MAMMOTH CAVE IS DISCOVERED AT SHUSWAP

Unique Find Verified by Local Explorer Who Tells of It's Magnitude.

Shuswap Lake has a cave that will rival other mammoth underground wonders of the world, declares R. Roberts, of that district, who claims to be one of the "only two white men ever to enter the place." He is confident that it will make the district famous as a place of interest for tourists.

For years rumors have been current that a huge cave existed there, and now comes Mr. Roberts with his story of having made a partial exploration of it and finding it is of a huge magnitude. This story revives a legend almost forgotten by the Indians of today of how their ancestors worked a buried river bed, fabulously rich in gold.

According to Roberts, the mouth of the cave is hidden by silt and river wash and can only be located by one who has been there before.

In describing the discovery, Roberts said: "For years there has been told a story of this cave but most who heard it placed it in the category of lost mines and buried treasures."

An Irish-American, named Kennedy, found it while seeking a home-stead just after the war. He made an attempt to file on it only to find that that section of the country was reserved for soldiers wishing to take up land. Disappointed, he carefully covered up the entrance to the cave and the land was eventually taken up by a returned soldier, named Eeles, who became fed up and left. I do not know where he is at present.

In a moment of confidence Kennedy told me the story of the cave and showed me the location of the entrance.

"Two weeks ago I decided to explore it. Taking with me a few candles, I found the entrance after considerable difficulty."

"For about 200 feet I proceeded through a narrow passage, sometimes able to go ahead at a crouching walk, then again compelled to crawl, owing to the height of the roof."

"At the end of the passage I reached a huge cavern. The candle I held threw no light on the roof so great"

TAKE CARE OF SURPLUS FRUIT

Dehydrating Plants Expected to Assist in Stabilizing Market.

Vancouver.—On his annual trip of investigation into marketing conditions for fruits and vegetables and a re-arrangement of inspection territory throughout the West, Mr. Geo. E. McIntosh, fruit commissioner, Ottawa, is now on the Coast and plans to start a motor trip which will, he hopes, take him to the leading producing centres not only of the lower mainland, but the Okanagan, Kootenays and Kamroos as well.

"Having been struck with the amazing increase in importance of dehydrated and canned fruits during the last three to five years," said Mr. McIntosh during an interview, "the department has thought it wise to make a series of experiments into the suitability of Canadian fruits and vegetables for canning. To that end a special committee comprising the director of experimental farms, the fruit commissioner, Dominion chemist and the inspector of canned foods, under that committee work is being carried on at the operating laboratory at Ottawa and at the experimental plants at Grimsby and Ponticton."

"Our intention is to ascertain the fruits most suitable for dehydrating which has not been done heretofore; as well to see if the market can not be supplied with Canadian vegetables. The fruit branch," Mr. McIntosh continued, "has put on exhibits of Canadian grown fruits at all of the principal exhibitions on the prairie during the last two months. We have had a lady demonstrator showing the most modern methods of canning."

JACK LAWLER IS APPRECIATED

"We have one of your residents in Ontario, who is doing a world of good for the fruit growers," was the statement of G. E. McIntosh, Dominion Fruit Commissioner, who called at the Review office Tuesday during his visit to Summerland. Mr. McIntosh was referring to Jack Lawler and stated further that growers there were certainly appreciative of Lawler's services. He is in demand from Nova Scotia to Lamington. Mr. McIntosh says that Lawler has brought about many improvements and effected a number of economies. For instance, it is costing growers about 2 to 2½ cents to make up their boxes. By systemizing the work he has reduced this to approximately one cent a box. So great is the demand for Mr. Lawler's instructions he is likely to be kept on his job for some time.

It was through Mr. McIntosh that Mr. Lawler went from here to Ontario to teach western methods of handling and packing fruit.

WANT TO BUY AN ISLAND CHEAP?

The Canadian Government invites people who are in search of a summer home to buy an island in Georgian Bay. There are some thirty thousand islands along the shores of that part of Lake Huron, and the islands vary in size from tiny eyots to islands many acres in extent. They are rocky and bear no great amount of vegetation, but many are ideal for summer camps. The price of an unoccupied island is twenty-five dollars plus ten dollars an acre.

MAY PURCHASE BOX FACTORY

J. W. Wheeler is again at the Coast where it is said he is making progress toward the formation of a company to take over the mill and box factory now being operated by the assignee of the Summerland Lumber Co., Ltd. Mr. Wheeler has many friends here, who will hope for his success and will be glad to see him re-established in the lumber and shook manufacturing business here.

SOME OKANAGAN HOTELS WITHOUT FRUIT

H. Bell-Irving, Vancouver, is quoted as stating that he had heard complaints while on a recent visit to this Valley that Vancouver did not sufficiently back up the fruit growing interests by purchasing our fruit. His reply to these complainants was that Vancouver residents found it exceedingly difficult to obtain Okanagan fruit, which they preferred to any other.

Mr. Bell-Irving gives expression to a disappointment of his own. He had hoped, when visiting the Valley, to have a good opportunity of obtaining Okanagan fruit but when he asked for it at several hotels he was surprised to find that they had none and he could obtain only California fruit. The visitor throws out the suggestion that in the interests of our fruit industry this condition should be remedied. He believes it would be a good advertisement to have selected fruit of the best varieties prominently displayed at every hotel and available for consumption by visitors.

WILL HELP PAY FOR MACHINES

Answering the school board on the question of providing typewriters for the night school, John Kyle, supervisor of the night schools of the province, has promised that the Department will pay fifty per cent. of the cost of the machines.

No provision, however, has been made to give any assistance toward providing a piano and Mr. Kyle states in his letter to the board, that he regrets this, as a piano is part and parcel of a physical culture class.

Mr. Kyle will address the Arts and Crafts League here early this month on the subject of design.

Attendants at the Empire Theatre Monday and Tuesday are loud in their praise of the wonderful picture of "Hunting Big Game in South Africa with Gun and Camera." Very much out of the ordinary, the picture is one of great scientific and educational value and full of interesting instruction from beginning to end.

ASSOCIATED REPLIES TO ROWCLIFFE

Says Assertion of "Faked Telegram" Deliberate Attempt to Evade Issue.

Keen interest is maintained in the controversy being carried on in these columns between the Associated Growers and the independent firm of Rowcliffe, Limited. Two weeks ago the Review published a copy of a telegram from the firm of Plunkett & Savage, Calgary, in which complaints were made of the cutting of prices of apples in Southern Alberta. This was given us for publication by the Associated, and the following week it will be remembered, the Rowcliffe firm denied the accusation in toto. In turn they accused the Association of being the greatest offenders in that respect.

Copies of a number of telegrams bearing out this assertion appeared last week, and now the Associated sends the following reply to the charges of Rowcliffe:

Editor Review.

Sir,—The reply of Mr. Geo. Rowcliffe in the last issue of the Summerland Review has been read with interest.

It is with considerable surprise we read Mr. Rowcliffe's accusation that the telegram from Messrs. Plunkett & Savage was manufactured in Vernon. An assertion of this kind is a deliberate attempt to evade the issue by slander as he knows full well the penalty there would be attached to the using of the name of a reputable firm to a fictitious telegram. The telegram was sent to us unsolicited and is only one of many we have received of a similar tenor. In the Ponticton Herald of September 22nd, Mr. Rowcliffe, in denying the assertion of his having quoted Fancy McIntosh applies to the retail trade at $1.40, gives a flat denial, stating "We have sold no McIntosh whatever" and in his defence in the last issue of the Summerland Review he quotes a telegram confirming sales as far back as September 14th at $1.90 delivered in Clearholm which is south of Calgary. This would be equal, after deducting freight to Clearholm, to $1.47 f.o.b. Okanagan points and if shipped under ice to—

ADDRESSES HIGH SCHOOL

Capt. Creese Gave Interesting Discourse on Athletics to Scholars.

Last Friday in the High School, Capt. H. H. Creese addressed the students upon the topic of "Athletics in their Relation to Education." Capt. Creese stressed the importance of taking exercise in a regular rather than in a spasmodic way, and always with the end in view of creating fitness for the battle of life. In his usual genial way, Capt. Creese stated that where students found that the current forms of athletics did not appeal to them he would be happy to help them find any new sport which might offer attraction. The address was well received and applauded when Mr. J. O. Stoooves, of the staff, moved the usual vote of thanks.

On Friday next the lecturer will be Mr. K. M. Elliott, barrister-at-law, who will lecture on "The Law as a Career." Visitors are heartily welcomed at all these lectures.

Attendance at the Elko Theatre is steadily increasing, according to V. M. Lockwood, proprietor. Mr. Lockwood attributes this to the superior quality of program he is providing. His patrons are now being given the best available and although the cost to the theatre is considerably greater, Mr. Lockwood has the satisfaction of knowing that he is satisfying his patrons.

Trout Creek water community is again running water through its system to many lots in that district. After two weeks without irrigating, growers generally are again applying water to their land.

PREFERRED CREDITORS GET A DIVIDEND

Preferred creditors of the Okanagan United Growers recently received the first dividend, fifty per cent. of the balance due them on last season's fruit. In the case of the Summerland Fruit Union, this dividend has been applied to reducing its obligations to the Dominion Bank. Other locals would have this money to distribute among members or to pay off loans used for that purpose. Quite a number of individual growers in the Kootenay country received their cheques direct from the O.U.G. liquidator. Mr. Wilson hopes to be in a position to clean up the balance soon.

ROBINSON GETS ABSENCE LEAVE

Mr. B. Robinson, instructor of agricultural science, has been granted three months' leave of absence by the school board. Mr. Robinson will spend October, November and December at the Oregon Agricultural College, preparing to take his M. A. degree. During his absence Miss Martha McKechnie will be in charge of the classes in agriculture.

NOTED VISITOR WILL LECTURE HERE TONIGHT

Dominion Chief Archaeologist Will Talk under Auspices of Art League.

In the Night School classes sponsored by the Art League the first course will be in Pottery Making, mainly from the technical standpoint. Then when the main essentials have been mastered the question of decoration will be taken up and January will be devoted to color and design, laying particular stress on early Indian art.

Dr. Harland I. Smith, chief archaeologist of the Dominion Government, will lecture in Summerland this coming week under the auspices of the Art League, and will take for his subject the economic importance of developing the Indian designs found in this country.

In a recent article in the "Daily Province" Dr. Smith says:

"Those who know little of art sometimes scoff at this work of the Indians, but all the great artists that I have heard express themselves on the subject speak of it with awe and wonder at its excellence."

Dr. Smith has spent the summer collecting specimens of Indian art around Bella Coola district and we have been very fortunate in persuading him to stop over a day in Summerland on his way back to Ottawa. His lecture will be of inestimable value to the students of the pottery classes and extremely interesting to the general public. Watch for further announcements and do not fail to hear him.

"The value of all these specimens of Indian art is very great to science, especially as little of it yet remains in Canada. Scientists who wish to study it must go to Chicago, Philadelphia, New York, Germany, and to a certain extent to London, England, but I need not stress the value of this material to the scientist and the artist. True scientists and true artists know its value, and all of them would wish it to be saved. There is another value to these objects,"

MACINTOSH PRICES FIRM

Associated Now Moving This Variety in Volume—Encouraging Reports.

According to information received by the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association, the Associated Growers have been able to maintain the prices on McIntosh in spite of alleged onslaughts on the market by other interests. The McIntoshes are now moving freely and it is stated that Kolowna and districts north of here are now in better shape as regards the McIntosh deal than they have been for some years.

GRANT STILL COMPLAINS OF INDEPENDENTS

Lauds the Associated for Withholding the Macs Until Wealthies Over.

J. A. Grant, fruit markets commissioner, in his weekly bulletin issued last Saturday, makes some very pointed and interesting statements with respect to the marketing of the 1923 crop. The following is clipped from that bulletin:

There is a considerable volume of Washington Bartlett peaches from cold storage coming into this market, also many Alberta peaches. This would indicate that considerable more peaches and peaches could be planted in districts suited to their growth in B. C.

The only apples imported into the prairie market this week were three cars which came to Winnipeg. We noted last week the good work done by the Associated Growers in withholding the Macs apples until the Wealthy variety cleaned up. This has helped the distribution of Wealthies. We regret to note that independent shippers have not observed this rule.

Some independent firms rolled Macs to wholesalers giving them a week's advantage over firms supplied by the Associated Growers. Today (Friday) we find independents quoting Jonathans now being loaded. Such tactics injure distribution, and if met by the Associated Growers staff would stampede the market just as it happened last year. We point this out in fairness to the Associated Growers.

We see Transcendent crabapples retailing at 60 cents per box, which suggests that growers will receive a due bill for their trouble in shipping them.

Today independent brokers are quoting Vernon Macs at $1.40 for Fancy and 95 cents for crates, this is 5 cents under standard quotations. A Calgary retail grocer has been offered No. 1 Macs laid down here at $1.75. The freight runs about 35 cents.

Prunes are being sold by Vernon independent at 45 cents, as against 60 cents by other brokers.

In the interest of the fruit industry in B. C. such conditions as above related should be made impossible, as prices are already considerably under competitive prices quoted.

ASSOCIATED PAYS BANK

Bank of Montreal Loan Wiped Off—No Immediate Cash For Growers.

That the Associated Growers have paid off their loan to the Bank of Montreal, as stated in a bulletin from Vernon, published last week, is further confirmed by other reports from hand quarters.

This, of course, does not mean that the amount borrowed by the subsidiary company which took over the independent packing houses has been paid off. That loan is to be retired by the five cents a box levy. Further, the Associated, as stated, has accumulated a cash balance for distribution among the locals. Summerland members of the Co-operative have been hoping to have a sufficient payment on their fruit to take care of their taxes but it may be that no payments will be made to members for some little time, as it is stated that the bank from whom the local borrowed insists that its loan be paid, in accordance with the agreement, before any money is distributed to the growers.

In an interesting letter received by M. G. Wilson from Chas. Lowe, former sales manager of the Okanagan United Growers, Mr. Lowe states that he cannot understand why Okanagan fruit growers are so pessimistic. He looks upon the future as being very promising. Mr. Lowe stated further that first apple shipments from Yakima to the Old Country had netted from $3 to $3.50 f.o.b. Yakima.

PACK THIS YEAR SATISFIES PRAIRIE

That the prairie trade has never had a better pack than they are getting from British Columbia this year, was the information gathered by Mr. G. E. McIntosh, Dominion Fruit Commissioner, during his trip across the prairie to British Columbia recently.

Mr. McIntosh informed the Review that everywhere he found general satisfaction with the quality and grading of British Columbia fruit. While discussing this subject, Mr. McIntosh declared that all early apples and including the McIntosh and Winter Bananas, should not be put over the graders, but should be handled with the utmost care. In this he was supported by R. G. L. Clarke, Dominion inspector for B. C. These varieties, they stated, were very susceptible to bruising and the opinion was given that the safest plan would be to pack them direct from the orchard box.

NOW WONDERING WHAT TO DO WITH IT

For money advanced by the O.U.G. to the Chute Lake box mill, that organization was given a chattel mortgage on the entire property of the company. That mortgage was foreclosed recently by M. G. Wilson, the liquidator of the O.U.G., who has since, through the sheriff, taken possession of the property. Questioned by the Review this week as to what action he would take toward realizing on the property, Mr. Wilson said that was the problem that was now confronting him and which had not yet been solved.

DUCHESS OF YORK IS PLAIN LIZZIE

A few months ago when the Duke of York married Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon all the English writers spoke of the Scotch bride as Lady "Bobby." Apparently that was the thing to do. But what the new Duchess calls herself is quite a different matter. The wedding present that she and her royal spouse recently sent to Lady Rachel Cavendish was marked simply, "From Albert and Lizzie." Lizzie! Girls who are just about to change their plain Alice to Alyce please notice.

NARAMATA WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETS

The first meeting following the summer recess was held at the Unity Club on the afternoon of October 2.

The feature of the meeting was a splendid paper on ornamental trees and shrubs given by Mr. Mann from the Summerland Experimental Station. The speaker stressed the value of our native trees and plants both from the standpoint of adaptability as well as beauty.

The business meeting was taken up with a variety of matters which had accumulated during the recess. The Fall Fair project was abandoned from want of support.

The president urged all members to attend the forthcoming convention to be held in Summerland this autumn.

The total sum collected for the Japanese Red Cross was $79.88. The Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary wish to thank the general public for their generous response, and also the local W.C.T.U. for the sum of $5, and the Girl Guides, who collected $4.25 for the Junior Red Cross.

CAMPAIGN FOR CHILDREN'S AID

Some time this month a start will be made on the first of several units of the new home for children to be erected in Vancouver for the Children's Aid Society. Those buildings will replace old and condemned buildings now in use. Through bequests the society already has quite a sum of money but considerable more is needed and a provincial campaign is being started to raise the necessary money. J. J. Blowett, of this place, a friend of one of the officials, has received two books of tickets which are to be sold at one dollar each for this purpose. As an inducement to contribute, a touring car will be given away at the end of the campaign. Stubs of the tickets sold will be taken up and the one drawn by one of the children for the purpose will entitle the purchaser to the car.

DEHYDRATING FAVORED BY COMMISSIONER

G. E. McIntosh Hopes that Each District Will Have One or More Plants.

G. E. McIntosh, Dominion fruit commissioner, arrived here on Monday on his annual tour of the fruit districts of this province. He was accompanied by R. G. L. Clarke, Dominion inspector, and Bryson White, who is in charge of the Okanagan under Mr. Clarke.

The commissioner was in conference with the directors of the Summerland Co-operative on Monday and spent some time with the editor of the Review the next morning. Mr. McIntosh for many years edited a weekly paper in Ontario. Much of the day of Tuesday was spent in looking over the district.

Mr. McIntosh is very enthusiastic over the business of dehydrating our surplus fruit. At his request a special appropriation has been made by the Minister of Agriculture for the purpose of experimenting, and two plants were provided for the purpose, one at Grimsby and the other here in the Okanagan, at Ponticton. Unfortunately, the Okanagan experimental plant was put out of commission by fire just before Mr. McIntosh reached the Valley. This fire destroyed all the records of experiments to date and it will be necessary, he states, to start afresh next season. The plant, which was little damaged, will be stored for the winter.

Each of these experimental units take care of one to one and a half tons of fruit per day and all kinds of berries and tree fruits are being tested and even the different varieties of each for the purpose of ascertaining which varieties are best adapted to dehydrating. Cherries, berries, currants, etc., have been already treated with promising success.

An enormous sum of money is spent every year for imported dehydrated fruits, and Mr. McIntosh hopes to be able to develop a practical system for treating our Canadian fruits. Each of the units erected this season and which have practically given satisfaction, cost about one thousand dollars. He hopes that eventually each fruit district in the Okanagan will have one or more of these units.

In addition to the experimental work being done at the two plants mentioned above, laboratory work is being carried on at Ottawa.

INTERESTING FOR PUBLIC

Summerland Experimental Farm Is Dealt with in Report.

The press of British Columbia has just been furnished with the following story of the work being carried on at the Dominion Experimental Station here. This is issued by the directors of publicity of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland, B. C., in the midst of the Okanagan fruit country, naturally devotes the greater part of its attention to horticulture. It is impossible in a brief space to give even an adequate summary of the experimental and research work being carried on at the Station, and dealt with in the superintendent's report for 1922. The cultural orchards, we learn, have now reached the stage when it is possible to give a preliminary survey of the relative merits of the various systems of orchard management under test. Accordingly, a comparison is made in the report of the growth and vigor of trees, the yield of fruit, texture and condition of the soil, water requirement and cost of operation under the methods of culture employed. Six orchards planted in 1916 are included in the experiment, each two acres in extent, and all located on the same bench. The character of the soil ranges from a sandy loam underlaid with coarse gravel to a fine silt having a clay sub-soil. Such soil formations are typical of much of the bench land in the southern Okanagan. The object mainly sought is to determine the most economical method of bringing

Editorial

WILLINGNESS TO TAKE ADVICE IS SOMETIMES BEING GREATER THAN HE WHO GIVES IT

IT'S UP TO THE GROWER.

Just how the plans of the Associated Growers for the marketing of the fruit crop are upset by independents was described a few days ago by the manager of the Summerland local, who told how a small shipper could do great damage in unsettling the market by lower quotations and by delivering varieties which were purposely held back by the Associated.

This is well covered in another column in which the Markets Commissioner is quoted. An interesting letter from the Associated, accompanied by a telegram in support of the charge against Rowcliffe, Limited, is also published in this number.

In the keen competition between the Associated and the independents, there is the possibility of misunderstandings and mis-information creeping in, but when the Markets Commissioner comes out with the statement he has, he proves conclusively the charges and endorses the appeal made by the Associated.

Mr. Grant says, "In the interests of the fruit industry of British Columbia, such conditions should be made impossible, as prices are already considerably under competitive prices quoted."

Please note this last phrase. This journal has for some time maintained that our prices were lower than they needed to be to meet foreign competition.

The situation which has developed places a grave and pressing responsibility upon those growers who are shipping through or selling to independents. It is up to them to be absolutely sure that their house is not using fruit from their orchards to further lower the prices; that their house is not one of those who are using Okanagan fruit to kill Okanagan prices.

Not all of the independents are carrying on this suicidal practice, which only goes to show how a very small tonnage not under control can ruin the market for the entire province.

It is with considerable satisfaction that we note the announcement of the Associated that they are stiffening their prices despite competition and if the latter can be removed, there is every prospect of a good living price for our Jonathans and all later varieties.

HAVE WE FAILED OUR SUPPORTERS?

Favorable publicity of immeasurable value was obtained for Okanagan fruit in the Coast markets during the campaign for the re-organization of our industry. That we have not reaped the full benefit of that publicity and are likely to experience a reaction, is apparent from the frequent comments of Coast people and a number of newspapers. The following is an example of the press comment. This particular editorial is clipped from the Leader, published at Duncan, Vancouver Island:

"If other communities on Vancouver Island have had the same experience as Duncan in the matter of securing Okanagan apricots and peaches it will be small wonder if next year the average island housewife forgets that there is such a slogan as 'Buy B. C. Products.'"

"We are informed that local retailers have done all in their power to secure Okanagan peaches but have been unsuccessful. Wholesalers operating on the Island do not appear to handle them. It is said that they have been unable to make satisfactory arrangements with the Okanagan interests, though the truth of the matter does not entirely appear.

California peaches are the only fruit obtainable here. Those ladies who have been hoping and waiting for the B. C. product have either had to patronize American growers or go without.

"As far as one can see the blame for this unsatisfactory condition rests with the Okanagan growers, who appear to have failed signally to advertise their goods or to market them on Vancouver Island by modern, accepted merchandising methods.

"We note that a chain letter is being used in the Okanagan to advertise the fruit grown there and that the co-operative organization cannot afford to advertise by the best recognized means.

"Presumably, this co-operative has sufficient funds to buy boxes and pay salaries. These are of less importance than gaining and holding a desirable home market.

"Our people were prepared to buy Okanagan fruit. They have been kept absolutely in the dark as to when it might be expected and then, when the fruit was being distributed elsewhere, it is found that it is unobtainable on Vancouver Island. "Perhaps our Okanagan friends will give an explanation of this regrettable state of affairs."

Briefly speaking, Coast jobbers are to blame, at least in so far as they refuse to pay a living price for Okanagan fruits, while they are able to supply their own needs with cheaper imported stuff.

Possibly if there had been time to organize a publicity campaign, the Associated might have fixed the retail price, kept the consumer fully informed and forced the jobbers to handle at least a considerable volume of our fruit at a price that would have returned the cost to the grower.

There will be some who will feel, under the circumstances, that some sacrifice might have been made to retain the goodwill of Coast consumers obtained at so little cost and that would have been worth much in future years.

An instance of the spread between Okanagan and retail prices was given the Review this week by a citizen who has long been engaged in the business. His statement was that he sold to a Victoria house a carload of apples at $1.40 f.o.b. Summerland. The freight to Victoria was 35 cents per box. An effort was made by the buyer to have the shipper further cut his price. The disposition of this car was watched and it was found that consumers at Duncan and other Island centres bought these apples at $3.50, just double the cost in Victoria. Much the same condition has prevailed this year and we would have our Duncan contemporary understand that the failure of Okanagan fruit to get through to the consumer is not the fault of the Okanagan growers, unless it be that they were not prepared to sell at a loss or did not carry on an adequate advertising campaign. Wholesalers were able to make a larger profit on dumped fruit from Seattle and Wenatchee than by buying from the Okanagan. Just such publicity as suggested by our Duncan friend is absolutely necessary both in the Coast and prairie fields and this should have the most thoughtful attention of our organization before another season.

BETTER APPLE PRICES.

Good news to growers is contained in the announcement made in our advertising columns this week by the Associated Growers to the effect that they are advancing the price of McIntosh apples. Growers should give the Association every encouragement in their attempt to get the f.o.b. price up to a figure that will give the producer some margin of profit on the year's operations.

A CONTRAST.

"Wage earners of Summerland are spending their earnings elsewhere, retail business is hopelessly beyond recovery and the whole country is heading for destruction." At least, these are the apparent convictions of a local merchant on whom we called the other day. From his store we went direct to another, in the same line of business. We found the proprietor cheerful and optimistic. The Saturday before had been the best day in his experience as a merchant in Summerland and the good business was evidently continuing, as three or four days later he was still very busy. Considerable money had been taken in and this merchant is looking for better times.

Needless to say, he is a regular advertiser and he admits that his business announcements in this paper bring him much additional business.

The other man was doing nothing to attract the dollars of those wicked wage earners who had been induced to go elsewhere to spend their money.

THE FREIGHT RATES DECISION.

The "Montreal Star" regards the decision of the Privy Council to refer the rate question back to the Railway Board as a defeat and disappointment for Hon. John Oliver, and says that the Premier of British Columbia had hoped a friendly government at Ottawa would have conceded him victory in order to strengthen his hands for an election in the near future. The "Star" says:

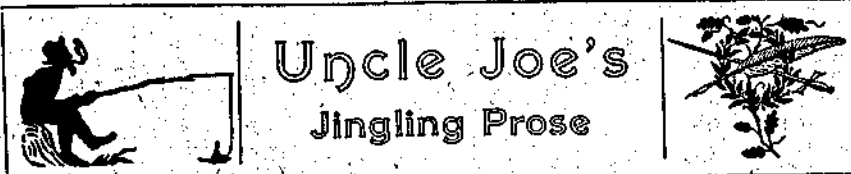

"There has been a suspicion throughout the entire series of negotiations that 'politics' was playing a part in the settlement of the problem. Premier Oliver must go to the electors within the next few months, and it was natural that he should look to his confreres at Ottawa for some aid. It probably seemed to Mr. Oliver a small thing that Premier King should make a concession in this matter of freight rates, for it would seemingly help the Liberal party in British Columbia and in the prairies; and at the same time a victory in the freight rate case for the Pacific Coast province, a conceding of the equalization which Vancouver thinks is the only obstacle that bars it from rivalling Montreal as a grain exporting centre, would have been a grand slogan on which to make an appeal to the country.

"It is possible that the Railway Commission will order some temporary reduction of the rate in the hope of relieving congestion at the head of the lakes."

B. C. BIRTH RATES.

At the beginning of the present century there was an average of less than one Japanese birth a year in British Columbia. Now there are over 1000 such births a year; to be exact, 500 Japanese children were born during the first six months of 1923. The Japanese birth rate in B. C. is 36.8, and the British birth rate 21.4 per thousand of the population. Of the total Japanese population of Canada, 94.5 per cent. live in this province. What conclusions would you derive from those figures? Even at the present time we should not let our sympathies afflict us with blindness.—Exchange.

"Tomato Growing in British Columbia" is the subject of a circular, No. 65, just issued by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, horticultural branch. We note that the illustrations used throughout are from pictures taken on the A. McLachlan ranch here.

Uncle Joe's Jangling Prose

THE "TALKYFONE"

WISH you'd try to find the guy who named him "Honest John,"—I've got a Gun (a dandy one) I'm keen to practise on. A shot I'd launch right at his paunch, and make him hike for shelter; his days he'd end with his dear friend (this "Honest John, of Delta"). It makes me smile when once a while old beeswing pulls a "bone,"—but when he knocks I get the shocks then rave and tear and moan. For by our fruits, we soft galoats, bring fame to Okanagan, and if we bawl, goldarn it all, there's reason for our braggin'. Yes, by our fruits, by devious routes, we want the world to know us; and "ifs" and "buts" from crazy mutts won't help, they've got to show us. For up and down in every town some queer things John is stating,—with snapping barks he makes remarks anent our "mental rating." It seems to me 'twould kindness be to take us hunks of putty, and shift us near the Premier's chair beside the Mogul nutty; where all the brains, and all the grains of knowledge are assembled,—and where poor Jones' hustling bones so oft have quaked and trembled. On second thoughts, maybe us sports, are not so really dippy, as that BIG GUN who gets the "mon" for being merely lippy: Yes, I confess we've made a mess of being honest farmers,—but darn it all, it's like John's gall, he farms in his pyjamas. His politics are ancient tricks, and just his spleen to vent, he'll slander us, this ancient cuss, in manner not well meant. Ah, with his bunk and kindred junk we will not long be lumbered—so, tray be yon, me 'Onest John, yer bloomin' days are numbered. —UNCLE JOE.

(Continued from Page 1) ing up a young orchard, and of maintaining it when it reaches the bearing age. The orchards are also planned to serve as a test of varieties, systems of pruning, and methods of thinning. Records are kept of growth, conditions and yield of the trees. In the report tables are given showing the measurements of the trees in 1922 and of the yield of fruit produced under the various systems of culture. All the methods practised are also described as well as the systems adopted of manuring and fertilizing. An experiment in the thinning of stone fruits makes it apparent that, in order to maintain vigor in the trees and in order to produce a high percentage of marketable fruit, the thinning of apricots, peaches and plums is a necessity. As to apples, it would seem that thinning must be determined by the condition and vigor of the trees. Facts given in the report relative to irrigation, spraying, to vegetable cultivation, of experiments with cereals, to poultry raising, and to beekeeping are of the greatest interest.

Take Care of Surplus Fruit

(Continued from Page 1) Thirty-five thousand copies of a canning bulletin giving the most economical home methods of canning, drying and storing have been distributed. Our thought is to develop in the home a taste for home products and we hope to extend this into the regular trade channels. There is a splendid standard in Canada for canned fruits and vegetables and they must be lived up to in accordance with the Canned Goods Act.

Mr. McIntosh went on to say that the Department had become very much interested in the problems of British Columbia fruit and vegetable growers and there was not the slightest hesitancy on the part of the Minister to meet any situation that may from time to time develop. Mr. McIntosh expressed the opinion that the outcome of the campaign on the prairie, together with the dehydrating experiments, would eventually take care of surplus fruits and consequently better stabilize the markets.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly bright, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil). The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 570 McDermott, Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

MANY APPLES ARE EXPORTED

Apples Going to Britain and Scandinavia — Netting Good Prices.

For some days the Co-operative has been busy on export apples. Many cars are going from here to the British and Scandinavian markets.

Fourteen of the export cars started rolling up to the first of the week were going by way of New York to Norway and Sweden. These are sold at a definite price, f.o.b. New York. Though the figure is not definitely known here, it is understood it will net from $1.35 to $1.60 f.o.b. Summerland.

Many cars of the smaller sizes of Jonathans, McIntosh, Grimes Golden and Cox's Orange are going to British ports. It is stated that the first shipment of apples from the Okanagan to Britain netted about $3.00 f.o.b. shipping point. While later prices will not be so high, indications are that good returns will be received.

Naramata Grower Is Winning Fame

Under a two column heading the Vancouver Province of last Saturday published the following story of Carroll Aikins and Naramata, by Marguerite Strathy:

"Speaking of Western types," said the tourist from Quebec, "you have a wonderful man at Naramata."

"Just where is Naramata?" said the Vancouver business man.

"Naramata! Do you mean to say you do not know where Carroll Aikins lives?" "Never heard of him," said the bored one.

The Quebec man howled: "Carroll Aikins—the Canadian Players! Why, he is the man that has the theatre in the packing house, he is putting B. C. on the map!"

"I thought it was lumber," said the Vancouver citizen. "Mines, you mean," came from another voice. "Apples!" "Salmon!" "No, goat's milk, children cry for it." But the man from Quebec went right on.

"People in London and Birmingham and Munich and New York that don't care a hoot about apples are reading about B. C. through this man's talent. Puts on plays in his packing-house, really artistic productions."

"Where does he get his audience?" said the Vancouver man.

"From all the ranches round about and fifteen miles away from Summerland; people even motor up from Seattle to see his plays. He draws university graduates and Indians from the reserves."

The story of Carroll Aikins, fruit grower, poet and theatrical producer, is yet another tale of pioneer heroism. Like the trees, there are so many big men in B. C. that they have not yet been counted, much less appreciated. Yet our friend in the smelter was right. The progress of a country is helped as much by its talented sons as by its material resources. Once animal hunger is satisfied and shelter assured, a race must produce thinkers and writers or degenerate.

A delicate boy of 19, Carroll Aikins took up land in the Okanagan in 1919, so that today he is a young man not yet 34. A nephew of Sir James Aikins, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, Carroll Aikins is Canadian by birth and training. Very much of a Westerner, he has surmounted obstacles of ill-health, limited means and isolated surroundings in the realization of his ambitions. Today his house is a delightful, rambling, vine-covered place, filled with the laughter of his three children who run about barefooted as little Indians.

In the comfortable, homelike den is a concert grand piano, an open fireplace and books—above all, books. While other writers may consult authorities for the trouble of walking across the street, Carroll Aikins has had to gather together the technical library of his trade. He has now, perhaps, what is the most complete dramatic and poetic collection in Canada; the library of a man of ideas—especially ideas about the theatre.

From Russia to Washington Square, the writers and dramatists have contributed. From the plays of Japan, hundreds of years old, to the latest book on theatrical lighting effects, he has them all! Carroll Aikins is himself the author of a book of poems of delicate beauty, and of several plays. The first of these to be put on the stage, "The God of Gods" was produced by the Birmingham Repertory Theatre in England in November, 1919. In the spring of the next year it was shown again with special scenery designed by Lovatt Fraser. Realizing that in order to write artistic and beautiful plays he must know more of the practical work of the theatre, Mr. Aikins returned to Canada with a new idea—"The Theatre in the Packing House."

Today in his orchard overlooking the lake, the windows of this unique play-house open to scenes of Grecian beauty. Cliffs and mountains, serried orchards and the blue of Okanagan stretch before the eye.

The theatre was formerly opened in November of 1920 by the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen. Part of his inaugural address ran as follows:

"We feel that we have reached that point in our history where we may look for a Canadian literature to record Canadian achievements, and it is in that faith that we have built this theatre for the giving of Canadian plays by Canadian actors. We hope that it will be used by the young actor as a training ground for his work; for the service of beauty and for a true expression of the Canadian spirit."

In the short time since, Mr. Aikins has put on such plays as "The Trojan Women," by Euripedes, in which his wife, Katharine Aikins, played Hecuba. A New York critic has called this one of the most effective pieces of tragic acting that has been seen on the Canadian stage.

In July, 1922, was presented to a reverent audience the first Canadian Passion Play, "Victory in Defeat," or "Scenes from the Life of Christ." Photographs of these and other productions were shown in the Fine Arts section of the recent exhibition in New Westminster.

During the past summer experiments in lighting were worked out in this theatre. "Flexible scenery," that is, interchangeable parts to make all sorts of steps, backgrounds, columns or entrances and several plays tried out in rehearsal.

No account of this Little Theatre would be complete without more than mentioning Mrs. Aikins, who is her husband's intelligent and sympathetic companion, actress and interpreter of difficult roles, marvellous maker of costumes fabricated of moonshine and silver paint by clever fingers.

The educational value of the "Canadian Players" has not yet been realized. Seventy-five students have been connected with the theatre in some capacity in the past three years and Mr. Aikins has corresponded with about three hundred people. Already some of his students are making names for themselves in stock companies—alas! in the States. But talent will not always desert us as soon as it finds itself. The founder of "The Canadian Players" intends to build up an all-Canadian company, artistically trained in the highest ideals of the theatre (which are seldom those of the box office) to interpret Canadian plays by Canadian authors.

We Canadians are perhaps too humble-minded, prone to overlook what grows at our own doors, whether apples or poets! We are willing to go to Italy for art and to California for fruit. And so we lose what we might have kept among us. Mr. and Mrs. Aikins have been called down to Seattle to direct some dramatic work there this winter. It is not their intention, however, to leave Canada for good. Before the peach and apple trees bloom again on Okanagan benches, they hope to be back at the ranch—working in the theatre at Naramata.

Then, if sufficient talent comes forward, if students from the universities, teachers of English or dramatic aspirants can be found to carry on the work, it is Mr. Aikins' intention to hold a summer course, probably ending in a tour of the principal cities of British Columbia.

Mammoth Cave Is Discovered

was the cave. Radiating from the huge cavern are scores of passages. I cannot state the area of the cave or the number of passages. I believe it extends for miles.

"Several of the passages I examined, but each time I became fearful of being lost and returned to the central cavern. Far off in one of the passages I could hear the roar of a large waterfall, which would indicate the existence of another huge cave. My candle became exhausted and I was compelled to give up further exploration.

"The cave is of natural formation, but there is a lack of stalactites and stalagmites, common to other big caves, though they occasionally appear in the passages.

"After reaching the outer world, I again covered the mouth of the passage. I believe, outside of Kennedy, I am the only white man to enter the place. Indians in that district do not know of the cave but say that they have heard the story of its existence."

Roberts has expressed his willingness to guide a party to the cave so that the full extent of its wonders might be uncovered and revealed to the world.

A negro called upon an old friend, who received him in a rocking chair. The visitor observed not only that his host did not rise, but that he continued to rock himself to and fro in a most curious way.

"Yo ain't sick, is yo, Harrison?" asked the caller, anxiously.

"No, I ain't sick, Moso," said Harrison.

There was a moment's silence, during which the caller gazed wide-eyed at the rocking figure.

"Don," continued Moso, "why does yo' rock yo'self dat way all de time?"

Harrison explained: "Yo' know Bill Blott? Well, he sold me a silver watch cheap, an' if I stops moving like dis, dat watch wont go!"

OUR JONATHANS GOOD KEEPERS

"Summerland Jonathans Will Keep in Fine Condition for 12 Months."

Editor Review.

Sir,—We have been hearing a good deal from time to time of the danger to Okanagan Jonathans on account of their breaking down in storage with what is commonly called "Jonathan spot." We have even been warned against planting any more of this variety.

Many fruit growers, however, contend that this danger does not necessarily apply to Summerland district.

At the thinning demonstration held this summer in the Tate orchard, Mr. Tate showed us Jonathans in perfect condition. The demonstrator ate some of them and commented upon their crispness and the entire absence of any indication of disease, and declared the flavor to be exceptionally fine.

Further evidence of the exceptional keeping qualities of the Summerland Jonathans may be found in a letter which I received this week from one of my Saskatchewan customers, which in part is as follows:

..... Sask., Sept. 25, 1923.

Mr. S. B. Snider. Dear sir,—We will be glad if you will please send us boxes of apples of the following varieties if possible by freight.

We still have some of your Jonathans and yellow Newtons on hand in fine condition from last year's shipment.

Yours truly, Mrs. R. Sheppard.

These Jonathans were picked and shipped on Sept. 28th, 1922.

S. B. SNIDER.

SOME WAYS TO KILL AN ASSOCIATION

Don't go to the meetings. But if you do go, go late. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of going. If you do attend a meeting, find fault with the work of the officers and other members.

Never accept an office, as it is easier to criticize than do things. Nevertheless, get sore if you are not appointed on a committee, but if you are, do not attend committee meetings.

If asked by the chairman to give your opinion regarding some important matter tell him you have nothing to say. After the meeting tell everyone how things ought to be done.

Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary, but when the other members roll up their sleeves and willingly unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, howl that the association is run by a clique.

Hold back on your dues as long as possible, or don't pay at all.

Don't bother about getting new members, let the secretary do it.

If you don't receive a bill for your dues, don't pay.

If you receive a bill after you've paid, resign from the association.

Don't tell the association how it can help you, but if it doesn't help you resign.

If you receive service without joining, don't think of joining.

If the association doesn't correct abuses in your neighbor's business, howl that nothing is done.

If it calls attention to abuses in your own, resign from the association.

Stimulate Your Skin

The skin with its network of tiny pores and glands should never be allowed to become sluggish and inactive. Dirt, cold cream, rouge and powder will clog the pores, enlarge them and produce blackheads and blemishes unless the skin is cleansed thoroughly with soap and water at least once every day.

This simple method of beautifying was Cleopatra's secret. She knew that to have a fresh fine skin thorough cleansing was necessary. She used Palm and Olive oils, the same rare oils which are blended in Palmolive.

If you use a fine mild soap, there is no danger of irritation. Palmolive with its creamy lather, is lotion-like in its action. It freshens, revives and stimulates and leaves the skin delightfully fresh and rosy.

Vernon city has been without power and light all week as the result of a serious accident in the power plant. The big fly wheel on the main 500-horsepower Diesel engine burst Sunday night, pieces of the wheel breaking great holes through the concrete wall and heavy roof. A second engine of 200-horsepower was put out of commission. A third engine, purchased recently from the Corporation of Penticton, was little damaged but is quite inadequate to the demands. The cause of the accident is not definitely known, but it is thought that the engine gained additional speed through the failure of a governor to function and caused the big wheel to fly to pieces.

There are many users of electric power who are greatly inconvenienced and the supply of oil lamps and candles was totally inadequate to meet the demands from citizens.

Losses running into hundreds of thousands of dollars were suffered on Monday of this week by the apple growers of the Annapolis Valley, N. S. A terrific wind storm affecting the whole Maritime provinces, damaged crops through all that country.

Everybody Should Get in on This

In the praiseworthy effort to popularize B. C. Fruit, it daily becomes more evident that it is up to you and me and all of us to take advantage of every opportunity to render the "Glad Shout."

There is now a method by which everybody may participate in this advertising campaign, and at a very trifling cost to themselves. Every retailer sends out a certain amount of printed matter throughout the month, and private citizens all write letters to their friends and relations.

Now, here's where everybody can and should help:

The neat little engraving appearing immediately below is made in two sizes, one to be used at the left bottom corner of the envelope you send out, and the larger one (just a trifle larger) in the same position on a standard size letterhead. The one shown is the one used on the envelope.

Now, figure out what it costs you for 100 sheets of good bond writing paper and four packages of envelopes, same quality (25's), through the usual channels, and then study the fact that we will supply you with the envelopes and letterheads with this design for the small sum of $1.50.

Or, perhaps, you would prefer a two-color engraving to embellish your stationery. If so, we can give you the same quantity of each, upon which is this striking design, for the price of $2.00. The apple has a background of rosy red, and the lettering and outline of apple as shown here is of olive green hue.

NARAMATA GUIDES

In place of the regular meeting, Friday evening, September 28th, the Guides enjoyed a trip to Pentleton on the stage where they were entertained at a party at the home of Miss Myrie Iverson, a former Naramata Guide. The evening was made interesting and enjoyable by games, and the return trip at nine o'clock was enlivened by the singing of the Guide songs and the latest best sellers.

Reply Is Made to Rowcliffe's

$1.40, and admits the sale to a retail store. When he knew on the fourteenth he had made sales at this price—why deny it in the public press of September 22nd?

We would also like to know what grounds Mr. Rowcliffe has for his inference that we have sold Messrs. Plunkett & Savage Extra Fancy and Fancy McIntosh apples at $1.23 per box f.o.b. the Valley. We wish to again inform Mr. Rowcliffe that our price for Extra-Fancy McIntosh apples is $1.75 per box and for Fancy $1.45 per box to the wholesale trade and that it would be at least 25 cents per box higher if we were selling to the retail stores.

We have shipped a couple of hundred cars of McIntosh apples and have maintained our prices notwithstanding all kinds of pressure being brought to bear on us on account of the exasperating price cutting competition that is going on with independent shippers. The wholesalers naturally want to be put in a position to meet these prices so as to hold their business and if the growers continue to supply fruit to the independents, their efforts, with the help of American competition, may result in so demoralizing the markets that prices cannot be maintained.

Mr. Rowcliffe in his efforts to defend has proven our assertion that the independent shippers are busy with the growers' McIntosh apples (the one variety more than all others were hopeful of obtaining a fair price for the growers) and are furnishing the wholesale trade with the ammunition to destroy the prices of the apples on the prairie markets.

We have received today in our office authentic information that an independent shipper has sold Extra-Fancy McIntosh apples small sizes at $1.50 per box and the larger sizes at $1.60 per box, both f.o.b. Okanagan Valley points.

The Associated Growers are not warned of impending doom as Mr. Rowcliffe states, but have a firm conviction, born of experience, that they are going to succeed, and growers will, we believe, disturb the disastrous methods of the independent shippers so that their organization can solve their problem through united action and so bring about for their enjoyment prosperous commercial conditions.

You are not placing our houses in position to meet Rowcliffe's competitors at Prince Albert, Regina, Saskatoon. Rowcliffe's competitors at Prince Albert does not leave us five cents a box based on your selling price. We placed ourselves in your hands entirely. How can you expect us to support your deal generally if you do not take care of it. We are not going to distribute and place on our books this business at a loss, but before wiring our managers individually I will await a reply to this telegram. Remember in conference you pointed out that you would take care of us in just such situation.

OKANAGAN FRUIT FOR C. P. R. HOTELS

Mr. Low, of Steamtown, purchasing agent for the C. P. R., has concluded a deal with the Associated Growers whereby he secured the season's supply of apples for the C. P. R. hotels and dining cars between Winnipeg and the Coast. Nothing but extra fancy grades will be furnished for this purpose, and Okanagan apples will by this means be kept steadily in view of the travelling public.

however, that is their economic value to the people of this country.

"According to the Export Directory of Canada there are 170 different kinds of factories in Canada requiring designs. This means about 1000 factories. I have written letters to over 800 of these factories, and the replies from the larger factories show that they are short of designs, and are keen for something new and distinctively Canadian. The man who sells a half-million dollars' worth of souvenirs at Washington, says the souvenir people are looking for better souvenirs, even if they cost up to $50 apiece. The Canadian National and the Dominion parks require suitable souvenirs that would help to advertise them, building up the income of the parks or the country because of the parks, and reducing the deficit of the railway.

"Besides the need of designs, many more firms use trade marks. When you see Japanese goods in a store, or Turkish or Swedish goods, you know it, but Canadian goods are not distinguishable without great difficulty, if at all, from the goods of many other countries. It would be of great economic importance if Canadian goods had a style of their own. We may make a beginning towards this end by using prehistoric or archaeological art of this country. This is depicted in the album above referred to, where it tells where the objects are, many of them at Ottawa, some in Toronto, Victoria, New York, Florence, Italy, London, Berlin, Germany, etc. It tells where they were found, what they were made of, the size, and where pictures or descriptions have been published. The pictures in the albums will give the designers working for Canadian factories an idea of what the things are; and if the designers wish to, as I think they should, they will not be satisfied to work with the pictures, but, using the album as a directory, will go to the place where the specimens are, study them, sketch them, model them, and will then put them aside and create designs which should be better than what the Indians made; in other words, would be what the Indians would have made, if they had been uninterrupted in their rise in civilization."

"The above words came to my mind when I read, in your last issue, the letter from 'Fruit Grower.' Thus history repeats itself, and what Mr. Powell said 13 years ago in 'California' is happening to us in B. C. today in connection with our new co-operative organization. We are asked to believe that a body of successful business men, who six months ago, were very highly esteemed by their fellow fruit growers, have, in that short space of time, become grossly incompetent. We are told that they have made mistakes! Of course they have, and they will make more, and any other body of men whom we may put in their place will also make mistakes. A man who never makes mistakes never makes anything. The point at which they must be judged is whether they have profited by those mistakes to avoid them in future. Most of us growers have been making mistakes for years in our orchard practices, notwithstanding all the expert advice that has been freely given to us, otherwise our yields, and quality of fruit, would be better than they are.

ASSOCIATED MAKES REPLY

Editor Review.

Sir,—In your issue of the 27th instant "Fruit Grower" attacks the Associated finding fault with its administration.

We would like to know who he alludes to when he says "they," if he means the executive and officials of the sales staff he is entirely incorrect as they do not do the things complained of.

He does well to withhold his name as it would likely disclose the fact that he is one of the 20 per cent. who are shipping through independent agents and whose interests are best served by the 80 per cent. holding a firm price while he and his associates unload at a slightly lower price.

As the Associated have already supplied conclusive proof for publication in your paper that the independent shippers among themselves are cutting prices it is unnecessary to discuss it further in this letter except to say the Associated are well aware that this cutting of prices is what not only destroyed the O.U.G., but eventually the independent shippers themselves and brought ruin to the growers and also fully realize that the growers, by continuing to supply fruit to the independents, can bring this same unfortunate condition about again if they wish.

"Fruit Grower" would undoubtedly be among the first to cry out and condemn the Associated if his fruit did not move through the packing houses he thinks it should and there is a danger of it being frozen in consequence of it being held for the 20 per cent to clear up their fruit along with some of the American crop brought into Canada for competitive purposes by the wholesalers as they will not stand idle while some of their competitors or our independents steal their trade from them by quoting lower prices. The Okanagan is not the only place that is anxious to supply fruit to our Coast cities and the prairie markets.

The quotation attributed to the writer is incorrect and unfair without the context. In answering a question put by a grower of crabapples I informed him he would not lose as much this year as he did last year knowing at the time that last year the growers shipping through the Vernon local of the O.U.G. lost 3 cents per box on No. 1 and 14 1/2 cents on their No. 2, in addition to the loss of the fruit also the picking and hauling. Why condemn your organization for doing what you and other fruit growers demanded, namely, to be saved the cost of picking if your fruit could not be sold? A very poor reason to advance for changing your officials.

Mr. Pratt never made the statement that our sales manager was no good. If you really have the interest of your industry at heart why not write to Mr. Pratt and get correct information—then be truthful in your statements.

Yours truly,
ASSOCIATED GROWERS OF B. C. LIMITED.

"FRUIT GROWER" IS ANSWERED

Editor Review.

Sir,—In 1910, the late Mr. G. Harold Powell, manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, wrote as follows: "Many co-operative efforts fail through the disloyalty of members when the association is subjected to the skilful, insidious fire of those who oppose it. The farmer is not used to having his business attacked, and those who are interested in disrupting the organization appeal directly to his pocketbook by attempting to show that the association does not realise as much for the fruit as the farmer could realise outside the association. They also persistently insinuate that the association is grossly mismanaged. It is a favorite practice of the opponents of co-operative distribution and selling to offer association members a premium on their fruit. These devices are coming to be well understood and the fruit grower who joins an association in good faith and sells out of it for a small premium is in danger of losing the respect and confidence of his neighbors."

The above words came to my mind when I read, in your last issue, the letter from "Fruit Grower." Thus history repeats itself, and what Mr. Powell said 13 years ago in "California" is happening to us in B. C. today in connection with our new co-operative organization. We are asked to believe that a body of successful business men, who six months ago, were very highly esteemed by their fellow fruit growers, have, in that short space of time, become grossly incompetent. We are told that they have made mistakes! Of course they have, and they will make more, and any other body of men whom we may put in their place will also make mistakes. A man who never makes mistakes never makes anything. The point at which they must be judged is whether they have profited by those mistakes to avoid them in future. Most of us growers have been making mistakes for years in our orchard practices, notwithstanding all the expert advice that has been freely given to us, otherwise our yields, and quality of fruit, would be better than they are.

In my opinion, considering the magnitude of the task they have in hand, our directors have made very good progress in a short time, but because they cannot induce the prairie people to pay us, say, a dollar a box, not for our apples, when the prairie people have not got that dollar, "Fruit Grower" condemns them root and branch. I wonder if he or she realises that our local directors and manager, at any rate (and probably the directors from other districts also) have, on the average, a far larger interest at stake in actual orchard property than most of us, and if for no other reason than this we may assume that they will do their best for the success of the organization, for they, like us, are bound to it for 5 years.

I do hope that this carping criticism will cease and that we shall all pull heartily together to build up our organization as we now possess and by ourselves bringing our orchards to the highest state of efficiency.

This letter is rather lengthy, but others think with me that "Fruit Grower's" letter should not go unchallenged.

I remain,
Yours truly,
JAS. SHEPHERD.

His Hearing Restored

The invisible ear drum invented by A. O. Leonard, which is a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of hundreds of people in New York city. Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does this so successfully that no one could tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by perforated or wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. Leonard, Suite 436, 70 Fifth Ave., New York city, will be given a prompt reply.

MAY FESTIVAL IS ADVOCATED FOR OKANAGAN

"Blossom Time" is Asset that Should Prove Magnet for Early Tourists.

The holding of an apple blossom festival for the entire Okanagan Valley, preceded by local celebrations of a similar nature in each of the towns, between May 4 and 14 each year, is being advocated by President W. E. McTaggart of the Associated Boards of Trade.

The proposition outlined by Mr. McTaggart is:

By co-operation among the various boards of trade of the Okanagan Valley to make such use of the blossom season in the Valley as would within a very few years attract a great number of tourists and thus lengthen materially the season of tourist traffic with its attendant advantages.

May Queen festivals are gathering rapid headway in B. C. and the success of the function in New Westminster demonstrates the advertising value to a community and the power of attraction to visitors such a celebration possesses.

"It is May—during the apple blossom season," continues Mr. McTaggart, "that our Valley presents its most beautiful appearance, and when we possess material for decorative purposes such as it is impossible to find elsewhere. I believe that we can and should capitalize our blossoms as well as our fruit, and that the advertising so gained would prove of inestimable value, extending in its favorable effects even as far as the sale of our fruits."

"In brief, the suggestion that I would extend to the Associated Board is as follows:

"1. At some date during the apple blossom season—between May 4th and 14th—each of the lake towns should celebrate a May festival, electing a May or Apple Queen by the sale of votes or in some way such as will raise the necessary funds.

"2. In one of the towns participating a grand festival be held each year as the Valley Festival. Each town to have this in regular rotation. The funds raised in each town for the local festival to be divided in such proportions as is thought most advisable between the local and Valley celebrations.

"Local festivals to occupy one day and the Valley festival two days. The (Continued on Page 8)

NEGOTIATING FOR POWER

Vernon Asks if West Kootenay Company Can Supply Energy.

The West Kootenay Power and Light Company is being approached by the city of Vernon to ascertain if it is prepared to supply that place with power and if so how soon the city could be connected up with the company's system, and upon what terms. This action was decided upon at a special meeting of the city council, called to consider the situation with which the city was confronted as a result of the breakdown at the power house, particulars of which were given in the last issue of the Review. It is also expected that similar information will be received from the Adams River Power Company.

It is estimated that the damage done by the accident will amount to approximately $82,000 to $40,000. It was the opinion of the aldermen that a public enquiry should be made before extensive equipment was purchased or other arrangements made.

Apart from the heavy financial loss to the city and inconvenience occasioned from the absence of lighting facilities, serious loss will be occasioned to many businesses which depended upon the city plant for electric power. Several industries will be suspended until other power can be installed, and it is doubtful if the telephone system will be able to continue operations after its batteries are exhausted. The moving picture house is, of course, temporarily out of business, and the evaporator and packing houses will suffer from loss of power.

CHANGES PENDING IN SCHOOLS SYSTEM

Victoria.—An announcement made by Hon. J. D. MacLean, provincial secretary, is to the effect that following the conference of deputy ministers of education of the four western provinces, the curricula of public schools system, including longer training periods for teachers, also are expected to result from the conference.

The text-books of geography, grammar, arithmetic and spelling, will be revised and it is expected that each province may manufacture its own text books.

Taken all in all the revisions in the schools system are the result of a long period of investigation, and a material improvement in general educational methods is anticipated.

Commissioner Says Prices Easily Advanced if Not for Independents.

Much more optimistic is the review of the prairie markets made by British Columbia markets commissioner, J. A. Grant, in his weekly bulletin issued last Saturday. However, he points out that growers could easily be receiving ten cents per box more for their apples "if it were not for the insidious underquoting of so-called independents." Mr. Grant says in his bulletin:

"Harvesting operations are proceeding uninterrupted at district points, and every indication points to this year's Alberta yield being a record one in all cereals. The wet weather reported in Manitoba and Saskatchewan has not affected Alberta, however, and in these provinces the grain is drying out nicely.

"There is a cheerful atmosphere in farming districts. Live stock is in excellent condition. Winter feed is abundant in general.

"We have reports at hand from all prairie points indicating a steady movement of apples. The effect of regulating supplies, put in practice by the Associated Growers is having a splendid effect, and while prices are low on account of the weak buying power of customers, it could easily be advanced ten cents per case more, if it were not for the insidious underquoting of so-called independents.

The prune market is cleaning up nicely, and prices should advance. This week two cars of Italian prunes from the Doukhobors, Grand Forks, arrived in Calgary. These were bought cheap, and are in the hands of two jobbing houses, insuring them being sold, as they were bought, greatly to the disadvantage of any storage stock which may be held.

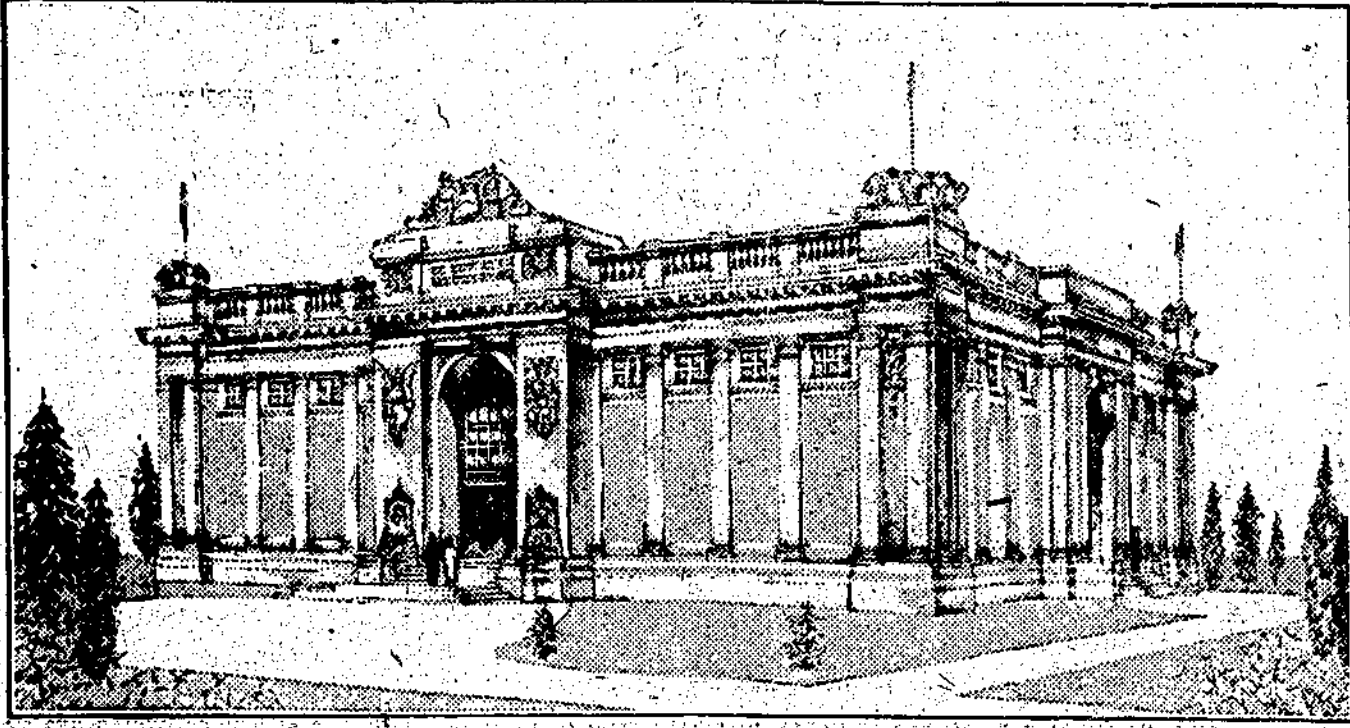

"We have not heard any complaints this year as to the pack of apples. We notice the new extra fancy pack is much superior in color and sizing to the old No. 1 pack, the tendency being to place the superior stock in this pack, and crating the balance. This method is popular.

"The market seems well stocked with every line of produce. Onion prices are soaring and another advance may be looked for. McIntosh Red apples advanced from five to ten cents per case during this week.

"We have called attention several times this year to the folly of shipping L.C.L. consignments to the retail trade. We have many letters from individual shippers asking why certain firms do not send them overduo returns, and fail to reply to their requests for payment. This week we sent out some letters requesting delinquent firms to pay; so far some of them have not replied. The best time for individual shippers to apply to us for advice is before he makes the shipment."

CRAIG CHILD'S FUNERAL TODAY

Hamilton Stuart, aged five years and ten months, second son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Craig, passed away Wednesday afternoon at the hospital. The little lad had been critically ill for some days with a severe attack of scarlet fever. The funeral was held this afternoon. Two other boys of the same household, one older and one younger, who have been down with the same disease, are reported considerably improved today.

Canadian National Building at the British Empire Exhibition.

An imposing building is to be erected by the Canadian National Railways at the British Empire Exhibition. Contracts have been placed and the construction will be commenced immediately. The building is of a classic style of architecture of the Canadian Government building at the Exhibition. The Canadian National building is on a site immediately next to the Canadian Government building and in one of the most prominent sections of the exhibition grounds. The building is 90 ft. x 110 ft., and in addition to a very comprehensive display of exhibits, including agriculture, horticulture, mining, industrial and tourist features, there will be a cinematograph hall accommodating 250 people, in which daily shows will be given, where films that are being specially made this year will be projected, depicting the attractions of Canada. This building will be one of the handsomest structures in the group of the buildings at the British Empire Exhibition. The architect is Mr. Eustache G. Bird, A.R.I.B.A., of Toronto, Canada.

TALENTED CHILDREN HAVE MUCH SUCCESS

The talented little Anderson children, Oja and Patsy, who so highly delighted Summerland audiences during Chautauqua were received with great favor during the remainder of their tour in which they substituted for the Kirk-Frederick troupe. We understand these clever youngsters have received flattering offers for long engagements, and as a matter of fact, their parents were asked to sign a contract for their immediate engagement but Mr. Anderson, who is an old time Okanagan resident, writes us that they found it impossible to link up with any travelling organization immediately, but adds that they may accept it as a foregone conclusion that the children will be included in the Chautauqua repertoire next season. The wonderful performance of the youngsters was very favorably commented upon here, and we speak for them a signal triumph, now that they have climbed the first rung of the ladder of fame.

ADDRESS BY KEN ELLIOTT

Humorous and Instructive Discourse by Local Legal Luminary.

When a man surveys the whole gamut of the professions or callings, to one of which he proposes to devote his life and energies, he entertains a hope—subconscious at any rate—that he may so far prosper that in his declining years he may find himself able to rest upon his laurels, the possessor of a comfortable competence at the least.

Mr. Ken Elliott, local barrister, who addressed our High School students on Friday last upon the above topic, gave his attentive hearers a cold douche at the very outset of his disquisition. Thuswise: "When you have become a lawyer, and are young and full of energy, you cannot get enough work to do; but when you are old you are likely to get more than you can do. In fact the older you get the harder you have to work."

"Over and above this fact," pursued Mr. Elliott, "you have to face keen competition. Indeed, today in Vancouver there are dozens of legal men struggling for a bare existence. I may add that you never have a case with examinations in the law, for you are always examining somebody or being subjected to that process."

Fortunately a member of his staff, of substantial proportions, had placed himself handsly near the speaker, thus checkmating any student's yearnings for a more congenial atmosphere. But the lecturer was really only tanning and speedily got down to a business-like weighing of the pros and cons of the legal profession. Mr. Elliott stressed the necessity for a really good preliminary education. Indeed the legal pupil of the future who wishes to practice in this Province has Hobson's choice in the matter, for the Law Society now requires a passing at Senior Matriculation before a student is permitted to begin his (Continued on Page 6)

BOX FACTORY IS VERY BUSY

Summerland box factory is working to capacity in its effort to keep up with orders. The class of shoo being turned out by the factory is of the highest quality and is in great demand. Not only is it very much superior to the Coast product, but is preferred to most of the other shoo obtainable in the Valley. The management have sufficient orders booked to keep the plant in operation for several weeks.

Telegraphic market reports show no importations of American apples to the prairies. Edmonton imported a car of Washington peaches and Regina one of mixed fruit; Winnipeg four of pears, two of prunes and one of peaches. Quebec province is importing McIntosh and Fameuse apples. These were selling in Quebec city at $12 per barrel for No. 1 and $11 for No. 2, and in Montreal for $8 to $11 for No. 1 and $8 to $9 for No. 2. Montreal city imported five cars of pears and eight cars of apples and Quebec city reports the arrival last week-end of one car of British Columbia apples.

THREE YOUNG WOMEN ON TRAMP TO COAST

Three young women, recent arrivals from the Old Country, who have been picking fruit in the Vernon district, passed through here this week on a tramp to Vancouver. Having finished their work, and wishing to see as much of the country as possible and enjoy the novelty of the tramp, the three young ladies started off carrying their camping equipment, intending to rough it all the way. They arrived here on Monday in good spirits and started off toward Princeton on Tuesday morning. They were Misses Freeman, Warburton and Peg. One of the party knowing Miss Wishart of the hospital nursing staff, they called there on Monday to see her.

ASSOCIATED SENT FRUIT TO WRITERS

Information Wrong — Lady Journalists Did Munch our Apples.

According to information given The Review and other newspapers of the Okanagan the Associated Growers had missed an excellent opportunity to obtain some valuable publicity through not having some fruit at the recent convention in Vancouver of the Canadian Women's Press Association.

In contradiction of this statement the Associated has sent The Review copies of two letters which are as follows:

"September 10th, 1923.
Col. W. B. Forster,
B. C. Products Bureau,
Dear Sir:

"In connection with Vancouver's entertainment of the Canadian Women's Press Club, if you can use to advantage 2 or 4 boxes of McIntosh apples so as to advertise British Columbia fruit with the Press Club we would be quite willing to donate same and would be pleased to hear from you as to the suggestion.

Yours sincerely,
Associated Growers of B. C., Ltd.
Thos. Bulman,
One of the executive."

Dear Sir:

"Referring to your letter of the 27th ultimo, I beg to advise that the apples arrived quite safely, including the box from Mr. Hoskins. As promised, these were displayed, at the dinner given to the Women's Press Club by the Service Clubs of Vancouver; also at that given by the B. C. Institute of Journalists. I enclose menu card of the former showing that the apples were donated by your Association.

We obtained some copies of the booklet 'Yello Fello' from Mr. Hoskins, which were also distributed to the ladies present, and on each occasion mention was made by the speakers that the apples on the tables were produced in the Okanagan Valley and donated by the Growers.

Trusting this meets with your approval,

EGG PRODUCERS FAIL TO CO-OPERATE

Through lack of support from its contractor members, the Okanagan branch of the B. C. Poultrymen's Co-operative Exchange is out of business.

Summerland had its own organization, the Summerland Poultry Producers Association, which did not affiliate with the Valley concern.

It is stated that so small was the volume of eggs handled by the Okanagan branch of the B. C. organization that the overhead ran as high as twenty cents a dozen, part of which was assumed by the provincial organization.

PRUNE MARKET DESTROYED BY COMPETITORS

Associated Issue Statement and Suggest Cold Storage for Future.

A survey of the 1923 prune deal has been given The Review for publication by the Associated Growers of British Columbia, Ltd. It reads: "Unfortunately owing to the prunes coming in at a greater rate than could be readily sold and the markets having to be forced in order to move them, the prices were in consequence depressed to a point unprofitable to the growers and it became necessary to slow up shipping or it would have resulted in a consignment market with red ink to the growers.

Wholesalers on the prairies and elsewhere were advised that our prunes would commence moving about August 28th and there would be about 120 cars to sell. Unfortunately the Big Y people of Yakima started a special advertising campaign and succeeded in getting a considerable quantity of their prunes on the market ahead of ours, and much of those American prunes were still on the market when we commenced shipping. The quantity we had to market over-running the estimate supplied our sales staff by some eighteen cars also added to the difficulties of securing profitable prices from an already overloaded market.

During August eighteen cars of American prunes were sold in Western Canada; four cars in Alberta, eight cars in Saskatchewan; four cars in Manitoba and two cars in British Columbia. Part of these shipments along with our heavy movement and the effort of the Americans to retain the markets for their prunes, and our independent shippers in the Okanagan selling a little lower than the Associated, brought about the reduction of prices to the point where they became unprofitable to the grower.

With the help of the Anti-Dumping Act the holding back of our prunes until the markets cleaned up enabled us to sell the remainder of the crop at better prices.

In September two cars of prunes were imported into Manitoba; three into Saskatchewan, two into Alberta, and four into British Columbia. If we could only have had this business it would not likely have been necessary to slow up our shipments, but to obtain it, we would have had to reduce our prices earlier than we did (Continued on Page 6)

G. W. V. A. IS IN NEED OF HELP

Danger of Dominion Headquarters Closing Owing to Lack of Funds.

Members of the G.W.V.A. throughout Canada are greatly perturbed at the possibility of headquarters at Ottawa going out of business owing to lack of funds. An earnest appeal for immediate relief has been issued to the various locals by secretary McNeill, and Summerland local will take up the matter at a special meeting. The depletion of funds is attributable to the campaign to bring about a readjustment of the Pensions Board. The Alberta command has wired $2000 and Saskatchewan $1500, the money to be raised by entertainments, etc. Every pensioner in Alberta who is a recipient of a pension bonus will be asked to contribute one month's bonus toward the fund. It is confidently anticipated that the public will back up any effort of the soldiers' organization in their campaign.

Mrs. Montemoro, of Ponticton, sentenced on Saturday afternoon in the Ponticton police court to serve six months imprisonment for selling liquor and one month for selling beer, broke from custody on Saturday evening about 7.30. She was discovered by police about three o'clock Sunday morning in an exhausted and hysterical condition in the meadow near the river.

WILLINGNESS TO TAKE ADVICE IS SOMETIMES BEING GREATER THAN HE WHO GIVES IT

MUNICIPAL TAXES.

Judging from the numerous comments on the subject heard within the last few days, many of our citizens have not been able to pay their taxes this week in time to escape the fifteen per cent. penalty.

The taxpayers are put in this position through no fault of their own, but through the financial situation covering the fruit industry as a whole which has developed through the re-organization last spring. Because of reasons already explained in these columns, the growers have not yet had a dollar on their fruit crop and many are without money because of the disastrous results of the past two years resulting from disorganized marketing conditions.

We would respectfully suggest that the Municipal Council, which meets on Saturday, make provision, if at all possible, to extend the time in which citizens may pay their taxes without being penalized. This date might be extended to, say, December first, to the great advantage of the municipality, as well as relief of taxpayers. The municipality can readily borrow money to retire any bonds or provide for maturing obligations.

Unless some such provision is made, taxes which have not already been paid are likely to remain unpaid for another year, as the taxpayer will in this way try to get compensation as far as he can for the fifteen per cent. penalty with which he has now been charged. Not only have the growers been put in this position, but citizens generally have been affected through the unprecedented situation.

"NIGGERS" AND B. C. FRUIT.

"The Winnipeg Tribune of September 14th contains an article by Hilda Hesson which is of unusual interest to this Valley. The writer had just returned from a visit to Summerland and the South end of the lake where she had feasted on unmarketable peaches and apricots. On her return to Winnipeg she inquired at stores for B. C. 'cots and was regularly told that the B. C. crop had been a failure. She could buy peaches for 40 cents per dozen—not B. C., but small inferior looking fruit. She inquired about B. C. peaches and got the same answer, 'The crop has been a failure out there this year.' And we may fairly assume that the same story is being told about the B. C. apple crop. It has been freely asserted for some time that there is a nigger in the woodpile. 'It now would seem that the woodpile is full of niggers from end to end. "There is something radically wrong," writes Miss Hesson, "when supply is not controlled by demand nor demand by supply." Her estimate of the situation is that "the Sapiro plan will save the industry but not those that have borne the burden and heat of the day." Melancholy thought! In conclusion she urges that the grain growers of the prairie stand behind the fruit men of B. C. and vice versa. "What is wanted is a Canadian spirit." There is no doubt that she has suggested a partial solution. The other part is the elimination of the niggers."—Armstrong Advertiser.

Yes, no doubt more "Canadian spirit" is desirable and would be very helpful in the situation, but the "niggers," American interests will still remain to deceive. Newspaper publicity that will keep consumers informed on the truth with respect to the British Columbia fruit crop and when the different kinds and varieties are available, is necessary. Make our brands well known and keep the public informed. Then the "niggers" will flee.

WHAT MAKES A TOWN?

What makes a town, anyway? Is it the wealth evidenced by the homes and splendid store buildings? These may attest the stability and thrift of certain people, but they offer no great inducements to commercial and moral progress. Is it the spirit of good order and law observance? That is a factor only. The sleepest old hamlets that dot the map have this spirit in rank abundance. Is it the schools and churches? May their number ever increase, but they don't make a town—they only culture it. Is it the geographical location, the character of the country surrounding, the shipping facilities, the natural advantages?

None of these are essentials.

Well, what is it that makes a town, anyway?

Just one thing—the unity of the people, the existence of a common bond which causes business and social enemies to put aside all differences when it comes to boosting the town. No town ever made real progress in the way of substantial success without the get-together spirit unanimously adopted. It has rejuvenated old hulks of towns that were yawning their way into endless sleep. It has infused new life blood into the heart of commercial life and made thriving cities out of paralytic villages.

Natural advantages count for much and prosperity can not be built upon shifting sand, but any town with half a chance can be made to grow and expand and thrive when its citizens join with one accord in the boosting program.

WHEN IS A WOMAN OLD?

How old is a woman when she is no longer young?

The resultant discussion is likely to rival that over the age of Ann.

But the question, when is a woman old, is now bigger and broader than it ever was before. For it is a fact there are few old women—old in the sense in which they used to be regarded.

Time was, and not so very long ago, when a woman of forty was old. Fashion and custom both conspired against her. She could not dress like a girl. She must wear a bonnet and shawl. There could be nothing gay in her attire. As the years came after forty, each one gave her something in dress that made her older still, and at fifty she was in the grandmother class, with nothing to do but sit in the chimney corner, with her knitting or fancy work.

Where now can such women be found? There are none. Instead of the bonneted and beshawled woman of forty years ago, you now see a daintily-gowned woman wearing a fetching hat, white shoes and all the other charming accessories which fashion decrees. You may have to look twice to decide whether she is twenty or fifty and even when you have looked twice you are not sure.

But what is the use of talking of woman's age?

She will not talk about it herself.

And she is only as old as she looks anyway.

OLD FRIENDS ARE BEST.

The population of our Canadian towns is so changeable nowadays that the newspaper man is often surprised to see how his subscription list changes from year to year. New names are coming in all the time, replacing those who leave town and drop their subscriptions. It is often a matter of wonder to the newspaper worker that anyone who has lived in one place for a number of years can have made so few ties that he can get along without this regular record of the doings of his friends and the progress of the community that he once called his home. To a host of people, however, no sums bring better returns than the trifling amount paid for a regular letter, from a former home in the shape of the local newspaper. In this way they keep in touch with old friends. Familiarity with their doings makes these friendships permanent. Old friends are best in this world. They represent an investment in good fellowship into which you have put much of the best of your life. Keep up with these old friendships and your old home. It will pay.

A Washington man has engraved the alphabet on a pin-head. A man foolish enough to waste his time that way could probably put his brains on the point of the same pin and have sufficient room left to build a fence around them.

"The two purposes of a country newspaper are to make money and to serve the community. Making money is put first, for the paper that is not making money cannot serve the community and is bound to be a poor down-at-the-heels affair. You owe it to your community to make your paper make money."

"Where will we raise our food when all of the available farming area is taken up and worked to its fullest capacity?" asks a magazine writer. By that time we won't waste food on people with nothing to do but ask foolish questions, so there is no occasion for uneasiness.

SPORT FOR GIRLS ADVOCATED.

Under the heading of "Healthier Women" the London Times of recent date says:

"The remarkable change in the health of young women which has come about since girls took up games and outdoor recreation is referred to by Dr. J. M. N. Campbell, of Guy's Hospital. Chlorosis, the anaemia of young women, was for a long time prevalent in this and other countries. The interesting fact is adduced that this disease is rapidly disappearing both from Europe and America. The phenomenon has much more than a medical interest, for it is the opinion of Dr. Campbell that the greater amount of exercise and the more ready access to fresh air enjoyed by women today are largely responsible for the diminution of this malady. What used to be known as 'the green sickness' in fact is yielding to rational methods of life. It is pointed out that a similar fall has been observed in Sweden, in France, in Vienna, and in America. In Sweden and Finland, the disease diminished rapidly and suddenly some time between 1802 and 1902, since when it has diminished more slowly. It has now almost disappeared. In America the change for the better took place about 1900-1902. In England it was rather later. That was the time when the first insistent demands for an outdoor life and regular exercise for school girls and even for grown women began to be made."

THE NEWSPAPER.

The newspaper, like a hotel, is a private enterprise dependent on the public for support, but notwithstanding this, like the hotel, it has the right to exercise selection; like the church, each newspaper ministers to its own constituency and makes little effort to please all. The Presbyterian clergyman does not expect Episcopals to attend his services, and his sermons presumably do not meet the wishes and beliefs of Roman Catholics. One newspaper constituency clamors for one kind of news; and another is grossly offended by its publication; like the college, it is free to admit what conforms to its standards and, like the college, its standards are multifarious; like the private school, it may exclude certain sects, races or occupations from its corps of teachers as well as from its body of pupils. The newspaper has the universal prerogative of selection; the public has the right to compel the press to be the medium through which it acquires this knowledge. If the newspaper selects its news wisely the public supports it; if it makes an injudicious selection, if it suppresses what ought to be printed in the interests of public welfare, the public withdraws its support and the newspaper goes to the wall. Wherever the evil exists, it quickly cures itself without the exercise of compulsion.—Ex

THIEF me to my orchard and I leave a sigh of pain; I'm four-score ten, and wonder when good times will come again. I gaze upon my Apples, which are great big gobs of joy; "Forbidden Fruit," I softly toot, "you can't my spirits buoy! I've nursed you from a sapling, and you've nearly broke my back; I've flayed you, and I've sprayed you, my dear great big luscious Mac. For, O, dear Mac, small wonder that I'm driven almost leary, for they won't do a thing to you before you reach the prairie. You'll lucky be if you grade "C," 'e'en that should make you smile; forget your "Extra Fancy" stuff, there's no sich animal! I graded you "perfection," but I guess I made a mull,—for I've just found my dumping ground is one deluded cull. And so it seems with kidney beans or Gravensteins and cabbage, I get my cheque right in the neck, through that bad prairie Savage. And so I'll lay me down to sleep,—no fussing, please, no flowers; it's finished ME, since I joined THE Assassinated Growers." —UNCLE JOE.

EFFECTIVE SPRAYING FOR CODLING MOTH

The Big Y Bulletin, Yakima, recently published a very interesting paper read by C. P. Wickersham, of the Yakima apple district, which told of his method of pest control. Though the next orchard was badly infested, he had only one sixth of one per cent wormy apples. Here is his paper as given by Mr. Wickersham at the annual convention of the Washington Horticultural Association:

"I am not going to waste time telling you how much damage the codling moth does, or how districts might be formed to protect those growers who keep their orchards clean. We've been told these and many other good things at every meeting of this association for the last five years.

Mr. Darlington told us at last year's meeting that it was only a matter of doing a good job at what we already know. He admitted that the first brood sprays might be sufficient, but hesitated to advise growers to stop at that, because he feared they might not do a thorough job and would blame him for their results; other experts have felt the same way about it.

Now, I'm just a grower and want it thoroughly understood that I'm just telling you how I spray and the results I got, and if any of you try it out I hope you do a good job of spraying. Mr. Newcomer tells us that the first brood moths begin laying their eggs when the thermometer registers 60 degrees, at dusk, which is usually early in June in my district; that practically all moths lay their eggs during the 30 days following this temperature. The first brood of worms does but little damage because there are not many of them and the stings heal over.

It's the second and third broods that do the damage, and they're every one the offsprings of the first.

Now, since practically all of the first brood hatch during this 30-day period, the only thing necessary is to kill them all while they're young. I've proven to myself that two cover sprays are sufficient, having had less than one-sixth of one per cent. of culls from worms in the past season, notwithstanding an adjoining orchard was very wormy. The second brood moths do not seem to travel very far, but lay their eggs at the first convenient place. The year before last I had seven-eighths of one per cent. of culls from worms, and two years ago 3 1/2 per cent. Seven years ago my orchard was very wormy.

Three years ago I put on the cover sprays 18 to 21 days apart; two years ago 15 days, and this past year 10 to 12 days.

I began by doing a good job with my calyx spray at 250 to 275 pounds pressure. Six to eight days after the dusk temperature reached 60 degrees I have all apples covered and 10 to 12 days later I cover them again.

I haven't sprayed after June 18 during three years; used sprayer and put on all three sprays with a gun, only one gun, and hold it myself. I might add that I pay my thinners two and one-half cents apiece for worms."

Drouth Spot of Apple

By H. R. McLarty,
Plant Pathologist.

Drouth spot of apple is now, because of its appearance year after year, well known in those orchard districts of British Columbia with soils of poor moisture retaining capacity; or wherever irrigation is improperly applied, either because of insufficient water supply, or too long intervals between applications. When severe it causes an almost complete loss of the crop.

The trouble appears as small, brown spots on the young fruit. Sometimes, it appears as blisters, often oozing a drop of sap; at other times, the spots appear as shrivelled, brown patches. As the affected apples develop, their surface, in part, becomes rough and cracks, giving the fruit a most unsightly appearance.

While the immediate cause of the trouble is still somewhat obscure, it is quite generally accepted that it is due to inadequate water supply. Yet in many cases the disease occurs in orchards where spring moisture conditions have been excellent. Examination of the root system has shown that the fine feeder roots are dead. The killing of the root hair system might be, and no doubt is, brought about by a combination of circumstances, all of which, however, point in the direction of an inadequate supply of water at some period through the year.

Since drouth spot has not been known to occur where soil moisture conditions are uniformly good, it is suggested that, as far as possible, orchards in which drouth spot occurs, be placed under the most suitable moisture conditions obtainable. One of the best known methods of improving the moisture holding capacity of the soil is to add humus, either by the liberal application of straw manure or the growing of a good cover crop. Affected trees should have as uniform a supply of moisture as possible during the growing season. Frequent light irrigations are much preferable to heavier applications at longer intervals. Since roots in very dry soil are much more easily injured by frost than those in moist soil, it has been shown that much injury can be prevented by applying a very late irrigation just previous to the winter freeze-up. Such a late irrigation supplies the needed moisture; yet, is sufficiently late to obviate all danger of producing new growth.

It requires from three to five years, with the best of care, to remedy the conditions causing the trouble. The recovery, however, is certain when sufficient care is taken, and many orchards both in British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest, formerly badly affected are now completely restored to normal conditions.

How to Treat Collar Rot

By H. R. McLarty,
Plant Pathologist.

Dead wood occurring at the crown and extending out on the main roots of a tree indicates a disease generally termed Collar Rot. The annual loss of trees from Collar Rot should be a warning to fruit growers to make a much more systematic effort to prevent the conditions under which the disease develops and spreads in their orchards. There are comparatively few orchards having no affected trees, although seemingly, the latter may all appear quite healthy. By the time the symptoms appear in the branches of the tree, the disease is often in an advanced stage and in some cases it even means the loss of the tree.

Every grower should make a systematic survey of the orchard, examining the crown of every tree. The soil should be dug away around the crown down to a depth of at least one foot. When the loose bark has been scraped away, all the exposed part should be examined for diseased areas. If the entire crown appears healthy, the earth may be replaced. If, however, dead patches are found, all the soil around the crown should be removed in order that the extent of the injury may be exactly determined. All dead wood should then be removed and the wound thus made should be disinfected with mercuric cyanide in the strength of 1-500. After this is allowed to dry, the wound should be thoroughly painted with white lead in linseed oil, or with coal tar and creosote. This latter preparation may be prepared by warming and mixing together two parts of coal tar with one part creosote. As this disinfectant is injurious to the bark, great care should be used in painting the wound.

When a tree is not more than fifty per cent. girdled, it is still worth saving. Trees in which the rot has extended more than half way round might be saved, but the doctoring necessary makes treatment scarcely worth while. Where side roots are found girdled, they should be removed. When approximately half of the tree is gone, seedlings planted close to the tree can later be grafted into the main trunk assisting in giving nourishment to that side of the tree. Bridge grafts can also be made, connecting the healthy roots below with the healthy bark above the diseased tissue.

When the treatment of the tree is complete, the hole around the tree should be left open to the sun during the summer months and filled in just before winter sets in. The action of the sun assists very materially in drying up the tissues and in the production of healthy new bark. For one or two summers succeeding, the earth should again be removed in order the better to prevent the spread of any rot before all the wounds are completely healed.

EXPRESS COMPANIES TRYING TO INCREASE COMMODITY RATES

"We have written to R. L. Wheeler, Esq., fruit transportation specialist, Ottawa, giving him notice that any increase in fruit and produce express rates will be resisted, because the fruit industry in British Columbia is already overburdened by express rates. We are convinced that any increase in Community Rates will injure the industry, which is at present in a perilous position.

As far as L.C.L. shipments are concerned, the increase would only hit individual shippers, and in our opinion car lots of fruit and vegetables loaded by the shipper and unloaded by the jobber should not be included as express service, but be known as "accelerated freight," carried by passenger trains. Apart from bookkeeping, which can easily be done by the Railway Company, as by the Express Company, the express companies perform no service in car lot movements of perishables, and we consider that dual profits so earned are unjustified. If it be true that the express companies are losing money, which, we understand, is their contention at present, the removal of this large volume of business might materially reduce their losses."—B.C. Markets Commissioner.

HUGE LOCOMOTIVES OF THE MIKADO TYPE ARRIVE FOR FALL GRAIN RUSH ON C.N.R.

New locomotives of the Mikado type for the movement of the 1923 grain crop over the Canadian National Railways have begun to reach the West. The new locomotives, which were built at Montreal, are of the latest type with all new improvements. They are 73 feet in length and weigh approximately 450,000 pounds with a drawbar pull equal to 5,500 tons. The engines, which are for freight use, are equipped with automatic starters, Westinghouse air brakes and air reverse and have the new type of Worthington feeder, water heater and pump. One of the changes in the new engine is the cab design, all mountings being installed in a box outside of the cab as in former types.

Twenty-three of the new engines are coming West for the Manitoba division in time for the beginning of the grain movement and 22 are coming for the Saskatchewan division. An idea of the size of the new engines may be gathered from the fact that before starting out on a run they require 12 tons of coal and 8,500 gallons of water to complete their tender supplies. The new engines are all equipped with the Booster truck and ten of those to be delivered later will have Booster engines installed. These provide practically additional motive power on the tender and are of great value in starting heavy trains. The engines are being placed in service as quickly as they reach the Western divisions.

"The following suggestions are put forward tentatively:

"Time—That the whole be held on four or five consecutive days, according to the number of towns participating, and finishing with the Valley carnival.

"Management—That in addition to a local committee a manager be appointed and paid to superintend and co-ordinate each celebration, with particular attention to the final one.

"Use of Apple Blossom—That this be made a conspicuous part of decorations at each festival. There should be no difficulty in securing an ample supply of these. The majority of the ranchers owning crab-apple trees, which are largely unpruned, would willingly allow branches of blossom to be cut from these for this purpose. I am informed also that it would not injure apple trees for them to be left unpruned until the blossoms had formed, when the prunings would give an ample supply of flower-laden branches. An arrangement could undoubtedly therefore easily be made with a number of ranchers in each district to leave one or two trees unpruned for this purpose. The second and third years two other trees could be left, so that there would be no danger of injury or loss to the rancher. Two or three trees on each ranch would supply apple blossoms for every purpose.

"Finance—Each town should finance its own festival and contribute to the Valley celebration, so as to give ample funds for advertising and for the remuneration of the suggested manager.

"We can generally count on fine weather in only May and I have no hesitation at all in predicting that within three years such a festival, if properly organized and advertised, would attract a very large number of people just at the time when trade generally is most stagnant.

"Details as to the exact form of the celebrations, the rotation of the chief festival, allocation of funds, etc., can easily be settled, but if the idea is to be put in operation next May—and there is no reason for delay—it is imperative that active steps be taken only this fall.

"I have spent considerable time in consideration of this idea and will be glad at any time to submit more detailed suggestions on any point and to assist the Associated Boards of Trade in working out a detailed preliminary scheme.

"I would like to suggest that it is not too early to take this matter in hand now and that an early meeting of the Associated Boards be called to discuss it. Only a representative public body such as the Board of Trade can make a success of a movement embracing so wide a territory and I think that prompt and energetic action on the part of the Associated Boards will ensure the successful carrying out this scheme."

The Value of a Newspaper To a Town

Few people in the average town appreciate the value of a newspaper to a town. Like flowers, they are appreciated most by those who do not have them. Like mothers, they are wanted most when they are gone.

Most people look on a newspaper as the business of a single individual. If it thrives, that is the owner's or editor's business. If it fails, that is also the owner's or editor's business. As a matter of fact, the success or failure of a paper is a matter of grave concern to an entire town.

If it were not for our newspapers, rumor and gossip would run riot over the world. Everyone knows how a simple question asked by someone often is made a statement by another, how that statement is distorted by a second or enlarged by a third, and how it sometimes goes on and on until people do not know what to believe. Sometimes such a story gets so big that the only way it can be stopped is by someone coming out in the paper and stating the precise truth. Such conditions we should have constantly if it were not for our newspapers.

Newspapers, too, are the best advertisement a community has in the outside world. Other places judge a town by the kind of newspaper it has. If it is supported well, given the news and the advertising patronage it ought to have, it thrives and is able to present an appearance of prosperity for the town to the outside world. If it does not thrive, outsiders are inclined to look on the town as undesirable to live in, and so move on to other towns.

Newspapers are also our chief source of information. Most of our reading matter after we leave school comes from the papers. What we know about present day problems, comes from the papers. Thomas Jefferson once said that if he had to have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, he would take the newspapers, because through them he felt the state could be run with at least fair success.

If some of us appreciated more fully the value of our newspapers, we would make greater effort to see that they get the news and advertising and so become successful. Modern society cannot get along without newspapers any more than it can without schools and churches.

PEACHLAND DOINGS

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

PEACHLAND HOLDS ANNUAL FALL FAIR

Peachland Women's Institute held their Flower Show and Fall Fair on Friday of last week in the Municipal Hall. In spite of the busy season it was well attended by the citizens as well as some visitors, among whom were Mr. J. W. Jones, M.L.A., and his wife, and Mrs. Sutherland, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Taylor, from Kelowna; Mr. Hunter from Vernon and Mr. John Tait from Summerland.

Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Hill did the judging in fancy work and culinary sections. Mr. Hunter, district horticulturist judged the fruit and vegetables. Mr. Jones opened the fair in his usual pleasing and jocular manner. He was pleased to be able to attend the Peachland Fair, having been disappointed last year owing to the fact that he was east at the time.

Wedding bells are likely to be heard in Peachland within a month. Great preparations are being made for the event and considerable interest will be taken by many in the community. The engagement is not announced yet, but if our readers will listen and watch they will probably hear some of the particulars.

Mrs. R. H. Huston left on Friday evening's boat for the Coast, where she will visit for a time with her son. Mrs. Heighway has quite recovered from injuries she received when she fell while apple picking recently.

W. D. Miller is getting his logging camp started up for the fall and winter work and has part of his gang at work now. After a short time spent in the Hospital at Summerland, Mr. A. W. Miller returned home on Sunday, being brought by auto by his son Mr. W. D. Miller and Mrs. Miller. He stood the trip home fine and is doing nicely since.

Miss Jean Druden spent the week end at home with her parents, returning to Vernon on Monday's boat. Mrs. B. M. Whyte and little son left on Monday morning to return home after a week or so spent in Peachland.

After returning home from a short visit to Alberta, Mrs. Alpaugh was taken ill and went to the Kelowna Hospital for treatment on Monday. Mrs. W. White accompanied her.

Rev. H. A. Solly, Summerland, conducted service in St. Margaret's church on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Cudmore is enjoying a week's visit from his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Watson, of Vancouver, who came K.V.R. and arrived by auto on Sunday last.

Mr. D. Kennedy, M.P., of Dryden, Ont., member for the Kenora and Rat Portage constituency, was a guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Elliott. Mr. Kennedy is a brother of Mrs. C. G. Elliott of Edmonton but formerly well known Peachland resident. Miss Gamble and Mr. Martin extended an invitation last week to the scholars of the Central School to go out on Friday afternoon and have a feed of melons at their patch. Needless to say the boys and girls needed no coaxing. Miss Murdin and Mr. Harris arranged for their getting out and joined them. The treat was graciously and enthusiastically enjoyed by the party.

An old Peachland resident, Mrs. J. B. Robinson, accompanied by some friends, paid a short visit to Peachland last week. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bulyea. Mr. D. Leckie of Kelowna was in town this week, coming down on Monday evening's boat.

Your correspondent regrets that it has been impossible to get the completed prize lists for this week's issue, but as it is being completed for the presentation of the prizes at the regular meeting of the Institute on Friday of this week, we hope to have it for the next issue.

Mr. Tripp, the auditor, paid Peachland an official visit this week.

Dear A. Leda: "What is the proper way to refuse a man a dance when you have not yet the next taken and do not wish to be rude?" Simply say this: "Thank you, but I do not think I'll dance this number. I feel a bit tired." That is all that is necessary.

Dear A. Leda: "If you are a guest at dinner and spill your glass of water, what should be done or said?" An apology to the hostess is all required. "I am very sorry to have been so very clumsy," or words to that effect, is sufficient. If there is no maid, take your party folded napkin, lay across the wet spot and leave it there. If there is a maid, let her attend to it.

Receipts are enclosed herewith. Please accept on behalf of the citizens of Summerland and the Girl Guides, our very sincere thanks and appreciation for both these contributions. We also thank you heartily for your interest and efforts in this worthy cause. Yours very truly, A. J. Forsyth, Honorary secretary-treasurer."

In addition to the above sums, nineteen dollars has been collected by the pupils of the public school which has been turned over to the Junior Red Cross for the Japanese children's relief.

THE PRAIRIES' HUGE CROP OF GRAIN

The Winnipeg Free Press, which usually hits the mark fairly accurately in such matters, estimates this season's wheat production in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta at 452,503,169 bushels from 21,662,960 acres, 75,000,000 bushels more than the previous greatest crop. Hon. Mr. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, has predicted the output at more than 400,000,000, while others predict 500,000,000, but with the advantage of a more detailed inspection, the Free Press will probably be found to be not far astray when the final returns have been received. DON'T CUT IT OFF.

White riding on a train recently, William Wrigley, the famous gum manufacturer, was approached by a man who addressed him as follows:

THE CORRECT FORM

This is the way to write a thoroughly angry business letter: "Sir, My typlat, being a lady, cannot take down what I think of you."

Correspondence

LOCAL JAPANESE SHOWS GRATITUDE

Dear sir,—I had been in Summerland Hospital about three weeks, I received so much sympathetic kindness from many people in this town.

I don't know how to express my sincere gratitude for these kindnesses. Whole Japan was shaken, Tokyo, Yokohama, and some other places were destroyed as you know.

Kindness is a great religion; I believe so. Then the victims are getting relief and suffering places are rebuilding, and I got out from the Hospital yesterday afternoon.

If you give me some valuable space of the paper, I would be very happy indeed.

Yours truly, S. TAKACHIO.

"FRUIT GROWER" ANSWERS BACK

Sir,—In answer to the letter in your last issue then I will bid you adieu as I do not think this harping back and forth will help much to attain the end we desire.

The reason I did not publish my name, I wanted to find out the sentiment of the growers who belong to the Co-operation, and knowing if they knew I wrote the letter, it might have a tendency to side in with me.

Mr. Bulman (one of the executive) as he signs himself, wants to know who I mean by "they."

In the last paragraph of Mr. Bulman's letter to Mr. Pratt's impression of our sales manager, if he will refer in The Review after Mr. Pratt's resignation he will find the words to that effect.

Why not tell us the real reason of his resignation instead of writing to us here to claim he was sick when he started work in a very short time again, but probably the air is healthier in California than at Vernon.

Now in answer to Mr. Shepherd's letter. If he will put on his spectacles and read my letter over again he will find my attack was on the officials at Vernon who admit that price cutting was what broke up the old U. G.

He says because we could not get $1.00 a box from the people on the prairie, it makes us sore. I have several letters from people there regarding the price of fruit, one lady says: "Last year we paid $2.05 per box for crabs, this year $1.50 and all other fruit is cheaper."

you have there who don't charge so much commission."

Now, Mr. Shepherd we do not want to hear any thing about California, as we had one man from there and he could not stand our climate, took sick and had to leave (he was sick of the Okanagan).

But say growers how do you like the pooling system (every two weeks, balance season). I am afraid you who live on the higher benches and up the valleys or who cannot get picked in time won't get as much as some of your neighbors.

FRUIT GROWER.

Articles. But this milestone safely crossed, the budding K.C. may "engross" himself in his legal studies. Mr. Elliott strongly advised the Article clerk to serve his time in the office of a solicitor with an all round practice rather than in a very large office.

Mr. Elliott regarded Napoleon's remark to his recruits that each held a Field Marshal's baton in his knapsack as a more or less amiable legal fiction: anyway K-Cships and judgeships are none too plentiful fruit on the legal tree.

A quantity of cull apples, which otherwise would be taken to the dumping ground, are being consigned to Rev. R. J. McIntyre at Vancouver, at his request, for distribution among the children of the Turner Settlement House.

The lecturer gave much more practical advice and remarked somewhat naively that there was a pronounced modern tendency towards simplification of legal processes, especially in the matter of land transfer.

The lecturer, upon the conclusion of his address, was warmly thanked on behalf of the students by Messrs. Leslie Gould and C. M. Laycock.

NARAMATA GUIDES

Thursday, October 4th, was a festive occasion for our troop. In honor of Mrs. Warren, chief Guide Commissioner of Canada, we held a dinner at the Syndica Hotel.

Mrs. Cross, one of the local board, introduced Mrs. Warren, after which the Guides, accompanied by Miss Glaser, sang "O, Canada!"

At the regular meeting Friday evening, Mr. Gammon kindly took up with the Guides the signalling of the Morse code.

Mr. Rayner has been appointed to a school near Calgary, and left on Saturday to take up his new duties.

Mr. Rushbury received a telegram from Vancouver on Friday to the effect that his son was in a serious condition, and left on Saturday morning for the Coast.

The members of the W. A. met at the home of Mrs. Mason on Friday, Mrs. Geo. Weaver presiding.

An addition is being made to the Naramata Supply Store, the contractor being Mr. T. Sealfo.

Prune Market Was Ruined

The working out of this prune deal offers further evidence of the value of having cold storage facilities sufficient to take care of a portion of the crop when it becomes necessary to hold back shipments rather than force them on the markets with the inevitable lowering of prices.

This is by way of encouragement, notwithstanding the unfortunate conditions confronting us this year and the special effort made by the Yakima Fruit Growers Association to unload a large part of their crop on our markets, we will likely find that when the pools are closed that the Associated Growers have sold the crop to better advantage than it was sold last year and if we are successful in obtaining cold storage facilities for the coming year, further improvements can be expected in spite of the fact that we are now producing the total requirements of our markets during our shipping season.

ESTABLISHING CO-OPERATIVE LOCAL COLONY

Prairie Valley Will be Scene of New Venture along Communist Lines.

"Alpha Co-operative Colony" is the proposed name of a new organization, application for incorporation of which has been made at Victoria this week. J. W. S. Logie and some of his associates are interesting themselves in this colony venture, which, we understand, will be conducted along communist lines.

Ten acres of land in Prairie Valley are being purchased from the Summerland Development Co., and on this it is proposed to establish the colony. In addition to carrying on several lines of agriculture, it is proposed that the colony engage in handicrafts. Residences will be built on the property and Mr. Logie is in touch with a woodworker and other artisans who will probably join the colony. W. Simpson, of Summerland and G. W. Weaver, of Penticton, will be two of the first residents on the colony tract.

BUTTER SUBSTITUTES ARE NOW EXCLUDED

Oleomargarine may no longer be imported into Canada, nor is its manufacture in this country permissible. This prohibition came into effect on the first of September, but dealers are given until the end of February, 1924, to dispose of their stock, after which the sale will no longer be legal. The restrictions as to oleomargarine existed in Canada for many years previous to the war. They were removed as a war measure, and their restoration was looked upon by Parliament as being in the best interests of the public.

The product known as renovated butter is also excluded by an amendment to the Dairy Produce Act passed at the 1922-23 session, which likewise shuts out filled milk, filled cream, or filled butter. These articles, which bulk large in the produce trade in the United States, contain fats other than the fat of milk. They have never occupied an important place in Canadian trade and their exclusion will not necessitate any marked readjustment of the dairy produce business.

Deer Lake on which Summerland municipality built a dam for storage, proved this year to be an excellent and valuable reservoir. Enough water was impounded in that lake to maintain for a week the irrigation system fed from Trout Creek.

CONSIDERING INVESTMENT

Town's Water Debentures Net $5,000 and Victory Bonds $664.

By an exchange of securities the municipality has put into its treasury $664, and has extended the investment period of $10,000 of sinking fund monies which are now invested in British Columbia bonds. A block of 1034 Victory Bonds, bearing 5 1/2 per cent. interest was exchanged for provincial bonds, maturing 1943, bearing 5 per cent. interest, the net amount received for the Victory Bonds being $10,664.

The Council have under advisement a proposition to invest monies received from the sale of domestic water debentures and now in a savings account in the bank. In all, something over $5,000 is so held and Coun. Ritchie, chairman of the finance committee, suggests that $4,000 of this be invested in a marketable security, so as to earn a higher rate of interest.

Chairman Kirk of the water committee prepared plans and specifications for a domestic water tank on the Paradise Flat system which were considered by the municipal council on Saturday. This tank is for the purpose of stabilizing the supply and making pumping less frequent. Estimates of the cost will be prepared by Foreman Tomlin and, provided the total does not exceed $60, the committee were authorized to proceed with the work.

GASOLINE TAKES ANOTHER DROP

Local dealers cut the price of gasoline another five cents on Monday and the retail price is now 35 cents. This lower price to the consumers followed a cut of 2 1/2 cents made by the oil companies. This last reduction in the wholesale price is the third to be made recently. They were: 3 cents; 2 cents and 2 1/2 cents, a total of 7 1/2 cents, while the retail price is 9 to 10 cents lower than was quoted before the reductions.

The retail price in Vancouver is now 25 cents and there are many who think that the oil companies should not maintain a price here so much higher than that given at the Coast.

Vancouver reports are that there is still much gasoline being brought in from the American side. This is being retailed at 24 cents.

The Occidental Fruit Co.'s cannery at Kelowna is canning considerable quantities of pumpkins this season. They will also can a quantity of apples.

"TELEGRAPHY AS A CAREER"

The Way of a Wire—Interesting Address by Mr. A. M. Leslie.

Mr. A. M. Leslie, local C.P.R. agent, gave a highly instructive and entertaining address to the High School students last Friday upon "Telegraphy as a Career."

Mr. Leslie had brought with him a transmitter key board and gave a practical exposition of the sending and receiving of messages.

Oddly enough the lecturer appeared to find difficulty enough in writing out the Morse code on the blackboard, but explained that the trained telegraphist relies so entirely upon his ear that the decoding of messages becomes independent of sight.

Mr. Leslie gave some graphic examples of the great responsibility resting upon the telegraphist from the standpoint of the business man whose activities depended largely on accurate market reports over the wire, of the traveller whose safety in train journeys was guaranteed by the fidelity and devotion to duty of the train despatcher, and indeed of all who have occasion these days (and who has not?) to seek the aid of the telegraphist in the promotion of their reasonable interests.

The amazing speed of the electric signal—made clock-timing throughout the great railway systems of the continent quite easy and for practical purposes synchronous. Mr. Leslie showed how the comparison clock operated from McGill University forced all good C.P.R. agents to be on hand at 8:54 a.m. every morning in time to return a signal that the daily important call had been duly registered. Touching upon the matter of the great responsibility borne by train despatchers, Mr. Leslie showed how easily head-on collisions might occur through the smallest laxity in concentrated attention, and modestly explained how he had been instrumental in averting a catastrophe by reminding a despatcher that a certain freight train happened to be on a forgotten siding and was on the point of shunting onto the main track only a minute or two before an express train was due to pass.

Abbreviations used for the information of telegraphists on the C.P.R. system proved very informative—such as "5" meaning "Have you any message for me?"; "8," "I am busy"; "23," "Here is a message from headquarters; everybody copy"; and so on, as likewise, small code words used which save (taken in the mass) a vast amount of time and labor of signalling.

As regards opportunities for beginners to learn and get on, Mr. Leslie stated that great numbers of operators could readily acquire a speed of 18 to 20 words a minute, but only the expert could acquire the necessary 30 to 35. Telegraphists worked under a Union which had done much to improve their status, especially financially. The best positions went by seniority in the service; but it worked very well as usually the busiest centres required the highest speed, hence, though many might be eligible for a post, it usually worked.

A THREE DAYS' CONFERENCE HERE

BROWN HEART IN APPLES

British Government Has Published Report on Their Investigations.

The Food Investigation Board of the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, a British Government branch, has issued a special report upon "brown heart," as it is termed in the Old Country, a disease which has caused hundreds of thousands of pounds loss upon apples shipped to Great Britain from Australia, and is now giving anxious thought to all interested in the Canadian fruit industry. The report includes many photographic reproductions, including some in natural colors, of diseased fruit, and there are highly interesting details of a course of experiments and a fully illustrated account of the ravages of the disease on last year's cargoes. Among the general conclusions, it is stated that brown heart may occur at any stage in the storage life of the fruit. Low temperatures increase susceptibility. Reasons are given for considering internal breakdown to be distinct from brown heart. Brown heart of pears and black heart of potatoes are also dealt with. The price of the report is 4s. 6d., and it may be had from any of the London booksellers dealing in official publications.

Claiming $40 damage, Clarence Adams wrote on behalf of the Adams estate, with reference to a slide which he alleged had been caused by leakage from a flume. Reeve Campbell said there was no doubt that seepage from the system caused the trouble, but suggested that $25 would cover the damage. In this he was supported by others and the clerk was instructed to write offering the estate that sum.

COMMENCING ITS SEASON

Choral Society Arrange for Meeting to Discuss Plans for Season.

Summerland Choral Society will hold its initial meeting of the season on Saturday night in St. Andrew's Hall. The society, which was organized last winter, accomplished much in the few months of its existence under the efficient directorship of G. W. Cope, the conductor.

The "Crucifixion" was given by the society on Good Friday last and was exceedingly well received. No doubt the organization will undertake something of a public nature again this season. The society gives citizens musically inclined an excellent opportunity for training and all who possibly can do so should take advantage of the opportunity. Not only those who were in the chorus last season, but all interested in vocal or instrumental music are invited to attend the meeting next Saturday.

Formal announcement of the organization meeting is given in another column. It is expected that the society will take the choral work at the Armistice Day service.

WILL URGE FOR LOCAL CENTERS FOR MATRIC SUPPS.

At the teachers' convention now sitting at Kelowna, Prin. Lundie is to bring up the question of the desirability of allowing students who have to take Matric, supplementals to sit for their examinations at a local center.

Three of our High School students have already completed their supplementals, and others might have done so, but could not afford the money these hard times to make the necessary trip to Vancouver. Mr. Lundie has already made a strong plea to the Department of Education, explaining that impartial supervision could be guaranteed at local centers, and at a nominal cost. His efforts have hitherto not met with the approval of the Council of Public Instruction. It is hoped, however, that an overture from a local association may meet with better success.

DAMMING OF CANYON CREEK COSTLY JOB

Council Offers to go Fifty-Fifty with Dr. Patterson, who Claims Rights.

Some two or three years ago, Dr. Patterson, owner of a tract of land on the south side of Trout Creek near Faulder, applied to the Department for water rights on Canyon Creek. The Municipality has prior rights on the creek, but has not completed its title, as certain plans and descriptions are necessary, and the municipal council, when notified of the application, entered objection. Later, joint construction of a storage dam on Canyon Creek was proposed and there has been some correspondence with the Department and Dr. Patterson on this phase of the subject. At Saturday's meeting another letter from the Department, which is desirous of disposing of the matter, was received and read. During the discussion it was brought out that the dam proposed for Canyon Creek would cost $30,000, and Coun. Ritchie suggested that Dr. Patterson be written and advised of this cost and that he be asked if he is ready to pay half the amount. Coun. Johnston remarked that he would need to have $100,000 ready to pay for his share of the dam and build-ditches and flumes down to his property. Dr. Patterson will be advised of the engineer's estimate of the dam.

H. Read was given permission to put in a second gasoline tank in front of his garage.

Complaints from R. Clouston and Jas. Fyfe of excessive water in their vicinity causing flooding of roads and other damage, were heard. After some discussion the water committee was requested to visit the properties concerned and investigate.

A taxpayer tendered a cheque post dated October 18th as part payment of the taxes. This was referred to the municipal council by the treasurer, but the cheque and council felt that they could not waive penalty, as taxes were due and payable on the 10th.

A by-law transferring title to the K.V.R. to two small pieces of land included in the railway right-of-way was given preliminary readings. The district lot which originally contained these parcels has since been acquired by the municipality but the sale to the corporation did not include any of the right-of-way. The by-law is for the purpose of straightening this matter out.

H. H. Cress has been appointed assessor and he will prepare the 1924 assessment roll for a fee of $150.

Regular meetings of the municipal council from now on will be held on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month.

Accounts totalling $14,101.29 were passed for payment.

WEALTHIES BRING GOOD PRICES

According to authentic reports ten carloads of Wealthies shipped by the Associated to the Old Country brought the excellent price of $2.50 f.o.b. shipping point. This will to a considerable extent offset the sales made at much lower prices in the States.

"BEATING THE FIRE FIEND"

Successful Young Essayist Receives Certificate and Medal.

At the conclusion of the weekly lecture at the High School last Friday, Mrs. H. A. Solly, school trustee, accompanied by Mr. S. A. MacDonald, principal of the public school, presented Miss Stella Wilson with a silver medal and certificate signed by the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, for her successful essay on fire prevention, won in open competition among the schools of the province last summer.

Mrs. Solly, after congratulating Mr. MacDonald on the success of two of his scholars (Miss Joyce Plant has left for Victoria), read the certificate, which was worded as follows:

"I am sending to you with great pleasure the prize which was awarded to you for your essay on 'Our Forests and Why We Should Protect Them from Fire.' I congratulate you on the excellency of your essay, and I am sure the Public will very much enjoy reading it.

"What we are trying to do is to instill in the mind of everyone in the Province the necessity of protecting the wonderful heritage which we have in our splendid Forests, and I am sure that your sincere and earnest effort will greatly help in this direction. I hope you will continue to do all that you can towards the conservation of our forest resources. Forests have a great effect upon our natural life, and if we are to be a great and strong nation we must protect them.

"I hope that the youth of our country will so fashion their lives that they, like our giant trees, may be sturdy and strong.

Sincerely yours,
T. D. PATTULLO,
Minister of Lands."

Mrs. Solly concluded by stressing the great need for care in all matters connected with fires, and the proceedings ended with hearty cheers for the two successful young students.

ASSOCIATED REDUCES COAST APPLE PRICES

In order to stimulate the sale of apples on the Coast market the price of Jonathans and McIntosh Reds has been dropped by the Associated Growers, Limited, the big co-operative Okanagan concern. Shipping point prices on Jonathans will now be $1.35 as against an opening figure of $1.50, while crated stock will be 85 cents as against a dollar. The action is taken, it is stated, on account of the quotations named by the independents which have been shipping very heavily to this market. An effort is to be made at once to place thirty cars in Vancouver. It is understood that the current drop will not be effected in the prairie market.

SECOND CHILD OF CLARENCE E. CRAIG DIED WEDNESDAY

The angel of death again visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Craig last evening at 10.30, and carried away the soul of their son, Robert Louis, aged two years and six months. The hearts of the people of Summerland go out to the grief-stricken parents in this their hour of affliction. Coming, as it does, so soon upon the death of Hamilton, five years, who died on Wednesday of last week, their cross of sorrow is indeed a hard one to bear. The little one was buried beside his brother at the cemetery today at one o'clock. We understand that the other child, who is also ill, is progressing favorably.

It is impossible to fight for the right without forcing someone to defend the wrong.

VERNON HAS FIRE BUG, IT IS FEARED

That Vernon has a fire bug, is the opinion of many citizens of that town. Fire was discovered recently in the old Hudson's Bay warehouse and investigations showed that a number of pieces of burlap, saturated with coal oil, had been placed just inside the door and set on fire. Only prompt response by the fire department prevented destruction of the building.

Two other fires of unknown origin, one destroying the Coldstream pickers' camp and the other the Long Lake camps confirm the fire bug belief.

YAKIMA PRICES ON WINTER APPLES

Yakima, Wash., Oct. 5.—A decline of 15c a box in the buying price on Jonathan apples has been registered here the past week. At the first of the week dealers were paying $1.15 and $1.25 a box for extra fancy, but at this time only $1.10 and $1.15 a box for extra fancy, 90c for fancy and 60c for C grade is offered with the trade not at all keen to buy at those prices. Picking Jonathans is now in progress in most of the districts of the upper valley and will be general all through the valley the coming week. Delicious are also being picked. Buying prices on this variety have declined about 25c a box and growers are receiving $1.75 a box.

The Jonathan and Delicious crops are coming off the trees much lacking in color hence are running very heavy to C grade. More worms are showing than expected and due to a large percentage of stings the C grade is being swelled until it is often running as high as 50 per cent. However, in the later pickings this will be reduced as the color will be better.

If we all could have the things we wish for, there would still be about the same amount of inequality that there is now.

MONEY COMES FOR APRICOTS

Apricots Put on Market Amid Heavy Foreign Competition.

Despite the many difficulties which confronted the Associated during the apricot season, growers will receive returns which will probably be better than anticipated. The apricot pool has been closed and it is stated that the gross returns are as follows: No. 1, $1.10 per case; No. 2, $0.92 per case; Cannery, 4% cents per pound. This will work out at about 4 cents per pound for orchard run sent to cannery, a little better than 3 cents per pound for No. 1's and over 2 1/2 cents for No. 2's.

Okanagan apricots went on to the market at a time when it was greatly unsettled by the heavy shipments of dumped fruit from Washington State into British Columbia and the prairies. It is expected that the results of the cherry deal will be out at any time now.

GETTING EXHIBITS FOR ENGLAND

Mr. F. R. E. DeHart, of Kelowna, is now in the Croston country in connection with the fruit exhibit he is collecting for the Dominion Government for display at the British Empire Fruit Exhibition to be held in London, England. Last week he took in the Similkameen and Lower Okanagan districts. He is collecting the best samples of fruit procurable and his activities are being widely advertised by the press, the Christian Science Monitor, of Boston, and other daily papers in the States having mentioned this exhibit, which should be one of the features of the great fruit show at the world's metropolises.

APPLE HARVEST WILL SOON BE IN

While there are many yet busy picking apples, not a few have finished gathering their crops. In addition to the apples still on the trees, there are quite a lot stacked in boxes in the orchards. It is estimated that about 75 per cent. of the apple crop has been delivered to the packing houses.

OKANAGAN RIDING ONE OF LARGEST

Decided Gain in Registration of Voters as Compared with 1920.

Vague rumors have been circulating to the effect that, under the scheme of provincial redistribution which Hon. John Oliver is understood to be working out in preparation for the coming session of the Legislature, Penticton will be thrown into South Okanagan Electoral District. In view of the figures recently published, this seems hardly credible, as South Okanagan now stands fifth in voting strength amongst rural constituencies being exceeded only by Comox, Dewdney, Kamloops and North Okanagan, and it is most unlikely that any arbitrary official change in the nature of increasing its electoral population will be made so long as it is so much under-represented in comparison with such constituencies as Greenwood, Grand Forks, Columbia and others possessing barely one-quarter of the number of voters in South Okanagan.

It is a very satisfactory feature that, while registration for the whole province shows a reduction as compared with 1920, there has been the substantial gain in South Okanagan of 401; the respective figures being: 1920, 3,798; 1923, 4,194. There are 195,078 persons in the province now entitled to vote at provincial elections, according to the new lists. Last year there were 171,677, and in 1920 201,854.

Figures announced for other districts include: Alberni, 2,136; Atlin, 1,507; Cariboo, 1,062; Columbia, 1,029; Comox, 4,651; Cowichan, 2,829; Cranbrook, 2,458; Chilliwack, 4,131; Delta, 3,850; Dewdney, 4,218; Esquimalt, 3,010; Fernie, 2,671; Port George, 3,215; Grand Forks, 1,084; Greenwood, 838; Islands, 1,854; Kamloops, 5,245; Kaslo, 1,755; Lillooet, 926; Nanaimo, 4,138; Nelson, 2,255; Newcastle, 2,187; New Westminster, 5,140; North Okanagan, 4,446; Omineca, 1,825; Prince Rupert, 4,158; Revelstoke, 1,874; Rossland, 859; Similkameen, 3,755; Slokan, 1,578; Trail, 3,077; Vancouver, 51,861; Victoria, 18,626; Yale, 2,782.—Kelowna Courier.

It may not be generally known, but Mr. W. C. Kelley, B.A., is a keen Shakespearean scholar. Mr. Kelley has promised to give two lectures to our High School students this term on "The Merchant of Venice" and "Julius Caesar," respectively. These lectures should be keenly appreciated as both these plays form part of the curriculum for the school year.

HUNTER COMING END OF MONTH

Considered Well Qualified for Position of Farm Superintendent.

W. T. Hunter, whose appointment to the position of superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm here was reported by The Review three weeks ago, will take up his duties on November 1st.

"Bill" Hunter, as he is known to nearly every fruit grower throughout the Okanagan, is a most popular government official and his appointment to the more important position is being received with genuine satisfaction throughout the Valley. He is known as a keen student of horticultural problems and has been most helpful whenever growers have had individual matters that gave them some concern.

Mr. Hunter has a knowledge of Okanagan agricultural conditions possessed by few in the Valley. He is conversant with the cultural problems, as well as the marketing and economic questions, that are from time to time making life interesting for Valley growers.

Mr. Hunter is a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College who has specialized in horticulture. No successor to Mr. Hunter has yet been named, but it is expected that W. H. Roberson, provincial horticulturist will very soon announce who is to be in charge of the Vernon office.

WILLINGNESS TO TAKE ADVICE IS SOMETIMES BEING GREATER THAN HE WHO GIVES IT

VALUE OF STORAGE.

If we are to obtain the best possible prices for our later varieties of apples the Okanagan must equip itself with frost-proof buildings so that the apples may be held in the original orchard box and packed and shipped as the market demands.

Every year this need is emphasized by the Markets Bulletin and other market reports. The crowding of the market in the endeavor to clear up here as quickly as possible increases competition, gives the buyer the advantage and by requiring him to pay out a large amount for freight in addition to the cost of the fruit itself, discourages the market.

Mr. J. A. Grant, B. C. markets commissioner, again points out in his bulletin the necessity for storage when he states that there is nothing so upsetting to the market as an apparent over-supply and that storage must be used for a large proportion of the apples and the packing less rushed and more extended in season with a view to feeding the market in a more balanced way.

Summerland, perhaps in a larger measure than any other section, has provided storage facilities. In fact, it would seem that the Association is taking full advantage of the existence of the storage building by trying to keep cleaned up at other points not so equipped and leaving Summerland apples in storage. Summerland Co-operative, in providing this storage, greatly assists the Associated, which, if it has not already made provision to do so, should contribute toward the cost of storing the Summerland portion of the several pools.

LARGER APPLE MARKET.

Equalization of freight rate to give British Columbia the same transportation costs as the east will give industry and commerce in this Province a great impetus. Even the small gain of a ten per cent. cut in rates on wheat, which has been granted, may mean much even to this part of British Columbia. Apart from the fact that any change increasing the population and prosperity of the Coast, thus enlarging the markets of the interior, there is the other and perhaps more important phase of increased shipping out of Vancouver.

Reduced wheat rates mean increased tonnage of this commodity seeking transportation by water from Vancouver and more wheat ships will mean demand for other freights. There will also result direct steamship connection with many ports now available to Okanagan apples only through indirect channels. In other words, more westward bound wheat means a larger and wider market for our apples.

TO REFRESH YOUR MEMORY.

How would you like to journey to the nearest city for a pound of sugar, or a yard of muslin or a spool of thread, or a smoke? And how would you like to make a trip when you need a prescription filled in a hurry, with death running you a race? You would make some noise if forced to such an extremity—and then more noise. You would say—and justly so—that a town in which you can not buy a pound of sugar, or a yard of muslin, or a spool of thread, or a smoke or even get a prescription filled, is a mighty poor excuse for a town, and not worth living in. Yet our merchants can only afford to keep these things for your conveniences as long as you buy other things from them. It is not doing this town any good to buy the little things here and then chase off to a city or send to a catalogue house when you want something on which the merchant has a chance to make a dollar. Neither is it doing you any good, for the prosperity of each citizen is dependent to a large extent upon the prosperity of the community as a whole. We are not telling you something you do not know. We are simply refreshing your memory in hopes the time may come when our people will conclude that a town that is worth living in is worth trading in.

That's all.

There are those who continue to harp that women can never learn politics and will never know how to vote intelligently. We're willing to wager a few annual subscriptions to this great family journal that they will learn one and know the other just as soon as the men will.

A metropolitan paper says that a scientist states that when people kiss they should use a strainer to prevent contagion.

We would suggest that a judicious use of chloride of lime when osculating might prove an excellent means of sanitation.

MARRIAGE A FORM OF SLAVERY?

Mrs. O. H. Belmont, of Newport, has been vaporizing again. She thinks marriage may be a failure and that it is close to slavery. She has tried it twice, picking riches and gilt each time, and, of a consequence, hasn't learned much worth while.

Whether one be married or single, one cannot escape slavery except by becoming an idling parasite such as Mrs. Belmont's "set" knows so well. If one works in this world—works conscientiously for a living or the betterment of self and home and community—one is a slave. That is true of wife as well as husband, husband as well as wife. Edison, great inventor, is an abject slave to the genius that possesses him. So is Steinmetz. So is Henry Ford. So are thousands of others whom we mistakenly call free. But the world wouldn't be worth much and there would be no progress without such slavery. Production, progress, active moving life, all are slavery, and it must be so for the good and uplift of the world.

The married man, if he be honest in heart and purpose, is a slave to his work and family. The wife, also honest, is slave to her home, her husband, her children, the last most of all. Neither is made so by written law, vow or barter, but because it is human nature at the highest and best. Because it is father-devotion and mother-love, the sweetest, clearest, gladdest human elements in a peopled world.

Marriage a failure? Fiddlesticks! But many of those who enter into it are.—Kitsilano Times.

RAPPING THE RETAILER.

One of the easiest things in the world to do is to criticize. It is the most popular form of amusement with some people, and we're forced to admit we've several citizens addicted to the habit. At present they're directing their criticism to the retail merchant.

Maybe the merchant doesn't deserve all the mean things said about him. Probably, in his case, as in most other cases of violent criticism, a better understanding of his position would soften the judgment of the party doing the criticizing. At any rate, the merchants we know personally are average good fellows—and they declare that they are being made the particular goats of this fault-finding.

But, even at that, we suggest that they be more frank with the public. If their profits are not great, as they say, they might try quoting a few more prices in their advertising, that the public could see, and compare them with those quoted by merchants in other towns. Nothing could silence the critic more quickly than to read each week a list of prices of commodities offered for sale by his home merchant. He has a fair idea of what they cost, so he could do his own figuring. He would then have no come-back. It simply would mean that the critic would have the ground cut from beneath him, and he would have no foundation upon which to base an argument.

Merchants in many towns have broken up criticism through newspaper advertising—through quoting prices right out where everybody could see them. We invite the home merchant to apply the same remedy.—Exchange.

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

The West Summerland Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting on Friday afternoon. Unfortunately the attendance was very small, this being a very busy season. After the regular business and reports of committees, plans were discussed for the conference which will be held here on October 23, 24 and 25th.

Mr. W. C. Kelley gave a most interesting address on "The Functions of the Board of Trade," which was most appreciated by those present, and at the close a hearty vote of thanks was moved unanimously.—Cont.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute held last Friday much interest was shown concerning the conference of the Okanagan-North Thompson district Women's Institutes, to be held here October 23rd, 24th and 25th.

Mrs. G. H. Inglis gave an interesting demonstration of dressmaking, showing how to cut and make a two-piece skirt, with the proper placket finish, and also demonstrated the intricate shirt-waist cuff making.

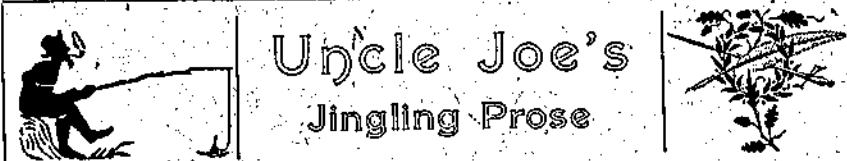

A sale of home cooking was arranged to be held on Saturday of this week, particulars of which are given in another column.

There's no such word as "dassent" in his whole curriculum,—I figure out that if there were he'd soon be on the bum. For him there are no words like those in all his category; he's happy in his single bliss and all is hunky-dory. Good meaning folk will oft remark he "Mustn't," "can't," and "daren't," but what will Merrie England do without an Heir Apparent? They want to choose a Dame for him, according to tradition, I'll bet he'll pick a Jane himself right of his own volition: Maybe a sweet Canadian girl, Oh, boy, won't that be rich? WASHINGTON GROWERS FAVOR OIL WRAPS

The Yakima Valley will this year use 175 cars of fruit wraps or approximately 7,000,000 pounds, according to the most recent estimates. This means an expenditure of $750,000 for wrapping paper alone. Ordinary wraps will cost the grower 10c a pound and oiled wraps 13 and 14c a pound. The percentage of oiled wraps to be used this season is estimated at 50 to 60 per cent. The use of such a large percentage of oiled wraps is a radical departure from methods of apple packing in the past, but the value of oiled wraps has been fully demonstrated and the shippers are won over to the idea.

Kootenay power will not now be extended to Vernon. The power company is not very desirous of making any further capital expenditures at this time and the city of Vernon believes it will be advisable to repair the wrecked machinery.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly bright, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot, Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. THE PEDLAR'S PACK

By AUTOLYCUS

"A Snapper Up of Unconsidered Trifles."

The Winter's Tale, Scene II, Act IV.

Of all pedlars, the Autolycus of Shakespeare THE PACK was the prototype — his pack was a treasure house of commodities which few could resist. He had "ribands of all the colours of the rainbow," "lawn as white as the driven snow," brooches, table books, knives, tapes, gloves, shoe ties, bracelets, and all manner of trinkets. Above all, he carried "songs for man or woman," and being an irrepressible warbler, he uttered them as though he had eaten ballads. Withal, he was not above picking a pocket, and doubtless measured in the breadth of his thumb when cutting off a yard of cambric. Though not naturally honest, he was sometimes so by chance: he had an open ear, a quick eye and a nimble hand, and, like his father before him, was an inveterate snapper up of unconsidered trifles. This merry rogue with the classical name and the inexhaustible pack, was ever welcome wherever he went, and sung himself into the hearts of all he encountered. Whether he discoursed "doleful matter merrily set down, or a very pleasant thing indeed and sung lamentably," 'twas all one—the singer and his pack were gladly received, and "all men's ears grew to his tunes."

The pedlar of those days is now only a memory, but the materials for his pack are always at hand. His wares are ever being reproduced by the whirligig of time, and never lose their freshness, however old they be. Let me draw your attention to various trifles from week to week.

THAT CRABAPPLE round, we are greeted with the old, familiar JOKE wail of the newspaper correspondent who writes with indignation in his pen about the criminal waste of fruit, vegetables or what not, which is annually perpetrated by the ignorant and extremely reprehensible producer. This year I notice that the first shot is fired by a correspondent of the Vancouver "Daily Province," who points with horror to an alleged wholesale dumping of crabapples in the depths of the Okanagan Lake, while thousands of fruitless people are in the last throes of despair for want of just that sort of pomological nourishment. The same writer also notes that, at the same time that this outrage is being carried out by water, on land the perverse grower absolutely refuses to gather his crop at all, because prices are too low! Taken all in all it is evident that the British Columbia orchardist is a most abandoned villain, and deserves the severest condemnation of all right-minded persons. The trifling fact is overlooked that the succulent crabapple requires very nearly its own weight in sugar to bring forth its coy and bashful qualities, and that people who cannot afford to pay eighty cents or thereabouts for twenty pounds of this produce, would hardly be in a position to buy a like amount of sugar at today's prices, and might find the fruit an embarrassing gift. In the matter of crops reported ungathered (which, by the way, is not so), our indignant correspondent seems to infer that the grower, being unable to find a market for his produce, should straightway pick, pack and ship, free of charge to all and sundry, the harvest of his year's work, and thus very thoroughly and effectually smash what little life remains in an overloaded market! It is all very funny, and seems to indicate either a profound imbecility on the part of the grower, or an equally profound ignorance of conditions on the part of the city correspondent, with an overwhelming vote in favor of the second proposition.

AN UNFOR- It is a matter of record that, soon after the United States entered the war against Germany, many there were printed and issued to an OVERSIGHT miring public, postcards shewing a detachment of American airmen standing beside certain aeroplanes which purported to be of native production, the real fact being that not a single American machine had at that time been turned out, and that those depicted had been borrowed from France and England. A similar oversight seems to have occurred in the matter of the "Leviathan" picture recently shewn outside a certain theatre in Vancouver for the purpose of advertising the band of that vessel, then playing within. The "Leviathan," having been wrongly described as the largest and swiftest liner in the world, was represented by a photograph of the "Mauretania," having the correct name removed, and the false title inserted. The unfortunate part of the matter was promptly pointed out by one J. S. Edwards, who remarked that whereas the "Leviathan" was well known to have three funnels only, the pictured vessel shewed four, which actually belonged to the "Mauretania"!

I see that the city of Vancouver is trying hard FAME to accumulate a fund of $100,000 with which to blazon forth to an admiring world the varied beauties and attractions of that place and its surroundings. No doubt the general idea is good, although publicity drives of the kind do not commend themselves very cordially to many of us. That the promoters of this particular effort find a good deal of apathy toward their scheme is evident, since the required amount has not yet been reached. However, that is incidental. The feature which strikes me in the matter is the state of mind which accepts as legitimate advertising an incident which was reported from Los Angeles as a good "stunt" and valuable to the chief city of a Canadian province. A Vancouver motorist, passing through the home of the moving picture industry, persuaded a certain "star," commonly known as Doug, to sit astride of the engine of his car, and be photographed in that position. This incident was hailed as a valuable advertisement for Vancouver, and written up as an episode adding lustre to its fame! Well, some people are easily satisfied.

Fame is an elusive sprite, and sometimes hides herself from the eyes of those who dwell closest to her. It is said that Thomas Hardy, the greatest living English novelist today, is by no means famous in his own locality, and it is probable that R. D. Blackmore was far more esteemed by his neighbors as a good market gardener than as the author of "Lorna Doone." Tennyson was known locally as a queer sort of man with a long beard, and much given to smoking, and Rider Haggard, in the days when "She" was on the lips of thousands of eager readers, was comparatively unknown in his Norfolk home. Occasionally, however, conditions are curiously reversed, as witness the case of one who is well known as the promoter of more than one settlement in the Okanagan Valley. The story, which is perfectly true, has it that a lady in Summerland, who some years ago gave preliminary tuition to the neighbors' children, was one day telling of the institution of the Domesday Book of William the Conqueror, and at the close of the lesson sought to confirm the juvenile memory. "Now," said she, "who was it that caused a survey of all the land to be made?" and was moved to incontinent laughter by the reply, "Please, teacher, J. M. Robinson."

AUTOLYCUS.

WHY WORN TIRES ARE DANGEROUS

Statistics gathered from varied and reliable sources, indicate that a considerable number of serious accidents are occasioned by reason of defective and worn-out tires. This is particularly true with regard to old casings on the front wheels when the vehicle is travelling at a considerable rate of speed.

Most motorists are not aware of the danger from blow-outs that follow the use of worn-out or unreliable tires, but it is an established fact that cars travelling at a speed of 40 miles or more place unusual strain on all four tires, and if the front tires blow out at this speed a dangerous crash is inevitable. You can generally slow up in time to avoid a turnover if only the rear tires blow out, but if at a high speed front tires blow out it is decidedly dangerous.

The motor car owner who feels that he must skimp on his tire equipment should do his skimping on the rear tires and not the front ones. While it is observed that the greatest wear comes on the rear tires, the greatest danger from blow-outs is from the tires on the front wheels.

Specialists have examined a considerable number of blown-out casings and have arrived at the conclusion that in practically every instance the front tire blow-outs are occasioned by either worn-out or inferior casings.

The Value of a Newspaper To a Town

Few people in the average town appreciate the value of a newspaper to a town. Like flowers, they are appreciated most by those who do not have them. Like mothers, they are wanted most when they are gone.

Most people look on a newspaper as the business of a single individual. If it thrives, that is the owner's or editor's business. If it fails, that is also the owner's or editor's business. As a matter of fact, the success or failure of a paper is a matter of grave concern to an entire town.

If it were not for our newspapers, rumor and gossip would run riot over the world. Everyone knows how a simple question asked by someone often is made a statement by another, how that statement is distorted by a second or enlarged by a third, and how it sometimes goes on and on until people do not know what to believe. Sometimes such a story gets so big that the only way it can be stopped is by someone coming out in the paper and stating the precise truth. Such conditions we should have constantly if it were not for our newspapers.

Newspapers, too, are the best advertisement a community has in the outside world. Other places judge a town by the kind of newspaper it has. If it is supported well, given the news and the advertising patronage it ought to have, it thrives and is able to present an appearance of prosperity for the town to the outside world. If it does not thrive, outsiders are inclined to look on the town as undesirable to live in, and so move on to other towns.

Newspapers are also our chief source of information. Most of our reading matter after we leave school comes from the papers. What we know about present day problems, comes from the papers. Thomas Jefferson once said that if he had to have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, he would take the newspapers, because through them he felt the state could be run with at least fair success.

If some of us appreciated more fully the value of our newspapers, we would make greater effort to see that they get the news and advertising and so become successful. Modern society cannot get along without newspapers any more than it can without schools and churches.

At a meeting of Vernon Fruit Union directors held last week, strict enforcement of the contract was decided upon. If any infringements of the contract signed last spring are made, the grower will have to suffer the consequences.

During the week ending October 6th, Kelowna shipped 174 cars of fruit and vegetables, as compared with 121 for the same week last year. This was made up by 100 cars of fruit, 39 cars of mixed fruit and vegetables and 35 straight vegetables.

"Just another line to tell you a little more about my London trip. I forgot to mention in my last that I called at the Canadian Government offices in the city, and put down my name, so it would be put in the local paper of the district one came from, I suppose. This one was the British Columbia office—one part of the Canadian office—one section for each province, or most of them. It is a beautiful building, all white marble floors and staircases, with moose, elk, and deer heads on the walls, also wild sheep and goats beautifully mounted. Then there are displayed all the Okanagan fruits, preserved: great peaches, plums, cherries, also apples, McIntosh Red in particular. They have also fine libraries and reading rooms which people from B. C. are privileged to use as a club. All the papers of the province, too, can be seen here, Kelowna, Vernon, Summerland, etc., as well as Vancouver. The clerk said he wondered what had happened to the Pentiction paper, as they had not received it for some time.

"He praised the Okanagan fruit and said that nothing came up to it at the London Exhibition last year. As he said, it was just like wax, the people in London had never seen such fruit and he specially mentioned the McIntosh Reds. They said they had such a wonderful flavor. He said he wondered what I must think of the miserable specimens of fruit this year in England after living out there. It surely is different. The fruit crop here is an utter failure this year and the miserable stuff is so dear, too." After spending the summer and fall in Saskatchewan, Robert Wil-iams returned home Monday evening. He says the prairie was quite a change to him after his years spent in the mountains. He began to feel the cold before he left there.

NARAMATA NEWS

Current Events of Town and District

Much sympathy is felt with the Rushbury family in the loss of son Henry, who died in Vancouver hospital on Thursday evening, after an illness extending over several months. Mr. Rushbury had been telegraphed for the week previous, and was present with Mrs. Rushbury when the end came. Misses Mary and Nessie Rushbury left on Saturday morning for the funeral, which took place on Monday. The deceased was twenty-one years of age, and was the only son.

Word was received here from Mrs. Stokes, who lately resided in Naramata, and is now in New Westminster with Mr. Stokes and family, that their daughter Mona fell and broke a leg in two places, but is recovering nicely.

Bert Partridge has purchased the two and half acres adjoining the Davies property and formerly owned by the late Ernest Seavers. Mr. and Mrs. Lambie and son motored up from Pentiction on Wednesday.

Mrs. S. F. Sharpe, of Summerland, with daughter Pearl, stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Simesy a few days last week, returning home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyons and family, of Pentiction, motored up on Sunday on a visit to the J. C. Lyons home.

Mrs. Allen spent the week end with the Rev. and Mrs. Armitage of Summerland, returning on Monday morning.

Gerald Williams is under the weather with a bad cold, and is taking a day or two's rest.

A. J. Patterson suffered a severe strain on Saturday, and is laid up for a couple of days.

Mrs. Steele is staying at Naramata for a few days on her way to Vancouver.

HINTS ON CLEANING YOUR AUTOMOBILE

"Dissolve a little good automobile soap in a pail of water so as to make a soapy solution. Have a soft carriage sponge ready. Start with the right hand front wheel and the under side of the fender and that part of the chassis nearby. Let the water flow from the hose. Go over the wheels, etc., first with water from a hose. Most of the mud will come off. There may be road oil or machine oil, which requires soap. In that case put some of the soapy water on these parts, sopping it freely. "After that has been done start right in with a hose and sponge and wash off. Don't let the soapy water stand more than five minutes on the varnish. Now wash off thoroughly with clean water because all of the mud and grease should have come off by this time. Leave it alone to dry. That completes the right-hand front part of the chassis, and the same work should be done on the three other wheels and adjacent parts. That completes the work on the chassis.

"Take another clean sponge and with the water still flowing gently from the hose start at the left-hand front of the body and flow all the dust off. There will be no need for soap because machine oil or road oil is never spattered on the body. After flowing the water on, then go over the entire body again with a hose and a wet sponge and wash it. Go entirely around the car, including the top of the fender to the left side, but don't wet the hood, it may still be warm.

"Now all the dirt has been flowed off and the sponge should be squeezed as dry as possible and all the water remaining on mouldings or in crevices should be picked up. Wet the chamois thoroughly, and squeeze it as dry as possible. Then wipe off all the water on the body. This will get perfectly dry.

"After all that is done, wash the hood and the top of the radiator. There may be some spatters of machine oil on the hood and if there are use a little soap locally, washing it off soon after it is put on. In any case, don't let the water stand more than five minutes on the hood because it has become heated by the engine and the lustre will be damaged.

NARAMATA SCOUTS

Friday, October 12th.—There was a fairly good attendance on Friday. The Scouts decided they were entitled to a holiday, so they played scout games and Indian wrestling. Next week we hope to do some outside scouting.

NARAMATA GUIDES

Instead of the usual Friday evening meeting the younger Guides attended the meeting in the afternoon. Miss McKay took charge and signalling was practised for an hour. The Rangers' meeting took place in the evening. Working for the signaller's badge was also their work.

BANKS DON'T FAIL IN CHINA

In China, when a bank fails they behead the banker. Only one bank has failed in China in 400 years. They punish a profiteer by making him stand in front of his place of business, ringing a bell and holding a banner that advertises his crime.—Vancouver Daily World.

QUALITY OF FRUIT GOOD

R. R. Scott, of the Scott Fruit company, Winnipeg, states that this year fruit is moving more freely in Saskatchewan and Alberta than was the case last year. In Manitoba buying power appears somewhat curtailed. The general supply of fruit to the Winnipeg market through the season has been excellent in quality, leaving nothing to be desired.

ed out that the best operator offering got it.

Naturally the telegraphist's avocation demands qualities of quickness, sobriety, and responsibility in a marked degree, and only earnest-minded lads should pursue it for a life's work. But given these prerequisites, Mr. Leslie felt that the profession offered plenty of scope for ambitious young fellows.

The lecturer was loudly applauded as Mr. Arthur Morgan, on behalf of the students, thanked him for his able effort.

CANNOT CHANGE TAX DUE DATE

That it is not within the legal power of the municipal council to change the date on which taxes are due and payable once having fixed the date, is the statement of the municipal clerk, F. J. Nixon, who has been in correspondence with the municipal inspector on the subject. Other municipalities fix the tax due date at different times of the year, some much earlier and a few somewhat later.

Correspondence

MRS. FOSEBERY ANSWERS BULMAN

West Summerland, B.C., October 14, 1923.

To the Editor, Summerland Review. Dear Sir,

Will you allow me to correct a seeming misapprehension? In your last issue you state above two letters sent you by the Associated Growers in defense of their method of advertising our apples with the Canadian Women's Press Club of Vancouver, that information given you in that connection was wrong.

I said that apples for the conference room presentation were practically promised; you reported "promised." My news letter in the Vernon News to which Mr. Bulman also takes exception, reading into it something which is not there, is also absolutely correct.

"Practically promised" means just this: Knowing the way of conferences, I realized that a gift of fruit in the conference room, their very own to help themselves from at the end of a long dry session or while waiting for another to begin, would remain in the memories of members much longer than the ornamental dishes adorning tables at social functions, drawn to their attention at the end of a satisfying menu.

I interviewed Mr. Basil Stewart, telling him my plan to really put us on the map with the Press Women of Canada, and gave him complete written instructions regarding the packing and shipping of the fruit. I requested it sent to the Club, care of the Hotel Vancouver, and told him that I would get down early and personally unwrap and display the fruit and see that it received due attention.

He apparently approved of the plan and said he would draw it to the attention of Mr. Bulman, who was in charge of the advertising. There his responsibility ended, and my remarks made or to be made in this connection do not apply to Mr. Stewart.

As no negative was received from Mr. Bulman, I naturally presumed that the apples would be awaiting me in Vancouver, and did not solicit them elsewhere; but they were not there. Even though my request had been ignored and there had not been sufficient grace (which, after all, only means manners) on the part of the advertising executive to advise me regarding his intentions, I went out to buy Associated Macs to round out the presentation which looked to an experienced eye rather slim without apples, but could not get any suitable ones in the vicinity of the Vancouver Hotel under $2.50 a box, and that an emaciated purse would not allow.

The apples on the tables at luncheons and dinners given in honor of the Press Club, received but passing notice from women satisfied with delicious food, interested in the garments of their neighbors, and anxious for the programme of music or dances to follow; while our fruit in the conference room was eaten with delighted appreciation, and many turned away disappointed from the empty boxes, to my everlasting shame.

The fact is that the advertising manager of the Associated Growers does not know good advertising when it walks up and shakes hands with him, and he does most bitterly resent having it pointed out to the public.

So far as his "regret that there is not more desire on the part of those who should be boosting the Associated Growers to give them credit where credit is due" (see Vernon News) is concerned, in spite of his near-sightedness, he might be able to see that a desire to boost the Associated Growers was responsible for a request for their apples, and for the intention to buy their apples regardless of his casual treatment. No doubt Mr. Rowcliffe would have accommodated with some of those famous cheap Macs had he been given the opportunity.

Mr. Bulman also seems to forget—and he is not singular in this respect—that in the years when many of us were among the poverty stricken faithful, sitting at the right hand of the luxurious, halo-encircled Lowe, he was one of those "traitorous Judases," (refer to the speeches of hysterical campaigners) and independent, making enough money to allow him the luxury of co-operation which he now enjoys. Turn about is fair play, and perhaps our time will come again, but for the present may we be allowed the opinion that we are of more value to our community managing our own affairs properly than having them hideously bungled for us by someone else?

Many thanks for your valuable space. An apology is necessary for the too frequent use of the personal pronoun.

Yours very truly, LILY FOSEBERY.

EXHIBIT FOR OLD COUNTRY ABOUT READY

Shipment for Empire Exhibition Goes Forward Early In December.

Much good publicity for British Columbia, and the Okanagan Valley in particular, should result from the Dominion Government's quota of fruit to the Empire Exhibition, which will shortly open in London, Eng.

Mr. P. deHart, who since 1909 has received various commissions for assembling fruit displays for world fairs etc., is again in charge for this occasion and to our representative he spoke in glowing terms of the exceptionally fine array of fruit he has been able to secure throughout the Valley, Grand Forks and West Kootenay districts.

It is now known that Ontario is shipping some 500 boxes of apples and pears, while for British Columbia no less than 700 boxes will be on display at the exhibition in London.

It will be gratifying news to learn that Mr. deHart has been selected to take charge of the display in the Old Country. His contagious optimism, together with his first-hand knowledge of the vast potentialities of British Columbia should be of lasting benefit.

Mr. A. W. Despard of St. Catharines, Ontario, has once more been assigned the task of displaying the Dominion exhibit but it is feared that, owing to protracted ill health, he will have to relinquish that task which will automatically fall upon the shoulders of the Okanagan representative.

Mr. deHart has not yet completed his shipment, but just as fast as a selection is made, the boxes are placed in storage and properly packed in cartons. The government supply the boxes and allow the grower $1.50 per box for his fruit. To date the number of boxes from each district is shown hereunder.

The Creston district supplies no less than 118 boxes, this being explained by the fact that all the territory in the Creston Valley comes under the head of the Creston district.

Grand Forks, 20; Creston, 118; Naramata, 27; Nelson, 16; Oyama, 20; Peachland, 16; Penticton, 20; Summerland, 27; Salmon Arm, 10; Vernon, 53; Winfield, 17. The Kelowna and Westbank exhibit is being made up this week.

FINEST SWEET POTATOES SEEN

Peachland Product is Surprise to Experts—Other Peachland News.

H. H. Thompson, of Peachland, is meeting with continued success in his venture in growing sweet potatoes, which is now well beyond the experimental stage. At the request of the Department of Agriculture Mr. Thompson sent a box of sweet potatoes to Victoria and a few days ago received the following acknowledgment:

"H. H. Thompson, Esq., Inkevilow Fruit Ranch, Peachland, B. C. Dear Sir—Your favor of the 18th Inst. was received in the office a few days ago. As you are aware, Mr. Robertson is at present time in the Okanagan district. I may say, however, that the sweet potatoes arrived in excellent condition and Mr. Thornton, who is preparing the specimens for exhibition purposes, stated that they were the finest sweet potatoes he had ever seen.

Yours very truly, E. W. White, District Horticulturist. Mr. W. H. Robertson, of Victoria, B. C. Provincial Horticulturist, was a recent visitor in Peachland, calling (Continued on Page 4)

SUGGESTS STORING APPLES IN ENGLAND

The B. C. Products Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade has shown considerable interest in the proposition of sending boxes of Okanagan apples to England as Christmas presents and has suggested to the Associated that a quantity of apples be shipped to England and placed in storage there, with a view to extending the time during which persons in this country can arrange to make gifts of this nature to their Old-Country friends and relatives.

If the fruit is stored on the other side of the water it is pointed out in a letter forwarded by the bureau to the Associated headquarters at Vernon, addressed labels can be sent over later, allowing considerably more time than is the case at present when the boxed fruit has to be shipped direct.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE WAS APPRECIATED

John Kyle, A.A.C.A., Regaled Art League with Discourse on Art Pottery.

The splendid illustrated talk on art as applied to pottery which Mr. John Kyle, A.A.C.A., gave to members of the Arts and Crafts League on Saturday evening last, was worthy of a far larger attendance, and our local art lovers who were not privileged to hear Mr. Kyle missed a rare treat. But the paucity of attendance was in some measure compensated by the undisguised appreciation voiced by the small company of enthusiasts who found Mr. Kyle's remarks and crayon illustrations all too short on that evening.

That handicraft work has come to Summerland to stay and expand, and especially work in pottery, is a palpable fact. We now have a practical course of instruction actually in being in the night school, and in addition to that, the engrossing influence of such as Jack Logie, who introduced the lecturer.

Discussing the making of art pottery, Mr. Kyle maintained that success depended upon shape, color, and design, in that order. "Only nice things take the market," said Mr. Kyle, who was eminently practical throughout. "Some of the things produced in the trade are a horror to me. I told a man in the wooden toy trade he was facing ruin, and despite his present orders, he would get no repeats owing to crudity of design and finish." Ugliness, according to Mr. Kyle, is more or less inseparable from machine made goods. Coming to actual pottery design such as our craftsmen hope to produce here, Mr. Kyle emphasized the importance of contour, mentioning the oval shape as being superior to either round or elliptical. He deprecated a mathematical division in any ornament: "Don't divide equally" was the lecturer's advice, "the proportions which are subtle are the most artistic. Ruskin went right to nature to prove this."

Mr. Kyle, while busily illustrating his points with colored crayons, busily yet beautifully tracing out quite exquisite vase designs, maintained a series of pungent epigrams of an educational character, such as: "Flowers are not art, they are merely decoration." "Remember Emerson's definition of art—'nature passed through the mind of man.'" "Art is harmony." "The naturalistic idea is at the bottom of the scale; the conventional at the top," and many other bono mots apposite to the lecturer's swiftly-moving pictures in crayon.

Discussing mouldings, Mr. Kyle proved both erudite and fascinating. He illustrated the beautiful controlling lines in Grecian architecture and showed how the Romans spoiled theirs by over-decoration, which, by the way, is a tendency of the present time. This led Mr. Kyle to make a plea for simplicity in home decoration, instancing the Japanese, who, despite the simplicity of their furnishings, had decorated harmony, and even had special ones for the varying seasons, with everything to match. Touching on color schemes in pottery, Mr. Kyle stressed the necessity of impregnating all the colors with one predominating tone. He instanced Whistler, who made up a

Urges Shipment of 100,000 Cases to Manchester As Test

Representative of Manchester Consignments, Ltd., Says Firm Has Machinery for Distribution to Twenty Million Consumers in Great Britain—Arrangements Already Made for Direct Steamship Service between Vancouver and Manchester—Advices Associated to Have Own Selling Agency in England—Advocates Larger Apples for English Housewives and Explodes Theory of Demand for Small Sizes—England Will Give Preference to Canadian Apples, but Americans Are Keener Shippers of Fruit.

The idea that the British market will not consume other than the small sizes of apples is ridiculous, according to statements made by Charles A. Harrison, manager of the Manchester Consignments, Ltd., Manchester, England, who visited the Okanagan last week. Mr. Harrison outlined a concrete plan for increasing the export of British Columbia apples to England and showed clearly the benefit of shipping the fruit to Manchester.

Mr. Harrison came to the Okanagan for the purpose of ascertaining first hand the conditions of the fruit industry here and spent three days in consultation with the directors of the Associated Growers of B. C., Ltd., at Vernon. He was accompanied by William Astley, his firm's Vancouver agent.

The Manchester Consignments, Ltd., is one of the large Trafford Park interests concerned with the development of the port of Manchester and has machinery for distribution to twenty million consumers in Great Britain. For some years his firm has been concentrating on Australian and New Zealand trade, but now Canada is to receive a share of its attention.

Mr. Harrison's visit to British Columbia is a direct result of a visit to England last year of a delegation from the Vancouver Board of Trade, which was successful in interesting him in the possibilities of trade between Manchester and Vancouver. Arrangements have already been made to put on a direct steamship service between those two ports.

In explaining the situation on the English market from his viewpoint, Mr. Harrison said he considered the wrong system was being followed at present by the Okanagan fruit industry. One of the most essential points was to get the fruit out of the crowd. To do this it is necessary to back up the individual label with well graded produce so that the goodwill of the O.K. brand will be established, and he also advised that the growers have their own selling

FREE TRAINING FOR SINGERS

Choral Society Offers Fine Opportunity for All Local Talent.

Summerland Choral Society held its first meeting of the season in St. Andrew's Hall last Saturday evening when officers were appointed and place and time of meeting arranged. The officers elected were G. W. Cope, director and chairman; J. C. Barkwill, secretary-treasurer. A working committee will be appointed at the next meeting. Handel's Messiah was decided on as the main work for study. Some secular choruses for male voices and glee, etc., for mixed voices will be prepared to be given at two concerts later in the season. Mr. Cope, the conductor, proposes to hold a class in instruction from 7.30 to 8 each practice night for those who do not read music in both old and tonic sol-fa notations. This will permit anyone with a fair voice to join. Members will be required to provide their own music as there will be no fees.

agency in England, instead of leaving their produce to be handled by dealers. This would not necessarily have to be a large organization but it should be efficient.

This question of a selling organization he considered an important one. Generally, he said, attention was paid by farmers' organizations to putting up produce in nice packages; but when it arrived on the English market it was manipulated and lost its identity. Auctioning produce, he said, is not marketing it. Apples might as well be sent to England in barrels or any other way instead of boxes, while it is handled under present conditions there. Large shipments of apples arrive on the English markets and are auctioned off, the market being glutted for the time being. He had been asked if the auctioneers were honest men. They were, but their business was to sell the produce and get their commission.

The small apple, such as is being sent from the Okanagan at present, Mr. Harrison contended, only fills the demand of 10 per cent. of the trade. He had been shown the kind of apples which it was stated the English markets would not take and he considered it a ridiculous idea. He knew from personal experience that the larger apples were wanted there. The power which controlled the English market, he said, is the woman who goes to the fruit stores to purchase two or three pounds of apples. She does not want the small dessert apple, if she can buy the larger size.

His firm, Mr. Harrison stated with emphasis, did not wish to become agents for the Associated. It was not a trading firm. It receives and distributes produce, or stores it under instructions from the shippers. By consigning produce to his firm, he said, and thus shipping direct to Manchester, handling and transportation charges are cut to a minimum. Within a radius of 100 miles from Manchester, he pointed out, there resides one-half the population of

OLD COUNTRY APPLE PRICES ARE GOOD

Associated Directors in Session First Time Since August.

Old Country apple prices up to the present have been good, but during the past couple of weeks many ships from this continent have landed thousands of boxes of apples as well as thousands of barrels which has depressed the market to some extent (Continued on Page 6)

England and Wales. There are 20,000,000 consumers within that radius. The third largest cold storage in Great Britain is in Trafford Park, and a fleet of motor vehicles, with insulated and ordinary bodies, is available for the distribution of produce to the consumers. It cost, he said, nine shillings per ton to ship produce into the warehouse in any other port in England compared with sixpence at Trafford Park. This was a minimum charge so far as other ports were concerned, as it comprised three charges which ranged from three to six shillings each, whereas the sixpence charged at Trafford Park was the actual cost of putting the produce in the warehouse there.

Mr. Harrison asked the directors of the Associated to make a trial shipment of 100,000 cases of apples to Trafford Park by way of Vancouver. About 20,000 of these could be sold upon arrival and the 80,000 stored and supplied to the market as required. His idea in asking for this shipment was not to make a profit, but to create a fund whereby his firm could have two of the directors visit England and investigate the situation carefully. At the present time he considered the growers here were in the wrong hands and his purpose was that the Associated might secure information which would enable it to conduct its business in the most profitable way. "You know all about Okanagan fruit; how to grow it and pack it, but at present you do not know how to sell it in England," he said. "You have followed the line of least resistance because you have been frightened by what has been told you. You can go over there and sell it with your own organization.

On the direct steamer service from Vancouver to Manchester there will be refrigerator space for apples. If you do not use it, the ships will go down the coast and they will pick up American apples. We do not want them to do that. It is strange the United States people will go into (Continued on Page 2)

COLLIDES WITH HORSE VEHICLE

When returning from Kelowna on Monday morning last, Mr. Harry Lee of the Occidental Fruit Co., had a head-on collision with a buggy driven by a boy. The latter was on the wrong side of the road and had it not been for the fact of Mr. Lee being a good driver, a serious accident would have had to be recorded. The rig suffered practically no damage, but the buffer and one of the fenders on Mr. Lee's McLaughlin car were badly bent.

YOUNG PEOPLE IN CONFERENCE

Ably Addresses Part of Today's Program Held at Penticton.

A Young Peoples' conference is in session in Penticton today, both afternoon and evening programs being held. Three speakers, all of whom are outstanding leaders in religious work, are in attendance. These are Rev. C. A. Myers, secretary of the Presbyterian board of religious education, Rev. W. E. Galloway, who holds a similar position with the Methodist church, and Rev. C. D. Donald, a missionary home on furlough from India. H. D. Brown, of the Penticton school staff, will also speak on the work carried on locally. Quite a number of the members of our local Young Peoples' societies are planning to attend the evening session of this conference, which is being held under the auspices of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

TAX ON GASOLINE FOR BETTER ROADS

Victoria.—A tax of three cents per gallon on gasoline will be considered by the government at this session of the Legislature as a means of producing sufficient revenue to care for the increasing costs of highways and at the same time a way to decrease motor licenses. Hon. Dr. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, points out that the agricultural industry would be exempt so far as gasoline tractors and similar machinery is concerned. The Minister is preparing a complete program of roads for next year, a plan to be presented to the Legislature next month. He is arranging to spend the major portion of road allowances on settlers' roads, which will go far towards ensuring general development in British Columbia.

TEACHERS IN CONVENTION AT KELOWNA

Members of the Summerland Teaching Staff Elected to Executive.

The sixth annual convention of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association was held in Kelowna, Oct. 18 and 19, with 111 teachers in attendance.

The marked success of this meeting was largely due to the untiring efforts of the president, Mr. A. S. Matheson, Penticton, and the other members of the executive, together with the hospitality of Kelowna citizens.

In addressing the members at the opening session, the president paid tribute to the memory of the late Mr. I. J. Miller, a former president of the association, whose death has been so keenly regretted by his fellow teachers.

The president briefly reviewed the aims of the association and the amount of work accomplished during the past year. He appealed to the teachers to co-operate, to read, to study, to keep abreast of the times, and by insistent labor, patience and self-denial make the teaching profession a power in the moral, as well as the intellectual guidance of youthful minds. The child should occupy first place in the heart of every teacher. When teachers lose sight of "the child," at that moment their right to exist as a profession ceases.

At a public meeting in Wesley hall Thursday evening the teachers were welcomed by Mayor Sutherland, who in his capacity as chairman introduced Dr. Mack Eastman, of the University of B. C. His address, "The History of History," was a revelation to his attentive audience. Miss Burn, the soloist of the evening, rendered two pleasing numbers, after which Mr. John Kyle, Vancouver, delighted the gathering with his illustrated address, "The Appeal of Pictures in the School Room." At the close of the meeting the teachers were the guests of the Kelowna Parent-Teachers Association and the I.O.D.E. chapters, when a social hour was greatly enjoyed.

Friday morning sectional meetings were held in Kelowna High school. Dr. Mack Eastman addressed the high school section on history. Mrs. Hanson, primary specialist, Victoria summer schools, gave to the teachers of Grades 1, 2 and 3 first hand information on "The Latest Methods of Primary Education," while Miss Page, Penticton, demonstrated the teaching of singing in junior grades.

Mr. J. Kyle was present to assist the teachers of manual arts, while those from outlying districts met with Inspector T. R. Hall and entered into a discussion on "Problems Peculiar to Rural Schools." The teachers of grades 4 to 8 (inclusive) were particularly grateful to Inspector A. E. Lord, Vancouver, for his helpful suggestions to the classroom teachers and to Mr. A. S. Matheson, Penticton, for his instructive paper on "Silent Reading," a subject which is being so widely discussed by present day educationalists.

Friday afternoon the annual business meeting was held, when members of the executive reported on the work accomplished. The reports were most gratifying and revealed the encouraging progress made by the association during the past year. The following members of the Summerland (Continued on Page 2)

CONVENTION OF WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

Thirty Delegates from North Thompson and Valley in Session Here.

Very encouraging is the interest being manifested in the conference of the Okanagan and North Thompson Institutes, which is being held here this week, about thirty official delegates attending with a great many coming from time to time from the neighboring towns. The work of the Institute throughout the province is systematized by dividing the territory into districts, each with its own committees and a large part of this conference is made up by reports of these standing committees.

Opening on Tuesday afternoon, there have been three sessions a day, all of which have been well attended. Following the registration of delegates on Tuesday and the report of the last conference, the visiting members were given a hearty welcome by Mrs. Knowles and Mrs. G. J. C. White, representing the Summerland and West Summerland branches, to which Mrs. Sutherland of Kelowna responded, thanking them on behalf of the Institutes represented for the way in which they had again upheld one of the traditional characteristics of Summerland, that of hospitality. Mrs. McGregor of Penticton made an able chairman and in her opening address named the different committees from whom reports would be received and, assisted by Mrs. McLachlan, provincial secretary, answered questions arising during the discussion of reports and gave helpful suggestions urging them to support Canadian industries and encourage Canadian progress.

A report on publicity in Institute matters emphasized three points, first a report to the local paper of the work done at each meeting, second, a suggestion to have some Canadian magazine recognized as the official organ of the B. C. Institutes and to which reports be forwarded regularly from all centres and, last, that recognition of Canadian magazines be encouraged and any movement in that direction be supported. This report brought up considerable discussion on the B. C. Products campaign and of the present condition of the B. C. and American markets.

The report on Industries by the district secretary, Mrs. Faxton of Okanagan Centre, consisted mainly of a very interesting report received from Mrs. Harris of West Summerland on the pottery classes held here last year and of the work being carried on at the Log Cabin by the Arts and Crafts League.

INTER-SCHOOL TRACK MEET

Statement of Finances Issued—Place of Meet for Next Year Undecided.

The annual meeting of the Okanagan Schools Athletic Association was held in Kelowna on Thursday last with the president, C. W. Leos, principal of the Kelowna Public school, in the chair and a fair representation of teachers from almost all the centres in the Valley. A satisfactory feature was the generous number of ladies who attended thus evincing their interest in out door sports for the girls.

A lengthy discussion on the proposal of the Penticton delegates to hold the Meet alternately in Vernon and Penticton failed to bring any decision from the meeting and the matter of where the 1924 meet is to be held was left in the hands of the executive.

Mr. Leos informed those present that he was in correspondence with the Canadian Passenger Association of Winnipeg with a view to securing a much reduced fare for children on the boat next year. He had also been favored with a visit from the travelling passenger agent of the C. P. R., who spoke quite enthusiastically (Continued on Page 6)

WHY WORRY ABOUT CANADA?

The per capita savings bank account of the Canadian is estimated today to amount to $240.

The Canadian per capita holds 68.7 per cent. of his own bonds, regardless of foreign issues, a total of $2,700,000,000, an increase in less than three years from $250 to $320 per head.

The wealth of Canada today per capita, regardless of undeveloped water power, farm land and mineral fields, is $2000.

Since July, 1922, more than $100,000,000 has been spent in residential buildings alone. This means that approximately 20,000 distinct family buying groups have become a greater force in the Dominion's purchasing power. From January to July, 1923, more than $50,674,000 has been spent in residences in Canada.

Canadian trade is growing steadily. The imports and exports for 1923 are millions higher than in 1922.

The prairie provinces stand ripe with expectancy of a harvest greater than that of 1915 which established the Dominion's record. A harvest of close to half a billion bushels of wheat is predicted, which the banks are now fully prepared to finance, and the railroads and shipping companies to transport.

Output of factories, of mines, of forest products, is growing rapidly.

And if we can get government expenditures and taxes reduced to a safe basis, progress will be still more rapid than has been in the past two years.—Nelson News.

The Victoria Times thinks British Columbia should adopt similar methods to those adopted in England to secure settlers for Central California. Commenting on this method, the Times says:

"One hardly expects to find an appeal for settlers for the New World in the want and 'agony' columns of the Old World newspapers. As a rule even the private emigration concern resorts to the displayed advertisement and uses its more alluring appeal to get business. Governments invariably adopt this method and supplement the newspaper narrative with booklets crammed full with details. But in one of the classified columns of a recent issue of The London Times weekly edition there appears the following advertisement:

FRUIT FARMING IN CENTRAL CALIFORNIA, with the ever-increasing Colony of British ex-officers and others, is ideal for settler with £1000 minimum. Good investment with or without occupation. For papers apply to Mr. J. H. Farmer, Mundesley, Norfolk.

There is nothing to indicate the nationality of the gentleman who is ready to supply the "papers" to all who may desire to read them. The thing that strikes us about this form of advertising, however, is the simplicity of the appeal and the straightforward announcement that the minimum of $5000 is required to begin with. Consequently, if Central California can take British-born folk and promise them an apparent bargain for the sum mentioned, surely British Columbia can do the same and say so in language just as plain as that used by the Norfolk advertiser."

PREPARE TO DEFEND "RED INK" SUIT

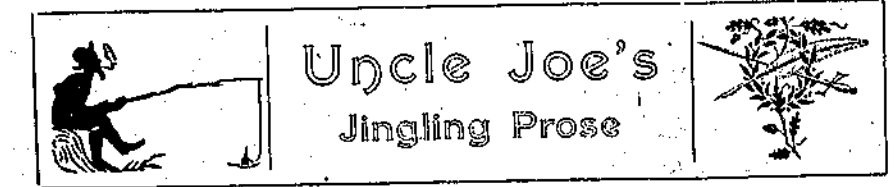

Fruit Union Members Create Fund to Fight Test Case.

"Red Ink" debtors, members of the Summerland Fruit Union in liquidation, met in considerable number last Saturday evening in response to an announcement published in the Review last week with the object of organizing for the purpose of fighting through the courts the first suit entered against a "red ink" debtor. A fund will be raised for this purpose, three hundred dollars being collected at the meeting. A committee to deal with the situation was elected. Major E. E. Hutton is chairman of the defence committee and Mr. C. Napier Higgins is trustee of the defence fund.

Teachers Meet at Kelowna

THE BANKS.

WHILE all the world is leary now about the state of Banks, I'm glad I can't be classified with those bewildered cranks; we read about the turmoil down at To-ron-to the Good, and how the Banks from East to West just now are "touching wood." When I was young and in my prime I got a rotten deal, from one ding-busted outfit, but you never heard me squeal. I glided to another Bank to try and raise the wind, but He behind the gilded cage just looked at me and grinned: "Oh, loan to me a thousand plunks, Oh won't you, if you please?" But all I got was "Moosey off, you great big hunk of cheese." And so while Banks are crashing all around me right and left, it's not quite clear why I should tear my hair in grief bereft. For now when all my Harvest's in, and I am flush with cash, I'll not run round to Banks and Things before my wad I smash. And when I've paid the butcher and the baker and the rest, and paid my rent and all my bills and bought some Sunday best; and after, my insurance and my rates and income tax, no Banks for mine, I'll stow away what I've got left in Sacks.

—UNCLE JOE.

corresponding secretary, Miss V. Jones; corresponding secretary, Miss Harwood; treasurer, Mr. H. W. Daniels.

Friday evening a banquet was held in the Elks' hall, where the Ladies' Aid of the United Church had artistically decorated the tables with autumn flowers and fruits, and had laden them with a bountiful array of the most tempting viands. Mr. J. O. Steeves acted as toast-master, and after the toast, "The King," Dr. Mack Eastman, rose to reply to the toast, "Our Guests." In a delightful word picture he presented the possibilities for the rapid advance of education in this new province.

Mr. G. A. Ferguson, principal of King Edward high school, Vancouver, as president of the B. C. Teachers' Federation, spoke of the chief aim of the federation, which he emphatically declared to be service. He referred to the valuable work being accomplished by co-operation with the Parent-Teachers Federation and the Trustees' Association — three strong organizations united with one aim—"The Child." He also read a message of greetings from Mr. H. Charlesworth, general secretary, whose absence was greatly regretted but unavoidable as he was in Duncan attending the annual meeting of the B. C. Trustees' Association as official representative of the B. C. Teachers' Federation.

Musical items by Misses C. McKenzie, Vernon; Mrs. Wilcox, Penticton; Mr. G. McKenzie, Kelowna; and Mr. J. O. Steeves, Summerland, added to the keen enjoyment of the evening.

The following are copies of resolutions adopted at the convention: "Whereas the present system of having two separate standards for students entering normal and for those entering university works an unfair hardship on both;

Therefore be it resolved that we the teachers of the Okanagan Valley assembled in convention at Kelowna, request the Department of Education to consider the advisability of making the subjects for prospective normal students in grade 11 also acceptable to the university authorities for junior matriculation."

After discussion in the senior grade section of the Okanagan Teachers' Association assembled at Kelowna, B. C., it is herewith resolved that Mr. A. S. Matheson be convener of a committee to issue a spelling list for each grade of the public schools of this district, and that the convener be empowered to name his own committee."

"Whereas a number of school boards in this valley have engaged as teachers, married women who are not dependent on their own efforts for support, and whereas there is a large number of single teachers who are unable to obtain positions, therefore, Be it resolved that the O.V.T.A. go on record as being strongly opposed to this practice."

our port and our own people do not." In connection with this last statement he cited American co-operative associations which are now shipping fruit into Manchester, and claimed that the geographical location of that city entitled it to the bulk of the fruit sent from B. C. To support this claim he demonstrated by means of a map the density of the population in Manchester and surrounding towns and districts compared with other ports, and showed that shipments to these other ports should only be made in proportion to the consumption of the immediate vicinity.

He then went on to speak of finance. On produce generally, such as butter, meat, hides, furs, etc., he said his firm advanced to the producer 75 per cent. of the C.I.F. price of the day, but on fruit this could not be done. His firm would, however, advance the freight charges and upon arrival a survey of the fruit would be made, and if it was found in good condition, further advances would be made.

The firm, he said, had been experiencing considerable trouble with brown heart in Tasmanian apples. Large consignments had fallen down from this cause. He believed the cause of it was a too rapid reduction of temperature in cooling, and

C. Kelley, who in his usual happy manner made everyone welcome, endorsing the Institute ideals and the intelligent manner in which they carried on their work. It had been expected that addresses would be given by J. W. Jones, M.L.A., and by Dr. Warnock, superintendent of Institutes, but, unfortunately, neither were able to be present. This program was replaced by a number of reports from individual centres, particularly encouraging being the reports of the progress made by the newer Institutes. In the last two years new branches have been organized at Oliver, Poplar Grove, Malakwa, Okanagan Falls and Silver Creek.

The provincial secretary, Mrs. McLachlan, in giving the annual report of the W.I. of B. C., told of classes in Civics and Citizenship for which the government will provide the teachers, should the Institute wish to use them. Giving a report of the Federated W.I., she offered the suggestion that steps should be taken to educate the people of the west in the problems of the east and vice versa. She also read a paper relating some of her experiences as convener of the federated committee on public health and child welfare.

and of her visit to Fredericton, N. B., to the meeting of the Federation, which included an excellent review of her trip and her visit on the way to Alberta Institutes, which, she says, are the best organized in Canada.

On Wednesday morning reports were presented from the committees on Public Health and Child Welfare, Better Schools and Education and on Immigration, reviewing much praiseworthy work being done by the organization as a whole. Almost every Institute now has its own committee on Public Health and Child Welfare and in the Okanagan Valley alone there are ten public health nurses. The Institutes are making a specialty of baby clinics, which in some places meet once a month and in this way people are becoming educated along lines of prevention rather than cure.

The report on Education and Schools was very complete and outlined the activity of the Institutes throughout the province in promoting better school conditions, encouraging school gardens and providing children's playgrounds and in some instances have assisted to provide better equipment in the schools, while in several districts they have taken charge of and organized public libraries. The organization has also done a great deal to further the Girl Guide and Boy Scout movements.

The report on Immigration was largely a resume of the question of Oriental exclusion and was followed by a motion to adopt the program of the Asiatic Exclusion League.

On Wednesday afternoon a very interesting report on Legislation was given by Mrs. McGregor, followed by a report on W.I. Work and Methods by Mrs. Lipsett, who, in opening her address, told of once having been informed by a man that "a man has the right to his beliefs no matter if he don't know nothin'" but she did not believe a woman had. In this report it was emphasized that a woman should obtain a knowledge of parliamentary procedure, particularly as they are now more and more taking part in public meetings and that the application of this knowledge would undoubtedly greatly increase the efficiency of their business meetings.

In replying to a request for an explanation of the federation pin which she wore, Mrs. Scougall of Oliver gave an excellent short talk on federation, from the beginning since it was completed in Ontario. The first conference of this federation was held on the first anniversary of Armistice Day, and continuing she explained how the federation of the Institute has made the work of so much broader scope to the individual branches.

In the absence of Dr. Andrew, who was to have given an address on Wednesday evening, Dr. E. C. H. Windler gave a highly instructive talk on Food Values and Malnutrition, in which he explained the correct way to ascertain whether a child was receiving proper nourishment from its food and gave as the most frequent causes of malnutrition, faulty food and home conditions, diseased tonsils and adenoids and constipation and in considerable detail explained the nutritive values of different foods and the necessity of sufficient vitamins, much of which was often lost through improper preparation of foods. He named the three classes of food possessing these to a high degree as fat soluble, water soluble and anti-scorbutic foods, and warned against the too frequent use of canned goods, as the treatment necessary to preserve these in many cases resulted in loss of much of their food values, also recommended the use of home prepared cereals, and breakfast foods in preference to others. The lack of vitamins in pasteurized milk, a food often required for use of children and invalids, might, he said, be remedied by the addition of orange juice in correct proportion.

Dr. McTavish of Vancouver, the greatest orthopedic specialist in British Columbia, told of the work being done for the crippled children of B. C., illustrating his talk with lantern slides. Many people, he said, had the idea that orthopedic work covered only treatment of foot diseases, but, he explained, that this surgical work really consisted in the correction of bones and joints generally, and although absolute cures were not always possible, much relief was given. The treatment of congenital dislocation should, he urged, be treated early, in which case much prevention work could be accomplished. He explained with illustrations the development of tubercular infection and the symptoms of its presence in the system, these coming in the following order, stiffness, pain, deformity and wasting, usually commencing in the joints.

Mrs. McGregor read a note received from Lady Byng, with a donation of twenty dollars to the crippled children's fund, which fund has now grown to $1,000. Thirteen children have been helped and five more are under treatment.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Clark, of Summerland, pleased the audience with her rendering of a number of Scotch songs. The visiting delegates have already visited the Log Cabin in Peach Orchard, finding much of interest there, and this morning visited the Experimental Farm, when they heard an address on the Value of Experimental Farms to Agricultural Industry.

Rev. C. D. Dojald, a missionary on furlough from India, gave an illustrated lecture in St. Andrew's church on Wednesday night. His slides showed many features of the work in India on his own field and of the workers that are associated with him. In speaking of the work being carried on there, he made a strong plea for the Canadian church to support the missionary work of the church and to keep the missionaries on their fields, where the work was so much needed.

SUMMERLAND WEST SUMMERLAND

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS:
Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE
Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timberland, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES
Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES
For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING
Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

FINEST SWEET POTATOES

in his official capacity on Mr. H. H. Thompson, of the Lakeview Fruit Ranch. The visit was mainly in connection with sweet potato culture, in which Mr. Thompson is having marked success. The Department had Mr. Thompson send a box of sweet potatoes to Victoria to be bottled and sent to England for exhibition purposes. The same day the Lakeview ranch received a visit from a deputation of Oliver men who also are taking a deep interest in the growing of sweet potatoes, and have been in communication with the Thompsons on this and other special lines which they are featuring. They have been working out new and improved strains of tomatoes and cukes as well as making many other varied experiments. We understand the Oliver deputation were able to procure from Mr. and Mrs. Thompson some good tomato seed which they have brought to a good commercial test.

The sleight of hand performances and entertainment billed for Thursday last did not materialize owing to the fact that the crowd did not turn up.

Schools were closed Thursday and Friday last to allow the teachers to attend the teachers' convention in Kelowna. Our teachers were loud in their praise of the tenor of the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson arrived here Friday morning to reside with Mr. Bulyea while Mrs. Bulyea takes a trip east, and possibly longer.

Mrs. DeBeck returned to Pentiction on Friday evening after a short visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. Lambly.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans, Sr., left recently for the south, where Mr. Evans is taking treatment for his rheumatism, which has been causing him considerable suffering lately.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peachland branch of the W.C.T.U. was held on Friday last at the home of Miss M. Smith, with a good attendance. The devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Smith, her topic being "Am I my brother's keeper?" Mrs. Sadler gave an interesting talk on "Why we are members of the W.C.T.U." Mrs. Bulyea was appointed superintendent of the evangelistic department. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. McKenzie.

The death occurred on Sunday evening of another of Peachland's old residents, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Wm. Ashley's mother. She was eighty-three years of age and until a week ago had enjoyed, for the most part, good health and was as active as many women considerably younger. Of a retiring disposition, she was not widely acquainted, but those who knew her speak in very high terms of her personality. The funeral took place on Tuesday and, owing to the illness of the Rev. T. A. Sadler, the Rev. W. A. Alexander of Summerland officiated.

Mr. Alpaugh is enjoying a visit from his parents, who arrived on Sunday last.

Mrs. Hardisty left on Monday morning last en route to New York, to spend the winter, possibly longer. Mr. Sadler accompanied her up the lake.

Miss M. Thompson of Vancouver has returned home after a six weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. McBoon.

Mrs. Bulyea left on Tuesday morning for Toronto to represent the Western Baptist Union at a mission board meeting in that city. She will visit Calgary, Edmonton, Regina and Winnipeg and meet with the provincial missionary executives. She will be away three weeks or more.

Mrs. Dryden, president, and Mrs. Vivian, member of the Peachland branch of the Women's Institute, left on Tuesday to represent the local institute at the Okanagan and North Thompson District Institute Conference being held in Summerland.

Current Events of Town and District

Mrs. Rossiter, of Oliver, with Miss Whitaker, school nurse, were guests of Mrs. Geo. Weaver on Wednesday.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Lyons last week.

Mr. Donald Manchester returned from the Yukon on Monday, after spending the summer there with his father. He is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manchester.

Miss Cathie Hancock entertained the members of the C.G.I.T. at the Hancock residence on Friday evening.

Mrs. Ritchie's brother arrived here from Belfast a few days ago, and is staying at the Ritchie home.

The Co-operative Growers have their building crowded with apples, and have rented the downtown house of Mr. Hancock for temporary storage purposes.

Mr. G. W. Weaver, of Pentiction, spent Tuesday at the Weaver home here.

We are informed that the two and half acres purchased by Bert Partridge was the property of Mr. Charles SeEVERS and not the late Ernest SeEVERS as reported last week.

Mrs. Allen spent the week end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown of Summerland.

At the Union Church service held on Sunday, Rev. H. J. Armitage officiating, Miss SeEVERS sang "Abide with Me." There was a meeting of officers of the church after the service.

the directors of the Associated had made arrangements with him to send the trial shipment of 100,000 boxes of apples. Mr. Harrison replied that nothing definite was said. It was pointed out to him that in order to send 100,000 boxes it would mean selecting from 500,000 boxes in order to obtain the correct sizes. This reply led up to his enquiries as to the sizes which were being shipped to England and investigation of the apples which it was believed the English market would not take on account of them being too large.

Mr. Harrison also explained that his firm was not looking to get a commission out of the growers. His firm received all the pay it expected for its services from the handling charges and did not act as agents other than for clearing the produce off the ships, storing it, or delivering it by road, rail or steamer to any point in England or the continent under the orders of the growers or their organization.

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS RECEIVES FIRST TWO DOLLAR DOM. NOTE

A new $2 Dominion note has just been placed in circulation by the Department of Finance. On the face or front of the bill is a new steel-engraved portrait of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and the date of issue is June 23, 1923—the last birthday of the Prince. The Department has taken advantage of the presence in Ottawa of His Royal Highness to introduce this bill.

The new note is of striking design, and is altogether one of the most artistic that has been issued by the Department in recent years. The back carries an excellent engraving of the new coat-of-arms of the Dominion. The color printing on front and back is in a pleasing shade of olive green.

The new Prince of Wales issue will be gradually placed in circulation, and will in time supplant the old Connaught $2 note, which has been in circulation since 1914.

Mr. Fielding has submitted to His Royal Highness for his acceptance the first issue—No. 1—of the new note.

"A Snapper Up of Unconquered Trifles."

The Winter's Tale, Scene II, Act IV

Mr. Baps, who was attached to the staff of the Blimber Academy for young gentlemen, in which Little Dombey passed a few months of his short existence, had a great notion of his own ideas on statistics, one of his favorite posers being concerned with what you were going to do with your raw materials. It will be remembered that, on his propounding this question to Mr. Toots, that perplexed young gentleman suggested, "Cook 'em," a reply which did not seem to meet the situation. We in Canada have no difficulty whatever in settling the matter—we just hand them over to eager buyers from the United States, and let it go at that. Canon Hinchcliffe finds that British Columbia alone last year exported 72,000,000 feet of unmanufactured timber to fill the orders of the American market, and in so doing lost over one million dollars, that being the difference in value between the manufactured and unmanufactured product. The figures are rather astonishing, since it was, I think, tacitly understood that the government was keenly alive to the position, and was taking care of the interests of the province in the matter. But it is unfortunately only too true that the public do not always know what is being done along such lines until informed by some person public spirited enough to enlighten them. British Columbia's timber is obviously one of its greatest assets, and as such should be jealously guarded and made the most of, but it does not appear as if that was being done.

I have just received from Montreal a budget of facts and figures concerning the squandering of Canadian timber resources in Nova Scotia, some of which should be of considerable interest to the people of our province. These statistics are given by Mr. Frank J. D. Barujum, who is conducting a spirited campaign in favor of the proposed embargo on pulpwood exports. As we know, this suggested legislation has been referred by the Federal government to a Royal Commission, and is therefore as comfortably tied up for the present as is a legal case when thrown into Chancery. The members of the Commission presumably draw comfortable amounts for their services in discovering things which everybody already knows, and in deliberating on the majority and minority reports which will in due course be handed out. Meantime, the sacrifice of our raw material is going on, to the natural and perfectly legitimate satisfaction of American pulpmill concerns. As the virgin timber of the United States will be practically exhausted in a little more than a dozen years, it is good business for Americans to buy all they can from Canada and conserve their own resources. Whether it is equally good business for Canada to sell the raw material instead of working it up herself, is quite another proposition. In deciding that point it is well to consider the fact that at the present rate of sale to American interests, the pulp mills now existing in Nova Scotia will within three years from now find it impossible to buy enough raw material to remain in business.

On the face of things, it looks as though it might be good policy for Canada to dissolve that Royal Commission, and make up her mind to put the embargo in force.

THE MUSIC OF THE FUTURE

Under some such caption as this, we now and then come across predictions or surmises by writers or speakers on musical matters, each conveying the conclusions arrived at by the individual contributor's personal impressions, some pessimistic, others rose coloured, and all necessarily problematical. I have lately been reading a paper on this subject which offers openings for one or two observations. The writer traces the development of the divine art in a very interesting fashion, following its history from the time of ancient Egypt to the present day, and showing the analogy existing between the scale systems of that country and those of Nineveh, and Babylon. He does not do full justice to the part played by the Hebrews in perpetuating the religious element of music in their worship, but that is understood. Coming to modern times, he claims that the Italian school was at its best when Italy was an aggregate of small states in continual conflict with each other, that it lost its preeminence when it attained national strength, that Germany in its turn received the mantle (at a time when she too was disunited), and that the next leader will be Russia! Well, Russia has all the earmarks, according to this reasoning, but it seems hardly fair to leave the Balkan States out of consideration. If continual fighting and quarrelling are the conditions which go to foster the development of music, then the Balkans should reign supreme! However, it does not do to take the reasoning too literally—the general theory that, when the nation is more or less satisfied with itself its musical growth is apt to slacken, may be correct, and each of us will have our own opinion on such a point. Russia may possibly be in line for the next stage of development, but if so, it is to be hoped she will moderate the harsh crudeness of some of her creations today. In any case, the music of the future will not be in the lap of any one nation, but will be universal, and will be built up of all that is best in the music of the past, the present and the time to come.

Much indignation has been expressed in various quarters concerning an absurd letter lately appearing in the columns of the Edmonton Journal, and purporting to describe prevailing conditions in British Columbia. According to the writer of this letter, a friend of hers, travelling to her native village in this drink ridden province, found the most frightful state of things in existence, all males over fifteen being apparently hopeless drunkards, and lots of their feminine companions conspicuously given to a glass on occasion. The letter is disappointing to a certain extent, since it only gives secondhand matter, and may be classed with the sort of story which is given to Mrs. Grundy by a lady who was told by a friend who heard it from her cook who got it from the baker's man, and so on, and so on. There is a decided lack of conviction about the whole thing, the only part having an air of probability being the supposition that the editor of the "Journal" was away fishing when that letter slipped into the composing room, and didn't know it was printed until he saw his paper. As to the mental condition of the writer, the less said the better for sweet charity's sake. While on the subject of unflattering criticisms, let me reproduce a paragraph I read in the magazine "Adventure" of September 30th, being part of an answer given to a correspondent who enquired as to the possibilities of Vancouver as a good place to move to. "Vancouver is full of remittance men, who grab off everything at a wage that nobody else could live on. The assistance they get 'from 'ome' helps to such an extent that they defy competition." The American publication containing this choice pronouncement was doubtless on sale by most newsagents in Vancouver in common with every other Canadian town and city.—I wonder how it appealed to its Canadian readers?

big bath of white or gray pigment with which he laved all his paint brushes, whatever color he might eventually put upon his canvas.
Mr. Kyle then spoke of Indian work showing how its crudities could be modified and applied so as to make a distinct British Columbia type of pottery, and concluded his enthralling lecture by covering his sketch board with all kinds of tentative, and all more or less convincing, designs for advertising Summerland pottery and other art craft wares.
Your contributor, who makes no pretensions to being an artist (except occasionally with a ferule) got into conversation later with the lecturer, and obtained from him a promise to address (with illustrations) the High School students on a shortly recurring visit. This should prove a rare treat and he hopes the art-loving public will accept the invitation which will be offered them to attend.

Mr. Kyle believes most fervently in art as an educator, and those of us who were privileged to hear him on Saturday evening could scarcely fail to be converted to his views. Mr. Kyle's next visit should be an artistic event in Summerland and prepared for accordingly.—Cont.

The Value of a Newspaper To a Town

Few people in the average town appreciate the value of a newspaper to a town. Like flowers, they are appreciated most by those who do not have them. Like mothers, they are wanted most when they are gone.

Most people look on a newspaper as the business of a single individual. If it thrives, that is the owner's or editor's business. If it fails, that is also the owner's or editor's business. As a matter of fact, the success or failure of a paper is a matter of grave concern to an entire town.

If it were not for our newspapers, rumor and gossip would run riot over the world. Everyone knows how a simple question asked by someone often is made a statement by another, how that statement is distorted by a second or enlarged by a third, and how it sometimes goes on and on until people do not know what to believe. Sometimes such a story gets so big that the only way it can be stopped is by someone coming out in the paper and stating the precise truth. Such conditions we should have constantly if it were not for our newspapers.

Newspapers, too, are the best advertisement a community has in the outside world. Other places judge a town by the kind of newspaper it has. If it is supported well, given the news and the advertising patronage it ought to have, it thrives and is able to present an appearance of prosperity for the town to the outside world. If it does not thrive, outsiders are inclined to look on the town as undesirable to live in, and so move on to other towns.

Newspapers are also our chief source of information. Most of our reading matter after we leave school comes from the papers. What we know about present day problems, comes from the papers. Thomas Jefferson once said that if he had to have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, he would take the newspapers, because through them he felt the state could be run with at least fair success.

If some of us appreciated more fully the value of our newspapers, we would make greater effort to see that they get the news and advertising and so become successful. Modern society cannot get along without newspapers any more than it can without schools and churches.—Exchange.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly bright, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).
The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot, Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month. ***

While Roy Phinney of the Experimental Farm and Mr. Travis of Penticton were out shooting on Saturday, the latter in some way received a shot in the forehead from his companion's gun. A Toronto daily recently published the photo of Miss Adele Doney, daughter of Arthur Doney, who is a brother of Mrs. Clark Wilson. The occasion of the publicity was the winning by Miss Doney of a scholarship at Toronto Conservatory of Music, where she is a teacher of music as well as an advanced student at the Hamburg Conservatory.

Central School, which was closed two days of last week to permit the teachers to attend their annual gathering, has been kept closed all this week to permit of thorough fumigation and as a precaution against the possible spread of scarlet fever. Two or three new cases have developed and this measure was thought advisable.

Take a chance, they tell us "Susannah" is funny. 13

Packing of apples has been resumed at the storage building today, after being suspended for a week. Lim How, Chinese cook at the Summerland hospital, died at Princeton last Sunday after a week's illness. Lim got leave of absence to go to Princeton to attend a feast there the Sunday before and was taken into the hospital in an unconscious condition on Monday and did not regain consciousness until just before his death, when he asked for his brother-in-law, who resides at Keremeos.

Come and see Susannah have a bath on Thursday. 13

According to a letter received by her mother here, Miss Edna Knowles, who was reported last week as being ill with smallpox at the Jubilee Hospital, Victoria, is now greatly improved and is out of quarantine. After a few days of rather serious illness, the effect of the vaccination appeared to check the development of fever and the patient is now well on the road to good health.

Prosecuted by Game Warden P. M. Robertson, Frank Dickinson, Jr., was found guilty before Police Magistrate Hutton of carrying firearms on October 20th without first taking out a licence. Frank, whose age is given as fifteen, was out with an older companion and, according to the evidence, had taken his father's firearms without permission or knowledge of his parent. He was reprimanded by the court and cautioned not to repeat the offence.

"Oh! Susannah!" Not a dry moment 13.

Mrs. A. C. Patterson of Naramata spent several days here this week.

Mr. C. B. Simpson left on Wednesday to return to his home in Scotland.

Miss Doris Whitehead of Penticton was a guest over the week end of Mrs. W. White.

Mrs. C. B. McCallum returned a few days ago from a visit to the Coast.

Mr. A. E. Cline came in from the Coast on Tuesday, where he has been for the summer months.

Miss Hilda Arnett returned to the Coast on Tuesday's train, after a short visit with her parents here.

Taking advantage of the schools being closed for the week, Mr. H. W. Daniel left for Vancouver on Monday morning.

A. H. Steven loaded a car of apples this week for export to New Zealand. They were shipped by K. V. R.

Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary will hold a sale of Home Cooking on Saturday, November 10th, in the Parish Hall, at 3 o'clock. Donations of home cooking will be very welcome. 13

Mrs. E. C. Hawkins, who has been for several weeks a guest at the home of Mrs. R. H. English, returned on Thursday last to her home in Crofton, Vancouver Island. She was accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Gartrell and son, Lloyd, who will probably remain for a month.

NARAMATA SCOUTS

Friday, October 19.—Finding it too dark to do the proposed outdoor work, the Scouts had the regular meeting. Then they went down to the beach and practised signalling with fire. Mr. McKay was unable to attend the meeting.

"OH! SUSANNAH!"

Mark Ambrient's farce "Oh! Susannah," which will be given in the Empire Hall on Thursday next, will doubtless draw a large house. Summerland hospital will receive twenty-five per cent. of the proceeds. The farce will also be given at Oliver and probably at Kelowna, Oronville and Grand Forks. It is described as one long laugh from start to finish and when played in London some years ago it proved to be the hit of the season.

DID NOT STOP AFTER HITTING STANDING CAR

Finced on Two Counts—Attempt to Escape—Failure to Report.

C. M. Bender faced two charges in the police court Tuesday as the result of a collision between his truck and J. W. Wheeler's automobile on the night of October 13th.

The first charge was of being in charge of a motor truck which collided in Prairie Valley with a motor car belonging to J. W. Wheeler, doing considerable damage to said car and failing to stop and, with intent to escape liability, driving on without tendering assistance or giving his name and address.

Mr. Wheeler, when he saw the lights of the truck some distance away, pulled off to the edge of the road and when the truck came along, it crashed into the rear side of the Wheeler car, smashing up the fender, denting in the body, breaking the top frame and doing other damage. The driver, Mr. Wheeler stated, refused to stop when called and he headed him off later by taking a short cut down the hill. Major Hutton, convicting Mr. Bender, fined him twenty-five dollars and costs and gave him the benefit of the first offence section, which provides for the remittance of the fine upon payment of bill of repairs.

The second charge was for failing to report the accident to the police. For this the fine imposed was five dollars and costs.

Has Kind Word for Bulman

Editor Review, Dear Sir,—Mr. Bulman is usually well able to take care of himself, but this is, I expect, the first time that he has sustained an attack in force by Mrs. Fosbery. It may therefore be some comfort to him to know that at least one reader feels that he has been rather harshly treated.

I am sure that we were all delighted, if a little envious, to hear of the delicious meals enjoyed by the lady-journalists in Vancouver, but it is scarcely just to blame Mr. Bulman if, at the conclusion of these banquets, the ladies found themselves unable to face the apples which he had provided.

The rest of Mrs. Fosbery's letter seems to be more or less irrelevant, but it does contain indications to which one hesitates to refer.

However, all will no doubt be forgiven and forgotten if only she will publish the menus which have had such devastating effects.

Yours faithfully, W. V. B. WEBB.

ally about the meet and the prospects for getting some concessions seemed bright.

The method of financing the meet, the advisability of continuing it in two divisions as in 1923, and the necessity of teachers acting as officials on the day were mentioned by the president but referred to the executive to deal with.

A ballot resulted in the re-election of Mr. Lees as president and Mr. A. G. Smith of Kelowna as secretary-treasurer. If the interest of those present is any criterion the 1924 meet will surpass in number of entries and enthusiasm either of the two previous events. The enthusiasm manifested indicates that the teaching staffs of the Valley are anxious to maintain this annual gathering of school children in healthy out door sports.

The financial statement showed gross receipts, contributions from the several school districts, totalling $257.50, with expenditures $4.15 less. Assets are hurdles and vaulting poles with a present value of $47.25, and the net surplus of the association $251.40.

HARRIS VALUED AT CORVALLIS

H. G. Harris of Summerland, who is now an instructor at Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis, Oregon, has received a research fellowship in the department of horticulture of that institution. According to a letter to The Review from B. Robinson, who is taking a special course at the same institution, the horticultural men at Corvallis think a great deal of Harris.

Mr. J. W. Jones, member for South Okanagan in the Provincial House, has gone down to Victoria to attend the fall session.

THE TROUT CREEK FARMERS' INSTITUTE

At the monthly meeting of the Trout Creek Farmers' Institute held at the school on Monday evening last, Mr. R. C. Palmer gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Soil Management in the Orchard." To illustrate his lecture Mr. Palmer had gathered up small sacks of the ingredients that go to make a perfect soil—pure sand, vegetable matter, up to soil in a high state of fertility. Three essentials go to make up a soil satisfactory for vegetable growth: (1) broken down rock to supply mineral matter, (2) vegetable matter to provide a satisfactory nursery for bacteria and (3) bacteria to render the plant foods available. The different methods of cultivation employed in our orchards were considered. To be quite satisfactory, a system must fulfil four conditions: 1. Maintain soil fertility. 2. Conserve moisture. 3. Maintain physical conditions. 4. Conserve labor.

On examination, it was found that the cover crop system came most nearly to fulfilling these conditions. Mr. Palmer, however, would hesitate to lay down any hard and fast rules. The orchardist must be the final arbiter. He must carefully consider his own conditions and adapt the system, which, in his opinion, will mostly answer those conditions.

BETTER CONDITIONS THAN YEAR AGO

Provincial Horticulturist Speaks Optimistically Following Visit.

Okanagan apples are finding much better markets this year than in the fall of 1922, according to W. H. Robertson, provincial horticulturist, who has returned to Victoria after a visit of investigation to this Valley. In a Victoria dispatch Mr. Robertson is quoted thus:

"The fruit crop is larger than last year. On the whole, marketing is proceeding more satisfactorily than a year ago, when growers found it difficult to market their crops profitably. The prairie market is more satisfactory and is holding up well and is not being flooded with American fruit."

STACKING OUTFIT AND HAY BURNED

Approximately 275 tons of hay, together with wagons and a loading and stacking outfit, the property of Joe Brent, were destroyed by fire last Thursday night, on Mr. Brent's upper ranch, Shingle Creek.

The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brent were visiting friends at Vernon at the time of the fire and their sons, Ferdie and Roddie, with the two men employed on the ranch, were away hunting.

Will Decide Choice on Friday

A special meeting of the members of the local Automobile Association and all others has been called for tomorrow night, Friday, at the Parish Hall, at 8 p.m., when, among other business, the matter of final selection of the transprovincial highway will be discussed. At the time of going to press there is yet much heard in favor of both routes, but Summerland's choice will be definitely made. All interested citizens are urgently requested to be present and to bring any friends who are interested.
