

Council Takes Stand On Proportion of School Estimates

Summerland municipal council has accepted the estimates submitted by Penticton School District No. 15, but has informed the school group that it does not agree with the allocation of expenditures between Penticton, Summerland and the rural area. This is the latest development in the tangled muddle as to what proportion will be paid by the three units in this school district and which has been buffeting back and forth for the last month.

The Department of Education at Victoria has submitted the proportions which the school district shall allocate. These are based on the assessment figures submitted by the two municipalities and the rural assessor to Victoria, covering the 1946 assessment rolls.

But the quoted Summerland figures includes improvements assessments on trees, while Penticton and the rural area assessments do not include any such allocation as those two units do not assess trees for municipal purposes, while Summerland has been including trees in its rolls for years.

The Summerland council's contention is that if Penticton and the rural area do not include trees assessments, then Summerland's assessment figure should be lowered accordingly to place the three units on a sound and equitable basis.

Member Agrees

The council last week communicated its ideas on the subject to W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan and it is understood that Mr. Bennett believes Summerland has a just case and is endeavoring to obtain agreement at Victoria.

According to the figures Victoria sent the school district last week, the proportion of the school estimated expenditure for 1947 would be divided as follows: Penticton, 61.25 per cent; Summerland, 28.45 per cent; rural area, 1.3 per cent. This proportion is based on 1946 assessments, unrevised.

Reeve W. R. Powell told the council on Monday that according to information he had gathered, the Summerland council is on firm ground in its stand that trees should be eliminated from the 1946 assessment figures for school purposes.

Consequently, the council lost no time in passing a resolution to acquaint the school district with this feeling.

Dodwell's View

Last week, when School District No. 15 held its regular meeting, Summerland Trustee P. G. Dodwell urged the board to take some steps to see that Summerland receives fair treatment and justice in this question.

But Chairman Dr. T. F. Parmley, although he agreed personally that Summerland's position is sound, held to the viewpoint that, as far as the school board was concerned, it could not enter into the argument.

He contended that it was a problem for Summerland council to argue with Victoria.

J. N. Burnett, school inspector, pointed out that he had informed Summerland municipal authorities a year ago that school trees were not to be included in assessments for school purposes and had pointed this out to Summerland municipal clerk, F. J. Nixon.

Set Before Act

However, it was pointed out that 1946 assessments had been set prior to the introduction of the new school act and, therefore, interpretation after that date would not affect the 1946 assessment roll in any case.

In the end, however, the school board did agree to notify the education department in Victoria of Summerland's contention, and the secretary, K. J. Palmer, was instructed to forward copies of the Summerland council's views on the subject.

Small Eastern Crop

It was mainly because the eastern supplies did not materialize this year and because of the deliveries to the U.K. market that the 1946 cee grade supply was marketed. In future years, when the Ontario and Quebec crops are back to normal, there will be no opportunity to sell cee grade in eastern Canada, he warned.

"Because of our geographical position, we must develop better quality dessert apples. The prairie producer is in better shape financially now and he is starting to demand better quality apples."

Mr. Lander also exhibited the new package designed to handle apricots, plums and prunes. Although it contains less fruit and costs slightly more than the present package, its attractiveness and the display of the fruit will allow for better returns, Mr. Lander hopes.

Last season, apricots were the worst offenders of all B.C. fruit and did not compare to the U.S. importation, Mr. Lander pointed out. Other soft fruits, with the exception of some Bartlett pear shipments, were well received and found favor with the consumers. He considered that prunes should be increased in size.

In answer to questions, Mr. Lander declared that the ultimate result of a continuation of the volume of cee grade would be that a proportion would have to go to processing plants.

He considered that as conditions improve in the United Kingdom market, so will the demand for better quality apples.

Pools On 1945 Level

George E. Brown, Tree Fruits secretary, told the growers that indications are that the apple pool will close at about the same level as 1945. However, packing house charges will be increased because of the higher cost of materials and labor, so that net results to the grower will be less than for the 1945 crop.

The increase in spread between grades this year will be sixty per cent of the present gap between cee grade and fancy. This increase was authorized by the growers at the annual convention.

Growers have already received from the apple pool, 85 per cent of 120 per cent of the five-year average.

Working capital cheques are expected to be mailed near the end of March, Mr. Brown stated, urging all growers to make sure they are registered with the B.C. Fruit Board so there will be no delay in receiving information sent out by the sales agency.

Asked about hulled apples, Mr. Brown pointed out that the maximum price allowed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board was the cee grade price prevailing.

Funeral service is being held this afternoon, Thursday, at 2 o'clock, from the Baptist church, for the late Dr. Robert Campbell Lipssett, one of the old-time pioneers of the South Okanagan, who passed away at New Westminster on Sunday, March 2, at the age of 82.

School Bylaw For $75,000 Nearly Ready

Every effort is being made by trustees of Penticton School District No. 15, to accomplish all preliminary arrangements and prepare the by-law for school improvements in the coming year. These improvements include complete renovation of the Summerland elementary school; purchase of the W. C. Kelley property in West Summerland for future school development; purchase, transportation and erection of two big army huts for Penticton's temporary accommodation, and improvements to the Naramata school.

It is anticipated that the by-law to be presented to Penticton, Summerland and the rural area, will call for total expenditure of about $150,000. Of this amount, close to $100,000 will be spent on the Summerland project, which also includes a new heating unit for the present high school.

Estimates and plans were submitted last week, detailing the work of dismantling the army huts at Vernon and transporting them to Penticton school grounds. Although originally estimated roughly at $30,000, the final estimate indicates an expenditure of $25,000 for each hut.

Even at this figure, Inspector J. N. Burnett stated that it would be an economical project to provide twelve badly needed classrooms for Penticton schools.

The B.C. government would be expected to undertake 50 per cent of this gross expenditure, leaving about $75,000 to be raised by by-law from the school district, on a percentage to be agreed upon when the contentious 1946 assessment figure has been settled.

TRUCK PURCHASE IS DELAYED

No action is being taken by the local council in the purchase of a truck offered by Pollock Motors Ltd., for use as a fire truck in the municipality.

Reeve W. R. Powell informed the council on Monday that the negative decision was reached in favor of the purchase of a truck more suitable for the purpose.

He intimated that a new truck might be purchased for the public works department and one of its used trucks turned over to be converted for fire department use.

DISCUSS NEW HALL

First discussion of plans for a new municipal hall ensued at Monday night's council meeting when Councillor F. E. Atkinson produced tentative sketches. No decision was reached but the council agreed that it would continue discussion of the proposed new building until such time as the project is far enough advanced that detailed plans can be drawn up by a competent architect.

Dr. G. M. Weir Says Huge Saving Made By School Districts of British Columbia

The saving to school districts as a result of implementation of the Cameron report; announcement that the provincial government will bear approximately $10,000,000 of the cost of constructing school buildings during the course of the next ten years, and matters appertaining to the establishment of a medical faculty at the University of British Columbia, were subjects touched upon by Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, minister of education, when winding up the debate in reply to the speech from the throne in the provincial legislature during the past week.

Some of the more important matters dealt with in his speech are as follows:

Adoption of Cameron report on education by government benefited school districts, by approximately $2,500,000.

School building program throughout the province estimated at $20,000,000 during the next ten years.

Provincial government will bear approximately $10,000,000 of cost of construction.

Appointment of a commission on equalization of assessments is essential if inequalities in financing education are to be removed.

Government has set aside $1,500,000 for medical building and $100,000 for annual operating expenses.

Vancouver Normal school suggested as suitable building for medical faculty owing to its close proximity to General hospital and St. Paul's hospital.

Transfer of Normal school to Vancouver would be desirable and would be desirable.

Grounds of Normal school also has space for training hospital when necessary arises.

Under certain proposals from medical experts, it would cost $25,000 per medical student per year.

Decision regarding establishment of medical faculty is one solely for university authorities to make.

Neither McGill nor Toronto universities ever had so generous treatment as the provision made by government for University of British Columbia.

SUGGESTS TRADE BOARD GIVE LIST

Dr. F. W. Andrew spoke to the local council last week on the benefit to be derived from naming Summerland roads and suggested that a number of streets should be given names of pioneers. At present he stated, it is difficult to direct strangers to any particular section of the community, also insurance companies and death certificates need more definite locations than can be provided now.

Reeve Powell suggested that a committee of the board of trade should submit a list of streets with suggested names and Dr. Andrew agreed to make this suggestion to the trade board.

Three Tenders For Bus Run Are Submitted

Three tenders for the transportation of school students from Summerland to Penticton and return, primarily for senior matriculation classes next September, have been received by Penticton School District No. 15. No action has been taken on the awarding of this contract, which is held until the end of the present term by Bills' Taxi, Summerland.

Lowest bid was tendered by L. C. Stevenson, Summerland, at 25 cents per mile, with an agreement up to 20 passengers.

White and Thornthwaite, Summerland, submitted a bid amounting to 45 cents per mile, but this was on a basis of re-routing present bus runs and was for operation of a 40-passenger bus. Another tender which also included provision for changing of present bus runs, was submitted by Carter Bros., Penticton, at 32 cents per mile. The latter firm if given the contract, would use the bus now on the Penticton-Kaleden school run and substitute a 50-passenger bus to take care of increasing school population in the Kaleden-Penticton area.

It was stated at the school district meeting last week that accommodation would be available for Summerland students wishing to take special technical or commercial courses in Penticton schools.

"We don't want anyone in Summerland to think that we are trying to steal your children," declared Inspector J. N. Burnett, but he thought that Summerland pupils should be acquainted with the courses open in the junior-senior high school at Penticton.

These courses would be especially for pupils who did not wish to continue with a straight academic course.

Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Summerland trustee, agreed that the courses available should be made known to Summerland pupils. Acceptance of such courses would raise the number of Summerland pupils who would need bus accommodation daily. It is believed that five Summerland pupils will be taking senior matriculation in Penticton next September.

Salaries formed half the expenditures, being $12,327.65 of the total of $25,456.28.

Net Profit

From the operating profit was deducted a net of $1,915.40 for rebates and allowances, leaving a net operating profit of $1,009.08.

Cost of the hospital additions under construction are estimated at $45,000, being $3,000 higher than a year ago because of the rise in prices of building materials. Of this amount, $30,000 was raised by municipal by-law.

Hospital Society Hears of Year of Increasing Demands

Steady progress despite great difficulties and rising costs of operation was indicated at the annual general meeting of the Summerland Hospital Society on Thursday afternoon at the Parish hall. Not only were the new maternity wing and nurses' home commenced in 1946, but many other additions and safeguards for the welfare of the patients were made during the past twelve months. Retiring members of the board were all re-elected by the annual session on Thursday, these being S. A. MacDonald, perennial president; W. R. Boyd and C. J. Huddleston.

NEW CONSTRUCTION

In his annual report to the gathering, Secretary J. E. O'Mahony spoke of 1946 as a busy year, biggest single enterprise being the passing of the $30,000 by-law by the ratepayers for the new hospital construction. Despite the shortage of materials, good progress has been made, he indicated.

"The extension to the women's public ward was completed and equipped with modern hospital beds, as was the sitting-room, bringing the total of adult beds to nineteen.

"After many delays, the fire S. A. MacDonald alarm system, as ordered by the fire marshal, was completed and gives "break-glass" boxes and indicators in the basement as well as the other floors.

"A domestic washing machine was purchased, to use for small amounts of laundry when it would not be economical to use the large machine."

Ten regular meetings and two special sessions were held by the board in the past year.

Higher Rates

"Due to the steady increase in the cost of operation, with no improvement in the situation in sight, it became necessary to review the ward rates. It was decided to charge $4 for public wards and $5 for private room accommodation, other hospital charges, such as operating room, case room, X-ray, were not changed."

Dealing with the hospital insurance plan, a deficit in operation of $1,500 was noted last year. However, the membership is increasing and is now up by fifteen, being 425, against 410 at the start of 1946.

Because of the loss of revenue shown by the number of insurance holders utilizing the service at the hospital, it was decided to increase the rates in 1947, Mr. O'Mahony explained.

"The Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary kept up its steady and faithful work for the hospital all through the year and contributions were made each month," he concluded.

In the operating statement presented, patients' fees were shown at $13,934.74, plus a sum of $6,899.85 rebated under the hospital insurance plan. Grants amounted to $7,086.70, while a sum of $706.22 was received in donations. Total revenues were $28,156.14, leaving an operating profit of $2,699.86.

Salaries formed half the expenditures, being $12,327.65 of the total of $25,456.28.

Red Cross Campaign Is Started Here This Week

Canvassers have started out this week on the initial part of the nation-wide Canadian Red Cross campaign, with the object in view of raising five million dollars by voluntary subscription from the Canadian people to finance their first peacetime appeal.

In Summerland district, canvassers have been chosen for all but one area, under the able direction of the local Red Cross president, Mrs. A. K. Elliott, winner of the Good Citizen Cup.

J. Y. Towgood was chairman of the Red Cross Drive in war years, but he found it impossible to carry on in 1947. Mrs. Elliott was unable to name a successor and this week decided to undertake the arduous task of directing luminatory speeches in the history of the legislature since Confederation.

The same districts as in previous years have been chosen, it is understood, and some canvassers have already started their task of collecting funds.

The canvassers and their approximate districts are as follows:

Prairie Valley, Les Gould; Station road, Mr. Welch; Quinpoolo flats, Alan McKenzie; Garnett Valley, Mrs. Dave Taylor; Jones Flat, Jack Dunsdon; Victoria Gardens, Francis Stewart and Gordon Boggs; Front Bench, Tom Croil; West Summerland Business district, Fred W. Schumann; Peach Orchard, Mrs. J. E. Britton; Crescent Beach, F. A. Miller; Lower Summerland, Mrs. A. Stark; Happy Valley, J. Betzold and D. Need For Less Cee Grade Is Related Here

Western Canada is the only logical market for cee grade apples, but consumers there are switching more and more to better quality fruit, warned A. C. Lander, assistant sales manager, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., to the growers' Chautauqua in the Legion hall on Tuesday afternoon.

Better quality fruit with a much higher percentage of fancy and extra grades, is the answer to the marketing problem, Mr. Lander told the growers and pointed out that the sales staff will not be able to cope with cee grade if the present percentage continues with the crop prospects for 1948 indicating a ten million box crop.

The crop this year is expected to be about seven million boxes and if there is 40 per cent cee grade, a real problem will be confronting the sales staff, he stated.

Small Eastern Crop

It was mainly because the eastern supplies did not materialize this year and because of the deliveries to the U.K. market that the 1946 cee grade supply was marketed. In future years, when the Ontario and Quebec crops are back to normal, there will be no opportunity to sell cee grade in eastern Canada, he warned.

EDITORIAL

For Humanity's Sake

Such is the byword for the Red Cross appeal which commenced throughout Canada on Monday. It has the strongest appeal of any such national charitable drive as more persons have benefitted from the work of this wonderful organization—in peace and war.

There are some who do not realize that the Red Cross is needed almost as badly in peace as in war years. The Red Cross has planned a great peacetime service for the saving of human lives and for the health and happiness of the whole Canadian people.

In the words of their own publicity campaign: "In 83 years the Red Cross has grown into one of the most powerful single factors for human good throughout the world."

A few instances of Red Cross work would not be amiss to acquaint Summerland people with the many services which this wonderful organization undertakes.

First and probably foremost, is the new blood transfusion service which is being inaugurated in B.C. this spring and will gradually be introduced into every province in the dominion. Every hospital will be serviced with human blood for the saving of lives, at no cost to the institution or the patient.

There are six outpost hospitals operating in remote areas of this province. Four thousand B.C. children were taught to swim and trained in aquatic safety last year under Red Cross auspices. Home nursing service is to be provided to a thousand B.C. women to fit them for emergency aid in the home.

Veterans appreciate the work of the Red Cross probably more than any other single unit in the community. The visit of the Red Cross attendant to the hospital, laden as she was with cigarettes, candy, books, writing essentials and many other comforts, was always welcomed by the sick or wounded servicemen.

Now, the Red Cross is operating a splendid lodge in connection with Shaughnessy Military hospital and is opening a similar lodge in Victoria shortly.

If there is a disaster, the Red Cross is among the first to come to the aid of the unfortunate victims. Junior Red Cross branches flourish in most B.C. schools. War relief to refugees in former enemy-occupied countries is being carried on as usual.

There are many other ways in which the Red Cross comes to the aid of helpless humanity. "The work of mercy never ends," and to see that the Red Cross can continue to carry that byword through day by day, the generosity of every citizen must be sought.

This splendid drive is being carried on throughout most of March, and a house-to-house canvass is being instituted in Summerland by volunteer workers. Be ready when the canvasser calls. His task is arduous, despite the greatness of the need. Do not add to his work by having him call again. Have your contribution ready—and GIVE GENEROUSLY.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Believe it or not, I found Dick Palmer pruning in the Experimental Station vineyard. He was using the loppers with energy, enthusiasm and speed, as though his very life depended on completing the job with despatch. However, he took time off to engage in the following conversation:

Agrologist: Haven't you got anyone on your staff who can do this job?

Dick: Yes, but not as well as I can. Some people expect the Superintendent to do every job on an Experimental Station just a little better than those who work under him. Our investigations are becoming so specialized that I cannot keep ahead of my assistants in the technique of procedure involved in all our projects, but when it comes to pruning grapes, I figure that I still know just a little more than anyone on my staff.

Agrologist: There doesn't seem much left of the vines when you finish with them.

Dick: No. They have to be pruned severely. The important thing is to know when, where and how to cut.

Agrologist: What system of pruning do you use?

Dick: That depends on the variety. Grape vines are like people. In order to get the best out of them, you must know a good deal about their characteristics—their habits and their peculiarities! With American varieties such as Concord and Sheridan, the best results are secured by the Kniffen system of pruning. On the other hand, European varieties such as Pearl of Casaba and Blue Burgunder, have given very satisfactory performance when pruned by the horizontal Cordon method.

Agrologist: What is the essential difference between these methods?

Dick: In the Kniffen system, the vines are trained to two wires, usually about 42 inches and 70 inches from the

CANADA'S Health

LOCK UP DRUGS

Chocolate-colored and sugar-coated medicinal pills and tablets which may attract children, and, if eaten, seriously endanger their health, should be kept under lock and key, or at least, where the little ones cannot reach them.

National Health authorities warn that medicines are often toxic if not taken strictly according to prescription, and may be fatal to small children. All medicines should be kept out of sight of infants and carelessness in this regard may lead to tragedy if the little ones swallow them, believing such objects "goodies."

FOOD FOR STUDY

Interest in studies and a child's progress at school, may well depend in large measure upon the sufficiency of the lunch provided. This is the declaration of nutrition authorities, who urge parents to see that school lunches are adequate and sustaining.

A good lunch for a school-age child, according to the experts, should include at least milk, meat or meat alternate, whole wheat or Canada Approved bread, and a fruit or vegetable. Proper diet will give the child a better chance to compete with others on an equal footing, in classroom, as well as on playground.

DRUGS RESTRICTED

Unregulated use of medicinal preparations can lead to conditions which may progress to a serious degree before sufferers are aware of their disabilities.

Accordingly, Canada prohibits the open sale of such preparations, which may be obtained at drug stores only on medical prescription.

Authorities point out that such legislation is essential to ensure public safety, since some drugs have a very narrow margin between what is effective, and what may be positively dangerous.

DON'T DOSE YOURSELF

When a doctor writes a prescription, and a druggist fills it, both are fully aware of the body reactions to the constituents, and the dosage which it is safe to take is carefully prescribed and marked on the container.

That is why health authorities at Ottawa warn against taking "just a little more than the doctor ordered," of a remedy which is having a beneficial effect upon one. People who do that should be reminded that they are taking chances with their very lives. "Enough is as good as a feast, but when it comes to drugs, more than enough may be as good as a fatal draught," said one authority.

ground. The permanent trunk is run straight up to the top wire. From this wire four arms are developed—one in each direction along each wire. These arms are renewed each year, using new canes about the diameter of a pencil, or a little larger. In the horizontal Cordon system, three or more wires are used, about 4 inches, 28 inches and 48 inches from the ground, respectively. The permanent trunk is trained along the lower wire. Each year, the growth which develops from this Cordon is trained upright and tied to the upper wires. At pruning time, these growths are cut back to short spurs with two buds on each spur.

Agrologist: Have you any printed information regarding these methods of pruning?

Dick: Yes. We have mimeographed articles which we will be glad to distribute to anyone interested in the pruning of grapes.

CLEAN BLOOD

While some question exists as to what human characteristics may be inherited, medical authorities are agreed that it is possible for a parent to transmit a venereal disease to an offspring.

It is stated that the only sure way to know whether there is danger of transmitting such a disease or not, is to have a blood test, and such examinations are advised particularly for those about to marry or become parents.

CARE IN MARCH

Styling the month of March the "treacherous season," health authorities at Ottawa warn Canadians to be on the alert, at this time of year, to avoid colds and other seasonal complaints. "If Julius Caesar lived today, he would still need to be warned, 'Beware the Ides of March'" they say. Wise Canadians see March as a health menace, because of the slush often covering the streets, and unseasonable thaws which tempt them to take off their topcoats prematurely.

THE "T" IN "FIT"

Just as "timing" and "teamwork" put the "T" in "Victory" for the Allies in the War, they contribute to the health of Canadians, and put the "T" in "Fitness" in peace or war.

National Health officers point out that perfect teamwork is exemplified in the correct co-ordination of bodily functions. Regularity in eating, working and sleeping—the "timing" of daily living—enables all the processes of the body to fulfil their respective roles, with the precision and ease essential to fullest physical well-being.

Councillor E. Tait Addresses AOTS Club

At the monthly meeting of the AOTS club, held last Thursday evening at Lakeside United church, it was decided to appoint a committee to investigate Mr. E. H. Bennett's suggestion that voluntary working bees be held to clean up the paths and generally beautify Peach Orchard cemetery.

Mr. Bennett had already approached the municipal council, and obtained its sanction and the service club will take the subject under advisement to determine how far it can go in this matter.

Speaker at the Thursday meeting was Councillor Eric Tait, who gave the club an interesting talk on birds and their migratory habits. There are more than 200 species of birds in this district, Mr. Tait told the AOTS.

The Feminine Front

The Summerland Singers' and Players' club has often won acclaim throughout the valley for their fine performances, and the people of the community are justly proud of this talented organization.

Their annual spring concerts are a social event of the year, and are always unique and original in their presentation.

As a general rule, these concerts are woven about a theme which permits a variety of action in the program. Last year, their "Carnival Passing" was a colorful and beautiful performance based on a Spanish theme. There was ample scope in the subject for both the talents of the singers and actors of the club.

But the most diversified program ever planned by the organization will be presented this spring. The program will be based on a radio broadcast, and a great variety of talent will be brought into play. There will be a quiz program, barber-shop quartets, excellent musical numbers both modern and classical, and probably hill-billy and similar selections will be worked in, too. There will be comedy numbers, skits and commercials.

This all sounds very intriguing, and promises one of the grandest programs put on by the club, who contemplate entering the Festival at Vernon this year, if their performance lives up to expectations.

There is only one thing that the Singers and Players lack to put this coming concert over with a bang and that, according to Mr. Roy Angus, one of their leading officials, is new talent. New members are urgently needed and will be cordially welcomed into the club. The budding musician will find the experience gained will be invaluable. And for the person who is not able to carry a tune, there is the fascination of the acting field. For the large performances put on by the club, it is also necessary to find many willing hands to help with the off-stage activities such as sound effects, stage props, make-up, etc.

Those contemplating membership are urged to contact the group immediately. It all sounds like loads of fun, and I think I've talked myself into it. How about you?

Another repeat performance, a result of public demand, will be the Spring Fashion Show, to be held on March 22. Sponsored by the Women's Institute and the Hospital Auxiliary, this fashion show is planned on a bigger scale than the first one, held last autumn. I am sure that the women of the district are eagerly looking forward to this big event.

One of the nicest things about a small town fashion show is the kick one gets out of seeing their friends or daughters model the lovely clothes. It seems to make the clothes so much more interesting when Susie and Jane are strolling down the aisle in the lovely creations. The garments seem to take on a personal touch, missing when some of the modern styles, grotesque to say the least, are soberly paraded by willow-slim and frozen-faced mannequins. But when Susie and Jane proudly model an attractive outfit, trying all the while to hide a self-conscious smile, the clothes take on an appeal that makes them appear more wearable by the prospective buyer. If Mrs. Jones can wear that color so beautifully with her mouse-colored hair, I know that it won't make me look too washed out.

That is the appeal of a small-town fashion show, and of a small town familiar things and faces add to the town itself.

Fifteen Hundred Acres May Be Opened Up At Westbank

KELOWNA — An engineering party of the prairie farm rehabilitation department, which has been exploring the possibilities of constructing a dam at the foot of Rose Valley on the west side of the lake, to form a reservoir, has struck bed rock in one place at forty feet and at seventy-five feet in another location.

The party has been investigating the possibilities of locating a dam at this site, and bed rock not too far under the surface is necessary in order that construction costs will not be too great.

The dam, if constructed, would create an artificial lake in Rose Valley from the flood water of Bear Creek. The department of veterans' affairs have already filed application for a licence to use this water and it is understood the request will be granted.

The water would be used to irrigate some twelve to fifteen hundred acres of land adjacent to the present highway. This land would probably be used for veterans' settlement.

While the prairie farm rehabilitation act is not applicable to British Columbia at the present time, a tentative agreement has been reached between Ottawa and Victoria, and all that now remains is the passing of the necessary legislation which, it is expected, will be presented to Parliament within the next few weeks.

Write Off Debt

Under this act, capital expenditures for certain purposes, such as irrigation, may be undertaken by the Dominion authorities. Then, rather than the enterprise be burdened with the whole capital cost, a great proportion of it is written off and the project is required to assume only a reasonable amount. It is under this scheme that there has been such successful and wide-spread irrigation projects in the prairie provinces during the past few years.

When the act is made applicable to British Columbia—it is now operating under a special scheme at the Pemberton Meadows development—several projects on the west side of Okanagan lake will be undertaken by the PFRA department, and when completed, turned over to another department for administration purposes. For instance, in the local case, the development may be under the direction of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

FEATURE NEEDLEWORK

Reading and needlework were features of the meeting held on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 20, by the afternoon branch of the St. Stephen's W.A., in the Parish Hall. Donations of material and handiwork for the spring sale were also brought by members. At their first meeting of the month, the business meeting of the 6 monthly reports were presented, and business was discussed.

Advertising Is Less Than One Per Cent

Less than one per cent of the gross sales values is spent on advertising, J. G. West, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. advertising manager, informed the Southern District Council of the BCFGA meeting in Penticton on Saturday, Feb. 22. Expenditures are made according to necessary and not according to money available, as is the case with some firms, he pointed out.

Mr. West told the growers that it should be possible for the sales organization to handle all normal future crops for reasonable returns.

At the outset of his address, Mr. West described how the seasons work is lined up, with contacts being made with retailers, brokers, large buyers and salesmen, finding their reactions to last year's sales and notifying them of the prospects for the coming season.

One of the big features of the advertising campaign is the issuance of the home canning booklet, with distribution of some 250,000 copies to housewives through retailers and also to schools for text-book work.

Housewives Loyal

Housewives, stated Mr. West, are generally found to be loyal to Canadian fruit, but dealers insist that they must have supplies to sell at the right time. U.S. imports, he pointed out are generally accompanied by adequate advertising and in addition, allowances for dealer advertising are often made by U.S. exporters.

Periodical drives have been found to be quite useful, regardless of supplies in sight and Mr. West touched on such drives as "Cherry Week," as an illustration.

He was gratified to notice that hundreds of retailers are adding fruit cold storage facilities and he believed this trend will add greatly to the keeping quality of the fruit and enable retailers to display a better quality product to the consumer. Mr. West stated that retailer contacts show that Okanagan fruits are gaining in favor over U.S. imports.

Dressing up of packages was stressed by the speaker and he sketched the new-sized box which will be used this year for apricots, plums and prunes.

At the close of the talk, growers present showed their pleasure with Mr. West's advertising campaigns, and also indicated their interest in this subject by numerous questions.

Earlier in the meeting, some objection was raised to the suggestion that Blenheim apricots be required to have 100 per cent yellow ground color for cannery requirements. Mr. Fraser, Osoyoos, stated he would refer these objections to the committee handling the proposed color changes in apricots.

The committee is considering 60 per cent yellow ground color for Ryland and Kaleden cots; 80 per cent for Perfections, and 100 per cent for all cannery deliveries.

Legion W.A. Holds Social

An interesting and original social evening was held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 25, in the Legion hall, under the auspices of the Legion W.A.

Bingo was enjoyed by the majority of the crowd, and many small prizes were awarded for this. The remainder of the guests played cribbage. About 44 members and their guests attended. Mrs. A. Miller was the winner of the attractive set of colored pyrex bowls, which was raffled during the evening.

A lovely luncheon was served at the close of the evening, which was arranged for by the Legion W.A. social committee, under the leadership of the new president, Mrs. A. Lamacraft.

Not by the

CANADIAN + RED CROSS

PEACE HAS COME TO OUR LAND and our returned men are being absorbed into civilian life. But there are still hundreds of these men who are lying sick or crippled in veterans hospitals. Many will not be back home for months or years. Many will have to remain in hospital the rest of their lives.

These men who bear the scars of war more than any others, are apt to be passed by and forgotten by most Canadians. The Red Cross does not forget them. Red Cross workers pay them frequent visits — bring them cigarettes, candies and many Red Cross comforts. They provide facilities for various handicrafts to keep the hands and minds of these veterans occupied.

The Red Cross needs money to carry on this great service to our hospitalized veterans. Your Red Cross donations can bring comfort to the men to whom we owe so much . . . will you do your part?

He stated that the condition has been corrected by owners of the property and the common drain is being removed.

POOR LIGHTING

Fine Progress Shown By Peachland United In Annual Meeting Report

PEACHLAND — The annual meeting of the Peachland United church was held this week when a goodly number of members gathered in the church to hear the reports of the various departments of the church.

Rev. H. S. McDonald acted as chairman of the meeting and gave the report of the session, showing an increase in membership and new groups organized, including a Young People's society, a Young Worshipers' league, a Wolf Cub pack, and the choir had been reorganized.

New hymn books were purchased for the church, and two brass offering plates were donated by a member of the congregation. All organizations showed all accounts paid and a substantial amount raised over the preceding year. The manse was completely renovated and the basement of the church made suitable for gatherings, and an organ purchased to be used in this department of activities.

John Cameron and Ernest Hunt were elected to the session and the following comprise the board of stewards: Rev. J. D. Gillam, E. M. Hunt, J. Cameron, Geoffrey Todd, J. White, Mrs. W. D. Miller, Mrs. M. Twiname, Mrs. J. Long, Mrs. Z. Witt.

Contributions to the missionary fund of the church were increased by 150 per cent over the previous year, while the total amount raised was in excess of $1,000 over 1945.

Votes of thanks were given to the minister, Rev. H. S. McDonald and to all who had assisted in carrying on the work of the church. At the close of the evening, the W.A. served lunch to all present, under the leadership of Mrs. M. Twiname, president of the W.A.

Rev. H. S. McDonald and Mrs.

Z. Witt attended the spring meeting of the Kamloops-Okanagan presbytery of the United Church, held in the United church at Vernon this week. Mrs. Witt was appointed delegate to the annual conference, to be held in Vancouver in May. Mr. McDonald was appointed convener of the statistical committee and a member of the conference committee on home missions and the presbytery committee on students and education.

A Wolf Cub pack has been organized under the auspices of the United church, and the following committee was elected to head up the work. Messrs. J. Cameron, E. Hunt, Geof. Todd, J. White and Mrs. J. Long. Mrs. Z. Witt and Rev. H. S. McDonald have been appointed leaders.

Witt's Service Station has installed a new 1,000-gallon gas tank to replace the 500-gallon one previously in use.

KEEN INTEREST IN REAL ESTATE

Indicative of the interest being shown in building and real estate was the discussion at last week's council session. More than half the meeting dealt with interested parties seeking prices on municipally-owned property, either for rental or purchase, and applications for domestic water and electric light extensions.

Discussions necessary to provide estimates of costs occupied the council for such a length of time that the session lasted until 10.30 o'clock Monday evening, with an adjournment for an hour and a half for dinner.

In order to keep abreast of council work, a further meeting was held on Monday evening, March 3.

Miss Huenichen, hospital matron, gave her annual report indicating a big increase in patients and patient days in 1946. In fact, all facilities of the hospital were utilized to a greater extent than the year before.

Some 543 adults and 76 babies were received in the hospital, being divided into 202 males, 341 females, 36 new baby boys and 40 new baby girls. A total of 4,613 patient days was registered.

Hospital equipment donated amounted to $525.10, canning supplies were valued at $73.33. The auxiliary collected just under $1,000 in 1946, and has a bank balance of $647.11.

Mrs. G. Dunsdon submitted the Auxiliary Dorcas report which gave a lengthy list of the individual donations made by the auxiliary to the hospital, as follows:

Urges Cardiograph

Dr. F. W. Andrew addressed the meeting briefly, urging that consideration be given to the need of a nurse trained as a technician. Both Dr. Andrew and Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh stressed the need of a cardiograph machine to meet the increasing demand.

Mr. W. C. W. Fosbery and W. Ritchie also spoke of the splendid treatment and atmosphere of the local hospital and praised the staff. S. A. MacDonald, hospital society president, was chairman of the meeting and also remarked on the increased demand for hospital services felt here with the growing population. At the meeting's end, the auxiliary members served tea.

There has been no canvasser appointed for Paradise Flat.

Declaring that the humanitarian work of the Red Cross is needed "every bit as much in peace as it is in war," His Excellency the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, today asked all Canadians to give their generous financial support to the appeal for $5,000,000 for peacetime work.

"In my capacity as president of the Red Cross Society, I appeal to all Canadians to help raise $5,000,000 which is the sum urgently needed this year, 1947.

"If you are in doubt about what the Red Cross is and what work it does, our prisoners-of-war will be able to tell you and also those at home who have received first aid and nursing and enjoyed the many other charitable gifts of this great and benevolent society.

"But I can tell you that the humanitarian work of the Red Cross is needed every bit as much in peacetime as it is in war. We have no difficulty getting voluntary workers, but the projects of a big organization like this costs money, and it is money we must have, if it is going to carry on this wonderful work which has made the name of the Red Cross known and respected throughout the world.

"I would, therefore, ask you to give as generously as you can. By giving, you will be doing a great service to your fellow-men."

"In 1945 and 1946, the Society spent over $17,000,000 for relief in Britain, Europe and Asia," declared Lewis A. Winter, OBE, secretary-treasurer. "There is approximately $6,000,000 remaining from war revenue which must be used for purposes arising out of or connected with the war under the War Charities Act. Expenditures for these purposes are continuing but the allotments for this year towards further meeting the great distress due to the war have yet to be made.

"We in Canada may be thankful that we are able to continue this great humanitarian work of overseas relief with available funds. Instead of seeking more money for this purpose, we are able to go to the Canadian people with plans for the expansion of our peacetime work for the benefit of Canadians.

"Scores of thousands of war sufferers have blessed Canadians and a great many owe their lives to Canadian generosity. We believe scores of thousands of Canadians will have reason to bless the peacetime program of the Red Cross.

"It is for the purpose of carrying on this peacetime work that the Canadian Red Cross Society is asking for $5,000,000 in the national appeal.

Players Club In Excellent Stage Show

Director H. I. Dempster, of the Summerland Singers' and Players' club, again led the players' division through a top-notch performance on Wednesday evening, Feb. 26 when, at Ellison hall, they presented the play "Trouble Shooter," a farce-comedy in three acts.

That the roles were very well cast was evident throughout the play, and laurels for top performances could be divided between Mrs. Margaret Solly, who played the part of a flutney and rather scatter-brained housewife with mirth-provoking cleverness, and Pat Goley who, on very short notice and only a few rehearsals, turned out a perfect performance as the daughter of the leading family in the play.

Blair Underwood played a difficult role with cleverness and real acting ability, while Alan Butler, as the male lead, gave a well cast and realistic performance.

Fred Schwass gave the audience many laughs in a comedy role, which he played with aptitude.

The play itself was woven about several highly-complicated situations in which two families find themselves involved. The housing shortage is the original cause of all the turmoil, but other odd and impossible situations keep popping up with breathless regularity.

The cast of the "Trouble Shooter," written by Warren N. Lee, was as follows:

J. S. Wilson, Sr.; Blair Underwood; Beverley Ferris, Patricia Goley; Mrs. Don Ferris, Mrs. Margaret Solly; Dan Ferris, (the trouble shooter) Alan Butler; Jr. Wilson (son of J. S.); Fred Schwass; Essie Wilson (wife of J. S.); Dorothy Butler; Gus (from Police H.Q.); Alan McKenzie; Mr. Kopsinski (patient from mental hospital) Blair Underwood; nurses from mental hospital; Peggy Gunn and Hazel Schwass.

Dorothy Butler gave a natural performance as the sanest member of the cast, and the make-up, which was applied by Marian Cartwright, Beatrice Macleod and Molly Russel, was natural and clever in appearance.

Percy Thornber was in charge of lighting, Ella Angus of properties and stage set was by Stanley Gladwell and Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Palmer.

The stage was well dressed and the whole performance quite up to the usual excellent standard of the Singers' and Players' club.

How It's Done

by MAUREEN MAY

Recently, the girls of Grades XI and XII, of the Summerland High school, were conducted through the mechanical department The Review. A number of essays were submitted by The Review visitors and the following has been judged the winning essay.

This essay was written by Maureen May, and she has received a cheque for $7.50 from The Review as first prize. An essay written by Shirley Harvey, was judged second best, and she receives a cheque for $2.50, also from The Review.

The tour of The Review office was arranged by Miss June Aubrey, of the Summerland High school staff.

Have you ever wondered, when reading your newspaper, just what goes on in a newspaper office? You have?—well, here is the inside story of the Summerland Review.

The very first step is for reporters to gather stories. The stories are taken to the editor, who types them out and sends them to the linotype, where the words are spelled out on the board. Little metal mats with letters on them come down one by one to form an assembly of one line. On the keyboard there is a line spacer which, when touched, causes a metal space to come down between the words. The mats are passed from right to left to another part of the machine where molten metal is sprayed out while the letters are impressed on the metal. The metal is melted again, as soon as the composed lines have been used.

If larger or smaller type is to be used, or lines are to be lengthened or shortened, the machine must be adjusted to spray out the correct amount of metal.

After the letters are blocked out on the metal, the whole line comes down a little channel, falls into place and the mats are picked up, carried to the back of the machine, put on a spiral rod and carried along. Each mat has a different combination so that when it comes to the correct place, it drops down into the magazine, to be used later.

While all this has been going on, the operator at the keyboard continues to type the next line, which follows the same procedure, until a column is formed. The column is taken over to a small table, run over a press, and proofread.

Columns begin to accumulate, therefore are ready to put in chases. Chases are iron frames, the areas of which are the same as the area of the finished printed page. Ads. are placed first, around the edges of the chase.

Illustrated ads. are made with asbestos mats and molten metal. These mats, which are engraved elsewhere, are placed in a little machine. The metal is poured on the asbestos mat and cast in approximately ten seconds. The Review uses about 20 different ad. borders. To make corners for borders, a mitering machine is used to cut the metal. Ads. that are not made up, locally are also used. Pictures in these are printed with acid on a copper alloy and mounted on wooden blocks.

The ads. are placed in the chases, then the columns are put in. Wood "furniture" is used for spacing between columns. Heading spaces are first filled with leads, thin metal spaces, or slugs, thick metal spaces. Leads and slugs are the same height as each other and columns, all may be different widths. Most headings are set by hand. Now that the chases are full, a quoin key is used to tighten the frame. This enables the chases to be carried to the press.

The chases are placed on the lower part of the press where the ink is fed to the machine. Near to the press is the stack of newsprint. A switch is pulled and the press starts rolling. Sheets of paper are inserted, run over two cylinders, and out the end on to a rack, where they are stacked up. The first time a sheet is run through, four pages are printed. The sheets are turned and put through again. The next four pages are done the same way, but when the last sheets are put through again. The next is turned on to cut the sheet down the centre.

The last step in the publication of the paper is folding the pages and putting them together. At last the paper is completed for another week.

The Review not only prints a newspaper, but also prints labels and tickets. This is done on a small press. The papers or tickets are inserted with the right hand and taken out with the left. These labels may be seen on many local products.

Now that the inside story has been told, no doubt "The Review" will be even more interesting to readers and more appreciated—To the staff of The Review we say: "Keep up the good work!"

Can I get started in A BUSINESS OF MY OWN?

YOU CAN FIND THE ANSWER to that one in this very booklet. We have published it for veterans who have the urge to start up for themselves. A copy is yours for the asking at any branch of the Bank of Montreal.

When you call for your copy of "What's the Score on these Veterans' Loans?", have a word with our manager. He knows the details of the new Veterans' Business and Professional Loans Act, recently passed by Parliament for your benefit, and he is anxious to help go-ahead veterans who want to start in business for themselves, to improve their present set-up, or to go into partnership with a friend.

If your proposition is sound, there's money for you at the B of M.

Remember, when you ask for a loan at the B of M, you do not ask a favour.

HOLDS PERFECT CRIBBAGE HAND

J. R. "Tim" Armstrong, The Review editor, on Tuesday held the cribbage player's dream, the perfect "29" hand. Playing against Bill Grant, Canadian Legion president, he held the jack of hearts and three fives. Mr. Grant obligingly cut the five of hearts to complete the perfect cribbage hand. At the same time, the five-cut enabled Mr. Grant to score 16 points and just save a "skunk" by a few points before the 29 count was recorded.

Need For Less

J. E. Britton, Summerland Experimental Station, who spoke on the need for better quality product, and the steps which have been taken or could be introduced to present the consumer with a better product. In the United States, there is a move among wholesalers to try and educate the retailers to care for fresh fruit more carefully and Mr. Britton considered this would be a forward step for this industry.

Dealing with prunes, Mr. Britton declared that most prune trees are planted too close together. In many cases, this can be said of many orchards, that there are too many trees per acre and too many limbs per tree, he declared.

Peach trees between five and ten years old produce better quality fruit than at any other stage, he stated. He believed that peach trees over ten years of age decline in their productivity and should be removed after 15 years. On the other hand, there is no reason that peach trees, if properly handled, should produce only on alternate years, he concluded.

Teen Town

By MIKE
Last Friday we had a dance, following three high school basketball games. Penticton was invited over after the games and quite a few attended but, so much for last week, let's talk about this week's club night.
That's right, kids, club nite this Friday.
Here are a few of the attractions:

Dancing — With mixers and prizes.
Games — Checkers, ping-pong, cards.
Pictures — Some comic movies will be shown. You won't want to miss them.
Refreshments — Yum! ... Wait and see.
Music — Special: Trumpet solo by Lionel! All who heard him last week will want to hear him again.
Dancing — Miss Aubrey will instruct the kids who still need a few dancing tips.
Floor Show — If time permits, the entertainment committee will present their version of "How to Run a Radio Station."
All committee members please turn out as this is a very important night and various arrangements must be made for the coming term.

From this Friday till June, there will be dances every other Friday. Sports activities will soon be getting underway, so let's get out and support your S.T.T.
We now have three adult supervisors who promise they will help us in every way they can. They are: Joe McLachlan, Miss Aubrey and Mel Ducommun. I know everyone wishes to express their sincere thanks to these people for offering their help to us.
This Wednesday, a council meeting will be held at the home of His Worship the mayor.
Our last meeting was held at Shirley Harvey's. We finished early but had an enjoyable evening. Miss Aubrey was asked to sit in on our discussions. Mr. McLachlan was also present to help us pass new motions. That's all for this time, kids, but don't forget — "Club Nite This Friday."

Taxation Branch Has Ruled in Favor of Summerland Claim

That Summerland council is well within its rights to ask that trees be excluded from the assessment roll when basing the division of school costs in School District No. 15, is the contention of W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, who has conferred with the department of education and the taxation department of the provincial government on this question.

The provincial government had previously taken Summerland's entire assessment figures for 1946 and based the division of estimated costs between Penticton, Summerland and the rural area on those figures.

As was reported last week, Summerland council has requested that the improvements figures on trees be eliminated to bring this municipality's assessment figure more into line with those of Penticton and the rural area.

Upheld Claim
In discussing this subject with Mr. Bennett on Tuesday, The Review was informed that the taxation department has ruled that the Summerland claim should be upheld.

This is not a matter for the department of education to make a ruling on, Mr. Bennett pointed out, but the educationists must be guided by the decision of the taxation branch.

This contention was agreed to by Col. Fahey, deputy minister of education, Mr. Bennett has stated.

But no word as to a revision of the school estimates proportions has been received in either Summerland or Penticton up to press time.

The municipal council has not received an answer to its request for a revision, while the school district secretary, K. J. Palmer, declared here yesterday afternoon that no reply had been received by the school board to its letter pointing out Summerland's position.

No Argument
"In my opinion, there is no question to decide," declared Mr. Bennett. He reiterated that Summerland's stand is correct and the taxation department agrees. There is nothing more to this subject but to obtain a new ruling from the department of education.

It is understood that figures are being compiled on the saving which will accrue to the school districts if the Goldenberg report is implemented by the legislature this month. Basic grants and the basic teachers' salary grants will be amended for the last nine months of 1947 if the report finds favor with the legislature, thus slicing off several thousand dollars from the amount which the school district must raise in estimates.

Extension to Crescent Beach to Cost $20,000

Extension of the domestic water system to Crescent Beach and the orchard property on the benches to the east of the beach will cost approximately $20,000 to install, the municipal council was informed on Monday following a detailed report from R. A. Barton, Penticton surveyor.

No definite plans were laid by the council regarding its probable action on this project. In the meantime, data is being obtained on the number of properties which will be affected by this scheme.

It is probable that the council will seek authorization from this section to proceed under a local improvement scheme. A by-law would have to be presented to the property owners in the area to obtain their consent to spend $20,000, which would be paid back on a long-term basis.

Last year, it was suggested that the whole domestic water system might be asked to take care of this expenditure on the premise that it would be a valuable addition to the entire scheme. This probability was given only a cursory hearing on Monday, although two of the councillors favored it with limitations.

This entire scheme will be given further attention by the council within the next two weeks.

TWO NEW MEMBERS FOR LEGION W.A.

The March meeting of the Legion W.A. was held in the Legion hall on Tuesday evening, Mar. 11. Two new members were admitted to the W.A., these being Mrs. Frona Hartley and Mrs. Helen Huff.

A feature was the presentation made by Mrs. Dave Taylor, of a past president's pin to Mrs. J. A. Read.

The possibility of sending delegates to a convention in Vernon, to be held on March 23, was discussed. The purpose of this convention will be to form a zone group in the Okanagan Valley.

The Legion W.A. will enter at the board of trade banquet, to be held tonight, Thursday.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served.

Fire Destroys Potato Chip Plant Here

Early Tuesday morning, the small potato chip factory, operated under the name of Menu's Potato Chips, was totally destroyed. Two buildings, one containing the machinery and supplies and the other being mainly used as a warehouse, were totally destroyed. The Menu home, adjoining these buildings, was saved only with great difficulty.

Loss is estimated at approximately $400 to $500 and was not covered by insurance.

J. C. Menu took over this business from L. J. Wignall last fall. The name was changed from its original of Fair's Potato Chips.

Mr. Menu is at the coast now and the house was occupied at the time of the fire by Mrs. Menu and their son, Chuck. The latter had gone to the plant shortly after six o'clock to start the fires. He returned to the house for breakfast and about 6.40 o'clock, when he again emerged, he found the plant alight.

D. L. Sanborn, a neighbor, came to Chuck Menu's assistance and between them they managed to keep the flames from spreading. Fortunately, there was no wind and the smoke and flames went straight up.

No assistance from the fire department was sought as the blaze had gained too much headway to save the small buildings and it was soon seen that the house could probably be saved.

Future of this small industry was not known at press time.

Softball Girls Will Organize

Definite signs of spring are indicated with the announcement by Gordon Beggs, on behalf of the AOTS club, that the organization meeting of the girls' softball group will be held next Wednesday evening.

This softball group holds the Rexall trophy, donated by O. W. McInnes, Penticton, for the southern interior girls' softball championship. Last year saw the girls defeat Penticton, Oliver and Osoyoos for this trophy and then lose out in the Okanagan championship by a narrow margin to East Kelowna.

Plans for the coming season, coaches, playing times and field, and other such matters will be the subject under discussion next Wednesday evening.

SKATING RINK MAKES DONATION

One more splendid donation to Summerland's Living Memorial fund was received recently when Mr. C. C. Wharton turned over about ten per cent of his receipts from skating attendance at the local ice rink.

The amount handed in by the skating rink proprietor was $53.80. Every tenth ticket issued was turned over to the Living Memorial fund, and besides that, Mr. Wharton gave the tenth person a free skate. Eighty-five per cent of the tickets were handed out to children.

"I think he has made a handsome contribution to the fund," declared E. H. Bennett, park-playground sub-committee chairman, in commenting on Mr. Wharton's generosity.

TRANSFER PROPERTY

Necessary arrangements have been completed for the transfer of the deed for the Living Memorial park-playground property from the board of trade to the municipality and the council on Monday afternoon authorized the registration of the title.

SECOND 29 CRIB HAND HELD HERE

"It never rains but it pours!" Last week, The Review announced that its editor, J. R. Armstrong, attained the cribbage players' dream, a perfect 29 hand.

On Monday evening, that well-known old-time pioneer of Summerland, W. C. W. Fosbery, while playing with his brother, George, was dealt the perfect hand again.

In both instances the winners held the fives of spades, diamonds and clubs, with jack of hearts and the five of hearts was turned up on the cut.

"I have played crib for over 40 years and this is the first time I ever held a perfect hand," declared Mr. Fosbery.

FORMER RESIDENT NOW IN SINGAPORE

Mrs. Rod McLeod (nee Miss Jean Kercher), has accompanied her husband, an engineer superintendent for British Airways, to Singapore, where Mr. McLeod will establish an airline route between Singapore and London.

Mr. and Mrs. McLeod left Montreal on Jan. 16, and arrived by plane in Singapore on March 9. En route, at Goose Bay, Mrs. McLeod met a former school friend from Penticton, Miss Grace Biollo.

In Cairo, the travellers were surprised to see Okanagan apples, shipped by the Associated Growers of B.C. They were delicious, and selling at 16 cents for each apple. An average meal in Cairo costs the equivalent of six dollars Canadian money, they reported in a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. E. Kercher last week-end.

DR. MARSHALL IS SPEAKER TONIGHT

Dr. J. G. Marshall is the guest speaker tonight at the first session of the new Summerland Board of Trade for 1947, under the chairmanship of President F. W. Schumann.

On Monday evening, standing committees were selected by the executive and these will be announced tonight. No members of the executive were named on committees, but executive members will be supervisors of one or more committees as a direct link between the executive and the committees.

One of the outstanding discussions which will ensue this evening at the Legion hall will centre around the executive recommendation that the board spring fair be brought back as an annual function. Last such fair held here by the board of trade was in 1941, and it was an outstanding success.

Machinery at Gravel Pit is Nearly Ready

Most of the repair and re-assembling work on the rock crusher at the gravel pit has been accomplished and within a few days this part of the municipal road equipment will be ready for operation, the roads committee informed the council on Monday afternoon.

Councillor Bentley has spent considerable time in supervising the revision of this machinery, but he warned that the loader must be handled with care as it is an old piece of machinery and can only operate if given just the right amount of care.

The council agreed with Reeve Powell's suggestion that the operation of the gravel pit machinery should be taken out of Road Foreman Los Gould's charge and a man hired for this express purpose.

This action would give Mr. Gould a free hand to grade and maintain roads and prepare them for the time when the hard surfacing program will begin.

Such action would be agreeable with Foreman Gould, the council was told.

Prepare Stock Pile

It would be the council plan to keep the rock crusher in operation until a stock pile of gravel sufficient for the ordinary needs of the municipality had been established. Then the operation could be discontinued until such time as the stock pile had reached a low level again.

His Worship also wished an experiment made on scraping the loose shale, rocks and other road material from the side of the roads on to the travelled surface and mix in a percentage of small crushed rock. He thought such

Trout Creek Bridge Renewal In Public Works Estimates; Other Improvements Noted

Further improvement and straightening of the Okanagan highway No. 5, as it primarily affects this section was explained to The Review on long distance telephone Tuesday evening by W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan.

Main points in the department of public works program, as announced last week-end by Hon. E. C. Carson, which come closest to this community are:

1. Construction of a wider, more modern bridge across Trout Creek, work to be commenced as soon as weather permits and building materials are available; expected this spring.

2. Widening and straightening of the lakeshore road section from Peachland south to Deep creek. Cost $175,000.

3. Relocation of the McDougall Creek-Westbank stretch of Okanagan highway, to cut north from Westbank in a fairly direct line to McDougall Creek, instead of running west and then in a northerly direction. Cost, $60,000.

4. Start on the re-location of the Peachland-Penticton portion of Okanagan highway with a view to obtaining the best route and grades.

In Estimates
"Trout Creek bridge replacement is in the estimates for this year," Mr. Bennett assured The Review on Tuesday. There was no mention made of this project in despatches in coast dailies from Victoria last Friday, but Mr. Bennett explained that the bridge was lumped with other structures of similar nature and was not itemized.

Mr. Bennett could give no indication of the probable cost of this reconstruction at such short notice.

Local sources indicate that the lakeshore portion of Okanagan highway from Peachland to Deep Creek will be widened into a four-lane highway. This is a winding section of the road with many sharp curves. The survey for this portion has already been made, it is understood, and the road will be straightened a great deal.

Cost of this work is set at $175,000 which will probably also include some additional work on the stretch of highway from Trepanier Creek south to Peachland. Trepanier Creek was the southern limit of new construction work carried on in that area last year.

Farther north, the seven-mile stretch from Westbank to the ferry will be shortened and improved by a more direct route from Westbank north to McDougall Creek. Initial cost of this re-location has been placed at $60,000 in the public works department estimates.

This improvement has long been sought by South Okanagan residents and is being acclaimed by the travelling public as an improvement which will be a distinct advantage.

Asked regarding the re-survey of the highway from Deep creek south to Penticton, Mr. Bennett could only state that he had recommended to Hon. Mr. Carson that this work be undertaken.

"I have no idea where the road will go, as that is a matter for the engineers to decide," Mr. Bennett told The Review on Tuesday. He stated that the public works minister had favored the re-location plan and was considering its implementation.

There have been numerous rumors in West Summerland in the past few weeks regarding this survey, but it is now believed that there has not been much actual work accomplished on the survey as yet.

Mr. Bennett gave his personal opinion that the Hope-Princeton road would be hard-surfaced and ready for opening about September, 1948. "I may be a month or two out one way or another, but I think that the summer of 1948 will see the road finished and ready for travel."

He declared it would be a great pity to open this highway before it is hard-surfaced as all the fine top surface would be scattered by traffic and a great loss would result. He backed up Hon. Mr. Carson who gave his personal opinion last January that it should not be opened before being hard-surfaced.

Recently, the southern interior boards of trade, meeting at Okanagan Falls, petitioned the provincial works department to have the Hope-Princeton road hard-surfaced and opened for travel by September, 1948.

SAFETY COMMITTEE

Councillors F. E. Atkinson and C. E. Bentley, along with the three foremen of the municipal works department, were formed a safety committee in accordance with the Workmen's Compensation board regulations, when the council met on Monday afternoon.

A plan would not only clear the road edges sufficiently to allow for better drainage, but the resultant surface could be packed into a fairly resistant road top.

Such an experiment will be carried on this week to ascertain the result.

New Municipal Hall Proposal Again Reviewed

Furtherance of the proposal for a new municipal hall, to be erected on the Living Memorial parks-playground property in West Summerland, was given at Monday afternoon's council session, when a committee of Reeve W. R. Powell and Councillors F. E. Atkinson and C. E. Bentley was appointed to study plans.

This committee conferred with Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon on Tuesday in an attempt to finalize ideas on the hall subject so that tentative sketches can be placed in the hands of an architect.

Last week, Councillor Atkinson submitted rough plans showing his ideas on the municipal hall construction.

On Monday, Councillor Bentley produced a sketch plan of the ground floor which would measure 75 feet by 42 feet, including space for the library to measure 41 feet by 19 feet.

"I want to facilitate this project," declared Reeve W. R. Powell in urging the council to correlate its ideas to the point where plans can be prepared by an architect.

He jokingly referred to Councillors Atkinson and Bentley as the "Building Intelligentsia" of the council and suggested they confer with Clerk Nixon on the proposal.

A. Calvert Heads Local Legion Branch

A. Calvert was the unopposed choice as president, of Summerland branch, No. 22, Canadian Legion, at the annual meeting, held in the Legion hall last evening. He succeeds William Grant in the chair.

Other officers elected were as follows:

Honorary president, Dr. F. W. Andrew; first vice-president, G. M. Temple; second vice-president, D. L. Sanborn; third vice-president, Miss Janet Strachan; secretary-treasurer, Lorne G. Perry; executive, Gordon Smith, Miss Betty Strachan, Harold Smith, Walter Ramsay and W. Atkinson.

Committee heads and representatives selected were: Social, Walter Ramsay; membership, M. McKechnie; canteen, W. Grant; house and grounds, W. Atkinson; trustee, C. E. "Ned" Bentley; Scouts, W. Atkinson; Red Cross, C. E. Bentley; bugler, John Betuzzi; chaplain, Canon F. V. Harrison; corresponding secretary, William Baker; sergeant-at-arms, G. Thomas; auditor, W. R. Grant and Co.; sick and visiting, S. A. MacDonald; relief, D. L. Sanborn; Ellison hall, E. C. Bingham.

Substantial Balance
The financial statement showed a surplus of $1,091.82 in cash, bonds and war savings certificates. Donations last year amounted to $1,231.80 to local institutions, and outside donations amounted to $160.

In his annual report, retiring president W. Grant spoke of the drive to obtain a wot canteen for the Legion as being one of the biggest ventures of 1946. "Results of the petition circulated by the Legion shows that the municipality is behind us in endeavoring to obtain a licence to operate a canteen," declared Mr. Grant. A total of 1,200 names were obtained on the petition asking the provincial government to grant the necessary licence.

Due to the proposed changes in liquor regulations, no approach can be made at present to have the licence granted, the retiring proxy explained, but he hoped this situation would be clarified in the near future.

During 1946, the Legion attained a membership of 275 returned men and women, he reported. Monthly meetings will continue on the second Wednesday in each month and dues are to remain at the same level as last year, the meeting decided.

Council Seeks Better Deal In Electricity

In a further step to obtain action on the council's plan to obtain a better deal with the West Kootenay Power and Light Co., Mr. J. D. McMynn, West Kootenay manager at Penticton, will be invited to the March 24 meeting of the municipal council.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson, chairman of the electric light committee, declared that Mr. McMynn had stated that no action could be taken in forming a revision in the light rate structure for at least two months.

However, the council feels that it is not obtaining an equitable deal from the West Kootenay in relation to payments made by other consumers in this area, notably Penticton.

The council will endeavor to find out the West Kootenay's reaction to its proposals when Mr. McMynn comes here later in the month. If a better deal can be consummated with the power company, a revision in the entire municipal structure would be proposed, it has been intimated.

Change Financing

Councillor Ned Bentley suggested that electric light extensions are, to a great extent, capital expenditures, and should be financed by by-law. He thought that a portion of the excess in sinking fund reserve should be utilized to finance these capital expenditures.

Reeve Powell suggested that the electric department reserve fund has reached a low point and a portion of this reserve should be tied up before the entire amount be dissipated.

He pointed out that $16,000 of the reserve has been spent in the past two years, leaving only some $10,000.

That the entire electrical system would have to be evaluated before Councillor Bentley's suggestion could be put into practice, was Municipal Clerk Nixon's thought on the subject.

Councillor Harvey Wilson considered that a revision of the rate structure would go a long way towards providing necessary capital for line extensions and voiced an opinion shared by several council members that the minimum rate for electric light must be raised.

ABIE'S IRISH ROSE TO BE PLAYED

"Abie's Irish Rose" is the name of a rollicking three-act farce which the Catholic Women's League of Summerland, is presenting to a Summerland audience on St. Patrick's Day, Monday, March 17, in the Ellison hall.

A dance will follow the play and the Irish are expected to turn out in full force that evening along with many others of other racial origin.

Among those who will be prominent members of the cast will be George Leach, Theresa Guidi, Louis Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Al Soderberg, Lionel Guidi, Charles Betuzzi and Ted Logie.

Mrs. R. L. Stevenson is directing the performance, which is based on the story of an Irish girl and a Jewish boy who are not pleasing their parents in their matrimonial discussions. However, despite it being St. Patrick's Day, everything comes out all right in the end and there are no brawls.

Accounts totalling $11,321.05 were passed for payment by the council on Monday afternoon.

EDITORIAL

Service Work

For many months past there has been criticism levelled from many local citizens regarding the Peach Orchard cemetery. Its appearance is a disgrace to the community, they have said, and something should be done to alleviate an eyesore.

But it has taken one man who has always had the interests of this community very much at heart to start the ball rolling. We refer to Mr. E. H. Bennett, one of the most ardent workers for parks development which Summerland boasts.

Mr. Bennett now heads a committee from the A.O.T.S. club, which is investigating the possibility of formulating some permanent plan for the care and maintenance of the cemetery. This committee is now appealing to other organizations to take an interest in this endeavor.

It is a worthwhile undertaking and one which should have been tackled a long time ago.

Summerland should get behind Mr. Bennett in his plea and establish a firm plan whereby the last resting-place of those who have passed on can be made a place of beauty.

Have You Contributed?

Today, the Red Cross campaign to raise $500,000 in British Columbia is half over. A great deal of canvassing has been accomplished in this area but, of course, many homes have not been included in the drive as yet. It is a tremendous task to cover this entire municipality with the handful of volunteer canvassers who came forward to assist in this most worthwhile drive.

Of all the campaigns and requests for charitable assistance which are formulated in a single year, none has a more rightful appeal than that of the Red Cross.

There is hardly a person who is not closely acquainted with the help to humanity carried on by the Red Cross, either in war or peacetime. The soldiers and prisoners-of-war are probably the first to acclaim the Red Cross, especially those servicemen who were through the hospital chain.

But now it is a peacetime program which is before us. The Red Cross has turned its assistance towards the betterment of humanity in Canada, rather than in far, ravaged lands. Of course, some assistance is still being given to those people by the Red Cross, but the money to be raised in the current campaign will be spent entirely in Canada.

Money raised during the war for war relief purposes has been earmarked for that purpose and will be spent in no other way. "THE WORK OF MERCY NEVER ENDS." Give generously that others less fortunate than yourselves may have an opportunity to enjoy a better life. That is little enough to ask.

Summerland's Stand

On the surface, Summerland appears to be on firm ground when it makes its appeal for a lower proportion of assessment in the school district. What action the department of education will take at Victoria is a matter of conjecture, but from this distance it would appear that the council has a just case.

When the 1946 assessments were prepared and the roll closed, the new school act, based on the Cameron report, was not through the legislature at Victoria. Summerland always did assess trees and properly so under the municipal act, which gives municipalities power so to do if the council decides in favor of such action.

But Penticton does not assess commercial fruit trees for municipal or any other purpose, nor does the rural area in the school district No. 15.

Under the education department's ruling proportions of school costs will be based on the 1946 assessments. Penticton and the rural area do not include trees on their assessment rolls. Summerland's assessment figure includes assessments on trees as improvements.

All the Summerland council asks is, that the educational department, when it considers Summerland's proportion of the school costs, take out the trees from the assessment roll figures and place this municipality on a similar basis to the other two partners in the school district.

This seems a just request. So we will wait and see what will be the outcome. We can only hope that Hon. G. M. Weir, minister of education, looks more favorably on this request than he did on Summerland's plea last year to be included in a district with Peachland and Greata Ranch and not with Penticton.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Some years ago, Fire Blight was one of our most serious diseases of both apple and pear. Nowadays, through elimination of susceptible varieties and the practise of approved control measures, epidemics of blight are largely a thing of the past. But the menace of Fire Blight still lives. Disaster can follow if we relax for too long our vigilance.

During these last few weeks of the dormant period, growers are urged to check carefully pear blocks to ensure that a thorough dormant clean-up has been made of all "hold-over" cankers.

All cankers should be cut out during the dormant period. Cuts should be made well below the canker margins in the clean, healthy tissue. Where no definite crack can be seen at the edge of the canker, the bark should be pared back and the cut made below the last area of cambium or wood discoloration.

It is a well-known fact that one or two growers cannot hope to clean up Fire Blight in their orchards if the rest of the orchardists in the area fail in their duty to inspect and eradicate the blight-infected limbs of their trees.

Annually, the B.C. department of agriculture co-operates with growers in preventing the spread of Fire Blight. This is done by means of orchard surveys, consultations with the growers and general educational methods. Growers requiring assistance or information regarding Fire Blight control, should contact the local District Field Inspector, Alex Watt, and arrange for an orchard inspection or consultation. This is a government service and is, therefore, free of charge.

THE Feminine Front

Muriel Hurry

There are few of us who realize the full benefits gained by the price ceilings enforced by the dominion government. Although we have already suffered to some extent from inflation, we are much more fortunate than our American neighbors to the south.

Recently, my husband and myself spent a day with friends across the border, and I seized the opportunity to do some window shopping. The prices of gowns amazed me. I had heard that prices had made a steep climb down there, of course, but prices of women's clothing was more than double what we pay in Summerland. Casual afternoon frocks were around $40; suits which would sell for $25 here, were $65 there, and cotton house dresses ran from $11 to $20. I was afraid to price shoes, which I understand are exorbitant.

Wool skirts were the only articles of clothing which seemed to compare reasonably with Canadian prices. The prices ranged between $5 and $10 for skirts.

I can remember the prices of American clothing ten years ago, when the popular prices of afternoon dress frocks ranged between $5 and $10. The good old days!

In his youth, my husband lived in a small community less than a mile from the American border. It wasn't very patriotic of them, but almost the entire community did over half of their shopping south of the border.

Catalogues from Montgomery Ward and Sears and Roebuck were much more popular than the Timothy Eaton and Robert Simpson family bibles. Groceries were purchased at American stores, and duty was seldom paid on any of the articles. By the simple expedient of getting the backyard neighbors across the line to do the buying, and lugging the parcels across the little strip of no-man's land, following an evening visit, duty was neatly, if illegally, avoided. Of course, the Canadian customs officials knew what went on, and there were periodic raids, when houses and premises were searched for American articles which had not been declared. However, this only added to the excitement, and pepped life up a little for the quiet community.

Even horses were smuggled across the border, and during prohibition in the U.S. this little town, with many back trails leading across the border, was very active in the bootlegging racket.

Which, as I often remind my husband, is probably the reason that the inhabitants of the community were so good at smuggling. It runs in the families there, as many of the old-timers were bootleggers during the prohibition era, and settled down among their friends when the Democrats took over the American senate.

However, I understand that the procedure is reversed when any smuggling goes on these days. And it is the Americans who now make shopping trips to Canada.

The women of Canada can do much to fight inflation, as it is we who hold the purse strings of Canada, as we are often reminded. Proper education on the subject is the first "must," and this can be obtained from a number of sources. Much information can be gleaned from the pages of the daily paper, and every effort should be made by the women of Canada to avoid this threat, which we are prone through mental laziness, to shift to the shoulders of our men-folk.

My husband who has, as usual, been peering over my shoulder, requests that for the benefit of any male readers, I pass on the information that hair-cuts in the U.S. are now $1. Which fact, he feels, will dispel much of the current grouching about the recent rise of hair-cuts in Summerland. You don't know when you are well off, boys. You are even getting a whole paragraph in the only column in the South Okanagan, written exclusively for women.

CANADA'S Health

KEEPING WELL

To keep in good condition, the human "machine" requires adequate food, rest and recreation, as well as fresh air and exercise. Comparing the body with other functioning mechanisms, health authorities point out how much superior it can be made, and maintained, to any contraption of human devising. "Your body has no trade-in value," they say, "but it has many advantages over mere machines, and, with care, will last longer, be more flexible and more responsive."

Concerning the "fueling" of the body, the nutritionists suggest a study of Canada's Food Rules, which advise Canadians on the proper "mixture" of the five major food groups, (milk, fruit, vegetables, cereals and fish or meat), to keep the system in top running condition.

RESERVE STRENGTH

Need of a reserve of strength and vitality to fight off a real health threat, is the subject of comment from Ottawa, where health authorities think little of the "tough guy" who never admits his weaknesses.

"The tougher they are, the harder they fall" applies in the matter of health as in everything else, say the doctors. They frown on the practise of men who scoff at minor infections and who boast of never taking a day off to rid their systems of such trifles as colds. Fighting off the little things may be a sign of virility, at the time, but it is pointed out, repeated disregard of even small ills drain the natural reserve of strength, and renders the "toughie" more susceptible to serious infection.

Doctors agree that it is wise to seek prompt and expert advice on all ailments, particularly since many diseases start in a small way, and the layman cannot judge when a seemingly trifling trouble is, in fact, a portent of something more serious.

ILLNESS NO DISGRACE

Although illness is nothing to cause the sufferer to hang his head in shame, failure to do something about it is blameworthy, point out public health authorities.

Even the most famous figures in history have been among sufferers from almost every known disease, and the fact has not been held against them, indeed, some have been honored for achieving greatness despite their physical handicaps.

But, the doctors declare, the person who, being sick, continues to ignore or conceal a complaint, thereby endangering others, is a public enemy indeed. They remind Canadians that most ailments can be cured easily and completely if professional advice is sought early.

DISEASE SNEAKS IN

Excepting in war and accident, death rarely comes suddenly, the doctors remind us. National Health authorities point out that illness, forerunner of death, most often sneaks up on humanity, and that the surest defence against it is eternal vigilance and speedy action to rout it.

When physical resistance and stamina are low, when people are careless, neglectful and apathetic germs can enter and take hold of them, and, if allowed to gain a solid foothold, can menace life itself.

Maintenance of a high standard of fitness and prompt reporting of the slightest sign of an attack by disease, are urged as the only barriers against disability and sickness which creeps up on man.

VETERANS FITTER

Authorities at Ottawa point to the high physical standard of men returning to civil life from war service as proof of the value of thorough medical overhaul. They declare that, except only for the war casualty, the average returned man is better equipped for life, physically, than before he enlisted.

Some of the credit, they admit, goes to the orderly living routine of service life, with its scheduled meals and sleeping periods, and its enforced activity. But they believe that the pre-discharge "medical" also has a lot to do with it. Before being returned to civil life, the soldier, sailor or airman ready for discharge, is provided, at government expense, with a careful overhaul, and every medical and dental requirement thus revealed is made available—also free.

If the public generally would undergo similar examinations at intervals, the health authorities declare that the health standard in Canada would rise steadily.

H. R. Vanderburg Jersey Club Head

The Summerland Jersey club held its annual meeting on Feb. 27. The meeting was opened by a short talk by S. R. Noble, of the Experimental Station, Summerland, on R.O.P. work, and a resume of the meetings of the B.C. Jersey Breeders' Assn. and the North Okanagan Jersey Breeders' club. He urged the members to keep up their registrations and R.O.P. work, so that members might take advantage of the brisk export trade in Jerseys.

Officers elected for 1947 were: H. R. Vanderburgh, president; J. M. Landry, vice-president; S. R. Noble, secretary-treasurer, and R. Shannon, F. Lenzi and C. R. Adams, directors.

Messrs. Steve Dunsdon, J. Dunsdon, Jr., and Harvey Eden were present as prospective new members.

Considerable interest and discussion centred around getting new members on the approved herd plan and a blanket blood test for Bang's disease. The financial statement showed a healthy balance.

DIVIDE HOOP GAMES

Two Summerland hoop teams divided honors in exhibition games at Kelowna on Saturday night, March 1. The Kelowna team won from Summerland Legion juniors 25-19, while the Summerland Chiefs took the Kelowna intermediate B's into camp 36-34. Dunham, with 15, and Moore, with 13, were high scorers for Summerland Chiefs. The Legion team points were evenly divided throughout.

Thousands of people who recently read the poignantly beautiful letter written by MRS. STANLEY SCHNELLE of Olivia, Minnesota, whose eldest son Pfc. Gordon Schnelle, died on Sugar Loaf Hill, Okinawa, will be interested in this photograph of a mother who expressed the longing of the little people everywhere for peace. Mrs. Schnelle's letter, originally sent to Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, was read by U.S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes at the Foreign Press Association dinner tendered the Big Four and UN delegates. Her letter read in part: "I pray, how I pray for God to guide Secretary Byrnes in his work. I pray for the little people. They have taken too much—wondered too long. Soon their hearts will be crushed with burdens they can't bear. I pray for a just peace treaty to come soon. I pray that all might be led and clothed. I can't see hungry people even if they were enemies. Hunger doesn't make good people—it breeds hate."

William Snow Starts Third Term As President Here

By unanimous vote of some forty members, William Snow was elected for his third term as president of the Summerland Fish, Game and Forest Protective Assn. at the annual meeting held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Saturday evening. Election of officers, consideration of season's and bag limits for the 1947 season and thoughts for the forthcoming convention of the B.C. Interior Fish and Game Assn. occupied the main part of the meeting.

Re-elect Secretary

V. M. Lockwood was the choice of the meeting as vice-president, while W. A. "Bud" Stewart was unanimously re-elected to the post of secretary-treasurer. An executive of six comprises Channon Snow, Alf Johnston, Sandy Munn, Roy M. Gilbert, Councillor Harvey Wilson and C. H. Elsey. Game Commissioner J. G. Cunningham was again named honorary president.

Warning that shorter seasons are coming for Canada in respect of migratory birds, was given the meeting, but as there are few birds in this district and B.C. has already taken the initiative in cutting down the season on migratory birds, it was recommended by the Summerland sportsmen that the season this year for migratory game birds be left as in 1946.

It was recommended that an open season of two weeks be set up, in South Okanagan for blue grouse. Some members contended that there is a plentiful supply of blue grouse in the upper hills, at least sufficient for an open season of two weeks.

Bring In Pheasants

On the recommendation of J. Y. Towgood, the sportsmen's session decided to recommend to the B.C. Game commission that a stock of pheasants be released in this district in 1947. Pheasants were quite scarce last year in this district and it was thought some re-stocking would make an appreciable difference.

Another move to conserve deer met with the favor of the meeting, when it was recommended that the deer season end at November 30, instead of December 15, when the snow is deeper. This was the recommendation of most of the game clubs last year, but was not adopted by the B.C. Game commission, the meeting was told.

Re-stocking of lakes in this area was also suggested by the sportsmen, with recommendations for 20,000 eastern brook trout for Fish lake, and 10,000 Kamloops trout for Deer lake. Another 10,000 Kamloops should go into Garnett lake, it was suggested.

More Fingerlings

The meeting also favored a continuation of the policy of placing as many fingerlings as possible in Okanagan lake. If the new hatchery is established in time here this year then it will be possible to place a far greater number of fingerlings in the Okanagan than ever before, it was stated.

Food and more cover in the orchards for the propagation of pheasants were urged on the meeting by Gordon Mountford. His suggestion that porcupines in settled areas be unprotected by game laws also found favor. Some members suggested that all protection on porcupines be lifted.

A concerted effort to eliminate crows and magpies in this district will be made this spring. The local fish and game club will be divided into teams and a concerted drive made to eradicate these predatory birds. Prizes will be offered to the team destroying the greatest number of birds and crows.

Roy Gilbert reported that last year the youngsters who were given encouragement by the senior members, had killed 87 pair of crows and magpies.

Vote Sanctuary

Game Commissioner F. R. Nutler informed the club by letter that before any game sanctuary could be set up in this area, careful consideration would have to be given to the patrolling possible and the need of such a reserve.

President Snow stated he had conferred with Game Commissioner Cunningham on the subject and the latter had vetoed

Depression Trends Being Observed

"The trends leading to our worst depression are already plainly to be seen," said Thomas Porter, Technocracy speaker, in commenting today on his address to the coming public meeting, to be held in Nu-Way hall on Monday, March 17.

"You can't distribute abundance with scarcity means, which is all that money is, and you can't short circuit abundance much longer," Porter stated. "If we don't get busy and install a scientific method of distributing the abundance we now produce, we will wind up in a depression that will make the last one look like a pink tea."

Mr. Porter is an authorized speaker for Technocracy Inc., and is on a tour of Washington, Alberta and B.C. He reports public interest in Technocracy's program to be at an all-time high with attendance at public meetings and applications for membership breaking all records at most points he has visited.

TELL-TALE TIPS

You may not be able to judge a book simply by a study of its cover or "jacket," but you can, say the health experts, get a fairly good idea of a human being from outward appearance. Unlike a book, the body doesn't keep all its secrets under covers.

Of course, a study of the human "table of contents" is essential to a complete understanding of what is going on in the human story. It is suggested that a professional man, trained to read the important signs, be consulted, and a periodic "review" be arranged to ensure that life's plot is developing normally and healthfully.

Mr. Russell Kerr, of the staff of the Salmon Arm Observer, was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thompson.

Mrs. E. Metcalfe, of Alliance, Alta., who has been visiting since September at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Smith left last Wednesday to return to her home in Alberta.

Fashion Show For March 22

Plans are being concluded for the local fashion show, to be held in the I.O.O.F. hall on Saturday, March 22. There will be two complete showings on this day, at 2:30 p.m. and an evening show at 8:00 p.m.

The show will be sponsored by the Women's Institute and the Hospital W.A. Merchandise from Hill's Ladies' Wear and from the Family Shoe Store will be shown.

There will be 16 models showing gowns and each model will exhibit three outfits. Spring and summer clothing and merchandise will be featured, and all proceeds will go to the funds of the W.I. and the Hospital W.A.

Home of Bride's Japanese Parents Quiet Wedding Scene Couple Are United Here

A quiet but charming wedding was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon, March 5, at 3 p.m., at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. W. Caldwell, when Shirley, youngest daughter of Mrs. W. A. Caldwell, of Summerland, and the late W. A. Caldwell, was united in marriage to Frederick George Milligan, third son of Mrs. B. Milligan, of New Westminster. Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiated at the ceremony, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, John W. Caldwell.

To the strains of a wedding march, played by Mrs. B. White, the bride entered the room wearing a smart grey suit and a blue flowered hat. Her corsage was of white carnations and lily-of-the-valley.

As her only attendant, the bride chose Miss Doreen Tait, who wore a sage green suit, with henna hat and accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. Groomsman was Mr. Sandy Caldwell, brother of the bride. During the signing of the register, Mrs. W. White sang, "O Promise Me."

The rooms were attractively decorated for the occasion with a floral arrangement of pussy willows, daffodils and forsythia. The mother of the bride was gowned in a frock of black and white silk jersey, and her corsage was of pink carnations.

At the reception which followed the wedding, the brides' table was centred with a lovely two-tiered, decorated cake. Toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. H. R. Whitmore and was responded to by the groom. The groomsman responded to the toast to the bridesmaid.

A wire of congratulations was received from Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Caldwell, of Victoria.

Out-of-town guests were the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Milligan, of Vancouver, and the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Topham, of Peachland.

For a honeymoon trip by motor to Vancouver and Victoria, the bride donned a white coat over her grey suit.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Milligan will make their future home in Summerland.

A wedding of wide interest in Japanese circles in the south Okanagan, was solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, March 4, at 2:30 o'clock, in St. Andrew's United church, West Summerland when, in one of the most beautiful ceremonies ever performed in the community, Roy Yoshimi Kuroda, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Kuroda, West Summerland, claimed as his bride, Tomiyo, second daughter of Mr. S. Tomiye, Kelowna.

The ceremony was performed in a combination of the Japanese and English languages by the Rev. Y. Yoshioka, of Kelowna.

The attractive bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in traditional ivory satin of floor length, with a fitted waistline, and lace inserts in a gardenia pattern at the bodice of the gown. The neckline of the gown was inset with net, while the sleeves were of full length. The long, trailing veil fell softly from a floral head-dress. As jewelry, the bride wore a pearl necklace with matching earrings, a gift of the groom. Her bouquet was of roses and fern.

As her sister's bridesmaid, Miss Michi Tomiye was gowned in pink taffeta of full length, with rose applique on the pockets. Her headdress of net was held in place by pink flowers, and her bouquet was of pink and white, carnations, red roses and fern.

The flower girls were little Miss Joyce Terai and Mona Inaba who were dressed alike in full length blue sheer, with head-dresses of blue flowers. Nao Terai, who was gowned in white sheer, held the bride's veil in place.

Groomsman was Frank Kuroda, while G. A. Elseey and Fumi Inaba were ushers.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with baskets of cedar boughs, and a lovely arrangement of carnations, daffodils and pussy willows.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Yoshioka, while Mrs. L. Fudge, accompanied by Percy Thornber at the organ, was soloist.

The reception was held in the Japanese hall, West Summerland, which was decorated for the event with a profusion of cedar boughs, carnations and Easter lilies and daffodils. Pink and white streamers were arranged in an attractive design.

The young couple were assisted in receiving their guests by Mr. K. Yamabe, while ushers for the reception were Messrs. Y. Aoki and George Uzawa.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake, which was flanked by tall tapers, and vases of pink carnations, daffodils and fern.

The mother of the groom was gowned in black, and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. K. Imayoshi, and was responded to by the groom. Wires of congratulation were received from Mr. and Mrs. I. Uyeda and Mr. Bill Uyeda, all of Kamloops. Among the many guests attending the wedding were 20 guests from Kelowna and seven from Penticton.

For a honeymoon trip by motor to Seattle, the bride donned a smart grey dress suit with matching accessories, over which she wore a fur coat, complemented by a matching hat.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kuroda will make their future home in West Summerland.

On Monday next, at the Baptist church, Miss Constance J. Brandon, international secretary of the World Dominion Movement Inc., London, will lecture on "The Hour of the Church in Europe."

Need For Agrologists Act Is Stressed Here By Dr. J. C. Wilcox

The Technical agriculturists in the Provinces of Quebec and Saskatchewan now have provincial acts that give them professional standing in the same manner as has been done with doctors, dentists, lawyers and engineers. A similar act is now being presented to the B.C. Legislature, under the title, "An Act Respecting Agrologists."

The term, "agrologist" is new and has been coined from two Greek words, "agros," meaning field, and "logists," meaning the reasoning or science of. The literal meaning, therefore, is the science of the field. When the act is passed, every member of the organization of professional technical agriculturists will be called an "agrologist." The Agrologists Act can be defined briefly as "an act to establish standards of qualification in regard to the education, training and experience of those who practise the science of agriculture in relation to research and extension work."

Among the objects of this act are the following:
 (1) To improve and maintain high standards of qualification for practising agrologists. This will be attained by (a) university training, (b) plus three years of practical experience, (c) plus examinations. With extension workers, at least a part of the practical experience will be obtained on farms. While the three years' experience is being obtained, the prospective member will be responsible to a full-fledged agrologist.

(2) By closer co-operation among the agricultural branches, to maintain and improve the service now being given to farmers. Such co-operation has already been attained in the Okanagan Agricultural club. It is desirable to extend this type of co-operation throughout the province. By this means, it should also be possible to give better assistance to farmers' organizations and government agencies in establishing general policies.

(3) The farmer, and the public in general, will be protected from irresponsible or ignorant practitioners who may hand out incorrect advice for pay. Such practices are, fortunately, seldom found here in B.C. The act will ensure that our good record is maintained.

(4) The prestige of the technical agriculturists will be enhanced, in equal proportion to their higher qualifications. At the same time, any tendency among them toward unionization that may be found at the present time, will be checked.

It has been suggested by some that this act is likely to throw a lot of good men out of work. This should not be the case. Let us consider a few examples:

(1) Farmers. The act will not interfere in any way with the bona-fide business of farming.

(2) Inspectors. These do not come within the scope of the act. (3) Salesmen (fertilizer, spray, machinery, etc.). Even if salesmen give advice to farmers, it is unlikely that any action will be taken against them except where it is felt that their advice is flagrantly detrimental to the farmers business. A salesman need not be a university graduate. It would be preferable, however, if he could co-operate with an agrologist in formulating the advice that he hands out. Good examples of this can now be found in some of the fertilizer companies, where the head of the sales department is a graduate. He takes the responsibility for the advice given by the salesmen.

(4) Non-graduates who are now engaged in scientific agriculture. These will automatically become full members when the act goes into force. It will only be necessary for them to do the same as graduates and make application to the Agrologists' Council for membership. Although the act applies primarily to university graduates, it is recognized that excellent service can be rendered by some men who are not graduates. By training and experience, such men may become just as expert in specialized fields as are graduates. They should then have no difficulty in passing the exams in their particular fields. In the act, the way is, in fact, left open for them to do this, and thus to become full agrologists.

The question arises as to whether experts in agriculture could be imported from other provinces or other countries, to give help with special problems. For short time work only, it is proposed that such men could practise in B.C. under temporary permits. If they were to stay here permanently, they would have to take their exams the same as the local men.

Although the Act Respecting Agrologists proposes to professionalize the technical agriculturists, in a manner similar to that which has been done in other professions, it does not place final control in the hands of the agrologists themselves. It is felt that since the main purpose of the act is to protect the public, a high degree of responsibility toward the public should be maintained. In order to assure this, the following provisions have been incorporated into the act:

(1) Two members of the Agrologists' Council are to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. This will serve to keep the government informed of all proposed actions by the agrologists, and will also establish an excellent means of co-operation between the government and the agrologists.

(2) The agrologists' by-laws are to be subject to veto by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. This will safeguard against any tendency toward restriction of membership or unfair practices by agrologists. It will give the government control over their working tools (the by-laws...)

(3) The examinations are to be under the supervision of the Senate of the University of B.C., and will not be under the control

LANTIGEN LABORATORIES
 ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

A satisfactory volume of sales throughout Canada was reported at the annual meeting of Lantigen Laboratories Limited, just concluded. A research laboratory was recently established in Montreal, under the supervision of the company's medical director.

The newly-elected board of directors is composed of Col. James M. Dunwoody, D.S.O., D.C.M., E.D., well-known Toronto chartered accountant; T. M. Maltby, vice-president; F. S. Stephen, managing director, with Charles A. Barham, of Vancouver, and John E. Wasson, of St. John, N.B., members of the board.

Mr. Andy Mitchell of Vancouver, who was a business visitor at the week-end, in Penticton, also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. White and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Steuart.

of the Agrologists' Council. It is anticipated that the senate will appoint examining boards of experts for each specific purpose. There will thus be no possibility of restriction of membership by the agrologists themselves.

This proposed act is unique in the public safeguards that have been incorporated in it. No other professional act now in force in B.C. allows these safeguards.

A. K. Loyd Optimistic On Future Prospects For Market Control

That the outlook for continuation of provincial marketing boards and the extension of dominion marketing legislation to give these boards interprovincial and export powers is brighter now than ever before, is the opinion of A. K. Loyd, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. general manager, who has just returned from Ottawa. Although a marketing act is not being called for by the federal minister of agriculture, Rt. Hon. James Gardiner, the control legislation Bill No. 25, is believed to include continuation of the control measures which commenced with the war measures act, insofar as control of fruit and vegetables is concerned.

On Monday, the C.C.F. amendment to Bill No. 25, calling for reference of the bill to the house agricultural committee with instructions to that body to draft a long-term rather than a short-term marketing program, was defeated by 88 to 74.

Show Progress

Mr. Loyd considered such a close division in the house showed definite progress in the long fight to obtain control marketing legislation, in that a few years ago, such a motion would have met with little or no support. "I consider that real progress," Mr. Loyd declared.

The Progressive (Conservative) C.C.F. and Social Credit members voted solidly against the government on this amendment, coast daily papers have indicated.

C.C.F. members in the house attacked Bill No. 25 on the grounds that it did not go far enough. It should be replaced by a dominion marketing act for farm products, they contended.

Under this bill, the present set-up of control will be continued by the government in much the same manner as has been the case during the war years and since the cessation of conflict.

With Mr. Loyd on his trip east were Dave McNair, Tree Fruits sales manager, and J. R. "Jock" Stirling, BCFGA president.

Municipal Hall Plan Advances Further

Sketches of the proposed municipal hall are to be submitted to the architect firm of McCarter and Nairne, Vancouver, with the request that this firm draw up complete plans of the building and also send a representative to Summerland to discuss the proposed building.

Both Councillors Bentley and Atkinson have prepared sketches showing their ideas as to the extent of the new hall, and together with Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon, the general plan has been agreed upon.

This municipal hall will be

HOTEL PROJECT MOOTED HERE

Coast interests with some $40,000 to $50,000 investment money are interested in West Summerland as a likely location for a new hotel venture, the Summerland Board of Trade was informed on Thursday evening by President F. W. Schumann.

He declared that the board executive was informed last week that inquiries for a probable site had been made last week and that more information would probably be forthcoming at a later date.

Last December, another hotel inquiry was instituted by coast interests and a board committee investigated certain property owners regarding a site. However, this project did not materialize.

Last fall, the trade board went on record as favoring the establishment of a community hotel in West Summerland to care for the needs of the travelling public as well as providing a dining-room for banquets.

erected on the northeast corner of the Living Memorial park-playground in West Summerland. Reeve W. R. Powell made a suggestion on Thursday last which found considerable favor among council members. He thought provision should be made in the new building for a club-room for the younger people. Such a room could be used for reading and for chess, card games, ping-pong, etc.

It was considered that a portion of the second storey, above the library, or basement rooms could well be utilized for such a purpose.

Spring Fair To Be Revived Here This May By Trade Board

Revival of the spring fair, dropped in 1941 because of the scarcity of materials due to the war, is to be undertaken by the Summerland Board of Trade this spring. This decision was reached on Thursday evening, when the board held its March monthly meeting at the Legion hall.

Date was not decided at this session, but was left to a committee which is to be appointed by the executive.

However, the date is tentatively set for the latter part of May and will probably coincide with the big industrial exposition which is being held at Vernon, May 28 to 31.

Fate of May 24

Tied in with this decision is the fate of May 24, which has been a trade board celebration day for some years past. No verdict was reached by the general meeting and decision as to May 24 was tossed back into the lap of the board executive.

There is a possibility that the spring fair may be held on Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24, in which case, the usual ball tournament might be dropped.

It was the consensus of opinion that the board should endeavor to hold some type of sports for the kiddies, at least, as the youngsters look forward to the competitions and fun of those yearly celebrations.

It may develop that sports for the young people will be held on the morning of May 24, with the spring fair holding the centre of attention in the afternoon and evening of both Empire Day and the day previous.

All these suggestions were aired at the Thursday session but no conclusion was reached as to the right course to take.

E. R. Butler reminded his listeners that the manufacturers co-operated well with local merchants in displaying merchandise at the last fair held here and he believed that they would greet the announcement that another fair will be held here in 1947 with enthusiasm.

E. O'Mahony stated that such an affair would be excellent advertising for Summerland, and this community is in need of further publicity, he considered.

Penticton Sawmills Ltd, sawmill and box factory, were completely destroyed by fire on Wednesday evening. Fire commenced at 8:50 o'clock.

Peachland Cadets March To Church

PEACHLAND—Peachland cadets marched to the Baptist church on Sunday, March 9, to hear Rev. F. W. Haskins, the preacher. Looking smart in their uniforms, the cadets attending this church service, numbered about fifty.

The regular monthly meeting of the United Church Women's Assn. was held at the home of Mrs. M. Twiname, on Wednesday, March 12, with fifteen present. Arrangements were completed for the St. Patrick's Day supper and other entertainments, held in the municipal hall on March 17. A vote was taken to sponsor the Aramata Bible school. Tea was served by the hostess.

The many friends of Mrs. W. D. Miller will be sad to hear of the death on Monday, March 10, in the Vernon hospital, of her mother, Mrs. Seaton. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Seaton were pioneers in Peachland, coming here in 1898. Mr. Seaton passed on a few years later and Mrs. Seaton moved to Vernon in 1917.

An interesting meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the municipal hall on Friday, March 14. All officers and 17 members were present. A bridge party was arranged for March 28, also in the municipal hall, proceeds to be given to the Summerland hospital. After the business session, Mrs. Gerrie took the meeting. A duet by Miss Dill Witt and Miss Barbara Topham was greatly enjoyed. Guest speaker was Dr. G. L. Hutton, public health director, who gave an interesting address on health and citizenship. Tea was served by Mrs. A. Smalls and Mrs. J. C. Witt.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Baptist motored to Vernon on Wednesday, March 12, to witness the hockey game, returning to Peachland on Thursday.

RED CROSS DRIVE OVER $1,000 MARK

With several canvassers still to hear from, the Red Cross drive has netted more than $1,000, Jack Dunsdon, campaign treasurer, reported to The Review last night. The drive officially closes on Saturday March 22 but all the canvassing will not be completed in this district by that time and will have to carry over until next week Mr. Dunsdon states. He is hopeful that when the final result is given out, more than $2,000 will have been raised from this community.

School Bylaw Ready In Two Weeks' Time

School District No. 15 will present its by-law for school improvements in 1947 before the councils of Penticton and Summerland in another ten days' time, it was revealed here on Monday, when a delegation of school trustees waited on the Summerland council, Monday evening.

This by-law calls for the complete modernization of the Summerland elementary school, including the addition of four classrooms and a playroom for primary students.

Included in the plans is the purchase and transfer of two large army huts from Vernon to the Penticton school grounds, where they will provide 12 classrooms. Other improvements to schools in Naramata and Kaledon and the purchase of the W. C. Kelley property in West Summerland for school enlargement program rounds out the program.

Cost $150,000 Although school trustees did not wish to quote any figures until the by-law has been completed, it was stated on Monday that the program calls for an expenditure of about $150,000, approximately fifty per cent being undertaken by the provincial government.

Summerland's elementary school program has been estimated at $84,000, while the purchase and transfer of the army huts will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000 to $50,000, it was stated.

There is one catch in the program, however, and this concerns the purchase of the huts from War Assets Corp. This group must have its part of the deal closed by March 31, otherwise the sale of the huts is off, School Board Chairman Dr. T. F. Parmley stated on Monday.

The amount involved is $3,400 and the trustees announced that they intend to make the purchase out of ordinary estimated revenues. If and when the by-law is passed authorizing the total works project, then ordinary revenue can be reimbursed.

If the by-law fails to obtain necessary approval, then the board would carry this expenditure as a deficit into next year and provide an amount in estimates to cover the capital expenditure. The board is allowed, under the school act, to put aside one mill each year for such capital expenditure, it was explained.

Serious Project "It will be a serious matter, both here and in Penticton, if this by-law fails," declared Trustee W. W. Riddell, Penticton, chairman of the trustees' finance committee.

He explained that the purchase and remodeling of the army huts will provide permanent classrooms at a cost of about $4,000 per classroom, whereas, if a building program was commenced from scratch, the cost would be $12,000 to $15,000 per classroom.

It sounds like a very sound proposition and an economical one," was Reeve Powell's reaction, as the council gave the go ahead signal for the purchase of the army huts from War Assets Corp.

Little Hope Given Out For Building Of Science Service Centre Here This Summer

Although the director of science service at Ottawa has agreed to place the proposed science service centre in Summerland on the No. 1 priority list, there is little likelihood that there will be any move to start on this project, deemed by growers to be of vital importance to their task of producing good quality fruit in the interior of B.C.

The Review last month carried an exclusive story that this science service centre has been projected for some time at a cost of about $150,000 and would house the entomological branch, the plant pathologists and the chemists who are essential to the progress while the housing shortage continues.

This amount has not been included in the estimates at Ottawa, it is understood. From two sources The Review learns this week that there is slim chance of the building being started in the near future because of the government policy of foregoing any public buildings while the housing shortage continues.

No Progress Soon

Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale, in reply to queries from The Review, stated that he does not anticipate progress in the proposed centre at Summerland at the present time.

"The director of science service here, however, is keenly in favor of the proposition and the matter is by no means dropped," declared Mr. Stirling.

"It is possible that money might be forthcoming in the supplementary estimates at the end of the session, but in view of the government's present opinion that it is not desirable to proceed with public buildings at the present time, I am not hopeful that we shall see progress this year," Mr. Stirling concluded.

When asked regarding representations made by the BCFGA in Ottawa, Mr. A. K. Loyd declared that he was informed this project will be No. 1 priority on the building program of the science service division, but he did not think it would be started this year.

Growers Would Assist

The fruit growers' association has taken this situation seriously and has been so anxious to provide better accommodation for the entomological branch, operated here, that an offer was made to erect a building on government land and rent it to the government, or to erect the building on adjacent land and sell it to the government at a later date.

Neither of these proposals are acceptable to officials in Ottawa.

On Tuesday, Mr. Loyd suggested to Reeve Powell, Summerland, that more appropriate temporary quarters might be located here, and His Worship is investigating this angle here this week.

S. A. Macdonald Again Heads Hospital Board

New hospital additions of a maternity wing and a nurses' home may be completed and ready for occupancy in two months' time, J. E. Jenkinson, chairman of the new building committee of the hospital society, stated on Tuesday evening, but he would not commit himself as to any definite date.

Work is progressing satisfactorily, he told the board members, but as materials are in such short supply, he could not guarantee any definite opening date.

S. A. Macdonald was unanimously re-elected president of the Summerland Hospital Society when the board met for its first session following the annual meeting. C. J. Huddleston was named first vice-president, and C. J. Bleasdale as second vice-president.

President Macdonald welcomed a new member to the board, in the government representative, J. R. Armstrong. His appointment became official from last Tuesdays' meeting.

Committees Arranged

Committee set-up remains much the same as last year. Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, C. J. Bleasdale and J. Butler comprise the house committee, with Mrs. Atkinson carrying on as chairman. Dr. J. C. Wilcox heads the grounds committee along with J. E. Jenkinson and Councillor Eric Tait.

The new buildings committee remains the same, with J. E. Jenkinson, chairman, and Tom Croil, while C. J. Huddleston is finance chairman, assisted by W. R. Boyd. A new heading of public relations committee was added on Tuesday, with J. R. Armstrong in charge.

J. E. O'Mahony, who has found it increasingly difficult to carry on hospital work on a part-time basis, has now been appointed full-time secretary of the Hospital society at a salary of $160 per month.

An attempt is being made to obtain an emergency lighting outfit from War Assets Corp., to be in use if the electric lighting system fails at any time. Two lamps, one for operating room and the other for the case room, will be purchased. These will operate off batteries and an automatic switch will be installed. Original cost of the lighting unit for both rooms will be $100, the board was informed.

No Refrigeration

Due to lack of proper refrigeration, the hospital authorities doubt if the local institution can take advantage of the offer of the Canadian Red Cross society to supply whole blood. Under a contract forwarded by the Red Cross group, certain strict regulations must be adhered to in the storing of such blood.

The hospital board will make inquiries from Penticton regarding the possibility of that community becoming a centre for whole blood for the South Okanagan hospitals and will also seek further information from Red Cross representatives at Vancouver.

Industry's Loss

There can be no one throughout this Dominion who can gainsay the fact that the interior fruit industry has reached the proportions of Big Business. The sales value of the tree fruit crop alone has reached $25,000,000, and this figure will be exceeded in the next few years.

Besides the sales value can be counted the enormous amounts paid out in wages in packing houses, in the orchards, in subsidiary processing plants. Then there is the capital outlay for packing houses, canneries, cold storage plants and other subsidiary buildings and equipment. The figure is staggering and warrants the utmost of care to see that everything possible is done to ensure a continuation of the proper production of the raw product which makes this turnover possible.

In this Okanagan Valley there a few score of trained technical agriculturists who have devoted the greater part of their lives to an intense study of the problems of production. Linked with this problem of production is the problem of diseases and insects which prey upon the raw product and the commercial fruit trees. There are numerous highly-trained men whose educational background makes them invaluable in aiding the producer to overcome his production problems.

But the Okanagan is in danger of losing a portion of this talent which is part and parcel of the yearly program. There have been many instances of universities and big corporations in the United States making lucrative offers to these technical agriculturists.

These offers have been so lucrative that in some cases, no matter how much the individual concerned wishes to remain in his adopted or native Okanagan Valley, he cannot resist the opportunity to better himself, both financially and from a standing in his chosen profession.

One instance of this nature has already occurred in Summerland this year, and if the federal department of agriculture had not acted quickly, others might have followed suit.

Not only do these United States firms and institutions offer salaries far beyond the scope of local remunerations, but they offer the most modern equipment, laboratories which will give these technicians the scope they so desire to carry on their vital research work.

We have in mind one flagrant example of a brilliant technician who has been throttled in his activities for lack of suitable equipment. We refer to Dr. James Marshall, the eminent entomologist, whose researches into sprays have revolutionized the spraying program of the Okanagan.

Dr. Marshall was brought back to the Okanagan from the United States on the premise that he would be equipped with a modern laboratory. A visit to his office in Summerland will convince any skeptic that Dr. Marshall has been sadly disillusioned.

Not only is he cramped for space to the nth degree but he lacks the equipment which his vast knowledge and endless research entitles him to have.

A program for a science service centre has been promised by the federal authorities for years. It was thought that this program would be supplied in 1947. Now, it is doubtful that it will even reach the supplementary estimates.

Unless the federal authorities act quickly, the Okanagan fruit grower will lose this valuable entomologist. He has had standing offers from numerous sections of the continent. He can practically write his own ticket. He has stayed on here because he wanted to help his native Okanagan and bring some relief to the fruit growers among whom he was raised.

But even his patience must be drawing to an end. He has worked to benefit the producer against enormous odds. He has been living in hope that in the year 1947 his dreams of a modern, equipped laboratory would come into fruition. This week has practically shattered his dreams. It is not a fair deal.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

I found Dick Palmer in his beloved vineyard again, so I said: "You must like this job of pruning grapes!"

Dick: Yes, I do. These bright, sunny days give me spring fever. I just have to get out of the office and do some manual work with plant materials. I find that strenuous physical exercise clears my mind, with the result that when I go back to the office, I can dictate enough work in an hour to keep two very efficient stenographers busy for a day typing it out.

Agrologist: When I asked a member of your staff where you were, he replied, "Oh, Dick's in the vineyard. He thinks he knows how to prune grapes. Actually, we usually have a light crop when he does the pruning." What have you got to say about that?

Dick: There is some truth in it. The purpose of pruning grapes is to maintain a proper balance between wood growth and fruit. Last year, too much wood was left on a number of these vines. This caused them to bear a heavy crop, but they made very little wood growth. All I can do now is to prune them back severely. This will reduce the year's crop, but will stimulate strong growth on which next year's crop will be borne. Now, it is my turn to ask you a few questions. Why did you select the word, "Agrologist," as your pen name?

Agrologist: I understand that the word, "Agrology," means the science of agriculture. As I am writing about the scientific aspects of agriculture, I think it is quite appropriate that I call myself "Agrologist."

Dick: Are you in favor of the Agrologists' Act which is now before the Legislature at Victoria?

Agrologist: Yes, I have studied this Act and I have come to the conclusion that it is designed to raise the status and prestige of the agriculture industry as a whole and professional agriculturists in particular.

Dick: I am pleased that you favor this Act as there is some opposition from people who do not understand it. The Agrologists' Act is something like the pruning of grapes. It appears very involved and complicated at first, but when you study it and bear in mind the primary objective, it all becomes quite clear and reasonable.

THE Feminine Front

Muriel Hurry

Many mothers feel that if a child consumes good, wholesome food, and drinks his daily quart of milk, that his health is assured.

However, in this daily quart of milk which the mother fondly urges upon the child, there may be contained the germs of an illness which will cripple him for life, or have other ill and sometimes strange effects upon his health.

I am referring here to raw milk, to which epidemics, bovine tuberculosis, diarrhoeal diseases of infants, undulant fever, and a score of other illnesses may be traced.

Coast and interior medical circles have for some time been trying to arouse public interest and support to place before the government of the province a bill enforcing the pasteurization of milk, cream and dairy by-products. Such men know by contacts in their daily work, that such a law is not only vital, but necessary to the health of the younger generation, and of the generations yet to be born.

I have seen in a coast hospital, where patients are children with bone disorders, little boys and girls, patiently playing in bed, with their small bodies encased in heavy casts, good as gold, and patient, because they have learned to be that way from hard months of suffering. And many of them are there because fond parents urged them to drink their gallons of milk so that they would grow up to be big and strong like Daddy.

In the issue of the Vancouver Sun, of March 12, there is a picture of three little boys in this hospital. One of them is there because there is no law in B.C., or in the municipality of Summerland, which enforces the pasteurization of milk and dairy products, and until the past year, pasteurized milk was not widely sold in Summerland.

There are many sceptics who strongly object to such a law on the grounds of individual liberty. Do you think it is a threat to your individual liberty when you cannot park your car beside a fire hydrant, if it means that you must drive blocks out of your way to find an available parking spot. There probably wouldn't be a fire during the few moments you were parked there, but there might be. And if you left your car there indefinitely, there probably would be.

And if there has not been an epidemic in the district for some time traceable to raw milk, can anyone say that there will not be one this year?

I have beside me a booklet on undulant fever, published by the provincial board of health, Victoria. It states, "Undulant fever is a serious disease transmitted to man by domestic animals, cattle, hogs and goats that are infected with brucellosis. The majority of undulant fever cases are caused by the use of unpasteurized milk and other dairy products. The worst hazard to the public lies in raw milk. Besides undulant fever, this has been known to spread tuberculosis, typhoid fever, diphtheria, and many other diseases."

Another quotation from the booklet: "Why Pasteurize Milk?" issued by the department of agriculture: "It is thought by many that pasteurization lessens the nutritive value, but that opinion is not borne out by scientific findings. The food value of milk is not destroyed by heating to the temperature required for efficient pasteurization, nor does it make milk more difficult to digest. In fact, the tendency of heat to make the curd smaller is perhaps a digestive aid."

From the same booklet on the tuberculin testing of cattle: "If it is clear then, that inspection and controlled pasteurization is the only solution of a safe milk supply. . . . Milk from non-reacting tuberculin-tested herds cannot wholly meet the situation. However important the tuberculin test may be, and its importance is undoubted, it is not an absolute insurance of safety. Tests or reactors are made at stated periods; between the dates, cows may develop the disease and the milk from these cows may be used for some time before the fact is known."

Most of us know what pasteurization is. According to the department of agriculture's booklet entitled "Pasteurization of Milk, Cream and Dairy Products," it is defined: "Pasteurization is applied to dairying, is the process of heating milk, cream or dairy by-products to a temperature at which all the disease germs that may be contained therein, will be destroyed and, in the case of milk and cream, of also cooling to a temperature at which the growth of the surviving organisms will be restrained. Efficient pasteurization ensures a safe supply of milk and other dairy products, delays the souring of milk, and improves the flavor and keeping quality of butter."

The most generally used type of pasteurization of milk in commercial practice in Canada is the Holding method, by which milk is heated to a required temperature of 142 deg. F. to 145 deg. F., held for 30 minutes, and then cooled immediately to 50 de. F. or less.

Proof that pasteurization of milk can eliminate bovine tuberculosis, which is more prevalent than suspected among children in Canada, and is very crippling and often fatal in its effects, generally attacking the bone, is in the statistics of the city of Toronto, where pasteurization has been rigidly enforced since 1915. Not a single proven case of bovine tuberculosis has occurred among the generation of children brought up on pasteurized milk. And, furthermore, there has been no record of any milk-borne outbreak in this city since then.

This bovine tuberculosis in man is conveyed chiefly through the medium of milk from tuberculous cows. It is stated in a report by Dr. R. M. Price, research physician in the Banting Institute, and lecturer in bacteriology at the University of Toronto, that bovine tuberculosis in man is preventable, and can be controlled by the effective pasteurization of milk. He goes on to state that effective pasteurization of milk eliminates not only bovine tuberculosis and undulant fever, but all other milk-borne infection as well. (Typhoid fever, paratyphoid fever, septic sore throat, scarlet fever.)

SUPERANNUATION COST

Cost to the municipality of a superannuation scheme for municipal employees will be ascertained. The council agreed on Thursday afternoon last. Such an act is voluntary as far as the council is concerned, but should include all regular employees, it was explained. On behalf of the West Summerland Skeet club, Dr. L. A. Day and G. A. The council had offered this property at a lease figure of $15 per year, but the club officials considered this a high valuation and requested a ten-year lease at $10 per year. The council refused the application and remained at its first figure of $15.

Goldenberg Report May Mean Additional $10,000 In Grants To District 15

Implementation of the Goldenberg report by the B.C. Legislature would mean a saving to Penticton School District, No. 15, through additional grants, of $10,000, Summerland council was informed on Thursday afternoon. It is anticipated that this legislation will pass the house at Victoria this month and the educational department at Victoria has prepared statements in preparation for its approval.

For the nine-month period, April to December, 1947, the basic grant for teachers will be increased $100 per teacher, the school district has been notified, while the standard grant of $13, $17 and $20 for elementary, junior high and senior high pupils respectively, will be increased to $16, $20 and $23.

By increasing this grant, the amount to be raised by taxes by Penticton and Summerland municipalities and the rural area of Naramata, Kaleden and Allen Grove, will be decreased proportionately.

Reduction Amounts
In this circular to the municipality, which was forwarded from Victoria through the school district, the proportionate amounts each area will now be forced to pay have been reduced by the following:

Summerland, $2,684.64; Penticton, $6,414.28; rural areas, $1,136.08.

These figures are based on a division of assessment as follows: Summerland, 26.23 per cent; Penticton, 62.67 per cent; rural area, 11.10 per cent.

However, the municipal council has received no reply to its query regarding removal of trees from its assessment roll for school purposes, and it will not accept any figures until this question has been settled.

P. G. Dodwell, Summerland trustee, met the council on Thursday afternoon and voiced the fear that these percentages were to be final. He quoted school Inspector J. N. Burnett as stating that these are final figures on the proportionate share of Penticton, Summerland and the rural area.

No Official Reply
However, the local council did not share this view. The council took the stand that an official letter had been sent the school district regarding Summerland's assessment, and no reply had been received at that time. Therefore, any circular issued from Victoria and dealing with the Goldenberg report, implementation could not be taken as a reply to the council letter.

The council decided it would take no action until the school district replied to the local contention. The school board has forwarded Summerland's letter to Victoria for a ruling and none was forthcoming when the council met last Thursday.

It was pointed out that there will be a further additional grant forthcoming from the government in the matter of school conveyance costs, provided the Goldenberg recommendations are adopted.

Trustee Dodwell considered that the council should take more interest in this latest communication from Victoria, voicing the fear that the local contention concerning fruit trees would not find favor with Victoria.

However, Reeve Powell declared this was only a general circular and he could not share Trustee Dodwell's anxiety concerning this special communication.

Lone Battle
Mr. Dodwell intimated that he was fighting a lone battle in these school matters and if he didn't receive better backing, he would stop battling for Summerland's cause and go along with the rest.

The council hurried to assure Mr. Dodwell that he was not alone in this fight and again pointed out that when the council receives a reply to its communication, then the fight will be taken up. In the meanwhile, the council felt it could do nothing but wait.

"We appreciate the interest you have been taking," declared Reeve Powell, just before Trustee Dodwell's departure.

FIRE DAMAGES ENGINE

By a fire of undetermined origin, an almost new Cummins Diesel engine of 125 h.p. was damaged on Tuesday morning, March 4, at the Canyon Lumber Co. mill, located about 12 miles west of Summerland, on Canyon Creek.

The engine, which was owned by the Canyon Lumber Co., was valued at about $5,000 and was covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire, it is stated, is still undetermined, but may have been caused by a short circuit, as the engine was damp, due to a light snowfall that morning. It was probably also due to this snowfall, it is believed by the owners of this company, that the entire mill was not damaged or destroyed by the fire.

“Abie’s Irish Rose” Proves Hilarious Comedy To Packed House On St. Patrick’s Day

A capacity crowd packed the Ellison hall, Summerland, on Monday, March 17, when an audience of about 350 enthusiastically lauded the fine performance of “Abie’s Irish Rose,” sponsored by the Catholic Women’s league. Acting laurels went to R. L. Stevenson, who stole the show in his hilarious performance of Solomon Levy, the Jewish, stubborn but good-hearted father of Abie. This role, one of the most difficult of the play, was performed with perfection, and more than a touch of genius. During the second act, in a quick sequence of events, Mr. Stevenson portrayed the old Jew in the throes of great happiness and gaiety, of bewilderment, and of violent anger with a fine reality that was heralded with noisy enthusiasm by the entire audience.

Starring Roles

In the starring roles of the play were Al and Pauline Soderberg, who played the parts of Abie Levy and Rosemary Murphy, who was not Rosemary Murphy at all, but Rosemary Levy. as the first marriage of this much-wedded couple was performed by a protestant minister just prior to the opening of the play.

It is this marriage between a Jewish boy and an Irish girl that causes all the turmoil in their families, although Abie and Rosemary are perfectly content with their marriage. To keep peace with Solomon, Abie’s father, who strongly dislikes all things Irish, or of the Christian faith, the young couple are forced to keep their marriage secret, and to tell Solomon that Rosemary, whom he knows as Rosie Murphiski, is a Jewish girl.

It is at the close of the lovely wedding ceremony, the second for Abie and Rosemary, that Patrick Murphy, Rosemary’s hot-tempered father, arrives from California. The subterfuge is then disclosed, and both fathers are fighting mad to learn that their beloved only children are united in marriage.

Patrick, who is accompanied by a Catholic priest, Father Whalen, insists that the marriage is not legal, as it was not performed by a priest of his own religion. Both the priest, played by Lionel Guidi, and the Jewish Rabbi, Dr. Jacob Samuels, acted, by C. Betuzzi, are sympathetic to the marriage, and with the aid of both, the marriage is performed for the third time by the priest.

Fathers Reconciled

It is only at the close of the third act, when the fathers arrive at Christmas Eve, more than a year after the stormy marriage, that they are finally reconciled. It is the arrival of twin grandson and daughter, one bestowed with a Jewish name and one with an Irish, that finally unites the two old boys and brings happiness to the little family.

The part of Patrick Murphy was played on a ten-day notice by Ted Logie, who gave a grand performance as the fighting little Irishman.

Fine support was given the cast by George Leach and Theresa Guidi as Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Cohen. Miss Guidi was superb in her role, and her performance was second only to that of Mr. Stevenson. Mr. Leach played the part of a hen-pecked husband with real talent and a great deal of humor.

Flower girl was Linda Betuzzi, while bridesmaids were Mrs. Emma Betuzzi, Mary Guidi, Doris Cristante and Belva Jacobs.

As director of the play, Mrs. R. L. Stevenson showed great ability. Much work was put into the performance, and the many compliments paid Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. S. W. W. Carlo were well earned. The stage sets Menu, L. Stevenson and Al Soderberg were natural and charming, and they deserved credit for these John Menu, Mrs. L. Wurst, Chas (Continued on Page 8)

Radio Interference Plan Is Handed To Civic Affairs Group

F. W. Schumann presided at the first general meeting of the enumerated committees for the 1947-48 season, at the Legion hall on Thursday evening, some 60 members being present.

At the outset, Mr. Schumann enumerated the committees for the new year and declared that executive members would supervise the operation of the committees and lend a guiding hand. Committee members are named in another column in this issue.

Suggestion of the municipal council that the trade board would be doing a valuable service by receiving the radio club, was handed to the newly-formed civic affairs committee for study and report. Mr. George Perry stated that Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber had expressed the thought that every board member should write the department of transport, radio division, at Ottawa, and complain of radio interference.

Need Local Man Councillor Ned Bentley spoke in favor of a local man who would assist in checking radio disturbances. He explained that the Ottawa department representative in this district cannot devote the time necessary to rid the community of such interference.

George Graham pointed out that nearly every home has some appliance which causes interference, and suggested that the home-owner, by obtaining condensers for these appliances, could assist greatly in eliminating interference.

Some twelve board members signified their willingness to attend a field service clinic of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, to be conducted by Evan McCormick, at Penticton, on March 26, Penticton Board of trade is the host club for this session.

Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale, wrote the local board that no new construction of breakwaters will be undertaken by the dominion government this year, but the Summerland application for such a structure has been placed on file for future reference.

Vote Donations The board voted the sum of $25 to be donated to the Red Cross drive for funds, while the board also voted to expend $10 on the purchase of buttons from the Crystal Ski Runners, this money to assist the financing of Canada's Olympic ski team in the 1948 competitions. Mr. W. Snow explained to the meeting that the local ski club has one hundred such buttons it wishes to sell.

Dr. F. W. Andrew explained briefly the need for a street nam-

SCOUT NEWS

Friday, March 7, saw the best turnout and best meeting since last fall. Nearly every patrol was in full strength and the roll-call showed 27 present. Congratulations, boys, and keep it up. We are expecting two new instructors, so programs and opportunities to pass tests will be very good from now on.

The troop is glad to welcome five very promising recruits. Glen Younghusband, Gordon Younghusband, Richard Lewis, Lee Nicholson and Fred Powell. The first three of these lads have already completed their tenderfoot tests under the instruction of Scout Rempel.

The evening program consisted of outdoor game, hares and hounds, in which Scouts Rempel and Cameron managed to elude their pursuers and won five points each for their patrols. Then the troop was divided in three groups to pass tests, practice somaphore signalling and work on dismantling a bicycle as a part of the qualification or cyclists badges.

Once a month the patrol leaders and leaders meet at a court of honor to discuss troop programs and promotions. At this meeting it was decided that the second of the Buffaloes, Jim Newton, should be promoted to patrol leader of the Benvers; that Acting Patrol Leader Mel Munro, of the Hawks, should be confirmed in his rank, and that Don Adams should become second in the Buffaloes. These promotions were announced at the Friday meeting. We are starting a new patrol score contest. This week's points gives the Hawks the lead with 110 points, followed by the Buffaloes, 45, and Hawks and Eagles, 43 points each.

NOTICES: Duty patrol next week, Buffaloes. Be sure to wear or bring running shoes so as not to damage the gym floor. Meeting in the gym unless otherwise announced.

Mrs. G. Hallam, who has been visiting for some time with her daughter in Oregon, returned last week to Summerland.

THREE HUNGERS

Canada's people, particularly her children, too often suffer from one of three types of hunger listed by nutritionists. They are apt to have "hidden hunger," which the experts describe as malnourishment due to unbalanced diets. The claim is based on a recent survey which revealed that two-thirds of all children studied were on border-line diets, deficient in from one to three of the important food groups. In addition to "hidden hunger" the nutritionists discuss "hollow hunger" such as is found in the underfed people of some countries, including Continental Europe, and "humdrum hunger," due to unvaried and monotonous diets and psychological malnourishment, frequently encountered in England and some other lands.

RAISE $395 HERE

The St. John Ambulance campaign to raise one million dollars throughout Canada, met with considerable success in Summerland, according to the statement issued by the drive treasurer, H. E. Woodford. In the month the drive was operating, individuals, organizations and business houses contributed $395.77 to this fund.

Committee on Homes For Aged Presents Interim Report To Trade Board

Rev. F. W. Haskins, on behalf of a committee investigating the possibility of a home for elderly persons in Summerland, filed an interim report with the Summerland Board of Trade on Thursday night at the Legion hall. No recommendations were forthcoming but the committee was asked to continue its research. With Mr. Haskins on this committee were Rev. Canon F. V. Harrison, George Perry and J. E. O'Mahony. In dealing with old folks' homes or lodges, Rev. Haskins reported that the provincial government places responsibility for provision of adequate accommodation on the municipality. However, the government will give limited financial aid to municipalities towards the establishment of old folks' homes.

"It is most important to note that this has reference to homes or lodges for folks able to get about and who are not 'bed cases,'" he pointed out.

Government Grant
"Your committee is given to understand that if such a home were established here by authority of the municipal council, that the provincial government would grant one-third of the cost of a new building, or if a second hand building were purchased, the grant would be one-quarter, plus a grant towards needed alterations.

"The building would be owned by the municipality. Naturally, this information is based upon what is known of government policy and your committee has no definite assurance from anyone concerning grants.

"Experience of other municipalities should be carefully studied if this venture is approved for Summerland. A home for some twelve aged persons would cost about $50 per inmate per month. It has been found that a returned man and wife in charge of the home, at a fair salary, is a satisfactory arrangement. A very successful home is in operation at Cloverdale."

Chronic Cases
Dealing with homes or infirmaries for chronic cases, Rev. Haskins declared that such a home in the Okanagan would be a costly venture financially and would put a severe tax upon any municipality undertaking the project.

"The provincial government's policy is to keep homes or infirmaries for chronics in larger centres, since these types of patients require specialized medical care and other services which are difficult to give in similar centres.

"However, your committee is aware that the sending away of patients from their home communities works a hardship. It is also difficult to get admission to provincial institutions. A report by the Okanagan Hospital Assn.

on the advisability of pressing upon the B.C. government the need of a home in the Okanagan to take care of chronic cases would be of great help in advising public-spirited organizations on this important issue."

Mentally Ill
Next step in Rev. Haskins' report dealt with a home for the mentally ill.

"It can be readily understood that mental ill patients are unable to mingle with residents of an elderly folks' home or with chronic patients. Many arguments are advanced to have centralized institutions for the care of mentally ill folks.

"Your committee is not aware of any particular public demand to have such an institution established here, providing that assurance is forthcoming that, as need arises, there is adequate accommodation provided by the provincial government.

Policy Shaping
"From our cursory investigation of the provision for the care of the aged, it appears that a policy is taking shape whereby the province assumes the responsibility for 'bed cases' where folks need institutional care, while our municipalities are expected to see that there is provision for the accommodation of elderly people who, on account of advanced age or other reasons, are in need of homes, since they no longer can undertake the upkeep of homes by themselves.

"If a lodge for elderly folks should be established in Summerland, the first step would be to make a survey and find out if there are enough elderly people to warrant the venture. The increase in old age pension allowances helps make the establishment of such a home much easier.

"Your committee certainly endorses the demand that the means test should not be applied to old age pensions. Such a step would be of material assistance in financing a lodge for elderly people.

"Until such a survey is made, any approach to the municipal council or the government would be premature," he concluded.

J. W. RUTHERFORD PASSES AWAY

The death occurred at Penticton, on March 8, of a former Summerland resident, John Walter Rutherford, who passed away in his 87th year. The late Mr. Rutherford was agent at the West Summerland Kettle Valley railway station prior to the arrival here 20 years ago of the present agent, Reid Johnston.

Deceased left West Summerland for Oliver, but retired two years later and came to Penticton to reside. Only near relative left to mourn his loss is his widow, also in Penticton.

Funeral service was conducted from the Baptist church in Penticton on Monday afternoon, March 10, with Rev. F. W. Haskins, Summerland, officiating. Interment was in the Lakeview cemetery, Penticton, with Penticton Funeral chapel in charge of arrangements.

GROUP INSURANCE

Summerland council will ask the Okanagan Municipal Assn. to study the possibility of a group insurance for all its employees in its members' municipalities. This action was taken when it was ascertained that to obtain death benefits under the group insurance plan, a minimum of 15 persons are required. Only ten members of the municipal council staff here are eligible for such insurance.

MEAT EATERS

Why do Canadian children eat so much meat, and miss health-giving vegetables? This is one of the questions puzzling nutrition experts who made a special diet survey in two Canadian provinces recently. They found that, although meat and meat alternates are the most costly of foods, nearly all the children surveyed were getting ample of this type of nutrient. On the other hand, vegetables, except for potatoes, were neglected by almost one half.

It was pointed out that vegetables, particularly the vivid green and yellow ones, contain a variety of vitamins and minerals essential to well-rounded diets. Nutritionists hope that Canadian parents will encourage children to eat more vegetables, for the sake of the national health standard.

sets. Make-up was cleverly applied by Mrs. M. Russel, assisted by Mrs. A. K. Macleod.

Music during the intermissions was supplied by Frank Dumont and J. Betuzzi, and Mr. L. Wurst, while a violin and piano solo during the second intermission by Audrey Prior and Doris Cristante, was much enjoyed.

An excellent job of casting was done, with all roles suitably filled. Mrs. Stevenson was assisted in the casting by Mrs. Al Soderberg. Plans are being made to produce the play in other valley localities.

There were several out-of-town visitors in the audience. Father Collins and Father Morris, of Penticton, were present, as was Father O'Reilly, of Keremeos. Also from Keremeos were Mr. and Mrs. T. Raabs and family.

Following the play, which was written by Anne Nicholls, a dance was held, which proved popular with the audience.

Growers Here See United Action For Science Building

Summerland local of the B.C. Fruit Growers Assn. on Tuesday evening recognized the need for establishment of a science service centre for the interior tree fruit industry by deciding to make an appeal to all growers' locals, boards of trade, and other interested groups throughout the B.C. hinterland to join in a campaign to impress on the science service division of the dominion department of agriculture the need of immediate action towards providing proper facilities for its technical agriculturists.

This building, which would house the Dominion Entomological laboratory, the plant pathologists and chemists who would assist both these groups, has been mooted since 1938, when Dr. James Marshall was brought back to his former Summerland home from Wenatchee. The war intervened and Ottawa authorities withheld start on the structure, and no definite commitment has been given by the science service division as to when a start will be made.

No Commitment
As was announced in last week's Review advice from Ottawa indicates this building will be given a No. 1 priority, but no commitment has been forthcoming from the dominion capital.

Back in 1938, the entomological department at Ottawa persuaded Dr. James Marshall to leave Wenatchee and return to his native Canada to take charge of entomological work for the B.C. fruit industry. A laboratory was to be started the following year and it was on the understanding that a modern laboratory would be available within a reasonable length of time that Dr. Marshall agreed to return to the Okanagan.

Need for entomological and spray residue research in B.C. fruit industry is becoming greater, local agrologists state, as the growers are presenting more and more problems for these technical agriculturists.

The plant pathologists are located at the experimental station, where their accommodation is adequate for the time being, although the station members would be able to expand if the pathologists were able to be housed in the science service centre.

Only Single Room
But the entomologists are located in one of the first business premises erected in lower Summerland. For a staff which should number seven in three months' time, there is one room measuring 20 feet square, it is pointed out.

Investigations on pest control are complicated operations and if attempted without adequate laboratory facilities they must suffer accordingly, it is stated.

For over 25 years, the Nova Scotia fruit industry, which produces one-fifth of the quantity of fruit emanating from British Columbia, has had the advantage of a complete entomological laboratory. In Ontario, where the fruit industry produces about half as much as B.C., there has been an entomological laboratory for the past quarter century.

It is stated by Ottawa authorities that no public building program can be inaugurated until the need for housing is lessened.

Two Laboratories
However, since the cessation of hostilities, a large new laboratory for the study of forest insects has been completed at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., at an estimated cost of $200,000. Last year, a new laboratory for the study of forest insects was begun at Laniel, Que., and is believed here to be just about completed.

Both these projects were constructed by the dominion government, which now states that no public building program can be commenced here in British Columbia for the present time.

Estimated cost of the entire science service division centre in Summerland has been placed at $150,000, while one-third of this structure, sufficient to provide adequate facilities for the entomologists alone, would be between $40,000 and $50,000.

Baseball Will Be Organized This Week-end

Two organizational meetings this week presage the opening of the spring baseball offensive. Last night, the annual meeting of the Summerland Baseball club was held and on Sunday the annual meeting of the South Okanagan Baseball league has been called for West Summerland.

The international loop is being extended this year to include Oliver, last year's South Okanagan champs, who are moving into the senior A class ball.

It is probable that the South Okanagan league will be split into two sections with the winners of each section playing off for the title. Last year, the league was considered too unwieldy with teams from Penticton, Osoyoos and Rutland forming the outposts.

Summerland's ball players are expecting to move to Crescent Beach this season as last year's field is being transformed into the Living Memorial park-playground and the Drake field will not be in readiness for play until 1948.

No Contract Provided By Express Co.

Following request of Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn. for information, the public utilities commission has replied that the Canadian Pacific Express Co. application for a franchise to transport general freight for the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. from Penticton delivered to Summerland West Summerland and vice versa, has been approved.

Restrictions on the licence are to the effect that there shall be no local pick-up or delivery at West Summerland and that all pick-up and delivery at West Summerland shall be at the Canadian Pacific Railway Co's depot at that point.

The local retail merchants' group is interested in this information as it had been suggested that a local cartage firm would be given a contract by the C.P.R. Express company for pick-up and delivery in the West Summerland area of all fast freight and express parcels.

At the present time, Smith and Henry take express parcels from the West Summerland depot and deliver them to local places of business, who pay the local handling charge.

This charge would be assumed by the express company if a contract was given Smith and Henry, it was tentatively suggested when C.P.R. officials sought approval of the retail merchants' association to their application for a licence to deliver fast freight from Penticton to this area.

However, the C.P.R. express truck has been making six daily trips each week to West Summerland depot for the past month and no word of any contract for local pick-up and delivery has been forthcoming for any local cartage firm.

Direction Signs Are Erected In Municipality

Directional signs denoting the principal routes and valleys in the municipality have been erected in the past two weeks, Road Foreman Les Gould reported to the council on Monday afternoon. These signs were agreed upon last fall between a board of trade committee and Mr. Gould and were given approval by the council.

On Wednesday, March 19, the road department also used its maintainer on Granville and Hastings streets to level off the sides of the streets and clear off debris.

Foreman Gould also recommended that some receptacles for paper and other debris which are now thrown on the streets, be placed at convenient places. The council agreed that such receptacles would serve a purpose but considered that a systematic street cleaning program would have to be undertaken as well.

Nearly every road in the municipality was graded in the past two weeks, Mr. Gould reported, and although the weather was not conducive to this type of work, some of the worst holes in the asphalt were patched.

As soon as delayed equipment is received, the machinery at the gravel pit can be put into operation within three days, Mr. Gould told the council.

Appointment of a gravel pit operator has been left with the roads committee of Councillors Harvey Wilson and Ned Bentley, with Reeve Powell.

REPRESENTS U.S. FIRM

C. H. Ralph, of Calgary, western representative of the Marquette Manufacturing Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., visited Summerland this week along with representatives of Mackenzie White and Dunsmuir, B.C. distributors for Marquette. This is the first occasion that Mr. Ralph has visited the entire Okanagan and he expressed great delight with the climate and scenery. He plans to return here with Mrs. Ralph this summer for a holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stark and son, of Pincher Creek, Alta., are guests at the home of Mr. Stark's mother, Mrs. F. R. Stark.

SCHOLARSHIP TO HONOR PHILLIPS

To provide a scholarship at U.B.C. for boys and girls enrolling in the faculty of agriculture or the department of home economics, the Sperry Phillips Memorial Scholarship fund has been established at New Westminster and is seeking donations from all parts of the province, commemorating the late Sperry S. Phillips, supervisor of boys' and girls' clubs in B.C.

The committee handling this appeal follows: W. H. Robertson, assistant deputy minister of agriculture, Victoria; Dr. J. C. Berry, U.B.C.; Arthur Laing, Vancouver; Arthur Aylard, Sidney, V.I.; G. L. Landon, poultry commissioner, New Westminster.

Spring Work on Memorial Parks Starts Soon

Work of clearing, leveling and planting of the park-playground in West Summerland, being erected as part of the Living Memorial scheme, will proceed at once, the Summerland Memorial Parks committee agreed last week at its monthly meeting.

Trees and shrubs will start to arrive at the month end, it is expected, and the work of preparing the ground for planting and for the water system will be commenced.

It was planned to start building the rest-room at the northwest corner of the park this spring, but after consultation with municipal authorities this plan has been dropped.

Latest development is that the rest-room will be incorporated into the municipal hall. This will be a public rest-room in the hall, but will have a separate entrance and will be entirely divorced from the municipal staff premises.

It was agreed by the Memorial Parks committee that funds which were to have been spent in erecting separate rest-room facilities will be diverted into furnishing a young people's club-room in the new hall building.

Reeve W. R. Powell met the parks group last week and explained his idea of fostering a type of young people's institute as a part of the new hall scheme. The committee welcomed His Worship's proposal and declared itself in readiness to carry out his suggestions.

It is likely that a portion of the basement in the hall will be set aside for this game-room, and will be equipped by the parks committee with ping-pong table, writing desks and facilities for chess, checkers, cards, etc.

At the Drake lot, completion of the levelling program will be undertaken as soon as a bulldozer is available from the Interior Contracting Co., of Penticton. This machine was to have started work last week but orchard work intervened.

As soon as the levelling has been finished, the retaining wall along the hillside and the cement dressing-room will be commenced. Arrangements have been made by the parks committee to have this work accomplished by day labor under a capable construction man.

Women's Institute Chooses Committees

Standing committees were formed by the Women's Institute at the regular monthly meeting held in the Parish hall on Friday, March 14, with 24 members present. The committee heads are as follows: Agriculture, Mrs. M. Tait; citizenship, Mrs. S. A. Macdonald; home economics, Mrs. J. Britton; handicrafts and industries, Mrs. Powell, assisted by Mrs. Fenwick; social welfare, Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon.

The Institute voted to join the new film council and have an evening meeting to which new citizens would be invited. An evening garden meeting was also suggested to meet new citizens, during the summer. A committee of Mrs. Perry and Mrs. Johnston was selected to meet new citizens.

Approval of the plan for a new municipal hall was unanimously voted by the Women's Institute and a letter to this effect is being forwarded to the municipal council.

The AOTS plan for improving the Peach Orchard cemetery was discussed and a committee of Mrs. M. E. Collins and Mrs. Blewett was selected to meet the service club committee.

As the W.I. is without facilities for catering, the board of trade requested that the Institute cater to two evening meetings, was turned down by members present.

Plans Going Forward For Board of Trade Spring Fair Revival On May 23 and 24

Summerland's Spring Fair, first to be held here since 1940, will attract hundreds from all parts of the Okanagan, it was anticipated last week, when the Summerland Board of Trade executive set the dates at Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24. The affair will be held in the B.C. Shippers Ltd. packing house in West Summerland.

Reid, Johnston, immediate past president of the trade board, has agreed to take on the chairmanship of this important festivity. Len Hill, board secretary, will be Mr. Johnston's assistant chairman; J. R. Armstrong will be the committee secretary, and William Laidlaw is treasurer. Other committee members are Joe McLachlan, Francis Steuart and Fred Dunsdon.

This fair will be operated both afternoons and Francis Steuart evenings, while a big holiday dance will be staged in the Ellison hall on Friday evening, May 23.

On the morning of May 24, Empire Day, children's sports and novelty events will be staged, probably on the school grounds, but no ball games will be arranged by the trade board for the afternoon. If any ball games are held here, then it will be under the arrangements of the local ball club it has been stated.

Merchants are to be circularized that space for booths will be available at the Spring Fair, and they are being asked to contact their wholesalers and other suppliers to take over these display spaces.

Games and novelty attractions will feature both days, and it is anticipated that one of the biggest crowds ever attracted to Summerland, will witness the two-day event.

The committee in charge of the children's sports is Aart Advocaat, George Washington and Gordon Beggs.

Cancer Campaign For Funds Starts April 1

Canada's third national campaign to raise funds for a needy charity will commence on Tuesday April 1, and will continue until April 22, it was revealed by the Canadian Cancer Society meeting on Monday, March 24, at the Parish hall.

The cancer fund drive follows on the Red Cross and St. John Ambulance appeals and the Summerland quota has been set for $750, with B.C.'s quota $300,000.

Reid Johnston was re-elected chairman of the local cancer committee, with Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony continuing as secretary, and E. R. Butler as treasurer.

Campaign Manager
Mrs. E. Hookham was chosen as campaign manager for the drive, which commences next week. This campaign is being tied in with a similar appeal being launched in the United States.

Mrs. O'Mahony made a brief report to the Monday meeting regarding the annual meeting of the B.C. branch of the cancer society which was held in Vancouver on March 10. She stressed the importance of early care and diagnosis in the caring of cancer cases.

Both Mrs. O'Mahony and Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh, second Summerland delegate, expressed concern over the inadequate facilities at the cancer clinic in Vancouver. This clinic, which falls in the best medical advice available at the coast, is located in a remodelled home.

Plans for a 50-bed hospital for cancer patients, are being prepared now and if the campaign is successful, it will be built in the near future.

Dr. Vanderburgh pointed out that 13,000 persons died in Canada last year from cancer and if only half of these could be saved, bring about this condition would then any campaign for funds to be worthwhile.

A resolution calling for the attention of the B.C. government to the need for provincial assistance in the fight to control cancer was passed by the meeting and will be forwarded to the provincial secretary and to W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A.

Spring Fashion Show Voted Huge Success As Hundreds Attend

Featuring a wide variety of spring and summer fashions, displayed by 20 lovely models, the Fashion Show, held on Saturday afternoon and evening, March 22, in the I.O.O.F. hall, West Summerland, was declared a distinct success.

The largest attendance was at the afternoon show, when 225 women attended, including visitors from Penticton. At the evening show, there were 182, and this audience was comprised of mostly women, but a spattering of men, including representatives from the board of trade and Rotary club, were interested spectators. There were also guests from Kelowna to the evening show.

Nearly Eighty Outfits
Seventy-three outfits and the bridal ensemble were shown. This bridal ensemble was, of course, the outstanding feature of the show. It was modelled by Nan Thornthwaite, in the bridal gown, while her sister, Mrs. June Lamey, was gowned as matron-of-honor. The bridal gown was of ivory satin, fashioned in a distinctive style, with net trim at the neckline, and full, long sleeves. Mrs. Lamey was gowned in blue taffeta, and with Miss Thornthwaite, made a beautiful picture as the final display of the Fashion Show.

The spring suits displayed drew a great deal of interest and while all suits were smart and distinctive, there were several that were outstanding in style and material.

Several shortie suits were modelled, following the latest style modes for spring, but the most prominent suits in the fashion picture for spring were those shown featuring the new fish-tail back. One of the smartest of these fish-tail suits was one modelled by Mrs. Doreen Frederickson, a grey wool, tailored suit by "Gloria Sportswear," with smooth, flowing lines. This was worn with a grey felt hat by "Fashion," and black accessories.

Back fullness was again repeated in a black gabardine suit, modelled by Nan Thornthwaite. This back treatment gave the suit an extremely narrow waist. With it was worn a blue blouse for a touch of color, and the blue was repeated in the flower trimming of the hat.

Housecoats and pajamas were shown, and school outfits were modelled by several of the younger models.

Sports Wear

Sports outfits were prominent among the early features of the show, and Mrs. Nellie Stent, in a three-piece wool check slack suit in black and white, was very smart. This suit was styled by "Town and Country," and was fashioned with a deep pleat in the back of the jacket for shoulder comfort. A slit skirt matched this suit, and the three pieces made an ideal outfit for general wear.

Several bathing suits were shown, including an outstanding suit of black taffeta, worn by Beverley Cousins. This Rosemary Reid creation was trimmed with colored nailheads, was laced up the side, and had a bare mid-

Unlicensed Dogs Subject of Game Club Campaign

Dogs are considered by many persons as man's best friend, but to the Summerland Fish, Game and Forest Protective Assn. they are far from that category.

This unfriendly attitude towards the canines of Summerland was revealed on Monday afternoon when William Snow, president of the sportsmen's club in this community, approached the council with suggestions as to the control of the four-footed creatures.

Mr. Snow pointed out to the municipal fathers that there have been only 153 dog licences taken out this year and last year there were only 210 licences issued. He believed that there are nearer 500 dogs which should be licensed.

Will Take Census
The sportsmen proposed that they would take a complete census of the municipality and list the owners of all dogs. This list would be turned in to the municipality and those who had not taken out licences would be rendered liable for licence payment.

If the licence was not forthcoming, then prosecutions would be undertaken and the sportsmen would agree to act as witnesses in the court action.

For their trouble in compiling this list, the fish and game club asked for fifty per cent of the licence fees collected over and above last year's figure of 210 licence payments. This arrangement was agreed to by the council.

Endanger Pheasants
Mr. Snow pointed out that the game club is endeavoring to bring back pheasants in this district, but the many dogs running loose in the municipality are destroying nests during the breeding season.

The game club also proposes to bring in the game warden to destroy dogs running loose in the breeding season, whether they have licences or not, if it can be proved that these untended canines are destroying the pheasant nests.

Mr. Snow also asked council to increase its licence fee on unspayed female bitches to $10 per year. This would be in line with fees charged in other municipalities, he contended.

It was also pointed out to the council by the game club delegate that the council has placed January 15, as the deadline for the payment of dog licences, but has not made any effort to enforce this ruling. He believed that this was unfair to those who obeyed the law and paid their licences by the due date.

The council agreed that Mr. Snow's theory is correct but pointed out that in the past it had been difficult to enforce the regulation.

Expect Decision On Extension Of Water System

Decision on extension of domestic water service to Crescent Beach and orchard property on the bench land north of West Summerland, will probably be reached at a special session of the municipal council this evening.

Estimated cost of this extension has been placed at $20,000 and the method in which this money is to be raised will be the chief subject for discussion.

It has been suggested in some quarters that those who wish the extended service should pay a proportion of the cost on a yearly levy over a period of years, but no definite decision has been reached.

Electric light service is being taken the year-round by fifteen property owners in this section and eighteen owners use electric service for the part-year, it is stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy McCallum and two children, accompanied by Mrs. McCallum's mother, Mrs. Fraser, all of Vancouver, were visitors at the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. White.

New Municipal Hall

It is refreshing to witness the progress being made towards the building of a new municipal hall in Summerland. It took a short time for the idea to take root, but after municipal officials studied the plan and mulled over the possibilities, the enthusiasm grew in leaps and bounds.

Civic organizations have taken up the question and have voluntarily endorsed the council's action in preparing for a new municipal hall and library. To be an elected representative of the people and find groups voluntarily coming forward to endorse your actions is a situation which is refreshing and provides an incentive towards further progress.

And now, Reeve Powell has brought forward still another plan which would appear to be most feasible. He has suggested that space be set aside in the municipal building so that younger people may be able to gather for games of cards, checkers, ping-pong, and other recreational pastimes. It would be a type of club-room for the younger set.

His Worship has pointed out that there are no facilities here to attract those who do not wish to dance or take part in more active games. Such young people would find in this younger people's centre a spot where a desirable type of camaraderie could be fostered.

In reality, Reeve Powell is working along the same line that the founders of Teen Town considered. He does not wish to confine this community club-room to members of any one group, but his line of reasoning parallels to a great extent the ideals of Teen Town.

That this plan will be worthwhile from a juvenile development standpoint cannot be denied. We can look forward to an important addition to the community with the completion of the municipal hall project.

Growers Lend Support

Commercial fruit growers throughout B.C.'s interior are going to combine in an effort to impress on the government at Ottawa the necessity of providing adequate facilities for a continuation of research into vital problems concerning the production of tree fruit.

Assistance of scientists is an essential part of tree fruit production in this fast-moving age and if the ever-prevalent diseases and pests are to be combated, this assistance must be forthcoming.

On the other hand, the scientists must have proper accommodation. They must have properly-equipped, modern laboratories to carry out their research work. They must have adequate office space for their statistical data and they must have space in which to work.

Here in the Okanagan, we have the scientists capable of providing the assistance necessary to the production of tree fruits. But they are hampered badly by the lack of suitable laboratory and office space.

This week, Summerland local of the BCFG is taking action to impress on Ottawa the necessity for a science service building which has been promised for the past eight years. All locals in the interior will be asked to lend a hand in a campaign among fruit growers to assist themselves.

Other organizations should lend their assistance and moral aid in the demand upon Ottawa that a science service building be built in the Okanagan without delay.

This is the start of a campaign which could have far-reaching results. The tree fruit area producing, as it does, fruit which wholesales at a value of more than $25,000,000, is an important economic link in the life of this Dominion. Other producing areas in Canada with a far smaller production, have had adequate laboratory facilities for agricultural scientists for years, but the Okanagan, being so far removed from the Dominion capital, has been neglected in this respect. The only way in which this area can make itself heard is by making a united stand.

Such is the move which the Summerland growers have instituted this week. The Review is glad to support such a campaign which will be of great benefit to the entire industry.

MOSCOW CONFERENCE

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

The Jersey herd at the Experimental Station is well and favorably known far beyond the bounds of British Columbia. To secure information regarding this famous herd, I have had a chat with Roy Noble, the bright young man who has charge of livestock and forage crop work at the station. His remarks are summarized in the following paragraphs:

"The herd was established 23 years ago, with the primary purpose of providing a source of high quality, disease-free breeding stock. Just how well this purpose has been served is indicated by the fact that in recent years, 167 animals have been sold for breeding purposes. This is remarkable having regard to the small size of the herd. At present there are 29 females and 7 males, all born and raised on the station. These animals are descended from 2 outstanding cows, Calgarth Starlight and Sunflower Flora. Calgarth brought fame to the Okanagan Valley by becoming the world's champion life-time producer of butterfat for Jerseys. Sunflower Flora was also an outstanding producer and was awarded 4 gold medals on successive lactations.

The remarkable achievements of the Summerland Jersey herd are evidence of what can be done by a combination of systematic breeding, intelligent feeding and good management. The progressive improvement of the herd is due very largely to the knowledge, ability and untiring care of James Aitken, the herdsman. The cows are like children to him. In fact, young mothers might do well to consult him regarding the care and feeding of babies."

by MURIEL HURRY

At a recent board of trade banquet in Penticton, which was attended by members from Summerland, a remark was overheard complimenting the women's organizations here for their excellent work in catering to the monthly board of trade banquets. This remark was made by a Penticton man, and shows out-of-town recognition is being gained for the fine banquets held here, not only by the board of trade, but by other organizations as well.

There are many women's clubs here that specialize in this catering. These clubs have been asked to serve banquets this year to the board of trade, and women's clubs attached to the United here serve at the monthly supper meetings of the AOTS.

The women are becoming adept at catering, and their results are as pleasing to the eye as to the palate. At a banquet last year, served to out-of-town residents, apples were used to great advantage in the decorative scheme, and this clever idea drew many compliments from the prominent coast officials at the banquet.

High on the list of the clubs who do a good job of catering, are the Rebekahs, the Junior W.A. to St. Stephen's church, the Legion W.A. The Women's Service club, the Women's Federation and the Lakeside Junior W.A. cater to the AOTS supper meetings and have earned many compliments for their fine suppers.

Spring is definitely here at last. And gardening has become the main topic of conversation among women. They are busy at a numerous variety of garden chores, transplanting, planting, working up the soil and searching for new shoots.

It is truly wonderful how the violets and other sturdy early-bloomers, which lurk just below the surface of the ground for weeks after the last cold spell is over, suddenly, with the coming of sunshine and mellow days, burst forth in full bud, and with a speed that always seems miraculous, are suddenly in bloom. The memory of blustery snow and icy roads has not time to fade before the children are bringing in buttercups, and soon dandelions, considered a scourge after the first few weeks, will be dotting the meadows and fields.

My children have been digging up the buttercups and transplanting them into cans, which they proudly bring into the house and want placed on the living-room table. So far, I have been able to confine them to the back porch, and one is forever stumbling over cans which bravely sprout several sickly-looking yellow flowers, whenever one steps outside the back door.

However, it shows that children are also realizing the miracle of springs, and of growing things. They accept this wonderful advent in a matter-of-fact manner, and it is only as they grow older that they realize the eternal miracle of spring.

Children, themselves, are always the first heralds of spring. When little boys start clearing away the snow to find a spot to play marbles, and small girls search for skipping ropes, we know that spring is near, even if the weather seems to deny the fact.

CANADA'S Health

VALUE OF LIVER

Few foods are more nutritious than liver, and health authorities state that it gives essential food elements in amounts at least equal to those in other meats.

Canada's Food Rules, prepared by government nutritionists, advise servings of liver at least once a week. They point out that this food provides Vitamin A for growth and protection against infection, riboflavin, essential for general good health, and iron, needed for formation of red blood cells.

TWO MILKS

When a family's budget just won't stretch to an adequate amount of health-giving whole milk for all members of the family, the food authorities suggest substitution of skim milk.

Pound for pound, skim milk contains as much protein, a little more carbohydrate and as much calcium, phosphorus, iron, the B vitamins and vitamin C, as whole milk.

Nutrition experts at Canada's Capital think that this fact deserves to be better known, and that skim milk should have a wider public acceptance as an excellent and healthful substitute for whole milk.

ILL-TEMPER

Impatience is a health danger signal just as surely as patience is a virtue. Pointing this out, national health experts at Ottawa emphasize that physical and mental ill-ness are often first revealed in bursts of temper and ill-humor.

People with "acid tongues" and poisonous dispositions are surely in need of medical advice. Irritability, sarcasm and "biting" remarks often spring, it is asserted, from hidden upsets, and sour temperaments are traditionally associated with sour stomachs.

Those who feel disgruntled, out-of-sorts and at odds with their fellows are advised to consider whether the whole trouble does not lie within themselves, rather than with their environment. A medical examination may reveal easily-corrected ailments, removal of which will brighten the outlook and improve the disposition.

In honor of Mrs. A. McLennan, of Vancouver, a special meeting of Faith Rebekah lodge, No. 32, was held on Monday evening, March 17. Mrs. McLennan is president of the Rebekah Assembly in B.C. and is making an official tour of lodges in the province.

There were 81 present at the meeting, and about 30 of these were members from the Kelowna, Penticton and Oliver lodges. Three new candidates were initiated into the degree in a beautiful ceremony, portrayed by the members of Faith lodge, No. 32. The candidates wore for the occasion lovely evening gowns. These new candidates were Miss Norma Hack, whose gown was of full length black; Mrs. Helen Young, who chose turquoise, and Mrs. Anne Copp, dressed in a white evening gown.

Mrs. McLennan gave an interesting address on "The Need of Oddfellowship," after which she was presented with a tinted picture of Crescent Beach.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND IS NEARING GOAL

A meeting of the Summerland U.B.C. Alumni group was held on Thursday, March 13, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Woolliams, Trout Creek.

The members heard a financial statement regarding the Summerland scholarship fund. The meeting felt that excellent progress had been made towards the objective of $8,500, set some time ago. Only about $800 remains to be raised to complete this fund.

President A. K. Macleod appointed a committee of six to plan and organize the annual Alumni dance, to be held some time in June. Proceeds from this dance will go towards filling out the scholarship fund.

A report of progress made towards the formation of a medical faculty at U.B.C. was read by the secretary, Alec Watt.

Mr. A. K. Macleod and Mr. Ewart Woolliams reported on their recent visit to an organization meeting of the Penticton alumni, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Atkins. A similar visit to attend a formation meeting of the Kelowna alumni was reported by Mr. Alec Watt.

Powell Beach Tree Thinning Makes Progress

That the work of clearing Powell Beach of undesirable trees has been quite satisfactory, was the report of Councillor Eric Tait, parks chairman, to the council last week.

Earl Inglis has undertaken this task in the last three months on a contract to remove the unnecessary wood. Mr. Inglis is now considering a similar project in Peach Orchard park.

Councillor Tait reported that a good deal of underbrush clearing was done by Mr. Inglis at Powell Beach, and the council considered a similar program at Peach Orchard park would be beneficial.

Year's Program

At a previous meeting, Councillor Tait gave the council a brief outline of his committee's plans for municipal parks and beaches this year.

In Peach Orchard park, clearing of brush at the entrance and in the playground area would be the first consideration, along with a continuation of the campaign against weeds and poison ivy commenced last year.

Councillor Tait also recommended appointment of a caretaker who would be responsible to the council for general behaviour in the park.

At Peach Orchard beach, this committee recommended the erection of a low, painted picket fence to define the boundaries of the beach and separate it from private property. Clearing of debris and repair of the swings would also be undertaken.

Picnic Shelter

Powell Beach would again be the main consideration of the parks committee, with a program of general repairs to facilities there, including the diving stand. Councillor Tait recommended that a picnic shelter be erected at the west end of the beach, with a stove for overnight campers.

He also suggested a continuation of the clearing program for the parking area.

Cleaning of the beach at lower town was another committee consideration.

The estimated cost of this program would amount to $635, which sum was referred to the estimates, which will be drawn up later in the spring.

LIGHT VOLTAGE DROPPED HERE

Voltage on municipal domestic light lines being served by the voltage regulator has been set down to the 118-122 bracket. The municipal council was informed on Thursday, Mar. 13, by its electrical foreman, T. P. Thornber.

Previously, the voltage was set at 125, and Mr. Thornber declared that Mr. Lee, of the West Kootenay Light and Power Co., had recommended it be left at that figure.

However, there were so many complaints of light globes being burned, that it was thought advisable to lower the voltage.

Mr. Thornber declared that in the main portion of the West Summerland district, 120-125 light globes should be used, while in outlying sections the lower voltage globes, 115-120, could be utilized with safety.

Mr. Thornber stated that there are now some complaints that the voltage is too low, but these do not compare with the complaints previously received regarding high voltage.

The entire choir gave two excellent appearances, at the beginning and again at the end of the program. "The Rose of Tralee," a costume number, with Miss Dorothy Butler and Mr. Schumann, proved popular.

One of the outstanding items on the program was a piano and violin duet by Shirley and Joyce Schumann. Two selections by a kitchen band, in which kitchen utensils and kazooes were used as instruments, were much applauded by the receptive audience.

Three piano and organ duets by Mrs. Alma Fudge and Mr. Percy Thornber, were also well received, as was "St. Patrick's Birthday," a comedy monologue by Fred Schumann.

Mr. A. Glen gave an excellent vocal rendition of "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," and an Irish lullaby by the junior girls was very good.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric White presented an amusing and well-acted skit, and Mr. White also did a monologue which was much lauded.

Mrs. Alma Fudge rendered one of her ever-popular vocal solos, followed by a saxophone solo by Herb Pohlmann.

A comedy-farce, entitled "Pat and Mike," enacted by Mrs. Wm. White and Mrs. A. G. Bissett proved very popular, and was extremely well acted.

Master of ceremonies was Rev. H. R. Whitmore, who filled this role with capability and originality. Mr. Art Giles was in charge of stage sets, scenery and lighting and these were very cleverly done, receiving many compliments from the spectators.

Costumes and make-up were done by the individual actors.

A presentation was made at the concert by Mrs. Wm. White, leader of the choir, to Mr. C. A. Walters, honorary president of the choir. Mr. Walters is the oldest member of the choir, and joined with the choir in singing the last few selections. A presentation was also made to Mr. Percy Thornber, organist of the church, for his help and interest over a long period of years.

riff with a bra top. Little Barbara Fudge was sweet in a Rosemary Reid original of blue cotton print, jersey-lined. The latest thing in beachwear was a three-piece striped outfit modelled by Mrs. Billie Thornber. A matching shortie topcoat, was the feature of this outfit.

There were many bright cotton frocks shown, and a sun dress of striped chambray, worn by Mrs. Phyllis Rumball, was smart. This frock featured a detachable back that could be removed for a sun-tan or coolness.

Afternoon Gowns

Afternoon gowns were varied, both as to style and materials, but jerseys and silks still seemed to be the style leaders as to materials. Outstanding among the jerseys was a white gown worn by Mrs. Kay Strachan, which had a high round neck, and a skirt gathered to the yoke at the hips. It was very effective with touches of red in the accessories, and with it were worn red shoes from the Family Shoe Store.

Mrs. J. Lamey was lovely in an imported crepe, designed by Drew. The name of this gown was "Dazzling," by Doucet, and it was of soft pink, with black figuring and black flower trim at the shoulder. With it was worn a pink straw hat by "Lady Elegant," flower trim, and black suede pumps from the Family Shoe Store.

All merchandise shown, with the exception of shoes, was from the regular stock of Hills' Ladies' Wear. Shoes were from the Family Shoe Store.

Commentator for the afternoon show was Mrs. R. Russel, while Mrs. N. O. Solly did the commentary for the evening show.

Music was supplied by Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh and by Mrs. Alma Fudge, and the show was opened by Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, president of the Hospital Auxiliary. A short address was given during intermission by Mrs. M. E. Collas, president of the Women's Institute. The Fashion Show was sponsored by the W.I. and the Hospital Auxiliary.

The decorations of the hall were distinctive, yet simple. The neutral drapes were a perfect background for the models, and a simple floral arrangement of cherry apricot, pear and peach blossoms completed the decorative scheme. These blossoms were carefully tended from prunings by members of the two organizations, and blossomed just in time for the show, after more than a month of care.

Models for the show were the Mesdames Nellie Stent, Marjorie Woodford, June Lamey, Doreen Frederickson, Billie Thornber, Ella Angus, Phyllis Rumball, Anna Borton, Bertha Gillis, Doris Short, Kathleen Moyles, Kay Strachan, and the Misses Beverley Cousins, Laura Heinrich, Ruth Nesbitt, Nan Thornthwaite, Barbara Fudge, Jo-Anne Hill, Daphne Woodford and Marilyn Wade.

Mrs. F. Young and two small daughters left last Thursday for Vancouver, where they will visit friends and relatives for three weeks.

Theatre Group To Show Here On April 3rd

On Thursday, April 3, the Everyman Theatre will be returning to the Ellison hall, Summerland, with its feature presentation, "The Last Caveman." The showing here will again be sponsored by the Singers' and Players' club. Representing Canadian theatre this will be a presentation of Elsie Park Cowan's lively new comedy.

The Everyman Theatre is unique in its organization and ideals and it embodies the principle of the true repertory system. This system is the embodiment of a democratic theatre where no one consistently stars, but where every player is a potential astral body, and all men must assume menial butler duties along with leading male roles.

Thus, states Mr. Sydney Risk, its founder, this theatre group is primarily an attempt to retain and exploit Canadian artistic ability in Canada. It is a noble ideal of the organizer of this company that the Everyman Theatre is laboriously and under adverse weather conditions, germinating a seed on the prairies of Canada, and throughout this province, which it is hoped will grow and bloom into a national theatre.

Dr. James Marshall Still Likes Okanagan Best After Visiting Many Other Areas

"For my part, I haven't seen anything to beat the Okanagan," declared Dr. James Marshall, Dominion government entomologist, who addressed the Summerland Board of Trade on a few of his observations during many years of travel in eastern Canada and the United States.

Dr. Marshall's clever talk was both amusing and interesting as he interspersed his observations on agricultural conditions in other parts of Canada with amusing anecdotes.

The speaker spoke highly of the B. C. Fruit Growers' Assn., which he termed the model organization for all other fruit-growing areas to copy. A like praise was given the central sales organization, B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

Biggest Producer
British Columbia produces a revenue from its tree fruits which surpasses the fruit revenue from all other parts of Canada combined, Dr. Marshall stated. In 1945, B.C.'s tree fruits revenue was placed at $19,000,000, while Nova Scotia was $1,370,000; New Brunswick about half a million; Quebec under a million, and Ontario just under ten million dollars.

The 1946 revenue for B.C. was placed at $25,000,000 and is expected to go higher in the future.

Dr. Marshall gave a brief sketch of Ontario's fruit producing areas and even admitted that the Ontario Northern Spy is a better product than the Spy grown in this province. Quebec's Fameuse is a good apple in fact Quebec can produce good apples, he stated, but the growers there cannot compete with the B.C. producers.

"We beat the pants off the Quebec grower right in his home market of Montreal," declared the speaker.

When Dr. Marshall went to Nova Scotia he discovered that their packing methods were crude compared to those of this province. However, the Nova Scotia grower is switching from barrels to boxes and he will put up a much better package than previously, Dr. Marshall expected.

Keen Competition
Switching to Washington State, he remarked on the keen competitive spirit among persons dealing with the growers there. Insecticide salesmen were especially numerous and keen.

In the Wenatchee area, a number of the large shipping concerns have production men who are practical, capable and well-grounded in their work, most of them being college graduates. They perform duties similar to those suggested for the production department of B. C. Tree Fruits, he declared.

Coming back to the Okanagan, Dr. Marshall concluded that no other place can compete with this valley for climate and scenery.

FUDGE AND EVANS DOUBLES WINNERS IN SHUTTLE PLAY

Summerland's lone two entries in the southern interior badminton championships at Kelowna emerged triumphant when George Fudge and Bill Evans won the men's doubles title and Fudge lost a close decision to Eddie Hearn, of Nelson.

Mrs. P. Cornwall, also of Nelson, was the ladies' singles winner, and this victory was of considerable interest to local shuttle fans as Mrs. Cornwall will be arriving here shortly to join her husband who is the new accountant in the Bank of Montreal.

It took only two sets to decide the winners in the men's doubles when Fudge and Evans turned back the Kelowna threat of Jack Treadgold and Rex Lupton, 15-8, 15-10.

Although George Fudge extended Hearn's it came as a surprise to the big gallery when the Summerland man went down in straight sets, 15-9, 15-9.

In the ladies' singles, Mrs. Cornwall defeated the other finalist, Miss Betty Baillie, Vernon, 11-7, 7-11. Ladies' doubles title went to Vernon, when Miss Baillie and Mrs. P. Homer-Dixon defeated Mrs. Cornwall and Mrs. Male, Nelson, 15-11, 15-9. Mixed doubles honors were won by a Kamloops team of Ells and Mrs. Stevenson, over Dodd and Mrs. Austin, Kelowna.
