

Protection to Fruit Industry Subject of Barter, According To Rt. Hon. A. Meighen, Ex-Premier Gives Conservative Side of the Political Questions at Issue.

VIGOROUSLY ATTACKS PRESENT POLITICS

Dr. S. F. Tolmie Reviews Development of Agriculture By Conservatives.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen was accorded an enthusiastic reception when he appeared on the platform of Empire Hall before a large audience last Friday afternoon. Delayed somewhat by the slide on the road north of Crescent Beach, the former premier was compelled to abbreviate his address in order to be on time for his next appointment. Mr. Meighen was accompanied by Dr. S. F. Tolmie, former minister of agriculture and member for Victoria.

J. L. Logie acted as chairman and briefly referred to Dr. Tolmie's record as Minister of Agriculture and his activities in British Columbia's agricultural industry. For some years he occupied the government position of chief of the Health of Animals branch.

Dr. Tolmie

On Agriculture

Called upon by the chairman, Dr. Tolmie said that he would endeavor to state what the Conservative party had done for agriculture in Canada. For fifteen years ending 1911, the Liberal government gave, on the average, one million dollars a year toward advancing the cause of agriculture. When Dr. Tolmie went out of office as Minister of Agriculture this sum had been increased to five and a half millions a year. There was not enough being expended for that purpose even yet in view of the capital invested in the industry.

The speaker told of the negotiations carried on by him with the federal authorities for the removal of the embargo on cattle ending in the promise to Sir Robert Borden during the war that the embargo would be removed. This promise was fulfilled in 1921 and was not the result of the efforts of the Liberal government as claimed.

Forms Fruit Department

Legislation providing for co-operative wool grading, regulation of stock yards, grading of eggs and the establishment of a butter station had greatly stimulated those several industries. A fruit department had been created and a fruit commissioner appointed. Previously this important industry had been under the Health of Animals branch. Packing schools had been provided, pre-cooling plants established as tests and experiments in cooling of cans inaugurated. A fruit representative at Liverpool had been appointed and many other things done for the advancement of agriculture. All this while the speaker was Minister of Agriculture.

Refers to Candidate

Dr. Tolmie referred to Mr. Stirling, the candidate, as a man educated along constructive lines, a railway engineer and a man of long experience in irrigation work and fruit growing and one who knows the markets. He is president of the Kelowna Board of Trade and of the Associated Boards of the Interior. He was sure that Mr. Stirling will be received at Ottawa as a very valuable member, bringing up-to-date and active information.

Mr. Logie expressed great pleasure in the privilege of introducing Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, a man with whom he had been acquainted for over thirty years and referred to the certificate of character given Mr. Meighen as a young man by his pastor, who had described him as a man who would become a leader.

The former premier, in opening his speech, referred to the work of Dr. Tolmie and stated that he hoped to place the agricultural interests of Canada once more in the hands of the foremost agriculturist in the country.

Late Member

Hard Worker

Very feelingly he referred to the loss to the country in the death of the late J. A. MacKelvie, M.P., a man who had worked vigorously and had passionately strived to serve the Okanagan and his country. He had been active and effective when his party was in power and in defeat.

Mr. Meighen referred to this as an extraordinary constituency, one that cannot be excelled in general education of its citizens and their information of affairs. He expressed surprise at the effort being made by the Liberal speakers to deceive the electors, who are being told that this is not the time to consider public issues but rather to get in a friend at court. The Minister of Public Works had told the people that if they want anything they must elect a supporter of the government. This Mr. Meighen described as a base form of bribery. In effect, they say that this money, which everybody pays, we will use for those who vote Liberal. When he was here four years ago, said the speaker, no audience ever received the suggestion that it would be necessary to vote for Mr. MacKelvie in order to get a square deal.

Protection

Continuing, the speaker asked which party it was that deserved support in respect to protection of fruit. (Continued on Page 6)

TRAFFIC INTERRUPTED BY ANOTHER SLIDE

Road Blocked at Old Spot North of Crescent Beach.

Okanagan highway was blocked on Friday and Saturday at the site of former similar obstructions north of Crescent Beach. Earth had been coming down steadily for some time and on Friday morning so much earth had fallen on the road that it took about two days to clear it. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and his party made the journey from Peachland to Summerland over the high road as the party wished to bring their cars through. The stages transferred their passengers at the slide.

NAME TREE FOR EACH SOLDIER

Veterans Planting Tree in Name of Each Fallen Comrade.

Thirty-five sons of Summerland lie sleeping in the fields of France. Nothing has yet been done to perpetuate their memory by way of erecting a cenotaph or other reminder of their great sacrifice. Their returned brothers are undertaking a plan which will meet with universal approval when on Tuesday next, Armistice Day, thirty-five trees will be planted in memory of the fallen, each dedicated to one of the heroes.

These memorial trees are to be planted in the G.W.V.A. grounds at 10.45 Tuesday morning. This particular hour has been chosen so that all those assembled might observe the prescribed two minute silence at eleven o'clock. This being the case, it is essential that the people must assemble punctually at 10.45.

Arrangements have been made to have the several local ministers take part in a very short memorial service after which the reve will complete the planting of the trees, each one in the name of a fallen citizen. It is urgently requested that all veterans, whether members of the association or not, attend this service and also as many as possible of the general public.

Arrangements have been made to permit the pupils of the high school and of the four senior years of the public school to attend this service.

PASSING OF PIONEER OF THE OKANAGAN

The Hon. Courts Marjoribanks Died Suddenly on Saturday.

The Hon. Courts Marjoribanks died suddenly on Saturday last, November 1st, at his home near Vernon. He was one of the pioneers of the district and was well known to many old timers throughout the Valley.

The Hon. Courts Marjoribanks was a son of Lord and Lady Tweedmouth and brother to the Countess of Aberdeen and Tenair. The present Lord Tweedmouth is his nephew and he was next heir to the title.

Coming to the Valley thirty years ago he managed the Coldstream ranch and also the Guisachan ranch, Kelowna. Before coming to Canada he was a lieutenant in the "Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders." He returned to Scotland in 1894 and married in 1895 Agnes Margaret, daughter of Col. Kirloch of "Gourdie" Scotland and widow of Commander Jasper E. T. Nicolls, R.N. Returning to British Columbia again in 1910 he has lived at Vernon since then.

He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Surtees, of Okanagan Mission and two step-daughters, Mrs. Mylne of Australia and Mrs. R. V. Agar of Summerland.

The funeral was held on Monday from the Anglican church, Vernon, service being conducted by Bishop Doull and Rev. H. C. Gibson, rector, and was largely attended. There were many floral tributes from a large circle of friends.

GROWERS HEAR PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATED

Mr. Chambers Explains Many Things To the Local Members.

Only about 300 cars of apples held by the Associated remain unsold, according to E. J. Chambers, president of the Associated, who addressed a meeting of the members of the Summerland Co-operative Monday night. Mr. Chambers predicted that there would be fairly general satisfaction with returns for the 1924 crop. In some cases the independents would pay a little better price, but it is not fair to judge the co-operative by what the independents pay, but rather the question should be asked, Do we receive more for our fruit through the co-operative than we would receive if there were no co-operative?

Being Stored

Practically no apples would be stored this year. Experience proved that with present facilities sales should be made at 50 cents per box higher for stored apples and with fairly satisfactory prices now prevailing, the Associated preferred cleaning up the crop.

About 250 cars of apples had been exported and possibly another 50 cars would go overseas, a total of only about fifty per cent of last year's exports. It was not fair, said Mr. Chambers, to compare the returns on export apples with those from apples sold locally. Only 175s and smaller sizes were sent overseas, sizes that are practically unsalable here.

Marketing in United Kingdom

The speaker dealt briefly upon the question of policy that should be adopted in United Kingdom markets. Auctions had brought better prices than f.o.b. sales, and it was hard to break away from the auction custom of that country.

Mr. Chambers spoke on the application being made by the Associated for legislation to remedy certain possible technical weaknesses in the contract. There was no idea of seeking (Continued on Page 6)

MUSICAL DIRECTOR HONORED BY CITIZENS

Is Recipient of Gifts from Members of Choral Society.

Another ring has been added to the baton of the well known and popular local musical director, Mr. G. W. Cope. A few evenings ago a committee of ladies from the Summerland Choral Society called at the Cope home on Paradise Flat and presented him with a ferule to his baton, together with monetary gift in acknowledgment of his services as musical director last season. Hopes were expressed for the resumption of practices in the near future.

Mr. Cope's ebony baton, which was presented to him by the Mere Choral Society in England, now bears inscribed rings as follows: Messiah, 1908; Judas Maccabaus, 1909; Messiah, 1912; Crucifixion, 1923, and Summerland Choral Society, 1924.

After supper a pleasant evening was spent, Mr. Cope expressing his thanks and appreciation for the unfailing kindness and attention of the members of the society.

The secretary-treasurer's statement was placed before the members, showing the club to be in good shape financially. The treasury fund showed a balance of $466.14 while the general fund on hand amounted to $128.04, a total of $594.08. The president's report for the year was also presented.

Several additions to and alterations in the by-laws were submitted and duly passed by the meeting.

Directors elected for the ensuing year are: F. W. Andrew, A. B. Elliott, K. S. Hogg, A. Stark, and John Tait. C. P. Nelson was appointed auditor.

The club expects to put on a campaigning campaign in the near future with the idea of doubling their membership, which already includes names from all over the valley.

THINK BOMB PLACED BY DOUKHOBOR

Veregin Had Feared An Attack—An Enemy Douk. Suspected.

Parts of an alarm clock and electric battery found at the scene of the explosion of the Coast-Kootenay train last week confirm the conviction of authorities that a time bomb had been placed under Peter Veregin's seat. It is reported that at one of the stations before Farron was reached, two suspicious looking characters were noticed walking along the platform looking into the windows of the train. One of them is said to have boarded the train.

According to another report, a member of a group of Doukholders exiled from the Grand Forks community is suspected.

It is known that for some months past Peter Veregin had kept his sleeping place a secret and that he rarely slept in his own house. It has been apparent too, that he had been fearing an attack on his life.

IRRIGATION BY LAWS MEET WITH DEFEAT

Cost of Storage Excessive is Probable Thought Behind Action.

Two irrigation by-laws were voted upon by the ratifiers of Penticton a few days ago and both defeated. One by-law was for the purpose of authorizing expenditure in providing additional storage for the irrigation system of that municipality and the second was for providing the necessary money. Only 128 votes were cast, indicating a surprising lack of interest in the measures, the majority against being 13.

On the assumption that the by-laws would carry work had already begun by the council.

Suggested Reasons

It is said that some of the arguments advanced against the measures were: that the distribution system is in such state of disrepair that any money expended should be on it; that the proposed work should have been divided, each with its own by-law, in which case the Howard Lake project would have been approved, but that too large a sum was required to give a relatively small additional storage capacity to the present Penticton Creek reservoir. Town and bench naturally look on the subject from different points of view. The town people feel that the growers should put the system "on its feet."

In this connection Reeve J. Kirkpatrick, when asked the question, "What would you suggest be done to put the irrigation department on its feet?" replied, "I do not think there is anything to be done except to raise the rates. There is a debt of about $342,000 and it is still going behind."

Penticton's irrigation rate is much higher than is the Summerland rate.

VALLEY HIGHWAYS ARE TO BE "SIGNED"

Road Signs to be Erected by Automobile Club.

Plans are being laid by the Automobile Club of British Columbia for road signing the Okanagan circuit, the boundary district and Vancouver Island. Work will be started on the first of April next. The club has been successful in obtaining a cash grant of $4,000 through the department of public works together with promise of assistance with trucks, drivers and men to dig post holes.

BURNED WHEN SHE OPENED FURNACE

Exploding Gases Painfully Injure Mrs. V. J. Bernard.

Mrs. V. J. Bernard is in the hospital suffering from wounds received on Tuesday night through the explosion of gas in the furnace at her home. The furnace had seemed to be burning poorly and Mrs. Bernard went down to the basement to attend to it. On opening the door of the furnace, there was a rush of gas which was ignited by the draft caused on opening up the door, burning her right arm and hand severely while the left arm was badly burned from wrist to shoulder.

CONTEST IN APPLE JUDGING

Farmers' Institute and Agricultural Classes Staging Event.

Something of an innovation is the apple judging competition announced in another column to be held on Tuesday next under the joint auspices of the Summerland Farmers' Institute and the agricultural class of the high school. The competition will be of considerable value to all those who participate in it. The plan is to have several plates of each of the standard varieties of apples and the contestants will be asked to place two or three of the best plates of each variety. Fifty per cent of the points will be for placing and fifty per cent for reasons for so doing. Another object is to have growers become more familiar with the several standard winter apples.

The contestants will be divided into three classes (1) for growers with two or more years' experience; (2) for growers with less experience and (3) for high school and public school students. All who would take part in this competition and it is hoped many will, should register with P. H. Knowles, secretary of the Farmers' Institute.

Three judges will pass upon the work of the competitors.

Plans are also being advanced for the holding of an exhibit of young Jersey stock by the members of the Jersey Calf Club. Geo. H. Hay of Kamloops, agricultural representative is expected to be present to judge the animals and to give a talk on dairy stock.

Prefer Local Unit to Shares in The Larger Holding Company.

DIRECTORS FAVOR HOLDING COMPANY

Question of Interest or Non-Interest Bearing Shares Discussed.

Members of the Summerland Co-operative will in future hold their annual election of officers in February instead of April as heretofore. This change was decided upon at a general meeting of shareholders held Monday night in the college gymnasium. The change was made on the recommendation of the directors, who stated that April was too late to give the new board time to make financial and other arrangements for the season.

To Acquire Buildings

The association also decided to complete arrangements along the lines of a resolution adopted in April, 1923, for the acquiring of the storage and other local buildings occupied by the co-operative and now held by the Growers' Packing Houses, Limited. The subject was introduced by G. J. Coulter White, now vice-president of the Co-operative, who pointed out that deductions had been made from the price of every package handled by the co-operative and he asked that the growers now decide whether they would take for this money withheld, shares in the Growers' Packing Houses, Limited, a company organized early last year for the purpose of taking over and financing the purchase of buildings used by the affiliated locals. Another proposition, which was favored by the local board, was that the Summerland growers take over their own buildings from the Growers' Packing Houses, Limited, and that the growers be given share certificates by their own local organization holding the properties, rather than in the larger company. The local board had given on this matter much consideration and had, after considerable negotiation, obtained the assent of the central company to their proposition that they hand the local properties over to the Summerland growers.

Holding Company Proposed

This latter suggestion was in line with the idea of the local growers at the time of reorganization in April, 1923. Central holding company was now ready either to issue share certificates to the individual growers or transfer the local properties and an early decision as to which plan was favored was desired. Taking over of the buildings by the local growers was the plan favored.

There was considerable discussion as to whether the co-operative should acquire the buildings or that the members should form a separate holding company. The directors, as well as their solicitor, W. C. Kelley, apparently strongly favored the latter being the simplest, safest and most business-like. Members were asked to consider this question which they will be asked to decide at a later meeting.

Working Capital Voted Board

The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. G. I. Gray, who, in opening the meeting referred to street criticism of the co-operative, which he described as a mistake. The business was that of the growers and any dissatisfaction should be reported to the directors rather than made street gossip to the injury of the business.

After winding up the business of handling the 1923 crop, the co-operative had on hand $5,000 of growers' money, surplus from reserves made for operation. It was explained by Mr. White that nothing had been paid on equipment purchased through central, at a cost of approximately $12,000. Central was now (Continued on back page)

DEFAMATION OF CHARACTER.

There arrived at the desk of the editor this week a bulky little package, labelled "Xmas package." It came from the far north and looked as though it might have been an advance package from Santa. In the same mail there came a letter from Fraser Lake, B.C., a town on the government line, some miles east of Prince Rupert. This letter explained the package, which was described as "containing a sample of the grade of apples your district is shipping to the north country."

The writer states that the apples were marked McIntosh Red, packed and shipped by _____, Vernon, B.C. Sixty per cent of the apples in the crates he received were as sample; the balance "were rotten, very few, if any were sound." These apples cost $2.35 and, says the writer, "for this price it seems we should get a fair apple, not culls and windfalls. I feel sure they are not all skinnier down there and in fairness to the industry in general, as well as protection to the retail trade" the writer feels that this matter should have some publicity.

In size the apples range from smaller than a Hyslop to the size of a medium peach. They may be McIntosh, but most of them were too green and immature to indicate their variety. The sender describes them as a "special edition for the north country."

It is hard to believe that anyone would spend his time putting up such apples for shipment. If the crate licenses shippers to send out such stuff, greatly to the injury of the Valley, there must be some further regulations put on that package.

Our correspondent remarks incidentally that two Summerland 'celebrities,' T. J. McAlpine and Geo. Anderson, are at Fraser Lake building a government wharf.

RULES FOR HEALTH.

Some excellent rules for health are given in a recent number of Hygeia, a health journal. Many of them are ignored by thousands in spite of the fact that obeying them is easy and in many cases pleasant. Here are some of them:

Ventilate every room you occupy.
Breathe the night air at night time. Open your bed-room windows. Have no fires in bedrooms.
Get back to nature in the matter of foods. Remember the original food products are grains, vegetables, fruits, nuts, meat, milk, eggs and water.

Keep the teeth and gums healthy. Keep them clean.
The secret of great personal power is work, play, rest and sleep in moderation. Never permit a piece of work, or stress or strain of any kind, to run along without frequent interruptions in the nature of relaxations.
Keep serene no matter what happens.

It is possible for most of us to observe all of these rules. The last one is difficult and its observance depends to a large extent on temperament. Probably the most important admonition is that which advises moderation in all things.

STRAIGHT TALK

We are tempted to speak a word to our merchants. We do it only with the best of intentions. We are thankful that you have placed your advertisements in our columns. Our wide-awake readers will see them and will read them. If the merchants wish to keep trade at home, they must, of course, let the public know what goods and what inducements they offer. The great merchants of our larger cities are constantly advertising at an enormous expense, but it pays them; and it was by shrewd advertising that they became successful. They cannot afford to stop, or else they would.

Summerland merchants cannot afford not to advertise in their local paper. Advertising sells merchandise.

THEY HATE TO THINK.

If you want to find out what hard and disagreeable work it is for most people to do any thinking just discuss something that would require them to think, or hand them a serious book to read on some subject that would require thinking to understand it. You will find that a lot of people shy at the least idea of using their heads, and prefer to take their ideas ready-made from some one else.

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER.

"A drunken driver is a distinct menace to everybody, himself included. He has been fined long enough. It doesn't work. Send him to jail where he belongs if convicted after a fair trial in which his defense has been heard."

EXCESSIVE HOME WORK.

Victoria Colonist: Premier Ferguson of Ontario, as Minister of Education, seems to be endearing himself to the future generation by cutting down the amount of homework which boys and girls are called upon to perform in the public schools of that province. There is little doubt that a justifiable complaint against school systems, and it is particularly noticeable in this province, is the amount of homework, especially when pupils reach the High School age. It is generally admitted that the amount of homework set is usually in inverse ratio to the ability of the teachers to impart knowledge, though we should not like to think that was the case in this province. Where a teacher is incompetent or slack in his or her work, it is often noticeable that an effort is made to fill up the deficiencies by setting lengthy home tasks to the pupils. The teacher thus unloads on the children what ought to have been carried on his or her shoulders. The better teaching is, the less necessity there is for home study.

There is an anomaly in the present state of affairs. In the old days the adult put in longer hours at his task than the child. Now the reverse is the case. There should be no reason why the school boy or girl should have to slave every evening in order to keep up with his or her class. The average school child, after reaching a certain age, more often than not puts in more time at work than the adult who is engaged in earning the means of livelihood. The consequence of excessive homework is physical disadvantage, and it is indeed questionable how far the educational results are benefitted. Premier Ferguson of Ontario has come to the conclusion that the youth of that province are not benefitting under the present system and he has ordered a change. The homework rut is making educational development stilted and Ontario's example could, with advantage, be followed widely.

PAY THE PREACHER

Pleas for the adequate and prompt payment of preachers are voiced by Rev. Fred B. Kirker of Columbus, Ohio, who says that a preacher "can't preach on earth and board in heaven."

Kirker is right. With few exceptions, preachers are not only ludicrously underpaid, but are the victims of innumerable charitable appeals to which the nature of their calling lays them open, and which they cannot refuse.

If a preacher is worth anything at all, he is worth the highest salary it is possible to give him.

For the preacher must be the moral core of his community. His teachings must be the basis of the whole social structure. He must take responsibility for the moral rise or moral fall of civilization.

We are willing to pay thousands of dollars to exclusive professors to finish off our minds. We pay thousands of dollars to practitioners to take care of our bodies. But the man whom we make responsible for our souls can starve to death on two or three dollars a day.—Exchange.

IS YOUR CREDIT GOOD?

Cowichan Leader: Credit is said to be the life blood of the nation. It marks the trust which others have in us, and represents some merit in the person so trusted. Business today is built entirely upon credit but it is not possible for men of business to extend credit for an indefinite period when dealing with individuals as can be done between nation and nation.

Failure to live up to the trust confided creates uneasiness in business circles regarding a man's credit. It stops the circulation of money. It deprives the business man of his power to make further and possibly better purchases and prevents him from meeting his bills when the period of his credit expires.

Cowichan has many long-winded creditors. They are always "going" to pay. They little realize the worry they are to the butcher and baker, the grocer and shoeman, the doctor and hospital. Even the undertaker and local newspaper have to scheme out plans to meet their financial liabilities because those whom they have trusted fail to measure up to their obligations.

If the Duncan Retail Credit Bureau which has been formed by the local business men can eliminate some of this overdone credit it will not only assist the business men of the district but will bring about an era in which the business done will be genuine.

Credit oftentimes means waste. Cash means actual necessities. The man whose credit is poor will obtain no favors. The injunction to "owe no man anything but love" is still sound.

CRIMINAL WASTE.

Trail News: British Columbia has spent this year about $6,500,000 on the race tracks and $12,000,000 on booze, yet we grow about money being tight and times none too good. If we were not living in one of God's favored spots we would be on the verge of starvation. This reckless expenditure cannot go on forever and when the crash comes we'll have a real nice time.

"SUN OF MY SOUL"

Rev. John Koble, the author of that fine hymn "Sun of My Soul," was born at Fairfold, Gloucestershire, England, on April 25, 1792, whose father was an Anglican clergyman. So carefully was he trained by his father, that when he went to Oxford university, a mere boy, less than fifteen years of age, he won an open scholarship in his first year, and three years later he won a Double First-Class, a distinction which up to that time had only been attained by one person, Sir Robert Peel. Although so young, his career at Oxford has seldom been equalled. He was ordained in 1815, and a few years later went to assist his father in the widely scattered parish.

John Koble was a poet, rather than a hymn writer. In 1827 he published "The Christian Year," a book of poems chiefly about the different special services, and saints' day of the Anglican Church. The book, which appeared anonymously, has probably had the widest circulation of any book of poems ever issued. Within twenty-six years, forty-three editions were sold out. By the time the author died in 1860, more than half a million copies had been circulated.

It is still sold in large numbers.

Singularly modest and retiring, John Koble only consented to the publication of his poems on the condition that his name should not appear with them. Koble lived a very quiet life at Hursley, where out of the profits of his book, he rebuilt the church. Larger spheres of influence beckoned in vain, he preferred to minister to his village parishioners, and to share their simple life. He never received more than £100 a year. His famous "Morning Hymn" was taken from a poem of sixteen stanzas, six of which are generally used, beginning with:

"New every morning is the love" and containing the famous stanza: "The trivial round, the common task, Will furnish all we ought to ask; Room to dony ourselves; a road To bring us, daily, nearer God."

What is now called his "Evening Hymn" was taken from a poem of fourteen verses, beginning with the stanza: "Sun of my soul, Thou Saviour dear, It is not night, if Thou be near; O may no earth-born cloud arise, To hide Thee from Thy Servant's eyes."

The lines were written in 1820, when Koble was in his twenty-eighth year.

YOUR BUSINESS

"And what is your business?" remarked one of those present to the latest to join the group.

"Why, you might call me an Insurance Agent."

"Really," said Brown, "I'm an actuary with the Ajax. What's your company?"

"Well, you see," replied Mr. Newcomer, "I've a company of my own."

"Well, I am surprised. We seem to be entertaining a capitalist in our midst."

The passing of these remarks had more or less focussed the attention of the group on Newcomer. He, in turn, felt that an explanation was more or less necessary.

"Perhaps I'd better explain," he began. "You all carry insurance of many and various kinds. In fact, besides the regular fire, marine and life policies, with which we are familiar, it seems as if we could protect ourselves against any kind of loss. There has, however, been one field never touched by insurance. So I spend my time working out protection for that field, which ranks in importance with life and fire and as a matter of fact, it is sometimes more than either."

"Well, what is that? Enlighten us," spoke up one of the group.

"Markets!" replied Newcomer.

"What do you mean?"

"Simply that time and experience have proved that there is a policy which not only extends the field but actually protects against inroads on one's market."

"Well, I'd like to buy such protection," said Henry, the boot and shoe man; "what do you call this policy?"

"Regular payment continuous advertising!" replied Newcomer.

"Humph!" Brown ejaculated, "that's another angle to an old story."

SLEEPING OUT OF DOORS

Sleeping out of doors the year round is being advocated by many recognized authorities.

It is admitted that one of the greatest tonics for tired minds and bodies is fresh air, which is also one of the greatest disease preventatives, especially against tuberculosis.

"For many years," says a prominent physician, "scientists experimented to find out what constitutes fresh air and they have learned that it is a combination of movability, humidity and coolness."

"These three factors are found in their most perfect form in outdoor air. Marvelous recoveries are sometimes made by tuberculosis patients when removed from an indoor life to a sanatorium or to a roof, a backyard, or even a fire escape, due largely to fresh air. Proper protection as bed socks and knitted caps, outdoor sleeping bags, hot water bottles or electric pads can be easily and rather cheaply provided and sleeping out thus becomes a great adventure with renewed energy and strength at the end of the rainbow, which as of old, can be found in your own backyard."

All along the line there are people fishing for compliments with bated breath.

NARAMATA NEWS

Current Events of Town and District

The Syndica Hotel was a busy spot on Thursday evening, when about one hundred and fifty guests responded to the invitation of the Ladies' Aid for a Halloween supper. Practically every family in the community was represented, and a number of friends from Summerland and Pentleton were also present. The volunteer staff of workers were kept busily employed from 6.30 to 9.30 serving up the attractive dishes provided, and are to be congratulated on the results of their labor. Apart from the financial side of affairs, such gatherings engender a spirit of neighborliness and good feeling, and are very welcome. The net returns to the organization amounted to approximately $50—well earned.

On Friday evening Mrs. W. J. Robinson and Mrs. A. C. Horswill collaborated in the giving of a Halloween entertainment to the junior members of the Guides and Scouts, with their friends of school age. The W. J. Robinson home was suitably decorated and lit up with the transparent pumpkins common to the occasion, and was the scene of considerable enjoyment to the thirty odd youngsters who were entertained. The party broke up shortly before eleven o'clock, and all juveniles safely escorted to their homes.

Mrs. Sismey left last week for a visit to the coast. She travelled in company with Miss Doris Laurence and will stay at the Laurice home for a time.

The co-operative is sending out cheques to the amount of $10,000 this week, three-fifths being partial payments of 50 cents per box on peaches, prunes, plums and crabapples, and 75 cents per box on early apples and all pears, the balance going to Cox Orange, McIntosh Red and Wealthies. Packing was finished on Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Coates of Kelowna were visitors to Mr. and Mrs. Cook on Tuesday. Mrs. Coates was formerly on the teaching staff of the school here.

The Union service was held on Sunday afternoon by Rev. H. J. Armistage, the organ being taken by Mrs. Lyons. Announcement was made of a memorial and Thanksgiving service to be held on Sunday evening next at 7.30, the Rev. H. A. Solly officiating.

The Syndica Hotel is closed and Mrs. Clement is leaving for the coast. The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Unity Club on Tuesday, Mrs. Williams presiding. Arrangements were made for the Institute's exhibition of cookery, women's fancy work and school work, to be held in the Unity Club on the 21st. Announcement was made by the secretary that twenty boxes and one barrel of apples had been sent to the Turner Home in Vancouver. Mrs. Kenyon read a paper on Industries of Canada, Mrs. Horswill recorded the tribute paid to the Women's Institutes of B.C. by Miss Beadman, convener of the Institutes at the recent provincial convention held in Vancouver. Mrs. Cross gave a reading entitled "The Ten Comments for a small Town" and Miss Dora Cross contributed a piano solo, both of which items were much appreciated.

By Our Resident Correspondent

The Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, in passing through by auto to make his appointments in Summerland and Pentiction had luncheon in Peachland and addressed a public gathering in the Municipal Hall on Thursday at one o'clock.

Dr. Ross Gray left on Monday to return to his home in Strathmore, Alta. He was a guest for a fortnight in the Murdin home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vass and Ivy Law motored over recently from Keremeos where they have been making their home for some time.

Tom Hamilton spent a few days this week at the Morsh home where he lived while attending school here. He spent the fall on the prairies.

After spending the fall packing season employed with the P. F. G. Union the Misses Gertrude and Helma Hohensee left on Monday morning.

Mr. George Barber returned from Kelowna for a portion of the week to attend to some business left unfinished after closing the Rowell packing plant.

In motoring up to conduct the regular service in the Baptist church on Sunday afternoon, Mr. Thorner was accompanied by J. C. Wilson of Summerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Robison, former residents, were week end visitors in town. Mr. Robison at one time managed the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union packing house and feed store.

George and Fred Topham, Jr., have returned home after their fall's activities elsewhere. George at fruit packing at Pentiction and Fred harvesting and threshing on the prairies.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Whyte and son were visitors in town over the week end. They were accompanied on their motor trip from Vernon by Mrs. Seaton and son John Seaton who are remaining for a time.

Several hunting parties have been out recently, but the deer are extremely scarce or are very elusive. Sitwashe has entered the field within the last few days, apparently for about the first for this season.

Lorne Shaw and Francis Cousins returned recently from Manitoba, where they assisted with the harvest and visited friends. Weather conditions were not very favorable for thrashing in the vicinity of Moberly, southern Manitoba.

Misses Mildred and Myrtle Robins came up from Pentiction after the close of the packing season to spend a few days with friends before returning to their home in Alberta.

Mr. J. Hyde came in last mid-week to spend a few days with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith of Merritt, B.C., were visitors in town this week, having motored over via Kamloops, and take the ball line trip home. They are well known to old timers in Peachland, having made this their home in the pioneer days.

A funeral procession passed through town on Wednesday, carrying the remains of one of Westbank's old and respected citizens, Mrs. Dobbins, mother of Arthur and John Dobbins, well known to old timers in Peachland. Interment took place in the Peachland cemetery, the Rev. T. A. Sadler officiating.

The Rev. T. A. Sadler conducted special song services in the Union church on Sunday evening. The choir, in addition to the singing of hymns, rendered the Te Deum as a special selection. In giving out the hymns Mr. Sadler related in a very interesting manner the history in connection with the composing of each hymn. He had selected at least one which had been composed by one connected with one of the religious bodies.

The Junior Red Cross with their leaders staged a concert in the Veterans' Hall on Thursday evening, which was well attended, as shown by the door receipts, $19.55, which amount will serve for the good cause for which the Junior Red Cross is established. The charges were 25 and 15 cents, all members and performers getting in without admission fee.

Mr. Bulyea spent Monday in Kelowna.

NEW ISSUE OF SHIN PLASTERS

The third issue of 25c paper bills commonly known as "shin plasters," to appear in the fifty years since the first bills were issued, is now being put into circulation.

The figure of Britannia holding a trident is retained, but is transferred to a small upright oval in the centre of the bill. Over the top is the legend "The Dominion of Canada will pay on demand," and underneath "Twenty-five cents."

In motoring up to conduct the regular service in the Baptist church on Sunday afternoon, Mr. Thorner was accompanied by J. C. Wilson of Summerland.

SERIOUSNESS OF COLDS

Children with colds should be kept at home and isolated so far as possible. This is a protection for them and for all those with whom they might ordinarily come in contact.

Children are particularly susceptible to colds, which they may catch by direct contact with the germs on their hands or their penells, or by breathing germs which have been coughed or sneezed by someone near by, possibly in the seat behind or just across the aisle in school.

An insufficient amount of sleep and overeating are two large contributing factors toward "catching" cold. If children are given plenty of rest and proper food, if their general health is sturdy and normal they will not take cold so easily.

A cold usually starts by slight chilly sensations, a tired out feeling and signs of exhaustion. Then there begins running of the eyes and nose, accompanied by slight sneezing or a cough. There may or may not be a slight fever with a cold, but as a rule, there is a slight elevation of temperature.

USE REAL "SOURDOUGHS"

In order to insure absolute realism as to types and costumes in "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," the Sawyer-Lubin production which is coming on Friday and Saturday to the Rialto Theatre, Arthur H. Sawyer, who supervised the film, engaged several members of the Alaska Club, with headquarters in Los Angeles, to appear in support of Barbara La Marr, Lew Cody, Percy Marmont, Mae Busch, George Siegmann and others.

These men, familiarly known as "sourdoughs," spent several years in the Yukon country, and are thoroughly familiar with the atmosphere of Alaska. Their appearance in the scenes of the Malamute saloon, made famous by Robert W. Service's poem, has made a faithful reproduction of the period.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS
 Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 13 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE
 Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

LEASES
 Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homestead, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

GRAZING
 Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commission. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

 The Winter's Tale,
 Scene II, Act IV

Now that the Motherland has thrown off the incubus of an administration which was ruling on sufferance, and failed to make good, we may "CANADA PREFERRED" look for a knitting together of the ravelled threads of those preferences woven at the Imperial Conference and torn apart by a Liberal-Labor majority in the recent session of the British parliament. We may also expect to see some intelligent and practical policy mooted along the line of transference of some of the surplus population of the Old Country to the vast area of this Dominion, under financial conditions which will assure success so far as it can be assured in advance. If a British government could seriously conceive of a $250,000,000 loan to Soviet Russia on the most dubious security, its successor may very conceivably see its way clear to making some advances to such of its sons who wish to cast in their lot with their overseas brothers and need a little support in the venture. Under such conditions British Columbia in particular should be an attractive prospect, and ought to benefit very considerably as a result of the new order of things. But there must be a cordial response on our part, and a prompt end to the indecision which seems to have paralyzed our immigration policy for some years past.

Most readers are interested in any particulars concerning the methods of well known writers when at work.

A short collection of re-writers plies from a few novelists AT WORK, to a magazine which asked for some such details, appeared the other day in a Vancouver paper, and included one or two "curiosities of literature" as Isaac D'Israeli might have put it. Mr. H. G. Wells reveals himself as being reprehensibly Victorian in one respect, in that he actually writes everything in the first place and does not depend on the typewriter until later on. He also uses large sheets of paper, in order that he may rewrite passages which may need second thoughts. Recalling the enormous output of this most indefatigable writer, we cannot help feeling astonished at the evident energy and industry which can produce so much in this fashion. Mr. George Bernard Shaw declares that only about 2 per cent of the ideas which present themselves really survive, and says he writes in shorthand, when and where he can, much of his work being done on the train. Obviously he escapes much of the initial work, but makes up for that later in repeated going over the typed manuscript. Mr. H. de Vere Stacpoole spurns both the typewriter and dictation, and can no more imagine a writer dictating a book than an artist dictating a picture, a comparison which seems rather far-fetched. Miss Rebecca West uses six writing pads all at once, on a somewhat complicated system of rough drafts, and also remarks that by the time she finishes a story, the very elaborate plot with which she began has totally disappeared. Possibly it gets lost among the multiplicity of writing pads, but the lady is silent on that point. Mr. W. Pett Ridge is another slave of the old fashioned pen nib, which he uses from beginning to end; his method being in direct contradiction to that of Mr. Frankau, who first spends six months drafting out his scenario and then dictates five hours a day. A curious feature of the George Bernard Shaw response is his advice to all young authors to read Anthony Trollope's autobiography, presumably with a view to obtaining some useful hints therefrom. Anthony Trollope tells us that he used to write with his watch before him, and made it a rule to pen so many words every quarter of an hour, and it may be that G.B.S. regards that as a desirable example of industry. The industry was there, without question, but the method seems rather too cold-blooded to arouse enthusiasm. Here is what one of George Gissing's characters has to say about it: "I wonder whether it be really true, as I have more than once seen suggested, that the publication of Anthony Trollope's autobiography in some degree accounts for the neglect into which he and his works fell so soon after his death. I should like to believe it, for such a fact would be, from one point of view, a credit to 'the great big stupid public.' It would be a satisfaction to think that 'the great big stupid' was really offended by that revelation of mechanical methods which made the autobiography either a disgusting or an amusing book to those who read it more intelligently." In this criticism there is no implication that methodical work is out of place in writing, but a very natural feeling that the literary side of the work was ignored, and authorship reduced to the most paltry level. Far different were the details of Dickens' daily round, as told by his biographer Forster. The public saw the great writer at his desk in the Swiss chalet at Gads Hill, having before him those certain little ornaments without which he could not get on, and writing carefully and sedulously with the quill pen he used. There was no hint of so many words to every quarter of an hour here—simply an earnest engrossment in the work of the day. And his public loved him as few writers have ever been loved.

How many writers wait for what is vaguely known as "inspiration"? Very few. Mary Roberts Rheinhardt is quoted as confessing to the passing of occasional breaths of it in her early years, and the coming of her later habit of methodical writing. A writer who writes because he or she has something to say, does not need to wait for inspiration—it is always there. Doubtless there are high and low levels, as is the case in all achievement, but to wait for the mood is a mistake never made by the experienced. They know that it is as idle to expect without earnest effort to catch ideas, as to catch fish without bait. With which homely but sensible statement from "An attic in Bohemia," we will leave the subject for the present.

THANKSGIVING ON THE WAY

A headline in a newspaper says "Turkey Seeking New Alliance." Another asks, "What is the matter with the old alliance with cranberries and pumpkin pie?"

"Stay, stay at home, my heart, and rest; Homekeeping hearts are happiest." Thanksgiving is one day the family can usually be at home together if the members want to. There is usually a big family dinner to draw from near and far the sisters, cousins, aunts (not forgetting the brothers, uncles and nephews — they usually eat the lion's share!) With the growing popularity of restaurants, cafeterias and hotel dining-rooms with their orchestras and cabaret features, there has been a tendency for the family to plan a rest for mother on holidays, all going out for the big meal of the day. But it is doubtful if Thanksgiving will lose its special significance of savory odors, best linen, polished silver, and shining faces around the augmented table, not for the big families and those with whom home ties are still strong.

F. W. Clingan, Salmon Arm, owner of property on Jones Flat, was a business visitor here last week end, a guest at the Premier Hotel.

The funeral took place on Monday, Mrs. Agur returning on Tuesday night. Mrs. Marjoribanks is expected to arrive here next week to spend some time with her daughter here.

Mrs. J. Rowley, Mrs. O. Atkins and Miss Hilda Yates were joint hostesses on Thursday night last to about twenty-five friends of Miss Elleen Dwyer, with the Summerland Telephone Company, at a shower in her honor, held at the home of Mrs. Rowley. A pleasant social time was enjoyed and during the evening Miss Dwyer was presented with an array of articles which had been placed on an artistically arranged throne, decorated in Summerland Telephone Company colors, and which proved to contain many useful and beautiful gifts. Miss Dwyer, whose marriage will take place shortly, will leave soon for her home in Victoria.

ADJUST LIGHT BILL FOR ELLISON HALL

J. Tait, representing the agricultural society, interviewed the council on Monday on the subject of electric light bill against the agricultural hall. The meter has been there continually and of course was charged for at the rate of $1.65 a month. The bill for $37.93 covered two years' service and it was agreed that not over twenty dollars worth of current could have been used. On behalf of the agricultural society Mr. Tait undertook to pay this amount and the council rebated the balance. In future, Walters Limited, tenants, will be responsible for the light rate.

PLANS TOWARDS BRANCH LINE

An arrangement has been reached between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railway whereby, in the event of the Canadian National's Kamloops-Kelowna line being constructed, the latter will use the Canadian Pacific track from Kamloops to a point ten miles east, and from Armstrong to Vernon, a distance of approximately fifteen miles.

MOIST AIR NECESSARY FOR HEALTHY ATMOSPHERE

Moist air is as necessary as warm air to maintain a healthy atmosphere in the house during the winter time, says a health authority. The difficulty of keeping humidity in a furnace or stove heated house is much greater, however, than merely to keep the same house warm. When the air becomes both dry and warm, the occupants are quite likely to suffer from resultant colds and other illnesses.

Water evaporation in the rooms, accomplished many times by the most ordinary pan-of-water device, is the simplest method of keeping the necessary humidity in the air. Sometimes sprinkling the floor so that evaporation may take place is resorted to, as water ordinarily does not evaporate very fast from an open dish in a room. Evaporation of several gallons of water every twenty-four hours is necessary to properly moisten the air of a six room house.

A porous earthen-ware jug or vase such as is used in Spain or Mexico to keep water cool in the summer time, should be an excellent method of keeping moisture in the air. The beneficial effects of flushing hot, dry interiors by the opening and closing of windows during the day is recommended, but this does not necessarily restore the proper amount of moisture to the atmosphere. On cold days the humidity in the outside air is very small.

Some Boasters

What does your father do? He's a contractor. He built the Rocky Mountains. Yes, do you know the Dead Sea? Say. Well, it was my father killed it.

Get your happiness out of your work, or you will never know what real happiness is.

ROAST TURKEY

Usually the heart of the meal is roast turkey. It is interesting to note how the "frugal housewife" of 1811 prepared the bird. When it was "properly trussed" it was stuffed as follows: 4 oz. butter (it wasn't 60c a pound then) or chopped suet instead, some grated bread, a little lemon peel, parsley and sweet herbs chopped together, pepper and salt, nutmeg, a little cream and the yolks of two or three eggs (not at 60c to 75c a dozen, either). Work these all together and stuff the turkey's craw with it. Then put it in the oven with a very brisk fire going and a paper over the bird's breast. Leave it in the oven till nearly done, then dredge it with flour and keep basting it until it is brown and tender, nearly ready to fall apart but not quite. If it is a big turkey, serve it with gravy alone, or with brown celery or mushroom sauce. If it is a "turkey-poult," serve it with gravy and bread sauce. The bread sauce is described thus: "Cut the crummy part of a penny loaf" — save the mark! How long since there was a loaf of bread for an English penny or its equivalent of 2 cents? To continue: "cut it into thin slices, put it into a saucepan with cold water, a few peppercorns, a little salt and an onion; boil it till the bread is quite soft, and then beat it very fine; put it into ¼ lb. of butter, with two spoonfuls of thick cream, and when it boils up pour it into a basin or boat and serve it up with the turkey." As to the bird itself, the ancient authority had it that "a middling sized turkey will take more than an hour, a small one three-quarters of an hour, and a very large one an hour and a half. In dressing these, as well as fowls, always let your fire be clear and brisk."

PIE DOUGH

One who "has luck" with her pies (which is only a matter of care in following directions, and patience) might make some money at Thanksgiving furnishing the pies for neighbors' feasts. Cleve Carney, Chicago chef of note, gives this recipe for pie dough for 15 pies, tops and bottoms. For less number, divide proportionately — a third as much of everything for 5 pies.

6 lbs. winter wheat flour; 3½ lbs. lard; 3 ozs. salt; ½ oz. baking powder. Rub together well, and add 1 quart water, mix slightly.

Mr. Carney does not say so, but I understand from the best pie makers that the colder you keep the dough, the better; the water should be ice water if possible. Also the less it is handled, the better. Cutting in with a knife blade instead of handling with the hands helps to keep it from getting tough.

Did you ever read what Mr. Dooley has to say about supper time? "Tis th' pleasant hour iv supper. We've been waitin' half an hour, pretendin' we were in no hurry, an' lookin' at the clock. There is a commotion in the back iv the house, an' a cheery perfume iv beefsteak an' onions comes through an open dure. Th' hired girl, smilin' but triumphant flags us fr'm th' dinin' room. The talk about the weather stops at wanst. Th' company passes out."

COMING EVENTS

The Game Conservation Board will hold a meeting in the Elks' Hall, Penticton, on Thursday, November 13th, at 7.45 p.m. All sportsmen and ranchers are invited to attend. C14,15

PROTECTION OF FRUIT GROWERS

The speaker then told of the adoption in 1878 of the national policy, which was a necessity because of the high protective policy of the United States.

After the Liberal government had come into power they abandoned most of the things they had advocated when in opposition.

In replying to a question by Mr. MacKelvie, Mr. Fielding had said, Yes, fruit will come in free.

On the prairies he is promising steady movement toward free trade. Here he offers protection. Two years ago the government enacted a measure to put it in readiness to enter into an agreement of reciprocity with the United States at any time.

Following representation from the Okanagan the Conservative government in 1919 raised the duty on apples against the bitter opposition of every Liberal.

Again in 1921, Okanagan fruit growers showed the government that the ordinary dumping law was not sufficient and asked for a clause providing the basing of duties on cost of production plus reasonable profit.

When the Liberals in August 1919 formed their program they adopted the Progressive platform for tariffs, free foodstuffs. They pledged themselves to this program and appealed to the prairies and other sections on that basis, but not in B.C.

Mr. Meighen strongly denounced what he described as a policy of hatred adopted in the recent Quebec elections. There, he, the former premier, was held up as a man who hated the French race and religion, the hangman who had dragged their sons out to slaughter, referring, of course, to his policy of conscription during the war.

Reverting again to the question of protection, the speaker said that when the Liberals got into power they cast their whole program into the mire, except where the Progressives forced them to reduce tariffs.

asking for payment in four equal annual instalments and he moved that the $5,600 be left in the treasury for the use of the co-operative. This would put the directors in a position to make a payment on equipment and to make certain needed improvements.

Requested to address the meeting on the subject, W. C. Kelley pointed out that the situation with respect to packing houses was very complicated. In Salmon Arm, Peachland and Penticton the packing houses were locally owned.

There had been much discussion on the question as to whether local shares should be interest bearing or otherwise and on this Mr. Kelley strongly recommended that shares bear interest as otherwise investment from the market point of view would be valueless.

J. A. Kirk, A. E. Smith and others argued against the idea of the shares being interest-bearing, and after much discussion the question was left open for further consideration and discussion.

GROWERS HEAR PRES. OF ASSOC.

The speaker admitted that there was a lack of information to growers but central found it hard to put the information in a way that was satisfactory to all. He suggests quarterly meetings to be attended by representatives from central.

he favored central operation. It was apparent from replies made by the speaker to questions from the floor that central considers pre-cooling and storage absolutely essential to the success of the soft fruit industry.

The plant being installed at Kelowna with Dominion government assistance, he understood would cost about thirty thousand dollars. This would provide cold space on two flats with a capacity of about one hundred cars.

To another inquiry Mr. Chambers replied that the Scottish co-operative societies had sent an agent to the Valley for the purpose of obtaining about thirty-five cars of apples, but they would not pay a satisfactory price, offering to pay only the prevailing auction price less commissions and other charges.

YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Spooky Program Provided by Baptist Girls Great Success.

Hallowe'en was duly celebrated in the adjoining rooms of the Baptist church, Friday evening, by a number of Baptist young folk. The C. G. I. T. of that denomination had invited the members of the Tuxis Square to join with them in spending a social evening.

The rooms which had been decorated with great dexterity, certainly won an unnatural appearance. The guests were admitted, one at a time, by two charmingly costumed young ladies. Having stepped inside the door the former were led along a moss path, and up to a register where they were requested to sign their names, backward, by the dim light of a grinning jack o' lantern.

Games and contests of an exciting nature had been tastefully chosen resulting in great merriment. The costumes were comical and unique, especially that of a certain clown who kept everybody in hysterics.

An enthralling feature of the evening was the telling of fortunes. Being led to a weird den, singly, each person was instructed to sit on a small chair underneath a spiky looking pine, their feet resting on a thick layer of damp, springy moss surrounded by boulders. Mysterious facts were foretold causing great amusement, each fortune being different.

About ten-thirty a dainty lunch was served. An hour later the Tuxis Square gave three cheers for the C. G. I. T. declaring that they had enjoyed themselves immensely. The evening had been an entire success.

The letter "e" is used more often than any other.

Veterans Honor Fallen Brothers

Plant Tree on Own Grounds for Each of Summerland's Sleeping Heroes at Impressive Ceremony Held on Armistice Day.

For each of Summerland's dead whose last resting place far from home is marked by a wooden cross there was planted on Tuesday a tree on the grounds of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association.

At 10.45 on the morning of Tuesday, Armistice Day, a large number of citizens, including many of the older school children, assembled at the veterans' hall, where a brief but very impressive ceremony was held, conducted by Revs. H. A. Solly, W. A. Alexander and H. J. Armitage.

Without any pre-arrangement, but none the less effective, there was an open space in the middle of the hall, the people assembling along the sides and ends. It was as though the space had been reserved for the bodies of those in whose memory the service was held.

Fitting but brief addresses were given by all three speakers and at eleven o'clock the two-minute silence was observed, all standing with bowed heads.

Planting The Trees

Outside, the veterans' flag flew at half mast. Here, bordering about the grounds, thirty-five trees had been put in position and following the ceremony in the hall, each was planted by the reeve in memory of one of the fallen. At the base of the tree a poppy was placed, in many instances by an immediate relative or friend of the soldier to whom the tree was dedicated.

A plan showing the position of each tree and the name of the soldier in whose memory it was planted, has been prepared by the veterans and later it is planned to attach to each tree a plate bearing the name. The ceremony was a very beautiful and impressive one and the community is indebted to the members of the G.W.V.A. for in this way commemorating the names of Summerland's heroes.

The Girl Guides attended the service in uniform.

ASSOCIATION PAYS GOOD EGG PRICES

October Sales Show Big Drop from Peak Turnover.

Good prices were paid members by the Summerland Poultry Produce Association for eggs shipped through that organization last month. Prices for extras ranged from 48 to 55 cents per dozen. First brought 2 cents less.

Only 1,200 dozen eggs were handled last month, a big falling off from earlier months. The manager, H. J. Sanderson, states that prospects are for much better prices for eggs shipped this month.

HIGH HONORS FOR LOCAL MAN

J. Marshall Is Again Signally Honored by Ontario College.

According to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Marshall, here, their son "Jimmy" now a third year student at Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, has recently been awarded one of the highest honors which can be conferred on a student at that institution, namely, the award of the '05 Scholarship. This scholarship consists of fifty dollars in cash and is awarded to the student of the third year, considered by the president and '05 staff of the college to be the best "all round" man in his year, and who through activity in all branches of college life and in scholarship proficiency during his course, has done most for the College, fellow students and himself.

Jimmy has many friends here who will hear with interest of this latest honor in his college career, and will wish him continued success.

THANKSGIVING EVENT A GREAT SUCCESS

An outstanding success both financially and socially was the Thanksgiving supper and concert given by St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid on Monday night. Supper was served from five-thirty in the hall, when in all about 200 people sat down to a splendid meal.

At eight o'clock a concert was held in the church, which was filled to capacity. A splendid program had been arranged by Mrs. Harding, to whom much credit is due, those taking part being Miss K. Nield, vocal solo; Mrs. Birch, Penticton, vocal solos; Mrs. A. H. Steven, recitation; Mrs. W. Jenkinson, reading; violin solos, Miss M. Banks, accompanied by Miss Violet Banks; Ben Newton, vocal solo; Mr. F. Mossop, vocal solo; The solo work of Mrs. Birch, who was heard in Summerland for the first time on this occasion, was much appreciated. Mrs. D. L. Sutherland acted as accompanist for the soloists. The proceeds from supper and concert were $114, to which has been added a donation of $10.

WILL LECTURE TO SCHOOL STUDENTS

J. W. S. Logie will give an illustrated address tomorrow to part of the pupils of the public school on the subject of "Indians of Western Canada." ASSOCIATION BRINGS MUCH NEW BUSINESS

First Year of Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association Proves Worth.

MANY TOURISTS DIVERTED NORTH

Executive Laying Plans for Greater Activity Next Season.

The benefits derived by the Okanagan Valley from the operations during the past season of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association surpassed even the most sanguine expectations of those who inaugurated the movement last spring at the informal meeting held at Oroville, and the executive members of the association feel absolutely confident that if the organization receives support next year in proportion to the achievements of this year, which may justly be credited to it, results can be secured which will astonish the most skeptical. This was the keynote of a special executive meeting held on Saturday evening at Vernon, when preliminary points in connection with next season's operations were considered. Those present at the meeting were: Chas. E. Blackwell, vice-president, Okanagan; Judge F. M. Headlee, Oroville; T. C. Doidge, Tonasket; F. B. Cossett, Vernon; A. B. Godfrey, Vernon; S. Elliott, Kelowna; R. B. McHallen, Penticton; Clint Williams, Okanagan; and L. J. Wood, Penticton.

2307 Autos Through Oroville

An official report was received from the United States customs office at Oroville, which showed that 2307 United States autos were cleared into Canada during the five months period, May 1 to October 1, 1924, and during the same period 2362 United States cars entered from Canada, making a total of 4669 United States cars cleared into and out of Canada. During the same period 725 Canadian cars entered the United States and 653 Canadian cars were cleared for Canada, a total of 1378 Canadian cars entered and cleared. The total cars passing through the port during the five months period was thus 6047. To these figures, it was stated, between 500 and 600 cars of which no record was kept should be added.

The report of the secretary showed that the total cost of operations for (Continued on back page)

FALLEN CITIZENS ARE REMEMBERED

Appropriate and Impressive Service is Held on Sunday.

In a united memorial service held in Empire Hall on Sunday afternoon the sixth anniversary of the signing of the armistice was fittingly commemorated by the citizens of Summerland. The hall was well filled and a large choir made up of members of the choirs of the several local churches, led the musical part of the program, under the leadership of Mr. G. W. Cope. Mrs. D. L. Sutherland presided at the piano.

Rev. H. A. Solly, Rev. W. A. Alexander and Rev. H. J. Armitage took charge of the devotional service, the responsive reading and the recitation of a collect being led by Rev. H. A. Solly, the congregation joining, while the scripture for the day, from Deuteronomy VIII, was read by Rev. W. A. Alexander.

TELLS HOW TO GROW THEM

H. H. Thompson, Pioneer Sweet Potato Man, Addresses Institute.

The regular monthly meeting of the Trout Creek Farmers' Institute was held on Tuesday evening last. There was but a poor attendance, the weather conditions being anything but favorable for those living at a distance. The president, Mr. H. R. McLarty, gave a report of the recent convention which was held in Vernon. The speaker of the evening was Mr. H. H. Thompson of Peachland, who spoke on the growing of sweet potatoes. Mr. Thompson has given this question a great deal of thought and attention and his advice should prove of great assistance to those who wish to take up the growing of this profitable vegetable. The demand for B.C. grown sweet potatoes is much greater than the supply and this condition is likely to continue for many years.

Although it may appear to be starting at the wrong end, the curing of the tuber is a first and most important consideration; as many growers have courted disaster by planting seed which has not been properly cured. The tubers must be mature when dug, they should be taken up on a dry sunny day, allowed to dry on the ground for a short time, then removed to a storehouse where there is a free circulation of air, shade, and a temperature which can be maintained at from 85 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit for about two weeks. Then cool off gradually and keep at not less than 50 degrees. Before the tubers are planted in the spring they should be immersed in a solution of corrosive sublimate, 1 oz. to 8 gallons of water, for about 15 minutes. They are planted in hot beds at a temperature of about 75 degrees. Cover with an inch of fine sand, increasing this gradually to about 3 inches. Sprouts will appear in about three weeks. The beds are then opened up and as soon as the growths are a few inches long, about the middle of May, plant out in a light sandy soil, with a warm southern exposure. Keep fairly moist for the first few weeks, but at about the time tubers form, five or six weeks after planting, apply water very sparingly, giving the plant a slight check and the tuber will grow. Asked at what figure sweet potatoes can be grown at a profit, Mr. Thompson gave it as his opinion that 4 or 5 cents per pound would be a profitable figure. His crops during the past season averaged round about 110 bushels (60 pounds per bushel) to the acre.—Cont.

Extension Classes In Agriculture Science

Under the direction of Mr. John Kyle, superintendent of technical education for B.C., Summerland school board is undertaking a course in agricultural science extension work. The Farmers' Institute and the Poultry Produce Association are lending their assistance. The carrying on of this extension work puts no additional burden on the local taxpayer. Old-Timers Hold Happy Re-Union

Large Number of Pioneer Citizens Hold Organization Meeting—Hear Repeated Stories of Early Incidents in Life Of Summerland.

One of the most successful social events held here in a long time was the gathering of "old timers" in Empire Hall last Thursday evening. As one approached the hall the large number of cars which lined both sides of Shaughnessy Avenue for some distance as well as the side street, suggested that the "old timers" must own practically all the cars in the community.

The large hall was well filled, those present being persons who had been resident in the district for fifteen years or more or the wives or husbands of such. About 8.30 the assembly was called to order and from that time until nine o'clock, all participated in community singing, printed sheets of popular old time songs having been distributed. This part of the program was conducted by S. F. Sharp, with T. P. Thornber at the piano.

J. R. Brown was appointed chairman.

Club Is Organized

J. W. S. Logie was called upon by the chairman to explain the purpose of the gathering and particularly the ideas behind the movement to form a permanent "old timers' organization. Mr. Logie, in explaining the work of the committee, stated that the purpose was to have an organization to bring together the old timers socially, to collect historical information of the district and the Valley and to constitute a nucleus for the collection of things of historical interest, a sort of museum. After briefly outlining a suggested plan of organization, which plan was adopted, election of officers was proceeded with. These are: J. M. Robinson and Jas. Gartrell, honorary presidents;

J. R. Brown, president; T. G. Beavis, secretary-treasurer; executive committee: A. Stark, R. H. English, J. W. S. Logie, A. H. Steven, R. V. Agur, E. R. Faulder, H. Dunsdon, J. L. Logie, G. Morgan, F. R. Gartrell, H. C. Mellor, Mrs. J. Downton and Mrs. T. J. Garnett.

Stories Of Early Days

A number of very interesting and in some cases amusing narratives of the earlier days of Summerland were given, the principal speaker being J. M. Robinson, the founder of Summerland, who reviewed the incidents leading up to his obtaining the financial assistance of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy in carrying out his ideas for converting what was then a cattle country, into a land of orchards and homes.

Other speakers were Reeve J. R. Campbell, J. L. Logie, H. C. Mellor, A. H. Steven, W. C. Kelley and R. H. English.

Pleasing Program

Splendid vocal solos were given by Mrs. G. Craig, Miss Carol Graham, Mr. Ben Newton and Mr. T. G. Beavis.

At the close of the program those present were given an opportunity for an informal time, when bountiful refreshments provided by the ladies, were served.

After lunch, the crowd broke up with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and the national anthem. Quite a number remained at the invitation of those in charge of the program and enjoyed an informal dance till the early hours.

Mention should also be made of the work of the decoration committee, headed by Mrs. T. C. Orr, who had created a most artistic effect with evergreens and flags.

COUNCIL IN SESSION

To Revise Voters' List — Extending Electric Light Service.

An extension of the electric light service will be made from near Garnett's corner on the Giant Head's road to the homes of H. S. Lewes and J. S. Campbell. These citizens attended the semi-monthly meeting of the municipal council on Tuesday afternoon and after discussion of the subject their application was granted on the usual terms.

Application was made by A. Goldring for some trees on municipally owned lots in Paradise Flat. Mr. Goldring will pay one dollar a cord for these.

The reeve and Councillors Johnston and Smith were appointed a court of revision on the voters' list. The date of the sitting of the court is fixed by law for December 10th.

Rev. W. A. Alexander requested that the street lighting be extended out Giant's Head road to the gymnasium. The cost of making this extension would be considerable, but the council consented to putting a light near the transforming station. A reason advanced by Mr. Alexander for the lamp in the position he requested, was to light the approach to the gymnasium. The opinion was expressed that the owners of the gymnasium should properly light the steps and approach.

A letter from the Game Conservation Board intimated that a license would be granted the municipality for trapping beavers in Garnett Valley. These animals have become quite a nuisance to the irrigation system.

J. J. Blewett asked permission to use a blind road end adjacent to his property in Peach Orchard. The council pointed out that they had no power to grant such permission but they had no objection to his making use of the strip of land.

Accounts totalling $5,046.00 were examined and approved for payment. Of this sum the school requisition

PINK NOTE CASES UP NEXT WEEK

Two Test Cases—One of Grower—Other Local Union.

Two test cases, the result of action taken by the Dominion Bank in an effort to have the proof of claims of holders of "pink notes" issued by the O.U.G. expunged and the claims of the bank given preference, will come up for hearing probably on Wednesday of next week. One case is against a private grower, Lord Woolavington, proprietor of Coldstream Ranch, and the other the Summerland Fruit Union.

K. M. Elliott is solicitor for both the Union and Coldstream Ranch.

SLIGHT DROP IN PRICE OF GASOLINE

With a further drop last week in the price of gasoline at the Coast, filling stations there are now charging 28 1/2 cents per gallon. Up to last week gasoline was selling here at 40 cents. The lower wholesale cost has brought the retail price down to 38 cents.

amounts to $2,580.00; wages, $1,231.70. Bills for Paradise Flat pumping station and a supply of pipe were practically the only other items of consequence.

Taxes Are Better Paid Than For Some Years

Tax collections in Summerland are better this year than they have been for the past two years. Almost 80 per cent of the current year's taxes have been received and it is hoped that the full 80 per cent will have been collected before the end of the year.

Last year but 64.12 per cent of the year's taxes were paid and in 1922, 75.5 per cent. It was in 1920 that the largest percentage of the current levy was paid, 82.5 per cent. In 1921 the collection dropped to 81.5 per cent.

Taxes in arrears also have been better paid and the collection of irrigation rates, which was covered by an earlier report in The Review, too, showed a marked improvement. The better payment of taxes and rates is another evidence of returning better times.

THE LATE AGENT-GENERAL.

Fruit growers of British Columbia have lost a real friend and booster in the death of Fred C. Wade, British Columbia's agent-general in London. Without doubt Mr. Wade has been the most energetic and valuable agent this province has yet had at the Empire centre. In many ways he has done much to popularize our apples and other products of the province in the British markets.

TRANSPORTING PERISHABLE FOOD STUFFS.

Recent successful experiments in the shipment of perishable foodstuffs in containers filled with carbon dioxide have perhaps a little more interest for our readers than for the average public.

Many will recall the fact that a few years ago J. M. Robinson acquired certain interests in the process, then recently discovered. Apparently the public were not then ready to accept the new method, but a recent report from Halifax shows that the public are now taking hold of the idea. The report states that a plant for the manufacture of carbon dioxide gas to be used in the refrigeration of fish and for the use of the householder and commercial purposes generally, is to be established in that city.

OUR PROVINCIAL DEBT.

British Columbia through the agency of the government has an overdraft with the Canadian Bank of Commerce of $1,640,000. This indebtedness as at November first was covered by notes or, as generally termed, "treasury bills." This information was given the House last Saturday in answers to questions from the Opposition.

The finance minister also gave the gross debt of the province as $76,738,861. Sinking funds bring this down to a net debt of $62,780,256. About $21,000,000 of this is represented by the value of the P.G.E. Railway stock and revenue producing investments, loans, etc. This brings the absolute net debt down to just under $42,000,000. A huge debt, population considered, and steadily-too rapidly-growing. The general taxpayers will hope it will be treated as a mortgage on our natural resources and that from this source it can be met. Many have not forgotten the official assurance given some years ago, and accepted as true by both parties, that natural resources—mines, forests and fisheries—would make us a tax-free people, but today many channels, opened by government, exist through which money is drawn from the people's pockets to the hungry coffers at Victoria.

RELIGION AND ADVERTISING.

"The business of the Church" is the greatest and most important in the world. Every other successful business uses the press to carry the news of their enterprise and service to the people and they are successful because of press publicity. The business and service of the church travels slowly because we still use the antiquated methods of publicity.

Chinese, Japanese, Mohammedans in the deserts of Africa, ride to their places of worship in Ford cars, but millions of them have never heard of Jesus Christ and his wonderful plan of salvation. If advertising carries the products of the manufacturer to all corners of the world, this medium should be used in carrying the message of Jesus Christ to the people.

The press, as a whole, is always ready to co-operate with the churches in the matter of publicity. It is certain that there is no medium more effective in reaching the people than the newspapers. If all the churches would recognize this fact and avail themselves of the aid of this powerful agent the work of carrying the message to all the world would be completed in a much shorter time.

A MIRROR.

Summerland is just what you make it. If you don't like the town, you will probably find that the town doesn't like you. But if you have the right attitude, then you will find the community friendly. It is a mirror in which you will find a reflection of your own disposition.

Yale apples and the political sentiments of its electors are noted for being "good keepers."—Vancouver Province.

The old idea of giving a full day's work for a full day's pay would result in a betterment for all of us if we would only give it half a chance.

My problems have been solved by the teachings and memory of my mother. All great crises in my life have been solved more easily by prayer.—Chauncey M. Dapow.

From Our Exchanges

HAS MUCH TO BOAST ABOUT.

Canada is said to have more railway mileage in proportion to population than any other country in the world. And Canada has more country in proportion to population than most countries. Canada has also several other things to boast about. Some day, perhaps, Canada will be able to boast about the population it has—in proportion to territory. Meantime, Canada is doing fairly well and is an excellent country to live in for those who like to live for the sake of living well and sanely.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Farm and Home: The absurd, clumsy, inaccurate and obsolete system of weights and measures still in use in Canada and all other English speaking nations received a well deserved jolt when Japan recently adopted the metric system now in general use in Europe and South America.

Nothing but fables support the origin of the standard 'foot,' 'pound' and 'gallon.' The decimal metric system is as superior to the obsolete systems mentioned as is the decimal system of dollars and cents to pounds, shillings and pence.

Educationists have estimated that entirely aside from the greater utility of the metric system is another factor of equal importance; years of every child's life are wasted in the public schools in the sorry task of learning how to use our present clumsy system when the same time could be expended on other matters to much greater advantage.

HOW MUCH FOR ADVERTISING?

Trail News: "How much should I spend for advertising?" is the question asked by many merchants. The answer is another question: "How much business do you want to do?" Advertising should have a direct relation to the amount of trade you are equipped to handle. The advertising appropriation should be a definite proportion of the gross business you have aimed at. How high should a boy climb a tree to escape a dog? Far enough to be safe. Like the proper length of a man's leg, when Lincoln said, "Long enough to reach the ground."

The advertising appropriation should be sufficient to accomplish the desired results. Between three and five per cent of the gross business is the proportion that has been found to do the work in most retail lines, except when some special selling difficulty is to be overcome or some special problem solved, then an increase would be justified.

HERMITS

This is the recipe for Hermit Cookies from the book of "Things Mother Used to Make," which L. M. Gurney got out a couple of years ago:

1 cupful of sugar; 1/2 cupful of molasses; 2-3 cupful of butter; 2 eggs; 1 cupful of raisins, chopped fine; 2 tablespoonfuls of milk; 1 teaspoonful of soda; 1 teaspoonful of cinnamon; 1 teaspoonful of nutmeg; 1/2 teaspoonful of cloves; flour enough to roll.

Cream the butter and sugar together, beat the eggs, add to the batter and sugar, then stir in the molasses, milk and spices. Add the raisins which have been covered with flour, and, last of all, the flour into which the dry soda has been sifted. Roll thin and cut with a cookie cutter.

ALMOND ROCKS

Cleve Carney, for twenty years a practical baker with French Pastry specialties, gives us the following recipe for 5 1/2 dozen Almond Rocks:

Beat 8 egg whites till stiff. Gradually add a pound of powdered sugar and 1/2 pound of shredded almonds, crushed and either vanilla or cinnamon flavoring to taste. Lay on greased and dusted pans in the shape of small rocks, using a fork to pile it, and bake in a slack oven.

Even cutting with diamonds is resisted by an unbreakable glass invented in Bohemia.

FAVORITE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS

"O DAY OF REST AND GLADNESS"

Christopher Wordsworth, author of this beautiful hymn, was a nephew of the famous English poet, William Wordsworth, and his biographer. As a boy he showed exceptional aptness with his studies, and, unlike many scholarly boys, was keenly interested in all manner of sports. He had a very brilliant career at Cambridge, where he carried off many of the highest honors.

In 1836, at the early age of twenty-nine, he became headmaster of the famous Harrow School, where he remained for several years. In 1869 he was appointed Bishop of Lincoln, a charge which he held to within a few months of his death in 1885.

While he won golden opinions for his work as a headmaster, a parish clergyman, and later as a bishop, it is as a hymn-writer that he will be chiefly remembered. Like the Wesleys, he looked upon hymns as a valuable means of making the people remember church teaching. He wrote that he believed it to be "the first duty of a hymn-writer to teach sound doctrine." He thought the material for hymns should be found in the Bible, and in the early Christian writings.

In 1862 he published a collection of hymns called "The Holy Year." This was chiefly made up of hymns dealing with the Church seasons. Wordsworth's hymns, to the number of 127, were all found in this book, the first of which was "O Day of Rest and Gladness." Many of the hymns are no longer familiar, but quite a number retain an honored place in the hymnals of several denominations. His best known hymns are: "Hark, the Sound of Holy Voices," "See, the Conqueror Mounts in Triumph," "Gracious Spirit, Holy Ghost," and "Alleluia, Alleluia! Hearts to Heaven and Voices Raise."

The hymn, "O Day of Rest and Gladness," is a beautiful and most impressive tribute to the sanctity of the Sabbath. It was originally written with six stanzas of eight lines each, but only four stanzas are in general use. The two which are left out of almost all hymnals now are: "Thou art a port protected From storms that round us rise; A garden intersected With streams of Paradise; Thou art a cooling fountain On life's dry, dreary sand. From Thee, like Pisgah's mountain, We view our promised land. Thou art a holy ladder, Where angels go and come; Each Sunday finds us gladder Nearer to Heaven our home; A day of sweet reflection A day of holy love A day of resurrection From earth to things above (Copyrighted)

BY MOTOR AND PACK HORSE THROUGH CLOUD WONDERLAND

FOR the man or woman in search of healthful recreation, rest for fagged nerves, and a thoroughly enjoyable holiday, the world offers nothing more entrancing than a holiday in Jasper National Park, Canada's wondrousland of scenery, where mountain crags and torrent vie with one another in claiming the attention and where scenic nature is at her best. Towering peaks rise to the north, south, east and west; mirrored in the beauty of placid lakes whose shores provide shelter for the myriad wild life for which the largest of all Canada's national parks is famous.

Whether the tourist goes sight-seeing by motor car or by the more romantic pack pony, Jasper National Park offers him the best that can be found anywhere. Motor roads and pack trails radiate in every direction from Jasper one may go in an hour, for instance, to the wonderful Maligne Canyon, one of the natural wonders of the entire Rocky Mountain region, where rushing waters go tumbling and boiling through a narrow aperture worn in the rock, two hundred feet below the feet of the tourist as he or she stands on one of the footbridges which span its narrow width. At any turn of the road the visitor may find himself face to face with a bear or a deer, walking calmly across the highway, while on the sides of the mountains he may see mountain sheep or goats grazing.

The tourist to whom riding appeals will find plenty to hold his attention. Pack trails may be followed for miles, when in the company of an efficient guide, one may set forth to explore regions which are beyond the reach of the motor tourist. The wondrous Maligne Lake and Medicine Lake, with their quota of mountains reaching down almost to the water's edge, draw more and more tourists every year. For years the wonders of Canada's national parks have been better known outside of Canada than they have been to Canadians, but year by year Canadians themselves are realizing that they have, in their own country, scenic attractions which are not surpassed anywhere in the world, and consequently the number of Canadians registering at Jasper Park Lodge in showing remarkable increase. Comfortable, steam-heated cabins are provided for their accommodation, an excellent cuisine is maintained at the main Lodge, where surroundings and service are of the world famous Canadian National Railway standard and every care is taken to see that visitors to Canada's largest and finest national park enjoy their outing to the full.

Okanagan Justly Proud of Its Position in Fruit World

Has Established Its Position As Empire's Best Apple Grower.

WINNINGS AT FRUIT SHOW MEAN MUCH

Fourth Imperial Fruit Show Again of Great Publicity Value.

W. E. McTaggart, a former markets commissioner for B.C. and more recently editor of the Vernon News, says in the Vancouver Province:

"Although only the first announcements have been received from the Imperial Fruit Show held at Birmingham, sufficient information has come through to show that British Columbia apples have again captured the lion's share of the awards. This is becoming an annual event for most of the principal prizes have come to this province following the three previous shows.

British Columbia apple growers are quite jubilant over this year's awards. No longer will Ontario and Nova Scotia, for many years considered the principal apple-producing provinces of the Dominion, hold up their heads and declare to British Columbians that 'British Columbia never will be able to grow apples like ours.'"

Honors Come Fast

Such a boast was somewhat shaken a year ago when the Coldstream Ranch with a display of Northern Spys from the original orchard captured premier honors with this variety at the Royal Winter Show held at Toronto last November. Ontario has always boasted that no province or section could ever beat its Northern Spys. Ontario folk have for years prided themselves on the superiority of this variety, but they no longer can hold up this apple as its prize package.

Again this year at the British show the exhibits from British Columbia have more than held their own and have so outclassed those from other parts of the Empire that the Grand Challenge Cup was awarded to the displays from the Pacific province.

Publicity for B.C. Apples

The Imperial Fruit Show, sponsored originally by the London Daily Mail, has grown in both prestige and influence to be the premier fruit and apple show of the Empire. It is at this exhibition that Old Country and colonial fruit growers meet on common ground, compare notes, swap experiences and generally study how the industry is getting on.

The first show was held in London at the Crystal Palace, but that building did not lend itself to the proper display of fruit and since then the Imperial Fruit Show committee, composed of overseas representatives, United Kingdom horticultural officials and members of the fruit trade associations, has very wisely each year selected a different city for the exhibition. This has resulted in much more interest being evinced in the show and also, what is more to Canada's advantage, has given an opportunity for advertising Canadian apples in some of the large provincial towns.

Improved Show Procedure

Last year's show at Manchester was an outstanding success in every way, with the trade and visitors more than pleased with the displays that were most attractively staged. It was said that even better results had attended the Manchester exhibition than had those which were staged in London. More potential apple consumers visited the show, it was reported, than had ever visited a similar exhibition.

Canadian exhibitors have not always been pleased with the manner in which the show has been conducted, particularly in judging. This, however, has been remedied, although it must be stated that the judges at some of the earlier shows were most ignorant of the principles surrounding the box apple pack. The exhibit which won the honors three years ago was not a "full pack" and had excelsior between the end of the box and the apples. In other words, the apples had not been packed according to size, grade or color. In one of the prize-winning boxes apples of varying sizes had been placed, which in the eyes of all British Columbia apple packers, is a most unforgivable sin.

Handicaps Overcome

It was such handicaps as those that the British Columbia and Canadian fruit grower had to contend with at the earlier shows, but realizing the ultimate value of such an exhibition, the Dominion exhibitors lodged their protests, kicked like Canadians can kick, suggested important changes and sought the support of the influential members of the apple trade, with the result that recent shows have been conducted on a much better basis and what is more have given much more general satisfaction.

One result of the show has been to show the Old Country fruit growers the value of the box pack for apples. Other Canadian provinces, too, have been quick to see the light and are each year packing more apples in boxes.

During recent months the Old Country department of agriculture has been conducting apple packing schools in the fruit districts where British Columbia apple packing methods are being introduced. Whether the Old Country grower will ever adopt the western pack remains to be seen, but in any case he is willing to learn.

Mr. & Mrs. Vaughan Are Given Farewell

Members of St. Stephen's church held a social gathering in the Parish Hall in farewell to Mr. and Mrs. O. Vaughan before their departure for the Coast. A pleasant informal evening was enjoyed and refreshments served. During the evening Rev. H. A. Solly, on behalf of the church vestry board, presented Mr. Vaughan with a silver cigarette case bearing his initials, expressing the general regret at their departure. Mr. Vaughan has been for some time one of the churchwardens. To Mrs. Vaughan as secretary of the St. Stephen's W.A. and an untiring and willing worker in the church organizations, Mrs. Solly presented on behalf of the W.A. a pair of gloves. Both Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan will be greatly missed in the church and community.

Naramata Veterans Are Entertained

Memorial and Thanksgiving Service Held in Church.

On Monday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Robinson was crowded with a gathering of friends assembled to commemorate Armistice Day and to meet those veterans who have their homes in Naramata. The event was under the auspices of the Unity Club, whose members carried out arrangements with their usual ability, serving a typical Thanksgiving supper to the entire appreciation of upwards of one hundred guests. Later in the evening a short program was rendered, and the chairman, Mr. J. M. Robinson, called upon Rev. H. A. Solly for a speech. Mr. Solly told of some incidents of his recent journey and laid stress on the many advantages enjoyed by Okanagan dwellers. The Rev. gentleman was followed by Capt. Languedoc and Mr. Littlejohn, who spoke briefly. An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of a flag by the Unity Club to the Boy Scouts, which ceremony was carried out by the president of the Club, Mrs. J. M. Robinson, with a few words of evident sincerity. The gift was duly acknowledged by acting Scoutmaster Frank Hughes, and was accompanied by the singing of the National Anthem. The music for the dancing which wound up the proceedings was furnished by visitors from Penticton, the accompanists to the local singers being Mrs. Languedoc and Mrs. Aikens. Appended is the program of the evening: chairman's address, Mr. J. M. Robinson; piano duet, Misses Dora Cross and Eileen Horswill; address, Rev. H. A. Solly; instrumental solo, Miss Marguerite Nuttall; song, Mr. George Weaver; reading, Mrs. Aikens; address, Captain Languedoc; reading, Mrs. F. Cross; address, Mr. Littlejohn; song, Mrs. J. J. Dunn; flag presentation to Boy Scouts, God Save the King.

Rev. H. A. Solly officiated at a Memorial and Thanksgiving service held on Sunday evening, and preached on the text, "What are these arrayed in white robes." The choir rendered Stainer's anthem based on that passage, and closed the service with "O Lord, how manifold are Thy works" (Barnby). The church was nicely decorated with flowers and some of the kindly fruits of the earth. The large congregation was augmented by the attendance of the Girl Guides, headed by Leader Miss Dorothy Robinson.

The members of the Women's Auxiliary met on Friday at the home of Mrs. W. J. Robinson, Mrs. Languedoc presiding.

A party of young people assembled in the Unity Club building on Saturday evening on the invitation of Mr. Leslie Smith, and had a good time with various games and a little dancing. A dainty supper was served during the evening, and congratulations tendered to the host on the occasions of his coming of age. At a turkey shoot organized by Mr. Partridge and held on Monday morning, Mr. R. Gamman headed the list of successful marksmen, and was the winner of a couple of turkeys. Other winners were Norman Mitchell, Bert Partridge, and H. B. Rushbury. In the junior competition R. Horswill and Dorothy Partridge were winners.

Miss Enid Rayner left on Tuesday for Vancouver, where she expects to spend the winter with Mrs. Rayner and family.

The Ladies' Aid met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. C. Lyons, the president Mrs. F. Young presiding.

AN EXPLANATION

Kelowna, B.C., Nov. 8, 1924.

Editor Review:

Dear Sir,—May I have your permission to correct a misunderstanding which has arisen in regard to Dr. Sedgewick's speech at the O.V.T.A. convention as it was reported by me in a recent issue of your paper. Dr. Sedgewick spoke on "The Teacher as a Corrupter of Youth," and I am informed that objection has been made to his statement that "since it is also the business of the teachers to prepare their pupils for the world in which they have to live, it is necessary to bear in mind that for specious in life one must accept the present order of things, without thinking too deeply about them, and without being handicapped by too high a standard of character and honesty."

I have not the report by me for reference, but I thought I had made clear that the above statement and others in the same vein, were purely hypothetical, and I should be very sorry if I had led anyone to believe that those are Dr. Sedgewick's real sentiments. In fairness to a man who is second to none in his desire to raise education to the highest ethical plane, this explanation ought to be made.

Yours truly,
A. S. TOWELL,

"UTTER MEANNESS"

Editor Review.

Sir,—The suggestion made in an anonymous letter bearing the Vernon postmark, which I and no doubt the other members of the Co-operative have received, seems to me such a discreditable one as to be scarcely worth notice.

But as it is just possible that some of our members may at first sight fail to realize the utter meanness of it, I write to point out that the suggested bill to ensure the unbreakableness of our contract only proposes to do just that which, at the time we signed up, all of us believed and hoped that the terms of the contract would do, viz., remove the temptation to work-kneed members to break their contract, if at any time it might suit them to do so and desert their partners in the undertaking.

There would be little chance of success for the much-to-be-desired co-operative movement amongst us if it were open to contractors to play fast-and-loose in that manner, with impunity. It is difficult to believe that any honorable person will sign the proposed protest against the Bill in question.

Our movement is naturally meeting with obstacles of all kinds, and it is quite possible that mistakes may have been made by the management while overcoming some of them; but the broad fact remains that notwithstanding any such mistakes there is little doubt the movement has been honestly and capably managed for the benefit of the growers, and it is beyond dispute that it has already brought us much relief.

The difficulties inseparable from a new movement are being gradually overcome and if the possible "ratting" of faint-hearted quitters amongst us can be prevented by the proposed Bill the time is not likely to be far distant when they will not even wish to desert.

Already the great majority of the growers recognize that the future prosperity of fruit growing in the Okanagan depends, in the long run, on the success of co-operation, and it would indeed be deplorable if the short-sighted selfishness of a few growers trying to snatch a temporary advantage over their fellows were allowed to imperil that success.

The waste-paper basket would seem to be the appropriate receptacle for the anonymous letter in question.

Yours faithfully,
C. NAPIER HIGGIN,

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS
 Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be completed five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE
 Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES
 Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 30 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES
 For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING
 Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administrator under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to 100 head.

 The Winter's Tale,
 Scene II, Act IV

The English magazine, "Canada," in its issue of October 25th, prints a letter from the late Lieut.-Col. Pelletier, dated in Quebec the 7th of the month, very GOOD ADVICE shortly before the death of the writer, the subject matter being the need for better representation of British firms in this country. The former agent-general said, in part: "I notice that many English products are already replaced in Canada by German ones, and I ask myself whose fault it is." He then proceeded to show that British firms are not represented in this Dominion to anything like the same extent as their French, American and German competitors, and pointed out the inadequacy of a representation by agents in New York. Reading between the lines of the letter we gather the impression of a rather astonishing laxity on the part of the British manufacturer, and are led to a conjecture as to its being a reflection of that indifference which was responsible for the rejection of the preferential suggestions made at the last conference. The editor of "Canada" seems to lean to this view when he says: "There is very good reason why this country may lose much of its trade with the Dominions as a result of the Socialist policy." The Pelletier letter indicates that some of the trade had already been lost, and suggests the means of retrieving it. These include the establishment of resident agents for eastern, mid-western and western Canada, the latter being stationed in Vancouver. The appointment of these naturally rests with the British firms themselves, but it is obvious that they could be interested by approach from this side. The Pelletier letter gives a list of approximately a dozen lines in which the province of Quebec is interested and which are being exploited by other countries, notably among them being Germany. The present moment seems to be a good time to stretch "hands across the sea" and help to strengthen the family grip.

That good old axiom, "Line upon line, precept upon precept" is the one indispensable factor ignored by the apostles of that new "LINE UPON ORDER OF THINGS WHICH LINE" is going to sweep away all the effete civilization of the present, and build something entirely different. Conservation of the best of the elements in the scheme of existence which has grown slowly and laboriously for countless generations—that is a thing not to be considered—everything must be pulled down, and rebuilding begin again on a fresh foundation. This position is made abundantly clear by the following one of many similar declarations to be found in the British Communists' manifesto: "We openly declare that our ends can only be attained by the forcible overthrow of existing social conditions." Nothing could be plainer, and nothing could more clearly show the absolute contempt felt for the lessons taught mankind by the experiences of many thousands of years: In arts, crafts and industries, the price of achievement is, an appreciative study of the work of those who have gone before—only in the simple matter of building up an entirely new world is past experience of no value! It is a charming theory, but is defective in one vital respect—it does not provide for the elimination of the entire human race, and the creation of a new order of beings, both of which conditions would be necessary.

A contributor to "The Province" the other day had a few casual remarks to make concerning the modern tendency to MR. TRUMBULL'S say, or write, the VOCABULARY word 'commence' instead of the earlier and more forceful 'begin'. He seems to lay most of the blame for this habit on Scotsmen, and I suppose has some reason for doing so, but I have never noticed that side of the matter, and have an idea that a good many people 'commence' things through some vague notion of imagined superiority or refinement. If I dared to use the Victorian expression 'genteel' I would say that describes the feeling pretty well. George Eliot's Mr. Trumbull certainly used the word under that impression—with him nothing ever began but always commenced, and the majestic periods he used in his professional descriptions of the properties he sold under the hammer were never demeaned by the use of the shorter word. I seem to remember, however, that one William Shakespeare sings "When daffodils begin to peer" and even abbreviates this homely word on occasion, as in Cloten's song to the lark, "And Phoebus 'gins arise." One is constrained to wonder what would happen to the lines, "And winking Mary buds begin To open their golden eyes" if Mr. Trumbull had his will of them!

Reading of a recent fatal ending to a dispute over the verbal interpretation of the Bible, one feels a sense of impatience at the folly of such argument, and is apt to wonder how it could arise. Seeing that the whole subject of religion is so enveloped in mystery that it cannot be reduced to any formula, and rests on a universal belief which takes many forms, it seems unbelievable that two men should argue, literally to the death, on issues which they must know cannot be decided. But we have only to cast our minds back to almost any period of the world's history to realize that just such deadly and ineffective disputes have been waged between men from the beginning. The priests of Baal were slain by the Hebrews, the early Christians were thrown to the lions in Imperial Rome, and the pages of church records through the Christian centuries are smeared with the blood of multitudes which no man cares to number. All of which constitutes a seeming paradox, but has for its foundation a very simple psychology. The problem of a future life is of such transcendent importance that religious enthusiasts cannot be indifferent to what they look upon as the fatal errors of those who disagree from their beliefs, and intolerance in varying degrees is the result. Fortunately we do not now burn at the stake for alleged heresy, and are gradually learning to be tolerant of the opinions of others. But some of the old leaven still remains.

STORING OF VEGETABLES

All vegetables cannot be stored under the same conditions. Root crops and cabbage must be kept cool, fairly moist and away from contact with circulating air. Onions should be kept at a low temperature in a dry atmosphere, and have free circulation of air. Slatted crates, piled in tiers to provide good ventilation is one of the best ways to store onions. Pumpkins and squash demand a relatively high temperature, a dry atmosphere and good circulation of air. Celery, Brussels sprouts and parsley should be planted in dirt and the roots kept moist. Keep the temperature low and allow good air circulation over the tops.—B.C.F.G.A. Bulletin.

BRITISH FRUIT EXPERT URGES SMALLER BOX

Visitor to Valley Finds Method Of Handling Fruit Here the Best Yet.

BRITISH WOULD BUY IF WRAPPERS MARKED

Smaller Size Apples Are Demanded by the Consumers in Britain.

Penticton.—"I would advise your growers to adopt an apple box which will hold twelve pounds, or at the largest a half size box of twenty pounds, for exporting apples for the British trade. A twelve pound box is now being used by the English growers very successfully. It is one we have formerly used for tomatoes only, but we have found it one which the ordinary customer can put under his arm and carry home very conveniently, and they like it." These statements were made by H. V. Taylor, controller of horticulture in the British ministry of agriculture on a tour through the Okanagan Valley, during which he is investigating and studying British Columbia methods of grading and packing fruit. Mr. Taylor also urged trade-marked wrapping papers.

Best Method Here
 Mr. Taylor said the fruit industry here appeared to have the best method of handling fruit he had ever seen. It was wonderful, he remarked, the way the growers had got together and were handling such an enormous output of apples. Considering the amount of fruit to be placed on the market it was, of course, the only way to make the industry here a success.

Smaller Sizes Go Best
 Asked his opinion as to the size of apples best suited for the British market, Mr. Taylor said the smaller sizes were demanded by the British consumers. All British apples were small and the people had got "the habit" of wanting small ones. The ordinary consumer buys on pound and expects to get five or six apples and would not like it if there were only two the pound. The general opinion was that there was too much of a large apple when it was one of such high, rich flavor as the Canadian Cox Orange or Delicious. The British public, he said, was very partial to those varieties or to the Jonathan, Newtown, Pippin and Winesap. Mr. Taylor then went on to say he had a scheme which was working very satisfactorily to bring British Empire grown fruit before the public in England and to educate the consumers there to ask retailers for their fruit by variety instead of saying just "apples." This was by means of the Imperial Fruit Show held annually in one of the large centres. This exhibition is held this year at Birmingham and at it samples of apples are being distributed with the variety distinctly marked on the package.

Urges Wrapper Trademark

There was one step further which he wished the British Columbia growers would take, he said, and that was to have their wrapping papers printed in good size type, "Grown in British Columbia" or "Grown in Canada." Many of the apples on the British market, he pointed out, were grown in the United States, but if the wrappers were printed in the way he suggested, the British public would buy British Columbia or Canadian grown fruit in preference.

Size of Package Important

Speaking further on the question of the size of the package, Mr. Taylor mentioned that the start in apple packing was made with the barrel, which held nearly three boxes. The change was later made here to the box, which was decidedly better, but even that was larger than desirable for the British market, and so the British growers tried out the twelve pound box, which before that time had only been used for tomatoes, and found it was well adapted for packing dessert apples. He thought it would be a good thing for British Columbia growers to try out a half box or a twenty pound package even if they did not adopt the twelve pound box.

MAKING CHURCH HISTORY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

An important event in the history of the church in British Columbia took place at Vernon when the Chinese Mission of the Good Angel was officially opened and dedicated on Tuesday, November 4th, by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese.

It was a happy thought to choose for a day when the clergy of the rural deanery of the Okanagan were assembled in Vernon for conference.

The proceedings opened with a procession of the choir and twelve of the clergy, including the Archdeacon (Greene) and Rural Dean (Solly) of the Okanagan, Archdeacon Heathcote, chairman of the executive board of Oriental Missions; the Rev. N. Lascollos Ward, priest in charge of Oriental Missions in British Columbia; the Rev. G. Lim Yuen, native priest in charge of the Vernon Mission, and the Bishop. On the platform were also members of the Salvation Army band, who led the singing, and who have for years past assisted the Mission with their music.

After the hymn "Jesus shall reign" had been sung, the Bishop proceeded to dedicate the hall, and then gave a short address in which he emphasized the reasons for the Mission: (1) Our love for our Chinese brothers, and (2) our Lord's command, "Go ye . . . and preach to all nations." Then followed short speeches by several of the clergy and others present, interspersed with hymns sung by the Chinese children of the Sunday School.

Archdeacon Heathcote, speaking for the board of Oriental Missions, explained that the hall had been built and the salaries would be paid with money from the Anglican Forward Movement, but that all equipment and any extension of the work would have to be supplied by the Diocese. The Rev. G. Gibson, rector of Vernon, said how glad he was that the hall was finished and ready for use. It is a well built and well lighted hall, and would be most useful to the Mission. Above the hall is a flat containing living room, three bedrooms, bathroom and kitchen, where the native priest and his family are living.

The Rev. N. Lascollos Ward then gave a short outline of the work that Mr. Lim Yuen was planning to carry on, including street preaching, Sunday School, classes to teach the Chinese children their own national readers, and a night school from 8 to 10 every night.

Mrs. Solly, vice-president of the Kootenay Diocesan board of the W. A. spoke of the part taken by the Mission, and showed that the $1000 lately donated by the Dominion board was the gift of all the members of the W.A. throughout the Dominion. She also pointed out that the Kootenay Diocesan board of the W.A. had realized the significance and importance of the Mission, by making it a Diocesan pledge, and had promised to pay $150 a year towards the upkeep; and had also appointed Miss Gibson to be Diocesan Oriental secretary, who would keep the board in touch with the needs and work of the Mission.

Mrs. Lee, president of the Vernon W.A., spoke briefly on the interest taken by all the members, and the part they had taken in fitting up the hall and flat.

In between each of these items the Rev. G. Lim Yuen spoke at length in Chinese, explaining what the speaker had said, and introducing them, and a visiting missionary from Kamloops read 28 letters of congratulation in Chinese from Chinese societies from all over the Dominion, and Miss Margaret Lim Yuen read others that had been sent in English. This somewhat lengthy program having come to an end, refreshments were served by the Chinese to their guests, thus bringing to an end a very happy evening.

YES-They all know you're in business
 That is, they did know — you have told them so in times past — but do they all remember it? We all know that Ivory Soap floats, and that Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, and that children cry for Castoria and the kind of soap that makes a skin you like to touch, etc., etc.—and we're not going to forget about them for a minute, because the manufacturers spend millions of dollars a year telling us about them, day by day, and week by week, and month by month. They take no chances on being forgotten. How about your business? Isn't it just as important that you be kept in mind by the buying public in your territory as it is to the national advertiser that his product be remembered? You can cover your trade territory more easily, more cheaply in proportion, and more thoroughly than the national advertiser can cover the whole country. But you've got to keep it up to get the results that he gets. And you can't expect to advertise in flush times and live on the memory of it when you're hard up.

APPLE WEEK

BEDTIME STORY
 By T. G. Casey in Chicago Packer.

All aboard!
 Get on the train!
 Come on, kids,
 It's going to rain
 Apples.
 At nightfall—
 Friday—
 Hallow'en—
 When goblins gobble
 And ghosts are seen,
 And the pumpkin-head man
 With fiery eyes
 Stalks through the lan'
 And spies and spies
 On bad little girls
 And bad little boys,
 Who must run to bed,
 And who'll miss the joys
 Of the big red apple
 On the string,
 When snoots are bumped—
 And crickets sing—
 And apples bobbing
 In the tub,
 And heads go in
 And shoulders rub.
 And,
 Yet—
 Ma just laughs
 When they get all Wet.
 And—
 At midnight
 When the graveyards yawn
 And the 'witching hour'
 Points toward the dawn,
 And the sandman's come
 And looked around
 And the kids all gone
 To shut-eye town.
 It's then
 Ray Phillips
 'ell say
 "What fun!
 "I guess this week is well begun."
 So—
 Come all men—
 Split the welkin wide!
 On the great high winds
 Let the message ride
 Till it rattles the hilltops,
 Rebounds in the dell—
 The hour is come,
 The hour to Tell 'em
 About
 Apples!!

COMMISSIONER GRANT VISITS PEACHLAND

Fruit markets commissioner J. A. Grant, Calgary, visited Peachland on Friday for the purpose of calling on H. H. Thompson, B. C.'s pioneer in the sweet potato industry. Mr. Grant was on his way to New York, Washington, D.C., and other points. He intends visiting North Carolina, one of the noted sweet potato districts of the south, with a view to getting certain information about the crop which may be helpful for the future marketing of the sweet potato crop in this province.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jones are enjoying a visit from their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. Jones of Odesa, Sask., and their two children, who came in last week. They motored in with Mr. Geo. Jones' Studebaker car which he intends keeping here. They were accompanied by Mr. Haines, also of Odesa, who is spending a few days with them before going on to the Coast. Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Jr., will remain here for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter of Craigmyle came in recently to spend another winter in Peachland. They retained the cottage they occupied last winter and have taken up residence in it again. They report the crops none too good in their part of the country, owing to an exceptionally dry season.

The Peachland L.O.L. No. 408 held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, in the Municipal Hall, their place of meeting.

After a visit to her home in Summerland for a short time Miss Dancer came back to spend a time in Peachland, a guest of Mrs. House.

Mr. T. Elliott and Mr. C. Somerville with his wife and family were visitors to Kelowna on Wednesday.

Mr. Donaghy, mayor of North Vancouver, Mr. Burns, druggist of Vancouver and Mr. D. W. Sutherland of Kelowna, Liberal candidate, addressed a public meeting in the Municipal Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The speakers dealt with what to them seemed to be vital issues in connection with the campaign and enjoyed a very attentive hearing by quite a gathering of electors. Mr. Wm. Douglas, president of the local Liberal association acted as chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Vass and Ivy Lav left again last week after a short visit in Peachland, to return to Kereuenes. They were accompanied by Mr. J. Sanasac, who may accept employment and remain away for a short time.

Peachland was quite astir on Thursday, especially during the afternoon around the polling booth. Comparatively few electors came in during the forenoon, which necessitated quite a line-up during the later hours.

Mr. Wm. Douglas officiated as deputy returning officer, with Mr. A. D. Ferguson as poll clerk. Mr. J. L. Elliott and Mr. G. Lang were scrutineers for the Liberals with Dr. Buchanan and H. E. McCall representing the Liberal-Conservatives. The count resulted as follows: Grote Stirling, 137; D. W. Sutherland, 62; and 2 spoiled ballots. Official figures which have been published since the election show Peachland to have given Mr. Stirling third highest majority, being 75.

Mr. S. H. Mordin was a visitor to Kelowna on Friday.

After a short visit with his wife and family here, Mr. J. Hyde left on Friday evening to return to his field of labors down the lake. He was accompanied by his daughter Jean who spent the week end visiting with friends in Penticton, returning for school on Tuesday morning.

A party, reported to be Summerlanders, who motored in on the Glenn Road came out on Saturday with several buck heads hanging out around the back of their truck. They must either have been exceptionally good hunters, or had an extraordinary run of luck as compared with some of the usually successful sports in this neighborhood, for there have been very few brought out as yet. Walter and Lorne Shaw, local hunters, brought out one each last week from a one day hunt, which marks the best that has been accomplished this season so far as we can learn.

Franklin Elliott got home for the week end by riding horseback across by way of the Peachland-Princeton road from near Jura, where he is teaching school. He left on Monday morning to return over the same route. He says he is enjoying his work in the school there and his general appearance indicates splendid health.

Mr. Somerville, Mrs. A. J. Miller and Miss Buck spent Saturday in Kelowna.

After several months sojourn in Vancouver Mrs. Cudmore returned to her home here on Saturday and we are very pleased to be able to report quite an improvement in her general health.

Miss Jean Dryden and Mr. W. Moffatt came in from Vernon on Saturday to spend Sunday and Thanksgiving Monday in town. They left on Tuesday morning's boat to return.

The Union church was beautifully decorated for the special Thanksgiving service on Sunday morning. There was a goodly number out on that occasion, the Rev. T. A. Sadler officiating. He was assisted by the choir who rendered two special selections.

Miss Flossie Clements paid a week end visit home from Vernon on Sunday, but was obliged to return to her post on Monday, ready for duty Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Thornber motored up from Summerland on Monday to stay for the week to assist with special meetings being held each evening throughout the week in the Baptist church. The Rev. J. B. Rowell of Kamloops came in on the evening boat to address the meetings on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Allan Wilson left on Monday morning for their former home on the prairie to spend a few weeks visiting members of the family who reside there.

Mr. and Mrs. Dynes of Penticton spent Monday in Peachland with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Gumnow.

The Misses Myrtle and Millie Robbins, visitors in town after their season's employment in Penticton, left on Monday to return to their home in Alberta.

Mr. Ruffe, Sr., and his daughter, Mrs. Pollett, spent Tuesday in Kelowna.

Mr. Thos. McLaughlin spent Tuesday last in Kelowna.

Mr. H. H. Thompson went down to Trout Creek, Summerland, on Tuesday last to address the Farmers' Institute on truck growing and sweet potato culture.

NAVEL ORANGE TREES CAME FROM BRAZIL

Twenty navel orange trees were brought to the U.S. from Brazil in 1870 for purposes of experiment. It is to this small importation that California now owes its yearly crop of 8,000,000 boxes. The department of agriculture directed the planting of the original trees, two of which are said to be still alive,—one in Washington, D.C., and the other in California.

ASSOCIATION BRINGS MUCH NEW BUSINESS

The 1924 season amounted to $927.85, which included the cost of preparing and publishing 10,000 maps of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail. The receipts amounted to $806.50 and disbursements to $791.56. There was a balance in the bank of $14.56, but the association was owing two accounts which totalled $136.29. During a discussion on maps, arising out of this report, it was decided to recommend to the executive next year that all maps required for distribution on this side of the line be printed in Canada, and those needed in the United States be printed there so as to save duty charges.

Brought Tourists Here
General satisfaction was felt with the number of cars brought over the Trail as a result of the association's activities. It was considered safe to estimate that at least one-half of the total cars came over this route in consequence of the organization's efforts, and since the basis of estimates on expenditures made by tourists is $12 per day per car, it was evident that the communities on the Trail had received big dividends for the small investment made in the form of donations to the association.

Want Managing Secretary
The question of ways and means of raising the money for next season's work was discussed at considerable length, it being thought that other means than those adopted last year would be necessary as a sum of not less than $3,000 would be required. In this connection it was decided to recommend to the annual meeting that the services of a first-class man to act as managing secretary, be secured for five months, as the work which would have to be done in connection with selling and distributing the maps would require more time than any of the officials could afford to devote to it, and it was very desirable to have such an official working among the tourists on the main routes of travel, such as the Sunset and Pacific highways in the United States. It was also decided to hold the annual meeting next April in Kelowna, and to invite representatives of the Cariboo country to attend.

NEWSPAPER MISTAKES
Every now and then some subscriber rises to denounce a newspaper for mistakes which appear in its columns. A contemporary quotes with approval this plaint of an eastern editor who tired of constant complaints about editorial mistakes: "We made a mistake in last week's issue," he wrote. "A good subscriber told us about it. The same day there was a letter in our postoffice box that didn't belong to us. We called words expressed his desire that this service, now an annual event, should mean a great deal to the community as a whole and as individuals. Though the actual warfare had been over for six years, yet the effects of the conflict were ever being brought to our remembrance, nor would they pass away, so long as any who took part remained. Those who had lost dear ones could never forget, while many who had returned brought with them marks on mind and body which might never be effaced. To civilized nations war was a hideous monster at best, though often to many at home the military pomp and honor served at times to conceal its true nature. The late war had been won at a terrible price, and though any marks of reward had been richly won, yet they were after all mere dross compared with the immense sacrifice recorded now by rows of wooden crosses in the fields of France. Though the years pass by and the events of the four terrible years add another chapter to history yet it must always be our duty and our privilege to revere the memory and honor of the works of those who have paid the supreme sacrifice and those who did their share nobly yet were permitted to return again to our midst. In an eloquent plea the speaker asked that as individuals and as a community we do our share to maintain a lasting peace by so living that war is made impossible.

Following the address the choir rendered a beautiful anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord," Mr. Ben Newton taking the solo work in a manner which left a vivid impression on the hearts of all, and made a fitting closing to the atmosphere created by the address and the spirit of the memorial service.

The collection taken, after defraying expenses will be devoted to the Memorial Fund.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

for 98 over the telephone and got 198. We asked for a spool of No. 50 thread and when we got home we found it was No. 60. The train was reported 30 minutes late. We arrived at the depot 20 minutes after train time and the train had gone. We got our milk bill and there was a mistake of 10 cents in our favor. We got sick and the doctor said we were eating too much meat. We hadn't tasted meat for two months. We ordered a tin of black shoe polish and later found they gave us brown. The garage man said the jitney was missing because it needed a new timer. We cleaned a spark plug and it's run fine ever since. Yes, we made a mistake in last week's paper."

ASSOCIATED GROWERS of British Columbia
To Members:
Our attention has been called to a letter signed "Okanagan Grower" which has apparently been circulated through the mail to the fruit growers throughout the Okanagan and Kootenays, which is merely a veiled solicitation to abandon co-operation.
Our growers are well aware that the Associated is not seeking to change in any manner whatever the terms of the contract they have signed, but merely to avoid endless and costly litigation.
We do not feel called upon to answer anonymous communications and have too much faith in the intelligence and sense of honor of our grower members to believe that any of them will be influenced by propaganda so futile the author has not the courage to attach his name to it.

Prompt Action Will Land Cold Storage Plant For Summerland

Some Better Method of Financing Schools Is Most Pressing Problem

Many Suggestions for Betterment of School System Offered to Commissioners at Hearing Here—Operation By Province Not Favored—Curriculum, Homework And Cost of Text Books Are Discussed.

That many improvements in our present school system will be brought about as a result of the report and recommendations which will be made by the commission now making an educational survey of the province was the feeling of many who attended a sitting of the commission here Monday evening last.

Dr. J. H. Putnam, chief inspector of schools for the city of Ottawa and Dr. G. M. Weir, professor of education in the University of British Columbia, two of the three members of the commission, were present and brought out many expressions of opinion and suggestions from citizens who attended the meeting Monday evening in Parish Hall. The commission arrived here from the Coast on the morning train, visited the schools during the day and held a conference with members of the municipal council and the school board during the afternoon.

Informal Discussion.
The financial burden and suggested means for relieving the land owner were outstanding features of the afternoon conference. At the evening meeting a number of parents gave their views on various phases of our school system, there being free and frank informal discussion in which both commissioners participated. The chair was taken by W. Ritchie, chairman of the school board and the reeve briefly referred to the afternoon conference with the visitors.

Dr. Putnam explained the purpose of their visit and asked for an expression of views on school problems, local and provincial. He wanted to know if the schools were meeting the needs of the people, if the public were getting what they pay for and if the type of education being given our children is the proper type.

Use Bad English.
G. J. Coulter White pointed out the need of better speech, stating that today, more so than in a long time in our educational history, bad grammar or bad rhetoric was being used. The results today do not justify the alleged advancement in the methods of teaching the use of the English language. True, good speech in the home would help the child to speak correctly, but he mingles in the schools with others and comes home with most atrocious grammar. Among our teachers, even in the high schools, very poor English is spoken. An improvement along this line should be sought. He found a woeful lack of knowledge of places and of the world generally. He suggested more extensive teaching of geography and of current events, with more reading of newspapers. Mr. White also advocated the teaching of physical science and hygiene, particularly a knowledge of the effects of the use of drugs and alcohol. Many of our young people were subjected to temptations to take drugs; they should know the dangers. The economic aspect of this subject should also be dealt with.

Booze vs. Schools.
Dr. Putnam told of having visited one town with a two-roomed school (Continued on back page)

SHORT ON COTS PEACHES, PEARS

Vancouver Could Take All Our Cots, Winnipeg Our Pears.

Planting of fruit trees has been carried on to a considerable extent even through the several years of depression from which we are now emerging. The far-sighted ones who have been adding to or improving their orchards in this way will be in a position that much sooner to reap their reward.

What to plant will be a question in the minds of many more from now on and perhaps nowhere can one get better advice than from J. A. Grant, British Columbia Markets Commissioner, who states in his annual report recently published by the Department of Agriculture and covering the season of 1923 that British Columbia is short of apricots, peaches and pears. Mr. Grant says:

Advised Growers.
"We have advised British Columbia fruit growers who are situated in districts suited to pear, apricot, peach and Winesap to grow more of these fruits. At present Washington supplies the deficiency not being produced in British Columbia. The importation of such fruit as we cannot supply always includes a proportion of what we can supply, as these fruits are loaded in attractive mixed cars containing pears, plums, cantaloupes and early apples in addition to the pears, peaches and apricots that may be needed.

"At present there are not enough apricots grown in British Columbia to supply the Vancouver market, and peaches are only grown in quantities to supply Winnipeg. Pears are also considerably short in production. We would recommend the planting of Bartlett's ('Dr. Jules Guyot' and others of the Bartlett family that are better keepers than the old Bartlett sort). Also Beurre d'Anjou; these are the prime favorites on the market, and can, by resorting to cold

UNION DISPOSES OF ALL APPLES

Other News of the Week by Our Correspondent at Peachland.

Dr. Putnam of the educational commission, was in town on Tuesday. During the morning he visited the school and took notes of conditions as he found them there. In the afternoon he addressed a gathering of parents and others interested in the educational system of the province, including representatives from the municipal council and the school board. Dr. Putnam after explaining the work of the commission and the need for it read some resolutions or suggestions from the local school board, including the following: Whereas there has been so many changes in the text books in the schools, it is suggested that a text book should be continued in use for at least three consecutive years. The speaker assured those present that this matter would receive the attention of the commission. Re physics and chemistry, it was suggested that one of these be deleted and bookkeeping put in its place. This speaker could not agree with physics and chemistry, he said, as sciences applied and upon the elements of science is founded our every day life. (Continued on Page 6)

WERE BUILDING HOUSES AT TRAIL

Local Citizen Puts up Three in Smelter City as Speculation.

In the last few days there have returned to Summerland several men who have been at Trail for some weeks. There they have been in the employ of S. Bartholomew. Mr. Bartholomew went over to the smelter city in the early fall and bought some lots on which he proceeded to build three cottages. He employed from here Geo. Armstrong, S. Scott, T. Charity, A. Biagini, as well as his own partner, W. Atkinson. Having finished the houses all these men have returned with the exception of Mr. Bartholomew, who will visit his daughter, Mrs. Geo. Ross, at Castlegar, and will probably remain in that vicinity until he sells the three houses recently erected.

EGG PRODUCTION AGAIN INCREASING

Quantity Handled by Association is Mounting Rapidly.

Egg production, which has kept up remarkably well, according to the records of the Summerland Poultry Producers Association, is showing a marked increase during the last few days.

In October the association marketed 1,200 dozen eggs. Up to Tuesday of this week 680 dozen had been handled this month, but on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday last the association took in 280 dozen and on one of these days 187 dozen. Practically half the eggs received during the first half of the month came in on the latter four days.

Of the 800 million acres fit for farming in Canada, one-third is in farm holdings; only one-sixth is cultivated; and 150 million acres await the plough.

storage, he supplied right through the year season until January. The next two varieties popular on the market are Boae and Winter Nellie. The Bartlett and d'Anjou are by far the most in demand. Winesap apples are also safe to grow where they can be raised successfully." (Continued on Page 6)

STIRLING HAD 386 MAJORITY

Stirling's majority over Sutherland in the recent by-election is officially given as 386 by W. C. Kelley, returning officer. The total ballots cast for Mr. Stirling were 6,354 and for Mr. Sutherland 5,968. It was not until late last week that Mr. Kelley was able to complete the record of the balloting.

More Money For Growers

Co-operative Paying For Early Apples, Catoes And Prunes

Between thirty and forty thousand dollars will be distributed next week by the Co-operative when final statements will be issued covering prunes, crabapples, Wealthy, Gravenstein and several other early varieties of apples. It was the intention of the directors to make a payment on account of apples this week but learning that final returns were coming immediately from Central, the board decided to pass on final settlements to growers instead.

Below is a list of net prices which will be paid, including, however, the investment being made in local reserve and buildings.

Italian prunes, peach box, 48%; 4 basket crate, 52%. Transcendent crabapples, fancy, 1st pool, 42%; fancy, 2nd pool, 27 1/2%; C, 17%. Hyslop crabapples, fancy, 71%. Wealthy, fancy, 63-65%; 50; crates, 50. Gravenstein, fancy, 63; crates, 48. Wismer's Dessert, fancy, 55; crates, 30. Jeffries, fancy, 55; crates, 30. St. Lawrence, King, Alexander and Wolf River, fancy, 60; crates, 45.

Two and a half cents per package on prunes and Transcendent crabs is being reserved for investment in building fund; as is also five cents a package on Hyslops and apples. A further cent on prunes and two cents on other packages is withheld for local capital purposes. The grower gets these back later so that they are properly included in the net prices.

SPEAKS HERE ON BOYS' WORK

Helps Lads in Organizing — Boys Take Part in Service.

Mr. Fred Cox, of Salmon Arm, an expert in boys' work, spent Saturday and Sunday here in connection with the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training, comprising the two divisions, Trail Rangers ages 12 to 14, and Tuxia Boys over 14 years.

Sunday morning, he addressed a full congregation at the Methodist church. His visit there was very opportune and of great value as Rev. H. J. Armitage had organized his class of fifteen boys into a camp of Trail Rangers two weeks ago.

Sunday afternoon he met boys of the Baptist and St. Andrew's groups and spoke to them briefly. After a slight indication of the form the evening service would take, he explained badge work. The attaining of badges is supplementary to the program itself and has not been greatly emphasized here.

A united boys' service was held in the evening in St. Andrew's church when the building was well filled. Ronald White, as leader of the St. Andrew's groups, acted as chairman, while Alex McLennan of the Baptist square read the lesson. Mr. Cox in his address showed the need for boys to develop four-square. The program with its four divisions: intellectual, social, physical and religious, plans that there should be no neglect of one, nor over-doing of another. If all four are given consideration, they comprise the complete and natural growth and development of every normal boy; inattention to any (Continued on Page 6)

PACKING ENGLISH APPLES IN BOXES

Cambridgeshire Now Has Western Apple Packing Plant.

The British ministry of agriculture has established a fruit grading and packing station along lines similar to those in this province. A charge will be made for each box of apples graded and packed. This station is in the Cambridgeshire fruit district, where, up to the present there has been no grading of apples. A similar station is planned in connection with the Herefordshire orchards.

BUYS DAVIDSON PROPERTY HERE

Vancouver Post Office Man Comes Here to Reside.

A. Davidson has sold his property on Giant's Head road to E. H. Whitehead of Vancouver, but Mr. Davidson says he has no intention of quitting Summerland, although he will spend the next few months at the Coast. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson and their daughter, Miss Audrey, left Monday morning to motor to Vancouver by way of Portland. Ernest H. Whitehead, who has purchased the Davidson property, has been a member of the Vancouver post office staff. Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead and their son arrived here on Wednesday morning.

TWO CLASSES TAKE UP BASKETRY WORK

Several Members of Last Year's Class Continuing Work this Season.

Basketry lessons began on Monday of this week with two good classes. Mrs. Armstrong, instructor, has twelve pupils in the downtown class and nearly that many in the class meeting over the drug store in the Ritchie building. This latter class meets on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and the downtown class, afternoon and evening on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The course covers two weeks.

It is interesting to note that a number of those who took the course last year are again pupils of Mrs. Armstrong. Individual instruction is given in every case, which makes it possible for each pupil to advance as far and as rapidly as they may.

GREATLY INTERESTED IN LOCAL POTTERY

Dr. Weir of University Staff Takes Sample for His Lectures.

Much interest was manifested in the pottery work and other activities of the art league by Dr. G. M. Weir, one of the commission making the educational survey of the province, during his visit to Summerland on Monday. He was delighted to learn that Summerland had been in a position to supply the summer school at Victoria with a teacher in pottery instead of the department having to send to Portland, Ore., for one, which course had been planned on.

Dr. Weir took with him a piece of local pottery which he said he would use occasionally as a demonstration in his lectures before university students.

E. E. Byrum of Anderson, Indiana, addressed several meetings here last week on the subject of divine healing. These meetings were held in Elliott's hall on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday evenings. Several, particularly a woman from Pentleton, claimed to have been helped as the result of his prayers. Mr. Byrum left here on Monday morning for Edmonton.

Summerland Favored as Logical Point for Serving Fruit Industry of Lower Lake District—Storage Building Ideal for Purpose—Plant Would Mean Saving of Many Thousands of Dollars Yearly.

Summerland can have a cold storage and pre-cooling plant, financed by the federal government, if it goes after it promptly and wholeheartedly. This The Review is in a position to state with all reasonable assurance.

Some months ago the Ottawa authorities favorably considered the proposition to establish several of these plants at as many points in the interior of British Columbia, two of these being for the Okanagan and another to be established at a third point. Kelowna was definitely decided upon as one of the Okanagan centres and Summerland, which had a small experimental plant for some years prior to the fire of July, 1922, has been favorably considered as the proper site for the second Okanagan plant. Assistance in this way throughout the country is being restricted to municipalities or large co-operative organizations. A condition is that the

WILL DOUBLE APPLE BUSINESS

Wembley Exhibition and Adoption of Better Packing to Do It.

Wembley has revolutionized the British-Canadian apple trade, according to A. W. Tolmie, commissioner-general of the Canadian Pavilion at the great Empire exhibition which is to be continued next year. "Thousands of pounds worth of apple orders have been booked by British firms to say nothing of the German ones," he said, "and in addition the exhibit has proved finally the necessity for the adoption of a new packing system by our Canadian growers.

"Hitherto fruit from the orchards of British Columbia, Ontario and Nova Scotia has often been sold at a heavy loss in the English markets because it has suffered severe bruising against the sides of the boxes. A new experiment was tried with the exhibits for Wembley. The apples were 'crown packed,' or protected from the sides of the cases by a layer of special packing material. The result is that these apples are as fresh and sound today as when they were picked over a year ago—a durability record in the history of the Canadian trade.

"Both the dealers and the growers have been amazed at the success of the experiment and we are confident that Wembley will result in almost doubling the apple business between here and Canada in future."

Added to Memorial Fund

Forty-three dollars and sixty-five cents was the total of the collection taken at the Armistice Day service in Empire Hall on Sunday, November 9th. The expenses were as follows: hall, $7.50; programmes, $20.50, leaving $15.65 which has been deposited in the bank to the credit of the citizen's memorial fund, made up of surpluses from similar services covering several years.

Predicts Spray Will Be Bo't In Powdered Form

Between fifty and sixty per cent of the spraying done in the Wenatchee and Yakima districts is with lime-sulphur bought in dry form and this material is almost exclusively used in the pruno and other orchards of the Hood River district. This is the statement made by M. G. Wilson since his return from a visit to those districts. For blister mite he says the grow-site and building be provided by local capital, the government doing the insulating and providing and installing the equipment.

Building Ideal.
Some months ago experts looked over the storage building here and pronounced it ideal for the purpose. At relatively small cost this very substantial building can be properly insulated and the capital available from the government, thirty thousand dollars, we believe, would be nearly or quite sufficient to install refrigeration equipment on entire two floors.

The offer to thus help the Okanagan fruit growers was made prior to the lamented death of the late federal member, so that it is no pre-election promise. That the offer still holds good was confirmed the other day by a federal authority in conversation with M. G. Wilson. This statement was made since election day so that our fruit growers may be confident that the offer was not an election promise.

Ottawa Ready.
Kelowna is already at work building an addition to the Growers' Exchange building in which their plant will be installed. Mr. Wilson says, "My information is such that Summerland, if it desires, can have a cold storage plant whenever and as soon as it can fulfill the requirements." He advises prompt action if Summerland wishes to secure the cold storage and pre-cooling plant for the lower end of the Valley.

Associated Growers lost, in the 1923 shipping season, $125,000 which would not have been suffered if pre-cooling plants had existed here and at Kelowna.

Directors of the Summerland Co-operative will hold a meeting probably this weekend when it is expected that immediate action will be taken to close the contract with the government for the much needed cold storage, pre-cooling and ice making plant.

LICENSING MOTOR DRIVERS.

General approval will be given the decision of the attorney-general to license all drivers of motor vehicles. The Automobile Club has long recognized the need of some more effective means of protecting the public against the reckless driver. With many of this type of menace to public safety, police court fines have not been sufficient cure. More recently especially at the Coast centres, seven days' imprisonment has been the penalty imposed on an intoxicated motorist. Now it is proposed that suspension of licenses for reckless driving be provided in the new law which was forecast by Attorney-General Manson to be introduced during the present session of the legislature.

OUR APPLES IN BRITAIN.

Much to encourage the fruit grower is contained in the news from England. First came the return to power of the Conservatives, who have been in favor of adopting the recommendations of the Imperial Conference.

Since then many things have pointed to a better market in the old land for British Columbia fruit and other products.

There is much significance in the recent announcement of the organization of an association entitled "British Empire Goods," with many very prominent men at its head. Not only will this association advocate the buying of empire-made goods, but it is out after written pledges committing business men for the period of one year to buy empire products whenever possible.

Growing Empire sentiment along with the great publicity given our fruit at Wembley and at the Imperial Fruit Show in Birmingham, will make it possible for us to sell many more apples in the Old Country and at better prices.

ARGUMENT UNNECESSARY.

"To me," says a writer in the National Printer Journalist, "the person who questions the selling value of display space is not worth wasting time with. He is driving a one-horse shay, eating bulk oatmeal, bathing when the water gets warm in the creek, and depending upon the pony-express to give him transportation.

"Advertising is no longer in the stage of experimentation. It has arrived as a definite thing. The man who attempts to conduct a business without advertising is simply adding to the economic waste and has signed his reservation on the business scrap-heap."

A dollar doesn't go far, says a contemporary, but at that it goes too far for some folks to get it.

THOSE NAUGHTY EDITORS.

Trall News: Down in China they are cutting off the heads of the newspaper editors. While this method is considered by Europeans as being drastic it has made the press amenable to the opinion of the government and has put a stop to criticism. Taken as a general rule this procedure is not considered the best course, though there are several publications in B.C. where the rule should be invoked. Constructive criticism is always in order, but where the editorial columns week after week contain nothing but slander and abuse of men in public life it grows monotonous, and it is then the headsman should get in his work. Most of these editorial columns are made up chiefly of interviews of some sordid who has been rearing to get at the public trough for four or five years and whose opinions are not worth considering.

SCIENTIFIC BEETS.

When sugar first was made from beets it took about 20 tons of beets to produce one ton of sugar. Now it requires but six tons, the change being due to scientific production of the beets. — Farm and Livestock Record.

THAT'S DIFFERENT.

Cranbrook Courier: An editor and a merchant were discussing the value of billboard advertising. The merchant contended that more people read the billboards than the newspapers. After a lengthy conversation in which neither man would give in, they parted. The next week the merchant came tearing down the street to the newspaper office wanting to know why the obituary notice of his wife's mother was not in the paper, especially after he had seen that a copy was taken to the newspaper office. "Well," said the editor, "I knew you wanted the obituary read by the people so I took it and nailed it on your billboard." The next week a half page ad appeared in the newspaper in question.

The Second Column

BY PATRIOT

GETTING AND GIVING.

Humanity is thoroughly aroused to the need of getting. Life revolves with incitements to production and efficiency, and everybody is calling for "go getters."

But it is a law of life that for all getting there should be a corresponding amount of giving. That is not so popular. Yet this law is fairly well understood in business life, where people realize that if they are to get rewards they must give correspondingly good service.

This law is not so well understood in community life. We give taxes to be sure, in return for certain municipal services. But we get many things not paid for in taxes. We get the benefit of all the unpaid service of the people who went before us, all the faithful effort of our business men to meet the needs of the community, all the public spirit of unselfish community workers. And then many of us sit back and fail to realize the necessity of giving anything in return for this getting.

To carry out the get and give spirit in Summerland at least four principles should be observed:

1. Back up our business men. They are doing their best to serve you.
2. Join in any civic movement that will help carry on the good work for Summerland, to which others have devoted and are now giving so much effort.
3. Make some personal addition to the neatness and beauty of Summerland by improving your home place.
4. Help support the home newspaper, which is working in every issue to get good things for your community.

Our expert opinion is that the man who calls sweat perspiration doesn't know much about it.

PAT O'HOOLEY ON FLAPPERS

By I. H. HOLDEN

" 'Tis hard-sleddin' a man has these days if he wants t' git shaved in a barber shop," said Pat O'Hooley, leaning against a pile of ties and addressing Donovan and his crew of section men. "Ut used t' be bad enough t' listen t' th' barber's chatter. Ivery wan had a lingo of his own; but ut was he-man talk an' ye got hardened t' ut in toime. Now ut's all different. " 'Whust!' sez Nora; 'Moind' yer long tongue! Can't ye see there's a min all about us watchin' and listonin'?"

" 'I can,' sez Mame; 'an' if they had wan spark of th' gintelman about 'om—if they had th' least bit of common decency—they wouldn't be sittin' in here gaslin' at us while we're making our toilets. I'm thinkin' ut shows their bringin' up!' says she.

" 'Huh!' sez I t' meself. 'Twas not so long ago when a barber shop was for min—an' the lid was off; but now ut's a ladies' bowdure! I'm thinkin' ut's no place for Pat; an' I ut I goes. While I'm standin' by th' dure watchin' me chance t' duck back in at th' roight toime, along comes Mather Cahill—an' she's wise at wan glance.

" 'Hello, Pat,' sez she, wid a grin. 'Fwhat's a stain' ye? Yer lookin' pale, an' yer knees are knockin'.' Was th' flappers too much for ye?"

Look at th' little whiffets! Ivery day, lower and higher! Bare chests, bare backs, bare knees, rolled-down stockin's, an' dresses ye can rade a noose-paper through! I'm thinkin' th' gals of today are goin' t' th' devil entirely. If me old Dad had caught me wid wan of thim rigs on when I was at home (an' there was no fear of ut, fer I'd fallen dead wid shame t' aven think of puttin' on such things) he'd harse-whipped th' skin off me back an' rubbed salt on ut. Ivery wan of thim whiffets should be put in jail fer 'indacint exposure' sez she.

" 'Don't spake so croole of th' gals, mam,' sez I. 'They might be a lot worse. They're purty high-gear-ed, I'll admit. They're steppin' on th' gas, an' they're goin' some; but they're rollin' on balloon-toires an' they're hittin' on all six. If I was thirty years younger—or aven twenty—th' very devil in th' little scamps would set me heart thumpin,' sez I.

" 'Well, I didn't think ut of ye! Mr. O'Hooley,' sez Mrs. Cahill, wid her nose in th' air. 'But ye're a man, an' they're all loike putty when there's a woman in th' case.'

" 'Maybe so,' sez I; 'but there's always two ways of lookin' at anythin'. At least, th' gals are no sham. When a lad puts his arm round a flapper, he hasn't a doubt as t' th' size of her. She's all gal. There isn't an ounce of cotton, excelsior, or old rags t' mislead anywan—an' many an' Old Boy was badly soaked in th' Long Ago. What wid hoops an' corsets an' bustles an' hip-pads an' balloon slaves an' false hair, a man gittin' married was offerin' himself for a sacrifice wid his eyes shut. He had no more idjoo' what he was tyin' up wid than buyin' a pig in a poke,' sez I.

" 'Pat O'Hooley, ye are an old idjit!' sez Mrs. Cahill, contintiously. 'You an' all th' rest of yer kind may rave an' excuse th' brazen things all ye loike—that's yer business an' ye'll long tongue! Can't ye see there's a hivin' I was born at a toime when Modesty was th' crownin' virtue; an' young gals was all as innocent as whoite doves,' sez she.

" 'Yes, mam, they was. I wouldn't contradict a word ye are sayin' fer th' word, Mrs. Cahill,' sez I. 'That's not me style. But jist th' same—'mancin' no offence, Mam—an' I'm thinkin' that th' gals of today, as th' Pote says, are purty much slaters under their pajamas to th' gals of yisteryday. As fer th' little whoite doves ye spake of, I used t' know ut a whole lot of 'em. Some of 'em was near an' dear t' me, mam; but they're angels now an' have bin fer these forty yenns,' sez I."

" 'What did the old hen say to that?' asked Donovan, cupping his hand over a match an' lighting his pipe.

" 'Nothin' that I could translate in' words,' said Pat, with a broad grin. 'But she whirled on her heel, an' she goes up th' strate makin' sign-nals loike a tom cat when ye rock on ut's tail.'

Government Repudiates Promises, Jones Charges

Member for South Okanagan Declares Failure to Make Good Campaign Promise of Defeated Provincial Secretary Was Due to Spite Against North Okanagan Electors—B. C. Idle in Face of Objectionable Australian Treaty Provisions

Practice of "contemptible spite work" was charged against the government yesterday by Mr. J. W. Jones, Conservative, South Okanagan, in connection with its failure to make good the promises of Dr. K. C. MacDonald, former Provincial Secretary, who was defeated in the by-election held on September 24 in North Okanagan. Mr. Jones referred to the speech made Thursday by Premier Oliver as a "stormy outburst" devoid of one particle of constructive value, and in connection with that part of it which dealt with irrigation loans made to interior districts said that the government's action in refusing to advance the $43,000 loan promised by its former Provincial Secretary was repudiation in its worst sense.

North Okanagan—Mr. Jones reviewed the history of the government's abortive campaign to elect Dr. MacDonald. Promises and threats had been made. On May 20 of the present year the trustees of the Vernon Water Board had written that a grant of $50,000, first requested in March, be made at once so that urgent repairs to the Vernon irrigation system could be made. The reply had been unsatisfactory. Early in September the Minister of Lands was again approached. A government engineer had made a complete inspection of the system and reported to his principals what was required. Some days before the date of the by-election Dr. MacDonald, newly-appointed Provincial Secretary, had said on a public platform at Vernon that he had not only secured a loan of $43,000 from the government for irrigation purposes, but an additional sum of $3,000 for a hospital.

No Assurance Given—Premier Oliver interrupted to say that Dr. MacDonald had not had the assurance of the executive council. Personally, he said, he did not recognize Mr. Jones' version of what Dr. MacDonald had said as correct. Mr. Jones quoted from a report of the meeting made in a Vernon newspaper to confirm his statement. "If what Dr. MacDonald said was not true (Premier Oliver was on the same platform with him) why did he not contradict his statement? He did not do so, nor did he make any effort to amend it in any degree. He sat on the platform, heard Dr. MacDonald make the promise to the people of Vernon, and let it go unchallenged because he hoped it would influence voters."

Pattullo Refused—On October 2 the secretary of the water district authorities had wired for authority to rush the work as the repairs were urgently needed. Mr. Jones continued. He had been informed that the Minister of Lands would not recommend the loan.

Hon. Mr. Pattullo said that he had refused to recommend the loan in July. "Mr. Pattullo is right in what he says," returned the South Okanagan member. "But other Ministers and the Premier know what had been said, and the people of North Okanagan were not told of the refusal until after the by-election."

"Are the members of this House going to stand for that sort of thing?" demanded Mr. Jones. "Are members of the government going to put up with such action in caucus? If so, then responsible government in British Columbia is going to end."

Raps Australian Treaty—Lack of constructive development policies for the basic industries, especially agriculture, was charged against the government by Mr. Jones. He contended that the Minister of Agriculture had been asleep at the switch when the Australian reciprocity treaty had been put through. Not only had reduced duties been allowed on Australian butter, cheese, meats and other products which were already being imported in too large quantities for the welfare of the struggling dairy and livestock industry of British Columbia, but no provision had been made for persuading Australia to lift the embargo against British Columbia apples, for which that country was an ideal market. He also scored the treaty in that it allowed the various products on which duty was reduced to be imported in box shooks made from Norwegian timber while British Columbia timber industry was given no preference in the Australian market. So far, he said, he had not heard a word of protest from the Provincial Government against any of these features of the treaty.

The Fruit Industry—The Minister of Lands, he charged, had been threatening an immigration policy every year, but so far had produced none except that of granting $300 to Hebridean settlers. This policy he approved, but said that while the Government, through neglect and high taxation of British Columbia industries was driving thousands of native Canadians to the United States, there was little use subsidizing newcomers. Establishment of jam factories and dehydration plants to assist the fruit industry, restoration of an anti-dumping clause and other necessary provisions for the agricultural industry were the basic policies necessary to development of the Province so that not only newcomers but old-established citizens could prosper, contended Mr. Jones.

Oliver Assented—While commending Premier Oliver's vigorous fight on freight rates, Mr. Jones contended that the Premier had committed a serious error of judgment in assenting to the restoration of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement when that matter was before the Privy Council and the Railway Commission. Premier Oliver denied that he had done so, but Mr. Jones quoted from a report of the proceedings and said that in failing to oppose the agreement the Premier had agreed to a 700 mile restriction of the market for Okanagan fruit. While the Crow rates were in effect, he said, the Okanagan could not compete with Ontario east of Calgary, whereas while the rates were under suspension the Okanagan market extended almost to the Manitoba boundary.

High Taxation—High taxation, he said, was the policy on which the Oliver Government had wrecked the industrial prosperity of British Columbia. Within the past year he declared that auditors had been sent out to check up the books of responsible firms as far back as 1917 and had submitted tax bills running into thousands of dollars for years long past.

Premier Oliver declared this was necessary to prevent the treasury from being defrauded.

"If the government had any suspicion of that it should have acted at the time, not six or seven years afterwards," declared Mr. Jones. "The treasury has given its receipt for full payment of taxes for those years and has no right to go after business men for arrears which its own negligence is responsible for not having collected. It is even charging 10 per cent penalties for amounts not collected due to negligence of its own officials."

LAD BURNED WHILE PUTTING OUT FIRE

Victor Wilson In Hospital with Burns on Legs.

Suffering from painful, though fortunately not serious, burns on both legs Victor Wilson, young son of Mrs. M. G. Wilson, was taken to the hospital last night. The lad, who had had a bonfire near the side-hill south of his home, was going in to the house and had taken a pail of water to first extinguish the fire. The fire, which still had considerable life, was sufficient to cause quite a volume of steam when the water was thrown on it, and the fire being built into the cliffside, the only way of escape was directly forward. Victor, who had not been expecting this, had not time to escape, and suffered resultant burns. He will probably be home again in a couple of days.

HELPFUL LECTURE BY REV. ARMITAGE

Addresses Women's Institute on all Important Subjects.

The attendance was rather poor at the Summerland Women's Institute meeting which was held in the parlor of the Methodist church last Friday afternoon.

There being no very important business to discuss the meeting was short and left ample time for the address delivered by the Rev. H. J. Armitage. His subject, "Missing the Way," was most interesting. During his discourse Mr. Armitage impressed upon his audience the great need of helping and encouraging young people between the ages of fourteen and twenty-one to obtain a fixed purpose in life as without proper help and guidance many were apt to adopt the wrong trend.

The booklet, which was supplied the postmaster by the post office department, was placed in a locally prepared envelope and with it were illustrated circulars in the form of blotters demonstrating the proper way to address an envelope, and advertising the post office parcel post service.

The 1923 crop amounted to 170,887,879 pounds, exceeding that of 1922 by 34,952 pounds. The total value of the crop was $6,084,970, being an increase of nearly 22.7 per cent over the previous year. All agricultural products totalled practically 7 per cent over the 1922 crop. The vegetable crop was lighter by 13,001 tons than in 1922, being 231,883 tons. The average yield potatoes was 5.8 tons per acre as against 6 tons in 1922.

FORWARDS LETTER TO PREMIER OLIVER

R.R. 1, Summerland, B.C.
 Editor Review.

Dear Sir,—I have received from some anonymous person a printed form addressed to the Hon. John Oliver, referring to a bill known as "An Act for the Relief of the Associated Growers of B.C., Limited," stating that this legislation would seriously and injuriously affect the property, rights and interests of all fruit and vegetable growers of British Columbia and requesting that no such legislation be enacted, with a request that I should sign and forward this document.

I have written across it that I believe it is very much to the advantage of all growers that this bill be passed, signed it and posted it. I hope all loyal members of the Co-operative will do likewise.

Yours faithfully,
 Wm. H. F. WELSH.

NEITHER FOOLS NOR UNPRINCIPLED

Editor Summerland Review.

Sir,—A second anonymous appeal from our anxious "Okanagan Grower"? Presumably he thought it advisable to try and rush the proposed signing of his "protest" before the unanimity of the indignant letters in the last issue of the Vernon News from growers disgusted at his mean suggestion had attained their full effect. From all I hear, however, I am glad to think he has much miscalculated—our growers being neither so unprincipled nor such fools as to act in the manner suggested.

Meanwhile, as all documents like his "protest" are naturally public property, I have written to the Hon. John Oliver requesting him to kindly send a list of any persons entering protest against the Bill promoted by the Associated Growers of B.C., which list I propose to publish in due course—it should be interesting reading!

Yours faithfully,
 C. NAPIER HIGGIN.

VERNON FRUIT UNION PASSES RESOLUTION

Editor Review.

Sir,—At an extra-ordinary general meeting of the Vernon Fruit Union held yesterday, November 14th, the appended resolution was passed without dissent and we were instructed to forward same to you with the request that same be published in your paper.

This Union represents over 300 shipping growers and has an output of from 700,000 to 1,000,000 packages of fruit and vegetables annually.

Yours truly,
 H. SLATER.
 Manager, Vernon Fruit Union.

"Whereas insidious and underhand attempts are being made to destroy the confidence of the individual grower in his selling organization, the Associated Growers of B.C., Ltd., "Be it resolved that this meeting of growers of the Vernon Fruit Union in general meeting assembled, do approve of the application of the Associated Growers Ltd., to obtain a Relief Act from the Provincial Legislature for the purpose of preventing any litigation arising out of any technical flaw in the contracts entered into between themselves and the individual growers and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Associated Growers, Ltd., to be used at their discretion, to all locals, the press throughout the fruit districts, North Okanagan representative and the chairman of the Private Bills Committee, Provincial Legislature, Victoria.

PROVE LOYALTY TO CO-OPERATION

To The Review:

The many letters which have appeared in the Valley and Kootenay papers, written by growers in response to an anonymous letter recently circulated, have been very gratifying as an evidence of the loyalty to co-operation which we believe is shared by the great majority of fruit growers.

The circular in question, intended as it undoubtedly was to injure the cause of co-operation, has been a blessing in disguise in that it brought out the real sentiment of the growers which otherwise would not have found public expression.

The whole fruit industry is indebted to those who have so vigorously and ably sprung to the defense of their organization.

British Columbia apples were the feature of a dinner given recently at the Mansion House by the Lord Mayor to the Fruiterers Company, one of the city guilds. One of the speakers said he had just returned from British Columbia and that its citizens were anxious to demonstrate that it could grow as good fruit as the United States growers.

To be "picked up" by radio while on the Continental Limited bound for Vancouver, and informed in a message specially broadcast to him from his own city of happenings of importance to him, was the experience of Mr. B. Ker, of Victoria, was travelling towards Victoria from the east, when, at Kamloops, the radio operator on the train picked up a Victoria broadcasting station announcing a special message for Mr. Nicholas. The message was picked up and amplified just as clearly as though the speaker were seated in the car, according to Mr. Nicholas' report.

THE COST OF STRIKES

Strikes have doubled the cost of living of every American family, according to a statement made public by the American Economic Institute. Had there been no strikes in the last twenty years, there would have been enough surplus wealth in the country to pay the entire American war debt without levying a dollar on anything but surplus. The economic burden resulting from the cessation of industry and production is paid for at every meal in the nearly doubled cost of food, in the increased cost of buildings and rents, and in the increased cost of clothes. Thus the public is liquidating an enormous debt with the incurring of which it had nothing to do.

I strengthen the weak. I help the distressed. I show mercy, bestow kindness and offer a friendly hand. I am good fellowship, friendliness and love. FAVORITE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS

By Helen Archer Wallace

"A MIGHTY FORTRESS IS OUR GOD"

There is a sense in which Luther's great hymn, "A mighty fortress is our God," is like Charles Wesley's hymn, "Jesus Lover of my Soul." They were both written by men who had suffered much at the hands of enemies, and they both point to divine aid as the Christian's solace.

Martin Luther was born in Eisleban, Germany, in 1483. His father was a miner, and young Martin early knew poverty. Even as a child he was passionately fond of music, and sang from door to door in his native town. He attended the university at Erfurt, and became an Augustinian monk. Later, he revolted against some of the practices of the Roman Catholic church and he did two things which firmly established the Protestant Reformation. He translated the Bible into the language of the common people, and he wrote hymns which stirred souls. Coleridge said, "Luther did as much work for the Reformation by his hymns as he did by his translation of the Bible."

Not many years before Luther's revolt printing had been invented, and books were beginning to be circulated in the language of the common people. In 1524 the first hymn book was printed at Wittenberg—a book with eight hymns, four of them by Luther. Since that day the Germans have produced several really great hymn-writers, but undoubtedly the greatest of all their hymns is this one of Luther's. Luther himself wrote thirty-six hymns, but none of the others reached the same high standard. The hymn has been made all the more popular by the very fine dignified tune to which it is sung. Some think that Luther himself composed the tune, but it may have been already in existence and simply adapted by him.

The hymn itself is based on Psalm 46, and was composed about the year 1528. According to one authority it was written when Luther and those associated with him delivered their protest at the Diet of Spire, from which the word and the meaning of the word, "Protestant" is derived. None knew better than Luther the strength of the forces arrayed against him, and in spite of his naturally courageous bearing, there were times when he suffered great depression and underwent much mental agony. Undoubtedly it was when he was in some such mood that Luther wrote his magnificent hymn. Its influence was immediately felt, and as Amos R. Wells points out, it became for the Reformation what the French hymn, La Marseillaise, became to France. It became in later years the national hymn of Germany. It was one of the watchwords of the Reformation, cheering armies as they marched to battle for their faith, and sustaining others in the hours of fiery trials. Luther himself found great comfort in it. There were times when it seemed to Luther that the cause of Protestantism was lost, but in such moments he would turn to his friend Melancthon and say, "Come, Philip, let us sing the forty-sixth Psalm." The first line of the hymn is engraved on Luther's tomb at Wittenberg.

ONE OF NATURE'S WONDERS

The Devil's Potholes

MALIGNE CANYON, in Jasper National Park, is one of the natural wonders of the entire Rocky Mountain region. A vast cleft in the solid rock, reaching a depth of some 200 feet, and so narrow in places that one may step across it easily, draws from the tourist expressions of awe and wonder at the power of accumulated forces of water.

Tumbling headlong down the narrow gorge goes the Maligne River, mysterious as to its source and for part of its length a subterranean stream, on its way to join the quieter waters of the Athabasca far below. At times on its passage through the narrow gorge, it tumbles more than one hundred feet in a sheer drop, its eddies being churned to foam as the waters beat a tattoo against the rocky sides of the canyon on their downward leap.

From the footbridges which span the narrow gash in the solid rock, tourists watch entranced the effect of the waters on the rocky sides. Here and there, seemingly tired of the effort to stand upright through the curtains, the sides of the gorge appear to have leaned toward one another, until an intervening rock cast itself into the narrow space and held the walls apart. Trunks of trees and jutting rocks form footbridges across the chasm a hundred feet below the tourists' feet, as they stand admiring the glint of the noon-day sun upon the falling water.

Maligne Canyon is a mecca for visitors to Jasper Park Lodge, the splendid log-cabin hospitality of the Canadian National Railway, and rightly so, for there are few natural rock formations to equal in interest those found in the canyon.

The Devil's Potholes, curious indentations in the solid rock over which the Maligne River flowed before the Canyon was worn to its present depth, are holes worn deep in the surface rock by the action of swirling flood waters, when a large stone has been whirled round and round in an unending circle until the stone itself was worn small and round, and deep circular holes have been ground into the surface of the rock, remaining as mute testimony to the power of rushing waters.

Maligne Canyon, while one of the most wonderful formations to be found in the Rocky Mountains, is but one of the many natural attractions of Jasper National Park. In addition there are the snow-capped peaks on every side; the glaciers of Mount Edith Cavell and the mountains surrounding Maligne Lake; the Hoodoos of the Cavell motor highway and hundreds of others. Wild animal life is abundant, and the calm peace of the out-of-doors is assured to the tired holiday-seeker.

And in addition to the natural beauties of the Park, a commodious log cabin bungalow hotel; with excellent cuisine and all the comforts of the modern city hotel, provides a starting point from which parties may radiate by motor or pack-horse or foot to travel by motor road or pack trail into the very heart of the wilderness. It was the addition of the comforts and conveniences of Jasper Park Lodge to the beauties of Jasper National Park which caused one noted American traveller to exclaim: "At last, I have found the place, where God and man go fifty-fifty to produce perfection."

This may be a very disrespectful way of referring to so prominent a personage as Sir Auckland Geddes, but it seems to me that his recent speech in London don't calls for some such criticism. Sir Auckland may, and probably does know a good deal about public feeling in Washington, but, to use another colloquialism, what he evidently does not know about Canadian sentiment would fill a very big book. The picture of Canada looking longingly towards Washington, and Washington looking invitingly towards Canada, is one which needs a great deal of imagination to conjure up. If the former British ambassador to the United States had lived in Canada as long as this present humble scribe, and was as familiar with all parts of the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific, he would certainly know that the great volume of Canadian thought where Washington is concerned, is tinged with something very different from longing. And when he speaks of our insistence in the use of the term Motherland towards Britain as a sort of tribute to "old age, if not senility," we have some reason to think that the senility rests closer to his own shoulders. Looking back over the past ten years and recalling the part played during that lurid period by the Mother Country, one is moved to a certain astonished amusement by the application of such a term. It is possible that Sir Auckland was speaking extempore on the occasion in question and that his rather funny address contained some remarks made on the spur of the moment, and later regretted. "Things one would rather have left unsaid," as "Punch" puts it.

It is perhaps hardly fair to compare the winged steed which uncovered the fountain of poetic inspiration to that which seems to supply the inexhaustible flow of STEED ON fabled romance dripping PEGASUS from the pen of Mr. Wickham Steed, but there is an analogy up to a certain point, one satisfactory feature being the fact that Pegasus eventually threw his rider for good and all! Mr. Steed appears to have an uncanny habit of unearthing more or less apocryphal stories concerning the great men of his time, and publishing them at odd times without any apparent reason other than a desire to muddy the water. It will be remembered that a few years ago he put certain remarks into the mouth of King George, said to have been addressed to Mr. Lloyd George in expostulation concerning affairs in Ireland. These remarks were flatly denied by his majesty, and the same denial is now given to

 The Winter's Tale,
 Scene II, Act IV

The latest Steed stories dealing with some alleged rupture between that same Lloyd George and the former premier of France. The general public were and are quite content with the unequivocal denials in both cases, and seeing that, even had the stories been true, they could not possibly do anything but harm, most people will feel some irritation at the Paul Pry sort of mentality shown by their publication. We expect that kind of thing from "yellow" journalism, but have a right to look for something better from a man who was formerly editor of the London "Times." If Mr. Wickham Steed must delve into by-gone affairs in this fashion, he might with advantage discover some episode which would round to somebody's credit, instead of dishonouring up tidbits of half-cooked scandal.

In the September issue of an American magazine devoted to the science of physical culture, there are reproduced certain letters written some years ago by George Bernard Shaw and the late Theodore Roosevelt, arising out of a matter on which their personal views did not agree. Roosevelt had expressed his opinion of G.B.S. in his usual forcible manner, and a third person intervened to show that there was not so much difference between the disputants as appeared on the surface. Mr. Roosevelt's rejoinder was uncompromising, and seems to touch the real heart of the dispute. He said, "A leader who gives his followers the wrong impression cannot be trusted, and Shaw has often done this." Nothing could more accurately have defined the situation, or pointed out more clearly the real reason why the quips and cranks of G.B.S. are no longer taken seriously by anybody. His buffooneries are deliberately filled with inconsistencies and absurdities which deprive them of any claim to serious consideration, and seem to be uttered largely for the sake of notoriety. The concocter of them is not even serious with himself, but laughs up his sleeve at his own witticisms. No doubt it is all very delightful fooling to those who care for it, but we can imagine how it would affect a man who was always as much in earnest about everything as Roosevelt was. The Shaw philosophy is built on the axiom that "nothing matters very much" while Roosevelt considered that a good many things matter a great deal. We always knew what Roosevelt meant, but with G.B.S. we are never sure whether he is trying to be serious, or merely clowning. And what is more to the purpose, we really don't care!

A study of the names given by great novelists to their different characters is exceedingly interesting when made along psychological lines. A prolific writer must give considerable thought to the giving of names which fit, and we know that in many cases it proves one of the hardest of problems. Scott solved it sometimes by baptizing his creations according to their avocations in life, and in one case at least by an obvious reference to certain tendencies, the indecision in his character of "Waverley" being an evident instance. "Syvester Sound, the somnambulist" and "Valentine Vox the ventriloquist" are of course examples of sheer alliteration and are in a class of their own. With Dickens, we are told, the coining of names was a constant study, one favorite method of his being the piecing together of fragments of two or more cognomens, most of which he noted down in his frequent walks in the streets of London. The Dickens gallery of names alone is well worth recalling, many of them being miracles of appropriateness, and now constituting the bases of many types of character. Micawber, Pecksniff, Harold Skimpole, Sir Leicester Dedlock, Mark Tapley, Uriah Heep, Sairey Gamp, Pickwick — the list can be extended almost indefinitely. Dumas gave us names we would not miss on any account, Athos, Porthos, Aramis and the wily D'Artagnan are old friends. "Harry Lorrequer" gives us a vivid picture of the "devil may care" Irishman, and "Mickey Free" carries its own suggestion. The subject is one of fascination to the reader of fiction, and is worth pursuing.

ARE AMONG THE MISSING

Member of Provincial Press Gallery Pays Tribute to Several Ex-members.

JANITOR'S SOLILOQUY

Bruce Hutchinson, a member of the press gallery, gives, in the Vancouver Sun, the soliloquy of the janitor of the legislative assembly room. In it he reviews the personnel of the missing members of the last house among whom are M. E. Jackson, the "classic" member for the Islands, J. B. Clearihue, youngest member of the house, Mr. Farris, who seldom warned, Mr. Whiteside, who had had enough, Hon. Mr. Bowser, who did the work of a dozen men and Mr. Esling of Rossland, who kept the premier busy denying and explaining.

BOWSER—THE BULLDOG

Looking at the seat vacated by the Hon. Mr. Bowser, the old janitor said:
 "Like a bulldog, Mr. Bowser was, sir, a-sitting there with him chin stuck out at the Liberals and a-frowning so fierce 'twas a wonder that the premier could sit and eat his peppermints so comfortable. And then he used to jump up as quick as a flash and tell the government what a lot of villians they was until you half expected the whole cabinet to pack their portfolios and rush out. There he'd be a-waving his glasses with one hand, sir, a-holding his papers in the other and battering away like a trip hammer — thud, thud, thud. Just like that sir—thud, thud, thud. Things will seem strangely quiet and peaceful-like without that old trip-hammer."

JONES—AND APRICOTS

"Mr. Bowser, sir, could do more things at once than any member we ever had. He'd sit there listening to Mr. Pooley, advising him in one ear about the prune juice in government liquor, and Mr. Jones advising him in the other about the apricot crop in the Okanagan, and him all the time trying to find where the government had betrayed the country in a bill to govern the inspection of steam laundries and taking in every word that the Premier was saying about General McRae. He was a human adding machine was Mr. Bowser, sir."

ESLING—THE TERROR

"Just behind Mr. Bowser, the bulldog as you might say was Mr. Esling from Rossland, the terror of the opposition. The premier couldn't say a word, sir, but Mr. Esling had some record or figure to dispute it. If the premier had said it was a fine day, sir, I don't miscount but Mr. Esling could have proved by the journals of the house that it was the rainiest day in twenty years. The P.G.E. was Mr. Esling's dish, as you might say, sir. Contractors' commissions and original costs and unit prices, he used to hurl them at the house until our heads would swim. When he was finished you didn't know whether the P.G.E. was a railway, or an Einstein theory of relativity. The premier just naturally couldn't stomach Mr. Esling's talk about the P.G.E. and he'd turn on him with a roar like a lion on a puppy. And as they was the only two who knew what it was all about, the rest of the house sat back and enjoyed it through. We'll miss all that, sir, but we'll save a lot of time."

A FIGHTING SCOT

"Down in the far corner, sir, was fighting Sam Guthrie. A red headed Scotch miner was Sam, sir, and he used to see red quite regular. When he got onto the wrongs of us workers, sir, he would roll his 's so fast you would expect him to sprawl over them on the floor. The galleries used to think he was on the verge of murder, but when he was finished he'd stroll out into the lobby and enjoy a joke with what he called the representatives of the Master Class as jovial as anyone, sir."

NOTHING WORRIED FARRIS

"Over on the Liberal side, too, sir, there is a lot of the old boys missing, heaven rest them. Right thro in the centre, sir, was Mr. Farris's seat. Used to sit back in his chair, did Mr. Farris, until you'd hold your breath expecting him to fall backward into the lap of the man behind. And he'd wind up his legs like a cork-crew, sir, until you'd get a stiff neck trying to figure out how he did it. I used to have a sickening idea down inside me that he'd stay that way some day. But that didn't worry Mr. Farris. Neither did anything for matter of fact. After he'd retired from the government he used to sit by complacently grinning from ear to ear and enjoying the whole thing as if it was a circus. I always had an idea, sir, that Mr. Farris used to get a great kick out of seeing Mr. Manson doing all the hard work he

CAR PLUNGES OFF NICKLE PLATE ROAD

New Road to Mine Scene of a Bad
 Accident—Driver in Hospital.

J. Bowden of Penticton suffered severe injuries to his mouth, nose and leg when his car went off the Nickle Plate road about three miles west of the Le Lievre ranch. Three others in the car with him, H. Bawtenheimer, W. G. Gaines and K. Kidd, escaped with minor injuries.

The road is a new one and narrow, leading up to the mine above the mill at Hedley at quite an elevation and was covered with snow. The accident occurred on Sunday the 9th, when Mr. Bowden was negotiating a sharp turn in the road and it is thought the bright sun on the snow and windshield partially blinded him, as he failed to turn sufficiently to keep the car on the road. With its occupants, the car turned over three times in a fall of some fifty feet. The car, the property of F. H. Bassett, Penticton, was badly damaged.

AN EPIC OF WEST IS JAMES CRUZE'S FINE PRODUCTION

"The Covered Wagon" Bristles with Dramatic Scenes that Thrill.

A magnificent epic of the early west is James Cruze's latest production, "The Covered Wagon," which will be the feature at the Rialto Theatre on Monday and Tuesday next. This is a picturization of Emerson Hough's novel of the same name, and it is said to be one of the greatest photoplays ever seen on the screen.

The features embraced in this story are many and varied and include among others, the start of 350 covered wagons from Westport Landing (now Kansas City), in 1848. The horrors of fording freshet rivers, prairie and the like are depicted with great realism. A buffalo hunt is one of the most exciting scenes. Old Fort Bridger with a night attack and fight by day with Indians, are shown. The dividing of the trails to Oregon and California at old Fort Hall, a touch of the gold fever in California, magnificent mountain shots and a culmination of the romance with the establishment of one of the first homesteads in Oregon—these are all incidents in a picture that bristles with big scenes.

Such historical characters as Kit Carson, Jim Bridger and Bill Jackson, scouts and typical western characters, are portrayed in the screen version of the novel, which is conceded to be one of the most notable literary achievements of the present decade.

$200 REVENUE FROM ONE CHERRY TREE

A cherry tree in the orchard of a B. C. grower well known to Farm and Home, but who prefers his name shall not be mentioned, yielded from one-half of the tree, 64 boxes, each shipped at 10 pounds weight, at $2 per box, according to that paper.

The other half of this tree yielded a different variety of cherry, due to grafting. The yield from that half brought the total net receipts from the one tree to well over $200.

During blossom time the tree was covered with busy bees—in fact there were two almost continuous wall decorated lines of bees between adjacent bee colonies and the tree — going and coming.

McDONALD, ALAS!

"And there is Dr. McDonald's seat! Alas and alas! There was Dr. McDonald a-sitting as pretty as you like and as dapper and neat as an oyster in the half shell when the electors up and turned him out!

"Beside him used to be Mr. Whiteside of New Westminster, sir. If ever there was a strong silent man outside of books it was him, sir. He spoke so seldom and so quiet-like, almost in a whisper, that the house used to sit on the edge of its chairs to listen to him. He could raise more sensation in one minute with that whisper of his than half a dozen screeching politicians could raise in ten years. Each word was liable to carry a sluck of dynamite, sir, if he was talking on ticklish things like beer and the P. G. E., sir. He's gone, too, sir, sick of the game they say."

WIND DRIVES S.S. SICAMOUS ASHORE
 Northernly Gale at Penticton Puts Big Boat on Sand Bar.

The S.S. Sicamous experienced much difficulty in making the wharf at Penticton on Tuesday night of last week. There was a strong wind blowing down the lake and the boat was unusually late, it being nearly nine o'clock when she reached here. When approaching the wharf at Penticton the wind caught her and swung her around and she grounded, a short distance from the wharf. It was not until after twelve that she was docked by means of cables stretched from bow and stern to the wharf and drawn in little by little by the hand capstan in the bow of the boat.

Inspector De Long visited the local high school on Tuesday and made a test of the pupils for general intelligence. All the pupils are tested on two or three subjects and further tests are applied to others.

This work is part of the survey being made by the educational system of this province.

The inspector went up the Valley from here but will spend another hour or two at the high school on Friday.

which the people were too poor to support, but he found there a government liquor store which sold $75,000 worth of liquor in a year.

He referred to a recent conference in England, the report on which emphasized the importance of the mother tongue as the foundation of work in the preliminary schools.

On the subject of general information, the school can arouse pupils and encourage them to read current events. We must do more to engender the habit of reading than is done by the text books.

Government Control

W. C. Kelley asked if there had been much discussion before the commission on the subject of the government taking over entirely the financing of the schools.

Mr. Kelley expressed himself as opposed to giving up any local control that the communities now have on school work.

Question of Taxation

It would appear from a further discussion of this subject that the desire to lessen the burden of taxes was the sole reason for the municipalities asking the government to take over the schools.

Some Escape Tax

Other places, as well as Summerland, have the problem of the man who buys a small parcel of land, puts up a pretentious house and has his several children educated practically free.

Fewer Subjects Taught

In reply to a criticism that too many subjects were being taught Dr. Putnam stated that there were not as many subjects taught in the Summerland schools as he had found in most places.

and bookkeeping, while important, does not hold the same place as these other studies. The chairwoman of the school board, Mrs. Dryden, being absent, had left a letter containing some suggestions.

Homework

Homework was another contentious subject and it was apparent that many thought that the pupils were being given too much homework.

Text Books

Frequent changing of textbooks and their cost came up for discussion and the commissioners stated that they proposed to ask the government to deal very positively with the cost to parents of textbooks.

Naramata Growers Hear President of Associated On Work of Organization

Members Vote Five Thousand Dollars For Additional Local Capital — To Stop Loss of Tonnage and Packages Through Bootlegging — Approve Proposed Legislation to Strengthen Association Contract — Growers Are in Optimistic Mood.

An atmosphere of general satisfaction was noticeable at the Co-operative Growers' meeting held in the Naramata Hall on Saturday afternoon to discuss various matters named on the agenda, and to hear Mr. E. J. Chambers, president of the Associated, on the season's operations. Mr. F. W. Rolt presided and was supported by Messrs. W. S. Young and Hancock, directors.

Capital levy on current returns was the first question discussed, the directors suggesting a levy of 10 per cent. on net receipts for the season. It was pointed out that the maximum total fixed last year was $8,000, which held unless modified by subsequent resolution. The amount finally fixed by the meeting for the present year was $5,000.

Advisability of purchasing the local packing house was debated, and laid aside until later in the meeting, the president proceeding to report on other matters, one of which was a decided reduction in the total overages, last year's figures being reduced by one half.

Accounts Well Kept

The auditor's report showed a satisfactory keeping of accounts, but the payment of members' fees to the B.C.F.G.A. was criticized as being out of order, and the president thought that would have to be discontinued.

Notice was given that, up to a date which would be announced, all surplus boxes in the possession of growers would be collected free of expense to them, but later returns would be at individual charges.

Referring to the subject of bootlegging, it was stated that a list of twelve names had been handed in as being under suspicion, but only four had been actually proved. However, the twelve growers reported (the names not being divulged to the meeting) had this year sent down 4,600 boxes only, as against 14,000 boxes last season, and this represented a very serious leakage. It also meant a considerable wastage in boxes belonging to the co-operative, many having been found in Penticton stores and recovered by the speaker.

Prompt Payments

The meeting went on record as appreciating the promptness of payments on account of sales shown by the Associated this season, after which the chairman called upon Mr. Chambers to speak.

Mr. Chambers said he had been handed a draft of some matters which would be of interest to the gathering, and would touch on them in their order, afterwards replying to any questions which might be asked.

Referring to the subject of the security to be issued to stockholders from the head office he stated that these were now being prepared and would be sent out shortly.

Touching on marketing conditions he stated the chief difficulty had been in the placing of extra fancy grades, there being an increasing demand for moderate sized apples. There (Continued on back page)

Several Camps in Operation on Kamloops-Kelowna Branch.

Construction work on the Kamloops-Kelowna branch of the C.N.R. is proceeding at all possible speed, according to Kamloops and northern Okanagan papers. R. PARKE NOW ON ASSOCIATED BOARD

A. M. Dollar, Vancouver, has resigned his position as director of the Associated Growers of B. C. Limited, and R. Parke, manager of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, has been appointed to the position. Mr. Dollar withdrew because of business pressure which would not permit his giving time to the work of growers. He was on the board as representative of the Associated Boards of Trade of B.C. and it was by this organization that his successor was appointed.

WANTS IRRIGATION DITCH REPAIRED

J. McDougald has written the municipal council, pointing out the bad condition of the ditch in two places near his property, asking that it be repaired. He claims that a big saving in water could be effected. He believed that the water lost here was contributing to the slides on the shore road, but the reeve and other members of the council were confident that the water from the point designated could not reach the site of the slide.

Decision of M. G. Wilson Trustee For O.U.G. Upheld By Court In Pink Note Case

Justice D. A. McDonald has upheld the ruling of Mr. M. G. Wilson, trustee for O.U.G. Ltd., with respect to the claims of holders of "pink notes" issued by the O.U.G. and has dismissed the appeal of the Dominion Bank against the ruling of Mr. Wilson.

The motions of the Dominion Bank to expunge the proofs of claim of the Summerland Fruit Union and also of Lord Woolavington, Coldstream Ranch, were argued before Justice McDonald yesterday in the supreme court bankruptcy division in Vancouver, when motions in both cases were dismissed.

Counsel were A. Alexander for Dominion Bank and E. C. Mayers and K. M. Elliott for Summerland Fruit Union and Lord Woolavington, Coldstream Ranch.

An appeal by the bank is probable. These were in the nature of test cases one relating to an indebtedness of the O.U.G. to a local and in the other case to a grower and the outcome has a very material bearing on the value of the notes held by locals and individuals.

COUNCIL AWARDS ICE CUTTING PRIVILEGE

On condition that he commence cutting ice when it is twelve inches thick, the municipal council agreed on Monday to allow R. Mitchell to cut ice on the reservoir in Prairie Valley. He is not permitted to charge more than $1.15 a ton for the ice on the shore and will pay the municipality 30 cents a ton.

ADDING TO HIS GREENHOUSE PLANT

A. McLachlan Going More Extensively Into Farming Under Glass.

With the intention of going more extensively into hothouse work, A. McLachlan is making preparations to add about 6,000 square feet to his glass house space. Including the additions to his plant which Mr. McLachlan made a year ago, he already has between 12,000 and 15,000 square foot under glass. The proposed addition will thus increase his hothouse capacity by about fifty per cent.

He will go more extensively into the production of hot house cucumbers and will add a new line, tomatoes. Mr. McLachlan is also growing chrysanthemums for outside markets.

W. L. MACKEN NOT TO BE ENGAGED BY ASSOCIATED

Absolutely No Truth in Coast Story that He Is to Be Manager.

WAS ASKED TO MAKE SURVEY

But Cost Considered Prohibitive By Directors, Says Reliable Authority

"Absolutely nothing to it," was the answer given The Review by a director of the Associated when asked if there was any truth in the report that W. L. Macken, president of the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia, was to be made general manager of the Associated Growers of B.C. Limited.

A Vancouver farm weekly in its leading editorial last week announced that "W. L. Macken will become general manager of the Associated Growers if the insistent demands of the members prevail."

Mr. Macken, who is prominent in the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' organization, was approached by the directors of the Associated, to learn if he would undertake to make a survey of the whole organization, including the locals. It is said that he consented but put such a high value on his services that the board decided not to employ him.

There has been no thought, whatever, we are assured, of appointing Mr. Macken to the position of general manager of the big organization of fruit growers.

TAKE CENSUS OF LIVE STOCK

Valuable Compilation of Figures Made by Public School.

Summerland school children in Divisions one to six inclusive have just completed an intensely interesting, instructive and valuable piece of work in connection with the subject of nature study prescribed by the department for those grades. The official program makes the method of instruction optional with the teacher. The old form of teaching nature study by keeping the pupil at his desk, listening to a discourse from the teacher and on which he is required to make notes, may be followed, but the best authorities advise a more practical method and this is recommended by the program for elementary schools, 1924-1925.

With the assistance of Mr. B. Robinson, instructor in agriculture, Principal MacDonald adopted the latter method and the results have been most satisfactory.

For the particular work referred to, pupils in grades 7 and 8 were given a supply of blank cardboard and paper and were instructed to collectively learn the number of cattle, horses and pigs within the municipal limits and to classify them under several headings. Each was required to put the results down in a book which he or she was to make from the card and paper material furnished. Many of these books, which have been handed in, show considerable ingenuity and taste in arranging the figures and graphs, many of them being appropriately illustrated with pictures of animals.

Being Judged

The best of these books were picked out and have been forwarded to Victoria to Mr. J. W. Gibson, director of elementary agricultural education. There they will be judged and prizes awarded. Three pure bred Berkshire pigs from the Experimental Farm here will be given as prizes, one to each class covering the horses, cattle and pigs.

For the purpose of gathering the figures, the municipality was divided into several districts, each allotted to a group of students, which they were required to cover and gather the required information. The teachers suggested methods of laying out (Continued on back page)

GOES TO VICTORIA TO SUPPORT BILL

G. I. Gray, president of the Summerland Co-operative, went down to Victoria on Tuesday. The president of the Associated, E. J. Chambers, the vice president, A. T. Howe, and the presidents of all the affiliated locals assembled at the capital this week to support the Associated's private bill for some amendments to its contract. It was expected that the bill would come before the select committee of the House today.

It is learned from the upper end of the Valley that opposition to the bill have employed counsel to fight it in the House.

M. STEUART ADDS TO HIS ORCHARD HOLDINGS

Muir Steuart has purchased the F. W. Clingan orchard on Jones Flat. Mr. Clingan was down from Salmon Arm a few days ago, when the deal was closed. Mr. Steuart states that he is only indirectly concerned in the sale, made by Capt. W. V. B. Webb, recently of nine acres of his orchard property. H. Read is the real purchaser of this latter orchard.

Claim Curriculum Is Not Narrower In Summerland School Than Elsewhere

Program Prescribed by Department of Education Does Not Permit Eliminating Subjects — Only Two Extra Provided and Are Optional — More than Average Number of Pupils Given Music — Some Interesting Comparisons.

Dr. Putnam of the educational survey commission, while here last week, made the statement that fewer subjects were being taught in the Summerland schools than in most schools he had visited. This and his reference to the lack of teaching of sewing and music is believed by some of our school authorities to have left a wrong impression on the minds of many who attended the public meeting on Monday of last week.

The program prescribed by the Department of Education provides ten subjects which are compulsory and only two additional subjects, both of which are optional. These latter are sewing and music. Of course such subjects as manual training and domestic science may or may not be added, but in these cases additional instructors must be engaged. The above ten required and two optional subjects are for the regular teaching staff.

Music Taught

The Review is informed that music is now taught in four divisions of the public school and Principal MacDonald and his staff have been considering the subject of sewing and it may be that this subject will be taken up later in the year.

Comparison of the Summerland schools with B.C. schools generally is interesting. The following information is gleaned from the annual report issued by the Department of Education, these figures being taken from the 1923 blue book.

Of 337 pupils, 193 Summerland children were taught music. This is over 57 per cent. The city schools throughout the province had a total enrollment of 41,174. Of these 30,975 had some instruction in music; this is roughly 75 per cent.

Few Get Sewing

Girls attending city schools totalled 20,086. Sewing may be taught in six grades, or say, to 15,000 pupils. Of this number only 6,673 were given sewing lessons.

Taking up municipal schools we find a total attendance throughout the province of 25,733. Of these 12,928, practically 50 per cent, were taught music. So Summerland's 57 per cent compares well with the average.

Girls in all municipal schools totalled 12,446. Those in the six grades, who might be taught sewing would be about 9,800. Of these 3,521, about 38 per cent, received instruction in sewing.

In rural schools with an enrollment of 18,761 music was taught to 5,798 and of nearly 6,000 who were eligible for sewing instruction, only 22 were given lessons in this art.

As ours is a consolidated school it is necessary in making comparisons that we use the statistics covering the smaller city schools rather than those of rural municipalities. Looking further into the annual school report we find that none of the following take up sewing: Cumberland, 13 divisions; Fernie, 22 divisions; Kamloops, 20 divisions; Grand Forks, 11 divisions; Ladysmith, 12 divisions; Merritt, 10 divisions.

Moyes, Summerland, secretary; M. Tait, Summerland, H. B. Morley, Penticton and Geo. Clarke, Chilliwack, directors.

Engineer Killed, Four Men Injured When K.V.R. Train Ditched By Defective Rail

K. V. R. westbound express due here at noon on Wednesday was wrecked about six-thirty that morning one mile east of Beaverdell, causing the death of the engineer, John Crosby, and serious injuries to Conductor Joseph P. Cates. Crosby was scalded from head to foot; his fireman escaped. Albert Heils, who was stealing a ride on the tender, had both legs broken. Express messenger O. L. Anderson suffered injuries to his back and leg and E. S. Earuchers of Vancouver received a cut on his left hand.

The train was running at about twenty-five miles an hour when it struck a defective rail. Engine and tender rolled over on their sides on the left of the track. All the cars left the rails, remaining at various angles on the grade.

Medical aid and the wife of the engineer were rushed from Penticton to the scene of the accident on the eastbound train and further help was obtained from Greenwood. Engineer Crosby had died before his wife reached his side. The injured were removed to Greenwood hospital.

Telegraph wires were broken by the wreck and communication was uncertain and difficult. The track was badly torn up and passengers, mail, etc. on No. 12 eastbound were transferred at the scene of the wreck to the train laid up on the other side. It was not until about ten-thirty last night that the westbound train reached the local station.

GIVES LESSONS ON POULTRY

Head of Farm Poultry Branch in Charge of Extension Class.

Douglas Donny, head of the poultry department at the experimental station, was in charge of the class on poultry held on Saturday last, the first of the extension classes held under the supervision of the Summerland school board to be held in the municipality. So well received was the course of instruction that arrangements are being made to hold another class on the same subject for women.

Other classes will be held from time to time covering various subjects. Any appropriate line in which a sufficient number of citizens may be interested will be taken up; for instance, instruction on siling and setting of saws is one which is being contemplated.

The class in poultry last Saturday first went to S. Scott's, where Mr. Donny gave instruction on culling of poultry. From there they went to the experimental farm, where a demonstration was given on killing, plucking and dressing. Mr. Donny is exceptionally good at this work, being able to kill, pluck and dress a bird in an incredibly short time.

COMPLAINS OF BREAK IN ROAD

In a letter from the Soldier's Settlement Board, that organization passed on to the municipality the complaint of F. S. Neve that a road which had been destroyed by a slide had not been repaired. The question of responsibility in this case was discussed. The matter will be reported on further by the roads committee.

WEMBLEY AND B.C. FRUIT.

Commenting on the pronouncement of Premier Baldwin in favor of re-opening the Wembley fair, the Vancouver Province says:

"The decision should be encouraging to the British Columbia apple growers. Mr. A. W. Tolmie, the Canadian exhibition commissioner, has stated that the fair will have the result of almost doubling the apple business between Great Britain and Canada."

Advertising is a cumulative thing. The more you get of it the easier it is to get more. But if the interest once fails, it is very difficult to recover it.

There is a great market in Britain for Okanagan and Kootenay apples; but there is an even wider market on the Continent, and this can be interested, more or less, through the British Isles.

JUST LIKE MEASLES.

Vernon is in the throes of another threat to "bring in another newspaper."

Men cannot help it. It comes as regular as the measles. Like neighbor's children who have played together from the cradle up, Maud imagines Kitty to have slighted her and Maud pulls a nose at Kate and vows she'll get some other kid to play in her back yard—slide down her cellar door.

This one-millionth threat to "bring in another newspaper" was made in public council meeting by one of the aldermen who read a lengthy protest which he said was backed by twenty people.

Men who have been in the newspaper business any number of years sneaker when this threat is made. They know. They know the quickest way to get rid of measles is to have measles. They know what it costs to run a newspaper; they know how reluctant those men who "bring in another newspaper" are to support it after it is "in"; they know it is a penalty forced upon the community by a few hot heads or party heaters, who desert it like rats on a sinking ship when the pinch comes.

Villagers putting on city airs may work to "bring in another newspaper," but what would they have that newspaper do after they "bring it in"?—Commoner, Enderby.

A PREFERRED POSITION The Heavy Odds in Favor of the Canadian Farmer.

It is something new that farmers in North Dakota and Minnesota should be smuggling wheat across the border to sell at the higher price prevailing on this side of the line. In former years the clandestine movement has been in the other direction. Chicago is now setting the price of wheat on this continent. The buyers there led the way in the phenomenal rise during mid-summer. But Canadian traders are now out-bidding them and the Canadian farmer is getting more money for his grain than are his contemporaries across the boundary.

Member For South Okanagan Scoffs at McLean's Budget

Mr. J. W. Jones Is Chief Financial Critic for Opposition — Says Failure to Reduce Taxes Is Breach of Election Promise — Discounts Assets Such as Oliver-Osoyooos Project — Reminds Premier of Promise to Remove Tax on Fruit Trees.

Hon. Dr. J. D. MacLean's 1925-26 Budget, read in the British Columbia Legislature on Monday, was the target for scathing criticism on the part of Mr. J. W. Jones, Conservative member for South Okanagan, says The Victoria Colonist.

Forced by Election

Dr. MacLean's promised economies, said Mr. Jones, were forced by the election campaign, but failure to bring down corresponding tax reductions were a breach of election promises, he said.

The minister's proposal to remove taxation questions from political discussion was a novel idea, he said, in view of the fact that fiscal matters were the chief item of public business.

Dealing with the balance sheet, Mr. Jones disputed the value of $12,000,000 worth of assets counted as face value by the Minister of Finance.

The minister's claim to a balanced budget was not worth a snap of the fingers, he declared. Such things had been promised before, he said, but the public accounts just tabled showed how lightly such calculations were made in advance and how impossible they were of fulfillment.

"In face of that the estimated reduction of a million dollars is not worth that!" he exclaimed. He stated that about half the reduction in expenditures was accounted for by cutting out an item of $460,000 for mother's pensions, but this cut was purely fictitious, as the money was to be paid out of liquor profits which would be depleted as a source of revenue to that amount.

"The widows and mothers are to get their pensions from liquor money," exclaimed the member.

"I think that is very fitting," commented Premier Oliver.

"When that remark is quoted the minister will conveniently forget that he ever said it," replied Mr. Jones.

The tremendous debt piled up by the Government required no less than 30 per cent of the total revenue to meet interest and sinking fund, said Mr. Jones, but the amount appropriated to the industry of agriculture was only two per cent. In eight years the government had gathered in $125,300,000 revenue and had borrowed $50,500,000, a total expenditure of $184,900,000.

Beltless Credit Claims

Dr. MacLean's claims for the high credit of the Province were belittled by Mr. Jones, who cited figures of other provinces selling bonds at the same time as British Columbia for the same or lower prices during the past year.

claimed great credit for its road building.

"Do they claim credit for the part of a road built in my riding just prior to the election, where the twenty workmen were promised a job until Christmas if they voted Liberal, yet were all dismissed within a few hours after they cast their ballots and not a tap has been done on the road since?" he asked.

The finance minister's debt figures were disputed. Mr. Jones gave the gross debt as $96,000,000, including the P.G.E. bond guarantee and the net debt as $62,700,000, an increase of more than 300 per cent since the Government took office.

The best evidence of this, he said, was that in 1916 the people were required to vote only $1,400,000 for interest and sinking fund, whereas in the current budget they were asked for $5,500,000. He was proud to know that the sinking fund was in good shape, but declared that there was no sinking fund for $22,000,000 of the debt, of which $11,000,000 matured next year and $8,000,000 the year after.

Speaking of the proposed loan bill, Mr. Jones asked if the $300,000 required for the Sumas scheme was for the purpose of settling with the contractors who were threatening a lawsuit.

Scores Major Martyn

In denying the Government's right to treat $15,000,000 of so-called revenue-producing debt as deduction from gross debt, Mr. Jones said that the $1,200,000 of industrial loans were $297,000 overdue and urged that civil service reductions include Don B. Martyn, head of that department, who was not only incompetent, he declared, but had refused the public accounts committee access to the auditor's report of his department.

The $2,000,000 conservation fund was also not revenue producing, the minister having been forced to grant a moratorium which would have to be extended still further, he said.

"The only policy represented in this loan," stated Mr. Jones, "was the penurious banking policy of making a loan and then demanding the full pound of flesh. That will never put the fruit industry on its feet."

The error of it, he charged, was made manifest in the Oliver colony where the Government had not attempted to collect full rates from the settlers.

Sumas was another account not earning revenue, he said. Estimated to cost $1,182,000 it had cost $3,100,000 and a lawsuit was threatening from the contractors for still more money.

"Pattullo's Folly"
The South Okanagan project he described as "Pattullo's Folly." Estimated to cost less than $1,000,000, it had cost $3,000,000 to date, not counting accrued interest, and the minister had not been able to sell an acre this year.

The member for South Okanagan charged Premier Oliver with repudi-

ORIGIN OF WESTERN MONEY TERM "BIT"

Many of us who came from the east or the Old Country were a bit puzzled by the term "bit" used in connection with currency. Just what the merchant meant when he asked two, four or six "bits" for an article was hard to understand.

The origin of the term "bit" goes back even farther than that. A "five penny bit" (five penny bit) was really the 12 1/2 cents unit derived from the old Spanish real, or one-eighth of a dollar, long used for computation and pricing in New Orleans, California, and most seacoast towns.

Premier's Protest
Premier Oliver denied that he had given any definite promises respecting the tax on fruit trees, and his statement was met with a direct assertion that he had done so many times and that the failure of the Government to afford relief to the fruit growers was palpable repudiation.

The dry belt, said Mr. Jones, was the most heavily taxed area in the Province.

Referring to the personal property tax, the member for South Okanagan characterized it as being unjust, unscientific and burdensome. At the instigation of the opposition the tax was reduced 50 per cent last year, he said, after a fight, waged against it for two years.

Mr. Jones read a number of telegrams which had been received from business associations in various sections of the Province denouncing the tax and urging that relief measures be adopted.

SHIP BOOZE IN CAR OF WOOD

Car Loaded at Bridesville, B.C. With Fire Wood Carried Quantity Contraband.

Wenatchee Daily World publishes the following story on the arrival at Entiat, a small town a few miles this side of Wenatchee, of a car load of wood from Bridesville and which contained 65 cases of Scotch whiskey.

A new way of bringing contraband booze into the United States was discovered at Entiat when G. F. Worby, a wood and coal dealer, went down to the railroad siding to unload the last of a carload of wood which he had bought from a man who gave the name of J. T. Daley.

He had unloaded a part of the carload and when he went back for the remainder he found no less than 65 empty whiskey cases scattered around both in and outside the car and very little wood left. The half of the car which he supposed was occupied by wood was evidently taken up by the 65 cases of scotch.

Sold Wood Cheap

About three weeks ago, two men called Mr. Worby and made him a very attractive price on a carload of wood which they promised to deliver to him on the Entiat siding. On Saturday they announced that the wood had arrived and asked him to come down and look at it.

When he had part of the car unloaded the sellers came to him and said they had a deal on with another man for the remainder of the wood at a better price and asked him if he would wait until Monday to dispose of the rest.

Stop Unloading

Later they notified him that the other deal was off and said he could have the rest of the wood at the same price he had paid.

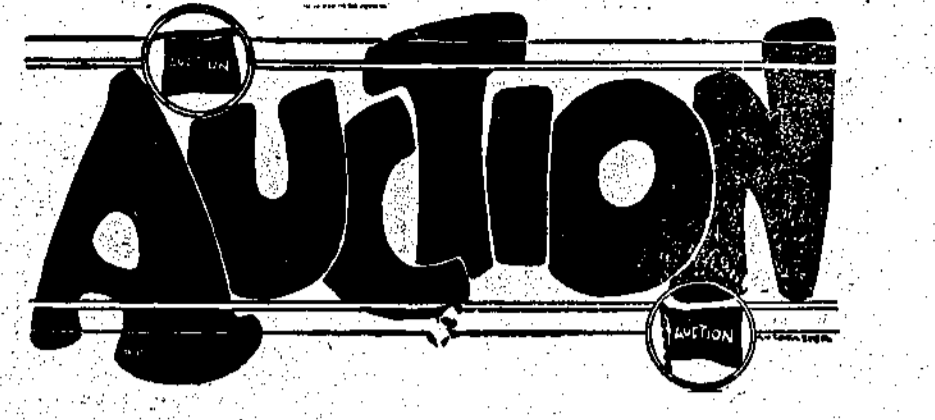

On Monday morning he took his truck down to get the rest of the wood and found only a few sticks left. The 65 cases all came from a government liquor store in British Columbia and were marked with the name of the brand and manufacturer.

The car was loaded at Bridesville, just across the line in British Columbia on the Molson Branch of the Great Northern and was filled originally to Tonasket, being consigned to Entiat. Just how the booze was loaded on the car in Bridesville is unknown or how the owners got it off, but it is certain that they got away with it and will undoubtedly be able to supply the holiday trade in this part of the state.

Collected Walking Sticks

There is some speculation as to what Queen Alexandra will do with a collection of the late King Edward's walking canes, when she returns to Marlborough House. A large rack contains the favorite canes used by the King, which typify the story of the walking stick in the last century. He was rarely seen without one, and always brought back a few from his many visits abroad.

The Pedlar's Pack

By AUTOLYCUS

In an article on the American West the entire fraternity, because they Mr. Gareth Garrett entertains his S. have "tempted the west to sell itself E.P. readers with some interesting details of what is known as the tourist industry. He estimates that approximately two million auto-tourists spend a good part of their time in speeding around the country and enjoying the hospitality of the American government in the national parks, or the eagerly proffered accommodation of the many towns and cities lying on their way. He gives a vivid picture of the various inducements held out by different places in order to attract these travellers, rising to a height where hot and cold water and free electric current for cooking, washing and ironing are provided. The reader gets an impression of a whole people on wheels in a quest for motion and constant change. He also finds that many of those communities which a year or two ago looked upon the tourist industry as one to be sought after and cherished above all others, are now beginning to have their doubts as to its desirability. Not only that, but the greater the hospitality offered them, the greater grew their expectations. The result is that many towns have grown weary in well doing, and some are thinking of turning their camps over to private enterprise. To put the matter plainly, they have decided that, as a commercial proposition the tourist traffic is a comparative failure, and they are tired of it.

The long suffering reader of these notes is well aware that I have never been enthusiastic about what I have always considered the tourist traffic craze. Over a year ago I unburdened my soul concerning the inherent lack of dignity which was necessarily revealed by an over anxious endeavor to attract tourists, and, I think, incurred some mild disapproval by objecting to the turning of our natural attractions into mere peepshows. I am therefore rather amused to read of the old lady of Wyoming, who, while catering to passing tourists as a matter of necessity, relieves her feelings by "hurling maledictions" on quility and peacefulness in the Emerald Isle itself. Long may it continue!

With one hundred per cent increase in municipal outlay on education in British Columbia during the last seven years, and an increase of half as much more in the provincial grants, there is a very natural searching of hearts concerning the situation. The Union of B.C. Municipalities is apparently of the opinion that the matter can be settled to general satisfaction by the assumption of the whole business by the provincial government in return for a surrender of certain grants now received from various sources. On the face of it, this seems like a desire to shift a burden which has got too heavy, and is open to criticism on the ground of weakness. There is, however, a redeeming element to be considered. Municipalities are at present in the hands of their school boards where expenditure is concerned, and this is not good business. The position of a civic body which has to provide whatever money its school trustees demand, and has no voice in control of expenditure, is certainly not a happy one, and it is very easy to excuse a wish for release. There may be strong arguments in favor of the school being supreme in its own domain, but they certainly do not improve the situation from the municipality's point of view. Theoretically, the plan of state control of education is ideal—the trouble is that under present conditions it seems out of the question. When we have attained that serene level when all such matters are safe from political juggling, state control may come as a matter of course, but that day is not yet.

In the meantime, there seems to be general avoidance of the feature which is chiefly responsible for the situation. I have not noticed from our legislators any particular protest against the extravagant policy which has doubled school costs in seven years, although that is the real source of the trouble. Every now and then some angry ratepayer writes a letter to the paper complaining of certain frills and furbelows in the curriculum, and usually makes out a very good case for his complaint, but nothing is done. On the contrary, we seem to be always thinking up some fresh fad to absorb a little more money. I know of a recent instance where the school trustees of a community of less than three hundred people were handed a bill of approximately $800 for a series of lessons in art pottery and the weaving of baskets, and although they very properly refused to pay such a preposterous charge, the episode is evidence of a tendency to burden the school course with subjects out of all reason. It looks as though our educational system is a little top-heavy, and would be better for some reducing.

The REVIEW SUMMERLAND

represents a big investment in machinery, type and equipment.

It is manned by a staff of local citizens who spend their earnings at home.

Its existence here means the bringing into the community of many "outside" dollars for advertising and printing, — a source of community revenue perhaps overlooked.

But it is absolutely essential to its existence that such a plant be kept busy — that little printing order means much to us — that order that we should have had — but — well — you thought you'd make something else do.

OUR PLACE IN THE COMMUNITY To give publicity to community events and affairs. To provide the community's needed printed material.

WAS FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING

Popular Doctor and His Wife Surprised by Public Presentation. An event of more than usual interest took place in the Parish Hall at the close of the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary, when Dr. and Mrs. Andrew were the recipients of an address and presentation in honor of their fifteenth wedding anniversary. The hall was crowded to its capacity when Dr. and Mrs. Andrew arrived, the company instantly arising and greeting their arrival with "For they are jolly good fellows." Both were completely taken by surprise and their discomfiture was very manifest. Mrs. Solly read an address of appreciation and good wishes of the entire community to the popular couple and asked their acceptance of an attractive china tea service. This was arranged on a table concealed by curtains, which were then drawn back and the service presented by Mrs. Stark and Mrs. Munn. On the table was also a beautiful three-storey wedding cake made by Mrs. Walden. The doctor briefly and feelingly replied, acknowledging the gift and good wishes, alluding to their many friends and the kindnesses received during their residence in the district. Tea was served and an enjoyable half hour was spent by all present. Testifying to Dr. and Mrs. Andrew's popularity, the presentation was contributed to by over 450 citizens.

Ed. note.—Probably through an oversight The Review was not advised of the date of this event and is indebted to a subscriber for the above report. We regret it was not our privilege to be present and if we were missed by the principals, we hope this explanation will suffice. It was not until a late hour Thursday afternoon that we received the report and are forced to carry the text of the address over to the next issue.

GIVES INTERESTING LECTURE ON INDIANS

Jack Logie Has Much Information on Subject—Going to Kelowna. J. W. S. Logie gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on the "Indians of Canada" on Wednesday evening of last week in the public school building. It was regrettable that there were not more present to hear Mr. Logie on this subject, to which he has given a great deal of study. On December 9th Mr. Logie goes to Kelowna, where he will give a similar lecture before the school children of that city during the afternoon, and in the evening will speak on the same subject before the Parent-Teachers Association. Mr. Logie treated the subject largely from an historical point of view, showing how the aborigines had formed themselves into natural groups all the way across the country, which was divided into larger areas according to language. The continent was also divided into several areas in accordance with source of the chief sustenance, there being the caribou,

GAYTON LEADS AT BRANDON

Summerland Man Maintains Record in Athletics Studying Hard. Under a two-column head in a Brandon paper referring to the Brandon College track and field meet held there recently, features largely the outstanding performances of Warren Gayton, a Summerland young man now student at that institution, who is well maintaining the honors of Summerland and extending the reputation established for himself here as an all round athlete. Taking seven first in as many events, Warren won the senior aggregate medal as well as the individual championship. In part the article reads: "Warren Gayton, husky basketballer, displayed an all round ability that won him seven firsts in as many events. Only a very soft track and slippery approaches to the jumps prevented this star from sending numerous records by the boards. Gayton with 35 points to his credit, was followed by Stade, 20 points, and Campbell, 19 points." And again: "Warren Gayton received the senior grand aggregate medal, the open 220 yard dash medal, and is made holder of the individual championship for one year."

The following is a list of the events in which he took first place: 100 yds. dash, 11 1-10 sec.; high hurdles, 19 4-5 sec.; 220 yards dash, 24 7-10 sec.; shot put, 31 ft. 2 1/2 ins.; low hurdles, 30 3-5 sec.; running broad jump, 16 ft. 1 1/2 ins.; hop, step and jump, 37 ft. 2 1/2 ins. Owing to overcrowding of the school, a recent test was made to judge the standing of the students, and in this test, Warren and Joe Gayton obtained the required standing in every subject.

The speaker also described the several methods of transportation, describing the different conveyances such as boats, canoes, dugouts, and the methods used by the Indians in carrying burdens. Their domestic animals, weapons, textile and other arts, styles of housing, their games, were all briefly dwelt upon by the lecturer. Mr. Logie also described the potlatch and other of their long established customs. Referring to mythology and legends, the speaker told of the belief of the Indians in different parts of the country in the supernatural powers of certain animals. In the east it was the rabbit, on the prairies and in the mountains, the coyote, and on the north Pacific coast the raven.

Mr. Benmore is very enthusiastic over the result of this first practice, which he pronounced the most successful of any initial practice he had ever attended.

LOWERING FEE OF REAL ESTATE AGENTS

Real estate agents in small communities will be required to pay a provincial license fee of twenty-five dollars instead of fifty if the bill introduced in the House last Friday by the Minister of Finance goes through. The reason given for the reduction in the fee for real estate agents in the small towns is that most of them are also paying licenses as fire and life insurance agents.

FAVORITE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS

"ROCK OF AGES" An illiterate man may be instrumental in leading a scholar from doubt to faith. This was exemplified in the experience of Augustus Montague Toplady, the author of this famous hymn, "Rock of Ages." His father, Major Toplady, was killed at the siege of Carthage, when his son was only a few months old. The boy was trained at Westminster School, and later at Trinity College, Dublin, but he was far from being in a settled state of mind regarding religion. His conversion took place in Ireland, and under very remarkable circumstances. He wrote: "Strange that I, who had for so long sat under the means of grace in England should be brought right unto God in an obscure part of Ireland, amidst a handful of people met together in a barn, and by the ministry of one who could hardly spell his own name. Surely, it was the Lord's doing, and is marvellous in our eyes." Toplady was ordained in 1762, and some years later became minister of the French Calvinist Church in Leicester Fields, London. Here he wrote and published his various controversial works, which were later re-issued in six volumes. By conviction a Calvinist, and a keen and, at times, bitter controversialist, he strongly opposed the Arminian theology of John Wesley and his followers. He is described in Wesley's Journal as an impulsive, reckless speaker and writer, but about his deep piety there can be no question. Whatever the followers of Wesley might think about Toplady's theology, they had no hesitation whatever in acknowledging the remarkable spiritual beauty of his famous hymn. Toplady's mind was vigorous, but his body was weak, and consumption seized upon him. He fought it for two years before it conquered him, and it was during this period that he wrote his immortal hymn. It first appeared in 1776 in the Gospel Magazine, which he edited. It occurred in the midst of an article in which he tried to figure out the number of a man's sins; and then broke out in this hymn, which shows the "only remedy for sin. Toplady's own title for the hymn was: "A Living and dying prayer for the holiest believer in the world." The hymn has always been a favorite. It was actually used as a dying prayer by Prince Albert, the beloved husband of Queen Victoria, and it was an especial favorite of the

Lost In Hills For More Than Three Days, Hunter Had Wandered Far Away

Peachland Man Found in Old Mining Cabin Far From Companions.

Alfred Ruffie, a young Peachland resident, lost in the hills for several days, was found in an old mining cabin known as "The Last Chance" cabin on Silver King Mountain, upper Deep Creek valley. In returning to the hunting cabin to join his friends he had taken a wrong course.

The following story of the incident is told by our resident correspondent, Peachland: Peachland was greatly excited last week over the news that Alf. Ruffie was lost in the hills while hunting. He was one of a party who had been camping in the McKay cabin in the Glenn. He went out Wednesday forenoon, but failed to return that night so the rest of the party took up his trail early next morning and followed it as long as they could, but failed to overtake him or cross his trail.

OTHER PEACHLAND NEWS

Another party of a dozen went out Saturday, but on their arrival at McKay's cabin learned that word had just reached camp that members of the first party had located the lost hunter just after he had reached a cabin, which he did not know.

The children found that there were under the head of cattle 309 animals in the community; 205 of these were kept for commercial purposes, that is, milk was sold from that number; 100 were kept for domestic use only and 4 for breeding. 210 were two years or over, 99 under two years.

In some respects the need for home work, in its present magnitude, may be regretted; but the comprehensive character of the course of instruction makes a fairly heavy course of home work an imperative necessity.

The preparation of these figures in grouping them under the several headings was of great practical value, as problems in arithmetic.

Naramata Growers Hear President

was also some trouble with the falling down of Jonathans, especially in the later pickings, the biggest loss being in Kelowna. Otherwise the crop had sold well, only about two hundred to two hundred and fifty cars still unsold.

British Market

Dealing with a query as to storage this year, he said it had been thought best to sell as soon as possible and avoid extra expense.

Selling to the British market at a fixed f.o.b. price had been found a failure, the prices realized under the British system of auction being higher than contract figures. The small packages plan was being experimented on and results would be reported in due course.

On the question of a more centralized system of bookkeeping the speaker stated that such a scheme was in contemplation and a method would probably be adopted which would eliminate a great deal of needless work.

Government inspection was dealt with, the growing conviction being that it must be compulsory on all shippers or would be dropped, subject to a provision that would enable it to be available when required. The president believed, however, that the saving in rebates this season would probably cover the cost of inspection.

Unanimously Favor Bill

The anonymous letter lately circulated among growers concerning proposed legislation on existing contracts was handled by the speaker who showed that no alteration whatever in the contract was being sought, the whole matter being the securing it against a possible technical flaw which arose from the fact that the Associated had not been actually incorporated at date of signing. The directors of the Naramata Co-operative had already, at his request, handed him their approval of the legislation sought, and the meeting unanimously supported that approval.

With reference to arrangements with the Mutual Brokerage, Mr. Chambers stated that the Mutual had no exclusive contracts except in Vancouver and Montreal, and were only paid commission on fruit which they actually sold by them.

To Buy Packing House

Dealing with the proposed purchase of the local packing house he thought it a good thing, and, in reply to a question, said he did not consider it advisable to form a separate holding company for that purpose.

Following the president's address, which was well received, a motion was carried that the directors negotiate for the purchase of the local building and report back to a subsequent meeting. The board was also authorized to look into the feasibility of holding future annual meetings in February instead of May as at present specified in the constitution.

A vote of thanks to the president was warmly endorsed, the chairman
