

Fruit Industry, Union Reach Agreement On Wage Settlement

Conclusion of the wages dispute between the Okanagan Fruit and Vegetable Workers Union (TLC) and the growers and packing houses industry labor negotiating committee was concluded last week-end, with the executive of the BCFGA and some members of the industry committee agreeing to the proposal of the B.C. Labor Relations Board of the provincial government that a nine percent overall increase on the basic 1947 wage scale be allowed.

This wage increase, which has come about after many weeks of negotiating, including a strike vote by the workers' union, is retroactive to May 1, 1948.

Although there are no unions operating in the Summerland industrial plants, it is believed that the employers will fall in line here and hand on the benefits obtained by the TLC union.

According to a press release from L. R. Stephens, in Kelowna, this week, the agreement reached will apply to all packinghouses in the fruit belt, with the exception of the Kootenays.

Flood Damage Loss Estimated Near $20,000

Mr. Lorne Perry, secretary of the Summerland Board of Trade, has released figures this week indicating that the amount of flood damage to property in the Summerland district caused by the flooding of Trout and Eneas creeks and the high level of Okanagan lake has amounted to $15,330.

In addition, the municipality is believed to be amassing figures which will show that the municipal council has expended nearly $3,000 in extra costs to fight flood waters.

Forty-eight returns were recorded by the board of trade as replies to questionnaires distributed along Summerland's seven miles of beach front.

In addition to the figures compiled, many gardens, lawns and crops were reported damaged, but no monetary value was placed on the loss.

Many residents reported to the trade board that final estimates of the high water damage are not possible until the lake level falls. Others report that they will lose their retaining walls once the water goes down.

Four Main Queries Questions were asked in four categories, as follows:

1. Actual money you spent to date in fighting flood? $1,768.05.
2. What do you estimate the amount of damage to your property (buildings and land)? $9,692.95.
3. What is your estimated personal loss; such as, clothing, furniture, and other household goods, extra cost of living, and other extraordinary expenses? $829.00.
4. Estimated cost of rehabilitation of personal property? $630.

In addition, residents were asked for an estimated amount of crop damage. The answer was $2,410.

Trout Creek was hit hardest of any district, but mainly from high water level than from the creek damage. On the first three questions, the loss claimed amounted to $1,750.

From lake damage, the total amounts to $3,175.78, being mainly made up of loss to buildings and land and loss of crop.

For both creek and lake damage, the loss is estimated at $9,925.78 by far the hardest hit area of the district.

Crescent Beach's total amounts to $3,165.38, with no loss reported for crops or rehabilitation of personal property.

Bachelor Becomes Benedict

The Staff of the Summerland Review is temporarily without an editor, while our Mr. J. R. Armstrong is away changing his degree from Bachelor of Long Standing to Benedict Nouveau. We, the staff, are sure all our readers and the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong join with us in congratulating the pair, and wishing them the very best the future can bring.

Expect Legion Club Premises Open in Week

Summerland branch Canadian Legion expects to open its veterans' club premises in the Legion hall within the next week, following word that an inspector of the Liquor Control Board has approved the renovated premises.

Word was expected to be received at any time that the Liquor Control Board had met and approved the opening of the veterans' premises here.

More than $1,000 has been expended by the Legion in remodeling the hall, providing recreational facilities and providing toilet accommodation. A dispensing bar for beer by the bottle has been set up.

An LCB inspector was in Summerland near the end of last week and is reported to have given his okay on the building as it appears now.

The LCB was to meet on Tuesday or Wednesday but at present time no confirmation of the board's approval could be obtained.

Once the approval has been given, the new club premises can be opened, Legion officials state. Mr. J. Howard has been appointed custodian of the premises, it is stated.

At the last monthly meeting of the Summerland branch, Legion members expressed the firm wish that the new club be operated on a proper club basis, and decided to keep the present chesterfields and comfortable chairs which have been accumulated over a period.

Basic Wages
Last week, it was announced that the industry committee had come within one cent of reaching an agreement with the workers' union and high hopes were expressed that the deal would be concluded and, no strike, as decided upon by a government-supervised-union vote, would result.

Details of the settlement show that the 9 percent increase on the 1947 wage schedule makes the new basic rate for men at 82 cents per hour and for women 66 cents per hour.

The 5 percent premium for night shifts will continue in operation, and there will be no change in the holiday schedule and holiday allowance from last year's agreement.

There is to be an adjustment of the piecework rates for packing cherries and for box making by machines.

One of the most important features of the agreement is an allowance for setting up of a formula under which warehouse wages will be tied to grower returns on fruit. This clause was part of the minority report produced by Mr. W. E. Adams, Kelowna, as a member of the conciliation board which brought down a majority report in favor of a 12 1/2 percent increase in wages.

An assurance has been given by the union officials that members will increase production in the industrial plants and will decrease the absenteeism in all certified houses.

The agreement includes the Rand award or compulsory check-off within certified houses. This does not apply to any Summerland house. In certified packing houses, no employee is required to join the union unless he or she sees fit, and the union cannot refuse membership to any employee on application.

A meeting of the two negotiating committees is scheduled for August 9 or 10 to agree on rates for several amended classifications in the schedule.

Huge Crowd Enjoys Pet Parade, Male Fashion Show, Bands And Games at Annual Street Carnival

Biggest crowd ever to attend the annual street carnival gathered on Granville street in West Summerland last Saturday evening to participate in and witness the pet parade, male fashion show, Canadian Legion pipers from Penticton, Summerland's own brass band and many other features arranged by the Summerland branch No. 22, Canadian Legion and Legion W.A. Mr. Alex Watt was general chairman of the committee.

Fashion Parade
It was a happy, holiday-mood crowd which crowded every inch of sidewalk space and flowed onto the street on Saturday night. The street was well lighted for the occasion and booths to attract young and old filled the block between Hastings and Pender streets.

Probably chief attraction was the male fashion show, planned and perpetrated by Teen Town. Teen Agers, led by Mayor Jack Dunham, and assisted in makeup application by the female members of the organization, donned all manner of garb to portray fashions of today and yesterday, and some of no date at all.

Only complaint heard about this show was that it did not last long enough, which was 'praise in itself.

"Abigail Smith" (Denny Hack) shrouded in an old-fashioned bathing suit and "Genevieve Jones" (Leighton Nesbitt) in a modern bathing suit, minced saucily along as the first appearance of male fashioners. Then came "Bridget Claghorn" (Murray Elliott) who portrayed his idea of the garb which should be worn by a private school girl.

"Glamor Turner" was a sweater girl and Bob Richards got quite a hand for his bold front. A matronly soul was depicted by "Mrs. Mathilda Chugg", who turned out to be Wally Day.

Ready to step out into the heat of sassiness was "Clementine Cook" (Chuck Brawner) being attired in a "formal".

Then came the New Look... "Miss Henrietta Chicken" (Mayor Jack Dunham) indicating that he had perused his fashion magazines with more than usual interest. Strains of the Wedding March should have been heard when Basil Thornthwaite depicted the 1948 bride. It is stated in some circles that despite this being Leap Year he did not have any takers.

"Cassandra Cornocob" was ready for bed so she donned a black nightgown and was not shy about displaying her comely figure. Johnny Huva is still hiding his blushes.

Seven Hundred Thousand Eggs Are To be Hatched Into Kamloops Trout Fry And Fingerlings at Hatchery

Down on Summerland's lakeshore, in the heart of the main industrial section of this district, visitors can now see hundreds of thousands of tiny, wriggling objects which, in time, will provide sport for a vast horde of fishermen from this province and many other sections of the North American continent.

These fish fry, all prospective Kamloops trout, are being nursed along in the brand new building erected by the provincial game commission. The plant in its entirety has been planned at a cost of about $25,000 it is understood, and commenced its operation in June.

Mr. A. B. Higgs, who was formerly located at Qualicum Beach, is in charge of the fish hatchery, with Noel Lingford, of Salmon Arm, assisting him. In the past two months, 700,000 Kamloops trout eyed eggs have been brought to Summerland for propagation. It is anticipated that some Eastern Brook and probably Kokanee will be fostered in the hatchery, although definite plans have not been announced.

Game Commissioner J. G. Cunningham has brought along this project, with the assistance of Granville Morgan, now retired as fisheries supervisor here, and members of the Summerland Fish and Game Assn.

Apart from being a major tourist attraction, it is expected that this new provincial fish hatchery will provide Kamloops trout fingerlings in sufficient quantity to stock all lakes in the southern interior of the province. There are five similar hatcheries in operation in the Kootenays, at the coast and on Vancouver Island.

Fine Building
This new building, which combines hatchery and living quarters for the staff, is an impressive building and is finished with stained-wood siding which enhances the appearance of the plant. Visitors from all parts of the country have already been attracted to the spot, as the hatchery is situated right on the highway.

On the main floor are located 17 troughs, each one containing thousands of prospective trout in various stages of growth. First stage is the eyed egg, then there is developed the alevin stage and then the next step is the fry stage.

It is at the fry stage when feeding commences and for their meal time, which comes along every three hours, the fry are fed ground beef liver. As they grow larger, some powdered milk is added to the beef liver, and later on pork liver is given for variety.

This liver is contained in a big cold storage vault capable of holding several tons of the food. The fry are a hungry lot.

When the plant is completed there will be at least thirty troughs to house the eggs and fry.

Of the original 700,000 eggs, some 75,000 fry have been liberated in small lakes in this vicinity, including Gheb, Eneas, Agur, Munro and Chute lakes.

Future Plans
Mr. Higgs hopes to keep 200,000 fingerlings for release next spring, but the plant is not complete enough to hold any more than this number at present. Some 40,000 fry are being marked for experimental purposes, to be released in lakes which were poisoned under arrangement by the game department in an endeavor to kill off predatory fish.

No fry will be released in Okanagan or Skaha lakes, as there is too high a percentage of loss with fry. Fingerlings have a better chance of survival, tests have shown.

Two of the troughs contain "green" eggs, which arrived at the hatchery the same day they were stripped from the trout. They are not as far advanced in their growth as other eggs which were brought here from the Beaver lake rearing ponds.

Rearing Ponds
On the lakeshore, is a partly-completed tank which has not been completed because of the high lake level. When the water level goes down, four rearing ponds will be completed in this tank, to hold the fingerlings until next spring.

Mr. Higgs states that his loss to date is only in the neighborhood of five to six percent, which is a low percentage.

"If you bring 75 percent of your eggs through to the fingerling stage, then you are doing well," he explains. From the present rate of advancement, Mr. Higgs feels confident that the percentage of loss will not run to 25 percent, as the growth is more rapid here than he has experienced at the coast.

The fry were in need of food nearly ten days ahead of the tentative schedule he had set. Main reason why the hatchery

G. Morgan Gives Review of Hatchery

A quarter of a century ago, the first steps were taken in the interior of B.C. to restock fishing lakes with trout by the federal government fisheries department.

Granville Morgan, who was fisheries assistant to George Gartrell, well-known Summerland pioneer, who was then Dominion Fisheries inspector, has provided The Review with a brief history of the development of the fish hatchery system in this section of the province.

There was a great loss of trout in the streams of the interior in the early 1920's, due to the advent of irrigation ditches, Mr. Morgan explains. The trout could not make use of the streams for spawning purposes, so the Dominion decided to establish eyeing or collection stations where conditions were suitable and trout could be penned up and the eggs taken to be hatched out.

Station in 1926
"In 1926, Penaske creek, a tributary to Penaske lake, was chosen for such work and has been in operation ever since, collecting in favorable years as many as three million eggs. These eggs are shipped to hatcheries in different parts of the province."

Percy Hills was the first operator of the Penaske creek eyeing station, under the supervision of Mr. Gartrell, who was prime mover of the hatchery being established, Mr. Morgan explains.

"In the following year, 1927, five millions eastern white fish eggs were hatched at Penaske and placed in Okanagan lake, but it was found that the lake was not suitable for white fish, so the experiment was not continued.

First Hatchery Here
"The same year, the Dominion government purchased the old power house, which had been used prior to the coming of the West Kootenay power supply, for generating light for Summerland. It was fitted as a hatchery to fill the needs of this district, and continued under the federal fisheries service until 1939, when the provincial game department took over the sport fishing."

"The game commission has carried on as the fish culture branch and has continued the work of the federal department."

It was at this time that Mr. Gartrell retired from the fisheries service but Mr. Morgan carried on under the provincial game commission, until his retirement with the opening of the new fish hatchery in Summerland.

New Plant Planned
In 1948, the game commission decided to build an up-to-date hatchery in the Okanagan and obtained the services of Dr. Clemens, UBC biologist, to find a suitable location.

Young Pheasants May Prove "Hot" For Fish And Game Club to Handle

Summerland Fish and Game club, in its enthusiasm to proceed with its plan to raise 1,000 pheasants for this district, with no thought of remuneration from their sale but simply to liberate the young birds next year in Summerland area has run into a few legal snags and some official red tape.

Believing that their scheme was a sound one, the club authorized Mr. Alf Johnston, one of the originators of the plan, to capture birds from deserted nests and raise them for breeding purposes. The club considered twenty hon pheasants would lay enough eggs to provide the thousand birds.

However, the game commission first replied with a stock letter advising that eggs could only be gathered under the supervision of the game warden, and that a game bird farming permit would be necessary.

Another letter was sent the game commission, again outlining the Summerland club scheme which would not involve the game authorities in any expense in purchasing the pheasants raised by the club.

A reply was received that "your letter is being considered."

But now, Game Warden Adam Monk has learned of the birds being held in captivity and has advised that he will have no recourse but to resort to court action unless the birds are liberated, or the game department has provided the necessary permit.

Last Friday, Game Warden Monk visited Mr. Johnston and was quite sympathetic but firm that his hands were tied by the legality.

Game Commissioner Cunningham was acquainted with some details of the scheme by W. Snow, local club president, and he agreed that it has merit.

Mr. Johnston told the Monday evening meeting of the local game club that it would be necessary to have more freedom of action than simply one permit for one farm, as it is planned to hand out the eggs to various farmers for hatching purposes.

It would not be feasible for permits to be issued to every farmer who has brooding hens and is willing to hatch pheasant eggs. A blanket permit would have to be obtained if the scheme is to be successful.

The sportsmen decided on Monday to mark time until the executive can contact the game warden and invite him here to discuss the entire situation. It is probable the meeting will be held on Saturday night.

Britain's Prime Handbeard—the man with the world's longest mustache—threw Montreal Airport into a state of confusion recently and threatened to upset the Canadian Air Immigration Scheme. The man with the nine-inch handbeard type mustache stepped off a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star and told customs men they could search his mustache for hidden goods. Informed a Federal Labor Department representative he came to this country for some good steaks and to give his "plentiful moustache" a chance to expand. The man was GEORGE HOFFMAN, 35-year-old resident of St. Albans, Hertfordshire, England. He came to Canada under the immigration scheme and expects to settle at Toronto "if my moustache doesn't get me deported." Hoffman, leading member of England's Handbeard Club, an organization formed two years ago to prove that moustached men are males of good character, had this advice to Canadians: "By furthering your ends you may further your ends." Here, pretty EILEEN DILLON, of London, England, feels "the texture of George Hoffman's nine-inch moustache. Both arrived as immigrants. Hoffman says it grew over a week-end, and then added: "It was a long week-end."

Poor Response on Bylaw

TO THOSE members of the school board who have worked earnestly for years to further the cause of education in this district, with the aim of providing adequate accommodation for the elementary school pupils, last week's polling on the $52,500 money bylaw was extremely disappointing.

In this district, nearly a thousand votes could have been cast on this bylaw. In actual fact, less than 200 persons bothered to go to the polling booths to indicate that they favored the scheme of providing proper accommodation for the children of this district.

It is this apathy on the part of the general public which leads to mismanagement and lack of proper care in the handling of public funds.

Elected representatives of the people, when they witness the disinterest of those who have placed them in positions of responsibility, are apt to shrug their shoulders and say: "What's the use?"

However, it is fortunate for us in Summerland that there are still enough public-spirited persons who will accept posts of importance at little or no financial remuneration to themselves and help to further the needs of the community, despite the lack of encouragement manifested at times such as last week.

However, the bylaw passed with a majority which indicated without fear of correction that those who bothered to vote were distinctly in favor of the school board renovation plan.

School trustees can only surmise that the same majority of those who did not vote were also in favor of the project.

Canada's Great Leader

COMING TO a close this week, with the selection of a new chieftan, is the reign of a man who has broken all Empire records for length of service. We refer to William Lyon Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada.

Regardless of political creed, Canadians can look up to a man who has broken all records in British countries for length of office, even exceeding that of Sir Robert Wampole.

Bruce Hutchison, well-known Canadian writer, in a special article to the Christian Science Monitor, says "it is safe to say that, apart from unequalled endurance, it has been one of the notable careers of our time, with a scope far beyond the boundaries of Canada."

Mr. Hutchison terms Mr. King's struggle for final Canadian independence, as written into law by the Statute of Westminster, as his chief contribution to the nation's life.

"In the achievement of Canadian independence, in the conciliation of Canadian races, in the integration of the Canadian economy with the American, in the management of Canada's greatest war, and in the reform of Canadian Society, Mr. King's work leaves on the nation a deeper imprint than is now realized," Mr. Hutchison relates.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King will go down in history for his achievements. He has been the foremost politician of his era. Some of his opponents have declared that he has been more politician than statesman, but when the unbiased story of his achievements is written, it is doubtful if history will agree with that belief.

He has never been a popular figure, but his great patience has stemmed the tide of political unpopularity. He learned the trust of the French-speaking people of this nation and the English-speaking class recognized his ability to appease French Canada and in the interests of national unity gave him the necessary support to keep him and his Liberal party in power.

Not all of Prime Minister King's promises have been fulfilled. He has reached his objective in most of the important issues which he announced when he took office in 1921. He is leaving to his successors the task of continuing the Liberal policy.

This week in Ottawa will see Mr. King's successor chosen. The Liberal party will decide if it wishes to continue Mr. King's program or whether new planks will be inserted. Then it will be for the people of Canada to say if they believe his successor has the strength to carry on the party platform or that they desire another political party to reign at Ottawa.

Whatever the outcome, Mr. King will undoubtedly not retire entirely from the scene. He will be behind the scenes, aiding and guiding the party, which he held in the palm of his hand since 1919, as long as his health will permit.

A great Canadian is stepping down from the highest office in the land, but it is doubtful if he will disappear entirely.

Swim Classes Wiped Out

IT WAS unfortunate that the annual board of trade swim classes had to be eliminated this year. They are always looked upon as an essential that the youngsters of today may be taught the rudiments of handling themselves expertly in the water. Such knowledge will save many lives in the future.

However, while there is high water at Powell Beach, there is no shallow spot for the youngsters. Handling two hundred or more young boys and girls from the tiny tot stage up, is a great task. It is not too hard if the water slopes gradually out. But with only a few inches of shallow water, the task becomes too great.

In the interests of safety, the trade board concluded that it could not risk having swim classes at Powell Beach while the high water level continues. And it would appear that there will be nothing but high water for the rest of the summer.

Next year, provided the government is able to maintain proper control levels, the swim classes will continue as usual.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

A very pleasant Rotary affair was held at the experimental station last Wednesday evening. The Summerland Rotary club had invited the Kelowna Rotarians to bring their Rotary Annes to a picnic supper. All told, about 100 people were present.

The supper was provided by the Summerland Rotary Annes—and a very excellent supper it was—ham, scalloped potatoes, tomato and cucumber salad, cherries, ice cream, home-made cake with icing and coffee.

Twelve tables, each accommodating six people were arranged to form the circumference of a Rotary wheel. Four more tables were used to form the spokes of the wheel representing club service, community service, vocational service and international service—the big four objectives of Rotary.

To make sure that Kelowna visitors and Summerland hosts were seated at each table, the visitors were requested to seat themselves on the outside rim of the wheel, whereas Summerlanders occupied seats inside the rim of the wheel.

At the conclusion of the supper, trophies were presented to the winners of the Summerland Rotary bowling contest. Those trophies were donated by Helen Munn and Chuck Bleasdale and were won by Ray Robson and Lloyd Day.

The high point of the evening was reached when Will Nuttall, dressed in full Highland regalia, marched around the Rotary wheel playing the bagpipes with customary gusto.

Nat May was on hand to show the visitors over the gardens. He directed their attention especially to the begonias in front of the superintendent's house.

Everyone seemed very happy about the whole affair and most grateful to the Summerland Rotary Annes, who made such a marvelous job of preparing and serving the supper.

IN ENGLAND TODAY

(By J. C. Barkwill)

I have been asked to write a few further impressions of our recent trip to England but I have already learned that one has to be very cautious of what one says in cold print. To those who find room for criticism may I say that I have the greatest possible regard for England and the English and this goes for all my friends both on the other side of the water and here, including the young war bride in Summerland who thinks the English railway system is a model of efficiency and above criticism (Lord help us).

Our journey both ways was made on the Queen Elizabeth, the largest liner in the world (83,673 tons).

Canada's Weekly Editors

(Ottawa Evening Citizen)

Editors of Canada's weekly newspapers, numbering some 820 from the Digby Courier in Nova Scotia to the Ladysmith Chronicle on Vancouver Island have been taking a look at themselves in a newly-released National Film Board short, "The Home Town Paper." The weekly selected to represent the group is the Vernon (B.C.) News, and if all the 820 editors hold the place in the community credited in the film to Vernon's young editor, Mr. Frank Harris, they may indeed feel duly reassured and flattered.

Those who cling to the romantic concept of a weekly editor as a rough-and-tough character in a frontier community (a type that survives strictly in Western movies) will be disappointed. The small-town editor today plays a role far more important than merely deciding who is to be lynched. He is a citizen of his community and his nation, well acquainted with civic affairs, who knows practically everybody in town by his first name and family tree.

His responsibility, in fact, is recording in type the heart beats of his community. Vernon's editor, Mr. Harris, the film suggests, binds the entire community and the surrounding district together with a thin but strong web of information, opinion and report. He makes his paper as much a part of the town as the Chinese fruit vendor, the community band, the old men playing checkers in the park, the lacrosse game, the apple picker, the business man on a fishing trip. He is a close friend not only of the mayor, but of the boys in the barber shop who tear his editorials to pieces every week.

But if the weekly editor keeps his finger on the town's pulse, he is no longer a gossip dispenser. He records, comments, scolds and amuses on matters such as citizenship for new Canadians, town planning, the Indian population, the schools. His editorials are aimed directly at his readers individually and collectively.

The modern Canadian weekly newspaper editor has come a long way from the characters dreamed up many years ago. With him, he has brought his paper, which speaks each week to more than 5,000,000 Canadians and is their voice.

This huge vessel has fourteen decks, is over 1,000 feet long and carries 3,500 persons, including a crew of 1300. She sails under the British flag, has an all-British crew, very much so in fact, as one irate deck steward with three rows of war ribbons almost threw me overboard because he thought I was a little too critical of the ultimate recovery of Britain. Average speed is 30 miles per hour.

Mute evidence of war service: when she carried 18,000 troops on each trip, was the multitude of names carved on every conceivable place on the woodwork.

Arriving at Southampton one was immediately confronted with the ravages of war. Wrecks are still strewn about the harbor and large spaces of the docks and around the city are level with the ground. The old Bar-gate, a well-known landmark in the centre of the city, somehow escaped damage although all around it was devastated.

Bristol and Portsmouth both told the same tale and only those who have seen it can realize the destructiveness of modern war. Poor old Pompey. Certainly I would never have recognized it as the place where I spent so many happy days as a youngster.

One listened to blood-curdling experiences which it would be impossible to put into print, and wondered at the fortitude of these people.

One remarkable thing—for some reason or other the Germans refrained from bombing Oxford and consequently that city became a haven of refuge for many.

Our arrival in the West of England coincided with that of their annual summer visitor, the Cuckoo, and it was a thrill to hear again those quaint notes and those of the thrush, the meadow lark, the linnet and, rarest of all, the nightingale. The countryside looked as lovely as ever and the clean well-kept towns were putting forth their annual appeal to visitors.

Cheltenham, which boasts one acre in every ten laid out in parks and floral gardens, 30,000 trees and the world-famous Promenade, described by the "Times" as the loveliest thoroughfare in England; Tewkesbury, with its famous old Abbey; Stratford, with its memories of Shakespeare and the lovely Avon; Evesham, with its parks and river and well-kept orchards; Broadway (Henry Ford's hideout in England) Malvern, Gloucester, the list is endless.

And can one ever forget the blue hills in Guiting Woods?

A short visit was made to Haslemere and Hindhead but here the whole countryside is badly scarred by war training acres and seems likely to be for some years, while it has grown almost out of recognition.

As to the people, there is no visible evidence of poverty; in fact, there seems plenty of money everywhere in the country. Everyone seemed neatly dressed. I only saw one hobo but he was a beauteous—three waistcoats, long overcoat, gunny sack and a stout stick. He was on his way to Devonshire and to my friend and I, he went on at considerable length about the sadistic tendencies of modern civilization and especially he seemed to have it in for the film industry.

One thing that strikes a visitor very forcibly is the well-kept ap-

Every Fall the men in our lives take one quick look at our new headgear, shudder, and sigh hopefully to themselves that "at least hats can't get any worse." And every FALL . . . somehow . . . they do. You should just see what they have in store for us this September. A double-boiler worn upside down on your head would be unfunny in comparison. Just wait!

Some rainy day (and they're not hard to find, goodness knows) go a-scrouring in your grandpa's trunk in the attic and see the things you'll find you can make use of now. Even that long-riddled feather boa is back—with a bang! And those endless strands of pearls (?) are quite the thing if you wind them around your lily white throat three, four, even five times.

* * *
Take an hour off to whip up a removable peplum to fasten around your waist over that old black dress which is still too good to throw overboard. Try a red one, or green, or white! Maybe of eyelet work, with a three-inch frill stitched to the skirt to cover up enough calf to put you in swing.

* * *
Brush your hair, brush your hair, brush your hair. Then sit smugly back and wait for the glow—and the compliments. You have to keep at it though—a hundred a day. Small enough trouble, at that, for such gleaming rewards.

* * *
If it's a case of shall I wax a floor or shall I sit in the sun, sit in the sun. The floor will wait until a rainy day for its rub-a-dub, but the sun will disappear like money, as well you know.

* * *
With green apples falling off every tree, it's apple pie time, and time for apple sauce. And don't forget what raisins do to apple sauce, either. Same thing that a squeeze does to a kiss, a meringue to lemon pie, or a smile to a street-car con. at the rush hour.

* * *
If you have decided for once and for all that your man is a cigarette ash dropper, then let him be a c.a.d. in peace and comfort. Naggling won't do any good if he's the kind who lets them fall without thinking. But it could do a lot of harm. Easier to mop up after him than to sit around for hours and wonder where on earth he is dropping his ashes now.

* * *
It's the same about that puddle that's always under the bathroom wash-basin when some men have finished shaving. Poor dears—a seat should be put in the bath for them so they could gosh to their heart's content, and the content of your scrubbing-up arm.

* * *
When you have your bath today, take a jar of cold cream with you, and slather it on your face while you soak the frame. Massage it in well where there are (or might some day be) wrinkles, then wipe it off, and start in again. DON'T forget your neck, either; you can't see it, but everyone else can.

* * *
Aren't straws and cream the most marvelous dessert you ever heard of, or even read about? That is—until the rasps come to the fore. Or the peaches. Oh, we fickle gastronomes.

* * *
I hope you waken at sunrise time some of these gorgeous mid-summer days. The birdies jabber to (and at) each other, the sun sticks its toe in the door of the day, and you can clip between the sheets again for another hour or so.

pearance of the children. Once upon a time it was a frequent sight to see ragged urchins with no shoes or stockings but there is nothing of this now and it seems to be the common thing to outfit every boy beyond the third grade with grey flannel shorts, a school cap, and an Oxford accent.

It will be a pity if the Old Country dialects disappear, but you never hear them now except with the old people, I think, however, they will have difficulty in eliminating the Yorkshire brogue.

New schools are springing up everywhere and they have a very complete transportation system, almost as expensive as our B.C. one.

These are a few thoughts which occur to us about our trip. There are many more but space will not permit one to go on indefinitely. The people were very nice, indeed, to us and had the greatest regard for Canada.

We did not see very much of London, except for a few days. If one wants an enjoyable holiday, and not a particularly expensive one either, you could not do better than visit the English countryside.

Young Tories May Call for Fulton

KAMLOOPS — E. Davie Fulton, 32-year-old member of parliament for Kamloops, will be nominee of the National Young Progressive-Conservatives for party leadership at the September national convention, according to an Ottawa report. Aggressive elements among young Progressive-Conservative delegates are boosting for "accent on youth" in selecting a successor to John Bracken, retiring leader. In Major Fulton they have a sitting member, a native son of British Columbia who is a Rhodes Scholar, and a World War II veteran with an overseas service record. All ridings in the dominion will send Young Progressive-Conservative delegates to the big convention and young P.C. leaders plan to make a strong bid to elect a party leader who will recognize the place of youth in national affairs.

Nurses' Salaries Raised at Kamloops

KAMLOOPS—Salaries of general duty nurses employed by Royal Inland Hospital have been raised to $150 per month, the Registered Nurses Association of B.C.'s proposed scale. The action was taken by the hospital directorate last Wednesday night. Concurrently, the price charged to nurses for meals provided by the hospital has been upped to 25 cents. General duty nurses previously had been paid $140 per month, and had been charged 20 cents for each meal provided by the hospital.

CHARGED AFTER HIGHWAY CRASH

Arising out of an accident on the Summerland-Peachland highway near the government gravel pit, Charles F. Malmberg, of Mossleigh, Alta., pleaded guilty before C. C. Inglis, JP at Peachland on Friday, July 23, to a charge of failing to allow half the highway. His car crashed into a truck driven by William K. McMullen, of Vancouver, both vehicles being damaged to an amount involving about $500. Malmberg was fined $5 and $5.75 costs.

Prepare Vernon For Frontier Days

VERNON — The real Vernon Days' spirit of the Old West began to pervade the city last weekend as stores started transformation to the slabbed fronts of pioneer days. Already bearded men have achieved authentic imitation of the frontiersmen they emulate. As all citizens, male and female, adopt costume in keeping with the gay nineties, this city will be fully prepared for the "big blow-out" on August 11 and 12.

ADJUST PARKING AREA
Greyhound parking area on Granville street has been adjusted to allow for some parking in front of the A. K. Elliott store, Roads Engineer D. M. Wright reported to the council last week. Reeve Johnston stated that he could not meet the retail merchants and discuss Greyhound parking until September, as the association is in summer recess.

ERNEST JOHNSTONE, retired bus driver sits at the steering wheel of one of eight scale-model motor coaches he has built in Brighton, England. He is setting out on a 250-mile trip in this vehicle, which is two feet high and eight feet long. Each of the coaches can carry a driver and one passenger, and can do 100 miles on a gallon of gas. The little motor coaches are driven by a two stroke motorcycle engine and can reach a top speed of 25 miles an hour.

Drinking Fountain Will be Erected

At an expense of $25 to $50 the Summerland Fish and Game club plans to erect a small drinking fountain directly in front of the Summerland Fish Hatchery, at a point designated by the caretaker, Mr. A. E. Higgs. Such was the decision of the local sportsmen's club Monday night at the IOOF hall when Mr. Bob Barkwill reported that Mr. Frank Bennisson has estimated that the cost would be in that neighborhood. The club will arrange for Mr. Bennisson to undertake the construction, the club supply rocks of proper size and dimension. A plaque will be arranged for at a later date, members decided.

BEN HOY NAMED SENIOR OFFICIAL

With the retirement of Maurice S. Middleton from the division of horticulture in the provincial department of agriculture, the latter department has announced that Mr. Ben Hoy, of Kelowna, well known to orchardists has been appointed the senior agriculturist in the Okanagan. Mr. Hoy will retain his office in Kelowna and will not move to Vernon, where Mr. Middleton held sway over district agriculturists for many years.

Frank Settle was fined $2 and $2.50 costs in police court here before Magistrate H. Sharman on Friday under a municipal bylaw for failure to procure a dog licence for 1948.

APPOINTED TO YALE UNIVERSITY

Michael J. Ozeroff, 27, 4477 West Sixteenth avenue, Vancouver, has received an assistantship in Yale University's department of nuclear physics, UBC officials announced last week. Mr. Ozeroff, formerly of Rossland, distinguished himself in the fields of mathematics and physics while at UBC, graduating with first-class honors in 1946 and returning to complete his M.A. degree this year. His wife, Joyce, will accompany him to New Haven next month, where he will commence his work in atomic research.

Dr. Howell Harris Heads Agrolologists

The agrolologists, a professional body of agricultural scientists and qualified agriculturalists have elected Dr. G. Howell Harris as president of the B.C. Institute of Agrolology. Dr. Harris is a professor of horticulture at the University of British Columbia and is well-known for his studies on hydroponics, plant nutrition and research on B.C. fruits and vegetables. He has been active in various organizations for a number of years.

Every month the Eagles lodge at Langley Prairie selects some citizen who merits the mark of "Good Citizen". In May, the recipient of this honor was Rev. T. E. Harris, son of Mr. J. W. Harris, of Summerland. Rev. Mr. Harris recently concluded a short holiday here.

A Grave Mystery

A Kitchener, Ont., Minister received a considerable start when he came face to face with the headstone in the above picture. He was just walking away from a burial service when the Communist's headstone confronted him. The stone is situated in Mount Hope Cemetery, Waterloo, Ont. Puzzle—Who placed the stone there and when? Local monument companies deny having cut this inscription? Cemetery officials are in a quandary as to what to say or do.

Sigmund Wolfe Dies Suddenly

Requiem Mass was celebrated by Father A. Muelenbergh on Monday, August 2 in Holy Child Catholic church for the late Sigmund Wolfe, who passed away suddenly on Friday, July 30, after fourteen years' residence here.

Mr. Wolfe was born in that part of modern Yugoslavia formerly known as Outer Hungary, in 1887. He leaves to mourn his passing his wife, one son Louis, and two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Tavender, and Mrs. George Taylor, all of Summerland. There are also two grandchildren.

Fullbearers were Messrs. Ludwig Wurst, F. Jacobs, John Khambach, Carl Draude, J. G. Littau and F. Wigganhauser. Interment was in Peach Orchard cemetery.

The funeral services were well attended on Monday morning, as he had made many friends and acquaintances during his residence in this district.

through the Okanagan," continues Mr. Morgan, "in search of a favorable location. He finally decided that Summerland, at the site of the old hatchery, provided the water most suitable, as it remains at a regular temperature the year round, and is also free from contamination, which is essential for fish culture.

"It was that fall, after the season's operations, that the old cement building was demolished and excavations made in readiness for the new hatchery. But, owing to unforeseen circumstances, the proposed new hatchery was not commenced and a temporary structure had to be erected to take care of the 1947 hatching.

"After the 1947 distributions were made and all fish planted, Commissioner J. G. Cunningham instructed work would be commenced in the new hatchery. Owing to labor difficulties and the cost of material, no arrangements could be made, so day labor, was decided upon, with Mr. Bill Nelson as supervisor.

"So, with the untiring efforts of Commissioner Cunningham, and aided by the excellent work of Mr. Nelson, you see today a building which is not only a credit, but an asset to Summerland and the Okanagan Valley," Mr. Morgan concludes.

Car Plunges Over Hillside After Collision

On Tuesday morning, in Summerland police court, Magistrate H. Sharman remanded for one week Joe Bagan, of Peachland, charged with dangerous driving as the result of a sensational car accident Saturday night on the Summerland-Peachland highway, six miles north of West Summerland. No plea was taken before the remand.

Bagan, with three passengers in his car, is reported by B.C. Police Constable T. Thorsteinson as having sideswiped a truck, driven by Steve Schwab, of Oyama, at a corner near the government gravel pile on the north road about ten o'clock Saturday night.

The Bagan auto was proceeding south and the truck was being driven north. After the collision, the Peachland car careened further down the road, slid over the bank and dropped down about 100 feet, stopping on a narrow out-cropping. The car did not turn over.

If the sudden descent had not been checked, the vehicle would have plunged down the rest of the steep hillside into Okanagan lake.

The driver and one passenger, Clara Wilson, also of Peachland, received head and face injuries which were treated in Summerland following the accident. The other two passengers, both from Peachland, Ruth Wilson and Harry Zwicker, escaped any injuries.

Schwab's truck from Oyama did not carry a "pink slip" covering it for public liability insurance and the truck has consequently been impounded.

On Tuesday, Bagan was represented by Robert S. Oxley, Summerland, member of the legal firm of O'Brien & Oxley.

Pet Parade
Although the quality of entries in the annual pet parade left little to be desired, the number was disappointing. It was a tossup in the boys 5 to 9 class between a Harold Down's elaborate animal hospital and Lloyd Gould's "Death Valley", a Shetland pony complete with pack neatly tied with the true diamond hitch. The judges, Rev. F. V. Harrison, Rev. F. W. Haskins, Mrs. R. A. Johnston and Mrs. Vanderburgh, gave first prize to Harold Down, second to Lloyd Gould and third to Teddie Burden, with an honorable mention to Wayne McCargar.

Girls 5 to 9 class went to Bonnie Wilson, Ruth Gronlund and Penny Mallet, in that order. Three winners in the girls 10 to 15 group were Patsy Dunham, Maren Faasse and Louise Shannon.

Bands Please
The Canadian Legion pipe band from Penticton marched through the business section at the start of the carnival and also marched ahead of the pet parade.

Later, the Summerland brass band, which is receiving well earned plaudits on its every appearance, obtained an appreciative hand from the crowd.

There was Bingo, a doll shy, games of various descriptions and many guessing contests.

In the draw for a pair of blankets, C. A. Gayton was the winner with ticket No. 466.

Mrs. A. Stark guessed 2,548 beans in the jar and was awarded a bag of groceries. Three persons guessed that there were 250 candies in a jar. They were right so John Cuthbert, Patsy Dunham and Carroll Anderson divided the candies. In the cake guessing contest, the cake weighed 5 pounds 6 ounces and was divided between M. Kubokawa and Mrs. H. Thornthwaite.

No Relief From High Lake Level Expected Until Mid-September

KELOWNA—No relief from the high lake level until around the end of September can be expected. This is indicated in a statement issued last week by Charles F. Faulkner, engineer in charge of Okanagan Lake Control.

The statement points out the lake's peak was reached June 25 when the water rose to 104.9 feet, but with favorable weather, the engineer hopes the "agreed maximum"—which is considered the danger point—will not be reached until "about the middle of September."

Following is the text of Mr. Faulkner's statement:

"On June 25, 1948, Okanagan Lake reached a maximum level of approximately elevation 104.9 on the old assumed local datum of the Public Works of Canada or elevation 1125.6 on the datum of the Geodetic Survey of Canada. This level was 24 feet above the maximum desired elevation of the control range which is elevation 102.5 on the P.W.C. datum or 1123.2 on G.S. of C. datum.

"The lake level remained almost constant until the end of June since when it has fallen very slowly and on July 13 the level was approximately 104.6.

"A flow of approximately 1350 cubic feet per second is being passed through the control dam at Penticton and this is causing very extensive flooding of properties adjoining the river throughout the whole valley down to Osoyoos Lake. This flow will be maintained until Okanagan Lake has been reduced to the desired maximum level of elevation 102.5 or lower.

"At present the inflow into Okanagan Lake is still in excess of the loss due to evaporation, but it is hoped that with further reduction in the flow of the incoming creeks and the advent of hot dry weather the lake level will soon begin to fall more quickly.

"However it must be expected that the lake will not fall to its desired high water level of elevation 102.5 until about the middle of September.

"It must be realized that when the lake has fallen to elevation 102.5, there will still remain three feet depth over the lake area which must be discharged, in addition to whatever inflow is produced by fall and winter rains, in order to bring the lake down to a low level of elevation 99.5 before the start of next year's freshet.

"For this reason it will be necessary to continue flood discharge levels on the river until December or later.

"Every endeavor will be made, by continuing high river discharge during the fall, to lower the lake level to such extent that it might be possible to reduce the river flow during the coldest months so as to avoid freezing of flooded grazing lands."

Here is the latest picture of GEN. A. G. L. MacNAUGHTON, Canadian Delegate to the United Nations Assembly at Lake Success.

Visit From London Ends In Marriage

A visit to Summerland to renew acquaintances made during the war in London, England, gained a new Canadian citizen on Friday, July 30, when Miss Lorna Chandra became the bride of Mr. David Holmes, of Penticton.

Miss Chandra became friends with Mr. and Mrs. John Surtees during the war years, and six months ago came out from London to spend a few months' holiday with them here. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Chandra of the English capital, she met and married Mr. Holmes, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes of Winnipeg.

The quiet ceremony was sanctioned in St. Stephen's Anglican church here, with Canon F. V. Harrison officiating. Mr. Surtees gave the bride in marriage, and Mrs. Surtees was her only attendant. Mr. Walter Schimpf supported the groom. Both bride and matron wore informal afternoon costumes. Mrs. Holmes a blue and white print with which she wore navy accessories and a corsage of red carnations. She carried a navy blue prayer book. Mrs. Surtees was gowned in grey, offset with white accessories, and wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception for about 20 friends of the young couple was held following the ceremony, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Surtees.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes will remain in Summerland for a few weeks before going on to the coast to make their home.

Vacation Bible School Being Held

Starting Monday, August 2, and lasting all this week, is the daily vacation bible school at the Baptist church, with Rev. F. W. Haskins in charge. The school is held in the mornings only, for juniors and pre-school children, with Mrs. Howard Milne leading the older children, and Mrs. H. R. McLarty in charge of the little tots. Mr. John Birch will give several chalk talks during the sessions.

Capt. Temple Named On Dragoons Committee

Thirty-five members of the B.C. Dragoons Assn. from this district went to Kelowna on Wednesday, July 21, to participate in the annual re-union and smoker of all the units which make up this association.

Col. E. Poole of Kelowna was re-elected president of the Dragoons while from the South Okanagan a committee of Capt. A. M. Temple, Summerland, and Major W. Bryant and Scotty Gordon, Penticton, was chosen.

Motion pictures of the regiment in action in Italy during World War II proved a highlight of the evening.

Butter Supply Will be Short Before Year End

KELOWNA — The Okanagan Valley faces an acute butter shortage between now and the end of the year. This warning was issued today by representatives of two Okanagan Valley creameries who stated that merchants in the Oliver, Osoyoos, Princeton areas have already been notified that they cannot expect any more butter shipments during the next six months.

Officials of the dairy industry estimate the valley will be short of about 700,000 pounds of butter between now and the end of the year. It is conservatively estimated that butter stocks throughout the entire province will be down about 50 per cent compared with normal years, while the Okanagan Valley communities will suffer to a greater extent.

This situation has been brought about by the recent freight rate increase, dairy officials pointed out. In the past, Saskatchewan has been B.C.'s main source of supply, but dairy producers have been granted a premium of one cent a pound on butter shipped east, which means about $300 a car more to producers.

A subsidy of one cent a pound is being paid for butter shipped east because Toronto and Montreal was short of butter last winter.

Valley creameries are now asking that the inequality be removed, either by being allowed to pay an extra one cent per pound or the premium removed.

Shortage of butter in this area has been brought about by several factors, dairy officials declared. Production of milk has decreased to a certain extent; population throughout B.C. has increased, while since the rationing of sugar was lifted, production of ice cream and other products made from milk has increased. Dairy heads and retail merchants discount the fact that greater individual consumption is the reason for the acute shortage. They point out that butter is now selling at most stores for 73 cents a pound, and that the average family cannot afford to pay this price. Before the war, butter was selling three pounds for about the same price.

CANADIAN BACKWOODS SCENE

Following the announcement by the National Gallery of Canada that the Bank of Montreal has arranged to purchase quantities of the gallery's silk screen prints, the bank's West Summerland office has now received a selection of the pictures. Full color reproductions of interesting subjects strike a new note in bank decoration, and will make the office more pleasant for both customers and staff.

Of the five prints now hanging in the B of M's West Summerland office, possibly the most striking are Tom Thomson's "Joe Creek" and his famous "Northern River". Painted by the sensitive artist-backwoodsman who did much to foster a distinctly Canadian style of painting, these pictures give realistic glimpses of the Canadian wild. Other prints are "Indian Children" and "Evening, Nipigon River", both striking compositions by Y. McK. Housser, RCA. The fifth picture goes to Canada's eastern seaboard for its subject. It is Leonard Brooks' "North and Barrington Streets, Halifax" depicted on a blustery winter's day with a wartime view of the harbor in the background.

In the silk screen process, by which these pictures were made, a series of silk stencils is used. Through these, color patterns in oil paint are impressed directly upon paper. The resulting print has a freshness and brightness difficult to obtain by other methods, and ideal for business offices. Though many duplications may be made by this process, the prints are not reproductions in the ordinary sense.

In designing this series of pictures, the artists worked directly for the silk screen process, and most of the prints sponsored by the National Gallery are original works for this medium. In the rare cases where the pictures have been adapted from other originals, the unique possibilities of silk screen reproduction have been fully exploited. The resulting changes in treatment give the prints an individual character.

H. O. McCurry, director of Canada's National Gallery, says the bank's plan to supply these pictures to its branches from coast to coast "will have far-reaching effect on some phases of the work the Gallery is trying to do". James Muirhead, manager of the Bof M's local branch, is pleased that his office is one of the first to take advantage of this scheme. He hopes that West Summerland residents will soon drop in and see the new prints.

Kelowna Council "Rebellion" Against School Costs Heard

KELOWNA — Echoes of the city's "rebellion" against school costs were heard again last week.

Views of Hon. W. T. Straith, minister of education, were aired in council after a copy of the minister's letter to the Kelowna School Board was read. Mr. Straith informed the trustees that he believed the city was "legally bound to pay whatever is required" and that the matter "becomes a legal issue between the council and the school board."

"In view of the very considerable relief which the city will receive from the sales tax source, I think that they should meet their obligations resulting from their acceptance of the estimates as passed," Mr. Straith wrote.

City Council, in its resolution last February, pointed out it had no quarrel with the estimates, but was opposed to the increased share the city had to pay, a direct result of certain tax relief given the rural areas last year. The city then agreed to levy for approximately $84,000, on the same ratio as in 1947, but refused to pay the $192,000 as required in the 1948 estimates under the revised distribution.

W. T. Fleet District Fruit Inspector Dies at Grand Forks

PENTICTON—An outstanding career as district fruit inspector came to a sudden end on Thursday, July 22, when William Tims Fleet of Penticton passed away in Grand Forks while en route to Nelson on a trip connected with his work.

Mr. Fleet, for many years supervising inspector of the Dominion government's southern B.C. fruit branch, was travelling with Cannery Inspector Harold A. Miller, when he suffered what proved to be the first of a series of attacks which led to his death.

Well-known throughout the Okanagan and Kootenay Valleys, he came to B.C. from England in 1909. He resided in Penticton and Peachland until 1914, when he enlisted in the 30th B.C. Horse, later the 2nd C.M.R.'s. His service in France began in 1915. In 1918 he returned to this district and purchased an orchard at Poplar Grove. At this time he also became an official of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment scheme in which position he served for a short time.

Mr. Fleet was among the first to serve with the Fruit Inspection Branch when it was created in 1924, remaining with it continuously until his death.

He was also connected for many years with the local B.C. Dragoons, finally retiring with the rank of major.

Mr. Fleet is survived by his wife and two sons, Tom W. and John G. all of Penticton.

Last rites were held on Monday, July 26, in St. Saviour's Anglican church, with the Rev. Kenneth A. Pickett officiating. Interment took place in Lakeview cemetery.

FROZEN FRUITS DESSERTS OFFER TABLE VARIATION

(Experimental Farms News)

Frozen fruit desserts offer a new and interesting variation for the dinner table. They have the light, fluffy texture of ice cream and contain the full fresh flavor of Canadian fruits. If taste panel reactions in the laboratory are an indication of public opinion, frozen fruit desserts should increase rapidly in popularity.

The ingredients are simply pureed frozen fruits, sugar, gelatine and sometimes a small amount of water. The processing procedure is much the same as ice cream. The ingredients are thoroughly mixed before placing in the usual paddle ice cream freezer. When soft frozen, the mixture is placed in the sub-zero freezer room and when solidly frozen is ready for eating or storage.

Preliminary investigations and development are still being conducted at the division of horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, says W. R. Phillips. These include the use of various individual fruits and blends. Such technical details as the control of over-run (increase in volume by beating), using different stabilizers and preparation methods are also being tried out.

It is probable that the equipment required will prevent general household processing. From the reaction of several commercial processors, however, it is likely that frozen fruit desserts will be on sale at many retail stores during the coming season. Rhubarb is one fruit which makes a very appetizing product. Because of its low cost and abundant supply frozen rhubarb dessert should readily gain popularity.

A pamphlet has been prepared by Dr. Mary MacArthur, division of horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, covering preliminary investigations, which is available upon request.

Mysteries of Pacific Told To Rotarians

The only white man ever to be allowed to see Japanese fortifications on some of the Pacific Islands in the early '30s, some years prior to World War II, Major P. Howden, headmaster of University School, proved an educational and extremely interesting speaker to a recent Rotary Club of Summerland audience.

Major Howden had a five-year assignment from the war office in London to the Japanese army and among his army students were a number of militarists who later rose to commanding positions in the army of the Japanese.

The speaker took the Rotarians on a tour of Java, telling them of the "most wonderful botanical gardens in the world", which include 250 pairs of different types of palms, and wonderful lillies.

He described a Buddhist temple in Batavia, which is sugar-loaf in shape and is 440 yards square, with seven miles of terraces. This temple has fourteen miles of walls, every inch of which are covered with carvings depicting the conquest of Java and the spread of Buddhism.

Major Howden told of Macassar which has a national currency consisting of 22 coins, made of stone and measuring 12 feet across. There are ten stones left, the other twelve being in museums. When purchases are made, chalk marks are drawn across the stones, and when counter-sales are made, the marks are erased, he explained, this being the chief form of exchange.

During his tour of the Pacific on a Japanese freighter after his five years with the Japanese army, Major Howden witnessed the fortifications being erected in the Carolines, which were mandated to Japan by the "Leagues of Hallucinations" on the understanding that no such fortifying would occur.

In conclusion, Major Howden told of another group of islands, situated 2,000 miles from Japan and 3,500 miles from Korea. There he saw ruins of cities, built 3,500 years ago of basalt blocks, each one weighing from 5 to 25 tons. The nearest location of basalt is in Korea and he left the question with Rotarians: "How did they have the ability to transport these weighty blocks 3,500 miles across the ocean to their destination?"

LIBRARY BOARD REPORTS PROGRESS

All library reports showed satisfactory progress, and no deficits were indicated in the financial statement presented to the summer meeting of the Okanagan Union Library board of management, held in Armstrong on Wednesday, July 21.

Magistrate H. Sharman, representing the municipality and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, representing School District No. 77 (Summerland) were present for this gathering which was presided over by Chairman O. L. Jones, MP for Yale.

Next meeting of the board will be held in January at Kelowna and the July, 1949 session will convene in Summerland, the meeting decided.

ASKS "NUISANCE" REMOVAL

Mrs. W. Milne requested council assistance on July 27 for the removal from the vicinity of her home of an outside privy on the property of F. Wigganhauser. The council informed Mrs. Milne that her request would be turned over to Sanitarian Harper, of Kelowna, on the occasion of his next inspection trip here.

May Get Uniform Electric Service Inspection in B.C.

Setting up of a provincially-controlled electrical inspection service for municipalities throughout B.C. is a project which is under advisement at the coast, the council was informed on July 27. This information was received following a request for information as the council is deliberating on the appointment of a local electrical energy inspector, in accordance with legislation passed at the last sitting of the provincial legislature.

The chief inspector of electrical service has the power to take over inspection of municipalities, under agreement with the council, if the standard of inspection in any municipality is not up to par, it was explained.

Council agreed that a uniform system of inspection throughout B.C. would be an admirable course, "provided it does not cost too much."

WILL BURN STUMPS

Francis Stuart has informed the council that he intended to burn some stumps next fall, which he had placed on the road allowance near his property. He offered to remove them now, but the council agreed that the fall burning program would suffice.

Valley Plane Service Sought

VERNON—There is a good chance that L & M Air Service, of Vernon, may secure a franchise to operate regular plane flights from Kamloops through to Penticton, linking up with Canadian Pacific Air Lines east and west flights. This information was disclosed to the city council by William Helmsing, chairman of the civic airport committee.

R. H. "Dick" Laidman, managing director of L & M, was able to say only that application for the service had been made to the Department of Transport. If granted it would provide daily passenger flights touching down at Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton. Once the service were in operation, it would be possible to apply for permission to carry airmail on this feeder line to link up with CPAL.

Council to Amend Building Bylaw

Application of the Okanagan Telephone Co. for permission to subdivide its Granville street property to retain a rear portion 30 feet by 30 feet for its telephone exchange, once the dial system is in operation next year and allow for sale of the balance of the property caused a mild upset in council plans on Tuesday, July 27.

After a lengthy perusal of the building bylaw, the council came to the decision that it has no power to grant such a request. At the same time, council members considered that the telephone company request is a reasonable one, in such circumstances, and so will take steps to amend the existing regulations so that leeway can be allowed.

Once the bylaw is amended, the council can grant permission for the subdivision.

At present, no subdivision can be made which does not allow fifty-foot frontage.

Belgian Comes to Vernon to Inspect Orchard Block Held by Family for 35 Years, but Never Before Visited

VERNON—For the first time since the 290-acre estate of Vernon Orchards Co. was purchased by a Belgian family 35 years ago, a representative has come from Belgium to inspect the property, check on its progress and plan its future development. He is Serge Holvoet, of Antwerp, a graduate agronomist and real estate man retained by the company as technical advisor.

A young man of an eminent Belgian family, he arrived in Vernon after 42 hours flying time from Brussels to Penticton.

Vernon Orchards above the east side of Swan Lake, was purchased by Belgian capital just before the First Great War and has remained in the same family ever since. Alfred Jacobs, 80, of Brussels, has been president continuously. The company also has properties in several other parts of the world, including orange groves in North Africa and a rubber plantation in India.

"I hope I will not wait 34 years to come again," were about the first words of Mr. Holvoet, when interviewed by The Vernon News. Mr. Holvoet had never seen an irrigation system, and his thorough studies included a trip up to the source at Aberdeen Lake. "We went up in a truck, shaking like a cocktail."

He is conducting his survey with Douglas Glover, manager of Vernon Orchards since 1946. For the previous 33 years, Paul LeGuen had been manager, and he is still resident director.

The most outstanding difference between orchard methods here and in Europe, according to Mr. Holvoet is "the much more rough and commercial" way we operate. In the Old Country, growers are "much more meticulous," each tree is carefully studied and pruned just so twice a year. However, orchards are much larger and production carried on in a bigger way in Canada.

800 Trees Per Acre
Another major difference is in type of tree. In Europe they cultivate dwarf trees and plant in "cordons," having as many as 800 trees per acre. Here, there are from 42 to 84 per acre. Mr. Holvoet had seen 70,000 trees in 23 acres in an English orchard. Of course, he pointed out, production per tree or per acre cannot be compared to that in Canada, but quality is exceptionally high.

The "cordon" method is a cross between our ways of growing raspberries and grapes. Exceptionally slight and dwarfed stock is planted in rows, say, three feet apart. Branches are severely pruned and then trained down by wires tied to a system of bamboo poles, to grow in one direction along a row at an angle of 45 degrees from upright. Horizontal distance from root to top of tree thus bent over is about eight feet. Thus one might say trees are planted three feet apart in rows spaced nine feet apart.

Low Production
As Mr. Holvoet explained, all foliage is no more than eight feet above the ground, simplifying spraying, pruning, thinning and picking. Also trees will be in production the second or third year, yielding 3,200 pounds per acre. Good orchards here yield 40,000 pounds per acre, in the 15th year, said Mr. Glover. "Cordon" trees live for about 20 years.

The Belgian technician was "much interested and amazed" at the setup of B. C. Tree Fruits, with organized packing and grading and with contact in every market of the world. They do have local organizations in his country their markets, however, are only from 50 to a maximum of 100 miles away.

They have not altogether lost the British market, but have experienced difficulties trading in the sterling bloc. Which brought up an explanation of successful post war monetary reform in Belgium. That country's financial position is exceedingly sound, said Mr. Holvoet. They have no difficulty trading with the United States, and thus secure sufficient food, clothing and other supplies.

"Familiarity Breeds Contempt"
"Like everybody else," Belgium was greatly "terrorized under German wartime occupation, but unlike many others, we knew it before," having suffered the same during the First Great War.

The same "familiarity" with European "cold war" has bred similar "contempt." "There is much more talk over here," said Mr. Holvoet, on the Berlin crisis. "We get used to it, so do not talk so much about it. Perhaps we are wrong to get used to it."

He believes Canada lags about 20 years behind the pendulum swinging to the left in Europe. Belgium has kept a better balance than many countries because the parliament is fairly evenly split between labor and conservative parties, keeping "a balance of good sense between right and left."

Nevertheless, Mr. Holvoet is somewhat worried about the future opportunities of his three sons, now five, three and two.

He believes Belgian investments abroad, as in Vernon Orchards, are a very valuable thing under present world conditions.

Of the 290 acres in the Vernon holdings, 220 are in orchard, all but 20 in apples. According to Mr. Glover, production has been on an average of 70,000 boxes during the past few years.

WATCH OUT FOR CODLING MOTH!

DEENATE 50-W

Gives effective control!

Don't let second brood Codling Moth develop and injure your crop. At the first sign of stings, spray with DEENATE 50-W. Control is easy—if you spray in time.

One Spray Is Enough
One spray with DEENATE 50-W at this time assures dependable protection. DEENATE 50-W gives thorough and uniform coverage impossible with coarser DDT insecticides. Freely wettable—mixes readily in the spray tank. Protect against second brood Codling Moth with DEENATE 50-W. 1-lb. and 5-lb. cans; 4-lb. bags.

DN DRY MIX No. 1
Gives effective, low-cost mite control. Check leaves carefully. If you find two or more mites per leaf, spray at once with DN Dry Mix No. 1.

PARMONE STOPS EARLY DROP
PARMONE makes apples cling longer, more firmly to the tree, lengthens the picking season and reduces windfalls. Fruit has time to reach full maturity, thus improving in colour, quantity and size. One application is usually enough.
Spray with PARMONE as soon as dropping begins. One 4-oz. bottle makes 100 gallons of spray.

Summerland Merchants Blow Sky High in Ninth to Lose to Vernon By 8-2 Count in Interior League Ball

It was a good baseball game last Sunday afternoon until the ninth inning. Vernon was leading 2-1 going into the top half of the ninth and then the Summerland balloon went sky high. When the smoke cleared away and the game finished, Vernon was out in front by an 8-2 count.

This win keeps Vernon in a second place spot behind Kamloops in the Interior baseball league schedule, with two more games to be played before the regular playing season concludes.

Summerland still reposes in the league cellar and even with wins in the next two contests it is doubtful if the local lads can make the playoffs. However, they will be out to do their damndest next Sunday at the local athletic park, taking on the strong Hedley squad.

Lots of Action

There was action aplenty in last Sunday's ball game as Vernon hit Evans hard but could not get the full way round the bases. Three double plays accounting for many promising scoring plays.

But it was Summerland's inability to hit which kept them from taking a substantial lead in the early stages. Al Munk, Vernon lefthander, had the boys well under control and only allowed four bingles throughout the contest. He did not have as much control as Evans as he walked six batters, George Clark earning three of them. However, he had the edge on strike-outs over the Summerland Merchant's hurler.

Vernon tossed the first score into the game in the third, when Henske walked and scored on Janicki's single which was not picked up cleanly by George Taylor in centre.

Summerland knotted the count in the fourth when Clark walked, stole second and was scored by Thompson's infield single.

But Al Munk went a long way towards winning his own ball game in the fifth when he poled out a triple into left field and came across on Gordy Henske's single to the same outer pasture.

Summerland threatened in every inning but two bad base running episodes nipped prospective rallies. Vanderburgh pulled off a double play unassisted, in the eighth to dampen Vernon's ardor.

Disastrous Ninth

But it was the ninth which was the heartbreaker, when the Merchant's fell apart at the seams. With one away and men on second and third, Day attempted to cut off Ike Jackson at the plate, but his throw was a little late and a little high.

Then Douglas struck out for the second down. Janicki lined one to Walsh who made a great stop and then threw in front of Vanderburgh, who made a complete miss of the catch, two men scoring. The balloon was up then. Bill Petruk singled and then Walsh threw away Ingram's grounder and two more came across.

Just to be in the picture, Thompson dropped a short one to right field, allowing the sixth tally to scoot across.

Going into the last of the ninth, Vernon led 8-1. Thompson drew a walk and Evans singled him to third. Vanderburgh filed to right field and Imayoshi to left, but Thompson beat the throw home for the Merchants' second and final tally, Day's long fly to centre field being picked off to end the game.

Clark played heads up ball for the locals, while Evans, although he was nicked for twelve bingles, was right in the game and came through with two of the four Summerland hits.

Red Sox Wallop Osoyoos 19-1 In Junior Loop Ball

It was a slaughter again at Osoyoos last Sunday, as Summerland Red Sox clipped the southerners by a 19-1 count in the second last game of the South Okanagan junior baseball league. Playoffs are expected to get underway in the near future, possibly next Sunday.

Gilbert Jacobs again uncorked winning ball as pitcher for the Red Sox, limiting the canteloupe pickers to four hits, half of them coming in the fourth when he weakened slightly to allow in one runner. By that time, the Red Sox had rolled up five runs while in the fifth and sixth ten, more rolled across to leave no doubt about the contest.

E. Jomori and S. Jomori were the leading Red Sox hitters, getting three apiece in four and five trips respectively. B. Weitzel, Chuck Brawner and Jack Dunham also collected two hits apiece to fatten their batting averages.

Thirteen Osoyoos batters fell to the pitching of Jacobs.

Score by innings:
Red Sox	101 337 4—19
Osoyoos	000 100 0—1

Hankey Cup is Captured by Fudge-Solly

The Hankey cup, emblematic of the Okanagan men's doubles championship, is resting comfortably in Summerland following the outstanding win at Vernon on Sunday of the top Summerland team of George Fudge and Nick Solly.

Fifteen teams representing Vernon, Kelowna, Osoyoos, Okanagan Centre, Summerland and Salmon Arm entered in this play, which is one of the features of the summer tennis season.

The teams were divided into two sections, with American tournament play deciding the winners of each division.

In the finals, Fudge and Solly met the Vernon team of Hugh Brimacombe and G. Homer-Dixon and managed to win by scores of 6-1, 6-2. Although Vernon team did not win many games, they put up a stout defense against the Summerland pair, who were playing a heads-up game.

Enters Victoria Bowling Tourney

Capt. J. E. Jenkinson left on Sunday evening for Victoria, where he will enter the Victoria District lawn bowling tournament. For his partner in the doubles tournament, Capt. Jenkinson will have Mr. John Tait, former district agriculturalist in Summerland for many years and now residing in Vancouver.

Open Season For Pheasants Likely Here

Although no official pronouncement has been made, it has been learned that there will likely be a short open season on pheasants in South Okanagan this season, together with a short open season on blue grouse.

Probably a slightly longer duck season will be allowed once the official regulations are released, but it is not thought likely that a split season, as advocated by Okanagan sports clubs, will be granted.

However, regulations have been issued providing the seasons and bag limits for game to be hunted in B.C. during 1948-49.

Season for deer hunting in the eastern district opens on September 15 and concludes on November 30, bucks only, except white-tail deer in North and South Okanagan and Similkameen. Bag limit is two deer, over one year in age.

Grizzly bear season opens on September 1 and continues on to June 30, 1949. There is no closed season on black or brown bear.

Caribou season is open, south of the main line of the CFR from September 15 to October 31. In Revelstoke district and north of the CFR main line, the open season is September 1 to December 15.

In the Cariboo and portions of the Lillooet districts moose will be open from September 23 to November 30.

Mountain sheep, in that portion of the Kamloops district within the area bounded on the east by Adams lake, on the south by Simmax creek and on the west and north by Johnson creek and lake, open season is from October 9 to 31.

In the portion of the eastern district mainly visited by local hunters, mountain goat season extends, except in South Okanagan, Similkameen and Grand Forks - Greenwood districts, from September 15 to November 30.

East of Okanagan lake and river, in South Okanagan and Similkameen districts, wapiti, or elk, there will be an open season from September 15 to November 30, with a bag limit of one male elk.

Blagborne Scores Possible Again

For the second successive week, Ken Blagborne scored a possible 25, at the Summerland Trap Club Sunday morning shoot. He had close competition, Bill Laidlaw and J. Gripman, a Kelowna visitor, scoring 24s, followed by D. L. Sanborn and A. R. Munn with 23s and Dr. Lloyd Day and Channon Snow with 22s.

In a doubles shoot, Dr. Lloyd Day and Ken Blagborne were high scorers with twenty points each.

Two War Canoe Crews Nosed Out at Penticton

Summerland junior girls war canoe crew lost out by only half a length to Kelowna girls at the Penticton boat regatta on Wednesday, July 29. The local gals went into an early lead and held it until the last 100 feet, when the Kelowna crew spurred ahead and could not be overtaken.

Penticton entered in this race but spilled part way across and was never a contender.

In the senior girls' race the same afternoon, Summerland again took an early lead and held it until the final ten strokes, when Penticton seemed to shoot out of nowhere and defeated the Summerland hard-stroking paddlers by two feet.

Kelowna crew spilled in this race.

Spills also marred the competition in the junior boys and senior men's races, Kelowna taking the juniors and Penticton the seniors. Summerland was not entered in these races.

Johnny Hamel was in the bow and Gerry Howis was skip for the Summerland crews, whose line-up was as follows:

Shirley Harvey, Marion Harvey, Irene Ford, Marline McVie, Barbara Munn, Faith Pearson, Eileen Haas, Heather Forbes, Gwen Fletcher, Pat Gordon, Pat Hughes, Sylvia Moore and Nora Young.

Summerland's crew has been augmented by several Trail girls, who are working in processing plants here for the summer months.

P. S. Dunsdon Is Leader in Shoot

P. S. Dunsdon went out in front last Sunday morning at the Summerland Rifle Club weekly shoot, scoring 98 out of 105 to win by four points over his nearest rival, Ed Gould, who had 94.

There was a good turnout at the rifle range, the members preparing for the big Central B.C. rifle shoot at Vernon this Saturday and Sunday, August 7 and 8.

Other scores on Sunday follow: Ted Dunsdon and G. M. Dunsdon 92, H. Simpson, E. T. Washington, Len Shannon 91, A. R. Dunsdon and A. W. Moyle 90, D. Weitzel and F. W. Dunsdon 88, F. G. Anderson 87, D. Taylor 86, Art Simpson 83, Jack Dunsdon 81, G. A. Graham 79, John Khalembach 76, Mel Riha 73, W. C. W. Fosbery 54, D. Lillico 52.

SHADES OF YESTERYEAR

"Aunt Emma's Voice... just as plain!"

We turned the crank . . . two and three rings for Aunt Emma's. And, there we were . . . talking, actually talking with her . . . and she a good five miles distance. Land's sake! What won't they think of next?

In the early 1900's, as today, folks were just as likely to call Aunt Emma and the friendly neighbors for an evening of whist or cribbage. With, of course, the "trimmings": Good food, Princeton Beer and friendly talk completed the evening. Princeton is brewed now, as then, of the finest available grains and hops . . . the famed Tulameen waters . . . to the same exacting high standards. People still insist on Princeton in these times . . . it is the "just right" beer.

Good Tonnage Of Cherries Despite Rain

Report for Summerland, Peachland Westbank area has been issued by the horticultural office of the department of agriculture at Vernon, under dateline of July 31. The news letter excerpt follows:

Since our last report the weather has been moderately warm. A severe thunder storm in the early hours of July 27 once again brought rain to the district and showery weather is continuing today.

The cherry deal, one of the most severely affected from splitting in several years, is now just about finished. Despite the damage, a very good tonnage has been saved.

A few apricots are being picked in the earliest locations. It will be another week before volume is reached in this crop. Early apples are coming along nicely and some Yellow Transparents are almost ready. Thinning of late apples is in progress.

During the past two weeks there has been an increase in insect pest activity. Pear Psylla has increased rapidly and is now very widespread. A great deal of extra spraying is being done to control this pest. Prune aphids are also quite troublesome. Red mite which was slow to develop in the early part of the season is now causing some concern.

The humid weather with frequent rains has caused a good deal of succulent growth on most pears and they are in a susceptible condition for fire blight attacks. The incidence of fire blight within the district is higher than for several years although it is in no way epidemic.

NEAR MISS FOR JUNIOR WAR CANOE CREW

In spite of pouring rain and calm water, the Summerland Junior War canoe crew came within an ace of defeating Kelowna in Tuesday's canoe races at the Regatta.

Summerland took the lead and held it for three-quarters of the stretch until one of the girls had a cramp, nearly capsizing the canoe. By the time the crew had recovered themselves Kelowna had caught up to cross the winning line by half a length.

The senior crew were badly outclassed by Pentiction and Kelowna, with still water and lighter canoes competing. Pentiction took this race, with Bob Mutch doing a nice job as skip.

In both races Johnny Hamel stroked and Gerry Howis skipped for Summerland's all girl crews.

Pledges Support Of B.C. in Huge U.S. Power Project

Premier Byron Johnson pledged British Columbia's co-operation not only in the building of a $100,000,000 dam and power plant on the Kootenay at Libby, Montana, that would flood approximately 34,000 acres in the United States and 17,000 in British Columbia, but in a great development plan that would give flood control as well as power development, when he was at the international joint commission meeting at Bonners Ferry, Idaho, on July 27.

On the Canadian side, the dam will back up the Kootenay to the vicinity of Warden. A survey is now under way to determine how much land would be flooded.

Major Canadian development would be in the Windermere, where both the Columbia and the Kootenay have their sources. It has been suggested that the great Arrow Lakes be used as a storage basin by building a dam at the south end.

Appoints Committee To Investigate Arthritis Claim

Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of health and welfare, has named a committee of three doctors and one layman to inquire into the methods of Mr. Lou F. Green of Port Alberni, who has claimed a satisfactory treatment for arthritis.

The committee consists of Provincial Health Officer, Dr. G. F. Amyot, or one of his staff; Dr. A. W. Bagnall, an outstanding authority on arthritis research at Shaughnessy Hospital, and chairman of the arthritis and rheumatism committee of the B.C. Medical Association; Dr. Harold H. Boucher, an orthopaedic surgeon of Vancouver; and E. S. H. Winn, former chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Secretary to the committee will be Miss Mary Pack, chairman of the B.C. division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. Mr. Pearson said that the committee will get under way as soon as Dr. Amyot returns from an international conference in Geneva.

Hobby Show at P.N.E. Biggest On Continent

Largest event of its kind in Canada and possibly on the continent, the Pacific National Exhibition hobby show is expected to reach new record stature this year with the P.N.E. being extended to eleven days, August 25 to September 6, inclusive, and the provision of valuable trophies and medals for winners.

More than 75,000 persons saw the exhibits of over 200 entrants in last year's show which was a highlight of the Pacific National Exhibition. There is no entry fee for the hobby show. Entries close Saturday, August 14 and information may be secured from M. C. Gordon, Pacific National Exhibition, Exhibition Park, Vancouver. The show is divided into two classes and a total of eight groups. Class A covers club entries and is divided into five groups. The first has no age limit and is for clubs in handicraft, model, model engineering or workshop.

Son of C.C.F. Founder to Contest South Okanagan By-Election for Party

Bruce Woodsworth, Westbank school principal, will represent the C.C.F. party in the by-election to be held this fall in South Okanagan. Mr. Woodsworth was nominated on Saturday by the party convention held at Peachland, defeating the other nominee, Chesel Haker, of Peachland. The legislature vacancy was caused by the resignation of W. A. C. Bennett, who was Conservative candidate in the recent Yale federal by-election.

Mr. Woodsworth is the son of the late J. S. Woodsworth, founder of the C.C.F. party and has been principal of the Westbank elementary and high school for the past several years. He was born in Winnipeg and received his earlier education there, but his university training was taken at the University of British Columbia, where he graduated with the degree of B.A. in 1936.

He spent nearly three years in Africa as field geologist for the Anglo-American Exploration Company of Northern Rhodesia.

Campaign Committee

In addition to selecting a candidate, the convention set up a campaign committee, the officers of which include: J. Snowsall, campaign manager; Mrs. Ruth Purdy, secretary; Clarence Dyson, treasurer; Axel Eutin, Rutland; Charlie Ross, East Kelowna; Adolph Roth, Kelowna; Mrs. Betty Taylor and D. Basham, Westbank; Chesel Haker, Peachland; Herbert Lemke, Summerland and John Bibby, Naramata.

Messrs. Woodsworth and Haker in their speeches accepting nomination displayed a keen understanding of the issues involved, and asked for support in this contest which will likely take place before November 14, and with a Coalition candidate opposing. It was pointed out that Mr. O. L. Jones in the Yale by-election received 45 per cent of the total vote in South Okanagan district, and it would be necessary to do better than that, if the C.C.F. is to have this provincial seat.

Mr. Haker stressed the necessity for good farm returns in this district if high wages are to continue, and the need for keeping irrigation systems up-to-date. He pointed out that there is only one party in Canada which is sympathetic with labor and that party (C.C.F.) cannot get power without the support of the farmers.

He has been farming in Peachland since 1931 and has seen fruit dumped, left on the trees, "the cent a pound or on the ground" campaign, and all the various experiences of the early '30's. He knows what the farmer is up against.

Jones At Banquet

At the conclusion of the business, a banquet was served in the hall by the proprietor of the Edgewater Inn, with Mr. E. R. (Tiny) Ganzeveld as master of ceremonies. Musical selections by C. C. Inglis and Ernest Burnett were thoroughly enjoyed, and the after dinner speakers, O. L. Jones, M.P., and Bruce Woodsworth were the highlights of the convention.

Mr. Jones reviewed some of his experiences since becoming a member. The C.C.F. has been able to get action on an investigation of post office facilities, and the assurance that where facilities are inadequate, steps will be taken to improve or increase them. With agitation for more hospital accommodation, the federal government has now passed a law that

Agrologists Explode Theory of New "Pomato"

Nelson, according to a despatch in the Vancouver Province, is wondering if it has developed some new plant probably to be known as a "Pomato," as it looks like a tomato and grows on the potato vine.

Some Summerland residents have the same "phenomenon" but they are in a better position to find out "the score," as there are just heaps of agrologists around.

Mr. Henry Schaeffer, after reading the Vancouver daily paper despatch, remembered that he has been taking off these growths from his potato vines for some time. He went out to his garden, plucked a handful of samples and brought them to The Review office.

Dr. R. C. Palmer, superintendent of the experimental station, soon pricked the bubble and collapsed the story.

The explanation—really quite simple—is that these are seeds of the potato and this type of growth occurs every once in a while. "Potatoes have seeds on them," was Dr. Palmer's quick reply.

Mr. Alex Watt, district agriculturist, explained further that tomato and potato plants are closely related and are of the same family.

He did admit, however, that Mr. Schaeffer's examples are much larger than can be found usually. Probably due to the wet weather, he laconically remarked, having just returned from a spraying demonstration which was completely ruined by yesterday afternoon's shower.

RUBBISH CONTAINERS

Some time ago the council acquiesced to a request from a Kelowna firm for permission to erect rubbish containers on principal streets in West Summerland. No word has been received as to progress of this project and the council decided on Tuesday to make further enquiries.

Hot Weather Needed for Road Program

Mixing of the asphalt on Jubilee and Giant's Head roads, preparatory to laying the final hard surfacing is proceeding this week but final work is delayed because of the wet weather.

Roads Engineer D. M. Wright stated yesterday that another half day of mixing asphalt and gravel would suffice for the Giant's Head road, but the final laying of the mix would have to wait for a hot day.

Yesterday, Elof Bergstrom's equipment started work on leveling and widening the lane west of Hastings street to provide proper access. This project has been considered by the council for the past year and will facilitate council plans to take trucks off the main business streets and have them unload at the rear of store premises.

A request from R. J. Bradford that brush be cleared from the Prairie Valley road brought the statement that most roads in the municipality need similar treatment, but the road department has been too busy with other more important tasks.

"Owners could assist a great deal by cutting the grass and weeds on their own property," Mr. Wright remarked. Discussion ensued on Tuesday regarding the proposed light standards, which if placed in a semi-circle out from the sidewalk may interfere with the drains which will be laid on Granville street. However, it was not considered possible to place the entire standards on the sidewalk, as it would cut down to too great an extent on pedestrian traffic.

Further survey work on Granville street preparatory to laying a proper surface for this business street was undertaken yesterday by Mr. Wright.

Co-Op Pays Advance On '48 Cherry Crop

First payment to Summerland growers on the 1948 crop will be received this weekend by growers shipping through the Summerland Co-operative Growers Assn. That organization is sending out cheques totalling $20,000 as an advance payment on the 1948 cherry crop.

July Building Exceeds 1947

Although permits for July were valued higher than for the corresponding month in 1947, the total for the year to date falls short of last year's total, which reached $171,910 at the end of the first seven months.

July's permits taken out were valued at $20,765, as compared with $17,785 for the same month in 1947. Total for the first seven months of 1948 amount to $117,715.

Dwellings again came to the fore in last month's permit issuance by Roy F. Angus, building inspector. Seven new dwellings were commenced for a value of $18,300. Alterations to commercial and institutional buildings amounted to $550, while seven permits for alterations, additions or garages were valued at $1,915.

Kelowna is leading all Okanagan centres with a building permit total of $2,039,825. This is a record for any Okanagan centre and in seven months exceeds the yearly record for Kelowna, set in 1947, at $1,629,881.

OFFERS VICTORIA TRIP

Water Foreman E. Kercher has been offered a trip to Victoria by the Summerland council so that he can attend the B.C. Engineering Society's annual convention on Sept. 16 and 17. Mr. Kercher told the council that he would consider the matter and give his decision later.

Council Will Submit Figures on $20,000 Flood Damage Loss to B.C. Department for Assistance

Summerland council has decided to acquaint the provincial government with details of Summerland's loss in connection with the high water of Okanagan lake and the threatened flooding by Trout creek.

Mr. George Melrose, deputy minister of lands and forests will be informed of the extent of the loss which has been suffered by those who reside along Summerland's seven-mile stretch of shoreline.

Figures compiled by the Summerland Board of Trade through questionnaires will be used by the Summerland council. These figures, which amount to nearly $20,000, were compiled by the trade board at the request of Dominion government engineers at New Westminster, who wished to have them for record purposes.

Answered Queries

Last week's issue of The Review gave a detailed outline of the answers contained in the questionnaires, as compiled by Mr. Lorne Perry, trade board secretary.

Municipal expenses in connection with flood work, mainly on Crescent Beach road to prevent the inundation of the connecting link as Okanagan lake rose to a new record height of 104.82 feet, amounted to $2,500. Acting Clerk Gordon Smith informed the council on Tuesday.

Last week, the private owners' loss by flood damage was claimed as $15,380, while some new claims have been filed in the meantime. It is the council plan to request the provincial government to accept some portion of these losses through flood damage. Mayor Hughes-Games and Alderman J. H. Horn of Kelowna recently waited on Premier Byron Johnson on behalf of the Kelowna area and received promises of provincial government assistance.

Trout Creek Plan

This spring, after Trout creek subsided, it was planned by residents of that area to raise a fund among themselves to pay for out-of-pocket expenses of those who worked so valiantly and hard to keep the rampaging waters with the creek channel.

There was no thought of paying for any damage claims, nor would any payment for labor be made, but only out-of-pocket expenses for those who used equipment or machinery would be considered. The amount involved was around $500, it is stated.

Councillor Tait informed the council on Tuesday that the provincial lands deputy minister, Mr. Melrose, has given the Trout Creek committee an assurance that the B.C. government will meet these out-of-pocket expenses if proper accounts are rendered.

This committee, which is headed by Dr. D. V. Fisher, is obtaining copies of these accounts for submission to the government agent in Penticton.

Municipal account, amounting to $180, in connection with Trout creek work is over and above the estimated $500 to meet ordinary expenses.

Daring Thieves Steal $4,500 in Cheques and Bills From Groceteria

Biggest haul in the history of Summerland was perpetrated early Friday morning, August 6, when the Summerland Groceteria, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rumball and their son, Leslie, was broken into and cheques and cash estimated at $4,200 stolen.

This morning, no new clues had been uncovered by the B.C. Police, although several leads have been tracked down in the past week. Never before has any business concern in this district suffered such a loss. The last major robbery occurred at Laidlaw & Co. store, in the late 1930's, but only about $200 to $300 worth of clothing was taken then.

About a year ago, a series of store breakings and enterings occurred here, but the loss was not large. Cash taken from the Groceteria amounted to $1,200, while cheques were valued at $3,000. Cigarettes to an amount of $130 were also lifted.

Forced Side Door

Some time Friday morning, the door leading into the lane separating the Groceteria and Smith & Henry's property was forced, thus giving entry to the entire Groceteria store.

The thieves made their way to the front of the store where the office containing a large safe is located. The safe door had not been locked, but the money and cheques were protected from fire in the small vault.

All the money and cheques were secreted in a small, steel-lined box to which there are only two keys known to be in existence. This box was jimmied out of its position in the safe and removed entirely. No trace of the box has been uncovered. The box was securely locked at the time of the robbery.

It is understood that some other valuables were contained in the safe but were not discovered.

The till in the main part of the store then came under the thieves' attention. As this equipment is directly in the path of the light from the electric clock, the till was removed to the warehouse where efforts were made to jimmy the locked door.

This effort proved unsuccessful and the till was abandoned. No other trace of any missing articles, apart from the cigarettes, has been uncovered.

Les Rumball, who is president of the Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn., discovered the entry on Friday morning and notified B.C. Police Constable T. Thorsteinson about 8:30, shortly after the store was opened for business.

It was a distinct shock to Les Rumball to open the store for work early Friday morning only to discover that the till had disappeared. He discovered it in the warehouse where it was abandoned.

Some fingerprints were discovered but they were smudged and will probably be of little use, police fear.

Several clues have been traced by the police, but no discovery as to the identity of the miscreants has been made.

Transient Laborers

Police work in connection with this theft is made more difficult because of the influx of orchard, packing house and cannery help at this time of year. Laborers are coming and going every day, making it extremely difficult for the police to keep track of such a large group of transients.

Constable Thorsteinson is being assisted in the burglary investigation by Detective Constable T. A. Quigley of Nelson.

It is understood that the Groceteria is covered by burglary insurance to an amount which will cover the loss of cash and cigarettes.

A large number of the stolen cheques were personal ones and

Chlorination Plant Partly Ready

Arrival of the chlorination plant in Summerland was announced at Tuesday's council session. Work of erecting a suitable structure to house the plant is partially completed and Shanahan's Ltd. at Vancouver has been informed that the rest of the project can be completed as soon as a technical engineer arrives from that firm to supervise the installation. Gordon Smith, acting clerk, stated.

Pays Fine on Driving Count

Joe Bagan, of Peachland, pleaded guilty in Summerland police court on Tuesday morning before Magistrate H. Sharmar on a dangerous driving charge and paid a fine of $50 and costs.

He was represented by R. S. Oxley of the firm of O'Brien & Oxley.

This charge arose from an accident on Saturday, July 31, when his car sideswiped a truck on the highway about six miles north of West Summerland. The car careened over the bank and dropped down to a narrow ledge where it hung precariously above a further sheer drop into Okanagan lake.

The truck, driven by Steve Schweb of Oyama, was impounded as there was no "pink slip." The truck is still being held.

Water Problems Being Solved By New Sprinklers

Some of the municipal water problems are being solved due to sprinkler irrigation, Water Foreman E. Kercher informed the council on Tuesday during a discussion of an application by Charles Letta for permission to tap the domestic water line.

Councillor Bentley had pointed out that the council had been endeavoring to take irrigation users off domestic lines wherever possible, rather than add any new ones.

This brought the comment from Foreman Kercher that ideas change with the times, and with sprinkler irrigation providing an even draw on the line, more connections can be accommodated in some instances.

They were endorsed by the recipients. There were also some payroll and family allowance cheques, as well.

Bootlegging of Okanagan "Toms" May Bring Court Action by Board

KELOWNA — Weather conditions have complicated the marketing of mature tomatoes on the fresh fruit market this year and the vegetable board will decide this week whether or not it will take court action against a group of Osoyoos growers who on Friday "ran" a truckload to Vancouver against the orders of the board.

In normal years the Osoyoos tomatoes are considerably earlier than those further north and the crop of matures there is generally cleaned up early in the season. This year, however, the Osoyoos crop is no earlier than the rest of the Valley and the whole crop must be marketed at the same time.

The situation was further complicated by the fact that the Okanagan is nearly three weeks behind Ontario tomatoes. This resulted in Okanagan matures being sent to the market in a slightly "immature" condition, and prairie markets held up further orders, turning to the more mature Ontario supply.

The slowing up of orders here last week for a temporary period caused Osoyoos growers some concern and a group decided to defy the board orders and to run a truck to Vancouver.

E. Poole, secretary of the vegetable marketing board, stated that the truck went through to Vancouver after several warnings by board inspectors. It carried 275 lugs or about 8,250 pounds.

It is understood here from information received in Vancouver that the truck load of tomatoes was sold at approximately 50 cents a lug under the board's selling price.

Actually the prices received this year have been better than those of last year. The current price is $2.00 a lug, while last year the price was $1.60.

In addition to the loss of about 50 cents a lug, the Osoyoos "runners" had to absorb the cost of the transportation and the possible costs of a court action.

The day the bootleg toms were being sold in Vancouver the Osoyoos area could not supply the board's requirements for that day.

Local Men Are Selected Heads Of Trap Club

An Okanagan Valley trap shooting association was formed last week when representatives from trap clubs of Kelowna, Lumby, Vernon, Peachland, Summerland and Penticton met in Kelowna.

Dr. Lloyd A. Day, Summerland, was named the first president, and Gerry Laidlaw, also of Summerland, was chosen secretary-treasurer. The association will include clubs from Kamloops (including Revelstoke) to the international border.

The ruling committee will consist of one representative from each of the clubs comprising the association.

The meeting fixed Labor Day for the annual valley trap shoot, site to be rotated each year. This year's tourney will be held in Kelowna and next year's in Summerland.

In all future competitive shoots, those taking part will be required to produce cards showing their classification. The old Interior Trap Shooting cup will be the annual award for team shoots.

Alexis Smith Crowns Queen At Festival

The huge three-day Peach Festival and Rodeo to be held in Penticton on August 18-19-20 is to be honored with the presence of Alexis Smith, the beautiful Warner Bros. screen star.

Miss Smith, who was born in Penticton, has accepted the invitation to attend the first annual Peach Festival, and the lovely star's first duty will be to crown the "Queen of the Peaches" at the Queens Park grounds.

Her last official duty will be to pick the lucky ticket holder for the big shiny 1948 Chrysler Sedan. Commencing with a huge float parade at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, August 18, Penticton and district will present the largest and fastest moving three-day show ever attempted in the interior of the province.

Hon. Byron Johnson, premier of B.C., and Hon. Frank Putnam, minister of agriculture, have been invited to attend the opening of the festival.

Herman Linder of Cardston, Alberta, is in Penticton to finalize plans for the four rodeo shows that are to be presented at Queens Park grounds on the afternoon and evening of August 19 and 20. A large entry of cowboys is expected from both sides of the line to compete for prize money.

Carl Olsen and Jerry Ambler, both world's champions, have told Herman Linder that they intend to compete at the Penticton shows. Carl Olsen is currently leading the I.R.A. saddle bronc riding with a total of 1,402 points. Johnny Tubbs will also compete and is presently holding down third spot in the saddle bronc riding with 1,140 points.

Breaks Leg on Gulch Road

Ashley Austin, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Austin, is in Summerland hospital suffering from a broken leg as the result of an accident on the Gulch road about 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Young Austin was riding a bicycle down the Gulch road when he realized he was going too fast. He applied the brakes but went into a skid, careening into the front of a car driven by Alex Shriner, of Summerland.

The young lad was rushed to hospital, where it was found that his leg had been fractured.

Toll of High Lake Water

IT WAS A shock to Summerland residents not living along the lakeshore to learn from last week's Review columns, that the damage from flood waters to this district alone runs close to $20,000.

Add to this the thousands of dollars loss suffered by Kelowna, hardest hit community on the lakefront, to Penticton's beachfront and low lying lands affected by Okanagan river, and Oliver and Osoyoos in combatting the river level and endeavoring to save their water supply system, and you have an impressive total.

It is safe to say that loss to crops, homes, land values and money expended on endeavoring to stem the rising lake waters and the rushing mountain streams runs close to half a million dollars this year, and the end is not yet in sight.

Estimated cost of implementing the 1946 report of the joint board of engineers is $1,700,000. It would seem high time that this report was concurred in by the governments of the country and an early start made to rectify a situation which has been repeated every seven years for as long as the valley has been inhabited.

And the costs of this year's flood, as compiled, do not include the countless hours of volunteer labor expended by the thousands of Okanagan residents who rushed to the aid of their neighbors in an attempt to stem the onrushing waters.

The Okanagan, increasing in population and industrial capacity, as it has over the past few years, has become a big contributor to the governments' coffers, both provincially and nationally. Those who have risked their savings and have built their homes and businesses have a right to demand that their tax money be spent in a manner which will give them some measure of safety in their places of abode.

That the Okanagan people wish to provide a permanent safeguard against the ravages of flood waters is very evident from their statements. It is essential, that the governments waste no time in the implementation of the report of their own engineers as how best the Okanagan can be made a safer place, by controlling the level of Okanagan lake and river.

Tax Complaints Called For

(The Canadian Statesman)

AROLD M. GROVES, professor at the University of Wisconsin, recently warned that taxes that "milk the cows of private enterprise . . . should draw the line at killing off the animals." That makes good sense. Canadians might warn their governments that in many lines of endeavor the cows of private enterprise are in danger of being milked to death.

In fields where government not only taxes enterprise but also competes with it commercially, there is particular danger of killing industry or at least crippling it severely.

Perhaps the most obvious example is in broadcasting. The government's CBC has long held a tight-fisted monopoly on all network broadcasting. At the same time, it is supported by public taxation, and by a sizeable tax which it imposes on independent broadcasters. To complete its enviable piece of pie, it engages in commercial broadcasting and thus competes viciously with those who contribute to it. Now it shows every evidence of using television in such manner as to complete its strangle-hold on private radio. With the advent of facsimile, it will control the press. Thus all methods of distributing news and information will fall into the hands of the Crown.

Excessive taxation, followed by government operation of business, will inevitably change our whole free enterprise system. Perhaps there are some who would welcome such a change. Most Canadians, however, are not eager to give up the system which has created a higher standard of living for all citizens than has any other. Governments should be kept constantly aware of the public mood. It is time the taxpayer made his complaints more loudly and specifically. The present-day radio situation would be a good starting point.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Visitors come to the Experimental Station for a great variety of reasons. Some of the local residents spend an evening at the station almost every week throughout the summer, testing their skill on the eighteen hole grass putting green. Religious and fraternal organizations use the log cabin and picnicking facilities for meetings of their organizations in ideal surroundings. Growers come singly and in groups to see at first hand the results of orchard and vegetable experiments. Tourists come from far and wide to see for themselves the beauty of the ornamental grounds.

Of perhaps even greater importance than all of these, is the steadily increasing flow of scientists from distant lands who come to this station to discuss with the staff the results of research work. For example, during the past few weeks there have been visitors from Nigeria, South Africa, California, Ohio, England, New Zealand and Northern Ireland.

Mr. A. C. Beattie, director of agriculture for Nigeria came to secure information regarding methods of fruit and vegetable culture which might have practical application in Nigeria. He was so impressed with the beauty of the Okanagan that he is thinking seriously of returning to this area on his retirement. He dreams of a small orchard with enough interesting work to keep his mind and body active and enough financial returns to help out a not-too-large pension.

Mr. Vvan der Willogan, chairman of the South Africa Deciduous Fruit Marketing Board came largely to study the methods of operation followed by B. C. Tree Fruits Limited. However, he was keenly interested in the results of fruit juice and puree investigations conducted in the local Fruit Products Laboratory.

Roy K. Cole of Whittier, California, has charge of Agricultural Relations for Safeway Stores. He was especially interested in the possibilities for expansion of the apricot, peach and pear canning industry in the south Okanagan.

John Bodger, senior partner in the firm of Bodger Seeds Limited, El Monte, California, was investigating the flower seed growing possibilities of the Okanagan Valley. He was amazed at the wide variety of trees, shrubs and flowers which thrive in this area.

Lee S. Edson, of Dayton, Ohio, is a freelance journalist gathering information for articles dealing with the industries and natural resources of British Columbia.

Gerald Woodward, a native son of B.C. has become a large scale producer of vegetable crops in the Vale of Evesham, England. He has over 150 acres in vegetables in addition to 3 acres in green house crops. He was keenly interested in the Signet and Sugawara varieties of tomato originated at the Summerland station. The dark red color, uniform shape and comparatively small size of the fruits on these varieties indicate that they may prove satisfactory for the discriminating British housewife.

G. G. Taylor, of Auckland, New Zealand, is spending a year in North America, gathering information concerning the culture, processing and marketing of fruits and vegetables. He thinks that the Friday pack may prove suitable for handling some varieties of New Zealand apples.

J. A. Young, who hails from Belfast, is at present on the staff of the British High Commissioner at Ottawa. He is in effect an agricultural attache. His job is to study trends in Canadian agriculture and to report to his own government, any new developments which may be of interest and value to farmers and fruit growers in Britain.

While such men gather valuable information from the local experimental station, they also bring new ideas and a fund of experience with them. Thus the fruit and vegetable industries of British Columbia gain greatly from this exchange of scientific knowledge.

Penny Wise

Isn't it nice, how healthy your tan makes you look. And feel! It is a fact there are lots fewer deaths in the good old summer time. Seems they just can't bear to let go their earthly ties on a good day, and I can't say I blame them.

And aren't the outdoor tomatoes terrific now that they are here, and at a buyable price. I always cook a few with bacon and egg (when I can afford bacon, that is). Don't let them stay in the par very long though, because when they lose their firmness I think the taste goes.

And a fried banana is a good thing to have with bacon, sometime; not to mention a slice or two of pineapple, IF you can find any that is sliced.

Next dress you have made, try a really low neckline for a change. A little peek-a-bosoming won't hurt the boys a bit.

If you MUST put your hair in curlers overnight, fevrens sake wear a pretty band of silk around it to hide their awfulness. Best thing to do, if you can, is to wait until he's out of the house in the morning, and then put your crowning glory up. Keep wearing that bandeau though—or what will the ice man think?

By the same token, tie a perky bow on your hair some evening just before dinner, and you'll find the whole family will smile with pleasure to see Mum being gay. What if your hair is grey; a black velvet bow would be the clear McCoy.

Cook a potful of macaroni, make some mmmm-good meat sauce, heat it all in a heavy pot or Dutch oven, and when it's ready herd the family out on the lawn, give them paper plates and a fork and let them go to it. More fun than you'd think, and practically no dishes to do.

Don't be too practical when you buy new panties for yourself. A foolishly fancy pair will make you feel giddy as a brand new bride, and you can remember how nice that was. I saw a pair once with these words embroidered modestly in one corner: "Daisies don't tell." Ah ha.

Don't throw out that rocking chair lying idle in the basement. Get your handy man to unhitch

Penticton Buys Back Own Bonds

PENTICTON—Penticton's sinking fund will be host for a few years to $90,000 worth of the bond issue recently sold to A. E. Ames and Company Ltd. and arising out of the passage of works by-laws totalling $530,000.

The investment house purchased the whole issue at a price satisfactory to the city, and has now written offering an exchange that means an annual increase in interest to the sinking fund of $225.

By the exchange, the city transfers $90,000 worth of Dominion of Canada three percent bonds to the investment house for $90,700; the city buys back $90,000 of Penticton 3 1/4 percent bonds at a cost of $89,530.

The Dominion bonds brought in $2,700; the city bonds will produce revenue of $2,925.

the legs, then you've the makings of as darling a bedroom chair as you could wish for. Do you know, I've had a movable mantelpiece put in my bedroom, along with an electric fireplace, and the room is practically a second sitting room now. It's big to start with, and not too "bedroomy," so when you want sudden heat, on goes the switch and you're on your way to cozy comfort.

Outdoor Stage At P.N.E. Exhibition

A new outdoor stage has been constructed for opening ceremonies and free attractions at the Pacific National exhibition to be held at Exhibition Park, August 25 to Sept. 6th inclusive. Site of the stage has been changed.

Horticulture Will Feature P.N.E. Show

District rivalry in horticulture will again feature the Pacific National Exhibition.

The annual battle for the De-war shield, famed trophy for district competition, has already been marked by the entry of Langley whose winning exhibit last year attracted wide attention.

Entries are also being received for the new 'City Garden Competition' a new feature of the P.N.E.'s horticultural show and sponsored by the B.C. Seed Trade association.

Entrants must present a collection of garden vegetables grown within the limits of any British Columbia city. The collection must consist of at least five different kinds of vegetables correctly named as to variety and with at least three and not more than five specimens of each variety. Cash prizes of $25, $20 and $15 are offered.

Floods Saw Army Mobilized To Tackle Jobs For Red Cross

Greatest peacetime army of volunteers ever to be mobilized in British Columbia, made it possible for Red Cross to complete the biggest civilian job it has ever tackled in this Province, states W. Orson Banfield, president of the B.C. Division of the society.

"It is difficult to adequately express appreciation for such unselfish service, given so freely during this emergency," said Mr. Banfield. "Without thought of gain, thousands of citizens in all walks of life made it possible for Red Cross to provide assistance wherever it was needed.

"Wartime Red Cross workers were released from their civilian jobs by employers; men and women, who were employed all day came after work to spend part of the night in Red Cross service; housewives labored hours over hot stoves, cooking in canteens or at home to supply food for workers and flood evacuees; citizens rallied to the emergency in Blood Donor service by attending special clinics; hundreds more citizens in places all over British Columbia, flooded the phones with offers of help.

"Never in Canada before have so many people rallied to the assistance of their neighbors through Red Cross. We can only say a very humble 'thank you' for such overwhelming, unselfish service," he said.

B.C.'s Drowning Toll Shows Sharp Decline Over Six Months of 1947

British Columbia's drowning toll for the first half of 1948 shows a sharp decrease compared with the same period last year according to a report released by Gordon Stirrett, B.C. chairman of Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety.

Due largely to widespread swimming and water safety instruction and a late summer throughout the Province, fatalities up to the end of June recorded a drop of 25 per cent—from 49 to 37—in the period in the two years.

If the present trend continues, this year's total drownings will fall well below the 1946 and 1947 yearly tolls of 93 and 83.

Despite a steady decrease in drownings over the last eight years in the face of population rises, the Province's fatality record is the highest in Canada with 14 deaths per 100,000 population. Next in line is Nova Scotia with 11 per 100,000.

Of total deaths over the last three years, 70 per cent were straight drownings, 19 per cent resulted from water transport accidents, six per cent were caused by motor vehicle accidents and five per cent were due to other causes.

Age brackets of victims were: 20 to 29 years—30 per cent, under 20—33 per cent, and over 30—37 per cent.

"Growing numbers of swimmers of all ages that are now enrolling in swimming and water safety classes throughout the Province is a step in bringing our number of drowning incidents down," said Mr. Stirrett.

The Red Cross now has 102 instructors teaching swimming and water safety throughout the Province in classes under sponsorship of local service groups and the number is increasing steadily.

Red Cross Rules for Water Safety

1. Learn to swim. Join a swim class sponsored by Red Cross or other recognized organizations. Know your own limitations as a swimmer.
2. Learn artificial respiration. The briefest delay in applying it may cost a life.
3. Where to swim. If possible swim in a supervised area. Investigate unknown water before swimming or diving. Respect "danger" signs.
4. When to swim. Late morning and afternoon are the safest hours in which to swim.
5. Temperature and time. Between 70° and 80° is best (warmer water relaxes too much, colder exhausts). Thirty minutes is long enough in the water for the average swimmer.
6. Swimming after eating. Wait at least two hours after eating a regular meal before swimming.
7. Panic contributes to most accidents. Learn to scull and tread water. Novices must stay in shallow water while learning to swim.
8. Exhaustion. Avoid over-activity, before a swim. Over-exertion while swimming, and extremely cold water also contribute to exhaustion.
9. Always have a companion when fishing, swimming or boating. Never swim alone.
10. Reaching aids. Learn how to use all reaching aids; how to use floating objects to support yourself; how to throw hand line and ring buoy.
11. Cramps. If hit by stomach cramps, scull to support yourself and call for help. To ease leg cramps, take a deep breath, submerge, and ease cramped muscles with thumb and fingers of one hand, pressing through the muscles, to meet those of the other hand.
12. Currents. Never buck a current. Swim diagonally across and with its flow. If unable to reach shore, drift to save strength and call for help. If caught by an undertow, go with it and swim diagonally upwards to the surface.
13. Weeds. Use gentle, slow drawing and shaking movements to get out of weeds. Swim with the current not against it, until freed.

Congregation of Summerland
A new sensational Christian film will be shown at the Free Methodist Church, West Summerland, on August 16 at 8 p.m. Few films have ever shown you as convincingly that God daily reaches down into the lives of men, brings light into their darkness and fills their hearts with the strength of His divine assurance.

Many picturesque and impressive scenes, as well as the genuinely true affection of a young couple will charm you. Tense dramatic moments such as a young man boldly confessing his faith in the presence of an unbelieving skeptical girl will make a lasting impression on you.

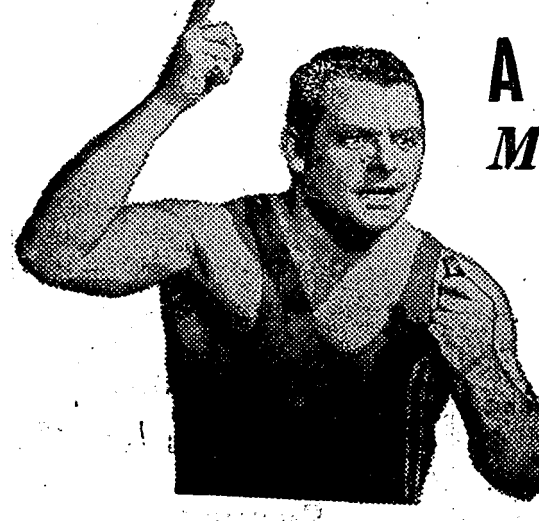

The lonely little man, whose problems are solved through his contact with Christian people; the rough-and-ready construction foreman, and his narrow escape from death, will thrill you.

REACHING FROM HEAVEN you will not want to miss to see, for it offers not only Christian inspiration, but also wholesome entertainment.
Everybody is most cordially invited to see this movie.

REGISTRATION OF VENDORS
Pursuant to
THE SOCIAL SECURITY & MUNICIPAL AID TAX

All vendors who have not already made application for registration under the Act are asked to co-operate with the Government and register immediately in order to be sure that their applications for registration may be processed and their registration certificates issued before September 1st.

This call for co-operation is made because after that date the Commissioner, under the provisions of the Act, has no alternative but to enforce these provisions which make it an offence against the Act to make any retail sales unless the vendor making such sales is in possession of a registration certificate.

Over 35,000 applications for registration have been sent out, but returns to the Government are by no means complete. To those who have applied, registration certificates have been sent. All those vendors who have not completed and filed their applications for registration under the Act with THE COMMISSIONER, SOCIAL SECURITY AND MUNICIPAL AID TAX, VICTORIA, B.C., are requested to do so immediately to ensure that they will receive their registration certificate and the tax return forms necessary for the remittance of the tax collected before 1st September, 1948.

To clarify certain misunderstandings, the Government wishes to point out:

Whenever medicaments are sold on a repeat basis on the authority of an original prescription, they also are exempt from tax.

Coal, wood and fuel oil are exempt as they are already subject to taxation under other Statutes. Electricity and manufactured gas, however, not being taxed under any other Statute, are subject to tax under this Act.

All purchases made by the Province of British Columbia are subject to tax, including those purchases which are exempt from the Dominion Sales Tax.

THAT depends on many things—the weather, the furnace, the coal, and above all, the INSULATION in your house. Don't always blame your furnace, the coal, or weather, for the greater part of warmth escapes through the walls and roof. Insulate your home with Donnacona Insulating Board—lower fuel bills will soon offset the cost of installation. As you insulate you can modernize old rooms and build new ones in the basement or attic. CATTLE MENACE MAIN

Although its lease was cancelled in 1945, Jersey club cattle have been running in the vicinity of the south main, the council was informed by Water Foreman Kercher. This spring the fence erected in that vicinity seemed to be holding out the cattle but they have now found a way of getting into the area. The club will be informed of this condition.

assistance of $1000 per bed for building purposes will be provided, if the province approves and is willing to put up a like amount. Schemes for government hospitalization call for first-class hospitals with good equipment. Enderby will be eligible for this grant if they can get provincial approval.

The butter and margarine problem was thoroughly discussed. The government has granted a bonus of a cent a pound on all butter shipped east of Saskatchewan. The west is likely to be short of butter by some 700,000 pounds for the next nine months. Some people think it is a game to squeeze margarine into the country.

Up until now the west has been against margarine, the east for it, Mr. Jones explained. It seems that Canada Packers, Swifts and Burns are the only firms equipped to manufacture margarine. These three firms would have a complete monopoly of this product and the farmers would be at their mercy, he considered.

Once introduced, it would be difficult to set it aside. Fluid milk would tend to suffer too, if margarine is allowed in.

Mr. Jones felt that there was no justification for the sales tax in this province, and that "we should seek a better deal from Ottawa on the income taxes we send down there," so that this $20 million that B.C. expects to raise through the sales tax would not be necessary.

Mr. Jones concluded his address by saying: "The worker and farmer have got to make up their minds to become the victim of the present machine age or the owner of the machine by which he makes his living."

Bruce Woodworth in his opening remarks gave figures to show the growth in popularity of the C.C.F. In the ten by-elections since 1945, the Liberal vote was down 9.8 per cent; the Conservatives were down 18.1 per cent and the C.C.F. vote was up 55.6 per cent though this party did not even contest two of these ten ridings.

In this last election in Quebec the Liberals have dropped from 37 members to 8. Ontario has only 12 Liberals in the provincial house.

Dr. Orchard, deputy minister of agriculture wrote an article in the Vancouver Sun recently on Forestry. He said that the standing supply of timber in 1948 is at best good for 30 years, which is just 10 per cent of the 1912 potential, which was 300 years, Mr. Woodworth quoted.

With lumber one of B.C.'s biggest industries and natural re-

BILLIARD HALL NEW PROPOSAL

Remodelling of the upstairs portion of the bowling alley to provide billiard facilities is being proposed by the new owner, Mr. Li-kei, it was stated to the council on Tuesday by Building Inspector R. F. Angus. Proper stairway facilities would have to be provided, it was stated.

Council informed Mr. Angus that proper application for trade's licence would have to be submitted, along with plans for improving the entrance to the upstairs of the building before any decision could be reached.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Grimes, pastors of the Pentecostal Church, in West Summerland, report a very successful picnic held on the grounds of the experimental station on Saturday, July 31. Mrs. J. sources, it is a terrible reflection on "private enterprise" to have this potential cut down by such an amount.

Mr. Woodworth stated that B.C. is 30 or 40 years behind the times in keeping up its forest industry. Forest management programs throughout the Dominion and especially in B.C. should have started 40 years ago.

H. R. McMillan interests showed a profit of over 7 million dollars in 1947. The Powell River Company showed a profit of almost 3½ million dollars for the last six months, and yet on July 26 last they announced that the price of newsprint would be advanced $4 a ton delivered in Vancouver.

This latter fact was publicized two days before their profits were announced, he stated. Such conditions, the speaker declared, will continue until our resources are exhausted or until the people of this country change this state of affairs.

JAPANESE BALL CLUB ADVANCES TO VALLEY FINALS

Summerland Japanese swamped the Kelowna Cubs "B" team by a 17-6 count on Sunday, August 8, in a sudden-death playoff game in the Japanese baseball league. The game was played on the local athletic park grounds.

Taking an early lead, the local Japanese were never headed, George Uzawa handling the mound duties for the victorious local squad, striking out nine opposing batters. M. Banno started for Kelowna but was relieved in the second frame by S. Furuuya.

The local lads' hickory work, plus some costly errors, spelled doom for the Orchard City nine.

Although Kelowna swiped 12 hits, Uzawa kept them well scattered, and with fine support from his team mates, held the visitors to six runs.

This victory entitles Summerland to play Vernon in a two out of three final series to determine the Okanagan Valley Japanese baseball championship.

British Columbia Mines Produce NEW Wealth

Do you know what the mining industry means to British Columbia and to you as a citizen of the Province?

Last year the mines of British Columbia produced new wealth to the value of $112,000,000.

Over $32,000,000 was paid in salaries and wages to over 12,000 people directly employed in the industry.

Over $13,000,000 was spent for process supplies and $5,500,000 was spent on plant and equipment.

B.C. mines paid $16,000,000 in Federal taxes, $4,000,000 in provincial and municipal taxes and $1,250,000 for workmen's compensation, including silicosis and unemployment insurance.

The men employed in the industry consumed over $7,000,000 worth of food.

Every dollar of new wealth taken out of the ground means about five dollars business activity for the country.

Every person in British Columbia benefits from the new wealth created by our mining industry.

Kelowna Regatta Finished Despite Old Man Weather

KELOWNA—Directors of the Kelowna Aquatic Association fought four rough and tumble rounds with Old Man Weather last week, but finally emerged victorious as the curtain fell on the 42nd annual Regatta Wednesday night, Aug. 4. Despite thunderstorms, lightning, showers and cloudy skies, the two-day water event, which has never been cancelled since the first outdoor show was held in 1906, was run off before capacity crowds, and finished in a blaze of glory when a mammoth fireworks display literally sailed clear through the low overhanging clouds.

broken during the two-day event. Old Man Weather shattered a 32 year record in that more rain fell during the first three days of August than has fallen during the entire month since 1916.

When they closed the 1948 record books the sheets showed that Dick Campbell, 22-year-old swimmer from Seattle, and Jean Juniper, 20-year-old swimming star from Spokane, had captured the men's and women's senior aggregates, respectively.

In taking the men's aggregate, Campbell captured the Blackwell trophy after winning 200 yards freestyle; 150 yards medley swim; 50 yards freestyle, and 100 yards freestyle. He garnered a total of 84 points, while Ted Willson, Vancouver ASC was second with 74

New Type of Tick Found In Dwelling

The discovery of a certain type of tick in Summerland has aroused the interest of officers of the Dominion Entomological Laboratory at Kamloops where all insects that affect livestock and man are under study. This tick differs from the well known hard ticks, such as those which attack man, cattle and horses in the early spring, swelling with blood for periods of a week or more, in that, members of its group are nocturnal in habit and require no more than an hour or so to feed on their hosts.

The latter may consist of birds, small rodents, deer or mountain sheep, cats, rabbits or other animals, depending upon the species of tick involved. These ticks are oblong in shape, have a pebbled appearance, are brown or bluish in color, and are quite active when disturbed. While some two dozen species are known below the Canadian border, only three have been collected in Canada, and none of these feed readily on man. However, it has long been suspected that two man attacking species that occur in Idaho and Montana might be present in British Columbia, though all search to date has failed to reveal them.

The recent knowledge and specimens of a man-biting soft tick taken in a dwelling at Summerland are now substantiating this belief, and it remains for the species to be identified and tied up with its natural host, which may include burrowing owls, chipmunks or other small creatures. In the meantime the Dominion Livestock Insect Laboratory at Kamloops will be glad to receive any information or specimens that may come to hand from the vicinity of Summerland.

and Leo Portelance, Ocean Falls, third, with 54.

Jean Juniper finished with 54 points in the ladies' senior aggregate, emblematic of the Hiram Walker Trophy. Jean captured the 100 yards freestyle; 200 yards freestyle; and one mile swim. In second place was Ina Salmon, Victoria, with 42 points, and Bev Sablin, Spokane, third with 30.

Pat Whiteside, Vancouver ASC nosed out Betty Taylor, Ocean Falls by two points to win the ladies' junior aggregate. Pat, who was awarded the Percy Norman Trophy, had a total of 44 points. In third place was Norm Stewart, Victoria, with 26 points.

Study Silver Star Road Possibilities

VERNON—A full study of Silver Star development possibilities was begun in Vernon last week by officials from the B.C. department of lands and forests. Two representatives have made two trips up the favored resort mountain, have conferred with board of trade and civic officials and members of the Silver Star Ski club and with other ski enthusiasts in the valley.

According to H. J. Fosbrooke, vice-president of the Vernon Board of Trade, their major concern is to investigate the whole idea from the point of view of the forestry department, and possibly make recommendations on three alternatives for providing a road to the summit.

The department officials are A. W. Weston, technical assistant in the parks division of the forest service, and D. M. Drew, assistant forester in the parks department.

Province Had To Find Other Revenue Source

VERNON—"A distinct lag of $12,000,000" in the province's financial budget brought about the situation where "something had to go or we had to find another source of revenue," said C. W. Morrow, M.L.A., in reviewing the last session of the Legislature at the Monday Rotary luncheon.

"The fight in the caucus was very bitter," but difficulties were ironed out and "we more or less met the house united." Regarding social security, "there is not one act you would want cut down or cancelled—if they were to stay intact, we simply had to find another $12,000,000 revenue."

Discussing the social security and municipal aid tax—"which you insist on calling the sales tax"—Mr. Morrow said: "As far as I can see, although I hear many complaints, it is going to be accepted." He outlined the above reasons for the tax and added that the municipalities were demanding a large increase in their "cuts" from the government.

There will be definitely $4,000,000 going to the municipalities with the other $8,000,000 definitely for social service assistance. "The money is there for that precise service."

Other acts touched upon in Mr. Morrow's address were the "pink slip law," the Wives' Protection Act, the Deserted Wives' Maintenance Act, the Marriage Act and the Liquor Act.

He thought that in the building trades there would be found a great improvement in the set-up between the owners and the contractors. "The contractors are now compelled to take the monies you give them and put it in a trust account."

Through another act, a magistrate is now allowed to charge three dollars for a hearing instead of $2.50.

Hobby Show To Break All Records

All attendance and exhibit records are expected to be broken at this year's Hobby Show of the Pacific National Exhibition.

Hobby Show officials report a heavy early entry list and work has already started on preparing the Exhibition Gardens Building for the event. The variety and quality of the hobby work on display is expected to exceed even last year's record figure.

CONSIDER SLOWER SPEED

VERNON—The city council is seriously considering a 20-mile-an-hour speed limit in Vernon. The present 30-mile limit is a standard provincial ruling for municipalities and a city bylaw would be required for a reduced rate.

A. Moyls was top scorer at the Summerland Rifle Club range, with a top of 91. Bert Simpson and Fred Dundson were next in line with 87 each, while other scores follow: Les Gould 86, D. Price 83, G. Forster 81, J. Dundson 78, D. Lillico 61.

CPR OFFICIAL PRAISES REGATTA

KELOWNA—"Kelowna's Regatta has become a national affair in western Canada, comparable with the Calgary Stampede," said George H. Baillie, vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway, Pacific Region, commodore of this year's annual water show.

Occasion was the traditional Kelowna Board of Trade banquet tendered to the male coaches, competitors and guests at the Royal Anne Hotel Tuesday evening.

Stressing the need for more athletic development, the commodore commended the "people of Kelowna and the Aquatic Association for contributing something to this aim." The Regattas are a "good thing for this city, for the province, in fact for all of Canada," said Mr. Baillie.

Money Prizes Brought Home From Big Shoot

Six Summerland rifle shooters journeyed to Vernon on August 7 to compete in the annual Interior shoot of the B.C. Inland Rifle Association.

Shooting took place on Saturday and Sunday, August 7 and 8.

Although no silverware was brought back, the riflemen made a good showing, gaining money prizes in all competitions.

G. M. Dundson topped the local shooters in the high aggregate with 220 out of a possible 245, just 9 points behind the leader, Geo. Hill of Kelowna. Other aggregates were Ed Gould 216, Ted Dundson 211, D. Weitzel 204, P. S. Dundson 198.

In the team shoot, Summerland placed fifth among nine teams with 758 points, compared to the winners, Kamloops No. 2, with 785 points.

About 50 shooters took part in the shoot. G. M. Dundson won first prize in the extra series shoot at 200 yards, while Ted Dundson won

Red Sox Win Pennant For Junior Loop

With only one loss during the season, Summerland Red Sox have been declared pennant winners in the South Okanagan junior baseball league. These young ball players who will be the senior stars of tomorrow, have been sponsored by the AOTS club and have had Les Gould as their chief coach and mentor.

The Red Sox went through twelve scheduled games with only one loss and thus have undisputed claim to the league pennant.

Oliver is in second place with nine wins, two losses and one tie with Penticton Pirates, who occupy third spot. In fourth place, just in the first division, are Skaha Lake Cubs of Penticton. These four teams will meet in the play-offs.

The playoff schedule announced this week shows that two sudden-death games will be played, the Red Sox meeting the Pirates and Oliver playing the Skaha Lake Cubs.

Winners of these two sudden-death counters will play a best of three series for the league championship.

Third prize in the extra series shoot at 600 yards. P. O. Drysdale of Vernon won the Tyro High Aggregate with 226 points.

At the annual meeting held during the shoot, H. "Pop" Dundson was elected honorary president of the B.C. I.R.A. and A. R. Dundson and P. S. Dundson were elected to the executive.

Merchants Still Have Play-off Chance After 5-2 Win From Hedley

With their backs to the wall, Summerland Merchants kept in the Interior baseball league race last Sunday by defeating Hedley at the athletic park grounds by a 5-2 count. It was a bang-up ball game with plenty of thrills and the local lads played ball which deserved of victory.

This win keeps the Merchants in a spot where they can tie for fourth place in the league standing and thus grab off a play-off chance. Last Sunday, Vernon defeated Princeton 3-2 in a hotly-contested game.

Summerland has one more league game to play—against Rutland. A win for the Merchants would place them in a three-way tie with Princeton and Hedley for the fourth spot. If Kelowna Cubs also managed to beat Rutland in the only other unfinished game, then Rutland would join the other three teams for the final play-off spot.

Rutland is to play here next Sunday in the all-important contest which may mean a lot to at least three teams.

Kamloops has been declared pennant winners, with Vernon in a tight hold on second place, with Rutland third at present.

Vanderburgh, Imayoshi and Walsh were the standouts for the winning Merchants last Sunday, with Imayoshi turning in by far his best game of the season. Taylor pulled off a sensational shoe-string catch which was one of the fielding highlights.

Hits were freely scattered, with Summerland having a slight edge, ten to nine. Evans had an edge on Hedley hurler, Byman, however, striking out six miners to Byman's four and only walking one batter while Byman was issuing three free passes.

The Merchants went into an early 2-0 lead in the second when Walsh poled out a triple and was sacrificed across by a neat bunt from Vanderburgh, who beat out the play. Imayoshi's single drove in the tall Merchants' first-sacker.

Back came Hedley in the fifth when Hambly clouted a timely single with Byman and Mulhern on the paths. Kuroda bobbled the grounder, allowing the latter to score on the play.

Winning runs were countered in the sixth when Vanderburgh singled, stole second and came around when Imayoshi's grounder was muffed at first. The latter player came around while his team mates were grounding out to the infield.

Hedley never threatened from then on and the Merchants added another in the eighth, just to make it safe. Vanderburgh again started things with a single, scoring on Imayoshi's double.

Two double plays in the first two innings set Hedley back on its collective heels and provided the psychological effect which meant a victory for the Merchants.

Use Travellers Cheques For Ease And Security

If you'd like a safer, handier way of carrying funds on your next trip, you'd do well to join the thousands of Canadians who use Bank of Montreal travellers cheques.

For special safety, you sign each cheque on top as you buy it and sign again on the bottom when you cash it. Thus there is no difficulty about identification.

You can obtain these cheques at low cost in all B of M branches. They are safe, convenient, yet easily cashed.

J. Muirhead, local manager, recommends a B of M letter of credit for larger sums. He will gladly advise you about your other financial arrangements for travelling. Why not see him tomorrow? You'll be surprised at the many ways he can be helpful.—Adv't.

Going Steady...with Success

Jack Service is a businessman in Community Centre, B.C. His premises are painted in the familiar Cream-Green-and-Burgundy colors of all Chevron Gas Stations. Like many others, he borrowed to get started. Now he's paid that loan back, and is both boss and owner ... one of 333 independent dealers who sell Standard of B.C. products.

Why did Jack decide to join this particular family? Chiefly because he wanted a business of his own and Standard of B.C. had a reputation for favoring and supporting the principles of Free Enterprise. Standard helped him get started, for he seemed to have the qualities Standard looks for. But the story doesn't end there.

Jack is honest, hard-working, decent. He wants to succeed so he can give his youngsters a good start in life and normal security. To help him get ahead, Standard's merchandising experience is at his disposal. This spirit of friendly teamwork pays off, for with this information he can give better service to his customers.

"Going Steady with Success" is Jack's motto. He's doing a great job. Both he and Standard of B.C. are examples of venture-capital, soundly managed, contributing success to an expanding British Columbia. Our system of opportunity, we believe, offers Jack and all of us greater freedom, security, and more lasting benefits than any other.

Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited

This series is presented by the people of Standard of B.C. and our associates, the independent Chevron Dealers, to discuss the part we play in the development of British Columbia, and our faith in the future of this province under the free opportunity system. Please send your suggestions of the plan to: President, Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited, Marine Building, Vancouver, B.C.

Application for a domestic water 3/4-inch connection to the cold storage engine room by the B.C. Fruit Shippers Ltd. in West Summerland was approved by the Tuesday council meeting.

Hospital Insurance Plan Registration to Commence When Forms Arrive Here

Officials of the Summerland Hospital Society are awaiting further orders from Victoria to set in motion the registration of all Summerland citizens under the provincial government hospital insurance scheme. In some parts of the province registration has already commenced but here the supply of registration forms has not arrived. It is expected that these cards will be mailed to every resident through the local post offices.

Storms Did Little Harm To Fruit Crops

Reporting on August 10, the horticultural news letter issued by the provincial department of agriculture office at Vernon this week, states that the heavy storm of August 4 morning did not cause any damage to crops in the Summerland-Peachland-Westbank area.

Local Plan Through
Dr. J. M. Hershey, commissioner of the hospital insurance service and Mr. P. W. Weston, Victoria, department of health representative, visited the Okanagan last week and met a deputation from the Summerland Hospital Society.

The local hospital insurance plan will wind up at December 31, when coverage by the government plan takes effect. Blue Cross, the largest hospital insurance plan operating in B.C. has announced that it will cease activities in this province at the year end.

Dr. Hershey stated while in the valley that some private schemes may continue operation even after the provincial plan comes into effect but the health department had found none that would give the same service at the same cost as provided in the government-operated plan.

The employees of Canadian banks, the Canadian Pacific Railway and the B.C. Telephone Co. are said to be continuing with their insurance schemes as they are equivalent in scope to the government scheme, it is believed. Earlier in the week, an official statement was issued by the government. The statement, which clears up many questions in the minds of the public, follows:

Apple Box Shook Supply Will be Ample

KELOWNA—Due to the drop in the anticipated 1948 apple crop production, it has been found necessary to decrease box shook orders by approximately 400,000 apple boxes, L. R. Stephens, secretary of the box shook committee states.

Mr. Stephens pointed out that at the beginning of the crop year, it was expected that approximately 3,000,000 boxes would be needed for the Kelowna district. However, the 1948 crop is expected to be lower than previously estimated.

Mr. Stephens said there was a small carry-over of box shook from last year, and that present estimates also include a small reserve. All box shook will be delivered in good time, he said.

"Actually, we have a small surplus at the present time," he said, adding that several mills in the Kootenays have been pressing the box shook committee for orders.

Referring to nails, Mr. Stephens said packinghouses have received or will receive around 75 per cent of the total nail requirements by the end of the week and that the balance will be forthcoming within the near future.

Lightning Strikes Home of Peter Guidi

Lightning struck the home of Mr. Peter Guidi, on Giant's Head road about 12:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon when the first part of the storm which lasted most of the afternoon deluged this district and played havoc in other parts of the Okanagan.

Mr. Guidi was the only occupant of the home when the lightning struck, concentrating most of its force on the telephone and then bouncing streaks of fire from the water taps.

Mr. Guidi was sitting almost underneath the telephone at the time and received part of the lightning effect, being temporarily stunned and unable to move while the lightning was prevalent in the room.

Only damage done was a small portion of plaster knocked off the wall by the telephone.

Summerland's 'Glad' Float Wins Top Spot for Peach Festival Parade

Twelve hundred gladioli from the famous E. H. Bennett glad farm went into the big Summerland float which captured the spontaneous plaudits of the huge crowd which lined Pentiction streets yesterday morning for the monster parade marking the opening of Pentiction's first annual Peach Festival.

A copper shield on a wooden placque was the first prize award in the community float section taken by the Summerland entry. The inscription reads: "Pentiction and District Peach Festival, 1948, 1st Prize, Community Floats, presented by Okanagan Investments Ltd."

Given top place of honor in the parade, the Summerland float, arranged by the Summerland Board of Trade with the assistance of many others, was the only parade entry from this district and was truly a fine exhibit.

Forty-five floats and cars were entered in the mile-long parade which also included a parade of rodeo and riding horses a block long, led by the famous Palomino horses. Six bands added to the festive air of the morning procession. Pentiction's Main street was lined with flags and other decorations welcoming the many visitors, who had assembled from all over the Pacific Northwest. Hundreds of Summerland residents could be observed witnessing the parade.

Profusion of Color
Summerland's gladioli float had only the one motif. Against a background of white and yellow glads, the name SUMMERLAND was inscribed in dark red glads. Below this raised portion were banked a profusion of bloom, all the many colors of the famous Bennett gladioli being prominently displayed.

Green cedar boughs formed the background for this rich showing of summer flowers. The truck used for the purpose was donated by Smith & Henry and was driven by Mr. George Henry.

First in the procession was the color party of Sea Cadets and Army Cadets. Then followed the Pentiction band, which included a number of Summerland musicians. Two official cars carried first Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance and Mr. Neil McKerracher, chairman of the Pentiction Peach Festival committee; then came Miss Alexis Smith, Hollywood star who is Pentiction-born, and Mayor Robert Lyon.

Following was the Royal Party car and an official car from the Wenatchee Chamber of Commerce, bringing greetings from the State of Washington.

First place of the floats was awarded the Summerland entry, followed by a splendid float from Okanagan Falls.

Other bands in the parade were the combined Pentiction and Kelowna Canadian Legion pipe band, the Maple Leaf band from Trail, the McIntosh girls' pipe band, the Tonasket, Wash., band and the Pentiction Sea Cadets drum and bugle band.

Organizing of the Summerland float fell on the shoulders of Mr. Roy Wellwood, chairman of the tourist and publicity committee of the Summerland Board of Trade. In his work, he was greatly assisted by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bennett and Miss Joan Bennett.

Others who worked diligently and hard during three days to make the float such a success included Mr. and Mrs. George Henry, Mr. Tom Manning, Mr. Bill Sherwood, Mr. Tom Fisher, Mr. Harold Down, Mrs. H. Mitchell, Mr. Lorne Perry, Mr. Francis Stewart, Mr. R. R. Smith, Miss M. Ratzlaf, Mr. Fred Schwass, Mr. Pete Renzi.

B.C. Sales Tax Remittance Forms Will be Received Here in Few Days

Mr. D. A. Sutherland, representing the social securities and municipal aid tax department (3% sales tax) visited here on Monday, August 16 to brief Summerland on a few of the intricacies of this tax.

He points out that every person who sells retail must be registered by August 31, or on any of his purchases after that date whether for re-sale or for consumer use, he will be required to pay the 3% tax at source of purchase. When the retailer has received his certificate of registration and account number, he will be entitled to purchase goods for resale tax free.

Remittance forms to cover the tax collection are being sent out within the next few days, and these require, among other things, the following information:

(1) A listing of total sales, which include charge and cash sales, broken down into the departments of sales upon which tax was collected and those upon which no tax was collected. This last item includes sales of exempt items, sales for resale, and items under 15c in price.

Kutch and Jean Iwayoshi. J. McLachlan's truck was used to transport flowers.

Most of this group was at work at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, and there wasn't a gladioli left when the final bloom was attached to the background. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powell, Pentiction, assisted this group by loaning space for decorating and also in providing refreshments early yesterday morning.

Following the parade, Miss Alexis Smith crowned Miss Beverly Ann Young as Queen of the Peach Festival. As Miss Canadian Legion, Miss Young was declared queen, while Miss Norma McDonald, Miss BCFGA, and Miss Moira Latimer, Miss Jaycee, are her attendants.

Big features of the three-day affair are the rodeo and midway attractions at Queen's Park, besides numerous dances and other festivities. The three-day affair closes Friday evening.

Jet Planes Will Be Here at Weekend

Training aircraft of Vancouver's famed 442 Auxiliary Fighter Squadron, RCAF, will roar over Pentiction during a three-day operational exercise this weekend.

The nine Harvard two-seater aircraft will arrive at Pentiction airfield Friday evening, and will fly during Saturday and Sunday. Local air cadets, who will be hosts to the fighter unit, will have a chance to fly behind the jet pilots during regular battle exercises.

The RCAF unit is the perpetuating peace-time successor of the famous "Caribou Squadron" of World War II. Its operational aircraft, deHavilland "Vampire" jets, have been seen at Pentiction recently when they refuelled at the airfield en route to the coast from eastern Canada.

Alan Calvert Is Again Chairman Of Legion Zone

Alan Calvert, president of Summerland branch No. 22, Canadian Legion, was re-appointed chairman of the South Okanagan-Similkameen zone council of the Legion at the annual session held at Copper Mountain on Sunday afternoon, August 15.

Local Citizens Testify To Benefits of Red Cross Blood Transfusion Clinic

Next Monday, August 23, Summerland district residents have an opportunity of making a donation for the sake of humanity with the annual visit of the Canadian Red Cross Society blood donor clinic.

This clinic is being conducted from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Ellison hall and it is hoped by Mr. J. Y. Towgood, chairman of the local committee, that at least two hundred local citizens will make a donation of a pint of blood each.

Last year when the blood donor clinic made its first appearance here the response, in comparison to the local population, was equal to any other centre in B.C. and better than most places.

Saved Her Life
Throughout most hospitals in B.C. there is a great demand for whole blood and plasma. The local hospital has had several occasions in the past year when it was necessary to administer whole blood in order to help save a life.

Mrs. Frank Jacobs suffered a hemorrhage in April and it was an emergency case. Whole blood was obtained from the Pentiction blood bank and rushed to Summerland.

"I feel it was responsible for saving my life," Mrs. Jacobs informed the Review this week, "and I am very thankful that the Red Cross had instituted such a marvellous service."

Councillor and Mrs. Eric Tait are equally thankful that Summerland has access to a blood bank, as provided by the Red Cross Society. This year, their 7-year-old son Donald, was in need of a blood transfusion when complications followed an operation. The blood was available within a short period and they are convinced that his rapid recovery from then on was the result of this transfusion.

There are numerous other cases of Summerland persons who are thankful that the Red Cross has instituted this great humanitarian service.

Mr. Towgood points out that all those who gave blood last year have been notified of the time of their appointments this year. A number of new donors have volunteered this year and Mr. Towgood is hopeful that many more will be available during the three hours the clinic visits Summerland.

All arrangements for the clinic are now completed and captains have been appointed to assist the visiting doctors and nurses. Mrs. R. G. Russel is in charge of the reception committee, Mrs. E. Gjills heads the nursing committee and Mrs. R. C. Palmer has charge of the refreshment group.

Any persons who desire transportation to Ellison hall are asked to communicate with Mr. Towgood, Phone 943, and he will arrange that a vehicle takes them to the clinic and returns them to their homes.

Legion Gets Club Licence

After weeks of delay, the Summerland branch of the Canadian Legion has been awarded its licence to operate a veterans' club premises, with beer being retailed to members and guests.

The licence was received on Tuesday morning's mail by Legion Secretary Lorne G. Perry. That afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the newly-renovated Legion hall was opened as a licensed premises for the first time. Recreational facilities have been provided for members.

Flower Show Big Feature On August 25

Next Wednesday, August 25, the horticultural society will hold its 23rd annual gladioli and flower show at Ellison hall, both afternoon and evening.

The first show was held in 1926, the year the horticultural society came into being. Prior to that time the Women's Institute had combined its annual homecooking and handicraft shows with a floral competitive display, but not until the society took hold were the annual series of all-flower competitive and commercial displays inaugurated.

At last year's show outside competitors won in several classes, so Summerland exhibitors are expected to be "on their toes" to make a good showing. The society executive under President Mrs. M. E. Colias hopes that local gardening enthusiasts, irrespective of membership, will bring their choice blooms in for entry, and so lend extra local color and bring home to visitors and residents alike the wonderful flower-raising possibilities of Summerland.

There are seven challenge cups offered in this show, covering entries of annuals, asters, dahlias, gladioli, and artistic displays of garden flowers. There are many prizes of things valuable to gardeners, and there are good money prizes in several groups, especially for the children's class of bowls of flowers to be artistically arranged on the spot by children under 13.

Commercial growers Mr. E. H. Bennett and Mr. Lee McLaughlin and Mr. Stephen, of Keremeos, will put on large displays of new named varieties, thus adding color and interest to flower-conscious people, whether growers or mere savors of floral beauty.

Summerland Merchants Slide Into Playoffs After Tie for Fourth Spot

By virtue of an 11-8 victory over Rutland played on the water-soaked Living Memorial athletic park grounds late Sunday afternoon, Summerland Merchants have reached the playoffs in the interior baseball league.

Rutland had already secured third place in the league standing with a 5-1 win over Kelowna Cubs in another delayed contest, while this Sunday win meant that the Merchants had obtained a three-way tie for fourth spot in the play-offs, sharing this position with Princeton and Hedley.

As the result of a league ruling, if any draw occurred in league standing, the team having the most runs would get the nod into the playoffs. Princeton and Hedley, in league play, had amassed 44 runs each while Summerland, due to a great extent to last Sunday's victory, scored more than 50 runs.

Thus, Summerland Merchants are in the playoffs and will meet Vernon next Sunday at the northern city in a sudden-death contest. Rutland travels to Kamloops for a similar game and the winners will come together in a two out of three series for the league championship.

JUST MADE IT! B. C. INTERIOR LEAGUE FINAL STANDING

	Won	Lost	Pctge.
Kamloops	10	2	.833
Vernon	8	4	.668
Rutland	6	6	.500
Summerland	5	7	.416

Kelowna Cubs	3	9	.250

day's victory, scored more than 50 runs. Thus, Summerland Merchants are in the playoffs and will meet Vernon next Sunday at the northern city in a sudden-death contest. Rutland travels to Kamloops for a similar game and the winners will come together in a two out of three series for the league championship.

Took Early Lead
Rutland went into an early lead last Sunday in a game which had more spills than thrills. The field was decidedly slippery as it resembled a lake earlier in the afternoon. However, the teams went the nine innings, concluding about 8 o'clock.

Three runs in the first frame and another three in the third gave Rutland a commanding lead before the Merchants started to strike back. The count was knotted by the end of the fourth and Summerland went ahead 8-6 in the fifth.

NO TRACE OF DARING THIEVES

B. C. Police Constable T. Thorsteinson reports that there is "nothing now" in connection with the daring Summerland Groceries robbery on the morning of August 6, when $4,500 in cheques, cash and cigarettes were stolen. Detective Constable T. A. Quigley, of Nelson, is still in Summerland working with Constable Thorsteinson on the case but although dozens of clues have been traced down, no arrests have been made and there is no trace of the stolen property.

Good Luck, Penticton

PENTICTON and District is celebrating its biggest event this week — the first annual Peach Festival.

For years, public-spirited citizens in the city at the end of the lake have toyed with a plan of publicizing their district and their superior mid-summer fruit with a festival which would provide the means of attracting thousands of visitors to the southern part of the Okanagan.

This week sees the culmination of this plan, in the presentation of a three-day affair which is in its second phase today.

Summerland, being in the Penticton district, will no doubt be entering in the spirit of the big event. Yesterday, a Summerland Board of Trade float was entered in the monster parade which marked the commencement of Penticton's first Peach Festival.

It has been an ambitious undertaking, one of the biggest ventures of its kind ever staged in the Okanagan. We sincerely hope that the results, both from a financial and publicity standpoint, will justify the immense amount of work and thought which have gone into the project.

With the advent of the Peach Festival, the three main cities in the Okanagan now provide formal festivities during the summer months. Visitors to the Okanagan can attend all three functions in the space of three weeks.

First there is the celebrated Kelowna Regatta, which occupies the first Tuesday and Wednesday of August. The following week comes the Vernon Frontier Days, commemorating the pioneers who first developed this fertile valley. And this week we have the Penticton Peach Festival, publicizing the luscious, summer fruit which has no peer.

Summerland joins with the rest of B.C. in wishing Penticton and its Peach Festival committee good weather, bumper crowds and a good time.

Canada's Banking System

IN THIS day of pressure from minority groups towards the socialization and government control of so many branches of Canadian industry and enterprise, the decision of the Australian courts that the Australian government cannot take control of banking in that country as the proposed legislation is ultra vires of the constitution, provides food for thought for Canadians.

Canada has a banking system which is recognized as the soundest system in the world. Of course, many of us would like to see Canada's banks be a little more lenient at times, but the average banker is a keen business man and if there is merit in your proposition, monetary assistance generally will be forthcoming.

So often, suspicion comes into the minds of the public that politics is influencing decisions. Only recently we heard one citizen expounding that the Canadian National Railways are being held down in order that they would not surpass to any great degree, the private corporation, the CPR.

This argument was advanced despite the well-known fact that operation of the railways is governed strictly by the Board of Railway Commissioners, which is a non-political body and which should have the faith of the public, if the public has any faith in any public body.

If the public believes, and a portion certainly does, that politics even enters the railway commission judgments, how long would public confidence be maintained in a government-controlled banking system?

At present, Canada has great faith in its national banking institutions, a faith which could be likened to the Empire's faith in Gibraltar. But we do not believe that this faith would continue if the government of the day took over the operation of these private enterprises.

It is a sad criterion on governmental institutions, but suspicion and doubt arises in the minds of the public once politics enters the picture.

Just a Small Request

NEXT MONDAY, August 23, citizens of Summerland district are being asked to make a donation.

In the normal course of events, we are called upon to make many donations, generally of a monetary nature. But this time, it is not a matter of reaching into your pocketbook or reaching for a pen and a cheque blank.

This contribution will not affect any person who is in a normal state of health. It merely requires that you donate a pint of your blood, a small quantity of the rich life fluid which pounds through your veins.

You will never miss it. But if you do not provide it, then some person's life may ebb away and you will be to blame. By making this small donation, you may be able to extend the life span of some other person.

Your blood may assist some person of whom you have never heard. Or your blood may provide the necessary stimulus for some person who is near and dear to you.

The Red Cross blood donor clinic will be operating in Summerland for one day only next Monday, at the Ellison hall. If you were included in the list of donors last year, then you will be notified of the time when you should be at Ellison hall to make your donation this year.

If, for some reason, you could not attend last year and are not on this list, then you can obtain registration cards at Green's Drug Store or The Review office, or Mr. J. Y. Towgood, who is in charge of the local Red Cross blood donor committee, will be only too pleased to give out any information required.

This is your small donation in the name of humanity.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

In view of the ever present problem of increasing costs in fruit production and marketing, it will come as welcome news to fruit growers that real savings on storage costs are being effected through grower-financed research in British Columbia.

In the past, cold storage houses have been built with two groups of experts attending to their own fields of work. The architect and contractor dealing with the fabric of the building and the refrigeration company installing machinery guaranteed to produce a given number of "tons of refrigeration". The matter of distribution of this refrigeration through the stored fruit has, only too often, been left in the hands of people who were gravely handicapped by the lack of real training or experience in the difficult business of distributing refrigerated air evenly and economically without damage to the delicate tissues of living fruit.

For the past two years a considerable portion of the BCFGA research grant to the Summerland experimental station has been used for investigation of air distribution in fruit storages. This work has been carried out by Bill Grierson-Jackson, Don Fisher and Earle Edge. Those energetic workers have gathered together a wealth of information which is already being utilized to bring about great improvements in the design and operation of cold storage air distribution ducts.

This summer, special attention is being paid to those storages which are under construction or being rebuilt and to those in which trouble has been experienced in the past.

In discussing the work which he is doing, Bill Grierson-Jackson paid high tribute to the managers and operators of several really efficient cold storages. These men have patiently co-operated with the investigators while they studied their air distribution duct systems in detail to find out just why they work so well. The information secured from these well planned and well operated storages is of very great value in improving the design and operating technique of those which have been giving poor results.

It is planned at the close of this season's work to publish all the information which has been accumulated, for the guidance of the industry as a whole. Meantime, any packing house manager or storage operator requiring assistance or advice should get in touch with Don Fisher.

The Giant of Giant's Head

XI.—The Kidnapping of Kate
When you go to fight a dragon
Carry water in a pail,
For you must put out his fire
Or he'll roast you like a quail.
Now, today, we have a dragon,
Red and ruthless, cruel and cold;
Can the Marshall Plan restrain him?
Must we fight to freedom hold?

The Giant had been married to Kate for about ten years when a sudden event shattered his quiet contentment.

Kate had the custom of going out every morning to gather flowers for the table at the noon-day meal. Then she would open a can of soup and that would be lunch. As the Giant would jokingly remark: "Flowers and soup for lunch again!"

One day noon came and Kate was not present to operate the can opener. The Giant became more hungry and impatient as the minutes passed and finally he was driven to ask the neighbors where Kate had gone.

"She went up to Paradise Flat to pick flowers as usual," he was told.

The Giant, by now, was really worried so he sent some Boy Scouts up to investigate. They returned shortly saying there were marks of a struggle and dragon footprints were visible—leading south.

"The dragons have taken her!" shouted the Giant. "Now we will have war with a capital B—for blood!"

He summoned the War Minister, General Fuddle. "Call out the army!" he roared. "Call out the navy! Call out the air force!"

The General reminded him gently that he had no navy or air force.

"Then call out the active army, call the reserves, the cadets and the Girl Guide..."

"That will be enough," said the General. "We will not need a fourth. It is not bridge we are discussing."

"I must be over-excited," apologized the Giant. "They will be calling me 'Fuddle,' too, if I do not control myself. But Kate is a good kid—I would hate to lose her."

"I know how you feel," answered the General. "I was married once myself. But I had to join the army and go to war to find peace. That is what I would call a paradox."

"To Paraguay with your paradoxes!" roared the Giant. "What we want now is action."

It was arranged that the Giant with ten men would follow the trail of the fire-breathing dragons and try to rescue Kate from their cruel power. If the party did not return in three days, it would be assumed that they had perished. Then the General would lead the entire army against the Rock Creek stronghold and either wipe out the dragons or die in the attempt.

The Giant and party set out at once. They followed the trail south, which led past Dog Lake. When the leader of the Dogs was asked if he had seen any dragons, he was abrupt and unco-operative. "We ain't seen nothing," was his answer. (He was an ignorant hound).

The Giant arrived at Rock Creek just at dusk. When activity had quieted around the dragon fortress, the party crept in and found one cave with a guard at the entrance. This sentry was cooking fish by the flame of his breath—an interesting sight.

While trying to find a unwatched entrance to the cave, the Giant heard a faint tapping on the rock wall of the cavern. Dash, dot, dash; dot, dot; dash, dot, dot. The same message was repeated over and over. The Giant withdrew his men.

"Did you hear that tapping?" he asked his men. "That is Giant-code. Some day Morse will adopt it. Those sounds meant k-i-d, k-i-d, k-i-d. That is our secret signal, 'Kate in distress.' Now at least we know where she is but the problem will be how to rescue her."

The dragon still watched the cave entrance and he looked alert and formidable.

It was planned that the Giant, himself, would sneak upon the guard, knock him down and hold him while another giant poured a pail of water down his throat to put out the fire, and give the attackers a chance to tie him.

The scheme worked perfectly. Soon the dragon was lying helpless with his fire quenched.

Entering the now unguarded cave, the Giant found Kate completely bound and gagged. (She had tapped the message with her head.)

The reunion of Kate and our Giant was beautiful to see—but let us not intrude. Picking her up in his strong, loving arms, the trip back to the Head was made in record time.

In the cave under the Head, affairs soon settled into their regular routine and daily the Giant could be heard to remark: "Flowers and soup for lunch again!"

Grant Permission to Blow Beaver Dams

B. C. Game Commission has informed the municipal council that it has permission to dynamite beaver dams on the local watersheds if beaver are interfering with the storage dams and spillways.

Also, a trapper will be instructed to capture beaver in that district this winter to remove these animals from the dams.

Water Foreman Kercher, when informed of the game commission's authorization, stated he would be loathe to dynamite the dams, but if necessary would carry out the instructions.

Pioneer Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO
August 9 and 16, 1918

Rev. Charles Baker's application for appointment as manual training instructor here has been accepted by the school board, conditional upon his acceptance by Penticton, the arrangement being that he will spend two days here and three in Penticton. He comes from Lethbridge, Alta.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, met the Summerland council here and discussed irrigation problems. The minister stated that there are no water difficulties here requiring government attention, and that the government has no general policy of water storage and administration.

An eastern brokerage firm has offered a block of Summerland debentures maturing in 1940 at 75.82. The council is considering the proposal.

The extensive holdings of the South Okanagan Land Co., including what is popularly known as Fairview Flats, is receiving serious consideration by the Land Settlement Board of the provincial government.

Deer season opens Sept. 14 and continues to December 15. Ducks, geese, snipe and plover may be shot during the same period, while blue and ruffed grouse hunting season is Sept. 14 to October 31. October 26 to November 8 are the dates for pheasant shooting.

A public meeting to discuss the enlarging of the irrigation system will be called shortly by the council. It is proposed to raise the dam at the intake on Trout Creek, enlarge the main canal and a lengthy stretch of wood flume on that canal, and to do considerable work on the north main.

No files for August or the early part of September, 1928, are available to this office, at present.

No Domestic Line For Subdivision Until Pipe Here

There is still no domestic water pipe available for prospective users in the Sergeant subdivision, although delivery was expected this month, the council was informed on Tuesday, August 10.

Some time ago one owner had agreed to pay a monthly charge for a standpipe but he has now sold his property to H. Steininger, who has been billed for three months' usage of this standpipe.

Mr. Steininger has protested this bill, stating that some six other residents in the neighborhood have been using water from this pipe.

The council took the attitude that Mr. Steininger must be responsible for payment or the connection will be shut off. He should collect from his neighbors who are using the convenience, the council considered.

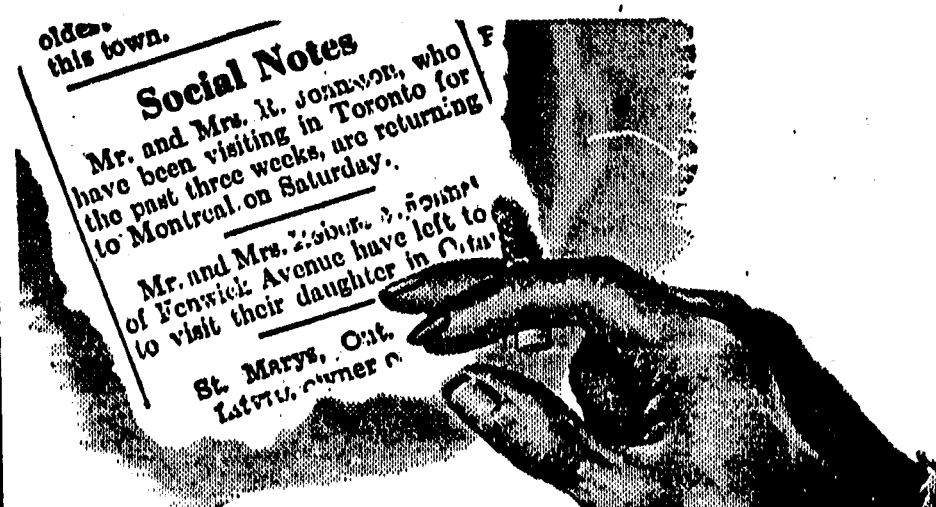

J. Buczko, another resident of the Sergeant subdivision, came to the council for information regarding future delivery of water but was informed that nothing could be done until the pipe is delivered.

COMBINED READINGS

Question of two adjoining houses occupied by one family was introduced to the council last week by Electrical Foreman T. P. Thorner. The council agreed that in such a case the electrical readings could be combined, instead of two minimums being paid.

COUNCIL ACCOUNTS

Accounts totalling $25,010 were passed for payment at last week's council session. This amount includes payment for the municipal road maintainer, purchased from Pollock Motors Ltd.

Rumors of War Were Apparent 140 Years Ago

One of Mrs. H. G. Milne's treasured possessions is a photostatic copy of a letter written in the year 1805 by her great grand uncle, Frank Smith to his brother George. The finely etched hand writing of the transcript makes it an interesting document, but its greatest interest lies in the comparisons and contrast of today with life on this continent 140 years ago.

War and rumors of war were the order of the day then, just as it is now—and the young United States was already craving isolation from troubled Europe. "I find you are still assiduous on your side of the water in spreading desolation and war. Spain has become a party and Russia and Sweden are ready to follow so that the approaching Spring looks bloody—I am sick of hearing the dismal tale and it shocks my humanity to read the history of the day, where will these evils end?—We are here secure from all these broils and likely so to remain."

Mr. Smith also complains, even as we do today, about the high cost of living—"I find by our last arrival from England that some of the most important articles of life, as bread, porter, coals, etc., are at an enormous price.— We also have borne our portion of calamity here, having had the severest winter since the war.

"Bread is dearer than with you, and fuel much dearer, as none can now be brought in except by land, in small quantities, the rivers being all shut up . . . many die from want and proportionally there are as many scenes of misery in this city as in London."

On a more cheerful note, Mr. Smith says of the firm with whom he was employed: "We are making money like dirt, hope to have time to breath a little country air soon, 'tis not money I have my eye on, 'tis acres of land, more satisfying by far."

Rather coyly he mentions the prospect of marrying. "I am reconbiting some of the ladies, but see I cannot please myself. I know what I want," he says, "but—but the Ladies—in short, they are mere Ladies."

B.C. Hospital Projects Get Federal Aid

Several British Columbia hospital projects will receive grants under the federal government's new health assistance program, it has been announced by Health and Welfare Minister George S. Pearson. Almost half the total of $2,529,153 granted to British Columbia will be for hospital construction. The building grant, which must be matched by a similar grant from the province, amounts to $1,080,745. Surveys of requirements by the federal health department will be required before aid is forthcoming.

Mr. Pearson stated that the federal grant of $1,000 for each acute bed and $1,500 for each chronic bed was a small fraction of the total cost of hospital construction in British Columbia at the present time. Costs here have been estimated up to $10,000 a bed.

The federal grant will be paid for specific projects, not in a lump sum. To qualify for it, hospital construction must have started on or after April 1, 1948, and the amount paid from federal funds is not to exceed one-third of total construction costs.

The program will be administered by Dr. F. W. Jackson, deputy minister of health for Manitoba, as director of health insurance studies.

For mental health, the second largest grant, $4,000,000, will be divided among the provinces and over a period of years will rise to $7,000,000.

To strengthen general public health services, such as the control of communicable diseases and development of child and maternal health programs, British Columbia will receive $365,400 and for cancer control, $290,000. The rest of the grant will be divided, in specified amounts, among tuberculosis control, aid for crippled children, public health research and training of public health workers.

Mrs. M. Kelstad surveyed her property recently and found that one planted strip amounting to one-quarter acre is actually on municipal land. On Aug. 10 the council agreed to sell this strip to Mrs. Kelstad for $50, plus the cost of the completed survey.

Australian Court Vetoes Government Control of Banks

The high court of the commonwealth of Australia on Wednesday, August 11, ruled that the government's proposed nationalization of commercial banking is unconstitutional. Among other things the court held the legislation to the theme and to section 92 of the Australian constitution which says that trade between the states shall be absolutely free.

Commenting on the judgment, Robert Rae, president of the Canadian Banking Association, said last week:

While the constitutional relationship in regards to banking in Australia is not on all fours with Canada, no doubt the essential principal on which the judgment was based is common to both countries, in that government ownership of commercial banking jeopardises its present impartiality and potentially interferes with freedom of commerce.

"That principle applies equally to Canada. Once bank credit accommodation is made subject to steering or direction based on political considerations of a party in power, or even opened to that possibility, freedom of commerce or of any kind of trade is beyond all effective guarantee. Availability of bank credit does not now depend even to the slightest degree on political creed or social doctrine. It never should.

"In Australia, too, there was a manifest fear of political intrusions into the money affairs of the private individual. This fear became so potent that the socialist government actually sought to allay it by wedging a provision into the proposed legislation.

"My information is that it quite signally failed to reason with the hard-headed depositors and borrowers of Australia."

Handling U.S. Currency In The Course of Business

Many goods and services securable only in the United States are essential to the maintenance of Canadian industry and the high level of employment.

All the U.S. dollars spent in Canada by U.S. tourists and business visitors are needed for these essential purchases.

To ensure that these tourist dollars are made available for this purposes, the Foreign Exchange Control regulations require that merchants, hotel keepers, service stations and all others must turn in whatever U.S. currency they receive to their banks.

F.E.C.B. Regulations You Should Know

1. You may accept U.S. currency from anyone who tenders it, either in payment for purchases or for exchange into Canadian currency at par.
2. You may make change in U.S. currency for a non-resident tourist who has tendered U.S. currency in payment of purchases.
3. You must NOT pay out U.S. currency to anyone in exchange for Canadian currency.
4. You must not pay out U.S. currency in change to a Canadian resident, even though the latter has tendered U.S. currency in payment of a purchase.

forms will subsequently be mailed to the remaining districts throughout the province.

"The householder type of registration form is to be completed by those who have not already registered under the payroll deduction method. It will be accompanied by a postage prepaid envelope, together with an instruction sheet, on which will appear a list of local hospital insurance service offices, which are being set up throughout the province.

"Registration is compulsory for all persons in British Columbia. Individuals should only register once, either with their employer on a payroll deduction basis or by using the householder type of form. Subscribers to "approved" plans, members of the Christian Science church and those living in areas where provision of general hospital service is not practical at the present time, must also register even though they may be exempted.

Fees Paid

"Persons in receipt of social assistance such as old age pensioners and recipients of mother's allowances will also be required to register, but will have their fees paid for them by the Provincial Government.

"Members of the permanent armed forces and persons individually entitled to complete hospital care under other official plans may be exempted, provided general hospital care is equivalent to that afforded under the Hospital Insurance Act. However, such persons will be required as heads of families, to register and pay premiums on behalf of a wife or other dependents.

Hills' Ladies' Wear Is Taken Over by New Owner Today

Today marks the change-over of one of West Summerland's best known businesses, with the acquisition by Mr. E. O. White, on behalf of his daughter, Miss Macil White, of Hill's Ladies' Wear and Dry Goods.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hill have disposed of their business after four years' residence here to Mr. and Mrs. White, of Oliver, who are well known in the South Okanagan and boundary country, having operated retail stores at Osoyoos and Greenwood.

Miss White will have complete charge of the West Summerland ladies' wear business and will operate under the trade name of Macil's Ladies' Wear and Dry Goods.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill, with Mrs. Hill's mother, Mrs. J. B. Kellogg, will be moving this month-end to Penticton, where Mr. Hill has purchased a half interest in the Basham & Finch men's wear store. He is going into partnership with Mr. W. Bryant, and the new Penticton store will be known as Bryant & Hill.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL LEAGUE STARTS WITH LOCAL WIN

First game of the newly-organized South Okanagan girls' softball league found the Summerland AOTS-sponsored entry defeating Oliver at the southern centre by a close 11-10 count.

A schedule has been arranged for games every Sunday until Sept. 19 with Summerland, Penticton, Rexalls, Oliver and Malott, Wash., teams being entered. Next Sunday, Penticton comes to Summerland for a league fixture. Murray Dracas is coach of the AOTS team, assisted by Pete Adams.

The girls' line-up last Sunday was as follows:

L. Lewis 2b, L. Burwash 3b, E. Dracas cf, K. Smith ss, J. Campeau 1b, C. Eyre rf, R. Klux lf, E. Heichert c, S. Taylor p, M. Jomori spare.

Score by innings:
Summerland 112 403 0-11
Oliver 205 020 1-10
S. Taylor and E. Heichert; E. Neilson and G. Gludovats.

RADIOACTIVE ORE

Hon. R. C. MacDonald, minister of mines, has confirmed reports that radioactive ore has been found in the province. The find is in the interior of the province and was made by an independent prospector. Two other samples of ore, one found by a grubstaked prospector, have shown minor reactions to Geiger count tests. These are the first discoveries of radioactive mineral in British Columbia known to the department.

Paving Commenced on Road South of Penticton

PENTICTON—Work started on Friday on the paving of Okanagan Highway No. 5, from Okanagan Falls to the top of Kruger Hill where it will join with existing hard surfacing.

This announcement follows closely upon a meeting of the executive of the Associated Boards of Trade of the Southern Interior which was held at Princeton on August 8. At that meeting, the executive expressed satisfaction with the task but urged that faster progress be made.

A resolution to this effect was adopted by the meeting and forwarded to the provincial department of public works.

When the above has been completed, the paving crews of Dawson, Wade & Co., the contractors, will start on Vancouver highway No. 3, Kaleden to Keremeos section.

This means that the Okanagan sector of the new southern highway system will be hard-surfaced this fall, providing suitable weather conditions obtain. Paving cannot be laid in wet weather, as under such conditions it does not "bind" properly.

All necessary equipment has been brought to location by the contractors. The principal item is a paving machine which can lay a mile of surfacing per day, approximately twelve feet wide. Thus a half-mile of complete surfacing in the standard 24-foot width, can be completed each working day.

Approximately 35 men are employed on the work, which includes in addition to the actual hard-surfacing laying, the preliminary oiling and grading.

Dawson, Wade recently completed the paving of the sector from Sterling Creek bridge to Princeton, another link of the new Vancouver road.

On this link, steel is finished on the new Sterling Creek bridge. The concrete surfacing of the deck for this long structure remains to be built.

By agreement between two of the contracting firms, according to preliminary announcement, W. C. Arnett & Co. and the Anderson Construction Co., the latter is taking over the building of three and a half miles on the main Princeton-Hope link.

The Anderson Construction Co. recently completed work on twenty-six and a half miles of road building on the link, and had their heavy equipment available for the other work. This will mean a speed-up on the over-all construction.

Negotiations are already under way whereby Arnett & Co. will sublet further uncompleted work on the 56 mile stretch for which they were the successful bidders.

It is reported that the eastern contractors have found mountain road building "hard going", and much more costly than they had previously thought, and that for this reason they had agreed to changes in allocation of contracts.

A. R. Colby, district engineer for the provincial department of public works, states that the ban officially closing the road three years ago, has never been lifted. A few adventurous drivers have covered the route "at their own risk", but this is not a recommended procedure, the engineer states.

Dougald McDougall Dies At Rutland

KELOWNA—With the passing on Sunday, August 1, of Dougald McDougall, land surveyor and civil engineer, the Rutland district lost one of its most ardent and capable workers in community and irrigation affairs. Mr. McDougall was a victim of cancer and died at his Rutland home quietly at the age of 57.

Born September 25, 1890, at Trinity, Scotland, just outside of Edinburgh, the late Mr. McDougall came to Canada at the age of 16, going first to Nelson, B.C. When World War I broke out, he joined the 48th Battalion Engineers, Canadian Survey Section. After the war he was discharged with the rank of lieutenant.

During his war years, he served with several Kelowna men who are still living here. Mr. McDougall came to Kelowna to live in 1919 and started surveying here under the firm name of Abbott & McDougall. He spent two or three years surveying in the Edgewater district and in 1937 he became secretary of the Black Mountain Irrigation district, at which time he moved his residence to Rutland.

Mr. McDougall's tenacity and persistence is generally credited with getting much useful legislation for irrigation districts in the province and for effecting a saving of thousands of dollars when the government announced its debt reductions. For several years he was secretary of the Association of B. C. Irrigation Districts and held that post until he retired this year due to ill health.

FACES EVICTION; WANTS SHACK

A man with a family facing eviction from his present living quarters, Ralph Gibbard has asked permission to occupy a small shack owned by the municipality and situated in the Paradise Flat area. The council agreed to rent Mr. Gibbard this shack for $5 for three months, on the understanding that Mr. Gibbard will endeavor to make the premises "livable".

Dr. G. F. Amyot Returns from Geneva

Hon. G. S. Pearson, minister of health and welfare, has announced that Dr. G. F. Amyot, deputy minister of health, has returned from the Geneva, Switzerland, meeting of the World Health Organization which is affiliated with the U.N.

Dr. Amyot was appointed as "rapporteur" for the program committee of the organization, the largest of five committees named.

Westbank Ranger To Get Building

KELOWNA—New headquarters for assistant forest ranger Bert Hewlett are to be constructed at Westbank, according to an announcement this week from the provincial forestry department.

Tenders for construction of the new major headquarters have been called for September 3. Forest Ranger Roy Eden, head of Kelowna Fire Ranger District 15, said the building would be put up near the corner where the Kelowna highway joins Westbank's main thoroughfare.

"This new building will be an added convenience and improvement," said Mr. Eden. Up to now, Mr. Hewlett has been keeping fire equipment for up to 100 men at his home in Westbank.

London-Born William E. Ward Passes Here

Residence for more than forty years in western Canada came to a close on Saturday, August 14, with the death in the Summerland hospital of William Edward Ward, aged 77, a native of London, England.

Coming to Canada in 1902 from England the late Mr. Ward lived from 1907 to 1913 in Summerland before going to Banff, Alta., where he resided for 24 years, being connected with the postal service. Retiring nine years ago, he returned in 1940 with his wife to Summerland, where he resided until his death last weekend.

The deceased was a charter member of Summerland Lodge No. 56 A.F. & A.M. and was also a member of the Banff Masonic lodge.

A private service was conducted from St. Stephen's Anglican church, West Summerland, at one o'clock on Monday, August 16. Rev. Canon F. V. Harrison officiating. The remains were then forwarded to Banff for interment on Wednesday, August 18.

Funeral bearers in Summerland were Messrs. Thomas Whitfield, Harry Tomlin, S. A. Riddell, W. C. W. Fosbery, Jim Dunsdon and Phil Dunsdon.

Besides his wife, in Summerland, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Arthur Dunsdon and Mrs. George Dunsdon in Summerland and Miss Kathleen Ward at Banff; and two sons, Stanley Ward, Edmonton and William Ward, Kirkland Lake, Ont.; also one sister, Mrs. Arthur Saddington, in Victoria; and seven grandchildren.

The Roselawn Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Safety Measures Taken by CNR

VANCOUVER — Simultaneously with work now going on in connection with flood repairs and track betterment, it was revealed this week by Bernard Allen, C.N.R. manager for British Columbia, that installation of automatic block signals and slide detector fences has been commenced along sections of the Canadian National Railway's main line in B.C.

First part of the automatic block signal system will cover the C.N.R. main line between Spences Bridge and Hope and it is expected work will be completed on the Spences Bridge-Lytton section by the end of this year.

First of the slide detector fences to be erected in the territory will be installed on an experimental basis. Different locations have been selected for the installation of these fences which will be operated in conjunction with the block signal system.

Large Parade for PNE On August 25

Indications point to one of the largest and most diversified parades in Vancouver's history when the Pacific National Exhibition stages its traditional glamorous opening on Wednesday, August 25.

Organizations, business and industry will be on display in force, according to Hedley Fairbank, chairman of the parade committee.

Emergency hospital facilities, postal and banking services, first aid attendants and other arrangements have all been completed for the PNE opening.

"These services are a vital factor in the exhibition's success," states Mr. Ben Williams, general manager, "and yet they are generally just taken for granted by the public. The Vancouver General hospital, postal and banking officials, Boy Scouts, St. John Ambulance and other workers have a splendid record of achievement and public service to exhibition visitors."

Sandy Jomori Hammers Only Red Sox Hit to Help Jacobs in Big Win

Sandy Jomori covered himself with glory at the Living Memorial athletic park on Monday night when his double into left field, the only hit garnered by his team, broke up a great pitchers' duel between Gilbert Jacobs and Campbell and drove across two runs to give Summerland Red Sox the nod in the semi-finals of the South Okanagan junior league playoffs.

The Red Sox defeated Penticton Pirates 2-0 in the last of the eighth in a game which was a pitchers' battle from start to finish.

Gilbert Jacobs on the mound for the Red Sox struck out eighteen Pirate batters while Campbell was downing 17 Red Sox hitters. However, Campbell proved the weaker of the two hurlers as he walked six men, two of whom crossed the plate when Jomori's clout came through in the eighth.

The Pirates collected five hits but they were well scattered. The Red Sox' only hit was registered by Jomori, but it was a big one.

The visiting Pirates advanced Eshelman to third in the first frame but he died there as McPherson and Coulter whiffed the ozone. No batter got past first base from then until the last of the eighth when Jacobs, Darryl Weitel and Jack Dunham walked with two away.

Then came Sandy Jomori's double, scoring Jacobs and Weitel with what proved the winning counters.

The Pirates threatened in the ninth with two singles, but after Bob Weitel had a conflag with Jacobs on the mound the latter settled down and hurled the horsehide past Coulter and Johnston for the final outs.

This contest was to have been played on Sunday but was rained out. The Red Sox now meet the Penticton Skaha Lake Cubs in the finals of the South Okanagan junior league, Oliver having defaulted to the Cubs in the other playoff fixture.

The Red Sox and Cubs meet in Summerland on Sunday, August 29, in the first of the best of three series for the league championship.

Box Score table with columns: Pirates, AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows include Jeffrey, Eshelman, MacPherson, Coulter, Johnston, Maisonneuve, Hanlon, Evans, Campbell.

Red Sox Box Score table with columns: Red Sox, AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows include D. Weitel, Dunham, S. Jomori, F. Kato, F. Gould, Brawner, E. Weitel, E. Jomori, Jacobs.

Summary: Stolen bases, D. Weitel, E. Jomori, Jeffrey, Eshelman 2; sacrifice hits, Jacobs; two-base hit, S. Jomori; earned runs, Summerland 2, Pirates 0; bases on ball, of Campbell 6; struck out, by Jacobs 18, by Campbell 17; hit by pitcher, F. Gould by Campbell; Eshelman by Jacobs; umpire, Sheeley.

OLDEST B.C.-BORN CITIZEN PASSES

KAMLOOPS — Mrs. Margaret McLean, senior citizen of Kamloops by every standard, died at 6:15 p.m. Saturday, August 7, at her home at the north end of North Kamloops bridge.

She succumbed to her great age—101 years, 9 months and 23 days. It is likely that Mrs. McLean was the oldest B.C.-born resident of the province.

Mrs. McLean was laid at rest on August 11 in the family plot in Pleasant street cemetery.

Four of her grandsons carried her to the grave after funeral mass conducted by Rev. Father Masse in Sacred Heart Cathedral.

The pallbearers were: Angus, Clarence and Keith Brown, and Stanley Benson.

Born October 15, 1946, at the Hudson's Bay Company's Fort Kamloops, Mrs. McLean was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Vodreaux. Her father was a French-born Hudson's Bay employ-

TWO HUNDREDS AT RIFLE SHOOT

SUMMERLAND MERCHANTS

away but the Merchants squeezed out the inning without allowing a Rutland tally and scored three more in the last of the frame to pretty well sew up the contest.

Rutland started a belated rally in the ninth and scored two runs but could not make up the difference.

George Clark was the only Summerland batter to get an extra base hit. The condition of the field allowed many more hits to be scored than otherwise would have been the case.

Trout Creek is Asking Government Assistance to Plan Flood Measures

Residents of Trout Creek Point are calling on the deputy minister of lands, Mr. G. P. Melrose, to take action this fall to prevent a recurrence of the flood situation which threatened a large part of the Summerland fruit lands and lakeshore property this spring and early summer.

This creek is at a high level because of the sand and debris swept down by the flood waters and should be cleaned out and straightened, the committee states.

Trout Creek residents are calling on Mr. Melrose to send in a qualified engineer to deal with the problem of Trout Creek and to lay plans for adequate protection work this fall.

This request ties in with a general review of flood control and lake level in this district.

Usually, Trout Creek is at a low point about mid-August and this week is believed to be on the rise again, although no dams have been opened in the past two weeks.

Eneas Creek, usually just a trickle in mid-summer is a roaring small stream right now, preventing any culvert work to replace bridges swept away by spring floods.

Okanagan Lake has receded less than a foot in two months from the high point of 104.82 on June 28. On Monday, a reading of 193.99 was recorded, the first time that the lake level has dropped below the 104 mark.

Grave fears are expressed that the lake level will not drop to the agreed maximum of 102.5 before the freezing weather sets in.

Report on Dams

Only a small portion of irrigation water is being used, due to the unusually wet summer months and irrigation normally ceases about mid-September.

Water Foreman E. Kercher reports that Thirk dam was opened more than two weeks ago and will have to be emptied before winter sets in. Deer lake dam was opened 2 1/2 inches and should be empty now. The Canyon creek dam gate was opened 4 1/2 inches and also should be just about empty.

No. 1 dam will be left full as will other smaller dams in the vicinity, Mr. Kercher told the council on Tuesday.

Garnet Valley dam will probably be down to normal position for winter carryover, he felt but he also intends to close off this dam after irrigation season to try and cut down the flow in Eneas creek for repairs to culverts and bridges.

If the creek water level is cut sufficiently then concrete can be poured for the culverts in Peach Orchard and to replace the bridge providing access to the Herb Pohlmann property in Peach Orchard.

Council had previously decided that strong planking would have to be placed across the gap to give the Pohlmann property an access this winter.

Damage by Floods

In Peach Orchard park, one culvert bridge was wiped out entirely and the second crossing to Ellison hall has weakened perceptibly in the last few weeks and has now been banned for general traffic.

Government Men To Discuss Flood Costs

In connection with government payment of costs involved in fighting floods and high lake level, Reeve Reid A. Johnston is expected to meet Government Agent T. S. Dalby and Public Works Engineer A. R. Colby this week.

Communications received by the council from the deputy minister of lands, G. P. Melrose, indicates that the government is prepared to meet these costs, on a specified scale, provided the payments are first made by the municipality.

As a consequence, the municipality will probably agree to pay the out-of-pocket expenses of fighting Trout Creek flood, estimated in the neighborhood of $500 and add the municipal payments already made in this connection, of about $136.

Added to this bill will be Crescent Beach road work to keep that route open as Okanagan lake rose, amounting to $2,496, while there is a possibility that damage to Trout Creek roads, estimated at $1,000 can also be included in the grand total.

What proportion the government will pay of this total will be the topic of discussion between His Worship and the two provincial government representatives.

Two Cheques Stolen From Groceteria Cashed in Vancouver Store and Bank

Two cheques, stolen from the Summerland Groceteria on Friday morning, August 6, were cashed in Vancouver on Tuesday, August 17, B.C. Police Constable T. Thorsteinson revealed to The Review this week.

The cheques, amounting in value to more than $300, were endorsed by the persons to whom they were made out. They were cashed in a Vancouver store and at a branch of the Bank of Montreal in the Vancouver district, it is stated.

Mr. J. Mulrhead, manager of the local Bank of Montreal branch, notified police of the occurrence when they were cleared from Vancouver to the local office.

This is the first "break" police have received since they commenced investigation of the daring $4,500 robbery of the Groceteria here. Bills amounting to $1,200 and cheques valued at $3,000 were stolen, along with some $180 worth of cigarettes.

It is revealed that B.C. Police are endeavoring to locate two men who were known to have been in Summerland about the time of the robbery and who are believed to be in the coastal area now. They are wanted for questioning.

Council Wants Brigade Action

There has been no further action taken by the fire brigade towards providing data on fire truck improvement for submission to the fire marshal for approval, Acting Clerk Gordon Smith informed the council on Tuesday.

At a recent council meeting, it was decided that Fire Chief Ed Gould would submit plans for the fire truck appurtenances and these could be forwarded for review by provincial fire control men.

The council on Tuesday decided to write Fire Chief Gould requesting some immediate action so that work of outfitting a fire truck can be implemented soon. The truck for fire protection use was purchased by the council some months ago but is not in operation.

Have to Stop Hard Surface Road Program

On roads where gravel has already been laid, black topping will be undertaken if any type of suitable weather can be obtained in the next month, but there the municipal program of hard surfacing will end.

Such was the advice given the Summerland council on Tuesday by Mr. D. M. Wright, who was hired as roads engineer for the months of July, August and September to supervise the hard surfacing of nine miles of municipal roads, according to the plan compiled at the first of the year.

The unusually wet weather has forced the council to abandon the balance of its road program.

"I'm not too happy about the black topping already laid," declared Mr. Wright on Tuesday, referring to the hard surfacing laid on Jubilee street and the continuation of the Giant's Head road to the top of the Sandhill.

Wasted Two Days

Last week-end, two days were wasted in turning the gravel laid ready for an application of black topping, Mr. Wright explained. Just as the gravel was about dry enough, along came another spell of rain and their work was useless.

Mr. Wright recommended to the council that the two miles of gravel already laid in preparation for black topping be mixed with black topping and spread when weather conditions will permit.

The roads engineer also asked the council to accept his resignation, as, because of the weather hampering road work, he did not feel that the council would be "getting their money's worth."

Mr. Wright's recommendations and his preferred resignation were accepted by the council.

He also urged the council to trade in the Ford truck as soon as possible, and stated that nothing could be done about Ellison hall bridges until the water flow in Eneas creek lessens.

Mr. Wright sought a shale-laying policy from the council, but was informed that it would be difficult to lay down any hard and fast rule, but short stretches would have to be laid as conditions warrant.

Before retiring, Mr. Wright suggested an improvement to the road near the J. Betuzzi property in Happy valley which will be undertaken once the fruit hauling season is finished.

Preliminary Work on Street Lights Start

Work on laying cables and installing the bases for the proposed street light standards on Hastings and Granville streets is being commenced this week, Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber informed the council on Tuesday.

However, he did not wish to proceed until a member of the council ratified the final plan and location of the standards. Councillor F. E. Atkinson, on his return from a trip to Prince George will be asked to confer with Mr. Thornber on this matter.

The electrical foreman pointed out that location of the standards on the west side of Hastings street in front of the Capitol Motors presents a problem because of the drive-in to the gasoline pumps. Councillor Atkinson will be asked to decide this question.

Removal of the electric light poles from Hastings street west and re-location in the alley is being considered by the electrical department, in conjunction with the Okanagan Telephone Co., as they will interfere with the new standards.

This work will not be undertaken until next year, it was intimated.

Right-of-Way In Garnet Valley

A right-of-way across municipal property at the top end of Garnet Valley for the department of transport high power line which connects with the location-finding station near Greata ranch has now been submitted to the council and three readings of the necessary bylaw given. Coincident with this agreement being approved, the council can now complete the agreement of sale of tax sale property in that vicinity to A. J. Adams, a deal started a year ago.

CCF Candidate—

BRUCE WOODSWORTH
Westbank school teacher, and son of the late Mr. J. S. Woodsworth, one of the CCF founders, has been selected by the CCF party in South Okanagan riding to contest this riding in the forthcoming by-election, which must be held before mid-November. The seat was left vacant with the resignation of W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition, who contested Yale federal riding for the Progressive-Conservative party.

Consider Temporary Water Connection

Suggestion that Mr. Bill Evans be given a temporary connection from the domestic water line which comes down past Harvey Wilson's property and then to the Thornber connection was given council consideration on Tuesday.

Costs had been taken out to extend the domestic water service through the southern section of lower Summerland to feed the Evans' property on the lakeshore.

However, Councillor Harvey Wilson pointed out that next year, if pipe is still in short supply, it may not be possible for Mr. Evans to connect with the lower town supply and an already-overburdened system would be taxed still further if the Evans' new connection remained in its temporary status.

He suggested that the two-inch connection which feeds his property be changed to a four-inch line. This scheme is being handed to Water Foreman E. Kercher for perusal.

Two-Year-Old Boy Carried Away and Drowned in Waters Of Trout Creek Near Bridge

Tragedy struck this community on Friday, August 20, at noon, with the drowning of Richard Sutherland, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sutherland, formerly of Vancouver.

The drowning occurred in Trout Creek, near the bridge which crosses Trout Creek on Okanagan highway at the southern entrance to Summerland municipality.

Little Richard had been playing with his four-year-old brother, Charles, under the close surveillance of his mother. Unfortunately, Mrs. Sutherland had to leave the scene for a few minutes and on her return the little lad was missing.

She notified Mr. Atlee S. Hanson, proprietor of the Cedarbrooke Auto Court, where the Sutherland family resides, and a hunt was immediately instituted. The body was discovered 150 to 200 yards downstream, the clothing having become snagged on a tree limb protruding from the water.

Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh and Coroner F. W. Andrew were summoned to the scene, and the inhalator and crew from the Penticton fire department made a rapid run to Trout Creek.

The inhalator crew worked for two hours in a vain effort to revive the drowning victim.

At the time of the accident, Mr. Sutherland was in Oliver. He is the South Okanagan district representative of the new provincial government social security and municipal aid tax department, with his office being located in Penticton.

The Sutherland family had been residing at Cedarbrooke for about a month, having moved from their Vancouver home to the South Okanagan in July shortly after the new three percent sales tax went into effect.

B.C. Police Constable T. Thorsteinson was called to the scene soon after the tragedy was reported.

It has been determined that the lad fell into the creek about 11:40 o'clock Friday morning and his body was discovered twenty minutes later, at twelve o'clock noon.

Coroner F. W. Andrew pronounced the child dead about two o'clock Friday afternoon and the in-

Coalition Candidate to Be Chosen at Kelowna Early in September

Nominating convention to choose a Coalition candidate to contest the South Okanagan by-election will be held on September 15, in Kelowna, it is revealed here following the organization meeting of the South Okanagan Progressive-Conservative Assn in Kelowna last week.

W. G. Gillard, of Summerland, has been chosen the new president of the association, with C. G. Beeston, Kelowna, vice-president, and two Summerland men, Harvey Walton and W. C. W. Fosbery, as secretary and treasurer respectively.

It is understood that an equal number of Liberals and Conservatives will be appointed to meet in a Coalition nominating convention representing all points of South Okanagan riding to choose a candidate who will enter the seat left vacant last May with the resignation of W. A. C. Bennett, coalition member, to contest the Yale federal by-election.

Bennett "Amazed" Over Verdict of Victoria

Announcement from Victoria last Friday that the resignation of W. A. C. Bennett, Kelowna, as M.L.A. for South Okanagan had not been received in official quarters and therefore a by-election would probably not be held until mid-December has "amazed" the former member, according to a press release from Kelowna this week.

The deputy provincial secretary declared in Victoria that he had not been officially advised of Mr. Bennett's resignation, by Mr. R. H. Carson, speaker of the legislature.

Mr. Bennett has replied that he forwarded his resignation to Speaker Carson on May 13 and the following day wired the deputy provincial secretary to the same effect.

"I am amazed over the statement, as I took every precaution to see that both the speaker and the deputy provincial secretary were notified of my resignation," states Mr. Bennett.

"I felt it was vital that the important constituency of South Okanagan be left without a member for the shortest possible time. There is no excuse for a delay. A by-election must be called forthwith."

According to provincial statutes, a by-law must be called within six months of the resignation of a member. This would mean that the by-election in South Okanagan should take place by November 15.

Nominating Committee
Although no official statement has been made, it is believed that a nominating committee was appointed by the Tory meeting last week to select several likely candidates for the Coalition candidacy.

This committee includes President Gillard, H. A. Truswell and Mr. Beeston of Kelowna and A. K. Elliott, Summerland.

As this riding is considered a Conservative stronghold, under the agreement existing between the two old-line parties, a Conservative will be selected as the Coalition candidate to contest the riding against Bruce Woodsworth, Westbank school teacher, who has already been selected as the CCF choice.

This by-election must be held by mid-November, as Mr. Bennett's resignation took effect in mid-May and only a six months' lapse can be allowed, according to provincial enactment.

Kelowna is to be the scene of the nominating convention, when Liberals and Conservatives meet to choose their candidate. It is understood that several prominent Conservatives will allow their names to stand so that there is no question of "railroading" one Conservative choice alone through the convention.

Several Prospects
A recent story in the Kelowna Courier mentioned several prominent South Okanagan residents as likely candidates.

Mr. C. E. "Ned" Bentley, Summerland councillor and former reeve, was among those mentioned, but when approached by The Review Mr. Bentley denied any knowledge of such a venture. He had not been approached by any representatives of the party, he declared, and had no idea of allowing his name to stand.

E. C. Weddell, K.C., Kelowna lawyer and several other Kelowna men also expressed their surprise at the Kelowna story, stating that they had not been approached at any time.

It is known that Alderman J. H. Horn, who was prominent in organization of Pacific Command work with the rank of lieutenant (Continued on page 6)

MAKE TURN-AROUND

School District No. 77 (Summerland) request to the council for the widening of Garnet Valley road at the rifle range cutoff so that a turn-around could be devised for the school bus met with council approval on Tuesday.

DELAY IN DELIVERY

Fewer Blood Donors Turn out for Annual Visit of Red Cross Clinic

"I'm a little disappointed in the turnout but it was a good response," declared Mr. J. Y. Towgood, chairman of the local blood donor clinic committee of the Red Cross society, following the visit to Ellison hall on Monday evening of the Red Cross traveling clinic.

A total of 122 persons went through the clinic between 8:30 and 9:30 o'clock Monday evening, which is a decrease from the first year's effort of 150 donors.

Mr. Towgood sent out 177 notification cards to persons who were believed to be willing to make a donation of a pint of blood. There were some 15 retirements communicated before the Monday clinic and another forty failed to make an appearance.

Still Good Showing
However, in comparison with other districts this is still a splendid showing, declared Mr. Towgood. He considered that possibly the fact that Ellison hall was chosen this year might have caused some persons to fall to appear, although transportation services were offered.

All persons who attended the clinic were put through with a minimum waste of time and the organization of the clinic left little to be desired.

Every prospective donor was first provided with a bottle of "pop" then registered at the reception desk and quickly whisked into a large section, where the pint of fluid was extracted. From there, the donors were led to another section, where they were required to lie quietly for a short time. When allowed to rise, a cup of coffee and biscuits were available in an instant.

Working Committees
Mrs. R. G. Russel was in charge of the reception committee, assisted by Miss Margaret Smith, Mrs. E. Collas and Mrs. Ted Logie.

Nursing service, apart from the clinic staff, was in charge of Mrs. B. Gillis, who had as her assistants Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, Mrs. Frank Doumont and Mrs. S. W. Feltham.

Mrs. R. C. Palmer handled the refreshment committee and was assisted by Miss Marion Cartwright, Mrs. A. Stark, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh and Mrs. Alan McKenzie.

Dr. Cull and a large group of nurses comprised the Red Cross clinic staff, who expressed their delight with the arrangements of the local committee. They declared that the total of 122 is not out of line for a community of this size, but also stressed the terrific demand for whole blood and plasma which has arisen in British Columbia and which must be met by donations, as obtained from the Red Cross clinic.

Following the closing of the clinic, Mrs. J. Y. Towgood proffered ice cream, peaches and oaks to all workers who had participated.

Democracy and "Freedom"

BOTH LARGE and small businesses "are capital at work, producing something people want, selling it in open competition at a profit. This system, we believe, offers the greatest incentives, the highest standards of living, the best job security . . . in an atmosphere of initiative, fair-dealing and freedom of opportunity. This is the ideal combination."

This is the message contained in our advertising columns this week by one of the "big" businesses operating in B.C. and dealing directly with a host of "little" businesses.

This gives one picture of our democratic way of life under what is popularly known as "free enterprise".

But included in this statement from this "Big Business" concern is a reference to our "free economy".

General H. D. G. Crerar, writing in a recent issue of The Legionary on "Democracy and Citizenship", calls attention to the misuse of the word "freedom" and we like General Crerar's statement. We quote, in part, as follows:

"In these days one frequently hears or reads the statement, 'Democracy is on trial'. Well, there is nothing fundamentally new about our popular, or democratic, form of government, and it always has been 'on trial'. What is more, in its various national forms of the past it has frequently failed.

"The truth is that as a system of government it is only capable of functioning if selfishness, or public welfare, is held in more importance by the great majority of the population of a democracy than selfishness or personal gain.

"If that general outline becomes reversed and the outlook of 'each for each' rather than 'each for all' takes precedence, then disintegration of community life is bound to set in and the people will turn to some form of dictatorial government to bring order of any sort out of unendurable chaos. In such result, instead of the State serving the people, the people will then serve the State.

"It seems to me that one of the most abused words in the English or any other language is 'freedom'. In spite of all the eloquence on the subject, I do not consider that 'democracy' implies personal or group 'freedom' unless very important qualifications are well understood to apply.

"In practice, democracy, only means freedom to the quite limited extent that the self-determination of the individual or group is not exploited to the disadvantage or injustice of others.

"I deeply believe that no system of government offers higher possibilities to the human race than does the democratic. I would emphasize, however, that there is also none which places higher demands on the virtue, the understanding, the energy and the time of those who desire to maintain it.

"In my opinion, therefore, we have definite needs in this country for less emotional oratory on 'freedom' and 'self-determination' and a lot more consideration and development of that essential requirement in democracy—a sense of general communal responsibility.

"Certainly it was that group spirit, inducing the repression of self in the interests of many, which made the First Canadian Army the irresistible force it proved to be in battle. Surely it is that same spirit which has need to be more widely possessed in Canada today, if we are to advance as a nation and play a worthy part in the building of a better world civilization . . ."

This sense of communal responsibility 'does not only apply to the broader national field, but can be seen in operation right at home in our own smaller sphere of life.

One of the reasons why Summerland is a well-liked community and is progressing from day to day is the fact that so many of its citizens are ready and willing to assist in community endeavors.

This spirit is manifest in many organizations, and paves the way for the oft-repeated statement that if Summerland attempts to stage an affair, then it nearly always "goes over the top".

As long as there are many citizens who are willing to sacrifice their business and leisure hours for the benefit of the community as a whole, then will the community progress and be a better place in which to live. The more citizens we can involve in community enterprise, the wider the scope of Summerland.

And so it goes, in the provincial and Dominion field. We must attempt to work for the betterment of the province and the nation as a whole, as well as for our home-town.

Being boosters of our country is one method we can adopt which will make Canada a better place in which to live.

According visitors from other countries a welcome hand and smile and acquainting them with the wonders of our native country is another method which will improve our status quo.

Attempting by word and deed to make the lot of our neighbors a little easier will dissipate mistrust and suspicion, which are the breeding grounds for attempts to infiltrate other forms of government which we are attempting to repel.

Satisfied and contented citizens are not apt to rebel against the "order of the day" or our chosen way of life.

"Human" Labor Relations

(Christian Science Monitor)

TANY reasonably informed observer with more than ten years' perspective it must be apparent that management, on the average, has come a long way in its recognition that "labor relations are human relations"—as one executive puts it—and, by the same token, so are management-union relations.

Why, then, do unions look so fearfully upon any proposal to restrict in any way their freedom of action? Partly because some of the "treat-em-rough, tell-em-nothing" school of management are still around.

Says the featured editorial in a recent issue of a trade journal which purports to serve a great industry (not the railroads, incidentally):

"We ought to do away with all the labor legislation passed in the last 20 years. We ought to go back to the 54-hour week . . . We ought to give up the National Labor Relations Board . . . If the men on the railroads don't want to work for the wages and under the current conditions, let them get out. . . If those men do go out on strike, let the management hire some more men . . . It is a simple matter, that is all there is to it."

We quote this artlessly uninhibited throwback to the thinking of a by-gone age, not because we think it is typical, but because it may help toward the understanding of what makes the labor movement tick.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

I was privileged to attend a field day of the Okanagan Agricultural Club at the experimental station. This meeting was held primarily to acquaint extension officers of the provincial department of agriculture with a number of promising new stone fruits being tested at the station.

The meeting was well attended. Bob Wilson and John Smith came from Vernon, Fraser Carmichael came from Grand Forks, Don Allen was up from Oliver, Grant Moffatt from Pentteton and Alex Watt from Summerland. The press was well represented for C. A. Hayden, editor of "Country Life" and H. S. Fry, editor of "Country Guide" were in attendance.

Fred Keane had arranged a most attractive and interesting display of fruits. In this display, promising new peaches such as Red Haven, and Spotlight were compared with established varieties such as Rochester, and the three V's. These new varieties mature just ahead of Rochester and are attractive in appearance. However, it will take several years yet to determine their yielding ability, hardiness and shipping characteristics.

Similarly the new Reliable apricot was shown in comparison with Wenatchee Moorpark and Tilton. Reliable is already being planted by some commercial growers who have been greatly impressed by the fact that it sizes and matures very uniformly. It also colors well while still firm and the whole crop can be harvested in two pickings.

Reliable is not as high in quality as Blenheim but it makes a satisfactory canned product.

On another table the new early maturing strains of Italian prune, Greata and DeMaris, were shown in comparison with the original variety. It was evident that the new strains mature about two weeks earlier than the standard Italian. It is for this reason that growers are planting the new strains.

Dr. McLarty had arranged a display of fruits showing brown rot on peaches and cherries. He also exhibited specimens of apricots and peaches affected with boryneum spot.

In the afternoon a tour was made during which Dave McIntosh showed the results which have been secured with new sprays designed to control mildew on apples. Jack Wilcox demonstrated a number of orchard sprinklers and showed the party over his orchard cover crop plots. He pointed out that Ladino clover is giving very encouraging results for use in stone fruit orchards which are being irrigated by the sprinkler method.

The tour finished up at Jimmy Marshall's laboratory where a demonstration was given with the new spray equipment which promises to take so much of the hard labor out of orchard spraying.

All those who attended the field day were most enthusiastic about the way it had been planned and were very grateful to the members of the staff who took so much trouble to explain the results of the work which they are doing.

A Fine Performance

By REIDFORD

Pioneer Days

August 23, 1918

Thirty thousand dollars will be asked for by the municipal council to be expended on the irrigation system. Estimates were made by Water Superintendent R. Mitchell, together with J. J. Mitchell. Doubling the capacity of the creek from Trout Creek to the reservoir and improving and enlarging the north main are included in the plans. It is proposed to add a foot or more to the height of the dam on Trout Creek and to widen and raise the sides of the canal to the reservoir.

To finance this scheme the council will ask the ratepayers for permission to issue debentures worth $30,000, at 8 percent interest, maturing from two to ten years. A public meeting will be held.

In the Emmanuel Baptist church, Victoria, on Thursday, August 15, Corporal A. J. Beer and Miss Mary Lister were united in wedlock.

An addition to the high school is being planned to house domestic science and manual training classes, H. W. Harvey being employed to draw up plans for the work.

Penny Wise

Even if your adolescent daughter wants a purple skirt with yellow stripes and green circles on it, let her have it, if it's within your budget for her clothes. At that age NOTHING is so important as being in the swim, even if you go almost color-blind looking at her. She'll change as the years go by, so don't worry.

Glory be! Do you know, your body (and mine, too) contains nine gallons of water, enough phosphorus to make 8000 boxes of matches, iron enough for five tacks, and enough salt to fill six saltcellars. And that's not all. Total value about 90 cents I'm told. Any offers?

I always think corduroy comes into its own in the fall. It seems to come in such rich colors, lends itself to so many things, from drapes to dirndls, and wears hard and long. I can just see a dining room suite with Chinese red cord, on the seats.

You may not even have the spuds pooled when your bread-winner arrives home. But whatever you do, DO have the table set. Then hand your man the newspaper, and he'll stay quiet and peaceful (you hope) until you get dinner ready.

You know enough to save your odd bits of wool to knit into squares so that some day you'll have enough to hitch together for an afghan, I trust. The more colors the merrier.

If the man you married works physically hard with his hands, and wants them to be clean and nice for an upcoming party, be big-hearted and LET him help you with the washing. Even if you have to do it on a Saturday instead of a Monday! That'll coax the grime out from under the nails, believe me.

A fur coat may be beyond your means this year, but I do hope you can rake up enough do-ra-me for at least a hat-n-muff combin-

Army No Place For Slackers

(Military Headquarters, B.C. Area, DISTRICT NEWS)

There has been a tendency during the past few years to present life in the active army as one of ease and plenty. As a result, some recruits, when they discover that an army career involves plenty of hard work and sometimes long hours, they feel they have been sold "a bill of goods."

Nowhere in life, can anything be gained without working for it. This is as true in the Army as in civilian life.

Service in the army requires that a man must be physically fit, he must be well-trained and an expert in his military weapons. In ADDITION, he must carry out other tasks concerned with administration, the care of equipment, the training of younger soldiers, helping the Reserve Force.

While pay received in the army is comparable to the majority of civilian jobs of similar nature, a man must have certain high ideals as well to make a success of his service career. Without ideals, the task many times becomes very burdensome and difficult to accomplish.

On the credit side of the sheet there are many things to counterbalance the harsher things in life. Accommodation, food, clothing, medical and dental care are provided for the soldier. With study and application to his work, he can qualify for higher rates of pay and promotion. If, after completing the first period of enlistment (three years), he decides to make it his life's work, at the end of his service he may be granted a pension which is equalled by very few industrial firms. Also he is allowed to retire many years before he would be able to do so were he working for a private concern.

When these advantages are taken into consideration, the average civilian worker, who at the moment may be temporarily receiving a higher rate of pay, has not the same job security nor has he the prospects of a reasonable pension at the end of his employment. To purchase an annuity which would take the place of the pension would reduce the take-home pay of the civilian worker by a very considerable amount.

Life in the army has many things to offer in the way of the pleasant things of life, too. Thirty days' leave each year. Comradeship. The thrill of working complicated machines and weapons. The thrill of firing. The chance to see many places in Canada.

The physically fit young man, single, between 17 and 25 years of age, would do well to investigate the advantages and disadvantages of a service career, then, provided he is willing to work for what he gets out of life, enlist in the Army.

The Army is no place for a slacker—the man who wants something for nothing. IT IS a good career for the young man of high ideals who wishes to serve his country and at the same time provide security and comfort for his later years.

American Lease on Newfoundland

With the foreseen entry of Newfoundland into Confederation with Canada the question arises how this will affect the broad picture of our national defence plans. Certain it is that in the next annual budget allocations will have to be made to include the setting up of air stations and possibly naval bases in Newfoundland. The question is will this be done at the possible risk of other projects in Canada suffering or will more money be found for this. As a military power in her own right Newfoundland is negligible. She has few manufacturing concerns that could be converted into war production and little or no military equipment of her own. Her biggest assets are natural resources, military bases and the well known fighting qualities of her rugged citizens.

Again the thought arises how, when Newfoundland becomes a part of Canada, will we cope with the situation of American troops and bases being located on our territory. It must be remembered that the United States was given a ninety-nine year lease on military and naval bases in the island colony by Great Britain. Will the acceptance of this establish a precedent of American troops training in our country in peacetime? How will this be received by other nation. One in Persian lamb, say, would make even your last year's old look coat come back to life.

Regardless of what the man say about a red hat, choose one and sport it; if you've a mind to. You'll notice their eyes usually follow the gal brave enough to wear one. But it must be SIMPLE!

Now, I don't want you to encourage Little Johnny to fib. But DO help him along when he tries to draw upon his imagination. For instance, if he wants to believe the moon has wings, that's okay. For you know, it really has, at that. And it shows he has an active mind.

tions and will Canada's prestige as a free nation suffer accordingly?

Also it is a recognized fact that Canada could only offer token resistance should a strong foreign power attack our shores. Can we therefore commit ourselves to the extending of our already limited defence resources? These questions will certainly have to be given serious consideration before final commitments are made with Newfoundland. More than ever it is brought home to us the necessity of revising our national defence plans and increasing our stature in this vitally important matter. (Canadian Ordnance Association).

Tours Canada for Agricultural Trends

Mr. J. A. Young, of Irish heritage, who is on the staff of the British High Commissioner's office at Ottawa, addressed the Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday, Aug. 10 at the Nu-Way Hotel annex, giving his listeners an insight into his findings during his tour of this country in search for information regarding the latest trends in agriculture.

New developments and machinery trends are especially interesting to Mr. Young, who is endeavoring to gather information which will be of assistance to Great Britain in her endeavor to improve her agricultural methods.

Incidentally, Mr. Young believes that agriculture is more highly mechanized now in Britain than in Canada.

Mr. Young also discussed Britain's dollar problem and spoke of her difficulties in only being able to trade with sterling countries.

PUBLIC WORKS APPOINTMENT

AMERICAN PLANT FOR KELOWNA

KELOWNA—Kelowna has been chosen the Western Canada headquarters for a large American manufacturing corporation, and when the local plant is fully developed, holdings of the company will be in the neighborhood of one million dollars. Announcement that the Non-Corrosive Products Co. Ltd., plan to open up a Canadian plant, was made this morning by M. H. Seymour, president and chief engineer of the Kelowna plant. Negotiations are now under way to secure a suitable piece of property in the new industrial section of the city. A total of 41 products will be manufactured here and a minimum of one acre will be required by the new company. The local plant will be financed entirely by American capital, and U.S. technicians will be brought here until Canadians can be fully trained.

Hon. R. C. MacDonald, minister of mines, announces that the British Columbia output of coal for July was 176,974 long tons, an increase of 42,925 tons over July of last year.

Car Passengers Escape Injury In Collision

While returning from the South Okanagan Progressive - Conservative meeting in Kelowna late Wednesday evening, August 18, cars driven by W. G. Gillard, newly elected president, and Miss D. Leathley of Kelowna, collided near McDougall creek, between the ferry and Westbank, with extensive damage to both vehicles.

It was nearly midnight when the crash occurred. Despite the serious damage to the cars, only slight bruises were experienced by the occupants.

Accompanying Mr. Gillard were Mrs. Gillard, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Glen and Mr. James Brown. There were five other passengers in the Leathley car.

Miss Leathley has stated that she was blinded by the Gillard car lights so that she could not see the road.

Brakes on the Gillard car became useless when the collision occurred and the driver had a difficult time keeping the auto on the road, as it travelled more than 400 feet on the downhill grade before it was brought to a stop.

Mr. Gillard states that B.C. Police in Kelowna declared it was a near miracle that his auto remained on the highway.

The Leathley auto was severely wrecked while damage to the Gillard car is estimated at several hundred dollars.

Comes Back to Summerland After Absence of Forty-Two Years

In 1906, forty-two years ago, Miss D. Theed came from England to visit her brother Mr. R. F. Theed in Summerland. Last week Miss Theed again visited Summerland, and found a place so entirely different as to be unrecognizable.

Forty-two years ago Miss Theed travelled by the S.S. "Baltic", "the biggest ship afloat" at that time, a mammoth of 30,000 tons, which crossed the Atlantic in the first time of seven days. From Montreal she embarked for Sicamous via CPR, and thence to Okanagan Landing near Vernon by the branch line which still services that part of Vernon. At the Landing she embarked early one morning upon the steamer "Aberdeen", and after a full day's travel down the lake, arrived at Summerland wharf, to be met by her brother and friends.

On August 14, 1948, Miss Theed boarded a "North Star" 44-passenger airliner at Heathrow, London, at 10:35 in the morning. At 12 noon on Monday, August 16, she stepped off at Vancouver airport, and after a day's rest reached Summerland on Tuesday, August 17. This, in spite of upset air over the Atlantic that caused a diversion of flight from Shannon, the first stop, to Keflavik, Iceland, where the ship put down for refuelling of both passengers and plane before continuing on to Gander Bay and Montreal.

years and ten, Miss Theed claims that the older one gets the more ready one should be for adventure. The air trip was one full of interest and pleasure to this peppy lady—in fact, Mr. Theed claims his sister practically drove the airship across the ocean. Certainly, she didn't miss one item of the trip, or waste time in coddling herself.

When the stewardess was administering oxygen to less hardy and much younger business men, Miss Theed waived the proffer of such effete aid away, and requested a cigarette instead.

She is high in her enthusiasm for air travel, and for the courtesy and kindness of the ship's crews. But it is quite apparent that the crews fell under the spell of her zestful approach to every new experience, and probably enjoyed her as much as she did them.

An indomitable three-score to Lower Town was as a place of entertainment when the Indians put on races, when all Lower Town would pile into wagons and buggies and journey up the hill to watch.

Horses were, of course, the only means of transportation, and a trip to Penticton was an all-day journey over the hills and cross the present site of the experimental station.

Among the residents whom Miss Theed well remembers meeting at that time were the W. C. W. Foshers, the Falders, the Gartrells (who were even then "old-timers") and the Agurs.

Touching on conditions in England, Miss Theed, like any died-in-the-wool Conservative, deplors the feeble fumbling of the too-previous Labor government, and mourns the loss of the Churchill-Roosevelt team at the helm of world affairs. But she is most certainly not ready to "sell England short" in spite of economic and political troubles.

She mourns the fact that the wives of laborers still must send their men to work without adequate food in their lunch pails, but so far as the "gentry" is concerned there is no food shortage. The lack of variety is monotonous and annoying, but there is plenty of whatever food there is.

The parcels from the Dominions are appreciated beyond words in all classes, as they lend variety to the deadly monotony of rationed foodstuffs.

Travelling is even more difficult now than it was during the war years, at least so far as funds are concerned. The visitor out of Great Britain may buy his ticket, and take five pounds sterling in money with him. But that five pounds cannot be spent in Canada, or wherever the traveller is going. It may only be spent on the ship or airship for whatever little items may be for sale thereon.

"Or just kept to look at once in a while," says Miss Theed. She was told that she could bring only "a wedding ring, an engagement ring, and a worn fur coat" in the way of valuables.

Aside from the fact that the place itself had changed beyond recognition, Miss Theed finds the people themselves as friendly and kindly as they were in 1906. She is very kind in her praise of Summerlanders—"It is amazing to meet so many people who have travelled everywhere, and come back to Summerland," she said. "It proves there must be something special here."

Condition of Trout Creek Road Is Subject of Complaint

"Beautiful trees ruthlessly torn down," was the descriptive term used by Mr. E. Barr Hall concerning the removal last spring of trees along a municipal roadway on Trout Creek Point which passes the properties of Mr. Hall and Mr. Ewart Woolliams.

Mr. Barr Hall, who resides at Princeton and visits here every summer, declared that the road allowance had been left in a "tangled, deplorable mess".

These trees were removed by the municipality after some residents of Trout Creek Point had sought their removal on the grounds that their roots were interfering with a new drainage system laid along this roadway.

The trees were said to be on the municipal road allowance. The trees were bulldozed down and the Trout Creek residents, led by Mr. Lloyd Miller, who sought their removal had agreed to clear up the debris which was left, including stumps.

Mr. Ewart Woolliams also wrote the council deprecating the work which had been undertaken, stating that the road had been left in a deplorable condition, fences were damaged, and that the drain which was to have been helped is not functioning properly and is doing damage to his property.

At the previous August council meeting, a letter had been written to Mr. Miller asking what action he and his group planned to take to remove the debris and stumps as they had agreed upon.

This week, Mr. Miller replied that his group still intends to clean up the area and will burn the stumps and brush as soon as weather permits.

The council expressed its satisfaction with this reply and will keep an eye on this project in the fall.

On top of this figure, it will cost the municipality another $1,000 to put back in shape the Trout Creek Point roads which have been damaged by seepage from creek and lake.

Mrs. L. Sharpe approached the council this week to plead for some work to be done to lower Eneas creekbed. However, the council states that it has no responsibility for this work and she must appeal to the provincial government.

Eneas creek is three feet higher than normal level, due to sand and debris being washed down, Mrs. Sharpe explained, believing that the council should take some responsibility.

Mrs. Sharpe was advised to communicate with Mr. Melrose, deputy minister of lands, in the same manner that Trout Creek residents have done.

Full text of the Trout Creek letter, written on behalf of the Trout Creek Flood Control committee by its secretary, Dr. R. C. Palmer, follows:

I am writing to you on behalf of the Trout Creek Flood Control committee. The membership of this committee is as follows: Magnus Tait, J. Y. Towgood, G. Morgan, H. R. McLarty, J. Marshall, R. C. Palmer.

This Committee was set up at a recent meeting of residents of Trout Creek Point. The purpose of the Committee is to make sure that adequate action is taken this autumn to prevent recurrence of the very serious flood situation which prevailed at Trout Creek Point last June.

You will remember that at that time the raging flood waters of Trout Creek threatened the safety of both Public Works Department road bridges and a section of the main Okanagan highway, as well as properties located along the two miles of creek extending from Trout Creek canyon to the lake. The bridges were saved and property damage reduced to a minimum largely through the activities of local residents, many of whom worked day and night until they were exhausted.

While the emergency wing dams and levees prevented the flood waters from causing much damage to private property along the north bank of the creek, they were set up hurriedly without proper consideration as to their ultimate effect upon the location and depth of the creek bed. In actual fact, these emergency works encouraged erosion of the gravel banks on the property of the Dominion Experimental Station along the south bank of the creek.

In places these gravel banks are quite high, with the result that thousands of tons of gravel were caused to pour into the creek. This gravel built up the level of the creek bed lower down. This in turn necessitated the construction of a sand bag levee four bags high and two bags wide for about a mile along the north bank of the creek from the main highway bridge to the lake, in order to protect the properties of residents in this area. Even this dyke would probably have proved ineffective but for the fact that the creek was permitted to flow over the meadow land belonging to the Dominion Experimental Station.

It is evident now that the emergency measures put into effect during the flood were costly in labor and materials and that they have actually left the creek bed in worse condition than it was before, from the stand point of dealing with future freshets.

The Trout Creek Flood Control Committee are convinced that the effective and economical method of dealing with the annual Trout Creek flood problem is to have the bed of the creek straightened and deepened at several vital locations in accordance with a master plan drawn up by a qualified engineer.

With the above idea in mind it is sincerely hoped that your department will find it possible to send a qualified engineer in to make a study of the whole situation in the very near future, so that the necessary work on the creek can be done during the low water period this autumn.

When your engineer has drawn up the plan showing the location and extent of the work required and indicating the approximate cost, the question as to what portion of this cost should be borne by the local residents, by the Municipality of Summerland, by the Dominion Government and by the Provincial Government, can then be determined.

I would appreciate information as soon as possible regarding the date when you expect to be able to send in an engineer to study the Trout Creek flood problem and prepare the necessary plans for flood control.

It is evident now that the emergency measures put into effect during the flood were costly in labor and materials and that they have actually left the creek bed in worse condition than it was before, from the stand point of dealing with future freshets.

The Trout Creek Flood Control Committee are convinced that the effective and economical method of dealing with the annual Trout Creek flood problem is to have the bed of the creek straightened and deepened at several vital locations in accordance with a master plan drawn up by a qualified engineer.

With the above idea in mind it is sincerely hoped that your department will find it possible to send a qualified engineer in to make a study of the whole situation in the very near future, so that the necessary work on the creek can be done during the low water period this autumn.

When your engineer has drawn up the plan showing the location and extent of the work required and indicating the approximate cost, the question as to what portion of this cost should be borne by the local residents, by the Municipality of Summerland, by the Dominion Government and by the Provincial Government, can then be determined.

I would appreciate information as soon as possible regarding the date when you expect to be able to send in an engineer to study the Trout Creek flood problem and prepare the necessary plans for flood control.

COMES HERE TO LIVE / On Monday, Mr. F. J. Croft, of Flin Flon, Man., arrived in Summerland to take up residence at the former Prairie Valley home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holmes. Mrs. Croft will arrive later to make her home here. Mr. and Mrs. Croft are parents of Mrs. Cecil Wade, of Summerland.

Town Planning Expert Here Soon

Early next month, a Mr. Graham, representing the town planning division of the department of lands, will visit Summerland and discuss the local possibility of providing adequate zoning for this community. A board of trade committee consisting of Councillor F. E. Atkinson, Building Inspector Roy F. Angus and Alf McLachlan has compiled some data on this subject, while a zoning map is believed to have been partially completed by Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon.

Walter B. Powell was the only bidder on a recently-advertised piece of municipal property, Lot 2, Map 2895. His offer of $250 for the 4.9 acres was accepted by the council on Tuesday.

Eastern Canada Wedding of Interest

A wedding of interest in Summerland took place on Saturday, August 14, in Niagara Falls, Ontario, when Mr. Alan Roper was joined in matrimony to Miss Anne Elizabeth Frances Thomson, daughter of Major and Mrs. John Thomson of Niagara Falls. The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Roper of Victoria, B.C., was a member of Summerland elementary school staff in 1947, and made many friends here. The couple will live in Victoria, where Mr. Roper is at present on the teaching staff.

MOVED TO NEW HOME Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holmes moved on Saturday to their new residence in the Solly subdivision in West Summerland.

Gordon Wismer Takes Charge Of Rate Battle

Hon. Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., attorney-general will take full charge of British Columbia's fight to secure removal of the mountain differential now existing on railway freight rates applying to B.C. as well as all matters appertaining to B.C.'s stand in connection with other freight rate matters, it has been announced by Premier Byron Johnson.

The attorney-general has participated in conferences already held by the seven provinces which are seeking the appointment of a royal commission to review the entire freight rate question with a view to bringing about a readjustment which will make rates more equitable throughout the Dominion.

"A number of hearings already have been held on the application for removal of the mountain differential and all the evidence required to make a decision, we contend, is now in the hands of the board of transport commissioners. However, if a further hearing is required, the Government of British Columbia is prepared once again to place its case before the commissioners," the premier stated.

A staff of research workers already engaged in preparing the material and the attorney-general will be assisted in this work by Mr. Charles Brazier who has been identified with the freight question for some time.

"The latest decision of the railways to increase competitive freight rates by 15% on September 15 is now being studied in order to ascertain its full impact on the economy of British Columbia," Premier Johnson stated.

"The public can be assured that the government will fight strenuously for better treatment in these matters but first of all will insist that the mountain differential be removed before any other action is taken," Premier Johnson concluded.

Government to Push Peace River Links

"The John Hart Highway, which is to provide an outlet for the Peace River district to the Pacific coast and connect the highway system throughout the province, will be pushed through to as early a completion as possible," Premier Byron Johnson stated this week, in order to correct an erroneous impression created by an unauthorized story appearing in one of the Vancouver dailies.

Also, in connection with the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern railway, the Premier stated, "that the government is equally determined to extend this railway even as it is determined to complete the highway outlet for the Peace River district."

Tourist Resorts to Be Classified

Hon. Leslie H. Eyres announces that orders-in-council have now been promulgated authorizing the application of a comprehensive grading scale to all resorts and auto courts within the province.

These regulations take effect immediately and will result in a proper classification of each and every resort according to the accommodation and service which it is able to offer. Resorts will be awarded one, two, three or four stars according to their qualifications.

It has been provided that the initial classification can be amended as circumstances and conditions dictate.

Anti-Germ Fan

F. W. SLADE, of Surrey, England, has invented a fan which not only cools the atmosphere but gets rid of germs as well. Slade contends that his invention incorporates all the most hygienic advantages of the age.

LEAVE ON YEAR'S TOUR BY TRAILER

Mr. and Mrs. Basil H. Robson, who have operated a photographic studio in Summerland for the past three years, left on Aug. 14 on a motor tour which will take them through many of the western states and then to Vancouver Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Robson have purchased a motor car and trailer and intend to spend the next year collecting scenic pictures of many sections of the Pacific Northwest.

They recently have received wide spread publicity through their invention of a special photographic coloring process known as Chromacolor.

Magic Eye Has Control of Lights

KELOWNA—Kelowna's street lighting system is now controlled by a magic eye.

The unit, which has been on order for over six months, was installed last week, and the street lights now go on automatically. A candlepower unit has been set up opposite the power house, and as the daylight fades into dusk, the lights are automatically switched on.

Installed by Harry Blakeborough, superintendent of electrical utilities, Kelowna is the first city in B.C. to have street lighting governed by such a system. A similar unit was installed on Pattullo bridge and First Narrows bridge in Vancouver.

COALITION—

J. R. J. Stirling, BCFGPA president, is another well-known South Okanagan man with known Tory leanings who has been mentioned in Kelowna, along with H. A. Truswell, C. G. Beeston and Nigel Pooley.

None of these prospects has indicated his willingness to contest the by-election on behalf of the Coalition.

Anscomb Speaks

At Kelowna last week, the Progressive-Conservative meeting was addressed by Hon. Herbert Anscomb, provincial Tory leader, and minister of finance in the Coalition government.

Mr. Anscomb explained the necessity of the B.C. "pink slip" and from there went into the new compulsory hospital insurance plan. Discussing the B.C. road situation, the speaker explained it cost $64,000 per mile to construct highways in B.C., compared with $12,000 a mile on the prairies. He said the gasoline tax, which has a revenue of two million a year, is used exclusively for hard topping roads, which cost $10,000 a mile.

Referring to the social security tax, Mr. Anscomb said the levy is necessary, and "if anyone knows a better way to collect it than by the three per cent sales tax, I would welcome any suggestions."

Mr. Anscomb spoke on the evil of communism and said, "In the final analysis there is no difference between Communism and the CCF." He said the final results were the same, and the only difference was in the approach. The communists approach dictatorship by revolution while the CCF approach the same thing by calmer, "infiltration" methods.

PENTICTON—In the opinion of the Hon. Herbert Anscomb, the Coalition is "here to stay." This was stated at a dinner meeting tendered the minister by a group

Excess Water From Station Over Road

For the past two weeks a steady stream of water has been descending onto Okanagan highway from the experimental station cliffs, a short distance south of Trout Creek bridge. This is the same spot where numerous slides have occurred in past years.

For a time, the highway was covered with mud and water from this sudden downrush of water, but government public works crews have cleared the road and have built drains to carry away the surplus water.

AVIATION COUNCIL

Reeve Reid Johnston may attend a session of the Interior Aviation Council to be held in Kelowna on Friday, August 27 at 2 p.m. Council members suggested on Tuesday that His Worship should attend and he expressed his interest in the meeting.

of Similkameen district Progressive-Conservative members on Monday, August 16.

At the gathering, of which P. F. Erant was chairman, the group voted in favor of the single transferable vote plan for elections, but against compulsory registration, and compulsory voting with fines as penalty.

They were given some frank information on the new provincial government sales tax.

Mr. Anscomb said that approximately half the states of the U.S. now have some such measure, and that, to maintain the social services on the scale that is required today, this tax is essential.

Announcement was made during the evening that a Yale Progressive-Conservative convention will be held in the Canadian Legion building in Penticton on Wednesday, September 1.

At this gathering representatives to attend the leader-nominating federal convention will be selected.

Going Steady... Together

- 1. SMALL businesses play a vital part in our everyday life. Their size generally makes mass-production methods impracticable, but they perform the equally necessary function of distribution... catering directly to the customer. Typical of small businesses in British Columbia are the 333 independent Chevron Dealers.
- 2. EQUALLY important is the role of the big companies. These are able to collect the capital to build factories, buy the machinery, provide the tools and meet the pay-rolls which make mass-production possible. In this category come such organizations as Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited.
- 3. LARGE and small businesses are necessary in our free economy. The small business provides personalized service; the big company mass-produces at low cost. The sale of gasoline, refined in British Columbia by Standard of B.C. and brought to you by your independent Chevron Dealer, is typical of the partnership of large and small business.
- 4. BOTH are capital at work, producing something people want, selling it in open competition at a profit. This system, we believe, offers the greatest incentives, the highest standards of living, the best job-security... in an atmosphere of initiative, fair-dealing and freedom of opportunity. ## Vegetable Growers Would Form Association Patterned on B.C.F.G.A.

KAMLOOPS—Decision to organize in the near future an industry-wide Vegetable Growers Association that would function along the lines of B.C. Fruit Growers Association, was taken at Vernon on Wednesday, August 11, at a meeting of upcountry vegetable growers. The meeting also went on record as favoring federal legislation to regulate and control the marketing of vegetables and fruit on a nationwide basis.

The gathering was arranged by Owen Jones, M.P. for Yale, and C. W. Morrow, M.L.A. for North Okanagan, because as they explained, so many vegetablemen had written them complaining of conditions in the industry that they felt it incumbent upon themselves to try to find the cause of the dissatisfaction.

Attending the meeting were growers from Armstrong, Vernon, Kelowna, Osoyoos, Oliver Salmon Arm and Kamloops districts.

Members of B.C. (Interior) Vegetable Marketing Board were in attendance, and also Col. E. Poole of B.C. (Interior) Vegetable Marketing Agency Ltd. T. Wilkinson, chairman of the vegetable board, acted as meeting-chairman.

Many of the growers complained bitterly of the current low prices on potatoes, onions and tomatoes, the lack of volume movement of tomatoes and cucumbers, and of what was described as "the very great spread in price between the grower and consumer."

Col. Poole reported the low price on early potatoes was due to the Alberta crop coming in earlier than usual and the board's inability, because it has not the power, to prevent coast shippers selling on the prairie market.

The price of onions could be attributed to imports from Australia.

An early tomato crop (and the low cost of production) had permitted Ontario growers to undersell B.C. tomatoes as far west as Alberta.

The tomato deal also had suffered, as has the cucumber marketing arrangement, because this year's unusual weather had brought the crop to ripeness in all upcountry districts at about the same time. The market today is being supplied from all tomato growing areas; normally, the early harvest in Oliver and Osoyoos is cleared away before cucumbers and tomatoes in other areas are ready for volume shipment.

Where 29 Died in Canada's Worst Air Disaster

High on the side of Bon Ami peak in the Gaspé Peninsula rests this tailpiece of a Dakota owned by Rimouski Airlines that made tragic history when it crashed and killed 29 persons—the worst air crash Canada has ever experienced. Starting at it in horrified fascination is a portion of the crowd of thousands who flocked to the scene of the crash—and found among all the wreckage only this tailpiece intact.

Panic Buying Blamed for Butter Lack

The present critical butter shortage has been brought to a crisis stage by panic buying. Many in the Okanagan and elsewhere in Canada have been buying more than their immediate needs of butter. In some cases, substantial quantities have been stored in lockers and household refrigerators.

The above statements are from R. J. Skelton, president, interior Dairymen's Association, Salmon Arm, B.C.

He also says disappearance of butter in Canada in the month of July was 28,000,000 pounds. This is 2,000,000 pounds more than in July last year.

Creameries in the interior are now forced to restrict sales and refuse new customers, just as butter dealers in Vancouver are doing. "If we don't ration ourselves, someone will have to ration for us", Mr. Skelton says.

This present situation in the dairy industry, Mr. Skelton claims, is an aftermath of war conditions; ceiling prices discouraged farmers. In the first six months of this year 37,000 milking cows were shipped to the United States by Canadian farmers.

Present government policies are bringing famine conditions. In an effort to please the people with cheap food the government of Canada is stopping production by forcing farmers out of business, Mr. Skelton declares.

He advises all consumers to use less butter. If every person in Canada would use only one pound less butter between now and Christmas, there would be no butter shortage, is the way he puts it.

VERNON VETERAN DIES

VERNON—A full and active career in nearly all phases of Vernon and district life came to an end on Tuesday, August 17, with the death in the Vernon Jubilee hospital of Clarence William Gaunt-Stevenson, 55, more familiarly known to many residents of this city as "Stevie." His death occurred as plans were underway for him to undergo a serious operation.

Old Country Conditions Are Now Improved

"Conditions in England appear to be better than a year ago," stated Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, in an interview last week. Dr. MacKenzie has just returned from the sixth congress of the universities of the Commonwealth at Oxford, England.

"Food is still limited in variety and in quantity but the people are not as concerned about the economic situation as before. Programs of reconstruction are going ahead slowly but steadily, but there is still much work and hardship in the future," he said.

He observed that there was much less emotional evidence of anxiety under the international situation than one would expect. "People are aware of the seriousness of the situation but there is no evidence of excitement or hysteria such as is evidenced in parts of America," he said.

"The British people seem to be emotionally prepared for the crises that confront them." Dr. MacKenzie travelled to the conferences with Dean W. H. Gage, Dr. W. K. Lamb, UBC librarian, Dr. G. M. Shrum, physics department head, and Professor J. Biely, professor of poultry husbandry.

The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred on him by Winston Churchill at a ceremony at Bristol University, attended by 375 university representatives from all over the British Empire.

Dr. MacKenzie felt that the conferences had stimulated valuable and interesting discussion. Professor J. MacMurray of Edinburgh University offered an analysis of the university's functions and suggested changes that could be introduced into the present systems. The primary function of universities is to act as cultural centres in our civilization," he said, "and in this primary task modern universities are falling disastrously."

"Culture is a spiritual synthesis of the aspects and elements of the common life of a civilization. If this synthesis fails we must substitute an external, technological unity through a high degree of organization. This is totalitarianism."

"It is not enough to maintain a cultural tradition. The new has to be built into the living unity of the old. The dissolution of our cultural tradition arises from its failure to assimilate modern science. This is reflected in the separation of faculties of arts and sciences in our universities. The latter trains scientists and carries on scientific research while the former clings to the idea that it provides a liberal education on traditional lines. "Universities today can only perform their primary function through the production of a contemporary culture in which science holds its proper place. It is useless to include some arts subjects in the science curriculum and vice versa. What is needed is to conceive and teach every subject in terms of its place and function in the life of contemporary civilization."

Although a considerable amount of work has been done on Peach Orchard cemetery this year, the appearance has not been greatly improved, Councillor Eric Tait remarked to the council on Aug. 10. He believes that a program of sterilizing the pathways should be followed, in order to eradicate the weeds entirely. He mentioned that Dr. James Marshall intends to carry out some experiments of that nature, some time in the future.

Salmon Arm Has Apple Juice From Across Canada

SALMON ARM—Like carrying coals to Newcastle, apple juice from the Annapolis Valley, of Nova Scotia, has been shipped clear across the continent and is now offered for sale in Salmon Arm.

Reason for this phenomenon is not that the local stores or wholesale distributors are disloyal to E.C.'s fruit industry. It simply means that the demand for apple juice as a delectable refreshing fruit nectar has increased to the extent that all of the B.C.'s 1947 production has been sold. Despite the vaunted popularity of citrus fruit juices, the popularity for the apple product, in Salmon Arm at least, is unabated and in consequence it was necessary to import it from the Atlantic plant.

Even though there is valid reason for the stores to handle the Eastern juice, it does seem odd to see an apple product bearing a Nova Scotia label, and transported thousands of miles, displayed for sale in one of the banner apple districts of Canada, particularly when it is recalled that great quantities of cull Okanagan fruit, from which the juice is extracted, goes to waste annually.

Two Hotels Mooted For Benvoulin As Beer Vote Passes

KELOWNA—Benvoulin, as a result of the plebiscite held on August 11 will become the first area between Vernon and Oliver which permits sale of beer by the glass. This action was approved by the Benvoulin voters, although those in Rutland turned it down on the same day.

Benvoulin voted 198 for and 110 against, with five spoiled ballots. This gave a 64 per cent affirmative vote with 55 per cent needed.

Rutland failed to approve the sale of beer by the glass by a scant 35 votes. The affirmative votes numbered 475 and the negative 454. Although 51.13 per cent of the voters approved, 55 per cent were required. Apparently a number of people in Rutland could not make up their minds as there were 41 spoiled ballots. More than four per cent of the people who went to the poll were undecided.

The Benvoulin vote will probably mean the construction of two hotels in the area. One is mooted for the Five Bridges area and another for the Mission Creek area, near La Riviera. The plans for the latter, it is reported, is for a modern hotel with dining room and banquet hall, with a beer parlor a secondary consideration.

Sale of beer by the glass in licensed premises was approved by residents of Canoe polling division in a plebiscite held last Saturday. A substantial favorable majority was registered. The vote 178 yes, 64 no.

Vernon Housing Troubles Lessened

VERNON—"It appears that all veterans in difficult living circumstances will get accommodation," said Claude Snider, local administrator of the Central Mortgage and Housing rental scheme in Vernon. "And there certainly are difficult circumstances," he added.

Mr. Snider said he had given out 130 application forms for the 100 houses. About 30 had not been returned. He expected another rush of applicants when the first group of houses were ready for occupancy, but could not indicate when this may be. Some of the applicants had no war service. It was understood when the scheme was begun that it was for assistance to war veterans.

The various sizes of the homes will prove equal to needs of the families, said Mr. Snider.

EXTENSION SERVICE WOULD COST $855

Cost of extending domestic water to Mr. W. F. Evans projected home would amount to $855, it was roughly estimated by Water Foreman Kercher at the Aug. 10 council session. This would provide 400 feet of 2-inch pipe and 500 feet of 1½-inch pipe.

At least four users in that vicinity would be benefitted, and after the $144 connection discount was allowed, the council considered it should split the expense with Mr. Evans, each party paying $355.

Legion Building At Penticton Is Officially Opened

PENTICTON—Before more than 400 banquet guests in the commodious new main auditorium, the $65,000 addition to Penticton's Canadian Legion building was officially opened on Friday, July 30.

Presided over by M. P. Finnerty, president of the local branch, the building's first formal function was attended by Legion members, their wives, members of the auxiliary and many special guests.

A special visitor was Bernard M. Isman, Vancouver, president of the provincial command of the organization. Others with him included A. W. Hanbury, Oliver, commander of Legion Zone "C," of which Penticton is a part; Mrs. N. G. Kincaid, immediate past president of the provincial command of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, and Mrs. M. E. Carter, president of the auxiliary to Branch 40.

Other special head table guests included Mayor Robert Lyon, Ian Morrison, Kamloops Legionnaire who was the architect for the new structure, J. F. "Pop" Britain, honorary president of Branch 40 and a Legion pioneer, Graham Kincaid, chairman of the special Legion committee that steered the project through to completion, and many others.

Claims Mayor Lyon Holding Post Illegally

PENTICTON—“We are ready to take steps to unseat Mayor Robert Lyon on the grounds that he is holding his office illegally, by virtue of his sub-lease of city-owned property,” O. C. Reed, president of the Penticton Ratepayers' Association, made known last week in a statement to the Herald.

“The municipal act states that the mayor may not benefit directly or indirectly by any action of the city council,” and we hold that his sub-leasing of the old public works building back of the fire hall contravenes that clause of the act,” Mr. Reed declared.

“A delegation called upon the mayor privately last week to inform him of this position.

“In going to him privately, we felt that he should resign, but if he does not choose to do so, we intend to take the matter to the courts.”

Mr. Reed stated that the action was taken by the executive of the Ratepayers' Association “after a full investigation, and expert legal advice.”

Mr. Reed made his statement when informed by the Herald that Mayor Robert Lyon had brought the matter up before council on Monday night in a prepared statement. The mayor's action was the first public disclosure of the situation.

In his statement, His Worship said that the delegation, consisting of Mr. Reed, W. B. Carter, secretary of the organization, Robert Miller and George Morrison, had requested an appointment with him and “told me that I am holding office illegally, and, if I continue am liable for heavy penalties.

“They did not ask me to resign, but left me with the statement of their position, implying that the next move should come from me.

“My conscience is clear, I do not intend to resign, but I wish to lay the whole matter before council and to learn council's opinion.”

The mayor then outlined the details of the transaction which had led, early in 1947, to his use of a portion of the building in question under a sub-lease from R. A. Barton, who was the city's tenant.

Two Tenders for Whatshan Lake Plant

Premier Byron Johnson, announced last week that the B.C. Power Commission has received two tenders for the supply, fabrication and erection of structural steel for the power house at the Whatshan development, near Needles, B.C.

The Dominion Bridge Company Limited, Vancouver, submitted a bid of $19,749.40, while the Western Bridge and Steel Fabricators Limited, Vancouver, sent in a figure of $15,614.63.

The power house is to be constructed on Upper Arrow Lake. Its turbines will be turned by water carried through a two-mile tunnel from Whatshan Lake.

CKOV Manager Fractures Limbs In Odd Accident

KELOWNA—J. W. B. Browne, managing director of radio station CKOV, fractured his right arm and left leg on Wednesday night, August 18, as a result of a property dispute between the radio station manager and his next door neighbors, H. A. and F. H. Blake.

For the past two weeks there has been a dispute between the Blakes and Browne over the right-of-way of a piece of property which the Blakes plan to subdivide. The matter came to a head early last week when Mr. Browne found the driveway barricaded with barbed wire and trees.

He has only been able to gain access to his house by cutting the wire with pliers. However, a huge tree was felled across the driveway, and Mr. Browne had to attach a chain to the tree and pull it away from the driveway before he could leave the premises.

Wednesday night, his son, Jim, was assisting him to remove the barbed wire entanglement and a wire fence. Jim attached the wire to the back of a jeep, and when he started forward, his father, who was standing nearby, was struck by the wire. He was entangled with the wire when his son rushed to his assistance.

Mr. Browne was rushed to the Kelowna General Hospital, where his condition was reported “fairly good.” In view of the fact he has been suffering from arthritis for a long time, it is expected the bones will take a much longer time to knit.

APTITUDE TESTS PROVIDED BY UBC

Following the successful series of aptitude tests given by the University of B.C. in July, Dr. W. G. Black, UBC student counsellor, has announced that these same tests will be available to students entering the university this fall. The tests will take place September 4 and September 11, in the university auditorium.

These tests are voluntary in nature and give the student an opportunity to receive an evaluation of his particular vocational aptitudes. “The tests have proven invaluable in assisting students to choose their courses wisely,” said Dr. Black. “They also assist the student by indicating the vocations or professions best suited to his aptitudes.”

The test period will be approximately four hours in length with short recesses inserted at intervals. Five different tests will be given in this period and students will be able to consult officials of the student counselling service within ten days after the completion of the tests.

Some Pesticides Are Valuable But Detrimental to Man

During the past few years numerous new pesticides have been discovered which have been found valuable in controlling some agricultural pests. Unfortunately, in some cases time has not yet permitted a thorough analysis and exhaustive study of their effect upon warm-blooded animals, including man, but it is known that some are poisonous and detrimental to health.

Two of such chemicals are Hept (Hexa ethyl-tetra phosphate) and Tepp (Tetra ethyl-pyro phosphate). They are sufficiently poisonous to warm-blooded animals to warrant special precautions in handling, and in addition there is possibility of poisoning through skin absorption. While most people using these materials are accustomed to handling poisonous substances, accidents may happen if familiarity is permitted to breed contempt.

The plant products division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture which administers the pest control products act, is reluctant to register pesticides material under the act—thus permitting general sale—if the material is detrimental to public health and to domestic animals even when used in accordance with directions. The division therefore consults with scientists of the department's science service and with specialists in other government departments concerned with such matters.

If it is agreed that the new substance is sufficiently important as a pesticide to be offered for sale, registration under the act may be granted. But special care is taken to restrict the quantity of the

Sunday Storm Hits Salmon Arm Hard

SALMON ARM—Riding on a furious gale which attained a velocity estimated at between 50 and 60 miles an hour, a wild storm lashed Salmon Arm and the Shuswap Lake district late on Sunday afternoon, August 15.

Heralded by a prolonged thunder storm and bringing hail and a torrential downpour of rain that reached cloudburst proportions, the disturbance is claimed by old-time residents to have been one of the worst ever experienced in this area.

Although of brief duration, the storm left a trail of extensive damage in its wake. Apple orchards were peppered with hailstones in various localities, grain fields were flattened by wind and rain from one end of the Valley to the other, trees were uprooted and electric power service to Salmon Arm was cut off for a period of about nine hours.

Forty acres of timber were flattened and two trees were blown across an automobile on the northern slope of Mount Ida at a logging operation of the Salmon Arm Farmers' Exchange during Sunday's storm.

DONKEY BASEBALL SHOW PROJECTED

Possibility that the donkey baseball show, postponed from last spring when floods intervened, may come to Summerland next month was mooted in the council chamber on Tuesday when an application from the Summerland Baseball Club for lighting service to the Living Memorial athletic park was discussed.

It was roughly estimated that a temporary line, on poles, would cost $50 for labor and materials.

Council considered the possibility of putting in a permanent line to the property, but, as other users in the district are affected it was considered inadvisable to tackle the proposition this late in the season.

Duck Season From October 1 To November 19

Ducks, geese and coots may be shot this season in the eastern area of the province, situated south of the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, from October 1 to November 19.

No provision has been made for a split season, to allow local hunters to participate in shooting local ducks and the southern migration, as advocated by most of the sportsmen's clubs throughout the interior.

Regulations regarding shooting of migratory birds are issued by the minister of mines and resources at Ottawa.

Wilson's Snipe may be shot in this district from October 1 to 31, inclusive.

Bag limits are as follows: Ducks, 8 daily, 100 in season; geese, daily 5, season 25; coots, daily 25, season 150; Wilson's Snipe, daily 8, season 50.

Pump, repeating or automatic (auto-loading) shotguns, with a magazine which has not been permanently plugged or altered so that it cannot carry more than one cartridge, a swivel or machine gun, or battery, rifle, or shotgun loaded with a single bullet, or any gun larger than No. 10-gauge, or tracer shot-shells, are forbidden.

Use of live birds as decoys is also forbidden, nor can hunters use any airplane, powerboat, or nightlight. Shooting from any motor or wheeled vehicle or a vehicle to which a draught animal is attached, is against regulations. Using grain as bait, or any other artificial food cannot be tolerated.

Shooting of migratory birds earlier than sunrise cannot be allowed, and the hour for cease fire is one hour after sunrise.

Vernon Days Were Bigger and Better

VERNON—There was double cause for the huge crowds to enjoy Vernon Days Wednesday and Thursday, August 11 and 12, and enjoy it they did. The weatherman co-operated with the Kinsmen to provide an excellent atmosphere for a show which without exaggeration was bigger and better than ever.

More stores were slabbled, streets were more highly decorated, the steers and broncs bucked higher and harder, more children in fancier costumes filled the kiddies' parade and more lavish floats sparked the commercial display, more entertainment was offered at the carnival, more prizes went to lucky ticket holders, and more novel innovations added variety and humor.

From the pre-Vernon Days street dance on Saturday night until the last weary merry-maker left the arena dance in the early hours of Friday morning, there was fun for all and a lot of work for the Kinsmen and their many willing assistants from other clubs and groups in the city.

TIRE HOSPITAL OPENED MONDAY

Another business venture commenced on Monday, August 23, with the opening of the Summerland Tire Hospital, at the corner of Jubilee and Kelley streets.

An attractive service shop has been opened there by its owner and operator, Mr. John Surtees. Tire re-treading, vulcanizing and tube patching will be part of the service offered, while a complete line of E. F. Goodrich tires and auto accessories will be carried.

Penalty for violation of the migratory bird laws is a fine of not more than $200 and not less than $10 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or both fine and imprisonment.

Birds can be kept for three months after the close of the season in B.C.

Penticton Cops Valley Teen Town Ball Title In Thrilling 2-1 Win

Another thrilling baseball game was credited to the junior players of the South Okanagan last Sunday, when Penticton and Summerland Teen Town teams tangled for the Okanagan baseball championship.

Penticton's strong team, which comprised half of the senior aggregation, defeated Summerland 2-1 in an exciting contest as has been played at the Penticton King's Park all year.

Summerland's Teen Town squad was composed almost entirely of Red Sox players, with the addition of Wally Day, who stepped up to senior competition this year.

Incidentally, it was a bad day for Wally for it was due to his two errors in the initial frame that Penticton scored two runs, which were never overcome by the Summerland lads.

First batter to face Gilbert Jacobs scored a base hit and went to second on Francis Gould's miscue. Russell and Nicholson were retired and when Sam Drossos connected, the infield tried to nab Burtgart at third. The Summerland lads still claim he was out a mile but the base ump, Bill Benway, called him safe.

Raptis hit down to Day, who booted the ball, allowing Burtgart to score. Raptis then socked another one at Day, who by that time was so unnerved that he made his second error and Sam Drossos raced across.

Summerland never scored until the last of the ninth, when Jack Dunham drew a pass to first, stole second and third and came across on Sam Jomori's single. The latter stole second and went to third on a wild pitch, only to die there as Kato, F. Gould and Day went down in order, ending the ball game.

Getz and Campbell handled the hurling duties for the winning Penticton crew, the latter relieving in the fifth and whiffing eight Summerland batters. Jacobs had another big day on the mound, striking out 14 and only allowing three hits.

Penticton played errorless ball and on the general play deserved the win, although Jacobs overshadowed the southern pitcher in his performance.

Jacobs got into trouble in the seventh when, with one away Brawner missed a fly in left field and two more batters walked to fill the bags. However, the lanky local hurler bore down on Sam Drossos and Raptis and struck them out.

Harold Cousins Voted Most Valuable Kelowna Player

From Kelowna this week comes the announcement that the Frank Keevil trophy, an annual award billed as the Most Valuable (Kelowna) Player Award, has gone to Harold Cousins, former Peachland pitcher, who has been doing hurling duties for Kelowna Red Sox this year.

For fifteen years Harold Cousins has been winning ball games throughout the Okanagan, and ball fans still talk about the great hurling contest he staged prior to the war, when an international contest was staged at Oroville, with a picked Canadian team competing against American stars.

Cousins struck out some fifteen batters in what was termed his greatest pitching feat. His arm did not have the zip for several years after that terrific workout.

Harold is a member of the famous Cousins family of Peachland all male members of which have become well regarded on the baseball diamond.

Summerland to Go to Vernon This Weekend

Due to a mixup in delivery of notice, Vernon's Nick's Aces refused to entertain Summerland Merchants last Sunday at Vernon in the sudden-death playoff game for the right to enter the finals in the Interior Baseball league championships.

Rutland travelled to Kamloops last Sunday and was knocked out of the league running but the Summerland-Vernon game had to be postponed until this coming Sunday. Winners of this sudden-death game will meet Kamloops in a two out of three series for the league championship.

In the international league, which had Kelowna, Penticton and Oliver as Canadian competition, none of the teams on this side of the border reached the finals, Omak defeating Bridgeport in the windup series.

Local Teams in Tennis Finals

Thirteen competing teams brought no ill luck to Summerland Tennis club when Miss Monica Stokes and Mr. George Fudge brought home the Okanagan Centre challenge trophy for mixed doubles last Sunday.

Three teams from Vernon, three from Kelowna, four from the Centre, one from Oyama and four from Summerland entered the tourney, which was scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, August 14 and 15.

Because of rain on August 14, the teams had to meet again on August 22, when the Summerland teams of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Russell and Miss Monica Stokes with Mr. George Fudge defeated all contenders to enter the finals against each other.

Miss Stokes and Mr. Fudge beat the Russels 6-4, 4-2, to win the trophy.

Kelowna Arena Looks for Manager

KELOWNA—Kelowna's newly-appointed arena commission will swing into action immediately in preparation for the official opening of the Kelowna and District War Memorial Arena on Armistice Day, November 11.

Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games has released the names of the seven-man arena commission, and one of the first duties of the newly-appointed body, will be the engaging of an arena manager. Dick Parkinson will be the city council representative on the commission, while other city members are George E. Brown, Vic Gregory, Charlie Pettman, R. Seath, and E. Whillis. George Fitzgerald was asked to be the country representative, but he declined the offer. Appointment of a rural representative will be made next week.

Prepare Schools For Opening Sept. 7

Coming events cast their shadows before at the Summerland schools these days, with both elementary and high schools being cleaned and polished ready for the influx of school children on September 7.

The high school gymnasium floor is being repaired and sanded in readiness for fall games, and the roof of the high school is undergoing repair. A thorough cleaning-up process is underway in both schools.

Wealth of Color and Bloom Displayed at 23rd Annual Horticultural Flower Show

The sun shone on Wednesday August 25, to make perfect the enjoyment for a record crowd of a wonderful display of flowers at Ellison hall, when the Summerland Horticultural society held its 23rd annual flower show.

Forty-one competitive classes were well-represented by flower growers of Summerland, Penticton, Peachland and Naramata, to make a hall full of beauty. The professional displays of Mr. E. H. Bennett's marvellous gladioli, plus the lovely experimental station display, added immensely to the color and interest of the show. The hall was well filled with ohing and ah-ing admirers very shortly after the doors opened at 3 o'clock, and all in all the affair promised to be one of the most successful put on by the society.

Bennett Seedlings

Mr. Bennett showed several dozen "Summerland seedlings", new varieties of gladioli not yet on the market, and bidding fair by their beauty to be extremely popular. Orange gold, descriptively named; Spotlight, a clear yellow; Mary O'Dell, a pure white large bloom; Bengazi, a ruffled petalled lovely with immense blooms; Coquihalla, a rich, warm red; and many others beautiful beyond description were in this group. Burma, with a red so deep as to be almost black, is one of Mr. Bennett's new named gladioli, as 'is the clear crimson Red Viking.

Mr. Nat May had a colorful table of various flowers including tuberous begonias, asters, zinnias, the pretty mauve Russian sage, a native of Afghanistan which is grown in great profusion at the experimental station, delphiniums in shades of blue, white and mauve with great clear blossoms, grown at the station from this year's seedlings, and clusters of giant marigolds were all effectively displayed.

Among the amateurs, Summerland made a wonderful showing, taking most of the prizes. Mr. W. Snow, as usual, showed many examples of his expert gardening with giant dahlias, annuals, asters, gladioli, roses, petunias and stocks. All in all Mr. Snow copped 8 first prizes, 8 second prizes and one third prize.

Another of the chief winners at the show was Ken McKay of Naramata who captured seven first prizes and a number of seconds. He is another consistent winner of flower show prizes in the southern Okanagan.

BROKEN FLUME CASCADES WATER

At the top of Peach Orchard hill at about 9 o'clock Saturday night the main municipal flume burst, cascading water down the Okanagan highway. Municipal workmen, under Water Foreman E. Kercher, were summoned to cut off the flow of water and make hasty repairs.

On Tuesday, Foreman Kercher explained that the flume was resting on a large rock and pressure from traffic had gradually worn a hole in the flume, eventually causing it to break.

Magnus Tait Is Winner of Peach Festival Prize Car

Mr. Magnus Tait, holder of Ticket No. 1588, was the winner of the Penticton Peach Festival grand prize of a Chrysler sedan. Mr. Tait is an old-time resident of Trout Creek area in Summerland and is well-known throughout the Okanagan for his keen interest in fruit growing circles.

Rumors were circulated this week that Mr. Tait had been involved in an accident and the new prize car had been badly damaged. There is no truth to the rumor, as Mr. Tait, because of his eyesight has not driven for some years.

Mr. Tait has handed over the new automobile to his son, Donald, The Review learned yesterday.
