Mr. F. M. Black Says Time Will Welcome Big Crop Next Year as Real Test

Penticton, B.C.—An explanation of the manner in which the Fruit Control Board is functioning, a declaration that the board was not afraid of the possibility of being declared ultra vires of the powers of the B.C. government, and a hope that there will be a big fruit crop here next year so that the board may give a real testing, formed the features of an interesting address given in Penticton on Wednesday night of last week by Mr. F. M. Black, chairman of the interior tree fruit committee of direction.

Mr. Black spoke at a board of trade function at the Inola Hotel in the early evening and while there was not a large crowd present, due to the fact that the meeting was given no public advertising, those who did attend found much of profit in his remarks.

At the outset of his address, Mr. Black referred to the beauties of the Okanagan and the great impression they made upon him. He thought that the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail signs should carry the legend "Leading to the beautiful B.C. lake country".

of ultra vires," he declared, in alluding to the Kamloops Chinese appeal against a conviction under a charge laid by the committee of selling without a license.

At the conclusion of Mr. Black's address, Mr. H. B. Morley proposed a vote of thanks. He felt that the committee of direction was following the dictates of common sense and there was no doubt of its success.

President R. Lyon of the board of trade said that too many persons expressed their belief in co-operation but were ready to wreck it on some one point they did not agree with.

Answering a question from Mr. Desbrisay, Mr. Black said that the board had followed a policy of putting prices down on the earlier portion of the apple in order to move it. No cars had been rolled without board permission.

Repeating to Mr. Audley, he said that if a shipper sent out his stuff after his license had been stopped, information would be sworn out against him.

The committee, he mentioned, had no power as yet in connection with the handling done by the railways.

Mr. T. M. Sycamore mentioned the case of potatoes which were fixed at an Ashcroft price with the result that if a Penticton man wanted to buy Summerland potatoes he had to pay a freight rate from Ashcroft to this point.

Mr. Black said that this condition prevailed for a short time, but was soon rectified.

HELP MUSICIANS

Announcement is made in this issue of a public meeting on music to be held in the school next Wednesday evening. Last season Summerland made a splendid contribution, both in talent and prizes, to the Musical Festival held at Kelowna. We ought to be able to do still more this coming year. This is a cause well worth supporting and encouraging.

UPHOLDING ITS AUTHORITY

The committee of direction is being tested again, this time in Grand Forks. At the moment of writing it is not known here what decision the magistrate will make in connection with the prosecution of a Grand Forks man who persisted in shipping after his license was cancelled.

But this feature stands out prominently, the defendant has stated in court that he is satisfied with the workings of the committee and he is ready to "be good" in future. In other words the operation of the board of control has convinced the defendant that he has been foolish to persist in his attitude.

The story is that early in the season a number of Grand Forks ranchers decided they would resist all attempts to make them come into line with the other growers of the province in accepting the principle of unified control. It is now apparent that they are seeing the error of their ways. They find themselves in a false position. They have fought against something which they now concede is a satisfactory proposition.

No matter what may be the decision of the magistrate, and we assume that a verdict of guilty with a minimum fine or a suspension of penalty will meet the case, the committee of direction has won what may be called a moral victory. It has proved its worth in the minds of unwilling adherents.

OUR BEST MARKET

If we look about us at the sales made in real estate and business propositions of any kind, one thing strikes us very forcibly, that a great percentage of the transfers are made between local people, and the significance of this fact is that the best market for property is right where its values are most appreciated. There they may be taken advantage of. More especially is this the case if it concerns agricultural values where acquaintance with markets and local practices is a necessary part of the capital to be invested.

With these facts admitted, is it not reasonable to expect that the best way to develop British Columbia is to advertise its assets to our own people? They can best estimate the values and require less working capital in most instances than would outsiders. This phase of possible growth the province should be fostering.

There is in it an opportunity to keep the young folks from becoming emigrants, after a costly education has been given them and a training which is planned according to the needs of our own citizens. If the commercial attractions of the province were as well presented as even the "Save the Forests" plan, they would certainly make an impression where it could reasonably be expected to count.

There are other assets as great as the forests in B.C., with opportunities that do not require nearly as much concentrated capital, and there is scarcely a line of advertising to acquaint our people with the facts or meet the propaganda from outside. It would be a move in the right direction to start telling British Columbians something more about B.C.'s opportunities.

ASK THOSE CAPABLE TO SERVE

It is coming—Nomination Day. Have you thought over the present situation at all? Even given it a minute's consideration? If you have not, on what ground may you expect those who may be elected to give you the service most urgently needed; or to give your needs a thought?

Calgary of late has been doing considerable strutting before western communities, all over the fact that it claims that the right of a city to expect its best men to give the city some service, has been taking hold there during the past few years. The results are such that Calgary credits this ideal which is held by its most prominent business men, with giving it good government.

"The loose ends of municipal business have been gathered up; new methods of financing have been introduced with savings to the city... the city's credit has been restored to a firm basis. In every direction there has been improvement," says the Calgary Herald.

It is idleness to wish for good management of our utilities if we do nothing about choosing the managers. It is a poor policy to go up to nomination meetings without even considering the adaptability of possible candidates or take just any one because he is willing to stand.

For many years there has been a determined opposition to most any old thing in the way of investment for advancement, on the grounds that we must first have our irrigation system put into such condition that it will give the service it should. But do those who insist on this policy attempt to obtain what they desire? This should not be allowed to become just talk for many more years. Those sections of the municipality that feel discriminated against should put up the best man they have and see to it that he gets in, and when he gets there see that he obtains what he was sent after.

To get good service, Calgary says, impress upon the best citizens the feeling of responsibility toward their home town. Now is the time for those sections that feel they need better irrigation service to induce their best men to come up and represent them, and the inducing should not be left till Nomination Day.

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLES

(By AUTOLYCUS)

In a list of medicines lately sent through the mails to that long suffering body known as "The Householder," it may be noted that "REMEDIUM" in the benefactor who ALTERNATION offers his specifics to the world "at large, has adopted a handy system of numbering his various remedies, so that a sufferer has only to decide just what is the matter with him or her, and is immediately able to select, by number, the particular remedy which is going to promptly effect a cure. There seems to be a delightful simplicity here which would appeal to all,—what could be better than a system which gives to each ailment its own numbered antidote in this fashion? Headache?—take No. 19; indigestion?—No. 12; sore throat?—No. 7, and so on. But supposing two or more ailments take an unfair advantage, and put in their deadly work at the same time? Nothing easier;—the booklet has anticipated such an eventuality, and thoughtfully provided for it in the following words: "It is often desirable to give two or more of the remedies in alternation; that is, first one and then the other at the proper interval. This may be done when the patient manifests two complaints at the same time, as for instance: cough with fever, headache and dyspepsia. As soon as one of the symptoms or complaints has disappeared, the particular medicine for it may be stopped and the other continued until the patient has entirely recovered." It is certainly comforting to know that our various ills can be so readily pursued, each on its own track, as it were, and that we can deal with them singly instead of having to meet them in massed formation. And what a relief to know that the possession of a cabinet containing a score of these numbered remedies is an easy and infallible protection against any and every malady which may mark us for its prey!

It is, I believe, generally allowed by the leading lights of spiritualism that although the shades of the departed continue to carry on their lives in the next world, they are prevented by some unknown rule from continuing their activities in the world they have left,—which is just as well for all concerned. But it appears that this barrier is of no importance where Hollywood "stars" are concerned, as witness the unimpeachable testimony of a lady hailing from Binghamton, New York, and formerly known as "The Girl" Carol E. McKinstry, pastor of the Universal Spiritual Church of Binghamton. According to this lady Valentino has been for some weeks collaborating with her in the writing of a scenario to be produced under the title of "The warning from out the ages," and which the lady thinks will be an "excellent picture." It is pointed out that the former screen idol has had the advantage of an experience which "no living scenario writer shared, and that he has died and been buried and has had opportunity to study conditions in "the great beyond." This is so obviously true that one would naturally expect the coming "excellent picture" to deal with matters belonging to his new location, and it is a great disappointment to learn that the scene is laid in an American city, and has for its subject the old love triangle, two women and a man, or two men and a woman,—it is not stated which. There is of course a sheik "of the Valentino pattern, ferocious yet gentle—a knight of the sands," from which we may deduce that the "great beyond" has not advanced very much from the Hollywood way of looking at things. In order that there can be no mistake on the part of the medium, the ghost of this spiritist collaborator always appears in the sheik costume, although sometimes it wears a turban, and sometimes doesn't, which seems to indicate a regrettable fickleness. The phantom invariably appears at 11 p.m. (which happens to be the time of most concentration on the part of the medium) and stays two hours, during which he dictates his stuff in an audible voice. Sometimes only his head and shoulders appear, while on other occasions he is plainly visible at full length, his feet "a foot or so above the floor." The lady says "as if he were starting to ascend," but it looks more like some hitch in the spiritist machinery. Mrs. McKinstry is described as "a plump young woman of attractive appearance, dark eyed, with black, bobbed hair, and short skirted"—details which do not appear to have much relation to the story, but are interesting in themselves.

As "evidence" of the return of the movie sheik, we are told that he is in frequent communication with his divorced second wife, and that he gives her "odds and ends" from the world beyond—nothing very new or of informative value. Nevertheless, in spite of this "evidence" the plain man will certainly size up this story at its proper value, and brand it as an impudent imposture.

It is said that there are in this world some people who find no trouble in getting out of bed in the morning, and who can "rise with the lark" and even burst into song in emulation of that precocious bird. I once heard of a man whose energy was such that he had a habit of turning out at 5 a.m. or thereabouts, throwing his bedroom window to its full height, and vociferating "Yoicks!", "Tally-ho!", "Gone away!", and sundry other greetings to the morn. But I fear he was an exception, and that most of us who are roused at our early youth have a persistent reluctance to forsake a comfortable bed. Dr. Copeland's advice to this great majority was to spend a few minutes in stretching the muscles, and collecting the energy which sleep had dulled. This was very good advice, always supposing the few minutes' allowance is not too rigidly. But now I note that all trouble of the kind can be done away with by careful selection of the color of our pyjamas! (I'm not sure that I have the correct spelling, but that word, but we wear nightgowns) holds good in the proper color—Red. And what the approved shade of red at night, and you will rise up in the morning like a giant refreshed, with energy enough to give you a flying start, and carry you through the hardest day. At least, that is what we are told by a learned professor who has devoted much time to the subject. But, as usual, there is an obstacle to be overcome—we have to get the exact shade of red required, or we shall be undone. Too dark a red will breed in us black and gloomy thoughts, while too light a shade will leave us untouchable. And unfortunately we are not told where we are to get expert information in the matter. This is a serious omission, and until it is made right we are no better off than we were before. Which is distinctly tantalizing.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, The Review: Dear Sir: I have read with interest your editorial, also Mr. P. G. Koop's letters regarding the maintenance of a valley highway through Summerland. If there is any spirit of progress left in Summerland, surely this should be attended to at once. There are many old towns and districts which have been left out with the passing of their old residents because those people were not progressive enough to boost for their own town. Property in such places slowly but surely sinks in value until it cannot be sold at a reasonable price.

Not long ago on a trip to Kelowna I met a gentleman who informed me during our conversation that he lived in the best part of the best district of the finest fruit growing country in the world. I asked him where that world-wide place could be. His reply was "Penticton."

We live so near to a larger town that we are apt to concede an inferior position in this wonderful valley. While I live in the Okanagan Valley I want to live right where I am now, but when strangers come here I am afraid the principal thing I have to boast about is our climate and natural scenery, and I am also afraid we haven't much to do in the making of either.

There are, also, industrial affairs which need very careful consideration—industries which are natural to our surroundings and which a few have been struggling to maintain without even the sympathy and appreciation of the rest of the citizens. I am going to mention one. There are others. But there is one industry which can mean a great deal to the economy as well as the pleasure of living in Summerland.

There is a decided ambition for social distinction in Summerland. In company with this feeling come after-noon teas. Now can you tell me where we are going to get some nice sweet cream and delicious butter for such occasions? There is cream produced here and sent to Penticton from which butter is returned at a good margin of profit to the other town, and I may say the quality might be improved. I repeat, the people of Summerland do not appreciate what has been done for them by a few who have struggled to supply some of the above. Rich milk from healthy animals has been supplied at a price which, considering the quality, cannot be equalled in any place where conditions are easier. There are people who use condensed milk for cooking purposes, thinking it is cheaper. Allowing condensed milk contains eight per cent. fat and costs fifteen cents per pound tin, local milk testing five per cent. fat should cost nearly twenty-three and a half cents per quart. Our great difficulty is that a steady supply of high grade clean milk costs more in capital outlay than most individual producers have at hand.

It seems to me that, if the people of Summerland are alive to their own interests, they should establish a community dairy which could supply milk

On August 23, 1927, the Committee of Directors issued the defendant's license, licensing him as a shipper until 31st day of March, 1928.

"Without calling the defendant to make his defence, the committee on September 23rd wired him that his license had been cancelled, and warned him that if he would do any act of marketing or selling he would render himself liable to the penalties of the Act. The reason for the cancellation of the license was the defendant's failure to make a return of the invoice car of apples, known as a roller, shipped in the latter part of August.

"In imposing the extreme penalty of cancellation of his license, the Committee acted harshly and have also failed to recognize the right of the defendant to make his full answer and defence to their complaint.

"After having cancelled the license and warned the defendant not to make any further shipments, the Committee, by their subsequent actions in refusing to answer the letter of the defendant in reply to their wire in failing to call his license and permitting him to retain it in his possession, in continuing to send him their 'circulars to licensees,' in quoting him prices on apples, and on October 1 and 15 in sending him invoices for $41.69 and $32.68, being the amounts the Committee demanded as a levy of 1 1/2 cents per box on several cars of fruit, most of which was shipped after the said 22nd day September, have given the defendant reasonable grounds for believing that they intended to allow him to continue marketing.

"The defendant has stated (and there is no evidence to the contrary) that since he first obtained his license he has endeavored to carry out the regulation of the Committee.

cream and make up into butter the cream now being sent to Penticton. Shares could be sold to raise the necessary capital, and people who use milk could have shares and get what they need at cost of production. A good milk supply is just as important as a good water supply to any community and is just as attractive to prospective settlers. Yours very truly, A. A. DERRICK.

Who knows how old James Whitcomb Riley, American poet, would be if he were alive today? October 7 is his birthday, but authorities disagree as to his year of birth, some saying 1849, others 1853.

World of Politics

(By an Ex-Writer of the Ottawa Press Gallery.)

There is a political calm throughout Canada at the present time and it is unlikely to be broken this side of the meeting of the Dominion House and our own provincial Legislature, after which political news will once more take up a large space in the daily newspapers. Premier King has been spending a short holiday down in Washington, where he has dined with President Coolidge and the members of the U.S. cabinet and has been the centre of attraction at social gatherings at the Canadian embassy. Judging from some comments of the Washington newspapers, Mr. Vincent Massey, the Canadian Ambassador at Washington, has been a success at the American capital both in a business and a social sense and he had paved the way for the successful visit of the Canadian premier. From now on it is quite likely that Canadian premiers will occasionally take a trip to Washington to visit the Canadian Ambassador and to participate in the social amenities of the American capital. It is possible that the day may come when the president of the United States will follow the example set by the late President Harding and occasionally come north to Canada. Nothing but good could come of an interchange of visits between the leading men of the two nations which have set an example of peaceful friendship to the rest of the world in the past century. Both the late President Wilson and President Harding broke away from the long established precedent which made it necessary for the president of the United States to remain within that country during his official term, and other presidents will probably follow their example. The hospitalities extended to Premier King at Washington will have the effect of emphasizing the fact that the establishment of the Canadian embassy in the American capital has increased the prestige of the Dominion at a capital where all nations of any importance have embassies. It has likewise increased our opportunities of lining up new business at a time when it is becoming increasingly necessary that Canada's export trade must be developed if we are to successfully dispose each year of our surplus production of natural products and manufactured goods. And there need be no fear that the growth of our national status during the coming year will lessen the determination of Canadians to remain a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. The better the Americans and the representatives of other nations become acquainted with Canada and Canadians the more clearly they will realize that we are a British people and have no intention whatever of ever being anything else.

MR. R. B. BENNETT NOT YET IN HARNESS

There have been a couple of fine and commendable gestures in connection with the naming of Hon. R. B. Bennett as leader of the Conservative party. The first was the action of Premier King in at once extending his congratulations to Mr. Bennett in a nicely worded telegram that was undoubtedly sincere and that Mr. Bennett is not likely to forget and that will tend to restore better feeling than has existed between leaders in Parliament in recent years. The second nice gesture came from Mr. Bennett when he announced that he would not consider himself to be the Conservative leader until he is recognized as such by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Speaker of the House of Commons, when Parliament meets. Mr. Bennett explained that the position of Opposition leader is recognized by Parliament and, that being so, he will not regard himself as having the full authority of leadership until the Speaker recognizes him in the chair occupied in Parliament by the leader of the opposition party. Mr. Bennett's reasons for this attitude are perfectly correct and will be the more admired when it is explained that his action really means that it is his desire that the full emoluments attached to the office for the year should go to Hon. Hugh Guthrie, the temporary leader during the first session of the present Parliament and up to the time the convention met in Winnipeg. Technically, as Mr. Bennett looks at it and as the Parliament will undoubtedly accept the situation, Mr. Guthrie remains leader of the Conservative party until Parliament foregoes and the Speaker has a chance of "recognizing" the new leader. As I have said, this was a nice gesture on the part of Mr. Bennett, one which matched very nicely Premier King's gesture in setting Mr. Bennett a telegram of congratulation in which he observed, "So, that Mr. Bennett has been living up to his idea that he is really not the leader until the House meets. He has had practically nothing to say in a political way to date and has been quietly attending to the matter of disengaging himself from his business enterprises. He plans to come west and spend Christmas with his sister and other relatives in Vancouver. And while talking of Mr. King and Mr. Bennett it might not be amiss to tell of a rather witty remark for which an American writer was recently responsible bearing upon their state of single blessedness. Referring to this, the writer added that it would at least be a consolation to know that, no matter which party wins the next Dominion election the government is not going to "be driven from the rear seat."

AUSTRALIA'S STATE-OWNED RAILWAYS

During the past two or three years the position of the Canadian National Railway system has improved to the point that the road now pays all its operating expenses and a large part of the interest charges. It is estimated that, were the overhead of the system to be cut down to legitimate figures, it would just about be on a paying basis at the present time. In this respect Canada is in a much happier position than the Australian Commonwealth. In the Island Continent there are upwards of 28,0

COVOTE REPORTED SLAIN FROM BLOW AT THE END OF NUMBER NINE BOOT

We recently reported the killing of a coyote by Mine Inspector Biggs of Merritt in the unusual manner of running it down with Ford "Sparky", who is employed at the Princeton Meat Market. It has gone this one better. If all reports are true, he surprised one in the corral at the slaughter house yesterday morning and dispatched it with no other aid than that of his number nine. Another report is that a pikie pole played an important part in the execution. At any rate, "Sparky" arrived back in town with his kill.—Princeton Star.

JUDGE HEARS MUNICIPAL CASE IN SUMMERLAND

An All-day Hearing of Tax Sale Dispute

Judge Swanson presided over the court held at Summerland on Wednesday, December 30. The case was virtually to set aside the tax sale of property held by the Summerland Development Company known here as Kirk's meadow, at the entrance to Prairie Valley.

This property was sold to Mr. J. A. Kirk. Taxes and water rates were charged until a sum had accumulated that put it in the tax sale list.

The dispute arose over the contention that there were not sufficient charges due even though they had been charged, and that the Development Company did not have to pay frontage charges on the domestic pipe line, as did ordinary citizens. Their agreement, they claimed, made them liable for general taxes only.

H. V. Craig, of Kelowna, appeared for the Development Company, and W. C. Kelley for the Municipality.

The hearing of the case lasted from 10.30 Wednesday morning till 6 p.m., and the case, which is a very important one, was thoroughly threshed out. There were but four witnesses called, J. L. Logie, J. A. Kirk, F. Nixon and H. Tomlin.

Mr. Kelley made it clear that, from the municipal point of view, the charges placed against the property were quite just. The property had been sold by the company to J. A. Kirk, and a water gate had been put in on the property ready for service. The water passed the property regularly during the irrigation season. The domestic line was there ready to be connected if it had been wanted. The frontage tax, he explained, was only levied against property in front of which the line passed. He also showed that Mr. Kirk considered the charges for these benefits were just, and evidenced this by paying them without taking the matter to the court of appeal.

This local court of appeal, Mr. Craig for the Development Company tried to upset, on the grounds that it was without legal power. Mr. Kelley met that with a denial, but took advantage of it to say that, granting Mr. Craig's argument, it still proved the fairness of the municipal action in that it was willing to hear and redress and grievance.

In summing up the case, Mr. Kelley's arguments were put with telling effect and, to those listening, appeared to be the logical conclusion and the legal side of the question.

Mr. Craig argued that the tax sale was out of all order. The rates charged were incorrect and he claimed that that ground the sale should be upset, because in Manitoba a case somewhat similar, tried in the Supreme Court, had been thrown out because the tax claims were not absolutely accurate.

These claims were not correct because 1927 taxes did not have to be paid till October; the amount charged on the frontage tax they were not liable for, by the agreement made at the time of purchase of the water system, and also because there had been no water turned into the lot for irrigation purposes, either by the company or by Mr. Kirk.

The judge summing up the case, thanked the two lawyers for the able way in which the two sides of the matter had been presented to him. He took all the evidence with him to consider, and reserved judgment.

ENDERBY GIRL DIES IN FLAMES

Vernon, Dec. 1.—Fifteen-year-old Elizabeth Stenquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Stenquist, Enderby, was fatally burned while lighting the fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews here.

Her clothing became ignited and she suffered burns from which she died a few hours later. It is reported that the girl used coal oil to make the fire burn more quickly. Her screams roused Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Andrews' daughter, and rushing to the rescue, she smothered the flames in blankets.

Regina—According to L. H. Newville, of Hastings, Nebraska, investors in that State are looking to Western Canada as a profitable field for investment. One trust company in Nebraska, he said, had $30,000,000 on deposit, some of which would undoubtedly find its way into Canada for the opening up of farm lands. Mr. Newville predicted a big movement of farmers to Western Canada for the next two years.

New Trial is Granted To Angus Nicholson By B.C. Appeal Court

Victoria, Dec. 1.—A new trial for Angus Nicholson, given four years' imprisonment for the death of Marshall Douglas, Vancouver advertising man, last spring, was granted by the Court of Appeal today, the Chief Justice dissenting.

The other man, Moore, had been freed by the jury.

On the ground that the sentence was far too severe in view of the immoral character of their victim, the Court reduced a sentence of life imprisonment imposed on Russell Stonehouse and William Pasquale, 16 and 17 year old Vancouver youths, to three years. The court sustained the verdict of guilty of assaulting a girl of 17.

WILL REPEAT MEDAL CONTEST

Supplies and Help Sent to Sailors' Mission

The home of Mrs. J. J. Smithson was filled to capacity on Friday last when twenty-one ladies gathered for the monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U.

Mrs. C. Mitchell conducted the devotional period, with the thoughts of peace and praise uppermost, and the roll call was answered by quotations bearing on these subjects.

The medal contest committee reported that they are arranging for a contest to be held early in the year in elocution and vocal music, and it is expected that the full number will compete. Some prizes will be given as well as silver medals.

Comfort bags for the lumbermen and Sailors' Mission were brought in and $5 was voted to be sent to the provincial superintendent of that branch of the work to provide socks to be given where needed.

Mrs. Boothie read a paper on "A Study of Scientific Temperance" prepared by Mrs. Canning, of Penticton, which was both instructive and helpful.

It was decided to omit the December meeting because of the busy season. Tea was served by four of the Baptist C.G.I.T. girls, and a pleasant half hour was spent after the meeting.

In Field for Boys' Parliament

The Tuxis Boys have started their fall activities again, John Cummings and Edward Smith being nominated to stand in the Older Boys' Parliament from this district.

This will be the fifth annual Parliament and will be held in the Parliament Buildings at Victoria from December 27 to 31.

This constituency extends from Westbank to Princeton and south to the international boundary line. Mr. Hugh Kerr, of Penticton, being the returning officer.

Come Clean (A Tuxis Attitude)
When the game is on and your friends about,
And you could put your rival out
By a trick that's mean, but wouldn't be seen;
COME CLEAN, my lad, COME CLEAN!

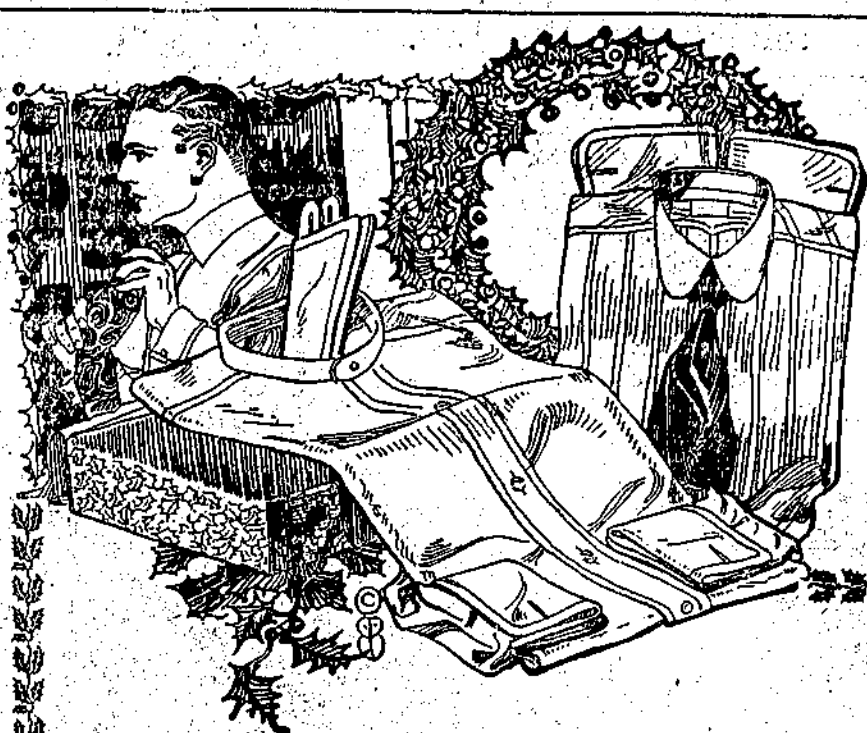

When exams are called and you want to pass,
And you know how you could lead your class;
But the plan's not square—you know it's mean;
COME CLEAN, my lad, COME CLEAN!

With the boss away you've a chance to shirk,
Not lose your pay—not have to work,
He'll neither fire you nor vent his spleen;
COME CLEAN, my lad, COME CLEAN!

When you're all alone and no one about,
And not a soul would find it out,
You're tempted to do a thing that's mean;
COME CLEAN, my lad, COME CLEAN!

For a home awaits, and a girl that's true,
And Church and State have need of you,
They must have your best—on you they lean,
COME CLEAN, my lad, COME CLEAN!

PRESENTATION IS SURPRISE

Canadian Legion Honors Secretary's Work

There is always real genuine pleasure when a surprise is sprung for anyone who has proven himself equal to a task that is somewhat difficult. The Canadian Legion, at their smoker last Friday night, honored their secretary, Major Tweedie, in just such a way for the excellent work which he has performed for them.

A year ago the organization numbered but thirty members, and it was rather an uphill battle they had to travel. Now they have a strong organization and about as many voters as enrolled as is possible, with business meetings well attended. This is due to the efforts of the secretary, and the Legion felt it should be acknowledged in some tangible form.

At their regular smoker on Friday last a halt was called in the programme, and the president, Ned Donnelly, in a short address and to the absolute surprise of Major Tweedie, extended to him the thanks and appreciation of the members for his work, giving him at the same time a "snifty" smoker's set as a tangible token of their genuine appreciation.

Taken an absolutely by surprise, the veteran of the Great War had to resort to defensive tactics, but succeeded in making a reply that let those present understand the gift was fully appreciated.

Moosa Jaw—A new firm, Chemical Distributors, Limited, will shortly open for business here, empowered to import, manufacture, buy and sell, chemicals, dye stuffs and other products. The company is capitalized at $50,000.

Tariff Commission Head Scores Fruit Direction Board in Ottawa Sitting

May Report B. C. Body Under Combines Act CHAIRMAN MOORE DELIVERS ATTACK After Hearing F. M. Black Says Consumers Unprotected

Ottawa, Dec. 9.—The British Columbia Fruit Marketing Act was castigated by Chairman Moore of the Advisory Tariff Commission. He intimated that he would make a report on the subject. To whom he would report, Mr. Moore did not say, but F. A. McGregor, registrar under the Combines Act, said presumably it will be to him.

Mr. Moore's attack came after F. M. Black, head of the B.C. Committee of Direction, had explained the reasons for the cooperative movement. He told how the fruit industry of the Okanagan Valley had been adversely affected by intensive competition of shippers and how many growers had been ruined.

After Mr. Black had concluded, Chairman Moore made some pointed observations intimating that the B.C. legislation was unfair to the people of the prairie provinces. B.C., he said, has taken control of the producing activities of its citizens as far as fruit is concerned.

As a tariff board we are not concerned with what the province does save as it affects the consumer," he went on. "One of the objects of the legislation as you have stated is to regulate the prices the prairie citizens have to pay. They are unable to protect themselves against the regulations you make.

Not Voluntary Co-operation "The Horticultural Association has asked for an increase in the duty on fruit and vegetables and in every argument they have said that competition would protect the consumer. What one must take into account is the effect of the legislation itself. It is not voluntary co-operation. It is a regulation of production enforced by fine and imprisonment. It is not such a combination as we often see among manufacturers which is voluntary. It is a most unusual thing and if you in your attempt to regulate prices in other provinces are made the subject of retaliation then we have entered upon a new stage in the social and economical life of this country.

Afterwards, Commissioner Mackenzie cross-examined Mr. Black as to whether it was intended to extend to dairy and vegetable products the act regarding fruit and bring that into control scheme.

Mr. Black said the vegetable production was largely in the hands of Orientals and an attempt made last session to include dairying did not succeed. He proceeded to give figures to show that the fixed prices were reasonable and had the object of eliminating waste and marketing the crop where it could best be absorbed.

It is understood here that the appeal on behalf of Mah Chung, Chinese grower, who recently was fined for shipping potatoes without a license, has been dropped and that the growers will concentrate their legal efforts behind Mr. Hammond. It is charged that since the conviction of Mah Chung, several Chinese have been shipping their product to the Vancouver market without a license.

SPUDS ROLL TO COAST, DEFYING CONTROL BOARD

W. H. Hammond Ships Out-law Car of Potatoes to the Coast City

TEST AUTHORITY OF REGULATIONS

Next Move Will Now Be Up to the Committee

Kelowna, Dec. 8.—Members of the Committee of Direction of the Marketing Board said this morning that they had no official information that W. H. Hammond, of Ashcroft had shipped a carload of potatoes to Vancouver without a license. Until they did they would not say what their attitude would be.

Vancouver, Dec. 8.—In a despatch from Vernon to The Province, Director Hembly, of the Marketing Board, said that his committee was watching the Ashcroft situation closely and that if press reports that Hammond shipped potatoes without a license proved correct, he would be present at Hammond's car as it reached Vancouver early this afternoon.

Ashcroft, Dec. 8.—National Railway refrigerator car No. 8204 carrying no license from the Committee of Direction responsible for the operation of the Marketing Control Act and loaded with 'B1' and 'C' grade potatoes, the latter prohibited by order of the committee, left the Ashcroft district en route to Vancouver last night.

The test of the constitutionality of the control regulations as applied to marketing of B.C. potatoes grown in interior territory controlled by the committee has started. The next move is up to the committee.

W. H. Hammond, owner and shipper of the outlaw car, has defied the committee to take the same action against him as was taken recently against Mah Chung, who was arrested, tried and convicted on a charge of shipping without a license.

Mr. Hammond, who is a large grower of spuds, completed loading operations at his ranch, about twelve miles from Ashcroft, immediately after his return Wednesday afternoon from Kamloops, where, at a Board of Trade meeting on Tuesday night, he threatened to take this step, with the aim of upsetting the Marketing Act altogether. It is understood that he is being backed by an organization of potato-growers formed last week to fight the measure. White farmers in this new body extend from Spences Bridge to Nicola and from Chase to Lytton.

It is understood here that the appeal on behalf of Mah Chung, Chinese grower, who recently was fined for shipping potatoes without a license, has been dropped and that the growers will concentrate their legal efforts behind Mr. Hammond. It is charged that since the conviction of Mah Chung, several Chinese have been shipping their product to the Vancouver market without a license.

New Scotch Citizens for Canada

Here are three immigrant families typical of the large army of immigrants who have come over from Scotland to Canada this year. Fresh from the land of heather and full of hopes for success, they disembarked recently at Quebec from the Anchor-Donaldson liner Athena. After immigration inspection they proceeded by C. N. R. to pre-arranged destinations in the Western provinces.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER FOR B.C. SPEAKS TO SUMMERLAND AUDIENCE

Hon. Dr. Tolmie Appears on Platform With Other Lights

CRITICISM APLENTY FOR GOVERNMENTS

Grote Stirling, J. W. Jones and J. F. Burne are Speakers

Monday night the people of Summerland had an opportunity to hear the leader of the Conservative party of B.C., Hon. Dr. Tolmie, speak on the political situation in the province. With him were three speakers from Kelowna, Grote Stirling, M.P.; J. W. Jones, M.L.A., and J. F. Burne, president of the Conservatives at Kelowna. The meeting was held in the Rialto and was presided over by A. B. Elliott, who introduced the different speakers with a very brief remark, in order that they might have all the time there was available.

Mr. Burne spoke of the Conservative convention at Winnipeg, when the new leader of the party, E. B. Bennett, was chosen by the delegates. He had been one of the delegates and took the occasion to thank the people of the South Okanagan for sending him.

There were some 1,900 delegates present and the organization for the convention had been most complete and thorough. The speeches by the nominators had been listened to with closest attention by all candidates and interested people who visited the convention and who brought the number of those who attended up to 7,500. They were all so keenly interested that they remained until after midnight on the second day.

He was quite sure that Mr. Bennett was the best selection that the delegates could have made; he was a western man and would be able to place the views of the West before the House at Ottawa. There had been entire concord among the delegates, with such a spirit continuing, the Conservative party would become a great power in Canada. Mr. Elliott then called upon Grote Stirling, M.P., who said he was very glad to have this opportunity to be with the people of Summerland and extend greetings with the leader.

He was anxious to add to what Mr. Burne had said about the Winnipeg convention. That was a meeting of the descendants of the Fathers of Confederation, not a meeting of a party, besides the choice of a leader there were many resolutions passed and the committee in charge was well chosen, and each resolution of the twenty-four was well thrashed out. There were two features of the tariff that he referred to, first that it should enable industries to prosper, and second that it should be like a pawn in the great game of trade among nations. Those ideas, the convention endeavored to keep before it.

Repatiate Canadians Immigration was something that should be kept before Canada, and the repatriation of Canadians should be an endeavor here. There were a great many Canadians who had gone over to the United States. It would be much better to bring them back than to get foreigners from another country. Along with this, every endeavor should be made to increase the immigration from Britain. The part of the resolution at the convention which referred to the Oriental influx into Canada was colored by B.C.'s view of the matter, and while other provinces desired to have the wording changed, British Columbia delegates made their point so clear that the words "Oriental exclusion" were kept in the resolution. He referred to the old age pension and asserted that the Conservatives were not opposed to the scheme but they wanted it left in the hands of the federal government of a platform that the formation of a platform should have the guidance of the leader and he could better direct the affairs of the party. This idea prevailed at the convention.

J. W. Jones, M.L.A., when called upon, introduced his remarks with his humorous references to local folk. He was pleased with the opportunity that came to him to have Mr. Burne and Mr. Stirling come to Summerland. Some others thought Dr. Tolmie should come at the same time, and it delighted him to feel that he had been able to arrange that the three should be here. He spoke at length on the provincial aspect of politics and particularly on taxation methods as adopted by the present government. The opposition members had forced the government to adopt their ideas and reduce the succession duties. The provincial debt was now one hundred and three million dollars, and eighty millions had been added in the last period that the present government had been in power. He desired to bring home this heavy taxation to those present and ask what they got out of it.

He referred to the condition of the lakeshore road with two blockades this summer, and yet it had been impossible to get the government inspector to do anything; the delays of the engineer were entirely inexcusable. He had been sitting idle instead of moving to solve the trouble, and the same thing is obtaining with the slide on the Peachland section of the road. In concluding, Mr. Jones attacked the expenditure on the Cariboo highway and other highways for the lack of good management in the work done on them. Praise for Grote Stirling The chairman then called upon Dr. Tolmie to address the meeting. He said that he was pleased to be able to come in company with Mr. Stirling, Mr. Stirling had made a name for himself at Ottawa and was frequently consulted on matters of irrigation, fruit growing and marketing, and was looked upon there as an authority in these questions. He had made good, Dr. Tolmie asserted, and the constituency should be proud of him. He regretted that he had not been able to be at the Winnipeg convention on account of the election over at Nelson. He attacked the government for bringing it on at the time of the Winnipeg gathering. He spoke of Mr. Bennett as a man who had made his money without any one pointing a finger at his actions in a creditable way. Referring to provincial matters, he condemned the local government for so often expending beyond its estimates. Its interference in the Soldier Settlement work was quite inexcusable and the entire matter should have been left to Ottawa, for all Victoria got was credit for blunders.

The P.G.E. up to 1916 under hard and fast contracts had cost but $29,000,000, but after 1918 the Liberals had released the contractors, and he asserted the cost now had come up to $55,000,000. Supervise Settlers Canada is now forced to bring more settlers but she should have a proper method of supervision; she should encourage Canadians in the United States to come back. British are the best settlers we get, and they should be encouraged. Those from the United States are the poorest, for they move back and forth. Dr. Tolmie thought a lot of the different experimental farms. They did a great deal to show how to raise crops that were profitable in a profitable way. They can help in the tobacco industry which is growing and can prevent any shipments of poor stuff, which is important, for one shipment of bad leaf will ruin Canada's opportunity in this product. Britain will not accept stuff she does not want, and Canada has learned to enter to her wants and not try to impose her own likes in that market. He returned to the growing of seed and seed potatoes, and maintained it was a most valuable industry and should be watched with every care and the markets increased. He advocated most strongly the development of co-operative marketing and considered it should be fostered. Opposes Tariff Attitude The attitude of the government on the tariff protecting the Canadian farmer was not right, he said. Canadian agriculturists should be protected, and he referred to the swamping of Toronto markets with tomatoes from the United States. We should adopt the same tariff programme as they have in the United States against us, where, if a car of fruit or produce was found moving to a market now well

PARTY LEADERS VISIT PEACHLAND

Hon. Dr. Tolmie, Grote Stirling and J. W. Jones Speak

GOOD CROWD PRESENT

Conservative Speakers Refer to Taxation and Irrigation

Peachland, Dec. 9.—Quite a representative gathering attended the political meeting held in the Municipal Hall on Tuesday afternoon last. The speakers on this occasion were Hon. Dr. S. P. Tolmie, Grote Stirling and J. W. Jones. The president of the local association, Mr. Wm. Rutherford, was in the chair to introduce the speakers. Mr. Stirling, member of the federal House for Yale, addressed the meeting first, and in a very able manner touched on important points of legislation. At the outset he referred to the resolution and request of the recent citizens' meeting in connection with taxation of S.S.E. lands. He said that he had not had the opportunity of looking over his papers in this connection, but that if his memory served him correctly the attitude of the government was favorable towards redress in this regard, at least when the lands were rented. He explained that there was not only one municipality to consider in this question, but many, and no minister would lightly promise that he would do just as any one municipality asked in the matter as the whole had to be considered. He said, however, that he would be pleased to take the whole matter up fully at first opportunity.

In referring to the convention which was held in the city of Winnipeg, he spoke very highly of Mr. E. B. Bennett, who was elected as leader at that convention. He explained a few of the outstanding resolutions which had been put through at that time, but said he would not attempt to take time to deal with more as he wished to leave as much time as possible for Mr. Tolmie. Mr. J. W. Jones, member for South Okanagan, followed Mr. Stirling, and in his opening remarks referred to the good choice he considered the delegates had made in Mr. Bennett. Also speaking of the Kamloops convention, he said that when the decision fell on Dr. S. P. Tolmie, the doctor gave up much to accept the position as leader of the party for the province, but he considered the people had made a wise choice. He mentioned that the doctor is a native born son of British Columbia. Mr. Jones said that as he was the lesser part of the sandwich between the two other speakers, and as he knew the folks were anxious to hear the doctor, he did not want to take up too much of their time, as he took frequent opportunities to take up necessary matters with the electors. He spoke importantly touching on a few of the important matters concerning taxation and public expenditures. In closing, he referred to the question asked by the citizens with reference to relief on irrigation problems. He stated that he still stood in the same position as he had all the time on this matter, and thought that the only safe, sane and sensible plan was for relief to be granted. He said he had fought for this and still intended to fight for it right through.

Hon. Dr. Tolmie then addressed the meeting and in a very pleasing manner dealt with many matters of interest to the electors. He paid a few compliments to Mr. Jones and Mr. Stirling and also emphasized what the other speakers had said about the choice of Mr. Bennett as Dominion leader. He mentioned that he had noticed how grudgingly the government granted commissions or had taken up the interests of some of the sections of the province, and said he could not understand it. He said he would look after the interests of the country if it was not the government's business, and referred to large departmental businesses. He asked how long they would exist if the head of the concern did not take a keen interest in each and every department, and affirmed that if he was returned to power it would be his first business to look into every part and department of the government's business and see to it that the people of the province were looked after properly, by giving them prompt and ample service. Time and space will not permit of going into detail with all the points touched by the speaker, but he gave the electors much interesting data and figures. Touching the products of the province, he said there were too many looks and that we were buying far too much stuff from outside which we should and could be producing in our own province. He mentioned also that he is much concerned with the marketing problems of the people and said that a great deal of

I. B. FULTON PASSED AWAY

Well-known Chartered Accountant Came to B.C. Twenty Years Ago

Vancouver Province: Well known among chartered accountants and business men of Vancouver, I. B. Fulton, C.A., passed away early Sunday morning at his residence, 2525 Sixth avenue west. The deceased was a native of Nova Scotia and came to British Columbia twenty years ago. He had been in practice as a chartered accountant for many years. He was an active member of First Baptist Church. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. John Russell of London, Ont., and Doris, residing at home, and two brothers, Hiram and Dr. Silas A. Fulton, both of Nova Scotia. Funeral services were held last Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Mount Pleasant Undertaking Company chapel, Rev. J. Ross and Rev. David Long officiating and interment was made in Ocean View Burial Park.

Mr. Fulton was accountant for a number of years here with the Summerland Development Co., and owned a residence on the Peach, Orchard. Ponticton Badminton players met the Summerland players in the Arena, Ponticton, on Thursday, with the result that Summerland brought home most of the honors. In the ladies' doubles, Summerland won by four games to three. In the men's doubles, Ponticton won 3, Summerland 4. In the mixed doubles, Ponticton 3, Summerland 18.

Time and space will not permit of going into detail with all the points touched by the speaker, but he gave the electors much interesting data and figures. Touching the products of the province, he said there were too many looks and that we were buying far too much stuff from outside which we should and could be producing in our own province. Fine Score is Made by Up-the-Lake Fruit Exhibit

SALMON ARM IS IN SECOND PLACE

Hon. Dr. MacLean and Mayor Taylor Speak at Fair

Vancouver, Dec. 8.—Kelowna won first prize in the district exhibit at the National Apple Show. Kelowna scored 915 points, with Salmon Arm 845, second, and Penticton with 815, third. Vernon with 810 was fourth, Kaleden 795 fifth, and Winfield 755 sixth. Kaleden's entry was judged the best in point of quality. The district exhibits, however, were judged for quality, variety and arrangement, and although Kaleden led the rest in quality by a margin of from 10 to 60 points, it failed to get in first three places. (Kelowna had six more varieties than Penticton, winner of first and second places last year. These included pears, of which Penticton showed none, and also Wealthy, Cox Orange and Grimes Golden apples taken from cold storage. Penticton did not show any of these.)

It is claimed that the district exhibitors did not get all the space they expected and required for the proper arrangement of their exhibits owing to the narrow quarters assigned them. Owing to bad weather in the city, the attendance at the show during the first two days has been very small.

Keen Rivalry Shown The keenest rivalry was evident in the apple show in the district displays. The exhibits of the Associated Growers (non-competitive) and the Salmon Arm Farmers' Exchange were the centre of interest. The latter was the largest exhibit on the floor, the others having accepted less space than they had booked in order to facilitate other entries in the centre of the building. The Vernon Fruit Union display included produce from the R.K. Ranch and the districts of Swan Lake, South Vernon, Coldstream, Lavington, Okanagan Centre and Finlay. The Kelowna exhibit included produce from the districts of Rutland, Glenora, East and South Kelowna. The Kelowna district exhibit is surmounted with the slogan "100 per cent co-operative." Winfield district was also well represented and the Penticton Co-operative Growers' exhibit was typical of production in the southern end of the valley.

The feature of the potato show was the number of district exhibits from all parts of the province. In addition there is a fully representative list of entries by private growers. B. T. Boies, of the Ricardo Ranch at Vernon, is showing Early Ohies and Netted Gems. Ricardo Ranch is also showing a display of tobacco leaf which was grown this year as an experiment from plants obtained from the Summerland Experimental Farm and set out on three-quarters of an acre on June 1. A record of leaf was obtained and sent to Ottawa for analysis as to nicotine content and other quality. In opening the British Columbia Winter Fair at Hastings Park here Wednesday, Premier MacLean delivered his first address to the agricultural industry of the province since he assumed his present office. "Farming was once a vocation," he said, "now it is both a vocation and a business. Modern farming is based on a scientific knowledge. We have made great strides in agricultural production in the past decade and amazing progress since the year 1900. There are men before me who can recall conditions in the industry 35 years ago when we imported our fruit and poultry products from Ontario. Today we are shipping apples and eggs to the cities of Montreal and Toronto. Just 35 years ago we produced only $2,000,000 from the soil annually; this year we are producing $70,000,000 worth of farm knowledge." One of the finest apple shows ever held here was opened in the grandstand building by Mayor J. D. Taylor. The mayor stated that he was not an authority on apples. As a boy he had conducted quiet investigations of the orchards of his neighbors and had thereby acquired some slight information on the various table varieties. "They say that an apple a day keeps the doctor away. We have talked a great deal about apples and it is now time for us to begin eating them in greater quantities than in the past. We shall thoroughly benefit ourselves and our citizens as directly interested. I am pleased to tell the exhibitors from the Okanagan who are present here today that Manager Matheson and I raised $8,000 cash among the merchants of Vancouver to assist in the holding of this show, and we were not refused a donation by a single person we approached. "This reveals the sympathy and interest of the people of Vancouver in their fellow citizens of the Interior. I trust that the present apple show is a forerunner of even greater things to come," concluded Mayor Taylor. In the five-box lot, H. C. Mellor won third place, according to report received as we go to press.

pending on that. He said that long ago the U.S. had decided that their country should be run for Americans. Canada should adopt the same means, etc. After a vote of thanks to the speakers, the meeting was closed by the singing of "God Save the King."

NEW CAR ON DISPLAY SOON

W. T. Blair Reports Great Interest Locally in Model "A" Ford

Penticton, B.C.—W. T. Blair, Ford distributor, stated this week that he expected the first new model A Ford to be on display here on Thursday, December 22, until Saturday, December 24. It is a Tudor sedan.

"A new Ford car will be on display at our showroom soon. They will justify in every way the millions of dollars and months of labor expended in designing and perfecting them."

"Under the old system of production," Mr. Blair said, "the introduction of a new article required only its design and the use of a few simple tools for its manufacture. But the Ford system has revolutionized production methods and has created a new standard of quality and accuracy at low cost."

"Tremendous interest has been shown locally in the New Car," said Mr. Blair. "This is evidenced by the fact that to date we have received many orders for cars, and that we have been kept busy continually commencing to take the people that have visited our showrooms to see our preliminary display."

"We have found it necessary to establish a policy of filling orders strictly in rotation. With the Ford factory swinging into large volume production, cars will soon be rolling in for local purchasers, but we feel sure that for some time the demand will far exceed the supply."

"Never before," said Mr. Blair, "has such public confidence in any manufacturer been displayed as in the reception of this new Ford car. In the production of this car which is different in every respect to the famous Model T, the reliability of Ford manufacturing has been sufficient for thousands of Canadian car buyers to place their orders with cash deposits before any details were made known."

THE SUMMERLAND REVIEW

WALTER M. WRIGHT, Editor and Manager

DR. TOLMIE FIRST TO APPROVE

It was a pleasure to hear Dr. Tolmie refer to the good work of the Experimental Farms of Canada. It is rarely that they are not made the point of attack of all opposition politicians, and this very thing is what makes the work of these institutions such a hard pull.

For years now, as far back in fact as most of us can remember, the poor old farms came in for generous criticism, every election and in between, when there was nothing else of major importance to criticize.

The work of these places must necessarily consist, to a great extent, of investigations that are costly and which often are endeavors to prove certain practices wrong or that nothing of commercial value can be made from new species that have appeared, as, for instance, the exposure of the fake wheat "found in Tut's tomb".

Then, too, they may be forced to experiment with a hundred varieties of, say, potatoes, and out of the hundred raised from seed, find that only three or four are worth going farther with. Of these three or four, only one may eventually prove commercially profitable. Yet when we look back over such experiments we can easily trace the good ones that have eventually been placed in the hands of the potato growers and which ultimately gave more than sufficient profit to the country to pay for all the cost of all the experiments, and perhaps yielded some compensation for the criticism levelled at the painstaking experimenter.

We are pleased to have the opportunity to say "Hear! Hear!" to Dr. Tolmie's words of approval.

USE OF FIREARMS

There are some very strict regulations relative to the use and handling of firearms. The British Columbia Public Service Bulletin gives a quotation which it would pay any of those who may be given to the careless use of weapons to read.

"With such strictness governing the possession of weapons, the Code, as might be expected, fully describes what constitutes their unlawful use. For instance, that foolish and dangerous habit of pointing a gun at someone, even though in fun! Now, from a legal standpoint it is quite immaterial whether the weapon so pointed is loaded or not, and when one considers the number of fatalities caused through this insane and far too common practice, the penalty, a fine of from $10 to $100 or thirty days imprisonment, seems little enough."

The comment is quite timely and the remarks are not too strong. Boys who are just taking their first outing with firearms during the hunting season should be thoroughly impressed with the danger that lurks in the "unloaded" gun.

THE ASSOCIATED HEAD OFFICE

Kelowna has revived an agitation to have the headquarters of the Associated Growers removed to that city from Vernon. Several attempts have been made in the past to bring the Associated southwards but to no avail, most of the directors feeling that the expense of the change is not justified at this time.

We believe, however, that there is a good deal of merit in the Kelowna claim. As the Associated develops, it becomes apparent that the centre of its industry is located not in Vernon but farther south. The time may come when, through the development of Oliver and the Kootenay and Similkameen districts, Pentiction will really prove to be the logical shipping and directional centre.

Vernon has long since lost its position as the premier fruit district. Even Kelowna may be disturbed in that regard as specialization of the fruit industry shows that the northern districts must go out of certain lines of fruit growing.

However, having in mind the production not only of fruit but also of tobacco, vegetables and so forth, and considering also its tremendous potential area of agricultural land, Kelowna will be for many years a leading production district, from a total tonnage point of view.

Under present conditions the Associated appears to be trying to function at one end of its territory. Its control at Kamloops and along other mainline points, except Salmon Arm, is diminishing; its tonnage north of Vernon, except at Armstrong, is small. As a matter of fact, apart from Vernon itself, the Associated gets the great bulk of its business from Kelowna and from the soft fruit sections including Peachland, Summerland, Naramata, Pentiction, Oliver and the Similkameen.

We would naturally like to see the day when the development in the soft fruit areas would be so great as to bring the Associated down to a southern line; in the meantime Kelowna certainly appears to have better claims than Vernon. Insofar as railway facilities are concerned, it is now about on a par with the northern city, and, as said before, as a production centre it takes the lead.

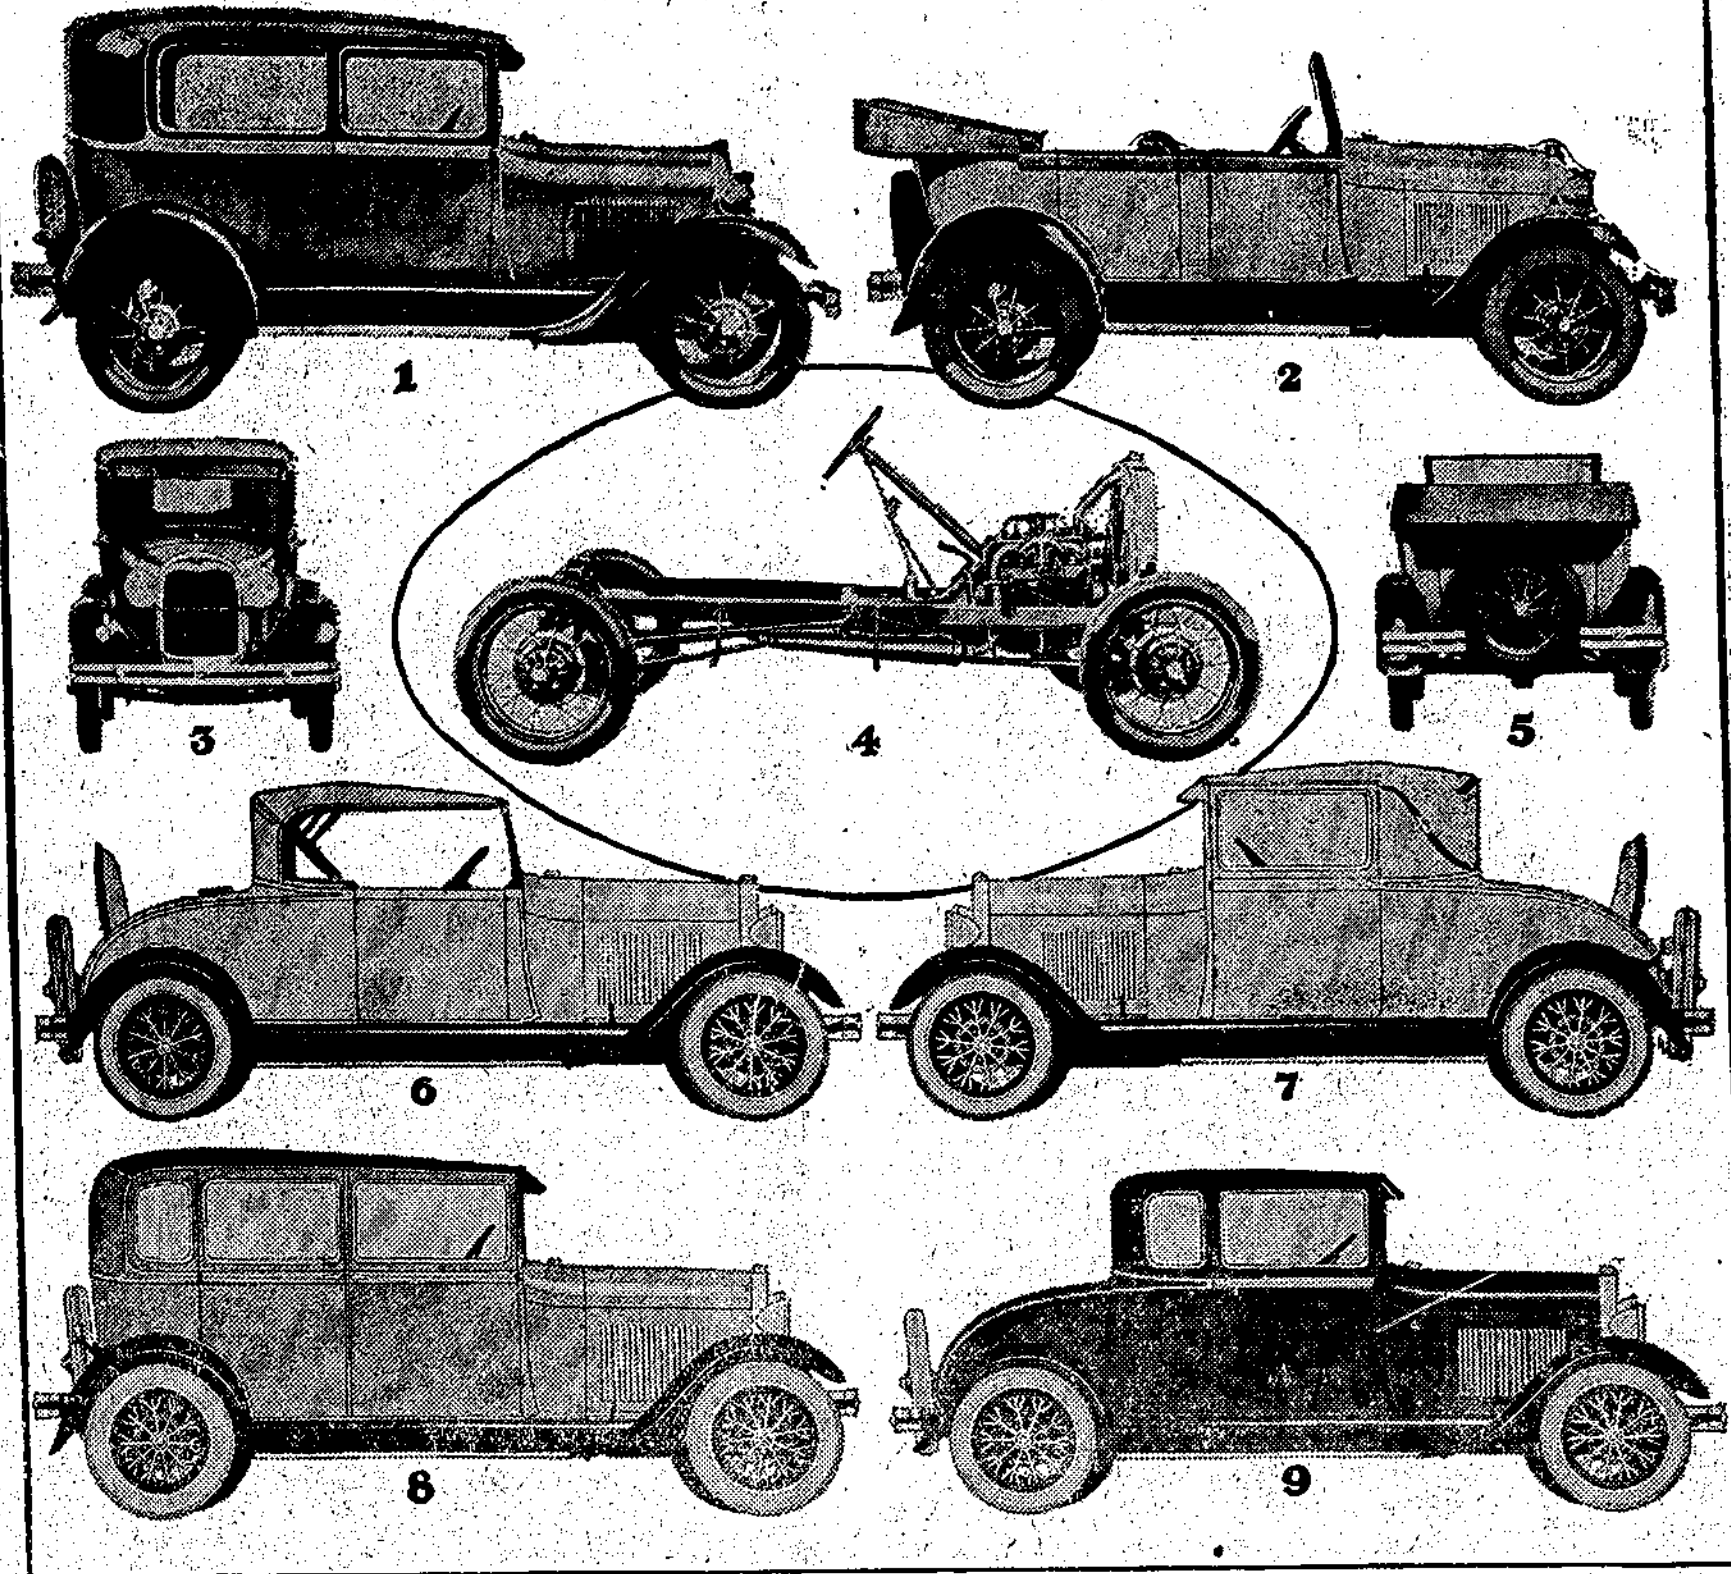

While we are on this subject, would it be possible to induce the Associated to give a little less prominence in its advertising to "Vernon" and a little more to its other districts? Casually picking up an O.K. piece of advertising matter, one would judge that the Associated had moved and had its entire being in Vernon, and that all its products came from that particular locality. Why could not the advertising be so arranged as to show the name of each district producing the fruit or vegetables in question? Under present conditions Vernon gets all the advertising for all the fruit and vegetables sent out of the Okanagan by the co-operative organization.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING NUMBER

The Review next week will issue an enlarged paper replete with the advertisements of progressive local business men who are taking this opportunity of presenting their wares to the public of the district.

Summerland stores are notably up-to-date in their arrangement, display and stocks, and shoppers here invariably are provided with the best available and at moderate cost. Now is the time for Christmas shopping. Watch for the advertisements in next week's issue.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Two workmen on the K.V.R. construction crew at Naramata lost their lives by a premature blast, packing the charge into over-hot rock from a former blast.

Electric light service was to be extended to the rink on the east side of Giant's Head which was being opened by L. C. Woodworth.

Mr. Rice had started work on the coal mine opened up at Paradise Flat. He had associated with him C. Coles and Allan Stewart. They started work with the idea of interesting outside capital if the work proved satisfactory.

Cliff Borton took four prizes at the Vernon show with his fine Brown Leghorns, and H. Bristow captured two firsts and a second with White Rocks and a number of prizes with White Wyandottes.

A request had been made to the provincial authorities to construct a public wharf somewhere near Beach avenue. The provincial government referred the matter back, stating that while the wharf was needed still it was out of their power and should be taken to Ottawa.

British Columbia having captured all the honors in sight on the American continent for fruit, had duplicated its triumphs in Europe, having won the gold medal of the Royal Horticultural Society of England for the best exhibit at the society's big show, which was one of the great events of the year in the Empire's capital, and the apples winning the prize were grown and packed in Summerland.

Classes in apple packing were being started by the Farmers' Institute, and John Tait was enrolling those who proposed to take the work, at $3 for the course.

23 YEARS OF PUBLIC PREFERENCE

World of Politics

(By an Ex-Writer of the Ottawa Press Gallery.)

Premier MacLean's announcement to three thousand citizens of Vancouver who had assembled to do him honor that, failing a satisfactory sale of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to one or the other of the big Canadian railway systems or to private interests, it will be extended to tidewater and to Prince George, was as interesting as it was unexpected by the average elector. Considering that the announcement was made on such an occasion, it is safe to assume that it represents a deliberate determination to embark upon the large expenditure that will be involved in supplying the two necessary ends to a railway system which, up to the present time, has had nothing but a middle. That the government's decision will not be received with the acclaim it was accorded by those in attendance at the Vancouver meeting is indicated by the editorial appearing in the Vancouver Province the day after, in which that newspaper reaffirmed its opposition to an undertaking that will cost at least fourteen million dollars and establish extra operating costs and fixed charges that would be liable to materially increase the annual P.G.E. deficit. Summarizing its opposition to Premier MacLean's proposal, the Province says: "To build the P.G.E. from Vancouver to Prince George is a leap in the dark, and it is worse. It is a certain leap into a new morass of debt and deficits. As for building to the Peace River country—that is the business of the whole of Western Canada and of the province of Alberta as much as, or more than, it is ours." There is a great deal to be said in support of the viewpoint of the Province and the Vancouver newspaper is one hundred per cent. insofar as the extension of the P.G.E. into the Peace River country is concerned. I sometimes wonder, however, in thinking of the P.G.E. problem, if the people of British Columbia are not inclined to be a bit lacking in faith in regard to the potentialities of the great north country. Within the past ten or fifteen years there has been enormous development in the northern parts of practically all the Canadian provinces. The development in northern Quebec has been pronounced, while in northern Ontario it has been little short of amazing since New Ontario has been traversed by two railway systems, one owned by the Dominion and the other by the province. In northern Manitoba there has been tremendous development and within the past fortnight a deal has been made with the Whitney interests of New York that will, in all probability, lead to the development of the Flin Flon area of a copper industry that will rival that of the Consolidated Smelting and Mining Company of this province.

THE CHANGE IN NORTHERN MANITOBA

The Winnipeg Free Press is an issue to hand says of what is happening in northern Manitoba: "The transition is remarkable. It is apparent that the amazing development that has taken place in northern Ontario, and to some extent in northern Quebec, is about to be repeated in Manitoba. Northern Ontario, once sneered at as 'the land of the stunted poplar', has a gold mine, that, within a few years, has produced a total of $200,000,000 in gold. Huge pulp mills have appeared in the land of the stunted poplar. The doubters and the skeptics have been completely sunk. It is within reason to say that those who sneered at the Hudson's Bay Railway will be similarly torpedoes. Grain and cattle will be carried over the Hudson's Bay Railway to Europe. The copper and zinc from the Flin Flon will, in time, go to Europe by way of Hudson's Bay. The pulp mill will appear on the Nelson River well down towards the Bay will take advantage of the water route to get its products to the outside world. It is not out of the question that coal from the mines of Nova Scotia will yet be landed in large quantities on the shores of Hudson's Bay for use in the industrial enterprises that are coming in the north. These are not far distant visions; they are going to come within the years of those pioneers of the West who have grown grey waiting for the opening of the northern route, and for the development of the northern resources. This being the case, it is well that Winnipeg should cast its gaze northward. A city is made by the ability of its citizens to take advantage of the opportunities that offer. Winnipeg should be awake to the open door that lies towards the north. There is optimism for you, but it is an optimism that may be fully justified within a few years, and, if it is, and Winnipeg takes full advantage of it, the prairie city may yet show its heels to Vancouver. At any rate what has happened, and is likely to happen in the near future, in northern Ontario, northern Quebec and northern Manitoba suggests that we in British Columbia might be justified in believing that railway development in the hinterland of this province would lead to similar development in northern British Columbia. Completion of the P.G.E. to Prince George, undoubtedly, is a leap in the dark; it will mean taking chances, but there seems to be no choice between completing the system or abandoning it, and that would mean that British Columbia, alone of all the provinces, has no faith in the north country."

THE U.S. FARM RELIEF MUDDLE

With the presidential election less than a year away, the Republican party is in a state of considerable distress over farm relief measures. The McNary-Haugen bill which was vetoed by President Coolidge last year is barred because of the practical certainty that the President would once more exercise his veto were it to be again passed by Congress. Several substitute bills have been proposed, including one by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine which would extend heavy credits to farm co-operatives and promote the establishment of voluntary instead of co-operative pools. Another plan proposed is in the nature of a direct subsidy. Of this, Mr. Tom King, observer in Washington for a number of Canadian newspapers, says: "Under this proposed plan the exporter of wheat would receive in a roundabout way from the government forty-two and a half cents for every bushel exported, i.e., the amount of the U.S. tariff duty on wheat. The money is to be paid out of the customs receipts of the government. This plan, it is said, would stimulate the export of wheat as to rapidly reduce the domestic supply to the size of the domestic demand. Then the farmer selling in the domestic market would advance his price to the height of the tariff wall, and receive forty-two and a half cents a bushel more than the world price. This fantastic proposal is said to have found favor with Mr. Coolidge in spite of its family likeness to the McNary-Haugen bill. It is argued that this plan would reconcile the western farmer to the high protective tariff inasmuch as the tariff duties would provide a subsidy or bounty for his benefit. The tariff would take money out of one pocket and pour it back into another pocket. That any such plan should be seriously considered can only be explained by a growing dread that the western farmer may suspect that the high tariff is mainly responsible for the unequal price level and their present economic condition. It is another effort to make the duties on farm products effective." For several years Uncle Sam has been struggling ineffectually to placate the middle-western farmers and the farmers have grown more insistent that something must be done the more they realize that the U.S. skyline tariff is doing them more harm than good. With the presidential election in sight, there is a practical certainty that something to appease the farmers will be done at Washington by the Congress about to assemble, and it is going to be interesting to see just what kind of a farm relief measure the U.S. legislators will turn out.

CONSERVATIVE TRIBUTE TO MR. FIELDING

On the seventy-ninth birthday of the Right Hon. W. S. Fielding which occurred on November 24th, the Ottawa Journal (Conservative) paid a warm tribute to "the little gray man" from Nova Scotia now in retirement at Ottawa after a record in public life equalled by few men in any British country. "Ottawa in the past three decades," says the Journal, "has seen no parliamentarian greater than W. E. Fielding. He possessed nothing of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's charm; he was not an orator of the 'proud full sail', and in sheer power of analysis he was inferior to Mr. Melghon; but he had a mind that worked like some faultless mechanism, and there was about his speeches a rare lucid magic that informed and charmed. Sutherland, who had mistaken his movements among bushes for those of a pheasant. Neither Jackie nor his parents wanted a prosecution to take place, but because there have been many cases of shooting accidents in the province, the Department of Justice had a warrant issued in this case as in every other shooting accident, with the intent of maintaining the policy they have adopted. It is their purpose that any time there is an accident, the department will ferret out the matter. W. C. Keiley appeared for Mr. Sutherland and attempted to show that an agreement between Jack and Mr. Sutherland as to their movements had not been adhered to. Magistrate White reserved his decision and will present the evidence to the Attorney-General. Mr. Sutherland is a War Veteran, having four years' service to his credit, and is 100 per cent disabled. This fact, with the other evidence, will all be sent up for review.

VERNON WILL COMBAT CLAIM BY KELOWNA FOR ASSOCIATED

The News Opens Guns Against Southern Argument

BRIEF IS GIVEN TO DIRECTORATE

Kelowna Board of Trade Outlines Reasons for Change

Vernon has replied to Kelowna's claim for a transfer of the head office of the Associated. At least, The Vernon News in its last issue contained the following editorial:

"The Kelowna Board of Trade has raised the question of the location of the head office of the Associated Growers of B.C. A brief has been presented to the president and general manager, E. J. Chambers, for presentation at the meeting of the board of directors. The brief sets forth the advantages to be derived from location at Kelowna.

"In doing this, Kelowna Board of Trade is quite within its rights as an organization which is engaged in promoting the commercial and financial interests of that city. For doing so, no one should quarrel with them. In this endeavor it may be taken for granted that Kelowna people are engaged in seeking to locate the head offices there in an honest belief that in so doing they will be advancing the interests of their city, and at the same time doing what is in the true interests of the fruit growing industry of the Okanagan Valley.

"While giving our good neighbors, the Kelowna people, full credit for an honest endeavor to serve the growers as well as their own city, the people of Vernon claim the same right.

"Without going into them in detail at this time, it may be said that the same reasons which five years ago were adjudged sufficient on which to base a decision in favor of Vernon, ought to be sufficient to retain it here in the absence of the introduction of other factors of anything like relative importance.

"Now that Kelowna has forced the issue the leaders of the people of Vernon will no doubt take the steps they deem necessary towards doing their full duty by the residents of this city, and the fruit growers all the way down the valley.

"There is this to be said. The adventure by the Kelowna Board of Trade, and the suggestion by the Courier, comes at an unfortunate time. The future of co-operation, as exemplified by the Associated Growers, is at stake. A new contract is being prepared for submission to the growers. All has not been plain sailing, but the co-operative organization stands higher today than it did even one year ago. It will be unfortunate if, into the campaign on behalf of the new contract, there is interjected the question of the location of the headquarters, when that vexed question could very well be settled at another time.

"With the resurrection of the controversy over the location of headquarters of the Associated Growers, there is likely to arise the question of the location of the Committee of Direction, if that organization survives the assaults which have been and will be launched upon it.

"It is hoped that, no matter what be the outcome of various questions, the issue will not lead to inter-city bickerings and jealousies, nor to charges and counter-charges of unfairness. Healthy rivalry is a spur to enterprise. Recrimination and suspicion are the tools of small minds."

Following is the letter addressed by the secretary of the Kelowna Board of Trade, to the editor of the Courier. It contains a very complete presentation of Kelowna's case for location of the Associated Growers.

Kelowna, November 28th, 1927 To the Editor, Kelowna Courier, Sir: The Kelowna Board of Trade, at the suggestion of a number of growers and nothing, as they consider, in the best interests of the growers and for the general welfare of the fruit industry of the province, have recently written a letter to the attention of the directors the many advantages of Kelowna as a location for their head office.

The reason this matter has been brought to our notice is on account of the early expiration of the present contract and the lease held by the Associated Growers of their premises at Vernon, and the fact that a great body of the members are anxious to see the Associated Growers function to the greatest degree of efficiency and economy.

The question arises, then, can Kelowna offer any advantages as a location for the head office of the Associated Growers of B.C., over any other place.

In this connection we have submitted the following points:

1. As an assembly point Kelowna merits special attention, as we have special advantages possessed by no other place, due to the fact that fruit can be brought here from points south by M.S. Pontowna, arriving here at 12.30 p.m. and 0.30 p.m., and by the S.S. Okanagan, arriving at 10.30 p.m., allowing time for fruit to be loaded into freight cars and drawn out by midnight over the C.N.R. and at 2 a.m. over the C.P.R., thereby avoiding a day's delay which would occur if these shipments were to be taken to Okanagan Landing and Vernon for re-shipment. This is a point to be particularly emphasized as regards soft fruit.

2. Centralization can be best effected by the location of the head office at Kelowna. We have the offices of the Committee of Direction, the B.C. Growers & Shippers' Federation, and also the selling agency of the independent growers, Bales, Service, Limited, located here, which, should the office of the Associated Growers be situated here, would enable all concerned to hold immediate conferences on mat-

GENIAL OFFICERS ENLIST SUPPORT

Northern Town Likely Now to Stick With the Trail

Kamloops—A good-natured, smiling and witty delegation from south of the line, representing leading officers of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association, waited on the board of trade Tuesday evening and attempted, and not vainly, to enlist a recrudescence of interest in that body, to the extent of Kamloops taking its full share of financial responsibility and discharging it faithfully in 1928.

DEEP SNOW AT CANYON DAM

Many Letters Before Council—Road Programme Discussed

Such of Tuesday's session of the council was taken up with the discussion of correspondence and roads. The snow plow had been out on Tuesday morning, and the roads were very much improved.

Change in Situation Mr. Jones pointed out that the situation might be changed when the road to Merritt on the highway was opened. He regretted that S. T. Elliott, Kelowna, one of the delegation, had to go on to the coast and could not be present.

Secretary is Heard Mr. Walker told the meeting that when they heard at the annual meeting how Kamloops stood they realized that "Kamloops just didn't understand." He paid an immense tribute to the unselfish devotion of Mr. Blackwell. It was indeed a policy of friendship for which the letters on the trail, O.C.T., stood. Little Enderby had not benefited as much as it expected in the early days of the organization but it had got on to the trail via the Salmon Arm tribune and the results were gratifying.

Rowlands Explains D. B. Johnstone, of Kamloops, new president of the association, repudiated the suggestion that there was anything wrong with the trail. The Auto Club was an organization for looking after tourists after they arrived; the B.C. Advertisers was purely a commercial concern. As mover of the resolution in connection with the trail, D. W. Rowlands explained what led up to this action. It was felt that Kamloops wasn't receiving the traffic expected; whose fault it was he did not say. The position of the road might be the reason, Vernon being "the end of the trail" as far as the great majority of the tourists were concerned. They had been told that Vernon did not encourage the tourist traffic towards Kamloops because they had been strenuously approached but had declined the business had not materialized.

Keeping Careful Tab Did Kamloops keep tab on the tourist business, asked Mr. Jones. The query was replied to in the negative. It proceeded to tell the meeting of the large traffic he had seen on the road twice last year. It assuredly materialized that traffic.

Demonstration is Given to Women's Institute on Decorating Xmas Cake

The Summerland Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting on Friday afternoon, December 9, in the parish hall. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Knowles, Mrs. Butler, president, and in spite of the bad weather the attendance was good. After the regular business had been finished, the special feature of the meeting was the decorating of a Christmas cake by Mr. Copo, who gave a short talk on things and practical aids of using, and then gave a practical demonstration, with the rest of the most artistic and beautifully decorated cakes on view at the close of the meeting. Mr. Copo received a hearty vote of thanks. The meeting then adjourned, and tea was served.

OBITUARY

Mary Blosdale passed away in her eighteenth year, Thursday, at the local hospital. She had been ill for the past three months. A girl of bright disposition, with many friends, was Mary, and her passing leaves a vacancy that will long be noticed. The funeral is to be held on Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Lakeside church.

MAKES REPORT OF INTEREST

So many readers of the Review appreciate Mr. Geo. Johnston's weather report from the farm that we obtained it this week. In December the snowfall up to Thursday, December 15, was 14.3 inches, and the rainfall in December was .82 of an inch, with the total precipitation up to date of 2.77 inches. It is interesting to note that ten inches of snow equals an inch of rain. The average precipitation for December for the past eleven years has been 1.22 inches. The total precipitation for the year to date has been 14.06 inches, and the average for eleven years is 12.23 inches. The lowest temperature this cold spell was on Monday, December 10, when three degrees below was registered. The lowest on record in any previous December was nine below, on December 17, 1924.

APPLE PRICES HAVE BEEN LOWER THAN U.S. FIGURES, SAYS PRESIDENT CHAMBERS

Okanagan f.o.b. Quotations Rule Under Foreign Figures

THIS IS REPLY TO 'COMBINES' CHARGE
Hon. Mr. Barrow Gives Views on Control Board

When those who criticize the control board legislation say that the consumer is being forced to pay more for his fruit, they are quite evidently overlooking the actual conditions," declared President E. J. Chambers of the Associated Growers in an interview here last week. "Our f.o.b. prices for apples on the average ruled lower than the U.S. f.o.b. prices plus duty this season. Some may ask why this is the case. It is necessary because we must take into consideration the volume of the crop to be moved into consumption. When we have Wealthies or C grade Macs for sale we must put them at a price that will provide for consumption. "I maintain that it is virtually impossible to have a growers' combine in the marketing of perishable products. If the prices are too high the fruit, simply will not move, and will spoil."

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—Sharp words between W. H. Moore, chairman of the advisory tariff board, and F. W. Black, head of British Columbia's fruit marketing board, featured the conclusion of the tariff commission's hearing of an application for a seasonal tariff on fruits. Mr. Moore had previously attacked the B. C. Marketing Act as restraining competition on the prairies, and announced that he would be compelled to "make a report" on the subject.

Commissioner Lambert agreed with the chairman that the marketing measure gave authority to the committee of direction to fix prices. "But not necessarily adversely so," commented Mr. Black.

Commissioner Lambert thought the legislation affected the general liberty of trade in the country. "Necessarily Harmed" Mr. Black questioned Chairman Moore's interpretation of the effect of the legislation. Because the producer in British Columbia was benefitting, Mr. Black argued, it did not follow that the prairie consumer was thereby harmed.

The chairman agreed. But the committee, he added, had the power to raise prices to the consumer in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Because the committee had never exercised that power, did not mean that they had not got it. "I have the power to commit suicide, but —" Mr. Black began.

"Please be fair," urged the chairman. Commissioner Lambert put some further questions along the line of the chairman's remarks. "Mr. Black," Mr. Lambert is not objecting to your having the right to commit suicide, Mr. Black," the chairman commented. "He objects to having the right to commit homicide."

"You referred to the gentlemen's agreement having no teeth. There are plenty of teeth in this act. I think I prefer the gentlemen's agreement." The rally provoked laughter in the hall.

J. A. Grant, British Columbia markets commissioner, gave a survey of the fruit and vegetable industry and supported the request for an imposition of a seasonal tariff on fruit. He pictured the competition facing Pacific Coast producers, in growing asparagus and cantaloupe, from Walla Walla, Wash., and declared that, if the British Columbia growers were to enjoy the domestic markets, the United States products should be shut out by a tariff. The Americans grow their product at a lower cost than the Canadians. He asked for an upward revision of the tariff on apricots, strawberries and rhubarb.

Paul Fisher, representing the Ontario fruit growers, reviewed the condition of the fruit industry in Ontario, picturing it as in a bad way. H. Emery, of the Greater Canadian Fruit Jobbers, and W. J. McCarroll of the same organization, both supported the application.

Hon. Mr. Barrow's Views "The British Columbia Market Control Act will be extended to all lines of production in the interests of producers and consumers alike if my hopes are realized," said Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture, at the annual luncheon of the B.C. Seed Potato Growers' Association, held on Friday at Hastings Park.

Opposition to the act, added Mr. Barrow, came more from shippers than growers and from some who pose as growers. The great bulk of the growers were in favor of the act and wanted it continued and extended. Great efforts were being made, he said, to get publicity for one side of the case and create an impression in the minds of the public that the act was detrimental to the consumer.

"Proper control of the marketing of farm products is as much in the interests of the consumer as the producer," continued the minister. "We are faced with the fact that there has always been a class of people who have made their living by handling the products of farmers. Today they are reluctant to give up the hold they have had, and it is from them that we can expect opposition. Some of the loud-voiced complaints come from persons who are only mildly interested as growers, and very much interested as shippers."

"100 Per Cent. Co-operative" "In visiting the apple show," added Mr. Barrow, "I was impressed with the slogan over the Kelodan district exhibit: 'One hundred per cent. co-operative.' I am told that Kelodan is one of the most prosperous districts in the Okanagan, because of co-operation. "That there has been 100 per cent. co-operation all over the agricultural districts, and an equal opportunity for everyone, there would have been no need of a market control act. It was because there is always a certain percentage of persons who will not co-operate with their neighbors, but prefer to stand aside and then take advantage of the market conditions created by the co-operative body without contributing to the cost of the work that we had to legislate for the protection of the whole. Unfortunately, it is necessary to have some kind of coercive measure to keep that small minority in line. "I fully believe," continued the minister, "that it is only a matter of a short time before similar legislation to our own will be in effect all over the continent. Our act here is being watched all over America. If it continues to work as well as it has started, it will be adopted in some form in many provinces and states which are already enquiring of us and asking for information. It is a growth of the age and eventually the welfare of consumer and producer alike will compel its universal adoption in order that there may be stability in the marketing of foodstuffs."

In the Okanagan "There is an attempt being made to show that the healthy state of affairs existing in the fruit belt this year is not the result of the Market Control Act, but due to other causes. The public is told that there is a 'small crop in the Okanagan, and that, act or no act, the price of apples would be satisfactory in such a case. As a matter of fact, the crop is from 80 to 85 per cent of what it was last year, which was an extra large crop; this year there is a fair average crop in the Okanagan."

"What about the raspberry growers? They are operating without the benefit of the Market Control Act," and they are in a sad plight. They have tried for years to co-operate, but their efforts have failed to produce the results desired, largely because of a minority who will not co-operate. This year, as usual, they were inclined to blame imagined imports of American berries as the cause of their trouble, but I attended a meeting of the growers, at which Market Commissioner Grant told them American berries had not entered into conditions at all. The chaotic condition of the market was due entirely to their own internal competition, and shipping on consignment to a jobber in Calgary, who was interested only in getting his commission."

"Mr. Grant told them in my presence," the minister added, "that at a meeting of brokers in Calgary, who desired to stabilize the market, this jobber had said that if the brokers set a price of $3.15 he would sell for $3. Asked if the other brokers would agree to a rate of $3, whether he would abide by it, he had said he would then sell for $2.85."

Where Blame Rested "That is what goes on where market control is absent, and there were berry growers in the room who had shipped to that jobber. Grant told them that they could not blame American berries, for there were none on the market, and said they were not such fools on the other side of the line to ship into such a chaotic market."

"British Columbia's Market Control Act is this year governing the output of the fruit belt, and getting good distribution, fair to all concerned. We produce 4,000 cars of fruit annually, on the average; the average prairie consumption is 2,500 cars; the remainder must be exported. "That surplus of 1,500 cars of fruit must be shipped out of the country and every shipper in the province will have to bear a proportionate share of that amount and take a chance on what it will bring. Fortunately the British market is fairly good this year and the returns on the exported quantity should be considerable. Scope of System "I am convinced that the same system we have adopted here will work out just as well in the United States, but we can amend it from year to year as we gain experience in its administration until it finally becomes as effective for the public good as it was designed to be. The opposition is coming from the same sources which have always been opposed to any system of market stability through any method. "In connection with potato shipments, we hear complaint from the Ashcroft district which is more in the nature of the voice of a shipper or dealer than that of a grower," concluded the minister.

Duncan, B.C. — Vancouver Island's sheep fair, the first of its kind ever held in British Columbia, brought some 340 sheep entries together and a fine wool exhibit. Provincial authorities drew attention to the suitability of logged-off lands for sheep runs, stating that 63,000 acres had been logged off in the past year in the coast district, of which 30,000 acres were on Vancouver Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Oudmore and daughter moved back to their home in town after spending a few weeks in the Eddy home on the upper benches. This unexpected heavy fall of snow and cold weather made it impossible for Mr. Oudmore to make the trip up and down by auto.

Douglas Elliott spent a few days at home this week recuperating from a slight illness. His brother Gerald took his place on the Sicomous during his absence. He went back to work again Wednesday.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS
Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is not timber land, i.e., carrying over 5000 board feet per acre and the Coast Range, and 8000 feet per acre east of that range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be exercised for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE
Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land, $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

HOMESITE LEASES
Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES
For grazing and industrial purposes, areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person, or a company.

GRAZING
Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued, based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLES

(By AUTOLYCUS)

It has often been said that Charles Dickens "invented" Christmas, a saying which has its foundation in the sudden popularity attained by his famous books of which "The Christmas Carol" was the first. These books took the world by storm, and brought about a revival of the annual season which had been to a great extent neglected. Dickens "invented" Christmas in the same sense as the Prince Consort "invented" the Christmas tree by introducing it to England. And it is worth noting that both phrases have their roots in the love of children. The Christmas tree is essentially the children's fairyland, and children are the all in all where the Dickens books are concerned. This, by the way, is largely true in all his writings; he touches on children's doings with an insight which shows how he regarded them. He said once, "If any man should tell me seriously that he did not like children, I should take the liberty of disbelieving him." And all Dickens readers know Little Nell, Paul Dombey, Pip, Johnny, and Oliver Twist, as well as though they had met them the flesh. As for "Jo" and "Tiny Tim" they are household words.

Coming back to Christmas: there is one thing concerning the Dickens books dealing with that season which seems rather curious, and might be worth pointing out. That is the prominence given to "The Carol." "The Chimes" and "The Cricket on the Hearth," and the apparent neglect of that other series of stories issued at Christmas in the years between 1854-67. Most of these were, I think, published as Christmas numbers of "All the Year Round" and include "The Seven Poor Travellers," "The Holly Tree Inn," "Somebody's Luggage," "Mrs. Lirriper's Lodgings," "Doctor Marigold's Prescriptions," "Mugby Junction" and "No Throughfare." These stories are not nearly so familiar to the reading public as the "Carol" series, but in them will be found Dickens at his best. (In passing I would say that this will also apply to the same writer's series of sketches known as "The Uncommercial Traveller," which contain some of the most delightful reading.) "The Seven Poor Travellers" was the first in order of these, and I think gives us the most amazing picture of a Christmas gathering. It is built on an old bequest made by a citizen of Rochester in the county of Kent, and in it Dickens gives free rein to his whimsical treatment.

PRICES ISSUED FOR NEW FORD

Touring to Sell Here at About $675—Tudor $840

Penticton, B.C.—An indication of what the price of the new Ford car will be in Penticton was given in the arrival here this week of the factory prices. They show an increase of only $15 at the factory for the new Tudor sedan over the old Tudor, with an increase of $50 for the Fordor and $30 for the ordinary touring. On account of the fact that it is expected only five cars can be loaded in a railway coach instead of six of the old model, one should add about $25 to the increases here, plus sales tax. That will about represent the extra addition to put on here.

Take the Ford roadster, for instance. The old factory price was $460 and the old price here was $595. The factory price of the new car is $495, an increase of $35.

The phaeton touring originally sold at the factory for $480 and sold here for $615. The new car will sell at the factory for $510, an increase of $30. It will probably sell here for about $675.

The Model T coupe sold at the factory for $460 and here at $765. The new coupe will sell at the factory for $490, plus sales tax.

The new sport coupe is to sell factory price $710, plus sales tax. The old Tudor sold at the factory for $625 and here for $780. The new Tudor will leave the factory at $640 and might be expected to sell here at about $840.

The Fordor originally sold at the factory for $690 and here at $845. The new Fordor will leave the factory at $740 and might sell here at about $940.

The original factory price of the passenger chassis was $370, selling here at $500. The new one will sell at the factory at $390, plus tax.

The old light delivery left the factory at $470 and sold here at $607. The new car will leave the factory at $510, plus tax.

The truck chassis sold at the factory at $460 and here at $647.50. The new chassis will sell at the factory at $555, plus tax.

So great is the demand for cars that it is understood the Ford company is requiring all its dealers to have signed orders for machines, in order that those may be first served who have actual customers ready. Thus dealers are only getting cars for persons who have given them signed orders.

A new Tudor is to be on display at the showroom of W. T. Blair Ltd. on December 22, 23 and 24.

TOLMIE FAVORS SOUTHERN ROAD Says Cariboo Highway Too Far North for This District

Princeton, Dec. 15.—At his recent meeting here, Hon. Dr. Tolmie, provincial Conservative leader, came out unreservedly in favor of the building of a southern transprovincial highway. It was absolutely necessary, he said, in the interests of the southern portion of the province. The Cariboo road, he added, was too far north to be of any benefit to the people in the south. He also stated a third transprovincial highway should be built for the accommodation of the people farther north; one in the vicinity of the Canadian National Railway.

Mr. W. A. McKenzie, Similkameen member, went on record as claiming that the Fraser Canyon highway from Hope to Spences Bridge, estimated by highly paid government engineers to cost one and a quarter millions, would cost not less than three millions. He was decidedly in favor of taking road construction out of the government's hands and placing it in the hands of a capable road commission.

NARAMATA

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade, held on Wednesday evening, inaugurated a series of addresses hoped for during the winter months, Mr. J. W. Jones, M.L.A., being the speaker on this occasion. The subject of his address was "The ten great discoveries of mankind," and the speaker tabulated them as follows: The triangle; the taboo, or thou shalt not; speech; fire; domestication of animals; cultivation of soil; control of water; writing; money; and abolition of distances. In the course of his very interesting paper Mr. Jones traced the development of man from primeval times, and showed how these discoveries were made over vast periods of time, and marked the slow growth of the human race. He pointed out that some of them naturally overlapped and were still in a state of transition, as for example the abolition of distances by the aeroplane. The address was followed with great interest by the audience, and the chairman's call for a vote of thanks was heartily responded to.

The business of the board was transacted before the hour fixed for Mr. Jones' address, and included correspondence on various road matters, on being the closing of the "Smethurst crossing" in connection with this.

President Weaver read a letter from Mr. S. T. Elliott in reply to the board's protest, stating that Mr. Leir would make provision for any traffic necessary, and that the road would be reopened after his logging operations were finished. This was considered as meeting the case satisfactorily. It was decided to ask for the filling in of several bad corners near the Kenyon, Mitchell and Munro ranches, as they were a danger to traffic. The meeting closed at 9.45.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Robinson left for the Coast on Monday, and expect to be away for some months.

There were no services on Sunday, the inclement weather preventing the attendance of any but those living close. Rev. Mr. Aitchison came down at the appointed time; but found practically no congregation, and Rev. H. A. Solly found it impossible to negotiate the drifts between here and West Summerland.

Captain and Mrs. Languedoc went up on Monday by M.S. Pentowna, taking train at Kelowna for the first stage of their journey to Quebec, where they propose to spend the winter.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Geo. Cook on Wednesday, and completed arrangements for their annual bazaar to be held this week.

An exception to the adage that "youth will be served" was to be seen on Robinson avenue on Monday and succeeding days in the form of a certain car famous in Naramata under its title of "Flaming Youth." This car has seen much life in other climes, but evidently succumbed to the drifts of Sunday night, and stands on the highway, a melancholy spectacle of lost energy, not very far from its home, but alas! quite unable to get there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Robinson left for the Coast on Monday, and expect to be away for some months.

There were no services on Sunday, the inclement weather preventing the attendance of any but those living close. Rev. Mr. Aitchison came down at the appointed time; but found practically no congregation, and Rev. H. A. Solly found it impossible to negotiate the drifts between here and West Summerland.

Captain and Mrs. Languedoc went up on Monday by M.S. Pentowna, taking train at Kelowna for the first stage of their journey to Quebec, where they propose to spend the winter.

C.N.R. ALSO HAS ITS TROUBLES

Slide Occurs South of Vernon and One on Main Line

Vernon—Though 600 yards of rock slid onto the C.N.R. tracks south of Vernon, and was discovered at nine a.m. on Friday, the debris was all cleared away and the operation of trains was resumed at 11 o'clock the same night.

The slide occurred off some cliffs about mile 90, which is four and one-half miles south of Vernon. It was due to the action of the weather.

Twelve workmen were speedily on the scene under the direction of Roadmaster A. F. Wilson and using dynamite moved the overburden of rock into the lake.

Vernon people who had not heard of the slide were puzzled at the sounds of blasting which were heard frequently throughout the day on Friday.

An accident on the C.N.R. about 30 miles west of Lytton at 2.30 a.m. Tuesday fortunately was without loss of life. Though the engine and tender left the rails the other cars did not.

Passengers oat and west were delayed and about 20 for the Okanagan were hauled into Kamloops where they spent the night, arriving at their destination 24 hours later than they anticipated.

The accident was caused by a slide which the engineer and fireman noticed in time to jam on the emergency brakes and to jump. The engineer sustained what are thought to be minor injuries. The engine left the rails and plunged forward to a brink of a cliff about 800 feet high. There it hung until removed by a wrooking crew.

The eastbound train was switched about and backed up near to the slide across which the passengers, freight and mail were transferred after daylight. The cars on the eastbound train were then returned westward and the eastbound train eastward, making possible the resumption of traffic with the least possible delay.

GOOD SIZED YELL IS USED TO DRIVE OUT COUGAR UP VALLEY

Trinity Valley, B.C.—Any folks out in search of thrills and high adventure might do worse than take a walk along the Trinity Valley-Lumby roads just now. One of our young fellows met a dandy big cougar near the top of the Dorby hill. The cougar stood right across the road, front foot in one wheel rut and hind foot in the other. Tommy let out a good-sized yell, and Mr. Cougar forthwith despatched himself up a tree, leaving a free road to a very willing pair of heels. Another of our folks met two lynx on the same road, about the same time.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS AGAIN IN KELOWNA; IS ONLY SPORADIC CASE

Kelowna—What may be described as a sporadic outbreak of infantile paralysis occurred at Kelowna on Sunday. Two children of a Russhin family, a boy and a girl, of about six and seven years of age, were taken ill and the illness has been diagnosed as a mild case of infantile paralysis. The family came to Kelowna from Grand Fork about six weeks ago. The children had been attending the infant classes at the school. The rooms to which they had been going were closed and the children were not permitted to attend on Monday. The home has been quarantined and the children are said to be making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

When Dr. Carder visited the valley he said that there was a likelihood of sporadic cases for a considerable time.

Hickman, Alleged Slayer of Los Angeles Youngster is Captured in Oregon Town

BUT HE ADMITS KIDNAPPING GIRL

Tell-tale Gold Certificates Found in His Pocket

Taken After Race With Officer, He Denies Slaying

(Special to The Review) Pendleton, Oregon, Dec. 22.—Arrested at Echo, Oregon, near here, by Pendleton Chief of Police Gardane and Traffic Officer Buckle Allen, E. H. Hickman, alleged fiend who kidnapped and killed Marion Parker in Los Angeles last week, is in jail here under heavy guard.

He was caught at about 1.30 after a spectacular race with the police car on the Portland-Oregon road. He confessed that he knew Parker and that he had kidnapped the girl, but said the killing was the work of a fiend not himself, who had strangled her by means of a wire on Friday. No anaesthetic was used, he said.

The murder was not committed in the Bellevue Apartments, Los Angeles, he said, and he knew the murderer but he did not give any name.

"I did the kidnapping because I wanted the money to pay my way through college," he said.

The officers found $100 in the tell-tale gold certificates in his pockets.

(Special to The Review) Seattle, Dec. 22.—Arrest of William Edward Hickman, suspected of being "The Fox," slayer of 12-year-old Marion Parker of Los Angeles, had been expected mainly as a result of the gradually tightening dragnet thrown out for him by police in half a dozen northwest cities.

The fiend-killer was reported to be hiding in Seattle and every access of escape was under close guard. He was said to have been identified positively last night after paying for some clothes in a downtown store with a $20 bill which was part of the ransom paid to the Los Angeles kidnapper by Perry Parker, father of the murdered girl.

During the last 12 hours, Hickman was reported to have been seen in Tacoma, Portland and Spokane.

Hickman was recognized last night shortly after he entered a Seattle haberdashery and purchased a pair of black gloves and a suit of underwear. He tendered a $20 gold certificate in payment.

When he left, Geo. V. Willoughby, the proprietor, had a "hunch" that the face of his customer was familiar. He called the police, and gave them the serial number on the bill, and was informed by detectives that it was one of the certificates that Perry Parker had paid the kidnapper when the man delivered to him the body of his daughter. Virtual martial law was declared here. Squads of armed policemen were placed at the five bridges which lead out of the city. Other squads were stationed at every road that leads out of the city. The docks and the depots were patrolled.

Hickman had cashed another identified $20 bill at Kent, Washington, 15 miles south of Seattle, according to the police. He was paying for gas. Two youths whom he picked up and gave a ride to south of Portland said he asked how far it was to Canada and how big a town Vancouver was.

Los Angeles, Dec. 22.—Mistaken for "The Fox," a prisoner in the city prison was lynched by fellow prisoners last night. Ralph McCoy had been arrested downtown after a store robbery. Somewhat resembling Edward Hickman, the man was threatened by a street mob before police rescued him and rushed him into the city prison tank, where he was locked up with three scores of other prisoners. Two hours later his lifeless body was found hanging by a silk scarf suspended by a regulation hangman's noose.

Victorian Sportsman Is Mangled by Elephant

Nairobi, Kenya, British East Africa, Dec. 21.—William Judd, African sportsman, known throughout the big game world for his prowess in the hunting field for thirty years, was charged by an infuriated, wounded elephant, which mangled him, his son battled vainly to save him. Young Judd finally killed the animal but the veteran hunter was dead when his son reached his side.

Victoria and Vancouver Mecca for Tourists

THE LIONS, VANCOUVER

PENDRAY'S GARDENS, VICTORIA

Victoria, capital of British Columbia, is a city of rare charm with its beautiful drives and residential sections, its first class golf courses to which access is easily obtained by the player, its unique Chinese quarter, its turbaned Hindus, its ivy-covered Empress Hotel and its imposing parliament buildings. Both the Victoria Golf Club and the Colwood Golf and Country Club have entertained thousands of guests in a single year, and golfers stopping at the Empress may play at both upon payment of a small "greens" fee. Victoria is noted for its magnificent drives leading through beautiful streets, along the ocean's shores and far into the interior of the island.

Victoria is at the southern tip of Vancouver Island, named after Captain George Vancouver, of the British Navy, who discovered it in 1792. Its trees—among them the stately Douglas fir which towers 300 feet above the roads over which the traveller glides, are magnificent, some of them being 6 or 7 feet in diameter. Century-old cedars and gnarled oaks of great age are conspicuous features of the landscape, and miles of gorse, or Scotch broom, line the highways.

Like Victoria, Vancouver has been a wonderful road builder and has hundreds of miles of splendid automobile roads of the finest macadam. Vancouver is surrounded by towering mountains and the famous "Lions," twin snow-capped peaks, are one of the many scenic beauties of a most enterprising, hustling and interesting city. The "Lions," also called the "Lions' Gate" and the "Two Sisters," tower 6,500 feet above Vancouver, and an Indian legend has it that as long as the "Two Sisters" stand guard over

BLACK REPORTS ON EVIDENCE AT TARIFF BOARD

Control Chairman Says that Whole Case Was Reviewed

MET THE FARMERS FROM MANITOBA

Suggests That Prairie Women Visit B. C. Fruit Areas

Kelowna, Dec. 20.—Mr. F. M. Black, chairman of the Committee of Direction, returned on Monday evening from Ottawa and prairie points, well satisfied with the manner in which the case for the B.C. fruit growers had been presented at Ottawa, notwithstanding an impression that Mr. W. H. Moore, chairman of the Tariff Board, had been somewhat brusque in its reception.

The press reports were very brief, considering that the case occupied about two hours, of which one and one-half hours were occupied with the major presentation. This was contained in a written brief, copy of which will be available soon for publication. The reports featured the oral tempo remarks of the chairman rather than the lengthy series of facts laid before the board.

In opening, Mr. Black compared the Committee of Direction with the Railway Commission which, in effect, controls the sale of transportation, and then traced the needs of the fruit industry and the conditions leading up to the legislation and formation of the committee; also its principal duties and activities, supplemented by illustrations as to the way certain crops had been placed on the market and the cost to the producer of getting them there.

Considered the Market Mr. Black stressed the fact that prices had to be such as would permit highly perishable commodities to move into consumption at the times when they were ready and that they could not be stored. Several illustrations of this were also given.

He also told the Tariff Board copies of all orders of the Committee of Direction; statements of movement of all crops; and of apples to markets in Eastern Canada; also statements showing prices charged by jobbers and retailers on prairies, compared with cost prices laid down, and a statement prepared by the fruit section of the Department of Agriculture showing that prices on British Columbia winter apples compared favorably with those charged in the United States.

Were Well Presented Expressions of opinion were that the operations of the committee had been well presented and some surprise was evinced that the chairman made such a strong pronouncement immediately at its close.

The press gave prominence to this, but it was not directed against the operations of the committee, to which, on the contrary, Chairman Moore was rather complimentary. He was concerned, he said, more particularly with the Act because it might not always be administered with regard to the interests of other provinces.

DISMISSAL IS VERDICT IN HUNTING ACCIDENT CASE

Britain Not to Add To Naval Programme, Declares King's Speech

(Special to The Review) London, Dec. 22.—The declaration that the British Government has no intention of embarking upon an increase to its naval building programme despite "the temporary failure" of the Geneva naval conference to reach a general agreement, was contained in the speech from the Throne at the prorogation of Parliament today until February 2.

Summerland Trial of Great Interest to Hunters in Valley

MISTOOK FRIEND FOR A PHEASANT

J. R. Sutherland Discharged, However by Magistrate

Magistrate G. J. Coulter White of Summerland has given his decision in the recent case brought there by the provincial police in a shooting accident. J. R. Sutherland, who shot his friend, Jack Blewett, in mistake for a pheasant, painfully wounding him, was discharged in court.

The magistrate's finding reads: "Before giving judgment on this case I wish to review it and offer a few remarks.

"The defence admits the shooting of Blewett by the accused, and that there was bodily harm is clear. That, while sufficiently serious, might easily have been more so, for a shot might have blinded an eye or done other injury, and so was serious in its possibilities. The question of intent is not to be considered as it was admittedly an accident and because of the relation of the two parties and the sympathy and subsequent care given by accused, the main point of the charge is the question of neglect—did accused neglect to use proper care; was he justified in shooting under the circumstances? The defence, as I understand it, is that the colors of the clothing and the white berries on the bushes moving together were sufficient excuse to deceive and so warrant shooting. Also that the accused took the precaution of hesitating and taking a second look, and that the injured party was away from where he agreed to be.

"If shooting is allowed in residential districts where children and others are apt to be about, extra precaution should be taken so that no mistakes are made. The accused had a dog which might have been used to raise the supposed bird, and I understand that sportsmen prefer to shoot with the bird on the wing. While there was undoubtedly contributing negligence on the part of Blewett in leaving the agreed direction without warning the accused, and he therefore in a measure brought upon himself the injuries received, yet one cannot but realize the possibility of a third party being in a position to receive the man with a gun. I do not wish to have the feelings of the accused, but I think it is desirable to place before the public the danger of shooting game within the residential part of the municipality, and that not to take proper or even extreme precaution may result in a crime with severe penalties attached. There has been too much careless shooting here, and there have been fatal consequences in other places. The legal department of the government instituted these proceedings as it felt that steps must be taken to check shooting that endangers human life and to make people realize the need of taking more care. The department, I believe, treats all alike. If nothing more were accomplished than to call public attention to the fact that people can be called to account for such accidents and that they are not to be let go unnoticed, some good will have been accomplished.

"In view of the fact that Jack Blewett, the party shot and mentioned in the information, was not more seriously injured, and that he was largely to blame for the shooting by not staying in the arranged plan of action; and as the accused, J. R. Sutherland, has already suffered much mental anguish and been to much expense and inconvenience, because of this unfortunate affair, and has voluntarily made what reparation he could, and surrenders a valuable gun; and in view of the part he took in the Marine Gun Corps throughout the whole of the Great War, and his years of suffering and disability ever since, and that in this matter I have decided to give him the benefit of the doubt in regard to the matter of neglect and to dismiss the case against him and give him an honorable discharge. No costs allowed."

During the past four months, the following have visited the Summerland hospital:

Dr. Parker, of Seattle; Mrs. Van Allen; Miss Van Allen; Dr. Jennings, of Calgary; Dr. Marlon Hockley, of Zennora Medical Mission; Dr. Lamb, of Vancouver, inspector of hospitals.

NEW CLUB AND NEW LEADER

Musical Society Formed With Strong Membership

There was a very good turnout to the meeting on Monday night to discuss the prospect for work of a chorus for the Musical Festival and concert.

The committee chosen at the meeting two weeks ago reported that there were 45 voices agreeable to attending and they felt that this could be easily increased to 60 or 65.

As to the leader, it was finally decided to ask Mr. Macrae of Kelowna if he would undertake the leadership and arrange a miscellaneous programme for the winter's practice.

The new society was organized to be known as the Summerland Musical Society, with W. C. Kelley as president; Mrs. T. W. Booth, secretary, and an executive committee composed of T. G. Beavis, T. P. Thornber and Mrs. D. L. Sutherland.

Rebel Spud Grower Closes His Retail Business at Coast

Vancouver, Dec. 21.—W. H. Hammond, the Ashcroft rebel potato donator, was forced to close his retail potato business here because the city charged him a $50 a week license for a transient trader. If he had owned property in Vancouver and indicated his intention to continue in business for a year or more, he would have been charged $25 a year.

To any he will try to meet those conditions in the New Year. Since retarding by a producer does not come under the scope of the Committee of Direction, he has so far broken no regulations, it is stated. His first day's sale was of some 200 bags.

JOY AND PEACE---A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Two wondrous notes sounded out prominently at the first Christmas—Joy and Peace. An angel of the Lord said: "Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people," and a multitude of the heavenly host sang: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men in whom He is well pleased."

How much joy has come down the ages since both at the Christmas season and because what it brings to the world throughout the years. There is great joy at Christmas for all people, for as the rain falls and the sun shines on just and unjust alike, so Christmas joys come to saint and sinner. Its influence is felt and its joys participated in for foreign lands and by foreigners in our own land who do not fully accept the Christian religion.

Christmas brings recollections of our childhood, for it is especially a children's day. It is well if we can remember enough of our own childish joy so that we can appreciate and contribute to the joys of children. Even if it requires sacrifice, the children should have their joy made full. It is well, however, to remember that this is not accomplished by a multitude of gifts but by thoughtfulness in giving so that there may be proper appreciation of what is received.

A great truth revealed by Him whose birthday made Christmas, was that "It is more blessed to give than to receive. Observing this will greatly enhance Christmas joy, and it is well if we can add to the joy of the children by cultivating the same in them. There are many worse off than most of them with whom they may share. They may also be encouraged to make or earn gifts for others which will be more appreciated because they have put themselves into these, and the giving of which will mean more to them than mere handed-on presents. At any rate children should be allowed to do their own shopping and in this way put thought into their gifts.

It is not alone through our children that we may get the joy of giving. There are many needing cheer at this time whom we may reach through organized charities like the Santa Claus fund of the city dailies, or the mission centres in our cities, or some lonely or sick ones in our own neighborhood to whom we may bring good cheer. Also a special gift at Christmas to our local hospital or churches would bring good cheer to their managers as well as to the givers.

Another great principle of the Christ may well be emphasized at this season of good will and be a guide to help us make a joyous Christmas, viz the Golden Rule—"All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye so to them."

The second note that was sounded as a message or promise on that first Christmas, was more limited in its application as we learn from the Revised Version, and from history. The Christmas message has made for peace and in the fullness of time we shall have perfect peace, and today amid all the armaments and other endeavors to keep the peace, and prepare for war, the world longs for peace—an assured, permanent peace—with a deep, strong yearning. Many homes would have greater Christmas joy but for war. Men are coming to see as never before, the destructiveness, futility and awfulness of war. Great efforts are being made to assure a continuance of the Peace which is so general at this time. By the treaty of Locarno the nations signing it agreed to appeal any dispute to the League of Nations, and since Locarno there have been forty-one individual treaties pledging to settle all disputes in a peaceful way. Labor strikes are not so frequent nor so terrible as they were, and great efforts are being put forth to make peace between employers and employees. Permanent and universal peace would usher in great joy to the world. Joy, happiness, fun, we all want. Let us frown upon all war and not glory in it, but encourage every effort for peace. If, curbing selfishness, we would enter into the true spirit of Christmas and with heart and effort, self sacrifice, if necessary, seek to bring great joy and peace to as many as possible, we may best do so by taking up and entering into the true meaning of the song of the Heavenly host praising God and saying:

"Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace among men in whom he is well pleased."

"SANTA'S DEPPITY"

(By Edgar W. Aldredge)

Frolic skipped and played in the old room. In front of the fireplace was a wreath of holly, and nearby hung a child's stocking, with a note pinned to it. Outside the wind shook the old house with the final fury of a dying blizzard. The clock chimed the witching hour. Down the stairs came a tiny figure in a white sleeper suit, under her arms two parcels of equal size.

"Oooh, it's dark and cold! But Nanna said Santa Claus might miss Mamma and Daddy this year if I didn't 'member them for him." Softly the child opened one of the two doors leading out of the big room, coming out a few seconds later minus one parcel.

"That's Daddy's. Gee, I do hope Mamma won't wake up. I'll have to be pretty quiet." The youngster gently opened the second door and tiptoed into the room. Softly she stole out again, her errand accomplished. But not so successfully as she supposed, for the woman had been weeping, and her pillow wet with tears, had at last sunk into troubled slumber. The tiny disturbance of the child's exit was sufficient to rouse her. Dimly she sensed someone had been in the room. Then she saw the parcel hanging on the bedpost. Weeping she slipped it. Inside was a note pinned to it in a child's handwriting. "To Daddy's Deppity".

Stiffening the so throat, she knew the child had slipped too into the next door parcel for the door. Hurr-kimono she opened main room.

Dr. Allan Harris Sends Christmas Letter from Paris

19 Boulevard Jourdan,
 Paris XIVc.
 November 27, 1927.

My dear Walter:
 Have just realized it was time I was keeping my promise to you and writing before Christmas, so here we are. You didn't give me any idea what you wanted so really don't know what you need—and I am afraid that this will be a rather rambling epistle.

I would like to give you my impressions of Paris, but it wouldn't be fair to Paris. No one has any right to attempt to describe Paris after having been here for so short a time as I have. I can say, however, that so far I have been like the other Canadians—namely, wonderfully impressed for the first week, then fed up utterly—and then a gradual liking for the place which grows with one as one begins to assimilate the language. So just at present I am liking it more and more.

Thanks to good friends in Summerland, I did not arrive here a total stranger. I was met at Havre, and also at Paris, which was a boon, as the French one learns in school and the French that is spoken in Paris are two entirely different things, and at first there seems no sense nor reason to the string of sounds which is poured at you. Unless one is sure of one's French, I have found that it is much better to make a request (which is not improbable) than one may make use of one's French vocabulary, but the torrent that usually comes back at one makes one forget what one was after.

The restaurants are the places where a good command of French is vital. If one sees a sign "English Spoken" outside a restaurant, it is usually a good place to avoid, because, judging from the price list, one gets the impression that it is necessary to pay for the education of the person who speaks English. On the other hand, the menus are usually written, and I defy anybody to read them. At first I found I was very fortunate in simply pointing at something on the menu, but one day, desiring a change, I pointed at something else, and to my dismay received some very high-powered sea food that raised its voice to the heaven. Fortunately, however, thanks to some friends, I now am spared the restaurant hazard.

The place where I stay, the Maison Canadienne, is part of a group of magnificent buildings, built by different nations for their students, and forming what is known as the Cité Universitaire. The Canadian house is simply magnificent, in that there is every convenience, but it is rather a shock to find that no English is spoken there. Our of thirty-nine in residence, five of us are English-speaking, the others are all from Quebec, and they rather regard us as foreigners. They are Canadians, we are English. I was rather indignant at the doorkeeper when he asked me how it was I didn't speak the Canadian language.

The same applies to the Canadian commissioners at Paris. There one feels also that one is an outcast if one speaks English, and must sneak in the corner to read an English newspaper, etc. So far as I can see it, I much prefer frequenting the American clubs than our own for that reason. The other English-speaking students feel the same as I do, and that is that little or no accommodation is made for non-French speaking students. However, he that as may, they certainly are in the majority here, and perhaps it is good for us, but if we want to hear our native tongue we go to the U.S.

I am not even going to attempt to describe Paris. The only way one can describe it is by seeing it. I have seen really nothing. True, I was at a banquet given by the French government at the Palace of Versailles, which simply took your breath away with its magnificence, in such a palace. Likewise at the Chateau Chantilly, while the Seance at the Pantheon with the massed choirs and orchestra of the Conservatory was absolutely indescribable. You see, I was delegate from U.B.C. at the centenary of Berthelot, hence the celebrations, and I shan't forget it. The climax came when we delegates were received by the president of the République at the Champs Elysees.

So I really haven't done too badly for a start. The opera here is gorgeous, and to one starved for music as we are in the West, it is a real treat. The same goes for the orchestras—they are grand.

Everything is so different, though, that it will really take a year or two to fully assimilate one's impressions. The wonderful things in the way of art are overwhelming. The city is full of beautiful things, but are showing sadly the mark of time. The Sorbonne, where I work, is a magnificent place. Even the chemistry lecture room is covered with paintings. I believe there are 23,000 students registered this year at the University of Paris, making it the largest in the world, and 14,000 are foreign, so one can see the contribution the French people are making to education, because the fees are very small.

True, the laboratories can't begin to compare with ours, but as the director of the American University Union here said to me, "brains make up for a lot of inadequacy."
 Well, must close, Walter. Am certainly going to be benefitted by my sojourn here, but expect I will be glad to get back to the "hills" again shortly. Things are really quite expensive here, even with the dollar. It must be very hard on the French, who I find are the absolute essence of hospitality. Hope the Review is prospering.

Kindest regards and Merry Christmas to everybody.

Sincerely,
 ALLEN HARRIS.

 Tears filled eyes that usually were veiled in steel. One thing was certain, the child must not be disappointed. He must exchange parcels with the woman in the next room.
 Could he face her after what had happened? He must. There was no other way if the child was not to be disappointed. Summoning all his courage, he opened the door, and stood spellbound. On the floor crouched the woman, sobbing piteously, the stocking in her hands.
 To his unspoken question she replied by handing him the stocking and its accompanying note, which read:
 "Dear Santy Claws, Nanny says Mummy and Daddy are not going to live together any more. She says Daddy is going away one Mummy wants him to. And Mummy told me today, to that Daddy was Going away. Dear Santy, I don't mind about presents if I can keep my Mummy and Daddy. I'll do w/out things in my stocking if you'll let me have them both.
 Your Deputy,

 Silently, tear-filled eyes met tear-filled eyes. Tenderly, reverently almost, the man gathered the woman in his arms—and Toodles' faith in Santy was confirmed.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, Review:
Sir:—In view of the special nature of the picture the Rialto is showing Christmas week, the 27th and 28th, in "Les Miserables", portraying the life of Jean Valjean, I take the liberty of suggesting to parents that they and their children see the picture. Jean Valjean is one of the greatest characters of all literature, and the events in his life so thrilling that the story makes a strong appeal to all classes, and this of the highest kind. We hear much criticism of frothy pictures, which ought to support a high class one, when our Mr. Lockwood shows the enterprise of producing such an exemplary picture as above.

PEACHLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wilson are enjoying a visit from their son Frank, who came in from the prairie last week-end to spend a few weeks here with his parents.

Mr. Burkett Robinson is in town this week, having come back to the valley last week.

Arthur and George White came in from the Coast this week and are visiting their parents for the Christmas season.

Rev. H. A. Solly of Summerland was able to make it through by car on Sunday last to hold the regular service in St. Margaret's church here.

Franklin Elliott drove Rev. T. A. Sadler to Westbank for his afternoon service on Sunday last, taking a team and sleigh.

Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Dorland returned home last week after a short visit to Vancouver.

Mr. J. L. Elliott and sons started in on Tuesday of this week to break trail into their wood yard after having been snowed out since the heavy fall.

Preparations are under way for three Christmas tree entertainments to be held in town during the Christmas week. The first is to be the community Christmas tree under the auspices of the Women's Institute on Friday evening next. The Union Sunday school expects to hold a Christmas and missionary pageant on Thursday, December 29, and the Baptist Sunday school is arranging for a school supper, tree and short programme. Both schools are going to have "white gifts for the King" brought in on the occasion of their entertainment.

Despite the quantity of snow still on the main roads, there are a number of cars making their way through, and the stage is making its regular trips through town. The Hewlett truck from Westbank made a trip over the road from the ferry wharf to Peachland last week with a double-flange snow plow built under the truck, which made quite an improvement on the road. We understand there were some Westfolk made it by car to attend a dance which was held here in the G.W.V.A. hall on Friday evening last.

The local shop windows have recently taken on quite a Christmas appearance and are showing many appetizing delicacies.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

A newspaper reporter in St. John gave the results of an interview with Mr. R. Pollock, who was just sailing for the British Isles to negotiate further marketing plans for apples. The report gave Summerland quite a "write up", one sentence reading, "Summerland shippers take care that none but No. 1 apples are shipped, and the result has been to give them an exclusive and growing trade." Another reporter in the same city had it that Summerland can get as much for a 40-pound box of apples as is secured for a whole barrel of New Brunswick apples.

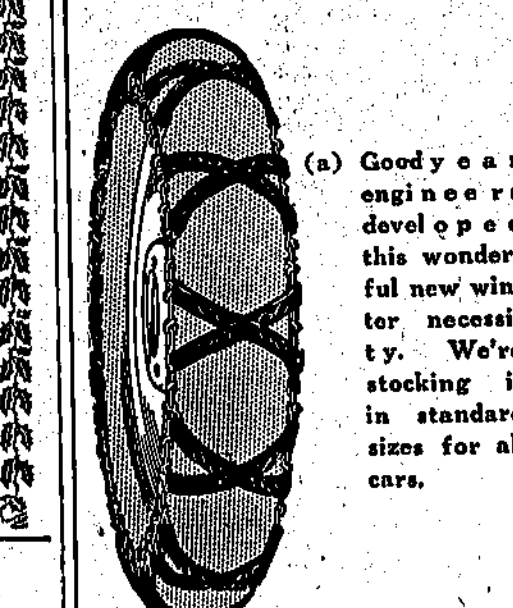

Mr. J. H. Scofield, who was living on Jones Flat, was one of Summerland's newest citizens. He was a very interesting speaker, who told of the early days of pioneering in the West. He was scheduled to give a story of his experience connected with his first trip west, and of his early days with the R.N.W.M.P. At that time there were but two white women in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and but 500 white men.

Open day at the town school was celebrated by a programme provided by the children under the guidance of their teacher, Miss A. E. Williams. They had an enrolment of about 25.

Mr. M. S. Middleton had just returned from Chicago where Summerland apples had made such a good showing. "Thousands of visitors," he said, "thronged the main building where the B.C. exhibit was displayed in a commanding position, occupying sev-

Months of care to make PURE and Wholesome Beer

THE wholesome beers made for the people of British Columbia by the Vancouver Breweries Ltd., Rainier Brewing Co. of Canada Ltd., Westminster Brewery Ltd., Silver Spring Brewery Ltd., Victoria Phoenix Brewery Co. Ltd., are not made in a day or a week. There are months of care before the high grade grains, choice hops and pure mountain water become the brilliant and full flavored beverage that is PURE BEER.

All beers made by the above Breweries are fully fermented and aged for months before they reach the public. They will not continue to ferment after you drink them; they do not cause the ill that hastily made, badly prepared and half fermented "HOMEBREWS" are responsible for.

Drink only pure beers and preserve your health

FEAR HIGH WATER WILL MAKE LAKESHORE ROAD IMPASSABLE

Kelowna—At a recent council meeting the mayor reported in regard to an interview between representatives of the council, the executive of the Board of Trade and Mr. W. K. Gwyer, provincial district engineer, in reference to control of the flood water of Mission Creek, and a letter was submitted, written by Mr. F. W. Groves, C.E., to Mr. Gwyer, embodying his recommendations as to the action to be taken. Mr. Groves, in company with Mr. Grote Stirling, M.P., and City Engineer Blakeborough, at the request of the Kelowna Board of Trade, had examined the channel of Mission Creek on December 13, from a point about one-third of a mile above the K.L.O. bridge for a distance of about two and one-half miles down the creek. As the result, Mr. Groves and his colleagues arrived at the unanimous opinion that it was imperative to take steps to confine Mission Creek to its regular channel in view of the almost certain occurrence of unduly high water in the stream next year, so as to prevent it from breaking its banks and cutting new channels.

SNOW CAUSES ROAD TROUBLE

Fire Protection Must Take New Form—Road Signs Arranged For

More difficulties were encountered this week with the Soldier Settlement Board, by the council. The Board evidently has a peculiar way of looking at things, especially as to its obligations to municipalities where they have holdings. The municipal law reads that all rates in arrears must be charged at 8 per cent, and the S.S.B. tendered its cheque at 6 per cent. The council was not long in passing a motion to refuse the cheque, have it returned, and request the Board to send one for the correct amount, drawing its attention to the legislation governing the matter.

Japanese Oranges for Canadian Christmas

Rather more than four oranges for every man, woman and child in Canada or a total of 482,000 boxes of this fragrant fruit were landed at Pier "B-C" of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Vancouver in December, and were rushed through the prairie provinces and to the east of Canada for the Christmas trade. Photograph shows the first of these C.P.R. trains across Canada leaving the pier on its rush east. Three more trains followed it at short intervals from the pier, and in all seven special trains were used to convey this huge consignment. The likelihood is therefore pretty strong that many of the oranges you may see hanging from Christmas trees or peeping out of Christmas stockings were grown in the Land of the Rising Sun. It further an indication of the great trade passing through the port of Vancouver.

1927 As Seen and Reported In Columns of The Review

ELLISON HALL REPORT GIVEN

Annual Meeting of Agricultural Association Has Small Attendance

The annual general meeting of the Summerland Agricultural Association held last Thursday afternoon was very sparsely attended considering the large membership of over two hundred. The president, Mr. H. C. Mellor, outlined to the meeting the association's activities of the past three months, and said that, soon after the fire which caused the loss of Empire Hall in June, the Summerland Board of Trade took up the matter of a new hall in detail, finally passing on what information they procured to the municipal council for action. The council lost no time in finding out its position in the matter. That body, through the Municipal Act, could not vote monies for the building of a new hall, but a suggestion was made to the Agricultural Association that, if the directors were agreeable to put the Ellison Hall in such shape that it could be used for community purposes, they (the council) were willing to help in every way possible. This proposal was finally agreed upon and today we have a community hall which is a credit to any community.

Local Farmers Institute and B.C. E.G.A. Held a Meeting in the G.W.V.A. Hall to Discuss the Future of the Fruit Marketing Plans for the Province and Appointed Delegates for a Meeting Planned to be Held at Kelowna.

Jan. 7.—Two local naturalists, Eric Tait and Bert Simpson, with S. A. Liddell, took a bird census of Summerland. Two thousand seven hundred birds were seen on this one day. Many others, of course, they wouldn't notice.

Work was started on the erection of the Cenotaph on the high school grounds to commemorate the work of Summerland men who lost their lives in the Great War.

Jan. 10.—Three thousand attend the big Experimental Station annual picnic and sports day. Sale of purebred Jerseys brought over $3,000 to the club. F. M. Black, chairman of the new Control Board, addressed the large gathering.

Cold Weather Rules Over All the West (Special to The Review)

Vancouver, Dec. 30.—Bitter cold reigns in Western Canada as the old year goes out. Edmonton was 30 below during the night and temperatures of 10 to 25 below were general on the prairies. Kamloops was 16 below, Quesnel 48 below, Victoria had 14 degrees of frost, and Vancouver 22 degrees. No relief is in sight, says the weather bureau.

RUNAWAY PLAYS HAVOC WITH CAR

Horse Drags Shafts Which Strike Auto—Occupants Unhurt

An unusual accident for an autoist happened on Tuesday afternoon when G. J. C. White and Mrs. White were going home from West Summerland. R. Atkinson's horse had broken away from its sleigh, which had struck a snow-covered stone. It took the shafts and part of the sleigh with it. As the horse ran, this paraphernalia kept swinging from side to side. Mr. White saw the horse coming and drew off to the side of the road, by F. Nixon's, to let it pass. Just as the horse got by the car, the shafts caught the hind mudguard, tore the rear seat out, wrenched off the top, which pulled the windshield till, under the pressure, it crashed into small pieces and fell in on the occupants, without doing them any injury, nor were they hurt in any other way.

FOUND DEAD ON ROADSIDE

Japanese Who Had Been Walking Home Wednesday Fell in Snow

Driving home on Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Jackson, just after they had passed Geo. Doherty's place, noticed a man lying in the snow on the road. Mr. Jackson stopped the car and when he got to the man he found that he was dead. He recognized him as J. Shimizu, a Japanese, who lives on Jones Place. The man had been troubled with heart failure and the conclusion was that walking up the steep hill against the strong wind on heavy roads had brought on an attack which caused his death. An inquest was held on Thursday afternoon. He leaves a wife and four small children.

OBITUARY

The Christmas season was saddened for his many friends by the death on Friday morning, December 23, of Mr. H. J. Sanderson. Coming to Summerland in 1921, in the hope of regaining health, he engaged in business as soon as strength permitted, as manager of the Poultry Association and handler of food and supplies. In both capacities he was unsparring of his efforts for those he served, giving too freely for his own good, of strength and interest. During the past year, though at many times unable to attend his place of business, his executive ability was so well exercised that his chair or bed that most satisfactory service was maintained.

MEALS GIVEN CLUB WINNERS

Both Poultry Clubs Made Excellent Showing This Year

At the closing exercises at Central school on Thursday last, those boys and girls interested in the poultry club work during the year were presented with the prizes they had won. Two bronze medals, donated by the Department of Agriculture, were presented, one to Sadi Purves and one to James Clark, by Mrs. Solly of the school board.

OVERFLOW CAUSES TROUBLE

Difficulty had been experienced with Enoas Creek overflowing. The water at the Garnet Valley dam was running over the spillway and as the running water it overflowed. This was now down as far as Victoria Gardens and was causing trouble there. It finally asked for instructions as to what he should do in case there was further trouble. Sufficient men were to be put on to help him.

NEW CHEVROLET TO MAKE ITS BOW TO PENTICTON IN JANUARY

Larger Car at Lower Price is the Promise Given

Grand Forks Garage Expects Models in Few Weeks

January will see the arrival of the new Chevrolet in Penticton. It is expected to be a radical change from existing models, being a larger car with many improvements. It will also sell at a price about $50 lower than the present Chev. This is the information now in the possession of the Grand Forks garage, Chevrolet dealers here.

Models are expected here about January 10, and the first new models will probably arrive some time between January 15 and the end of the month. The following article on the car is from the Okanagan Independent. Apparently deliveries there will be a week or two earlier than on this side of the line. The Independent says: Promising the most spectacular low priced automobile of all time, the Chevrolet Motor Company announces today that a complete new line of motor cars will be introduced to the public January 1. In confirming reports that Chevrolet would very shortly introduce a new car of surpassing interest, W. S. Knudson, president of the Chevrolet Motor Company, declared that the official announcement covering all details of Chevrolet's sensational new product would come Sunday, January 1. No details will be available until that time, he said.

Are Now in Production Chevrolet assembly plants have been in production on the new car since December 12. Factories in Flint, Mich.; Tarrytown, N.Y.; St. Louis, Mo.; Oakland, Calif.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Janesville, Wis., and Norwood, Ohio, have been humming with activity preparing for the highways the first of the new cars that promise to make motor car history in 1928.

Shipments of the new cars to dealers have been leaving the various assembly plants since December 15, so that the vast country-wide dealer organization may be prepared for the introductory showing next Sunday. Unbridled enthusiasm is being displayed over the new cars by Chevrolet field sales officials, who have been milling into Detroit for private showings of the new line.

Practically every Chevrolet dealer ready for public inspection January 1. From Bangor, Me., to San Diego, and from Miami to Vancouver there will be simultaneous exhibitions of the new car that has caused so much discussion in the last few months.

This gigantic distribution achievement of supplying thousands of dealers with cars in such a brief space of time was made possible only through the far-reaching policy of the Chevrolet organization and the tremendous resources and production facilities of the Chevrolet Motor Company. Never in this history of one make have been placed in dealers' hands in such a limited space of time.

Cars will be ready for the boulevards and highways immediately after the first of the year. Production at the various plants throughout the United States is racing along as fast as precision manufacturing will permit.

Many Improvements Unofficial reports from the Chevrolet offices at Detroit say that the new car will embody many improvements in design and construction. New standards of beauty are promised. Easier handling and smoother riding qualities are heralded as some of the outstanding features of the new Chevrolet line.

Many looked for changes have been made in the appearance of the car, according to reports, providing the new Chevrolet with a beauty and style appeal unexampled in the low price field. Without disclosing details, Chevrolet officials declared that the new cars would embody the results of 13 years' experience and progress in the building of low priced transportation. Lessons learned from millions of miles of testing on the General Motors' proving ground have been brought to bear on the new product, officials declared. In fact all the resources of General Motors have been employed for months to design and build the car that is heralded to be a wide margin the greatest automobile ever offered by Chevrolet.

More than 5,500 newspapers across the entire country will assist through their advertising columns in broadcasting the announcement, which will take the form of one of the most comprehensive advertising campaigns ever attempted in the automobile industry. Every city, town and hamlet in the country will read the details of the 1928 Chevrolet on New Year's Day.

New Year's Customs
New Years Day has been celebrated as a religious holiday since the Julian reformation of the calendar. Coming the eighth day after Christmas, it is celebrated by the church of various denominations as Christ's circumcision.

In many countries it is made more a time of rejoicing and exchange of presents as we do on Christmas. The Jews, Egyptians, Chinese, Mohammedans and Romans differed from us as to the day on which they began their year, all made the first day of their year a special time of celebration. European countries make more of the day religiously than we do. The Chinese have an excellent custom of seeing that all bills are paid on or before that day—otherwise a Chinese could

NEW OPPORTUNITY TO ENTER THE AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS

One of the world's largest and oldest automobile manufacturers is establishing dealers to sell a new six-cylinder closed car which will list at

$995 f.o.b. Canadian factory

Other models of this same manufacturer range in price up to $235. They will all be available to the dealers who handle this new popular priced car. There is in addition a complete line of commercial cars.

In communities of small size, however, you need contract only for the fast-selling low-priced model.

Only moderate capital needed to Start Business
A contract has been worked out to enable dealers to get started representing this new car with only a small investment.

No such favorable franchise has ever before been offered by any manufacturer
If you believe that you have the ability to sell in your community an automobile that is destined to be the sensation of 1928—a closed car that will offer for $995 a beautiful exterior, lacquered in the latest fashionable shades, an interior luxuriously upholstered, arm rests, ash receiver, gasoline gauge on the dash, coincidental lock to steering end ignition, steering wheel control of twin-beam headlights, rear vision mirror, automatic windshield cleaner, and similar refinements—proved power to maintain high speed indefinitely—quality construction throughout—if you are able to sell such a car in your community, send in the attached coupon at once.

not feel his honor was clean. Surely the Oriental can teach the Occidental something of immense business and social value there.

Father Time's Party
One way to entertain New Year's Eve is with a "Father Time" party. The invitations may be sent out with some such jingle as this:

"Father Time's party's
The LAST of December
At 8 o'clock sharp,
And he wants YOU, REMEMBER!"
(Come dressed as a holiday;
There will be games to play.)

A little clock with the hands pointing to the hour of 8 would decorate the card on which the verse is written—or printed. Your newspaper editor will know the proper type and style for it. The costumes should be kept secret, as a surprise element to the entertainment. April Fool's Day would be a clown in high dunes cap; Uncle Sam would represent the 4th of July; George Washington his birthday; a ghost, perhaps with pumpkin head, for Halloween; or a witch; a Pilgrim, Thanksgiving, and so on. When all the guests are assembled, they may step forward one at a time, and the others write down what they think the costume represents, on cards decorated with Father Time's hour glass, and a tiny programme pencil attached. The prize for the best list might be a pen knife to represent Father Time's sickle.

Molasses Taffy
Where there are children, taffy is always a welcome part of the entertainment "eats". A round bottomed kettle, iron or copper, will be best for the boiling; lacking this, a granite one in which there is no chipping of the enamel. Put in 3 tablespoons of butter, melt, and add 2 cups molasses and 2 1/2 cup sugar and stir till the sugar is all dissolved. Boil, first without stirring, then when it approaches the "crack" stage, stir constantly until it will become brittle when dropped in cold water. Add 1 tablespoon vinegar and take immediately from the fire and pour into a well-buttered pan. When it is cool enough to handle, pull it till it is porous and light colored. If pulled just with the tips of fingers and thumbs, not with palms, it "blonds" quickly and is much better. Big shears or a sharp knife will cut it in bits, onto a buttered platter, and set to cool.

Westphalia Ham
A recipe over 200 years old for making the famous Westphalia Hams is as follows: "Take a Peck of Bay-Salt, 4 ounces of Salt-petre, and 5 ounces of brown sugar; put as much water to it as will bear eggs, and then put in

Jean and Jeanie are Scotch contractions of Johanna, which is translated, "Grace of the Lord." Keeldara is a Scottish name, "lass of the battle-army." Letitia means gaily, happiness or gladness. Marcella, a name greatly loved in Ireland, is one of several feminine forms of Mark, and means "disciplinarian," and is therefore appropriate for a child intended for the school teacher's duties. Nona is "the ninth" girl. Pernel, English feminine of Peter, is "stone."

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is not timber land, i.e., carrying over 5000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range, and 8000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE
Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land, $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

HOMESITE LEASES
Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES
For grazing and industrial purposes, areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING
Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued, based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLES

(By AUTOLYCUS)

The revised prayer-book controversy in England has so many angles of approach that it must of necessity be a never-ending matter so far as person at all views are concerned. Every individual has his or her own particular convictions, and will look at the issues involved, in the light of those convictions. To the low church disciple there is no doubt a scheme tending to reunion with the Roman Church, underlying the revision, while to the high church enthusiast there is nothing more than a return to observances which the reformers of three hundred years ago swept away in an excess of zeal. When we analyze the changes suggested in the new prayer-book, we find a good deal to support the high church view, since the only change which can be called doctrinal is that which calls for the reservation of the bread and wine used in the communion service. This practice would necessarily assume a belief in that change which used to be known, and bitterly argued upon, as transubstantiation. Apart from that, the changes appear to be such as could easily be accepted by churchmen of every shade of feeling as being lawful, so long as they are not obligatory on those who dislike them. Objections to incense, vestments, candles and decorations on the altar, are purely personal, and do not involve matters of doctrine—moreover, they are entirely optional. As a matter of fact, the Church of England is admittedly broadminded in such things, and there is room for all shades of opinion within her jurisdiction. Even the Athanasian Creed, that lurid flame of dissension, may be discarded at the option of the individual—a very wise provision, by the way. But the matter of the reservation is a clear element of doctrine, and this was, no doubt, the stumbling block in the House of Commons. If this is deleted, and the resulting revision again brought forward, it will probably be accepted by Parliament. But that evidently will not satisfy its critics, some of whom are already breaking through the law of the church in the matter, and therein lies the root of the trouble which is certainly in store. The spectacle of a church in which the clergy simply defy its authority is not a pleasing one, but it is just one more instance of diverse beliefs in religious matters, and is certainly not at all unusual.

the birthday fete of a German grand duke." Philip Wakem, the character who thus breaks the bonds of convention, is represented as a musician of parts, and I imagine that George Eliot was herself of the same way of thinking, and put her own impression in Wakem's words. I must admit that I was delighted to come across the passage, as it expresses very well just what I have always felt. Philip and I may be rank Philistines, but we are not repentant—at any rate, I'm not. A more drastic and sweeping dictum, uttered by some caustic professor, unnamed, and quoted by Sir Henry Wood recently, is very funny. A "tenor," quoth this iconoclast, "is not a voice, but a disease." There is a delightful vigor about this saying, and I can imagine the speaker to have been a much tried man. But it is hard to reconcile with Mark Twain's pronouncement that "a tenor is the most conceited of all God's creatures." Of the two, maybe Mark is nearer right than the professor!

der the auspices of the Women's Institute, was held in the G.W.V.A. Hall on Friday evening of last week. There was a large attendance. The programme was supplied by the younger children and was very much appreciated by the audience. The various numbers displayed quite a variety of coming talent among the rising generation of the community. After the programme, Santa appeared in all his pomp and glory, much to the satisfaction and delight of the younger set especially, although he had cheer for everyone. In fact he handed out bags for every member of the community who could be found. There were some things like 35 names on the list, and 400 bags had been prepared. The evening saw the crowd disperse in cheerful humor.

After a pleasant couple of weeks spent in Peachland visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wilson, and other members of his family, Mr. Frank Wilson left on Tuesday morning to return to his home in Alberta.

World of Politics

(By an Ex-Writer of the Ottawa Press Gallery.)

Outside the province of British Columbia where the situation is clouded, the outlook for the approaching year does not indicate much political excitement. There is no Dominion election in sight this side of 1930 and nearly all the provincial legislatures and governments are likely to continue to function throughout 1928. British Columbia may be an exception, but as to that there will be no definite indication this side of the session of the Legislature, commencing January 24. Surface indications would appear to show that there will be a provincial election sometime during the summer although, should the MacLean Government survive the session, it may be disposed to hold on for the full five years of the Legislature's legal tenure of life. As a rule, however, governments do not do this because such a course is generally interpreted by the electorate as an admission of lack of confidence on the part of a government in its ability to again secure a mandate from the people. The meeting of the Dominion House will find both the Liberal and Conservative parties in better fettle than for some years. It must be generally admitted by fair-minded Canadian, as it has been admitted by some of our outstanding Canadian writers in recent months, that the Mackenzie King Government has gained considerably in the last general election. Mr. King has grown in political stature and is now credited with being a much more able leader and man than he was thought to be even two years ago. Apart from that, he has been fortunate in having the support of several able and level-headed colleagues who have assisted him in guiding the ship of state under favorable circumstances. In almost every branch of industrial activity there has been pronounced development in the past two years, due largely to the big crops harvested by prairie farmers and the high price level of wheat. Addressing a liberal gathering in Vancouver, the other day, Mr. Nicholas, editor of the Victoria Times, a man who spent several years at Ottawa when private secretary of the late Hon. William Templeman, pointed out with a considerable degree of truth that Mr. King has faced and come through greater difficulties than were encountered by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at any stage of his political career. He has been the first and only Canadian premier compelled, by stress of circumstances, to govern Canada without a party majority in the House of Commons, and with a large hostile majority in the Senate, and this during a period of general depression. When this is considered, it must be admitted that there is good ground for the opinion advanced by Mr. Nicholas on behalf of the Dominion premier.

NOMINATION NEWS

As it is getting close to nomination day we have been gathering up the bits of talk about town on possible candidates, and at the present time it looks as though Summerland is going to have a real lively time of it, especially in electing a Reeve. From the way things are shaping now, there are likely to be several candidates in the field for the honor.

This year Councillors Bristow and Arkell retire, but are eligible for nomination to the Reeve's chair or council. H. Bristow has served the municipality a long time and last year said he might consider running as Reeve, if he were nominated in 1928. He has informed us, on being asked, that if the citizens wish to honor him in this way he would accept nomination for the Reeve's chair.

Rumor has it also that, if requested, Councillor O. G. Smith would resign from the council and contest the election of Reeve.

Reeve Johnston, on being asked if he would be a candidate again this year, said he had definitely decided to accept nomination and will stand for election to the Reeve's office again.

One more candidate would put the community with the same number of candidates as our neighbors in Pentiction, and we believe that Councillor Arkell will be able to arrange his plans so that he will be available for nomination. He has served a number of years as councillor, giving the municipality a very generous share of his time, and as Reeve would work just as faithfully.

So far for councillors we hear of only two names. The lower town and Trout Creek have their candidate and have been persuading Mr. Fred Gartrell to represent them. He finally gave The Review to believe that he would comply with their request and accept nomination as councillor.

The younger voters and citizens are out looking for a man, and we hear that Keith Elliott has been spoken of, but hasn't taken the matter very seriously as yet.

What is stirring behind the scenes we have not been able to discover, but that there is something of importance in the offing there can be no doubt, and a really interesting nomination meeting is likely to be staged this year.

MORE ENERGY ON ROADS

Travellers on the road between Pentiction and Summerland are convinced that the provincial government has not given this section of highway the treatment which the traffic deserves.

Pentiction has lost a good deal of trade within the past few months because of poor road conditions there. First there was the slide at the Experimental Farm which was never coped with, and since that time heavy snow, which has been allowed to remain on many sections of the road, has also cut down travel to a marked extent.

House estimates shown in the figures recently produced at Princeton by W. A. McKenzie, Similkameen member, included an amount of $2,000 for the improvement of the highway between the two communities, but the money was not expended last year. Is it possible that the government has been holding it back for expending next season, which is presumably an election year?

Mr. McKenzie's estimates, which he obtained after they were tabled in the Legislature at the last session, show many large amounts for the Similkameen riding. But by no means all of them were put into practical effect. It is true that good work was done on Anarchist Mountain and on some of the road sections south of Pentiction, but the road from Princeton to Keremeos did not receive any appreciable portion of the sum allocated to it.

Writing this fall to Victoria on the question of expending the $2,000 on the Summerland road, Mr. McKenzie received in reply from the public works department a letter dated November 21 to the effect that good work had been done on the lakeshore road (presumably between Summerland and Peachland). And there was this conclusion to the epistle: "I think you will agree that the department has accomplished a great deal of satisfactory work in your district", which is hardly a complete answer to a request for the expending of the $2,000.

Writing later in regard to the road between Pentiction and Keremeos, the member was informed in reply that the district vote in Similkameen did not contain sufficient funds to allow the district engineer to keep this road open during the winter, and the department was not in a position to increase the district vote for the current fiscal year.

Fortunately, we have been informed, the department later found it possible to provide $250 to help in moving off some of the accumulated snow. But in the meantime traffic to and from Keremeos was almost entirely disrupted. People in this district are by no means fully satisfied with the road conditions which have obtained. It is declared that the Summerland road, for instance, was in a condition little short of disgraceful, during the months of October and November. If that is so, what about its condition in December?

It is stated that a small slide on the road, within the boundary of the Similkameen riding, remained there fourteen months.

The road to the south of Pentiction, that is to say to Kaledon, the Falls and Oliver, has not been at all inviting to travellers, particularly since the snowfall.

We all realize, of course, that this year's snow has been exceptional, but we also feel that the general situation might have been grappled with by the government in a much more energetic manner.

PEACHLAND

Mr. Williamson and son Orville left recently for the prairie, where they expected to spend the Christmas season with Mr. Williamson's daughter.

Mr. Cadmore and the Topkap Bros. held a very successful turkey shoot here just before Christmas and in spite of the day being rather chilly and slightly windy, there was a pretty good attendance. As is often the case, there was some real good shooting and some not quite so good. The following are the results: The 100-yard range with a two-inch bullet; J. H. Wilson, two bull's eyes, two turkeys; Wm. Hewlett of Westbank, two turkeys; Jim Clement, two turkeys; Al. Ruffe, one turkey; Grant Eddy, one turkey; Nell Evans, almost perfect score bull; one turkey; H. Painter, Westbank, one turkey; Teddy Smith, one turkey. Forty-yard range for ladies with 22 rifles, one round, for which there was a special white turkey; this was won by Mrs. J. H. Wilson. If the boys can get the fowl they are talking of putting on a chicken shoot this week for 22 rifles only.

The community Christmas tree, un-

Master Chris. Marjerison left last week-end to spend the festive season with relatives in Kamloops.

After a week's illness, Mr. Wm. Moore, of Westbank, a former resident of this community, passed away in the Kelowna hospital, and interment was made in the Westbank cemetery on Friday last. The service was conducted in the Anglican church and at the graveside by Rev. T. A. Sadler, of Peachland, after which members of the Peachland Orange Lodge, in which the deceased had been a member, conducted their regular graveside service and last rites. This had been Mr. Moore's request. Mr. Moore lived in this community for several years, having had charge of the Lambly Estate ranch at Trepanier Creek. Since leaving it he and Mrs. Moore with their grandsons, the Verey boys, have lived on their ranch by Powers Creek. James Moore of Pentiction is a son.

The teachers in the Trepanier and Central schools held their closing exercises for the Christmas holidays on Thursday of last week, when the pupils were given a pleasant treat during the afternoon. The high school teacher, Miss McDonald, and the public school teachers, Misses Stewart and Fraser, spent the holiday out of town.

Mrs. R. H. Huston left on Friday morning last for Vancouver, where she expected to spend the holiday season with her son and his wife.

Mrs. Trimble recently received the sad news of the death of her mother, and she immediately left to attend the funeral. Since she departed the other members of the family here received word that her son-in-law had dropped dead suddenly.

Among the home-coming Christmas

Several of the members of Tropanier Lodge A.F. & A.M. motored to Kelowna on Tuesday evening last to attend a special meeting.

After a lingering illness, the last few weeks of which was in the Summerland hospital, Mrs. Tom McLaughlin passed away on Monday afternoon last. The remains were brought home and interment made in the Peachland cemetery on Wednesday afternoon. The service was conducted from the church by Rev. T. A. Sadler. A large number of friends were present accompanying the remains to the cemetery. It was found impossible to make the hill with cars or trucks, and the funeral sleighs were available to take many up. The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. McLaughlin and little son Tommy, and the other relatives of the deceased.

A number of his friends provided a surprise party for Henry Wilson on Tuesday evening last, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

The Baptist Sunday school held its annual Christmas supper and entertainment on Wednesday evening last. The supper was served at 5:30 in the school hall, and was most enjoyable. The young members of the congregation were rewarded for their faithfulness and as a little token of cheer by being treated to the usual bag. The young folks of the congregation erected a nicely decorated tree and had the basement throughout suitably and beautifully decorated for the occasion.

NARAMATA

School closed for the Christmas holidays on Wednesday, the 21st, when many parents and friends assembled in the afternoon to participate in the entertainment given by the pupils under the able superintendence of Miss Baillie. The programme consisted of songs, choruses, recitations and a series of descriptive drills by the members of A and B classes, under the titles of Christmas Spelling, Arithmetic, Bells, Candles, and Messages. Mrs. Cargill, secretary to the school board, said a few words of appreciation, and Mr. F. Young, chairman, announced that school would not be opened the following day, as originally intended. A distribution of the good things generally welcomed by the young folks was a special feature of the afternoon. The programme was as follows: Choruses, Christmas Bells, Song of Christmas Greens, Star so Bright, 'Tis Christmas, and Away in a Manger; recitations by Zella Gunnald, Berenice Young, Margaret Nuttall, Edna Baker, Winnie, Margaret and Cathie Armet, Winnie, Margaret and Jack Cannon, Winnie, Margaret and Jack Millarship, Joy and Pat Stallard, Eileen Lynch, Barbara Hardman, Kathleen and Billy Ritchie, and Margaret Waltham. It is understood that Miss Clarke, principal, will not return after the vacation, owing to ill health.

The mail this Christmas has been exceptionally heavy, entailing long hours on the part of the postmaster, Mr. Bartlett, who comes up smiling the next morning, nevertheless.

Cyril and Eric Rayner are home from the Coast, and will spend a week or two with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Rayner.

The Christmas season was spent in family reunions in those cases permitted by time, tide and railway facilities. Some of the gathering reported are the following: Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Labrook of Pentiction at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Williams; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Weaver and family of Pentiction at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver; Mrs. Gray and daughter, with Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Hughes, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Noyes; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith at the Partridge home. Some of the celebrations were held on Saturday, while Monday was the favored day with others.

The Christmas service at the United church was well attended, Rev. Mr. Atchison officiating. Special music included a solo by Miss Lillian Raitt, and a chorus by a choir of young girls. Miss Alice Myers was organist. The church was nicely decorated.

Mrs. A. C. Lyons, Miss Florrie Lyons and Mr. E. Bate spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyons of Pentiction.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The first sound of locomotive whistles on the construction train was being heard daily, as the laying of steel approached the Trout Creek bridge. The locomotive was working within about a mile of the municipal limits. Direct connection to the Coast was the talk of the town as its realization was now so near.

An eight-game basketball schedule between the town and the college had been drawn up, and a game was to be played every Saturday alternately at the college gym and the town. Town boys captured the first game.

A number of the college students who did not have examinations were able to start for home, for the Christmas season. A number of new students were enrolled to start in with the opening after the New Year.

A committee of ladies was canvassing the district for a subscription to a petition to the provincial government, asking that the franchise be extended to women. It was understood that the women had the promise of the premier that if a petition bearing 20,000 signatures was presented to the government, that a bill would be laid before the House with the object of granting woman's suffrage.

CONSERVATIVES WILL BE STRONGER

Conservatives also will foregather when Parliament assembles in better spirits than they have been in since the defeat of the second Meighen administration. With a new leader and a more advanced political platform they will feel that the ground has at least been cleared for a foundation on which they can proceed to build, in preparation for the time when the Conservative party will again have an opportunity to take charge of Canadian affairs. It is too early to even guess when that is likely to be, but the approaching session of the Dominion House may give the electorate of Canada some idea of Hon. Mr. R. B. Bennett's capacity for leadership and the appeal his leadership is likely to make to the country at large. The Canadian people will keep a close eye on Mr. Bennett during the next few months. Since Mr. Bennett has made no political speeches, but during the past ten days he has addressed non-political gatherings of business men, both in Montreal and Toronto, and what he has said on both instances has undoubtedly made a favorable impression. For one thing it is apparent that Mr. Bennett will not persist in the mistaken idea, from which Mr. Meighen could never disentangle himself, that the country cannot possibly make progress while his political opponents are in office. Mr. Bennett made it clear that he is laboring under no such delusion. In his Toronto utterances he emphasized the prosperous state of the country, and painted a glowing picture of future possibilities, remarking that the present generation was born fifty years too soon to realize the real potentialities of this country. In his political addresses yet to be made, Mr. Bennett will doubtless argue that the great future for which the Dominion is heading could be more quickly achieved under Conservative rule. That line of argument is wholly permissible, but it is clear that he does not propose to assert that nothing but disaster faces the country should the people persist in keeping the Liberal Government in power for some years to come. Judging so far as is possible from his statements to date, Mr. Bennett's criticisms will be vigorous and along constructive lines, for the new Conservative leader has already demonstrated that he is capable of original thinking. Like Premier King, the Conservative leader is something of an idealist; like Mr. King also he has some capacity for realizing that there are two sides to most questions. Consequently, when Mr. King and Mr. Bennett face one another in the Dominion House we can look for more team-work in the true interests of Canada than we have witnessed since those two truly great Canadians and mutual friends, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden, were the party leaders in Canada.

HAMMOND BUMPS INTO MORE "CONTROL"

Throughout the "comic opera war" that has been waged by W. H. Hammond, the "rebel" Ashcroft potato grower, and his assistants and sympathizers against the Committee of Direction, a good deal has been said of the invasion of individual rights" by the control law. It has been noticeable, however, that when Mr. Hammond ranted a store in Vancouver and commenced to pull a "wild" shipper stunt by selling potatoes below retail market values (twenty-eight per cent. below, according to the Vancouver Star), he soon was made to realize that the city of Vancouver also has a "control" measure designed to protect retailers and to prevent individuals doing just as they please with their produce. Within twenty-four hours of opening his store, and before he had got nicely started on a selling plan that might have knocked the bottom out of the retail market and caused heavy losses to dealers, Mr. Hammond discovered that he was up against a prohibitive "control" regulation which would compel him to pay fifty dollars per week as a transient trader. Before he could sell potatoes in Vancouver, he was informed, he must invest in city property to the value of $2,000 and give an assurance that his business would be of a permanent character or pay the city $50 a week for a license. Mr. Hammond must have realized when he bumped into this regulation that he was certainly up against a new form of "control" with a vengeance, but he entered no protest, and had he done so, he would have got no sympathy from the people of Vancouver, or the more than a dozen other champions of the unrestricted right of the individual to do as he pleases regardless of the interests of the community, a real object lesson in unrestricted competition of the kind that interior producers have experienced for years and which was responsible for the enactment of the Produce Marketing Act and the large volume of public opinion back of that measure—its critics to the contrary notwithstanding.

SLASHING CRITICISM
George Elliott's "Mill on the Floor" expresses his opinion of Haydn's "Creation" in those daring words: "It has a sort of sugar-coated complacency and flattering inebriation in it, as if it were written for

CORRESPONDENCE

KEEPING ROADS OPEN Okanagan Mission, B.C., Dec. 19th, 1927.

Dear Sir: The enclosed cutting from the Kamloops Sentinel of Dec. 16th shows what can be done in keeping the roads open in winter.

Yours truly, B. T. HAVERFIELD.

Major Taylor, district engineer, has had a huge task on hand recently, the freeing of the public highways of their burden of snow, piled higher than for many years. Gangs of Public Works men have done great work on these and at last they are free for traffic and the country people say it is a boon to have them open again. In all, 103 miles were double plowed, making 206 in all. Work was even carried out all night in some cases.

Roads freed from snow are: Pritchard, Hefley Creek, Cherry Creek, practically to Merritt, Barnhartvale, Jamieson Creek and Traquille.

DOMESTIC SERVICE "What are you doing in the kitchen, Thomas?" inquired the inquisitive wife.

"I'm opening a can of tomatoes, if you particularly wish to know," he impatiently rejoined.

"And what are you opening it with?"

"Why, with a can-opener. Did you think I was using my teeth?" he added, savagely.

"Oh, no, dear," she sweetly replied, "but I know you are not opening it with prayer."
