Coalition Candidate to Be Chosen by Kelowna Convention This Evening

Tonight in Kelowna representatives of the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives from South Okanagan riding will gather to select their candidate to contest the forthcoming by-election to replace W. A. C. Bennett, who resigned his seat in the legislature last May.

Okanagan Arc Again Makes Its Appearance

Scores of Summerland residents witnessed a recurrence of the Okanagan Arc, a phenomenon which has occurred only about three times in the past ten years and seems to be peculiar to the South Okanagan, last Friday evening.

It has been suggested that the by-election date will probably be set for some time in the last two weeks of November, although there has been some talk in local political circles that it may not come until early December.

Another by-election for Rossland-Trail riding will be called for the same time.

Heading the South Okanagan Progressive Conservatives to the nominating convention tonight will be W. G. Gillard, CNR agent in Summerland, who is president for the riding.

Reeve Reid A. Johnston, CPR agent in West Summerland, is president of the South Okanagan Liberal Assn. and he will lead the Liberal delegation.

Both parties are allowed 116 delegates each, so that 132 accredited delegates can take their places on the convention floor.

Mr. Browne-Clayton's name was announced as a candidate by the committee chosen by the Progressive-Conservatives, as Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, the last member for South Okanagan, was a known Tory man, although he leaned to the straight Coalition ticket in provincial politics in the last election, rather than as a Conservative contesting the riding on behalf of the Coalition interests.

South Okanagan riding extends north of Kelowna to a point just past Okanagan Centre with the southern boundary at Trout Creek on the west side of Okanagan lake and Naramata on the east side.

A complete revision of the provincial voters' list has been made and any persons who have not registered on the new forms, issued in the past year, will find that their names are not on the voters' list.

Last week, The Review carried a story from E. Ross Oatman, provincial agent at Kelowna, urging all persons to check to make sure that their names are on the new revised list. Copies of the voters' list are available in the post offices in Summerland and West Summerland.

A court of revision, for a period of two weeks, will be allowed after the by-election date has been announced, it is understood.

commercial building alteration and eleven alterations and additions for $2,410. In September, 1947, 24 permits were taken out for a value of $29,625, including the fish hatchery permit valued at $14,625. In the nine-month period this year 115 building permits have been issued, whereas in the same nine months in 1947 there were 232 permits issued. Building values for the year are expected to exceed the quarter million mark by a comfortable figure.

Jones Suggests Creek Survey To E. C. Carson

O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, has been taken over the troublesome Trout Creek channel and is suggesting to Hon. E. C. Carson, provincial minister of public works, that an engineer should be brought in to this area to provide the Trout Creek area citizens with some form of plan which could be used to prevent a recurrence of flood conditions of last June.

The Trout Creek flood control committee, headed by Magnus Tait, asked Mr. Jones to investigate and the CCF member for Yale spent an entire afternoon walking over the area and surveying it at first hand.

Mr. Jones was informed by the committee that Trout Creek residents are willing to do most of the improvement work themselves, provided the government will provide some sort of "master plan".

Previous efforts on the part of this committee to deal with the provincial authorities had not brought any assurance that any assistance would be forthcoming.

On his visit here, Mr. Jones declared he would inform Hon. E. C. Carson of the situation at Trout Creek and would suggest that some engineering aid would be beneficial to the district.

Although the committee is willing to start operations, it is not certain if the creek should be dredged, or whether the banks should be raised, or where the proper channel should be located.

Between the highway bridge and the bridge to the experimental station the creek is spreading out from its original channel more and more, even at this season, the committee declares.

Also, gravel from the south banks of the creek is washing down continuously and will fill the creek bed more and more, thus endangering land below the highway bridge.

This bridge and the highway itself will probably be threatened again next year if flood waters come cascading down from the foothills, the committee feels.

Recompense for Flood Loss May Be Possible

Has your agricultural property suffered because of the high water level of Okanagan lake or floods from creek freshets?

If so, then there is a chance for some form of compensation from the provincial government, The Review learned yesterday.

If you come under this category, then write a description of your orchard or farm loss to Mr. T. S. Dalby, government agent in Penticton. He will inform Provincial Agriculturist Alex Watt, who will make a survey of the property affected and confer with Mr. Dalby on the probable loss.

Provided your claim comes under the regulations laid down by the B.C. government in offering flood relief, then you will be recompensed for at least a portion of your loss.

But, if a proper estimate of crop and property loss is to be made, then prompt action must be taken.

Estimates taken in August by the board of trade for information purposes indicated a crop loss of $2,410 with a bigger estimated loss of property.

SCHOOL PUPILS ENJOY HOLIDAY FOR FIVE DAYS

School children of the Okanagan Valley are experiencing a five-day holiday, as the annual convention of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Federation coincides with Thanksgiving Day.

This convention is being held in Penticton today and tomorrow and all school children in the valley are on holiday as a result.

Next Monday, Thanksgiving day, is a national holiday and all retail businesses will be closed all day.

Shoppers should stock up by Saturday night to be sure of plentiful supplies for the long week-end.

Special Thanksgiving Day services are being conducted in the local churches on Sunday.

Arthur Turner Gives Outline Of Socialist Convention at Vienna and Discusses Britain

Independence and political freedom were stressed when 66 delegates representing seventeen countries attended the international socialist conference at Vienna, declared Arthur Turner, MLA for Vancouver East and the first working member of the socialist party ever to attend such a conference straight from Canada.

Mr. Turner spoke to a CCF public meeting in the Nu-Way Annex on Tuesday evening, along with Bruce Woodsworth, CCF candidate in the South Okanagan by-election.

He outlined the unfair tactics of the Russians in dealing with occupied countries.

Reviewed Austria. Not only did Mr. Turner paint a vivid word picture of this conference, but he also reviewed the life of the working classes in Europe today, especially in Austria, and also spent some time discussing Great Britain as he had found her today.

Most of the delegates had a thorough theoretical background and understanding of the socialist movement, Mr. Turner found when he attended the convention at Vienna.

But so complex are the problems of western Europe today that one cannot be guided entirely by the book.

Principal feature of the European delegates' discussion was the evident fact that these countries do not wish any force from outside sources but wish to work out their own problems without admitting any instructions or dictation from other sources.

None of the Soviet-dominated countries were represented at this socialist convention.

Dealing for a moment with Soviet aims as he learned them on his visit, Mr. Turner declared that the division of the Rhur is most important, as there are located the machine industries of Germany and France.

These industries must not be given back to companies which will foster one side against the other for the furthering of munitions manufacture, he maintained, but must be set up again for peaceful manufacture. The socialist convention stressed this point.

Bruce Woodsworth Opens By-election Campaign With Boost for C.C.F. Policies

Opening barrage of the South Okanagan provincial by-election campaign was fired in West Summerland on Tuesday evening at the Nu-Way Annex when Bruce Woodsworth, CCF candidate, made his first public appearance, along with Arthur Turner, MLA for Vancouver east, who discussed the international Socialist convention in Vienna, at which he was a delegate, as well as conditions in England under the Labor government.

"Why should the people of this riding vote for a CCF candidate and why should they vote in a CCF government in B.C.?" Those are the two main questions facing the people today, according to Mr. Woodsworth, and he set about to give some statistics as to why he considered the CCF should be supported.

"It is time we had a government which will give the people a square deal for their money," declared Mr. Woodsworth, in advocating an economic democracy under CCF leadership.

Mr. Herb Lemke, president of the Summerland CCF club, presided as chairman.

At the outset, Mr. Woodsworth declared that it is fair to say that capitalism developed this country to a great extent and that capitalism had its heyday from 1885 to 1927. In that period there was an opportunity for great expansion at home and abroad and room for all.

It was possible for people to make a good living and use their individual initiative.

But in the past twenty years free enterprise has largely disappeared, he contended, and in its place there have grown up cartels, combines and monopolies.

Monopolies eliminate competition on the open market, he claimed, giving one example as the Bayer Aspirin groups which fixed prices and the quantity of supplies in definite spheres.

Dealing for a moment with regimentation, which opponents of the CCF claim will be rampant if that party gains power, Mr. Woodsworth claimed that there is more regimentation in present day methods when prices are fixed without the consumer having any say in the fixing of those prices.

The Dominion bureau of statistics reveals that 87 percent of the wealth of Canada is controlled by some fifty persons, he continued.

Dealing with other countries, he contended that the equivalent of the CCF exists in the Scandinavian countries, partially in Belgium, in Britain, New Zealand and Australia.

"They have the governments which we in the CCF think you should have in this country," emphasized the speaker. Sweden has just returned a socialistic government after 16 years of a similar type. "They must like that type of government," he said.

"We in the CCF are thoroughly convinced that we have a platform which is sufficiently democratic . . . a program that an increasing number of people want."

Mr. Woodsworth quoted the last ten by-elections in Canada, eight of which were contested by the CCF. The number of votes obtained by the CCF in these by-elections showed an increase of support of 55.6 per cent, he said.

This he considered an indication that a greater number of people are not satisfied with what has been going on in Canada since the end of the war, especially in the realm of food, clothing and furniture.

Part of this increase may be a protest vote, he admitted, but the people are showing that they are "Your valley has come along wonderfully; your people have done great things for themselves." This was the statement made last Friday to the Rotary Club of Summerland weekly supper meeting by Roy Winslow, who came to Summerland in 1909 from Ontario as the first provincial horticulturist for the provincial government.

Winslow station was named after Mr. Winslow, as he was instrumental in having the Dominion government establish an experimental station at that point, just outside Summerland boundary.

Three Vehicles Involved in Highway Crash

A truck and two cars were involved in an accident on Okanagan highway seven miles north of West Summerland on Tuesday afternoon about 5:15 o'clock. No one was injured.

A big OK Valley Freight truck, a car driven by Art Evers of Summerland and another auto driven by Roy E. Clark of Vancouver were involved in this spectacular crash.

The truck and Vancouver car were travelling in opposite directions when the Evers car attempted to pass the truck, Provincial Police Constable T. Thorsteinson reports.

Little damage was done to the big truck and trailer, but the Evers car suffered between $75 and $100 damage and another $50 damage was reported on the Vancouver automobile.

Constable Thorsteinson states that a charge is pending from this case, but no summons has been issued. It is likely that a case will come before Magistrate H. Sherman tomorrow.

On Saturday, a car driven by Robert Richards of Summerland collided with the rear of a Kelowna car, which stopped suddenly on Okanagan highway near Trout Creek bridge. Both vehicles were proceeding south and another car, travelling north, had just crossed the bridge but did not become involved in the accident.

Olive Mason, also of Summerland, a passenger in the Richards' auto suffered slight injuries to her face but was the only passenger of either vehicle who suffered any injuries.

Damage to the Richards car is estimated at $80 and that to the Kelowna auto more than $100. Name of the Kelowna driver was not known by local police today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and family, former residents of Summerland, who have been making their home at Melancon, N.S., have returned here to take up permanent residence. Mr. Smith was the former owner of Mac's Cafe in West Summerland.

School Addition Boosts Building Permits Over Record 1947 Figure

With the inclusion of the renovations and additions to the Summerland elementary school, building permits for the first nine months of 1948 jumped to $239,710 and are now in excess of last year's record figure of $230,260 for the same period.

Bennett & White, Vancouver construction firm, took out a building permit for $88,405 in September, to bring the month's total value of building permits issued to $95,655.

Apart from this one big permit, there were fourteen others for a total of $8,910, including two new dwellings at a value of $4,500, one commercial building alteration and eleven alterations and additions for $2,410.

In September, 1947, 24 permits were taken out for a value of $29,625, including the fish hatchery permit valued at $14,625.

In the nine-month period this year 115 building permits have been issued, whereas in the same nine months in 1947 there were 232 permits issued.

Building values for the year are expected to exceed the quarter million mark by a comfortable figure.

New Party Leadership

IT WAS bound to happen. George Drew, on the strength of his political triumphs, his ability to win Ontario elections, the distinct possibility that because of his avowed interest in provincial autonomy he will be able to swing French Quebec, won an overwhelming victory as the new national leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

His nearest opponent, John Diefenbaker from Saskatchewan, although he captured the imagination of those who heard him and who knew his past history and his ability, was not considered as qualified to lead the Tory party to a victory in the next federal election.

It is quite likely that Canada will see a federal election in 1949. And it is almost certain that the Liberals will not retain their majority over all other parties in the House of Commons. There is an outside chance that a new government may be formed next year.

Whatever the outcome, there should be some lively scenes in Canadian politics in the next few years. The day of the one-sided Liberal majority is considered by those who view the political scene from a closer range to be finished.

It ended with the stepping down from leadership of the Liberal ranks of Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King.

Although an able man, the new party leader is not expected to swing the country in the same manner.

The Socialist party is finding more favor day by day, as the rank and file of the voting public becomes irked with present-day high prices, and the inability of the common wage-earner to make ends meet with rising costs on a not-so-rapid rising wage level.

This resentment of the government in power because of present-day living conditions is probably more openly expressed in the west than in the east.

The Progressive Conservatives have been declining since the Bennett regime went out of power. John Bracken was considered to be a spark plug but he failed to arouse the enthusiasm of the Canadian public.

However, it will probably be a different story with Col. George A. Drew. The national convention gave him a platform with a lot more "down to earth" planks inserted than John Bracken ever devised, or that the party ever devised for him.

The party is committed to a contributory social security program embodying retirement pensions at 65 without a means test, plus other medical and social security benefits. Such a program would mean sweeping revision of present-day policies, but it would be a move which must come in time, and for which the public has gradually been educated.

An open market for gold would, in all probability, keep the mines in operation, whereas now, with the cost of operation mounting steadily many are closing down and creating unemployment.

Another major plank in the P-C platform, introduced at the last of the three-day sessions in Ottawa, called for the removal of the ban on the production and sale of margarine in Canada. Of course, if the Supreme Court provides a proper decision, the Liberal regime may steal the Tories' thunder and remove the ban before the next election. It would be politics for the Liberals so to do.

Substantial reductions in income tax and removal of decreases in nuisance taxes will probably also be carried out before the next election, thus relieving the burden on the wage earner and stealing another plank in the Conservative party platform.

But there will still be plenty of meat left in the platform to cause the Liberals a good deal of concern. Col. Drew is an able politician who brought Ontario back into the Conservative fold. The enthusiasm which pervaded the Conservative ranks at Ottawa last weekend suggests that the party believes the new leader will be able to do the same in the national field.

Of course, the Liberals and the CCF will have a lot to say about that.

Closer to Home

ANOTHER interesting political contest is due to get underway closer to home, in South Okanagan riding. The date hasn't been set for the by-election, but it is likely that it will be held early in December.

On one hand, the CCF, official opposition in the B.C. legislature has chosen an earnest, energetic young man of scholastic bent whose family name is known throughout Canada. This serious principal of the Westbank high school is Bruce Woodsworth, son of the late J. S. Woodsworth, one of the founders of the socialist party in Canada.

With such a family background, the CCF party has chosen a candidate who will be a major factor in the by-election.

On the other hand, the Coalition candidate-elect is untried and is not well known in political circles. He is a young lad who served in a famous permanent force regiment in the first division of the Canadian army and upon his retirement from active army life, returned to the less spectacular practice of fruit culture.

It is not definitely certain that he will be the choice of the two old-line parties who make up the Coalition ranks, but the convention tonight at Kelowna is expected to nominate him without opposition.

Although untried in political circles, R. D. Browne-Clayton comes from a respected Okanagan family of many years standing and he will probably make up for his lack of knowledge of political pranks by his earnestness and his youthfulness.

Both parties have chosen comparatively young men to throw into the political arena in the most trying of all political battles—the by-election. In a by-election, the government is not at stake and is not jeopardized if the opposition does win. On the other hand, the opposition can pick holes in the party doings without the party having much opportunity to produce new planks.

In this particular by-election, the Coalition candidate will have a cross to bear—the three percent sales tax. That will be a tough hurdle as it is a tax which is constantly before the voters whenever they make a purchase other than foodstuffs.

Already the CCF candidate has eluded to this nuisance tax and will probably make more political fodder of the tax as the campaign warms up.

Yes, this will be another interesting political battle with the probable result, at this early stage, problematical in the extreme.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Visitors continue to occupy a good deal of the time of the staff of the experimental station. Four of those who came during the past week were especially demanding.

Bright and early Monday morning, Thornton Taylor from the finance department at Ottawa arrived to audit the books. The station is essentially a fact-finding institution and is not operated to make money from the sale of produce. Nevertheless, the dairy herd, orchards and vegetable plantations do produce significant quantities of saleable products. The returns secured from sale of those products are not available for operation of the station. On the contrary, they are sent to the receiver-general at Ottawa for inclusion in the consolidated revenues of Canada. This is a wise and farsighted arrangement as it encourages the staff to devote their full energies to the accumulation of information of value to the fruit, vegetable and dairy industries. Mr. Taylor seemed very well pleased with the operation of the local station and complimented Alan Calvert on the neatness and accuracy of his records.

R. J. M. Reid came from the Hemmingford section of Quebec where he holds the position of Agronomist which corresponds to that of extension horticulturist in this area. Mr. Reid has an orchard of his own devoted largely to McIntosh apples. He has had trouble with poor pollination and is planning to plant some trees of the new Spartan variety with the double objective of increasing the set on his McIntosh and extending the harvest season.

Dan J. Barrett came from Vancouver to talk about liquid fertilizer—and can he talk! After listening to him for a while, one gains the impression that he honestly believes that one-half the problems of the fruit and vegetable growers could be solved by the liberal use of liquid fertilizer. There is nothing new of course about liquid manure. I well remember that when I was a small boy we used to hang a sack of manure in a barrel of water. The resulting odoriferous liquid produced marvelous results when applied to the vegetable garden. The trouble with commercial liquid fertilizer lies in the fact that it must be transported by freight. There is no law to prevent Okanagan growers from spending their hard earned cash for fertilizer put up in liquid form. However, it does not seem very sensible to pay freight on water when this commodity is already available in the Okanagan in large volume at low cost.

R. M. Winslow was on holiday, and so had time to spare. He is now manager of a large fish packing concern in Vancouver. However, in his younger days he was provincial horticulturist for B.C. and had a good deal to do with the development of the fruit and vegetable industries of this province.

It was largely on his advice that the present site of the experimental station was selected. Accordingly, he was most interested to observe the amazing development which has taken place on the barren gravel benches which were taken over by the Dominion Government for experimental work back in 1914. He seemed duly impressed by the modern research station which has grown up around the flag stop, Winslow, which was named in his honor many years ago.

GANGSTER DIPLOMACY

The Giant of Giant's Head

By B. A. T.

XIV—Wings Over The Head
"A bird I'll be, so light and free, Far from my cares I'll go."
The Giant said this but his plan went amiss
When he fell to the ground far below.

When Louis Eleriot flew across the English Channel in 1909, the world sat up—and looked up—and has been air-conscious ever since.

Hundreds of years before, Leonardo da Vinci had drawn a plan of an aeroplane that would have flown had he been able to supply a motor for it. But, unfortunately, the assembly-line production of Ford Motors at Willow Run was not in existence, so far as da Vinci was concerned, his plan remained a dream.

Many, many thousands of years before the time of either of these men, the Giant was one day lying on his back on the summit of his mountain, watching the birds wheeling about in the sky. They were so swift, so buoyant, so beautiful. Even the clumsy crow had a certain grace that made the movements of earth-tied giants seem awkward and slow by comparison.

"Why should I not fly?" mused the Giant. "I am just as bright as the birds and they learn to fly in a few lessons. Surely if I persisted I could soon become proficient. If necessary, I'll repeal the Law of Gravity."

He stood up and waved his arms in the air but without result. So he went to ask advice of his magician.

"You must remember, O Giant, that nature intended birds to fly. They are feathered and streamlined. They are light in weight for they have hollow bones to achieve that purpose. For a Giant to learn to fly is a doubtful proposition. However, I will dream on the matter and have an answer for you in the morning.

The next day the magician had this oracular message for his master:

"When the time of strife is nigh,
Then it is that man will fly."
"That is good enough for me," said the Giant. "Anyone who lives in a cave with a wife and forty children has nothing to learn about strife!"

On the top of the Head the Giant commenced to build a craft to carry him through the air. He selected the lightest wood for the frame, the wings were covered with tanned deerskin, tightly stretched, and in a short time the first airplane the world had ever known was completed. Then the Giant found it lacked motive power. He sat in it and waved his arms, he even wriggled his ears, but to no avail.

"If I could only get it started," he said to himself. "Then surely it would go by itself."

Then he thought of the fairies. They had never failed to help him in the past. In answer to his request to the Fairy Queen, two fairies were sent to his aid.

The Giant entered his machine and sat down. The fairies, each with a hand gently touching a wing-tip, were poised for the take-off. The giant populace which had gathered began to cheer and, believe it or not, the Giant was air (and fairy) borne.

As he was wafted over lakes, rivers and mountains, the Giant amused himself by throwing pieces of wood overboard to watch them fall swiftly to earth. Had he known that ages later this practice would develop into air-bombing, he would have kept his hands in his pockets.

Finally, after touring the sky for hours, the fairies brought the machine back to the Head where it came to rest lightly as an aerial cream-puff.

After the first flight, the Giant soon became restless. He wanted to soar through the clouds again. He wanted to see the landscape spread below like a picture. He wanted to experience that feeling of lightness and supremacy that only flyers know.

He still believed his plane would fly if he could get it into motion. It had floated like a feather under the fairies' guidance. He would not be able to travel so fast without their aid, but it was flight he wanted, not speed.

So the Giant arranged to have a dozen giants pick up the craft with him in it, run to the edge of a cliff and toss it into the air.

When this was done, just as the machine was thrown, a gust of wind caught it, lifted it high into the air and the Giant was in the air a second time. But not for long. Suddenly the aeroplane dipped sharply and crashed to earth.

The Giant picked himself up from the wreckage, looked at the debris scattered about and muttered words into his beard that you are too young to have repeated,

Temperature of Fruit Storage Vital - Fisher

(Farm News, Ottawa)

Fruit is very sensitive to conditions under which it is kept, particularly the temperature. Large commercial fruit packing plants, cold storages, and transportation companies are well aware of the exacting temperature requirements of the various fruit products they handle. On the other hand, the retailer and consumer are often not conversant with the correct temperature conditions for various fruits, says D. V. Fisher, pomologist, Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C.

Years ago, Van't Hoff, a Dutch chemist, established the principle that the speed of chemical reactions doubles for each 18 degrees F. rise in temperature. As the process of ripening in fruit is essentially a chemical reaction, the rate of ripening, within limits, can be said to double for each 18 degrees F. rise in temperature.

Thus, fruits such as apples, pears, peaches and cherries, which are stored prior to marketing are held at temperatures of 30 degrees to 32 degrees F. This temperature range results in the slowest rate of ripening and at the same time is just above the point at which freezing of tissue takes place.

At this temperature, cherries and peaches may be held a week or two, pears two to five months, and apples two to eight months. Apples complete their ripening process normally at 32 degrees but peaches and pears do not ripen normally at low temperatures. In order to develop best quality, these two fruits should be ripened at 60 degrees to 70 degrees F.

The consumer who buys peaches should ripen these in a moderately dry place at 60 to 70 degrees F. Pears, if already ripe when purchased, may be held for a few days in the household refrigerator before being consumed. If purchased green, pears should not be placed in the refrigerator, but ripened in a moist warm atmosphere.

Apples, when purchased in small quantities, should always be held in the refrigerator until eaten. When purchased in box, bushel or barrel quantities, apples should be kept in a moist atmosphere in the coolest place available until they are ready to be used.

Careful handling of fruit products at proper temperatures serves to ensure the highest possible quality when consumed.

Freedom and Responsibility

Again we would remind our readers during National Newspaper Week that Freedom and Responsibility go hand in hand.

Your right to vote assumes that you will recognize and exercise your responsibility as a citizen. In order to make your vote count you must be informed on the issues. There will be a vote this fall to decide the candidate who will represent South Okanagan at Victoria. It is the basic function of your home town newspaper to make it possible for you to know the fundamentals of the issue upon which you are asked to exercise your franchise.

As the weeks roll by, we will bring you reports on the political meetings which will be held. Too few of you attend these meetings. It is a sign of the times. But your home town newspaper will provide you with an unbiased report of these meetings for your leisurely perusal at home.

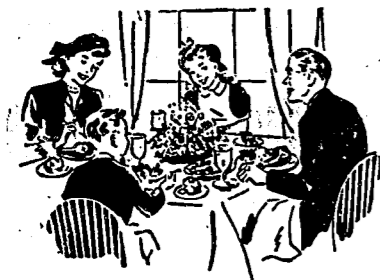

This is part of the Freedom of the Press—that the presentations of all sides of a question be presented to you.

It is another function of the home town weekly to furnish those who bid for your patronage with a means for carrying their messages of goods and services to you. These appear in the advertising columns in open competition with each other so that you may be free to choose what you will buy and from whom.

Read your home town newspaper regularly, intelligently.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Last weekend the troop held an overnight camp up the Trout Creek canyon from the railroad bridge. Leaving at 2 p.m., 17 boys and the Scoutmaster hiked up from Winslow about 4 miles going back of Shale mountain and down into a widening of the canyon where there is a lightly-wooded flat of about 2 acres on the creek. Each Scout packed in his own bedding and grub for two meals in a wide variety of packs.

Before next overnight hike, it is a safe bet that a lot of Scouts will have built themselves proper pack boards to hike in maximum comfort. Even a small lad can pack 35 pounds comfortably. Ask Richard Blewett!

The Scoutmaster had good guides in Rob Towgood and Glen Young-husband who had previously found that there are fish in them thar hills.

This camp was an exercise in good scouting for the boys had to improvise brush shelters before dark and build suitable fires for cooking a meal.

Second-class firefighting, cooking and axemanship were passed by Scouts Brake, Dumont, Solly, Klix and Robson. First-class cooking tests were passed by Bingham, Towgood and Tingley. Any Scout who stayed away from this hike missed a lot of fun.

At the last meeting, Scouts Klix, Pohlmann, Solly and Dumont were invested, having passed tenderfoot tests. The troop extends its congratulations to these 4 boys. An almost perfect attendance of 28 was recorded.

The troop still has room for 2 boys who have passed their twelfth birthday.

GUIDE NEWS

The weekly Girl Guide meeting was begun with the collection of fees, and the girls going to Patrol corners to review their First Aid. A number of girls then passed their large arm sling and Capt. McIntosh ran over with them the causes and treatment of shock.

After a game the meeting was brought to a close around camp-

GASOLINE SALES

Total gasoline sales for B.C. for July of this year were 13,258, 272 gallons, an increase of 12% over July, 1947, and 11% over June, 1948, states Dr. T. B. Williams, chairman of the coal and petroleum control board.

The girls are reminded to review their ankle bandage for Friday's meeting.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Sunday, September 26, a trip to the Coulee Dam was sponsored by the Summerland Rotary Club, for the 22 students of Summerland High's twelfth grade.

Eight cars left the high school at eight o'clock Sunday morning, all headed for the U.S. border. There was no trouble in crossing the boundary and only the drivers were required to get out of the cars.

Omak was reached by 10:50 and the students were treated to a snack by the club, which for some served as a breakfast. Leaving Omak by 11:25 they reached Coulee at 12:30 where they crowded into the well-known "Green Hut". Here the group was fed, the food being paid for by the most generous Rotary Club.

Until 2 o'clock everyone was busy buying souvenirs or taking pictures. At 2 o'clock a lecture was given. After a very interesting explanation of the project, the Summerland guests were taken on a special tour of the dam. The interior of the dam was amazing; the walls and the floors were made of a highly-polished special concrete. The group required a special escort, for it would be easy to get lost in such a large system of tunnels, corridors and machinery. Everything was enjoyed by the students, even the sickening speed of the elevators.

Along with the fall weather comes soccer. To add to the interest of this year's lineup, Bill Sherwood, well known ex-player of St. Andrew's, has consented to coach the boys. A temporary team has been chosen with Wally Day, as captain. Those chosen are Basil Thornthwaite, Don Adams, Les Howard, Francis Gould, Don Cristante, Earl Bryden, Sandy Jomori, Denny Hack, Ernie Jomori, Fred Kato, Bob Weitzel.

The high and public school boys are celebrating a "premature Hallowe'en". Although Hallowe'en isn't 'til the end of October, you can find many boys generally huddled in a group setting of fireworks, mainly to frighten the girls. When will boys learn?

SAFE SOLVENTS

Each year many industrial workers suffer injuries through the misuse of cleaning or degreasing solvents. Used in the proper manner in well-ventilated places, most solvents are entirely safe, but even the smallest solvent operation is a potential danger if it is not properly conducted. Solvent fumes are dangerous. They should be treated with respect.

Going Steady... with British Columbia

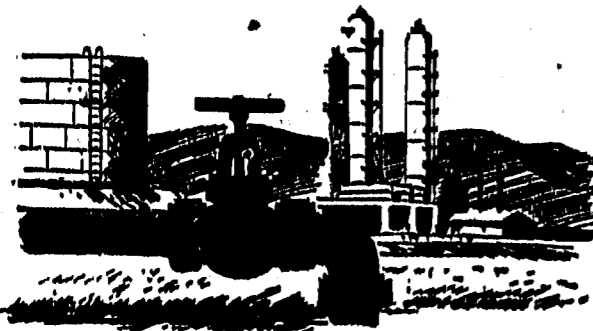

THINK of British Columbia's great lumbering, mining and fishing industries, and you'll see that our province is blessed with all the natural resources but one. As yet no productive source of oil has been found. There is, however, a great demand for petroleum products in B.C.; in fact, industry literally rolls on oil.

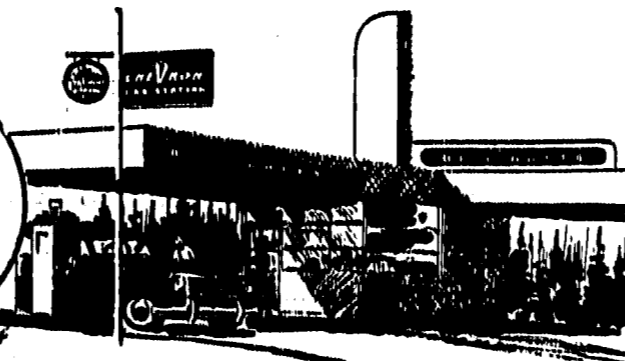

CRUDE oil is brought to Stanovan, Standard of B.C.'s refinery on Burrard Inlet, by tanker from the world's most economical sources of supply. The alternative would be to bring in refined products... but refining the crude oil in the province makes jobs in, and produces buying power for, British Columbia.

PETROLEUM products are made at Stanovan for British Columbians by British Columbia engineers and skilled workers. B.C. has an important industry which materially benefits the province as a whole—the refining of crude oil into gasoline and a long list of useful by-products including bitumens and asphalts.

THE story of the oil industry is one of venture-capital at work, creating the products people want, selling them in open competition with other companies. We believe that this system offers the greatest incentives, the highest standards of living, the best job-security and individual freedom of opportunity.

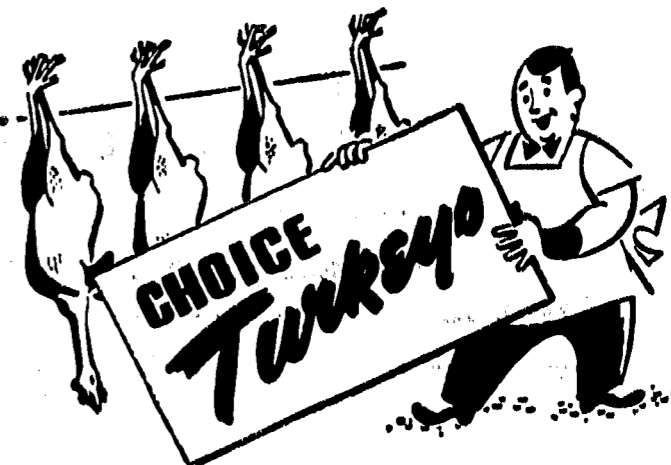

Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited

This series is presented by the people of Standard of B.C. and our associates, the independent Chevron Dealers, to discuss the part we play in the development of British Columbia, and our faith in the future of this province under the free opportunity system. Please send your suggestions or criticisms to President, Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited, Marine Building, Vancouver, B.C.

year work program ahead. Food supplies are grim and the people are not well fed or well clothed. They are haggard and shabby and must participate in black market operations to get their fair share of the normal rations of the country.

Soviets in Austria
For a moment Mr. Turner dealt with the Soviet influence in Austria. He instanced the car manufacturing industry. The Russians, he claimed, took away all the new car manufacturing machinery and when the Austrians set up older types of machinery which had been discarded, the Russians seized the finished products.

In the steel mills in Austria, 18,000 of the 19,000 machines were taken east by the Russians, he found. Eighty percent of the oil products from Russia are confiscated by the Russians and no accounting is given, he was told.

"What is going to happen when reparations are finally decided?" he queried, in the light of this information.

All but 19 locomotives in Austria have large labels appended. "Loaned to Austria".

In 1937, Austria produced more than 70 percent of its own requirements. Today the figure is less than 40 percent.

"Give us our bill and get out", is the Austrian plea to the occupying countries.

Up to the time of liberation, the majority of Austrians were pro-Soviet, Mr. Turner learned. Six months after the liberation, the Communists in Austria received less than five percent of the votes. The one reason was the action of the Red occupation forces.

Mr. Turner spoke of demonstrations he had observed on behalf of the socialist party in Austria, and he was greatly impressed with the youth movement which has sprung up. The future of Austria is inseparable to the future of the socialist party.

Children Benefit

Turning then to Great Britain, Mr. Turner stressed that there are no longer evidences of extreme wealth and poverty. The ragged, bare-foot urchins are no more and the wealthy people have taken a beating.

"The privileged class is no longer privileged, but a new privileged group has sprung up—the youngsters." He spoke of the pre-natal care now provided, special rations for infants and youngsters, a hot meal each day at the schools.

Regarding general rations, Mr. Turner found that the British housewife is definitely short of cooking fats and he suggested that any parcels sent there should contain fats, meats and sugar, with possibly some of the finer flours. There is a plentiful supply of vegetables and fruits this year and plenty of fish.

The Briton quite accustomed to rationing and is quite content as long as the changes are known to be fair.

"It would be hard to find a people more patient with the difficulties forced upon them," he declared. Queuing is practically second nature now and everybody seems to have lots of time.

Restaurant service is very poor by Canadian standards and there is a noticeable shortage of waitresses and clerks.

Mr. Turner visited the House of Commons and heard Churchill denounce the re-distribution bill. As a domestic politician, Churchill hasn't "anything on the ball", he declared.

The Labor ministers spoke without bombast and there was no attempt at showmanship, they were cool and businesslike.

"From my view of the House of Commons in action, at the next general election the Labor government will go back," he considered, "because the people have no alternative party which offers anything to the masses of the people."

Speaking on nationalization, he believed that it was so necessary

Multitude of Topics Before A.O.T.S. Meeting

Despite the rush season, 45 members of the Summerland AOTS turned out to the first meeting since June to hear an informative and sometimes startling report on conditions in Palestine by a man who has recently returned from there, Tom Cooper, and then in their business meeting get squared away for a new year's activities.

Two appeals for help in sports were heard; one from Basil Thornthwaite for financial aid in getting a new war canoe for the local club, which made such a good showing in the old canoe last season, and the other from Ernie Bennett, who warned that the Parks Committee no longer had funds to pay for the upkeep of the hockey rink.

Both proposals, after considerable discussion, were turned over to the finance committee for their suggestions.

A very successful season for the junior boys' baseball team was reported, with two games lost—something slipped somewhere. Joe Sheeley opined, such is this club's victorious record,—but winning the cup in the playoffs, and the handsome trophy was passed round for all to see.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved to Les Gould for his great work with this ball team, and another to Bill Laidlaw for his able handling of the transportation problem.

Mention of the need for another clean-up of Peach Orchard cemetery touched off a hot discussion, several members saying that its condition is a community disgrace. Ernie Bennett thought that if we keep working at it, there will eventually be a municipal parks committee to take care of this cemetery as well as our parks, and keep it in better condition.

Rev. Bert Whitmore reported that the Cub pack, sponsored by the AOTS, is flourishing and filled to capacity with boys, but short of help to handle them. Bob Butler said he is already working on the Boys' Parliament project, hoping that this year it will be able to sit in the legislative buildings in Victoria.

Several volunteers came forward to offer to help with hockey and basketball during the winter, and to help build equipment for the Lakeside church Sunday school, and with plans for a busy year ahead already taking shape, the meeting adjourned.

New Vernon Co-op Plant Nearly Ready

VERNON—With the new addition approaching completion, the Vernon Fruit Union has a cold storage capacity of upwards of a quarter of a million boxes of apples at its main house in Vernon. Area of new storage addition is approximately 120 feet square, which with machinery and equipment, represents an outlay of over $100,000. Three other plants are in operation at Oyama, Woodsdale and Winfield, and all four are owned and controlled by the growers and operated at cost.

The plant in Vernon extends for two city blocks from 32nd Street.

The lip of Okanagan Falls will probably be removed this week as the second stage of emergency work to lower the level of Okanagan Lake.

In Britain that the Conservatives if they did go back to power would not consider reverting to the old system.

This nationalization is helping to rebuild the economy of Great Britain, he concluded.

not satisfied with conditions in a rich country like Canada, with its vast natural resources.

Mr. Woodsworth quoted some of the statements made at the recent Progressive Conservative convention, which had called for representation of the common man, a middle of the road policy and a cessation of "double talk".

"And then they elected the most reactionary political leader on the continent," scornfully emphasized Mr. Woodsworth.

The speaker termed the Liberal policy under Mr. King, as trying to be "all things to all people." The Liberals have progressive platforms at elections but do nothing in between, and never accomplished anything unless forced to do.

"Their program is for election purposes only," stated Mr. Woodsworth, stating that there is an increasing protest from the people over this attitude.

In conclusion, the speaker referred to car insurance, declaring that for $6 coverage the car owner of Saskatchewan can obtain the same type of accident, collision and public liability insurance that he had to pay $48 for in B.C.

"Why is it that the B.C. government had the private insurance companies operate this type of insurance at eight times the cost?" he concluded.

THE GROWING YEARS

All through the growing years children need vitamin D. They need it winter and summer if they are to build strong bones and teeth and ward off the danger of rickets. Vitamin D is cheap and easy to obtain in drop, liquid or capsule form. A child cannot usually get enough vitamin D in his regular diet.

Churches Prepare For Thanksgiving Sunday Services

Fall flowers, frost-touched leafy branches, and the fruits of fall harvest will decorate Summerland churches on Thanksgiving Sunday, October 10, and special music will be offered by the choirs on that day.

Both St. Stephen's and St. Andrew's are following the old custom of asking their members to bring gifts of fruits and vegetables, which will serve the dual purpose of bringing home visually to the congregations the feeling of harvest and of helping the hospital to meet the ever-rising cost of living.

Donations are turned over to the hospital for its use after the services. Rev. H. R. Whitmore will preach typically at both the morning service in St. Andrew's and the evening at Lakeside United church, as will Canon F. V. Harrison at St. Stephen's.

Rev. R. W. Colter of Penticton will conduct special services of thanksgiving in the Baptist church in the absence of the regular pastor, Rev. F. W. Haskins.

New Kindergarten On Co-op Basis

The Jack and Jill Kindergarten, a new venture which promises to be a boon to busy mothers of small folk, opened on Monday, October 4, in the Baptist church with 17 little tots enrolled.

Mrs. F. R. Stewart and Mrs. Howard Milne are the enterprising teachers in charge of the school for pre-school children, and will be assisted by various mothers of their small charges on a turn-and-turn-about arrangement.

A pleasant and encouraging surprise was received by the two organizers on the morning of the opening, when Mr. and Mrs. Mel Ducommun left a big box of flowers plus a $5 bill to help buy supplies for the kindergarten.

Thirteen Guests At Birthday Party

WATERED GIN IS ARTHRITIS "CURE"

Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of health and welfare has said that claims of an arthritis cure by Lou F. Green, Port Alberni, have been refuted by a government-appointed committee of inquiry when releasing the committee's report in advance of its publication.

Mr. Pearson said that the committee found on analysis that Green's secret formula was found to contain watered gin, sulphur, cream of tartar and magnesium nitrate.

Worst Offender Is Vancouver Says O'Mahony

Last week, it was not possible to include a complete account of the regional hospitals meeting in Penitction, held on September 23. Following are some of the details discussed at this session which brought delegates from Revelstoke on the north, Oliver on the south and Princeton on the west to Penitction:

Secretary J. E. O'Mahony of Summerland voiced the opinion that some cities and municipalities are endeavoring to avoid the regulations of the residence and responsibility act. He named Vancouver as the worst offender in this regard and asked that the subject be reviewed by the B.C. association.

May be "Football"

"I can foresee the time when the hospitals will be the football between the cities and municipalities on the one hand and the provincial government on the other," he warned.

The subject of medical practitioners receiving a portion of the hospital x-ray charges was discussed, but it was considered that by January 1 this will be a subject for discussion between the medical association and the hospital insurance plan.

It was noted that the Canadian Red Cross is demanding that all hospitals carry malpractice liability insurance before they can participate in the blood transfusion service. Summerland is one of four hospitals in the region which is covered.

Out Patients

That out patients should be included in the insurance scheme was the Princeton delegates' contention and this point will be considered at the meeting on October 9 in Vancouver.

W. E. Adams, Kelowna, urged all hospitals to "get their house in order" before the insurance scheme takes effect. He stated Kelowna is considering raising public ward rates from $5 to $8.

It was stated by delegates that Oliver is now charging $5.50, Penitction $5, and Summerland $4.

The directors expressed amadement when Vernon announced that it is still only charging $3.50 but will raise that standard at the first of the year. Vernon directors stated they had a bank balance of about $2,200 last year but this has been reduced in the current year.

Kelowna and Penitction directors sought an explanation of Vernon delegates but the details of their operating were not forthcoming.

Fire Prevention Week Brings Out Fact That Neglected Stoves, Furnaces Create Fire Hazard

Neglected stoves, furnaces, boilers or chimneys account for about one-third of the fires in Canadian homes, causing $5,000,000 damage every year, and taking the lives of 50 or more persons, statistics show.

Most frequent cause of these tragedies are reported to be "overheated stove-pipes", "overheated furnace", or "faulty chimney".

"During Fire Prevention Week, October 2 to 7 everyone should think of the need for greater precautions against fire", points out a Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating spokesman.

"Now is the time to prepare heating equipment for winter use", he suggested.

"Most of these tragedies could be prevented. Proper cleaning of furnaces and chimneys, and repairs to worn out or damaged equipment and cracked chimneys will do much to prevent fires. These precautions will also help to cut high fuel bills caused by inefficient operation of equipment.

Clean all soot from the pipes connecting the furnace to the chimney, for soot can corrode the pipes. Pipes should also be checked for holes and loose connections from which obnoxious smoke and dangerous coal gas may escape, the Institute suggests.

"Fire Prevention Week is well timed to remind people to check and clean their heating equipment before autumn approaches".

Finally, the furnace fire box and heating boiler should be thoroughly cleaned and checked for other damage. Proper equipment and experience are necessary to make a thorough inspection and cleaning, particularly of the chimney, the Institute points out. Homeowners who are inadequately prepared to cope with the job should call in a qualified contractor.

Further hints are offered for the safest and most efficient method of handling the furnace.

All fuel generates gas when burning. To obtain full heating effect from the fuel, this gas should be completely burned in the fire box. If it escapes unburned through cracks in the furnace lining, loose joints in the pipes, or poorly fitting doors, it both wastes fuel and becomes a menace to the household.

Proper adjustment of the damper and drafts is necessary to ensure maximum combustion. This can be done most efficiently by automatic controls.

All doors on the furnaces should fit tightly and the fire door should be opened only when adding fuel. When stoking the fire, do not completely smother the flames. Leave a patch of red coals exposed to ignite the gases in the fire pot.

Another important precaution when handling the furnace is to stand to one side when opening the fire box door. Many persons are seriously burned every year by "blow backs". If the fire has been partly smothered by fresh coal, the unburned gases will accumulate in the fire box and erupt violently into flame as the door is opened. A tongue of flame may pillow out from the door, possibly with explosive violence. This should not happen if the furnace is properly fired and controlled, but stepping aside as you open the door is always a good precaution.

When furnace controls are manually operated, the check and draft dampers should be operated together. The draft should be open and the check closed for increased heat, then reversed when the furnace is burning sufficiently strongly.

The turn damper in the smoke pipe should be between the furnace and the check damper. It should not need altering daily. Do not close it too tightly or it will cause the fumes to back up into the furnace and to escape through furnace doors.

Gas ranges and hot water heaters require careful maintenance, and a contractor should be called immediately if a distinct smell of gas escaping can be detected.

Wood stoves always require care in handling, particularly when the stove is used for heating purposes. Overheating which makes the pipes of stove glowing red is a common cause of fires. Proper airspace and insulation is necessary at all points to prevent the wall, ceiling or floor from gradually heating to a point they will start to burn.

The use of kerosene or gasolene to start a stove, fireplace, or a furnace can be convenient and quick, but it is also dangerous. Many persons have died or suffered severe burning when the stove exploded or the flames shot up the trickle of gasolene to set fire to the container.

Red Cross Women Receive Honorary Awards for Work

Four British Columbia women have been awarded honorary memberships in The Canadian Red Cross Society for outstanding voluntary work during and since the Second World War.

They are Mrs. Stanley Fawcus and Mrs. J. S. Bricker, both of Vancouver, Mrs. C. N. Marlett, Powell River and Mrs. W. H. Molson, Victoria.

Mrs. Fawcus has been an active Red Cross worker since 1939, and during the war was commandant of the Red Cross corps, Vancouver detachment. She was very prominent in ARP training in the city.

Mrs. Bricker has served both as chairman of the social service department for two years up to 1942, and since as chairman of the social assistance department. She has been used by the B.C. division on numerous occasions for investigational work.

As wartime liaison officer of the Red Cross Corps, Mrs. Molson did valuable work in repatriation of prisoners of war. She also directed construction and operation of the Victoria Red Cross lodge.

Credit for shipment of 41,000 tins of jam totalling more than 1,500,000 pounds under the "Jam For Britain" project is given to Mrs. Mallet for her work in paving the way for the plan. She conceived the idea prior to the outbreak of the war and worked steadily to promote it.

No Hard Surface For Walk This Fall

Although the shale surface has been laid and the curb installed, it will be almost impossible to apply the hard surface mix on the sidewalk on Shaughnessy avenue in lower town until next spring, council was told last week. If one really hot day can be foreseen, then the work will be accomplished this fall, otherwise it will have to wait several months.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S Programme of Alcohol Education

LEGISLATIVE ACTION

By virtue of a plebiscite, taken October 20, 1920, under the provisions of "The Temperance Plebiscite Act," Chapter 93, 1920, the people of this Province decided that liquor should be sold under Government control.

On April 3, 1947, His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of British Columbia, enacted the Government Liquor Act Amendment Act by which the Minister of Education was required to institute a programme of alcoholic education.

A SCIENTIFIC EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMME IS DESIRABLE

The use of alcoholic beverages by society has existed for thousands of years in all countries, despite legal and social attempts to prohibit it.

The abuse of the custom of drinking presents many undesirable social, personal and economic problems.

The characteristics of modern society with its stresses and strains of living have increased the magnitude and complexity of the problems of alcohol.

The most hopeful approach today for improving the folkways and legal enactments in respect of the use of alcohol lies in a sound and scientific educational programme.

THE PROGRAMME FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Thousands of our young people are graduating from our schools into a world in which alcohol is widely used as a beverage. Many of them will face the problem of adopting or avoiding a social custom which they may have been told is dangerous but which seems to be acceptable to a large number of citizens.

The programme will present, through all available media and in a factual, impersonal and positive manner, the latest available scientific findings concerning alcohol.

In presenting this information definite steps will be taken in respect of the following:

- Not to convey the impression that moderate or temperate drinking is a worthy habit for young people.
- Not to undermine the influence of an essentially good home in which alcohol is used.
- Not to use exaggeration, over-emphasis, exhortation or other similar approaches.
- Not to present the student with preconceived conclusions concerning alcohol.

The student will be given such information as will enable him, with the advice of his parents, to form his own conclusions when years of discretion are reached.

This programme of alcohol education must not be viewed as a campaign. It is hoped that it will be a long-term educational effort.

It is not to be regarded as the only solution to all the problems of intemperance. Nor is it directed towards achieving legal enactments respecting the custom of drinking.

It is an educational programme and, despite its limitations, it is considered by most authorities to be a necessary and fundamental part of any progress towards a solution of the problems of alcohol.

It is hoped that as a result of such a programme as this, there will be a definite trend towards sobriety.

Street Light Standard Bases Are in Place

Bases for the street light standards on Granville and Hastings streets have now been located and completed, Councillor F. E. Atkinson informed the municipal council on Sept. 28, reporting on electric light department activities.

This department and the roads department is now working out the most feasible scheme whereby the hard surface roadways can be broken for the stringing of wire and cable between these standards and across the streets, with the least trouble possible.

Street lights have also been placed on Julia road, and one light has been put in position near the Free Methodist church. These lights have been sought by residents for the past year or more. The installation of a line to connect prospective users in the Sergeant subdivision has now been completed, Councillor Atkinson reported, but the council learned from Acting Clerk Gordon Smith that only three users have agreed to take the service.

There were eight applicants in the original plan, but some of these persons have given up their building plans there.

A carload of "hard to get" poles has recently been received and the council agreed that another carload for the electric light department should be ordered immediately.

Due to the wet weather, it has been difficult for operators to drag poles out of the woods, and they have been in short supply for months.

Also, the electric light department plans to bring in requisitions for a more general supply "across the board", Councillor Atkinson stated. He suggested that in the light of the "scare of war" the municipality should order more liberally for all its general requirements.

Cornwall Cannery Employed 182 on Staff at Peak Season

The Summerland cannery, now past the peak of its season's operations, is expected to complete a satisfactory pack, officials at Vancouver announced this week.

The plant, acquired from the Summerland Co-operative Growers Assn. in March by the Cardiff Company, a division of Canada Safeway Ltd., is now operated by Cornwall Canning Co. Ltd.

A complete new cannery line was installed at a cost in excess of $100,000 and has been a factor in setting a high standard for quality in this season's pack.

The tonnage of soft fruit handled in the cannery has not been as great as expected, due to the status can meet this suggestion, requisitions for further supplies will be considered at the next council session.

unfavorable weather early in the season.

unfavorable weather early in the season.

Three lines were added to the cannery's products this season—crab apples, cherries and diced fruit cocktails. Soft fruits, which make up the bulk of the cannery tonnage included apricots, peaches, plums and pears. Next season it is hoped to add apple sauce.

At the peak of its season the cannery had 182 employees, seventy percent being women and girls.

Third Series, Canada Savings Loan, Starts On Tuesday Oct. 12

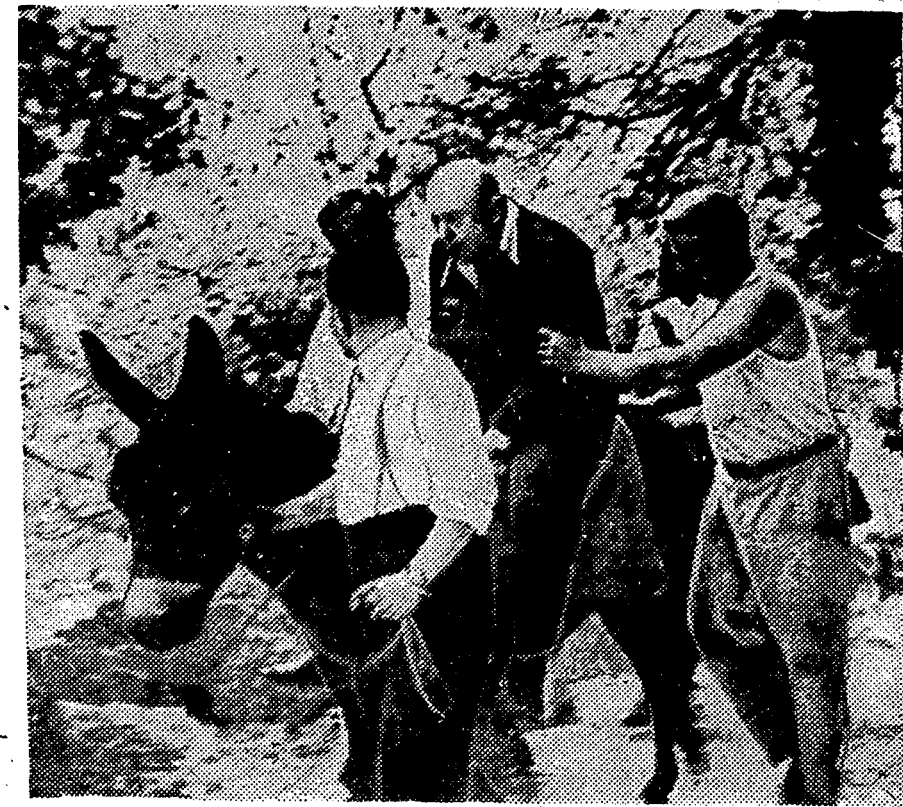

The secret of peace of mind is to have the knowledge that one is secure against most emergencies and such security generally means financial.

During the war years Canadian people acquired the habit of saving through purchase of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. This thrift habit has been carried over into the postwar years by 2,200,000 Canadians who purchased bonds in the First and Second Series, Canada Savings Bonds.

The Third Series, Canada Savings Loan, starts on October 12, and will be on sale until further notice. Bonds may be purchased outright, by instalments at banks or by payroll deductions where such facilities are set up by large plants and businesses.

Purchases are limited to $1,000 per individual although every member of a family may buy them. Interest is at the rate of 2 3/4 per cent per annum and bonds, which are registered in purchaser's name, are redeemable at any time at any chartered Canadian bank at par.

Bonds may not be transferred except in case of death when beneficiary or estate may receive them provided the limit in that series has not already been purchased.

Accompanied by willing Frenchmen, Britain's WINSTON CHURCHILL bites hard on his cigar as he makes a triumphant entry into Fontaine, Vaucluse, France, astride a donkey. Salmon Arm Takes Shuswap Lake Water

SALMON ARM—This city is now being supplied with water from Shuswap lake.

Without fanfare or ceremony of any kind, the pumping plant constructed in the joint domestic water scheme on the lakeshore at Engineer's Point was put into operation last week and since then water has been pumped from the lake to the new concrete reservoir on the Harvey property, Trans-Canada, supplying the city's distribution mains.

WOULD BORROW $55,000

SALMON ARM—A bylaw to borrow $55,000 to complete the installation of distribution lines for domestic water in the municipality, will be submitted to Salmon Arm municipal ratepayers as soon as the necessary details can be completed.

EXPECT AMPLE FERTILIZER SUPPLY FOR 1949 CROPS

In general, there should be a sufficient supply for Canadian 1949 crop requirements of the nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash fertilizers.

As these are produced in Canada, large quantities of sulphate of ammonia, ammonium nitrate and cyanamid in excess of Canadian requirements, sufficient of these nitrogen materials can be retained for domestic requirements by using present export controls, says G. S. Peart, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Phosphate supply in the form of superphosphate should be ample, but again this year there may be a shortage of 11-48 ammonium phosphate in the prairie provinces. This is due to a continued increase in demand in that part of Canada for this material while its production at Trail, the only source of supply, is not likely to be increased.

Some 43,000 tons of 11-48 ammonium phosphate was used on the prairies in the spring of 1948 as against 10,000 tons in 1943.

Potash supply from the United States and Europe should be ample provided that the tonnage arranged in France materializes as expected. Sulphate of potash with which to make tobacco fertilizer with low chlorine content may be short again this year.

GULCH ROAD IS NOT ESTABLISHED

Because the Gulch road has not been established, sale of four lots has been held up for over a year, W. Bloomfield pointed out to the council on Sept. 28. Reeve Johnston declared that this subject will be discussed with Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon, who is acquainted with the deal. No title can be granted for the subdivision until the Gulch road survey is completed, Mr. Bloomfield stated.

CANNOT SUPPLY EXTRA POLICEMAN

Staff Sergeant D. Halcrow, in charge Penticton police detachment, has informed the Summerland council that "much as we would like to do this we cannot due to the shortage of manpower."

This reply was in connection with the Summerland council request for the stationing of a relief constable in Summerland when the local incumbent takes his annual holidays.

It was suggested by the council that this subject be discussed further when the provincial police head officials make their annual visit.

Councillor Bentley suggested that the council may soon have to face a full-time constable for the municipality.

New Mixes for Cement Advocated

"It was a good conference and we got good information," Water Foreman E. Kercher reported to the council last week, when asked concerning his attendance at the annual convention of the municipal and public works engineers at Vancouver.

Mr. Kercher was specially pleased concerning the information he gathered on cement and its mixing. "Ideas on mixtures in cement have changed a lot", he told the council and he hoped to use the revised ideas in municipal works projects to the benefit of the municipality.

Cannot Apply Road Seal Coat

It has been too cold to apply the seal coat on the hard surfaced roads, Councillor E. L. Wilson informed the municipal council on Sept. 28. The suggestion that because of the open type of hard surface laid this year that a seal coat be applied will have to lay over until next spring, council decided.

A portion of Garnet Valley road was sealed but the work had to be discontinued.

Council also approved the addition of a bulldozer blade, to be attached when needed to the new maintainer. Councillor Bentley considered this blade could be obtained for $150.

Roads are nearly all graded throughout the municipality, Councillor Wilson reported.

Emergency Cut-Off Channel At Oliver Finished as First Step in Lake Flood Control

The emergency cutoff in the channel of the Okanagan River at the Oliver sawmill was broken through on Sept. 23, and completed today. This is the first and largest step in the temporary measures undertaken to increase the flow of Okanagan River, which, in turn, it is hoped, will reduce Okanagan Lake more rapidly and put it at the "safety" minimum level of 99.5 by next April.

The next step in the emergency program is the blow off of the lip of Okanagan falls in order that the flow over the falls may be increased and the level of Skaha lake be lowered by about a foot. This will probably be undertaken immediately.

These measures, it is hoped, will increase the velocity of Okanagan river between the lake and Skaha sufficiently to allow the river to take another 400 c.f.s. which will be sufficient over the winter period to reduce the lake about one foot. The present flow with the increase of 400 c.f.s., it is expected will enable the lake to be lowered to 99.5 before the next runoff period.

New Oliver Channel
The new Oliver channel, which is 30 feet wide, four feet deep and about a quarter of a mile long, gives the river a drop of about 2.73 feet at that point and eliminated a long bend around the sawmill. This, it is felt, will do much to eliminate danger to the Oliver syphon or the sawmill itself.

The blowing of the lip of the Okanagan Falls will enable more water to flow over the falls and will reduce the level of Skaha lake. This in turn, will increase the flow of the river above the lake and, it is expected, will increase the river flow out of the lake by about 400 c.f.s. Some diking may be necessary in the Penticton area.

Last week the lake level reading was 103.03. This is .53 feet or 6.36 inches above the agreed maximum figure of 102.5.

On September 2 the level was 103.82. Thus, during the very favorable dry month of September the level was reduced only .79 feet or 9.48 inches.

All-Time High
The present level creates a new all-time record high for the lake at this season of the year.

Under the best conditions, the best that can be hoped is that the "agreed maximum" of 102.5 will be reached in about three weeks time.

In the meantime, persons using the bottom lands at Oliver as agricultural lands have become uneasy about the continued flooding of their property and the prospect that they will be flooded for the greater part of the winter.

A "bottom lands association" was formed and a meeting held at which the situation was discussed.

Last week the department of lands at Victoria asked officials of the South Okanagan irrigation project at Oliver to assist in assessing whatever damage may have been done bottomland property in that area.

Mayor D. Hodson of the irrigation project has appointed his assistant, Mr. Robinson, and the local provincial department of agriculture representative as a committee to make this damage survey.

The flooding situation has caused several headaches to the Oliver irrigation officials this year. In the first place there was grave danger that the flooded river might take out the main syphon across the river. McIntyre creek went wild and flooded the irrigation ditch in two places at least twice. The emergency work of cutting a new channel required the use of the project's steam shovel, taking it away from emergency work for the project itself. Now members of the project's staff have been assigned to other work, inconveniencing the project's own activities.

On June 28th the lake reading was 104.82. Last week it was 103.03.

Thus in three months the level of the lake has been reduced only 1.79 feet or 21.48 inches, an average of 7.19 inches per month. These three months were supposedly the most favorable period of the year as rainfall is normally light in those months.

Danger Ahead
While the lake must be lowered another 6.36 inches before it even reaches the figure which was agreed to be the controlled maximum level, during the next five months it must be lowered 3.53 feet to get it down to the controlled minimum level of 99.5.

The engineers concerned have expressed their opinion that it is imperative this year the lake be lowered to even below that figure. They point out that the hills are very wet this year and it can be expected that little of the snow waters will be absorbed by the soil. Should the runoff be heavy, a more than normal percentage of the water will find its way into the lake and it will be extremely difficult to hold the lake to the "agreed maximum" level again next year.

Community Planners Want Membership

Summerland municipal council took no action on a plea from the Community Planning Association of Canada for the municipal fathers to join their ranks. "A planned community means a better community," this group suggested, and asked for names of persons who might be interested in joining the association. The council decided that, as it has already obtained the services of the provincial government town planning commission it need go no further.

Walter Powell Chosen President Of Ski Club for Coming Season

Looking forward to another active year which may be climaxed by the holding of the Okanagan zone championships next February, the annual general meeting of the Summerland Ski Club was held at the Nu-Way Annex last Tuesday evening.

Bowling Will Get Underway Here This Month

Under the presidency of Al Soderberg the Merchants bowling league is expected to swing into action later this month.

Walter B. Powell was chosen the new president of the club, succeeding Don Agur, who has held this post for the past two seasons. Bob Barkwill is vice-president, with Miss Dorothy MacDonald as secretary and W. A. Laidlaw as treasurer.

Phil Munro was named hill captain on Tuesday night and Bill Snow was placed in charge of club publicity. The social committee and high school representative were not selected.

With the completion of the new ski jump looming this fall with more volunteer work on the part of members and other interested parties, the local club is looking forward to holding the Okanagan zone ski championships here this winter.

This meet location will not be decided until early November when the annual meeting of the Okanagan zone will be held in West Summerland.

Penticton is also making a bid for this annual tournament but it is hoped locally that the Summerland club will get the nod.

Nearly fifty persons, with school students in the majority, turned out for the annual ski club meeting on Tuesday.

Windup of the evening came when Verne Ahrens, Kelowna, Okanagan zone president, showed two reels of films depicting the Okanagan championships at Kelowna last winter and the Kelowna meet held the year before. These pictures awakened keen interest among the ski followers.

Fred Dunsdon Wins Historic Shatford Cup and Captains Top Team for Powell Trophy

Fred Dunsdon, winner of the Tyro grand aggregate at the Kelowna rifle shoot this year, ended the 1948 season with a brilliant 100 out of a possible 105 last Sunday to capture the grand aggregate championship of the Summerland Rifle Club at the final wind-up shoot of the year.

This was the annual field day shoot which is held each year to wind up the season's activities. Five teams shot for the Powell cup with Fred Dunsdon's team capturing top honors with 377 points out of 420 possible.

By winning the grand aggregate, Fred Dunsdon holds the Shatford cup for the next year. He was given a close run for this top honor, as G. M. Dunsdon, who has been capturing most of the weekly shoots this year, was second with 99 and Phil Dunsdon was third with 98.

Three Possibles
Three possibles were scored at 200 and 500 yard ranges. George Dunsdon scored a possible 35 at 200 yards while Phil and Fred Dunsdon registered perfect scores at the 500 yard range, Phil winning the shoot-off.

At 600 yards, Phil and Fred again tied for first place and again Phil captured the first place honors. Another close race was registered in the tyro class when Doug Price and A. W. Moys both scored 93 points, Price taking the first prize in the shoot off.

Six ladies shot five rounds each on the 200 and 600 yard ranges with Jean Gould capturing the first place honors.

Grand aggregate—1, F. W. Dunsdon 100; 2, G. M. Dunsdon 99; 3, P. S. Dunsdon 98.

Tyro aggregate—1, D. Price, 93; 2, A. W. Moys, 93.

Most magpies on score, Les Gould; consolation prize, W. C. W. Fosbery; off hand sweep at 600 yards, F. W. Dunsdon; kneeling sweep at 600 yards, Les Gould.

200 yards—1, G. M. Dunsdon, 35; 2, D. Price 34; 3, J. McLachlan 33, after shoot off with Bert Simpson. 500 yards—1, P. S. Dunsdon, 35; 2, F. W. Dunsdon, 35; 3, D. Price, after shoot off with Bert Simpson. 600 yards—1, P. S. Dunsdon, 32; 2, F. W. Dunsdon, 33; 3, D. Weitzel.

Hoopers Will Get Underway Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night the Summerland Basketball Club gets underway for the fall and winter season when the annual meeting and election of officers will be held in the Nu-Way Annex.

Several of the executive posts will have to be filled with new appointees this year, it is learned, as the old executives have signified that they will not allow their names to go forward again in some cases.

The 1947-48 season was not an outstanding one for the local club as there was no senior aggregation and both the junior and intermediate teams were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs. However, there is a lot of potential playing strength among the younger element and a strong intermediate A and B team should be produced this year, while there are lots of younger players coming along for the junior positions.

Coaching has been a problem for the past year or two, but may be eased in school circles this year.

There is no evidence of any new talent appearing on the horizon for a senior squad this year although there may be talent here which could be uncovered with the first practices.

Need $50,000 to Complete Kelowna Memorial Arena

A $50,000 bylaw, covering the cost of completing the Kelowna and District War Memorial Arena, may be submitted to Kelowna ratepayers before the end of the year.

The memorial committee in conjunction with McCarter and Nairne, architects, have made a thorough investigation of the final costs of the arena, and it is estimated $50,000 would complete the building in every respect.

Figures submitted to city fathers showed that the total amount expended to date, including the balance of payments due to sub-contractors, amounts to $169,800; amount required to complete the building ready for use, $7,200; refrigeration installation complete, $35,000; public address system installed, $2,500; removable wood floor for future use, $8,500; architect fees, $12,000; total $285,000. Funds available amount to $185,000.

WINTER VENTILATION

This month many people will check their furnaces in preparation for the winter months. Million Dollars Aid for Fraser Valley Flood Victims

Fraser Valley flood victims will receive more than $1 million in rehabilitation aid during the next six months through the Red Cross-administered B.C. flood fund.

This was revealed Thursday in a report released by Col. C. A. Scott, B.C. Red Cross commissioner, outlining proposed purchases for an estimated 1,900 families for food, fuel, clothing and medical aid.

Up to the end of September, $1,329,044 had been spent or had been committed for goods. This sum included purchases totalling $279,044 up to August 31, $550,000 during September and $500,000 for goods on order or being ordered.

Fund purchases are made to fill specific requests only where essential need is proven to Red Cross field representatives.

"Since the flood fund was collected from all parts of Canada, specifically for aid to flood victims, we are committed to use the money solely for this purpose," the commissioner emphasized.

Estimates of valley residents' needs for the next six months comprise food costs totalling $632,700, fuel purchases totalling $114,000, $152,000 in medical aid and clothing valued at $119,500. This is a combined expenditure of $1,098,200.

Together with funds already spent, the next half year's proposed outlay would bring total expenditures on flood relief to $2,427,244.

Percy Downton New Arena Manager

In Kelowna on Monday, Mr. George E. Brown, chairman of the Kelowna Arena commission, announced that Mr. Percy Downton of Penticton has been appointed the new manager of the arena which is expected to be opened in November.

Mr. Downton, a commercial traveller, is well known throughout the interior of B.C. He played midget, juvenile and junior hockey in Saskatoon and spent a year touring Europe as a member of a Canadian hockey team. Before coming to B.C., Mr. Downton played senior hockey for the Regina Vics.

His sports prowess has extended to lacrosse, golf, softball and baseball.

The new arena manager will report for duty on October 15 and will be kept extremely busy arranging for the arena opening on November 11, Mr. Brown states.

DO YOU PAY BY CHEQUE?

THIS METHOD IS SAFER AND HANDIER THAN CASH

Why are the great majority of business transactions in Canada now made by cheque, not cash? If you still pay your bills in cash, you may be interested in the advantages of payment by cheques.

One is simply that this method enables you to avoid carrying too much cash on your person. Like most people, you doubtless know what a headache lost cash or receipts can cause before they are found—if they ever are. But prompt notice to your bank stops payment on a mislaid cheque. And once cashed, your cheque becomes a receipt, thus protecting you.

You can enjoy this time-saving convenience by opening an account at the local Bank of Montreal branch. J. Muirhead, the manager, and his staff, will welcome the opportunity to be helpful.—Adv.

Plan to Extend Local Boundaries Into Lake as Industries Plan Fills

Two industrial expansion proposals which will require huge fills in Okanagan lake on Summerland's waterfront are projected for the next year. In order to meet this contingency, Summerland council is planning to proceed with its project started a year ago to extend the boundaries of the municipality into Okanagan lake a distance of six hundred feet over the entire seven-mile stretch from Trout Creek Point to Crescent Beach.

Councillor Wilson introduced this subject before Tuesday's council meeting when he enquired what progress is being made towards extending the municipal boundaries eastward. He reminded the council that this project was commenced last fall, but there has been no progress reported for months.

Co-op Sends Out $90,768 in Cheques

Cheques totalling $90,768 went out in the mails yesterday from the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Assn. to its shipping members, representing payments on another portion of this season's crop.

This is a part payment on peaches, prunes, Bartlett and Clapp's Favorite pears.

Community Hall Vote Heralded For December

After months of delay, Summerland council has agreed that the proposed bylaw for the Living Memorial Community hall, projected for the park-playground property, should wait for the municipal elections in December before presentation to the public for ratification.

A ratepayers' meeting some months ago agreed that a bylaw for $20,000 should be submitted to the taxpayers for their approval.

This proposed Community hall would provide facilities for roller skating, dances and meetings, plus rooms for younger groups' meetings and a good-sized kitchen and serving bar.

The Summerland Memorial Parks committee obtained plans and specifications for the building and a rough estimate placed the cost at $17,000. In order to meet contingencies it has been agreed that the bylaw will call for the raising of $20,000 for this project.

The hall, if approved by the taxpayers, will be located north of the hockey rink in the park playground and will also contain public rest rooms.

"What about the municipal hall?" queried Councillor Eric Tait while the council was agreeing that the community hall bylaw should be held over, at this late date, until the December elections. He was informed that no further action has been taken on the proposal to build the municipal hall on the park-playground property, as well.

Bridge Across Lake Forecast

W. A. C. Bennett, former South Okanagan MLA, announced in Kelowna this week that a preliminary survey has been made by the provincial government aimed at the establishment of a bridge across Okanagan lake to connect the westside territory and Kelowna, replacing the existing ferry runs.

Mr. Bennett is quoted as stating that the proposed bridge would consist of a 1,500-foot centre span and two 750-foot end spans. It would cross the lake at the narrowest point, entering Kelowna's city park.

He predicted that when the Hope-Princeton highway is completed the tremendous increase in traffic through the Okanagan would warrant the bridge.

Wide Variety of Subjects Available In Film Council Showings This Fall

This month the Summerland Film Council has a wide variety of films for presentation by clubs in the district which are affiliated, and has also issued a list of the films which will be available for distribution in November.

The range is from eight to thirty minutes, with most of the films being ten-minute features.

Canadian Screen Magazine No. 12 is divided into three parts, Canada's wheat crop relieving world shortage, helicopters speed mail delivery and Alcan highway preparing for tourist trade.

Eyewitness films are always popular and this month's film concerns the atomic energy plant at Chalk River, Ont., and Canada's trade mission to South Africa, briefly sketching South Africa's industries.

Long and Short
Let's All Sing is an eight-minute short, while the longest film is entitled Toscanini and pictures the famous maestro conducting the NBC's orchestra in Giuseppe Ver-

Acting Clerk Gordon Smith was asked to delve into this subject and endeavor to get the necessary legal steps undertaken as soon as possible.

Mr. George Washington, manager of the Summerland Co-operative Growers Assn. approached the council on Tuesday to enquire into the possibility of obtaining material from municipal land south of James lake for a big fill in Okanagan lake.

Mr. Washington explained that the Co-op intends to enlarge its packing plant in lower town and the only method of providing such accommodation is to extend eastwards into the lake, as adjoining property has been occupied already.

He estimated that the fill will require 10,000 yards of material and the gravel material available south of James lake would be ideal for his purpose, he felt. Mr. Washington stated that engineer's advice would be obtained before approaching the council regarding conclusion of an agreement.

The council replied that a deal would be possible for this material, but the price would be fixed at a later date.

A jocular comment was made that if the Co-op should build a road up Giant's Head, material would gladly be supplied free of charge to the Co-op. Mr. Washington failed to signify any willingness to proceed with such a project.

The second building which may be pushed out into lake waters is an addition to the Cornwall Canning Co. Ltd., plant which is located immediately south of the Co-op property. No details of this plan are forthcoming but The Review has learned from reliable sources that such an addition is being projected.

Taxes Must be Paid By Tomorrow Afternoon

Tomorrow, Friday, October 15 is the final day for tax payment to escape the ten per cent penalty.

With the issuance of cheques by the Summerland Co-operative Growers Assn. yesterday, the municipal office is anticipating two extremely busy days today and tomorrow as the taxpayers rush to meet the deadline.

If payment isn't made by 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, then an additional ten per cent must be paid, Acting Clerk Gordon Smith warns the ratepayers of the community.

SIDEWALKS IN NEED OF REPAIR

Two sidewalks in lower town were the subject of council discussion on Tuesday afternoon. Councillor C. E. Bentley suggested that the sidewalk south from W. Gillard's residence should receive a coat of fine shale to improve the walking surface. Council agreed to the suggestion.

H. I. Dempster drew council's attention to the dilapidated condition of the wooden sidewalk between Dr. F. W. Andrew's home and the old wharf. Foreman E. Kercher was asked to investigate and improve the condition of this sidewalk.

"Hymn to the Nations"; tenor soloist is Jan Peacor. Along other educational lines is the film "Nursing", showing nurses in operating rooms, as x-ray helpers, as school nurses and in other similar operations.

Another health film is Vitamin Wise, demonstrating the vitamin values of staple vegetables and fruits and urging housewives to make the best of their larder's stock. Proper cooking methods and new and economical ways of preserving and storing the nation's precious crop of vegetables are shown.

Name J. H. Horn Campaign Head For Coalition

Alfred J. H. Horn, well-known resident of Okanagan Mission and a civic worker of some renown in Kelowna, was selected last night as campaign manager supporting Mr. R. D. Browne-Clayton, young war veteran who has been chosen to contest the South Okanagan by-election on behalf of the Coalition.

Executives of the South Okanagan Liberal and Progressive Conservative associations met in Kelowna last evening to formulate plans for the coming campaign.

Reeve Reid A. Johnston headed the Liberal delegation and Mr. W. G. Gillard, also of Summerland, was spokesman for the Progressive Conservatives.

It was decided that with the candidate and the campaign manager residing in Kelowna district that most of the campaign officials would be selected from the Orchard City environs, where they will be easily accessible.

The committees will organize finance, strategy, publicity and organization and were picked on a strictly Coalition basis, it was stated here this morning.

Ald Horn announced that he would set up Coalition campaign headquarters in Room 18 of the Bennett block in Kelowna.

Each district will organize its own campaign force and headquarters. In Summerland, the campaign place has not yet been selected.

Full reports of the nominating convention held in Kelowna last Thursday together with stories of Acting Premier Anson and E. T. Kenney talks may be found on other pages of this issue.

DONALD FLEMING, fresh from a defeat for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party, left Montreal recently for London, where he will attend the Commonwealth Parliamentary conference. Fleming is one of 11 Canadian delegates attending the conference to discuss cultural and economic relations within the Commonwealth. In all, 97 representatives from all the Commonwealth nations will be at the conference.

Local Man Fined On Driving Count

As a result of the three-vehicle accident on the Summerland-Peachland highway involving the OK Valley freight and two cars, Arthur H. Evers, of Summerland, appeared before Magistrate H. Sharman in Summerland police court on Friday, October 8 and paid a fine of $30 and $4.25 costs, on a charge of dangerous driving.

Trustees Debate Color Scheme For School Roof but Finally Decide Green Should be Chosen

School District No. 77 (Summerland) board is still feeling its way carefully through the unfamiliar mazes of trusteeship, but it did pass three salary adjustments at its meeting in the high school on Tuesday, October 12.

The first and second janitors, who are employed full time, are to receive $15 monthly more than heretofore, while the third man, employed on a part-time basis, will have his wages adjusted to meet the new scale. This will bring Summerland's janitor wages in line with those paid in Penticton and other centres.

Inspector J. N. Burnett was present for the meeting with Chairman F. G. Dodwell, Trustees C. J. Bleasdale, Aubrey King, Dr. James Marshall and Secretary E. A. Tingley. The lone feminine representative, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, was unable to attend.

No Feminine Touch

The new school addition and the renovation to the old elementary school building came in for a good deal of discussion, particularly as to trim and roof, the trustees being in sore need of their feminine member's guidance, as they discussed the suitability of brown and ivory buildings topped with green or red roofs.

Chairman Dodwell had conducted a one-man public opinion poll on the question, and claimed that 85 per cent of the persons he talked to preferred a green roof, while Mr. Bleasdale and Dr. Marshall plumped for a good strong red. Dr. Marshall was afraid the school might blossom forth with "one of those dashed bilious greens that will make you ill every time you drive by".

Mr. King straddled the fence nicely by saying he liked a green roof personally, but a red roof did look nice showing through the green trees in the summer time.

Final upshot was a decision in favor of green.

Added to Committee
Mr. Bleasdale expressed himself as a little uneasy about the wide window trim being left around and between the windows for the new stucco surface of the elementary school, and in the general discussion of the work being done as compared with the specifications laid down by McCarter & Nairne, architects. Dr. Marshall asked that he be given assistance on the building committee, as he felt he could not give as much time to checking into the progress as should be given.

Chairman Dodwell appointed Mr. Bleasdale as the second member of this committee, and either or both members are to see Mr. Hare, the architects' representative, whenever he visits the project.

Gym Classes
The board decided to rent the high school gymnasium at a nominal sum of $1 weekly to Mr. W. J. Schwab, so that he may conduct the gymnasium classes broached at the last meeting. This procedure will identify the Board against any liability in case of accident.

INVITES CONFERENCE
Summerland Board of Trade's invitation to the Associated Boards of Trade to hold its next quarterly session here has been accepted. This meeting will be held in January.

Some Hope of Action on Trout Creek Control is Taken From Kenney Talk

Support of the municipal council is to be given the Trout Creek Flood Control committee in its endeavor to have some action taken by the provincial government towards control of Trout Creek before next spring's freshets bring a renewal of the danger to orchard and lakeshore property besides the provincial highway and bridge connecting Okanagan highway.

Such was the decision of Tuesday's council session following a suggestion by Councillor Eric Tait.

Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands, will be written asking for some government guidance and assistance in plotting the proper course of the creek and providing against a recurrence of the creek overflow which threatened a large acreage on Trout Creek Point last June.

It is understood that the public works department has already communicated with O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, stating that this department does not deal with flood control.

A previous letter from the Trout Creek committee headed by Magnus Tait to the lands department did not give much promise of government assistance this fall or winter.

In regard to repayment of flood damage costs, Hon. Mr. Kenney, while addressing the Coalition nominating convention in Kelowna last week, stated that he had toured the province and had estimated that a million and a half dollars would be needed to reimburse persons and municipalities for a portion of the flood costs, apart from the Fraser Valley area.

Of the 821 claims which have been forwarded, 647 have been investigated by Hon. Mr. Kenney and his department officials, and payment of 357 amounting to $900,000 has been made.

"We are accomplishing this investigation with our own officers and not setting up any separate committee," Mr. Kenney explained. "We are completing it as quickly as possible."

The minister also explained that his department is anxious to deal with flood control as well as make recompense for flood damage.

To this end, an over-all policy of flood control is in process of preparation, both on a provincial and international scale.

Hydraulic engineers are being sent throughout the province to investigate flood control measures. Mr. Kenney explained at another point, and he intended to spend several days in the Okanagan investigating local conditions.

To the committee's knowledge, Hon. Mr. Kenney did not visit the Trout Creek area in the past week, but his statement last Thursday, at Kelowna gives the committee some hope that an engineer of the lands department may be available soon to investigate control of this troublesome body of water.

In the meantime, the municipal council is adding its plea to Mr. Kenney's department for assistance in solving Trout Creek flood control.

Claim for Twelve Chickens Honored

A claim of $1.25 per bird for twelve chickens killed by a dog was given council okay at the regular afternoon session, on Tuesday. This claim will be paid from funds collected from the municipal dog tax. J. V. Charles submitted the claim within 24 hours of the birds being killed and thereby abided by the regulations. The municipality must pay all such claims if it can be proven that a dog destroyed the birds.

Council comment on Tuesday suggested that the river flow has been increased considerably and the lake is now falling at a more rapid rate.

Fall Bazaar and Exhibition by W.I. To Include Practical Demonstrations

Main business of the Women's Institute meeting last Friday, October 9, held in Oddfellows' hall, was that of the fall bazaar and exhibition being put on next Saturday afternoon in the same hall.

President Mrs. M. E. Collas has lined up a notable display of handiwork, and announced that demonstrations of weaving, spinning and Christmas card-making will be given by Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, Mrs. Harvey Wright and Mrs. A. K. Macleod respectively.

It is expected that an interesting display of the work of talented local ladies will be shown, as well as an exhibit of family treasures and rarities. Mrs. H. E. McLarty, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh and Mrs. A. K. Macleod are in charge of the gathering and display of this exhibit.

Mrs. Collas also called upon every member to bring one article for sale, either home cooking or some home-made garment or household article. Mrs. Dan Weis and Mrs. A. Bingham were appointed to take the responsibility of receiving and arranging these donations, while Mrs. J. J. Blewett and Mrs. George Inglis were appointed a committee in charge of personnel to man the sales booths.

Mrs. E. Farnham as secretary-treasurer presented for approval a gift of $5 each to establish bank

Ottawa Will Await Reports Of Engineers

Hope that the 1946 report of provincial-dominion engineers on Okanagan lake flood control will be implemented has been expressed in the valley since the minister of public works at Ottawa has replied to the special valley-wide committee set up to urge on Ottawa and Victoria the need for immediate action along this line.

On Tuesday, the Summerland council received a communication from the federal minister enclosing a copy of a letter forwarded to the Okanagan committee dealing with this subject.

It was explained by the minister that so extensive is the work planned by the engineers' report that it cannot be carried out in a short time. However, preliminary surveys and estimates are to be obtained by engineers, $75,000 having been allotted by the dominion department and a similar amount by the provincial government towards this first step.

When these necessary plans and surveys are completed and submitted, the federal government will then enter into negotiations with the province on a plan of implementation of the report, he stated.

In the meantime, the district engineer at New Westminster has been allotted by Ottawa an emergency sum of $7,000 in order to carry out small projects to relieve the situation for the spring of 1949. It is understood that the province has put up an equal amount.

Already, a diversion ditch has been opened near the Oliver Sawmills property to increase the flow of Okanagan river and the blowing of the lip at Okanagan Falls is being undertaken.

Council comment on Tuesday suggested that the river flow has been increased considerably and the lake is now falling at a more rapid rate.

Apple Tag Day

THIS Saturday, a new tag day has been set aside for this community — Boy Scout Apple Tag Day. It is not a new tag day in general, but has never been tried here before.

Every thinking person appreciates the fine work of the Boy Scout movement which has spread across the world. Young lads are taught the principles of good sportsmanship, of leadership, and are taught to care for themselves at all times.

But, like every other cause, the Boy Scouts need financial assistance. Funds raised in this manner are to be used for general troop purposes and for equipment and camping costs.

Don Fisher, well-known assistant Scoutmaster, has this to say about Scout Apple Tag Day: "When a Boy Scout asks you on Saturday to buy an apple, the purpose is not so much to sell fruit as to give you an opportunity to help this great movement by your contribution."

Help the Scouts on Saturday. Buy an Apple.

Greater Artists Series

THIS week there commenced a cultural campaign which is one of the most worthwhile drives of the year, from the standpoint of individual appreciation in the realm of art.

We refer to the season ticket sale of the Southern Okanagan Greater Artists Series, which will present for the second winter four concerts of outstanding merit.

In the interior, it is not often possible for us to enjoy the performances of artists who are known throughout the country.

But by this co-operative effort, by the purchase of season tickets, four top notch entertainment programs are being offered. Not all the artists have been given No. 1 rating, but each performer has won fame in concerts throughout the land. Chief appearance will be the return of the original Don Cossack chorus and dancers, a treat which thrilled interior patrons two seasons ago.

These entertainment programs are being offered in Penticton but a considerable portion of the available tickets are being offered this community. It is an opportunity which one cannot afford to miss. Such stars of the opera, theatre and concert stage come to the interior only too seldom.

Result of Rearmament

THERE have been many ominous notes sounded about the future of our industrial welfare, with the prospect of losing a goodly portion of the British Isles market for our exports, especially of lumber.

Acting Premier Herbert Anscomb and Minister of Lands and Forests E. T. Kenney had one answer last week, that of boosting production over a given period to reduce selling costs.

It is apparent from despatches emanating from the east that Canada is faced with the problem of relinquishing sales to the United Kingdom and endeavoring to invade the U.S. field to a greater extent. At the same time, Canada must import more from the United Kingdom.

Fears that there will be a recession seem to have gone overboard with the rearmament program which Canada has now announced. It is a gloomy thought that a business recession can be overcome by preparations for war, but it is a fact which is being faced and recognized.

P. M. Richards, writing in Toronto Saturday Night, says that "government spending, in Canada and the United States, is likely to be an important factor—probably the decisive factor—in checking any incipient slump. Rearmament will provide a shot-in-the-arm for business, if one is needed. If it isn't the effect will be rather unpleasantly inflationary."

With the prospects of a rearmament program imminent, it is expected that such materials as silk and nylon will be in short supply. Iron and steel will be diverted to a great degree to war materials. Part of the lumber which is now being sold to Great Britain can find a market in the war surplus stockpile.

As Mr. Richards points out, if the demand for these products remains strong in other quarters, the result of the re-armament program may result in still further rise in prices. On the other hand, it may be that this action will only offset the slump which is expected on the export of Canadian goods to Britain and other European countries which are turning to the Baltic countries for their supplies; even to countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Whatever the result, thought of a recession is receding but the prospect of lowered prices will also fade from the forefront, which is not too pleasant a thought for the man in the low income bracket.

But with an election year forecast in 1949, there should be some relief from the high income taxes the government is continuing to enforce. Maybe the new speedlined taxation forms promised for next year will streamline the amounts demanded. Maybe.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Don't worry about nutritional deficiencies—do something about them! This is the sage advice of Miss Yvonne Love, consultant in nutrition for the B.C. Department of Public Health. Evidently Miss Love practises what she preaches as she is an excellent example of buoyant health and radiates enthusiasm. Miss Love spoke at a joint meeting of the Okanagan Agricultural Club and representatives of the B.C. Department of Public Health held last week in Kelowna. She stressed the importance of including plenty of milk, fruit and vegetables in the diet. Miss Love also advocated the use of iodized salt especially in the Okanagan which is recognized as an iodine deficient area.

Jack Wilcox spoke on the relation of soil fertility to health. He pointed out that when soils are deficient in minerals this deficiency is reflected in the composition of plants grown thereon and affects the health of animals consuming the plants as food. He pointed out that under modern farming methods, cows are encouraged to produce large volumes of milk, and hens are made to lay much larger numbers of eggs than they do in the wild state. This high production brings about an increased demand for minerals, which is one reason why many farmers have found it essential to feed mineral supplements to their livestock.

Dr. Zeman, supervisor of the Okanagan Health Unit, stated that so long as people eat adequate quantities of the foods recommended in "Canada's Food Rules" it should not be necessary for them to add minerals other than iodized salt to their diets. She advocated the daily use of fish oils containing Vitamin D, every day in the year—even in the sunny Okanagan. Where cod-liver oil or haliver oil capsules are taken every day, children and adults build up a resistance to colds and other forms of ill-health.

Don Fisher dealt with the influence of handling and storage practices on the nutritive value of foods. He stated that our complex modern society is made possible largely by refrigeration of foodstuffs. He listed in detail the temperature and humidity conditions necessary to prolong life of such perishable products as meat, fish, eggs, fruits and vegetables. While the required temperatures differ for each product it is generally true that prompt cooling is essential for preservation of health value as well as marketability and palatability.

The influence of processing methods on the nutritive value of foods was dealt with by Charlie Strachan. He mentioned the fact that even after foods are canned their health value may be materially reduced, if the cans are held for lengthy periods at high temperatures. He also stated that many housewives have the erroneous opinion that canned fruits and juices should be removed from the cans immediately they are opened. Actually, if it is found necessary to hold a portion of the product for consumption the following day, it is better to hold it in the original can than pour it into another container.

WE'RE ALL PULLING FOR YOU

Talks on Need of Legion W.A.

Following is a guest article submitted by an energetic member of the Legion Women's Auxiliary, pointing out the continued need for support on the part of members, potential members and friends. Evidently, now that the Legion has introduced a club licence in its hall, there are some members who believe they can no longer work for the advancement of the W.A. or feel that the need for support is no longer worthwhile. This article is intended to disprove this opinion and point out that a great deal of humanitarian work can be carried on.

The guest article follows:

In recent weeks, it has been evident to members of the Legion W.A. who have its interests at heart, that there are some members and outside friends who have been deeply hurt by the recent course of events. The latter feel that their usefulness is finished or that they can no longer give it support.

But the aims and objectives of this organization have in no way changed, nor is the need which they try to meet one whit less. In years past, they have most generously supported drives against the scourges of T.B. and cancer; they backed up our young people in the forces; they are still backing up those who have had to return to beds of pain, to wheel-chairs and to blasted lives. They have contributed to the town's recreational program; they support the community chest; they helped the Red Cross; bundles of clothing have been sent to needy areas and clothing and financial assistance have been given local families; many brides have been welcomed in a tangible way; parcels are being sent to cheer destitute, old and lonely people in England.

Local developments have in no way lessened need. Moreover, it should be remembered that majority opinion brought about the present situation, and majority rule is a privilege of democracy. None of us wishes to live where it does not prevail. By withdrawing, therefore, shall we say to our young and old veterans in Shaughnessy that we are no longer concerned with their welfare? Or shall we stop our gifts to England's needy to whom they mean so much? Shall we cease planning and working against the scourges which can strike so suddenly and tragically in our homes? Shall we say, in effect, that the mole hill of personal considerations keeps us from seeing the mountain of misery and want in the world today?

Some argue that the organization faces increased difficulties in carrying on its work. Are these, then an excuse for regression, or do they not rather demand more hearts and hands to meet them.

Summerland people in their generosity need only to understand needs to meet them. The Legion W.A. has its own field of service and needs a whole hearted support of its members and friends; otherwise we shall have introduced a note of discord in a district noted for its unity in forwarding all unselfish projects.

Those of you who know Montreal at all will have some idea of the enjoyment I'm having here, and for those of you who don't know it, I'll suggest that you put two tablespoons of wonderful weather in a pot, add half a cup of marvelous French cooking, a dash of French accent, two soupoons of Frenchmen, and a jorum of quaintness, and you'll find yourself with a dish similar to that in which I'm currently re-velling.

Of course, it's a dish you enjoy after a four-night train trip across our grand country, starting off with the Rocky Mountains that almost pull the eyes out of your head with their grandeur, and ending with the picturesque countryside of the Province of Quebec, with its stone farmhouses, big trees, winding roads, hedges, and

The story of the B.C. fruit industry is to be told to the farmers on the prairie provinces by a group of prominent interior fruit growers who plan a tour of the prairie markets. The need for calling a halt to the flood of American apple imports will be impressed on the prairie farmers.

Some train travellers profess to be "bored stiff" by sitting on a train for some 3000 miles. But how they can fall to be interested in the sights to be seen from a train window as you jaunt across Canada, beats me. Why, the very sight of the mountains alone should keep them in a state of suspended animation for months, let alone the vision of the prairie country at any time of the year, or one mass of waving wheat, or one sheet of blinding snow.

Then you hit the bigness of Ontario, with miles of tree-hills, and hours and hours of Lake Superior, looking ocean-like in its vastness. There must be thousands of other lakes, some no bigger than the puddle left by an umbrella, dotting this province as well, moist chips off the old block.

But it is the city Montreal itself that really gets under my skin, and stays there like a warm glow. I've seen a lot of big cities in my day, but none of them seems to have so much to offer as Montreal in the way of a fine life. Except, of course, for the extremes of heat and cold that you do get, though goodness knows the weather at the moment is nothing short of fantastically good.

If you want the gay life, it's here for you for the paying; if you wish culture, it's waiting to be absorbed; good food is here, elegance of living, gallantry of manners, splendid stores, scenic beauty, high commercialism, everything.

Indian Veterans Should be Given Full Privileges

To discuss matters pertaining to the welfare of veterans, over 74 delegates from Canadian Legion branches in the North Okanagan, Kamloops district, South Okanagan and Similkameen zones met recently in the Kelowna Legion hall.

Pensions, rehabilitation, hospitalization and other matters were dealt with by the delegates invited by the North Okanagan zone. Dave McKee, provincial executive secretary, attended the conference, having made a special trip from Vancouver for the purpose.

Chief comment centered around the War Veterans' Allowances, commonly known as the "burned out" pension. Three resolutions, drawn up by the Provincial Command and submitted for study and comment were endorsed.

Cost of Living
One pressed for the passing of an order-in-council to grant a cost of living bonus to recipients of W.V.A. in order that they might better meet the increase in the cost of living. The others were that the benefits of the act be extended to Imperial veterans with long residence in Canada and to Canadians who served only in Great Britain during the first world war.

Indian Veterans
A proposal that met with unanimous approval of the delegates was that full privileges of citizenship be granted to Indian veterans. Provincial Command will be asked

No Co-operation From Department

KELOWNA — Harry Blakeborough, city engineer for the past 27 years, and for the past nine months superintendent of public utilities tendered his resignation to city council last week on the grounds that he no longer has control over union employees in the electrical department, and that relationship between the men and himself have reached the stage where it is impossible for him to carry on his duties.

The resignation came as a bombshell to majority of aldermen, although some quarters state that trouble has been brewing in the electrical department for some time. Mr. Blakeborough charged that some of the men are now receiving remuneration for positions they are supposed to fill, but have not the qualifications for the posts. He further stated he has protested this condition on several occasions to the foreman, but has not obtained satisfactory results.

ed to draw attention to the lapse of time between the granting of a pension by the Pensions Committee and the issuance of the first cheque to the pensioner. Much hardship and unnecessary anxiety is caused by this delay. They will be asked also to press for a speed-up in the procedure.

Many other subjects were dealt with and recommendations forwarded to the Provincial Command for submission to the Dominion Command, and to the government.

Summerland Legion was represented by President Alan Calvert, H. Howis and Ross McLachlan.

Bob Browne - Clayton, 31 Unanimous Choice of Two Old-Line Parties

Liberals and Progressive-Conservatives from all points in the South Okanagan provincial electoral riding gathered in Kelowna last Thursday evening and chose a personable, tall, slightly-built young man, Robert (Bob) D. Browne-Clayton as their standard bearer to contest the forthcoming by-election which will name the successor to W. A. C. Bennett in the provincial legislature.

No other name was brought before the convention and the young man, who has Progressive-Conservative tendencies, was given an ovation by both old-line parties alike.

The nomination was made by H. A. Truswell, Kelowna, an officer of long standing in South Okanagan P-C ranks, and seconded by Bob Hayman, a young Liberal from Kelowna.

Shake off Apathy

With W. G. Gillard, Summerland, president of the South Okanagan Progressive Conservative Assn. as Chairman, the convention was pushed through with despatch. Key speakers were Hon. Herbert Anscomb and Hon. E. T. Kenney, whose deliveries are contained in another column.

Reeve Reid A. Johnston, president of the South Okanagan Liberal Assn shared platform honors with Mr. Gillard and made the initial speech, urging the parties' supporters to shake off their apathy and indifference and work for the election of the Coalition candidate.

The keynote of the convention was touched on by all speakers. The need for a concentrated drive by all persons who believe in the old-line parties to support the new candidate and defeat the socialist candidate.

Attending the convention were 69 Liberals, 54 Conservatives with proxies giving a total possible vote of 161.

Harvey Walton, South Okanagan P-C Assn. secretary, was secretary of the convention.

Immediately following the session, leaders of the two parties in South Okanagan met to start plans for the forthcoming campaign.

Stresses Communism
"We have a great responsibility to the electors to choose one who will live up to the traditions of two great parties; we owe that candidate unlimited support," declared Chairman Gillard in calling for nominations.

Mr. Truswell, in bringing Mr. Browne-Clayton's nomination before the convention, stressed that the "cause that our parties stand for are democracy and private enterprise."

He stressed that Communists are endeavoring to use the OCF as a kind of Trojan horse, as the Communists say that a Socialist is only a week-kneed Communist. He also claimed that the OCF candidate is chosen by pre-arrangement and not by a free election as is the case with the Grits and Tories.

Mr. Truswell declared that his nominee, Mr. Browne-Clayton has been handed down by his parents, well-known and respected orchardists of Okanagan Mission since prior to World War I, a background of a common man, a good name, good health and good character.

After attending schools in the Kelowna district, Mr. Browne-Clayton was starting to take an interest in fruit ranching, when he joined the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at the outbreak of hostilities. He climbed through the ranks and received his promotion to officer status, only to be seriously wounded in the Hitler line in Italy, Mr. Truswell related.

Since returning to the Okanagan, Mr. Browne-Clayton has devoted most of his energies to fruit farming and has been a director of the BCFGA for Okanagan Mission area.

Young Liberal Talks
Mr. Robert Hayman, young Kelowna lawyer, and a leader in Young Liberal ranks, was seconder of the nomination, stressing the uniformity of conviction between the two old parties.

Young Liberals, Young Conservatives and young anti-state socialists fail to find any fundamental difference between the two old-line parties and are only interested in a sensible government with a sound administration, he declared.

He named the proposed candidate as a progressive and community-minded young citizen in whom he placed the fullest confidence, support and trust.

"Bob Browne-Clayton will serve this district first despite what pressures are brought to bear on him," he concluded.

In his acceptance speech, the new Coalition candidate pointed out that the success of the fruit industry means the success of the valley. He considered that the people of the Okanagan need men interested in the fruit industry in the governments to help in any way they can.

"Although I am a Conservative, the interests of this valley come first with me." He concluded by urging his listeners to talk Coalition until the election is won and then to start thinking of the next election, "for that is the only way we can keep our Canadian way of life."

History of Coalition Candidate Is Outlined

Mr. R. D. Browne-Clayton, chosen Coalition candidate in the South Okanagan by-election, has issued a short statement giving a resume of his history and that of his family, "to keep the records straight".

The new candidate's father came to Canada in 1912, having retired from twenty years' service with the Pacific and Orient steamship lines. He only spent two years at Okanagan Mission and then returned overseas at the outbreak of World War I, to serve throughout that conflict as commander in the Royal Navy Reserve.

In 1920, he took up residence at Okanagan Mission once more and was a prominent fruit grower there until his death in 1946.

Bob Browne-Clayton was born in England in 1917 and came out to the Okanagan Mission district at the age of three when his parents returned from war service overseas. He received his education at the Okanagan Mission public school and the Kelowna high school.

In 1936, he enlisted with the P.P.C.L.I. permanent force but purchased his discharge in 1938 to return to fruit growing.

On Sep. 4, 1939, he re-enlisted with the PPCLI and proceeded overseas with that regiment in December, when the 1st division went to England. In 1941, he received his commission as a lieutenant and served in Sicily and Italy. He was wounded on May 21, 1944, in the Hitler line action, and was returned to England and Canada as a hospital patient.

In July, 1945, Bob Browne-Clayton received his army discharge but it was not until November of that year that he was discharged from Shaughnessy Military hospital.

It was in June, 1945, that he married Patricia Acland, at Kelowna, and the following year he purchased a fruit orchard at Okanagan Mission, under the V.L.A. The Browne-Claytons have one child, a son, Patrick, aged 18 months.

He served as a director of the Okanagan Mission irrigation district and is a director of the BCFGA.

Next Film Group
November and December films which will be available to local audiences include a color film on Newfoundland, soon to become Canada's tenth province. This survey reviews the island's political development and educational system; shows the capital, St. John's, and a typical village. It analyzes the importance of the fishing industry and future possibilities of the iron ore mines and timber tracts.

The life and work of the fishermen of Quebec's Gaspé peninsula are depicted in another film entitled Gaspé Cod Fishermen. An instructional film showing how Canada's Northwest Airlines have conquered the almost impenetrable natural barriers of river and mountain on the Pacific Coast is called Northwest by Air.

Hungry Minds brings the appeal of the United Nations for food for starving children of Europe.

Main Street Canada shows Canada's changing problems from the prosperous twenties to the present, as they have affected the average small town.

Another color film is entitled Painters of Quebec and portrays pictures of the outstanding Quebec artists in relation to the Canadian environment which has inspired them.

Music by M. Bernard Piche and Dr. Healy William is the story of the Casavant organ and is called Singing Pipes.

Trees that Tame the Wind gives an account of the planting of native trees in shelter belts on American farms to counteract drought and desolation.

To sports-minded audiences, Winter Sports brings a panorama of winter sports, particularly ski-

Council Not Sure Of Pump Capacity

Recently, the B.C. Fire Underwriters' Assn. informed the Summerland council that it should equip its new fire truck with a 500-gallon-per-minute pump and power take-off.

Consequently, the council instructed Reeve Reid A. Johnston to obtain estimates and if the cost was within reason to place the order.

However, Pumps & Power Ltd., pump supply firm, has replied to council enquiry with the suggestion that surely a 50-gallon-per-minute pump is required, as the capacity of the tank on the proposed fire truck would only be 300 gallons.

This consideration stopped the council cold on Tuesday and no further action will be taken until confirmation is received from the fire underwriters.

Councillor C. E. Bentley considered that the underwriters are suggesting a pump attached to the lines, instead of from the tank, which would alter the picture considerably.

dent or injury to members joining the class.

Among the letters tabled by the secretary was one from the superintendent of education approving "for this year only" the transporting of grade 13 pupils to Penticton by Wally's Taxi at a cost of $7 a day. The department feels that this is expensive transportation, though necessary at this time. Inspector Burnett pointed out that actually the cost runs to only 16c a mile, as the taxi covers 44 miles a day on this job, and he felt that was pretty reasonable transportation.

Buy Sports Equipment
Mr. S. A. MacDonald is to get the school sports' equipment he asked for at the last meeting, to the tune of 70 dollars worth of assorted balls for the children's various games.

So far as the library requests from both principals were concerned, the public school received the board okay for $300 to be spent on books, while Mr. Macleod will have to be satisfied with approximately $100.

Mr. Burnett explained that the difference in allotments to the schools lay in the fact that the elementary school requires a great many supplementary reading books as well as straight lending library volumes.

A letter from Mrs. M. K. MacRae as secretary of the teachers' salary committee, requesting a meeting with the board for discussion of this presently burning question, was tabled for action by the board's salary committee, consisting of Dr. James Marshall and Mr. Bleasdale.

At the conclusion of the meeting Inspector Burnett advised the board to call a meeting of the rural taxpayers, to meet with the school board in the high school for the purpose of electing next year's representative, and to hear a report on the affairs and progress of School District No. 77.

Car Turns Over On Highway

When a fuse burned out and the lights were extinguished, a car driven by Arthur Halleran of Lumby rolled over on the bottom part of the Drought hill just north of Peachland on Wednesday evening, October 6.

The car was proceeding south with destination the teachers' convention at Penticton. The car rolled into a small depression on the bank side of the road and was a total wreck.

Halleran received minor cuts and bruises but the three passengers escaped uninjured. They were all from Lumby and were Mrs. Earl Quesnel, Miss Leselle Balbirnie and Miss Norma Booth.

CANNOT REBATE IRRIGATION RATES

Due to a "misunderstanding", the E. E. Hunt property in Prairie Valley did not receive any irrigation water this year, and the owner wrote the Summerland council asking for a rebate of irrigation rates paid. However, on Tuesday the council pointed out that owners must pay for the availability of water and as it was no fault of the municipality that the water had not been used then the payment must stand and any rebate refused.

STILL NO SIGN OF ADAPTOR

Although the municipal hall was informed by wire on October 3 that the missing adaptor for the chlorination plant had already been shipped, the missing part still had not made its appearance when the Summerland council met on Tuesday afternoon. There can be no further progress towards chlorinating Summerland's water supply until this important piece of equipment arrives here.

Crosses Continent Without Car Trouble

KELOWNA—Travelling over 11,000 miles with no major car trouble only to have her model "A" Ford stall on Pendozi street a couple of days later with a broken crown gear and driveshaft, was the experience of Mrs. William Travis, of Kelowna, who, accompanied by her three children, recently returned home after driving to the east coast of Canada.

R. W. Diamond Says Trail Permanent

ROSSLAND—Ore reserves at the Sullivan mine give the big East Kootenay producer an indefinite life, and, even were this not so, the plants of the Consolidated at Trail are a permanent fixture because of the power and sulphur resources available.

Such was the firm assurance given 50 New Westminster businessmen at a banquet held in the Tadanac community hall. The speaker was R. W. Diamond, vice-president and general manager of Cominco.

Bid 95.287 for School Debentures

KELOWNA—The debenture issue totalling $223,000 for the rural portion of School District No. 23, has been sold to J. L. Graham and Co., Toronto, G. C. Hume, chairman of the school board, announced this week. Graham and Co. submitted the highest bid at 95.287 for the three per cent debenture issue which matures at various dates from April 15, 1949 to 1968.

TALKS ON FOREIGN MISSION WORK

The annual thankoffering meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Service club will open its doors to the members of other United church women's groups when they meet next Thursday afternoon to hear a special guest speaker. Rev. Geoffrey Smith, missionary from West China who is making a comprehensive tour of the Okanagan Valley in the interest of foreign mission work, will be the speaker on that afternoon, and a special social hour will be held after the meeting. Mrs. T. A. Walden, Mrs. I. C. Schwass and Mrs. E. C. McCutcheon will be convenors for the tea hour.

BLOOD DONOR CLINIC

KELOWNA—A total of 554 people, ranging in age from 18 to 65, attended the third Kelowna Red Cross blood donor clinic on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Residents from Westbank and Winfield visited the clinic which was held in the First United church hall.

PAYING THE PRICE

Crowded, crooked, irregular permanent teeth are frequently part of the price that must be paid for the premature loss, through lack of adequate care, of the foundation teeth. Don't allow your child to become a dental cripple by believing that the "baby" teeth are unimportant to a child.

A HAPPY TIME

Youngsters like to touch and smell and get acquainted with food slowly, so etiquette is "out" for little folk. A short rest period before his regular mealtime will put the child in the right frame of mind to set about the task. Mealtime should be a happy time—the child rested and ready to eat.

Breaks Bones in Heel During Fall

A slipping ladder meant an unexpected and undesired trip to Vancouver for Mr. H. J. Mott this week, when he broke one or more touchy bones in his heel on Tuesday, October 12.

Mr. Mott was picking apples on his property on Quinpoole Road when the ten-foot ladder fell away from him. He clung for some minutes to the high branch, but eventually was forced to let go, and the resulting drop did the damage. X-rays at Summerland hospital showed the fractures to be in such a place that Doctors Munn and Vanderburgh advised him to go to the coast to a bone specialist.

Insurance Plan Fund Receives Half Million

It is estimated that up to September 28th, 970,000 persons in British Columbia have registered under the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, according to Dr. J. M. Hershey, commissioner. This figure represents approximately 96% of the population.

Still to be heard from are a few districts in the interior and northern parts of the province. According to reports from local hospital insurance service offices, registration from these areas is proceeding smoothly and registration forms have been reaching the central office at the rate of over 10,000 a day.

Of the total figure more than 500,000 persons are participating in the plan through the payroll deduction method. The bulk of the registration forms for this group is now being sorted, preparatory to the hospital insurance service receiving premium instalments. However, officials of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service point out that there are still some companies who have not yet returned their employees' registration forms and they urge that outstanding payroll deduction type registration forms be returned as soon as possible in order to permit efficient processing of the necessary ledger cards.

Premium payments for individual subscribers are not due to start officially until October, but Dr. J. M. Hershey disclosed the fact that over half a million dollars has already been paid by persons who preferred to pay the full premiums at one time or make half yearly instalments.

Dr. Hershey said that British Columbians, by registering so promptly, had proved their desire to co-operate with the hospital insurance service and make the plan a success. He pointed out that although the official "final date" for registration had passed, every consideration would be given to late registrants in the completion of their forms, and they should register without delay.

Rotarians to Hold Auction November 6

For the third successive year, the Summerland Rotary club is planning an auction to raise funds for hospital and community purposes.

This was the decision of the club's weekly meeting in the Nu-Way Annex last Friday evening, when the date for this auction was set for Saturday, November 6.

Each club member will be responsible for collecting four or five articles each. There will be no general canvass for articles but, of course, if any friends of the Rotarians can donate useful things which would find a ready market, then they will be acceptable.

Chief Auctioneer will be Reeve Reid A. Johnston, who has pounded a mean hammer the previous two years. His fame has spread, as the Oliver Rotarians persuaded him to undertake their auction a couple of weeks ago.

It is likely that a draw will be held in connection with the auction, and entertainment features will be under the guidance of Rotarians H. R. McLarty and T. B. Young.

New Record for Blood Donor Clinic

VERNON — Businessmen left their stores and offices Monday morning last week; housewives left the washing; waitresses, stenographers and clerks their counters and desks; orchardists the apple picking; packinghouse workers their bins of fruit; retired people, new Canadians, including Japanese, Poles and Ukrainians, and ordinary citizens, totalling 443 people, left their regular occupations and attended the Red Cross Mobile Blood Donor Clinic in Canadian Legion Centre, and each made a donation of a pint of blood.

This was the clinic's third visit to Vernon, and the attendance broke all previous records, both in this city and in any other civilian clinic held in one day in the whole of the province.

Indian Woman Dies On Railway Tracks

SALMON ARM—A woman is dead, run over by a CPR train, and a Chase taxi driver was fined $300 and costs for supplying liquor to Indians as the tragic aftermath of a dance held in an Indian home on the Salmon Arm Reserve on Saturday night, Oct. 2.

The victim of the tragedy was Mrs. Pierre Cyprian August, aged 30, of the Chase reserve, whose lifeless body was discovered on the CPR tracks, near White Crossing, about 6:30 a.m. on Sunday morning. The grisly discovery was made by Mark Thomas, another Indian, who was walking along the right-of-way.

The woman apparently had gone to sleep on the track, with her

J. B. MUNRO, Deputy Minister. HON. FRANK PUTNAM, Minister.

Acting Premier Defends Sales Tax to Meet Needs Of Fast-Growing Province

Painting a picture of progress and fast-growing population, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, speaking to the Coalition nominating convention at Kelowna on Thursday evening, shaded his remarks by a word of caution regarding the future of the lumber industry in B.C. His remarks were echoed by Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests, who intimated that exports may be drastically curtailed in the near future, thus dealing a body blow to the chief export industry of the province.

"If we cannot export our products then we are going to find ourselves in a bad position," declared Hon. Mr. Anscomb. He declared that the timber exports to Great Britain are being threatened by the Baltics and, if war doesn't intervene, Russia, with her vast forest resources and "slave" labor.

"There is only one way for us to compete in the world markets," emphasized Mr. Anscomb, "and that is to produce more in the same period. Our best market must be the British Isles and they are the people we should be willing to help now," he considered.

Lack of Interest
Dealing at the outset with the lack of enthusiasm in party ranks, Hon. Mr. Anscomb declared that "it is the lack of interest of the thinking people of this country" which is the cause for Socialism to creep in. He termed the "thinking people" as "those with a stake in the country."

"They do not think on election day and they do not come out and vote," he emphasized. The Communists and Socialists come out to a man. He gave examples of the apathy of the voter in a money bylaw for more than two million dollars in Victoria and in the election of a school trustee in Oak Bay, where only a fraction of those eligible turned out at all.

"The thinking people of Canada must realize their responsibility to exercise their franchise so that they may remain free," he warned.

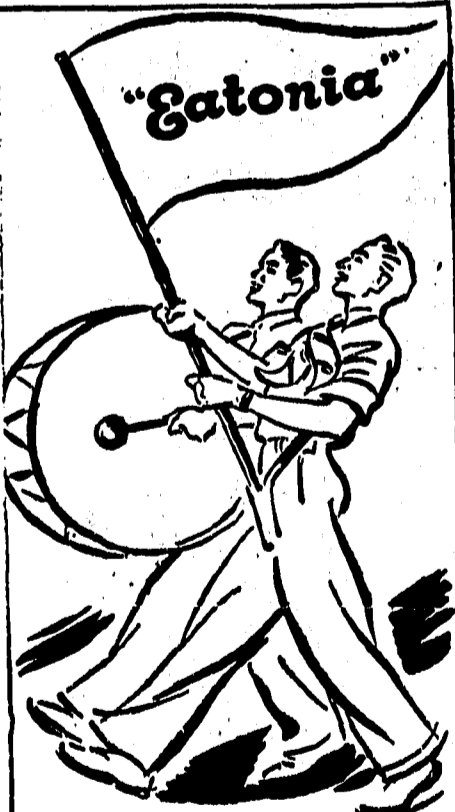

He could not see any difference between the Communists and Socialists in the final analysis, because finally they lead to a dictator. The only difference is their approach. Hitler was elected as head of the national Socialist party and he soon became a dictator. Russia did the same by revolution. "The leader of the CCF in B.C. has said exactly what he is going to do if ever elected. Hitler did the same and carried it out."

Three Percent Tax
Turning to provincial legislation, the acting premier and minister of finance declared that the Coalition government has passed some statutes which have not been understood by the people of B.C., but when they are they will be accepted.

This province is galloping ahead faster than most persons realize, Mr. Anscomb stated, and in five years has increased its population by 250,000.

This increase has brought problems which were not prevalent when B.C. made its deal with Ottawa, problems of providing social assistance to an increased population. The three percent tax was imposed for the purpose of meeting this added burden which has been thrust upon the B.C. government, he insisted.

"We need new capital just like any other business which is expanding as rapidly as we are," he explained. "We found that it was not possible to continue with our humanitarian program and social services with the original amount of money."

distress of the hospitals in the province.

The speaker also pointed out that the amusement tax field, recently vacated by Ottawa, has been taken over provincially with all receipts going towards the construction of new hospitals. Besides, the government has set aside two million dollars as a stabilization fund for the health insurance plan.

It costs $12,000 a bed for new hospital accommodation, Mr. Anscomb pointed out, as one instance of the rising cost of constructing public buildings. This year, the province is spending 20 1/4 million dollars on social services, one million dollars more than the government of 1929 had to administer all types of government services.

"I don't think any person would want to make any other move than we have done to help those in sickness and in need," he declared.

Hope-Princeton Road
As a third item, the acting premier discussed the roads situation briefly. "The Hope-Princeton is going along rapidly; it has taken longer than we expected but today everything takes longer, as any of you know who have tried to build new homes."

Construction of new roads is going on all over B.C., and when the system of good highways is completed it will have a tremendous effect on everyone's lives, as the movement of goods from one district to another will be accelerated and the tourist traffic will be increased tremendously.

The speaker believes tourist dollars will be the main economic factor in B.C. in the future.

In conclusion, Mr. Anscomb maintained that exports must be kept up if B.C. is to continue on its prosperous and expanding cycle.

Hon. E. T. Kenney

At the outset of Hon. Mr. Kenney's address, the minister of lands and forests voiced the opinion of other speakers that over-assurance lost the old line parties two seats in the federal house this year. "And if we don't do in the federal field what we are doing in the provincial, then we will have fewer seats in Ottawa," he prophesied amid applause.

He placed himself firmly behind the three percent sales tax and decried those who tried to place the responsibility of this legislation solely on the minister of finance. It is essential to have a floor under our social services, he maintained and pointed out what a few increases in pensions would cost the country.

A five dollar raise per month in old age pensions costs B.C. one million dollars per year, he explained, while the CCF platform plank of $50 per month for persons reaching 65, without the means test, would mean an expenditure of $500,000,000.

However, he pledged himself as a solid supporter of a contributory plan, Dominion-wide, which would commence when a person starts work and allow a pension at the termination of the work period.

Sloan Report

Mr. Kenney dealt at some length with the forest situation and told of the efforts of his department to implement the Sloan report and provide a perpetual yield under forestry management licences. Nurseries have now been located with 20 million trees planted and another nursery is to be established in the East Kootenays to try and bring back the white pine to that territory.

Besides these measures, the forestry department has set up a 2 1/2 million dollar revolving fund to assist small operators to construct roads into their timber holdings and fell the timber in a scientific manner.

But Mr. Kenney also uttered a word of warning concerning the future of the lumber industry.

"The time is coming when the lumber industry will not be as profitable as it is today," he warned, "as the markets will not be as prevalent. We must have more industries in this province and that is one reason we are welcome more pulp mills, provided they take the proper locations.

"We must maintain our forests at the present level if we are to maintain the economy of this province," he declared, giving some reasons why export markets may be lost to Canada.

RUTLAND SAYS "NO"
Scandinavian countries pay the men in the woods half the wage being received by B.C. loggers and are only a short haul to the British market, so that those countries are looming large in the export lumber picture. The Balkans are also cutting into B.C.'s exports. He agreed with Mr. Anscomb's contention that by use of modern equipment available on this continent, production must be stepped up to turn out more products in a shorter space of time, to compensate for the higher wage levels available here.

Rutland turned down the proposed municipality in the plebiscite held on Oct. 6. A total of 577 land-owners cast ballots, and votes went a little better than 3 to 2 against incorporation. The exact figures were "yes"—220; "no"—345, with 12 spoiled ballots.

"Inspiring and Delightful;" Kamloops Version of Visit By Rebekah Assembly Prexy

Under the heading, "President's Visit was Inspiring and Delightful", the Kamloops Sentinel last week carried a lengthy resume of the visit to the main line Rebekah lodges of Mrs. Ina C. Atkinson, Summerland, president of the Rebekah Assembly of B.C. The Kamloops story was written by the Rebekah Reporter and following are the main points of the report of the three-day visit:

Mrs. Ina Atkinson, president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, spent four days in Kamloops and district last week while she made her official visits to Gateway No. 58, Ashcroft, on Monday, to Excelsior No. 23 Kamloops, on Tuesday, and to Mountain View No. 64, Falkland, on Thursday.

These were four delightful days for many of our members. We were able to accompany her to the various functions, and the visits constituted an inspiration and an education. She has now gone from our midst but has left behind a deeper appreciation of the true meaning of Oddfellowship.

Symbol of Links
There is no doubt the spirit of friendliness, co-operation and understanding which already exists in our order has been intensified. Her visit has bound us all closer together and has given us a full determination to carry on the good work, and progress even farther, keeping always before us our beautiful motto of "Friendship, Love and Truth" as represented in our symbol of the three links.

The big night for Excelsior was, of course, Tuesday, when under the direction of Mrs. E. Work, staff captain, some of our lodge work was exemplified for the president. Officers and members taking part are all to be congratulated; each carried out her duties to perfection.

Included in the president's official suite on this occasion were Mrs. A. H. Anderson of this city, assembly warden; Mrs. I. Betts of Penticton, assembly treasurer; Mrs. Vera Lepinsky of Ashcroft, assembly conductor; Miss Vera Clark of Ashcroft, district deputy president, District No. 38; J. R. Colley, P.G.M., P.G.R., and J. E. Fitzwater, P.G.M., P.G.R. They were introduced by Mrs. F. Turner, D.D. P. District No. 22, and welcomed by the noble grand, Mrs. R. S. Sears, who presented each of the feminine members of the official party with a corsage. The lovely corsages, and the nosegays for the officers were made by Mrs. D. Simpson.

There were 61 members present at this meeting and 19 visitors, most of the latter, coming from Ashcroft and Falkland. It was indeed a pleasure to welcome so many.

Local Member Present
Among the visitors was Mrs. T. A. Walden, mother of Mrs. D. Nesbitt, who is a member of Mrs. Atkinson's home lodge, Faith No. 32, West Summerland, and who came here to attend the president's meeting and to visit for a couple of days with her daughter.

The highlight of the evening was, of course, Mrs. Atkinson's address. Entitled "Our Chain of Friendship, Love and Truth", this was inspiring and helpful. It made each of us fully realize the opportunities that lie before us, in our efforts to make the world a happier place in which to live. The president was thanked for her very lovely address by the noble grand, Mrs. Sears, who very capably and graciously conducted the entire meeting.

Worth Supporting
At each of the meetings in this vicinity Mrs. Atkinson spoke of the wonderful work being done by the White Rock welfare camp and the bursary fund, urging the support of every lodge in these two great humanitarian and progressive undertakings. The White Rock camp is helping many young, underprivileged children in a tremendous way. Through the bursaries we have an opportunity to assist young people to continue their education and thus better prepare themselves to take their places in the world. She referred also to the youth movement being promoted by the Northwest Oddfellows Association. This is being done chiefly through the Young Oddfellows and the Theta Rho clubs.

Mrs. Atkinson's round of official visits began at Dawson Creek on August 30. Since then she has visited Prince George, Smithers, Prince Rupert, Powell River, Golden, Revelstoke and Armstrong. She told us some very interesting things about these lodges, especially Charlotte No. 65, Dawson Creek, the second newest lodge in our jurisdiction.

The Dawson Creek members are very energetic and anxious to learn; they were fortunate in having the president spend four days with them — we know she must have been a great help.

Mrs. Atkinson also spoke of the B.C. Oddfellow and the International Rebekah, urging all lodges to give greater support to these two publications, especially the former as it is our own paper. It is published monthly in Vancouver and reports from all lodges are welcome.

Social Functions
While in Kamloops, Mrs. Atkinson was the house guest of Mrs. Anderson and was also entertained by her deputy who was fortunate in being able to spend so much time with her. On Thursday they spent most of the day, prior to departure for Falkland, in visiting the sick and shut-in members, and while at the hospital inspected the room furnished by the Rebekahs.

On Tuesday afternoon a tea was held at the home of our vice-grand, Mrs. P. Edwards, 780 St. Paul, when quite a number had the opportunity for a friendly chat and visit with our president.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Atkinson and Mrs. Turner accompanied the Tranquille visiting committee, which consists of Mr. and Mrs. Fitzwater and Mrs. Bruce, to Tranquille where they visited members of the order and friends.

Tranquille Visit
Mrs. Atkinson expressed her sincere appreciation of the wonderful work which is done year in and year out by this energetic committee. Its members make regular visits to carry cheer and small gifts to many patients. The work of the committee is known throughout the jurisdiction.

This was the first visit of our president to Tranquille, and she was deeply impressed with the high spirits and cheerfulness of the patients, the bright atmosphere of the institution and the beautiful grounds.

On Wednesday evening the Past Noble Grands' Club met at the home of Mrs. R. White, 107 Battle, when Mrs. Atkinson was the guest of honor. A splendid meeting was held, Mrs. J. Furiak, vice-president, being chairwoman. Mrs. Atkinson was very interesting in her remarks about the past noble grands in other places, suggesting they could be such a help to their successors in the various lodge offices.

Mrs. Atkinson arrived here Sunday evening and on Monday went by train to Ashcroft.

"Whose Fault?"
There, our president's address was entitled "Whose Fault Is It?" and her talk certainly made us stop and take stock of ourselves. The only way to really accomplish things is to not think of oneself but to always keep before us the high ideals and teachings of our order and work wholeheartedly in its cause.

Our final meeting in company with our president was at Mountain View No. 64, Falkland, on Thursday evening. Sixteen made the trip. There were 18 from Armstrong and 14 from Vernon. Also in attendance was Mrs. O. Matson of Penticton, past president of the R.A. She made the journey up that day just to attend the meeting, and to accompany Mrs. Atkinson on her trip home to Summerland the next day.

The president's address in Falkland was "Our Character" and again her talk was an inspiration to all. Those who had had the privilege of hearing her on previous occasions found themselves eagerly looking forward to hearing another of her addresses.

It was with regret we said goodbye to Mrs. Atkinson, whose visit we had enjoyed so much, but we wish her many more pleasant meetings and associations as she travels around the jurisdiction.

VERNON — "First or second place for sure when playoff time rolls around," stated John McCulloch, president of the Vernon Hockey Association, regarding the coming hockey season, at an interview on Monday. The president has ample proof to back up this statement as Paul Thompson, former NHL star and coach, has been signed as consulting pilot of all Vernon hockey from bantam to senior. To add to the Vernon strength, Dave McKay, another former NHL star, has been definitely signed by the Vernon club and will perform this season in the Okanagan Mainline League.

RIFLE CLUB DELAYED

'SALMON ARM—Because of a small turn-out at a meeting called last week, action on the proposal to reorganize the Salmon Arm Rifle Club was deferred until a later date, it is announced by C. P. Nelson, one of those interested in the movement to form the club.

Basketball Club Postpones Annual Meeting—No Officers Available

Although players are plentiful and interest keen, there is a lack of interest on the part of executives to assist the young players in the Summerland Basketball Club.

On Friday evening, at the Nu-Way Annex, the annual meeting of the hoopsters was held, with members of last year's executive and players present. Those who have been carrying on the hoop sport for the last two years stated definitely that they could not take over the load again this season.

And there the meeting was stalemated, with the result that election of officers was postponed one week, until tomorrow night, when it is hoped that a slate of officers will be forthcoming to help the young players.

Last season, the basketballers entered two teams in interior play-offs and although they put up a good fight they succumbed to Peniticon in the first round. The club lost about $46 on the year's operations but still has a small bank balance to start this year's operations.

Discussion ensued on Friday concerning the difficulty which ensued last season between games arranged by school teams and those of the hoopsters. In many instances, club dates and school dates clashed, as the same players were involved in both groups.

This question will probably be discussed further with representatives of the high school, who were unable to be present at the annual meeting because of the teachers' convention.

Two Strong Teams

Prospects appear good this year for intermediate A and B teams, in the under 21 and 18 class, with also a good possibility that junior ranks will be represented locally. This is the under 16 group.

Unless some more material comes to light, it is extremely doubtful that a senior team will be available this year.

George Clark, ace hoopster, says he is hanging up his strip for good this year, which eliminates any possibility of a strong senior aggregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe McLachlan, who have kept the sport alive for many years here, stated on Friday they could not continue to participate actively in an executive capacity this season, while retiring president J. R. Armstrong and the treasurer, Earle Wilson, also declined to accept any posts.

The players were asked to scout around and obtain some executive support or at least be prepared to nominate sufficient officers at tomorrow night's meeting to enable the club to function.

Banded Ducks and Geese Released to Obtain Needed Data

If your bag of birds contains one with a metal band on its leg you are in a position to help the provincial game commission. Flatten the band and send it direct to Dr. I. McTaggart Cowan, department of zoology, UBC, along with information on where the bird was shot.

One of the major blank spots in existing knowledge of local waterfowl is their travel habits and their ultimate fates.

The nesting ground banding program instituted this year by the provincial game commission and department of zoology of the University of British Columbia, is designed to yield information of fundamental importance to intelligent wildfowl conservation.

This past summer a group of zoologists, under the direction of Dr. I. McTaggart Cowan, banded more than 1100 young ducks and geese and their parents. Each of these birds was gently herded into a special trap and released, bearing on its leg a narrow metal band marked with a number and the address of the U.S. biological survey. The biological survey acts as the clearing house for all bird band information in North America, while a duplicate record of all Canadian bandings is maintained by the dominion wildlife service at Ottawa.

Large scale banding was carried out this year in Arctic Alaska, and on the prairie provinces, so your bird may have come from far or near. Satisfy your curiosity and help your wildlife biologists; don't delay in sending the bands or their numbers, a UBC press release urges.

Coyote Fails to Find "Open House"

MERRITT—Many thirsty two-legged visitors have come to town but on Tuesday night, Oct. 5, around ten o'clock a four-legged visitor was observed sauntering around the Coldwater hotel, looked over the liquor vendor's refreshment stand and failing to find an open entrance continued loping down the main drag to the Adelphi hotel. Still not finding an open door he walked down the middle of the road and tried the Grand hotel, but Jimmie Hoggan informed him he was a minor, so Mr. Coyote headed for the Nicola river to quench his thirst.

Many Problems Confront Ski Club Executive

Main discussion which occupied the attention of the newly-appointed Summerland Ski Club executive last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Powell centered around plans for the Okanagan ski zone championships which the local club hopes to entertain next winter.

One hundred participants and visitors will have to be billeted if this event comes to Summerland, and around $500 in prize money collected. Transportation to the ski hill will be another problem, it was noted.

Venue of the next zone championships will be decided at a meeting of Okanagan zone representatives to be held in Summerland in November.

If Summerland is given the nod, then the ski club intends to choose a citizens' committee to handle the affairs of the meet.

Those present at Thursday's discussion group, besides President Walter Powell, were Bob Barkwill, Bill Snow, Mr. and Mrs. W. Laidlaw and Misses Dorothy MacDonal and Gwen Atkinson.

Strealey Paper Reports on Death Of Ben Saunders

From Strealey, England, comes a report on the sudden death of the late Mr. Benjamin Saunders, a well-known fruit orchardist and horticulturist of Summerland for more than twenty years. The Review carried a short report of Mr. Saunders' demise on September 2.

Here is the Strealey newspaper report, as forwarded to The Review by Mrs. Dorothy M. Woodhead, Tranquille, B.C., a niece of the deceased man:

"While on a visit to Strealey from Canada, Mr. Benjamin Saunders was taken ill and died on Friday last week in the Radcliffe hospital, aged 69. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Saunders, of Icknield Cottages, High Street, Strealey, and he left the village when he was 25 to make a career in Canada.

"The following year he became a member of the Canadian Horticultural Society at Montreal and during the 1914 - 18 war he was engaged in horticultural research receiving official recognition for his services. He was one of the pioneers of fruit culture in the Okanagan Lake district, where he had lived since 1925.

"He arrived in Strealey in March and was expecting to return (to Summerland) in September. He had been living with his sister and had visited many parts gathering information for use on his return to Canada. During his stay he spent a good deal of time gardening.

In the vestry of St. Mary's church, Strealey, is a photograph of the choir in which he is seen as a boy of nine. In the same group is Mrs. H. Perry, who is still a member of the choir.

"The funeral took place at Strealey church on Tuesday. The Rev. J. Hughes officiated in the absence of the vicar. The mourners included Mr. Charles Saunders (brother), Miss Jane Saunders (sister), Messrs. Richard, Edward and Harry Saunders (nephews), Miss Iris Saunders and Mrs. Carpenter (nieces), Mrs. J. Saunders (sister-in-law), Miss Ethel Emmens (cousin)."

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Last Friday saw a smaller turnout than usual on account of the holiday weekend. All Scouts are urged to attend this Friday on account of arrangements for Apple Day, October 16.

Apple Day is not only an opportunity to raise troop funds, but also to show the people of Summerland how well turned-out this troop can be.

The progress in badges and tests continues to be excellent and every Scout should have his first or second class badge by Christmas. Instruction in first class tests will continue each week. It is hoped that as many Scouts as possible will have their first or second class badges before Wednesday, Oct. 27 when we visit Naramata troop for a basketball game.

Parents are asked to see that their boys obtain full uniforms as soon as possible, and that they carry running shoes to every meeting.

Starting this Friday, meetings will be in the school gym. On account of the new floor, running shoes must be carried to the gym and put on at the door to prevent sand and grit from marring the floor. Running shoes are not to be worn to the gym as grit will be tracked in with them.

P/L Lewis continues to distinguish himself by achieving the Bushman's Thong award. He also received his pathfinders, naturalists, cyclists and pioneers badges at last meeting. P/L Rempel received his pioneer's badge.

Point scores are now: Beavers 421, Eagles 335, Hawks 269, and Buffaloes 237.

Notices—Meeting October 15 in school gym. Running shoes must be brought. Shorts are optional. Duty patrol, Hawks.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Students' Council
On October 5, the Students' Council held its first meeting of this term.

Dennis Hack presided. It was decided that the first school dance of this year would be on October 29. Suggestions were made for a barn dance, if a barn is available.

Girls' Soccer
"To have or not to have a girls' soccer team"—that is the question that is being debated in the high school. Twice a week the girls have been out there "punishing the pigskin", but fewer and fewer girls have been turning out.

Basketball will be starting soon and the majority of the girls are interested in this. It appears as if the dauntless few who still favor soccer will have to give way.

School Gym
The floor of the school gym has had its face lifted, Mel Cousins sanded and varnished the floor. Several of the boys in the school volunteered to paint the basketball lines.

Three new doors have been installed and the roof has been patched in several places.

GUIDE NEWS

The Guide meeting this week was mostly concerned with plans for our forthcoming Christmas concert. After the opening horseshoe the patrols went to their respective corners where they worked on concert posters. Each patrol is to submit one advertising poster. The patrol having the best and most original one will receive 10 points and the runners-up 5 points. Mrs. Don Blagborne then took a rousing game of dodge-ball after which the meeting closed with campfire and "Taps".

Try-outs for the two plays will be held at the next meeting. The meeting on October 29 will be conducted by the Patrol Leaders and will take the form of a Halloween party.

INCREASED WARD RATE

KELOWNA—Faced with an ever-increasing deficit and mounting costs, the board of directors of the Kelowna General Hospital has announced that ward rates will be increased one dollar per day, effective October 10. Present public ward rates are $5 daily.

FAILS TO PAY LODGING BILL

Charged with failing to pay a lodging bill at the Nu-Way Cafe, Samuel Edgar was given three months' suspended sentence by Magistrate H. Sharman in Summerland police court last Friday, after arranging full payment of the amount involved. Edgar was picked up in Penticton after a complaint was lodged by the Nu-Way management.

A girls' bicycle was stolen on the evening of October 8-9 from the residence of Joy Pattie and has not been recovered. It has one pedal missing.

Teachers Salary Request Would Mean Additional $13,000 Expense per Year

Summerland school teachers, through their salary schedule committee submitted this week to a committee of School District No. 77 (Summerland) a revised salary schedule which will mean, if adopted, an increase in teachers' salaries on an over-all basis of $13,000 per year.

This Sunday, at Penticton, the school boards of the Okanagan will meet to discuss these demands from the school teachers.

It is understood that teachers groups in all Okanagan schools are requesting salary revisions upwards according to a new scale devised by the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Mr. C. J. Bleasdale, local school board finance committee chairman, told The Review this morning that he and Dr. James Marshall, who were appointed as a committee to hear the teachers' salary requests, are drafting a brief to the open meeting of School District No. 77 suggesting that a more modified salary range should be agreed upon.

The local district school board meets on Monday, October 25, in regular twice-monthly session.

The teachers' salary committee declares that the revision of the 1946 salary scale would mean increases of from $350 to $600 in the elementary school and from $400 to $800 in the junior-senior high school categories, apart from principals' salaries.

In one case only, a salary increase of $1050 per year is requested.

The present elementary schedule which has been operating in full since September, 1947, provides a range of $1,300 to $2,400, exclusive of principals. The increased schedule sought would run from $1,650 minimum to $3,000 maximum.

Present secondary schools' schedule runs from $1,600 to $3,000 and the increases would mean a new schedule of $2,000 to $3,800.

Annual increments sought are $150 per year until the maximums are reached.

Principals' salaries are on a basis of number of pupils and teachers to be supervised in the schools, it is stated.

Cost of Living
Mr. C. D. Kennedy, teachers' committee chairman, points out that when the 1946 salary schedule was fixed the cost of living index was 127, whereas it has now jumped to almost 160.

It is on the basis of this living cost increase that the teachers' new salary revision request is being made, he points out.

It is likely that the new salary schedule will be taken to arbitration, by one or all of the school boards in the Okanagan. In 1946, the Vernon school district board took the revisions to arbitration and the arbitration board ruled in favor of the teachers on almost every point.

The rest of the valley boards then followed the lead of the judgment in this case and allowed the salary increases.

It has also been pointed out that the provincial government grant to the school districts covers more than 60 percent of the teachers' salaries in Summerland schools, so that the overall $13,000 raise picture would not come directly out of municipal taxation.

Trustees Committee
This revised salary schedule was presented to Trustees C. J. Bleasdale and James Marshall on Tuesday evening. The two trustees are preparing a brief which is believed to point out that these salary changes, especially in the higher brackets, are not in accord with the teachers' suggestion that they are merely attempting to keep pace with the rising cost of living.

C. D. Kennedy is chairman of the teachers' salary committee with Mrs. M. MacRae and Clarke Wilkin as members.
It has been hoped by many school boards that a joint plan of action in regard to teachers' salaries could be possible for the entire Okanagan-Similkameen area and this will be the basis of discussion at Sunday's meeting in Penticton.

Carlot Freight Movements are Being Tabulated

Data is being collected this week by F. W. Schumann, board of trade president, on the tonnage of freight in carload shipments which moves in or out of Summerland in a year. These figures are to be apart from fruit and vegetable movements and concern both CPR and CNR movement.

This data will be forwarded to the Kelowna Board of Trade for inclusion with material being gathered throughout the Okanagan on the rail shipments in and out of the Valley.

When this material is collated it will be included in a brief to be presented to the Board of Transport Commissioners, which will hold a sitting in Kelowna on Monday, November 8.

This sitting is in connection with the application by the B.C. Government for the removal of the mountain differential.

First meeting of the commission will be in Vancouver from November 1 to 5, when the board will move to Kelowna and then on to Nelson, Calgary, Edmonton and Winnipeg.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer will have full charge of this case and will direct the proceedings insofar as B.C.'s plea is concerned.

The Kelowna trade board is co-operating with the B.C. Government in this regard and is preparing the brief which will embrace all parts of the Okanagan.

Jack Long Is Head of Coalition Peachland Group

Last night at Peachland an enthusiastic and well-attended joint meeting of Peachland Liberals and Progressive Conservatives was held to select an organizing Coalition association to forward the aims of the two old-line parties in the forthcoming by-election.

W. G. Gillard and Reeve Reid A. Johnston, presidents of the P.C.'s and Liberals in South Okanagan respectively, attended this organization meeting.

Jack Long, of Greata ranch, was selected as president of the Peachland Coalition association, with Mr. J. Cameron as vice-president, Mrs. Wilner Jones secretary and Mr. W. N. Fornby treasurer.

An executive of Ted Topham and A. H. Whiteham was chosen and further names will be added to this group.

"Get Out the Vote" Drive of Elections

Arising out of a suggestion at its meeting for October, the Summerland Board of Trade will embark on a "Get out the Vote" campaign, not only for the provincial by-election but for the municipal elections in December. President F. W. Schumann agreed that this suggestion was a good one and asked the civic affairs committee under W. S. "Scotty" Ritchie to handle this campaign.

South Okanagan By-Election Date Set for Monday, Nov. 29; Voters List Closes on Oct. 30

Monday, November 29, is the date announced by the provincial secretary's office at Victoria for the by-election in South Okanagan to name the new member of the provincial legislature who will replace W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition candidate.

This by-election is made necessary by Mr. Bennett's resignation to contest the federal by-election in Yale last May.

The day for nomination closing is also announced from Victoria as at noon, Monday, November 22.

Two candidates only are expected to contest this by-election, the CCF having chosen Bruce Woodworth, Westbank high school principal, and the Coalition forces having decided upon R. D. (Bob) Browne-Clayton, Okanagan Mission veteran and fruit grower as their standard bearer.

Mr. E. Ross Oatman, provincial government agent in Kelowna, has drawn the attention of The Review once more to the fact that the provincial voters' list is being completely revised this time.

The voters' list used in the last provincial election campaign has been discarded entirely. Any person who wishes to vote in the provincial by-election must sign a registration card, a new form which has been in existence for the past year.

Those who have not registered to date have until 5 p.m. on Saturday, October 30, to fill out these registration cards and file them in the provincial government office at Kelowna.

In Summerland, a great number of persons filled out these forms prior to the holding of the plebiscite on the Legion club premises, but there are still many persons who have failed to register.

This is especially true among old-time residents, it is said, as these persons have been on the previous voters' lists for years and do not seem to understand that their names have now been erased.

The details on the cards are quite simple and only a few moments are needed to fill out the form.

The Summerland Review has a supply of these registration cards on hand for any reader who wishes to make sure that he or she can vote on November 29.

Raham Family Finds Rattlesnake in Yard

On Sunday, October 10, the Raham family returned from church to their home on the bank of Trout Creek, to find a rattlesnake in their yard. It was the first one any of them had seen alive, and it was some moments before they were quite sure of its identity.

However, the peculiar buzzing sound convinced them.

Austin, aged 14 years, ran into the house for the .22 rifle and soon put an end to the intruder.

Apple Crop to Be Down Million Boxes in Valley

Mr. A. K. Loyd, B.C. Tree Fruits general manager, this week corrected an erroneous statement from Kelowna last week that the 1948 apple crop would only run to 5,600,000 boxes. The revised estimate by the sales agency has been set at 6,500,000 boxes, Mr. Loyd emphasizes.

This means a drop of about one million boxes from the estimate of 7,500,000 boxes made about two months ago.

Smaller sized apples with some loss from disease and weather damage are responsible for this drop in the crop estimate.

Some growers in this district are now winding up their apple picking, while others still have another week's picking.

In this district, McIntosh came up to estimates, while over the entire valley Macs are down about 900,000 boxes, according to a recent release by Tree Fruits.

Delicious and Jonathans are believed up to estimates and sized well, but Newtowns and Winesaps are running to smaller sizes than usual and will probably not come up to estimates here.

Want Action on Bridge Over Trout Creek

At last week's council session, it was decided to press once more for work to be started soon on renovation of the Trout Creek bridge, a connecting link on Okanagan highway No. 5 which has long been termed the "Okanagan bottleneck."

Last Thursday's board of trade meeting occurred in this plan and will also communicate with provincial government authorities concerning their plans for the erection of a new bridge.

Public Works Engineer Colby in Penticton is being written concerning the future plan of the public works department in this matter.

A start was made early last spring to locate the new bridge but the flood of last June halted proceedings and forced the department to change its plans for a culvert-type bridge.

Tax Collection Percentage Almost Same as Last Year but Amount is up

Acting Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith announced to The Review yesterday afternoon that when tax and irrigation rate collections were concluded on Friday, October 15, 95.5 percent of the taxes levied and 95 percent of the irrigation rates levied had been collected.

Lighting System Given to Hospital

Mr. E. R. Butler, treasurer of the board of trade, reported to the board's meeting last Thursday that the new lighting system for the hospital operating room is now installed with the exception of some lens, which must still arrive before the system can function properly.

This lighting system is the gift of the board of trade to the hospital out of funds raised from the 1947 Spring Fair. The cost to the trade board is approximately $310, while Mr. George Graham, electricalian, donated labor and materials to the value of $51 towards the installation.

The board is writing Mr. Graham expressing its appreciation for this donation.

Pioneer Resident Dies After Fatal Collision On Giant's Head Road

William J. Tullett, 65, pioneer fruit rancher and carpenter, who came to Summerland district in 1910, died in Summerland hospital, about 7 o'clock Friday evening following a tragic and fatal accident on the Giant's Head road at the intersection with the road leading to the Gulch, when his bicycle came in contact with a truck driven by John Newton, about 5:30 o'clock that same evening.

A coroner's jury on Monday afternoon, October 18, returned a verdict that he came to his death "by being thrown from his bicycle by a truck."

No rider was added to the jury verdict nor did the jury attempt to place any blame for the fatal accident.

Provincial police state that no action will be taken to prosecute the truck driver, John Newton, until advice is received from the Attorney-General's department at Victoria. If the A-G decides there is insufficient evidence to warrant a preliminary hearing then no case will ensue.

This was one of the most tragic accidents which has occurred this year in the Summerland district and the many friends of the deceased were shocked by the tragedy.

Legion Branch Officiates at Tullett Funeral

Canadian Legion Summerland branch No. 22 had charge of the funeral service for the late W. J. Tullett, who met a tragic death on Friday afternoon in an accident on the Giant's Head road.

President Alan Calvert took charge of the funeral service at St. Andrew's United church, West Summerland, on Tuesday afternoon, October 19, largely attended by veterans of two wars and friends of the deceased man.

Interment was in Peach Orchard cemetery, with Legion members C. E. Bentley, Harold Smith, Bill Nelson, Dr. H. R. McLarty, S. A. MacDonald and Harry Howis as pallbearers.

The late Mr. Tullett was born in Inverness, Scotland in 1883 and was apprenticed in the carpenter trade before coming to Summerland in 1910 to carry on his trade and occupy himself in fruit ranching. He gave up his fruit ranch five years ago and had continued his carpenter's trade since that time.

At the time of his untimely death he was employed with Mr. Bill Nelson on construction work at the experimental station.

When World War I broke out, the late Mr. Tullett joined the Canadian Forestry Corps and served with that unit overseas. He was an active member of Summerland Canadian Legion branch for many years.

Besides his wife, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Allan McKenzie, also in Summerland and one sister, Mrs. W. Rapkins, Aldershot, England. One son predeceased him in 1919.

Summerland Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

Riding Bicycle

It was just after sundown on Friday afternoon, October 15, that the deceased man was riding his bicycle towards West Summerland, along the Giant's Head road. According to the driver of the truck, John Newton, also proceeding towards West Summerland, the late Mr. Tullett was riding his bicycle on the left hand side of the road.

Newton states that he blew his horn but the rider made no attempt to swing over to the right side. He passed the bicycle but out of the corner of his eye he saw that the bicycle and rider had collided with the deck of his truck.

The unconscious form of Mr. Tullett was picked up by stretcher and hurried to the Summerland hospital, where he died about an hour and a half after the accident.

This evidence was introduced before the coroner's jury on Monday afternoon by witnesses, but the evidence of Walter Kampe, only witness to the accident besides the truck driver, did not agree entirely with that of John Newton.

Cpl. A. G. Brabazon, of the Penticton detachment, B.C. Police, who assisted Coroner Dr. F. W. Andrew in the examination of witnesses, expressed himself as puzzled concerning the evidence submitted by Mr. Kampe.

Coroner's Jury

Members of the coroner's jury consisted of Messrs. W. W. Hemingway, foreman, Alex Smith, C. E. McCutcheon, C. J. Bleasdale, Lorne Perry and John Duxbury.

Dr. W. H. B. Munn told the inquest on Monday that he had been summoned to the Giant's Head road near Milne's cannery shortly after 5:30 o'clock where he found the late Mr. Tullett lying face down on the side of the road, in an unconscious state. He was bleeding profusely from wounds on the head and from the mouth.

Dr. Munn obtained a stretcher and the unconscious man was escorted to the hospital in Homer.

Hospital Faces Red Ink at Bank Although Books Show Nearly $8,000 Outstanding

Doubt that the Summerland Hospital Society will meet its indebtedness this month without calling for an overdraft at the bank was expressed to the society directors at the October monthly meeting on Tuesday evening by Secretary J. E. O'Mahony. Although the hospital has some $7,000 to $8,000 on the books, there is not sufficient money in the bank to meet the September accounts payable.

Receipts for the month of September, together with the cash on hand at the end of August, were not sufficient by $412.15 to meet the September accounts, Mr. O'Mahony told the hospital board.

When the mid-month salary cheques were issued, only $14.96 was left at October 15 and the September trading accounts are still to be paid. Another $1,000 in salary payments must be made at this month-end.

The hospital secretary and finance committee was advised that it should make a concerted drive to collect the thousands of dollars on the hospital books so that the institution can carry on until the end of the year.

Once 1948 rolls around, the hospital operating costs will be compiled and payment will be made by the provincial government under the hospital insurance scheme. However, Secretary O'Mahony was concerned over hospital administration until such time as the government plan takes effect.

It was agreed that the $4 charge for public wards is too low in the face of existing costs and must be raised soon. However, it was suggested that no change be made for the balance of this year.

Secretary O'Mahony received the

Two Accidents in District Saturday; Drivers Charged

Two accidents occurred in this district on Saturday, October 16, and as a result two drivers are being charged with failing to give half the road.

About 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon William Swetlloe of Osoyoos was driving up Peach Orchard hill when he was blinded by the sun, swung over to the left side of the road and collided with a White & Thornthwaite truck proceeding down the hill and driven by C. F. Harvey.

Damage to the vehicles was light, that to the truck being about $10 and to the car $25. Swetlloe will probably appear in Summerland police court next Tuesday.

Later in the day, at 7:30 o'clock, two cars met on a corner nearly a mile south of Peachland. No one was injured but the cars were badly damaged.

One driver was Alphonse Vloen of Peachland and his car suffered about $100 damage. Hugo Smalts of Vernon was the other driver, his car receiving $150 damage. Smalts is being charged in police court here and will probably appear before Magistrate H. Sharman tomorrow morning.

Winter Sports Promotion

WINTER SPORTS are evidently at a low ebb in Summerland.

Not that there isn't a great deal of interest among the younger fry to participate in these sports, but there is little support to be derived from senior members of the community to lend a guiding hand to the younger people and assist them in arousing interest.

This was quite evident when the annual meeting of the basketball club found almost the entire executive being formed from playing members of teams in the younger categories. There were no seniors there to lend a hand, not even those who have abandoned active playing participation in the past few years.

Soon, there will be a call for participation in hockey. Here, again, there is a lack of executive personnel who will help promote the sport.

The Summerland Memorial Parks Committee, from its funds raised by community canvass, has carried hockey for the past two years with some slight assistance from the players involved. This year, the parks committee, faced with dwindling funds, cannot care for the rink and provide the facilities of a playing surface out of its own funds. There must be a hockey association formed, a group strong enough to provide funds for rink upkeep during the two to three months that nature allows for a playing ice surface.

A start was made last year, but the organization will have to be made more permanent if hockey is to be enjoyed by local players and spectators.

Another sport which is extremely popular in winter time is skiing. Here again a handful of older enthusiasts are handling the cause of skiing for a host of young people. It is probable that the Okanagan zone ski championships will be held in Summerland this winter. Olympic talent will probably be seen in action here.

But this great show will only be made possible by enthusiastic support from all parts of the community, as the few seniors on the ski club executive cannot be expected to shoulder the entire load.

The board of trade promised last Thursday to assist the ski club in promoting this venture, which is one good sign of awakening interest in sports promotion here. But many others will have to follow the lead, pitch in and help.

After all, these sports are for the benefit of the boys and girls of today, to help build stronger bodies, promote co-operative, team spirit and foster good sportsmanship for the seniors of tomorrow.

The Tragic Toll

LAST Friday's accident which caused the death of a well-known and respected pioneer citizen of this community was a tragedy regretted by all.

We do not attempt in any way to assess the blame, but it is known that the unfortunate man was riding his bicycle on the left-hand side of the road.

The municipal traffic bylaw states that the right-hand side of the road will be used by vehicles and it is a generally recognized fact that traffic must keep to the right, except when passing another vehicle proceeding in the same direction.

We have observed too many flagrant breaches of the traffic rules of late, especially by riders of bicycles. Bicycle riders proceeding at night without lights are quite prevalent here. They not only present a menace to traffic generally but they are potentially seeking a swift and sudden end.

In other parts of the Okanagan, there has been an "accident epidemic" which would indicate that drivers generally are becoming increasingly careless. In Summerland district there have been almost as many accidents this fall than for the rest of the season.

Vernon had 35 accidents in the first fifteen days of the month, all with damage of more than $50 to each vehicle.

In Penticton, Magistrate G. A. McLelland passed the opinion that the highways may now be "too good", at least for the proficiency of the Okanagan drivers. They are probably not used to the wide highways and the faster speed they can now attain.

Drivers must learn that the highways, although improved a great deal, are still not so perfect that they can become speedways. There are still many twists and turns and danger spots.

But the cardinal rule of the road, keep to the right, if observed rigidly, would prevent most accidents. Cutting corners, taking needless chances when corners are looming near, with only a fraction of time saved by the effort, are the two main causes of automobile accidents.

What can you do about this alarming accident toll? Be a little more careful in the future, and obey the traffic rules.

The Weekly Press

"THE maintenance of the standards of weekly newspaper publishing is no light task today," commented the Toronto Globe and Mail, in an editorial on the weekly newspapers on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association at Niagara Falls. "For these smaller papers," the Toronto daily continued, "costs have risen alarmingly, just as they have for other businesses. The war put a heavy strain on their resources, and for a time the paper shortage was acute. It is highly creditable that so many of them are continuing to grow and progress, reaching ever higher levels of attainment in both news and coverage and service to their communities.

"There is no little significance in the fact that editorial pages in the weeklies are developing so well... It is a tribute not only to the common sense of the editors, but to the rising maturity of their readers, that editorial opinion may be accepted for what it is worth and taken in good part.

"The rural editor is often a man of great personal influence in his community. In fact, the atmosphere and enterprise of many of the small places are a reflection of the newspapers serving them. On the other hand, if the editor remains unaware of trends in his district, and is content to ride along with the breeze, which ever way it blows, his town may be one of those left behind by progress. There is everything to be said for life in the smaller places, and the thoughtful editor will see that his constituency does not lag behind through failure to recognize opportunity, or to make the best of its own possibilities.

"The city cannot do without a healthy, vigorous rural life. The country is the source of the city's wealth, and the main market place for its goods. The national welfare is therefore best served when both work together in co-operation and goodwill. To promote this happy state is the vital responsibility of the country editor, no less than it is of his opposite number in the cities."

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Last week I had a bright idea on how to get rich quick. I went over to the experimental station to discuss this idea with Dick Palmer, and the gist of our conversation was as follows:

Agrologist: Is it true that fruit trees require phosphorus, potash, magnesium, manganese, sulphur, copper, zinc and a number of other minor elements besides nitrogen and boron?

Dick: Yes, that is so.

Agrologist: Is it true that appreciable quantities of these elements are removed from the soil by cropping and leaching?

Dick: Yes, that is so.

Agrologist: Could you make use of a little extra money in addition to your regular salary?

Dick: Most certainly I could.

Agrologist: Then I will tell you how it can be done. You and I will enter into partnership. I will set up a plant to mix a really complete fertilizer containing all the elements which fruit trees require to keep them healthy. All that I will ask from you is a recommendation that fruit growers apply this fertilizer to their orchards.

Dick: Not so fast—this bright idea of yours is not by any means a new one. Many years ago a man named Dedolph introduced a fertilizer mixture such as you suggest. Later, another material was put on the market under the name Multal. More recently, Vitacare, Esminel and No-Churn Plant Food have appeared. Actually, sales of these materials have been quite low compared to sales of standard fertilizers such as Ammophos 16-20 and Ammonium Nitrate.

Agrologist: That is why I need your recommendation for my new super-fertilizer mixture.

Dick: That is why I won't give you my recommendation. I value my good name and reputation much too highly to sell them to you or anyone else.

Agrologist: Then you think sale of these curative fertilizer mixes is a racket?

Dick: Not entirely. It is possible that one or two of the elements which they contain have become deficient in the soils in a few of our orchards. On the other hand, I am satisfied that on most of our orchard soils nitrogen and boron are the only elements which it will pay growers to apply. What is more—if you care to put some useful information in your column for a change—I suggest you mention that an article on fertilizers for irrigated orchards prepared by the Okanagan Plant Nutrition Committee can be secured by growers—and salesmen—from local district horticulturists or by writing to the Summerland Experimental Station.

This article has been prepared by sound scientists such as Jack Wilcox, Harold McLarty and Ben Hoy who have no axes to grind and whose interests lie in making sure that growers purchase the fertilizer materials which they actually require at reasonable cost.

By B. A. T.

XV—Explaining the Inexplicable
Who walks around his mount each night

With heavy, thundrous tread?
Who is it has the latest word
When everything's been said?
Who is it makes the thunder roar?
Who puts the holes in bread?
Who put the sweet in Sweet Marie?

The Giant of Giant's Head.

The preface, placed at the beginning of a story, is usually dry as dust and seldom noticed. The reader plunges into the heart of a book and immediately becomes excited over whether the stain in the hall closet is beet juice or human blood.

In our case, this is the preface, placed in the middle of the series, and whether you read it or not will have little effect on the giants who lived before the world was round.

If these giant tales appear inconsistent, contradictory, or not in proper sequence, it should be remembered that the writer's sources of information are records untold thousands of years old. You should be glad that these documents have been unearthed at all for they throw light upon an age of which we had no previous knowledge.

The manuscripts are of deerskin, most of them wrinkled, discolored and eaten by time and rats. The scribes of this period did the best they could for it was long before the days of typewriters and glamorous typists.

The giant language bears a faint resemblance to Latin which seems to signify they had a common source. But it needs more than a knowledge of the Roman tongue to understand the giant script.

It can be said that there are only three persons in the world today who can freely translate the giant writings. One is a monk in a Thibetan lamasary, the second is a Zulu witch doctor and the third is a local resident. (Modesty forbids further information.)

Many have asked regarding the height of the giants of Giantland. In spite of special study on this subject, it is difficult to answer with certainty. The giant unit of length measurement was the "pedic" which was also their word for foot. One giant of unusual size was said to be seven pedics tall. If it is meant that the giant was, in height, seven times the length of his foot we are no nearer a solution as with modern man the ratio is approximately the same.

It would be easy to make guesses on some of these perplexing subjects but when the historian begins to conjecture, he ceases to be an historian and becomes a writer of fiction.

The story of giant life is too important to be treated lightly for today we do the same things and have the same problems as the "early settlers." The giants had war and peace. They had famine and plenty. They fought invasion, sickness and cold. They had songs and poetry. It can be stated that the chief thing the giants lacked that we are blessed with today was bubble gum.

"When did the giants flourish according to our calendar?" is a query that might be made. There is no answer. Even the Thibetan monk cannot relate the two calendars.

The recent discovery of strange bones at Winfield lends proof to these giant tales. For the records of the Giant of Giant's Head tell of a raiding-party of Rock Creek dragons being overtaken and exterminated at the north end of the Valley.

It is the consensus of opinion that the dragon of giant days was a descendant of dinosaurs. They were smaller and more intelligent than their ancestors. The dragons could breathe fire and this, in battle, gave them a distinct advantage and enabled them to survive almost into our era. No reports of fire-breathing dinosaurs are available as it is possible that fire had not been discovered in their day.

Even when all the histories left by the Giant of Giant's Head have been translated and correlated, there will still be some aspects of early life that must forever remain a mystery.

NEW YORK—Look who's here now! Isn't it wonderful! I can hardly believe my eyes when I wake up of a morn and hear the whirr and rush of this city around my ears, including the roaring "L" that rushes past not far away, packed to the doors with New Yorkers who think nothing of spending an hour and a half getting to work every day and another hour and half getting home again.

Don't waste your time feeling sorry for them, though; they wouldn't live any other way if you handed them Salt Spring Island on a silver platter. An elevator girl I was talking to the other day doesn't even leave the city on her holidays; says she'd like nothing better than to live on the corner of 42nd and Broadway. Of course, they DO have a Central Park, and if ever a space of land were well and wisely reserved, that is it. If you shut your ears to noises you can well imagine yourself in Stanley Park, Vancouver. What AM I saying?

For a visit I don't suppose you can find more entertainment (at a price) anywhere else in the world, except maybe Paris. This city has everything that anyone can ask for, be it a day at Conny Island, or an afternoon at a famous symphony. It has food to cater to Three bylaws will shortly be presented to the ratepayers for their approval. One concerns the proposed irrigation system extensions, another asks power to raise $35,000 by debentures to pay for this work and the third would give the Summerland Telephone Co. power to raise its rates by one dollar per month.

The markets commissioner on the prairies has commended the O.K. brand from Summerland and states that apples under this brand are equal to the No. 1 fancy Skookum brand from Washington. The Stuart Fruit Co. wrapper on fancy apples has drawn attention from the trade.

Summerland has escaped any outbreak of the much dreaded Spanish influenza, Dr. F. W. Andrew, health officer, states.

Private Charles A. Marshall arrived on the lake boat Tuesday night, being one of a large group of returned soldiers from England.

W. A. Caldwell has been appointed assistant assessor for the unorganized district in this area.

Pte. Charles Arnold Gayton has received a gunshot wound in the left hand and a lacerated knee and is a patient in the 7th Canadian hospital in France.

Three Summerland cars made the Princeton-Kamloops-Vernon circuit last weekend. Leaving here on Friday were Dr. and Mrs. Andrew, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lees and Mr. Baker and Mrs. and Mrs. Hatfield and family.

Although Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, in a judgment handed down in Supreme Court, has held that the Produce Marketing Act is intra vires of the legislature, His Lordship decided that the statute is not applicable to shipments outside the province. The court of appeal will hear the case once more. This case and another similar one concerned the shipment of potatoes by Chinese growers.

In view of judgments handed down in Supreme Court, the Interior Committee of Direction is arranging some test cases brought before the court to involve the main principles of the act so that the powers of the committee under it may be determined accurately.

With a change in government, several new appointments have been made. W. C. Kelley, KC, has been notified that his twelve-year term as administrator has terminated and he is succeeded by E. M. Proposals that Okanagan communities stage a twoday apple festival were outlined recently by Ted Buse of Kelowna.

Just to go to the top of the Empire State building alone is worth the long trip to New York, not to mention a fascinating jaunt around Radio City, or a slow stroll up (or down) Fifth Avenue where you will see more smartly-dressed women than in a dozen copies of Vogue.

You women would fall in love with Macy's, the largest store in the world, and you'd be ogled at the bargains you may get there, but NOT bring back to Canada. Your eyes would also ogle at the Fifth Avenue shops, where men buy $8000 earrings for spoiled darlings the way you or I would invest in a 95 cent piece of jewelry.

Nothing to stop you gazing at those goodies, however, and thinking what better things you could spend the $8000 on, IF you had it.

At this time of the year, the trip on the train from Montreal to New York is one you'll never forget, long-drawn-out as it does get to seem before you reach 125th Street and start plugging in from there. Colorful as my beloved west is, it has nothing like the brilliance of the leaves in the fall in New York or the New England states. There is a certain daffodil yellow and a bright red that comes with the first frost and stays until the leaves fall. The eyes can hardly convey the message of beauty to the brain, it is so great. Start saving now, and come down next fall, when the heat of the city has gone and the countryside comes into a blaze of glory.

Priceless Curios Blend With Modern Handicraft in Big Women's Institute Exhibition

The Women's Institute handicraft exhibition staged in the IOOF hall last Saturday afternoon proved an outstanding success, and was enjoyed by many enthusiastic visitors.

Convenors Mrs. J. Blewett and Mrs. George Inglis had attractively displayed the showing of modern handicraft, with hooked rugs, filet lace bedspreads and hand-made tablecloths forming a wall drape to highlight effectively the tables full of examples of the skill of modern women. Hand-painted china, dainty shell work pictures, and many small interesting articles were skillfully arranged to bring pleasure to the beholder.

In the centre of the hall were tables displaying many beautiful old fashioned christening robes with panels of exquisite hand embroidery insets, choice pieces of old hand-made lace, and other pieces demonstrating the careful work of an older generation.

Two Demonstrations

Mrs. Harvey Wright showed the use of her little home-made spinning wheel to an interested gathering in an alcove, and across the hall Mrs. Gordon Ritchie demonstrated home weaving on a small handloom.

On the platform, precious cashmere shawls made a colorful background for interesting curios, and these were centred by a wonderful doll, made in 1790, and still in an excellent state of preservation. A carved oak table, the work of the late Mrs. Cartwright, and two antique embroidered firescreens were grouped with many beautiful old campers. Pottery work made a colorful group, displaying the work of the late Miss Doris Cordy, and that of Miss Marion Cartwright and Mrs. A. Hockley. Mrs. F. Krahnstoeber had loaned samples of her beautiful needlework pictures, which were shown with the pottery group.

Mrs. A. K. Macleod, Mrs. H. R. McLarty and Mrs. Gordon Ritchie were the committee in charge of arranging these exhibits, and were heartily commended for the excellent work done.

Stalls Patronized

A home-cooking stall tended by Mrs. Dan Weis and Mrs. A. Bingham did a flourishing business, as did the novelty stall with Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon and Mrs. H. B. Mair in charge.

The tearoom, presided over by Mrs. C. H. Elsey with assistance from Mrs. George Woitte and Miss F. Cuthbertson, an English visitor to Summerland, was well patronized during the afternoon.

Mrs. Magnus Tait was in charge at the door, and Mrs. D. Proverbs rendered great assistance in the morning with the work of preparation for the big event.

Altogether President Mrs. M. E. Collas and Secretary Mrs. E. L. Lamchon had every reason to feel highly gratified at the team work displayed by their appointed committees, and at the manner in which all the WI members contributed in some degree to a very successful exhibition and bazaar.

MENTAL HEALTH
Canada's costly mental health problem can be greatly improved through the effective education of the general public. Outworn concepts must be replaced by modern knowledge. Mental illness is no disgrace, is not inherited, does not strike suddenly, and in most cases is curable.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

The troops first Apple Tag Day proved a big success when the young apple salesmen received contributions from the people of Summerland amounting to over $120.00. It is planned to apply part of this to purchase of sports equipment and part towards a building fund for a Scout Hall. Thanks Summerland!

Now that we are back in the school gym we can practice a bit of basketball for games with other troops. We expect to play Nar-amata on Oct. 27 and Kelowna later on this fall.

For a little variety last week we had 20 minutes of acrobatics on the mats, directed by former S.M. Blewett. This proved good fun and will be repeated later. Gordon Blewett also gave us some good instruction on signalling, and boys wishing to pass second-class signalling may take their test from Mr. Blewett at noon at the electrical switching station.

The troop has been very fortunate in having former A.S.M. Dr. Cyril Woodbridge instruct in first aid for several weeks. Dr. Woodbridge will be giving several more weeks' instruction to boys qualifying for their first class.

First class badges were awarded to P/L Rempel, Don Blacklock and Ross Tingley and Second Class badges to Gerald Washington and Leslie Bingham. Congratulations are extended to these boys. The troop welcomed back former Scout Jack Smith from Nova Scotia and recruit Bob Nelson. Attendance last week was 25. Point scores stand at: Buffaloes 390, Hawks 398, Beavers 600 and Eagles 395.

Notices: Meeting Friday, October 22, in school gym. Running shoes must be brought. Duty patrol, Eagles. — D. V. Fisher.

GUIDE NEWS

Our meeting last Friday was almost entirely devoted to preparation for our Christmas concert. It was pleasing to find much talent in the company and so many willing to do their part. Guides participating in the plays, etc., are reminded to bring their parts and music on Oct. 22.

The company welcomed one new Guide who joined the Thrush patrol. It was gratifying to note the progress made by several patrols with their charts. The meeting closed with the Guide prayer and "Taps".

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Wednesday, October 13, Summerland met Penticton in an exhibition soccer match. The first goal was scored by Penticton's "Slick" Estler. Before the half ended Francis Gould emerged from a goal-mouth scramble to knot the count for Summerland. Several more goals were attempted by the local lads but were unsuccessful and the game ended in a one-all draw.

The school district nurse this year is Miss Appleton who is taking Miss Cammaert's place. Miss Appleton comes from Ashcroft where she set up a public health unit. Previous to this she trained at St. Thomas in England and nursed during the war in D.P. camps.

The school library welcomed the addition of six new books this week. Many books have been ordered and it is hoped they will be in soon.

Ben Hughes, Editor of the Courtenay-Comox Argus.

"I'm zealously, fanatically in favor of the Democratic System"

"I can say with certainty for the Courtenay-Comox Argus that now and during the past quarter of a century no government or any body or agency outside the business has dictated the policy of the paper, and I believe that is true of the great majority of Canadian newspapers," says Ben Hughes, Editor of the Courtenay-Comox Argus.

"The only people who can dictate to Canadian publishers are their subscribers and, without circulation you cannot get advertising. Therein lies the safeguard of a free press under the private enterprise system. A free press is your safeguard against inefficiency in high places everywhere; against anybody who'd impose on your rights.

"But nobody, and especially no government, likes to be criticized. And a Communist or state monopoly government could make it very tough for a newspaper which attacked it.

"How? Well, with the government controlling everything, they could soon put on the pressure through newspaper rationing, manpower direction, or straight control.

"That's why I'm against Communism or any state monopoly system. As we saw in Hitler-land of yesterday and Stalin-land of today, the first thing the Communists do is to get hold of the newspapers; either the editor follows the party line or he goes to the concentration camp. The greater concentration of power there is in the hands of the government, the greater danger there is to a free press.

"I'm a practical newspaper man, and I've done a lot of criticizing of the government in my time. I'm zealously, fanatically in favor of the democratic system. It's the only system . . . that'll give us a free press . . . the only system where we can be sure of seeing that too much power does not get into the hands of the government."

Congratulations of the hospital directors on his re-appointment as second vice-president of the B.C. Hospitals Assn. at the annual convention at Vancouver on October 9.

He reported at some length on this conference and declared that the resolution from the interior hospital region concerning the inclusion of out patients in the hospital insurance scheme was turned down by the resolutions committee on the grounds that it would step into the field of medical practitioners in metropolitan areas.

However, the interior region motion concerning in the hospital insurance plan and congratulating the provincial government on its step was given approval by the meeting. Also, the move to establish an interior home for chronic and old-age pension cases was given approval once more and will be passed on to the B.C. government.

Dr. J. C. Wilcox, a director of the Summerland hospital, has been named the regional director on the B.C. Hospitals Assn. executive.

The local hospital is renewing its contract with the Canadian Red Cross Society blood transfusion service and is expecting to continue its arrangement with the Penticton hospital for obtaining of whole blood and plasma from the Penticton bank.

Asked concerning the new staff employed at the hospital, Secretary O'Mahony told the directors that they are operating in an efficient manner and are doing good work.

Fireworks Ruled Out on Streets

Summerland council has made a move to stop the fireworks menace in this municipality, a nuisance which has caused many misgivings and has caused some slight loss of property already.

The text of Section 15 of Bylaw 215 is reproduced in the advertising columns of this issue and reads as follows:

"No person or persons shall light, set off, or throw any firecracker, squib, serpent or any noisy, offensive or dangerous substance or fireworks in the streets."

For the past three weeks to a month the sale of fireworks has been general in the municipality and youngsters have been exploding them at random on the streets. Several near-serious accidents have been related and more than one female pedestrian has had her stockings ruined from firecrackers.

Other communities are taking like measures, the City of Duncan having decided to invoke an old bylaw passed in 1924 to control this nuisance.

"It was all right for a few years when the supply was limited to just Halloween but fireworks are too numerous now," one local official commented yesterday.

QUITE A DIFFERENCE

It was erroneously stated in last week's issue of The Review that the local school board had rented the school gymnasium to W. J. Schwab for gymnastic classes at $1 weekly. This should have read $1 per year.

Bloomfield's truck, death occurring about 7 o'clock.

Cause of death was termed from cerebral injury, with a compound and depressed fracture of the skull.

Cpl. Brabazon asked Dr. Munn to elaborate concerning the blow, believed from some blunt instrument or agent, whether the injuries were from an agent striking the head or from the head striking the agent. Dr. Munn replied that he did not believe this could be ascertained.

Hard of Hearing

Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh was summoned to declare that the deceased man was hard of hearing. When he examined him last May, the late Mr. Tullett had only 25 percent hearing in one ear and 50 percent in the other.

Alan Calvert, who keeps the weather records at the experimental station, produced evidence to show that the sun officially went behind the hills at 5:20 o'clock Friday afternoon. It had been quite clear all day.

Reference to the municipal traffic bylaw No. 215 was made when Gordon Smith, acting municipal clerk, read Section 3, clauses A, B and C dealing with vehicles operating on the right hand side of the road and passing vehicles proceeding in the same direction on the left hand side. Bicycles are classed as vehicles.

No Marks on Truck

Constable I. G. Thorsteinson, local B.C. Police officer, then came on the stand to declare that he found the John Newton truck at the side of the road. Subsequent examination failed to reveal any marks attributable to the accident on the truck.

The bicycle was badly damaged, and was discovered on the south side of the road near the intersection of the road leading to the Gulch. The rear fender of the bicycle was badly crumpled, while the right handlebar appeared to be bent forward.

Constable Thorsteinson, in company with Constable C. H. Atchison of the B.C. Police highway patrol, took measurements at the accident scene and the former declared that the road is 18 feet wide. He could not determine the exact point of impact as there were no marks on the highway, but from evidence provided him by John Newton, there was a distance of 31 feet 8 inches from where Mr. Tullett was lying to the "supposed point of impact".

The road is straight for a distance of 204 feet south from the accident scene and there is good visibility towards West Summerland, the constable maintained.

Constable Atchison declared that the truck brakes were good, the horn was working and clearance lights were operating on the front of the truck, but there were no clearance lights on the rear. This was the only fault to be found with the truck, he said.

Given Protection

At this juncture, after a short recess, John Newton was called to the stand and provided protection for all evidence under the Canada Evidence Act. This protection is allowed for all cases except for perjury.

He explained to the inquest that he was proceeding towards West Summerland about 5:30 o'clock on October 15 and when he topped the rise near Milne's cannery he saw the bicycle ahead of him on the left hand side of the road. He had his lights and clearance lights on at the time, he said, and was proceeding in the same direction as the bicycle at between 25 to 30 miles per hour.

"As I came onto the bicycle, I saw he was keeping well to the left side of the road. I cut down my speed to 15 to 20 miles per hour before attempting to pass him."

"As I approached the bicycle and rider I blew my horn and as I was passing turned my head to the left to see if everything was clear and I caught a glimpse of the bicycle coming against the side of the truck."

"I stopped immediately, got out and found Mr. Tullett lying to the rear of the truck on the left-hand side of the road about 9 to 10 feet behind," Mr. Newton declared.

The rest of his evidence concerned going for help and assisting the fatally-injured man to hospital.

Kampe Evidence

Final witness was Walter Kampe, who resides on the Gulch road and was proceeding off Giant's Head road onto the connecting road in his horse and wagon at the time of the accident, according to his evidence.

He stated that the horses were off the black top heading towards the Gulch road and the wagon was partly off the blacktop when he looked to his left on hearing a truck approaching. He then heard a crash and saw a man flying and rolling over behind the truck.

He declared that he got out of the wagon, ran over and picked up the man's body, and laid it at the side of the road.

He claimed that the Newton truck did not stop until 200 to 300 feet down the road and then backed up to the accident scene. Kampe also claimed that he "holered" at the truck before it stopped and he also stated that Newton told him he did not hear the accident.

Confusion over Story

There was also some confusion over whether Kampe heard the crash and then looked to the left or whether he looked to the left on hearing the truck and then heard the crash, the latter being the story he stuck to after cross-examination by Cpl. Brabazon.

The police corporal contended that it would be more natural for Kampe, in his alleged position, to look to the right but the witness stuck to his story.

At the end of the inquest, Cor-

Scout Tag Day Well Supported

"We were very appreciative of the support of Summerland citizens," an official of the local Scout association informed The Review yesterday as he reported that some $127 was collected by the local Scout troop in its first Apple Tag Day last Saturday.

This money is to be devoted to Scout equipment with a portion laid aside for a future Scout hall building.

Dr. D. V. Fisher is now in charge of the local Scouts as Scoutmaster succeeding G. M. Blewett, who found he could not devote sufficient time to the work. Mr. Blewett is continuing to take an active interest in the troop.

The annual meeting of the Okanagan South Boy Scouts Local Assn. is scheduled for November 19 in Penticton where B.C. Scout Commissioner Ken Jordan, of Vancouver, will be in attendance.

BOTTLED SUNSHINE

In a climate such as Canada's, children cannot depend on getting sufficient vitamin D from the sun to prevent rickets and build strong bones and teeth. Nor is the regular diet usually rich enough in vitamin D. Sufficient vitamin D may be had only the form of fish liver oils and other reliable preparations.

Mr. F. W. Andrew commented on the safety campaign undertaken at the Summerland schools, stating that he considered youngsters are showing more caution in the handling of their vehicles.

"I am going to see that the schools are notified about this accident," declared the coroner.

F. R. Karan, Penticton, was present at the inquest and represented "one of the interested parties," the coroner was informed.

Octogenarian is Honored on Birthday

Mrs. Ada Milne, who is spending some months away from her home in Lavinia, Manitoba, with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Milne, celebrated her 83rd birthday on Sunday, October 17.

To honor the matriarch, Mr. and Mrs. Milne had a family dinner on Friday, October 15, and over the weekend Mrs. Milne was a guest at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Embree and Mr. Cliff Hall at Trout Creek. Many old friends dropped in during the birthday to offer their congratulations and felicitations to Mrs. Milne.

ELDERLY PIONEER RESIDENT PASSES

Funeral services were conducted in the Baptist church by Rev. Mr. Smithson of Kelowna on Monday, October 18, for Miss Isabel Spencer, who died in Summerland hospital on Saturday, October 16, at the age of 86 years. She had been a resident of this district since 1911. Only relative remaining here is Mr. J. Fawcett.

Pallbearers were Mr. T. B. Washington, Mr. W. Ritchie, Mr. Gordon Ritchie, Mr. George Perry, Mr. J. McDougald and Mr. Arnold Gayton.

Interment was in Peach Orchard cemetery.

New Industries Committee Told to Investigate Other Possible Apple By-products

Suggestion that if B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. still refuses to consider re-establishing an evaporating plant in Summerland that the board of trade new industries committee should turn its thoughts to other processing lines which have not been promoted in the valley was made at last Thursday's meeting of the Summerland trade board in the IOOF hall by Councillor F. E. Atkinson.

Mr. Atkinson's suggestion highlighted a full-dress debate on the subject of a processing plant for Summerland, set off by another letter from B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. that it could not reconsider its stand that no plant will be forthcoming for Summerland for the time being.

C. E. Bentley, BCFGA local president, led a spirited argument upholding the growers' stand on this question, the right of the BCFGA to dictate the policy of the industry and explaining the growers' industry setup in general. He received backing from J. Y. Towgood, another growers' executive member locally.

T. B. Young, new industries committee chairman, pointed out that payrolls for Summerland is the main consideration.

During the course of his remarks, Mr. Bentley took exception to several editorial comments on the subject as contributed by The Review.

Discussion on the subject of re-establishing the Summerland evaporating plant was instituted by C. E. Bentley before any report from the committee was given.

He explained at length the setup of the growers' parliament, the BCFGA, which in turn forms the companies of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. and the B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. Mr. Bentley stressed that the growers select the directors of these companies and if these appointed directors decide that no processing plant should be started here, then their ruling should be upheld. If the growers decide that the directors are wrong they can replace them at the next annual meeting.

Backs Processors
"I back the processing company directors in their stand and I think we should abide by their decision," Mr. Bentley declared. He intimated that if Summerland wishes to start a processing plant on its own, then it can purchase fruit from B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. for the purpose.

The speaker also pointed out that when Mr. Young was operating his plant he received 20 1/2 cents whereas the price has now dropped to 14 cents. Last year, the processing company was forced to compete with dumped processed products from the United States.

"The picture has changed entirely from the day when Mr. Young operated," was Mr. Bentley's concluding remarks, declaring that competition is now much keener in the sale of processed goods.

Young Replies
"I agree with Mr. Bentley that any proposal Summerland makes should have careful investigation and we are not making any rejection on Mr. Bentley or the processing company directors," placated Mr. Young in reply.

The new industries chairman, however, contended that the growers should have the say in whether a processing plant should be established in Summerland.

He stressed that his committee is anxious to increase payrolls in Summerland. He pointed out that fourteen cents is the price which prevailed when he started in the industry but he only paid $2.50 to $6 per ton for the cull apples then, whereas the price rose to $20 per ton later.

"What we're after is payrolls. Our population is doubled and the only answer to the unemployment problem is payrolls and more payrolls," Mr. Young insisted.

Mr. Young repeated his argument of a previous meeting that by instituting a plant here a considerable saving in freight charges would ensue. Summerland did have a plant here and has a better right for any new plant than other points in the valley, he contended.

Objects to Pressure

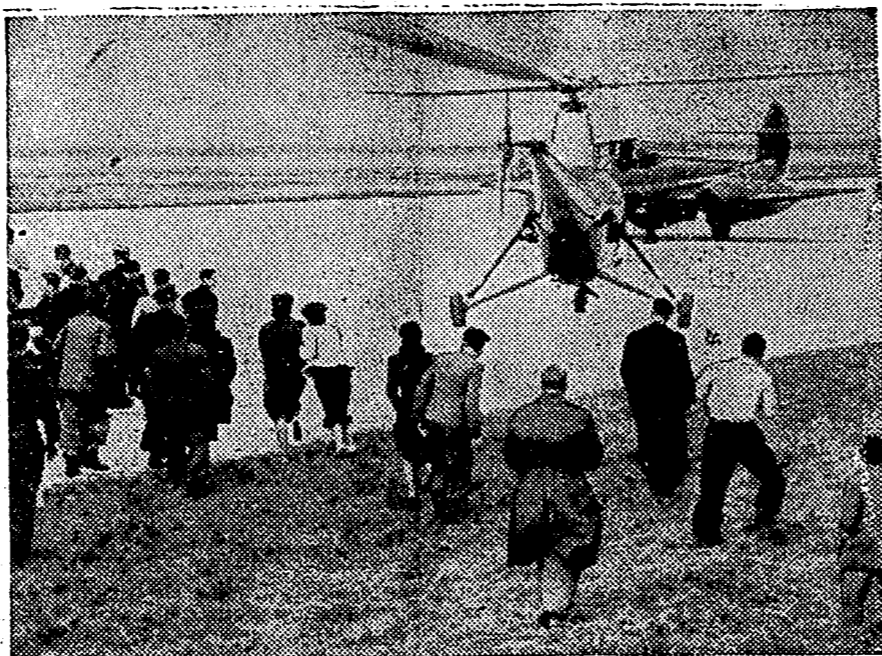

J. Y. Towgood expressed his objection to pressure being put on the processing company to start a plant here and considered that the trade board was stepping out of the scope of its proper activity. He agreed that a plant here would be a fine thing for the community, but there would be competition for employees during six weeks when the seasonal employment would overlap.

Directors of the B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. must show reason to the entire valley and not just to Summerland why a plant should be established here, he pointed out.

"Were the growers asked if they wished to buy the bankrupt Kel plant?" queried Mr. George Stoll.

Mr. Bentley explained that the directors of the BCFGA were asked and they agreed. He, as a director of the BCFGA is responsible to the growers of Summerland for his acquiescence in this purchase.

Mr. F. E. Atkinson then interjected the thought that a consid-

A crowd converges on a landing strip at Orly Field, Paris, as a jet plane (rear) bringing a letter from London arrives. The letter was started on its way by the Lord Mayor of London. It was flown by helicopter to an airfield where the jet plane was waiting for the second leg of the trip. At Orly Field, the letter was transferred to a helicopter again and flown into Place des Invalides in Paris where the mayor received it. The elapsed time was 46 minutes.

erable part of the controversy has been engendered because only dried apples have been discussed. He suggested that other apple by-products could be processed here, including frozen apples, and pointed out that Summerland has now developed into the major canning district of the Okanagan.

Mr. Bentley again rose to his feet to tell the meeting that he considered that The Review had "slammed" him editorially after the last board of trade meeting, at which he was not present. Mr. Bentley assured the gathering that there is no one more interested in the progress of Summerland than himself.

President F. W. Schumann poured oil on the troubled waters by agreeing that the board has every confidence in the fruit industry, setup but at the same time he believed that the new industries committee, in its search for more payrolls, is on the right track.

He expressed his appreciation of the committee's endeavors and hoped that it would continue to strive for Summerland's progress.

Lengthy Feud Over School on Golf Property is Ended

PENTICTON—There will be no primary school built on the golf course parking lot. Nor will the Penticton school board's plan for decentralization of schools be carried into effect for some time to come.

This decision was reached at a meeting of the board last week when the whole position with respect to the board's search for a central school site west of Main street was reviewed.

The board, after considerable discussion, decided not to press its efforts to secure the golf course parking lot, to drop its expropriation proceedings, and to build another six-room school on property it owns on Jermyn avenue.

Pressing need for immediate alleviation of the school accommodation problem was the governing factor in arriving at the decision.

A board statement issued after the meeting declares that despite the opinion of its legal advisers that the city's injunction against expropriation might be successfully contested, there would still be the further entanglement of the provisions of the zoning by-law, under the terms of which the council could, if it desired, refuse to grant a building permit.

Rather than involve the city in a costly legal battle with the possibility of an ultimate stalemate over a building permit, the board threw in its hand over the golf course site.

It was in November, 1947, that the board approached the council with its plan for decentralization, subsequently pointing out that the parking lot at the golf course would make an ideal school site.

DINING OUT

Each year millions of meals are served in Canadian cafes and restaurants. In an industry of such gigantic proportions, it is essential that a careful watch be kept for any signs of dirt or food contamination. The general public can help by insisting on good restaurant conditions.

Want Businessmen To Guarantee Show

VERNON—Some of Vernon's leading businessmen will shortly be asked to give a guarantee that they will stand behind the Vernon-Okanagan Industrial Exposition Association committee for the 1949 Exposition, in the event of the affair "going in the red."

The guarantee is only to protect the committee in the event of financial loss, and was signed by Mayor T. R. B. Adams and the five aldermen at regular City Council session held on Tuesday evening, when Alderman David Howrie, Association president, stated the purpose of the Exposition is primarily to bring Vernon to the forefront, not only in the province, but the rest of Canada.

Nova Scotia Apple Industry 'On the Ropes,' Says Kentville

KENTVILLE, N.S. — Driedup overseas markets have delivered an economic punch that has the Annapolis Valley apple industry on the ropes.

Money no longer grows on trees for some 2500 Annapolis Valley apple producers, and orchardists are becoming extremely pessimistic over the future.

In prewar years, 85 percent of the valley's turnover went to the United Kingdom and continental consumers. The dollar shortage put the skids under the apple business and an end to exports.

Many of their trees produce apples not rated as premium varieties by Canadian buyers. Extensive grafting operations began last year to grow apples with plenty of eye appeal—the kind preferred by U.S. and Canadian housewives. But it will be 1951 before reconversion is complete.

R. D. Sutton, president of the Nova Scotia Apple Marketing Board, says "the apple industry is really up against it." And he predicts grimmer prospects for next year. "We are headed for the darkest depression we ever saw," he says.

Apple producers have been forced to cut production to fit home consumption. This year, Quebec and the Maritimes will absorb most of the scant 600,000 barrels—less than one-third of the prewar output.

Half the valley's 12 processing plants are idle and 1500 year-round workers now turn out a comparative trickle of processed products—apple sauce, apple solid pack, and concentrated apple juice.

Labor demands in the valley have plummeted to a fraction of their former size. Earlier in the season employment officials received orders for 1500 pickers to harvest the crop. Growers took a second look at their yield and the number skidded to 900. It formerly took 3000 men to do the job.

Legion to Install Heating Plant in Hall—Makes Plans For Remembrance Day Service

Plans for the installation of a heating plant in the Legion hall, at a cost of approximately $1,000 were explained to the monthly meeting of the Summerland branch, Canadian Legion last week.

A special meeting of the Legion, held earlier in the month, ratified plans to excavate a furnace, and storage room under the kitchen and present furnace room and install the necessary heating plant.

Legion members were also informed that plans for the annual Remembrance Day service at the Cenotaph are well in hand. President Alan Calvert stated that the ministerial association has agreed on the service to be held.

An added feature of this annual service this year will be the appearance of the Summerland brass band.

Arrangements are being made for the moving of the Cenotaph from the high school grounds to the Living Memorial park-playground, and the inclusion of names of veterans who died on active service in World War II on a granite plaque.

Mr. E. H. Bennett, chairman of the park-playground subcommittee of the Summerland Memorial Parks committee, states that it is doubtful that these alterations can be made prior to the Remembrance Day service this year. However, plans for the moving of the Cenotaph and the laying of the new name plate are unlikely to be far enough advanced for completion prior to November 11, Mr. Bennett believes.

It was hoped by his committee that the unveiling of the names of those who died in World War II could be part of this year's Remembrance Day service, but this is not considered likely now.

Hold Banquet

In the evening, the Legion W.A. is planning a banquet and entertainment at the Ellison hall, with preparations being made to seat 250 Legion and W.A. Members. This annual banquet was a feature for several years but has been discontinued latterly. Its revival is expected to highlight the fall activities of the two organizations.

The local branch has also decided to hold the annual Christmas Smoker in December, as well as the annual New Year's Eve frolic at Ellison hall. Mr. T. Charity is in charge of both these functions.

Zone Council

A meeting of the South Okanagan Similkameen zone council of the Canadian Legion was held at Keremeos last Sunday and was attended by President Alan Calvert, Mr. Harry Howis and Mr. Nat May.

Two resolutions introduced by the Princeton branch are being forwarded to provincial command and ask for recipients of war veterans' allowances and hundred percent pensioners to be given benefits under the hospital insurance scheme for their dependents.

Keremeos Legion stated that each year at this time they obtain gifts of boxes of apples from the growers in their district and forward them to Shaughnessy Military hospital, where they are distributed to the veterans in coast institutions.

It was suggested that a similar plan could be instituted in the Okanagan for the benefit of the hospitalized war veterans.

The Women's Auxiliary zone council meeting was held at Keremeos at the same time on Sunday, with Mrs. A. K. Elliott, Summerland, presiding as president.

"Ham" Equipment Destroyed in Fire

KELOWNA—Hopes of 25-year-old Tony Welder applying for an amateur "ham" licence, were dashed on the rocks on Thursday, Oct. 7, when fire of unknown origin destroyed his radio equipment stored in a garage at the rear of his home, 1304 Richer street.

Welder, a radio instructor in the Canadian Scottish during the war, placed the loss at over $1,000.

Complete Survey of B.C. Hospitals Aimed at Providing for Future Needs

There is to be a complete survey of all British Columbia hospitals. This important announcement was made by Dr. J. M. Hershey at last week's meeting of the hospital advisory council in Vancouver.

Discussions concerning such a step have been underway for some time, said Dr. Hershey, and the hospital insurance service considers itself fortunate in having obtained the services of James A. Hamilton & Associates, hospital consultants of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The purpose of the survey is to appraise the hospital needs of the province and to prepare a long range plan which will be a guide, not only to the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service but will be of assistance to the communities themselves. "The results of this enterprise," said Dr. Hershey, "will be of value both to the hospitals and the government."

After an inventory has been made of existing hospital services and facilities, the quantity and type of hospital requirements needed will be assessed, taking into account health and population characteristics as well as economic and social conditions.

The survey will specify the number and type of hospital beds which should be constructed to meet any proposed expansion program and will make a general estimate of the cost involved.

In addition, there will be an appraisal of a number of hospitals with a presentation of the summary of the findings.

A further important aspect of the survey is its estimation of the number and types of professional skilled personnel needed to carry out the hospital program. It will also outline a training program designed to fill these needs.

Dr. Hershey pointed out that this is the first time that such a complete survey has been carried out in British Columbia and he felt sure that when it was completed, it would bring to light a great deal of valuable information.

The survey is expected to get under way about November 1st, and will take approximately six months to complete. Mr. Hamilton was recently in Vancouver, having addressed the annual meeting of the Western Canada institute for hospital administrators and trustees.

RESEARCH COUNCIL CONTINUES STUDY OF APPLE VALUE

At a meeting of the board of management of the British Columbia Research Council it was decided to continue investigations to prevent the deterioration of fishing gear in British Columbia waters.

Statistical studies will be undertaken on nets in actual service and the relative importance of such factors as abrasion, bacterial action, and wear and tear in the handling will be determined. An attempt will be made to develop treatments to overcome the effects of these factors. The causes of rotting in gill nets after receiving bluestone treatment will also be investigated. The results of these investigations will be made available to the fishermen and to the fishing industry.

Production of fuel gas from wood waste has yielded encouraging results in the laboratory stage and during the coming year the investigations will be extended to include a thorough study of the engineering and the economic factors involved. The project on fuel gas is carried out with the financial contributions from the Research Council and the B.C. Electrical Railway Company.

Investigation on the food value of British Columbia apples are continuing at the request of the fruit industry.

A grant-in-aid was provided for the study of citric acid production by a graduate student in the department of dairying at the University of British Columbia under

Deal For New Post Office is Not Progressing

"There has been a lot of sparring around," declared F. W. Schumann, board of trade president, in giving the board members some insight into the board's effort to have a new post office building in West Summerland, at the monthly meeting in the IOOF hall last Thursday night.

Mr. Schumann declared that the board has been endeavoring to obtain favorable response from the federal authorities to the effect that Mr. Gordon Ritchie, owner of the present post office building, could erect a new public building more in keeping with the progress of the community.

However, latest advice is that Mr. Ritchie will probably go ahead with the renovation of the present building, the meeting was told.

C. F. Dawson, resident architect for the federal department of public works at Victoria informed the trade board by letter that any application for a new building would have to be made direct to Ottawa and could not be handled at this end.

C. E. Bentley told the board that O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, had advised against "patching up" the old post office if it is at all possible to build a new public building.

Want All-Weather Road on Monashee

VERNON—United action looking towards the early reconstruction of the Vernon-Edgewood road via the Monashee to an all-weather standard highway was envisioned by a joint meeting of four boards of trade in the national hotel on Wednesday evening.

The gathering was under the auspices of the Vernon board and in attendance also were representatives from boards in Lumby, Nakusp, and the Lower Arrow Lakes.

Two Mouths to Feed

When you're talking over fishing trips of the past summer and someone mentions a fish with two mouths don't be sceptical. The above picture of a bass with two mouths is proof enough. In spite of the two mouths this bass which was taken from Storr's Lake, Wisconsin, escaped the fishermen's hooks for nine years.

Accent on Youth as Cagers Choose Executive to Guide Club for Coming Winter Season

With practically no encouragement from any adult members of the district, the Summerland Basketball Club will be operated almost in its entirety by young members of the competitive teams, the postponed annual meeting held in the Nu-Way Annex decided on Friday evening last.

Although the players had endeavored to arouse some support from the older sports-minded citizenry, only a handful of senior supporters were present for the meeting. After a lengthy discussion, J. R. Armstrong was persuaded to remain as head of the organization although he made it clear that he would not be able to devote the time which is needed to promote the sport properly.

Other members of the executive were chosen from among the active players, with Keith McLean as vice-president, Mary Ward secretary, Dave Snow treasurer and Jim Hack in the important post as manager.

Jack Dunham heads the transportation committee, assisted by Murray Elliott and John Vanderburgh. Dennis Hack is head of the publicity committee, along with Joan Howard, Don Cristante and Norman Holmes.

Intermediate A and B teams will practice on Tuesday and Thursday nights at the high school gym, and if a girls' aggregation can be formed its practices will be held on the same evening.

It was suggested that the school gym should be thrown open for Sunday afternoon practices and an application is to go before the school board.

High School Principal A. K. Macleod, and physical training instructors W. H. Durick and W. J. Schwab attended the Friday night meeting and gave assurances that every co-operation will be forthcoming between the school and the basketball club in arranging games and schedules so that the maximum of sport can be provided without clashes.

Mr. Schwab stated that junior basketball will be under the guidance of the AOTS club this year and that arrangements have been made for the under 16 boys to practice on Monday nights.

Coaches Arranged
 This arrangement will relieve the club of some of its headaches and will allow for more practice time for the remaining club teams, it was thought. Mr. Schwab is undertaking the coaching duties for the juniors under AOTS sponsorship.

Jack Walsh has volunteered to coach the intermediate A team this season, while the intermediate B team is to consult with Manager Jim Hack regarding the coach this class of players would like to have as their guide.

President Armstrong and Manager Hack were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Interior Basketball Assn. generally held in Kelowna in November. Vice-president Keith McLean was appointed alternative delegate.

Practices commenced last week

Coast Jumpers Expected To Compete at Okanagan Championships, Feb. 4-5-6

Summerland has been awarded the Okanagan ski zone championships. Dates are Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 4, 5 and 6.

This was the important decision of the annual meeting of the Okanagan ski zone held in West Summerland on Tuesday evening, with ski clubs of Oliver, Penticton, Summerland and Kelowna being represented. Vernon could not send a delegate.

Verne Ahrens, Kelowna ski enthusiast, was again selected as president of the ski zone, he to appoint his own secretary-treasurer. Don Agur, of Summerland, was again selected the technical director of the ski zone.

Decision to grant the ski zone championships to Summerland met with unanimous approval of the clubs' delegates, when they learned that the new Summerland ski jump is practically completed and has been built to specifications sufficient to hold championship jumping.

One of the important features of the ski zone meet here this year will be the probable participation of champion jumpers from the coast who are expected to stop off here en route to the western Canada ski championships at the Red Mountain hill at Rossland, February 10 to 13.

Don Agur, who has been chiefly responsible for the construction of Summerland's new ski jump, informed the Tuesday zone session that two more good work parties would see the jump finished.

Other ski dates set for this winter include local meets at Oliver on January 16, Penticton on January 23, and Kelowna on January 30.

The annual Okanagan ski school is to be held at Rossland this year towards the end of December and skiers who qualify from this school are classified as trained ski instructors for the purpose of promoting the sport in their clubs. Ches Edwards, Rossland pro, will be in charge of instruction.

Following this school, near the end of the year, the Vernon Silver Star downhill run will be held. Reports from various Okanagan clubs showed that good progress is being made, Vernon planning a new layout at Lavington in preference to the facilities in use before. Oliver is organizing on a firmer basis and is building a tow this winter.

Kelowna delegates declared that they are improving their hill and plan a new tow for beginners this winter.

Besides the president and technical director, the new ski zone executive will consist of two members from each club, these to be appointed in time for the next zone session which will be held in Summerland on November 13.

At the Ellison hall on Tuesday evening a large crowd attended the ski club dance which was a financial success, the local club directors state. Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh held the winning ticket for the Indian sweater given away in the prize drawing, while Doney Wilson won the turkey. Dr. Vanderburgh held Ticket No. 576 and Mr. Wilson's ticket was No. 306.

HOCKEY WILL BE BIG FACTOR IN WINTER SPORTS

Hockey is expected to loom large on the Okanagan sports world picture this winter, with the opening on November 11 of the new Kelowna memorial arena. With the completion of this edifice, Kelowna, Vernon and Kamloops will have indoor ice facilities for a three-team loop which promises to provide the ultimate in interior hockey activity.

Vernon has held the limelight in hockey for many years, due to the big arena that city promoted in the 1930's, while Kelowna and Kamloops are bolstering their teams considerably this year to provide better competition.

Kelowna's home games are expected to be on Tuesday, with Vernon playing at home on Thursdays and Kamloops on Saturdays. A 32-game schedule, with 16 home and a like number of away games, has been drafted, with play to commence about November 11.

Kelowna's entry will be known as Kelowna Packers, Kamloops Elks will be the official name of the mainline entry. Ten new imports have already started their intensive training workouts for Kelowna under the guidance of Kenny Stewart, while Vernon has Paul Thompson, former NHL star as coach and has added Dave McKay to its lineup.

Here in Summerland, it is hoped that a hockey association can be formed soon to be on a permanent basis so that this sport can receive more financial support. Money is needed for rink care this winter as the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee has stated that it cannot provide caretaker services this winter as it has the past two seasons.

If hockey is to be played here, then a hockey association must be formed to take care of the necessary expenses and arrange playing times and other pertinent matters, the memorial group states.

at the school gym and the teams intend to prepare for the opening of the season early next month when arrangements will be made for visiting teams to compete here.

People's Loan is Popular Term for Third Savings Series

Canada Savings Loan, Series Three, which went on sale October 12, has been called "A People's Loan", because the Canadian people have asked that continuance of this form of saving be made available.

By requests to employers, asking for privilege of buying bonds through the payroll savings plan, and by inquiries to banks and investment houses if there would be a Canada Savings Loan this fall, the nation-wide endorsement has been given.

The first two Canada Savings Loans met with a magnificent response from all walks of life, showing that Canadians recognized the unique investment opportunity offered to them.

Only individuals were allowed to purchase bonds and a limit was placed on individual holdings in both series. Despite these limitations, more than 2,200,000 Canadians bought bonds totalling $820 millions.

These enormous holdings, added to the reservoir of security represented by Victory Bond purchases, give Canadians a feeling of economic stability and make them better able to face any emergency which might arise or to lay the foundation for personal plans in the future.

The new series bears the rate of 2 1/2 per cent per annum and bonds are redeemable at face value at any time at any Canadian branch bank.

Nearly 200 larger B.C. industrial plants and business firms are again setting up payroll deduction facilities for their employees: employees in smaller firms and the general public may purchase outright or by installment at their bank or investment dealer or trust company.

Some Progress Made on Project of Roadside Tourist Fruit Stands

Progress on the project of roadside fruit stands for the benefit of tourists, built on a uniform basis throughout the valley, was reported by the new industries committee of the board of trade at the IOOF hall last Thursday night.

This project was mooted last spring by Councillor F. E. Atkinson, who has since obtained designs of possible stands. He showed some samples to the board meeting and considered that a stand with a twenty-foot front and 15 feet deep would suffice for an experiment.

Mr. Bob Barkwill suggested that some help could be obtained from high school manual training students if the board supplied the material and this possibility will be scouted.

Uniform Stands
It has been Mr. Atkinson's plan that such uniform stands could be placed at strategic points from Osoyoos north, to provide tourists with the best of mature fruit in season and also be central vantage points for the dissemination of publicity material about the various areas.

It was suggested that university or school students could provide themselves with an appreciable income during the vacation season. Some type of refrigeration would have to be provided for storage of the fruit.

The meeting decided that the new industries committee had obtained valuable data on the subject but it was not sufficient for the board to make any start at present. Further details will have to be worked out.

Another suggestion which came before the meeting was that of establishment of an upholstery business here. Mr. H. Eeoman considered that there is scope for this type of work and he would be willing to co-operate with any person or firm who wished to become established.

Starts Nursery
Mr. T. B. Young also spoke of the nursery started this past year by Jim May but which was severely retarded by the spring flood waters. However, this nursery will be rebuilt and should develop into a flourishing business, Mr. Young believed.

Following an outline by Bob Barkwill, the trade board decided to ask its publicity and tourist traffic committee to work with the Summerland Ski Club in the promotion of the zone ski championships in February. Billetting arrangements and the obtaining of prizes for the events will be the main consideration, apart from publicizing the area for the event.

Mr. Roy Wellwood is chairman of the board's publicity committee.

VICTORIA
Morrison, C. K. Librarian
April 49

Possibility that a delegation may go to Victoria to interview Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests regarding the establishment of the boundaries of Trout Creek and seeking governmental assistance in creek improvement work to forestall any repetition of the 1948 spring flood damage was voiced at Tuesday's council session when a delegation representing the Trout Creek Flood Control committee waited on the municipal council.

This delegation comprised Magnus Tait, chairman, and Dr. James Marshall, a committee member.

There was no decision reached, as Reeve R. A. Johnston asked for time to ascertain if Hon. Mr. Kenney will be coming into the valley next month in connection with the South Okanagan by-election.

Reeve Johnston also offered to arrange a meeting with Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, who will be here on November 12. However, it was pointed out that the public works department takes no responsibility for care of creeks except to the point where they menace roads and bridges.

The delegation also sought some concrete assurance that the municipality would lend some financial aid to the residents of Trout Creek, who have already pledged themselves to contribute at least $900 towards creek improvement work.

Although the chair made no commitment, there was general agreement with Councillor Eric Tait's expressed thought that if government aid is not forthcoming by next spring that the council should step in and assist the residents by fixing the worst spots on the creek bed.

Want Action Now

Neither the municipal council or the control committee have received any replies direct from the minister of lands on their requests for assistance in control of Trout Creek before next spring's freshets.

"We want to take action before it is too late," declared Mr. Tait to the council on Tuesday. The Trout Creek committee chairman believed there is not much hope for action from the government.

Letters were read to the effect that the department of lands wishes the government to set a policy before any action is taken on creek control, while it was suggested in another communication that some details had gone in to Victoria on Trout Creek but no actual survey had been made.

Assistance from the Dominion agricultural department will probably be forthcoming to assist in protecting that department's holdings along Trout Creek, it was suggested.

Firecrackers "Explode" in Council Session

Firecrackers weren't bursting at Tuesday's council meeting but their mere mention was almost enough to cause an explosion.

Les Rumball, accompanied by Mel Ducommun, from the Retail Merchants Assn. complained in a strong manner regarding a "threat" of one councillor to have a bylaw put through prohibiting the sale of firecrackers altogether, and thus cause a loss of several hundred dollars worth of stock held by local merchants.

Mr. Rumball also told of an agreement entered into by five local stores that they would not sell any more firecrackers until the final three days before Halloween. This prohibition was agreed upon when the councillor threatened to pass the bylaw.

The chairman of the retailers demanded to know if the council intended to proceed with this bylaw, whether these five stores could go ahead with their sales, and what was to be in store for the future, as the merchants wished to order accordingly.

It was pointed out that the council has no bylaw at present to stop any sale of firecrackers but it has a bylaw which prohibits their being thrown on the street.

Reeve Johnston suggested that a bylaw be drawn up prohibiting sale to anyone under 18 years of age.

Mr. Rumball was allowed to depart with the knowledge that the council was not going to take any action before Halloween and that sale of firecrackers could be started right away. However, the limitation of sale to persons over 18 or maybe 21 will likely be enforced once a bylaw can be passed.

At the evening session of the council, when Councillor Harvey Wilson was present, he stressed the need for a bylaw to limit sales to persons over 21. This councillor condemned the "morons" who are throwing firecrackers around indiscriminately and endangering lives and property.

Retail Merchants Complain to Council On Stores Selling Goods After Hours

After-hour selling of merchandise which is covered by municipal bylaw was the subject of a discussion at the municipal council session on Tuesday when a formal complaint was laid before the municipal fathers by Les Rumball, chairman of the Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn.

"Three stores are selling all day Wednesday and up to midnight every day of the week, sometimes including Sundays," accused Mr. Rumball.

He declared that there is no fault to find with those stores selling on Wednesday mornings, as members of the association close only by mutual agreement during that time, but selling on Wednesday afternoons and after closing hours on week-days and on Sundays, caused the retailers' complaint.

"The merchants are demanding action," was Mr. Rumball's emphatic statement and he declared that, in the past year or two, three letters have been written to the B.C. Police calling for action and "nothing was done".

Sales of dry goods, groceries, meats and hardware are not allowed after closing hours, according to municipal bylaw, Mr. Rumball declared. Confectionery, tobaccos, greens and gasoline do not come under the heading of non-saleable merchandise.

The council agreed to place this complaint before the B.C. Police.

Reeve Johnston asked Mr. Rumball if he considered it, in the best interests of the town for the merchants to remain closed on Wednesday mornings.

Mr. Rumball came right back with: "No, I don't think it is personally, but with a 44-hour week it is impossible to do otherwise unless we close on Saturday nights and the people have told us they don't want that."

The retail merchants' spokesman also declared that in a recent straw vote conducted by stores in the association 308 persons voted to continue the Wednesday all-day closing and 88 were in favor of opening Wednesday morning.

This wide margin indicates that the customers are in favor of a continuation of the present policy, Mr. Rumball felt.

Hon. E. C. Carson to Be Asked About Bridge

"Plans have been prepared for the relocation of Trout Creek bridge . . . but there is nothing further from headquarters."

This was the message from A. R. Colby, assistant public works engineer, Penticton, in answer to a query from the Summerland council as to when work on a new bridge over Trout Creek can be expected.

Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, will be in the Okanagan on November 12 and Reeve Johnston intimated that he would wait on the minister and ascertain if any action is to be taken on this structure in the near future.

MAJ-GEN. F. F. WORTHINGTON, of Vancouver, who has been appointed co-ordinator of Canada's civil defence planning, has been announced by National Defence Minister Brooke Claxton.

Brass Band to Hold Concert

This Sunday afternoon the new Summerland Brass Band, which has proved a decided acquisition to the cultural life of this community, is staging its first concert.

Details of the program and other arrangements were worked out last night at a practice session and the band is preparing a fine selection of band numbers for its first concert.

The Rialto theatre has been loaned to the band, free of charge, by Manager M. A. Metropolitan in the hope that the public will respond in goodly numbers.

If the concert is supported well and the public indicates that it likes the program which is presented, then the band intends to continue its Sunday afternoon presentations throughout the winter months, band officials state.

A silver collection to be used towards the band's instrument purchases will be taken at the theatre on Sunday.

Wants Proclamation On Education Week

Canadian Education Week is scheduled for November 14 to 20 and on Tuesday the B.C. Teachers' Federation contacted the reeve and council seeking a proclamation regarding the observance of the week in Summerland. The council will contact school trustees in this regard and plan some joint action.

SEEK CHANGE IN DENTAL ACT

Both the Summerland council and the school board are planning on writing to the dental association seeking a change in the dental act so that female dental hygienists can be employed for inspection and minor care of children's teeth in Okanagan schools. A full story of this question appears on page 7 of this issue.

Only One Unit of School Building Plan Possible Now Suggests Inspector Burnett

"Crowding of Summerland schools is coming to an end, probably by next Easter, but it is not going to last long," declared Inspector J. N. Burnett, to the meeting of rural taxpayers called for the purpose of selecting a candidate from the rural portion to serve on School Board No. 77 (Summerland) for the next term.

Only three persons, apart from school board members and representatives of the press, were present at this session. Mr. and Mrs. George Haddrell and Mr. Findlay Munro were the interested spectators. They chose Mr. Aubrey King to continue in office as the rural representative.

Start Planning

"Later this year or early in 1949 the school board will have to start planning a new school," continued Inspector Burnett, referring to the plan of erecting a junior-senior high school unit here.

He warned, however, that the department of education wants to see building reduced to a minimum, because of high building costs and the great demand for increased accommodation throughout the province.

The speaker explained that probably only a portion, or one unit of the ultimate building project will be considered for the time being.

"Such a unit will not increase taxation much but will increase the efficiency of our schools," the inspector added.

More teachers will be needed when the Summerland school plant is increased, Mr. Burnett warned, and he alluded to the present teachers' demands for higher salaries. "Quite large increases, 25 percent if they get them."

Other costs have increased this year, especially transportation, and the only reduction in sight is the building maintenance and rentals for outside halls.

Full Coverage

At the outset, Chairman P. G. Dodwell dealt briefly with the new school system setup wherein the municipality and the rural area directly adjoining are linked into School Board No. 77, with one rural representative and four municipal trustees selected.

New Cannery May be Established

Possibility that a new cannery may be established in Summerland was voiced at Tuesday's council meeting when it was stated that Mr. W. G. Rempel, former manager of the Cornwall Cannery, is looking for an industrial site.

The council is writing Mr. Rempel suggesting that he contact municipal officials before selecting a site so that every assurance can be given that an ample supply of water and power is available, as well as a proper disposal system for waste liquids.

Dave McNair Talks To Co-op Growers Tomorrow

Summerland Co-operative Growers Assn. is holding a general meeting tomorrow afternoon to discuss plans formulated by the directors and Manager George Washington regarding enlargement of the cold storage and packing facilities at the co-op plant on the lakefront.

Mr. Washington has plans for a fill and large addition to the co-op plant to cope with the increasing tonnage now being handled by the co-op.

Dave McNair, sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., will speak at the conference.

Opposition to Community Hall Bylaw is Voiced by Councillor C. E. Bentley

First objection to the presentation of a money bylaw from within council ranks recorded for many years was voiced on Tuesday evening by Councillor C. E. Bentley when the municipal council commenced to consider the passing of two readings of a bylaw seeking permission to issue debentures worth $20,000 for the erection of the proposed community hall on the Living Memorial park-playground property.

Although Councillor Bentley did not vote in favor of the bylaw readings he did not actually raise his hand in opposition. However, he previously voiced his reasons for opposition, while other council members expressed their views in favor of the proposed structure.

The opposing councillor declared that he was sorry to take such a stand as the council in previous years had nearly always been unanimous before presenting any bylaw to the ratepayers.

Councillor Bentley also withdrew a short time ago from the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee because of his disagreement in the policy of pushing for the building of the community hall.

No Details on Salary Talks

School boards of Keremeos, Princeton, Oliver, Penticton and Summerland met at Penticton last Sunday and discussed the teachers' salary question. No details of the discussion were announced following the meeting.

It is understood that the Okanagan branch of the B.C. School Trustees Assn., including boards from Salmon Arm south to the border, will be held on Wednesday, November 10.

Dr. J. Marshall To Miss Important Valley Pest Talks

Dr. James Marshall, chief of the entomologists in the interior of B.C. is being called east to attend conferences on fruit pest control. He leaves on November 1 to reach Montreal in time for the eastern Canada entomological society annual conference on November 3, 4 and 5.

Dr. Marshall will present a paper on spray equipment and chemicals in relation to fruit orchard practices and will then go to Ottawa to attend a conference of the division of entomology.

Dr. Marshall's call to the east has upset the plans of the Okanagan Agricultural Club, which has called its annual session on insecticides and pest control for Kelowna on November 3, 4 and 5.

It was proposed that the Kelowna session be postponed, but as invitations have been sent out to commercial men and leading agriculturists throughout the Pacific northwest this could not be done.

Dr. Marshall will confer with local agronomists before departing for the east, in order to line up details for the Kelowna session.

Streets Should Not be Used as Used Car Lots

Streets in West Summerland being used as used car lots to such an extent that traffic is being impeded was the subject of a report by Road Foreman Les Gould to the council on Tuesday. He wished that some action would be taken to alleviate conditions on Hastings street and Rosedale avenue in front of the school.

Reeve Johnston replied that he had already spoken to the B.C. Police concerning this matter and would discuss it further with Constable Thorsteinson.

Foreman Gould also recommended that the municipal bylaws be amended so that the lane directly south of Granville street and siding on the Living Memorial park-playground could be opened for parallel parking on the south side. No parking is allowed on this lane now.

Last week, this lane was widened to a width of forty feet and a good surface laid so that it has taken on the proportions of a street.

"What about our parking bylaw, has it been dropped?" queried Councillor Tait, referring to the council plan to limit parking to two hours on the principal streets in West Summerland.

Reeve Johnston assured the councillor that the plan had not been discarded.

Foreman Gould also sought information on the responsibility in connection with renewing nine stop signs at street intersections with Okanagan highway where it passes through the municipality.

The council agreed to write the government engineer at Kelowna regarding these signs and their renewal.

Rev. F. W. Haskins Gets New Post

The congregation at the morning service at Summerland Baptist church on Sunday last heard with mingled feelings of pleasure for their pastor and regret for their pastorate, that Rev. F. W. Haskins, who has been in charge of the church here for the past eight years, will leave Summerland at the close of 1948.

Mr. Haskins has been appointed director of Christian education of the Baptist Union of Western Canada, and will take up his new duties on January first in Edmonton, Alta.

Time is Short

YOU HAVE two more days. Saturday, October 30, is the final day. Such is the warning issued this week by E. Ross Oatman, provincial government agent in Kelowna who is most concerned right now in his capacity as registrar of voters.

The provincial voters' list was completely scrapped after the 1945 election. In order to get on the new list, you are required to sign a registration card, which must reach the Kelowna agent's office by Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Political parties are busying themselves this week in an endeavor to make sure that persons they expect will support their candidate are registered.

This right to exercise your franchise is an important part of our democratic way of life. Every thinking person should make sure that he does his part so that he will be qualified to step into the voter's booth at the next provincial by-election, November 29, and vote for the candidate of his choice.

And while we are on the subject of voters' lists, we wish to pause and remind local citizens that the municipal list is closing at noon this Saturday. Householders and trades licence holders must make a declaration to be included on the municipal election list for the December elections.

Don't say after this week-end that you were not warned. There has been plenty of publicity given this topic and every person has had plenty of opportunity to register.

Hallowe'en

WE ALL remember the pranks and tricks we played on October 31 in the days of our extreme youth. Some of us are a little wistful when we talk about those days, others are downright boastful about their escapades.

This weekend, as Hallowe'en falls on a Sunday, will provide plenty of scope for the young fry to do a certain amount of devilment, perpetrate some mischief, don fearsome and frightening masks, parade to their hearts' content with a candle fastened inside a gigantic pumpkin, and make the night hideous with the reports of firecrackers.

It will be a weekend of fun for young and old, and we hope that it will not be marred by an accident which is entirely due to carelessness.

There is only one fear existant concerning Hallowe'en in most people's minds, and that concerns firecrackers.

There is an abundance of these noisemakers this year for the first time since the start of hostilities. Sale of firecrackers has been going on for the past month, streets have been littered with the remains, and humans and animals alike have been frightened by their unrestricted use.

Firecrackers, like any explosive, are dangerous if not treated with respect. Nylon stockings are ruined in a flash, clothing can be burned easily, and serious injury can be suffered.

We do not wish to put any kind of a damper on Hallowe'en activities, but we do urge parents to exercise some control over their youngsters. Parental supervision over the setting off of firecrackers would ensure that the danger element is minimized and we feel sure that Father would enjoy a romp with his youngsters on Hallowe'en and would build up a closer affinity with his family thereby.

Teachers' Salaries

OKANAGAN teachers have prepared an extensive brief, outlining their claims for higher salaries on the grounds that the cost of living has risen tremendously in the past two years.

No one will deny that the cost of living has risen to a dangerously high level. In past years, teachers, as a general rule, have been underpaid in relation to their educational qualifications and the amount of knowledge they must accumulate in order to do justice to their occupation.

It is also a truth that if the best talent possible is to be attracted to the teaching profession then the monetary inducement must be relative to the salaries paid by professions which do not require such a high standard of qualifications.

These facts are recognized, but it is also true that the taxpayers cannot withstand much more drain on their already-overburdened purses. Municipal taxes have risen rapidly in the past three years to keep pace with the growing needs of an expanding community. There was more complaint at the municipal office when taxes were being paid this year than for many years past, Acting Clerk Gordon Smith reports. The taxpayer resents the severe increase in the past three years, despite the fact that he was paying a very low tax rate before in relation to other communities.

Teachers have pointed out that in Summerland the provincial government grant covers more than sixty percent of the present teachers' salaries. Summerland from municipal tax revenue, is paying about $13,000 in teachers' salaries this year.

But, if the proposed teachers' salary request is upheld by an arbitration board—and there is little doubt that negotiations between the teachers and the school trustees will come to arbitration—the local taxpayers will have to foot the bill for another $13,000, making a total double the present payment.

There is a possibility that the provincial government might honor the deal by raising its standard grants for teachers' salaries in lieu of the teachers' viewpoint that they should be recompensed in relation to the rising cost of living, but there is no compulsion on the government to make this step.

Some educationalists in this district state definitely that they do not think the government will revise its standard grants and the school district will be forced to absorb any increase allowed by an arbitration board.

To double the cost of teachers' salaries in the municipality would mean a distinct raise in taxation which the average person cannot afford to absorb at the present time.

This is just one of the many points which must be considered in the question of teachers' salary schedule increases.

By AGROLOGIST

As I approached the horticultural building, the place looked as if there had been a fire. About half the movable equipment was parked outside the back door.

When I went inside I found that the cause of all this commotion is Jimmie McLaren. This expert craftsman is very busy laying a new tile floor in the fruit products preparation room. He is making an excellent job—giving evidence that this is just one more case of local boy making good. Before the war, Jimmie lived for 10 years at Peachland, where he engaged in the logging business and operated a young orchard. After serving overseas McLaren decided to learn a specialized trade. Accordingly, he apprenticed himself to the O'Neil Tile company of Vancouver. As he has a natural aptitude for this work it was not long before he became very expert at it. This is why he now has charge of tile-laying operations for the O'Neil company in the Okanagan area.

The material which is being used for the job is red quarry tile made by the Cooksville company of Cooksville, Ontario. This red tile presents a very attractive appearance. It is thick enough to withstand the movement of heavy equipment over it. The fact that quarry tile is highly resistant to steam, hot water, acids and alkalis makes this material very suitable for use as a flooring in canneries and fruit processing plants. It is smooth and easily cleaned, which makes for good sanitation—a very important factor where foods are being processed.

With the main processing room out of commission I presumed that the staff were taking a holiday, but I soon found that this was not the case. Frank Plunkett was busy autumn cleaning throughout the rest of the building. Clarence Lackey was making India ink drawings of diagrams to be used in illustrating a new cannery bulletin which will shortly be ready for publication.

Charles Strachan and Adrian Moyle were revising the manuscript for a bulletin dealing with the nutritive value of British Columbia fruits. Dorothy MacLeod was analysing samples of tomato juices to ascertain how much vitamin C they contained. Peggy Burton and Verna Johnson were making mould counts in other samples of tomato juice. Dorothy MacDonald was hard at work typing an addendum for the B.C. Processors' Handbook.

Even Ted Atkinson was busy, for Barney Robinson and George Stowell had arrived to discuss ways and means of extending the operating season for canneries in the South Okanagan.

By the same token it is quite evident that even although the processing room is having its floor lifted, the staff of the fruit and vegetable processing lab is making excellent use of its time.

BERMUDA—What a place to be sitting down at a typewriter, writing a column! I am still pinching myself to make sure I am not having the most wonderful dream ever dreamed, and I have at last decided it's true. No air in any dream was ever so soft and warm; no sunburn in any dream was ever so red; no scenery in any dream was ever so beautiful.

When I left home I wasn't at all sure I'd make the grade to this mid-Atlantic Heaven, but sure enough my Irish luck held me in good stead, and I'm here in the thick of it, surrounded by millionaires, honey-mooners, and just plain people who've gone without cigarettes and lunches to get here. And there's not one among them who wouldn't do it all over again—including me.

It is quite impossible to tell you all about this wonderland in just one column (or in 50 columns, for that matter.) But you may take it from me that every word you have ever read about the charms of this place is true, and then some, as even one week wandering around on a bike, in a carriage, or even in one of the small cars that are now allowed to run here, will convince you.

As somebody said, living in Bermuda is like going on a boat trip standing still. You get the water everywhere, you get the sea breezes all over the island, you get people from all over the world the way you do aboard ship, you get the appetite that a sea voyage brings, and you definitely get the romance for which shipboard travel is famous.

I flew over here in one of TCA's new North Star planes, and though I have flown quite a few miles before, I never enjoyed any air trip more. We set out from Toronto, headed across New York and then on to the calm white clouds that floated around like chunks of meringue.

It took only four and one half hours in all—270 minutes from the chill rain of Toronto to a temperature of 78 degrees in both land and water. Even in summer it doesn't get too hot here; there is always a breeze blowing in from the sea (well, almost always) and while they may get a little more rain in the winter (56 inches during the year) there are oodles of sunny days when visitors from the mainland with thicker blood go swimming in the pounding surf or the hundreds of sheltered nooks.

I'll be writing to you from back home next week, but you may be quite sure a large sized slice of my heart will stay right here on this balmy archipelago.

HERE'S HEALTH

THIRTY YEARS AGO

October 25, 1918

The closing of Vancouver, due to influenza, including the university, brought several students back to Summerland. One of these students developed a pronounced case and was isolated. Several other cases of sickness with a resemblance of flu have been isolated. A total of 70 cases is reported from Vernon and all public meetings and churches are closed in both Vernon and Kelowna. Influenza is sweeping Canada from coast to coast, progressing from east to west.

Summerland, Peachland and Naramata section of the Victory Bond drive is being asked to subscribe $100,000 while the entire Okanagan is called upon to produce one million dollars. Summerland's share is $80,000. District chairman is W. T. Shatford, Penticton, while official canvassers here are Rev. H. A. Solly, Dr. F. W. Andrew, H. Scott, J. L. Hilborn, R. H. Helmer, G. Thornber and R. Purves, secretary.

War Bulletin—The British have entered Valenciennes and have captured 8,900 prisoners and 100 cannon. The British also make headway along the Serre river. The Italians have started another offensive between the Piave and Brenta rivers. Crowds in Berlin are clamoring for a German republic and demand the abdication of the Kaiser.

Material enough to provide a substantial Christmas package for every Summerland boy now serving in the army is now being assembled in the Oddfellows' hall by the Home Comforts club.

The Greata ranch this year shipped 21 carloads of fruit through the Peachland Fruit Growers' Union.

Mr. G. S. Drewett has purchased the lot to the south of Giant's Head known as the Daubney lot.

A party of four Summerland men, hunting southwest of Kaleden were confronted with a man carrying a revolver. He pointed the gun at them and ordered the party off his property. The local men were E. N. Rowley, A. Peck, H. Vanderburgh and F. Stuart.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
October 19, 1928

One of the first articles ever released here on the subject has been given out by H. R. McLarty on a little-known disease, perennial apple canker.

C. E. Bentley, president, told the board of trade that the west side road from west side ferry to Vernon is "navigable" and urged that the government improve it for travel.

S. A. MacDonald, president of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Assn., was chairman of the annual convention at Penticton attended by 155 members.

Mr. John Purvis left this week for Salmon Arm to take a position with the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Jimmie Purvis left for Penticton to enter the same banking institution there.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Saturday, October 23, the Southern Okanagan Soccer Championship was played at Pentiction. Three schools competed, Summerland, Pentiction and Oliver. Pentiction and Oliver contested the first game. The match was hard fought by both sides but ended in a 0-0 count.

Serving as a rest intermission for the teams, the Pentiction girls played the Pentiction Junior boys. They played well but succumbed to a 2-0 score.

The third game was between Pentiction and Summerland. This match looked as if it might be scoreless, but Francis Gould scored with a well-placed kick. Summerland scored again in the second half when Sandy Jomori booted the pigskin through. The game ended with Summerland in the lead 2-0.

The final game between Summerland and Oliver ended in a 0-0 draw.

After the games the teams were treated to coffee and doughnuts at the school. Here the principal of the Oliver High School, Mr. C. E. Ritchie, presented the Fort Garry cup, symbolic of the championship to Wally Day, the Summerland captain.

Next Saturday Summerland travels to Kelowna to play Rutland for the Valley championship.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Last Friday the troop picked a basketball team to play Naramata troop. Everyone got in a little practice and we hope to do more in the future with our new basketball. Instruction for the evening was in first aid and tenderfoot tests.

Attendance at 28 was only two short of perfect and is a very creditable showing. Three boys are still needed to complete troop strength. After the meeting the Scoutmaster picked up a new pair of boots and a flashlight. Owners can have same by contacting Mr. Thompson, school caretaker.

Point scores are as follows: Buffaloes 475, Hawks 510, Beavers 743 and Eagles 493. P/L Lewis received his Pathfinders and Tractors badge.

Notices: Owing to this week's meeting at Naramata there will be no Friday meeting, and next meeting will be in school gym, Friday, Nov. 5. Duty Patrol, Buffaloes—D. V. Fisher.

GUIDE NEWS

During the first part of last week's meeting the Guides passed their sprained ankle bandages. The latter part of the meeting was taken up with rehearsal of the plays and solo auditions.

The meeting this week is to be conducted by the P/L's and Seconds and is taking the form of a Hallowe'en masquerade party. Every Guide and Guider is asked to bring a bottle of pop and an apple. There will be a severe penalty for anyone not wearing a costume!

Guides will be pleased to know that the rest of the uniforms are expected next week.

The Mail Bag

B. H. Atkinson, 77 Baker St. London, W. I.

Editor, the Review: I have enclosed a clipping from the Graphic showing Sir John Anderson's "Corel of West Summerland" which I saw at Crufts Dog Show the other night.

I believe some of Sir John's Bloodhounds are being exported to the States for dollars and also because it is too expensive to raise them in England these days.

I am now back in London with my publishers after covering the Far East for them for the past two years—China, Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaya and Borneo. A good deal of the pre-war market is now non compis due to wars, revolutions and inflation—Indonesia, Thailand, Vietnam and Japan were all territories I would have covered in normal times. I did touch Indonesia but it is not very healthy these days and neither is Malaya but I had left before the trouble started there. Borneo is the most peaceful place in all the Far East these days.

Had a pleasant but very long trip home—left Borneo on June 20th and arrived in Liverpool on Sept. 2nd, touching again at Hong Kong and Singapore then Penang, Colombo, Aden, Port Said, Tangiers, and Casablanca for a few days each.

There is a little improvement in England since I was here in 1946 but nothing to write home about. Food is about the same, transport has improved, clothes are coming off the ration bit by bit but are still very expensive. There is lots of beer around but very little whisky and cigarettes are very short and 87 cents for twenty.

The export drive is going good through continuous pushing and campaigns and England is resuming her importance in dealings on the Continent, which are the two most important things—but for myself, just back from the lush Far East they could relax the austerity any day.

A person can still eat their week's meat ration at one meal and still be hungry. Bacon is two small slices per week and butter three ounces, all tinned meats are still on points—and not very many of these per month. Men's tailor-made suits are $120, which is tough when you have been wearing whites for a couple of years.

I notice by the Review that no apples are being sent to Britain this year which must be a bad blow to the Valley but maybe better luck next year.

All the best, B. H. Atkinson. Ed's note: Friends of Mr. Atkinson here will be interested in his observations of conditions in the Far East and England. His enclosed clipping is reproduced on another page of this issue.

THREE PLAN TO ATTEND COLLEGE

The Baptist Young People's meeting on Monday night, October 25, took the form of a farewell social gathering in honor of three of their members who are leaving this week for Edmonton, where they will attend the Baptist Bible College. Urges Windup Of Registration For Insurance

If there are any persons in Summerland district who have not registered for the provincial hospital insurance plan then they should do so at once, as they are holding up the machinery of operation.

This was the statement to The Review on Tuesday of Mr. W. S. Oliver, Victoria, field representative of the insurance plan.

Mr. Oliver explained that there is still a small percentage of persons who have not registered and the plans of the hospital insurance registration cannot be completed until a complete coverage is obtained.

He also advises that any persons who have sent registration forms to Victoria or any other centre except Summerland should advise Mr. J. E. O'Mahony, local registrar at once, as Mr. O'Mahony must have a copy of this registration for the local files.

This instruction does not include those registrations which have been made under the payroll deduction plan.

Mr. O'Mahony has set up an office in West Summerland, for the convenience of the public, in the T. B. Young building, facing on the lane between Pender and Kelley directly north of Granville street.

Bible Society Secretary Brings Message Here

The world's call for the Bible confronts the Christian church with an unprecedented opportunity of sharing the Christian message with all nations, declared Rev. J. A. Raymond Tingley, Vancouver, secretary for B.C. of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

In an illustrated address on the theme, "At the Crossroads", given on Sunday night at the Baptist church, Mr. Tingley pictured the desperate need throughout the world for the Bible, and the efforts of the Bible society to provide people everywhere with the Christian gospel.

The meeting, which was presided over by Rev. Frank Haskins, was well attended by representatives of the various churches of the community.

Regional officers elected to the Summerland branch of the society were Mr. Charles James, president; Mr. W. M. Jenkinson, secretary; and Mr. W. Ritchie, treasurer. Mr. C. J. Huddleston was elected to the executive committee, and the ministers of the Protestant churches were named as vice-presidents.

On Sunday morning Mr. Tingley was the speaker at the service of Worship at St. Andrew's United church, conducted by Rev. H. R. Whitmore. In the evening Mr. Tingley preached at the Free Methodist church service, with Rev. W. S. Angell conducting the service.

At a meeting of the executive following the public service in the evening, it was planned to receive a special offering for the society in all of the churches on Sunday, November 7.

Parcel from Girl Guides to Germany Brings Appreciation

Summerland's youngest association of women, the Girl Guides association, opened the fall meetings at the Parish hall on Friday last, and learned that their first effort in the way of "good works" had already borne fruit. A letter from Germany told of the deep appreciation felt by one of the association branches upon receiving a large and varied parcel from Summerland.

Miss Betty Ballantyne, as commissioner in Relief Section 11, Guide International Service at Heide in Holstein, Germany, addressed her letter to Mrs. James Marshall, secretary of the Girl Guide association here.

Her letter says: "Your parcel has arrived safely... I opened it up today. Will you please thank the Summerland Girl Guide association members very much, indeed, for sending us such a fine parcel of children's clothes, shoes, mending materials, etc. All the things will be most useful, especially as we get more baby clothes than those for children and, of course, children are always growing out of their things and need more."

The Summerland parcel was collected at the association meeting in June, and prepared for shipment by Mrs. E. C. Bingham. Into it went many useful small articles, practically unobtainable in Germany, items like buttons, elastic, needles, pins and mending materials, as well as the larger clothing needs, and just to add a little sweetness to its practicality, Mrs. Bingham found room for a few story books, pencils, scribblers, etc.

The association decided at its October 22 meeting to project a patchwork quilt for sale or raffle later on, and to put on a drive for a wider membership among Girl Guides' mothers.

Fifty Percent More Names Added to Voters List for South Okanagan Since 1945

This Saturday, October 30, at 5 o'clock, the voters' list for the South Okanagan electoral district will be closed at Kelowna.

All names must be registered on the new registration cards and in the office of E. Ross Oatman, provincial government agent, at Kelowna by that time.

Mr. Oatman again reminds all and sundry that the voters' list which was compiled in 1945 has been discarded and an entirely new list of voters is being compiled. Only those who filled out the new registration cards will be on this voters' list, he points out.

As an indication of the tremendous amount of work involved in the compilation of this voters' list, Mr. Oatman has released the figures as of October 20. A fifty percent increase in the population of South Okanagan is recorded in this compilation.

Summerland list has gone down since 1945 as a large number of voters transferred to West Summerland polling division last January when it was thought that only West Summerland voters would be allowed to exercise their franchise in the Legion club premises plebiscite. These persons have, evidently, not transferred back to the Summerland list.

Summerland has gone down from 461 in 1945 to 358, but West Summerland has increased from 1015 in 1945 to 1,287 at October 20.

Since The Review offered to supply the blank registration forms in last week's issue a large quantity of forms have been filled out by persons who had failed to register.

Following is a complete list of registrations, up to October 20, of South Okanagan electoral district, by polling divisions:

Howard Morgan Takes Bride

KELOWNA—St. Michael and All Angels' church in Kelowna was the setting for a pretty fall wedding on Saturday, October 2, when Barbara Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Leckie, became the bride of Howard Granville Morgan son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Morgan, Summerland, Archdeacon D. S. Catchpole officiated at the ceremony.

The bride entered the flower decked church in an off the shoulder gown of brocaded taffeta with a net yoke. Her floor length net veil was held in place by a pearl studded headress trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

Miss Pamela Leckie, as her sister's only attendant, wore a gown of embroidered net over pink nylon, with white hat and gloves, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Peter Loyd supported the groom and the ushers were Mr. David Leckie, and Mr. Murray Brown. Mrs. A. J. Pritchard played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Willow Inn. For receiving the guests, the bride's mother wore a light grey suit with wine colored accessories and white carnations on corsage. Mrs. Morgan chose a black and white silk jersey gown with matching accessories, and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. O. France proposed a toast to the bride, which was ably responded to by the groom.

Mrs. Charles DeMara and Mrs. T. R. Lewers presided at the tea urns and the serviteurs included Mrs. Janet Hayman, Mrs. F. Brown, Miss Rosemary King, Miss Marybelle Ryan, Miss Fenella Lockett, Miss Nina Porter, Miss Mona Herbert and Miss Betty Lewers.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. Morgan, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. A. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Perry, Miss Sue Harrison, Mr. Bill Evans and Mr. Gordon Smith, from Summerland, and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence MacDonnell and Mrs. A. Brown of Vernon.

For her going-away suit the bride chose tomato red with a light buff topcoat, and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan left by car for Salt Spring Island and other coastal points. They plan to reside in Oliver.

A NOISE ANNOYS

The human nervous system can accustom itself to a steady constant noise like the sound of surf on a beach or the distant hum of traffic. It is the unexpected, unnecessary noises that upset our well-being and may contribute to physical or mental disturbances. Unfortunately the person making a noise very often does not suffer. It is the unwilling listeners who are irritated and inconvenienced by loud, unnecessary noise, particularly during the night.

Seek School Gym For Sunday Play

Use of the school gym for practices and games was sought by the Summerland Basketball Assn. in a letter to the school board on Monday evening. The hoopsters asked for Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 10 o'clock and permission to play games on nights when the gym is not occupied.

For the first time, the cage club also sought permission to practice on Sunday afternoons from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Trustees agreed that other sports are held on Sundays and it would be better for the young people to be practicing a game than roaming streets.

Consequently, the trustees agreed to the proposal and passed the entire letter over to the school gym board of Secretary Tingley and Principals A. K. Macleod and S. A. MacDonald for their allocation.

Female Dental Hygienists Suggested for Schools by Okanagan Health Unit

As it has not been found possible to obtain dentists for schools in the Okanagan Valley Health Unit area, an attempt will be made to have the dental act revised in B.C. to allow for the appointment of female dental hygienists in the schools, Councillor F. E. Atkinson reported to the council on Tuesday.

Councillor Atkinson was commenting on the health unit quarterly meeting held at Oliver on Wednesday, October 20.

"With the extreme shortage of dentists, and the relatively low remuneration for the work in the schools, it has been found impossible to obtain the services of a dentist and this situation does not look any brighter for the future," he declared.

Do Minor Work

"Accordingly, it has been suggested that female dental hygienists be employed. These girls receive a two-year training and work under the supervision of a dentist. They are used in several of the states and in Ontario.

"Dental hygienists could do cleaning and some minor work but mainly would be of value in checking the teeth and making recommendations to parents. It is also anticipated that she would be able to treat teeth by the new fluoride painting method.

"Under the B.C. Dental Act, dental hygienists are unlawful in B.C. and an effort is going to be made to see if the dental act can be amended so that their use will be permitted."

Councillor Atkinson also reported on his contention that municipal councils or school boards should be acquainted with activities carried on by the health unit.

He pointed out at Oliver that no reports are received from the sanitary inspectors unless specifically asked for and he contended that the municipal council is entitled to know how often the inspector visits the town, what establishments he visits and what his impressions are.

"If he takes water samples, the council should know the results of his tests," Councillor Atkinson reported.

This viewpoint was supported by several other delegates to the Oliver session and a recommendation was made that quarterly reports should be made to the municipal governing body.

The health unit has been interested in having the South Okanagan made a T.B.-restricted area for both milk and beef cattle. Progress is being made on this subject but nothing definite can be reported at present, Mr. Atkinson concluded.

Transfer Sanitarian

In the quarterly report of the health unit, Dr. H. B. L. Zeman, director, noted that M. J. Harper, sanitarian for the district from Kelowna to Summerland has been transferred to the West Kootenay and has been replaced by F. R. Alcock.

This report also contained a summary of the communicable diseases reported during the summer months, as follows: Simple measles 73, chicken pox 18, undulant fever 8, poliomyelitis 6, Vincent's angina 2, diphtheria 1, scarlet fever 1, mumps 1, erysipelas 1, gonorrhoea 13, syphilis 3.

Regular routine, samples of water supplies for bacteriological examination have been taken, Dr. Zeman reported. A large number of private water supplies were taken, as well, and with few exceptions were found satisfactory.

"Chlorinated drinking water is still being distributed to some homes in the flooded areas where this is advisable," she stated.

Dealing with milk, Dr. Zeman stated that fluid milk samples have been tested regularly and have been found "generally satisfactory". The milk supply in Oliver is now being pasteurized one hundred percent.

"Most of the dairy farms have now been checked in this unit and have been graded and cows tested for T.B. and Mastitis by

Discussion of Health Topics Results in Move to Continue Vitamin C in Apple Juice

Continuation of the war-time regulation which called for all apple juice produced commercially in Canada to be fortified with Vitamin C was one of the chief resolutions emanating from a conference of the Okanagan Agricultural Club in Kelowna early this month.

Twenty-six officials of the Dominion and provincial agricultural department, and the B.C. department of health and welfare consulted at this session.

It was pointed out that during the war years, for the benefit of the armed forces, all commercial apple juice producers were ordered to fortify their product with Vitamin C. This regulation has since been thrown out and it was the meeting's decision that the enactment should be re-inforced.

Another important resolution called for the grading of tomato juice on the basis of its ascorbic acid content, as well as on its color and its solids content.

Still another move, based on the general dietetic needs of consumers in Canada, called for the addition of iodine to all salt destined for human or animal consumption in Canada.

An investigation by the agronomists and public health officials of the fluorine content of Okanagan drinking water and Okanagan fruit is being sought by the joint meeting, as it was well known that there is a definite lack in the southern interior, with detrimental effects on the teeth.

Five Addresses

Addresses were delivered by five of the agronomists and health officials present.

Miss R. M. Y. Love, consultant on nutrition, B.C. department of health and welfare, spoke on "The Status of Nutrient Deficiencies in Canada". She pointed out that vitamin and mineral deficiencies occur in peoples' diets far more extensively than is commonly realized.

Surveys had revealed deficiencies of calcium, iron and vitamins B, C, A. She stressed the necessity of supplementing diets with iodine, and felt that all salt designed for human consumption should be iodized. She believed that the relationship of fluorine to dental cares has been sufficiently well established to justify investigating the problem in the southern interior of B.C.

Dr. Clark of the department of agriculture.

"Most of the restaurants within the unit have shown gradual improvement but they are in need of constant supervision," the report concluded.

Dr. J. C. Wilcox, plant nutritionist at the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland, spoke on "The Effects of Soils and Fertilizers on the Health Value of Food". He indicated that an inadequate diet has been caused in certain areas by a lack of minerals in the soil. He suggested that all farmers should be encouraged to fertilize sufficiently to attain maximum production and marketable quality of the crop.

Dr. Wilcox believed, however, that the use of mineral food supplements for humans should receive serious consideration, as it has for animals.

Handling of Food

Dr. D. V. Fisher, fruit harvesting and storage expert at the Summerland experimental station, spoke on "The Effects of Methods of Handling and Storage on the Health Value of Food". He outlined the recommended methods for handling and storing meat, milk, eggs, vegetables, fruit, and other agricultural products. He stressed the necessity of retaining not only the proper flavor and consistency of the food, but also its original vitamin content.

Processing Procedures

Dr. C. C. Strachan, in charge of the fruit and vegetable by-products laboratory at the Summerland experimental station, spoke on "The Effects of Processing Procedures on the Health Value of Processed Foods". He stressed the serious losses which occur in the vitamin and mineral contents of foods by improper processing. He suggested that health would be better protected if higher vitamin contents were assured, such as by grading tomato juice on the basis of its vitamin C content, and by adding vitamin C to all canned apple juice.

Dr. H. B. L. Zeman, director of the South Okanagan Health Unit at Kelowna, spoke on "The Use of Vitamin and Mineral Supplements in Relation to Human Health". She pointed out the benefits that have accrued from the use of iodized salt. Surveys have indicated, she said, that vitamins D and C are frequently deficient in foods and that in many cases the diet should be supplemented with either or both of these vitamins.

Speakers on the agenda who were not able to attend the conference were W. H. Hill, director of the Dominion food and drugs laboratory in Vancouver and G. A. Luyat, supervising district agriculturist at Kamloops.

In the course of the discussion following these papers, a comprehensive report on the inspection and regulation of public eating places was given by N. B. Winstanley, sanitary inspector at Vernon. Most eating places, he said, were giving the authorities good co-operation.

SAFE WELDING

Toxic gases generated in all types of welding procedures may be dangerous unless the area where the work is being done is properly ventilated. Many approved types of ventilation for welding booths are in use in industry. Welding operations should not be undertaken without their protection.

PALATE PLEASERS

The mouth and throat of a young child are sensitive, therefore lukewarm foods are appreciated. The sense of smell and taste are acute and mild flavors and odors are preferred. Children like plain foods and tend to pick at mixed foods. They do not generally enjoy sticky, dry, tough or stringy foods.

LIGHTING LEVELS

Whether in home, office or factory, bright, clean walls and ceilings help maintain the efficiency of the lighting system. Dirty walls and ceilings or improper color schemes lower lighting levels. As shiny surfaces are apt to cause glare, matte finishes should be used on walls.

CHINESE DONATE HOSPITAL'S QUOTA OF VEGETABLES

KAMLOOPS—Chinese vegetable growers have begun their annual labor of love—filling the vegetable bins at the Royal Inland hospital. More than two tons of vegetables reached the hospital this week, the gift of Lew Gin, F. Chow Lim, and Wo Sang.

The list of their donations was read to the hospital directors and the appreciation of the hospital board was formally recorded.

Lew Gin sent 12 sacks of potatoes, 2 of carrots and 1 of onions.

F. Chow Lim contributed 10 sacks potatoes, 1 of carrots, 1 of cabbage, 1 of turnips and 1 of vegetable marrow.

Wo Sang sent 8 sacks potatoes, 4 of carrots, 3 of onions and 1 of marrow.

Apple Industry in Touch With Ottawa Regarding Marketing of Small Sizes

The British Columbia tree fruit industry is in "constant communication" with Dominion government authorities in Ottawa seeking cooperation in marketing of the current apple crop, which is comprised of a high proportion of hard-to-sell small sizes, usually exported to the United Kingdom.

Word to this effect was released last week by A. K. Loyd, president of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., following consultation and discussion with the governors of the valley central sales agency and with the executive of the BCFGA.

Terms of the recently announced agreement between the Agricultural Prices Support Board and the Nova Scotia growers have been studied intently by interior industry heads, who have made representations on behalf of their industry.

B.C.'s difficulty in completely disposing of crops arises from two factors. Chief of them is the complete loss of the United Kingdom export market. Cutting off of this source because of Great Britain's exchange position has been a blow to this province, but Nova Scotia has been hit much harder, and this is the point on which Ottawa had dealt with Eastern growers.

The second factor in the British Columbia situation is the unusually large proportion of small size apples. Here the cause was weather conditions. The British consumer prefers these sizes, but the Canadian trade and housewife and the United States markets do not.

Loyd Statement
To explain to Okanagan growers details of the Ottawa-Nova Scotia deal and also to report progress on the B.C. negotiations Mr. Loyd issued a statement on Wednesday. The complete text is as follows:

On September 27 Agricultural Minister Gardiner released a statement that the Agricultural Prices Support Board would place a floor price of $3.90 a barrel for Nova Scotia apples sold on the fresh fruit market and $2.50 a barrel for processed apples.

For practical purposes three boxes represent one barrel, so it appeared as if the Nova Scotia grower was being given support to the extent of $1.30 a box net on fresh fruit sales and 83 cents a box on apples sent to the processing plants.

Some confusion was caused by the question as to whether the cost of the container and processing was included or not. Inquiries sent from B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., elicited the information that the price quoted was net to the grower.

The estimate for the Nova Scotia crop was placed at 1,000,000 barrels but inasmuch as Nova Scotia usually reckons on a tree run basis, that obviously included cull apples, and it developed that the Nova Scotia Apple Marketing Board anticipated handling about 700,000 barrels. Of this they were hopeful of placing 300,000 barrels on the fresh fruit market, which would leave 400,000 to go to the processors. The weighted average on that basis net to the grower would appear to be $3.10 a barrel.

Estimated Return
This average net return would be increased by an additional percentage that was marketed as fresh fruit and decreased by any additional part that was sent to the processors. It has been noted that

Mr. Leslie, general manager of the Nova Scotia Apple Marketing Board, estimated the return to the grower might be $2.25 a barrel, but this is misleading insofar as British Columbia is concerned, because it includes 30 percent of the crop reckoned to be culls, the price in this case being estimated at 60 cents a barrel.

If the guess of the Nova Scotia Marketing Board that 300,000 would go fresh fruit and 400,000 go processing is correct, then it would appear that a floor price of $1.03 per bushel is available to the Nova Scotia grower.

Nova Scotia reckons that the cost of grading and packing a barrel, together with the container itself, amounts to $1.75, so that the basic price of barrelled apples would be $5.65 a barrel f.o.b.

If the Marketing Board succeeds in selling at this price the agreement will not be an expensive one to the government. On the other hand, the price to the grower is fixed and he cannot expect to get more should there be an unforeseen rise in prices. The grower will increase his take only in proportion as more apples are sold as fresh fruit, and less as processed.

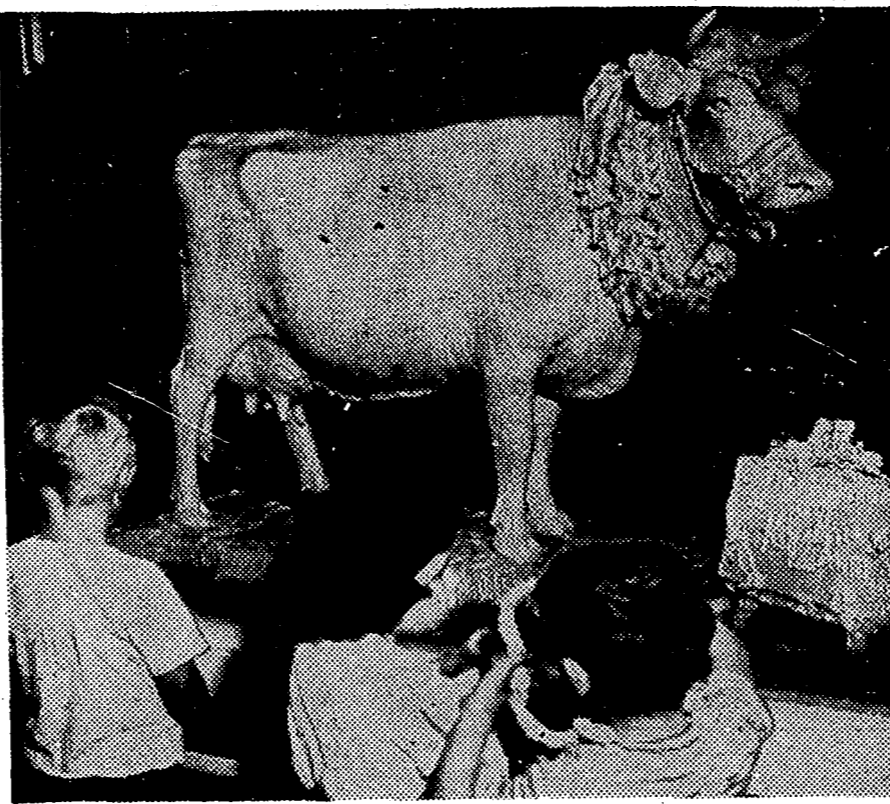

No "Fire Sale"
It is obviously of great importance to British Columbia to assure itself that sacrifice prices will not obtain on the government subsidized apples to a point where western apples could be excluded from Eastern markets, due to "heavy fire sales" of the Nova Scotian supported produce. In this connection an inquiry to the Hon. J. C. Taggart, chairman of the Agricultural Prices Support Board, as to who controlled the selling price, was replied to as follows:

"Selling price in Nova Scotia subject our approval. While all details not settled, it is expected these prices will be about the same as last year."

If Mr. Taggart's announced expectation is realized, namely, "at last year's prices", British Columbia will not have much occasion for worry.

There are one or two features of this deal which are still obscure and B.C. Tree Fruits is in constant communication with Ottawa in regard to it.
It may be said that proposals on behalf of British Columbia have been submitted to Ottawa, after consultation with the governors of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., and the executive of the BCFGA. We are not in a position to give a detailed statement as to this until these matters have been considered by the government authorities, except to say that it concerns the underwriting of small sizes.

Corel and Emily Of West Summerland In London Show

(By John Raymond, in the London Graphic)

LONDON, Eng.—Barking, prancing and wagging their tails, 4,440 dogs of all sizes filled the Grand Hall at Olympia, London, yesterday, Oct. 13. They were there for the opening day of Cruft's Dog Show—the first to be held since 1939.

Proud owners combed, brushed, fed and petted them—and discussed their pedigree. The luckier ones hung championship certificates outside their stalls.

The dogs ranged from huge, tail-swishing borzois to diminutive, pink-bowed Yorkshire terriers. Lush, glibious Sealyhams, foppish Bedlington, soulful greyhounds and quivering fox terriers—all of them looked better-groomed than the crowds of men and women milling round them.

Canine high-spots included Mrs. M. E. Leeming's superb borzoi, Alex von Saalel, only dog in the show to be imported.

Corel and Emily of West Summerland, blood hounds, owned by Sir John and Lady Anderson, were much admired. So was the smallest dog at the show—Emma's Pride, a Yorkshire terrier bred by Mrs. E. Brent, of Wallington, Surrey.

Kennel Club statistics show that dog-breeding is a successful dollar-earner. During the first nine months of this year Britain exported 908 dogs—428 to America.

Rural Youth Short Course Offered Again

Organizations in Summerland are being acquainted with details regarding the short course for rural young people which is being offered by the university extension department of UBC according to an "announcement by Dr. G. M. Shrum, director.

The Women's Institute will acquaint its members with the details of this course next month, while this evening the AOTS club will discuss the subject, it is understood.

This course is being offered to out-of-school rural young people between the ages of 16 and 30, for eight weeks, from January 10 to March 5. All applications must be submitted by December 1 and applicants will be notified if they are successful by December 15.

Instruction in agriculture will be given the men attending this course while for women, home-making, handicrafts or agriculture will be the subjects. Rural organization work and citizenship will loom largely on the class agenda.

Each student will be required to pay $20 towards board and room at Acadia camp for the eight weeks, while all transportation costs over $10 will also be reimbursed, it is stated.

Not more than three or four people will be chosen from any one community. In the selection of students, consideration will be given to the maturity and character of the applicant and his or her interest in rural community problems.

"Anyone who has a desire to gain more knowledge and who is willing to work hard in pleasant surroundings should apply," urged Dr. Shrum.

A copy of the application form is on record in The Review office.

South Okanagan Soccer Trophy Brought Here by Strong High School Team

Summerland high school's champion soccer team goes to Kelowna this Saturday to play Rutland for the Okanagan high school soccer championship, as a result of the Summerland triumph at Pentiction in the South Okanagan playoffs last Saturday.

Summerland defeated Pentiction 2-0, played to a scoreless draw against Oliver, while Pentiction and Oliver also failed to score in the third contest.

Badminton Club Looks Forward To Busy Season

Some twenty members of the Summerland Badminton club discussed a busy and successful season and looked forward to a winter of activity in 1948-49, when the annual meeting was held in the hall on Thursday evening last.

George Fudge was again selected as president of the shuttle experts, with Miss Dorothy MacLeod as secretary and a committee of Miss June Cook, Gordon Smith and Harry Beeman.

Last year, a start was made on needed improvements to the badminton hall and plans were laid on Thursday to continue this program. A portion of the hall walls will be lined and painted.

Nights for play will be the same as last year, Tuesday and Thursday, with good turnouts expected every Sunday afternoon. For the first three weeks, there will be coaching lessons given from 7:30 to 8 o'clock each Tuesday and Thursday.

If the club expands still further, other nights for play will be set aside, President Fudge promised the meeting.

Inter-City Bowling Gets Underway on Sunday, November 7

Inter-city fivepin bowling is expected to get under way the first Sunday of next month, Nov. 7.

At a general meeting held in the Bolodrome at Kelowna, plans were drawn up to break the Okanagan Inter-City Bowling Association into northern and southern divisions. Four units will compete against one another in the south. Two are from Pentiction, one from Summerland and one from Oliver.

The make-up of the northern division still is in doubt. Vernon had no representation at the meeting but a definite indication is expected from the Vernonites this week. Officials are hoping for at least a three-unit northern loop with Rutland and teams from two alleys in Kelowna. Vernon would make the fourth centre.

Ken Winterbottom, Kelowna, was re-elected president for the 1948-49 season. Bill Pearson was named treasurer and Bill Morris was chosen as secretary for the northern division.

of the goal and Sam Jomori scored from close in. No more scoring resulted, Summerland winning 2-0.

Going into the final game, Summerland only needed a draw to win while Oliver, with a heavier team, was all out for a win to keep them in the running.

The Summerland lads played good soccer, with Captain Wally Day being outstanding with his kicking. Strong defensive measures offset the Oliver combination plays.

Oliver threatened in the second half after a scoreless first, but fine work and kicking by the fullbacks, with the goalkeeper Don Adams pulling off a couple of saves, staved off the southerners' rally.

Members of the winning team were: Don Adams (goal), Basil Thornthwaite and Keith Haskins (fullbacks), Wally Day (centre-half), Morris Bolton and Earle Bryden (halfbacks), Frank Kato (centreforward), Ernie Jomori, Francis Gould, Sam Jomori, Bob Weitzel (forwards), Joe Elliott and D. Hack (spares).

There was a good crowd of interested spectators present at Pentiction last Saturday to witness Oliver, holders of the South Okanagan soccer cup last year lose out in the play-off series.

Oliver, Pentiction and Summerland school girls led their cheering sections to give the players added impetus. The Pentiction high school presented the teams with lunch, after which Wally Day, captain of the victorious Summerland eleven, was presented with the prize trophy.

After Pentiction and Oliver had battled to a scoreless draw, Summerland took the field against Pentiction and had the better of the play in the first half, although there was no score. Good combination plays and defensive tactics, with timely kicking kept Summerland pressing Pentiction throughout.

Second half, however, was quite one-sided, with Summerland having the ball in Pentiction's half most of the time. With 15 minutes of play left, Francis Gould scored what proved to be the winning goal. The forwards played fine combination for a good setup, with Francis making no mistake for the final kick.

The second goal came five minutes later from a scramble in front of interclub matches will be arranged, as well as local tournaments, to keep interest in the game at a high point.

Gym Classes Attract More Than Hundred

Gymnastic classes at the high school gym are making great progress, Mr. W. J. Schwab, director of gymnastics, informed The Review this week. Great interest is being evidenced among the young boys and girls and more of the senior members are showing evidence that they will participate regularly in this "keep fit" program.

Opening gym classes were held on Wednesday evening, October 20 when more than one hundred youngsters turned out.

There was a class of 50 junior girls, fifty junior boys and a small group of seniors.

Age group for the juniors is 13 and under while seniors include school students over that age and any adults who wish to join the classes, Mr. Schwab states.

The junior girls class is from 7 to 8 each Wednesday night, while the junior boys take over from 8 to 9 o'clock, with the senior class from 9 to 10 o'clock.

Mr. Ernie Lee, director of physical education and recreation for the department of education, together with Jim Pantou, Kelowna, Okanagan physical ed director, paid a visit last week to Summerland and congratulated Mr. Schwab on his energies in commencing these classes.

As a start, the beginners took some warmup practices on the mats, then undertook forward and backward rolls, handsprings, short dives, springboard leaps and bar and box work.

Some of the seniors had had previous experience in this type of gymnastic work and could go into more intricate forms of exercises.

One heartening bit of news arising out of Mr. Lee's visit to Summerland is that parallel bars are to be loaned to the gym classes by the physical ed department and will arrive shortly.

Besides these gym classes, Mr. Schwab is conducting juvenile and junior basketball practices under AOTS sponsorship on Monday evenings.

Int. A's Come From Behind To Down Vernon Seniors 40-34 in First Cage Games

The 1948-49 cage season was ushered in at Vernon last Saturday when two Summerland squads divided honors with the northern squads.

Summerland's hoop season is due to commence next Thursday, November 4, when three Vernon teams will appear on the local floor to do battle with the local youngsters.

In the opener, Summerland Int. B's ran up against an older Intermediate A squad at the Scout hall in Vernon and for most of the event, Wally Day sparked the southerners to a respectable lead, only to have it whisked away in the final minutes.

Vernon won this contest by a three-point margin, 37-34, with Wally Day shining on the offensive with half of his team's points. Graves and Douglas were the main spark plugs for the northerners.

Most of the Summerland B's had participated in the South Okanagan schools soccer championship earlier in the day and they tire fast towards the final minutes, after taking a good lead in the first half.

The main fixture saw the Vernon senior B's take on the Summerland Int. A's in a contest which proved nearly the reversal of the previous contest, Summerland taking the fixture 40-34.

Vernon swished in ten points before Dave Snow broke the ice for the Summerland squad. Summerland's second line then took over and chopped the northerners lead to three points at the half-way mark, the score being Vernon 17, Summerland 14.

With Jack Dunham leading the scorers, Summerland went into action in the second stanza and overcame the Vernon lead, never to be headed again.

The local A's used one lineup of Keith McLean, Jim Hack and Jack Dunham on the offensive which proved Vernon's downfall, while the other string of Vanderburgh, Dave Snow and Guidi, when it gets more practice together, will be a formidable one.

Team Lineups Summerland Int. B: D. Hack 4, Day 17, Thornthwaite 2, Cristante 1, Jomori 2, Kato 2, MacRae 3, Holmes 3, Elliott-34.

Vernon Int. A: Hoppings 6, Graves 15, Douglas 12, Jones 2, Jordano 2, Koshman, Fleming-37.

Referees: R. Moore, Lepage. Summerland Int. A: J. Hack 4, McLean 4, Dunham 13, Moore 6, Nesbitt 2, Guidi 2, Rand 4, Snow 4, Thompson 1, Vanderburgh, Adams, Stevenson-40.

Vernon senior B: McVickers 6, S. Samartino 18, R. Samartino 2, Lepage, Barnett 6, Munk, Borts 2-34. Referees: D. Hack and W. Day.

Handout Campaign Set for Saturday Hallowe'en Eve

Nearly two hundred youngsters will tour the Summerland district on Saturday evening, between 7 and 9 o'clock, in the annual Summerland elementary school hand-out campaign. As Hallowe'en actually falls on Sunday, the school officials have decided to stage its campaign on Saturday evening.

One-cent tickets will be carried by each youngster and those who purchase handout tickets are asked to accept these tickets as a receipt of purchase.

Prizes for individuals selling most tickets and for classes which turn in the best results are being awarded.

Proceeds from this handout campaign will go towards the elementary school sports and equipment fund.
