Short Term Pools For Summer and Fall Apples Probable This Season

District Pool for Kootenays Is Favored by the Meeting.

Managers of Locals in Annual Session at Vernon.

Short season pools for summer and fall apples was favored at the annual meeting of the managers of locals affiliated with the Associated. (The meeting was held at Vernon early this week and was also attended by the directors of the Associated.)

The meeting recommended to the Associated that ten day pools be arranged for all summer and fall apples with the exception of Cox's Orange, for which a weekly pool is favored. Two years ago, when there was a short term pool for Cox's Orange, it is said there was a spread of as much as ninety-five cents in price to growers between early and later pools.

A separate pool for the Kootenay district is also proposed.

Many matters of more or less importance with respect to operating rules and regulations were discussed. Muir Stewart and R. Pollock, representing the Summerland Co-operative, and T. Croil, the Summerland member of the Central board, were present. They went up Monday morning. The two former returned on Wednesday, but Mr. Croil remained over to attend a directors' meeting.

WANTS ALL HIS PROPERTY WATERED

C. H. Gayton has applied to the municipality for irrigation service for a half acre of his home property which has never been irrigated. This is a mound back of his house which up to the present has been exempt from irrigation rates. Councillor Ritchie, as well as Mr. Gayton, believed the only way to irrigate it would be from the pipe. The matter was referred to the water committee for a report.

WOULD LIGHTEN THE LOAD ON PIPE LINE

Different ways of irrigating the James Ritchie block were discussed by the council on Friday. This property is now irrigated from the pipe line and it is the desire of the council to relieve the pipe to that extent. Estimates will be made of other possible ways of watering it.

BACK ROADS NEGLECTED

Chairman of Roads Committee Says They Must Have More Attention

Complaint was laid before the municipal council on Friday by J. A. Kirk that the railroad crossing below Neve's corner was in very bad condition and had been for a long time. When he had complained of this condition before he had been told that the crossing should be repaired but nothing had been done. Foreman Tomlin, he said, had taken the question up with the railway section foreman and practically had been told to mind his own business.

Acting on the suggestion of Councillor Arkoll, chairman of the roads committee, the clerk was asked to notify the railway company, it being probable that they knew nothing about the condition of the crossing.

Mr. Kirk asked also that some work be done on the road from Neve's corner around past his property to the Munro property. Practically no work had ever been done on this road allowance. Councillor Smith pronounced the road in bad shape and Chairman Arkoll of the roads committee promised to inspect the road at once, stating that the back roads should have more attention than they have had in the past.

Clean-Up Day On Thursday Next

Thursday next, April 9, is civic clean-up day. The reeve and council, in session last Friday fixed that date for the annual community clean-up. Official announcement of the event is given elsewhere.

BUILD ROAD WHEN NEEDED

In Meantime Railway Property At Station Is Used

When the Kettle Valley Railroad acquired its right of way through Peach Valley it platted its line and station on what was then the highway. The railway company at that time purchased a strip of land off the orchard property immediately to the east so as to permit of a re-location of the road. At present the travelling road is on railway property and considerable rock cutting will have to be done to move the road to its new location. Because of this the plans covering the exchange with the railway have not been completed. The company brought the question up again recently by correspondence and has agreed to give the municipality an undertaking to widen the road behind the station at any time the additional space may be needed. On this understanding the council will give its consent to the plans.

COMPANY ASKS FOR IRRIGATION SERVICE

Wants Extension Made To Group of Lots East of Giant's Head

Summerland Development Company is asking for an extension of the irrigation service from the east end of the siphon across Happy Valley. In a letter to the council the company claims that the municipality has failed to live up to its agreement in not putting water on this property and demands that service be given by May first of this year.

During a discussion of the agreement referred to it was stated that the company not only took the attitude that it's lands paid no water rates until sold but further that any land reverting to the company was exempt from payment of water rates. The council expressed a willingness in this instance to make the extensions if the company would guarantee that the land so covered would pay the rates. The cost of the extension it was said, would be about eight hundred dollars.

COUNCIL INCREASES MINIMUM WAGE

Those men temporarily employed by the municipality on the Garnett Valley flume work, and who were engaged at 35 cents an hour, will be paid at the rate of 40 cents an hour. This decision was reached by the council on Friday. As the work day is now limited to eight hours this rate would only give a man two dollars and only give a man $2.80 a day and it

APPLE TREES NOT DAMAGED

But Very Occasional Tree Hurt By Sudden Freeze

W. H. Robertson, provincial horticulturist, Victoria, and M. S. Middleton, district horticulturist, Vernon, were visitors to Summerland on Friday, spending the day with J. Tait, local representative of the horticultural branch. With him they visited several orchards, their chief object being to ascertain the extent of damage done by the sudden drop of temperature on December 15. That Summerland has escaped the serious damage to apple trees which some districts have suffered is certain, but injury to an occasional tree shows how narrow was the escape.

WANT GOVERNMENT TO BUY PROPERTY

Old Power House Now Being Used Rent Free For Hatchery

During the past year the old municipal power house, opposite Hotel Summerland has been used by G. N. Gartrell, fisheries overseer for the Federal government, as a hatchery. Permission was given by the municipality to use the building not only with the purpose of encouraging the establishment of a hatchery here but also with the expectations that if it was found satisfactory the building would be purchased. No definite undertaking on the part of the government authorities to take over the building has yet developed from correspondence on the subject. At the meeting of the council on Friday Councillor McPherson suggested that a rental of five dollars per month be charged until the property is taken over by the government.

It was felt that this was not a sufficient wage.

Irrigation Bonds Bring Nearly 96

Summerland has sold its last issue of irrigation debentures at 95.55, the purchasers being R. P. Clark & Co. Ltd. of Victoria. A number of bids were received. The debentures bear interest of five and a half per cent and are in serial form payable over a period of fifteen years.

FOREIGN MONEY WAS WORTHLESS

Poundkeeper Passed It On To Pay Claims For Damages

Currency of the Argentine Republic is not legal tender in Canada. This is a well-known fact. But when a citizen received as part of a remittance a piece of paper money issued by the Argentine and sent to him as five dollars, and when he afterwards found that it was worth but two or three cents, he very naturally fell back on the plea with respect to legal tender. The story of the whole transaction was laid before the municipal council last Friday when J. A. Kirk told of cattle from the Indian reserve entering his orchard last fall, causing damage, of his having the cattle impounded and filing claim, and of his bill for damages being paid under protest. The payment included a piece of Argentine paper money thirty years old and represented by the poundkeeper as being worth five dollars. Mr. Kirk said he could not get this piece of money converted into legal tender but was informed by a bank that it was not worth more than two or three cents at par.

He had taken the matter up with the poundkeeper but had so far failed to get the five dollars. He was disposed to criticize the poundkeeper for having accepted this foreign money instead of holding the cattle until the claim was paid in legal tender.

Councillor Arkoll, who did not approve of the way the pound laws of the municipality were being enforced, said that the poundkeeper was a public official and it was up to the council to see that Mr. Kirk was paid the five dollars. His motion to that effect was seconded by Councillor Smith.

It was stated by a member of the council, speaking on behalf of the poundkeeper, that the Indian who had

PETITION FOR BETTER ROAD

Public Works Committee Instructed To Bring In Report

Property holders on the front bench between Telephone Hill and Peach Orchard are petitioning the municipality for improved roads. But very little money has been expended on the road running north from Shield's corner or further around in the small valley, according to the petitioners.

The petition was signed by Mr. and Mrs. O. Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. Downton, Mrs. Figgis, John Moffat, G. Gray, C. Klingsell and P. G. Koop per W. C. Kelley.

The petition was referred to the public works committee.

POWER MINIMUM WILL BE HIGHER

Council To Charge Electric Power Users A Monthly Minimum

Users of electric energy for power purposes will henceforth be charged a minimum of four dollars per month. Councillor McPherson, chairman of the electric light committee, proposed a motion to this effect following a brief discussion of the subject by the council on Friday. It was said that in some instances so little current was used that their was not enough revenue to pay for the investment in transformers and other material used in giving the service.

given him this foreign money assured him that it was good for five dollars. The poundkeeper had placed the matter in the hands of the police and was expecting settlement.

Mr. Kirk told of another instance where he had cattle impounded at Trout Creek Point at the same time filing his claim for damages. The poundkeeper, he said, had collected

Board Has Decided To Try Running The Hospital With Further Reduced Staff

Instead of closing the hospital at the end of March, as decided upon by the board, an effort will be made to carry on with a smaller staff.

The board is still hopeful that more people will take advantage of the services of the hospital than has been the case for some time and with this hope the decision was made recently to carry on for a time longer, at

Co-operative Is Distributing Nearly Twenty Thousand Dollars Today

Regular Council Meeting Postponed

As the second Friday of the month, the day fixed for the first semi-monthly meeting, falls on Good Friday, the meeting of the municipal council has been postponed until Saturday afternoon at the regular hour.

NEW MINIMUM LIGHTING RATE

Nine Cents Gross Charged For Current Over 200 K. W. H.

For large users of electric light the municipal council has fixed a new rate. Up to the present all current over one hundred k.w.h. a month has been charged up at the gross rate of eleven cents.

Summerland Co-operative uses a large amount of electricity for lighting during the packing season and their request for a lower rate resulted in the council fixing a rate of nine cents gross for all current in excess of two hundred k.w.h.

Under the new scale the price will be fourteen cents for the first fifty kilowatts, two and a half cents for the next fifty and eleven cents for the next hundred. All over the two hundred will be charged at nine cents. All these rates are subject to a ten per cent discount.

PROPOSE ANOTHER LIGHT EXTENSION

Front Bench North of Peach Orchard Asking For Service

Estimates are to be prepared on a proposed extension of the electric light service to the front bench north of Peach Orchard. At the regular meeting of the council on Friday last a number of applications from residents of that district for the service were read. More strictly speaking several of these letters asked for an estimate of the charge that would be made to the individual if such an extension were made. Included in those who wrote were James Shepherd, T. and T. M. Croil, C. J. Huddleston, P. G. Koop and Captain W. V. B. Webb.

It was decided to ask the municipal electrician to ascertain the points from which the extension could best be made and to prepare an estimate of the cost.

It was pointed out that this, as well as some other extensions that have been made recently, will not help any to bring down the electric light rates.

enough to pay himself and had freed the cattle on a promise to pay the damage claims of five dollars. Mr. Kirk never received this money.

The clerk reported that he had not been able to get any reports from the poundkeeper in that district and he did not now consider that there was any legal pound there.

CONSIDERS PRICE MUCH TOO HIGH

In the opinion of C. Napier Higgin five hundred dollars is too high a price for a deed to a pre-emption west of the Cartwright property and north of the Higgin property. This land came into the possession of the municipal council through a tax sale and Mr. Higgin asked the council to put a price on it.

SAY FLUME IS MENACE

Paradise Flat Men Want New Flume Across Orchards

R. S. Monro, E. H. Bennett and S. G. Davies on Friday laid before the council a formal request that a section of the main flume serving their properties be replaced with a larger one on a better grade. Mr. Monro complained that the present flume did not deliver enough water to his property. Messrs. Bennett and Davies told of the damage being done to their orchards by leaks from this flume and also of the constant danger of wash-outs and of frequent scares by the overflowing of the flume which runs full in places.

They had been informed that it was the intention of the council to replace this section of flume this spring but recently were told that an attempt would be made to make the flume serve for a time longer. They protested against this decision and asked that a safer flume and one of greater capacity be put in. Referred to the water committee.

COURTESY VERSUS THE LAW.

There are many things a motorist should learn outside of the fact that he drives on the right side of the road in order to be within the law. There are many roads in Western Canada, as well as other newly developed countries, where there is barely room for two cars to pass each other safely, when going in the same direction. In many cases it is necessary for the slower travelling vehicle to pull a little to the right side in order to let the other, that wishes to pass, and is travelling faster, get past in safety. It appears, however, there are a class of motorists who do not think it is necessary to allow anyone to pass them, even if they wish to travel at a speed of twenty miles an hour, or less.

It is true there are "road hogs" who wish to travel at excessive speeds, but usually they are in the minority. The majority of motorists are sane in their ideas of what constitutes reasonable speed. Then there are cases where speed is absolutely necessary in order to save life, as in the case of a doctor. In any case, where a motorist is not travelling fast, he should allow any motorist who wishes to travel faster go ahead of him, and at the same time allow sufficient room for him to pass. For those who do not wish to be courteous enough to do this, we are taking the liberty of reprinting here a very interesting editorial from the Manitoba Free Press:

"There will be considerable public interest in the case reported from Wapella, Sask., where a man driving a car refused to make way for another driver who wished to pass him. The accused was charged with a breach of the Vehicle Act and fined one dollar and costs, probably more as a warning than anything else. Many persons may not know that there is such a law, which accounts, no doubt, for the presence of the driver who refuses to clear the road. Recently a Winnipeg doctor drew attention to the fact that his speed was hampered on his way to the scene of an accident by drivers who refused to let him go past. Courtesy should govern in matters like this rather than the law, but if the courtesy does not exist then the law has to be invoked.

"In the United States the practice in recent years has been for the driver ahead to signal the other driver to pass once he has been 'honked.' This indicates to the man behind that his signal has been heard and that there is no danger of the driver in front cutting in on him when passing. The adoption of this custom in Canada would add greatly to the pleasure of motor touring."

WHAT DO YOU DO?

"A town that never has anything to do in a public way is on the way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. A man that curses the town furnishes the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give to civic affairs is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from any public enterprise throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy as to be howling hard times, preaches the funeral and sings the doxology. And thus a town lies buried from all sorrow and care. So mote it be."

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER.

"The weekly newspaper, unlike the metropolitan daily, has a peculiar place in the home. It becomes a part of the family, because its news stories concern the activities of the home town folks, and what deeper interest could be developed than among those with whom we live and move. The community is the antechamber of the home, and the weekly newspaper the avenue that leads from one to the other. Our message is this: Give to your newspaper co-operation. Results will come back to you in a community asset—a wide-awake, forceful, influential newspaper, and a power in influence for good in your community."

Pocket radio receiving sets are announced as possible, which will be alright as long as they do not make home broadcasting sets.

Winter Injury

In some parts of the district there are many apple trees which have suffered from winter injury to such an extent that the bark has become separated from the trunk, especially on the north side of the tree. Every grower should make a thorough examination of his trees; notify horticultural office of any suspected injury when remedial advice will be given.

The writer would strongly advise that some consideration be given to the need of nitrate of soda to the apple trees this spring. Where such varieties as are showing signs of winter damage a quick acting fertilizer will have good effect on the coming set of fruit.

NO CANADIANS IN CANADA.

Cranbrook Courier: A Canadian must cross the border of the United States to have his or her identity established. There are nine millions of people in this broad Dominion of ours but there are no Canadians. Every race under the sun is represented in Canada, but Johnny Canuck is a minus quantity. When a proud Canadian father applies for a certificate of registration of birth at any district registrar in Canada he observes a marginal note which says: "Racial origin will be described by stating to what people or tongue each of the parents belong, whether English, Irish, Scotch, French, German, Russian, Ruthenian, Slovak, Galician, etc. The words 'Canadian' or 'American' should not be used, as they express nationality or citizenship but not a race of people."

After digesting that, is there any fair-minded person—it matters not from what country—will agree with the above? A country without a soul! A people without a national spirit! Nine millions drifting on the tide of Yankee jingoism and time-worn Imperialism. English statesmen are alarmed over the conditions arising in Canada, fearing a breaking away from the Empire. Britain needs have no scruples about Canada and her loyalty. The trouble with Canadians is that they are loyal to everyone but themselves. Canadians will neither be used as a buffer for the annexation bogey of the United States nor the tail-end for British Imperialism. Canada desires to remain within the Empire, using her status as a nation and building up a new Canadianism—the only reasonable hope of this Dominion.

NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY WINS.

H. L. Leeper, postmaster in Yakima, is ready to admit that there is about as much difference between newspaper publicity and would-be publicity gained from bulletin boards and posted notices, as there is between daylight and darkness, according to The Yakima Republic.

For several weeks recently Mr. Leeper had notices posted to the effect that bids were desired for the operation of the Yakima-Toppenish star mail route. Days and days went by with no one applying for the job. As the final date on which the bids had to be at Washington, D.C., approached, and no enquiries had been received yet, he decided to give out the notice as a news story.

The story was given three or four lines in The Republic and since its publication the postmaster has received more than twenty calls. "And that isn't the half of it," he says, "for they are still coming."—Ex.

Hairy Vetch Cover Crop

By R. C. PALMER,
Assistant Superintendent,
Dominion Experimental Station,
Summerland, B.C.

From orchard cover crop experiments conducted at the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland since 1916, the following information on the value of hairy vetch has been secured.

The use of hairy vetch as a cover crop has markedly increased the yield of fruit and the growth of the trees. The texture and fertility of the soil have undergone a wonderful change for the better. The vetch cover crop has necessitated the use of considerably more water than clean cultivation, but less than the alfalfa mulch system. The cost of operation can be reduced to a very low figure where vetch is used. No increase in orchard pests has been observed. A vetch cover crop is comparatively easy to establish. Sowing at thirty pounds to the acre usually results in an excellent stand provided there is a fair amount of moisture in the soil. A permanent vetch cover crop has been maintained economically at this Station by discing the crop each year early in August. At this time sufficient of the seed has ripened to ensure reseedling. Good results have been secured by sowing the seed in the spring as early as the soil can be worked. Seeding in May, June and July does not seem to be advisable as vetch sown at this time makes a heavy demand on the moisture supply, seldom ripens seed the same year, and is frequently killed out the following winter. Clean cultivation during June and July reduces the irrigation requirements considerably and is advisable in the event of a shortage of irrigation water.

The most frequent cause of failure to secure a good stand of vetch seems to lie in the fact that growers often sow the vetch too shallow. Seeding with a drill has been found to give better results than broadcasting especially where the surface soil is dry. When vetch is grown as a cover crop special attention should be paid to marking out deep irrigation furrows in the spring. A space several feet in diameter should be kept clear around each tree as a protection against girdling by mice. Where gophers are unusually prevalent special measures may be necessary to ensure their control.

A detailed discussion on these points will be found in the report of the Summerland Station for 1923.

MUSICAL EVENING AT MCGOWN HOME

Pupils of G. W. Weaver Provided a Delightful Three-Hour Program.

Mrs. A. C. McGown of Summerland was hostess on Monday evening to the Orpheus Club of Penticton, who provided a full three-hour musical program. A number of Summerland musicians were among the guests and expressed great appreciation of the numbers given. The first part of the program was a short piano recital by a number of Mr. Weaver's Summerland pupils, after which the Orpheus Club took charge. The choruses given ranged from the Palatrina school to the modern lullaby, showing the ability of the chorus in a number of styles. Vocal solos included the classical, the romantic, and the ballad types, with the different interpretations required for each. Included in the instrumental numbers were piano solos ranging from Bach, representing the contrapuntal school; Beethoven, as the greatest of the classical writers; and Liszt, one of the geniuses of the romantic period; with several violin solos including the modern nocturno, a form made great by Chopin in pianistic idiom.

The program covered almost all forms of composition, except symphony, and practically all schools from the early church composers to living English and Russian writers, and proved of deep interest to the guests. At the close of the evening Mrs.

Only Beginning to Reap Harvest As Result of Efforts Of "The Trail" Association

The campaign for funds for the Okanogan-Cariboo Trail Association has been practically concluded in the towns south of the boundary line with very satisfactory results, according to Manager-Secretary Lawrence J. Wood, who returned to Penticton on Thursday evening from Oroville. The Campaign will be continued in the British Columbia towns and concluded as quickly as possible after the annual meeting of the association, which is being held today in Kelowna.

From the small beginning which this organization had last year, when delegates from various towns located on what afterwards became known as the Okanogan-Cariboo Trail, met in Oroville to discuss the ways and means of attracting tourists to this part of the country, it has assumed an importance of which few dreamed at that time and which is not even yet fully realized by all. The eyes of all tourists travel promoters and good roads enthusiasts in the northwest are centred upon it, with particular interest being shown in the work now progressing on the missing link of the trans-provincial highway between Hope and Lytton. In a very short time the Okanogan-Cariboo Trail will be part of the great northwest tourist highway system. Already it directly connects at Wenatchee with the Sunset highway. Arrangements have been completed recently between the Wenatchee Chamber of Commerce and the Yellowstone Trail Association for all tourists using the Yellowstone Trail to be routed via Wenatchee. This will give the Okanogan-Cariboo Trail Association additional diversional facilities.

Would Link New Highway

In addition to these two great feeders at the southern terminus, another and even more important one is in prospect. Sam Hill, the "father of good roads" in the United States, is working energetically to secure the completion as a tourist main highway of what he terms the "everyday highway" from Central California up through the interiors of Washington and Oregon, connecting with the Okanogan-Cariboo Trail at Wenatchee, making possible auto travel, inland practically from the Mexican border to Vancouver, as soon as the "missing link" in the B. C. road system is open for traffic. Sam Hill made a special trip from Montreal to Seattle, about two weeks ago, to speak before the "old guard" there, and devoted practically all the time available to him in telling of the importance of this "everyday" highway and the Okanogan-Cariboo Trail.

Another point in connection with the future destiny of the trail is the immense travel on the Pacific Highway which terminates now at Vancouver. Between Seattle and Vancouver tourists are compelled to double over their own tracks and the possibilities far beyond the actual cost to those supporting the association, and has been found to be a very popular system in the towns already visited.

"THE HUNCHBACK" THE SUPERLATIVE OF PICTURES

By ALAN DALE.

This much I'll say and you can flaunt it before my eyes evermore; a more remarkable, epochal, unforgettable, haunting and obsessional piece of eccentric, bizarre, cynical character acting than that contributed to "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" by Lon Chaney I have never seen on either stage or screen. If Victor Hugo could have taken one peep at this visualization of his own imagination, it would have given him a thousand sensational ideas.

You will dream of this "Quasimodo," you will thrill mentally at the recollection of this demonic, cynical, leering, hideous monstrosity—the pivot around which revolves the tremendous episodes of a really marvellous picture. At times this "Quasimodo" is harolddloydish, as he creeps along the cornices of Notre Dame, circles down its masonry, dropped from its heights, and viewed from aloft the turmoil and kaleidoscopic movement of Paris. This "Quasimodo," intent upon his purpose—a dwarf of redoubtable character, a thwarted human being of hypertrophied intelligence, scum of the earth, but psychologically enormous—gave you the whole bagful of human emotions and contributed a screen characterization that will live forever. Everybody will speak of this astounding "Quasimodo," nobody can overlook him, he is as solid as Notre Dame itself.

You get the very marrow of Victor Hugo without the ineffable weariness of fishing for it yourself. The meat is all there, carefully prepared and scrupulously edible. Those quite ignorant of all pertaining to "The Hunchback" can rectify their educational shortcomings by studying this film, and let me tell them that the study will be a profound pleasure. I am tired of mob scenes but those toward the end of this production give to mobs a new significance. They are so pulsatingly real, so clearly portrayed, and so realistically enacted that they seem not to be the film, filmy. Then the finale—the cessation of "Quasimodo's" activities with the portentous Notre Dame bell, as he rings it for the last time, is the ne plus ultra of art.

Lon Chaney has stamped himself as an artist of purist ray serene. This bit of work cannot do. It is immortally fine. Patsy Ruth Miller was exquisite in the role of Esmeralda. Norman Kerry, Tully Marshall, beloved on stage and screen, and especially Ernest Torrence, were capital.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" is epoch making.

This advertisement is contributed by the publishers for the benefit of the high school.

the government's present programme is carried into effect, it is stated on good authority, the road from Hope to Lytton will be completed in time for the tourist traffic in 1926.

In the meantime, however, the Okanogan-Cariboo Trail Association has a two-fold work to perform for the communities it represents, namely diverting all the tourist traffic possible up through this country where the finest scenery and outdoor attractions in the northwest are to be found and laying a foundation by means of educational propaganda, for the immense travel which will pass through when; by the opening of the coast-interior link the Okanogan-Cariboo Trail will have those two great tourist centres, Vancouver and Wenatchee, as its termini.

Raising Necessary Money

Energetic efforts are being made to raise the money necessary for the successful carrying out of this work of the association. Last year the association issued 10,000 road maps, which are considered by those in close touch with tourists and their requirements, to be equal to and in some respects, better than the average maps issued by tourist associations. This year it is proposed to issue between 25,000 and 50,000 of these maps and secure as wide a distribution of them as possible. In order to raise the funds a directory of each town will be printed on the back of the maps, giving the names, under classified headings, of all business firms or individuals in those towns who support the organization financially. A sliding scale of charges for these names has been arranged, in order to distribute the matter as fairly as possible as between business firms in such towns and similar business firms in other towns. As an advertising medium to the individual firm, the community and the trail as a whole this offers possibilities far beyond the actual cost to those supporting the association, and has been found to be a very popular system in the towns already visited.

TO BUILD A PERMANENT BUSINESS ADVERTISE

"One of the first policies we adopted when we opened our doors was that of consistent advertising. We have been advertising in the local paper every week, rain or shine, winter or summer. We find that it brings results. Second to our own advertising we find that tying up with national advertising pays. Advertise your store and keep in line with national advertising campaigns, if you really wish to build a permanent business."

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes: minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre.

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased; the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners.

The Winter's Tale, Scene II, Act IV

There is a humorist of the very first water somewhere near Vilna in the province of Alberta. Some notion of his quality may be obtained by the perusal of a "graphic despatch" of a "WRONG COLUMN," apparently sent by him to the press under date of March 18th, giving particulars of a never-to-be-forgotten wolf hunt put on a few days earlier under the skilled guidance of one Dave Bell, hero of a hundred wolf drives in the northern wilds of Ontario. What this doughty champion does not know about wild animals in general and wolves in particular is said to be yet unlearned, and we can easily credit this statement when we find that one of his preliminary tactics on a wolf hunt is the singing of "O Canada" by the members of his devoted band. The mental picture of thirty-seven brush farmers, each "brandishing" a 30-30 rifle in the most approved hunting fashion, rendering the Canadian anthem in close harmony at four o'clock in the morning, and winding up with a blood curdling college "Rah, Rah," is calculated to rouse enthusiasm to a great pitch, and we do not wonder when we learn later that the expedition was "miraculously" successful. Thirteen dead wolves "ferocious looking even in death" bit the snow by 11 a.m., after which twenty-seven hunters gathered at the call of their captain's bugle, and enjoyed a substantial hot meal. Just here the reader is liable to be overcome with a deadly sinking of the heart, thirty-seven joined in that early morning anthem, but only twenty-seven attend the midday repast. Where are the other ten? Can it be that the thirteen animals who bit the snow, bit those ten hunters first, and that they are to be entered up as total losses? The writer of the despatch is silent on this point, and we are left to fear the worst. But we have the melancholy satisfaction of knowing that before the close of this eventful day four more wolves were slain, and that the remainder of the pack, if any survived, have headed for the "northern front" wherever that may be, never to return. We are sure that this is true, because we have the word of Captain Dave Bell for it, and he is a "courier du bois of Dominion wide fame."

The Edmonton despatch is delightful reading, but evidently got into the wrong column some way or other. It should have appeared in the fiction department or under the heading of "Jokes I have heard." My own personal regret is that, in my seven years' sojourn in Northern Ontario, I never saw, nor heard of even one of those hundred wolf drives so casually referred to. At the official opening of a new school the other day Premier John Oliver made a few remarks worth noting. The main point in his speech was EDUCATION, the fact that the education now being given in this province is apparently directed to an over abundance of theory and "book-learning," with the result that too many pupils are being prepared for professional work. He went on to illustrate his text by a reference to the attitude of the Doukhobors on this subject, and in doing so, decidedly weakened his argument. "Ho, who proves, too much proves"

How to Make Tax Returns

There seems to be some uncertainty as to who is or is not obliged to make out Dominion income tax returns, and in order that all may be relieved of doubt it may be stated that all unmarried persons having an income of over $1,000 and all married persons having an income of over $2,000 are obliged to make out reports, whether liable for tax or not. Unmarried persons are allowed an exemption of $1,000. Married persons are allowed exemption of $2,000 plus $500 additional allowance for each dependent child under the age of eighteen. Unmarried persons who are the sole supporters of dependents are allowed additional exemption. The tax rate is 4 per cent on any amount over that exempted up to $6,000 and 8 per cent above $6,000. The above are the general conditions as now in effect.

nothing," and the drawing of an analogy between the trend of our accepted system of educational training and the absurd negation aimed at by a cult of Russian fanatics was a bad mistake. Such a line of argument would, in the natural course of things, strengthen the very views he was criticizing and moreover was not calculated to simplify the Doukhobor problem. The people of British Columbia are not particularly interested in the Doukhobor creed except where it comes into opposition to provincial law, and it is wide of the mark to discourse of it in an abstract. The Doukhobors are perfectly welcome to hold any theory statement when we find that one of his preliminary tactics on a wolf hunt is the singing of "O Canada" by the members of his devoted band. The mental picture of thirty-seven brush farmers, each "brandishing" a 30-30 rifle in the most approved hunting fashion, rendering the Canadian anthem in close harmony at four o'clock in the morning, and winding up with a blood curdling college "Rah, Rah," is calculated to rouse enthusiasm to a great pitch, and we do not wonder when we learn later that the expedition was "miraculously" successful. Why do the bishops rage so furiously together and why do the preachers imagine a vain thing? Not very long ago a DEAN INGE certain English bishop MAKES MERRY shop deplored the imagined submergence of the British element in this Dominion by a wave of French increase in the province of Quebec, and now comes the estimable but profoundly pessimistic Dean of St. Paul's with a wall to the same effect, only more pronounced. This latest Jeremiah can, in fact see nothing in the dim and distant future but a little England deserted by its overseas children and shrunken to a mere nonentity among the nations of the world. It seems fairly certain that these mournful prophets have never travelled very much, and it might be useful to them to reflect on the truth of Kipling's lines, "What do they know of England, Who only England know?"

PEACHLAND NEWS
By Our Resident Correspondent

The Rev. W. A. Alexander and Mr. S. B. Snider of Summerland visited Peachland last week to confer with a local committee appointed to deal with the selection of a parsonage or parsonage site for the Union church here. No definite decision has been made, but the suggestion of the committee at its last session was the purchase of a lot and the erection of a new building in preference to buying an old property.

Car's Show, advertised on the street for the past week or so, was an attraction in the G.W.V.A. hall on Wednesday evening. Many who were there said the show was pretty good and although they did not have a full house they were satisfied under prevailing circumstances.

After spending a considerable portion of the winter with friends in Peachland, Miss Dancer left last week to return to her home in Summerland.

Friends here of the Misses Sharp, who made this their home for some time, owning a lot adjoining the Ritchie lot, will be sorry to learn that word was received from Miss Sadie that her sister had been seized with a stroke and was in a critical condition.

Mr. Vicary of Summerland came up Friday morning for a short visit in town.

Mr. Chas. Evans was a passenger north bound on Friday to spend the day out of town.

Mrs. and Miss Murdin left Friday evening for Summerland where they spent the weekend with friends and returned on Monday morning's boat.

The Trail Rangers and Tuxis Square met as usual in the basement of the Union church building on Friday evening with their mentors present.

Electrician J. Buchanan has had a small crew at work replacing poles in the electric pole line, the old ones having decayed at the ground to the extent that they were in an unsafe condition. They had been reset at intervals till they had become too short for further use.

A further shipment of apples which had recently been packed was made last week, which practically cleans up the storage stocks held here.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Mout spent Saturday in Kelowna.

Those local growers who were expecting further returns from their fruit were pleased to learn that settlements had come through from central and that payments were being prepared for issuing to the growers.

Mr. W. Moffat and his mother of Vernon, motored down to spend the week end at the Dryden home. On their return Miss Dryden accompanied them, having completed her two weeks' vacation visit home.

Mrs. Huston and Mrs. Martin of the Trepanier Townsite were passengers north bound on Monday morning's boat for a short visit out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Dryden motored to Vernon on Monday morning where Mr. Dryden attended meetings in connection with the Associated Growers. They were accompanied by Mr. B. F. Gummow, president of the local Union, who also went to attend a meeting of managers and directors of locals being held in Vernon this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Dunn of Chatham, Ont., were guests last week of Mr. H. Hardy and his sister Mrs. Lingo. They were returning from an extended vacation trip to points in California and Coast cities in B.C. While in California they visited their daughter, Mrs. Dr. Rogers, known to many Peachlanders from her recent visit here with Mr. Hardy and Mrs. Lingo, then as Miss Wilson. The party stopped in Victoria to visit Mr. Wilson's cousin, Dr. Wilson, who was reported in the Coast papers recently to have been shot, they happening to arrive just at the time of the tragedy. They were informed before leaving that there was some hope that the injured man would recover. The party left here on Tuesday morning to return home.

Having disposed of portions of their effects and getting the rest together for shipment, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Maxwell left on Monday evening's boat for the Coast where they will remain for some time. Their many friends regret greatly to see them leave.

Mrs. Vivian and Mrs. Sanasac and Mr. and Mrs. H. Williams were visitors on Tuesday in Kelowna.

At a special meeting of the W.C. T.U. held at the home of Mrs. H. E. McCall on Tuesday afternoon last it was decided to accept the offer of Miss Belle Eilers, of Victoria, B.C., teacher of elocution, to give a recital during her tour of the Okanagan which will be about the middle of April. Miss Eilers comes well recommended.

Mr. J. McKinnon made a business trip to Kelowna on Wednesday.

Miss Wheeler, late matron of the Summerland hospital, came in on Wednesday morning's boat to visit Mr. and Mrs. C. Somerville.

CHILDREN NEED SLEEP

Many defects found in children, thought by their parents to be healthy, at the child health conferences have been demonstrated to be due to insufficient sleep, says a public health authority. If a child does not sleep the required hours, headache, malnutrition, loss of appetite, paleness and nervousness may result. Certain functional disorders cause lack of sleep, but much of the irregularity of children's sleeping hours is due to bad habits. Some youngsters are never put to bed at the same hour two days in succession. Some kiddies are told goblin and ghost stories or have overheard the grownups read about murders and burglaries from the daily papers and are not able to sleep because their imaginations paint such vivid pictures in the dark. Other children do not want to go to sleep in a darkened room.

Sleep is essential to the well-being of children. It cannot be disregarded without penalties being paid. If a child is to grow up strong and well he must have sufficient sleep.

Children have their rights as well as adults. One of the rights of childhood is to have a bed of his own and long hours of unbroken rest.

Someone, just for a joke, asked in a local store for sweet potato seeds. The clerk hunted all through the seeds but could not find sweet potato seeds, and finally appealed to the boss.

The latter explained that he was being kidded and cautioned him about not letting smart Alecks put anything over on him.

A few days later a lady entered the store and asked for some bird seed. "Aw, go on," grinned the clerk, "you can't kid me. Birds are hatched from eggs."

"A dime's worth of sodium bicarbonate for indigestion at this time of the night!" cried the infuriated druggist, who had been aroused at 2 a.m., "when a glass of hot water would have done just as well!"

"Well, well," returned Sandy, hastily, "I thank you for the advice, and I'll no bother ye after all. Good night."

Longfellow said that in this world a man must be either anvil or hammer. Some men are neither; they are merely hollows.

The Mikado Correspondence

This year, it is announced, the Summerland Operatic Society are trying their wings in a somewhat higher flight. The Mikado, although for various reasons it is probably the most popular of the Savoy operas with amateur performers, is in every way a more important production than H.M.S. Pinafore, which the Society staged last year.

When The Mikado was first produced in 1885 seven years had elapsed since the appearance of Pinafore, and during those years four new operas had established the fame of the Gilbert and Sullivan partnership. Time had brought to both author and composer an increased mastery of their art; which was displayed by Gilbert in a fuller development of dialogue and character, and by Sullivan in a more brilliant and elaborate orchestration. Moreover, in 1881, they had moved their headquarters to the Savoy Theatre, and this change in itself involved a greater lavishness of setting than was necessary, or even possible at the far older and smaller Opera Comique.

Gilbert had now established a definite method of construction. In The Mikado's immediate predecessor, Princess Ida, he had experimented with blank verse and the three-act form, the traditional method of French comic opera, but, though successful, he apparently found it too cumbersome, for he now abandoned it in favor of the two acts in which all the remainder of the series were cast.

By many The Mikado is held to be its authors' chef d'oeuvre. Opinions may differ on the point, but there is no doubt that such numbers as the Madrigal, the opening chorus of the second act, and the contralto solos allotted to Katisha, to name but few, take rank amongst the most beautiful of Sullivan's compositions.

The Japanese setting of the opera offered an opportunity for scenery and decoration in striking contrast to anything previously attempted, and the proverbial venality of oriental officials gave to Gilbert the idea of that remarkable figure Poo-h-Bah, who is so conspicuous throughout. Much critical ink has been split over the character of Katisha, and Gilbert has even been seriously accused of cynical cruelty towards the "lady of uncertain age," which he is also said to have displayed in Patience and other works. Certainly there seems to be some room for a charge of inconsistency; for though the merciless wit of the dialogue compels one to join in the laughter at her expense, yet in her exquisite solos she achieves a height of pathos which changes scorn to sympathy. The truth is that one should no more expect logical consistency from such an author than seek to find it in a butterfly, and an attempt to analyze his methods too seriously is likely to result in a loss of one's sense of humor and proportion.

A historical example of such a calamity was afforded by the action of Lord Chamberlain some years ago. The occasion was a proposed revival of The Mikado in London, when his stolid lordship actually vetoed the production on the ground that it would be prejudicial to the success of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, in contemplation. Despite a storm of popular indignation, banned the opera would have been, but for the intervention of the Japanese ambassador, who with dry humor observed that the action of the piece obviously referred to a period of his country's history so remote that the feelings of no living person could possibly be hurt.

To Pinafore and The Mikado belongs the distinction of having been translated into several foreign languages, though one can scarcely imagine how Gilbert's dialogue can have survived the process. So little, in fact, did the Germans appreciate the character of the work that in a production of The Mikado in Berlin, to Sullivan's furious but unavailing indignation, the part of Nanki-Poo was intrusted to a popular musical-comedy actress.

Previous amateur performances of this opera have rendered it familiar in the Okanagan, but it is the familiarity of affection, for like all its authors' work, it has the charm which age cannot wither nor custom stale. It is hoped that the Summerland Operatic Society will again meet with the public appreciation which greeted their maiden effort a year ago. With a cast headed by such a trio of popular favorites as Mr. Benmore, in his old part of Poo-h-Bah; Mr. Winter, bassardor, who with dry humor observed that the action of the piece obviously referred to a period of his

Editor Review.

Dear Sir,—I think your "Resident of the Flat" is entirely wrong in his estimate of the Summerland school children. True, our modern children are inferior to what they were when your "Resident" was young, but the idea of them battering down a war memorial with stones is preposterous. By all means, I say, let's put the stone on the school grounds. Where can we find a more central spot?

If we can't have "Resident's" twenty-five let's get along without it.

Personally, I'm willing to do my "bit." I did it in 1916-17-8 and I'm willing to do it towards a memorial, even if it is placed on Paradise Flat. Thanks for your space, Mr. Editor. A VALLEY RESIDENT.

Editor Review.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent in last week's Review who signs himself Anti-Combine, says that the present government at Ottawa "seeks to help the farmer to hit his place in the sun," and advises us not to "bite the hand that feeds us."

If the present government is so friendly to the fruit growers I wish the said writer would explain why the government made a refund to the importers of all the Dumping Duties collected on fruit, and thus deprived the B.C. growers of any benefit to be derived from the Dumping Act. I do not think that the government made any such concessions to the importers of manufactured articles. If it had done so it might have helped to prevent the undue profits made by the manufacturing interests "who sit on the necks of the farmers."

Perhaps it is the U.S. farmers that Anti-Combine refers to; as our government is undoubtedly helping them at the expense of the Canadian producers.

In conclusion I would say that, in the matter of politics you are as independent and fair as any editor could be. I wish that there were many more like you.

country's history so remote that the feelings of no living person could possibly be hurt.

To Pinafore and The Mikado belongs the distinction of having been translated into several foreign languages, though one can scarcely imagine how Gilbert's dialogue can have survived the process. So little, in fact, did the Germans appreciate the character of the work that in a production of The Mikado in Berlin, to Sullivan's furious but unavailing indignation, the part of Nanki-Poo was intrusted to a popular musical-comedy actress.

Previous amateur performances of this opera have rendered it familiar in the Okanagan, but it is the familiarity of affection, for like all its authors' work, it has the charm which age cannot wither nor custom stale. It is hoped that the Summerland Operatic Society will again meet with the public appreciation which greeted their maiden effort a year ago. With a cast headed by such a trio of popular favorites as Mr. Benmore, in his old part of Poo-h-Bah; Mr. Winter, bassardor, who with dry humor observed that the action of the piece obviously referred to a period of his

OBITUARY.

H. J. Fenner

Through the death of H. J. Fenner, which occurred on Sunday, Summerland lost one of its pioneer citizens. It was twenty years in January last since Mr. Fenner arrived here from Alberta. He had been ill for several weeks, pneumonia following an attack of flu.

The funeral, which was held at the home, was largely attended, the services being conducted by Messrs. E. Neve and G. Thornber. The pallbearers were, Messrs. Wm. Ritchie, Geo. Graham, T. J. Garnett, W. J. Robinson, J. R. Brown and G. J. C. White.

Mr. Fenner was born sixty-nine years ago in Michigan state of Scottish parents. During the civil war the family moved to Ontario, where he married and afterwards moved to South Dakota. In 1892 the family moved to Alberta and until 1905 he resided in Wetaskewin, where his first wife died. Early in 1905 with his two sons, Mr. Fenner came to Summerland. In the fall of 1907 Mr. Fenner married Miss Ethel Moke of Ontario. Mrs. Fenner and his sons have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

TWO POLICE COURT CASES DISMISSED

S. T. Elliott Charged as Result of Collision on Shore Road.

Information was laid in the local police court a few days ago to the effect that S. T. Elliott, district road superintendent, had violated some of the traffic regulations. The charge was the result of a collision between a government road vehicle driven by one Mesner, working under Mr. Elliott, and D. L. Sutherland's car. The information, however, was not laid by Mr. Sutherland. The case was dismissed.

A quarrel between H. W. Tavender and R. Smith resulted in information being laid by the former against the latter. The case came up for hearing in the police court early this week but was dismissed.

C. P. EVANS SELLS PROPERTY AT POINT

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CHILDREN'S PARTY

The St. Patrick's fancy dress children's party given in the G.W.V.A. hall on March 20th was a most delightful success. It is certainly true that children love dressing up in character.

All the children were in fancy dress and a pretty picture they made.

They had a splendid time with games and fun and plenty of good things to eat.

The costumes were very pretty and so many deserving prizes that a number of extra ones were presented. The judges decided that the 1st prize was won by Mrs. Downton's charming little girl, Nora Woods, who represented a poppy from tip to toe. The 2nd prize was won by Edith Verity, who made a very pretty sunflower with sunflower head-dress.

The boys' 1st prize went to George Mossop, who was cleverly dressed as a Hindu prince, and the 2nd prize to John Benmore, who was an Irishman dressed in green.

There was present quite a large gathering of parents who thoroughly enjoyed seeing the children and expressed the hope that the party would be repeated next year. The judges were Mrs. Holder, Mrs. Vicary and Mrs. Harris.

Those who were responsible are certainly to be congratulated upon the success of the party; it was well worth the trouble and labor involved.—Cont., too late for last week's issue.

Home is a sweet place where you can growl for service instead of tipping.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Naramata Board of Trade Seeks Restitution To Growers

A special general meeting of the Board of Trade was held on Monday evening, President George Weaver in the chair. The chief business of the evening was a discussion of the matter of the Commissioner's report on the Mutual handling of fruit shipments, and the following resolution was passed unanimously:

"Whereas the Duncan report regarding operation between certain fruit jobbers and brokers has shown underhand methods and false returns resulting in considerable loss to the fruit and vegetable industries in past years, and Whereas the Federal government instituted the Duncan investigation, Be it resolved that this board request the Federal government to prosecute those offenders to the limit of the law, and further that the government pass legislation this session making jobber-broker combinations illegal and a criminal offense and in general to carry out the recommendations of the Commissioner as contained in his report, and if possible to obtain restitution in full of monies wrongfully withheld from growers; And that copies of this resolution be sent to the Premier of the Dominion, Mr. Grote Stirling, M. P. and the Associated Boards of Trade."

The dumping of cans and other household debris on public ground was discussed, and Mr. Partridge requested to act in any cases which came within his jurisdiction as road foreman.

The meeting adjourned at 9.45.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Littlejohn, Jr. and family arrived on Thursday from Eston, Saskatchewan, and will take up residence on their orchard here. Pending the building of a house they will live in the Mitchell house on the bench road. Mr. Littlejohn reports that at the time of leaving Saskatchewan one of the worst blizzards of the winter was raging. He also says that the fruit grower is not alone in his troubles, as the prairie farmer is having a hard fight to live.

Mr. Howard Rounds returned on Friday from an extended visit with friends across the line.

Mr. and Mrs. Rushbury celebrated their wedding anniversary with a gathering of friends on Friday evening, thirty-two guests being present.

Mr. James Craig returned on Friday from Vancouver, where he had spent the winter months.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held in the basement of the Church on Wednesday, Mrs. F. Young presiding.

At the Methodist service on Sunday afternoon Rev. H. J. Armitage announced that he would hold the Easter service on Monday evening of the special meetings arranged for. Mrs. Lyons presided at the organ.

Winter Injury to Trees

Prepared for The Review by M. S. Middleton, B.S.A., District Horticulturist, Vernon, B.C.

Winter injury occurs in many different forms upon fruit trees and one of the most common is that of injury to the trunks and main branches, the injury which is usually termed "sunscald."

This form of injury has been observed generally throughout the north end of the Okanagan Valley. It is practically confined to the cambium or growing layer on the trunks and main branches, extending from near the ground upwards two or three feet, and is more severe and generally to be found on the tender varieties. The trouble is usually on the west or north side of the tree and cannot be detected except by cutting through the bark and examining the condition of the cambium. If this examination reveals a light yellow or greenish color just under the bark the tree, and cracking of the bark or the formation of a dark brown or almost black color, further attention must be given immediately or the tree will suffer to the extent of the injury. The degree of injury will vary with different trees in the orchard.

The serious feature with regard to trunk injury is that it is seldom noticed by the grower in time to effect a cure; usually the winter injured or sunscalded trees are dead or dying before they are discovered. In some cases the bark will split and heave away from the wood and later dry up and leave a large base on the affected side. In other cases the bark may cling on to the trunk and dry rot set in which later works into the wood of the tree. It is with all this in mind that the following recommendations for its proper treatment are being made, viz.:

That a thorough examination of the cambium of all your trees be made by making a slight cut with a knife. If any discoloration is found, immediately gouge or slit them up and down the length and breadth of the injury. These slits should be made from one and one-half inches to two inches apart.

The slits should be made just as narrow as possible, but must reach through the bark to the cambium. These slits heal over from both sides and by fall the affected parts will be quite healthy. A farrier's knife with the end turned up about three-quarters of an inch kept sharp makes an ideal tool to gouge out the slit in the bark.

The slitting should be done for the best results just after danger from advertising is duplicating your selling-talk in millions of places.

MUNICIPALITY WOULD BUY MOUNTAIN SIDE

Eight hundred dollars was the price asked by James Ritchie for twenty acres on the east side of Giant's Head according to a report made at the council meeting on Friday. The municipality wishes to buy a piece of hillside there on which there is some shale. As the whole one hundred acres is only assessed at three hundred dollars it was felt that some mistake had been made and Councilors Arkell and Smith were asked to take the matter up with Mr. Ritchie and to have him view the shale pit with them.

EARLY SHORT POOL GRANTED ON MINTOSHES

One Ten Day Pool For Early Fruit—Balance Season Pool

Will Be Great Advantage To Producers of Early Fruit

Growers of Macintosh Red apples in this part of the valley will be glad to learn that the Associated has consented to a ten-day pool on this variety, the balance of the crop to be a seasonal pool. This will be of considerable advantage to growers here whose Macs are ready for the market some days in advance of the average throughout the province.

The ten-day pool for the first of the Macintoshes is largely the result of the efforts of the Summerland Co-operative.

CAR ROLLS OVER ON LAKESHORE ROAD

L. J. Wood, field secretary of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association, ran his Ford off the side of the road just south of the Experimental Station on Saturday morning. Just how the accident occurred has not been learned but the car rolled completely over. Mr. Wood was not hurt and continued on to Kelowna by stage.

WANT LICENSES ISSUED LOCALLY

For the purpose of issuing drivers' licenses, a member of the government office staff, Penticton, was at the police court here on Tuesday afternoon. The chief of provincial police, and one of his staff and also a government agent had spent a day here previously; but there were still many who could not be served when the office closed at five o'clock on Tuesday.

There is much dissatisfaction in the announcement that there will not be another opportunity to obtain licenses here. It is thought that Summerland has enough motor cars and drivers to receive better consideration than is indicated by these two brief opportunities given them to obtain licenses.

It is felt that some local person should be appointed to issue these licenses, particularly the drivers' licenses, which must be applied for in person.

FARM BULL HAS FINE PEDIGREE

Is British Columbia Bred From Big Butterfat Strain.

Proof of the progress made in the breeding of Jerseys in British Columbia is shown by the recent purchase of a British Columbia-bred bull to replace the head of the Jersey herd at the Summerland experimental station, which died some little time ago, and which was an American-bred animal.

The new bull, which is ten months old, was sired by St. Mawes Oxford Beau 20278, a son of St. Mawes Lad 130501A, out of Edith's Oxford Belle 812080A.

His dam is Rosewood Model Kitty 7010, grand champion Duncan 1918-1910, and grand champion Vancouver 1910-1920; bred by Frank Lloyd Westcliffe, and now owned by Theo. Lister, Sardin. She has an R.O.P. of 10,819 pounds milk, 685 pounds butterfat at six years. She was sired by Rosewood King 2885, and is a daughter of Plasher Model Kitty son, and Violet's Mollie Ann 11590 7552. This cow has a record of 13,551 pounds milk and 715 pounds butterfat and is a daughter of Interest-terfa and is a daughter of Interest-terfa and is a daughter of Interest-terfa and is a daughter of Interest-terfa.

FIVE "DITCHES" MADE INTO TWO

Three Patrolmen Will Do Work Formerly Allotted to Five

By a re-arrangement of patrol work on the Summerland irrigation system, the services of two ditchmen will be dispensed with this year. The change affects only those sections of the system commonly known as the North Main, Siwash Flat, Jones Flat, Vanderburg and Gray ditches.

The pipe services on the Siwash Flat beat will be put in charge of the patrolman on the North Main, and the other services on the Siwash Flat section will be under the charge of the Jones Flat ditchman. The two front bench sections of the system, commonly referred to as the Vanderburg and Gray ditches, will be combined under one man.

The pay of the three ditchmen who are taking on this work, will be increased to eighty-five dollars.

SAY C.P.R. TO BUY G. N. LINE THRU OROVILLE

Receive Report of Deal For Spokane To Princeton Line

From Grand Forks and from Oroville come reports of the probable purchase by the C.P.R. of the Great Northern Railway line from Spokane to Grand Forks and west through Oroville to Princeton.

Rumors of a deal of this kind were current some months ago. The Oroville Gazette publishes the report that the C.P.R. is negotiating with the G.N.R. for the purchase of the Great Northern line running through Oroville to Princeton. Credence was given the report by the fact that J. McLeod of Winnipeg, assistant chief engineer of the C.P.R., was at Oroville and had spent a week going over the line. At present the Great Northern is losing money in the operation of that part of its line, while, says the Gazette, "if that section should be added to the C.P. line it would mean the saving of several hours in the schedule of its through trains to Vancouver and the elimination of travel over a long part of its line where there is little or no business to be had."

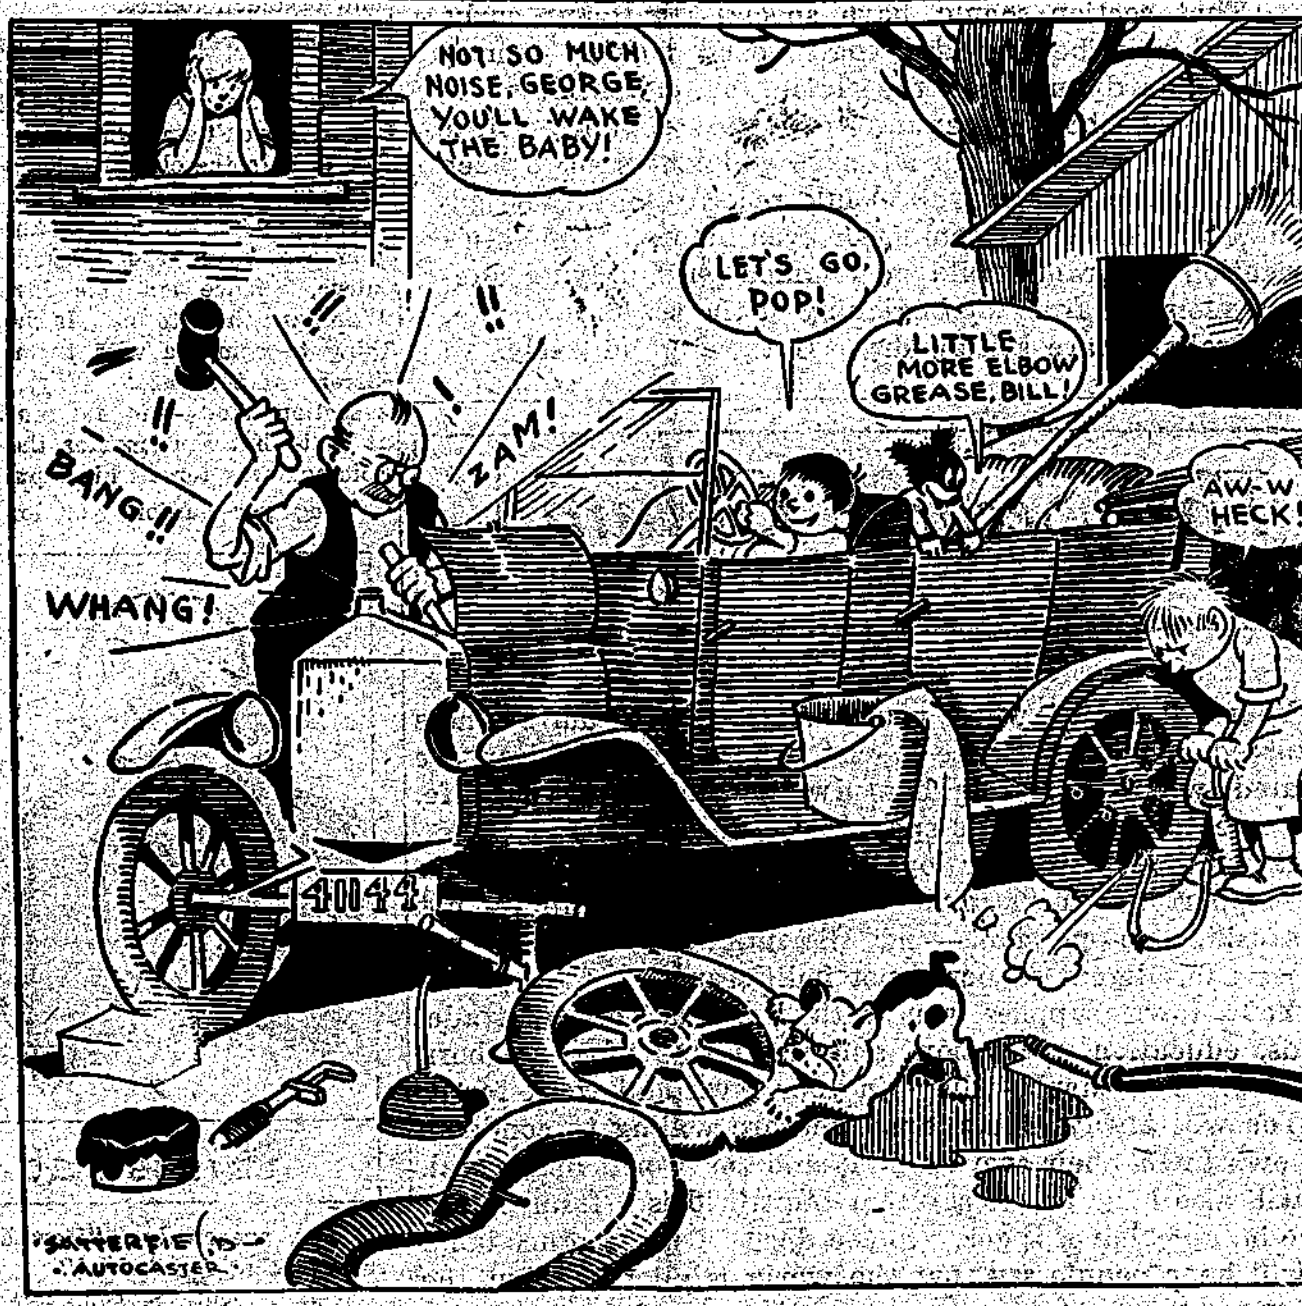

Grand Forks, B.C., Gazette, says that the consummation of negotiations for the purchase by the C.P.R. of the Spokane-Grand Forks branch of the G.N.R. is quite probable, according to persistent rumors; and states that Engineer McLeod has been making a careful survey of both lines in that district. The Gazette says further, it is also known that within recent weeks a survey has been made at Casado (just east of Grand Forks) with a view to consolidating the Great Northern line with the C.P. Railway into Grand Forks.

The run between the Coast and the Boundary-Kootenay country would be several hours shorter via Oroville than at present over the K.V.R.

Reavo Johnston and members of the council had a special meeting on Saturday evening last to consider suggested changes in the intake on the new sludge system being built in Garnett Valley. After discussing the question from all angles, they decided to remain with the original plan.

Too Much Like Motor Horn—Not Loud Enough

Some weeks ago the municipal authorities ordered an electric fire siren with a double horn. It arrived this week and was put up on a pole in front of Hotel Summerland. It was neither loud enough or distinctive enough in tone to be recognized as anything but a car horn. The siren was shipped back and the manufacturers will be requested to send one more suitable.

G. H. DOHERTY LEADS DISCUSSION ON COWS

Trout Creek Farmers' Institute Hear of Value of Dairy Cow

"The Value of the Dairy Cow to the Fruit Grower" was the subject of a discussion at the regular meeting of the Trout Creek Farmers, held on Wednesday evening last. This was very ably introduced and led by Mr. Geo. W. Doherty.

During the twenty or more years of fruit growing in the Okanagan Valley, said Mr. Doherty, many different methods had been tried to maintain and increase the fertility of the soil. First, clean cultivation, which proved a failure; next, various cover crops, but although some of these had proved most advantageous it was doubtful if they were altogether satisfactory. Barnyard manure is an essential if the soil is to be maintained in the highest state of fertility.

Mr. Doherty's statement that the manure should be applied as soon as made met with considerable opposition.

The speaker strongly advocated the pure bred Jersey and maintained that to be profitable a cow must produce 500 pounds of butterfat per year. The majority of cows here produced not more than from 200 to 300 pounds. Quality should be a cowkeeper's first consideration. Periodical testing is a necessity if boarders are to be eliminated. If a required number of cows could be guaranteed in the district a qualified tester would be appointed by the Provincial government, and those in favor of this should get in touch with Mr. Doherty.

Mr. E. T. Mountford, speaking on the quality of butter, strongly urged that the name of the maker appear on the wrapper of all butter, and asked that the meeting go on record as being in favor of legislation to this end.

Mr. J. J. Embree was elected a director in place of Mr. J. H. T. Worstold who has left the district.

M. Steuart Suggests A Salary Cut

Submit Proposition For Thousand Dollars Less Pay

Re-arrangement of the present staff of the Summerland Co-operative Growers Exchange was arranged for at the regular meeting of the directors on Monday afternoon. Under the new arrangement with the manager, M. Steuart, a saving of one thousand dollars was effected. Mr. Steuart's salary has been $4000 and under the new agreement with him it will be $3000. The proposition covering the reduction originated with Mr. Steuart.

In consideration of this substantial reduction, the directors arranged that Mr. Steuart would be allowed to plan his work in such a way that, while retaining full responsibility for the discharging of the duties of manager and the care of the growers' interests as fully and carefully as in the past, he will be allowed, in the slack season, a measure of freedom from constant attendance at the warehouse.

JOE GAYTON ELECTED COLLEGE SENIOR STICK

Speaks Before Unity Club On Subject of Curing Disease

A large gathering of Unity Club members and friends assembled on Tuesday afternoon, the speaker for the occasion being Dr. Andrew of Summerland. Mrs. J. M. Robinson presided. The subject of the address was the curing of disease, and the speaker referred to the many different methods practised at various times and in various countries. The old faith in herbs was referred to; together with the many forms of quackery foisted on mankind. Spiritual or divine healing was vigorously handled, and the influence of hysteria in numerous complaints was pointed out. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the lecturer. Mrs. Solly, Mrs. Andrew and Mrs. Fosbery were visitors from Summerland. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cross, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Nuttall and Mrs. Horswill.

TWO PLAYS BY LADIES' AID OF NARAMATA

Much Enjoyment And Good Cash Return Result From Entertainment

The entertainment conducted by Mrs. Amaron and given in the church on Friday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid was a great success and attracted a large audience.

The programme consisted of two short plays, interspersed with vocal and instrumental numbers and recitations by local friends and Summerland visitors. The first play, "Better than a doctor" depicted the imaginary sufferings of a fanciful maiden lady, Mrs. Hughes who refused to be consoled by the ministrations of her nurses (Mrs. Amaron and Mrs. Seafie) or the professional skill of her medical man (Mr. Gerald Williams) but quickly recovered on the visit of an old beau (Mr. F. Young) who held hands with her in the approved fashion and proved to be much "better than a doctor." The second comedy, "Gertrude Mason, M.D." showed the trials and disappointments of a young lady (Miss Cathie Hancock) who had embraced the career of a physician rather than accept the embraces of her suitor "Jack" and spent the day in waiting for patients who did not come. Her Irish waiting maid "Nora" (Mrs. Ritchie) feigns a toothache to give her mistress something to do and claims to have turned the tide towards success when the bell rings soon after, and a caller (Mrs. Seafie) is admitted. The supposed patient, however, has merely called to ask the address of the doctor's tailor, her mistress having been struck with admiration at the set of her clothes! The next visitor (Mrs. Patterson) explains that she has the reputation of being the best dressed woman in New York, and wants to borrow $150 on some jewelry in order to buy a darling.

LOCAL BOYS UP AGAINST CHAMPIONS

A Brandon College basketball team visited Winnipeg recently where they had a stiff encounter with the champions of Manitoba. The result of the game, which was the best and the most keenly fought game seen in Winnipeg this season, was 35-34 in favor of Winnipeg.

Two Summerland boys, Joe and Warron Gayton are on the college team. Joe is a guard and Warron plays centre.

There is going to be considerable development this year on mining properties in the vicinity of the north end of Okanagan Lake, according to the Vernon News.

ATTITUDE OF NASH HOUSES FORCES ACTION

Will Put Salesmen On Prairie Field And Open Warehouses

Means Modification of Plans For Brokerage Offices

Directors of the Associated Growers of B. C. Ltd. have definitely adopted a new sales policy which is a radical departure from the policy of the past. As a result of the decision made at the last meeting, plans are now under way for marketing fruit direct to the retailer. This decision is said to be a result of the attitude of the Nash people, who control a large number of the wholesale houses on the prairies.

In a statement issued to The Review and other papers in the territory covered by the organization, the Associated Growers say:

The management of the Associated Growers of British Columbia, Limited, announce the acceptance and endorsement by the directors of their sales executive's recommendations as to 1925 marketing plans. These provide for the establishment of distributing warehouses at central prairie points combined with a highly efficient staff of salesmen to secure distribution direct to the retail trade at all outlying points.

Active work in connection with the carrying out of this plan is now proceeding. The plan is popular with the producer and received the unqualified endorsement of such successful exponents of co-operation as Mr. W. L. Macken and Mr. W. J. Park of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, who are active directors of the Associated Growers.

Previous to making this decision, the Associated had decided to enter the brokerage field under the name of "The Canadian Fruit Distributors, Limited." This plan will be modified and representatives established at Vancouver and Winnipeg only.

From reports to hand from prairie retailers the plan as outlined will receive their undivided support and it is felt that the action indicated will be highly acceptable to all growers, there being every reason to believe all producers will rally to the support of the organization and its directors, in their effort to bring the producer and consumer closer together.

TOMATO PRICES ARE NOW FIXED

Canners and Growers Agree On Scale in Most District.

Prices for tomatoes during the coming season have been practically settled between the canners and growers in the Okanagan district, according to an announcement by T. Bulman, president of the B. C. Tomato Growers' Association at Kelowna. At Oliver the price will be $19 for John Bear tomatoes and the minimum size 1 1/2 inch; at Kamloops, $18.50 and the size taken down to 2 inches. At Kelowna $16.50 had been offered for Earlina which was the only tomato the canners wanted in that district and they were willing to concede a 2-inch screen.

In the Kamloops district conditions were not so satisfactory, as, owing to the establishment of a new cannery at Ashcroft, arrangements with the Chinese growers of that section had been somewhat disturbed. It was, however, thought a satisfactory arrangement would be reached and the prospects for the coming season, according to Mr. Bulman, looked bright for B.C. tomato growers.

DIRECT DEALING

It is a radical departure from the marketing methods which have always been followed, that the Associated has decided upon. That the method of the past could no longer continue had been so apparent to the directors that a decision had been reached some weeks ago to establish their own brokerage offices. The announcement this week of an even more radical change having been made comes as a general surprise and the outcome will be watched with the keenest interest, not only by the growers but by citizens generally.

The welfare of the fruit grower in B. C. depends on the success of this venture.

As we understand it, warehouses will be maintained at Vancouver and Winnipeg. At other points there will be representatives where car lots will be broken and distributed.

Probably, at no time has there been such a favorable opportunity for establishing direct relations with the retailer. The Duncan report will do much to make the dealer more sympathetic toward the producer and hence more ready to deal with the organization.

The optimist is the man who remembers when the coal bill comes in that he isn't taking ice just now.

COMPULSORY AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

Automobile owners in the State of California will be compelled to carry insurance, according to reports of proposed legislation in that state. Such a measure has much to commend it. Not infrequently a driver, who is the cause of an accident in which the other suffers heavy loss, is financially worthless and it is quite useless for the injured one to attempt to recover damages. With compulsory insurance the injured one would be able to obtain some compensation.

If they go to bed before 2 a.m. they have had the radio at least a week.

BOOSTING THE COUNTRY.

Some writers make quite a job of ridiculing boards of trade and other like organizations because they exist to boost their home communities.

But after all aren't some of these self-appointed guardians of culture a bit superficial? The editor is of the opinion that a broad view of this western characteristic—pride in the home town—will convince one that it has a very definite and valuable place in the up-building of a better country.

Before we can have improvement we must have pride. The old well known saying might be changed to read, "Pride goeth before improvement." And boosting is merely an expression of pride.

Think what it means to have thousands of small cities and towns scattered throughout the width and breadth of the land all boosting to build themselves up industrially, commercially, and intellectually. We can include the word intellectually, because before we have culture we must have prosperity—before a nation can set about the task of improving itself mentally its citizens must first be prosperous and comfortable.

The speed of growth and development in all western Canada is after all amazing—it is one of the greatest romances in all history. And one thing that has contributed much to this development is the pride good citizens take everywhere in the progress of their communities.

So to those citizens of Summerland who are proud of their community and ready to boost everything that makes for progress we say: Keep on. You are contributing your bit to its improvement and to the growth and up-building of our province and nation. And don't fail to identify yourself with the board of trade.

Something much needed: shoe strings that last as long as shoes.

Co-operation put the unity in community.

Specially prepared for The Review by J. Tait, District Field Inspector.

Top working of apple trees will be the orchardist's next important job.

There are a few odd trees in many orchards that could be worked over to advantage. This work can be done any time now.

Is there a section of the orchard that has a tendency to dry out sooner than the rest?

That section should have special treatment early. The sod may be gravelly; coarse sand lacking humus, or with a hardpan close to the surface, or very shallow soil. The moisture holding capacity of a coarse, sandy soil is low. Trees growing on such soils and which have been producing drouth spot fruit should receive the first irrigation at the time of blossoming or even before. The entire irrigation program should be founded on supplying adequate moisture from the beginning of the season. Orchards are getting dry. Get water on early.

The Second Column

OWN YOUR OWN.

Your own town is where your home is, where your business is situated, where your vote is cast, where your children are educated, where your neighbors dwell, and where your life, or the greater part of it, is spent.

It has a right to your loyalty. It supports you and you must support it. Your town wants your friendship—not partisanship; co-operation—not dissention; sympathy—not criticism; intelligent support—not indifference.

Your town supplies you with law and order, trade, friends, education, recreation, and the rights of a freeborn Canadian. You should believe in your town and work for it.

You will always find people who are willing to condemn their own town, their own country, and the world in general. You will also hear people say that the world is a funny place to live in, and that it is going to the dogs. On the other hand you will hear people say that the world is all right, but the people that live in it are all wrong, and we believe there is a great deal in this.

Compare our lives in Western Canada today with those of our forefathers fifty years ago. In those days there were no railroads, no motor cars, no telephones, no lighting plants, no radio, and a thousand other things that make life worth living today.

In spite of the fact that conditions are not as good as we would like them to be, Western Canada is a good place to live in, and your town is the best town in Western Canada.

HUMORIST WRITES ROAD SIGNS.

"Bugs" Baer, a well-known newspaper humorist, has written and published a series of "road signs," probably merely intended to entertain. But many of them might be erected with benefit to the safety of traffic.

"Don't run up your mileage with skids," contains a lot of real caution in tabloid form. "Don't do your thinking with brakes," will strike a responsive chord in every man who has had near nervous prostration at the sight of the reckless driver stopping in a hurry. "There are three grades of eggs, but only one grade of crossing and that's dangerous," ought to be pasted in the hats of all those who try to "beat the train" across its right of way.

"The glass in your windshield is the same stuff they put in hospital windows. Which will you look through?" is a very pertinent query, and "Fifteen miles an hour may be a chill, but fifty is fever," is not too medical to be understood.

To towns troubled with too much speeding by tourists, Mr. Baer suggests, "Speed limit in this town fifteen miles an hour. One day for every mile over that!" or "We have seven hotels and one jail, fake your pick."

"Don't try to scare locomotives with your horn," "The minute you save may be your last one," "You wouldn't travel on a freight train, so don't try to travel under one," are all good to remember.

Mr. Baer intended to be funny, and succeeded; he may not have intended to be serious, but many can take his cleverness seriously with benefit to themselves and the general public.

In other words (Mr. Baer once more) "Accident insurance is a good thing to have without the accident."

RADIO AND FARM.

Hours go by and the magic instrument is used to bring into the country home music, song, speech, from widely separated centres. In fact, the world comes and goes in a marvellous way over the radio. And the lonesomeness of the farm has been vanquished. Instead of being isolated and apart after the sun goes down, the country home is at once in touch with the world, through the air. That is the "dream realized, and the question answered."

Laughter has the approval of the world. It is the sign of a merry heart, and according to an ancient authority, "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine."

By starting now and working every day on it, you may get your Christmas shopping done early.

Pat O'Hooley on THE LOST ART

By I. H. HOLDEN.

"'U's an' old sayin' that man is gettin' weaker an' wiser; but there's nothin' t' ut," said Pat O'Hooley, addressing the section crew, while he filled his pipe. "There's no doubt that man is weaker all roight, an' he's gettin' worse all th' toime; but that's not sayin' he's wiser, fer th' average man of today is an intellectual nonentity, compared t' th' great min of olden toimes."

"Huh!" grunted Tim Kelley, turning up his stub nose, "speak for yourself, Pat, you're not talking to us. We won't stay where you put us. We disdain the classification with the heathens! Are we not superior in every way? Look at the knowledge that we have; the works of art, music, science and the inventions! Who gave them to us? Is there anything to compare with them in the history of the past? Why, I'm just a section hand—and not much good at that—but I'm smarter than King Solomon was fer all his reputation!" "Beg yer pardon, yer lordship!"

FAMOUS PICTURE SHOWN AT THEATRE

The Hunchback of Notre Dame, the famous screen version of Victor Hugo's classic novel, drew good sized audiences at the Rifalo on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. V. M. Lockwood, the proprietor of the theatre, put this on as a benefit for the high school students fund, half of the net proceeds going to the students, who will use the money for the purchase of playground and other needed equipment.

WINDSHIELD STICKERS ARE NOW ILLEGAL

Automobile windshield and rear windows must be kept free of stickers and anything that will obstruct the view of the driver. Only the lower part of the windshield may now carry stickers, according to the new regulations passed by order-in-council on the recommendation of the attorney-general. The new regulations also require all motorcycles to carry rear reflectors.

worm in the fruit. Simple, isn't it, but not so simple to keep the fly from doing his part of the damage.

These worms, or maggots as they are called, grow too big for the fruit, work themselves out and drop to the ground where they change into a brown seed-like stage, which looks something like a grain of wheat. In this way they live through the winter and hatch out into the fly in the early summer.

How to get the best of this enemy is still quite a problem, but it can be done. At this time if the chickens are turned into the currant or gooseberry patch they will eat many of the brown seed homes of the fly. Care must be taken not to let the chickens dig too deeply around the bushes; for they will injure the roots.

Sometimes the dirt is taken away from the bushes for about three inches and scattered in the chicken pen or upon the road where the seeds are killed. Both these methods help to control the enemy but must be supplemented by the use of spray in the spring time.

A solution made of sodium arsenate 1 ounce, dissolved in 1 quart of boiling water together with 2 quarts of molasses and 1 gallon of water is the best spray for these enemies. This spray should be applied in three or four light sprinklings when all the gooseberries and most of the currants have set and should be put on at intervals of two weeks, except when it rains, then repeated after the rain.

Current and Gooseberry Worms

Many a glass of currant jelly and numberless gooseberry pies have not been made by the best cook in the land (mother) because the fruit was wormy. We have often wondered how all those worms could get into the currants and gooseberries.

Two small flies, one yellow and the other red did the work. Shortly after the fruit has set on the bushes, these flies come along and with their sharp tail-pieces puncture the skin of the young fruit and lay an egg inside. This puncture heals over and in due course of time the egg produces a

 ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS
 Vacant, unreserved, surveyed, Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE
 Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stump-ago.

HOMESITE LEASES
 Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES
 For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

With the air full of talk concerning legitimate and illegitimate, legitimate and illegitimate, there is a certain interest attached to a decision handed down on December 9th of last year by Mr. Justice Bruneau of Montreal. The case was one in which the concern popularly known as "His Master's Voice" petitioned to restrain certain wholesalers from "unlawfully interfering" with their business by selling gramophone records to dealers without restriction as to the price to be charged to the public, such provision being one of the clauses in all the plaintiff firm's contracts. The judge dismissed the petition on the ground that the defendant firms had a right to purchase "His Master's Voice" products on the market and to resell them at such prices and on such terms as they thought fit. The judgment also held that the plaintiffs had no right to fix the price at which dealers were bound to sell to the public, and that the fixing of an unreasonable price by such method constituted a monopoly aimed at and punishable by law. An appeal against this decision was at once lodged by "His Master's Voice" but the result has apparently not yet been made public.

The important part of this matter so far as the public are concerned seems to hinge on the right interpretation of the term unreasonable. If the price of a commodity is arbitrarily fixed at a much higher point than would allow a fair profit to all concerned there is certainly a distinct grievance. But assuming that such is not the case there seems to be a very decided advantage in the fixing of a standard figure to be observed by all agents for a specialized product like a phonograph record. Probably the vast majority of record buyers are quite content to be able to purchase any given record at a fixed price which is the same at all dealers, and thus be spared the trouble of looking around for a possible rebate from some price-cutter. And the intelligent buyer is well aware that he cannot, or should not expect $2 value for half that amount and that the reproduction of a masterpiece of singing or playing must necessarily cost far more than that of a common fox trot. The legal view, however, probably is that when the producer has sold to his agents at a price which is profitable to him he has no right to go further and set a standard price for the public. It is a matter which seems to admit of more than one opinion, and the dividing line between proper and improper restrictions is evidently very fine.

It will be remembered that one of the objectives aimed at in a certain recent and notorious correspondence was "putting the skids under" the unsuspecting REBATES fruit grower with the praiseworthy object of easing his descent into the place prepared for him. One of the most effective "skids" seems to have been that plank commonly known as rebating. When skillfully placed this was capable of results which were not fully appreciated by the victim until he reached the bottom. The rebate plank was apparently applied in more than one way, being sometimes used to mitigate the harshness of the Anti-dumping Act, and guilelessly held in position by the officials installed to protect the Canadian grower. But its main activities were directed to the amelioration of the jobber-broker's hard lot in handling carlots at points of distribution. 'Twas then that the rebate system became a veritable shield and buckler to the consignee and a weapon of offense against the defenseless shipper. "These apples," writes the former, "show signs of breaking down, but cannot be tossed unless out open." "But they were all examined and passed by a government inspector on the eve of shipment," replies the shipper. "No matter—we must have a rebate, and will let you know in due course how much we are going to take." The procedure varies in different cases, in one instance a few boxes being left out for inspection as evidence, the remainder of the car being distributed and claimed on in bulk!

It is admitted that, where perishable fruit is concerned the need of adjustment will sometimes arise, but it is evident that there is too much scope for abuse under existing conditions. Government inspection at both ends should be enough to check this, but it must be universal to be effective. And it should also apply to storage facilities at various points. A grower recently returned from a winter trip, and telling of his informal investigations into conditions at different places on the prairies speaks of a deplorable lack of knowledge concerning proper temperatures in some of the storehouses. There is naturally a close connection between storage conditions and rebates, and the subject is one which calls for expert handling.

Every few years we notice a revival of the notion that men's dress should be made more attractive than it is alleged to be at present, and on every FEATHERS such occasion we see the idea gradually die its natural death. The only traces left of it are a fitful and short-lived epidemic of ultra brilliant colors in ties and socks, together with slight variations in the cut of coat and trousers. The past few years have inflicted on certain types of the rising generation a pinchback waist with buttons not very far below the shoulder blades, and the latest in trousers designed for these same types are said to have a decided flare at the bottoms, much after the style of the Old Kent Road coater immortalized by one Albert Chevalier. This style, by the way, was lovingly described by the wearers as "cut saucy round the trotters" and was profusely embellished by rows of mother-of-pearl buttons running from the bottom upwards to a height which was regulated by individual preference. Thus attired, "Enery Awkins" was a thing of beauty and a joy for ever, but still fell far short of the adornments common to the time of Charles the Second, and longingly called to mind by some wistful persons of today. It seems to be forgotten that, even in the periods of silks and laces for men's wear, the extremes were confined to what we may call the leisured classes, and that those who constituted the workaday world of those times were arrayed in as sober fashion as the men of this generation. Knee breeches certainly were in general fashion, but they are still represented by knickers of various patterns, and on the whole the average man's dress of the present day would probably lose nothing by comparison.

AUTOLYCUS:
"MEET THE WIFE"

On Tuesday evening next, the 14th inst., the popular comedy, "Meet the Wife," will be staged in The Empress Theatre, Penticton, and on Wednesday evening in The Empress Theatre Kelowna. After a most successful rendition in The Empress Theatre in Vernon, it is to be repeated there by request on the 16th of this month. Tickets have been on sale in that town for some time and 25 per cent of the tickets sold at the time of going to press were to people who had seen the play before. They claim that it is well worth the price and well worth seeing again. In North Okanagan tickets have been secured by people in Grindrod, Enderby, Armstrong, Oyama and Lumby, and carloads are going over thirty miles to enjoy an evening's exhilarating enjoyable amusement.

The play depicts the ups and downs of life on an Okanagan fruit ranch as experienced by people from Great Britain, English, Scottish, Irish, French and Canadian characteristics are portrayed in a most interesting and skilful but unoffensive manner. From beginning to end, the piece fairly bristles with mirthful situations, and an evening of thoroughly wholesome enjoyment may be anticipated.

Announcement is specially made that the members of the cast will travel by motor car and not by boat, so as to assure timely connections and the opening of the evening's entertainment on schedule time.

The Vernon News of February 20th dealt at considerable length with the able manner in which the various performers rendered their respective parts and was profuse in its praise of the Okanagan comedy. The following is quoted from its report: "The performance well merited the very fine house which greeted those players, and we feel quite sure that, should they show elsewhere, they would receive and well merit a bumper house."

Do not fail to secure your seat in time and then you can anticipate an evening of unalloyed amusement on Tuesday or Wednesday evening of next week at Penticton or Kelowna.

HAS MOTION PICTURE OF DRUMMING PARTRIDGE

Devising a new kind of motion picture camera with a built-in motor that is almost noiseless in operation, Burton S. Moore, proprietor of the Nictau Camps in New Brunswick, has succeeded in taking about 4,000 feet of film of wild life in action which will be shown in due course on Canadian and United States screens. He has been particularly successful in depicting every motion in that special phenomenon by partridges known as drumming.

Above the Knees, Please

Paris rulers of fashion say to women all over the world: "Wear your skirts above your knees and paint your ears red." And the pathetic fact is that millions of women will wear skirts so short as to be silly, and paint their ears without loss of time. Also the eyelids are to be stained dark brown or blue, the eyelashes curled, and the inside of the nostril stained bright red.

The short skirt, in reason, is sensible; a step toward common sense, and away from microbes. Red ears, when natural, indicate good blood condition. But for women to wear skirts that would look foolish on a child, paint artificial henna on their ears, curl their lashes and color their eyelids, that seems too much. However, back of it all there is divine wisdom, undoubtedly. Woman is on her way to some grand destiny. Let us observe and admire, but not criticize.—Arthur Brisbane.

Codling Moth Control

By BEN HOY

Assistant District Horticulturist.

Is spraying for codling moth worth while in the Okanagan Valley? Are there sufficient codling moth present to warrant the expense of spraying?

There is perhaps no other insect that destroys as much fruit or costs more to fight in the apple orchards of North America than the codling moth. We have had so little of it that many growers cannot begin to realize what it would mean to them to have codling moth in their orchards.

There is one point that all interested in the growing and marketing of fruit are agreed upon and that is: the cost of production must be kept as low as possible.

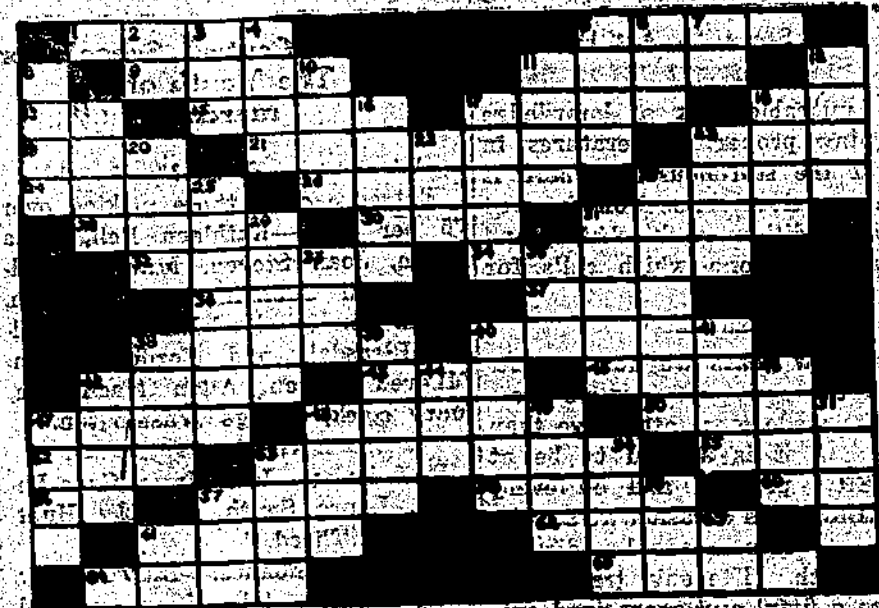

At the present time, owing to the efforts of the horticultural branch of the provincial department of agriculture, we are commercially free from codling moth.

The second question, the ever-increasing acreage under quarantine speaks for itself. The codling moth menace is growing. The worms are here and spreading over a greater area annually.

What are we going to do about it? We cannot afford to spray! Can we afford not to spray and continue to raise apples? Every codling moth killed now will check the spread of more than hundreds killed a few years from now.

During the last ten years, the acreage under quarantine for codling moth has increased about one thousand acres most of which has been during the last three years.

ANSWER TO LAST PUZZLE

Mixed His Physiology
The following remarkable statement was included in the examination paper turned in by a boy:
"The human body is divided into three parts—the head, the chest and the stummkick. The head contains the eyes and branes, if any. The chest contains the lungs and a piece of liver. The stummkick is devoted to the bowels of which there are five, a, e, i, o, u, and sometimes w and y."

Throughout the Illinois-Indiana districts where the great tornado swept, taking a toll of 1000 lives and injuring 3000, all selfishness is forgotten as states and nation make the effort to render relief and assistance. FAVORITE HYMNS AND THEIR MEANINGS

"STILL, STILL WITH THEE"

It is doubtful whether America has ever produced another family equal to the one of which Harriet Beecher Stowe, the author of the hymn, "Still, Still with Thee," was a member.

In 1832 Harriet, who was then twenty years of age, went to Cincinnati with her father who had been made President of Lane Theological Seminary.

While in Cincinnati, Mrs. Stowe often visited the slaves, and witnessed the escape of many to Canada.

In 1855 Henry Ward Beecher published a hymn-book, in which there were three hymns by Mrs. Stowe.

Of these three the last named has become a classic, and is found in nearly every good collection of hymns.

The hymn touches the depths of the soul life. Mrs. Stowe's life was by no means one of unbroken ease.

For many years she was in poor health and at times suffered great physical pain.

His brain was affected and he never was himself again. In spite of such a succession of severe blows, Mrs. Stowe maintained a firm trust in the Divine wisdom and goodness.

When the soul awaketh, and life's shadows flee; O in that hour, fairer than daylight dawning, Shall rise the glorious thought—I am with Thee."

NUT CULTURE IN OKANAGAN VALLEY

By J. U. Gellatly

As a crop resource of this valley, which gets the grower away from the attendant worries of a perishable crop, such as soft fruits, and gives him a crop of a nonperishable nature of high commercial value, I am convinced that no other line of agricultural endeavor can equal nut culture.

In entering this branch of agriculture one may do so with the knowledge that nut culture is well past the experimental stage, with an open and growing home market running well over four million dollars.

That there need be no delay in the planting of commercial nut groves, other than the limited supply of suitable, hardy, acclimatized nursery stock, which cannot be produced on short notice, and should, to give the best results, be produced in our own valley from trees now growing here and producing for many years good crops of nuts, which equal in size

Mose Lightfoot, one of the best hod carriers on the job, lost his footing and fell to the street, four storeys below.

Mose lit on his head, struck the cement pavement and went through to the basement.

When the foreman went to the basement, expecting to find Mose cold and stiff, he met Mose coming up the steps.

"Great Scott, man, aren't you killed?" he cried.

"No," Mose replied, dusting off his clothes. "I guess dat concrete pavement musta broke mah fall."

Pyrex glass is made by adding boric anhydride and salts of aluminum and sodium.

and appearance and surpass in quality the best importations.

Further it is already proven that nut groves, when properly planted to take care of pollination, will produce a crop as quickly as the general run of our other orchard trees.

clock she has seen. This leads to the discovery that she is on the wrong floor, the jeweller's office being below. Then comes a girl who has crushed her hand, and Dr. Gertrude, not able to bear the sight of blood gives her first and only real patient $5 to go to another doctor. Following on this visit is one from a lady (Miss Wright) who seeks medical aid for an overfed pet dog, and weeps pathetically when it is indignantly refused. Finally two young friends (the Misses Forrie Lyons, and Marie Hancock) call and persuade the disappointed doctor that "Jack" is wearing himself away on her account and get her consent to a meeting. Nora is told, and promptly drops the tray of afternoon tea cups in her delight.

The other items of the evening included a pianoforte duet by Misses D. Cris and E. Horsewill, songs by Mrs. Armitage and Mr. Boothe of Summerland, a recitation by Mrs. Boothe and a pantomime by Misses V. Partridge and E. Baker. The visitors and performers were entertained later by the Ladies' Aid at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Baker. The receipts for the evening amounted to $40.

Correspondence

A Memorial Suggestion

Editor Review,
Dear Sir: Have you space for yet another letter on the subject of the memorial?

I think the school site is eminently suitable insofar as it keeps the ideals of self-devotion and patriotism before the eyes of the young, but it is too entirely in West Summerland to be the united memorial of the two towns.

I think a more dominant site, such as the ridge above the hospital or one of the headlands overlooking the lake would be more representative. The lake is our chief artery of communication and those on incoming and outgoing steamers would see that Summerland had not forgotten those who died that we might live in peace and safety.

If the design were to be that chosen by the War Graves Commission, than which nothing is more beautiful, the Cross of Sacrifice in the shaft could be wired and lit up on nights of national thanksgiving.

To make it a more imposing landmark the column could be mounted on a cairn, and if everyone in the district brought a stone towards the building of it, as Kossuth's countrymen and countrywomen did to his, one could feel one had had a share in the building of the memorial over and above what one gave in dollars and cents.

Hoping this letter is not too long,
Truly Yours,
A CLIFF DWELLER.

Memorial Site

Editor, Review.
Dear Sir: The thanks of all who are keenly interested in the proposed Memorial are due to your correspondent "A Valley Resident" for his wide-minded and opportune letter on the subject.

If the position taken up by a "Resident of the Flat", whose letter appeared in your previous issue, were to be adopted by others, each making his subscription conditional on his own particular view being accepted as regards the site, probably there would never be any memorial erected at all to our brave men; which would be to our lasting shame.

For my part the Park would seem to be anything but an appropriate site. It is a pretty little spot and quite useful as a camping ground for passing tourists and occasional picnics, but though we recognize its value I think we should also recognize that it is, unfortunately, not sufficiently near to the life of the place to be at all suitable for the purpose we have in view. It is only on rare occasions, like the Apple Show, that the majority of the residents ever visit the Park and a me-

Deal Direct With Retailer

Unsatisfactory distributing channels have long chafed the producer and consumer alike, and the adoption of the above-mentioned policy will mean a tremendous shortening of the distance between these two individuals, with a consequent increase in distribution.

T. Croil, Summerland's representative on the board of directors of the Associated, states that recent developments practically forced the Association to the decision to sell direct to the retailers.

Mr. Croil went up to Vernon on Monday and attended the local managers' meeting and spent the rest of the week in attendance at the directors' meeting and spent the rest of the week in attendance at the directors' meeting. He returned home Saturday night.

morial erected there would therefore NOT be constantly before us as it should be, to bring to mind the Great Sacrifice made by those from amongst us who died for their Country and Freedom.

As "A Resident of the Flat" says that he has never seen a War Memorial that was not placed in a public park, we can only conclude that his travels have not taken him very far afield; he would have noticed that even in this Valley, neither the Penticton, Peachland, Westbank nor Coldstream Memorial is in any park. Each of them occupies a prominent position adjoining, and in full view of, the main street of the town.

I take it that the decision as to the site where our memorial shall be erected will rest with the meeting of subscribers which will no doubt be called as soon as the fund is sufficiently advanced to warrant definite action being taken. Meanwhile, like "A Valley Resident", I intend to "do my bit" towards the fund, wherever the majority of subscribers may decide that it is best to erect it, and can only trust that it will be generally recognized how unworthy of the subject, and how futile, are "conditional subscriptions" like that of the "Resident of the Flat."

Yours truly,
C. NAPIER HIGGIN.

NO CONCERN OF COUNCIL SAYS POUNDKEEPER

Says Mr. Kirk Will Be Paid For Foreign Bank Note.

D. C. Thompson assured the municipal council on Saturday that he had no intention of doing J. A. Kirk out of five dollars, short paid him on a damage claim against Indian cattle, as covered by the story in the last issue of The Review. The five dollars shortage is the result of the discovery that an Argentine paper bill, remitted to Mr. Kirk is of practically no value. Mr. Thompson protested against the action of the council in writing him, demanding that he settle with Mr. Kirk, declaring that this was not the concern of the council. It was a case, he said, between Mr. Kirk and himself. He had taken the foreign money on the assurance of the Indian policeman that it was worth five dollars. Learning differently he had made a request to the Indians for the five dollars and had been hoping to get it, but finally handed the matter over to the municipal constable, and the latter had put the claim in the hands of the provincial police.

Mr. Thompson thought that the passing of money, not legal tender, was a subject for the police commission to deal with, rather than the council. He was not an employee of the municipal council but an appointee.

In answer to this statement Mr. Thompson was told that it was up to the council to see that he did his duty as an appointee.

Before retiring Mr. Thompson again assured the council that he was determined to get the five dollars from the Indians and that Mr. Kirk would certainly be paid for the worthless bill.

SCHOOLS DEBATE ON A TIMELY SUBJECT

Penticton And Summerland High Schools Meet in Each Town.

Summerland and Penticton high school pupils held a public debate last Thursday evening on the subject, "Resolved that Okanagan fruit should be protected by tariff."

Three debaters came up from Penticton to take the negative and another three from here debated with a Penticton trio the same night in the latter town. In both debates the affirmative won. Here the affirmative was taken by Willie Thornber, Harold White and Cyril Mossop. The Penticton debaters were Marjorie Streeter, Reuben Nesbitt and Winnifred Travis.

The judges were W. Buskin, Penticton and W. C. Kelley and J. W. S. Logie, Summerland. One of the factors which gave the victory to the local trio was the reading of their arguments by some of the visiting debaters.

In giving the decision of the judges W. C. Kelley expressed his appreciation of the idea of the interschool debates and hoped they would be continued.

Quite a large number of parents and others interested attended the debate which was held in the public school.

The Summerland team who took the negative at Penticton were Dorothy Garnett, Orville Dunham and Robert Darke.

TO IMPROVE SOUTH FRONT BENCH ROADS

W. A. Caldwell again applied to the council on Saturday for improvement of the grades on two hills, one on the road running north from his front bench property and the other at Orr's corner.

Councillor Arkell, chairman of the roads committee, assured Mr. Caldwell that this would have been attended to before now but for the work in Garnett Valley, and that both places would have attention very soon. It would not be a big job, he said, to improve the hill on the front road and a little change in the location of the road at the Orr corner would lessen the grade there.

CLEAR WAY FOR WATER EXTENSION

Municipality Assured Service Will Be Permanent Charge on Land.

Writing the municipal council in answer to a communication from them, Mr. J. L. Logie, representing the Summerland Development Company, Limited, assured the council, in substance, that water rates on lands for which service was requested would be a permanent charge.

The correspondence arose out of the request of the company for an extension of the irrigation service to a parcel of lots east of Giant's Head, and which will be served by the new siphon crossing Happy Valley. Mr. Logie recommended that the council require all buyers to sign the water agreement so as to avoid possible trouble later. The council looked upon this letter as a definite commitment of the company.

It is said that in the past some lands sold by the company, at which time irrigation charges on the land began, had later reverted to the vendors, who claimed, under the agreement, that they were exempt from irrigation charges.

SUMMERLAND BOY WINS MANY DISTINCTIONS

James Marshall Given Important Position In Ontario.

According to information reaching his parents lately, the unusually brilliant college career of Mr. James Marshall has been crowned by his being appointed assistant entomologist for the province of Ontario. Jimmie, as he is familiarly known amongst his many friends in the district, has had a singularly successful four year term at the agricultural college; his list of triumphs being almost unique for a student so young.

The following is a list of his achievements: first year, head of class and winner of scholarship attendant on same; second year, winner of Governor General's medal awarded student attaining highest standing in class; third year, head of year and winner of '05 scholarship, awarded student with highest standing in studies and sports; fourth year, appointed assistant entomologist for province of Ontario.

In the athletic arena he has been equally successful, being a member of the association football team, intercollegiate champions; captain of the champion intercollegiate basketball team and coach for the McDonald Hall ladies basketball team.

The appointment in question is a fitting climax to one who has stood prominently above his fellows in the classroom and on the campus. By the charm of his engaging personality he has won many friends who will watch his future career with great interest.

Mr. Marshall is the youngest son of our respected citizens, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Marshall.

STORE INTERIOR IS IMPROVED BY CHANGES

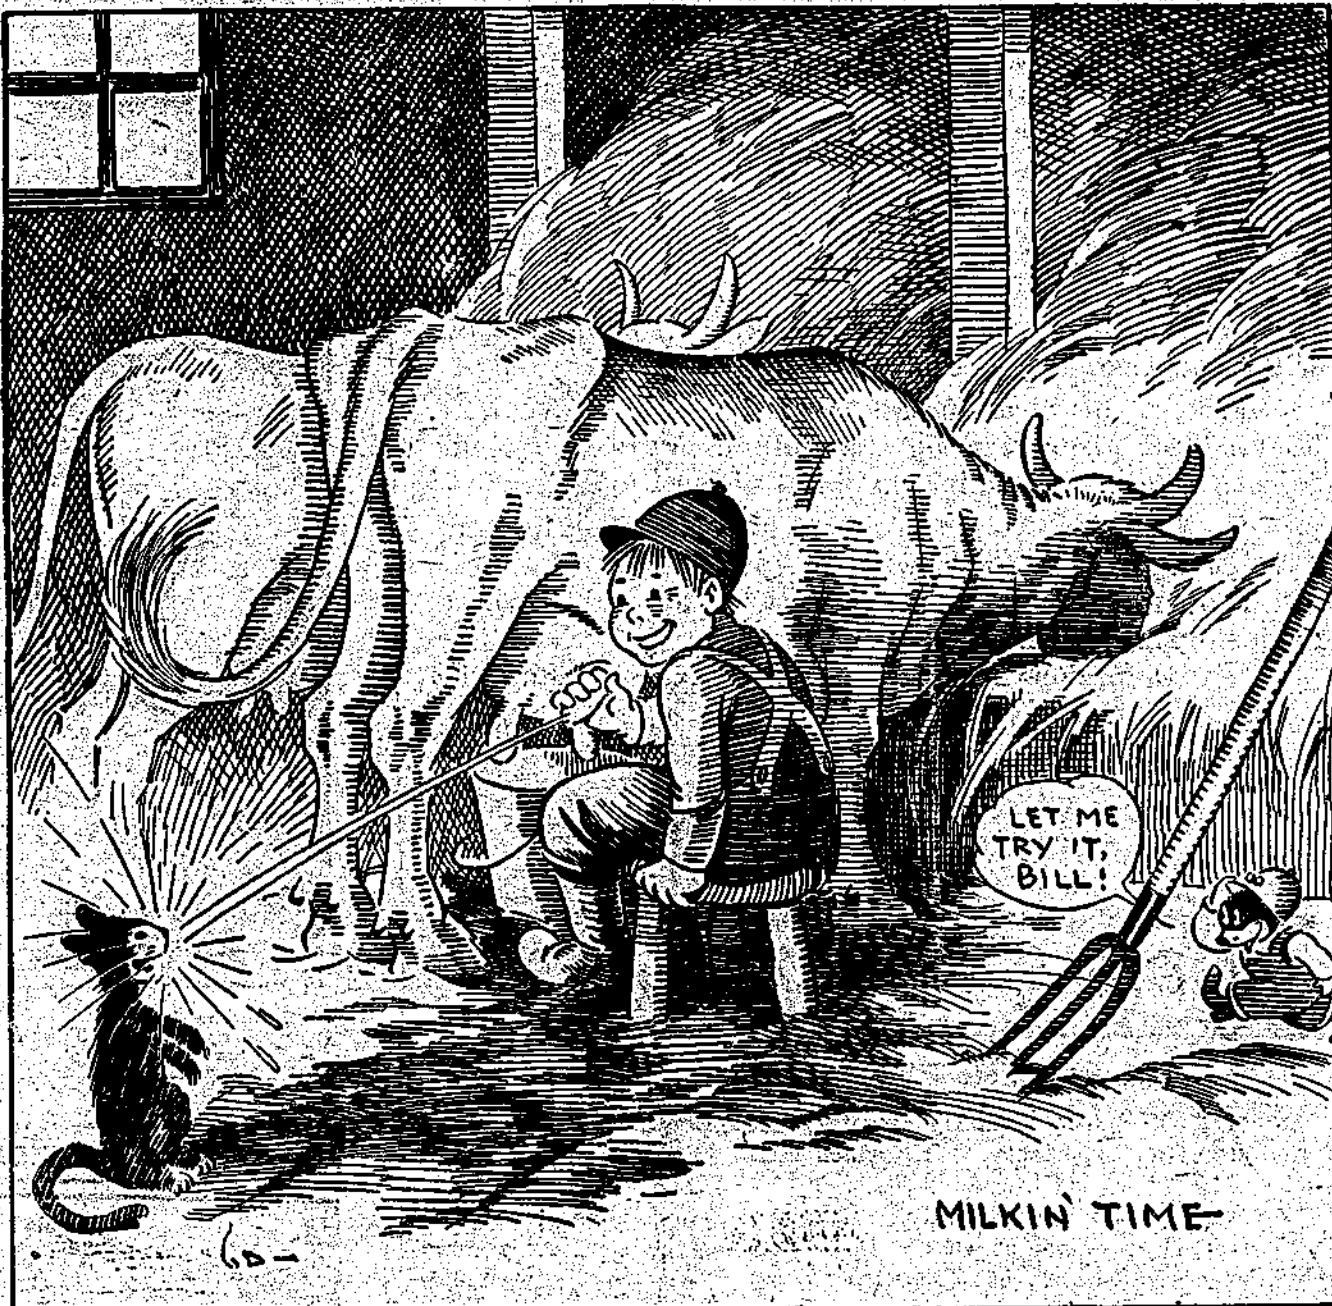

Extensive remodeling of the interior of the Grocortia has greatly changed and improved that store. The ceiling has been veneered and whitened, the store has been made lighter by additional windows and the counter space increased. A small office has been provided at the front which will be much more convenient than was the former location. The change gives the store a brighter and neater appearance.

BALCOMO RANCH COW IN PRODUCTION RECORD

Semi-official records of Holstein-Friesian cows for the month of February last give second place to a cow at Tranquillo Sanitorium farm and formerly one of the registered Holsteins bred on the Balcomo ranch here. This cow, La Vata, was purchased by the Agurs from S. J. Kinny of Penticton and was later sold by them to the provincial government. She is especially high in

EGG PRICES BETTER THAN YEAR AGO

Producers Get Forty Per Cent More - Feed Up Thirty Per Cent.

Summerland Poultry Produce Association sold during March, 3386 dozen eggs, being 380 dozen in excess of March 1924.

The average price paid members was more than forty per cent in excess of the price a year ago, the average last year being just over seventeen cents, while the average price paid to members this year was nearly twenty-four and a half.

The higher price realized for eggs exceeds the increase in the price of feed, says H. J. Sanderson, the manager, the latter price being about thirty per cent as compared with the increase of more than forty per cent in the price of eggs.

MORE LAND UNDER WATER SYSTEM

News Items of Interest Gathered at Municipal Council Meeting.

A. G. Grant, Garnett Valley, has requested that the council fill in the old ditch crossing his property and that trees which have grown along its edge be removed. The council, on Saturday, instructed the clerk to write, giving him permission to remove the trees and to advise him that the council is not abandoning the ditch.

James Ritchie has made application for irrigation service for a lot on the bench back of Road's Garage.

C. J. Huddleston complained to the council on Saturday of inadequate irrigation service to his lot last year as a result of reducing the size of the service pipe. The whole situation, with respect to irrigation of lots in that vicinity from the Jones Flat pipe, will be further investigated.

Mr. J. L. Secord has been given permission by the council to remove a dead pine tree on the roadside in front of his property.

Councillor J. C. Arkell has been granted a domestic water connection for his property in Peach Valley.

Councillor Wm. Ritchie has been granted an irrigation connection for his lot immediately north of the municipal office.

CHERRY TREES ARE LOADED WITH BLOOM

For the past week cherry trees of this district have been loaded with bloom. Orchardists say that never has there been such a profusion of blossoms as there is this spring and it is stated that the fruit is setting well.

Butter fat for a Holstein, averaging about four per cent.

MORE MONEY FOR GROWERS

Co-operative Will Distribute Nearly Fourteen Thousand More.

Although Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association has paid its members for all fruit shipped there is likely to be distributed to the growers a further sum of approximately $13,500. Packing costs have been below the charge made throughout the season and as a result the growers will receive five cents a box on apples, crabapples and pears; two and a half cents a box on other packages and $2.50 a ton on bulk apples. On cannery cots and cherries $5.00 a ton will be rebated. The rebate on packing charges will total about $8,000.

There are $4,000, approximately, remaining on hand as balances of the different closed pools. This sum will be distributed on a per package basis among grower shippers.

About one hundred dollars on the sale of some windfalls is yet to be paid out.

Growers are also to be paid interest on the capital reserve made by the local. This, at six per cent, will total about three hundred dollars. There is also interest to be paid growers on deductions made for purchase of buildings. This rate will probably be seven per cent, and the total interest will be approximately $900.

OBJECTS TO WATER ON GARNETT VAL. BRIDGE

Findlay Munro Also Asks That the Prairie Valley Road be Improved.

F. Munro, Meadow Valley, has written the council objecting to the raising of the water in the Garnett Valley dam to a height that would cover the bridge at the upper end of that reservoir.

He requested that the road beyond Prairie Valley leading to Faulder and Meadow Valley be repaired.

With respect to the former it was pointed out that permission had been obtained from the provincial authorities to temporarily flood the road at that point.

Councillor Arkell, chairman of the road committee, stated that it was the intention to make some improvements on the road leading west from Prairie Valley.

PIPE LINE NOW MUCH OVERLOADED

Extension of Siphon Line Necessary To Give Adequate Supply.

H. Sharman, who, it is admitted, has been receiving inadequate irrigation service, applied to the council on Saturday for an improvement to the service. His and a number of other lots to the north and south are now getting irrigation water through a domestic water main which was never intended to serve as an irrigation main.

At one time these lots from the Satter property south were served by a siphon running from the Clarence Elsey property southward but later were put on the pipe line.

An extension of the Happy Valley siphon could be made to serve some of those lots and Mr. Sharman wished to be assured that this extension would be made. He asked for a larger connection and a measuring box. The whole question was referred to the water committee.

WANTS DOMESTIC WATER ON SOUTH BENCH LOT

An application from J. E. O'Mahony for domestic water service on lot 20, a front bench lot overlooking Trout Creek Point, was considered by the council on Saturday. It would be necessary to dig a trench of several hundred feet in order to extend the service north from the Caldwell lot. Mr. O'Mahony offered to assume this expense. There is now some seven-ton hundred feet of three-quarter inch pipe serving the lots in that vicinity and the opinion was given that a further extension of this pipe to the O'Mahony property would give him very little pressure. He will be advised of the situation before action is taken.

NORTH EXTENSION NOT NOW PROBABLE

Believed Cost to Few Who Would Take Service Too Great.

An extension of the electric light service to the front bench north of Peach Orchard does not seem likely. At the request of the council, following applications and enquiries of some citizens of that district, T. P. Thornber, municipal electrician, prepared an estimate of the cost of making the extension. This was submitted to the council at the regular meeting last Saturday afternoon. The cost as estimated by Mr. Thornber is $888. The individual users would have further expense carrying the service from the street lines to their residences. Not all of the possible users would make formal application for the service at the present time.

Messrs. Croil and Huddleston discussed the subject with the council and took with them some details of the estimates.

The maximum expenditure on such extensions, as fixed by the municipality, is sixty dollars per user and a good portion of the $888 would have to be paid by the prospective users.

"THE MIKADO" IS STAGED WITH GREAT SUCCESS

Performance of Operatic Society Was Very Creditable.

"The Mikado," as presented by the Summerland Operatic Society in Empire Hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings, was greatly enjoyed by large audiences. The large hall was filled almost to capacity on the first night and an even larger audience greeted the performers on the second evening. Unstinted praise is heard on all sides of the excellent manner in which the society presented this popular comic opera.

The beautiful and appropriate costumes and the excellent and pleasing scenery which had been especially painted by E. H. Emmons, Kelowna, added much to the effectiveness of the production. The finished manner in which the work of the individual players and of the choruses was carried out, was the result of a winter's work of training and practising and amply demonstrated the thoroughness with which they had been done. Great credit is due to Mr. G. C. Bonmore, stage manager, who took a leading part in the training of the company.

Miss Carol Graham very gracefully filed the part of Yum-Yum, and her sweet singing was greatly enjoyed. She was well supported by Mrs. Craig and Miss Winter, in the characters of Piti-Sing and Peep-Bo, Yum-Yum's sisters. To Miss Eva Bark will was allotted the difficult part of that unpopular character, Katisha, and her interpretation of the elderly lady in love with the Mikado's son was beautifully done.

Mr. J. C. Clement gave to the character of Mikado, the required dignity and air of authority and his pleasing voice well fitted the part. Ben Newton with his wonderful tenor voice, was an ideal Nanki-Poo. Never was his singing more greatly appreciated. The easy manner with which he carried through his part was no doubt a result of the excellent training and experience he, as well as other members of the society, have received.

Mr. Winter, a natural born comedian, made a most excellent Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner. His clever acting and his enthusiasm and voracity added much to the brilliancy of the performance.

Mr. G. C. Bonmore made a most excellent Pooh-Bah, the pompous Lord High Everything Else, and Mr. F. Mossop appeared to good advantage as Lord Plah-Tush.

Great credit is due the orchestra for the excellent music, without which the performance would not have been the success it was. Mr. G. W. Cope, whose ability in that line is now well known, was musical instructor. Mrs. Frank Mossop was pianist and Mr. S. B. Snider, orchestra leader.

The society will play at Penticton tomorrow, Friday night, and at Kelowna next Monday evening.

WOULD HOLD ELECTIONS ONE MONTH EARLIER

Council Favors Proposed Change in Elections Act.

Summerland municipal council on Saturday endorsed the proposed legislation to set the municipal elections one month earlier, bringing them on in December instead of January. Premier Oliver had written this and other councils requesting their opinions on the proposed amendment to the Elections Act and asking for any recommendations the council might be disposed to make.

The reeve and council were all in favor of the change, provided the new council would take office at the first of January. Reeve Johnston pointed out that this would be of considerable advantage as under the present method the new council did not get down to work until February. The earlier election date will give them more time to lay out their plans with respect to irrigation and other matters.

Mr. Nixon stated that at present the financial statement purported to represent the affairs of the municipality at the end of December but the books really had to be closed on the twentieth of December, in order to get the financial statement in the hands of the electors before election date. The change would make this latter impossible and would permit the closing of the books at the proper date.

It was the opinion of the council that the recent change in Election Act requiring that the polls be kept open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. was undesirable. Nine to seven, it was thought, was long enough.

OPENING AUTO CAMP AT TROUT CREEK PT.

Duncan Woods Tells Council Doing This to Spite Summerland.

Duncan Woods caused some merriment at the council meeting on Saturday when he bluntly stated that he was going to do all he could to injure Summerland, in return for alleged wrong treatment from past councils and certain individuals. He intended to establish an auto camp at Trout Creek Point to divert tourists from Peach Orchard park and Mr. Woods asked the council for permission to use two tax sale lots just east of the mouth of Trout Creek. If he could not get these he would use some of the land owned by himself.

Although he assured the council he was going into this to keep people out of Summerland, and solely for this purpose, he demanded permission to use these lots, Nos. 24 and 25, and also suggested that the council give him some assistance to fix the grounds up as a park and bathing beach. He had built a road to it.

Councillor Smith said it would seem foolish to go to any expense on a park when there was already another one so near.

Mr. Woods finally admitted that advertising his own land was an object of the plan.

The councillor could not see any objection to his using the lots until sold by the municipality. Mr. Woods objected to the suggestion of a sale and stated that he had paid enough in taxes to be given better consideration.

GIVEN PROMOTION TO LONDON OFFICE

Charles Kerr Now on His Way to New Position.

Charles Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kerr, who began his business career with the Bank of Montreal here, is on his way to London, England. Mr. Kerr has been head accountant in the main Victoria office of the Bank of Montreal for some time and is being transferred to the London office of that institution, which is a big promotion.

He spent all last week here with relatives and went up the lake Wednesday morning on route to Montreal. He will spend a few days in the head office there before sailing on the 8th of May for England.

OUR HOME MARKET.

When one compares the prices in Canada of many manufactured articles with the prices of similar products in the United States, he is likely to regret at least the existence of import duties. While we may wish for the ideal condition of free trade throughout the world, or at least, for a greater measure of it, we must accept conditions as they are and shape our affairs accordingly. Our next neighbors are steadily building a higher and still higher tariff wall with doors opening in but one direction and while they follow that policy we must build another wall against it equally as strong or it will ruin us.

Such a wall is urgently needed at the present time by the fruit industry. Without it the growers' organization will have a heavy handicap in its fight for establishment in the markets of Western Canada. Even a free trade government would be justified in taking such a course at this time.

The Vancouver Province published this week a timely editorial on the subject of dumping. It reads:

"Urged forward by the protests of Canadian producers who had had their markets ruined again and again by surplus American goods dumped into Canada at unfair prices, the Dominion government, a month ago, decided to make the dumping clauses of the Customs Act more rigorous, and the necessary resolution was introduced in the Commons by Hon. J. A. Robb in connection with the budget speech. But the resolution died an early death. The black looks of the Progressives shrivelled it up, and its mover withdrew it at the first opportunity. It had been discovered, he said, that the old regulations were sufficient.

"Meanwhile, as though to show the difference between the way things are done in Canada and the methods followed in the United States, an interesting document has been issued from the treasury at Washington. Certain border towns in the United States finding that they could buy a number of steel products in Ontario as cheaply as they could from United States factories, and that the freight on the Canadian goods was slightly lower, took advantage of the situation. But not for long. The treasury department has issued a 'finding of dumping,' and has so brought the dumping duty automatically into effect. The 'finding' is as follows:

"After due consideration, I find that the industry of manufacturing pig iron in the United States is being, or is likely to be, injured by reason of the importation into the United States of pig iron imported from the Province of Ontario, Canada, and that such merchandise is sold or is likely to be sold in the United States at less than its fair value."

"It will be noted that our good cousins to the south do not wait until an American industry has been injured by goods from Canada. The suspicion that it 'is likely to be injured' is sufficient to bring a 'finding of dumping.' When an American committee reported that wheat could be grown more cheaply in Canada than in the United States, a prohibitive tariff went on Canadian wheat immediately. When Canadian steel goods get a shade the better of American, owing to lower freight, the dumping duty immediately comes down and shuts us out. The United States excludes competing goods and preserves her market. Canada lets the competing goods in and sacrifices hers."

THE FLYING HENS

Residents who are interested in beautifying their premises report that they are sadly handicapped in their work by the presence of stray fowls. While we are great poultry boosters we do not believe in allowing the chicken to trespass on our neighbors. Chickens do not belong in gardens or in flower beds, and owners should have due respect for the rights of their neighbors. The hen is a great institution but only when under control.

Traveling in an airship may be construed as high living, but the space is too restricted for the accompanying high rolling.

Winter resorts are places where they resort to high prices.

Specially prepared for The Review by J. Tait, District Field Inspector.

Keep in close touch with your spray calendar. The cluster bud stage is rapidly approaching. Arsenate of lead with lime-sulphur and casein spreader in combination will control leaf rollers, bud worms, etc., and apple mildew.

Time is very short to apply this spray.

When cutting out large limbs of apple trees, etc., make a practise of using white lead and oil to cover the wounds; make the paint somewhat thick so that the oil will not spread to the bark.

Protect the birds in the orchard. It is known that 36 kinds of birds feed on the codling moth, 98 on cut worms, 120 on leaf rollers and 168 on wire worms.

Beekeepers.—To get bees for the honey crop in June have young bees to begin with in April.

WHERE THE FARMER COMES IN

Edwin T. Meredith, formerly secretary of agriculture of the United States, tells of an experience of his which might be common to all. He says:

In a store in New York recently I saw a girl buying a tube of Colgate's dental cream. I asked her at what work she was engaged. "I am a stenographer," she replied. "Where?" "Up stairs." "Are you interested in agriculture in Madison county, Iowa, or Texas?" "I never saw a farm and wouldn't know one if I did."

I went up to see the lawyer who employed her. "Are you interested in agriculture?" "Not a bit, I am employed by a bank, that takes all my time."

I went to the banker and asked, "Are you interested in agriculture?" "No, we have no farmers' deposits. We have no farmers' loans." "With whom do you do business?" "Steel corporations largely."

I went to a steel corporation. "Are you interested in agriculture?" "Not a particle. We manufacture only structural steel." "To whom did you sell your last order?" "Bill Smith, of Rock Island, Ill."

I saw Bill Smith and said to him: "Are you interested in agriculture?" "Well, I should say so. We sell the farmer trucks and tires. We sell him wire fences; we sell him a thousand things, and we just bought structural steel last week to build a new unit to our factory."

All right: No farmer, no tire order; no tire order; no manufacturer; no manufacturer, no structural steel order; no steel order, no steel company; no steel company, no bank; no bank, a lawyer without a client; a lawyer without a client, no stenographer and no stenographer, no Colgate's.—Ex.

CORRUPTING COMMERCIAL LIFE.

Vancouver Sun.—Before the Parliament of Canada concludes its present session it will be faced with the plain, moral duty of bringing down anti-trust legislation to prevent any further operations such as those of the alleged Nash-Mutual fruit combine in the West.

It is an iniquitous thing when an organization of this kind can check agricultural growth and delay agricultural prosperity.

It is a vicious thing when such operations, by making it impossible for farmers to prosper in Canada, can hinder and postpone even such things as immigration.

It is an enormous thing when exploiters of this kind can gouge the farmers to such an extent that the whole farming industry in Western Canada gets a black eye.

It is an evil thing when organizations of this sort can set at naught the laws of Canada by making secret rebates to importers on American fruit to offset the anti-dumping duty.

But the most colossal blight the alleged Nash-Mutual combine has brought upon the West has been the corruption of commercial and agricultural life.

Farmers can recover from exploitation. They can make up the odd dollars they lose through gougers. But it is another matter for the farming industry to recover from the debauching of the most fundamental principles of marketing.

Co-operative marketing is the very foundation of successful and profitable farming.

This alleged combine corrupted the principles of co-operative marketing, not by straight adverse argument, but by setting up vicious imitations of co-operative marketing. True, the farmers were discouraged from competing individually. But they were encouraged to compete sectionally.

The Nash-Mutual substituted district warfare for individual warfare. It blasted co-operative marketing by making co-operative marketing appear to be a failure.

This is the most insidious attack upon commercial integrity ever made in British Columbia.

Ottawa should see that it can never happen again.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

Kamloops Sentinel.—Every mail brings to the editorial desk a great gnat of publicity which some agent or organization or church wishes to see in print—free. Something for nothing, that's what it amounts to. It may be an agency, which places customer's advertising in the paper; that's not so bad, the publisher gives them some free space as a discount. But there are others, who literally prey on the innocence or gullibility or laziness of the country editor especially, and "got by!"

A case in point recently was the violent controversy between the headquarters of church union and the anti's, who bombarded the newspapers with pamphlets, letters and articles until actually the discerning editor got to sense the stuff by the envelopes and dropped it unopened into the wastebasket. Not content with this they resorted to the telegraph, for well they knew that even to some editors the wire has still a magic and what comes by it is supposed to have space virtue. Something for nothing—that's what they were after.

Such attempts to get free advertising might be multiplied by a thousand. There are actually some religious advertisers who expect a great rake-off of a column of free publicity for every two they take in straight advertising.

As has been said a score of times, all that a paper has to sell it its advertising space and everything that should logically be charged for, given free, is a gift, just as a pound of sugar is from the grocer's counter, which even the ten dollar worth purchaser never gets as a discount.

Go to the big dailies, however, run on as cold blooded a basis as the city electric light department, and you will find that they do not fall for the stuff that too easily finds its way into the country press. What's wrong with the country editor is this: He has often so much to do, has so many irons in the fire, has so little help, that "copy" which should be relegated to the wastebasket is sent out to be printed because it is easier to do this than it is to chase a story up and write it. Well the free publicity seeker knows this and rich is his reward at the hands of the small weeklies.

Something for nothing, asked without a blush, with never a suggestion of payment, sheer begging. It should be met with the same spirit that is employed in issuing the stuff, with a determination to combat nerve with nerve.

TO BUILD A PERMANENT BUSINESS ADVERTISE

"One of the first policies we adopted when we opened our doors was that of consistent advertising. We have been advertising in the local paper every week, rain or shine, winter or summer. We find that it brings results. Second to our own advertising we find that tying up with national advertising pays. Advertise your store and keep in line with national advertising campaigns, if you really wish to build a permanent business."

This is what the proprietor of a successful drug store said at a meeting of druggists.

Hates to Get Up, But

Fowler McCormick, heir to the Harvester millions, is working for $20 a week in a Milwaukee mill and living at a $4 per week boarding and rooming house. A fellow roomer says "Mac hates to get up at 5 A. M. but is 'game' and he does."

Poem by Uncle John

Lookin' toward the future holds a fascination strange, for ambitious human natur' over thirstin' for a change, — And, though we're doin' well enough as on our way we prance, we embrace a risky promise every time we get the chance!

Lookin' toward the future holds the element of doubt—jest enough to spur a feller who delights in findin' out.—No—it ain't the fact of dyin' that arouses latent dread — It's the likelihood of sufferin' at the cross-roads on ahead—

Lookin' toward the future for a better, brighter day, we escape the hauntin' memory that would face us 't'her way — While there's nothin' quite so certain as a mooze beneath the sod, nobody doubts the future of a partnership with God!

NOVEL SALE HELD BY WOMEN'S INST.

Departing Members Are Given Farewell Remembrances.

The regular meeting of the Peachland Women's Institute was held on Thursday last, owing to the regular date falling on Good Friday. There was a good attendance, 32 being present.

After the business part of the program a superfluity travelling basket was taken around and many gifts were collected and sold later in the afternoon by auction. As everything on hand was sold it proved Mrs. Smalls to be an efficient auctioneer. The sum of $8.90 was taken in.

A demonstration of tarts was given by Mrs. Smalls and was appreciated by all.

Mrs. and Miss Murdin, who are leaving the community, were presented with appropriate gifts on behalf of the members of the Institute and the president, Mrs. Dryden, spoke a few words and said how sorry all were to lose them and wished them every success in their new home. Both Mrs. and Miss Murdin thanked the members for their gifts and good wishes and said they were sorry to leave and that they would always think of us, especially on the second Friday of the month. After a very dainty tea the meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem. Roll call on the occasion of this meeting was answered by each with "a good joke."

PRESENTATION TO MISS MURDIN MADE BY PUPILS

Central and Trepanier schools closed on Thursday afternoon for the Easter holidays. Owing to ill health the teacher of the first division, Miss J. Murdin, is forced to give up her work and tendered her resignation in time for the board to arrange for someone to complete the term. Miss Murdin's pupils, wishing to show their appreciation of her efforts on their behalf and her untiring kindness toward them subscribed to a common fund and purchased a suitable gift and in the presence of a few of the parents, made the presentation with a short address. Miss Murdin was touched by and appreciated their expressions very much.

Miss Buck, the high school teacher, closed her room early on Thursday and left by stage to catch the K.V.R. westbound train. She is spending the holidays at New Westminster and other Coast points.

The school board have arranged with Miss D. Clements to take Miss Murdin's place in the first division of the Central school.

The Kelowna saw mill tug boat spent a night docked at the Peachland wharf this week, having come down to get a boom of logs from Mr. W. D. Miller's camp. Mr. Miller is completing the shooting of his winter's cut of logs this week, expecting to be all cleaned up about the end of the week. He has had a fairly successful winter from a weather point of view. Although at times they could have done with a little more snow they were able to get their cut pretty well cleaned up and brought to the water.

Mr. J. McKinnon was a business visitor to Kelowna on Friday.

Mr. S. Burton, teacher in the Westbank school, came down on Friday, visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McCall. He left Monday evening for Penticton to attend the conference of teachers being held there.

Dr. Murphy of Vancouver was in town this week, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cudmore. This was his first visit to the valley and he was very much taken with it and said it would likely not be his last visit. He returned to the Coast on Sunday.

Miss Amy Winger came up from Penticton on Saturday to visit friends in Peachland. While here she was a guest of Miss Ella MacKenzle. Mr. Winger is also back for a time, doing some work on the old home place.

Miss Alice Cousins came in last week end to spend the Easter holidays with her people here.

Three members of the Westbank Boy Scout troop rode into town on their bicycles on Saturday, decked in uniform and colors.

After the school closing exercises on Thursday Mr. Boswell, teacher of the intermediate and entrance classes took his pupils for a climb of the Pincushion. They all enjoyed the outing very much and came home ready for a good big supper.

Mrs. Murdin and son Earl shipped their household effects on Friday evening's boat to give them a chance to arrive at Nelson in time for when they get there this week.

Miss Flossie Clements came down from Vernon to spend the week end with the home folk here.

Special Easter services were conducted in the three churches in Peachland on Sunday, the Rev. H. A. Solly of Summerland in the Anglican church, the Rev. T. A. Sadler in the Union and Mr. Gilbert Thornber in the Baptist. Mr. Sadler conducted two services in Westbank, in the school house in Westbank in the afternoon and in the school house, East Westbank, in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorand, Messrs. J. E. Kerr and H. E. McCall motored to Summerland on Sunday and crossed to Naramata by ferry to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. E. P. Roe whose death occurred on Friday of last week. Mrs. Roe was Mrs. Dorland's aunt and was well known to many in Peachland, having visited here a number of times during the life of her sister, Mrs. H. McDougall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller and family motored in to town on Sunday last and spent part of the day visiting friends and relatives.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peachland L.O.B.A. was held in the Municipal Hall on Monday evening last with a good attendance of members.

There was a stranger in town on Monday looking up the possibilities of a site here for a boot and shoe repairing shop. He seems favorably inclined, but did not say definitely that he is decided to establish here.

A number of people gathered at the G.W.V.A. hall on Monday evening and enjoyed a social dance.

Master Willie Gartrell, of Summerland is in town this week, having come in on Tuesday morning's boat.

Mr. H. S. Scriver of Vernon has been appointed manager of the local Fruit Union for this season. Mr. Scriver came down from Vernon a short time ago and had a personal interview with the board.

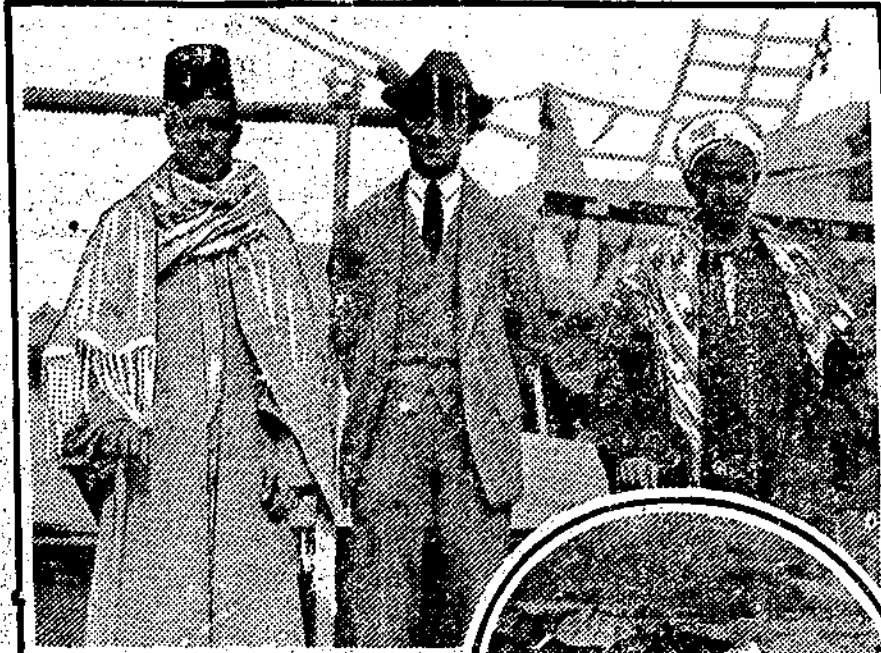

Mr. and Mrs. Crooks and children were out of town visitors this week, taking the Tuesday morning north bound boat.

ANSWER TO LAST PUZZLE
THE BETTER PRAYER
I thank Thee, Lord, for strength of arm
To win my bread,
And that beyond my need is meat
For friend unfed.
I thank Thee much for bread to live,
I thank Thee much for bread to give,
I thank Thee, Lord, for snug-thatched roof
In cold and storm,
And that beyond my need is room
For friend forlorn.
I thank Thee much for place to rest,
But more for shelter for my guest.
I thank Thee, Lord, for lavish love
On me bestowed,
Enough to share with loveless folk
To ease their load.
Thy love to me I ill could spare,
Yet dearer is Thy love I share.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed, Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Following the good example of the Fernie and Coal Creek mining camps the miners of Blairmore and Bellevue are reported to have BREAKING AWAY organization known as the United Mine Workers of America and thrown in their lot with a new concern with a name which seems more suitable to Canadian activities. The sub-heading of the news item announcing the new amalgamation carries in its wording a suggestion which should commend itself to those mining bodies still attached to the union controlled by a United States executive. It reads thus: "Crow's Nest Camps Join Canadian Federation and go to Work." The concluding words are truly eloquent in their summing up of cause and effect:—after long periods of idleness, enforced by the ruling of "International" headquarters, these camps join a real Canadian body and immediately resume work at scales of pay which will enable the owners to secure contracts in competition with United States operators. The lesson is so plain that "he who runs may read," and if it does not bring about a very general response from Canadian unions generally it will be rather disappointing. The spectacle of our own mine fields lying idle by order of an "International" organization controlled across the line, and the consequent importation of American coal, is one which indicates a great deal more obstinacy than intelligence on the part of those who have allowed it. Let us cherish the pious hope that the tide is on the turn, and that the coming emancipation of our fruit industry from American control will be followed by a breaking of the bonds where coal is concerned.

In the spring the small town's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of cleaning up its previous year's accumulation of tin cans and CLEAN-UP heterogeneous rubbish. WEEK. It is a good habit as far as it goes, but it implies more or less neglect, extending over the rest of the twelvemonth, and that aspect of the matter is not nearly so satisfactory. There is very often an unexpressed notion that one week of cleaning up justifies fifty-one weeks of carelessness, an idea which only needs expression to reveal its inconsistency. Some people seem to think that if they occasionally collect the odds and ends accruing from their household operations and dump them at some convenient spot outside their own fence, they have fulfilled the whole duty of man, no thought of community well-being ever occurring to them. I have heard of cases where such collections have been carted outside the home town area and calmly dumped on the roadside in a neighboring district, but the perpetrators of those outrages were evidently ignorant of the golden rule. Both these types of offenders are guilty of sheer thoughtlessness, and afford confirmation of the poet's pronouncement that "Evil is wrought by want of thought, As well as by want of heart." Spring cleaning is a delightful idea, but to be effective must be followed up the rest of the year.

That other seasonal refreshing which finds its outlet in the business end of a Kalsomine brush is beyond criticism, but has its terrors for the amateur. My friend George fell into the snare a week or two ago, and according to trustworthy report experienced a hectic time. George has a free and liberal hand when armed with a brush filled with alabastine, and was, I understand, quite impartial in the matter of distribution. His wife seems to have spent a day or two of extreme activity in dodging the drops which sometimes flew off the brush in unlooked for directions, yet was reluctant to stand afar off on account of her fear lest the stop ladder might collapse and involve everything in ghastly ruin. It seems that this ladder, like many others of its kind, was apt to be stubborn as regards the angle of its standing, and "joggled" at critical moments. Now and then there was a mortal combat between George and the ladder, at which times Mrs. "George" stopped her ears, being a devout person, easily shocked. However, when all was over, and the superfluous material mopped up (by the wife) satisfaction and a sense of duty done filled the domestic atmosphere.

PREPARING TO TURN TOURISTS TO OKANAGAN

Trail Association Elects Its New Officers at Annual Meeting.

(Crowded out of last issue.) The first annual meeting of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association was held at Kelowna last Thursday with delegates from Wenatchee, Pateros, Brewster, Okanagan, Omak, Tonasket and Oroville in the State of Washington, and Oliver, Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna, Vernon, Armstrong, Enderby and Kamloops in the Province of British Columbia present. Addresses of welcome were given the delegates by Mayor Sutherland and Mr. A. G. McCosh, president of the Kelowna Board of Trade, at a complimentary luncheon given the delegates by that body.

TOURIST TRAFFIC GROWING Reports given by the retiring officers and L. J. Wood, field secretary of the association, were all of a very encouraging nature. Every town on the trail has seen a wonderful increase in the number of tourists. Having thus proved its worth to the localities through which it passes, the association is putting on a big campaign for further funds for advertising, so that the field from which they will draw tourists will be enlarged. Every member is strongly of opinion that it is merely a matter of proving to the casual tourist that this new trail is a worthy one, and provides scenery and hunting quite out of the ordinary, and the tourists will flock in.

SIGHT-SEEING TRIPS ARRANGED Announcement was made that this year sight-seeing tours have been arranged by a Summerland firm, (Robinson & Crossley) which will take large parties into the interior of the province over this historic old trail. Keeping in mind the historical importance of this route, the position of official historian was added to the regular officers, and Judge Wm. C. Brown of Okanagan was appointed to the position.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mr. W. E. Blackwell, Okanagan, Wash.; vice-president, Mr. Sam. T. Elliott, Kelowna, B. C.; secretary, T. Chas. Dodge, Tonasket, treasurer, Mr. S. F. M. Headlee, Oroville, Wash.; executive board, Messrs. L. L. Matthews, Wenatchee; L. J. Jones, Omak; W. G. Malott, Pateros; C. O. Matthews, Olyier; W. T. Blair, Penticton; F. B. Cositt, Vernon; H. M. Walker, Enderby, and D. B. Johnson, Kamloops.

Resolutions were brought in regarding the number of members of the executive, and another changing the date of the annual meeting from April to October.

Eatin' More Apples Would Cure All Ills After goin' through some of them Western Slope apple orchards I've quit worryin' over why Adam ate Eve's apple. It just goes to show that the snake that tempted Eve was up on what them highbrows nowadays call psychology. I reckon there was plenty of other fruits and vegetables in the Garden of Eden, such as tomatoes, plums and grapes, and no market for any of it, but the snake dangled it before Eve's eyes and she fell and ate thereof and she gave Adam the core and he ate what was left thereof, and that's how this world got off the track.

Tuesday was scrub day at the Unity Club, the members gathering in force to holystone the decks, and to put everything shipshape for the season. One fair bather, in the person of Miss Allan, braved the rigor of the lake one day last week, and emerged smiling from the chilly ordeal.

Mrs. Amaros has been appointed to the coming convention of the Presbyterian W.M.S. at Vancouver. Mrs. Kennedy is in Victoria on a two week visit.

At the Women's Institute meeting last week it was decided to carry out the usual May Day festivity, and arrangements are in preparation. A resolution to donate $5 to every baby born to members of the Institute to start a bank account was passed.

We regret that in last week's report of the Ladies' Aid entertainment, the name of Mrs. Myers was omitted as taking a nurse's part in one of the plays.

OBITUARY.

The death on Good Friday of Mrs. E. P. Roe removed one of the earliest of Naramata pioneers, known and esteemed by many. Emma Pearl Woodley was born in Clarence, Ontario, in the year 1846, her husband Captain Robert Roe, being well known as a sailing master on the Ottawa River until his death by accident about twenty years ago. Mrs. Roe came to Naramata in 1911, accompanied by thirty-five children and grandchildren, and the family built the Syndica Hotel, in which the grandmother was allotted a special room having a golden key. Most of the children stayed in the valley, and are well known in the district.

The funeral took place on Easter Sunday after the Anglican service, the Rev. H. J. Armitage officiating. The church was filled with friends of the deceased, and relatives from Penticton, Summerland and the home town, the casket being covered with floral tributes. Favorite hymns were led by the choir, and a solo rendered by Mrs. Armitage, the Rev. Armitage giving a sympathetic address. The bearers were: Captain P. S. Roe, Fred L. Roe, Gerald I. Roe, Sherwood Davies, A. Noyes and S. Gray. Many friends accompanied the procession to Penticton, where the deceased was interred.

The late Mrs. Roe was the mother of fourteen children of whom nine are living. They are Captain P. S. Roe, Summerland, Gerald and Fred Roe, Penticton, F. G. Roe, Montreal, R. C. Roe, Ottawa, Mrs. J. O. Noyes and Mrs. D. O. Hughes, Naramata; Mrs. G. I. Gray, Summerland and Mrs. J. H. Pushman, Ottawa. She also left forty-six grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

SPONGE CAKE

To make the sponge cake batter, beat the yolks of six eggs till thick and lemon colored, add a cup of sugar gradually and continue beating with an egg beater. Add a tablespoon of lemon juice, the grated rind of half a lemon, and the stiff dry beaten whites of the eggs. When the whites are partly mixed in, take out the beater and carefully cut and fold in a cup of flour and a quarter teaspoon salt which have been sifted together. If you wish to make a loaf of this, bake it an hour in a slow oven in a buttered angel food tin or a deep, narrow pan.

They is only one way of bringin' back Paradise and that is to try the rule that's used by them old time homopathic doctors. We used to have one of them fur our family, all except my Dad. Dad, said homopaths was good fur children, but they didn't prescribe big enough doses for a full grown man. He didn't say doses of what.

Anyhow, them homopaths believes that diseases is cured by administerin' the same pizen which caused them. On that theory, if eatin' apples caused the fall of man, eatin' more apples ought to restore him to his original angel conditions. This here may not be approved by the preachers but it won't do no harm to try, because all other remedies seems to fail. So I'm advocatin' as a universal cure fur indigestion, under-nourishment, overweight, lack of vitamins, grouchiness, either plain or purple, rheumatism, human foot-and-mouth, super-sleekness and all other ills that flesh is heir to, apple eatin'. Like the old woman in the black alpaca dress said: If an apple a day keeps the doctor away, what will two apples do? — Farmer Putnam's Philosophy (Colorado Agricultural College News Sheet).

ORCHARDIST MAKES NEW APPLE SYRUP

Omak, Wash.—Orchardist C. E. Weatherstone was giving his friends a sample taste of a new apple syrup product that he has evolved after several years of steady experimenting.

At first, you think you have inbibed of a high type of genuine maple syrup but realize immediately that there is still another and higher flavor to please your taste.

Mr. Weatherstone, apparently, has a product that should meet with ready sale and for which there should be a vast market. For the present, he is putting out only a few hundred quart cans in the stores up and down the valley to see how the public like it.

RATHER A GOOD ONE

In a recent issue of a Manitoba weekly, a local druggist made a rather unique appeal to those indebted to him for payment of their accounts.

"If you are unable to pay us at once, give us an idea of when you think you can pay it. We certainly will appreciate this little courtesy; it won't take much of your time and it will indeed be a help to us."

Ed Purdy's Philos.
Never borrow if you can help it—but if you must, then from a pessimist, because he never expects to get it back.

STOVE-LEAGUE BARBERING

By Thomas W. Wilkinson
"While us and the rest of the folks is settin here and plannin for the future of our nation we should had ought to get the ladies hair combed out. What I mean is to settle this question. Cause it keeps bobbing up and it should be cut short. For instants there is a short fat lady. I'd say she ought to have it cut 'so as the ends just touch the wrinkle on her neck and then it should be stuck down with some kind of a hair agrivator, or she could have it permanent wove. Then there is the 99 lb and two ounces that has to be dealt with. While they is not so heavy as some, they feels bigger; so the committee recommends that they get a roof or a shingle bob or whatever it is, and this kind calls for having the neck washed, all of which is of course painful but it's worth it. A other kind of bob that has got no name yet is easy to remember, cause it looks like a cross between a feather duster and a floor mop, and you can't hardly keep from shaking it out.

"The tall girls ought and should have the hair cut-on the sectional plan, life for instants they can get a little cut off and run around the block to see how they likes it.

"The wife asked me to arrange a date with her favorite barber so as she could get her hair organized, and I called up the barber and sed to him 'My wife wants to get a dis-appointment with you to get her hair fixed this week' and he sed 'You mean appointment, don't you,' and I sed 'No cause she was disappointed the last time you tried to make her hair look like a tumble weed in a storm.'

"I sez to the gals, sez I: 'Men barbers is the best cause they tells the best stories.'

with his mother and wife, what position does he take?

Thank you, G. F.

When it is raining very hard and it is necessary for the lady to use both hands in protecting her clothes, a gentleman should hold the umbrella. Otherwise, the lady carries it. (2) The mother should walk beside her son and the wife beside the mother.

Dear Miss Flo:—
When a lady meets a friend on a train, and he asks her into the dining car, does he pay for her meal? (2) When it is necessary for a guest to leave the table before the conclusion of a dinner, what should she say? (3) Should the hostess leave the table to assist her departing guest with her wraps?

C. S.

(1) When a gentleman invites a lady into the dining car he becomes her host. Therefore, he should pay for her meal. (2) If it is necessary for a guest to leave before the end of the dinner, she should rise at a suitable time and express her regret at the necessity of her hurried departure. (3) The hostess does not leave the table.

Dear Miss Flo:—
Should a lady wear gloves to a formal dinner? (2) May a bride carry a prayer book and a bouquet? G. C.

The lady should wear her gloves to a formal dinner and remove them at the table. They should be taken off entirely and not merely turned back. They should then be laid across the lap. (3) A bride may carry either the prayer book or the bouquet—never both.

Dear Miss Flo:—
Should a lady in mourning attend a wedding? (2) How long should a gentleman remain when calling on a lady for the first time? (1) A lady in mourning should not attend a wedding. She sends a personal note to the bride's mother. (2) A gentleman's first call should last not more than one half hour. He does not request permission to call again. If the lady wishes him to continue his visits, he will receive invitations to dinner or tea.

Dear Miss Flo:—
When introducing a lady to a group of people, one should say, "Miss Smith, let me introduce you to—," and then the names of the individuals are given, the ladies mentioned first. (2) A gentleman never sits between the two ladies he escorts to the theatre. The younger lady should be taken home first.

Dear Miss Flo:—
Is it considered correct for a gentleman to carry a lady's umbrella? (2) When a gentleman is walking

ETIQUETTE

Readers desiring personal points of Etiquette or heart affairs may write Flo, care of this newspaper, enclosing a self addressed and stamped envelope.

Dear Miss Flo.—If one wishes to wear long kid gloves when being married, is it proper to remove the hand from the glove on the left arm and tuck the hand part up under the arm of the glove, or should the whole glove be removed? When should this be done—before the ceremony or during the ceremony? Is it necessary to remove both gloves. (2) Upon the return from a honeymoon does the bride make call? C.W.

The glove should be entirely removed from the left hand before entering the church, and handed to the matron of honor with the bridal bouquet. It is not necessary to remove the right glove. The bride should never make the first call. Friends of the bride should call upon her within one month after her return, but not earlier than two weeks.

Dear Miss Flo.—At a dinner party, who should be served first? Should the guests be served as arranged at the table—the lady and then the gentleman, or should all the ladies be served first? Should the hostess and host be served first? Thank you.

The ladies in the party are served first. The hostess is served after all the other ladies have been served, and the host is served after all the other gentlemen have been served.

Dear Miss Flo.—How should a lady be introduced to a group of ladies and gentlemen? (2) When a gentleman escorts two ladies to the theater, is it correct for him to sit between them? Which lady should be taken home first—the elder or the younger? Thank you.

Pat O'Hooley on JERRY'S FAILING

By I. H. HOLDEN

"T' my way of thinkin', there's a toime t' talk, an' a toime t' kape yer tongue 'between yer tathe!" said Pat O'Hooley. "F'what people don't know won't give 'em much anxiety, aven if they're on th' alert t' size ye up. Ye may form an erroneous opinion of a silent man; ye may think he's an incompetent ignoramus or worse—so far ut's only a guess—but th' moment he opens his mouth, ye know ut!"

"Th' great trouble wid Jerry Malone is that he has too much gab. His tongue is niver idle. Ut flops loike th' tail of a shirt hangin' in a forty-mile-an-hour wind. If anywan disputes his world statements—an he's full of 'em—Jerry's there wid his right fist; if that isn't sufficient t' decide th' issue, along comes his left, which is certain sickness. 'Tis little wonder he's always in hot water. 'I was down t' th' city a while ago, an' havin' nothin' else t' do, I goes in t' th' Police Court. There was quite a crowd at th' mornin' session—friends of th' prisoners an' hangers-on—an' Judge Clark was disposin' of drunks an' disorderlies wid reish an' precision. I had hardly sitted meself in a chair before in comes a rid-hair'd policeman; an' he's followed by Jerry Malone!

"'Twas aisy t' rade th' story of th' avenin' before from Jerry's face. He looked th' picture of misery. All noight in a cell after a big souse is bad enough; but when ye have no little nip in th' mornin' t' revive yer droopin' spirits; ut's demoraizin' in th' extreme. 'Twas aisy t' see that Jerry was in distress; an' I tried t' wig-wag a signal of sympathy; but he didn't see ut; an' th' next moment he's loined up before th' judge.

"'F'what's th' allegations, officer?" sez th' judge, lookin' poor Jerry over loike he was a prize pig.

"'Sure, yer honor,' sez the cop, bowin'. 'I charge th' prisoner, Jerry Malone, wid bein' drunk, disorderly an' foightin'. I was patrolin' Main Strate at 11.34 last avenin', when th' prisoner backs his two-dollar Ford int' Carey A'lington's limousine, scratchin' th' paint. Carey naturally expostulated; th' prisoner became violently abusive; Carey gits out of his ear an' tried t' pacify his insulter; Mr. Malone is lookin' fer trouble, an' he hits Carey on th' nose! I did me plain duty, yer honor, an' brings him in. An' here he is!"

"'Prisoner at th' bar,' sez the judge, 'ye have heard the charge, Guilty, or not guilty?'"

"'Well, yer honor, I dunno; but I guess I'm guilty,' sez Jerry.

"'Alright,' sez th' judge, 'I'll give ye thirty days in—'"

"'Ye have spoken!' sez th' judge, 'an' yer plea was Guilty! If there's anythin' more t' say, f'why didn't ye make ut known? Do ye think I've got nothin' else t' do but fool away me toime? Go on, an' tel' yer story; but ye want t' be mighty brief!'"

"'Well, t' begin wid, yer honor, I didn't back int' Carey's ear! Who-lver says so don't know f'what they're talkin' about! An', f'what's more, I'll give this here Mr. Policeman t' know that me Ford cost more than two dollars,' sez Jerry, belligerently. 'Neither was Carey tryin' t' pacify me—not on yer loife! He called me an Oirish liar, an' I hit him fer jist that.'"

"'That's no excuse fer assault!' sez th' judge, frownin'.

"'Whin a man calls ye names?' cries Jerry.

"'Ye're not supposed t' hit a man under any circumstances, save when yer loife is in jeopardy,' sez th' judge. "'But, yer honor,' persisted Jerry, 'there's reason in all things! Suppose somewan was t' stip up an' call ye an Oirish liar, f'what would ye do thin?'"

"'I'm not here t' discuss such a supposition,' sez th' judge. 'Th' probability is too remote—I'm not Oirish!'"

"'Well, but Judge,' sez Jerry, 'supposin' that somewan who knows ye well should walk up an' call ye th' kind of a liar that ye know ye are?'"

"'Silence, sir!' roars th' judge, hittin' th' table wid his fist. 'Do ye know who ye're spakin' to?'"

"'I'm thinkin' I do,' sez Jerry. "'Oh! ye do?' sez the judge. 'Well, I'll jist give ye sixty days in jail at hard labor!' an' he begins writin'.

"'Aisy! fer hivin' sake, yer honor,' sez Jerry, gittin' excited. 'I heard ye plainly th' first toime. 'Ye did,' sez th' judge, 'an' if ye are not moighty careful, Mr. Malone, ye'll hear me th' third toime—an' ut'll be three months! Officer, remove th' prisoner!'"

"'Whin, an hour later, I'm allowed t' see Jerry in his cell, he's sittin' there half stunned.

"'Fer th' love of all th' saints, Pat, f'what th' divil did I say that so roiled th' judge?' sez he.

"'Jerry,' sez L. yer tongue is yer undoin'! Half th' toime ye don't know f'what ye're sayin'. Ye jist as good as called th' judge a liar!'"

"'Did I now?' sez Jerry, grinnin'. 'Well, anyhow, that's wan consolation! An' since he's given me sixty days, I'm glad I did, fer I'm thinkin' he must be a liar or he wouldn't be so touchy about ut! As fer that smart Mr. Policeman—called me Ford a tramp—or as good as done ut—if he gits a brick bounced off his bean in th' next six months, I'm thinkin' I'll know who trowed ut!'"

All Through.

A working-man got a job at a coal mine siding running wagons down an incline. There was only a sleeper at the bottom to stop the wagons, so the boss told him to be careful and keep the brake on. On the third day four wagons went down at a terrific speed and jumped over the sleeper into the canal below.

The boss saw all that happened from his office window and came rushing in with wrathful face. The man forestalled the remarks of the enraged employer:

"You needn't come grumbling at me," he announced. "I ain't working for you."—Chicago Continent.

VALLEY COMEDY FULL OF ACTION

Atkinson's Story of Orchard Life in Okanagan Truly Funny.

"Meet the Wife," purely an Okanagan production and brimful of fun from beginning to end, was given at the Empress Theatre, Penticton, Tuesday evening by the Nondescripts of Vernon. This aggregation of Okanagan talent has already made quite a reputation through this comedy.

The orchard life of inexperienced Old Country bachelors, not long in the Valley, is the centre of the plot, the Coldstream district being the scene. It is full of action from beginning to end and abounds with many ridiculous and laughable incidences.

The play was written by W. S. Atkinson of Vernon, who very cleverly took one of the leading parts.

Quite a number of Summerland people attended the performance and many of them are sure that the Nondescripts would be greeted by a large audience were they to give their comedy here.

ONE STEP

One step won't take you very far, You've got to keep on walking; One word won't tell folks who you are,

You've got to keep on talking; An inch won't make you very tall, You've got to keep on growing; One little ad. won't do it all,

CANADA'S NEW LINK WITH ALASKA

It is not many years since Alaska was one of those countries whose geographical location was indicated with a grandiloquent sweep of the arm northwards. It has always been a land of mystery, romance and adventure. It has provided the theme for the thrilling tales of novelists and the stirring poems of northern bards. But even though the days of the chebako and the sourdough is done, the brief but active span of the Dan-gerous Dan Magreus and the Lady Lou's, matters of historical reference, the lure of Alaska has not waned, but is as appealing as ever to the hearts of men and women wherein a bit of romance lurks, and that means to everyone.

Some of the scenes along this magnificent sea voyage are shown in the photographs: (1) A view of Skagway, Alaska, where visitors will be given ample time to see this famous town and also to visit White Horse and the Atlin Lake district.

possessing many associations with the period when Alaska was a Russian possession. The next point touched will be Juneau, the capital of Alaska, and a modern city with good motor roads and many points of interest, including the Mendenhall Glacier and mines which have made this country famous. On the way from Wrangell to Juneau there will be an opportunity to see the grandeur of Taku Inlet and the famous Taku Glacier, over a mile wide and 90 miles long.

(2) A beautiful sunset scene on the Lynn Canal, which the steamships Prince Rupert and Prince George will thread on their journey into the Land of the Midnight Sun.

The ships will arrive at Skagway at seven o'clock Friday morning and will remain there until seven o'clock Saturday night, thus giving ample opportunity to passengers to see this famous town and to visit White Horse and the Atlin Lake District. On the south-bound journey the steamers will reach Vancouver at nine o'clock Wednesday morning, making a complete ten-day round trip.

(3) The Taku Glacier, one mile wide and ninety miles long—one of the largest and most beautiful glaciers in the world.

In addition to the Alaskan trip, the tri-weekly service between Vancouver and Prince Rupert will be maintained and also a semi-weekly service to Anxox and Stewart on the Portland Canal, which service has been in effect for some time past. The establishment by the Canadian National Railways of this Alaska steam-boat service will meet the demands of many tourists, and will be a fitting climax to the famous Triangle Four, comprising Jasper National Park, the Rockies, the Coast Range and the water voyage through the "Norway of America."

(4) The Prince Rupert, which, with the Prince George, will be used in the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Alaska service this summer. These boats are oil-burners and are among the finest appointed vessels in the Pacific Coast service.

Inset is one of the curious totem poles to be found in the business section of Wrangell, Alaska.

Alaska is no longer a far off country. It is a very near neighbor to Canada. It will be even nearer this summer. Mr. J. E. Dalrymple, Traffic Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, has announced that commencing on June 22nd, the company will inaugurate a weekly steamship service between Prince Rupert and Alaska and that the oil-burning steamships, "Prince George" and "Prince Rupert," which have already established a reputation as being among the best-appointed vessels on the Pacific Coast, will be engaged in this new service.

Going northward the ships will reach Prince Rupert at 10.30 on Wednesday morning, following the Monday of sailing from Vancouver, and tourists will be given an opportunity to see something of this new Pacific port, as the steamer does not continue on its northern trip until four o'clock that afternoon. After passing Old and New Metlakta and Port Simpson, an old Hudson's Bay Post, calls will be made at Ketchikan, a typical Alaskan town built at the foot of the mountains. Proceeding from that point the steamships will touch at Wrangell, beautifully situated near the mouth of the Stikine River and

Board of Trade Requests Extension C.N.R. Service To South Lake Points

Resolution Asking For Lake Boat Service Is Adopted

C. P. R. WANTS THE BUSINESS—IS REPORT

Shippers Believe Better Service If Have C. N. R. Boats

"Resolved: that in the opinion of this Board of Trade it is most desirable that the Canadian National Railways should operate their own boat service on Okanagan Lake and that they be asked to put on such a service as will take care in a satisfactory manner of our soft fruit traffic which originates at points south of Kelowna and by so doing further develop the sale of our fruits in the territories served by the Canadian National Railways; and we would strongly urge the Canadian National Railways to adopt this suggestion."

The above resolution was adopted at the Board of Trade meeting Tuesday evening following a lengthy discussion of the subject. Copies of this resolution will be sent to Westbank, Peachland, Naramata and Penticton with the request that it be endorsed. C. P. R. Bidding For Business

It was stated at the board meeting that the Canadian Pacific Railway was endeavoring to get the people of Kelowna to endorse a suggestion from the C. P. R. that that company handle the lake business of the C. N. R.

The chairman stated that two C. N. R. officials had visited the valley last week to look over the situation and that their statement was to the effect that the National Railway heads favored a C. N. R. lake service, although strong representations were being made to have the C. P. R. boats handle the business. The outcome, these visitors said, depended altogether on the attitude of the public. If the people demanded a lake service from the C. N. R., they would, in all probability, get it.

Want Better Rates North

C. A. Walter pointed out the need of a C. N. R. service from this point in order that our fruit could be delivered at reasonable rates at C. N. R. points in the interior of B. C. and east of Edmonton. The present charge for the dual service over C. P. R. and C. N. R. to Smithers, B. C., as an instance, is $2.50 a box of apples, $1.20 for peaches and $1.25 for tomatoes. This express rate, said Mr. Walter, is prohibitive with a result that the interior of B. C. is supplied from Washington through Vancouver. He thought the boards of trade of the Valley should make a joint effort to get a commodity rate to the northern interior of the province. Speaking further, Mr. Walter said that his firm had not been able to sell fruit to C. N. R. east of Edmonton because of the two freight charges.

Speedy Boats For C. N. R.

P. S. Roe said that he understood the C. N. R. intends putting on a fast train between Kelowna and Vancouver and proposed operating speedy boats of moderate dimensions to handle passengers, mail and express between lake points and its Kelowna terminus. Sir Henry Thornton said he did not approve of handing over any C. N. R. business to a competitive line.

Mr. Roe was sure we could have the proposed lake service if we asked for it. Speaking further, Mr. Roe pointed out the unsatisfactory accommodation now provided for the handling of soft fruits by express. Every year a deputation goes to the C. P. R. asking for better accommodation and quicker dispatch but nothing comes of it.

K. S. Hogg proposed that the board propose a resolution requesting the C. N. R. lake service and J. R. Campbell thought that the matter should be followed up.

C. J. Amm and A. B. Elliott were of the opinion that the C. P. R. could handle the business and P. E.

REDUCED RATES FOR THROUGH PASS AUTOS

Five Automobile Cars Available for Hope-Princeton Service

Regular automobile care for the conveyance of automobiles between Hope and Princeton will be available this year; five of them being allotted by the K. V. R. for that purpose. This will ensure the cars coming through in much better condition than when shipped on flat cars and should also lessen the chances of loss of detachable parts and accessories, of which frequent complaints were heard in the past.

The tariff on autos between the places mentioned has also been reduced from $34.00 to $27.00, effective March 1st.—Princeton Star.

To Celebrate One Hundred and Sixty Anniversary of Order

Members of O. K. Lodge No. 58, I. O. O. F., will celebrate the 106th anniversary of the founding of the order on Sunday next in a parade and special service at the Union Church. Rev. W. A. Alexander, the pastor, will give an address fitting the occasion.

Members of the Lodge have been requested to assemble at the Lodge room at 10.15 and all visiting Odd Fellows are requested to join with them. They will parade in full regalia to the Church where they will sit in a body during the service.

ERECTING TOTEM POLE IN PEACH ORCHARD

There arrived here on Saturday a totem pole made by Indians of Queen Charlotte Islands. This pole is to be erected on the Log Cabin grounds on the corner of the Okanagan Highway and the Peach Orchard road. It will be a conspicuous mark and will arrest the attention of the passing tourist doubtless to the benefit of the Log Cabin and the Peach Orchard Tourist Camp.

KILL COMBINE SAYS STIRLING

Local Member Demands Action From Federal Government

Grote Stirling, M. P. for this district, speaking in the budget debate in the House of Commons last Thursday, remarked that sometimes the fruit grower was described as spineless and looking for assistance, but this was erroneous. "The fruit growers have battled," he declared, "to a great extent successfully, with a very considerable number of difficulties." Referring to the investigation into the fruit combine in Western Canada, Mr. Stirling recommended the report of the commissioner to the members of the House. He spoke of the report as containing some very light reading and referred to "the slang which these brigands use among themselves."

Producer Gets Little

Mr. Stirling believed the government had power to proceed against the combine and suggested to the minister of labor that he get the opinion of lawyers who were members of the government.

Mr. Stirling urged that steps be taken to destroy the fruit combine in Western Canada. It was of no advantage to the producer or the consumer for the former to receive 30 cents a box for apples and have them sold in the prairie provinces at $3 a box.

Knowles said that if the C. N. R. could see any profit in it they would establish a service.

JONES DIRECTING ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Local Member in Charge of Opposition Fight At G. Forks

J. W. Jones, M. L. A. for South Okanagan, is in charge of the opposition campaign in the Grand Forks-Greenwood by-election. He has been in that constituency since the opening of the campaign nearly two weeks ago. R. H. Pooley, leader of the Conservative opposition, W. A. MacPherson, member for the Similkameen, and several others from outside points are working for the election of Dr. Kingston, the opposition candidate.

The government party is represented by Cabinet ministers and others. Honorable Wm. Sloan, minister of finance, Honorable J. D. MacLean, minister of education and Honorable A. M. Manson, attorney-general, are all in the field working for the election of the government candidate, Mr. D. MacPherson.

DISLOYALTY COSTS GROWERS MUCH MONEY

Head of Associated Outlines New Marketing Plans

E. J. Chambers, President of the Associated Growers of B. C., Ltd. and also president and manager of the Canadian Fruit Distributors, Ltd. addressed a mass meeting at Hatzic, Fraser Valley, last Friday on "How to Sell Your Fruit."

Mr. Chambers gave his hearers an outline of the difficulties and troubles of the Okanagan Apple Grower that had led up to the formation of the national pool. He showed how the Okanagan Co-operative had been the salvation of the grower, and predicted it would also solve the troubles of the small fruit growers of the Fraser Valley. He told his hearers the proposed plan was to establish a few distributing centres at some points on the Prairies, Regina, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon, being mentioned as these possible centres. From these centres the fruit would be distributed to the retailers direct by efficient salesmen.

Asks For Loyalty

"The greatest point to be observed," he said, "was loyalty by the members. It had cost the Okanagan growers $20,000 last year to fight members for breach of contract. That would not be necessary if members would only be loyal, which in the end would be beneficial to all."

Answering questions from the audience, Mr. Chambers said that it was the intention of the Associated Growers to handle all the produce sent to them from the Fraser Valley. As to the prospects of distribution with the new association, he said that with their own travellers selling direct to the retailers, he anticipated much better distribution under the new system.

The speaker was asked whether the Associated proposed to buy or lease warehouses at the prairie centres, and said that they proposed to rent, the same as the other interests did. Plenty of buildings could be had, he added.

Asked as to whether the Association would go in for supplying citrus fruit to their customers, he replied that they would not do so, unless they considered it necessary to further their efficiency.

Exchange Will Buy Bowes Building—Growers Optimistic

The annual meeting of the Co-operative Growers' Exchange, held on Tuesday, was marked by an evident feeling of optimism, and the proceedings were characterized by a harmony which indicated a general appreciation of the past season's accomplishments. The meeting was called to order by President F. W. Rolt at 10.30 in the morning, and the minutes of preceding meetings read, such business as arose from them being dealt with in due course. The matter of applying co-operative funds for the purpose of paying members' fees to the B. C. F. G. A. which had been objected to by the auditors, came under discussion and a decision finally reached whereby those members willing to pay same would be assessed accordingly. Referring to the subject of stamped boxes being delivered to concerns not entitled to use them, the president said he had taken the matter up with the box makers who disclaimed any desire to make such deliveries, and would exercise care to prevent them.

The Reserve Fund

Consideration of the financial statement for the past year led to some discussion concerning the reserve fund, and it was suggested that a limit be put to the amount set aside. The president pointed out that it was compulsory to provide at least 10% reserve from profits, and thought it would be premature to set any limit at present. It was finally decided to leave the matter for further consideration, and the meeting adjourned until 1.30.

On reassembling the financial report was further discussed, and eventually approved. The president then called for nominations for directors for the coming year, and a resolution was passed re-electing the retiring board en bloc. The appointment of auditor was left in the hands of the directors, and the president again appointed central shareholder.

To Buy Building

The purchase of the storage building by a levy of 5 cents per box on fruit until the purchase price of $11,000 was completed was deferred until the arrival of G. A. Barrat of Kelowna who was on his way to the meeting, it being thought a more equitable levy might be made on a percentage basis. The president then brought up the matter of the Bowes building, and stated he had secured a provisional offer of same from a bank in the east at a price of $4,000. The directors were authorized to proceed with the negotiations and report back to a future meeting.

TEACHERS ELECT LOCK PRESIDENT

Former Summerland Man Heads Teachers' Federation

Ernest H. Lock of the New Westminster high school was elected president of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation at the annual convention held in Penticton last week. He conducted the closing meeting of the session at which Charles G. D. Roberts, noted Canadian poet and author, spoke.

Mr. Lock resided in Summerland for a number of years with his mother who owned the property on Giant's Head road afterwards sold to J. W. Harris. Mr. Lock still owns an orchard at Kaleden formerly the property of his mother, now deceased. Mr. Lock's wife was also a resident of Summerland for a number of years and was at one time teacher of the town school on Hospital Hill, and lived in Peach Orchard with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Williams.

AARON SAPIRO IS SUING HENRY FORD FOR LIBEL

Well Known Co-operationist Wants One Million Dollars

Detroit, April 22.—Henry Ford and the Dearborn Publishing Company, of which he is the owner, were named defendants in a million dollar libel suit filed by Aaron Sapiro, well known co-operative farm expert. He alleges that articles defamatory to his character were published in the Independent.

The articles allege that he was in a conspiracy of Jewish bankers who seek to control the food markets of the world. It is well known that Ford, who is strongly anti-Jew, has been publishing violent articles against them for several years.

Aaron Sapiro is well known in the Okanagan. His brilliant addresses preliminary to the organization of the Associated Growers contributed materially to the successful formation of that body.

GIVES INSTITUTE ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

"Beautifying Our Community" was the subject of an address given by Mr. V. B. Robinson before the Summerland Women's Institute in the Parish Hall last Friday afternoon. Illustrative lantern slides were very effectively used in showing how neglected and untidy lots may be cleaned up and beautified with trees, lawns, shrubbery, flowers, etc. The lecture was followed throughout with a great deal of interest by the large audience present.

Roll call "essential characteristics of a successful worker" was well responded to with many suitable replies. Friday was Egg Day for the hospital, now an annual event with the Institute, and a very generous supply of eggs was donated by the members.

FERRY SERVICE WAS DISARRANGED

Through some delay in the renewing of the license for the Skookum on the ferry service between Summerland and Naramata, that boat was tied up all last week. Through the good offices of Grote Stirling, M. P., the trouble was quickly adjusted, an inspector being sent in from the Coast to examine the boat and give the owners the necessary permit.

While the Skookum was tied up a service was maintained with the Trepianor though on a different schedule.

While the track was being cleared the westbound train and the eastbound train met at the slide. There passengers, baggage, mail and express matter were transferred and the trains reversed. On Saturday both trains went through to their destination but the westbound train was delayed for a few hours until the track was cleared. Since Sunday she has been running on time.

WAS PIONEER IN FRUIT ORGANIZING

W. H. Paulhamus, Well Known Fruit Man Is Dead

W. H. Paulhamus, well-known in the fruit world of the north-western States and British Columbia is dead. For more than a quarter of a century he has been a leader among fruit growers. Many of our readers are familiar with his activities for the betterment of the orchardist. Twenty years ago "Paul," as he was intimately known, organized a fruit growers association and was for many years its leading chief. He was also the organizer and first president of the Washington Co-operative Egg and Poultry Association. For four years he represented his county in the State Senate.

Largely through his efforts the Puyallup Valley and his home town, Sumner, became famous for their fruits. He was sixty and is survived by four children and his widow.

At his request his body was buried on a bluff above the Puyallup Valley overlooking the fertile lands in which he lived and worked for many years.

"Better Fruit" says that another cannery is to be established in Wenatchee which will handle two thousand tons of pears and cull apples.

OPERATIC SOCY. WELL RECEIVED

Had Good Houses At Penticton And Kelowna

Summerland Operatic Society presented "The Mikado" in the Senator Shatford Auditorium in Penticton last Friday evening to a full house. Members of the society were delighted with the reception they received there, the audience being very appreciative. At Kelowna, where they appeared on Monday evening, they were also well received with an audience almost, if not quite, as large as that at Penticton.

The two performances here and those at Penticton and Kelowna terminate the long season of practice and diligent work that was necessary to the successful performance of that popular Gilbert & Sullivan opera. The Principals

To G. C. Benmore, the leading spirit, chief credit is due for the splendid success achieved by the Operatic Society. He has received excellent co-operation from the members, all of whom put in a good deal of hard work during the winter months.

The principals in "The Mikado" were Moser, J. C. Clement, Don Newton, C. B. Winter, G. C. Benmore and F. Mosson, and Mrs. George Crnig, Misses Carol Graham, Mona Winter and Eva Barkwill.

The choruses were trained by Mr. G. W. Cope, the musical conductor. The following comprises the choruses: Chorus of School Girls—Meadames (Continued on Page 2)

"Forget It" Is Engineers Answer To Boards Petition

SAYS COST WOULD BE PROHIBITIVE

Can Build Good Lake Road At Third of Cost

Authority has been given the district engineer to make very material improvements on the road between Summerland and Peachland, and the money is available for the purpose, according to a statement made by M. G. Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, at the regular meeting of the board held in the Empire Hall Tuesday evening.

The secretary reported having sent copies of the resolution passed at the last meeting, favoring the opening of the high road, to the several Boards of Trade in the southern part of the Valley. Only one board had acknowledged receipt of the resolution but it was stated from the floor that Penticton Board of Trade had adopted a similar resolution.

Compare Costs

Mr. Wilson said he had been talking with Engineer Gwyer on the subject since the resolution had been forwarded to him and that Mr. Gwyer had said that the Board of Trade might just as well forget it as the government would not go to the expense of building the high road. Estimates had been prepared and Mr. Gwyer told Mr. Wilson it would take $60,000 to put the upper road in fit condition whereas with $20,000 they could take off all the bad points and straighten out the sharp turns on the lower road and make it a double track road from end to end. Authority had been given for this work.

J. R. Campbell, chairman of the committee to meet the representative of the National Canniers Limited, who was coming to Summerland to investigate the possibilities of operating a cannery here, reported that the gentleman had not reached Summerland. Apparently he had delayed too long at Kelowna and had been discouraged from coming further. Mr. Campbell understood the visitor was told that Kelowna would plant 900 acres to tomatoes and that would be about sufficient to care for the needs of Western Canada. The National representative had returned to Vancouver without coming to Summerland.

The president reported that with the exception of two current accounts, which were passed at the meeting on Tuesday night, the Board of Trade was out of debt.

Many Enquiries

Secretary P. E. Knowles said that most of the communications were for information on Summerland and district. The president regretted that the board had not the much needed printed matter to send out to those inquirers.

Mr. Wilson reported having attended two of the monthly dinners of the Penticton Board of Trade, where he was warmly welcomed as a representative of the Summerland board and was assured that the Penticton board would look for a representative from Summerland each month.

J. R. Campbell, who had been appointed to attend the last dinner of the Penticton board, but who had to have the president take his place, was asked to attend the next dinner.

A resolution asking the municipal council to arrange for frequent cleaning of the main streets of the two business centres of the district of woods and refuse was unanimously adopted.

The advisability of making early preparations for holding the fall fair and apple show were discussed but no action was taken. The subject was introduced by J. Tait, secretary of the agricultural society, and whose auspices the show is always held. J. R. Campbell spoke strongly in favor of a Valley show in which one district could compete against another and which could be made a (Continued on Page 3)

MAKING THE BIBLE "DRY"

A Yale professor has compiled a "dry" version of the Bible, in which he eliminates "certain references to wine and alters others to conform more closely to the terms of the Volstead Act, such as substituting "raisin cakes" for "flagons of wine."

Even the staunchest "drys" will be slow to accept the professor's innovation with more than passing interest. The Holy Scriptures already have suffered enough by attempts at man-made changes. If anyone assumes the authority to translate the Bible to conform to any modern proposition be it ever so worthy, then what is to hinder the corruption of the Holy Word by any or every passing fancy?

Whether "raisin cakes" or "flagons of wine" is not material. The essential point is that we do not want a "flappers" Bible for the flappers, or a "wet" Bible for the wets, or a "dry" Bible for the drys. The world needs the good old Book as translated by students whose interests are in accuracy of language rather than in certain secular viewpoints.

People respect Yale and its professors, but the "new Bible" will not make much headway. Rather than put more prohibition into the Bible, it would be better to put more holy respect and reverence into prohibition, where prohibition is law.

HOT CONTESTS IN GERMANY

Germany's presidential election on March 30th resulted in no candidate receiving a majority, and another balloting will take place April 26th. From the standpoint of creating a national interest, which invariably helps to strengthen the national conscience, it is encouraging to note that seven political parties took part, ranging according to numerical strength as follows: Nationalist, Socialist, Centrist, Democrat, Bavarian and Fascisti.

Some of these names do not sound well to the Canadian ear, but out of so many aspirations undoubtedly will come a solidified, national unity when the issues have been fought out on the basis of a representative government. And with a stabilized Germany will come better world conditions.

PREDICTING EARTHQUAKES

With amazing accuracy, Professor Bendandi, the Italian seismologist, predicted the earthquake that shook Central America a few days ago. His forecasts also of the tremors in Eastern Canada and the northeast United States and the disastrous earthquake in Japan two years ago were fulfilled. This is getting things down pretty fine. It should be remembered that Bendandi is a scientist. His predictions are not based upon any assumption of supernatural gift, nor upon guesswork except as come with scientific research. If his further predictions come true, may we not welcome an earthquake-predicting bureau for the whole world? Such a service would be invaluable. It might cause a good deal of hysteria during the waiting period, but it would be the means of saving human life.

Boost and the world opens to you; knock and there's nobody home.

ON VACCINATION

The question now being discussed in interested quarters regarding vaccination is whether or not the Rossland school board in vaccinating children over the protests of parents are liable for damages. In the Burnaby case the provincial health officer, H. E. Young, emphatically declared that "Children are vaccinated only with the consent of the parents." It seems the school board of Rossland instead of exercising a little brief authority should have sought legal advice and found out just where their authority ends and the public's begins.—Trail News.

Timely Hints For the Orchardist

Specially prepared for The Review by J. Tait, District Field Inspector.

COLLAR ROT OF APPLES

The principal causes of the troubles known as "collar rot" are:— Root disease, Frost-girdle, Bacterial pear blight, and Mouse girdle. Take the first opportunity to clean up, and open out the base of all apple trees, if dead or injured areas are found they can be treated with hopes of success. Orchardists are now adopting this as a regular part of the year's work. If this practise is not followed we will continue to lose trees from our present plantings as a result of collar-rot.

PEACH TREE BORER

Try paradichlorobenzene gas treatment for peach borers this spring. Although spring results will not be as good as when used in the fall. Apply when soil temperature is about 60 degrees, which should be about the first week in May. Consult writer.

The first bloom is a godsend to the beekeeper. The bees, however, are of more importance to the orchardist. It has been estimated that for every dollar the bees return to owner, three are placed in the fruit grower's pocket, as a result of the pollination work.

The Winter's Tale, Scene II, Act IV

An interesting and very significant sidelight on the Oriental problem is shown by the recent broadcasting of a few questions by a concern with the title "THE QUESTION VANCEMENT COMMITTEE." This organization has a Vancouver address, and its aims seem to be fairly well indicated by the name it has taken.

A copy of the questions asked was sent to Mr. H. H. Stevens, M.P., and his replies to them are both full and satisfactory from the Canadian viewpoint, whatever they may be to the Japanese Committee. In this paragraph I am chiefly concerned with certain details embodied in the reply to the first question, which seeks opinions on "the desirable and undesirable features" of Japanese settlement in Canada.

The point which will at once strike the reader is that Mr. Stevens does not mention any "desirable features" in that connection, and the conclusion is obvious. The desirable features of Japanese immigration are: something like snakes in Ireland—there are none. The undesirable features all centre round the one of racial, economic and sociological distinction, and that is all sufficient. There is no question of superiority or inferiority, but a vital one of racial difference.

And those people who cling to the idea that in time the Oriental will assimilate with the Occidental overlook the very important fact that the Oriental has no such ambition. Mr. Stevens points out that the Japanese possess "a proud racial instinct" which they are determined to preserve, and that it is no part of their ambition to submerge their nationality in other races. In confirmation he quotes from Japanese papers published in the United States, one extract reading thus: "We must raise as many children in America as possible so that we shall acquire a stability and strength which no amount of anti-Japanese agitation can shake."

That does not read much like a desire for assimilation. And it is not weakened by this forecast, also Japanese: "The day will come when the real strength of the Japanese will make a clean sweep of all laws." Well, that is at least candid, and is worth remembering. It reminds me of the stand taken by a lawyer who lived in an Okanagan town a few years ago, and was obsessed with a craze in favor of unrestricted entry of Orientals, free franchise and the rest of it. One of his arguments was that if we didn't give the Japanese all these things voluntarily, they would presently come and take them by force, and we might as well choose the lesser of two evils! I lately saw some such weak-kneed position taken by a leading newspaper in this province concerning the Doukhobor problem, the solution offered in that case being a policy of patience and a hope for the best! Patience is doubtless a great virtue, but its first cousins, timidity and irresolution are miserable shufflers, and should have no place in the policy of a great country.

A Washington despatch of recent date offers the somewhat superfluous remark that the public is as gullible as ever where get rich

THE OLD quick schemes are COM-FAVORITES. earned, the basis of the observation being the fact that over five hundred post-office investigators are kept busy looking into frauds carried out by mail.

The late T. P. Barnum was always convinced of the permanent character of the supply of gulls, and it is only reasonable to assume that their number will continue to increase with the growth of population. The only variation to be looked for is in the nature of the bait used, and on that point we note that just at present, oil stock exploitation is at a low ebb. Since the estimated loss to the "investing" public from gushers which failed to gush is put at the picayune total of $140,000,000 in the last five years, a temporary halt is perhaps not surprising. But we may be sure the procession will begin to move again presently. The gambler's chance of striking oil is a lure which will always have its attractions, no matter how many times it fails. As a matter of fact the permanent favorites in the list of swindlers are those which bear their labels most prominently. The Washington scribe remarks that the old tricks are still the most popular, and gives as an instance the "Spanish prisoner" letter, which is a fraud on its very face, and yet was fairly successful only a short time back. And that beautiful young widow with $60,000 in her own right, languishing in loneliness for a mate, must still find profit in her forlorn plight, since she never marries, but continues to plead—at so much a line. Then we have the confidence trick, ringing the changes, and even the pen and thimble game with which O. Henry's "Gentle Graftor" snared the modern up-to-date farmer who laughed at all other attempts to hoodwink him, and by the same token laughed still louder when he found himself the victim.

Tricks of the pen and thimble variety carry with them their own humor, but there is no trace of that in the swindles on women carried out under the cloak of home work. In these cases there is always involved an extravagant outlay for materials in the beginning, and in most instances the work done is refused as being below standard. It is claimed that one robber of this genus netted $160,000 profit before being stopped,

The Orchestra

As with the performers, it has meant a good deal for many of the members of the orchestra to attend practices regular throughout the winter, and the excellency with which they carried out their part of the program was evidence of the thoroughness of their training. Miss Ruth Dale, assistant pianist, helped materially in this capacity in the place of Mrs. Frank Mossop, pianist, who attended the rehearsals of performers and choruses. The orchestra was organized and instructed by S. B. Snider, orchestra leader. The members were, violins: Mrs. E. J. L. Smith, Messrs. J. A. Read, E. Hunt, S. W. J. Feltham, R. D. Dunham, F. Anderson; cello, Mrs. Geo. R. Hookham; double bass, Mr. S. B. Snider; flute, Mr. A. Hargreaves; clarinet, Mr. E. O. Gaube; cornet, Mr. T. Charity; drums, Mr. James Kean.

Mr. S. P. Thomas served as property-man and stage carpenter and Mr. T. P. Thornber as electrician.

and even then started a similar swindle under another name, making even more from his second scheme. When it is remembered that the victims in these cases were not gambling or speculating, but were for the most part seeking needed employment, it is hard to absolve from a charge of carelessness those responsible for the continuance of such obvious frauds.

It is very curious to reflect on the tendency of many scientific men to overlook a fatal gap in the line of their reasoning on certain subjects.

THE OVERLOOKED: Dr. Malthus, for example, in prophesying the ultimate starvation of the human race for want of room to grow food, quite forgot that the increase of population has always been governed by the fluctuations of external conditions, varying in accordance with the prosperity of a country, and that this principle constitutes an automatic check when required. (The same thing, by the way, occurs in a bee-hive, the queen checking up on her laying when nectar is coming in slowly.) I note a repetition of the Malthus error in a warning by a Mr. Du Poy against the increase of insect life. No one will doubt that it is a good thing to be warned of this very real danger, but there is a hiatus in the line of argument which seems to be quite ignored. Mr. Du Poy's conclusion is that if insect life continues to increase as it is doing now a time will come when man's food supplies will be gone and he will die out, the insect group remaining supreme. A moment's thought will show that if the food is gone, the insects, as well as man, will be gone too, and this entails a drastic revision of the conclusion.

Concert Given By Penticton Talent Under W. A. Auspices

On Monday evening the Orpheus Club under the direction of Mr. G. W. Weaver of Penticton gave an evening concert at Naramata under the auspices of the Naramata Women's Auxiliary, and delighted a large audience with a programme of high class vocal and instrumental music. This aggregation of musical enthusiasts includes some of Penticton's favorite singers, and excels in the rendering of choral music sung unaccompanied. Among the selections especially enjoyed may be named "Ala Trinita" (15th century) "My-bonnie lass, she smileth" (Nevin) "The Indian Maid" (Hatton) and "Nursery Rhymes" (Carse).

Mrs. G. Birch, L. A. B. was warmly recalled for her "Song of Thanksgiving" (Allitson) and "I passed by your window" and a similar reception was awarded the trio "Night Sinks-on the Wave" (Smart) beautifully rendered by Mrs. Birch, Miss Turner and Mrs. Weaver. Mr. Weaver was recalled for his rendering of "Like to a damask rose" (Egar) and later sang Schubert's "Ave Maria". Miss B. C. Price, A. T. C. M. was deservedly honored for her interpretation of Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetique" and also showed herself a sympathetic accompanist to the soloists of the evening. Miss A. D. Turner charmed her hearers with Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C sharp minor" and responded to an insistent recall. A duet, "Love is meant" (German) sung by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Weaver revealed the fact that Mrs. Weaver possesses a very pleasing contralto voice, heard to advantage in this number. Two recitations by Mrs. H. W. Towl, "A Summer day symphony" (G. W. Weaver) and "O Mary, call the cattle home" were sympathetically given and warmly applauded. Mr. C. G. Crane's violin solo "Nocturne No. 1" (Burgmuler) was remarkable for pure tone and careful rendering and earned a well merited recall.

Mrs. Languedoc presided during the evening, at the close of which a cordial vote of thanks was accorded to the visitors, who were afterwards entertained by the members of the W. A. at the home of Mrs. W. J. Robinson, leaving for Penticton in the Patterson Stage at 11.45.

The members of the Ladies' Aid met on Wednesday in the Syndica Hotel, Mrs. A. C. Patterson presiding. There was a large attendance. Mrs. Mitchell was hostess.

Your correspondent finds that the glory of the first plunge of the season, attributed last week to Miss Allan alone, was shared by Miss Nesbie Rushbury, who was her partner in the deed of daring. Apologies are in order, and are hereby tendered.

The Woman's Auxiliary held their regular meeting at the Syndica Hotel on Friday, Mrs. Languedoc presiding and Mrs. Gamman serving tea. Mrs. Dunn read a paper from the "Missionary Review" on "Training India's New Woman."

Y.P. SOCIETY ENJOY TWO INTERESTING DEBATES

The Monday night meeting of the St. Andrew's Young People's Society was literary night and two excellent debates comprised the evening program. The first "Resolved that a man's happiness varies inversely with the bald spot on the back of his head," was made exceedingly witty by Howie Daniel and Wesley McCurdy. Everyone enjoyed to the utmost their comical elucidation of the subject.

The second debate, "Resolved that what a person inherits will determine what he shall become more than do his surroundings," was the main feature of the evening. Clarence Adams and Shelley Knowles spoke for the affirmative and Orville Dunham and Clyde Caldwell for the negative, the first named in each case being the leader. The speakers spent close to an hour on the subject.

The judges, Rev. W. A. Alexander, C. A. Mitchell and L. G. Harding, found it impossible to award a decision in the first debate on the ground that the speakers wandered too far from the subject. In the second case the resolution stood. Misses Ida Shields and Hazel Stewart pleased the audience with a piano duet between debates.

good advertising feature for the Okanagan and a big attraction for outsiders. No doubt excursion rates could be arranged for such an event. Mr. Tait had already referred to this stating that the suggestion had been made to the other valley organizations, but he had received little response.

Keeping Turkeys

(Experimental Farm Note)

Turkey raising is not the difficult matter that many believe it to be, writes Mr. A. G. Taylor of the Poultry Division, Dominion Experimental Farms, who itemizes the essentials to success in this line of poultry keeping as follows:— Well-drained soil; free range, well-developed, healthy, unrelated breeding stock and palatable foods properly and regularly fed.

The birds are not confined to houses and for winter nights require only the shelter of a straw-barn or closed-in shed. Nor is the feeding an expensive matter. Turkeys, especially the Bronze which is our largest and most popular breed, are great foragers and gather much of their food from the fields. Altogether there is little labor required in keeping a flock; a small initial investment will provide a suitable start; and the market for dressed turkeys is good both at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

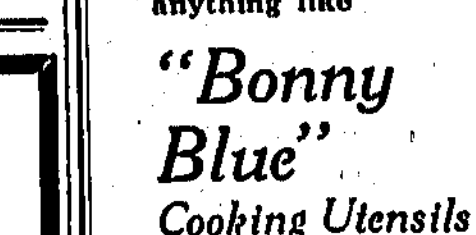

A bulletin issued by Mr. Taylor entitled "Turkeys, Their Care and Management," (No. 46, New Series) is now in the press. In it are to be found a discussion of breeds; practical directions for successfully managing a flock; and notes on the prevention and cure of diseases. Copies will be sent free on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Washington Dehydrated Food Company, Wenatchee, found last season the most successful in its history. It used more than one hundred cars of cull apples. Thirty people were employed during the last six months and growers received $15,000 for culls.

OREGON TREES KILLED BY DECEMBER FREEZE

Many of the 950 varieties of fruits in the variety block of the agricultural college and experiment station in Oregon, were damaged by the freeze last December, according to "Better Fruit." Most of the trees are in pairs and in some cases both trees of a variety have been killed. The trees were girdled by the freezing of the cambium layers—the actively growing portions of the trunks.

In many cases where the girdling was not complete, bridge grafting was resorted to. Trees completely girdled are often saved by bridge grafting when the importance of the tree warrants the expense.

PROVIDE FOR VACCINATION

At a meeting of the Summerland Board of Health made up of the reeve and council, the recent order of the provincial board of health with respect to vaccination, was discussed and it was decided to arrange with Dr. Andrew, medical health officer, for vaccination of school children; which is being done free, and for vaccination of the public generally. Formal announcement with respect to the latter is given in another column.

Farewell Social For The Murdin Family

Members of the Baptist denomination gathered at the home of Mrs.
Dorland on Tuesday evening of last week to hold a farewell social for the Murdin family who were leaving for Nelson. A very pleasant time was enjoyed with music and games.

Members of the C. G. I. T. and members of the Trail Rangers and Tuxis groups on invitation from the girls group, went for a hike on Wednesday. The Misses Keating and Cousins accompanied the girls for their leader, Mrs. Vivian, while Mr.
Boswell and Mr. McCall accompanied the boys' groups. The party numbered thirty-five and hiked to the saw mill and return. A very heavy shower came down just as they were leaving the mill for home but it did not dampen the spirits of the young folk. They seemed to enjoy it more and more as the rain kept falling and fortunately there were no ill effects worth mentioning from the soaking all received. All enjoyed the outing very much.

Mr. E. E. Eddy returned from the East last week to spend the summer on his fruit ranch here. His friends are pleased to note that he has entirely recovered from his facial nerve trouble and is enjoying life to the full, and is glad to get back to the Valley.

Miss Alice Wright returned from Penticton on Wednesday to spend a time at home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Lang, Messrs. Harrington, S. McGirr, J. E. Kerr and Mout were out of town visitors on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Miller returned home last week after a weeks visit at the Coast.

Miss A. E. Elliott left by stage boat on Wednesday to attend the teachers' convention in Penticton.
She returned on Thursday.

Members of the Union Church held a house cleaning bee on Tuesday cleaning the church building upstairs and down and making a splendid job of it. Both men and women were present and the ladies served the nice things at mid-day luncheon and afternoon tea at the close of the bee.

Friends in town of Mr. and Mrs.
Kinchen of Tropanier, recent arrivals in the community, deeply regret and sympathize with them in the death of their youngest son. He was enjoying splendid health the last they heard but was taken suddenly with appendicitis. An operation was deemed necessary and death resulted on Mon-

Mr. and Mrs. Cudmore traded in their Ford last week and are now the proud possessors of a Two-door Ford Sedan.

Miss Myrtle Barber of Kelowna arrived here on Thursday evening and spent a few days with Miss Edna Cudmore. She returned home on Tuesday morning last.

Mr. G. H. V. Bulyea was a visitor to Kelowna on Thursday.

Mr. Terry of Vernon was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Thornber over the week end.

The local company who put on the play "Aunt Jerushy on the War Path" motored to Westbank on Friday evening last week and put the same play on there, half the proceeds being for the memorial site here and the other half to be used by the Westbank people toward their community hall.
Quite a number of Peachland folks went up as well, some who had not seen the play when given in town and others to see it a second time. The proceeds were something over thirty dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Elliott and son Franklin motored to Dog Lake and back on Saturday.

The regular meeting of the Peach-land W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Sadler on Friday afternoon with the devotional opening exercises and routine business, which included the discussion on a communication from Miss Belle Eilers with reference to the postponed recital which they hope to have either the third week in May or the first week in June.

Miss Metcalf returned from Calgary last week, where she has spent several months and is making her home in Peachland with her brother. She is very glad to be back.

Miss Alice Copusins left on Saturday morning to return to her school after having enjoyed the Easter holiday with the family.

that organization, and to declare jobber owned brokerage houses illegal.
A suggestion that it might be possible to consolidate the Co-operative and Irrigation office work under one head was clearly against the sense of the meeting, and was promptly discarded. The secretary then read the comparative totals of shipments and returns as between the years 1923 and 1924, the figures being as follows:— 1923 shipments amounted to 94,456 boxes, and cash returns to growers were $34,407.87. 1924 shipments totalled 57,640 boxes, but cash returns to the growers were $40,859.61, showing considerable increase of revenue despite a greatly reduced crop.

Encouraging
At this point Mr. Barrat arrived, and was introduced to the meeting.
In the course of a very able and informative address Mr. Barrat gave some surprising statistics of apple production in Canada and the United States, tending to show a probable shortage of apples within the next few years. Forty years ago Canada actually produced 40% more apples than she does at present, while the shrinkage in the number of apple trees in the United States during the past ten years amounts to no less than 65,000,000. British Columbia has only 1,000,000 trees in all. Referring to this year's outlook the speaker thought the apple crop would be lighter than was generally expected, and told of the destruction wrought at Creston by storms. This end of the Valley would be fortunate if it had a good crop. Some details were given concerning the marketing arrangements being made, and the meeting learned that Mr. McRae of Moose Jaw, hitherto connected with the Occidental Co., was now with the Associated, and would control the marketing in Saskatchewan.

Back With Associated
Creston and Kamloops were expected back in the Association. All cases of attempted evasion were being vigorously handled, and the Associated were resolved to enforce the contract.
$50,000 would be spent in advertising this year, and arrangements were being made regarding the British market.

In moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, the president reverted to the question of the storage building, and in putting the motion to purchase, day last. Mr. and Mrs. Kinchen left on Tuesday morning for Calgary where the body was being taken from where their son had started teaching only as recently as April 1st.

the vote was unanimously in favor.
Replying to questions concerning cerhe stated that the details had been

Growers Forced To Go To Retail Trade By The Prairie Jobber Attitude

Member of Associated Executive Address Annual Meeting of Summerland Co-operative Growers Association On New Marketing Policy—Chambers and McNair Now On Prairies Furthering Organization—Election of Officers Confirmed—Reports Adopted

An address by O. W. Hembling of Oyama, a member of the executive of the Associated, on the new marketing plans, was an outstanding feature of the annual meeting of the members of the Summerland held in the Rialto Theatre on Monday.

It had been expected that E. J. Chambers, the president, would have been present but he was on the Prairies with D. McNair, the sales manager, organizing for the season's selling campaign.

Late in the season last year the Associated directors realized that a change in brokerage methods was essential if the growers and their organization were to continue in existence and a movement was then launched for effecting a change, states Mr. Hembling. No announcement was made of the proposed new policy until the recent meeting of local managers. A provisional board of directors for the new brokerage concern was appointed. Mr. Hembling continued with a brief report on the organization of Canadian Fruit Growers Limited.

On their way back from Ottawa, the officials of the Associated interviewed prairie jobbers and discovered that they did not manifest the sympathy for the growers' brokerage that might have been expected. The outcome, following a study of the whole situation and the circularizing of the retail trade, was a recommendation to the board of the Central that jobbing houses be established on the Prairies for the purpose of dealing direct with the retail trade.

The plan outlined at that time was considered by the board too intricate and requiring too much capital. Ultimately a modified plan was adopted.

At Vancouver and at Winnipeg the Canadian Fruit Distributors Limited will sell Associated products on a brokerage basis on the originally adopted plan for the whole west. Elsewhere the retail trade will be served from branch distributing houses, one in each province. A sales staff will cover the entire retail trade. With this closer contact with the consumer it is hoped that the growers will be able to get a bigger share of the consumer's dollars.

Mr. Hembling fully realized the seriousness of the new venture but believed it to be a step in the right direction, a move that will put the Associated in a position to compete with the independent in returns to growers. It will be a fight, no doubt, and to succeed the organization must have the full support of every grower. By selling more direct it was believed that the Associated could force the independents to take their share of the export trade. The necessity of exporting a good portion

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL IN PARISH HALL

Crossword Puzzle Was Prepared Locally—Church Benefits

About seventy guests enjoyed the crossword puzzle tea given by Mrs. J. Downton and Mrs. G. C. Bonmore in the Parish Hall last week. Afternoon tea was served and a most delightful time spent. The winners of the crossword puzzle contest were: Mrs. W. Armstrong, Miss Rono Harris and Mrs. J. Connor.

During the afternoon musical items were enjoyed. These included a song by Miss Carol Graham and a piano solo by Miss Ila Shields. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion. New curtains and tablecloths for the Parish Hall, made by Mrs. Downton, were seen for the first time. The Church insurance fund benefited about $25.00. Mr. G. C. Bonmore was the author of the puzzle.

WANT ACTION BY GOVERNMENT

Growers Pass Resolution On Duncan Report

Members of the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association in annual meeting on Monday unanimously passed a resolution urging upon the federal government action in regard to the alleged irregularities disclosed in the Duncan report, and with respect to the recommendations in said report. The full resolution as adopted at the growers' meeting follows:

"Resolved that we, the members of the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association, express our appreciation of the federal government's action in instituting an investigation into the methods of the fruit brokerage firms in British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and further that we respectfully urge upon the federal government the importance of taking prompt action in regard to the alleged irregularities of certain brokerage and jobbing houses as disclosed in the Duncan report, considering that, as the commission was appointed by the federal government it is, logically, the duty of that government to take the initiative in whatever action is deemed advisable.

"We also hope that during the present session of parliament, legislation will be enacted covering the recommendations contained in the report as to jobber-owned brokerage houses.

"And further, that as considerable opposition is threatened by brokers and jobbers to the efforts which are being made by the Associated Growers of B. C. Ltd. (of which our Association forms part) to deal more directly with retailers to the benefit of both consumer and producer thus rendering impossible some of the practices complained of in the report,

"And, as one of the methods threatened is the importation of American fruit, which is often sent in below the cost of production so as to maintain prices in the home market,

"Therefore, we would urge upon the government the absolute necessity of putting into full and effective force the provisions of the Dumping Act which in the past, as shown in the report, has been rendered practically useless to the extent which rebates could be obtained."

POUND EXPENSES EXCEEDING REVENUE

Poundkeeper Reports Shortage On Three Months Operations

Revenue from the municipal pound through the collection of fees and charges and the sale of unclaimed animals has not been sufficient to meet the cost of fifty cents per head per day on horses and stock, according to a report laid before the municipal council by the pound-keeper, D. C. Thompson, who submitted the pound records in proof of a claim of $35.25 deficit for the first three months of the current year.

Many of the animals impounded apparently are worthless and others, though of some value, are sold at practically nothing.

MORE MONEY FOR GROWERS

Co-operative Pays Out Another Fifteen Thousand Dollars

Fifteen thousand dollars, a further and almost unlooked for payment, is being made to members by the Co-operative today. Central has made an additional payment of two cents a box on all MacIntoshes. The local had on hand quite a sum of money made up of undistributed balances of closed pools. It is said that in the past here, and that it yet is with many packing houses, the practice to use this balance to reduce the packing charges. Such a practice does not reveal the true packing costs. The growers will therefore be paid pro rata the balances of the pools which represent money received for fruit and yet undistributed.

These further payments are: Delicious 13 cents a box, MacIntoshes 5 cents, Jonathans, Spitzenberg, Snows and Cox's Orange 4 cents, Newtons 3 cents, Spies 2 cents, Main crop varieties 1 1/2 cents, late Peaches 4 cents, late Pears 8 cents and early Pears 5 cents.

A rebate on packing and handling charges is also being made on apples, crab apples and pears at the rate of 5 cents a package and 2 1/2 cents a package on other fruits, $5 a ton on cannery fruits and $2 1/2 a ton on bulk apples.

Included with these payments is the interest on local capital deductions and interest on building fund deductions.

WATER USERS PAYING RATES IN ARREARS

Other Items of News Heard In The Council Chambers

Applications of J. H. Ritchie and Major Hutton for additional irrigation connections were laid before the council on Friday and were referred to the water committee.

Mrs. Hogg was granted domestic water connections for two lots beside her home.

The treasurer reported that a number of water users whose irrigation rates were in arrears were making arrangements for taking care of the arrears so that the service might not be interrupted.

D. Carfoot, claiming that part of the road is within the municipal limits, asked the council to repair that part of the road to Three Lake Valley. Chairman Arkell of the roads committee, will investigate and report.

H. H. Esay applied for an irrigation service from the flume to his lot adjoining J. H. Bowring's. Referred to the water committee.

H. Bristolow asked that the flume above his property be repaired. Referred to the water committee.

CO-OPERATIVE TO BUY LOCAL BUILDINGS

To Issue Debenture Stock To Members For Money Used In Purchase

Members of the Summerland Co-operative will be given debenture shares for their money retained and applied by the Co-operative on the purchase of the local buildings. Some months ago an arrangement was made whereby the members of the local would acquire these buildings instead of being shareholders in the Growers' Packing Houses Limited, but just what form the ownership of the individual growers would take was left with the directors to fix.

At a meeting in February last when a former resolution approving of the acquiring of the local buildings was adopted, the issuing of preferred shares to the members covering their capital investment in these properties was favored, but at the annual meeting held on Monday last the directors recommended the debenture stock having been so advised by their solicitor, W. C. Kelley, and the February resolution was unanimously amended accordingly. Under the plan as finally approved the local association will take over the titles to the packing house and storage building in the name of the association and the latter will issue debenture stock (having security on all land and buildings owned or on the equity owned therein by the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association) to growers to cover their deductions. The debenture stock will bear 7 per cent interest.

It was explained by Mr. G. J. C. White, who proposed the resolution, and also by Mr. Kelley, that unlike regular debentures, the debenture stock would be retired at the will of the association and its directors rather than at fixed dates and will be much better security to the growers than would the preferred shares.

The resolution also pledged the local members to waive their rights to shares in the Growers' Packing Houses Limited, and to accept the debenture stock in lieu of shares in the company.

During the meeting a paper was circulated among the members for their signature giving approval to the new plan. This will be forwarded to the Growers' Packing Houses Limited as their authority for the change.

TO PROSECUTE FRUIT COMBINE

Early action on the part of the Federal government in the prosecution of the alleged fruit combine in Western Canada, is predicted in an Ottawa dispatch received here today.

NASH HOUSE GETS PRICE FOR GRIMES

An item of interest to Summerland growers was contained in a recent letter from A. J. McGregor, now of Unity, Saskatchewan, to a Summerland friend. Mr. McGregor had observed some Grimes Golden apples in a window of a local grocery store and knowing that our growers received practically nothing for that variety he inquired what he paid for them. The storekeeper's reply was that he had bought them from the Nash wholesalers for $2.85 a box.

The totem pole purchased for the Log Cabin grounds has been placed in position at the junction of the lakeshore and Peach Orchard roads and is certainly an object that will arrest the attention of every passer-by. The Art League plans to open the Log Cabin for the season on Thursday next, the 7th.

PREPARING FOR VALLEY PICNIC

Officers Elected And Committee Appointed For Big June Event

Saturday, June 13, has been definitely fixed upon as the date for the big Valley picnic at the Dominion Experimental Farm here, now an annual event. The picnic will be held under the auspices of the Summerland Farmers' Institute, the Trout Creek Farmers' Institute and the local of the B. C. F. G. A. A joint meeting of the preliminary committees was held Tuesday night when permanent officers and several committees were named. J. Tait is chairman and Geo. W. Johnston secretary.

REBATE COMING FROM CENTRAL

Associated Growers Effect Saving On Handling Charges

Local packing houses affiliated with the Associated Growers of British Columbia have been advised that there will be a substantial rebate coming from Central on the handling charges made by the distributing office. Eight cents a box was charged on apples and pears with a varying scale of charges on other fruits. It is estimated that a three cent per package rebate will be made on apples and pears and corresponding refunds on other fruits.

In the case of the Summerland Co-operative this payment will amount to about $5,000. This sum added to that amount going out this week makes a further payment of $20,000 to members of the Co-operative and very materially increases the net prices published at the time the pools were closed.

R. Pollock, secretary of the Summerland Co-operative, informs The Review as soon as the season's work is cleaned up statements will be prepared showing the net average prices paid to growers for all fruits and vegetables. This net price includes the original payments, the later rebates from local and central and further payments and deductions of an investment nature.

C. P. R. FLYING FLAGS AT HALF MAST

Flags on C. P. R. Inko boats have been flying at half mast this week in honor of the late Sir Augustus Nanton, whose death occurred in Toronto last week end. Sir Augustus was one of the pioneers in the financial world of western Canada and for some years has been a director of the C. P. R. But recently he moved from Winnipeg to Toronto to assume the duties of president of the Dominion Bank. Sir Augustus Nanton was twice married. His first wife was a daughter of Honorable William Hespeler, well-known to many in the Okanagan.

FEW APPEALS ON IRRIGATION RATES

Some Adjustment of Acreage Where Parts of Lots Worthless

Reeve and council of Summerland sat on Thursday and Friday last as a court of revision of irrigation rates. Nearly all the business was cleaned up on Thursday, a brief session only being required on Friday after the regular council meeting to finish the revision.

Applications for rebates were relatively very few. Rev. O. E. Mann did not wish a service on his lot in Peach Orchard but as it is under the system and the flume had been extended to cover the property the court could not release it from irrigation rates.

Mrs. Gould, Prairie Valley, was allowed a reduction in acreage, one lot of ten acres will be charged a rate on seven acres and another ten-acre lot is to be charged for eight acres.

R. R. Nightingale, Prairie Valley,

Summerland Tax Rates For Current Year To Be Reduced By Five Mills

owner of two ten-acre lots, wanted general water rates rebated on the back lot, but as the pipe was there to serve the property the rate could not be rebated. Mr. Nightingale will be charged less acreage on these two lots. One will pay on only three and a half acres and the other on nine and a half.

R. V. Agur applied for reduction in acreage on lot 46 DL 475. Assessment sustained. The charge against the one acre lot of Mrs. Agur's was also sustained. Material reductions in acreage were granted Mr. Agur on the two upper lots of what is formerly termed the Count property. Much of these are above the ditch and he will be charged on only three acres in the two lots.

C. W. James, owner of three acres south of the Croll lot, applied for a reduction on account of the broken nature of the property. The assessment was sustained.

K. McKenzie was allowed a reduction in acreage on lots 6 and 7 in DL 480, hillside property in Garnett Valley. On one lot the acreage was cut by an acre and on the other one and a half acres.

LIVELY COMEDY GIVEN BY GIRLS

Young Amateurs Delight Audience With "When A Man's Single"

The Ok-wu group of the St. Andrew's C. G. I. T. gave a very successful entertainment in the Rialto Theatre on Thursday last. It was a three-act comedy, "When A Man's Single," with a number of songs interspersed between acts.

The character Uncle Jim Horton, typical rustic farmer, was taken by Miss Mary Hanna and, as in former years, Miss Hanna showed her aptness for such a part. She kept the audience in continual laughter. Jim's friend and cronie, Pete, was taken by Miss Helen White, who made a perfect country clown with crude speech and rough manner. Jim's niece, Eleanor, the house-keeper at the farm, was ably taken by Miss Isabel Hogg, who was a general favorite not only at the farm but also among her city friends. The irrepressible Irish maid, Norah, was taken by Miss Laura MacLachlan. Norah was bright, sparkling and over in good humor and kept the audience in laughter from start to finish. Nothing could suppress her.

Among the city relatives who visited the country cousin and who in their turn entertained their friends in the city, was Mrs. Briscoe, who was first and foremost in search of a rich husband and was also desirous of making a match for her daughter. Miss Florence Campbell could scarcely be surpassed as a scheming match-maker, while Miss Margaret Munn made a most attractive and winsome daughter. Paul, a city boy in urgent need of a rich heir as a supplement for scanty finances, was ably taken by Miss Marjorie King. Some difficult acting was cleverly given and while the villain of the play yet Miss Marjorie carried the interest throughout. Miss Dorothy Garnett, as Winthrop, a moderate, unassuming, yet generally good fellow, was thoroughly satisfactory.

Every part was well taken and the artists deserve praise in the handling of their several parts. The eight chorus girls added much to the program in a fine selection of songs. Those taking part were: Mimes Dorothy Melvin, Joan Ritchie, Eva Johnston, Muriel Stoves, Joan Moffat, Betty Caldwell, Lorna Sutherland and Mary Munn. "Callor

Summerland tax rate for 1925 will in all probability be five mills below the 1924 rate and 11 mills below the peak high rate of 46 mills in 1920. The 1925 tax rate by-law was given three readings at the meeting of the municipal council on Friday and will come up for further consideration and final reading at an early meeting. Although there will be a reduction in the total mill rate, there is an increase in the debenture rate due to the capital expenditure being made on the irrigation system in Garnett valley and the fact that no increase was made in the irrigation rates to take care of this.

As the by-law now stands the debenture rate is 16 mills, the school rate 13 mills and municipal rate 5 mills, a total of 34. Last year these rates were 15, 15 and 9 respectively, making 39 mills.

It will be noted that there is a cut of 2 mills in the school rate. Certain economies have been effected and there was a surplus from last year's rate.

The big reduction is in the municipal rate, which is cut from 9 mills last year to 5 mills this year.

The several provincial grants have done much toward making the reduced tax rate possible. Liquor, pari-mutuel and motor tax grants from the province are helping in this respect.

RAILWAY CONDUCTORS DISMISSED FROM SERVICE

Recent reports from Winnipeg confirm stories current here to the effect that a number of K. V. R. and C. P. R. passenger train conductors had been discharged because of ticket irregularities. It was said that in all thirty-four conductors had lost their jobs following investigations covering some months. The Winnipeg report puts the number as "between eighteen and twenty-four." The most of those dismissed were employed on K. V. R. and C. P. R. lines in this province, some of the oldest conductors being affected.

TRUCK DRIVER WAS THROWN IN DITCH

Arthur Pentland had a very unpleasant experience on Monday in which he narrowly escaped serious injury when his truck loaded with wood went off the road near the Young property in Prairie Valley. His load was shifting and in taking a hurried look around he swerved his truck off the road. In an instant he was in the irrigation ditch and the truck, minus its load, on top of him. He was able to free himself and to walk into Read's Garage to obtain assistance, though somewhat dizzy and unsteady from the severe shaking up he received.

"Horrin," sung in character drama, made a fine opening, while "Jimmy Jim Crow" brought a good program to a fitting close.

War Veterans Appealed To On Behalf of Strike Sufferers

GREAT WAR VETERAN'S ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

OFFICE OF B. C. COMMAND

616 Yorkshire Building, 525 Seymour Street, Vancouver, B. C. April 28, 1925.

Dear Sir and Comrade:— In a circular letter from our Dominion headquarters we are advised that distress among the families of ex-service men in the mining districts of Nova Scotia is still acute. Direct and irrefutable evidence has been received to show that almost unparalleled destitution has been reached.

A general appeal has been sent out by the leading Service and Welfare Organizations in Canada, and our Dominion headquarters have been chiefly instrumental in organizing this appeal. I would suggest that it is now the function of our Association provincially to rally all Service Organizations at all points to a properly co-ordinated relief effort rather than attempt to assume any great financial burden beyond our resources.

The following facts, as reported to this office, should be held in view: 28,700 persons are wholly dependent on relief measures.

The per capita relief ration is only $1.05 per week.

The Cape Breton Relief Committee is now $11,000 overdrawn.

Maintenance is breeding disease and death among the kiddies, who are deprived of dairy milk.

Any settlement of the industrial dispute will not remove the necessity or relief for at least a month.

Under the average conditions of employment prevailing during the past four years for ex-service men, it will take them six years to wipe out debts incurred for food, clothing and rent.

The appeal is made solely because of the humanitarian need, and without reference to industrial and political disputes.

The Great War Veteran's Association would be false to its ideals were it to ignore the cry from needy comrades in Nova Scotia.

Yours fraternally,

"HANDSHAKING IS FOOLISH AND ARCHAIC"

If your friend has a bad cold, be polite, smile, bow, say "I never saw you looking better," but don't shake hands.

That is the advice of Dr. Sundwall, of Michigan University. Influenza is spread by handshaking. You get the germs from your friend's hand, transfer them to your handkerchief and then to your nose.

Handshaking is foolish and archaic, anyhow, as foolish as Indians rubbing noses. Primitive man stretched out his right hand to show there was no knife in it, and to reassure the stranger. That's hardly necessary now.—Arthur Brisbane.

CHEMICAL KILLS WEEDS

A formula for killing weeds, especially dandelions and other fleshy rooted plants in lawns, is explained in a new experiment station mimeograph as follows: Boil well one-fourth ounce of white arsenic in one-half gallon of soft water. Add one gallon of soft water and one-third ounce of caustic soda and boil again. Dip the point of a sharp wooden stick in the solution, shake off the surplus, and prick the crown of the plant, which should die in two or three days.

If desired, the amounts may be reduced by dividing each quantity by three or four. This solution will injure the hands or clothing if allowed to come into contact with them. It is dangerously poisonous and should be kept under lock and key.—Better Fruit.

"North of 36" a True Screenplay of Pioneer Days

New Paramount Picture a Colorful Page From U. S. History

"North of 36" by Emerson Hough, depicting all the thrills and hardships of pioneer days on the Texas cattle ranges, has been filmed for Paramount by Irvin Willat, who made the natural-color picture "Wanderer of the Wasteland" and other classics.

"North of 36" is a tale of the Texas cattle trail, picturing a country wild, almost lawless, at the period of the story, roughened and disheartened by the recent Civil War. Lois Wilson, as Taisie Lockhart, manager of her own vast ranch in Texas, finds herself penniless, with no means of disposing of her herd, her chief asset being the true spirit of the pioneers.

Word comes that way up "north of 36," a market beckons. With her 4,500 cows, 16 cow hands, 10 kinds of rifles and six shooters and 115 cow ponies, Taisie makes the start with all the thrills that the start of the wagon train in Emerson Hough's "The Covered Wagon" evoked.

Through this great panorama one sees groups of rugged snow men, the glorious girl at their head, the ox carts and the sea of long horned cattle, accomplishing one of the greatest deeds of pioneer bravery and daring.

Paramount has furnished a notable cast to visualize the story. It includes Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson and Noah Beery in featured roles. The picture will be run Tue. & Wed. at the Rialto Theatre.

Timely Hints For the Orchardist

Specially prepared for The Review by J. Tait, District Field Inspector.

Those orchardists who omitted to spray for bud worms and leaf roller while the blossom was in the pre-pink stage, should prepare to spray when the blossom petals are almost gone—the calyx stage.

Experiments have proven that the feeding of corn meal to chicks is beneficial. To keep the growing pullets plump and well fleshed considerable corn meal is essential.

Everyone can have a flower garden. Lose no time now to prepare one. Annuals seeded now are hard to beat and the seed is cheap.

For the small sum of $2 one can have over twenty different varieties. For quick and lasting results try zinnia, petunia, marigold, cornflower, candy tuft, etc.

Some recent remarks of mine on the self-centred attitude of Vancouver concerning the British Columbia Musical Festival late-

VANCOUVER ly received a measure OVER ALL! of justification in a Vancouver daily which lost nothing by reason of the fact that it was given quite unconsciously. In an editorial on the subject appearing in the Daily Province of April 18th, the writer pleads for support of the festival, and in so doing deserves the thanks of all music lovers. But he makes the same fatal mistake of which I took note in the earlier remarks of his musical critic, in that he addresses his plea exclusively to "Vancouver performers on the one hand and the public on the other." He says "it may surely be hoped that out of the thirty choirs of Greater Vancouver enough enthusiasm will be found to produce a satisfactory number of entries." It will be noted that the choirs of the province generally do not appear to exist in this writer's mind—even the neighboring cities of Victoria and New Westminster are ignored, although presumably those places do not lack their quota of church choirs. Nothing could give stronger support to my contention that Vancouver regards the provincial festival as peculiarly its own, and entirely misses the point that its influence should be province wide. Not one word of invitation or encouragement is proffered to outside towns or cities, and the title of Provincial Festival is practically made a dead letter. This is all wrong—every encouragement should be given to outside points, even to the extent of seeking special railway facilities for competing bodies. No doubt need be entertained as to the existence of fine musical talent in the interior—there is plenty of it. I am well aware that entries from outside would be welcomed by the festival committee—my claim is that Vancouver does not seem to invite or expect a provincial participation in the event, but regards it more as a local affair, which it certainly should not be.

THE CITY OF LONDON. One of the cherished recollections of my own boyhood is that of seeing the forty soldiers who every afternoon marched along Cheapside to take up their nightly guard in the Bank of England, passing Sir John Bennett's clock establishment a few minutes before the effigies of Gog and Magog struck the hour of 4 in their niche in the front of the building. The Bank of England, the Royal Exchange and the Mansion House, near neighbors on the busiest spot of the city always appeared to me like rocks which broke up the endless current of traffic and sent it along different channels towards the distant points of Ludgate Hill, London Bridge, Islington, Blackfriars, Bishopsgate and Stratford-le-Bow. But at night all this restless sea of humanity was gone, and one's own footsteps were generally the only ones to sound in the silent thoroughfares. The pedestrian then could stand on the steps of the Exchange, under its graven text, "The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof," and wonder at the stillness of what was at such times the quietest spot in all the great city. On occasion, however, conditions would be reversed. Such a time was that of Mafeking night, when every road and street converging on that centre was a solid, slowly moving mass of people, and the air full of hats thrown up in rash exuberance and in many cases lost for ever. It was at this spot and at a moment when the city police were excelling their own fine record in the averting of danger that the then Lord Mayor was ill-advised enough to attempt from the Mansion House balcony a speech which very few heard, but which brought the converging streams of people to a pause and went far to bring about a catastrophe. This was one of the rare occasions in my life on which I was favored with a quite unlooked for embrace from a lady, who was lifted off her feet in the ensuing crush and clung lovingly to me in default of any one better. I don't remember exactly how the police eventually got the processions in motion again, but I do most distinctly remember having a burning desire to dump that Lord Mayor in the thick of the jam he had created.

Why the Bank of England should always bring to my mind the Tower of London, home of historical legend, I don't quite know, but to me the two are inseparable. For some years my acquaintance with the Tower was limited to an outside view and frequent glimpses of the Traitor's Gate from the River Thames, but I remember visiting a friend in the 17th Lane, then stationed in that historic pile, one memorable evening, and joining the detachment at supper in one of the rooms which Van Irton St. John would have described as "the deepest dungeons beneath the castle moat." The supper was a wholesome but frugal military ration of bread and cheese and ale, the latter being the genuine article, and no relation to any doggerel three per cent stuff. In those days I read Harrison Ainsworth with avidity, and the Tower was to me so saturated with romance that I might not have been particularly astonished to see the fair Clely and Xit the dwarf walk in. But nothing of the kind happened.

mean to adopt up-to-date ways of marketing their produce. Trusts, protection, privilege, preference, have never benefited neither the farmer nor the worker nor the consumer, but just a few big pots who handled the commodity, picked the currants out of the cake. We can see this in the U.S. where we meet with more millionaires than elsewhere, all got fat at the expense of the nation. It is well known that the consumer pays the duty; not the importer and that of every extra 10 per cent duty 1 per cent goes to the worker and 9 per cent to the capitalist. So we may be sure that every honest man in the Valley is a well wisher to our fruit growers in their new tack of marketing their hard earned produce.

The latest is that the Dominion Government is not likely to prosecute the broker-jobber-fruit combine that figures so badly in the late investigation. It will be a great shame if nothing is done in that direction. Growers must agitate and agitate, never rest, demanding prosecution of those men—ask one of their M.P.'s to stand up for it until justice is done.

I shall feel proud if you consider some of the foregoing of interest to your valued news sheet and remain, dear editor,

Very respectfully yours, JULIUS W. A. BLOCK.

Selling Apples

Editor Review.

Dear Sir,—For some years I have sent for Christmas to relatives in England boxes of our apples. I did this again last November. I sent mixed boxes, each built up of a tier of McIntoshes, one of Jonathans or Grimes Golden or Rome Beauty or Yellow Newtowns or some other A1 sort, and heard from the different consignees that all arrived in first class order and were much enjoyed.

I had expressed my doubts about the keeping qualities of our apples this last season, but had to stand a lot of chaff from my friends such as: May not keep you say. Well, they did not keep longer than first week in January. Were eaten by then; such fine apples don't keep long with us—we know better.

I must add here that I carefully selected the apples—some out of my own town garden. Every apple was examined, polished, wrapped and packed by myself.

The season before a friend asked what the minimum freight would be. I asked at Vancouver and learned that 10 boxes were the minimum taken and cost of freight was £2 ($9.60) against £5 by rail and boat. This would bring the cost of a box delivered in Liverpool to under $4. Freight to inland towns would have to be added. Now no party not a dealer could buy 10 boxes so that a small consignment would have to go to some market stall-keeper to be retailed by him. Price per pounds of Okanagan apples boxed and wrapped in Manchester shops is generally 6 pence.

This same friend has before expressed surprise that the Okanagan Valley does not send out apples in barrels same as Nova Scotia and the U.S. do. He said, "Why not cater for our millions in Lancashire and Yorkshire and so use your surplus, your No. 3s, which we are told are rotting by the ton. Never mind wanting to send out the best only and supply the swells; supply the millions and so sell perhaps 10 barrels, say 20 barrels, while you sell 1 box wrapped ones. Ordinary freight Vancouver, Panama, Liverpool is now £2 ($10) against £5 ($25) rail and boat so far. Your folks need grit and enterprise and should do away with the middlemen—bloodsuckers most. Get the growers in touch with the consumers in our land. A. T. (Salisbury, South Africa), who married a cousin of mine and came over for South African Fruit Growers' Association and has now a big importing trade in England of nectarines and peaches (now in our shops) and oranges (seedless) by the million, and I feel sure enterprise and push could do the same for the Okanagan Valley if the fruit growers would combine and send you over to capture Covent Garden market." This last is of course a bit of my friend's pleasantry. I must not forget to say that my Yorkshire friend is a globe trotter, has been round the world several times, through the Dominion from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

It is a pleasure to learn that our fruit growers are on a new tack, While enjoying himself riding around and around the edge of the C. P. R. wharf, a young man fell off his bicycle into the lake a few days ago but was soon pulled out by his companions. A rather amusing situation, particularly to onlookers, developed after he had gone to the sunny and secluded side of the building and taken off his outer garments to dry them. He had scarcely done this when a car with several young ladies started on his circuit around the building and he had to do some quick running to avoid them.

The Rev. H. A. Solly spoke for a few minutes on the necessity of spiritual training for the girls and Mrs. K. Bentley on the universal brotherhood and sisterhood of the Scout and Guide movement. Weddings

Steers—Yates
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Lakeside Methodist Church on Saturday evening, when Miss Hilda Yates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Yates became the bride of Mr. Ernest E. Steers, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. J. Armitage. Mr. T. P. Thornber favored the awaiting guests and spectators with several musical items before playing Lohengrin's wedding march, when the bride entered on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Wheeler, who gave her away. Miss Emily Wheeler was maid of honor, while Misses Violet Atkins and Mildred Shields were bridesmaids and Mr. Cliff Roe was best man. Mr. H. Finley and Mr. Hopkins ushered.

The bride looked beautiful in a dress of duchess satin and a bridal veil, carrying a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor and bridesmaids were dressed in crepe-de-chine dresses and hats to match, Miss Wheeler wearing cream, Miss Atkins, orchid and Miss Shields, green. All three were carrying bouquets of sweet peas. The bride's mother wore black satin. The bride's going away dress was a tan broadcloth ensemble.

The groom's present to the bride was a platinum pin set with diamonds and rubies, to the maid of honor and each of the bridesmaids, a string of pearl beads, to the best man, a gold stick pin with a diamond set in platinum and to each of the ushers, a pair of white gold cuff links.

After the ceremony a banquet was given in the Rowley cottage at which about seventy guests attended. During the banquet Mr. Armitage proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded. Mr. J. R. Brown also proposed a toast to the bride to which all responded by a hearty clap.

The happy couple motored to Penticton after the banquet and left for the Coast on the noon train on Sunday. They will make their home in Beaverdell, where Mr. Steers is employed.

The wedding presents were numerous and beautiful.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS
 Vacant, unreserved, surveyed, Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE
 Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES
 Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES
 For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING
 Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administrator under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

'Mikado' in Other Towns
 Press Comments on the Performance of The Summerland Operatic Society

"The Mikado" was remarkably good—was one of the best presented productions seen here in years. These are the words of the head lines over the report published last week by the Penticton Herald of the performance of "The Mikado" in that town by the Summerland Operatic Society. The Herald story reads:

Citizens were, perhaps, rather pleasantly surprised at the performance of the opera "The Mikado" by the Summerland Operatic Society, at the Senator Shatford Auditorium on Friday night. The showing last year of "H. M. S. Pinafore" had led them to expect a good production, but "The Mikado" undoubtedly exceeded all expectations. The company was excellently balanced, the costuming good and the music of a high order, all elements combining to make the showing of the popular Gilbert & Sullivan opera a pleasantly outstanding one.

The cast was an excellent one, Mr. Winter being particularly happy in his interpretation of the part of Ko-Ko, while others deserving particular mention were Mr. Benmore as Poo-Bah and Mr. Ben Newton as Nan-Ki-Poo. Penticton residents will be glad to welcome the Summerland Operatic society in further productions. The company, indeed, is much superior to many of a like character appearing on the legitimate stage.

Kelowna Courier gives a fuller report of the presentation of the opera in its town. The Courier said:

Although the main body of the Empress Theatre was well filled, there were many empty seats in the back rows and in the gallery on Monday night when the Summerland Operatic Society presented "The Mikado," and the quality of the performance was worthy of more than the merely fair-sized audience that enjoyed it. There was no doubt as to the appreciation shown; more numbers were encored than not, and in some cases a second recall was insisted on.

The opera was beautifully staged, the costumes being of the most gorgeous Oriental coloring and backed by the artistic cherry and plum blossom scenery, painted by Mr. E. H. Emmons, of Kelowna, the massed cast and chorus formed a vivid and entrancing picture. The make-up was exceptionally good and the maneuvering of the large company, numbering somewhere about forty-six, within the narrow confines of the stage showed careful training on the part of the stage manager, Mr. G. C. Benmore.

The principal parts were very creditably filled. In Mr. C. B. Winter, who took the part of Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner of Titipu, Summerland possesses a comedian of a high order of talent. His acting, singing, dancing and stage work did full justice to his role, and enunciation was particularly clear and pleasing. In funmaking, he was ably seconded by Mr. G. C. Benmore in the character of Poo-Bah, which he filled with all the skill so familiar of yore to old Kelowna friends, and by Mr. F. Mossop in the part of Pish-Tush. Mr. Ben Newton, who has a very sweet tenor voice, sang and acted with ability as Nan-Ki-Poo, and Mr. J. C. Clement rendered his numbers as The Mikado in rich and sonorous tones.

Miss Carol E. Graham, as Yum-Yum, Mrs. George Craig, as Pitti-Sing, and Miss Mona Winter, as Peep-Bo, made three winsome "little maids from school," and their voices, if somewhat lacking in power for the large auditorium, were very sweet and musical. Miss Eva Barkwill sang very pleasingly as Katisha, a difficult role far from pleasing with amateurs.

The female chorus of twenty-two and the male chorus of fifteen voices made up in volume for any lack of power on the part of the principals and rendered with fine effect the splendid choral numbers with which the opera abounds and the rousing finales of the two acts.

Under the baton of Mr. G. W. Cope a powerful orchestra played the accompaniments with sympathy throughout and likewise gave an adequate account of the instrumental numbers, including the opening overture, which was received with loud applause.

In all, Summerland has reason to be proud of its Operatic Society, and Kelowna music-lovers will be glad to have another taste of its quality upon some future occasion.

GROWERS TURN TO RETAIL TRADE

Though such a course had not been decided upon the speaker felt that the Associated must sell in car lots to farmers' organizations. R. H. Hoskins had been appointed manager for the Alberta territory and Mr. McRae for Saskatchewan.

For some time it looked as though there, would not be enough growers present to form a quorum and the meeting opened more than half an hour late as a result of tardiness of the members.

At the February meeting directors for the new year were elected in accordance with a resolution amending the by-laws but it was later discovered that election at that time was somewhat irregular and to make their election legal the directors were again elected at Monday's meeting. J. A. Kirk protested against this change stating that the act required that the officers be elected at the annual meeting. In this he was supported by others until it was
