E. J. Chambers of Penticton and Vernon, veteran fruit grower and fruit industry leader, was the overwhelming choice of Yale Liberals as their selection as standard-bearer in the forthcoming federal by-election to select the representative of this riding for the seat in the House of Commons left vacant on the retirement from public life of Hon. Grote Stirling, Kelowna.

Mr .Chambers, who has been in the public eye for the past thirty-five years, is seeking to bring Yale riding back to his Liberal party after a period of some 38 years' Tory dominance.

The well-known president of the Associated Growers of B.C.

head office of the co-operative movement which was commenced in the Okanagan in 1923, was selected as candidate for Yale election on the first ballot, when Yale Liberals gathered in Penticton at the IOOF hall on Saturday afternoon, March 27.

A. W. Gray, Rutland, president of the B.C. Association of Irrigation Districts, and unsuccessful candidate in the 1945 federal election won by Hon. Mr. Stirling, contested the party honor with Mr. Chambers. No result of the vote was given out, but it was announced that Mr. Chambers had been elected on the first ballot.

It was a happy and optimistic nominating convention and when Mr. Chambers was declared the Liberal choice, enthusiasm knew no bounds.

Liberal big-wigs from Ottawa and Vancouver were in attendance to give the nominating convention a big boost and included Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of justice and former minister of finance; Tom Reid, MP for New Westminster and senior Liberal member at Ottawa; Mr. James Sinclair, MP for Vancouver-Capilano and a former officer in the RCAF; and Art Laing, Vancouver, newlyelected president of the B.C. Liberal Assn.

The Progressive-Conservative and CCF parties held their nominations last fall, W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan and O. L. Jones, both of Kelowna, having been named by their respective

There was little doubt from the outset who would be the Liberals choice as their standard-bearer. Although the delegates observed their respect for the hard-working Art Gray of Rutland, it was plainly evident that "Ted" Chambers was the man they wished to be their candidate.

Mr. Beairsto described Mr. Chambers as "the man who most nearly attains our ideal of Canadian citizenship." He also paid tribute to the Liberal government for its wartime controls and declared that "Canada has run its own affairs very well and has given as great a contribution to world affairs as any other country.

Like most speakers, Mr. Beairsto commented on the outspoken decree of the Communists that they will align themselves with the CCF party, despite that party's protests. He referred to this position as the "dangerous, deadly support of Communism to the CCF", and expressed a grave fear for the future of Canada if this country

Monday, May 31, Is Likely Day for By-election

Monday, May 31, is the probable date of the Yale federal by-election to select the voters' choice of candidate to replace Hon, Grote tirling, Kelowna.

This was the announcement on Saturday at the Liberal nomination convention in Penticton by Mr. Tom Reld, MP for New Westminster, the senior B.C. Liberal at Ottawa. Mr. Reid has been selected to organize Yale riding on behalf of the Liberal cause.

It is also expected that the date of Vancouver Centre byelection to replace Rt. Hon. Ian MacKenzie, now elevated to the Senate, will be Monday, June 7, just a week after the Yale election.

Three parties are now in the field in Yale, E. J. Chambers. being nominated by the Liberals last Saturday and W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition, MLA. for South Okanagan for the Progressive-Conservatives, and O. L. Jones, for the CCF. Mr. Jones was second to Hon. Grote Stirling in the 1945 fed-

No Compromise With Communism Warns Minister of Justice, Chief Speaker at Liberal Conference

Acclaimed as one of the outstanding Canadian public servants of all time, Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of justice, brought a message to the Liberal nominating convention at Penticton last Saturday which was full of hope for the future of Canada, mixed with caution regarding the world situation.

The distinguished speaker, who was introduced by Art Laing, B.C. Liberal president as a "widely loved and respected tax collector," did not mince words when he denounced the "scandalous behaviour" of the Communist element in Canada.

He observed that Mr. Caldwell, CCF leader, does not want any association with the Communists but he warned his listeners to reflect on Czechoslovakia and the Russian infiltration, "This is not the time to be hesitating or compromising with Communism in Canada," he warned.

"My submission is that in times like these, if the people are satisfied that the government administration is sound and sane and there have been no scandals, then the government should be supported and made strong both for the economic stability and national security of the country."

Extended Trade

Mr. Ilsley is one of four Liberal cabinet ministers who were in office in 1935, the others being Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Hon. C. D. Howe and Hon. James Gardiner.

When the Mackenzie King government swept into power in 1985, there was a depression in Canada and the more liberal policy towards trade and the expansion of Canadian markets assisted in alleviating national conditions, the speaker stated.

He referred to the Progressive-Conservative outcry during the war years that the prime minister was not capable of carrying on the war effort and declared his opinion that Mr. King is a "pretty good prime minister in war or

The rehabilitation program of the King government is the most liberal and enlightened policy in the world and was based on a two billion dollar expenditure, he claimed. As minister of finance he then viewed the program with some misgivings, but apart from the standpoint of humanity and thankfulness, he now believes that this program has been a good in-

In Next Week Total $100,000

Nearly $100,000 will be issued to members of the Summerland Cooperative Growers' Assn within the next week, as an advance on the final apple crop payments, packing charge refunds, and certificate interest and redemption, Miss Bertha Bristow, co-op secretary announced yesterday.

This payment will mean that co-op members will be able to prepare for the coming season and set their finances in shape.

Already an interest on certificates payment, dated April 1, has gone out, amounting to $7,500, while redemption of 1945 local certificates, for the same date, amount to $9,008.

Before the end of the week, $37. 000 will be distributed as a refund of packing charges. Soft fruit rebate amounts to 5½ cents per crate and the box rebate on apples, pears and crabapples average 11 cents.

Next week, a further advance on the apple crop will mean that $43,000 will be distributed to the co-op grower-members.

In all, these payments mean that $96,508 will be circulated in this district.

Spring Fair Dates Set for May 21 and 22

Dates for Summerland's Spring Fair, which was revived last year and proved to be an overwhelming success, have been announced by the board of trade committee in charge as May 21 and 22. The Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd. building will be the scene of the fair this year, the premises having been loaned to the board despite the difficulties to the management which will be entailed with the renovation work which has commenced there.

Various new items of entertainment are being planned for this year's fair, while arrangements are underway to have a fair queen reign over the two-day affair.

Ellison hall has been booked for a big spring fair dance on Friday evening, May 21.

Len H. Hill is in charge of the spring fair committee, with the following as his subchairmen: Dance, Fred Dunsdon; entertainment, Roy Henderson; building and booth construction, Bob Bleasdale and Clark Baker; games, Percy Thompson; publicity and advertising, Gerry Laidlaw; booth sales, Norman Holmes; fair queen, J. E. O'Mahony, secretary, J. R. Armstrong.

WRECK ON KVR

A Kettle Valley railway freight train, which crashed into a slide near Tulameen on Monday has caused a considerable delay in passenger, freight, express and mail service in the Southern Okanagan this week.

This slide was cleared by yes terday and the eastbound KV train passed through West Summerland late Wednesday afternoon instead of in the early morning hours.

Service was expected to resume its normal program today, with trains running through the Coquihalla pass.

Passengers, baggage and express had to be transferred across the slide on Tuesday and the westbound train was turned about and headed east again, passing through Summerland at 3:17 p.m.

Because mail from the coast is not delivered at the Summerland station, but goes through to Penticton and then comes north by mail truck, no coast mail was received on Tuesday. It was distributed in the local post offices yesterday morning.

The same condition ensued regarding the coast mail ordinarily received on Wednesday. It was not received here until this morn-

VICTORIA-A comprehensive program of highways, bridges and public buildings was outlined to the legislature by Hon. E. C. The most encouraging features of his report were the plans announced for the continuation of reconstruction and construction of new highways, covering some 124 miles at a cost of $5,000,000; new paving to cover approximately 465 miles at a cost of $3,100,000; and some 38 new bridges at a cost of $2.457.000.

Growers Plan sible troublesome points may be ironed out at the start. To Annex Big Juice Plant Fruit circles have revealed this week that a deal is about closed between the BCFGA and Okanagan Fruit Juices Ltd., Kelowna, where in the fruit industry will take over the control and operation of the big fruit juice plant of the latter company.

It is stated in informed circles that the purchase price is in the neighborhood of $200,000. This deal is being arranged by the BCFGA, in conjunction with the B.C. Fruit Board, although the grower-owned processing com-pany, B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., will probably be placed in charge of the operation of the plant.

The entire deal will be discussed by BCFGA directors at a special meeting to be held in the near future, when the growers' executive will seek ratification of its plans, it is understood. In 1946, the Okanagan Fruit Juices Ltd. erected a large, modern processing plant in Kelowna and this company has been producing the Kel apple juice, in cooperation with James Dole and associates of San Francisco.

Liberals Pay Tribute To Former Yale Member

Several Liberal speakers paid tribute to Hon. Grote Stirling, Kelowna, retired MP for Yale, when the Grits held their nominating convention at Pentioton last Saturday.

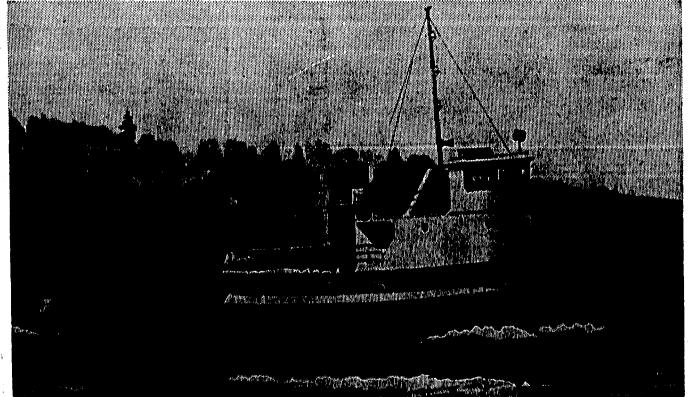

"Wo regret Mr. Stirling's retirement," commented Mr. H. K. Bealrato, Vernon school principal, in seconding Mr. E. J. Chambers' nomination. "Butwe have no intention of smoothing Mr. Bonnett's path, he continued, following hearty applause for Mr. Stiriing, the former Conservative M.P., from the Liberal dele-

Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilaley, minister of justice, and a man who grow up in the fruit growing area of the Annapolis Valley, also spoke of the "dignity and character of that gentleman," in referring to Mr. Stirling. He then turned to Mr. Chambors, the new Liberal candidate and declared that he know Mr. Chambers at Ottawa in the war years and believed that "he (Chambers) will carry on the tradition of high character and dignity,

"He is a candidate of excep-tional ability and you are not making any mistake in your choice," he continued.

NEW CNR TUG FOR OKANAGAN LAKE-

Above is an antist's sketch of the new Canadian National Railways' tug being built by Yarrows Limited, Victoria, for the railway's Okanagan Lake freight service. The shippard expects to have the vessel completed in time for service in July. Of all steel, welded construction, the new C.N.R. tug is 89 feet 6 inches over all, has a molded breadth of 22 feet and depth of 10 feet 6 inches. After being constructed the tug will be knocked down to suitable sizes for rail shipment to Kelowna, where she will be assembled and launched in Okanagan Lake to tow car transfer barges for the Canadian National. The tugboat will be powered by a six-cylinder diesel engine, supercharged, developing about 600 horsepower. The towing winch, windlass and steering gear are hydraulically driven. A new C.N.R. car barge, of steel construction, is being built by West Coast Shipbuilders, Vancouver, for Okanagan Lake service. The barge 240 feet long, with a 39-foot beam, is designed to carry ten freight cars.

Chambers Is Choice

Yale Liberals on Saturday chose the strongest candidate in their ranks to contest the Yale by-election, which is expected to be held near the end of May.

E. J. Chambers, or Ted, as he is known to hundreds of persons in the Okanagan and in the east, is a man of impeachable character who has been in the public eye for the last thirty-five years, nearly half his lifetime.

As president of the Associated Growers, he has seen many changes in the life of the Okanagan fruit grower and has aided in the drive towards a common sense and working method of crop distribution. His acquaintances speak highly of his organizational capabilities, of his leadership in fruit matters and of his clear-minded thinking ability.

The fact that Ottawa called him to headguarters during the war years to head the fruit and vegetable division of the wartime prices and trade board is an indication of Mr. Chambers' ability and the esteem in which he is held by heads of the fruit industry.

The Liberals are determined to make an all-out effort to wrest the Yale riding from the Tories after 38 years of Conservative sovereignty, now that Hon. Grote Stirling has retired.

Liberals at Ottawa, to continue their program without too much interruption, need a slightly bigger majority as recent votes in the House of Commons have been too close for comfort. They intend to leave no stone unturned to return Liberals to Ottawa in Yale and Vancouver Centre ridings. They need these seats.

It promises to be a grand election fight.

Sales Tax

That groan you heard last week emanated from the combined throates of the housewife endeavoring to stretch her dollars to provide ample necessities for the home; of the bread winner who is struggling to stretch his income to take care of the day to day demands with little opportunity to provide for the future; of the retailer, who is already overburdened with accounting problems on behalf of the government.

That groan concerned the statement that a three percent sales tax will be imposed in B.C. in order to balance a provincial budget which is being badly taxed to meet the ever-increasing burden of social assistance, health and education costs.

Detailed provisions of the sales tax are not obtainable yet, but the great fear which has arisen is that mail order houses will receive the first and most direct benefit of the sales tax.

Unless provincial statutes can be invoked to extend this tax to all purchases which are made by B.C. residents, whether in or out of the province, the local retailer is going to suffer.

We do not pretend to be acquainted will all the ramifications of provincial finance, but we would suggest that the B.C. government should have endeavored to find some means other than a cumbersome sales tax with which to balance its fast-growing budget.

We suggest that another provincial-dominion conference should have been called to endeavor to have the dominion take over its proper allotment of the social assistance costs before heaping on the over-burdened shoulders of the retailer and the consumer a nuisance tax.

Costs of collecting this tax will be enormous and the extra burden placed on the storekeeper in tabulating the items affected by the tax will be such as to make the operation of a small business almost a nightmare. And we stress again the future of the small homemaker whose income has not come anywhere near meeting the soaring cost of living.

Granted foodstuffs will not be affected by this tax, but there are many other items

EDITORIAL It Must Be Spring!

Little Girls Skipping Ropes to Playful

> Rhymes By J. G.

A sure harbinger of Spring, along with the first robins and crocuses, is the sudden blossoming of groups of little girls skipping rope. Some of the games and songs which go with the skipping are as dainty as the little ones singing them, and some mirror, amusingly, characteristics common to all mankind.

There is, too, a subtle difference between city skipping play and town or country games. For instance, the children in Vancouver reflect the general crowded living conditions with this verse:

"My mother, your mother live across the well, Every night they have a fight, and this is what they

Apparently Summerland mothers don't fight with their neighbors, but the children show a human tendency to gloat over another's discomfiture with the song:

> "Down by the river, down by the sea, Johnny broke a milk bottle and blamed it onto me; I told Ma, Ma told Pa, Johnny got a licking, so ha, ha, ha."

Okanagan fruit is advertised in this dainty game, which is sung to a very pretty melody:

> "Rosy apples, peaches and a pear, A bunch of roses she shall wear; Gold and silver by her side,

> I choose Margaret to be my bride. Take her by her lily white hand, Lead her to the altar stand, Give her kisses one, two three,

Old Mother Hubbard pinned a rose on me."

The city children generally show a sophisticated approach to life, as in a perfectly horrid little game which smacks of the ambulance-chasing shyster, but in this case the doctor is doing the chasing, with a "Clang, clang, clang the bell will say, Any sick children for the doctor today? Break their leg and give them a pill, And I will send you a whopping bill." Our doctors certainly haven't reached such an infamous state-

The sweeter aspects of life seem to be predominantly featured in the children's games here, although they do sing one song about a lady who definitely had her hand out:

Here's another money-saving tip. Take a dress that's too short to give that "new look," cut it off at the waist, then take about 14 inches from the hem end, join it to the waist, and you'll find you have a smart tunic with an equally smart peplum. Then you wear a long black skirt with it, and you're all set for whatever gaiety comes your way.

which come directly into the line of day to day necessities, which will fall within the scope of this tax. It is not a happy prospect.

We can recall a day when imposition of such a tax would have spelled political doom to the party in power. W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan representative in the legislature, took a brave and determined stand when he opposed his fellow coalition members and his outspoken remarks will probably stand him in good stead in the forthcoming federal by-election.

But we know Mr. Bennett well enough that we believe he would have adopted the same stand if no such election was in the offing, provided he felt that the country was not being given a fair showing by such im-

The Inside Story

Last week I was privileged to attend a meeting of the Better Fruit Committee. This committee was established a year ago to recommend and direct a program designed to improve the quality and condition in which British Columbia fruit reaches consumers' markets.

The BCFGA is represented on the Better Fruit Committee by J. R. Stirling, T. Hill and I. Newman. B.C. Tree Fruits Limited is represented by A. K. Loyd, D. McNair and A. Lander. Representatives of the Okanagan Federated Shippers Association include A. Hill, C. Battye, C. Elsey, J. Brydon, A. Brown and L. R. Stephens. Ben Hoy and R. P. Murray represent the horticultural extension service of the provincial department of agriculture. W. Read represents the dominion marketing service, while Dr. R. C. Palmer, Dr. D. V. Fisher, J. E. Britton and Dr. J. E. Wilcox represent the dominion experimental farms service. A. K. Loyd is chairman of the Better Fruit Committee and L. R. Stephens is secretary. This committee submits recommendations to the executives of the BCFGA and the federated shippers.

After very free discussion and careful deliberation the following recommendations were made regarding the harvesting, packing and storage of this year's anticipated record apple crop:

1. McIntosh, Delicious, Grimes, Golden Delicious and Bananas be moved from orchards to packing houses within 24 hours, if possible, or 72 hours at maximum.

2. That McIntosh and Delicious be packed and shipped or cold stored (packed or loose) within 72 hours of receipt at the packinghouses.

3. It was agreed that the first 15 packing days after the McIntosh start-pick date should be devoted by packinghouses to the packing of McIntosh only,

4. That Jonathans be moved from orchards to packing houses as required for immediate packing and shipment,

5. That Delicious, Bananas, Grimes, Golden Delicious and Jonathans be packed within 57 days from the McIntosh start-pick date.

6. That any apples (of the above six varieties) not handled within the above program be the responsibility of the packinghouse with regard to condition, shipability, claims,

These recommendations have been passed on to the executives of the BCFGA and the Okanagan Federated Shippers Association. It is realized that to put them into effect, growers and packinghouse operators will have to do some fast work next autumn. However, it is also realized that our

Housing Critical In Summerland

Evidence that the housing situation is extremely acute in Summerland was provided the council last week when an application was received for permission to renovate the premises formerly occupied by the now-defunct Summerland Cycle Shop. This small, wooden structure is on the W.C. Kelley property under option to the school district. Building Inspector Roy Angus was told the council would have no objection, provided the building bylaw regulations were obeyed. An application for domestic water connection to the building, made by Judge W. C. Kelley, K.C., was approved.

Coast Highway To Alaska Is American Plan

VERNON — A proposal that would affect Vernon in no small way is being prompted by the Okanogan-Cariboo and Alaska High-way Association. The proposal is the early construction of the coast highway to Alaska which would be coupled with a super-highway from Prince George, through Kamloops, the Okanagan and to Wenatchee, following the Cariboo Trail. Vernon city council and the board of trade have representation in the highway association.

A lead story in a recent edition of the Wenatchee "Daily World" gives the advantages of the present Alaska highway, and points against another alternate highway.

The article states that pressure is being exerted by B.C. on the dominion government for financial aid as well as joint agreement with the United States' government on the immediate construction of the Opinion against the present Al-

can highway includes the fact that it opens neither the rich northern B.C. mineral belt nor provides a direct route from the United States to Alaska. It was built with military consideration in mind and it is not a scenic highway, claims "The Daily World."

Some advantages of the route are that it passes through country in which it is exceptionally easy to build a road. The coast route would give access to a number of B.C. and Alaska ports. It would lend itself to connecting lateral roads, tapping mineral, pulp and paper industries and other natural resources as well as scenic coun-

"It would develop southern British Columbia (the Okanagan Valley) and increase tourist business in the area as well as in Washington," The Daily World continues.

Estimates of costs run from seven t_0 20 millions, depending on whether the highway is built for auto and truck traffic or heavy military traffic of 120 tons.

The latest step in the proposal is the Goodwill Caravan which was suggested at the Kelowna meeting of the association a month The tour of representative American interests and north central Washington people will provide British Columbians an opportunity to explain their position and discuss mutual benefits of the Alaska highway following the Cariboo Trail.

The highway would start at Wenatchee, pass through Oroville, cross the border, through the Okanagan Valley, over to Kamloops, up to Prince George, through Fort Fraser to Hazelton, and there on to the coast highway route which goes up through Atlin and joins the Alcan Highway at a point before Whitehorse.

Sidewalk Costs Again President of $1,590 Are.

Estimates for sidewalk construction needed in the municipality amounting to $1,500 were tabled by Foreman E. Kercher at Tuesday's council session last week. These estimates include three sections in lower town and sidewalk extension and repair on Kelley and Hastings streets and a walk through the park-playground leading from the top of the hill.

The lower town sections include 180 feet on the west side of the highway, opposite the cannery which, including a fill, would amount to $189; a stretch north to the fish hatchery, a distance of 325 feet, $190, repairing the wooden walk by Lee McLaughlin's home, $25; and the stretch from the McAlpine home to H. Thornthwaite's residence, $165, without surfacing.

To asphalt the sidewalk on Kelley street, replacing the wooden sidewalk, would cost $264. The exstreet, west side, from Pollock Motors to the Capitol Motors, gra- by the experimental station. vel walk only, $156; the proposed walk from the top of the hill down through the park along the east side of the C. C. Wharton orchard, $550.

It was stated by Councillor Wilson that residents between the Mc-Alpine and Thornthwaite homes were not interested in paying for the asphalt surface, which was suggested instead of a straight

Of Horticulturists

The seven directors for the forthcoming year of the Summerland Horticultural Society named at the annual meeting at the Oddfellows' hall on Friday, March 19, were: Mrs. M. E. Collas, Miss Marjorie Fenwick, Mrs. Alan Mc-Kenzie, Mr. Clive Atkinson, Mr. William Snow, Dr. James Marshall, and Mr. E. H. Bennett.

The executive appointed from the directorate were Mrs. Collas, as returning president, Dr. James Marshall as returning vice-president, Mr. Clive Atkinson as secretary, and Mrs. Alan McKenzie as treasurer. In appointing the new treasurer, tribute was paid to the ten years of faithful work in that capacity given to the society by Mrs. Magnus Tait, who has had to resign the post because of ill health.

Mr. Ernie Bennett and Mr. William Snow are the directors named as "Show Committee". in sole charge of arranging for the annual flower show to be held in

The meeting viewed three short topical films, and then were led in a most interesting discussion on vegetable growing by Mr. Wiltension of the walk on Hastings liam May, when he described new varieties developed and approved

An extensive program for the coming year was outlined, which included work on the Memorial Park, annual flower show, flower lovers' day at the experimental station, showing of Horticulture Films and monthly visit to interesting gardens.

Mrs. Earl Wilson was nominated refreshment convener for the ensuing year.

CHANGE BARN INTO DUPLEX

Roy F. Angus, building inspector, informed the council last week that T. W. Boothe plans to remodel a barn on his premises into a duplex dwelling. About $2,000 will be involved in the renovation and it will conform to the building bylaw, Mr. Angus stated.

WANTS LANE REPAIRED

Councillor H. L. Wilson was asked by the council last week to investigate a request from Fred Thompson that the lane at the rear of his premises be put in better shape while a bulldozer is working at the Occidental property nearby.

riding back in 1935. In his address prior to the voting on Saturday, Mr. Chambers referred to Yale as the gem of all Canadian ridings and spoke of this riding's diversification of interests, ranging from lumbering, wheat production, coal, copper, silver, dairying and canning to the big tree fruit industry.

Forty percent of Canada's fruit production emanates from Yale riding, he continued.

"Yale riding has one peculiarity, that it has been Conservative for 38 years," emphasized the speaker, stating that it is "time for a change," as Yale has been on the side of the opposition seven years out of ten in that period.

"Yale should get out into the sunshine and be on the right side for once," declared Mr. Chambers. He maintained that the Progressive-Conservative party has less chance right now of forming a government than for many years and they are losing friends and supporters every day. On the othmaking it difficult for them. Mr. Caldwell, CCF national leader, probably is adopting the theme song: "They're too hot for me", Mr. Chambers believed,

E. J. Chambers Chosen Communist Threat

A. W. Gray, the unsuccessful pe titioner for the role of Liberal candidate, drew his audience a picture of the Communists climbing into power on the backs of Socialists in Europe and vouchsafed the opinion that this is a possibility in Canada unless the people are prepared.

"The Russians are convinced of and are waiting for the collapse cent. of the capitalist system and ir. the consequent depression they would step into power," Mr. Gray observed. "They believe that if we should have another depression, then it would result in the election of a socialistic goernment, with the Communists lurking in the background.

Insecurity and lack of opportunity for development are two major factors in the cause of depression, Mr. Gray contended. He believed that a contributary old-age plan and health insurance would give Canadians a social security which they need.

"We have to develop our country," he continued, intimating that a far greater population and extensive irrigation projects are es sential. In the Okanagan with an increase in population of some 25,-000 people, there is a lag of 8,000 acres in land which should be under cultivation.

"We could double the cultivated area of the Okanagan," he believed, and with increased immigration onto the prairies in the wake of extensive irrigation projects there, over-production problems would be eliminated. He did not believe there is any such thing as over-production, but a lack sometimes of proper distribution.

When elected, Mr. Chambers gave a simple message to his supporters, who greeted him with loud acclaim. "I'll do my best," was his only comment.

Two Hundred Present

Acting Reeve J. W. Johnson, himself a prominent Liberal, extended a welcome to the delegates on behalf of Penticton. Some 200 delegates had gathered for the function from Grand Forks in the east, to Princeton on the west, Osoyoos in the south and Enderby to the north.

"You'll get 90 percent of the Penticton vote," was the hopeful statement of Acting Reeve John-

Art Laing, B.C. Liberal president and a young Grit who has proved himself one of the most forceful speakers in Liberal ranks in this province, introduced the guest speakers to the "magnificent and enthusiastic" conven-

He insisted that in public affairs, subjects concerning various points in the province should be settled locally and not by central groups at the coast or in Ottawa.

"The greatest danger in Canada today is not Communism but the appalling apathy of the people on our side," he declared. "When we are aware of our responsibilities, then the danger will recede into the background.'

Tom Reid, another forcefu' speaker, was introduced as the man chosen by the Liberal headquarters at Ottawa to organize the Liberal campaign for Yale riding. "A candidate should have seven qualifications to be successful," Mr. Re'd stated. "The first is: 'Can he win?' and if the answer is 'Yes', then you can throw away the

Farmers Reached All-Time High In 1947 Cash Returns

Canadian farmers' cash returns from the sale of farm products during 1947 established an all-time record high of $1,990.6 million This represents a gain of $237,2 million, or 13.6 per cent over the revised figure for 1946 of $1,752.7 Compared with the previous record high in 1944 of $1,829.0 the 1947 cash income shows an increase of $161.6 million, or 8.8 per-

An increase of $128.6 from the sale of grain, seed and hay in 1947 over 1946 is due principally to higher prices and substantial pay ments made on wheat participa tion certificates as well as adjust ment payments on wheat and barley deliveries. other six."

"We have a chance in this riding that we haven't had in the past, but there is a hard figh. ahead of us," he cautioned.

"There are critical times ahead in Canada and we need a strong capable government at the head of affairs. I see no other government capable than the Liberal ad ministration. We require Mr Chambers in that Liberal govern ment."

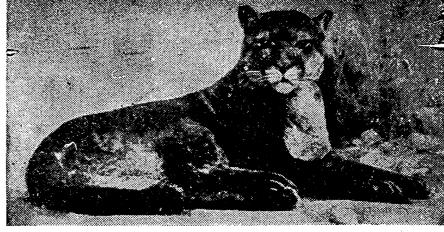

Last of the guest speakers was James Sinclair, who assured the delegates that the "Liberals of B.C. are solidly behind you in this very important by-election.",

He stressed that the choice of candidate, the party platform and the organization of the campaigr. are the three important steps in winning an election.

"The Okanagan needs a man a Ottawa who knows the problems of the fruit grower backwards and forwards," declared Mr Sinclair, adding his praise of the work for the Okanagan undertak en in the past by the Liberal choice, Mr. Chambers.

He also praised Art Gray fo: his tireless work on behalf of the Liberal party.

Howard J. Thornton, Vernon president of the Yale Liberal association was chairman of the Saturday convention. A banque was held in the evening at the Incola hotel, with Mr. Tom Reic outlining the campaign which wil be conducted by the Liberals in their effort to return Mr. Cham bers to Ottawa.

An attractive tea was served in the afternoon and coffee in the evening. A third exhibition is to be held next month and will consist of engravings, woodcuts, etc., sent by the UBC extension department.

STILL CONSIDERING

The Summerland Board of Trade is to be informed by the municipal council that it is still considering the board's plan for radio interference finding and will give a decision at a later date. The board proposed, in January, that it would provide $150 towards radio inter-ference finding if the council would match this amount.

Well-Stocked Food Shops Here Thrill Scottish Visitor

Visiting Canada for the first time, Miss Jean Gardner who is staying with her aunt, Mrs. John Ritchie, is delighted with the whole country, and especially our lovely Okanagan valley. Miss Gardner, who lives in Glasgow, Scotland, crossed the continent with stops in New York, Niagara Falls, Hamilton and Toronto. The vast expanse of snow-covered prairies thrilled her, and the Rockies were, of course, eye-opening in their beauty.

The great varieties of food in the shops of Canada particularly appealed to coupon-conscious Miss Gardner, for while she explained there are plenty of sweets to be seen in Glasgow shops, the coupon limitations are such that tea-time becomes rather monotonously just tea and buns or bread. She keeps thinking how "the folks in Scotland" woud enjoy a share of some of the cakes and sweets we have so easily accessible.

Miss Gardner will remain here for a few weeks before going on to see Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. She hopes to be back in Summerland in time to see the Valley in full bloom, and only regrets that she cannot stay long enough to enjoy the fruit. She the end of May.

Scholarships In Agriculture Are Being Offered

The Agricultural Institute of Canada, has announced that an open competition will be held for 20 scholarships of $800 each for post-graduate studies in the field of scientific agriculture. This is the third year that the Agricultural Institute has sponsored such a competition, the funds for which are contributed by Canadian firms interested in the advancement of Canadian agriculture.

During the past two years 42 Canadian agriculturists have been assisted and the present awards are designed to permit the training of an additional 20 during the 1948-49 academic year.

The competition is open to graduates in agriculture and to holders of other degrees provided that the courses taken afforded suitable preparation for graduate work leading to service in the field of agriculture. Applicants must be residents of Canada. Applications must be made to the general secretary of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, Confederation building, Ottawa, by June 1, on forms that are available on request to that office. The successful candidates for these scholarships will be selected by a special committee under the chairmanship of Dr. R. D. Sinclair; dean, faculty of agriculture, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

No Unemployment

There was, in 1945, a fear of unemployment when the forces returned and the war factories slowed down, but there has "hardly been a ripple," he declared. The employment of labor in Canada is much higher now than ever before and the record national income of 1947 is expected to be equalled this year, he prophesied.

First of the social security measures put in force by the 1945 Liberal government was the family allowance plan and then proposals were made to the provinces to increase the scope of social security. This could not be carried out fully because of the non co-operation of Ontario and Quebec whose premiers "want to develop little nations within the big nation."

But these measures proposed to the provinces are still part of the government policy, he continued. Trade and external relations were also part of the 1945 government platform and he believed that the government at Ottawa | there is no consistency or princihas faithfully co-operated with other nations to press for world

"Never was there a greater need for a moderate, sane Liberal policy as opposed to the reactionary, socialistic and Communistic trine. Liberals stand for a wider viewpoints," he emphasized. Canada Needs Trade

The 1947 trade agreements at Geneva Mr. Ilsley termed a triumph of international co-operation, where concessions had to be given in order to make other gains, and allow the world to return to the pattern existing before the war.

"There must be trade between nations for the success of Canada," he insisted, "in order for usto continue to maintain our prosperity." He pointed out that the U.K. and western Europe are unable to restore trade, thus making the European Recovery Plan fundamental to this country.

"Has the dominion government measured up to its responsibilities to European recovery?" he queried. stating in answer that the bold system of mutual aid inaugurated at Ottawa meant that Canada gave her goods away. Any other policy would have been futile, he contended, as three years after the war Canada still has to extend her credits to those countries.

Canada joined UNRRA and then participated in post-UNRRA relief to the extent of one and three quarter billion dollars, to the Marshall countries. In contrast, the U.S., with many times Canada's wealth and population, burg, Wash.

contributed between eight and nine billions in post-UNRRA re-

"We have had a Marshall plan in effect right along and the people of Canada have a vital interest in European recovery," he stress Majority for Liberals Turning then to the government opposition, he referred to Mr. Bracken and his Tory party: "He has a magnificent future behind them".

The Gallup polls indicate that between 28 and 29 percent of the people favor the Progressive-Conservatives, 15 to 16 percent favor the CCF and between 40 and 45 percent favor the Liberals.

The Progressive - Conservatives favor lower taxation and highe: expenditure, which shows that ple about this party, he claimed The OCF has a more definite philosophy, the adoption of socialism

He then listed a number of his objections to the CCF platform in comparison with the Liberal docmeasure of freedom of action for the individual, while the CCF want a regimented society not in tune to the pioneering spirit of this country's people.

Liberals wish for a wider mea sure of provincial autonomy, which is in contrast with the centraliza tion policies of the CCF, he claimed. Liberals stand for a more far-reaching policy of tax and debt reduction, while the CCF believes in unlimited expenditures.

Liberals wish to make the people more self reliant, while the CCF advocates public dependance on the government in the form of subsidies, etc.

National unity, especially be tween separate economic units, is a wish of the Liberal party, while the CCF relies on class hatred as a party asset, he declared.

"But, of course, the CCF isn't a patch on the Communists. The people are being aroused by their scandalous behavior and are questioning their loyalty. All Canadians must be awake, alert and ready to fight this insidious, in genious infiltration on the part of the Communists," he concluded.

Interest Charges On Arrears Of Irrigation Districts Waived

VERNON - Token payments * without interest charges will be sociation. The recognized for Okanagan irrigation districts, according to A. W. Gray, president of the Association of B.C. Irrigation Districts, in a recent report to the associa-

"We are now able to state that Dean Clement has ruled almost entirely in our favor," stated Mr. Gray, "and the department has agreed to implement his report fully, and is putting through an order-in-council that will give us the settlement in 'black and white,' and each district will recoive a letter from the department setting out its exact situa-

Save $150,000

Mr. Gray said, "We do not have all the figures at hand as yet, but it is estimated that the savings to the districts concerned in reduced number of payments may be as much as $150,000 in the aggregate. The Black Mountain Irrigation District will be saved about 40 payments of $1,500 each, and the final date of redemption of the debt advanced from 1996 to 1967. The South East Kelowna Irrigation District, Vernon Irrigation District and Keremeos Districts will be saved relatively similar amounts, as will a number of other districts in a smaller degree."

In Review

Reviewing the history of the problem and the negotiations, Mr. Gray continued, "During the year tion of the agreement by your exthat has elapsed since the report ecutive, and now upheld by Dean of Dean F. Commissioner on Irrigation, was presented to the legislature and the government promised to implement it fully, the executive of your association has been conducting negotiations regarding clarification of some points at is-

"In particular, these applied to certain arrears of payments dating from the first years of the Lougheed settlement and affecting only some of the member districts. As a result of the inability of certain districts to meet the full annual payments set out in that settlement, a new arrangement was made in 1938, which established the payment of 'token payments.'

"The 1938 agreement and the Clement report both contemplated the completion of the debt payments by 1963, in the interpretation placed upon them by the as-department lands, however, thought otherwise and payments in arrears from 1934-37 period were charged to the respective districts on a basis of 41/2 percent interest, compounded, and the statements received by the districts in 1947 indicated that they would be continuing to pay to the government for from ten to 30 years after 1963, because of the huge interest charges.

Further Report

"These statements were disputed by the association, and as a result the department of lands eventually agreed to have Dean Clement clarify this part of his report. The department and the association presented their divergent views to him at the University of B.C. in January, and he submitted his report February 5.

"The ruling is to the effect that only 30 payments are called for, and payments not met between 1934 and 1937 will be set over to the end of the 30-year period without interest. These will be taken care of by additional token payments until the individual district has completed the required 30 payments.

"The department of lands, to implement this, will be obliged to write off large amounts of accumulated interest, which sums should never have been added to the Irrigation District's debt at all, according to the interpreta-

"The debt situation has at last been finalized, and the districts are assured of the prospect of paying off their indebtedness to the conservation fund by 1963 or a few years thereafter.'

Parks Program

Improvements being planned for Peach Orchard park and bathing beach, Peach Orchard cemetery and Powell Beach were detailed last week by Councillor Eric M. Tait, chairman of the council's parks committee.

His report dealt mainly with planned improvements which will form a continuation of the program which was commenced last year.

At the cemetery, Councillor Tait proposes to replace the driveway with a better grade on the portion which was eliminated last year. He also advocated that the new portion opened up last year should be surveyed and the plots marked out. This new portion will Councillor Harvey Wilson suggested that crested wheat grass be sown on this new section to hold the soil and the council agreed with this plan.

The tool shed will also be repaired and painted this year, the councillor reported.

Changing of the entrance road a good improvement, Councillor tion.

Tait stated and he suggested that a bulldozer be employed to continue the levelling and clearing out of brush which was commenced there last year.

A water pipe from Ellison hall to the outdoors kitchen will be installed to provide running water, and further repairs to the kitchen will be undertaken.

A generous offer from nearby residents to plant shrubs and care for their upkeep was reported by Councillor Tait. This work will be undertaken on the "island" formed at the entrance by the new roadway. The council will undertake clearing of this section prior to planting.

More levelling work will be undertaken at Peach Orchard beach while the bulldozer is in the

The parks committee head did not plan any major work at Powell Beach but looked forward to a future time when the portion west of the beach could be cleared out and a park-playground formed. He did not consider this work could be undertaken this season.

However, he plans to have further clearing work done by persons who are interested in salvaging the wood available there.

Costs of these projects will be submitted when the council considers estimates. It was intimated last week that the council will hold a committee session soon to finalize the council budget for at Peach Orchard park has made | 1948, not including the school por-

"Home Town Paper" Film Premiere to Show at Vernon

VERNON--"The Home Town Paper," the National Film Board's "movie" about Vernon, will have its Canadian premiere in the Capitol Theatre within the next few

Walter Bennett recently received word from J. J. Fitzgibbons, president of Famous Players, that arrangements were being made for this film to be shown in Vernon before general release. Mr. Fitzgibbon was present at a screening of the two-reeler in Toronto and wrote that it was an excellent picture and that Vernon citizens should feel proud of themselves for the part they played in producing this fine film.

Morten Parker, who directed the filming here last summer, was in Vernon over the weekend and explained that it had been accepted as "a theatrical" for distribution by Columbia Pictures in major Canadian theatres, in contract to circulation by the National Film Board as one of their monthly releases in the "Canada Carries On" series. Some time after regular commercial showings the film will be circulated through National Film Council libraries.

Already it has been flown to Geneva for showing at the UNES-CO conference. It will be shown all over the world in the regular commercial channels of Hollywood productions.

Only Permanent Connections Now

As a consequence, the council has decided that no more temporary connections will be made, but the builder of the structure will take out a permanent connection and a metre will be connected to record electrical energy used.

Migration and its mysteries, especially as applicable to fish, was the topic of Granville Morgan, guest speaker at the AOTS annual meeting on Thursday, March 25.

He described the spawning and migration of several varieties of fish, together with their feeding habits, and explained how the fish hatchery has helped to keep up the fish supply.

June is the months when the hatchery should start operations, and Mr. Morgan has been assured that the new building will be ready by then. Numerous questions brought the speaker repeatedly to his feet after the main part of his talk

Highlight of the business part of the meeting was the annual election of officers. With 50 members and guests present, and each office contested, there was a lively election, though no campaign speeches. Bert Whitmore was acclaimed as honorary president, Gordon Beggs elected as president, Bert Stent as vice-president, Gerry Laidlaw as secretary and Blair Underwood as treasurer. The retiring president, Jack Wilcox, installed the new officers in a short, impressive ceremony.

Wallace Boothe reported on the success of the AOTS request concert on March 4, stressing the willingness of members to help in any way they could. Bill Jenkinson, for the financial end, reported that they had cleared close to

It was felt by several that this request concert would have to be repeated another year, but Steve Canning for the finance committee reminded that the AOTS policy had always been personal service rather than financial contributions to community efforts, and that the club is not a money-raising organization.

Four visitors from Peachland, guests of the Summerland AOTS. watched the proceedings with keen interest, as they hope to start an AOTS at Peachland. president, Gordon Beggs, promised that the Summerland club would assist them in any way they

MAY HAVE THREE AREAS IN ZONING

It is probable that the West Summerland fire district, lower town area from Peach Orchard to Evans' corner and the Trout Creek area would fall within the scope of zoning regulations, the municipal council considered in discussion last week.

When the Summerland municipal delegation visited Victoria recently members paid a visit to the regional planning office and received an assurance that a town planning expert would visit Summerland early in the summer to advise on the procedure necessary to institute zoning,

Although no decision can be made until further details are at hand, Reeve Reid A. Johnston expressed the thought last week that these three district would probably lend themselves to zoning regulations.

REDUCE EXTENSION BILL

As there are residences in the vicinity being served from the transformer at the hospital, the municipal council has reduced the Summerland Hospital Society account for extension of service to the nurses' home from $402.79 to $250, A 25 kva transformer was installed to service the hospital and nurses' home.

ROADS BUDGET-

Reconstruction work is planned west of Lytton, between Vernon and Kelowna, Kamloops-Vernon road, Cariboo highway south of Clinton-Cariboo highway between mile 70 and mile 73, Cariboo highway south from mile 94 to mile 100. Deep Creek north of Williams lake, northern trans-provincial highway near Prince Rupert; also, in the vicinty of Terrace and Kitwana and continuation of the Clucultzrevision between Prince George and Vanderhoof.

Tenders will be called within ten days for first unit of the Kingsway improvement between Vancouver and New Westminster. Plans provide for four traffic lanes providing an over all street width of 64 feet.

On the Island highway, a new road is to be constructed from Duncan to Ladysmith, a distance of eighteen miles. This will be the largest project ever undertaken on the Island.

With funds provided from the 3 cent gasoline tax taken over from the dominion 283 miles of surfacing work was completed during the past year. During the coming season 465 miles of paving work will be undertaken at a cost of $3,100,000, of which 58 miles will be on the Hope-Kaleden highway and 41 miles on Vancouver Island. Other sections included in the paving program are Lougheed highway, 23.5 miles; trans-Canada highway, 1101/2 miles; these figures do not include over paving of smaller character.

Thirty-eight bridges will be built at a cost of $2,457,000. This is in addition to the 61 bridges undertaken last year. Eighty small structures throughout the province will be replaced with permanent culverts and fills.

Nine major public building projects are in various stages of completion costing $2,500,000. This is in addition to the $5,000,000 University of B.C. building program, of which over $3,000,000 in projects already have been undertak-

(Special to The Review) VICTORIA-A bill to implement compulsory contributory hospital insurance scheme covering all persons throughout the province will be presented immediately to the legislature, it was announced by Premier Byron Johnson yes

The maximum payment per family will be $33 a year; this will cover all members of a family up to the age of sixteen years. The sum of $2,000,000 will be appropriated from the revenue surplus account and set aside as a stabilization fund for the hospital insurance scheme, the premier explain-

To this fund will be added the 70 cents per patient per day now given by the province to the hospitals together with the 70 cents per patient per day at present contributed by municipalities.

The government will contract with the hospitals to supply ward and diagnostic service on a complete necessary basis. It likewise will continue to provide hospital services for all recognized social indigent patients. This takes in

Premier Johnson intimated that legislation also will be introduced to empower the government to apply the dominion tax on amusement to the hospital fund should the dominion withdraw from this tax field. That is to say the moment the dominion withdraws, the province will take over the tax for this purpose. The only persons exempted from the government's hospital insurance scheme will be those who already have coverage with other organizations or companies whose benefits are equal to the government scheme.

"The scheme to be instituted will bring hospitalization within the financial reach of everyone and it is hoped that as the plan is put into practical operation, other improvements may be made from time to time as the funds warrant," Premier Johnson declared.

Saving Of $11,000 This Year Predicted In New School District Budget

Last Saturday, April 3, the official orders-in-council separating Summerland from Penticton School District No. 15 and setting up the new Summerland School District No. 77 were passed by the legislature at Victoria.

On Monday afternoon, members of the Summerland council and the two ex-school board trustees, P. G. Dodwell and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, who represented Summerland municipality on the district 15 board, met Inspector J. N. Burnett, who has been appointed official trustee of the district until such time as an election of trus-

Inspector Burnett told this Summerland gathering that he has drawn up a tentative budget, which indicates that the amount to be raised from the new school district to finance Summerland school operation for 1948 will be $40,061.

Of this total, Summerland municipality would pay $37,232 or 92.94 percent and the rural area would raise $2,828.

This means a direct saving to the taxpayers of this municipality this year of $11,323 as the Summerland municipality portion of the district 15 budget had been set at $48,555 before the separation. The new apportionment is based on a 1947 Summerland assessment of $2,704,394, while the rural area is assessed at $205,546, or

7.06 percent of the total. Monday's meeting was reported to be quite harmonious and Inspector Burnett gave the council and ex-school board members an outline of the territory which the new Summerland School District No. 77 will cover and answered questions regarding the status of the merland, it is understood. However, there is still the amount of $6,000 outstanding on District 15 books from last year's operation, being the difference under dispute in the question of fruit tree assessment.

Wants Conference On the other hand, Summerland municipality, since spring of 1946, has been paying a goodly portion of Penticton's bonded school indebtedness, and some settlement will have to be made on this ac-

Inspector Burnett is reported as suggesting that the reeves and finance chairmen of the two municipalities, Penticton and Summerland, along with the respective municipal clerks, form a committee with himself and go fully into the financial status of the two districts and endeavor to come to a financial settlement.

The district school inspector has also urged the Summerland council to take action on providing more accommodation for local school students, especially those in the elementary section,

A bylaw was proposed last year but could not be proceeded with because of the assessment dispute which interfered.

This bylaw could be put into motion with despatch, Inspector Burnett states, as the plans and specifications for the renovation of the elementary school are in readiness and he has recently talked to the architects in Vancouver regarding the preparation of tendors to be called.

Urges Action Some of the council members were inclined to leave the subject of the proposed school renovation bylaw until a new school board is elected, it is understood but Inspector Burnett pointed out that the tenders could be sought and bids obtained now, in preparation for the bylaw presentation once the school board is selected.

Lois Sharpe In Public Speaking Contest Finals

Lois Sharpe of Summerland will represent the South Okanagan and Similkameen at the Okanagan zone finals in the big Knights of Pythias public-speaking contest. This is the second year this contest, which is international in scope, has been held in various

This Okanagan zone final will be held in Vernon on April 23, with the winner competing in the provincial final at Victoria later in the year. The American finals will be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, with a scholarship worth $2,000 as the chief award.

Unfortunately, Summerland was the only community represented at Penticton last week when the South Okanagan zone competition was held. Penticton had picked out four candidates but they did not appear and other southern interior centres did not enter the competition.

Lois Sharpe, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sharpe, and Keith Haskins, son of Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Haskins were the two Summerland contestants and Miss Sharpe was awarded the beautiful silver cup as a permanent trophy.

Keith Haskins, as second prize winner, received a gold inscribed pen knife.

Both contestants were praised by the chief judge, R. J. McDougall, who announced that points were awarded for text, posture, presentation, enunciation, manner and sincerity of the speakers.

The subject for the contest was:
"The Debt of the Modern World to Ancient Greece," and Lois divided her talk into three parts, social including educational aspects, economical and political. She stressed the point that modernday democracy was first started in ancient Greece.

The other two judges were Mrs. Jacqueline Howe and Rev. W. L. Clow, Presbyterian church minister in Penticton.

Chief Judge R. J. McDougall exshould have been evinced by advancing the only two contestants from the southern interior.

All expenses of the contestants who will go to Vernon and the winner who competes at Victoria will be paid by the Knights of Pythias. Mr. J. T. Smith, Lois Sharpe's teacher in the Summerland high school, will accompany her to Vernon on April 23.

Estimated Returns On 1947 Crop Show Quality Pays

Estimated prices on the 1947 apple crop returns to shippers from B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. were given Summerland growers Friday evening by George E. Brown, the central sales agency secretary, and indicated that growers with extra fancy apples receive a handsome premium in this season's undertaking. In all cases extra fancy mediums were quoted higher than the previous year, due to the change in price differential which gives a wider spread between cee grade and the top quality pack.

Estimated returns to the shipper from the sales agency, on medium sizes only were predicted on the following variet

Pooling Allows Sales Desk To Develop Marts Growers Are Told Here

"We cannot set standard prices but we bring back a greater proportion of the consumers' dollar than can be obtained in any other way," was the declaration of A. K. Loyd last Friday evening in the Legion hall when he addressed Summerland growers under the auspices of the Summerland local of the BCFGA. This statement was made in introducing the main topic of discussion during the evening, that of the pooling methods adopted by the tree fruit industry.

"B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. arose out of the trial and error methods of thirty-five years," declared Mr. Loyd, in urging the growers not to deviate from the present one desk sales method.

He explained that present pooling methods were adopted to equalize conditions during the war years and were flexible enough so that no one grower had to make any sacrifice. Pooling provides an ability to sell in both high and low markets, "something your competitors haven't got," he continued, "and bring back the greatest return possible from the market.

"We can explore and develop new markets while operating a pooling system," declared before handing over the main explanations to Mr. W. Darroch, who is in charge of the pooling system of Tree Fruits. Mr. Loyd and Mr. George E. Brown, Tree Fruits secretary, assisted Mr. Darroch in his explanation.

Golfers to Decide Future of Course On Monday Night

Fate of the Summerland golf course will be decided next Monday, when the annual meeting of the Summerland Golf club is to be held in the Nu-Way Annex.

During the war years, membership in the local club dwindled markedly but it was hoped that on the return of the armed forces personnel that the club would regain the strong membership it boasted in pre-war days.

However, this has not been the case and despite an energetic campaign the membership was not boosted to any appreciable extent last year. T. B. Young, club president, states that Monday's meeting will decide whether the club will continue or have to wind up because of lack of interest.

The Summerland golf course was commenced more than 20 years ago when the population was only half its present high level. and the interest in the club was keen at that time. However, there is a decided lack of interest now and unless more members indicate their willingness to assist there will probably be no golf in Summerland this year.

Building permits for March took a big jump over the two preceding months and new dwellings were mainly responsible for the increase, latest figures from the building inspector, Roy F. Angus, reveal. It is also expected that the building of new homes will continue to boost permits this month as the building trade swings into action.

The long winter spell retarded the building trade considerably but with the advent of warmer weather there has been a big increase in interest.

Last month's building permits totalled $38,285 to bring the total of building values commenced or about to be commenced to $43,580, Thirty-two permits have been issued this year compared with fifty-five in the first three months of 1947.

In the early morning hours after the boys hiked to the top of the mountain, the galo was so strong that they did not venture from the cabin, until the wind subsided sufficiently to allow them to start their return trip.

The party left Summerland by car at 4:80 c'clock on Tuesday morning, March 80, and drove fourteen miles to Brent's ranch. They walked the first half mile and then donned their skils, this portion of the trip taking from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m., with a halt for lunch.

Poor Prospects

Asked about the prospects of making a skling resort of Snow Mountain the boys were pessimistic. Down from the summit the slope is steep enough for regulation downhill and slalom, but they do not think the course would be long enough. Hospitalization Scheme

REMIER Byron Johnson's announcement last week that British Columbia will have a compulsory health insurance scheme has been received with mixed emotions, but for the most part the news has been received with equanimity by the majority of the public.

To some, the maximum rate per family came as a bit of a shock, but it must be remembered that in such a scheme those who can afford to pay must make a contribution towards the cost for those who, probably through no fault of their own, are unable to contribute their proper share.

In time, we expect that the yearly rate for this type of health insurance will be reduced as the plan becomes more stable and the profits from each year's operation build up bigger reserves.

One point which is puzzling most persons is how the government intends to make sure that nonwage earners contribute annually their share to the health insurance scheme. It will be difficult for the government to make certain that all persons are covered by the scheme, and there will probably be as much trouble providing a complete coverage as municipalities find now in collecting

However, there is a big difference, in that persons who skip their contribution to the scheme and have to be taken to hospital will find themselves in a difficult position.

Another problem in instituting this plan is to provide ample hospital accommodation. Most hospitals in B.C. are crowded to their capacities and many persons paying their annual fees will probably find themselves barred from hospitalization because of lack of accommodation.

When Premier Johnson's government does put its scheme into effect, it must be prepared to embark on a large-scale project of increased hospital accommodation.

One of the greatest boons to this province will be the elimination of unsound benefit associations which have sprung up in their dozens at the coast and have, in half a dozen cases, mulcted the public of vast sums of money.

That most of these mutual benefit societies were on an unsound financial footing was revealed in the Grimmett report, published in 1946. The government wished to take action against these companies months ago but was hindered by lack of a suitable accounting staff.

It has only been in the past few months that the government has been able to reveal those companies which were most negligent in their operations and which were on the verge of bankruptcy.

Other companies are probably only able to carry on because of increases in membership being continued month by month.

That such companies as have been exposed were allowed to operate in this province without intervention is a sad commentary on the lack of supervision during disrupted post-war years, and the gullibility of the majority of the public.

A short time ago, a conversation between a prospective client and an agent for one of the coast benefit associations was related to this writer. The agent admitted, and said it with some pride, that the organizer of his benefit company started the organization by soliciting clients after his ordinary working hours. There wasn't enough mony available to allow him to quit his ordinary employment and operate the company alone.

Quite a commentary on the public acceptance of an allegedly sound insurance scheme.

With a complete government scheme available, these "fly-by-night" companies will be wiped out entirely, we hope.

Premium On Quality NNOUNCED estimates of returns on the paid attention to the advice of the marketers of the most saleable grades of apples in 1947 reveal the value which is being placed on quality.

Changes in the pooling differential have resulted in extra fancy apples returning better prices to the producer than the same grade marketed from the 1946 crop.

Other grades will not bring as much money as the previous year. The entire pool has been affected by the general trend downward in prices in perishable products throughout the North American continent. But here in the Okanagan those who

However, there is no gainsaying the fact that the farmer and the grower will be called upon to pay this extra charge in taking their produce to the markets of Canada.

We believe that the central sales agency for the tree fruit industry is obtaining eery last cent it can acquire from the sale of the crop. The consumer will not pay any more. If there is any attempt to raise prices to offset even a portion of the increased freight charges, the consumer will balk and refuse to buy.

After all, the harassed housewife only has so much money to provide the necessities of life from month to month and if prices on perishable fruit produce go higher she will react accordingly and purchase less quantity.

So, the fruit grower cannot obtain more for his product, it costs more to send that product to market, and there is one answer only. The grower's returns are reduced accordingly.

Mr. Loyd has intimated that the consumer may be forced to take a portion of this increase, but we believe that the Tree Fruits Ltd. president is taking a slightly optimistic view of the situation. We are saddened by the thought that the producer will have to bear the major portion of this extra

And that 21 percent increase means an additional eleven cents on a box of apples and pears and five cents a box on peaches, plums, prunes and other soft fruits, to the western markets alone.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

The big excitement at the experimental station last week was the installation of a sprinkler fire protection system in the horticultural building. This installation is being made by the firm of Barr and Anderson of Vancouver.

Leo Theroux is the foreman in charge of operations. It takes a good man to handle a job of this character as the piping system is quite complex. In fact, when I looked over the blueprints they appeared to me a regular maze of lines and

A freight carload of piping, fittings and accessories is involved in this installation. The pipe ranges in size from 4" mains to 1" laterals. The laterals are suspended about a foot below the ceilings. Sprinkler heads are mounted on the laterals in such a way as to give complete coverage over The entire building. In these sprinklers there are washers which melt at a temperature of 150°F. Thus, whenever the temperature in any part of the building reaches 150°F, the sprinklers in that area will be set in action. The system of pipes and sprinklers is not exactly ornamental. It is hardly the sort of decoration one would want in a private dwelling house, On the other hand, the fire protection which an automatic sprinkler system gives, fully justifies the expense of installation in warehouses, industrial plants and research laboratories containing valuable equipment and supplies, ormous post at the top of the earth and, being curious, he waned to investigate and find out if this report was true. If he succeeded in discovering this pole and bringing it home, even if it served no other purpose, it would be a souven'r of the trip and proof of a momentous exploit for succeed ing generations. (Modern explorers have been content to find where the pole uses to bu.

Four giants, headed by the Giant king, composed the venturesome party. They set out in the dead of winter dragging behind them a They followed the valleys and frozen river in the direction of the North Star. Their progress was rapid at first but it became increasingly colder which slowed their advance.

They had hoped to find hot dog stands and coffee bars along the line of march, but were disappointed when it was discovered that these were only operated during the summer months. They killed some caribou on route which helped their food supply. Some penguina were also seen. birds had come up from the far south with the idea of establishing colonies in the northland.

As the party went further and further toward the top of the planet, they wondered if they would find a roof over the summit. If so, would it be shingled, thatched or tiled? Would it have gables? | was out down, and although it was!

Would a chimney be visible? Bu all they saw, day after day, was now and ice with nothing t signify that they were nearing their destination.

But one morning in the dim dis ance they saw a bright streat stretching from the earth to the sky. A nearer view showed it to se a pole painted in brilliant hues and radiating colored beams in all directions. (Northern 1!ghts?)

"This is IT!" shouted the Giant leader. "This is the post that was placed at the peak of the planet when the earth was formed."

But they were amazed to find an Ice Giant guarding the pole from an igloo situated at the base Our Giant thought he would have a fight on his hands but the Ice Glant was glad to be freed from na which duty,

"Take the darn thing and welcome," he told the visiting glants "I haven't been able to have a holiday for ages. Forty years ago of winter dragging behind them a I was given the task of guarding sled loaded with food and supplies. It until I was relieved. And am I relieved!"

The Ice Giant took the explorers to his igloo to meet his wife and family. The eldest daughter was a comely maid of twenty-seven years, "For," thought he, "she's too young for me, Besides a dream has revealed that my future mate lives far south among the Redwoods."

It was Leap Year by the Ice Giant's calendar, and the maid made a strong effort to win our Giant's hand—and such a big strong hand it was! She took him for a stroll beneath the northern lights, recited poetry, told the story of her life and sang, "I'm slitting on top of the world." But all in vain. Our Glant didn't want a cold Ice Princess in his cave in

Orchard Now Started Here

A new project to combat diseases of tree fruits is now underway near Summerland. Work on a virus research station started last month on a ten-acre plot of bench land above the main highway two and a half miles south of the experimental station.

A roadway into the property has been built and a pumping system for sprinkler irrigation is being installed. To provide workshop and storage space a building has been erected on the upper level. No planting will be undertaken this year as electrical power is not yet available for the pumping system. However, all possible preparations are being made to have the station ready for planting in 1949.

The purpose of the project is to provide an isolation orchard for research work on virus diseases of tree fruits. This work could not be carried out at the present location of the plant pathology comb as vice-president.

laboratory because of the danger TILIS RESCRICTION of infection to nearby commercial orchards and nursery stock at the experimental station. Since it is an isolation station it will probably not be open to the general public once it is in operation.

> This research project is being developed as a service to Okanagan growers by the science service branch of the federal department of agriculture, K. W. Neatby,

The immediate supervision is under the Summerland laboratory of plant pathology, Dr. H. R. Mc-Larty, officer-in-charge. The investigational work will be carried out jointly by Mr. T. B. Lott and Dr. Maurice Welsh of the pathology laboratory; Mr. Woodbridge. of the division of chemistry; officials of Dr. Palmer's staff of the experimental farm service, and officials of the provincial depart-ment of agriculture.

Mrs. Boothe Talks On Training School

The Easter thank-offering meeting of the United Church Lakeside W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. G. Woitte in Peach Orchard on April 1. There were 14 members and visitors present to hear Mrs. T. W. Boothe of West Summerland speak on the work of the Leadership Training School at Naramata. She was listened to with interest and enthusiasm as she told of the group of 40 young people at the school who are taking a four months' course in bible study and leadership in all of the varied work of the church. Special attention is given to methods of reaching the younger generation, and already five of the young students have offered themselves for the ministry.

More than $6,000 in food, cloth- &ing, medical and school supplies | peal, 608 Marine Building. Vanwill soon go to needy children abroad as the result of contributions by British Columbia school children to the Canadian Appeal for Children.

Provincial headquarters for the appeal, one of 25 voluntary national campaigns among the United Nations to help relieve the plight of millions of children in war-stricken areas, reported last week that total contributions so far received from school drives in British Columbia amount to $6,200, but that the figure is still incomplete. Many schools have not yet finished their drives, which are expected to boost the total considerably.

The appeal, with a minimum national objective of $10,000,000, will continue throughout April. Contributions could be made up to April 6 at any bank in Canada, and thereafter may be sent to provincial headquarters for the apcouver, or direct to the Canadian Appeal for Children, Ottawa.

Mr. W. Lloyd Craig, organizer for British Columbia, said last night that a message received yesterday from C. E. Pickering, OBE, Ottawa, honorary national campaign chairman, had praised British Columbia school children and teachers for their support of the appeal.

"The wonderful response of boys and girls in all parts of British Columbia means that many other boys and girls in foreign lands, who are hungry, sick and poorlyclothed, will be helped. Canadians in all provinces and in all walks of life are responding to the need, but none are deserving of greater praise than British Columbia boys and girls."

The Summerland elementary school contributed $256 of the $6,-000 worth of supplies which have gone forward.

How Cancer Society And Associated Groups Aid Victims Of Dread Disease Graphically Told By Mrs. J.E.O'Mahony

Jones" is a familiar character to most promised" to finance the those who have heard the secretary of the local unit of the Canadian Cancer Society speak on the necessity for education and as-

Mrs. Jones is "the case in point", the earnest hard-working little mother of five whose husband by diligent application of his nose to the grindstone manages to provide the family with an income of from $1200 to $1800 or so a year. Keeping her brood fed, clothed, housed and warm was all the Jones could manage, but by careful buying, making over and handing down garments, re-soling shoes, and using all the devices known to thrifty housewives the country over, they did get by.

No hope of saving anything against a rainy day, of course, but the children were strong and healthy, and Mrs. Jones could do nothing about the rainy days but hope they wouldn't arrive. Occasionally she would wonder rather crossly just how the glib nutritionists in Ottawa arrived at deeply upon the vagaries of government economists.

Sudden Panic

Then one day it suddenly struck Mrs. Jones that a small lump she had noticed vaguely sometime in the past was growing larger and harder, and hurting a bit. In sudden panic she went to her doctor for an examination, and was advised to have a bit of tissue sent to Vancouver for a biopsy. This would cost her $10, her doctor explained, but without it he couldn't determine for sure whether the lump was a malignant growth or not. With a sinking heart Mrs. Jones parted with her hardly-tobe-spared $10, and went home to pray for a favorable diagnosis. But tragedy struck when the report came back positive, and she was told she would have to have immediate treatment.

Now what does Mrs. Jones do? The train fare to and from Vancouver is a staggering item in itself to one in her position. The thought of hiring a housekeeper to care for her family in her absence is almost as insupportable as the idea of leaving them alone. She may have to stay in Vancouver for weeks, so there is the further problem of board and room to be considered, and on top of all that the cost of treatments and dressings.

Free Treatment

Before the cancer society got into operation, Mrs. Jones probably just suffered on until the cancer killed her. Now she can apply to the society for financial assistance in her fare, her board, and even the care of the family while she is absent. And she can be treated at the clinic free of charge, or for a nominal sum, according to her financial ability. Before very long she will be spared even the initial sum of $10 to find out whether biopsies for worthy cases.

Mrs. O'Mahony reviewed for the April 2 meeting of the Summerland sistance in controlling the dread unit of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Cancer Society the progress made in the past few years, reporting at length upon her visit to the clinic and society branches in Vancouver.

The clinic is now wonderfully equipped, with plenty of radium, big X-ray machines, deep therapy treatment equipment, and a huge up-to-date diagnostic machine. The clinic has no beds, so must limit itself to walking cases who come in for treatment, but there is every hope that 50 beds will be made available in the not-too-distant future, especially if the UBC medical school plans go through soon.

Women's Lodges

There are now 26 units of the society in B.C., with a total membership of 55,000 persons. Women's lodges in Vancouver and other parts have taken the needs of the cancer victims under their wings, with the Rebekah lodge their figure of "$20 per month per taking a pioneer place when they person" for adequate feeding of a commenced this work in 1938. family of four or over, but on the They have enrolled all their lodges whole she was too busy to ponder as members of the Canadian Cancer Society as well as making donations to the B.C. branch, and they first established the drug fund which provides drugs and dressings for patients unable to buy them. They have now undertaken to finance out-of-town patients at the B.C. Cancer Institute, providing board and nursing home care for patients who are not otherwise receiving care. Since last April they have given 15 patients this help.

The Order of the Eastern Star has set an objective for providing cancer dressings absolutely free of charge to every deserving case in B.C., and are rapidly attaining itheir objective. Approximately 100 patients have received sterilized dressings made and distributed by the Vancouver chapters. and in addition they have supplied V.O.N. and public health nursing care to many cancer cases. They have authorized and fi nanced stations all over B.C., including Penticton, Revelstoke. Nelson, Trail and Salmon Arm for the distribution of these dress ings, with an approximate 64,715 already supplied.

Memorial Fund

The IODE Jessie R. Burke Memorial fund was established in 1929 to assist women in lower income brackets who were either afflicted with or suspect of can cer to come from outlying districts for examination and treatment. A total of $874 has been expended on 9 cases during the past 11 months.

With the women's lodges backing this movement, things look brighter for the society, and it is hoped the Summerland brancher of these lodges will follow in the steps of their sisters and help to make the local unit of the B.C Cancer Society a success.

Easter Monday, March 29, was the day chosen by Miss Shirley Bryden for her three o'clock marriage to Mr. Louis Wolfe in Summerland Catholic church, and the day was reflected in the choice of spring flowers to decorate the church and altar front.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bryden of West Summerland, wore a period gown of ivory satin, with a floorlength mist of veiling falling from her closely capped head dress, and carried a bridal bouquet of deep pink carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by Miss Jean Bryden and Mrs. G. Taylor, similarly attired in blue nylon taffeta gowns, and by little Miss Elsbeth Tavender, niece of the groom, as flower girl, also dressed in blue. All three attendants wore headresses of pale pink carnations and carried nosegays of the same flowers.

Mr. J. Khalembach supported the groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Wolfe. Mr. J. May and Mr. H. Stein were ushers.

Following the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Father Sullivan, a reception was held in where some ninety guests gathered to pay tribute to the lovely bride and congratulate the happy groom. The hall was decorated with peach blossoms and daffodils and the spring motif was carried through with the decorations on the bride's table, centred with a four-tiered wedding cake placed amidst a mass of daffodils. Mrs. A. F. Bryden chose a dress of turquoise offset with black accessories, while the groom's mother was gowned in black and white crepe with black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink and white carnations.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Wurst, and following the groom's response Mr. Wells proposed the toast to the bridesmaids, to which Mr. Khalembach replied. Wires of congratulations from Mr. F. Harlow and Mrs. E. Harrod of Transcona, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Harlow of Winnipeg were read by Mr. Bryden, who acted as toastmaster. Among out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. B. McKay, the bride's aunt, who came from Edmonton for the wedding, and Mrs. M. Pilz of Detroit, Michigan. For her going-away costume, Mrs. Wolfe selected a smart gaberdine in the new brown, with black, accessories affecting a pleasing contrast. Her corsage was of white and pink carnations.

Following a short motor trip, the bride and groom will make their home in West Summerland.

Mrs. C. G. Bennest left at the weekend for Medicine Hat, Alta, the Legion hall, West Summerland, where she will visit for some time.

Legion Secretary Honored by Members Of Prairie Branch

Mr. Maurice Joslin, a newcomer to the Summerland district and a veteran who is in Shaughnessy hospital at present, was in receipt of a surprise gift last week from the Meadow Lake, Sask,, branch No. 76 of the Canadian

For many years Mr. Joslin was secretary of the Meadow Lake branch and he had no knowledge that his ex-comrades were planning to make him the recipient of a silver tea service, suitably engraved, in gratitude for his many years of service to the Legion branch.

In writing Mr. Joslin and telling him of the gift, Mr. W. Perkins, president, and C. V. Carl, secretary, of the Meadow Lake branch addressed him as "ex-Secretary Extraordinary".

"It was with a great deal of regret that we saw you and your good family leave our midst and move west to your future home. Our branch feels your loss very keenly. Your work as secretary over the period of years you served the branch has been very difficult to duplicate. You served fellow comrades with ousness we feel has never been | Summerland teaching staff.

"Your work for the help of the veterans who served in this las war showed a devotion and loyalty unequalled in the minds of al. of us who had the pleasure o calling you 'comrade' in our branch. Your charming wife wa also one of the great loyal workers for our branch and her absence and leadership will be greatly

"We know that you will be able to look back over the years you served the Canadian Legion and feel that you have left a host of real friends that will always remain priceless in your memory. Your name will always remain in delibly imprinted in the annals of this branch for the great effort you made on behalf of your com-

"We would ask that you and your family accept this silver tea service with your name engraved as a small mark of appreciation for the untiring work you have done for your comrades and others during your sojourn in Meadow Lake, Sask. We all join in the heartfelt wish that you and your family may long be spared to enjoy a most well-earned and healthful and joyous life in your new home."

Revelstoke Comes From Behind To Win By Two Points

Summerland intermediate cagers travelled to Revelstoke last Thursday and after bucking bumpy roads and some snow, lost out to. the main line crew by a close 24-22

The Okanagan squad led the Revelstoke lads all the way until the final quarter when they weakened badly and saw a substantial lead fade away.

There was little scoring in the first half, Summerland leading 9 to 6. At three-quarter time, the fruit lads were ahead 17 to 12, but in the final canto Revelstoke outscored the visitors 12 to 5, to win the contest.

Dunham had a big evening, scoring 15 of the 22 points garnered by his team. Nesbitt accounted for three field baskets and Moore a penalty shot to complete the Summerland scoring. Mc-Lean, Vanderburgh and Jacobs were the remaining members of the team.

The lads are endeavoring to arrange a return engagement at the local school gym in the near future, and Revelstoke may also bring a junior team, it is learned.

Assessment Commission For B.C. To Enforce Uniform Allocations In School Districts Urged By MacLean

VICTORIA—Greater control by the government over school budgets, grants amounting to $1,799, 000 more than last year, and appointment of a commission with wide powers to enforce uniform assessments throughout the province was recommended in the Maclean commission report tabled in the legislature last week by Education Minister W. T. Straith.

The commission was appointed last year under the public inquir; ies act following province-wide protests regarding tax inequalities caused by amendments to school legislation on the basis of Dr. Maxwell Cameron's report. The commission was empowered to inquire into all matters relating to the sharing of school costs.

It is believed the recommendations of the commission will not mean any increased grants for schools above those outlined in the budget speech. The report has been considered before the minister of finance outlined the government's plans for the coming fiscal year, which include $1,100,000 ir aid to rural areas and a one-third share of the estimated $12,000,000 sales tax for municipalities.

Deficit-Budgets

"It has been suggested," the commission reported, "that in some instances school boards have drawn up budgets which are beyond the means of the taxpayers of the district, and which, on more mature consideration, should have been rejected."

Some boards had also exceeded their estimates thereby levying an impost on a district which had not been approved by the "authorities."

All budgets should be made subject to the approval of the superintendent of education, the commission suggested, and a greater degree of supervision should be exercised by the department of education over the budgeting and accounting procedure of school boards by requiring the filing of detailed reports and the adoption of uniform accounting practices.

The commission suggested wide powers for the provincial assessment commission, including the right to:

Conduct an educational program for assessors.

Reassess any parcel of or all lands in any municipality or district

Make orders requiring the adjustment of the assessment base of any area.

Compel municipal and provincial assessors to produce for inspection all assessment rolls or any documents relating to assessments.

Apply the costs of any reassessment upon any municipality in which it is carried out.

Exemption Suggested

All farm improvements up to a stated maximum, with the exception of residences, should be exempted from educational tax, the commission recommended. This would remove one of the major objections of farmers who complain that taxes on barns and other outbuildings is a tax on productive equipment.

The commission acknowledged that intention of the Cameron school legislation to equalize the burden of educational costs had not been realized.

It might have been, however, if it had not been for inflation, the large school building programs which were undertaken and many of which were needed, in addition to the fact that revenues "were sadly inadequate" to meet the "unprecedented rise" in teachers' salaries.

Equality of financial burder could only be achie ed, the reportaid, if assessments were on a uniform basis, and some of its major recommendations dealt with means of bringing this about.

"The quest on arises," the report says, "as to whether this kind of property (personal real estate) is capable of bearing the present burden of taxes. If it is not, it will be necessary to remove some of the burden from land and improvements by increasing the government's share in the educational program."

Weight of opinion, with which the commission said it agreed, was that land should continue to be taxed for schools, but to a lesser degree.

Ranchers' Position

Attention was drawn to the position of ranchers and others in remote districts who had been brought into school districts. They had to pay taxes but received no benefits in educational services.

The commission recommended establishment of dormitories for those from scattered districts and payment of a boarding allowance for students. Ranchlands should be assessed.

The difference in methods of assessment in municipal and rural areas should be brought into line and the definition of farmlands should be changed so that only bona fide farms could obtain benefits. Fruit trees should be exempted from improvement taxes.

The commission was also critical of the general level of assessments in the province.

A campaign of education and consultation with assessors to bring various areas into line and to adopt uniform methods was suggested.

Present grants of $16 to $23 per pupil were too rigid to take care of varying costs, the commission contended, and should be based on current expenditures for the preceding year. In addition, grants per pupil, provided under another section of the act, should be increased by $2 a year.

Increased Grants

The cost to the government of this and increasing grants per classroom from $250 to $500 is estimated at $337,000. An administrative grant of $550 per school, which the commission suggests, is estimated at $388,000 and an increase of $200 in the annual grant per teacher would amount to $992,-000

An increase from 60 to 70 per cent in the grant toward transportation of pupils to and from schools was suggested. This would cost the provincial treasury an estimated $82,000.

Outside of the $1,799,000 in aid listed, the commission recommended grants should be made for dormitories in remote areas with a boarding allowance of $10 per pupil.

The commission reported that F. T. Fairey, superintendent of education, had presented a brief suggesting the government should assume a fixed percentage of school costs with the remainder to be raised by the district through the application of a province-wide millrate. The commission concluded that the scheme was worthy of consideration but involved an entirely new method of financing education.

Members of the commission included H. Alan Maclean, assistant deputy attorney-general; B. C. Bracewell, deputy minister of municipalities; R. R. F. Sewell, secretary of the Union of B.C. Municipalities; J. T. Clark, R. C. Grant and J. H. Stewart. Sittings were held throughout the province.

Apex Preferred To Snow Mtn. Skiers Report

PENTICTON — The long-hoped for development of a southern interior "Sun Valley" was moved several notches closer during the Easter weekend, when a group from the Penticton Ski Runners made a trek into Apex Mountain.

As a result of their studies, it

As a result of their studies, it is definitely established that Apex will be far superior to Snow Mountain for this purpose. The matter of extending and keeping the road open for travel during the winter should not present any insurmountable difficulties.

The ten who made the trek and stay on Apex and nearby mountains were divided into two parties, in order to observe conditions on both routes to the mountain. One of these, including Jane and Charlotte Corbitt, Monica Gibson, Minnie Lockhart, "Pips" Clark and Walt Taylor, journeyed to the mountain via the Nickle Plate (Hedley) road.

The other group, including John Leir, Egan Agar, Gordon Kenyon, and Jack Stocks, travelled up the Green Mountain road, going to the base of the switchbacks, and then in by skis. The first party travelled by car to the Nickle Plate mines and made the last seven miles by skis.

One novel feature of the expedition was that supplies were dropped to the group by plane, this being the first time this has been tried here, it is understood. Eight cases of supplies were delivered in this manner.

The deep snow made a splendid "cushion" for the packages, all of which arrived on the ground safely. The plane was piloted by Don Smuin, with Ramsay McDonald as "bomb aimer."

The young explorers found on Apex mountain the one thing that Snow Mountain apparently lacks—long, smooth runs, with sufficient drop for both amateur and expert competition. Snow Mountain has possibilities, but these are, in the opinion of a number of experts, far out-reached by those at Apex.

When it is considered that the mountain crest is above the 7,000 foot level, and that it is sufficiently sheltered to provide ample snow for skiing in May, and probably into June as well, the possibilities are immense, say proponents of the idea.

Their investigations showed that the present road could be widened and improved at small cost, and it can be kept open in winter with not too great expenditure or effort.

The group made their headquarters at a cabin on Riordan mountain, which is named for Sam Riordan, a pioneer of the region. This is at the 7,000 foot level, and only a comparatively short distance.

from Apex itself.

Snow conditions here were found to be excellent for skling, the average depth being five feet, with ten foot or more in the drifts.

ten foot or more in the drifts.

The group spent Saturday climbing Mounts Apex and Dividend, the former being 7,372 at the crest.

They found the eastern slope of Apex has a natural bowl ideally suited for skiing. Extremely long runs, much longer than many elsawhere in the west, seem possible in this bowl.

Game Warden Adam Monks Tells Kiwanis Club Of Cougar Habits

ians learned something last week guish not only tracks, but differof the life of the "big cats" that entiate between old and new, age, have been preying upon deer and and quite often sex.
other animals of the district.

Taking the strong

The speaker was Game Warden Adam Monks, who has, so far this year, bagged 23 cougar.

Contrary to popular belief, the predators do not kill off the weaker animals, but always seek out the best there is. The cougar, most notorious slayer of deer, range from extreme northern B.C. to Mexico.

As each adult cougar will kill, on the average, one deer a week, the effect of a large cat population will soon be felt in a district. In addition to killing deer, they will take toll of game birds, beaver, young bear cubs and coyotes.

Each male cougar will have a district that can be as much as forty miles across. Within this area will be a number of females, spotted throughout the region.

Cougar do not appear to have a breeding season, the females bearing kittens at any time of the year. Mr. Monks spoke of finding kittens when snow was deep on the ground, as well as at other seasons. There may be from one to four kittens in each litter.

"Unless steps are taken to keep cougar down, they can soon become sufficiently numerous to seriously deplete the deer population, which has already been driven back into the hills by the inroads of civilization," the game warden

At one time, when tracking cougar, the hunter kept his dog chained. This is no longer done, the dogs being permitted to make their own gait in tracking the big cats.

Mr. Monks said many people wondered how he could keep up to the dogs under such circumstances. One reason is that with old tracks the dogs are slower than they are with fresh.

The only serious danger occurs in open country, where the big cat may be able to fight the dogs off. Where there's a tree, the cougar will usually climb it to get away from the dogs.

Training is essential in finding the cougar tracks. The ordinary creasing number of dwellings in person would roam through the the drainage area immediately woods and see nothing, but the east of the place where the city

Taking the strongest track, the hunter follows this until he bags his quarry, or, as may happen, is forced to abandon the chase.

A high tribute to the work of his dogs was given by the game warden. He said he never interferes with them when they are on a full track, "for they know what they are about."

Some of his experiences in various parts of the district were related by Mr. Monks. He also showed some photographs of cats he has bagged, and three splendid skins. One of these came from heavily timbered country, the others from more open territory.

One fallacy exploded by Mr. Monks is that regarding cougar "running" deer. They do not do this, the warden said, but stalk their prey, just as a cat does with a mouse.

Kamloops Orders Chlorination Plant At Cost of $11,000

KAMLOOFS-Purchase of modern automatic chlorinating equipment for installation in the city's waterworks system this spring has been authorized by council.

The Wallace & Tiernan chlorinator, with rate-controller and subsidiary equipment, will cost $11,-380.50 delivered here, plus 8 per cent federal sales tax. Delivery will be in about three months.

The present chlorinating equipment is "worn out and inefficient". City Engineer W. H. Sparks has suggested however, that it should be repaired for installation in the sewage disposal system the city hopes to provide within the next couple of years.

Although councillors were reluctant to spend the money, they agreed that adequate and efficient chlorination of the city's water supply is essential in view of the agricultural development along the South Thompson river and the inskilled hunter can readily distin- draws its supply from the river.

"What can I claim as expenses for repairs?" The answer is "any expense to keep a machine or a building in working order can be claimed." Altogether there are answers to over 60 questions. No one is required to

On Good Friday the troop hiked for the day up to Shale mountain, back of the experimental station. Many tests were passed as follows: Kim's game; Towgood, Carey, Mc-Donald, Coggan, L. Younghusband, Bingham, Blewett and Siegrist; fire lighting and cooking-Metropolit, Carey, McDonald, Carston; second-class axemanship — Tow-good, Siegrist, Carey, L. Younghusband, Metropolit; first-class axemanship-Ross Tingley. In addition, practice on measurement of distance by triangulation was supervised by A. S. M. Fisher.

Believe Bones Have Prehistoric Value

VERNON-There is a good possibility that bones of some prenistoric animals have been unearthed near Winfield. Several week. ago the government road building crew noticed pieces of bone rolling before the bulldezers. A few were set aside, but nothing was thought about them until Tom Warner, of Vernon, foreman a the rock crushing plant, mentioned them in casual conversation.

Several pieces already had gone through the crusher before Mr. Warner, through curiosity, picked out a jawbone for examination.

"I've seen lots of jaw bone from cows and horses," he said, and I certainly didn't think this

A few other similar pones were then thrown aside. They were evidence of fossilization.

FARMER WAGES WAR ON COYOTES

VERNON-Louis "Lud" Field, of Armstrong, got fed up with the provincial government's $2 bounty policy on coyotes and decided to do something about it.

As a farmer, he resented the damage done to crops, livestock and poultry by marauding predators, but as a hunter, he was even more sorry to see the number of game birds and deer diminishing year by year.

The upshot of his reactions was a six-week anti-coyote fight carried on by himself and his 15-yearold son, Jim, during which time they killed off 14 of the destructive animals.

FORMER KELOWNA LAWYER PASSES

KELOWNA - William Bruce Bredin, well-known in Kelowna where he resided for many years, and former partner of D. C. Fillmore local barrister, died on Easter Sunday, according to word received here today. Death took place at the home of his mother, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Oakhurst Lustleigh, South Devon, England.

Mr. Bredin was a junior member of the firm of Norris and Bredin and then entered partnersh'p with Mr. Fillmore in 1937. He severed his interests in 1945 when he decided not to return to Canada to resume practice. He joined the armed forces in 1940, going overseas about a year later. He acted as judge advocate on the Kurt Meyer war crimes' trial.

Over 10,000 tests in our laboratories reveal that many B.C. producers are subsisting on soils seriously deficient in mineral fertility (including lime, phosphate and potash). If neglected, this condition alone can easily neutralize all other efforts at careful farm management and result in unprofitable operations

Where soil is lacking in mineral fertility, low yields of poor quality produce are inevitable. Stock consuming such produce is, in turn, poorly nourished and increasingly susceptible to disease.

What is the fertility standing of YOUR soils? If you do not know, write us for soil test forms today. It is the first step in a rational fertilizer programme that will put the needed organic matter in the soil, increase and often multiply yields, extend the life of many crops and improve livestock production generally.

Red Cross Campaign Here Away Over Objective With $2,923 Total

្ទឺGenerous Summerland resident: 🕸 have contributed $2,923 to the an Summerland and throughout the nual nation-wide Canadian Red Cross Society campaign, some $72. more than the 1948 quota for this district, Jack Dunsdon, campaign manager informed The Review yesterday afternoon.

The fund is $77 short of the $3,000 mark, which was reached last year and Mr. Dunsdon is hopeful that this objective will be reached.

"The response has been very gratifying and has reached a lev el beyond our earlier expectations,' declared Mr. Dunsdon and other officials of the Red Cross branch here have added their delight at the splendid response of Summerland residents.

"These donations indicate that the Red Cross work is widely known and is appreciated by the great majority of the people in

IWA WANTS BIG WAGE INCREASES

KELOWNA-Local lumber officials declined to comment on a Vancouver news report that the B.C. district of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO) would seek a wage increase of 3. cents an hour across the board and full union shop in bargaining for the 1948 contracts with B.C. lumber and logging operators. The contract for the coastal region expires June 20, while the agreement in the Interior of B.C. expired some time later.

The IWA, which claims 35,000 members, gained a 15 cent hourly wage increase in 1946 after a 33day strike. Last year, the woodworkers got a 40 hour week and a 12½ cent hourly wage boost.

Miss Daphne Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd, left on April 5 to return to Shawinigan Lake school, after spending the Easter holidays here.

Mr. W. S. "Scottie" Ritchie, whose entanglement with some machinery sent him to hospital, returned to his home over the weekend.

Dominion," Mr. Dunsdon indicated.

There are probably some persons whom canvassers have not been able to find at home when they made their rounds, Mr. Dunsdon declared, and he would appreciate these persons bringing in their contributions to him or mailing them. Mr. Dunsdon can be found in A. K. Elliott's department store during store hours.

"With just $77 more we can make the $3,000," declared Mr. Dunsdon with a hopeful note in his voice.

Two New Deans Are Chosen at UBC

Appointment of two new Deans and two heads of departments was announced today by the president's office at UBC.

Succeeding Dr. Daniel Buchanan, who retires this year after 20 years as dean of the faculty of arts and science, is Professor S. N. F. Chant, OBE, present professor of psychology and head of the department of philosophy and psychology.

Professor Walter H. Gage has been promoted to dean of administrative and inter-faculty affairs. He will continue as a professor of mathematics, and will be responsible for duties not within the field of any one faculty.

He will continue as chairman of the joint faculty committee on prizes, scholarships and bursaries, and as chairman of the committee on allocation of classrooms and other accommodation. His duties will include the supervision of timetables, and will be closely associated with student affairs. Dean Gage has already carried out a large amount of this work in his capacity as assistant to the dean of arts and science.

Dr. J. Roy Daniells, professor of English, has been appointed to succeed Dr. G. G. Sedgewick, FR-SC, as head of the department of English.

New head of the department of mathematics, succeeding Dean Buchanan, will be Dr. R. D. James, who is a UBC graduate of 1928.

Girl Guides Are Invited to Meet Governor-General

An invitation to meet the Governor General on his visit here on May 10 has already been received by the newly formed Girl Guide association of Summerland. This proved an exciting incentive to the 24 girls who turned out for the formation meeting on Friday, April 2, and there is every hope that 8 more girls will join in ord-er to bring the group up to the required 32 to form a company.

Mrs. Kenneth McIntosh has been appointed captain of the three "patrols" already formed. Mrs. F. V. Harrison addressed the meeting on the of girl-guiding.

Meetings will be held every Friday evening from 7 to 8:30 in the Parish hall, West Summerland.

POOLING-

Continued from page 1 ling come from moving fruit from one point in the valley to another to make up mixed cars, the most satisfactory method of servicing country points.

Mr. Loyd explained one reason for the differential which gives some preference to growers with early varieties. The government gives tariff protection only when Canadian fruit reaches the market in sufficient volume to justify the restriction of imports. Early growers render a service to the industry by making volume deliveries, although they may be losing out in marketable tonnage from their crops. Thus, they get some compensation by the pool differential.

Cannery Sales Mr. Darroch continued with an explanation of why fruit was sold fruit contracts each year to keep in operation, thus the industry cannot bypass them in light production years.

Mr. Brown emphasized that growers get exactly the same return from the pool whether their fruit is delivered to the canners or to the fresh fruit market.

In conclusion, Mr. Darroch paid high tribute to B.C. Tree Fruits from his position as a private citizen interested in the welfare of the Valley. Loyalty was the keynote of all employees from top to bottom. "They believe wholeheartedly in the organization and give their best efforts to it." Watchwords of the organization are loyalty and equity to all grow-

Trophies Presented To Merchants' League Bowlers at Banquet

Trophies won during the past season were presented on Tuesday evening, April 6, by Reeve Reid Johnston at the first annual banquet of the Summerland Merchants' five-pin bowling league. Approximately 125 members and friends attended this function, which was presided over by the league president, Mr. Roy Well-

Tribute was paid at the banquet to Mr. and Mrs. John Hecker, whose enterprise resulted in the founding of the National Bowladrome in Summerland. Johnston paid tribute to bowling as a sport which provides healthful recreation to a large number of local residents.

On behalf of the Butcherteria team, Jim Heavysides accepted the league championship trophy from Reeve Johnston. This was won in the first year of competition by the Smith & Henry team.

Jim Heavysides also won the trophy for high average, while the similar women's award went to June Lamey. Their scores were 213 and 191, respectively.

High three scores trophies were accepted by Roy Soderberg, 814, and Nan Thornthwaite, 754.

Jack Dunsdon with 348 and Audrey Grant with 298 were awarded the trophies for the best single scores of the season.

Low scores prizes went to C. V. Nesbitt and Margaret Dunsdon. Following the banquet, an enjoyable dance with Leander's orchestra in attendance kept the bowlers entertained until one o'clock.

FARM ACCOUNT BOOK AVAILABLE AT POST OFFICE

Farmers are being urged by the dominion government in this week's advertising columns to obtain a copy of the farm account book and income tax guide. Copies are obtainable at the post office for those farmers who have not already received their booklet through the mail.

According to the taxation division of the department of national revenue, this farm account book has already been attested to by many leading farm organizations and farmers.

"It was designed by the national revenue department in a sincere effort to help farmers, to save them time, trouble and worthey state.

This book was designed to provide the farmer with a simple bookkeeping system and a few minutes each week should enable him to keep accurate records, the department states. These records will show the farmer what progress his business is making, where he is making or losing money. In April next year the farmer need only transfer the totals from his account book directly onto his T-1 tax form, thus eliminating the need for extra assistance in filing his income tax returns.

Equally important to the farm, the farm account book shows him the deductions he can make for expenses and for depreciation.

The workers are seeking classification adjustments, and then an over-all wage increase of 25 per cent. This is based upon a 23 point rise in the cost of living, the latter a point with which the federation has agreed.

"The industry committee, however, is quite firm that it cannot allow packing costs to increase," Mr. Stephens stated. Reason for this is that the fruit returns are more likely to decline than climb. Your Summerland Merchant Is Your Best Friend - Try Him First

School Estimates rul Librarian Apl 48 $40,941 Are Approved By Summerland Council

Summerland council, on Tuesday evening, approved the 1948 budget for the Summerland School District No. 77, placed at $40,-1941.50 by Inspector J. N. Burnett, official trustee of the new district appointed by the department of education until such time as a new school hoard can be elected.

Summerland's share of these estimates will be $38,362.19, while the rural area will pay $2,579.11.

Gross expenditure for current operating expenses of the newly formed district has been estimated at $75,793, with a further $1,645 budgetted for extraordinary expenditure for new furniture and equipment, making a total expenditure of $77,438.

There is no provision in these estimates for the renovation of the elementary school here, as this must come under a separate allocation, raised by special money bylaw.

Grants from the provincial government will amount to $35,-781.50 for this year's operation; plus $715 for the extra equipment, making total grants of $36,496.50, leaving $40,941.50 to be raised from the district through taxation.

. These are the official figures submitted by Inspector Burnett and approved by the department of education. The council lost no time in passing these estimates on Tuesday evening, as they represent a saving of $10,192.81 for the municipality over the estimated figure of $48,555, budgetted by the Penticton School District No. 15 prior to the separation of the districts.

Summerland's Polio Fund, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Summerland, has reached a grand total of $2,200, President C. J. Bleasdale told Rotarians on Friday.

A cash dispersal to assist those families who have been placed at great expense due to the ravages of this dread disease is being arranged.

Also, from this fund will be expended a sum to purchase equipment which will provide treat-ments for polio victims now only obtainable at the coast.

The machine being purchased is a galvanic and sinusoidal current generator for the purpose of muscle stimulant, nerve testing, and electrolysis.

Chlorination Plant Would Vost $4,000

Estimated costs and details of the construction necessary for installation were provided municipal council members on Tuesday evening in connection with the probable installation of a chlorination system in Summerland this year. Mr. Duffie, representing Wallace & Tiernan, Seattle, waited on the council and presented engineering data on the installation. It is believed that the clorination plant, including a booster pump and weighing scale, will cost between $3,500 and $4,000 laid down in Summerland. This cost would also include installation supervision by an engineer from the Seattle firm.

New Grader Not Available; May Cut Road Plan

Possibility that the hard surfacing program planned for 1948 may have to be cut in half because of the failure of the Finning Tractor & Equipment Co. to supply a new grader for the municipality this year was voiced by Councillor Harvey Wilson on Tuesday afternoon.

It had been considered, on verbal advice from representatives of the equipment company, that delivery could be made this spring when the money bylaw for $12,000, authorizing purchase of the grader and a new truck, had been passed by the ratepayers and the necessary debentures sold.

However, on Tuesday the Finning company informed the council by letter that they were unable to meet the council order for a new grader until the spring of 1949. Last September, this company had intimated that it could deliver in March of this year, but the council never gave a firm order for the new machine. However, the position of the municipality had been told to the equipment company and every assurance had been given that the order would be definite this spring, councillors have stated,

"I think we have been let down badly," was Reeve Johnston's comment, while Councillor Wilson stated: "We gave them a firm order, depending on the result of the bylaw. Municipal Clerk Nixon pointed out, however, that it could not be exactly classed as a firm order. "We will probably have to forget about half our blacktop," was Councillor Wilson's prediction. while Councillor Bentley declared that if a grader is not forthcoming until 1949, then the old grader would have to be overhauled at the latest type of pear peelers, cherry pitters and processing machinery. There will be two large cooking and cooling units. In addition a new boiler is being installed to increase the plant's steam capacity.

The new machinery will enable the cannery to double its capacity for the 1948 season.

The Cardiff Co. Ltd., plans not only a large increase in the pack but also an improvement in quality through the use of the latest types of equipment,

"We chose Summerland because it is ideally situated for the canning of tree fruits," says Mr. F. W. Crawford, general manager of Cardiff, "The quality of the Okanagan's fruit is well known. By the use of new equipment we hope to pack an adequate supply of quality canned fruits.

Mr. Crawford added that as much of the equipment as possible is being purchased in Canada. Some of the special machinery, however, come from California.

The 1948 pack at Summerland will include peaches, pears, plums, prunes, cherries and aprichts, All will be distributed through Canada Safeway Limited and their whole-sale outlet, Macdonalds Consolidated Limited.

It is hoped that eventually the cannery operation will be extended to include other lines than tree fruits but there are no immediate plans in this connection.

The cannery will continue under the present superintendent, Mr. W. G. Rempel, and with the present staff. It is expected that at the peak of the season more than 100 will be employed.

Urges Re-establishn Of Evaporating Plant a Location of New Hotel

Summerland needs a new hotel and should press for the reconstruction of the evaporating plant destroyed by fire in 1946, the new industries committee of the board of trade, declared to the board's dinner meeting at the IOOF hall Thursday night. T. B. Young, chairman of the committee, spoke on these two needs for this community.

It was agreed by the membership that the board should communicate with B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., the grower-owned company which operates all the processing plants utilizing cull fruit in the Okanagan, urging that body to return the evaporating plant to of the Fruit and Vegetable Workers union and the industry labor negotiating committee in Kelowna last Saturday, it was announced that negotiations between the two bodies on the union request for wage increases of 25 percent, had broken down.

A conciliation officer, appointed by the department of labor is being requested by the workers union, under B.C.'s labor code, Bill 39.

If the conciliator cannot bring about a settlement, the next step would be the appointment of a conciliation board, consisting of one appointee of the union, one of the employers and a third party mutually agreeable to both parties.

"The committee representing the fruit industry took the stand that in view of the marketing outlook for 1948 and the instructions received from the growers they were not justified in agreeing to any general increases," L. R. Stephens, Kelowna, informed The Review this week.

Cost Of Street

Cost of the proposed street lighting program for Summerland district has been estimated by Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber as $8,097.60, the council was informed on Tuesday evening.

These costs are based on proposals for increased lighting in Trout Creek, lower town, Station road, Prairie Valley, various streets north of West Summerland business district and other single points, Also included in the costs worked out are standards for the West Summerland business district, along both Granville and Hastings streets, at an estimated expenditure of $3,230. These estimates were laid over over-all plan this year.

Off Season Work Reestablishment of the evaporating plant is really important to Summerland, Mr. Young declared, as it provides employment at a time when work is slackening in the orchards and continues through the slack winter months. He urged the meeting to seek the return of this plant to Sum-merland and suggested that the support of the BCFGA local here be obtained for the project.

J. E. O'Mahony spoke in support of this move, stating that the crying need here is for more employment in the off season.

It was also suggested that private enterprise might be interested in such a plant establishment if the processing company refused to co-operate in the move. Mr. Young inferred that he was no longer interested in promoting such a company as he operated before but felt that it would be a profitable concern.

J. Y. Towgood urged caution if B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. opposed the move, while Councillor C. E. Bentley, BCFGA local president, threw cold water on the proposition in the light of the processors company move to consolidate its operations to provide mass production.

Doubts Reaction

These two growers did not believe that the grawer-owned processing company would favor reestablishment of the plant here, as it would be more economical to operate one plant at Kelowna for and other processes combined.

Mr. Bentley also pointed out that a privately-owned process-ing company, which that date had been purchased by the growers, owed $32,000 to the growers for fruit which had been delivered to the plant. He instanced that it would be wise to proceed with caution before allowing a private' concern to start operation without guarantee that the growers would receive payment.

Mr. Young pointed out that the processing company would be in an awkward position if a private company commenced evaporating and offered standard prices for the apples to be processed.

Mr. Bentley agreed that the processors would probably have to accept the offer, but pointed out the detrimental effect which the private apple juice company had on the growers' market when it offered apple juice "lower than the cost of putting water in the cans."

Despite the inference that their case would not meet with favor, the board members voted by an overwhelming majority to seek action on the part of B.C. Fruit Processors' Ltd. in re-establishing the evaporating plant here.

Food Retailers' Profits

Despite the high cost of living, the food merchant in your community is not obtaining as high a markup as during the war years when strict price control was enforced, according to Cyril Bassett, writing in the Financial Post.

On the average, the neighborhood grocer is obtaining 6.5 cents of the housewife's dollar, and at the most he takes nine cents, states a survey conducted in 1946, and the trend has been down since that time as higher prices have forced the retailers' markup downwards, in the face of increased consumer resistance to the higher

Canadians today are said to be buying their food at prices which give the average Canadian independent food retailer a 17 percent gross return on his outlay; 3 percent less than in 1938.

There is a definite trend among retail food handlers to streamline their business and endeavor to place most of the business on a cash-andcarry basis. With such an operation, the storekeeper can cut down his expenses and pass on the saving to his customers.

In these days, the food retailer pays his wholesaler in seven days, but if he has to wait thirty days for his customers to reimburse him, his operating costs naturally soar,

Compared to 1938 results, the average food retailer is said to show the following results: Gross margins down, new profits up; salaries and expenses up, dollar earnings up.

George Christensen, national director of the Retail Merchants' Assn. says no aggressive independent need go to the wall because of intensified competition from chain stores. Modern merchandising methds and constant study of operating costs is Mr. Christensen's answer.

Too many retailers now in business, he says, got soft during the war period of guaranteed markups and no competition and forgot the fundamentals of their business, lost the art of merchandising.

That tendency is not nearly so marked today as in 1946 and most storekeepers are right back to pre-war days in their attitude towards merchandising. The day of the seller's market is gone

Summerland merchants realized that today the customer must be serviced and every week they are concentrating on giving the public the most for their money, commensurate with a normal markup. Their interest in merchandising deserves support from Summerland citizens.

Time To Spring Clean

It is heartening to hear reports that the storekeepers and businessmen of this community are making a concerted effort to purchase flags and bunting to brighten their places of business for state occasions, such as the visit of Viscount Alexander of Tunis.

On national holidays such as May 24 and Dominion Day, Summerland has been woefully lacking in flags and other signs that the community has entered into the holiday spirit. On one national holiday, we observed only two flags flying in the entire district.

For years, such regalia was practically impossible to obtain but that is not the case today.

Canadians are unlike their brothers to the south in matters of demonstration. Some people claim that Canadians are lacking in national spirit because they are reticent to make a showing of their true feelings concerning their land of birth or adoption.

We do not feel that Canadians are derelict in their duty towards their own land simply because they shun even formal displays of feeling. But a display of national pride and a bit of flagwaving would not be amiss in this day of international strife.

On May 10, when the vice-regal party visits Summerland for a short forty minutes, there will be an opportunity for our citizens to make a real display. The flags should come out on every home, store and place of business in the commun-

There is another way in which citizens can display their pride in their community; that is, Pear and prune boxes were also by making a concerted drive to clean up and paint fixed. up and give visitors a view of a clean, tidy and prosperous district.

Spring is late in coming, but the weather, even though inclement, is suitable for the rakes and spades to be carted out from their winter storage, the dead leaves and undergrowth cleaned away and yards and gardens prepared for spring planting.

An application of paint to the home, or to the garage or woodshed will not only brighten the appearance of your property but will mean longer life to the buildings.

The good housewife has been busy thesepast few weeks with her spring housecleaning, so now it is up to Mr. Husband to do some spring cleaning on the outside. Get busy, neighbors.

A Sound Position

Opening this week of the bids on Summerland's debenture issue of $40,000 for five years, for road surfacing and equipment has revealed that this municipality is in an enviable financial position and is looked upon as a safe investment by bond dealers throughout the country.

Not only were there eight bids for these municipal debentures, but two were at a price of 100 plus accrued interest. The most the municipal fathers expected was a bid of 99.5, and they expressed their pleasure at this evidence of the faith in the future of this district.

These bids for municipal bonds can also be a tribute to the hard work and careful planning of those charged with municipal finances and expenditures during the past twenty years or so. The municipality has had careful guidance and there is no doubt that the district is in an extremely sound financial position.

Probably the outstanding figure in this picture is Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon, who has kept a tight hold on municipal purse strings throughout the years. He has guided the municipal fathers through good times and bad and has never let them get very far from the beaten path.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

I drove up the valley with Dick Palmer, who was scheduled to put on a movie show and address a reorganization meeting of the Vernon and District Horticultural Society. As we neared Vernon, Dick showed signs of going to sleep at the wheel, In an endeavor to keep him from driving the ear over the 300 foot cliff into Kalamalka lake, I started up a conversation which went somewhat as follows:

Agrologist: Why do you, a highly paid government official, waste your time running around the country showing pretty pictures to floral societies and Women's Institutes? Surely in this critical period in the history of the fruit industry, there is more important work that you should be

Dick: You are wrong on all accounts. To begin with, my salary is much smaller than you appear to think. In the second place, I no longer run around the country, although in my youth I held several records for the half mile. I have now reached the age of discretion; I realize that the faster a man goes, the less he sees. It is for this reason that I drove up the Valley so slowly, going off the main highway onto byroads here and there: this enabled me to ascertain the progress which growers had made with their pruning, spraying and cultural operations. The walking trips we made into individual orchards gave me valuable information on the condition of the trees and the prospects for this year's crop. Incidentally, I might mention that, throughout the Valley, orchards never looked better.

Finally, I consider that time spent in promoting an interest in ornamental horticulture is time very well spent indeed. This is especially the case when world events are moving at such a rapid tempo that even the wisest of men are likely to become confused and despondent. Every day our radios and newspapers tell us what is wrong with the world, with the result that we are likely to forget all the things that are right with it.

There is no better cure for a case of the jitters than an hour in the garden with a spade. It is most encouraging to ascertain that no matter how many nasty things Molotov may say or do. the blossom buds are swelling and bulbs are flowering just as freely this spring as they have done in past years,

By the same token, the more Canadians take up gardening as a hobby, the clearer will be our national thinking and the sounder our national decisions.

By this time we had reached the main thoroughfare of Vernon and Dick had become so enthusiastic about the value of ornamental horticulture that he drove right through the stop sign! charges.

Thirty-Five Food Parcels Daily From Vernon Post Office

VERNON-Canvassers in the recent Red Cross drive often were told, "I can't contribute. I'm using all my spare cash to send food parcels to Europe."

A check at the post office this week indicates this was not just an excuse. Clerks estimate that about 35 gift parcels weighing over 600 pounds and costing senders a total of over $500 leave the post office every day. This has been going on steadily at this rate since last fall. The royal wedding gift campaign and Christmas gifts were over and above the daily

It costs you more to live these days. And it costs your bank more to provide efficient banking service.

Bank staffs are more than half as large again as before the war; payrolls have nearly doubled. Taxes are up. So is the cost of everything banks buy.

Yet you pay no more for banking service than you did ten years ago. Today 7,000,000 Canadians are bank customers—striking evidence of the ever-widening usefulness of competitive banking in our national life.

During the business meeting pre-ceding the film, Mrs. E. L. Famchon, as treasurer, told of expenditures during the last month in such varied causes as prizes for the school poster contest, parcels to England, and the W.I. baby

The net profit from the tea served at the art show was disappointing; but it was felt that the Institute was contributing worthily to the educational standards of Summerland in these presentations, and members hope that residents will become more aware of the value of these shows as time

Mrs. A. K. Macleod gave a re-wood cuts, water colors and dry point etchings. The show will be held on April 24. Poster Contest The posters submitted by the school children in the "Clean up the Streets" campaign contest were on display around the room, and were appreciatively scanned by the audience. First prize was awarded to Anna Brlekovich, with Jane Woolliams taking second place, while a further award for a suitable slogan was given to Earle Bryden with his submission of "Clean up, Sweep up and Pick up. Keep our Town Clean."

A call for delegates to the W.L. rally to be held in Rutland on April 29 and to the W.I. convention in Vancouver on June 1, 2 and 3, was made by Mrs. M. E. Collas, with Mrs. A. K. Macleod being selected as Vancouver delegate and Mrs. Gordon Ritchie as that for the Rutland gathering.

The rummage sale, which is scheduled for May 1, is to be convened by Miss Marion Cartwright, Mrs. Lorne Perry, Mrs. W. A. Laidlaw, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Mrs. C. H. Elsey, Mrs. A. K. Macleod, and it was decided that goods contributed by members for the sale should be left at the home of Mrs C. E. McCutcheon on Pender road.

Next Month's Speaker

Other business included the appointment of Mrs. A. W. Vander-burgh as W. I. representative to the Summerland unit of the B.C. Cancer Institute to aid in the forthcoming drive for members and funds; the forwarding of the Institute's yearly contribution of $25 to the W.I. Memorial Fund, and the announcement that Miss Jean Bennest would be guest speaker at next month's meeting, when her subject will deal with case histories in social welfare work.

The ladies appreciated the film, shown by Mr. C. E. Bentley, which depicted the immense work done in the Tennessee Valley in bringing back to fertility a depleted land. This American "short" was followed by a "trailer" made in Manitoba showing the reactions of a typically rural audience to the picture and its social implications.

Following the tea hour, when convenors Mrs. Alex Smith, Mrs. H. Mair and Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon managed to serve the unexpectedly large group, Mr. Bentley put on another short film, which showed the tour of the Royal family through South Africa.

for Lot 25, D.L. 3194, was turned down by the council on Tuesday, but it was agreed to accept $1,350 cash or $1,500 on terms for this property, which is the only remaining municipally-owned lot with bearing fruit trees. The original council price for this lot was $1,500.

MERCHANTS GROUP SEEKS CHANGE IN HOURS OF CLOSING

First reading of a bylaw to amend the hours of closing bylaw and limit retail stores to closing at nine p.m. on Saturdays instead of 10 p.m. was given at Tuesday's council session.

This action was taken on the formal request of the Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn., whose members have been following the nine o'clock shutdown on Saturdays for some years. The bylaw still reads 10 o'clock and the association members wish to have this portion amended. But, the first reading did not pass without some opposition. Councillor Harvey Wilson de-clared: "If they want to close at nine, let them. Why stop a man who wants to stay open to 10? They want a man to knuckle down to their way of thinking." "I think we should help them out that way," declared Reeve Johnston.

"I'm in favor of closing at 9 p.m., as I don't like this somewhat unfair advantage some persons are taking, was Councillor Atkinson's opinion. First reading to the amendment was moved by Councillor Atkinson and seconded by Councillor Bentley. There were no negative votes recorded.

Ask Victoria To Extend Fire District

Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon will obtain legal information from the deputy minister of municipalities, B. C. Bracewell, as to the steps necessary to increase the present boundaries of the West Summerland fire protection district.

At the same time, information will be sought as to the steps necessary to include the entire municipality in one fire district.

These steps will be taken as the outcome of representations made by W. J. Beattie, secretary of the fire district society, on behalf of a group of home owners on the Station road and immediate vicinity, not covered by the district fire hydrants.

There are some 24 residents in the Station road area who are desirous of being included in the fire district, so that hydrants can be supplied in case of fire, Mr. Beattie declared.

Residents of the Solly subdivision, opposite the Anglican church, also wish to be included, he stat-

Mr. Beattie suggested that two 1½-inch connections, similar to those in place in the Victoria Gardens area would suffice but it was stated by Councillor Bentley that these would not be sufficient to satisfy the fire insurance companies and bring down insurance rates.

Foreman E. Kercher explained that a considerable expense would be involved in cutting the main for hydrants, as the main on the Station road had to be put in originally with flexible joints.

Municipal Clerk Nixon reported that no action could be taken on the request until legal advice is obtained from Victoria.

A request from residents in the vicinity of the Baptist church to have the fire protection standpipe now located on the hillside moved farther west to facilitate fire protection was considered and the council voted in favor of such a move being made.

Will Operate Dump Ground

The municipal refuse ground will be fenced, a gate erected and will be open one day each week for disposal of garbage and refuse, the municipal council decided on Tuesday last. It is probable that Thursday will be the day chosen but official announcement of the exact time will come later.

Jack Heichert, municipal poundkeeper, has agreed to look after the refuse ground and will dis-pose of the refuse weekly after it is dumped.

Immediate plans have been made to have the present unsightly ground cleaned up and burned. A screen catchall is to be built just below the dumping platform to facilitate the disposal of the refuse at the grounds,

No mention was made of last year's proposal to erect an incinerator to dispose of garbage during the summer months.

T. P. Thornber Hands Council His Ultimatum

T. P. Thornber, municipal electrical foreman, made a request for retroactive pay from November to March and then stated that he would no longer be able to use his new automobile for the purpose of taking metre readings each month on behalf of the municipality, at the council session on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Thornber explained that he had not joined the electrical workers' union as he felt that he should be a liaison officer between the union men and the council. However. he felt that he should have received the same treatment as the union workers, whose wages were raised in accordance with a new agreement signed between the council and the union this spring and made retroactive to last No-

Mr. Thornber's salary was raised from $170 to $225 per month but only from March 1, it was stated. He also gets a car allowance of $50 per month.

The council, at the end of its session on Tuesday, agreed to the back pay request and instructed Municipal Clerk Nixon to proceed.

No Threat Meant But in the meantime, Mr. Thornber's statement that he no longer would use his car to take metre readings presented a poser to the council. He claimed that such a type of driving is "too hard", on a

"In other words you are making a threat . . .," declared Reeve Johnston.

"No, it isn't a threat," replied Mr. Thornber before the reeve could proceed further. The foreman explained that some years ago he had checked on his car mileage and found that he was travelling 900 miles per month.

"But that included driving from your house to the switching station which shouldn't be included,' suggested Councillor Bentley. "Or. any job you have to find your own transportation to your work."

Mr. Thornber agreed that this mileage had been included in his figure of 900 miles. "How about a motorcycle?" facetiously enquired Municipal Clerk

Nixon. "A helicopter would be better," replied Mr. Thornber, in like vein. "I don't want to appear grasping but I cannot do it any more," the electrical foreman declared at another point. Councillor Bentley suggested that, at times, other members of the electrical crew read the met-res, but Mr. Thornber replied that this did not occur often.

Highly Paid

"I don't think that linemen, at their wages, should be running around in the municipal truck reading metres," opined Council-lor Wilson. "We're paying them for a highly skilled job."

"Have you any suggestions to make?" enquired Reeve Johnston. "No, I leave that to the council," replied Mr. Thornber, adding a few moments later that the council al agent in Summerland, was namight advertise for a metre readed president of the Summerland

In consequent discussion, it was decided that one man could read the metres in seven or eight days. Councillor Atkinson considered that this would mean a cost of about $150 per month, but Councillor Wilson estimated that it could be done for $100, including $50 car allowance.

No decision was reached on the subject of metre reading, Reeve Johnston asking the council to delay further discussion until he had a chance to implement a plan which he had in mind.

Apart from interesting outside capital, Mr. Young believed that a joint stock company might be commenced to build and operate a good, commercial hotel here, also providing dining room accommodation.

President Schumann told the board that he had had no further word from one person who had made enquiries concerning the possibility of establishing a hostelry here. Mr. Al Soderberg, who was acquainted with this pros-pective builder, stated that "some people in Summerland had discouraged him" when he enquired about future prospects. However, the man was still interested and would be approached again.

Summerland will soon boast brass band, consisting of twenty pieces or more, Herb Pohlmann, the temporary conductor has announced this week following a successful practice in the IOOF hall on Monday evening.

The IOOF lodge in Summerland is sponsoring the band in its organizational period and is providing the hall rent free and aiding in other respects.

Fourteen musicians attended the initial band practice on Monday and it is expected that more than twenty pieces will be available by the end of the month.

It is hoped that the band will have obtained sufficient practice to play for the Spring Fair on May 21 and 22 and also at the opening of the Living Memorial athletic park on May 24, if present plans materialize.

An organization meeting and practice has been called for the IOOF hall on Friday, April 30, Mr. Pohlmann states.

Five cornets, 2 alto horns, 1 bass horn, 1 bass drum, 1 tenor saxophone, 1 C melody sax, 2 clarinets and 1 alto sax were available for this week's practice session.

BOARD RESCINDS OFFER TO COUNCIL FOR RADIO WORK

With a view of concentrating on obtaining proper governmental supervision in this district, the Summerland Board of Trade has withdrawn its offer to the council to donate $150 towards radio interference finding, if the council would match this sum.

The board heard from Councillor F. E. Atkinson, electric light chairman, to the effect that the board has made an offer for work which is "certainly needed, but we are paying radio licences and the government employs men to inspect this area.'

When the board made its offer, Councillor Atkinson, wrote to the government department in Van-couver regarding visits of the inspector here and was informed that no inspector is available in the Valley and cannot be brought here until May.

"The board of trade should direct its effort towards getting a radio inspector for the valley alone, Councillor Atkinson thought, as a local man would not have a continuity of approach nor the authority to demand elimination of disturbances which is vested in the government author-

President Schumann stated that the local board has already made a start in this direction through the Associated Boards of Trade of the Southern Interior.

In the light of Councillor Atkinson's recommendation, board decided to withdraw its offer of a $150 donation towards radio interference work.

PACKING HOUSE IS C.P.R. Vice-President BOUGHT BY CO-OP

KAMLOOPS - Purchase by Thompson Valley Growers Co-operative Exchange of the McGilli-ray & Co. packinghouse and cold storage plant at 972 Victoria is the biggest deal to be consummated here in many years. The consideration was $127,000. Involved are the 372-foot U-shaped "in-line" packinghouse, designed to be one of the most modern in the upcountry, now in course of construction, and also the Kamloops Ice & Cold Storage Co. Ltd.'s 100,009-box storage which adjoins it and which now has been incorporated in toto into the packinghouse.

And Party on Visit

George H. Bailey, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific region, C.P.R., made a routine inspection of his company's properties in the Okanagan on Wednesday, April 7.

He was accompanied from Vancouver by J. MacRae, superintendent of British Columbia branches of the Bank of Montreal, and Alderman S. Cromie.

The party visited Summerland for a short time just before noon on Wednesday, April 7.

FIRST READING OF SALES TAX BILL

The Provincial government's retail sales tax measure was introduced in the legislature this week by Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance. The bill was formally given first reading, and will be debated later in the session.

The main purport of the bill is to impose a 3% sales tax on all sales transacted in the province, with certain exemption. The exemptions are largely confined to foods, farming machinery, feeds, fertilizer, etc. and equipment for commercial fishermen.

A separate fund is established | Byron Johnson, following a meetinto which will be paid from the consolidated revenue such revenues as are raised by this tax less the amount set aside for municipal aid. This fund will be known as the social security fund since the tax has been imposed largely to meet in part the cost of social security and municipal aid.

More Equipment for PGE Is on Order

Further improvement to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway by the purchase of new equipment amounting to $243,000 will be carried out this spring, announces Premier ing of the board of directors.

The directors authorized the puri chase of one gas electric motor car, 6 outfit cars, 6 baggage cars, four 8,000-gallon steel oil tank cars, 1 diesel electric switch engine, 3 standard sleeping cars, 1 cafe dining car and 32 flat cars.

The passenger equipment ordered is for the purpose of extending the passenger service on the Pacific Great Eastern railway this summer. In addition to this equipment, a further purchase was authorized of one caterpillar tractor for general emergency maintenance work on the railway, the

"Believe It Or Not" Story Of India's Magic by Lee-Grayson Still Has Rotarians Baffled

"You won't believe it, but it's pounds were brought in and dump-

Such was the warning of J. H. Lee-Grayson to members of the Rotary Club of Summerland last Friday evening as he unfolded a story of Indian art which left his audience slightly breathless and in deep wonderment.

It was a "Believe it or Not" atmosphere at the Nu-Way Annex and throughout the tale, the proverbial pin could have been heard to drop so intent was the audience.

Mr. Lee-Grayson took his listeners to the frontier of India, to Lahore, where he as a junior officer in an Imperial regiment, was stationed. To that lonely station came a JTG, which translated means Just Travelling Gentleman, who the speaker named Sir Reginald Pomposity and Lady Pomposity.

They had travelled to India, with all the necessary letters of introduction seeking to be enlightened in the ways of eastern mysticism, but ready at the same time to scoff mightily.

Then entered seen priests, clad only in loin cloths. They took up positions on the floor in a circle with heads towards the centre and clasped each other's outstretched hands.

Perfect silence reigned but soon the head Lama could be observed in the act of deep concentration, with his head thrown back and only the whites of his eyes showing. Then the group of priests were seen to be also in the same state of intensity. Their muscles commenced to ripple and writhe with the force of concentration and beads of perspiration started to appear.

Soon, there was a rustling sound emanating from the weights and they could be seen to move. Slowly and almost imperceptibly the rope became taut and about half an hour afterwards the weights began to lift.

When the weights were clear Mr. Lee-Grayson was detailed to | of the ground, at a signal from the head Lama, Mr. Lee-Grayson sides of the weights, convincing himself that no other physical attachment was lifting them.

The weights remained suspended for a matter of some three minutes until the Lama uttered words which, roughly translated, meant 'It is enough.'

With that, the weights crashed to the ground, imbedding them-

Victoria Moves To Amend

Amendments to the "Public Schools Act" implementing in part recommendations of the Maclean commission were introduced in the legislature last week by Hon. W.

T. Straith, minister of education.
The major changes in school financing proposed by the amending bill are as follows:

1. The government will appoint a provincial assessment board to fix assessments for purposes only of government grants.

2. Decisions of the board, from which there will be no appeal, will not affect the taxation base of municipalities for their own pur-

3. The province will pay onehalf the capital cost of school dormitories for rural pupils and up to $7 a month for their board. 4. School capital expenditures up to $5,000 will no longer require authorization by by-law.

5. Boards will be permitted to spread cost of purchasing school buses over a period of five years. 6. In rural areas, dwellings will be assessed as improvements for school tax; other farm improvements will be exempted up to $1,800.

The assessment equalization board will act only on complaint. It will not move in to fix assessments on its own initiative.

The troop is rapidly gaining efficiency in all the tenderfoot and second class knots. At the last meeting every boy was given a rope and had to tie certain knots and explain the practical use of the knot. Instruction was given in signalling and measurement of distances by triangulation.

This week there will be a small written examination on measurement of distances. The troop should have ten new second-class and 3 new first-class Scouts before the Camporee.

P/L Vic Smith says all his patrol will soon be second-class Scouts. Metropolit, Carston, Blewett and Coclich passed their tenderfoot tests. There will be a tenderfoot investiture on Friday.

The troop welcomed Sherrel Smith as a recruit.

Patrol standings now are Hawks 497, Beavers 440, Eagles 431 and Buffaloes 311. Dean Rempel now becomes P/L of the Eagles, succeeding Jerry Adams and we are glad to have P/L Doug Wakefield back with the Buffaloes.

SMALL WHARF AT PEACH ORCHARD BEACH PROJECTED

Walter Bleasdale, chairman of the board of trade parks committee reported on a recent meeting of his committee with Councillor Eric Tait, council parks head, and told the board's monthly dinner meeting at the IOOF hall Thursday night of the projects to be undertaken in parks work this

Most of the council recommendations on park work have already been related in these columns, following Councillor Tait's report to the council.

Regarding Peach Orchard beach, the board of trade parks committee is recommending that a small wharf be built so that bathers can get to deeper water without crossing the many rocks which line the beachfront.

A wooden crib filled with rocks and covered with planking would suffice and Mr. Bleasdale urged that the board undertake this construction as a 1948 project. The board agreed to proposal.

Mr. Bleasdale also recommended work bees on the lower town beach and assistance for the council parks committee in its yearly

Medical School to Open in 1949 at UBC Says Straith

A medical school will be opened at the University of British Columbia in the autumn of 1949, it was announced in the legislature last week by Hon. W. T. Straith, minister of education.

Three buildings will be required, two to be used exclusively by the medical faculty, the other a biological sciences and pharmacy building to be shared with other faculties of the university.

Appropriation of $100,000 to start off this year will gradually increase to between $300,000 and $350,000 in the third year when the school is fully in operation and should remain fairly constant thereafter.

Aside from capital costs, this will represent a cost of $6,000 per retary.

"The increasing cancer mortality is cause for grave concern and only by concerted effort on the the part of the public as well as the medical profession can this dread disease be overcome. Our program calls for publicizing the early signs and symptoms by means of pamphlets, movies and providing well-informed speakers wherever requested. Early recognition of the danger signals of cancer and prompt diagnosis and treatment can do much to lower the cancer death-rate."

Trade Board Plans To Press Fire Protection

Expressing a determination to press for more adequate fire protection for the entire community, the board of trade heard of past endeavors to increase fire protection equipment, and its scope and listened to President F. W. Schumann outline plans to continue the work commenced about two years ago in this respect, at the monthly dinner meeting in the IOOF hall last Thursday evening.

A. E. Smith, who headed the board's fire protection committee two years ago, read a copy of the brief which was prepared at that time and which was presented to the municipal council more than a

This brief was the result of a study made in all sections of the municipality and urged the purchase of a more adequate fire truck, plus bringing the entire municipality within the scope of a municipal fire brigade.

Mr. Smith stated that this brief was presented only after a thor-ough canvass of the entire district to ascertain the opinions of residents in all areas.

The fire department should be operated as a public utility, Mr. Smith insisted.

President Schumann expressed his opinion that the municipal council is anxious to co-operate and that adequate fire protection would mean lowering of insurance rates.

Mr. T. B. Young stated that Summerland is the only place in the valley without adequate fire protection. He felt certain that with a reeve as progressive as to propose a road up Giant's Head then the council could surely find means to provide adequate fire protection for the municipality.

Reeve Johnston assured the meeting that anything possible the council can do towards this aim will be done.

President Schumann urged Mr. Smith to take over once again a board of trade fire committee, with the object of pressing once more for council action in this re-

Royal Engineers Laid Foundation For Progress Of B.C., Says Atkinson In Address To Board Of Trade

Canadians have not yet developed a national pride and should be organized territory and the Britbetter acquainted with the great ish home secretary, Lytton, ordernational history which lies behind ed a company of Royal Engineers the present development of this province and all of Canada, Councillor F. E. Atkinson informed members of the board of trade on Thursday evening last, as guest speaker. He took his listeners back to the pioneer days of this province and gave dates and short anecdotes as a history of the pioneer development.

Few persons realize that Kamlops was established as a fort in 1811 and Osoyoos came into being in 1846, he declared. But the first known time that this coast was sighted was in 1774, by a Spaniard, Juan Perras.

Four years later, Capt. Cook landed on what is now the mainland of B.C. and later that year John Mears settled on the coast, before being dispossessed by Spaniard from Mexico.

Famous Pioneers

Then came such famous men as Capt. Vancouver, Alexander Mac-Kenzie and Simon Fraser. It was in 1810 that John Jacob Astor turned his attention to the Pacific northwest, and sent an expedition to the mouth of the Columbia. At the same time, Thompson was despatched overland to forestall the expedition.

During the war of 1812, the British laid claim to Astoria and most of what is now Washington and Oregon but in the settlement of 1818, the United States regained possession.

Mr. Atkinson traced the important role undertaken by the Hudson's Bay Co. in the development of this far western province, especially the establishment of this province's first fort at Langley. The battles with the Indians, in which James Murray Yale played the heroic part, were also outlined.

Back in 1830 is the first record of any food processing, when salmon was packed in barrels for shipment. Next commercial en-terprise was the extracting of isinglass from sturgeon fish, which were plentiful in the Fraser at that time.

Crown Colony

It was in 1943 that Victoria was established as the headquarters for the crown colony of Vancouver Island, with Sir James Douglas as governor. Three years later, Alexander Caulfield Anderson established the first road survey from Langley to Kamloops and later that year travelled what is now the approximate route of the Hope-

Princeton highway.

The discovery of gold in the Cariboo in 1858 saw the first big influx of pioneers, some 33,000 miners swarming in and forcing a great change in the administraon of this new land Douglas was named governor of all this un-

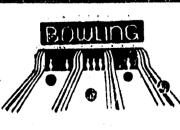

Your Youngster's Career Depends On Savings Habit HELP HIM TO BUILD

THIS KEYSTONE OF SUCCESS

The way of your youngster with a dollar will influence his way with a hundred or a thousand in years to come. That's why many far-sighted parents open savings accounts for their children at the Bank of Montreal. They realize that the child with the regular-saving habit is doing much more for himself than just building part of his pocket-money and leisure-time earnings into a bank account. He's building character . . . developing patience and purposefulness. An opening deposit of as little as one dollar at the B of M may well be your youngster's first step on the highway to a successful career. It will help him to stand on his own feet . . . and will put the experience of Canada's oldest bank behind him, as well as the friendly encouragement of everyone at the local branch. Why not send him around to see J. Muirhead, manager at the B of M tomorrow?

to what is now B.C.

The home secretary, in making his announcement that the Royal Engineers would come to the new crown colony of B.C. prophesied that B.C. would become the wealthiest of all lands opened in the empire.

Mr. Atkinson paid high tribute to the work of the R.E. company in building the Cariboo highway, forming the first building society in B.C., and establishing the government printing office. When the company was recalled, 130 out of 145 members of the company chose to remain in this new land.

In conclusion, Mr. Atkinson pointed to the great developments undertaken in this province and to the vast resources and conveniences now enjoyed and expressed the thought that the Royal Engineers, if they could see the results of their early labors, could feel gratified that they had accomplished a great deal in laying the groundwork for such a develop-

SKI CLUB HILL IS BOARD PROJECT

Construction of the proposed jump on the Summerland Ski Club grounds in Meadow Valley, up to an expenditure of $250 will become a Summerland Board of Trade project, financed out of profits expected from the annual Spring Fair the Thursday night meeting of the board at the IOOF hall decided, on the recommendation of the executive.

In order to hold open ski tournaments and attract entries from all parts of the interior, Summerland skiers need a proper regulation jump, it has been stated.

The Ski Club intended to solicit donations from the general public but the board of trade stepped into the picture by offering to make this hill a 1948 project.

The annual Spring Fair is to be held this year on Friday and Saturday, May 21 and 22, at the Occi-

Heart Diseases Leading Cause of Deaths in 1947

Almost all life insurance companies operating in Canada reported a further improvement during 1947 in their experienced rate of mortality, an examination of company annual reports reveals.

The study, made by the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association disclosed that heart diseases again were the leading cause of death among life insurance policyholders. This follows the trend of the past 25 years in the general population.

In 1947, one out of every three deaths among life insurance policyholders was from organic heart disease. Another one of three deaths was from apoplexy, other circulatory diseases, cancer and other malignant tumors. The remaining third was attributed to accidental deaths, pneumonia, tuberculosis, other respiratory diseases and stomach disorders. Pneumonia, tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, which à quarter of a century ago were one of the chief causes of death have been checked to the point where this classification is responsible today for less than ten percent of the deaths of life insurance policy-holders.

Taxi Drivers, Cowboys Tell Gromyko "We Do Know"

Cowboys and cab drivers from New York are shown picketing the United Nations at Lake Success recently, carrying signs attacking Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate. The demonstration was in response to a wrangle when Gromyko accused the U.S. of interfering with the internal affairs of France and Italy. Gromyko said then that even cowboys, taxi drivers and hotel doormen knew it. The picket line recently emphasized that they did know a thing or two about the activities of the U.S.S.R. Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate, answered Gromyko by saying that it was a tribute to the U.S. system that cowboys, doormen and cab drivers know about the affairs of their country.

Limit is Reached In Water Heaters On Low Power Rate

"That is the limit, we won't get any more until the West Kootenay revamps its high tension line," declared Councillor F. E. Atkinson when the council discussed the water heater position at Tuesday's council session.

Recently; the West Kootenay allowed a total of fourteen water heaters the low rate for quantity use, this being an increase of four, but no more domestic water heaters will be allowed until the new power line is brought into West Summerland.

A close checkup of the many applications for the low rate revealed on Tuesday that twelve users have installed the heaters with their ranges.

Mr. Ken McIntosh approached the council and asked for consideration in this respect for his rangette. He considered a rangette, with a water heater, being used in its entirety for cobking and heating purposes, should be classified the same as an electric range. The council will seek advice from the West Kootenay and if the ruling is favorable, Mr. McIntosh will be the thirteenth user to obtain this rate.

If the power company rules against the rangettes, then the counlaw firm, informed the council by cil will allow two more water heater users the low rate. The dleton is interested in operating first two to be installed ready for use will obtain the rate. Other applicants who obtain water heaters must pay the ordinary power rate, it was stated on Tuesday.

> Summerland council on Tuesday approved the annual grant of $25 to the Salvation Army.

SHARE POLE COST

Requests from private owners for electric pole removal to clear driveways of obstruction will be considered by the council but the development in connection with cost will have to be split on a fifty-the park-playground will be dis- fifty basis, the Tuesday evening meeting decided.

Council Plans To Have Street Cleaned Once Each Week

Commencing next Thursday, the council will endeavor to clean the principal business streets, Hastings and Granville once a week and will employ a man to undertake this work, also hiring trucks to cart away the refuse to the dump ground on that day if municipal trucks are not available.

Such was the decision last Tuesday when the municipal council heard a request from the retail merchants association; that the council implement its decision of last year to clean the streets bi-weekly.

Councillor Wilson declared that the road crew has been too busy on road work to undertake this extra task in the past few weeks. Some other deal would have to be worked out, he said.

Once all the streets are blacktopped, it will be possible to wash them off, he considered.

"There is nothing as bad as dirty streets", declared Reeve Reid Johnston, but Councillor Wilson came right back and considered that holes in the black topping which needed repair had a priority in the roads department.

It was decided to work out a deal whereby a man would be employed each Thursday to undertake cleaning the streets in the business area.

Harry B. Everard Dies at Kelowna

KELOWNA-Harry Branson Everard, well-known retired businessman, passed away at Kelowna General Hospital Tuesday, April 6, in his 76th year. He had been suffering from a heart condition for some time and entered hospital here on his birthday anniversary, March 27 last, 10 days before his death.

Born in Everton, Lancashire, in 1873, Mr. Everard spent much of his young manhood at sea. He saw service in the Royal Navy during World War 1, and lived several years in Vancouver, before coming to Kelowna in 1920.

He served as secretary of the South East Kelowna Irrigation District and the Scotty Creek Irrigation District. Later he became secretary of the Kelowna Club which post he held until his retirement in 1945.

New Vice-President For C.N.R. in West

J. P. Johnson has been appoint ed vice-president of the Canadian National Railways' western region, with headquarters at Winnipeg, succeeding W. R. Devenish who retired on superannuation March 31. British Columbia facilities of the CNR come under the jurisdiction of Mr. Johnson who commenced his railway career in 1905. He is well known and fully acquainted with transportation problems on the national system's western region, where he worked for 20 years at various points before moving to eastern Canada in 1936. For the past four years, he has been vice-president and general manager, Atlantic region, CNR.

Improvements In Lower Summerland

Rough grading of the sidewalk in front of the Summerland Coop parking lot in lower town has been completed and Councillor H. L. Wilson on Tuesday urged the council to proceed at once with the establishment of the actual walk. Councillor Eric Tait stated that the Co-op plans to level the parking lot and fence it this year. The Lakeside Inn is also planning improvements to its premises to take advantage of the new sidewalk construction.

Gordon Mountford, well-knownyoung veteran of World War 11, has disposed of his property, part of the old Simpson ranch, to Mr. Harold Baker, he announced this

JOCK STIRLING SENDS PROTESTS ON FREIGHT JUMP

Protests on the 21 percent increase in freight rates have been lodged on behalf of the fruit industry by J. R. J. Stirling, BCFGA president with Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister and Hon. Lionel Chevrier, minister of transport at Ottawa.

Warning that these new rates would add another million dollars in transportation costs to B.C.'s tree fruits and thus have a depressing effect on marketing in what promises to be a record production year, the wire sent to Ottawa was as follows:

"Confronted with problem of marketing estimated tree fruit crops largest in the area's history with rising production costs and curtailed offshore exports, fruit growers of British Columbia are deeply concerned detrimental effect 21 percent freight increase and nonremoval long-standing discriminatory differentials stop in light of prospective marketing outlook freight increase will take from this industry an additional million dollars in distributive transportation costs stop therefore this association urgently requests suspension new rates pending completion government's announced investigation."

Greyhound Bus Parking Again Under Discussion

were banded about without any solution.

One councillor suggested hour parking on the business streets as a solution to parking problem. He advanced the argument that a great deal of the parking space is taken up by local merchants park-ing their own cars, to the detri-ment of prospective purchasers who wish to park while making their purchases,

There were many and varied suggestions but none which could fit the case in its entirety, so the committee was appointed to investigate further.

Memorial Parks Group Seeks Approval Of Plans For Community Hall

Members of the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee have requested the Summerland council to call, a meeting of Summerland district ratepayers for the purpose of discussing a proposal for the building of a type of community hall on the park-playground property in West Summerland. at a cost of $20,000.

If the ratepayers approve the scheme, then the parks group is asking the council to submit a money bylaw for $20,000 to the voters.

Last Friday evening, all available members of the parks committee met the full council and discussed for more than two hours the project which the parks group, mainly led by F. E. Atkinson and E.

H. Bennett, has in mind. Plans which have been drawn up by Vancouver architects, Townley & Matheson, call for a hall along similar lines to the Gyro hall in Penticton. There will be a main floor space of 50 by 70 feet, which provides room for roller skating, dancing, banquets, or any other community enterprise. Adequate kitchen facilities, a heating plant, dressing rooms and a committee or meeting room are included in the tentative plans submitted to the council last Friday evening.

Although the council did not pass a formal approval of the plan, it was agreed that the project should be placed before a representative meeting of ratepayers.

Late yesterday afternoon Reeve Reid Johnston stated that the ratepayers' meeting will be held in the IOOF hall on Friday evening, April 30.

Last year, Summerland contributed $460 towards the Red Shield appeal and Mr. Huddleston has high hopes that this figure will be exceeded in 1948.

H. W. Tavender Passes After Long Residence

A residence of nearly forty years on a Summerland fruit ranch was brought to a close on Sunday morning, April 18 with the passing at the Summerland hospital of Henry Wesley Tavender, aged 78.

Of a quiet nature, the late Mr. Tavender had a host of friends in the community but he did not belong to many organizations. He was content to enjoy the pleasant atmosphere of his home to community gatherings.

Born in Chesley, Ont., Mr. Tavender spent his early days in that eastern Canada centre, before moving to Calgary, where he resided for four years. It was in 1910 that Mr. Tavender came to Summer-'land and established his fruit ranch on the front bonch.

Summerland Exceeded Quota For Red Cross

Final results of the 1948 Red Cross campaign reveal that Summerland's contribution to the nation-wide drive amounted to $2,-870.68, Mr. Jack Dunsdon, campaign manager, revealed to The Review this week. This amount is $1,070.68 over the quota set for this community and district.

At the same time, Mr. Dunsdon's face is slightly pinkish as two weeks ago he proudly announced that Summerland only needed to contribute less than a hundred dollars more to reach the $3,000

On re-checking his receipts Mr. Dunsdon found that he had been rather optimistic and had miscalculated to the extent of some $200; However, the sum subscribed is a handsome one and comes fairly close to equalling the record cama paign of 1947, when the $3,000 mark was reached.

"We certainly appreciate this splendid showing on the part of all citizens," declared Mr. Duns don, adding a special vote of thanks to the voluntary canvassers who covered all the district.

Grant Summerland $4065 In Settlement With Penticton Over Schools

Summerland and Penticton councils have reached a settlement in the division of funds between the two municipalities in connection with Summerland's inclusion in the No. 15 school district from April 1, 1946 to January 1, 1948. Summerland council will receive a cheque for $6,045 from Penticton council as the amount which has been arbitrarily agreed upon as Summerland's overpayment to the Penticton school system in that period.

With the approval of this settlement, the way is paved for an' election of school trustees, four from the municipality and one from the rural area. Inspector J. N. Burnett, official school trustee until the new board is elected, has wired to the deputy minister of education at Victoria advising him of the Summerland-Penticton decision and asking for advice as to the date of the election.

No advice had been received up to presstime from Victoria as to the possible date of the election, but it is anticipated that it will be within the next two weeks.

The settlement between Penticton and Summerland councils was reached after a good deal of discussion and much give and take on both sides, Inspector Burnett, who chairmaned the meetings, de-

An auditor's report has revealed that in the last nine months of 1946, when the school district system commenced, Summerland's contribution to the Penticton school bylaws amounted to $5,436.75. Last year, Summerland's contribution to the school district sinking fund and interest requirements amounted to $8,484,42, making a grand total for the two years of $13,921,17.

Of this amount, principal and interest payments on Bylaw 732, which is the bylaw which raised an amount for Penticton's new high school, which has never been constructed, amounted to $7,215, and this entire amount was allowed Summerland by Penticton council, leaving a balance of $6,706, which came under considerable argument.

At one time, it was suggested that Summerland's proportion of school district No. 15 expenditures last year, namely 28 percent, be deducted from this balance and the rest allowed Summerland. To this, the Penticton council would not agree, claiming that the school buildings represented by the money bylaws were used to a greater degree by other than Penticton students than the 28 would allow.

Fifty-fifty Split

In the final analysis, a fiftyfifty split of this balance payment of $6,706 served as the basis of compromise between the two councils. This meant that Summerland would be paid $7,215 plus $3,353, or a total of $10,568.

The disputed amount of $6,500, being the difference between the 1947 Summerland payments towards school costs and what the school district claimed Summerland owed as a full percentage of expenditures, was then deducted from the $10,568, arriving at a figure of $4,068, which is to be paid to Summerland council by Pentic-

A Community Hall

N OPPORTUNITY to have a community hall built in West Summerland at a nominal cost of approximately $20,000 is to be offered the citizens of this district in the near future by the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee, an organization representing most of the public groups of the community and which has been in charge of the Living Memorial parks program here.

Last Friday, the committee members presented their plan to the municipal council and asked for a ratepayers' meeting, to acquaint all persons interested with details of the project.

It has long been recognized that a community building, which could be utilized for public functions, is a necessity in this fast-growing district. Ellison hall has served this district well in the past years, but it is an old building and many thousands of dollars would be necessary to bring it to a state of condition where it would serve all purposes required of a community centre.

This new building would be modelled along the lines of the Gyro hall in Penticton and the main floor space would be about the same as that hall. Provision is also made for a clubroom which could be used by Teen Town or for committee meetings, it is planned.

There are several considerations to be faced in respect to this money bylaw. The school bylaw will be ready for presentation within a short time, it is expected and nothing should be done to stand in the way of completion of this renovation program to the elementary school. That program is a MUST in this district to relieve the present crowded accommodation picture which shows youngsters in basement rooms and occupying a church hall for school room purposes.

Summerland's share of this school renovation project will be about $50,000, planners believe, with government grants taking care of the balance.

For $20,000, Summerland can have a hall where roller skating can be enjoyed by all ages. where community dances, flower shows and other similar functions can be staged. Provision is made for an adequate heating system, plus a modern kitchen, the plans reveal.

Summerland is in an enviable position regarding its bonded indebtedness. The annual auditor's report revealed last year-end that Summerland has a fund of $50,025.16 in excess of requirements in its sinking fund.

Not only that, but $10,000 worth of domestic water debentures will mature on March 1, 1949, and $23,000 worth of irrigation debentures mature on August 1, 1950. Nearly half the combined total of school renovation and community hall expenditures are represented in the finalizing of these two debenture issues.

In all, Summerland has borrowed $295,685.50 through the issue of debentures which mature on varying dates from March 1, next year to September 1, 1970. Interest rate on the hospital debenture is 3 percent and one of the domestic water bylaws is only 2 percent, while other issues carry 4½, 5 and 5½ percent interest.

By floating a debenture issue for school and community hall purposes now, the carrying charges would probably not go over three percent. At a later date, when the inflationary period is over, the interest rate is almost bound to be higher.

Although building costs are higher now, the lower interest rate of the present day partly offsets these extra expenditures.

There will probably be some who would rather have Ellison hall given a face-lifting, but even though several thousand dollars were expended there, the hall is not in a position to serve the majority of Summerland residents.

A hall, located just off the centre of the main business section would be more centrally located than in Peach Orchard.

For years, Summerland carried on through good times and bad, paying its way and coping with the high cost of providing irrigation for the orchardists. There was nothing left over for community enterprises which were sorely needed but could not be afforded.

Now, the community has expanded to a point where it can afford the odd luxury to take care of its ever-increasing needs.

- But the final answer will come from those who pay the taxes. If they feel that they can afford a much-needed community hall, then the rate: payers' meeting will give the go-ahead sign to the council, and the vote of the people will decide the

Would he go north or south on his quest? He saw the wild geose flying north and reasoned thus: "The birds are going north and I am no bird. It therefore seems logical that I should head in the opposite direction," To verify this deduction he tore an enormous pine tree up by the roots and tossed it high into the air. When it fell to earth (about two minutes later) the top pointed south, so he concluded that was the way he should travel to seek a soulmate.

He soon noticed the climate was getting milder as he progressed, and he dreamed of settling in a southern clime where all was warmth and ease. But his better judgment prevailed as he told himself: "My race thrives best on cold, privation and struggle. If I left my natural habitat, my children and I would soon degenerate into a race of weaklings. In the north I was born and there lies my destiny.'

He saw none of his own species on the trip southward but when the Redwood trees of what is now California were sighted he was hopeful for he mused: "Where the trees are so gigantic, it is natural that all life should be on a similar scale. If there are any inhabitants here they will be of my kind." So he lingered among the

He wanted a wife, no more, no less. He painted, the beauties of the Okanagan in glowing words. He told of his kingdom among the yellow pines and his need for a queen to make life complete. "And what is more," he related, "on the way down, one night after I had eaten a cougar for dinner, I had a dream that was almost a vision. I saw the Okanagan Valley in the far days of the future. There were thousands of trees laden with luscious fruits, buildings of wood and stucco, streets filled with countless inhabitants and vehicles speeding across the landscape propelled by some unseen power. There are wonderful days ahead!"

The young giantess was eager to share such a kingdom with Our Hero, and as the parents offered no objection, the marriage took place at once. When the honey-moon pair were on their way north the Giant asked his com-panion: "Have you, a 'pink slip'?" "No," was the reply, "but I have both a white and a mauve one." "Well," said the Giant, "you'd better get a pink one at the first opportunity. It's risky travelling without one."

I ascertained that the matter of importing plant materials from other countries is quite a complicated affair. It is first necessary to decide which varieties are worthwhile importing. This involves a careful study of both scientific and popular publications. When it is decided to import a new variety it is then necessary to secure an importation permit from the plant protection division of science service at Ottawa. This is not a difficult procedure except in the case of those species of plants such as black currents which are on the prohibition list. For the importation of such plants, special ministerial authorization is required.

Before shipment is made from the country of, origin, plant materials must be inspected for disease and insect pests by an official government inspector. Furthermore, they must be routed via a Canadian inspection office, such as that maintained in the federal building at Vancouver. In these Dominion government inspection offices, the materials are again subjected to rigid inspection and, if necessary, fumigation. Eventually the plants arrive at the nearest customs office where they must be cleared and the required duty and sales taxes paid.

This spring quite a wide variety of plant materials have arrived at the Summerland station from various parts of the world, For example, scion wood of new varieties of pears and cuttings of black currents have come from Long Ashton research station at Bristol, England, where they were originated. Scion wood of new black cherries has been imported from the John Innes horticultural institution at Merton, England, New varieties of apples have been received from Stark

With regard to vegetables, special attention in being paid this year to varieties reputed to be satisfactory for preservation by freezing. The list includes quite a number of varieties of peas, string beans, lima beans and corn.

The ornamental division has not been overlooked, Importations for trial in the flower gar-dens include promising new varieties of hylirid ernment telephone lines, it is lilies from the Oregon Bulb Farms at Sandy, Oregon, the very latest in tuberous begoning from Vetterle and Heinelt, Capitola, California and several new flowering quince bushes originated by the Clarke Nursery in San Jose, California.

The testing of these new plant materials is a most interesting procedure. This is one reason why men like A. J. Mann, Bill May and Nat May are so enthusiastic about their work,

World Traveller Has Simple Philosophy For "It Can't Be Done"

The way to get things done is just to go ahead and do them, according to Miss Ada Boyland, world traveller visiting Mrs. A. R. Bingham here. And the way to start Miss Boyland doing things is apparently to tell her: "It can't be done."

Miss Boyland, who calls Dublin, Ireland, home, was told in 1920 that she couldn't get to Timbuctoo through Africa—so she promptly proceeded to go to Timbuctoo through Africa, travelling by barge for 600 miles along the Niger River unaccompanied by any other whites or women, weaponless and guardless.

Miss Boyland says she was "as safe as I am sitting here" throughout the 15-day trip. The barge was a grain carrier, polled along the river by a crew of eight blacks, and in spite of lack of accommodation—her "stateroom" was a bit of awning partitioning off a corner of the barge,-intense heat and multitudes of mosquitoes. she calls it "a lovely trip."

After this adventure Miss Boyland was made a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, and has found those magic letters FRGS an open sesame to her entry into many out-of-the-way places, and even to her admittance to the League of Nations, which was in session one time when she was found in other people. She says visiting Switzerland.

She spent one whole delightful year in Persia, which she terms unbelievably beautiful. In her travels she has been entertained by kings, statesmen, and even by General Smuts, whom she calls a "lovely man, and a perfect host."

King Hosein of Hedjaz was in exile in Cypress when she met him, but he was lovely too, and gave her letters of introduction to his two sons who were also kings-King Feisal of Irak and King Abdullah of Trans-Jordania.

THE GIANT—

The Giant, stunned with grief, buried his wife there in the center of what is now the State of Washington. He heaped a great pile of rocks, trees and earth over the body. The streams of salt tears shed by him petrified the trees nearby, and the scene of this sad event is now one of the great tourist attractions of the westthe Petrified Forest at Vantage Ferry.

The poor Giant continued his journey home alone. His sad loss may partly explain why the valley today is not peopled by a race of giants. "Oh, sad is the tale of the love-

After all this hobnobbing with exotic majesties Miss Boyland could take an introduction to King George V when she had that honor at an investiture which she attended with a to-be-decorated friend.

In others of her "it can't be done" trips, Miss Boyland crossed the Sahara desert from Algeria to Morocco by camel, accompanied by two Arabs, and across the Arabian desert with a company of six Arabs. People kept warning her that natives would rob her, or kill her, or abandon her, but none of these things ever happened, probably because of her utterly unselfconscious way of looking upon everyone as a friend, regardless of race, creed or color.

The 2nd World War put an end to her travels and she came to Canada because "there was no place else to go." She had met a man who raved over the beauties of Vancouver Island, and told her of the Indians and the wild beauties of nature there, so to Vancouver Island she went. It hadn't occurred to her until she got there that her informant had been talking of the Island of 50 years ago. so she found it much too civilized.

She likes Canada, though, and finds Canadians friendly, tolerant and kindly to a degree not she has met "lovely people, seen lovely scenery, lived in lovely warm houses, and eaten wonder-

Kelowna Business Finance Trials

KELOWNA-A campaign to raise the necessary money to finance the proposed trip of Sir Malcolm Campbell to Kelowna this summer to attempt to break his present speed-boat record, is now underway, and is meeting with good response from business firms and local citizens.

As soon as the necessary amount is secured, Sir Malcolm will be notified by W. T. Buss, the speed boat king's local representative, and it is expected arrangements for shipping Bluebird II to Kelowna will be made.

In view of the tremendous amount of publicity as a result of the visit, and the increased business anticipated through the influx of thousands of visitors, it was decided to endeavor to arrange the financing of the trip among local business men and private citizens. Outside firms also will be request-

OGOPOGO WAS ONLY MUD HENS

VERNON-Vernon must admit one skeptic on the topic of Ogopogo. He is Charles Quain, who feels his attitude was justified this week when 20 minutes' observation of a "long black thing bobbing up and down on the waves of Okanagan Lake" was rewarded by his seeing it "drift into pieces—just a flock of mud hens.'

It was Monday morning when Mr. Quain was driving along the Okanagan Landing road, about 50 feet from the lake shore. About a quarter of a mile out on the water he saw "this black thing lashing the waves."

"I must be dreaming," Mr. Quain said t_0 himself. "I don't believe in this Ogopogo."

So he decided to take up his vigil in order to confirm, if possible, his suspicions. After about 20 minutes the "Ogopogo" proved to be made of mud hens. Mr. Quain still is convinced that other Ogopogos are also "mud hens, logs, or just plain bologna."

CNR Northbound Train Changes Time

Timetable changes affecting Canadian National Railways' northbound passenger service between Kelowna and Kamloops become effective Sunday, April 25, according to Leslie Corner, of Vernon, district freight and passenger agent, CNR, Okanagan territory. On the revised schedule the Canadian National passenger train, northbound, will leave Okanagan points, daily except Sunday, fifteen minutes earlier than at present. From Kelowna, the new leaving time will be 4:45 p.m. instead of 5:00 p.m.; from Vernon at 6:25 p.m. instead of 6:40 p.m. and from Armstrong at 7:05 p.m. instead of 7:20 p.m. Arrival at Kamloops, will be fifteen minutes earlier, but main line connections, eastbound and westbound, are unchanged.

The Canadian National's southbound passenger service between Kamloops and Kelowna, will continue to operate on the present schedule.

GIRL MAKES SOLO

KELOWNA-First girl in the Kelowna district to solo is Alice Kennedy, who, on April 12, did a circuit, take off and landing, from Rutland airport. Alice had seven hours and 20 minutes instruction before going solo. On Friday, she and Jean Newton, who is also ready to solo, took their air regulation exams, essential to holding a private licence.

Weston Optimistic Of Britain's Ability To Meet Future

TORONTO—Britain, today, faces the problems of the future with the assurance that whatever comes she has a rising generation which will be physically capable of meeting the challenge. This is the opinion of W. Garfield Weston, chairman of the board of George Weston Limited, who has just returned from an extensive business tour of Britain.

"There is no question in my mind," he said, "that the children of Britain are healthy. They are not being fed a luxurious diet but it is an adequate diet. These British children are the future generation—the men and women who will rule the country and I am pleased to report that they are eating enough."

The happiness in Britain, Mr. Weston said, is general. "I found For Canada Mr. Weston predicted plenty of evidence of the peoples "many good solid business years desire to rebuild, but no evidence of any undercurrent of unrest prevalent before the war."

Mr. Weston said there is great admiration in Britain of the personal job being done by Sir Stafford Cripps. A former conservative M.P. in England, Mr. Weston pointed out that Cripps had once been known as an extreme leftist. "Today," Mr. Weston said, "Cripps is in the position of an impartial

On his return to this side of the Atlantic, Mr. Weston said he found more talk of war than he had in Britain. "I am sure," he declared, "that the Czechoslovakian coup did more to awaken the United States to the danger of what was going on in Europe than any other single event in past years."

Mr. Weston praised the Marshall plan as an instrument which would start the business wheels of Europe rolling and prevent another "Britain," he said, "has a fundamental contribution to make to the future of the world and we in Canada and the United States are very much dependent on what happens in that little British is-

I now feel," he continued, "that this past year has been a good solid year. I am convinced that there are solid years ahead for Canadian business, particularly now that the Marshall plan has been put into operation."

Elaborating on his review of Canadian business conditions, Mr. Weston pointed out that Canada, "that the British Isles will con- with a population of 12,000,000, and

GREAT ADVANCES MADE BY LEGION

Since the end of the war the Canadian Legion has added 838 branches and 369 ladies' auxiliaries, bringing the total paid-up members to well over 300,000 according to a press release issued by Dominion Command.

POPULAR SATIRE UBC PRODUCTION

Sheridan's ever popular satire on life in the upper classes during the early 18th century, "A School for Scandal", is the 1948 presentation of the University of B.C. Players' club.

Coming to Summerland under the auspices of Singers & Players. the comedy will be presented at Ellison Hall on May 6.

The same cast, costumes and stage settings that made the production a notable one in Vancouver this year will be seen here. More than $600 has been spent on the lavish 18th century costumes, and the results rival anything seen on the professional stage.

A Public Meeting will be held on Friday, 30th April, at 8 p.m. in the Oddfellows' Hall, to discuss the request of the Memorial Parks Committee for a By-law to raise $20,000.00 to complete projects outlined by them.

Junior Baseball Boys Organized In One Group

All boys under 20 years of age are being organized for summer baseball into the Summerland Junior Boys' Baseball Assn., Les Gould, who has been instrumental in fostering junior baseball with the help of the AOTS Club, announces Gilbert Jacobs is president of the new boys' ball group, with Bob Weitzel as secretary-treasurer and a committee of Wally Day, Allan Gould, Chuck Brawner, Don Cristante and "Spud" Kita assisting.

It is Mr. Gould's intention to divide the junior boys into three age groups, probably 12 to 14, 15 and 16, and 17 to 19 inclusive.

In order to provide competition for the 17 to 19 group, letters have been sent out to Osoyoos, Penticton, Penticton Skaha Lake, Peachland and Keremeos, suggesting a southern Okanagan junior boys' league this year.

Last year, the AOTS Club sponsored a junior boys' league, with a composite team representing Summerland against neighboring towns. The team did not lose a game all season. The Teen Town also sponsored a team which brought home a number of deci-

The 1948 league will take in both these groups and the equipment from both the junior league and the Teen Town team will be combined, it is stated.

W. BRUCE COUSINS | Penticton To be LAST RITES HELD

PENTICTON—Last rites for William Bruce Cousins, 62, who passed away at the Penticton hospital on Friday, were held from the Penticton United church on Monday, April 12.

A member of the Penticton council for 16 years, until illhealth compelled his retirement, he was at the time of his death a member of the Penticton Irrigation Commission.

RID URBAN AREA OF IRRIGATION

PENTICTON-While there was very little to mark the occasion, a page in local history was turned at the irrigation court of revision held at the municipal hall on Monday.

The Municipal Avenue-Scott Road irrigation line, the last flume passing through the ur-ban area of Penticton, was legally ousted and the users of it formerly served deleted from the irrigation roll, by appeal of the municipality.

DDT Orchard Spray Does No Particular Injury to Bees

Every year beekeepers in orchard areas suffer loss to their bees and crop through orchard spray containing poison. The introduction of DDT caused alarm because of its advertised deadliness to in-

A drastic experiment was planned by the bee division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, to test the effect of DDT on honeybees under orchard conditions.

Three colonies of bees were placorder that the bees would be working the blossoms well when they were fully opened. As the trees were of mixed varieties the blossoming period lasted several full bloom they were sprayed with a normal solution of DDT. A few days later the late varieties were also sprayed with the same solution. The bees worked the blossoms freely even before the spra; had dried. Dead bees were collected each day and later were analysed for poison. The death rate of the bees placed in the orchard was no greater than in colonies standing outside of the specially sprayed area.

Later in the summer, when the cover crop of buckwheat in the orchard was blooming it was sprayed. heavily with DDT. Here again the death rate was no greater than ed in a four-acre orchard just in check colonies outside the area. prior to the blooming period, in The analysis of dead bees showed that in only one case was a lethal dose taken, and in all others it was far below it.

The results indicate that great harm to honeybees may be expected from DDT when it is When the early varieties were in used as an orchard spray.

ONE KILLED, TWO HURT, WHEN CAR PLUNGES OFF ROAD

PENTICTON-William D. Taylor, 19, formerly of Kelowna, is dead, a car, registered in the name of Julianna Cooper, is a total wreck, and two other lads, Harry George Cooper, 20, of Penticton, and John Davis, formerly of Kelowna, are in hospital as the result of a car accident occuring near Kaleden late on Tuesday night,

The accident occurred on the old Okanagan Falls-Kaleden road, near what is known as the "apple dump," where there is a sheer 200 foot drop from the highway to the CPR tracks, and then a shorter drop from the tracks to the lake.

The car was proceeding north. the trio having been to Oliver, and were on their way back to Penticton. In some manner not explained the vehicle left the winding, narrow road and landed, bottom up, on the tracks below the precipice.

Taylor was apparently thrown out of the car on the way down. When police arrived his body was about 50 feet out into Skaha Lake. Near it was a seat cushion and a wrench belonging to the car.

Davis was flung out of the car, landing in the take, but was not so far from shore. He scrambled to safety and made his way to Kaleden to seek help

Cooper was flung out, but landed on the tracks. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper, of

The robin shown above has been flying against a window glass for the past week in Dayton, Ohio. Residents of the house, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. CANADA SHOULD BE PREPARED FOR ANY EMERGENCY

ABBOTSFORD-Need for a preparedness plan to aid in placing the Dominion in a favorable position in the event of war was stressed in a resolution passed at the regular meeting of the Abbotsford, Sumas and Matsqui branch, Canadian Legion. The resolution de-clared that "Canada as a nation within the British Empire has within the past 30 years been forced into two major World War: in defense of Empire and democracy, by violent aggressor powers, and as a nation our country was not prepared for war either in the defence or economic fields."

Lack of preparedness involved "unnecessary risk of defeat, human sacrifice and expenditure of national resources," according to the resolution, which was given unanimous support.

Dominion conference of the Legion was urged to call on the federal government to enact immediately or enforce legislation which would result in Canada's total manpower being trained to meet the conditions of modern aggressive warfare.

Other major recommendations in the resolutions were:

1. That laws permitting exemption from service as conscientious objectors be repealed.

That defence plans be prepared and the necessary legislative steps taken permitting immediate functioning and control, in the event of war, of all essential industry, trade and finance.

Dr. R. C. Palmer's Challenge To B.C. Scientists Calls For Low Cost Production With High Yields

Dr. R. C. Palmer, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, addressed the second scientific conference of the B.C. Academy of Sciences at Vancouver on Friday, April 16. Following is a report of the paper prepared by Dr. Palmer, featuring his opinion that scientists must work towards a goal of low cost produation together with high yields to assist the agriculturist in profitable production in the years to come.

what is for me quite a novel exper- on the lowlands here and there. ience. I flew down from the Okanagan on a CPR passenger plane. I realize that for many of you here today, being up in the air is hardly a new experience—in fact, I know some scientists who are up in the clouds most of the time!

I was delighted to find that travel in the upper atmosphere gives one great breadth of vision. For the past twenty-five years I have been dealing with the research problems confronted by agriculture in the Okanagan Valley and adjacent areas. I have been very close to these problems-too close perhaps to see them clearly. It is a good plan to look at our problems from a distance. By this procedure you see the various factors in their proper perspective. Yesterday I saw the agriculture of the Okanagan territory from quite a new angle. As I looked out of the window of the plane I saw the Okanagan Valley as it was a million years ago!

The whole Valley was one great sheet of ice. This ice was moving very slowly; I could hear it grinding the rocks into glacial flour, the material of which the fertile bench soils of the Okanagan are largely composed.

As I looked again a change came over the scene and I saw the Valley as it was only ten thousand years ago. The ice field in the floor of the Valley had melted to form an immense lake which stretched all the way to Sicamous. The water was held back by a giant ice dam located at Mc-Intyre Bluff just south of what is now Vasseaux Lake. The water was three or four hundred feet higher than it is today and covered the bench lands which are now planted to orchard. As I watched I could see rivers flowing into the lake. These rivers carried boulders, gravel and sand, building up gravelly soils at the points where they entered the lake. In the still waters along the margins of the Lake glacial flour was being deposited to form silt benches.

Again the scene changed and I saw the Valley as it was a thousand years ago. The ice dam at McIntyre Bluff had melted allowing the waters of the lake to flow down the Valley to the Columbia left the gravel and silt benches several hundred feet above the lake, which had assumed its present level. It appeared to be a desert area, for the vegetation was very sparse especially in the southern end of the Valley-just sage brush, bunch grass, cacti and a few pine trees. Towards where Vernon now stands the grass grew taller, indicating a greater rainfall Probably this explains why the soils in the South Okanagan have remained grey in color whereas those in the North Okanagan are darker in color and better supplied with organic matter. A few Indian tribes roamed the Valley but there was no attempt at agri-

"Throughout the years, you and your brother scientists have served this industry well. The new varieties which you have work, with complicated chemical originated such as the Van cheroparatus and costly equipment.

The controls which you, have devised for plant diseases and insect pests have enabled us to keep to a minimum the proportion of our crop which falls in the lower grades. The contributions which you have made to the development of the fruit and vegetable processing and by-product industry have brought millions of dollars into this valley. On the other hand we are confronted with decreasing prices for citrus fruits, decreasing consumption of apples per head of population in Canada, and decreasing markets for our fruit in Britain and in the United States. We look to you scientists for assistance in our efforts to solve the difficult problems which now confront us. Evidently we must reduce the cost of producing fruits and vegetables and increase the demand for these products-but

This, my scientific friends, is the challenge which confronts agricultural scientists in British Columbia today. It is our job to devise procedures for utilizing the natural resources of soil, water and sunshine in such a way as to produce heavy yields of high quality food and fibre at comparative ly low cost; but our researches should be aimed at something more than that. They should be aimed not only at making the business of farming profitable today; the should be aimed at conserving our agricultural resources for tomorrow. We should aim at heavy yields, high quality and low cost without impoverishing the soil.

This, in a few words, is the broad objective of agricultural re-

VERNON-Although they are positive the Vernon district grows some of the best fruit in the world, the Jaycees cannot devise a feasible plan to get it on the local market for special tourist "eat on the street" and "send a parcel home" trade.

The problem was discussed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at their dinner meeting, but it was decided the group would be unable to back the plan this year.

The idea was to have special packages of extra fancy tree-ripened apples or soft fruits for the tourists to buy for immediate eating or sending to friends.

Dr. J. S. Cull New Blood Transfusion Service Director

Appointment of Dr. J. S. Cull. B.A., D.P.H., Vancouver, as medical director of the Red Cross free blood transfusion service in British Columbia was announced at the weekend by national headquarters of the society at Toronto.

Dr. Cull, formerly deputy provincial health officer, succeeds Dr. Walter G. Rice, who has been with the blood transfusion service in British Columbia since its inception in January, 1947.

Born in Wetaskiwin, Alberta, Dr. Cull received his early education in Vancouver public and high schools and later graduated with a B.A. degree from the University of British Columbia followed by a degree in medicine from the University of Toronto. After two years of general practice he returned to the University of Toronto for a postgraduate course in public health receiving his diploma in

Dr. Cull was the first director of the Peace River health unit with headquarters at Pouce Coupe and after two years was transferred to the Greater Vancouver health board as director of Unit No. 4. In 1938, he was appointed assistant provincial health officer, later taking the post of deputy provincial health officer. As deputy he acted as director of the bureau of local health services, responsible for organization, administration and supervision of health units throughout British Columbia,

Dr. Rice, a graduate of the University of Toronto and a naval officer during the recent war, pioneered not only, the Red Cross blood transfusion service in British Columbia but also performed the first and subsequent replacement blood transfusions on Rh babies on the west coast.

THE FARM ACCOUNT BOOK AND INCOME TAX GUIDE SAVES FARMERS TIME, TROUBLE AND MONEY

SAVES YOU TIME—You will find that a few minutes a week keeps your Farm Account Book up-to-date. The first 15 pages, of your new Farm Account Book tell a straight story about what is required from farmers. Your problems are dealt with in question and answer form and an index refers you quickly to the section you want. The pages and columns for accounts are numbered to correspond with the items on the Income Tax, Return form itself. You can make an accurate record of all farm dealings as you go along.

If You Haven't Received Your Copy, Get It Now— FREE AT YOUR POST OFFICE

SAVES MONEY BY SHOWING YOU HOW-Every farmer legally is entitled to deductions for a wide variety of expenses. Your Farm Account Book has 12 pages devoted to columns for these. You are reminded of items which otherwise you might forget. Depreciation, a big factor, is covered on 75 named articles in common farm

You are shown how to establish claims for a Basic Herd and make a Three-Year-Average of your returns. This latter gives you the advantage of the lowest possible tax and it may be dated back to 1946. These are direct moneysaving advantages entirely to your benefit.

THE THREE YEAR AVERAGE

You can't lose if you take advantage of this. Two things are necessary to average your income over the three year period ending December 31, 1948. First your 1947 return MUST BE FILED ON TIME-that is, by April 30, 1948. Then when you file your 1948 return in 1949 you may make application to average your income for 1946-1947-1948. This averaging of income continues yearly so that in each year you are taxed only on the average of each three year period.

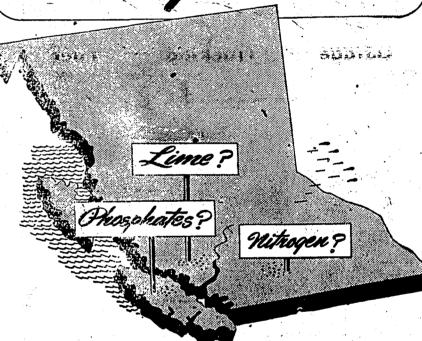

REMEMBER - HALF CULTIVATED LAND YIELDS A POOR CROP—HALF KEPT ACCOUNTS GIVE POOR RESULTS TOO

Last year Canadian farmers—and there are nearly a million of them produced over $2,000,000,000 in farm produce of all kinds. No other single industry approaches agriculture in volume of production. And as in every other business—even the smallest—every farmer must file in account of his transactions with the Department of National Revenue to qualify for the many tax exemptions which are allowed.

Soil Characteristics Differ Sharply in B.C.

UR Province has a greater divergency of climate than any similar area in the world. We range from an absence of recorded frosts to 50° below . . . from rainfall of four inches annually to one of 200 inches!

Our soils follow an identical pattern. Coast soils are normally high in nitrogen, strongly acid and low in leachable mineral elements. The Okanagan volcanic ash soils are extremely low in nitrogen, and very high in potash and alkali in varying degrees. Between these extremes are every conceivable type of variant or combination.

To save waste in plant-food, to supply the necessary fertilizers for the growing crop, it is imperative to know your soils. Our free soil testing service has reported on ever 10,000 samples of B.C. soils. It is at your service. Write for soil test forms today.

Legion Branch Plans Alterations To Building To Value Of $1,000

the Canadian Legion is planning an expenditure of approximately $1,000 in alterations and additions to its building in West Summerland this spring. The April monthly meeting voted in favor of these improvements to provide facili-ties to operate a club licence, on Wednesday, April 14.

The improvements are being planned to implement the club licence plan, approved by a 62 percent majority in the recent plebiscite conducted by the Liquor Control Board of B.C.

Completion of the annex on the north side of the building, including lining the walls and the installation of a concrete foundation will be the chief features of this work, together with the installation of toilet and washroom faci-

A report by a "Ways and Means" committee, submitted last week to the Legion membership advocated this renovation program and also pointed out further improvements which could be undertaken in the future. These suggested additions would consist of an excavation under the southeast portion of the building, the building of a concrete basement and installation of a proper furnace, all at an approximate cost of $1,600.

Chairman of this committee was Capt. A. M. Temple and the Legion gave the committee power to proceed with its immediate plansto expend $1,000 on the improves ments necessary to fit the premises so that the club licence plan estic heating boilers increased 47% can be operated.

Half of the main hall in the Legion building would be set aside for recreational purposes, including ping pong and small billiard table, while the other half would be operated as the beverage room, it is planned.

The canteen would be located in the annex, and sinks for washingup purposes, complete with necessary sanitary attachments would be located in the annex, which up to this time has only been used as a storage room.

TENDERS FOR ROAD WORK IN B.C. ARE OPENED AT COAST

Tenders for the first paving work during the 1948 construction season, including more than 40 miles on the Island highway and Alberni road, were opened this week by Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works.

The Vancouver Island work includes 16.6 miles on the Island highway from Red Gap to Qualicum, 6 miles in the neighborhood of Union Bay and 20 miles from Parksville to Cathedral Grove on the Alberni road.

Lowest tender for this work was submitted by the General Construction Company Ltd., which is building the road from Parksville to Qualicum, and the second dam for the B.C. Power Commission's John Hart development at Camp bell River. The Vancouver firm tendered to do the work for $225, the largest permanent hard surfacing program ever undertaken in British Columbia were opened Tenders for the last section of this week by H. C. Anderson, chief engineer for the provincial works

The bids were for surfacing 69,7 miles of highway in the Kootenay district, and the lowest tender was submitted by Storms Contracting (Pacific) Company Limited, $314,-525. Only other bid was that of Dawson, Wade and Company, Limited, $318,925.

The only tenderers on a contract for paving approximately 50 miles in the Fraser Valley, including 26 miles on the north side of the river from Hatzic to Pitt River bridge and the remainder in the vicinity of Hope, were Storms Contracting Company (Pacific) Limited, with a bid of $288,985, and the Columbia Bitulithic Company, Limited, with a bid of $268,290.

Nearly 90,000 sinks were produced in Canada during the first 9 months of 1947.

Big Increase Of 870 Revealed In Voters' List For Federal By-election

Summerland's voting population in the Yale federal by-election on May 31 has increased by fifty-four percent in three years, figures announced by enumerators in this district reveal today. Registered voters in Summerland's six polling divisions total 2,464 the latest figures reveal, whereas in 1945 the six districts amounted to only 1,594, an increase of 870 voters.

Summerland's polling divisions are in the rural section of the Dominion elections list, C. H. Jackson, Kelowna, returning officer for Yale riding reveals. There are six polling divisions, divided into Summerland East, Suburban, North, South, West and Southeast.

Biggest jump in population is in Summerland North, South, Suburban and Southeast. There is little change in the Summerland East and West divisions, the latter being lower town and Crescent

From these figures, it can be considered that Summerland has every justification in announcing that its population is between 3,500 and 3,600 as there are more than a thousand children under voting

Enumerators in this district are: Councillor H. L. Wilson, Summerland east; W. Haddrell, Summerland Southeast; W. C. W. Fosbery, Summerland North; Earle Wilson. Summerland South; Arthur Wright Summerland West; Harvey Wright, Summerland Suburban.

No political meetings have been announced in this district as yet but it is expected that the big guns will be booming within the next few days. O. L. Jones, CCF candidate, has been campaigning in the West Kootenay district and was a visitor to Summerland earlier in the week.

W. A. C. Bennett, Progressive-Conservative candidate, is still in Victoria for the final stages of the present session of the legislature. He will resign as MLA for South Okanagan prior to filing his official nomination as candidate for the federal by-election.

It is understood that E. J. Chambers, Liberal candidate, was ill for a few days last week but is expected to resume his campaign shortly. Three cabinet ministers will be coming to Yale riding to assist Mr. Chambers in his campaign, it has been announced. These will be Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture; Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of reconstruction; and Hon. Milton Gregg, V.C., minister of veterans' affairs.

The Conservatives are planning to bring out their top-flight speakers, as well, and these will probably include Howard Green, Vancouver M.P.; Leon Ladner, K.C., and probably John Diefenbacker, M.P.

It is possible that Mr. Coldwell, chief of the CCF party in the house at Ottawa, will come west for the by-elections here and in Vancouver Centre, where a replacement for Senator Ian MacKenzie is being sought.

All three parties have been planning to concentrate their campaign only in the month of May. Voting in Yale riding will take place on May 31.

Harry Brown in Accident Dodging Deer

Dodging to avoid a deer which bounded suddenly into the path of his car, Harry Brown, well-inolal public works department and known B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. in-represented that government group spector, Summerland, had a narrow escape from serious injury on Monday evening, April 26, at 9:30 o'clock, when his car turned over on its side against the bank and then rolled back onto its wheels.

The animal jumped onto the road in front of the southbound car opposite the Greata Ranch, ters. nine miles north of Summerland.

Mr. Brown swerved to avoid a collision and the car went out of control, turning over on its side and then sliding back onto the road. Mr. Brown believes that one fender struck the animal. The driver, who was alone at the time, escaped with a severe shaking, but was unhurt otherwise, The car was damaged to the extent of about $850, he states, It is reported that a number of other motorists have narrowly escaped collisions with deer on the from the Summerland Baptist Summerland-Peachland road in the past couple of weeks.

Limit Parking

One hour parking on the two main business streets of West Summerland has been authorized by the municipal council and will go into effect as soon as the necessary bylaw is passed and the signs constructed and erected.

Hours of parking will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily except Sunday. Taxi stands will be exempted from this order, designated spaces for two cars at each stand being allowed.

No further action was taken towards elimination of truck parking on these streets, as Councillor H. L. Wilson declared that the lane west of Hastings street would have to be opened before such an order could be passed.

The council is keeping this move in mind, however, and will deal with the truck situation at a later date.

No statement was made as to progress on the Greyhound bus problem, but Councillor F. E. Atkinson intimated that there are prospects in view whereby a set- RATEPAYERS MEET tlement of the bus parking could be obtained.

Councillor H. L. Wilson made a plea for reconsideration of an asphalt walk in lower town between the homes of W. G. Gillard and H. Thornthwaite, instead of the gravel walk now contemplated. The residents along this route were the municipal council by the Sumasked to contribute towards the merland Memorial Parks Commitcost of the asphalt but some were, not in favor.

This question will be considered more fully when the council meets to consider estimates.

Relax Regulations On Licences For Farmers

Bona fide farmers may obtain a free permit for the operation of farm equipment in their orchards or from one orchard to another or to haul fruit to the packinghouse, according to a wire received by Councillor Harvey Wilson, president of the Summerland Liberal Assn from Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, on Tuesday.

Considerable confusion arose last year over amendiaents to the regulations regarding operation of farm machinery and after a large meeting of growers was held here a delegation from Summerland waited on the Attorney-General to press the farmers' case regarding payment of licences.

As a result, the regulations were relaxed temporarily and amendments were passed this week by the legislature to deal with the situation,

No copy of the final act is available here yet.

All ratepayers are being requested to attend an important meeting in the IOOF hall tomorrow night, Friday, April 30, to hear details of the proposal made to tee to erect a community hall on the park-playground property. The parks group is suggesting a $20,-000 bylaw to provide funds for this

This amendment means that the 1947 assessment roll used as the basis for 1948 taxation, will have to be amended. Such amendments can also be applied for general levy and debenture levy if the council wishes to pass a bylaw to that effect, but it is mandatory as far as school taxation is concerned.

A "legitimate farmer" is classed as one operating five acres or more of fruit land, council has been told. Special Concession

Special concessions have been allowed farmers and ranchers in unorganized territory to relieve them of some of the education cost burden and the B.C. government is now passing on some of this relief to farmers within municipal limits,

The municipality will be reim bursed in part by special grants from the sales tax levy, Municipal Clerk Nixon informed the council. Although the situation provides many difficulties at so late a date

Industrial plants in Summerland are considering large-scale increases in their power consumption from municipal lines, the council was informed on Tuesday. In two years, there will be loads of 163 h.p. added to the capacities of four industrial plants in this district while another firm is also considering additional machinery which will require more power, it was stated.

Biggest single load will be required by the Cardiff Co. Ltd. for the operation of the former Coop Cannery in lower town. This plant has been using 30 h.p. and will jump to 85 h.p. this year, the council was informed.

B. C. Fruit Shippers Ltd. will require an additional 10 h.p. load this year while the Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd. additions will mean a further 18 h.p. The Summer-land Co-operative Growers' Assn. will be planning additions to its packinghouse in the next two years | one. which will require another 80 h.p. of electrical energy.

Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber has already made plans to rearrange transformers and supply the Cardiff Co, by means of 371/2 kva and 75 kva transformers. haul is estimated at $2,500 as a This means an expenditure of $1,-290 which the cannery plant will be asked to take over. Rebates, according to the amount of electric power used, will be made by the municipality until this amount is wiped out, it was explained. With a high quantity of power being used the cannery company would be refunded this outlay in a short time, it was conceded.

Mr. Thornber was also asked to confer with the Sunoka Fruit Products Ltd. regarding its plans for

Councillor F. E. Atkinson sought council wishes regarding separating the transformer loads so that each of these industrial plants would be served by separate transformers. The council members agreed that this would be a good plan, especially as 'a protection from lightning eliminating the supply for a number of plants.

Announce Program For Stop Over of Viscount and Lady Alexander, May 10 Plans for Summerland's reception for Viscount Alexander of Tunis and Lady Alexander, who will visit Summerland for a brief half hour on Monday morning, May 10, have been finalized, states Reeve Reid A. Johnston who, with Councillor C. E. Bentley, Legion officials, the school principals and others have had charge of the plans.

The vice-regal party's stay in Summerland has been cut to thirty minutes, as it was thought a longer time would be needed for the drive from Penticton to Summerland.

Arrival of the party on its northbound trip Monday morning, May 10, is set for 11 o'clock, with departure at 11:30 o'clock. Summerland's reception will be centered around the cenotaph and school grounds between the high school and the elementary school

Official Reception

As the vice-regal party arrives from Penticton at 11 o'clock, Viscount Alexander and Lady Alexander will be met at the junction of Jubilee road and the main road leading to Peach Orchard hill by Reeve Reid A. Johnston and Mrs. Johnston.

His Worship and Mrs. Johnston will then conduct the distinguished visitors to the Cenotaph, where the former will deliver his address, followed by a reply from the fam-ous British soldier.

Reeve Johnston is also planning on making an official presentation to Viscount Alexander on behalf of the citizens of Summerland of a colored panorama view of this district. This picture has been prepared by B. H. Robson.

On the school lawn on each side of the Cenotaph will be grouped the school students, the boys on the right and the girls on the left as one faces the monument to the fallen heroes.

To the left of the Cenotaph approach and facing south along Jubilee road will be lined up the Canadian Girls in Training and the newly-formed Girl Guide company. On the east side of the Cenotaph approach, and also facing south will be the Cubs and Scouts.

Across the road and facing north will be the school cadets on the west side and the Canadian Legion members and other veterans on the east side.

It is planned that er, accompanied by Mrs. Johnston will inspect the girls' groups, while Viscount Alexander will inspect the boys' groups and the war veterans.

Entomologists Môve To New

Although the structure is only partially completed, the staff of the Dominion Entomological Laboratory intends to move tomorrow into its new headquarters at Trout Creek Point, just south of the creek itself, Dr. James Marshall, chief of the "Bug Hunters" informed The Review this week.

Last year, the BCFGA and other interests of the fruit industry pressed hard for the construction of a suitable home for this important branch of the fruit industry study and research. After months of negotiation, a sum exceeding $20,000 was voted in extraordinary estimates at Ottawa to provide a start towards suitable accommodation. It was the intention of the sci-once service division of the Somision department of agriculture, before the war, to establish a science service centre here at a cost of some $150,000. This entomological unit, it is expected, will form the first unit of this project.

Dr. Marshall states that the move to the new quarters will probably be completed by the week-end.

This is the situation which faces the municipal council this week and the dilemma is a worrying road maintainer.

The municipal grader now in operation would not stand up to the extra work of laying hard surfacing unless a complete overhaul is considered, council members are told. Cost of this overminimum and oouncil experience of overhaul jobs is that generally fifty percent of the original estimate can be added before the job is completed.

This would mean that overhauling the present grader would cost about $4,000.

An offer from Pollock Motors Ltd. to deliver an Allis-Chalmers AD4 grader at a cost of $14,475 was heard by the council on Tuesday. This is a bigger machine than was considered last fall and. after an allowance of $4,500 for the present grader is deducted, the net cost of $10,075 is still about one thousand, dollars more than the council provided for in its recent money bylaw.

Quotations on Caterpillar equipment from war assets in the U.S. were received by the council in the past week but these prices, fob Summerland, would place alightly used machines in a higher price bracket than the new machines, if they could be obtained, Councillor F. E. Atkinson's only comment was that it would be better business to buy a new machine than take a chance on an overhaul job on the old grader.

The council decided to get a confirmation of price and delivery from Pollock Motors Ltd. while the council delegation travelled north to investigate the Allis-Chalmers AD4 at Vernon,

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

NOTHER SESSION of the provincial legislature is being concluded and it will probably go down in history as the most disturbing session in the history of the coalition gov-

The session just concluded saw a new premier, Byron I. Johnson, at the helm for the first time. Premier Johnson took over the reins at an inopportune time, as provincial problems are in an involved state and dissatisfaction is rife.

Premier Johnson took over a deal with the Dominion government passed on to him by his predecessor, John Hart which has made the going particularly rough for the new head of the legislative assembly.

Not that it didn't look like a good deal a year ago, but subsequent occurrences indicate that B.C. is losing out rapidly on its five-year plan with Ottawa.

Through the dominion-provincial agreement, B.C. has sold its income tax rights to Ottawa, with a guaranteed return per capita, plus considerations in lieu of social service costs, as laid down in the Green Book.

But the Dominion government has not implemented its Green Book pledges and B.C. has not obtained the social service financial assistance it expected.

Thousands of newcomers are flocking to B.C., including many who may call for the old age pension, as B.C. is proud to state that it has led the way in benefits to its senior citizens. But this is a costly business, and the dominion should be made to pay a bigger proportion of social assistance costs, as these new residents are not really the responsibility of this province.

So we have a rather alarming condition. Ex-Premier Hart thought that he had made a deal whereby B.C. could meet the rising cost of business and promotion, take care of its increasing population and provide for the future, at least for five years.

But the social assistance costs have been rising by leaps and bounds. Cost of all government services is skyrocketing. The budget of only a year ago is out of its depth and B.C., under a brand new premier, is faced with a deficit.

This has been the picture in the past session of the legislature, and the only solution brought forth was a sales tax.

We do not believe that Premier Johnson favored the sales tax idea but it was a straw for him to grasp. Other cabinet ministers, we are led to believe, were not in favor but to keep peace in the coalition ranks-it was Tory Chieftain Anscomb who introduced the bill-the cabinet and the majority of the coalition caucus was whipped into

Here is a case where democracy paints a rather sorry picture. On the one hand, you have the leaders of the provincial cabinet cracking the whip and demanding acquiesence even though they know full well that the majority do not favor the plan; on the other hand, you have the members of the government, knowing their constituents will be extremely annoyed, but bowing to the wishes of their leaders and voting against their knowledge of the desires of those who placed them in office.

There were a few exceptions to this rule, but not enough to sway the government from its intention.

A similar picture, with a slightly varied cast, can be observed at Ottawa where the Liberal chieftans are cracking the whip and demanding acquiesence from the party members in the face of country-wide opposition to the increased freight rates, or to the discrimination in rates as shown in the mountain differential.

There is a warning to be read from these pictures at Victoria and Ottawa. The people will not continue, forever, to return governments which deliberately flout the wishes of vast areas and populations. The old-line parties must mend their ways before opposition to their methods becomes

All by myself I discovered the secret of keeping your nails ungrubby when gardening. Our Health Unit

KELOWNA-The Okanagan Valley Health Unit serves an estimated population of 48,854, of which there are 7,809 school children. In an effort to bring home to the general public the service that is the area between Oyama and Osoyoos, the organization has arranged a display window in the store of Laidlaw & Co.

With offices at Kelowna, Penticton and Oliver, the Okanagan Valley Health Unit reaches out into every community in the southern Okanagan. Its trained staff of public health nurses, sanitarians and clerks, guided by a health unit director, stands ready to help

Since health is of universal concorn, the services of the health department are available to every individual, regardless of creed, race or financial status. Direct consultative service is made available from the central administration at Victoria through the local health services in matters pertaining to health.

The present Okanagan Valley Health Unit had its origin in 1927 with the appointment of Dr. G. A. Ootmar as medical health officer for the area lying between SicaVarious Bodies

During that year, the Kelowna Rural Schools' Health Association was formed, comprising twelve rural schools in the vicinity of Kelowna with a population of 550 school children. For administrative purposes, the association was composed of representatives of school trustee boards and women's institutes, school health being supervised by the medical health officer and a public health nurse. In 1928, the City of Kelowna engaged a nurse for its 900 school children, and in the following year, Dr. Ootmar became medical health officer and sanitary inspector for the city. Thus, in January, 1980, there was a health unit covering public health in all its phases in Kelowna and adjacent rural sistricts.

Large Area

The Kelowna Rural Schools Health Association carried on health activities until January, 1942, when it merged with the newly-formed Okanagan Valley Health Unit, at which time health services were expanded to include Penticton, Summerland, Peachland and their adjacent rural areas. A further expansion was brought about in July, 1947, to include ser-

I found A. J. Mann in the tobacco barn but he was not smoking a pipe or curing tobacco; on the contrary, he was examining a large number of apple tree rootstocks arranged in neat piles on the floor of the barn.

On inquiring, I ascertained that these rootstocks were the result of a long range project designed to make available to growers apple tree rootstocks which are immune to the attacks of the crown rot organism and easy to propagate by the

This project was undertaken several years ago when Dr. Maurice Welsh of the laboratory of plant pathology isolated the organism Phytophthora Caetorum and proved that this organism has a good deal to do with causing crown rot of apples. It was decided to test a large number of apple rootstocks to ascertain which, if any, were resistant to this fungus. Accordingly, several thousand trees budded on various root systems were set out in a closely planted orchard. When these trees were three years old the pathologists inoculated them with the crown rot fungus. Many of the trees died from the disease but a goodly number proved highly resistant.

The next job was to ascertain whether or not any of these crown rot resistant rootstocks could be propagated vegetatively. This involved a rather novel procedure. Several roots from each tree were cut near the point where they left the crown of the tree. These cut roots were left in place and became essentially large-scale root cuttings. Many of them developed adventitious buds and sent up shoots. In due time scions from these shoots were grafted to nurse roots. These piece root grafts were planted in shallow trenches on the slant so that the top bud was below ground level. The shoots which grew up from these grafts were mounded with soil. This encouraged rooting from in the provincial election this year. the base of the shoot.

It was found that some of the crown rot resistant rootstocks could be readily propagated in

The rootstocks which I saw in the tobacco barn had been rooted by this procedure. On examining them, I noted that some lots had developed excellent root systems whereas others had only very poor roots. A. J. Mann had selected about 25 lots with the best root systems. They are being sent down to Mr. J. Manten, nurseryman at White Rock, B.C., who has had a great deal of experience in raising fruit tree rootstocks by the stool bed method. If Mr. Manten finds that even one of these new rootstocks can be increased economically by the stool bed method, this whole project will have been fully justified, for Okanagan growers will then be able to secure apple trees budded on a rootstock which is highly resistant to crown rot, ready for play this summer,

Sustained Business Activity is Forecast in Review of '48 Prospects

While a pause in the rise of prices, employment and trade | short at the international boundmarked 1948's first quarter and conditions remain spotty, new influences emerging within recent weeks seem to be "on the side of sustained business activity and upward price pressures." This appraisal of Canada's economic position—based on both internal and external developments-appears in the Bank of Montreal's latest business review, issued this week from Montreal.

Internally, the review points out, there is impressive evidence of plans for a very substantial volume of new investment in plant, equipment and housing throughout the current year. Externally, important dévelopments now under way in the United States can scarcely fail to have direct as well as psychological effects on business in Canada.

While the extent and nature of Canada's participation in the European Recovery program is not yet fully clarified, the bank be-lieves it is reasonable to expect that the project may well tend to maintain or increase the demand for Canadian exports and to improve this country's U.S. dollar position.

"The potential effects on the Canadian economy of the expanded U.S. defence program and the stimulus to consumer buying in that country inherent in the substantial income tax cuts are, of course, much less direct," the review notes. "But to the extent that these factors are instrumental in maintaining demand (in the combined consequences will stop products.

the Department of Reconstruction and Supply, new capital investment is expected to continue at a high level during 1948, the bank reports.

"On the basis of intentions reported by some 13,000 business enterprises and by governmental bodies, it is estimated that expenditures on plant, equipment and residential construction have been planned for this year in the record amount of $2,800 millions as compared with an actual $2,400 millions last year and $1,600 millions in 1946," the bank comments.

"The anticipated increase of 17 percent over 1947 in the value of such investment is expected to be principally a reflection of higher costs, the scheduled expansion in physical volume being only slightly greater than last year. However, in the case of public utilities and of institutions such as schools, churches and hospitals, investment intentions for 1948 show significant increases in both real and dollar terms."

Production plans for nine basic materials and 30 building products that have been in short supply indicate a "somewhat better" out look for lumber, asbestos, gypsum, copper, coal and coke, the review states, adding that "the shortage of primary iron and steel will probably continue to be critical." The output of building materials is expected to show substantial improvement but in relation to anticipated demand, the supply position will remain tight, especially U.S.A., it is hardly likely that their in the case of iron and gypsum

GUIDE NEWS

To start Friday's meeting the leader called together the patrol leaders and told them to line up into patrols and to form the horseshoe, at which we said our threefold promise and Guide laws. Then we went into our patrol corners where we took some of our tenderfoot tests. After that came a short game, a relay race.

Following the game came campfire where we discussed the uniform project. The bad news was that we may not be able to have our uniforms for May 10. Then, after the discussion we sang a round "Fires Burning" which was followed by two other new songs. Then the company sang "Taps" and Mrs. McIntosh dismissed us.

The staff of the health unit now consists of a medical director, who acts as a medical health officer, eight public health nurses, two sanitarians and two clerks: Representatives from the school boards of the three school districts of the health unit area, together with representatives of municipal councils, form the Union Board of Health, which meets at quarterly intervals to consult with the directors of the health unit, and to discuss local health problems.

During 1947, meetings of the Union Board of Health were held in Kelowna, Penticton, Summerland and Oliver, respectively. Alderman R. P. Walrod, Kelowna, served as chairman of the Union Board of Health for 1946 and 1947. Following his resignation from this position, his successor is Alderman W. T. L. Roadhouse of Kelowna.

Dr. A. M. Beattie, who has been medical health director for the past 14 months, has left Kelowna for Nanaimo, where he has been transferred. He has been succeeded by Dr. Helen Zeman, who arrived last week to assume her new duties.

Continued from Page 1 the deputy minister of municipal affairs, B. C. Bracewell, has stated that a vote of the people in the fire district would have to be taken before any attempt at enlarge-

Councillor H. L. Wilson asked what steps would be necessary to incorporate the whole municipality into one group, but Clerk Nixon declared he had not wished to confuse the issue and had made no enquiries on that score.

Both Councillor Wilson Councillor Bentley spoke strongly in favor of fire protection being maintained for the entire municipality as part of the general tax levy. The volunteer brigade could be operated under the direct supervision of the municipal council.

Before such a move could be considered, a fire truck would have to be purchased and a suitable home for the fire equipment would be necessary, it was point-

Municipal Clerk Nixon declared that he had no information that West Summerland district wished to disband, and stated that the only recommendations which had come before the council was the purchase of additional equipment, especially the fire truck.

Reeve Johnston brought discussion to a head when he suggested that a meeting of those interested be held next month to consider fire matters generally.

The fire protection society informed the council that it would be prepared to pay the usual rental for a standpipe hydrant near the Jenkinson home, to serve the Parkdale area, as requested by property owners there recently.

When these figures are compiled the council will decide if this concession will be allowed for general and debenture levy, as well as school purposes.

Result of the changes this year will mean that a higher mill rate will have to be set in order to raise the required amount of money for school and municipal pur-

It is suggested that, as the total of assessment values for school purposes will be lowered there may be an alteration in the percentage of school costs paid by the municipality in relation to the rural area. Also, with a lowering of assessments, the provincial grant towards costs will be that much higher.

Councillor Eric Tait felt that by eliminating trees and strictly farm buildings from the improvements assessments for general and debenture levy this year the balance of taxation would be upset to too great a degree, and the owner of small amounts of property would be paying too high a proportion of the tax rate.

Councillor Atkinson agreed with the principle being implied by Councillor Tait but felt that when the figures are revealed there would not be a sufficient amount involved to upset the balance to any great extent.

Go Whole Way

Councillor H. L. Wilson advocated taking the improvements assessments from all sources and in this contention he received support from Municipal Clerk F. J Nixon, who felt that his clerical staff would not be able to complete the necessary revisions in time unless this practice was followed.

It would entail a far greater amount of work on the assessment roll to separate just for school purposes and not for all three levies involved he told the council.

No decision will be made by the council until Assessor Angus computes the improvements assessment reduction to be made. Council reaction to the municipal act amendment was to the ef-

Marks Occasion of 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Mott were pleasantly surprised on Monday April 19, when called from a neighbor's home to meet a couple of triends from Penticton. However, upon their arrival, they were met with a shower of confetti, which reminded them that friends had learned of their having reached the 25th anniversary of their wedding. No fewer than seventy-six good friends had already gathered from different parts of the Okanagan Valley, to congratulate them. and to wish them many more years of happiness together.

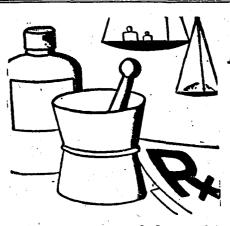

The evening was spent in a most enjoyable way. A friend from Oliver was appointed master of ceremonies and it was discovered that the company included a surprising number of talented persons, who willingly contributed numbers in music, singing and speaking. A telegram was read from Miss Emily Mott, who is a nurse at the coast; this added to the surprises. Then, a silver tray, heavy with coins, was presented to the happy couple.

Delightful refreshments were served, including a large, decorated cake.

"SIX-INCH HEADLINES"

Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber took exception at Tuesday's council session to the "six-inch headlines" in The Review story covering his demands of the council at the previous meeting and asked that he be allowed to confer with the council in committee. Reeve Johnston inferred that his request would be granted but at a later date as there was too much pressing business to finish on Tues-fect that trees would have to be eliminated as improvements on the assessment roll for next year and l land values raised accordingly.

At St. Andrew's For Entertainment

Well over a hundred persons gathered at St. Andrew's church on the evening of April 26 to enjoy an entertainment put on by the Service Club, which wound up with a, hilarious audience participation "quiz contest" conducted by Rev. H. R. Whitmore.

Mr. Whitmore was master of ceremonies throughout the evening, and introduced first of all to an appreciative audience "Ten Little Niggers", who, when stripped of their blackface, proved to be Mrs. H. R. Whitmore, Mrs. Mona Laidlaw, Mrs. Marjorie Hill, Mrs. Laura Booth, Mrs. Armor, Mrs. Margaret Milne, Mrs. Hilda Downes, Miss Christine Mair, Mrs. May Mitchell and Mrs. Margaret

A sweetly-sung duet, "Whispering Hope" by Miss Christine Mair and Mrs. Margaret Millward was followed by one of Mrs. May Mayne's ever-welcome monologues, "Shropsy Topsy", and that in turn was followed by an acted song, "Don't Fence Me In", by Masters Arnold Walker, Robert Turnbull and Dwaine Greer. Miss Carol Thorburn was the director of this number, as well as the concluding bit, a one-act play entitled "It Can't be Done", in which Miss Thorburn herself, Mrs. Phyllis Rumball, Mrs. Lona Washington and Mrs. Liz Pilkington played the parts.

After "God Save the King", the audience and entertainers retired to the church hall for the quiz contest, which was fashioned after the model of current radio shows. Mr. Whitmore proved himself adept at ad libbing in his role as master of the show, and many members of the audience were surprised at their own performance when called upon to follow the "Treasure Trail."

Refreshments were served to complete a thoroughly enjoyable

Musical Items Enhance Showing Of Art Exhibit

A lovely setting for the enjoyment of an excellent picture display was provided with the flower-bedecked tea tables in the IOOF hall on Saturday afternoon, April 24, when the Women's Institute brought to Summerland the third in the series of art exhibits under the auspices of the University of B.C. extension department.

Further enhancing the mood of the day, and thoroughly appreciated by those attending, was the musical program provided by Miss K. Hamilton's pupils. In a series of five musical groups the young performers acquitted themselves with an unselfconsciousness that greatly added to the skill of their performance.

Those taking part were: Jane Woolliams, Elsie Hack, Frances Atkinson, Ruth Nesbitt, Marion Richards, Ken Brawner, Joy Pattie, Kit Muirhead, Ruth Klix, Joyce Schumann, Shirley Gardiner, Maureen Prior, Ruth Nakamura and David Woodbridge.

Grace Melvin's Indian drawings for book illustrations of Indian legends, were especially interesting in that, while they definitely had the Indian character in design, they were developed in a modern art style.

The most outstanding line cut, "Figure", by Pam Regan, was remarkable in the sureness of line and simplicity of drawing. G. K. Thorne's metal plate "The Battle of the Thunderbird" showed unusual treatment of a lively dramatic theme, complicated in pattern but entertaining in design.

The display arrangement was capably handled by Mrs. A. K. Macleod and Mrs. A. W. Vander-

Cold Storage Plant for Experimental Work on Frozen Foods Ready Here

Freezing of fruits and vegetables is becoming an important industry in this province, both from the standpoint of the producer of these products and for the processor, as well as the consumer. So important has this section of the production industry become that the experimental farms service of the dominion department of agriculture has expended several thousand dollars in new refrigeration equipment for the fruit and vegetable products laboratory at the Summerland experimental station this spring.

Work on the installation of three cold storage rooms, specially designed and equipped to supply three types of freezing units has now been completed at a cost of around $10,000, F. E. Atkinson, in charge of this important section of experimental work for the fruit and vegetable industry in B.C., stated in a recent interview.

Associated with Mr. Atkinson in the fruit and vegetable by-products laboratory is Dr. C. C. Strachan and a large staff of research experts who deal with problems of the producer and the processor, plus providing protective measures for the consumer.

Machinery Rampant

Few persons in this community realize the amount of machinery which has been collected into the byproducts lab at the experimental station. Everywhere a visitor looks there is strange-appearing apparatus which involves some part of the processing world.

Besides the freezing apparatus, the department of agriculture authorized this year another expenditure for the byproducts lab, and a modern fire protection sprinkling system has now been installed. With such a variety of expensive machines and equipment housed in the frame and cement building, it was considered essential that a proper fire protection system be installed.

Mr. Atkinson and his co-experimenters have a definite motive in mind regarding the installation of the new cold storage freezing units in the laboratory. In simple explanation, their aim is to improve the present methods of freezing fruits and vegetables. ·

From their experiments, they hope to devise methods whereby the housewife may be able to obtain better quality frezen foods for mealtime.

First of the cold storage rooms being prepared for reception of the fruit and vegetables contains freezing equipment consisting of a combination brine and air blast method. By this method the brine is forced down to a temperature of 25 to 30 degrees below zero and the general level of the room will be 20 below. Next step in the process is to package the frozen products and store them in a cold storage room which is regulated to maintain a temperature of 32 degrees, the freezing point. A water defroster, similar to a car radiator, is used in this room.

Third of the freezing rooms is equipped with one-inch thick Dole plates to maintain a temperature of zero. Controls to regulate the air blast and the temperature are also available for this room.

Once this equipment is in operation, Mr. Atkinson and his staff will be ready to assist vegetable growers in the Okanagan and in the Fraser Valley in freezing vegetables.

Has Wide Range

Most persons look upon the byproducts lab as a strictly Okanagan concern, but actually experiments for producers and processors from all parts of B.C. and much of the prairie provinces are carried out here at Summerland.

One of the most important experiments planned for this year in the juice manufacturing industry will be the combining of raspberry and apple juce. There will berry and apple juice. There will Fraser Valley this year and Mr. Atkinson hopes to be able to show apple juice manufacturers that a superior product can be obtained with a blend of these two

If the experiment is successful, then two groups of producers will be benefitted.

Commercial Tests

Another department of the by products lab is the testing of commercial products. Neil Henderson is in charge of this work and is mainly concerned right now with testing the quality of the pack of jams, as submitted by various commercial packers and Dept. of Agriculture inspectors. Later come pickles, juices and many other processed fruits and vege-

This type of work was former ly carried out by the food and drug laboratory in Vancouver, but now all stages of the product come under the supervision and inspection of the Summerland labora-

Mr Atkinson was mainly responsible for this change in governmental policy and now, a processor can receive a telegram or telephone call the minute any improper procedure is discovered and can be saved thousands of dollars in wrong processing methods and results. The consumer can now be assured of a better quality pack because of this inspection service. Mould Count

Another department, under the charge of Miss M. O. (Peggy) Bur ton, gives the mould count on tomato products and the bacterial count on frozen vegetables. In her department is located a Que-bec Colony Counter, which facilitates the counting of the number of moulds in the microscopic field

Miss Burton states that 50,000 bacteria to one gram, may become a standard but in some cases she has counted up to ten million! How such an astronomical count is obtained was not revealed to The Review.

There are other departments which occupy the attention of the byproducts laboratory and canning machines, the new juice extractor perfected by the local laboratory, and many other weird looking machines are scattered about, all giving mute testimony to the diversification of interests of the fruit and vegetable byproducts laboratory operating in Summerland.

GRAND MISTRESS OF LOBA PAYS OFFICIAL VISIT

The grand mistress for the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association of Canada and New Foundland, Mrs. Lillian Morgan of Windsor, Ontario, made an official visit to the Summerland and Princeton LOBA lodges on April 23, when a joint meeting was held in the Legion hall, West Summerland. in Newfoundland.

A banquet was served to the members of the two lodges at 6 p.m. by the W.A. of the Summerland Legion, when the worthy mistress of Summerland LOBA, Mrs. Alice Gillespie, welcomed the grand mistress and Right Worthy Sister Thomas, Princeton, who is deputy grand mistress of B.C.

The Princeton members of LOBA exemplified the Orange degree, following which ceremony the most worthy grand mistress spoke on her visit across the Dominion and in Newfoundland.

Later in the evening visiting LOL members of Penticton and Summerland joined the ladies to hear a most inspiring address by the grand mistress, and to enjoy an entertaining program of music and recitations. Mrs. James Mayne, Mrs. Mina Milley, Mrs. Hilda Downes, Mr. William May and Mrs. Armour were the antists contributing to a most enjoyable eve-

After lunch was served to the assembly the grand mistress was driven to Penticton to journey from there by plane to Trail and thence to Regina to start her official tour of Saskatchewan.

Bankers Have Altered, AOTS Club Informed

Most people look on a banker as a hard-eyed, fishy-faced, stone-hearted skinflint, James Muirhead remarked in his talk to the Summerland AOTS club on Thursday April 22, but that conception is long out of date. And, as the speaker proceeded with many in teresting details to outline the psychology of public relations in modern business, his hearers were satisfied that Mr. Muirhead was certainly far removed from that old-fashioned concept of a bank

In accordance with the AOTO policy of serving the community with service rather than with money, the 50 members present took time out after supper to fold for mailing 800 letters for the appeal for funds to fight cancer. Following this, the business of the meeting was handled with promising despatch by new president! Gordon Beggs.

Les Gould reported that this year all junior boys' baseball teams had got together in one association, so that there was no friction between teams and the same organization could put up teams of all junior ages.

The president appealed for helin transporting the AOTS-sponsored teams and a transportation committee, headed by Bill Laid-

Kelowna Seeks B C. Government $25,000; Bring Campbell Here

KELOWNA—Campaign to raise $25,000 to finance the proposed trip of Sir Malcolm Campbell to Kelowna this summer where he will attempt to break his present speedboat record, is meeting with reasonable success, but if the objective is to be reached, several thousand dollars will have to be collected within the near future.

While officials of the finance committee have not had a chance to total contributions received to date, a rough estimate placed the objective several thousand dollars short of the required amount necessary before the speed-boat king can be officially informed that financial arragnements have been

Before Sir Malcolm goes to the British government to obtain an export permit for his Bluebird II, posed. he must have the assurance that financial arrangements have been completed on this side of the wa ter. British currency regulations prevent him taking any money out from England, and shipping costs for his boat, including personal expenses in Canada for he and his mechanics, must be financed from

"All I can say at the moment, the campaign is going along very well. We can only appeal to all community-minded citizens and business firms to come forward with their donations in order that the minimum of $25,000 can be obtained," declared T. Greenwood, president of the Kelowna Board of

B C. Government Education Costs

KELOWNA-A high standard of education could be made available for all of B.C., and the "provincial government holds the key," declared Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games when he addressed the Kelowna Gyro Club at its monthly dinner

Dealing generally with the financial picture of the city and specifically as it affected education costs, His Worship criticized the government for the heavy school cost burdens on B.C. municipali-

Much of the trouble could be traced, he maintained, to the government trying to pay off everything in one year. I think the provincial government is trying to do too much out of current revenue. The government is not looking facts in the face.'

"Can we afford to pay teachers' salaries as they are now, the highest ever? Can we afford to pay a brand new teach, just out of Normal School, at a rate 15 cents an hour more than received by the average tradesman?" His Worship

"I think we can, but the provincial government is the key."

APPROVE STORAGE DAM FOR VERNON

VERNON-Unqualified approval of engineering aspects of the proposed dam to increase Vernon's water storage has been received by the city from the chief engineer of the provincial water rights branch, Alderman E. B. Cousins reported that public meetings to discuss the $110,000 project probably could be held within two weeks.

W. T. Buss, Sir Malcolm's personal representative in Kelowna, received a letter from the speedboat king on Thursday. The letter stated that Sir Malcolm had been requested by the DeHavilland company, manufacturers of the jet-propelled engine, to make preliminary tests in England immediately in order to iron out any technical difficulties in the engine. When the tests are completed, Sir Malcolm said he is prepared to come here for final trials and make an attempt to set a new record.

Story Of Mighty Fraser River * Unfolded In CBC Historical Series

sand miles has unfolded a colorful saga of the men and women who conquered the wilderness and built a new empire that is our province of British Columbia today.

To re-create this pageant of history the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has this week announced plans to present a half hour dramatic series under the title "The Mighty Fraser", to be heard Thursdays at 8:00 p.m. Pacific Daylight time over the Trans-Canada network, beginning today,

In the role of narrator, west coast actor Murray Westgate, who has himself covered most of the Fraser river country during his stage career, heads a large dramatic cast. Production of the three-month series is under the direction of Peter McDonald.

Original presentation of "The Mighty Fraser" was arranged six years ago by CBC regional representative Kenneth Caple, formerly of Summerland. Mr. Cable, now chief executive of the corporation in the Pacific region, was at that time director of school broadcasts and planned the program as a vivid and attractive way of re-creating the romantic history of our province.

The task of research and script writing he assigned to three native B.C. writers, each of whom had family contacts with the early days of the west. They were Sheila Graves, daughter of a pioneer Victoria newspaperman; Ann Fulton of Vernon, a native of the country she describes in her scripts on the Okanagan Fur Brigade;

Arbitration Favors School Budget

KAMLOOPS—The 1948 budget of Kamloops School District No. 24 "cannot be reduced without seriously handicapping the board in its desire to provide an adequate education for the children of the city and district.'

That is the finding of the threeman board of arbitration which considered in detail the budget city council rejected last month as "excessive and beyond the city's ability to pay."

The board was composed of J. E. Fitzwater, ex-alderman and school trustee, chairman; George R. Williams, ex-mayor and trustee, and J. R. Pyper, ex-trustee. Their decision was unanimous.

the story of pioneer days in the and Sally Murphy Creighton, Canadian west. Along its thou- whose father Judge Murphy was an authority on Cariboo history. Actors in this original presentation of "The Mighty Fraser" have now gone on to win fame in distant cities-Bernie Braden in Toronto, Alan Young in Hollywood, Peggy Hassard and Arthur Hill in London, and Fletcher Markle, who was the narrator, now a producer with CBS in New York.

For adult listening, the scripts are being revised by producer Peter McDonald. An interesting device is that the narrator, played by Murray Westgate, impersonates the great river itself.

His opening speech sets the mood: "I am the Fraser River. You all know me. I am old, as old as our mountains, and yet I am young. Each spring when the snows melt I a mborn again. Until 150 years ago I never saw a white man, or even heard of one. And then came Alexander Mac-Kenzie in search of the Northwest Passage."

Starting with MacKenzie's canoe tfip to the Pacific "from Canada by land," the CBC series unfolds a panorama of names and places with romantic associations Simon Fraser, Sir James Douglas, Queensborough, Quesnel, Fort fish george, Yale and Lytton. There years. are stirring accounts of such events as the gold rush, the stringing of the Overland Telegraph to Siberia, and the courageous but unsuccessful attempt to drive cattle from the Chilcotin to the Klondike.

The story of this last episode is remembered in radio circles as the broadcast that stopped an auction. The script went on the air at a time when a cattle auction Biche, Mr. Carswell, Leonard Norwas being held at the famous ris, T. E. Crowell, C. D. Simms, Spring Ranch in the Chilcotin, and by common consent trading was actually halted for half an hour while the Cariboo people listened to a radio on the porch of the ranch house there. Hours of original research have gone into preparing the material to be heard on the broadcasts. Scriptwriters had full access to the archives in Victoria and to the library of the late Judge Howay, famous authority on early B.C. history. To get first-hand material, interviews were arranged with many pioneers in their seventies and eighties who had actually witnessed historic events of early

Founder of Sports Club Remembers Back To Old Days of 1893

VERNON — A rather unique "father and son" combination resulted in the Vernon and District Fish Game and Forest Protective Association with the election this year of Bob Carswell Jr., to the presidency of the organization.

His father, Bob Sr., is a life member, past president and one of the founders of this Vernon rod and gun group.

The situation is more unique when adding the fact that another son, Ron, is in his second year as secretary of the association. Two other sons, the late Archie Carswell and the late Laurie John Jacob Astor, Fort Langley, Carswell, were also members of the fish and game group for many

> It's a long haul into the past for Mr. Carswell Sr., to recall his first association and Vernon's first association with fish and game matters. In the late summer or early fall of 1893, says, Mr. Carswell, a meeting was called in the barber shop then owned by Ed Biche.

> Present at the meeting were Price Ellison, W. F. Cameron, Ed John McKelvie, Jack Martin, Dr. Osborne Morris and Alex Birnie. Mr. Cameron was first mayor of Vernon, which had been incorporated a year earlier.

Mr. Carswell came to Vernon late in the year of incorporation. "There were only about 88 votes in the whole place." This game meeting was "more of a get-together for hunting together and trying to play the game in connection with wildlife."

Municipal Men Wish Separation From Union Deal

PENTICTON-Thirty-three municipal employees, all "outside" workers, have petitioned council to be relieved of the provisions of the collective agreement between the municipality and the Penticton Municipal Employees Union, Local

In their petition, the 33 workers claim that the union is not, in effect, a union within the meaning of the Industrial Arbitration and Conciliation Act, in that a minority of civic workers are in control of the union, which in turn represents only a minority of the work-

None of the 33 who signed the petition is a union member, but all are covered by the joint agreement between the local and the municipality. There are, it is stated, some 43 "outside" workers.

Council decided to forward the petition to the provincial department of labor, "for consideration and action."

One result of the action may be the cancellation of the union's certification as bargaining agent for the employees. Under the act, best known as Bill 39, any union that embraces a membership of 50 percent or more of the employees affected may be certified as bargaining agents.

Brave Man! He Was SChool Boards Form Branch of Association

Uniformity of teachers' salary schedules was one of the subjects discussed at a meeting of representatives of the various school boards held at Armstrong last week, when the Okanagan branch of the B.C. School Trustees' Association was reorganized.

In proposing a uniform salary schedule for teachers throughout the area, it was suggested that approval of this plan would eliminate the practice of some school boards bidding for the services of teachers. Each board would also be familiar with the policy of all other boards in the matter of teachers' salaries.

The Okanagan branch of the BCSTA will include all boards from Revelstoke to the international border and Princeton. Its executive will include one representative from each member board.

T. R. Búlman, Vernon, was named as president, and F. Venables, Oliver is vice-president. Other officers are O. B. Carlson, Enderby, secretary-treasurer, and J. Hammond, District 19, Revelstoke, E. P. Wright, Salmon Arm, J. H. Dicks, Armstrong, George Day, Kelowna, W. W. Riddle, Penticton, Hal Tweddle, Ker-emeos, G. Gourley, Princeton, and one other to be elected by Summerland.

Dr. W. B. McKechnie, president of the B.C. School Trustees' Association and David Chapman, Kelowna, were named as honorary presidents. There was an attendance of 42 at the meeting, and ten boards were represented. One of the features of the meeting was a complimentary luncheon prepared and served by the home economics class of Armstrong elementary school. The trustees were welcomed to Armstrong by Mayor G. W. New R.S.M. Badge

Canadian Regimental Sergeant Majors soon will be sporting a new badge of rank—one that for the first time in the history of the Canadian Army will be distinctively Canadian in design. In describing the badge, Ottawa authorities said it is more colorful than, and differs greatly from the badge pow being worn which the badge now being worn which is of Imperial design. The badge is three inches high and two and a half inches wide. It will be worn by all Warrant Officers, Class I, replacing both the RSM's badge and Conductor's (RCOC) badge now in use.

Dr. D. V. Fisher and Mr. Earl Edge returned on Saturday from attendance at the training school for cold storage operators held in Wenatchee, Wash, They report a very successful convention.

DOLLARS WITH A FUTURE

Equality of opportunity for young Canadians—this was one of the objectives of the Family Allowance Plan.

Realizing the importance of an education in opening the doors of opportunity for their children, some parents are depositing all or part of their Family Allowance cheques in special sayings accounts at the Bank of Montreal.

"Parents are pleasantly surprised to find how quickly this savings fund amounts up when cheques are deposited regularly," said J. Muirhead, manager of the Bank of Montreal here. "If a baby's first Family Allowance cheque goes into a new bank account, and is saved regularly, the child will have over $1,000 to his credit at the age of sixteen.

'Such a cash reserve can be a remendous help in making dreams for an education come true," Mr. Muirhead added. "The money can be drawn out at any time, of course, to meet an emergency or some opportunity. But many parents prefer to consider it a special Education Fund We'll be glad to open an account for any interested parent."-Advt.

Today, as in the years past, top beverage favorite with most folks is Royal Export Beer. The reasons for its popularity are the same as they were in the old days: Royal Export is a highly palatable beer made of the best available hops and maited barley. Its consistently fine body merits its acceptance by folks who appreciate and demand the best.

RAISE WIDOW'S ALLOWANCE $10

Attorney-General G. S. Wismer, K.C., who also holds the portfolio of minister of labor, made known this week the effect that the recent revisions in the benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Board would have on widows and their children.

With the allowance raised from $40 to $50 per month for a widow and the allowance for dependents raised from $10 to $12.50 per month, the increased benefits would amount to $225,000 annually based on 1947 experience, Mr. Wismer stated.

Life Memberships Conferred on Two Able Marksmen

With the opening of the Summerland Rifle Club season last Sunday morning, officials of this popular sports organization announce the award of two life memberships to Harry Dunsdon of Summerland and F. G. Anderson, now of Pentic ton and a former resident of Summerland.

Although of advancing years, these two men take an active interest in the club activities and seldom miss a shoot on a Sunday morning here.

Phil Dunsdon is president of this club for 1948 with Ed Gould as vice-president and A. W. Moyls secretary-treasurer. An executive of G. M. Dunsdon, Les Gould and Len Shannon has been selected.

Opening day of shooting occurred on Sunday, April 25 when some eight members of the club turned out. A. R. Dunsdon led the way with an 85, but the shot-makers have a legitimate excuse for their scores as it was the first day and there was a heavy wind blowing, sometimes in gusts.

Other scores registered on Sunday were: Ed Gould 84; P. S. Dunsdon and Len Shannon 83; A. W. Moyls 71, F. G. Anderson 70, D. Taylor 58, R. Proudlock 44.

Premier Johnson Speaks in Ottawa

Protest against maintenance of the mountain differential by the two transcontinental railways was made in person to the federal government by Premier Byron Johnson, who attended a conference of provincial premiers in Ottawa last weekend.

The premier presented an official brief in which he pointed out how British Columbia industry was being penalized by the mountain differential and how the 21% general increase in freight rates had accentuated the grievance.

The premier asked that the mountain differential be suspended during the general freight rates investigation authorized by P.C. 1487 and until such time as British Columbia's application for its permanent removal has been heard by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Among Summerland men who attended the cold storage conference at Wenatchee last week were George Washington and Fred Dunsdon, of the Summerland Cooperative Growers' Assn., and Joe McLachlan of the B.C. Fruits Shippers Ltd.
