

Mill Rate Re Same As 1947 At 30 Mills Income Is Up 12 Percent

Summerland's tax rate for 1948 has been set at 30 mills, the same rate as applied in 1947. First readings of the bylaw were given at Tuesday's council meeting and final reading will be given this afternoon, when the council meets representatives of the West Summerland Fire Protection Society to discuss fire protection plans for the future.

Registration of the tax rate must be made by Saturday, May 15 and no further change in the rate structure is possible now, Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon emphasized on Tuesday.

Although the mill rate is the same as last year, the revenue for the municipality will be increased by approximately twelve percent, the council advised this week. Revenues are expected to total $86,050, against $78,043 in 1947.

This increase is caused by a general raise in the assessment values undertaken last fall. Taxes are raised on 100 percent of the land value assessed and 50 percent of improvements. Fruit trees and other improvements on orchard blocks of five acres or more, apart from actual dwellings, up to an assessed value of $5,000 are exempted from school taxation only.

It was considered that this exemption would be spread over general and debenture levies, but the council decided against this move for this year, feeling that it would throw taxation balances too much out of line.

Following are the divisions of the mill rate set for 1948, with a comparison of 1947 mill rate and amounts raised:

Municipal	10 mills, $39,330	11.25 mills, $24,308.84
School	16 mills, $36,368	17.5 mills, $37,814.53
Debenture	4 mills, $10,352	1.25 mills, $ 2,701.11

From other sources, the municipal levy is to be boosted by revenue amounting to $13,450, it is expected, while last year other revenues were $13,219.

Any possible revenue which may accrue to the municipality from the anticipated provincial sales tax is not taken into consideration in these figures, as the date when this tax will commence has not been decided and it is impossible at present to estimate any revenue figure from this source.

Revenue from tax sale lands is to be applied to capital expenditures, as required by provincial statute.

New Fire Truck

Included in the municipal levy are provisions for the purchase of a new truck for fire protection purposes. The purchase of a chlorination system is included in the domestic water estimates.

Cost of road maintenance is set at $10,000 plus whatever portion of the $28,000 raised by money bylaw which the municipality can use this year to provide hard surfaced roads. It was originally planned to use the entire sum of $28,000 for hard surface work this year but unless the council can obtain a new grader it is doubtful if the whole program can be completed this year.

It is expected that a decision regarding the purchase of a grader will be made this afternoon.

Considerable discussion arose on Tuesday evening over the impending meeting of the council and the fire protection group. It is expected that the society executive, headed by President J. R. Campbell and Secretary W. J. Beattie will be asked what attitude they will adopt if the council seeks to extend fire protection over the municipality.

If such a step is undertaken, the West Summerland district would be asked to disband as a unit under its present setup, but the cooperation of the active members of the society would be sought to assist in keeping up an adequate fire protection group, it is stated.

Disbandment of the society would have to be undertaken by vote, it is thought, and several other legal steps would be necessary before the whole municipality could be covered for fire protection purposes.

It would probably take until near the end of the year for the legal difficulties to be overcome.

But, in the meantime, the council has laid aside a sum for purchase of a fire truck which could provide rapid means of transportation for the fire equipment now available.

Dr. J. Marshall Candidate For School Board

There has been little interest evidenced in Summerland regarding the nominations for school trustees which will be accepted at the municipal office on Saturday morning, May 15, from 10 to 12 o'clock.

Besides the names of P. G. Dodwell and Mrs. A. W. Vandenberg, former trustees on School District 15 board, who are definitely expected to allow their names to go forward, Dr. James Marshall, Dominion entomologist here has announced his intention of allowing his nomination to go forward.

Mr. C. J. Bleasdale, manager of the B.C. Fruit Shippers Ltd. packing house, has been approached and asked to accept nomination, Harry Brown, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. inspector here, is not expected to accept nomination as hinted last week, as pressure of his regular duties would not allow him sufficient time to devote to school matters, friends state.

On Saturday, May 23, the election of four school trustees for Summerland municipality will be held, if more than four persons are nominated.

On the same day, the qualified voters in the rural portion of the district are being asked to gather at the elementary school here to discuss school matters with Inspector J. N. Burnett and choose

Chlorination Plant Order Given by Council

An order for a chlorination plant costing $4,255 is being sent to Shanahan's Ltd. by the Summerland council. Delivery is expected within ninety days and will be supervised by an engineer from the firm of Wallace & Tiernan, Seattle, on arrival, the council announced on Tuesday.

Two tanks of chlorine gas are also being ordered and the council is making plans for the erection of a small building to house the system. It is expected the cost of this structure will be in the neighborhood of $500.

A recording instrument at a cost of just over $500 was also considered but the council decided to wait for another year before acquiring this piece of equipment.

Heavy Crop Of Fruit Despite Rain And Cold

"Frost damage in Summerland area has been practically negligible," declared Mr. A. W. Watt, district agriculturist to The Review yesterday in a review of crop prospects for the coming season.

Although the season is two weeks later than last year, and is reported by old-timers to be the wettest spring ever experienced, Mr. Watt is optimistic concerning the prospects for harvesting a bumper fruit crop.

Cherry bloom on all varieties has been abundant but there has been an extremely cool, wet pollinating period. However, a few warm half-days have occurred sufficient to allow for good bee activity for short periods.

"This should be enough to set all the cherries we need," he believes.

Despite the cool, rainy weather, a very heavy bloom and a good set of apricots has been experienced. Moorpark should equal if not exceed last year, while Blenheim, which were down in crop last year should crop heavily this year, he expects.

With peaches, a very heavy bloom has also been experienced and "there is no reason why there should not be a crop at least equal to last year's record one."

Just appearing now is a heavy bloom of pears which gives indication of a crop in excess of last year as many young trees are now coming into bearing.

Apple blossoms have not appeared in any quantity yet, Mr. Watt points out, but this is the heavy year for apples. He anticipates the crop may exceed the 1946 record yield.

Orchards are in excellent shape with more soil moisture than recorded for years past.

One trustee to represent the unorganized territory in District No 77, Inspector J. N. Burnett states that approval is being sought to increase the estimates on the elementary school renovation here by $7,000 over the figure tentatively set last year.

This increase has come about due to the rise in building costs and labor in that period, he states.

District Pays Homage To Famous Soldier, Viscount. Alexander, And Lady Alexander On Brief Visit

For a brief half-hour on Monday morning, May 10, Summerland played host to two distinguished visitors, Viscount Alexander of Tunis Governor-General of Canada and Lady Alexander. The British soldier-tactician, who proved himself one of the great Allied leaders of World War II in the conquests of North Africa and Mediterranean countries, received a civic welcome by the community of Summerland, reviewed veterans of three wars, Boy Scouts, Cubs and school army cadets and witnessed the spontaneous and wholehearted plaudits of his subjects gathered in their hundreds around the cenotaph on the high school grounds.

It was a short, pleasant visit and both Viscount Alexander and Lady Alexander endeared themselves at once to the two thousand citizens of this district in the period between 11 and 11:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Two features of the official reception were the presentation by Reeve Reid A. Johnston of a colored photograph of Summerland, showing orchard land overlooking Trout Creek Point and beautiful Okanagan Lake; and the official presentation of the Military Medal to ex-Sgt. William C. McCutcheon, formerly with the 9th Armored Regt. (BCD) in the Italian campaign.

The citation was for conspicuous bravery and was awarded at Villanova, Italy in December, 1944.

"This is a ceremony which always gives me pleasure," was the unofficial comment of His Excellency when informed that he would be called upon to pin the Military Medal on the breast of a Canadian soldier-hero of World War II.

Clouds which gathered from the south threatened to dampen the proceedings but the rain held off and brief glimpses of the sun were observed during Their Excellencies' trip north.

Arriving in Pentiction on Sunday evening, the vice-regal party were present for an official reception on Monday morning when Viscount Alexander presented Reeve, now Mayor, Robert Lyon with the official charter of incorporation of Pentiction as a city.

Following these ceremonies the party drove north, spending half an hour in Summerland and making a brief pause in Westbank. Following dinner and a reception in Kelowna, the party attended a tea at the home of Alderman and Mrs. J. H. Horn at Okanagan Mission, and then boarded special launches which speeded them across the lake to Peachland.

At Peachland, His Excellency unveiled a memorial to the twenty-two Peachland men who fell in the two World Wars. This memorial is in the form of photographs of these fallen Peachland comrades, suitably mounted and incased in a carved juniper-wood cabinet.

Official address of welcome to Viscount Alexander and party was given by H. C. MacNeill, president of the Peachland branch No. 69, Canadian Legion.

Greeted by Reeve

Arriving in Summerland, Monday morning, Reeve Reid A. Johnston and Mrs. Johnston met the distinguished guests at the corner of the high school grounds and the main road and escorted them to the Cenotaph.

General Salute was sounded by Trumpeters John and Charles Betzuz as the party arrived.

The official address of welcome was read by Reeve Johnston who said, in part:

"Summerland is a fruit-growing district of about 3,500 people. Our citizens are very public minded, as shown in the past Victory Loan drives which in every case went over the top in record time. This is also true of all drives, including Red Cross, Princess Elizabeth wedding food parcels for Britain.

"Had your visit been a little later in the season, it would have given us great pleasure to have had you open officially our memorial park and athletic field, which are nearing completion.

"We trust that your western tour has been a pleasant one, and we pray that you have a safe journey home to Ottawa.

"On behalf of the citizens of Summerland it gives me great pleasure to present you with this token, honoring your visit with us."

Reeve Johnston then extended the photograph of Summerland district which was accepted with marked pleasure by His Excellency.

Viscount Alexander, in reply, thanked the citizens of Summerland.

Suggest No Change In Orchard Wage Scale

Recommendation to the growers of the South Okanagan that the schedule of orchard wages should remain unchanged from the 1947 level has been made by the southern district council of the BCFGA following the regular monthly meeting held last week.

It was felt by grower representatives present that there should be no change from the rates paid in 1947, states R. O. Hall, Oliver, council secretary. This is in line with the stand taken earlier by the growers regarding the requested increase in packing house wages.

"With everything pointing to lower returns for the 1948 crop, the growers do not see how they can pay increased costs," explained Mr. Hall.

Ask Greyhound for Progress Report

Legal clarification of taxi stands in West Summerland is to be obtained by council members prior to the preparing of a bylaw limiting parking on Granville and Hastings streets to one hour on week days between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., the council decided on Tuesday. Exact locations of these areas set aside for taxis will be necessary for preparation of the bylaw.

Also, the council authorized a letter to be sent to Mr. Lyall Chambers, interior Greyhound manager, seeking information on the Greyhound progress towards mitigating the traffic hazard on Granville street when the buses park twelve times daily.

Princeton To Play Here For Official Opening Of Living Memorial Park

Members of the Living Memorial athletic park committee completed arrangements yesterday for the Princeton baseball club to appear in Summerland on the afternoon of May 24 to participate in a baseball contest with the Summerland club as a portion of the official opening ceremonies in connection with the new athletic grounds.

A tentative plan is to have the annual board of trade track events for the kiddies at the start of the afternoon ceremonies, commencing at one o'clock and lasting to about 2:30.

Then, the official opening ceremonies will be conducted with Reeve Reid A. Johnston and officials of the Memorial Park committee taking part.

Following the opening, the two teams, who met in the finals of the Similkameen-South Okanagan baseball championships last year, will play in the feature attraction of the afternoon.

Reeve Suggests Municipal Hall Be Considered

Reeve Reid Johnston urged on Summerland council members Tuesday evening to consider presenting a bylaw this year for the erection of a municipal hall. He also sought support in advocating that this bylaw be presented along with the $20,000 money bylaw for the erection of a community hall on the park-playground area of the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee.

Last year, plans for a new municipal hall were prepared but they were too pretentious in design and had to be abandoned.

At Tuesday's council session, Reeve Johnston, Councillor C. E. Bentley and Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon were appointed a committee to prepare plans for a municipal hall only, the top cost to be $25,000.

Prepare Bylaw

In the meantime, the council instructed Municipal Clerk Nixon to prepare a bylaw for $20,000 for the community hall expenditure.

Councillor H. L. Wilson was the only council member to answer Reeve Johnston on his suggestion of combining the two bylaws. He declared himself against the coupling of the two projects. Councillor F. E. Atkinson stated that it was not necessary to combine bylaws as Pentiction has done recently.

Other councillors did not voice an opinion on this subject.

However, considerable discussion ensued regarding the need of a stage in the community hall building, and it was decided that Councillor F. E. Atkinson would obtain plans and costs from the UBC extension department chief, Dr. G. M. Shrum.

Councillor Bentley suggested that to add a stage to the present plans would cost about twenty percent of the project, or $4,000.

It was stated that the stage addition would mean an extra twenty feet in depth on the south side of the building but would not necessarily need to occupy the full width of the structure.

Councillor Bentley felt that the cost of chairs and kitchen equipment should have been included in the initial plan, which called for an expenditure of $20,000.

Keep at $20,000

Reeve Johnston stated he would have liked to see the original plan boosted to $25,000 when presented to the ratepayers' meeting. However, he did not think it politic to ask the ratepayers for more than $20,000 in the bylaw, now.

Coupled with this discussion was the subject of the future of Ellison hall. D. L. Sanborn had approached the council earlier in the day to ask for consideration of a new roof on the front portion. The council last year had undertaken half the roof repair with the understanding that the other half would be included this year.

Foreman E. Kercher will be asked to estimate the cost of this repair work, but the council made no decision as to the building's future.

It was suggested that the building could be torn down and salvaged lumber used in the new building, or it could be sold outright for salvage, or it could be sold for uses other than hall rental, and remain in its present location.

It was on the motion of Councillors Tait and Atkinson that the council decided to proceed with preparation of the bylaw for $20,000. Decision as to the time this bylaw will be presented to the taxpayers will come at a later date.

Two Big Days

JUST A WEEK away is Summerland's annual Spring Fair, an event which is fast giving this district a great deal of badly-needed publicity.

Nearly fifty displays of industrial, wholesale and retail firms have been obtained, not only from Summerland business houses but from other parts of the Okanagan and from the coast cities.

Some of the big displays at the Vernon-Okanagan industrial exposition are being sent to Summerland for exhibit next week, on May 21 and 22.

This year the Spring Fair committee has lined up a greater array of entertainment talent than was presented at last year's effort and in every way this year's Fair would appear to be on its way to being "bigger and better than ever".

With so much preparation, there is only one more thing to ask... "bigger and better" attendance figures over the four performances. And with such an interest being aroused, it is practically certain that Summerland will turn out in style to support its own Spring Fair.

"Come Again," Says Summerland

SUMMERLAND was paid a visit on Monday by a gracious couple, who endeared themselves at once to the hundreds who thronged about the school grounds and the Cenotaph for an all too brief glimpse of the Governor-General and Lady Alexander.

The fighting commander of allied forces in the North African and Mediterranean campaigns, Viscount Alexander of Tunis was quickly recognized as a man's man. His prowess as a tactical genius has long been recognized and the veterans who, one by one, exchanged words with His Excellency on Monday, were quick to note the soldierly manner.

There was nothing pompous about the Governor-General and Lady Alexander. They put at ease all those with whom they came in contact and that they shared a sense of humor was evident from the start.

There was only one criticism to offer about Monday's official reception for Their Excellencies. It was all too short. But, knowing the crowded itinerary and the vast distances which the vice-regal party must cover on a tour of western Canada it was readily understandable why they could devote only a brief half hour to this pleasant portion of the famous Okanagan.

If they can come again, Summerland will be glad to welcome Their Excellencies once more. If they can stay longer next time, Summerland will be glad to show more of its famed hospitality.

Wanted: School Trustees

THIS SATURDAY, nominations for the four Summerland posts on the new district school board are to be received at the municipal office.

This is an important time in the history of Summerland schools and it behooves the residents of this district to give some serious thought to the question of their representatives on the board.

A new school board is to be set up, and its first task is to plan a new building program, which has been interrupted by the war years and by the squabbles with Penticton in the former district board.

Many thousands of dollars are to be spent in Summerland in the near future on school renovation. More money will be needed within a short time for a new senior-junior high school.

In order to plan properly for the future school needs, we need a school board willing to devote a great deal of time and effort, probably at a considerable sacrifice to themselves, and also a board consisting of persons who are considerate of future needs without being foolhardy over expenditures.

Being a member of a school board gives the trustee a knowledge that they are assisting the coming generations of young people receive as adequate an education as it lies within their power. There is a great deal of personal satisfaction to a task of this nature.

At the same time, one must be willing to spare a great deal of time to the duties of trustee. The public does not thank its elected trustees often for their unstinting devotion to the needs of the young people who will be the citizens of tomorrow. But there is a personal satisfaction in the knowledge of a well done.

Let us hope that a good slate of public spirited citizens will offer themselves for nomination on Saturday,

Congratulations, Penticton

ON MONDAY, Penticton became a city, thus passing another milestone in its history of development as the chief centre of the South Okanagan.

Summerland and Penticton share in many endeavors and this spirit of co-operation was evidenced to no small degree this week in the presentation of the operetta, HMS Pinafore. It is true that Summerland cannot agree with Penticton on many points, chief of which, in latter years, has been the subject of schools.

However, Penticton and Summerland have many mutual friends and we hurry to extend our congratulations to Reeve, now Mayor Robert Lyon and his fellow citizens on their elevation to the status of a city.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Attention all those who have reached the age of fifty! I have made a brilliant discovery—I have discovered how to stay young! The solution lies in going back to school. People who maintain a keen interest in the improvement of their education may grow old in years but they remain young with respect to their outlook on life.

I saw an excellent example of the value of going back to school when I visited the experimental station last week. School was in progress in the fruit and vegetable processing laboratory. The teachers were Dr. C. C. Strachan and Miss M. O. Burton. The class consisted of about a dozen inspectors whose business it is to check the quality and condition of processed fruits and vegetables. These inspectors had come long distances to attend the school. For example, Roy Thomas had come from Vancouver, W. Pishka from Lethbridge, Charles Wilson from Creston, Wm. Read and J. de Jong from Vernon, Harold Miller from Kelowna and Van Dafeo from Penticton; Andy Bonnie and Harry Brown were also present.

I gathered that the main purpose of this inspectors' school, which was in progress throughout the week, is to bring the inspectors up-to-date with respect to new methods of processing fruits and vegetables. The lectures and discussions also have the very beneficial effect of promoting uniformity in methods of inspection.

An effort is made to acquaint the inspectors with some of the scientific background involved in the processing of fruits and vegetables by canning, dehydration and freezing. This information often enables the inspector to determine the reasons why individual lots of processed fruits or vegetables are not up to standard. By passing this information along to processors, serious losses can be prevented and a better product delivered to the consumer.

In talking with the inspectors I gathered that they were delighted with the manner in which the school had been conducted. They were especially impressed by the fact that the instructors knew their subject well enough to present complex information in simple language.

The holding of these inspectors' schools is also of advantage to the staff of the local experimental station, as the questions asked by the inspectors keep the research men well informed as to the nature of the practical problems with which the processing industry is confronted.

Italians Showed Democracies How Communism Can Be Defeated

(Nelson News)

The Italian elections were a tremendous victory for democracy, the Marshall Plan and, of course, the Italians. By a decisive two-to-one majority, they rejected Communism and chose freedom. They refused the role of satellite in the Soviet system and preferred that of free partner with western Europe and the United States.

Premier de Gasperi's Christian Democrats alone secured nearly 48 per cent of the votes—an astounding feat in a country with dozens of splinter parties. When the number of parties in a nation rises from two to three, it usually becomes impossible for any one of them to muster the support of half the people; in Canada, for example, the present government obtained just 30 per cent of the votes in the last federal election.

Under our electoral system, de Gasperi might now have thumping majorities in both houses of the Italian parliament. Under P.R. his party following will be exactly proportionate to ballots cast but the backing of other anti-Communist groups will bring his total strength up to about two-thirds in both senate and assembly. That should enable him to govern securely, feels the Toronto Globe and Mail.

The Communist Party which has suffered this resounding defeat was reckoned the strongest in the world outside the Soviet bloc. In ordinary times the grim, enslaving doctrines of Marxism would make no appeal to the Italians. But bitter war experience, besides impoverishing them, induced a moral cynicism which was rich soil for the Communists. Togliatti, a brilliant organizer, built up a potent political weapon.

Internationally, of course, the vote had enormous importance because Italy was seen as a border country between the Soviet and the western spheres. A Communist Italy could have been a cause of war because it would have established Russian power in the central Mediterranean and perhaps cut off Greece, Turkey and the Middle East from western influence. But the election result keeps Italy on the right side of the Iron Curtain. It proves that the west can win political battles with the Russians (even when the Russians are established next door to the battlefield), and that a shooting war to "contain" them need not be necessary.

The next step, obviously, is to hold the ground gained. In a minority, the Communists have no claim to a place in the new Italian government, and will undoubtedly be excluded. Even so, their capacity for mischief will be considerable. It is for the Western Powers to convince the Italians that they have made a wise decision. Italy should at once be assured of a welcome into the projected economic and military union of western Europe. This is the certain way to reduce the Italian Communists to the status of

NEW DWELLINGS AGAIN TO FORE

Although April building permits exceeded those of last year, the total value of building in Summerland for the first four months of 1948 is only half of the 1947 total. Sixteen permits were issued last month for a total estimated construction cost of $19,640, whereas in the same month last year 20 permits were issued for $10,000.

This brings the total for the year to April 30 to $63,170 while the 1947 total at April 30 was $126,200.

New residences occupied the limelight in April permits, as there were eight issued for a value of $13,100. Alterations to one commercial building was valued at $5,000 while alterations to seven buildings totalled $1,540.

Male Members of UBC Production Score In 'School for Scandal'

As the audience of nearly 200 persons left Ellison hall on Thursday evening after seeing the University Players' Club presentation of Sheridan's "School for Scandal", they were unanimous in just one thing: that Summerland badly needs better hall facilities. The reaction to the play itself varied from high enthusiasm to downright boredom.

Certainly, considering the handicaps of the hall for such a production, the players did remarkably well. The men in the cast were uniformly excellent, their diction clear and their pantomime superb. Peter Mannering gave a flawless interpretation of Sir Peter Teazle, rousing even the least enthusiastic beholder to appreciative applause.

The costumes and the make-up deserve especial praise, and in that again Peter Mannering walked off with the top honors. It was hard to realize that the aging Sir Peter was in truth a fresh-faced stripling.

Cyril Groves as Snake properly horrified everyone with his snakiness, and Philip Keatley never for a moment forgot Sir Benjamin Backbite's exquisite hands.

All in all the men were so very good they quite outshone the feminine members of the cast, Maria, played by Nanah Richardson, was pretty but rather wooden, and both Joy Coghill and Lois Shaw, portraying Mrs. Candour and Lady Sneerwell, lost to the audience many of Sheridan's lines through too rapid enunciation.

While it is somewhat a matter of controversy whether Sheridan has a general enough appeal to the average modern audience to merit a three-hour session, the Players' Club need make no apology for their performance, staging, costuming or make-up. The play was well worth seeing for the artistry of its performance, regardless of individual reactions to the playwright's lines.

Decision to purchase a concrete mixer was reached by the council on Tuesday, the cost to be $235.

Receive Tenders For Equipment At Whatshan Lake

Tenders for two turbines and two generators with auxiliary equipment to be used in the hydro-electric development at Whatshan in the Arrow Lakes region near Needles, were opened this week by Mr. S. R. Weston, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission.

Canadian Westinghouse Limited offered to supply and erect two 12,500 KVA generators of the enclosed type for $312,500, with delivery of the first unit in 24 months and the second in 25 months.

Canadian General Electric submitted bids on two types at $315,000 and $329,000 with delivery in 18 and 19 months.

Three tenders were received for two turbines:

Vancouver Engineering Works Limited, $227,980 for 15,000 horsepower units; Canadian Allis Chalmers Limited $201,340 for 16,000 horsepower units, and Dominion Engineering Company Limited, $210,000 for 15,000 horsepower machines.

GRADER NOT CAPABLE

Councillor H. L. Wilson stated that, because of the poor condition of the municipal grader, he considered it inadvisable to use the machine on the heavy work necessary to put the K. Kita road into shape. However, he was asked to see that crushed rock or shale is made available to assist drivers over this section.

GUIDE NEWS

Last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Girl Guides and many mothers and interested visitors gathered outside the Parish hall to witness the enrollment ceremony of the newly formed first company Summerland Girl Guides.

After the Guides had formed a horse-shoe the ceremony was opened by a very interesting talk from Mrs. Harrison, Girl Guide commissioner of South Okanagan. Mrs. McIntosh, our captain, then presented the patrol leaders Dorothy Blacklock, Shirley Wilson, Mildred Verrier, Phyllis Bradford and Ellen Brandstrup to Mrs. Harrison for enrollment.

The patrol leaders in turn presented their patrols for enrollment. After they had received their pins of which they are very proud, the company was dismissed.

The visitors then went into the hall where they were served a very delicious tea by the ladies of the Guide Association. While the visitors were having tea the Guides played games on the lawn.

Enrollment Of Guides Ceremony

Following an impressive Girl Guide enrollment ceremony before the flag on the lawn of St. Stephen's parish hall on Friday, May 7, an estimated 50 interested on-lookers were served tea in the flower-bedecked hall.

Guide Commissioner Mrs. F. V. Harrison conducted the ceremony, and presented the forty new Guides with membership pins, which will serve to identify them as Guides until uniforms can be obtained for the group.

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony and Mrs. H. Pares were asked to pour for the tea, which convenors Mrs. Earle Wilson and Mrs. Fred Schumann found gratifyingly well attended.

CELLULOSE PLANT NEAR PR. RUPERT

VICTORIA—Granting of a forest management licence to Columbia Cellulose Company this week cleared plans for the construction of a $25,000,000 cellulose plant at Port Edward, near Prince Rupert, it is announced by Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests.

The tract covered by the licence is in the Prince Rupert forest district and includes part of the watershed areas of the Skeena and Nass rivers. It will provide a sustained wood supply for the plant on Watson Island which will have a capacity of 200 tons of highly purified cellulose daily. Clearing of the site is already under way and construction is scheduled to begin shortly. It is estimated two years will be required for completion.

Under the forest management plan, logging is regulated so that forest resources will be perpetuated through scientific management and planned re-forestation. Regulations require that the company work in co-operation with the Forest Service.

SPRINKLER IRRIGATION

Among sprinkler irrigation applications approved at Tuesday's council meeting were those from H. H. Hannah, E. Bulloch, B. T. Washington, C. V. Nesbitt and J. Ganzeveld.

No Danger From Garnet Valley Dam, Says Foreman E. Kercher; 48 Inches Of Snow Encountered

"As far as Garnet Valley dam is concerned there is no danger," declared Municipal Water Foreman E. Kercher to the council on Tuesday when called upon by Councillor C. E. Bentley to review the water situation in the area west of Summerland.

On May 10, slightly more than five inches of water was going over the spillway and the gate was open 1 1/2 inches. If the gate was closed, then there would be about six inches over the spillway, Mr. Kercher reported.

This dam has seen a condition where the water over the spillway measured twelve inches and the dam is in better shape now than it has ever been, he declared. The dam is full now.

"We'll be drawing water out of Eneas creek shortly," added Mr. Kercher, intimating that this would further alleviate the situation.

"The gate could be opened and discharge 300 acre feet in 24 hours," he stated, inferring that this would only be done in the case of any extreme condition arising.

Reeve Johnston asked that close supervision be given to the dams in Summerland's watershed and Foreman Kercher replied that he was taking all necessary precautions.

Last weekend, Mr. Kercher and party endeavored to reach Trout Creek headwaters, but because of the impassable condition of the road and the depth of snow, they could not reach their objective.

Four feet of snow was reported by Mr. Kercher and all the lakes in the area are frozen, including Glen lake.

"There is nothing moving in that part of the country," declared Mr. Kercher. He believed that when the thaw does come at the higher levels the ground will absorb a good deal of the moisture.

Councillor Wilson reported earlier in the meeting that Mrs. C. J. Amm had requested assistance regarding a portion of her property on Eneas creek.

Foreman Kercher stated that there is a section of about fifty feet which might be affected by flood waters if they materialize. He had suggested that Mrs. Amm obtain sacks to improve the level of the bank in this spot, and had promised assistance in case of emergency.

"The creek is in the best condition it has ever been to my knowledge as we deepened it last year and raised the bank levels," he declared.

A story on water conditions in the headwaters, as reported by the water rights branch of the provincial government can be found in another column of this issue.

land for this presentation and for the reception. This was their first visit to the Okanagan, of which they had heard so much, and they were thrilled with the beauty of the Valley, he declared.

His Excellency expressed the hope that he and Lady Alexander would return again and spend a longer time. He referred to Pen-tion Reeve Robert Lyon's comment concerning their "jet-propelled Okanagan visit" and asked his audience's forbearance as on a tour of western Canada vast distances had to be travelled in a short space of time.

As an official presentation on behalf of the citizens of Summerland, the diminutive twin daughters, Dorothy and Marion, of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dunsdon, handed Lady Alexander a beautiful bouquet of red roses. Mrs. A. K. Elliott, president of the South Okanagan zone of the Legion W.A. and one of the most ardent workers on behalf of the auxiliary here, presented Her Excellency with a corsage of pink roses.

Other prominent Summerland personages presented to Their Excellencies included Councillor Eric Tait, Councillor and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Councillor and Mrs. Harvey Wilson, Councillor C. E. Bentley and Mrs. H. Pares, Magistrate and Mrs. H. Sharman, Mr. F. W. Schumann, board of trade president and Mrs. Schumann, S. A. MacDonald and A. K. Macleod, principals of the elementary and high schools.

Views Veterans

Directly after these presentations, Viscount Alexander reviewed the veterans of three wars.

Veterans of the South African war, David Jack, T. Whitfield and George Doherty were on the right of the line. Next, in a group, were those who served in the 8th Army, followed by veterans of many campaigns in many different theatres. Female members of the forces were included in the veterans.

His Excellency stopped before each veteran and exchanged a few words, generally enquiring about the veteran's unit and occasionally enquiring if any wounds had been suffered.

Following the review of the veterans, who were under the charge of Legion President Alan Calvert, the Governor-General inspected the Army Cadets of the high school, who were under the charge of Cadet Sgt.-Major Don Nesbitt. Next came the local Scout troop, under Scoutmaster Gordon Blewett and last was the review of the Cubs, under Cubmaster Hugh McLarty.

These groups were lined up on both sides of Jubilee road.

In the meantime, Lady Alexander was reviewing the newly-enrolled Girl Guide company.

With Commissioner Mrs. F. V. Harrison conducting, her Ladyship stopped for a few encouraging words with Guiders Mrs. Ken McIntosh, Mrs. Don Blagborne, Miss Elizabeth Theed and Miss Joan Marshall, inquiring how many Guiders were enrolled, and expressing her understanding of the difficulties of obtaining uniforms.

The forty girls were drawn up into four ranks, and Lady Alexander passed along each rank giving the girls the benefit of her charming smile which will undoubtedly keep their troop morale at a high pitch for many months.

The twenty CGIT girls were also drawn up for review, and looked very smart in their white middie. Lady Alexander chatted a moment with Mrs. Allan McKenzie and Miss Maureen May, leaders of the group, asking about the aims and organization of CGIT groups. This was the first time Lady Alexander had reviewed a group of CGIT girls.

School children were lined up on both sides of the Cenotaph, on the school lawn, and there was marked enthusiasm when Viscount Alexander declared that there would be a half holiday for the balance of the day.

Before the party's departure, Councillor Harvey Wilson led the big gathering in three cheers for Their Excellencies.

Accompanying the vice-regal party in the official visit to the Okanagan were Major-General H. F. G. Letson, Canadian aide-de-camp; Miss Jennifer Bevan, Lady-in-waiting; Captain J. D. Chichester-Clark, aide-de-camp.

Official aide-de-camp for the tour of the South Okanagan was Major-General R. F. L. Keller, Kelowna, accompanied by Mrs. Keller.

Arrangements in Summerland were in the hands of Reeve Reid Johnston, assisted by Councillor C. E. Bentley, who also acted for the Canadian Legion. At Tuesday's council session, Reeve Johnston publicly thanked Councillor Bentley for his excellent handling of the reception details.

GRACIOUS LADY ALEXANDER—

Must Take Service For One Year

In discussing electrical projects where the service has been provided by the municipality but the owner who requested the service has not been able to finish construction, the council on Tuesday decided that a minimum rate charge should be collected for a year. The municipality, in these instances, had acted in good faith and should be reimbursed in part for the expenditure in bringing the service to the property, councillors felt.

manager of the newly-established Okanagan branch of H. Y. Louie & Co. Ltd., old-established wholesale grocers of Vancouver. The Okanagan branch is located at 320 Martin Street, Penticton.

Wholesale Grocery Firm Opens Branch Warehouse Here

Of particular interest to retailers in the Okanagan is the announcement made today of the opening, in Penticton, of a wholesale branch by H. Y. Louie & Co. Ltd., Vancouver wholesale grocers, to serve the Okanagan trade. The new branch is located at 320 Martin Street, Penticton, in premises formerly occupied as a warehouse by O. K. Freight Lines.

Manager of the branch is C. F. "Clare" Way, formerly purchasing agent of the firm at its Vancouver head office. Mr. Way comes to Penticton with a background of over 10 years experience in the wholesale grocery trade. He served in the RCAF as a commissioned officer and is a former director of the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade.

H. Y. Louie & Co. Ltd., have been established in B.C. more than 60 years. "Opening of our Okanagan branch", stated Mr. Way, "is one step in an expansion policy to better serve the growing needs of the Okanagan trade. The branch will be equipped with the facilities and staff to render a prompt, efficient service."

Retailers view this new business development as further evidence of confidence and faith in the stability and future of the Okanagan district.

With Mrs. Salisbury came another sister, Mrs. C. Buzzo, also from the southern state. Mrs. Buzzo visited her sister here three years ago.

White Satin Is Lovely Gown Of May Bride

Rev. F. W. Haskins officiated at the charming home wedding of Miss Eleanore Marie Stein and Mr. Dean Manley Hart, on Saturday, May 8, at 3 o'clock.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stein, was given in marriage by her father, and attended by Miss Laura Heinrich, Miss Stein was gowned in white satin featuring a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, and further enhanced with a lace edged peplum. Her long veil was fastened to her head with a circlet of lily of the valley, and her shower bouquet was of red carnations.

Miss Heinrich wore a gown of pink embroidered organdy, and her flowers were a headdress of pink carnations.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hart, had as his best man, his brother, Mr. Donald Hart.

At the reception following the ceremony, Mrs. Stein received the sixty guests gowned in a black and white jersey afternoon formal, and wore with it a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Hart, the groom's mother, wore a grey ensemble costume with a white carnation corsage.

Mr. James Wells proposed the toast to the bride, and Mr. Gordon Stein proposed one to the bridesmaid. Following the cutting of the bride's cake, which was the central theme of a beautifully-decorated table with a Spring flower motif, the bride changed into a going-away costume of a black two-piece suit with which she wore a fuchsia short coat, and black accessories. The young couple left by motor, for Chilliwack, where they will make their home.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. Raesler and Mr. and Mrs. W. Raesler of Penticton, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hart of Hope, and from Vancouver came Mrs. G. Hayward, Mr. S. Hayward, Mr. L. Stevenson and Mr. Donald Hart.

A Summerland member of the graduating class of the Royal Columbian hospital, New Westminster, last week was Miss Rodena Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Moore.

Miss Gwen Bloomfield, who has been attending the Vancouver Bible College, has returned to her home in Summerland.

Miss Ruby Dunlop and Mr. David Hayward both of Vancouver have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Elsey during the past week.

Dr. J. C. Wilcox and family will leave tomorrow to motor to Vancouver for a visit. While at the coast, Dr. Wilcox will go on to Victoria to attend a soil conservation meeting there.

Tuber Flea Beetle Menace To Spud Crop

(Science Service News)

British Columbia potatoes planted since early April are liable to heavy attack by larvae of the tuber flea beetle, warns the dominion department of agriculture. Only slight damage will probably be done to potatoes planted in March for early July harvesting, but the later, and main crop needs protection.

Since 1940, when first observed in Canada, the tuber flea beetle has increased its injury to potatoes on the lower mainland of British Columbia. And now, this insect which has been so costly to growers in Washington, Oregon and Colorado, has spread to the interior of the province and to Vancouver Island. It has yet to be seen in the other provinces.

At Agassiz, scientists of the dominion entomological laboratory have been testing ways to control the tuber flea beetle.

These entomologists, R. Glendenning and H. G. Fulton, say that their recommendations, while not giving perfect results, do help to lessen the damage.

They point out that from now until the end of June, female tuber flea beetles come out from hibernating in the ground and fly to the nearest potato fields. There, they feed on foliage, mate, and burrow into the ground near the potato stalk where each lays approximately 100 eggs. From these eggs come forth larvae resembling a half-inch thin worm with a brownish head, to feed on the growing potatoes. For two to three weeks, these larvae pit and pimple the skin of tuber, often cracking it, and leaving the potato so defaced that the housewife has to peel it to a wasteful depth.

To reduce this injury, the department entomologists recommend a spray or dust containing both calcium arsenate and DDT. By adding these chemicals to fungicidal copper sprays, the grower helps to protect his crop from not only tuber flea beetles, but also late blight, while to some extent he wards off aphids.

At the annual meeting of the Okanagan Historical Society in Kelowna on May 5, Dr. F. W. Andrew and Rev. Frank Haskins of Summerland were elected vice-president and director respectively. President is Capt. J. B. Weeks of Penticton.

Dr. Andrew was requested to write an important article for the next Okanagan Historical Society report on the subject of early medical history and development in the Valley.

The recommended spray formula is 100 gallons of Bordeaux spray, five pounds of calcium arsenate, and two pounds of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder. Rate of application is up to 200 gallons per acre, depending on the size of the plants and with the greatest concentration on the six outside rows and each 20 feet at the ends of the rows.

The most efficient dust formula is 77 pounds of seven percent copper-lime or fixed copper, 20 pounds of calcium arsenate, and six pounds of DDT, 50 per cent strength. This dust should be applied at the rate of 35 pounds per acre when the plants are small, increasing the dose to 50 pounds when the tops are over two feet high. For June dusting, when late blight is not feared, hydrated lime or talc may be substituted for the copper-lime. The best time to dust is when the air is perfectly calm, preferably in the early morning while the plants are wet with dew.

The time to make these applications to early plantings is from June 5 to 15 when two dose should be enough. The main crop requires five applications at ten-day intervals, starting about June 5 when the plants are usually three inches high.

Vernon Sees Itself and Its Paper in Film

"Oh wad some power the giftie gie us

To see ourself as others see us!" Vernon citizens came close to realizing Robbie Burns' desire last week as they watched the Canadian premiere of "The Home Town Paper" on the screen of the Capitol Theatre. For three nights packed audiences enjoyed seeing themselves and their friends in the National Film Board's movie about Vernon and its newspaper.

They not only saw themselves "as others see us," but as millions throughout the world who never heard of Vernon will be seeing them in the next year or two. The 21-minute real life study will be shown in commercial theatres in Canada and many foreign countries; will be screened by thousands of non-commercial film councils; will be placed in the film libraries of all Canadian embassies and legations.

To local first night audiences, the theme of the picture was not the important thing, nor was the obvious art beauty and warmth with which the Vernon community was portrayed. Citizens were most delighted by seeing themselves and their friends on the silver screen. And it was with justified pride and pleasure that they did.

Regrettable, Unavoidable

But the source of greatest pleasure was also the cause of greatest disappointment. Many who had appeared before the camera during filming last summer did not appear on the screen. This was as unavoidable as it was regrettable.

As explained by Arnold Perry, assistant regional supervisor of the National Film Board, in his address to the audience Monday night, from four to five feet of film is taken for every foot that is used. Morten Parker, director of the filming in Vernon, was loath to have one foot of the film deleted, but to reduce it to a 20-minute feature which would be accepted for showing in commercial theatres throughout the world, scene after scene had to be cut. The film editor had to condense two hours of film to 20 minutes.

However, Mr. Perry continued, in October "The Home Town Paper" will be issued on 16 millimeter film for showing through 100 film councils in Canada, and much that was cut out of the theatrical film will be replaced for this purpose. The Vernon Film Council will receive a print for extended showings in this community and it will be a much longer film, promised Mr. Perry.

Hon. R. C. MacDonald On Brief Visit

Hon. R. C. MacDonald, minister of mines and municipalities and B. C. Bracewell, deputy minister of municipalities, who attended the official banquet in Penticton on Monday evening celebrating the ceremony of Penticton becoming a city, were visitors to Summerland for a brief period on Sunday.

They were driven north to Summerland and Peachland by School Inspector J. L. Burnett. Hon. Mr. MacDonald continued on to Salmon Arm while Mr. Bracewell returned to Penticton to leave last evening for the coast.

Heavy Hitting Kamloops Legion Nine Clouts Summerland For 12-2 Win

Summerland went down to defeat by a 12-2 count at Kamloops on Sunday, May 9, in the second game of the Interior ball league. Costly errors at crucial points and some hard luck thrown in combined to make the score a one-sided affair but it was a much better ball game than the count indicates.

The southerners took it on the chin from the outset when Bob Scrivner was tried out on the mound and was nicked for four runs after two men had been retired. Bill Evans went the rest of the route but he was up against a heavy hitting group of Kamloops Legionnaires.

Kamloops collected as many hits as they did runs, ten of them being tallied from Evans' offerings. On the other hand, Summerland was limited to seven scattered bingles.

WANTS CONVENTION

VERNON—The problem of finding accommodation for 150 delegates expected at the 60th annual convention of the BCFGA next January will be studied by the city council and the board of trade before issuing an invitation for the big meet to be held in this city. The problem twice before has prevented holding the convention here in recent years.

Frank Kuroda was the toast of the game as the diminutive left-fielder sparkled on the paths. He got a big hand from the crowd as he showed a world of speed running the bags.

Wally Day, playing his first game in senior company, handled himself with aplomb at the hot third sack, taking five chances without a miscue.

After the disastrous first frame, Summerland halved its deficit in the third when Kuroda singled and raced home from first base on Braddock's hit. The latter was brought home on Walsh's hit and an error by Maralia.

The game was pretty well sewed up by Kamloops in the fourth, when, again with two away, and two on the paths, Maralia, the second-sacker, clouted out a four-base hit to bring the score to 7-2.

The fifth showed Summerland to the poorest advantage as five runs scampered across to complete the scoring. Three singles, two errors and two walks, with a sacrifice thrown in accounted for the five runs.

Hec MacKenzie, Kamloops veteran hurler, was the starting hurler but was relieved in the fifth by W. Macdonald, who finished the contest.

Next Sunday, the team plays at Vernon. A school bus has been chartered and extra seats are available for those who wish to take advantage of the trip and support the team, states Jack Dunsdon, treasurer of the club.

Mrs D. L. Milne Is Honored at Temperance Meet

Vernon's Presbyterian and United churches provided facilities for a successful WCTU annual convention held there on April 27 and 28. Mayor Adams of Vernon opened the convention, which was further honored by the presence of the provincial president, Mrs. Lade of Vancouver, and by Miss Edna Grant, Dominion temperance worker.

New officers chosen during the convention were: Miss Frances Giberson, Kamloops, district president; Mrs. C. Gerrie, Peachland, 1st vice-president; Mrs. D. L. Milne, Summerland, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Jones, Vernon, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. Campbell, Kamloops, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. L. Burgoyne, Kamloops, district treasurer. A life-membership pin was presented to Mrs. Campbell, and Mrs. Milne was the recipient of the banner for the district.

A banquet prepared by the Vernon ladies was enjoyed by the convention, when several of Vernon's clergy gave interesting addresses.

Mrs. Lade, provincial president, spoke in her closing address of the forty-nine million dollars spent in Canada for liquor last year, and of resulting increase in car-accidents.

G. M. Dunsdon In Repeat Performance

G. M. Dunsdon topped the weekly rifle shoot scorers for the second week in a row, this time with a 99 count out of a possible 105. Other scores registered last Sunday morning were: Ted Dunsdon 96, H. Snider 95, Ed Gould 94, P. S. and A. R. Dunsdon 91, R. Taylor 85, A. Moyles 84, H. (Pop) Dunsdon 82, Len Shannon and Harry Brown 80, John Khalembach 78, W. C. W. Fosbery 78, Herb S'mpson 71, Ralph Froudlock 47.

Land Classification Course at UBC

Beginning this week and continuing for ten days, an intensive course in land classification will be held at the University of British Columbia, states Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests.

The course will give preliminary instructions to university students who will spend the summer in land classification and utilization.

Experts in soils, forestry, mapping, and other phases of the work will instruct the students in preparation for field work. It is hoped to "take stock" of between 400,000 and 500,000 acres in three areas.

HOME TOWN PAPER HITS THE SCREEN

The vital, intimate relationship between a community and its newspaper is the principal theme of a new motion picture being exhibited in the theatres of Canada. Titled "The Home Town Paper", the film stresses the responsibilities and services of a Canadian weekly newspaper to the community in which it is published. Produced by the National Film Board, it is released in the Canada Carries On series. Above are four scenes from "The Home Town Paper" upper left, the make-up man sets the lead type into a page to record the heart-beat of the community. Upper right, a reporter records a local business man's prize-winning catch. Lower left is a typical home town morning street scene. Beside it, high school students co-operate in getting out the vote, use a map of the town to allot duties in enlivening the municipal election. (National Film Board photos).

Reports 1947 Record Of Red Cross

Thousands of Europe's lost people found...
 Thousands of Canada's veterans assisted...
 Millions of dollars worth of food and clothing sent abroad...
 Thousands of free blood transfusions for Canadian hospital patients...
 This is the Canadian Red Cross record for 1947 as reported at the annual session of the central council of the society meeting in Toronto last week.
 Nearly 30,000 persons of every nationality were helped through efforts of the Red Cross enquiry bureau since its inception in 1939, reported Dr. Fred W. Routley, national commissioner. Letters from 22 countries have flowed into this centre and during the past year more than 18,000 letters and 9,000 tracing forms were sent out in answer to the flood of appeals.

 During the past year, the Canadian Red Cross sent practical help to Europe and Great Britain in the form of food and clothing to the value of more than $2,000,000. This brings to more than $90,000,000 Red Cross shipments to these countries in the past seven years.
 Thousands of veterans found entertainment and a home away from home in the ten Red Cross lodges operated adjacent to Canada's DVA hospitals. Some 2,200 veterans and 800 civilians benefitted from Red Cross arts and crafts instruction in DVA hospitals, completing 48,000 handmade articles. Aim of this service is to provide recreational programs for patients and to teach them handicrafts they can continue as careers or hobbies when they leave hospital.

Canadian citizens benefitted, too, for in hospitals in British Columbia and Alberta more than 21,000 bottles of free blood were administered in 1947 under the new Red Cross blood transfusion service.

VOTE ON BYLAW

VERNON — Vernon ratepayers will vote Friday, May 21, on the $110,000 bylaw to build a domestic water storage dam and replace worn out pipe in the present BX Creek intake. A public meeting to discuss the measure will be held in Burns Hall at 8 p.m. on Monday, May 17.

Not Worried About Disposal 1947 Crop

Most of the 1947 apple crop has been sold for future delivery and the balance unsold will be unloaded, A. K. Loyd, B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd, president stated to The Review yesterday. "We are not worrying about disposing of the balance of the crop", he said.

Prairie floods have caused some cancellations but movement has been quite fair, with 1,355 cars moved.

Some damage from frost has been found in Keremeos and Osoyoos districts. The season, due to inclement weather, is falling behind normal years and some growers are anxious about the cherry blossom set. However, Mr. Loyd believes the cherry blossom is so heavy that the resultant crop will be large despite the weather.

Mr. Loyd states that the main worry is that the crop will be harvested so late that any advantage usually gained against competition from other points will be lost. Ontario peach crop is showing normal progress.

There are still some Ontario apples in good condition arriving on the eastern markets. On April 29, Ontario McIntosh from cold storage were being offered in excellent condition, Mr. Loyd declares.

Statutes of B.C. To Be Revised by Fall

The two-year job of revising the statutes of British Columbia, undertaken every 12 years by the Provincial government's legislative counsel, is expected to be completed by October of this year.

The work is being done by J. Pitcairn Hogg, K.C., who started on the project last year.

The project requires the consolidating of the thousands of new and amending acts passed during the past twelve years into the previous statutes of the province.

After the revision is completed, Mr. Hogg's work will be studied by a three-man committee of the legislature. This committee includes Mr. C. W. Morrow, Mr. A. R. McDougall, and Mr. Harold E. Winch, leader of the opposition.

Asphalt Plant is Opened at Burnaby

Without ceremony or fanfare, the new asphalt plant of Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Ltd., commenced production last week, on Friday, May 7.

Representing an investment in excess of $500,000, this new modern plant, located on the acreage by the Company's Stanovan refinery in north Burnaby, will produce all grades of cut-back and paving asphalt.

One feature, particularly important to the road-paving contractor, is the plan of lay-out which has been used. The plant is so arranged that asphalt buyers may enter, load, and leave in very fast time.

Initial daily production of the plant will average 175 tons.

Spontaneous Ovation Accorded By Record Crowd To Performance of H.M.S. Pinafore At Ellison Hall

(By Jean Givins)

Nearly 400 persons crowded into Ellison hall on Tuesday evening to hear and see "their sisters and their cousins and their aunts" to say nothing of their husbands and their brothers and their sons, produce "H.M.S. Pinafore". From first to last it was an audience-participation performance with all the festive feeling of a gala family gathering.

Gilbert and Sullivan's racy melodies were wonderfully handled by both chorus and orchestra, and much credit accrues thereby to Mr. W. A. Steuart for his long hours of work as musical director. As conductor he wielded the baton with a professional air which maintained the tempo throughout excellently. In fact, the only time he lost his hold on the orchestra was when he gestured them to rise for the final applause so enthusiastically offered by the audience; then he was forced to verbal command to persuade his modest musicians to take their bows.

A. K. Macleod almost stole the show with his excellent portrayal of Sir Joseph Porter. He was delightfully pompous in all his scenes, contriving to maintain his dignity as First Lord of the Admiralty even while collapsing from the shock of losing Josephine to a humble sailor.

Alma Fudge as Buttercup and H. Howis as Captain Corcoran gave their all to their parts in a way to bring joy to the hearts of the beholders.

Penticton's Mrs. Ethel McNeill deserves special mention as a pretty, well-acted and pleasantly-voiced Josephine, and Mr. Ben Newton supported her nobly in his part of the lovelorn Rackstraw.

An encore was forced from Mr. Macleod, Mrs. McNeill and Mr. Howis after their offering of the trio, "Never mind the whys and wherefores", and the delighted audience would have like an encore from Mrs. Fudge and Mr. Howis for their duet, "Things are seldom what they seem."

Frank Plunkett was a comically convincing, unpleasant Dick Deadeye, and Delmer Dunham and V. C. Hart did their parts of Bill Bobstay and Bob Beckett very well, indeed. The whole "cast" really threw themselves into things with as much seeming enjoyment as did their audience, right down to young Anne Solly who made her silent entrances and exits as the little, midshipmite with most engaging aplomb.

Mrs. Ken Boothe made such a charming Cousin Hebe that one could only wonder how Sir Joseph could possibly need consoling when he finally accepted her in lieu of the rank-reduced Josephine.

Sir Joseph's two marines were A. McKenzie and Walter Charles, and his sisters and his cousins and his aunts were: Jean Armour, Louise Atkinson, Isabel Campbell, Mary Charles, Audrey Davis, Harriet Davis, Hilda Downes, Mable Gall, Kay Hamilton, Chris Mair, Margaret Millward, Mina Milley, Sylvia Perry, Dorothy Sheeley, Doreen Tait, Carol Thorburn, Mary Whitmore, Doris Williams, and Jean Wright.

Captain Corcoran's lost command was ably seamaned by Roy Angus, Clive Atkinson, Leon Fisher, Ernest Gardner, Gerry Howis, Fred McNeill, David Millward, Herb Pohlmann, Thomas Racicot, Charles Rennie, Clark Wilkin and Harvey Wright.

The orchestra, which was augmented by a number of players from Penticton, included D. Erickson, S. Dickin, H. LeRoy, Jr., K. Nicolls, F. Busch, W. J. Harris, Dr. J. J. Gibson, Miss E. Street, Miss J. Erout, Miss H. Morris, F. Busch, H. McLarty, J. Rorke, J. W. Wright, D. Todd, S. DeBlas, Wm. Swift, F. McDonald, J. Betuzzi, J. Kean, I. Sutherland, A. Bella, A. Pearson and Mrs. Wm. Swift.

Behind the scenes, and deserving much of the credit for the on-stage excellence, were Mrs. A. K. Macleod as stage director; Mrs. N. O. Solly and R. F. Angus as production managers; S. Gladwell and Mrs. A. K. Macleod as stage and set managers. The lighting was the responsibility of Stewart Sanborn and P. Thorner, and properties and makeup were ably handled by C. Atkinson and Mrs. R. G. Russel. Pianist was Mrs. Thomas Racicot, while the work of costuming the large cast and chorus fell to Mrs. Solly, Mrs. M. Milley and Mrs. H. Downes.

Singers and Players Club has every right to compliment themselves on their achievement. It has meant a great deal of work to everyone concerned, but so far as Summerland was concerned on Tuesday night it was well worth the effort.

"Pinafore" will be produced on Friday evening in Penticton at St. Saviour's parish hall, and will undoubtedly run even more smoothly now that the club has this initial performance concluded.

Form Junior Ball League In Okanagan

On Wednesday evening, May 5, junior baseball players and organizers met in Penticton and organized the South Okanagan junior baseball league. Summerland, Penticton and Penticton Skaha Lake, Naramata and Osoyoos are definite entries in this league while Oliver is another likely prospect. Frank Evans of Penticton is the president of this new league with Les Gould, Summerland, as vice-president and Jim Watson, of the Skaha Lake club secretary-treasurer.

Home and home games will be played between these teams, followed by playoffs. Entry fees will be charged each team and players must be registered.

Arrangements are underway to have a cup presented for the league winner.

Increase In Water Content For April Shown In Okanagan Basin

The Okanagan basin is the only section of the province which showed an increase in water content in the month of April, the water rights branch of the department of lands and forests states in its official report dated May 1.

The forecast of April 1 will be exceeded, the report states, adding that the flood potential has been accentuated owing to the lateness of the spring and lack of thawing of the snow at higher elevations.

"This flood potential exists on most streams in the province and must be emphasized with respect to the Kootenay, Columbia, Thompson and Fraser rivers and their tributaries, as well as coastal streams."

"Protracted warm weather or warm rains could produce a flood hazard very quickly," the report warns. "Flood prevention agencies should, therefore, be on the alert."

In its data on the Okanagan the report continues:

"As elsewhere in B.C. the snow melt in the Okanagan basin has been retarded due to continued below normal temperatures. Precipitation in this area during April has been considerably above normal, so that the snow remaining at the higher elevations is nearly the same as at the end of March, and considerably above that at the end of April, 1946.

"Creeks in the Okanagan show little signs of snow melt and should rapid melting conditions occur during the next month extreme high water can be expected in these creeks."

"The total April-July runoff to Okanagan lake will probably exceed that forecasted in the April 1 report and the peak will occur later than usual."

Trout Creek, at 4,700 foot elevation, showed a snow depth of 29.2 inches at April 27 with a water content of 7.7 inches. Last year there was no water content in that vicinity and in 1946, at the same time, the water content measured 4.7 inches.

Total precipitation for April at Osprey Lake was recorded as 3.29 inches, which is 2.13 inches over the normal ten-year average. In April last year, only 0.82 inches was reported.

Parents Planning For Future Expenses

BANK OF MONTREAL CO-OPERATES IN SAVINGS PLAN

When Family Allowances were introduced in Canada, they were designed to raise the standard of living in Canada according to the need of each family.

Wise parents have used the money in many ways—for food, clothing and education. In some cases parents are depositing the cheques in a separate savings account for the children.

"Parents who deposit their Family Allowance cheques at the B of M tell me the plan has two main advantages," said J. Muirhead, local manager of the Bank of Montreal. "As their children grow up, so their bank accounts grow too—ready money when the time comes to go about choosing a vocation."

"Another advantage is that the children take a keen interest in watching their Savings Accounts grow. One youngster worked out his account with his dad and found he'd have over $600 in his Education Account by the time he reached sixteen. So he decided to save something of his own each month and make the account reach $1,000."

"That type of planning," added Mr. Muirhead, "makes for good citizenship."—Adv't.

Hospital Act Reviewed At Zone Meeting

Hospital directors and officials from Princeton, Penticton, Oliver, Summerland, Kelowna, Vernon, Armstrong and Salmon Arm gathered at the Legion hall on Friday afternoon to discuss mutual problems confronting respective hospitals and the future of hospitals in the light of the forthcoming provincial insurance scheme of the provincial government.

Highlights of the meeting was an address by Mr. A. H. McLean, Vancouver, inspector of hospital accounting, who reviewed the hospital insurance act recently passed.

He explained that the act has been passed in skeleton form only and the main regulations pursuant to the act are still to be passed by order-in-council.

Name Dr. Hershey Chief point of the act is the appointment of a commissioner and it is stated in informed circles at the coast that the likely candidate for this post is Dr. J. M. Hershey, formerly medical health officer of the Okanagan Valley Health Unit, stationed at Kelowna.

There will also be appointed a provincial hospital advisory council to advise the minister.

"It looks like a lot of insurance plans now operating will go out of existence when the act is enforced," declared Mr. McLean, in stating that only schemes giving equal coverage to the provincial plan will be allowed to remain.

Social assistance cases will be provided for under the scheme. Provision is also made for a hospital building fund to assist in the construction of new buildings, reconstruction of present buildings and providing equipment. This will be in the nature of a revolving fund, Mr. McLean believed.

Penalties for non-payment of the insurance premiums is provided in the act, a fine of $25 being called for, plus liability to payment of hospital costs while in arrears of payments.

"This act will probably mean a great safeguard for the hospitals of B.C.," declared the visitor, Mr. K. W. Kinnard, Vernon, told the meeting that he had information which indicates that the provincial government still hopes to obtain assistance from the dominion in the carrying out of this insurance scheme.

It was suggested that possibly payments for new hospital construction would, in future, be divided between municipality, B.C. Government and the dominion government.

C. J. Huddleston, local hospital vice-president, extended an official welcome to the visitors on behalf of Summerland and was also named chairman of the meeting. J. E. O'Mahony was selected as secretary, as neither the president or secretary of the Interior zone of the B.C. Hospitals Assn could be present.

Raise Salaries Mr. O'Mahony told the meeting of the recent announcement by the registered nurses group that it would seek basic salaries in B.C. of $150 per month. Most hospitals are now paying $140 per month basic gross salary, while one unit is paying $135 and another is already at the $150 mark.

It was stated by several hospital directors that if the salary is raised again then the basic charge for board and lodging at nurses' homes will have to be increased from the present rate of $25 per month.

Several hospital officials sought a uniform stand on the part of in-

PORTABLE ROLLER RINK MAY APPEAR

Summerland council is informing Fillmore & Hayman, Kelowna solicitors, that a trade's licence of $25 per month for June, July and August would be charged if a portable roller rink wishes to appear here for several days in each month.

This sports concern has a rink measuring 80 feet by 35 feet and wishes to stop at each Okanagan centre for several days each month during the summer season. The council has no trade's licence category to fit this particular type of business but could pass a bylaw to cover if the rink people wish to appear here.

terior hospitals on the question of nurses' salaries.

Penticton directors introduced the subject of attempting to obtain legislative enactment whereby they could set hospital rates which could be collected from all agencies such as the Workmen's Compensation Board, B.C. Police and the Indian Affairs department.

It was pointed out that as far as the WCB was concerned there is an agreement in force whereby that board will pay certain basic rates and turn over the money directly to the hospital instead of reimbursing the patient and letting the hospitals endeavor to collect from the latter.

MOTOR VEHICLES MEET AT BOTTOM OF PEACH ORCHARD

Two motor vehicles collided with disastrous results, in property damage but without injury to any occupants at the sharp corner at the bottom of Peach Orchard road on Tuesday evening just before six o'clock.

Proceeding north, a Lisle Edwards Meats Ltd. truck driven by Howard Van Dressar, Vernon, collided with a sedan driven by Ernest W. Unwin, of Penticton, which was southbound.

The collision occurred about the middle of the paved portion of the highway at this dangerous curve which has been the scene of many accidents. Up to late Wednesday afternoon no charges had been laid against either driver by B. C. Police Constable T. Thorsteinson.

Damage to the truck was estimated by the police constable at $150 and that to the car about $250.

On Tuesday the council agreed to the club's request, on the understanding that the previous rate of $100 for ten years would apply. The council is asking the club to pay this amount within the next year.

Loss of Apple Market In U.K. Blamed on 1932 Conference by Gardiner

Blaming the Imperial Preference policy of the R. B. Bennett regime for forcing the British farmer to take action, Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, dominion minister of agriculture, told a Liberal rally at Ellison hall in Summerland on Tuesday evening that the British have planted five million apple trees which are now coming into bearing. This large planting, bigger by one and a half million than the combined plantings of British Columbia and Nova Scotia, means that Great Britain will not be in the market for Canadian apples for a long time to come, he inferred.

The agricultural minister proved himself a forceful speaker with a forceful message, the contents of which he was well aware. He dealt mainly with agricultural problems as affecting the fruit grower, co-operatives and impending legislation, and throughout his talk he gave comparisons of the work of the Liberal party in social security measures in refuting claims of the socialists.

He spoke in favor of E. J. Chambers, Liberal candidate for the Yale riding by-election, who was the first speaker of the evening. Tom Reid, MP for New Westminster also spoke in support of the Liberal candidate, while Reeve Reid Johnston was chairman.

Approximately 125 persons were present at Ellison hall to greet the first cabinet minister to address a Summerland audience in this campaign. Visitors from Cawston, Naramata and Kelowna were also present.

Continue Help

While giving a gloomy picture for the apple grower because of the lack of the Old Country market, Mr. Gardiner declared that the federal government will continue its agreements with the apple producers of Canada and will continue to guarantee a subsidy "between the returns to the grower and the price they should be receiving."

Since the start of the war the subsidy on apples has cost about two million dollars each year and this year it will probably cost nearly three millions, he said. Only $1,384,000 has come to B.C. over this subsidy period "only because of the quality of your apples."

He praised the packing and selling methods adopted in B.C. and pointed out that before the war B.C. sold half its crop to Great Britain while Nova Scotia disposed of 80 percent.

"The Conservatives say they got you the British Preference but, as Mr. Chambers points out, what good was it to you in the war years and since that time?" he queried.

1932 Conference

He declared that prior to 1932 Britain built up her industry and allowed food to be brought into the country free of duty. Then, the late R. B. Bennett called a conference and told Great Britain she must give Canada a preference by imposing duties on Canadian produce thus forcing up the price to the British consumer, he stated.

As a result, the British farmer planted five million apple trees which were just ready to go into production in 1944.

"This is one of the reasons why we cannot sell apples to Great Britain. I ask you: Was it a far-sighted policy for us in 1932 to say to the British government that she must impose a duty on food imports?"

"There was only one thing left for us to do. We went to Geneva and pleaded to get onto the markets of other countries. And to their credit they reduced the duty on some of their articles and apple products can now enter their countries at a reduced level. These are the same countries which we persuaded Great Britain to raise a tariff wall against."

"We would have all been far better off if the policy of 1932 had never been put into effect."

Turning to other fruit products, Mr. Gardiner pointed out

Girls' Choir Wins Trophy At Kelowna

In competition with Armstrong and Kamloops high school choirs, the Summerland Girls' Choir, under the direction of Miss Kay Hamilton this week captured the Kelley cup at the 23rd annual Okanagan Valley Musical Festival at Kelowna.

Jane Woollams and Elsie Hack captured first place in the piano duet class for girls under 14.

David Woodbridge and Ruth Nakamura brought further honors to Summerland by capturing first place for their duet in the under 18 class.

In the piano duet for under 12 age, Larry Crawford and Neil Woollams were awarded second place. Joyce Schumann and Shirley Clarke tied for fifth place in the under 12 piano solo class.

Certificates were received by Shirley Gardner and Maureen Prior for their vocal solos in the under 15 group.

Survey of Bench Lands Promised By Gardiner

Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, has assured Mr. M. P. Finerty, president of the Penticton Canadian Legion branch, that survey by PFRA engineers will be undertaken on the west bench lands across Okanagan lake from Penticton.

The Penticton branch has been pressing for some months for this land to be opened up to development under VLA auspices.

The Ottawa cabinet minister was conducted over the property on Monday and is reported to have promised a survey "as soon as possible."

Such a development would be an important step for both Summerland and Penticton districts as it would extend orchard properties along a stretch of the Okanagan bench land which has long been favorably looked upon by potential orchardists.

The Ottawa visitor also visited the proposed development at Westbank and is reported to have stated that important announcements will be forthcoming shortly regarding the opening up of 1,400 acres of new orchard land for veterans' holdings.

Chambers Says False Stories Being Told

E. J. Chambers, Liberal candidate in Yale federal by-election, refuted three statements which he claimed are being made by opposition members in this campaign, when he addressed the rally at the Ellison hall Tuesday night.

"The statement has been made that the Liberal government sabotaged the Natural Products Marketing Act. You know that is false, as the act was attacked by a Grand Forks grower, who was successful in the lower courts."

Mr. Chambers stated the Liberal government then took the case to the Privy Council, which declared the act ultra vires.

The speaker then spoke of the loss of the Imperial preference asking his listeners if it would be fair to ask Great Britain, in the light of their loss during the war years, "when they were helping to defend Canada's freedom, to put on a preference in our favor and raise the cost to their consumers? Surely that would be a poor way of showing our gratitude."

"The impression is being left that the Liberal administration has not been sympathetic in the matter of dump duties," Mr. Chambers continued as his third item. "I have been going to Ottawa for 25 years and we always got a reasonable response from the Liberal as the Tory regime. There hasn't been a single case where an application for dump duty has been turned down," he declared.

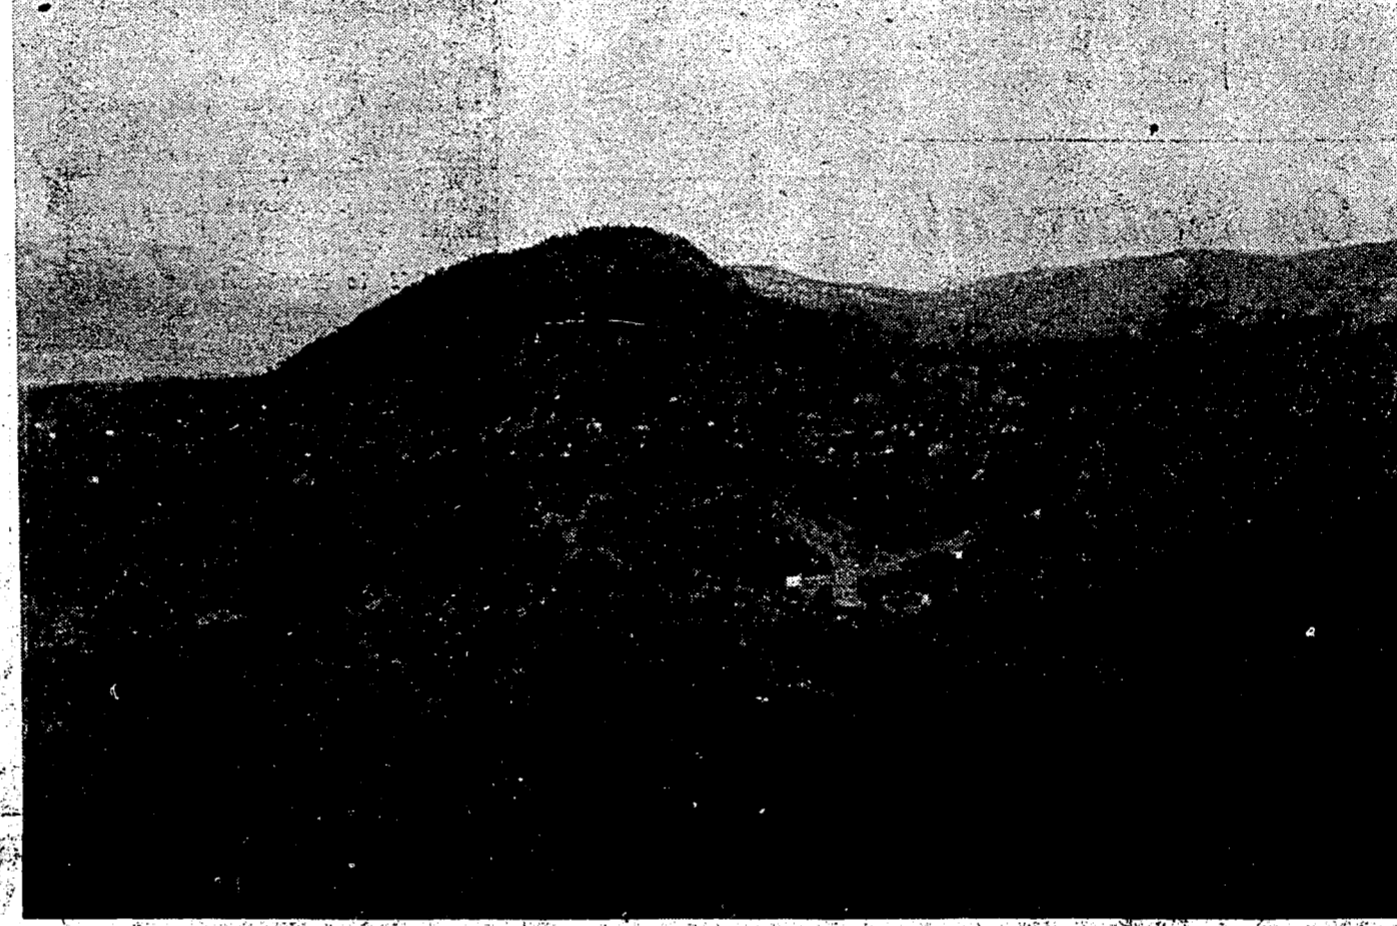

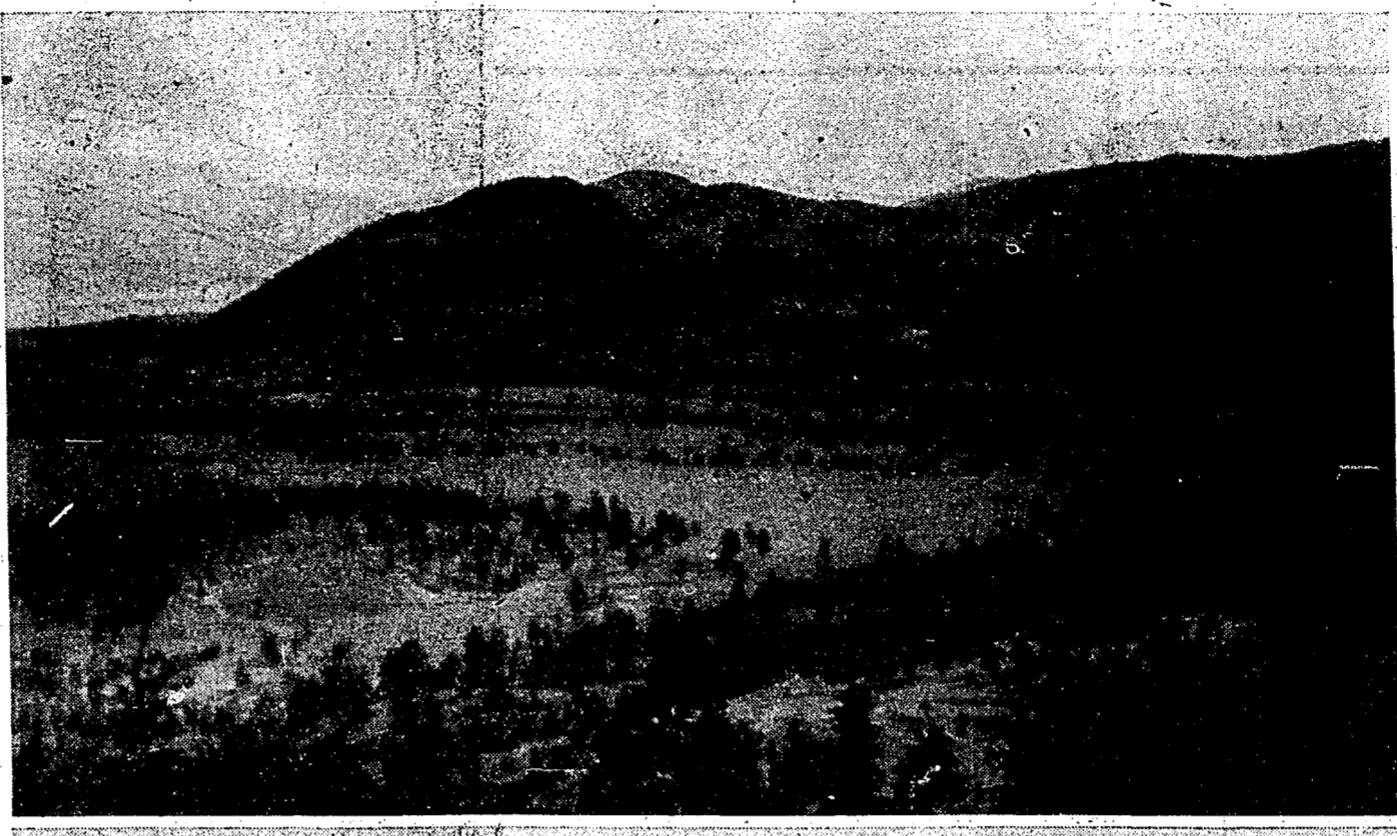

Broken "Platitudes"

At this juncture, Mr. Chambers turned to the Broken policy, which he termed as a group of pleasant platitudes. He declared that the Progressive-Conservative member declares that Canada needs a new national policy, so he has fashioned one himself.

"How he intends to put his policy into effect is hard to say," said Mr. Chambers, pointing out that

SUMMERLAND—PAST and PRESENT—

These unusual pictures have a special meaning to all Summerland residents but probably will interest the old-timers more than the newer citizens. On the top is a reproduction of a picture taken in 1894 by Harry "Pop" Dunsdon, three years after he came from the neighborhood of Harrow, England. The picture was taken from what is known as Rattle snake Mountain looking over what was to become the townsite of West Summerland, and with famous Giant's Head in the background. Not a building can be seen.

Take the year 1894, twist the figures around and you get 1948, the year the second picture was taken from near the same spot, above the Beeman Furniture factory on the road north to Kelowna, near the northern boundary of the Municipality. Can you pick out your home or place of business?

Elect Four Trustees On Saturday for Local Seats on School Board

Five candidates are in the running for four vacancies on the slate for Summerland municipality's part in School District No. 77 (Summerland) for the balance of 1948. Such was the result when nominations were officially closed by Returning Officer W. C. W. Fosbery at the municipal hall on Saturday at 12 noon.

Election for the four vacant seats will be conducted this Saturday, May 22, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the municipal hall in West Summerland and at Lakeside United church basement, lower town.

The trustee who will represent the rural portion of the new school district will be chosen Saturday afternoon, May 22, at a meeting in the elementary school here, conducted by Inspector J. N. Burnett.

One of the major tasks confronting this new school board for the balance of this year will be to further the proposed bylaw for renovation of the elementary school and provide badly-needed accommodation, if possible by the start of the new school term.

Nominations

When nominations closed on Saturday last, the following five names had been proposed for the four vacancies:

C. J. Bleasdale, packing house manager, proposed by E. R. Butler, seconded by Alex Smith.

P. G. Dodwell, fruit grower, proposed by W. Ritchie, seconded by Alex Smith.

Dr. James Marshall, entomologist, proposed by E. M. Tait, seconded by J. Y. Towgood.

Dr. W. H. B. Munn, physician and surgeon, proposed by T. Hicksey, seconded by P. G. Dodwell.

Mrs. Marjorie K. (A. W.) Vanderburgh, housewife, proposed by H. R. J. Richards, seconded by L. L. Fudge.

Mr. Dodwell and Mrs. Vanderburgh are the retiring trustees from School District 15 (Penticton), their resignations having taken effect following the separation of Summerland area from that district. Mr. Dodwell is a former chairman of the old Summerland School Board.

Dr. Marshall had experience in Vernon as a school trustee, while both Dr. Munn and Mr. Bleasdale have had a great deal of experience in community work, the latter completing a term as president of the Rotary Club of Summerland. He has also been an active member of the Summerland Hospital Society board of directors

Growers Elect Officers May 26

Annual meeting of the B.C. Fruit Board has been called for the B.C. Tree Fruits board room on Wednesday morning, May 26, at 10 o'clock to receive the annual report and nominate the three members of the board.

If not more than three names are received, then the board will be automatically elected. Present personnel consists of G. A. Barrat, chairman, Kelowna; P. E. French, Vernon; and C. J. Huddleston, Summerland.

Immediately following this session, the delegates reconvene as the new directors of the BCFGA, selected by the respective locals.

A president and five directors will be chosen by the meeting to carry out growers' policy for the coming year. J. R. J. Stirling, Kelowna, is the president of the BCFGA, having served for the past two years.

Reeve Johnston To Open Living Memorial Athletic Park Empire Day

Official opening of the Summerland Living Memorial athletic park, formerly known as the Drake lot, will take place at 8 o'clock on Monday afternoon, May 24, Empire Day.

C. J. Bleasdale, chairman of the athletic park subcommittee of the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee, has stated that arrangements have been completed for a full afternoon of sports events.

Arrangements have been made with the board of trade to hold that group's annual sports for young people at the new park on Monday afternoon, commencing at one o'clock and going through until 2:30 o'clock.

Gordon Beggs is in charge of that committee for the board of trade and states that the following will be the program, one event each for boys and girls: 6 and under, 25 yards; 8 and under, 25 yards; 10 and under, 50 yards; 12 and under, 50 yards; 15 and under,

W.A.C. Bennett Resigns Seat In B.C. House

W. A. C. Bennett, Kelowna, who has represented South Okanagan riding for the past seven years, resigned his seat at the first of the week to allow his nomination as Progressive-Conservative candidate in the Yale by-election.

Nomination day was Monday, May 17, with courts of revision on the voters' list being undertaken on May 18.

The Yale by-election has been caused by the resignation last fall of Hon. Grote Stirling, P-C MP since 1925.

Other candidates whose nominations were accepted on Monday were E. J. Chambers, Penticton, Liberal candidate and O. L. Jones, Kelowna, CCF candidate.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Jones were selected by their parties prior to the close of the year while the Liberals chose Mr. Chambers on March 27.

A provincial by-election in South Okanagan riding will now be necessitated to replace the Coalition member, Mr. Bennett.

EXCLUSIVE DRESS SHOP IS SETTING FOR FASHION SHOW

When you go to the Fashion Show at the Spring Fair on Friday afternoon at three o'clock, you will be especially pleased with two features: One is the novel form of presentation devised by Hill's and Linnea shops for their displays, the other is the fact that the lovely garments shown are selected with a careful eye to budget-conscious women as well as to the style value and beauty of the garments.

Mrs. Marjorie Hill and Mrs. "Toots" Kuhar have been working all hours for the past few weeks assembling models, clothes and "customers" and smoothing out the innumerable "snags" which crop up to hinder a smoothly-running performance.

Instead of a stereotyped "fashion parade" such as is usually seen, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Kuhar are setting their stage to represent an exclusive dress shop. Customers will come in to ask the saleslady, who is Mrs. Lorne Perry, for types of clothes they wish for special or general occasions.

For instance, Miss Carol Thorburn, one of the "customers" is going away for her holidays. She will need a suit for travel, sports clothes, an afternoon dress and, of course, she will have to do some dancing while she is vacationing, so she will want to see evening dresses.

SLIGHT INJURIES IN 'CYCLE CRASH

Marie Irving, of Vernon, a passenger on a motorcycle was treated at the Summerland hospital on Sunday afternoon for facial cuts following a collision between two motorcycles of the Vernon Motorcycle Club on Peach Orchard hill about 4:30 o'clock the same day.

Members of the cycle club were proceeding north up the hill when a machine ridden by John Moharuk suddenly stalled. The machine following, ridden by Reg Reader, also of Vernon, struck the stalled cycle, spilling the two occupants onto the road. Reader and Moharuk were uninjured.

Mrs. E. E. Hawkins of Victoria has been spending the last two weeks at the home of Mrs. Donald Orr. She returned to the coast on Wednesday night.

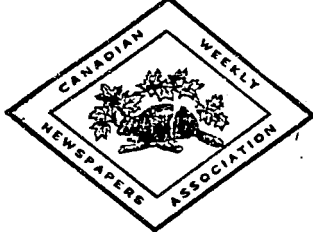

NEW BRASS BAND WILL BE HEARD

Band music, played by local artists will be heard for the first time in many years, at the Spring Fair on Friday and Saturday and again at the opening of the Living Memorial athletic park on Monday.

The newly-formed Summerland brass band will play on the business streets both evenings and at the Occidental building. Some 24 members will comprise the personnel of this new musical group. Herb Pohlmann is the pro-tem conductor.

Mrs. Dave Smylie of Penticton is spending this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pattie.

Come To The Fair

ALL SUMMERLAND will be flocking to the annual Spring Fair this weekend, and they are being promised many treats which are not theirs in the ordinary hum-drum of day to day existence. An energetic committee has been working hard for weeks to prepare for this big event, and from preliminary announcements they have labored well. The business men of this district, plus many from other points who are desirous of obtaining trade from the Summerland area, are expending much effort to present attractive displays of their wares. Considerable talent has been disclosed in the preparations which have already started to take shape at the Spring Fair booths. Artistic effects which are pleasing to the eye and attract immediate attention are shown on every hand. The co-operation which has been shown is one of the most pleasing features of this Spring Fair. Not only the business men but local organizations are "digging in" with a will and everyone has been working diligently to make the affair an outstanding success. The committee in charge has benefitted by last year's organizational experience and this year's show has gone ahead more smoothly than before. Many of the organizational pitfalls discovered last year were circumvented this year. Summerland is obtaining a great deal of badly-needed publicity from this annual event. People from all over the Okanagan and from many coastal points are hearing of Summerland features which they never knew existed. As a growing community and one which is taking its place in the limelight of provincial affairs more and more, Summerland can well afford to display its wares at such an annual affair. The more people who know of Summerland and its many natural and commercial advantages, the more the community will prosper. The Summerland Board of Trade has provided the medium for such expression. It now rests with the populace of the district to give this affair the support it deserves.

Vote On Saturday

WITH THE federal by-election campaign in full swing and the "big guns" from Ottawa and other parts of Canada descending on this riding in full force to seek votes for their respective candidates, the election for school trustees this Saturday may well be overshadowed. However, this is an important election. Four school trustees are to be elected from the five candidates nominated. Education has become an important business in the province and as can be seen from a scrutiny of the division of the mill rate, the greatest expenditure from municipal taxation revenues goes towards the upkeep of the schools. And what is more important than the general operation is the plan to renovate the elementary school, provide more needed classrooms and to pave the way for a new junior-senior high school. To plan such an enlargement calls for level-headed thinking on the part of the trustees, plus a long-range program. These expenditures are important to all citizens and it behooves every voter to exercise his or her franchise with the view of returning the strongest group possible as school trustees for the balance of the year 1948. All five candidates have shown their aptitude towards public service at one time or another. In fact, any four of the five would, in our opinion, be excellent material for the school board. Whatever the result, we hope that there will be a representative vote at the polls on Saturday to give voice to the expression of the voters' wishes.

Special Edition

AS WE approach our second birthday, The Review is pleased to note that with this issue all previous production records have been shattered. This current issue contains eighteen pages of news matter and advertising messages to the citizens of Summerland district and the many readers who subscribe in distant cities and towns. On the first day of publication, June 6, 1946, The Review greeted its readers with twelve pages. There have only been a few twelve-pagers since and never before has this number been surpassed. To produce this 18-page edition, the complete co-operation of the mechanical staff has been of prime importance. The physical aspects of a newspaper are as important as any other, and the "back shop" has been burning some midnight oil to assist in producing this week's edition.

The advertisers have assisted mightily in advising us of their copy wants and this co-operation has been of great assistance. This edition is primarily a Spring Fair and political issue. Local advertisers and many from other parts of the province have utilized our advertising columns to bring you a message as to their participation in the annual Spring Fair. We hope that you will digest the messages they have for you. We hope you will pay attention to the story they tell about the wares they are exhibiting at the Spring Fair and then see for yourself the actual exhibits. The three political parties have taken a generous amount of space to extoll the virtues of their candidates and their platforms. The Review is proud of this Spring Fair edition, as it is indicative of the progress and growth of this community.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Although it was 9 o'clock in the evening, daylight saving time, I found Dick Palmer still busy in his garden. He was sitting on an apple box with several chrysanthemum plants in front of him. Our conversation went somewhat as follows:
Agrologist: What is the idea of doing your gardening in the dark? Are you afraid that someone might see you working?
Dick: No, I am not working; I am enjoying a little recreation. As you can see, I am making chrysanthemum cuttings.
Agrologist: Isn't it a bit late in the year to be doing this job?
Dick: No, I consider this just the right time to make chrysanthemum cuttings. In all my gardening activities I aim to get the maximum results for the minimum of effort. Some people begin making cuttings of hardy 'mums in the greenhouse in January and repot them two or three times before setting them in the garden. I find that excellent results can be secured by leaving the old plants in their positions in the garden until about the middle of May. By this time the young growth is about three inches high. I then dig up the crowns and select the strongest young shoots which have already begun to root. I plant these new cuttings directly in the garden where they are to bloom.
Agrologist: Can you use this method with all varieties of hardy 'mums?
Dick: No, there are some varieties which die out when left in the garden over winter. I do not grow these tender varieties as there are now so many good, hardy ones.

Agrologist: What varieties of hardy 'mums do you recommend?
Dick: Of the dwarf varieties suitable for borders, I have had excellent results with Pluie d'Argent (yellow), Marjory Mills (bronze) and Hi-datsa (wine color). In the medium height varieties suitable for mass effects, I have no hesitation in recommending Connie Hall, Hebe and Pink Radiance (pink), Eugene Wander (yellow), Ruby Red (red) and Autumn Lights (bronze). In tall varieties the following have given good results: Conqueror and Nancy Copeland (red), Burgundy (wine-colored) and Ceres (straw colored).
Agrologist: Do you start these varieties from new cuttings each spring?
Dick: Yes—and what is more, I prepare the beds well by digging in some rotted manure, peat or leaf mould.
Agrologist: Do chrysanthemums require fertilizer?
Dick: Yes, they respond to a generous application of Ammophos 16-20.
Agrologist: Do they require much care during the summer?
Dick: All that is necessary is to keep the bed free from weeds and well supplied with moisture.
Agrologist: When do the varieties which you have recommended begin to bloom?
Dick: Pluie d'Argent often has some blooms in July whereas Ceres and Autumn Lights do not bloom until well on in October. Thus the varieties which I have mentioned will provide bloom over a long season.

I "ugh" at the very thought of oysters, but I wouldn't be quite so much opposed to them if I ran into one with 150 pearls tucked in under it, next the shell. So help me — that many were found in one oyster once-upon-a-time.

Off to England for a visit, a gal I know has loaded her suitcases with jars of caviar, tins of olives, cans of anchovies, canned lobster, asparagus tips, mushrooms, antipasto... items that are low on food value, but 'way up top when it comes to boosting the hard-earned morale of the Britishers.

Next party you give, mash up a box of cream cheese with some cream until it's very smooth and easy to handle, then put a goodly bowlful of it on the centre of your table, and stand by and see how the guests, specially those men guests, dunk potato chips into it. A lot they think of calories!

Another cure for the blues is to say "cheese" a few times. Just makes you smile in spite of yourself. But I hope you don't get blue very often. It's a waste of time. You may as well be happy. My brown sugar is ALWAYS like a lump of gold (would that it were!) and I find that if I put it in the top of a double boiler over boiling water for a few minutes, it softens sufficiently to be useable.

The Giant of Giant's Head

VI—The Great Freeze
It must be admitted that this story is mostly legend for the events took place so long ago that no proof is available. But the giant calendar dated all happenings either B.F. or A.F. (Before the Freeze or After the Freeze) and this should be explained. For in the early days of the Giant of Giant's Head, there was one winter so severe that it was the basis for comparison ever after. You have heard the expression, "cold enough to freeze the horns off a brass goat", and one must admit that is chilly, but the winter in question was cold enough to freeze not only the horns and the goat as well, but even the ore, five thousand feet underground, from which the said goat had been made. The year between 1 B.F. and 1 A.F. would be the year 0, and zero is cold by anyone's thermometer. The winter started naturally enough but the magician of the Giant had warned him of the intense cold to come and he, considerate as well as kindly, prepared for the welfare of his people during the time of trial. The cave under the Head was greatly enlarged so that, in an emergency, it could shelter all the subjects of the realm. Many hunting parties were sent to scour the mountains and bring in enough deer and moose meat to last for months. Vast quantities of firewood were made ready, fish were netted and placed alive in a pool in the cave to provide brain food for the intellectuals. By the end of December, all was prepared for whatever nature might send. On the first day of the new year it began to snow. The populace was summoned into the royal cave with space allotted to each family, according to their numbers. A communal kitchen and dining room was established where carcasses of deer were barbecued and eaten. The giant children thought the affair a grand picnic. Next morning it was bitterly cold and ten feet of snow covered the landscape. The mouth of the cave was nearly blocked with drifted snow but this was soon cleared. Life in the cave settled into regular routine. Hunting parties were sent out at first, the hardest of the giants being chosen for this task, but they returned without game, glad to escape with their lives from the polar cold. On the fifth day, in spite of the extreme temperature, it began to snow again and this continued relentlessly for forty-one days. The countryside was like a sea of snow, with not even the tallest fir trees protruding their tops through the blanket of white. The Giant and all his subjects were marooned in a mountain. The recreation room in the cave was always crowded, and many new games were invented to pass the time. A group of giants would get together and talk about their friends and neighbors. Thus gossip was born—a pastime that is just as popular today. Contract bridge also had its inception. Parties of four would sit around tables with cards, and make such cryptic remarks as "pass", "grand slam", "rubber", and "double". Since that time, millions of persons have spent billions of hours at bridge tables to little purpose except the learning of the dialect which seems to be part of the game. Some of the younger element had a sport they called "post office" which they seemed to enjoy greatly until the Giant forbade such frivolity. "For," said he, "our situation is too serious and the occasion too solemn for such giddiness." Another stunt was inaugurated in the cave. One giant, with writing materials and an empty head, conceived the idea of writing a book and even succeeded in carrying out the silly scheme. Since that time, the world has been cluttered with books, some of which do not even have pictures. This particular giant is directly responsible for our schools today, for without books, schools would be an impossibility, and what a saving in time and misery for the youth of our land. One child was born during the confinement in the cave—a girl. When she grew up she was nicknamed "Auntie Freeze" because of the time of her birth. This is a popular name today—heard especially during the winter months. On the twenty-fifth of February, the sun broke through the clouds, the weather warmed, and the snow began to settle and melt. Soon miniature rivers poured down each

There will be no appeal by the municipality from the decision of Judge J. R. Brown allowing the appeals launched by W. C. Kelley against municipal assessments on his property. The provincial department of public works has announced that it will maintain one half of the lakeshore road within the municipal limits of Peachland and Summerland. Road Superintendent McAlpine has informed the council that he will take over the northern half of the road in Summerland, from the northern boundary to a point just past the Gartrell corner at the bottom of Peach Orchard hill. An official government certificate for record of performance has been awarded Summerhill Topsy, 16111, a cow belonging to the Balcomo Ranch herd. During 365 days she produced 13,822 pounds of milk, 452 pounds of butterfat, sufficient to make 565 pounds of butter. "Converted into quarts, Topsy's yield for the year would be 5,528, which, if sold at 10 cents per quart would have returned $552.80. News of the death of Alvin Garnett, in his 16th year came as a shock to his many young friends in Summerland. He died at the Vernon hospital on Wednesday as the result of an immersing in a creek. Mme. Florence Ferrell, the famous soprano and Miss Grace Freeman, a noted California violinist were heard at the Empress theatre in Penticton on Thursday evening through the joint arrangement of Summerland Supply Co. and W. R. King, Summerland and Penticton dealers for the new Edison phonograph. The perfection which has been reached in the art of re-creating music was demonstrated.

Controversy over the ownership of a calf was settled in county court at Penticton recently in a suit brought by D. Lorne Sutherland against Councillor J. C. Arkell for $600 for damages including the value of the calf and for trespassing. The damage suit for killing the animal was dismissed but the court found against Mr. Arkell in the matter of trespass and he was assessed $20, also being charged with the costs of the whole action, which will probably amount to $150. KVR track for a distance of 120 feet was washed out this week near Kirton. A Ford delivery owned by W. R. Boyd was badly burned on Wednesday when the car cushions caught fire from a smudge blower. Miss Wylia Elliott of Peachland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Elliott made a splendid showing at the B.C. Musical Festival, scoring 85 marks while first two markings were 87 and 86, for Class 45, soprano. A golf bag, two clubs and a dozen balls were presented to Mr. G. C. Benmore by the Operatic Society members prior to his departure for Kelowna. Alex Smith was elected president in Mr. Benmore's place and other officers were: Capt. Webb, secretary-treasurer; executive, Miss Dale, Mrs. Daniel, R. Barkwell, E. Newton and J. Clements. In the opening ball game on the campus here Kelowna defeated Summerland 4-3. Players for Summerland were Nicholson ss, Stuart rf, Snow cf, Adams lf, Blawett lb, Brittain 2b, Daniel 3b, Gould p, Johnson c, Gouche c. Miss C. Graham has left for Penticton to take a position.

Youngsters Invite Friends To Parties

Two little girls celebrated their seventh birthdays on Friday last, with parties at their separate homes. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd's daughter Babas was 7 on Friday, May 14, and invited to share her birthday supper and watch her blow out the candles the following: Bonnie Wilson, Florence Gardner, Dorothy and Marion Dundon, Ann Macleod, Barbara Fudge, Barbara Baker, Margaret Lott, John Boggs, Cecily Givins, and her sisters Pat and Rosslyn Boyd. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Embree's Marilyn was 7 on May 15, but celebrated her birthday on Friday in order to have her guests transported to her home by school bus. Those invited to say "Happy Birthday" to Marilyn were: Elva Rehan, Linda Beaman, Marilyn Radomack, Rita Graber, Ona Willis, Mary Carey, Arlene Embree, Ada Holt, Iris and Eddie Willis, and brother Ronald Embree. gully. By the end of March the snow was all gone and the customary spring activities could commence. The lonely cave is silent now, And life seems dull and dead; Will you return to hearts that yearn O Giant of Giant's Head?

Ed Pike Wins Open Play At Shippers' Golf

The annual Fruit Shippers golf tournament wound up on Wednesday afternoon, May 12, at the Kelowna golf course with Ed. Pike of Salmon Arm carrying away the prized open championship Westminster trophy and winning with it a travelling bag.

Three players, Bill Vance, Guy Greenwood and Bob Grant tied for the Pacific Mills trophy and Bill Vance won the toss.

The American Can Co. handicap trophy was won by C. Batty of Penticton and the Vancouver Ice and Cold Storage 18 hole handicap trophy was won by K. W. Kinnard of Vernon.

The Pacific Coast Terminals par cup for the greatest number of pars and birdies went to Ed. Pike of Salmon Arm with Les Roadhouse of Kelowna the runner up.

The Okanagan Federated Shippers handicap trophy donated for competition between representatives of industry supply houses was won by Elmer Herb of the Westminster Paper Mills and the Canadian Industries handicap trophy which is competed for by organizations in the fruit industry was won for B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. by Guy Greenwood and Bob Grant.

The Bonar Bag Co. trophy was won for B. C. Fruit Processors Ltd., by Bill Vance and Bert Cookson.

The approaching and putting competition was won by Les Roadhouse of Kelowna.

The ladies' competition 9-hole handicap was won by Mrs. Carl Stevenson. The prize was a lovely rose bowl donated by Buckerfields Ltd. of Vancouver. The second prize in the ladies' event went to Mrs. Geo. Wilson, of Kelowna.

The prizes were distributed at the dance held in the evening at the Aquatic club. The entries this year from the fruit industry were disappointingly small but nevertheless the affair proved enjoyable. The tournament has been an annual affair since 1927, except for four years during the war period. The competition was organized by the Coast paper manufacturers and supported by other industries allied with the fruit business to provide an opportunity for the supply houses to get together with their customers in an official way once a year.

HOSPITAL BENEFITS FROM TWO DANCES HELD LAST WEEK

Two dances were held for the benefit of Summerland hospital last week, with gratifyingly satisfactory results from both financial and social points of view.

The annual hospital day dance held under the auspices of the Hospital Auxiliary at Ellison hall on Wednesday, May 12, brought out about 170 dancers, who thoroughly enjoyed a not-too-crowded floor, and the excellent refreshments served under the patronage of Miss Doreen Tait. A feature of the evening was the raffle draw, when Mr. Fred Dunsdon won the combination sandwich toaster and waffle iron.

On Friday evening the Old-Time Dance club devoted its usual twice-monthly dance for the benefit of the hospital, the entire gross proceeds of the well-attended affair, amounting to $175, being turned over to Miss May Bennest, hospital matron, at the end of the evening. This club has shown its interest in the hospital before this; last year it contributed $50 out of its proceeds to the X-ray fund, and another $50 to help furnish the new wing.

Miss May Bennest, and Mrs. Freda Agur, matron and ex-matron, attended in their uniforms, and accepted the money gift on behalf of the hospital.

that they are largely marketed in Canada and because of the quality of pack they should sell readily.

Co-operative Field

Turning to co-operatives, Mr. Gardiner emphasized the place Mr. Chambers has taken in the co-operative field as president of the Associated Growers of B.C.

"The Liberal party has always acknowledged the possibilities of efficiency and lower costs of service inherent in big business. The Liberals were the first in this country to realize that if all the profits resulting from this efficiency were allowed to remain under the control of a few big business, dangerous monopolies and cartels would result.

"In the early part of this century the Liberals advocated co-operatives as the safeguard against monopoly and cartels. They advocated co-operatives rather than government ownership and control because through them business activities could be taken into the hands of the individuals concerned without involving them in controversies of political discussion."

He detailed the advances in the co-operative idea in various provinces under Liberal regimes, dealing especially with Saskatchewan, his native province.

B.C. In Lead

"No province has gone further in the direction of co-operatives than B.C.," he continued, reciting many facts in relation to the movement.

"You will have in this constituency, before this election is over, speakers boasting of the co-operatives as though they were the product of the socialist government of Saskatchewan. These co-operatives were all established in that province under a Liberal government, most of them before a socialist party was ever heard of in Saskatchewan.

"You have very advanced co-operative legislation in this province. You have asked Ottawa to pass complementary legislation to apply to inter-provincial and international transactions. We have had legislation along the lines suggested in print for some time but have thought it unwise to submit it until the legislation giving special powers to enforce the carrying out of our British contracts is no longer required.

Advocates Chambers

"A Liberal government will undoubtedly be in power when this complementary legislation comes into the house, so do you not think it would be wise to send Mr. Chambers, who is an expert on co-operatives, there to assist in passing this legislation in acceptable form?" he asked.

"There isn't another man who can do a better service to the fruit grower of this province than your Liberal candidate, who has devoted a lifetime study to these problems."

Mr. Gardiner had high praise for Mackenzie King's social security measures which were introduced for the first time in Canada in 1919. Last plank in that 1919 platform was fulfilled last Friday with the announcement of the federal hospital aid plan.

But another plank has been added in the meantime, that of family allowances. No one else had been thinking of such a measure when the prime minister introduced his plan to the Liberal cabinet, the speaker continued. The reason was that sixteen percent of the gainfully employed were caring for eighty percent of the children in Canada.

"Family allowances are the greatest social service ever given by any government, dominion or provincial, in Canada," he emphasized, quoting figures to show that more than $245 millions per year are being expended in this manner.

"You can do more for this constituency and for Canada by electing Chambers than by electing any other candidate," he concluded.

Mr. David McIntosh has returned to the plant pathology laboratory after receiving his degree in agriculture at UBC. Mr. McIntosh received one of the B'Nai B'Rith scholarships awarded annually to two graduates outstanding in their work in science, art or agriculture faculties.

CHAMBERS SAYS

such subjects as highways and school costs are purely provincial matters.

"The idea seems to be abroad that the more you can unload on the dominion government the more you save. Yet, it doesn't seem to make any difference to me whether it is the provincial or the dominion government which takes $100 from me for, say, schools."

"He is going to spend more and tax less," said Mr. Chambers of the Progressive-Conservative candidate. "There is no way known yet how you can do that."

Turning to the CCF candidate he declared that the CCF ideology has always been of a mystical nature, while "the Liberal government has gone as far along socialistic lines as most of us want to go."

Retain Freedom

"We in Canada are not prepared to embark on a policy of socialism. We have always had a measure of freedom and we want to retain that."

In conclusion, he urged support of the Liberals in this campaign to indicate the people's satisfaction with the administration both in the war and post-war periods.

Tom Reid Speaks

Fiery Tom Reid, senior Liberal MP from B.C. emphasized his points with the gestures which have become known throughout B.C. and at Ottawa over the past thirteen years. He scorned the "idle and untrue statements" of the opposition, such as the promise to "stop inflation."

"No country has been able to do it," he emphasized, "not even Russia or any socialistic country. Some people say that capitalism is on trial today. I say that socialism and communism are on trial. Would you rather live in any other country than Canada? I say you would not."

Rev. H. R. Whitmore and Capt. J. E. Jenkinson returned to Summerland on May 20. They had spent the past ten days at the United Church conference in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Moyle have visiting with them Mr. Moyle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moyle of Vancouver. The Moyle Senior expect to return to the coast on Sunday next.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, who have been motoring through the States as far as Detroit, returned to Summerland on Friday last.

Mr. A. Cross went down to Vancouver on May 14.

Saxie DeBlass' Pentiction band lost out by only two points at the musical festival on Tuesday in Kelowna, when adjudicator Alec Redshaw awarded them 85 points for their performance, against Vernon's 87. Mr. Redshaw spoke highly of the quality of the bands, saying the Valley was fortunate to have two such fine groups. Summerland members who went to Kelowna to participate were Messrs. John and Charles Betuzzi, C. H. Witherspoon, A. Simpson and J. Kean.

Mr. B. H. Robson on Wednesday morning received the news that Mr. Robson, who recently went to Vancouver for medical treatment will have to undergo a major operation before he returns to Summerland. He is a patient at Vancouver General hospital.

Little Glen Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollock played cops and robbers too realistically on Saturday, and wound up in Summerland hospital with a fractured arm. He is now back at school, otherwise none the worse for his adventure.

Mr. Reg Dennis of Vancouver, who formerly worked here, visited Summerland last week with his bride. The couple are honeymooning near Kamloops, and stopped off en route to visit Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennison.

Mr. M. A. Metropolit, proprietor of the Rialto Theatre, went down to the coast on May 16.

Mr. Lloyd Shannon and Mr. E. Bergstrom took a business trip to Vernon and Lumby on May 17.

Mr. Houchon of Bowden, Alberta, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bob Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walton here.

Mrs. Frances Sanders, garden editor for Canadian Homes and Gardens magazine, has been an interested visitor at the experimental station during the last week. While visiting in this district, Mrs. Sanders addressed the horticultural society at its regular meeting in the parish hall on Monday, May 17.

To attend the dedication ceremonies of the new First Baptist church at Vernon, Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Haskins and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wellwood motored to Vernon on Monday last. Mr. Wellwood is secretary of the Okanagan Baptist Association which met on that day.

Miss Edna Traylor spent last weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Traylor. She returned to Vancouver on Sunday night.

Mrs. C. C. Bell of Pentiction has been spending the past ten days at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Whitmore.

Visiting Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Day for the past weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherrin. They returned to their home in Vancouver on Sunday.

JOINS STATION

Mr. Grierson Jackson, associate professor of botany at the University of British Columbia, has returned again this year to the experimental station to aid Dr. D. V. Fisher in cold storage work throughout the valley. Mr. Jackson arrived on Monday morning, and went with Dr. Fisher, on Tuesday to Creston, where they will advise cold storage operators on pressing problems.

Big Hitting Game Goes To Summerland

Staving off a ninth-inning rally which netted the hometowners three runs, Summerland won its second league game in three starts last Sunday at Vernon by a 10-7 count. Superior hitting power was the main factor in this Summerland victory on a field which was slippery from rainfall.

After taking a 3-0 lead in the second frame, the southerners never looked back and midway in the sixth frame held an 8-2 advantage. Vernon was game, however, and fought back all the way, not having quite enough power to overcome the deficit.

Due to the slipperiness of the field, errors were rampant, six of the ten being charged against the winners. However, Summerland had the edge on hitting, clouting 15 to Vernon's twelve.

Evans also had an edge over the opposing Vernon hurler, striking out eleven men to Al Munk's five. Evans allowed only one walk while Munk gave five passes to first.

First Three

Summerland's first three runs came in the second when Evans walked and lumbered home on Kuroda's smart double. Braddick's hit scored Kuroda and Harry completed the circuit on Walsh's smash. All this occurred with two men away.

In the same frame, Vernon tallied for the first time when Jackson singled, stole second and came around on Petruk's smash. Vernon came a step closer in the fourth when Kulak doubled and came around on Braddick's error and Dye's single.

Summerland got that one back in the fifth when Thompson was hit by a pitched ball, stole second and came home when Vanderburgh's grounder to short was muffed.

Then came the sixth, which was a free-scoring frame. Kuroda started the merry-go-round with his second double, Braddick walked and Walsh's single brought in Kuroda. Thompson and Clark were retired but Vanderburgh cleared the paths before him with his one and only hit.

Vernon came to life with two runs in the last of the sixth to bring the count to 8-4. Kuroda's arm giving way on a heave to cut off a runner at home. Scriver replaced him and hit first time up, to score on Taylor's third clout of the day. Taylor scored on two infield errors to bring Summerland's score to ten.

Three runs crossed the plate in the last of the ninth on four hits and two errors by Walsh and Imayoshi, who had replaced Braddick at second, but the rally was a belated one and died when Evans bore down on Redman and struck him out.

Local Schools Win B Class Track Honors

With a total of 27 points, Summerland schools won the B class championship at the big annual Okanagan Valley schools track meet held at Penticton last Saturday.

In the A schools competition, Kelowna athletes duplicated their victory of May 1 at the invitational meet, by taking the aggregate prize, with Penticton schools in second place and Vernon placing third.

Summerland's victory was shadowed by the fact that the school

Council Will Expend $4,000 On New Fire Equipment This Year

Following a conference with executive members of the West Summerland Fire Protection Society and Fire Chief Ed Gould, the Summerland council decided on Thursday afternoon to set aside $4,000 for the purchase of new fire protection equipment and additional accommodation for these purchases.

A 2½-ton Maple Leaf truck, with six tires, is being purchased from Pollock Motors Ltd. to serve as a fire truck and thus allow the fire brigade to reach fires in outlying areas in a speedy manner.

Coupled with these decisions was the suggestion that the West Summerland society disband and the entire municipality be brought under fire protection, municipally-controlled.

President J. R. Campbell and Secretary W. J. Beattie agreed to discuss this latter question with their executive and if the latter members are agreeable, a meeting of the West Summerland society will be called to take further action.

Estimates Provided

Purchase price of the truck for fire purposes is $2,708, while a pump, auxiliary water tank, power takeoff and fittings and labor have been estimated at $665. To extend housing accommodation at the municipal office for the new truck and equipment has been estimated at $342.

This provides for a total of $3,716 and, in order to take care of other exigencies, the council has agreed to expend $4,000 this year on extra fire fighting equipment.

President J. R. Campbell started, at the outset, that he believed that if the council can show that adequate protection can be provided, then his district would probably agree to disband, thus paving the way for a municipal fire brigade operating throughout the municipality under one management.

Secretary Beattie pointed out that the district has accumulated $1,547 in fire fighting equipment and has insurance policies amounting to $352 for three years.

It was pointed out that the district could be given equal service to that now provided at less cost to the individual property owners, as the cost would be spread over the entire municipality.

One Provision

President Campbell declared that there has been little interest shown in the West Summerland fire district since the original vote was taken and it has been mainly the executive which has carried on the work.

One provision which he declared must be stipulated if the district disbands, is that in the case of every fire outside the area six hundred feet of hose for hydrants should remain on call at the brigade headquarters.

This would be an extra precaution in case of a fire in the present district and would compensate the district for turning over its equipment to the municipality.

Fire Chief Ed Gould declared himself in favor of the purchase of the new truck and believed the brigade members would be happy to have this extra equipment.

Seek Financing By Bank of Canada

Penticton council is planning on introducing a resolution before the Okanagan Municipal Assn. at its next session at Salmon Arm that municipalities be allowed to finance debenture issues through the Bank of Canada.

Councillor C. E. Bentley so informed the Summerland council on Thursday afternoon, seeking local reaction to the scheme.

Summerland councillors withheld any definite opinion pending further information on the scheme but gave Councillor Bentley a free hand in voting at the Okanagan conference of mayors and reeves.

SCOUT NEWS

Third international Boy Scout Camporee is being held this weekend at Matheson creek, on the east side of Skaha lake, near Okanagan Falls and will attract close to 400 Scouts from all parts of the Okanagan and from towns near the border in the State of Washington.

It is anticipated that more than 125 Scouts from Oroville, Tonasket, Omak, Okanagan and Malott will be present for this big three-day event on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 21, 22 and 23.

G. C. Allington, district Scoutmaster, Penticton, will be in charge of this camp, assisted by Deputy Camp Chief C. A. Greninger, of Omak.

Oliver, Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna, Vernon and other points in the Okanagan will be represented at this big camp, where all sections of camp work will have a par and the various units will be endeavoring to come up to or better that standard.

The units in which the camp is divided will be on a patrol basis. Sunday will be a big day for the Scouts as church service will be conducted by ministers of the Protestant churches at 9:30 o'clock and by the R.C. priest at 10 o'clock.

Sunday afternoon will be Visitors' Day and awards will be handed out at 3:30 o'clock. Friends, relatives and many others interested are expected to be present for this function.

GUIDE NEWS

At our regular meeting on May 14 twelve girls were nominated for patrol leaders. Of these the following were elected: Dorothy Blacklock, Ceone Eyre, Eileen Birtles, Mary Lou Rempel, Shirley Wilson and Ellen Brandstrup. The other six girls were chosen as assistant patrol leaders.

During drill period, we were given instructions on how to march. Games were played on the lawn, which everyone enjoyed.

Owing to the crowning of the Fair Queen taking place on the night of our regular meeting, we have planned for a hike on Thursday, May 20, at six-thirty p.m. sharp. Four girls are laying out a trail for us to follow, which will make our hike all the more fun.

GARDEN LOVERS HEAR EXPERT

A large group of garden enthusiasts turned out at the Parish hall on Monday evening last, when the Horticultural Society had as guest speaker Mrs. Frances Sanders, garden editor of Canadian Homes and Gardens, who is visiting this district from Toronto.

Mrs. Sanders spoke upon "Planning a Garden", stressing the need for seeing in the mind the completed picture before planting, rather than to plant at random with a resulting topsy-turvy appearance. She advised that show flowers should be placed in groups of three rather than singly, for best flowering effect.

The society laid tentative plans for a rose show to be held in the Parish hall in the third week of June.

GEORGE DUNSDON MISSES POSSIBLE BY SINGLE POINT

For the third week in a row, George M. Dunsdon captured the weekly shoot of the Summerland Rifle Club, but last Sunday he came within an ace of reaching the ultimate goal of all marksmen, a possible.

At the 200 and 500 yard ranges, George Dunsdon scored possibles and it was only on his second last shot at 600 yards that he was just wide of the mark and had to be docked one point. A possible at these three ranges is 105 points.

His Score Was 104

He far outdistanced other contenders last Sunday, the scores being: H. Snider and Ted Dunsdon, 93, F. S. Dunsdon and F. G. Anderson 92, Ed Gould 91, A. W. Moyles 90, Jack Dunsdon 89, A. R. Dunsdon 88, Len Shannon 83, Ray Fredrickson 82, John Khalembach and H. Simpson 79, H. (Pop) Dunsdon 71.

Municipal Meet At Salmon Arm

Next quarterly meeting of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Assn. will be held in Salmon Arm on Wednesday, May 26, the local council has been informed.

Only councillor who might be able to make the trip is Councillor C. E. Bentley, it was stated last week.

Councillor Bentley urged Reeve Johnston to attend this session, but His Worship stated he could not spare the time from his railroad duties.

Blues Have Impressive Lead Over Rest Of Elementary School As Result Of Friday Track Meet

The Blues amassed a total of 155 points in the elementary track meet held on the school grounds last Friday afternoon, thereby taking a substantial lead over the Reds and the Whites for the school athletic championship.

However, the Reds, who have 109 points, may still have a chance to overtake their opponents as there are football and softball games to play. Five points per goal are being awarded in the football and one point for each run in the softball contests.

The Blues are led by Ken Brawnner, Earl Bryden, Phyllis Verrier and Ceone Eyre. Reds' leaders are Gerald Washington, Roger Smith, Margaret Jomori and Eileen Birtles. Whites have Ross Tingley, John Birch, Elsie Hack and Phyllis Bradford.

Following are the detailed results of last Friday's track meet, giving 1st, 2nd and 3rd respectively:

Boys, 6 years, 30 yards—Eddie Menu; Douglas Holmes; Peter Stoll.

Girls, 6 years, 30 yards—Yemiko Kawasaki; Susan Lauer; Jo Anne Hill.

PENTICTON NOW HAS LOBA LODGE

Several Summerland LOL and LOBA members went to Penticton on Saturday, May 15 to attend the inauguration ceremonies of an LOBA lodge in that city. Grand Mistress of the B.C. lodges, Mrs. Pearl Howe of Prince Rupert journeyed from the coast to conduct the ceremonies, as well as Mrs. Thomas of Princeton, deputy grand mistress.

Summerlanders attending were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Walton, Mrs. D. Pattie, Mrs. H. Downes, Mrs. Armor, Mrs. R. Lowe, Mrs. L. Gillespie, Mrs. Ed Gould, Mrs. N. Dickinson, Mrs. Walter Gould, Mrs. H. Harbicht, Mrs. C. Bryden, Mrs. E. Broderick, Mrs. M. Campbell, and Mrs. Emmeline Gould.

Board of Trade Returns Negative Vote on Question of Price Mention In Radio Advertising in Canada

Members of the Summerland Board of Trade voted "No" to a questionnaire issued by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on the subject of allowing prices to be quoted in advertising over the Canadian radio networks. This decision was reached last Thursday evening at the IOOF hall at the board's monthly meeting.

Views from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the Association of Canadian Broadcasters were presented to the meeting by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

There was little discussion on the subject from the floor of the meeting but the majority of opinion was not in favor of price mention in radio advertising in Canada.

Tax Referendum

Dr. C. C. Strachan, head of the national affairs committee declared his group had been submitted a referendum on tax relations, especially dealing with Dominion-provincial relations. There had been no time to submit this referendum to the general meeting and the committee had dealt with the subject to the best of its ability.

Donations approved by the board meeting last Thursday included $10 to the Conquer Cancer fund and $20 to the newly-organized junior baseball club.

Sign at CPR

Mr. Roy Wellwood, chairman of the tourist and publicity committee, reported that plans are well advanced towards erection of a sign advertising Summerland on the CPR station at West Summerland.

This sign will measure about 8 feet square and will have an "apple" motif. It will be a non-electric sign and will cost about $70. This sign had been projected last year but was held over until further details could be worked out, the meeting was told.

Mr. Wellwood also stated that the National Film Board had received the suggestion that a short colored film on gladioli production in Summerland be produced but that arrangements could not be made this year. The NFB regional office in Vancouver has suggested that this would be a possibility for 1949 operations.

The tourist publicity committee is conferring with Councillor F. E. Atkinson on the subject of a fruit stall on the highway during the tourist season.

Airstrip Plans

For the airport committee, George Washington informed the meeting of his plans to utilize the Simpson property and Inspector Lawson will be brought to Summerland in the near future to study the project further. Mr. Washington stated he would bring in estimates of cost and recommendation at a further meeting of the board. Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh supported the plan of an airstrip for Summerland and suggested that a flying club could be started here. On the suggestion of George Henry, a letter of appreciation is being sent to the Summerland council on its work of clearing and improving Peach Orchard park.

Among the recommendations to be considered in the next few weeks was one from A. K. Macleod, who advocated that a booster radio station could be installed here to provide a continuous supply of CBC programs only. He quoted information he had received from Mr. Ken Caple, regional CBC director, on the latter's visit to Summerland.

CKOV TO RECORD OPENING OF FAIR

One of the features of this year's annual Spring Fair will be the arrival Friday afternoon of Radio Station CKOV staff, complete with recording apparatus.

The opening ceremony, including the crowning of the 1948 Spring Fair Queen, will be recorded to be rebroadcast over the Kelowna station at a later date.

It is likely that some of the officials of the fair will give a resume of the history of this function to be included in this broadcast.

George Washington proposed that a new post office should be provided in West Summerland, and the executive was empowered to discuss the subject.

Walter M. Wright spoke on the proposed council bylaw limiting parking to one hour on Granville and Hastings streets. He did not think the traffic situation warranted such a drastic move and considered that the merchants would co-operate and remove their own cars from the street if approached in the proper manner.

Stands For

The FARMERS

- A Dominion Natural Products Marketing Act.
- Tariffs to protect our Fruit and Vegetable Growers against unfair competition.
- The re-establishment of the British Market.
- Adequate floor prices for farm products.

LABOUR

Bennett will fight for a National Labor Code which will guarantee:

- Genuine collective bargaining recognized and enforced by law.
- The disbanding of company dominated unions.
- Holidays with pay.

VETERANS

No man who has fought for his country should be treated unfairly. Bennett believes there should be no "means test". He will fight for:

- Adequate pensions for veterans.
- Increased government assistance for veterans' housing.
- Wider application of the Veterans' Land Act.

HOUSEWIVES

The present high cost of living hits the household that can least afford it. Bennett proposes:

- Consumer subsidies on such essentials as bread, butter, milk, meat, etc., during the present transition period.
- Reduction of income, sales and excise taxes.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Bennett will fight to ensure protection against unemployment, sickness and accident by demanding the following action:

- Federal financial help for health services, hospitals and health insurance.
- A Dominion-wide contributory retirement insurance scheme with a basic old age pension of $50.00 per month starting at age 65 with no means test.

All Roads Lead To The Spring Fair

Friday and Saturday Will be Big Days for Summerland District

The stage is set, the performers are ready, and all Summerland is eagerly awaiting the opening of the annual Spring Fair of the Summerland Board of Trade on Friday and Saturday.

A tremendous amount of work has gone into this endeavor. Nearly fifty booths displaying merchandise and equipment from retail and wholesale outlets and industrialists are about ready for the opening at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

Entertainment of all descriptions is planned for each afternoon and evening, commencing with a big Fashion Show at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. On Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, President F. W. Schumann will start the official opening proceedings and will introduce Reeve Reid A. Johnston, who will officiate prior to the arrival of the Spring Fair Queen-elect, Eileen Birtles, 1947 Queen Ruth Fleming and attendants.

As soon as the opening ceremonies are concluded and the new Queen crowned, the Summerland brass band will play a few selections on the main floor, followed at 8:30 with a half-hour show by Carl Dunaway's orchestra, prior to that group going to Ellison hall to commence the Spring Fair Dance.

Saturday afternoon will see an hour's concert program starring entries from Summerland at the Okanagan Musical Festival, which is being held in Kelowna now. Some of the stars of the HMS Pinafore show will also be present to intersperse the program.

Saturday night is to be the big entertainment night and right from 7:30 o'clock onward, there will be some form of musical surprise for the big audience expected to be present.

A departure from last year's fair will be that a small charge is being made for this affair, to defray part of the cost of bringing in the big Variety Show.

At 7:15 and lasting until approximately 8 o'clock, the symphony orchestra combining Summerland and Penticton talent will present a delightful concert, with music from Pinafore being to the fore. Vocalists from this Gilbert & Sullivan show which proved so popular to Penticton and Summerland audiences last week will be present.

The variety show, starring musicians and vocalists from Kelowna will commence their concert at 8:30 o'clock, lasting until 10. Half an hour later the jitney dance will commence.

Both evenings, games will be in operation and many novelties apart from the standard programs will be available. Refreshment booths will be operated throughout the show, and the Women's Institute is serving tea both afternoons.

More details of this big Spring Fair can be found in other columns of this issue.

EILEEN BIRTLES

Tomorrow night will be a gala one, not only for Summerland as a whole but for Eileen Birtles, who was chosen by her schoolmates in the Summerland elementary school as Queen of the 1948 Spring Fair. Queen-elect Eileen will be crowned by 1947 Fair Queen Ruth Fleming. A charming ceremony has been outlined, following addresses of welcome from F. W. Schumann, board of trade president and Reeve Reid Johnston.

Patience and Practice Necessary Before Queen Crowning Can Be Ready For Opening of Spring Fair

Four of the most excited girls in Summerland on the evening of May 21st will be fair queen-elect Eileen Birtles and her three attendants, Princesses Shirley Schumann, Arlene Raincock, and little crown-bearing Cecily Givins. Sharing in the spotlight, but probably less excited, will be Ruth Fleming, the retiring queen.

Often the audience has no real appreciation of the amount of forethought, practise, and work behind the scenes when a queen, even a queen for a day, is to be crowned. This is to give you, the audience, the inside story and some idea of the people who are working for your entertainment.

Rehearsal of grouping and procedure was held a week ago yesterday, when Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, who is directing the crowning ceremonies, called the girls together after school for a brief coaching. Mrs. N. O. Solly came along to loan the value of her directing experience, and things got under way in Miss Banks' classroom.

Stately Queen
Eileen, who is the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Birtles, is tall, slim and fair, and will make a stately queen when she wears the official gold be-gemmed crown upon her brow. Princess Shirley is the Fred Schumann's 14-year-old daughter, not so tall as Eileen, but also a pretty blonde; while Princess Arlene, going on 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raincock, is a real brunette, and matches her sister princess exactly in height. The seven-year-old blonde crown-bearer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Givins.

It was a little difficult that first rehearsal for the onlookers to see a queenly procession in the bobby-soxed teen-agers. Eileen and Princesses Arlene and Shirley, all three, looked a little embarrassed at such silly goings on—rather like big girls caught playing with dolls or some such nonsense.

However, they grouped themselves obediently according to direction at one end of the classroom, and Ruth stood upon a classroom chair in lieu of a dais to await her arrival. Ruth, who is the daughter of Mrs. W. Fleming, was much more matter-of-fact about the whole thing. She had been through it all before.

Little Cecily started the procession, and having previously taken part in a bridal party, she set the pace at the slow drag of the wedding march. Mrs. Solly and Mrs. O'Mahony visualized the long, long aisle in the Occidental building and estimated the length of time that pace would take to bring the party to the platform, and decided it was just a shade too slow.

Little Too Fast
Mrs. O'Mahony said: "We could go a little faster," and Cecily immediately broke into a gallop, and that wouldn't do either. So Mrs. Solly obligingly hummed the Grand March from Aida, and set the pace for the girls musically.

Ruth waited patiently on her chair while the pace was being set until the group reached her.

Jones Opens CCF Campaign Here With Denial Of Any Tie-Up With Communists

Initial political guns in Summerland district were fired on Thursday night at the Legion hall when O. L. Jones, Kelowna, CCF candidate for Yale by-election, supported by Rev. J. H. Mathews, MP for East Kootenays addressed a gathering of some fifty persons.

"I am going to fight for removal of the mountain differential for re-imposition of price controls, for immediate revision of the old-age pension to $50 per month, with abolition of the means test, and for a better deal for veterans' pensions, as veterans have had a rotten deal," declared Mr. Jones, in outlining his plans if elected as Yale riding member.

Throughout the evening, the two speakers dealt with the "smear" campaign which they allege other parties are conducting to try and link Communism with the CCF.

Mr. F. R. Ganzeveld, president of the Summerland CCF club, was chairman of the meeting.

O. L. Jones

Security of Farms

Right from the start of his speech, Mr. Jones denied allegations that the CCF has any connection with the Communists or LPP parties. He also dealt with those who infer that the CCF would take away people's homes, farms and even their children.

"I apologize for the stupidity of the opposition who are telling deliberate falsehoods and making such misleading statements," stated Mr. Jones.

"To think that an evidently intelligent person should make such a statement that we intend to take away your farms and homes, shakes my faith in human nature. Some people even believe we would take away their children."

Mr. Jones stated that in CCF Saskatchewan the opposite is the case as in this province alone the farmer has security. No matter how drastic conditions may become he may not be deprived of his farm through non-payment of interest or capital on a mortgage, the speaker explained.

Business men in Saskatchewan are also more secure, he insisted, and there is an increase of 800 percent in the number of private enterprises in that province in the past few years, he declared.

Communist "Support"

Waving a widely-circulated pamphlet entitled "I'm Sick of Socialism", Mr. Jones branded this the opinion of one woman out of 25 million and expressed the thought that the British people are well satisfied with the Labor government, as evidenced that the Laborites have not lost one seat in forty by-elections.

Turning again to Communism Mr. Jones said: "People are beginning to think, today, and if the Liberals believe the LPP is a grave danger why don't they take action against them? The Liberals welcomed the support of the

Rev. J. H. Mathews

Rev. J. H. Mathews, at the outset of his talk, which covered many of the points already touched on by Mr. Jones, stressed the continuous fight being waged by the average person for a decent standard of living. No other man has a better opportunity of getting to know people than a Christian minister, and he is a minister of the United church.

"There are moral values as well as spiritual values. We need, not more religion, but more Christianity."

Dealing with the high cost of living, Mr. Mathews stated: "What we cannot understand is what on earth got into them (Liberals) to throw off controls and let the cost of living go sky high."

He quoted instances where Liberal cabinet ministers had boasted of the amount of money saved Canadians yearly by price controls during the war.

Put on Pressure

"The government was going to decontrol slowly, but the Conservatives and Big Business put on the pressure. The CCF urged the government to keep them on but Mr. Abbot replied:

"I hope that as we let off these controls Big Business won't go after all the traffic will bear."

He also blamed the Liberals for the high living cost and intimated that the Conservatives must accept a share of the blame, as well.

He instanced that CCF speakers, time and again urged the government: "When you bring down your old-age pension bill, be generous. Whatever else you do, show your appreciation of the pioneers of this country."

The CCF, he said, stands for reduction of pensions age from 70 to 65, raising of the monthly pension to $50, and abolition of the means test, which he labelled a charity measure and extremely humiliating.

"The government says it cannot afford this higher pension, but that wasn't the story in the war. You cannot tell me that you cannot do in peace what you did in war." He instanced several companies which had received subsidies and one which received an incentive bonus, in spite of the government statements about being unable to "afford it".

Salary Raises

"I know who will get the pickings in the budget reductions, those who have always got them," he continued. Judges salaries have been raised from $15,000 to $20,000 per year and diplomats are being retired on pensions of $7,000 a year for life, he declared. Secretaries to the prime minister have had salary boosts from $3,810 to $4,980 from $4,500 to $6,500 and $7,000 to $10,000.

Mr. Mathews then outlined the struggle for increases in veterans' pensions and concluded by stating: "Mr. Abbott will have a fine surplus in his budget, but he shouldn't be proud of it, as he has squeezed it out of those who fought for Canada."

He instanced the failure of the housing program as another mark against the government and then went on to discuss the freight rates increase, covering much of the ground already spoken on by Mr. Jones.

He urged his listeners to ask Tom Reid, MP for New Westminster how he voted on the freight rates increase, and "watch him wiggle."

The Conservatives did not get off unscathed in this question either, as Mr. Mathews declared 24 of their members, those from Ontario, failed to vote.

"The two old-line parties are one and the same, with different names," continued Mr. Mathews. "They legislate only for Big Business. Those who pay the piper call the tune and they dance to it. I've seen the Progressive Conservatives talk with the CCF against a government measure time

WILL HOLD LAND FOR AIRSTRIP SITE

Summerland council has given assurance to George Washington, chairman of the board of trade committee, that it would not sell the old Simpson property but would retain it for airstrip purposes.

Mr. Washington declared to the council on May 11 that a strip approximately 2,300 feet in length could be obtained by using the Simpson property and a small portion of the golf course, but he wished assurance that the council would keep the property before making any further investigations.

By using this land, the dangerous "twist" in the canyon, which had made another strip objectionable, could be avoided.

"Is the municipality in favor of an airstrip, as this is the only property left which is suitable for the project?" queried Mr. Washington and he was given the council assurance that it would cooperate.

and again and then vote with the government.

"We hear talk of a new national policy, despite the fact that this is only a by-election. Most of this platform is identical to the CCF policy which they vote against."

"The Conservatives are spreading this Communist smear because they haven't any policy, while the Liberals are dead but they won't lie down."

In conclusion, he insisted that the CCF has had nothing to do with the Communists and never will have anything to do with them.

"However, I don't think we need to worry so much about this old bogey of Communism. I think the old-line parties are more afraid of the CCF than the Communists... and I don't think the Communists will even vote for us," he concluded.

Great Variety Of Topics At Film Council

Films which are available to local organizations during the rest of May and June from the Summerland Film Council contain a variety of subjects of interest to a wide range of audiences.

Abekweit is the title of a short ten-minute history of Prince Edward Island, featuring its resources, climate and people.

Of interest to growers, is the 20-minute film Business of Farming, which gives an analysis of Canada's economy from the farmer's point of view.

Excursions in Science gives an audience the elementary principles of magnetism while Eyes for Tomorrow stresses good general health as a prerequisite for good eyesight.

Heritage We Guard is an educational film of special interest at the present time as it presents an argument for some planned program to conserve the great natural resources which are Canada's precious heritage.

Another film of general interest in the coming months is Learn to Swim, detailing the progressive step method of building confidence in beginners learning to swim.

A community film is Let's All Sing, featuring old favorites.

Mites and Monsters provides illustrations and explanations of the widely-differing sizes and weights in animal life.

Ottawa on the River is a travelogue depicting Ottawa and its historic monuments, government buildings and parks.

As Summerland is to have its water supply chlorinated, the film Water, Friend or Enemy should be interesting as it shows the need of keeping water supplies pure and how it may be done.

Another in the sports series is Winter Sports, a panorama of skiing, bob-sledding, harness racing on ice, ski joring and skating.

Review Reporter Looks On Amazed At Rush And Bustle Of Preparation Needed To Launch HMS Pinafore Cast

(By Jean Givins)

Nearly 800 people have seen the Singers' and Players' Club productions of H.M.S. Pinafore here and in Penticton, with standing room only being the record at St. Saviour's parish hall in Penticton on Friday evening last. That is, they have seen and enjoyed it from the outside looking in. On Friday night we saw it from the backstage angle, when Penticton's AYPAs sponsored Summerland's group in a performance there.

All was quiet and orderly when Mrs. Margaret Solly, Mrs. Beatrice Macleod, Mrs. Marjorie Vanderburgh, Mrs. Jean Towgood and Miss Marion Cartwright set up their make-up kits under the kindergarten room in the rear of the hall. Then they went upstairs to look over the stage, and moan over its smallness. "However are the sisters and the sailors going to do their snake dance in that space?" groaned Mrs. Macleod. That, however, was nothing to the tininess of the place left in the orchestra pit for Miss Cartwright as prompter. In a space slightly larger than an apple box was set a kindergarten chair, and upon that Miss Cartwright huddled, script in hand, during the whole performance.

The set looked good, and the ladies commented appreciatively upon the wonderful job done by Phil Davis and Stan Gladwill, who built the ship deck set themselves—a homemade job with a professional appearance.

By the time the make-up crew got back to the kindergarten dressing room, the order and quiet had vanished. The place was a bedlam of chorus members and principals waiting for their make-up.

Picture now our five ladies slapping grease paint over 40 or more assorted faces with speed and abandon. We could only marvel that they didn't get the sailors and the cousins mixed as to hue and contour. Sylvia Perry put on her own make up with a professional finish, but most of the rest of the cast had to be helped. They pitched in to help each other, too. We saw Clive Atkinson earnestly working on one of the chorine's eyebrows.

The majority of the chorine's costumes, we found when we were back of the scenes, were homemade from a variety of materials. Don't throw out your old lace curtains, housewives—the Singers' and Players' Club may need them for gowns in their next production. Some of the girls had really authentic old-time gowns, saved for sentimental reasons, no doubt, and now very useful for costuming. It was surprising, too, how well some of the modern evening gowns fitted into the circa 1890 mode of dress; the addition of a shawl and a bonnet carried them back sixty years.

Although it seemed impossible in that milling crowd, Mrs. Vanderburgh suddenly ran out of customers. "Mr. Howis," she paged. "Senior or junior?" chorused the chorus. Mrs. Van would have settled for either face, but junior got there first.

There must have been a dressing room of some sort available somewhere for the principals, though we never did locate it. At any rate the various leads would disappear with boxes and re-appear robed ready for make up. Except for Mr. Macleod, who did his dressing in a series of expeditions in and out, appearing once in white satin trousers topped with an old army shirt, a most fetching effect. Wigless and coatless the dapper admiral drifted around, occasionally being hailed by his wife not to disappear again—she was almost ready to put on his face.

Alma Fudge either couldn't find or couldn't get into the dressing room, so perform added Buttercup's size 38 girth to her own size 14 figure in the uncertain privacy of a coat held up by an obliging chorine. The fact that the orchestra suddenly arrived and streamed through and past her impromptu dressing room didn't

Well-Groomed Garden Adds to Value of Home

Detailing some of the more important points to consider in planning a well-kept and pleasing landscape for a home, Mrs. Frances Sanders, Vancouver, garden editor of Canadian Homes and Gardens, proved an interesting speaker to the Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday evening.

At the outset she stressed the part which "well-groomed" grounds play in adding materially to the saleability of a home.

Next, she stressed the importance of a proper enframing to the garden, such as is provided by a properly-kept hedge. In a trip across Canada last year she had noticed particularly how much more pleasing were the homes which had the proper amount of enframing.

Privacy in the home is another feature to consider and this can be provided by properly planted trees which help to screen the home and yet add distinction to the landscape. She warned that care must be taken regarding the type of tree planted, as some of the larger varieties would be entirely unsuited for small plots, while others, like the Lombardi poplar, can do extreme damage to drains.

"Be sure to provide adequate living area in your garden," she continued.

Lawn is Asset

The lawn is the greatest asset, especially if it is kept green and free of weeds. In planting lawns, she urged that it be given a crisp outline by use of curbs, either stone or concrete. Even plant edgings give the continuity desired.

Regarding plants, Mrs. Sanders considers care in the choice of varieties is essential. A gardener should consider how the plants will look for the 51 weeks of the year the plant is not in flower.

"Choose plants to do a certain job for you," she urged, also adding that they should be planted in groups and not indiscriminately scattered. Grouping gives added distinction, she explained.

"I regard flowers as the whipped cream and the plants as the meat and potatoes." With all plants and trees, the gardener should not be afraid to control them but he should not butcher them. In the early stages if branches which tend to spoil the symmetry are eliminated then the confused outline will be done away with and the tree or shrub will prosper, she concluded.

GETS EXTRA WATER

Although warning was sounded that the council would have to guard against overbalancing its supply of irrigation water in some sections, that body acquiesced last week to the request of W. F. Evans that he be supplied with two extra acres of irrigation water for a portion of his land which he is bringing under cultivation.

PATIENCE—

then made her little crowning speech, placed the crown on Eileen's fair head and stepped down from her perch to seat Eileen in Miss Banks' chair, which was making-do for the throne. Then, the little crown bearer was to make her curtsy, followed by the princesses, and all were to place themselves in position beside their queen. However, the small one suddenly got cold feet and dissolved into tears instead of making her bow.

To fill the breach and permit Cecily to gather herself together again, Mrs. O'Mahony had the two queens go through their speeches once more, with Mrs. Solly coaching them on expression and voice placing. After that they went through the procedure once more. This time it went without a hitch, and Cecily made her curtsy, followed by the princesses, in a proper manner. Mrs. O'Mahony and Mrs. Solly breathed sighs of relief gave the girls a few instructions for practising before the next rehearsal, and that was that for the time being.

Miss Kay Hamilton's Girls' Choir will make a colorful guard of honor for the royal party, and will be in the procession, grouping themselves behind the throne on the stage. They will also contribute greatly to the enjoyment of the ceremony by singing, a treat everyone always looks forward to.

All in all, Mrs. O'Mahony's efforts are shaping up to make a colorful, interesting and charming opening to the Spring Fair, which is scheduled for 7:30 tomorrow night following speeches by President Fred Schumann and Reeve Reid Johnston.

UBCM Plans Sea Trip for Convention

Union of B.C. Municipalities is planning a special excursion by the CPR boat, SS Princess Kathleen, if sufficient interest is taken by prospective delegates to the annual convention from September 27 to October 1.

This excursion would travel from Vancouver to Prince Rupert and would visit Ocean Falls on the return trip.

Cost to each delegate is $30 for the excursion on the boat and the CPR must be guaranteed $17,000 by the UBCM.

It was tentatively agreed by the council that at least one councillor and his wife should represent the municipality at this annual convention and will notify the union executive accordingly.

SPRAY STANDPIPE

Approval was granted by council on Tuesday, May 11 to the request of orchard owners in the vicinity of the Sandhill-Giant's Head road for the erection of a standpipe connection for spray purposes. Some sixty acres will be served by this connection, which would be located at the G. R. E. Fudge property line. Cost of such connection is about $50, Water Foreman Kercher stated.

help smooth out Buttercup's curves either.

A "bare-faced" sailor tried to cross the room, but he didn't get far. Mrs. Russel and Mrs. Solly both spied him. Mrs. Solly caught that one, but Mrs. Russel wasn't empty handed long.

So it went, a noisy bedlam through which the make-up crew worked steadily and efficiently, till suddenly the hour was at hand, Bud Steuart called "Everybody out, we're starting", and against all rhyme or reason, they were ready. The room emptied, the music started, we could hear the thunder of those forty feet above our heads, and the dressers relaxed, looked at their greasy hands and sighed with relief. In a moment they all tramped out the back door—except Miss Cartwright, who was already tucked into her prompter's cosy corner—to go around to the front of the hall to see how the show looked from out front, and how the audience was reacting.

They found a packed hall. Every available seat and bench was occupied, and the back was lined with standees. The curtain went up, the play began smoothly, the audience moved their heads in appreciative time to the music, and the ladies who had done the work grinned happily at each other. The cast looked good, the stage looked alright, the audience felt right.

The audience was, indeed, a receptive one. The laughter and applause came out spontaneously at the right places, and the people on the stage felt the warmth and relaxed into it with resulting smoothness to their performance. Mr. Macleod again shone with a special light, and the audience loved him. And Mrs. McNeill was even daintier, easier and sweeter-voiced than she had been on Tuesday evening. She is so natural on the stage that she carries the rest of the cast with her. Ben Newton, we are told, acted Rafe better this time than he had years before, and much of his good acting must be attributed to the Josephine who lifted him and carried him through his scenes by virtue of her own easy manner.

Between scenes the make-up crew rushed about with powder puffs and lipsticks, retouching faces somewhat smeared with the heat and exertion. Almost all dashed outside for a breath of fresh air. Sir Joseph promptly doffed his coat, and now looked most unadmirable in undervest and satin trousers. Ben Newton complained that he had lost six pounds in the first act—his costume was getting positively roomy. Poor Buttercup, with all her padding, was probably losing a goodly portion of her real weight too.

After the show was over the cast remained on the stage for photographing, and a cheerful, job-well-done, wasn't the audience responsive? I think it went well, don't you? crowd they were.

Miss Cartwright crawled out of her cell none the worse for her cramped hours, and very happy about the way the show had gone.

Last week we called the orchestra a Summerland group augmented by some Penticton players. We were roundly disabused of that notion; the shoe is on the other foot, and it is Mr. Harris' very fine Penticton Symphony band, augmented by some Summerland players. However it is termed, it is an excellent orchestra, and responded well to both Mr. Harris' direction in the pre-performance numbers and to Mr. Steuart's baton during the show.

St. Saviour's W.A. served a lunch to the cast and supporting members, for which they were thanked in a short speech by Roy Angus, who very smartly made use of Penticton's brand new status by apologizing for any nervousness that may have been evident during the production—"because, you know," said Mr. Angus, "for most of us this is the first time we have ever played in a city."

Council Protests Lack of Constable

Official complaint has been despatched by the Summerland council to S/Sgt. Halcrow, in charge of the B.C. Police detachment at Penticton, on his action in removing Constable Thorsteinson from Summerland area on Monday morning, May 10, while preparations were underway for the reception of Viscount Alexander.

As a consequence, Legion members had to attempt to patrol the area and try to park cars, Councillor Bentley informed the council on Tuesday last week. It had been arranged that Constable Thorsteinson would be on duty for the purpose of regulating traffic, he stated.

Owing to the spring assizes being started in Vernon the Penticton detachment was short-handed on Monday, thus causing the police to summon the local constable south. He returned just a few minutes prior to Their Excellencies arrival.

JONES OPENS—

Communists in the last election."

He showed his audience an advertisement published in an Ontario paper by the Liberals in 1945 showing pictures of 26 Labor leaders across Canada who were supposed to be supporting the Liberal party. Every one of these men are known to be Communists, Mr. Jones said.

"The CCF is really a middle of the road party and has the same basis as the governments of Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand," Mr. Jones continued. Canada is the only country out of line.

Out-moded Economy

"In a streamlined age, Canada has a horse and buggy economy and you cannot have security for the people without a planned economy. Free enterprise failed miserably in the first part of the war so the government had to plan its task. We did remarkable things... doubled our production with inferior labor... all because of planning.

"Money didn't enter into the war effort. All the government said was: 'Have we the desire, the men for the armed forces, the manpower for production and the skill to go into war?' The answer was 'Yes' and it wasn't until months later that we needed to borrow money.

"If the effort and desire was here now to plan for national security it could be accomplished just as easily."

Mr. Jones then gave his audience figures on what could have been provided for national security with the money expended in war effort.

"The objective of the common people was to win in the war. What was done in the war can be done in peace. We can have the same security by setting our standard as high as we want to plan."

Living Costs

From this point, Mr. Jones went on to discuss the high cost of living. He complimented the Liberals for their job in war years, but stated that the disciples of free enterprise, especially the Conservatives, put on so much pressure that controls were lifted and prices skyrocketed. Big business made the profit, not the farmer, he emphasized.

When the Marshall plan goes into effect the need for controls will be more evident than ever.

Only one group—the Liberal Government—can be blamed for the rise in freight rates, Mr. Jones claimed, instancing that

B.C. Liberals talked against the increase and then voted for it.

The provincial sales tax has nothing to do with the federal by-election and Mr. Jones went on to show how the financial burden could have been lifted by taxing further those making profits out of natural resources, such as the C. M. & S. and H. R. McMillan companies.

Liberals to Blame

Turning to the old-age pensions, Mr. Jones declared that the Saskatchewan CCF government only took away its $5 contribution towards the pensions as a protest because the Liberal Government at Ottawa had not lived up to its agreement.

Premier Douglas and other provincial premiers went to Ottawa in protest but MacKenzie King would not do anything until Ontario and Quebec sign the agreement, Mr. Jones declared.

"The responsibility and full blame for the old-age pensions situation lies with the Liberal government who failed to live up to their agreement," Mr. Jones challenged.

He added that the last time the Conservatives were in power they tried to reduce the old-age pensions by 20 percent but popular opinion held off any action.

Veterans have had a rotten deal, he continued, emphasizing that pensions should be in relation to the cost of living, rather than by the rank of the soldier now in civilian life.

1947 QUEEN—

RUTH FLEMING

Whose reign as Fair Queen will conclude tomorrow night.

As a final point, he urged that Canada should throw in its lot with

SEPARATE ELECTRIC INSPECTOR SOON TO BE APPOINTED

An electrical inspector must be appointed by the municipality to inspect the electric wiring systems of new structures being erected within the municipal boundaries, the council was informed on Thursday afternoon by Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon.

This is in accordance with amendments recently passed by the provincial legislature.

It is probable that the municipality will have a new bylaw to take care of this regulation, and a fee for inspection services will be charged builders of new structures.

all other nations, in such a policy as is being worked out in the U.N. He believes that UN problems can be ironed out with a little more tolerance.

In conclusion, Mr. Jones stated: "If you elect a Conservative you will tell Ottawa you haven't awakened in the last 25 years. If you elect a Liberal, you say you are approving higher freight rates, the increased cost of living, and too-low veterans' pensions."

Across the Dominion, even as you read this, thousands of travellers are speeding to their destinations on board trains of the Canadian National. Famous trains, such as The Continental Limited and The Ocean Limited, are spanning the distances from the Pacific and the Prairie Provinces to Eastern Canada and the Atlantic. The International Limited, The Inter-City Limited, The Washingtonian and The Montrealer, are typifying Canadian National's importance as an International carrier. Dependable "locals" are performing the undramatic but essential job of serving the "in between" points, and providing branch line connections with the fast Express trains.

These are the trains, covering more than two million miles each month, that make up the Railway "Blue Book" of Canada — The System Time Tables of the C.N.R. The "Blue Book" is your "passport" to everywhere in Canada, or across the Border be your journey for business or pleasure, for an hour, a day, overnight or longer.

"Melody In Spring" Title Chosen For Variety Show on Saturday Night

Melody in Spring is the name chosen for the big Variety Show which will be one of the features of the entertainment provided by the committee in charge of the Spring Fair this Friday and Saturday.

From 8:30 to 10 o'clock Saturday evening, nine artists will be present to provide a gala hour and a half of entertainment.

Fred Russell is to be master of ceremonies for this show and his public relations boss states that he has a snappy line of chatter which keeps the show moving along at a fast clip.

One of the chief artists to be presented Saturday night is Hilda McLennan, whose violin has been heard for many seasons with the Vancouver Symphony. Hilda was also a member of the Canadian Army show in the recent war. She is billed as an accomplished violinist with an attractive personality.

Providing a contrast, Shirley Elden is a blues singer and is a star of both radio and stage. Her voice was heard over many Ontario radio stations. Although she is billed as a blues singer, she is known to please with the classical, as well. Gwenyth Reece is a native of the Okanagan and her pleasing, soprano voice combined with a quiet personality have endeared her to many audiences in the Kelowna district.

She joins with Al Matte in a number of duets. Al is a tenor who hails from Regina and Winnipeg. He was to be heard over several Manitoba radio stations in recent years with concert groups.

No stranger to Okanagan audiences is Paul "Tiny" Walrod, who is production manager of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., and an ex-alderman of the City of Kelowna. Mr. Walrod's tenor voice was heard in two numbers at last year's fair and local music lovers will be looking forward to hearing him again.

Besides serving as a vocalist, Mr. Walrod is part of a four-piece orchestra which is to provide musical numbers and then play for the jitney dance which follows on Saturday evening.

Other members of the orchestra are Kay and Carl Dunaway and George Cameron. Kay's pleasing voice has also been heard in Summerland on previous occasions and is only surpassed by her talent as pianist.

Her husband, Carl, is president of the new firm which is responsible for bringing this show to Summerland—Interior Attractions Ltd. Carl doubles with saxophone and violin and will be featured in several numbers. Another member of Dunaway's dance band, George Cameron is the drum artist.

Two Dances Feature Both Fair Evenings

Two big dances are part of the entertainment features for the annual Spring Fair of the board of trade on Friday and Saturday nights.

On Friday night, at the Ellison hall, Carl Dunaway's (Kelowna) orchestra will be in attendance to play sweet music for the swaying dancers.

Last year, the Spring Fair dance was a huge success and was voted one of the best dances of the year. It is anticipated that another bumper crowd will be on hand again this Friday.

Fred Dunsdon

Then, on Saturday night, an innovation in the entertainment will be a Jitney Dance, upstairs in the Occidental building from 10:30 to 12 midnight. The four-piece orchestra which is part of the big Variety Show being staged that evening will provide the music for this gala affair.

Fred Dunsdon is in charge of the dances and states that everything is in readiness for the enjoyment of big crowds.

Delay in Pipe To Hold Up Subdivision

Scarcity of pipe will likely hold up the supplying of domestic water to the Sergeant subdivision for some time, council was informed on Tuesday evening, May 11, by Councillor C. E. Bentley, chairman of the water department.

However, when the supply of one thousand feet of pipe is obtained, then the domestic water system must be put in at one time and all prospective users must be prepared to accept service, whether they have built or not, council agreed.

There are twelve prospective domestic water users in this area now.

WILL NOT AFFECT USERS

Foreman E. Kercher informed the council on Tuesday, May 11, that the provision of a half-inch domestic water connection, which will be used for sprinkling, to property acquired by A. K. Elliott will not affect other users on the line. Question of the advisability of allowing this connection had been raised by a user on the lower part of the line, Councillor Wilson stated.

June Survey of Canada's Crops Is Being Sought Now

Forms for the annual June survey of crops and live stock are now being sent to farmers all across the Dominion of Canada. This survey is undertaken by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in co-operation with the provincial departments of agriculture. The statistical organizations depend on farmers to provide information concerning crop acreages, live stock and poultry numbers and disposition. From the returns received estimates are made of production for each province and for Canada as a whole.

The information that individual farmers provide to the bureau is kept strictly confidential. Farmers, therefore, need not hesitate to make a complete and accurate return. The farmer is protected by law against misuse of his return and his individual record is seen only by workers in the Dominion and provincial statistical offices. Under no circumstances can the information on these forms be used for taxation purposes of any kind.

Farmers who have been sending in reports on this survey in past years will notice that the form has been changed. There are actually fewer questions on the the new form than on last year's.

The co-operation of the farmer in providing the basic figures on acreages and live stock numbers is essential to the success of the survey. Accurate estimates cannot be made unless farmers provide the facts about their individual farms. It is in the farmer's own interest to provide these data since accurate estimates of agricultural production are required by farmer's organizations and related agencies as a basis for developing sound production and marketing policies.

Life in Navy in War Years Told By Alan Elsey

Life in the Royal Canadian Navy during war years as observed by one young Summerland man was graphically portrayed by Alan Elsey to the Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday evening, at the Nu-Way Annex.

His ship, the St. Thomas, was one of a flotilla of 45 naval craft which served as a decoy by sailing for the coast of Norway some days before D-day. The flotilla was away 34 days and was under constant surveillance from German aircraft.

Following this interlude, the St. Thomas was detailed to the graveyard run across the north Atlantic from Newfoundland to Londonderry and it was while on this convoy duty that Mr. Elsey, then on anti-submarine watch located an 'echo' early on the morning of December 27, 1944.

He detailed the preparations and excitement which followed. After an unsuccessful attempt to find the sub, what was thought to be a perfect hit was registered. Shortly afterwards, the sub came to the surface and fired three close shots at the Canadian ship before a direct hit on the conning tower was registered.

Fifty-four German submarine sailors were taken from the waters, only one member of the crew being drowned.

In conclusion he detailed the anti-submarine apparatus used on his ship, describing briefly the workings of the range-finder and the depth-finder equipment.

TEMPORARY CONNECTION

It was suggested at last week's council meeting by Water Foreman E. Kercher that G. W. Pennington be allowed a temporary connection to the three-quarter inch domestic water pipe now available until such time as the one-inch pipe can be installed. The council agreed, provided that only a limited amount would be used, so that other users on this line would not be affected.

Increase of Interest in Junior Red Cross Across Canada Sought

So that more Canadian young people may have opportunity for improved health, good citizenship, and world understanding, Dr. J. T. Phair, chairman of the national Junior Red Cross committee, has called for an increase of suitable Junior Red Cross personnel in each of the nine provincial divisions of the society.

"It is obvious that the world today is motivated by self-interest," Dr. Phair pointed out. "It is within the scope of Junior Red Cross to appeal to young people, both in elementary and secondary schools, for interest in the welfare of others in their own country and in other countries, and to guide its members into understanding of the human race and thus away from prejudices of race, color, creed, language and political affiliations."

Although membership in the Junior Red Cross now totals 854,467 in 29,445 Canadian schoolrooms, an increase of administrative personnel could almost double this membership, he felt.

WOULD DIG DITCH

An approximate cost of $400 was mentioned at last week's council session for the expenditure necessary to provide E. G. Mayert, in Prairie Valley, with domestic water. Mr. Mayert has expressed willingness to undertake the digging and backfilling, which would absorb all but $50 of the cost, it was roughly estimated. However, the project will be held up for lack of pipe.

"Young people need a purpose in their lives," Dr. Phair said. "They are affected quite as much as, if not more than, adult citizens by the vast feeling of insecurity in the world and by the present instability of family life in our overcrowded communities. They need constructive outlet for youthful energies. Junior Red Cross, with a wise leadership program can harness those energies to lasting practical good."

Miss Jean E. Browne, national director of Junior Red Cross, has reported on the year's activities of the organization.

"Last year, treatment for 2,598 crippled children was provided by Canadian Juniors, who have, since the inception of the organization 26 years ago, aided a total of 29,963 handicapped children", she said.

"With monies raised by their own efforts, the Juniors have contributed nearly $70,000 to child war victims abroad in the past twelve months," Miss Browne continued. "This work included shipments of food to many lands; gifts of school supplies to children of Czechoslovakia, France, Norway; building a child health centre in Chengtu, China; repairing a children's sanatorium in Sopron, Hungary; supplies of clothing for children in British war nurseries.

"Since the close of the war, Canadian Junior Red Cross assistance to less fortunate children overseas, represents an expenditure of more than $800,000.

FIELD MARSHAL VISCOUNT ALEXANDER (left) Governor-General of Canada, inspects model of "Roaring Meg", famous cannon used in the siege of Londonderry in 1688-89. Silver casket beneath the model contains the Freedom of Londonderry, presented to Viscount Alexander by the Mayor of that city, SIR BASIL MCFARLAND, in ceremonies at Londonderry.

Viscount and Lady Alexander will arrive in Summerland at 11 o'clock on Monday, May 10, to be greeted by a formal reception centered around the cenotaph at the high school grounds. A presentation will be made to Their Excellencies, this being a lovely colored photograph of the Summerland district, prepared by Robson's Studio. This picture is on display this week at Laidlaw & Co. store.

School Trustees Will Be Nominated May 22

Nominations for four positions on the new Summerland district school board No. 77 must be placed in the municipal office, West Summerland, between 10 and 12 o'clock Saturday morning, May 15, according to advice given out this week by Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon.

Election date for the four school trustees, if necessary, will be on Saturday, May 22, with the United church hall in lower town and the municipal office in West Summerland being the voting-booths.

W. C. W. Fosbery is returning officer for this election.

Another member of the school board will be chosen from the rural district surrounding Summerland, to represent the taxpayers contributing to the school costs from outside the municipal limits.

Just Two Names
Only two names are considered fairly certain for the board election, these being the two retiring members of Pentiction School District No. 15 board, F. G. Dodwell and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh.

These are the only two citizens who have made any definite commitments that they would allow their names to stand. Mr. Dodwell stated definitely on Monday that if the ratepayers desire his presence on the board he would allow his name to stand.

He explained that he has followed the activities of the schools in Summerland for a good many years. As chairman of the board, he had helped plan the new school system when the war put an end to all such planning. He is desirous of seeing the school building program completed before retiring from school activities.

"And that means the new junior-senior high school, too," he added quickly.

Junior Baseballers Win at Osoyoos 12-3

Summerland junior baseball team scored a decisive 12-3 victory at Osoyoos last Sunday to inaugurate the 1948 baseball season. Gil Jacobs held the southerners to a meagre trio of runs.

The game was decided in the two initial frames when the northerners scampered around the paths for four runs in each frame. Another three were added in the sixth and the final count in the seventh.

Summerland's players were: F. Gould 1b, A. Gould, Kita, Cristante cf, F. Kato 2b, D. Nesbitt and D. Wetzels lf, B. Wetzels cf, Dunham rf, S. Jomori ss, E. Jomori 3b, Jacobs p.

Conciliation Officer Fails To Get Agreement on Packing House Dispute

Meeting at Kelowna last Friday, April 30, the industry labor negotiating committee, representing the fruit and vegetable packing houses of the interior, together with the negotiating committee of the fruit and vegetable workers union, under the chairmanship of R. G. Clements, of the provincial department of labor, failed to reach an agreement on any points remaining in dispute between the two parties.

As a result, it is understood that Mr. Clements will recommend the appointment of a conciliation board to endeavor to obtain an agreement on the union's demands for higher wages and other remunerations.

This board will probably meet within the next month, it is considered.

Cost of Living
Union representatives at the conciliation meeting last Friday claimed they are entitled to increases in line with those being granted by other industries and because of the increase in the cost of living during the year.

The unions had originally requested approximately 20 changes in the agreement and about forty changes in the wage schedule, plus a 25 percent overall increase in wages.

A considerable part of Friday's meeting was devoted to discussion of penalties to be imposed on employers violating the seniority clauses of the agreement and on the union's request for two weeks' annual holiday with pay.

The committee representing the fruit and vegetable industry made it clear that it could not agree to any change in the contract which would materially increase the cost of packing during the coming season.

Members stated they have received definite instructions from their principals, the growers and pointed out that that industry has already granted increases totalling more than 100 percent in the wage scale since 1939.

Declining Returns
Apple growers are selling substantially on the basis of the ceiling prices set in 1942, they argued, and no further increases are justified. They also pointed out that it is extremely unlikely that the returns on apples for the 1948 season will be equal to those in 1942 and that in the intervening years the cost of production and packing has doubled.

The producers stated they have not been able to pass any portion of this extra cost on to the consumer and further, that the price level on practically all imported fruit and vegetables was much lower in 1947 than in 1946, and is likely to decline further during the coming season.

Citrus fruits now enter Canada free of duty and along with citrus juices are being sold at extremely low levels, the producers' representatives pointed out.

Novel Field Day Planned By Sportsmen

June 23 promises to be a big day for the district sportsmen, their families and friends as the Summerland Fish and Game club is planning a Field Day, first of its kind ever staged in this district.

Retriever trials, fly and bait casting, trap shooting and rowboat racing are included in the day's program, while admission to the grounds will give visitors an opportunity to guess the time of the boat race and win one of three prizes.

This boat race, which is under the care of George Uzawa, will take place from the CFR wharf to Powell Beach. Rowboats will be craft in use, each boat containing two men but only one set of oars.

Councillor Harvey Wilson has charge of the casting demonstration, followed by a competition with prizes. Harry Petersen is obtaining information for his committee on retriever trials' operation, while Bert Berry is in charge of the ticket sales. Stan Taylor has undertaken to sell refreshments.

Joe McLachlan, who heads the entire committee, is in charge of the grounds. For those who enjoy a short swim over the lake waters in a power boat, George Stoll is arranging for such rides.

The entire Field Day will be centered around Powell Beach, the fish and game enthusiasts were told at their monthly meeting in the IOOF hall on Monday night.

Radio Amateurs Open House Here

On Sunday afternoon, the Summerland Amateur Radio club, a newly-formed group of amateur radio "hams", as they are popularly known, were hosts at an Open House demonstration of radio receiving and transmitting sets, at the Nu-Way Annex.

Besides a number of interested Summerland residents, Hams from Pentiction, Oliver and Orovillo, Wash., visited Summerland for the occasion. Many persons expressed keen interest in the radio equipment displayed.

One of the Pentiction amateurs displayed an instrument which provided onlookers with a graph of electric vibrations, slowing them down for observation with the human eye. This machine proved of extreme interest to those attending.

The radio amateurs are planning an exhibit at the annual Spring Fair on May 21 and 22, Mr. J. D. Price, president, states.

Sportsmen's Meetings at Oliver and Harrison Try For Game Conservation

Nearly all Summerland and the South Okanagan zone recommendations regarding bag limits and seasons on game and birds were passed on to the B.C. Game Commission at the annual convention of the Interior Fish and Game clubs held at Oliver last month.

Delegates to this important sportsmen's conference informed the Summerland Fish and Game club at the IOOF hall on Monday.

Sumnerland was represented at Oliver by President W. Snow, Channon Snow and George Stoll. President Snow and Mr. Stoll also attended the provincial sportsmen's conference at Harrison Hot Springs last week.

Throughout these two conventions, the main theme was conservation of wild life, with the endeavor of assisting the game commission in its efforts to control hunting for the benefit of future generations of this province.

Channon Snow reported at some length on the Oliver conference, while President Snow gave a detailed report on Harrison.

Approve Ideas
All resolutions, with the exception of the duck seasons, from North and South Okanagan met with the approval of the Interior convention at Oliver. Channon Snow told the meeting.

He also reported that the plan to tag pheasants was recommended, and a suggestion that Kokanee be made a sport fish was passed along. The local resolution regarding increased bounties was not approved, it being left to the game commission to endeavor to curtail the depredations of predatory animals, according to the finances available.

It was also recommended at Oliver that all-hunters be allowed to shoot three animals, but one of these must be a deer.

Send In Reports
Hunters are being urged to send in their reports to the game commission, as requested on the licence forms issued last year. Only a small percentage of these reports have been received and it is important to the future operation.

G. M. Dunsdon Is Top Rifle Shot

G. M. Dunsdon topped the scores at the Summerland Rifle Club range on Sunday morning, with a score of 95. Shooting on this second day improved considerably and a bigger turnout recorded.

Other scores were: P. S. Dunsdon 88, Ed Gould 92, H. Snider and F. G. Anderson 91, Len Shannon 90, Ted Dunsdon and Jack Dunsdon 80, A. R. Dunsdon 87, G. M. Forster 84, H. Simpson 80, H. (Pop) Dunsdon 74, D. Taylor 66, W. C. W. Fosbery 65, R. Proudlock 50.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Pelker are the parents of a baby daughter who arrived at Summerland hospital on Thursday May 6th.

HOSPITAL BOARD WILL MEET HERE

Summerland plays host tomorrow, Friday, at the Legion hall, to the quarterly zone meeting of the Okanagan and district regional conference of the B.C. Hospital Assn. Hospital directors from Revelstoke, Salmon Arm and Okanagan points from Armstrong south to the border are expected to be present.

Mr. C. J. Huddleston, hospital vice-president here, will officially greet the visiting hospital officials.

It is anticipated that the future part hospital boards will play under the new hospital insurance plan of the B.C. government will form the main basis of discussion.

Political Parties Plan May Sessions

Political parties are massing their forces and moving into the fray for the final month's drive to Monday, May 31, when the federal by-election to choose a successor to Hon. Grote Stirling, former MP for Yale, will be held.

Several "name" speakers are lined up by all parties, including the chieftain of one of the parties, M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader at Ottawa and one of the country's ablest speakers, will address a Summerland gathering at Ellison hall on Thursday afternoon, May 27.

First of the political rallies is to be held by the CCF when O. L. Jones, Yale candidate, will be supported by Rev. J. H. Matthews, MP for East Kootenay on May 18. Liberals have already lined up Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner to address a public meeting here at the Ellison hall on Tuesday, May 18.

Other prominent Liberal party members are coming to the Okanagan but those who will be able to include Summerland in their itinerary are not known at present.

Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, Progressive-Conservative candidate for the Yale by-election, will appear at the Legion hall in West Summerland on Thursday, May 20. He will be supported by Davis Fulton, MP for Kamloops and Howard Green, MP for Vancouver.

Another strong P-C supporter, Mrs. Tillie Rolston, also of Vancouver, will be in Summerland on the afternoon of May 27 and will hold a women's rally in the IOOF hall.

Other meetings are being planned by the political parties but no details are arranged yet.

Ratepayers Meeting Votes 66 To 14 In Favor Of Hall By-Law Proposal

By a near five to one majority an enthusiastic and enquiring audience of nearly one hundred voted at the IOOF hall Friday evening in favor of the council submitting a money bylaw to the voters of this municipality seeking the right to borrow $20,000 to erect a proposed community hall building on the Living Memorial park-playground, as suggested by the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee.

Some of those in attendance on Friday had left when the vote was taken, but the eighty persons who were present declared themselves in favor of the proposal by a 66-14 count.

Reeve Reid A. Johnston and Councillor F. E. Atkinson, chairman of the memorial parks committee handled the meeting, which brought expressions both for and against the proposal, plus statements on the operation of the Living Memorial fund subscribed by the district in the fall of 1946.

The meeting was called by the municipal council at the request of the parks group, to ascertain the wishes of the ratepayers on the subject of building a hall on the park-playground which would accommodate roller skating, dances, banquets, meetings and other similar gatherings. Incorporated in this building will be a smaller committee room which will be available for youth sessions and other functions.

If the taxpayers approve the bylaw, the hall as projected will be fitted with a furnace and a modern kitchen to serve banquets or handle light refreshments during skating parties and dances.

It is expected in some quarters that this money bylaw will likely be submitted at the same time as the school renovation bylaw, which will probably call for an expenditure on the part of the municipality of some $50,000.

First question which arose at Friday's meeting came from Mr. Bryden, who wished information on the committee's plan to finance the upkeep of these parks and this proposed building.

To this, E. H. Bennett, chairman of the park-playground subcommittee, replied that the memorial parks group is concerned with the building of the parks. "When our money is gone, then it will be up to the municipality to carry on maintenance," declared Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Bryden believed that the parks committee should have gone into the maintenance question "long before now."

Mr. Bennett explained that a hockey association will have to be formed to carry on the hockey rink, that baseball should take care of most expenditures on the athletic grounds and the proposed community hall should carry itself.

"In most communities, parks are a heavy debt," continued Mr. Bryden. "No one here can tell me these parks can run themselves. It's going to mean $3,000 to $5,000 per year to keep these projects up or they will go back just the same as Ellison hall."

To this Mr. C. J. Bleasdale, athletic park subcommittee chairman, replied that it will cost less than $500 to keep up the athletic grounds and this will be mostly financed this year. He did not think the other park would run much over that amount.

"For a moment we are losing sight of the reason these parks have been planned," interceded Dr. H. R. McLarty. "This is an attempt on the part of the people of Summerland to do something for the young people."

Mr. McLarty believed that playgrounds for young people are just as important to a community as roads and electric light and these parks are planned to give the young people here a home they can be proud of, in commemoration of those who served in the world wars.

Another voice of caution was that of Jack Morrow. First of all, he said he was "highly tickled" with the athletic park and maybe the lack of progress on the part of the park-playground was tough

Living Memorial Athletic Park To Be Opened May 24 Committee Tells Civic Meeting At Hall Talk

That the Living Memorial athletic park will be ready for baseball on May 23 with the official opening on May 24, and that most of the projected works in the park-playground will be installed by the end of the year was the official announcement made by members of the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee at the ratepayers' meeting held in the IOOF hall on Friday evening.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson, chairman of the parks group, in summarizing the progress on the parks, declared that another $500 expenditure will see the athletic park completed, with the exception of the running track.

Shortage of water pipe held up the park-playground work last year, he declared, but this has now been obtained and the water system has been installed.

With the exception of the roller skating surface and the rest rooms all other parts of the park-playground will be in place this year.

Roller Skating
Councillor Atkinson reviewed the history of the roller skating surface. At first, a concrete slab was proposed but eventually this cost was figured at $3,000 and no company would guarantee that the concrete would not heave in severe winter weather. A bitulithic surface was also investigated but it was found this would be too costly and would not serve the purpose.

Then, the municipal hall, incorporating rest rooms and recreational rooms was proposed and while the council was considering this angle, the park-playground group did not wish to proceed further. However, these plans had to be abandoned by the municipal council as the costs would be too great, it was considered.

From that point, the committee endeavored to plan a type of open-air pavilion which could be added at a later date, but the architects, Townley & Matheson, Vancouver, advised a complete plan and this procedure was followed. As a result, the community hall plans as submitted to the ratepayers.

Summerland talent will be well represented at the Okanagan Musical Festival which is being held in Kelowna from May 18 to 21.

Summerland Represented at Music Festival

Musical adjudicator is Mr. Alec Redshaw, who comes highly recommended for the role. One of the team of British adjudicators who have come to Canada for the Dominion festivals across the country, Mr. Redshaw is spoken of as an outstanding and versatile musician with wide experience in all musical affairs and adjudicating.

He is coming to Kelowna directly after participating in the B.C. provincial festival in Vancouver.

Summerland competitors for piano solos will be: under 18 years of age, David Woodbridge; under 14, Maureen Prior; under 12, Joyce Schumann, Frances Atkinson, Shirley Clarke.

Piano duets will be undertaken by: under 18, Ruth Nakamura and David Woodbridge; under 14, Jane Woollams and Elsie Haek, and under 12, Larry Crawford and Nell Woollams.

Two vocal solos will be offered in the girls under 15 class, with Shirley Gardiner and Maureen Prior as entrants.

When it comes to the girls' choir entry, Miss Kay Hamilton will have to enter her group as "under 19", which gives them very stiff competition to face. Miss Hamilton's girls range in age from 11 to 15, and are a junior group in comparison with the choirs from other centres. The test piece is a unison song entitled "May Dew", and in addition the girls are offering a part song "Fiddle and Drum". This choir of 27 girls has made a notable name around Summerland with its excellent work.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

One hardly expects to find a cemetery located on a modern experimental station. Accordingly, I was greatly surprised to see Harold Smith and his crew busy installing what looked to me like a series of neat, concrete tombstones. On inquiring I found that these cement blocks were being erected to support the living rather than to commemorate the dead. Actually, they are the posts on which wires are being strung to provide a trellis for the support of dwarf fruit trees.

The so-called Malling IX rootstock which is used for producing dwarf apple trees is quite brittle, with the result that unless the trees are supported by stakes or wires, they tend to break off just below ground level. These dwarf trees are now becoming very popular for use in back yard gardens, where comparatively small trees are desired. There are even some commercial orchardists who believe it is worth-while to test the suitability of these dwarf trees for large-scale operation.

The cement posts and wire trellis are quite expensive to install but have the advantage of being comparatively permanent, whereas anyone who has tried wooden posts under Okanagan conditions knows that they tend to rot very quickly, necessitating replacement.

I was especially interested in one row of dwarf trees planted only 18 inches apart. In this row, trees are being trained as Cordons. These trees are being pruned to single stems which are tied to the wire trellis at an angle. Each tree will eventually consist of one single stem about 10 feet long with spurs but no branches along its entire length. This Cordon method of training is practised extensively in Europe. Obviously it requires heavy initial expenditure for nursery stock, but the quality and yield of fruit are said to be very high. Special pruning treatment is required to handle trees by this method, but spraying, thinning and harvesting costs are greatly reduced.

THANKS PARKS COMMITTEE
Summerland, B.C.,
May 1, 1948.

Editor The Review:
This is in appreciation of the work that has been done by the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee. The plan they have initiated and partially carried out will probably bring about an increase in taxes. It will certainly make this a better community.

So long as Summerland has citizens as energetic as the members of the Memorial Parks Committee it should be in no danger of financial bankruptcy. So long as it has citizens as willing to work for others it should be in no danger of mental bankruptcy.

To the Memorial Parks Committee this ratepayer says—thank you.

Yours very truly,
A RATEPAYER

WILL LOWER RENTAL

Summerland council agreed on April 27 to a proposal of Mr. T. E. Young that the golf club be allowed the old rate of $25 per year rental on its course in view of the lack of interest in club activities at present. In the past few years the council has been charging $40 per year rental.

APPOINTMENT MADE

E. G. Oldham has been appointed as forester in charge of the B.C. Forest Service, it was announced this week by Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests. Mr. Oldham, who will be in charge of directing an expanded program of provincial park development, has had wide experience in park administration and development.

It's surprising how a pair of clean, white gloves can make you feel well-dressed. A fresh pair every day you go out, even if it's only on a local shopping spree, is a MUST.

And of course you wouldn't even dream of wearing yesterday's stockings without swooshing them through the suds.

Tell me: What in the world would YOU do if snakes were your one phobia and your pet cat came toward you in the garden with one swirling around her mouth like a villain's moustache? Proud as punch she was of her catch, too! That streak of lightning was me, in fullest, fastest flight!

Now they up and tell us that a man gets the same physical reaction out of getting mad as he does from kissing a gal. That could be okay for the man, but how about us gals if the men start going in for madding instead of mugging?

You know, some of those hat patterns you see in the fashion books make up into smart little numbers, the likes of which your neighbor will never appear in. Corduroy is a dandy material to use for most of them, and if you're on the up-'n'-up you'll whip up a bag to match.

Getting slim isn't so much a matter of will power as "won't" power. "No, thanks, I won't have any potatoes; no thanks, I won't have any white bread; no thanks, I won't have any pie." You know! It's worth it though—to be so slim your husband can put his arm around your waist without straining a muscle.

Summer shoes get comfortable, and comfortable every year. Now they're almost nothing but sole and leather thongs and as easy on the tootsies as standing on the lawn barefoot.

Just for fun throw a splash of nail polish on your toe-nails sometime. They look on the cute side, popping out from under your nightie. Men don't mind it half so much down there, as they do on finger tips.

Do you feel cynical or sentimental when you watch a bride tootle down the aisle? If the former, you're not really happily married. If the latter, you're doing okay, and you should give the man to whom YOU said "yes" an extra big hug when he comes home.

ment, threw the switch which put their globe back on its original course—a course it has maintained ever since.

The Giant landed in Okanagan Lake with such a gigantic splash that the Ogopegos were temporarily stunned, giving the Giant time to reach the shore in safety.

Today, thanks to the Giant, the Man in the Moon smiles down at us and never assumes that menacing expression of those dim, far-off days.

The moon got off its beaten track in days of long ago; The Giant quickly brought it back And made it run just so.

But when things go awry today, The best that we can do Is institute a new sales tax To right the world anew.

By B. A. T.

V—The Trip to the Moon
In the days of giants, long before Columbus discovered America or even before Mrs. Columbus looked under the cabbage plant and discovered baby Chris wrapped in a copy of the Summerland Review, (the new inside the news), this event took place.

The giants had cause for worry. The moon had deviated from its course, and came much nearer to the earth than it does today. Once a month when it was full, it swung so near this planet that it appeared to fill the entire sky. The situation was so serious that the Giant of Giant's Head called his council into session to work out a solution to this perplexing problem.

It was decided that the mechanism which controlled the path of the moon through the heavens had got out of order. Someone must make a trip to the moon, adjust the machinery, and make the world safe for giants. But the main problem was to arrive at the scene of the trouble, for a jump from the earth to the moon was impossible even for a giant.

On the summit of Giant's Head was an immense yew tree, the only one of its kind in the realm. As the wood of this tree had unusual springiness, the Giant conceived the plan of using the tree as a catapult to throw a giant across the intervening space. "I myself will be the one to go," said the Giant, "for I have what it takes."

The power of fifty giants was needed to pull the top of the tree down close to the ground. Then it was fastened in this position, ready to shoot a living projectile into space.

April 1st was chosen as the day of departure, that being the Giant's birthday. As he did not know what food conditions would be on the moon, he prepared a dozen dressed deer to take along. He had a healthy appetite and, whether he met friend or foe upon arrival, he did not wish to lack his vitamins.

The left eyebrow of the Man in the Moon seemed to be an area of dense underbrush, so that was chosen as the landing place.

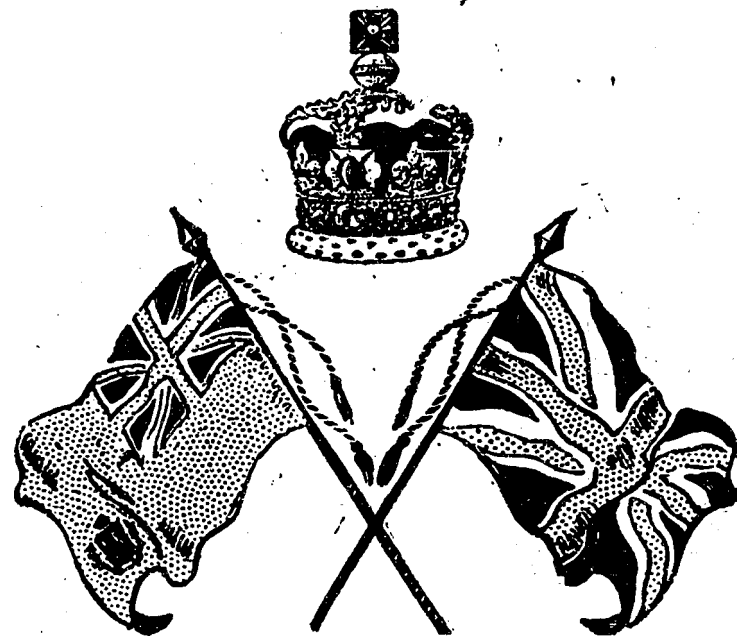

The giants, large and small, gathered in large numbers for the take-off to wish the traveller good luck and happy landings. The evening of the first of April was clear, and just when the moon reached its nearest point to earth, the giant was aimed and fired.

Now let the Giant's own words tell the story: "At first I was dazed as I plummeted through space. I found I was travelling head first so I swung my feet into the lead. The Man in the Moon appeared to leer at me but that was soon forgotten in my efforts to steer myself to the soft spot that had been selected. I was going too fast to circle the field, which is considered proper procedure, but plunged into a mass of ferns which stood forty feet high. It was softer than my bed of furs in the cave under the Head."

The Giant found the moon people to be mere pigmies, only ten feet tall and very timid. They treated him with reverence, conducted him to their power house, and pointed out the defective machinery that had caused all the trouble.

It took nearly a month to make repairs and train the moon mechanics in the technique of making any necessary future adjustments.

Then when the moon and earth were near again, the Giant made a tremendous leap which carried him until the pull of earth's gravity drew him back home. The moon mechanics, at that exact mo-

Canada's Radio Belongs To People And Takes No Government Grant, Stresses Ken Caple To Rotarians

"What do people think of Canadian radio?" That is the question I am asking in my short speaking tour of the interior," Mr. Kenneth Caple, former principal of the Summerland high school and now CBC regional director for B.C. declared to members of the Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday evening. Mr. Caple also addressed the UBC Alumni Association on Thursday evening and visited many friends of former years.

"I am surprised how few people hear Canadian radio," he declared, in emphasizing that Canada does not have government radio. In reviewing the steps taken to promote radio in Canada, he referred to Sir John Aird's report of 1929, which was adopted in its entirety and formed the pattern of the radio system of today.

Three Features

This report was patterned on three main features:

1. The air belongs to the people.
2. This public domain should be controlled by a public utilities commission.

3. All radio stations should belong to a commission controlled by a board of governors, appointed without salary.

Consideration should also be given private stations, this report stated, in a compromise between the methods adopted by Great Britain and the United States, to take care of small areas not covered by the bigger CBC stations.

This system was inaugurated in 1932 and in 1936 the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation came into being, controlled by a board of governors appointed from all parts of Canada to set the policy.

A radio committee is also appointed by parliament each year to hear suggestions and complaints concerning radio in Canada and pass them on to the House of Commons.

No Grant Taken

The CBC takes no grant from parliament and is dependent on the $2.50 radio licence and revenue from advertising, Mr. Caple explained. If the CBC accepted a government grant then it would not be free. The CBC is responsible to the people of Canada.

Regarding programs, "our job is to bring to the Canadian people good radio programs," he continued, stressing the difficulties encountered when residing next door to a country as rich as the United States. A tremendous amount of money is expended by US firms in radio costs, as half-hour shows cost from $10,000 to $20,000 each.

"We can't compete in Canada because we haven't that kind of money, so we bring you the best of the U.S. programs, which also bring us in a good revenue from advertising."

Mr. Caple explained that, as Canada's population is spread out over a narrow strip of territory throughout its breadth telegraph rentals play a big part in the cost of transmitting programs to all the population.

Complete Network

By 1950, when CBR in Vancouver is boosted to 50,000 watts, the CBC will have a network of stations from the Atlantic to the Pacific operating on the Trans-Canada network, with "basic" stations such as CKOV assisting to cover areas not readily covered by the more powerful central stations.

The Dominion network has only one basic station owned by the CBC but is assisted by privately-owned stations which assist in initiating programs. It is hoped that in time this second network will also stretch right across the nation.

Mr. Caple pointed out that travel in Canada is more north and south whereas the trend should be east and west to build up a stronger nation, and that is what the CBC is attempting to do.

Jobs for Artists

The speaker also stressed the growing importance of Canada's artists and how they are gaining in recognition throughout the continent. Good musicians can obtain employment at any time in CBC studios and they are making a "good living" right now.

Diversification of programs is the aim of the CBC, with the idea of pleasing minority groups with each program rather than attempting to please a large section of the people on each program.

Controversial issues are not sold

Subdivision of Sargeant Property Advances Rapidly

Considerable progress has been made this spring in the development of the Sargeant subdivision on Jones Flat, the municipal council was informed last week when applications for domestic water and electric light were considered.

Twelve new prospective residents of this subdivision are seeking domestic water connections while eight have reached the stage of development where they can apply for electric light connections.

Cost of delivering domestic water to the twelve properties is estimated by Water Foreman Kercher at $1,947. With the municipal allowance of $144 for each property, the balance required to be paid by the prospective users would be $1,825 each.

There would be no cost to the property holders to supply electricity as it would come under the $110 allowance, council was informed.

The twelve applicants for domestic water are: F. J. Down, A. Robert, Joe Buzko, Kasper L. Bolen, two lots, R. E. Amos, E. Dietrich, A. H. Evers, K. McKenzie, F. J. Dietrich and H. F. Sargeant, two lots.

time on the CBC network but if there is sufficient national interest then both sides are given the opportunity to acquaint the public with the subject under discussion, Mr. Caple concluded.

Dr. R. C. Palmer introduced Mr. Caple to the Rotary club audience.

WANTS GARDEN WATER

Canon F. V. Harrison waited on the Summerland council on April 27 seeking a second water connection for the Anglican Garden of Remembrance on the church grounds. Water Foreman E. Kercher will consider the application and recommend a suitable means of obtaining this water.

Wants Irrigation Ditch Removed

D. M. Wright approached the council on April 27 seeking reconsideration on his 1947 application for removal of the irrigation ditch which cuts off a portion of his orchard property.

Mr. Wright stated that because of this flume about 1 1/2 acres of his land cannot be planted, and there is another quarter-acre rendered useless in another portion of his property.

Cost of removing the ditch and placing it on the road allowance has been estimated at $1,200. The municipality has an established right-of-way for this flume through the Wright property, obtained from a previous owner.

Mr. Kercher declared it would cost as much to flume the ditch as to remove it and place it on the road allowance.

The council informed Mr. Wright it would consider the subject more fully at a later date and tentatively decided to offer to split the cost on a fifty-fifty basis. The council realizes that it does not have to move the ditch, from a legal standpoint, but also expressed appreciation of Mr. Wright's case.

- Served as Administrator, Fresh Fruits & Vegetables, with Wartime Prices & Trade Board, at Ottawa 4 years
- Served as Member of Advisory Committee to Federal Dept. of Agriculture ... 5 years
- Served as Member of Advisory Committee Soldiers' Settlement Boards;
- Represented B.C. Fruit & Vegetable industry at Imperial Conference, Ottawa, 1932

E. J. CHAMBERS did not accept the LIBERAL nomination merely to gratify a personal ambition; he acceded to the wishes of many growers and others who urged that he give YALE—"The Gem constituency of Canada" the benefit of his knowledge, wide acquaintance and experience at this time.

The Mackenzie King Government did a fine job in wartime and is successfully meeting Canada's after-war problems. YALE COULD SERVE NO GOOD PURPOSE BY ELECTING AN OPPOSITION MEMBER, particularly in this By-election. Do not let the uncertain conditions of today suggest the wisdom of supporting the government?

Not Changing Course
 "We are not changing our course from the original plans," explained Councillor Atkinson. "If the ratepayers will endorse the plans, then we can have roller skating and toilets in the big building."

"Otherwise, if the citizens do not want the community hall, then we will go ahead with the rest rooms as originally planned and forget the roller skating."

Mr. E. R. Butler, parks committee treasurer, informed the meeting that a total of $16,931.70 had been collected in cash and another $110 worth of supplies donated, for a total of $17,041.70.

More than $2,000 worth of supplies are on hand, plus a cash balance of $4,716.21.

Park Facilities

Mr. C. J. Bleasdale, chairman of the athletic park subcommittee, detailed the various sections of his project which had been completed. Between five and six acres of land had been levelled at a cost of $1,052.72, concrete dressing rooms and dugouts built, a covered grandstand erected, toilet facilities and showers placed in the dressing rooms, the infield seeded to lawn grass and the outfield seeded to drought-resistant grass and pipe laid for the sprinkling system.

Estimated total cost of this construction has been settled at $6,476.90, he declared.

Mr. E. H. Bennett, talking on the park-playground, stated the estimated cost of hockey rink improvements and the dressing room was $1,750 and to date the amount spent was $1,646, with another $80 to be expended. Of this total, the lights for the rink had taken half the cost. Capital expenditure on the rink amounted to $102 and operating expenses were $105.91, not including wages.

Shrubs had cost $132, seed $117, for two-thirds of the park, a power lawn mower for use on both parks, $396; cement curb on the north side, $96.50; sprinkler system, $500; wages, up to March, $568; estimate for wages for the balance of the year, $1,000, including $400 for the athletic park.

Summer Plans

This summer, Mr. Bennett's committee intends to sow the lawn grass, install a checkerboard and a flagpole, transfer the Cenotaph from its present site to the Living Memorial park and have the names of those who fell in the 1939-45 war inscribed, install play apparatus for the youngsters at a cost of about $500, and lay a tile drain on the south side of the property.

To date, some $5,600 has been spent and another $2,100 will complete the immediate projects for a total of $7,700.

In original estimates, the rest rooms had been valued at $2,350 and the skating floor, $1,050. The idea of a timber trellis on the north side had been dropped and because of sanitation difficulties, lack of pipe and need of constant supervision, the wading pool plan had been shelved for the time being.

"In our plan of a community hall we are suggesting a building covering the needs of the community not covered by the school building program," Mr. Bennett explained. This hall would not interfere with the school plan of a gymnasium and auditorium in conjunction with the proposed high school.

In discussing the community hall, Mr. Bennett stated his committee had obtained estimates of cost amounting to $17,100 and had added another five percent for incidentals. Since that time, an outside estimate from a reputable contractor, had been obtained and figured at $17,950.

"For a good many years Summerland has needed a good hall and Bennett considered.

Mr. Bennett also advised that a municipal committee or parks board should be set up in the future to administer these park projects.

Eric Tait Is Re-elected To Helm Of Co-op

The twenty-fifth annual report of the directors of the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Assn. was presented to the annual meeting at the IOOF hall on Tuesday, April 27, marking the completion of one of the most successful years in the history of the association.

President Eric M. Tait was returned as a director for a two-year term, along with J. Y. Towgood, while directors for one year are Dr. D. V. Fisher, F. R. Ganzveld and Colin McKenzie, the latter being the only new appointee.

At a subsequent directors' meeting, Mr. Tait was re-elected president and Mr. Towgood vice-president. Appointments of Miss B. M. Bristow as secretary-treasurer and George Washington as manager were re-affirmed by the directors.

President Tait, in reporting for the directors to the annual meeting commented on the successful season just passed which indicated that the local co-op had obtained one of the lowest packing charges in the valley industry.

Cannery Sale

Finalizing of the sale of the cannery to the Cardiff Co. Ltd. was one of the highlights of the year, which has placed the co-operative in a much stronger financial position than ever before. R. G. Rutherford, Kelowna auditor stated. The co-op has always been in a sound financial position but it is now in a better position than ever, he declared.

Claims charged against the co-operative association for condition of fruit on arrival only amounted to $960.55, it was stated.

President Tait remarked on the higher packing costs, as it was found that materials showed a steady rise and labor cost increased 20 percent. In the face of these rising expenditures, the estimated packing cost was raised from 60 cents to 72 cents. However, a rebate of 11 cents on apples, pears and crabapples and 5½ cents on stone fruits was allowed shipping members.

This meant that the packing charge on apples was 61 cents per box over last year's crop, the directors reported.

Field Service

The president also remarked on the thorough field service available to co-op members last year and stated that "considerable credit for satisfactory delivery of fruit in good shipping condition tions of the commission that this information be provided, Channon Snow stressed.

Mr. W. Snow was chairman of an important conference at Harrison when the B.C. Sportsmen's Zones Council was formed. Mr. Eastman, who retired as president of the Interior association, was named the first president of this council.

This council will act as an assisting body to the game commission in urging conservation measures on the provincial government.

It was stated at Harrison that ducks on the Pacific flyway are not being overshot as they are on the prairie and eastern Canada routes. Investigation of rumors that ducks are being slaughtered in Mexico have been proved false.

More havens for ducks, such as Vasseaux lake in the Okanagan, are being sought by the provincial zones.

Investigations of the moose situation show that more animals are dying from starvation and from predators than are being killed by hunters, as lack of winter range in some areas is becoming serious. Only fifteen percent of the U.S. hunters in B.C. last year obtained a moose.

Need Hunters

Reports at Harrison revealed that the State of Washington did not have any success when bounties on predators were increased. Game authorities in that state report more success from government-employed hunters being sent to various sections to kill coyotes, wolves, etc.

Only one duck season for this section of the interior will be allowed and the season will be the same from Kamloops to the border. Harrison officials informed the Summerland delegates. It is considered that a split duck season will be possible this fall.

Education of school pupils in conservation of wild life is being urged on the department of education at Victoria, Mr. Snow concluded.

should go to Mr. Ernie Famchon, your fieldman."

In the cannery operation, a net profit of $20,764.59 was disclosed at the end of February after depreciation and interest on building loan had been deducted.

Growers discussed for a time a proposed pension plan for the co-op employees but final decision on this subject was left with the directors.

Before the conclusion, W. R. Powell, a past president, moved a vote of confidence in the board of directors, management and staff for their operations of the past year.

W.I. Rally at Rutland Hears Mrs. S. E. Gummow

Eighteen communities were represented when 102 members of the Women's Institutes from Valley points gathered in the Community hall at Rutland on Thursday, April 29, for the W.I. rally of the South Okanagan and Similkameen districts.

Mrs. Gordon Ritchie was the official Summerland delegate to the rally, and with her went nine other Summerland members of the W.I. to spend a heartening day hearing of the excellent work being done by groups of women in other parts of B.C.

The highlight of the day's program was the report made by Mrs. S. E. Gummow, superintendent of B.C. Women's Institutes, upon her attendance in Amsterdam at the convention of the Associated Country Women of the World. She told the gathering of her personal impressions of Holland in a most interesting talk.

Other reports were given by Mrs. J. H. East of Keremeos who is a director on the provincial board, and who outlined the aims and work of the Institutes, with emphasis upon the large part these groups are playing in community life.

Mrs. M. E. Collas, Summerland's president, spoke upon the subject of "Looking Forward with the W.I.'s", following which Mrs. A. K. Macleod led the group in a discussion period.

Mrs. E. M. Puxton of Okanagan Centre was the presiding officer at this year's rally. That for 1949 will be held in Osoyoos, with Mrs. A. K. Macleod presiding.

Mrs. H. Sharman left on Monday evening's KVR for Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kopp are the parents of a daughter who arrived at Summerland hospital on Tuesday, May 4.

Dr. R. C. Palmer, Dr. J. C. Wilcox and Dr. D. V. Fisher motored to Kelowna on Tuesday to attend a better fruit meeting there.

To honor Miss Eleanor Stein, whose marriage to Mr. Dean Hart will take place on May 8, a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Adam Stein, aunt of the prospective bride. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Stein was her daughter, Mrs. A. Wallbank. A group of 16 friends gathered to pay tribute to the bride-to-be, and watch her open the many lovely gifts which were presented in a gaily-decorated box, designed to match the "bride's chair" the hostesses had prepared in pink and blue streamers.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Penketh arrived home on Tuesday, May 4, after a ten-day holiday in Vancouver.

A group of Summerland residents will motor to Wenatchee on Saturday to attend a Masonic meeting there. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Cousins are planning to attend, along with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Butler and daughter Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bissett, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. N. Dutton and daughter Doreen.

Mr. Bruce Haskins returned home on Wednesday, April 28. The elder son of Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Haskins, he has been attending college in Brandon, Manitoba.

At a well-attended congregational meeting in St. Andrew's United church on Thursday evening last, the members considered several plans for the construction of a greatly-needed church hall. No definite decision was reached, and a further meeting will be called after a canvass of the congregation.

Leaving Penticton airport on Thursday last, Miss Eleanor Temple is off for England, where she will spend several months visiting relatives. She made the entire trip by airlines.

Four Summerland members of the Penticton band journeyed with that group to perform at Wenatchee for the Apple Blossom festival there. They were Mr. John and Mr. Charles Betuzzi, Mr. James Keane and Mr. C. H. Witherspoon.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Smythe at the Summerland hospital on Saturday, April 24.

It was "old home week" for Mr. and Mrs. T. Wallace Boothe last weekend, when Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker and Mrs. Reginald Morrow of Vancouver, but formerly of Drayton, Ontario, visited, in company with Mrs. George Fotheringham of Drayton. On Monday last Mrs. Boothe and the visitors motored up to Vernon to visit with two more ex-Draytonians, Mrs. Ross Hughes and Mrs. A. French. The party bade farewell to their host and hostess on Tuesday.

Mr. G. H. Doherty has received word of the arrival of a grandson, with the birth on April 11 of a son to Mr. and Mrs. F. Gibeault at Montreal. Mrs. Gibeault is the former Florence Doherty of Summerland.

Mrs. H. Pares and Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony have been asked to pour at the enrollment tea being sponsored by the Girl Guide's association on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Earle Wilson and Mrs. Fred Schumann are convening for the affair, which is an important one to the newly-formed association.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore and Capt. J. E. Jenkinson will leave on Monday, May 10 to attend the ten-day United Church conference in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Nield are accepting congratulations upon the arrival of Charles Dennis Nield, who was born at Summerland hospital on May 2.

When Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Avery of Oliver visited Mrs. Avery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Angus last weekend, they brought with them two Vancouver friends, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rolls.

Mr. Clayton Darke paid a flying trip home to visit his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Darke last weekend. He returned to Vancouver on Monday, May 3.

The Art Dunsdon's twin daughters Dorothy and Marion celebrated their 7th birthday on April 30 when they entertained 10 little friends at the home of their parents. Those invited were Iana Steuart, Linda Beeman, Lorraine Schweitzer, Bonnie Ganzeyeld, Maureen Hansen, Johanna Bergstrom, Elaine Dunsdon, Diane Rumball, Diane Kersey and Jane Lindes.

Major W. R. Tweedy left for Vancouver on April 29.

Mr. Kenneth Steuart arrived home on Tuesday morning following the completion of this year's work at UBC.

Mr. Ken Caple, formerly school principal here, and now regional director of CBC, Vancouver, spent Friday, April 30 renewing acquaintances at the experimental station.

Mr. Edward Arkell, of Melville, Sask., Mrs. E. M. Gore and Mrs. W. J. Sheepwash of Vancouver, came to Summerland last week to attend the funeral of their father, the late J. C. Arkell. Mr. Sheepwash and their daughter Beverly also came from the coast. Mr. Arkell returned to Melville on Wednesday, April 28.

Miss Margaret Cammaert, public health nurse, has returned from Calgary, where she was convalescing following her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gloyn were recent visitors to Summerland en route from Copper Mountain to Salmon Arm for a holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark of Vancouver were visitors to Summerland this week on their return from California. They are returning to their coast home but expect to return here for a portion of the summer months.

Miss Marlan Campbell returned on April 29 from Vancouver, where she has been attending University.

Mrs. D. C. Thompson is a patient this week in the Vernon hospital, where she is recovering from an eye operation. Mr. Thompson is driving to Vernon this weekend to bring her back to her Summerland home.

Mr. David McIntosh arrived on Wednesday from Vancouver to resume his work at the Plant Pathology Laboratory here. Mr. McIntosh will receive his degree in agriculture at the graduation exercises next week at UBC.

Mrs. H. R. McLarty arrived back in Summerland from an extended visit in Ontario on Tuesday, May 4th.

Dr. Maurice Welsh spent the past weekend visiting in Summerland. He returned to Creston, where he is working on "little cherry" disease problems, on Monday.

Coast Nuptials This Week Of Wide Interest

Summerland shares interest with Vancouver in the May 3 wedding of Miss Dorothy Joan Dickson, R.N., a former member of the hospital nursing staff here, and Mr. Reuben Huva, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Huva of West Summerland.

The bride, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Dickson of Vancouver, was given in marriage by her father at the 8 o'clock service in St. Phillips church, Vancouver, with Rev. H. J. Grieg officiating. Traditional white was her choice of a wedding gown in sparkling taffeta with a small train.

A pleasingly sentimental touch was the fact that her full-length dress was made by her mother.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emery on Monday, May 3, at Summerland hospital.

Mr. W. C. W. Fosbery was a visitor to Kamloops for a few days recently, returning to his home on Tuesday, April 27.

Mr. John Hecker left for Vancouver on April 30, returning to Summerland this week.

Going to Vancouver on May 1 to attend the May 3 wedding of Miss Joan Dickson, when she is guest soloist, was Miss June Cook of the hospital nursing staff.

Four hostesses combined to honor bride-elect Miss Eleanor Stein at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. J. Littau on April 22. Mrs. G. Khahlenbach, Mrs. R. Norgren and Mrs. E. Inglis joined forces on that evening, when they invited Mrs. William Stein, Mrs. Gordon Stein, Mrs. L. Wurst, Mrs. S. Wolfe, Mrs. Louis Wolfe, Mrs. G. Taylor, Mrs. Adam Stein, Mrs. E. Wallbank, Mrs. H. Littau, Mrs. J. Prior, Mrs. M. Pilz and Miss Letta Littau.

veil had been worn by the bride's twin sister when she was married a short time ago. The veil itself billowed from beneath a Mary Queen of Scots headdress, and the bridal bouquet was a shower of pink roses with white stocks.

Miss Norah Wright, as the bride's only attendant, wore turquoise taffeta with a headdress of pink carnations, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations with mauve stocks.

Mr. Gary Huva was groomsmen for his brother, while ushers were brothers of the bride, Mr. Frank and Mr. Geoffrey Dickson.

Miss June Cook, another member of Summerland hospital nursing staff, sang during the signing of the register.

When leaving for an extended wedding trip by motor, following a reception at the home of her parents, where Mr. T. A. Lytleton proposed the bridal toast, the bride changed to a green gabardine suit, with brown accessories, and wore a corsage of talisman roses with lily of the valley.

The couple will make their home in West Summerland.

Baptist Parsonage Is Wedding Scene

Rev. F. W. Haskins officiated at the quiet wedding ceremony in the Baptist parsonage on Wednesday, April 28, when Mr. Eduard Krause took as his bride Miss Pearl Tressie Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Leach of Owen Sound, Ontario.

Miss Edith Peck was the bride's only attendant, and Mr. George E. Leach performed groomsmen's duties for Mr. Krause.

Following a small reception at the home of the groom, when Mrs. W. Radomske was hostess in lieu of the bride's mother, the young couple left for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and other coast points. Upon their return they will reside in West Summerland.

Summerland Nisei At U.B.C. Are Quoted In Vancouver Province

Summerland Japanese students attending University of B.C. classes featured prominently in the magazine section of the Vancouver Province of April 24, under the heading of "Japanese Students Happy at UBC... Liked by All." The story, by Dorothy Livesay, tells of Richard Yamabe, of Summerland, "whose friends tease him that he can't stop studying." The story continues:

"Richard explains, smiling, that he had to take his senior matric by mail and it feels good to be able to attend lectures. His interests lie in the Student Christian Movement and these may lead him, he says, into the ministry."

"Two young men of the world for whom English seems to be their mother tongue are Alfred Kita and Katsumi Iwayoshi, both born in Summerland. Alfred was that city's Teen Town Mayor in 1946-47 and as such he was given permission to attend the Teen Town conference in Vancouver, last April.

"All other delegates were billeted in private homes but it was thought advisable to give Alfred accommodation in a hotel.

"I didn't mind that, though," he said, "What I found tough was arriving in Vancouver this fall and trying to get a room to live in. Nobody would have me. It looked as though I'd be sleeping nice and quiet next to the undertaker's! But the university extension department took pity on us and found dormitory space at Acadia camp. That has been a wonderful help."

"Mr. Kita is active in university life, being a member of the Civil Liberties Union and a participant in Canada's bill of rights movement; this would give all citizens the right to vote; and, of course, the right to live wherever they choose. After getting his commerce degree, Mr. Kita plans to specialize in foreign trade. Head office, Vancouver... he hopes."

"Another member of the Civil Liberties Union is K. Iwayoshi, known as 'Kutch' and perhaps the keenest of the lot to be considered an all-out Canadian.

"That's why I wanted to come to UBC rather than to an eastern university. This is the most important place to work for a square deal for our Nisei people."

"Kutch likes to organize, speak and campaign for any minority on the campus.

"I am convinced," he said, "that there is no discrimination whatsoever at this university. All four political groups on the campus have supported resolutions asking that we be given the rights of citizenship."

"That meant, he said, not only the right to work on Crown lands and government projects but the right to vote in the province."

Accompanying Dorothy Livesay's story was a photograph of students discussing civil liberties at the International Relations clubroom on the campus. Included in the pictures are "Kutch" Iwayoshi and Alfred Kita.

ENLARGE BUILDING
The Lakeside Inn in lower town has plans to extend its building by the addition of a kitchen on the north side. However, the plans would extend four feet onto municipal property. The council informed Mrs. L. J. Wignall on April 27 that it would be prepared to give a long-term lease on this four-foot portion to facilitate her improvement plans.

REQUEST SLOW SIGNS
Slow signs will be placed in the Parkdale area, the residents there to pay the cost and the municipality supervising their erection, it was agreed at last week's council session when T. B. Young sought council permission to have such signs placed because of the number of tiny tots who are inclined to run out onto the streets.

Ratepayers' Meeting

luck. But he had always adopted the principle that money should be borrowed for necessities and that one should not borrow for luxuries. Taxes have already jumped up and who knows how far they will go with the school program ahead? he queried.

"God knows we need a community hall but I don't like borrowing to get it," he concluded.

Reeve Johnston reminded Mr. Morrow that 21 years ago, when he first came to Summerland, there was talk of a community hall and there is still nothing done.

"Nobody would like a hall here more than I would, but this tax situation is getting out of hand," worried Mr. V. M. Lockwood. "Where is it going to end?" He suggested that such a hall would only cost $6,000 to $7,000 back in 1936.

"We never had that much money four to five years ago," hastily reminded Mr. W. S. Ritchie.

From then on, the speakers were all in favor of the proposal.

F. W. Schumann, board of trade president, reminded the audience of Kelowna's beautiful park, "a real asset to any community."

"We must realize our possibilities and act now, instead of looking back," he urged. "Thirty years from now you will be wishing we had made a move now."

At this juncture, Mr. W. S. "Scotty" Ritchie moved, quickly seconded by F. W. Schumann, that the meeting request the council to submit the bylaw for the taxpayers.

Councillor Eric Tait gave his listeners a history of events leading up to the formation of the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee, which is composed of representatives of all the leading organizations of the community.

"The committee was asked to organize and develop these two parks to their completion and then hand them over to the municipality as finished projects of which the community could be proud," he explained.

Councillor Atkinson added, in further explanation, that at the ratepayers meeting in 1946, he had stated that when the projects are complete they will be turned over to the council to maintain.

Magistrate H. Sharman declared that the question of the parks maintenance was not the subject under discussion. He believed that boys and girls need some type of recreation and it is a necessity in a place the size of Summerland to have a hall of the nature proposed.

S. J. Feltham, industrial arts teacher, declared the common question among young people is: "Where can we go?" "The young people are our asset. They cost us a lot up to the age of 15 or so and we should be prepared to pay a little interest on our investment."

Mrs. M. E. Collas visualized the hall becoming a better financial risk than most persons considered.

Mr. C. V. Nesbitt spoke in commendation of the efforts of the parks committee. "A community hall is a crying need. This plan strikes me as just about the right thing for Summerland, and I don't think it will be a noose around the town's neck."

At this stage, ballots were passed around and the vote recorded as 66 for and 14 against.

Before conclusion of the meeting, Reeve Johnston stated that the council might consider issuing the debentures for this hall in small enough denominations that they could be sold locally. He declared that three persons in the hall had already promised to take debentures amounting to $10,000, half the necessary amount to be raised.

A majority of the audience favored this method of selling the debentures.

Mr. W. Snow and Mr. George Stoll were visitors last week to Harrison Hot Springs to attend the annual provincial conference of fish and game club representatives.

POUND COSTS PAID
Final episode in the releasing of horses from the municipal pound in Prairie Valley came in the municipal council meeting on April 27 when that body authorized the payment of $39 expenses in connection with the re-capture and bringing back to Summerland of these animals. Indians are suspected of opening the pound gates and allowing the horses to roam free. The animals sold for $103 but the extra expense involved was borne by the municipality.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT
Kew Kita's request for road improvement in his district was referred by the council to the roads department at last week's council session. It was agreed that the road in question should be repaired. Mr. Kita claimed there has been no maintenance work done on this stretch since 1946.

New Hospital Bill Provides Coverage For All Residents

British Columbia's new hospital bill will provide hospital coverage to all residents of the province for a maximum of $33 a year per family and will give public ward beds, operating and case room facilities, X-ray, laboratory, diagnostic and therapeutic procedures, anaesthetics and approved drugs and dressings, according to the bill which was introduced in the legislature this week by Hon. G. S. Pearson, minister of health and welfare.

The act will provide:
1. Hospitalization for the whole of British Columbia's population on a compulsory basis with the exceptions of Christian Scientists and persons in remote areas where the provision of hospital services are impracticable.

2. Repayable advances for construction to be made to hospitals;
3. Coverage of the actual cost of hospitalization for beneficiaries, and the operating costs and depreciation of hospitals.

FIRE PROTECTION

Appointment of Water Foreman E. Kercher, and Constable T. Thorsteinson as fire protection officers for this district was authorized by the council last week. The main purpose of this move is for protection of headwaters area, Municipal Clerk Nixon explained.

Slips By Pitcher Cost Kelowna Cubs Opener At Crescent Beach Diamond

Summerland's ball club travels to Kamloops this Sunday to meet probably the toughest opposition of the season, but tucked away in the bag is a victory from the first game of the league season registered at Crescent Beach before a large crowd when the Kelowna Cubs were turned back by a 2-0 count, last Sunday afternoon.

For the opening game, the local players turned in a good day in the field, while big Bill Evans was back on the mound once more mowing down seven opposing batters and showing good control as ever.

Although the game lacked some pep, it was a good exhibition for the opener considering the backward spring and the lack of practice weather.

Wildness on the part of Mit Koga, the Cubs' hurler, placed the winning runs on the paths and paved the way for last Sunday's victory. Two batters hit by pitched balls and another who was given a pass to first scored the three runs for Summerland.

Few Hits Allowed

In the hickory department, Summerland did not show to advantage, only obtaining three bingles in eight innings, while the opposing Japanese from Kelowna gathered in four. Both pitchers struck out seven men each.

The break in the game came in the second frame when playing-coach George Clark was hit by a pitched ball, was sacrificed to second by Vanderburgh and galloped home with the first and winning run when Thompson connected for a neat single.

Another run was added in the third when McCargar was hit by a pitched ball. He was bunted down to second by Harry Braddick, went to third on Walsh's high fly and coasted home when S. Koga booted one at third.

Final scoring of the game came in the fifth when Walsh scored on George Taylor's smash to deep centre. Walsh had drawn a walk to get on the paths.

One Man to Third

Only real threat to the goose egg came in the first frame when Koga Morio was safe on Vanderburgh's miscue, stole second and third and died there as two Kelowna batters went down by the strike-out route. Harry Braddick nipped another slight rally in the fourth when he pulled off a double-play unassisted.

Some switches were seen in the local infield this season, Jackie Walsh having moved over from the hot corner to shortstop. Al McCargar is back in the game after a year's absence, while Harry Braddick is in a Summerland outfit for the first time and is covering the second sack.

There were plenty of subs riding the bench last Sunday, Jack

GUIDE NEWS

On Friday, April 30, the regular Guide meeting was held at the Parish hall. We made a horeshoe and we all said the Guide law, promise and prayer. We then sang "God Save the King." A quiz was held in which all participated.

During the past weeks the captain, Mrs. Ken Macintosh, and Guiders, Mrs. Bruce Blagborne, Mrs. Don Blagborne, Miss P. Hill, Miss E. Theed, Miss I. Wilson, Miss G. Atkinson and Miss J. Marshall have all helped us to learn the requirements for our "Tenderfoot tests". The girls have passed this test now and we are all ready for enrolment.

The enrollment will be held at the Parish hall at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, May 7. Mothers have all been asked to come. Everyone is welcome and tea will be served.

A game was played, followed by campfire. The fees were collected for uniforms. They have not yet arrived but we hope to have them in two weeks. As time was short we had time for only one song. We closed by singing "Taps".

CAN OBTAIN WATER

Council on April 27 informed George Pennington that he could obtain a domestic water connection if he is willing to pay $184.35 as the net cost of extending the service to his property. About 425 feet of three-quarter inch pipe will have to be replaced with inch pipe. Mr. Pennington agreed to pay this sum.

CANCER DRIVE RESPONSE NOT TOO GOOD HERE

Only $180 of the $500 objective of the Canadian Cancer fund has been subscribed to date, Mrs. E. M. Hookham, campaign chairwoman, informed The Review yesterday afternoon.

This drive is to obtain funds to carry on the educational campaign to acquaint more persons with the early symptoms of cancer, so that more cures can be affected, and to assist the cancer clinic at Vancouver, which is now housed in its new building.

Cancer is Canada's No. 2 killer but if early diagnosis can be obtained then the dread disease can be cured. It is to this end that the Canadian Cancer Society is endeavoring to raise funds throughout Canada to pay for literature and films to show the facts about cancer.

Local donations can be left at the store of Butler & Walden or at the municipal office, Mrs. Hookham and other members of the cancer drive committee are hopeful that the citizens of the community will respond generously so that the Summerland quota can be reached.

It had been reported earlier that the local objective was $300 but Mrs. Hookham states that $500 is the allotment for this district.

Local School Athletes Win Track Prizes

Although Summerland schools did not send down enough competitors to figure in the aggregate championships, two first prizes, five seconds and a number of thirds were brought home last Saturday at the big invitational track meet sponsored in Penticton by the Kinsmen Club.

Kelowna was winner of the grand aggregate, amassing 105 points to Penticton's 103.

Jack Dunham, Teen Town mayor, captured first prize in the 18 and under broad jump when he leaped 18 feet 9 inches to best all other competitors.

In the 16 and under high jump, Ruth Kliz brought to Summerland another first prize with her leap of four feet five inches.

Three second prizes in the broad jump were captured by Dennis Johnson, of Trout Creek area, Dennis entered in the senior, intermediate and junior jumps, ages being 18 and under, 16 and under and 14 and under respectively. Dennis is just fourteen years old.

Her best jump was 12 feet nine inches. Another second prize was won by Earle Bryden, who was Summerland's entry in the 75 yard dash for boys 14 and under.

Evelyn Heichert captured second prize for the girls' softball throw, 16 and under.

Basil Thornthwaite captured third place in the 16 and under broad jump. Denny Hack took third in the 16 and under high jump with a leap of 5 feet 3 inches. Shirley Wilson was third in the 16 and under, 65-yard hurdles.

In the relay race for girls 16 and under, the Summerland team placed third, members being Barbara Metters, Margaret Jomori, Dennis Johnson and Ceone Eyre. The warmup preliminary to the big annual Okanagan Valley school track meet to be held this year on May 15 at Penticton.

Summerland athletes are training hard for this meet and expect to make an even better showing than on Saturday last.

Sometime in the past two weeks, a thief stole the stove used for cooking purposes in the Peach Orchard park. Councillor Eric Tait informed the council on April 27. B. C. Police have been informed of the theft and Constable Thorsteinson has been given details of the stove.

R. R. Chew, Old Time Resident Laid To Rest

Another pioneer resident of Summerland passed away on Saturday, May 1, in the person of Richard Rafton Chew, aged 87, who came to Summerland from Manitoba in 1910.

Born in England, the late Mr. Chew came to Canada sixty years ago, at the age of 23, and settled on a farm in Manitoba. There he remained until 1910, when he and his family moved to Summerland to take up fruit ranching in Prairie Valley.

The late Mr. Chew maintained an active interest in his fruit orchard until ten years ago, when he retired. He had been in good health until the turn of the year. His condition gradually worsened until his passing on last Saturday.

Besides his wife at home here, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Ralph Blewett, and two step-daughters, Mrs. Dewar of West Vancouver and Mrs. H. Thornthwaite, in Summerland; also seven grandchildren.

On Wednesday, May 5, the funeral service was held from St. Stephen's Anglican church in Summerland, at 2 o'clock with Rev. Canon F. V. Harrison officiating.

Interment was in the Anglican cemetery with the following acting as pallbearers: Messrs. Horace Read, George Doherty, Francis Steuart, Archie Rutherford, Herbert Dunham and Alex Smith.

Summerland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

New Trap Is Installed By Skeet Club

"All the logs are in place and the next step will be to roof the building, which will be undertaken next week-end," G. A. Laidlaw, secretary of the West Summerland Skeet Club declared this week in discussing the improvements being undertaken by this energetic group at the top of Prairie Valley.

A new clubhouse is being built by the members, work being undertaken at the weekend and on Wednesdays.

Last Sunday, the new trap purchased by the club was installed and is now ready for weekly shoots. This is a decided acquisition to the club facilities, members state.

The cabin measures 14 feet by 25 feet, with a kitchen and veranda in addition.

On Sunday, April 25, approximately twenty members of the local club went to Penticton to participate in the inauguration of a new trap there. Frank Pollock, Lloyd Day, Ken Blagborne and Gerry Laidlaw captured prizes at Penticton.

Only Chlorinated Water is Pure Says Health Official

Stressing that "no water is pure" unless given proper treatment, Mr. Harper, Kelowna, sanitarian for the Okanagan Valley Health unit gave the Rotary Club of Summerland a short history of medical science progress in the treatment of water and precautions necessary to safeguard the health of the people.

"West Summerland has a water supply which, at times, is not entirely safe," declared Mr. Harper, who gave encouragement to the municipal council in its plan to install a chlorination system here this year.

"Chlorine won't hurt you and your system will only take in about one teaspoon of chlorine in a year," he declared, stressing that if properly applied chlorine will not alter the taste or the color of water.

He warned that for the first week or so a "fishy" taste will be discerned because of the introduction of chlorine, but after that it will not be noticed. Cost of chlorinating water is about forty cents to one million gallons of water.

"Chlorinated water is the only safe water," he concluded.

Better Fruit Group Looks To 1948 Crop

KELOWNA—The Better Fruit committee met last Thursday to discuss with the executive of the BCFGA and the Federated Shippers certain plans for the handling of the 1948 apple crop.

It is understood that most of the discussion centred around the harvesting, packing and storing of McIntosh, Jonathans and Delicious. The objective in all these discussions is to have available at the proper time the maximum quantity of the highest quality fruit in order to take full advantage of any possible outlet that might arise.

The experience of the growers and packers in the neighboring State of Washington in 1947 clearly shows the necessity of maintaining or improving the program laid down by the Better Fruit Committee for the 1948 crop. It is understood that the plans as discussed at Thursday's meeting will be further discussed at the general meeting of the Federated Shippers late in May.

Many packinghouse managers pointed out that any program involving rapid packing with consequent shortening of the work season would adversely affect those workers depending on the fruit industry for their livelihood.

Lewis and Rempel are also on order. These boys must complete their tasks to get their badges before the camporee. Remember camporee on May 21, 22 and 23. Have you made your back board yet?

The troop welcomed three recruits, Faasse, Mitchell and Birch. The point scores now stand at: Hawks 886, Beavers 784, Eagles 661 and Buffaloes 606.

Notices: Meeting, May 7, in school gym. Duty patrol, Buffaloes, must see that staves are on hand for meeting. From now on shorts and socks must be worn.

Living Memorial Athletic Park Opened As Big Crowd Admires Beauty

Nestled in a natural "bowl", Summerland's newest acquisition, the Living Memorial athletic park, sparked in its newness on Monday afternoon, May 24, Empire Day, as more than a thousand persons crowded the newly-constructed grandstands and lolled on the sidelines to witness the official opening and athletic events.

Blessed with a perfect summer day after weeks of rain, the new park provided a perfect setting for a gala performance. Spectators caught glimpses of green hillsides rolling up gently on all sides, and covered with fruit trees, while in the distance the mountain peaks, some still snow-laden added further beauty to the scene.

Reeve Reid A. Johnston officially opened Summerland's new athletic park at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. This park was made possible through voluntary donations made to the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee canvass for funds in the fall of 1946.

On Monday, the park was opened in the memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the two world wars. The sun shone brightly all afternoon for the first time in many weeks.

New Grader Purchase Given Council Okay

After months of negotiation, the municipal council has made an offer to Pollock Motors Ltd. to purchase an Allis-Chalmers AD3 road maintainer at a net price of $10,050. This payment will be made from funds raised by money by-law early this year to purchase road equipment.

Cost of the new grader is $14,550, fob Vancouver, while the local firm has made an offer of $4,500 as trade-in on the old grader.

A Caterpillar No. 12 model, which is the type recommended by the local works department, arrived in Vancouver this week and was offered at a net cost of $8,970. It is a 90 hp model, but was manufactured in 1941 and no guarantee could be given, even after overhauling.

"We have an 11-year-old machine now. I'm not in favor of purchasing a 7-year-old machine," declared Councillor Bentley, stating that if a new Caterpillar could be obtained he would favor it over the A/C model.

"I agree," stated Reeve Johnston, "I'd rather have a new machine for the difference in price. Then we would have a guarantee of condition."

The AD3 model quoted some weeks ago cannot be delivered for several months now, but the AD3 machine can be delivered in six weeks, the council was informed on Tuesday.

Perfect Setting

On every side persons could be heard remarking on the grandeur of the park, how well it has been equipped and what a perfect setting it made on this first summer day of the year.

The grass infield has come along well, while the outfield is making rapid strides. Despite the terrific rainfall on Sunday and on previous days, all but two small depressions had been drained.

The grandstands were filled to capacity, while other spectators reclined in the shade of the trees along the banks or rested in their cars which lined the field.

In welcoming the gathering to the official opening, Mr. C. J. Bleasdale, who heads the athletic park subcommittee, asked if his audience did not agree that their generous donations to the Memorial Parks fund had not provided the community with an athletic park of which they could be justly proud.

"I can assure you," he continued, "that work on our sister project in town, the children's playground, is now moving along in high gear."

He gave special thanks to Mr. Bob Smith, of Garnet Valley, who undertook the construction work at the park. "His hard work and fine co-operation are sincerely appreciated." He gave us more than full value for our money and much of the credit for what you see here today must go to him."

Mr. Bleasdale expressed his pleasure on the appearance of the new Summerland band which he said it was fitting that it should which edged out Summerland in the championship last year. "Princeton should be to compete against Summerland in the opening game."

He also thanked the Summerland baseball club for providing its services so that the committee might raise a fund which to carry out its maintenance.

Ladies' Five-Pin Bowling Team Wins Valley Honors

Summerland No. 2 ladies' team won the five-pin bowling championship of the Okanagan last week, rolling up an impressive total of 5,825 pins in six games, to defeat Kelowna and Penticton No. 1 teams in the playoffs.

Kelowna was second with 5,623 pins and Penticton was third with a total of 5,549 pins.

In the men's playoffs, Penticton No. 1 team won the valley honors with a total of 6,592 pins, defeating Kelowna No. 1 and 2 teams and Penticton No. 2 team.

The winning Summerland ladies' team was composed of Mrs. Muriel Walker, Miss Shirley Taylor, Miss May Inaba, Miss Rhoda Ritchie and Miss Mildred Kirkpatrick, Miss Nan Thornthwaite and Miss Audrey Grant, who played with the team during the regular league season were not present for the playoffs.

Mrs. June Lamey, of Summerland No. 1 ladies' team, had already won the high average honors for Summerland and she went on to annex the high average championship of the Okanagan with a score of 206.

Joe Miltenberger of Kelowna, with a score of 242, took the high average for the men's valley honors.

Election Campaign At Peak - Voting Monday

The big election campaign is rapidly drawing to a close. This afternoon, M. J. Caldwell, national CCF leader speaks at Ellison hall, along with O. L. Jones, CCF candidate. Also, this afternoon, the Progressive-Conservatives are holding a tea, at the IOOF hall, at which Mrs. T. J. Rolston, MLA, will speak.

Final political rally will be held Saturday night at the Legion hall when John Bracken national P-C leader, Howard Green MP and W. A. C. Bennett, the candidate, will be the speakers.

There are no more rallies scheduled for the Liberal ranks here.

Election day is Monday, May 31 and the hours of voting are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., daylight saving time, it is understood.

Polling divisions 97, Summerland East and 102, Summerland Southeast have voting headquarters at the United church hall, lower town, Summerland.

All other polling divisions, 98 Summerland Suburban, 99 North, 100 South and 101 West are located in the IOOF hall, West Summerland.

Tory Policy Would Develop Canada Into Powerful Country--Diefenbaker

Claiming that the record of the Liberal administration is the first issue in this election campaign, J. G. Diefenbaker, MP for Lake Centre, Sask., and one of the most powerful speakers in the Progressive-Conservative party ranks, painted a picture to the Tory rally in the Legion hall last Thursday evening of a Canada broadened by a strong immigration policy, and of a nation which could look forward to a period of continued progress and prosperity.

This popular speaker declared that the P-C policy, as laid down by Leader John Bracken can supply Canada with the incentive to forge ahead. He lamented that 32,000 native Canadians left Canada last year because of lack of development in this country.

He urged that Canada place gold on the free market and that Canada be placed in the position to welcome millions of young people from other countries, especially the British Isles.

Urges Support

"Send a man to replace Grote Stirling who has the capability and the capacity to represent you. Mr. Bennett has been fearless and fair in his criticisms. He has always tried for the greatest contribution to his country. That is my idea of your candidate," the speaker declared.

At the outset, Mr. Diefenbaker spoke shortly on the PFRA, urging that it be made available to B.C. on the same basis as to the prairies. He derided the B.C. Liberal members at Ottawa for their support of the freight rate increases.

Dealing with the Abbott budget brought down last week, Mr. Diefenbaker declared that a vote for the Liberal candidate "says you agree with the tax position."

He referred to the rising cost of living and pointed out that the prices committee has been sitting for four months and hasn't reported, even though "the longer it has sat the higher the prices."

John Bracken says: "I would immediately take proceedings against those who are unfair," quoted Mr. Diefenbaker, stressing that Great Britain and United States have taken necessary action.

"We in Canada have lost the picture (of great development) and the idealism which raises people upwards. We cannot go on being a small ribbon of population stretched across the North American continent. We cannot leave the vast north country undeveloped."

"There is a dream and a challenge in this campaign. Today we of the Progressive Conservatives have a policy which lifts and challenges and brings to 1948 a great and national policy giving the lift we had in the days of Confederation. Then we had a national policy."

"We missed the bus after the first war. We won't get a second chance if we miss after this war with Communism on the march."

Mr. Diefenbaker advocated a bill of rights, which his party has been urging for years, to provide a Canadian nationality free from any racial discrimination.

"I have advocated over the years that we must bring to Canadians everywhere equality under the law, freedom of speech, religion and association, which is denied in certain provinces to some people."

"The present government won't give you a bill of rights. When we raised the question Mr. King only smiled and Mr. Ilsley raised alibis."

Bill of Rights

The P-C party has adopted as its policy the enactment of a bill of rights and the submission of the provinces' powers to the courts for clarification, Mr. Diefenbaker continued.

He went on to instance the 107,000 orders-in-council issued by the King administration since 1938, and referred to taxes imposed by "radio speech". Before concluding, he declared that the Communists never supported his party, the Tories never asked for such support nor do they want it now.

He warned that Communism in Canada today is trying to infiltrate into CCF ranks as it did in the Balkans and Czechoslovakia and quoted an LPP member in Ontario recently returned from Moscow.

"Send Bennett to Ottawa to make his contribution to Canada, to help make Canada the place older people have dreamed of and younger people are in fear will never be achieved," he concluded.

Fear For Dykes As Trout Creek Rises

Trout Creek was rising again this morning and had reached the highest points this week at prestime. Water is touching the underpart of the bridge across the highway, and is starting to threaten to engulf the bridge to the experimental station. Early this morning the creek broke through sandbagging at Stevenson's property. All available assistance is being requested by property owners in the vicinity of the creek to help keep the temporary dykes intact. If the waters continue to rise, another row of sandbags, at least, will be necessary to keep the creek in its channel.

Hundreds of sand bags are lining Trout Creek from the bridge across Okanagan highway to the creek mouth, as residents endeavor to stem the flood waters and keep the flow within the channel.

On Sunday, the waters rose with increasing rapidity and debris including large tree trunks and logs came hurtling down, threatening to take out the highway bridge. However, the bridge was held and due to the valiant efforts of a large crew of residents of Trout Creek Point and other parts of the municipality, the channel has been kept comparatively free.

Dynamite blasts could be heard on several occasions on Sunday and Monday as debris was loosened in the creek bed. One big blast hurled logs right over Mrs. H. A. Solly's house but only damaged the telephone wires.

The waters, at their height, surrounded some houses near the creek but receded and damage has been kept to a minimum.

The C. Wilson orchard just north of Trout Creek on the highway has lost a large number of fruit trees and has probably been hardest hit of any property.

Some residents of the tourist camp at the bridge vacated the premises on Sunday, fearing that the volunteer workers would not be able to hold in the creek.

On Wednesday, the government gravel loading platform and a large quantity of gravel from the hillside stretching up to the experimental station went into the creek. Workers concentrated their efforts on trying to stop this flow of gravel and sand, as it is filling up the creek bed.

Yesterday afternoon the level of the creek was as high as ever in the past few days but the quantity of water had lessened. The creek bed has been rising with the debris pouring down.

Water Foreman, E. Kercher reported to the council on Tuesday that he has no fears regarding the safety of the dams serving Summerland.

Reports had been circulated that Garnet Valley dam was sandbagged two feet deep but there was no truth to this rumor, he stated. Sandbags were being used to stop erosion where the water is diverted into the irrigation ditch once the season commences.

Mr. Kercher reported that a Peachland man had gone into the hills last Friday and stated that there were a few signs of the snow starting to move then.

It will be impossible to get into headwaters of Trout Creek for another week but Mr. Kercher did not believe there is any cause for worry. No. 4 and Crescent dams were empty, he stated. His main desire is to clear the ditch from No. 4 to No. 3 dam to allow water over the latter's spillway.

Reeve Johnston urged that a municipal man be allowed to assist in the protective work at Trout Creek. Legally the municipality has no responsibility but morally the council should assist, he felt.

It was decided that a municipal truck should be loaned and every assistance possible be rendered the

Election For Fruit Board Surprise Move

Five candidates were named for the B.C. Fruit Board at the annual meeting of the delegates in Kelowna, Wednesday, May 26th, and, for the first time in years, an election will be necessary. The nominees were G. A. Barrat, P. E. French and C. J. Huddleston, the members for the last several years, A. G. DesBrisay and Colin Macdonald, both of Penticton.

Ballot forms, with a circular giving voting details, will be sent out to the 3,700 registered growers in the tree fruit area. Rutherford, Bazett and Co., the board's auditors were reappointed. The ballots will be sent to them for counting.

Stirling Re-elected

Directors of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association in annual session, following their meeting as B.C. Fruit Board delegates, re-elected J. R. J. Stirling, as president at large with J. C. Campbell, Salmon Arm for the main line; W. T. Cameron, Vernon, for North Okanagan; Ivor J. Newman, Glenmore, for Central Okanagan; George A. Lundy, Oliver, for South Okanagan and John S. Hall, Erickson, for Kootenay and Creston.

B.C. Tree Fruits
Delegates recommended the following names for the board of governors of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited: Main Line, J. C. Hanna, Salmon Arm; North Okanagan, T. F. Hill, Coldstream, and T. D. Shaw-MacLaren, Oyama; Central Okanagan, L. E. Marshall, Glenmore, and L. G. Butler, East Kelowna; South Okanagan, W. R. Powell, Summerland, W. H. Morris, Penticton, and Albert Millar, Oliver; Kootenay and Creston, John S. Hall, Erickson.

Fruit Processors

Names of the following growers were recommended as directors of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd.: A. W. Gray, Oyama; G. A. Barrat, Kelowna; L. G. Butler, East Kelowna; W. R. Powell, Summerland; A. G. DesBrisay, Penticton; Colin Macdonald, Penticton; Louis Deighton, Oliver.

President Stirling announced that the executive had selected Penticton as the site of the Golden Jubilee convention in January, 1949.

Annual Spring Fair Voted Great Success As Three Thousand Throng To See Exhibits At Two-Day Event

It was a great success. That seemed to be the opinion of some three thousand persons who thronged the Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd. building in West Summerland on Friday and Saturday, May 21 and 22, to witness the annual Spring Fair of the Summerland Board of Trade.

Paid attendance figures for the two days amounted to 2,400 persons, while at least another six hundred exhibitors, entertainers and officials were there. The show attracted persons from all parts of the Okanagan and the exhibition of merchandise, appliances and services was voted an outstanding feature.

The 1948 show was a compact one, with all but three exhibits housed in one room. This added to the effectiveness of the display. A great deal of time and effort went into the arranging of the displays and on every hand was evidence of artistry and unique showmanship.

Queen Crowning
Main highlight was the crowning of the 1948 Queen, Eileen Birtles by retiring Queen Ruth Fleming.

The second storey of the cold storage building was the scene of this affair, witnessed by some 600 persons on Friday evening. The stage was attractively decorated with a background of purple and white drapes and profuse with colored flowers, purple and white lilacs being predominant.

F. W. Schumann, board of trade president commenced proceedings on Friday evening with a speech of welcome from the board of trade. He complimented Len Hill and his Spring Fair committee on their excellent job and passed out special thanks to Mr. Clair Elsey, Occidental manager, Bob Bleasdale and members of the Occidental staff, for their untiring efforts on behalf of the show.

Reeve Reid Johnston extended greetings from the municipal council: "I am sure the citizens as a whole realize what an asset this project is to our community," declared His Worship. "You will agree that our local merchants and exhibitors from outside points have gone all out to show their wares and make this fair a success."

Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Schumann were also present on the platform and following the opening ceremonies they were presented with bouquets by the board vice-president, J. E. O'Mahony.

As soon as His Worship concluded his remarks, a fanfare sounded and the royal procession came slowly up the aisle.

Alfred Kita Dies Suddenly At Vancouver

A scant few weeks after he was featured in the press throughout the province as one of the outstanding young Nisei at the University of British Columbia, Alfred Mitsugi Kita's family here received the tragic word that he had passed away at the Vancouver General hospital on May 30 following a tonsil operation.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kow Kita of Summerland.

Alfred, who was born here on September 7, 1927, was an active member of the teen-age groups in Summerland, and was mayor of Teen Town during the 1946-47 term. This was his first year at university, where he continued to show his interest in young people's activities and made a notable name for himself as a forward-looking, clear-thinking youth.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore, assisted by Rev. Y. Yoshiko of Kelowna conducted the funeral services in English and Japanese from St. Andrew's United church on Tuesday at 3 p.m.

Funeral bearers were all classmates of Alfred's, being Bruce Hawkins, George Pettley, Kutoh Imayoshi, Richard Yamabe, Lawrence Hookham and James Mayne. Interment was at Peach Orchard cemetery.

Due to lack of space, the report of Monday's ball game is held over to next week.

Dr. James Marshall Tops Poll In Election Of Four School Trustees

Dr. James Marshall, chief entomologist in the Okanagan, headed the poll for the newly-formed school board when the Summerland members were selected for the balance of 1948 on Saturday.

Dr. Marshall polled 237 votes at the municipal hall and the basement of the Lakeside United church, the two polling booths.

Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh was next in line with 228, F. G. Dodwell had 197 and C. J. Bleasdale 181. Defeated candidate in the election was Dr. W. H. B. Munn, with 161 votes.

On Saturday afternoon, twelve persons from the rural area surrounding Summerland and included in School District No. 77 (Summerland) attended a meeting at the local schools, presided over by Inspector J. N. Burnett.

This meeting selected Aubrey King as the rural representative on the school board for the balance of 1948, thus making up the five-man board.

First session of this board will be held tonight at the local high school, when first consideration will be the appointment of a board chairman.

Inspector Burnett states that the next step will be consideration of the proposed bylaw to renovate the elementary school and purchase the Kelley property as a site for the proposed junior-senior high school.

Estimates have now been obtained and the provincial department of education has approved the plan to raise $103,200 for this program.

The department has agreed to finance half this cost on a grant basis, leaving $51,600 to be raised by the school district.

This would mean that the taxpayers of Summerland would be asked to approve a money bylaw for 98.7 percent of the district's half, or $48,840.20. The rural portion will be asked to raise $5,280.80.

Both these amounts do not include the costs of submitting the bylaw, which must be borne in addition.

It is anticipated that Inspector Burnett will urge the new school board to take action immediately towards implementing the school renovation program.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Last week I was privileged to attend a meeting of the Okanagan Plant Nutrition committee. This meeting was called to edit the manuscript for a bulletin dealing with soil management for tree fruits and truck crops in the southern interior of British Columbia.

At times the discussion was quite heated. However, the net result should be a bulletin which is accurate from the scientific standpoint and at the same time of great practical value to fruit and vegetable growers.

The following paragraphs give some idea of the trend of the discussion:

Ben Hoy, reading from the manuscript:
"The glacial till is the ancestral material of British Columbia soils. The till itself and its water sorted end products, the gravelly and sandy terraces, silts, glaciolacustrine clays and the gravels, sands, silts, clays on postglacial fans and floodplains, give existing soils their texture and related chemical composition. The climatic and biological forces that finally create soils from raw parent materials and distinguish them from one another have given the resulting soil their present characteristics."

Bob Murray—
"Whoever wrote that must have been trying to show how many big words he could use and how complicated he could make the subject."

C. C. Kelley—
"I wrote the paragraph and it is accurate from the scientific standpoint."

Jack Wilcox—
"I agree with Kelley that the paragraph gives a good scientific description of the factors which entered into the formation of our soils."

Alex Watt—
"I think what our growers really want is the simplest possible conception of how our soils were formed. I don't know the meaning of the word "glaciolacustrine" and I doubt whether this word would convey any useful information to most growers.

Dick Palmer—
"I agree with Alex, and I suggest that we describe the history of soil formation in the Okanagan and adjacent areas in the following words:
"The soils of the southern interior of British Columbia have been formed from parent materials transported by glaciers in the ice age. These materials were later sorted by stream action into bench lands and deltas composed of gravel, sand, silt and clay. The chemical composition of these soils is determined by the composition of the original rocks from which they were formed. These soils have also been influenced by climatic conditions of temperature and rainfall which have determined to a large extent their present color, organic matter content and fertility."

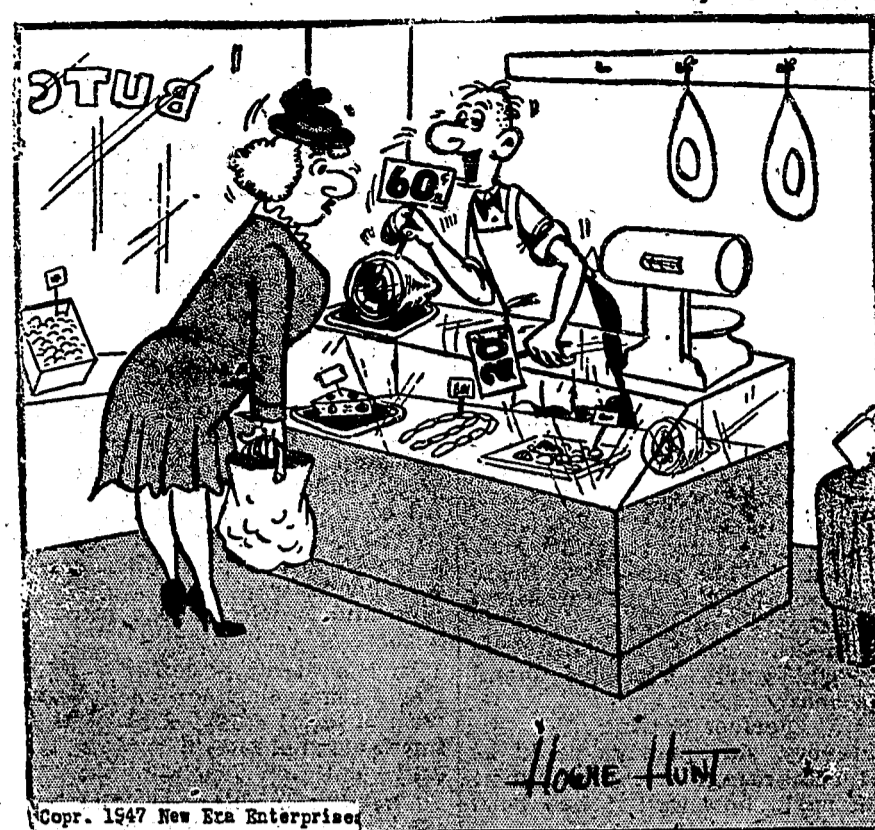

Ben Hoy—
"Now we're really getting somewhere! It looks as if we shall have to rewrite this bulletin replacing the long, technical terms with simple words which mean the same thing."

Kelley—
"I suggest that we leave in the long words and include a glossary at the end of the bulletin explaining their meanings. In this way we will gradually educate growers to understand the language of science."

Bob Murray—
"I think we should leave the business of scientific education to the universities and concentrate our attention on acquainting growers with the fertilizers and cover crops which they should use, and the best methods of using them."

IN OUR TIME

By Howie Hunt

"Good news, Mrs. Jenkins—this came off the ration list today."

Expect Vote This Summer For By-election

Owing to the resignation of Mr. W. A. C. Bennett from the provincial legislature to contest the federal by-election, the South Okanagan provincial seat is now vacant and it will have to be filled within the next six months.

In preparation for that event, Mr. Geo. M. Phillips, registrar-general of voters for the province was in Kelowna last week making arrangements for a complete revision of the lists and on Monday, May 17, started twelve deputy registrars on the road under the direct supervision of Mr. E. Ross Oatman, the local registrar.

All electors in the constituency are to be registered on new forms excepting those who have been placed on the lists within the last few months. After the work is completed all registrations on old forms will be cancelled.

Mr. W. Homer McLean and Mr. Harvey Wright have been appointed as deputy registrars and will take applications for the provincial voters list of all persons eligible who were not registered on the new cards.

Donald Miller and C. C. Duquemin are completing the list for Peachland and surrounding area.

While the government is arranging for this registration, under the Act it is under no obligation to do so and it is the duty of every elector to see that his name is on the list and if he is missed by a deputy registrar, he should communicate with the local registrar at once. Mr. Oatman points out that the list recently compiled for the Dominion by-election in Yale has no relation whatever to the provincial list in South Okanagan and electors must register again if they wish to vote in latter contest which will be held sometime during the summer.

LEAVES FOR EAST

Mr. F. E. Atkinson left on Saturday, May 15, by plane for Ottawa to attend the national committee meeting of fruit and vegetable products association. Mr. Atkinson is a continuous member of this committee, which deals with the problems besetting food growers on a national basis. Following the committee meetings in the capital city, Mr. Atkinson will go on to New Brunswick to advise that provincial government on freezing and processing, particularly with regard to strawberries. He will return home on June 2.

History Of Yale Riding Since 1872 Provided For Local Voters

Next Monday, Yale voters will gather at the polls to decide their choice as member in succession to Hon. Grote Stirling, who retired last October. It may be as well to provide a background to the pattern which has been woven through the years.

When British Columbia entered Confederation, Yale extended from New Westminster to the Alberta boundary and Cariboo lay to the north of it, up to the northern boundary of the province.

J. G. Thompson was the first member for Yale, a Conservative who was returned in 1872, 1874 and 1878. Four years later, another Conservative, James Reid, took over representation and he was re-elected in 1887. In 1891, F. S. Barnard, a Conservative, was elected as Yale member.

In 1893 Yale and Cariboo were joined together and the first member under the new setup elected that year was a Liberal, H. S. Bostock. In 1900, the Liberals continued their reign by electing W. A. Gallier.

Kootenay area was cut off from Yale-Cariboo and the following year, 1904, another Liberal, Duncan Ross, was the member.

Four years later, in 1908, the Conservatives came back into the picture and elected Martin Burrell. He was re-elected in 1911 by a majority nearly one thousand more than in his first election.

The year the Great War commenced Yale was separated from Yale-Cariboo and the Conservative member was elevated to a cabinet position. Hon. Martin Burrell was returned by acclamation in 1917 but in 1920 he was forced to resign because of the injuries he had received in 1916 when fire destroyed the parliament buildings.

In that by-election, John McKelvie, the Union government candidate, was returned. The following year, McKelvie, now a Conservative, went back into office, which he held until his death in 1924.

In that year, the reign of Grote Stirling, Conservative from Kelowna, commenced. Against lone opponents he was re-elected in 1925 with a majority of 2,703, again in 1926 with 3,887, and in 1930, as a member of the R. B. Bennett government, with 3,589.

In 1935 the CCF appeared to make the contest a three-way one, and Hon. Grote Stirling's majority was cut to 1,678. In 1940, he was returned once more with 1,171 votes, in excess of his nearest candidate. In the dominion election of 1945 two years before ill health forced him to resign his hold on Yale, Hon. Mr. Stirling received a majority of 1,912 votes with five candidates in the field.

The Liberal Candidate's Statement on Dumping Duty Most Emphatically Refuted

THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE has asserted that the King Government has never refused to apply the Dumping Duty when Okanagan Growers requested it.

This Statement Is Not In Accordance With The Facts

Here is what the Liberal Candidate said at his Summerland meeting as reported in last week's Penticton Herald:

On the matter of dump duties he said the impression has been spread that the government has not been sympathetic. With that he said he could not agree. He had been going to Ottawa many years and, "we got as good a hearing as when the Conservatives were in power. We would have been in a bad position if we had not had that."

SINCE 1925 THERE HAS NOT BEEN A YEAR WHEN THE DUMP DUTY WAS NOT APPLIED WHEN ASKED FOR."

The Hon. Grote Stirling's Speeches Over The Years Record These Facts:

Every year the growers asked for it and it was refused. When the Conservative Party came into power in July, 1920, the necessary Orders in Council were immediately passed, and the growers were protected from dumping in that shipping season.

The Liberal Party returned to power in the Fall of 1920, but the Orders in Council were not withdrawn, so the growers were protected against dumping in the shipping season of 1927.

That winter the Free Trade section of the Liberal Party gained the upper hand, and on March 20th, 1928, the Orders in Council were cancelled.

Having tasted reasonable protection from dumping during two shipping seasons, the growers were roused, and an important conference took place in Ottawa, on April 27th, 1928, some 500 farmers met the Cabinet in the railway Committee Room, and pleaded unsuccessfully with the Government to restore the Orders in Council, and reimpose the dumping duty.

The Liberal Candidate headed the Okanagan delegation and spoke first.

The dumping duty was not made effective again until August 26th, 1930, when the Conservative Government was re-elected.

In fairness to all concerned, we felt these indisputable facts should be given to the electors before they go to the polls on Monday.

Trail Caravan To Stop Here

On June 2 a caravan of public relations and press representatives will leave Wenatchee by bus to make a tour of the Okanagan and main line points in the interests of the Okanagan-Cariboo-Alaska highway association, Mr. R. G. Rutherford, Kelowna, announces.

The first evening will be spent in Kelowna, with lunch at Kamloops the following day, then through Salmon Arm to Revelstoke where the second overnight stop will take place.

On June 4, the party will leave Revelstoke, lunch at Vernon and will stop at Kelowna and Summerland before proceeding on to Penticton for another night's visit. On June 5, the caravan will visit Omak before returning to Wenatchee.

It is expected that 25 will start out from Wenatchee but there will be many others join the caravan along the way.

REMOVE FOUNTAIN

Foreman E. Kercher was instructed by the council on Tuesday to remove the old water fountain in front of the new fish hatchery. The latter concern will install a standpipe and tap, it was stated.

Boys Outnumber Girls at Hospital

The boys were in the majority at Summerland hospital arrivals during the past two weeks, outnumbering the female of the species four to two.

A boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Valentino Polesello on Friday, May 14, while Mr. and Mrs. William Hampson's brand new son put in his appearance on Saturday, May 15. On Sunday, May 16 Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Adams' baby boy arrived. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Marchand became the parents of a girl on Monday, May 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stein's little daughter arrived on May 22, and a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Dunham on May 22nd.

CHANGE ROADWAY

Summerland Hospital Society intends to change the road on its property to lead out back of the nurses' home and has requested that the work be supervised by the municipal road foreman. On Tuesday, a delegation consisting of Dr. J. C. Wilcox and J. E. Jenkinson waited on the council and obtained the latter's assurance that the request would be given consideration.

Miss Rosalie Smith entertained on the evening of May 19 in honor of Miss Joyce Pohlmann, whose marriage to Mr. R. L. Keeley took place here last Friday night.

Life-savings Are Returned

Calling herself the "luckiest woman in the world", MRS. MINNIE V. NERHOOD of Altoona, Pa., who lost her purse containing $8,743, her life savings, on a street car in Los Angeles recently, solemnly watches a police officer count the hoard. The purse and contents were found by Oscar Van Patten of Coldwater, Michigan, who is spending a vacation with his son in Los Angeles. Van Patten took the find to police headquarters and several days went by before Mrs. Nerhood could be located. What reward came his way hasn't been revealed.

WANT PATHWAY

A delegation of William Armstrong and Louis Burnell waited on the council last Tuesday and requested that a curb and pathway be constructed in front of their properties opposite the Occidental building, so that vehicles would not be allowed to park against their lot lines and block their driveways.

SPLIT COST

D. M. Wright has agreed to the council proposition of a 50-50 deal in removing the municipal ditch from his property in Prairie Valley, provided the cost does not exceed $1,200 in total. The work cannot be undertaken until after this irrigation season.

SCOUT NEWS

This weekend the troop assembled for the trip to the International camping ground at a site three miles north of Okanagan Falls on the east side of the lake. There were two hundred and fifty-one boys at camp.

In all, 29 Summerland boys enjoyed a camp set up in the rain but were lucky enough to have the sun to break camp. In the Scout games on Saturday afternoon, although not doing so well as last year, one patrol came third.

The camping award were ribbons.

The meeting next week will be in the school gym. Duty patrol: "Eagles".

Living Memorial

Fine Tribute
Next speaker was Mr. Ross McLachlan, Canadian Legion branch vice-president: "We feel that such an addition to the recreational facilities of Summerland would have been their (those who died in two wars) choice should we wish to dedicate something in their memory. It is a fine tribute to our comrades who died in the service of their country."

"What a fine setting you have here; and by the kind generosity of the citizens of Summerland you have one of the finest athletic fields in the interior of B.C.," declared Reeve Reid Johnston in his opening remarks.

"This Empire Day will go down in history for Summerland."
"Mr. Bleasdale, as chairman of the athletic park subcommittee and his committee are to be congratulated on the wonderful work they have accomplished. They have worked not only for weeks but months, getting this rock-pile whipped into splendid shape. I bring you greetings and best of luck from the municipal council; we have watched with interest the splendid work you have accomplished."

Support Bylaw
"On instructions from the ratepayers of Summerland, a bylaw will soon be submitted for their approval for the spending of $20,000 on a new community hall in connection with your park program. Speaking to you as your reeve and a ratepayer, I am strongly in favor of this bylaw and I hope it carries. A community hall for Summerland will make your younger generation of today better citizens of tomorrow.

"With these few remarks I declare Summerland's Living Memorial athletic park officially opened."

The Summerland band, which provided stirring music during the afternoon and received many plaudits for a fine performance, then played O Canada.

After a short pause as the players took their positions, the reeve prepared to throw the first ball. After a couple of preliminary warm-ups, he pitched to Ross McLachlan, with "Chuck" Bleasdale waving the hickory stick.

The first ball was a clean miss for Mr. Bleasdale, but he got a second try, which he promptly hit into right field, almost decapitating a young enthusiast with a camera who was lying on the grass.

Only disappointing local feature of the day was the ball game, which Princeton won by a 12-4 count.

Prior to the opening ceremonies, the board of trade races for the youngsters found many enthusiasts. Gordon Beggs and an energetic committee operated races for youngsters from four and under, to 18 and under.

Ladies of the Legion W.A. handled the refreshment booth, which did a "land office" business all day.

The memorial parks committee states that 585 adults paid admission to the grounds during the afternoon, apart from officials and bandmen and the young people, who were admitted free of charge.

Elderly Resident Of Summerland for Thirty Years Dies

A long, active and worthy life came to a close on Wednesday, May 26, when Miss Jane Knox McCurdy passed away after a short illness at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Campbell here.

Miss McCurdy, who was in her 89th year, was born and grew up near Lennoxville, Quebec, the second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William McCurdy.

For 36 years prior to her retirement to Summerland to live with Mr. and Mrs. Campbell she had been a well known school teacher in Sherbrook and Compton counties in Quebec, receiving through the Inspector of schools several bonuses for efficient work done in schools. She came to Summerland in 1917, and continued active in all good causes up until her last illness. Intensely patriotic, interested in every worthy cause, she ever tried to mould the young lives she came in contact with to recognition and appreciation of higher and nobler ideals.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore will conduct the funeral service to be held this afternoon at 2:30 from St. Andrew's United church.

Besides her sister Mrs. Campbell here, Miss McCurdy leaves to mourn her loss one brother, Mr. W. H. McCurdy of Riverside, California, and a sister-in-law Mrs. M. E. McCurdy, Lennoxville, Que. She also leaves a number of nieces and nephews, among whom are Mrs. S. G. Rand and Mrs. W. S. Ritchie of Summerland.

Power Shortage Fails To Stop Fair Fashion Show

In spite of a power shortage occasioned by the sudden electric storm on Friday afternoon last, Hill's and Linnea's fashion show went on—if not quite on schedule, still complete and uncut from its original plan.

As the afternoon event for the Spring Fair opening day at the Occidental building, it drew a good sized crowd of interested spectators, who good-naturedly sat for half an hour "singing in the dark" to Mr. Fred Schumann's lead, and ably assisted by Mrs. Lola Day at the piano. The impromptu concert did nothing to spoil the mood of the audience, who greeted the lovely garments shown by light of hurricane lamps with enthusiasm.

Hill's and Linnea's departure from the more formal type of fashion show, in setting the background as an exclusive ladies' wear shop where models showed the garments to prospective "customers", proved to be a welcome one, and Mrs. Lorne Perry as "saleslady" brought forth some spontaneous laughs from the audience with her apologies for the poor lighting in her "shop".

Customer, Miss Carol Thorburn saw a number of beautiful suits before the lights went out, and carried on no whit perturbed by the interruption to her shopping well as dinner gowns, giving herself and the audience a further chance to see some really lovely summer silks and "slubs", as the shops call so many of the better quality smartly-tailored dresses that have the further advantage of being washable.

Both Mrs. Solly and Mrs. Givins wanted to see "something in a larger size" for hypothetical mother and house guest, and later Miss Thorburn rushed back in to see dancing dresses. The dimmed lights did nothing to detract from the sheer beauty of the lovely made-for-moonlight gowns the models wore for her approval.

As a finale Mrs. Perry asked Miss Thorburn if she would not like to see the new shipment of fur coats she had just received for fall wear—and like any other woman in the house, Miss Thorburn said she always liked to look at furs. The nine models came out one by one for final grouping, each luxuriating in a fur coat widely varied as to style but all beautiful and different in the use made of the lovely skins.

Mrs. N. O. Solly was also in search of an afternoon dress, as

An Open Letter to the Electors of Yale
from
W. A. C. BENNETT
Progressive Conservative Candidate for Yale

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:
On Monday next, May 31st, you will go to the polls to elect a man to represent you in the House of Commons.
To succeed Mr. Stirling at Ottawa will be a high honor. I aspire to do just that, and feel confident that the electors of this constituency, after a review of the records of the respective parties and a careful scrutiny of the policies being advanced by all candidates, will give me their unqualified support. Irrespective of party, and free from all prejudice, it is the general consensus of opinion that the New National Policy of the Progressive Conservative Party meets the needs of this Province and this Riding better than the policies advocated by either of the other parties. It is therefore to your self-interest to endorse these policies by your ballot and at the same time make known your protest to the Liberal Government which has disregarded and neglected you for many years.
For seven years it was my privilege and pleasure to serve in the Legislature at Victoria. I did so as energetically, as capably, and conscientiously as I could. My record is before you.
I am deeply grateful for the assistance which all of you have so generously given me in my efforts to do something worthwhile in a tangible way for all the people of this entire district. Men and women of good will and of all shades of political opinion have joined with me in ever increasing numbers to make possible the carrying out of our common task—the task of keeping the entire constituency in the forefront of the Province and seeing that every possible benefit came to its people.
What we have all done together in the past in a Provincial way, we can continue to do Federally in the future.
I am asking you to give me your support so that working together, we can make even greater progress and secure still greater development for British Columbia and by so doing aid in making Canada a great nation in our time.
From the platform, in the press, on the radio and by direct mail you have been fully informed of our progressive and constructive program. Believing in such a New National Policy, I earnestly and confidently appeal for your support, and when elected, pledge myself to serve you conscientiously and to the best of my ability.
Yours faithfully,
W. A. C. BENNETT

They will leave on Friday, and will stay on through the three days, attending the Eucharistic congress to be held there on Sunday.

Miss Nan Thornthwaite and Miss Dorothy MacDonald returned last week from their trip to Bermuda, where they accompanied Miss Joyce Hutchinson, R.N., who has resumed her nursing duties. The two travellers report a splendid vacation.

Lovely Floral Decorations For May Nuptials

Four attendants preceded Miss Edith Joyce Pohlmann down the aisle of beautifully-decorated St. Andrew's church on Friday, May 21, when she became the bride of Mr. Ronald Leslie Keeley, son of Mrs. K. Keeley of Vancouver.

The bride's sister, Mrs. H. A. McCargar, was matron of honor, gowned in dainty pale green nylon chiffon in the princess style, while the senior bridesmaid, Miss Rosalie Smith wore a similarly-styled frock of yellow nylon chiffon. Both senior attendants carried white shower bouquets of white carnations with purple lilacs, and wore white chapel veils for head-dresses.

The junior bridesmaid who is a niece of the groom, Miss Norma Churchill, and her little companion flower girl Miss Cheryl McCargar, niece of the bride, wore fairylike floor-length Kate Greenaway frocks in yellow nylon chiffon, with matching organdy sunbonnets trimmed with purple lilac. The two little girls carried nosegays of the purple bloom.

Miss Pohlmann, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. H. A. McCargar, was beautifully bridal in floating white chiffon set off with sparkling silver sequins on the long full sleeves and on the crushed girdle spanning her waist. Her floor-length veil was caught to her hair by a net headdress, and her bouquet was a colorful contrast to the all-white bridal costume in a shower of deep red roses and cool green fern.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore performed the 7:30 o'clock double ring ceremony, when the groom was supported by the bride's brother, Mr. Gordon Pohlmann, and ushers were Messrs. Jim Dunsdon and George Pohlmann. Mr. Percy Thornber played the wedding music, and Mrs. Alma Fudge sang "Always" during the signing of the register.

At the reception following in the home of Mr. T. H. Ramsay in West Summerland, the mothers of the principals received their guests, Mrs. Pohlmann in a spring-colored printed silk jersey gown set off with black and white accessories and Mrs. Keeley in black and white silk with black accessories. Both ladies wore corsages of carnations.

Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh proposed the toast to the bride before the cutting of the four-tiered wedding cake which centred the pink and white bride's table; and groomsmen Gordon Pohlmann responded to the toast to the bridesmaids from Mr. Herb Pohlmann.

Several telegrams of congratulations were read to the assembled guests, including one from Mrs. Al Campbell of Alberta, sister of the bride, and whose birthday had been chosen for her sister's nuptials.

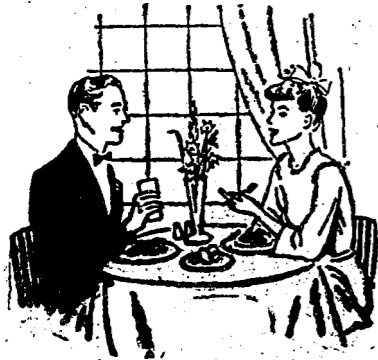

Among the out-of-town guests were, in addition to Mrs. K. Keeley of Vancouver, Mrs. A. Churchill, Miss Rosemary Churchill, Miss Nerine Hayes and Miss Norma Churchill, all of North Vancouver, and Mrs. Iddins and family of Kelowna.

When the couple left for their honeymoon to coast points, Mrs. Keeley changed her bridal frock for a pin-stripe suit in summer tan, with which she wore dark brown accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Upon their return from the Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Keeley will reside in Penticton.

Mr. L. E. Thompson, head of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation act, from Regina, and Mr. F. McCallum of Kamloops, who is water engineer with the PFRA, were at the experimental station on Wednesday, May 26, when they consulted with Dr. R. C. Palmer on the prospective survey of the Penticton west bench area, as well as the Westbank and Kamloops areas for soldier settlement.

Orchards Are In Fine Shape; Many Blossoms

"After a mild winter with better than average snowfall, there has been a slow breakup followed by a rainy, protracted spring; however, soil moisture is exceptionally good and orchards are in excellent shape", states the report for Summerland-Westbank-Peachland area contained in the first issue of the horticultural news letter of the provincial department of agriculture.

This letter is issued annually during the summer months from the Vernon office of the department.

It notes that in this area a great many orchards are being converted to sprinkler irrigation while most orchards will not need irrigation until June.

"Young trees planted this year have had every chance for success and are doing well," the report continues.

"Apricots of all varieties have had a very good bloom and the set is good with no drop so far (May 19.) Cherries have had a very cool, wet pollinating period. However, the bloom has been plentiful and there has been good bee activity during the few warm half-days that have occurred.

"One or two blocks in the district have been caught by the frost but, to date, the bulk of the crop appears safe. A very heavy peach bloom is just past its peak. Pears are now in full bloom and are making a splendid showing. Wag-ners are now at full bloom with McIntosh just coming out. There is a good showing of blossom on most apple trees.

"At this date, the blossom in the district is about sixteen days behind the 1947 season.

"The weather, so far, has been unfavorable for the development of orchard pests. A few red mite have hatched out but their numbers are very much below the level reached by them at this date last year. Weather has been quite unfavorable for the spread of apple powdery mildew."

Although frost in the latter part of April caused heavy losses in transplanted tomatoes and cucumbers, in the Oliver-Osoyoos area, it did no material damage to the tree fruit blossoms, which were quite heavy.

Nearly 400 acres of new land have been put under irrigation in the southern end of the Okanagan, most of the new cultivation being in the Osoyoos area. Ground crops and orchard interplanted with ground crops give a greatly increased acreage of vegetables.

REPAIR HALL ROOF

Repair work has been undertaken by Foreman E. Kercher and his crew on Ellison hall roof and was completed at the first of the week, the council was informed on Tuesday.

Park Greyhound Bus Parallel On Granville

For sixty days' trial, Greyhound buses will be allowed to park parallel on Granville street, a section of the roadway 75 feet in length being set aside for this purpose.

This was a compromise move reached on Tuesday evening when the council met W. E. Armstrong, travelling passenger agent, Calgary, and Bob Lochore, Penticon Greyhound agent. They were accompanied by Steve Coclich who has acquired Mac's Cafe, the Greyhound bus stop.

But the decision was not reached hurriedly as Councillor Eric Tait and Reeve Reid Johnston were the only two council members in favor of allowing parallel parking.

In Opposition

Councillor C. E. Bentley, opposed parallel parking on Granville as it would take up too much of the street. The present bus stop takes up 35 feet and with angle parking for ordinary traffic, 75 feet will be necessary for one bus to move in and out. Only one bus will be allowed on Granville street at one time and the Greyhound management has assured the council this practice will be adhered to.

Councillor Wilson suggested that the buses could park behind Mac's Cafe and that the present Smith's Sports Shop could be used for the bus office.

Reeve Johnston expressed his disapproval of that suggestion, as it would provide a poor approach to West Summerland business district. Mr. Lochore pointed out that trucks would be blocking the alley on many occasions.

"I've maintained right along that there should be parallel parking for the buses," declared Councillor Eric Tait.

Councillor Bentley declared that the bus company should establish its own depot here, but Mr. Lochore replied that there is not enough revenue accruing. Councillor Wilson talked on the traffic hazard when the buses protrude half-way across the street with angle parking.

After considerable discussion, Reeve Johnston suggested a ninety day trial for bus parallel parking. After some time, Councillor Tait moved that this action be taken.

But there was no seconder, despite desultory discussion about the problem. Finally, Councillor Bentley was asked if he would second the motion and he replied with a firm negative.

After another ten minutes, Councillor Wilson consented to the plan if the trial period was cut to sixty days. And that concluded the matter.

Want Two Hours

Earlier in the evening, the retail merchants' association had requested that the council's proposed one hour parking on Granville and Hastings from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on week-days be extended to two hours, but the council remained adamant on one-hour parking.

It was also suggested that ten-minute parking only be allowed in front of the Post Office.

Councillor Wilson declared on several occasions that West Summerland business district has a serious parking problem and that as soon as the lanes can be opened, trucks will not be allowed to park on the principal thoroughfares at all. He stated that shoppers find it extremely difficult to find suitable parking space on these streets at present.

GO TO CONVENTION

Municipal Collector Gordon Smith will be asked to attend the conference of municipal officers to be held in Victoria on June 14 and 15, the council decided Tuesday evening.

CHURCH SERVICE TAKEN BY CLUB

The Women's Service Club of St. Andrew's United church took over the service on Sunday morning May 16 in the absence of the Rev. H. R. Whitmore, who has been attending a church conference in Victoria.

Mrs. Nina McLachlan led the congregation in the responsive reading, Mrs. May Mitchell gave the scripture reading, and Mrs. Kay Dunsdon led in prayer, followed by a solo from Mrs. Mary Whitmore.

The Service Club choir, about thirty ladies, sang as their main anthem "God is a Spirit", and also provided the musical background for one of the "hymn stories", several of which were presented during the usual sermon period. Mrs. Chris Underwood told the story of "The Ninety-and-Nine", and Mrs. Laura Boothe sang the lovely old hymn. Mrs. Marjorie Hill was narrator and Mrs. Marion Baker soloist for the hymn story "Lord I hear of Showers of Blessing", while Miss Carol Thorburn's telling of "Take my Life" was musically echoed by the choir. "There is a Green Hill" was told by Mrs. Hazel Ganzeveld, followed by the hymn sung by choir and congregation together.

Service Club vice-president, Mrs. Jewel Marshall conducted the service, and ushers for the morning were Mrs. Hilda Ward, Mrs. Jessie McKenzie, Mrs. Pearl Lackey and Mrs. Olive Thomas.

Paradise Flat Ruled Out For Agriculture

"The committee feels that the location and soil type of the Paradise Flat area is not suitable for general tree fruit culture and in view of its past history and of its general unsuitability the committee recommends that no further action be taken on the matter."

Such was the report submitted by A. W. Watt, district agriculturalist, who head the agricultural committee of the Summerland Board of Trade, to the latter group at its monthly meeting on Thursday, May 13, in the IOOF hall.

Mr. Watt also headed a similar committee for the Canadian Legion and addressed similar remarks to that body recently.

This report was submitted following a request that an investigation be carried out as to the possibility of further land utilization within the municipal limits.

Committee Findings

The findings of the committee were as follows:

"Excluding a few individual lots the committee found that the only area which still contains a sufficient acreage to warrant investigation is the Paradise Flat area.

"To bring in any appreciable acreage on Paradise Flat the present main ditch will have to be enlarged. It would be difficult to guess at the cost, save to say that the figure might approximate $100,000.

"This fact demands that any scheme proposed would have to be sound enough to convince the municipal council that the expense of servicing the area would be a sound investment.

"The area held by the municipality covers roughly 500 acres. About 100 acres is leased to the Summerland Golf Club. An area of approximately 60 to 80 acres is being undermined by a subterranean stream and is rather rapidly sliding into the main canyon of Trout Creek.

Marginal Land
"Of the remaining acreage, about 200 acres is extremely marginal canyon side-hill, the steepness of which rules it out for orchard purposes or, in fact, any other type of agriculture.

"When these marginal areas are subtracted from the total, only about 200 acres of land remain having topography sufficiently level for orchard use, including the tract leased by the golfers.

"The altitude of most of the tract is 2,000 feet and is relatively distant from the modifying influence of Okanagan Lake, and lies on the north fringe of Trout Creek canyon, which forms a funnel for colder mountain air downwards towards the lake.

"The soil throughout almost the entire area is of a very light, sandy type overlaid with a few inches of brown top-soil. Much of the sub-soil is nothing more than straight building sand.

"It is interesting to note that considerably better soil than that described lies at the foot of the mountain which forms the west boundary of Paradise Flat. Here, a few orchards are producing good crops and some of the trees from the original plantings remain.

Soil Not Suitable

"The committee feels that the soil is not of a type suitable for tree fruits. There are certain definite reasons for this attitude, namely:

1. Although sandy soils are often suited to stone fruit culture, at this altitude and distance from the lake they would be very liable to winter injury.

2. Difficulty of preserving adequate soil moisture once irrigation is turned off would be great, due to the low water-holding capacity of the soil. This would endanger trees in the fall, particularly in years when an early cold snap would penetrate the open soil before snow provided a "covering."

As a conclusion, Mr. Watt's committee dealt with the history of Paradise Flat area, pointing out that at one time this tract was quite heavily planted to fruit trees of all kinds. The area is now bare of trees.

"Due to a combination of several factors, chiefly the light soil and the high altitude, the plant-

Swim Classes Will Be Held This Summer

Swim classes under the sponsorship of the Summerland Board of Trade will be conducted again this summer, the Thursday board meeting at the IOOF hall was informed.

Mel Ducommun, chairman of the swim classes, committee reported that the organization for this big summer event is well underway and registration forms will be available early next month.

Mr. Ducommun also stated that his committee plans to hold the rafts in place by means of belting, so that there will be no danger of the rafts drifting away or of moving together and trapping the young swimmers.

Mr. A. Calvert offered some asbestos matting at the Legion hall to be used to cover the hinges and the committee thanked him for the material.

TCA FILMS ARE SHOWN TO BOARD

Development of travel by Trans-Canada Airlines was depicted in an educational film which held the interest of the Summerland Board of Trade monthly meeting at the IOOF hall on Thursday evening. Mr. J. A. English, superintendent of TCA at the Penticton airport and Dudley Hatcher, assistant superintendent were present for the filming of this story, which also showed how this development has linked up with community progress across Canada.

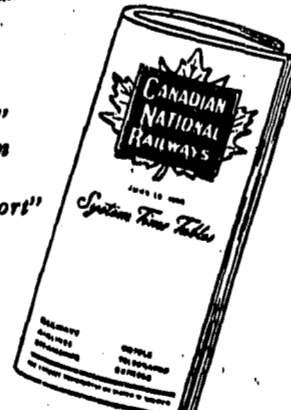

ings originally made have disappeared. A severe freeze-up early in the winter of 1924-25 killed out the bulk of trees on this sandy-type soil.

"The then owners, realizing the futility of further attempts, moved off the land and the area reverted bit by bit to the municipality."

Social Service Work in North Vancouver Described to Institute by Jean Bennest

Miss Jean Bennest was the guest speaker at the May 14 meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute, when she told of social service work in North Vancouver during the depression years and during the ship-building boom induced by the 2nd World War.

North Vancouver was, during the 30's, the "poor relation" of Vancouver proper. Ship building, the town's main source of income, was at a standstill, and the township was forced into receivership during those lean times. Since housing was cheap and plentiful, the lesser city got more than its share of the always poor and always prolific unskilled labor, with resulting heavy loads on the provincial welfare departments. It was during this time that Miss Bennest was stationed there, and she saw the town through the depression and on into the depression days of the war. In many ways the prosperity made the welfare workers' jobs more difficult. Women went to work in the shipyards, leaving children unsupervised. Youngsters who should be still in school went to work for the "big money", and the unaccustomed wealth went to their heads in some disastrous ways.

Case Histories

Miss Bennest told several "case histories", such as the one of "Alice", a fifteen-year-old war bride whose soldier husband went overseas leaving her with a baby boy. No more than a child herself, Alice was completely unable to accept the responsibilities of motherhood. She was alternately violently possessive, and completely neglectful of the infant, leaving him for weeks at a time with friends or relatives while she went gallivanting about the country. The regular allotment cheque coming in was too much for her to cope with, too, and she would promptly go on a spending spree as soon as her cheque came in.

The welfare workers stepped in here, took over Alice's allowance cheques, paid off her debts, put her on an allowance of so much spending money a week, and saw to it that the baby was receiving proper care. Two lives that could have been utterly wasted were salvaged, because Alice did eventually grow up to her responsibilities, Miss Bennest stated.

A lively discussion period followed Miss Bennest's talk, the ladies evincing much interest in questions on social welfare generally.

Financial Reports

Business of the meeting included a report on the earnings at the art show and rummage sale. The former netted $13.25. The W.I. expressed appreciation to Miss Hamilton for her helpful contribution to the afternoon, when her girls put on a musical program for visitors to the show.

The rummage sale produced a gratifying $187 after all expenses were cleared; this was not as much as the net profit of last year's sale, probably due to the fact that clothing is now more readily available, and also to the lack of co-operation on the part of the weatherman.

Several letters of appreciation of the parcels sent to England monthly were read, including one from Mrs. I. P. Barnes, who told of the real joy the food parcels brought to the ration-bound recipients.

Mrs. E. Famchon told of a personal call she had had from Mr. Hembling, secretary for the regional district for the Blind, asking that purchases of knitted baby wear be made as much as possible from Mrs. Burdette, who has only 6% vision, and hopes to earn a little money by the sale of her hand-knit garments.

In the absence of both members of the citizenship committee due to illness, Mrs. Collas gave their report. Mrs. W. R. Powell and Mrs. H. B. Mair, the committee, have made tentative plans to hold a welcoming party for new Summerland residents, to be held on either June 15 or June 22.

Mrs. J. McLachlan and Mrs. L. Johnson were the convenors for the tea served at the Spring Fair. During the tea hour following

YMCA GROUP TO VISIT VALLEY

A group under the supervision of Bob Morrison of the YMCA in Vancouver is expected to tour the Okanagan early in July, the board of trade was informed at the IOOF hall meeting last Thursday. Camping facilities will be needed and a committee of Ross McLachlan, chairman and W. M. Wright and Al Soderberg was appointed to make the necessary arrangements here.

JAIL SENTENCE

Following his arrest on May 16 in Penticton, George Leach was sentenced in Penticton police court on Monday morning to ten days in gaol on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Magistrate G. A. McLelland heard the charge, which was brought by B.C. Police Constable Demmon of the highway patrol. There is no fine option under this charge. He was released on Monday, May 24.

Save Funds For Local Debentures

The board of trade recently cashed a number of war savings certificates and had planned to reinvest them in Dominion of Canada bonds. However, last Thursday's board meeting suggested that this money be held in trust until the Memorial Community Hall debentures are available, if approved by the taxpayers, and the money invested at home.

An Open Letter to the Electors of Yale

from
Hon. John Bracken, M.P.

National Leader, Progressive Conservative Party

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

On May 31st you have an important decision to make. On that day you will vote for a successor to Grote Stirling, your distinguished and much loved former member. For almost twenty-five years he gave you splendid representation in the Parliament of Canada.

I sat beside Mr. Stirling during three full sessions of the House of Commons. He was always zealous and active in all that concerned the interests of the great Interior of British Columbia. He was the father of the Natural Products Marketing Act, an act which was jettisoned by the Liberal Government. He constantly fought for adequate protection for the fruit industry. He stood for expanded preferential markets abroad. He strove for cheaper transportation facilities and for other national policies essential to the prosperity and welfare of this constituency and this country.

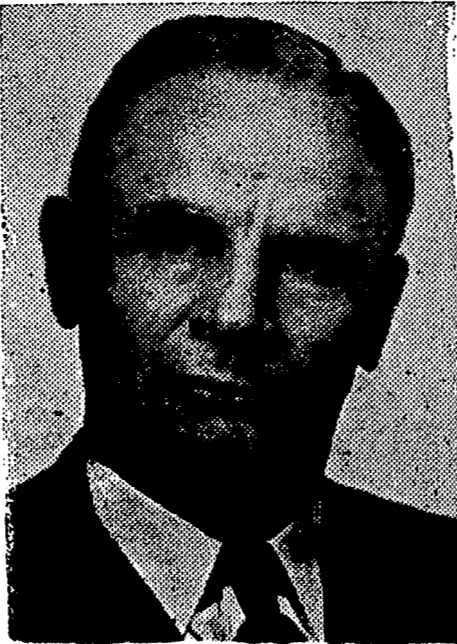

In Mr. W. A. C. Bennett you have a man who stands for the things for which Grote Stirling stood. In Mr. Bennett you will have another strong, aggressive representative at Ottawa. He holds Grote Stirling's views. He fought side by side with Grote in the last election.

His election will mean that you demand, as I do, a new national policy—one of expansion and development—a policy which will make Canada a greater nation in our time. Mr. Bennett is pledged as I am to the enactment of a National Products Marketing Act; to the ending of the tampering with preferential markets; to the initiation of effective legislation to protect your home markets against cheap foreign produce; to the immediate removal of the mountain differential in freight rates and to the revision of our entire freight rate structure.

W. A. C. Bennett has youth and vigor as well as experience in public life on his side. He has the capacity and industry to become one of the leading members of the House of Commons. I am proud to be associated with men like him and the other Progressive Conservative members from British Columbia. I am confident that you will serve your own and Canada's best interests if you give Mr. Bennett the opportunity to represent you at Ottawa.

Yours sincerely,

JOHN BRACKEN

Well-Known Speakers Urge Local Audience To Vote For W. A. C. Bennett

First political rally of the Progressive party in Summerland drew three well-known speakers to the Legion hall in Summerland last Thursday evening and an audience of approximately 125 persons heard Mrs. T. J. Rolston, Vancouver M.L.A., E. D. Fulton, MP for Kamloops and J. G. Diefenbaker, MP for Lake Centre, Sask., speak in favor of W. A. C. Bennett, ex-M.L.A. for South Okanagan and P-C candidate in the federal Yale by-election.

Mrs. Rolston, with her rapid-fire delivery and ready wit, put the audience in a pleasant frame of mind as she plumped for Mr. Bennett as the best man to send to Ottawa.

"He has had seven years' experience in Victoria. He is a very sincere man and nothing will deflect him his purpose or his job," she declared. "He is a man who stands on his own two feet."

Mrs. Rolston detailed some of the committee work Mr. Bennett had undertaken while a member at Victoria, and emphasized that his outlook as a business man had been invaluable.

Warned Caucus
The Tory candidate had warned the Coalition caucus that it should study the Cameron report and not rush it through, but his advice went unheeded and as a result the new school district setup has not been satisfactory to date, she continued.

Regarding the three percent sales tax proposed by the B.C. government, Mrs. Rolston told of Mr. Bennett's opposition to the measure. "He worked extremely hard to defeat the sales tax yet the CCF say that only their party opposed it. Mr. Jones, the CCF candidate, supported the sales tax idea as a member of the UBCM executive."

"Mr. Bennett has worked for a better deal for irrigation, for better pensions, and for everything progressive," Mrs. Rolston emphasized. "He has gained experience which will be valuable at Ottawa."

Switching to the federal field, Mrs. Rolston condemned the Liberal administration for its "dictatorship methods in imposing taxes and embargoes by radio" on November 17 last. She said the last time such an action was taken without sanction, Charles I. had his head taken off.

She referred to the lack of greens in the Canadian diet in the winter months and asked the housewives how many of them realize how closely politics affects their kitchens. "In self defense, women should take an interest in politics."

For a short time, Mrs. Rolston spoke of her recent visit to England where, despite the monotony of the daily diet, the English people still retain their sense of humor.

She stated that there is dissatisfaction everywhere in Canada with the high taxes and increased freight rates despite the huge surplus in the budget.

In conclusion, she referred to this by-election as a test election which will be a standard for others throughout Canada.

Stirling Praised
Mr. Fulton, a veteran of World War II, paid tribute to Hon. Grot Stirling as a generous and wise counsellor. No constituency was better served or by a finer gentleman than Mr. Stirling, who when he retired expressed the opinion that the constituency should be served by a younger man.

"Mr. Stirling could ill afford to retire but he took the honorable course. Mr. Bennett is the type of man Mr. Stirling had in mind. Mr. Bennett will make the same success at Ottawa as he did at Victoria, as he is a young, vigorous candidate."

"The Liberals say you should send a fruit man to Ottawa. If they had wanted Yale to be represented they should have held this by-election three months ago. They aren't sincere in that statement. These are the times when you should be represented at Ottawa."

"I urge you to send a man who represents the constituency, who knows what it needs and who will not be a 'Yes' man for the government."

Preference Talk
Mr. Fulton then denied statements made by Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, in reference to the 1932 Imperial preferences, as reported in last week's Review.

"In 1932, Canada gained free entry into Great Britain for her apples, while all other apples had to pay duty," he explained. "The loss of the United Kingdom markets by the eliminating of the Imperial preference last November is a vital factor to you."

"The Liberals fought the Imperial preference. They always were opposed to it and last year they gave it away."

Other deals made at Geneva can be cancelled by either party and leaves Canada in a precarious position, he declared.

Regarding Mr. Gardiner's statement that the British planted five million apple trees when the Imperial preference was applied, Mr. Fulton declared that the British food mission at Ottawa has moved that there was any such movement.

In post-war years, the British had fifteen million apple trees while in 1946 there were 14,700,000, he declared, and the British production has not increased in the post-war years. Before the war, Britain imported one and a half million barrels of apples from Canada and in 1946 she took 1,151,000 barrels.

"How can you say there is no market in Great Britain?" he queried. "The market is still there, when the exchange question is settled." Mr. Fulton also remarked on the recent British purchase of three to four million boxes of apples from Australia and New Zealand.

"The Gardiner story is not according to the facts; the Liberal policy has lost this market. Mr. Gardiner has also been asked for seven years to give you a marketing act, with no result."

Regarding veterans' pensions, Mr. Fulton declared that Hon. Mr.

Gregg, minister of veterans' affairs, was forced by the unanimous vote of the special committee to raise the veterans' pensions increase from the declared 16 percent limit to 25 percent.

Mr. Fulton also pointed out that Mr. Gardiner is only extending PFRA to B.C. if the province and municipalities will assist financially. He called for the same treatment for B.C. by PFRA as being extended to prairie provinces.

The speaker inferred that the Liberals chose the indirect way of getting rid of the natural products marketing act of 1924 by submitting it to the Supreme Court and the Privy Council in such a manner that these two courts had little option but to declare the act ultra vires.

"Then the Liberals didn't try to amend the act to make it legal, they just discarded it," he continued.

He claimed that the proposed marketing act will give control by the government, when it is introduced by Mr. Gardiner. "We want a growers' marketing act," he emphasized, pointing out that the CCF is quite in agreement with the present Dominion suggested act, as it calls for government intervention. The CCF, believing in state planning, are in agreement, he said.

"You don't have to be a socialist to believe in social reform and our policy goes beyond the social reforms of the Liberal party."

In conclusion he urged his audience to analyze the record of the candidates and consider the policy of the parties. "If you do this, then I am convinced you will vote for Cecil Bennett."

NEEDS METRE READER

Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber has been granted a week's leave, commencing June 1. He stated on Tuesday that, because of the electrical storm last Friday, he was behind in his metre reading and requested council assistance. He was informed that he could hire an extra man at the starting rate of 72 cents per hour, to assist him until the month-end.

Board Appreciates Work In Park

A letter of appreciation for the work undertaken by the parks committee of the municipal council at Peach Orchard park was read at Tuesday's council meeting from the Summerland Board of Trade, Councillor Tait, who heads this committee, expressed his regret that seeding operations were not carried out this spring.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

To honor Miss Joyce Pohlmann, bride-elect of May 21, three hostesses combined to entertain at a miscellaneous shower at the home of one of them, Mrs. H. Pohlmann, on Friday evening, May 14. Greeting the guests with Mrs. Pohlmann were Mrs. M. McKechnie and Mrs. E. Brennan. In rooms decorated with pink and white streamers and fragrant with Spring flowers, Miss Pohlmann received the gifts and good wishes of the guests, who were Mesdames G. Woitte, Don Tait, J. Dunsdon, H. Eden, E. Pohlmann, A. McCargar, R. Russell, and Misses Belva Jacobs and Rosalie Smith.

Sgt. D. Halcrow Replies to Complaint

Sgt. D. Halcrow, in charge of Penticton detachment, B.C. Police, has expressed his regret that Constable T. Thorsteinson was removed from Summerland on the morning of the Governor-General's visit. It had been the intention that the local constable would be returned forty minutes before His Excellency's arrival here, but the Penticton detachment was extremely short-staffed due to the absences. The council had protested the constable's removal on that morning.

ANNUAL SPRING

Ruth Fleming by graceful purple half-capes.
Ruth Fleming expressed her pleasure at having the honor to reign over the 1948 Fair and wished the 1948 affair equal success. She then crowned Queen Eileen Birtles and presented her with a sceptre of office. The newly-crowned queen declared the Spring Fair officially open.

The girls' choir, led by Miss Kay Hamilton rendered two numbers, following which Mr. O'Mahony then made presentations on behalf of the board of trade to the two queens.

The Queen's two attendants were Princesses Arlene Raincock and Shirley Schumann while Cecily Givins was the dainty crown bearer.

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, assisted by a capable committee, was given great credit by the hundreds who witnessed the affair for her careful planning of the opening ceremonies. It was a colorful and dignified opening.

In the afternoon, the Fashion Show was interrupted by the light failure and was only able to continue by lamp light. However, an auxiliary lighting plant owned by Fairbanks Morse and included in the Sanborn Garage exhibit was pressed into service and provided light in preparation for the evening opening ceremonies. However, the regular lighting service came back in time for the opening.

Other Entertainment
A half hour of orchestra numbers, with the band members, alternating as soloists was another highlight of Friday evening's entertainment. Carl Dunaway's Kelowna orchestra providing this treat. The orchestra also played for the Spring Fair dance at Ellison hall that evening when two hundred persons enjoyed the dance music.
Saturday afternoon saw Summerland competitors in the Okanagan Musical Festival present their festival numbers to an appreciative audience. In the evening, first entertainment feature was presentation of numbers from HMS Pinafore by the Singers & Players club. Both these events drew appreciative comment.

The finale was a variety show presented by Interior Attractions Ltd., and featuring Kelowna artists. This was an hour and a half concert and was the only part of the entertainment which entailed an admission charge. Some five hundred persons crowded in to the upstairs for this feature.

For the last hour and a half, a jittery dance provided entertainment for those who could withstand the heat of the building, as the ventilating equipment could not be turned on because of building repairs.

Bingo had a good play both evenings, while crown and anchor drew a number to the games room.

Both afternoons, tea was served in a special booth by the Women's Institute while in the evenings, the ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary served hot dogs and coffee. This latter organization also operated a large refreshment booth at the entrance to the building.

Various prizes were given away by exhibitors at their booths to holders of lucky tickets.

Throughout the two days a gay atmosphere prevailed and the hard-working committee's spirits never flagged except when the lights went out.

Lightning Bolt Hits Smith Home

Lightning struck Giant's Head on Friday afternoon about 3:15 o'clock, quickly followed by a terrific crash of thunder and a cloudburst which lasted for fifteen minutes with the most terrific down-pour of rain seen here for years.

Rain fell most of the rest of the day, but for fifteen minutes it cascaded down with terrific force.

Those who could see Giant's Head saw the lightning bolt strike and a large cloud of brownish smoke and dust roll away seconds later.

The lightning struck the verandah post of the Walter Smith home situated on Giant's Head east of the Home for the Friendless. Mr. Smith was the only occupant of the building and he was unhurt, but experienced a "peculiar tingling sensation."

The bolt ripped through the house, uprooting some of the bathroom fixtures and creating a hole in the bathroom. It disintegrated the light metre, tossed the verandah screen door into the yard and chipped off bits of wood from all parts of the building.

Near Milne's cannery, a high tension insulator was blown into the Milne yard. Mr. A. W. Nisbet was travelling the road in his car and sparks were seen to fly out from his car aerial. He thought for a moment that the car was hit.

A young lad walking on Giant's Head road in the same vicinity was blown to the ground as if shoved by a giant unseen hand but was unhurt.

Fear For Dykes

Trout Creek Point residents who were doing such a fine job of endeavoring to keep the creek under control.

Eneas creek has been turbulent for several days, and a crew was called to Jack Lawler's home in Peach Orchard to save undermining by the waters last weekend. Some slight damage has been reported in other areas, but there has been no particular danger, as compared with other parts of the province.

Trapanier creek bridge was washed out last weekend, while the small bridge near Okanagan Falls went out, causing a re-routing of traffic.

Homes in the Okanagan Mission district have been threatened for several days and many fine gardens ruined, including that of Alderman J. H. Horn, one of the show-places of the Kelowna district.
