J. A. McKelvie, M.P. Is Dead At Ottawa -Bringing Body Home

Local Member Stricken Yesterday Morning with Heart Failure.

Ottawa, June 4.—J. A. McKelvie, M.P. for Yale, B.C., died suddenly in a hotel here at 1 o'clock this morning, a few hours after his return from attending a session of the House of Commons. Heart disease was the cause of death. He was in his fifty-ninth year.

Mr. McKelvie, after attending the night session of the House, retired at 10.30 p.m., complaining of pains over his heart. About 1 o'clock, Mrs. McKelvie was awakened by her husband, who was in great distress. She aroused Senator Schaffner, who lived in an adjoining apartment, and although he rushed to the bedside of the stricken man, it was too late. He had died in his bed during the interval.

The body will be taken to Vernon for burial, leaving Thursday morning. There was no inquest, death being due to natural causes. A funeral service will be held tonight.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, issued a statement today warmly praising the personality and work of the late Mr. McKelvie.

John Armstrong MacKelvie was born on September 14, 1865, in St. John, New Brunswick, and came west in 1883 to Calgary. He served through the Northwest Rebellion as a member of the Alberta Mounted Rifles, and was one of the troopers who convoyed the white women following their release from the camp of Big Bear, noted Indian chief of those days. He moved to Vancouver in 1888 and then came inland to Vernon in 1889, working for several years on the Coldstream Ranch. He became editor of the Vernon News in 1893 and held that position until after elected to Ottawa.

The late Mr. MacKelvie served on the Provincial Labor Commission in 1912 and 1913. He was elected to the Dominion House of Commons for Yale in a by-election November 22, 1920, succeeding Hon. Martin Burrell, present librarian of the House at Ottawa. He was re-elected at the general election in 1921.

He was a Presbyterian and a past master of the A.F. & A.M.

GARNETT DAM WAS CLOSED

Foreman Tomlin Says Only Enough Water Escaped To Meet Needs.

Contrary to a statement in an interview published in The Review last week, the gate in Garnett Valley dam was not left open during the winter.

Foreman H. Tomlin states that the lower dam in Garnett Valley was closed last September and was thus ready to catch all the water available. The gate was left slightly open to allow enough water to run down the creek to provide for the domestic needs of the residents dependent upon it for their supply.

On the 8th of March this small escape was closed tightly. This date was the earliest possible to gain access to the dam and was therefore in plenty of time to catch the spring freshet upon which the filling of this particular dam depends. But there has been no such freshet this spring on the watershed flowing into the lower dam and the shortage therefore can not be placed to human agency.

Some, Mr. Tomlin said, have been inclined to censure municipal authorities, believing that the gates had been left unclosed too late.

On the 23rd of April the gate of the lower dam in Garnett Valley was opened for irrigation. By that time the water had risen to 15.1, lacking more than a foot of being full. Since the irrigation season opened the level has been falling.

TAKES SPECIMENS OF LOCAL POTTERY

Specimens of Summerland pottery are to be on exhibition at Victoria this summer, John Kyle, superintendent of technical education and inspector of manual training, while here last week visited the log cabin in Peach Orchard and inspected the work of the pottery school. It was very evident that he was surprised and delighted with the work being done here, which he described as better than the work turned out at Victoria. That city is the second place in the province to take up pottery, Summerland being the first.

Mr. Kyle gave a very interesting talk in the high school on designing to pupils of the school and a few members of the art league. It was pronounced a splendid and very instructive and inspiring address.

closed since last fall and nothing further could be done to increase the amount of water therein. Men are going up shortly and will make an official report on conditions there. It has been indirectly reported that those upper dams have a good supply.

It might be noted that Aconas Creek at all times maintains a slight flow, even after the dams are drained. Although this does not amount to a great deal, it is steady and can be relied upon.

Quite an extensive acreage of tomatoes is being grown at Oliver for canning and also to be shipped as some ripe. The cantaloupe across there this year will be quite high.

MAY QUEEN IS CROWNED

Parade, May Day Festivities and Field Sports in Fine Program at Naramata

A cloudless sky, brilliant sunshine, and cool breezes were among the factors which went towards the making of a perfect May Day Festival in Naramata on Saturday. The other features which were noticeable as contributors were a very evident spirit of co-operation between the various organizations of the community, and a painstaking course of training of those who took part in the programme. Much time must have been spent in order to produce the results which were in evidence, and both teachers and taught are to be congratulated.

The parade of decorated cars, which led up to the school grounds comprised nearly a score of entries, the leading car containing the May Queen elect (Miss Alice Cross) her maids of honor (Dora Cross, Rhoda Carrell, Arnie Smithers and Eileen Horswill) and the retiring Queen, Miss Florrie Lyons. Other vehicles carried the Sir Roger de Coverly dancers, The Four Seasons, The Girl Guides, The Boy Scouts, The Board of Trade, The Unity Club, The Ladies Aid and the W. C. T. U. These were judged by Mr. J. W. Jones, M. L. A., Mr. R. E. White of 'The Summerland Review', and Mrs. W. J. Robinson, their awards being given below. The entry to the grounds was followed by the singing of "O, Canada" and short speeches by Mrs. Williams, president of the Women's Institute, and Mr. J. W. Jones, who declared the proceedings open. GENEROUS GIFTS BY OPERATIC SOCIETY

At a meeting of the executive of the Summerland Operatic Society, held on the 30th of May, and following the very satisfactory report of the secretary-treasurer, that officer was instructed to forward a cheque to the Summerland Hospital Society for $75, another to the Summerland Branch, G. W. V. A. $50, and cheques for $10 each to the Pentleton and the Kelowna Hospital Societies. These cheques have now been issued, and the Society is carrying over a good working balance for next year's production. The books are being audited and will be open for inspection by members of the Society at the secretary's office.

There was considerable discussion as to the opera to be selected for next year, "The Yeoman of the Guard", "Iolanthe", "The Gondoliers", "The Mikado", "The Sorcerer", and "Ruddigore", all being discussed. However, no decision was arrived at, the Committee deciding to keep the matter under consideration and the meeting adjourned at the call of the president.

"JERRY" McGEER TO BE HEARD HERE

G. G. McGeer, who has been plauding the case of British Columbia for lower freight and express rates before the railway commission will speak here in the interests of the Oliver government, according to formal announcement in another column.

PLANNING HUGE IRRIGATION SYSTEM

Riverside, nearly one hundred miles down the valley, on the Washington side of the line, has just launched a big irrigation project. A water district was formed there last year and the district has voted bonds of more than $400,000 to finance the irrigation project. More than 4,000 acres will come under irrigation for fifteen miles on either side of the Okanagan river. The river will be dammed a short distance above the town and electrically driven pumps will be used.

Quite an extensive acreage of tomatoes is being grown at Oliver for canning and also to be shipped as some ripe. The cantaloupe across there this year will be quite high.

LOCAL MANAGERS IN CONFERENCE

M. Stuart, manager of the Summerland Co-operative, and R. Pollock, the secretary, went up to Vernon on Tuesday to attend a meeting of managers and representatives of the locals affiliated with the Associated Growers of B. C., Ltd. Such a meeting of the managers has now become an annual event, at which many matters are discussed among themselves and representatives of the central. This year a representative of each of the local boards has been included, as at these meetings many subjects in which the directors are directly concerned come up for solution. In the case of Summerland the secretary has been sent as delegate of the directors.

"WHY DON'T WE GET APPLES LIKE THAT"

Writing to her mother, Mrs. Clay, of the British Empire exhibition, Mrs. E. N. Rowley gives a most vivid description of the formal opening by the Prince of Wales, president of the exhibition, whose splendid speech was distinctly heard by the many thousands assembled in the huge stadium through the medium of loud speakers. To the speech the king replied. She tells of the splendid music and the wonderful performances by army, navy and air men. The Canadian building is the most clever of them all, a building "with a brain behind it." "There is an apple orchard in the Canadian building with most beautiful apples (no better than you can see every day in the Okanagan) and the first question you hear is 'why don't we get apples like that here.' That's just it. We never see a decent Canadian apple over here; why, I don't know."

WEEKLY REPORT OF THE DISTRICT HORTICULTURIST

Summary of Fruit Crop Conditions Throughout the Province.

Continued dry weather, though considerably cooler, with the exception of showers in some parts of the southeastern section of the province, is noted in most of the reports making up the weekly news letter issued last Saturday by the district horticulturist, and from which the following is gleaned:

Summerland
The temperature dropped considerably this past week, which has retarded vegetable growth.

There were a few showers on the 24th, but rain is very much needed. Cherries are dropping heavily. Apricots are making good growth, and thinning is well advanced.

The late Spring frosts are now showing their effect by the heavy droop taking place on apples.

Up to this date no fire blight has been observed or reported in this section.

Pentleton.
All tree fruits are sizing rapidly and at the present time it is very noticeable that pollination has been poor in many varieties of apples, and the set is low in proportion to the show of blossom. In the stone fruits apricots appear to be a normal crop. Peaches and cherries very light, plums light, prunes average.

Considerable cutting of first crop alfalfa is in progress.

Vernon
The weather has been much cooler over the past week, the few light showers of rain which fall have been of little benefit to any crops, and at this date the prospects for more rain are poor. Irrigation should be the order of the day for all growers in this district.

All tree fruits are now sizing rapidly and a poor set is in evidence on certain varieties. The June drop has not yet taken place and this will also further reduce the crop. In-

GUIDES STAGE FINE PROGRAM

Provide Versatile Entertainment to an Appreciative Audience.

The Girl Guide concert Monday evening in the Rialto opened before a good sized audience with God Save the King, all the Guides in full uniform forming a semi-circle on the stage. This was followed at once by a chorus "Come All My Comrades."

Mr. J. Clements' solo, "Down the Vale," was heartily encored and he again pleased the audience, with "Mother McCree."

In "Yo-ho Little Girls" Mr. C. B. Winter was supported by a chorus of eight, Misses Mona Winter, Rene Harris, Bessie McCallum, Gwen Harris, and H. Daniel, A. Munn, N. Craig, and H. Miller. This was a story of the sea and of the troubles and joys of the sailor. Mr. Winter took the solo part in his ever popular style, and an encore was called for.

Misses Jean Moffat and Myrtle Walden appeared in a vaudeville act, "Chick-Chick," with an encore. A small act, with the leading parts as rich and poor taken by Alannah Sutherland and Isabelle Zimmerman respectively, portrayed these two friends conversing on the reality of fairies and their merits. The poor girl believed the fairies helped her and her mother do their daily work and to put joy into otherwise dull tasks. The rich girl, however, was maintaining that such a belief was folly, when four fairies appeared and addressed the so-called inferior girl as their queen. The rich girl then thought she must also have fairies, which would of course be very beautiful and she called for these to appear.

POULTRY BUSINESS STEADILY GROWING

More than four thousand dozen eggs were handled last month by the Summerland Poultry Products Association. This is the largest business in any one month since the Association was organized. In March 3,000 dozen eggs were marketed. For April the total was 3,800 dozen and for May, 4,066 dozen.

Up to the present eggs only have been handled but the Association will next week fill its first order for poultry, having received an order for 100 birds, fifty each fat hens and cockerels, from a dealer in Kamloops. These birds will be shipped alive in crates.

LEAVING FOR QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS

On Friday last the Rev. O. E. Mann received a wire from the Rev. A. Barner who is superintendent of Methodist Indian missions, asking if he would consent to take charge of the Indian mission station of the Methodist church at Skidegate, Queen Charlotte Islands. Mr. Mann replied by stating his willingness to accept the offer. He has since received orders to take up the work almost immediately. Accompanied by Mrs. Mann and Winnifred, he will leave Summerland on Wednesday of next week.

NORMAL STUDENTS ALL SUCCESSFUL

Grace and Zanda Garnett, Kenneth Walden and Carleton Clay, Summerland Normal school students, have all succeeded in obtaining their second class certificates. The first three have returned to their homes here, while Carleton Clay has taken a school at Coalmont for the balance of the term. The first three attended Normal school at Victoria and Carleton Clay at Vancouver.

COMPETE IN BIRD SHOOTING

Pentleton and Kelowna Game Associations entered into a crow and magpie competition extended over a week and terminating last night. The association shooting the largest number of crows and magpies will be declared the winner. There were also individual prizes for members of each local. The results will be announced today.

Second Victory For Summerland-Peachland Team In League Events

VETERANS ADDING TO CLUB HOUSE

Summerland branch of the G.W.V.A. is adding an extension of 26 feet to its club house. The front of the present building has been removed and the new work will extend the building that much nearer the street and to the same extent will add to the main club room. The work is being done by Harvey and Elsey.

Though far from being any boom in building, Bert Harvey of Harvey and Elsey states that their business is much better than a year ago. Questioned as to the statement made in their advertisement this week, Mr. Harvey stated that most of the work they are doing is in the nature of extensions and improvements and that they have quite a lot of this booked ahead.

ANTI-DUMPING LAW ATTACKED

Prairie Jobbers Stirring Up Progressives to Secure Its Abolition.

Kelowna.—Concern is being felt among the fruitgrowers of this district at the tendency on the part of the Progressives in the House at Ottawa to demand abolition of the anti-dump law on American apples. The whole question was discussed at the Board of Trade meeting here when Mr. Thomas Bulman submitted facts he had secured showing the pressure that has been brought to bear on the Progressives by the prairie jobbers to this end, and by the open avowal by those members of Parliament in favor of removing the restriction in the import of apples from the other side of the border.

Just as he was leaving Ottawa on the occasion of his last visit, said Mr. Bulman, he had been handed a copy of a letter from the Western Canada Fruit Jobbers' Association, addressed to the Progressive members of Parliament protesting against the application of dumping duty on Winesaps and Rome Beauty imported from Washington.

The letter claimed that the B. C. grower already had ample protection through the ordinary duty of 30 cents per box, and 16 1/2 cents advantage in freight over Washington fruit, and that he must meet conditions of low prices by reducing his production costs to a point where the duty and freight advantage will keep him in control of the prairie business. Going further than their initial request, the jobbers concluded their letter by asking the Progressives for "their kind consideration and support in assisting us to have this act changed whereby American fruits will not be subject to the dumping duty when entering Canada, as this is a premium on food over the duty which can not be justified."

After his arrival in Kelowna, Mr. Bulman received a letter from Hon. Jacques Bureau, minister of customs and excise, enclosing a copy of a similar protest made to him by the Western Canada Fruit Jobbers' Association and asking for Mr. Bulman's comments on it.

The latter's reply forcibly traversed some of the arguments put forward by the jobbers in support of their request for abolition of the dumping duty.

Later, said Mr. Bulman, he had heard that the jobbers were busily engaged in inciting the Progressives against the anti-dumping regulations, and that their work had some effect, as most evident, according to the tone of the remarks of their leader, Mr. Forke, who had expressed himself in the House of Commons as distrustful of the anti-dumping clause because it put too much power in the hands of the minister of customs, who might be a protectionist.

Following the reading of the quotations to substantiate his statements, Mr. Bulman emphasized the jeopardy Successful Sports Program Carried Out on King's Birthday.

Perfect weather greatly added to the pleasures of the day at Crescent Beach on Tuesday when Summerland celebrated the king's birthday in an excellent program of sports. There were more than the usual number of visitors from other Valley centres and the new features of the program including a league ball game and trap shooting added greater interest.

Five hours were taken by the latter, and some excellent results were obtained by the participants. Teams from several towns were entered for this interesting sport. The clay pigeons were put into the air over the lake by the trap placed on the beach. Behind this stood the men with their shot guns.

Perhaps the one event that attracted greatest numbers was the league game Summerland-Peachland vs. Pentleton, the second game in the series, the best game seen here in years and resulting in a victory 9-6 for the home team.

The game was very even throughout; at the beginning of the eighth the score was five all.

The result of this game, together with the winning of the first league game played at Pentleton last Thursday gives the Summerland-Peachland nine a good start in the league series.

A list of the various events and the winners follows:

SELL CANNING PLANT ONLY

O. U. G. Products' Dehydrating Machinery Being Held.

In view of statements which have recently appeared as to the machinery from the O. U. G. Fruit Products, Ltd., which was reported as being sold cheaply, and in connection with which considerable regret was expressed, particularly in and around Vernon, the following statement has been issued by M. G. Wilson, the liquidator, which explains what has so far been done, and what the plans are in this connection:

"I wish you would be good enough to correct an impression that seems to exist in Vernon and district, that I am disposing of all the canning and evaporating plant belonging to the O. U. G. Fruit Products, Ltd. This is not the case. I am disposing of the canning part of the plant only, and the evaporator will be left fully equipped and ready for operation, as it was considered best by myself, as liquidator, and the inspectors for the shareholders, that the canning portion of the machinery should be disposed of, and room made for the government to place in the plant the dehydrator which they have promised to put in Vernon, to serve the North end of the Okanagan Valley."

In which the fruit industry would be placed, were it left with the protection only of the straight 30 cents per box duty without any anti-dumping clause. "The control of importation of American fruit into Canada means life or death to our industry," he declared.

FOR THIS WE ARE GRATEFUL.

It was with a feeling of much satisfaction that we were able to publish in this column last week a few words of commendation from an authority on the printing and publishing of a weekly newspaper.

It is with much greater pride and some measure of encouragement that we are permitted to publish this week an unsolicited letter from a worthy citizen on the same subject carrying the more intimate and information gleaned by one of experience from a week after week knowledge of the product of our efforts.

May we say right here that we greatly appreciate the kindly words of the Rev. H. J. Armitage as contained in the following letter:

"Summerland, B.C., June 2nd, 1924.

Editor Summerland Review,
Summerland, B. C.

Dear Mr. Editor:—

I have for some little time now contemplated writing you a line or two in reference to the splendid paper produced week by week by yourself and your staff.

Having had some acquaintance with several weekly newspapers, I have no hesitation in stating, that the SUMMERLAND REVIEW is a worthy representative of the community it seeks to minister unto. For general excellency, I venture to say that it would be difficult to find another weekly paper in its class that could surpass it.

The SUMMERLAND REVIEW is alive; it is up-to-date; it is devoted to the community life and needs; and seems to me to be ever striving to keep awake the real community spirit, for which it is to be highly commended, and deserving of the most loyal and whole-hearted support and encouragement of the entire community.

I remain,

Sincerely yours,
H. J. ARMITAGE."

THE INDELIBLE IMPRESS.

Faces tell many a story. Right living and good hearts make kind faces. Innocence glows in the face of the pure. Wicked hearts, if there are any, blacken the features. Every day of our lives we are recording acts on our faces to be read by the world.

STAY WITH IT!

Here in the Okanagan is where the sky is a little bluer, where the air is a little purer, where it is pleasanter to live and where you will live longer. Stay with it.

You should appreciate the charm of your environments and think of what you can do to make your surroundings even better and brighter. Help your home. Stay with it.

The boosters are doing the Valley a great service which will rebound to their credit for years to come. Join them and stay with it.

A roselate horizon is stretched around our fair Valley, your sun is just coming up—great progress is just before you—Boost and stay with it.

With our great natural advantages and with the benefits which are bound to come with the improving marketing conditions there is no limit as to what the Okanagan can do. Stay with it.

It will grow steadily and even more substantially than it has in the past. Stay with it.

Today is a great day for the Okanagan, but she has greater days in store for the future. Help her on her way—stay with her!

CONSTANTLY ON THE JOB.

Human wants are constant, hourly, daily and continuous. Food, clothing, shelter and their infinite subdivisions are every day needs. There is not a clock that ticks—that does not register a million human wants. The newspaper is the closest thing in the world to the people's wants. It is an expression of the over-pressing desire for news. The advertiser who uses the newspaper reaches people with his message exactly at the right time. There is no advertising medium on the job so completely and so close to the people as the newspaper.

Says the Liquor Interests Control B.C. Government

Ladies' Home Journal Publishes Story Very Uncomplimentary to this Province.

"The government does not control liquor in British Columbia. Liquor controls the government and defies it. The people thought they were getting government control, but it turned out that the government is simply the saloon keeper, the bar tender and collecting agent for brewers, distillers and liquor dealers, and the bulk of the profit goes to them."

Ladies' Home Journal seeking to obtain for its readers the truth on the liquor question commissioned an investigator to come to this province and write of what he found here. The above, quoted from his story, summarizes his report. Some months ago the same writer went to Quebec on a commission from the same publication, and in December last he spent some time in British Columbia studying the liquor question from all angles, and was able to get much information from authorities holding opposing views on this subject.

Many in the United States, opposed to prohibition are citing this province as an example for their country to follow. To get first hand information the Journal sent this man here to investigate. His report is anything but complimentary to our fair province. On one Saturday night, in Vancouver, he "saw more men drunk than he has seen in all the United States in the four years of national prohibition,"—"and I was in fewer than twenty of the two hundred and fifty-five bootlegging dives of that city."

The writer tells of the earlier failure to enforce prohibition and of the efforts of the liquor interests, during prohibition days, to poison the minds of the public against prohibition, and of the propaganda for a change to "government control." "The incredible thing is that the people of British Columbia actually believe that if they owned the places in which they spent their money for drink . . . the profits would bring them a measure of prosperity . . . and three years ago . . . British Columbia started out to drink itself sober and rich, under government control." But the writer points out that fifty per cent of the liquors sold in this province are sold by the same old bootleggers, "and they are beyond the control of the government, because of their political power" and quotes the attorney-general as stating that "the greatest bootleggers of all are the brewers and exports liquor dealers", who are getting rich on it.

Instead of lessening drinking, as had been the claim, this investigator found a steady increase, and seeking an explanation was told "our government is in the liquor business for profit. It wants to make a big showing of profit so as to hypnotize the people, and make them satisfied with the government. They have put in several liquor stores against the protests of the people and are forcing sales by every possible means."

After dealing at some length with this and kindred phases of the subject the writer says: "I have never known so much bootlegging anywhere as there is in British Columbia under government control. I never imagined there could be so much disrespect and contempt and defiance of law as exists there."

The writer's description of what he saw in the government liquor store on Hastings street seems almost unbelievable. And even worse is that of what he discovered in the Saturday night rounds of the bootlegging places. He professes to base his decision on what he saw rather than on "statistics of drunkenness furnished by a government and police force friendly to the liquor interests."

And the big profits promised have not materialized, says the writer. Quoting many figures, he points out surprisingly small net profits, and, giving figures, names several cities which were many thousands of dollars poorer because of money gathered in by liquor stores. "And yet, John Oliver, premier of the province, said in a speech last summer that British Columbia was growing rich from government sales of liquor; to which the Vancouver Sun replied: 'No one ever knew an individual to drink himself rich, nor a community to drink itself rich. Increased sales of liquor simply mean that the people will have less money with which to pay taxes.'"

"Emigration of money" with which to buy this liquor, is given as a reason for the emigration of our young people. Twenty-four millions of dollars are spent in one year by a little over half a million of people but only half of this in government stores. Charging that the brewers have again broken their promise by re-entering politics this authority says they are now after beer by the glass, and "have subsidized some of the most influential men in the province to talk and write for it." He had been told that the brewers would aid in enforcing the law. Putting the question up to Archie Johnson, chairman of the liquor control board, he got the answer:

"Talk of trusting the word of a brewer who has broken every promise he ever made to the people. I would as lief trust a fox in a hen roost as to trust a brewer to sell beer within regulations. They promised to be content with the present law, but we have had it only three years and they are already lobbying for beer by the glass. The brewers have not played fair by us at all."

The article closed with a reply from Mr. Johnson to a question of the investigator on the situation in the United States as follows:

"If you ever set those breweries and wineries going again, and allow them to make alcoholic beverages of any strength, they will soon be in control of politics; they'll be in the saddle, and they will ride roughshod over any laws that you can make regulating the sale of their product. Don't ever give them the edge on you. Give the brewers a bung, and they'll soon want a whole barrel, open but a crack of the door and they'll push in and take possession of your whole house, as they are doing in British Columbia. You have them closed in the United States; keep them closed. What! You pretend you can control a thousand breweries and a half million beer sellers? Say, man, you might as well try to control a powder magazine in hell!"

This remarkable story occupies two and one half pages of the Journal, and carries in large type the striking heading: "Drinking Their Way to the Poorhouse—Government Control in British Columbia Enriches Only Rum Interests—More Bootlegging Than Ever!"

HARRY SLATER IS BACK FROM SOUTH

SAY CHAUTAUQUA IS BEST EVER

Armstrong, Kelowna and Penticton have had the best Chautauqua week ever, according to press reports. The program at Penticton closed on Monday evening of this week and those who attended from Summerland pronounce the lectures, and most of the other features of the six day program, of high order. An intensely instructive and interesting illustrated lecture was given the second day by C. Vincent Hall, B. D., just back from Egypt, his subject being: "Tomb Hunting in the Valley of the Kings." On the second day in the afternoon, Georges Henri LeBarr, B. Sc., a noted Parisian character analyst lectured on "Why You Are What You Are." Two delightful musical performances were given during the afternoon and evening of Thursday, by the Metropolitan Sympho band, Miss Hazel Eden, soprano, and Fenwick Newell, the well known Canadian tenor. Henry B. Burns, M. D., gave a very fine lecture on Friday on present day life. It was full of humor and loaded with sound advice and helpfulness and left much for his hearers to ponder over.

Not often is it the privilege of people outside the largest cities to hear such a famous lecturer as Frank Bohn, Ph. D., the noted historian, economist and editorial writer, who spoke Saturday night on "All the World and Ourselves", truly one of the most thought-provoking addresses delivered in recent years.

On Monday afternoon, No Yong Park, a former newspaper editor of Korea, banished by the Japanese after that nation had captured his country, dressed in native costume, presented the Japanese question in a most unusual light in his very scholarly lecture on "The World Policy of Japan."

Mention is here made of but a few of the eleven programs covering the six days of Chautauqua now on the B. C. circuit.

which will enable him to effect savings in the Vernon warehouse.

He states that reports of frost damage are very conflicting, but the estimate runs between 30 and 35 per cent. As is the case in British Columbia, individual orchards are harder hit than others, depending on location. A reliable estimate, however will not be possible till after the June drop, as some of the fruit which has been formed will not mature. The most northerly apple districts reported the least frost damage.

The strawberry and truck vegetable districts of Kennewick and Walla Walla reported total loss of crops.

SYNOPSIS OF

PRE-EMPTIONS
 Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.
 Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.
 Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timber land, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.
 Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.
 Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.
 For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."
PURCHASE
 Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."
 Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.
HOME SITE LEASES
 Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as home sites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.
LEASES
 For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 500 acres may be leased by one person or a company.
GRAZING
 Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

PRAIRIE CROP OUTLOOK GOOD

Bank of Montreal Issues Report of Crop Prospects East and West.

Crop conditions throughout Canada are covered in a report just issued to the press by the Bank of Montreal, and compiled by that institution from telegraphic reports received at its head office from its branches.

The report says:
 While the season is backward in Ontario and Eastern Provinces, rather more favorable conditions obtain in the West. Wheat seeding throughout the Prairie Provinces has been completed and the wheat is well above the ground in many districts; cold weather has somewhat retarded growth, but moisture is ample and the seed bed generally is in good condition. In Alberta, the acreage seeded to wheat is about the same as last year. There is a slight decrease in Saskatchewan and 25% decrease in Manitoba. In the latter provinces, however, there is an increase in the acreage for coarse grains. In British Columbia, crops are looking well, but are much in need of rain. Details follow:-

PRAIRIE PROVINCES
Edmonton District: Abundant moisture over whole district and prospects promising. Calgary District: Wheat well above ground, weather conditions favorable, with sufficient moisture. Lethbridge District: Recent rains in North, South and West have improved conditions. Rains are needed in Central and Eastern sections and the Eastern acreage is being curtailed because of dryness. The crop on irrigated land is doing well. Saskatoon District: Wheat seeding is about finished. Seeding of other grains will probably be completed in about two weeks. Moisture is sufficient and conditions are considered favorable. Regina District: Wheat is all seeded and in many places is several inches above ground. Seeding of other grains should be completed in 10 days. The land is in good condition and the outlook is considered satisfactory. Pastures are fair only. Winnipeg District: Wheat is all sown and is up 2 to 3 inches in some locations. Coarse grains are 75% seeded and the acreage increased. Warm rains required to stimulate. Pastures good.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC
 The season generally throughout the Province is 2 to 3 weeks late. The acreage prepared for crops is greater than last year, but owing to the prevailing cold and wet weather, very little seeding has been done. Pastures also are somewhat backward, needing warmer weather.

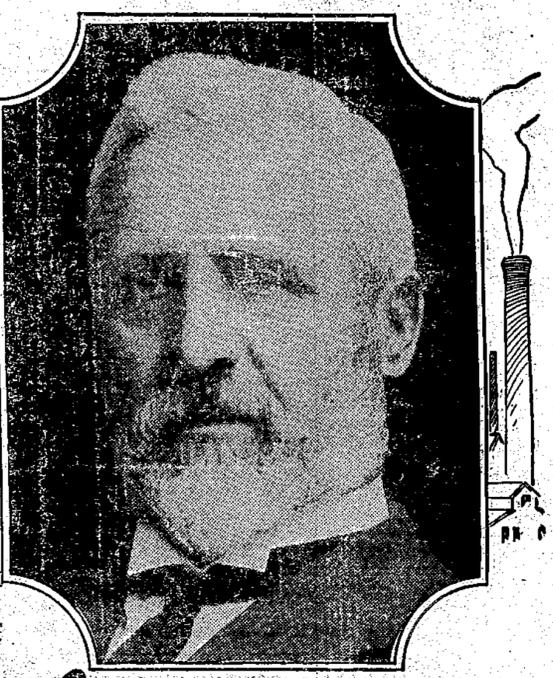

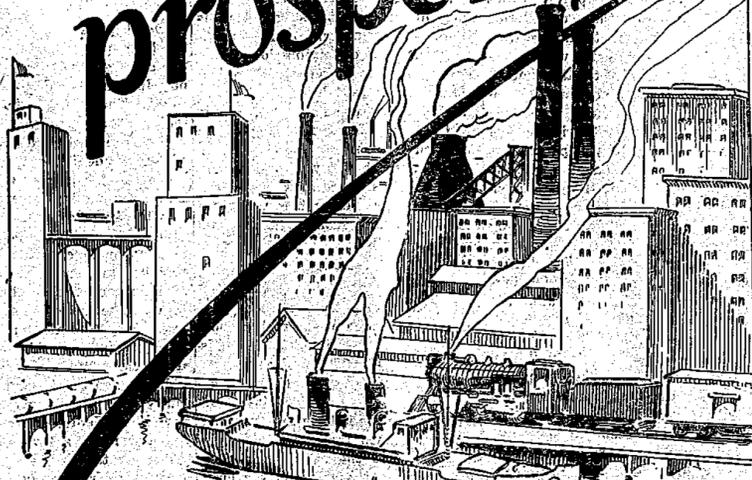

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO
 Owing to heavy rains, seeding has been interfered with, and some damage has been done to spring grains. Continued cold weather has retarded growth, and the season is fully a fortnight late. Fall wheat and hay crops are in good condition. Grass pastures promise well, but are backward. Late frosts reported in some sections has injured the strawberry and tomato crops. Early tobacco plants were damaged but can be replaced. There is an abundance of moisture. Warm weather is generally needed.

MARITIME PROVINCES
 The season is somewhat cold and backward, but seeding is well under way. New Brunswick: St. John River Valley—hay and grass pastures show good prospects, and a larger acreage of potatoes will be planted this year. Nova Scotia: Hay and grass pastures, although backward, look promising. In the Annapolis Valley, conditions were reported satisfactory. Fruit trees are well budded. Prince Edward Island: Grass pasturing conditions good, but backward.

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
 Throughout the Province, crops are much in need of rain, but are not in present danger. A good showing of field crops is reported. Grain and hay promise an average yield. Root prospects are good. Stone fruit is estimated at 60% to 70% of last year, and apples and pears probably 80% to 85%. Strawberries and raspberries are below average. Pasturage is generally good except on higher lands.

Car Catastrophes
 Here lies the remains of Percival Sapp.
 He drove his car with a girl in his lap,
 Lies slumbering here one William Blake,
 He hoard the bell, but had no brake
 Beneath this stone lies William Raines,
 Ice on the hill, he had no chains.
 Here lies the body of William Jay,
 He died maintaining his right of way.

Get behind OLIVER'S FIGHT
 For Equalized Freight Rates and Bigger Payrolls

ON June twentieth—Election Day—the Dominion Government, the Railway Corporations, and the Big Interests of Eastern Canada must be shown by the support that we accord the Honorable John Oliver that we are determined to grow and expand. Every vote for a Liberal Candidate is a vote for John Oliver, which is in effect an official message to Ottawa and the East that we in British Columbia are solidly behind the Oliver fight for conditions which are fundamental to the prosperity of every man, woman and child in this province.

Let us show them by our votes that British Columbia is in earnest; that we are determined to win this fight for equalized freight rates—equal charge for equal service throughout Canada; that we must have free and unrestricted use of the Panama Canal; that by natural heritage and moral right we are entitled to representation on national directorates; in short, that we demand the right of this Province to develop and grow.

John Oliver, with his great, homely common-sense and dogged fighting qualities, supported by his Liberal Government, has carried this fight to the interests which are retarding our growth and prosperity.

John Oliver and his Government made the first real fight for equalized freight rates; equal consideration in the expenditure of public monies for harbor improvement, with the resulting grain elevators, docks, etc., for British Columbia.

John Oliver and his Government are fighting for these fundamentals of prosperity which will ensure for us factory pay-rolls; a market for our agricultural products; the development of our natural resources; all of which will benefit every person in this Province.

John Oliver, the head of the Liberal Government in British Columbia, has the ear of the Honorable Mackenzie King, the head of the Liberal Government at Ottawa; and if the people of British Columbia demonstrate by their votes that they are in accord with John Oliver's fight, we in British Columbia will benefit to a far greater extent than we would if Mr. Bowser or General McRae were placed in power.

Disregard petty issues, disregard personal sentiment, and for the welfare of this Province and its economic development, and for your own best interests, return John Oliver and his Government to Victoria on June twentieth.

The Pedlar's Pack

By AUTOLYCUS

It may be very disrespectful to allude to our great experts in this fashion, but no other description seems to fit as well. WALL-EYED Astigmatic would possibly look rather better, but astigmatism hardly describes the optical deficiency under which these authorities seem to labour. The wall-eyed person has one blind eye, and that is evidently the failing of some of the gentlemen who are for some curious, inexplicable reason, accepted by the reading public as experts in certain matters. Norman Angell was, for some time, looked upon as an arbiter of things to come whose judgment could not be disputed until he rashly declared, in 1913, that a prolonged war among nations was a financial impossibility, and saw his theory smashed to pieces during the next five years! He was mentally wall-eyed then, and for that matter does not seem to have recovered, judging from the declaration of his views on Socialistic affairs in Great Britain today. It is not often we see the editor of an influential publication come out categorically against the opinions of a writer he has commissioned to express them in his own pages, but this has just happened in the Saturday Evening Post. The editor of that magazine says that his readers will experience no difficulty in perceiving upon what unstable bases many of Mr. Angell's points rest, and he is undoubtedly right.

Another great expert who has perpetrated an unreasonable number of financial howlers is Sir George Paish, at one time quoted as the greatest dictator of all in money matters. In actual calculations of pounds, shillings and pence, or dollars and cents, as the case may be, Sir George is possibly unassailable—when he applies his calculations to actual conditions, he is liable to become wall-eyed. For instance, he takes the annual expenditure by Great Britain of three hundred and fifty million pounds or thereabout on alcoholic beverages, and tells the people that they will lag behind in the world race for supremacy if they don't reduce this extravagance. In other words, he evidently looks upon the money as wasted, and entirely overlooks the fact that it really represents that amount paid out by consumers to the many wage earners engaged in the production and sale of beer, wines and spirits, and is not wasted at all. Of course, this fallacy is one which we meet with in argument almost every day, but it seems remarkable that a financial expert should lay himself open to ridicule in such fashion. The real explanation, in his case, and similar instances is that the figures are everything, and their practical significance is nothing. To use a common simile, these people can't see the forest for the trees!

There is war in Vancouver civic circles concerning the decorated garbage cans approved of recently by a majority of AN EXCUSABLE aldermen, but still BIAS apparently in the details given, it appears that the franchise granted to a certain concern for the installing of these cans, and the use of them for advertising purposes, has to be ratified by a new bylaw, and the city solicitor, in making this fact known, also stated that it would cost the council $3,200 a year to empty them. This legal advice, which looks quite in order, was immediately challenged by one council man as an evidence of bias on the part of the solicitor, and a terrible barrage of heated words was promptly opened. It is said that the chairman of the meeting was obliged to "hammer on the table with both fists" before the din of battle died down, and even so, it was renewed by his announcement that he took on himself the responsibility for seeking the solicitor's advice. Evidently he was in partnership with the legal adviser to hold up the measure,—and so on, and so forth! The upshot was that the city engineer was instructed to bring in a report to the next meeting, which looks like trouble for that official also, unless his figures are satisfactory.

Passing over the funny side of this schoolboy sort of dispute, one might fairly wonder what has become of the aldermanic sense of consistency and general fitness of things when a majority of councillors in the biggest city of British Columbia are willing to see their streets disfigured and debased by an array of receptacles made conspicuous by advertisement which will certainly be glaring enough to catch the eye. A garbage can is not, and cannot be a thing of beauty at its best, and is by its very nature one of those needed accessories of civilization which should cultivate a discreet air of reticence as it were. Even if it cannot exactly blush unseen, there is no need for any undue flaunting of its admitted virtues. Neat, but not gaudy, should be the motto in this matter, and, if the city solicitor is really biased against the proposed new fashion, he deserves well of his city.

"A Snapper Up of Unconsidered Trifles."

The Winter's Tale, Scene II, Act IV

Very few people living in a country where the mosquito flourishes, possess a correct idea of the real mission in life of this THE MOSQUITO'S benefactor of MMISSION mankind. They will slay on sight, and consider they are justified. But now comes along an authority who says that the sting of a mosquito is an active agent in the cure of certain forms of insanity, a statement which, at first sight, seems entirely opposed to general experience. Many a person will declare that mosquitos drive them crazy, and always find plenty to agree with them, but, according to the results of certain experiments made in London, and cited in "MacLeans' Magazine," actual madness has been found to yield to the influence of the sting. Like many other reported discoveries, this one is said to be accidental, and arose from the fact that a patient suffering from what is known as "general paralysis of the insane" recovered his sanity after an attack of malaria contracted from mosquito bites. No attention was paid to the possible connection at first, but later on there was a suggestion offered, and an experiment decided on. Accordingly another paralysis patient was inoculated with a few drops of blood from a malaria sufferer, and the attack of malaria which followed resulted in the return to sanity of the subject of the experiment. We are told that similar results have been secured again and again since then, and that the treatment is being used frequently.

Well, if the account is true, and certain types of mental disturbance can be cured along these lines, we may rejoice. But, seeing that enough mosquitos for this purpose can be cultivated in a very limited area, let us not abate the rigour of our anti-mosquito campaign. And we should see to it that, when mosquito farms come into existence, they shall be rigidly fenced in with wire screens of an approved mesh! AUTOLYCUS.

BIG SCOUT ENCAMPMENT IS PROPOSED

Boys of Washington State Invited to Join Okanagan Scouts at Pentiction.

Pentiction.—At a joint meeting of members of the municipal council, board of trade, Boy Scout council and Elks' lodge, it was decided to invite the North Central Wenatchee Council of the Boy Scouts of America to arrange for the holding of a Boy Scout rally for four days, commencing about July 1, in Pentiction.

The matter was first brought forward some time ago by the Boy Scout interests at Wenatchee, who wrote to all the directors of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association asking their opinion on the subject of an annual international Boy Scout camp to be held alternately in a British Columbia and a Washington town.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association the directors expressed themselves as heartily approving the idea and considered it would be an event which would be of great interest to the community covered by the association. The representatives from the American side further expressed themselves as considering that Pentiction was the very best place for the first camp to be held on account of the bathing and other facilities, saying that in their part of the country they had nothing to compare with this.

It was pointed out that the bringing in of some 500 to 1000 boys to camp here would mean that many of their parents would also visit the town. A resolution was passed approving

KELLEY SPEAKS AT PEACHLAND

Deals with Beer Plebiscite—Other Happenings in Sister Town.

W. C. Kelley, barrister of Summerland, gave a splendid address on the beer question in connection with the coming plebiscite in the Municipal Hall on Thursday evening of last week. There was a fairly good attendance and those present were well pleased with the able manner in which he dealt with the question. He picked no quarrel with those who are in favor of moderation, or those who think they ought to be allowed to purchase a little beer, but gave some very conclusive arguments on why he considered it would not be wise on the part of the electors to vote for the sale of beer by the glass. He referred to the main points of the Act and gave his interpretation of the same and after completing the address gave those present an opportunity of asking any questions. The Rev. T. A. Sadler occupied the chair and also made a few remarks much to the point. Mr. Kelley was accompanied by Mrs. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Ritchie and Mrs. Thos. Dale.

There is a gang of about eighteen men, working on the Peachland-Princeton road and the work is reported to be progressing favorably. S. Elliott, road superintendent, and S. Murdin, road foreman, took a run out over the Peachland-Princeton road last week. They took the car as far as the right-of-way was cleared and walked over the proposed route for the new section.

W. Dryden, local representative on the central directorate, made an official visit to Vernon last midweek, on Associated business.

The Provincial party candidate, H. B. D. Lysons, assisted by Eric Dart and Lt.-Col. B. H. Belson, addressed a public meeting in the Municipal Hall on Saturday evening last. A fairly representative gathering gave an attentive hearing to the speakers. H. Williams occupied the chair. We might claim enough of the readers' time to say that the candidate was so in earnest for clean government he made the statement that should he be sent to Victoria and should he find there the reverse of clean government, he would not submit to it, but would resign and return home.

The union service on Sunday evening last was conducted as usual by the Rev. T. A. Sadler, while the Anglicans were served by the Rev. H. A. Solly, of Summerland, and the Baptists by Mr. Gilbert Thornber, also of Summerland.

C. B. Latta, Kelowna, the Liberal candidate, with Mr. Mitchell, also of Kelowna, were in town on Sunday and attended the evening service in the Union church. They were accompanied by Mrs. Smith, of Vancouver, not the member, but nevertheless an enthusiastic Liberal, as borne out by the fact that she is energetically supporting the present government and spent a couple of days in Peachland organizing the liberal ladies. Mrs. Smith is probably better known to residents here through her connection with the processing of fruit while a resident of Naramata. She has organized a company to develop this manufacture further.

Mrs. Gummow and son, John, returned on Thursday from Pentiction, where they spent a few days following a fishing trip which Mrs. Gummow with her husband and a small company of friends had been enjoying.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Koyos and Mr. and Mrs. G. Barber motored north on Thursday. Mrs. Koyos stopped at Westbank to visit friends while the others went on to Kelowna.

After spending a few days with relatives here, Mrs. J. S. Moore and little daughter returned to Pentiction by boat on Thursday evening.

Miss Annie Kudelka left on Friday evening to return to her post in the Kelowna Hospital after a few weeks' vacation. A portion of her holiday was spent with friends in Pentiction, she having just returned from that visit on Friday morning. Her brother Will took her by car as (Continued on Page 5) of the proposition and Secretary T. H. Williams was asked to wire the Wenatchee organization extending to them an invitation to hold their rally in this town this year. It was not made very clear by the communication received from Wenatchee exactly what plans had been made there, and for that reason it was decided to ask for an early reply setting forth the situation more fully.

MENTHOLATUM FEEL IT HEAL! TIRELESS FEET SKIN-IRRITATION, BRUISES

Three weak cripples then paid homage to her as their queen. The beauty and strength of the respective fairies was supposed to be in proportion to the good and kind deeds rendered by the two girls. It was in the nature of the poor girl to help others, while the wealthy girl, although she had great plans, had been of no aid to others. The four fairies were Veronica Solly, Margie Simpson, Kitty Beattie and Dorothy Bernard, led by the first named. The three cripples were Loretta Inglis, Lois Zimmerman, and Mildred Borton, with Loretta Inglis as spokeswoman.

Miss V. Jones gave "The Amazon Dance," costumed in a leopard skin. She carried a spear and shield of the natives and placed these in the centre of the stage before proceeding. This was most heartily enjoyed.

Mr. H. Daniel took the solo part of the vaudeville act, "Girls, Pretty Girls." He was supported by a troupe of dancing girls, Jean Moffat, Mildred Shields, Myrtle Walden, Mabel Lockwood, Alannah Sutherland, and Doris Jackson. An encore was given.

Mr. G. C. Benmore gave a comic song, "Mingle Your Eyebrows with Mine." This brought much laughter from the audience, which insisted on more, to which demand Mr. Benmore responded with "Sweet Little Lady," another comic song which made a great hit.

Miss Alma Lott rendered a solo, "My Partners," from the opera, "A Country Girl." This was highly appreciated and an encore was given.

"British Slavery" was the title given to a song by Mr. C. B. Winter with chorus, all in the costume of the Chinese. The "slavery" referred to the various customs under which the British live. Alannah Sutherland, Rene Harris, Jean Moffat, Myrtle Walden, Mildred Shields, Nellie Thompson, Doris Jackson, Gertrude Shields and Mabel Lockwood made up the chorus.

The once-act farce, "The Best Cure," was a fine success, all participants taking their roles in an exact manner. The story concerned an author (Louis Smith), who had entered a hospital for a rest, his wife (Miss Alma Lott), two nurses (Mrs. H. Reynolds and Mrs. G. R. Hookham) and a talkative maid (Miss Marion Cartwright). Clarence's nerves were in bad shape and he fidgeted and complained of the least noise. The maid, unaware of his complaint, told him what a nuisance these rest cure patients were, and that they never really had anything the matter with them, and that the truly sick people did no grumbling. This somewhat relieved him as he had imagined he was the victim of many ailments, and with the help of the maid he planned to escape from the institution. The curtain fell when the escape was assured.

The acting throughout was excellent and the parts well taken. Louis Smith maintained the difficult role of the nervous, fidgety individual and interpreted the character in a life-like manner. The other members of the cast carried their parts so that nothing was lost to the audience. The proceeds, which will go toward the Girl Guide camp, are not yet all in, but the amount will be forthcoming at a later date.

new queen followed with the usual ceremonies, including a speech from the throne, and the attention of all was then directed to the Maypole dance, admirable done under the supervision of Mrs. Simey. "The Old Okanagan" was sung by Mr. F. Manchester, and the old English favorite, Sir Roger de Coverly, followed, and was exceedingly well received. The costumes were very attractive, and must have meant a great deal of planning, and not a little artistic taste. This remark applies also to the dresses of the Four Seasons, represented by Ethel Christian (Spring) Alice Myers (Summer) Nessie Rushbury (Autumn) and Alice Walters (Winter). John Bull, (Jimmy Ford), and the King's Navy, (Billy Gawn), were also to the front, and blended with the double ranks of Guides, Scouts and Cubs, which guarded the approach to Her Majesty the Queen.

While we are getting this budget together for mailing there are great doings down at the baseball grounds and basketball grounds. The Westbank and Peachland Juniors played a game of baseball which finished in favor of the visiting team with a score 15 to 13. Peachland led for the first half of the game, but with good even play on both sides, but the visitors got our boys up in the air for an inning and ran the score up in their own favor to a point which the local boys were not able to match before time for three cheers. It was a splendid game and these juniors are showing signs of getting ready to take their place on the senior team very shortly. They are getting to know the game thoroughly and are able to think and act quickly in a crisis. The girls' basketball teams, also between Westbank and Peachland, played a fast and furious game, the visiting team coming out on top with a score of 16 to 10. After this the boys picked up teams, two of the Westbank boys playing on the Peachland side, this game finishing in favor of Peachland with a score of 9 to 4. Quite a representation of the Westbank young people accompanied the players, and the events afforded quite a friendly mix between the two schools.

sect and fungus pests are quite general and undoubtedly will adversely affect the production. It is impossible to give any estimate at the present time.

The berry crop this year promises to be lighter. This is partly owing to winter injury in some patches, and in other cases growers are reducing their acreage of cane fruits owing to the poor returns of 1923.

Vegetables are coming along fast and plots appear in good condition with the exception of onions which on the whole are thin. The onion maggot is still very active.

Winter wheat is heading and the straw is very short.

Spring seeding of grains are not good owing to the continued drought and this condition will be intensified unless there are some good heavy rains very shortly. Hay fields are doing well where irrigation is available, and during the past few days cutting of first crop alfalfa has been noticed.

Kelowna.

The weather during the past week has been cooler and very dry, but the dry spell was broken on Tuesday by a few good hard showers of rain.

The first application of arsenate of lead for codling moth control was finished this week. The number of over-wintering larvae caught in the bands this year is less than usual.

Frost damage reported during the early part of the season is well marked now and is evidenced by a very heavy drop in many orchards. In a great many orchards the effect will be the same as a good thinning, and better quality fruit should be the result.

Drought spot is showing up in some orchards; leaf roller is also much in evidence.

Truck crops are making good growth. During the past week tomato growers have been busy setting out plants. Vegetable growers are still fighting the grasshopper on an extensive scale. The poison bait is giving good results.

Keremeos.

The tree fruit crop in this section appears to be lighter than in the Pentiction district.

Strawberry shipments have commenced and there will be a general movement of this fruit over the coming week.

There is considerable acreage planted and being planted to tomatoes.

Oliver.

In this district the acreage planted to tomatoes is heavy this season.

There is an 100% increase in the melon acreage over that of 1923, and the plants are making satisfactory growth.

Building of the cannery is in full swing and should prove of much benefit to the growers of canning products.

Kootenay and Arrow Lakes.

The weather has not been so warm the past week and there was a very welcome rain to the extent of .8 of an inch on May the 24th. This rain was general throughout all sections of the Kootenay, and will be of great benefit to all growing crops.

Most varieties of apples appear to have set well. Jonathans in some orchards are showing a poor set.

Duchess, Wealthy and wagoner are ready for thinning, and indications are that growers will need to thin heavily this season. Wagoner, McIntosh and Northern Spy are showing a heavy crop.

Vancouver Island and Gulf Island.

The weather has continued dry but considerably cooler. There has been just a trace of rain in Victoria district with local showers in some other parts.

on the market in fair quantities.

A few ripe local Marshall Strawberries are on the market. These have come from early locations. Magoons are developing fast and picking should be fairly general by June the 9th which will be a few days earlier than 1923.

Loganberries are in full bloom and raspberries are rapidly reaching that stage. There has been considerable winter injury to these two fruits in various locations.

The set of tree fruits has been very variable in different orchards and localities. What fruit has set is developing very favorably.

Rhubarb is more or less off the market owing to the poor price offered. Local asparagus is in full swing and commanding a very fair price. There seems to be a market for a greater volume of this vegetable.

Lower Mainland.

The weather continues dry but during the past week it has been cooler with a few showers which have helped conditions a little. A good rain before picking commences would be very beneficial to the entire district.

Strawberries have commenced to move, a few crates of Premiers, Dunlops and Marshalls having been shipped this week. Magoons are showing a very fair setting and with a little moisture crop prospects are quite favorable.

Picking will be in full swing in the course of a couple of weeks, and the first car should roll about June the 10th.

Raspberries are showing some improvement during the past two weeks and preparations are being made to handle a good crop.

Blackberries and loganberries are in full bloom and promise a heavy crop—particularly on the higher land.

Currants and gooseberries are developing very satisfactorily, although black currants are not so heavy a crop as was indicated earlier in the season. A few crates of gooseberries are now moving daily.

Salmon Arm and Main Line.

The weather is cooler with light showers, but not sufficient to be of much benefit.

Strawberries are in full bloom and no frosts have occurred. The plants look well at the present time but unless rain comes the crop will be short.

Judging from present indications there is likely to be a heavy drop in apples. Cherries and plums are setting fairly well.

Raspberries and loganberries look very unovon and "patchy", and the crop from present indications will only be fair.

Currants and Gooseberries are an average crop.

His Hearing Restored

The invisible ear drum invented by A. O. Leonard, which is a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of hundreds of people in New York city. Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does it so successfully that no one could tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. Leonard, Suite 480, 70 Fifth Ave., New York City, will be given a prompt reply.

THIRD PARTY PLATFORM IS EXPLAINED

Provincial Party Candidate and Supporters Address Meeting Here.

H. B. D. Lyons, third party candidate for South Okanagan, gave his first public address here last Thursday evening and was supported by Lt. Col. B. H. Belson and Eric Dart, all three speakers being from Kelowna. P. G. Koop was chairman and briefly introduced the speakers. All three were given attentive hearing throughout by a fair sized audience. The chairman called upon Mr. Dart to make the opening address who in an allegorical tale described the P. G. E. as a two-headed monster which he named Bowliver. In public the two heads quarreled with each other but when a meal, provided at public expense, was in sight, both parts ate together, in harmony.

Regarding the Provincial Party leader, Mr. Dart explained that Gen. McRae had made his fortune handling some fifteen million acres of land on the prairie, out of which he had made a profit of some sixty cents per acre. He had left the communities he had established happy and prosperous.

The speaker then went on to state that when Mr. Lyons' name was first mentioned as a possible candidate, he, Mr. Dart, had made it a point to ask all the people he met as to what their opinion of that gentleman was. The answer was the same in each case, "that he was absolutely straight." That, therefore, was the opinion of "the man on the street," and would be the opinion of the great multitude of silent voters. This quality of honesty meant a great deal, but it was not the only qualification necessary for a man entering the political field in B. C. Daniel in the lions' den would have had a hard time if his only help had been his honesty of character. A candidate in this part of the world needed brains as well as honesty of purpose, and this highly necessary qualification was possessed by Mr. Lyons. This fact had been amply proven by the manner in which he had handled the affairs of the Tomato Growers' Association, where he had managed to merge together in industrial harmony the actions and

MUD SLIDE ON LAUNDRY ROAD

Back Road to Hospital Hill is Blocked by Mud and Water.

Mud slides, which have become quite frequent at that particular point, have again blocked the back road to Hospital Hill just a few yards west of the Methodist parsonage and directly north and under the Bank of Montreal manager's residence.

A quantity of saturated earth fell from the top of the cliff to the road below about two o'clock Monday morning and another slide occurred about 7.30 the same morning. On the Bristow property and quite near the face of the cliff there is a depression in which seepage water gathers. Gradually it soaks the soil out to the face of the cliff and a slide results. The water is still running taking down mud and sand to the road below and over on to the Gowans property. On Tuesday a start was made on taking down and moving the embankment on this lot, which is being erected at a safer distance.

MUNICIPALITY BUYS OWN HOSPITAL BONDS

Summerland municipality has purchased some of its own bonds issued for the purpose of assisting the Hospital Society in building the new hospital. The sinking fund for the retiring of these bonds at maturity have been accumulating and when hospital bonds to the value of $1,500 were offered the council they were purchased with a cheque drawn on this fund.

SUMMERLAND'S 1923 FRUIT CROP TOTALLED $400,000

Summerland received for her 1923 fruit crop fully $400,000. This is a marked contrast with the deplorable results of the previous season's operations. True, prices were not nearly what they should have been, but the receipt of $400,000 reveals a very healthy condition as compared with the year before and indicates what may be expected when prices become more satisfactory, as they give every indication of being this season.

These figures may be taken as authentic. All will agree that it would have been impossible for Summerland to have realized anything like this price for its crop had it not been for the stabilizing effect of the fruit growers' organizations.

Outside of what money was directly diverted to outside points for purchases made by the shipping houses including paper, nails and box materials, this money was distributed here among growers and handlers of the crop.

MAIL CONTRACT GOES TO FERCY FOSTER

Percy Foster, now with the Dominion Experimental Station, has been awarded the rural route mail contract. C. J. Ann's contract terminates at the end of this month. It is understood that it is Mr. Foster's intention to use horses instead of a motor car.

SHIPPERS MUST GET TOGETHER

"Heads of Organizations Must Sink All Personal Considerations."

Prospects are better for the marketing of the 1924 crop on the prairies than were the results of the previous two years, but, the Associated and Independent organization must get together, or the buyers will play one against the other, is the statement of J. A. Grant in his first 1924 Markets Bulletin. Mr. Grant says: "We have carefully studied the outlook for marketing of all B. C. produce on the prairies this season, and are strongly of the opinion that it will be an improvement on 1922 and 1923 seasons.

Marketing in the past two years has suffered by the methods used. Our greatest handicap was the lack of concentrated distribution. Intense competition in one season made a bad market situation infinitely worse, and while conditions on the prairies are far from normal, the buying power of the consumers has not shown any improvement.

Owing to a surplus of wholesale houses, some of the weak ones have been forced to the wall, causing great loss to B. C. consignment shippers; others are at present not in a strong financial position. If ever there was a time when consignment for sale on commission was a risky business it is now. We strongly urge berry growers to get behind the cart shipping movement as returns are safer in this manner.

We have arrived at the conclusion that this year will be an improvement over the past two years because of the fact that the bulk of the growers are organized and shipping in a manner that should insure control of the distribution, particularly the berry growing industry. This concentration could be made to apply more effectively to the tree fruit and vegetable distribution if those at the head of the Associated and Independent organizations would sink all personal considerations and unite for their growers' good, under one distributing hand. We hear that at present they are not a unit in this matter and just as sure as they remain apart, the buyers will play one against the other to the detriment of both.

Apple trees have decreased from 151,322,840 in 1910 to 30,067,811 in 1920 in the United States.

It's not what you know, but what you do with what you know, that makes what you know worth anything.

ASSOCIATED MAKE CONTRACT WITH MUTUAL

Nash Houses to Buy All Supplies from Associated Growers.

Associated Growers of B. C., Ltd., have dropped the dual arrangement they had last year with the Mutual Brokers and the Growers' Sales Agency, according to good authority, and will distribute their fruits and vegetables shipped to the prairies through the former only. It is understood that this is the outcome of the recent visit of Associated heads to the prairies. Under the same arrangement the Nash houses on the prairies have undertaken to take all of their supplies from the Associated.

Concurrent with these reports comes the news that Growers' Sales Agency have closed their Edmonton office and are now affiliated with the Mutual, and further, that Glen Florence, with the Growers' Agency since it was organized is no longer with them and intends to leave the prairies.

A truck load of oil drums, belonging to the Imperial Oil Co., turned upside down off the side of the road on Monday a few miles this side of Penticton when on its way to Summerland.

CRAFTS LEAGUE SENDS TEACHER TO VICTORIA

Several of our citizens will go to Victoria this summer for the period of the sessions of the summer school held there. Two are going because of the existence here of the Arts and Crafts League and the work it has undertaken.

Miss Doris Cordy, who has been a most apt pupil in pottery since the organization here of the school in pottery, will go to the capital city to give instructions in pottery at the summer school which opens early in July and continues for a month or more.

Miss Mary Vicary, who has been given the status of a public school teacher for the purpose, will attend to take a special course in dress designing in order that she may qualify as a teacher in this work in the night school here next winter.

Another going to the summer school from here is S. J. Feltham, instructor in the manual training department of the Summerland schools. He will take a further short course in that line.

Mr. Feltham is making a potter's wheel for the department of education which will be used in the summer school, and he will likely be asked to make several others, while he is in Victoria.

MAKING OFFER FOR ROAD GRAVEL PIT

One hundred and fifty dollars is being offered by the municipality for little to about one-half acre of land on the north side of the road opposite the entrance to the J. C. Wilson property and being part of the H. Vanderburg lot, formerly the Lano property.

Negotiations were opened some time ago for the right to take gravel from the point of land there, just where the road curves. On Monday the reeve and councillors in session agreed that $150 would be a fair price and decided to offer this for the land which they had marked off.

CARS IN COLLISION ON PEACHLAND ROAD

At a turn in the road about four miles north of Crescent Beach two cars collided on Monday afternoon. One was a car from Washington State and the other is said to have come from up the Valley. The American car, a Ford, is reported to have been hugging close to the inside of the road though going north, and when the other, a new Chevrolet, came in sight he swung hurriedly off to the outer edge but was not quick enough to let the Chev. pass. The latter suffered a broken front fender, a bent axle and other slight damage. The Ford had its rear fender damaged. The two cars swung around somewhat and when the Chev. came to a stop it was off the road against some trees. The southbound party remained here over night while their car was being repaired.

BATHING HOUSE FOR TOURIST PARK

Provided voluntary labor can be had to assist in its erection, a bathing house will be built on the shore in Peach Orchard for the use of campers in the tourist park as well as for our own citizens.

The suggestion was made by Reeve Campbell at the last meeting of the council that some lumber remaining unsold from the building on Shaughnessy Avenue which had been torn down be so utilized, met with the approval of the councillors.

The reeve and others of the council had already visited the shore and selected a site suitable for the purpose, one that would be accessible to campers and would afford good bathing.

Reeve Campbell and Coun. Johnston were appointed a committee to consult citizens with the view to getting volunteer labor and to carry out all plans for providing this much needed convenience.

PETITION FOR LARGER MAIN

Council Considers Means of Financing Shaughnessy Avenue Pipe.

Summerland has some thousands of dollars of money voted for domestic water purposes, now invested in Victory bonds, and the treasurer was instructed on Monday to write Victoria to learn if it will be in order to use some of this in replacing a section of the pipe on Shaughnessy Ave. A largely signed petition, pointing out the inadequacy of a section of the existing line and also the great danger from fire which exists because of present conditions, was placed before the council at the last meeting. The petition urged that at least this much should be done, even if the council felt that the booster pump could not be financed now.

The justice of the request was generally recognized, the reeve and others stating they would be glad to grant the petition, provided it could be financed. The decision to write for information as noted above resulted from a lengthy discussion.

HEAR ADDRESS ON NARCOTICS

Dr. F. W. Andrew Before Women's Institute—The Playground.

An important item of business of the Summerland Women's Institute which was held on Friday, June 6th, was the discussing and passing of a resolution prepared for Women's Institutes of Canada, at the request of Premier J. P. Veniot of New Brunswick.

The condition of the children's playground was discussed, several repairs being necessary. It is hoped to have these attended to and so have the swings and see-saws in a sound condition.

Mrs. M. B. Smith, of Naramata, very briefly addressed the meeting, pointing out the need in the Valley for saving non-shippable fruits by dehydrating and crystallizing. She hoped to have a plant functioning this season at least in time to take care of the cull apples.

Dr. Andrew received a very attentive hearing in his address on the narcotic evils of the day. He gave food for thought at the alarming increase of the use of these drugs and the great destruction of young life. A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded Dr. Andrew.

damage. The Ford had its rear fender damaged. The two cars swung around somewhat and when the Chev. came to a stop it was off the road against some trees. The southbound party remained here over night while their car was being repaired.

DIVIDEND IS DECLARED BY STORAGE CO.

Payment Deferred from Sale of Property—Cash Coming Soon.

Though the balance sheet of the Summerland Storage Co., Ltd., which came up for discussion at the annual meeting of the company held last Friday night, showed a fair margin of profit, the shareholders decided not to pay a dividend this year. However, a dividend of six per cent on paid up capital was passed, payment being deferred. The reason for not issuing the dividend cheques is the fact that there is about $31,000 due the Dominion Bank for capital borrowed on shareholders' notes, which money is further guaranteed by about four of the original directors. The bank also holds Packing Houses Co. debentures, which were issued to the Storage Co. in part payment for the property bought from the latter.

Deferring payment, it was fully realized, was working a hardship on some shareholders who had put considerable money into the business with the assurance that it was a certain dividend paying investment, but, on the other hand, in view of the reported attitude of the bank (Continued on Page 4)

INDEPENDENT SHIPPERS' ASSOC. ELECT OFFICERS

Kelowna: At a meeting of the Fruit and Vegetable Shippers Association of B. C. held here last week, every independent shipper of the Okanagan was represented.

The following officers for the year were elected: President: Leopold Hayes, Kelowna; Vice President, A. J. Finch, Penticton; Secretary-Treas. W. E. Adams, Kelowna. These officers together with R. W. McDonald of Armstrong, E. C. Skinner of Vernon, W. E. Walter, Summerland and H. Armstrong, Keremeos, comprise the Executive.

It was the general consensus of opinion of those present that the cherry crop, which will soon be moving, will not be more than a 25% crop, at least so far as sweet cherries are concerned. Sour cherries are a fair crop. Peaches throughout the Okanagan are practically a failure, while apricots are setting fairly well. The apple crops is estimated to be about 70% of last year and this estimate may be further reduced when the June drop is over.

Prices on cherries and apricots were fixed and agreed upon. Prices as regards other fruits will be established later when it is more definitely known what the crops are, but in view of the short crop as at present evident, it was felt that the prices should be somewhat better than those received last year. The vegetable crops are earlier than usual, but through drought and certain pests, will develop a lower tonnage than last year.

MUSKRATS CAUSE FLOODING OF LAND

Muskrats have been giving municipal authorities much trouble by their repeatedly burrowing into the ditch passing through T. B. Young's Prairie Valley lot. They have been working under the bow of the ditch where it curves around a ridge on the side of the hill. The work of the rats has caused repeated flooding of the land below the ditch. Foreman Tomlin has been given permission to cut through the ridge, which work will be necessary when a stool flume is laid along there. This flume may be put in next season.

FIRST CHERRIES SHIPPED MONDAY

Summerland Co-operative made its first shipments of cherries on Monday. On that day and the next forty crates were sent out and shipments will soon be going through in considerable volume.

Man is the only animal that can be skinned more than once.

MUST SPEED UP PRODUCTION OF LOCAL CRAFTS

Increasing local demand from tourists and other visitors as well as from our own citizens is taking the output of pottery and other products of the Summerland branch of the B. C. Arts and Crafts as fast as produced and there is also a growing and insistent demand from the Coast and other outside points.

In order to deal with the situation which this rapidly increasing demand is creating a special general meeting of the League was held on Tuesday afternoon, the chief object being to place before the members the necessity of speeding up production. Two very interested visitors were Mrs. Isabel Ecclestone MacKay, the well known writer and poet, and Mrs. Dubois Phillips, wife of the president of the B. C. Art League and one of the leading workers in the Vancouver Little Theatre. Both these ladies arrived in the Valley from Vancouver a few days ago and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Aikins, Naramata.

ROWCLIFFE'S WILL OPERATE HERE

Rowcliffe, Ltd., of Kelowna, has leased the T. B. Young building and will engage in fruit shipping here. This firm has been in business in Kelowna for several years. They operated at Peachland and Penticton last year and are doing so again this season. R. F. Dynes, of Penticton, will be in charge here.

KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

M. G. Wilson in Hospital in Vancouver—Victim of Many Accidents.

M. G. Wilson was knocked down by a Ford in Vancouver last Friday noon and as a result will be in hospital there for two or three weeks at least before he is able to return home.

He was walking west along Pender and had crossed Seymour, when from a most unexpected direction, he was knocked down and run over. It is stated that the driver, a young man of 21, had just bought the car and was taking lessons from the dealer and in making the turn from Pender to Seymour he swung over to the wrong side of the latter street striking Mr. Wilson on the left side just as he was about to step up on the sidewalk. The car was not going fast and Mr. Wilson went down comparatively easy but the wheels passed over his lame leg doing most of the damage at or near the ankle.

Mr. Wilson had left here some days before and had covered many hundred miles by motor before he reached Vancouver, having been at Wonatchee, Nelson, Creston, Spokane, Yakima and Portland and reached Vancouver last Thursday.

He has had the misfortune of being the victim of several bad accidents in the last few years, the worst of which was when a car in which he was riding with the owner went off the road and rolled down a rocky hillside near Kelowna. At that time he suffered injuries which rendered him permanently lame. Some time prior to that he was knocked from an orchard ladder and on another occasion his horse fell with him. In both these accidents he suffered fractured bones. Several of his ribs were broken in another accident, when a car in which he was riding between his ranch and Penticton went off the road.

SECTION OF NEW SIDEWALK ORDERED

About one hundred and twenty feet of the sidewalk in front of Hotel Summerland is to be replaced with new. The present condition of the walk was drawn to the attention of the council by C. B. McCallum and at a meeting of the council held on Monday the new walk was ordered. Some improvement will also be made to the sidewalk a few yards further south, and woods and other growth removed all along Shaughnessy Avenue.

FORWARD RECOMMENDATIONS TO ASSOCIATED

Managers and Delegates of Locals Deal with Many Questions.

Summerland's demand for a local pool was placed before the meeting of managers and delegates of the locals held last week at Vernon but failed to get sufficient endorsement to have it go before the advisory committee as a resolution or recommendation from that meeting.

Seen since his return from Vernon R. Pollock, delegate from the Summerland local, says that Summerland's position is a whole lot better understood than it was a year ago when it was the only local favoring a local or even district pool. At the Vernon meeting the first vote resulted in a tie in favor of the resolution presented by the Summerland delegate, but a Kootenay man had refrained from voting and when pressed for his opinion he finally voted negative.

All decisions reached at this meeting go to the advisory committee of the Associated in the form of recommendations and may or may not be finally adopted, but most of them are likely to be.

Short term pools on soft fruits were so adjusted that they will give Summerland some advantages as compared with the past season.

Wage schedules were revised, including packers' wages. Mr. Pollock states there will be some reduction and that some inequalities will be adjusted.

The operating rules were gone over and considerable changes made. Discussion of the question of uniform style of loading and bracing cars resulted in a request to central that amended specifications be furnished each local.

Some recommendations from the soft fruit committee were discussed and resolutions passed which will contribute to the better handling of the fruit.

The meeting favored experimenting with shipping certain varieties of apples in orchard run crates.

Direct shipment to retailers of cherries and cots will likely figure largely in the handling of these delicate fruits. Orders will come through the usual wholesale channels and the fruit will go out l.e.i. express to the retailers.

REGRET LOSING MISS V. JONES

Board Asked to Make Change in High School Staff.

Miss Vivian Jones has resigned her position on the Summerland High school staff with the intention of continuing her studies. Her resignation was accepted with much regret at the last meeting of the school board. All expressed appreciation of her services as a teacher.

Miss Helen White and Bernard Taylor, representing the students' council of the high school, sought permission of the board to have the classes begin work at eight o'clock for the rest of the term. For most of the school one o'clock was proposed for the closing hour, but some of the pupils will continue in session until four as they have been doing for some time. The board agreed to the proposed new hours and further consented to having school open at 7.30 provided a trial of the eight o'clock opening showed it to be practicable.

According to a report made by the secretary the high school fees are being fairly well paid.

Accounts for salaries, conveyance, etc., totalling $2,680 were examined and approved.

An increase of one hundred dollars in salary was voted Howard Daniel of the public school staff.

Among the correspondence read was a letter from Mrs. W. C. W. Fosbury in which she practically demanded the dismissal of the principal of the high school on the

NARAMATA NEWS

Current Events of Town and District

Rev. H. J. Armitage will speak on the beer plebiscite next Sunday afternoon in the Naramata church.

Mrs. Patterson left for a visit to eastern Canada last week.

There has been a good deal of local comment on the failure of the Summerland Sports Committee to advertise the June 3rd outing, and to arrange for the usual Naramata trip to Crescent Beach on that day. An excursion has generally been run from this place by ferry, and considerable disappointment was felt at the apparent neglect to organize this customary event.

Jack Logie, Labor candidate in the coming election, addressed a fairly good gathering in the Naramata Hall on Friday evening, his subject being announced as The Social Crisis. Mr. H. P. Salting officiated as chairman.

Rev. H. A. Solly officiated at the Anglican service on Sunday afternoon, when there was a good attendance. The offertory solo was taken by Miss Doris Laurence, who sang Mendelssohn's "O, Rest in the Lord." Mrs. Languedoc was organist.

Mrs. M. A. Allen and Miss Margaret Allen arrived from the Coast on Saturday, and will spend the summer here.

Miss Florrie Lyons left on Friday for a short holiday with relatives at Trail.

Mr. Geo. Weaver gave a talk on bees to the senior pupils of the school in Miss Glasser's room on Monday afternoon, illustrating the domestic economy of bee life by means of an observation hive. Much interest was shown by his hearers, and many questions asked.

Mrs. Raitt and her daughter Lillian arrived from Arizona on Tuesday, and will spend the summer on the Raitt property.

The Partridges, father and son, had a narrow escape from a serious accident last week, when the steering gear of their car broke, they being on the top of the hill adjoining the cemetery. Fortunately the car continued running on the road until near the bottom and only then ran off down a shallow grade, coming to a stop without overturning.

The road work is progressing well and the ultimate improvement is now becoming evident.

Mr. Fred Baker and family have moved into the house lately occupied by Mr. Graham, Mr. Baker having been appointed foreman of the local co-operative fruit company.

In addition to the usual 10 o'clock trip across the lake, Captain Roe will run a special at 1 o'clock on Saturday for those who wish to spend the afternoon only at the Experimental Farm. There will also be a special return ferry in the evening if the passenger list is large enough.

LUNCH FOR THE MAN

It is always a problem to make up a tasty and nourishing lunch. A reader sends us this letter on the subject:

"My husband, as a rule, hates any food that is not commensurate to call forth words of commendation—one hard-boiled egg, one-half the amount of salt meat (ham, corned beef, dried beef or cooked bacon). Grind the egg and the meat. Season to taste with salt, pepper, mustard, and a few drops of vinegar. Moisten to spread, with Borden's St. Charles Milk. Serve on a crisp lettuce leaf (with a little onion, chives or celery chopped in with it, if you like). Allow one egg for each three sandwiches."

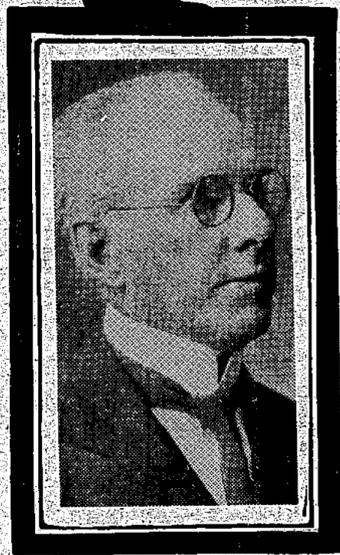

OUR BIRDS

The importance of conserving bird life is stressed in a bulletin issued by the Michigan Bird Conservation Commission. "If all birds should suddenly disappear, every plant every flower, every green leaf and blade of grass would be destroyed within two years! The birds form a vast aerial army for the destruction of insects, and man has no better friends than the birds. An oriole, for instance, has been known to destroy sixty-seven caterpillars in exactly one minute. A single family of jays will destroy a million caterpillars in a season. In the state of Nebraska it is estimated that birds devour 170 carloads of insects a day. The little wren destroys its own weight in insects every twenty-four hours. A single cuckoo is worth $100 a season to the orchardist. 'No birds, no food,' says the scientist. Let's help conserve them."

The big man is tolerant.

Get behind Oliver's fight

for Equalized Freight Rates

& Bigger Pay Rolls

G. B. LATTA

Equal freight and express rates, east and west, means reduced rates on groceries; clothing; shoes; kitchen utensils and hardware; factory machinery and a hundred and one things.

Equal freight and express rates, east and west, means reduced rates on fruit, fish, lumber and general produce shipped out of British Columbia.

Equal freight rates mean reduced cost of production; reduced cost of living; more factories and larger payrolls.

The only way you can help in the fight for equal freight rates is to vote for the candidates who support John Oliver in his fight for equal rights.

The Production of Good Honey Combs

A good stock of drawn combs is the most valuable asset that a beekeeper can have, especially if one is a producer of extracted honey.

A good comb is one that is straight and containing as few drone cells as possible. It must also be firmly attached to the frame on all four sides and strongly supported in the frame by means of wire.

require trimming, as it must not touch the end or bottom bars of the frame by at least one-eighth of an inch or it will buckle after giving it to the bees.

When extracting the honey from new combs, first take only part of the honey from one side, reverse the comb and empty the other side, again turn the comb and finish the extracting; this will prevent breakage.

C. B. Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist.

Correspondence

Editor Review.

Dear Sir, — May I take a little space to discuss "freight rates." Will "equal freight rates" solve our problem? No! Do I personally believe in equal freight rates? Yes! But it does not go deep enough and it is being used as a red herring across the scent.

Oliver tells the fruit growers that adjusted freight rates would take our crops to the markets cheaper. Massey Harris salesman told the farmers that threshing machines and other machinery would make wheat cheaper and it did but who got the benefit.

We are told that it will increase pay rolls (in other words the number of workers) but will it increase wages? Will increased pay rolls solve the problems of the storekeepers or merely increase storekeepers? I am discussing the question from the angle of producers. Summerland is chiefly made up of farmers, wage farmers and storekeepers. We are told it will give B. C. representation on national directorates, substitute "Shaughnessy Heights" for B. C. The same gentlemen who are hauling the wool over our eyes at a low freight rate, block the path with a no patronage slogan some years ago and we all know how they betrayed us.

Their $300,000 campaign fund is not provided by farmers or working people in the cities. Those who pay the fund will demand the spoils.

If producers do not want to continue wallowing in despair let them realize that freight rates cannot solve their problems even partially until more important matters are adjusted. In little more than a generation we have changed from private production with private ownership to collective production still under private ownership and until we have both collective production and collective ownership, other palliatives will avail little or nothing. Abominable conditions have steadily grown worse during collective production under continued private ownership, which is contrary to equity.

Efficient collective ownership democratically governed and backed by governments believing in that principle and not throttling it as our governments do, has been proved possible. Collective ownership does not necessarily mean "communism." Thanking you for space. A. J. BEER.

By Golly An old resident of Alaska had never seen a motor car. One day he was astonished to see one go by, but was dumbfounded when it was followed by a motorcycle. "Gee, whiz!" he said, "who'd 'a' sposed that thing had a colt!"

B. C. Fruit Industry Sweats under Awful Load of Extortionate Express Rates

Fruit is ripening in the berry fields and orchards of fertile British Columbia. Farmers and their wives and families have slaved to make this year's harvest a success.

OUT OF EVERY POUND OF BRITISH COLUMBIA FRUIT THE EXPRESS COMPANIES WILL TAKE MORE PROFIT THAN THE MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN WHO HAVE TOILED TO MAKE THE FRUIT HARVEST POSSIBLE.

Here are the costs of shipping our own B. C. fruit as compared with the costs which our competitors pay:

Okanagan to Vancouver 350 Miles.....$1.90 A HUNDRED POUNDS

Okanagan to Calgary 350 Miles.....$2.40 A HUNDRED POUNDS

(NOTE.—Figures from all B.C. Points are relatively high.)

Grimsby, Ont., to Montreal 390 Miles.....95 Cents a Hundred Pounds

Grimsby, Ont., to Halifax 1,100 Miles.....$1.50 a Hundred Pounds

Ontario fruit producers moved 18,000 packages amounting to twenty-seven million pounds, at a cost of $253,000. The British Columbia fruit producer moved 6,000 packages amounting to fourteen million pounds, at a cost of $384,000.

WELL DONE, ONTARIO! BUT BRITISH COLUMBIA PAYS THE BILL. ONE-THIRD THE PACKAGES AT ONE-HALF THE RATE COSTS OUR FARMERS $134,000 MORE TO SHIP BECAUSE OF THE UNREASONABLY HIGH EXPRESS RATES.

Insured Five Times

FOREST INDUSTRIES CONTROL SUCCESS OF B. C. BUSINESS COMMUNITY

Vast Sums Spent Annually in Various Forms of Insurance

The forest industries of British Columbia rank easily first as providers of revenue to the general business community of the Province.

If any typical line of commercial activity is taken, striking illustrations can be immediately furnished to prove this fact.

For instance, how would the insurance companies in British Columbia fare without the business they derive from the lumbering industries?

The products of the forest are often insured as may as five times between the stump and the retailer:

- 1. In the woods — Insurance of logging camps and cut timber. 2. In the Boom — On the way to the mill by water. 3. Manufactured — Insurance of saw mills, shingle mills, box factories, pulp and paper plants. 4. Remanufactured — Insurance of planing mills — sash and door and furniture factories. 5. (a) Marine — Insurance on lumber exports. (b) Freight — Insurance on rail shipments to inland points. 6. In the Pile — In retailers' yards.

The timber industries of British Columbia represent an investment of about $190,000,000. The premiums covering the different types of insurance on the property involved would amount to a huge sum.

Again, at a conservative estimate, one-fourth of the population of British Columbia is directly dependent on the timber industries for a livelihood.

The insurance on the lives and properties of the personnel of the "lumbering group" must obviously furnish the companies with the main proportion of their revenue.

SOCIAL IN HONOR OF DEPARTING MEMBER

The combined Trail Rangers and Tuxis Boys of St. Andrew's church with their friends, gathered on Wednesday evening in St. Andrew's Hall for a social in honor of John Ramsay, who is leaving Summerland soon to go to the States. He will be greatly missed by his numerous friends. The evening was spent in games and a social time. About 45 sat down to a heavily laden table. The party dispersed with three cheers for the guest of honor.

RESOLUTION ON BEER PLEBISCITE ADOPTED

At a meeting of the Baptist church Wednesday evening the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Resolved that we hereby express our disapproval of the sale of beer by the glass and hereby call upon all the members and adherents of our church and all good citizens who have the best interests of the community and province at heart to vote 'No' on June 20th. We hereby express our belief that the sale of beer by the glass would be a great menace to our young people and would establish in our midst what would be worse than the bar."

VOTING STRENGTH OF POLLING DIVISIONS

The following list, revised by Mr. D. H. Rattenbury, the Registrar of Votes for the South Okanagan Constituency, gives the number of voters at each polling division in this riding: Bear Creek, 32; Benyoulin, 105; East Kelowna, 191; Ellison, 129; Glenmore, 130; Joe Rich, 21; Kelowna, 1,811; Mineola, 35; Naramata, 204; Okanagan Centre, 54; Peachland, 256; Reid's Landing, 11; Rutland, 292; South Kelowna, 141; Summerland, 332; West Summerland, 591; Westbank, 139; Winfield, 172. Total, 4,646.

The average man fails to learn a lot of things that experience should teach him.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

toward the fruit interest, in general, it was deemed advisable to use the money on hand to reduce the indebtedness to the bank. The dividend, of course, goes to the credit of the shareholder and will be paid later.

To buy this and other buildings, the Packing Houses Co. borrowed money from the Bank of Montreal with which to make the first payment and gave the bank first mortgage bonds for the money borrowed. To the Storage Co. and owners of other buildings acquired by the new holding company second mortgage debentures were given. Rents collected last year about retired the first mortgage bonds against the buildings, so that the second mortgage bonds, held in trust by the Dominion Bank for the Storage Co., will now rank as first security against the properties.

There is the further encouraging factor in the situation that the holding company will this year begin retiring these five year second mortgage bonds and it is estimated that there will be $10,000 to $12,000 from this source to reduce the Storage Co's. loan from the Dominion Bank. So while there may be keen disappointment on the part of some of the shareholders in not getting their dividend cheques now they will have the satisfaction of knowing that their investment is becoming more valuable and is better secured. The Storage Company hold Growers' Packing Houses Limited debentures to the value of $60,000 and, after deducting cash on hand, will owe the bank about $29,000. In other words, the company's net worth is $31,000. Paid up capital totals $28,892.98.

Directors elected for the next year are Messrs. Andrew, Kelley, A. B. Elliott, J. R. Campbell, W. Ritchie, Hutton and Dodwell. The two last named were elected in place of Messrs. Hayes and Simpson, Mr. Hayes having declined to stand for re-election and Mr. Simpson being now in California. The others were on the board last year. C. P. Nelson was re-elected auditor.

PEACHLAND DOINGS

A Weekly Chronicle Furnished By Our Local Representative.

After several months at the Coast Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Maxwell returned on Wednesday to their ranch in the Upper Trepanier district.

Mrs. M. E. Smith, M.L.A., of Vancouver and Mr. C. B. Latta, Liberal candidate for South Okanagan addressed a public meeting here on Wednesday afternoon. Reeve G. Lang occupied the chair. Mr. Latta went over his platform, plank by plank, explaining the various issues. The speaker prefaced his remarks by acquainting those present with the sad news which had just been received from Ottawa that the member for Yale, Mr. John A. McKelvie, had died suddenly that morning. He spoke very feelingly of the great loss this would mean to the country, paying tribute to the deceased member. After Mr. Latta's address the chairman referred to the great sorrow and loss through the sudden demise of the honored representative and the audience gave expression to their sorrow by rising and remaining in a standing posture for a few seconds. Then followed a very able and eloquent address by the lady member of the house. She opened with a short historical sketch of proceedings ante-dating her entry into the political realm and explained her entry into the work and, having a copy of her original election platform, she gave a summary of it. She dealt with the legislation she had been privileged to have put on the statutes, and also with the history of the women's suffrage struggle and gave much interesting data on the long uphill fight the women had to gain the equal rights to the ballot. As would be expected, she touched on the various points of issue as argued by the contending parties, not forgetting the P.G.E. Both speakers were given a very attentive hearing. Some of the ladies had previously prepared a bouquet of roses and Mrs. Bulyea presented it to Mrs. Smith with a few well chosen remarks.

Quite a number of Westbank electors were present to hear the speakers of the afternoon having motored down for that purpose. Local Manager Wm. Buchanan, Jr., and local director R. Harrington, motored to Vernon on Wednesday to attend the meeting of managers and directors being held there to discuss and arrange the various problems coming under their jurisdiction, such as salaries, wages, charges, pools, etc. We understand they worked hard and after some lengthy and busy sessions they were able to prepare quite a number of recommendations to lay before the central board, which they feel will make for better conditions this season.

After a short visit here and at Summerland with his sister Mrs. Clarence, who is still confined in the hospital, Mr. A. Westbrook left on Thursday to return to his home in Moose Jaw.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Gartrell with some friends and relatives made a short call in Peachland in passing through by motor on Thursday afternoon.

J. Logie, of Summerland, Labor candidate, addressed a meeting here on Thursday evening. Mrs. W. E. Morsh occupied the chair. The speaker was tendered an interested hearing and dealt with many points of interest to many classes. Several of those present were heard to say that it was among the ablest of the political addresses they had listened to, and although on many points they could not agree with the labor agitation, Mr. Logie had very ably presented many questions. As an extra treat the audience listened to a violin solo by Mr. Cooper, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lambly, which was highly commented on.

A party including Messrs. Dryden, Huston and Bulyea motored to Kelowna on Thursday, returning the same afternoon. Franklin Elliott arrived home on Friday, via K.V.R. and stage, after a few days visit with friends in Victoria and Vancouver, following the completion of his normal course.

Lumber is being put on the ground and Manager George Barber is busily engaged getting a start on the new receiving and packing house for Mr. Rowcliffe, being erected between the old cannery building and the old O.U.G. warehouse on the wharf.

Friends of the Kudelka family regret to learn that shortly after their arrival at their prairie home Dot, the younger of the two girls, was the victim of an accident resulting in the fracture of her arm. Grave fears were held that complications were setting in and if they were unable to check the same, the arm might have to be taken off.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vass, Keremeos, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Law, Penticton, motored to Peachland on Friday and spent the week end, visiting relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Vass motored back home on Sunday, while Mr. and Mrs. Law remained to return by boat on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barber and family are enjoying a visit of a few days from Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Fraser of Kelowna who arrived on Monday evening.

BREAKDOWN IN JONATHANS IS INVESTIGATED

Department of Agriculture Issues Report on This Important Subject.

A report of the investigation of the breakdown of Jonathans made by the department of agriculture states as follows:

Some varieties of apples, and especially the Jonathans, were seriously affected in 1922 in British Columbia with something which was given the name of "Jonathan breakdown." The apples appeared to be in good condition from the outside, but when the fruit was cut the flesh was found to have turned brown and the fruit rendered practically useless. This is quite a different condition to that of "corky core" or "core rot," where the browning is confined in the Jonathan to the core area. Naturally much anxiety was felt by the fruit growers and the Dominion department of agriculture was asked to determine if possible the cause of the trouble and suggest a remedy. The government decided to undertake this work, and the division of horticulture of the experimental farms was instructed to take charge of it. This was done with the co-operation of the Dominion experimental station, Summerland, B. C., the fruit branch of the department of agriculture and the growers themselves.

As a preliminary to the work, and in order to obtain the views of fruit growers as to the cause of the injury, a questionnaire was sent to 2425 growers in British Columbia. The replies received gave some clues as to the possible causes and, with these clues, and investigation was planned. Mr. P. M. Daily of the horticultural division, experimental farm, Ottawa, was sent to British Columbia early in September, 1923, with instructions to carry out certain experiments which, briefly related to dates of picking and methods of storage. He remained in the Okanagan district nearly two months.

Certain trees were selected under various cultural, moisture and soil conditions at Summerland, Kelowna, Okanagan Centre, Vernon and Salmon Arm.

Twelve pickings were made from each of these trees, beginning Sept. 17, and continuing regularly twice a week until October 27. Fruit from each tree and each picking was marked, so that when examined later it could be traced up.

Samples of soil were taken from under each tree for analysis later should this be considered desirable.

Part of the fruit was stored at the Summerland station under different conditions, part held in storage at Kelowna, and part sent direct to Ottawa. In all 186 boxes of Jonathan apples were picked and used in this experiment.

Notes were taken on cultural methods and on the condition of the trees and apples when picked, and weather records were obtained for the past two seasons.

There were 56 boxes of Jonathan apples shipped to Ottawa on Nov. 5, 1923, which arrived on Nov. 17. Another lot of 42 boxes was held in storage at the Kelowna Growers' Exchange until December 15, and these reached Ottawa on Jan. 5, 1924. The remaining 88 boxes were sent to the Summerland experimental station, part of them immediately after each picking, and stored in the cellar there.

There were 51 trees in this experiment and 9300 apples were cut and carefully examined at Ottawa.

Out of these 51 trees, 38 bore fruit, which showed more or less breakdown before the experiment was concluded. Thus, there were only 13 trees which bore fruit that were absolutely free from it.

Of the 38 trees which had fruit showing breakdown, 26 of them had it in appreciable quantity.

The fruit was examined in Ottawa on Nov. 21-28, Dec. 17-24, January 10-28, February 22-27. The four periods being examination of the first shipment and the two latter periods of the second.

Apples picked prior to October 11 had only a single specimen showing breakdown out of 5400 specimens examined.

Apples picked from October 11 to 13 had 13 specimens affected of 780 examined of the pickings of those dates.

There was a rapid increase in the number of fruits affected after the picking of Oct. 11-13.

Apples picked from October 15-17 showed 5.3 per cent affected of all fruit from all places and all trees.

Apples picked later than those dates showed a continued and consistent increase in the percentage of fruits affected, until from the last picking,

The Liberal-Conservative Party of British Columbia

What The Liberal-Conservative Party Stands For

The Conservative party aims to give British Columbia an honest, forceful and fearless government, and aspires to reduce taxation by lessening the expenditures of administration; to stabilize industry, thus providing a maximum employment in existing productive enterprises and encouragement of new developments of the resources of the country, and to restore the confidence of all in the soundness of the province and its institutions.

The Liberal administration, after seven years in office, leaves the province in a wretched condition, with nothing to show for the waste of millions of the people's money. Citizens of British Columbia have lost all confidence in the government, and outside capital has been frightened away by the excesses of extravagance and burden of taxation. Thousands of young men and women have been driven from their homes to seek employment elsewhere, while the machine government at Victoria went on its merry way distributing contracts to its chosen friends with a lavish hand for the construction of courthouses, asylums, schools and other public works.

It spent millions on a doubtful reclamation scheme while the farmers of the Interior were forced to let their crops rot for want of markets, and squandered hundreds of thousands on a useless industrial department which yielded only mortgages and rusting machinery.

Some Conservative Party Planks

"The Conservatives do not want any further immigration until we can hold those we have in the Province now."

"The Conservatives will again introduce their old policy of loaning cheap money to farmers."

"The Conservatives will assist the marketing of agricultural products by bringing to bear every effort of our Government departments to watch closely the markets every day."

"The Conservatives will prohibit the export of our timber so that industries will be established in this province with pay-rolls instead of in the United States."

"The Conservatives will abolish the personal property tax. The Conservatives will at once form a business government and our excellent candidates will make this an easy matter."

"The Conservatives will loan money without interest for a long term of years to irrigation projects so as to encourage greater production from the soil."

"The Conservatives will advance money to the farmer to allow him to invest in dairy herds."

"The Conservatives will give practical encouragement to further the efforts of the prospector and thus encourage greater mineral development."

"The Conservatives will completely reconstruct the Game Department and place it on an independent basis with a paid staff which will give its whole undivided time and attention to the preservation of game."

FREIGHT RATES

A PUBLIC QUESTION—NOT A POLITICAL ISSUE

The Liberals cannot be too severely criticized for making this question a political one. What are the facts? We all know that the first agitation was started by the Manufacturers' Association with the legitimate object of assisting the flow of traffic Westward; in time the matter received the endorsement of Associated Boards of Trade and not until then did the Oliver Government waken up to the fact that it was a matter of importance and forthwith brought the affair into politics. IT IS ONE OF THE LARGEST QUESTIONS IN THE PROVINCE TODAY and is receiving the endorsement of every citizen who has the interest of the province at heart. The Vancouver Board of Trade, realizing that political capital was being made of the matter, recently passed the following resolution:

"That in view of the approaching provincial elections the Vancouver Board of Trade, through its council, goes on record that, following its policy of past years, it is not either directly or indirectly taking any part in the present campaign and further that, although its members are clearly entitled to express their own individual ideas, no one is authorized to make or publish any statement in any way representing the Vancouver Board of Trade."

The Cost of Oliver's Effort WILL BE OVER $100,000.00

$88,051.21 paid to Gerry McGeer, one of the Oliver-Farris brand new K.C.'s. For the same work Isaac Pitblado, K.C., one of the outstanding leaders of the Manitoba Bar received from the Province of Manitoba and the Winnipeg Board of Trade the total sum of $88,051.21 for three or four appearances before the Railway Commission, a Committee of Parliament and the Dominion Cabinet.

AND MORE BILLS TO COME!

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED?

percentage of breakdown where the fruit was stored in a poorly ventilated cellar.

The results of the first year's work on this investigation show that no fruit picked before October 11 developed breakdown, but that from that date on there was a gradual increase until the last picking, which showed most of all. It was found that the larger and better colored fruit was the most affected. It would seem from this year's investigation that the main cause of Jonathan breakdown is over-maturity and that, where individual trees were affected, it is due to some condition in the tree or in the soil which affected the maturity of the fruit. Future work may bring out other factors. The trees in this experiment were growing in soils which had a wide variation in moisture, but this did not seem to have any effect, apart from how moisture conditions affected the maturity of the fruit.

The large amount of breakdown which occurred in 1922 would seem, from the result of this year's work, to be due to the fact that, owing to the exceptional weather conditions of that year, fruit was over-mature when picked.

Apples may be picked too early, as the earliest pickings this year showed the fruit becoming much shrivelled, but it would seem that the best average time for picking would range between September 24 and October 12, depending on the character of the season.

It is hoped to work out a description of the fruit, showing when it is in the best condition to pick, apart from any date which would necessarily vary from one year to another.

In conclusion it is desired to refer to the close co-operation in this year's work of the fruit commissioner, Mr. G. F. McIntosh and his inspectors in the Okanagan district, who furnished the details of the experiment, especially in the picking, packing and storing, and who looked after the shipping and supplied the thermographs.

The Summerland experimental station, through Mr. R. C. Palmer, did much to make this year's work a success. It was through this station that arrangements were made with the growers and in locating the trees. This was followed up by practically a duplication at Summerland of the work done at Ottawa, thus confirming the findings there and making the results more reliable.

And to the growers themselves it is desired to express our keen appreciation of their ready co-operation in helping to solve a problem, the solution of which will mean much to them.—W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Oliver's Idea of Economy

Money squandered honestly is squandered just the same. Stupidity and incompetence are just as costly to the taxpayers as dishonesty.

The present Government took office toward the latter days of the war and the obligation to economize has been upon it every day of its existence to an extent that no other Government in the history of the Province has ever been involved.

This is the way the Oliver regime has fulfilled that supreme obligation: It has increased expenditures from less than $11,000,000 a year to more than $20,000,000 a year. It has increased the net debt from $19,000,000 odd to $65,000,000 odd. It has enacted from the taxpayers in seven years the terrific sum of $105,616,683. It has borrowed $57,894,500.

IT HAS SPENT IN SEVEN YEARS THE COLOSSAL SUM OF $163,511,183.

As a matter of fact the total public debt of the Province is $77,000,000, the difference between that and the net figure of $65,000,000 being accounted for by sinking funds. In some way the Government implies that this reduces the amount that the people have to pay, but as a matter of fact the taxpayers supply the sinking fund, too.

The amount that the people have to contribute each year to keep up the sinking fund and interest on the public debt of British Columbia is $5,189,561.

Overdraft, March 1st	3,600,000
	$57,894,500

These figures show the stupendous sums of $105,615,683 raised by direct taxation and $57,894,500 borrowed, in all no less than $163,511,183. So you see, that although the Provincial revenue has been increased, by every conceivable tax which financial ingenuity can suggest, to more than four times what the revenue was when the Conservatives retired, the Liberal Government has spent money so recklessly that even its borrowings have not sufficed to meet its needs.

The seriousness of the situation is summed up by the Vancouver Province in a recent Editorial, in these words:—

"THERE MUST BE NO MORE OF THIS. TO CATCH VOTES IS NO PART OF A GOVERNMENT'S BUSINESS; AND TO CATCH THEM AT THE EXPENSE OF THE PEOPLE BORDERS ON THE CRIMINAL. GOVERNMENTS MUST LEARN THAT THE MONEY THEY SPEND IS THE PEOPLE'S MONEY. THE PEOPLE EARN IT; IT IS THE FRUIT OF THEIR TOIL; THEY HAVE A RIGHT TO THE ENJOYMENT OF IT; AND THEY FIND NO ENJOYMENT IN PAYING IT OUT IN TAXES. IT IS THE FIRST DUTY OF A GOVERNMENT, THOUGH ITS MEMBERS DO NOT ALWAYS REALIZE IT, TO PROTECT THE PEOPLE GOVERNED, NOT TO EXPLOIT THEM."

SYNOPSIS OF

PRE-EMPTIONS
 Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects on application upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timber land, i.e., carrying a 500 foot board foot per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land to be pre-empted is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and outcropping at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE
 Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMEITE LEASES
 Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homeites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES
 For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING
 Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

The most statesmanlike expression of opinion on the Japanese exclusion question has been given by an individual who is not a "NO RACE statesman, but a retired Admiral of the Japanese navy. This is by no means the first occasion on which we have seen international affairs viewed in broadminded fashion by men of the sea, and there is a reason. "They that go down to the sea in ships" see many things which most other people do not, and their vision is wide. Admiral Hideo Takeda has travelled far, and, knowing both Europe and the United States well, sees quite clearly that his own country has not every side of the question to rely on in this matter. He says "We must take into account the fact that the people of the United States have a big racial problem to solve, whereas the people of Japan are one united nation." In these words he puts the situation concisely and clearly, and we may be quite sure reflects the feeling of the sober men of his country. Racial discrimination of an offensive kind does not enter into the question at all—it is merely a matter of the right of every country to decide as to the composition of its own population, and if that is not reasonable, it is hard to say what is. Talk of war in connection with the problem seems quite out of the bounds of common reason, and may be dismissed from practical politics.

There is, however, a phase of the dispute which seems likely to affect Canada very closely, and which will probably hasten the development of legislation in this country. The United States exclusion measure necessarily abrogates the gentleman's agreement between that country and Japan, and it is suggested that this will apply equally where Canada is concerned. If this is so, and advantage is taken of it by Japan, it is evident that our legislators will have to take steps to meet the increased influx which may ensue. The difference between the racial problem in the United States and in this country is simply one of degree—our neighbours have allowed it to grow to proportions which now call for drastic handling—with us, it is still in its infancy, and can be handled with a minimum of trouble. But it is imperative that it shall be no longer trifled with.

Whenever I read of that crisis which we see announced every now and then in political, social or general affairs, I think of the feigned alarm of Artemus Ward when warned by a doleful fellow passenger on the railway that they were in the presence of a crisis. "Where is it? — who's got it?" exclaimed the showman: "if any man on this train has got a crisis concealed about his person he'd better produce it!" "No, no, you don't understand! It's here, everywhere, in the air!" "In the air? Oh, well, let her rip!"

I wonder if there was over a period in the history of the world when there was not a crisis, or a number of crises running concurrently. In earlier times many a crisis was undoubtedly encountered by men and nations who surmounted the troubles and problems of their day without knowing they had ever been within speaking distance of a crisis as such; nowadays every passing difficulty or difference of opinion is so labelled. Either mankind possesses an inexhaustible reserve of vitality to survive those repeated shocks, or the world is scandalously misused. In medical language a crisis is the turning point between recovery or death, and this is in strict accord with the proper meaning of the term—logically, therefore, we are for ever trombling on the edge in all our affairs, and only keep going by a series of miracles. The curious part of the situation is that, as in the Ingoldby story, nobody seems a penny the worse for all those hairbreadth escapes. In fact, according to some people, a crisis may stretch out its long length over a century or more, and then be in much the same condition as at first. Thus, I find, in a recent periodical of progressive thought, some "ringing words" of Tom Paine, published in 1794, and referring to the "crisis" of that time, quoted as "Just as apropos today as when he wrote them." More so, apparently, since "the times are even more critical!" now, a conclusion which seems somewhat discouraging, or would do so if we had to accept it. Fortunately we don't have to do anything of the kind—we can preserve our mental balance, and recognize that "the times which try men's souls" and which Tom Paine appeared to think belonged peculiarly to his own day, are simply part and parcel of our daily life, and are met by the great mass of humanity as conditions which are gradually but surely being improved. And that improvement is not being brought about by declamations concerning this, that or the other imaginary crisis, but by the steady growth of human understanding.

A publication which professedly exists for the dissemination of scientific knowledge might reasonably be expected to pass its contributions through the sieve of practical accuracy before printing them. The "Popular Science Monthly" has recently published an article on The United States Bee Farm which contains some of the most absurd mis-statements possible to imagine, but which, appearing in a magazine of a supposedly scientific character, will doubtless fool many readers. To me, the chief mystery centres around the astonishing inconsistency of an article like the one in question being written by a man who obviously knows nothing of his subject. A writer who gravely informs the public for instance, that from "eggs taken from one hive and hatched in another, the young bees will return to the original hive as soon as they can fly," perpetrates an absolute inanity, and one, moreover, which, if true, would knock the bottom out of the beekeeper's system of building up his weak colonies. The saving clause in this writer's rubbish is of course the fact that his information will amuse those who know, and may possibly do no harm to those who do not know. But one would like to feel a certain sense of security when reading a magazine to acquire practical information, and there comes a sense of dismay when we see such stuff as this offered us as the genuine article.

Soft Gingerbread Recipe
 Here is Mrs. Ida Bailey Allen's recipe for soft gingerbread:—
 Beat an egg, add a cupful of Barbados molasses; 3 tablespoons of any kind of shortening, melted; 2 teaspoons of ginger and 1 cup of baking soda; ¼ teaspoonful of salt; ½ cup of boiling water and 2 cups of bread flour. Beat it thoroughly, and pour it into a well-oiled pan about 9 ins. square. Bake it in a moderate oven 40 to 45 minutes. If you have an oven thermometer it should stand at 350 degrees Fahrenheit. The egg may be omitted if you wish.

OVER ONE THOUSAND ACRES OF TOMATOES
 Kelowna Leads But Large Plantings
 At Keremeos, Cawston And
 Oliver

Kelowna Courier.—W. H. Stonehouse, secretary of the B.C. Tomato Growers' Association, who has recently returned from a trip to southern points, reports as follows on the general condition of the Interior tomato crop, as it will affect canning operations this season.

At Keremeos, two hundred and fifty acres have been planted out to smooth varieties, almost entirely John Baer an Burbank. The plants are in excellent shape. The acreage at Cawston is approximately one hundred and fifty acres. No variety other than John Baer has been planted there. The young plants are making fine growth, and, if no shortage of water is experienced, the crop should be above the average. At Oliver, one hundred and ten acres have been planted out, all to John Baer, with the exception of ten acres of Earliana, the plants for which were shipped from Kelowna. Most of the fields are behind those in other sections in growth, probably due to lack of experience in methods of cultivation on the part of the growers. Here, at Kelowna, the planting of approximately six hundred acres has been completed. The plants are in good shape, having been helped out a lot by the recent rain. The entire crop, with the exception of twenty acres of experimental patches of John Baer, will be Earliana. The above details refer to canning tomatoes only. No official returns have yet come in from the Kamloops district.

THE CHEAPER CUTS OF BEEF
 —The pot roast which is frequently used by the thrifty housewife in the effort to keep down the butchers bill and still provide good meals, may be made from many of the cheaper cuts, such as the chuck, of the beef carcass. After being wiped with a damp cloth it is placed in a covered bake pan or casserole, with two cups or more of hot water. It should be covered tightly and baked in a moderate oven or on top of the stove, keeping the heat just below the boiling point. Pamphlet No. 43 of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, obtainable from the Publications Branch, shows how the meat bill may be reduced by utilizing the cheaper cuts of beef. One-half hour's time for each pound of meat in the roast is recommended. About an hour and a quarter before serving, pared potatoes and sliced carrots and onions may be added. When ready to serve, the roast should be removed to hot platter and the gravy thickened and seasoned. If the meat is very fat, it is advisable to remove the fat from the top of the gravy before thickening. The pamphlet contains many other recipes for utilizing the cheaper cuts of beef.

CLEAR THE TRACK
PEANUT POLITICS is trying to hold up the Relief Express. By your vote remove this obstruction to prosperity on June twentieth. A vote for the Liberal Candidate is a vote for John Oliver, the engineer who will bring this Relief Express, bearing prosperity for British Columbia, safely through. It carries Equalized Freight Rates -- the one fundamental that is essential to the prosperity of every man, woman and child in this Province.

Equalized Freight Rates will bring millions to our Province; will double our population in ten years; will develop our ports; will bring to us basic manufacturing industries and their pay-rolls; will develop the necessary market for our agricultural products.

Equalized Freight Rates means more money--more industries--more people--lower taxes--lower cost of living.

Equalized Freight Rates is the hinge on which the door to prosperity hangs. John Oliver and his Liberal Government have the key in the form of the sympathetic ear of a like Liberal Government at Ottawa.

Your vote for the Liberal Candidate is a message to the industrial, financial and political interests of the East that you are behind John Oliver in his fight for prosperity. Remember this on June twentieth.

Ideas of people of all shades of opinion and religious belief. Mr. Lysons had been weighed in the balance and had been found 100 per cent efficient. Apart from that, the candidate of the Provincial Party was straightforward in all his opinions and was not seeking his own glorification. He, the speaker, put it to the audience if they considered it possible for such a man to identify himself with the Provincial Party if he had the very least suspicion that that party was not all that it should be or that its existence was not essential to the welfare of the province.

Continuing his address, Mr. Dart declared that Mr. Jones had accomplished next to nothing for his constituency during the length of time he had represented it in the Legislature, the reason being that the political machinery in which that gentleman was enmeshed prevented him from taking free action in any public matter, and he mentioned that Mr. Jones, at the command of his party leader, had refrained from taking any part in the framing of the Liquor Act, absenting himself, together with the other Conservative members, from the House when that measure was discussed. Mr. Jones had stated that the reason he had done so was because the Legislature was not acting constitutionally. He, Mr. Dart, had been told that the real reason why Mr. Jones had left the House on the occasion referred to was because the Act would be a difficult one to draw up and that, by refraining from taking any part in framing it, it would be possible to offer destructive criticism regarding it later on.

Mr. Jones, continued the speaker, was fond of stating his opinion on the irrigation question, but his ideas were not original by any means. They were simply copied from the system adopted in various parts of the United States, where money was lent for the purpose of putting water on the land without any interest being charged, the State recouping itself through the higher taxable value of the land when brought into cultivation. The best policy regarding irrigation was that of the Provincial Party. It was to get the best brains in B. C. to tackle the question, aided by practical farmers and water users, and to back these men up in any line of action they might propose by the whole weight of the party itself. The same plan was proposed regarding matters affecting the mining and timber industries.

As far as the Liberal policy was concerned, it seemed to him to consist in threatening and blackmail, nothing more and nothing less. This had been the key note of the utterances of the Attorney-General, the Premier and other speakers at the meetings held by the Liberal Party.

Lieut.-Col. B. H. Belson
Lieut.-Col. Belson spent some time in explaining that the war record of Gen. McRae was an excellent one, and that he had done good service to Canada when in command of the remount department and later on as Quartermaster-General in England, when he had managed to get the Canadian troops properly fed. Gen. McRae was not a soldier in the proper sense of the term, but one of those business men who had rendered good service to their country by helping to properly organize the non-combatant forces and had been a first-class staff officer.

Col. Belson paid a very high compliment to the ability of Mr. Lysons, stating that the manner in which he had handled the situation between the growers of tomatoes and the canning companies had been worthy of all possible praise. The friends of Mr. Lysons had done all in their power to help finance that gentleman's campaign. It was not true that Gen. McRae was financing any Provincial Party candidate. He had paid out large sums for the expenses of the central office of the Party and for the publication of "The Searchlight," but Mr. Lysons, like all other representatives of his party, had to find funds as best he could. All those who could do so should therefore help and their help would be welcome. His Col. Belson's opinion was that if Mr. Lysons were defeated it would be because he had to run an election without proper financial assistance. It was the duty of all to help to make the political atmosphere of B. C. purer. Both the old parties were spending money lavishly and their methods of winning elections were plain. The government had promised to pay the brewers $1.50 more for beer. This meant $235,000 less per year revenue for the province. It was easy to see where campaign money was coming from.

The Party Candidate

Chairman Koop then called upon Mr. Lysons, who was received with applause. Stating he had been a resident of the Kelowna district for thirty-two years Mr. Lysons said his party had no fight with either of the opponent candidates, but he considered a vote for either of their parties a vote for patronage and bribery.

The country went over to Mr. Brewster in 1916 because he had promised to do away with patronage. However it was not long before it had been shown that the Liberal party had accepted money for campaign expenses from the C.N.R. company. Last time the vote was very evenly divided between Conservatives, Liberals and Independents. At the next election, he predicted, the Independents and Provincial Party would get a very large number of votes.

Reviewing the history of the P.G.E. construction the speaker denounced both old parties and quoted the contractors as stating that they had treated both alike in payment of campaign funds. The royal commission he described as a farce. The scope of the investigation had been limited by the attorney-general so that the public should find out as little as possible; and it had cost the public $30,000. The speaker charged Oliver with never attempting to force the contractors to carry out their construction agreement, which he might have done as they were wealthy.

The Liberal Party, Mr. Lysons told his audience, was offering the freight rates reduction, but practically nothing else. This was an absolutely non-political question. Any party elected to power would carry on the fight. Oliver was not the first to take up this question. It had been up in 1902 and again in 1909 and since. It was absolute drivel for Oliver to make the claims for votes he is now doing. He has practically no platform. The past business record of the Oliver government was about as rotten as it could be, the cost plus system of carrying out public construction was ruinous.

Mr. Lysons declared the Conservatives had little or no platform and ridiculed the idea of voting for Jones because everybody liked him. The Provincial party, on the other hand had a complete platform. There was not much hope for the irrigationist in either of the old parties but his party promised to investigate the whole situation and formulate a policy on the result.

Several clauses of the printed platform of his party were read by the speaker who closed with an appeal to the women to vote, not for the man or the party but for clean government.

A Clever Party

A party in an automobile saw a baby calf getting its dinner in Natures way.

"Oh, see the 'self-help restaurant,'" exclaimed one of the party.

"Yes, it's a 'Child's restaurant,'" said the little girl.

"And it is also 'A Calfateria,'" said the chauffeur, as they rode on.

grounds of the complaints which had been heard by the previous board. Mrs. Fosbery and Mrs. R. Purves were present and the writer of the letter spoke at some length on the subject matter of her letter. Mrs. Fosbery also stated she was there to report for the Vernon News, who had heard of the matter, and she would give it the fullest publicity if it were not properly handled by the board. Principal Steeves was also present and when the suggestion was made to the board that enquiry be made of his past record, Mr. Steeves gave the names of the schools in which he had taught for some years past and the secretary was instructed to write to these for the desired information.

The trustees discussed with Mr. Steeves the possibility of carrying on the high school work with one less teacher, but no change was decided upon.

Thousand People Gather From Far and Near — Was Second Event.

HELPFUL ADDRESSES ON MANY SUBJECTS

Demonstrations of Work Being Done on the Experimental Farm.

Coming for many miles from north and south, there was a very large gathering of visitors at the Experimental Farm here on Saturday, guests of the Farmers' Institutes, and Women's Institute, assisted by the superintendent and staff of the farm.

Invitations had been sent out by the Institutes two or three weeks before to Institutes and civic councils, inviting them to a monster picnic, and they came in good numbers, from the northern end of the Valley, from the extreme south and from the Similkameen Valley.

Though the total attendance fell considerably short of that at a similar event on Victoria Day, 1919, there were more from outside points, the difference being with the local attendance. This would be largely accounted for by the fact that the earlier event was held on a public holiday. It is conservatively estimated that fully one thousand people attended the picnic. Supt. Hunter believes the total considerably exceeded this number. About fifteen hundred attended the picnic in 1919.

Ideal weather, with a temperature not too high and occasional clouds to break the brightness of the sunshine and with only a light breeze added greatly to the enjoyment of the event.

During the morning, lectures were given by Prof. Davis of the university on judging of farm animals. These were attended principally by students of the agriculture departments of the schools throughout the Valley.

Visitors brought their lunch baskets. Tea, coffee, milk and sugar were furnished by the farm. The local Institutes provided meals for the speakers and guests and others who were not otherwise taken care of. Ice cream and soft drinks were on sale by the Women's Institute. The big log cabin, built for the accommodation of visitors to the farm, proved to be a great convenience.

After lunch there were a number of speeches, following which the gathering broke up into a number of groups and were piloted about the farm, some to the apple orchards, others to the soft fruit orchards, while other groups visited the electrically driven pumping plant, which lifts the water two hundred feet from the canyon; the flower gardens, the forage crops, truck gardens, etc.

A feature of the afternoon's entertainment was the stock judging competition by the pupils of the agriculture classes of the Valley schools, both boys and girls participating, dairy cows, farm horses and swine coming under their critical eyes. In the case of the cows each contestant was required to give his or her reasons for placing the animals as they did.

Another interesting event was guessing the weight of a big Berkshire boar, the prize being a young purebred Berkshire sow, eligible for registration. This was won by H. B. Brown, a teacher of Penticton, whose guess was 623 1/2, the pig weighing a halfpound more.

Down in the apple orchards thinning competitions were carried on with H. H. Evans and S. P. French as judges, prizes offered being shrubs from the farm to be delivered next spring.

R. H. Helmer, superintendent of the farm from the time it was started until last fall, was the first speaker on the afternoon program, his subject being "Preparing land for crops." In his usual vigorous, forceful style he admonished his hearers to be thorough in their work, always keeping in view the economic features of farming.

TO INVESTIGATE RE TRANSFORMER

Apparently there is no immediate prospect of Summerland again having street lights. The streets have been in darkness since the transformer for that circuit burned out a month ago. There has been some correspondence on the subject with the Canadian General Electric from whom the transformer was purchased and salesmen for the company have been here since the mishap occurred. But little has been accomplished toward having the burned out transformer replaced with another or repaired. However, information has been received that an electrical engineer, representing the company, will visit Summerland either Saturday or Monday next.

LIQUOR CHEQUE ARRIVES EARLY

Municipal treasurer F. J. Nixon received last week a cheque for $2,508.09 from Victoria, the sum allotted Summerland Municipality from six months' profits made by the government liquor stores.

On December 31st last $2,016, was received, and in July, 1923, $1,918.97.

The cheque received last week was about a month ahead of the usual time.

RAIN GENERAL SAYS REPORT

June Drop Heavy in Some Districts — Fruit Sizing Well.

Drought conditions which had prevailed for many weeks still continued on Vancouver and Gulf Islands according to the report issued last Saturday by M. S. Middleton, district horticulturist. There had been several short, sharp showers throughout the Fraser Valley, with cool, cloudy weather.

Heavy showers were reported from all sections of the Kootenay, Creston and Grand Forks districts.

The set of apples in the Grand Forks district has been very disappointing and the June drop is heavy. The crop is now estimated at approximately twenty-five per cent less than last year. Pears are showing up better than was indicated early in the spring. The June drop of prunes is fairly heavy.

Up to last Saturday, when the report was issued, there had been some rainfall in the Vernon district, but not sufficient to benefit grain and hay crops very materially. Of the Vernon district the report states further:

Tree fruits are sizing rapidly. Plums and prunes are just entering the stoning period and should be supplied with ample moisture to carry them through this stage. Insufficient moisture in the soil at this time is liable to have an adverse influence on stoning, resulting in a heavy drop later. Apples, crabapples and pears are now passing through the June drop. The drop appears to be heaviest in McIntosh Red though all varieties are dropping fairly heavily.

The onion acreage is larger than in 1923, but ravages of the onion maggot will decrease the tonnage very materially. No large increase in shipping tonnage is expected.

Alfalfa cutting is general. On account of stunted growth some grain crops are also being cut for hay. Timothy and clover hay fields look thin and short in many places, the continued drought being responsible.

Kelowna
Contrary to outside reports, crops in this district are not suffering from a water shortage on irrigated lands, and the indications are that with proper distribution of water, they are not likely to suffer. A heavy rain fall on the night of

PLANNING CHAIN OF OKANAGAN HOTELS

With a proposed capital of a million dollars, a company to establish a chain of tourist hotels through the Okanagan is being promoted by J. M. Robinson. Mr. Robinson has been working on this for some months and during his recent stay in Vancouver gave the project considerable time.

His plan is to establish six hotels up and down the Valley and to make them features of attraction to tourists.

Mr. Robinson says that the Okanagan should have something different and better and in keeping with its unique and favored position as the gem of the province. He believes that such a chain of hotels, properly advertised, would draw many thousands to the Valley at all seasons of the year.

When his plans are completed, Mr. Robinson says he anticipates no great difficulty in obtaining the necessary capital.

ENTERTAINMENT IN PARK DRAWS LARGE CROWD SATURDAY

Very pleasing and appropriate was the entertainment provided by the I.D.K. Piorrot troupe last Saturday evening in the park as a climax to the day's entertainment provided Summerland's guests of the day at the experimental farm.

An open stage had been ideally located amidst trees and foliage which provided a beautiful background and canopy and special lights were provided for the occasion. The attendance was very large, our own citizens greatly outnumbering the guests who remained after the picnic.

Those who participated in the program were Misses K. Nield, Carol Graham and Alma Lott and Messrs. Bammore, Mossop, Clements, Newton and Daniel. Mrs. Mossop presided at the piano.

The community is very grateful to these citizens for the amusing program they provided.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hanna and their four boys of Westpakawin, Alberta, arrived here recently and are now living in the Mann cottage in Peach Orchard which they have leased for a year.

Monday the 9th.
Apple thinning is becoming general. The fruit is of good size for the season and very free from disease. Trees generally are making good growth, and the benefits of cover cropping and fertilizers can only be seen by the increased growth and vigor of the trees.

Tomatoes and other ground crops are looking well.

GROWERS MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

The Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association is calling a meeting of members at the College Gymnasium for the evening of Monday, June 23rd, official notice of which is given in our advertising columns.

It has been found necessary to call this meeting owing to the failure of many growers to sign and return the assignment forms to the local Association for the purpose of financing. It is felt that some growers may not understand the terms of the assignment, or do not realize the urgency of the situation, and the meeting has been called to place the facts before the members, so that the assignments may be completed without further delay, and negotiations concluded for financing the crop.

PRAIRIES PROSPECTS ARE LOOKING GOOD

Imported Bings Bringing Good Prices.

Bing cherries in fifteen pound faced lugs were selling in Calgary last Saturday at $5.50 and eight pounds at $2.75. The markets commissioner reports that B. C. strawberries command the market but that Idaho and Washington had preference in cherries. Tartarians were the only cherries then offered from this province.

Weather conditions on the prairies were creating a spirit of optimism among the farmers.

Other wholesale prices quoted by the commissioner are: gooseberries, $2.25; head lettuce, $5; asparagus, $3.50; cukes, per dozen, $2.00, in peach crates, $5.00.

MANY MEETINGS HELD HERE BY POLITICIANS

Address and Instruction Feature of Program on Wednesday.

Political meetings have been of almost daily occurrence this week. Another meeting not already reported was that held in the gymnasium on Wednesday of last week at which G. G. McGeer, K.C., and C. B. Latta, Liberal candidate, were the chief speakers.

Mr. McGeer's speech was one of the best and most interesting of the numerous addresses heard here during the present campaign. In a very able and thorough manner he dealt with the question of freight and express rates. W. C. Kelley presided.

Though the attendance was not as large as might have been expected, many of those present say that it was a treat to hear Mr. McGeer's explanation of the transportation situation.

On Monday night J. W. Jones, M. L.A., and Jack Loutet, ex-covere of the municipality of North Vancouver and for many years an active member of the Union of B. C. Municipalities, of which he has been president, addressed a large audience in the gymnasium.

Mr. Loutet dealt briefly with the freight question, which, he said, had been raised twenty years ago by Premier McBride in his fight for "better terms" for B. C. in its relation to the Dominion. The question lay dormant during the earlier part of the war, but in 1922 J. B. Thompson, president of the manufacturers' association of B. C., revived the question and obtained the support of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in his effort to do away with the so-called mountain rate.

Vancouver Board of Trade realized that this question affected all and that an expert would have to be employed to combat the railways and appealed to the government for financial assistance.

Premier Oliver finally agreed, but refused to back the honor of trade and undertook to make it a government case. The speaker said he had

FAVOR FISHING DURING WINTER

Game Men in Convention at Kelowna Deal with Many Questions.

Between thirty and forty delegates from the Valley and Princeton and Salmon Arm attended a district meeting of local fish and game organizations held at Kelowna on Monday, at which Game Warden Robertson and A. P. Halladay, district fisheries inspector, were present. G. N. Gartrell, district fisheries overseer was also in attendance. Delegates from the Summerland organization were W. Johnston and H. H. Creese. M. K. Gwyer, Penticton, was elected president of the joint organization.

The meeting was described by the Summerland delegates as very enthusiastic and while there was no unpleasantness, there was much frank expression of opinion on matters pertaining to fish and game. There were a number of recommendations drawn up, which will be presented to the game conservation board, which is expected to meet in the Valley shortly.

It was found difficult to agree upon recommendations with respect to small game birds and these were left for the locals to deal with. The conservation board will be asked to request the Dominion government to take up the matter of coarse fish in Okanagan lake with the view to having their numbers reduced.

That the streams of the Okanagan watershed should be closed to all fishing throughout March, April and May and that the lakes be closed during March and April was another recommendation. This would mean that the lakes and streams would be open to fishing during the winter and another resolution favored the prohibition of the sale of sporting fish.

The provincial government will be memorialized to enforce the game act with respect to Indians when off reserves.

The convention favored reducing the bag for deer to one buck and one doe, the latter to be shot only in the last two weeks of the season. Summerland delegates opposed any shooting of doe.

The meeting strongly favored the appointment of game keepers to assist in the destruction of predatory animals.

Mr. Gwyer advocated the setting up of a game preserve of several thousand acres and in this was supported by the gathering. A territory in the Kettle Valley district was suggested. This would run north from the forks of the Kettle River near Westbridge, embracing the two forks of the river, north to beyond Cookson on the K. V. R. and east to the Christian Valley and beyond.

heard Mr. Oliver state "This is not a political issue and I will not make it one," but, said the speaker, he is making it the biggest kind of a political issue.

The very fact, said the speaker, that Premier Oliver says that "if you defeat me, you will be telling the east that you do not want freight rates adjustment," shows that in making this a party issue he is committing a political crime.

The speaker dealt with the high taxes, the Premier's boast that he is the greatest tax gatherer in the Dominion, the public expenditures, and he charged the government with the attempt to buy support through heavy expenditures prior to the elections, and spoke on many other phases of the present issue.

The speaker reviewed the history of the P.G.R. project and the finances connected with it.

Mr. Loutet met Mr. Jones a very high compliment, when he assured his audience that the member for South Okanagan was always on the job at Victoria and contrasted his faithfulness with that of many other members who were much of the time absent from the House. As representing the Union of B.C. Municipalities, he had been much in contact with Mr. Jones in the municipal committee and found him one of the fairest men he had ever met. "He is a man of experience and one who will never let you down. You can trust him to give you a square deal."

R. S. Jackson presided at this meeting and referred to the fact

CANDIDATE FOR OTTAWA SEAT

J. M. Robinson, frequently referred to as the father of the Okanagan, the man who inaugurated the fruit industry and established Peachland, Summerland and Naramata, is in the field for election as representative of this riding at Ottawa. Mr. Robinson's name was one of several up for consideration prior to the selection of the late J. A. MacKelvie.

It is expected that a by-election to fill the vacancy will be held next fall. When a convention is held to select a Liberal-Conservative candidate, Mr. Robinson will be proposed by some of the southern Okanagan supporters.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY TENNIS CLUB

Summerland G.W.V.A. Tennis Club in annual meeting on Monday night elected the following officers: president, Mrs. J. Lawley; vice-president, Dr. J. R. Graham; secretary-treasurer, G. Y. L. Crossley; committee, H. C. Howis, H. C. Miller, Gwen Harris, Bessie McCallum, Roy Sidall.

Arrangements were made for the holding of informal dances during the summer, announcement of which will be made later.

GIRL GUIDE CHIEF HERE

Candidates Have Ended Campaign—Ready for Verdict.

Mrs. Ratcliffe, the Dominion head of training of the Canadian Girl Guides, and Mrs. Colin MacDonald of Penticton, district commissioner, accompanied by five Guides, who came with Mrs. Ratcliffe from Vancouver in order to benefit by the extra training she is giving the Guides in the various centres of the Okanagan, spent Wednesday in town.

The Naramata Guides motored some of the guests from Penticton and Mrs. Ratcliffe started her first class at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Parish Hall.

After luncheon she spoke to a splendid turnout of the Girl Guide Association and their friends. From four o'clock she gave her whole time up to the Guides.

The senior Guides are hoping to avail themselves of the extra classes she is carrying on in Penticton on Thursday and Friday.

The value of Mrs. Ratcliffe's training of girls in this world-wide sisterhood cannot be over-estimated. She is sympathetic and inspiring both to girls and mothers.

Before motoring on to Penticton the whole party visited the Log Cabin in whose they were greatly interested in the potter's wheel, the pottery and baskets which have been made in Summerland by members of the Art League. Many complimentary remarks were made about the exhibits on sale there.

CHERRIES ARE OF FINEST QUALITY

Cherries of very superior quality are now going through the local packing houses. Recent cool cloudy weather has checked the rapid development of a few weeks ago.

Jack Craig, of the Co-operative, says the Black Tartarians coming in this season are the best he has ever seen. Montmorencys are also being packed and a good start has been made on Royal Anna.

that Mr. Jones was continually on the job when the House was not in session.

Mr. Jones followed with one of the ablest speeches he has yet made here and in his fluent style covered a vast amount of matter in a comparatively short time. (Continued on Page 2)

Coast Speaker Says All Promises by Liquor Men Broken.

OLD BAR PREFERABLE TO NEW PROPOSAL

What Might be Expected Here if Plebiscite is Carried.

Summerland churches held a united service in the college gymnasium last Sunday evening. The choirs of the several churches united and were accompanied by the local orchestra. G. W. Cope was choir leader and S. B. Snider was in charge of the orchestra.

Prof. Ellis of Vancouver and G. J. Coulter White addressed a large audience on the question of the beer plebiscite. W. C. Kelley presided and on the platform, in addition to the speakers, were Rev. Z. L. Fash and Mr. E. L. Busch, the former reading the scripture lesson and the latter leading in prayer.

In addition to the singing of a number of hymns by the choir and congregation an anthem, "The Radiant Morn Has Passed Away" was rendered by the choir and the Te Deum was sung by the choir at the close of the service.

G. J. Coulter White, in opening his address, said the plebiscite was not a question of prohibition but to vote "No" would be to vote against making liquor more available to the young. Experience elsewhere showed that the beer parlors were congregating places for young people and that many boys and girls there acquired a taste for alcohol. The desire is to oppose the coming of such conditions here. For the sake of all, pleaded the speaker, vote "No" on Friday. Every place voting "Yes" may get these licensed taverns. Summerland has never had a license. "Vote for Summerland; keep her dry."

If we vote "Yes," continued the speaker, taverns will be opened and money will be diverted from the stores to the saloons. There will be no credit there and our cash will go to that not making for the best of mankind.

The change is sought by the brewers so that they may make more money. When we had prohibition and near beer saloons, liquor interests rode right through the law and much hard stuff was sold. The same conditions will return with the beer parlors, which will be made so attractive that women and girls will attend.

We thought the saloons were gone but now comes a power seeking to restore them.

Another evil to return will be the trotting practice. Private profits will again be in order with no limit to the number of licensed taverns, resulting in enormous waste of money.

Claim had been made that beer would take the place of strong liquors but statistics wore read proving the contrary. Beer, too, was intoxicating and the speaker gave statistics showing that a large proportion of those arrested for drunkenness got drunk on beer. British records showed that 30 out of 100 drunks were beer drinkers. The speaker quoted the charge made by Major Burde in the provincial house that the beer being sold was laden with poison.

Mr. White predicted that one of two results would follow if beer license were granted. Either the people would become so disgusted that absolute prohibition would be demanded, or they will become hardened in the ways of evil; our population will become debauched, poor and lawless; in which event the Orientals may dominate.

Prof. Ellis of Vancouver expressed great distrust of anything advanced in the way of arguments by the liquor interests, who had made so many lies and false representations.

We had been promised that liquor control would be administered in a non-partisan manner. Strict promise had been given that there would be no bar. Technically there may not be, but in practice the sale of beer (Continued on Page 6)

WEDNESDAY MEETINGS.

Criticism was made in a communication this week from Mrs. Lily Fosbery of a report last week of the school board. She states "it appears to be extremely difficult for you to secure an accurate report of a meeting of the school board."

These meetings are held on Wednesday nights, when it is impossible for us to attend, as have been two other important meetings, one on Wednesday of last week and another last night. Not being able to attend the school board meetings, we have to depend on the official records for our information and it was to these that we resorted for our report of the meeting referred to.

Mrs. Fosbery says that her demand for the dismissal of the principal of the high school was not on the grounds of the complaints which had been heard by the previous board, but that she desired the consideration and investigation of certain matters which, though in the hands of the secretary, had not come before the previous board. After making inquiry we have concluded that her reference is to certain confidential letters or letters, the contents of which some of the board at least are acquainted with, but which have not been dealt with officially.

It certainly was not intentional on our part that reference to a little speech made by Mrs. Purves was omitted.

In the interests of the community and not having any desire to get into legal tangles, we do not consider it advisable to publish the letter in toto.

PRIVATE STORAGE OF APPLES.

That it pays to hold apples, in limited quantity at least, for the spring and early summer markets has been demonstrated by A. A. Derrick of Summerland. J. A. Grant, B. C. markets commissioner to the prairies, has often made emphatic statements to this effect and now cites the shipment made from here on April 26th by Mr. Derrick to substantiate his views. These apples, Spys and Wagners, sent to the Vernon Fruit Co., Calgary, were sold for $3.00 and netted Mr. Derrick $2.10. The commissioner claims that this instance again proves his claim as to "the keeping qualities of apples stored in a cellar or in a properly equipped storage."

To Osoyoos goes to honor of shipping the first cherries of the season. E. R. Dawson of the boundary town sent two crates to Calgary about June 2nd. One, a crate of Early Lamberts, sold for $5.00 and the others, White Hearts, brought $3.00.

The Second Column

BY PATRIOT

GOOD MORNING.

How many of us stop when we say "Good Morning" to think what that phrase means? Nobody knows how it started, but he or she to whom the idea first came was a poet. For in those two words lives the essence of a prayer. Of course we who say it hope that our own morning may be "Good"; that goes without saying. But do we go a step further, and breathe a prayer that the day of those we meet may also be filled with happiness? The full phrase of our ancestors was "God give thee good morrow."

This would be a great old world if we really meant what we said, if when we greeted our acquaintances, we really wanted their days to be filled with the joy of living. If we did, we'd go out and help to make them so.

NO ROOM FOR MALICE.

There is no room in the breast of a newspaper editor for malice. He, of all men, learns the lessons of forbearance. He spends a lot of time in keeping out of the papers, items that would hurt, or bring a blush of shame or sadden unnecessarily the heart of some wife or mother or friend.

ARE WE SATISFIED?

A satisfied community is in a mighty bad fix. It is stagnation. A satisfied community and a satisfied people don't stand much chance these days. A community cannot grow ahead of its civic improvements. The improvements must lead the way, the growth will follow. Of this there is no question.

A high aim in community thought, a high purpose in community activity, and a high quality of community hospitality are worthy goals for Summerland.

tively brief time.

He declared the diversion of the provincial highway down through Merritt an effort on the part of the government to win the Yale riding for Dr. McLean. Never had there been such an effort to debauch the electors as was being made by the government in this election. Where all the money was coming from he did not know. Certainly it had never been voted by the House.

He told of the greatly increasing export of logs to the United States to be manufactured in American mills, largely by labor emigrated from this province. He promised the return of the McBride embargo on logs.

During his remarks on the third party the speaker read from the Searchlight, Gen. McRae's objections to becoming the party leader, because of his personal record and Mr. Jones stated that any who voted for the provincial party will in effect be voting for the Oliver government.

With respect to freight rates, he said all were anxious to get the reduction and no matter who was returned, the fight will be carried on.

Mr. Jones quoted many statistics in detail, showing that his former figures were correct with respect to importations of agricultural products. He had not included tropical fruits as Mr. Latta had charged.

He condemned Mr. Latta for being satisfied with the present situation with respect to dumping of American fruit and roundly condemned the Minister of Agriculture for his total lack of interest in the fruit growing industry. The government could not guarantee the loans of the Associated or locals, but they could spend $350 a head bringing in Hebrideans for the northern islands.

Expenditures of huge sums on the several settlement projects of the government were dealt with by the speaker, who said it would never be possible to realize the money invested.

He declared that the P.G.E. had not been left on the doorstep of John Oliver as he had said, but that Oliver wanted it and was not satisfied until he became Minister of Railways, from which office he had been removed by his own party in convention. Mr. Jones said the P.G.E. must be built through to Prince George, but not beyond.

With all these problems confronting you, asked the speaker, are you going to trust your affairs with the inexperienced candidate of the Provincial or Liberal party, and he asked that the people vote for whom they considered would be their best representative.

With respect to the plebiscite, the speaker told how the attorney-general had attempted to get a bill through the House granting beer on a two-fifths vote. Never had such a thing been attempted before. The government finally withdrew the bill and suggested local option.

On Tuesday night in the Rialto Theatre Jack Logie held his meeting at which he was supported by T. A. Barnard, a Nanaimo socialist. A. Milne was chairman.

Neither speaker dealt with the political issues except that they both advanced socialistic theories as necessary of adoption before improvements can be effected.

Mr. Barnard opened his speech by reference to the booze question and strongly condemned the proposed beer licenses and the selling of liquor in any form. In his speech he confined himself wholly to the socialistic theories for the betterment of economic and social conditions and declared that voting for any of the other three candidates would be a vote for the old system.

He declared the world is rapidly moving toward socialism and predicted that even in Canada and the United States the day of its adoption was not far off.

When asked what use there would be in electing Mr. Logie to the legislature whom he would be in the minority, the speaker pleaded that Mr. Logie be put on the government payroll so that he would be able to spread the propaganda.

The lecture, which it really was, by Jack Logie, on the social crisis, was a very interesting one and the speaker was followed closely throughout. He said that each candidate should be asked if the present economic system meets the needs of the people and if not, can he suggest an alternative which will.

Mr. Logie confined his talk chiefly to the financial system. He approved of the action of Russia in refusing to pay the debts of that country and said that other countries should do likewise. By a chart which he had formed; he showed how government, federal, provincial and municipal debts in Canada had mounted and predicted a crash soon. Lower freight rates were only a side issue. Supply exceeds demand, hence low prices.

All products except those of the farmer are controlled; the farmers, he said, are the prize boons of the universe. An attempt is now being made to control the markets of the farmers, whom, he said, were the poorer the more they produced.

In a very interesting discourse Mr. Logie condemned the present banking system and advocated the establishment of co-operative banks, suggesting that perhaps local and provincial banks, with a Dominion reserve bank might now be established. These banks could issue credit at will and would be in control of the people.

He would also have the government take over the C.P.R.

Until we have social ownership we cannot have prosperity. The speaker spent some time on Russia and lauded the work being done there to socialize that country.

He had nothing to say against the Conservative party, except as a part of the old system. They believed things were alright if managed right.

With respect to the Liberal platform, he described their freight rate campaign as absurd. This was a matter for manufacturers, boards of trade, etc., and should never be a party issue.

The provincial party began well as a farmer party, but it has ended badly, being now a farmer-lawyer party and he predicted that the lion would soon eat the lamb.

He did not ask for personal support but said "if you are not satisfied with present conditions, vote for the Labor Party."

The final local meeting of the campaign, Wednesday night in the gym, was held while this number of the Review was being prepared for the press. C. B. Latta, government candidate, was one of the speakers.

It was evident that the public had had about enough as the meeting was very poorly attended.

NARAMATA NEWS

Current Events of Town and District

Mr. J. P. Clement arrived from Vancouver on Sunday and is staying at the Syndica Hotel.

About a score of Naramata residents went across the lake to attend the gathering at the Summerland Experimental Farm on Saturday.

The Plymouth Brethren have erected a tent near the Syndica Hotel, and have been holding services for the past few evenings.

A garden party was held at Mrs. Cook's residence on Thursday evening in aid of the Guides and Scouts camp fund, a small charge being made for tea and refreshments. There was a fair attendance of guests, who enjoyed a social gathering interspersed with musical numbers by members of the two organizations.

In the absence of the Rev. H. J. Armitage on Sunday afternoon Mrs. Armitage spoke on the coming pleb-

NARAMATA LOSES PIONEER CITIZEN

Late J. C. Lyons was Long a Respected Citizen—Funeral Largely Attended.

The community was grieved to learn of the death of Mr. J. C. Lyons, which occurred early on Monday evening after a long and painful illness. The deceased returned from Vancouver about three weeks ago, having gone there for special treatment, and had gradually weakened till the end. He had been an esteemed resident of Naramata for many years, and will be greatly missed.

The widespread sympathy of the community at the passing of the late J. C. Lyons was shown in a marked degree by the very large gathering of mourners who assembled at the Lyons home on Wednesday afternoon for the funeral service, and the wealth of floral tributes sent by individual friends and by the local organizations. The Rev. C. H. Perley of Penticton officiated, and in the course of his address spoke of the very evident respect in which the deceased had been held. The hymns "Nearer my God to Thee" and "Jesus, Saviour, pilot me," were sung, and Mrs. Armitage rendered the solo "Somebody Knows—'Tis Jesus." The casket was borne by Messrs. Irwin, Young, Salting, Horswill, Williams and Manchester, and was conveyed to the cemetery by the Patterson motor, accompanied by a long procession of cars. The funeral arrangements were carried out by Mr. Geo. Cook.

Many Penticton friends were present, and the widow later left for that place with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyons, at whose home she will stay for a short time.

Those who sent wreaths and expressions of sympathy included, The Official Boards of the Church, The Women's Unity Club, The Women's Institute, The W.C.T.U., The Board of Trade, The school children, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Okanagan and N. Thompson W.C.T.U. at Peachland

There were twenty-two visiting delegates as follows: Mrs. B. R. Campbell and Mrs. A. B. Wellwood of Kamloops; Mrs. J. Moore, Mrs. W. A. Aslin, Mrs. W. H. Mills and Mrs. T. Ball, Armstrong; Mrs. S. Doherty; Mrs. G. A. McWilliams and Mrs. D. B. Hunter, Vernon; Mrs. C. B. Latta and Mrs. George Brown, Kelowna; Mrs. T. J. McAlpine, Mrs. C. A. Mitchell and Mrs. H. J. Armitage, Summerland; Miss Katherine Laidlaw, Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. W. R. Dodds, Mrs. M. Peel and Mrs. D. L. Harvey, Penticton; Mrs. M. M. Allen, of Naramata, district president, and Mrs. T. H. Wright, of Vancouver, provincial president, as guest of honor. Morning and afternoon sessions were held in the Methodist church and the evening sessions, which were open to the public, in the municipal hall, and the mid-day and evening meals were served in the basement of the Baptist church by the different church circles. The first session was opened Wednesday morning with a full attendance. Mrs. Allen, district president, presided over all the sessions in a very able manner and the report of all the delegates was to the effect that the business of the convention was transacted in a pleasant and efficient manner. Mrs. Wright was of inestimable assistance throughout with her pleasing and efficient counsel. The opening devotional exercise was led by Mrs. Wright, who brought greetings from the provincial W.C.T.U. Mrs. H. E. McCall, president of the local, extended a welcome to the visiting delegates, to which Mrs. T. Ball of Armstrong replied. Reports were heard from the various local unions, greetings received from sister societies, and several splendid papers were given on different subjects. At the Wednesday evening session R. J. Hogg led the devotional exercise, Reeve Lang gave the civic welcome and the Rev. T. A. Sadler the church welcome. A vocal solo by Mrs. Armitage of Summerland, a piano solo by Miss Edna Cudmore and a violin solo by Mr. Cooper comprised the musical numbers on this program. Mrs. Wright gave a splendid address on "Woman—Her Privileges and Responsibilities," which was very interesting and thoroughly enjoyed. At the Thursday evening session the Rev. T. A. Sadler led the devotional exercise. Mrs. J. L. Elliott gave a vocal solo, Miss Edna Cudmore and Master Paxton Morsh a violin and piano duet; Mrs. Armitage of Summerland, a solo; Mrs. Clark, of Summerland, a solo; and Mr. Booth also of Summerland, a solo. A feature of this session was the gold medal contest conducted by Mrs. Hunter of Vernon, the district superintendent of medal contest work. The contestants were Miss Dorothy Bones and George Dawe, both of Vernon; Campbell McAlpine and Max Laycox, of Summerland; and Miss Ruth Brinson, Peachland. It was a rare treat to the large audience to hear and see the splendid results of oratorical training presented by the contestants. It was no mean task the judges had. The decision was in favor of Miss Dorothy Bones, on whom Mrs. Hunter pinned the medal. To say the least, the contest was very close. It has been the custom for several years to confer a life membership on some member of the Union at the annual convention. This year the executive decided on the president of the Peachland local and great was the surprise of Mrs. H. E. McCall when the district president, Mrs. Allen, called her to the platform. Mrs. Wright in a short address pinned on the badge and presented her with the life membership card. It was all so unexpected that Mrs. McCall found it difficult to make a suitable reply, but expressed her appreciation and thanked the Union for the honor conferred on her. The report of the courtesy committee and the Misses' benediction closed a very successful convention. The visiting delegates were loud in their praise of the entertainment received while in the community, including the auto drive on Thursday afternoon, between luncheon and the afternoon session.

A number of citizens attended the funeral of the late and respected Federal member for Yale, Mr. J. A. MacKelvie last week at Vernon. They stated that it was a very large and beautifully conducted funeral.

Quite a number of citizens motored to Summerland on Saturday to attend the picnic held at the Experimental Station and all reported enjoying themselves very much. Some strayed to the concert given in the Summerland park.

Trepanier Lodge A.F. & A.M. held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

E. E. Eddy returned from the east recently. His family preceded him by a few weeks.

Mrs. B. M. Whyte of Vernon with her little son visited her parents here over the week end while Mr. Whyte was on official duty further south.

Mrs. J. J. Campbell of Kelowna was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Cudmore over the week end.

Mr. J. W. Jones, M.L.A., assisted by Mr. Norris, barrister, of Kelowna, held a public meeting in the municipal hall on Saturday evening with a packed house. Both were given a very attentive hearing and hearty applause.

Mrs. Smith, representing the Liberal party has been spending a few days in Peachland this week organizing the ladies.

The regular meeting of the Peachland Women's Institute was held on Friday last and opened with singing the Institute Ode. Reports were given by the treasurer and by Mrs. Smalls, convener of the local neighborhood needs committee. The most important of the letters read contained a resolution concerning grain transportation via St. John, New Brunswick and Portland, Maine. This resolution was left over to be considered and acted upon at the next meeting. Miss Van Kleeck wrote saying she would be pleased to act as judge at our fair in August. A solo by Mrs. Jones was much enjoyed, after which an interesting demonstration of soap making was given by Mrs. Young. Another solo sung by Mrs. Elliott was also much enjoyed. The roll call was responded to by humorous clippings given by the members present. Tea and ice cream was served after which a vote of thanks to the hostesses was moved by Mrs. McKay and seconded by Mrs. Needham.

LUMBERING PROVIDES THE RAILROADS WITH HALF OF FREIGHT TRAFFIC.

81,000 Cars Needed to Handle British Columbia's Rail Shipments of Wood Products

Imagine the effect on our rail transportation system if half their outward freight traffic were withdrawn. Figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that one-half of the rail freight traffic originating in British Columbia is made up of forest products.

Last year the railways carried well over 2,000,000 tons of lumber, shingles and other wood products out of British Columbia.

At a low estimate the amount paid in freight exceeded $25,000,000.

81,000 Cars

It took 81,000 cars to handle the lumber shipped to our rail markets last year. These cars would make up a train 800 miles long that would reach from Vancouver to Banff, Alta.

The above figures do not include the millions of feet of logs moved on public railways from camps to mills.

The railways benefit enormously by the heavy freights paid on camp and mill machinery, equipment and supplies, entering the Province.

The forest products group buys more material and employs more persons than the three or four next biggest industries put together. Both coming and going, it is logging and lumbering that keeps the railway tracks from rusting.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS
Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering any land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE
Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes: minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES
Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES
For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING
Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

The Winter's Tale, Scene II, Act IV

The peak of discontent in the Dutchman's ruminations on the comparative lots of himself and his dog was reached in the FROM BAD reflection concerning TO WORSE their respective futures.

"When you die," said he to his dog, "you die, and you're got to your troubles. When I die I got to go some place yet." Passing over the fact that the Indian believer in the happy hunting grounds would dispute the extinction of the dog, we can admit that our friend the Dutchman has a prima facie grievance, and we also find that modern theories as to the future don't tend to mitigate any forebodings we may allow ourselves to indulge in.

In the old days we had a choice between the flowery meads of heaven or the brimstone pit of hell, with the cheerful implication that the immense majority were headed straight for the latter place—today we are invited to the consideration of the next life as an almost imperceptible step from the present stage of our existence. We shall find ourselves wearing the same clothes, eating the same food, and indulging in the same sports and pastimes, that is, provided that our modern theorists are right. On the "Blue Island" described by the daughter of the late W. T. Stead from information given her by her father, all these conditions are present, the rich banquets and the athletic sports being particularly emphasized. These features are obviously very pleasing to contemplate, and taking them for granted, we can see a certain element of logic in the reasoning of the man who not long ago committed suicide after listening to one of Conan Doyle's lectures: "If that's all there is in death, why should I stay here any longer?" was the message he left for his friends, and from that particular point of view his action might possibly be condoned. But there is an aspect of the matter which does not appear to be sufficiently stressed. One of the fixed axioms of the modern theory is that those who have crossed the line between life and death cannot interfere with the affairs of those they have left behind, although they are still in close touch with them. In this consideration alone there are all the elements of as potent a hell as was ever conceived. If anything more terrible can be imagined than the anguish of a being who is doomed to remain cognizant of the struggles of those he has left, possibly unprovided for, and yet absolutely powerless to aid them, it is hard to find it.

It may be admitted that the idea is not new—it is at least as old as the parable of the rich man who, while in hell, thought of his five brethren on earth and begged that they might be warned. But our modern expositors go further in that they keep the living and the dead in such close touch that, as in Josephine Bacon's story "A Different Country" the dead man cannot be persuaded of his own death. This seems to be theorizing without any visible ground on which to build, and most of us will conclude that we may as well go about our business, doing the best we can in the present, and leaving our future in the hands of that "divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we will."

Certainly we don't get much comfort from modern theories.

Following on the publication of some letters from both sides in the question of increased facilities for beer drinking, "THE WRONG Daily Province" of REMEDY June 11th, has an editorial which deals with Beer and politics, and contains some remarks only describable as despairing as far as the political aspect is concerned. After a preamble admitting that "If British Columbia could get an ideal administration of the sale of beer" there would almost certainly be a vote in favor of the new plan, it goes on to point out that the chief difficulty is to keep beer out of politics; and that recent happenings have created suspicions in the public mind.

So far, so good. The sale of beer certainly ought not to be a political matter and it may possibly be difficult to keep it clear. But to imply that it is practically impossible to keep the two issues apart, is to administer a pretty hard knock to the political system of this province, and also to the collective intelligence of its voters. And to argue against a reasonable and common sense method of sale on the ground that the influence of the brewers will become dominant in politics, is to take an entirely wrong path. If this principle were adopted generally, we might find a good many industries throttled because of possible abuses. It would be no more reasonable to prohibit the sale of beer because of a fear of political domination by brewing interests than it would be to close down oil production because of Teapot Dome scandals. The trouble is not inherent in the beer or in the oil, but in the political atmosphere which permits such abuses, and the remedy lies in the purifying of that atmosphere. If the political bodies of this country can at any time be controlled by this, that or the other organization having the necessary wealth, then we are certainly in a bad way.

I notice some criticisms as to the type of song selected by some great singers lately when responding to encores. Galli Curci, it seems, responded at Vancouver with "Silver Threads among the Gold" and "Old Folks at Home," while an Italian baritone, singing in the Albert Hall, London, gave "O Sole Mio," and "Santa Lucia." The English critic claims that in regaling his audience with such selections as these this singer offered them much the same sort of affront as an English singer would in singing "Yes, we have no bananas" to an Italian audience! It is a pity that a possibly reasonable complaint should be so overstated as to defeat its own object. "O Sole Mio" is an old and favorite Neapolitan serenade, and has been sung by Caruso, de Gogorza and many other famous artists, while "Santa Lucia" is almost as popular in the same category. Both are full of melody and to compare them to a fleeting absurdity like the "banana" production is absolute folly. Galli Curci was perhaps not so happy in her choice, but even so, the parallel will not hold good. "Silver Threads among the Gold" is not high class music, but it has charmed millions of people during the past fifty years, and that is no light matter. And "Old Folks at Home" is so deplorably destitute of musical charm as implied, it seems strange that it has been sung by Calve, Patti, Melba, Gluck and many others, and is also a favorite solo of Kreisler's! Evidently if Galli Curci erred, she can claim to be in good company.

BEER AND POLITICS

Kelowna, June 14th, 1924.

Editor Review.

Sir:—The leading article on beer and politics which appeared in the Vancouver Province on the 11th inst., should surely enuse all thinking men and women to consider how sale of beer by the glass will work out under the patronage system to which both the Liberal and Conservative parties are committed. The certain result if either are returned to power and the electors vote in favor of sale of beer in licensed premises will be that licenses will be granted to political friends and the place of sale will be a rendezvous and headquarters for the ward heeler and the political boss. The present Attorney General did try to make a change in the personnel of the Vancouver Police Commission, but the services of the man in question were too useful to Mr. Farris and the machine again won.

The Provincial Party are pledged to eliminate patronage and one of the planks of their platform calls for the Liquor Act to be administered by a non-partisan commission. To those who doubt the possibility of our carrying out our pledges, I would say that we are not bound by loyalty either to a party or a leader or but to a platform which is not changed from day to day to satisfy political expediency; that we had the courage to break from the old parties and that in every constituency in this Province our supporters are putting up their money for campaign expenses in the hope of getting a higher standard of public life. It is only too well known how campaign funds have been obtained by the other parties and the prodigal way they are spent. We are fighting the worst form of Tammany politics. The slogan of both parties is the spoils to the victor and fool the long suffering public with the use of old historic party names which have nothing whatever to do with the business administration of the affairs of the Province of British Columbia. If you want beer by the glass vote for the party pledged to keep beer out of politics.

Yours truly,
B. H. BELSON, Lt. Col.

Editor Review.

Dear Sir,—My attention has been called to the following reasons "Why grain-growers should oppose booze":

Guide of June over the name of Hugh Dobson, 59 Canada Life Bldg., Regina. These reasons seem to be so appropriate for fruit growers and every one else in B.C. that I venture to ask for space in the Review for their publication, feeling sure that Rev. Mr. Dobson would be in full accord and sympathy with my intention.

(1) Booze lessens the efficiency of men. It makes tall-enders.

(2) It greatly increases taxation.

(3) It interferes with farm operations, especially in harvest.

(4) It makes the country hotel a vile, filthy place, where drunks and dirty language offend the decent.

(5) For every dollar of revenue obtained by the municipalities fourteen dollars must be spent by the folks who consume the booze. Rather a costly way to gather taxes.

(6) Booze creates bad debts, and bad debts increase the cost of living to those who pay their way.

(7) Booze never did one good thing.

(8) It has cursed every man who ever sold or used it.

(9) It will corrupt the government if we put them into the business.

(10) It ruins homes and causes divorces. B. C. stands the highest in Canada in percentage of divorces.

(11) It is the especial enemy of women and children. Its field is the work.

To the above may I add one word from the Scriptures? Romans 14: 13 urges "that no man put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way." "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor."

May the electors of B.C. refrain from adding to the existing evils the course of "beer by the glass!"

With thanks for the space in your paper,

Yours very sincerely,
GILBERT THORNBEL.

Get far more wear from dainty garments

It isn't because they're so fragile that your crepe garments, fine silks, and laces wear out quickly. It's the injurious things contained in ordinary laundry soaps.

You can get far more wear from the sheerest, daintiest things you own—by laundering them this way:

Use snowy-white, crinkly PALMOLIVE PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES. Nothing but purest soap. A great foam of suds that gently dissolves all dirt and soil—but never injures the finest fabric. And if anything it really brightens and renews delicate colors.

Being pure soap—nothing else—they go farther and clean more thoroughly. That makes them actually economical for use in the washing machine, for all laundering, and for all household purposes in fact.

Your dealer has them in handy one-pound packages. Do get some—if only to try—today.

PREFERENCE TO CANADIAN ALL YEAR PORTS

Too Much Traffic Being Diverted to U.S. Atlantic Ports.

For many years a large proportion of the wheat production of the Canadian prairies moved eastward has been shipped through American ports. This practice still continues, notwithstanding the ports of St. John and Halifax are equipped to handle the grain.

From a national point of view the passing of this grain through American hands after it reaches the foot of the Great Lakes results in a great economic waste. In an effort to have the situation remedied as far as possible, an appeal has been made by the people of St. John to organizations throughout the country to use every effort to have the matter remedied.

The following resolution was adopted at the last meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute:

WHEREAS it has been impressed upon the Women's Institutes of British Columbia that if the Dominion of Canada is to reach the zenith of its power as a nation within the British Empire, there must not only be close and friendly co-operation among its people, its provincial governments, and its civic and industrial organizations from one end of Canada to the other, but all must realize that the expansion of the Dominion is to a large extent dependant upon the development and utilization along economic lines, of its natural resources, and potentialities in preference to those of foreign lands,

AND WHEREAS the ocean ports of Canada, particularly those that are open throughout the entire year, and capable of functioning in all seasons, constitute one of the most potential of the Dominion's resources, and possess within them grand opportunities for the building up of Canada and for strengthening the arm of the British Empire,

AND WHEREAS the progress and development of certain Canadian ports of prominence are being delayed because of the fact that Canadian freight that should pass through them, and which they are capable of handling, is being shipped through foreign ports.

THEREFORE RESOLVED THAT the Women's Institutes throughout Canada be requested to urge upon their own members, upon federal and provincial members of parliament, heads of transportation companies, press and commercial organizations in their respective localities, to use their influence in securing the development and utilization of the ocean ports of the Dominion of Canada's commerce in preference to foreign ports.

LOCAL STUDENTS MAKE GOOD IN FARM CONTEST

It was a Summerland team that took the position of high team in the dairy judging at the farm last Saturday. Dorothy Garnett, Irene Harris and Harry Hobbs comprised the team and made 92, 71 and 70 respectively, a total of 233 out of 300 possible points. The next was a Kelowna team making 227 points.

Dorothy Garnett also made the highest individual score of 92, Helen White coming second with 91. The next highest was 80 points made by a Kelowna boy. The papers submitted by these two girls have been pronounced by the examiner, one of the university staff, as the best he had seen.

The prize team for all the judging was a Kelowna team, taking 481 points out of 600; 227 on dairy cattle, 184 on horses and 120 on swine. Summerland came next with 426 points, but it is explained that these contestants had not had previous training in judging of horses or swine.

The highest individual score was made by a member of the Kelowna team, 170 points. Orville Dunham came next with 160, Helen White 158 and Dorothy Garnett, 152.

B. Robinson, instructor in agriculture, states that the last three named will be entered in the contest at the provincial fair, New Westminster, provided they properly prepare for same. Their railway fare will be paid by the fair board and they will be entertained by them.

LADY SPEAKER HEARD HERE

Head of W. C. T. U. in B. C. Speaks on Subject of Beer License.

On Tuesday evening of this week the W.C.T.U. of Summerland held a mass temperance meeting in St. Andrew's church. W. C. Kelley presided and with him on the platform were Mrs. M. M. Allen of Naramata, district W.C.T.U. president, and Mrs. James Ritchie, president of the Summerland W.C.T.U. J. O. Steeves sang a solo. The chairman introduced Mrs. T. H. Wright, president of the W.C.T.U. for B.C. who gave a most interesting and informing address. She emphasized the place which women had in the fight for temperance. Among other things she said were these: "You need not get tired of fighting, for this battle is never ended. You can't kill beer by more beer. The Moderation League pretend to have great horror of the bar, but they forget that it was the women who compelled them to hide under this protection. It was the women who first fought the licensed bar and under much derision. It was the wife of an Ohio judge who started the movement in Hillsboro, Ohio, to put the bar out of business. The bar was abolished in B.C. in 1916, but this beer by the glass plebiscite if carried will bring in something worse. If the church members recognized the power of prayer they would soon kill the liquor business. Alcohol, drugs and vice are all mixed up together and you cannot separate them. Motherhood should assert itself the next few days and speak emphatically against beer by the glass on June 20. The women must go and tell the evil of this evil thing and work and use her influence and vote right. Until 400 years ago all the drunkenness was caused by beer and wine because there were no distilled liquors until then and yet we hear people saying beer will not make you drunk. Alcohol is a race poison. With alcohol the supply created the demand. Give greater freedom for obtaining alcohol and the demand grows. The more drinking places the more consumed. Beer by the glass will create an appetite for hard drinks. Every one who has the interest of this fair province at heart should vote "No" against the sale of beer by the glass."

It was a stirring address. Mrs. Wright left Thursday morning for Peachland to attend the W.C.T.U. convention there which lasted two days beginning Wednesday. She was accompanied by Mrs. H. J. Armitage, Mrs. Charles Mitchell and Mrs. T. J. McAlpine, who were delegates from here. Tonight at this convention there is an oratorical contest for a gold medal given by the W.C.T.U. for this district. Campbell McAlpine and Max Laycox will compete from here.—Cont.

Pleasure And Profit Gained

world markets for farm produce and urged the necessity of bringing down the cost of production by intensive cultivation, production of only the best and in other ways pointed out the road to efficiency and success.

In the absence of the deputy minister of agriculture, who was expected to be present, Whitney Griffiths, of Vancouver Island, prominent in Farmers' Institute work, gave a very interesting address on the power of organized effort as it affected agricultural legislation in particular.

Interesting reference was made to the Asiatic situation at the Coast. These foreigners were well organized and it was estimated that seventy per cent of every dollar they earned was sent out of the country. The speaker realized that the oriental question was an imperial one, but it is one which vitally affects the farmer.

Declaring that farmers cannot get full benefits of their efforts, with-out a good strong organization and pointing out that agriculture will very shortly be the chief industry in the province, Mr. Griffiths urged that only through organization can the growers get into the desired better position. Further, the government can deal with organized men but not with the farmers of the province as individuals. Farmers of today can and are pulling together.

Condemning the great variety of packs of apples undertaken last year, R. G. L. Clarke, Dominion fruit inspector, strongly urged the adherence to extra fancy, fancy and "C" grades only. Sixty-five per cent of our apples go out as fancy. If anyone wants extra fancy, he must be prepared to pay from 35 to 60 cents per box extra. Unless the growers get this extra price, it is not worth while packing this extra grade.

The market complains that while there is lots of good fruit going out of this Valley, not sufficient care is given to grading and he said that there must be a change in packing house methods. Better selection and more care are required. This will cost less than do the many rebates now demanded by the buyers, which result not only in loss of fruit but of waste of boxes, paper, etc. The growers are paying for good workmanship and they should insist on getting it. There was too much careless wrapping. Lots of the boxes when opened up looked like a bunch of feathers. Unless the responsibility was placed on the packing house management a whole battalion of inspectors cannot remedy these troubles.

Mechanical graders had greatly altered the situation. The grader is now the expert. Every grower, not a member of the co-operative, should be sure that his fruit is not going out on to the markets to cut the price, said Mr. Clarke, who declared there should be a close working arrangement between all shipping houses in the matter of distribution.

Touching reference was made by Mr. Clarke to the recent death of R. C. Treherne at Ottawa, formerly entomologist at Vernon and later at the Coast. The Okanagan never had a better friend, declared Mr. Clarke.

Dairying is one of the salvations of the Interior, according to Prof. R. L. Davis, of the University. With our wonderful crops of alfalfa, our climate and better conditions we should be able to turn our feeds into butter cheaper than can be done at the Coast. When he learned that the producers were only getting 30 cents a pound for butter fat the speaker's enthusiasm dampened somewhat.

Elimination of the "boarder" and the necessity of keeping only high producers were emphasized by the speaker.

L. E. Taylor, president of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, expressed himself very optimistic as to the future. He urged upon the growers the necessity of lowering the cost of production and reminded them of the figures on this subject prepared by the University, which were of great value.

Average production of apples here is two and a half boxes per tree. In Wanchewas, he said, it was four boxes. We have just as good soil and there is no reason why we should not be producing at least four boxes.

Much valuable work along this line is being done at the experimental farm and he advised growers to follow the advice of the farm people.

In addition to increasing production and thus lowering overhead costs there will be a reduction in the packing handling charges. Kolowna last year effected a saving of twelve cents per box over that of the year before and hoped this year to make a further saving of seven or eight

BIBLE TEACHING IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Plans to be Voted on by Parent-Teacher Associations Throughout The Province.

The following plans for Bible reading and teaching, suggested at the annual convention at Vancouver this year of the B. C. Teachers' Federation and the Provincial Parent-Teacher Federation are to be voted upon by Parent-Teacher associations throughout the province before a resolution on the matter is forwarded to the Minister of Education.

1. That a list of Biblical passages be selected by a committee representing the Department of Education and the churches; and that the School Act be so amended as to permit these being read, followed by the repeating of the Lord's prayer, at the opening or closing of the school day; attendance at these exercises not to be compulsory.

2. That the School Act be so amended as to permit of one public school period per week being allotted for optional Biblical instruction, when such instruction could be arranged to be given by accredited Bible teachers, independent of the school teaching staff and of the ordinary educational funds.

3. As the Bible is one of the greatest literary achievements of all time, and of all books has left the greatest impress upon our language, that the Bible, or parts of it, be included in the list of optional books in the High School courses of literature, the teaching to be given independently of public educational funds by trained Bible teachers whose qualifications shall be approved by the Department of Education.

cents. A third method of bringing about better conditions is co-operative marketing and Mr. Taylor urged that this thing be given a fair chance. Unfair criticism was ruinous and more boosting is needed.

Referring briefly to the very valuable work the B.C.F.G.A. is doing for the fruit grower, some of the recent achievements being the removal of the sales tax on fruit and the exemption from taxes of farm machinery used by fruit growers, the speaker urged that every grower be a member.

Prof. Wilfrid Sadler brought a message from Dean Clement of the faculty of agriculture of the university. He referred also to the excellent work which is being done by students from here and other Interior centres. Roy Eisey, of Summerland, recently received the highest prize available for distinguished research work, which was open to twelve hundred students; Wilcox of Salmon Arm taking second place. Riddhough of Penticton had captured the Governor-General's medal for general proficiency.

University training was supposed to give breadth of mind and the speaker pointed out the value to the state of having university trained men.

J. W. Jones, M.L.A., spoke very briefly and was followed by Supt. Hunter, who was pleased with the splendid attendance and, in referring to the farm, gave all honor for the development which had taken place there to the former superintendent, R. H. Holmer.

Supt. Hunter spoke very hopefully of some of the work being undertaken in the department of agronomy. There was promise of much success with mixed grasses, with alfalfa as a base, this for horse feed in place of timothy.

Referring to the truck crop division the superintendent said he felt that the Okanagan should be growing much more head lettuce. Practically all of this commodity is now imported. Experiments with the same varieties as grown in the southern states were proving very encouraging and he predicted that it will not be long before head lettuce will be a big crop in the Okanagan, particularly in the Oliver district.

Brief reference was made to the farm herd of Borkshires, one of the finest in the Dominion and to the superior quality of the Jersey herd as well as the farm horses and sheep.

Much credit is due to Messrs. Johnson and McLarty of Trout Creek Farmers' Institute and Messrs. Hudleston, McLennan, Shophord, Saunders, Tait and Knowles of the Summerland Institute, upon whom fell the chief responsibility for making the picnic the success it was.

Churches Make Special Effort

by the glass was reverting to the bar, but he would rather have the old bar than a wide open restaurant.

We had been told by the liquor interests that government control would end bootlegging. The attorney-general has said that the liquor men are our worst bootleggers. Consequently his distrust of further promises.

We are told that every vote for beer will be one for whisky's obituary. Rather it will be for whisky's new birth.

We had been promised tax reduction and that the profits from liquor sales would pay the provincial debt, but the debt has grown. Somehow or other prosperity has not come. All their prognostications have not come true, so, said the speaker, I am prejudiced against their further promises.

From June, 1921, to the end of March, 1923, to the end of March, 1923, we had spent $16,000,000 in government liquor stores and received in return a profit of $1,727,000. This is the way we are getting rich. It looks like extremely bad business.

In Vancouver $31 per head was spent for liquor and two dollars came back as profits. Similar figures were given for other centres.

The grocers' section of the Vancouver board of trade has declared that their business is suffering heavily from the diversion of money to the purchase of liquor.

"What do they now propose to let us have?" asked the speaker. The proposition is drink or more drink. There is something sinister about such a proposition. We should have had the opportunity to vote for less drink. The speaker said he could not see the fairness of the present plebiscite, which was suggested, not by the drinkers but by the brewers and distillers. Our government is sadly hampered by this influence, hence this proposition.

With the increased sale of beer in Quebec went an increase in the sale of hard stuff. They began to make their drunkards by their acquiring a taste for alcohol through beer. The pernicious thing about this plan is the way in which it is proposed to sell beer. He would rather have the dirty, smelly old-fashioned bar. He feared that with many it would become the fashion to visit these new places with clean tables and attractive conditions. The speaker was astounded that any government would put up such a proposition.

He pleaded that the matter be viewed from a Christian point of view. You may be safe, but it is up to you to save other men from making beasts of themselves and women worse than men.

Mr. Kelley read letters from three or four candidates in South Okanagan in answer to inquiries as to their stand on the liquor question.

Jack Logie expressed himself as opposed the sale of liquor and the making of public profit out of the traffic.

H. B. D. Lysons said he had no right to commit his party, but personally he was a teetotaler and he thought all other candidates in this riding were also.

C. B. Latta wrote stating that he was a total abstainer and not in favor of beer by the glass. If there was a vote in favor of the sale of beer he would do what he could to make the best of the situation.

J. W. Jones did not get the committee's letter until Sunday, but it was understood that he was also opposed to the sale of beer and would explain his stand at the meeting here the following night.

W. C. Kelley dealt very briefly with the subject, stating that the economic phase did not appeal to the person who drinks. Man is a social animal and subject to the dictates of fashion, because he likes to do as his neighbors do. We must consider whether the sale of beer is going to contribute to the higher social life. We have seen many good people going down because of some particular temptation. Many of us who have occupied have done so because the temptation has not confronted us. Because of the temptations which we would place before the young he feared the results of establishing beer parlors. As a citizen who wishes to see the standard of life kept as high as possible, he opposed the open sale of beer.

NARAMATA CO-OPERATIVE IN SESSION

Meeting Called to Fill Vacancies on Board—Deferred for Auditor's Report.

A special general meeting of the Co-operative Growers was held in the Naramata Hall on Wednesday afternoon to fill the vacancies on the board of directors consequent on the resignation of Messrs. Horswill and Partridge at the previous meeting. Before entering on the main business of the meeting the chairman, Mr. F. W. Rolt, stated that, after interviewing the various banks in Penticton, an arrangement had been conditionally made with the Bank of Montreal by which advances up to $40,000 would be available, the condition being that the growers sign a form suggested by the bank, and which the speaker described as perfectly in order. These forms were being sent out to the growers, and their return was asked for as soon as possible. Another matter which had to be referred to was some little confusion in the accounts of sales of materials to various persons last season, and not kept checked by means of sales tickets. This had necessitated the calling in of the auditor, Mr. Jackson, who would be in Naramata on Monday next.

A misunderstanding concerning a suggested contribution of the board to the May Day prize list led to some discussion, the chairman pointing out that such contributions were not authorized. The matter was eventually settled by voluntary donations by several of those present.

The matter of appointment of a foreman was then taken up, together with the circumstances leading up to the appointment of a managing director on May 26th and his resignation on June 2nd. The situation was finally discussed and it was ultimately decided that no further appointment be considered until after receipt of the auditor's report. This applied also to the filling of the vacancies on the board, it being pointed out that packing house operations were proceeding, and would not be hindered by the delay.

The consideration of the fifteen recommendations of the growers made last fall was then begun, but was not completed owing to the lateness of the hour.

A vote of condolence to Mrs. J. C. Lyons was passed, and the meeting adjourned pending the call of the chairman at an early date.

Jones Elected With A Very Large Majority

Receives More Votes Than Combined Ballot for Three Opponents.

It was a handsome majority the people of South Okanagan gave J. W. Jones when they elected him for the third term as their representative at Victoria. In a four-cornered fight he had a majority of practically fifty per cent over the next candidate and 198 over the total ballots cast for his three opponents.

At all the local polling divisions the balloting was strongly against beer by the glass. Summerland voted 172 to 57; West Summerland 328 to 146; Peachland 137 to 67; Naramata 80 to 41; Mineola 12 to 3.

Though the register showed a total of 923 voters in the municipality of Summerland, the total ballot cast was nearly 200 short of this. Ballots counted totalled 714 and there were in addition a few spoiled ballots. This means either there are a large number of non-residents or an unduly large proportion did not cast their ballots. All who did not vote either at home or as non-residents, will have their names removed from the voters' list and must make formal application to be re-instated.

SUMMERLAND AT EMPIRE EXHIBITION

J. Strother has recently received a letter from a friend in the Old Country telling of a visit to the Empire Exhibition at Wembley. The letter tells of a miniature of Summerland laid out to demonstrate the irrigation system. This model not only was replete with steel flumes but also went so far as to represent the houses in order to give an accurate impression to visitors of how an intricate irrigation system really looks and how it functions.

WATER RATES COMPLICATION

Council Asked Who Should be Forced to Pay Arrears.

Through leniency in collecting water rates, the municipality often finds it more difficult to make collections than if payment had been insisted upon immediately rates were due. An instance of this came up at this week's meeting of the council, when the treasurer sought instructions as to what course he was to pursue in the collecting of general water rates due on a lot in Victoria Gardens. Mrs. Figgis is the registered owner of the lot, but sold it to G. Stead, a K.V.R. employee, some time ago. Mr. Stead rented it to J. H. Callaway who, according to Mr. Stead, was to pay the water rates. This Callaway apparently disputes and the rates are now three years in arrears. More recently Mrs. Thompson bought the property from Mr. Stead and wishes to pay current rates, but under a municipal ruling can not take advantage of the discount until all arrears are paid. The question was against whom to take action.

MUNICIPALITY NOW BUILDS BATH HOUSE

Work was started on Tuesday on assembling the material and preparing the site for the municipal bathing house which is being built on the shore on the north side of Aeneas Creek as it enters the lake opposite the Log Cabin in Peach Orchard. Plans for the house were approved by the municipal council on Monday and instructions given that the work be proceeded with. H. Tomlin, municipal foreman, will be in charge and it is expected that there will be enough voluntary labor outside of the necessary experienced carpenters to put up the building.

EXPERT EXAMINES TRANSFORMER

Mr. Bartell, a construction engineer employed by the Canadian General Electric, was a visitor to Summerland on Monday in connection with the municipality's claim against the company because of the failure of the transformer through which the street lighting circuits have been served.

Mr. Bartell has installed some of the biggest power plants in the province.

With the municipal electrician, he thoroughly examined the burned out transformer, but the reason for the breakdown of the oil with which the transformer is filled and the consequent burning of the transformer remains a mystery. Mr. Bartell did not commit himself nor his company in any way, but it is the impression that he will recommend that the burned out transformer be replaced with a new one free of charge.

HAS RESIGNED FROM PARKS COMMITTEE

H. H. Creese has resigned from the parks committee. His resignation came before the municipal board on Monday, the reasons for his retiring being that he is so much out of town that he is unable to serve. The resignation was accepted.

MAKE DEAL WITH CHERRY CANNERIES

Associated Growers have made a deal with the canneries for the sale of sour cherries at 4 1/2 cents a pound. The canneries will also be supplied with a quantity of Royal Annes at 5 1/2 cents.

Trout Creek Has Kept Up Good Flow - Now Falling Off Drawing on Reserve Supply

Up to the present Trout Creek has been maintaining a very satisfactory flow; in fact, it has kept up much longer than it was believed possible earlier in the season. This week, however, there has been quite a marked falling off and it will not be long before it will be necessary to draw on the reservoirs.

Councillor Johnston, chairman of the water committee, visited the head of Aeneas creek a few days ago and while there opened the gate to let the water down to the lower reservoir. He found the upper reservoir fourteen inches short of being full. Door Lake, close by, was four and a half feet below the top of the dam, with only three and a half feet of water impounded. Indications were that there had been no more than three feet of snow in the hills about there. This accounts for the almost unprecedented smallness of the natural flow down Garnett Valley.

Mr. Johnston made a brief report of his visit at the regular meeting of the council on Monday. A report to pay current rates, but under a municipal ruling can not take advantage of the discount until all arrears are paid. The question was against whom to take action.

NEW PIPE FOR SHAUGHNESSY

Properly Comes under Head of Alteration is the Decision.

On motion of Councillors Bristow and Johnson the domestic water pipe line along Shaughnessy Avenue from the hotel corner to Elliott's corner will be renewed with a six-inch wood pipe with steel collars, the pipe to be bound to withstand a 400 foot head. Funds for meeting the cost of this will be taken from the proceeds of by-law No. 158.

Another motion authorized, the reeve and treasurer to sell Victory Bonds in the treasury to provide the money.

This decision was reached after the reading of a letter from Robt. Baird, inspector of municipalities, in answer to an inquiry as to the right to use this money which had been voted for alterations and extensions to the domestic water system. The conclusion of the council was that this work properly came under the head of alterations and having already agreed that this work should be done, the only obstacle being that of the proper means to finance, the members of the council ordered that the work be proceeded with without delay. The necessary plans and specifications will be prepared and the pipe and other materials ordered at once.

APPROVAL GIVEN WATER BY-LAW

Approval has been given by the Lieutenant-Governor in council to the amendment made by the Summerland municipal council to the by-law regulating the use of domestic water for lawns, gardens, etc. As finally passed by the council, this amendment restricts such use of the water to the hours between six and ten p.m., not from seven to ten, as previously reported.

UNITY THE ESSENCE OF SUCCESSFUL MARKETING

The success of placing produce on a profitable market does not depend on advertising, nor in appointing agents to exploit new fields, but it does depend on intelligent unity amongst producers. When united effort is a force, then advertising and exploiting new fields will perform a wonderful service. Without unity, producing becomes a gamble with the dice loaded by experts who function as distributors; mostly by virtue of forcing themselves upon the helpless dis-united victims and not by concentrated appointment.—Markets Bulletin.

NOT SURRENDERING TO ANY PERSON

J. W. Jones, M.L.A., was a visitor to Summerland on Wednesday and went around to Naramata this morning. Questioned with respect to the rumor originating at the Coast that he might be seeking Federal honors, Mr. Jones very emphatically denied the report. To The Review he stated that he had never had the slightest ambition or desire to go to Ottawa. It was his intention, he said, to devote his whole time to the people of South Okanagan and to provincial problems. He did not believe that W. J. Bowser had any idea of seeking South Okanagan as a seat and certainly, Mr. Jones declared, he would not surrender this constituency to anyone.

BADLY HURT IN CAR ACCIDENT

Percy Rand Seriously Injured When Car Hits Tree and Rolls Over.

Percy Rand was badly hurt shortly after six o'clock last night when the Ford delivery he was driving struck a tree and rolled off the road a short distance south of the G. N. Gartrell corner.

He was driving south along the shore road when the front wheels struck some sand and the car suddenly swerved to the outside of the road and ran along the edge for some distance, striking a good sized tree from which it rebounded and rolled down the steep side of the road, coming to a stop in an upright position on a piece of level ground perhaps ten feet below the level of the road. The driver retained his position and the car rolled over him in its descent, but he was able to climb back to the road and with little assistance walked to the Gartrell house now occupied by Mrs. Waterman, whose daughter, Miss Ruth, is a nurse and who immediately took charge of the injured lad.

George Fudge was walking north along the road and the two boys had saluted but an instant before Fudge heard the crash of the car against the tree, when he immediately turned back and met Rand, walking along the road, evidently badly injured.

A doctor was immediately summoned as were also his parents. The injured lad is suffering from a very bad scalp wound, broken ribs and collar bone and other abrasions and bruises. He is not yet in a condition to be moved from the Waterman home.

The car was very badly wrecked in the collision with the tree.

NEW RULING OF MUCH VALUE

Cherries Must be Delivered to Packing House Before Ten O'clock.

Members of the Co-operative are required to deliver their cherries to the packing house by ten o'clock each morning. This ruling is working out greatly to the advantage of the grower.

Only fruit picked the day before and which has cooled over night, or which has been picked very early that morning, is taken in and is in much better condition to stand up than fruit picked during the heat of the day and immediately removed to the packing house.

There is also considerable saving in time at the packing house, and, perhaps most important of all, is the great advantage this plan gives the selling staff, as early each day the sales department knows just what fruit it has to dispose of and sales can be made and shipping instructions given the same afternoon.

PRESENTATION BY OLD-TIMERS

Gather to Honor Adam Stark on Anniversary of Birthday.

Adam Stark was presented with a gold watch chain on Tuesday, his sixtieth birthday, by a number of old time friends. By permission, they had gathered in his store, ostensibly for the purpose of discussing an important subject, which sufficed to completely disarm the proprietor of the store, who during the discussion, and quite innocent of the real purpose of the gathering, treated to cigars, and, when asked the reason for his generosity, informed the men that this was his sixtieth anniversary.

This news, of which they were fully aware, opened the way for the presentation, which was made by J. W. S. Logie, and all joined in congratulating Mr. Stark and wishing him many happy returns.

The organization of an old-timers' club was discussed and a committee appointed to arrange for an old-timers' picnic to be held about the middle of August. Messrs. Stark, English, Anderson and J. W. S. Logie are members of this committee. It is probable that the old-timers' club will be organized at the time of the picnic, citizens who have been residents of the community for fifteen years or more being eligible.

BOOKS ORDERS FOR POULTRY ASSOC.

H. J. Sanderson, manager of the Summerland Poultry Produce Association, visited Princeton and Coalmont last week, leaving here on Tuesday and returning Thursday morning. He reports having had a very successful business trip in the interests of the association, having secured additional standing orders for eggs. He was also successful in selling a quantity of poultry.

CO-OPERATIVE TO GET THE FORE-SHORE

J. W. Smith, Inspector of Lands, Victoria, was a recent visitor to Summerland, when he looked into the matter of foreshore privileges for the storage building and examined other properties occupying lake edge space, outside municipal limits. Before leaving Mr. Smith gave the Co-operative assurance that everything was in order for the granting of a lease for the foreshore occupied by the storage building, everything being in order except that a survey of the property would be necessary. When this is done a lease will be granted.

Young Boy Scouts To Visit Warships - Spend Time Camping at Coast

Summerland Wolf Cubs to the number of about fourteen and about half a dozen members of the local boy scouts, with three cubs and a scout from Peachland will leave here next Sunday noon to spend a week in camp in Hastings Park, Vancouver. They will be in charge of Carlyle Clay, cubmaster, Bernard Taylor, assistant cubmaster and Mrs. Geo. Bonmore and Mrs. W. J. Taylor.

The boys are assured of a wonderful treat, thanks to the efforts of the cubmaster, who has worked hard to make it possible for the boys to visit Vancouver at this time and to inspect His Majesty's Ship "Hood."

Leaving here on Sunday noon, the boys will go into camp immediately after reaching Vancouver at 10.30 that night. The week's program is as follows: Monday, spent in Stanley Park; Tuesday, witness navy and military sports at Hastings Park and the naval searchlight display in the evening; Wednesday morning, Hastings Park; afternoon, visit to foot; Thursday afternoon and evening they will visit the Tyco Potlatch, passes having been forwarded to the cubmaster for all the boys. Friday morning half the boys in camp will be treated to a tour of the Vancouver

GRAHAM PASSES PROVINCIAL TEST

Dr. J. R. Graham was one of the successful nine out of twenty-four dentists who wrote the stiff examination prescribed by the B. C. Dental Board. These examinations were held in Vancouver last week, ending Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Graham now holds his college certificate, the Ontario and Dominion of Canada certificates, the latter being acceptable in all the provinces except Quebec and British Columbia, and he has now the British Columbia certificate.

He returned from Vancouver Tuesday morning.

MOVING HOUSES FROM MINEOLA

But few of the houses that cluster around the mill at Mineola now remain. These were all bought from the lumber company by Mrs. Pardee. One of them, which had been occupied by J. W. Wheeler, manager of the company, was taken apart in sections and re-erected on a lot near the Baptist church. Mrs. Pardee is now having the cottage which she herself occupied at Mineola, put up on another lot near the same church. At present Mrs. Pardee is living at the upper end of Prairie Valley, but she and her brother, Richard Jenkins, will move down to her own house as soon as it is ready.

Fred Brind bought the house that had been used by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee and moved it to his Meadow Valley farm. The house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mayne is now on the Lemon farm, Shingle Creek.

GOVT. INSPECTION FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Instructions have been given to the fruit inspectors that upon application from consignees or railway companies, they inspect cars of fruit and vegetables arriving from Canadian and American points, as provided for in the new Act now in force, their inspection to be prima facie evidence as to condition on arrival of cars. This will enable jobbers and carriers to arrive at a proper adjustment when cars are refused on account of condition.—Markets Bulletin.

Situation Uncertain Until Counting of Absentee Ballots.

Latest reports on the provincial election indicate that the Oliver government won 20 seats, the Conservatives 18, Provincials 4, Labor 3 and Independents 3. Not until July 11 or 12 will it be definitely known just what the returns are as there was a large absentee vote and twenty-one days must elapse after polling day before these are counted.

Vancouver Liberals, it is said, are confident that the counting of these votes will remove Gen. A. D. McRae from the list and return Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, now one of the apparently defeated Liberal candidates; and some of them are also hopeful that J. W. deB. Farris, ex-attorney-general, will replace A. McC. Creery, the second Vancouver Provincial representative. It is not unlikely that there will be one or two changes elsewhere in the province where the voting was close.

The absentee system of voting which originated prior to the 1920 election permits of a person registered in any riding in British Columbia casting a vote in another riding while absent from his own constituency.

On page three is given a full list of the candidates with the winners marked with an X preceding their names.

It seems impossible to get definite figures with respect to the vote on the beer plebiscite. It is announced, however, that the province has gone overwhelmingly against the sale of beer by the glass. A few small communities voted "Yes." Here again the absentee vote will be a factor, and not until these are announced will anything definite be known.

A feature of the election which must be more than a coincidence is that fruit growing districts throughout the province voted against the government, notwithstanding the fact that reduced freight and express rates on fruit were a marked feature in the campaign for support of the Oliver government. This is true even to North Okanagan, where Dr. McDonald, Liberal, has been returned, but only through the fact that the Conservative supporters split their vote between A. T. Howe and Price Ellison.

ANOTHER PAYMENT FOR CO-OP MEMBERS

Thirteen thousand five hundred dollars is yet due members of the Co-operative for the 1923 crop. This represents numerous small balances on pools and adjustments in prices. There has been delay in distributing this money to the members because of the fact that it and whatever surplus the Co-operative has accumulated on its first year's business are tied up in the shock and other material carried over from last year.

ENTERTAINED BY WOLF CUBS

Pleasing Program Presented to Raise Money for Camp Expense.

Quite a large audience enjoyed a very pleasing program provided by the Wolf Cubs last Thursday evening in Rialto theatre. The Cubs and Boy Scouts were responsible for the first half of the entertainment and the I. D. K. Plerrot group kindly reported their performance for the benefit of the cubs.

The first part of the evening was given over to dumb-bell drill by the cubs, followed by pyramids, tumbling, etc. An exhibition of parallel bar work was given by some of the scouts. A very pleasing incident followed the closing of the plerrot's performance when John Bonmore, for himself and his brother, Dick, presented the Wolf Cubs with a Union Jack. The program ended with the cubs in council circle, giving their yell.

THROWING MUD.

Through apologies and explanations tendered by members of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary, our attention was drawn to a paragraph in a Vancouver publication in which it was stated that Summerland people were agitated because the local editor had sent in a bill for twenty-five cents along with his regular advertising account for old papers used at the hospital bazaar. The comments of the editor of this Coast weekly, which publishes much so-called "muck-raking" and sensational copy, were anything but complimentary.

It did not require any assurance on the part of the Hospital Auxiliary that the sending out of such a story did not originate with the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary. We feel that the members of that organization realize that The Review and its editor have the welfare of the hospital as much at heart as has their organization, and we understand that the woman who furnished our contemporary the matter for one of its sensational paragraphs is not even a member of the Auxiliary.

There were just enough facts in the case to give one so desiring an opportunity to do another harm. For years The Review, as do many other weekly papers, bundles up its old exchanges for the purpose of satisfying a certain regular demand for old newspapers and these are sold at twenty-five cents per bundle.

Some weeks ago a young man came in and asked for one of these bundles. The person who served him was told to charge it to the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary. The item was included in a bill sent out later. It was not until Friday last that the editor was aware that such a purchase had been made or that the bill had been sent to the Auxiliary. Probably had he been in and had known for what purpose the papers were used, he would have omitted making any charge for them, but such option does not rest with any other member of the staff.

We are told that a few friends have been giving the story wide circulation among our readers—hence our dealing with the matter here.

REPTILE PUBLICATIONS.

Every once in a while you find a community afflicted with a reptile newspaperman. His newspaper crawls on its belly in the dirt. Its editor has little regard for truth. He desires to build by tearing down the character and reputation of some one else. Fortunately in the eternal fitness of things he doesn't get very far. He is not respected even by his own craft. Usually he lives a precarious existence, and is somewhat bitter at the world in general. Reptile newspapers—yes, we do have them, but how we dislike to admit it!—The Wenatchee World.

THE BEGINNINGS OF CONFEDERATION

The Government are prepared to pledge themselves to bring in a measure next session for the purpose of removing existing difficulties, by introducing the federal principle into Canada, coupled with such provisions as will permit the Maritime Provinces and the North-West Territory to be incorporated with the same system of government; and the Government will seek, by sending representatives to the Lower Provinces and to England, to secure the assent of those interested that are beyond the control of our Legislature, to be united under a general Legislature based upon the federal system.—Hon. John A. MacDonald in Canadian House of Assembly, June 21, 1864.

LLOYD GEORGE ON CANADA:

"Yours is a country of vast treasures and resources, and you are only at the threshold of its greatness. You produce some of the best wheat in the world; you raise fine cattle, but the world knows today that, above everything, you produce a gallant race of men." . . . Whatever the history of Canada may be, and it will be a great one, believe me, that your children and your children's children will read the story of what you did in August 1914, when you declined to take the attitude of Cain. Regard it as the most precious inheritance in a land of vast treasures."

SLANDER IS MOST PERNICIOUS.

A writer in The Vancouver Sun says: Of all the ills that public men are called upon to suffer, slander must be the most pernicious, if for no other reason than that it is so easy to set in motion and so hard to overtake. Once fairly on its feet a good substantial lie about a man, and particularly about a man in public life, will circle the globe while a truth is lacing its shoes on.

IT'S YOUR CHUM—

"The home paper is your chum, your pal and your intimate friend; the city daily is your casual acquaintance; the magazine is your occasional visitor. And when it comes to advice, we trust a chum and intimate friend first, don't you? You may not know it, but the smallest paper not only delivers more friendly and intimate home influence circulation, but it is trusted far more widely than the city daily produced by men so far away that they can't possibly be in touch with your community.

"There's advice to remember when you want to sell something—offer it to those who read the home-town paper, because they have long ago learned that they can believe what they see in its columns. It isn't so full of advertising, either, that your message will be buried, as often happens to advertisers in the dailies. If you haven't learned the truth about advertising in your home-town paper then you haven't learned all you ought to know about successful merchandising."

FUNCTIONS OF A SCHOOL.

The most important function of the schools is not merely to teach facts and develop mentality, but to arouse and inspire the great vital forces of youth to thrift and industry; to lofty endeavor; and to service and sacrifice for God, country and humanity.

BUILDING A COMMUNITY'S BUSINESS VOLUME.

The advertising "game" is more and more becoming the telling factor, the barometer if you please for finding the business pulse of a community in general. Along with tidy streets and well kept business houses, should go the well filled advertising columns of the local newspaper. No community can reach a high degree of prosperity without the local newspaper, as likewise no local newspaper can experience true prosperity without the co-operation of the prosperous business people of the community. Advertising systematically and persistently followed shows real value in the increased sales of any business house.

Recently a friend of the Review who had prepared an effective advertisement and published it in The Review the week before stated that, as a direct result of that advertisement he had experienced several days of particularly good business, better in fact than he had ever enjoyed, and these are times when people do not part with their money freely.

There was nothing surprising in this for us, because publishers know the mission of their columns and what they will accomplish. Ask any newspaper worker who has inadvertently made an error or mis-statement. He is immediately prodded and jibed and kept busy explaining matters for days to come, even though the error covers only two lines in print.

Oh, yes, we newspaper people are well aware that advertising—the commodity we have to sell—is effective. When business concerns who do not advertise, or who advertise spasmodically, wake up to the sales-building power of a definite newspaper advertising policy, we will have a better community.

DO TEACHERS HATE THEIR JOB?

The inconsistency of the labor press in Vancouver in preaching against war, and at the same time stirring up discontent in the community is evinced by an article with headlines, asking, "Why do teachers hate their jobs, and children school?" We hope the writer later attended the conference of B. C. teachers and Parent-Teacher Federation, and saw some 1000 earnest, interested men and women school teachers content to sit hour after hour in discussion on matters pertaining to the welfare of the child's education. Do they hate their jobs? We don't believe the majority of children hate school.

This mischievous, and stupid type of article goes on to advocate the elimination of discipline, etc., in the schools, under the plea of developing the individuality of the child, and teaching it to think for itself. The majority of parents will agree that there is no lack of thinking for itself in average children. They are brimful of ideas and schemes of all kinds. Their bubbling vitality and ideas require discipline, control and guidance. Lack of control and obedience to parents is the main cause of juvenile crime. Do not let us advocate lawlessness at school under the guise of teaching idealism.—Ladies' Mirror.

IS IT A FAILURE?

Prohibition in the States may be a failure—in the opinion of those engaged in peddling and drinking the horrible concoctions now sold as whiskey—but it certainly is not proving out that way, according to the records of the police department in the United States.

The records of 1924 in respect to prohibition are encouraging. Where is the man who used to say that drinking would increase with each year of aridity?—Trail News.

AGAINST BEER

There will be no beer by the glass in British Columbia after yesterday's vote. In no important centre did the plebiscite carry. This vote, taken together with significant decisions of the electorate regarding certain candidates, would appear to indicate that the people of British Columbia want a more careful observance of the law relating to liquor, and will not countenance any campaign looking to what are popularly called "wide-open" conditions. The people have decisively said that they do not want any system of beer bars, operated for private profit and capable of being involved in trafficking under political bosses. Vancouver Province.

Irrigation of Vegetables

By R. C. PALMER,
Assistant Superintendent, Experimental Station, Summerland, B. C.

Theoretically, irrigation makes it possible to supply the plant with just the right quantity of water just when it is needed. Where the water is applied by a skilled irrigator it is often possible to approach this ideal. It far more frequently happens, however, that water is applied at the wrong time and in the wrong quantity for most satisfactory results.

Many growers seem to be of the opinion that an increase in the amount of water applied always results in an increase in the yield of produce. This idea is quite erroneous as is proved by much experimental evidence on the subject. In fact, the application of more water than necessary often results in an actual decrease in yield.

The object of an experiment conducted at the Summerland Experimental Station for the past four years was to obtain reliable data concerning the irrigation requirements of various truck crops grown in the southern Okanagan Valley. Irrigation water was applied at the rates of 6, 12, 18 and 24 acre inches per season to such crops as cantaloupes, corn, potatoes, beans and tomatoes. Some plots received three, some four, some five and some six irrigations during the season.

It was found that just as large, and in some cases larger, yields were secured where 12 acre inches of water were applied than was the case where double the quantity of water was used. Furthermore, the application of more water than necessary delayed the date of maturity of such crops as cantaloupes and corn for as much as ten days.

The amount of water and frequency of application which will be found most satisfactory depends largely on the type of soil. In these experiments the soil was a silt loam about two feet in depth, underlain with fine sand. The water was applied in furrows three feet apart, and it was found that the crops made excellent growth where water was applied every fortnight in quantities sufficient to moisten the soil to a depth of three feet. More frequent irrigations and the application of greater amounts of water appeared to be wasteful of both labor and water.

From these results it is apparent that where the soil is in good physical condition the quantity of water necessary to produce maximum yields of such crops as tomatoes, potatoes, beans, corn and cantaloupes, is considerably smaller than many growers realize.

To make the most efficient use of his available moisture supply, the irrigator must study the moisture-holding capacity of his soil and the water requirements of his crops, and then apply his water accordingly.

"THE DEADLY CIGARETTE"

"The Hook", Vancouver, published recently under the above heading, subjoined interesting article "by one who had tried it."

The trouble with the cigarette is this, it's not a smoke, it's a dope. The cigarette being milder than the pipe, is generally inhaled into the lungs.

Now the lungs are made up of air cells and blood cells, separated by a thin delicate membrane. When the air cells are filled with the air, by breathing, the blood, passing through the blood cells, draws its nourishment from the air through this membrane and thus qualifies itself to supply the need of nerve and brain and muscle.

The cigarette is not a smoke, it's a dope, because, when inhaled, the smoke is drawn into the air cells of the lungs and the blood draws the narcotic through this thin membrane, and carries the poison to the whole body; debilitating the nervous system and reducing one's mental and physical efficiency. That's where the cigarette gets in its deadly work.

Complaint was made at the regular meeting of the council on Monday of a considerable flow of water down the Zimmerman gulch. It was the opinion of Coun. Johnston that this will not be stopped until measuring boxes are put on all the lots in that vicinity.

A man is but a worm of the dust—he comes along, wiggles about a while and finally some chicken gets him.

shot of dope into the blood through the lungs. That's why I say the cigarette is a dope. Being a dope it creates an ever-increasing desire for the narcotic, so that its addict cannot comfortably be any length of time without it.

This interferes with his steady application to business or labor, reduces his efficiency and hampers his social relations.

Worse than that, the effect of the smoke on the membranes of the lungs is such that continual inhaling is suicide. The smoke taken so freely into the lungs thickens these membranes, so that, even when the cigarette inhaler breathes good air, the blood cannot draw from the air the nourishment necessary to enable it to supply the needs of the body.

The result is that instead of climbing up in his vocation, he is reducing his efficiency and wrecking his constitution.

I know this because it is my own experience. I was a cigarette fiend.

Protein Foods
You have heard much mention recently of "proteins" in food. Do you know what protein foods are? Agnes Houston Craig, who was director of home economics for the Food Administration of Washington during the war, gives the following: meat, fish, poultry, game; milk, cheese, eggs; the legumes—peas, beans, lentils, peanuts; nuts. Most cereal foods contain enough protein to make them valuable supplements to those listed.
The word "protein" means "pre-eminent", for the protein foods are the only ones which contain nitrogen to any extent, and their function is chiefly to build tissue in the body.
Some candidates advocate boosting the outgo and decreasing the income of the government.

"A Snapper Up of Unconsidered Trifles."
* * * * *
The Winter's Tale, Scene II, Act IV

"In my youth," wrote one of George Gissings' characters, "looking at this man and that, I marvelled that humanity had made so little progress. Now, looking at men in the multitude, I marvel that they had advanced so far." The basis of the idea thus expressed is the conclusion of its author that men, massed with their fellows in some social organism, lose much of their real personality and become susceptible to any wave of sentiment or mis-reasoning which may be presented to them by their leaders. This is, I suppose, what is now called mass psychology, and its manifestations are seen in practical affairs more often than is good for us. It strikes it is nearly always the dominant feature, even when it is conceded that some strikes (not all) are based on actual grievances. Only by realizing this can we account for those fervent disputes which begin by a refusal to go on with the day's work, and generally end with heavy loss to both sides, aggravated by exasperating inconveniences to the general public. Taking the strike of the postal workers as an example, and comparing the rates given as prevailing on June 19th, with those fixed by the Civil Service Commission, we see the letter carriers for instance stand to lose exactly $15 a year on the minimum scale, and $18 a year on the maximum. They have been receiving from $1095 to $1458, and under the new schedule will get from $1080 to $1440. Obviously this small difference in itself is not sufficient to warrant a Dominion wide tying up of the public business, and if we take into further consideration the reported determination of the workers to establish a minimum of nearly $200 above the existing rate, we are entitled to feel that such a claim is ill-timed. Added to this we are bound to object to the sentiment which supports such a "drastic" indifference to the result of that general dislocation of business, which was aimed at, and finally we are astonished at the shortsighted vision which does not see how abortive such a strike must be. I notice that one newspaper paragraph referred to the general feeling of sympathy of the public towards the strikers; but it seemed to me that the sympathy should go to the wives and children of those who are willing to imperil a regular occupation in so light-hearted a fashion. An official of one of the postal organizations is stated to have said that the workers of his city (Winnipeg) were "at a grave disadvantage" owing to their experiences in the strike of 1919, which lent an attitude of greater caution. The official who looks upon that result as a "grave disadvantage" does not realize the meaning of the words he used. Had he said "a great advantage" he would have scored a bullseye—as it is we must account him to be a terribly poor marksman.

My friend George is batching it just now, his wife being on a visit to friends in the east. Consequently I see rather more than GEORGE'S usual of him, and am TRAILING regaled with many recitals of his joys and sorrows. He says that, when his period of loneliness first began, the thing he dreaded most was the washing up of dishes, but that he has contrived to rob that task of all its terrors by merely piling the used crockery in a bath-tub until the very last one is gone, and then turning the tap on them while he stirs them round with a stick. As I know that George is somewhat given to romancing, I take this with the same mental reservations as some of his other yarns. And this applies also to his story of the trailing vine which he declares is driving him to the verge of lunacy. It seems that, among the various window plants which he is under strict orders to water regularly, there is a demoniac affair commonly known as The Wandering Jew, and George says that he has never known a title so apt. He declares that, in response to his ministrations, this ubiquitous creeper has set out deliberately to invade the entire house. Besides enveloping all the neighboring plants in the window it has long ago reached the floor, encircled the piano legs, and is now reaching out for the stool. It also lays traps for George when walking across the dining room and tries to throw him. He says he is now awaiting instructions from his wife how to manage the thing, and is going to let me know how the affair pans out.

POISON BAIT FOR GRASSHOPPERS

For the benefit of any Review readers who may be troubled with grasshoppers we reprint here the "Kansas formula", said to be the most efficient method of control in uncultivated lands:
Bran, 20 lbs.; Paris green or white arsenic, 1 lb; molasses, 2 quarts; oranges or lemons, 3 fruits (or lemon extract, 1 oz.); water, 2 to 3 gallons.
Preparation.—Mix the bran and the arsenic dry. In a separate container squeeze the juices of the fruits into required amount of water, add the molasses, and let it dissolve. Cut the pulp and peel of the fruits into very fine pieces and add to the water solution. Then when evenly mixed pour into the bran, stirring vigorously so that the bran is thoroughly dampened. This quantity should be sufficient to treat 4 acres once.
Application.—The bran mixture, which is not too wet or too damp, but moist and friable, may be scattered by hand from a bucket or sack, much in the same way as broadcast grain for seeding. It is important to make the application in the early morning before the sun develops its heat. In this way the mixture, being fresh, retains its moisture sufficiently long to be an attraction to the locusts over a greater length of time. The locusts will feed readily and will die in from about two to four days.

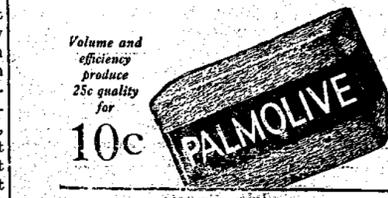

This is the description naively given by the editors of the "B. C. Veterans' Weekly" to the guessing competition on "EDUCATIONAL Market Fluctuations AND INSTRUCTIVE" been an attractive feature of that publication for some time, despite the continued efforts of the Vancouver police to end it. To discover the educational value of this scheme one may pertinently recall a famous aphorism of one Arthur Orton, the Trehorn's claimant, referred to by his counsel, Sir Charles Kenealy, as "that unfortunate nobleman now languishing in Dartmoor prison." Arthur's axiom, as found among his correspondence, ran thus: "Some has brains, and no money, others has money and no brains. Them as has brains should take the money from them as has no brains." The application of this theory appears to have been very thoroughly worked out by the weekly publication now in the limelight in a most effective manner, and greatly to the profit of its proprietors. Much money has been poured into their coffers in the way of premiums for the privilege of guessing on given problems, and periodical lists of winners have been published. Now the police have discovered that, so far as their search has gone, not one person has actually received a prize, all names published being fictitious. Inspector Jackson estimates that approximately $100,000 has been received from an credulous public during the past year, and this in spite of a constant fight on the part of the police to put an end to this particular form of gambling. Mr. J. W. del. Farris, K.C., "led a spirited battle on behalf of the defendants" and adjournments were so-

There were two Browns in the village, both fishermen. One lost his wife and the other lost his boat about the same time.
The vicar's wife called, as she supposed, on the widower, but really upon the Brown whose boat had gone down.
"I am sorry to hear of your great loss," she said.
"Oh, it ain't much matter," was the reply. "She wasn't up to much."
"Indeed!" said the surprised lady.
"Yes," continued Brown, "she was a rickety old thing. I offered her to my mate but he wouldn't have her. I've had my eye on another for some time."
And then the outraged woman fled.—Edinburgh Scotaman.

PINS
The pin of ancient times was just a thorn or sharp fishbone. Then some of the plutocrats had jewellers hammer out some in gold or silver. They were not made in quantities, however, until the 16th century, and even then they were very expensive. Nowadays, after the wire that pins are made of is reduced to the proper size and condition, the pins are all made in one machine. They are not tempered or polished as needles are. After they are finished they are sorted by hand, but there is a machine to put them in the neat rows in paper in which we buy them.

Talks on Honey

From The Naramata Apiaris
It takes the bees as long to make the honey comb as it does to fill it with honey. So the modern beekeeper uses a machine called a honey extractor, removes the honey from the combs and sends the "empties" back to the bees to be filled again. Thus a great saving is made in the bees' time just when they are busiest.
A honey extractor is a metal tank, with a screened framework inside made to whirl around at the rate of 280 revolutions per minute. Honey for extracting comes in large combs about 8x18 inches. When the bees have filled and capped the combs the beeman pares off the capping with a sharp knife and places the combs in the "baskets" inside the extractor, which is then put in motion, and the honeycombs go whirling like a regular honey "merry-go-round," and in a few minutes all the honey has been whirled out of one side and is dripping down into the extractor. When one side of the comb is cleared of honey the "baskets" are reversed, and the process repeated until the other side is emptied. The combs are now ready for the bees to fill again, while the honey is drawn off into a tank and strained, through cheesecloth or wire, and is ready for use.

In comb honey the little square wood frames that surround the honey comb are made from basswood and a thin sheet of pure beeswax, imprinted with the exact size and shape of the centre of the honeycomb is fastened inside the frame. These empty frames or sections, as they are called, are then placed, 24 in a box or super and set on top of a strong colony of bees, a second story as it were, for the bees to finish and fill. Hence comb honey is more difficult for the beekeeper to produce, and costs more per pound, also, than extracted or strained honey.
Choice comb honey is at the very nemo of dainty, cleanly, healthful sweets. It has never been successfully imitated nor adulterated. The quantity produced each season is limited, and very often the price is below the actual cost of production, though it seem high to the consumer. Many becomen are giving up the production of comb honey entirely, because of its uncertainty and the greater possibility of failure.
Honey should never be stored in a cold, damp place. Comb honey, especially, should be kept where it is warm and dry. A dust-tight box in the kitchen or pantry is the best place for it.

Sidelights on a Great Industry

FIFTY MILLIONS INVESTED

TION OF PROVINCE'S
PULP AND PAPER INDUSTRY.

British Columbia Only Cuts
One-Thousandth Part of Her Pulp Wood Annually.

It is estimated that the huge sum of $50,000,000 is invested in the manufacture of pulp and paper in British Columbia which is one of the great divisions of the Forest Products industries of this province.
British Columbia possesses the finest stand of high grade pulp wood in the world. The quantity is placed at 180,000,000,000 feet or 255,000,000 cords.

In 1922 the plants of British Columbia converted 274,000 cords or roughly a thousandth part into the manufactured product. Yet British Columbia produced 9.2 per cent of all the pulp and 9.6 per cent of all the paper in the Dominion of Canada.

Pulp and Paper.
In 1922 the pulp and paper industry of British Columbia employed 1823 persons in its plants alone with an annual payroll of $3,578,000 and spent considerably over $3,000,000 in the purchase of supplies. In addition the logging of the raw material employs many hundreds of men and greatly adds to the industry's payroll.

Enormous sums are spent annually in renewals of machinery, enlargement of plants, and in keeping the processes up to the latest scientific standards.

The establishment of a modern pulp and paper plant entails the expenditure of several million dollars.
The growth of an industry vast enough to keep pace with our increasing pulpwood supply is only a question of creating taxation conditions that will encourage the investment of the huge sums needed.

nally called by the Timber Industries

TWO FLAGS ARE CONSECRATED

Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Masons Attend Divine Service.

St. Stephen's church was the scene of a very pretty and impressive service on Sunday morning, when two flags were dedicated by the rector, Rev. H. A. Solly, as chaplain. One was the flag presented to the Cubs by the Benmore boys and referred to in another column. The second was the flag of the Girl Guides of Naramata.

The local Cubs and Boy Scouts attended the service in uniform as did the Naramata Girl Guides, who were supported by the Summerland Guides.

By a coincidence the local Masonic Lodge were also in attendance, this being their regular annual church parade service.

An excellent and appropriate sermon was delivered by the rector, his theme being the brotherhood of man and his relation to God and country, as contained in the text, "Honor all men, love the brotherhood, fear God, honor the king."

LAD WRONGLY ACCUSED, THEFT

Janitor Had Taken Missing Purse—Charge Laid on Rumor.

An unfortunate incident arising out of the Cub dance held in Empire Hall on the 13th inst was completely disposed of in Police Court last Saturday. It appears that the lady who had been selling ice cream at the dance left her handbag containing some money in the hall when she left about 1-30 a.m. and when search was made the next day the bag was missing.

Some of the Cubs foolishly playing as amateur detectives made statements to Constable King involving some boys who had visited the rear of the Hall early in the evening, but who had gone home long before the bag was left in the Hall by its owner. Without making proper investigation of these statements the constable laid an information against a boy belonging to one of the most respected families of the community.

This boy, however, had ample proof from the evidence of others that he had gone home hours before the lady left her bag in the Hall, and that before she had departed he was at home asleep in his bed.

With the matter facing trial the constable realized he had been over-hasty, and that he had no facts or disclosure of any knowledge of his informant, in any way, involving the boy in relation to the missing bag and the money in it, and hence he was completely at sea. Prior to the case being called he asked for permission to withdraw the charge. The magistrate permitted the constable to withdraw the information as he admitted he had no evidence to support it. In informing the boy there was no charge against him, and that he left the court with his character unscathed in any way, the magistrate pointed out the seriousness of other boys making complaint based on mere suspicions of their own making, and hearsay statements, and the seriousness of laying a charge without having evidence to support it, and that so doing created an unfortunate position for perfectly innocent persons.

Since the above story was put in type it has been learned that the purse referred to had been taken by the janitor of the hall for safe keeping and was not returned to its owner until some days later.

First Estimate Of 1924 Fruit Crop

M. S. Middleton, district horticulturist, has given the Review the following estimate of the stone fruit crop of the Okanagan district for the present season. He states that this is as accurate as is possible at the present time.

It will be noted that cherries are a light crop. In some cases sour cherries survived the spring frosts. Peaches are extremely light, due largely to injury from spring frost.

Apricots escaped the frost and are a full crop. They are sizing well and may exceed the estimate. Plums and prunes are very patchy but will be better than half a crop on the average.

NARAMATA NEWS

Current Events of Town and District

Mr. E. J. Chambers was in town on Wednesday evening to attend the Co-operative meeting, which he understood was to be held at 8 p.m. instead of in the afternoon. He informed the secretary that Vernon has made a new ruling concerning Clause 8.b. in the growers' contract, allowing more latitude to the locals where orchard packing is concerned.

The marriage of Miss Mary ("Mayda") Douglas Williams and Mr. Otto Estabrook is announced for July 2nd. The couple will make their home in Penticton.

Douglas Salting is home from Pullman (Washington) Agricultural College.

Mr. J. N. Kennedy suffered a serious accident on Friday evening, breaking an arm while removing his piano to his new home from the Wright ranch. The instrument was on the Kennedy democrat, and the accident occurred when the horse moved forward and upset it. Mr. Kennedy was caught between the piano and the democrat, and but for the prompt assistance of Mr. Patterson in lifting it up on end, must have been crushed. As it is, a broken arm and severe bruises are the extent of his injuries. Dr. McGregor was phoned for and arrived very soon, setting the bone as well as possible, the patient being afterwards conveyed to Penticton Hospital by Mr. Patterson.

At the Union Service on Sunday afternoon, Rev. H. J. Armitage preached on the necessity of earnestness in Christianity. The choir gave the anthem, "What are these that are arrayed in white robes?" (Stainer), Miss Alice Myers presiding at the organ. The anniversary service was announced for the first Sunday in July. The Rev. H. A. Solly will hold an evening service Sunday evening next being the fifth Sunday in the month.

Miss Mary Rushbury and her sister "Billie" are staying at the Rushbury home for two weeks, accompanied by a Vancouver friend, Miss Johnston.

Mr. Donald Manchester is here on a short visit from Seattle.

DOMINION DAY AT PENTICTON

Penticton, the meeting of the ways. That is what the name Penticton means and it will particularly mean that on July 1st, when the big Dominion Day celebration will be staged. All roads will lead to Penticton on that occasion for the Turf Club will put on one of the best attractions that has been witnessed there for many seasons.

There will be horse racing, athletic events, baseball games and a military spectacle staged by members of the Mounted Police and the C.M.R. In the evening a gala dance at the Aquatic Club and fireworks on the lakeshore. Penticton extends a warm welcome to everyone on Dominion Day.

ANOTHER AUCTION THIS SATURDAY

Auction sales of household effects usually are held at the home of the owner, but Auctioneer Sutherland is departing from that practice this week by combining the effects of two households, neither of which is centrally located; at a convenient place for the buying public. He states that auctions are likely to be few from now on and for this reason buyers with ready cash should avail themselves of the bargains which will be offered on Saturday. Particulars of the sale are given in another column.

Young man (to jeweler) "Will you take back this engagement ring?" Jeweler: "Doesn't it suit?" Young man: "Yes—but I don't."

IS GRATIFIED FOR GENEROUS SUPPORT

Editor of Summerland Review, Permit me through the columns of your paper to express my high appreciation and thanks for the support accorded to me on this third occasion on which I have sought the suffrages of the electors of South Okanagan.

The large majority given me from almost every poll is particularly gratifying to me and the organization which stood so loyally behind me, and to whom much of the credit is due.

To the many friends of all shades of political leanings who have always supported me I wish to tender my sincere thanks.

To the press I am indebted for the fair and unbiased manner in which my meetings were reported.

Assuring the electors of this riding of my continued efforts on their behalf,

I am yours faithfully,
J. W. JONES.

EDMONTON TEAM WORLD CHAMPIONS

The Edmonton Commercial Graduates, girls' basketball team, are now undisputed champions of the world, having this spring defeated one champion team from Ontario and two champion teams from the United States. The team has just left over the Canadian National Railways' lines for Paris, where the girls will participate in the Olympic Games, representing Canada in the basketball series.

STROLL HOME FOR HOLIDAY

Three Winnipeg students have started from Vancouver on foot in an attempt to walk to their homes on the prairies by August 15. They are following the Canadian National Railways right of way through the mountains and across the prairies.

SEVENTH

of the series dealing with the establishment of the Bank of Montreal at representative points in CANADA and elsewhere.

THE completion in 1886 of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a project that had received the moral and financial support of the Bank of Montreal, cast a bright ray of promise across the then somewhat troubled economic life of Canada.

Canada at last was spanned by rail from coast to coast, opening up for profitable development the fertile territory lying between.

The Bank of Montreal signalized the completion of the line by establishing a Branch at Vancouver and later at Victoria, thus completing its transcontinental chain of Branches and bringing to the Pacific Coast banking facilities essential to the successful development of the great economic potentialities there.

Of its 567 Branches, 53 are situated in the Province of British Columbia.
