admiral L. H. Chandler, head of the hydrographic office, in his last appearance before congress, told members of the appropriations committee that with sufficient funds the United States might become independent of the British Admiralty office within five years. At the pres-

Lloyd George is Outstanding Character—International Relations.

(Contributed)

At an address given to the Canadian Club in Vancouver by Mr. Isaac Marcossou, feature writer for the Saturday Evening Post, a word picture of famous men and the present state of affairs in European countries today, held his large audience enthralled from the first word to the end.

He described Mr. David Lloyd George as the most vital, most interesting and most dynamic of all men he had met. He had a God-given gift of oratory, and by closing one's eyes, one could imagine he was in a great cathedral, so wonderful was his golden tongue.

Of M. Clemenceau, former Premier of France, he drew a very vivid word picture. A little man with a thin face covered with a beard, wearing grey silk gloves. The tragedy of this great man was that he was forgotten, the same as the Pöllus. "If one man deserved to be made President of France," Mr. Marcossou said, "that man was M. Clemenceau." He went on to say that the politicians were in power in France at the present time and that due to them, there was as great a breach between Great Britain and France now as there was in Napoleon's time.

Germany as a country is bankrupt, stated Mr. Marcossou, but individually they are not much worse than the rest of the world. In describing his interview with President Ebert, he said the president walked up and down the room crying like a child, while he described the state his country had come to. Of Hugo Stinnes, the real ruler of the German people, he described a little man with a black bow tie, that was always around the side of his neck trying to get above his collar, and most times succeeding. He was a man born with a trust in his hand, and who at 17 years of age formed his first syndicate. He was now the head or on the board of 92 large corporations, and by this forming of trusts and syndicates had eliminated all competition. Hamburg, was back to 60 per cent of its former shipping business and by the year 1927 would be on a pre-war basis.

The hatred between countries today is far more intense than at any time before the war. Mr. Marcossou blames this on the Treaty of Versailles, by which the countries were split up on a sentimental basis instead of from a commercial standpoint. Goods going from a point in Hungary to a point in Italy take eight weeks where formerly it took four days. The car has to be unloaded eight different times at various boundaries. If a car was allowed to get into another country it would be broken up and used for firewood, by the people.

ent rate, he said, such independence will never come.

Of the 310 charts necessary for navigation around Australia and the East Indies Islands, 237, or 46 per cent. of them are available only through the courtesy of the British Admiralty Office. With the United States in a war which precluded the British Empire from lending such aid an American battleship would have to await completion of a chart.

Wholly aside from the naval aspect of the hydrographic situation, which has its picture of American battleships waiting a month or two to give battle for lack of navigation charts, the development of the merchant marine has resulted in most profitable activities for the British Admiralty chart agents in this country.

In addition to the thousands of dollars being spent by the navy each year for these charts, which the British are willing to sell now, the American merchant ships are furnishing a land office business for the British. Statistics have shown that 37 per cent. of the American shipping goes regularly into the European waters where the British must be depended upon for charts.

Current Events of Town and District

Naramata fares well this year in representation on the Board of Directors of the Fruit Union. In addition to Mr. W. S. Young, who was re-elected, Mr. M. Wilson and Mr. H. B. Morley were added to the board at the recent meeting in Summerland.

A meeting of the Naramata B. C. F. G. A. local will be held on the evening of March 14th at 7.30, in the Unity Club. The question of "Compulsory Spraying" will be the subject of a debate, and Mr. G. Weaver will give an address on "Bees and Their Advantages."

Mr. Campbell Robinson left on Sunday for Vancouver en route to Dawson. Mr. J. M. Robinson also went to the Coast on Sunday.

A card-party in aid of cemetery funds, was held in the club-house last Thursday evening. Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Rushbury, and Mrs. Wells being hostesses. The first prizes were won by Miss Chapman and Mr. Bert Partridge. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present.

Mr. W. S. Young spent a short time at the Coast recently.

Miss Chapman, who has been spending the last nine months in the Cariboo, is in Naramata visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. Duke, and expects to stay for the summer.

The fourth and last of the series of musicales held at Reklom recently, took place last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Myles played the violin, accompanied by Mrs. Myles; Mrs. Walters played several piano selections, and Mr. F. Graham, of Summerland, sang. The program was a very enjoyable one.

Class leaders in Miss Huntley's room this month are: Junior 4th—Howard Routh; senior 3rd, Sarah Dobie; junior 3rd, Robert Horswill; senior 2nd, Eileen Horswill. In Mrs. Coates' room—Junior 2nd, Katharine Robinson; first reader, Bruce Dobie; first primer, Robert Walker; beginners, Betty Watson.

The epidemic of mild "flu" which closed the schools of Summerland this week has so far visited Naramata very lightly. There are a goodly number of sore throats, headaches, etc., among children, but few cases of any severity. Mrs. Hughes is confined to bed, and Mrs. Amaron was taken to Penitence hospital for observation of after-effects of a rather prolonged and obstinate influenza. Both are reported as improving. Other cases have been mild.

"INCUBATION"

Address by C. W. TRAVES, Poultry Expert. One of series of Winter Course held here under auspices of B.C.F.G.A.

Mr. C. W. Traves, of the poultry branch of the live stock division of the Department of Agriculture, addressed the meeting on "Incubation." Before taking up his subject Mr. Traves spoke briefly on the advantages which had been secured from the development of the co-operative association at the coast to take care of the marketing of the products in the poultry industry. The output was now controlled, the surplus being put in cold storage, and the producers were now storing more eggs than the wholesalers, which, of course, meant that the market was stabilized. The grading of eggs had also been greatly improved so that the association at the coast was actually supplying many stores in the interior of the province in competition with local poultrymen. It was proposed to establish a station at Vernon, where eggs would be candled and graded and when orders were received from points in the interior which could be served from this point, the Vernon station would take care of the business. It was hoped a similar station would be established at Nelson.

Mr. Traves then passed on to his subject, "Incubation." Dealing first with the breeding stock, the speaker urged that no forcing for eggs should be practiced on the birds to be used in the breeding pen, and care should be taken that they did not get too fat. Some producers were tempted to force the stock when the price of eggs was from 85c to 90c a dozen, and then, in the spring, when they wanted eggs for hatching, they had to buy them from some other breeders at $1.50 per dozen, and if they could not get the eggs, they had to secure day-old chicks. If the birds were too fat, the fattening rations should be cut down, as a large portion of the eggs from such stock proved non fertile, and such chicks as hatched out were not good layers. Eggs for hatching should be carefully handled. At this time of the year they should be collected at least every half hour, otherwise they would be liable to get chilled and prove non-fertile. The eggs should not be kept in too warm a place. Incubation started at 75 degrees, and, with a varying temperature the germs would get partly developed and finally die out. Eggs could be safely kept for two weeks but if kept longer than that period the percentage hatching out very rapidly decreased. If kept more than one week it was advisable to turn the eggs at least once a day.

Passing on to incubation the speaker dealt first of all with the care that should be exercised with setting hens. It was absolutely essential to give the hen a good dusting with some good disinfectant to kill off the lice and the nest should also be treated with some good insect powder. Unless these precautions were taken the hen would simply be plastered with lice to say nothing of the mites which would attack her at night. If the hen were kept comfortable a better hatch would be secured, as a rule, than with the incubator.

Of the three types of incubators, the electric, hot air and hot water, there was really not much difference. It cost a little more to put in a 240 to 300 egg machine than an incubator of smaller capacity, but it cost no more to operate. Every firm issued instructions with their particular type of incubator, but each incubator had to be studied especially with regard to the temperature. The normal incubation temperature was about 103 degrees. Incubation should be started at from 101 to 102 degrees for the first week or so and then raised to 103 degrees for the last ten days. The incubator should be thoroughly tried out and a steady temperature established before the eggs were put in. Incubators should be washed out with soap and water and a little disinfectant, and care should be taken that they were thoroughly dry and free from all odors. There was a lot of tuberculosis in the interior and just recently he had come across two instances of poultrymen with tuberculosis in their flocks. If the incubators were not thoroughly cleaned out any disease which the previous batch left behind would affect the young chicks. Eggs selected for hatching should average 24 oz. to the dozen and all extra large and small eggs and eggs of shape should be rejected. The flock must be carefully built up, capable of producing a large uniform size of eggs.

During the incubation period the eggs should be candled and all showing blood spots and rotten spots rejected. The weak, watery eggs would not go far in the process of incubation. White shelled eggs could be candled about the fourth day and brown ones about the seventh day. They should be candled again about the fourteenth day. Care should be exercised that the incubator was perfectly level, as a difference of say half an inch in a 500 egg machine would mean a very serious difference in the temperature at one end of the incubator which would force the development along at a higher rate than the germ could stand and result in a poor hatch. The question of moisture depended on the size of the air cell, and the most satisfactory way of introducing moisture was by a pan of moist sand. The eggs should be turned over at least twice a day, and, if the time were available, three or four times. The hen turned the eggs from 13 to 17 times every twenty-four hours. Care should be taken that the hands are always clean when handling the eggs, as eggs marked with coal oil or soiled did not give the same percentage of hatching. Different opinions were held as to cooling. The temperature should be reduced to about 90 or 85 degrees, but not any lower, and the door kept closed.

Replying to questions, Mr. Traves stated that, for the heavier breeds, the first hatch should be from the end of March to the beginning of April and for the lighter breeds from the middle of April to the beginning of May. The symptoms of tuberculosis were to be seen in the birds getting pale about the head. The breast bone got very thin and at an early stage, began to kink, while the intestines and liver showed white spots. There was certainly danger of infection from such birds. In the average flock affected about 80 to 90 per cent would die. The only method was to kill the birds affected and bury the carcasses. If the flock were small one it should be cleaned out entirely. Tuberculosis was mostly found in the mixed breeds and well-bred flocks were rarely affected.

To cleanse a chicken house thoroughly it should be saturated, using a solution containing creolin or some other disinfectant. A force pump, such as was used in spraying orchards, was absolutely necessary.

FEEDING OF FOWL

Requirements if the Birds Are to Lay Well and Prove Profitable.

That hens may do all that is expected of them, and hoped for from them in the way of egg production, they must be tended properly. Of prime importance in this direction is their feeding. Experience has shown by actual test at the Dominion Experimental Farms that for successful feeding it is necessary to use grains, both whole and ground, green food, animal food, a liberal supply of water and grit and oyster shell. Charcoal, says the assistant to the Dominion Poultry Husbandman in his bulletin on "Poultry Feeds and Feeding," can also be used with advantage. In this bulletin the subject is dealt with very fully and analytically and studied in conjunction with another publication from the same source by a different author, namely, the superintendent of the Experimental Station at Cap Rouge, Que., on "Beef Scrap versus Skim Milk for Egg Production," may be accepted as about conveying all the information desired by intelligent people who would be successful with the breeding and rearing of poultry. The one conclusion arrived at by both authors is that grain alone is insufficient for the feeding of fowl. They must also have animal and mineral food in some form. The most valuable of these are green cut bone, beef scrap, and skim milk, the two last mentioned being preferable. Of these two, skim milk is the best aid to egg productiveness. It can be fed either sour or sweet, but always one or the other, and not alternately lest bowel trouble result. Green cut bones, for the same reason, must be given in moderation and absolutely fresh. Beef scrap and meat meal have been found by experiments to be the equal of fresh cut bone and meat and are higher in protein content. Table scraps with grain are satisfactory for small back-yard flocks, but farm flocks need something more, the run about space being larger and more diversified. Another important point for the poultryman to observe is regularity in feeding no matter what method is pursued. Garden truck, clovers and alfalfa, properly cured, and the tubers as roots of Jerusalem artichokes, are especially good for winter feeding. Sprouted grains, particularly oats, keep the breeding stock in good condition.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FRUIT UNION

one exception, he having permission to ship produce independently.

To the question, "Why were two officials of the O. U. G. canvassers for the Storage Company," President Simpson replied that as the storage plant would be of great importance to the O. U. G., he himself had requested that Mr. Barnes be permitted to take up this work. His own time, seven weeks in all, had been given entirely at his own expense. Even if he had been paid by the Union, it would not have been irregular, as under the contract between the Union and the Storage Company, the former was to bear organization expenses.

Answering another question, he declared that the canvassers had not taken advantage of any inside knowledge of the position of the growers canvassed. Each was asked to subscribe in proportion to the estimate of his apple crop. They had not been able to get everybody to subscribe for the proportion allotted them.

Answering a statement by Mrs. Fosbery to the effect that Mr. Simpson had threatened that the Union would not handle a man's crop unless he subscribed to the Storage Company, Mr. Simpson said that in effect that was true. The Union directors had decided that they could take on no more contracts until additional warehouse accommodation was available. He had obtained permission, however, to enter into contract with any who were subscribing to the Storage Company.

H. Salting, Naramata, remarked that Summerland people seemed to look upon subscriptions to the new building as a tax; Naramata people had considered theirs as an investment.

Balloting for directors closed at 3 o'clock and the result showed only four out of the fourteen candidates had received a majority of votes, these being H. B. Morley and W. S. Young, nominated by Naramata and supported by practically all the members, M. G. Wilson and G. I. Gray. Accordingly a second ballot was taken. Only one, C. P. Evans, received a majority of ballots cast in this voting, and by a motion, the two receiving the next highest ballots were elected, and the secretary instructed to cast a ballot accordingly. These were G. Thorner and G. F. Sinclair.

M. G. Wilson addressed the meeting at some length on the question of management. He said none had read the financial statement without serious misgivings. The principal cause is that the directors have expended so much in non-liquid assets. These may have been necessary, but there was shown a large investment in such assets in excess of paid-up capital.

He suggested that the new directors consider liquidating some of these assets, proposing the sale of the motor trucks. Business could be done cheaper by employing local truckmen. He criticized the carrying over of a heavy stock at the end of 1920. He had visited all the packing houses in the district, Union and independent, and had found that the unions were elaborately equipped and over-manned. Mr. Wilson charged that fruit had been pilfered unmercifully, employees helping themselves generously. He hoped in future the growers' fruit would be safeguarded. He deplored the fact that the storage building erected at the instigation of the O. U. G., was not being used, while nearby markets were clamoring for fruit. He urged all present to stand by the Union and to preach economy.

The fact that pools had not been closed at the end of the fiscal year resulted in some comparatively large figures shown in both assets and liabilities, and these figures occasioned considerable criticism. During the discussion, it was brought out that $10,000 had been expended in equipment, and $10,000 in the new building at Naramata. President Simpson explained that it had been anticipated that the 5 per cent. reserve would have provided this extra capital. However, arrangements had been made for the Naramata members to finance their building.

A question as to who was responsible for the large carry-over of box material from 1920, provoked much discussion, the president accepting for the directors ultimate responsibility. Other speakers placed this on the manager, who in his turn explained that they had ordered heavily in anticipation of a big crop in 1920. He had endeavored to have the orders reduced later. Mr. McDowall explained that every local was in a similar position because of the partial crop failure.

The financial report was unanimously adopted. Mr. J. A. Kirk protested against the blue ruin way in which some looked upon the statement. The $7000 deficit in general trading account was the difference between the early estimate of the directors as to the cost per package of the season's operations and the actual results. This was not serious. He supported the recommendation of the directors of a 6 per cent. dividend on paid-up capital. Others spoke in like strain, while some opposed the dividend, which carried.

By a motion, the directors were instructed to nominate representation in Central.

Another motion instructed the directors to retain 5 per cent. of the net value of fruit and vegetables to provide additional working capital. This carried unanimously.

A resolution from Vernon Fruit Union proposing that each local appoint one of a commission to engage an expert to investigate and make recommendations with respect to the O. U. G. and branch offices, was presented. After some discussion this was left over for a later meeting. No charges were made, but greater efficiency, if possible, was sought.

At the request of the meeting, W. J. McDowall, general manager of the O. U. G., spoke briefly on the subject of marketing. He regretted that the annual statement of the O. U. G. had not been issued in time for this meeting. It would be completed in two or three days and it was agreed that a meeting of the Summerland shareholders would be held to receive that, and hear Sales Manager Chas. Lowe and other Central officials.

Prices were low, said Mr. McDowall, but he assured his hearers that there had been no cutting by the O. U. G. Rather than cut prices, apples had been shipped to New York, thinking to make a clean up of the prairie markets. Prairie farmers had received extremely low prices, and they had to a large extent cut out the buying of better grade fruit. He quoted one letter showing why prairie buyers would not pay quoted prices, which were resented as being too high. The sales manager felt that New York could and would pay the price and every expert states that this was the wisest move that Lowe could have made. The prairies had taken but 40 per cent. of the output. Apple shipments were made as follows:

Interior B. C.	39
Vancouver	112
Calgary	201
Edmonton	186
Regina	144
Winnipeg	351
Eastern Canada	155
United States	802
Old Country	384
Norway	1
New Zealand	1

Mr. McDowall urged for additional tonnage as of advantage to the grower, the local and Central. The very large increased tonnage of last season had been handled by the O. U. G. at little additional cost. To bring down local overhead expenses greater tonnage should be produced. The total charges of the O. U. G. are 9 1/2¢ a package. In the United States similar service cost growers, 12 1/2 and 15¢. The big organization marketing the Skookum brand, charged 11¢, although it had a much larger tonnage than the O. U. G. Greater production per acre would do more to bring down the cost and net a profit to the grower than any possible reduction in handling and selling expenses. It had been shown that at Wenatchee it cost $1 a box less to grow apples in orchards yielding 500 boxes than those yielding 200.

The heavy carry over from 1920 had made the Summerland local charge per package excessive, 70¢ as compared with 56¢ at Vernon. This difference, however, he attributed partly to larger tonnage handled by the Vernon Union. Central must secure from 90 to 95 per cent. of the B. C. fruit crop to guard against demoralized markets. The junk stuff being shipped to the prairies kills prices. Wider markets must be sought, and every hole and corner of the prairies reached and supplied.

To a question, Mr. McDowall said there were 370 cars of apples in storage, fifty of which have probably been sold, but not yet reported. All were in good condition. Present New York prices were $3 to $3.50. About five cars per day were being sold. Growers must be prepared in future for late returns. He suggested the fiscal year should be made from April to April. Old Country returns have run from $1.40 to $1.60, f.o.b. shipping point. Other sales $1.25 to $1.40. Apple pools would be closing from now on, and the last returns should be made by April 15th.

A resolution proposed by Messrs. Gray and Ritchie to the effect that quarterly meetings of the members be held, when statements as to local conditions, and reports from Central could be received, was adopted.

An indemnity of $3 per meeting was voted each director.

Very hearty appreciation was expressed for the services given by the retiring president, E. R. Simpson. Mr. G. Thorner said that for the five years or more he had been on

MORMON LEADER ENQUIRES ABOUT APPLE RAISING HERE

(Special to The Review)

Vancouver, March 8.—It is quite possible that a number of Mormons may find their way to British Columbia, as reports tell of a desire evinced in parts of Utah where members of the sect are now looking with interest toward British Columbia. Most of these people are engaged in general farming, but seed-fruit growing appears to interest them most. From Salt Lake City a communication was received this week by the Pacific Press Service, Vancouver, seeking information relating to the extent of this industry in B. C. The letter also said: "Some unjust prejudice prevails against the Church of the Latter Day Saints. We do not practice polygamy, but obey the law in every detail. Our people are industrious and thrifty." There are several Mormons now conducting public meetings here. In their number is Rufus Samuel Munn, an elder of the church. From the visiting Mormons it is learned that the prospective settlers are well financed, while others who would come as toilers, would be aided in acquiring land. There are already about 1,000 Mormons in British Columbia, it is said. It is also reported they intend erecting a church in Vancouver.

the board and under the presidency of Mr. Simpson, the latter had served faithfully and well. He will be hard to replace. He proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Simpson for his eight years' service, for five of which he was president.

Major Hutton, in seconding the resolution, said that not only was Mr. Simpson thoroughly capable, but he had given much of his time. In responding, Mr. Simpson said it was very hard to express fully his appreciation of the cordial expressions. He had not decided to withdraw without a good deal of regret. The greatest work was not done by the directors, but by the hearty support of the individual growers. He expected to be one of those loyal private members.

Before adjourning, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary for the excellent lunch provided by them.

RECORD OPERATION ON GIRL FOR APPENDICITIS

Special to The Review.

Vancouver, March 8.—Local and provincial records in operations for appendicitis have apparently been broken in the case of Miss Irene Secord, youngest daughter of Mr. T. E. Secord, of the Canada Hotel. The actual time from her leaving the ward to her return, safely after the operation, was rather less than 12 minutes. This is regarded as most unusual in medical circles, as it generally takes from 35 minutes to one hour to perform the operation. Miss Secord, a beautiful and popular girl, who graduated in Toronto, was stricken and rushed to the General Hospital, where an operation was deemed necessary to save her life. She was whisked to the operating room, placed under ether, operated upon and returned to her ward, and had regained sensibility before she realized what had happened.

Many a man's credit is bad because he is unable to make good.

TO RENEW FLUME AND PIPE LINES

Water Carrier Near Gymnasium Is to Be Replaced

NEW WORKS ALSO ON BENTLEY LINE

Council Prepares For Season's Work on Irrigation System

The regular meeting of the municipal council was held on Tuesday, with all members present. J. A. Greenhill, of Penticton, as representative of the Penticton Sawmill Company, the Canada Iron Ingot Company and the Pacific Coast Pipe Company, the latter being also represented by Mr. James, waited on the council with particulars and quotations of stove fluming and wood pipe. They were promised the quotations would receive attention, and later in the day, it was arranged to secure from the Canada Iron Ingot Co. metal fluming to replace the old flume on the Prairie Creek main near the gymnasium and Rev. W. A. Alexander's house and also adjacent to Mr. Bennett's property on Paradise Flat.

Following a discussion as to the service on what is known as the Bentley line, it was decided this pipe line must be renewed, and instructions were accordingly given to order the 1900 feet required.

It was reported that an order for lumber had been placed with the Summerland Lumber Co. and the Community Lumber Co., and that a price had been set which would maintain for the season's supply.

The clerk reported that Mr. Greenhill of Penticton had asked for the price on the pump formerly used at Trout Creek. The reeve will investigate and fix prices both on the engine and pump.

Besides the usual order for elastogun Foreman H. Tomlin asked that authority be given to secure two barrels of refined tar, the use of which had given good results at other points in the valley. Instructions were given that the tar be ordered.

Wages for fluming for the season were established as follows: Rough carpenters, 45c per hour; handy men, 40c per hour; laborers, 35c per hour. Foreman H. Tomlin reported that of the hose at Summerland there were still five good lengths. Three lengths had been damaged.

Asking for an assurance that flume serving part of his property would be renewed this coming season, E. F. Sanborn waited on the council, claiming that owing to the poor condition of the flume he had lost the crop off two acres of alfalfa last year, besides some valuable fruit trees. He was promised the matter would receive attention.

Part of the property of Captain Temple in District Lot 675 is irrigated from a box on the adjoining property of Mr. Russell, the water being at present conveyed in a ditch. As the service had proved very unsatisfactory in the past it was arranged that a pipe line be laid from the box to the Temple property.

The clerk reported that, owing to gravel having been removed from the roadside and part of the pipe exposed the four-inch pipe between A. E. Roses property and Harvey Phinney's had been frozen. Instructions were given to have the pipe line thoroughly covered up as soon as the pipe thawed out, and it was decided that action be taken against anyone found removing gravel from the roadside.

The committee appointed to investigate as to the letting of the tax sale property at Summerland recommended that the request of the Summerland Improvement Club for the use of the lots as a children's playground be granted.

Practically all the tax sale property held by the municipality will be advertised for sale, following the recommendation of the committee appointed to look into the matter.

The reeve reported further as to the negotiations with James Ritchie relative to the latter's claim for shale removed from District Lot 3397. The matter was held over until the next meeting of the council.

The clerk reported that the electric light rates by-law had received the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council. One of the regulations in this new by-law relating to arrears provided that if rates in arrears are not paid by the end of the month following the month in which service was given the service will be discontinued.

A bill of $31.00 from Mr. McKeever of Penticton, for services rendered in connection with the introduction of the Kootenay Power service, was referred to the municipal electrician.

The accounts for the month, amounting to $6960.50, of which $3200 related to school expenditure, were

TROUT CREEK FARMERS' INSTITUTE

The Trout Creek Farmers' Institute held their regular monthly meeting at the school on Monday evening last, when there was a good attendance. The secretary, Mr. Geo. W. Johnson, gave his report on the district convention held at Vernon on February 17th and 18th, giving an outline of the resolutions dealt with at this convention, also at the one held last year. These covered many and varied points on which the lot of the agriculturists of the province could be improved, but, as was made apparent at this convention, these resolutions both from the Farmers' Institutes and from the United Farmers of B. C., have not, in the past, been given the serious consideration by the legislative assembly that they deserve.

This was followed by an illustrated talk on "Fungi," by Mr. H. R. McLarty. A number of cultures of fungi and bacteria were brought from his laboratory and the Experimental Station and these served as a basis for illustrating the manner in which fungi grow and how they can be studied. Several of the fungi shown were those causing economic losses to fruit and vegetables and the speaker described just how each of them caused their particular disease. Some cultures of the organism causing Fire Blight were also shown and the procedure described that is necessary in investigating a problem in connection with this disease.

PENTICTON UNION MEN ARE PANICKY

Status of O. U. G. Rather Uncertain in Town at Foot of the Lake

Penticton growers, members of the co-operative organization, are showing signs of panic that may seriously affect the future of this organization, according to the following, taken from the Penticton Herald:

It was reported among local fruit growers today that the directors of the Penticton Co-operative Growers, had decided to offer all growers who had signed the five-year contract this winter an opportunity to cancel it. This step has been taken, it is said, in order that all growers may be placed upon exactly the same basis. Many of the adverse reports as to O. U. G. returns came subsequent to the signing of these contracts and the local union directors are reported to be taking the view that all those now tied up to a five-year contract should have until the final returns are in, which will be about April 15, to cancel if they so desire.

The local union has about 100 growers shipping through it, of whom 63 have signed the five-year contract. Tonnage prospects are not any too good, however, as while the number of growers attaching themselves to the union is holding up, some of the larger shippers have dropped away.

It is claimed that the directors of the union consider the situation one warranting very close attention in order to provide an increased tonnage in view of the heavy overhead now to be faced. Commenting editorially on the subject the Herald says:

STAY BY THE O. U. G.

Some of the growers of Penticton talk of quitting the union because they claim they can obtain better prices through independents.

If they do get these better prices, is it not because of the existence of the union?

Suppose the number remaining in the union becomes so small that the local co-operative organization drops out of the fruit game. That means examined and passed for payment. It was reported that the provincial board of health had approved of the proposed winter pipe line, and instructions given that negotiations be completed for the necessary right of way.

A claim by Ernest Smith for $125 for the loss of a cow which the pound-keeper had endeavored to impound was held over for further information.

A communication was submitted from A. Stark asking permission to change the position of the gasoline tank to a point near his new location. Permission was granted, the work to be done to the satisfaction of Foreman Tomlin.

The meeting adjourned at 11.15, the next meeting to be at the call of the reeve.

Sixty Thousand Dollars Damage Done in Blaze in Summerland Business Area

The total loss in Monday's conflagration was $60,700, with insurance of $34,550, according to latest estimates from available information:

In addition to the above the Summerland Telephone Company suffered a loss of about $350 by destruction of a section of its cable and the burning of instruments. The Okanagan Telephone Company also suffered. The Summerland Development Company and W. J. Robinson and the Peachland Township Company suffered losses in office equipment.

With a loss of something like $100,000 and the most important business section of the town in ruins, the Okanagan lake shore town of Summerland suffered the most serious conflagration since its inception on Monday morning, just about the time when the early risers were getting about.

Believed to have started from a fire made by a Chinese employee in the basement of Simpson & Gowans' store a small quantity of smoke was seen by a few of the early passersby, which was immediately followed by flames bursting out all around the base of the building, which it enveloped in a few minutes. So quickly did the fire gain possession, and so dense the smoke, that both the owners of the store, were unable to get downstairs from the living rooms over the store, and had to jump out of the upstairs windows in their night attire. Mr. Gowans receiving a bad cut on his arm from the glass in making his escape.

Many willing workers were soon on the spot and efforts were made to get the water on the burning building, and after a good deal of delay, two small streams were played on the flames, which had then included the Development Company's office, but were of little avail. A slight wind arose shortly after the fire started and soon made it obvious that the block was doomed, and the energies of the hosemen was directed to endeavoring to save The Review block, which was separated from the store by about 70 feet. For quite a while it was confidently hoped that the fire would be kept confined to the one block, but in spite of all efforts, the flames reached out hungrily and caught the roof of The Review block, and ate its way down in a surprisingly short time to the basement, wiping out in its path the printing office and plant, together with the office of the Bank of Montreal and the suits of rooms over it.

Although separated by an open space, the post office and Government Telegraph office was the next attacked, and in a short while was a mass of ruins. Meanwhile the glass in the windows of the office building belonging to J. R. Brown and the shoe repair shop of C. Rovers, and the garage of the Summerland Fruit Union on the opposite side of the street were shattered and these buildings also became ignited, making the street itself a veritable inferno, in which nothing could live, and putting a complete stop to the ineffectual attempts of the firemen.

Although built of cement and separated quite a distance from these latter buildings, the Empire Hall block, which included the Stark Supply Co.'s store and another which was fortunately empty at the time and having above the large auditorium, and at the rear end of the offices of the Dominion Bank, was seen to be in flames on the roof and the attention of the hose people was directed to saving this block, if possible. Only by the hardest and most energetic work were the helpers able to do this, and even then the whole of the upstairs portion of the building was completely gutted.

One of the most unfortunate occurrences was the firing by flying cinders of the beautiful residence occupied by W. J. Robinson, and situated hundreds of feet above and away from the scene of the conflagration, and its eventual complete loss, when owing to the fact of the water pipes being frozen, the necessary in the first place to extinguish occupants were unable to obtain a full of water which was all that was quish the incipient blaze. Many willing hands, however, gathered to the help of the occupants and owing to the flames burning from the top of the house down, everything was taken out of the burning building and safely removed to a distance. Mr. W. J. Robinson, whose wife was in the hospital at the time, was himself a sufferer from an attack of the "flu" at the time, and with the children had to be got out of bed and the building by the hurried efforts of the first helpers, on the scene, Mr. Robinson himself being too weak to do anything.

From what can be learned, the Chinaman woke up Mr. Simpson and enquired as to whether he should light a fire, to which Mr. Simpson assented, afterwards going to sleep, only to be awakened by the dense smoke and having just time to grab a few clothes and jump out of the window, to be followed shortly after by his partner, Mr. Gowans, who was not quite so fortunate, and had to obtain some overalls from neighbors.

Adam Stark, in the Empire Block, was able to get the whole of his stock out of the threatened building, and except for a little damage by water, was not a loser to any extent. Not so, however, with The Review Publishing Company's plant, which was entirely destroyed, as was the stock of the store where the fire originated. The officials of the Bank of Montreal were able to take out all their books and papers, and the postmaster, with the help available, cleaned out his building and within a few hours had set up his office in the Storage building, a little distance to the north.

We understand it is the intention of Mr. Rovers to rebuild as soon as possible, and in the meantime The Review Publishing Company is carrying on business at its West Summerland office, and through the courtesy of the owners of the Penticton Herald will publish The Review, which will be printed in Penticton until new equipment is available.

No information has been obtained as to the future intentions of Simpson & Gowans or as to the rebuilding of the different buildings owned by the Development Company.

Quite a lot of comment was aroused over the serious lack of hose, and there is no doubt that had the supply of pipe been more plentiful there was a good chance of confining the fire to the original block. As it was, however, the hose was not long enough to reach The Review building, besides which it had to be carried past the burning store, making the situation intolerable to those who were holding the hose. The arrival of a force from West Summerland with a hose reel, made quite an addition, but by the time it reached the scene the damage was all done.

On Tuesday, the reeve was notified by telegram that an official investigation will be held at an early date by the provincial fire marshal as to the recent fire at Summerland.

The Vancouver train due here on Monday morning, was fifteen hours late because of a slide in Coquahalla

SUMMERLAND CHINESE FINED AT PENTICTON

Wong Chong and Panj Ah Ying, Chinese laborers from the Summerland Lumber Company's mill, appeared before Police Magistrate T. A. Pope in the Penticton police court on Monday morning, charged with smoking opium. They were both sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs or do three months hard labor. Wong Chong went to prison, but Ying after scratching his head and making mental calculations, decided that he could earn more money out of jail than he would save by not paying the fine.

The capture of these two men was effected by Staff Sgt. Reid, Corp. Harvey and Constable Kirkpatrick, all of the R.C.M.P., during a visit to Summerland on Saturday. They were not the ring-leaders of the extensive opium smoking that it is alleged has been going on at the mill and, therefore, Staff Sgt. Reid asked that fines be imposed, as it was not desired to send the men to prison if there was any alternative.

Both these Chinamen have been in the country for a number of years and can speak very good English when they like, but when they appeared in the court they pretended not to understand anything that was said to them. Chong maintained this bluff throughout the proceedings, in spite of Chief R. L. Dudge telling the court that he had carried on a conversation in very fair English for at least 15 minutes on Saturday night.

Ying, however, after a short spell of inability to "savvy" what was said to him, smilingly told the court that the opium smoking outfit displayed on the magistrate's desk belonged to him, and said that the opium was number two and number four grade as number one cost too much money now.

LOGIE ATTACKS BOGG'S REMEDIES

Local Speaker at Forum Session Criticizes Professor's Views on "Depression"

The subject for discussion at the last session of the Open Forum was "Business Depression and Unemployment." The speaker was Jack Logie and he began by defining a few of the terms most commonly used in the study of political economy.

Wealth presents itself, Mr. Logie said, as the aggregate of those commodities which satisfy human needs. Money is not wealth in the true sense of the term, because a ton of gold would be of no use to a man on a desert island, neither would be grow fat if he was locked in a bank vault and compelled to eat paper notes for a week or so. Every community has two kinds of value, use value, which is practically impossible to determine and exchange value which is based always on the average labor-time socially necessary to produce the given commodity. Labor-time was compared by the speaker to the upright beam of a scale, supply and demand being the balancing factors. Price was labor-time in the terms of money, gold being a mirror in which the real basis of exchange, labor-time, was reflected.

Labor-power, continued Mr. Logie, was a commodity and subject to the same laws as any other commodity. It exchanged on the basis of the labor-time socially necessary to produce it, or in other words, the average rate of subsistence at any given period. This was always kept at the lowest possible point, the supply of workers being always greater than the demand. Labor-power, unlike any other commodity, had the faculty of creating value, over and above its cost of production, this being called surplus value. Every few years these surplus values, which labor was naturally unable to buy back, vastly augmented by the increased productivity of machinery, created a glut on the market and we had business depression and unemployment. This was true, claimed the speaker, of the present condition of affairs, part of the world being embarrassed by too much wealth and the other part bankrupt and starving to death. The palliatives proposed by Prof. Boggs in his recent address were stated by Mr. Logie to be of very little use. Unemployment insurance would not prevent unemployment any more than life insurance would prevent death. The second

LIKELY TO MAKE FINE NEW HALL

Reconstruction of Empire Hall Quite Probable, Says Mr. Logie

LARGE AUDITORIUM FOR UPPER FLOOR

May Have Store and Bank on Ground Floor Front

Summerland is to have a fine large auditorium if plans outlined by Mr. J. L. Logie meet with the approval of the Summerland Development Co. This would be a community gain as an outcome of Monday's disastrous fire. The Empire Hall building was badly damaged, the roof being practically destroyed, the fine big stage and auditorium ruined, and the stores below damaged, the big plate glass fronts and the framework being destroyed.

The Bank of Montreal, a former tenant in the Review block, may occupy space on the main floor, and Simpson & Gowans will occupy the rest of that large space as soon as the building is remodelled.

Mr. Logie's plans include the taking out of the present awkward stairway and building a wide stairway against the north wall. He proposes also to convert the whole of the upper floor into one big auditorium, raising the roof of the northern half to permit of this. A new and larger stage would be built. A second exit would be provided by widening the stairs beside the Dominion Bank office.

These and other improvements to the fine concrete structure would cost $10,000, largely for labor, an undertaking that would be welcomed at this time when the building trade is experiencing a depression.

OKANAGAN DEMANDS MORE FOR PRODUCTS

Kelowna.—Prices which growers of fruit and vegetables in this district are receiving for their products are far from satisfactory, J. W. Jones, M. L. A., told a meeting of the fruit and vegetable growers held here recently.

During 1921 a total of 1,132,464 crates of fruit were packed, for which the growers received $1,250,000. This was too little, according to Mr. Jones. The fruit men must, he said, find some remedy for this state of affairs if they are to remain in business.

The total output for the year was composed to $21,000 boxes of apples, 104,964 crates of crab apples, 90,500 boxes of plums, 65,000 boxes of pears, 14,000 boxes of apricots, 37,000 crates of cherries and other fruits in proportion, as well as a large amount of vegetables.

As the shippers were not represented at the meeting, the growers determined to place their resolutions before a joint meeting to be held in three weeks' time.

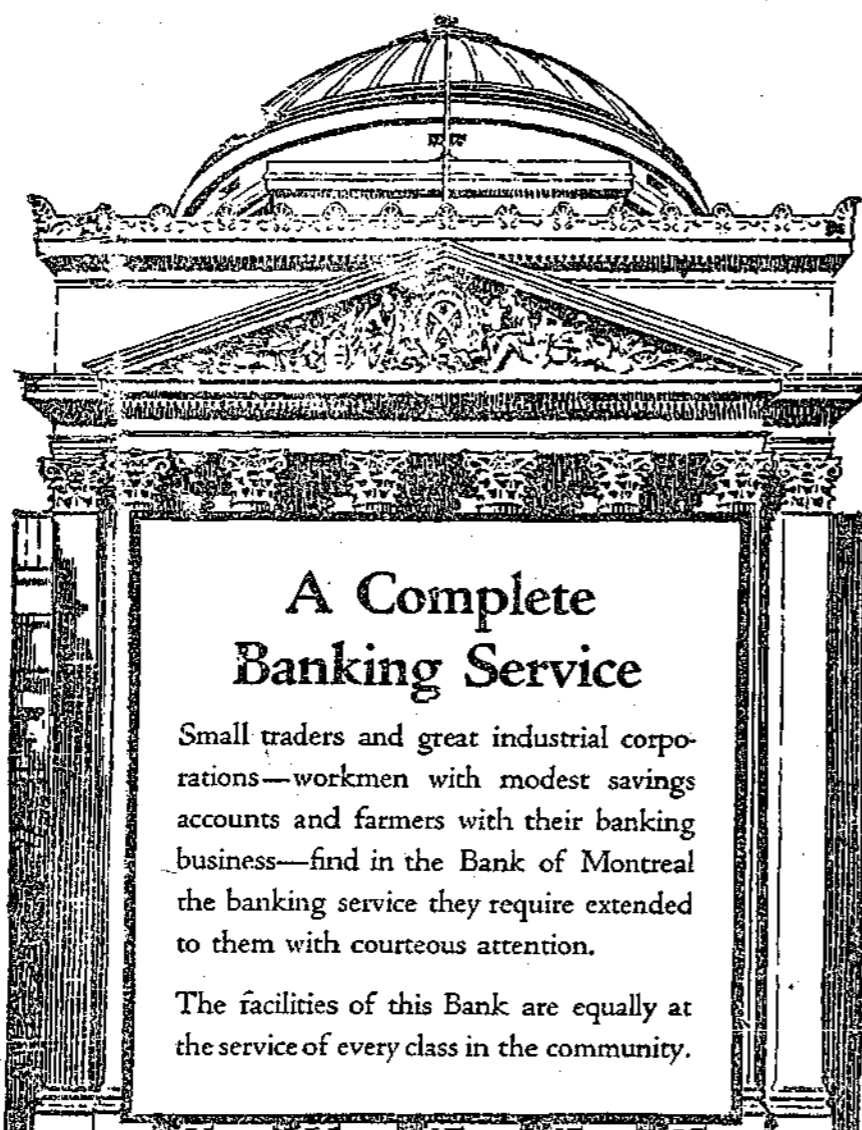

Mr. L. E. Taylor, addressing the meeting, said that all the shippers except two were members of the B. C. Traffic Association, and they would deal fairly with any resolutions which the growers passed and try to do anything that was to the common good.

A resolution that the books of the shippers should be audited yearly at the growers' expense was passed after considerable discussion; as was also another brought forward by Mr. Taylor that the shippers should get no commission on apples that sold for less than one dollar, but that after that price had been reached their commission should rise in proportion.

Rev. Graham Brown proposed that the shippers be asked to share the profit and loss, and to give a price for the portion of the crop. This resolution was also carried.

Twenty-one other resolutions were passed, and a committee of seven was appointed to put them in shape and give them to the shippers in time for an answer to be given at the next meeting.

A suggestion by Mr. Heddie that the Okanagan growers should bind themselves not to sell for less than a dollar a box was left for the next meeting to decide, as it was pointed out that a large number of growers did not belong to the association and might not enter into such a scheme.

Charlottetown, P. E. I.—Sixty carloads, or 18,000 bushels of certified seed potatoes were shipped out of Prince Edward Island during 1921 to various parts of the United States. From experiments conducted in Virginia, New Jersey, Maine, and Vermont, it has been definitely concluded that island grown seed potatoes are admirably adapted to their requirements. To maintain and safeguard their standard of quality, island growers have decided to register.

Halifax, Nova Scotia.—The Eastern Gypsum Company, owners of extensive gypsum properties in Victoria County, Cape Breton, have sold their property to the Great Bras d'Or Gypsum Company, Limited, which is being formed by a syndicate of American and local capitalists. The new company will, it is stated, spend $200,000 on development work this summer. The gypsum areas involved are the most extensive in Nova Scotia.

St. John, N. B.—A new industry is to be established in St. John as a result of the decision of the common council to award a large contract for cast iron pipe to a local company, which had promised, if it secured the contract, to establish a foundry, and make the pipes in the city as a beginning of the new industry. It is promised that the works will be extended to a point where employment will be given to from 150 to 200 men.

St. John, N. B.—The smelt catch on the Restigouche this year has been an exceptionally substantial one. One firm has handled, so far this season, 238,000 pounds. Another example of the abundance of smelt is that of two brothers who have to date made 1,680 catching smelt, which sell on the ice at about seven cents a pound.

His turkeys also secured four prizes. He states that at Christmas time he was receiving for his poultry more than some farmers secured for their cattle.

Ottawa, Ont.—The present level of building in Canada has not been reached since 1914. The building record of 1921 was $240,133,300, as against $255,605,500, a slight decrease in money value of contracts let which is probably more than outweighed by the fall in building costs. The decrease, such as it is, occurs only in the Western and Maritime Provinces, Ontario and Quebec showing substantial increases. Roughly 76 million dollars worth of residential construction was put in hand during the year, $5 million dollars worth of business property, sixteen and a half million dollars worth of industrial and $2 million dollars worth of engineering construction.

Victoria, B. C.—Whale hunting off the British Columbia coast may be resumed this year by the Consolidated Whaling Corporation. Chatham, Ont.—Both from the standpoint of quality and quantity, the tobacco crop of 1921 in Essex and Kent counties was the best in the history of the industry, says the Border Cities Star. It is estimated that the farmers received approximately $1,750,000, or an average of $700 an acre. Favored with ideal weather the crop ripened to perfection, and the harvest was greatly in excess of the most optimistic forecasts.

Winnipeg, Man.—The total yield of wheat in the three prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta in 1921 is finally estimated by the Dominion Government at 286,098,000 bushels from 22,181,329 sown acres, as compared with 234,133,300 bushels from 16,341,174 acres in 1920. Regina, Sask.—An increasing demand for lower grades of wool, for which there has been no markets for some years, is noticeable, declared G. E. O'Brien general manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Sheep Breeders' Association. The sheep raisers are beginning to demand a cheaper fabric, he said, and to fill this demand manufacturers will have to turn their attention to the low-priced wools.

Calgary, Alta.—The membership of the United Farmers of Alberta increased from 30,760 in 1920 to a total of nearly 38,000 in 1921, according to H. Higginsbotham, general secretary. A., and 115 junior locals.

Windsor, Ont.—Windsor exhibited the most gratifying industrial progress in 1921 and there is every indication of its continuance in the present year. In the past twelve months seventeen new United States industries located here and there are now 233 flourishing industries in the border cities. Within the past week alone locations were found for four United States industrial enterprises, and at the present time negotiations are in progress with 82 promising prospects, two being British and the remainder American.

Two carloads of fish from Lakes Winnipeg, Winnipegosis and Manitoba, were recently disposed of at Chicago.

Toronto, Ont.—A surplus of $700,000 will be shown in the annual budget statement of the Province of Ontario, according to Hon. Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer. The expenditure for the coming fiscal year, it is stated, will be in the region of $29,000,000 over the previous year. It is stated that $4,500,000 were derived during 1921 from succession duties.

London, Ont.—A party of 150 Scotsmen and families, mostly from Glengarry, will shortly arrive here under the auspices of Rev. R. A. MacDonnell, to take up farms in Kent and Essex counties, where large numbers of their compatriots have already settled. Father MacDonnell has announced that this party will be the beginning of an important emigration of Highlanders to this part of Ontario.

Winnipeg, Man.—In order to further promote the agricultural interests of the province the Manitoba Government has decided to increase loans advanced under the Rural Credits scheme. The limit now placed by the Act, $3,000,000, will probably be increased to $5,000,000. Hon. Edward Brown has announced. The policy of encouraging farmers to engage more extensively in stock raising by supplying well-bred dairy cattle on credit, will also be enlarged.

Victoria, B. C.—One would expect that with the exception of a slight temporary inconvenience to pedestrians and autoists until they became accustomed to the new regulations, the changing of the rule of the road, from left to right, would have little effect. It has, however, occasioned quite a flutter in real estate and stores situated on what are now wait-for-the-car corners have been advanced in rent. Some are frank enough to acknowledge an increase in business since the new rule came into effect.

Calgary, Alta.—Alberta during 1921 shipped nearly 2,000,000 pounds of wool, most of which has been bought by Canadian mills, according to J. W. Renton, vice-president of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Company. The price has been about the same through the season and varied from 10 cents for coarse wool to 25 cents for the finer grades. There has been a constant demand for medium and fine grades.

Winnipeg, Man.—The value of dairy production in Manitoba during 1921 was $12,539,431. Production of creamery butter amounted to 8,550,105 pounds; dairy butter, 9,888,103; cheese, 269,254. During the year 108 carloads of creamery butter was shipped out of the province. This represents 2,316,272 pounds, valued at $857,020. The bulk of this butter was shipped to Montreal, Toronto and the British markets, a few cars going to New York and Chicago.

Winnipeg, Man.—During 1921 free grant homesteads to the number of 876 were entered for at the Dominion Land office for the Winnipeg land division. This represents approximately 139,200 acres. A large number of soldier grants were also entered for in this division. The remaining free grant land in the Winnipeg district is chiefly north and east of the city.

Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.—One hundred and fifty thousand bushels of wheat grown in the Saskatchewan district were shipped to Shanghai and Yokohama during the month of January direct from Saskatoon elevators. This is the first wheat consignment for Asiatic points shipped direct from here.

Edmonton, Alta.—Sixty-eight canoes, including all models from the light craft to the larger vessels of the Adriatic and cruiser type, left last week from the Alberta Motor Boat Works for the trading posts of the far north. A consignment of twenty-one is destined in the spring for the Mackenzie River country, and an additional fifty for the use of the Hudson's Bay Company on the northern lakes.

Edmonton, Alta.—Two hundred and two cars of grain have come into Edmonton during the past four weeks from over the lines of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway. There were received in addition nearly two hundred cars of coal, cattle and livestock, lumber and hay. One hundred and twenty-seven cars of general merchandise and settlers' effects entered the Peace River over the line in the same period.

Calgary, Alta.—Under the terms of a Highway Bill that is to be introduced into the Alberta Legislature at the present session, a good roads board will be formed consisting of a highways commissioner, the deputy minister of public works and three other members to be appointed by the government. It will be the duty of this board to see that road building is standardized according to the best modern methods and that the construction is properly supervised. The roads are to be classed as main highways, market roads, local roads and colonization roads.

Calgary, Alta.—In the four days ending February 10, between 7,000 and 8,000 tons of prairie wheat was inspected at Calgary and shipped west to Vancouver for ocean shipment to various parts of the world. This is a comparatively new trade development which has sprung up in the last year through successful experiments in shipping grain via the Panama Canal.

Winnipeg, Man.—Over 19,370 cwt. of fish were caught by commercial fishermen in Northern Manitoba during 1921, giving an aggregate value of $125,499. Of this quantity 15,260 cwt. valued at $66,244, were caught during the winter; 607 cwt. worth $9,2555, during the summer, and the remainder secured under seller's permits. In the winter 132 men were engaged in fishing using 1,200 gill nets. Among the fish caught were whitefish, pickerel, pike, trout, mullet, suckers, ling sturgeon and tulbees.

Regina, Sask.—The total output of creamery butter from the 53 creameries operating in Saskatchewan during 1921 was 7,085,562 pounds, valued at $2,609,410. The total value of all dairy products was $18,774,445. This is the first year in the history of the province that the value of the creamery output has reached the seven million pound mark. The figures also show an increase of 50,000 cows in the province in the past year.

Victoria, B. C.—Creation of two new provincial parks by the British Columbia Government was announced recently by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands. One of these parks is the Mount Assiniboine Park, near Banff, and the other, the Kokanee Park, at the head of the Kootenay and Slocan Lakes.

Prince George, B. C.—Application for rights to fish sturgeon in the Juane Cache have been forwarded to the Federal Department of Fisheries. A $15,000 plant will be an initial investment if rights are secured. The nets for sturgeon have meshes so large that they would not interfere with salmon.

INVITATION WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED

Write Letters Telling of District and Invite Friends to Visit the Town

A scheme for advertising British Columbia, known as "B. C. Invitation Week," has been devised by the Vancouver board of trade and an outline forwarded to all boards of trade and newspapers throughout the province.

In brief the idea is that during the week, April 10 to 16, every man, woman and child in B. C. will write a letter to some friend telling them about the district in which the writer resides and inviting that friend to come and visit. It is estimated by this means at least 800,000 people will receive letters during the specified time and at least one quarter will accept the invitation this year and the rest will look forward to coming at some later date.

It was suggested in the communication that children write about the bathing beaches, the parks, etc., all those pleasures which interest them and incidentally tell about their schools and gardens. It was also pointed out that agriculturists will write about their stock, method of picking, packing and marketing produce, etc., lumbermen about the forests and methods employed in that industry, and miners have a field all to themselves, with B. C. having the largest smelting plant in America, the richest lead-silver mine in the world and two of the largest copper mines in the British Empire. The fishing industry, it was stated, has only just begun to know its wealth, yet B. C. salmon is served from every table in the civilized world. It is expected to make B. C. invitation week a yearly event, increasing in importance.

BIGGEST MOTOR SHOW IN HISTORY OF B. C.

Vancouver, March 15.—Vancouver is preparing to put on the biggest motor show in the history of western Canada. The event will be held in The Arena, this year, and will last from March 22 to the 25th. It will be held under the auspices of the Motor Dealers' Association and invitations are to be sent throughout the province. Every town of B. C. will be represented by auto men, hopes the committees. A. A. Ross is president. H. Frank Bird is manager. The demand for space is already very great, and every available inch is being grabbed up. One notable feature will be the accessories. Last year this department was held apart from the cars. The latest models will be exhibited. By way of contrast, there will be several ancient flivvers of a by-gone day when the horseless carriage was rare. One of these will belong to Bill Jackson, North Vancouver pioneer. It is a Stanley steamer and dates back to Boer war days. It is propelled by a lever. Mr. Jackson is having it fixed to be able to run on its own power. Another car has been around the world, saw service in the trenches, bears a shrapnel wound and was in German captivity until the Armistice. The aged car section will be a sort of museum. The oldest exhibitor will probably be Donald W. McKenzie, aged 88, who became converted to motoring last season when he took the first auto ride in his life. This city will be represented, alike by auto dealers and garage men, and by motorists. An effort is being made for special excursion parties. Many motorists from the United States are coming, they announce, and reservations are already being received by hotels. Manager Bird declares the attendance will be far greater than even the record-breaker of last season. Last time it was held in conjunction with the Vancouver annual exhibition at the exhibition grounds, but the decision fell upon spring and an independent show this time.

PLANS TO IMPROVE PRINCIPAL STREETS

Vancouver, March 15.—After failing to halt public clamor for better roads all over the city and suburbs, the city council has given up trying to please all, and will now go ahead with the next best thing. Acting upon the suggestion of Alderman Fred Crone, good roads enthusiast, the city intends devoting its somewhat meagre road fund to perfecting laterals and principal points in most congested thoroughfares, including those used by tourists and visitors to the exhibition and allowing the by-streets and smaller roads to take care of themselves. By this plan, the city fathers aim at having the most perfect roads in western Canada; that is, the best principal roads. Work for unemployed will be provided.

DISCOURAGES JAPANESE CITIZENSHIPS IN B. C.

Vancouver, March 15.—"Judge Grant is not in favor of granting Canadian citizenship to Japanese. He made it plain this week when he sent away a young Nipponese student who appeared without his sponsors. "They would not come, O, sir," said the applicant. "I do not blame them," said the judge. The jurist added: "Japanese can never make perfect Canadian citizens."

SEEK OVERFLOW CROWD AT COAST CITY SHOW

Vancouver, March 15.—Invitations are going throughout western Canada and all the Pacific Coast cities, seeking an overflow crowd at the Motor Show to be held in Vancouver, at the Arena, March 22-25. The committees expect no less than 10,000 present, and anticipate 15,000 before the exhibition closes. Cars fresh from factories are on their way. Every standard make on the market will be exhibited. Hundreds of autos will be displayed. The equipment and accessory department will be another feature. Ornate decorations, with brass bands and kilted bagpipers will lend additional attraction.

Every part of British Columbia is expected to be represented. The president is A. A. Ross. H. Frank Bird is manager. Valuable prizes open to all will be awarded. Last year the Motor Show was held in conjunction with The Vancouver Exhibition, but since then there is a tendency to hold auto shows in the spring, all over Canada and the States, and Vancouver decided to hold hers about the same time.

TWO MORE REPUBLICS WANT CONSULATES HERE

Vancouver, March 15.—Two important American republics are now seeking to state trade relations with Latin British Columbia, and consulates are expected shortly at the coast. They are Uruguay and Paraguay. Each republic claims an important market, with a large demand for B. C. products, without entering the field as a competitor. In shipping circles it is estimated that the linking of these republics to the trade family of the coast would mean an expansion amounting to several million dollars a year for British Columbia, when developments are made.

SAY THERE IS "TOO MUCH RAISING HELL"

Vancouver, March 15.—"There is too much raising hell to reach heaven," declares the Rev. Dr. J. S. Henderson, rector, of St. Andrew's church, one of the leading places of worship in Vancouver. The pastor refers to sensationalism and "progressiveness in Christianity." He says: "There are too many people in this province clinging to reactionary policies in religion," he pays a tribute to the ministry of B. C., saying no place has a more devoted body of workers in the Lord's vineyard.

COSSIT SENDS WIRE BACK FROM OTTAWA

Vernon.—The following telegram was received from Mr. F. B. Cossit, who is in Ottawa, on Wednesday: "I find that British Columbia delegates were very successful in securing practically all the changes required. Considerable opposition was encountered with eastern growers, who are apparently worried over British Columbia competition and debated every proposed change. Mr. Barnes, as leader of the British Columbia delegation was easily the outstanding man at the conference and was appointed convener of all delegations meeting with good reception in all quarters. Reports which have been received from Ottawa indicate that the proposals which were submitted at the Dominion Fruit Conference by the B. C. Delegation have been adopted. The question of dumping had not been taken up with the government when Mr. Cossit wired.

EVANGELIST TABERNACLE TEMPLE OF UNEMPLOYED

Vancouver, March 15.—By some irony, the huge evangelist tabernacle originally enacted for the Billy Sunday type of visiting soul-savers from the U. S., long anathematized by the radical element, is now in regular use as the temple of the unemployed. The last gathering saw the building reached by the doors with more than 5000 people and hundreds outside. This tabernacle was built last year by a prosperous and enterprising evangelist from the other side. It was erected on city ground near the union railroad station, and later passed into the hands of the city. It is a sort of white elephant now, although sometimes it brings in occasional tenants camp meetings and the like. The unemployed rather relished getting hold of the temple for its very associations. If even only for a little while, and will use it every time the city can be cajoled into granting permission.

TAG DAYS NUMEROUS; CITY LIMITS THEM

Vancouver, March 15.—Until recently, rarely a Saturday passed without a tag day for some charity. Every Sunday, as regularly as the day appeared on the calendar, the citizens would awaken and remember the day by leaving aside a time to escape reproaching glances in passing, tagless, each street corner. Some of the objects were worthy and others were somewhat obscure. Finally, the objects became so numerous and so remote that public protest reached the city hall. A municipal edict went forth, limited tag day to once a month, and then the object of the charity had to pass municipal approval. Friends of Soviet Russia have failed to move the municipal heart for tag day, the mayor and council stating charity began at home. An eloquent appeal for private contributions to starving Russia has gone forth. One report from Russia to Vancouver says: "Hardly five per cent of our district expects to live throughout the summer. Starvation is spreading and pestilence will follow."

ADIEU TO "FLU"

Vancouver, March 15.—"Here's your hat—what's your hurry?" is the kind of adieu to the "flu" that Vancouver is now wishing the pesky germ that has invaded half the homes here for the past few weeks. But now the "flu" is going. In fact he has almost gone. The epidemic was more inconvenient than grave. With rare exceptions it reached no serious stages, and it leaves no malignant effects, as happened in the immediate epidemic that followed the war. Recent rain, with a little snow and hail that peppered Vancouver this week, helped to chase the germ on his way. The weather is clearing and the "flu" danger seems over, so everyone and his wife rejoices here.

NOT FAIR TO B.C. EGG PRODUCERS

Eggs Imported Into Dominion Are Not Inspected as to Quality or Grade

PENTICTON, B. C.—The importation of eggs into Canada without any supervision or inspection as to quality or grade, much to the detriment of the Canadian poultry industry was considered on Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the board of trade. It was decided to endorse a memorial addressed to the premier of the Dominion by the B. C. Poultry Co-operative Exchange.

The manager of the association wrote the local board enclosing a copy of the memorial, which had been presented to the premier by a deputation which went to Ottawa on February 9, which was as follows: "I have the honor to inform you that at the regular meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade on the evening of February 7, 1922, upon representation from the B. C. Poultrymen's Co-operative Exchange, a body consisting of 500 egg and poultry producers in British Columbia owning 150,000 hens and doing a business which this year will exceed $500,000, it was unanimously resolved to support the proposals at present, being made for the enactment of regulations governing importation of eggs into Canada.

"It was clearly shown to the Board that since the courts have ruled that the egg regulations as drafted into the live stock and live stock products Acts do not apply to imported eggs; that these eggs move freely into and from this point in Canada without any supervision or inspection as to quality or grade, much to the detriment of our Canadian Poultry industry.

"At the same time eggs produced in Canada that are intended for export or inter-provincial trade are subject to the regulations as laid down in the said live stock and live stock products Acts and have to be graded according to Canadian government standards and are subject to rigid inspection before they can be shipped. "These conditions are obviously unfair to our Canadian poultry farmer. "Such conditions are also unfair to the consumer since a large percentage of imported eggs are of a quality inferior to the home product. "WE THEREFORE, urgently request: "1. That your government amend the said regulations so as to require proof in some definite form as relating to the Canadian standards; "2. That the quality of eggs imported into Canada for domestic consumption be such as would make it a desirable product for consumption in Canada, this proof to be submitted in such form as is ordinarily required by the Customs department. "3. That imported eggs be distributed to the retail trade in the original packages or in packages marked with markings similar to those required on the original packages. "All of which is especially submitted.

It was felt by the members of the board that a great injustice was being worked upon the poultry raisers and egg producers of this province and that the full support of the board should be given to those who were attempting to have the matter rectified.

THIRD CANDIDATE MAY ENTER NELSON FIELD

Nelson, March 15.—That nomination day in the Nelson by-election will see a third candidate in the field in the person of Mrs. Garland Foster, is the belief of those who are following political events closely. It is stated that arrangements are under way for Mrs. Foster to contest the riding as a Progressive against Mayor McHardy, the Conservative candidate, and Ald. Kenneth Campbell, who will carry the Liberal standard.

WILL FOUND ART AND CRAFT SCHOOL SOON

Vancouver, March 15.—A new school for arts and crafts, for the entire province is being founded, and applications are being made for grants from the province and dominion. It will be accessible to entrants from all parts of the province, for the encouragement of talented artists, and for the education of promising students, free of cost. The Manufacturers Association has donated the entire top story of its new quarters in the heart of the city. It is proposed to establish a museum of industrial work by trained artisans. The school proposes to promote and foster the fine arts of modelling, sculpture, painting, etching and architecture, to hold exhibitions, to hold weekly free concerts, with lectures, and affiliate all associated societies. Music will be included in the educational work, and the school will seek affiliation with labor unions. Ten unions have already become affiliated. Eighty pictures of value from Ottawa are on their way here.

DISCUSSES MAIL CAR SERVICE ONCE MORE

PENTICTON, B. C.—The question of the failure on the part of the K. V. R. to carry a mail coach on the trains between Midway and Vancouver, an old timer with the Penticton board of trade, was again discussed on Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the board. It was agreed to forward a resolution for consideration by the convention of the associated boards of trade at Victoria. The resolution drafted by the executive committee was as follows: "Whereas the mail car service on the Coast-Kootenay trains is only in operation between Nelson and Midway and whereas the absence of this service on the K. V. R. from Midway to Vancouver causes grave inconvenience to intermediate points on the said railway between those stations; and whereas this situation is gravely detrimental to the interests of Penticton and other natural distributing and jobbing centres on this route: "Be it resolved that this convention strongly urges upon the railway mail service department the extension of the present railway mail service from Midway to Vancouver."

AUTO CLUB HEAD BREAKS TWO RIBS

Vancouver, March 8.—Percy Gomery, manager of the Kitsilano branch of the Vancouver Auto Club of Commerce, celebrated his election as president of the Vancouver Auto Club by tripping from a step of his bank and breaking a couple of ribs. The new club officers are starting on an ambitious campaign that includes change of the present B. C. license plate to a clearer type, the installation of highway patrols on holidays, the establishment of telephone booths on the trans-provincial highway and the affiliation of other auto clubs into one body.

MONDAY'S FIRE.

Words are inadequate to describe the truly heroic efforts that were made by many willing citizens, men, women and children, to fight the fire demon and to rescue all property possible from its rapidly extending path. Many have been the expressions of appreciation for the generous fight made under adverse conditions.

The editor and publisher of The Review are deeply grateful to all, and particularly to those who manned the hose and suffered scorched faces in an effort to get an adequate barrage of water against The Review block. Equally persistent and with better success was their effort to save the Empire Hall building. It is impossible for The Review to thank each individual for their splendid work.

THE HEARST PUBLICATIONS

When you pick up a magazine or other publication, how often do you look at the imprint to see by whom it is published and where it originates?

All reliable publications bear an imprint and no weight should be attached to any statement in any publication which does not do so. If readers would pay attention to the matter they would save themselves from many misunderstandings and be in a proper position to judge of the reliability of the matter which they read.

Mr. Hearst, the publisher of daily papers and many magazines sold in this province, is alarmed at British Columbia's Asiatic problem, and even suggests that he is willing to help the fight of Pacific Canada by "propaganda." This he is doing, it seems from statements in his publications, because he loves Canada so much, and because he is so deeply devoted to the empire of Great Britain.

All of which is "bosh." Hearst is one of the most dangerous enemies which Great Britain has today. He would probably give his eye teeth to start up any kind of trouble with this Empire, provided he could get away with it with safety to himself.

The Asiatic problem of Pacific Canada looks a good opportunity to Mr. Hearst because it affords an occasion to stir up trouble between Japan and Great Britain. He has long been on record as a hater of Japan—almost as long as he has hated Great Britain. And now he is doing his bit to create and foster trouble between the two countries, using British Columbia as the entering wedge. This, of course, is because British Columbia is Canada's Pacific gateway and strategic point of any eventualities that might occur—if his schemes succeed.

Any one can see with half an eye that Hearst is behind much of this Asiatic agitation. It is known that funds from the other side are ready to be diverted toward this agitation movement. And it is known, also, that professional agitators visited Vancouver and Victoria last week, looking over the field to find a vulnerable spot for assailing the province's sentiments on the Japanese question.

Before we allow ourselves to be stirred up into a frenzy of alarm over the Asiatic menace, let us be sure Mr. Hearst is not stirring up the turmoil to make mischief between Great Britain and Japan and, while we are speaking on the subject, let us make sure from time to time who it is that cooks the food with which we fill our brains, lest the day dawn which finds us suffering from mental indigestion.

And soon it will be time to take the mothballs from our last year's summer suit and send it to the cleaner's. Our hat may look like a bird's nest, but the wife should worry, so long as she cajoles a new Easter bonnet out of us. Oh, well—!

ADVERTISING SALESMANSHIP AND COMMON KIND

In a recent article in "The Buyer and Seller," a Chicago publication devoted to the interests of the retail merchant, the writer claimed responsibility for the discovery that the most perfect salesman in the world is the weekly newspaper. Few merchants realize this vital point in their business. Some advertise in the local press because their neighbors do, others because they believe that the town needs a paper, and as live members of the community, it is up to them to support it. Both of these reasons for advertising, while creditable from the standpoint of public spirit, are erroneous. The reason why the majority of advertisers do not make a success of their advertising is because they do not recognize that the newspaper is actually a salesman. When a customer comes into your store, do you remark that you sell hardware or that you sell shoes. If you took this lines of salesmanship you would in all probability be obliged to state that in place of selling shoes you kept them. No, when your customer comes in you tell her that you have the particular article she is looking for, you name the price and you tell her in a few words the leading qualities of the article she demands. A good salesman goes a little further, and when his customer has made the purchases which brought her to the store he suggests some particular article of his stock which he believes would be acceptable. This is salesmanship. Anyone can sell a pound of sugar to a child who has been sent to the store to purchase just that quantity, but to sell to your customer an article which they had not realized they required, is an entirely different matter. The newspaper offers the best possible opportunity for this process of suggestion. Try the effect of showing your customers, through the medium of the paper, that you have something a little better or a little cheaper than your competitor and you will find that the results are very patent.

Another important feature of newspaper advertising is space. When you are addressing a large audience it is customary to refrain from talking in a whisper. When you address the large number of people who read the weekly newspaper, it is foolish to tuck your ad. away in a one-inch space in a corner. Come out boldly and tell them what you wish them to know, and tell it in such a manner that they cannot possibly miss it. You will be astonished to find that for every dollar in the weekly salesman, you will receive a bigger return than from the best salesman in your store. The weekly salesman must, however, do its part by its individuality and fund of interesting reading matter, and have the power of making itself a friend of the subscribers who constitute the customers. Your salesman must be decently dressed and sociable, so must your weekly salesman have the power of attracting its readers.

One could not imagine that the people of Siberia would tolerate such roads as those with which we in the Okanagan are afflicted. Seemingly no effort is being made to keep them open to traffic. Particularly is this true of the lake shore road between Summerland and Penticton. Lake traffic has had to be resorted to between the two towns.

Insufficiency of fire fighting apparatus has caused the loss of many thousands of dollars to the community. With but a few paltry dollars' further investment, it is not improbable that the big part of the loss could have been averted.

And now Jim Jeffries, prize ring champion-emeritus, is going into the soul-saving industry along Billy Sunday lines. Strange how these blatant tonguesters have to commercialize the Gospel as a medium for working off verbal steam and venomous hatred of orthodoxy.

PRUNING

(Experimental Farm Notes)

The season for pruning operations is at hand, and orchardists should now be considering the best scheme to adopt in their particular case. Except in extreme cases, pruning should be moderate and should consist more of thinning out here and there, with as little heading in as possible. In young orchards newly set out, it may be necessary to adopt a system of heading back to give out lateral growth, which will be able to produce fruit spurs in later years. In bearing orchards light annual pruning should be given, so that at no time will it be necessary to materially alter the balance between root and top by a severe heading back of excessive cutting out. In old bearing orchards, which have been somewhat neglected, a considerable amount of top should probably be removed to encourage new wood growth, so that a new fruiting surface may be established. As before mentioned, however, light annual prunings are to be recommended, for recent work has demonstrated that unpruned trees have yielded slightly better, up to a certain age, than trees pruned; but that trees pruned lightly have yielded almost as well, while those severely headed back were not only later in coming into bearing and poor yielders afterwards, but were also less vigorous than the lightly pruned and unpruned lots.

Where light heading back practised for the first three years was adopted, the comparison between trees pruned and unpruned showed little difference in favor of the unpruned, but those trees which had been pruned were of decidedly better shape and in better condition for future work than the ones where pruning had been neglected. These results have simply justified the practice of pruning during the first few years of a tree's life with the express purpose of obtaining a desirable amount of growth placed where we want it. In the case of some trees this will require considerable cutting out and some cutting back for the first three or four years. In other cases it will require very little wood removal, but in all cases the trees should be attended to annually. The vigour of the tree is in inverse ratio to the amount of severe heading back practised. This does not mean, however, that no pruning is to be advocated, for a certain amount is necessary in any case to maintain the proper shape of a tree and some pruning should be given to eliminate the possibility of having to give drastic treatment at a later date to rectify long neglect. The lesson is, however, that only sufficient pruning to maintain the shape and general vigor of the tree is to be recommended. Indiscriminate heading back delays fruitfulness and reduces vigor. Light annual prunings will not materially impair or delay fruitfulness and will eliminate future trouble. A little enlargement on this latter statement is perhaps necessary to make clear the point. We are all aware of the advantage to be gained by heading a tree properly. A tree with its head starting from one point on the trunk is weak and doomed to an early death. To correct this pruning is necessary. Again, we all know that in pruning one should try to cut out all croches which are acute-angled, as limbs thus croched are sure to split open; the limb that comes closest to forming a right angle with the main trunk is the strongest. This is also attained by pruning so here are two reasons why pruning or training is necessary in the life of the young tree. Consider for a moment the relation between pruning and nutrition; the roots of a tree function by gathering from the soil plant foods in solution, which is transmitted to the different parts of the tree for elaboration by the leaves. The plant food gathered may roughly be divided into two classes; nitrates, as supplied, for example, by nitrate of soda and carbohydrates. These latter are the elaborated forms produced by the leaves from the solutions obtained by the roots, and are stored close to the point of manufacture. In order that the leaves can manufacture these carbohydrates sunlight is necessary, so that if a tree becomes too thick in the centre, thus shutting out sun from the head or lower portions of the tree, those parts shut off from the sunlight will not be able to manufacture carbohydrates and will, as a consequence become unfruitful; another reason why some pruning is essential, is to maintain the vigor of all parts of the tree by admitting the necessary sunlight.

Happy indeed should be the man who strikes a medium in his relationship with money. Some people are never happy until they have money and once they get it they are not happy until it is spent.

Others are not happy until they have amassed a vast fortune and then every penny they have to spend makes them miserable.

The only way to treat money is as your servant. Never allow the desire for it to gain such a grip on you that it becomes your master.

PENTICTON UNION MEN ARE PANICKY

That all of the growers here will be shipping through independents. Who controls the situation then? The independents, of course.

What happens then to the "better prices"?

Just look back to other years.

The Okanagan United Growers, with its local unions has made the fruit growing business a living proposition in the Okanagan Valley. So long as it controls the larger share of the tonnage, and is an active thriving organization, so long will the fruit producing industry thrive.

If the growers get frightened over one unprofitable year and desert the ship, they simply force the other more faithful members to follow. And when they all leave the co-operative principle the day of low prices for everyone will surely and certainly dawn.

By all means, stay by co-operation. If the O. U. G. or its local unions operate too expensively, investigate them and make the needful changes. But in this time of price storm, don't throw away your life belt.

On Friday the Women's Auxiliary of the St. Stephen's church are giving a farewell tea to Mrs. E. J. White, when she will be presented with a framed photograph of the church. Mrs. White will be leaving the district shortly with her husband who has been transferred as manager to the Merritt branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Messrs. A. A. Richardson and P. G. Shallerross, insurance adjusters, representing Vancouver insurance houses, spent two or three days in Summerland this week adjusting losses in the lakerefront fire. In every instance learned of, the adjusters were satisfied that the adjusters were trying to deal fairly in adjusting losses.

On Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's church, Mr. Campbell-Brown of Oyama, gave a most interesting lecture in the Parish Hall on Chinese legends and folklore. The attendance, owing to the disagreeable weather, was very poor, but the lecture proved a treat for those who braved the elements and attended the meeting.

LOGIE ATTACKS BOGGS' REMEDIES

remedy proposed, the curtailing of bank credits in order to prevent over-expansion and inflation, would simply mean that instead of a crash every few years, production would be stowed down and unemployment become chronic.

Other points brought out in the discussion which followed Prof. Boggs' lecture were dealt with and the speaker stated in closing that the capitalist system was bankrupt and that the only hope for society rested in organizing industry on a collective and co-operative basis with the substitution of production for use instead of for profit.

Quebec, P.Q. — It is reported that arrangements are being made for the erection and operation of an oil fuel plant in Quebec similar to the plants now in operation at St. John and Halifax. The plan is to erect a 250,000 gallon tank on the property of the Quebec Harbor Commission by May 15 next. It is hoped to make the city of Quebec the main fuel station on the St. Lawrence for all oil burning vessels.

Quebec, P.Q.—The preliminary survey of the manufacturing industries of the province of Quebec for 1919, conducted by the Dominion bureau of statistics, indicates a substantial growth in provincial industry. The Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary have arranged with Bengough to have an entertainment in the Rialto theatre on Wednesday, March 29th. Tickets 75 cents each.

The Bank of Montreal got all papers and books out of the Review block and within a few hours was doing business in the billiard room in Hotel Summerland.

THE LATE JAMES GARNETT

With the passing of James Garnett there has been severed another of the links connecting with the early history of Summerland. Deceased, who lived with his son, T. J. Garnett, had been in failing health all winter and on Friday last succumbed to an attack of influenza. Born in Cavan Township, near Millbrook, Ont., Mr. Garnett lived on the old homestead until he was 45 years of age. For a short period he resided in Bruce County, moving from there to Virden, Man. For 14 years he farmed in the prairie province, coming west to Summerland in the spring of 1905, 17 years ago.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning at 10:30. Rev. W. A. Alexander officiating. H. Dunham, J. T. Vander, O. G. Smith, Fred Gartrell, H. S. Lewis and H. Tomlin acted as pallbearers.

The deceased is survived by two sons and three daughters, T. J. Garnett, of Summerland; E. Garnett, of Carceland, Alta.; Mrs. G. H. Williams and Mrs. A. E. Smith, of Summerland, and Mrs. Bert McLellan, of Pentiction.

Toronto, Ont.—The city of Toronto assessment increased 38 per cent in eight years, according to the annual report of Assessment Commissioner Foran. The growth in that time amounted to $216,000,000. The assessment in 1915 was $65,300,254 and for 1922 it is $781,550,119.

Robert Shortreed, of Ellis street, was summoned before Magistrate T. A. Pope, in the municipal police court on Monday, charged with assaulting Earl Percy Agnew, also of Ellis street, on February 10. He was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. The trouble arose out of a family quarrel of old standing, and on February 10 it appeared that Shortreed met the complainant on Ellis street and demanded an apology in respect to something that had taken place the previous night in Agnew's home. When this was not forthcoming Shortreed struck Agnew. For the defence it was maintained that the assault was provoked by Earl Agnew's actions on the previous evening.

McGregor was called and after receiving attention Mr. Bagnall was able to drive back to Oliver.

According to a report presented at the regular meeting of the board of trade, on Tuesday evening, in spite of prosecutions and a determined effort made by the municipal council to prevent sand being hauled from the sites on the road allowance along Lakeshore Drive, the practice has continued. It was stated that one large hole had recently been dug along the road side, which would without doubt cause the road to cave in, as well as several smaller holes. None of these were located between the notice set up by the municipal council and the lake as directed by the notice. The secretary was instructed to notify the authorities regarding the matter.

Dr. Sara Wise, M.D., of California, who is touring the province under the auspices of the Women's Institutes in the interest of child welfare work, spoke with good effect on Tuesday afternoon to the pupils of the Penticton high and public schools and also addressed the members of the local Institute for about five minutes. In the evening she delivered a most interesting address before a large and interested audience in the Methodist church. Dr. Wise proved herself to be a very capable speaker on the particular subjects under consideration and in the course of her remarks, both to the children and parents, brought out truths which should be of great benefit in the lives of the rising generation.

A very successful entertainment was given at Steward's Hall on Monday night to a large audience, by the Salvation Army lassies. The programme consisted of a number of songs and recitations given by the local children. V. J. Secretary Ensign Patt took the seat as chairman of the programme. Between the acts the chairman was on his feet, joining in with the audience, with singing the old time glory songs. The tableaux were "Rock of Ages" and several other well known pieces, which all went off very well. Last of all prizes were distributed to the children for the way in which they performed under the directions of Ensign Lawson and Lieut. Garnett.

The suggestion was made on Tuesday evening at the meeting of the board of trade, that the municipal council sell the ten acres on Main street used last year as a camping ground for tourists, and purchase with the proceeds of the sale a site for a camping ground nearer to the shore of Okanagan lake. Word has been received that Love's hotel, a well known hostelry in Glassville, N.E., has been totally destroyed by fire. It was a valuable property owned by Mrs. K. E. Love, of Penticton, and several local residents have enjoyed its hospitality in the past. The fire occurred on February 24.

The Penticton parks commission has decided to devote the small funds available this season for beautifying the town to planting trees on the two main thoroughfares leading into Penticton, Fairview Road and Lakeshore Drive. Fairview road will be planted from Main street to the bridge, and it is expected to include all of Lakeshore Drive in the scheme. It is suggested to make the mountain ash Penticton's tree, and an endeavor will be made to have this variety alternated with any other variety chosen by the residents of streets being planted.

Mrs. Charles Greer is expected to return to her home here from the cost in a week or so. She will resume occupancy of her residence at the corner of Fairview avenue and Martin street.

Many Penticton people drove up to Summerland on Monday to view the ruins of the disastrous fire which visited the sister town that morning. General regret was expressed over the heavy loss which so many Summerland business men experienced as a result of the flames.

Reports of autoists are to the effect that roads of the district are in a very bad state. The south road, particularly between Oliver and the boundary line, is said to be in deplorable condition on account of the moisture conditions. The road to Summerland is very soft and muddy, while that from Summerland on to Peachland is said to have many small slides.

NAME FOR EVERY SEASON OF YEAR

Vancouver, March 15.—Maybe you will take the calendar's word for it that this is the spring of the year, for here is proof that all the seasons of the year are in Vancouver this week. However, they are present in flesh and name, rather than otherwise, for they are found on the registers of three hotels. At the Vancouver hotel, check by jowl on the register, appear the names of John Summer of Seattle and W. N. Winter of San Francisco. At the Castle hotel there is a Dr. F. P. Fall of Montreal. At the Dunsmuir hotel one finds the name of Bernard F. Spring. By way of good measure the Castle also registers a Mr. Willard A. Munday of Tacoma, and Capt. Thomas March, mariner.

THE TOMATO SITUATION

Every year a large acreage of tomatoes is grown in the valley and only a few realize enough from the crop to claim a plus wage income. A short review of the situation may throw some light on the case and prevent some people actually making a cash loss on the year's work.

A few years ago the hothouse tomato was not a very serious competitor with our earliest crop, and during that period the demand and prices realized for our early tomatoes warranted the growers putting considerable expense on the crop to get it early. When we say early we mean the last week in June. It was soon found that the tomato gave a good yield per acre if forced with commercial fertilizer and that, when the early market was off, the canneries which followed the tomato into the valley would take the main crop. This gave, for a time, a reasonably good return, but today some changes have taken place; the hothouse tomato is practically on the market during the whole late winter and early spring coming from across the line and coast sections. This tomato has a very attractive appearance and all times sells above the price paid for field tomatoes, with the result that what we consider early tomatoes are no novelty on the consumers market and the price at once begins to decline. Usually the Earliana is selected to supply this early market and this variety has become very rough, in fact most of the crops the writer saw this year were not salad tomatoes at all and really too rough for good cannerly stuff. Now if we want the public to take field tomatoes in preference to those grown in the hothouse the quality and especially the appearance must excel the hothouse product. This can only be done by growing the choicest seeds of smooth, medium sized tomatoes. Whether or not the price at that time would warrant all the trouble involved we are doubtful. On the other hand the canneries are not all in sympathy with the rough, mis-shapen, wasteful product being grown and we would advise growers who hope to sell to a cannerly to make a contract for their entire ripe out-put and grow tomatoes which the canneries want and get bigger tonnage by not stumping plants for early fruit.

The canneries are asking for are; Landrath, John Baer, Chalks Early Jewel and Earliana, if smooth. The first three are smoother than Earliana as a rule, not quite so early, but good croppers. Tomato growers should study conditions and cater to one market, not try to hit two and miss both.

R. H. HELLMER, Superintendent, Experimental Station, Summerland.

This and That

Not Pats of Approval Wife—Joe, your mother got talking this afternoon about what kind of a boy you were. She said your school teacher used to pat you on the back nearly every day. Hub—That's true, my dear, but they were mostly too low down for comfort.

Safety First

A preacher was driving home from a ministers' meeting on a very dark night. "How are we getting along, Charlie?" the preacher asked his chauffeur. "I am drunk, but I trust in the Lord." "Well, if that's the case," said the preacher, "then I want to get out and walk."

The Old "Un"—Pluck, my boy, pluck; that is the one essential to success in business.

The Young "Un"—Yes, of course, I know that. The trouble is to find someone to pluck.

"Now, Robert, tell me what an engineer is," said the teacher.

"He is a man that works an engine," replied Robert.

"Correct," said the teacher. "Now, William, can you tell me what a pianist is?"

"Yes, sir," answered William, "he's a man that works a piano."

VERNON CONSIDERS POWER QUESTION

Will Look Into Cost of Developing Shuswap Falls—Kootenay Makes Offer

Vernon—The reading of a letter from Mr. Lorne Campbell, manager of the West Kootenay Light and Power Company and the discussion of the electric light committee report featured the council meeting on Monday night.

Mr. Campbell wrote renewing the offer of his company to supply electricity to the city at 3 cents a kilowatt. He also dealt exhaustively with "loads," "bus bars" and other technicalities that delight the expert.

The electric light committee reported that in its opinion there were but three courses open to the city to increase its electrical service. The first was the complete overhauling of the present engine in June, which would cost about $3,000 in addition to causing much inconvenience throughout the city during that time. The second was to accept the proposals of the West Kootenay Light and Power Company and the third was to install a new engine at the plant which would cost approximately $130,000.

At a meeting of the civic water committee held Wednesday night, it was decided on the motion of Messrs. Vallance and Smith, that a preliminary report be obtained from Messrs. Yull & Knight on the cost of installing a power plant at Shuswap Falls and the building of a transmission line to the city.

When this report is received the cost of the different power schemes now being considered, will be compared and a decision made as to what action should be taken.

The question of increasing the city's available power supply was some into exhaustively and after consideration had been given to the different suggestions, including the Adams' River proposal, Kootenay Power Company's offer and the adding of another unit to the present plant, the above resolution was passed.

Ald. Berry, as chairman of the electric light committee of the city council, outlined the three proposals which had been recommended to the council.

Mr. Excell in telling of present conditions at the power house said that the big engine was running 24 hours per day, six days of the week and it was only a question of time when there would be a breakdown, as it had never been overhauled since it was installed.

BRITISH COLUMBIA UNEMPLOYED DIMINISH

Vancouver, March 15.—However, most of the workless wards of the municipality prefer the fleshpots of city life to rural toil, they are receiving the ultimatum to accept jobs in the country, especially in the prairies, or quit hospice from the city at Hastings Park. There are about 5,500 jobless in the province, just now. Their number is diminishing daily. Mr. M. Mallory, commissioner of labor for Saskatchewan, offers work for many, and will use several thousand later. Wages will not be so high, being about $40 and board, this season, with higher rates for the harvest times. Many of the workless do not take kindly to their leaving for the prairies, but are wistful and wishing to linger in the city and wait patiently for jobs more to their liking. The city fathers, however, think otherwise. It is expected another month will see half the present workless weeded out and earning wages. The city is doing everything possible to hasten this issue, as the workless are helping to keep Vancouver and Victoria half broke these troubled days of depleted treasuries.

MAIL ORDER HOUSE GAZES GLOATINGLY ON PROVINCE

Vancouver, March 15.—From a Chicago mail order house of continent wide fame, the following enquiry has just been received by the Pacific Press Service of Vancouver:

"We notice in a report printed in the Daily Province, under the name of 'J. L.' some time ago, that British Columbia has nearly 300 good sized towns, with nearly forty weekly newspapers. Will you kindly favor us with complete data concerning same. Also furnish information relating to ad rates, minus usual commission, with minimum for contract ads. Are most of these towns segregated in agricultural districts, or are they scattered?"

THEY FEEL LACK OF A NEWSPAPER

Ladner—At a meeting of the Ladner Retail Merchants' Association held recently, the need of a local newspaper was the subject of much discussion. The question was introduced by the president, Mr. Clement, who stated that at the present time local merchants were practically without any means of advertising their goods to the local trade. This he stated, was proving a great disadvantage to the merchants on account of the large number of city papers, carrying the advertisements of city stores that were coming into Delta. In most cases the local stores carried the same lines at a price which compared favorably with that advertised, but had no means of putting their prices before the public, with a subsequent loss of trade. Other cases of the need of a paper were also instanced by several merchants.

Mr. E. L. Betty was finally appointed to go into the matter and to secure all possible information on it.

Naramata News

Current Events of Town and District

Mr. J. M. Robinson returned home on Thursday morning, after a short visit to the Coast.

Dr. Sarah Wise is spending two days in Naramata this week speaking to the High school students, and to general audiences on Public and National health subjects. Dr. Wise is the guest of Mrs. M. B. Smith while here.

Alterations have been made this week in the post office, giving a greater amount of light to the interior of the office where the mail is sorted.

At the regular meeting of the Women's Institute, held on Tuesday, gardening and public school education were the chief subjects of discussion. Mrs. Rayner gave a paper on gardening which was replete with helpful hints for the gardener. Mrs. Bruce Cash received "A Garden is a Lonesome Thing" and responded to an encore. Mrs. Cook read from a B. C. magazine with regard to recent legislation in B. C. concerning women and children. In connection with the school, Mrs. Horswill reported a generous contribution of records for the gramophone from Mrs. Howard Rounds. Mrs. McConkey reported the proceeds from a recent card party, totalling $11.10 to have been given to Miss Huntley to expend for records. Six books were added to the Institute library by Mrs. Cross, who received a vote of thanks from the Institute for the gift. The recent change in entrance examination requirements was the subject of some discussion.

The following is the list for entries in the garden plot and flower competition, planned by the Women's Institute for this summer: I. The best garden plot (rose gardens included) one prize. II.—Best bouquet of perennials. III.—Best cut roses (4 varieties). IV.—Best cut sweet peas. V.—Best window box (to be judged at the same time as the garden plot). VI.—Best basket of flowers (any variety). VII.—Best decorated table. All those wishing to take part in the garden plot or window box competition will kindly hand in their names to the secretary, not later than May 31.

The next lecture on the University Extension Course will probably be Rev. N. A. Harkness, of Vancouver. Mr. Harkness expects to visit Naramata on the 28th of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallory and their son Buster arrived home this week from Victoria where they spent the winter months.

JOB WITH "INVESTMENT" FAKE LURES DUPES

Vancouver, March 15.—Just before each fiscal period when returned veterans receive their pension money, it is noticed the "Help Wanted" classified ads are animated with: "Position vacant; experience unnecessary; small investment needed," advertisements. These kind of "ads" run as a regular feature, but flourish most at pension times. The dailies find it impossible to check up on doubtful advertisements, but are warning their readers to exercise care. Hundreds have been duped during the winter months by these lures. Some of the advertised jobs are barely legal. Others are not that. One veteran paid $50 as an investment, and found he had to buy 10,000 envelopes from an eastern Canadian concern and copy names from a Canadian directory, receiving so much (or so little) per thousand for his work. The profit for the employer went with the sale of envelopes, with a trifle thrown in for sap for the work. Another widely advertised "investment" dodge, investigated by a local press bureau, proves to be a scheme whereby the dupe buys several gross of pins and gilt-eyed needles to peddle from door to door. When they are sold, the "worker" returns his receipts, minus commission. The "investment" consists of a bonus for providing this exhilarating employment. Other equally transparent fakes figure in the "investment" jobs.

HISTORY UPSETS CLAIM OF LOCAL WASHINGTON

Vancouver, March 15.—The claim that he was lineal descendant of George Washington, "Father of his country," "first in war, etc.," established some local prestige for an individual who sought entry into the American social set, until one well read lady of the west-end recalled that the original George, who never told a lie, was unlike the new arrival who was different. The first George Washington died without issue and never had any children recorded in history. The visiting Mr. Washington has vanished, leaving a trail of debts after cutting quite a swath in certain local social circles where he was feted.

FIVE YEARS FOR YOU

Vancouver, March 15.—Five years in the penitentiary for You need carry no scare. You is a Chinese and he has been sentenced to serve the term on a narcotic charge here. When his name was asked, and he replied "You," he met with the reply, "Not me,—you!" "Ah, Yes, me—I am You" replied Mr. You. The joke, however, ceases, for Mr. You has started to serve his sentence.

FLU EPIDEMIC ABATES

Vancouver, March 15.—Although the "Flu" epidemic is still raging on the coast it is abating and the cases reported are very mild. Many members of the police and fire departments were laid up, the city hall had one-fourth of its attaches among the stricken, and the schools reported a large number ill. Few new cases are being reported.

Peachland Doings

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative

Mr. John Brinson and Mrs. Allan Wilson returned home from Penitence on Wednesday morning's boat after having visited a short time with Mrs. Brinson Sr., who has been quite ill again at Penitence.

Mr. and Mrs. Cudmore, Mr. C. R. Somerville and Mrs. Dryden, spent Wednesday in Kelowna and returned home the same day. The latter is President of the local branch of the Women's Institute. She attended a meeting of the District Board of Directors there.

Rev. Col. Peck of Vancouver spent a couple of days in Peachland last week and on Wednesday evening addressed a public gathering of the citizens on the Prohibition question. There was a fair attendance and Mr. Peck being thoroughly conversant with all the workings of the organization gave a very interesting word picture of the whole situation. He furnished his audience with many astounding facts and figures which do not come out in the regular newspapers, but which are actual and true and should serve to arouse any and all who hear them to immediate and continued action on behalf of the manhood of our Province. He reminded his hearers of and compared some of the planks of the platform of the Moderationists with present conditions and showed them up to be very lacking in fulfillment. He spoke of the charge laid at the door of prohibition, in that it did not prohibit and went on to give the meeting facts and figures showing where liquor sales for a three months period in 1921 was fifty-eight times greater under so-called Moderation than for the same period under prohibition in 1920. The speaker in closing spoke of the financial needs of the organization and appealed to the supporters of the cause to help as much as possible. He passed subscription envelopes around and succeeded in raising a small amount of cash with a number of promised amounts, to come in later.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Robinson and family moved to Westbank a few days ago where they expect to remain for the time.

Mr. Pinneke was a passenger to Kelowna on Thursday morning's boat and on his return brought with him Mrs. Pinneke who has been in the Kelowna hospital for several weeks recently following an operation. She is gradually gaining strength, but is still in a very weak condition.

The Rev. F. A. Coad and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Keyes motored to Gellatly on Thursday. Mr. Coad to officiate and Mr. and Mrs. Keyes to attend the funeral of the late D. E. Gellatly who passed away at the Vernon hospital. Interment took place in the family cemetery.

HIGH PRICE OF DOPE IS LATEST HARDSHIP OF SOME

Vancouver, March 15.—And now it is the high price of dope. Following recent exposures, the dopester now finds it almost impossible to make ends meet and rake up enough for even a moiety of his former portion of drug. The price, it is reported by distracted addicts, has gone up to $15 per snuff or "shot," with very little of it to be got at that. Street panhandlers, in their desperation to rake up enough for their needs, will follow their "prospector" two blocks or more, if a policeman is not in sight, beseeching alms with a plea of hard luck piteous enough to melt a bronze bust of Nero into tears. Patrons of cafes have to keep a wary eye upon their overcoats on the hooks, lest they are whisked away by some frantic drug fiend. Doctors are besieged daily for just a sniff. And, in their desperate plight, many addicts are trying to get across the border, but are being chased back by the immigration officials of the States. It is believed drugs will be almost impossible to secure soon, but conditions lapse, unless vigilance is maintained, believe the police and investigators.

WOULD UNIONIZE WOMEN AND GIRLS IN PROVINCE

Vancouver, March 15.—Claiming that thousands of women and girls of B. C. are unemployed and destitute, and confronted with temptations in their plight. The B. C. Federationists, published in Vancouver and one of the biggest labor organs on the continent, target organization. The Federationist says: "The unemployed single men have to some extent organized, but what about the poor girls who are without work? They are not organized, consequently their lot is destitution. Hundreds here are practically destitute. The authorities make no provision for them. Can you realize the position of a young girl with only four cents in her purse. It is one case brought to our attention. Help the women slaves and allow them to retain their self-respect." The plea is backed by the suggestion of a committee of 25 to attend to the matter at once.

TOURIST TRAFFIC STARTS EARLY IN THIS PROVINCE

Vancouver, March 15.—Tourist traffic is making an early start on the coast of this province, being a month earlier than usual. In preceding years the influx of visitors hardly commenced before May, but this year the tourists are already coming in, while reservations are being received by the principal hotels. Many prairie visitors are among the number, and Americans form an even larger number than expected. At the U. S. Consulate-general it is estimated that at least 10,000 will come from the States before midsummer, and their number will include many prospective investors.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir:—The propagation of nursery stock is of vital importance to, and in reality the very foundation of the fruit industry, yet how careless many growers are in selecting the stock they buy! One cannot judge the true worth of nursery stock by its appearance as there are so many little details involved in its production which influence the quantity and quality of fruit the trees will produce.

There is a tremendous significance in blood, both in human beings and in animals. It is truly remarkable what has been accomplished in breeding up livestock to a state of excellence. So it is possible to breed up nursery stock to an equally advanced state. It is an indisputable fact that nursery men in general are not modern or up-to-date in methods relating to the propagation of nursery stock.

The growers are more to blame for existing conditions than the nursery men as they do not demand superior stock and many of them would not pay the difference in price between high grade and inferior stock.

In the production of high grade nursery stock there are three essentials to be considered. First come the location and climate in which it is raised. I would much prefer home grown stock but if this is not obtainable, I would recommend getting stock from a more rigorous climate than our own.

The second matter of importance is the origin. In propagating nursery stock one must remember that some varieties of trees are susceptible to almost every disease existing, while others again are vigorous, hardy and immune from such ailments. As in livestock, so in fruit, some crosses will not blend, the offspring being unsightly and tending to degeneracy rather than to invigoration. The root is the primary factor of the tree for the vigor, longevity, productiveness and quality of fruit depend largely upon it. Many nurserymen have in the past resorted to vinegar plants for seed to develop the root. Some have not yet got out of the rut. A parallel case is that of the farmer, who sells his marketable potatoes, plants the culls and expects to obtain good results. This happy-go-lucky method of propagating nursery stock, together with lack of knowledge and care of orchards in the growing stage is responsible for so many failures among growers. The saying that "like begets like" is not only an adage or a proverb; it is a stern reality.

The third essential is that the land should be in a high state of cultivation with deep rich soil and good drainage. The size of tree desired and the early maturity of the wood can be regulated by cultivation of the land and proper irrigation. Many nurserymen are trying to raise stock on impoverished land entirely unfit for what was expected of it, and in order to get trees of the required size they use too much water and also use the water too late in the season to allow the trees to ripen thoroughly before fall frosts attack them. There are other reasons that would lead one to condemn nursery stock besides the fact of its being diseased, stunted, lured, mongrel or because of poor workmanship in grafting and budding.

I say that growers should not seek bargain counter sales in nursery stock. Land is too valuable. Cost of labor not only warrants but demands the best nursery stock that science and skill can produce.

If I were going to set out an orchard, say of Delicious, I would select the finest specimen of a vigorous, productive tree, say Arkansas Black, producing highly colored apples. I would select the finest specimens when the apples were fully matured. I would care for the seeds of these and at the proper season I would plant them. When the seedlings were a year old, I would select sections of a tree of equal quality of Delicious and graft into the root stock of the seedlings. I firmly believe that this method would do away with so many unsightly variations and failures in orchard culture and that the results

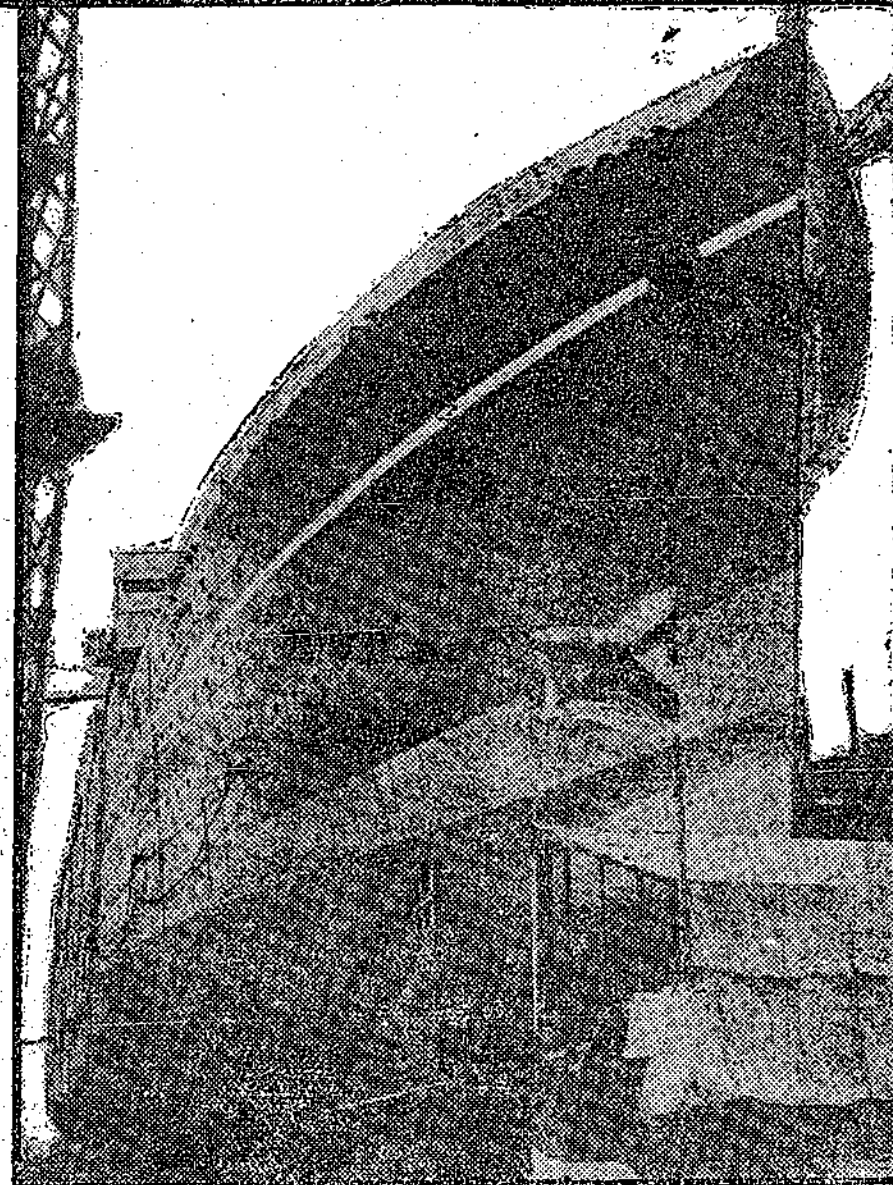

Naming the Montclare

WHY SHIPS AS "SHE"? Inspecting the "model" room before the luncheon, Lady Brown remarked how strange it was that since first they sailed the main ships had always been spoken of as "she." "I suppose," she added, "they made her a woman because they found out that, loved and humoured, she is an angel, but driven—well, she isn't." She thought it was Kipling who said that ships were like women in that they had many secret hopes and dreams. However that might be, her ladyship trusted that the good ship "Montclare," the new C. P. R. Liner, would prove to be what all women hoped and dreamt of—the beautiful, the strong, and the true.

One of the raciest speeches ever heard at a Clyde launch was that by Lady McLaren Brown, following the luncheon at Messrs. Brown's Yard, December 16. While the new Canadian Pacific liner was not put into the water, her Ladyship christened the vessel, and as a souvenir she received a beautiful brooch which the recipient declared would give a fresh lease of life to her dress and thereby gratify her husband.

The new Canadian Pacific Steamer "Montclare," 16,200 tons, as she appeared before launching at the Yards of Messrs. John Brown & Co., Clydebank, Scotland.

The speaker was the wife of Sir George McLaren Brown, the European Manager of the C. P. R., who, with a distinguished party, travelled from London to Liverpool for the launch.

THE WRONG NUMBER

Good telephone service depends vitally upon care in calling telephone numbers. A wrong number called causes loss of time to you, to the party called and to the operator. Every instance means avoidable inconvenience to all concerned.

It is not the loss of time to you alone or to the operator that concerns us most, but it is the annoyance to the party called. Your mistake cannot be explained to him, and the Telephone Company is held responsible for your error.

Consulting the current issue of the telephone directory, instead of trusting to memory; giving your number clearly, and quickly correcting the operator if she misunderstands your call, will greatly increase the efficiency of the service.

therefrom would justify the extra cost and labor involved. I could go deeper into the subject and furnish details and illustrations, thus perhaps making my contention clearer but I feel that I have already taken up too much space. In conclusion I would say that it is hard for some people to believe in that which they do not understand, but to all such I would recommend that they do a little thinking and experimenting, and to remember the quotation of Lord Byron:

"'Tis strange but true; For truth is always strange, Stranger than fiction." E. J. WATSON Yakima, Wash.

TWILIGHT

Sara Tearsdale Aloof as aged kings, Wearing like her the purple, The mountains ring the mesa Crowned with a dusky light; Many a time I watched That coming out of darkness Till stars burned through the heavens Intolerably bright.

It was not long I lived there, But I became a woman Under those vehement stars, For it was there I heard For the first time my spirit Forging an iron rule for me, As though with slow cold hammers Beating out word for word.

"Take love when love is given, But never think to find it A sure escape from sorrow Or a complete repose; Only yourself can lead you, Only yourself can heal you, Up the hard road to heaven That ends where no one knows."

Kentville, N.S.—Over 100,000 barrels of apples have been shipped to Halifax for export by the Dominion Atlantic railway. There are still approximately 350,000 barrels left for export. From the beginning of the season 1490 more cars of apples were moved than for the corresponding period last year.

Summerside, P.E.I.—With a population of about 90,000, Prince Edward Island has seventy Women's Institutes working for community betterment. Short courses are given annually with instructions in domestic science, fancy work, sewing, millinery and other subjects.

Halifax, N.S.—A healthy increase in Halifax industries is indicated in the Dominion bureau of statistics report on maritime industrial growth. The output of manufactures in that city in 1917 was $15,247,469; in 1918, $19,339,836, and in 1919 $21,955,162.

CANADIAN BRIEFS

Ottawa, Ont.—Figures of the operation of the pulp and paper industry in Canada during 1920, just issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics, set forth in a striking manner the rapid growth of this branch of industrial effort during recent years. There are 100 pulp and paper mills all told; the capital investment is given as $347,563,000, of which $221,472,000 is in pulp and paper mills, $103,659,000 in pulp mills, and $22,421,000 in paper mills.

Vancouver, B. C.—Fifty-three deep-sea ships, not including the big vessels that ply between Vancouver and San Francisco, is the record of the port of Vancouver for the month of January. For the whole of 1921 the number of deep-sea ships arriving in Vancouver was 389, compared with 336 vessels in the preceding twelve months. Coastwise local and foreign arrivals in 1921 were 11,485.

New Westminster, B. C.—Toward the end of 1921 three thousand pounds of tree seed were shipped from the Dominion Forestry Branch extracting plant at New Westminster to the Forestry Commission of Great Britain. This shipment was about equally divided between Douglas fir and Sitka spruce. The seed will be used in the great replanting scheme now underway in the British Isles.

Armstrong, B. C.—Preparations for a heavy crop of celery are being made here. Hot beds, in which the spring plants for the early harvest are to be grown, are under construction and the first seeding will be done within a short time. Shipments of the 1921 celery crop, which was the heaviest in six years, started on July fourth. The gross returns from this crop averaged about $700 an acre.

Cochrane, Ont.—The arrival here of Capt. Maxwell, established a definite aerial traffic between the railroad of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway and the outposts of civilization in the Hudson's Bay region at Moose Factory. Several "landings" and "take-offs" on the snow were made successfully.

Regina, Saskatchewan.—To encourage farmers in Saskatchewan to raise more sheep upwards of 4,000 grade ewes and over one hundred pure bred rams were sold to farmers in the province last year by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. During 1921 the three western provinces showed an increase in the number of sheep, as well as Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, while the four central provinces reported decreases.

Calgary, Alta.—About one hundred thousand head of stock—cattle, horses, sheep—graze every season on the Dominion forest reserves in Western Canada. This grazing keeps the fire hazard at a minimum and at the same time is of great value to the farmers and ranchers in the vicinity of the reserves.

Portage La Prairie, Man.—Fifteen thousand sacks of flour, the gift of Western Canadian farmers, to the Armenians through the relief Association left this point for New Orleans for shipment to Constantinople. Appeals for aid for Armenia found a ready response among Manitoba and Saskatchewan farmers, donations being from two to five bushels per load.

Edmonton, Alta.—Edmonton is not generally recognized as a factory city, yet judging by statistics recently published by the Board of Trade it may lay some claim to the status. More than one hundred bona fide manufacturing establishments are to be found in the city, all producing goods of a wide variety. The Board made the census with an eye on the forthcoming made-in-Edmonton exposition to be held in the spring.

Edmonton, Alta.—Nearly three thousand farmers attended the Alberta Government mixed farming train in the first week of its itinerary. The train, which is stocked with excellent types of livestock and accompanied by scientific agriculturists, is sent out by the Provincial Government for the promotion of better mixed farming methods in Alberta.

Ottawa, Ont.—The latest figures of the agricultural institute at Rome confirm Canada's assumption to second place among the countries of the world as a wheat producer, with a yield of 329,335,000 bushels from the 1921 crop. Canada was exceeded in wheat production last year by the United States alone, which had a yield of 794,393,000 bushels.

Moncton, N.B.—A remarkable increase in industrial importance is indicated in the bureau of statistics' figures on Moncton's manufactures. Production of plants which was only $2,182,503 in 1917 had increased to $3,526,243 in 1918 and $7,526,945 in 1919.

It's cheaper to retain than to regain the good will of your help. Wise is the employer who realizes this.

Newcastle, New Brunswick — The smelt fishing for 1921-22 in the northern and eastern coastal counties of New Brunswick has been the most successful in the history of the industry and the volume of shipments has exceeded anything previously reached. The bulk has gone to the United States though there has been a satisfactory trade with Quebec and Ontario.

Quebec, P.Q.—Complete control of the tidal fisheries of the province of Quebec has been secured from the federal government by the provincial government, according to the announcement of the provincial minister of fisheries on his return from Ottawa. The province hereafter is to have sole administration of its waters except for the waters of the Magdalen Islands, which lie in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and have been judged to be too far away for practical provincial administration.

Three Rivers, Que.—It is reported that the preliminary works for the construction of the plant of the Three Rivers Pulp and Paper Company, with a capital of $3,000,000, will start in March. It is expected that the new mill will be in operation by the end of 1923.

Montreal, Que.—Several hundred thousand pelts, including those of the polar, grizzly and black bear, coyote, buffalo, silver, red and cross fox muskrat, beaver, sable and mink were received by the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Co. for their winter sale, consignments coming from all parts of Canada, the United States, Russia, Siberia, Labrador and Patagonia. The prices realized were on the whole higher than those prevailing at the fall sales, and in all a revenue in excess of $1,200,000 was secured from the four days sale.

Montreal, Que.—Full executive authority of the port of Montreal has been placed in the hands of a general manager, the old system of individual control of the various departments being superseded by the full concentration of authority. The innovation was only made after the most exhaustive study of the methods of executive in the ports of Europe and the American continent.

Montreal, Que.—The first kraft pulp mill on the American continent was established in Canada in 1909, with a capacity of 60 tons daily, according to the Financial Service. In 1922 the total rated capacity of Canadian and American mills is 2,025 tons daily. At the present time the United States has built or has under construction 25 mills making 1,199 tons daily, while Canada's eleven mills can make 328 tons.

Montreal, Que.—Arrangements have been made by the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Limited, with the Marconi Telegraph Company of Canada, Ltd., to equip the trans-Pacific steamships Empress of Canada and Empress of Australia with the most comprehensive range of the latest type of wireless apparatus. This will enable the steamships to make the fullest possible use of the latest developments in radio-engineering as an aid to navigation and for long distant telegraph service.

Ottawa, Ont.—A new production record was achieved in the rubber industry of Canada in 1920. The total of rubber goods factories had a value of $55,122,857, whilst rubber footwear factories accounted for an output valued at $25,594,451. The capital invested in rubber goods factories was $42,249,456, and in rubber footwear plants $14,200,563. There were 7,195 male and 1,288 female employees in the former branch of the industry, receiving wages totalling $10,152,683; and in the latter $6,089,404.

Ottawa, Ont.—Over 400 officers and 840 airmen received training at Camp Borden during the year ending Oct. 1, 1921, according to the annual report of the Dominion Air Board. The total flying time for the year was 3158 hours or the equivalent in distance covered of approximately 250,000 miles.

Toronto, Ont.—The sheep export market offers big opportunities for Ontario sheep farmers, according to Prof. Wade Toole, of the Ontario Agricultural college. He said the Ontario and Federal departments of agriculture proposed to aid the breeders by paying the freight charges on an Ontario exhibit to one of the big international shows.

St. John's Nfld.—In order to assist the development of the herring fishing board, non-political and having functions and powers similar to the fisheries board of Scotland, is being advocated by the St. Johns board of trade. This board would encourage the more general adoption of the "Scotch cure" and other "improved methods" of preserving fish and would see that herrings exported were of a standard quality.

Summerside, P.E.I.—It is estimated that local small fur farmers earned $250,000 in the past three months. Farmers are coming in an increasing extent to realize the profits of fox farming as a side line, and supplementing the larger ranches, the breeding of a few foxes is becoming an adjunct to other agricultural activities. This is having a beneficial effect on the trade of the town, which now has a population of 3000.

Halifax, N.S.—In order to encourage reforestation in Nova Scotia, Frank J. D. Barnjum, of Annapolis Royal, N.S., is reported to have offered a cash bonus of $2 an acre to the farmers of Nova Scotia for every acre of spruce or pine seedlings planted by them on their farms the coming spring of 1922. No one farmer is to be paid a bonus on more than 100 acres, so as to distribute the plantings as widely as possible over the province. Location and method of planting must be approved by the government forester of Nova Scotia, if one is appointed, otherwise by Mr.

Barnjum's forester, to ensure satisfactory results.

Halifax, N.S.—A scarcity of wild animals—bears and wild cats—on the snouts of which the municipality pays bounty, is reported. During the year 1921 only $148 was paid for bounties, while not many years ago it ran up to $500, and a great many bears were included. Now the bounties that are paid are chiefly for wild cats.

Halifax, N.S.—A considerable revival of gold mining in the province of Nova Scotia this year, is predicted by the department of lands and mines. Between 1882 and 1920 the production of gold in the province was 967,457 ounces, which at a valuation of $19 an ounce, was worth $18,329,683. The annual production has ranged between 20,000 and 30,000 ounces. Nova Scotia gold is derived entirely from vein workings.

Sydney, N.S.—The maritime provinces have been less affected by the industrial depression than any other parts of the Dominion, according to T. S. Stevenson, special investigator of the Dominion labor department who has been making a study of industrial conditions in eastern Canada.

Fredericton, N.B.—The dairy products of the province of New Brunswick in 1921 were valued at $927,064 according to the official statistics. Production included 1,000,303 pounds of cheese, valued at $304,864; 1,162,020 pounds of butter, valued at $470,870; and 154,626 gallons of ice cream, valued at $251,228.

Quebec, P.Q.—Of the 616,000 horsepower, actually used by the pulp and paper mills of Canada in 1920, no less than 455,000 horse-power was developed either by hydraulic turbines or by electric motors, leaving only 160,000 horse-power developed by steam, gas or gasoline engines.

Quebec, P.Q.—There are 1282 municipalities in the province of Quebec, with a population in 1920 of 2,503,543, or whom 1,131,158 were classed as rural and 1,322,390 urban, according to the annual report of the bureau of statistics. The total length of roads in the province was 35,939 miles, of which 11,739 were improved earth roads, 2,456 macadamized and 2,848 gravel. The valuation of immovable property was $1,526,540,849, an increase of $123,738,345 over the previous year.

Montreal, Que.—A party of over three hundred Canadian school teachers will tour Europe during the coming summer, according to Major Fred Ney, founder and honorary organizer of the Overseas Educational League. A similar but smaller expedition was made last summer. The party will sail from Montreal to Havre, France, on July 1, where they will be joined by teachers from New Zealand and Australia, returning on August 25.

Toronto, Ont.—Another unit of the General Motors Corporation is being organized in Canada, and will be known as the Oakland Motor Car Company. It will be located at Oshawa, Ont., and operations are expected to commence in March. The company already has on its books some large orders for export. The Canadian branch of General Motors, located at Oshawa, is now turning out more cars than at any other time in its history.

Ottawa, Ont.—The total net debt of Canada on January 31st was $2,372,572,984, as compared with $2,366,861,252 at the end of December, 1921, an increase of $5,711,732. The total amount paid in interest on the public debt during the present fiscal year is $14,579,577, as compared with $120,042,240 during the ten months of 1920-21.

Hull, Que.—During the past year, according to the city assessor, the city of Hull's assessment was increased by three quarters of a million dollars. The total valuation of the city now is $16,772,282, of which $11,942,280 is taxable. The same report gives the population of the city at 33,672, an increase of about a thousand over that of last year.

Noyan, Que.—E. G. Fadden, a local breeder of poultry, has earned fresh laurels by carrying off the silver cup at the Vermont State Poultry Show last week offered for the best exhibit of birds. His turkeys also secured four prizes. He states that at Christmas-time he was receiving for his poultry more than some farmers secured for their cattle.

Ottawa, Ont.—The present level of building in Canada has not been reached since 1914. The building record of 1921 was $240,133,300, as against $255,605,500, a slight decrease in money value of contracts let which is probably more than outweighed by the fall in building costs. The decrease, such as it is, occurs only in the Western and Maritime Provinces, Ontario and Quebec showing substantial increases. Roughly 76 million dollars worth of residential construction was put in hand during the year, $5 million dollars worth of business property, sixteen and a half million dollars worth of industrial and 62 million dollars worth of engineering construction.

Cornwall, Ont.—A most successful year has just been concluded, according to the annual report of the Cornwall Board of Trade, and all plants in the city at the present time working to full capacity. The population of the town is stated to be 7,738 with some tributary 2,500 persons beyond the limits but employed in it. There are some 70 industrial establishments, employing 1,973 hands and paying wages totalling $1,465,491. This does not include the Howard-Smith Paper Mill outside the town limits, where 300 hands are employed with an annual pay-roll of about $350,000.

Victoria, B. C.—Whale hunting off the British Columbia coast may be resumed this year by the Consolidated Whaling Corporation. Hunting of the big mammals was discontinued last year because the market for whale oil was a poor one. The outlook for this season, however, is better, and the corporation is considering the advisability of resuming activities.

Victoria, B. C.—The total log production of British Columbia for the first eleven months of 1921, from the official returns of logs scaled, has reached 1,650,759,388 feet. During the past year, the months of heavy production were June, July and August. Of the total production 1,283,734,106 feet were scaled on the coast, and 367,025,282 feet on inland territory.

Ottawa, Ont.—The aggregate value of all field crops in Canada in 1921 is finally estimated by the Government at $31,863,670, as compared with $1,455,244,050 in 1920, and $1,537,170,100 in 1919, the highest on record. The total yield of wheat is fixed at 300,853,100 bushels from a sown area of 23,261,244 acres. The oat yield aggregated 426,232,900 bushels from 16,949,029 acres. Barley yielded 59,709,100 bushels from 2,795,665 acres and flax 4,111,800 bushels from 533,147 acres.

Toronto, Ont.—Ontario's timber production last year was valued at $29,774,937, or 40 per cent of Canada's total output, according to the Provincial Department of Lands and Forests. Pine production amounted to 905,402,000 feet; pulpwood 246,232 cords; and railway ties 5,704,459. Eighty-two per cent of lumber used in Ontario's industries is purchased within the province.

Chatham, Ont.—Both from the standpoint of quality and quantity, the tobacco crop of 1921 in Essex and Kent counties was the best in the history of the industry, says the Border Cities Star. It is estimated that the farmers received approximately $1,750,000, or an average of $700 an acre. Favored with ideal weather the crop ripened to perfection, and the harvest was greatly in excess of the most optimistic forecasts.

Winnipeg, Man.—The total yield of wheat in the three prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta in 1921 is finally estimated by the Dominion Government at 286,098,000 bushels from 22,181,329 sown acres, as compared with 234,138,300 bushels from 16,841,174 acres in 1920. Oat production amounted to 284,147,500 bushels from 10,819,641 acres; barley 44,681,600 bushels from 2,109,065 acres; rye 19,109,700 bushels from 1,688,228 acres; and flax seed 3,945,700 bushels from 516,972 acres.

Regina, Sask.—An increasing demand for lower grades of wool, for which there has been no markets for some years, is noticeable, declared G. E. O'Brien general manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Sheep Breeders' Association. The public is beginning to demand a cheaper fabric, he said, and to fill this demand manufacturers will have to turn their attention to the low-priced wools.

Calgary, Alta.—The membership of the United Farmers of Alberta increased from 30,760 in 1920 to a total of nearly 38,000 in 1921, according to H. Higginsbotham, general secretary. The membership had more than doubled in the last four years. A further large increase in the number of locals had taken place, there being a grand total of 1,505. This was made up of 1,081 U. F. W. A., and 115 junior locals.

Windsor, Ont.—Windsor exhibited the most gratifying industrial progress in 1921 and there is every indication of its continuance in the present year. In the past twelve months seventeen new United States industries located here and there are now 233 flourishing industries in the border cities. Within the past week alone locations were found for four United States industrial enterprises, and at the present time negotiations are in progress with 82 promising prospects, two being British and the remainder American.

Parrsboro, N. S.—A total of 11,644, 635 feet of lumber, valued at $383,603, were shipped during the year 1921 from Parrsboro to the United States and United Kingdom ports. In addition $60,000 worth of lumber was shipped to St. John. The total was made up of $238,531 worth of spruce and hemlock; $60,721 worth of laths; piling to the value of $19,602; spruce timber worth $8,294; spruce poles, valued at $2,003; and deals, battens, scantlings, costing $31,196.

Toronto, Ont.—A newspaper report from Chicago states that fish caught in the Canadian Northwest, transported long distances by dog sledge and horse-drawn sleighs, and then shipped more than a thousand miles by rail, are being sold on the Chicago markets. Two carloads of fish from Lakes Winnipeg, Winnipegosis and Manitoba, were recently disposed of at Chicago.

Toronto, Ont.—A surplus of $700,000 will be shown in the annual budget statement of the Province of Ontario, according to Hon. Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer. The expenditure for the coming fiscal year, it is stated, will be in the region of $29,000,000 over the previous year. It is stated that $4,500,000 were derived during 1921 from succession duties.

Calgary, Alta.—For the first time the Canadian Pacific Railway carried snow as freight, to be utilized in Calgary's winter carnival. The snow, which was especially needed for the ski-jump, was transported in freight cars from Lake Louise.

Winnipeg, Man.—The largest cut in lumber prices made since the war was announced during the week, amounting to $9 per thousand feet, applying to all classes of lumber, rough and finished, and bringing the price of lumber within a few dollars of pre-war prices.

"HEADS UP" IS ADVICE HE GIVES

Optimistic Note Is Sounded by President Coleman of K. V. R.

PENTICTON, B. C.

"The factors which made Canada great are still here to make her greater," President D. C. Coleman, of the Kettle Valley Railway company told the business men of Pentiction during an optimistic address given at the Pentiction club on Saturday night. President Coleman's remarks, which were listened to with great interest by a gathering which thronged the club room, were in no sense a "boosting" talk. In a way which evinced a thorough grasp of affairs he outlined many of the main features of the world-wide situation, dealing also with the principles of cause and effect as applied to today's situation. He spoke particularly of Canada's prospects.

"There is no occasion for despondency," said the railwayman. "Canada has for sale foodstuffs, metals and coal, which are the basic commodities. As the world's markets improve the people of the Dominion are bound to enjoy the benefit. It is necessary, however, to increase production and we should therefore encourage immigration to the prairie provinces. B.C.'s fruit and lumber will then be sold there in increasing quantities for the prairie provinces should always be the principal market for these commodities.

"We should face the future with heads up and with high courage. Western Canada has always come through its reverses of the past and has confounded the timid. A generation ago Western Canada was a wilderness of silence, now it contains three million souls and has passed from being merely a land of promise to a land of promises fulfilled.

"Don't listen to the tempter who says the West has shot its bolt and its day is done. Tell the tempter that we are surrounded by a host of men who came to the West with nothing but brains, and who have lived to pace the battlements of their castles in Spain, to welcome their treasure ships home."

Too Much Government
The speaker spoke sharply on the question of excessive governmental supervision, taxation and ownership, declaring that the tendency in this direction would stifle individual initiative and retard the real progress of the country.

Mr. Coleman was very warmly received by the audience which had gathered at the Pentiction club to hear him on Saturday night. Other speakers accompanying him, who also addressed the local business men, were Messrs. George Allan, G. M. Black and Major Kirkpatrick. Mr. Allan was for nearly forty years a law partner in Winnipeg of the late Mr. J. H. Munson, well known here and a heavy owner of Pentiction property. Mr. Allan was a war-time member of the Canadian House of Commons. Mr. Black is a financial man of Winnipeg, while Major Kirkpatrick is assistant freight traffic manager of the C. P. R. The railway party arrived in Pentiction by special train on Saturday afternoon leaving for Nelson at midnight. Prior to their arrival Secretary D. McN. Lowe of the Pentiction club, telegraphed a request to President Coleman of the K.V.R. to speak here. His consent was obtained, with the result that the club premises were opened up to as many citizens as desired to hear the visitors discuss general conditions. Major Angus, president of the club, made an admirable chairman. At the close of the speech-making music was provided by the Hotel Inco's orchestra, and refreshments were served.

Praise K. V. R. Men

At the outset of his speech Mr. Coleman referred briefly to the Kettle Valley Railway company, of which he is the head, as well as being a vice-president of the Canadian Pacific. He said the Kettle Valley line was not particularly profitable, but the future would be found to justify the foresight and judgment of its builders. This railway had been fortunate, he considered, in having as its guide through the early years Mr. James J. Warren, and in now possessing officers of the calibre of Mr. Andrew McCulloch, general superintendent, and Mr. O. E. Fisher, traffic manager. "These capable and worthy officers have our complete confidence," he said.

He pointed out that the investments of the Canadian Pacific interests in southern B. C., such as the Kettle Valley, the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., and the West Kootenay Power Co., reached an enormous sum, but there was no apprehension whatever on the part of the company in this connection; in fact there was no regret for the expenditure of a single dollar in this section.

Mining, lumbering and fruit growing in southern B. C. would year by year bring increasing returns, and the Canadian Pacific, with all its faults, has never hesitated in assisting in the legitimate development of the country. The president of the Kettle Valley announced that the branch line to Oliver would be vigorously pressed, and would be completed to that town by early autumn. The railway interests were anxious, he said, to have the province realize upon its investments in that section as soon as possible, and thus transportation facilities would be made available well in advance of production.

Now a Testing Time

"We are passing through a severe testing time," he declared, in turning to a consideration of general affairs. "We had dreamed of a rapid and peaceful development after the war, but these hopes have to a great extent been disappointed. Our convalescence has been prolonged. We must remember, however, that provision has had to be made for the liquidation of the debts of four years of world warfare. When we consider that recovery is not a matter of months or even a few years, we can see that we perhaps hoped for too much." As a result of the war, the world lost the life of an entire generation. It was as if, he said, humanity had stood still for thirty years. The chaos now existing in Central Europe and Russia was naturally reflected in Canada. No one could expect that the producing power of half of civilized mankind would be destroyed without an effect being created here.

Mr. Coleman deplored the lack of co-operation on the part of both the United States and France in connection with the proposed Genoa conference. Such a conference should have been held as intended in order to settle the world's financial situation and the sooner it came the better.

The speaker made it clear in this connection, however, that he was not in favor of letting Germany go scot free in the matter of reparations. He would circumscribe the activities of Germany, he said; he favored exacting from them reparations until every German swears to pay. He would make the penalty so severe that unborn generations of Germans when they faced the taxpayer would realize only too well why they had such a financial load; and Russia, which took a serpent to her bosom, had no right to ask the allies to suck her wounds.

"But nevertheless," he cautioned, "we cannot put a barbed wire fence around their trade without suffering and loss to other nations."

Methods of Taxation

The speaker took up the question of western national ideas as contrasted with those of the east. Methods of taxation as carried on in the Far East for hundreds of years were simple. If the individual made money the ruler simply took most of it away from him. In western countries the principle which obtained, however, was that if any man made money he was entitled to retain it. "But if we keep on piling up super-taxes, income taxes, both federal, provincial and municipal, soon or later we will bring our country to the same static conditions as that of eastern civilizations. You cannot imagine a young man entering into business with the avowed intention of denying himself every luxury and pleasure merely to be able to offer a pleasant surprise to tax collector. Excessive taxation removes encouragement from personal initiative. We can help the government eliminate extra taxes by relaxing pressure upon it to spend money for the glorification of particular communities, or for the benefit of the few instead of the many."

Mr. Coleman said he believed that one thing business men, and in fact the people in general, should do was to set their faces against the government entering into the field of business. Private activity in business was always more productive than business on the part of the state. So far the excursions made by the state into business had merely increased state expenditure and increased public taxation. A great delusion on the part of many persons, he claimed was that the socialization of land and industry was a step towards the millennium. That delusion was merely due to a misconception of history. Man began existence with everything held in common but gradually fought up the scale to the era of progress by means of personal endeavor. Individual effort and initiative brought to him the control of nature.

If the resources of Canada were to be developed the Dominion must be a borrowing nation for at least a generation. That meant that it must have credit and that its private enterprises must be solvent and progressive. But no business could borrow money for development if it was constantly threatened with spoliation. The man who continually attacked prosperous Canadian industries and wanted government ownership, control and direction of all forms of commercial and industrial activity merely did harm.

Mr. Allan Speaks

Mr. George Allan spoke of his residence of 42 years in the west and of his long and exceedingly friendly association with the late Mr. J. H. Munson.

Discussing business conditions, Mr. Allan reminded his hearers that the manufacturing and agricultural industries of Canada had warning of hard times as far back as 1920 when they could observe conditions in the United States. All lines of industry had to face a drop in the price of commodities. The consumer delayed paying the bills, the retailer leaned on the wholesaler and the latter upon the bank. There had been an expectation on the prairies of a big crop with big prices in 1920, but disappointment came. There was much the same expectation in 1921 and when the toboggan in prices arrived disappointment was very keen. The speaker said that in the past twelve months he had visited every province except Prince Edward Island and the impression he had gained was that the people in Canada were as well off as any. The damage done here by the world conflict was probably less than anywhere else. There had been few failures in Canada during the depression of the past year and the financial institutions of the country had "held up their end" of the burden. The failure of the Merchants Bank had been a blow but, speaking broadly, the banking system of Canada had worked better in depressed times than had that of the United States which nation had 30,000 banks for 110 million people. The big life insurance and loan institutions of Canada had created confidence on the part of the public and despite the huge withdrawal of foreign money during the past few years, they had met the resulting situation measurably well.

Mr. Allan said he believed farming conditions were more severe in the United States than in Canada, and as an instance referred to the tremendous drop in Iowa. The crash there was particularly bad because not only had the farmers to take a loss in the price of commodities, but the value of their high priced lands went away down. On this side of the line farm lands were not by any means so high, consequently the temporary drop in products would not have so serious an effect.

The unemployed situation in the United States was more acute than in the Dominion, he said.

Concluding, Mr. Allan claimed for Canadian people the power of recovery and said that he believed they would work out their salvation through self reliance, hard work and thrift.

Withdrawal of Funds

Another visitor who spoke was Mr. G. M. Black. He touched on the question of the withdrawal of outside money from Canadian investment fields, giving this as one reason why money was tight here. Canadians reduced their liabilities, but naturally found themselves with little money. As buying power decreased so did paying power throughout the country. The prairie farmer found that with low prices and in many places a short crop he could not clean up in the Fall, hence there was a big "carry over." Mr. Black said he believed that people would have to go through this summer on a lean sum. But everyone should hope for a big prairie crop.

He told of his first visit to Pentiction in 1905 when he sat in the big cherry tree on the old Ellis ranch. At that time the south country was a bald looking spot, but with the development undertaken by the provincial government it would soon become a heavy producing section. Mr. Black said he was greatly surprised at the orchard growth of West Summerland as viewed from the train window.

He contended for the prairie farmers that once they got on their feet they would provide a market for fruit which the B. C. growers would have a hard job keeping ahead of.

A necessity to be met, however, was the further settlement of the prairie country. Immigrants of the proper type would be hard to obtain in the British Isles as there was no surplus of farm labor there. One man who could perhaps be taken care of, however, was the renter from the United States.

The speaker told his audience of a recent trip taken to the Old Country. He said that England was gradually getting back on its feet and had many more troubles than had Canada. For one thing, the national debt in the Old Country worked out at about $1,000 per head while in Canada it was a quarter that sum. Besides, Canada possessed many natural resources.

Concluding, he expressed the hope of being able to come back to Pentiction in midsummer.

Growth of Shipments

Major Kirkpatrick gave figures showing that whereas the Canadian Pacific in 1903 took 150 cars of products out of the Okanagan at the present time it was taking out more than 6,000 cars per annum and this quantity would in a few years be much larger.

He said he did not agree with the previous speaker that the prairies would provide a big enough market for B. C. fruit and pointed out that even at the present time the B. C. shippers were sending their fruit practically all over the world. "We are with you in your desire to expand your market," he said. "The more prosperous the people of the Okanagan valley are, the better for the C. P. R."

President Angus, who had introduced the visitors in a very neatly worded speech, offered further pleasantries and then called upon Vice Pres. J. A. Greenhill to propose a vote of thanks. Mr. Greenhill declared that having well-known men of affairs discuss conditions with local citizens did a good deal for the people here. He mentioned the debt of gratitude which the club felt to Mr. Coleman and his friends and urged them to return as soon and as often as they could.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—I would like a little space in your valuable paper to air a grievance. I applied to the Municipal Council of Peachland recently for a license to run a pool room and lunch room. They refused a pool room license. I understand their objection is the residents feel a pool room would be bad for the morals of growing boys. Now, I think that people, while with the best of intentions often help out in the opposite direction to that condition they would like to see exist. I have often heard complaints here that the boys are greatly addicted to hanging around the streets and business places and generally making themselves a nuisance to the public by their actions. There is an old saying, "Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do." Now, perhaps they do at times go too far, and it is because there is not a single place for them to legitimately congregate in. A good pool room would fill this vacancy. I gave my promise there would be no gambling and if things were not satisfactory they were at liberty to withdraw the license; so why not give it a tryout, then all will be satisfied.

Yours for fair play,
W. F. TOMLIN,
Peachland, B.C., March 20, 1922.

Reports from the coast tell of the early opening of the tourist season. The civic bodies of Vancouver and Victoria might do well by encouraging the visitors to visit the interior and see our orchards, farms, mines, smelters and other activities.

REDUCED PRICES PROMISED VENDOR

Downward Revision in Drinkables, According to Commissioner's Statement

PENTICTON, B. C.

Commissioner J. H. Falconer of the Liquor Control Board was a visitor in Pentiction on Monday. The commissioner is on an official tour of the government liquor stores of the interior, his principal object being to inquire into local conditions and wherever possible improve the service.

This is the first visit Mr. Falconer has made to Pentiction since the store was opened here last June and he expressed himself as well pleased with the appearance of the store, its location and the service that is being given the public. When questioned regarding the report that a drop in prices was imminent the commissioner stated that it was probable there would be a revision downward before very long, it was almost a certainty that beer would drop within the next week or two and the price in Pentiction would most likely be $1.80 per dozen pints.

The local vendor has also been authorized to announce that arrangements are being made for free delivery in Pentiction of beer in quantities of two dozen or over to go into effect about the middle of April. Mr. Roe was also advised by the commissioner that it was probably only a matter of time till Pentiction was made a distributing point, perhaps as soon as a suitable building can be obtained.

The troublesome question of the free lance in the liquor business was brought to the attention of the commissioner and he was asked if it was the intention of the board to take active measures in putting a stop to the traffic here. Mr. Falconer replied that the general public did not have the faintest conception of the difficulties the board had met with in dealing with the bootlegger. Recent judicial decisions however, have strengthened the position of the board and when plans now in preparation were completed the lines of rum runners would not be laid in very pleasant places.

BUILDINGS ARE NEEDED

Summerland's population is fewer by some hundreds of people because of the fact that residences have not been available to people who have come here with the intention of remaining. The fire of last week has emphasized to us the real scarcity of business accommodation.

The postoffice has found temporary quarters in the storage building; Simpson & Gowan must await repairs to the Empire Block; A. Stark has his stock scattered around and will also have to wait until the Empire Block is repaired. The Bank of Montreal could only find accommodation in the billiard room at Hotel Summerland.

With the Review the situation is even worse. No satisfactory accommodation has yet been found. A small plant will be set up in one of two or three temporary places pending the erection of permanent quarters.

SHOW OUR PRODUCTS AT FAIR.

Plans have been started for Vancouver's annual exhibition, to be held this summer. The exposition is nominally called a Vancouver affair, but it is really intended to be representative of all British Columbia, as we understand it. Anyway, all the province is invited to attend and support it, and visitors from other parts gain the impression that it is an array of British Columbia's products. If this is the case, then there should be products from all parts of B. C. there.

The annual exhibition does much toward attracting new settlers to this province. Those visitors should have an opportunity of getting acquainted with greater B. C. It might mean many new settlers. We need them. Our population is barely going ahead with the natural and casual increase of our birth rate. The last census of all Canada was a disappointment, if we acknowledge the truth. For this reason alone, we believe the Vancouver Exhibition should do a little more toward boosting all British Columbia, and not merely Vancouver and its immediate territory.

The exhibition should display everything we produce with the most attractive showing. Our apples, our agricultural products of every description, our minerals, our coal, a description of our arable and incomparable soil—everything, in fact, that relates to British Columbia in its most favorable light, should be introduced to the thousands that will gather from all parts.

MAIL ORDER FIRM OBJECTS.

Protesting against a recent news article appearing under the caption of "Mail Order House Gazes Gloatingly Upon B. C.," a Toronto mail order concern writes to protest. As it happens, the letter to which reference was made, came from Chicago, not from Toronto, but it shows the same lesson. Our mail order friend in Toronto says:

"We fail to see anything irregular in going after new business in a legitimate way, and British Columbia is a fair market for us as well as for any other outside concern that cares to attract trade. We offer good value and sell all over Canada. In fact, our mail order trade is most of our business, for our merely local business would never enable us to give work to hundreds and turn out thousands of dollars worth of shipments per week. We are proud to have so much B. C. trade, and we mean to get more. Take this any way you like."

Quite so, brother. Nobody is blaming you. Go to it. However much we hate seeing trade leaving our province, we cease to worry about our B. C. manufacturers if they are asleep on their job of telling the B. C. consumer they can compete with the mail order firms of Toronto, Winnipeg or Chicago. We do, however, remind our readers that it is both unfair and unwise to patronize mail order concerns in buying anything the home merchant sells. Most of the stuff that is being shipped in can be bought at equal values from your own home merchant. He is your neighbor and he spends his money here. It is up to you to do the same thing, and be fair about the thing.

WHY WORRY ABOUT US?

Why is Mr. Hearst worrying so much about Canada, especially the Pacific Coast part of Canada, these days? We have never been under the impression that he fostered any great love for the Empire, yet the Hearst publications at this time appear to be exercising deep concern and solicitude. As suggested in an editorial in the Vancouver Daily Sun the other day, Mr. Hearst is worrying about the Asiatic problem in British Columbia, among other things. The same daily hints that there may be some latent Hearst propaganda behind this, in view of Mr. Hearst's well known hatred of Great Britain, and the joy it would afford him to agitate an embroglio between the Empire and Japan, especially as he has also long evinced an antipathy to Nippon. This province hardly needs Mr. Hearst's assistance in meeting our own domestic trade and relation problems, so he may dry his tears and cease worrying over us.

DEATH TO DOPE.

The anti-drug crusade, started in Vancouver by The World and propelled by popular sentiment, has accomplished vast benefit. But, while the workers are about it, they would do well to make their good work permanent. In other words, something should be done toward precluding the probability of the menace returning when the present reform wave passes. This is what usually happens. A drug campaign proved highly successful in California a few years ago. But the dope evil there is now worse than ever. Nothing but ceaseless vigilance will keep this pernicious menace from returning with former virulence.

THE DIFFERENCE.

"Raising apples instead of raising H—" is more profitable, thinks Gen. Semenoff, Cossack crusader against the Bolsheviks, who is now cloistered in Vancouver, awaiting disposition by the immigration officials. Gen. Semoff ought to know. He has made a close study of the fruits of raising H— instead of raising fruit in troubled Russia.

THE CITY AND THE SOIL.

After living on public charity, or semi-charity all the winter, hundreds of workless men of Vancouver are looking askant at employment now being offered them on farms on the Prairies. The commissioner who made a special trip from Saskatchewan, said the farmers could probably use 3000 men, and give them good work during the harvest later. The pay was $40 a month and board at present, with special harvest rates. And did the jobless prodigals herald him with acclaim? They did not. That labor commissioner will probably have the time of his life gathering up enough men to fill the immediate needs of the prairie farmers. That is, unless the city of Vancouver closes up the municipal hospice and bundles off all the unemployed that can not be used on public work.

There you have an idea of the relative attractions of the city and the soil. You can see why so many men would rather wander around friendless streets of a city, in rags and tatters, picking up an odd meal here and there, without trade or training and without a prospect of ever attaining a permanent place in the social fitness of things. The soil has no attractions for them. They regard it with contempt. They curl their lip every time they think of "the poor rubes in the country." They, somehow, imagine themselves superior to "that small town stuff." It is a fact that human effigies, men whose rags would not assay the price of a loaf of bread in a junk shop, are wandering around, shivering in the cold in the cities, and yet cheating themselves with the idea they form a class superior to the "hicks" or dwellers in the pure next-to-nature country and all its plenty. If they happen to see a prosperous looking rural visitor on the street, they are not above hitting him up for the price of a cup of coffee, but at the next corner you are apt to hear the same outcast tell another tattered crony that he "just gotta jitney from that country rube walking down the pike."

And so it is that contempt of soil, contempt of industry, indolence, lack of application, omission to learn a trade or acquire some kind of training, all contribute to the growing array of malcontents and human misfits. Half of them would rather shiver at the street corner listening to a radical tonguester on a soapbox than brace up and get a man's job on the nearest farm. Social equality sounds fine. We all know the world owes us a living, but there are many who fail to realize that a training of some sort is necessary before the debt can be collected. This town has a few listless men—yes and women—who are vaguely waiting for something to turn up. And while they are waiting, time flies, they are getting nearer and nearer to the limit of their useful days. Their chances of making good are receding and some dark day they may wake up to find the world did not wait for them to see what they intended to do with themselves.

Isn't it true?

TRANSPORTATION OF FRUIT.

Reduced to definite terms, the advice given by Mr. G. E. McIntosh, Dominion transportation specialist of the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, to the fruit growers of British Columbia at their annual convention, recently held, was organize and co-operate. The counsel is good for every line of agriculture everywhere, but is especially applicable to the fruit industry, which deals not only with perishable goods, the value of which depends to a vital extent on the methods of handling in picking, packing and purveying or transporting. The conclusions arrived at by Mr. McIntosh in his address were: That there should be inspection of refrigerator cars for defects at all railway terminals before delivery at loading points. That all refrigerator cars should be equipped with false doors; that cars should be equipped with insulated bulkheads; that cars exceeding 39 ft. in length inside should be avoided; that long cars are harder to refrigerate than short ones, and that over-loading should be avoided. Much good fruit is forwarded in over-ripe condition, states Mr. McIntosh, and strict grading as well as careful handling is necessary. Shippers and carriers should, he believes, get together to fix safe minimums and adjust rates. With regard to temperature, his opinion is that a carload five crates wide and nine crates long and piled eleven crates high cannot be properly refrigerated; that brine tank cars not fully insulated are unsuitable for fresh fruit transportation and that over-ripe or carelessly handled fruit cannot be successfully marketed at distant points; that brine-tank refrigerator cars properly equipped and re-iced in transit will successfully transport fresh fruit and vegetables; that the practice of lining four-basket crates with paper and folding it over the top of the fruit is not one to be commended; that high piling of crates is a wrong practice and that eight packages high is sufficient with a space between to permit of air circulation; that as high as 15 per cent. salt can be safely used in brine tank refrigerator cars loaded with fruit direct from field or orchard when moved by express; that opening cars for partial unloading, if judiciously done, does not affect the fruit; that for freight shipments 15 per cent. of salt can be used for initial icing and for first and second re-icing, but should then be reduced according to climatic conditions and the nature of the fruit or vegetables being handled; that investigations have proven that the rapid cooling of fruit shipments is desirable and that the brine-tank car is best adapted for this. The fitting of tanks in these cars with screen tops is not recommended.

"THE SONG OF LIFE"

A drama of Disgust and Discontent. Of the grease and grime of domestic drudgery that finds its way into a woman's soul. With a notable cast including Gaston Glass, Grace Darmond, Georgia Woodthrope and little Richard Headrick. You will recall the role played by Richard Glass as the idolized son of the Jewish mother in "Humoresque," Richard Headrick was the lovable little tot in "The Child Thou Gavest Me."

A drama of things warm and human—the song of a mother to a Husband's Wife—of the little things in life that mean so much of which we think so little.

A picture for every member of the family. Don't do those dishes this meal! Come see the picture. Thoughtful husbands everywhere insist that their wives see this tie-binding picture of a household content.

ANTI-DUMPING IS SAFE FOR YEAR

Nothing Will be Done This Year to Upset the Clause, Says Delegation

Vernon.—R. M. Winslow, Vernon, and Mayor Sutherland of Kelowna, returned on Saturday from Ottawa where with F. B. Cossitt, of Vernon, they made up a deputation from the Associated Boards of Trade of the Okanagan seeking the retention of the anti-dumping clause. Mr. Cossitt is expected home at the end of the week.

"Deputations from Vancouver and elsewhere were found to be working for the repeal of the clause, but the Okanagan delegation had a good reception from the cabinet and a definite assurance that no matter what may be the final decision, no action will be taken at the present session to repeal the legislation," said Mr. Sutherland when passing through Vernon on Saturday. He pointed out that a strong case would have to be prepared for presentation to the government before next year, otherwise the advocates of the abolition of the clause may have their way.

Mr. Winslow, unfortunately was taken ill with the flu on his arrival at the capital and was confined to his room for a few days.

In discussing the matter, he said that the deputation had done good work and it was in the best interests of the industry that they had gone, because they were able to offset the work of those who were favoring the repealing of the measure.

On the whole the delegation is confident that the clause will be retained, but what the future may bring forth no one can foretell.

FRUIT MARKS ACT.

Speaking of fruit grading legislation first brought into existence a score of years ago, the Dominion Fruit Commissioner, C. W. Baxter, at the recent Ottawa fruit conference, stated that prior to the passing of that legislation certain commercial standards were used by growers and wholesale dealers, principally in buying and selling apples. These grades were mainly indicated by XXX for number one fruit, XX for number two and X for number three. The barrels were marked accordingly. Different marks were used by different shippers and dealers with the result that, failing any official or authoritative recognition, abuses crept in and the markings became unreliable. The Fruit Marks Act was designed to remedy this state of things, dealing at first with apples only. A staff of eight inspectors was appointed to act at the ports of export. The successful operation of the Act became so noticeable that growers, shippers and dealers united in urging an extension of its application to include other kinds of fruit grown commercially and to take in the principal distributing and consuming points. Extension meant approved changes in the Act, and grade designations, packing regulations, standardization of packages, etc., followed in due course. The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has never recommended any amendment that had not previously received the approval of the majority of the fruit growers of Canada. For eleven years the inspection was confined to the principal shipping ports and large consuming centres. In 1913 additional inspectors were appointed, and the work of supervision extended to certain sections in producing districts. By 1914 the system had been adopted in all fruit-growing districts. Not only is the fruit inspected, but instruction is given in the proper methods of handling, grading, packing and shipping. It is gratifying to know that not only have growers and shippers readily adopted the provisions of the Act, but that its enforcement has served to promote co-operation in marketing.

SPARE THE MILK AND SPOIL THE CHILD

Every family in Canada is vitally concerned in its main food supplies. Among them milk and milk products are as indispensable in the diet of both child and adult as is bread itself. Referring to child nutrition, Dr. A. J. Amyot, Deputy Minister of Health, recently made the statement that "there are many under-nourished or improperly fed children in this country, whose condition, both physical and mental, would be greatly improved by the more liberal use of milk in the diet."

In a pamphlet just issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, entitled "Why and How to Use Milk," of which Miss H. C. Campbell of the Dairy Branch is the author, it is stated that milk contains all the requirements for the growth and repair of the body. Milk contains protein from which to build new cells and repairs worn-out tissues. It contains fat and sugar, which serve as a source of heat and energy for muscular activity, and mineral matter, which has a regulatory effect and enters into the composition of the body, especially as regards the bones and teeth. The deficiencies of other foods are counter-balanced by milk in the diet. When milk is served with cereal, with bread, or other food made from grains, not only are the nutrients in milk used, but much other protein is conserved for body uses which would otherwise be wasted. Butter, for which there is no real substitute as a beneficial food, is made from cream, and cream is whole milk with a large percentage of that soluble fat without which the normal growth and development of the body or of the mental powers are impossible. All the good of the milk is not taken off with the cream—far from it. It still contains the protein, mineral matter and vitamins necessary to build bone and make blood. Nor is the food value of milk destroyed when it sours. Made into cottage cheese one pound contains as much protein as a pound of meat, and who can deny the deliciousness of sour-milk biscuits and griddle cakes? Butter-milk has a food value equal to that of skim milk or sour milk, is easily digested and is delightfully refreshing to drink. Condensed milk is useful where fresh milk is not obtainable, but is not suitable as a permanent diet for babies. Evaporated milk will keep indefinitely if sealed, but when uncovered should be used as quickly as fresh milk. If given to children, fresh fruit juice should be added to the diet.

One particularly interesting piece of information in Miss Campbell's pamphlet is a description of the manner in which milk can be pasteurized at home, thus being freed of any possible obnoxious germs, with practically no expense and with only a modicum of trouble. People who regard ice cream as a mere luxury are mistaken; it is a real food. In conclusion, it may be stated that forty-nine recipes are given in the bulletin referred to for making delicious dishes, in all of which milk is the principal or most important ingredient.

Penticton Paragraphs

Vernon had five inches of snow on Monday night.

Mr. Walter Clayton was a business visitor to Grand Forks this week.

Manager O. Jennens, of the B. C. Growers, was a visitor to Kelowna this week.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carter on March 14, at the Penticton hospital.

Dominion Government Engineer Doncaster was in town on Monday en route from Nelson to the Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKay, of Fairview are the parents of a baby boy, born on Saturday, in the Penticton hospital.

J. W. Begnough, entertainer, cartoonist and humorist, will be at the school auditorium Thursday, March 30. Admission 50c.

Mr. W. J. Bryan expects to leave for the prairie on Monday, to spend a month on his property at Delia, Alberta.

Mr. H. G. Parson, former member of the B.C. Legislature for Golden, was in town on Monday en route to Nelson and the East Kootenay.

Mr. W. J. Bowser, Conservative leader, went through Penticton on Monday morning en route to Nelson for a meeting there last night.

It was said that the provincial roads department had decided not to do any road improvement work in this district until after April 1, so as to give the frost plenty of time to come up. Work done at present it is claimed is of little value.

Mr. J. J. Warren, president of the Trail Consolidated, and former president of the Kettle Valley railway, was in Penticton at the beginning of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McNaughton and family, formerly of Winnipeg, are staying for a few days at the home of Reeve and Mrs. E. J. Chambers. They will shortly go to Oliver, where Mr. McNaughton has a fruit lot and will make their home there. Mr. McNaughton was for twelve years connected with the Canadian Freight Association at Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fairweather and family, of Vancouver, arrived on Monday, en route to Oliver where they will make their home. Mr. Fairweather brought in a car of lumber and also pool and billiard tables. He intends to erect a two story building, with stores below and dwelling on the second floor. He is a brother of the present hotel proprietor at Oliver.

On Friday evening the executive of the Ratepayers Association met at the home of Wm. J. Bryan and drafted a few particulars of a new constitution. Owing to the fact that no report had come in from other similar associations the work was left uncompleted. It has been decided to hold a ratepayers meeting in the auditorium of the school on Friday next, March 24, at 8 p.m., when it is expected reports from the Skaha Lake and Poplar Grove ratepayers will be taken up and a report on the "dope" question would be given.

Edna Hudson, the woman arrested on Friday night, charged with an offence under the Vagrancy Act, failed to appear in the police court on Monday and Magistrate T. A. Pope ordered the $50 bail supplied on her behalf by local friends, to be exacted. She had been remanded on bail until Monday morning ostensibly to enable her lawyer, Mr. Walter Clayton, to prepare her defence, but evidently came to the conclusion that the loss of $50 was preferable to hearing what the magistrate might have to say.

OLIVER

There is quite a marked activity in real estate circles this week. Those who last year predicted something in the way of a mild boom for Oliver in 1922 are already claiming credit for their foresight and if not actually saying "I told you so" are betraying by their manner that they are not unaware of their prophesy. Within the last few days particularly a number of business lots have changed owners. The purchasers are from the outside and in, at least, four instances are establishing businesses here as soon as building arrangements are completed. These businesses include a boot and shoe shop, an "up-to-date" bakery, a dressmaking establishment and another restaurant.

One of the more solid type of businesses recently established is the local branch of the Community Lumber Company. The yard, stock sheds and office buildings have the appearance of stability. Quite commodious grounds on Vernon street, the first street west of and parallel to Main street, are occupied, and the yards would appear to be well stocked with dimension, rough, dressed and finishing lumber and materials. The office building—just completed—is not of the common run of lumber yard offices. A Swiss style of architecture is followed and the effect is not at all unpleasing to the eye.

All signs point to a very active year in our town and valley. Many who purchased fruit plots at the government sales last year, and who afterwards returned to their homes to make the arrangements necessary preparatory to moving, are now coming in to settle on their locations. At present they are very busy in erecting shelters for their families and themselves. In some instances these are structures of a temporary nature, and in others, buildings of a more pretentious and permanent type. Flume building is also quite active.

Spring is in the air. Oh, the delicious, tender freshness of the touch of spring. All the thoughts which were the inspiration of all the poets who ever wrote are ours these days. Filled with these things almost anybody could write anything. We could—but why say it, and leave ourselves open to a charge of introducing personalities, and also of, possibly, appearing illogical? The logical conclusion is, of course, that poets are (and were) not such pumpkins after all.

Oliver's hostelry—the Oliver Hotel—is about finished, and it is anticipated, will be open to receive guests in about a fortnight. All appointments ordinarily found in hotels in towns much larger than ours are in evidence here. The building itself, which is three stories high, is plastered throughout, and includes an office, dining and billiard rooms, twenty-two bedrooms, and several bathrooms. Plumbing arrangements are completed and provision is made for hot and cold water throughout the building. The proprietor, Mr. H. B. Fairweather has had much experience in the management of hotels throughout the province.

WOULD START TRAVELLING CLINIC FOR MORAL UPLIFT

Vancouver, March 18.—Travelling clinics and lectures for moral uplift is suggested to abate the social evil and create a healthier race in this province. The Rev. N. A. Harkness, secretary of the Social Service Council of B. C. added to this movement. Medical men suggest examination of children suffering from adenoids, poor teeth and defective vision, saying that nearly every defective child owes the condition to one or all of these causes.

Peachland Doings

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative

Mr. J. A. Edgecombe paid a visit to Vernon last week, returning home on Saturday last.

Mr. Lanning of Chaplin, Sask., arrived in town last week to spend a portion of the spring months in Peachland. Mr. Lanning spent a short time in the valley about a year ago and liked it very much. It is quite possible that he may settle here.

Messrs. J. and W. Kudelka paid a short business trip to Kelowna on Thursday, returning home on the evening boat; bringing with them a pool table for their residence.

Among the arrivals in town on Friday was Mrs. Vicary who came up from Penticton on the morning boat and returned home on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Michael was a passenger up the lake on Friday morning last, returning home on Saturday evening's boat.

Mr. Harris, principal of the Central school in Peachland, spent last week end home with his family in Summerland and returned for school on Monday morning.

Mr. Wm. Douglas with his daughter and Mr. J. McKinnon were visitors to Kelowna on Saturday, returning the same evening.

Mr. J. T. Long returned home on Saturday evening last after a few weeks spent at the Coast.

Messrs. Francis, Eddy and Danny Cousins paid a days visit to Kelowna on Monday last.

Mr. J. A. Edgecombe conducted the service in the Anglican church on Sunday last, owing to the absence of the Rev. H. O. Solly. Owing to the condition of the Lakeshore road the Rev. Isaac Page was prevented from coming to conduct service in the Baptist church on Sunday last.

A very successful concert was given in the Orange hall under the auspices of the Methodist Ladies Circle on Friday, March 17. Being St. Patrick's Eve, the hall was tastefully decorated in green and the shamrock was very much in evidence.

A full and varied programme was enjoyed by one of the largest audiences that has ever been seen in Peachland. The chairman Rev. Mr. Coad expressed the thanks of the Ladies Circle to all who had so willingly and ably contributed to the programme, thereby making the evening such a success. Just before the close of the concert, Mr. Dryden came forward and very much surprised the chairman by making him a presentation on behalf of some of the Peachland friends. In a few well chosen remarks he expressed the appreciation of the community for the work done by Rev.

Coad during the year. The net proceeds of the concert were $93.00.

Mr. J. A. McKinnon and wife have moved back to Peachland to get ready for their spring and orchard work on their lots after having spent the winter on their property near Powers Creek.

The Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting on Friday last in the Municipal hall with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. Dryden occupied the chair. The roll call was answered with "Household Hints." The membership having increased sufficiently to warrant another director. Mrs. C. D. Drake's name was added to the directorate. The question of the taking over of the town library came up for discussion and it was decided to accept the offer which had been made to the Institute by the municipal council to the effect that they take over the old library and open it up for the public. The hostesses for the afternoon were—Mrs. House, Mrs. Hohensee, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Drake and Miss Elliott, who served refreshments.

SEMINOFF SAYS RUSSIA IS A SAD COUNTRY NOW

Vancouver, March 22.—"Oy, Russia is a sad country and very troubled is," declared General Grigorie Semenov, Cossack crusader against the soviet, after being liberated from captivity on an incoming vessel, and being permitted to go to a hotel to await developments by the immigration people. General Semenov's English is imperfect, but he has mastered points of meaning embellished with emphasis. In an interview with a press bureau, the visitor deplored Russia's unsettled condition and her inability to settle down to serious reconstruction. Flattering a newspaper report telling about orchard crops in the Okanagan, the Cossack mused: "Oy, yes, dis ess vot Russia, vants—farms, undt peegs, undt trees. My poor peoples in Russia shouldt raise apples instead of raising Heil."

TOURIST SEASON STARTS EARLY WITH MOTOR SHOW

Vancouver, March 18.—The tourist season of B. C. is receiving an early start with the spring opening of the Motor Show this year. Hotel men and others believe the season will get a start of two months, which should mean the coming of thousands more visitors this year. They also believe the same tourists will come over for the Show, and will later come over to the province for their summer outing. Efforts are being made for special excursions to the Island and principal scenes of farming, orchards and other industries in this province.

Manager H. Frank Bird of the Motor Show reports that indications point to a far greater attendance than has ever been seen at any auto show in Western Canada, and believes that even the record of Winnipeg's biggest motor show will be beaten in Vancouver, March 22-25. Special consignments of new automobiles from the factories are on their way. Cash prizes will be awarded. Dealers and visitors from every part of the province, Praties and Pacific Coast cities of the States announce their intention of attending. Dalies in the coast cities across the line are giving considerable notice to the event.

OMIT SEX SERMONS

Vancouver, March 22.—Claiming that "salacious sex sermons make some churches no place for decent young girls," and saying that "girls learn soon enough without hearing about things in church," the newly formed "Mothers League of Suburban Vancouver" has gone on record in denouncing any but orthodox discourses in places of worship here. A petition to that effect is being circulated for presentation to the mayor and council of several near-by municipalities, including South Vancouver.

RECORD ENTRY EXPECTED FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Vancouver, March 22.—Officials of the Vancouver Golf and Country club, Burnaby, are exerting every nerve to have their course in championship condition by Good Friday, for the British Columbia golf championship, played there this year.

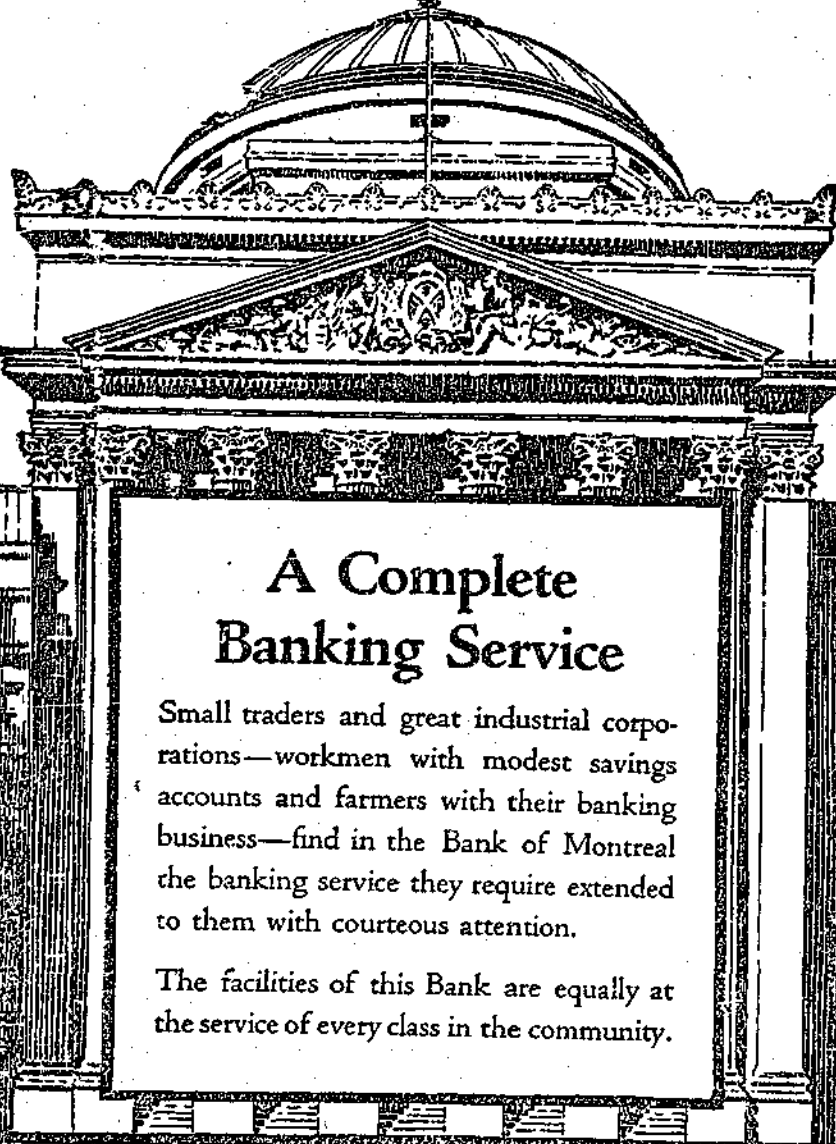

In the morning the qualifying round will get started. This year such a large entry list is expected that only low handicap players, it is expected, will be allowed to enter. Every year players enter the tournament whose only reason for doing so is to have their name in the paper, as by no stretching of the imagination could they be considered for premier honors.

Last year at the United States amateur championships this overcrowding existed and a ruling was brought in then that in future years the list of entries would be deleted to a manageable size.

This year while there has been an unprecedented fall of snow it has worked a boon for the greens by keeping the players off them while they were wet and soggy. Mr. H. T. Gardner, captain this year, promises much in the way of good golf and entertainment.

CHEAPER TO MOVE THAN PAY STORAGE CHARGES

Vancouver, March 22.—Garage owners are complaining about what seems to be an epidemic of "bill beating." They claim that cars come in and take a space by the month, to get the advantage of the cheaper rate, and after running up a bill for storage gas, oil and maybe tires, say they are going to take a trip to the States for a few weeks. They never come back. Some garages in the down town district have been hit quite hard by this remarkable form of the "germ forgetfulness," and are giving the names and numbers of the cars delinquent to the police.

Current Events of Town and District

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan are here from the coast and are staying at the hotel Syndica.

Mrs. Bailey left on Wednesday morning's boat for Vancouver to enter St. Paul's hospital for further treatment. Mr. Bailey accompanied Mrs. Bailey on the train.

Mr. Cross and Mr. Mallory, it is now understood will operate a packing house this season, doing business in the Bowes building, occupied last year by the Union.

Naramata is having its innings with the "flu" this week. Having harried the town to a certain extent for the last two weeks, it has now reached the benches. A few cases still persist in town, the Routh family and Mr. Coates being ill at present, and John Duke just recovering. On the benches Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rounds and their son Philip, the Noyes family, some of the Mitchell family, and some of the Partridge family, and others are affected. All cases are reported fairly light, though serious enough no doubt to the sufferers. The junior room of the school was closed today and will remain closed till Monday of next week.

A considerable number of Naramata's residents are answering the call of spring by rearranging themselves for the summer in different houses from those occupied in the past. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Aldridge are moving to the house on the lake-shore formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Cook, while Mr. and Mrs. Coates will move into the house they are vacating. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith have recently moved down town, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith are moving to the house they occupied on the benches. Mrs. Oakes and Mrs. Ross will move into Mrs. Len Smith's house at the beginning of the month. Mr. Gordon Hayman is erecting a small building on his lot just south of town on the benches overlooking the lake.

Lecturers on social service subjects are much in evidence at present. Dr. Sara Wise having just left us we are now to have on "The New Age" and the "Three Wild Beasts of a Day of Mass Movements"—rather a cryptic title, arousing curiosity, which we hope will be justified by the lecture. Then, on Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Harkness of Vancouver will speak in the church on "The Modern Crusade, a Fight Against the Diseases of Society"—also quite a strenuous title. Mr. Harkness has been in charge of the arrangement of the University Extension Course lectures this winter, and after he has been over the route himself, will probably appreciate some of the difficulties that have harassed the souls of the people at this end of the line of arrangements. Less difficulty will probably be experienced in arranging for these lectures after Mr. Harkness has gained first-hand knowledge of conditions.

FRUIT CANNERY PROPOSED.

(Special to The Review) Vancouver, March 22.—A large fruit cannery, backed by American capital, is proposed and the principals are now looking over several prospective sites near Vancouver. They will visit the apple and other orchard districts before arriving at a decision. Among their number is Otis C. West, for many years in the fruit industry at Fresno, Cal., and later in Washington. Charles L. Owens, of Spokane, with Theodore C. Sutcliffe, of Ellensburg, Wash., are in the party. While details have not been divulged, it is reported the proposed capitalization will be about $55,000.

NEW MANAGER IS COMING TO INCOLA

It was stated in town this morning that Manager G. P. Gibbons of the Incola has resigned and that he would be succeeded on April 1, by Mr. William Allerton, formerly manager of the Hotel Brunswick, Moncton, N. B. The Hotel Brunswick is a hostelry of 135 rooms. Mr. Allerton is said to have had wide experience in the hotel business. He is a brother of Mr. Andrew Allerton, head of the Canadian Pacific hotel system.

THE MAN ON THE LAND AND THE READING HABIT

(By Dr. Frank T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist)

The hope of the future of Canadian agriculture lies, in a very large measure, in the fact that our farmers as a class are readers of articles, bulletins and reports dealing with matters pertaining to the science and practice of farming. Furthermore, we venture to say they are for the most part readers with open minds, anxious to learn and, as far as circumstances permit, to put into practice that which appeals to them as sound teaching. These statements may appear to some as decidedly optimistic, but that they are not extravagant nor wide of the mark is the opinion of one who, for more than thirty years, has had an excellent opportunity of learning at first hand the thought and aspirations of the Canadian farmer.

If statistics could be obtained, it would probably be found that as regards the volume of its agricultural literature in active circulation, Canada stands ahead of all countries. And there would not be this large output if there were not a demand for it. If such be the case we may conclude that apart from economic considerations, our prospects for progress, for more efficient and more profitable farming are good.

The purpose of these few paragraphs is to stimulate and encourage the reading habit and particularly the reading by the young men and young women on the farm of matters pertaining to the chemistry of agriculture. The facts that chemistry reveals bear directly on foundation problems, such as the maintenance and increase of soil fertility, the economic production of larger yields of farm crops, the nutritive value of forage plants and feeding stuffs, the nature and use of manures and fertilizers, etc. There is scarcely a question in connection with soils, crops and stocks that chemistry does not throw some light upon. The more one reads the more one is impressed with the fact that chemistry offers most valuable information on practically every phase of farming and that this information may be made use of in a very direct way by the man on the land to his profit and advantage.

SMALL WHOLESALE HOUSES IN DANGER

Freight Classification Tariff Discussed by Board of Trade

RESOLUTION TO GO BEFORE CONVENTION

Mr. O. E. Fisher Says No Need for Much Anxiety

PENTICTON, B. C. According to statements made by Mr. O. E. Fisher, on Tuesday evening, at the meeting of the Penticton board of trade, there is not much danger of the revision of the freight classification tariff preventing the wholesale houses in the smaller jobbing towns from operating as successfully as hitherto as well suggested in a communication received from the board of trade of the city of Weyburn, Sask.

The letter from the Weyburn board of trade was as follows: "Small Jobbing Centres Threatened "The railways are working on a plan which is successful, will seriously injure all of the jobbing towns in Western Canada (and effectually prevent the development of any new ones) with the exception of the largest points such as Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. They propose to re-issue the freight classification tariff and abolish the so called jobbing trade lists now carried in that tariff. "Under the present tariff, the jobber in the smaller market is permitted to bring in a mixed carload of the items he handles at the carload rate. Under the new tariff he would not be permitted to ship mixed cars. He would have to ship a straight carload of every item that he handled in order to get the carload rate. The smaller jobbers cannot afford to carry a stock consisting of a carload of each item. The result would be that the local jobber would be forced out of business on those items and the retail trade would be forced to buy from Winnipeg or some other large market. "The railways claim that it would be more economical for them to handle the business in this way. They say that it costs too much to try to distribute from the smaller jobbing towns because the cars do not start out of the smaller markets with as heavy a load as they do out of Winnipeg. "The railways' plan if successful, would result in a concentration of the business in the terminal market at the expense of the smaller jobbing towns. "This plan is now in effect in the United States and has undoubtedly contributed to the rapid growth of the large cities and the success of the great mail order houses in Chicago and other points. "Statistics show that in North Dakota where the new classification is in effect, the local jobbers do a much smaller proportion of the total volume of business than is done by the local jobbers in Saskatchewan where the plan has not yet been made effective. "Local jobbers are organizing to oppose this change and will be prepared to present their side of the case to the classification committee on its western trip sometime this Spring. They will be prepared to show that a small jobbing house can be more economically operated in a smaller market than a large house in a large city. They also believe that the new classification will result in increased revenue to the railways by reason of the longer haul of less carload freight which pays a much higher rate than carload business. These and other features of the situation will be presented to the Classification Committee by local jobbers who believe that the present plan of distribution is the most economical one yet devised. "Certain it is that if the smaller jobbing centres are not alive to the effect of this proposed change, their hopes of holding their present business or developing new jobbing business may as well be abandoned. Yours truly, W. F. FREDERICKSON, Secretary, Weyburn Board of Trade.

Chairman J. F. Park said that the matter had been up for consideration by the executive and it was decided to recommend to the board that a resolution be forwarded to the convention of the associated boards of trade, Victoria, dealing with the matter. Mr. Fisher said the question of the revision did not originate with the railway companies as suggested in the letter, but with the three large wholesale centres, Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg. Mr. Fisher also explained that the railway companies had been working on the revision for about two years, but since all wholesalers and boards of trade were approached by the railway companies in connection with it and they all had different ideas it was very difficult to draw up any classification which would meet all wishes. Since the matter originated in the big wholesale centres he could not see that it would be of much avail to send a resolution to Vancouver. Secretary D. McN. Lowe pointed out to Mr. Fisher that at the convention, Vancouver had only one vote and every other board of trade belonging to the association also had one vote, and it was felt that by sending the resolution to the convention Vancouver might be forced to give support to a resolution opposing the revision. Mr. Craig of the Penticton wholesale house had informed him that if the revision was made and it was therefore impossible to ship mixed cars it would simply mean that the wholesale house could not be operated here and would have to be moved to Vancouver. Mr. Foley Bennett asked if the revision would affect fruit and was answered in the negative. Mr. Fisher said the railways had no intention of putting into force any regulations which would make it impossible for wholesale houses to operate in small towns. He did not think that the revision would make so much difference as Weyburn appeared to think. There were only certain articles which could, under present circumstances, be shipped in mixed lots. It would not pay the railways to prevent wholesalers operating in the smaller centres and they would not do so if it was possible to arrange freight classification in any way to enable them to carry on.

The following resolution, drawn up by the executive, was endorsed and will be brought before the convention: "Whereas this board is advised that there is a possibility of the railways of Canada abolishing the privilege now enjoyed by the jobbers in small markets of shipping mixed carlots at carload rates; "And whereas, such an action would inevitably result in centralizing all wholesale houses in the larger centres and would render it impossible for the jobbers to continue in business in the smaller distributing points no matter how well situated for distribution purposes; "And, whereas the effect of the elimination of the jobbing houses from the smaller distributing points would be to increase the cost of living in country districts generally, thus adding to the advantage now enjoyed in this respect by the larger cities, and would tend to increase the economically deplorable migration from the country to the city;

"Be it resolved that this committee goes on record as being strongly opposed to the elimination of the 'jobbing trade lists' or any such change in the railroad classification rates as would have the same effect." "Resolved that copies of the above resolution be sent to the boards of trade of interior B. C., asking them to support it at the convention of the boards of trade of B. C. in Victoria on March 29, 30 and 31, and suggesting the making of early arrangements for combined action in opposing this step before the classification committee of the railway commission on its next western trip.

We Flood That Territory with Our Literature. Read what Herman Rosenfield, Advertising Manager for Sears, Roebuck, the Big Chicago Mail Order House, says. Is advertising as potent a force as its advocates claim? Is the lack of consistent and carefully executed advertising a weakness in retail trade? Let the following answer: According to Herman Rosenfield, advertising manager for Sears, Roebuck & Company, the big Chicago mail order house, this firm has one bureau employing several persons whose duty is to read every week the country newspapers from all over the United States. "There is not a paper of any consequence in our trade territory that our bureau does not get," Mr. Rosenfield recently stated. This bureau looks over all these papers carefully, and whenever we find a town where the merchants are not advertising to any great extent in their local papers, we immediately flood that territory with our literature. This always brings results that are far in excess of those obtained by the same effort put forth in territory where the merchants advertise. The Credit Men's Journal is the organ of an organization the object of which is to preserve the prosperous and sound state of retail business, and this journal's comment upon the illustration is as follows: "If this be true, and Mr. Rosenfield certainly is in the position of one who ought to know, it presents an unanswerable argument in favor of the retailer advertising regularly in his local newspaper." Moral: Advertise in The Review and thereby prevent this territory from being flooded with literature from Eastern Mail Order Houses.

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER

With soil conditions as good as could be desired by the prairie farmer, and with every prospect of greatly lowered cost of production for his crops, and an encouraging outlook for markets, there is every reason to believe that the British Columbia fruit grower will experience a much better demand and larger market for his fruit in the neighboring provinces. At home he finds that his trees have wintered well, that the soil has an abundance of moisture, and that from first production costs, through the packing and handling charges, to the transportation and selling expenses, he is likely to fare very much better than last year. Accordingly the somewhat higher prices that may reasonably be hoped for at the other end are sure to bring a much higher return to the producer than that for his 1921 crop. It is up to him to strive for a maximum output per acre and per dollar cost of production.

WHY NOT FRUIT DAY FOR B. C.?

In the troubled days of Prohibition, when California raisin grape growers feared utter ruin by the passing of the vineyard industry, an enterprising publicity man, now running a news bureau in Vancouver, conceived the idea of holding a state-wide "Raisin Day" to boost the grape. The raisin was boosted widely. It was acclaimed as a health-giver, a death-defier and the most delicious thing that ever tickled the palate of a dyspeptic. Soon everyone was eating raisins. And the fad spread. The vineyardists men are now raising grapes for the world, and business never was better.

Something like this might prove a great success in British Columbia. Let us have a "B. C. Fruit Day." Let it be an education, a revelation of the qualities of the apple and other orchard products. Any medical man or drugless healer will tell you there is not enough fruit eaten. The old adage about "an apple a day drives the doctor away," has much truth. An apple taken daily on arising is a true health-giver. The human system craves fruit acids. Apples and other orchard fruits are rich with nature's own tonics to upbuild the body, enrich the blood, build the bone, aid the growth, fortify the forming development of adolescence, help healthy maternity, defer the ravages of old age, and keep the Grim Reaper further in the background.

By all means, let somebody organize "Fruit Day in B. C." Let us start a wide campaign and encourage everyone to eat fruit in abundance for the day. Then the orchard product will receive its boost. People will learn to like fruit. They will soon make every day fruit day. And the result will be better general health, with, incidentally, a greater demand for our orchard products.

OUR COLONIZATION PROBLEM

Toronto is "kicking" at an alleged Mormon menace. Several parts of B. C. complain of Doukhobors. Other complaints are raised at the suggested settling of "The Tongues of Living Fire," another strange sect. And still other districts of this province, and beyond, object to the colonization of Armenians. In the meantime, while all this clamor is going on about strange aliens who pursue racial and religious ways that are unusual to our way of thinking, the Mother Country has millions walking about looking for work, and her cities are crowded with others who are eking out a precarious living in congested quarters. Something seems wrong with the scheme of things. Canada has millions of acres of empty, arable land. British Columbia has some of the richest soil in the world lying idle. The Dominion and this province needs more settlers. We can use millions of them. Why don't they come? Why do we have to worry about a few thousand odd folk from other nations, when we have so much room for colonists of our own flesh and blood? Does the fault lie with the immigration scheme, or with the people of the Old Country, or with whom? This district can do with thousands more people. Summerland would like to see its population doubled yearly for a long time to come. The same condition applies to every other city and town of Canada. Our resources are ample for all, yet much of it lies unscratched. Canada's population is barely increasing by the natural order of births, and our influx of new comers is amazingly small, when our advantages are measured. What is the cause, anyway?

The man that feels himself slipping away might try tying up the loose ends of his life with the nuptial knot.

The new radiophone may be all right so long as it does not pass into active use by these parties:

The agent with some distant oil or mining stock.

The reader who wants to know why his 3-column letter did not appear.

The subscriber who asks the size of Nero's shoes, at press time.

The delinquent subscriber who itches to publish some scandal.

The free publicity cadger.

In answering the new radiophone call, be sure to properly enunciate the last syllable of the hail: "Hello."

"One Armed Bandit Holds up Store," says headline. Does this mean the bandit only had one arm, or was there only one armed bandit. We like to make sure on these points and go to sleep with a clear mind.

Peachland Doings

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished
By Our Local Representative

Mrs. A. McKay returned home on Thursday evening boat after a short visit up the lake.

Mr. Townsend was a visitor to Kelowna on Friday last, returning home the same evening.

Mr. J. Winger returned on Friday morning, after having made a short business trip down the lake.

The W. A. of St. Margarets church, Peachland, held its regular meeting on Friday last with a goodly number present.

Mr. John Tait of Summerland spent another day or two in town last week on orchard inspection duties, returning home on Friday evening.

Mrs. E. Rowell and Miss Myrtle Keating, spent Saturday last visiting in Kelowna, and returned home on the evening boat.

After a couple of weeks visit in the community, Mr. J. Lanning left on Friday morning's boat to return to his home at Chaplin, Sask.

Mr. H. J. Wilson and Mr. F. B. Urquhart, inspectors for the Royal Bank of Canada, came in on Saturday last to pay an official visit to Peachland branch.

Mrs. Murdin, and daughter Miss Illyva, were among the outgoing passengers south on Friday evening last, to spend the week end with friends in Summerland. They returned home Monday morning.

The local branch of the W. C. T. U. held its regular monthly meeting last week at the home of Mrs. L. D. McCall. The principal business of the day was the appointing of a delegate to attend the W. C. T. U. district convention to be held at Revelstoke, in May next.

Peachland fruit growers are feeling quite pleased over recent reports, that there is some fruit money in sight which will probably be distributed shortly, and it is also reported that settlements may be made about mid-April. The growers are also interested in knowing that Sales Manager Lowe, with Captain Nutrie and Mr. McDowall, of the Central, are coming to speak to a public meeting of the growers in the very near future.

CARTOONIST HAS FULL HOUSE

The Summerland Hospital benefited to the amount of about $50.00 through the visit of J. W. Bengough.

the well-known caricaturist, at the Riato theatre on Wednesday evening, when he gave a large audience a humorous monologue accompanied by sketches.

The performance was a clever exhibition of the skill of the cartoonist, his drawings being very thoroughly carried out, and the several local "hits" he made were well received. The pauses during the performance, while Mr. Bengough was executing his drawing proved to be rather tedious to the young folk in the audience, who were a little inclined to fill the intervals by amusing themselves, which called forth an indignant rebuke from the humorist, the necessity for which could have well been avoided, thus saving an awkward situation to all present.

BRINGING UP FATHER IN WALL STREET.

"Bringing Up Father in Wall Street" is the title of this season's brand new musical comedy based on the famous cartoons of George McManus, which will be seen at the Empress Theatre, Penticton, Thursday, April 6. This rare combination of mirth, melody, pretty girls, smart ensembles, stunning costumes and catchy song hits, comes direct from its brilliant success at the Manhattan Opera House, New York, and the Metropolitan Opera House, Philadelphia, the home of grand opera. Jiggs and Maggie kept New York and Philadelphia in throes of laughter for many weeks. From all accounts, this season's offering is by far the best of the "Father" series offered heretofore. It strives to humorously recount the sidesplitting adventures of Jiggs in Wall Street. "I have had many happy moments following the experiences of Mr. Jiggs in that clever and amusing comedy, 'Bringing Up Father,'" said Charlie Chaplin, the famous moving picture star. Seats now at Big Four Drug Store.

THE WRONG NUMBER

Good telephone service depends vitally upon care in calling telephone numbers. A wrong number called causes loss of time to you, to the party called and to the operator. Every instance means avoidable inconvenience to all concerned.

It is not the loss of time to you alone or to the operator that concerns us most, but it is the annoyance to the party called. Your mistake cannot be explained to him, and the Telephone Company is held responsible for your error.

Consulting the current issue of the telephone directory, instead of trusting to memory; giving your number clearly, and quickly correcting the operator if she misunderstands your call, will greatly increase the efficiency of the service.

Current Events of Town and District

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Duncan are again in Naramata. They are at their tent on the lakeshore.

The junior rooms of the school are closed till next Monday, the attendance of teachers and pupils being considerably interfered with by the activities of the "flu," which is prevalent this week. All cases are comparatively mild. Among the sufferers are, the Routh family, the Mitchell family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rounds and their son Philip, Mrs. Hayward and Mr. Coates.

Mrs. Bailey left for Vancouver Wednesday, via K. V. R. to enter St. Paul's hospital for further treatment. Mr. Bailey accompanied his wife, who was not able to travel alone.

Mr. Hugh Dobson, who is well and favorably known in Naramata, having resided here for a short period some time ago, will visit the town again on Friday in his capacity as field secretary of Evangelism and social service. He will speak on "The New Age, and the three wild beasts of a day of mass movements." Much pleasure has been expressed on all sides at the opportunity of hearing Mr. Dobson again.

After various reports as to the formation of a packing firm in Naramata for the season's operations, it has now developed that Mr. Cross and Mr. Mallory will be associated in the conducting of a packing house using the Bowes Building, accepted last year by the Union.

Mr. Harkness, of Vancouver, will speak in the church on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 p.m., March 28th, his subject being "The Modern Crusader—a fight against social diseases." Mr. Harkness has been in charge of arrangements for the University Extension Course lectures this winter, and the executive of the Women's Institute think that probably his own trip through the valley will put him in touch with conditions in the valley to such an extent as to obviate some of the difficulties and advertising the lectures, in properly arranging for which have been encountered this year.

Signs of spring are not lacking among us, but we miss that usually unflagging sign of boys playing marbles on the streets. We have, however noted certain young men playing craps on the sidewalk and conclude that this is the modern equivalent. Other times, other manners. No doubt spring is with us.

C.P.R. SAID TO OPPOSE LOWERING THE LAKE

Kelowna—Speaking at the board of trade session this week, Mayor Sutherland said he had noticed reference was made to a lack of further information in regard to the question of the level of Okanagan Lake. Since he returned from Ottawa, he had a long-distance call from Mr. Doncaster, the Dominion engineer at Nelson, who informed him that things were running far from smoothly, as the C.P.R. had sent in a protest against lowering the water level to the point contemplated and the people on Okanagan River below Penticton were making a claim upon the government for damages. Mr. Doncaster seemed to be much disturbed over the trend of affairs and was going to Vancouver to consult Mr. Brydon-Jack, the Dominion engineer there. Meantime he advised that all the communities on the lake take steps to have their representatives meet at some point to decide upon a course of action to protect their interests.

President Adams said it looked as though, from Mr. Doncaster's conversation with the Mayor, the suspicion that the C.P.R. was at the bottom of the opposition to lowering the lake level was confirmed. As soon as Mr. Doncaster was heard from, steps would be taken to arrange a meeting of representatives of the various communities directly interested in the question.

MAY SETTLE INDIAN ARMY OFFICERS HERE

Victoria, March 25.—Major J. W. Clark of the lands department will leave shortly for India. Several hundred young British officers are being paid out of the Indian army, and at the present time the British Government is making arrangements to assist their assimilation into civil life in various parts of the Dominions. All of these young officers will have from two to three thousand pounds each.

The minister of lands, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, discussed this matter in the Old Country, and a few days ago the India office cabled and offered to pay half the expenses of sending a British Columbia representative to India to interview these young officers with the idea that they would come direct from India to British Columbia, and it is the intention to place them, if satisfactory arrangements can be concluded, upon land in the South Okanagan irrigation project.

Major Clark, who is undertaking the work of making the representations to these officers, served in France during the war, at one time had charge of agricultural operations for the 3rd Army in France, and is himself a thoroughly experienced agriculturist, especially in respect of irrigable lands.

PATTULLO TO TAKE UP INDIAN LANDS QUESTION

Victoria, March 25.—For the purpose of conferring with the federal authorities upon Indian questions and cleaning up other routine business matters, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, will leave for Ottawa Wednesday. The minister explained that when the late government had a report prepared covering Indian lands in British Columbia, it did not meet with his approval and he is anxious to have some of the work reviewed.

Hon. Mr. Pattullo said he did not wish to say what changes would be made in governing Indian lands until after his return from Ottawa, but it was possible that negotiations would be carried on with the Indians which would result in their abandoning some of their lands to the whites and taking other holdings.

At several points in the province a comparatively few natives control lands of strategic value because of their proximity to new cities and industrial plants.

DISPUTE OVER LOCATION OF PROPOSED CENOTAPH

Vancouver, March 22.—When plans that are now under way bear fruition, Vancouver will have a cenotaph in some prominent place in the city to commemorate her Great War Veterans. There has been a lot of controversy as to where would be the best place for the monument to be erected.

One place suggested, on Georgia street near the Hudson's Bay store has raised a cloud of protests, the chief claim being that it would block up the street. With Victory Square, Stanley Park, the lawn in front of the Court House and Shaughnessy Heights, the middle of a street would seem to be rather out of place. Protests for another reason are also being heard, to the effect that at the present time the money can ill be spared from needy and destitute people who are at present in receipt of help from the city.

WORKED AS BELLBOY; PROVES TO BE GIRL

Vancouver, March 22.—When "Charlie West," presented "himself" to several of the leading hotels here this week, seeking appointment as "bell-hop," the managers were prepared for his coming, for telegrams preceded his arrival. "Charlie" is a girl, aged 17, with short hair, boyish physique, engaging smile, plenty of repartee and "as fresh as they make them," according to one wire of warning. The girl worked as "bellboy" in a Seattle hotel and was discharged for impudence to a guest, before her sex was revealed by her parents who turned up later to take her home. Her real sex was not suspected.

Vancouver, March 25.—Scores of children in this province need immediate treatment for adenoids, says a report reaching the Board of Education. The statement says: "It is impossible for a child to be bright and healthy while suffering from the discomfort and distraction of imperfect breathing. And this cause creates much of the illness that comes in later life. The compulsory treatment of children so afflicted is urged in humanity's name."

TOLD OF WORK ON DUMPING CLAUSE

Mayor Sutherland Gave Details of Valley Delegation's Efforts at Ottawa

More details in connection with the fight against the repeal of the anti-dumping clause made at Ottawa by the Okanagan delegation were given at a meeting of the Kelowna board of trade this week by Mayor Sutherland.

The Mayor said he was not in a position to say much about the anti-dumping matter except that he had spent the money with which they had sent him to Ottawa, and had done it faithfully and well. (Laughter). For the information of those cognizant of the facts he recited the circumstances under which the agitation in the Okanagan was initiated for retention of anti-dumping legislation as essential to the prosperity of the fruit industry, the details of which are already familiar to our readers and need not be repeated here. Apart from the Ottawa board of trade, he said the movement for repeal of the legislation was fostered in Vancouver by some wholesale fruit men, who imported strawberries from the American side last year in an effort to bring down the local price. The anti-dumping clause was invoked and the wholesalers had to pay $480 to the government, which was the primary cause of their hostility to the clause. They had induced the Vancouver board of trade to endorse the Ottawa resolution a day previous to the date upon which the board agreed to receive a deputation from the Okanagan upon the question, and the resolution had been wired to the delegation from the Vancouver board that was submitting other matters to the Federal Government. When the Okanagan delegation met the Vancouver board, Mr. Brenchley, of F. R. Stewart & Co., wholesale fruit dealers, fearing that the action of the board might be reversed, hurried off to Ottawa, arming himself with a copy of the resolution. On arrival there he allied himself with Mr. Savage, of Plunkett & Savage, Calgary, and represented himself as a delegate from the Vancouver board of trade and the Vancouver wholesalers, and for several days sought diligently to air his hostility to the anti-dumping clause before the ministry, in which he was not very successful.

After hearing the Okanagan delegation, the Vancouver board wired their delegates at Ottawa instructing them to take no action on the resolution that had been forwarded to them. When the speaker and Mr. Cossitt, of Vernon, arrived at Ottawa and found that Mr. Brenchley was claiming to represent the Vancouver board in an attitude which they had thus practically abandoned, they wired Vancouver asking that Board to repudiate Mr. Brenchley, which was promptly done, much to that gentleman's disgust.

While he could not say that anything definite had been accomplished the Mayor thought that good had been done by sending the deputation to Ottawa so as to present the case of the fruit industry, in view of the efforts of Messrs. Brenchley and Savage to have the anti-dumping clause abrogated. The Okanagan men had no difficulty in meeting the members of the Cabinet, through the very kind offices of Senator Bostock. Mr. Cossitt, an Ontario man, met a number of old friends in the House of Commons and these friendships proved useful. A lot of lobbying had been done and a number of the Progressive members from the prairies were interviewed to learn their attitude on the question. They were found to be by no means in favor of free trade in all things, as their constituencies were feeling the pinch of the competition of New Zealand butter and of imported eggs, and they actually wanted higher duties upon these commodities. (Laughter). It was pointed out to them that the interests of farmers and fruit growers are identical, that they should not oppose each other, and their support was therefore asked for protection of the fruit industry against dumping.

It was a surprise to the government that delegations should have found it necessary to go to Ottawa in regard to the question, as action upon it had not been contemplated so far by the Cabinet. One of the most interesting men met at Ottawa was Hon. Mr. Fielding, author of the original anti-dumping clause. He had always considered such legislation from the viewpoint of the manufacturer, and it gave him an entirely new angle of the subject when he learned that dumping also operated to the hurt of the fruit industry.

From their conversation with the Ministers, the Okanagan delegates reached the conclusion that, with the exception of Mr. Fielding, they were all high tariff men, and there was no danger of repeal of the anti-dumping legislation, so far as he could see, unless severe pressure was brought to bear by the Progressives.

The Mayor was again applauded at the close of his interesting remarks, and on motion of Messrs. Weddell and Norris, a hearty vote of thanks was awarded to him for his services at Ottawa.

Mr. Rees spoke with appreciation of the interest shown by Senator Bostock in matters concerning the Okanagan and his readiness on this and former occasions to be of assistance to the board, and on his motion, a vote of thanks was passed to the Senator, and will be conveyed to him by letter.

Fort William, Ont.—The annual fur production in the Fort William district, which includes Port Arthur, Nipigon and west to Kenora, is approximately 7000 mink, 1000 black bear, 2000 martin, 1000 skunk, 35,000 beaver, 3000 fisher, 25,000 weasel (ermine), 7000 muskrats and 500 lynx. These figures were supplied by J. S. McMillan, secretary of the Raw Fur Dealers' Association of Northern Ontario.

DISCUSSING O. U. G. AT VERNON UNION

Interesting Proposals Made by Growers at Session in North End of Valley

Affairs of the O. U. G. were discussed rather freely at the annual meeting of the Vernon Fruit Union held in Vernon on Friday.

The Coldstream district shippers in the union brought forward a proposal that the O. U. G. shareholders in future comprise all of the directors of all the unions. This proposal is quite at variance with the present system which gives the local unions membership of O. U. G. shareholders according to tonnage. The Coldstream shippers proposed that the expense of the O. U. G. be continued as at present on the basis of a division of cost according to tonnage. These two proposals will go before the Vernon union executive for consideration.

It was claimed at the meeting that if adopted generally by the unions they would mean the disruption of the O. U. G., as the large shipping unions would have no greater voice as O. U. G. shareholders than the small unions although carrying the heavy portion of the expense assessment.

There was no criticism of the Vernon union affairs and a profit of $6,000 on operation was shown a dividend of six per cent being declared. The following directors of the union were elected: J. D. Godwin, F. E. R. Wollaston, J. T. Mutrie, Geo. Heggie, J. Hembling, (Oyama); W. J. Gibbons (Okanagan Centre); Col. Vernon, E. Trask, (Oyama); W. C. Ricardo, Col. Edgett and F. E. Cossitt. Col. Edgett and J. T. Mutrie were elected representatives to the O. U. G. Central.

Mr. R. M. Winslow gave an account of marketing conditions last year. He said that the drop in the price of wheat caused the poor apple market on the Canadian prairies. On the American side, conditions did not work out according to early indications. The October crop reports of the U. S. government claimed an apple crop only fifty per cent of normal. But on March 1, freight returns showed that shipments equal to a normal crop had been handled in the U. S. Thus the government crop reports were apparently wide of the mark. The O. U. G. sales manager, believing that with a low crop in the States, poor prices on the Canadian prairies and an exchange rate which would offset the duty against Canadian fruit, had gone in the Eastern States. Conditions, however, went against him there. The exchange came down and the American apple crop proved much larger than anticipated. Mr. Winslow told the growers that he himself would have done just as Mr. Lowe did.

Office Manager McDowall, of the O. U. G. said that it would be about four weeks more before the final pools of the O. U. G. were closed. The bulk of the Old Country pools were received last week. Next week pools on 30,000 boxes would also be closed. He said that about sixty per cent of the estimated value of the apples from the union had been paid to the union. He intimated that about a dollar had been paid on each box.

Those passing comments upon Mr. McDowall's statement, suggested later that if a dollar a box had been paid to the unions and this represented 60 per cent of the value, then the total per box to go to the unions would be $1.66 average. Taking 66 cents union charge from this would leave an average of a dollar a box for the growers. This figuring, however, is purely presumptive and by no means official.

Mr. McDowall told the Vernon union that the O. U. G. still had 251 cars of apples from which no returns had yet come in. Of these four were in Toronto, 30 in Winnipeg, one in Minneapolis, one in Chicago, five in other American points, 8 in Calgary, 154 in New York, 15 in Edmonton and the balance at other points. He said that the duty, freight and storage on the New York apples amounted to $1.65 per box. Sales Manager Lowe stated that the present New York price for Jonathans was $3.00 to $3.25, with $3.50 to $4.00 for McIntosh. Recent sales had shown a stiffening in price amounting to as much as a dollar a box.

The Vernon Fruit Union members endorsed the principle of the five year contract, but decided not to sign until it had been agreed to by the majority of the valley shippers.

FLORAL GHOULS VISIT ROB DEAD OF FLOWERS

Vancouver, March 25.—Complaints are numerous from bereaved relatives who claim graves of their recently departed are being desecrated by visitants and the theft of flowers. In some instances, it is reported, the new earth is being trampled rudely, and kicked about. Footprints are of large, male size, several in number.

HAD LIQUOR IN CAFE; PREMISES ARE CLOSED

The Good Eats cafe, Robertson street, is closed temporarily owing to the fact that Quong Sang, the proprietor, is away at the Coast and Chew Ong, who was placed in charge of the establishment during his absence, is languishing in the municipal lock up. Drunkenness on the premises on Tuesday night attracted the attention of the police and a search resulted in the discovery of bottles of beer and sam sney.

Chew Ong appeared before Magistrate T. A. Pope on Friday morning, charged with keeping liquor on the premises of the cafe. As this was his first offence under the Government Liquor Act he was fined $50 and costs. If he does not pay the fine he will have to do two months hard labor. He has not yet been sent to Okalla as it is expected he will pay the fine.

U. S. CAPITAL READY FOR INVESTMENT HERE

Vancouver, March 22.—With millions of dollars in the States awaiting investment in promising mineral and other industries of B. C., some of the mining interests of this province are now planning to organize and exert every effort for the development of their properties. Certain owners of valuable holdings in the Alice Arm district, now in Vancouver, are behind the movement and announce their intention of arousing interest of others in the district. They report having one of the richest regions of the continent lying practically unscratched, and awaiting opening with handsome dividends with proper capitalization. If the Alice Arm mine owners succeed with their organization plans, similar efforts will be extended to other mining sections of B. C.

U. S. Consul-General Frederick M. Ryder of Vancouver, states that millions of dollars of American capital is ready to be invested here, upon production of proofs. Within the past two weeks several American capitalists and representatives of big interests have visited the province looking around for openings.

PLAN TO COMPETE WITH GERMAN TOYS

Vancouver, March 22.—Santa Claus will bring no more German toys to the kiddies of B. C. next Christmas, declares Warwick S. Sugden, disabled veteran, and Rudolph Thompson, art patron and head of western Canada's leading classic dancing institute. The pair have started a factory for the making of mechanical toys that can be produced at prices far below those offered by German factories, they say.

In addition to toys, the plant will turn out wood carving, plaques, statues, totem poles, plaster and composition statuettes, theatrical and home decorations, mural pictures and other art productions. Sugden sent a handsome hand made present to Princess Mary's wedding, and it occupied a unique place of honor in the array of gifts, with special comment of appreciation. The veteran has attained wide notice in art circles. Nineteen workers are now engaged in the plant and orders are coming from various parts of Canada and the States.

SHIPPING AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

During 1920 the railways of Canada handled freight amounting to 127,129,154 tons, of which 23,304,379 tons were agricultural products. This included 376,615 tons of tender fruits, 324,405 tons of apples, 738,217 tons of potatoes and 212,961 tons of other vegetables; a total of about 7.30 per cent. of the whole. Speaking at a recent meeting of growers, dealers and shippers, the transportation specialist of the Dominion Fruit Branch, Mr. G. E. McIntosh, stated that this business should yield the railways at least $3.41 per ton, and would represent a decent revenue if it were not for incidental losses. These, however, are very considerable. Bruising, improper loading and poor refrigeration cause losses, as do frost injury, overheating, delays and insufficient bracing of the loads. Some idea of the extent of these losses is indicated by the fact that of six million dollars in claims in Canada in the twelve-month, a round million dollars was chargeable to fruits and vegetables. In the United States in the first six months of last year $55,000,000 was paid in claims of which seven and a half million dollars were chargeable to these commodities. Mr. McIntosh appealed to the shippers and carriers to get together and see if something could not be done to remedy this state of things as by the prevention of such losses all would benefit.

Another point to which Mr. McIntosh made special reference was the rejection of consignments which sometimes occurs. To obviate this, the Fruit Branch was prepared to assist shippers by inspection. This service was as freely given to the small shipper as to the large. He also pointed out that only by organization could problems regarding transportation, crop distribution and marketing in any measure be solved.

TRIES TO KILL SELF; IS GLAD HE FAILED

Vancouver, March 22.—With a gas jet stuck into his mouth, the gas turned on, and a note saying "What's the use?" gripped into his hand, Jesse F. J. Bellew, aged about 70, was rescued by neighbors and turned over to a local helping hand mission. They fed him, clad him, prayed over him and then they formed a committee of soldierettes to see what could be done. One enterprising tambourine-soldier visited banks, doctors and others and solicited orders polishing brass signs and touching up spots where the paint had worn off. Their age protege, it seemed, had a penchant for painting. In less than a week Mr. Bellew found more clients than he could possibly attend to, and now he has two assistants picked up from the gutter walls of town. "I'm making $9 a day, at fifty cents per job," he says, "and everyone is pleased. Guess I'll keep on living. Life's a good thing after all, when one gives it a chance."

New offices are opening for the exploration of American oil and mining stock in Vancouver. Agents are making an itinerary of provincial towns.

OF INTEREST TO AUTOISTS

A legal point vitally affecting motorists was settled by Mr. Justice Martin in Vancouver a few days ago, as regards the rights of the pedestrian on the highway, and which goes to support the old common law theory that the foot passenger has the prior right to the king's highway.

During the hearing of appeal of a Victoria motorist against a damage award, the judge stated that "once a pedestrian has got into the vehicular traffic and has begun to cross, he must be allowed to continue his crossing in safety and to finish it. The driver of the motor car persists in that absolutely erroneous view that a pedestrian in the act of crossing the street can at any time be arrested in the course of his crossing, whereas the contrary is the case."

It is usual for motorists to think that all they have to do is to sound their horn and the foot passenger has to get out of the way, but the onus of avoiding a collision is on the motorist who must give the pedestrian the prior right when the latter is making use of the highway. The decision of Judge Martin was upheld by Chief Justice McDonald.

COURT HEARS ALL APPEALS

It having been agreed that the evidence given in the case of McAlpine should apply to the George Anderson appeal, His Honor sustained the valuations and dismissed both appeals.

The Margaret L. Hogg appeal was next considered. Kenneth S. Hogg in his evidence, said that the property was assessed at the rate of $4900 per acre, whereas the lots were bought about six years ago for $400, and three years later the adjoining lots were bought for $1750. Questioned by W. C. Kelley, appellant stated that this property was more desirable than the back lots, but not to the extent of the difference in the assessment. J. L. Logie stated that the Hogg property was bought from the Summerland Development Company, the price being $400 for the four lots. The other two lots were sold two or three years later, and $300 was paid for two lots then. His opinion of actual value was $200, with lot 17 at $100. For the respondents, A. A. Derrick gave evidence as to lot values, and Reeve Campbell and Wm. Ritchie both stated that the assessed value was fair and about right. This latter opinion was confirmed by Assessor W. C. Kelley as being equitable. Orlando Vaughan testified that he had lived in the same location as the property under discussion and that he bought Lots 15 and 16, Block 58, for $400 each in 1912. I made the first payment, but could not get any agreement from the Development Company then nor since. I am willing to pay the difference if I can get a title. I consider it a fair value." Questioned by Mr. DeBeck, witness affirmed that there was no difference in prices between 1912 and the present time. There was just as much or little (laughter) boom now as in 1912.

The court sustained the assessment and dismissed the appeal. Counsel for the appellants brought up next the case of J. R. Brown, but this was immediately objected to by Municipal Solicitor Kelley, who declared that Mr. Brown had made no appeal to the Court of Revision on the particular lots mentioned, and that therefore the present court had not jurisdiction to take the appeal. Considerable explanation took place, whereupon His Honor asked that Reeve Campbell make a statement in the matter. Mr. Campbell said:

"I was presiding at the Court of Revision as Reeve of the municipality when Mr. Brown was there. Mr. Brown appeared as an appellant, Mr. Kelley as assessor took objection to the notice of appeal as it did not define particular properties. Mr. Brown said he was there in person to support the appeals, in respect of which he gave us the particulars of properties, but not the land in question now."

On being asked by the court as to what he thought of the question, Mr. Debeck said that this was entirely new to him, and that under the circumstances he would withdraw the appeal absolutely.

The two appeals of the Summerland Development Company were the next to be heard, and evidence taken from J. L. Logie for the appellants and A. A. Derrick, Reeve Campbell and Wm. Ritchie in addition to W. C. Kelley for the respondents, the latter stating that in case of the lakeside lots he wished to point out that the purchasers of these had the right to apply to the Dominion for a 99 years lease out into the water, which would naturally enhance the value to these lots. He went over all the lands in dispute, and concluded by claiming that the assessments as made were fair and just. Answering Mr. Debeck, the municipal solicitor said that the Development Company having sold all but its poorest lots and having put low prices on these to clean up, this was no criterion as to values.

On reviewing the evidence in all Development Company appeals before him, His Honor Judge Swanson made the following decision: Lots 3-7, Block 57, Beach avenue, reduced to $100 each; Lots 5 to 10, Block 55, reduced to $400; Lots 11 to 16, Block 55, reduced to $1000; Lots 17 to 22, Block 55, assessment confirmed. The west half of Lot 2, Block 20, Hospital Hill, reduced to $275; Lots 11 to 13, Block 52, reduced to $100 each; Lots 7 to 10, Block 53, opposite Elliott's store, assessments on two corner lots confirmed, inside lots reduced to $275 each; Lots 3 to 7, Block 43, opposite hotel, assessment confirmed; Lots 4, 5 and 6, Block 47, next Summerland Garage, assessment confirmed.

"Success is divided, no costs allowed," commented His Honor upon concluding the hearing, which had drawn a considerable number of interested citizens during the session.
