Okanagan Growers Press Dominion To Save Fruit Industry

Okanagan fruit growers are pressing the Federal Department of Labor hard today in an effort to obtain some settlement of the 23-day-old strike of interior woodworkers operating under I.W.A.-C.I.O. union locals, to put the mills back into box shoo production so that the fruit and vegetable crops will not be ruined because of lack of containers. Despite all efforts by the agricultural industry, no progress has been made to date, and a serious crisis is facing the Okanagan.

Local Area Worst Hit In Valley

Provincial Labor Minister George Pearson has told the Okanagan growers that the strike is still under federal jurisdiction, although he would have sent a conciliator to the interior within a few hours if the Sloan recommendations had been accepted by the operators and strikers.

L. R. Stephens, secretary of the Box Shook committee of the B.C.F.G.A., told the Review this morning that following this advice from Mr. Pearson, his committee had implemented a grower request made on Tuesday in Kelowna and were pressing for action from federal authorities.

On Wednesday morning, W. Langmead, representing the striking I.W.A. unions in Zone 5, from Creston to Lytton, approached the new B.C.F.G.A. executive and proposed a three-week truce in the interior strike, in order that box shoo could be produced. But his first stipulation was that the fruit industry must agree to an increase of 25 cents per hour for wages, a 40-hour week and restricted measure of union security.

At first, Mr. Langmead was dealing for the Kelowna mill union but he later stated that this would apply to all striking mills. A restricted measure of union security was taken to mean that non-supporters of the strike in certain mills would be fired before the men went back to work.

Further, Mr. Langmead demanded that the growers support the unionists in all their demands if a conciliation board or some similar body or individual is sent to the interior to endeavor to settle the dispute.

These union suggestions were made prior to the announcement at Vancouver that the I.W.A. had turned down Chief Justice Sloan's recommendation for a wage increase of 15 cents per hour, a 44-hour week and voluntary checkoff.

Modify Demands Later in Wednesday discussions, the union demands were modified. Mr. Langmead then proposed to put to a vote of union locals that a three-week truce be called, provided the growers would guarantee a 15-cent per hour increase, a 40-hour week with time and a half for overtime, and with union security to be decided later.

Growers' representatives agreed to discuss this proposal with the mill operators, and with the Regional War Labor Board representative in Vancouver.

Both the operators, represented by S. M. Simpson, Kelowna, and the War Labor Board, turned down this proposal as being illegal. No truce is recognized by the latter body unless it is for a year, Mr. Stephens points out, according to P.C. 1003. Conciliation can only come about if the men go back to work on the original basis, with assurance that any change in status will be retroactive to the time of starting work, he states.

The B.C.F.G.A. therefore, had to turn down Mr. Langmead's union proposal.

Not Taking Sides "Jock" Stirling, newly elected growers' president, again pointed out to the union men that the fruit industry could not take sides in this dispute.

The growers' executive then contacted Mr. Pearson at Victoria, urging him to send an arbitrator to the interior, on the basis that the coast strike is entirely separate from that of the interior.

The B.C.F.G.A. had been told previously that any settlement on the basis of Justice Sloan's recommendations would not apply to the interior strikers and that an arbitrator would be sent here as soon as a favorable decision had been reached in the coast zone.

Mr. Pearson replied yesterday that since the union had turned down the Sloan plan, the entire question was still in federal control.

Growers have proceeded to press Ottawa for action in the face of the urgent need of box shoo to handle the Okanagan fruit crop.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ward are holidaying in Banff for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Underwood have returned from a motor trip of several months to Toledo, Ohio, and eastern points.

Miss Sheila Fitzpatrick is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Tait this week. Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, treasurer of the Rebekah Assembly of B.C., will leave this week-end to attend the Grand Lodge Session to be held at Chilliwack from June 11 to 13. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Carl Nesbitt, who is the delegate for Faith Rebekah Lodge No. 32, West Summerland.

Fruit Industry Will Spend $250,000 On Processing Plants

Interior tree fruit growers gave their association, the B.C.F.G.A., the "go-ahead" signal on Tuesday evening, in Kelowna, to purchase four Okanagan Valley processing plants, at a market value of more than a quarter million dollars and set up an operating company which will be known as B.C. Fruit Processors, Ltd.

The four plants coming under this new scheme will be the Modern Foods, Kelowna; Woodsdale, Vernon; Fruit Union, Co-operative Processing Association, Oliver, and T. B. Young's evaporating plant, West Summerland.

Total expenditure involved in this purchase will amount to $236,904.47, which will be borrowed from the Bank of Montreal and paid back at the rate of $50,000 per year, it was stated.

Free in Five Years In five years, it is expected, the entire indebtedness will be wiped out and the entire profits derived therefrom will revert to those growers who send cull apples to the plants.

Only cull apples will be handled, it is expected, and the growers who make it possible to pay off the indebtedness each year, by submitting their cull apples and other cull fruits, will be credited in a revolving trust fund. They will realize profits from this fund in the years after the bank has been paid off, from the continued profits of the processing plants.

For the first five years, one-fifth of the profits will go into the revolving fund, and these will be dispersed when the bank loan has been eliminated.

There are still some processing plant in the Okanagan not included in this scheme, but these are desirous of handling apples of a commercial value only and will not utilize culls, it is said.

In only one case, that of Modern Foods, will the property upon which the plants are placed, be purchased. Leases will be obtained at a rate of one dollar per acre in the other three instances.

Purchase Price. Purchase price of the plants follows: Oliver Processing, $62,616; T. B. Young's, $5,288.47; Woodsdale, $29,000, made up of $16,000 for the building and $13,000 for equipment; Modern Foods, K.G.E., Kelowna, $144,000.

In the latter instance, it was stated that the Kelowna Growers'

Exchange had agreed to an amount of $140,000 in the face of an offer from United States interests of $150,000.

G. A. Barrat, member of the Processing committee of the B.C.F.G.A., explained that it was not necessary to include T. B. Young's plant at Summerland in the deal, but it was being taken over as part of the policy of obtaining as many of the Valley plants as possible.

Grower Directors This company is a limited liability company and it had been proposed that five directors would be nominated. However, when voting time arrived, D. P. Fraser, of Osoyoos, proposed and the meeting agreed on a split vote, that the directorate be increased to seven. This involves a change in the articles of the company.

Also on Mr. Fraser's instigation, it was agreed that all directors must be registered growers, following the policy adopted in the control of B.C. Tree Fruits, Ltd.

With one exception, the Processing committee members will become directors of the B.C. Fruit Processors, limited. This one exception is Phil Stirling, of Vernon, a shipper representative who has done valuable work in lining up this deal, but who is automatically ruled out of the directorate as he is not a registered grower.

The other members, Messrs. C. C. Macdonald and A. G. DesBrisay, Penticton; W. R. Powell, Summerland; L. G. Butler, East Kelowna, and G. A. Barrat, representing the B.C. Fruit Board, were the first nominees for the directorate. Later, when Mr. Fraser's notice of motion was approved, L. Deighton, Oliver, and W. T. Cameron, Vernon, were added to the directorate.

It is anticipated that Mr. W. M. Vance, well-known manager of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange, will become the new manager of B. C. Fruit Processors, limited.

Last year, some 16,000 tons of cull apples were handled by these plants, while the year before, 17,000 tons were thus utilized.

In a formal resolution, moved by K. R. Young, of Okanagan Mission, the B.C.F.G.A. directors agreed to endorse the action of the B.C.F.G.A. Processing committee in forming the B.C. Fruit Processors, limited, to handle the other fruits.

Yale Member Sends Wishes

"I am interested to hear that on June 6th the first issue of 'The Summerland Review' will make its appearance," writes Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale, from Ottawa.

"It is a good many years since Summerland had a paper of its own and in that time a great expansion has taken place both in population and in activities, so that there is plenty of room for a weekly paper to look after Summerland's interests.

"The Summerland Review is owned and operated by two returned men who have spent most of their years, before going off to serve their country, in this Valley. They know its needs, they will further its interests, and I am glad to give their paper a warm welcome.

Licence In Legion Is Opposed

Having been turned down once by W. F. Kennedy, of the Liquor Control Board of B.C., Summerland branch of the Canadian Legion determined last night at a special meeting that it would continue to press for a club license for its premises in West Summerland.

Application was made some weeks ago to the liquor commissioner for a club license, but a petition opposing the measure was circulated by an interested group here and received a number of signatures.

In the face of this opposition, Mr. Kennedy determined that he could not grant the license application unless a plebiscite was taken in Summerland.

Legion executive here point out that they had no intention of putting the entire municipality to the cost of a plebiscite but merely wished a license for the benefit of their members and exclusive of the general public.

If a plebiscite is forced, it is claimed that this will have to be for the entire district and would mean voting on opening of municipality to the sale of beer from licensed hotels.

Mr. S. D. Thomas, Legion president, informed The Review this morning that a petition will be circulated in Summerland asking for support for a Legion club license.

If this petition receives sufficient support it will be sent to Mr. Kennedy in another effort to obtain a club license. If this second application is turned down, then the Legion intends to force a plebiscite involving the entire municipality, he said, which was never the original intention of the returned servicemen's organization, before the petition against the club license was circulated.

Hospital Auxiliaries

Delegates of hospital auxiliaries from all parts of the Okanagan met in Kelowna at the home of Mrs. D. M. Black on May 16. This meeting was for the purpose of forming a regional conference of hospital auxiliaries, and a delegate from this group will be sent to the annual provincial meeting, where she will give a report on the work of the various auxiliaries.

Several benefits are hoped to be gained this way, and it is also hoped that the excellent work of the hospital auxiliaries will be more widely recognized thereby.

Representatives from Summerland were: Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Mrs. R. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Eric Tait.

Reeve Powell Grooms New Publication

"It is with a great deal of pleasure that, as Reeve of the Municipality of Summerland, I welcome The Summerland Review to the business and public life of this community," declared W. R. Powell this week.

"I believe that this community will continue to expand as it has been doing for several years past and a newspaper is a definite need here right now."

"We have pleasant memories of past associations with the original Summerland Review, and if you can provide the community service which was performed 20 years ago, then both yourselves and the entire district will benefit," Mr. Powell continued.

"In your editorial columns we hope that you will express the needs of this community and be of assistance to the Municipal Council and other civic bodies in guiding the destinies of the place wherein we live."

"On behalf of myself and the entire Municipal Council, I wish you every success in your new endeavor," Reeve Powell concluded.

Rebirth Of Old Name Sanctioned

Renaming Summerland's new paper, The Summerland Review, was made possible by arrangement with R. J. McDougall, former editor of the Penticton Herald, which purchased The Summerland Review Printing & Publishing Co. Ltd. some twenty years ago.

The Summerland Review came into being in 1908 and was maintained until the late '20's, when it was gradually merged with the Penticton Herald.

Mr. McDougall, as liquidator of the Penticton Herald Printing & Publishing Co. Ltd., has agreed to the rebirth of the old name, on a friendly agreement with the new owners.

Fruit Board Is Re-elected

In just ten minutes members of the B.C. Fruit Board were re-elected, their chairman, G. A. Barrat, reappointed, salaries set and the auditor appointed, when delegates to the annual nomination convention of the Board met in the Orange hall in Kelowna, on Tuesday morning.

This set a new record for speed in growers' sessions in this Valley.

G. A. Barrat, of Kelowna; C. J. Huddleston, of Summerland, and P. E. French, of Vernon, were unanimously elected to their offices in the 13th election held since the B.C. Fruit Board was formed.

It was announced that there are now 3,505 registered growers belonging to the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, an increase of nearly four hundred in the past few months.

Remuneration for the Board was set at $3,000 for the chairman, Mr. Barrat, and $500 a year plus expenses for the other two members.

R. G. Rutherford and Co., Kelowna, was reappointed auditor for the current year.

Nuptials of Local Couple Interests Entire Valley

Members of two pioneer Summerland families were principals in the charming, though quiet wedding which was solemnized on Saturday, June 1st, at 12:30 noon, in the Holy Child Church, West Summerland, with Father Morris, of Penticton, officiating, when Sarah Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Guidi exchanged marriage vows with Hughie Albert (Bob), eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sriver.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an attractive, crepe afternoon gown of a soft shade of ash-of-roses, with black sequin trimming. Her corsage was of white and pink carnations and maidenhair fern, and she wore a smart white hat with white accessories.

The bride's attendant was her only sister, Miss Theresa Guidi, of Banff Springs, Alta., who was gown in turquoise crepe with white braid trimming, white hat and accessories.

The groom was attended by George Clark, while Bryce McNeely and Charles Betuzzi ushered. The church was simply, but beautifully decorated with roses as the predominating flower in an attractive floral arrangement. The wedding march was played by Mrs. J. Koster, of Penticton, and during the signing of the register the bride's cousin, Rudolf Guidi, of Oliver, sang Ave Maria, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. George Shorne, of Bridgeville.

Mr. Charles Stewart acted as chauffeur for the young couple.

Following the ceremony, a large reception was held at the Ellison Hall, with covers laid for 350 guests. Assisting the bride and groom in receiving their many guests from throughout the valley were the parents of the groom, (Continued on Page 7)

Scholarship Dance Here

Although the active Summerland branch of the U.B.C. Alumni Association has already collected a sum of $7,000 towards an annual scholarship fund, another $1,500 still has to be raised before an award of $250 per year can be made available.

Voluntary subscriptions have been responsible for raising this large sum of money from among the citizens of Summerland. When completed, Summerland high school graduates may be sent to the University with scholarships amounting to $250.

As a start towards raising this $1st $1,500 a gala dance is being held at the Ellison Hall on Friday, June 14. Saxie's Orchestra will provide the music.

STORES WILL CLOSE

As Monday, June 10, is a statutory holiday in honor of the King's Birthday, all retail stores in Summerland will be closed all day, it was announced by the Retail Merchants' Association yesterday morning. Government offices will also be closed, as well as the Bank of Montreal.

Hobby Show To Attract Many

With the aim of fostering hobbies among the younger generation, the A.O.T.S. is sponsoring its first Hobby Exhibition at the I.O.O.F. Hall, Granville Road, on Saturday, June 8. Doors will be open from 2 o'clock until 9 o'clock Saturday evening.

Along with the hobbies, an exhibition of fine arts will be included in the display. Special prizes are to be awarded for the children's hobbies, as an inducement for them to continue with their worth-while pursuit.

A short time ago, a service club sponsored a big Hobby Show at Vancouver and attracted enormous crowds for many days. The Summerland exhibition on Saturday is patterned along the same lines as the coast display.

MODIFIED PLAN OF POOLING IS GROWER IDEA

Agreement to carry on the present pooling arrangement on which returns to the growers are based, with modifications, and a greater spread between grades, in order that the grower will receive better returns for quality fruit, was reached by the annual nominating convention of the B.C.F.G.A. on Tuesday in Kelowna.

G. A. Barrat, Chairman of the Pooling Committee, led the discussion on pooling which occupied a goodly portion of Tuesday afternoon's debate. He stressed that it is necessary to maintain quality in apple production, and advocated the wider spread between returns on grades.

In making his presentation, Mr. Barrat was assisted by William Darrach, of the accountancy staff of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

After some discussion, it was agreed, on the motion of C. C. Sworder, Penticton, and F. C. Baker, Naramata, that the meeting recommend the five-year average system for basing apple pools be continued, modified annually after price ceilings are abolished, by dropping the earliest year's figures and adding market prices for the current year.

Included in this resolution, which met with unanimous director approval, was the proviso that study be given to the spreads between grades had in order to make such alterations as may provide a greater incentive to the grower to produce better grades.

It was pointed out that the spreads between grades had remained constant, in good years and poor return years, from 1927 until the past few years when price ceilings had been enforced.

Mr. Barrat had discussed these questions with nearly all growers' locals on his annual tours, but he had been careful not to make any definite recommendations to the growers at that time, he stated. He felt that the growers should make the recommendations, but in the Pooling Committee's opinion the industry would be best served by a "creeping" five-year average, once the price ceiling is lifted.

He pointed out that the better varieties of apples could have brought much higher returns if the price ceiling had been enforced in the past few years.

The present differential between grades shows 35 cents from cee to fancy and 25 cents from fancy to extra fancy.

The meeting was unanimous in the belief that every effort should be made to maintain a high quality pack, and felt that a bigger differential between cee and fancy would bring about this result, as at present there is little incentive from the returns for the grower to pay for fancy packing.

H. C. MacNeill, Peachland, pointed out that eastern growers are becoming aware of the necessity of producing more

FLUCTUATING ELECTRICITY IS FEARED FOR FALL

Summerland will be faced with another season of fluctuating electric current, the Council was informed on Monday afternoon, May 27, after hearing a letter from Lorne Campbell, West Kootenay Power and Light Company General Manager, that the voltage regulator ordered many months ago could not be delivered before September 30, and then not if existing labo conditions continued.

Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber shook his head sorrowfully when he was given this news.

"The voltage will be terrible this fall and will be a terrible strain on the transformers," he continued.

This voltage regulator will be obtained, if and when available, at a cost of slightly more than $1,000. It will control the primary voltage, which in turn controls the secondary voltage.

If the regulator does not arrive until the end of September the packing house work will be in full swing and the service cannot be shut off for even a few hours so disaster might result to the fruit.

Especially if there is to be a line change with the installation of the regulator, several days' shutdown of power service would result.

The Council ratified the purchase of five new transformers to increase the present stock of five transformers on hand. Mr. Thornber again stressed the council to add to its stock of electrical replacements, because of the serious shortage of materials everywhere.

He warned the Council that if it did not increase its stock on hand a serious situation could easily arise and materials would not be available for many weeks to remedy the breaks.

These transformers to be purchased will involve an expenditure of more than $600. Mr. Thornber originally asked for a transformer expenditure of approximately $1,200, but this was cut in half by the Council, on the suggestion of Reeve Powell.

quality apples and if the B.C. industry is not careful, those eastern growers will be catching up to the western product in quality.

Warn Cyclists of Transgressions

Cyclists in the Summerland area are due for a trip before Magistrate H. Sharman if they do not mend their ways. Constable H. Cartmell informed The Review this week.

Bicycles with no lights, riders two on a bike, and cyclists who ride on the wrong side of the road are offenders who will fall foul of the law if they do not rectify their mistakes, he states.

WANTED IRRIGATION

Mr. Allen Cameron, who recently purchased the R. Sutherland property, Peach Orchard, approached the Municipal Council on May 27, seeking irrigation water for one and a half acres. He was informed that the Council previously had an agreement with Mr. Sutherland that no irrigation would be supplied for this property and he was advised that a private system of his own, either by gravity or by pump from the creek would be the best solution to his problem.

EDITORIAL

Today, Thursday, June 6, The Summerland Review greets the citizens of Summerland for the first time. It is not as good as we would like to have it, but with the passing of time, we expect to improve. Such is progress.

Nearly twenty years have elapsed since Summerland boasted a weekly newspaper. Now, The Review expects to fill a gap in the every day life of the community which has been existant for a long time.

Short histories of the owners and publishers may be found in another column of this issue. We introduce ourselves at this time with a feeling of justifiable pride that two young men are rehabilitating themselves after five years' Army service and at the same time are providing this community with a much-needed service. Both the community and the owners are to reap the benefits.

The Review, because of mechanical limitations, will be a six column paper, published every Thursday morning. In time, we hope that a full-sized eight column paper will greet the readers of this district, but that will take time.

We are making a small start but we hope to expand. That will depend upon the goodwill of the merchants and business men with whom we deal. Summerland is renowned for its community spirit and we are depending upon just that spirit for our existence.

Summerland has expanded rapidly in the past few years. With a few more services in the community, this Municipality will be self-sufficient. It will not lack for any of the amenities of life. There will be no need for shoppers to go beyond the confines of the Municipality.

The Review hopes to assist Summerland in reaching that highly-satisfactory position: But it will need the help of the community. We can both work together for the common good of the place wherein we live and draw our means of subsistence.

From time to time, as the Review grows, we will make mistakes. Probably in this issue we have made a number of blunders. Nobody is infallible and least of all the publisher of a newspaper. He is at the mercy of every man, woman and child in the community he serves.

But constructive criticism can always be helpful if properly given and received in the proper manner. We hope to receive lots of constructive criticism as the issues roll by and if we are big enough to listen, then we will improve.

From time to time The Review will probably go overboard on a contentious subject. In fact, there are several contentious subjects which are facing this community right now, just about ready to burst upon the citizens.

The Review will probably take a definite stand on these subjects. In that way, bad friends will result. That will be too bad, because we are by nature friendly types. But if the publishers of The Review feel that the community as a whole will benefit from a definite stand, one way or another, then we are ready "to go out on a limb". That is the privilege of a community newspaper and if ever lost sight of, then the paper is lost, as well.

So, The Review intends to work for the good of Summerland and the neighboring districts on the west side of Okanagan Lake. We intend to work hard to make this community as self-sufficient as it is possible to do. It will not be an easy task, and many toes will probably be trampled somewhat, but in that way lies progress.

There are few persons in this district who are content to remain somnolent. Most of our readers, we are convinced, do not wish to mark time, but to stride forward. The Review intends to march along with the latter people.

So, we present the first edition of The Summerland Review. We are proud of our initial effort, but not too proud to notice its drawbacks. As long as we can maintain that attitude, we feel that we can progress.

THE "SUMMERLAND REVIEW"

(A reprint of an editorial in the May 30 issue of the Penticton Herald)

NEXT week, we understand, the "Summerland Review" will restore to our neighboring community a newspaper of its own.

This will hardly be a debut, for the "Review" was published a good many years ago and finally merged with the "Herald." But it will be the first entry into publication of J. R. "Tim" Armstrong and George Fudge, co-owners of this new venture, both of whom have recently been discharged from the army, and to whom we offer congratulations and every good wish.

Mr. Armstrong, who is to be the editor, knows the valley from end to end, and has "grown up" with its problems. A Pentictonite, he started with the "Herald," and was with the Kelowna "Courier" before joining the army and going overseas. Excellently equipped to interest the Okanagan as a whole, in this newspaper, he can be counted on to make the "Review" well worth watching beyond Summerland's boundaries.

Starting a newspaper these days is no slight task. There are difficulties for the largest of them, with the best of equipment all ready at their disposal. But Mr. Fudge, who is to be the manager and mechanical supervisor of the "Review," is still wearing

Introducing - - -

With the production of its initial issue The Review hastens to introduce to its readers the new publishers, Mr. J. R. Armstrong, who will assume the editorial duties of the paper, and Mr. G. R. B. Fudge, manager of the plant and in charge of the job printing department. The Review is entirely owned and controlled by these partners, who have incorporated the Summerland Review Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd., at the Legislative Buildings, Victoria. Herewith is a history of these two newcomers to the business life of Summerland and the surrounding territory.

The Editor--

A native of the Okanagan Valley, J. R. Armstrong was born in Penticton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Armstrong, pioneer residents of the Okanagan and Similkameen valleys. Throughout his life he has received the nickname of Tim.

Schooling was entirely obtained in the Penticton public and high schools, and it was in June, 1928, just after he graduated from junior matriculation that he obtained his employment as cub reporter on the Penticton Herald under Mr. R. J. McDougall. From then until 1936, when he was handling all the news on the Herald, he remained with that firm, going from there to the Kelowna Courier as news editor, in June of that year.

Mr. Armstrong remained with the Courier until the summer of 1941 when he joined the Canadian Army and received his officers' training at Gordon Head and Currie Barracks, Calgary. He returned to the Vernon Training Centre until March, 1925, when he returned to Currie Barracks to await draft for overseas.

In England, Mr. Armstrong went to the 49th Edmonton Regiment, later known as the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, as a reinforcement officer. Due to illness he missed the Sicilian campaign, but rejoined his regiment in Ortona on Christmas Day, 1943. It only took two days' action for Jerry to catch him with some shrapnel. In April he was back again and lasted throughout the rest of the Italian campaign until the latter part of October, when he succumbed to diphtheria and was hospitalized back to England and then to Canada. For the past year Mr. Armstrong has been with No. 9 Special Employment Coy., first in Vancouver Barracks (old Hotel Vancouver) and then at Seaforth Camp in Vancouver. He was retired from the Canadian Army last month.

From the time he commenced newspaper work with the Penticton Herald, Mr. Armstrong has taken an active part in civic and sport circles. He was secretary of the Penticton Baseball Club for six years, and was secretary of the old International Baseball League and later the South Okanagan Baseball League. He was secretary of the Penticton Basketball Club for some years and held the same post in the Interior Basketball Association.

In Kelowna, he assisted in the inauguration of the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade and served for one year as secretary of the B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce, attending the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce convention in Calgary in 1939 as an Okanagan-Main Line representative. Before joining the Army he was President of the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade.

While still in Penticton, Mr. Armstrong was accepted into the Penticton Gyro Club and when he moved to Kelowna became a member of the Gyro Club of that city, retaining his membership while on active service.

his characteristic smile. His home community, where he has long been a popular resident, should realize that he is really accomplishing the impossible in getting a newspaper out for it next week.

It would be hard to find so well-balanced a team of Okanagan young men to enter into an Okanagan newspaper venture, and Summerland which has long deserved its own home-owned and operated newspaper "voice" can consider itself fortunate.

The Manager--

Another Army veteran of five years' experience is George R. B. Fudge, who is better known to the public of this district, having been a resident of Summerland for extended periods since 1924.

It was 39 years ago that George Fudge was born in Bournemouth, England. His father died while George was a youngster and in 1924 he accompanied his mother, Mrs. F. Fudge and his older brother, Lionel, and sister, Zoe, to Canada, settling that same year in Summerland. Both Mr. Fudge and his brother have operated successful fruit orchards here for many years.

While still in his 'teens, Mr. Fudge started his newspaper work with the original Summerland Review, as an apprentice. Later he moved to Vernon, where he became a member of the mechanical staff of the Vernon News. From there he proceeded to Merritt, in 1928, when the present editor, Mr. E. B. Mayon, purchased the Merritt Herald. Mr. Fudge remained with the Herald until 1932, when he returned to the Okanagan to work on the Kelowna Courier and the Vernon News.

It was on Jan. 5, 1942, that Mr. Fudge joined the Canadian Army as a buck private and was sent to the Vernon Training Centre for his basic training. After two months there, he was retained on the instructional staff and in October 1942, was sent to Gordon Head and then Currie Barracks to receive his officers' training and graduate as a lieutenant. Because of age restrictions in vogue at that time, the Army would not send Mr. Fudge overseas, so he returned to the Vernon Training Centre as a platoon instructor. In early 1944 he was appointed to the Cadet Corps of Pacific Command and became Assistant Command Cadet Officer with the rank of Captain. His territory covered the Interior of B.C., and he became well and favorably known to the Cadet Corps which operated in the Interior schools.

Mr. Fudge's schooling was obtained in England at St. Bernard's and Lyndwood Hall. Six months after arriving in Summerland in the late fall of 1924, Mr. Fudge joined the Summerland Review.

Throughout the tennis and badminton world Mr. Fudge has been known as a champion for some years. On several occasions he carried off the Okanagan singles tennis championship and also annexed the mixed doubles crown. He has also held the Okanagan singles and men's doubles badminton championships numerous times. He has also been instrumental in assisting to keep the Summerland tennis and badminton clubs in operation for many years.

Besides being thoroughly acquainted with the mechanical requirements of a weekly newspaper printing shop, Mr. Fudge has a first-hand knowledge of the needs of agriculturists as he has operated a ten-acre fruit orchard in Summerland for many years.

Box Factory Operators And Union Men Meet Council - No Progress

Reeve W. R. Powell Offers Auspices of Council To Help Save Fruit Crop in This District.—Decide No Intervention Possible From Municipal Angle.—Both Factions of Strike Present Viewpoints.

At the instigation of Reeve W. R. Powell, early last week, Summerland Municipal Council made an abortive attempt to find some manner in which to bring operators and wage earners together to solve the strike at the Summerland Box Factory and thus save the fruit industry from ruin because of a box shortage. It was an effort to obtain from both sides involved in the strike, and endeavor to find if some means could be obtained to reach an agreement whereby the box factory could operate.

In the end, it was agreed that the Council's hands were tied and little could be accomplished from this end towards the goal, but it was thought that the Council's efforts had been well intended and if any loophole could have been found the auspices of the Council could have been used towards fostering settlement.

On Monday afternoon, May 27, Reeve Powell first broached the strike subject to the Council and suggested that the Summerland Box Factory operators be asked to visit the Council and lay their position before the municipal fathers. To this end, Mr. George Perry, Manager, and Mr. Bud Stewart, representing the owners of the factory, explained their position on Tuesday afternoon.

All members of the Council were in attendance and after discussing the situation with the factory operators, they called in Frank Tilbe, president of the local box factory union and Frank Healy, union secretary.

Serious Situation
"Do you realize the seriousness of this situation?" asked Reeve Powell to the Council on Monday and he received a firm affirmative from the Council members.

"I am not suggesting the Municipality take over the factory but we may be able to assist in a settlement," His Worship continued, referring to the conditions at Creston, B.C., where the box factory went back into operation on a separate agreement, in an effort to save the fruit industry in that area from chaos because of lack of boxes.

Reeve Powell explained that he had been informed of the stories at the coast differed widely from operations in the interior, as in the former case the percentage of box manufacture is overshadowed in most cases by lumber turnout, whereas in the interior box shook manufacture is by far the largest part of the factory's operations.

Well Worth While
"If there is anything we can do to bring the factions together then it would be well worth our while," agreed Councillor Taylor, while Councillor H. L. Wilson declared it wouldn't do any harm to try.

When Mr. Perry and Mr. Stewart arrived before the Council on Tuesday afternoon, Reeve Powell first explained that the municipal body knew little of the situation and was desirous of acquainting itself with the main factors involved.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Perry stated that in his opinion the strike at the coast had little to do with the interior, as the economics of the situation are entirely different. He felt that the factory workers here walked out more in sympathy than for any other reason.

"The plant is there and when they are ready to go back to work we will be willing to start operating again," he assured the Council.

"It's not a strike so much as a walkout," he said. "There's a law against us locking the men out but evidently there is none against them walking out. They didn't notify us but just walked out."

No Approach Before
He later intimated that the strikers approached the operators of the Summerland Box Factory after the province-wide strike called by the I.W.A., but had not entered into any type of negotiations beforehand.

"I believe they had a meeting the night before the strike," he told the Council. When asked if he thought all the employees wanted to go out on strike, he replied that they had evidently agreed before the due date but "they were a sorry looking bunch as they walked out of the plant. They were pretty blue."

It was at this point that Mr. Perry agreed with Reeve Powell's suggestion that the settlement of the strike at the coast would not necessarily settle the situation in the interior, as Chief Justice Sloan would probably have to come to the interior and discuss differences between interior operators and striking employees.

Suggest Long Delay
It was also pointed out that operators at the coast might not be willing to come to an agreement. (Continued on Page Ten)

Only Third of Box Shook Is Available

"We have only been able to turn out about one-third of this district's requirements in box shook," George Perry, Manager of the Summerland Box Factory, told the Summerland Council on Tuesday, May 28.

"We would have been in good shape if we had been allowed to keep on, even with the prospect of a much bigger fruit crop," he continued.

Mr. Perry told The Review that there were 55 men affected by the strike, there having been that number on his payroll when the strike commenced.

On May 28, he estimated that manufacture of 100,000 boxes had been lost by the strike, "and it will be nip and tuck every day the strike continues from now on if we can meet the demands of the fruit industry of this district for boxes to handle this year's crop."

Creston agreement when in attendance at the southern Council session of the B.C.F.G.A. in Penticton on Saturday, May 25. He was of the opinion that the economics of operating fac-

Message . . .

It is always a pleasure to learn of young men embarking upon new enterprises and the newspaper field has become a very important influence in recent years. The privilege of publishing a newspaper carries with it a heavy responsibility and the fact that the new publishers have for years been associated with newspapers of the Interior is an excellent omen for their future in the publishing field.

It has been noted that the Canadian trophy for excellence in the weekly field has been won many times by their contemporaries in the Okanagan and no doubt the high standard set by their fellow publishers will be achieved by The Summerland Review.

Never was there a time in world history when leadership such as a good newspaper can give was more greatly needed. The fruit industry is the largest single export item in agriculture and a continuation of the recognition that a high quality must be produced if the industry is to thrive must ever be kept before the growers.

I am a consistent believer in the necessity at all times, and in all lines, of the production of the best possible product whether it be an apple or a field of hay.

I believe, too, that peace can never come in a starving world and that a permanent peace can only come about by the production of food in such quantities that malnutrition will be no more. The part that fruit holds in a balanced diet is important.

The publishers of the Summerland Review have a big job ahead, and I wish them every success in their new venture.

Faithfully yours,

FRANK PUTNAM,

B.C. Department of Agriculture,
Victoria, B.C.

Minister.

Announcement

The British Columbia Department of Agriculture is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. A. W. Watt, B.S.A., as District Field Inspector for Summerland with new offices in West Summerland where Mr. Watt will be prepared to carry on the good work so efficiently performed for the last quarter of a century by Mr. John Tait.

At the same time tribute is paid to Mr. Tait on his retirement from the field for the splendid contribution he has made to the fruit growing industry through his work as District Inspector for the Horticultural Branch for many years. Special mention is made of Mr. Tait's willingness, in a time of national emergency when trained horticulturists were unobtainable, to continue his services to the fruit grower and the Department instead of retiring on superannuation.

AGRICULTURAL SERVICES

Services provided by the Department for Summerland fruit, vegetable and general farmers include: plant pathologist, entomologist, fruit crop branch, boys' and girls' clubs supervisor, provincial and district horticulturists, dairy branch and its inspectors, livestock and veterinarian inspection, poultry, seed and apiary inspection, brands recorder, land clearing, farm labour, and market branch. These officials may be contacted direct or through Mr. Watt.

Ned Bentley Is Local Director

C. E. "Ned" Bentley was the official Summerland delegate to the annual growers' nominating convention, held in Kelowna on Tuesday. This session elected the B.C. Fruit Board and the president and executive of the B.C.F.G.A.

Besides that, directors of B.C. Tree Fruits, Ltd., the central sales agency, were nominated, as were the new directors of B.C. Fruit Processors, Ltd., the new grower-owned and controlled company which is taking over four processing plants in the Okanagan.

Other delegates, who became directors of the B.C.F.G.A., after the B.C. Fruit Board session ended, were:

Wedding Reception

Jock Stirling New Head of Growers Body

J. R. J. "Jock" Stirling, well-known Kelowna grower, was unanimous choice of grower-delegates representing 3,500 interior tree fruit growers, when they met in Kelowna on Tuesday, June 4, as president for the 1946-47 season.

Mr. Stirling replaces A. G. DesBrisay, Penticton, popular prey for the past five years and before that an executive member. Mr. DesBrisay flatly refused to carry on another year and the delegates agreed that he had accomplished his share on their behalf.

Expressions of regret that he had to decline further office were proffered by numerous delegates. C. A. Hayden, growers secretary, paid a special tribute to the retiring prey. "No one in the industry has given more thought, more time and more care to his position," he declared. "Even though he is retiring as president, I am sure Mr. DesBrisay will continue to advance the cause of this industry."

In accepting the presidency, Mr. Stirling was his usual blunt self. "I hope that you will give this organization the support it needs," he told the growers' representatives. "Back your ship," he concluded.

LIFE MEMBER

By a unanimous vote, Mr. DesBrisay was declared a life member of the B.C.F.G.A., in appreciation of his long and valued services.

In replying, the retiring president declared himself touched with the tributes of the delegates.

"You must exert every effort towards continued grower control of the industry," he warned, and you must also push towards obtaining federal marketing control."

Before the Tuesday session concluded, tributes to Mr. Hayden, Mr. Barrat, A. K. Lloyd, Dave McNair and Tree Fruits directors were voiced by the delegates.

No Wednesday Closing Yet

Although the necessary ten per cent of registered voters have signed a petition requesting retail store closing on Wednesday afternoon, it is unlikely that such a change will come into force this year, the Council decided last week.

It was not until Monday, May 27, that the petition reached the Municipal Council, too late to be included in the voting for the hospital bylaw on May 29. If the petition had reached the Council at an earlier date it could have been included in the voting last week.

It is likely that a bylaw to change the stores' closing hours will be submitted to the voters now before next winter, when the annual municipal elections are held.

Penticton has already changed its midweek closing time to Wednesday afternoon, while Summerland remains closed on Thursday afternoons, which has been the custom in the Okanagan for many years.

To conform with the new 44-hour week for clerks, Kelowna is considering closing all day Wednesday, and remaining open on Saturday evenings until 10 o'clock. At present, Kelowna half-holiday is on Thursday. It is likely that Vernon will fall in line with the Kelowna plan.

Do you want to know what he's telling her? . . . . . Wait until next week!

Miss Eileen Butler, who recently graduated from the U.B.C. as a Public Health Nurse, was a visitor at the week-end at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Butler.

Mrs. Peter Moffat, of Elgin, Manitoba, who has been visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat, left on Monday night for Vancouver, where she will visit with relatives before returning to Elgin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Fudge and Barbara, who have been on a fishing trip to Pintantan Lake and other northern valley points, returned home on Thursday evening. While en route home Mr. and Mrs. Fudge stopped at Tranquille where they visited with Pat Nisbet, and at Kelowna, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Clark.

Mr. G. Ewart Woolliams is a patient in the local hospital.

Harold Maki, of Kamloops, who has recently returned from overseas, is a guest of his sister, Mrs. G. A. Graham.

T. C. McAlpine, a former resident of Summerland for many years, arrived here on Saturday. While here he completed the sale of the old McAlpine home in Lower Summerland to Mr. W. W. Hemmingway.

...ESTHER ELIZABETH GALE... Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Esther Elizabeth Gale, 58, at the Grandview Hospital in Vancouver, on Sunday, June 2nd. Mrs. Gale was the widow of the late C. J. Gale, and was a resident of Summerland from 1914 until about eight years ago, when she moved to Vancouver to make her home there.

Mrs. Gale, who was born in Ontario, is survived by two sons, John, Penticton, and William, Vancouver; two daughters, Mrs. George Haddrell, West Summerland and Mrs. Clyde Caldwell, Cadboro Bay, V.I.; and two brothers, Arthur Stratton, of Abbotsford and William Stratton, of Kelowna.

Mrs. George Haddrell and Mr. John Gale have left for Vancouver, where the funeral services for the late Mrs. Gale takes place this week. Charles Bartram, who served with the British Fleet Air Arm, returned to Canada in May to make his home in Summerland. Mrs. Bartram, with her young daughter, has been staying with her mother, Mrs. T. C. Orr, during her husband's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson left on Friday evening for New Westminster, where Mr. Peterson's mother has been ill. Mr. Peterson returned to West Summerland on Tuesday morning but Mrs. Peterson and her small daughter will remain at the coast for some time.

Dr. and Mrs. R. Fitzpatrick had as their guests last week Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill, of the U.B.C. Players, and Mrs. Hill is their official chaperone.

Mr. Alex Yeats, formerly of the Winnipeg Free Press, Winnipeg, Man., arrived in West Summerland on Friday morning to join The Review staff. Mr. Yeats, a former Imperial Army man, served with the Winnipeg Free Press for 24 years.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Moffat motored from Seattle last week to spend several days with Mr. Moffat's parents here, Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat. They returned to Seattle on Sunday.

Mr. Charles, a recent honor graduate of the U.B.C., who has been touring the Okanagan studying agricultural conditions, was a guest of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Palmer at the Experimental Station on Tuesday. Mr. Charles left the same evening for Vancouver, en route to his home in Jamaica, W.I.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Tellman of the marriage of their youngest daughter, Mickey, to Lloyd Vogeli, of Pelly, Sask. The wedding took place in Regina on May 24th, which was the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. It was also an interesting note that the minister who officiated at the wedding of the young couple was the same minister that officiated at the wedding of the parents of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Vogeli, after honeymooning in Winnipeg, are now visiting with the groom's parents in Pangman, Sask., after which they will go on to Pelly, where they will make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor-Lee, of Vancouver, are spending a month in Mrs. Schwass's cottage at the beach.

Mrs. Charles Pettman and Mrs. Don Horton, of Kelowna, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Len Hill on Friday of last week.

Mr. Frank Turner, secretary-manager of the U.B.C. Alumni, was a guest for several days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ewart Woolliams, Trout Creek. Mr. Turner has been travelling with the U.B.C. Players, in the interest of the U.B.C. Memorial Fund. On Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Woolliams entertained at tea, in honor of Mr. Turner, when he addressed the local group of the U.B.C. Alumni.

Mrs. R. A. Bland left on Tuesday, May 30th, for Cranbrook, where she will be a delegate to the Catholic convention.

Mrs. Wm Drake and daughter, of Salmon Arm, are visiting with Mrs. Drake's aunts, the Misses Banks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Cult, of Vineland, Ont., who are prominent fruit growers on the Niagara Peninsula, and are on a Canada-wide tour, were visitors last week at the Dominion Experimental Station.

Mr. Noble, a graduate of the U.B.C., has joined the staff at the Experimental Station, in the branch of animal husbandry.

Mrs. George Inglis left last week for Vancouver, where she will attend the Women's Institute convention, as the delegate from Summerland.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jarret, of Wolseley, Sask., who are at present for Vancouver, en route to his home in Kelowna, were guests on Friday of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walden.

ATTENTION GROWERS

The B.C. Fruit Growers' Association are taking no sides in the current strike, which has stopped the production of vitally needed shoox supplies in most Okanagan areas, except to request both operators and workers to resume production immediately with the assurance that the Fruit Industry will guarantee the payment of any additional wages eventually agreed upon by both parties.

The operators have accepted the proposition but the unions have rejected it. We are advised that the Coast operators have accepted the Recommendations of Chief Justice Sloan but the unions have asked for two more days in which to consider them. For every 80c at issue between the unions and the operators, the Fruit Industry and Community stand to lose approximately $100,000

We are keeping in close touch with the Provincial Department of Labour, urging quickest possible action to bring about settlement.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Scriver, and Mrs. Angelo Guidi, of Kelowna, aunt of the bride, who was dressed in a flowered-silk gown with matching hat, corsage and accessories. Mrs. Scriver wore a two-toned blue suit in dressmaker style with a black and white hat and accessories and her corsage was of red carnations, with fern.

The hall was decorated for the occasion with cedar greenery and artificial floral decorations on the walls. Pink and pale yellow streamers added an attractive festive note, and the three long tables which ran the length of the hall, were decorated with columbine. The bride's table, which was placed at the head of the three guest tables, was centered by the traditional three-tiered cake, with a lovely silver vase of deep-toned roses as decoration.

Serviteurs for the well-served and appetizing supper were the Misses Audrey Prior, Doris Cristani, Mary Guidi, Josephine Lenzi, Eleanor Stein, Margaret Charity, Doreen Steuart, all of Summerland, and Delta and Rosita Appigli, of Penticton. Rene and Pete Lenzi also assisted in serving, and Mrs. Cristani, of Summerland and the Mesdames A and L. Cianconi, of Kelowna prepared the meal.

Following supper, Father Morris read a telegram of congratulations from Mrs. Emily Aitkens, of Victoria, and then gave an interesting address describing marriage obligations and complimenting the bride and groom, after which he proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. Dave Thompson, with great wit and cleverness proposed the toast to the bride, to which Mr. George Clark responded. Dr. F. W. Andrew was then called upon to speak. Toasts and addresses were cleverly interwoven in a friendly manner by Mr. P. Capozzi, of Kelowna, as toastmaster, who also gave a short talk complimenting Summerland as a friendly and charming town.

After the toast and speeches guests enjoyed hearing several Neopolitan Folk songs, including Come Back to Sorrento and Santa Lucia, sung by Rudolph Guidi, of Oliver. Mr. Orsi, of Kelowna, then sang Sole Mio and as an encore, Neopolitan Nights. All these songs were accompanied by Mrs. Shorne, of Bridesville.

Community singing was then enjoyed with Jimmy Sourbutt, of Penticton, providing the music.

About 80 out-of-town guests attended the reception and these were from Vernon, Kelowna, Peachland, Penticton, Oliver and Bridesville.

The many lovely and useful gifts which the couple received were on display at the home of the bride.

For a honeymoon trip by car to northern valley points, the bride wore a pale green dress with top-coat and hat of fawn and accessories of black. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scriver will make their future home in Summerland.

The Grade 12 girls of the Home Economics Class at the local high school were hostesses last Thursday evening, when they served supper to the members of the School Board and their wives. These suppers are now an annual affair, and this one was especially well prepared and attractive.

Mrs. M. E. Collas and Mrs. Pease were motor visitors over the weekend to the Grand Coulee Dam.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCutcheon, of Kelowna, were here for the Scriver-Meyne Nuptials, and spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Bill White.

Have you ever thought of Life Insurance as PROPERTY ?

Because Life Insurance has no visible form to be seen and admired, you may not have thought of it as "property"—and yet it is one of the most desirable forms of property that anyone ever possessed. In what other form, for instance, can you buy property that increases in value every year and is guaranteed against depreciation?

What other property is realizable in full and without delay by your dependents in case you die and with all future instalments cancelled, yet guarantees you a guaranteed income if you live? Life Insurance is "property" that always has a guaranteed capital value and a guaranteed income value.

PEACHLAND — Peachland Baseball club continued its win streak in the Southern Okanagan Baseball league by turning back Kelowna on Sunday, 5-4. Although the visitors outthrew Peachland by 10 to 4, Peachland outlucked the Orchard City and capitalized on the breaks to win the game.

The game was shot through with errors and there was not one earned run. Ted Clements, pitcher for Peachland, was effective in the pinches, striking out nine men.

Kelowna entered the scoring column in the second inning with three runs on a double by Mackay, singles by Moulton, and Ladoucer, and two errors.

Peachland replied with two runs in the second half when Dan Cousins and Duquemin scored on a wild throw by Brucker. Kelowna catcher, making the score 3-2 for Kelowna.

Peachland took the lead in the sixth. H. Cousins was safe on an error, V. Cousins singled, Ferguson was safe on an error, and the three runs scored on three successive errors by Ladoucer (2) and Gourlie. This made the count 5-3 for Peach-land. A rally for Kelowna in the nine that pushed Schneff across for their fourth run was nipped as Ken Fulks snapped a ground ball to end the game.

Defeat Oroville

Peachland also defeated Oroville, 9-1, in a Memorial Day fixture in the American town, on May 30.

Featuring the upset win over the Senior A Boosters, were a total of 16 strikeouts by Harold Cousins and a long home run by Verne Cousins.

In the first inning, Williamson and Clements singled. Verne Cousins hit sharply to centre, scoring Williamson and Peachland's second run scored on Ferguson's outfield fly. This made the score 2-0 for Peachland.

Peachland scored again in the second when Gummow tripled to right and scored on Fulks' single.

With two out in the third, V. Cousins hit a tremendous home run to right and scored standing up to make the count 4-0 for Peachland.

H. Cousins held the Oroville Boosters under control until the seventh, when Manley scored after a dropped third strike, a walk and an error.

Peachland put the game on ice in the seventh with three unearned runs when the Oroville infield fell apart at the seams, committing four errors.

The score by innings:

What is LANTIGEN?

Lantigen is made in a Government Licensed Laboratory in Australia and therefore all their stringent regulations have to be adhered to. Lantigen is not a patent medicine—and is devoid of drugs. Lantigen is a vaccine in a DISSOLVED state.

Being a completely Oral Dissolved Vaccine, it is operative immediately it is taken. It is operative in two ways, firstly by absorbing into the open tissue, such as the tongue, throat, and intestinal tract, and secondly it is also operative by means of its distribution through the alimentary—stomach system. The antigens being fully released begin to immediately incite the system to produce antibodies, which in turn destroy the toxic poisons given off by the poisoned germs and also render the poison germs harmless.

Hay Fever is due to a variety of causes. In the case of seasonal Hay Fever, attacks are precipitated by the presence of pollens, dust or other irritant particles in the air to which the sufferer is allergic. These irritants obviously do not cause Hay Fever but only bring on an attack to sufferers who are allergic to their effect—in other words have a predisposed condition. This usually exists in the mucous membrane or the lining of the Bronchial tubes, and the pollens, dust, etc., irritants bring on an attack which is known as Hay Fever. This is similarly demonstrated with certain ointments which when applied to the skin of some people will cause a rash. Although in certain areas everyone breathes the air charged with pollens which bring on attacks in only about 30% of the population, the other 70% breathing the same air do not have attacks of Hay Fever. Therefore, the pollen laden air is not the cause of Hay Fever. In many cases the attacks of Hay Fever occur right throughout the year, even when the allergic conditions such as pollens cease to pollute the air. All this proves that a sensitivity exists in the mucous membrane or bronchial tissues, and in certain people only.

It is from this background of facts that we have approached the treatment of Hay Fever. The specific treatment of Hay Fever by means of pollen extracts is well established. Our Bacteriologists have taken this study as a basis and have worked on a further antidote to reduce the sensitivity of the mucous membrane and Bronchial tissues so that an attack of Hay Fever will not be brought on by contact with irritant pollens etc., or at least to greatly reduce the violence of the attack. The results tend to prove that Hay Fever is closely related to sinus, antrum and catarrhal conditions, and Lantigen E has been prepared as an oral vaccine to treat these conditions, to which we add an extract of mixed pollens. The clinical results have been excellent.

FORTY BUILDINGS NOW UNDERWAY IN SUMMERLAND

Mr. Roy F. Angus, Summerland's new building inspector, told the Summerland Council on Monday afternoon, May 27, that there are more than forty buildings under construction in this municipality.

The only building which will exceed a cost of $10,000 is that of Sunoka Products. In this case, to coincide with the regulations of the architects' association, plans will have to be submitted as drawn by a registered architect, before a building permit can be issued.

Mr. Angus declared he was not satisfied with the materials and methods of construction of some of the homes going up in the Municipality, but that he was so swamped with work that he could not inspect all the new construction.

It would take three weeks to make a thorough inspection and satisfy himself that construction was being proceeded with according to presented plans, he stated.

He also declared that some construction had been going ahead before he could issue the necessary permit.

Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon pointed out that the new building bylaw insists that no building can be started until a permit has been issued by the building inspector. When the latter official is satisfied with the suggested plans and that the building bylaws will be complied with then a permit should be issued immediately, he declared.

Reeve Powell informed Mr. Angus that the Council intended to implement the new building bylaw and would stand behind the inspector in his decisions to enforce the bylaw.

Magistrate's Stipend Upped

An Order-in-Council has been passed by the Provincial Government authorizing an increase in the annual stipend to Magistrate H. Sharman from $225 to $300 per year, the Summerland Council was told on Monday afternoon, May 27.

Propose Sidewalk for Beach Avenue

If property owners agree to paying one-quarter of the cost, a new asphalt-top sidewalk will be constructed on the east side of Beach avenue, in lower Summerland from the creek to the walk already laid.

This new walk would extend for a distance of 360 feet and could be laid down for a cost of $410. Only 98 feet of this walk faces privately-owned property, and these property owners would be required to pay approximately $100 of the cost. The Municipality would assume the balance.

Exceed Quota In Cancer Fund

Summerland went way over the top in donating to the Conquer Cancer Campaign, which closed on May 27, after a run of several weeks. Total subscriptions to this worthwhile cause totalled $714.81, while the quota set for this community was $500.

Through the efforts of the Municipal staff, $152.51 was collected, while contributions through committee members totalled $562.30.

In announcing this total to The Review, Mrs. J. E. O'Mahoney, secretary, was jubilant over the result and considered that Summerland residents had come forward in a remarkable way to assist a drive for the benefit of conquering a scourge to mankind.

Reid Johnston was chairman of the Conquer Cancer Campaign in Summerland, with Mrs. O'Mahoney as secretary and Mr. E. R. Butler, treasurer. Other committee members were Dr. H. R. McLarty, F. E. Haskins, A. W. Nisbett, Dr. J. C. Wilcox, Mrs. Magnus Tait, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Reeve W. R. Powell, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Taylor, Dr. F. W. Andrew, Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh, Dr. W. H. B. Munn, Mrs. Angus, Miss Boyd, Mrs. A. K. Elliott, Syd. Thomas and J. A. Reid.

POLL TAX COLLECTOR

Only one application for the position of poll tax collector was received by the Summerland Council at its May 27 session. This was an increase over last year when not a single application was received. Mr. E. C. Bingham, Prairie Valley, a veteran of World Wars 1 and 2, sought the position and was granted the appointment at a fee of 15 per cent of poll tax collections.

SUMP TO BE COVERED

Attention of E. Kercher, Irrigation Foreman, was drawn by the Summerland Council on May 27, to a report that the sump at Hillborn Lake had not been covered, and that it represented a hazard to animals. One report, uncorroborated, stated that a dog had already fallen in the sump and been drowned. Mr. Kercher replied that the opening had not been left uncovered for long and would be attended to immediately.

Deputy Minister Extends Greeting

W. H. Robertson, Assistant Deputy Minister of Agriculture, on behalf of Hon. F. H. Putnam, Minister of Agriculture, has extended the best wishes of his department to The Review, in a letter from Victoria, on May 17.

"May I take this opportunity of congratulating you upon the move which you are making, and I hope that the new paper will be in every way a success," writes Mr. Robinson.

"If it measures up to the other papers published in the Okanagan, there is no question but that it will prove satisfactory both to the publishers and to the readers.

"With the experience that you have had in the Okanagan and particularly in the newspaper work, I feel sure that The Summerland Review will meet the needs of the growers."

Hon. F. H. Putnam's message to The Review will be found in the advertising columns of this issue.

Box Factory

ment soon, as if another two weeks went by it would not be economical to operate until the danger of fire in the woods allowed the loggers to return to operation.

This might mean that the strike would not be settled until late in the summer, and if this situation continued there would be no hope of salvaging a large portion of the fruit crop, as there would be no possibility of making sufficient containers. "Do you see any hope of bringing the men and operators together through the auspices of the Council?" then enquired Reeve Powell.

"I see no hope until the Governments issue orders to save the Okanagan fruit industry and tell the operators and men to go back to the work of producing box shoox," replied Mr. Perry.

"Under what conditions would you be prepared for the men to go back?" His Worship queried. "Under the same conditions as they walked out," was the reply, qualified with the statement that these conditions would have to be subject to the eventual outcome of the entire I.W.A. strike.

Get Around Table
"There is not much to be done until the government, the operators and the union get together at one table and thrash out their difficulties," opined Mr. Stewart. The coast can hold out for some time, but the interior, because of the perishable fruit industry, cannot do so.

"If we are going to wait six or seven weeks for resumption of factory work then there will be trouble in this place," was Reeve Powell's opinion. Public opinion, that is, sentiment and common sense is going to force the issue, he hoped.

Councillor Wilson pointed out that Oliver box factory is operating, but the workers there formed their own union within the plant. It was stated that even if the box factory workers here decided to call off the strike in favor of a purely local union, other unions operating in the district would not handle products of the local box factory and no progress would be made.

Have "Gripe"
In answer to a suggestion that not many of the workers here wished to go out on strike, Councillor Wilson declared that he had talked to a few "and they have a "gripe," whether they went to Mr. Perry before striking or not. They are going to stand out for shorter hours and higher wages, along with the rest."

Councillor F. E. Atkinson suggested that some way could be found to get the men back to work if they could be persuaded that they would receive the same wages as other plants once the entire strike is settled.

After discussing various other aspects of the situation, and toying with the idea of wiring officials at Ottawa regarding the serious situation confronting the fruit industry, the factory operators left the Council session and a call was sent out for the union representatives.

Union Men Visit
Reeve Powell did not waste any words at the start but bluntly enquired from the union men, Messrs. Tilbe and Healy: "When are we going to get boxes?"

"When the strike is settled," the Council was assured in a succinct reply.

His Worship then explained the crisis to the fruit growers in the Summerland area and asked if the visitors knew what would happen in the interior once the coast reached a settlement.

"As far as we know, the union wants the same wages and the same hours of work throughout B.C.," was the answer from Mr. Tilbe.

At this point, the union men pointed out that, with a union executive representative, they approached the Summerland Box Factory operators and offered to go back to work at the negotiated wages and hours. This was after the strike had started.

"We would go back tomorrow if the operators would agree to the ultimate settlement basis, but all we could get to any question was a blunt "No," declared Mr. Healy.

"We wanted a 44-hour week and time and a half for overtime but he (Mr. Perry), would not agree unless Ottawa authorized it."

"Of course, we cannot do anything without the union's consent," interposed Mr. Tilby. "We haven't the power to negotiate an agreement on our own."

Offer Compromise
It was pointed out that an offer had been made to compromise on a 44-hour week instead of a 40-hour week, as demanded at the coast, and the union representative had offered to supply as many men as were necessary to work double shifts, in order to catch up on box shoox supplies. The union men stated they had not been able to reach any settlement with the factory operators.

Lack of accommodation in Summerland was declared a stumbling block to any influx of extra workers for a double shift at the box factory.

"Why don't the farmers do what the Government suggests and take over the factory?" was a query from Mr. Healy at one point.

Councillor Wilson replied that the Government would not allow the increase of six cents per box on the price of box shoox, is sought this spring from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, so it might not be economical for the farmers to step into the picture.

He did not know what the economic set-up might be, but if there was an increase of 40 per cent in wages, with shorter hours, and an increase in lumber prices, with no corresponding increase in box shoox price, then he did not think that it would appear on the surface to be an economical operation.

Before the conclusion of the session with the union men, Reeve Powell expressed the Council's thanks for their presentation of their viewpoint, and also was sorrowful that the Council could evidently do little to bring the two factions together for the benefit of the fruit industry.

Authorization for the construction of a culvert across the Station Road in front of A. B. Campbell's property was granted by the Council at its Monday, May 27 session.

Suggests Brief To Commissioner

Summerland Municipal Council, on Monday, May 27, received notification of a general meeting of the Association of B.C. Irrigation Districts, in Kelowna on May 30. This session was called to coincide the Districts' viewpoints in preparation for the Royal Commission which will sit to bring in findings on the Irrigation Association, request for a revision in the financing arrangements with the Provincial Government.

Dean F. M. Clement, of the University of B.C., has been appointed as Royal Commissioner to carry out the enquiry. Summerland Council wondered if the municipalities which operate their own irrigation districts, that is Summerland and Penticton, would be included in this enquiry. Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon was of the opinion that the municipalities would not be included.

Reeve Powell suggested that a separate brief on behalf of Summerland and Penticton should be prepared and presented to Dean Clement, so that the municipalities' side of the case would receive attention. No official action was authorized by the council.

PURCHASES PROPERTY

A. C. Peterson's application to purchase Lot 13, Block 59, D.L. 3640, at the rear of the Bank of Montreal for a price of $325, was approved by the Municipal Council on May 27. Mr. Kiebel, a returned man, also sought to purchase Lot 11, Block D, D.L. 508, which is on the sand hill and contains a gravel pit. This lot will have to be advertised before it can be sold.

Municipal Council After Many Difficulties In 2-Day Sitting

Reeve W. R. Powell presided at the Summerland Council session on Monday afternoon, May 27, but only two Council members could be present at the start. They were Councillors H. L. Wilson and D. Taylor. Councillor E. M. Tait arrived after the Council had been in session an hour.

On Tuesday afternoon when the Council reopened its adjourned session to meet the box factory operators, all Council members were present.

Council Briefs

Mr. Gordon Smith has been appointed Deputy Clerk-Treasurer during the absence of Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon at the session of municipal officials and clerks at Victoria.

Grader on Road

After the afternoon and evening rain on Monday, May 27, the grader went to work on the Station Road and greatly improved that gravelled stretch for motorists.

Mrs. McClure repeated her complaint about the uneven domestic water supply to the Municipal Council, on May 27. She said she did not want to be thought a complainer, but for three years she had been endeavoring to find a solution to the water supply problem. In the hot weather there is practically no water available, but on cool days, the water gushed out of the pipes, she stated. Mrs. McClure was informed that the Council would investigate the situation further, but because of so many users being on that particular line there was no assurance that a remedy could be found.

First fatality of the season occurred, May 24, when Janice Raymer, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rayner, Winfield, was drowned in Woods Lake.

Carl Christmas, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Max McKechnie, left by motor on Monday, for Vancouver.

The Summerland Review Presents First Edition

The Summerland Review, with this issue, has officially opened its doors. After many weeks of preparation and no little heartache, the first edition rolls off the press to greet the residents of Summerland, Peachland and Okanagan Lake.

This newspaper will be published every Thursday morning, in time to catch the early mail routes, after it has ironed out a few of the mechanical kinks which have beset its management since the plant arrived at West Summerland.

Histories of the new owners and publishers of The Review may be found in other columns. The editor is J. R. "Tim" Armstrong, formerly associated with the Penticton Herald and Kelowna Courier as news editor, prior to joining the army in 1941; the manager is George R. B. Fudge, a resident of Summerland since 1924, when he was not in Vernon, Kelowna and Merritt with the mechanical staffs of those papers.

Before leaving the army, the owners commenced negotiations for the present plant. In common with all other lines of equipment and merchandise, it was found that printing machines were as scarce as the proverbial "hens' teeth."

However, a plant was finally located in storage at Abbotsford, B.C., and after several weeks of negotiation it was purchased from Gerald H. Heller, the owner. The plant was moved by Kettle Valley railway to West Summerland, where it was installed in the Review's new office, next door to the Bank of Montreal, on Granville street, in West Summerland.

Most of the initial organization work was undertaken by Messrs. Fudge and Armstrong. The linotype, a No. 14 model, in good condition, was installed by Mr. W. Lavery, machinist of the Vancouver Province. The press was installed by Mr. Ned Bentley, well-known Summerland machinist, assisted by Mr. Reg. J. Kersey, of Garnett Valley.

Each weekly issue will measure six columns in width by 19 inches in depth, inside measurements. The width of each column is 12 ems, or approximately two inches.

Included in the plant equipment is a large caster, from which cuts for advertising purposes may be cast from the original mats, thus providing a service to the Review advertisers which has not been possible in a local advertising medium for nearly 20 years.

Co-operation Received
Other Okanagan Valley papers have assisted the new Review owners materially in getting out this first issue, and have offered every co-operation to these two recently-discharged veterans.

These Valley papers include the Penticton Herald, Kelowna Courier, Vernon News and Armstrong Advertiser.

Details of classified advertising rates may be found in the advertising columns of this issue. Display advertising rates may be obtained from The Review office on application.

In Vancouver, The Review is being represented by Mr. Les Way, publishers' representative, a past president of the B.C. division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' association.

Country-Wide Publicity
Already, Summerland and The Review have obtained fine publicity throughout Canada. In the first issue of The Canadian Weekly Editor, a new trade journal for Canadian weekly newspapers, pictures of the new Review owners and lengthy histories of their newspaper careers have appeared.

"Marketing," a weekly news-

Convention Locale

The 1947 convention of the B.C.F.G.A. will be held in Kelowna, Kelowna or Vernon, it was revealed on Tuesday in Kelowna at the annual nominating convention of the growers' body. As there was not sufficient assurance from any place that accommodation could be provided next January, it was decided to leave final decision of the locale to the incoming executive. One suggestion was that the entire convention be held in the army camp at Vernon.

More Trucks To Go To Farmers

That 160 trucks would be available some time this year for farmers from the War Assets Corporation, was revealed on Tuesday in Kelowna by C. A. Hayden, B.C.F.G.A. secretary. He declared that little information was available then concerning these trucks, but provision would be made to notify all growers concerning their availability. C. E. Bentley, Summerland, suggested that definite information concerning the workability of these trucks from a farmer's standpoint, should be obtained before any orders are accepted.

Mrs. N. Solly New Singers' Club Prexy

The annual meeting of the Summerland Singers' and Players' club was held on Tuesday evening, June 4, in a pleasant and unusual outdoor setting, at the home of Percy Thornber. This was also the 35th anniversary of the forming of Summerland's original Operatic Society, and Mr. Thornber is the only member of the original group who is still active in the Singers and Players.

This society, which functions as an educational as well as a cultural body, is the only group of its kind in the interior of B.C., and is known throughout the province.

It was voted that donations from the proceeds of the year's work be given to the local Rehabilitation Committee, the Summerland Hospital, the U.B.C. Alumni Scholarship Fund and the Conquer Cancer Campaign.

A birthday cake with candles commemorating the anniversary, was made and donated by Mrs. Mildred McClure.

New officers elected were: President, Mrs. N. O. Solly; vice-president, Clark Wilkin; secretary-treasurer, Roy Angus.

An executive consisting of Mrs. Colin McKenzie, Mrs. R. Russel, Mrs. J. Y. Towgood, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Mrs. H. Whitmore, Mr. Bert Stent, (past president), Miss Dorothy McDonald, Mr. Delmer Dunham, Mr. A. K. McCloud, dramatic director, H. Dempster; musical director, Bud Steuart.

Fishing in Okanagan Lake off Crescent Beach is reported as good this week. Dewey Sanborn obtained 20 pounds of fish before breakfast on Sunday, including one weighing 8 1/2 pounds and another 7 1/2 pounds.

district, Mr. Stephens told the directors that last February the mill had informed the committee that only ten million feet of the 12 million needed to produce full demands of shoo, would be available from the Kelowna area. In April, this amount was reduced to nine million feet.

Capacity of Kelowna mill is 12,000 boxes daily and that is the loss in output every day the mill is closed, said Mr. Stephens. Except for tomato lugs and box lids, there is one bright feature of the Kelowna situation in that most early deliveries were made before the strike. Annual output at Kelowna of box lids is 10 million, but only about three million have been produced to date. Even if the mill started again on Monday, it would take to the end of December to produce enough lids to handle the entire Valley crop. Kelowna has been the chief producer of box lids in the Okanagan.

With an immediate start, it would be the middle of November before sufficient boxes could be produced for the Kelowna district.

Vernon is in a better situation, as an immediate start would mean that total production could be reached by October 10 to 15. Vernon district is also served by the Armstrong mill.

Mrs. Cliff, who has been visiting with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Morgan, Trout Creek, for some time, has left for Vancouver, and after a short stop there, will return to her home in Kingston, Ont. She was accompanied as far as Vancouver by her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Morgan.

Congratulations . . .

to the people of West Summerland on having again their own medium through which to express their aims and wishes, hopes and aspirations, and to record their day-to-day activities.

The contribution to the development of British Columbia by the agricultural community of Summerland reflects the Province-wide spirit of a people who recognize the opportunities of their heritage.

The future of the Province is in the hands of those who work together in their communities and whose vision embraces the great potential of a land with almost limitless agricultural, industrial and commercial horizons.

In no part of British Columbia is this potential more evident than in the OKANAGAN VALLEY. There indeed we have a marvelous instance of man's triumph over nature, where by years of toil and care and patient effort, a major industry has been created. In all parts of the world there is an eagerness for information on what British Columbia has to offer, and there is no doubt that, of the tide of desirable immigration which is now flowing so strongly to the west, the Okanagan Valley will reap a handsome share.

Growers Demand Ottawa Show Action In Union Dispute

Demands that the Dominion Government intervene and reopen the shoo mill industry in the interior for box shoo manufacture pending final settlement of the I.W.A.-C.I.O. strike, provided the highlight of a meeting of eight hundred growers and other interested parties in Kelowna on Tuesday night. The dire straits in which the fruit industry finds itself on the eve of cherry production was stressed at this grower session which sought action of some sort to provide containers for the big Okanagan fruit crop. Here in Summerland the B.C.F.G.A. local, under the guidance of President J. Y. Towgood and C. E. Bentley, director, has been meeting the local box factory management and the union leaders but with little tangible result. Tonight the union has called a big mass meeting, under the chairmanship of Reeve W. R. Powell, to hear William Langmead, I.W.A. international representative, give the union side of the picture.

On Monday evening the local growers' executive met with Summerland Box Co. union employees and management. It was recognized by all present that even now the shortage of containers is a serious threat to the economic welfare of the entire community, stated Mr. Towgood to The Review on Wednesday evening.

Security Unsettled
"In the course of a free and informal discussion it became apparent that, as between local employees and management, agreement could be reached on all points with the exception of union security. On that point, no compromise could be obtained from either union or management," he continued.

Mr. Towgood was informed that mills in Merritt and Princeton are operating without a strike settlement. To this statement, Frank Healy, Summerland union sub-local secretary, declared that if such was the case, local striking employees would be prepared to go back to work in thirty-six hours.

On Tuesday, Mr. Towgood and Mr. Bentley met William Langmead, international representative of the striking union, and stressed to him the gravity of the situation, not only to the fruit industry but to all the communities of the Okanagan.

Mr. Langmead agreed to the seriousness of the situation and stated that "the union recognizes that the men live in and are a part of the community and if disastrous results befall the fruit industry then the I.W.A. will long be remembered as the responsible party," says Mr. Towgood.

Mr. Langmead also declared he realized the need for compromise on both sides.

Later on Tuesday Mr. Langmead, the growers' representatives, union executive men and the mill management conferred. On behalf of the union, it is understood that Mr. Langmead offered a two to three weeks' truce whereby the men would return to work on an application being made to the Regional War Labor Board for an increase in pay of 20 cents per hour, no union security and hours of work to be 40 and 44 respectively in the lumber mill and box factory.

No agreement was reached on this proposal. Mr. George Perry, for the operator. Stating that the hours of work would be not adequate to permit the necessary high peak of production, it is stated.

Mr. Perry has told The Review that a single operator cannot under the law, make application for such an increase in wages as was suggested.

In Summerland, a large number of the striking union men have expressed their desire to go back to work and take their chances on an eventual settlement. However, they fear that if they break away from the union now, there will be no logs forthcoming for the mill and operations would have to cease within a short time.

Further discussion on this subject will be heard this evening at the Legion Hall.

In the meantime, the B.C.F.G.A. has been sending frantic telegrams to Ottawa in an endeavor to persuade labor officials there of the seriousness of the situation from a fruit industry standpoint.

Wines To Ottawa

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Dominion Minister of Labor, in reply, asked on Tuesday if the mills are in a position "to operate without logs; in other words is there a supply of material and for what period of time could they operate? This department is very anxious to settle the dispute. No effort will be spared to prevent loss of crops. Presume the association has canvassed the possibility of getting containers from a source outside of B.C."

The following day, Jack Stirling, new B.C.F.G.A. proxy, replied to Mr. Mitchell: "All mills have reasonable supply of logs and lumber on hand and considerable number bushworkers continuing in defiance of strike. Believe shoo mill could operate an average two months but conditions different each locality. Over half million feet lumber purchased from northern B.C. sitting on track in cars depreciating daily by discoloration.

"We are confident secret ballot of workers would show ninety percent anxious return to work unconditionally but dominated by organizers who opposed

RECOVER STOLEN CAR

A car belonging to Mrs. Ronald Thornber, was reported stolen from the home of Mr. T. P. Thornber, on Saturday evening about 11 o'clock. The car was parked alongside the house with the keys left in the ignition switch, B.C. Police Constable Cartmell reports. After an all-day search, the car was found in an undamaged condition near Mr. Bangma's home, Monday night.

Must Maintain Quality Warns Arthur Loyd

"We are now moving forward into a post-war era which, from present indications, is not going to be quite such smooth sailing as many had hoped," cautioned A. K. Loyd, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., President and General Manager, in an interview with The Review this week.

In discussing the general fruit situation, Mr. Loyd paused for a moment to offer his felicitations to The Review.

"We wish you every success in your undertaking and confidently expect that The Summerland Review, under your direction, will add to the already high journalistic reputation of the newspapers serving Valley communities."

Reverting to his original theme, Mr. Loyd expressed his confidence that the growers who constitute the B.C.F.G.A. organization, which is now widely known and of great influence, will maintain in the face of all difficulties their constructive attitude.

"The British Columbia product has arisen to the position where it commands the public confidence from coast to coast, and it has been expanding its market on the basis of quality alone. The advance made in this respect would have been impossible if the sale of the product had not been centralized.

"No market can be expanded on the basis of an inferior product. However great the temptation may be to pick up a few dollars and cents from time to time by raising an unworthy product upon an unsuspecting public, in the long run the result is disastrous. We hope that our lesson taught from the storms of thirty years has been absorbed both by growers of experience and those who are comparatively new to the industry.

"We cannot afford to modify or weaken the regulations sponsored by the growers which have produced this favorable result. Indeed, it is our only safeguard for the increased tonnage which will be with us before very long. If our industry will stay together and solve its problems as a unit we can have confidence in the future. If at any time growers can be split up into sections and played one against the other, then before very long our industry will be at the mercy of any and all interests powerful enough to exploit its disunity.

Changes Are Made In Municipal Departments

Resignation of Dave Dickson, domestic water foreman, and the appointment of E. Kerchar as foreman of both the domestic water and irrigation departments, and Les Gould as foreman of the roads department, were highlights of the Summerland Municipal Council session on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Kerchar has been handling irrigation and roads for some months past, but wished to be relieved of the roads as soon as possible. His monthly salary will be upped from $200 to $250 and he will retain his car allowance of $80 per month.

Besides this, Mr. Kerchar will who will be allowed to undertake given an assistant foreman, study his work in both departments with a view to being able to step into his shoes on retirement. Two names were suggested to the council on Wednesday as likely men for this appointment but no decision was reached.

Early in the meeting, the council decided on Mr. Kerchar's appointment but no mention was made of an extra remuneration.

Final business on Wednesday was a discussion with Mr. Kerchar over the combining of the two departments, and the council was rather taken aback by Mr. Kerchar's acceptance of the suggestion.

Agricultural Visitor Here

The Summerland Laboratory of Plant Pathology was honored this week when it received a three-day visit from Mr. N. F. Robertson, plant pathologist in the British Colonial Agricultural service.

Mr. Robertson, who has been assigned to research work on virus diseases in West Africa, is at present making a tour of the better-known British and American institutions carrying on research on tree fruit virus diseases.

In this area he was particularly interested in the investigations of stone fruit virus diseases being conducted by Mr. T. B. Lott and Dr. M. F. Welsh, of the laboratory staff, and spent the greater part of his visit in a tour of those districts in which Mr. Lott has been working.

On Friday evening, Mr. Robertson was guest speaker at the supper meeting of the Summerland Rotary club.

Junior Boys' Ball Loop Underway

Under the auspices of the A.O. T.S., a junior boys' baseball league has been organized in Summerland, with three teams participating. The schedule will run until July 10, with one game being played each Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the ball park in West Summerland.

The Devils, piloted by Bob Weitzel, have won two games without a loss, having defeated Allan Gould's Giants on May 22 and Joe Elliott's Pirates on May 29. In the first game of the season, on May 15, the Pirates defeated the Giants.

Last night's game found the Devils and the Giants again battling.

Les Gould, on behalf of the A.O. T.S., is in charge of the league operations and welcomes some encouragement for these younger players who will eventually become the senior ball players of the future.

There has been a distinct upsurge of interest in baseball in Summerland among the younger players, who have switched their affections from softball to the hard ball game. On Wednesday, June 12, Giants met the Devils; June 19, Devils play Pirates; June 26, Pirates meet Giants; July 3, Giants play Devils; July 10, final game, Devils play Pirates.

Resolution passed at Thursday night meeting in Legion Hall.

That this meeting of the citizens of Summerland urge on the executive of the B.C.F.G.A. to offer to the operators, and the employees through their unions, a three-man arbitration board, as set out by the Arbitration Act of Canada; the findings of this board to be binding on both parties. In the meantime, the employees to go back to work and any findings to be retroactive to the date of returning to work.

hot spell arrives here the domestic water system will be a real headache.

"Unless something is done to control consumption, this domestic water system is in for a lot of trouble," he continued, mentioning malpractices of some users.

"I have always thought that anyone who took on the domestic water system would have a real problem on their hands and I have felt that a possible solution would be to go right outside the municipality and hire a water superintendent."

"Do you feel that my salary is in line with other employees?" he queried at another point, stressing that in 1946 he has not yet put in one day of only eight hours, but has been at the beck and call of the ratepayers every day this year.

Reeve Powell expressed surprise at this turn of events as Foreman Kerchar had never before mentioned to him that he was not satisfied with his salary arrangement.

To this Mr. Kerchar replied that he was not in the habit of continually grouching about such things. He intimated that work had been piling up until he had reached a point where he was not prepared to carry the responsibility any farther at his present salary.

After some further discussion, the council suggested a salary of $250 per month. The discussion broke up with Mr. Kerchar replying: "I'll take it on for a year at that figure." No mention was made of the possible salary to be paid Mr. Gould as road foreman, or the stipend for the new assistant to Mr. Kerchar, still to be appointed.

Hospital Additions Planned At Cost Of Thirty Thousand

Call for Tenders to Construct $30,000 Addition to Present Accommodation.—Will Mean 30-Bed Hospital Here.—Taxpayers Support Scheme by Huge Majority.—Only Five Negative Votes Cast.

By an overwhelming majority, Summerland taxpayers have given the Municipality of Summerland and the Summerland Hospital Society the green light to raise $30,000 and proceed with the erection of a maternity wing and a nurses' home for the Summerland Hospital. Total cost of the project, including furnishings, will be $40,000, of which the provincial government has agreed to pay one-third, or $12,000. Vote in favor of the bylaw numbered 203, while only five negative votes were registered.

Debentures to the amount of $30,000 will be issued bearing three per cent interest, payable half-yearly. It will be necessary to raise $900 each year to repay interest on this loan, while principal payment will be $1,673.00, for a total of $2,573.00. Existing debenture debt of the municipality is $317,237.33.

Although the vote was light, there was no doubt but that Summerland taxpayers are in favor of the proposed addition about one-third of the possible total vote went to the polling booths at the municipal office, West Summerland, and in Summerland.

The hospital board is now calling for tenders to construct the addition and the new building. These tenders are to be submitted by June 29.

On North Side
The new maternity wing will be an addition to the present hospital building, extending a distance of almost 62 feet due north. Width of the proposed addition will be nearly 44 feet, but the height will not be as great as the present structure, as the new building will have a flat roof.

The first floor will be on a level with the present wards while the floor beneath will be on a level with the basement of the present building, as the ground slopes downward a short distance north of the hospital.

Approaching the new addition from the ward level, visitors to the new addition, when it is completed, will find two semi-private wards capable of holding two beds each and three single rooms, one of which will be a labor room on either side of the main corridor.

Across the end of the addition will be found the case room and a large nursery, complete with bassinets in separate cubicles. There will also be a laundry room for the babies' wash, and an isolation room. Between the case room and nursery there is to be a nurses' service and sterilizing room. A large linen cupboard and a utility room complete this floor.

Modern Installation.
Although complete details of the equipment are not available at this time, Mr. J. E. O'Mahoney, Hospital Board Secretary, states that all installations in this maternity wing will be as modern as it is possible to obtain.

An emergency fire exit has been provided on the west side of the building.

Downstairs, proceeding from the existing passageway in a northerly direction, on the right of the main corridor will be a large staff dining room, a morgue and an isolation ward containing toilet and shower facilities. One isolation bed can be installed here.

On the left is the secretary-treasurer's office, a large Board room, which will be available for Board meetings of the Hospital Ladies' auxiliary, and a fast-freezing cold storage room. This latter room will be available mainly for fruit and vegetable and will save the hospital staff and auxiliary much of the canning and purchasing of expensive canned goods which has been a difficult factor in past years, it is stated.

Across the end of this floor is a suite for the janitor, containing a bedroom and living-room, kitchenette and toilet facilities. (Continued on Page Five)

MAIL BOX NAMES
J. H. Pledge has pointed out to The Review that mail boxes in this district need attention. Most of the boxes do not indicate clearly the names of the owners and to try and find residences in this district is almost impossible, he declares. A few minutes' work by each mail box owner would rectify the situation, Mr. Pledge believes.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY
Vernon Herod, now resident in Hedley, on Tuesday paid a fine of $100 and costs for contributing to juvenile delinquency. The charge was brought in Juvenile court before Juvenile Court Judge H. Sharman.

First Hobby Show Draws Hundreds

Hobbies and collections of art and historical relics attracted hundreds of Summerland and district persons to the I.O.O.F. hall on Saturday afternoon and evening to witness the first showing of the A.O.T.S. Hobby exhibition.

For many months past this energetic community group has been fostering hobbies among the younger people of this community. Saturday's showing was the first exhibit of its kind ever attempted here and brought many exclamations of delight from the spectators.

Apart from the hobbies there were many exhibits of collections and fine arts which were a credit to the community. Woodwork by ex-members of the R.C.A.F. formed a prominent part of the show, and vied with exhibits by persons who have been unfortunate enough to become hospital patients.

A collection of ancient arms drew special interest, while embroidery and quilt-work added many colorful displays.

Amongst the younger people, the model airplanes attracted a great deal of attention, while the outstanding work from an artistic standpoint were the pencil sketches exhibited by Marjorie Yamabe. These drawings contained so much life that they drew the enthusiastic applause of all who witnessed them.

Nearly 600 adults paid admission to the exhibition, while more than that number of children were admitted during the day. Door collections amounted to $140 while $41 in prizes were donated. Proceeds from the day will be used for children's sports and for the encouragement of hobbies, it is thought.

Trinkets from the Calgary tuberculosis sanitarium resulted in sales amounting to $95.

High school, fancy work; Camera club, photos; C. J. Adams, stamp collection; Mrs. Crantall, fancy work and painted china; Gordon Pohlman, art work; Mrs. Logie, Sr., two quilts; Mrs. B. Stewart, hand-painted china; R. C. Gordon, hand-carving, wood; Herbert Simpson, insects; Les Gould, metal work; Les Russell, wood-carving; Ken Booth, table and chairs; Mrs. D. Wilson, doll displays and stuffed animals; Norman Swaine, firearms, native handicrafts, hand-carved tie rings, leather carvings; H. O. Tavender, stamps; Art Advocate, stamps; Fred Keane, stamps; Mrs. George Williams, crocheted tablecloth; Mrs. H. Harrow, hooked rugs; Archie Scott, electric lamps; Mrs. M. Cousins, crocheting; Beverley Cousins, art work; Bertha Bristow, tatting; Audrey Davis, felt-out pictures; Mrs. W. Snow, silk pictures; Talmage MacDonald, art; Dave Thompson, lamps; George Dunsdon, woodwork; Ed. Gould, Cartridge collection; Wes Tavender, line prints; Percy Thornber, photographs; Mrs. L. Parker, painted china; George A. Lewis, con collection; Verne Charles, arrow heads, tomahawks; Mrs. J. J. Blawett, brass work seed craft, salt and flour composition; W. Snow, carved soapstone picture; C. Hartman, copper, kettle and mosquito bomber; Donald Orr, table, jewel box, candlesticks; Miss Drysdale, curtains; Mrs. Stark, tablecloth; Irvine Adams, line cuts; Ed. Britton, stamps; Mrs. Munroe, quilts; B. T. Washington, rifle, hunting knife, telescope.

Thanks

The Summerland Review is now established. Its first issue has rolled off the press and has been circulated to the citizens of this district. Today, Edition No. 2 greets its readers.

As we suggested last week, the first issue was the result of overcoming countless difficulties. But no new effort ever came to fruition without a great deal of grief.

But throughout our attempts to produce a newspaper which would be a credit to the community, we were heartened by the wonderful support we received on all sides.

Not only did the Summerland merchants co-operate in a manner which surprised even this management, but we received a helping hand whenever we needed it.

Since our first issue reached the street we have received many plaudits. This issue has been accepted to an extent beyond our fondest hopes. The friendly citizens of Summerland have realized our difficulties and despite many deficiencies they have told us they like our paper.

To the many persons and business firms who so willingly aided us in our first edition, to our staff members who put in so many long hours of tedious work, and to the many friends who went out of their way to pat us on the back, all we can say is: "Thanks."

To the Future

"So shall Summerland continue to be a place of desire to thousands who would be supremely happy in the conditions under which we live."

Such was the pious hope of the first editor of The Summerland Review, as he wrote his initial story on August 8, 1908. It was a simply-phrased ending to his first story of the development of Summerland, and yet it contains a thought which should make us pause and reflect.

In the adjoining column on this page is reprinted Editor Watkins' first message. It is refreshing to read his hopes and aspirations for the community, his regret that the "simple days" had passed along with the hustle and bustle of a growing district.

To us, in 1946, Summerland thirty-eight years ago would not seem to have been a busy metropolis. In this age of radio and fast-driving airplanes linking all portions of the world together, we are inclined to sneer at the generations just past.

But, if one reads Mr. Watkins' message and takes a moment to meditate on the hopes and aspirations of the founders of this community, there is room for solemn thought.

It was a great undertaking which J. M. Robinson, with his organizing ability and enthusiasm, set about to develop. If he could see this Okanagan Valley today he would have every right to be proud of its growth and prosperity.

His vision and energy helped to create the Okanagan as it is today. No doubt, if he had not left the prairies to visit this "Garden of Eden," some other enterprising individual or group would have taken his place. But he did come to visit and he did set underway the development of the Okanagan, especially in the Peachland, Summerland and Naramata area.

It is amazing, even today, to think of the quick development of this district in six short years, as pictured by Editor Watkins. Summerland continued to grow in the following six years until World War I halted its progress and took active sons away to far corners of the earth. There was another upsurge in the early twenties but in the next 10 to 15 years there was little progress on the scale of the pre-war days.

But Summerland has been going through another boom period. Whether it has reached the levelling-out stage now is hard to ascertain, but there is plenty of room for further development.

We wonder if Mr. Robinson's broad vision went so far as to picture Summerland with the second largest fruit tonnage in the Okanagan, as it enjoys today. We rather think that he sensed such a development.

Gone is the College, which was the pride and joy of the early settlers here, although the building still stands as a memorial to their acceptance of a need for better education. Gone is the hotel which was such a popular hostelry on the lakeshore.

Most of the buildings of those early days have departed but in their place have come more modern institutions. There are still many more to be added. Even now, the hospital is enlarging its facilities with a maternity wing and a nurses' home. The school trustees are planning a four-room addition and a new high school. There is a need here for a provincial government sub-agency, among many other services which Summerland should acquire.

There should be no holding back. This district has added a thousand persons in the past ten years. Countless hundreds more could be added with proper planning.

If more residents could be endowed with the vision of J. M. Robinson, then the growth and prosperity of Summerland would be assured.

SUMMERLAND - Yesterday : Today : Tomorrow

This story is a reproduction of the introductory message written by J. F. Watkins, manager of the original Summerland Review, in its first edition, of August 8, 1908. This heading is also copied from that first issue. A copy of the original edition was loaned to The Review by Mrs. M. V. Dale.

In this, the first issue of the Summerland Review, it may not be inappropriate to put on record for the benefit of the stranger within the gates and the curious of later days, some little account of the origin, progress and possible destiny of Summerland, the place we call home; the place in which we expect to live and die, and be buried—if we don't have a crematory in operation before that time or the good angels don't come to whisk us away in the night.

Summerland as a name and a community in the Okanagan Valley dates back six years. The country was here before that but the people who make the country were not. Moreover, the land had a primitive look.

The race of events has been so swift during the past six years that the former things of ten short years ago or less, seem about as far away as those spacious old days when Joseph and Moses kept their flocks in peace between the nearest neighbor lived in the next county.

Only the full-fledged veteran, weather-beaten pioneers of the plains can know and be able to sympathize with the old-timers in this valley in the change that has come over the spirit of their dream. The fact is, these have been through a social revolution. They now find themselves in a new world and in a new epoch. "Old things are passed away and all things have become new." Even the very face of Nature, our benign nurse, has changed toward her children so that they know her not.

It is now nearly thirty years since Mr. James Gartrell, with his wife and family of small children, came over the mountain trail from Sprague, Wash., and pitched his tent on the point of wooded bottom jutting into the Okanagan Lake at the outlet of what is now Trout Creek. He found shelter, timber, water and grass on the hills, for the cattle, and there he would stay. There he is yet—the pioneer of Summerland, with his children and grandchildren rising up about him.

Of the towns that now dot the Okanagan Valley, not one had as yet come to be. The Roman Catholic missions among the Indians near what are now Penticton and Kelowna, were the only centres of educational and religious life. The neighbors did not crowd; there was room to breathe and no law against sleeping in till ten o'clock after a hunting trip if one wanted to; and if the washing wasn't out on the line till five p.m., nobody said anything, for the simple reason that the nearest neighbors—the Ellis family and their cherry tree in this case—were at least ten miles away to the south, while to the north, Lequimes and Lloyd Jones were nearly four times that far away. That was the stunt young Jones had to do every week or two when he came courting the belle of the Okanagan at Trout Creek. Choice of a canoe, gail, or a saddle at that. Think of that now, ye scions of pampered ease who cannot climb the first bench to worship at the shrine of beauty, but must needs send your best respects by telephone.

But time rolled on, and in its wake brought other neighbors to claim a share of the land. The Lambleys seized the next best point up the lake, a matter of seventeen miles; the Garnetts and Dunstons appropriated the valley between them; George Barclay and Lloyd Jones claimed the nearby flats, unannexed by the Siwash; the Darkees said Meadow Valley, to the west, was good enough for them, and Dunc Woods, just to be sociable, had already long since absorbed the other half of Trout Creek point as a place on which to sit down whenever he got tired chasing the golden lure of the hills in the guise of a carefree prospector.

Thus was the country comfortably filled. Two families at Vernon were said to own 20,000 acres of it. The cattle and horses multiplied and grew fat. A few oats for the horses, a little grist and fruit for the house; and occasional round-up of stock; fishing and hunting expeditions whenever one pleased; visiting the neighbors between times and the round of "simple life" was complete. Life was a picnic and a hallelujah in the good old days that are forever gone. So it was throughout the Okanagan. As one old-timer expressed it a few years ago: "We wouldn't be bothered gathering eggs when they fell below fifty cents a dozen."

One day, in the fall of 1901, a stranger from Manitoba who had crossed the Red river before the C.P.R., and rubbed his nose for twenty years to keep it warm in that inhospitable climate, came out to the Lambley ranch when the peaches were bending the branches of the trees and apples were beginning to turn gold and red. His teeth watered and his eyes grew big with wonder. He didn't know Canada had another Niagara peninsula; he didn't know we have an Italy in the Dominion. "Sweet are the uses of adversity." As he talked with the lady of the house and she told him of the climate of "God's country," in which she dwelt and some of her trips "into the world," as she called the great outside, the memory of twenty years he had spent rubbing his nose came over him and the forms of scores of friends who had got tired rubbing and gone south, passed before him, and he said, "This looks like God's country sure enough, and if it is God's country, it is meant for thousands of good Canadians who need it, especially those Northwest folks who need to be thawed out. You people ought to squeeze over and let us in."

That stranger was J. M. Robinson, and Peachland, Summerland and Naramata are the result of his cogitations, to say nothing of the wider indirect results of his publicity campaign which, like a swell, suddenly upheaved the pastoral conditions and gave a new population to well-nigh every section of land between Dog Lake and Armatong.

Peachland was the first serious attempt at intensive fruit culture on the arid bench lands of this province. The chronicle of that experiment must be another story. It is enough here to say that it was so conspicuously successful that Mr. Robinson went down the lake forthwith to interview Mr. Barclay regarding the purchase of his 4,000 acres and his 500 head of cattle and horses with a view to working over again on a larger scale the founding of a community for them and retired business and professional men, more particularly of the Northwest, who had served their time on the foundations of the mighty empire of the interior and would fain seek milder conditions, in which to end their days or rear their families.

In the working out of such a proposition it was evident certain factors were indispensable. There must be capital to buy and develop. This was found in Montreal. Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy and a few friends on the directorate of the C.P.R., were quick to see the possibilities and ready to seize them. They became interested and at once put up the required wherewithal.

But capital is not enough: climate conditions must be inviting. Happily, a five years' residence enabled Mr. Robinson to speak confidently as to that. He knew Canada and could truthfully say that elsewhere there could be found none like it. But even climate and capital are not enough; there must be financial possibilities. These the monopoly of climate, soil peculiarly adapted to the raising of high grade fine fruits beside the teeming millions of the colder wheat belt, seemed reasonably to guarantee.

But even all that would not suffice for Mr. Robinson's ideal of a community. Retired business and professional people, while they like the simple life, like also to live in comfort and they must have first class educational advantages for their children. It was clear, therefore, that as soon as possible a college must be provided for the children of the community and the valley, and that electric light and water works should be provided for the homes. That was six years ago last spring.

Today, the dream of six years ago is a reality. Mental concepts have materialized. Difficulties have been surmounted; obstacles have withered away under the spell of a tremendous enthusiasm guided by a well-balanced judgment. Foresight has given place to hindsight and the latter proves even better than the former.

On the arid uplands where the wild cattle roamed, have risen in six years, as by a magician's wand, many beautiful homes embowered in orchards of tender fruits. Four hundred thousand choice trees have been planted, it is said. Many of them are bearing this year. Up on the heights overlooking us all, reposes the beautiful building they call Okanagan College, built chiefly through the princely generosity of Mr. James Ritchie, of Summerland, his brother, William, with other Summerland citizens, and already commanding assets in the neighborhood of $70,000.

In those college halls, as in the homes down town, the terrible fluid of the gods of Mount Olympus furnishes the light, and a pipeline furnishes the crystal current of a mountain reservoir for table and lavatory use. On every other flat of the college building and on the main street of the town, are hose and hydrant for the speed subjugation of the fire fiend, should he once break loose. Four schools of the state minister to the education of the young in primary grades.

Down town a splendid hotel on the lake front; a magnificent departmental store with branch store on the flats above, and other smaller but busy stores of various kinds minister to the needs of the people.

Nor have the higher concerns of the soul been forgotten. Anglican, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian ministers resident, watch over their flocks to see that they dwell together in harmony with all men, so far as in them lies, and if but one church has as yet been built it is simply because the others would wait to know just how large to build when they did gird themselves for the task. The community kept growing so fast no one could tell just what would be needed.

In the more distinctly social aspects of life the community has been able to take its place and play an honorable part. One of the churches, less than two years old at the time, could invite and creditably entertain the provincial convention of that body last year. A long array of championship cups, aquatic, military and athletic, won in friendly strife, attests the quality of the young manhood of the place, to say nothing of the more serious and significant array of medals and diplomas won by our fruit growers in open competition with the best in the great outside world.

And over all is the Council, composed of business men who might with equal ease be found managing the affairs of some large city. So wild cattle land that rated at a few dollars per acre, they now have assessed at $1,660,000.

"Heaven from all creatures hides the book of Fate." What shall be tomorrow or whether there shall be any tomorrow who can say with absolute assurance. Yet the old world has wagged on in the same old way so long, there's a reasonable presumption that it will wag a little more. In which case what about Summerland tomorrow?

Well, for one thing, she should be bigger and better than she is today. We have only got a fair start. Not half the land that will be tributary to Summerland has as yet been planted. There is much yet to be done. Not half the beautiful homes that are to be on these benches have as yet gone up. Not half the beautiful people whose eyes are turning this way as the sunset or meridian hope of life, have as yet reached us. Not a tithe of the business that must be done in Summerland is yet afoot, and still less is felt the sweet leaven of that college institution among us, whose ideals are those of the highest of Christian culture and refinement.

Summerland has only begun. It is a good beginning. Six years of life at peace with one another and the world is a good beginning. No arrest has as yet been made among us. May it never come. May our lives be so simple and simple and sincere as a people that it will be easy to do right and hard to go wrong around here. Perhaps it would be too much to expect this forever, but let us at any rate hope for "what we love we yet shall be," and what we reasonably hope for is quite likely to happen. So shall Summerland continue to be a place of desire to thousands who would be supremely happy in the conditions under which we live.

N. Westminster Wedding Scene

Collect Clothing For Europeans

The Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, in New Westminster, was the scene of an interesting wedding on May 25th, when Father Burns officiated at the marriage rites of Sarah Margaret, eldest daughter of Mrs. Patrick McGurk and the late Mr. McGurk, of Wonnock, and Adorno, second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Biagioni, of West Summerland.

The bride was dressed in a powder-blue dressmaker suit with white flowered hat and white accessories, chose as her maid-of-honor her sister, Miss Dorothy McGurk, who was dressed in a grey tailored suit with blue hat and accessories.

Mr. T. Burns, of New Westminster, attended the groom. Following the ceremony, a small reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, with about 20 guests present.

For a honeymoon trip to Summerland, where Mr. and Mrs. Biagioni are making their home, the bride chose a beige gown with brown accessories.

Bedsread Is Won At Bazaar

Mrs. Walter Gould was the lucky holder of the ticket 132, which won the lovely chenille bedsread, which was raffled by the Women's Auxiliary of the Summerland Branch of the Canadian Legion, at their bazaar on Sat., June 1st, in the Legion Hall, West Summerland. Consolation winner was Miss Nordeen Anderberg, whose prize was an attractive pair of embroidered pillow cases.

Visitors to the bazaar, which proved a success in every way, were welcomed by the President of the Auxiliary, Mrs. J. A. Read.

The tables were tastefully decorated, and filled with a variety of fancy work, home cooking, etc. In charge of the table of fancy work and aprons were Mrs. W. Tullet and Mrs. G. Loomer, while Mrs. C. R. Morgan and Mrs. W. W. Borton were in charge of the appetizing table of home cooking. Mrs. B. P. Davis presided over the lovely table of plants and flowers.

Refreshments were served by the Mesdames W. Atkinson, R. Smith, W. Davis, J. Broderick, G. Pennington, F. Thompson, and G. Lewis. Mrs. Sherwood was in charge of the lucky ticket sales for the raffle, and Miss Joan Sherwood drew the lucky ticket for Mrs. Gould.

Announcement has been made by the Canadian Allied Relief Fund of the forthcoming National Clothing Collection Campaign, with Mrs. J. O'Mahoney as chairman for the Summerland district.

There is still a drastic shortage of essential clothing in Europe, and to alleviate this need each citizen is asked to donate a non-essential garment, in good condition. This garment, it is pointed out, should be one that need not be replaced, as with the serious shortage of materials, the object of the campaign would thus be defeated, since it is to get the use of spare clothing, without causing a further shortage of materials, that is the main object of the drive.

It is stressed that donations should be thoroughly examined with the view of removing all matches. Last year a quantity of clothing was lost by fires which started from this cause.

The municipality is co-operating in this campaign by volunteering the use of municipal trucks for the collection of clothing, and the aid of post offices and other public facilities has been promised.

The practice of sending letters of cheer with the clothing is being encouraged. Such messages invite a warm and friendly feeling for Canadians in the hearts of the recipients, and much interesting correspondence may arise in this manner, it is stated.

Donations may be left at the Parish Hall for Mrs. O'Mahoney. The following categories of used clothing are to be collected:

Suits, men's women's children's. Odd coats, skirts, trousers. Dresses, blouses, womens. Overcoats, men's, women's, childrens. Jackets in all sizes. Scarves, shawls. Footwear, (fastened firmly in pairs). Blankets.

Miss Alma Wright, of Vancouver, who is staying with Mrs. Schwass, is substituting on the local teaching staff until the end of the term. Miss Wright is taking the place of Mrs. Morrison, who is ill.

Miss Theresa Guidi, of the staff of the Banff Springs Hotel, was a recent visitor at her home here. Mrs. W. F. Ward chaperoned the Mission Band on June 1, when they all enjoyed a hike and picnic on Giant's Head.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Federation was held on the afternoon of May 22nd at the home of Mrs. W. F. Ward.

Mrs. A. K. Elliot was hostess for the Rebekah Sewing Tea on Wednesday afternoon, May 29th.

Extra Base Clouts Win For Locals

Summerland's heavy artillery exploded over two hapless Pentiction chukkers on Sunday afternoon at the local ball diamond and when the smoke cleared away the Summerland entry in the South Okanagan Baseball league had chalked up another victory by a cricket score of 13-10.

Third and fourth innings were Pentiction's downfall as the local pill heavers pounded deliveries by port-side Raitt and his relief, Drossos, for 10 runs. Another run in the initial frame and a couple more in the sixth rounded off the circuit chasing for the winners.

After a shaky start in the initial canto, which yielded three runs, Jimmy Strachan settled down and turned away the visitors until the fifth, when another single sneaked across. Then, in the sixth, he weakened to let five more come across.

Walsh was pressed into service in the sixth and lasted the game, only allowing a single Pentiction run to cross the plate.

Doubles really won the contest for Summerland, with Hankins being the local pride and joy, pounding out two extra hits when they were most needed. Clark and Biagioni had a useful day with the hickory, while Strachan's fielding vied with his work on the stick.

Dagg and Bella were the only consistent hitters for the visitors with the former scoring four of his team's runs. The diminutive Pentiction catcher played his usual game and had affairs under control most of the time.

Phipps, after committing several miscues at first base, was put in the hurler's spot in the fifth frame, and with a speedy delivery held the Summerland crew to two tallies until the finish.

Best play of the game came in the final stanza, when with one down and Bella on first, Raptis hit to Strachan who threw Bella out at second and McCarger completed the double to Amm at first.

Pentiction, at the start of the game was running the paths at random, but after his first few throws Clark settled down and nipped three visiting runners who were attempting to steal the bags.

WESTBANK

WESTBANK—A survey party is busy at Bear Lake, on the Westbank watershed with a view to ascertaining whether it is possible to build additional dams in that region. Should this prove feasible, there is a likelihood that a number of homes, each with a small acreage, will be erected in Westbank in the near future.

Lakeshore residents in this locality have welcomed the slow-up in the rise of the lake, which slow-up has been quite noticeable since the run-off resulting from the recent rain. Considerable flooding of fields along the lakeshore is already apparent, some field-crops having been under water for some time, while shrubs, etc., in home gardens are showing evidence of the results of high water, and unless the peak is reached very soon, will probably not recover.

Bear Creek-Westbank C.C.F. club's June meeting took the form of a basket picnic held at the ranch of Mr. Chaplin, Bear Creek, on Monday evening, June 3. Lively discussions on various subjects resulted from the meeting in which Mrs. Gladys Webster, Mrs. Ruth Purdy and G. Walburn, of Kelowna, all took part. The only regret voiced was that the evening passed too quickly.

Mrs. Henry Maurice, of Chilliwack, was the guest for several days of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hoskins.

Mrs. G. W. Stubbs, Westbank, has arrived home from Vancouver, where she has been vacationing since the days spent as delegate to the provincial conference of Women's Institutes, held during the last week of May.

Fraternal Greetings to Summerland Review

Our best wishes to Tim Armstrong and George Fudge. May "The Summerland Review" be a worthy addition to the free press of Canada and a useful servant of the beautiful and prosperous community in which it is established.

Similar telegrams were dispatched to Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Acting Prime Minister; Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale. The previous day Hon. Mr. Ilsley had informed the growers by wire: "Government recognizes importance of conserving fruit crop. Every effort likely to be successful is being made to bring about resumption of production in these mills." At the Tuesday meeting in Kelowna, the actions of the growers box shook committee were endorsed.

Hospital

When this addition has been completed, there will be provided for this district a 30-bed hospital, adequate to take care of most needs in this fast-growing community. The present occupancy of the hospital averages 18 to 20 beds.

Nurses' Home
To the east of the hospital the new Nurses' Home will be erected in an L-shape, 43 feet in width. This will be a separate unit.

Main portion of the building will be two storeys and will contain seven bedrooms, three downstairs and four on the upper floor. Toilet facilities will be installed upstairs and a small kitchenette is a feature on the ground floor.

On the north side, off the two-storey section and commanding a grand view of Okanagan Lake, will be built, the large living-room, containing a splendid stone fireplace. A large verandah runs along the width of this portion.

To heat the new addition and the Nurses' Home a forced hot water system will be installed in the basement of the home. Probably an iron fireman using coal, will be utilized.

Heating of the main portion of the hospital will remain as at present, with sawdust providing the fuel.

The present nurses' quarters will be turned over to the kitchen and ward staff for their living accommodation.

Convert Verandah
Construction is already underway to convert a portion of the verandah on the south side of the hospital into another ward. A portion of the wall in the men's ward will be knocked out to enlarge the bed capacity and make one large ward.

This work has been held up for some weeks because of shortage of materials and labor.

Last year the hospital added X-ray equipment to a value of $3,500, while two months ago a new washer and extractor were purchased and installed to provide adequate laundry facilities.

At present, the hospital staff comprises the matron, Miss Freda Huenichen, and four nurses, two maids, the cook and janitor. When the new addition is completed, two more nurses will be added to the staff.

Members of the Summerland Hospital Board, who have planned these alterations, are as follows: President, S. A. MacDonald; vice-president, Capt. J. E. Jenkinson; secretary-treasurer, J. E. O'Mahoney; members, C. J. Huddleston, C. J. Bleasdale, J. M. Butler, W. R. Boyd, Dr. J. C. Wilcox, T. M. Croil, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, representing the Ladies' auxiliary, and Reeve W. R. Powell, ex officio for the municipality.

The Mail Box

Editor, The Review:
When war's in the air, and when danger is nigh, God and our Soldiers is all the cry;

But when war is over and wrongs have been righted, God is forgotten and the soldier slighted.

I am reminded of this old barrack-room doggerel by the recent action of some members of our community, who forwarded a petition to the Liquor Control Board opposing a request for a Club License, made by the Summerland Branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League.

Such action, following the fullsome and laudatory praise bestowed on our boys during the war being in a complete contradiction of their former attitude. Then, nothing was too good as a reward for their courage. "Were they not offering their lives that the stay-at-homes might dwell in peace and security? members of a crusade, fighting for freedom and democracy, gallantly submitting to untold hardships that we might survive, facing a monstrous aggressor—heroes all, they were, and in pride and admiration for their sufferings, their privations and their valour, gratitude in no unstinted measure would be theirs upon returning."

Thus ran the promises, and what happened? A denial given to our first simple request, a betrayal of all the fine promises. The freedom for which they fought and for which many died, is upon their return, denied them. All those fervent protestations all the promises seen in the end to be but lip-service, so we fight again.

We did not want a license to operate a beer parlor, as some think, all we require is a club license for the use of our members exclusively; a club which we intend to operate will be conducive to moderation, a club where our members can sit in comfort, where they can talk over their experiences, their battles, their mutual friends contacted whilst on leave, and so consolidate that comradeship that only those who have served can understand.

I have tried to make our position in this matter clear, and in conclusion, I wish to state that it is our intention to circulate a petition to place before the Liquor Control Board, and I earnestly ask those people—friends of our returned men, to sign, giving their consent to our operating a club such as I have described.

Thanking you, sir,
SID THOMAS,
President, Brancs No. 22,
Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.

Fruit Growers Welcome Review

"It is a pleasure, while still President of the B.C.F.G.A. to extend to the community of Summerland and to the publishers of the new paper, The Summerland Review, hearty congratulations on the addition of this valuable asset to the Okanagan Valley," Mr. A. G. DesBrisay, retiring President of the B.C.F.G.A., said last week.

"The Summerland district is one of the highly important sections of the Okanagan and it is destined to grow in population and production because of its soil and climate resources and its general allure."

"To Tim Armstrong, the Editor, long and favorably known to the people of the Okanagan Valley, especially the fruit growers, and to George Fudge, his partner in this new enterprise and a grower himself, I beg to tender on behalf of the B.C.F.G.A. a warm welcome.

"It is assured, having regard for their constructive interest in the development of the Okanagan Valley, that Mr. Fudge and Mr. Armstrong and The Summerland Review will be most useful factors in advancing the welfare of their community, the Okanagan Valley and of British Columbia generally."

Miss Shirley Walker was hostess for many of her little friends at a birthday party in her honor recently.

The Only Remedy for Hunger is FOOD!

The most efficient way in which we can send increased bulk shipments of WHEAT, MEAT, CHEESE and EGGS to needy countries is through the Canadian government food Boards. These increased bulk shipments can only be made providing we reduce our own consumption. Here are five important ways by which we can make greater quantities of food available for export:

- (1) BUY AND USE LESS BREAD, FLOUR AND OTHER WHEAT PRODUCTS, MEAT, CHEESE AND EGGS. SUBSTITUTE VEGETABLES, FRUIT AND FISH WHERE POSSIBLE.
- (2) KEEP YOUR HOME STOCKS LOW — BUY ONLY ENOUGH FOR IMMEDIATE REQUIREMENTS.
- (3) AVOID ALL WASTE.
- (4) GROW A VICTORY GARDEN AGAIN THIS YEAR. PLANT MORE THIS TIME IF YOU CAN.
- (5) DONATE ANY MEAT COUPONS YOU CAN SPARE. ENQUIRE AT YOUR LOCAL RATION BOARD.

Temporary Rooms

In a lengthy conference on Tuesday evening at Penticton, the consolidated school board dealt for some time with Summerland's school accommodation problem for next term. It will be necessary to provide some extra classrooms for both the elementary and high schools.

This extra accommodation will be of a temporary nature, as the Summerland trustees are making their plans for a four-room addition to the elementary building and a new, modern high school.

No definite plans to meet the housing needs for next fall and winter were reached and trustees are meeting in Summerland on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to discuss this matter further.

A. LAUZON PASSES

Alfred Lauzon, aged 64, passed away in the Summerland hospital on Monday, June 3, after an illness of some months. He had been a resident of Summerland for the past three years. Rev. Frank Haskins officiated at the funeral service, which was held in the Penticton funeral chapel on Wednesday, June 5, with interment in the Lakeview cemetery, Penticton.

Surviving are his widow, Isabel Josephine, Summerland, and one daughter, Mrs. David Rich, Spokate, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Faasse have returned from a month's visit to the prairies and eastern points.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hecker have returned from a Vancouver visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Biagioni, who were recently married at the coast, have arrived in Summerland, and will make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sutton and daughter were visitors at northern valley points for several days recently.

Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell, former well-known local residents, are now living at Lulu Island, where Mr. Mitchell has accepted a position with an agricultural nursery.

Mrs. Donald Orr has been visiting with friends in Vancouver. Mrs. A. Advocaat is a patient in the local hospital.

Daughters Play Hosts to Mothers

TEEN TOWN

(By Rhoda Mason)

The Mother and Daughter banquet of the local C.G.I.T. groups was held in the United Church Hall on Friday, May 31st. The color motif of the C.G.I.T. was emphasized in the blue and white streamers which decorated the hall.

Gerda Arndt, president of the senior group, welcomed the mothers on behalf of the girls, and following the toast to the King, Maureen May proposed a toast to "Our Mothers", to which Mrs. Haskins ably responded.

The program consisted of a song led by Mrs. H. Milne, piano selections by Doreen Steuart and Ruth Fleming, a cleverly played skit by the senior girls; a duet by Gerda Arndt and Maureen May, and a group of action songs by the senior group.

The junior group put on a skit entitled "The Minister's Mistake", and Mary Ward, after outlining a day at camp, urged the girls to attend camp this year.

Gerda Arndt introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Birch, who was thanked by Beverly Fleming for the interesting talk she had given the girls.

Summerland Teen Town has taken another step forward. Through our new column we will now be able to keep in touch with members, past members and parents. Although our local Teen Town has found it hard sledding this past year, we are now advancing rapidly, and by means of this new semi-monthly column as a public voice which we have badly needed, we are confident that we are at last on the smooth (we hope) road to success.

Teen Town History
Summerland Teen Town was organized in August, 1945, with approximately 75 initial members. Our first social activities were dances for teen-agers, which proved a successful venture with net proceeds being about $50 per dance.

Our Teen Town advisor is Joe McLachlan, who was selected this spring by the local Board of Trade. Joe has taken a very keen interest in Teen Town and the kids think he is just about tops.

Our elected committees are: Mayor, Rhoda Mason; Secretary, Colleen Cross; Treasurer, Alfred Kita; Social Committee, Shirley Harvey, Gwen Lamcraft, Rhoda Ritchie, Jim May, Audrey Prior; Councillors, Lawrence Hookam, Wilena Elliott, Ray Moore; Entertainment Committee, Jim Hack, Norman Verrier, Jack Dunsdon, Harry Ruppel; Police Force, Lee Miller, Jim Thompson, Ray Moore.

Teen Town Rules are: 1, No Smoking; 2, No Drinking; 3, No Gambling; 4, No Profanity.

Vancouver Conference
Mayor Rhoda Mason attended the conference of Teen Town Mayors in Vancouver at the end of April. Some of the rules that were voted for and passed at the conference were as follows:

Youth Parliament, an organization patterned after the Provincial Legislature with members of the Parliament elected by each Teen Town.

Reciprocal Membership—A member of any Teen Town is eligible to enjoy privileges in any Teen Town in B.C.

Provincial Emblem—Teen Towns will have an emblem of the same general design, but carried out in the colors of the individual Teen Towns.

Little World Series—An annual softball tournament will involve all B.C. Teen Towns.

Other rulings were—1, Same election dates for all B.C. Teen Towns; 2, annual "Good Citizenship" awards in all Teen Towns; 3, annual Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Tag Day—On April 20th a Teen Town Tag Day was held in West Summerland. Proceeds were $59.00, and this amount will go for badly-needed sports equipment. Teen Town also served supper at the May 24th Dance, and net proceeds were over $17.00.

Note to Parents
We wish to stress to parents that they will be welcome to look in on any Teen Town activities, and their interest and help will be appreciated.

Friday Dance
Proceeds of the Teen Town dance on Friday May 31, were $17.00. The lucky winners were Vernon Borton and Beverley Walsh. Our next dance will be on Friday, June 10th, and we hope for a larger turnout from members.

Purchase Organ

Decision to purchase and instal a large memorial electric organ, at a cost of $4,000 was reached at a congregational meeting of St. Andrew's United Church, on Wednesday evening, May 29.

This organ would serve as a memorial to the men of the congregation who served in World Wars I and II.

It is expected that this organ will be installed in October, when a dedication will be made and a recital given.

This electric pipe organ is built on a different basis from other types installed in British Columbia churches. Rev. Whitmore informed The Review this week. It will be the first installation of its kind in British Columbia by the Wurlitzer company, which before the war was the largest manufacturer of pipe organs in the United States.

This new type manufacture is called a Two-Manual Orgatron, and uses reeds for the overtones. It is claimed that this electric organ gives the true pipe organ tone to a greater extent than previous electrical installations.

Approximately half the money needed for the purchase of this instrument has already been raised,

Property Sales

One need which is becoming increasingly apparently in municipal circles in Summerland is for a revision of the municipally-owned property which the Council is prepared to sell to citizens of the community.

Under the present system, a prospective buyer of municipal property approaches the Council and seeks his choice of lot. He is asked to submit his offer. He, in turn, asks the Council what it wishes for the property in question.

Both sides are inclined to stall for a while. Eventually, one side breaks down and makes a suggestion. If it is the Council which takes the stand first, the prospective buyer usually says the price is too high. If the buyer suggests a price, the Council in turn, replies that it is not enough.

And so the haggling continues until an agreement is reached. In this manner much time is wasted at Council sessions and the purchaser is never certain that he has obtained a fair market value and the Council is never certain it has made the best bargain for the Municipality in line with other sales which it has made throughout the season.

The amount of available property which the Municipality has left for sale is not great. It would not be too difficult a task for a Court of Revision to be set up to place a fair market value on all land, in view of present-day prices.

If such a practice was adopted, the prospective purchasers would have an assurance that all property had been valued on the same basis. Then the week-by-week sales of municipal property would not depend upon the whim of the Council on any one day.

Such a system would only be good business for the Municipality and for the purchasers.

Thursday Meeting

Thursday night's meeting, called by the union sub-local of the I.W.A., under the chairmanship of Reeve W. R. Powell, and crowded with interested growers and business men, was a credit to the municipality.

Not only was the meeting conducted with absolute decorum, but it reached a decision quickly and without any waste effort. With feeling among the growers running at a high level, in view of the possible loss to the fruit industry, it might easily have run amok and bitter recriminations and hasty insults could have been hurled at random.

But the growers and the union kept their heads and the result was a possible solution to the strike problem.

William Langmead, international representative of the I.W.A., won many supporters for the union with his straight-forward presentation of the labor problems and hopes. Without taking sides in this controversial question, it is only fair to say that his easy flow of speech and his well-prepared presentation were the main factors in dispensing with the business of the meeting.

The meeting was called by the union men for the express purpose of presenting the strikers' viewpoint to the growers. This was done, the meeting reached its conclusion, and Reeve Powell ended the discussion abruptly as the purpose had been served. It was well done.

The Hobby Show

One of the most energetic and worthwhile groups in this district is the A.O.T.S. Club. It has taken unto itself the task of improving life among the younger generation. This is a creditable endeavor.

On a recent Saturday, the public was given an opportunity to witness some of the results of this club's work. For months past, young people have been encouraged by the club to spend their spare time in hobbies of their choosing.

The results of this encouragement were plainly shown to the public at the Hobby Show. It was remarkable the extent and scope of the young collectors and artists. It was a manifest example of the talent which can be unearthed if given a little encouragement.

But this club does not stop with these efforts. Several sports groups among the younger fry owe their existence to these public-spirited men of the community.

In these endeavors, the club is living up to its name in every respect: As One That Serves.

SUMMERLAND—28 YEARS AGO

This week we continue with a perusal of the first edition of the original Summerland Review of August 3, 1908. It was a twelve-page paper, similar to the 1946 edition of The Review. But it was an entirely different typographical set-up and it was printed on book paper which, in this day of paper shortages, was really something.

Another similarity comes with the announcement that the future editions would be confined to eight pages. Today, The Review will consist of eight pages for some time, due to mechanical limitations.

In a glance through the advertisements, many interesting items are discerned. A. B. Elliott announced that he will open a full stock of dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, hardware, etc. C. H. Cordy was the notary public, real estate and insurance broker. V. Taylor proudly told the public that he manufactured harness of every description.

The Bank of Montreal had moved into Summerland, with E. B. May as sub-agent. Assets in those days only amounted to $168,000,000. Studio days to have your photographs taken by F. C. Lever, were listed. The Summerland Drug Co. proudly informed one and all that a fresh stock of photographic supplies had just arrived.

Summerland Bakery and Lunch Room was operated by Armit and Steenson. General blacksmiths and woodworkers were Shields and Hatfield, and they also did horse-shoeing and could install and repair gasoline engines.

Misses Eedy and McIntyre were proud of their millinery dressmaking and fancy goods.

James Ritchie gave his readers "The Last Chance to secure the finest ten- and five-acre fruit lots which have yet been sold in Summerland", at $190 per acre.

Four churches gave notice of their services, including St. Peter's church, Rev. H. A. Solly, B.A., vicar; Methodist church, R. J. McIntyre, pastor; Presbyterian church, James Hood, pastor, and Baptist church, Rev. G. H. Estabrook, B.A., pastor.

Daily delivery in town and staggered delivery days to other portions of the district was the inducement of E. A. Eagel, grocer and commission merchant. Among the small business notices, Charles Merrill Smith, M.B., M.C.P.S.O., M.C.P.S.B.C., was the most prominent, specializing in diseases of women and children and the nervous system; Wesley A. Peters was the architect; C. W. Johnson and James V. Johnson were the two contractors and builders; A. Grieve was a house and carriage painter, while R. J. McIntyre was worthy master of the Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 2036.

With yards at Siwash Flat and the mill in Meadow Valley, A. Richardson & Co., were the lumber manufacturers; T. F. Guy was the proprietor of the Exchange Barber Shop.

The Summerland-Naramata ferry was a big feature in those days and C. N. Higgin was the proprietor. On and after August 3, the ferry was due to leave Naramata at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. and Summerland at 9 a.m. and 5.30 p.m. Arrangements could be made for special trips.

Watchmaker and optician was E. I. Scott, and G. A. McWilliams handled real estate and insurance.

John Tait had a business in those early days and was representative for the Crown Tailoring Co., Toronto, as well as agent for Layritz Nurseries, Victoria; cyphers, incubators and brooders, poultry foods, chic foods and poultry supplies of all kinds; and for the Imperial Silverware Co., Windsor, Ont.

H. C. Mellor was a carpenter and builder and specialized in cement work of all kinds; R. H. English was the proprietor of the Livery, Feed and Sales Stables. Hotel Summerland had L. H. McDowell as manager, and rates were $2 to $3 per day.

Gartrell and Burtch operated the Summerland Meat Market and delivered on Tuesdays and Fridays, with special contract rates for camps.

Orchard land was advertised extensively by the Summerland Development Co. From Naramata came the message that if you missed your chance of buying property in Summerland or Peachland, this was your last chance. The Summerland Trust Co., Ltd., was responsible for this warning. J. M. Robinson was manager of both companies. There were also the Naramata Boat Co. and Naramata Supply Co.

Okanagan College announced the fall term, starting on September 23, with Eveett W. Sawyer as principal. Courses included college matriculation, junior and senior; commercial course; stenography and typewriting; vocal and instrumental music.

Percy S. Hook was a pianist and teacher, while on the back page were two half-page advertisements for the Summerland Supply Co., Ltd., and the Summerland Fruit Co., Ltd.

Turning to the news columns, we find that the council was headed by Reeve Agur, and one of the chief discussions centred around the matter of entertaining the members of the irrigation convention which would visit Summerland on August 13.

The disaster at Fernie and Michel, where fire swept the communities, brought out the sympathy of the editor and also a practical suggestion that Summerland should hurry with a shipment of fruit and vegetables to the sufferers.

Peachland had a long column of personal items, with a special mention of Seth Davidson's new stone house, first of its kind to be built here.

In the local news, it was announced that a son was born to Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Solly. A lacrosse team is to be organized in the fall. A new freight shed and express office have been erected on the C.P. wharf. The Summerland brass band gave an open air concert on Saturday night, with Bandmaster Williams conducting. The Summerland volunteer fire brigade made its first run of the season to a brush fire at the southern end of town.

Naramata also same in for a good deal of attention, with news of a grand regatta on August 20. A tennis club was also formed there, as well as the Naramata Amateur Athletic and Aquatic Association.

Sport occupied a prominent place in Summerland news and, just as at present, Summerland was on top of the heap, having just defeated Kelowna again by a 12-5 score. The Summerland line-up, which hadn't lost a game in eleven starts, consisted of Conway ss, Manchester 3b, McIntyre 2b, Steenson p, Gartrell rf, Blowett 1b, Seaman rf, Baker c, and Glennie lf.

Comments on the game included: "Conway has very useful pair of legs, Manchester a nimble wit, and Blowett is about as infallible as a steel trap at first." It was noted that one Kelowna laddie was so foolish as to grab Baker by the legs as he shoved over third on his way home. The baseball league consisted of Summerland, Kelowna, Peachland and Penticton with the following officers: W. L. Shatford, Penticton, president; Mr. Jocelyn, Kelowna, vice-president; W. L. McColl, Peachland, secretary, and Rev. R. J. McIntyre, Summerland, treasurer.

A civilian rifle association held weekly shoots and the most recent scores were: F. Munro, 84; S. A. Liddell, 82; G. Gartrell, 81; M. Steuart, 79; H. Dunadon, 78; P. Nixon, 76; J. Dunadon, 75; W. Nelson, 73.

"The time has arrived when a wider attention to the rules of the road should be observed by riders and drivers in this district. . . . travellers turn either to the right or left as caprice or fancy strike them. . . . road building is a serious problem and in skirting along the side of a steep hill, the bank cut away on one side and a miniature precipice on the other, close observance of the rules of the road is absolutely imperative. . . . Throughout the interior provinces the rule is to keep to the right, but in B.C. and the maritime provinces the law calls for a turn to the left according to the custom in England. . . . when keeping to the left the driver, who invariably sits on the right side of his vehicle, has a view of the wheel which will come next to his neighbor in passing."

HOSPITAL BYLAW

Final reading of the Summerland Hospital bylaw was given by the Summerland Council on Wednesday, June 12. It will probably be a much bigger job to have the additions to the hospital built than it was to have the bylaw pass the taxpayers, was the Council comment.

First Loss In Baseball

PEACHLAND—Peachland suffered its first defeat in the South Okanagan baseball loop on June 9, at the hands of Princeton, by an 8-6 count. Princeton was never headed in the game and at the end of the fourth inning had a 7-1 lead. Peachland fought back but was unable to bring home the equalizing runs. Kovich doubled for Princeton in the first inning to score two runs, and scored himself on Sutherland's error, to give the Miners a 3-0 lead. Princeton scored again in the second inning, twice in the third and another in the fourth, to take a commanding 7-1 lead. Peachland rallied in the fifth when Williamson, Clement and Gummow scored on two hits, two errors and two walks. But Currie, pitching for Princeton, held Peachland for the rest of the contest.

Will Not Be Represented

Summerland Council will not be represented when the annual convention of the Canadian Mayors and Councils Federation convenes in Vancouver on June 24 to 27. This was the Council's decision on Wednesday, June 12.

Union Leader Presents Case For Strikers To Crowded Local Meeting

"We must save the crop for the grower. We cannot allow the crop to fail and keep the union in this country, for we have to maintain the respect of our membership."

Such was the message of William Langmead, international representative of the I.W.A.-C.I.O. for the Okanagan, speaking to a crowded Legion hall on Thursday evening.

This session was called by the union sub-local here to present before the community the strikers' story. The hall was totally inadequate for the purpose and more than a hundred persons were unable to find their way into the crowded assembly.

Reeve W. R. Powell was chairman and kept discussions to the point throughout the evening.

Arbitration Board
Ultimate result of the session was a resolution, moved by E. C. Bentley and seconded by Walter Charles that the B.C.F.-G.A. executive be urged to offer to the mill operators and the employees, through their union, a three-man arbitration board, as set out by the Arbitration Act of Canada; the finding of the board to be binding on both parties, and in the meantime, the employees to go back to work, with the findings retroactive to the date of commencing their work.

At the outset, Mr. Langmead remarked that it was not the union's endeavor to find fault but to acquaint the growers and townspeople with the underlying principles of the strike that this meeting was called.

The C.C.L., parent body of the I.W.A.-C.I.O., has made annual pilgrimages to Ottawa for several years, he continued, asking for a national labor code, similar to that in effect in the United States, Great Britain, New Zealand, and the Scandinavian countries.

"It wasn't until 1946 that we received a definite reply," he stated, and then the government was not prepared to give any assurance that such a code would be forthcoming. The government was content to leave labor problems to private enterprise, the C.C.L. was told.

The labor union had plumped for clearly defined policies for providing work during slack periods where seasonal employment was necessitated, as in the Okanagan Valley, Mr. Langmead continued, in an endeavor to provide a steady annual income for laborers.

Bargain, Then Strike
"Labor has only one recourse with private enterprise. We bargain on the strength of our membership, and if we fail, we strike," he declared.

Turning to the interior picture, Mr. Langmead stated that, contrary to many claims, his union had negotiated with employers in this area for 18 months, with little success.

The employers have a union themselves, he stressed, pointing to the Interior Lumber Manufacturing Association and the Interior Box Shook Manufacturing Association, both of which are affiliated with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, he claimed.

The union has gone into conciliation and arbitration with various members of these groups but had nearly always met the same people defending the operators, he continued.

In Cranbrook the union had gone into conciliation with one employer for a reduction in hours from 54 to 48 per week. A Dominion Department of Labor conciliator was appointed and the employer agreed at 5 o'clock one afternoon to the union proposal. By ten o'clock the next morning the employer had received instructions from Vancouver not to sign the agreement, he contended.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY
"Then we fought for seven months for an eight-hour day," continued Mr. Langmead, and related that Adam Bell had been chairman of the arbitration board. Seventeen employers had opposed the application at a Vernon meeting of the board, and among those who spoke against the eight-hour day was Mr. Stirling, representing the federated shippers, he told the gathering.

Last October the board granted a forty-eight-hour week, said Mr. Langmead.

Turning to female workers, the speaker said his union stood for: "Equal pay for equal work." He knew of women and girls earning only 15 to 20 cents per hour in the box shook industry of the interior.

"We were able to raise wages for female workers from 40 and 45 cents per hour to 55 cents per hour. But the employers got a remand from the war labor board and whittled the wage down to 50 cents per hour.

In April of this year union members and employers started to negotiate, he said, with the employers stating they could not accept the Cranbrook conciliation board findings for a 48-hour week.

"One of the objections was a spread of ten cents per hour, 55 cents to 65 cents, in the wages paid common laborers. 'Will you eliminate the lower rate?' we asked the employers. 'No' was their reply."

Mr. Langmead said that a two-cent difference existed between common labor wages at the coast and the interior. The union wanted this eliminated (Continued on Page Seven)

PARK EXPERT NOT AVAILABLE

Gordon Thorpe, park planning expert who was stationed at the Summerland Experimental Station and is now at Creston, will not be available this summer to assist in laying out parks improvements in Summerland, the Municipal Council was informed on Wednesday, June 12. It was decided that Councillor F. E. Atkinson contact Hon. Frank Putnam, Minister of Agriculture, in another effort to obtain Mr. Thorpe's services.

Name Parks Board Member

A McLachlan was the choice of the Summerland board of trade as representative on the newly-formed parks board for Summerland, it was decided at the board's monthly session in the I.O.O.F. hall on Thursday, June 13.

Support of the trade board was sought by Norman Holmes for the park proposals, as laid down in the planning meeting of the temporary parks board, held last month.

It was the unanimous opinion of the board of trade that it should support the development of the board's present playground site, as a Memorial Park, to be brought into being as a playground and park primarily for the children and to lend support to the development of an athletic grounds at the north end of town on the Drake lot.

U.B.C.M. RESOLUTIONS

Summerland Council was warned on Wednesday, June 12, that any resolutions it wishes to submit to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention this year must be in the hands of the secretary by July 1. No resolutions were forthcoming last week.

Tennis Team Beats Kelowna

Summerland tennis enthusiasts turned back the visiting Kelowna Tennis club representatives on Sunday afternoon, June 9, on the local wood courts, by a score of 8½ points to 5½ points. This was the first inter-club match played by the local club this season.

Kelowna women's doubles team won one match, while Summerland mixed doubles won two and lost one, and three were drawn. In the men's doubles, Summerland had the advantage, winning five and losing three. Two matches were not played because of the lateness of the hour.

Results were as follows, with Kelowna players being named first:
Mrs. Tailyour and Miss M. Stubbs defeated Mrs. Russel and Miss Evans, 6-2, 6-4; Winter and Miss Stubbs drew with Fudge and Miss Evans; Stubbs and Mrs. Tailyour drew with Mr. and Mrs. Russel; Taggart and Miss Stubbs lost to Solly and Mrs. Russel, 4-6, 1-6; Pettman and Mrs. Tailyour lost to Bennie and Miss Evans, 5-6, 3-6; Sutton and Miss Stubbs drew with Clark and Mrs. Russel; Tyler and Mrs. Tailyour won from Spencer and Miss Evans, 6-4, 6-3; Winter and Stubbs lost to Fudge and Russel, 2-6, 2-6; Tyler and Sutton lost to Fudge and Russel, 2-6, 1-6; Winter and Stubbs beat Solly and Bennie, 6-5, 6-4; Taggart and Pettman lost to Solly and Bennie, 5-6, 4-6; Tyler and Sutton lost to Solly and Bennie, 4-6, 4-6; Tyler and Sutton beat Clark and Spencer, 6-2, 6-1.

Fashion Show At School Interests

A fashion show which featured models wearing frocks of their own design and make, was the main attraction on Friday afternoon, June 7, when the girls of the home economics classes, from Grades 8 to 12, were hostesses to their mothers and friends at the local high school.

The fashion show was cleverly presented, with models from each class exhibiting dresses that they had made themselves. Colors and designs for their dresses were chosen by each pupil, and all gowns showed a marked individuality.

Miss Annie Walker, home economics teacher, trained the girls in their arts.

Although most of the dresses were so remarkably well made that it was difficult to select any for special comment, one of the most outstanding of the gowns was a smart, mauve afternoon dress with matching hand-made bag, which was designed, made, and modelled, by Ruth Nesbitt, of grade 10.

Audrey Prior also deserved credit for her clever two-piece outfit of green, check. Other outfits worthy of special mention were the mustard-with-brown-trim frock, worn and made by Donna Haskins, and the striking gold dress, the creation of Beverly Cousins.

An exhibition of students' handiwork was also shown, as were the practical art books of many of the pupils. Leather tooling, felt panels and embroidered work was well done. The lovely flower arrangements were also by the classes.

An attractive tea was served to the guests, which was entirely prepared by the girls, from the ordering and menus, through the cooking to the serving.

Peachland Disposes of Town Property

Disposal of several lots of property constituted the main business of the Peachland Council at the monthly meeting on June 11. Reeve A. J. Chidley was in the chair and Councillor F. Topham, Jr., was absent.

H. J. Waite appeared before the Council to buy a lot on the lake front. He stated that he intended to construct a modern building to build marine engines. After discussion, Mr. Waite was sold Lot 7, Block 1, south of Walters' Ltd. Plans of the proposed building are to be submitted to the Council for approval.

Councillor J. Cameron reported on the state of the roads and revealed difficulties in carrying out the project of shaling the main hill road.

Only one truck had been available but it was hoped in the near future to have two trucks on the road. Councillor Cameron said. It was mentioned in discussion that the work of shaling must be completed before the fruit season gets into full swing.

Councillor C. Whinton brought up the fact that J. Pasenko was living on the beach in a tent house without permission of the council.

"He will be claiming 'squatters' rights," commented Reeve Chidley.

Clerk C. C. Inglis was instructed to write to the health officer to check into the sanitation facilities of the building.

A resolution was passed in structing the occupants of the tent house in front of the Garraway property and also the occupants of the trailer in front of the White property to move to more suitable locations on private property.

The "Teas" lot was sold to T. F. Scott for $654.

The sale of 20 acres of the old Houston lot was approved to E. G. Dornfeld and F. Rowland, subject to an interview with the Council.

A resolution was passed rescinding a motion of 1933, which made it mandatory to sell property at 25% of the assessed value. It was decided to reprice the lots and any further applications for property are to be submitted without a price.

Two matters were brought to the attention of the provincial constable. Children playing on the Cenotaph lawn are to be warned. A complaint from Mrs. R. Fuiks was read re the pigeon nuisance which was also referred to the provincial police.

The Council approved the annual grant of $25 to the local W.I. for care and upkeep of the Cenotaph and lawn.

A bridge drive was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Topham on Friday. Mrs. L. B. Fuiks won first prize and Miss Annie Topham won the consolation prize.

A surprise shower was held in honor of Mrs. J. B. Gummow at her home on June 12. A large number of guests bestowed many attractive and useful gifts on Mrs. Gummow.

Mrs. F. O. St. John returned from Victoria this week after several months' holiday at coastal points.

Miss Sheila Mackey held a party at her home Monday for ex-Air Force veterans. A social evening was enjoyed by all present.

Guests at the Edgewater hotel include: F. A. Bueckert, Saskatoon; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Jones and two children, East St. W. S. Hart, Chilliwack; J. Ashwood, Wash; A. S. Alnutt, Victoria; W. S. Hart, Chilliwack; J. Ashton, Enderby; Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Waugh, Vancouver.

Wes Lawrence is spending a few days in Wenatchee, Wash., visiting friends.

Mr. A. Lawrence returned on June 12 to Deer Lodge Military hospital, Winnipeg, where he will resume his duties.

Council Sells Some Lots

Numerous offers have been received by the municipal council at its regular session on June 12 and again at a special session held on June 17, for municipally owned lots. Several offers have been accepted while others were negotiated after considerable discussion.

F. W. Adams submitted an offer of $100 per acre for Lot 1, Map 2290, which takes in an area of approximately 1.63 acres. The council decided that this lot should sell for $400. Mr. Adams appeared before the council on June 17 and when appraised of the council price stated this was more than he could afford.

Later, the council decided to come down to $300 on this lot, but to date no agreement has been reached.

George Pennington wished to purchase Lot 25, Block 25, District Lot 454, which is at present rented to Mr. Christanti. Only about three-quarters of an acre of this property is suitable for irrigating and the rest is pasture land. The council has set a price of $150, the sale not to be completed until the rental agreement has been terminated.

Lots 31 and 32, D.L. 675, amounts to slightly more than four acres, but this property is on a very steep sidehill. They adjoin Mr. John Bangma's orchard and he sought a price from the council on June 12.

The first price quoted by the council was $400 plus the cost of the survey, but Mr. Bangma stated this was away out of line. He thought the property, because of the terrain should not be valued at more than $50, as it would for the coast were applied to the interior, which at the present time is unlikely, it has been estimated that it would take 134 days, or approximately five months to make up the difference in the pay he has lost, if he obtains an increase of 15 cents per hour.

More than $10,000 in wages were lost to the Summerland district during the close of the box factory here when wages paid to mill workers, lost time to loggers and truckers, is taken into consideration, it is considered.

ing days have been lost to the industry.

When the strike was called, 53 men were on the box company's payroll.

Asked as to the possibility of running two shifts to attempt to make up for the lost time, Mr. Perry replied that he is aiming now for one good crew working steadily before he makes any decision as to a double shift.

First requirements to be turned out here will be cherry lugs. Production has been set at 10,000 display lugs for the eastern markets and 35,000 of the 25-pound lug type. Then will come apricot, peach and plum crates and finally the big apple box requirements.

Asked as to the log situation, Mr. Perry replied that there will be no trouble on that score, now that the strike has been settled. There is a large quantity of logs already on hand and Princeton can supply all that is required after that, as logging was only interrupted there because of the lack of demand during the strike.

It has been estimated that an average wage earner at any of the mills in the interior lost $161.20 for the 31 working days he was out on strike. This is based on the average wage of 65 cents per hour.

Two Visitors At Experimental Station

Two visitors from Ontario and Manitoba have arrived in the Okanagan and will spend several weeks at the Summerland Experimental Station.

Miss Marion Casselman, of Cassimers' Branch, Marketing Service Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has arrived here to work in the fruit products laboratory. Miss Casselman is particularly interested in the freezing of B.C. fruits and vegetables and will continue her studies until September.

Here for a month from Borden, Manitoba, is A. Lorne Shewfelt, recently-appointed officer in charge of the new fruit and vegetable products laboratory in that centre. This will be a similar set-up to the Summerland fruit products lab and Mr. Shewfelt will familiarize himself with the work here before returning in a month to Manitoba.

This Borden, Man., laboratory will interest itself with horticultural problems as affecting the prairie provinces.

Sgt. and Mrs. E. Basham and Sgt. Dennison were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Davis, Trout Creek. Sgt. Basham and Sgt. Dennison were here from Vancouver to inspect the Peachland Cadets.

Councillors Disagree on Park Plan

After some discussion, Summerland Council decided on Wednesday, June 12, to communicate with C. S. Butcher, of Vernon, to ascertain if he is interested in leasing an acre and three-quarters of the Peach Orchard Park for tourist cabin purposes, for a period of 20 years.

Some weeks ago the Council received a request from Mr. Butcher to purchase this portion of the park in order to set up a tourist camp. A mail vote was taken by the Council and the majority of voters signified their willingness to let this portion go to Mr. Butcher. However, the decision was far from unanimous.

Under existing legislation, it has been determined that the lease of a park is not allowed for more than six months, without a vote of the ratepayers being taken. If the ratepayers are in favor, then such park property can be leased for 20 years or sold outright.

Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon informed the Council that the Peach Orchard Park was voted on by the ratepayers and decisions issued thereon, but it was never dedicated as a park. However, once a property is set aside as a park by a vote, then another vote must be taken before it can be taken out of this category.

The local branch of the Canadian Legion also requested the Council to give veterans an opportunity to bid on the property if it was decided to allow the sale.

Councillor Tait led off the discussion on Wednesday when he advocated continuance of the park in its present form. He pointed out that this municipality is growing steadily and in time all the park sites now available will be badly needed.

"It would be doing the community more of a service to get our present parks dedicated, and forget about the disposal of any portion of them," he contended. "The ballot was definitely not clear and a 20 years' lease is not a good business proposition," opined Councillor Atkinson, who also sided with Councillor Tait to keep the park.

"Drop the whole thing," was the advice of Councillor Taylor, to a query from Reeve Powell.

On the other hand, Councillor H. L. Wilson led a vigorous attempt to have the park portion in question sold.

"I can see less money to spend on Peach Orchard Park now than ever before," he continued, pointing out that the board of trade park and baseball property on the Drake lot would be demanding a great deal of attention now, and little enough was ever spent on the Peach Orchard

Peaches Light In Some Districts Here

Tree fruits are sizing well and thinners are busy, the latest fortnightly bulletin, the Horticultural News Letter, issued from Vernon by the Department of Agriculture, states for the Summerland, Peachland and Westbank districts.

Peach blocks in some areas will be lighter than the blossoms indicated and plums and prunes are showing lighter crops than last year. On the other hand, pears have set heavily. As yet, the apple set is uncertain.

Although apple mildew is showing up badly in a few orchards, orchard pests are under normal control at present. Growers have been trying to keep up to their spray schedules, but rain and the short supply of spraying equipment have presented handicaps.

From Penticton comes the report that codling moth is quite active and early entrances have been found.

Farther south, in Okanagan Falls, Oliver and Osoyoos, it is stated that orchard trees are especially vigorous this spring. This has been caused by the mild winter, increased use of manure, fertilizer and cover crops.

In that southern area, black cherry aphid is appearing in some orchards and because of the short supply of nicotine sulphate, various alternative materials are being used.

Favorable reports on ground crop prospects have been received from the south and sufficient replacements have been found for plants caught by early frosts.

In Kelowna, codling moth activity had been greater than last year and some worm entries were located. Apples and pears generally showing a good set of fruit but cherries are mostly light, with only a few orchards indicating good crops.

The majority of persons who answered the mail vote were in favor of selling this portion of the park, so Councillor Wilson declared himself in favor of respecting their wishes.

He therefore moved that the Council take such action, but received no seconder.

Councillor Tait then asked the Council to proceed to dedicate the park, along with other park areas in the municipality, but he received no response from the other members.

"We have had the people's opinion so we should proceed to dedicate the park," was Councillor Wilson's contention.

As a compromise, Councillor Atkinson proposed that Mr. Butcher be asked if he was willing to proceed with his project on a 20-year lease, provided the taxpayers agree to release the land, and the Council concluded its discussion on that note.

REPLIES TO LEGION
Summerland, B.C., June 17, 1946.

Editor, The Review: At a meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held in Summerland on June 17, the following resolution and letter were read and endorsed, with a request that they be published in the Summerland Review. Summerland was incorporated in 1907 and since that time all efforts to secure a license to sell liquor have been defeated. During these years we have done our share in building good homes, schools, churches, social services and all that makes a clean, progressive community. We feel it unwise to have a beer license in a district surrounded by homes with school children passing every day. Such a license makes the home face an increased handicap in its difficult task of providing our town and nation with high-minded, clear-headed men and women, to be its citizens, and help to solve its many problems. For these reasons we have felt forced to oppose the granting of a license to sell liquor of any kind in this municipality. Every new outlet increases drinking, whether it be a private club or a saloon. Did you ever hear of the brewers or distillers opposing a license to sell liquor?

If you are not sure this license requested by the Canadian Legion, will help to build a better Summerland — then please refrain from signing their petition, now being circulated. If you ask for that license, you make yourself responsible for the results, be they good or bad.

The following resolution was passed unanimously:

"Be it resolved that the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Summerland desires to go on record as acknowledging our debt as well as our deep and abiding appreciation of the noble service rendered by those who fought to uphold the democratic ideals of our country and the preservation of our freedom.

In presenting a petition against the sale of alcoholic beverages in this community, the W.C.T.U. adhered to the aims and objects of our organization to work for sobriety and the best interests of our community.

Be it further resolved that in our opinion that the large numbers of citizens of Summerland who signed the petition indicated their desire as citizens against having alcoholic beverages sold within the municipality, and in no way cast any reflection upon any organization whatsoever."

Yours sincerely,
MRS. (R.) M. M. ARNOTT,
Secretary, W.C.T.U.

West Summerland, B.C., June 7, 1946.

Editor, The Review: If conditions were not so serious, I would take the advertisement (Labor Union) "A cent a pound on the ground," as a colossal joke.

It apparently does not strike these poorly-paid (?) strikers that many would never have a job if the fruit growers could and would import box materials.

If my memory is correct, at one box factory, when boxes were desperately needed, they refused to work overtime. They have no interest in the growers but expect the grower to support them. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Personally, I think the paid agitators should, by law, be compelled along with the employed, to arbitrate any dispute and if either one refuses, put the recalcitrant in the cooler.

One may ask what the Valley boards of trade are doing to help solve the present enigma. Another weapon of the government would be to strike off the statute books all labor legislation and let them start again from scratch and see what support they can get at the polls. A GROWER.

SINGERS AND PLAYERS
West Summerland, B.C.,

Editor, The Review: At the annual meeting and social of the Summerland Singers and Players' club, Mrs. McClure kindly donated an angel cake decorated with 35 candles, in commemoration of 35 years of service to the community on the part of the Singers' and Players' club.

In looking back to the days when the Players presented Gilbert and Sullivan's operas, it is interesting to know that our expense account for some of these presentations ran as high as $1,200. The charge for seats was $1.00. Those were the days when labor was 25c per hour. He or she would be a bold person to even suggest that we repeat the high cost of production even in these days of plenty.

An occupant of a parked car "listening to the sounds of revelry by night" said—"the old-timer must be getting married again." Surely the highest compliment that could be paid to an enjoyable evening. "OLD-TIMER."

About 24 piano students, who have been studying under Miss Kay Hamilton, were in Penticton on Monday, June 10, to take their piano exams. under Dr. Ernest Farmer, of the Toronto Conservatory.

Miss Ruth McLarty left on Sunday, June 9, for Vancouver, returning to Summerland tomorrow, Friday.

Bill Borton was a Vancouver visitor last week.

Merchants Speak Of Paper Shortage

Summerland merchants have pointed out to The Review that there is a serious situation in regard to containers facing them, with little prospect of it being alleviated.

Paper bags, paper boxes and wooden containers are becoming so scarce that it is increasingly difficult to handle commodities. The merchants are asking that any persons having such containers return them to the stores they deal with, so that goods can continue to be handled with a minimum of effort.

Mrs. H. A. Solly was guest speaker at the Parish hall in Penticton, on Wednesday afternoon, June 12, when she addressed the Penticton W.I. and the ladies of the Anglican churches there and in Naramata and Kaleden.

Trade Board To Meet At Farm

Eighty members of the Summerland board of trade were in attendance at the monthly session for June, last Thursday evening at the I.O.O.F. hall. After a tasty dinner, served by members of the local Rebekah lodge the short business session was conducted under the guidance of the vice-president, George Perry, in the absence on holidays of Reid Johnston, president.

As the union meeting, called to discuss with the growers the existing woodworkers' strike was to be held the same evening, it was deemed advisable to shorten the board of trade session and only deal with matters of the utmost importance.

L. R. Stephens, secretary of the box shoo committee of the B.C.F.G.A. was the guest speaker and enlightened the board members with the highlights of the box shoo situation by districts and the attempts made by the B.C.F.G.A. to find some solution to the strike.

Next month's meeting will be held at the Experimental Station, and it has been left with the executive to determine if this will be a picnic supper session or be confined to a straight meeting.

The Penticton Band will be in attendance at the July get-together.

Union Leader

but again received a negative answer.

"We then told them our basic demands, for 25 cents per hour increase, a forty-hour week and union security. We received 'No' to each one of these requests."

One Regret

"I have one regret that we hadn't come before to the people who are going to be most greatly affected by this strike, the growers," said Mr. Langmead in coming down to the present-day crisis. "But I doubt if we could have got you out then. That, of course, doesn't excuse our failure to tell you before."

"How are we going to save the crop for the grower and maintain the respect for our membership I cannot say, but we will do it."

He referred to the numerous offers made by the unions as a compromise and said the union didn't agree with the growers' plan to underwrite any increase in wages as there was no definite figure stated.

Going into the third week of the strike, the union became alarmed because Chief Justice Sloan had declared his recommendations did not apply to the interior.

"I went to the coast and was given authority to modify our demands," in the face of the serious situation which confronts the fruit growers, specifying that this offer was for a two or three-weeks' truce, for a wage increase of 20 cents per hour, a 44-hour week, with union security to be arbitrated later. This offer was declined.

Loss to Both

"Every day lost is a big loss to you as innocent bystanders, but it is also a loss to our membership," he declared. "Our people are proud of their union and they are loathe to return to work without any gain, either financial or moral."

"We must have a permanent settlement and that settlement will not be reached on a basis of 'No' to every request."

"Collectively, I would ask your support in behalf of labor to press on the government to improve its lax labor legislation."

"Why doesn't the government move in this strike? Surely there is more than one chief justice in Canada to arbitrate for the interior. Then why doesn't the government show a little concern? It should send an arbitrator into the interior," he emphasized.

Mr. Langmead went on to show how reduced hours of work would increase employment, pointing out that an increase of 15 cents, from 75 cents to 90 cents per hour for a 40-hour week does not materially increase the take-home pay of a worker who was working 48 hours at 75 cents.

"The forty-hour week comes foremost, with the 25 cents per hour raise necessary to bring up the take-home pay," he declared.

Increased Jobs

In Trail, the speaker said, an increase of 20 cents an hour with the introduction of a 42-hour week, will put another 1,100 people to work, with veterans obtaining preference for 90 per cent of these jobs. Trail will have to build 700 new homes to accommodate these new workers, he said.

"This is a practical picture of what happens with employment when hours of work are reduced and wages increased," he declared.

"We realize it is a contentious issue, but it is written into the laws of some countries. And in our own country this same principle applies, the law of the majority. Union security is based on the same principle."

In answer to numerous questions, Mr. Langmead declared that if an arbitrator or arbitration board was suggested, the union would be agreeable to accept its decision.

As soon as the resolution asking for an arbitration board was passed, Chairman Powell brought the discussion to a speedy close with God Save the King.

WESTBANK IS HOME OF ONE-DAY CONFERENCE OF WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

WESTBANK—Mrs. S. E. Gummow, formerly of Peachland, and newly-appointed to the post of provincial superintendent of Women's Institutes, was present at the one-day conference of the Women's Institutes of South Okanagan, which included delegates from Osoyoos and Keremeos, right through to Oyama, Friday, June 7, in the Community hall.

Also present were Mrs. J. H. East Keremeos, the Okanagan representative to the provincial W.I. board, succeeding Mrs. V. B. Robinson, Penticton, who is retiring after six years' service on that board.

Mrs. A. C. Hoskins, president of Westbank Women's Institute, who welcomed the visitors, voiced the gratification of all W.I. members in Mrs. Gummow's appointment, succeeding Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, retired. Mrs. Hoskins also reminded the gathering of the first one-day conference of W.I.s held in Westbank 13 years ago, and which originated in the mind of Westbank's then president, the late Mrs. W. J. Stevens, whose heart was so wrapped up in the work of Women's Institutes.

The morning session opened with the hymn, "O God Our Help In Ages Past," and following routine business, appointment of committees, etc., continued with the receiving of delegates' reports, which revealed interesting highlights. Each Institute has apparently been keenly interested in all war activities, and has also kept up the work begun years ago by them, assistance to the Queen Alexandra Solarium and the Crippled Children's Hospital, besides doing their utmost to better conditions in their home communities.

"Co-operation is something you don't just get and keep without working at it and adding to it every day," declared Mrs. Robinson, and repeated the message given at the recent provincial conference when President Mrs. Dennis stated that the W.I. motto, "For Home and Country," should further include "For all allied countries—and for all countries of the world."

PEACHLAND

Peachland.—The flower show, first since the war started, held Thursday, June 6, under Women's Institute auspices proved successful despite the unfavorable weather. Keen interest was taken in the various displays by C. Gregory, Kelowna, and W. M. Todd, South Kelowna, who acted as judges.

Of special interest was the bowl of roses shown by Mr. Bean. He received first prize and the Grote Stirling silver rose bowl. Pupils of the junior high won first prize for their display of a miniature garden.

Mrs. S. E. Gummow, superintendent of the Women's Institute, officially opened the show, commenting on the variety and efficiency of the displays.

Mrs. M. Twiname, agricultural convener, in charge of the flower show, announced the following prizes:

- Bowl of roses—1, Mr. Bean; 2, Mrs. J. B. Gummow. Three roses—1, Mr. Bean; 2, Mrs. J. Cameron. One rose—1, Mrs. S. Smalls; 2, Mrs. A. Baptist.
- Climbing roses—1, Mrs. A. Baptist; 2, Mrs. W. E. Clements.
- Bowl of Pansies—1, Mrs. M. Twiname; 2, Miss M. Leach.
- Pyrethium—1, Mrs. J. Lingo; 2, Mrs. M. Twiname.
- Iris—1, Mrs. J. Bush; 2, Miss M. Leach.

- Corrage—1, Mrs. M. Twiname; 2, Mrs. J. Cameron.
- Miniature Garden—1, Junior High; 2, Miss V. Stump.

Miss Margaret McGregor, of Penticton, visited Miss Dorothy Miller recently.

Mrs. W. Borton is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Duquemin, for a few weeks.

A tea was held in the Municipal hall on Wednesday afternoon, June 5, by Mrs. J. Cameron, president of the Women's Institute, for Mrs. S. E. Gummow, Institute superintendent for British Columbia.

Presiding over the tea were Mrs. J. Long and Mrs. C. T. Redstone, and serving were Miss Sheila McKay, Mrs. J. B. Gummow and Miss Rosemary Wilson.

Miss Helen Parker, of Regina, is visiting Mrs. Art Johnson.

Attending the district convention of Women's Institutes at Westbank recently were Mrs. J. Cameron, Mrs. C. T. Redstone, Mrs. S. E. Gummow, Mrs. G. T. Topham, Mrs. M. Hunt, Mrs. W.

Fosbery Garden Is Lovely Setting For Wedding Reception

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. W. Fosbery held a prettily arranged reception Monday afternoon, June 17, in their lovely garden, following the marriage, at Penticton, of their only daughter, Dulcie Beatrice, to Mr. Julian Fry, of Kamloops, B.C.

For the occasion, Mrs. Fosbery was wearing a navy and white frock, a large white hat, and a corsage of red carnations and fern. The bride wore a gold gabardine suit, small white hat of ruffled straw lace, with a gold-colored band, and white accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

A toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Mr. C. J. Huddleston.

Mrs. H. B. Mair poured the tea and coffee, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Bowen-Colthurst, of Kamloops, and Miss June Davis, of Kelowna, intimate friends of the bride.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Pease, Mrs. Hamilton Watts and Mrs. Nightingale, Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Bowen-Colthurst, Kamloops, and Mr. and Mrs. Luke Norman, Oyama.

Mr. and Mrs. Fry left later for a trip to Prince Rupert. For travelling, the bride wore a short green coat over her suit. They will make their at Kamloops.

Temporary

could be erected on the elementary grounds to house the manual arts classes. This building would be crude in nature but would only be utilized in the emergency.

Proceed to Build

The board decided to proceed at once with the erection of this building, as proposed, and also fix up the basement rooms for classrooms. The present room used for manual arts would have a floor laid over the cement, while the draughting room would have a floor and ceiling laid, and these two rooms would be utilized as class-rooms.

Draughting would have to be carried out in any rooms available when the periods are arranged.

With these changes the elementary problem would be appeased for the coming term. S. A. MacDonald agreed.

No definite decision was reached regarding an extra room for the high school. The Summerland trustees and Principal A. K. Macleod wish to fill in the space on the north side between two existing class-rooms and over the entrance to the basement, with a class-room approximately 40 feet by 17 feet.

Mr. W. Armstrong has estimated that this addition could be built for about $800.

One of the chief troubles with this addition would be the problem of heating. On Monday, it had not been ascertained if the present heating system could stand the extra load so that a decision was not reached.

Assistance of the provincial government in financing this addition to the present accommodation will be sought by the school board, as it feels an emergency situation exists in Summerland.

Eighty in Primary Principal MacDonald informed the board on Monday that there are 70 primary school students enrolled up to the final day on November 30. About 10 pupils will be repeating their primary year as it is felt that pupils who show a backward tendency at that age should be given a definite background before they are allowed to go forward.

The total elementary population is expected to be 410 next fall, with 11 teachers.

One class will contain 48 pupils and if that number increases by another ten are additional classroom and an extra teacher will have to be provided.

An extra teacher will have to be provided for the high school. There are two vacancies from the present staff and no suitable applications have been received yet for the three appointments to be made.

Bus Problem Additional loads on the school buses, created by the big increase in Summerland's population, will mean the addition of two buses, it was announced. The present contractors, Smith and Henry and White and Thornthwaite, are obtaining estimates on the cost of two extra 60-passenger buses.

New contracts with these firms will be worked out shortly and the finance committee of the school board has been empowered to act on this pressing subject.

The West Summerland firm will operate three school buses and White and Thornthwaite will have two buses if the new scheme goes into effect.

Loads for the bus runs have been estimated as follows: Trout Creek, 58; Garnett Valley and Jones Flat, 52; Prairie Valley, 40; Station Road and Giant's Head, 64; Lower Town, Ponch Orchard and Hospital Hill, 61. This makes a total of 325 pupils to be transported to and from school every day.

It has also been estimated that 35 new desks will be needed for the elementary school and 45 for the high school, with two extra teachers' desks required.

Pink And White Is Color Motif For Bride-Elect Shower

Mrs. John Menu, Mrs. Felix Menu and Mrs. J. Wignall were joint hostesses at the home of the latter on Thursday evening, June 13, at a shower in honor of Miss Elsie Bonne, a bride-elect of early July. The many attractive and useful gifts were presented to the bride-to-be in a decorated basket of pink and white, and this color motif was carried out in the decorations throughout the room, with the addition of large white wedding bells used in a clever arrangement. Also in harmony with the general color scheme were the vases of lovely pink roses, which decorated the mantel of the fireplace.

At the climax of an enjoyable evening, a dainty luncheon was served by the hostesses.

Guests present were the Mesdames Roy Gilbert, L. Wolfer, A. Bland, J. Menu, A. Menu, S. Taylor, G. Bonteaux, V. Stevens, J. Wignall, O. Dunbar, D. Spalding, and the Misses Theresa Menu and Evelyn Young. Also invited were the Mesdames Kellogg, L. Hill, F. Menu, W. McLure, J. Arnusch, E. Fowler and Miss Joan Rowley.

The board of trade, it was pointed out, had originally purchased the property on the south side of Granville road on the understanding that it would be used as a memorial park.

Financing of the project will be on a public subscription basis, it was considered, but no final details can be worked out until more thought is given to the needs of the properties.

It was planned to have Gordon Thorpe, of the Creston experimental station, visit Summerland this summer and prepare landscape plans for the park. However, he will not be available until fall, Councillor Atkinson stated, so the committee will proceed to gather data in preparation of his arrival.

Among the suggestions made for improving this park, members agreed that it should contain shade trees, shrubbery, flower beds, walks with cement curbs, a children's playground and wading pool, horseshoe pitch, checker board and possibly a hand ball. Adequate toilet facilities would be included in the plans.

The skating rink should be left in its present position, the committee agreed and should be enhanced with dressing rooms. Kitchen facilities could also be added to the present accommodation.

It is the committee's plan to make the Drake lot, north of West Summerland, into a permanent sports field for baseball, track and field events and other sports. Dressing rooms, dug-outs and other facilities should be erected there, along with bleachers and a grandstand. Formation of the property is such that natural bleacher foundations are already available.

ENGAGEMENTS

DR. AND MRS. H. R. McLARTY announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Marion, to Mr. Bremner Leroy Sargent, of Toronto, son of Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Sargent, of Bronte, Ont., the marriage to take place in Toronto, July 19th. 3-1-pd.

Considerable levelling would have to be undertaken and a quantity of top-soil would have to be hauled in before the baseball diamond could be achieved. This work will have to be accomplished early this year if the grounds are to be available for play next season.

There will be no provision for any organized sports, such as baseball and softball in the park playground.

BOWLERS TO PLAY FOR JONES TROPHY

Summerland and Kelowna lawn bowlers will travel to Penticton on Dominion Day, July 1, for the annual Jones Cup tournament, which is a feature of the summer play in the South Okanagan.

The local lawn bowlers have commenced play on the greens at the Legion hall. Some enjoyable games have been witnessed already this season and competition is keen.

Next month, commencing on July 15, John Tait leads a rink consisting of Penticton players in the B.C. lawn bowling tournament in Vancouver. Members of his rink will be Mr. Reader, Harry Rushbury and R. Gardner.

DAMS ARE FULL

All dams are full at the present time with a small amount of water coming over the spillways, it is reported from the municipal office here. With the dams at capacity so late in the season there is little likelihood of any water shortage here this summer, it is stated, and in all likelihood there will be a carry-over when the hot season has finished.

First Graduation Exercises For High School Held Here

Graduation ceremonies have been concluded, examinations are written and Summerland schools have closed for the summer recess. On Tuesday and Wednesday, closing exercises were held for the high and elementary schools, respectively, with the high school participating in the first graduation exercises ever held here. High praise has been heaped on the participants in this ceremony, indicating the success of the venture. Another feature was the presentation, at the elementary school exercises, of a Memorial Roll of Honor, commemorating members of the Summerland schools who paid the supreme sacrifice on behalf of their country.

The first graduation ceremonies ever to take place for the senior matriculation class of the Summerland high school, were held on Tuesday afternoon, June 25, at the Baptist church, West Summerland.

The church was decorated for the occasion with a beautiful floral arrangement of giant blue delphiniums, flanked by large vases of pink tamarisk, with a background of English honeysuckle.

The graduating class of 12 entered the church to organ music played by Miss Ruth Dale, and following this a choir of girl students sang the new song of the Summerland high school.

Principal A. K. Macleod was chairman of the ceremonies, and in his introduction thanked Rev. F. Haskins for making the church available for the occasion. Mr. Macleod explained that although these exercises were the official graduation of the senior matriculation class, the actual results of the examinations that the students have just completed, will not be available for about three weeks. However, he explained, the ceremonies would be a memorable occasion for the class to look back upon.

Scholarship Fund
Mr. Macleod also spoke of the purposes and the sponsors of the new U.B.C. Alumni Scholarship Fund, which will be awarded to the graduating student who shows the highest all-round qualities of leadership, combined with a high academic standing. This award, he explained, cannot be made until about the middle of August. In conclusion, Mr. Macleod wished the class well in all new undertakings.

School Trustee P. G. Dodwell spoke briefly of the present crowded school conditions, and made the concluding remark: "In saying good-bye to the class of '46, we from the School Board wish you every success and God bless you."
School Inspector J. N. Burnett spoke on behalf of the department of education and expressed pleasure that students here have taken a lead in organizing graduation ceremonies. He also commended the scholarship fund and expressed his pleasure in being present.

Graduating Class
Mr. Macleod then introduced the graduating class of 12, individually, making several pleasant and characteristic remarks about each. The girls of the class were all gowned in floor-length frocks of white or pastel colors and made a beautiful group. The graduating class were, in alphabetical order: Joan

Locals Toppled From Ball Lead

Slow in starting, Summerland's entry in the South Okanagan ball loop never gathered sufficient momentum at Kelowna last Sunday and the second loss of the season was recorded by an 8-5 score.

Veteran Les Gould was on the mound for the losers and he did not get warmed up until after the fourth inning, when six runs had scampered across in front of him. To this total, Summerland had only been able to get one tally over.

It was a cold, wet evening for baseball and the contest, scheduled to start at 6 o'clock, never got underway until an hour later.

This defeat puts Summerland back into second place in the league standing and gives Peachland top spot once more. Next Sunday the Keromeos entry plays in Summerland.

Summerland's lineup last Sunday was changed in several spots, with White taking over second sack, McGargor behind the bat and Vanderburgh in Amm's position at first base.

Vol. 1, No. 4.

Vernon Man Draws Ire Of Reeve

Action of C. S. Butcher, Vernon, in writing to individual councillors and inferring that the reeve and municipal clerk had hindered progress in the disposal of a portion of Peach Orchard park to him, aroused the ire of Reeve W. R. Powell at Monday council session.

A communication from Mr. Butcher indicated he was not interested in a 20-year lease, as suggested by the council. He complained of the slowness of council in acting on this subject and enclosed a cheque for $1,500 to pay for the acre and three-quarters under question.

Mr. Butcher wishes to purchase this land to erect tourist cabins. A type of straw vote was taken by the council some weeks ago with a small majority showing in favor of the sale.

No action can be taken by the council until the entire subject is placed before the ratepayers and a formal vote is taken, which would probably not transpire until the year-end.

"He is assuming too much," was Reeve Powell's comment. "No price was ever mentioned and there has been no unnecessary delay. I grant you there has been delay, but it has been necessary. Besides, we never agreed to sell."

It was agreed that a formal letter would be written Mr. Butcher, pointing out all the steps in the transaction to date and returning his cheque.

"Is it true 'obstacles' have been put in Mr. Butcher's way by myself or Mr. Nixon?" inquired the reeve.

The council gave him a definite "No."

"As far as I am concerned I have played the game with him, but I have been accused of flouting public opinion. I have tried to guide public opinion," the reeve continued, again referring to communications written to Councillors Atkinson, Tait and Wilson by Mr. Butcher.

Touching on the straw vote, Reeve Powell stated he was afraid the public thought the council was in favor of selling the property whereas the members had an open mind on the subject.

"My statement still stands and I think we are wasting our time. We should dedicate the parks and close the subject of sale entirely," was Councillor Tait's opinion. "Shut off the discussion," said Councillor Atkinson.

Councillor Taylor was still of the same opinion, he said, siding with Councillor Tait.

But Councillor Wilson stuck to his guns and wanted the council to abide by the decision of the ratepayers, which was to dispose of a portion of the park. And so the subject was shelved, after the clerk was instructed to give Mr. Butcher a clear understanding of the situation as it exists a present.

FIRE FIGHTERS ASK PAY ON EACH CALL

West Summerland Fire Protection society has written the council seeking a payment of $3 per fireman who answers a call to a fire outside the fire district. Four such calls have been answered this year to date, the society pointed out, but did not enumerate them.

Such an agreement would not give the council any idea as to its annual requirements, the council considered and proposed that the firemen be paid $12 for each call, with a review to be made of the costs concerning any fire of a large nature.

This would mean that the $2 cost of fires outside the district would be $48 a far this year.

Fish Fry To Be Released Soon

Under the guidance of Granville Morgan, dominion fisheries representative, fish cultural operations have been resumed at the Summerland trout hatchery, with nearly a million eggs undergoing hatching out process.

Two shipments of eggs have already been received from the Beaver lake eyeing station, and of these, some 600,000 eggs are already hatching. Mr. Morgan informed The Review this week.

Another 200,000 trout eggs will arrive from the Penaske station within the next few days.

These fry will be distributed in the South Okanagan district with the aim of improving fishing in the lakes.

Mr. Morgan has also announced that he will resign from his post at the end of this season. He has been with the fisheries department for 20 years and is one of the best known authorities on fish culture in the interior.

APPOINTED HERE CANNERY MANAGER

W. G. Rempel, who has recently been in charge of a large dehydrating plant in New Brunswick, is coming to Summerland to take charge of the Summerland Co-operative Growers cannery. Reeve W. R. Powell, president, informed The Review on Wednesday.

Mr. Rempel has been recommended highly for his work in the east by Dominion cannery inspectors, while he also has had many years cannery experience with the Snider canneries in California.

Another new employee of the co-op cannery is Don Clarke, formerly of Kelowna, who has been accepted as the cannery accountant.

Housing accommodation is badly needed in Summerland to take care of new teachers who will be coming here next term. If some help is not forthcoming soon, teachers will not be available for the staffs here, it is felt.

Government Offer To Finance Health Unit Meets Accord

Appreciation of the provincial governments generosity in arranging financial details for the union board of health of the Okanagan Valley, was expressed in definite terms by delegates to the quarterly meeting held in the council chambers, West Summerland, on Thursday, June 20.

Under a new arrangement between the union and the government the latter's portion of the year's expenditures will be approximately 85 per cent, with the balance being raised through the school districts on a per capita basis of 30 cents.

The amount to be raised to finance the final six months of 1946 will be $13,735, bringing the year's total expense to $20,780. With this money, health services are provided for Kelowna and rural districts, Westbank, Peachland, Summerland and Penticton and its rural area.

District Services

Penticton school district, No. 15; Penticton, population 6,388, $958; Summerland, 2,227, $334.05; unorganized territory, 1,427, $214.05.

Kelowna school district, No. 23; Kelowna, population, 5,000, $886.85; Glenmore, 404, $60.00; Peachland, 465, $80.75; unorganized territory, 6,015, $902.25.

In the Penticton district, the total population was placed at 10,042, and Kelowna at 13,303. It was recognized that these figures are low and that the total population of 23,485 has been increased by several thousands in ton; hit by pitcher, Taylor by these two areas.

Population figures were based

Kelowna Trooper Dies After Spill From Motorcycle

Tragedy struck down a young Kelowna man on Sunday morning, June 23, when Trooper Donald Allen Hall Miller, aged 32, died in the Summerland hospital following injuries sustained when he was precipitated from his motorcycle after the machine struck a hole in the road on Rosedale avenue, between J. H. Pledge's station and the Peach Orchard road. Coroner F. W. Andrew stated that death was caused by a fractured skull and concussion.

No inquiry or inquest was deemed necessary by Coroner Andrew following his investigation.

"Although I know the municipality is not legally responsible yet I believe it is morally responsible for this young man's death," commented Coroner Andrew upon pointing out the hole in the road to The Review representative.

This hole measured four to six inches in depth, was three feet long and fifteen inches wide. A number of other depressions in the road were noted in the same area after the accident.

The late Trooper Miller was on a military scheme when the accident occurred and was riding with two other troopers on motorcycles, while there was also a small truck in the convoy, with all personnel being members of C Squadron, B.C. Dragoons, of Kelowna.

It was approximately 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning when this convoy left West Summerland business area and started along Rosedale avenue on the return trip to Kelowna.

Tpr. John Schuck, who was also riding a motorcycle in the convoy, states that they were proceeding at about 25 miles per hour when the Miller bike hit the hole in the road and he was flung to the ground, landing on his head.

The motorbike is said to have travelled about ninety feet after hitting the depression.

The fatally injured man was taken to the Summerland hospital where he died at 10 o'clock the same morning, Sunday.

Remains were taken to Kelowna for interment. Besides his wife, the late Tpr. Miller leaves three small children. Funeral service was held from the United church, Kelowna, on Thursday afternoon, with full military honors being accorded the deceased.

Capt. W. Shugg, O.C. of C Squadron, B.C. Dragoons, reserve, accompanied by Capt. J. J. Ladd, came to Summerland on Sunday afternoon to investigate the tragic accident.

This stretch of roadway has been fixed by municipal workers this week.

Many Changes In Business Life Locally

Many new businesses and many changes in established businesses have been taking place recently or are contemplated in the near future a survey of the retail trading area of this municipality reveals.

At the end of June, The West Summerland Exchange will be known as Holmes and Wade, as V. M. Lockwood has severed his connection there. Mr. Lockwood has joined with Mr. Holmes and Mr. Howard Shannon in the Do Luxe Electric.

Two new enterprises are announcing their opening in the new Lockwood block on Hastings road. The Adorable Gown Shops, with branches at Vernon, Penticton and Princeton, have added West Summerland to their chain.

Also in the Lockwood block is a new cleaning and pressing establishment to be known as Hill's Dry Cleaners. This new business is being managed by Tim Hill, recently of Kelowna and a brother of Len Hill, of Hill's Ladies' Wear.

In the past week the finishing touches have been made to the three level offices of the Summerland Credit Union building on Granville. On the east side, W. Milne has located his new watch and repair shop, while next door is the new studio of Rob-cotton, the photographer. Mr. Rob-cotton is moving his studio from his residence.

Next month, the credit union will move its offices upstairs in its new building.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Dunbar, of the Dunbar's Bakery, have announced the sale of their business to Mr. G. Hallquist, of Youbou, B.C. This change in ownership has been necessitated by indifferent health, but Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar will continue to reside in West Summerland.

On Hastings, still another business venture will get underway shortly. V. M. Lockwood has started construction of a new building to house a body and fender repair and paint shop.

No Changes In Store Closing Hours Here

No change in retail hours of closing will come into effect with the new regulations regarding hours of work for all employees in the province with the exception of those employed in horticulture, it has been stated here this week.

All industrial workers with that exception are affected and the Summerland council is taking steps to implement the requirements of the act amongst its outside employees.

These employees will work eight hours from Monday to Friday, and four hours on Saturday. Victoria will be asked if the regulations apply to foremen and men on a monthly salary.

Retail merchants in Summerland have agreed to stagger the hours of their employees for the balance of the year.

At the year end it is expected that a change in the half-holiday from Thursday to Wednesday will be voted on here in connection with the election of the reeve and councillors. It is possible that by December a movement to close all day Wednesday may be started here.

Throughout the Okanagan a state of confusion still exists amongst retail traders and hardly two towns are to have the same hours of closing, it is apparent.

Penticton is facing a problem whereby the furniture and hardware businesses state they will close all day Wednesday and food handlers wish to remain open Wednesday morning and close early on Saturdays.

Kelowna has not come to any decision nor has Vernon made any move. Penticton has already changed to a Wednesday half-holiday but neither of the other two major towns have decided on this change, although Vernon is circulating a petition in its favor.

According to legal advice, no changes can be made in the hours of closing bylaws in these municipalities until a general election, so a state of confusion throughout the Okanagan will probably result until December.

Another provincial regulation to be enforced from July 1 onwards, calls for a holiday with pay of at least one week for every year's work, for these same employees.

If an employee terminates his work without having fulfilled a year, then he will be paid a bonus of one-eighth of a day's pay for every week worked, in lieu of the holiday.

Department Heads Named

Confirmation of the appointment of municipal department heads was given by the Summerland council on Monday afternoon.

E. Kercher assumes responsibility of the domestic water and irrigation departments, while Les Gould has been handed the entire work on the roads, with the one exception that Mr. Kercher will look after the new rock crusher machinery until it is operating satisfactorily.

As an assistant to Mr. Kercher, the council has appointed Ken Blagborne at a salary of $175, with $30 per month transportation allowance, to commence in two months' time.

It is the council's wish that Mr. Blagborne become thoroughly acquainted with the water departments so that he can take over those on Mr. Kercher's retirement.

Two new school buses are to be put into operation next fall if the tenders of the local firms are acceptable to the department of education in Victoria. They will be 55-passenger buses and will be available by Sept. 1, it is thought.

This business is being started by W. Nicholson, for 17 years with Smith and Henry, and William Barnes of Vancouver. While in the Air Force for five years, Mr. Nicholson worked with Mr. Barnes on this type of work and they have decided to become partners in a civic venture.

EDITORIAL

Vandalism

This week the municipal council is starting to improve Powell Beach. This beach is one of the best picnic spots in the district and annually draws hundreds of persons who wish an outdoor gathering, a swim and a picnic lunch or supper.

In years past the council has added many improvements to the beach. Picnic tables, benches, stoves and other conveniences have been placed at the beach for the convenience of local residents and visitors alike.

And just as often as improvements have been made, they have been destroyed. Tables have been wrecked, benches scattered about and broken. Stoves have been kicked over and the beach littered with refuse.

It is an unhappy thought. In sober contemplation it is hard to visualize any person who would have such little thought for property which has been placed for the public's benefit. The council hasn't unlimited funds. In fact, it has a hard time to make its money go around. Every time a citizen of this district damages some part of Powell Beach he is wrecking something which he has had a part in placing there. It is actually his property.

Not all the damage has been created by local residents, but visitors have been blamed in the past for some of the destruction. But, whoever has been to blame, criminal negligence and sometimes wilful destruction have been the results.

Powell Beach is an attractive summer resting spot. The council has decided to improve it once again for the summer visitors. It is up to every person in this district to see that the conveniences placed there are not abused and can be kept for the benefit of all from season to season.

If this co-operation is lacking one of these days the council will not be able to find the funds for such improvements and an ideal holiday spot will be lacking in the summer season here.

Accidental Fatalities

Two tragic and unexpected deaths have occurred in the space of one week in Summerland. Last week, the life of a seven-year-old lad was snuffed out while he was playing on an irrigation pond. Over the week-end a young man came to a sudden and fateful end when his motorcycle struck a hole in a Summerland road and he was precipitated head first on to the hard surfacing.

The entire community's sympathy goes out to the families of these two victims of the quirks of fate. Their passing was tragic and the suddenness of their demise must have come as a terrific shock to the bereaved relatives.

In the case of the small boy it is borne out forcibly the need for early training in swimming. Throughout the nation, campaigns are being conducted with the aim of acquainting every boy and girl with the rudiments of taking care of themselves in the water.

This is a worthwhile drive and deserves the co-operation of every public-spirited body. With such excellent swimming facilities close at hand, there should be no excuse for any boy or girl in this district not knowing how to swim. But perhaps the very fact that there are such excellent facilities makes us careless. We take it for granted that, because there is a big lake at our front door, everybody has learned to swim.

Properly conducted swim classes, with capable instructors, would be an excellent project for a public-spirited group in Summerland to undertake.

It has been stated here this week that Summerland should feel morally responsible for the death of the Kelowna trooper on Sunday morning. It was a deep rut in a municipal road into which his motorcycle careened and which caused the fatal accident.

There is no doubt that the roads in this community are in disgraceful shape. Complaints are heard on every hand, and we think that the reeve and council would be the first to admit that such is the case.

But the public is prone to criticize hastily and think logically afterwards. It must be remembered that it is less than a year since the war was terminated. For six years this district was denuded of its young men. Labor was scarcer than for many years before. There were few left to do the work.

Consequently, the municipal road program lagged and it was not possible to maintain them to anywhere the standard which present-day motorists expect as their natural right.

It has been a difficult position for the municipal council. The men were not available for the work and materials for the proper hard surfacing of the roads could not be obtained.

But labor is not nearly so scarce now although the materials are just as hard to obtain. The council must make a start soon to remedy this situation and give the motorist some comfort in his trips around the municipality.

SUMMERLAND- Yesterday

Believing that the residents of this district would be interested in the original Summerland Review, Mr. Ralph White publisher of the Kamloops Sentinel has been asked to provide some data concerning the first newspaper to be published in Summerland.

Mr. White has co-operated in this request and has been instrumental in piecing together the facts and factors relative to the first newspaper.

"Founding of community newspapers closely followed the establishment of communities in several sections of the Okanagan" writes Mr. White. "It is to J. M. Robinson, the founder of Peachland, Summerland and Naramata, that credit is due for the establishment of the original Summerland Review."

Mr. Robinson formed a limited liability company known as The Review Publishing Company, Limited, and a charter was granted for its operation on July 11 1908. The first issue appeared on August 8, 1908.

"The shareholders named in the original document were John Moore Robinson, John Frederick Watkins, William James Robinson, David H. Watson and Arthur Thomas Robinson. These men were described in accordance with their occupations as, agent, editor, agent superintendent and minister respectively.

"Mr. Watson will be remembered by some as superintendent of the Summerland Development Co.," Mr. White continues "Mr. Watkins, who did not remain long with the publication, went to Vancouver, where he established a business."

It was in 1911 that the writer, who had been associated with a daily paper in the Maritimes, came to the Okanagan with the intention of joining many who had migrated to the "Valley of Sunshine," to enjoy a free and easy life in the open," states Mr. White.

"At that time, Thomas Collinge, later of Ladysmith, was editor and manager of The Summerland Review. The paper was the news and advertising medium of the three Robinson communities, Naramata then being in its earliest stages of development, with frequent ferry connection with Summerland.

"It was not long before Mr. Robinson had persuaded the writer to take over the management and editorship of his newspaper. Later, he purchased Mr. Robinson's majority shares and afterwards the remaining shares held by the Summerland Development Co.

"The experience was highly interesting during those days of development and optimism. Money was plentiful, general business was good, with large turnovers in the several stores. New prospective fruit growers were coming in and Summerland had already become a rural municipality. Attending the council meetings in those days was one of the interesting and pleasant duties of the editor.

"As orchards came into maturity, Summerland became a very important producer of a great variety of fruits, with many individual shippers and small shipping organizations, most of whom shipped by express. The newspaper enjoyed considerable business in the printing of price lists and business forms.

"The place of publication was on the lakeshore, on the side now occupied by the new processing plant. The little lakeshore town, a most picturesque spot then boasted the finest hotel in the interior, had in the Summerland Supply Company a large, wellstocked store which it is said, turned over as much as a quarter of a million dollars in a year, and had two churches, a fine assembly hall, as well as many other places of business.

"Later, the town suffered a series of disastrous fires, one of which, on March 13, 1922, destroyed The Review building with its safe, books and records. For a few weeks the paper was printed at Penticton by the Herald, until other equipment was obtained.

"From that time on the newspaper was printed in and published from the building which had been erected as part of a proposed hotel on Shaughnessy avenue, and continued there for several years.

"With the organization of the fruit and vegetable marketing and other changes in general conditions, the several southern lake communities became less isolated and the printing and publishing outlook did not look so promising for the Review.

"With the thought that The Review might be carried on more economically in joint association with the Penticton Herald, it was acquired by that publication. After continuing for some time it was eventually amalgamated with the Penticton newspaper, concluded Mr. White.

After Mr. White had turned over The Review to the Penticton Herald it was still published and printed in Summerland. Then the plant was sold and the Herald printed the newspaper in Penticton. Finally just before the depression became general about 1930, the separate paper was dropped in favor of one or two pages in the Herald and eventually disappeared from sight altogether.

Now, The Review has been reborn, under entirely new management and with the ownership and control entirely vested in Summerland.

Council Accepts Hicks Tender For 600 Feet Of Side-Walk.

PEACHLAND — At a special meeting of the Peachland council, held on Tuesday night in the municipal hall, it was decided to accept the tender of Mat Hicks to construct 600 lineal feet of cement sidewalk.

The proposed sidewalk is to be 600 feet in length, 4 feet wide and 3 1/2 inches deep. There are to be curbs at 1st street, Second street and Third street. Two walks are to be built into the municipal hall. The price of the tender, as accepted, is $525.

The council decided to let tenders for the hauling of shale, not less than 3,000 yards, on the municipal roads. Tenders will be opened on June 29.

A letter was received from J. H. Pasenko signifying his refusal to move from the lakeshore in front of the Garaaway property. It was moved by Councillor C. O. Whinton and seconded by Councillor F. Topham, Jr., that the solicitor for the municipality be contacted concerning this matter.

BOYS KILL RATTTLERS

Boys of Grade 6, in the Summerland elementary school have proudly displayed two rattlesnakes which they killed while on an organized hike to Cartwright mountain on Monday, June 17. Some 64 lads took part in this hike under the supervision of Bert Stent, their teacher. One rattlesnake had nine rattles and the second had seven, and they were approximately three feet and two feet in length. The rattlers were under some lumber piled by a deserted shack.

PEACHLAND

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bowering spent the week-end in Peachland. Mr. Bowering was a former high school teacher in Peachland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Carter former residents of Peachland, and now living in Oliver, spent Sunday here.

Mrs. W. Borton returned to Vancouver last week after spending three weeks at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. Duquemin.

Women's Institute Holds Annual Coast Session

The eighth biennial convention of Women's Institutes met in the Mayfair room of the Hotel Vancouver, May 28, 29 and 30, with 180 delegates being present. Mrs. Alice Tait, Summerland delegate has reported to The Review.

The conference was opened with an address of welcome by Mayor Cornett, who presented the keys of the city to the delegates.

Lady Reading, of England, charmed her audience with her gracious personality and fine speaking capacity. Her speech was full of humor and pathos as she described various incidents of the London blitz.

The distinguished visitor told of an old lady dug out of the ruins of her home after being buried for 104 hours. At first they thought she could not live, but when they brought a lovely quilt from the Canadian Red Cross to wrap around her, she spoke of the kindness of the women so far away who do such lovely work for strangers.

As she became stronger, someone asked if she knew how long she had been buried, and she replied 102 hours, just two hours short in her reckoning. She said she knew because Jerry came over every 24 hours, and to pass the time she sang songs. Every time Jerry visited, she gave him "God Save the King."

Another speaker of note was Miss Lottie Brown, B.C. representative of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, in London, and volunteer worker in the Beaver Club. She spoke of the work of her organization, which is a sister group to the Women's Institute, and described how they carried on despite the bombings.

delegates and this proved an interesting experience.

Other speakers during the session were Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., who spoke on Women as Citizens, and deplored the fact that more women are not now taking part in the governing of this country; Miss Henderson, of the Province Model Kitchen; Miss Echo Lidster, leader of the Boys and Girls' clubs; Mr. McGillivray, department of agriculture; Mr. W. Hotson Bank of Montreal; Dr. Amyot, provincial health officer; Mrs. Rolston-M.L.A., and Mr. Cowley, of D.V.A.

There was a round-table discussion, led by high school students on their ideas regarding many school subjects which they believed to be of no use to them in later life. Hon G. M. Weir, minister of education, replied to their theories.

These speakers along with committee reports, a farewell address by Mrs. McLachlan retiring superintendent, and an introductory address by Mrs. S. E. Gummow, new superintendent, rounded out three busy days.

To lighten the sessions a luncheon was tendered by the Vancouver board of trade, in Stanley park, and addressed by Mr. Foreman, of the B.C. Products bureau, and a dinner with the provincial government as host. Hon Frank Putnam, minister of agriculture, spoke at latter function, on the problems of the farmer.

Afterwards, a quiz contest was conducted by Mr. K. Caple, former Summerland teacher, with the interior defeating the coast team.

It was a tremendous convention, Mrs. Tait declares, and at its conclusion, delegates expressed their belief that a great deal of good had been accomplished in the discussions.

CONDUCT SURVEY OF THIS DISTRICT

A two weeks' survey of Summerland, Peachland and Kelowna by the dominion bureau of statistics, designed to obtain current estimates of the volume of employment, unemployment and other labor force information, was carried out this month.

These three communities comprise one of the areas included in the sample survey of Canadian population undertaken by the bureau. It is the third in a series of such quarterly surveys covering approximately 25,000 households in about 100 randomly selected cities or sample areas scattered across the dominion.

On the basis of the survey, estimates of employment in different industries, weekly hours of work, the regional distribution of unemployment, the number of students and other non-workers, and other significant statistical data are obtained. The sampling method used in the labor force survey uses the most recent development in statistical theory in order to achieve both speed and efficiency in the sampling operations.

The survey was carried out by official enumerators of the dominion bureau of statistics, who interviewed a small fraction of the households in the Okanagan area during the two weeks the survey was in progress. All enumerators carried official credentials and any information given to them was strictly confidential.

No enumerator exercises any personal choice or option in the selection of households to be interviewed since all sample households are either picked beforehand or are selected by completely random methods by the enumerator.

Some households were interviewed several times at intervals of three months but very few more than four times. The explanation of the repetitive interviews is that they improve the reliability of estimates of changes from quarter to quarter.

DISCUSS SUBDIVISION

R. P. Brown, Penticton surveyor appeared before the Summerland council on Monday afternoon to discuss the latter's contention that a 40-foot by 40-foot turnout would be needed at the northwest corner of the Saunders subdivision, where the lane comes to a deadend. The council pointed out that the by-law covers this point and it cannot deviate from the policy laid down. The subdivision covers block 5, map 205.

EXCHANGE LAND TO STRAIGHTEN ROAD

Official sanction to the straightening of Granville road is being given by the Summerland council with the passing of three readings of a bylaw on Monday to exchange a portion of the property owned by the Sanhown-Garage Co. Granville for a similar portion of the east of the garage and bordering on the lane. When this exchange is effected, both the street and the lane will be straightened and the cement sidewalk can be extended on Granville.

SERVICES NEEDED

Six electric light and four domestic water connection applications were approved by the council on Monday afternoon. The former were from H. F. Sargent, V. M. Lockwood, O. A. Dunbar C. Carey, Nels Johnson and J. V. Charles. The domestic water connections were for H. F. Sargent, V. M. Lockwood, C. Carey and Nels Johnson.

DELIVERY UNCERTAIN

Forty electric light meters are on order by the electric light department but it is indefinite when delivery can be made. Percy Thornber municipal electrician, informed the council on Monday.

COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVE

Three readings were given a tax sale bylaw by the council on Monday to sell lot 11 block D, D.L. 268, to A. H. Keibel, for $650.

Councillor E. M. Tait has been appointed the official representative of the municipal council on the Summerland hospital board.

"Someday Bill Will Thank You . . ."

So said the Sun Life Agent when he delivered my son Bill's Junior Adjustable policy — but he didn't have to tell me that. I know what a help it would have been to me if, when I was twenty-one, I had been given a life assurance policy that could be continued as Whole Life, Life Paid-up at 60, or Endowment at the same age, for as much as five times the original amount without increasing the premium. Especially when that premium was based on rates for a child. I didn't have this great advantage, but I'm making sure my son has it. How about you?

RIFLE CLUB IS RE-ORGANIZED

Reorganization of the Summerland Rifle club was undertaken on Friday evening at the Legion hall, while the first shoot of the season will be held at the Garnett Valley range on Sunday morning. This range, which is one of the best in the valley, can be fired over 200, 500 and 600 yards.

Dewey Sanborn has been named the new president, while H. J. "Bill" Barkwell is secretary. It is proposed that the local club will affiliate with the B.C. Rifle association.

It is hoped that a number of the former Pacific coast militia rangers, who utilized the range during the war years, will join the association.

STORES TO CLOSE

On Monday, July 1, Dominion Day, all retail stores in the Summerland district will be closed, it is announced by Len Hill, president of the retail merchants association.

DEFACE MONUMENT AT PEACHLAND

Three juveniles, ages 9, 10 and 15, will appear in police court at Peachland today, Thursday, on charges of defacing the memorial to the fallen veterans of World War I. These youngsters used rocks to damage the lettering on the monument, it is stated, and will face the juvenile court judge to answer for their crime.

POLICEMAN FIRES SHOT TO SCARE RUNNER

On a charge of being intoxicated, Ross Fitzpatrick appeared before Magistrate H. Sharman on Tuesday morning and paid a fine of $25 and costs. This case arose from a chase between B.C. Police Constable W. Cartmell and the accused on Monday night. Fitzpatrick escaped the clutches of the law on one occasion and ran up an ally. In an attempt to frighten him into stopping, the policeman fired a shot from his revolver into some bushes, but Fitzpatrick did not stop just then. He appeared in police court the next morning and paid his fine.

Penticton School District 15 met in Summerland on Thursday to discuss the bus transportation problems for the coming year.

C. Bennett, Beverly J. Cousins, Phyllis M. Dawson, Myles H. Dodwell, E. Joyce Elsey, Marian B. Harvey, Donna L. Haskins, Phyllis J. Hickson, I. Lawrence Hookham, Juriko Jomori, Alfred Kita, Richard N. Yamabe.

A clever class poem was read by its author, Phyllis Hickson, and received an enthusiastic response. Mr. S. A. MacDonald spoke on behalf of the Summerland elementary school, and wished the class every success and happiness.

The valedictory address was given by Myles Dodwell, who mentioned the fun and good times that the students would look back on, and gave thanks on behalf of the class to the staff of the high school for the encouragement and help given them. In conclusion, Myles stated: "Wherever we go, whatever we do, we will do our best to keep up the high standard of the Summerland high school, and we are proud to be of this class of '46."

Presentations were then made, with the Verrier trophy presented by Mr. Macleod to Alfred Kita. This trophy is given in memory of Robert Verrier, to the pupil who has revealed the best qualities of all-round sportsmanship, courtesy and politeness.

Miss Walker presented the Drama Cup to Pat Golay, and the marksman's cup was presented by Mr. Sharman to Bruce Haskins who won this award for the second time. The inter-house shield was presented by Lt.-Col. Burnett to House One, headed by Alfred Kita.

Mr. Dodwell presented the O.V.S.A.A. ribbons to winners of the Okanagan track meet. The following ribbons were given: 3rd prize, 120 yds. hurdles, boys 16 and under, Edward Kita; 2nd prize, broadjump, boys 16 and under, Jack Dunham; 2nd prize, 100 yd. dash, boys 16 and under, Henry Knippelberg; 2nd prize, 65 yd. hurdles, senior girls, Donna Haskins; 1st prize, 100 yd. dash, boys 16 and under, Norman Verrier.

Kiwanis Cup
Mr. W. C. Wilken presented the Kiwanis cup to the girls' basketball team, as the champion team of the senior Okanagan basketball tournament. Shirley Harvey, as captain of the team, accepted the cup.

E. H. Bennett, donor of the Bennett ski cup, presented the cup to Bruce Haskins as one of the top performers.

Shirley Harvey, who led Grade XII this year, was the winner of the book prize, awarded by Mr. Macleod. It was the first time such an award has been given and the volume was a beautifully bound edition of the "Treasury of Great Poems, English and American."

A clever, jovial and informal address was given by Dr. R. C. Palmer, who told the students: "We must keep ourselves adaptable by working and playing hard," and he also stressed the value of hearty laughter.

The invocation was given by Rev. Haskins and following "God Save the King" the guests and students adjourned to the high school where refreshments were served.

Hold Banquet
During the evening, a banquet was held at the Legion hall for the graduating class and the high school students. Guests included the high school staff, Principal S. A. MacDonald and Mrs. MacDonald and officials of the Peachland and Penticton students' councils.

Following the banquet, a dance was held in the hall, with most of the students in formal dress for the occasion.

The success of this first graduation was largely due to the capable graduation committee comprised of Joan Bennett, Myles Dodwell and Marian Harvey.

Elementary Closing

The closing exercises of the Summerland elementary school were held on Wednesday morning, June 26, at the school. The ceremonies were opened by Trustee P. G. Dodwell, who stated that it is the fourteenth year that he has performed this function. He mentioned the crowded conditions of the schools, and hoped that there would soon be a new auditorium for such occasions, with moving pictures installed as an aid to lessons.

Presentation of a Memorial Roll of Honor from the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was made by Mrs. J. A. Read. This roll is in memory of former students who volunteered for active service and paid the supreme sacrifice. The roll was accepted on behalf of the school by Principal S. A. MacDonald who expressed appreciation of the gift.

Rolls of Merit

Mr. Dodwell presented students with rolls of merit, and the following students received these awards:

Grade 8—S. A. MacDonald, teacher. Proficiency, Mary Ward; school citizenship, Francis Gould; attendance, Fred Kato.

Grade 7—J. McKenzie, teacher. Proficiency, Amy Yamaba; school citizenship, Barbara Metters; attendance, Jack Miller.

An Open Message

After almost a quarter of a century, I am severing my connection with the Summerland Exchange and disposing of my interest in that concern to Mr. Cecil Wade, of Flin Flon, Man.

With Mr. Wade will be associated my partner, Mr. Norman Holmes, and to them both I wish the best of luck, with the hope that my former patrons will continue to honor them with their business.

Although I have no longer any active interest in the Summerland Exchange, I am associated with Mr. Holmes and Mr. Howard Shannon in the DELUXE ELECTRIC, and I hope that my many customers will continue to patronize our new store on Granville Street.

Government

Discussion ensued as to the methods of collection to be used. It was stated that the 30 cents per capita will be paid into the school districts and handed over to the health unit from them. It should not be suggested that these monies are entirely part of school costs, it was pointed out, although the cost of school nurses is included.

In Summerland, the municipal council in the past has divided the cost with the school board. It is expected that such will continue to be the procedure except that the larger school district will not include 50 per cent in its estimates, whereas the Summerland school board formerly handled this charge.

Unorganized territories will be assessed through the provincial assessor, and the collections paid into the school district to be forwarded to the health unit.

Well Pleased A resolution adopting the budget presented by the provincial board and expressing the union's appreciation of the department's generosity in shouldering such a high proportion of the expenses of operation, was moved by J. M. Brydon, Kelowna, and P. G. Dodwell, Summerland. It was passed unanimously.

Representation on the union board has been left until the next quarterly meeting, as no change can be made until the new year.

Mr. Dodwell inquired if dental services could be included in the health scheme. Dr. Cull replied that the board is so desirous, but has not been able to make suitable arrangements.

The union board went on record as requesting the provincial board to send either Dr. Cull or the assistant deputy, Dr. J. M. Hershey, to the quarterly meeting.

Those present at Thursday's session follow: Alderman R. P. Walrod, Trustee J. M. Brydon, Kelowna; Trustee C. C. Whinton, Peachland; Councillor D. Taylor, Trustee P. G. Dodwell, Kelowna; Councillor A. A. Swift, Trustee Mrs. R. B. White, Pentiction; Trustee A. B. Wood, East Kelowna; Dr. J. S. Cull, L.R. J. M. Hershey, Victoria, provincial department of health; Dr. D. B. Avison, Kelowna union director; Sanitary Inspectors Henderson-Watts, Kelowna, and Black, Pentiction; J. N. Burnett, Pentiction district-school inspector. Alderman Walrod was chairman.

TEEN TOWN

Last Teen Town dance was on June 20, and was not very well attended, so we hope that the next dance will be a better success.

Well, Teen-agers, at last our sweaters are here. They are really sharp, and are selling fast, so be sure to get one.

There's nothing as much fun as a beach party, and that is just what we are looking forward to, on July 1. All Teeners are to meet outside of the I.O.O.F. hall at 7.30 sharp.

SUMMERLAND GOES TO CENTENNIAL AT BORDER CEREMONY

Summerland, along with the entire South Okanagan, was well represented on Sunday when the big centennial service, commemorating one hundred years of peace, was celebrated at Osoyoos, at the international boundary line.

This celebration commemorated the hundredth anniversary of the signing of the treaty of 1846, which ended the border dispute.

Hundreds of cars from both sides of the border concentrated on Osoyoos and by noon on Sunday thousands of persons awaited the start of the ceremonies.

Members of the Canadian Legion, headed by a combined pipe band, paraded to the ceremony stand to mark the start of the ceremonial.

Among the speakers who stressed the historical picture of one hundred years of peace were: Mrs. Zella McGregor, Pentiction, Women's Institute; Mrs. Frances Sanger, Cashmere, Wash., American Legion Auxiliary; Comrade Reg. Atkinson, Pentiction, Canadian Legion; Capt. H. A. Davis, Okanagan, Wash., American Legion; Mrs. R. B. White, Pentiction; one of the first white children born in the lower Okanagan Valley, Dr. R. R. Laird, M.L.A., too. Simikameen; Col. Frederick Lash, U.S. Army Air Force.

ARTISTS NAMED

Mr. J. Sowerbutt, of Summerland has pointed out that some artists who contributed to the enjoyment of the reception for Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scriver at Ellison hall recently were omitted from The Review account. "I am sure you will feel that their names are worthy of mention," he writes. "To mention a few, Edna White, Thelma Nicholson, Jean Dunsdon, Johnny Bethzzi, Bud Stewart and a young fellow named Soderburg. Mention should also be made of Bill White for his rhythm arrangement on Twelfth Street Rag, and also to Don Tait for sound effects and vocal numbers."

CRESCENT BEACH ROAD WASHED OUT BY HIGH WINDS

High winds, together with the lake level raised to its present dangerous level, caused a great deal of damage to property holders along the lake front of Summerland last week.

The Crescent Beach road, north of George Fudge's residence was under water and washed out for nearly half a mile over the week-end. Residents of Crescent Beach were forced to travel by the high road or take to their boats to reach home.

Two trucks from the municipality have been working steadily since last Saturday hauling rocks to breach the gaps caused by the pounding of the waves on this road and by Wednesday cars could get through, although the surface was very rough.

Hundreds of dollars damage was caused to home owners on the lake front, due to the excessively high waves lashed by the gale. Many gardens were inundated and the rock and cement foundations crumbled from the action of the water.

PEACHLAND COMES FROM BEHIND TO WIN FROM KEREMEOS NINE

PEACHLAND—Despite an attack of early inning jitters which left them trailing 6-0, in the fifth, Peachland ball tossers rallied to defeat KeremEOS on June 16, 10-8.

For the third league game in succession, the opposing team took the lead in the first half of the game.

Dan Cousins' single scored Gummow for Peachland's first tally in the fifth. Naka and Cousins scored on singles to bring the score to 6-3. Winning runs were counted in the sixth. Sutherland hit safely to score Gummow and Duquemin and Tomo Naka's third hit of the day was lost in right field and went for a home run. Harold Cousins' three-base smash to right field scored Williamson and gave Peachland an 8-6 lead.

Harold Cousins replaced his brother, Dan, in the sixth and was credited with the victory. Tomo Naka led the hit parade with four for five, after being out three weeks with a torn ligament.

Oliver Blanked By Peachland

PEACHLAND—A four-run outburst in the sixth inning broke up a scoreless battle and gave Peachland ball tossers the margin of victory over Oliver, 4-0, at Peachland on Sunday. Playing on a greatly-improved diamond, Peachland turned in an almost flawless game. Harold Cousins pitched masterfully for Peachland, striking out 12. Mackenzie starred in right field. Peachland's half of the sixth opened with a walk to Vene Cousins with one out. Naka was safe as Pitcher Norton booted his trickler. Fulks hit through second, scoring V. Cousins. Dan Cousins looped a double to right field, scoring Fulks and Naka. D. Cousins scored on MacLaughlin's single, ending the scoring.

Oliver threatened seriously only once. In the fourth, McIvor walked and Miller singled out with none out. Lawley hit a ball to Gummow, Peachland third baseman, forcing McIvor. Wilkins hit one ball to the mound and forced Miller at third base. Lawley also went out at third on an attempted steal, ending Oliver's only serious threat in the game.

Veteran Dan Cousins showed the way with the hickory hitting three for four, one a valuable double, scoring two runs in the sixth.

VICE-CONSUL SPEAKS TO ROTARY HERE

Rotarians with their Rotary Annex attended the weekly meeting of the Summerland Rotary club on Tuesday evening to hear Mr. J. Ridland, British vice-consul at Spokane, Wash., give an interesting and sometimes humorous travelogue. For the most part, Mr. Ridland dealt with conditions in the British Isles during the war and immediately afterwards and gave many human interest stories of the fortitude with which the British people withstood the aerial siege. Mr. Ridland is on a combined holiday and speaking tour of interior towns and cities to address all the Rotary clubs in this district. In Summerland he was the guest of Dr. R. C. Palmer, Summerland Experimental Station.

A GREETING

Summerland, B.C., June 5, 1946.

Editor, The Review—The birth of a newspaper is always a notable event and that of the "Summerland Review" is no exception. For some time past omens and portents have been pointing to the inevitability of the "Pentiction Herald" in its welcoming editorial has reminded us that this is a re-birth; many years ago the "Summerland Review" carried the Valley news to a wide circle of readers; today, a much wider circle will greet the "twice-born" with enthusiasm.

The Summerland Review of years ago, although it passed out of sight for a time did not die; it lived on in the heart and mind of a young man who had formerly helped in its production and who now realizes a purposeful ambition—the re-appearance of the weekly paper in his home town. It is not merely a sentimental gesture—the restoring of the familiar name—the new paper IS the "Summerland Review" REBORN.

Summerland has grown since the paper made its first appearance, but it is not a very different Summerland; there are many strange faces but also many familiar ones. Few people live here for long without absorbing the friendly atmosphere and being compelled to add their own contribution to its community spirit; the "Summerland Review" will be a valuable aid to this co-operative loyalty.

What a power for good or evil is contained in the pages of a newspaper, and what a great responsibility is shouldered by those who undertake its publication!

Is there any reading matter more eagerly looked for than the weekly newspaper of the average small town (better blue-pencil the second adjective, Mr. Editor, or you will be hearing from the board of trade) Father reads the news and correspondence, the editorials. Mother turns to the arrival of the mail order catalogue. Yes, we all read the news-housekeeping hints and short-cuts; the children pour over their special column, and we all read "Pentiction Herald" editorial—doings—Mrs. So and So had a party of friends to afternoon tea (wonder why we weren't invited?). Mr. and Mrs. Somebody Else have gone on a trip to this place or that (however can they afford it with their family?). Mrs. Ailing has gone to the hospital again (poor thing, she enjoys such bad health!), and so on.

Then there are the advertisements—we cannot resist their allurements—their fascination is only slightly exceeded by the joys of window-shopping or the

CALIFORNIA MEETING

Dr. H. R. McLarty and Dr. M. F. Welsh, of the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Summerland, left on Wednesday for Berkeley, Cal., to attend a meeting of the American Phyto-logical and Pathological Society. Dr. McLarty is vice-president of the Pacific coast group of this society. The sessions will be held from June 24 to 27, and the Summerland visitors are expected to return about July 3.

Leon Flummerfelt of Pollock Motors staff, left on Monday evening for New Westminster. He intends to enter the logging business at the coast.

Mrs. H. Peterson and daughter returned to Summerland on Saturday morning from New Westminster where she was visiting for a couple of weeks.

OBJECT TO DUST NUISANCE

A petition, signed by residents of lower Peach Orchard district appeared before the council on June 12, with the request that the dust nuisance in their district be alleviated. It was agreed that some effort should be made to lay the dust on the road running north from the arterial highway. Salt will be applied to the offending portion.

Recently returned from York House school, Vancouver, Miss Alix Gordon is being congratulated by her friends for winning the school cup, which is awarded for the best all-round pupil. Miss Gordon is spending her summer holidays with her mother, Mrs. R. B. Gordon, and her grandfather, Alex Gordon of Meadow Valley.

Summerland Co-op Gives Its Cannery Clear Start

Faced with a deficit in operations from last season's pack at the new cannery the Summerland Co-operative Growers' shareholders met on Tuesday, June 18, in the I.O.O.F. hall to hear a report from the directors and auditor, R. G. Rutherford, and discuss methods of liquidating the loss. Nearly 60 members were in attendance.

A supplementary report was handed down by R. G. Rutherford, of Kelowna showing that since the close of the year on February 28, the cannery operations had shown a loss of nearly $11,000.

Due to incomplete returns the operations had indicated a profit of about $5,000 at the year-end but on closer investigation, and due to shrinkage and other causes, this profit had disappeared and a net deficit for the entire business now stood at $5,000.

It was also stated that the cannery had been put into operation last year at a cost of $132,000 instead of the $90,000 it had originally been estimated.

This debt carries interest at 4 1/2 per cent, which is a terrific load for any manufacturing concern to bear and still show a profit, it was pointed out by the chairman, Reeve W. R. Powell.

Defer Payment
In order to give the cannery a clear start for this season, it was agreed on Tuesday that the debenture payment of $15,000, on the total cannery loan, would be deferred. The deficit would thus be wiped out and the balance of the money would be spent on capital equipment to provide a more economical operation.

"No blame can be placed on any one person for this loss in operation" explained Mr. Rutherford. "It is not a question of anybody stealing the money, but when you enter into the manufacture of a product, you must face the possibility of a profit or a loss. In this case, the year resulted in a loss."

"The management did the best it could but the money realized didn't pay for the manufacture of the goods," explained President Powell. "I unwillingly came into this picture to arrest a situation which I thought would be ruinous to your interests. I didn't realize it was quite as difficult as it turned out."

He spoke of the big load of interest rate and labor difficulties of last season.

For the 1945 manufacture a change in policy has been agreed, he continued. Instead of a local broker handling the product the cannery will sell its own product and cut brokerage costs from 50 to 100 per cent.

Cherry Crop Down
Turning to cherry processing, Mr. Powell stated that there is a definite shortage of this fruit indicated for this year. It had been planned to process 200 tons of cherries, but last week the Co-op had been informed by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the most which can be expected will be 60 tons.

A new agreement has been reached whereby the cannery products will be sold on a cost-plus basis. Recently, the Co-op was able to purchase nearly 2,000 barrels for cherry processing at a cost of $3,200. These have leaped in value until they are now worth

GOLDEN GLOVES BOXING AT VERNON

One of the feature attractions of the Interior Golden Gloves, being staged in the Vernon Civic arena on July 5, will be the matches between the teen age and under fighters. Boys of about ten years of age, will be trading punches as well as their older more experienced, but no more enthusiastic brother gladiators.

The Golden Gloves is under the auspices of Pro-Rec and is being sponsored by the Vernon Kinsmen club. Net proceeds will be devoted to Kin charities.

So far there are 48 entries for the 10 classifications. They come from almost every centre in the Interior and many of the amateur fighters have boxing reputations that extend beyond the central province.

Winners in all classes qualify to enter the provincial Golden Gloves in Vancouver.

DON AGUR AWARDED TROPHY OFFICIALLY

The combined downhill slalom trophy of the Crystal Ski Runners has been awarded to Don Agur, who made a beautiful run on the day of the ski tournament last March local ski club officials informed The Review this week.

The method of calculating the award was disputed by the Paul boys, of Princeton who were runnersup for the prize that day.

Don Agur's time was accepted as a minute ahead of any other competitors, but the Similkameen contestants were considerably ahead of him on the slalom. After some correspondence with the Western Canada Ski Association the latest method of calculating this event was obtained and it was found that Agur still held a comfortable margin of points.

LOVELY GARDENS FORM SETTING FOR CHURCH PARTY

Members of the evening branch of the Women's auxiliary of St. Stephen's church were hostesses on Friday evening, June 21, at an attractive garden party held amidst the beautiful floral setting of the gardens of St. Stephen's rectory.

There were amusing and interesting games to entertain the many guests and the wide variety of refreshments served was appetizing and attractive. There was also a sale of home-cooking and childrens wear, with most of the articles quickly sold.

The lawns and the gardens which lie behind the rectory, have been completed by Canon and Mrs. Harrison during the past year and brought many exclamations of delight from spectators.

Forming a lovely and most unusual background for the appealing garden setting, was a lighted waterfall and directly in front of this, a fire burned cheerily in the large stone barbecue.

A crowd of well over 150 enjoyed the gracious hospitality offered, and total proceeds were more than satisfactory.

Although this is the first of its kind by the evening branch, it is hoped that the garden parties will become an anticipated annual event.

FIRE FIGHTING TRUCKS

Several offers of fire-fighting trucks have been received by the council for its consideration, these being at Abbotsford Prince George and Dog Creek, B.C. The notifications are being handed over to the firefighting committee of the board of trade for perusal.

WILL NOT LEND MACHINE

Summerland council on Monday afternoon turned down a request from Dawson and Wade, coast contractors for use of the municipal maintainer on the Trepianer cut-off two days weekly. It was felt that this machine is needed for municipal work.

WILL SURFACE WALK

Arrangements are to be made with the Interior Contracting Co., Penticton, to lay a coating of asphalt over the present sidewalk from the White & Thornthwaite garage north to the corner, it was decided by the council on Monday. The Penticton firm is to surface the garage frontage and will extend its work for this short distance, if the existing surface can be put in shape in time.

Keremeos Triumphs In First Fastball Gam of Season

First game of the senior girls' softball loop in the southern interior went to Keremeos when they defeated the Summerland lassies on their own diamond by a close 11-10 count. A fair-sized crowd was on hand to witness this struggle.

It was a close finish as Summerland went into the final frame, trailing by two runs. Ward hit a mighty clout to left field which went for a home run. With Johnson on second base, D. Howard hit along the right field foul line and the runner on second should have scored the tying run. However, the Summerland coach did not send Johnson home and Heichert's clout was picked off by the Keremeos shortstop to end the rally.

J. Howard was the Summerland pitcher, while McCutcheon handled the hurling duty for the visitors.

Summerland players were: Ward rf, White ss, Johnson 1b, D. Howard 2b, Heichert 3b, Klux lf, Welsh cf, Glazier c, J. Howard p. Following is the rest of the Health Unit Head Resigns

Acceptance of the resignation of Dr. D. B. Avison director of the union board of health of the Okanagan, was one highlight of the quarterly meeting of that group in the council chambers, West Summerland on Thursday afternoon, June 20. Dr. Avison was granted a month's holiday as from July 15, and in late August he is planning to leave for China, where he will become a regional medical director for U.N.R.R.A.

As a medical missionary, Dr. Avison spent many years in Korea and was asked to return there. He decided, however, that as conditions have changed greatly in that country he would accept the China offer. His headquarters will be at Shanghai.

No permanent replacement can be found until the fall, but a temporary appointment will be made for this summer.

The union session on Thursday accepted his resignation with regret, P. J. Dodwell, of Summerland, expressing their appreciation of his work.

"It is with a great deal of regret that I leave at the present time just as many difficulties have been cleared away and we are reaching the point when we can be properly staffed," Dr. Avison remarked.

COMMON ASSAULT

Gertrude Yulp paid a fine of $5 and costs in police court on Friday before Magistrate H. Sharman, on a charge of common assault, brought by Doris Taroson.

DAYLIGHT SAVING BEING SANCTIONED

"The provincial government has been lacking in guidance to allow the province to become so involved in daylight saving," was the opinion of Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon at Monday afternoons council session.

Although daylight saving has been adopted in the Okanagan, it is not official. Therefore, three readings were given a by-law to institute legally daylight saving and it will be enforced officially after an order-in-council has been passed.

Daylight saving will continue until midnight, Saturday, Sept. 28, it was declared.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. James announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Grace Marion, to James Lloyd Burgoyne, of Kamloops, eldest son of the late J. N. Burgoyne and Mrs. George Murdoch, of Kamloops.

The wedding will take place early in July in West Summerland. 4-1-p
