Plan To Submit Bylaw For Road Expenditures At December Elections

Summerland ratepayers may be asked at the December elections to approve the passage of a bylaw to raise approximately $30,000 for capital expenditures on local roads, to be paid back over a short five-year period. If such a bylaw passes, it would also include payment for a new municipal grader, at a net cost of about $8,000.

Such was the proposal submitted on Monday afternoon by Reeve W. R. Powell, in a special session. Councillors Harvey Wilson, C. E. "Ned" Bentley and Eric Tait concurred in the plan, Councillor F. E. Atkinson could not be in attendance.

With such a sum of money available, plus the sum usually afforded from current revenue, the main thoroughfares in the municipality could be given a permanent hard surface, thus cutting down annual maintenance costs and allowing the municipality more time and money to devote to the side roads, it was explained.

This will be the second bylaw to go before the ratepayers, as there is a plan to submit a bylaw for the extension of the domestic water system to the north bench and Crescent Beach area.

District school trustees are also still hopeful they can obtain sufficient co-operation from the two municipalities, Pentiction and Summerland, to present their bylaw for much-needed alterations to school buildings in Summerland and the rural areas and the installation of two ex-army huts in Pentiction.

Cut Maintenance
Reeve Powell intimated last year that he would like to place a bylaw before the ratepayers to provide capital expenditures on the main roads, but eventually he decided the time was not propitious.

However, he believes that this is the only way that a major portion of the black-topping program can be instituted and that in the long run it will save the taxpayers money in cutting down the maintenance costs.

"The time has come when more people should be served with roads of the same type we have installed this year," declared Reeve Powell in referring to the Station Prairie Valley roads.

The figure of $18,000 was mentioned as the approximate expenditure made this year, but to obtain this amount of money, non-recurring revenues were tapped. Next year, a chlorination plant and some type of fire truck must be purchased, so that there will be no extra money for road appropriations, it was pointed out.

"If we are to get any mileage of good permanent roadwork done next year we cannot depend on ordinary revenue," declared Councillor Tait, who, a few years ago was against any such financing by bylaw.

Suggests Roads
Councillor Harvey Wilson, roads department head, was enthusiastic about such a plan as Reeve Powell suggested and mentioned the rest of Giant's Head, the Sand Hill, the extension of Hastings street to the highway, and the hospital hill roads as being most in need of black-topping next year.

Connected with these thoroughfares, Councillor Wilson linked Garnett Valley road as being one which could be hard surfaced part-way and major work on widening and straightening proceeding after that.

Councillor Bentley, also on the roads department, was equally in agreement with Reeve Powell's plan.

Later in the discussion the figure of $30,000 was tentatively mentioned to be paid back in five years. No definite amount will be settled upon until a full session of the council is present.

The council on Monday expected a definite offer from the Pining Tractor Co. to purchase the old municipal grader as a trade-in on a new machine. However, the company had not responded so no deal was consummated on that day.

Possessions Lost In Great Fire
A fire of unknown origin destroyed a bunkhouse at the Great Ranch on Tuesday, Sept. 23, at about 10 o'clock. The bunkhouse, which was occupied by two employees of the ranch, Brooke Adams and Robert Lamb, was completely demolished, and all the belongings of the young men were also destroyed.

Value to the possessions in the bunkhouse was estimated at about $300.00. Mr. Lamb stated to The Review on Tuesday of last week that the estimated value of the bunkhouse was placed at more than $100.

A bucket brigade worked valiantly to check the fire, but was unable to do much good, although the fire was confined to the one bunkhouse.

Subscription Fund For Food Parcels To Open

An appeal fund is to be opened shortly in Summerland to obtain funds to provide food parcels for Britain, in direct response to the request made by Princess Elizabeth that any wedding gift considered by her loyal subjects take this form.

Fund boxes will be set up in business places throughout the community while arrangements are being made for larger donations to be left with committee members. Arrangements for this appeal collection are in the hands of a committee comprising C. J. Huddleston, C. E. Bentley and Mrs. E. R. Butler.

Such was the major decision of the general meeting of organization representatives on Monday night at the Legion hall. A. Calvert is chairman of this temporary organization with Lorne Perry secretary.

No decision was reached regarding any entertainment for the children to commemorate November 20, the royal wedding date. Further details may be worked out on this feature at a later date.

But it was the definite decision of this meeting that funds should be raised in this community to provide parcels of food as a gift from the people of Summerland in commemoration of the Princess' wedding.

Various suggestions for entertainment were brought forward at this session but nothing definite was agreed upon. A dance will be held that evening, with proceeds being devoted towards the parcels for Britain. Mr. A. K. Macleod is in charge of the dance committee.

NEW CONSTABLE TAKES OVER HERE

Constable Terence Thorsteinson, formerly of Richmond, has arrived in Summerland to replace Constable H. Cartmell, who has gone to Vancouver with the B.C. Police. Constable Thorsteinson was accompanied here by his wife and child and are occupying the residence formerly occupied by Constable and Mrs. Cartmell.

Mr. Harvey Baker, who has spent the past two weeks in Summerland, will leave on Friday evening to return to his home in Westminster.

Councillor Proposes One Fire District Over All Municipality As Solution

Agreement was reached between the municipal council and Ed Gould, fire chief, representing the fire brigade which has been set up under the West Summerland Fire Protection Society, on Monday as to the new deal which will operate in connection with fires outside the West Summerland fire protection zone.

For fires in the West Summerland zone, the brigade will operate as usual and all fire equipment available in the municipality will be on call for zone fires.

For the rest of the municipality, the council will deal directly with Mr. Gould as fire chief, it was arranged.

Need Fire Truck
Throughout the discussion, Mr. Gould expressed chief interest in the municipality obtaining some form of vehicle which would haul the available fire equipment. At every opportunity he stressed this need in Summerland.

The fire brigade members do not wish to endanger their cars by hauling fire equipment but they will continue to do so for the time being at a raised payment of $5 for each of the two cars needed. Brigade members called to fires outside the zone will receive $2 apiece for their work.

Mr. Gould was also told that he should put in requisitions to the council for further requirements, such as a new fog nozzle and for payment on insurance premiums to cover brigade members.

He was informed by Reeve Powell that he should requisition for equipment necessary the same as other municipal department heads and they would be considered by the council.

Necessity for closer co-operation with the brigade on the part of the council was stressed by Reeve Powell at the outset of the conversation with Mr. Gould, as this seems to be a feeling that we

BLIND TAG DAY REALIZES NEARLY $200 IN ONE DAY

The Institute for the Blind Tag Day, which was held on Saturday, Sept. 27, under the sponsorship of the local Women's Institute, netted the sum of $193.00. This amount has been forwarded by Mr. E. R. Butler to the district treasurer for the Institute for the Blind at Kelowna.

In charge of the sale of tags in West Summerland were the Mesdames M. Collas, I. Hamilton, E. Hookham and Joe McLachlan. The girls who so willingly lent their assistance in selling the tags were the Misses Louise Washington, Valerie Tingley, Shirley Smith, Gladys Meadows, Barbara Metters, Joyce Smith, Phyllis Adams, Eileen Birtle, Shirley Wilson, Joan Marshall, Dorothy Blacklock and Ruth Nesbitt.

In Summerland Mrs. E. R. Butler was in charge of sales, assisted by the Misses Joan McDonald and Maureen Cleveland.

Wet Garbage Eliminated at Refuse Ground

Decision to eliminate the dumping of wet garbage at the city refuse dump and to provide some type of incinerator in another part of the municipality for restaurants and meat markets was made at a special meeting of the municipal council on Monday afternoon.

Reeve W. R. Powell announced that arrangements have been made with Mr. J. Heichert to be caretaker of the nuisance ground. A gate will be installed and entrance to the grounds will be on dates specified by the council from time to time.

These arrangements will be detailed in a bylaw which is being drawn up for council approval.

It is the council's intention to subsidize local merchants by installing an incinerator for wet garbage disposal. The location of this incinerator is still in doubt but will be discussed further with the retail merchants at their monthly meeting tonight.

Two mornings will probably be set aside for the dumping of refuse at the nuisance grounds. Canneries and packing houses will have a separate area designated for disposal of their waste material.

GROOM RETURNS TO UBC AFTER WEDDING HERE

The rectory of St. Anne's church, Pentiction, was the scene of an interesting wedding on Saturday morning, Sept. 20, at 11 o'clock, when Rev. Father Corneil, O.M.J., officiated at the marriage of Miss Marie Gratia Laurette Hamel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamel of Victoria, P.Q., and Mr. Arthur Ernest Simpson, son of Mrs. H. Simpson, Happy Valley, Summerland, and the late Mr. Wm. Simpson.

The bride was lovely in a white afternoon frock with lace trim. Touches of pale pink accented the waistline, and elbow-length kid gloves of white complemented the short sleeves of the gown. A chapel veil fell from a headdress of pink and white carnations. As jewelry the bride wore a pearl necklace, bracelet and earrings. Her flowers were pink roses and carnations with fern.

Mrs. J. Betuzzi was the only attendant of the bride, and was gowned in a jersey print afternoon frock, patterned with blue carnations on a white background. Her white hat was trimmed with flowers and white veiling, and her corsage was of pink and white rosebuds.

Mr. J. Betuzzi was groomsman. Following the quiet wedding a small reception was held at the Happy Valley home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. H. Simpson. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. J. Betuzzi, and was responded to by the groom. Many wires of congratulations were received from relatives and friends of the bride.

For a honeymoon trip to Victoria the bride donned a white suit with rose accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Simpson will make their future home in Vancouver, where the groom is pursuing studies in the faculty of agriculture at the UBC.

B.C. Weeklies Are Prominent In Better Newspapers Trophy Awards At Annual Convention

British Columbia newspapers featured prominently in the Better Newspapers Competition, which highlighted the 28th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Assn. held in Victoria for three days last week. The Kamloops Sentinel was granted chief award when it won the Mason trophy for newspapers with circulations of 2,000 and over. This coveted award has been held in British Columbia since 1942 when it was won for the second time by the Pentiction Herald.

The Vernon News, winner in 1943, was given second place rating this year, with the Brampton (Ont.) Conservator, in third place. The Tillsonburg News, Pentiction Herald, Red Deer Advocate and Yorkton Enterprise were given honorable mention by the judges.

More than four hundred newspaper editors, executives and others connected with the weekly newspaper trade attended the three-day sessions at the Empress Hotel in Victoria, the largest convention ever held in the 28 years the association has been functioning.

Chief of the entertainment functions was a cruise on Friday, Sept. 26, on the HMCS "Ontario", Canada's cruiser, which proved a revelation to convention members. All operations of the ship were explained to the visitors.

Presidents' Welcome
On opening day, R. P. MacLean, Kelowna, retiring president of the B.C. division of the CWNA and Col. Walter Ashfield, Grenfell, Sask. CWNA president presented addresses of welcome.

Mayor Percy George, of Victoria, presided at the complimentary luncheon provided by the City of Victoria while in the evening a reception and banquet were sponsored by the Government of British Columbia with Premier John Hart being the chief speaker.

Vernon Knowles, of the Canadian Bankers' Assn., presided over a complimentary breakfast on Thursday morning; while at noon the luncheon was tendered by Johnson, Everson & Charlesworth. The CBC farm broadcast, with Tom Leach in charge, preceded this luncheon and was an interesting feature for most convention delegates.

After a visit to the B.C. Government printing bureau, the T. Eaton Co., was host at the dinner, with R. J. Fry, in charge of its public relations in western Canada as speaker.

After a winding up of the business sessions Friday morning, the B.C. division sponsored the luncheon, with Mr. N. F. Pullen public relations representative of the B.C. Telephone Co., as the witty after-luncheon speaker.

Following the cruise, the annual CWNA trophy dinner, provided Professor F. H. Soward, director of international studies at UBC with an outstanding address on "Canada's Place in a Changing World."

At this function, Mr. Robert Giles, of Lachute, Que., was introduced as the new CWNA president. Prominent among the visitors who were in attendance were officials of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways.

Other Awards
In Class two awards in the better newspaper competition papers with 1,000 to 2,000 circulation, the Charles Clark cup for the best all-round paper went to the Weburn, (Sask.) Review; second, Elmwood Herald and third, Han-

Hospital Wing Opening Set For Next Wednesday

Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale, has informed the Summerland Hospital Society that he will definitely be on hand to assist in the official opening of the new maternity wing and nurses' home on Wednesday, October 8.

W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan, will be at the coast this week but hopes to return in time for this function. Premier John Hart has expressed his regrets at being unable to attend, but pressure of work at Victoria precludes his visit.

Also, Hon. G. S. Pearson, provincial secretary, has been on the sick list for some time and will be unable to attend, he writes. The maternity wing and the nurses' home will be open for inspection at two o'clock next Wednesday afternoon while the official ceremonies will be conducted at three o'clock, states S. A. MacDonald, hospital society president. Tea will be served by the Summerland Hospital Auxiliary in the nurses' home funds from this affair to be used to assist in furnishing the nurses' home.

Governor of Rotary Talks On Convention

Herbert Clark, of Trall, district governor of Rotary International for District No. 105, proved an entertaining and interesting speaker to the Rotary Club of Summerland session on Wednesday, September 24.

Basing his talk on the international convention at Sun Valley, Idaho, a sportsman's paradise, Mr. Clark told Summerland Rotarians that this session was a fine demonstration of international goodwill.

Some 174 districts were represented at this important conference representing 6,200 Rotarians. There were 173 governors in attendance from fifty countries. Sessions each morning were strenuous affairs, he declared while assembly gatherings were held each afternoon.

Rotarian who came the farthest distance was a governor from Malaya who flew 1,300 miles each way to be present at the convention.

Mr. Clark was driven to Summerland by Rotarian Will Harper, of Kelowna. Following the local meeting, the executive of the Rotary club met Mr. Clark at the home of Mr. C. J. Bleasdale, club president.

He was also taken over the experimental station and evinced great interest in the cultural development demonstrated there. "I have enjoyed my visit to Summerland more than any other club visit I have made so far," Mr. Clark was quoted as stating at the conclusion of his short stay here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wright and daughters were visitors at the weekend to Hedley, where they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Peterson.

EDITORIAL

Dedicated To Freedom

The National Newspaper Week Editorial
Written By Robert U. Brown, Editor of
Editor and Publisher

Not so long ago, in terms of history, a homicidal maniac gifted with silver tongued oratory drove his bloodthirsty hordes across Europe and succeeded in plunging the world into history's most devastating war. Individual liberties, freedom of all kinds vanished wherever his foot trod.

The world will wonder, how could such things happen in a modern civilization?

The answer is simple. It happened because this man understood one thing: control the press and communications facilities and you can control thought; that accomplished, all democratic processes can be eliminated at will.

There were some great newspapers in Germany when Hitler was running an underground movement, meeting in beer halls, developing his strong-arm methods. Hitler talked a good game; he promised much for the future; he persuaded some of those newspapers to support him. Their editors agreed that his program was good for Germany, that a few liberties and freedoms would have to be sacrificed for the good of the country.

When Hitler rode into power with the help of an uninformed electorate and an unsuspecting government there were still powerful newspapers who could have exposed him and his gang of cutthroats. But it was too late. Those last few who dared to speak out against him were quickly silenced. Their voices were added to the other newspapers and radio stations which became merely the amplifiers for his "wisdom."

The press of Canada will not forget what happened in Europe. Actually it did not need this example to be forewarned. A similar thing almost happened, and could have happened in the United States if it had not been for the vigilance and fearlessness of some newspaper editors.

We're speaking of Huey Long, the potential dictator. He had Louisiana by the throat and was taking steps to silence opposition from the newspapers by taxing them out of existence when those papers won a costly and lengthy Supreme Court battle. No one knows what might have happened, how far Huey Long might have gone, if those newspapers had not been alert.

Individual liberties are a cherished thing here which set this country apart as the mecca for oppressed peoples everywhere. And yet, these liberties and freedoms are taken for granted by the vast majority of the people who are neither interested nor vocal enough to recognize and fight the threatened encroachments on those rights.

The press of Canada is the medium dedicated to that proposition. National Newspaper Week gives us this opportunity to re-dedicate ourselves once again to that purpose.

Freedom of the press is not an intangible prerogative granted to the owner of a printing press. It is a guarantee to the Canadian people. Freedom of the press belongs to you. It is merely exercised in your behalf by the existing publishers. It includes your freedom to read and hear whatever you wish, the same as it is your privilege to buy the literature you wish, to agree or disagree, to praise or criticize the points of view expressed therein.

Your newspaper is acutely aware of its responsibility to inform its readers on the important news of the day. Because all news items by themselves are not readily understandable or may have wide significance, your newspaper also is aware of its responsibility to analyze and comment on such news.

Freedom and responsibility go together. Your right and duty to vote is interlocked with your freedom to speak. Your right to individual happiness depends on your freedom to go anywhere, whenever you please. And in the final analysis, all individual freedoms rest on the first one—your right to read and be informed.

If your newspaper is restrained in any manner in its function of telling you what is going on, you have begun to lose your individual freedoms. And the rights and privileges that you enjoy as a Canadian citizen will slowly but surely begin to crumble away.

It is because of that your newspaper is a jealous guardian of all freedoms. Perhaps

What's a Poor Girl to Do?

By REIDFORD

The Feminine Front

by MURIEL HURRY

Each week on the editorial pages of The Review we feature a column headed Pioneer Days, in which are excerpts from the Old Review files of twenty and thirty years ago.

We have had many remarks on this column, not only by pioneers of the district, but also by newcomers who are interested in the history of Summerland. In glancing over these old papers, I am always amused by the ads. In 1918, the prices of foodstuffs and entertainment were also at a war-high price, and I thought that the readers of The Feminine Front may be interested in some of the details of life nearly thirty years ago in the district.

The Empress Theatre advertised shows on every weekday, with prices at 20 and 35 cents. Billie Burke was featured in "Arms and the Girl", a story of Billie's adventures in Belgium, where strategy saved her from the clutches of the Huns.

The Summerland Supply Co. advertised Tasty Boudoir Caps in various materials, all daintily trimmed, and ranging in price from 75 cents to $2.00. W. J. Robinson, Real Estate and Insurance, advertised a twenty-five acre orchard, planted equally in nine and twelve year-old trees for $12,500.

But in our 1928 files, prices had dropped considerably, especially in the grocery field. Lemons were 39 cents per dozen, seeded raisins were 12 cents for a 15-oz. package, pure orange marmalade was 59 cents for a 4-lb. tin.

I notice that the name of that fine old pioneer of Summerland and the Okanagan, Dr. F. W. Andrew appears in almost every paper. In the twenty years ago column of the twenty years ago issue, which would be some time in the latter part of Sept., in the year 1908, reads an item, "Dr. F. W. Andrew of Kelowna paid Summerland a visit on Thursday, returning on Friday morning. The doctor will return in about two weeks to reside here permanently."

The item below states that Okanagan College opened on Sept. 22. Attendance on the first day was 47. Still 40 years ago, in this same column appear the names of Mrs. J. Blewett, Mr. G. N. Gartrell, Mr. Alex Steuart, C. E. Pincus, Thos. Kelly, J. W. S. Logie and other names still familiar to the citizens of the district. Children of these pioneer citizens seem to have followed in their parents footsteps and are now our businessmen and civic leaders.

In 1928 a poultry farm was advertised for sale as an unequalled bargain, seven acres, with small orchard, good barn, excellent soil, for $850.00 on terms. Beer's Shoe Store offered to install new car curtain lights.

Groceries had not yet taken the depression slump in prices and potatoes were advertised at $1.25 per sack, marmalade, oranges at 45 cents per dozen, but assorted chocolates were advertised at only 30 cents per lb.

At the Rialto Theatre Billie Dove, Lewis Stone and Lloyd Hughes were starring in "An Affair of the Folies". A show entitled "Mantrap" featured Clara Bow while names such as Mary Carr, Lois Moran, Louise Dresser and Noah Beery are still remembered by theatre lovers of today.

Cars were cheaper by far than today. Year-old used cars were selling at $450 and $650, while older models were advertised for sale as low as $30. A new Chrysler was only $870, and was lauded for its smartness and beauty of line and color.

There was a typhoid epidemic in Summerland twenty years ago, and a notice on the front page of The Review of July 27, 1928 asked that all visitors to the hospital handle their cars as quietly as possible. The forest fire situation was improving, with "only" 39 fires reported, with a total cost of fire fighting at only $75.

Many interesting bits can be gleaned from these old files, and we regret that we have not more space each week for our Pioneer Days column.

All McIntosh apples have been picked and shipped from the Summerland area.

An important real estate sale was made this week when the H. H. Elsey home became the property of James Thompson, Kamloops.

The Hotel Pentiction was completely gutted by fire which broke out on Monday. The hotel property was valued at $35,000 and carried $10,000 insurance.

Fruit is moving out of the valley in large trainloads, as many as fifty cars rolling at one time.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

September 30, 1927

Latest reports on the infantile paralysis scare in the Okanagan are re-assuring. The epidemic is on the wane in Kelowna. Pentiction has barred those eighteen and under from infected areas, from entering the town. There are no cases in Pentiction. Kelowna has had five deaths from it forty cases.

Special Constable Bill Armstrong is now stationed at the Summerland bridge on the lakeshore road to stop cars and enforce the Pentiction council prohibition of 18 years and under persons.

The roads committee has reported an excellent job of road improvement in Garnett Valley. Many of the narrow places have been widened. Nearly everybody threw over all attempts at work on Wednesday morning when an airplane landed near the C.P.R. wharf and accepted Mr. Muir Steuart as a passenger for Kelowna.

Engineer F. H. Latimer has submitted a report to the Summerland council covering fire fighting equipment for Summerland. The cost would involve an outlay of $7,000.

Summerland is to receive a donation of peony roots from the Prince of Wales, in commemoration of his visit to Canada. They will be placed at the school grounds.

When H. C. Mellor, J. Tait and P. G. Dodwell appeared before the council with a request for a grant of $500 towards improvements to the Ellison hall, on behalf of the Agricultural Society, there was a sharp cleavage of opinion between the committee and council members.

All McIntosh apples have been picked and shipped from the Summerland area.

More than 9,000 fires are caused every year in Canada by faulty stoves, furnaces, boilers or chimneys.

Average family expenditure on fuel is about $40 a year for all Canada.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

On my weekly trip to the experimental station I discovered that the flow of distinguished visitors continues unabated. Early in the week Jack West, advertising manager for Tree Fruits Ltd., brought Professor Mahony of the faculty of commerce, University of B.C., with three of his students. These men are making a study of the B.C. fruit industry under the auspices of Tree Fruits Ltd. They were keenly interested in the studies which are being made by A. J. Mann on early maturing varieties of the Italian prune. They also enjoyed discussing with Don Fisher the work which he is conducting to ascertain the influence of maturity at harvest time on the quality of McIntosh and Delicious apples.

Later in the week Bill Thomas of Tree Fruits Limited brought down three prairie fruit brokers, Clair B. Mabey, H. Maxwell and Ole Syverson. While these brokers handle hundreds of cars of fruit and vegetables annually from the Okanagan, they had never seen peppers growing and were amazed to find that both red and green peppers grow on the same plant. They stated that the large blunt type of pepper is what the market requires. They were also keenly interested in seeing the Spartan and Jubilee apples actually growing on the trees.

Then came Paul W. Scea of Wenatchee; Sam M. Cahodas, of Ishpeming, Michigan; and Samuel Fraser of Rochester, New York. Mr. Cahodas is a fruit grower on a very large scale having over 1,000 acres of orchard in Michigan and 350 acres in Yakima. He also makes apple juice on a large scale and was most interested in the methods of juice manufacture which have been developed by the Summerland Fruit Products Laboratory. Samuel Fraser is secretary of the International Apple Association. He is reputed to know more about apples than any other living man. He is especially interested in the Spartan and Jubilee apples which he is testing in his own 250 acre orchard in New York.

Herb Clark of Trail, district governor of Rotary, enjoyed a stroll through the ornamental area and regretted that he had left his wife in Kelowna, as she is a flower growing enthusiast.

Nicolas Morant, staff photographer for the CPR, spent several days at the station taking photographs, some of which will likely be used in an article on British Columbia which will shortly be published in the National Geographic Magazine.

However, the real deluge of visitors came when H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, brought 40 of the prominent members of this federation to visit the station. They were taken first to the dairy barn where Roy Noble gave a masterful exposition of the purpose of the dairy herd and the methods which have been followed in developing it.

In the ornamental area, Nat May conducted a tour of inspection which brought the visitors finally to the lawn in front of the superintendent's house, where they marvelled at the beauty of the chrysanthemums which are now in full flower. At 4:00 o'clock the party moved on to the horticultural building where Arthur Mann had prepared a very attractive exhibit featuring several new varieties of apples originated by the Summerland station. Ted Atkinson showed the visitors through the Fruit Products Laboratory, and Marjann Casselman served a delectable frozen dessert made from apricot and peach puree.

NEED SUBDIVISION

Applications for five connections for domestic water and electric light made by the Mayert family in Prairie Valley will have to be held up until a proper subdivision plan is registered, the council decided on Monday last week. Property is being acquired from J. Morrow, who is on an extended visit to distant centres in the United States and Canada.

WARTIME HOMES AGREEMENT

The minister of municipal affairs, Hon. R. C. MacDonald, announced this week that the provincial government has given approval to an agreement under which fifty new Wartime homes will be constructed at Penticton.

LOWEST TENDER

Hon. Herbert Anscomb, as acting minister of public works, received eight bids for construction of an agricultural engineering and mechanics' laboratory building at the University of British Columbia, estimated to cost about $50,000. The lowest bid was $53,200, submitted by H. C. Redmond.

Visitors From Australia And Sweden Here

Visitors from far flung points of the globe and many parts of Canada have converged on the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland during the past couple of weeks.

With one accord they have exclaimed over the beauties of the experimental grounds and have expressed keen interest in the experimental work being carried on by Dr. R. C. Palmer, superintendent, and his small army of research experts.

Miss Berta Danielsson, technical assistant to Dr. Fredrik Nilsson, of Alnarps, Sweden, arrived here on Sept. 19 and remained at the station until Sept. 22. Miss Danielsson is a cytologist, interested in the fundamental side of plant breeding. Dr. Nilsson operates a plant breeding station in Sweden for horticultural crops.

Another visitor from the opposite end of the globe also arrived on Sept. 19 and remained until Monday in the person of Mr. Jack Kefford, of Australia, research officer of the division of food preservation of the Australian council for scientific and industrial research.

Mr. Kefford has been studying canning and processing methods on the west coast of the United States for the past three months and is now commencing his studies of Canadian methods. He evinced a keen appreciation of the technical experiments being carried out by the fruit products laboratory under Councillor F. E. Atkinson and assistants.

Four experimental station and farm superintendents have been recent visitors. These have been A. E. Palmer, Lethbridge station; L. B. Thompson, Swift Current station; F. V. Hutton, Prince George station; and W. H. Hicks, Agassiz farm.

At the Rotary Club of Summerland meeting on Sept. 19, Mr. Kefford, was one of the speakers, stating that the Australian council, of which there are about forty research workers, can be likened to the National Research Council of Canada.

Every one of these research workers will be given an opportunity to travel to far points and learn what other scientists have discovered in the realm of food preservation.

Station Well-Known

Work of the experimental station in Summerland is well-known in Australian circles, Mr. Kefford related and "the Okanagan is everything I have ever heard about it. Canada is also as colorful as the colored pictorial advertisements claim."

The fruit industry in Australia functions much as it does here and grows apples, peaches apricots, etc., in much the same manner as the Okanagan. However there are also many parts of Australia which produce semi-tropical citrus fruits.

In southern New South Wales, irrigation is developed in much the same manner as here. Peach canning is almost entirely confined to clingstone varieties in Australia and the speaker is interested in endeavoring to encourage growers and canners to favor freestone varieties because of their much superior flavor.

Mr. Kefford also evinced interest in the smaller type of canneries operating here and expressed amazement at the daily production possible.

Delicious and Jonathan apples are grown in Australia but there are no McIntosh there, he concluded.

COAL PRODUCTION PROGRAM URGED

Upon his return from the inter-provincial committee on mining, annual conference in Nova Scotia, Hon. R. C. MacDonald, minister of mines, stated that a ten-year program of expansion of Canadian coal output to encourage production of an annually increasing supply beyond the tonnage put out under present market conditions is being strongly urged. That any necessary assistance to the industry to stimulate expansion should be given by the dominion and that associated with this expansion there should be a program of improved coal preparation and grading was the view taken by the committee.

SEND SHOES TO GREAT BRITAIN

Shoes for children of Great Britain... 100,000 pairs of them... are being sent to England as a gift by British Columbia Junior Red Cross. Not new shoes, but shoes that have been used and put in good repair are required since these can be accepted by British children without relinquishing clothing coupons.

There is a great shortage of shoes in Britain today and the overseas commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross society has suggested that the Junior Red Cross might alleviate the suffering of these British children who face a grim winter with insufficient food and clothing.

Every school in B.C. will be asked to act as a depot for collection. Children are asked to gather footwear in good repair for youngsters between 2-14. These shoes are to be mended locally as soon as possible, making sure they are properly repaired.

B.C. POWER COMMISSION

Orders-in-council covering purchase by the B.C. Power Commission of the electrical distribution system owned by the Municipality of Port Alberni and situated in "the brigade military camp area" for $10,220.75 and the Burns Lake diesel operated power plant and distributing system for approximately $8,000.00 were passed this week.

Double Wedding Here Of Wide Interest In Many Parts of This Province

Of wide interest in south Okanagan and coast circles was the double wedding performed on Saturday morning, Sept. 27, in the Church of the Holy Child, West Summerland, when Rev. Father Cornell, O.M.I., of Penticton officiated at the marriage of Merrie Noelle Mulhern, formerly of Penticton, daughter of Mr. E. T. Matchett of California and the late Mrs. Matchett, to Mr. Charles William Betuzzi, of Summerland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. Betuzzi.

At the same ceremony Miss Anna Lucy Betuzzi of Summerland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. Betuzzi exchanged vows with Mr. Douglas Raymond Grant of Comox, B.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Grant of Palo Alto, California, with Rev. Father W. Harrison of Lumby officiating.

Miss Mulhern was striking in a gown of ivory satin, en train, and cut on princess lines. Quilted flowers decorated the skirt of the beautiful gown and the sleeves were long. Sprays of white feathers formed an original and charming headdress, from which fell a finger-tip veil of French illusion net. Her flowers were a colonial bouquet of white 'mums.

Miss Mulhern was attended by Mrs. C. Ongaro, sister of the groom, as matron-of-honor and Miss Marguerite Grant of Penticton as bridesmaid. Mrs. Ongaro was gowned in floor-length rose sheer crepe, full-skirted and with a sweetheart neckline, while Miss Grant chose pale blue silk jersey, fashioned with cap sleeves and embroidered yoke. Headdresses were formed from garlands of fresh flowers and their bouquets were colonial style of matching blooms.

Flower girl for Miss Mulhern was her niece, Danna Mulhern of Vancouver, who wore white taffeta, fashioned with a square lace yoke and skirt gathered in a bustle effect. Feathers formed her headdress, while her flowers were a miniature colonial bouquet.

Miss Anna Betuzzi was lovely in a stately period gown of heavy white satin, fashioned slightly en train, with a skirt which featured side paniers. A draped shoulder effect was created by the clever use of ruffled satin. A slight bustle gave back interest to the gown, and the sleeves were long and lily-pointed. The floor-length veil of French illusion netting fell from a Mary, Queen of Scots headdress, and her flowers were a colonial bouquet of white 'mums.

Miss Betuzzi was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. M. Betuzzi as matron-of-honor while Miss Alveen Dull of Vernon was bridesmaid. Mrs. Betuzzi was gowned in a soft shade of pink nylon net embroidered in white, with an off-the-shoulder neckline. Elbow-length white gloves completed her ensemble. Miss Dull was dressed in pale turquoise nylon net, floor-length, featuring a rounded neckline outlined by a deep flounce of the same material. A similar flounce outlined the bottom of the full skirt of the gown. Both attendants wore garlands of fresh flowers in their hair, and carried colonial bouquets of matching flowers.

Little Jo-Anne Ongaro, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and was gowned in long pale green nylon taffeta, with a peter-pan collar, full puffed sleeves and a full skirt trimmed with a large bow at the back. White flowers formed her headdress and she carried a miniature colonial bouquet.

Miss Mulhern was given in marriage by her father, Mr. E. T. Matchett, who came from California for the wedding, while Mr. Betuzzi was supported by his brother, Mr. John Betuzzi was groomsmen. Ushers for both couples were Mr. Bob Osborne of Penticton and Mr. Al Soderberg.

Miss Betuzzi was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Betuzzi, while groomsmen for Mr. Grant was Mr. C. Ongaro.

Organist was Mrs. J. Kloster of Penticton.

Representing the family of Miss Anna Betuzzi was her sister, Mrs. A. F. Biollo, who received with the bridal party at the reception which took place in the Legion hall immediately after the wedding. She was dressed in a black gabardine suit with white accessories, while her corsage was of white 'mums. Mrs. E. F. Mulhern, sister of the first bride, also received with the bridal party and chose a brown outfit, with which she wore matching accessories.

About 115 guests were present at the reception and the hall was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers, which fell gracefully from the ceiling to the table occupied by the bridal party. Flowers throughout the hall added charm to the scene. The two wedding cakes which centered the table were the traditional three-tiered decorated cakes, and were flanked by tall tapers in silver candlesticks.

Following the wedding dinner and the toasts to the bridal party the young couples left for honeymoon destinations.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Betuzzi chose points in U.S. for their honeymoon, for which the bride donned a cherry-red gabardine suit with hand stitching and gold button trim. Her matching felt hat was off-the-face style, and her accessories black. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Betuzzi will make their home in Happy Valley, Summerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant, who will reside at Queen's Road, Comox, left on a honeymoon trip to Kootenay Valley points, the bride donning a chocolate brown wool gabardine suit, featuring a three-quarter length swing-back coat and full sleeves. Her accessories and hat were to match, with gold trim.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Grant of Palo Alto, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. C. Cristian of Lumby, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bayne of Vernon, Mrs. A. F. Biollo of Kamloops, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Mulhern and children, Danna and Kerry of Vancouver, Mrs. C. C. Tait of Calgary, Mrs. W. A. Halliday of Edmonton and Mr. E. T. Matchett of California, as well as many friends and relatives from south-ern valley points.

RUTLAND WANTS TO INCORPORATE

RUTLAND—The petition for incorporation of the Rutland area as a district municipality went forward to Victoria last weekend, with the signatures of 861 registered land-owners appended. These represent a combined assessed valuation of property totalling $1,288,260 out of a total of $1,658,860 in the approximate six square miles in the proposed municipality.

Only 51 per cent is actually required but this figure is better than 75 per cent, and the names on the petition represent 70 per cent of the registered land-owners. How long it will take before the department of municipal affairs makes known what action is to be taken is uncertain.

To ensure a clear supply of water in the hot water taps, drain one or two gallons of water every week from the bottom outlet of the range boiler, thus removing any deposit of sediment.

PATTERSON GETS CONTRACT

KELOWNA—A. L. Patterson has been awarded the contract by the Kelowna School District No. 23 for construction of the new Graham street primary school, it was revealed last week. Mr. Patterson submitted a tender for $22,400, and it was reported to be the lowest bid. Foundation for the new school has already been poured, and actual construction will commence immediately.

SHOWER HONORS MRS. DENNIS KEAN

Mrs. Dennis Kean, whose marriage took place recently, was the guest-of-honor at a miscellaneous shower held on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 24 at the home of Mrs. Ben Mayne, who was a joint hostess for the occasion with the Mesdames Roger Tingley and Jim Mayne. The many gifts were piled on a table, beneath a decorated umbrella, from which streamers fell softly to the floor. The bride was seated in a decorated chair. Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of an enjoyable afternoon. About 30 guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Grant of Palo Alto, Calif., were Summerland visitors at the weekend, when they attended the wedding of their son, Mr. Douglas R. Grant of Comox, B.C., who exchanged vows on Saturday with the former Miss Anna Betuzzi.

Mr. Roy Gilbert left on Saturday for the Cariboo district, where he is hunting moose for a two-week period, accompanied by Mr. Tom Ramsay of Salmon Arm.

Mrs. Hilda Lloyd is now settled in her new home on the hospital road.

Mrs. S. Angove returned on Tuesday morning from Vancouver, where she had been visiting for a month at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. Archibald.

Mr. E. E. Parkhouse of Sausalito, Cal., who has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Schock left on Friday to return to his home. Mr. Parkhouse complained of the lack of road signs in the Okanagan.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Schock left on Saturday by motor for San Francisco, where they will spend the winter months.

Mr. O. Falkins of Vancouver was a visitor in Summerland on Tuesday where he was renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. Bob Brennan, who has been visiting for some time in Winnipeg, arrived home last week.

RATE QUESTIONED

D. L. Sanborn pointed out to the municipal council on Sept. 22 that the new power rate works a hardship in respect to the minimum charge per horsepower. With the addition of his new welding machine, his garage now has about 45 horsepower in motors, which means a minimum of about $34 per month. These motors are not used continuously and such a charge is out of line, he thought. The council agreed but pointed out that he could obtain a demand rate for the amount of horsepower actually in use, which would mean that he would pay on only half the amount available.

Two Years Faithful Service To Veterans Comes To End

After two years' faithful service, the Summerland Rehabilitation Committee concluded its work last Thursday at a disbandment meeting. Work of the committee has lessened to a degree that it was not considered practical to draw on public funds.

However, the veterans needing assistance will not have to seek elsewhere for assistance, as Lorne G. Perry, the retiring general secretary has offered to continue his work.

The Canadian Legion will also take a hand and the pensions work will be carried on by the Legion in the usual manner.

Dr. F. W. Andrew, last president of the committee has issued a statement on the splendid efforts which have now been brought to a conclusion. Dr. Andrew's statement follows:

Final Statement
As the Summerland Citizens' Rehabilitation committee was disbanded on September 25th, it was felt that the public which supported the committee so liberally in 1945 and 1946 should have a short report of its activities.

This committee was appointed at a public meeting in the latter part of 1945. Dr. R. C. Palmer was elected as general chairman, the late Syd. Thomas as executive secretary, J. E. O'Mahony as recording secretary and Walter Wright of the Bank of Montreal as treasurer. About a dozen sub-committees, covering reception, finance, lands, housing, pensions, re-establishment, publicity, entertainment etc. were also appointed and the chairmen of these sub-committees met monthly so that all problems were discussed from various angles.

Some 480 men and women enlisted from Summerland and 373 were discharged here. The reception committee endeavored to meet each veteran on their arrival, when possible. The entertainment committee put on three dances and one beach party, with no charge to the veterans, with the purpose of making them feel, as returned citizens, they were being assimilated in a friendly atmosphere.

The Bank of Montreal, Butler & Walden and Thos. F. Hickey acted as agents to collect funds for the rehabilitation committee, but at the end of 1945 it was realized that public subscriptions would not suffice. So the difficulty was explained to the municipal council with the result that they recommended the council of 1946 to make a grant of $500.00. To this the Summerland branch of the Canadian Legion added several liberal donations. In 1947, no subscriptions were received from the public, but with a grant of $250.00 from the council and a further donation from the Legion, the committee was able to complete its work.

Praises Dr. Palmer
As general chairman, Dr. Palmer was a great driving force, but from the pressure of other duties, he felt obliged to resign in 1946 and the undersigned was appointed to succeed him. Syd. Thomas put his whole heart into the work of helping veterans, interviews, writing letters, etc., and this was not confined to the designated hours. With his thorough knowledge of pensions, regulations, re-establishment credits and the various changing regulations of the department of Veterans' Affairs, he not only assisted the returned men and women in their wants, but could often draw their attention to other benefits that they had overlooked. It is quite possible that the energy he put into his work may have hastened the end which occurred about one year ago.

Lorne G. Perry was induced to carry on the work and he has filled the office to the complete satisfaction of the committee. Ned Bentley undertook the task of assisting those with claims for pensions and while this may continue for years, the rest of the work has fallen off greatly.

Altogether, $38,500 has been advanced through this committee as re-establishment credits, while many veterans have been directed into vocational training. After paying all accounts, $38.75 remained in the treasury. This amount and our records have been turned over to the Legion, which will carry on any work in rehabilitation that may arise.

Travelling officials have remarked on the efficient work accomplished by this committee and the absence of complaints from the veterans in the district. If this is true, it is doubtless due to the business-like organization at the start, the co-operation of its members and the efficiency of the two executive secretaries, F. W. ANDREW.

DUCK HUNTERS ENJOY SUCCESS

Two Summerland parties visited the Nicola country in the Aspen Grove district recently and returned with big bags of ducks. They state that ducks are extremely plentiful in the many lakes of that district and they enjoyed a splendid trip.

In mid-week, Ken Heales, Bill Laidlaw and Percy Wilson obtained their limit of ducks, while at the week-end, Art McPhail and Harry Peterson enjoyed equal success.

Only hunter to obtain a deer in this district the first week is said to be Gordon Mountford, who bagged a two-point buck. Deer are still extremely scarce in the hills west of Summerland and only an occasional buck has been sighted.

POSTPONE TRIP TO COULEE DAM

Decision to postpone the prospective trip of high school students to Grand Coulee dam until spring, because of the polio epidemic and the possibility of unsettled weather, was made at the Rotary Club of Summerland meeting last Friday.

The Rotarians had planned to take all of the Grade XII class to this monster dam, but the trip will not be held until spring.

The Rotary bowling league will commence operation at the National Bowladrome on Friday, October 3, President C. J. Bleasdale announced.

Organized Marketing of Valley Production Secret of Prosperity Says Hannam

H. H. Hannam, president and managing director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture headed a group of about 40 directors of the CFA, when they were entertained in Summerland on Friday afternoon.

"I am convinced that the valley's success in organized marketing under the B.C. Tree Fruits is one of the major reasons for the prosperity and security that the people enjoy," stated Mr. Hannam to The Review.

The Summerland Board of Trade were hosts to the distinguished group at a noon banquet in the IOOF hall, at which members of Teen Town very capably catered.

Reeve W. R. Powell was the first speaker at the banquet, and was introduced by Fred Schumann, president of the Board of Trade. Reeve Powell congratulated the president and executive of the Board of Trade in their foresight in inviting the CFA delegates to Summerland. He then went on to explain to the guests that the idea of the establishment of the CFA was born in Summerland, a result of "turbulent times" experienced here. He extended on behalf of the municipality and the council a hearty welcome to the CFA visitors.

Mr. H. H. Hannam, CFA president was an interesting speaker, as he came almost directly to the west from the Geneva conference, which he attended two weeks ago. Throughout the Okanagan Mr. Hannam stated he had been struck with the similarity of the country to the district surrounding Geneva. The 40 mile long lake at Geneva and the Alps in the background are very similar; "supremely beautiful and I doubt if there is any other place in the world as similar," continued Mr. Hannam, in comparing the Okanagan to the valley in which Geneva lies.

Later in the afternoon, Mr. Hannam stated to The Review that he thought that the growth of production in a formerly arid valley was phenomenal. He expressed great surprise that the valley, with such little annual rainfall, could be so productive, and thought that the Dominion Experimental Station in Summerland was "outstanding."

Mr. Jack Walsh, president of the Maritime Federation of Agriculture also addressed the gathering at the banquet, and spoke very briefly, expressing the pleasure of the group in the hospitality shown them in Summerland.

Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Palmer, on behalf of the Summerland Experimental Station, played hosts to the group during the afternoon.

At the Experimental Station dairy barns the visitors were addressed by Roy Noble, who is in charge of dairy and forage crops. He explained the work necessary in breeding and building a herd from a foundation of two pure-bred Jerseys, without a resultant high degree of inbreeding. Credit for the fine records won by the herd was given to the herdsman, Jimmy Aitken, who was introduced to the gathering by Dr. Palmer.

Other speakers during the afternoon were Councillor F. E. Atkinson, Dr. C. Strachan and Miss Marion Casselman, who explained the various work done in the departments of the Fruit Products Laboratory. In this laboratory the guests were served with a frozen confection, made from a fruit puree, which would otherwise have been a waste product.

Before continuing to Penticton Gordon Loveridge, one of the directors of the CFA expressed to the staff of the Experimental Station the gratitude of the visitors, and spoke of the beauty and the tranquillity of the Station as the climax of the long trip.

Following an official visit in Penticton the delegates left on Friday evening for Agassiz.

Hastings road was hardtopped last week and an excellent surface has been provided. Kelley street has been finished with a hard surface and oil will be applied to the road past the Occidental Fruit Co. The portion of Jubilee road past the B.C. Fruit Shippers will also have an application of oil as a dust layer.

As soon as the road program in West Summerland business area is completed crushed rock will be hauled to various roads in the municipality to provide a better surface before winter weather sets in.

Last week, the sidewalk in lower town was repaired by a crew under the charge of E. Kercher. The sidewalk on Pender street was patched, as well.

Mr. Kercher stated last week that he would be laying the concrete on Hastings, east side, in the near future.

Mr. J. S. Soderberg appeared before the council on Monday to request a cement sidewalk in front of the Capitol Motors. This request will be granted, with Mr. Soderberg paying fifty percent of the cost.

Councillor Harvey Wilson suggested that next year tarvia should be obtained in an experimental quantity to mix with the sand on the Sand Hill road. Tarvia representatives claim that this type of hard surface can be used with such light mix to good advantage.

WANTS SYSTEM CHANGE

Councillor C. E. Bentley and Walter Foreman E. Kercher are investigating the Major W. R. Tweedy property to ascertain if any alteration in the water system can be made to eliminate excess water damaging a portion of his land. Major Tweedy waited on the council last week and suggested some changes, but the council wished a further report before coming to a decision.

BROILER PLANT IS UNSANITARY

Copy of a letter from the Okanagan Valley Health Unit to G. W. Jaggard, pointing to unsatisfactory sanitary conditions at the broiler plant on the Kelowna road and giving him until September 19 to remedy the situation, was read at the Summerland council session last week.

However, this property is now in the hands of the receivers and a sheriff's notice is posted on the door, the council was informed.

The council is replying to the health unit, agreeing that sanitary conditions are unsatisfactory at this plant and expressing the hope that action will be taken quickly to remedy the situation.

Itinerants Take Large Sums Out Of Community

E. H. Robson addressed the municipal council last week on the subject of itinerant salesmen and the fact that they are taking large sums of money out of the municipality. He stated that the $25 trade's licence for six months operation does not recompense the municipality for the amount of money removed from circulation here.

In his own photography business, Mr. Robson stated that there have been five such salesmen making the rounds this year. The last such salesman, who visited here last week, took out a minimum of $1,000 in orders, he believed.

Raising of the licence fee would not stop such salesmen, as the fee could not be raised sufficiently high to gain the required effect, Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon pointed out, the only other action being the prohibiting of such itinerants coming into the municipality.

Mr. Robson also pointed out that such salesmen do not contribute towards charity and other worthy projects as do local merchants and such competition is entirely unfair, he considered.

BAG BIG MOOSE IN CARIBOO AREA

Displaying moose horns measuring 55 inches, one of the biggest sets to come out of the Cariboo country for some time, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lyon, of Yakima, Wash., were visitors to Summerland early last week on their return trip from the Prince George district.

They stated that there is plenty of big game in the Cariboo and they were thrilled with their two to three weeks' holiday trip which included a lengthy boat journey.

Their moose were bagged about one hundred miles from Prince George in the Fraser river area. Mr. Henry, of Peachland, was guide for this American couple.

Over 5,000 Miles...

Fascinating Features of Alaska Highway Trip Recounted

(By Mrs. Margaret Solly)

Starting from Mile O signpost, the traversal of bumpy, town streets made the junction with the Alaska highway obvious and impressive. We had not been misinformed. Here it was—at least a spacious 150 foot clearing in the dense evergreens—with a smoothly gravelled surface about 60 feet wide. The trees had been bulldozed down to make this broad clearing on each side for its full length. There is a signpost every mile on the eastern side.

Perhaps it would be well to recall that the construction of this road is one of the mighty engineering feats of our age. Because of the threats of war this interior route for supplies was rushed through to Alaska, roughly following the line of airfields to Fairbanks, thus co-ordinating supply needs. I should like to quote part of some interesting information I read:

"The entire highway stretches 1522.8 miles northwest from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks, following in many instances the old trails of the Klondikers and fur traders through a howling wilderness of mountains, forests and waterways, up hill and down dale, winding through narrow canyons, crossing mountains struggling through swamps and muskeg. The number of civilian workmen employed varied from 4,500 in 1942 to 16,000 in the summer of 1943; 11,000 troops were used; 133 bridges 20 feet or more in length were required, having a total length of more than 7 miles. Over 8,000 culverts having a combined length of more than 50 miles were installed. Streams in this country do not behave like ordinary rivers. The Sikanni Chief, Muskwa, Toad, McDonald, Racing, Trout, Coal, Hyland, Donjek, White, Robertson and scores more, are innocent enough at times but during any extended period of warm temperatures or heavy rains, without warning they rise to flood stage and become as wild as the country they drain and unless bridges are built like the Rock of Gibraltar they cannot withstand the fury of these angry waters. Total cost of the main Alaska highway is estimated around $138,000,000."

The pioneer form of this sprawling road, of which 1,221 miles are in Canada, took just 9 months and 6 days to complete in 1942. Next year, with the aid of civilian contractors, it received its gravel finish. We were to see at intervals the collapsing and abandoned buildings of the small villages which were the American construction camps.

In 1946 the Canadian part of the road and its maintenance were turned over to Canada. Hints of corduroy do appear, yes, but one knows that one will soon meet a grader, promptly remedying the condition.

Our comfortable cruising speed of about 50 mph, consumed the ups and downs of hills some steeper than I had expected, although nowhere were there difficult grades. The country was wild enough, becoming a sort of plateau with drier, more scrubby growth. Then 35 miles along, we saw the broad and very deep chasm made by the huge Peace River. Spanning this was a giant specimen of ultra-civilization, the Dufferin, or Peace River Bridge. A suspension bridge, fully as impressive as the Vancouver Lions' Gate bridge, it is 2,130 feet long and cost over $4,000,000. We were told that some of the steel used came from the Tacoma bridge that collapsed; also that the cement was poured in cold weather and dried under steam heat. As it happened, we were in the Yukon when both pillars were found to be cracked. Layman, at least, connect the two facts.

The Peace River, itself, was apparently so named as a boundary between the enemy Beaver and Nahanni Indians.

We became acquainted with our travelling companion, the frail but far-spreading communications system. Its long line of telegraph poles with its glistening strands of copper wire, stayed beside us for the most part, in its own broad bulldozed clearing. I understand this was installed from Fairbanks to Helena, Montana, giving inter-communication between airfield, highway and American army headquarters. Booster stations are to be seen every 100 miles of the highway's length, and one can phone or wire almost any town on the continent.

Fort St. John was a fair-size town bustling with Saturday afternoon activity. It is the last before Whitehorse with a variety of businesses. It should be in a strategic position to thrive greatly. Thousands of acres near it and much farther north have been tentatively acquired and occasionally cropped.

MISS JANET ATTLEE, 24, eldest daughter of Prime Minister and Mrs. Clement Attlee, whose engagement to former R.A.F. sergeant Harold W. Shipton of Shrewsbury has been announced. The wedding, which friends say will be a quiet one, will probably take place in November. Miss Attlee served with the W.A.A.F. during the war, and is now an assistant psychologist at the Fishponds Hospital, Bristol. Her fiancé, 26, is an electronics engineer.

WANT PIPELINE COST

Fruit orchardists in the area from Gordon Ritchie's to C. A. Gayton's property have asked the council for an estimate on the cost of a pipeline to provide sprinkling irrigation. This estimate is to be obtained by Water Foreman E. Kercher. Mrs. W. Kelstad has applied for sprinkling irrigation but the application cannot be approached until it is known what precautions will be undertaken to dispose of surplus water.

Fort St. John was a fair-size town bustling with Saturday afternoon activity. It is the last before Whitehorse with a variety of businesses. It should be in a strategic position to thrive greatly. Thousands of acres near it and much farther north have been tentatively acquired and occasionally cropped.

That evening we travelled over utterly wilderness country, with a glorious panorama of river and row after row of heavy spruce-covered mountains, which made us feel alone on top of a whole world. The road here seemed to show its military purpose, trying to get where it was going the quickest way, instead of very easy winding grades around the mountains. Part of the panorama was seeing the white road in the distance disappear as it went straight up a hill, then re-appear still farther away as it went up the next one. Even the grade over Trutch Mountain, a distance of 22 miles to the other side, is so broad and easy to drive that it is good travelling. This summit is the second highest point on the highway, 3,984 feet. Near here we met two really giant trucks loaded with some of the million dollar Canal project pipe headed for Leduc. Oil wells.

As it would soon be dark we started looking for a stopping place. It is hard to get off the road because of a broad excavated ditch. However, we came upon an abandoned army camp at Mile 209 and decided to drive into the enormous equipment garage in case of another night rain. It was like a small hangar, with cement floor but all its windows smashed. As there was evidence of bears having been in the building, we suddenly realized that we shouldn't have left our food containers out on the floor. We knew this was an area where big game hunters found stone sheep, woodland caribou, elk, moose, grizzly, black and brown bear, near the main range of the Rockies.

But our visitors were human ones. It was indeed a surprise to be wakened by flashlight and voices when we thought we were many miles from anyone—also a coincidence that apparently two other cars chose that spot in the wilderness for shelter.

CANVASSERS START TRAINS COLLIDE NORTH OF OYAMA

Mr. C. J. Huddleston, in charge of the Salvation Army Red Shield campaign here, states that the canvassers have now commenced their tour of the district but no results will be available for a week. He urges all persons to contribute generously to this appeal, as the Salvation Army is renowned for its good work.

KELOWNA—Crewmen of two Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway trains miraculously escaped injury about 5 a.m. on September 18 when a CNR freight train plowed into the rear of a CPR switcher, as it was spotting empty cars one quarter of a mile north of the Oyama station. While no one was injured, it is understood the caboose and one box car toppled over an embankment, while another freight car left the tracks. Several other cars were badly damaged.

Poor visibility was blamed for the collision. Both trains were proceeding in a southerly direction. The CNR train was going at a slow speed, it was understood, but the engineer failed to see the CPR switcher until it was too late. Fortunately there was no one in the caboose of the CPR train at the time.

EDITORIAL

A Leader Retires

Premier John Hart's announced resignation as premier of B.C. and leader of the Liberal party is no surprise, as the general public was given plenty of warning. However, it is with a certain feeling of sadness that we witness the near-conclusion of a brilliant political career.

Even his enemies, and he has few, would not dispute that Jon Hart has proved himself one of the most brilliant leaders in British Columbia history. His capacity for leadership was made more evident by his successful efforts to lead not only his own party followers but also those other partners in the Coalition, the Progressive Conservatives.

With the passing out of the political picture of Premier Hart, however, there should be no talk of a dissolution of the coalition-type government. There are other able leaders in these two old-line parties and whereas they may not be as colorful or have quite the political sagacity of a John Hart, yet they could ably lead this province in the next few years.

We can look forward to some months of political jousting. The Liberals favor Hon. Gordon Wismer, attorney-general, or Byron I. "Boss" Johnson, for the leadership, not only of their party but of the province. The Tories are not going to allow their leader, Herbert Anscomb to be sidetracked without a struggle.

It will be an interesting tussle, but the two parties should not lose sight of the coalition benefits while they are choosing their new chieftan. To dissolve partnership now would only mean that the CCF, representing a socialist type government, would walk right up the path left unguarded.

Premier Hart has guided the legislature through some difficult times in the war period, although he has had the advantage of full pockets most of the time. He proved that a welding of the old-line parties could be effected in the face of grave doubts expressed by many of the old die-hards.

He has proved the coalition as a workable basis of government, although many weak points have been uncovered, we admit. We hope that his successor will prove as able and strong.

A Successful Season

With the World Series in the dustbin, and our own summer sport season at an end, we can look back over a summer which gave us as keen a bit of competition as we can hope to see for some time.

Summerland Merchants won the South Okanagan baseball title in a toss-up series with Rutland and then lost the league title to Princeton in as sweet a sudden-death contest as has been witnessed here for many a moon.

It was a good ball season all the way through, except that during the main part of the season, when you expect lots of baseball, there was a dearth of games.

Next year, Summerland ball tossers can expect to move into their new stamping grounds at the Living Memorial athletic park. This new athletic field will prove to be as fine as anything in the interior. The ball park will be a real credit to the community and should inspire the ball players to greater heights.

After such a successful season, the ball team should look ahead now to the 1948 season and start building up a team which will bring even greater credit to the community. With such a ball park, the Merchants deserve to step one bracket higher and enter the international league.

In order to do this, however, they will have to find additional pitching strength and also plug up one or two holes in the defensive strength of the club.

Whatever the decision, the ballplayers can rest assured that they turned in a magnificent season and roundly deserve the plaudits of their many followers throughout this district. And there isn't a community in the Okanagan more baseball conscious than Summerland.

With darkness setting in so much earlier these days, it is more than ever imperative that pedestrians remember that they should walk on the left hand side of the road. By so doing they are avoiding unnecessary risk to themselves and also are aiding the drivers who may not see the lone walker because of the glaring headlights of an approaching automobile.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Queer fellows, these scientists! Who but a doctor of philosophy would spend all day sitting on an apple box sifting soil to find out how many worms it contains. This is what I found Dr. Kenneth King doing when I visited the experimental station last Friday. Dr. King has charge of the laboratory for control of field crop insects located at Victoria. I spent a few minutes chatting with him and the following is the gist of our conversation.

Agrologist: Good morning, Dr. King, and what might you be doing this fine day?

Dr. King: I am sifting this soil to find out how many worms it contains.

A: You are going fishing, I presume.

Dr. K.: There is nothing that I would like to do better than spend a day fishing. However it is not angle worms, but wireworms for which I am looking this morning. I might explain that I am endeavoring to ascertain the wireworm population in this soil on which Billy May has had difficulty in raising vegetables this past few years. I plan to test the efficiency of two soil fumigants as a means of killing off wireworms with which this soil is infested. The first step is to count the number of wireworms in cubic foot samples of soil taken from various locations in the plot. We will then apply the soil fumigant and after a day or two make another count to ascertain how many of the wireworms have been killed.

A: What soil fumigants are you using?

Dr. K.: I am testing ethylene dibromide and benzene hexachloride.

A: I should think that the names themselves would frighten any self respecting wireworm. Are there any common names by which these materials are known?

Dr. K.: Ethylene dibromide is being sold under the trade name of Dowfume W-40, and the other material is sometimes called Gammexane or 6-6-6.

A: How are these materials applied?

Dr. K.: The Dowfume W-40 is dissolved in kerosene and applied in liquid form. We are using a simple gadget which applies the material during the operation of ploughing. The Gammexane is put up in dust form. We are spreading this material with a fertilizer spreader. It is applied on the surface of the ground and immediately ploughed under. Both these vaporize in the soil, and the resulting vapor is very lethal to wireworms.

A: Could I use either of these materials in my own vegetable garden?

Dr. K.: Yes, the Dowfume W-40 can be applied with a hand applicator. However, where this procedure is followed the commercial product should be diluted with three times its volume of kerosene. Where the Gammexane is used in small gardens, it can be spread on the surface of the soil at the rate of 75 pounds per acre and lightly spaded in.

A: Do these materials have any injurious effect on plants?

Dr. K.: Yes, there is some danger of injuring plants unless proper precautions are taken. Seeding should not be done until about a week after the Dowfume has been applied. On the other hand Gammexane can be used in gardens where crops have already been planted. This material, however, has a very obnoxious odor. In fact it stinks! Furthermore, it gives root vegetables an undesirable flavor. Accordingly, it should not be used where root crops such as potatoes and carrots are to be grown.

All of which indicates that gardeners who have been plagued for years by wireworms now have practical methods for dealing with these pests. Apparently entomologists are of some use after all. Furthermore, the fact that Dr. King parked his car near enough to his work to enable him to listen in on the World Series over his car radio indicates that he is quite human in spite of being a doctor of philosophy.

Pioneer Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO

October 5, 1917

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has resigned as Liberal leader. He will celebrate his 77th birthday in November.

The Dunsdon dam will not be built this fall but deferred a year. The upper dam will be strengthened further and made safe, capable of bearing the heavier strain which the additional two feet more to its height will put on it. Under the revised plans, the capacity of the north main ditch will be enlarged and connection with Jones Flat and Siwash Flat distributing systems made, plus provision for the getting of more water into the reservoir from Trout Creek.

Okanagan centres are opposing strongly the CPR move to institute a tri-weekly boat service this winter.

Due to a difference of opinion with the provincial Scout secretary, Scoutmaster John Tait has resigned his post.

Heavy wind damage to the apple crop at Kelowna means that more apples will be available for the evaporating plant.

L/Cpl. A. J. Adams, in a letter to his aunt, Mrs. Harry Dunsdon, confirms the report that Harry Barkwill, well-known young citizen is missing overseas.

The rural route was taken over on Monday by J. E. Phinney, who is covering the distribution by motor car.

"Where the world over, could one find more perfect weather than we in the South Okanagan are enjoying in October. Bright, sunny days with the temperature running up to eighty and with nice warm evenings, nothing could excel it."

The first class of recruits under the Military Service Act will be called up on Saturday, October 13. Unmarried men or widowers without children, 20 years of age but under 35, are in the first class.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

October 7, 1927

No new cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Kelowna for the past ten days, but other valley centres are keeping a tight rein on the restrictions barring Kelowna residents from entering their boundaries.

St. Andrew's church, West Summerland, was the wedding scene on Wednesday afternoon when Miss Olive Bristow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bristow, Summerland became the bride of Mr. James Strother son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Strother, Norham, Northumberland England. Rev. T. W. Reed officiating.

Another slide on the Lakeshore road caused a traffic tieup on Thursday which will take to Saturday to clear. It was between Summerland and Crescent Beach. Mr. Rand having crossed the point just a few moments before the slide came down.

FURTHER TALKS ON PGE HELD AT VICTORIA

For two days Premier John Hart, with officials of the railways department including Mr. J. M. Stewart, deputy minister of railways and Mr. C. R. Crysedale, railway location engineer, have been in conference with Mr. S. W. Fairweather, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways who came to Victoria following a visit to the Peace River district where he studied on the ground data pertinent to the proposed extension of the Pacific Great Eastern railway.

Following the preliminary conference between the premier and Mr. Fairweather, a full-dress conference was held last Friday when there were present in addition to the premier and Mr. Fairweather, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Crysedale, and Mr. M. W. Maxwell, chief of development for the CNR. Profiles and statistics dealing with railroad construction and operation, and data obtained from the latest resources surveys of coal resources and forest resources of the Peace River district were studied and thoroughly discussed.

It is expected that the next move in connection with the negotiations for the extension of the PGE railway will be the calling of a conference of the principals affected, namely, the dominion government, the CNR and the provincial government.

It is of interest that while these negotiations have been proceeding further overtures have been made by American interests who are anxious to participate in the development of the great resources empire of the northeastern part of B.C.

MEN WHO MADE OKANAGAN HISTORY — THOMAS ELLIS

Orchard Then - Main Street Now

IN 1869, what is now Penticton's main street was an orchard, planted on the home ranch of Thomas Ellis, cattle king of the Southern Okanagan and former owner of Penticton townsite. Newly arrived from Ireland, Thomas Ellis started his cattle ranching ventures in 1865. Before many years had passed, he secured such large land holdings that they extended from the Okanagan Lake close to the international boundary. Hard-headed, resourceful, Thomas Ellis was a memorable pioneer of the '80's—the era of the Okanagan cattle rancher.

Since the turn of the century, the cattle rancher has given place to the fruit grower. As its oldest and largest financial institutions, Okanagan Investments Ltd. and Okanagan Trust Company have been long associated with the progress of the Okanagan and for thirty-eight years have witnessed and aided in the steady growth of the fruit-growing industry.

PERSONAL LOANS FOR PERSONAL EMERGENCIES

LOW-COST LOANS FOR ONLY 1/2 OF 1% PER MONTH

Life has a habit of presenting us with unexpected problems that seem to upset our best-laid plans. Most of us tackle these problems as part of the game of life—but every now and then the lack of ready money creates additional complications.

The Bank of Montreal's Personal Loan Plan was designed to help people meet such emergencies—to pay medical expenses, repair a leaky roof, or other unexpected expenses. This low-cost loan plan has simplified borrowing for many. You can borrow $100, repayable in twelve monthly instalments, for only 27c a month—and there are no extra charges. The loan itself, which may be more or less than $100, can be repaid in monthly instalments over a shorter or longer period. The cost remains proportionately the same—6% interest per annum.

If you need money, and are in a position to make repayment, drop in and see Mr. Muirhead, local manager of the B of M, or the accountant, Mr. Cornwall. You will like their friendly, helpful attitude, and you will find that if your proposition is sound, there's money for you at the B of M. Adv.

Fresh Fruit By Plane To Eastern Markets Within Range of Valley In Opinion of Rotary Speaker

An insight into what future aviation may hold in store, along with interesting anecdotes on the first trans-Atlantic ferry service undertaken by Bomber Command of the RCAF, held the keen interest of Summerland Rotarians last Friday evening at the Nu-Way Annex when Mr. S. Cannings, of the Plant Pathology laboratory staff was speaker.

Inauguration of the CPAL flight from Vancouver to Calgary with a stop at the Okanagan airport in Penticton has brought closer to Okanagan people as a practical reality, Mr. Cannings believed.

TCA is interested in air freight service touching the Okanagan, with the plan to taxi fresh fruit to the markets of Canada.

The recent flight of a plane from Labrador to England, without a pilot and entirely controlled from takeoff to landing by automatic controls indicates how aviation has advanced even since the war, he emphasized.

Tree-Ripened Fruit
From Washington centres, fruit freight business by plane has developed greatly and has now reached a point where tree-ripened fruit is being placed onto eastern United States markets one to two days after picking. This is a luxury business and growers receive a premium for the fruit delivered in this manner.

With these observations, Mr. Cannings declared that air transport is now a practical reality and activity that seemed to be in the distant future a short time ago is now an accomplished fact right here.

At the cessation of hostilities in Europe, Bomber Command was detailed to ferry some 160 Lancasters, Canadian-made, back to Canada in preparation for the Pacific show. The regular ferry command could not cope with this added burden and it fell to the lot of Bomber Command to transport their own ships.

After a month's training under air transport command, the best squadrons were chosen for the flights and Mr. Cannings squadron was the first chosen to take off. The speaker was a flight engineer with the RCAF.

Off to Azores

All the pilots were naturally excited with the prospect of inaugurating this service and returning home more quickly than they had imagined. The first squadron was assembled at Cornwall, and after some delay, set off for the Azores, 1,400 miles away. The trip took seven hours and thirty minutes and the navigator landed them right on the islands without benefit of beams. Most of the trip was taken at 12000 foot level.

The island on which they landed was composed of a town area and an airport, the biggest the air crew had ever seen, with one runway over two miles long. As it is one of the crossroads of world travel, four-engine transports were landing every twenty minutes. He stated that the organization was wonderful.

Three days later, the squadron took off for Gander, Newfoundland, the last sight of the Azores being a tiny island consisting of a volcanic peak rising out of the ocean a height of 7,000 feet.

Gander is also a large international landing field, which is a complete city in itself. Next morning, the squadron was off for Canada and it was a race to see which plane would land on native soil first.

Mr. Cannings had nothing but praise for the Lancaster, which he compared to the Spitfire in the fighter class. In design and ability he does not think the Lancaster could be beaten for a bomber. This type of machine is now being converted for photographic work and a Lancaster, thus fitted, recently visited the airport at Penticton.

"The people who could design and build a machine so wonderful as the Lancaster will not go down without a big struggle," he opined in closing.

NO PRIVATE GIFT APPLE SHIPMENTS TO OLD COUNTRY

The British government is still adamantly opposed to private shipments of gift apples in standard containers from Canadians who wish to supplement their Old Country friends' diet with fresh fruits.

B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., has been advised that after further discussions at the "highest levels" in the government a decision not to alter previous stands has been reaffirmed. President A. K. Loyd, in making this announcement last week, said that this is considered the final word. The season is so far advanced now that if permission were granted great difficulty would be encountered in making the necessary shipping arrangements.

This ban is in no way related to plans proposed to send carlots of apples to the Old Country as wedding gifts for Princess Elizabeth. Such transactions, if developed, would be through ordinary commercial channels, Mr. Loyd said.

About the only avenue left for sending of gift apples—and it is a most unsatisfactory one—is in the 20-pound food packages. Just what would be the condition of apples shipped this way is not known, but it certainly would not be favorable.

Two Vernon Lives Are Endangered

VERNON—The hunting season has meant a brush with death for two people in the Vernon area. Williams Simmons, of this city, was struck by buckshot from the gun of an unknown hunter firing from the other side of a slough on the Indian reserve about 10 miles north west of Vernon. He had five pellets removed from his flesh but was not seriously hurt. Two .25 calibre rifle bullets ripped through the kitchen about a foot from where Mrs. S. Harrison was working in her home 12 miles past Lumby on the Sugar Lake road.

Reeve W. R. Powell and Mrs. Powell left on Sunday morning on the first leg of a journey which will take them to New York and eastern and southern states. Their motor trip will take at least six weeks, they believe, and will be a duplicate of a journey they accomplished 27 years ago when the highways were not in the splendid condition of present-day times. The well-known Summerland couple will accompany Professor Enzo Loop and Mrs. Loop on this trip. Mrs. Loop is Mrs. Powell's sister.

PIONEER TEACHER PASSES AWAY

Death came yesterday, Wednesday, morning to a pioneer resident of Summerland, Mrs. Agnes Ballantyne Wright, who died in the Summerland hospital. Mrs. Wright was the widow of the late John Wright, who predeceased her about 12 years ago.

Mrs. Wright was one of the first school teachers in Summerland, where she had lived for nearly 40 years, having been the first teacher in charge of the old Garnett Valley school. Mrs. Wright also taught in Meadow Valley and West Summerland.

The deceased was born about 75 years ago, in Ontario.

Surviving are two nephews, Mr.

Allan Ballantyne of Victoria, who is expected to arrive in Summerland tomorrow, Friday morning, and Mr. George Armstrong of Regina, Sask.

Funeral services will be held from St. Andrew's United church on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 11 at 2 o'clock, with Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiating. Interment will be in Peach Orchard cemetery, with the Summerland Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

SMALL PRIVATE PLANE IN FORCED LANDING HERE

In a forced landing when their deHaviland Moth was running low in gas, Miss D. Schuk guided the small machine in to the partially flooded meadow land in Prairie Valley just before dusk on Friday evening, while R. Lovell crawled out on a wing to guide her in.

The plane was on a flight from Kamloops to Princeton and carried Technocracy Inc. markings.

Replenishing the fuel supply, the plane took off again about 7 o'clock in darkness, still bound for Princeton, the aviators having obtained their bearings.

In a short space of time, the flooded field was crowded with eager spectators, most of them walking out in water over their boot-tops to see the plane, which came to ground near a haystack.

The plane occupants were reticent in discussions of their eventual destination or the reason for their forced landing here.

Canada at the U.N. Assembly

Loyd Urges CFA To Continue Pressing For Marketing Act

Citing the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association as a typical example of what can be achieved through orderly marketing of products which in the long run has removed suicidal and foolish "grower vs grower" competition, A. K. Loyd, president and general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited called upon the directors of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture to use their utmost influence in bringing about an orderly marketing system.

Speaking at a public meeting in Kelowna, Wednesday, Sept. 24, Mr. Loyd reviewed the past, present and future outlook of the fruit industry. Mr. Loyd recalled that in 1939, the position of the grower, while not as desperate as the early '30's, was so bad that the Fruit Growers' association was determined to take drastic action to improve the position. In the same year, a single selling agency was formed. "From its inception, good relations have been maintained with the many factors in the industry, and we believe that very considerable progress has been made on behalf of the producer," he declared.

"The producers in the orchards have supported the company in a steady campaign to improve and standardize the product, and a great deal of money has been expended, designed to meet the public's desires and to provide the housewife with a purchase which she will find acceptable."

Mr. Loyd pointed out that the company operates on a revenue derived from a per package charge for its services. Any portion of this income not used in the operation of the sales agency is returned to the growers in the way of rebates.

The company conducts its own advertising, derived from licence fees collected from the shippers by the fruit board. "Its quotations to the trade are uniform and steady. There are no special deals or hidden discounts. Returns from the various commodities are pooled and the same amount paid to every shipper for like varieties, grades and sizes."

Pooling System
"The effect of a pooling system such as this is advantageous to the producer. It enables the utilization of markets high and low, without the usual stampede into the higher market to the exclusion of other outlets, with the almost invariable result that the market is very soon ruined," he continued. "The system also does away with exploitation of growers, through their being used one against another for the purpose of breaking down the producer price."

After outlining the technical operations of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the speaker said that "With teamwork on the part of the growers and packing houses, a steady and consistent effort is directed towards the improving of the commodity, and we believe that, the very fact that we are able to sell it in other producing provinces is proof that progress has been made in this direction."

"The Canadian Federation of Agriculture has been in the forefront of a move to place on the statute books, dominion legislation which shall be supplementary to provincial legislation already existing," Mr. Loyd declared. "It is of the highest importance that such legislation should be available, and bear in mind that it would never be used unless the majority of the producers in any district were in favor of implementing a scheme under its provisions. We earnestly hope the Federation will continue their demands for such legislation, designed to protect the primary producer."

Outgrow Market

After reviewing the Nova Scotia, Ontario and Quebec apple markets, Mr. Loyd said the British Columbia market was originally developed for the prairies. "As time went on, B.C. outgrew this market and participated to the extent of 50 per cent of the crop in United Kingdom exports, British Columbia, in addition to the U.K. market, developed other outlets, including Brazil, and during the war, a certain amount of shipping to the United States. To a lesser degree off-shore markets were utilized for small quantities," Mr. Loyd recalled.

"The past history of the industry has been one of great and consistent growth, particularly in the west, and due to the growing pains induced by this expansion, British Columbia thought it necessary to devise some method by which the suicidal competition among producers could be reduced. This internal warfare at one time reduced their returns to the vanishing point, and was equally unsatisfactory to distributive channels and the consumer."

In conclusion, Mr. Loyd declared that unified action by B.C. growers has raised the standard of the product. "It has given the wholesaler and retailer a standardized product, backed by the consolidated goodwill of the growers, upon which he can rely. It has eliminated bad debts and reduced claims to the point where they are paid only on such products as justify a fair claim by the distributor. It has brought back more of the consumer's dollar to the producer than any method heretofore tried. It has spread the burdens of the industry on the shoulders of all, and it has provided a means whereby the teamwork of growers, shippers and marketing organizations can be streamlined to the mutual benefit of the grower and the consumer."

Fascinating Features of Alaska Highway Trip Recounted

(By Mrs. Margaret Solly)

Installment 4

Morning in such airy surroundings came cold enough to make us realize we were at a higher altitude than we were used to. It also caused us to hurry through our breakfast-making on our cherished Coleman stove. Ginger-ale was our coffee substitute as the army hadn't left any water pump for our use.

On our way again, I venture to say we went 60 miles without a straightaway longer than 300 yards and the same distance without passing a car. That probably means only that others didn't keep our travelling hours. For there was a reasonable amount of traffic on this highway.

What kinds? First of all, many oil and gasoline trucks run a steady schedule to supply all settlements. Large trucks constantly freight foodstuffs and other needs from warehouses in Dawson Creek. True, the freight rate is over $6.00 per 100 lb. to Whitehorse, but with the coming of more competition and less pioneering this could be reduced somewhat.

Pick ups, jeeps, army trucks and equipment for road maintenance and inspection are seen often as they operate from their maintenance camps. These are spaced about 75 miles apart and contain complete machinery repair shops, garages and home for the men and their families, with all modern comforts including refrigeration and oil heating.

The British Yukon Navigation Co., the large transportation company operating from Whitehorse, runs a bus service three times a week to Dawson Creek twice weekly in winter. The O'Hara Bus Lines operates from Whitehorse to Fairbanks. As nowhere is this highway very high in deep snow-fall areas, it is an all-weather road, more perfect even in winter than in summer. It is rumoured that Greyhound will also run a schedule next year.

Travellers use cars alone, or more often, cars with trailers, from homemade box trailers for equipment to small hotels on wheels. There are also station wagons and many light deliveries.

Where from? An occasional B.C. one from around Dawson Creek, one or two from Saskatchewan and Alberta, the rest from the United States and Alaska. I imagine the Florida license was the most distant.

The heart-warming atmosphere of friendliness among the tourists is a pleasant thing. I suppose the vast distances and common experiences draw them together. You greet one another with sincere interest in one's doings and the spirit of camaraderie is evident as you pass and re-pass one another.

Indian Creek seemed well named. On its banks was an encampment of tepees, many dogs and a corral with about 20 horses. We passed several groups of horses on the road that day. Evidently they were being taken north in readiness for big game hunts. Later, our way was barred by a mass of them. We learned that the two horsemen and a boy, accompanied by 2 pack horses, were taking these 35 horses many miles north to the Rapid River for hunts.

We followed the sidehills of the Prophet River valley to its junction with the Muskwa, which is Indian for "bear". There is apparently fine soil in a large area from here north with a climate reported by some, to be better than in the Peace River district. Seeing thousands of acres of this empty land inaccessible until now, you can realize one reason why only 2% of British Columbia's 288,000,000 acres are used for farming.

It was a distinct surprise to me to see how little there was of Fort Nelson, Mile 300, other than the highway maintenance camp and repeater station. The 150-year-old fort is across the river. It is from here those exploring the South Nahanni, the "Headless Valley", of recent interest, set out.

After a 14-mile grade over Stambont Mountain we began to be among sharper rock mountains, with the serrated Rockies looming clear. The Totan river is little on the map but with such a broad stony bed, that it must be a torrent in flood. As it meanders so we crossed its north fork three times. At Summit lake, 4,285 feet, the highest point on the highway, we found a jewel lake of bright green.

As we broke through a narrow pass, we realized we must be in the Rockies proper. Beside us, the McDonald river showed plenty of stony room for thousands of gallons of run-off from the huge forested ridge of mountains sloping down to it.

The clouds lifted and lowered during the morning, but from the lunch-time on we had hot glorious weather to help us enjoy a 100-mile stretch of beautiful/regal scenery. Several eyes saw to me of the roadways to make before the highway. We frightened a black bear and two large crows who were feeding together on the highway.

That night we slept in the Yukon. The sun went down at 10:00 p.m. and soon after we found a perfect spot for a camp—a park-like open space with a road to it a quarter of a mile from the highway, beside a round gem of a lake. It was our first night without some rain. We retraced our watches an hour in the morning and after a good breakfast, by the motionless lake we set off on our last day in bright sun.

It was a day of Jack-pine, hundreds of acres of it, no hundreds of square miles of it. It grew so close, how could an animal get through? It had spindly trunks, and no wonder, as it grew often only 3 or 4 inches apart. We gave a lift to an Indian for a time, plying him for information. He said he had been lost in that jack-pine last winter. He had just brought a horse from his home, 150 miles up the wilderness of the Dease river, to pack for a survey party.

By the crossroads at Watson lake we took a picture of curiosity. Two signposts had been erected side by side. People had filled them by whimsically nailing up narrow signboards, with name and mileage of their home city crudely painted on; Pittsburgh, 3,200 miles; Yakima, Wash., 2,301 miles, etc. There is now one on there pointing to Summerland, 1,650 miles.

UPWA LOSES IN VOTE

RUTLAND—The UPWA-CIO lost out in the ballot taken recently at the Rutland branch of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange, in an effort to obtain recognition of their union for bargaining purposes. It was reported that the vote was very close. The UPWA and the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers Union are both working hard to sign up new members.

Unbounded Optimism

It is refreshing to hear W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan talk on the future prospects, not only of the Okanagan but of Canada as a whole.

This valley hardware merchant not only has a personality which oozes optimism, but he backs it up with sound arguments. He refers to the prairies which are prosperous now despite the lowest wheat prices in the world. All Canada, he points out, depends for its prosperity on the continued success of the prairie producer.

Even if the world wheat price drops considerably below its present figure, Canadian prices will still be in line and the cereal producer will be obtaining the same relative returns.

Here in the Okanagan, Mr. Bennett looks for a continuation and even an increase in production and in population. He looks with some scorn at those who wonder where all the newcomers will find employment.

Granted, he knows there will be temporary little setbacks here and there, but from a broad British Columbia and national picture, Mr. Bennett enthuses over the years to come. His is an attitude which more of us could copy to our benefit.

Dream Come True

Last week's official opening of the maternity wing and nurses' residence at the Summerland hospital, climaxed nearly three years of continuous planning and achievement on the part of the hospital board of directors, backed by the municipal council and the community at large.

Two handsome, well-constructed buildings, tastefully furnished have resulted from this long three-year program. One had only to see the beaming countenance of the normally sober-visaged Hospital President S. A. MacDonald to believe that last Wednesday's opening was an achievement out of the ordinary.

The hospital society received well-merited plaudits from the many visitors to the new project.

This new addition to the hospital accommodation comes just in time. Summerland's population is at a new peak but there are indications that it will go higher. Thirty beds are available at the Summerland hospital now, and that will be barely sufficient to care for the needs of this increased population, despite the many hours of sunshine we enjoy.

Stirling Retires

Last week's announcement that Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale, and a former minister of national defense in the Bennett regime, is retiring from active political life because of ill health, is heard throughout the interior with a keen sense of regret.

It has been well known that the popular federal member has been carrying on under difficult circumstances for some time past but it was hoped by all his many friends that he would be able to recuperate this summer and return to his duties on Parliament hill at Ottawa.

Yale riding has been extremely fortunate in being represented at Ottawa by a man who has earned the respect and esteem of his colleagues of every political faith.

Hon. Grote Stirling has never been a politician in the accepted sense of the word. He has been a statesman, whose unerring sense of fair play and the fitness of things has carried him far in the realm of Canadian public life.

Although he has always carried a firm conviction of the rightness of Tory politics, Mr. Stirling has been able to see the other man's points of view and his canny judgment has earned him the rapt attention of the House on the rare occasions he has joined in debate.

Mr. Stirling has never been a man to join in debate simply to indicate to his electors that he is sitting in the House. His fellow members of parliament recognized this trait and when Mr. Stirling rose to speak they realized that he had weighed the subject carefully and his words would be those of a man carefully versed in his subject.

Throughout the years, Mr. Stirling has been the Okanagan's watchdog at Ottawa. Always a proponent of dominion marketing legislation, he has been consistent in his endeavors to assist the primary producers of Canada in this respect. It has been to a great extent due to his earnest pleas that the government is now on the eve of providing Canada's agriculture with its much-needed legislation.

It is unfortunate that Mr. Stirling will not be present at Ottawa when Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner brings down the long-sought marketing act for which the Yale member has fought for years.

Regardless of their party politics, his host of friends and admirers throughout Yale riding are joining in wishing Hon. Grote Stirling a speedy recovery from his present illness and happiness in his remaining years, free from the worry of the endless debates on Parliament hill.

He can rest in his spacious Kelowna home, with the assurance of a task well done and requited by the respect in which he is held throughout this Dominion.

THE Feminine Front

Muriel Hurry

"You can't blame kids for going wrong," states Sydney J. Harris in his syndicated column, Strictly Personal. Adolescent children, through the medium of periodicals and newspapers can see how racketeering pays off, availed Mr. Harris, if you build it up big enough.

The majority of public contempt is pointed at the small-time shyster, while the really big operators move in the best social circles and spend the seasons at fashionable resorts.

I found Mr. Harris' article very interesting, giving an angle to the subject of impressionable juvenility to which I had never given much thought.

Not too long ago the newspapers were filled with accounts of the assassination of one Bugsy Siegel, who was shot by gangsters in Hollywood. His is an American success story, claimed Mr. Harris, as far as impressionable kids are concerned. Beautiful women, a mansion in Beverley Hills, a $6,000,000 night club in Las Vegas were among the possessions of the notorious Bugsy whose origin was in the East Side streets of New York city. The movie set and cafe society apparently made Bugsy welcome, and reports of his dining with Barbara Hutton and yachting with the Countess di Frasso were read in movie columns.

First Impressions

Although our young people are generally taught that honesty is the only policy are they to be blamed for doubting the principals of their teachers when the more impressionable teachers, as represented by the daily papers and the movies and other popular periodicals, show them so clearly that crime, operated on a lavish scale, often does pay, at least for a time.

Mr. Harris points out that these racketeers, who are prominent in the American entertainment empires, sporting circles, etc., would find it almost impossible to operate without political protection, which brings the resultant responsibility to bear directly on the public.

Racketeers like Bugsy, pointed out Mr. Harris, learned at an early age that power was respected the world over, and especially in North America, where the easy-going public is prone to close its eyes to civic duties and responsibilities.

I found a great deal of truth in this column by Mr. Harris, who did not pull his punches. I know that gangster films, movie strips and detective magazines claim to point out to the youth of the country that crime does not pay, and always portray the criminal losing in the end. But they outline the mistakes of the criminal in detail, and any youngster with a healthy respect for his mental powers will then conclude that all he has to do to make crime pay is to avoid those carefully pointed out mistakes.

Capital Punishment

I have never believed in capital punishment for murderers. It seems to me that covering up one murder by committing another, even if legalized by the law courts, does not rectify the first crime. However, I also realize that murderers should not be turned loose upon society to enable them to take another life, and to me, death seems preferable to a life of imprisonment.

The other day in Vancouver, two young men were hung for murder, with one of the murderers committing his crime in a frenzied panic during an armed robbery. Jack Scott, in his Vancouver Sun column, Our Town, discusses the repulsiveness of the death penalty. He states quite truthfully I believe that many young men like the obnoxious movie show no other lives. He admits that they are a menace to society, but that they are too often the products of conditions in which only the strongest survive. One paragraph of Jack's column impressed me very much, to quote—"the taking of a life by society is in itself a waste and the law of the land makes it impossible to salvage such men. Even behind prison walls a man might make a contribution to society, might find a useful and purposeful life.

Destruction solves nothing."

No Deterrent

It is claimed by authorities that the death penalty is not a deterrent to murder, as few murders are premeditated. They are generally the result of fits of passion, fear and quick, extreme anger. Almost all murders are committed without a thought of the result

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

The big excitement at the station this week has been surfacing of the road which connects the ornamental and office area with the main highway at Trout Creek bridge. This project is an excellent example of the fact that dominion, provincial and municipal governments can and often do work harmoniously together in the public interest. The funds for the project—quite an important item—have been provided by the dominion government. The asphaltic mulch is being mixed and delivered on the job by the provincial department of public works. Spreading of this material on the road is being accomplished by use of the Summerland municipal grader.

My observations when I visited the station revealed that all parties concerned were working together most harmoniously and with great enthusiasm. The whole project is under the general supervision of Engineer H. W. Stevens of the provincial department of public works. Under his direction Foreman Saucier is attending to the actual mixing of the asphalt and gravel and delivering the same to the locations where it is spread. Not only public works trucks but also municipal trucks and privately owned trucks are being used in order to speed up the work.

Les Gould seemed to be enjoying himself immensely spreading the road material with the municipal grader. As might be expected he was doing an excellent job. The regular farm crew was also taking a hand. I noted Wesley Davis and Ernest Deringer very busy raking surfacing materials into the odd corners around the office building which could not be reached by the municipal grader.

After being graded into place, the surfacing material was being rolled with a heavy roller. I gathered that this roller was actually the property of the provincial department of public works, but has been loaned to the municipality so long that some people now consider it belongs to Summerland. It was being pulled by the Ford truck owned by the experimental station and operated by Clarence Meadows.

Even the great CPR has co-operated wholeheartedly in this undertaking. Vice-President Reid Johnston, after many wires and protestations, finally succeeded in having a carload of asphalt, which was billed to Summerland Yest, re-routed and spotted on the siding at Winslow!

All of which indicates that great works can be accomplished by the united efforts of men of goodwill.

or without caring about the result. And all murderers are mentally unbalanced, prominent psychiatrists have stated.

It is an accepted fact that veterans returning from overseas combat service need mental rehabilitation, and every aid is given them. Why then, refuse this same aid to sufferers probably much more in the need of help?

It is a problem to aid these outcasts of a blameable environment without making the payment for murder a bed of roses. It will take wisdom and stern but sympathetic understanding. As all social workers realize, the cause of an illness is the basic point to study, and if this cause is eliminated the result will also be eliminated. The cause here seems to be environment.

Social workers are doing a wonderful job of helping underprivileged children, and show sympathy and understanding in their handling of the situations which arise. However, public aid and co-operation must be given them. The great American public, stated Mr. Harris, is guilty of "sloth," which is one of the seven deadly sins. Why then, should we condemn another man for committing any one of all of the remaining six deadly sins?

Bags Four-Point In Meadow Valley

Jack Ellis of Meadow Valley, reported to The Review last week-end that he shot a four-point buck near his home to the west of Summerland. Deer are becoming fairly numerous in Mr. Ellis' district and quite a few have been shot there, he reports. However, other hunters report varying success in trips to other sections, indicating that the four-legged creatures are still keeping to the higher levels.

Reappointment of Mr. Logie as assessor, with Mr. Cooper to assist in appraising lots was accomplished by the council this week, with instructions being issued that a thorough revision and readjustment of relative values be made.

Output of exportable produce from the Okanagan this year is estimated at 3,700 cars, or some 500 cars in excess of last year's figure.

With enforcement of the military service act, British Columbia's first quota for the training camps will comprise some 1,500 men.

Work of finishing the upper storey of the Summerland hospital to provide nurses' sleeping accommodation and one or two more wards will be completed soon.

Erection of the first of the permanent buildings on the experimental station will be commenced at once. This will be a two-storey structure with concrete basement. Main floor will be devoted to offices while the floor above will be for exhibition purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Darke, who have been living in New Westminster for about a year, arrived here on Thursday. They will reside in Prairie Valley, where Mrs. Darke owns a fruit lot.

Three plans to give this community fire protection were discussed at a sparsely-attended meeting in the Rialto theatre. Mr. C. E. Bentley advocated a paid chief and a brigade paid for fires they attend; also the purchase of a gas engine. A committee of W. Ritchie, Ken Hogg, C. E. Bentley and Muir Stewart was appointed to work with the council on Mr. Bentley's plan.

The local council is objecting to the proposed application of H. Liddel to use flood water on Eneas creek.

Three new cases of infantile paralysis are reported in Kelowna this week.

Mr. W. A. "Bud" Stewart and Mr. George Perry were business visitors to Victoria last week, returning to their homes here at the week-end.

Grote Stirling's Area Does Not Get Share of Tourist Dollar

Representative of Yale riding in the House of Commons, Ottawa, since 1924, Hon. Grote Stirling, last week announced his retirement from public life from his sick bed at his Kelowna home.

It has been known for some time that Hon. Stirling had been in poor health. He is 72 years of age. On his return from Ottawa at the close of the last strenuous session, he was confined to bed. He recovered, however, and was able to address one or two meetings and had looked forward to attending the hospital opening ceremonies here last week.

However, he was stricken with another attack of sciatica last week and went to bed, where he may be for some time, Mrs. Stirling has stated.

Mr. Stirling went to Ottawa for the first time in 1924 when he was elected in a by-election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. A. McKelvie. He was re-elected at general elections in 1925, 1926, 1930, 1935, 1940 and 1945.

It was during the R. E. Bennett regime of 1930-35 that Mr. Stirling was named minister of national defense, which portfolio he held for more than a year.

During his term in the cabinet he was able to carry out a number of progressive steps for national defense which proved their worth a dozen years later.

Before going to Ottawa, Mr. Stirling's time was occupied as a civil engineer and fruit grower.

Letters and telegrams from all over Canada have been received by Mr. and Mrs. Stirling at their Kelowna home from well wishers of all parties who have come to know and respect the Progressive Conservative candidate for Yale.

It has been stated quite frequently that Hon. Grote Stirling is one man in politics at Ottawa whose views are respected by all parties and whenever he spoke the government listened intently.

RESPECTED GROWER OF COLDSTREAM DIES IN SLEEP

Death on Tuesday, October 7, removed from the Okanagan one of its best known and respected fruit growers in the person of Arthur T. Howe, of Coldstream. He was 87 years old, and passed away quietly in his sleep, suffering a heart seizure.

For many years Mr. Howe was the largest individual grower of McIntosh in the British Commonwealth, having specialized in this variety almost from the time of his first orchard purchase in 1913.

For years he operated the famed Patricia Jersey Farms, a fully-accredited herd of such proportions that almost every day saw the birth of at least one calf to his prize herd. Mr. Howe operated his own packing house under the firm of A. T. Howe Ltd.

Born in Bedfordshire, England, Mr. Howe came as a youth of 19 to Canada and commenced a wool and tannery business in Toronto. In 1913 he retired and a newspaper article on the Okanagan, which described this valley as a "Garden of Eden" prompted him to take a trip west. Arriving in Vernon, he purchased a 20-acre orchard from Col. Glossop.

States the Vernon News: "In almost 40 years as a grower, Mr. Howe participated fully in the industry's attempts to control sales of its own product. These culminated in 1939, when at the golden jubilee convention of the B.C.F.G.A. he moved the resolution which gave instructions for the setting up of the present B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. In 1944, in recognition of his outstanding services, he was made a life member of the association."

Back in 1923, he was the first president of the Associated Growers of B.C.

Mr. Howe's wife predeceased him twelve years ago. Surviving are one son, A. W. Howe of Toronto and one daughter, Mrs. David Henry, of Coldstream.

LEGALS

TIMBER SALE X43058

There will be offered for sale at Public Auction, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon of Friday, the 17th of October, 1947, in the office of the Forest Ranger at Penticton, the licence X43058, to cut 2,225,000 b.m. of Fir, Yellow Pine and Spruce, on an area at Bully Creek, Okanagan Division of Yale Land District.

Three (3) years will be allowed for removal of timber. "Provided anyone unable to attend the auction in person, may submit tender to be opened at the hour of auction and treated as one bid."

Further particulars may be obtained from the Deputy Minister of Forests, Victoria, B.C., or the District Forester at Kamloops, B.C.

"Summerland is not getting its share of the tourist dollar," succinctly reported Lorne G. Perry, head of the tourist committee, to the Summerland Board of Trade monthly meeting in the Legion hall on Thursday, in a written statement of his committee's progress this year.

Mr. Perry advocated a large sign to be placed at the West Summerland KVR station indicating that travellers had now reached "Summerland—the Gateway to the Okanagan", as Summerland is the first point reached by travellers along this railway line travelling east.

Summerland's first tourist cabins have now been opened in lower town, Summerland, Mr. Perry's report continued, with six cabins being available. He also spoke highly of the trailer camp on the north side of Trout creek and the new cabins proposed at the foot of Peach Orchard.

Need for a new hotel was stressed by Perry, coupling with this statement that credit is due to the Nu-Way management for the improvements carried out at their hostelry.

The committee chairman also referred to the proposal to prevent Greyhound buses parking on the main street and from a tourist standpoint strongly objected to any move which would mean that bus travellers would miss stopping in the business section of West Summerland.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S ELEMENTARY CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL

GRADES I - VIII

No child or adult in British Columbia need be denied an education since all regular school courses are available through the medium of correspondence.

Pupils who wish to take the elementary school subjects may do so by enrolling in the Elementary Correspondence School.

When attendance at a school is possible it is preferable to enroll in a regular school. Correspondence instruction, therefore, is restricted to children who because of location or health are unable to attend school.

A child living over three miles from a school or from a point where a school bus stops may enroll. Also eligible is the child who has a physical disability or an illness serious enough to prevent his attendance at school. This latter case must be vouched for by a doctor or a responsible school official.

Correspondence pupils can make excellent progress and can keep up in their grades if they are willing to work conscientiously and to follow a regular schedule. The courses are those prescribed for the schools of British Columbia and any pupil who has worked reasonably well can be expected to take his place in a regular classroom at any time during the school year should he have the opportunity to attend. In the same way credit will be given for the length of time spent in school should a transfer to the Elementary Correspondence School be necessary.

The Elementary Correspondence School has proved a valuable aid to isolated families and to children with disabilities who would otherwise not attend school. It has also helped pupils who have suffered from illnesses such as rheumatic fever. This type of illness necessitates a long convalescent period when it is impossible to attend school but when the child is usually well enough to do some school work. A correspondence course in the most essential subjects has made it possible for these pupils to keep up in their work to the extent of again taking their places with their classmates when they could return to school.

There is no charge for this service and all prescribed text books lent by the Department are provided for correspondence pupils.

Complete or partial courses in Grades I to VIII are available to adults without charge. Many adult students who did not complete grade school have prepared themselves for High School courses and Vocational courses in this way.

For application forms and information concerning children's and adult courses in Grades I to VIII please write to the Director, Elementary Correspondence School, Department of Education, Victoria, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Nield Are Happy As Family Here For Anniversary

Two happy, elderly people, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith Nield, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in their unpretentious but comfortable West Summerland cottage on Wednesday, October 15.

All members of their family were assembled for the happy reunion to mark the anniversary of the wedding ceremony performed fifty years ago at St. Mary's church, Sandbach, near Crewe, England. It was also on a Wednesday in 1897 that the ceremony took place.

Mr. Nield will be 80 on December 2, while Mrs. Nield celebrated her 77th birthday in September. This elderly couple are in good health and are remarkably spry for their advanced years. Their recollection of dates and names is quite surprising for persons who have lived for four score years.

"The time has gone quite quickly," was Mr. Nield's comment to The Review, in recollecting some of his past history. This is the first golden wedding in either Mr. Nield's or his wife's family, but they believe that people are living longer now than they did in past years.

Mr. Nield was one of ten children and his birthplace was Tunstall, Staffordshire, while Mrs. Nield, whose birthplace was Sandbach was one of six children. All their brothers and sisters have now passed on.

It was in 1911 that Mr. and Mrs. Nield and their family came out to Gleichen, Alta., where they took up farming. Hail and other troubles forced them to leave their prairie homestead and they moved to Calgary, where Mr. Nield entered the employ of P. Burns & Co. In 1923, they came to Summerland, where Mr. Nield operated a butcher shop for the Casorso Bros., of Kelowna. A few years later, when the Casorso firm wished to move him to another centre, Mr. Nield did not wish to leave his adopted home and so he purchased the butcher business here. For many years he operated his butcher trade in the store now occupied by William Verrier. In the early war years, due to uncertain health, he gave up the business and retired.

"I'm glad I am not in business today," he remarked to The Review intimating that the meat strike and government regulations would make the operation of a butcher store a difficult business, indeed.

Family of Six

"First a boy and then a girl", could be applied to Mr. and Mrs. Nield as their six youngsters came in that order. The eldest son, W. H. Nield, is a chartered accountant in Calgary; Mrs. Saxon Crossley resides in Vancouver; Arthur Stanley is in the construction trade at Banff, Alta.; Mrs. D. L. Sanborn and Dennis Nield reside in Summerland, and Mrs. Rud. Haar, is now in Vancouver.

All the children with the exception of Mrs. Haar were born in England prior to the family's removal to Canada.

Only regret that the elderly couple have expressed is that all the seven grandchildren could not be present for the anniversary.

Both principals are members of the Church of England and Mrs. Nield has been active in Anglican W. A. circles.

On Tuesday evening, all family members were present at a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sanborn. The anniversary was not marked by any formal gathering, but their many friends dropped in during the afternoon to extend their congratulations and best wishes for continued good health and happiness.

Good Response to Canada Savings Loan This Week

Facilities set up in larger B.C. plants, mills and companies prior to the opening of the Canada Savings Loan on October 14 and the personal interest displayed by those who do not come under the payroll category resulted in the Canada Savings Loan, second series, getting off to a flying start despite the fact that Monday was a holiday.

Lewis F. Worsley, payroll savings director for B.C., stated at the beginning of the week that the response from the management of most British Columbian companies has been excellent and co-operation exceeded even that shown in past Victory Loans.

"Facilities have been provided by management in most firms for the purchase of Canada Savings Bonds either for cash or by monthly payments," Mr. Worsley said. "Pre-loan canvass of employee reaction indicated a large percentage intended participating in the loan and we are looking forward to this reaction being translated into definite action."

Investment dealers, banks and other savings institution report a decided public interest with many limit $1,000 purchases recorded during the first two days.

Bonds, which are backed by the resources of the Dominion of Canada and bear 2 1/2 percent interest yearly for ten years, are issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1,000.

"To afford protection in event of loss each bond is registered in the name of the purchaser."

In offering this series of Canada Savings Bonds the Dominion government had in mind the value of widespread holdings of bonds in the national economy. Bonds already purchased have made more than a million Canadians better able to meet emergencies or carry out personal plans.

"Such personal resources are regarded as an element of strength and stability in our nation," Hon. Douglas Abbott, Minister of Finance, pointed out. "It is confidently expected that Canadians will again recognize this fine investment opportunity and will take full advantage of it."

John Shirras New B. C. Police Chief

Hon. G. S. Wismer, K.C., attorney-general, last week announced the retirement at the end of this month of Provincial Police Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons. Commissioner Parsons was appointed Commissioner and Inspector of Goals in 1939, but has been associated with the British Columbia Provincial Police since 1912.

He will be succeeded by Deputy Commissioner, John Shirras, who has been associated with the B.C. Provincial Police since 1926, having previously served as Chief Constable of Nanaimo.

Silver Tea Service For Royal Gift

A sterling silver tea service, symbolic of one of the four basic industries of British Columbia, namely mining, will be the wedding gift of the province to Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth, it is announced by Premier John Hart.

The service of "Old Victoria" design will be suitably inscribed with a message from the people of British Columbia to the Princess. There also will be engraved on the tray and each individual piece comprising the service the crest of the province of British Columbia.

WILL GO EAST

There is strong probability that Premier John Hart will go East before the end of the year, there to confer with Dominion, CPR, and CNR principals regarding the possible extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into the Peace River district.

SWIM CLASSES COST OVER $300

Operation of swim classes this season cost $308.70, Cecil Wade reported for the three committees which had charge of this work, to the board of trade monthly meeting last Thursday. This included improvements to the rafts, as well as arranging for the classes, he explained. The enrollment was 212 including a large group of beginners.

Mr. Wade spoke of prospects for 1948 and considered that the swim classes would function even more smoothly next season.

Funeral For Late Raymond Minshull Held at Coast

The death occurred on Sunday morning, October 12, in the Shaughnessy Military hospital, Vancouver, of Mr. Raymond G. Minshull, aged 36, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Minshull of West Summerland.

Besides his parents, Mr. Minshull is survived by his wife and two small children, Peter, aged 5 and Sally 2. A brother, Mr. Russell Minshull of Keremios and a sister, Mrs. A. Paget, Vernon, also survive.

The late Mr. Minshull was born in Angusville, Man., and came to Summerland with his parents in 1929. He received his junior matriculation here, and became a teacher, occupying positions in various valley schools. He served as a flight lieutenant in the RCAF during the war years, and after his discharge taught school in Trail for two years.

Funeral services for the late Mr. Minshull were held yesterday, Wednesday, in Vancouver, where his widow and children are at present residing; from the chapel of Chimes, Rev. Geo. Turpin officiating. Interment in Field of Honor, Mt. View Cemetery.

Mr. E. J. Minshull, Mr. Russell Minshull and Mrs. A. Paget left on Tuesday for Vancouver, where they attended the services.

ACCOUNTS ARE PASSED

Accounts totalling $13,261.84 were passed for payment at Tuesday's council session, presided over by Acting Reeve Eric M. Tait, in the absence on holidays of Reeve W. R. Powell.

Commercial Building Keeps Permits High

Building figures for the first nine months of 1947 are exceeding those for a similar period last year by just over $5,000, the monthly report of Roy F. Angus, building inspector reveals. To the end of September, permits issued were valued at $230,260. In the month of September, the permits ran to $29,625, chief feature of which was the permit for the new fish hatchery in lower town, with a building value of $15,000. Also included in the commercial and institutional figures is a $3,000 permit for the bleachers and dressing rooms at the new Living Memorial athletic park. Commercial buildings overshadowed dwellings in September for the first time this year, as there were only seven permits issued for a value of $7,500 last month. Fourteen permits for $3,625 made up the alterations and additions. In September, 1946, the permits issued only amounted to 17 for a value of $9,865.

Household Goods And Shoes Sought By Red Cross

Mrs. F. D. Goddard, chairman of the provincial work committee of the Canadian Red Cross has made an appeal to the local Red Cross branch for assistance in the collection of household goods and shoes for the people of Britain. Mrs. A. K. Elliott reports to The Review.

The local Red Cross group is asking for assistance in the collection of these articles, which may be left at the parish hall. No new materials are to be forwarded as the householders of Great Britain would have to surrender valuable clothing coupons to obtain them. But used goods in perfect condition are being sought.

Curtains or curtain materials, draperies or odds and ends of drape materials, bed and table linen, cushion covers, etc., in good repair are being collected.

"Send only what you would be happy to receive yourself but these materials must not be new," states Mrs. Goddard in her communique to Mrs. Elliott. "This will be another gesture by the women of Canada to the women of Britain, pledging support and friendship in every way possible."

Used shoes are also being included and the work committee is co-operating the Junior Red Cross in its used shoes for Britain campaign. Details of the Junior effort are to be found in another column of this issue.

Both men's and women's shoes are being collected and these should be in good condition or carefully repaired, the work committee chairman states.

"This is an urgent appeal and we would ask that both shoes and household goods be sent in to the Red Cross as quickly as possible. We would like to get these articles overseas before winter sets in," concludes Mrs. Goddard.

George Dunsdon Scores 93 To Win Club Title

On Sunday, Sept. 28, George Dunsdon, ace marksman of the local club, proved his worth by capturing the Shatford cup emblematic of the rifle club championship. His score of 93, consisting of a fine 34 at 200 yds. 32 at 500, and 2 at 600, was too much for the other competitors.

Runners-up were Ted and Art Dunsdon, each posting an 89, the former winning the shoot-off. Four teams competed for the Powell cup, denoting team supremacy, and the race for this prized trophy was finally won by the team skippered by Ted Dunsdon, with a score of 333 out of a possible 420.

Prize winners at the individual ranges, after some close shoot-offs were as follows:

200 yds.—1, George Dunsdon, 34; 2, Ed. Gould, 32.
500 yds.—1, George Dunsdon, 32; 2, B. T. Washington, 31.
600 yds.—1, Ted Dunsdon, 30; 2, F. G. Anderson, 30.

The tyro grand aggregate was captured by George Forster with a score of 86 closely followed by Jack Dunsdon with 85 to win second place after shooting off a tie with Len Shannon.

Competition was keen throughout, and conditions favorable for the first two ranges, but a tricky wind and heavy mirage at the 600 yards ruined the chances of some very fine scores.

Refreshments were provided, and one and all acclaimed the day a successful one and look forward to a better season next year.

Several members were unable to attend the shoot, which was regrettable, and the very familiar figure at any rifle shoot in these parts, in the person of Pop Dunsdon, was amongst the missing, owing to illness.

All members joined in wishing him a speedy recovery. Competing members, with individual and team scores were as follows:

No. 3 team—Ted Dunsdon, 89, D. Stewart 83, F. G. Anderson 84,

Ottawa Christening Interests Peachland

PEACHLAND—News has arrived from Ottawa of a christening which is of interest to many people in Peachland. The wee daughter of Flt. Sgt. W. B. Borton and Mrs. Borton, was christened on Sunday, Sept. 28, at 4 p.m. in Westboro United church, Ottawa, by Rev. Robert M. Frayne, B.A., B.D., Wing Commander Principal Chaplain (P) RCAF, Rockcliffe.

Mrs. Kathleen Furnyough, formerly of Peachland, was godmother, and Mr. John Fedlar was godfather. Mrs. C. C. Duquemin of Peachland, grandmother of Leverage Diane, was also present.

After the ceremony, the guests were invited to the Borton home where a lovely supper was served.

PRIZES WON AT THE PETER PAN

The Peter Pan, newest addition to West Summerland's business district, opened on Oct. 4 under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Peters formerly of Kamloops. This business is in the premises formerly occupied by the Adorable Gown Shops.

Winners of the draw held in conjunction with the Saturday opening were: 1, Eileen Olstad, $25; 2, Mrs. Norma Schaeffer, $10; 3, Ruby Jomori, $5.

The draw was conducted by Mrs. F. W. Schumann, wife of the board of trade president.

HOUSING COSTS VS LUMBER COSTS

REMEMBER the days back in 1937 when a five-room house could be built for about $4300? Today that house costs around $8400. And because most houses are built mainly with lumber in British Columbia, lumber gets most of the blame for the increase.

Actually, softwood lumber represents only a little more than one-eighth of the cost of the $8400 house.

Study the facts as here set out from carefully-kept records of average experience.

Shortage of building materials have added to the contractor's costs. They have reduced his turnover in a year and have made his time and overhead chargeable to a smaller number of units completed.

This situation should gradually improve now that the market conditions have been restored to building materials.

Legion Thinks Victoria Is 'Buck Passing'

After months of waiting for some action, the Summerland branch No. 22, Canadian Legion, is writing to its provincial command to endeavor to obtain some government move towards holding a plebiscite in this district on the subject of a veterans club licence.

Some months ago, the Legion was informed by W. F. Kennedy, B.C. Liquor Control Board commissioner, that a plebiscite would have to be held to obtain the feeling of the municipality regarding the granting of a licence to the Legion.

It was understood, by the Legion then, that Mr. Kennedy would take the necessary steps to institute this plebiscite.

When no further word was forthcoming from Mr. Kennedy, another query was sent, the reply being that the provincial secretary's office would have to handle the subject of a vote.

On writing to this department, the Legion is now informed by F. Hurley, chief electoral officer, that he is referring the subject to the Attorney-General.

Last week, Legion members expressed the thought that they are getting the "run around" and will ask the provincial command to take a hand on their behalf.

Mr. Francis Steuart and Mr. Tom Washington left on Saturday for a week's hunting trip to the Cariboo area. They joined George Pennington and Ed Gould who had left Summerland for the Cariboo on the previous Wednesday.

Over 5,000 Miles...

Fascinating Features of Alaska Highway Trip Recounted

(By Mrs. Margaret Solly)

This is the fifth and concluding article in the interesting and informative series on the Alaska Highway, written exclusively for The Review by Mrs. Margaret Solly, of Summerland. The Review is deeply appreciative of Mrs. Solly's co-operation in this respect and has been assured by many readers that the series has proved extremely interesting.

—Ed.

Watson lake has the doubtful honor of selling the most expensive gas on the highway—80 cents a gallon. As we put into our tank the last of our 38-cent Summerland gas we felt as though we were making money. The large airfield there, eight miles by road from the highway, is an important one in the northwest air routes.

Near here we sighted a big bear on the road which we, in the distance, thought was a grizzly until he lumbered off. Grizzlies do not run, but stand waiting. One could safely drive close for a picture. We were sorry not to have the opportunity. But when we did come upon a large porcupine in the middle of the road it, even, was too quick for my picture-taking methods.

For another 75 miles we went through country with so many rivers that I marvelled that there was room for them all. At Morley River we stopped at the restaurant, anticipating a good dinner, only to find nothing ready as their clocks said 11:00 a.m. As the Yukon was not on daylight saving, we should have set our watches back two hours that morning instead of one.

Again we saw a black bear, then something worse. Around a curve we were pulled up short by an accident which had happened just minutes before. Facing us were the sorry-looking remains of a coupe which had been smashed by meeting an oil-truck on the curve. Amazingly, the young couple had only slight face cuts, although the girl was lying in the car dazed with shock. Already another car had taken a message for a wrecker on to Teslin, 13 miles away. The car didn't look to be worth 75 cents.

Travelling friends of the two came upon the scene, all planning to go on together. From them we learned that the young couple, like hundreds more, were trekking with few possessions, to find a home and job in boom-city Anchorage.

From the top of a hill we had our first view of 85-mile-long Teslin lake, part of which is in B.C. This lake formed part of the Stikine Trail, one of the less publicized routes in the gold rush. We crossed a portion of the lake—Nisutlin Bay—on the longest bridge on the highway.

Teslin Post was an attractive place—larger, now that we were emerging from the undeveloped areas—a lodge, two stores, Anglican and Roman Catholic missions, and an RCMP headquarters. A colorful touch for tourists was the roadside moccasin stand of two Teslin Indian women.

Nearby was a stretched moosehide being smoked by an open fire while a third woman cut and sewed moccasins. Beyond this, we stopped for lunch on part of the mile of lovely beach in hot summer sun. Our rain experiences were over.

Johnson's Crossing, in 1943 was a town of 4,000, now of one family. There, Mile 83, we met another gigantic war-time highway, the Canal road, which meanders 530 miles over greater wilderness to Norman Oil Wells. The heavy six-inch pipeline which from now on lies along the surface a few feet from our highway conducted the oil to Whitehorse. And on the other side of us there has been for miles a 2 inch Standard Oil pipeline which, during the war, transported gasoline from Carcross to Watson Lake airport. The Teslin river here is 1,770 feet wide and the bridge is high enough to allow passage of the river steamers, reminders of our own Siacomas steamer.

As we sped past the Carcross out-off road, over country so rich in big game and fish that it should have originated all the good hunters' and fishermen's stories, we realized we were linking up again with older established parts of civilization.

The influence of Whitehorse is wide-spread. Although its war-time 30,000 population has been reduced to about 3,500, it still supports well two large department stores and many businesses. It is the prosperous hub of business activity of the Yukon, being as it is the junction of the three transportation routes, the airline, highway and coast boat and White Pass railway route. It has an airfield spectacularly large, which is almost always busy.

Whitehorse is teeming with tourists and sportsmen, few of whom come as yet by the highway. It was not unusual to see at our own destination, beautiful Marsh Lake Lodge, a few miles this side of Whitehorse, one or two private planes riding at anchor among the cruisers and small boats.

There, I might mention, we found a girl from Kelowna working, also a man who had worked for some time at Greata Ranch. More coincidence occurred when we signed the register at an auto camp on Lesser Slave lake on our return. The proprietress was a Mrs. Montgomery whose home was opposite the Legion Hall here for some years.

As the Alaska highway does not pass through Dawson City, it is the common belief, even around Whitehorse, that one cannot drive to the capital. That is not so, as on our return we pulled out of the ditch near Pouce Coupe the first car to drive out of Dawson City this year. The driver told us he had been towed by tractor three miles across fields to the road. More coincidence! We next heard of him at Osyoos, where he was talking to a friend of ours.

For years all this hinterland has been called a land of promise. The promise is beginning to be fulfilled. For us, too, it was a trip whose promise was, indeed well fulfilled.

TOURIST STATISTICS

During the first eight months of 1947, a total of 150,468 vehicles entered British Columbia under travelers' vehicle permits, as compared with 127,646 during the same period of 1946, states Hon. L. H. Eyres, minister of trade and industry, pointing out that these figures represent only the cars coming into the province through border customs ports.

Chemical Fertilizer Use Rises Sharply

Production of chemical fertilizer in Canada has expanded rapidly. Dollar value of the output in 1939 was approximately $13,000,000. The 1946 production was valued at more than $50,000,000. While some increase in prices is reflected in these figures, production itself jumped by over 200 percent during the same period.

Since agriculturists have come to realize the value of chemical fertilizers in producing greater yields, consumption has shown a general climb upwards. In 1930, 154,950 tons of mixed fertilizer were consumed. This leaped to 232,926 tons in 1939. Statistics for 1946 placed the consumption for that year at 542,497 tons.

While these may seem to be rather astronomical figures it should be pointed out that from a fertilizer consumption viewpoint, Canada still lags far behind many European countries. For example the small country, Denmark is reported to have used almost 800,000 tons this year.

SCOUT NEWS

We held our second meeting of the fall in the school gym last Friday.

Some of the boys took advantage of the holiday to go camping in the hills, leaving a small troop to be visited by the group committee.

The group committee, with Mr. Boyd acting for the president, Mr. Bentley, and Mr. W. Atkinson presented the prizes won at the annual camp at Fish lake. These prizes were won for efficiency around camp and were the books, "Scouting for Boys".

After a warm-up the boys seated themselves on the bleachers to see three pictures shown by Mr. Bentley. These educational pictures were: "Physical training in Sweden", the "Sockeye Salmon Run" and the "Cattle of the Canadian Foothills".

Next meeting at 7 p.m., October 17. Fall uniforms and running shoes.

Get Estimate on Giant's Head Road

Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, has stated to the Summerland Board of Trade that he is asking district public works engineer Ramsay for a report and estimate on the cost of building a road to the top of Giant's Head.

The board of trade wrote to Mr. Carson recently reminding him of his promise that road construction on this project would be commenced this fall when road machinery is available from ordinary highway construction.

STILL SEARCH FOR RADIO

The electric light committee, headed by Councillor F. E. Atkinson, is still investigating two-way radio communication sets to assist in keeping in touch with the municipal electrical crew. A satisfactory set at a reasonable figure has not yet been discovered.

Rev. F. W. Haskins left last week for Toronto, where he will spend a three weeks' visit.

MILLION DOLLARS TO AID "FOOD IN BULK" SHIPMENTS

One million dollars for the purchase and shipment of "food in bulk" to ease this winter's food crisis in Britain and Europe has been voted by the Canadian Red Cross from its remaining war funds, Arthur L. Bishop, chairman of the society's national executive committee announced today.

"Many requests have been received from all parts of Canada," said Mr. Bishop, "urging Red Cross help in this grave emergency. In making this $1,000,000 food allocation, it is the considered opinion of the Red Cross, based on direct reports from Britain and the continent, that the food shortage over there is building up to a crisis of unprecedented proportions in which the lives and health of millions of Britons and Europeans will be directly affected unless every possible help from all sources is extended at this time."

The British ministry of food and various European governments are providing free ocean freight on the Red Cross bulk food shipments. Balance of transportation costs, if any will be borne by the society.

"Red Cross is concentrating on bulk shipments of food," stated Bishop, "as a means of providing a maximum of food at a minimum cost. Shipments will be consigned for distribution to Canadian Red Cross representatives in Britain, and, in Europe, to the Red Cross Societies of the respective countries concerned. All goods will be labelled—'GIFT FROM THE PEOPLE OF CANADA THROUGH THE CANADIAN RED CROSS SOCIETY.'"

Traffic Safety Campaign Plans Show Progress

That the majority of members of the Summerland Board of Trade agree with The Review editorial comment regarding infractions of traffic rules by adult drivers was plainly evidence by discussion at the monthly meeting in the Legion hall last Thursday evening.

Failure to dim lights at night, double parking by trucks and cars alike on the streets and many other infractions were emphasized by many speakers. Pedestrians who walk four abreast on the roads at night also came in for their share of criticism from the drivers.

President Fred Schumann reported that the board of trade council has made some progress on its project to promote a traffic safety campaign and has received wholehearted support from B. C. Police Constable Thorstelson.

The police constable has agreed to address school children on traffic safety subjects, while the board is considering the possibility of issuing the children with questionnaires on traffic problems and probably giving prizes for essays.

Other forms of publicizing the need for greater attention to traffic safety are being considered by the board council.

Likes Attitude
"A good deal of the problem rests with local policing," declared President Schumann. "I have been impressed with the attitude of the new constable and if he feels that the board of trade and the council is behind him, he will take steps to remedy traffic infractions, I am sure."

There was some difference of opinion on the subject of licensing bicycles. The executive had considered this from several standpoints but had decided against the proposal.

Both George Graham and R. F. Angus spoke in favor of this practice in order to allow officials to check on reflectors and lights on bicycles and also as a precaution against theft.

Issuance of a licence at a nominal fee would give the young bicycle owner a sense of responsibility, thought Mr. Angus, and if one life was saved by the extra precautions, the scheme would be worthwhile.

The trade board council was authorized to proceed with its plans for a safety campaign.

TWO BYLAWS TO— SMALL LANDING STRIP ADVOCATED FOR SUMMERLAND

ary work necessary to provide a surface suitable for the road oil.

Where mulch alone is needed, the cost would be $2,300 per mile. At this rate, the surfacing program would cost approximately $25,000.

Added to this is another $2,000 to widen the Garnett Valley road past the section which is now ready for surfacing.

Quotations have been received from the Finning Tractor Co. and from Pollock Motors Ltd., representing Allis-Chalmers machinery, on a new maintainer for the municipal road crew. Although the Allis-Chalmers machine was quoted at a higher figure, the municipality would receive a higher trade-in value on its present machine, council was informed on Tuesday.

The net cost of a new grader would be just over $8,000, it was estimated.

Suggests New Truck
Councillor Harvey Wilson suggested that a new truck be purchased to do away with some of the hiring of trucks during the busy operating season. In one season, most of the cost of the new truck could be eliminated through non-hiring of a truck, he explained. He advocated selling the old Ford truck at the conclusion of work in 1948.

These two pieces of equipment would cost between $11,000 and $12,000 the council estimated.

Mr. Gould will go to the coast this weekend to inspect a new Allis-Chalmers road maintainer in operation in Chilliwack and also to contact the Finning company regarding its maintainers.

Mr. Frank Pollock offered to pay Mr. Gould's trip expenses to the coast to inspect the Allis-Chalmers machine, but the council decided against accepting this offer.

The road crew has been assisting in the laying of the hard surfacing on the experimental station road during the past two weeks. This work will conclude this week, it is expected.

Apart from the rebate which will be forthcoming from the experimental station for use of municipal men and machinery, the 1947 road department appropriation was expended at the end of September. Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon reported this week.

Only a minimum of maintenance work will be carried out for the balance of the year, it is anticipated.

Advocating an emergency landing field for Summerland, Councillor C. E. Bentley, who attended the B.C. Aviation Council convention at Harrison Hot Springs recently, spoke briefly of this conference to the board of trade last Thursday in the Legion hall.

The aviation council stressed the need of a landing strip in every community so that the growing number of small tourist and commercial planes can be accommodated.

Also, a seaplane landing place is essential, as such type of planes can fly anywhere in the province, provided suitable landing facilities are provided on the water already available.

Gasoline service must be provided along with a float to moor seaplanes, but little else is necessary, provided the place is fairly sheltered Mr. Bentley explained.

Speaking on the UBCM convention, Mr. Bentley was enthusiastic about the banquet staged by the Okanagan municipalities. The Okanagan obtained a great deal of publicity from the convention and banquet and was well repaid for the money and effort expended, he stated.

The speaker noted the poor mail delivery from here to Harrison Hot Springs, however, as a parcel of board of trade pamphlets, mailed here on Friday, did not reach Harrison until late Wednesday morning.

Ice Hockey Development

There is a need in Summerland for development of ice hockey on a community-wide basis. Hockey is a sport which promotes widespread interest here but the season is short. However, there is a rink available and it will be enlarged this fall to provide a larger playing surface.

This rink has been built by the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee from funds subscribed to the Living Memorial fund. Last year, ice making and rink supervision was paid from this fund and as there is no other organization available to carry on hockey here, it would appear that this fund will have to be used for the same purpose this winter.

The Living Memorial fund objective was originally set at $25,000 to provide for all the construction work planned in two parks and provide sufficient money for maintenance and supervision over a five-year period or until all the various projects have been brought to a point of completion where the two parks can be turned over to the municipality.

This quota was never reached, as the total to date is just under $17,000. This was a handsome contribution from the citizens of Summerland district, but does not allow enough leeway for all the construction anticipated plus such maintenance work as rink supervision over an extended period each winter.

Therefore, an ice hockey association is necessary to take this burden from the shoulders of the parks committee. Such a sports-minded group could promote a wider interest in Canada's popular winter pastime, and help to develop a representative senior sextett, plus promoting enthusiasm among the younger fry.

There is one other alternative. The Memorial Parks' Committee could institute another drive for funds to reach the $25,000 objective and provide sufficient money to complete all construction and maintain the parks for the full five-year period.

Food For Britain

Summerland is committed to a project of providing sufficient funds to make a handsome contribution to the food parcels so badly-needed in Great Britain this winter to augment the meagre supply of necessary provisions.

This contribution is also in the nature of a wedding gift to Princess Elizabeth from her loyal subjects situated in this district. This is in accordance with the express wishes of the popular heir-presumptive to the British throne.

A representative organization has laid plans for the collection of contributions and announcements were made that subscription lists have been opened in four business houses in the district.

To date, however, the response has been disappointing. Generally extremely generous in donations of this nature, the people of Summerland have not come forward in this appeal in the manner hopefully anticipated by the committee in charge.

It was not deemed advisable to have a house-to-house canvass, especially when fruit growers have been extremely busy harvesting their crop. It was thought sufficient to open subscription lists and trust to the generosity of the good people of Summerland in their desire to assist their less-fortunate cousins across the sea.

To date, this conjecture has not been vindicated but we are sure that our fellow citizens will rally round and ensure that Summerland's wedding gift to Princess Elizabeth will be a generous quantity of food parcels for Britain.

We are deeply fortunate in this land of plenty to have a bountiful supply of nourishing foodstuffs for our daily needs. We have plenty left over to bring much needed variety to hundreds of dinner tables in the Old Country.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

The pear is a delectable fruit, especially when scientifically ripened in a moist atmosphere at temperatures between 65 degrees and 70 degrees F. However, consumption of 16 specimens at one sitting is quite an ordeal even for those who have a special liking for pears. Nevertheless, members of the Better Fruit Committee appeared to be enjoying themselves immensely at the pear testing party to which I was invited last week at the experimental station.

This pear sampling party was organized by Ed Britton and Don Fisher. It is the direct result of the wide difference of opinions expressed at a joint meeting of the Better Fruit Committee and the Shippers Federation held during the Bartlett pear harvesting season last August. At this meeting some were of the opinion that the only way to deliver Bartlett pears in good condition on distant markets over an extended period is to rush them from the orchard to the packing house, pack them and place them immediately in cold storage at 31 degrees F. Others claimed that equally good results could be secured by placing the pears loose in cold storage immediately they were received from the orchard, and packing them any time within the next few weeks.

To secure accurate information on this subject, a quantity of Bartlett pears was obtained from the Occidental Fruit Company in Summerland on August 15th. They were excellent fruit picked at optimum maturity and were transported from the Occidental to the experimental station shortly after picking.

The pears were divided into two lots. The first lot was held for 24 hours from picking at approximately 73 degrees F., before being placed in 31 degrees F. storage. The second lot was held for 72 hours at 73 degrees F., before cold storage. A box of pears from each treatment was packed at the time each lot was placed in cold storage, and at weekly intervals thereafter, samples were removed from cold storage loose, rough handled to simulate grader action, permitted to warm to 50 degrees F., and then packed and replaced in cold storage. Eight packings were made in all.

Five days before the pear-testing party, pears from each packing were removed from cold storage to the ripening room which is held at 7 degrees F. By the time the tasters arrived the pears had ripened and were in excellent eating condition.

The samples were displayed, with a card showing the treatment each had received. After explaining the procedure which had been followed, Don Fisher supplied all those present with a record sheet on which he asked each man to record his observations. The findings should prove most interesting and of great value to the industry, for those present have all had a great deal of experience in the fruit industry.

For example, I observed the following experts very busy sampling fruit and making extensive notes: Frank Brown and Clem Battye, packing house managers from Penticton; Bill Reid and Bill Fleet, senior Dominion fruit inspectors; Bill Thomas and Fred Paul, B.C. Tree Fruit inspectors; besides Clare Elsey and Chuck Bleasdale of Summerland. It so happened that Mr. Stanley Johnston, superintendent of the experimental station at Southaven, Michigan, and his wife were visiting the Summerland station and sampled the pears, and they also turned in comprehensive reports on their observations.

Don Fisher and Ed Britton were careful to avoid giving their own opinions but I took Don aside and by questioning him ascertained that in his view the pears which had been stored loose at 31 degrees F., and packed within three weeks were in practically as good condition as those which were packed and cold stored within 24 hours of harvesting.

He was careful to point out, however, that these pears had been handled under ideal conditions with respect to rapid cooling and that when large blocks of pears are handled under commercial conditions it often takes considerable time to remove the heat from the fruit. Accordingly it is highly desirable to pack the pears immediately they come from the orchard and then place them in cold storage. However, during the peak of the peach and Bartlett pear harvesting, it looks as if the peaches should have priority even if this means that Bartlett pears may have to be held loose for a couple of weeks in cold storage before being packed.

Life Among The British

(Christian Science Monitor)

Austerity is a word in the news. It is also a long queue waiting in the cold for a weekly ration of 20 cents' worth of meat and one egg. It is the shopkeeper's announcement that there are no eggs at all this week because "the 'ens 'aven't been patriotic."

How can the bare facts, the bare figures, of British austerity be brought home as living need to American hearts and minds? How can the family that has just driven joyfully through the glowing October countryside, heaped with the fruits of harvest and has come back at chilly dusk to a warm house and an abundant meal—how can such a family realize what October meant to Britons this year?

It does little good to say that it meant the beginning of new austerities under Britain's mounting drive to cut imports, increase exports, and avoid economic collapse. What the imagination must grasp is the return to a wartime footing, without the bombs and without the glory.

No spin into the country for the British family; no gasoline ration. No snug relaxation before the fire afterwards; no fuel available. No jam with the bread and butter; no butter often. Just the hint of another winter in the air, with one's clothes a little shabbier, one's work a little harder, and eight years of drab austerity growing a little grim.

Not that the British are all down-at-mouth even when they are down-at-heels. There is grit and determination aplenty, and there is basic good humor beneath frayed patience. But when Americans peer over the high prices that stem their horizon at present, they will see a valiant sister-democracy that is paying an incalculably higher price for their common victory in war.

Eternal vigilance, the price of liberty, may seem high, but in these inflated times liberty is a better buy than ever.

With colleges so crowded higher education threatens to become a large-scale free-for-all.

The Feminine Front

by MURIEL HURKY

For some time now the new fashion trends have displayed the lowered hemline, and it has become an accepted fact that longer dresses are here to stay, although I honestly believe that the average woman is very unsympathetic toward the whole idea.

At the weekend I made the round of the local dress shops and queried the staffs about the reaction of the women of Summerland to these new fall frocks featuring the longer skirts.

I was surprised to find a slight difference of opinion at the dress shops. After being assured by two local shops that women here were definitely and almost without exception against the longer skirts, the third shop I visited was of the opinion that the more style-conscious women of the town were not only purchasing the frocks with the longer hem-lines, but were altogether in favor of them. But I was assured that all three shops that the longer skirts were here to stay, and that before long would be the only style available.

It was hinted by the Linnea that many of the customers who purchased the gowns with the longer hemlines were shortening them at home, but that stated the Linnea, would be difficult to do with the new pencil-slim skirt, as it would spoil the draped hip effect of the majority of these pencil-slim skirts to shorten them either at the waistline or hemline.

Both Hill's Ladies' Wear and the Peter Pan Toggery thought that all hemlines were being worn a little longer, but not extreme. Stated Mr. Peters of the Peter Pan: "There is a strong feeling in Canada against the extreme length."

With the subject of length exhausted I enquired about the new fall colors, and was unanimously assured that black, always popular with smart women, was this year sweeping the continent with more force than ever before.

Len Hill stated that at least half the better-class frocks now being received by Hill's are in black, while Mr. Peters agrees that black is the leading color for fall and winter. Deep green is also a smart runner-up I was informed.

The few women who cannot wear black will be glad to hear that the Billie Burke wools are being featured in pastel shades, with deep blush rose a new shade for the color-conscious woman.

The latest hooded-coat styles are sweeping western Canada, and belted coats are gaining in popularity. Coats are also, of course, a little longer.

The new Peter Pan Toggery is featuring an interesting service for women of discrimination. They are offering a five-day service on special orders.

I think that the reason why so many women shop for their good frocks out-of-town is that, as a usual in such towns, the price of a frock purchased in a local store is common knowledge. With so few dress shops in town there are many women who, in looking for the occasional new frock, also look over most of the frocks on the racks. So when Mrs. Jones comes out with a smart new evening frock Mrs. Black knows at a glance just where it was purchased, how much was paid for it, the exact size that Mrs. Jones wears, and so do all the other members of the Ladies' Aid.

With the new service now offered, dresses are brought in, with no obligation to the customer, for the approval of that customer. Dresses are ordered to your exact size and description, and are not shown to any other person. The list of customers using this service is entirely confidential, and no other dress similar to the one purchased by this method is sold at any time by the store.

It seems to me that suits are not as popular as usual this fall. The new suit jackets are longer, I was informed at Hill's, with curved backs in full effect. Pinks, in suits and office dresses, are seen everywhere.

Recently, here in Summerland, I passed a woman, I have no idea who she was, as I had never seen her before or since, but I very unmannerly turned and stared after her. Ad I noticed several other women doing the same. I do not remember whether she was pretty, I think she was a brunette. But even in a city she would be the type who turned heads.

She was dressed completely in black. It was a warm afternoon,

NEW INCINERATOR PLANS SUBMITTED

Plans and specifications for a new incinerator were submitted to the municipal council last week by the Okanagan Health unit, following discussions held here recently on the garbage disposal problem.

Costs for erection of such a unit will be obtained from Foreman E. Kercher and the council will discuss this project at a later date.

and she wore no topcoat. Her frock was solid black, probably crepe, with the draped hip-line. She wore a black hat of extreme style, but definitely very, very smart, off-the-face, with black gloves, and over her arm was draped a black fur.

She looked very sophisticated, the sort of "femme fatale" type. She naturally had a decent figure, although I do not remember that, but she would not have dared to wear that outfit without a good figure to set it off. However, the point I am trying to stress is that her clothes made the woman. Even with a homely face she would have looked very smart, and her clothes showed character. Glamour fairly radiated from her. I can imagine that the impact she made upon men must have been terrific.

Her clothes were probably expensive, and I would not recommend that the would-be sirens of Summerland start parading down our main street dressed in slinky black. But even in women who do not wish to display glamour there is no reason why they should not dress to point up the characteristics they wish to stress. Drabness in dress is unforgivable.

J. J. WOODS IS FIRST LEADER OF AGROLOGISTS

The first meeting of the newly-elected council of the B.C. Institute of Agrolgy was held in Vancouver recently. Membership on the council assured fair representation to all sections of the province.

J. J. Woods was elected president of the first council with Dr. Howell Harris, of the University of B.C. vice-president and Wm. Hill, of Vancouver, secretary-treasurer and registrar. The resignation of Arthur Rennie as council member because his work necessitated his absence from the province was accepted and to fill his post the council elected G. A. Yuyat, supervising agriculturist of the provincial department of agriculture at Kamloops.

According to the report of the registrar, membership in the organization has grown rapidly and further applications were approved and sent to the examining board appointed by the senate of the University of British Columbia for its approval.

The present council consists of Dr. J. J. Woods, Saanichton; Dr. J. B. Munroe, Victoria; R. H. Spillsbury, Victoria; Dr. J. C. Wilcox, Summerland; G. A. Luyat, Kamloops; Dr. J. C. Berry, Dr. Howell Harris, J. C. Hackney, R. H. Gram and Tom Leach, of Vancouver.

Princeton Principal Chosen As President of Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association

VERNON—The only resolution which might have been termed "controversial" was withdrawn at the annual meeting of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association, held during the teachers' convention in this city. It called for a lobby to secure passage of a law to make compulsory the deduction of B.C. Teachers' Federation fees from salary cheques. The resolution was withdrawn when C. D. Ovans, BCTF secretary, explained that such was provided for in Bill 39, upon written request by the teacher to the school board.

Officers elected for the ensuing year's work of the OVTA were: Kenneth Alexander, president, the principal of Princeton schools for the past two and a half years; George Falconer, vice-president, principal of Vernon high school; Edward Goss, secretary-treasurer, vice-principal of Vernon elementary school. The latter two men were re-elected.

Largest Convention
This year's convention was the largest on record according to the report of Miss Betty Baillie, convener of registration. There were 426 teachers registered, compared to 357 in Kelowna last year and 264 when the last meeting was held in Vernon in 1944.

In the president's report, F. W. Laird of Penticton, called for representation of all locals at executive meetings of the Valley association. He said the association was particularly concerned with aiding teachers in two or three roomed schools, because "We all had to start that way."

The financial report submitted by Mr. Goss showed cash and securities on hand totalling $1,271.79. Total expenditures were $4,543.64, including $3,624.25 in fees remitted to the BCTF.

An all-time high in membership in the BCTF was recorded in the report of Mr. Falconer, given in his absence by P. Campbell. Over 91 percent of teachers belong to the organization. Percentage in the North Okanagan surpassed all other districts. It was 95.4 percent.

Salary Negotiations
The negotiations which secured substantial salary increases were reviewed by Miss Hilda Cryderman. Teachers throughout the Valley had contributed $3 each to finance the negotiations.

"As a result of the arbitration, our school board has a very healthy respect for the arbitration board," said Miss Cryderman. "The challenge from now on is to keep the ground we have gained and try to get everyone on the schedule very soon."

A recommendation was passed that any balance of money in the arbitration fund set up by the teachers be augmented by a $2 contribution by new teachers and be kept for future negotiations.

A. K. Macleod, principal of Summerland high school urged teachers to join the Medical Services Association which provided an insurance scheme for doctor and hospital expenses.

Pension Problem
Most resolutions presented by H. K. Bearsto, chairman of the resolutions committee, dealt with school texts and teaching problems. One matter brought up by the North Okanagan teachers asked that the BCTF investigate the possibility of securing full service pension credits for teachers who left the profession for several years and later went back to teachings.

Mr. Ovans explained that if such were done it would upset the present actuarial basis of pension payments, because the funds were budgeted with the consideration that a very large number of teachers withdrew from the profession and part of the government grant to the scheme was not refunded to them, adding materially to what could be paid to those receiving pensions.

When the resolution from Kelowna was presented, asking for pressure on M.L.A.'s to secure "compulsory check-off," Mr. Ovans explained that Bill 39 made it compulsory for employers to deduct union fees from pay cheques on written request of an employee. This would apply to teachers, he said. The BCTF had prepared forms on which teachers may make such application. The resolution was withdrawn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Grady of Vancouver were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. E. F. McClement. Mr. Grady is a nephew of Mrs. McClement.

PAY FOR TWO FIRES
As payment for members for two fires during the summer, the municipal council okayed a bill for $32 presented by the West Summerland Fire Protection Society. These fires occurred outside the fire protection zone and in future any such accounts will be rendered by Fire Chief Ed Gould direct to the council.

Mr. Louis Burnell, who is employed at Dome Creek, returned home on Monday for a ten-day visit.

Fifteen Polio Cases in Health Unit This Year

In the period from July 9 to September 17, fifteen cases of poliomyelitis were diagnosed in the Okanagan Health Unit, Dr. A. N. Beattie, medical director, informed the quarterly meeting of the unit in Oliver on Wednesday afternoon, October 15.

Of this number, five were males and ten were females, with thirteen of the cases under the age of 16 and the other two over thirty years of age.

In the past three months, food handlers' courses have been held in Kelowna, Penticton, Oliver and Osoyoos, with movies forming the main basis of the lectures. It was reported that these were well attended and had attracted a considerable amount of interest.

Dr. Beattie was asked by the meeting to seek information as to steps being taken by the provincial department of agriculture to control contagious abortion in cattle. This is said to be one source of undulant fever which has been more prevalent in the Okanagan in the past year than ever before.

Councillor R. F. Walrod, Kelowna, submitted a report on the nursing-housekeeping service instituted in the Orchard City. Sixteen cases had been handled there under this service, and it is estimated that 103 hospital days had been saved, thus relieving to some extent the crowded condition of the Kelowna hospital, he indicated. Mr. A. B. Woods, an original member of the Okanagan Health Unit, gave the meeting an interesting resume of the unit's history since its inauguration in 1920. Entertaining anecdotes of trials facing the unit in its early stages and sidelights on personalities who have been to the forefront in the unit's development made the report entertaining as well as factual.

Retail Merchants In Social Evening

Retail merchants gathered at the IOOF hall last week, with their staffs, to enjoy a social evening, one of the happiest functions of the fall season to date. This may prove to be an annual function.

Bingo and cards occupied the early part of the evening, followed by supper and a short dance period. Teen Town catered to the supper.

Among those in charge of the affair were L. H. Hill, Norman Holmes, Les Rumball and Mel Ducommun, the latter being president of the retail merchants association.

Mr. H. A. Maclaren and Miss Maclaren of Oyama, were weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Penketh.

Mr. A. Eastwood, of Vancouver, Pacific zone manager for the General Motors Corp is a visitor in West Summerland today.

DAVE McNAIR IS HONORED WITH APPOINTMENT

Singular recognition was given to the B.C. fruit industry recently when David McNair, sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., was appointed as director of the International Apple Association.

While this organization is international in its scope, having members from 26 countries, it has been dominated by the United States during its 53 years of operation and only once in the past has a non-American occupied a position on its board of directors, and that was 32 years ago when a Mr. Shuttleworth, of England, was elected. The general directing board has never exceeded ten members.

The International Apple Association which holds its annual conference every August in one of the larger American cities is a powerful force in the interest of both growers and distributors and is the medium through which the views of the industry are presented to many governments. It should not be confused with the Canadian-American Apple Committee which often meets during the International Convention to work out the problems involved in the exports of apples from Canada to United States and vice versa.

Samuel Fraser who addressed a gathering of valley apple growers recently is the secretary. On his trip to the Okanagan he was accompanied by Sam Cohodas, president of the association. Mr. Cohodas is a grower and distributor of apple in a big way in Michigan. Paul Scea, of Wenatchee, Wash., a past president of the organization, was also in the valley.

The appointment of Mr. McNair not only compliments the B.C. fruit industry but is also personal recognition of the contribution the Okanagan sales manager has made to the apple industry on a world basis. Few men have the same experience in the distribution of fresh fruit and vegetables as has Mr. McNair and none is better known among fruitmen throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Premier Hart Retires From Leadership

Premier John Hart has retired from the leadership of the provincial Liberal party. This action was taken at a special meeting of the provincial Liberal executive held in Vancouver on Thursday, October 2nd.

Premier Hart, in announcing his intention, gave a complete resume of the accomplishments achieved by the Coalition government under his leadership since 1941 and towards the close of his address pointed out that he had been a minister of the crown for more than 21 years and a member of the legislature for nearly 22 years and that in consequence of the arduous duties and manifold responsibilities, particularly the strain of the last six years, he had found it necessary to tender his resignation.

Concurrently with the announcement of his retirement, the premier recommended that a convention of the Liberal party be held early in December in order that a successor might be chosen to carry on the work laid down by the Coalition government and to devise new policies for the future welfare of British Columbia.

The executive meeting, following many tributes paid to Premier Hart, later passed a resolution adopting the recommendation of the premier that the convention be held early in December or as soon as possible.

In his summing up of the achievements of the Coalition government, the premier alluded to the large revenue surpluses that have been set up in a special fund with which to carry on post-war work. He outlined the $50,000,000 public works program now in the process of being carried out.

He spoke of the new Dominion-Provincial agreement and its benefits to British Columbia and Canada as a whole. He touched upon matters affecting agriculture including land clearing assistance to farmers, farm labor relief, various subsidies and general encouragement to the industry. He outlined the policies of the government to bring about sustained yield in the forestry industry, of the land settlement policy and the survey that had been completed of more than 4,000,000 acres of land in order to settle people in farming communities. He gave in detail the progress which has been made to date by the B.C. Power Commission, which was established under his regime.

He likewise referred to the increased aid to municipalities, widening of the scope of education, extension of facilities at UBC, and his more recent negotiations to bring about a solution of the Pacific Great Eastern railway problem by obtaining its extension to the Peace River district.

Following his address, many laudatory remarks were made by Dr. W. J. Knox, president of the B.C. Liberal association, Senator J. H. King, speaker of the senate, Senator Gray Turgeon Mr. Tom Reid M.P., and many others.

Following the meeting a banquet was held in the ballroom of the Hotel Vancouver by the Women's Liberal association at which great tribute was paid by Senator J. W. deB Farris, Hon. Gordon Wismer, K.C., Hon. Lionel Chevrier, K.C., and other leaders of the Liberal party.

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Photographic Society was held in the high school on Wednesday evening, October 15th.

The members were treated to an interesting illustrated lecture called "Photographic Pictorialism". The fundamentals of taking effective pictures were brought out in this complete work. The script was read by Peggy Burton and Dorothy MacDonald. The projectionist was Clark Wilkin. Slides and script were through the courtesy of the Kodak Company of Canada.

Following the lecture, a number of excellent color shots taken by members of the group were shown. Snow Mountain wild flowers were reproduced in many hues while several shots of Okanagan lake served but to remind again of the unique beauty of Okanagan country.

A business session, with President Percy Thornber in the chair, wound up the proceedings. Date for the next field trip was set for Sunday, Oct. 26th with jumping-off place at the experimental station.

MUNICIPALITIES BENEFIT BY REBATE ON RELIEF COSTS

The sum of $2,680,000 will be distributed to municipalities either by way of debt reduction, rebate or grants in connection with the government's policy to reduce the municipal share of unemployment relief costs it is announced by the Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance.

In making the announcement, Mr. Anscomb recalled that British Columbia had received a debt cancellation in respect to unemployment relief from the Dominion of $3,342,000 or 24.5% of the $34,053,000 borrowed for direct relief.

The minister also recalled that upon British Columbia obtaining this cancellation from the Dominion, Mr. Carl Goldenberg, who was then sole commissioner inquiring into provincial-municipal affairs, was asked to study and recommend the basis of alleviation to municipalities. He proposed a grant of $2,680,000, which amount was equivalent to 32.4% of the municipal cost of direct relief. The government acted upon his recommendation.

The sum, Mr. Anscomb said, will be paid as follows:

Firstly to reduce any outstanding relief loans secured by a treasury note to the provincial government, without any specific agreement as regards payment; secondly, to set up retirement funds for the redemption of any unemployment relief debt which had been and remained funded; thirdly, to reduce sinking fund shortages and fourthly, for capital purposes.

Mr. Anscomb stated that, as only a few municipalities borrowed from the province for all or part of their share of direct relief, it was decided that the only equitable method of apportioning the grant would be on a pro-rata basis, according to the ratio that the 10-year cost of direct relief on the provincial approved scale in each municipality was to the total cost for the 10-year period to all municipalities.

Summerland municipalities' share of this sum will be $853.32, according to Victoria figures.

Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Mrs. A. Dunsdon, Mrs. E. Wilson and Mrs. C. C. Strachan journeyed to Vernon on Wednesday, October 15, to attend the meeting of the regional council of the Hospital Auxiliary. It was a joint meeting of representatives of the valley held to discuss resolutions to be sent to the provincial hospital convention at Victoria at the end of the month.

Let's have FACTS...

NOT BUNK ABOUT "BILL 39"

THE BUNK...

Typical Publicity Against Secret Supervised Strike Vote

balloting methods can call strikes which affect large numbers of employees and injure the public welfare. Is there anything wrong with giving to working men and women the privileges of the secret ballot?

WITHOUT saying WHY they are opposing it, certain interests in British Columbia carry on a noisy campaign of abuse and misrepresentation of British Columbia's Labor Laws.

"Slavery!" they cry.

"Bill 39 takes away labor's right to strike!"

This name-calling ignores the facts and appeals to either prejudice or emotion—not to common sense.

The potent fact about Bill 39 is that, if enforced and observed, it will end the condition in which a few people, by show-of-hands votes at small unrepresentative meetings or by other questionable

THESE ARE THE FACTS...

about British Columbia's Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, 1947—so-called Bill 39:—

1 It is labor legislation that has evolved through the years in British Columbia to ensure (a.) employees and employers alike a square deal; (b.) to protect the interests of the rank and file of the public against lost production and industrial income through avoidable strikes. No one claims it is perfect legislation. It is always open to amendment by the representatives of the people by orderly and democratic processes in order to improve it.

2 It does NOT take away the employees' right to strike. As in the past, it DOES provide that before a strike can legally be called, every effort to arrive at a peaceful settlement by conciliation or arbitration must be put forth. THIS IS A FEATURE OF LAWS GOVERNING INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS EVERYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA. The alternative is a return to the industrial warfare of 30 years ago. Most of the recent strikes in British Columbia have been called without complying with the law on conciliation.

3 Bill 39 DOES provide for a secret supervised ballot of all employees affected, after conciliation, before a strike can be called, legally, in their name.

WHY IS THE SECRET BALLOT OPPOSED?

APPROVE LINE IMPROVEMENT

Although it will be at least three months before any work can be undertaken, because of supply shortage, the council has approved municipal electric line improvements to the KVR station line and to Victoria Gardens extension, as recommended by Foreman T. P. Thornber.

COST OF PIPELINE

If pipe could be obtained now, the cost of the proposed new pipeline in Prairie Valley between properties of Aubrey McLean and "Scotty" Ritchie would be $2,407, Water Foreman E. Kercher reported to the council last week. This cost would likely increase considerably before supplies are obtainable, he stated.

WHEN THE HURRICANE ROARED out of the Gulf it lifted boats, bathhouses and wooden piers as though they were pieces of paper and smashed them with shattering force along the beach in front of Biloxi, Miss. This picture is only one of the many scenes of damage which occurred in the hurricane-stricken stretch of the low-lying beaches and cities along the northern end of the Gulf of Mexico. Many people lost their lives. Volunteer squads are endeavoring to "shore up" to prevent heavy flood damage in the wake of the "Big Wind".

Baptists Hear Only Woman Member of Hindustan Congress

A Canadian Missionary in Hindustan and the only woman member of the newly formed Dominion of Hindustan Congress Government was guest speaker at the Baptist church on Sunday, Oct. 12, when Miss Ann Munro, R.N., K.I.H., M.L.A., addressed the congregation.

Miss Munro represents the province of Orissa in Hindustan as an M.P., which is considered a very great achievement for a Canadian woman. This position also opens news opportunities in her field of missionary work. For the past 27 years Miss Munro has been a missionary in Hindustan, as well as a medical worker, and it was because of her complete knowledge of the needs of the native populace and her familiarity with their problems that she, a Canadian woman, was asked to participate in Indian politics where, as a general rule, women are not encouraged to take an interest in the political field.

Miss Munro is spending a six-months' furlough in Canada, and is planning to import canned Okanagan fruit to India, where the natives and missionaries suffer from malnutrition, due to the strict native diet they are forced to follow, with no food imports coming in from other countries. J. W. Munro of Victoria, the deputy minister of agriculture and D. W. Munro, a prominent staff member of the Industrial School at Port Coquitlam are brothers of Miss Munro.

ACCEPT PROPERTY BID

A bid of $625 for a property in Prairie Valley was accepted by the council on October 14 from Walter B. Powell, with the provision that a road allowance is provided.

Okanagan Municipalities Would Have Province Take Over School Costs and Control

ARMSTRONG—Members of the Okanagan Municipal Association met in quarterly session in Armstrong Wednesday, October 15. Mayor F. M. Scott, Kamloops, presided. The meeting was preceded by a complimentary luncheon in the Armstrong Hotel with City of Armstrong and Municipality of Spallumcheen hosts.

School Taxation Vexing
The matter of school taxation took a prominent place in the discussion, and the meeting was of unanimous opinion that strong pressure be put on the government to rectify the conditions arising from implementation of the Cameron Report.

Briefs were being presented from almost all municipal bodies in the association. Mayor Hardman, Revelstoke, declared great confusion had arisen from the Cameron report. He advocated government take over total control of education in the province. Two resolutions resulting from the discussion read as follows:

"That executive of UBCM prepare brief and present to Commission on school taxation."—W. E. Hughes-Games, Kelowna, Major Bedford, Salmon Arm.

"That brief include demand that government take over full control and costs of education in province."—W. Hardman, Revelstoke, D. Browne, Coldstream.

Royal Wedding Gift
Mayor G. H. Game, Armstrong, introduced the subject of a wedding gift to Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth. He asked that the whole valley co-operate and make the gift from every community. The opinion was expressed that money raised should be used in purchasing foodstuffs from Okanagan valley and sent to Lady Reading for distribution. Kelowna had already instituted a campaign and were prepared to send a carload of valley products. Mayor Howrie questioned the value of shipping one carload. It was not a matter of how much or how small the gift said Mayor Hughes-Games, but of sentiment and appreciation to the Royal Family.

On motion of Mayor Howrie, seconded by Reeve Lyon, Penticton: "Matter of a gift to Princess Elizabeth, to be taken up by President Scott at the forthcoming executive meeting of UBCM in line with meeting's discussion."

CHEQUES SAVE YOU TIME AND TROUBLE

Safety And Convenience
Make Them Best Way To Pay

In the days of barter, our forefathers lugged produce to market and eventually found someone who had what they wanted or wanted what they had. It was a tedious, tiring business. The introduction of money improved matters. Instead of toting a back-breaking load, the shopper carried only a few coins. Later on, paper money made business even easier.

Then came the cheque. This secure and handy method of payment enables people to avoid the trouble and risk of carrying too much in pockets or purses. And after a cheque is cashed, it becomes a receipt, a protection the person who signed it is often glad of.

You can avail yourself of this universal convenience by simply visiting the local Bank of Montreal branch where Mr. Muirhead, manager or any member of his staff, will be glad to open an account for you.

A resolution submitted by Salmon Arm District Council urged that the Dominion Government withdraw the 8 percent sales tax on all materials used in the development of municipal and public projects.

Discussion regarding hospital costs being borne by the municipalities drew bitter discussion at the government's attitude, and the defeating of the resolution put forth at the recent UBCM convention.

A resolution passed authorized the re-drafting of the original resolution and that it be submitted to the next meeting of UBCM.

President F. M. Scott spoke on his attendance at the convention of Mayors and Reeves at Winnipeg, and also on proceedings at Harrison Hot Springs in September.

The next meeting of the Association will be held in either Salmon Arm or Enderby.
