

SPORTSDAY PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

LARGE CROWDS ENJOYED FINE SPORTS PROGRAMME CRESCENT BEACH ALL DAY

Summerland Won Honors at Baseball Tournament, Defeating Penticton 17 to 0—Races Were Keenly Contested—Affair Was Financial Success—Attendance Double That at Last Year's Sports Day—Many Visitors Present.

The Lower Okanagan celebrated the King's Birthday in a truly royal manner at Summerland yesterday. It was, in truth, "Summerland's Day." From ten o'clock in the morning until the early hours of today when a big dance came to a conclusion in Empire Hall, visitors from Penticton, Keremeos, Oliver, Kelowna and many other points enjoyed the day's outing and witnessed a very excellent programme of events.

The crowd was easily double that on hand at the last celebration of the King's Birthday in Summerland. It is claimed by some that the attendance constituted a record for the district. Be that as it may, there is no doubt but that the visitors as well as townspeople enjoyed themselves immensely, and the committees in charge of the day's programme have every reason to be gratified upon the success of the celebration.

The weather was ideal. "Old Sol" shone bravely forth all day and at no time did threatening clouds appear on the horizon as has too often been the case in the past. The day was so warm, in fact, that the bathing season was officially opened and many took their first dip of the sea-faring in the cooling waters of Lake Okanagan. The water was declared to be the warmest yet.

Summerland romped home with the baseball honors, winning a decisive victory from Penticton. The first game between Penticton and Keremeos resulted in a walkover for the former. The Summerland boys, however demonstrated the fact that they could duplicate their feat of a few days ago and vanquish Penticton, not even allowing their opponents to get a run.

The Keremeos-Penticton game resulted in a win for the latter by a score of 31 to 15; runs being scored as follows: Keremeos, two in fourth, seventh in fifth, one in sixth, four in seventh and one in eighth; Penticton, nine in first, two in second, three in fourth, one in fifth, eleven in sixth, four in seventh and one in eighth.

Questions of this kind, have been carried on at the Summerland Experimental Station. Some of the results secured will be presented during the thinking demonstration to be given in the station orchards at 11 a.m. June 12th. The day of the big picnic.

Stores will close locally. Everyone is expected to attend Experimental Farm Picnic. A decision has been made by local merchants to close their places of business from one o'clock to five on Saturday afternoon, June 12th, in honor that everyone may attend the picnic at the Dominion Experimental Station.

INDEPENDENTS NOT BOUND TO MARKET THROUGH NASH AGENCY, SAYS W. A. WALTER

But Independents Are Assured of 100 per cent Support From Agency, Manager of Walters' Ltd., Declares—Despatch From Vancouver Stated Independents Had Signed to Sell to Nash Agent.

"Independents are certainly not bound to sell produce through the Nash agency, but we have their one hundred per cent support," Mr. W. A. Walter, of Walters' Ltd., stated to the Review this morning when questioned in regard to a despatch from Vancouver to the effect that Independents have signed to sell to the Nash people.

Vancouver, June 3.—Reports in wholesale fruit circles here seem to indicate that prairie selling prospects for the Associated this year will be greatly interfered with as a result of deals now being made by the Nash-Mutual interests with B. C. Independent Fruit Shippers.

SERVICE IS NEW IDEAL

War Pictures and Address Attracted Many Sunday Afternoon. The stirring days of the greatest war in all history were recalled to Summerland citizens generally at the Rialto theatre on Sunday afternoon.

Quebec Town's Costly Blaze

Quebec, June 3.—Fifty-seven buildings were destroyed, with an estimated loss of $4,000,000, in a fire that swept Riviere Du Loup. The buildings razed included five warehouses, ten stores and forty-two dwellings in the commercial section of the town, which is about 130 miles from this city.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY TO JACK CASSIDY

Found Dead on Doorstep in Early Morning Hours. Heart Disease Fatal to Old-Time Resident and Veteran. It was with great surprise and regret that the people of the entire district heard of the sudden death on Sunday morning last of Jack Cassidy, a resident for twenty years of Keremeos, Penticton and Olalla.

INFLECTS BLOW WITH SHOVEL

Serious Outcome of Dispute Between Keremeos Squaws. Keremeos, June 3.—A dispute between two squaws on the Chopaka reserve, on Thursday last, had a serious finale, when the wife of Neil Bent is alleged to have attacked Mrs. Robertson with a shovel, inflicting a serious scalp wound and body bruises.

ODD FELLOWS' CONVENTION

Many From Summerland Attend District Association Event. The I. O. O. F. meeting of District Association No. 1 of B. C. held at Penticton Thursday last was voted by all a distinct success. There were delegates from all lodges in the valley, a number of visiting brothers and sisters from the state of Washington, and degree teams from the Kelowna Rebekah Lodge and Summerland sub-ordinate lodge.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS DISCUSSING BRITISH MARKETING AGENTS

Major Hutton is representing Summerland growers at meetings of the new board of directors now being conducted at Vernon. A report from that city states that representation on the Old Country markets is being considered. This is assumed owing to the presence of representatives of British fruit houses in Vernon.

Church Under One Charge on Sunday

Next Sunday will be unique in that for the first time Summerland and West Summerland United Churches will be united in one charge with one minister. In the morning service will be conducted by Rev. Campbell of Rutland, at West Summerland, and in the evening in the Lower Town.

WAR PICTURES AND ADDRESS ATTRACTED MANY SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The stirring days of the greatest war in all history were recalled to Summerland citizens generally at the Rialto theatre on Sunday afternoon when a house filled to capacity witnessed some wonderful war pictures and heard an excellent address by C. G. McNeill, Dominion secretary of the Great War Veterans Association of Canada, shortly to be merged with the British Legion.

PARADE OF VETERANS

The canker was borne to the graveside by six pall bearers who were chosen from the parade of veterans who numbered thirty or more. Many floral tributes were placed on the casket which was covered by the Union Jack and bore the service cap and tunic of the deceased.

THINNING OF TREE FRUITS

Does it pay to thin plums? If you are a grower of plums, you should know the answer. Does early thinning advance the ripening period of peaches? When should apples be thinned? Such questions as these are uppermost in the minds of progressive fruit growers at this season.

TO MR. COULTER WHITE THIS YEAR GOES THE DISTINCTION OF SENDING THE FIRST SHIPMENT OF CHERRIES INTO THE PACKING HOUSE.

Mr. White sent his Governor Woods cherries in early this week.

READY FOR SETTLERS
 The Summerland district, we believe, is the most favored section in the Okanagan Valley for the fruit grower. Summerland possesses at least three attractions, which should prove arguments to prospective settlers who are hesitating in regard to locations throughout the Valley.

Our tax rate: We can boast of the lowest tax rate in the Okanagan Valley, and possibly the lowest in the interior. In addition to this there is no tax upon improvements and this year there was a decrease in assessment.

Our water rate: One of the lowest in the valley. While we do not claim that there is at all times a surfeit of water, taken in comparison with other districts, Summerland and Peachland districts are in a favored position.

Location and climate: No where on Lake Okanagan is there better orchard land than to be found in the majority of orchards in Summerland district. In regard to climate, Summerland shares with other Okanagan communities probably the best climate in the world, from the standpoint of health.

Summerland's residents are a friendly people and welcome new settlers. Not only, however, to those who would desire to go into the fruit growing business, does Summerland offer attractions, but also to those who wish to retire from active life, in an ideal location.

THE FARM PICNIC
 Everyone should make it a point to attend the farm picnic this year. Aside from the fact that the event should prove a most pleasurable outing, the fruit grower should learn much from the demonstrations planned.

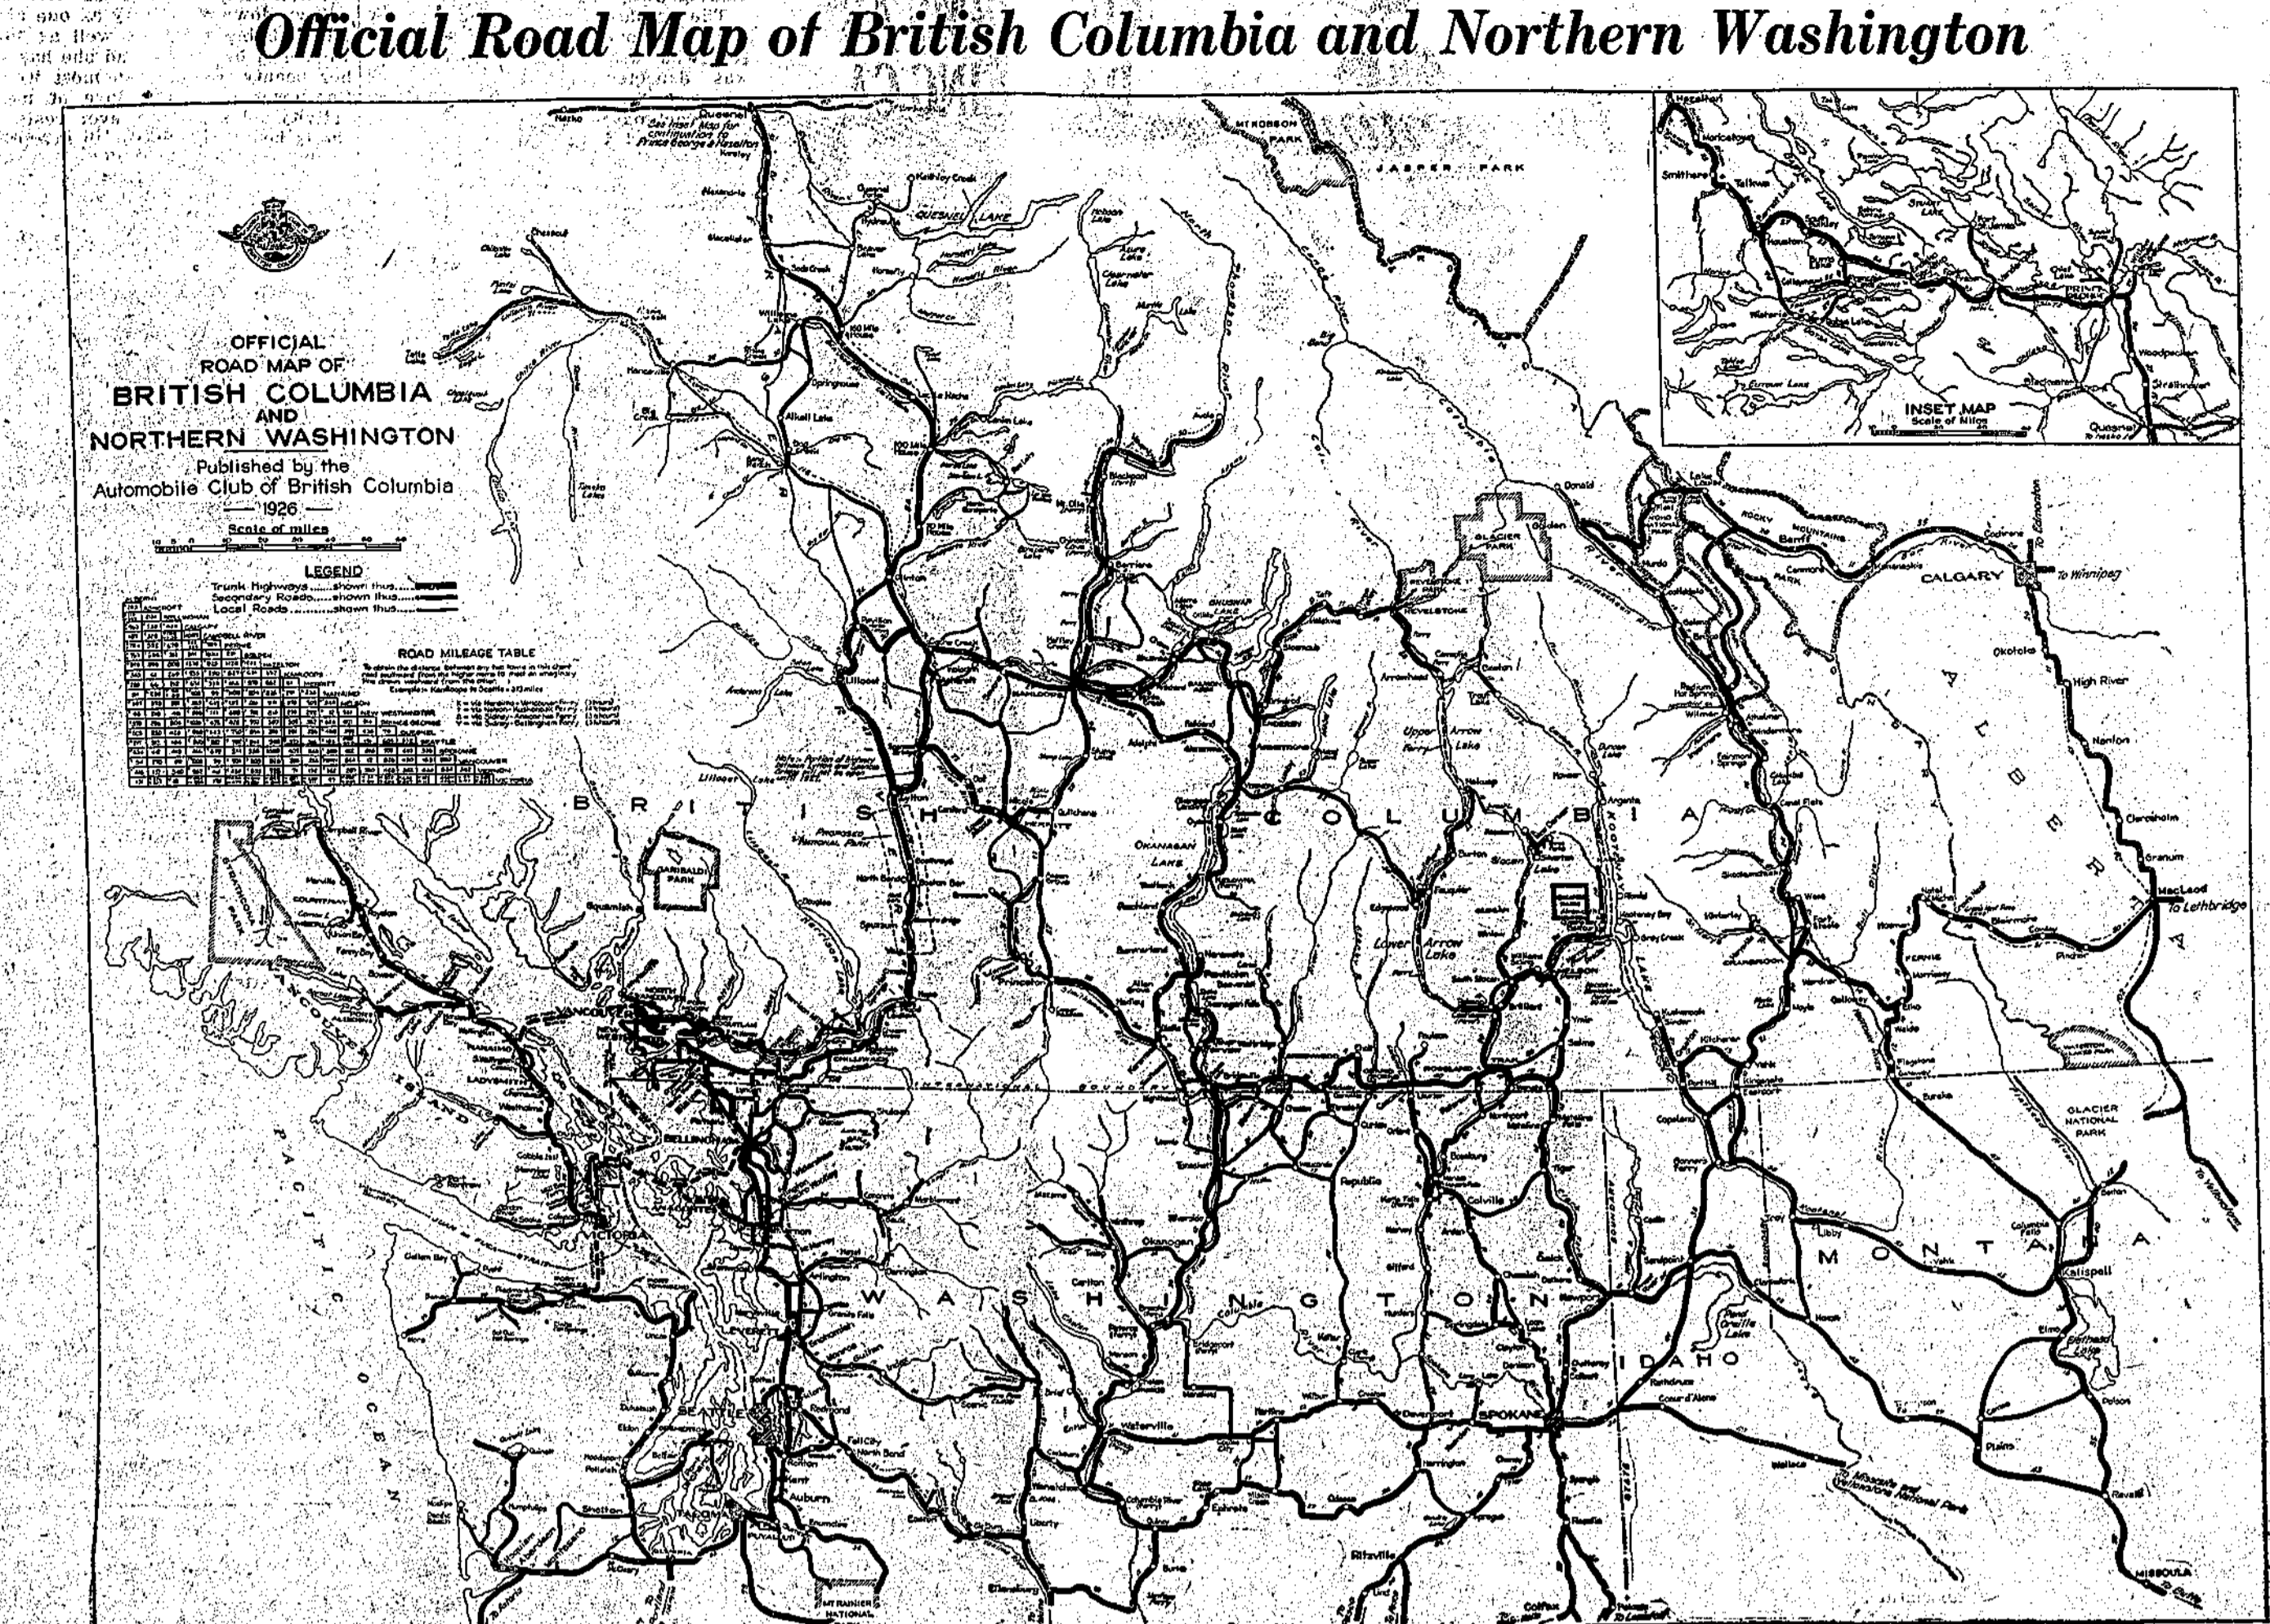

The farm picnic is growing in popularity year by year, ever since the first picnic was conducted, largely owing to the efforts of Mr. John Tait. The picnic has now been firmly established on an annual basis, and each year there is some special attraction.

Summerland is fortunate upon having the Experimental Farm practically at home. The farm picnic attracts growers from many miles away. In many cases this is their only opportunity throughout the year to confer with the farm authorities in regard to orchard problems.

THE BRITISH LEGION
 The talk by Secretary McNeill at the Bialto Theatre, we believe, impressed everyone with the wisdom shown by veteran organizations in banding together with service to community, country and Empire held as an ideal. With three million men banded in the one organization, the returned men's group will yield a very strong weapon. That weapon will prevent injustices being done to disabled men, as it is to be feared have been done in the past. A laudable intention is the project to do something worth while for those boys and girls whose fathers died in Flanders' Fields.

Everyone had a good time at Crescent Beach grounds yesterday. Old Weather Man was in a happy mood.

Summerland's baseball team is deserving of praise upon the very excellent performances already achieved this year. There is every reason to believe that the team will capture the league championship.

 It is the request of the municipal council that all parties travelling by the high fume road should take the road by Mr. Anderson's house when coming to town, and the road around by the spring when going from town.

The members of St. Peter's Anglican church are looking forward to owning a more commodious and conveniently located church edifice. Tenders are being called for a building which will, when completed, cost in the neighborhood of $7000. It is proposed to advance the work in proportion to the money in sight and probably $3000 will be expended this year making the place habitable for winter, leaving the completion of the structure until next year.

"A. L. Moreland, K. Mathison, E. R. Butler, A. H. Steven. At Home. Tuesday, August 3rd, 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. The Orphanage." So the invitation ran. The "orphans" were lavish with their invitations, consequently the "Orphanage" was a very popular place. The visitors at this unique garden party were received by Messdames Wellband and Hood, Messrs. F. Manchester, W. Robinson, J. Robinson, W. Croaves and T. Moore were responsible for an impromptu string band.

Between thirty-five and forty of the friends of Dr. E. W. Sawyer, the esteemed principal of Okanagan College, and Mrs. Sawyer, assembled in the park at Peach Orchard on Tuesday afternoon and presented them with a handsome set of silverware in recognition of the fact that they had on that day reached another important milestone in the journey of life—that of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day.

Mrs. R. Wolch's horse was frightened by a large bear on the valley road on Saturday last, while that lady was riding into town, and she had considerable difficulty in making it pass Brinn, who insisted on keeping to the middle of the road. A number of local Nimrods immediately started in pursuit but without success.

Professor J. M. Palmer, principal of the Mount Allison male college at Sackville, N.B., arrived in town on Monday evening and was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Lipscomb. During the evening a number of old Sackville friends dropped in and a regular old-time reunion was held.

in the history, not only of the Okanagan valley, but of the west, occurred in Vernon on Tuesday morning when the Okanagan hotel, a large brick veneer structure in the heart of the city, was hurled to the ground, and with it twelve of the inmates perished. Eight others are more or less severely burned and are in the hospital.

Much interest is taken in Summerland as it is elsewhere throughout the world, in the report from Maine by the Holy Ghost Society that the world will come to an end on the fifteenth of September, 1910.

Mrs. W. H. Garnett of Garnett Valley will shortly leave for the coast

TEACHERS' TOUR
 (From the Hamilton Spectator).
 A number of the British teachers who toured Canada last summer under the auspices of the Overseas Education League, together with others who contemplate making a similar trip this year, met recently in the Hotel Metropole, London, at a reception arranged by the C.P.R., over which Sir George McLaren Brown, European general manager of the railway, presided. Friendships formed on the trip were thus pleasantly renewed, and an opportunity was given the teachers of recounting their experiences. The references were uniformly favorable, and it is evident that all expectations have been fulfilled. Sir Gilbert Parker, one of the guests at the reception, said that "one day in a country was better than five books upon it"; to visit a place and gain a personal knowledge of its people was the only way to really know it. Others spoke of the cordial welcome they had received from Canada and the excellent arrangements made for their comfort while on tour. The work of the Overseas League in planning such visits was highly praised, and a grateful tribute was paid to the Canadian Pacific railway.

The agent-general for Ontario, W. C. Noxon, said he considered that the stability of the empire depended upon the inhabitants knowing each other better. There should be hearty co-operation between the different Empire countries in trying to develop the great natural resources which were unlimited and untouched.

The Pedlar's Pack
 By AUTOLYCUS
 "A Snapper Up of Unconsidered Trifles"

"Over sixty per cent of all the youth in America are not enrolled in any religious schools, either Sunday or week day." This sentence is taken from an article by Charles M. Sheldon, in the Atlantic Monthly, having for its subject the question as to whether or not religion can be taught in public schools. The figures given by the writer in the course of his argument constitute what he very accurately describes as an "amazing fact" in the educational life of his country, and are well worth considering for a few moments. In thirty states of the Union, Bible reading is not prohibited in the schools, but custom bars the discussion of religion by the teachers—in twelve of the states the use of the Bible in any form is forbidden, and in six states only the Bible is read as part of the school course. Hence arises the fact that out of 22,000,000 American children attending school, 21,000,000 receive no systematic religious instruction whatever. It is rather interesting to note, by the way, that those schools in which religious discussion is barred allow exceptions in the case of other religious systems of the world, as being part of a history course, and the only one barred is that which is supposed to be part and parcel of the land in which these schools are situated.

It is a curious situation, and Mr. Sheldon's explanation of the conditions leading to it are so unassailable that it might be supposed there need be no trouble whatever in setting the matter right. But we are immediately confronted with that same insurmountable obstacle which has retarded the progress of mankind since the dawn of civilization—the stumbling block of discord. "Many men, many minds" and in nothing are the differences of opinion so acute as in matters of theological doctrine. Thus, to put the matter in Mr. Sheldon's words, "the problem of introducing the teaching of religion into an educational system has become a matter of debate and fierce argument." How can it possibly be otherwise? Since the time of Martin Luther the growth of "religious" sects has been so great that today it is practically out of the question to number them, and every single one of those little Bethels honestly and firmly believe that it, and it only, is headed in the right direction. It is easy, therefore, to see that it is useless to expect the members of these various organizations to allow their children to be exposed to the danger of religious instruction at the hands of some unlighted person who has failed to see the truth! There is a good deal of melancholy humour in the situation and one is apt to feel somewhat as Lincoln is said to have felt when he laughed to hinder himself from crying. Mr. Sheldon tells of an occasion when he was asked to address the pupils of a certain high school in one of the states, and was told at the last moment that religion was a subject not to be touched on. He said, "How can I talk on the results of true education and leave religion out, seeing that religion is the very foundation of true education? I will save you from your embarrassment by not making an address at all." It is to the credit of the principal that he would not allow that, and took the risk of criticism by withdrawing his embargo. Those pupils were accordingly told more about the place of religion in education than they had probably ever heard before.

Looking at the matter broadly, it seems as though it should be possible to keep the Bible in the school course without in any way encroaching on the right of every parent to retain the privilege of teaching his children along his own particular line of thought. "The Bible story carries no theology within it, and it seems extraordinary that, in a Christian land, the very foundation of the Christian religion should be forbidden to the schools. Even as an element of world history it should have a place.

This important question has lately been debated with great earnestness in one of the London weeklies, the disputants bringing commonly accepted evidence on the one side, and producing certain cogent reasons for doubt on the other.

Franklin himself is said to have related the incident in his personal recollections, which would appear to be rather convincing testimony, but the doubters point out that those recollections were written years after their occurrence, and that the general Franklin is known to have been given to ornament some of his stories. There does not seem to be much more corroborative evidence of this particular episode, and we may possibly have to put the story on the same shelf as the incident of the cherry tree which for so long shed a halo around the name of little George Washington. Franklin may well have flown a kite, as many thousands of boys did before him, and have done since his time. But that the cause of science benefited to any extent as a result of that pleasing diversion, as is sometimes claimed, is exceedingly doubtful.

We can easily pursue this train of scepticism as a light and airy form of recreation—nothing much may come of it, but it serves to take the mind off the more serious things of life, such as income tax, the high price of Fedoras hats and so on. Did Wellington really say "Up, gnarls and at 'em" at the battle of Waterloo? Did Wolfe actually recite "Gray's Elegy" when on the St. Lawrence the night before he took Quebec, and in so doing, break the silence which was so absolutely essential at that time? Did Newton get his theory of gravitation from the fall of an apple, and James Watt his inspiration on the power of steam, from the spout of his mother's tea-kettle? All these stories are possibly true in a nebulous sort of way, and we like to believe them. Wellington did undoubtedly give the order to the guards in some shape, and the exact words don't much matter. It is, however, a decided shock to learn, at this late day, that Dr. Johnson never made his oft quoted remark concerning Fleet Street. The passage, "Sir," said Dr. Johnson, "let us take a walk down Fleet Street," is so ingrained in the minds of many of us that we almost regard its denial as a personal injury. But we do well realize that the great lexicographer did not issue the invitation to any person, as far as evidence goes, and we have to accept the sorry truth that the expression was coined by one George Augustus Sala as a motto for the "Temple Bar" magazine. The only consolation left us is that the Doctor did often take his walks abroad in that literary thoroughfare, and therefore may have used some such expression at some time or other.

When you come to think of it, there is just as much element of doubt regarding some of the sayings and doings of yesterday, or the day before, even when offered to us in an impeccable form. A week or two ago I read in the daily papers that, at the time the general strike was declared, Mr. J. H. Thomas came down the steps of a certain building "with tears streaming down his face." Well, for my own part, I am more ready to retain my belief in the disputed saying of Dr. Johnson than to accept this story at its face value. I think the correspondent who droned Mr. Thomas' face with tears had been lately reading some of "Margot's" recollections of the time war was declared on Germany by Britain. Margot depicted nearly every member of the cabinet as staggering down stairs in tears after the decision was made, and I fancy that word picture must have occurred to the writer of the Thomas episode. Members of the British cabinet are not much given to tears, and I certainly decline to accept those orgies of weeping as authentic.

ed." Speaking of immigration, he said that while the United States had added about 85 millions to its population in the past 30 years, the British Empire had added something like 25 millions, of whom only 15 millions were to be found settled outside the British Isles. "It is unfortunate and strange," he said, "to think that the dominions of this Empire, whose conditions most closely resemble those of the United States, have not made similar progress." Sir Sidney Low, founder of the Imperial Studies committee, also made reference to this problem of Empire migration, declaring that overseas settlement was not proceeding as fast as it should. He spoke of "this great territory that sub-continent of Canada," which might hold 50 or 60 millions of people or more, "still with only a population of a second-rate European kingdom." "We are not doing as much as we ought to do in filling up those deficiencies," asserted Sir Sidney.

One very excellent way of filling up the deficiency is by imparting a first-hand knowledge of the dominions and the conditions obtaining in them to likely immigrants. There could be no more useful means of spreading such information than through the medium of the school teachers who have seen for themselves and can give reliable information based on personal experience. The Overseas Education League is doing a fine work for the Empire through these teachers' tours.

Government by talk in this country usually means a maximum amount of talk and a minimum amount of government.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Toronto, Ont.—The splendid manner of receiving immigrants arriving in Canada this year is well exemplified by the handling of a party of forty-three young men, trained at Claydon, Eng., training center, destined to be placed on farms in Canada, which recently arrived under the seigns of H. K. Buck, assistant manager of the farm. Within an hour of their arrival in Toronto from England, all of them had been placed on farms in Ontario. Mr. Buck has since either visited or written to all these men so placed, and stated that the result of his visit had been far beyond his expectations.

Prohibition will be an issue in the elections in New York state in the autumn. The issue, we suppose, will be: "Shall the state be wet or watter?"—Hamilton Spectator.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS
PRE-EMPTIONS
Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation and improvement for agricultural purposes.
Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.
Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is not timber land, i.e., carrying over 5000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range, and 8000 feet per acre east of that range.
Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms the number of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.
Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres before a Crown Grant can be received.
For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."
PURCHASE
Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land, $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."
HOMESITE LEASES
Unsurveyed areas not exceeding 20 acres may be leased as homesites conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.
LEASES
For grazing and industrial purposes, areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.
GRAZING
Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued, based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Permits are partially free; permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

British Columbia appears to be coming into its own. Lumbering, milling, mining, fishing and shipping, although still working under severe handicaps in some cases, form an industrial background for agriculture, which indicates further rapid expansion in the production of food crops.

JUNE, 1909
The Summerland Methodists on Sunday last celebrated the fourth anniversary of the erection of their church.

A very large number of guests attended the reception given by Mrs. B. Lapssett in honor of her guests, Mrs. Bulaya and Miss Babbitt.

The same old story came back from Armstrong in connection with the baseball game, Summerland 8, Kelowna 7, and this in spite of the fact that the Kelowna boys, in order to win the game, rang in three fast men from outside points.

On Thursday Col. Cartwright's trophy was shot for and won by V. Taylor. Conditions, 7 shots and a sighter at 200, 500, 600, 800 and 1,000 yards.

W. S. McGee, one of B. C.'s old-timers, was a visitor in Summerland this week. Twenty years ago he was located at Golden, B. C., and during later years has been engaged in milling and mining in the Yukon.

The many friends of Miss Agnes Miller of Peachland will be pleased to learn that she has recently passed her final examinations as nurse in the Vancouver General Hospital.

Miss Lowe, late teacher of the down town public school was honored by her Baptist friends on Sunday evening at the close of the service in Empire Hall.

CURRENTS ALSO IN BAD SHAPE
From This District Says Grant in Weekly Market Report

Commissioner Grant in his weekly report from Calgary, says: Weather conditions this week continue decidedly wet and cool, excellent for the growing crops, but bad for the distribution and sale of cherries.

There is a demand for strawberries at all prairie points and prices are climbing rapidly. Creston's first car was divided between Calgary and Edmonton. They arrived in good condition and the pack is up to the usual high standard.

Raspberries are now rolling in car lots and the scarcity of straws should insure a good demand for them.

We were favored this week by a sample of B. C. Netted Gem potatoes from the Vernon Fruit Co. that were kept in underground storage here.

We notice a shipment of red currants from Naramata that are about the size of sweet pea seed, green, shrivelling. These were shipped to the C.P.D. here.
