Enlarged Post Office For West Summerland Expected by Christmas

Enlargement of the West Summerland Post Office to provide easier access for patrons and more working space for the staff, was presaged on Monday with the visit here of Mr. W. H. Wilson, Post Office department inspector, from Vancouver.

It is hoped that the proposed changes in the local building will be made in time for the Christmas, 1948, rush.

If present Post Office plans materialize, one hundred more boxes, at least, will be provided West Summerland patrons, larger wickets for the handling of sales and delivering of parcels, and more lobby room will be provided.

Mr. T. Hickey, Summerland postmaster, announces that he has plans for a new building in lower town. He is the owner of the premises being occupied now, but states that the building will either have to be torn down and rebuilt, or a new building obtained on another site.

These recommendations are being passed on to the Dominion department of public works for sanction and for the carrying out of the actual contractual work.

Double Lobby Space

Mr. Wilson informed The Review that his department is proposing to the public works officials that the present bank of boxes be swung back to parallel the present wicket openings, thus more than doubling the lobby space in the West Summerland P.O.

If necessary, the bank of boxes will be extended in an L-shape, to provide a further nest along the east wall.

More wicket space will be provided, while larger boxes to receive parcels as well as letters from the sidewalk outside will also be included in the plans.

On the other side of the wickets, the Post Office will be extended to take in most of the living quarters now being utilized by Postmaster Ross McLachlan. Mr. McLachlan states that he is moving shortly to other living quarters.

Mr. Wilson expressed sympathy with Mr. McLachlan and his staff for the enormity of their task during the Christmas rush, while being forced to operate in such cramped quarters.

The Post Office department also realizes that the public is not being fairly dealt with in having such a small lobby.

"We are urging the public works people to make these alterations as speedily as possible," Mr. Wilson stated.

No Public Building

Asked as to the possibility of a public building being erected, Mr. Wilson replied that it is the present policy of the government to renovate present buildings where possible rather than em-

Great Rush of Peaches as Sun Ripens Fruit

With bright, clear sunshine for the past five days, packing houses in Summerland have been swamped with peaches and pears and crews are working to capacity to try and cope with the rush of soft fruit.

Same conditions apply to the canneries in this district, all four concerns are working to the limit of their facilities and more workers are needed in some cases to cope with the rush of fruit.

Rochester picking and packing has been completed but the quality of this brand of peaches was poor, due to the prolonged wet spell. Many claims are expected from shippers of this fruit, although demand has been strong.

Quality of the three V's, Veteran, Valiant and Vedette, is better, state local packing houses, as the fruit contains more sugar and has a better color due to the sunshine of the past few days.

Picking of the three V's is at its height this week, while a few J. H. Hale are starting to appear. Elbertas are expected to arrive next week, provided present weather conditions continue.

Bartlett pear deal is about completed while some Flemish will be starting to roll in a week's time.

Duchess apples are cleaned up and Wealthies are now rolling to market.

There is a great demand for mixed cars of apples, crabapples, pears and peaches and the markets are strong for Okanagan fruit, local managers state.

After such a long, wet spell it is expected that most fruit will ripen quickly and the rush on the packing house and cannery staffs will not ease off for some weeks.

Some overtime has had to be called for, but in the main the industrial plants are coping with the rush of fruit.

Talks to Government Men on Flood Costs

Reeve R. A. Johnston informed The Review yesterday that he has had a conference with Mr. T. S. Dalby, government agent in Penticton and Mr. A. R. Cobby, provincial public works representative and has arranged for the submission of accounts for flood damage to the former for payment.

His Worship is hopeful that the government will honor most of these accounts, which include roadwork on Crescent Beach and Trout Creek roadways, besides the accounts for out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the Trout Creek flood last spring.

These accounts must go through the municipality for payment before the government will consider assisting in the flood damage loss, it is understood.

What proportion of the total cost will be met is subject to further discussion and Reeve Johnston did not state what basis the negotiation will take.

Name Doug Price As President of Local P-C Group

At a meeting of the Summerland Progressive-Conservative Assn. last week, Mr. Doug Price was elected president to succeed Mr. W. Gillard, who recently accepted the post of president of the South Okanagan Progressive-Conservative Assn.

Delegates to the Yale convention at Penticton last night and to the nominating convention for the Coalition candidate for South Okanagan on September 15 in Kelowna, were named and include the following:

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Nesbitt, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. W. Gillard, W. C. W. Fosbery, C. E. Bentley, Art Dunsdon, P. S. Dunsdon, A. Calvert, J. Y. Towgood, Dave Taylor, H. Walton, Don Orr, C. W. Haddrell, E. C. Bingham, J. E. Jenkinson, J. D. Price, A. M. Temple and F. Steuart.

Canada Needs Newfoundland From Defence Standpoint, Says Oxley

"You can look at the acquisition of Newfoundland from three angles, defence, administration and economics," declared Mr. Robert S. Oxley, new Summerland lawyer, in addressing the Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday evening at the Nu-Way annex.

Mr. Oxley dealt with the possible annexation of Newfoundland as a tenth province in the Dominion and declared that he believed it would mean the salvation of that country and would also be, in time, a valuable adjunct to this nation.

"We owe it to the Newfoundlanders to give them every understanding and consideration," he declared.

When the United States was entering the last war, bases on Newfoundland were demanded and obtained, giving an idea of the importance of that stretch of country from a defence standpoint.

Three Stages

Invasion from Europe could be provided with three stepping stones, Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland, which includes Labrador, Mr. Oxley pointed out.

So important is Newfoundland in the defence of this continent against attack from the east that Mr. Oxley believes if the Newfoundland status had been allowed to drift along the United States would have demanded the right to step in and help administer the country.

The possible tenth province is sparsely populated, Mr. Oxley continued and at present has no possibility of paying its way. It has a lengthy coastline, needing light-houses and radar stations. If brought into Canada, old age pensions and other social and medical security measures would be demanded, which would mean that the cost to the rest of Canada would be greater at first he considered.

Iron Ore

But Newfoundland has a wealth of iron ore, and can be made into one of the two big supply points for this valuable metal. He also is convinced that the St. Lawrence waterways would be opened to provide an exit for iron ore shipments to the big industrial centres of the eastern part of this continent.

"My guess is that if Newfoundland comes into the Dominion, it won't be long before ore carriers are going up the St. Lawrence," carrying the metal from Labrador.

Mr. Oxley also explained Newfoundland's fishing industry. On the eastern seaboard there is offshore fishing, small privately-owned boats travelling a dozen miles off shore and returning each day with their catch.

Second method is the hand-line, wherein schooners such as the famous Bluenose travel out to the Grand Banks, there to release smaller craft who return to the mother ship each day.

The third method utilizes power vessels, or trawlers, which are fast replacing the other two methods as more fish can be captured in a shorter time by the use of huge nets.

Newfoundland fishing industry hasn't the capital to invest in this new type fishing and needs the assistance of Canada to relieve her fishing business and assist in the recovery of her economic balance, Mr. Oxley intimated.

Once Newfoundland joins Canada, she "can expect her industries to boom again," was Mr. Oxley's surmise.

NAME DELEGATES TO P-C PARTY NATIONAL MEET

Delegates to the national convention of the Progressive-Conservative party from Yale riding will consist of D. C. Fillmore and Miss North of Kelowna and P. D. O'Brien, of Penticton, delegates to the nominating convention held in Penticton last night, decided.

Among the alternate delegates named is Capt. J. E. Jenkinson of Summerland.

Chief among the list of resolutions passed by the Yale Tories for consideration at the national convention in Ottawa the latter part of this month is one endorsing the single, transferable vote. The conference last night was solidly in favor of a continuation of the free enterprise system.

W. A. C. Bennett, defeated candidate in the Yale by-election, addressed the gathering.

Open Bids For Renovation Of Elementary School at Meeting of Board Tonight

Trustees of School District No. 77 (Summerland) are holding a special meeting this evening to open the tenders for proposed renovations to the elementary school here. As far as can be ascertained, it is unlikely that any Summerland contractors have bid on this big construction job, which will provide four new classrooms, a primary playshed and complete modernization of the old school building.

Chairman P. G. Dodwell, who presided at the regular board meeting for the first time since last May, informed the trustees on Monday evening that a number of local subsidiary contractors were anxious to make bids on sub contracts but had not been approached by any of the bigger contracting firms.

Trustees expressed sympathy with the local suppliers' view but pointed out that unless the local business men contacted those who might be successful in the over-all tender, nothing could be done to keep the business within the municipality.

School Inspector J. N. Burnett expressed the hope that the renovations will be completed by the end of the year to relieve the overcrowded conditions in the local school system.

There is a possibility that when school opens next Tuesday, an additional classroom may have to be provided, apart from the new room being rented in the Parish hall and the continued use of the United church Sunday school room.

"It all comes back to the need of a junior-senior high school," declared Chairman Dodwell, while at another point in the discussion Inspector Burnett declared: "It will be a happy day when we have a junior-senior high school and don't have to tie up important academic subjects with physical education."

Lack One Teacher

Inspector Burnett was referring to the situation which has arisen here in that there is still one teacher short in the high school staff.

The curriculum calls for a teacher who will teach French and will take over the girls' physical education in the high school. To date, there has been no reply to repeated attempts on the part of the school board to obtain such a staff member.

Inspector Burnett told the trustees that, excluding optional subjects, the high school pass list reveals that 85.3 percent of the pupils last term were passed, as compared with 92 percent the year before.

Of the 40 pupils who wrote exams, 23 passed and 17 failed, being a percentage of 57.5 against 79.5 percent in 1947.

Inspector Burnett explained that these percentages compare favorably with Oliver results but Penticton results are slightly higher. "Not too bad at all," was his comment, pointing out that the exam results and the school grading throughout the year were quite closely allied. General mathematics and science were the two subjects in which most pupils failed.

Request More Wages

Local school janitors have requested that they be given an increase of 15 percent in salaries. Head janitor Trayler receives $150 per month while Janitor F. Healy receives $125. Janitor Fred Thompson is on part-time employment.

The school board decided to give the request a hoist for one month to obtain further data on janitors' salaries paid by other boards.

It was stated that the Parish hall is being rented for classroom facilities at a rental of $85 a month.

Lakeside W.M.S. Pays Tribute to Late Member

In tribute to the memory of a faithful, hard-working member of many years' standing, the Ladies of Lakeside Women's Missionary society carried the floral tribute to the late Mrs. Miriam White Mellor from the church to cover the casket in a touching funeral service held at Lakeside church on Friday, August 27.

Mrs. Mellor was born in New Brunswick in 1870, and spent her early years in Manitoba. In 1908 she then, Miriam White came to Summerland to live and immediately identified herself with the work of Lakeside church. She was especially active in WMS and Sunday school activities, having been president of the former for several terms, and superintendent of the Sunday school for many years. She married H. C. Mellor, who predeceased her a number of years ago, in 1925.

A brief illness ended with her death on Wednesday, August 25 in the Summerland hospital.

Rev. Hugh Dobson officiated at the service, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. H. R. Whitmore. Interment was in Peach Orchard cemetery, and pallbearers were Messrs. Gordon Blewett, Fred Gale, E. Farnham, J. M. McDougald, T. Hickey and John Mott.

Mrs. Mellor is survived by one brother, Albert E. White of Antler, Sask.

One Bad Inning Eliminates Merchants From Interior Baseball Play-offs

One bad inning, the sixth, proved disastrous for the Summerland Merchants at Vernon last Sunday afternoon in their sudden-death contest against Nicks Aces for the right to meet Kamloops in the finals of the Interior baseball league.

Vernon shoved across three runs in that one inning, more than enough to eliminate the Merchants by a 3-1 count.

It was a game with plenty of action, although hitting strength was not a feature. Summerland, at that, outthrew Vernon 5 to 3 but could not bunch them sufficiently to make them count.

The Merchants' lone tally came in the third frame when Captain George Clark drew a walk, stole second and raced home on George Taylor's double. Thompson was hit by a pitched ball but Iwayoshi fled to centerfield to end the rally.

Henschke started Vernon's rally when Evans muffed a grounder. Ingila sacrificed him to second while Petruk was safe on a wild pitch. Ingram connected for a solid single to score both runners and came across himself on Janlek's grounder to complete the scoring.

The Merchants threatened at the top of the seventh when Day and Evans got on the path with nobody away. However, Kuroda and Walsh hit to the infield and Clark waved the ozone and the side was retired.

Again in the eighth Taylor threatened when he reached third base but three strikeouts eliminated all hopes.

Left-handed Al Munk had 13 strikeouts to his credit and although he was wild at times when the going got tough he settled down for a knockout. Bill Evans, seen and Hack.

Trout Creek Point Plea for Work On Waterways This Fall Unlikely to Be Accepted by B.C. Government

There is little likelihood that the provincial government will acquiesce to the plea of Trout Creek Point residents for action this fall in planning straightening and dredging operations on Trout Creek to prevent a recurrence of the 1948 flood conditions.

Last week, Dr. R. C. Palmer, secretary of the Trout Creek Flood Control committee wrote Mr. G. P. Melrose, deputy minister of lands and forests, asking that an engineer be sent to this district this fall to deal with the flood menace from Trout Creek.

It was pointed out that the bed of the creek is raised from sand and debris being carried down in flood time and if there is a recurrence of this year's conditions a considerable loss can be expected by those whose property adjoins the creek.

No government policy has been laid down on the question of such creek problems and, although there may be a statement forthcoming it is unlikely that any action will be taken for a time.

The B.C. government has bigger problems to handle at the moment than Trout Creek, the letter indicates.

The reply from Mr. Melrose follows:

"I would advise that the government has not yet announced any policy in regard to such matters but it is under advisement at the moment and when a decision is made, one way or the other, I will advise you.

"Undoubtedly, the problem is a difficult one to deal with and there are a great many cases similar to your own throughout the province.

"Whether or not they can all be dealt with is one of the difficult questions which must be answered."

FRUIT MOVING WELL

A. K. Lloyd stated last night that 657 cars of fruit rolled last week, 246 cars over the previous week. Rochester shipments have amounted to 225,000 crates and the three V's amount to more than 300,000 crates, so that a third of the peach crop has been shipped.

The Duchess deal is about completed, and 41,000 boxes of Wealthies have been shipped. Some Gravensteins have gone to the Maritimes. Transcendent crabapples are about cleaned and the demand for all fruit is healthy.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Leakey have returned to their home in Vancouver after a ten days' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William May.

"Unusual" to Say the Least

TO SAY that the weather is "unusual" has become a common habit in the Okanagan, as elsewhere, but there has hardly been a summer in the history of the oldest inhabitant which can compare with the season which is now drawing to a close.

One of the faithful readers of The Review, Mr. F. A. Miller, has been keeping a close tab on the records. He comes up with the story that out of 150 days from the first of April, there have been 76 days when rain fell in this district. And on 21 of these days there was thunder to be heard.

August topped all five months with 21 days of rainfall out of 28, which accounts for the more than three inches of precipitation recorded for the month.

To say that the weather has been "unusual" is to use a mild expression. There are many others which are much more expressive.

Calculations of the fruit and vegetable grower have been thrown out of kilter. Some pests which usually thrive in the Okanagan sunshine were driven to cover and didn't bother the farmer. Others, which are generally held down by sunny days and mild evenings, and never had a chance before, are thriving in the wet weather.

Harvesting seasons have been delayed, the quality of fruit, in many cases, has been retarded. In plain, it has been a helluva season. Even the Kelowna Regatta had rain, and buckets of it, something which hasn't happened since the days were switched to the first week in August. The Kelowna Aquatic directors were scandalized, and were heard to mutter: "It can't happen here" . . . but it did.

All in all, we are going through a year which has upset all our calculations. And what worries us most is that next year there will probably be more flood conditions, as 1949 is the end (or the start) of the seven-year cycle in the Okanagan. The Okanagan has experienced flood conditions every seven years, 1921, 1928, 1935 and 1942.

Not that we wish to be unduly pessimistic.

Political Apathy

AN EXAMPLE of the difference in thought and practice between the old-line parties and the comparative newcomer to the political field, the CCF party, was evidenced in Summerland last week.

The Summerland Progressive-Conservative Assn. called a meeting of its supporters to nominate candidates to attend the Yale P-C convention, where delegates for the Dominion convention in Ottawa late this month will name a new leader and set up a party policy for the prospective election in 1949. Although more than fifty notices were sent out to known party followers only a dozen Progressive-Conservatives were interested enough in the important meeting to put in an appearance.

This is the type of apathy which is defeating the old-line parties. The CCF party is active and has an active membership. The new political group has meetings practically every month, holds picnics and other social gatherings wherein the members become better acquainted and discuss their political philosophy. The CCFers are conscientious, well-organized and determined to be more than official opposition both in British Columbia and in other provinces.

Political followers of the older parties, apart from an ardent few, do not pull their weight in the day to day procedure which should be followed to maintain an active interest in their political groups. This policy of letting "George" do it, will probably cost the Liberals and Conservatives a few elections in the next few years.

What's in a Name

ALTHOUGH WE do not hear much about it in this portion of the interior, there is quite a battle proceeding over the question of highways.

To the north, the designated Trans-Canada highway is functioning as it has done since 1940 when the Big Bend was officially opened with all due pomp and ceremony. But there is an air of anxiety being felt in such places as Revelstoke concerning the future of this roadway.

This anxiety has come to the fore ever since the announcement of the big caravan, which is to converge on Nelson this month, with the avowed intention of popularizing the southern trans-provincial highway.

From Vancouver on the west and Lethbridge on the east, those interested in tourist promotion in the southern part of the province plan to meet in the southern part of the province plan to meet in The main idea is to convince government leaders that the southern highway, especially when the Hope-Princeton highway is completed, is the logical choice for the Trans-Canada route.

Naturally, Revelstoke and the main line points are agitated. They can foresee the time when the powers that be will take cognizance of the southern all-weather route which travels through the most highly populated portion of B.C.

With the Hope-Princeton completed and the new section which bites into the United States to relieve the high level route from Grand Forks to Rossland ready to receive traffic, the southern section will have a complete highway from Vancouver to Crows' Nest.

Of course, this is looking ahead a few years as far as the Grand Forks-Rossland cutoff is concerned, but if the weather man co-operates the Hope-Princeton will be opened late next summer.

But regardless of national recognition for the southern route as part of the Dominion cross-country route, the southern trans-provincial highway will probably soon become the main east-west artery.

Although the highly-publicized tourist resorts of Banff and Jasper can be reached from the present Trans-Canada route, scenic splendors which can equal anything the northern road provides will be available on the southern trans-provincial. Besides that, the road is closer to the source of supply of most tourist dollars—the United States—and the entire highway runs through a district which is fairly well populated as compared to other stretches of this province.

The tourist travelling the southern route can be provided with all modern conveniences on his main route, and at the same time is within easy motoring distance of hunting and fishing spots which are remote in their own seclusion.

Let the northern route remain the Trans-Canada highway in name. The Revelstoke Review, in a lengthy editorial, states: "The Trans-Canada highway—We have it," and proceeds to list all the dignitaries who have indicated by action and word that the Big Bend is part of the national highway system—whatever that is.

The northern cities can have the name, yet when the southern route reaches the stage of completion as planned by the provincial public works department some years ago, we venture to say that the southern highway will, to all intents and purposes, be the No. 1 highway across the province.

And, after all, that will mean much more than a name which, unless Ottawa has a complete change of heart, is meaningless in the extreme.

The Inside Story

By AGROLOGIST

Like many other Canadians I have a weakness for sweet corn. Accordingly I feel that I owe a special debt of gratitude to the plan breeders who have been busy improving this delectable vegetable. A few days ago I had the privilege of going through the corn variety trials at the experimental station with Billy May and Pete Pearson. As you might expect, these expert gardeners have done an excellent job of growing the corn.

I have always regarded Golden Bantam as the standard of quality in sweet corn. Accordingly, I was delighted to find that plant breeders have now produced Golden Bantam type corn varieties and hybrids maturing both earlier and later than the original Golden Bantam. For example, vegetable breeders at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, have produced the Dorinny and Banting varieties which have the same high quality as Bantam but reach eating condition at least two weeks earlier.

On the other hand, Vincross and Vinegold, produced by the Vineland Experimental Station, mature a week to ten days later than Bantam.

Vincross and Vinegold are actually what is known as "first generation hybrids". They are produced by crossing two inbred strains of Golden Bantam in the same way that the modern field corn hybrids are produced. These hybrid sweet corns are remarkable for their vigor and their uniformity of size, shape and maturity. In fact, the cobs which I saw are a delight to the eye as well as to the palate.

Billy May and Pete Pearson make very detailed records regarding the performance of each variety and hybrid. They not only weigh the crop but also measure quite a large number of cobs to determine the range of size. They record the number of rows of kernels on the cob and whether or not the cobs are well filled.

Variety trials do not stop with the field records but are carried through cooking and free-

DOUBLE BARRELED

The Giant of Giant's Head

By B. A. T.

XII—The Presses Roll In Giantland

The "Giant Review" was a paper of note,

It told what was news and it told how to vote;

It told who was born and it told who was dead,

'Twas published in Giantland close by the Head.

For a long time the Giant of Giant's Head had realized that there was something lacking in his kingdom but he could not think what it was. An agency was needed to foster progress, culture and interest in local and national affairs.

So he called in his Minister of Information to ask advice. This official mulled the question over in his capacious mind.

"I have it," he said at last. "What we need is a newspaper, but since we have no paper and it will be printed on deerskins, maybe we had better call it a news-kin."

"No, we will call it a newspaper regardless," said the Giant, for any other name would only confuse historians of the future. We want generations that follow us to understand and benefit from our civilization."

"An editor will be necessary," said the Minister, "and that position calls for one of the outstanding men of our nation."

"Phooey on that idea!" the Giant was rather crude when excited. "The best men are all engaged in hunting and fishing. We will have to take almost anyone as an editor. I fear it will always be that way." (The writer assumes no responsibility for opinions expressed by the Giant.)

"An editor was found, the paper established and a new interest added to giant life.

The editor had much to learn. The use of noun and verb, comma and period, and the difference between news and scandal were lessons to be acquired. A dictionary became his constant friend and he had to learn to count up to thirty. (The newspaper fraternity have a saying, "That's thirty!")

On publication days the whole populace would be on the alert to see the new issue of the "Giant Review", to read the editorials, to digest the news and to scan the gossip column.

The day of the society editor had its beginning. It was she who had to learn who was "visiting abroad" and who was "home again." She even posted a lookout on the hospital roof to be on the alert for the stork bringing "new arrivals".

The ladies of Giantland dearly loved to see their names in the society column and would hold elaborate parties to achieve that purpose. New expressions such as "for travelling the bride donned a suit of robin's egg blue" and "the salon of the hostess was decorated with sunflowers and violets" became common. (The Giant had gained the culture he craved.)

However, one important feature was lacking in the new paper for, at this stage of journalistic development, "Orchard Run" had not even learned to walk.

There were oases when a giant, guilty of some misdemeanor, would plead with the editor not to mention his escapade in print. Or a young man who had been out of town visiting his other girl-friend would give the editor a five spot (giant currency) to have the latter add "on business" to the news item.

Budding writers and would-be poets would bring their masterpieces to be printed but the editor was firm: "Advertising rates—two cents an inch." Thus the work of genius was often unread and unrecognized.

Very conveniently, the readers could pay their subscription rates in deer hides and possibly get the same skins back when printed. After the news was read, the skins would be made into clothing. Later, discarded clothing would be buried in the ground as fertilizer which, in turn, would grow grass to feed deer. This whole process made the nearest approach to perpetual motion that had been developed up to that time.

The wearing of printed skins might give rise to amusing situations. For instance, a haughty spinster might be walking along the street with an advertisement on her back, "Man wanted."

Many changes were brought about by the paper. The lady giants became more style conscious so they all had to have the "new look" at the same time. The giants gave more attention to politics which made elections keener. All the people tended to become more united in their views on national affairs.

Altogether, it was a splendid day when the Giant, at the opening ceremony, pressed the button, (a bachelor button he had picked from his garden), and said: "Let the presses roll!"

Life Insurance Companies Increase Payments in B.C.

TORONTO—During the first six months of 1948, the life insurance companies operating in Canada paid the sum of $3,083,788 to the beneficiaries of deceased policyholders in the province of British Columbia.

Such death and accidental death claims were $467,424 higher than for the corresponding period of 1947.

In the six-month period of 1948, the companies paid $2,585,809 on 1,083 ordinary policies; $182,040 on 684 industrial policies and $345,844 on 224 group certificates in British Columbia alone.

For the whole of Canada during the same period, death and accidental death claims amounted to $37,300,482 on a total of 32,129 policies.

The companies also paid out in all of Canada during the first six months of 1948 $16,861,586 on matured endowments; $1,868,808 in disability benefits; $8,096,558 in annuity payments; $21,510,803 in surrender values and $17,724,018 in dividends to policyholders.

Total payments for all Canada amounted to $97,747,474 compared with $90,076,845 for the corresponding period of 1947.

When I went to the Laboratory I found Adrian Moyls, Frank Plunkett and Clarence Lackey very busy, indeed, blanching corn for frozen pack tests. The air was filled with the appetizing aroma characteristic of corn being prepared for the table.

However, Adrian assured me that none of it

Just before your good man gets in the door at night, run and dab a daub of toilet water behind your ears. Then, when you get your hello-kiss, maybe it'll be two for you—or more.

Don't fall too hard for this bolero-suit fad if you're like most of us women who get one new suit every two or three years. It's just a passing fancy, you know—the sort of thing you had for tall, dark and handsome men when you were 17. And just look at the medium, brown and on-the-homely side wonder you did say "yes" to!

If your chin is not your strongest point, brush a speck of rouge on it, and watch it come more to the fore.

Go over your wardrobe at this time of the year and give away the things you don't want any more. Take the rest and figure out ways and means of lengthening skirts, turning old blouses into dickeries, old dresses into petticoats and so on far into the world of re-make. The smartest women do it, why not you?

Did you ever notice that if you get a run in a good pair of nylons and have it mended, that stocking will last you until the cows come home. If not longer! The jinx is off them and you could wear them blackberry picking with no bad results.

Hollow out some tomatoes and stuff 'em and whoever eats them will think you studied cooking under the famous Pierre himself. I had some the other night stuffed with liver sausage mixed with bits of celery and onion. I could have eaten a half dozen, but I settled for two—much to my hostesses' relief.

You know, if you've a little boy between the years of 2 and 5, buy him a doll sometime, and just see the pleasure he'll get out of it. True, he won't dress and unless it's a trillion times as a little girl would, but he will become fatherly and conversational and protective, specially when there is no one around. Whatever you do, don't laugh at him, or let any one else so much as crack a smile.

That old long-bone necklace of coral that's been hanging around the trunk-bottom for the past decade should make up nicely into a smart choker. Shouldn't it? A clasp is all that's needed.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
August 30, 1918

George Dale, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dale, was killed in action on August 11. He had attended public and high school here as well as Okanagan College. Leaving Summerland in January, 1917, he was in the trenches by June of that year.

A strike of masters and mates, members of the Merchants' Service Guild, was averted this week when a settlement was reached. The steamer "Okanagan" was tied up one day, Wednesday, and the other lake boats were due to cease operations that evening, when the strike was called off.

A charge of perjury has been entered against Reeve Blair and J. Mitchell, ex-superintendent of municipal public works, by T. J. McAlpine in Supreme Court.

A year's leave of absence, because of the ill health of his family, has been granted Rev. Chas. Baker by the Baptist church at Lethbridge. He will teach manual training at Fentiction and Summerland.

Mr. A. S. Reid, a Vancouver druggist visiting here this week, states that as soon as a highway is opened from Hope to Princeton "we will have thousands of visitors from coast cities."

He did tell me, however, that in his own opinion, Dorinny is hard to beat for an early variety and Vinegold is just about ideal for a late crop.

No Domestic Water For Subdivision

As H. Steinger has not agreed to pay for domestic water from the standpipe originally placed at the request of Mr. Downes, the municipal council has authorized the cutting off of supply from this pipe. This means that a number of residents of the Sergeant subdivision are without any water supply unless they borrow from neighbors, which is actually contrary to regulations.

It had been suggested that Mr. Steinger pay for service from this standpipe and collect from those neighbors who wished to use the service. This suggestion did not meet with approval.

Council has received word from Gordon & Belyea that its order of 3-inch domestic water cast iron

PRICE ON PROPERTY

Sidney Hall is being informed by the council that he can obtain a five-acre municipal property, partly planted, in the Paradise Flat area, for $1,500, one-third down and the balance, plus interest, in two years. He also wishes to purchase the Mill house in that area and Foreman E. Kercher has been asked to place a value on this property.

RIGHT-OF-WAY

The Canadian Pacific Railway has provided a right-of-way agreement for a domestic pipe line to cross tracks and service two houses owned by T. B. Young in the vicinity of the West Summerland station.

pipe for the Sergeant subdivision will not reach here before the end of September, instead of August as originally stated.

Crops Slow to Ripen Because Of Wet Season

August's wet weather has slowed ripening conditions on all crops, the report of the provincial agricultural department under the heading Horticultural News Letter, reveals for the Summerland, Peachland, Westbank area, reported on August 24.

At that time apricot picking continued, the crop having ripened slowly, with a few Blenheims coming in. Local reports state that there are still some cannery apricots to be picked, but all fresh market supplies have been concluded.

"Hot weather is needed to ripen the peach crop," the Letter continues. "Slow ripening conditions have delayed the maturing of this crop so much that Rochesters are only now reaching volume. Brown rot is quite evident in some peach plantings. "The picking of Bartlett pears is now in progress. Very good size has been attained in this variety and later varieties also appear to be coming on well.

"Although widespread, pear psylla has been largely checked by summer sprays. Codling moth and red mite appear to be at a low level for this time of year."

The News Letter reports that the severe storm of August 15, which did comparatively little damage in this district, caused severe loss to peaches, plums and prunes in the Naramata and north-eastern section of Penticton fruit growing areas.

Tomatoes in the Oliver-Osoyoos area are expected to be finished this week, while cucumbers and cantaloupes are practically over. Vine crop yields were lighter than last year.

Kelowna also reports a light tomato crop, due to late maturity and poor growing conditions. Onion crops, because of mildew damage, will be below normal.

Local Light Crew Fixes Broken Pole

Last week, during one of the storms which swept the Okanagan, a high tension pole of the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. was toppled at the corner of the Giant's Head and Sandhill roads. The local electric light department made temporary repairs to ensure safety of passersby until the West Kootenay crew could renew the pole.

EX-FLIN FLON PICNIC

Some thirty former residents of Flin Flon, Man., or visitors to the Okanagan from that mining centre, gathered at the experimental station in Summerland on Sunday, August 22, for a picnic. The outing which was greatly enjoyed, was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wade.

Going Steady... with 2 Ton Bites

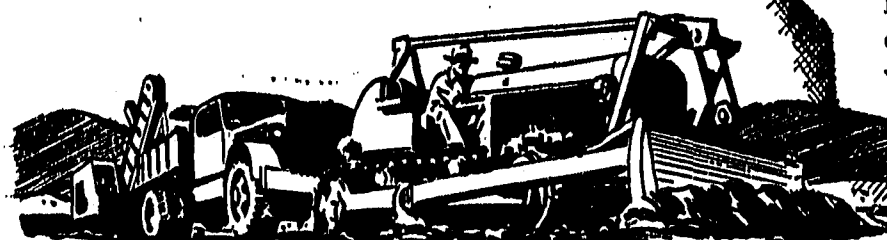

EVER try to get past a big excavation job without stopping to watch? Fascinating, isn't it? Look at Tom Power in the cab of the giant power shovel which devours earth in two-ton bites. Tom's a skilled operator, worth every cent of the $60.80 he earns each week.

HE couldn't make that much on a pick-and-shovel gang. He'd be paid less for each hour's work because he'd accomplish less. However hard he worked with a pick, Tom alone would never be able to save enough to buy that power shovel, to increase his earning power and his wages.

BUYING equipment and tools... often many thousands of dollars worth per man... is the job of a company which can raise capital. Machinery and tools get the job done more quickly at lower cost and enable Tom and his fellow employees to earn more... because they produce more.

TOM'S power shovel and higher wages are the result of a free system in which men have the incentive to seek better ways of increasing production at lower cost. This system, we believe, offers the greatest rewards, the highest standards of living, the best job-security and freedom of opportunity.

Baseball on Donkeys Will Be Fun Fest

Next Tuesday, a comic baseball game with real live donkeys providing the focal point of attention, is scheduled for the Living Memorial Athletic park in Summerland.

This fun fest was to have been held last June but due to the floods had to be postponed until September 7 next.

Captain Jack Bartlett is bringing his world-famous string of fifteen trained donkeys to Summerland to play under floodlights. And lights are no strangers to these animals as they have appeared in many Hollywood scenes. A two-hour show is promised for Tuesday night and one of the features will be that the donkeys only obey the commands given them over the loud speaker system. The ball players won't have much command, at all, as they only do what their manager, Capt. Bartlett instructs them over the loudspeakers.

This will probably be the wind-up to the baseball season of 1948, but prior to the boys hanging up their spikes they plan to tackle Pentiction in a fast contest next Sunday at the local diamond.

Pentiction and Summerland have been rivals for years on the baseball fields of this part of the Okanagan and it is expected that Sunday's contest will produce the same keen rivalry as evidenced in other years.

Let's Face The Facts!

Today everyone is wondering when the end of the price spiral will come.

We received this week a letter from a friend who is one of Canada's largest buyers of woolen fabrics. He has just returned from a six weeks' buying trip in Britain. Here are a few of his findings:

English mills are working on about 50% production.

Woolen yarns and fabrics are today at the highest price level since 1920.

Old Country spinners are refusing to buy in the future markets.

Quality is being maintained but prices are definitely rising.

Cotton market is at the highest point in modern history.

Labor costs up nearly 18% over one year ago.

including janitor and heating services.

Three pupils from Greata ranch are to take their schooling in Peachland this year, their tuition fees and transportation being paid by the local school board.

While on the subject of transportation, Secretary E. A. Tingley declared that the provincial department of education has not given an okay on the increased school bus routes, although the information had been in Victoria for two months. He was instructed to wire to Victoria requesting a reply on this important subject.

Secretary Tingley also stated that there are prospects of four Summerland students attending senior matric classes in Pentiction this fall. He was instructed to ascertain the exact number enrolled at Pentiction, as the board will not provide transportation unless three or more decide to take these courses.

Discuss Salaries

Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh reported that she had attended a meeting, last month, of the newly-organized Okanagan branch of the B.C. School Trustees' Assn., held in Kelowna. Main discussion centered around the teachers' request for a $400 boost in salary schedule.

No agreement was reached by the school boards' representatives, but a further meeting of this group will be held at Oliver in October.

Chairman Dodwell stated that he intends to make every effort to attend the annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees' Assn. in Vancouver on September 21 and 22, while Mrs. Vanderburgh declared that she would also be present. The board urged Secretary Tingley to make plans to attend, as well.

Transportation costs plus $10 per diem will be paid delegates attending this convention.

A petition from residents of Paradise Flat and Peach Valley areas for a change in the bus route was referred to the school principals for report.

M.I.D. Award Presented to W. McCutcheon

Another belated honor won on the battlefields of Europe has come this week to ex-Sgt. William McCutcheon, formerly a member of the 9th Armored Regt. (BCD) and now a resident of Trout Creek area in Summerland.

A certificate indicating that Sgt. McCutcheon was Mentioned in Despatches for Distinguished Service, was received here this week.

Last May, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor-general of Canada, on the occasion of his first official visit to Summerland, officiated at the award of the Military Medal to Sgt. McCutcheon in an impressive ceremony in front of the cenotaph on the high school grounds.

Sgt. McCutcheon went through a large portion of the Italian campaign with the famous Okanagan regiment.

Building Total Now Approaches $150,000 Mark

Building permits for the first eight months of 1948 are approaching the $150,000 mark, while for the same period in 1947, the building activity had reached $200,635.

One hundred permits have been issued by Building Inspector Roy F. Angus for a total of $144,055.

Thirteen permits were issued last month, for a value of $25,340. In August, 1947, there were 20 permits for a value of $28,725.

Dwellings continue to occupy the limelight as five new permits were handed out in August for a total of $19,000. Two commercial permits were taken out at a prospective cost of $4,700, one of these being for alterations at a cost of $1,200.

Alterations, additions, and garages showed six permits for a value of $1,640.

Of course, the new school addition, which will mean an expenditure of some $80,000 in Summerland if started in September, will place building figures away in excess of last year's total.

He also did not agree that the names should be changed to Summerland and Summerland 1, as has been suggested here, as the prefix West is much more easily observed by sorters than numerals after the main name.

Such a suggested change would lead to greater confusion than exists at present with the two post offices bearing different names in the one municipality, he intimated.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S CAMP

The Summerland Baptist church held its annual young people's camp from August 25 to 31, meeting at Camp Hurlbut near Vernon. Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Haskins spent the whole time at the camp, which is reported as very successfully attended. Among special speakers to conduct youth lectures were Rev. J. Smith, pastor of Vancouver Heights Baptist church, and Rev. John Hart of Penticton.

BEN SAUNDERS REPORTED DEAD IN OLD COUNTRY

Ben Saunders, a well-known fruit rancher in Summerland for the past forty years, has passed away at Streatley, Reading, Berks, England, according to unconfirmed reports which have been received here in the past two days. Mr. Saunders went back to his native England early this year on a visit and sailed on the same boat with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barkwill, who returned to Summerland early in July. It is believed that Mr. Saunders was suffering from a severe cold some weeks ago, but he had been planning to visit the continent and then return home to Summerland in October. A niece, his only near relative in Canada, resides at Tranquille, B.C.

Hope-Princeton Opening In August, 1949, Depends Entirely on Weather Man

KELOWNA — The Hope-Princeton highway will be opened and paved its entire length by August, 1949, providing there is reasonable luck and good weather. This opinion is expressed by Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works. Mr. Carson emphasizes that the weather this summer has drastically delayed the project and continued bad weather this fall and next spring might cause some further delays.

Paving will be completed this fall from Kaleden junction with the Okanagan highway to Princeton and west from Princeton to 15 to 25 miles. Fifteen miles will also be paved east from Hope this year.

With construction completed on the remainder of the road between Hope and Princeton, it is expected that two paving units can be used and paving done right behind the last shovelfull of excavated material.

"This," Mr. Carson said, "is our present factual size-up of the project and, with reasonable luck and weather, we will have the road opened and paved over its entire length in 1949—I would say by the end of August."

In reply to a request by The Courier for a statement of progress, Mr. Carson said:

"I appreciate the Interior's concern over the progress on the Hope-Princeton. It would seem that despite every effort on our part, conditions, over which we have no control, hinder and delay completion.

"As you are probably aware, the Emil Anderson company on the western end will complete their section early in September. They have done an excellent job and had some advantage in that they had sections on which they could work during the winter season and so arranged their work.

"The Arnott Company on the eastern end were not so fortunate—most of their work is at a high altitude and the working season is correspondingly short. Equipment, too, I am advised, has continually been a problem—an example being that some big shovels ordered at the commencement of the job were delivered late last fall.

"Early this spring, both ourselves and the Arnott Company felt there was every reason to believe that he could complete his contract insofar as the major excavation was concerned, leaving possibly the cleaning up to be done in the spring of 1949. However, due to the extraordinarily bad weather we have had up to date, he has been unable to maintain the rate of progress necessary to attain that objective.

"This became very apparent in the month of June when his whole crew were immobilized for 15 days due to excessive rains and owing to the character of material to be moved. While not losing as many days subsequently, nevertheless as you know, heavy rains have been continuous and, necessarily, progress retarded.

"Realizing the spot we were in, the department, early in the year, cast about for some way in which to expedite the work. The natural thing to do was to have Anderson's plant and personnel continue on but here we ran into some difficulties. As you know, Arnott is prepared to complete the job at the bid price plus the Smith award. Having this in mind, it would be doubtful if the general public would condone the taking away from Arnott of a section of his work and awarding that section at a higher unit price, either by bid or negotiated contract, to a third party. The decision was against this.

Sub Contract

"Our next and apparently only course open was to have Anderson take a sub contract from Arnott. This Anderson was loath to do as unit prices were, in his estimation, too low. However, after a great deal of discussion, etc., an arrangement has been entered into between the two contractors where-by Anderson is taking on three and a half miles of exceedingly heavy work on the western end of the Arnott contract.

"Both organizations are double shifting, when the weather permits, and we are again hopeful that the major excavation may be completed this fall. An open and late period of good weather will make a tremendous difference at that time of year.

"Our program this year was so designed as to complete paving our new and old reconstruction in other areas of the province plus a closing-in of paving on the Hope-Kaleden corner. Paving will be completed shortly between Princeton and Kaleden corner and extended 15 to 25 miles west from Princeton by the end of the season depending on the weather. Likewise, 15 miles or more will be paved eastward from Hope.

"With construction completed, say by August, 1949, at latest, we can throw in two or more paving plants and complete right behind the last shovel full of excavated material. This is our present factual size-up of the project and, with reasonable luck and weather, we will have the road open and paved over its entire length in 1949—I would say by the end of August.

Heavy Investment

"Unseasonable weather will, of course, hinder progress as it has done during the present season and it cannot be helped. This, likewise, has a bearing on skilled machine men—they object to lying idle on the job having in mind the short working season. This creates an added problem and there are others of minor degree.

"The early completion of this road is tremendously important to the government in that we have some millions invested and cannot get a commensurate financial return until it is opened and traffic flowing. Naturally, we are exerting every possible effort to ensure opening in 1949. I wish it were possible for us in some way to intercede with the weather maker. That will be the deciding factor."

Wants Part of Old Bentley Pre-emption

Councillor C. E. Bentley has been asked to investigate a request from James Gould for a price on some portions of the old Bentley pre-emption which he wishes to plant. He would require five acres of water above the intake for this purpose, he told the council. The council members present last week were inclined to believe that this property should not be sold.

CANCEL CONVENTION

There will be no annual conference of B.C. municipal officers this month as tentatively planned, the council was informed last week. Acting Clerk Gordon Smith had been expecting to attend this conference which was first proposed for last June but was cancelled by flood conditions.

Wants More Time To Check Usage

Charles Letts' application for sprinkler irrigation has been given council approval, for his lower lot, but will not be sanctioned for his ten-acre property at the present time, as he draws on domestic water supply. Water Foreman E. Kercher has asked for more time to check the amount of water used in that section of the system before giving any recommendations on the feasibility of the application.

Two Softball Games Won by Pentiction Rexalls

An even dozen runs were scored by Pentiction Rexalls in each of two girls' softball contests the last two Sundays, Summerland girls being on the short end of the count on both occasions.

Playing here on August 22, the visiting Rexalls won by a 12-1 count while at Pentiction last Sunday the Summerland girls showed to better advantage, scoring three runs to the Pentiction crew's dozen.

E. Dracas and Shirley Taylor shared mound duties for Summerland in both contests but were unable to stem the tide. Walsh and Machura were the winning pitchers in the two games.

Last Sunday the Rexalls countered strongly in the first three innings, scoring 11 runs. After that the Summerland lassies settled down and held the Pentictionites to a single counter.

The Summerland line-up included the following in both games:
Glaser 3b, Burwash 3b, Lewis 2b, Campeau 1b, Fountain rf, Taylor p, Dracas p, Braddock cf, Smith lf, cf, Klux lf, Heichert c, Eyre ss, Jomori ss.

Score by innings:

First Game
Pentiction:	3 026 100-12
Summerland:	0 001 000-1
Second Game
Summerland:	0 100 110-3
Pentiction:	2 450 10x-12

Summerland Red Sox Take Big Edge In Playoffs by Beating Pentiction Skaha Lake Cubs by 13-6 Count

Starting out with a six-run barrage, Summerland Red Sox took a strangle hold on the South Okanagan junior league playoff championships at the Living Memorial athletic park last Sunday when they defeated Pentiction Skaha Lake Cubs in a ragged exhibition, 13-6.

Second in this two out of three series will be played in Pentiction this Sunday and the Red Sox are odds-on favorites to cop the title in two straight.

Both teams yielded thirteen hits, as the horsehide was pounded around the lot in most innings.

The Cubs used three hurlers, Getz, Apolzer and Berdine but could not hold down the bouncing Red Sox. Jacobs went the route for the winners but was hit harder than in any previous contest.

Davis Cup Star Extended on Local Courts

Summerland tennis players extended the barnstorming duo of Davis Cupper Walt Stohlberg and Jimmy "Bugs" Bardsley, well-known Vancouver stars, when they played on the local board courts on Saturday afternoon.

Play was fast and keen and a splendid exhibition of tennis was given to a disappointingly small group of enthusiasts.

The well-known coast athletes showed at a number of Okanagan clubs during last week.

Nick Solly and George Fudge extended the Vancouver pair in the men's doubles play, losing out 6-4, while Fudge teamed with Don Wright to give the visitors an even harder tussle before going down to a 7-5 score.

Stohlberg and Bardsley gave a sparkling display of singles play, Bardsley springing a surprise when he triumphed over the Canadian Davis Cup player for the first time in the Okanagan tour.

All the scoring took place in the first half of the game as the Red Sox piled up a 13-5 lead. Only score from then on came in the ninth when Eshelman laced out a beautiful hit to deep right centre for three bases. He could easily have made a home run, but the ground rules decided upon early in the game because of the cars prevented a full circuit. He scored Berdine ahead of him.

Two doubles by D. Weitzel and another by Jacobs, along with single clouts by Gould and B. Weitzel paved the way for the Red Sox six runs in the first frame, as eleven batters faced the Pentiction squad.

Lower crops are estimated in other apple-producing provinces with the exception of Quebec where an estimated crop of 1,300,000 bushels is 70,000 bushels more than in 1947.

Beer Plebiscite Likely for Kelowna

KELOWNA—Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy will be asked to withhold granting of a liquor licence for the sale of beer to the proprietor of a proposed hotel on the Vernon road, immediately adjacent to the city limits, until the people of Kelowna have had an opportunity to express their opinion as to whether they wish such a licence to be granted in the city. This action was taken by Kelowna's city council when Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games brought the matter to the attention of city fathers. His Worship expressed the view that with the opening of a beer parlor adjacent to the city limits, it would create a traffic hazard, and policing problem.

Meanwhile it was learned from authoritative sources that a liquor plebiscite will probably be held in Kelowna the latter part of October. The last plebiscite was held in 1936. It was understood a meeting of hotel owners was recently held in Kelowna, and they unanimously agreed that plans be made for holding a plebiscite this fall.

Well-informed sources said a large brewing company would be willing to assist financing the construction of another hotel in the city if local residents approved selling beer by the glass.

NEW THEATRE FOR KAMLOOPS

KAMLOOPS—A thousand-seat movie theatre to match anything in the dominion will be constructed by Famous Players Canadian Corporation Ltd. on the south side of the 400-block of Victoria.

Tenders for the construction and equipping of the $250,000 theatre are to be called shortly. It is expected the theatre will be in operation by next spring.

Designed by Iain Morrison, M.R.A.I.C., the new theatre is to be named "The Paramount".

Valley Trap Shots Prepare for Labor Day Competition

Labor Day weekend will see two new traps in operation at Kelowna when the trap club there plays host to crack shots from all parts of the Okanagan.

The newly-formed Okanagan Trap and Skeet Assn., headed by Dr. Lloyd A. Day of Summerland, will have charge of this initial valley-wide shoot on Labor Day, Monday, September 6.

Next year's Labor Day shoot will be held in Summerland.

There will be eight major events, and a number of merchandise prizes in this Labor Day trap shoot. The major events are 25 singles, optional sweep (four events of this kind) with prizes for aggregate of first four events, high gun, A, B and C class and long run; team shoot; junior competition; doubles and miss-and-out.

Entrants will be classified under BCRA rules: Class A, 90 or over; Class B, under 90 to 85; Class C, under 85. All entrants not classified by their club will have to shoot in A class.

Vancouver Firm Ready to Proceed With Renovation Of Elementary School

Bennett & White, Vancouver contracting firm, has agreed to a six months' completion date for the alterations to the Summerland elementary school, and is said to be prepared to sign a contract now being drawn by the architects, McCarty & Nairne, of Vancouver. The Bennett & White firm submitted the lower of the only two tenders for the re-construction job, and quoted $38,494.

Only other tender was submitted by J. M. Dalrymple, of Penticton, with a figure of $93,462.

Last Thursday evening, when the tenders were opened, it was decided that the job must be shovelled through in six months and that the successful tenderer must also be prepared to do the reconstruction work while school is in progress.

With a six months' completion clause, local school trustees are hopeful that the addition of four rooms and the renovation work necessary to modernize the old elementary school will be completed by next Easter.

Close to Estimate
Trustees of School District No. 77 (Summerland) expressed their delight over the bid of Bennett & White as it was closer to the original estimate than any tender on public buildings considered for months in the South Okanagan.

School Inspector J. N. Burnett declared that no tender has been so close to the mark as other part of the school district which he supervises.

It was considered that School District Chairman P. G. Dodwell and Inspector J. N. Burnett should go to the coast to complete details with the construction company, but subsequent telephone conversations with the coast architects and representatives of the building firm precluded any such move.

Local sources state that the Bennett & White firm is prepared to meet the school board's six

Bring Down Lake Level by River Dykes

Following two meetings last week of the Okanagan Lake flood control committee and engineers representing the federal and provincial governments, it has been agreed that immediate steps should be taken to bring down the level of Okanagan lake as rapidly as possible.

At the same time, it was pointed out by the committee members that these remedial measures will be considered only as emergency steps and should not alter the committee's recommendation that the 1946 engineers' report on Okanagan lake flood control should be implemented as rapidly as possible.

Suggestions to implement Okanagan lake discharge this fall and winter include work on Okanagan river, mainly to cut an auxiliary channel across the bend in the river between the KVR bridge and Fairview road bridge; dyke the river banks at critical points between Ellis creek and Skaha lake; removal of an old concrete wall at Okanagan Falls; make a cutoff in the vicinity of the Oliver sawmill.

Increase Flow
An increase in the flow over the Zosel dam at Osoyoos will also be sought, this question being referred to the international joint commission, which made recommendations last year along this line.

A. L. Carruthers, former deputy minister of public works, stated after the recommendations had been announced that the engineers found the problem "exasperating" but those who discussed the problem with him proved "very reasonable and were aware of the fact that some were going to have to take a bit of a blow."

The flood control committee and months date and also realizes that the reconstruction work must be completed while school is in progress, two points which the school board wished to clear up before any bid was accepted.

Date when the contract will be signed has not been released but details are expected to be completed this week and building work should be commenced within a matter of a few days.

The school district board is also making provision for the hiring of a local contractor to supervise the construction work. A sum of $1,000 is being set aside for this purpose.

This will mean that the total cost of the renovation program will be approximately $89,500, half of which is taken up by the department of education grant for building purposes, and the balance raised by money bylaw, already approved by the taxpayers.

Bus Contract
Another subject considered by the school trustees on Thursday night was that of a bus contract with White & Thornthwaite for the new bus purchased by that firm to replace a smaller bus in operation for some time and not adequate to cope with the increasing population in lower Summerland and Trout Creek Point areas.

The department of education objected to the 62 cents per mile contract price which White & Thornthwaite requested, but stated that it would approve for one year with the option of revising the agreement at the end of that term.

Secretary E. A. Tingley informed the school board on Thursday that White & Thornthwaite would agree to a compromise three-year contract, although originally a five-year agreement was sought.

On Friday, Chairman Dodwell and Trustees C. J. Bleasdale and Dr. James Marshall, with Secretary Tingley met White & Thornthwaite and discussed the contract subject fully.

It is stated that, as a result of this conference the department of education has agreed to the three-year contract at the rate of 62 cents per mile, termed by School Inspector J. N. Burnett as "one of the highest in B.C."

Reasons for this rate were explained to the trustees at the closed Friday session and it is understood that the explanation given was satisfactory to the school board.

It was pointed out on Thursday evening that the Smith & Henry contract provides payment at 35 cents per mile while Wally's Taxi is providing transportation for five Meadow Valley students at 30 cents per mile, one way.

Only alternative facing the school board on Thursday evening was for the trustees to purchase a school bus and operate it themselves. This they were prepared to do if the department had not agreed to the White & Thornthwaite deal for three years.

School trustees expressed the thought that it would only be as a last resort that they would purchase a school bus for operation by themselves instead of through a contractor.

Ottawa Turns Down Hailed Apple Grade

There will be no No. 3 Hailed grade allowed this season to take care of districts which suffered hail damage, such as part of Penticton and Naramata sections, A. K. Loyd informed The Review yesterday afternoon.

Such an amendment was sought by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., central sales agency, on behalf of the industry, but the agricultural department has replied that it sees no reason to amend the fruit and vegetable act regulations this season, in view of the size of the B.C. apple crop.

Revised estimates announced last week indicated that the 1948 crop will be slightly more than six million boxes.

Demand is only fair for B.C. Wealthy apples, as some markets have quantities of local apples to dispose of before they tackle the British Columbia fruit.

The peach markets, however, are holding up well and the demand for B.C. peaches remains good, states Mr. Loyd. Only a few Rochesters are left while the three V's are about concluded. Hales and Elbertas are increasing in volume daily and should be peaking early next week in this district.

Volume of supplies of Italian prunes is also on the increase and the demand is good for this fruit, as well.

Strong demand is also reported for Bartlett pears, with most deliveries satisfactory. There were a few cases where claims had to be allowed because of the poor quality of Bartletts, due to the wet weather.

Flemish Beauty pear picking and shipping are commencing in the Okanagan now, while Transcendent crabapples are finished and Hyslops are rolling, meeting a fair demand.

Normal demand is being experienced for tomatoes in markets where there are no local supplies. Cucumbers are extremely scarce, but the end of the cantaloupe season is experiencing a good demand. Onions are enjoying a fair demand.

Last week 759 cars of soft fruit, apples and vegetables left the Okanagan bringing the total shipments up to 2,972, compared with 4,098 the same date a year ago and 3,741 in 1946.

With continued dry weather this week, work of laying hard surfacing on Summerland roads continues. Today, the Garnet Valley stretch is being completed.

Public Opinion Poll on Store Closing Wednesdays Will be Conducted by Local Merchants

A public opinion poll among shoppers in the West Summerland area will be undertaken this month by the Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn. to endeavor to ascertain if the buying public wishes to retain the present system of all-day Wednesday closing or if they wish to return to the half-day closing which was adopted for many years as the common basis for all Okanagan communities.

Such was the decision of the retailers who met on Thursday evening last for the first general meeting since the summer recess.

Ballot boxes will be placed in member stores throughout the district to receive the ballots of shoppers. If those who patronize the Summerland stores are desirous of returning to the half-day closing, then the retailers are willing to make the change, the Thursday meeting decided.

Correspondence was also read on the subject of the post office in West Summerland, Mr. O. L. Jones, MP for Yale quoting the Postmaster General as stating that the public works department is investigating the situation in West Summerland and if it is ascertained that the present quarters

Agriculture is Topic Of CCF Committee

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. (Tiny) Ganzefeld, Station road, West Summerland on Friday evening, Sept. 8, a meeting of the South Okanagan CCF agricultural committee was held. Discussion centered around agricultural methods in general as they applied to the Okanagan fruit and vegetable industry.

Among the visitors taking part in the discussion were O. L. Jones, MP for Yale; Bruce Woodsworth, CCF candidate in the forthcoming by-election in South Okanagan; and Tom Wilkinson, chairman of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board.

Cannot Operate Chlorination Plant

Because an essential part of the equipment was not delivered Summerland's new chlorination plant has not been put in operation. An engineer from the suppliers' Seattle office came to Summerland to supervise the installation but when the missing part did not appear he returned to the coast. He will be coming to Kamloops later in the month and will return here at that time if the missing part arrives by that time, Gordon Smith, acting clerk, states.

Hold Funeral on Saturday for Late Raymond Campbell

Funeral services for the late Raymond Campbell, who passed away in Summerland hospital on Wednesday, Sept. 8, will be held this Saturday, September 11, at 3 o'clock, from the Penticton Funeral Chapel in Penticton, Mr. Albert Morning of Vancouver officiating.

Born in Halliburton County, Ont., the late Mr. Campbell was 51 years of age at his death after several months of illness. He had resided for many years on farms in Alberta and Saskatchewan before coming to Penticton about five years ago. For the past six months he resided in Summerland.

A veteran of World War 1, the late Mr. Campbell served with the 21st Reserve, Alberta Regiment.

Besides his wife, he leaves three sons, Archie, Donald and Dale, all residing in Summerland; his father, Robert James Campbell, Penticton; six sisters, Mrs. J. C. Ward, Kinistino, Sask.; Mrs. Tom Watson and Mrs. Mary Bedford, New Westminster; Mrs. Carl Gustafson and Mrs. W. Billie, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Earl Hickson, Penticton; and three brothers, Fleming Campbell at Vancouver and Erwin and Harry Campbell, Penticton.

Pallbearers will consist of Mr. C. H. Smith, Summerland and Messrs. Cliff Wilkins, Alf Kent, Pryce Owen, Bob Sutton and Ivan Moncrief, all of Penticton.

Buys Interest In Locker Plant

Newcomers to the Summerland district are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sladen and two children, who arrived last week from Salmon Arm to make their new home in the suite recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Len Hill.

Mr. Sladen has sold out his retail meat business in Salmon Arm and has purchased an interest in the West Summerland Frozen Food Lockers and Retail Meat Market. He will now be associated with Mr. Harry Braddick, who opened this well-known business a year ago.

School Rooms Bulge as Nearly 700 Pupils Enroll To Mark Up New Record

Nearly seven hundred pupils trudged back to Summerland schools, on Tuesday, Sept. 7, opening day, to set a new record for attendance. The elementary school has an enrollment now of 542 while the high school has 147, both figures being in excess of any previous year's attendance. The total for the two schools is thus 687.

At the start of the fall term in 1947, the elementary school had 500 pupils and throughout the year this number increased to 510. The high school reports that it has increased its total by twenty pupils over opening day in 1947.

Eight new teachers have been added to the staff four each in the elementary and high schools.

Only last week was the final vacancy in the high school staff filled when Miss Catherine Y. Mathews, from Red Lake, Ont., agreed to accept the responsibility of instructing girls' physical education studies and English in the local school. Miss Mathews is arriving in Summerland this week from her Ontario home.

Local Girl on Staff

Miss Marion E. Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Campbell, Summerland, is the new instructress in home economics while L. J. Fisher of Vancouver and W. H. Durick of Saskatoon, are the other two new staff members of the high school. Mr. Durick will have charge of the boys' physical education training in the high school.

New arrivals on the elementary school staff include Mr. W. J. Schwab, who received his schooling in New Westminster and who has taught in Kelowna schools. He is specially interested in sports and has considerable experience in Pro-Rec work.

Mr. T. Moore had five years in the Canadian Army and at one time lived in Meadow Valley, where his mother taught school. He has lately been calling Lumby his home.

Miss E. Montgomery is on exchange from Vancouver, having obtained a year's leave of absence, while Miss M. E. Pringle taught in Revelstoke last year and at Osoyoos the previous year.

37 New Pupils

Three receiving room teachers somehow maintained their smiling composure Tuesday morning while going through the hectic business of registering, sorting and instructing 37 small newcomers to Summerland elementary school.

Accompanied by an estimated 87 proud and anxious parents and probably 40 smaller brothers and sisters came to watch the launching, the classroom assigned to be

Donkeys Prove As Stubborn As Necessary

One thousand persons crammed into the Living Memorial athletic park on Tuesday night to witness the exhibition of donkey baseball which brought roars of laughter throughout the hour and a half show.

These donkeys, brought to Summerland by Capt. Jack Bartlett through arrangement with the Summerland Baseball Club, are well-trained animals who go through a definite routine, either in reply to voiced commands over a public address system, or just through natural practices.

At any event, the Summerland Merchants and Summerland Red Sox found that they were too much for them to cope with and it was a win for the donkeys nearly every time.

After an opening routine which showed how stubborn a donkey can be, teams were picked for a short imitation polo game and then the teams swung into an exhibition baseball game, wherein the rules provided close proximity to the animals if any progress was to be made at all and if any.

Wally Day and Frank Kuroda were mortally embarrassed when two young donkeys suddenly appeared on the field and demanded a meal from their mothers. They got the meal and the crowd roared at the apparent embarrassment of the two players astride the female donkeys.

Such well-known names as Mao West, Gracie Allen, Jack Dempsey, Jack Bonnie and others of cinema and sports fame had been given the animals, who have performed before the screen as well as along with most of major league baseball stars of the past few years.

After the main part of the show was concluded, every child in the stands was given an opportunity to ride a donkey, provided the parent or parents went along for protection purposes. The youngsters had a grand time and the donkeys didn't appear to mind at all, it was all in the day's work.

Nominees For Coalition Not Available Yet

Names of likely nominees who will be voted upon by the combined Liberal-Progressive Conservative convention in Kelowna next Wednesday, September 15 for the post of Coalition candidate in South Okanagan by-election are not ready for publication, W. G. Gillard, Summerland, president of the South Okanagan Progressive-Conservative Assn. announced to The Review this morning.

Mr. Gillard is hopeful that a slate of prospective nominees for the convention will be forthcoming within a matter of hours but he was not ready to make any announcement up to press time today.

The Coalition candidate will be chosen by an equal number of delegates representing both parties in every polling division in the South Okanagan provincial riding.

Date of the by-election has not been announced from Victoria although mid-November is expected to be the likely time.

The CCF party has already announced that Bruce Woodsworth, Westbank school principal and son of the late J. S. Woodsworth, one of the founders of the party in Canada, will contest South Okanagan constituency.

The by-election was made necessary by the resignation of Coalition member W. A. C. Bennett, of Kelowna, who contested the Yale federal by-election on behalf of the Progressive Conservative party.

As Mr. Bennett was chosen from P-C ranks, it has been agreed that the new Coalition candidate will also have Progressive Conservative leanings, or will be one of a slate set up by a nominating committee the South Okanagan Progressive Assn., and consisting of President W. G. Gillard, H. A. Truswell and C. G. Beaton, Kelowna, and A. K. Elliott, Summerland.

Father and Two Sons Participate In Church Service

When Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Whitmore returned on Thursday, September 2, from their holiday in Ottawa, they brought back with them happy memories of a touching and unique service in honor of his father and mother, Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Whitmore.

The senior Whitmores celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on August 9. On the preceding Sunday, August 8, at MacKay United church morning service, Mr. Whitmore senior had the pleasure of sharing the service with his two minister sons and two other members of his family, Rev. H. E. Whitmore read the Scripture lesson following the opening of the service, and vocal duet was sung by Mrs. J. H. Whitmore of Ottawa and Mrs. H. R. Whitmore of Summerland. Rev. C. H. Whitmore of Home Street United church, Winnipeg, conducted the thanksgiving and intercessions.

In a tribute to the veteran minister Rev. A. M. J. Gray of St. Paul's church, Ottawa termed Mr. Whitmore "a great servant of the church," and went on to say: "It is indeed a unique occasion that brings these three ministers of one family together. They have a combined total of 81 years service in the ministry."

First of the concrete bases for the new street light standards is being constructed at the corner of Granville and Kelley streets today by the electric light department.

Post Office Alterations

IT IS WITH a feeling of relief that residents of this district learned last week from The Review columns that an enlargement of the West Summerland post office and possibly a new building in lower town are being considered, the former likely to be realized before the Christmas rush this year.

There is, however, a certain amount of regret that a proper public building is not being considered by the postal and public works departments. The latter department has the leasing of all public buildings and the postal people rent from them.

Summerland has no government buildings of any kind. There is no provincial government office to provide the needs of this growing community. The post offices are old, wooden buildings which cannot be considered assets to the business districts they serve.

However, the government at Ottawa, in its wisdom, has decided that where buildings can be altered and the rental fees continued, then there will be no expenditure of public money for new buildings while building materials and wages are at such a high level and employment is continuing at a high peak.

The Summerland Board of Trade and the Retail Merchants' Assn. have been instrumental in obtaining action from the postal department towards improvement of service here. O. L. Jones, M.P. for Yale, has also been active in this regard, as he believes that sufficient public opinion should be aroused "to the end that Summerland would get a public building worthy of your town."

It is a pity that the federal government will not take the necessary action towards providing a proper public building for Summerland, but the planned improvements will be a big help. Sometimes it is better to accept a part loaf than not have any bread at all.

In West Summerland alone, there are about 150 persons on general delivery, waiting for mail boxes of their own. Some persons have had their names on the list for mail boxes for two to three years and only with the enlarged premises will they be able to obtain a private mail box of their own.

This is a service which has been denied for too long. The postal authorities should not have waited until pressure was brought to bear before planning alterations which should have been obvious for a long time.

Slow Down for Schools

CHILDREN have now flocked back to school after the two months' holiday which is only too short while you are enjoying it. And with the concentration of nearly seven hundred young people in one section of the district, there is a grave need for every precaution being taken by motorists.

Car and truck drivers approaching the school zone from the four points of the compass should slow down to fifteen miles an hour and be on the alert at all times.

Children, especially when they are playing, are careless about traffic hazards. An excited youngster will dart out into the street to avoid a companion who is probably playing tag. The child can easily run right into the path of an approaching vehicle without realizing the danger.

When such occurrences happen, the onus is on the driver if within the school zone. The person behind the wheel must be prepared to stop "on a dime" if necessary.

It is not too much to ask of any driver. The loss in time is negligible. It would probably mean an extra minute to get to your destination, by slowing down to fifteen miles per hour in the school zone. And what is a minute compared to the life of a child?

And while we are on the subject of traffic hazards, let us repeat that one of the worst hazards in the community is the bicycle rider who insists on pedalling home in the dark without a light of any description.

Not only does the bike rider endanger his own life but he is a menace to those who must walk on streets not provided with sidewalks.

There are definite laws pertaining to bicycles and their operation after sundown. Too many bicycle riders in Summerland are disregarding these laws entirely. For their own protection, they should be checked more closely.

One more word of warning—If you must walk on the roadway, walk on the left hand side of the road and face the oncoming traffic.

School Supplies and Sales Tax

(Powell River News)

OF ALL the complaints against the new provincial sales tax, one of the most legitimate to come to light is that against its application to school supplies.

While The News strongly supports the purpose for which the sales tax was instituted, it recorded many times its objection to a regressive tax which takes little account of a man's ability to pay. In no better way is this exemplified than in the 3% application to school supplies.

The breadwinner hardest-hit by this application of the sales tax is the man least able to pay it—a worker whose family consists of two, three or more school-age children.

Education is a necessity of incontestable virtue, food for the brain, tools for the future, just as are the tax-exempt bread and butter of the family table. The government recognizes this in its laws compelling school attendance. Why, then, make that attendance all the more difficult, and in these days especially?

True, there can be much questioning of "necessity" and "ordinary" purchases for sales tax purposes.

But there is little argument that can be applied against the necessity of school supplies. Efforts to date to have the tax lifted have not been successful, but objectors can well pursue their desire to have it lifted in the knowledge that a start must be made somewhere, no matter how small or how slow.

Groups and individuals should let their provincial member know, either through their local newspaper or by direct communication, of their considered opinion, and perhaps in the final wave of an avalanche of protests some reasonable adjustment can be made.

Silence will serve no purpose.

By AGROLOGIST

I have learned why professional tea tasters spit out the samples after they have tasted them! The tomato is my favorite fruit. However, after sampling 45 varieties I don't care whether I see another tomato—at least not until next Sunday at the earliest.

This all came about because Billy May persuaded me to act as official taster of the 45 varieties included in the vegetable trial grounds at the experimental station this summer. Billy and Pete Pearson were very busy making detailed field records of the behavior of these varieties. The records included measurements of representative samples of fruit from each variety, notes on shape and symmetry and prevalence of defects such as cracking, green shoulders and large blossom-end scars. They were also recording the firmness of the fruit, the thickness of the cell walls and the color of the flesh.

However, tomatoes are grown to eat. Accordingly, one of the most important characteristics of the fruit is its flavor. This is where I came into the picture. I began by sampling several fruits of each variety and with the first dozen or so actually swallowed the flesh. After that I became somewhat satiated with tomato and spit out the flesh—to the accompaniment of merry chuckles and sly digs from Billy May.

We spent most of the afternoon in the tomato patch and finally came to the conclusion that none of the new varieties on test for the first time this year offer as great commercial possibilities as Clark's Early, Stokesdale No. 4, Sloux, Sugawara, and Signet.

Signet has the most pleasing flavor of any variety I tasted. This variety begins to ripen early in the season and continues to bear heavily until frost. This is an advantage for the home gardener, which explains why Signet is becoming popular as a home garden tomato. On the other hand, the fruits are comparatively small which explains why Signet is not favored for commercial shipment or canning.

Clark's Early is the variety grown most extensively in the Okanagan for cannery use. The flesh is not as dark in color as could be desired but the variety is a very heavy yielder and the fruits are large, smooth and firm.

Sugawara, Stokesdale No. 4 and Sloux also show promise for canning. Sloux is very resistant to cracking but unfortunately the fruits tend to rot readily when resting on damp soil.

Among new introductions, Wisconsin No. 55 and three varieties from New York named Red Jacket, Longred and Gem are worthy of trial in grower plantations. These varieties are all vigorous, heavy producers. Just how they will behave when canned has yet to be determined.

THE EGG AND WE

Ready for School?

Reprinted from the Health Bulletin, official publication of the B.C. Department of Health and Welfare, Victoria.

When six-year-old Johnny walked doubtfully off to school this week you probably saw that he started off the right way by being well on time his first day, and supplied with a new pair of shoes and all the pencils, erasers, and exercise books he needed.

But will he then be ready to settle down to school along with his fellows when his teacher bids him—the same way he begins to run a race when an adult says, "ready, set, go"?

From the time he first expressed his personality you discovered that because he should do something it does not necessarily mean he will, especially if he is unable to do so or simply does not feel like it. He may, in particular, strenuously object to stepping from the centre of the stage in his secure home world to the midst of the continuous schoolroom battle, good-natured though it may be.

In what is for most the beginning of a competitive give and take life, many of the children entering B.C. schools for the first time this September are in danger of being judged incompetent or being left behind on the playground or in the schoolroom by teachers and small fellow-jurors. This will happen because their bodies are not in good working order or their minds have not yet learned co-operation.

In the most recent B.C. Medical Inspection of Schools Report, it is only too clearly indicated that too many of our children enter the little red school house hampered with defects which could slow down their progress seriously. The most common of these are decayed teeth, diseased tonsils, and defective sight and hearing. A few are found to suffer from an unsatisfactory home environment, and consequently poor mental health.

These children are almost defeated before they begin. At school is a thrilling change, it may prove too tremendous for some small people already working under these hardships, who are suddenly asked overnight to play and work according to a schedule, and discipline their bodies and minds to act and think in terms of "we" instead of "I". It will be a dangerous change for weak systems suddenly subjected to the germs which go to school too.

In most parts of the province local health services have already examined school beginners and older students for defects during the summer, and have inoculated them against smallpox, diphtheria, and sometimes whooping cough, all of which, if given a chance, could flourish in a crowded classroom. But in areas where this is not possible, parents are giving their children a good start by seeing that they are physically up to par before sending them off to what will be their second home for the next 12 years.

After all, it is in this period that their bodies and minds will develop most and their basic mental attitudes to life will be largely formed. This good start is important, and one psychologist has claimed that it is a wiser investment to treat a child's diseased tonsils before his school days begin than to buy him a new set of school clothes.

Eyes, ears, nose, throat, teeth, height and weight, should all be checked before or at least as soon as children first start to school, and this is also the time when reinforcing injections protecting against diphtheria, smallpox and whooping cough should be given.

If Johnny needs new glasses he will take a while to get used to them, and dental corrections can't usually be done in a day.

Well worthwhile is a more thorough examination for checking for diseased tonsils or adenoids, sinusitis, susceptibility to infections, condition of heart, lungs and skin, special dietary needs, necessary hours of sleep, speech defect, and root causes of nervous habits, such as nail-biting and thumb-sucking. Grandfather might have described all this as "coddling." Teachers, doctors, and far-seeing parents today call it a wise investment and good health insurance.

Actually many educators are inclined to believe that it isn't only the physical presence of defects which causes the injuries which might be permanent—instead we must consider injuries to the spirit of the handicapped child who isn't at all sure of himself in a perplexing new world but would like to be, struggling through his first year of school.

And what about schedules? Sometimes children who are apparently bursting with energy, can be at the same time over-worked and under-nourished. The child who still counts on mid-day naps to preserve his energy will have to alter his routine gradually to get enough sleep at night—12 hours is the average for each six-year-old.

The pre-school youngster who turns up his nose at food in regular mealtimes but is quite ready to eat in irregular hours, will also have to be put gradually onto a timetable. Nutritionally adequate breakfasts, timed incidentally go the child will not be late for school, are especially important. Also, a child who eats a lot of food may be eating incorrect food and getting no benefit from his healthy appetite. A survey of the food he needs is important, as school and play both fall into the category of hard work.

Because children have no union protecting them against long hours, many are literally in danger of being overworked if they have a too full schedule of after-school dancing, singing, elocution, or music lessons mapped out for them. It's better for Johnny to practice human relations after school with the neighborhood children at the price of practicing his violin lessons, if he has to work hard at getting along with others.

The educator and mental hygienist both agree that if your child can't or doesn't want to play with his fellows, there's some reason for it.

How about toilet and general health training? Your child will be out of step with his playmates and a potential disease spreader if he hasn't learned to protect others from his coughs and sneezes and keep himself clean. He'll be a nuisance if he can't manage his own shoelaces and buttons or go to the bathroom by himself.

What about mental health? It is the parents who are most responsible for sending their children off to school with good mental health, and it has been effectively stated and demonstrated by an eminent Canadian psychologist

The unexpected number of children attending the municipal station area has revived the question of remuneration for conveyance and the school board is planning to seek consideration from the federal government.

As she had missed three meetings in succession, Mrs. F. W. Andrew was informed that she is automatically disqualified as a school trustee, at the board meeting this week.

Magistrates G. F. Guernsey and R. H. English dismissed the perjury charges, brought by T. J. McAlpine, government road superintendent, against Reeve Blair and former water superintendent J. J. Mitchell. W. H. Ladner, defence counsel, was successful in demanding court records be introduced to substantiate Mr. McAlpine's testimony, and the latter was not prepared to go to any further expense.

The Parkdale Baptist church was crowded last Sunday evening for a memorial service honoring the late George Crawford Dale, killed in action on August 11.

Always keep a bar of good face soap around the house—the richly scented kind—and when the children have been bad, or hubby has been difficult, or house has been dusty, jump into a good hot bath with that cake of soap clutched in your hand, and just watch your troubles and woes disappear in that lovely fragrance. I like 'em all, but I like lavender best.

We sure to have plenty of hankies in your hubby's top drawer, and you'll have a reasonably happy man on your hands. They like to have a goodly supply of fresh, un-holey socks around, too. Doesn't take so darned much to please 'em, you know.

Even if you have to go out and gather some mustard plant, do have flowers around the house all the time when they may be had for free. Salad leaves, for instance, add greenery to a corner, and when the maple leaves get into full turn, you know what they do.

Whatever else you may do, do NOT apologize for the condition in which your house is when unexpected visitors arrive. If they are real friends they won't care if you do have a sink full of dirty dishes, so long as you were happy weeding the garden instead, and if they're not real friends, you don't care what they think anyhow. Or do you?

When you make a pie, and there's any pastry left over, invite the small fry to fiddle around and concoct. Not only will they make splendid raisin roustabouts, apple thingmabobs, and blackberry doofinanes to their hearts content, but they'll also eat the things. Or the dog will!

If you're slim enough to sport a peplum, make a red one (or maybe green) to wrap around your waist over that not-so-new black dress. You'll be surprised what it will do—to the dress AND to you.

How about getting hold of some lamb's wool and whipping yourself up a pair of warm slippers for cold weather mornings? Easy to make, hard wearing, and inexpensive when you go about it that way.

When your man discards a gay tie, wash it, press it, and use it around your slacks, or a skirt, for a tie. Natty, that's what.

and educator, Dr. S. R. Laycock, that "every child brings his home to school with him." It has also been recognized that it is certainly in the home where the greatest amount of emotional crippling takes place. The over-protected child is likely to be called a "sissy" on the playground, the neglected child, a "bully" and the child of demanding parents, a "wallflower."

The humane and accepted view is that these are "not problem children but instead children with problems," and many mental hygienists go further to point out

Development of West Side V.L.A. Property Captures Fancy of Reporter

KELOWNA—As the development of the westside veterans' land act project has created considerable interest in this area, a Courier reporter, guided by Ralph Brown, VLA supervisor of the Okanagan, toured the proposed site for homes of more than a hundred families, at the foot of Mount Boucherie.

He returned to Kelowna quite stunned that this fine property had lain dormant all these years, and quite convinced that it offers just about the finest home site for full time farms and small holdings in this area.

When work commences on the property and the veterans begin to realize just what its possibilities are, there will be such a rush of applications for holdings that the department's greatest headache will not be the development, but the allocation of the lots.

To try and describe the location, the technical description had better be forgotten and layman's language had better be used.

First, remember the paved stretch of the old road between McDougall Creek and the former site of the Mount Boucherie school. The school was moved into Westbank a year ago, but it was a landmark between the ferry and Westbank. This stretch of road remains part of the highway and, in fact, is now just about the only piece of paving from the top of the ferry landing hill to Westbank. It is immediately east of McDougall Creek.

South from the highway at this point to the foot of Mount Boucherie, the property is included in the VLA project. This includes the site of the old Stevens' homestead and former provincial government property immediately west of that point.

To the north across the highway, the property is not included. The VLA could not make satisfactory arrangements with the present owners.

New Highway

A few yards east of the paved stretch on the new highway, there is a road turning south-east over the hump or shoulder of Mount Boucherie towards the lake. At this point the new highway cuts off a corner of the old road. All the property on the east side of the old highway is included in the project.

Following the dirt road through the jackpines over the hump, one finds VLA property on either side, and down the southern slope until one comes to the Kelly property planted in young orchards and tomatoes along the lake front. The

Youngsters Stage Their Own Carnival

Three youngsters, Don and Marybeth Burton of Vancouver and John Cuthbert, impressed by the success of the recent Legion Carnival, and feeling the urge to do good work, put their heads together and invited their friends and neighbors to their own home-made carnival on Friday evening, August 29.

The youngsters spent $15 on bingo and other prizes and on the necessary gastronomic accompaniment. They had a raffle, with a box of chocolates as prize. They crowned Vicki Cuthbert as queen, and generally did all the proper things to make a proper carnival.

Altogether they entertained some 20 guests, and cleared $15 for their fund. When the question arose as to the destination of the spoils, they finally decided to contribute it to the Arthritic Society fund. The fact that this Society has not as yet established itself in Summerland didn't phase them in the least. They simply asked Dr. F. W. Andrew to deposit it in trust for the first little nest egg toward an arthritic fund, and went on their way with the good feeling of having done their good deed. Dr. Andrew hopes their contribution will be the foundation stone for a real live fund in this worthy cause.

VLA property runs under Mount Boucherie for a considerable distance on what would now be the west side of the dirt road, with the Kelly lake-fronting property between it and the lake.

This particular bit of lake front property is now owned by L. J. Kelly of Rowcliffe cannery.

Retracing our steps along the dirt road and climbing almost to the top of the hump, one finds a track leading through the jackpines to the south. Winding along this track, still through VLA property, one shortly comes to a fine parkland area running from the northern Kelly boundaries along the lake front to the Zdralek property just south of Siwash point and along the ridge behind the Zdralek property right to the southern boundary of the Indian reserve which runs from that point to the ferry landing.

Private Property
The northern section, comprising approximately 360 acres, was purchased from private owners to round out the project.

The whole project contains some 1,100 to 1,200 acres.

While there is about one mile lake shore property in the project, the provincial government has reserved one section as a park and for some unexplained reason given it the rather foolish name of "Casaloma Park."

The elimination of this lake frontage from the project has left a comparatively small stretch of actual lake frontage in the project. As a matter of fact it stretches across three lots as presently subdivided. This poses a bit of a that a child's biggest problem is usually his parents.

Every child needs to feel he is loved and an accepted member of a secure group. He wants to gain independence and feel that he has a true worth in the world because he can do some things well. At the same time, he may not be ready, nor perhaps never will be, to meet the demands of overambitious parents.

Perhaps it is unfortunate that mental health, like satisfactory bodily growth, can't be plotted on a graph, because if parents don't meet or understand these needs, Johnny and too many other children like him will either give in meekly to life or display forms of what adults refer to as "undesirable behavior" in order to get the recognition they crave—and who can blame them?

It is in the schoolroom when a child is separated from the home which shapes him and placed in a group of other developing individuals that his particular problems become apparent.

"He will grow out of it" is an inaccurate phrase. As he grows older a child doesn't grow out of mental problems, manifest in such small forms of behavior as nail-biting—the way he grows out of his old winter overcoat. It is as illogical to expect him to "get over" diseased tonsils or decayed teeth.

The cure lies in the scope of adults playing a guiding role in the child's life, and this is the understanding of his needs, and, as far as possible, the satisfying of them. It is well worthwhile to seek the advice of competent physicians or psychologists if a child's happiness is at stake.

Give Johnny a chance by seeing that he starts his school life, which is a smaller edition of his post-school world, with a healthy body, a healthy mind, and healthy habits. Perhaps he will never have a chance to begin leading a full-valued life otherwise.

the engineers have agreed that it is best for the Okanagan problem to tackle it now than to gamble on next year's spring flow.

Okanagan lake level rose to 104.82 this year at its highest point and has now only dropped a foot in more than two months. The agreed maximum is 102.50 and at the present rate of runoff there is little likelihood that the maximum would be reached this winter. Certainly, grave fears have been expressed that the minimum would not be reached in time to cope with spring floods in 1949.

Cellars are still being pumped out in dozens of Kelowna district homes, and many fear that the lake level will not be down sufficiently by November to allow them to operate their furnaces.

First Meeting

Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games of Kelowna presided at the first meeting of the flood control committee last week in Penticton.

Mr. Carruthers admitted that his visit to Kelowna had been an eye-opener and that he was impressed with the present seriousness of the situation which, he said, was "much worse than I had thought."

No permanent work is planned this year.

Mr. Faulkner, the federal public works engineer in charge of the Okanagan lake and river, reviewed the conditions which resulted in the present situation. The lake, he said, last April had been down to a figure slightly below the minimum of 99.5. At that time this was considered ample to handle the run-off which was apparent at that time.

However, there had been a great deal of late snow in the hills and considerable rain and the wet spring had increased the run-off far beyond all expectations. The lake had reached 104.9 on June 28, which was 2.4 feet above the agreed maximum.

The lake last week was only down to 103.9. In other words it has gone down only one foot in two months. During the heavy run-off of the southern creeks into the river, it was possible only to allow 500 c.f.s. into the river. However, most of the summer the lake discharge had been kept at 1340 c.f.s. which was 50 per cent more than the river should carry.

Summer Not Normal

This discharge, plus the evaporation, should have reduced the lake level to about 102.5 during the two months. Normally in July and August the evaporation takes care of the inflow plus about two-tenths of a foot in the actual lake level.

Thus, if the summer had been normal, the lake level in the past two months would have gone down about 2 1/4 feet. However, the summer was not normal. In August, for instance, the rainfall was five times the normal amount. The result has been that at least half of the 1340 c.f.s. feet discharge only counter-acted the creek inflow and the remaining half of the discharge could only pull the lake down six inches a month.

Speaking of the coming months and the situation developing next year, Mr. Faulkner was quite frank in saying that unless the weather conditions are much better than normal, the six-inches-per-month reduction in lake level would continue during the winter and in the seven month interval until April, the lake would be brought down to 100.5.

As the lake is now at 104, it would take three months to reduce it to 102.5 when Kelowna

Local Man Weds Kelowna Girl at Banff Ceremony

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Banff on Saturday, August 21, when Rev. Mr. Munro united in marriage Mr. Walter E. Schimpf of Summerland and Miss Esther Smith of Kelowna.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Smith of Kelowna, was attended by Miss Laura Raush, while Mr. Schimpf was supported by the bride's brother, Mr. Verne Smith.

Following a brief honeymoon, the young couple have taken up residence in Summerland. Mr. Schimpf is proprietor of Wally's Taxi here.

CLERK AT COAST

Mr. F. J. Nixon, municipal clerk, is receiving medical treatment at Vancouver. He is reported to be responding to the treatment received there and hopes to be back in Summerland shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Macleod and daughter Anne, have returned to Summerland after spending the summer at the coast.

The young people of the Baptist church entertained those of the Trout Creek community church on Labor day, when sports were the feature of the day. The two groups competed in a softball game, which the Baptists won.

would be fairly well out of difficulties. This would be at the end of November.

But under these conditions, the situation looks grim for the coming year. The hills are very wet; the irrigation dams are full; the ground cannot be expected to absorb much of the winter moisture. In other words, all the rain and snow which falls between now and April must come down into the lake.

Trouble Next Year

Under such conditions in a normal year, the lake should actually be lower than the agreed 99.5 minimum. But the best Mr. Faulkner could see under present conditions is that the lake will be at 100.5, giving 85,000 acre feet less storage space than it should.

This points to only one thing next year: TROUBLE.

The best "break" that the area could have, Mr. Faulkner said, would be a cold, dry winter. This would reduce the normal precipitation and at the same time allow the river to get the lake well down while the water in the hills is held back by frost.

Kelowna, he said, is gradually improving. He could see no hope of bettering the situation in Penticton and Oliver before next spring. Conditions, rather, will worsen in these areas.

Quiet Nuptials At Penticton Bethel Church

Bethel Tabernacle, Penticton was the scene of a quiet, formal wedding on Sunday afternoon, September 5, when Rev. W. J. Friesen united in marriage Mr. Archie Waddel Campbell of West Summerland, and Miss Eileen Delia Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott, of Canian Lake, B.C.

A profusion of gladioli decorated the church when the bride, on the arm of her father, followed by her four attendants, walked down the aisle to exchange vows with the son of Mrs. Raymond Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell of West Summerland. Mr. Donald Campbell was groomsmen for his brother.

The shower bouquet of deep red American Beauty roses and carnations carried by the bride contrasted effectively with her lovely white satin gown. Net yoked and sequin trimmed, the gown featured a train, and was softly misted about with a floor-length veil caught to her coiffure with a dainty headdress. By way of ornament she wore a brooch which had been worn by her great grandmother on her wedding day.

Miss Margaret Bereoff, as maid of honor, wore yellow net with a short matching veil, and carried mauve gladioli, while Miss Rosie Bereoff's sheaf of yellow gladioli completed the color picture with her ice blue gown and short veil. Flower girl Rene Owen and small page-boy Donald Campbell both wore white, the former in a Kate Greenaway frock with a matching wreath of white flowers around her head, the latter in a white suit.

Ushers were Mr. Melvin Campbell of Penticton and Mr. Lorne Shaw of Bralorne. Mrs. Herbert Moore sang during the signing of the register.

For her son's reception, held at the Huth Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Campbell, Mrs. Raymond Campbell chose a white frock, with which she wore pink accessories. She was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. E. Campbell.

A three-tiered wedding cake centered the lace-covered, flower-decorated bride's table, the highlight of the flower bedecked rooms, where some forty guests gathered to watch the bride cut her wedding cake. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Mullyab, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mortimer, Mrs. M. C. Scott, all of Vernon; Miss Christie Flett of Creston, Mr. Lorne Shaw of Bralorne, and Misses Rosie and Margaret Bereoff of Kelowna.

Following the reception, when Misses Phyllis and Doreen Hickson entertained with song, the bride changed into her going away costume of pink and white, with which she wore a corsage of white roses.

In place of, the traditional throwing of the bride's bouquet, Mrs. Campbell had her lovely flowers sent to her father-in-law, who was ill in the local hospital and subsequently passed away on September 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are making their home in West Summerland.

Huge Group to Converge on Ottawa for Convention of Progressive-Conservative Party

Some 2,000 Progressive-Conservatives from all parts of Canada, plus thousands of guests, 300 newsmen, photographers and radiomen, will cram Ottawa's Lansdowne Park Coliseum for three days starting September 30, for the national convention of the Progressive-Conservative party.

The convention will choose a leader to succeed Hon. John Bracken, whose health makes it necessary for him to resign, and will re-shape the Progressive-Conservative platform.

Such a convention does not merely happen. Much work has to go into preparation for it, and into organizing its detail. Progressive-Conservatives are doing this in little more than two months.

On July 17, the Hon. John Bracken wrote a letter to J. M. Macdonnell, K.C., M.P., president of the Progressive-Conservative association, stating that he felt his health was not good enough to continue as leader of the Progressive-Conservative party; particularly not good enough to give it the extra vigorous leadership which he deemed necessary in this pre-election period.

He proposed that a national convention should be called to receive his resignation; to reconsider the Progressive-Conservative platform. That letter was made public two days later.

Preparations immediately went into swing for the convention. Mr. Macdonnell, as president of the party association summoned the executive for a meeting in Ottawa for a week from that date, and some 30 members were able to attend, despite the short notice. They hailed from all parts of Canada—from Nova Scotia to British Columbia.

While they were on the way, R. A. Bell, national director of the party, prepared an elaborate agenda, setting forth proposals for representation to be accorded the different classes of delegates; for a program for the convention; for rules and regulations to govern the procedure at the convention; for rules to determine the choice and seating of delegates; and for the organization of sub-committees of the convention and the organization of pre-convention committees.

This mass of material was ready and assembled by the time the national executive met, picked Ottawa for the convention city over Winnipeg and Montreal, approved the proposed rules and regulations, with only minor alterations, and named the following executive committee to carry on the organization of the convention: J. M. Macdonnell, K.C., M.P., Toronto, chairman; R. A. Bell, national director; Ottawa; A. C. Casselman, K.C., M.P., Prescott; Dr. W. G. Blair, M.P., Perth, and Leon Methot, K.C., Three Rivers. This convention executive committee met in Ottawa on Monday, August 23, to receive reports from the various sub-committees, and to finalize plans for the convention.

IRISH "FAMINE"

West Summerland, B.C., Sept. 2, 1948.

Editor, The Review:

Referring to the Provincial Government's ad on Potato Blight in which it draws attention to the famine in Eire of 1845, it is interesting to note that according to a British Parliamentary return issued for the famine years Ireland paid £13,293,681 to the British Exchequer, exported to England 500,000 head of cattle, 1,000,000 sheep, 500,000 pigs, 1,000,000 quarters of wheat flour, 3,500,000 quarters of oats and meal, while hundreds of thousands perished by the roadside. This does not look like famine to me.

Yours truly, W. W. Hemingway.

Here in a flaming nutshell is what caused that pillar of fire and cloud over the downtown district of Montreal recently. This photo, taken from the top of the Queen's Hotel, looks south from the windward side of the $1,000,000 blaze, which fire department officials have called one of the worst in the city's history. Centre foreground are two C.N.R. employes removing freight towards the covered platforms along St. James street which were not touched by the flames. Historic Bonaventure Station, just off the picture to the left, was also unscathed.

to be head of the transportation committee; Frederick G. Gardiner, K.C., of Toronto, and R. L. Stanfield of Halifax, are chairman and secretary, respectively, of the resolutions committee; M. Grattan O'Leary, of Ottawa, is chairman of the Ottawa local committee, and Don, H. Morrow, M.P., is secretary.

Convention arrangements have now gone into high gear. As soon as the date and place had been settled, Ottawa hotels were advised to hold their room reservations available for the large number of delegates who would be attending. There will actually be 1,313 delegates and 765 alternates entitled to attend the convention, and provision had to be made to house all of these, as well as the large number of editors, reporters, photographers, radio men and newsreel camera crews who would be coming.

Mrs. A. W. Merriam, of Ottawa, was appointed chairman of the housing committee to care for the sheltering of all these. In the meantime, other preparations had to be made to urge federal riding associations to choose their delegates and alternates at once—three of each being allowed each single seat federal constituency. At the same time, provincial Progressive-Conservative associations had to be asked to appoint the delegates-at-large which they were entitled to send to the convention, at the rate of one delegate for each federal seat in the province, and some 237 ex-officio delegates, Progressive-Conservative Privy Council members, senators, members of parliament, members of provincial governments, and party executive officers had credentials sent to them, printed in French or English, as necessary.

At the same time preparations had to be made at the Coliseum for the three day convention, not only for the use of the building by the delegates and the many committees which will function both before and during the convention, but for special facilities to serve the press and radio.

These facilities include establishment of a large press room at the back of the hall with typewriters, tables, chairs, telephones, teleg-raph services; special booths for the CBC and for private radio stations special platforms for newspaper photographers and for motion picture cameramen.

Special arrangements had to be made with caterers to serve meals at the Coliseum to both delegates and the newsmen; to have parking spaces for cars; to get guards for doors; to have identifying badges and ribbons manufactured in both languages; to print diagrams of the Coliseum for the guidance of delegates who would otherwise get lost trying to find committee rooms—and to settle the thousand and one details that are necessary for such a convention.

Shellfish Research Will Be Started

Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, minister of fisheries, announces that the department is presently planning a new research service to shellfish growers. Plans include offering what might be termed operational research services to oyster growers and others interested, with a view to increasing the yield by the application of scientific knowledge to solving the many problems in connection with the growing and cultivation of shellfish.

Dr. D. B. Quayle, who recently returned from two years' post-graduate work at the University of Glasgow and is a graduate of UBC, will direct this work with headquarters at the provincial department of fisheries, Victoria.

Two Valley Cities Top Two Million Building Total

KELOWNA—Construction values topped the $2,000,000 mark for the first time in the history of the city, at the end of August. For the first eight months of the year, building permits were valued at $2,189,682, more than double the total for the same period last year. Permits taken out during August were valued at $150,857, and this figure is higher than the eight-month totals during 1940, 1941, 1942 and 1943.

VERNON — Construction values in Vernon for 1948 already have passed the two million dollar mark. Total value of building permits to end of August had passed the $2,100,000 mark. In August, a permit to the value of $250,000 was taken out to cover alterations and improvements in the building for the Home for the Aged.

JULY TOURIST FIGURES DOWN

Figures released by Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, minister of trade and industry, disclose that the volume of traffic entering the province on travellers' vehicle permits was less in July of this year than for the same month of last year. Where 37,856 cars entered by border ports in July, 1947, only 34,516 came in last month.

"This is disappointing, but after all not so very surprising," said Mr. Eyres. "There is no doubt that the flood conditions which prevailed in May and June gave rise to many cancellations."

DRIVING LESSONS

Attorney-General G. S. Wismer, K.C., and Education Minister W. T. Straith have announced that 300 students in selected high schools of the province will be given a course in car driving during the coming school term as part of a government program to improve standards and reduce accident and damage toll on the highways. The students will be given classroom instruction as well as behind-the-wheel driving with qualified instructors.

Interior Vegetable Board Replies to Criticisms Of Oliver-Osoyoos Growers

Dissatisfaction with the returns and picking orders issued by the vegetable marketing board as expressed by growers of the Oliver-Osoyoos area has brought a lengthy reply from Col. E. Poole, board secretary, Kelowna. In his reply, Col. Poole stresses that the southern area has always before enjoyed an early marketing season and therefore reaped a benefit not allowed producers who are situated in later producing areas. The main portion of the board statement follows:

"With the crops coming along in sequence, our market requirements were sufficient to take care of the bulk of the crop produced in Oliver and Osoyoos before the district surrounding Kelowna and Vernon became ready, and the few that were still available in Oliver and Osoyoos after the Vernon-Kelowna crops were ready were easily absorbed on the markets before the Vernon-Kelowna crops were in full volume.

"By the time that Kamloops and Ashcroft came in, the Oliver and Osoyoos crops were completely finished and the volume of production in the Kamloops-Ashcroft-Vernon-Kelowna area would then be much greater than our markets could absorb and it was necessary to place all growers in these areas on what is called a 'pick to order' basis.

"Had these instructions not been issued and growers had brought their crops in just as fast as they were ready, it could only have meant a very great loss to these growers if the markets could not absorb them at the rate they were brought in, as all the additional packing charges would be added to the grower's costs.

"While this 'pick to order' regulation is the normal procedure on all crops produced north of the Oliver-Osoyoos area, it has not, in the memory of the board (14 years), been necessary to impose it on the latter area, and the growers in the southern area have therefore been able to pick their tomatoes and cucumbers just as fast as they were ready, take them into the packing houses for packing and later have been able to get sufficient orders from the board's selling agency to move them immediately without any loss to the growers.

"We feel that there is no doubt whatever that the readers of this article will most definitely agree that climatic conditions during 1948 have been most unusual. So unusual have they been that areas matured all together, and the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board was faced, with the difficulty of not being able to complete the sale of the crops in one area before the next succeeding one was ready.

"The total production of tomatoes in the interior is in the neighborhood of 3300 acres of which this year 18% are being produced in the Oliver-Osoyoos area. The latter area, therefore, produces only roughly 5% of the tomatoes grown and would under normal conditions receive 5% of the orders.

"Directly it was obvious that a 'pick to order' instruction would have to be issued including the Oliver area, the board reviewed the whole situation very thoroughly and in order to compensate the southern growers to some extent without working undue hardship on the northern growers, it was decided that their quota of roughly 5% would be doubled.

"In spite of this concession at the expense of the northern growers, the growers in the Oliver-Osoyoos country are very far from satisfied and the opinion has been expressed by growers in that area that their crop should be marketed before that produced by growers in other districts.

"It has never been possible to market more than 25% of the tomatoes on the fresh market, the balance going to the canneries at a very much smaller price than that obtained on the fresh market.

"It has been stated by Oliver-Osoyoos producers, that a great deal of their tomatoes were wasting in the fields.

"With regard to the reported statement that a 'stop pick' order was issued, this is definitely contrary to the facts as no such order has ever been issued, and only the 'pick to order' instruction. "With regard to the southern growers' president's contention of waste, this can be said. In the first place there has not been the 35% loss which the CBC Farm Broadcast mentioned a few days ago, and secondly if any tomatoes have ripened up, the canneries all over B.C. are only too anxious to buy any that are available, but in spite of the fact that efforts have been made by canners to buy these tomatoes which ripen in the fields in the south area, they have not met with success, the Osoyoos growers claiming that it does not pay to pick at the canneries prices which would average at least $25.00 a ton, this price being double that which obtained immediately before the war.

"Further, with regard to the report of waste in the Oliver-Osoyoos country, it can be stated that we are finding it impossible to get sufficient tomatoes of a maturity advanced enough to take care of our requirements on the Vancouver markets.

"Some few days ago the directors of the growers' association in the south decided to truck a load of tomatoes down to the Vancouver market in order, as they put it, to prove their contention that the selling agency designated by the board was not keeping that market supplied to full capacity.

"The board has on file information which shows that at least 100 cases of this load were marketed directly to a retailer at 50¢ per case less than the board's price to the wholesaler, so that the retailer who bought that 100 crates bought them at around $1.00 a case less than board prices, and one does not require a very vivid imagination to come to the conclusion that it is not very difficult to prove a market as undersupplied by giving anyone the opportunity of buying at such bargain prices. Had the truck gone down and sold their tomatoes at $1.00 a case more than the board was getting, then truly they would have most successfully proved their point.

"The result of all the agitation in the south has caused uneasiness to the growers in the north who realize only too well just what controlled marketing has meant to them in the last 14 years. A meeting was recently called in Vernon at which growers from Kamloops, Salmon Arm, Armstrong, Vernon and Kelowna were present, and at this meeting a resolution was passed once again asking that our Dominion government pass a Dominion Marketing Act, while at the same time a start was made towards forming an Interior Vegetable Growers' Association instead of, as at the present, merely having isolated district associations.

"At this meeting the board explained to the fullest possible extent just what the reasons were for the present situation. They explained that whereas normally B.C.'s production was four or five weeks ahead of prairie production and two or three weeks ahead of Ontario production, and that in B.C. the production of potatoes, for instance, around the coast was three or four weeks ahead of Oliver and Osoyoos, while this year due to climatic conditions our crops were a couple of weeks behind Ontario and almost co-incident with Manitoba, with prairie production coming along very shortly after ours.

"The Osoyoos growers seem to

Dan Morgan Dies At Penticton

PENTICTON—On Thursday afternoon, August 19, the death occurred in Penticton of Daniel James Morgan, who came to the southern Okanagan city in 1911 and had been connected with the plumbing and heating business in that centre ever since. He was in his 74th year. The late Mr. Morgan had a wide circle of friends in Summerland. His firm had the heating contract for the Summerland hospital additions completed last fall.

find it difficult to believe that their potatoes came in behind the coast and almost co-incident with Manitoba. In spite of the fact that the board made it quite clear to them that what they had said was correct many of them left the meeting still apparently convinced that this was not so.

"Finally, had our crops in the Interior of British Columbia been ready at their normal time, that is two or three weeks earlier than they were, the growers would have reaped the benefit of a most receptive market helped by the so-called austerity program, but as it was, coming on late, their markets were in a large measure taken by competitive districts before we were ready.

President of Youth Hostels Bicycles Through Interior

Bicycling through the Okanagan "for fitness and fellowship" is and can be fun, declared Miss Muriel Nichols, president of the Pacific region, Canadian Youth Hostels, who visited Summerland last week.

Miss Nichols came up to Kamloops by train and is touring the southern interior with the aim of interesting more persons in forming hostels and local biking clubs.

Summerland and Armstrong are, at present, the only two locations where hostelling accommodation is provided. Under arrangement with the CYH, the Nu-Way supplies members with lodging for 25 cents per night.

Miss Nichols has been cycling all over B.C. for the past six years and says that she "loves it". She cannot understand why there are not more hostels and cycling groups in the Okanagan.

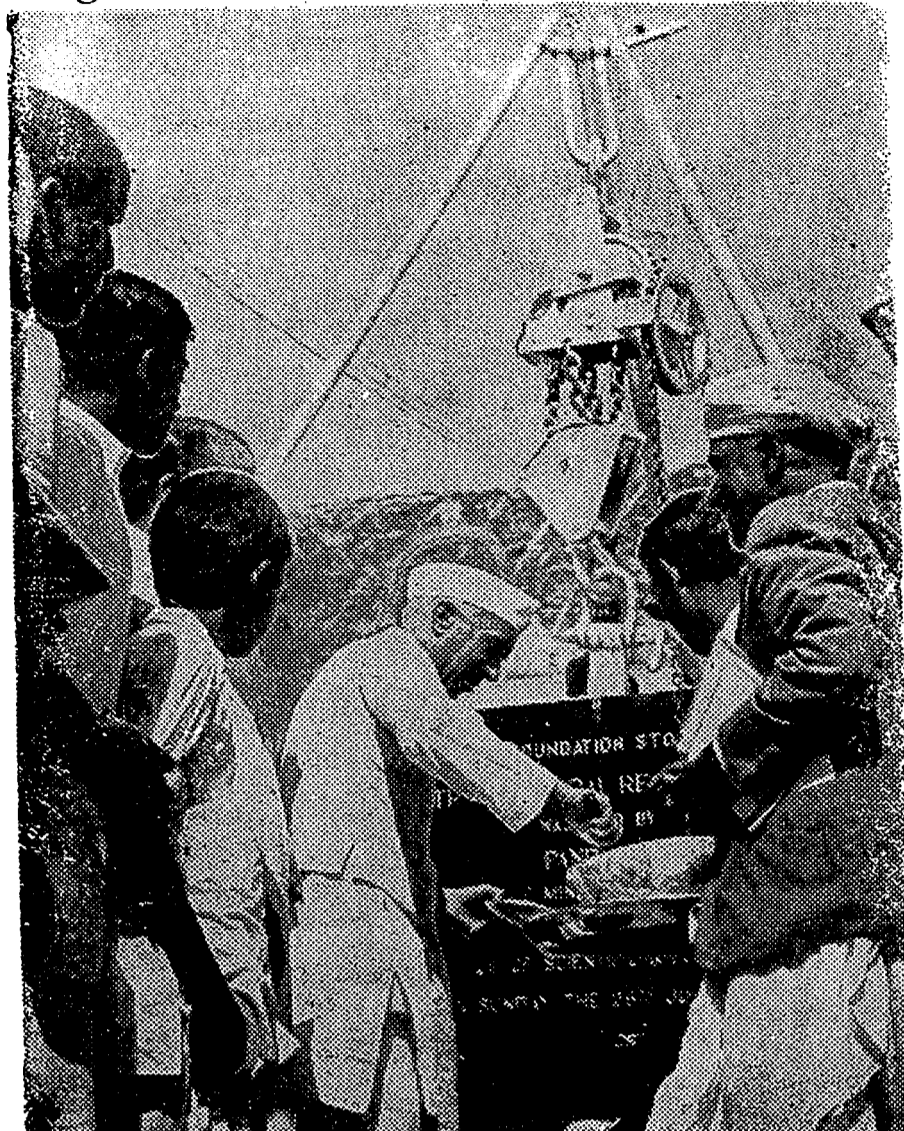

Here in Summerland she talked to Teen Town Mayor Jack Dunham in The Review office and endeavored to interest that organization in taking a more active interest in the CYH. Mayor Dunham says that he is turning over the project to the high school, once the fall term starts.

The youth hostel plan started in Europe in 1910 when Richard Shirram, a school teacher, decided that people should be able to get out of crowded cities and towns without being loaded by train and hotel expenses. The Barclay sisters brought this movement to Canada in 1934 and at present there are hostels right across Canada.

A youth hostel is actually an inexpensive supervised overnight accommodation, usually located at a farmhouse near the main highway, Miss Nichols explains. Anyone of good character, irrespective of age, color, race or creed is welcomed into the organization, provided he or she is willing to abide by the rules of the association.

Aim of the CYH is to encourage people to travel, chiefly hiking or cycling, and to achieve a broader outlook towards world affairs by enabling people to travel throughout the world, via hostels.

MINISTER WARNS OF POTATO BLIGHT

Hon. Frank Putnam, minister of agriculture, announces that the late blight—phytophthora infestans—is threatening the potato crop of the entire province. He stated that it is not too late to save the crop if farmers will act by spraying with a mixture of 20 pounds of bluestone and 10 pounds of common salt per 100 gallons of water, spread over the potato crop at the rate of 100 to 125 gallons an acre.

The potatoes should be dug two weeks after spraying, when the weather is warm and dry, and the tubers allowed to dry out before storing. As an extra safeguard, they should be stored at 60 degrees for two weeks, to allow infected tubers to rot, and in this way the good can be separated from the bad.

The minister also reported that "Little Cherry", a virus disease which made its first known appearance in the world in the Kootenay district of British Columbia, now has infected 85 percent of the cherry trees in that district.

The disease reduces the quality so that the infected cherries are suitable only for jam production. The only known control is destruction of the diseased tree.

Huge Program of Dyking to Start

The Fraser Valley dyking board will shortly embark upon its main program of dyke reconstruction which it is estimated will cost somewhere between five and six million dollars, with tenders being called for the main construction program within the course of the next few weeks, it is announced by Premier Byron Johnson.

The premier explained that the Board had divided its work into two programs, namely, the emergency work, which is designed to bring all dykes back to their former condition so as to meet immediate needs, and the main program of reconstruction.

In all there are 241.8 miles of dykes, of which 220 miles require strengthening and rebuilding. This includes some new dyking in the Sumas, Agassiz and Chilliwack areas. These dykes protect approximately 200,000 acres of land and affect approximately 50,000 persons.

The dyking work will be similar to that which has been constructed along the Missouri river. The dykes will be built with the best material available within reasonable haul and in most cases will comprise a mixture of light clay and sandy loam.

TALKING OF TREES

Trees are vital to our tourist industry. Each year British Columbia is host to thousands of visitors, drawn here by the hunting, the fishing, the scenic beauty of our lakes and mountains. All these are made possible by the forests which provide food and shelter for the game, ensure cool, clear water in our streams, and frame and enhance the beauty of our country. Green forests attract visitors; blackened forests repel them.

Valley Tennis Titles Brought to Summerland

Eleven members of Summerland Tennis Club motored to Vernon on Saturday last for the three day Okanagan Valley closed tournaments, a meet which is open only to Valley residents. The Summerland contingent consisted of Mr. and Mrs. R. Russel, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wright, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Solly, Miss Nonie Carruthers, Miss Monica Stokes, Miss Edith Bristow, Mr. George Fudge and Mr. David Snow.

Two Shoots Held By Rifle Club

Last week-end, the Summerland Rifle Club held two shoots, continuing on Labor Day after a successful shoot on Sunday. George Dunsdon came out on top both days, although on Sunday he had to be content with a tie with Ted Dunsdon.

Scores were as follows:
September 5—G. M. and Ted Dunsdon 99, Ed Gould 94, Art Dunsdon 92, G. M. Forster 91, P. S. Dunsdon and F. G. Anderson 90, D. Taylor 88, Len Shannon 86, Jack Dunsdon 85, A. W. Moyle 84, Bert Simpson 83, Les Gould 81, W. C. W. Fosbery 65, E. Gillespie 54, R. Proudlock 40.
Sept. 6—G. M. Dunsdon 100, P. S. Dunsdon 97, Francis Gould 92, A. R. Dunsdon, A. W. Moyle, Jack Dunsdon 88, Les Gould 85.

merland contingent consisted of Mr. and Mrs. R. Russel, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wright, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Solly, Miss Nonie Carruthers, Miss Monica Stokes, Miss Edith Bristow, Mr. George Fudge and Mr. David Snow.

George Fudge again took the men's singles by winning from Ernie Winter of Kelowna, keeping the cup he had won last year in this event.

Miss Monica Stokes proved to be the "dark horse" of the Summerland team, winning in the singles, mixed and doubles events. Miss Stokes defeated Mrs. George Garlick of Kamloops to take the women's singles crown, and combined with Miss N. Carruthers to take the doubles from Mrs. R. G. Russel and Miss E. Bristow.

In the mixed doubles, the team of Miss Stokes and Mr. Gene Homer-Dixon of Vernon defeated finalists Miss Edith Bristow and George Fudge.

A hard fought match won the men's doubles from last year's title-holders, Nick Solly and George Fudge, for Reid Clarke and Cecil Clark of Vernon.

Malott Softball Squad is Swamped

Malott, Wash., girls' softball squad proved no match for the high-stepping Summerland lasses last Sunday when the latter team travelled south and walloped the Yankees by an 18-3 count in seven innings. It was a regular league fixture.

Dracas held down the pitching spot for the winners and was never in trouble. She held the Malott batters scoreless until the final frame, when the only three scores crossed the plate.

Score by innings:
Summerland 145 051 2-18
Malott 000 000 3-3

Lineups:
Summerland: Fountain rf, Jomori ss, Taylor 2b, Smith lf, Campeau 1b, Dracas p, Burwash 3b, Braddick cf, Heichert c.

Malott: Smith p, Series c, Pierce 3b, Jenkins 1b, Stout lf, E. Stout 2b, Harms ss, Miller cf, Gordon rf.

MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSES

Hon. G. S. Wismer, K.C., attorney-general, announces that up to July 31, some 180,362 motor vehicle licenses had been issued in British Columbia which surpasses last year's total for the same period by 25,166.

High, Wide And Handsome Baseball Game

Thirty-three hits and a flock of errors featured Pentiction's victory over Summerland last Sunday at the Living Memorial athletic park in an exhibition tilt, which just about closes the baseball season for 1948. Pentiction won the loose-ly-played ball game 11-9, with Jackie Walsh being the main reason for Pentiction's win, booting two grounders and dropping another at crucial points.

Veteran Norman (Jimmy) Thompson was the standout of the game, as he drove in two runs when they were badly needed and cut off runners at first and home on well-pegged balls.

Summerland got the odd hit ahead of Pentiction, Evans pitched better ball than either old-timer Clare Baker or left-handed Drummond, and made fewer errors, but Pentiction still won the ball game.

It was the first three innings, when Summerland played sloppy ball, that cost the ball game, as Pentiction took an eight-run advantage. However, it was really the eighth which decided affairs, as Pentiction took another three runs, all due to sloppy infield work.

Indicative of the amount of work the fielders were called upon to do is shown in the box score, where Vanderburgh is only credited with four put-outs.

Pentiction had a spiked team, having four Vancouver players who were holidaying in the Okanagan. However, it was Latimer a home town lad, who covered first base, who was the star of the visitors, getting four for five, all well hit balls into short right field.

In the final moments of the game, George Taylor connected for the only triple of the day, the ball travelling into deep right field and never being more than a foot from the grass at any time. He scored Walsh ahead of him but died at their when Clark grounded out.

Score by innings:
Pentiction: 143 000 080-11

High Aggregate Prizes Won By Local Shooters

Summerland trap shoot contestants captured all three high aggregate awards at the first annual meet of the newly-formed Okanagan Valley Trap and Skeet Assn., but lost their grip on the Okanagan Valley challenge cup in the team shoot competition.

Kamloops, Lumby, Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland and Pentiction crack shots were present on Labor Day in Kelowna for this big interior competition.

Summerland had two teams entered, the first being comprised of Dr. L. A. Day, John Khalembach, Ken Blagborne, W. Laidlaw and Frank Pollock, and the second having Gerry Nelson, Sandy Munn, Gerry Laidlaw, Phil LeBrun and Channon Snow.

Vernon captured the team shoot with a total of 114 points, Kamloops being second with 113 points and Summerland third with 110.

Dr. L. A. Day captured the A group high aggregate, Bill Laidlaw took the B. group and Phil LeBrun won the C group. Gerry Laidlaw also captured the prize for the long run in C group, scoring a possible 25 in one shoot. Ken Blagborne won the long run in A group and also captured second prize in the doubles competition, which was won by Cecil Wills of Vernon.

Larry Kwong Hopes For Ranger Puck Berth This Winter

VERNON—Back in Vernon for a few days last week to visit relatives and friends was Larry Kwong, this city's famous hockey star and ambassador. A member of the New York Rangers organization, Larry, known to Eastern hockey fans as "King" Kwong, made NHL history towards the end of the last season when he played a game with the pro Blueshirts. He is the first Chinese to have played in the NHL.

It's a long, long trail to the top of hockey's ladder and even longer when one had to gain recognition from his play in the Interior of B.C. But Larry made the hop which started here as a member of Fred Smith's Hydrophones, then a midget club. He is shooting this season for his biggest year.

On September 5, the "China Clipper" reported to the New York Ranger camp at Winnipeg, along with many other hockey veterans and fledglings. Larry stated he has been asked to turn pro with the New Haven Ramblers, the Rangers' farm club, and there is a definite possibility he will enter the real "big time." "They are interested," he said.

 giners seemed to be bulging at the seams during registration. Miss M. Banks finally collected her oversize class of 37 tots, Mrs. Hilda Allison took 36 beginners to the Parish hall, while Miss E. Montgomery set up shop in St. Andrew's United church hall with 14 grade one children, and part of the grade two class to fill her quota.

For the rest of the grades, the school is as for several years past, overloaded, with three classes of 44 pupils. There are 2 grade two classes, with Miss M. E. Nickols and Miss H. Fahlan in charge.

Grade three teachers are Miss Ruth Dale and Miss M. E. Pringle, another addition to the staff, coming here from Mission. There are one and a half grade 4's this year, as last, with Mrs. M. McRae in charge of the single class, and Mrs. J. E. Tingley taking the remainder along with half a class of grade 5 pupils.

Mr. Tom Moore, formerly of Lumby, has a mixture of grade 5 and grade 6, and Mr. W. J. Schwab, who comes from Kelowna to District No. 77 staff has some grade 6 and some grade 7. Mr. H. W. Stent has a class of grade 7 students.

All the grade 8 pupils have been gathered into one classroom, and their instruction will be shared by Mr. C. D. Kennedy and principal S. A. MacDonald. The new school district starts out with four big buses and one little one. A new service has been established for Meadow Valley, to pick up five children of that locality. The district is providing bus tickets for the three Greata Ranch children who attend school in Peachland, and service is also provided for grade 13 pupils who are attending school in Penticton.

Vitamin A is Contained in Fresh Apricots

Vitamin assays on fruits at the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C., says A. W. Moyle have shown apricots to be an exceptionally good source of Vitamin A, according to a release from Ottawa. Vitamin A in apricots, like other fruits and vegetables, is present in a form that is not exactly the vitamin itself and is called provitamin A or carotene. This yellow plant substance is converted in the human or animal body into vitamin A that is nutritionally active.

In everyday human nutrition, provitamin A or carotene is the chief source of dietary vitamin A either directly in the form of fruits or edible greens, or indirectly through dairy products and eggs from the feed eaten by the cows and hens. Even the high vitamin A content of fish liver oils comes originally from the carotene present in the marine plant life.

The vitamin A content of apricots was found to range from 1,100 to 7,000 International Units per 3½ ounces of fruit, which makes apricots equal to egg yolk, the best summer butter, broccoli, leaf lettuce, young carrots, and superior to most vegetables except the green leafy ones such as spinach, chard, kale and mustard greens.

Apricots are about twice as rich in vitamin A as either peaches or Italian prunes, both of which are considered good sources of this vitamin. While the carotene content of apricots varies considerably with variety, all varieties are a good source. On the basis of accepted nutritional standards, approximately 4 ounces of fresh apricot will supply the average adult's vitamin A requirements for one day.

Hen Pheasant Blown In House

The sudden flurry of high wind on Thursday night last broke practically all his flowers and mowed down his rhubarb but "It's an ill wind that doesn't bring somebody something", said Mr. W. Milne.

The "something" was a hen pheasant, who was literally blown through one of the bedroom windows in the Milne home in Fosbery subdivision. Mr. and Mrs. Milne were listening to the ten o'clock news when they heard a crash, and upon investigation discovered a bewildered and frantic pheasant trying to claw its way up the window shade.

Aside from a few lost feathers the bird seemed unharmed, and Mr. Milne put it out the front door to renew its battle with the elements.

Bennett & White Start Excavation on School Work to Cost $88,494

Work commenced yesterday on the excavation for the new portion of the Summerland elementary school, which is to be renovated at a cost of $88,494. Bennett & White, Vancouver construction outfit, has accepted the school trustees contract and has started work.

Estimated cost of the renovation program had been $88,000 and for the first time in a decade, a contract was obtained which only raised the price by $494. All tenders for public buildings in this vicinity in the past eight years have been away over the estimated cost, it is said.

On Monday, School District No. 77 (Summerland) board of school trustees formally accepted the tender of Bennett & White, with the proviso that the reconstruction work must be completed in six months, by March 1 and that the work must be undertaken while school classes are in progress.

It is understood that these clauses have been accepted by the Vancouver firm, as a shovel was brought to Summerland and started work yesterday.

On Monday evening, when the school trustees were in session, the subject of a new junior-senior high school for Summerland was again broached. From ensuing discussion it can be taken that preliminary plans for such a structure will be drawn up this fall.

High School Principal A. K. Macleod pointed out to trustees that he has had to draw up three timetables already, to try and cope with the crowded conditions.

School Board Chairman P. G. Dodwell replied to Mr. Macleod that the trustees are well aware of the need here and are as anxious as the school staff to hasten negotiations for a modern high school building.

Tag Day For Blind Will be Held Saturday

This week, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is staging its annual campaign for funds in Summerland district.

The Women's Institute is co-operating in this regard by arranging a tag day on Saturday, September 18.

Mrs. H. R. McLarty, in charge of personnel for the tag day, states that a number of local school girls have consented to be taggers. In the morning, the Sea Cadets will be operating from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., and after the school girls take over, as follows:

2 to 4 p.m., Norma Arndt, Esther Kuva, Connie Schriener, and Elly Ruppel. 4 to 6 p.m., Marion Richards and Mary Ward. After 6 p.m., Beverley and Ruth Fleming, Helen Keon and Barbara Metters.

Local residents and firms have also been circularized to make private donations to this cause.

Award Contract for Finish Of Entomological Laboratory

Contracts have been awarded for the completion of the dominion entomological laboratory at Trout Creek Point, Dr. James Marshall informed The Review last weekend.

When finished, the new laboratory and surrounding works will comprise an expenditure of more than $50,000 towards one of the most modern and complete entomological laboratories on the Pacific coast.

For completion of the various laboratories within the building, stuccoing the outside and building of a greenhouse, Konyon & Co., Pentelton contracting firm, was the successful tenderer at a price of $21,920.

A. (Sandy) Baillie, Summerland contractor, submitted a figure of $4,451.70 for construction of a garage and chemical storage building which is projected for the entomological department's property adjacent to the laboratory. His tender at that figure was also successful.

Work is to be started immediately and Dr. Marshall is hopeful that

Sub-Staff Quits Hospital With No Notice Given

This morning, the Summerland hospital was without a sub-staff. No fire was lit and no breakfast was prepared when the day nursing staff made its appearance.

Mr. J. E. O'Mahony, hospital secretary, reports that the sub-staff had been paid on Wednesday. This morning, without a word to any of the hospital authorities, the entire staff failed to put in an appearance.

All personal effects had been removed from their sleeping quarters last night.

Mr. O'Mahony states that neither he nor the matron, Miss Bennest, had been given any warning regarding the impending departure of the sub-staff. No formal notice had been given, although it is generally considered courtesy on the part of employees to give at least a week's notice.

"This action has placed us in an embarrassing position," declared Mr. O'Mahony to The Review this morning, "as we have 17 or 18 patients in the hospital wards who have to be cared for. However, the nursing staff pitched in and is doing the culinary duties for the time being until we can get some assistance."

The sub-staff member in charge of laundry service remained on duty.

Road Surfacing Ends This Week

With the arrival of another car of asphalt, this week should see the finish of the 1948 program of hard surfacing, as far as the elements have allowed.

Road Foreman Les Gould reported this to the council on Tuesday, with the suggestion that, because of the open texture of the asphalt-gravel mix, a seal coat of asphalt, one-tenth inch thick be laid over the roads, along with a layer of sand.

This suggestion was adopted by the council and the roads department ordered to proceed.

Only a portion of the original program of road surfacing for 1948 has been completed, due to the inclement season.

MATRON ON HOLIDAYS

During the absence on holidays of the matron, Miss May Bennest, the Summerland hospital will be in charge of Acting Matron Mrs. Don Agur.

Not Satisfied With Reply Of B.C. Fruit Processors on Plant Establishment Here

That Summerland Board of Trade is not satisfied with the reply of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., grower-owned and controlled processing company, that no evaporating plant can be established here for the time being to replace the plant destroyed by fire in 1946, was evidenced at the Thursday meeting of the board held in the IOOF hall.

Board members emphasized that Summerland needs payrolls and asked the trade board executive to continue to press for the re-establishment of an evaporating plant here.

B. C. Fruit Processors Ltd., under the signature of W. M. Vance, general manager, informed the trade board that "we... assure you that while at the present time no further extensions of processing facilities are in view, should the situation change to the extent that additional plants should be built, Summerland's interests will be fully considered."

Getting Benefit
"Kelowna is getting the benefit of a payroll from Summerland produce," was Mr. T. B. Young's opinion of the centralization plan evidenced by the processing company.

Speaking as head of the new industries committee of the board, Mr. Young declared that "we feel keenly disappointed in their (B.C. Fruit Processors) attitude, and we must be prepared to consider starting a plant of our own."

Although he agreed that an evaporating plant would be a valuable asset to the community, Mr. McLachlan cautioned against the use of any threat to the processing company, pointing out that the B.C. fruit industry has been built up through co-operation along central lines and great benefit has been derived therefrom.

Mr. Young agreed that no threat should be implied, but amplified his idea that Summerland needs winter payroll and such could be

Youngsters Waited For Rattler Then Hopped Over

Having to kill a rattlesnake on her garden path near her home was the unpleasant experience recently of Mrs. Miller, who resides at the base of Giant's Head, near the Milne cannery.

Mrs. Miller's children were playing in the garden when they saw a snake approaching along the pathway. They waited for the reptile and the small boy actually jumped over the snake.

The children ran in to their mother to tell her of the snake, she replying that it was probably a garter snake.

"Well, it rattles, anyway," the children replied.

Whereupon, Mrs. Miller grasped an axe and hurried to her garden pathway. With one stroke, she severed the snake's head from its body.

Irrigation is Finished for 1947 Season

Today irrigation water through the Summerland municipality is being turned off for the season.

This is in accordance with the usual practice of the past years and is not expected to create any hardship as irrigation water has been used to a lesser degree this season than for many years.

Canyon creek dam was opened wide on August 26 and was left in shape for the winter. Water Foreman E. Kercher reported to the council on Tuesday.

The third gate on Thirk dam was opened early this month when the level was at 44 feet, with 300 acre feet being discharged and 100 acre feet still coming in from tributary sources.

At this rate, it is expected that the dam will be in readiness for winter but will only just escape the severe weather.

It was also announced at Tuesday's council meeting that the water agreement between the council and James Dunsdon, regarding use of water from Garnet Valley has been signed and has been approved by the water rights branch of the provincial government. A water licence will now be issued to Mr. Dunsdon by the latter department.

This is settlement of a disagreement which has created some stir in council circles for more than a year.

Board of Trade Said To be Progressing on New Post Office Plans

Executive of the Summerland Board of Trade was given power to act on the project of obtaining a new post office building for West Summerland, when the September meeting of the board convened in the IOOF hall on Thursday evening.

Such decision arose from reading of correspondence from O. L. Jones, M.P. for Yale and the Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn., which latter group had written several letters seeking some action towards betterment of postal facilities here.

The board had also written last June to the postal department pointing out the inadequacy of the local postal building.

Although no official word has been given out, it is understood that a committee of the board, under President F. W. Schumann, has taken steps this week towards the establishment of a new post office building, and has received considerable co-operation from local citizens on the project.

It was explained to the meeting that the post office department has already agreed to renovations of the present building and is awaiting action by the department of public works.

Such renovations would provide an enlarged post office lobby and working space for the staff, in the present building.

It was suggested to the board meeting on Thursday that it might be possible to obtain a new post office building which would be a credit to the community, providing local capital could be interested in the venture.

Mr. Lorne Perry, board secretary, suggested that one approach would be to allow the present renovation plans to proceed in order to provide better facilities before meantime press for the completion of a new building.

Mr. C. E. Bentley, who was on his way to the UBCM convention at Harrison Hot Springs, wrote the local board a hasty note last week stating that he had been in conversation with O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, who had stated that immediate action must be taken if West Summerland is to obtain a post office which would be a credit to the community.

Mr. Jones had explained to Mr. Bentley, as was also outlined in last week's Review, that local capital must finance the building of a post office, with a rental agreement with the department of public works.

It is understood that the board executive is working along this line this week and that progress is being made.

Town Planner Visits District

A. E. Graham, from the town planning department of the provincial lands and forests branch, visited Summerland for a brief period on Saturday, Sept. 4. None of the council members was available but Mr. Graham was provided with a plan of the district. He also took several photographs of the area from a vantage point on Giant's Head.

Mr. Graham has returned to the coast and intends to submit a draft zoning bylaw for Summerland municipality.

He was quite satisfied with his visit and seemed to grasp the geographical setup of the district, Acting Clerk Gordon Smith informed the council on Tuesday.

NOT FOR SALE

On the recommendation of Councillor C. E. Bentley, the council is informing Mr. J. Gould that portions of the old Bentley property are not for sale at the present time.

Hospital Insurance Office To Be Opened on October 1

Registration forms for the new government hospital insurance scheme were received yesterday by residents throughout this district. They must be filled out and returned by September 30, unless the individual has already been covered by a payroll deduction plan.

Both post offices were to be covered fully, but it was found that 200 more forms were needed to give a complete coverage. These forms are being sent here from Victoria.

In the meantime, Mr. J. E. O'Mahony, Summerland hospital secretary and registrar for this insurance scheme states that an office will be opened on October 1 in West Summerland for the convenience of persons who cannot make a trip to the Summerland hospital.

This office will be opened for the convenience of the public in making payments of hospital in-

No Sub-Agency For Summerland Says Government

"It is not felt that the opening of an additional government agency would be justified."

Such is the statement of R. Burns, assistant deputy minister of finance, to the appeal of the Summerland Board of Trade for the establishment of a provincial government sub-agency in Summerland.

This letter was read to last Thursday's board of trade session but the board decided to give the executive authority to continue its fight to have a government sub-agency established here.

Mr. Burns declares that the subject was given consideration by the finance department on a previous occasion but "conditions have not substantially changed since that time," he declares.

"The purpose of a government agency," continues Mr. Burns, "is to provide facilities for the transaction of government business at key points within the province, particularly where the volume of business is so great as to limit the feasibility of using mail service and modern transportation."

"I would point out that Summerland is situated at very close proximity to Pentelton, and is also reasonably close to the government office at Kelowna. It is accessible to both places by excellent transportation facilities by road and to Pentelton by rail, and it is not considered that any hardship in the transaction of business can exist under the circumstances."

"I am sure you will appreciate that there are many communities, particularly in northern and central British Columbia which are in a more difficult position regarding the transaction of business than is the district of Summerland. If we were to open offices at every center of population in the province, the cost of government would soar beyond all reasonable bounds and would be difficult to justify."

When J. R. Armstrong asked that the executive be allowed to pursue this subject further, J. E. O'Mahony suggested that the clerical work which must be undertaken by the local police constable, to the detriment of his ordinary police duties, is one example of the need of a sub-agency here.

Mr. George Stoll pointed out that few communities of the same population in the province are without some type of provincial government office.

No Additional Payroll

THAT Summerland is to be denied an additional payroll because fire wiped out its evaporating plant is very evident from the stand being taken by the B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., the grower-owned and controlled company which has a stranglehold on the processing of all fruits and vegetables in the Okanagan.

That grower-company has decided on a policy of centralization in its campaign to salvage a portion of the Okanagan apple crop which might otherwise be lost.

Centralization means, as far as the company can go at present, a concentration of all workings in Kelowna.

Centralization means, in other words, that Kelowna district is to obtain the benefit of payroll resulting from processing of the Okanagan's apple crop, with other districts supplying the materials and reaping none of the resultant payroll.

Summerland had an evaporating plant which meant a steady payroll to the district during a period of the year when part-time workers needed employment. After B.C. Processors Ltd. took over this plant, it underwent a disastrous fire. It was wiped out and no attempt was made to replace the plant. The annual payroll, vital to this district's economic setup which suffers from lack of employment in the winter months, was lost.

The Summerland Board of Trade has made repeated attempts to return this industry to Summerland. It has written on several occasions to the grower-company but last week it received what can be termed as a final reply.

B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. states that "at the present time no further extensions of processing facilities are in view, (but) should the situation change to the extent that additional plants should be built, Summerland's interests will be fully considered."

Reading between the lines, we can consider that the processing company has no thought of replacing the Summerland evaporating plant which would still be in existence if it had not been destroyed by a disastrous fire.

This grower-company was instituted to deal with cull fruit, in an endeavor to salvage a return for the grower which otherwise would be lost.

This was a commendable enterprise and is returning to Okanagan growers a reasonable return, which is of great benefit and will be still more valuable in the years to come. The company has been operating efficiently and has the confidence of the growers as a whole.

On these points we have no fault to find, but on the principle of complete centralization we object strenuously.

As was pointed out by board of trade members last week, it is not feasible to centralize packing plants in one spot in the Okanagan. Neither do canning operations become centered in one point. Why, then, is it so important for processing plants to be under one roof?

Cull apples, on which there is a very small margin of profit, are trucked to Kelowna from points as far south as Penticton. There they are delivered to the processing plant and made into a finished product. Then they are shipped to the markets.

That is an expensive haul for a product which otherwise would be tossed into the discard. We have maintained in the past and will do so again in the future that Summerland is an ideal location for a processing plant.

Summerland is mid-way between Penticton and Peachland and is the natural collecting point for an important section of the Okanagan fruit industry. An evaporating plant, or better still, a processing plant which would involve all types of processing would be a natural if located here.

Looking to the future, there will be a greater call year after year for processing to take the strain from the fresh fruit markets, besides the utilization of otherwise waste fruit.

We cannot afford to allow this subject to be dropped. In the interests of this community's economy, it is imperative that more employment be provided in the slack seasons. Only by providing more types of work in the winter months can the growers be assured of a steadier group of employees who will be available when the difficult thinning and harvesting seasons are at hand.

The grower knows only too well his difficulties of the past few years in obtaining the proper type of worker during the busy season when his fruit must be harvested in a careful manner.

The Summerland grower should be aware of the necessity of providing more employment in the winter months in his own protection and should be prepared to back the community's effort to obtain types of employment to fill this need.

So far the Summerland local of the BCFGA has refused to recognize this fact.

Brighten Their Tomorrow

MORE THAN 1239 British Columbians live and work and find what happiness they can in a world of drab and unending darkness. They cannot see.

These men, women and children are victims of a cruel stroke of fortune, but they have the same right as you and I to normal, full and useful lives. It is the responsibility and the privilege of more fortunate persons to see that they have every chance to achieve it.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind affords every person of compassion and good will an opportunity to help those without sight to help themselves. Your contribution to the support of the Institute goes directly into the work of training and caring for the blind.

This training and care enables them to find a place in our social and economic structure . . . to become independent, self-sufficient. They learn to fill useful positions in business, industry and the arts. They learn the means of finding blessed relief from inactivity in recreation . . . games, music, books, hobbies.

YOUR support . . . the support of every man and woman who accepts the responsibility of citizenship . . . is needed to carry on this work. The services of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind are largely dependent upon your generosity in this annual fund-raising campaign.

This week, the institute assisting the blind, together with many local citizens are seeking the support of everyone in their appeal. Opportunity is being given everyone to contribute. We believe that Summerland will show its generosity once more and indicate in a monetary way that it realizes that others in less fortunate circumstances are in need of assistance.

By AGROLOGIST

This is the season when active Women's Institutes stage fall fairs. The class at these fairs that interests me most is that entitled "Something New from Something Old". I take off my hat to those good ladies who can produce a neat little suit for junior from the material in an old pair of pants discarded by father as too worn to justify repair. However, I think it is a good thing for the ladies that Bill Nelson has never entered an exhibit in this class as I am confident that he would win first honors.

When I went to the experimental station last week I found Bill busy working on plans to create up-to-date laboratories and offices from the lumber salvaged from the original packing house section of the horticultural building.

It was this same Bill Nelson and his brother Tom who constructed this packing house away back in 1921. Bill tells me that that was a really cold winter and it was found necessary to heat the gravel to make the concrete from which the common storage chambers in the basement of the building were constructed.

These common storage chambers have rendered great service to the B.C. fruit industry. It was in them that the experiments were conducted which revealed practical methods of controlling the disorder, Jonathan Breakdown. Similarly, the results of harvesting and storage experiments conducted in these chambers with pears provided the pear harvesting recommendations followed throughout the Okanagan today.

During the past 27 years several important additions have been made to the original horticultural building—for example, the fruit and vegetable processing preparation room and the chemical laboratories which go with it. More recently a laboratory for plant nutrition and irrigation studies has been constructed and equipped. Cold storage chambers and three low temperature rooms for frozen pack work have been installed. Now it is A. J. Mann and F. W. L. Keane who are securing modern laboratory facilities. Thus the plans for the building which is now being renovated call for two well-equipped laboratories and a spacious workshop on the main floor. There will also be an upper story with space for offices and a combined library and conference room.

Here's wishing the best of luck to Bill Nelson and his assistants, Mel Bailey, Ivar Nilsson and Wm. Tullett, who will construct the new building.

By B. A. T.

XIII—The Giant Goes Into Poultry

There's gold in the mountains,
There's gold in the goose,
And once every day

She would let an egg loose;
I'm tired of Leghorns,
My Wyandottes I'm sold

For I want a goose that Lays eggs of pure gold.

One morning at the breakfast table, the Giant noticed that his wife, Kate, was in a discontented frame of mind. She slammed the dishes on the table, she complained that the fireplace was smoking again and the porridge was burned.

The Giant knew that these things portended a flood so he tried to finish his meal and make his escape before the dam burst. But it was not his lucky day.

"Do you realize how long we have been married?" asked Kate. "Not exactly," answered our Giant.

"It is twenty-eight years!" said Kate dramatically.

"Seems like twenty-eight hundred to me," said the Giant under his breath.

"Twenty-eight years," continued Kate, "and you have not yet given me the gold wedding ring you promised me."

"Do you want me to go all the way to Texas to try to get some gold from the giant with the golden-egg-laying goose?"

"Aren't you strong enough to take the goose away from him?" asked Kate. "Then I could have rings, dishes and even furniture of gold."

"I am an honest giant," was the answer. "When I was at school I once had to write 'Honesty is the best policy' five hundred times, and that motto is just as true today. Maybe I could trade something for the goose but I haven't much that is precious except you."

Kate refused to be softened. "It is a gold ring I want, not flattery," she said. "And be sure your life insurance premiums are paid in advance before you start. I do not want to be bothered with business details while you are gone."

"Life insurance will be a great comfort to me if I get killed and put ten feet 'deep in the heart of Texas,'" retorted the Giant.

There was no way out—he would have to make the trip for when Kate made up her mind, her resolution was as immovable as Giant's Head itself.

The Giant selected five stalwart subjects as companions and made ready for the arduous journey. He prepared gifts for the Texan giant for he would not dream of trying to steal the goose. He had many years of fair-dealing behind him—a reputation too good to destroy. Besides he might be caught. The trip south was rapid. Through the Petrified Forest, over the Columbia River, across mountain and valley they went and in a week's time the plains of Texas were reached.

They had no difficulty in finding the Texan giant for the fame of his goose was widespread.

The Texan welcomed our Giant and listened to his request for gold with a smile. "Come and see my eggs," he said.

Our Giant was shown a huge pile of golden eggs that had been laid over a period of many years. "They never go bad," said the Texan. "Those laid twenty years ago are as fresh as yesterday's." Our Giant was amazed.

"Two weeks ago," said the Texan, "I set the goose on a dozen eggs. Stay until they hatch and I will give you a couple young ones to start you in business."

"Thank you, Tex. I notice the stars 'are big and bright' down here. Why is that?" asked the Giant. "Everything here is on a color-sal scale," was the reply. "Our cattle are gigantic, our grapefruit are stupendous, and some day I am going to dig the deepest well in the world to find out where that oily, smelly stuff comes from that we find on the water in our swamps."

After two weeks, the goose eggs hatched and two goslings were given to our Giant. He immediately started back to Kate and the Head.

Upon arrival, the first question he was asked was, "When will these little things begin to lay?" "In about six months," was the Giant's answer.

"Well, six months added to twenty-eight years will not matter," Kate was growing amiable in her maturity.

If the young geese had proved to be males, there would have been rough times in the royal cave, for the male did not lay eggs even in giant days. But they were both good layers and in a few years the Giant had a treasure cave filled with golden eggs.

Where this hoard is hidden today, no one knows. But should you see a spare, solitary figure digging furiously under the Head in the dark of the moon, you can surmise that the treasure map of the Giant has been found.

GUIDE NEWS

Our first meeting of the new season opened with practically full attendance. We also welcomed two new girls, Yvonne Pollesello and Jean Johnson. Plans were made for a hike on Sept. 25 and tentative plans were made for a Christmas concert.

With a view to exposing our budding actresses, most of the meeting was taken up with charades. Each patrol chose a Guide law and acted it out—the winners were the Canaries and runners-up, the Bantams.

We closed the meeting with campfire and "Taps".

SCOUT NEWS

The Summerland Scout Troop started fall activities with last Friday's meeting at the school gym. It is hoped to have a very good program this year with a number of new instructors and added facilities for passing tests and badges.

Activities planned for this fall include two hikes, a trip to Kelowna to visit 1st Kelowna Troop and a campaign to raise money on Scout Apple Day.

For those Scouts who wish it, an overnight camp may be arranged later in the fall.

Three recruits came to the troop Friday from the Cubs. These were Kliz, who is assigned to the Beavers, Pohlman to the Buffaloes, and Dumont to the Hawks. The troop welcomes these boys and knows they will make fine Scouts.

There is still room for 5 or 6 more boys.

Until further notice Scout meetings will be held in the Badminton hall at 7 p.m. on Friday's. Duty patrol, Beavers. Rubber soled shoes must be worn.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Any shortcut that knocks a few minutes off the work schedule is a boon to a busy woman, but when it pays vitamin dividends it is even more important. Eliminate the potato peeling chore from kitchen routine and the potatoes make a more valuable contribution of vitamin C and iron. Nutritionists say that the skin of the potato acts as a waterproof jacket, keeping the goodness where it belongs—inside the potato.

Penny Wise

They invent this, and they invent that, and then they invent the other. But do they ever invent a gadget to bring husbands home on time? No siree! That's up to you dearie, and it calls for a lot of dressing up pretty at dinner time, no nattering at the children, and a long, drawn-out kiss for HIM when he arrives. That'll get him—that, plus a stupendous meal just about every day in the week.

There's something about these sunny, but not-hot days that brings out the slave in me. I work and work and work (my fingers are worn almost to the first knuckle) doing all the things I've been promising to get done all summer long. I think the Indians picked a good time to have their summer, don't you?

After all my care of them, a lot of my tomatoes are turning black on the vines. I think I'll have to make a lot of green tomato pickle! Thank goodness it's a mmmmm-good dish.

Don't skimp when it comes to giving praise either to your children or your husband. They'll thrive on it and love you for it. You can praise a child for being good for the past hour, or for not pulling the cat's tail. And you can make your good man feel like a king by simply telling him how glad you are he didn't splash water all over the bathroom last time he shaved.

And by the same token, when children offer to do anything around the house, let them. They may be too small to do it properly, but they'll learn, and by the time they're old enough they have it down to a T. Whatever that may be down to.

Don't be scared of color around the house. Even if you paint one kitchen chair red, another yellow, a third green, and a fourth blue, let there be color. Makes everybody feel happier.

Give the family a treat any Saturday night now by dishing up a huge potful of baked beans. Somehow they just don't taste quite the same out of a tin as out of the oven, particularly if you leave them in for hours and hours, with lots of pork and plenty of molasses. There is a way you can cook them in the earth too that gets even better results, but I'll settle for the oven kind. With enough brown bread to make a mountain and slathers of butter.

Use your good silver often—it'll last for years, and you'll find it won't tarnish so quickly if you sport it on everyday occasions once in a while. Turns a stew into a feast, somehow.

A dinner of pancakes is often one that goes down very well with young and old alike, and saves you having to cook vegetables for once. The vitamin-quest will wait until tomorrow, when you can cook an extra bunch of carrots, or give them a tomato-juice cocktail to start off with.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Arising out of a disagreement on purchase of lumber without council approval, Councillor Johnston tendered his resignation on Monday. However, he was asked by all other council members to withdraw his letter and this was done.

Engineer F. H. Latimer has been commissioned to examine the plans for the new irrigation system and to make a careful inspection from the intake to the reservoir and around to Jones Flat.

The superintendent of education has informed the school board that extended absence from the district of its member, Mrs. F. W. Andrew, has not disqualified her from continuing in office. There will be no need for another election.

Enrollment of pupils in the central school shows a marked increase over last year, most classes being up one-third to maximum that can be efficiently cared for.

Rev. W. H. Bates was formally inducted as pastor of St. Andrew's church on Wednesday evening, the service being conducted by Rev. J. A. Rowland of Peachland, Rev. J. F. Millar of Penticton, Rev. A. Borthwick and Rev. Mr. Campbell, Benvenuto.

The first silo in this district has been erected on the Balcom ranch and this week Mr. R. J. Forris, of the department of agriculture has been demonstrating with a machine sent by the department.

Foundation has been laid this week for a 32 by 26 foot addition to the Rialto theatre.

Labor-Management Problem Biggest One in England Today Says Rotary Speaker

"Biggest problem in England today is that of labor and management," declared Charles Cuttle, of Harrow, Eng., retired former assistant customs officer for the Port of London, a visitor to the Okanagan during a jaunt around Canada, and a man who proved an interesting speaker to the weekly Rotary Club of Summerland supper at the Nu-Way Annex last Friday evening.

Mr. Cuttle discussed briefly the political situation in Great Britain today and then branched into a few highlights of the present day conditions.

In his work as customs officer, Mr. Cuttle had a great deal to do with solving labor-management problems, as he was chairman of the "council" on numerous such discussions in civil service matters.

Mr. Cuttle explained that the heads of the departments in each civil service office would be represented on discussion councils, as well as staff representatives by grades.

All results, whether in agreement or disagreement, would be referred to an examining committee in London for further approval.

Spreading Practice

This practice, which has been developed in the civil service in the Old Country, is coming into being all over the country in private enterprise, Mr. Cuttle declared, but training is needed on the part of the council men so that sensible and just agreement can be obtained.

Mr. Cuttle believes that management is "endeavoring to be sensible and just, and on this ground I believe we have a basis for steady improvement in our country and I think we are progressing towards a greater prosperity than we have ever known before."

Dealing with the political aspects, Mr. Cuttle told the Rotarians that the result of the Labor party win in England was a big surprise to a great many Old Countrymen, even to Churchill himself.

Although not a man with Labor party leanings, Mr. Cuttle believes that the Labor government is better than a coalition, as suggested, as now Labor party men must exercise their positions with a real sense of responsibility.

With a Conservative government, the speaker is afraid that the labor troubles would have been vastly greater.

"Labor has to stand or fall on what they do now," Mr. Cuttle emphasized.

No Freedom

Turning to the Russian situation, the speaker reminded his listeners that the Labor government had to move cautiously as a great number of the party's supporters still have the delusion that Russia is a great land for the working class, "whereas really the workers have as much freedom as a carthorse."

Of the Western Union, Mr. Cuttle believes that a stiffer front is needed in dealing with France, to bring that country into line.

Nationalization of coal was almost inevitable, Mr. Cuttle declared, as the British mining industry has a terrible history. The coal board, set up under the nationalization plan, is too new to criticize. He spoke generally on the subject of nationalization of industry and considered that there are many problems ahead, chief of which is the promotion problem. He instanced some of the difficulties experienced in the civil service.

Great developments in education have been made in Britain and the road is now open to a greater number of young men to receive higher education.

"It isn't the public school system as such, which makes our schooling standards so high, but we have a very fine calibre of man on the staff of our public schools, and this is the secret of our success," he declared.

For a brief period, Mr. Cuttle dealt with food and other material shortages, many of which are becoming easier. He left the impression that there is a gradual change for the better in the life of the average Britisher at home.

VITAMINS AND VITALITY

Bad eating habits are the enemy of beauty. That feeling of vitality—a clear skin, bright eyes, glossy hair—depend to a large extent on the food you eat. It isn't what you eat now and then that counts, but what you eat every day at every meal. A balanced diet may be a better beauty aid than many cosmetics.

Vegetable Growers Not Responsible For Higher Costs

About 30 packinghouse managers from the vegetable producing areas of the interior including Grand Forks and Kamloops met in Kelowna on September 9, to discuss with the vegetable board and B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the problems concerning vegetable producers with respect to their 1948 crops.

It was quite evident that in spite of increased production costs and import restrictions the vegetable growers in this section cannot be blamed for contributing to the high cost of living.

The so-called "austerity restrictions" appear to have worked in reverse to what was expected by producers and consumers. Production of most ground crops, although late in B.C., have been abundant throughout Canada and unusually early in the prairie provinces.

As a result, the movement, although almost equal to that of 1947, has not been quite sufficient in spite of relatively low prices to take care of available supplies from day to day and surpluses have, as a result, moved into processing channels or been held against fall and winter requirements.

Reports were made of extremely low prices being quoted on good quality vegetables throughout U.S. and Canada and the vegetable board was urged to call growers meetings more frequently in the various areas to acquaint them with marketing prospects, production costs and new methods, particularly in farm mechanization.

Kamloops Sentinel Now Tabloid Size Issued Tri-Weekly

On Monday, September 13, the Kamloops Sentinel commenced a new service for its readers when it produced the first issue of its five-column tabloid style tri-weekly. Publication dates are Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

"The increased frequency of publication has been undertaken to keep pace with the faster tempo of activities in the city of Kamloops and its extensive contiguous territory," states the Sentinel.

The new Kamloops tri-weekly will provide "up-to-the-minute world news through the services of Canadian Press, brought to the Sentinel office by a teletype machine operating 24 hours a day over direct wire from CP headquarters in Vancouver.

More Fungus Troubles Than Usual But Few Insect Problems

"The cool wet season has left us with more fungus troubles than usual, particularly in the stone fruits; however, the crop is very free from insect damage," declares the fortnightly issue of the Horticultural News Letter, published by the provincial department of agriculture and released on Monday.

This statement was contained in the resume of the crop progress for Summerland, Westbank and Peachland, which is out of date now.

Penticton and district reports that apples are sizing and coloring well and picking of McIntosh is expected to start this weekend. Pear psylla is building up in some orchards, Penticton reports, and many orchards will require another fall spray for control.

"Disease and insect problems seem to be well in hand at present," Oliver-Osoyoos district relates.

In the north, Kelowna declares that "there is a marked reduction in the amount of pacific and red mite damage this year as compared with the past two years. Codling moth damage is less than at any time since it became a real factor in apple production in this district."

About 17,000 furnaces and heating boilers were produced in Canada during the first quarter of 1948.

TWICE A YEAR

Children usually have their full set of temporary teeth around three years of age and sometime before then they should begin to visit the dentist regularly twice a year. By the time a child begins school, he should have learned to brush his teeth thoroughly twice a day. A good diet helps ensure a good set of strong, healthy teeth.

on Tuesday, Sept. 28, when all tenders must be submitted. Tuesday's council meeting decided. The debenture issue to raise the municipality's portion of the school loan bylaw is in denominations of $1,000 and $500. Circulars are being sent to bond houses regarding this issue.

Local Business

In the course of regular school board business, it was learned that the fire alarm system and bells for the high school have arrived and will be installed shortly.

Subject of the Parish hall rental came under discussion, it being learned from Secretary B. A. Tingley that the rental has now been fixed at $55 per month without janitor services. To provide a janitor would cost about $20 monthly, Mr. Tingley estimated.

The school board was reminded that the United church hall is being rented at $55 per month, including janitor services and the board asked Finance Chairman C. J. Bleasdale to investigate further so that these two rentals could be brought into line.

It was pointed out that the Anglican church pays taxes for its parish hall property, whereas the United church is tax-free, thus making some difference in the monthly rental charges.

Miss R. Dale has not been able to return to her school staff duties in the elementary school, due to illness, and the board decided that she should be paid an amount that her salary would exceed that of a substitute's salary, after allowance is made for sick leave.

Singers & Players club will be given use of the high school on the same basis as previous years.

Forty desks were on order for the high school, for August 31 delivery, but were involved in a fire at a Victoria plant. The board is endeavoring to obtain desks from other sources but delivery cannot be promised for several months.

A dozen jack planes will be ordered from the B.C. Equipment Co. for the manual arts classes, at a cost of $8.95 each.

Turn Down Petition

Recently, residents of Paradise Flat area petitioned for a change in bus route, but the board learned that the bus operators, Smith & Henry and Principal S. A. MacDonald cannot accede to this request unless the roads to be used under the proposed revised plan are made more passable.

It would be extremely dangerous to operate a bus over

Residence Here 34 Years Is Brought to End

Residence of 34 years in Summerland district was brought to a close on Monday, September 13, with the passing in the Summerland hospital of Mrs. Mary Hannah Harwood, at the age of 87 years.

Born in Ontario, the late Mrs. Harwood resided in Stettler, Alta., for some time before coming to Summerland to make her home. She had been ill about one month prior to her passing.

Funeral services were held from the Summerland Baptist church on Wednesday, Sept. 15, with Rev. F. W. Haskins in charge. Interment was in the Peach Orchard cemetery.

The late Mrs. Harwood was predeceased by her husband in 1919 and she leaves a family of two sons, Gordon W. Harwood in Toronto, Ont., and Ralph M. Harwood, Vancouver; four daughters, Mrs. Florence M. Perrin, Yanhill, Ore., Mrs. Bessie M. Lyster, Tulavista, Cal., Mrs. Harriet L. Foster, Tacoma, Wash., and Mrs. Marion H. Tingley, West Summerland; also 12 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were made by Roselawn Funeral Home and pall-bearers consisted of Messrs. George Armstrong, C. V. Nesbitt, Doney Wilson, J. A. Soderberg, James Kean and Vern Charles.

portions of the proposed route, the board was informed. Trustees are replying to the Paradise Flat parents that their request cannot be considered.

Flourescent lights will be installed in the Parish hall and black-board paint applied to the blackboards, in an effort to improve facilities in this make-shift school classroom.

It was pointed out in a letter from a parent, a pensioner, that the cost of providing certain textbooks for his son in high school grade would amount to $15.85 and he cannot afford this amount. The board referred this subject back to Principal Macleod with the suggestion that the school itself arrange for an exchange of text books as has operated in other schools.

Inspector Burnett stated this subject should never have been brought before the board.

KEEPING HOUSE IN THE DARK—

Yes, she CAN bake an apple pie like any other good housewife even though she is blind. Housekeeping in the dark is not only possible but practical as is proved by hundreds of blind women in Canada today. Any blind person in Canada is entitled to the services of a home teacher from The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. These Home Teachers, blind themselves, are trained to teach sightless women the safe, efficient way of cooking and keeping house when they cannot see. This is one of the services provided free for the blind people by the money raised in the Institute's annual campaign which takes place this week. A tag day is being held here this Saturday.

Father of Resident Here Passes Away

KELOWNA — Active in the fruit industry for many years, Fred Allen Lewis, passed away at his home at 1489 St. Paul St., on Friday, Sept. 3, 1948. Rev. M. W. Lees, First United Church, conducted the funeral service from the chapel of Day's Funeral Service on Sunday, September 5, at 3 p.m. Interment was in the Kelowna cemetery.

The late Mr. Lewis was born in Chatham, Ont., on Nov. 24, 1881. He came to the Kelowna district from Ontario in 1908, taking a ranch in Rutland until 1923, at which time he joined the Associated Growers at Vernon. During World War I he served overseas with the 1st Canadian Motor Machine Gun unit. He was a Canadian Legion member.

Mr. Lewis was secretary of the Federated Shippers for several years and retired about three years ago due to ill health.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Leila Maxwell, Vancouver; and two sons, Lou, of Summerland, and Bud of Oliver; and nine grandchildren. Mr. Lewis was the last surviving member of the Lewis family of seven sons and daughters.

Acting as pallbearer were C. Horner, W. Darroch, L. R. Stephens, D. McNair, T. Wilkinson and J. Stirling.

BALANCED LIVING

Mental health experts say that mental upsets often follow serious bodily illnesses. They suggest that in order to help maintain good mental health it is advisable to sidestep needless worry and fatigue. It is best to use leisure time to advantage and to keep physical health at its peak if proper emotional stability is to be maintained.

SEND FIRE TRUCK PLANS TO COAST

Plans and specifications for the renovation of the recently-purchased truck to provide a fire truck for the municipality have been submitted to the council, through the local brigade, by the Penticton Engineering Works.

These plans were reviewed by Tuesday's council meeting but no mention was made of the cost as this firm was the only one asked to submit figures.

Approval of the fire underwriters and the fire marshal will be obtained before any start is made on reconstructing the truck.

Local Woman on Cruiser "Ontario"

Mrs. D. Turnbull, with Robert and Arthur, have returned to Summerland after ten days' holiday spent at the coast. While there, she flew to Victoria to visit her son David, who is stationed at Esquimalt, having joined the RCN last June.

Accompanied by David Turnbull and Ed Fleming, an hour was spent on board the cruiser Ontario, which proved very interesting. Escorted by one of the ship's officers, a thorough round of the ship was made, climbing ladders, dodging around big guns and radar equipment, with a final look into the cook's galley.

This was especially interesting from a housewife's point of view, seeing huge cauldrons where the soups and stews are made and big ovens to bake potatoes for 500 men, and cooked by pressure cooker.

David Turnbull and Ed Fleming sent greetings to all their friends and members of Summerland Teen Town.

Rotarians May Take School Students on "See B.C. First" Trip

Summerland Rotarians are to decide this week whether they will conduct the Summerland high school graduating class on the annual treat trip to Coulee dam or whether they will change to a See B.C. First caravan.

Last Friday, at the weekly Rotary supper, President R. C. Palmer suggested the alternative of a visit to the Hedley mines, plus a peak at the start of the Hope-Princeton highway. It was later thought that a visit to Copper Mountain or the Allenby concentrator, plus the highway side-trip would probably be more interesting.

However, Rotarians are asking the students which trip they would prefer and will probably come to a decision at tomorrow night's session.

The Rotary Club of Summerland has been playing host to the Grade XII students for the past three years on a holiday jaunt to Coulee dam.

Informal Reception At Ellison Hall

To introduce the bride to the groom's many Summerland friends, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schimpf entertained at an informal reception held in Ellison hall on Friday evening, September 10.

Mr. Fred Schumann served as master of ceremonies to present the large group's toasts of congratulations to the young couple. Dancing was enjoyed to the music of Marcel Bonthoux's orchestra.

Friends of Mrs. Ivor P. Barnes will be pleased to learn that she is leaving Toronto today, Thursday, to spend some time with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Graham in Salmon Arm.

Miss Pauline Pearson, who has been for the past few months on the staff of the Penticton hospital, left on Sunday to attend UBC, where she will take the public health course.

Miss Christine Aitken and Miss Emily Paskow returned to Vancouver on Tuesday night's train after spending a week's holiday at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Aitken, experimental station.

Board of Trade President Praises Work in Preparing Winning Festival Float

At the first session following the summer recess, Summerland Board of Trade drew only a small attendance for its September meeting in the IOOF hall, Thursday night, but a variety of subjects came under discussion.

Reviewing some of the summer work undertaken by the board, President F. W. Schumann paid special tribute to those who worked so diligently in planning and completing the Summerland board's float in the Penticton Peach Festival.

"We can be justly proud of this work," declared President Schumann in mentioning in particular Roy Wellwood and Tom Manning, of the board's tourist and publicity committee, and Mr. E. H. Bennett and his daughter Joan, who provided the gladioli, besides playing a major part in the designing and finishing stages.

This float won first prize for community floats in the festival, and was awarded the Okanagan Investments Ltd. shield. Mr. H. G. Nares, on behalf of the investment firm, termed the Summerland entry a "very artistic float" and added his congratulations to the trade board and Summerland generally.

Acted Wisely

President Schumann referred to the cancellation of the swim classes and stated the board committee acted wisely in not attempting to hold these classes this year, because of the high water level. Mr. C. Wade, chairman of the committee, declared that if water conditions permit the classes will go on again in 1949, by which time he hoped that the rafts at Powell Beach would be anchored permanently.

Lights Arrived

Asked to report on the board's project of providing suitable lighting equipment for the Summerland hospital operating room, George Graham declared that the lights have arrived and are installed, but auxiliary equipment necessary for their proper functioning has not been made available yet. The trade board had agreed to finance this project out of funds raised in 1947 but the lights took nearly nine months for delivery.

Band Donation

Summerland brass band requested monetary assistance for instrument purchase and, at the recommendation of the executive, the board voted $15 towards this fund. A previous amount of $25 had been paid from Spring Fair funds towards band promotion.

Presentation Made

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation by President Schumann of a desk set to Mr. Len Hill, board secretary for two years, and a man who had played an active part in board affairs during his short sojourn in Summerland business life. The board chairman spoke highly of Mr. Hill's assistance to the organization and stated that the community would miss a man who had been so active in promoting community welfare.

Hotel Enquiries

Recently, the trade board advertised in prairie papers that this community is interested in having a hotel erected here. Three replies requesting further information were received by Secretary Lorne Perry and have been dealt with, the meeting was told.

The three enquiries were from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Vancouver.

Parks Commission

It has been proposed that the board's parks committee study the question of parks and cemetery maintenance in Summerland district with a view to collating information relative to the formation of a parks commission. This is a new project instituted by the trade board and if the information indicates that a commission would serve a useful purpose here, then a recommendation will be passed along to the municipal council.

No Action on Names

Dr. F. W. Andrew reminded the board that he had headed a committee to name Summerland streets, that a report had been accepted by the council a year ago but no action had been taken. The board agreed with Dr. Andrew's suggestion that the council be asked what action it intends to take on the report.

Arising out of the discussion on streets, George Graham declared that the names "Granville" and "Hastings" as applied to principal business streets in West Summerland "irks" him.

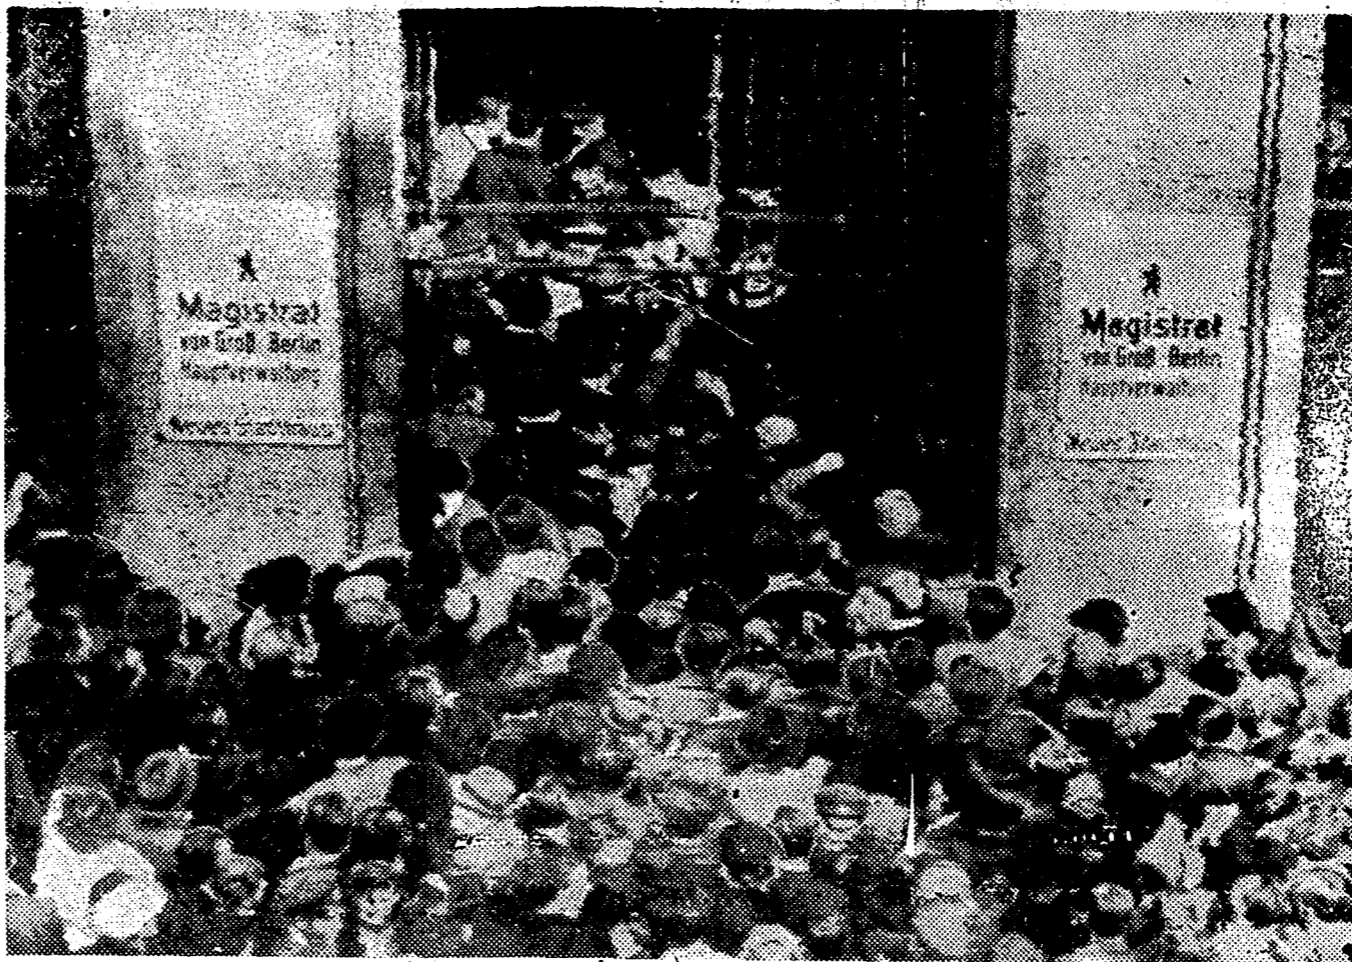

He believed that Summerland should have street names more distinctive and not so closely related to Vancouver streets. However, no suggestion was made as to how any change could be undertaken.

The official term is "road" and not "street", the board was also informed. Dr. Andrew declared that when the business section was first surveyed there were no buildings and the thoroughfares were, therefore, called roads. Such designations could be altered by making an official change at the land registry office in Kamloops, he thought.

No Policeman

Francis Stewart drew the board's attention to the fact that Summerland is without police protection for part-time now that B.C. Police Constable T. Thorsteinson is on holidays. He asked that a letter go to the municipal council pointing out that a substitute police constable should be made available for Summerland during such holiday period. The board agreed with this proposal, although W. M. Wright pointed out that a police constable comes to Summerland in daytime from Penticton during Constable Thorsteinson's absence. The meeting also heard a request from President Schumann for a delegate to the annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce which is to be held in Vancouver on October 26, 27 and 28. No volunteers were forthcoming.

Communists Break Into Berlin's City Hall

Communist-led demonstrators smashed their way into Berlin's City Hall recently, during a demonstration to keep the Berlin city council from meeting. Soviet-controlled police made no attempt to halt the demonstration, the third of its kind in 10 days.

Modern Fish Hatchery Operation Described to Board of Trade Here

"In Summerland you have one of the two most modern fish hatcheries in the province and it will be modern for a long time to come," declared Mr. A. B. Higgs, in charge of the Summerland Fish Hatchery for the B.C. Game Commission, speaking to the Summerland Board of Trade meeting in the IOOF hall on Thursday evening last.

Cost of the hatchery here was named by Mr. Higgs as around $25,000 which was nearly twice as much as was first anticipated.

On top of this capital expenditure, there is the operating cost, including wages, light and water and food for the fish, the latter requirement being nearly equivalent to a man's wages.

Natural Loss Great

"Sometimes the public wonders if this cost is worthwhile," continued Mr. Higgs, and gave some facts and figures to indicate the appreciable difference in fish propagation between natural methods and by hatchery culture.

On the average, the loss in the eyeing stage is four to five percent and by the time the fingerling stage is reached, the loss in hatcheries ranges from 15 to 30 percent. However, by natural methods, less than one percent of the eggs laid by fish reach the three-to-six-inch size.

Loss at the Summerland hatchery for fry is around five percent, which is much lower than Mr. Higgs experienced at Qualicum, where he was stationed prior to coming here.

Water is the main reason for this low percentage of loss, as the Summerland spring water is "the best I've ever run into," Mr. Higgs declared. This water has an alkaline content, which is ideal for trout raising.

Mr. Higgs also mentioned some of his difficulties here, in connection with raising the eggs to fingerling stage for the bigger lakes.

High Lake Level

It had been planned to have the rearing ponds behind the hatchery completed by this time, but high lake level has prevented completion. Mr. Higgs has had to release a greater amount of fry than he wished, as he is crowded for room, as the fish grow in size.

"However, we are going to keep as many fish as possible for release next spring as four and five-inch fingerlings," Mr. Higgs promised. These will be for release in Okanagan, Skaha and Osoyoos lakes, where fry have little chance of survival.

In conclusion, Mr. Higgs expressed the hope that all board members would pay a visit to the hatchery where he could explain more in detail the workings of this new industry to Summerland.

The 1948-49 school term at Summerland High opened on Tuesday, Sept. 7, with all class rooms filled to capacity. Four new teachers have taken up positions on the staff. Mr. Fisher hails from Vancouver and is teaching social studies. Mr. Durick is teaching mathematics and is instructing P.E. and boys sports activities. Miss M. Campbell, a native of Summerland is teaching home economics and girls' health. English, French, girls' guidance and P.E. are under the supervision of Miss Matthew from Ontario.

The enrolment figures have broken an all-time record with 149 students in attendance, making it necessary to divide Grade nine into 2 divisions, one division of which has taken up residence in the Union Library. Grade ten and eleven have classes of 28 and 38 students respectively. Twenty-two students attend to make up the 1949 graduating class.

Summerland Readers Are Not Taking Full Advantage of Union Library Facilities

Summerland is not taking full advantage of its Union Library facilities. This was quite definitely the conclusion drawn after listening to Mrs. M. Ffoulkes talk on the books available and ready for the shelves of the local library—if people will ask for them—when she spoke to the Women's Institute at its first fall meeting in Oddfellows' hall on Friday, Sept. 10.

After giving a comprehensive survey of new books now ready for circulation to branches, Mrs. Ffoulkes remarked that none of these were in Summerland—"because nobody has asked for any of these books. We need written requests in order to know what to buy for the branches," she said. "It would help if you would let us have a list once in a while of books you want to read. There is a request pad in the library, use it to give your preference, and keep your shelves up to date."

Biographies, essays, and good current fiction are among the new books reviewed to show the current-mindedness of the Union Library association.

Overlooked Books

Mrs. Ffoulkes also reviewed a number of excellent books which are now in the Summerland branch, but which seem to have been largely overlooked. Among these are Hilda Hooke's Canadian folktales, entitled "Thunder in the Mountains", which she termed "excellent for reading aloud to the children"; "The Art of Detection", by Jacob Fisher, a book to appeal to those lovers of the "Who Dunnits", giving the inside story of real-life detective operation; "By this Strange Fire", another Canadian-authored and published book by Edith Fargeter; excellent biographies "George Elliot", by Gerald Bullett, and "The Incredible Crosby", a chatty informal story of the life of the beloved Bing, by Barry Ulanow; and many others both fiction and non-fiction.

Of the more sophisticated novels, those unsuitable for consumption by immature minds, "for which some people have an occasion liking," Mrs. Ffoulkes explained that these would be ordered upon request, but are so marked that the librarian can segregate them from the general circulation.

One man's meat being another man's poison in books as in other tastes, it has been found that the occasional subscriber will scathingly denounce some particular book as unfit for circulation.

Just Another Man

Mrs. Ffoulkes told the tale of one patron, "a man, as it happened, so I can safely tell the story here," she said, who heard of a rather "spicy" book, and requested it through his branch. After he had received, read and digested it, he brought it back to the branch and scathingly denounced the library for producing such salacious literature!

Occasionally, the librarian takes it upon himself to be the censor of what his clients shall read. One sweet old gentleman carefully packaged up and hid away, so nobody could find them, every book sent to his branch that didn't measure up to his exact purity standards.

There are ten members on the staff of the headquarters of the Okanagan Union Library, two of whom are out in the van two days a week carrying books to and from the different branches. The territory covered, about 10,000 square miles, runs from Osoyoos north to Sicamous and across on the north shore of Shuswap Lake; east to within 10 miles of Revelstoke, and west to 50 miles the other side of Kamloops. Keremeos, Cawston and Hedley are covered by this association.

Overseas Members

The first meeting of the season was not as fully attended as had been hoped, less than half the 65 members responding to secretary Mrs. E. L. Famchon's roll call.

President Mrs. M. E. Collas was in the chair, and after calling the meeting to order announced the Institute's pleasure in having as guests two members of Overseas' Institutes, Miss D. Theed of England and Mrs. Angus Macdonald from Cupar, Fife, Scotland.

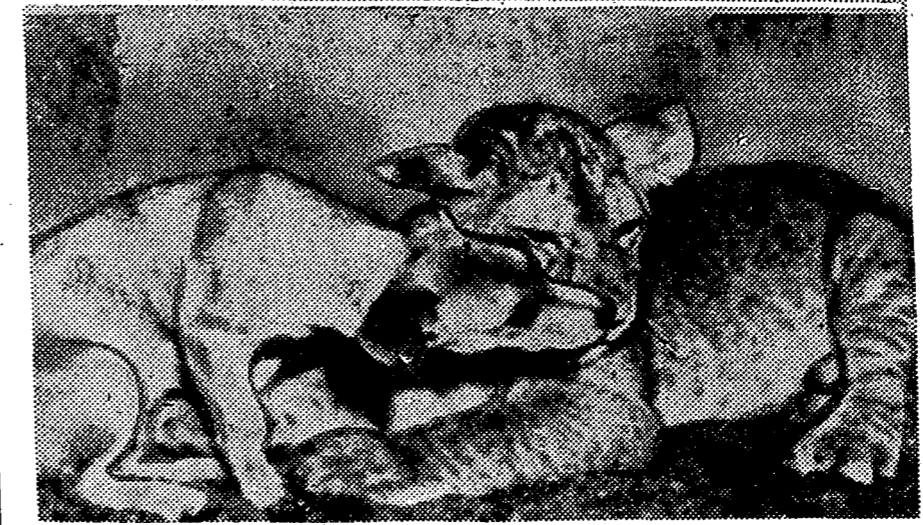

The forthcoming Fall Bazaar, which is scheduled to take place on October 16 in Oddfellows' hall, came in for much discussion. It was decided to have a display of curios, handicrafts, antiques and hobbies for the edification and interest of attenders, as well as the usual sale of handwork and home cooking.

Mrs. H. R. McLarty, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Mrs. G. Ritchie and Mrs. A. K. Macleod were named as a committee to arrange for the exhibits.

The by-law regarding a hall to be built in connection with the Memorial Park was also touched upon, Mrs. Collas suggesting that the ladies study the proposed plan of the building and do all they can to further the passing of the by-law. Mrs. Famchon was asked, on motion of Mrs. J. McLachlan and Mrs. E. Bingham, to write a letter to the Legion W.A. asking them to put their shoulders to the wheel in this respect also.

Tag Day Set

Tag day on behalf of the Institute for the Blind will be on Saturday, September 18. Volunteers to take responsibility for disperse-

Inseparable pals at the Potawatomi park zoo here are DUKE, a five-month-old lion cub, and FANNY, a mongrel pup, shown here today in Duke's cage. Their friendship started when attendants had to take Duke away from his mother, Bobo, because of Bobo's rough ways. Then Fanny appeared on the scene and the dog and lion became fast friends. Attempts to separate them have been futile and now they spend all their time together.

ment and collection of the boxes were called for, with Mrs. G. Ritchie, Mrs. Collas and Mrs. E. R. Butler taking on the duty.

The ladies also decided that the monthly overseas parcels for the next two months would be sent to the Institutes of which the day's guests were members. Mrs. E. C. Bingham was accordingly asked to send September's parcel to Miss Theed's home Institute at West Byfleet, Surrey, while the October parcel is scheduled to go to that of Mrs. Macdonald at Dairside, Scotland.

Before adjourning the meeting for the tea hour, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh thanked Mrs. Ffoulkes on behalf of the Institute for coming to address the meeting. In return Mrs. Ffoulkes spoke of the Union Library's pleasure in receiving Mrs. Vanderburgh as a member of their board.

"Canada Today" Is Publicizing Country Abroad

"One of Canada's chief grousers is that many people in Britain and most Americans are entirely ignorant of her geography and way of life," says Mr. Punch's special correspondent in a recent issue of that imitable publication under the title of "An Innocent in Canada".

The correspondent goes on to say that the Americans, it seems, "have the most fantastic notions about their northern neighbors, visualize them as a gang of semi-civilized nomads, Red Indians and poor whites, scraping for edible mosses in the perpetual snows of the tundra.

"I am told," the correspondent impishly continues, "that Yankee tourists sometimes arrive in Winnipeg for their mid-summer holidays lavishly equipped with furs and ski-boots and prepared to exist solely on pemmican and old boot-laces."

While Canada has plenty of American friends who know better, it is a fact that this great country needs a campaign of enlightenment abroad to tell the world what an up-and-coming place Canada really is.

One real effort in this direction is a publication called "Canada Today", recently published by the Bank of Montreal. It is a pocket-sized brochure of 100 pages copiously illustrated. It tells, with an amazing number of facts—and not too many figures—the story of Canada, her resources and her people.

Here is an immensely readable story of Canada which shows this country as living on a standard to all intents and purposes the same as that of the United States—a country which has made major contributions to industrial, scientific and cultural advancement—a country of almost unlimited resources and an industrial output that has trebled in value since 1939.

The B of M distributed thousands of copies of "Canada Today" to visitors at the recent Canadian International Trade Fair and additional thousands have been sent to all kinds of business and financial people abroad who may be interested in trading with Canada. It is also receiving some distribution to tourists and prospective emigrants to Canada.

The effort is a commendable one that should help break down the ignorance about Canada abroad. While the publication is intended primarily for distribution beyond Canada's boundaries, it can serve a real purpose at home in selling Canada to Canadians, and limited quantities are being made available to school libraries and to teachers where class-work includes the study of the economic and industrial development of the country.

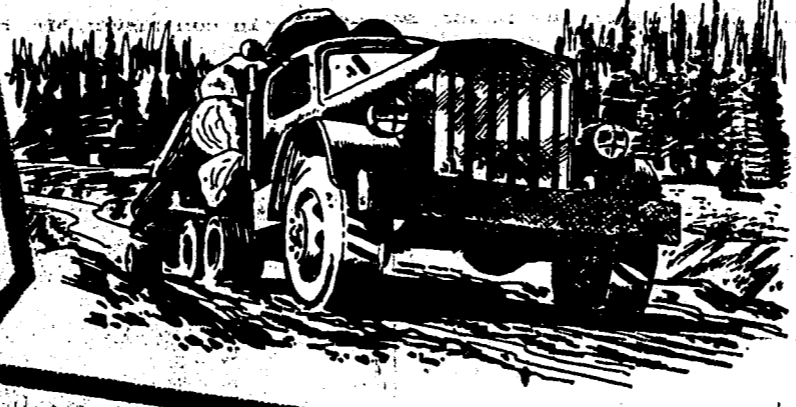

Push Breakwater Plan for Summerland

Consideration of Summerland's request for a breakwater in 1949 federal public works construction program may be given, the Summerland Board of Trade was informed on Thursday night when correspondence was read from the public works department in Ottawa.

Secretary Lorne Perry considered that this project should be pushed during the winter months, so that action will be taken by the government during its next session.

Adding to this idea, George Stoll obtained the board sanction to his plan to acquaint O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, with Summerland's need of breakwater facilities.

Going Steady... ...15 Tons at 40 Per

THE general who worked on the theory of getting there "fustest with the mostest" was a pretty shrewd operator. Transportation plays a key role in our lives. That's why those giant Diesel trucks, those powerful, modern freight trains are indispensable today for getting things done quickly, efficiently.

TRUE, all this freight could be moved by horse or oxen . . . but much more slowly . . . in smaller quantities and at a higher cost. But progress in transportation, the saving of time and money, brings to Canada goods from all over the world at lower prices . . . and raises our own standard of living.

PROGRESS is a hard-to-win fight; and no fight is ever won without the incentive to win. No monopoly system, privately or State-owned, ever has this incentive, for a monopoly has no competitors with which to contend. Competition developed the efficient methods which make our free system great.

THE story of Canada's progress is one of competition, of capital at work creating products people want, making them better, cheaper; moving and selling them faster. This system, we believe, offers the greatest incentives, the highest standards of living, the best job-security and freedom of opportunity.

Davie Fulton Denies Story Of Resignation

KAMLOOPS—In Maclean's Magazine issue of September 1, "The Man with a Notebook", anonymous political columnist, purported to tell the story behind Mr. John Bracken's resignation as leader of the Progressive Conservative party. He claimed that E. Davie Fulton, MP for Kamloops, "broke the stalemate" in the party and brought about John Bracken's resignation.

Mr. Fulton's reply to this article is a flat denial and he has issued a statement to the Kamloops Sentinel, which weekly published a portion of the Maclean's article, by special permission of Ralph Allen, managing editor.

Mr. Fulton's statement follows: The scene which is described in the Maclean's Magazine article is so far-fetched—indeed so ridiculous—as hardly to call for anything in the way of denial, except that it appeared in a magazine of national circulation whose articles have previously been thought of as fair and accurate.

My inclination until now has been to ignore the article. I was, and am still certain that my friends throughout this riding, as well as those who have come to know me in the house of commons would not accept the report of such a fantastic scene as true. On the other hand any denial on a wider national basis would be of little significance to those not acquainted with the principles by which I have been governed in my work at Ottawa.

However, since you are reproducing the article as a matter of news interest in your paper here in Kamloops, I will only say that the statements contained in the article, insofar as they relate to myself, are almost entirely imaginative, and certainly the description of my conduct is untrue. It is enough in this respect merely to state that had I any intention of moving to another part of the house (which I had not) I would not have chosen this method of communicating it, and had I intended to deliver any ultimatum to Mr. Bracken (whom I knew to be in Brandon) I would not have been content to leave it with his secretary.

The rest of the extract that you are re-printing is equally highly imaginative and equally wide of the mark.

TEMPER TANTRUMS

Preventing outbursts of temper in a child is far better for all concerned than having to cure them. Hunger and fatigue make such outbursts more likely to happen. Parents should be sure their children get enough sleep and have their meals on time. They have a need for play materials suited to their development and for the companionship of other children their own age. Repeating "bad" and "naughty" to a child is to be avoided.

Final "No" on Export of B.C. Apples to Britain

Final answer to the B.C. Fruit industry's enquiry for admittance to the United Kingdom apple market in 1948-49 is a definite, although reluctant "no", A. K. Loyd, general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the central sales agency, informed some members of the valley press last week.

Representations were made to the British Ministry of Food regarding shipments of B.C. apples to the U.K. this fall and winter but the answer was still the same as in the 1947-48 marketing season.

This answer is final for the season, Mr. Loyd has been informed.

The sales agency is now faced with the problem of selling a more than eight million box crop of apples on the Canadian, United States and a few export markets. Last year, the crop was not as large and the sales agency was able to dispose of it by late May, without too much difficulty.

Mr. Loyd has declared that "we hope and expect" exports to the United States markets, and some discussions have already been held with American fruit interests.

Though the U.S. market is not strong, the 1948 crop is considerably smaller than average, at an anticipated 101,000,000 bushels. The average production is 113,000,000 bushels and last year's output was a record 121,000,000.

Again this season, as in the past, quality of fruit will be the final determining factor in relation to the successful marketing of the apple crop, Tree Fruits marketing heads declare.

If the B.C. growers will provide the marketing agency with a high quality brand of apples, then there will not be too much difficulty in disposing of even an eight million box crop on North American markets mainly, it is said.

Girls on Fishing Trip Capture Man

SIDNEY, V.I.—The traditional good humor of the girls in the telephone office was up held on Sunday when four local girls from the Sidney exchange went fishing from Randle's Landing. Betty Roff, Muriel Butterick, Lillian Nunn and Waverley Matchum caught no fish, but they did bring back a man, with two fish to boot.

It happened that Mr. Lees, who had left earlier in the day beached his boat on Sidney Spit while he went ashore. While ashore a passing steamer swamped the boat, making it impossible to start the engine. Mr. Lees, who had caught two fine salmon, started to row back to Sidney. The girls, who meanwhile had been hopelessly fishing, putt-putted up to Mr. Lees and gave him a lift home.

Lay Power Cable Across Lake for Westbank - Peachland

VERNON—Work on the British Columbia Power Commission's 50,000 h.p. hydro development at Whatshan is proceeding rapidly and already crews of men of the contracting firm Miners (Western) Ltd. have dug about 550 feet of tunnel.

The tunnel will connect Whatshan Lake with Arrow Lake near Needles, where the power plant will be constructed.

T. M. Gibson, regional manager of all interior operations of the commission, reported on his return from Needles and Nakusp, that other work on the new project is also being pushed. A road is being bulldozed into the upper end of the area so that tunnelling may be started from both ends.

Work will proceed during the winter.

The commission is at present building cottages for operators and when the hydro development is complete these will be finished for permanent use. Also being built is a large modern staff house, to house engineers during construction and later for use of operating personnel.

Announcement was made from Victoria last week of two important developments in the interior operations of the B.C. Power Commission.

A large cable is to be placed across Okanagan Lake to serve the commission operations at Westbank-Peachland, Premier Byron Johnson announced.

At Chase, where residents have long been agitating for better power service, the commission has purchased the small hydro plant and distribution system from Carlin Brothers. Price was $11,000.

Red Sox Play Final Series Ball Game Here on Sunday After 6-5 Loss at Penticton

Summerland Red Sox entertain the Skaha Lake Cubs from Penticton next Sunday at the Living Memorial athletic park due to a 6-5 loss at Penticton's King's Park last Sunday in the second of the two out of three playoff series for the South Okanagan junior baseball championship.

It was a smash hit by Baker, with one on the paths in the last of the ninth which broke up a 5-all tie and gave the Cubs a victory, forcing the series into the third and final game here next Sunday.

But it was really a flock of errors in the first frame which cost the Red Sox the victory. Four errors and a home run cost the Red Sox four runs and, although they fought back, went into a slim lead for an inning, they could not hold the advantage.

Gil Jacobs was on the mound for the Red Sox and he was particularly anxious to win that ball game, as he goes to Vancouver to start UBC this week. However, the Red Sox manager, Les Gould, says financial arrangements are being made to fly him back to the Okanagan in time for next Sunday's ball game.

Phipps, second man to bat, socked a home run in the first frame to score Johnson ahead of him and start the fireworks. Three errors resulted in two more runs racing across before the boys settled down to serious baseball.

The Red Sox came back with a single run in the third when Jacobs doubled and scampered home on Hill's miscue in the centre garden. Two singles and a double in the fourth, combined with a wild pitch, resulted in two more runs for the Sox and Penticton then held only a slim 4-3 lead.

In the sixth, a single by Sandy Jomori scored Darryl Weitzel to knot the count and E. Jomori shot Sandy across to give the Sox a 5-4 lead.

Last of the seventh saw the count tied up when Getz was given a pass to first on Brawner's miscue and Bergart drove him home. Going into the last of the ninth, with one away, Phipps singled and came right around on Baker's drive, to end the ball game.

Jacobs struck out nine Cub batters while eight Red Sox fell to Getz' twirlings. Both pitchers were guilty of one wild pitch each but did not walk a man.

Deer-Grouse Season Opened Here Yesterday

Deer and blue grouse hunting in this district commenced yesterday and nimrods are expected to be tramping through the woods in increasing numbers this fall as the price of meat in the retail stores continues to soar.

Also on September 15 elk came into the open season in those portions of the South Okanagan and Similkameen electoral districts lying east of Okanagan lake and river.

Both the deer and elk seasons will last until November 30, but only one elk may be shot during the season, whereas two deer, bucks only, may be shot.

Blue grouse season will last but two weeks and will end on September 30. No ruffed or willow grouse may be shot. Four blue grouse may be bagged daily with season limit of 25.

Pheasant season has now been announced by the B.C. Game Commission and will be allowed in North and South Okanagan and the Similkameen district which lies in the Okanagan watershed, from October 16 to 24, a nine-day period.

This is a big decrease in season-length from last year when pheasants could be shot, if found, from October 18 to November 18. The big decrease in the number of pheasants has forced the game commission to cut the season drastically.

Daily bag limit for pheasants will be two and the season total is ten.

Duck and geese season, in the area lying south of the main line of the CPR starts on October 1 and continues until November 19, from sunrise to one hour after sunset. Daily bag limits are eight ducks and five geese.

Quail and partridge in the South Okanagan electoral district and the Okanagan portion of the Similkameen may be shot from October 16 to October 24, inclusive. The limits are: Quail, daily 4, season 24; partridge, daily 2, season 10.

On the first three days of the pheasant, quail and partridge seasons, opening hour is 12 noon to 4 p.m. On the remaining days, the hours are 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

On-to-Nelson Caravan Halted By Red Indians

MACLEOD, Alta.—The much publicized On-to-Nelson Caravan which is calling attention to the advantages of a southern route for the proposed Trans-Canada highway was halted when a band of Peigans under Chief Philip Big Swan ambushed the caravan one half mile east of Macleod. As the caravan headed towards Macleod the Indians suddenly rode out upon the highway, firing rifles into the air and emitting blood-curdling war-whoops.

The situation was aggravated by the fact that the Peigans believed that the caravan would encroach upon their territorial rights and only when assurance was given Chief Big Swan that the Caravan's mission was peaceful would he allow it to pass.

After receiving this assurance Big Swan with his subchiefs and members of various Boards of Trade from Brandon to Macleod sat before the chief's wig-wam and there smoked the pipe of peace.

Ernie R. McFarland of the Lethbridge Board of Trade was crowned Chief Morning Star in a colorful Indian ceremony. Afterwards whites and Indians joined in a dance before the Indians' camp. At the conclusion of this dance the Caravan was allowed to proceed on the next lap of its journey which took it to the mountain city of Nelson.

Wedding Cake Layer Stolen From Hall

ROSSLAND—Rossland can make a bid this week for the doubtful honor of harboring "the year's most peculiar thief". He made off with the top layer of a wedding cake.

The cake was left in the banquet room of the Oddfellows' Hall after the wedding reception last Wednesday, and the top layer was missing when it was called for later.

Flew From Vernon To Merritt Home

MERRITT—Miss Edith Bristow, who spent the summer vacation at West Summerland, returned Tuesday morning, Sept. 7. She had breakfast at Vernon at 6:45 and came by plane to Lawson Air Field and heard the eight o'clock news in her home in Merritt. Miss Bristow said it was an interesting trip, flying over the lakes at Penticton and Douglas lake country. Miss Bristow had been participating in the Okanagan tennis championships at Vernon over the Labor-Day weekend.

Summerland won the day, defeating the southern club 10 games to 8.

Ask B.C. Police For Permanent Man

Staff/Sgt. Halorow, of the B.C. Police, Penticton, is being asked by the Summerland council that the position of police constable here be filled by a relieving constable stationed in Summerland instead of Penticton, when the regular incumbent is absent on holidays.

Summerland Board of Trade, following last Thursday's session, wrote the council requesting that the B.C. Police be asked to have a constable full time here when the regular officer is away on holidays.

Constable T. Thorsteinson is absent on holidays, at the present time.

Reeve Johnston was in accord with the board sentiments and asked council authority for the letter to be sent to Staff/Sgt. Halorow.

At present a relieving constable visits Summerland daily from Penticton.

NO HELP EXPECTED BY MUNICIPALITY IN BRIDGE EXPENSE

Reeve R. A. Johnston expressed his opinion that the B.C. government will assist the municipality in the work undertaken to save Crescent Beach road from being inundated by the lake waters rising last June, but did not consider the government would assist the municipality in replacing culverts and bridges washed out in Peach Orchard, or in repairing Trout Creek roads made impassable by rising waters.

This was the report given by His Worship to Tuesday's council session following a tour of the district undertaken in company with Government Agent Dalby and Public Works Engineer Colby of Penticton.

Engineer Colby had suggested that Reeve Johnston that an arch-type bridge be substituted for the two culvert bridges in Peach Orchard park leading to Ellison hall.

Councillor E. M. Tait declared that the Trout Creek area considers there is little likelihood that the government will assist in cleaning out the creek bed and a number of citizens of that area are considering a co-operative plan among themselves to have this work done.

The councillor suggested that the municipality could assist in this work, without involving itself in any responsibility for future creek action. He thought that the municipality might put up dollar for dollar with the Trout Creek committee.

It was also suggested that the definite line of the creek should be established, so that no private interests could encroach on the creek bed.

Ex-Municipal Staff Member Rites Tomorrow

Last rites for the late Clarence McDonald Pineo, aged 89, a resident of Summerland district for the past thirty years, will be conducted tomorrow, Friday, September 17 at 2:30 o'clock from St. Stephen's Anglican church with Rev. F. V. Harrison officiating.

The late Mr. Pineo had been in ill health for some time and he passed away in Summerland hospital on Tuesday, September 14.

Born in Nova Scotia, he was educated in Dalhousie University and he came west to Summerland thirty years ago. He was an engineer by profession, but he took up fruit ranching in this district and also entered the municipal office, where he became municipal collector.

This position he held for 18 years, retiring because of failing health in 1929.

He was a grandson of the late Hon. H. G. Pineo, member of the House of Commons for a Nova Scotia constituency.

Deceased was a widower who leaves two sisters to mourn his loss, Mrs. Gertrude Young and Mrs. Adele V. Singer, both of Summerland.

Interment will be in the Anglican cemetery on Giant's Head road. Although the service will not be conducted by the Masonic order, all the pall-bearers will be fellow members of that order, as follows: Messrs. T. B. Young, C. J. Huddleston, A. W. Nisbet, E. Farnham, G. H. Doherty, G. A. Laidlaw.

Summerland Funeral Home is in charge of the funeral arrangements. It is requested that no flowers be sent.

QUARANTINE ON FAMILY LIFTED

One Summerland family was quarantined this week as a precaution against polio, as there had been a contact with a suspected case in Penticton. However, the quarantine ban was lifted today and there is no need for any further precautions in this case, medical health authorities state. It was doubtful if the quarantine was necessary in the first place it is learned, but was applied so that no slip-up could possibly occur.

There have been no cases of polio since one Summerland person was admitted to Penticton hospital early last month. A Penticton case developed at that time, as well.

Mac Picking In Full Swing By Monday

No release date has been announced for McIntosh apples, but picking in all districts will be in full swing by next Monday, September 20, states A. K. Loyd, B.C. Tree Fruits general manager.

Picking of McIntosh has been commenced in a small way in most areas and some packing has been done. However, harvesting will not be general until next week.

Wealthies are still in reasonably good demand, despite the advent of the Mac season, and movement was also pepped up by some small shipments to the Philippines, caused by the failure of Pacific U.S. ports to complete deliveries, due to the strike tieup.

This is another case where it's an ill wind which doesn't blow somebody some good and the B.C. Wealthy growers are the fortunate ones.

Demand continues good for peaches and prunes and by the latter part of next week this deal will be completed, Mr. Loyd expects. About 90 percent of the peaches have been handled already. Bartlett pears are through but the demand for Flemish is good and the first deliveries have proved satisfactory.

About fifty percent of the Hyslop crabs have been shipped, and the demand is fair. Last week, 785 cars were shipped, bringing the season total to 3,757, compared with 4,752 in 1947 and 4,538 in 1946.

DR. McLARTY MADE FELLOW OF INSTITUTE

Dr. H. R. McLarty was signally honored on Wednesday evening, Sept. 15, when he was made a Fellow of the Agricultural Institute of Canada. One of the few, if not the first, fellowships in the institute conferred in B.C., the Ottawa appointment was confirmed at the meeting of the B.C. locals of the Agricultural Institute held in Armstrong last night.

The meeting, which was held on the first night of the three day Fall Fair in Armstrong, drew representatives from all B.C. locals, including Dr. D. V. Fisher, Dr. R. C. Palmer, Dr. J. C. Wilcox and Dr. McLarty from Summerland.

Also attending the fair from Summerland in an official capacity are Messrs. Nat and Bill May, who are judging flowers and vegetables respectively, and Mr. Ed Britton, who has been asked to judge fruit.

Blue Grouse Shot On Opening Day

Reports of several blue grouse being shot in this district yesterday morning, the opening day, reached this office today, but from now on these birds are expected to be harder to find. Blue grouse have been closed for several seasons.

Few deer have been observed in this district to date and it is expected that it will be some weeks before they come down to lower levels.

Mr. Howard Clark, proprietor of Fish lake camp, is authority for the statement that the deer are farther back than Deer lake.

Some traces of deer have been reported from ranchers at the head of Garnet Valley, the animals having come down into the orchards at night.

TRY TO FORM UNION LOCAL

It is learned here that efforts are being made to form a local of the Okanagan Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers (TLC) among members of the Cornwall Canning Co. Ltd. staff. It is expected that Mr. W. H. Sands, Kelowna, secretary of the valley-wide union, will be in Summerland this week to assist in organization of the local.

There are no locals of this union or the United Packinghouse Workers union in Summerland industrial plants.

The federation union is the unit which recently negotiated with the packinghouse industry regarding an increase in wages, a compromise settlement being reached after a strike vote was taken.

Condition of Apples When Harvested Will Play Big Part in Crop Disposal

Condition of fruit will play a big part in the ultimate disposal of the B.C. apple crop, as this year the industry is faced with a large quantity of small sizes, especially in McIntosh, Dave McNair, sales manager for B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., announced at the first of the week in a carefully prepared statement.

Mr. McNair looks for a sluggish marketing season until after the new year, when he anticipates conditions will improve, once the markets are cleared of some of the local supplies. He anticipates greater difficulty in marketing this year than last as there is a carryover of Nova Scotia government-subsidized processed fruit.

Although the B.C. government estimate shows a crop of about 8,500,000 boxes, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. believes the commercial crop will run about 8,250,000 or possibly not as high as that.

Medium to Small

Mr. McNair's findings follow: "McIntosh will run heavy mediums to smalls. "Jonathan—fair size, but so far lacking in color. "Romeo and Delicious—slight tendency to larger sizes. "Newtowns—heavy mediums to smalls. "Winesaps—fair size, but veering to smalls.

"Taking into consideration the reduction in volume that will result from many of our main varieties running heavy mediums to smalls and the shrinkage likely to occur from greater prevalence of scab and considerable hail, we do not think the commercial crop will reach 8,250,000 boxes. We would not care to place a definite figure on the final output, and we could be away wrong in our appraisal of the tonnage at this time.

"However, should the crop decrease to a substantial extent, then there could be an opening for the entire quantity.

"Rather than take any chances of a blank spot during the late marketing period when there might be insufficient apples to take care of the demand, it has been decided that it would be a fairly safe risk to pack 198's to 218's in extras and fancies in the main varieties, underwrite the packing charges thereon, and place them in a separate pool.

"If we were viewing it strictly from the standpoint of the potential outlets in sight, packing should be confined largely to 150's and larger. At the same time the decision must be made now, as McIntosh harvesting is just at hand. If it were decided to discard 198's and 218's, and as the season progressed there was sufficient demand to absorb these sizes, then we would never be forgiven for having discarded part of the crop that could have been sold.

"You will appreciate that the packing of these smaller sizes increases the problem of disposing of our entire apple crop satisfactorily. It could be that these smaller sizes would not realize more than the packing costs. Of one thing we are very sure, small sizes generally speaking, Canadian-wise, are not popular and even in the 180's and larger there is likely to be a preponderance of 150's to 180's. After weighing the subject very carefully we think the program outlined is sound, in the light of present information.

"The outlook for final disposal of this year's apple crop, and the prices that can be realized, are rather obscure. It is apparent the movement is going to be very sluggish, and prices probably considerably depressed, during the first three months. This is the result of the Canadian crop as a whole—and this goes for British Columbia as well—running heavy to McIntosh and earlier. Later varieties would not appear to be in over-abundant supply, so that the demand and prices should be best after the turn of the year.

"This season differs from last

Ottawa Okays Wharf Removal In Lower Town

Approval by the district public works engineer at New Westminster has been granted for the removal of the old government wharf in lower town, a structure which has been closed up as being dangerous for public traffic of any description.

The board of trade has been instrumental in obtaining this ruling from the federal department after some negotiating.

This wharf was to have been removed some years ago, but residents in lower town, who used it for recreational purposes, persuaded the department to turn over the wharf to the canoe club.

During the war years, this club was defunct and the board of trade took the wharf "under its wing" and when its steadily deteriorating condition was noted, a blockade and warning signs were erected.

Recently, a committee consisting of George Perry and George Henry waited on federal public works officials in Pentlton and had a discussion on the subject. As Ottawa was believed to have actually sold the old wharf to the canoe club for one dollar, it was believed doubtful here that any official action would be taken.

However, this week Mr. Lorne Perry, board secretary, has received a communication from K. W. Morton, district engineer at New Westminster to the effect that the minister of public works at Ottawa "has approved my recommendation that the old wharf be removed at the expense of the department."

Mr. Morton also stated that the demolition work would be undertaken by Mr. U. G. Webster, public works engineer at Pentlton but he will not be available for some time "as he is fully employed in directing engineering work on Okanagan river", in connection with the department's endeavors to bring down the level of Okanagan lake at a more rapid rate.

Daylight Saving Ends Sunday

Daylight saving time will officially end in British Columbia this week-end and an extra hour's sleep will be possible for most persons on Sunday morning.

Clocks are to be turned back at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, September 28, thus ending the extra hour of daylight enjoyed throughout the province since last May.

No Date Set For Coalition Convention

No date has been announced for the postponed convention of South Okanagan Liberals and Progressive Conservatives to choose a candidate for the forthcoming by-election to replace Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, who resigned last May.

This convention was to have been held on September 15, but was postponed. Mr. W. Gillard, South Okanagan Progressive Conservative Assn., president said this morning that he had not set the new date.

Although no official announcement has been made, it is understood a candidate who will contest the by-election for the Coalition has not been chosen yet by the P.C.s.

It was the Tory endeavor to produce several candidates for the nominating convention but no name has been mentioned yet which can be counted upon definitely.

In Summerland, a number of Conservatives have been pressing Councillor C. E. "Ned" Bentley to throw his hat into the political ring, while Capt. J. E. Jenkinson is another prominent Conservative who has been urged to represent the Coalition in this election race.

Both these men are said to have turned down the offer and no Kelowna district resident has accepted the offer.

The by-election date has not been given out by Victoria. The selection committee consists of W. Gillard and A. K. Elliott, Summerland and C. G. Beeston and H. A. Truswell, Kelowna.

Co-op Advances On Apricot Crop

Summerland Co-operative Growers' Assn. is this week mailing cheques totalling $20,000 to its members as an advance on the apricot crop, as well as peach plums and cookers.

Next month, cheques will be mailed to cover a portion of the crop of peaches, prunes, Bartlett and Clapp's Favorite pears.

The Review In Second Place

Announcement was made at Niagara Falls, Ont. this morning by the annual Canadian Weekly Newspapers Assn. convention that The Summerland Review had been awarded second place in the Better Newspaper competition for weekly papers in the 500 to 1,000 circulation class. First place was taken by the Ladner (B.C.) Optimist.

May Finish New Ski Jump By Volunteer Work This Week

There is every likelihood that the Okanagan ski tournament will be held in Summerland this winter, as the Summerland Ski Club is placing most of the finishing touches on its new ski jump this week-end, provided sufficient volunteers turn out.

Most of the jump has already been constructed as President Don Agur and Eloff Bergstrom with his dragline have been working steadily on the project for the past two weeks.

It has proved a more strenuous

Nearly $200 Collected In Blind Tag Day

The sum of $192 was the gratifying amount collected for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Summerland on Saturday, September 18, in a tag day sponsored by the Women's Institute on their behalf.

Sea Cadet Roland Soriver proved to be an outstanding worker, collecting 21% of the total in his rounds of upper town during the day.

The afternoon and evening collections were taken by volunteer high school girls, those for upper town being Norma Arndt, Esther Huva, Connie Schirner, Elly Ruppel, Marion Richards, Mary Ward, Ruth Fleming and Helen Kean, while those working in lower town were Shirley Schumann, Esther Metters, Eileen Raincock, Louise Gale and Marguerite Menu.

Scholarship Winners Start New Life At UBC This Week

This week marks a big step in the lives of two young Summerland men, Richard Palmer and Gilbert Jacobs, scholarship winners from the Summerland high school, who are entering their first year at the University of B.C.

Richard Palmer, the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Palmer, was the winner of the Summerland Scholarship Fund $250 bursary last June, when the results of the Summerland high school graduation class were announced.

So close was the contest between Palmer and Gil Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jacobs that the Summerland branch of the UBC Alumni Assn. voted a second award of $125 towards Jacobs' tuition at UBC.

These two brilliant young scholars are expected to be heard from many times during their sojourn at the higher seat of learning, the University of British Columbia.

School Students Go to Coulee Dam on Sunday

At tomorrow night's weekly Rotary Club of Summerland session, details for the forthcoming trip to Coulee dam will be finalized.

This annual trek by the local Rotarians is a guest trip for members of the Summerland high school graduating class. All 23 members of the school class are expected to take advantage of the Rotarians' offer.

This Sunday, Sept. 26, is the date set for this annual affair, with cars leaving early in the morning and returning in the evening.

Gas shortage in Washington is one hitch in the affair but the car drivers plan to fill up at Oliver or Osogyos before crossing the border and will be able to complete the trip without difficulty, it is expected.

Rotarians had suggested that a trip be taken into the Similkameen to view mining operations and take a glimpse of the start of the Hope-Princeton highway from this end, but the students voted for a continuance of the trek to Coulee dam.

Hospital Reserves Have Disappeared; Directors Approve Insurance Plan

"Not one red cent." That was the reply given by Finance Chairman James Muirhead to the query from fellow directors of the Summerland Hospital Society as to the possibility of making further expenditures for needed supplies and equipment.

Last of the hospital reserve funds, in government bonds, have been hypothecated to borrow money at the bank in order that outstanding liabilities may be met. The Summerland hospital will find it difficult to meet current expenses for the balance of the year unless a goodly proportion of the outstanding accounts are paid.

There is an amount of $7,000 owing the hospital by patients who have failed to meet their obligations in full.

But on the other side of the ledger is the fact that the new provincial hospital insurance scheme goes into effect on January 1 next. Directors of the Summerland hospital, meeting last Tuesday evening, were unanimous in the thought that this new plan will prove of great value, not only in the operation of this public institution, but also to those receiving the benefits of the insurance scheme.

"Many people seem to be against this scheme, mainly because they do not understand its benefits," declared Dr. J. C. Wilcox, who considered that the hospital board should attempt to encourage support for the government scheme.

Hospital directors concurred in Mr. Wilcox's belief, declaring themselves as heartily in favor of the plan.

Secretary J. E. O'Mahony, who attended an executive meeting of the B.C. Hospitals Assn. in Vancouver last week, stated on Tuesday that the new plan had been fully discussed with government representatives.

Payment to the hospitals from the scheme will be on a flat rate basis, with every item of hospital cost included. A complete cost accounting system must be installed at the hospital to determine the monthly payment which will be made by the government to defray hospital expenses.

If any hospital is out of line in its operation it will have to cut its costs accordingly, as the government will not pay on excessive operating costs, Mr. O'Mahony pointed out.

The government is setting up a fund for new equipment. Hospitals may borrow from this fund and repay from its depreciation account.

Most drugs are allowed under the insurance scheme, Mr. O'Mahony pointed out and any person admitted to hospital obtains public ward service, plus operating room facilities and all other facilities formerly offered under the local scheme.

Mr. O'Mahony also stated that he plans to open an office in the T. B. Young building, facing onto the lane between Pender and Kelley streets in West Summerland on October 1. Payments under the new scheme can be made to this office, or can be mailed to the hospital.

All heads of families and single persons must register by September 30. Registration forms have gone out to most families in the district and further copies are available from the hospital, Mr. O'Mahony explained.

In dealing with hospital business which has accrued over the summer months, the hospital directors passed for payment the June, July and August accounts, amounting to $10,764.89.

In June 44 patients were admitted with 287 days' treatment provided. There were six births and two deaths at the hospital. July showed 48 patients admitted with 302 days' treatment, five births and two deaths. August reported 58 admissions, 509 days' treatment, with seven births and two deaths.

Although hospital finances are at a low ebb, the directors approved a recommendation from the medical staff for the purchase of a laryngoscope, for use in the operating room. "This instrument might save a patient's life," the directors were informed before they approved the purchase.

It was pointed out that with

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Miller Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

More than 80 friends and members of the family gathered on Sunday, September 19 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Miller, to extend congratulations upon the achievement of their golden wedding anniversary.

Married on September 19, 1898 in Plymouth, England, the Millers moved to this district 28 years ago, living at Falder until 1930, when they moved to their present home at Crescent Beach.

A beautifully-appointed tea table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, gold as to decoration, and highlighted by golden tapers encased in silver candlesticks. Asked to pour during the afternoon were Mrs. Reid Johnston, Mrs. Dewey Sanborn, Mrs. Noel Higgin, Mrs. M. E. Collas, Mrs. R. G. Ruasel and Mrs. F. V. Harrison.

Hospital Staff Vacancies Have Now Been Filled

"They had no reason to quit." Such was the statement of the hospital acting Matron, Mrs. Don Agur, made to the Summerland Hospital Society on Tuesday evening concerning the disappearance on Thursday morning, September 16, of all but one member of the hospital sub staff.

The hospital directors expressed their appreciation of the efforts of the nursing staff to cope with the situation, as the nurses were put to considerable extra work in their efforts to keep the hospital in operation.

Mrs. C. G. Bennet, mother of the matron, Miss M. Bennet, rallied to the assistance of the hospital in the emergency and provided well-cooked meals for all the patients and staff until a new cook could be employed. The hospital directors expressed their appreciation of her excellent work.

Mrs. Agur reported on Tuesday that all but one vacancy on the staff had been filled by that day and it was expected that by today all the sub staff positions would be filled, at least for the time being.

Well Baby Clinics Will Be Conducted In Three Centres

Miss Joan Appleton, who commenced her duties here as public health nurse for the Summerland-Peachland-Westbank area on September 15, informed The Review today that well baby clinics will be opened early next month at all three centres.

She replaces Miss Margaret Cammaert, who has gone to Trall in a similar capacity. Commencing on October 5, the well baby clinic will be held in Summerland at the elementary school and will be continued every Tuesday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock.

The Legion hall in Peachland will be the well baby clinic centre there, commencing October 4 and continuing on the first Monday of each month from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Friday, from 1:30 to 2:30 o'clock is the day when Miss Appleton will be in the public health nurse's office at Westbank. All children under school age may be brought during that hour each day for weighing, immunization and parents may obtain advice on health matters generally.

More On That Payroll Problem

SUMMERLAND BCFGA, in our Mail Bag column this week, takes exception to The Review editorial of last week concerning the loss of payroll which is resulting in Summerland district as a result of the decision of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. not to re-establish an apple evaporating plant in this district.

There has also been expressed the idea that The Review, because it disagreed with the policy laid down by the processing company, is endeavoring to snipe at the very structure of the fruit industry.

Such an idea has always been farthest from our thoughts. The editor of this newspaper was a reporter on various weekly newspapers during the period when growers were receiving "red ink" and when they were groping and struggling to attain a basis whereby they could market their produce without inner competition and obtain the most that the markets would return.

Let us say right now that The Review believes that the fruit industry is operating in a manner which is best suited to bring about a maximum return to the grower. The Review does not and never has expressed any dissatisfaction with the fruit setup as it exists today.

The Review shudders at the mere thought of a return to those chaotic days when the grower offered his produce to a shipper and the shippers fought among themselves for possession of a market, generally to the detriment of the growers' produce.

But, evidently the BCFGA local executive in Summerland has read a lot into last week's editorial which we believe was not implied.

Let us state our case once again. We believe that Summerland needs more payroll to provide a better balanced economy. We believe that an evaporating plant could be a profitable venture. We believe that an evaporating, or better still, a more diversified processing plant, located in Summerland would save on the cost of hauling cull fruit long distances and could be operated economically.

We also believe that the location of such a processing plant here would be of benefit to the growers in Summerland, as for a lengthy period when employment is ordinarily at a low ebb, it would provide useful employment for those persons on whom the growers rely to pick and pack their fruit.

We still maintain that the growers of Summerland, as represented by the BCFGA local, should take cognizance of this fact.

B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., according to reliable information passed on to us from grower heads here this week, now declare that operation of a new evaporating plant would not be as economical as usage of present equipment located elsewhere in the Okanagan.

If such is the case, we suggest that B.C. Fruit Processors officials come to Summerland and give us the full story. The Board of Trade is the body which, from time to time, has suggested that a processing plant should be established here. It would appear B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. officials could well afford to come to Summerland and explain the reasons why they do not wish to re-establish a plant here. It would be a good idea for the Summerland board to extend an invitation to the officials to be present for a monthly meeting.

From the tone of the BCFGA local letter this week, the growers' executive here feels that The Review took an unjustified sideswipe at their lack of perspective. At all board of trade meetings which we have attended and this subject has been discussed, grower representatives have not paraded any worthwhile arguments concerning why such a plant cannot be forthcoming.

Instead, they have mainly taken the stand that the board of trade, in even endeavoring for a moment to suggest an alteration to the policy of the growers' body, is implying undue criticism.

That, to our way of thinking, is not a progressive attitude. The basis of the fruit industry setup is sound. The officials in charge of the various growers' companies are doing an excellent task and have been complimented by people in all walks of life and from all parts of the world on the excellence of their work.

But that does not gainsay that, on some points, there may be disagreement. We believe that Summerland is justified in endeavoring to obtain an industry which will be of benefit to the community as a whole, including the primary producers. If the processing company can show us that it would not be an economical operation, then the matter will have to lie dormant until such time as conditions indicate that it can be made profitable.

There have been operations started here and in other parts of the country which pessimists have doomed to failure from the outset. But they are flourishing now and are an asset to the community. Possibly a processing plant might have the same future if given a reasonable chance.

Possibly even the officials of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. and the Summerland BCFGA local could be fallible.

By AGROLOGIST

The Armstrong Fair is a good place to meet friends. Last Thursday I saw several Summerlanders whom I had not seen for months. About half the staff of the experimental station were there. Ed Britton, Bill May and Nat May went in an official capacity to judge fruits, vegetables and flowers, respectively. Others, for example, Don Fisher, Jack Wilcox and Jack Mason were there to conduct a meeting of the B.C. Interior branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada. Still others, like Dorothy McLeod, Peggy Burton and Dick Palmer were at the fair to improve their education.

Just to find out how much these agrologists learned from the fair, I asked each of them which exhibit interested him most.

Ed Britton said he considered the better fruit class the most interesting and worthwhile. This class called for three plates of fruit, which might be apples, pears, peaches or any other fruit grown commercially in the Okanagan and adjacent valleys. Most appropriately, the first prize was won by J. R. J. Stirling, president of the BCFGA.

Bill May said he thought the exhibit of vegetables staged by the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board was outstanding. This display featured celery, tomatoes, potatoes, lettuce, cabbage, onions, cucumbers and peppers. The produce was of very high grade and most attractively displayed against a black background. A few well-placed lights illuminated the exhibit to excellent advantage.

Nat May was greatly impressed by a brilliant orange colored, caotus-type dahlia called Andreas Orange. He considers this variety much more attractive than the large flowered, decorative dahlias which are difficult to use in vases or baskets.

Don Fisher was greatly interested in the boxed apple classes. He considered the quality of the fruit remarkable, having regard to the fact that all varieties are maturing later than usual this year. By the same token it is his opinion that commercial harvesting of McIntosh has been started about a week too early in many orchards from the standpoint of quality.

Jack Wilcox said that he got more out of meeting and talking with friends from all over the dry belt area than he did from looking at the exhibits. Jack Mason was interested in the displays of orchard tractors and sprinkler irrigation equipment.

Strange to relate, I found Dick Palmer in the livestock pavilion. He was feasting his eyes on the beef cattle—perhaps with thoughts of beefsteak the price of which is now beyond his purse. When I asked him which exhibit impressed him most, he said:

"Just look at those four magnificent young Hereford bulls exhibited by V. E. Ellison of Oyama. They look to me as though they all came out of the same pod."

All of which indicates that a horticulturist just cannot help describing cattle as if they were vegetables.

Dorothy McLeod and Peggy Burton were in the grandstand where they secured an excellent view of the Vernon girls' pipe band, the acrobats from Kamloops and the performing Palomino stallion. However, when I asked them the feature which interested them most they replied in unison,

"We think Nell Bosomworth has a very handsome face!"

FRANKENSTEIN 1948

Apathy of Individual in Public Affairs is Dangerous

VERNON—Stressing the danger of individual apathy in public affairs, and issuing a challenge to "guard well Canada's freedom and priceless heritage," R. Tate, of Regina, warned Women's Canadian Club of Vernon of the danger of "being lulled into false security by promises from Quislings."

The topic of Mr. Tate's address was "Who Is the Most Outstanding Canadian?"

After touching on the contributions made to the Dominion by such historical figures as Laura Secord, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Lord Strathcona, Alexander Graham Bell, Sir Frederick Banting, Colishaw and Bishop, flying aces of the last war; the pioneers; all Canada's VC's, and every one of the Dominion's gallant dead who gave their lives in two world wars: "Have you made your choice?" asked Mr. Tate.

Answering his own question: "The most important Canadian in the world is you!"

Canadian democracy, in which is vested sovereign powers, lies in the individual, declared the speaker.

"When we sing 'O Canada' is it mere lip service? Do we guard and protect the freedom we enjoy?" he asked.

Free franchise is one of the privileges of democracy, and one of the most serious responsibilities of Canadian life. "But we find this great power is only exercised by a small percentage of Canadian citizens. . . . If anyone fails to cast a vote in any election, he is a disloyal Canadian, and has forfeited one of our most important privileges of citizenship," forcefully declared Mr. Tate.

"This freedom which is ours has been safeguarded by the blood, sweat and tears of Canadian youth. That Canadian citizen who fails to guard this heritage is a traitor to those who have purchased with their lifeblood, democracy as we know it," he continued.

Mr. Tate emphasized that every individual is responsible for his share in moulding, developing and directing public opinion in their respective communities; and by this means can dictate to those in authority the Canada they desire.

"Virtue, happiness and prosperity are not government gifts. They must be personal achievements. Canadians need have no fear of Communism or any other 'ism' except from those in our own country; and if those exist, it is the fault of the individual citizen," declared Mr. Tate.

Apathy, charged the speaker, launched the world into war.

Agitators, Shirkers

"Now," he continued, "when a glorious opportunity for prosperity is within our grasp, there is chaos, confusion, and moral turpitude; there is too much loose, glib talking and thinking. Agitators and shirkers are traitors to Canada."

"There are those who would sell our system of free enterprising for a mess of pottage." The speaker then gave an illustration of a sheep-herder who, in a comparatively short time, through hard work and business ability, became a large cattle owner. "The opportunity for a similar transition from shirt sleeves to white collars is the inalienable right of the individual," honest, hardworking, determined men and women who would just laugh at a 40-hour week. Today, you have a free and unhampered franchise and an opportunity too," said Mr. Tate.

"I wish I could breathe into the souls of this audience some of the spirit of the pioneers of this country of ours," concluded the speaker.

Pioneer Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO
September 20, 1918

F. H. Latimer, Pentiction engineer, has submitted a complete report on Summerland's plans for extension of the irrigation system. This report will be studied by a joint committee and a ratepayers' meeting has been called to consider it further.

Only three days will be allowed for pheasant shooting, dates being October 28 to 30 inclusive. Three cock birds can be shot on one day. This applies to South Okanagan riding area.

More than 250 delegates from the Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention in Pentiction were entertained at the Summerland experimental station, where a luncheon was served by the Women's Institute. The trip to Summerland from Pentiction was made by motor car via Shingle Creek, Prairie Valley, to Jones Flat, down the switchback to Peach Orchard and around to the Fruit Union packing house, where a short stop for inspection of this industrial plant was made. Dr. F. W. Andrew was chairman of the entertainment committee. J. W. Weart of Burnaby, expounder of the house, complimented women of the Summerland Red Cross for their work in raising a larger amount of money per capita of population than any other community in B.C. Attorney-general Faris also spoke briefly, and Mayor Gale of Vancouver proposed a vote of thanks to Summerland.

Professor W. T. Broad has received word that his son, Lieut. T. H. Broad, has been killed in action. He is the third son to fall in defense of his country.

The Good Roads convention held in Pentiction in conjunction with the UBCM gathering, again adopted a resolution urging that the rule of the road be changed to the right-hand side. The convention also urged federal and provincial engineers should investigate and determine the route which the trans-provincial highway should take to be most beneficial and ad-

Local Man Involved In Accident Case Now Being Appealed

PENTICTON—The crown is appealing dismissal of a drunken-driving charge against Paul Banford, of Pentiction, heard before Magistrate G. A. McLelland on Monday, August 23. Date of the appeal hearing has been set for Friday, October 1.

Some delay has been encountered in that Const. Robert Mercer, chief prosecution witness, has been transferred to Kimberley, it was pointed out in county court.

The original case arose out of an August 15 accident on Lakeshore Drive involving cars driven by Banford, and William Ritchie of Summerland.

Evidence that the accused had been using DDT spray, with an effect similar to that of alcohol, was introduced at the preliminary hearing. Contradictory medical testimony was also heard.

Sales Tax Returns Not Available Yet

Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance, announces that complete figures on returns of the sales tax will not be made public for some time. The policy of releasing the tax figures has not as yet been decided upon.

Municipalities, recipients of one-third of the net income from the tax, will receive no payment at the present time but may get their first cheque before December 31.

Would Change Highway Route Near Pentiction

Recommendation that the Okanagan provincial highway No. 5 be diverted so that it will not swing along Lakeshore Drive and Main Street in Pentiction has been approved by the Pentiction Board of Trade and will go on to the Pentiction council for submission to the provincial government.

According to a report from W. A. Rathbun, Pentiction board's traffic committee chairman, the highway should be diverted west of Okanagan river but east of the claybanks.

This would be in line with suggestions which have emanated from other quarters that the Okanagan highway should be diverted at West Summerland so that it would follow the high level and save the costly yearly maintenance on the lakeshore road from Summerland to Pentiction.

Going north, the highway, as proposed by the Pentiction board, would continue west of Okanagan river until it passed the Pentiction sawmills, where it would cross the river and proceed on the east side of Westminster avenue. There it would join Westminster avenue and proceed on the east side to Westminster avenue. There it would join Westminster avenue and proceed northwesterly, again crossing the river to join the extension of the existing highway.

The Pentiction committee recommended that the highway be 120 feet in width where it passes through Pentiction city and 100 feet outside the city limits.

Northern Cattlemen Not to be Aided

There will be no special assistance from the provincial government for cattlemen suffering hay crop damages because of freak weather conditions in northern British Columbia, states Frank Putnam, minister of agriculture. A wave of requests for aid have been received by the government but Mr. Putnam said that no funds were available for such special assistance.

ANSWERS THE REVIEW
West Summerland, B.C.
Sept. 21, 1948.

Editor, The Review:
We feel that before publishing your editorial "No Additional Payrolls", that you should have gathered the correct facts.

The B.C. Fruit Processors has no stranglehold on the processing of fruit, the growers themselves own the fruit and they own the Processing Company. The growers themselves are the BCFGA and after many hard years formed a Central selling plan, with the B.C. Fruit Board and B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. to handle their fruit, then formed the Processing Co. to handle the low grade apples. There is absolutely no stranglehold from the growers standpoint as they own the fruit and its disposition.

At the annual meetings and conventions, the growers delegate their powers by electing officers, executives and directors of the BCFGA and Fruit Board. These elected officers and directors then select the management of the growers own companies, the B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. and Processors Ltd.

Your editorial apparently is asking the growers to assume financial risks to establish a new plant against the judgment of their own officials, who have all the information of the operation of the business. It is worthy of note that the KEL Plant was started against the advice of the industry and it failed, thereby hurting the whole industry and knocking down the prices of our products. In two states across the line, out of 26 processing plants operating a few years ago, there are only about six now left in operation.

The processing company has not centralized its plants at Kelowna but has plants located at three different points in the valley; also the company does not handle vegetable as stated in the editorial.

The present grower-owned and operated processing plants are more than capable of handling all the processed fruits that the market can absorb.

Regarding labour. The processing plants do not have a clear field for winter labour, as for over six weeks the plants compete with the growers and packing houses for their labour. The BCFGA and all its members are just as keen as anybody to see its labour kept occupied.

Regarding your last para. "that

Basil Steuart Pioneer Fruit Rancher, Passes

Another link with pioneer days in the Okanagan was terminated at Vancouver on Thursday, September 16, with the passing of Basil Steuart, aged 75, who came to Summerland in 1916 to establish a fruit orchard.

Born on October 25, 1872 at Bogside, Scotland, the late Mr. Steuart was the last surviving member of a family of 11 sons and daughters. He came to Canada 66 years ago, half of his time being spent in the Okanagan.

Besides being a prominent fruit orchardist in Summerland, the late Basil Steuart took an active interest in the fruit packing and shipping business, having been an active partner in the Steuart fruit packing house here as well as an executive with the Associated Growers of B.C. for nine years.

When the Associated was first formed in the early 1920's, Mr. Steuart was assistant manager and then became manager for a short period prior to Mr. E. J. Chambers taking over this post.

The late Mr. Steuart retired from active fruit ranching practice in 1941. He had been in ill health for some years prior to his passing in hospital at the coast last week.

He is survived by his wife at home and one son Francis, and a daughter, Mrs. Edith Sharp, Pentiction; also three grandchildren.

Cremation took place at the coast, with committal in Peach Orchard cemetery, Summerland.

A memorial service was conducted in St. Andrew's United church, West Summerland, by Rev. H. R. Whitmore on Monday, September 20, at 3 p.m.

The Summerland Local of the BCFGA has refused to recognize this fact. This is absolutely false. We have worked on this for a long time and considered it so important that we asked J. R. J. Stirling, president of BCFGA to address the growers meeting last spring on the matter, and the Review at that time thought it so important that it failed to report his address.

Yours truly,
for the Executive of the Summerland Local, BCFGA,
C. Edmund Bentley,
Chairman.

Ed's Note: Regarding President Stirling's address, may we point out that The Review has but one reporter. This was the only occasion when The Review was not represented at a growers' meeting and this was only occasioned because of the multiplicity of meetings at that time. The Review, to the best of its ability, endeavors to cover all local meetings, sometimes even dovetailing three meetings in one evening.

 year, in that being later we are losing the benefit of a large volume of sales to Eastern Canada which we enjoyed last year by our earliness. This year Ontario and Quebec are as early, if not earlier than ourselves. They also seem intent on pricing their apples from the start of the season at levels that will effect disposal. This is in sharp contrast to last year when they held at high prices, and either sacrificed or dumped quite a volume toward the end of their crop season.

"Last year we had a good quality crop. There was a good volume of extras and fancies of preferred sizes that could be used for United States markets. This year our percentage of cee grade, due to normal lack of color, and defects, plus hail and scab may run as high as 35 per cent to 40 per cent. This will deprive us of a large volume of apples from which to select for the U.S. markets, as they are neither interested in cee grade or small sizes.

"As was the case last year CON-DITION will again play a very important part in the satisfactory disposal of our crop. We must of necessity take full advantage of an extended marketing period, and be prepared to have good apples available in full supply from now until the end of June, 1949. It is, therefore, very important that the crop be harvested at the right stage of maturity, that the field heat be removed with the least possible delay and that picking and packing be done in a good workmanlike manner. There is greater deterrent to sales than over-ripe excessively bruised fruit. Such a condition is more depressing even than excessive cee grade or small sizes. Fruit should NOT be left under the trees in order to move it at some more convenient time.

"Some claim that 'stick-on' sprays are the salvation of the fruit industry. Please excuse our frankness when we express our opinion that broadly speaking, 'stick-on' sprays are the ruination of fruit. With the prevalence of small sizes, and possibly, in some cases, lack of color, there will be a great temptation to resort to the use of this type of spray. The maturity of a growers' entire crop could be ruined through an attempt to wait for size, or improve color. Worthwhile opinions of authorities in the U.S. contend, and we think soundly so, that when apples or any other fruits are ready to pick, they should be picked, and that the use of any device to keep them on the trees longer only results in an advancement of maturity that shortens storage life.

of maturity is going to be a very tricky thing to watch this year. Some varieties are ripening as early, or earlier, in the north, as in the south, and many varieties are going to collide. The only way to cope with this unusual condition is very careful checking by growers, and more than usual amount of field work by shippers. If everybody will do their utmost to handle the crop properly and afford it every possible protection, we will certainly do our part to arrange distribution to the best possible advantage. Then if results fall short of our expectations we will at least have the satisfaction that everything possible was done to cope with the harassing circumstances that will have fallen upon our industry through the almost complete loss of our main export markets.

"In the Canadian picture, August 1st estimates were 1,671,000 bushels. Since then there has been a slight downward revision to 15,300,000 bushels.

"The estimated Canadian consumption, based on the past few years, could be about 8,000,000 bushels. Export could account for a possible 2,500,000. This leaves an apparent Canadian surplus of 4,800,000. This is not too encouraging.

"All the apple producing provinces have made a combined plea to the Canadian Government to assist the industry, either by taking a substantial quantity off the market entirely and exporting to the U.K. as a gift, or by subsidizing processing, thereby reducing available supplies for the fresh market. Both these proposals have been turned down. There is such a large surplus of canned apple sauce, evaporated apples, and other apple products in Nova Scotia, that the government does not wish to indulge in any extensive processing program. This carry-over is largely the result of having subsidized the Nova Scotia apple crop in 1947.

"Since the government's refusal of any over-all under-writing of the apple crop, Nova Scotia and British Columbia have continued negotiations with the federal authorities separately, so far without success. It is anticipated that something will be done for Nova Scotia, certainly not to the extent that Nova Scotia would wish, and even at this late date the government had not agreed to do anything. Until a decision is reached with Nova Scotia it is impossible for British Columbia to make any headway. We are continuing to watch developments, and if there is any help that can be had for the B.C. crop we will try and get it, but in any event the assistance will be small."

SIX POLIO CASES OF MILD TYPE

During the summer months, six cases of poliomyelitis were contracted in the Okanagan health unit, the last being reported early in September, Miss Joan Appleton, the newly appointed public health nurse, states.

All these cases have been of a mild nature and the results have not been as severe as resulted from the epidemic of polio experienced last year.

With the coming of cooler weather, it is expected that the main danger of infection from this dread disease has now passed.

the dropping of the local insurance plan, the number of actual members of the Summerland Hospital Society will be reduced to a mere handful. After the first of the year, the hospital board may institute a campaign for membership at a nominal fee of one dollar per head of family.

Mrs. D. Agur, acting matron, informed the board that the nurses are ordering a metal wheel chair, payment to be made from the fund turned over to their care by the Old-Time Dance Club, following the conclusion of the season last spring.

New Machine

One expensive piece of equipment, the new diathermy machine, which was ordered many months ago when the federal department of transport ordered discontinuance of the old machine because of radio interference to airways, will probably be delivered in December, the board was informed.

This afternoon, a regional conference of interior hospital directors is being held in Penticton. A number of local directors are planning to attend.

Secretary J. E. O'Mahony will also attend the annual convention of the B.C. Hospitals Assn. in Vancouver on October 9 and will take in a portion of the western Canada hospital administrators' course which is also being held in Vancouver from October 4 to 8.

Mr. O'Mahony is the official delegate of the Summerland Hospital Society and is also vice-president of the B.C. Hospital's Assn.

Peachland Man And Local Girl Are United Here

St. Andrew's church, West Summerland, was the scene of a pretty wedding on the afternoon of Saturday, September 18, when Mr. Hayden Charles Stump, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stump of Peachland took as his bride Miss Christie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith of Summerland. Rev. H. R. Whitmore performed the ceremony.

Shimmering white taffeta fashioned the lovely bridal gown, which featured puff peplums at the hip line, and orange blossoms embroidered on the décolletage. A Mary, Queen of Scots, headdress held the floor-length veil to the bride's head, and her shower bouquet of deep roses with white asters effectively contrasted the bridal white.

Blue and gold were the colors chosen by the two bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, Misses Sibyl and Shirley Smith. As maid of honor Miss Sibyl Smith wore blue taffeta in a floor-length gown, while her coiffure was prettily misted over with blue veiling, in chapel style. Miss Shirley Smith chose gold embroidered net for her costume, with her turquoise veil caught to her head with yellow flowers.

Mr. Smith gave his daughter in marriage in the gladioli-decorated church, and Mr. Gary Stump, the groom's brother, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. C. Meadows and Mr. Reg Kersey. A close friend of the groom, Mr. K. Eutin, who is organist of Kelowna's First United church, played the wedding music for the occasion.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Nu-Way Annex, decorated with a profusion of roses, asters and chrysanthemums. The parents of the principals received the many guests, Mrs. Smith wearing fuchsia crepe as to gown, with wine accessories, while Mrs. Stump chose a crown crepe ensemble with accessories to match.

Mr. Jack Morrow, Sr., was toastmaster at the bride's table, rose-decorated and centred with the three-tiered wedding cake. Following a buffet supper dancing was enjoyed to music provided by Messrs. Bill Reid, Fred Gale and Marcel Bonthoux.

Many out-of-town friends came to congratulate the young couple, among them Mr. and Mrs. R. Stump, Mr. and Mrs. Powrie and Mr. Graham Garry, of Peachland; Miss Sandy Shewchuk, of Vernon; Miss Irene Rattenbury, of Vancouver; Misses E. L. Jenkinson and Vahdah Stump, of Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Trigg, Miss Doris Eshelman, Mr. Len Lavallent, Mr. John Godding, and Mr. Roy Dish-er of Penticton.

As the bride left for her motor-ing honeymoon to southern points, she threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Dorothy Abernethy. Mrs. Stump chose for travel a suit of sand tweed, with which she wore brown accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Stump will make their home in Peachland.

Sees First Snow At Fort St. John

Touring the hinterlands of British Columbia on behalf of the Rebekah assembly of B.C. is interesting but exhausting work, according to Mrs. Ina Atkinson, who was glad to get back to Summerland on Sunday last for a short breathing spell before continuing her official visits to various lodges as president of the B.C. assembly.

Mrs. Atkinson met winter ahead of time at Fort St. John, where she saw her first snow fall while enroute to Dawson Creek. Making a wide circle of the northern part of the province, she flew from Prince Rupert to Vancouver, and then back-tracked to the Powell River lodge by boat—"during the bad storm of September 14, which made it a memorably rough trip," she said.

After returning to Vancouver Mrs. Atkinson came into the interior to visit the Golden and Revelstoke lodges before coming home. She will leave again today for Armstrong and Kamloops, and later will make a tour of the Kootenays.

BAPTISTS AID MISSION WORK

Summerland Baptist church furthered the cause of their mission work in India on Monday evening, September 20, when they presented Rev. John Hart with a cheque for more than $200 towards the establishment of a memorial hospital in the Indian field, to which he is shortly returning.

The presentation, made on behalf of the congregation by Mr. R. H. Birch, took place during a farewell service held for Mr. Hart, who has been serving as interim pastor at First Baptist church in Penticton while on furlough from his mission field.

Following the service, which was conducted by Rev. F. W. Haskins, the ladies of the church served refreshments during a pleasant social hour.

Pheasant Season in Interior is Eliminated in Sudden, Surprise Move

The provincial government has banned all pheasant shooting in the interior of the province and has rescinded the regulations which were published in last week's issue of The Review, as far as this type of bird is concerned.

"It's a good thing," state most of the district sportsmen when questioned as to their reaction to this sudden move on the part of the attorney-general's department, as recommended by the game commission.

Summerland sportsmen through the local club, along with a large

Appeal on Freight Rates Will be Heard September 27 and 28

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., will represent the British Columbia Government at the freight rates appeal to be heard by the Dominion government on September 27 and 28.

Advice was received from A. D. P. Heeney, secretary to the federal cabinet, that the Dominion government had decided to hear the appeal of the seven provinces against the Board of Transport Commissioners ruling to increase general railway freight rates by 21 percent. The provinces joining in the appeal are Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Manitoba, British Columbia, Prince Edward Island, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The Dominion government states that the hearing will not be public and that the procedure will be entirely informal.

Write Minister on Flood Control

In response to a request from the committee set up to press implementation of the 1946 engineer's report on Okanagan flood control, the Summerland municipal council is adding its voice to the general Valley-wide plea, by writing to the minister of public works at Ottawa. The council is advising the minister that it is in accord with the general plea of the Okanagan that the engineers' report be proceeded with at once, to prevent a recurrence of flood conditions this year.

LIGHTNING STRUCK TOWER

VERNON—It was not until several days ago that workmen at the new Vernon Jubilee hospital noticed a freak incident that is thought to have occurred during the severe electrical storm here a month or so ago. Lightning struck a tower material hoist, scorched the wood, blackened nails and fire was only prevented by the fact that the lightning hit a cable and followed that down to the ground.

number of other clubs from the border to Kamloops had pleaded with the commission to discontinue pheasant shooting in the interior so that pheasants would not be exterminated entirely.

The season had been cut down to nine days, from October 16 to 24 inclusive, but now it is eliminated entirely.

The area covered by this order-in-council, passed at Victoria last Friday, is as follows:

A large portion of the Lillooet riding and the southern part of Cariboo, the entire Okanagan area included in the ridings of North and South Okanagan, Kamloops and Salmon Arm and parts of the Similkameen and Yale districts as well as the Grand Forks-Greenwood district and the part of Kaslo-Slocan within a five-mile radius of Nakusp where a four-day season was planned.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, in charge of the game administration, says the action was taken only after very careful investigation of the pheasant supply in the area. He expressed sympathy with hunters who have been planning trips to the areas.

"The simple explanation, is — lack of birds," he said.

Game clubs in many parts of the area sent in resolutions asking for the season to be closed so that shooting will not wipe out the few pheasants that are left for breeding stock, the A.G. said.

As a result of these resolutions the game wardens in each district have made a very careful investigation of the number of birds left, agree with the view of the game Mr. Wismer said. Their findings clubs, and the game commission has concurred.

NEW SUPER—

F. H. KEEFE
General Superintendent, B.C. District, Canadian National Railways

Important changes in the operating department of the Canadian National Railways, Western Region, have brought Frank H. Keefe (above) to British Columbia as general superintendent, with headquarters in Vancouver, succeeding John F. Cooper, who has been transferred to Edmonton as general superintendent, Alberta district, the post formerly held by Mr. Keefe.

Mr. Keefe started railroading in 1911 as assistant agent with the Canadian Northern Railway at Roosevelt, Minnesota. He moved up through the operating department as operator and despatcher and was made assistant superintendent at Edson in 1939. In 1944 he was superintendent, Port Arthur, and in 1946 was appointed general superintendent, Alberta District.

Shaughnessy Walk Will be Constructed

Renewal of the sidewalk on Shaughnessy avenue from White & Thornthwaite's garage north to the 9th street intersection has been sanctioned by the municipal council, the cost being estimated at $260. Foreman E. Kercher has been instructed to proceed with this sidewalk construction this fall. A blacktop surface is being laid.

DIRECTIONAL SIGN FOR TOP OF HILL

Reeve R. A. Johnston drew council's attention last week to the fact that the directional sign at the top of Peach Orchard has been knocked down.

This sign pointed the way to Kelowna and Penticton and was originally placed there by an automobile association, it is understood.

The council agreed that this sign should be renewed and will issue the necessary instructions to the roads department.

Councillor C. E. Bentley also suggested that painted zig-zag signs indicating a school zone should be painted on the asphalt on both sides of the school area, to warn motorists that they are approaching the seats of learning.

CANCER CASES WILL BE AIDED

That the provincial government is ready to pay 80 percent of all cancer costs for patients sent to the cancer institute for treatment by municipalities, provided the municipality will assume the other 20 percent, was the advice received by the Summerland council last week from the B.C. Cancer Foundation.

This would cover all cases emanating from this municipality where patients did not meet the costs involved, it was explained. The same percentage would apply in social assistance cases.

The Summerland council agreed that it would be prepared to pay its 20 percent share. No official advice on this line has yet been received from the provincial government.

Following publication of the annual report of the B.C. Forest Service, Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests has stated that lumber production in British Columbia showed an increase in value of more than $68,000,000 during 1947 over the previous year.

Medicos Gather for Clinical Conference

KELOWNA—Physicians throughout the Okanagan Valley met here Wednesday afternoon for a clinical conference to discuss matters pertaining to their profession.

Chief speaker was Dr. Caleb Stone, of Seattle, noted for his work in the care and rehabilitation of soldiers paralyzed as a result of war injuries. He delivered a paper on the care of paraplegic patients and another surgical paper. Papers were also presented by Drs. J. Bruce Moir, D.M. Black and J. T. Cruise, all of Kelowna.

The session concluded with a dinner in the Willow Inn. During the afternoon, the visiting ladies were taken for a drive and entertained at the Elodardo Arms.

It is planned to hold similar clinical meetings four times yearly, alternating between Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon, with the guest city in charge of program and arrangements.

More than 40 doctors from Salmon Arm to Osoyoos attended the conference.

Five Summerland Residents Granted Canadian Citizenship In Penticton County Court

Summerland residents featured prominently in the list of Canadians who were granted certificates of citizenship in County Court before Judge M. M. Colquhoun last week. Others heard their petitions being given consideration by the court.

Certificates were awarded to the following Summerland residents: Walter Kampe, Amelia Brlekovich, Frank Nicholas Vollmuth, Ernest Marion Bobby and Dmitro Urich.

Petitions were received from Kichinoyo Imayoshi and Nels John Johansson.

Mr. A. D. C. Washington, prominent interior lawyer who formerly resided in Princeton and has now moved to a practice in Penticton, was asked by His Honor Judge Colquhoun to give the address of welcome to those who were receiving Canadian status for the first time.

Welcoming Remarks:

Following is Mr. Washington's address:

"It is my good fortune, this afternoon, to address to you a few words to welcome as you cross the threshold of Canadian citizenship, and become members of the great Canadian family," said Mr. Washington.

"I speak to you now as a fellow Canadian, and on behalf of all Canadian citizens I congratulate you upon becoming citizens of this great nation of ours.

"For each of you, this day must mark the goal of which you have dreamed, and towards which you have worked and strived for some time. Upon the attainment of this goal you must be both pleased and proud. And you may well be proud, because today, in making you citizens, Canada has conferred upon you the highest honor a nation can confer upon an individual who has not been born into such heritage.

"There is not a country, in this world today whose citizens have greater reason to be proud than Canada, and I make that statement proudly and confidently, secure in the knowledge that it cannot be contradicted. For no country in this world today holds a higher place in the esteem of other nations.

Cornerstones

"Our country is a young country, but it has been built upon the cornerstones of democracy, justice, opportunity, and freedom. Upon these cornerstones, successive generations of Canadians, from confederation to the present day, have built this Canada of ours.

"These previous generations have come from many kinds, but all became Canadians. Their vision, courage, and tenacity have, in a short space of history, transformed this country from a virtually unknown wilderness into one of the greatest industrial nations in the world. And in two world wars Canada's sons and daughters have fought, and thousands have died, to defend and extend the frontiers of freedom.

"This is the heritage that is yours. To be worthy of it should be your consuming ambition.

"Canadian citizenship, I think, should start in the community in which we live. But it should not end there. Remember that as Canadians we have a national citizenship; a commonwealth citizenship, and also a world citizenship. Each of these carries with it a responsibility which is both our duty to recognize and our right to assert.

"And so I say to you, individually and collectively, be always proud of your citizenship, be ever watchful to guard and preserve the heritage that is now yours, and be ever mindful of both the opportunities and the responsibilities which, as Canadian citizens, have become yours today."

Seek Provision for Street Sign Project

Summerland council will recommend that provision be made in next year's estimates for the marking of Summerland streets with proper street signs.

This was the outcome of a board of trade letter asking what action the council intends to take on a report on street naming submitted last year by a committee headed by Dr. F. W. Andrew.

"There isn't much point in naming streets without putting up signs," was Councillor E. M. Tait's reaction to the board request. "We couldn't see our way clear to financing these signs," was Councillor C. E. Bentley's reminder.

Reeve R. A. Johnston, the only other council member present at last week's session, suggested that a small start be made, but Councillor Tait suggested that an attempt be made to provide sufficient funds in next year's estimates so that a large-scale street marking program would result.

This suggestion met with council approval.

Fruit Quality Established In Orchard

(Experimental Farm News)

The best of fruits may be spoiled by incorrect storage or faulty distribution. Fruit is in storage immediately it is picked or harvested, and at that time too it starts a phase of distribution—from tree to consumer, says J. E. Britton, Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C.

It is commonly recognized that fresh fruits continue life processes after harvest. Fruits actually breathe, or respire, absorbing oxygen and giving off carbon dioxide gas. The composition of the fruit is therefore in a state of continual change until a final breakdown of the tissue occurs.

When fruit reaches a state of full growth it is said to be mature and then it ripens. Many fruits, such as pears, may be spoiled if allowed to ripen on the tree. Others, like cherries and prunes, undergo ripening as maturity is reached and are ready for eating when harvested.

Correct maturity and normal ripening are therefore essential to the best quality in these products, and quality in fruit can only be established in the orchard.

Conditions of storage during and throughout distribution are then responsible in maintaining that quality and protecting the condition of the fruit essential to successful marketing. The storage life of fruit actually extends from the time of harvest until the fruit is used, or until it reaches breakdown and decay. Each variety has a definite storage life which may be hastened by high temperatures or retarded and extended by refrigeration.

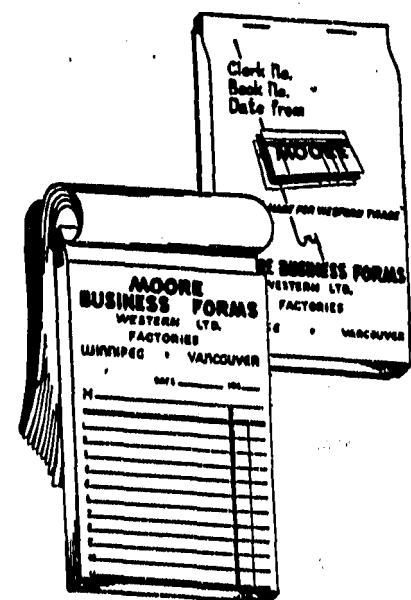

Fruit storage, therefore, means more than a space of time in a cold storage building; it means every hour of the storage-life of the fruit from harvest to consumption. It is in storage during this time, regardless of where it is kept, and its storage life is being spent either for good or for ill.

At the same time, it enters distribution and starts on its journey to the consumer because consumption is the end and purpose of production. In the whole chain of events in the production and sale of fresh fruits, careful storage during complete distribution is essential to the delivery of a satisfactory product.

Government Widens Scope of Fraser Valley Authority

Premier Byron Johnson has announced that the government is widening considerably the scope of its rehabilitation program for persons who suffered in the Fraser Valley floods of early summer and to give benefits to more people than at first contemplated.

Hop growers, nurserymen and small businessmen will now be assisted and fruit growers may, if they wish, go into some other agricultural pursuit and still be assisted by the Fraser Valley Rehabilitation authority.

Hop growers and nurserymen are now considered as coming within the category of agricultural pursuits and the authority, with government permission, will help such persons get re-established.

Fruit growers who were washed out now may be assisted by the authority to go into some other agricultural business, such as chicken raising or dairying. The stock will be purchased for such growers; they will not be given cash.

Also to be helped under the accelerated plans are traders, garage and service station operators, whose premises will be restored to as near as possible their pre-flood condition.

PFRA Crews To Come Back To West Bench

PENTICTON — Following closely on strong protests from Penticton against the withdrawal three weeks ago of Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act survey crews from their preliminary work on the west bench lands, announcement was made last week that crews are ready to return to the task.

M. P. Finnerty, president of Branch 40, Canadian Legion, which has been actively pressing for development of the acreage into small holdings for veterans, stated that R. W. Ormiston, PFRA engineer, will be back on the job within a few days. He and his men are now engaged in clearing up tag ends of PFRA work at Osoyoos.

It was when the Indian affairs branch stepped into the picture with objections to the survey crews' "trespassing" on reserve lands that the project seemed in danger of being abandoned.

But assurances were received from Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, that the difficulties would be removed and shortly thereafter, advice was received by A. H. Barber, Indian agent at Vernon, within whose jurisdiction the Indian lands involved lie, instructing him to permit the survey to proceed.

It is expected that Mr. Barber will be here tomorrow to deal with the Penticton Indian band on the matter, and that resumption of surveys will be effective by the beginning of the week.

Mr. Finnerty also stated that provincial government soil survey crews, at present in the Kootenays, will arrive here early in November to make soil surveys in the same area.

"The job should go right through now", was the Legion president's smiling comment.

YELLOW LICENCE ON DRIVING COUNT

PENTICTON—A yellow licence was issued to Rocco Biagioni, Summerland, by Stipendiary Magistrate V. O. Wiseman in police court here on Monday, Sept. 13, when the young man pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. He had been given a blue licence in a previous traffic case in Penticton.

Const. Charles Atchison, who prosecuted, told the court that Biagioni had been driving on the Penticton-Summerland road early on Sunday morning, Sept. 12, when he encountered a wrecking car pulling a truck from the lake.

Swerving, he narrowly missed the wrecking car, but hit the truck it was pulling, doing further damage, and also damaging his own truck.

The constable explained to the court that the man is married, and that his wife is in hospital.

A fine of ten dollars and two dollars costs was levied.

A further charge, of inflicting wilful damage to the police cells, to the value of one dollar, was then read, the plea again being guilty. He was fined five dollars and two dollars costs plus the one dollar damage, for this offence.

Home at Last

A German prisoner of war, one of the last 430 to get home following repatriation from Great Britain, receives a warm welcome from his wife on his arrival in Berlin recently. The Russian blockade of Berlin delayed the men several weeks in the British zone of Germany while special transport was arranged for them by the Russians.

Objects to Culverts On Sandhill Road

Objection to the road department's action in building culverts on the Sandhill road which would divert water from the roadway onto his fruit orchard property was registered at last week's council meeting by H. S. Lewes.

Reeve Johnston remarked that there would not be any great amount of water going through any one of the three culverts laid in that area.

It was decided that the roads committee would investigate Mr. Lewes' complaint and report back to the next council session on Sept. 28.

Appeal on Building Rule Turned Down

M. F. Daniel's appeal against the refusal of Building Inspector R. F. Angus for permission to build a garage and cabin on property on Shaughnessy avenue in lower town was turned down by the council on Tuesday, Sept. 14.

Refusal was on the grounds that he planned this structure within fifteen feet of the lot line, which is contrary to building bylaw regulations.

It was pointed out that this lot only has thirty feet of level land, but that all other residences on that street are set back from the street level.

The council, after some discussion, decided to uphold the bylaw and turned down Mr. Daniel's appeal.

Rail Board Will Come to Valley Nov. 12

Hon. Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., attorney-general, who has been placed in complete charge of British Columbia's case for the removal of the mountain differential, has been advised by the secretary of the board of transport commissioners that the hearings on the case will be held in Vancouver, November 9 and 10. He already has the preparatory work well in hand and is being assisted in this regard by Mr. Charles Brazier.

After sitting in Vancouver the board will go to the interior for further hearings, at Kelowna, November 12 and Nelson, November 13.

The decision of the board of transport commissioners to hear the case on the mountain differential follows strong representations made by Premier Johnson that British Columbia's claim for removal of the differential be heard before consideration is given to any other application for increase in freight rates or before the appointment of a Royal Commission to inquire generally into the Canadian freight rate structure.

Mr. Wismer, in referring to the freight rate hearings, stated that British Columbia's application will be for complete removal of the discrimination against British Columbia entailed by the mountain differential.

Tyro Aggregate Is Captured by Summerland Shot

Grand aggregate in the tyro shoot was captured by Ed Gould at the annual rifle shoot of the 9th Reece Regt. (BCD) rifle association held at Vernon last Sunday.

Ed scored a total of 96 and captured the high tyro honor in a similar manner as Fred Dunsdon did at Kelowna the week before.

He was first at 500 yards, second at 200 yards and third at 600 yards.

Phil Dunsdon captured second prize in the tyro section at 600 yards, while Doug Price was third in the expert class at 500 yards.

Kamloops, with a total of 475 points, captured the team shoot, with Vernon's 468 taking second place and Summerland third with 462 points. Kelowna scored only 457 and landed in fourth spot after winning at home the week before with 475 points, the same as Kamloops scored this week.

Next Sunday, Summerland Rifle Club is entertaining teams from other points in the interior competing for the Summerland Rifle Club shield, which the local club has held for the past two years. Complete results of Summerland shooting last Sunday at Vernon follow:

KAMLOOPS KNOTS PLAYOFF SERIES

Wilf Johnston pitched a one-hitter for Kamloops Legion to handcuff Vernon 7-2 last Sunday at Vernon to even the Interior baseball league playoff series at one game each. Deciding game is in Kamloops next Sunday. Kamloops laced Al Munk and his replacement in the third frame, Wadsworth, for thirteen hits. Mel Ottem clouted a homer.

WORLD SERIES TO START ON OCTOBER 6

The 1948 World Series will begin on Wednesday, October 6, in the city of the National league pennant winner. That was announced by the office of Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler.

Big Ski Hill at Revelstoke Ready For Championships

REVELSTOKE — Revelstoke, which is still famous as a ski sport centre because of the publicity which accrued to it over a decade ago, as a result of the big tournaments held on the world's largest ski hill in Mount Revelstoke National park, is on the threshold of still greater fame because of renovations which have put this hill back into service.

Officials of the Revelstoke Ski club are jubilant over the extent and quality of the improvements which have once again made the hill, one of the most outstanding in the world.

The parks branch of the department of mines and resources has done an excellent job in recent months on the hill. It has been renovated completely and built to F. I. S. standards. It is a bit larger than previously and is classified as an 80metre jump.

The hill is now ready for use and the ski club is already making plans for an international tournament.

The former hill saw world records broken on it by the late Nels Nelsen and Robert Lymburne, of Revelstoke. Some of the world's most famous skiers performed on it.

The last big tournament was the Dominion Championships tourney of 1931. The local club is now making a strong bid for the Canadian Championships when they come west in 1950.

A. W. Moys Tops Weekly Club Shoot

While some members of the club were away at Vernon competing in the annual BCD shoot, A. W. Moys captured top place in the weekly Sunday shoot at the local rifle club range at Garnet Valley, with a total of 95 points. Other scores were: D. Weitzel and Len Shannon 92, R. Fredrickson and Ted Dunsdon 88, F. G. Anderson 86, D. Taylor and J. McLachlan 85, G. M. Forster 84, W. C. W. Fosbery 70.

TROPHIES ON DISPLAY

Gil Jacobs Pitches Big One-Hitter as Red Sox Win Junior Ball Title

Gil Jacobs started his freshman year at UBC this week with a happy smile on his face due to last Sunday's great hurling effort when he limited Skaha Lake Cubs to a single hit and proved the key man in a big 2-0 victory for Summerland Red Sox in the third and deciding contest for the South Okanagan junior baseball league championships at the Living Memorial athletic park last Sunday afternoon.

Robbed of Dream
Wilkinson's smash between centre and right in the eighth frame robbed Jacobs of a no-hitter, every pitcher's dream, but did nothing to alter the outcome of the game.

Each team had scored a victory in the playoff series and last Sunday's contest was the final and deciding one to decide the league championships and the holder of the John Norwood trophy, presented by Penticton baseball enthusiasts in memory of the late John Norwood, Penticton Negro who had devoted years of his life to the promotion of the sport among the younger fry of that city.

Frank Evans, Penticton, president of the junior league, made the presentation of the Norwood trophy to Francis Gould, captain of the Summerland Red Sox, following the game.

None Fast Second
Jacobs struck out twelve Cub batters during Sunday's contest and not one visiting player was able to advance past second base. Only one Cub runner was left on the bases.

Getz hurled masterful baseball for the Cubs but was nicked for eight hits while he whiffed eight opposing batters. He put up a game fight but was no match for the sparkling Summerland port-side heater.

What proved the deciding run was scored in the initial frame when Darryl Weitzel, leadoff batter, singled and was scored when Francis Gould's fly to left field was muffed by Baker.

Although the Red Sox threatened in the fifth, no further scoring was recorded until the sixth, when Brawner, whose hard-hit grounder was muffed at third, was scored on Kato's double.

Some poor baserunning on both sides was the only bad feature of the game, Bob Weitzel earning the plaudits of the crowd by whipping pegs to second to catch Cup runners on two occasions and nip probable rallies in an early stage.

Good Infield Play
Both infields were right on their toes and made some fine pickups and throws to first where Jimmy Heavysides, base umpire, was called upon to make some split second decisions.

A large crowd of supporters, with many Penticton fans in attendance was on hand to cheer the champion teams.

This will probably prove the wind-up of the baseball season as the Red Sox do not intend to throw any challenges to other squads now that their star hurler has departed for the coast. Jacobs flew in from Vancouver to participate in this epic struggle.

BOY SCOUTS ACTIVITIES

Troop activities are off to a good start with the troop nearly up to strength and a turn-out at last meeting of 25 boys. We are planning on visiting several other troops this fall and want every patrol up to strength. All those boys who are near their first or second class requirements are urged to complete them, so that we can put on a good show when we go visiting.

Parents of Scouts are urged to see that their boys obtain full uniforms as soon as possible. Uniforms may be obtained from T. Eatons or from Boy Scout headquarters in Ottawa.

At Friday's meeting the swimmers, marksmen and friend to animals badges were presented to P/L Dean Rempel, the campers' badge to P/L Lewis and athletes badge to Lorne Carston. Lewis and Rempel also received their "A" cords which indicate possession of six proficiency badges.

Every boy in the troop who owns a bicycle can qualify for his cyclist's badge. How about it? The troop welcomed G. Solly from the Cubs, who has been posted as a recruit to the Eagles.

William May Is Winner at Fair

William May captured a number of awards at the annual Interior Provincial Exhibition held at Armstrong last week, an affair which attracted thousands of visitors from all parts of the interior. The exhibition was one of the best ever staged and the quality of produce exhibits was said to excel the standards set by the big PNE show at the coast.

First prizes for asters, zinnias, Bartlett pears and peppers were won by Mr. May, who also captured two second prizes and five thirds.

CANCER CASES RECEIVE AID

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony has been informed by the B.C. Cancer Institute that her "Mrs. Jones", the typical self-respecting but decidedly impecunious housewife who needs cancer treatment, can be taken care of in Summerland from now on.

The good news was contained in a letter to Mrs. O'Mahony, as director of the Institute. A fund has been established whereby any unit may draw upon the signature of the unit's treasurer up to $100.00 to help in costs of diagnosis, household and child care, transportation to Vancouver for treatment if such is necessary, and in general to assist in relieving the financial burden such a necessity imposes upon those worthy but indigent persons who are faced with a cancer. The fund will be kept at its $100 level at all times.

Mrs. O'Mahony and Mr. Reid Johnston went to Pentiction on Sunday, September 19, to attend the regional meeting of the society, when delegates were chosen for the provincial meeting to be held on September 28 and 29.

Since Mrs. O'Mahony, as a member of the provincial board, would attend this meeting in any event, it was not necessary for Summerland to appoint a delegate. She leaves on Monday, September 27 for Vancouver.

Why Put Off Improving Your Farm and Home?
With improved farm equipment coming on the market, Canadian farmers look forward to fewer chores and higher profits. Their wives, too, hope for new labour-saving devices in the home. But many folk lack the necessary cash to buy their share of these modern improvements.

J. Muirhead, local Bank of Montreal manager, was describing yesterday the way thousands of farmers overcome this problem every year.

"These men know it's good business to increase present efficiency and comfort, as well as future profits, with a B of M Farm Improvement Loan," Mr. Muirhead explained.

"With an interest-rate of only five per cent, no other charges, and easy repayment terms, these loans make possible a convenient, inexpensive investment in increased production and easier living."

Whether it's for a tractor or a washing-machine, a new building or road repairs, Mr. Muirhead invites farmers to see him now about the farm and home improvements they want most. Advt.

Highest Bid 101 Loan Debentures Only 96.19 Council Discovers

Highest bid for the Summerland School bylaw debentures for $49,500 bearing 3 percent interest was submitted to the municipal council on Tuesday afternoon by A. E. Ames & Co., Vancouver bond house. This tender was for 96.19 and was the highest of six bids.

This debenture issue is being offered to raise the necessary money for the renovation and addition to the Summerland elementary school.

These offers showed a distinct decline from the tenders submitted last spring for municipal debentures on the roads bylaw for $40,000, which brought a figure of 100 as the highest tender for 2 1/2 percent revenue. This offer was also made by A. E. Ames & Co.

However, this $40,000 issue was for a five-year duration only, whereas the school debentures are for a 20-year period.

The Ames company bid was accepted on Monday, subject to ratification of the details of the contract offered.

Wants Pathway Through Park Finished Soon

That the council should proceed with the finishing touches on the partially-completed pathway through the Living Memorial park playground this fall was the contention of E. H. Bennett who appeared before the council on Tuesday.

This pathway commences at the H. W. Brown corner on the Station road and winds down on a good grade to the west side of the park, where it is proposed to take it along the west boundary, with the exit on the southern extension of Pender street.

The Summerland Memorial Parks Committee caretaker, Mr. Joan Graham, has built a portion of this pathway down the hill and Mr. Bennett asked that the council issue instructions for the completion of the path this fall.

This pathway was a council proposal which had been placed in estimates, but the park-playground committee provided the initial part of the work.

This path crosses the kiddie's snow slide which is being built down the bank into the playground proper. A wall barricade has been erected at the top of the hill to keep the youngsters and their sleighs off the roadway and to prevent any passersby from missing their footing and sliding down the runway.

Reeve Johnston queried the pathway crossing this slide but Mr. Bennett declared that there is good visibility from both sides and the slide will only be used for a short period each winter, whereas the path can be used the year round.

The council agreed to continue the pathway plan when possible this fall.

New Teacher Offers Course In Gymnastics

One of the new members of Summerland's teaching staff, Mr. Wendall J. Schwab, has placed before the school board an offer to conduct free gymnastic classes one night weekly during the coming season, in the interest of constructively employing young people from the ages of 12 to 20 during their free and sometimes aimless hours.

The offer, read to the semi-monthly School District No. 77 (Summerland) meeting in the high school on Monday evening, Sept. 27, and will be considered by a committee composed of Mr. S. A. Macdonald, Mr. A. K. Macleod and Chairman, P. G. Dodwell.

Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh commended to the other board members Mr. Schwab's initiative in making this move.

The board meeting was an uneventful one, with routine business being put through expeditiously. Treasurer C. J. Bleasdale reports the financial position strong, and a number of requests for school equipment are to be considered at the next meeting, when the two principals are requested to present definite needs with definite quotations.

Concrete Soon Construction of the new school addition is progressing favorably, and concrete pouring should start soon. In this connection, Dr. James Marshall queried whether there would be adequate supervision provided for this all-important part of the construction, and was assured by Mr. Bleasdale that the matter had been stressed with the construction firm. The Kelowna representative of the architects is to be called upon to come to Summerland as soon as the building is ready for concrete, and if he proves not available the board will plan to call in some other qualified person to do the necessary supervising.

STILL WAITING FOR ADAPTOR

Although some persons have believed that the water has already been chlorinated, the new system has not been completed yet, the council was informed on Tuesday. The adaptor, which was not forwarded with the equipment, is still undelivered and the chlorination plant cannot function until this piece of equipment arrives, it was explained. The council authorized that a collect wire be sent the supply firm seeking quicker action on the installation.

Impound Two Cars After Accident

Arising out of an accident on Okanagan highway near the turn-off to the Living Memorial athletic park, last Saturday morning, Stanley Hogarth appeared in police court before Magistrate H. Sharman this week and paid $5 and $2.50 costs for not allowing half the highway.

The other car involved in the accident was driven by D. Selms, of Peachland.

Both cars were impounded, as neither car was covered by liability insurance, as required under the B.C. "Pink Slip" law.

Happy "Homecoming" for Displaced Persons Family on Arrival Here

The sad lot of Europe's displaced persons had a happy ending for a family who arrived in Summerland on Tuesday, September 28, to find a brand new four-room home with bath, completely furnished right down to groceries on the shelves, waiting for them to start life anew under happier auspices than any afforded by their Russian-ridden native land.

Mr. and Mrs. Franz Sellinger, with their two sons aged 22 and 17 and their two teen-age daughters, originally lived in Jugoslavia, but were removed to Germany when the Hitlerites overran their country.

Since the close of the last World War the Sellingers have remained in Germany, unwilling to return to the Russian-dominated part of Europe, and longing for a refuge where they could live their lives in peace and with dignity.

Mr. Sellinger's two sisters, Mrs. S. Wolfe and Mrs. L. Wurst, cooperated from this country in order to help them achieve their dream.

On Tuesday the brother and sisters were re-united. Mrs. Wurst had not seen her brother since 1918, and Mrs. Wolfe had said goodbye to him in 1923 when she returned to Canada after a lengthy visit to the old country.

During the long months of negotiation, the Wursts have occupied themselves in preparing a place for the refugee family, building them a separate home near theirs on the Wurst property.

Peach Orchard Park to Have Culvert Bridge

Instructions have been issued by the municipal council that two culvert-type bridges will be placed across Eneas creek in Peach Orchard district this fall, to replace culverts torn out by the flood waters last spring.

Cost of one arch-type culvert bridge for the roadway leading into Ellison hall in Peach Orchard park and another smaller culvert bridge leading to the George Woitte property will be in the neighborhood of $1,200, Foreman E. Kercher estimated on Tuesday.

Eneas creek is shut off, as far as Garnet Valley dam is concerned, but the dam must be re-opened as soon as possible to allow owners at the upper end of the valley a better water supply, Mr. Kercher warned.

It was suggested by D. M. Wright, temporary roads engineer, and by provincial Public Works Engineer Colby, of Penticton, that one culvert bridge, with an arch span should be installed in Peach Orchard instead of the two small culverts which have been washed out and damaged by floods.

Foreman Kercher has acquiesced in this plan and has agreed that the creek would be straightened in front of Ellison hall, once the new culvert is in place.

Plans for the structure will be made available by the provincial public works office, Reeve R. A. Johnston stated. A 25-foot width is suggested, with wing walls.

Although the Woitte bridge will be smaller in structure, the work of placing the culvert will be greater than in Peach Orchard park, due to the crowded working conditions, Mr. Kercher explained. Thirty inches of silt in Eneas creek will have to be tackled, this being the excess debris brought down by the spring flood.

Thirsk Dam Has Now Been Empty

Thirsk dam was empty on September 26 when he visited that area, Water Foreman E. Kercher reported to the council on Tuesday.

The dam needs to be cleaned of debris, while a log jam has developed below the spillway. These obstructions will be cleaned out before winter. An attempt will be made to burn the log jam.

Interior Hospitals Renew Plea for Building of Home For Chronic Cases in Valley

In view of the expected increased demand for hospital accommodation when the hospital insurance plan goes into effect next year, the interior region of the B.C. Hospitals Assn. is renewing its request for the establishment of a home for chronic, old-age pensioners and social assistance cases in the interior of B.C. Such was the decision of the meeting of the interior region held at the Legion hall in Penticton last Thursday afternoon.

Coupled with this move was a resolution which approved in general terms the provincial government scheme for hospital insurance and pledged the support of interior hospitals.

These resolutions will be placed before the annual convention of the B.C. Hospitals Assn. in Vancouver early next month.

New Officers

An entire afternoon was spent by representatives of hospital boards from Revelstoke, Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton, Oliver and Princeton last Thursday in discussing hospital problems.

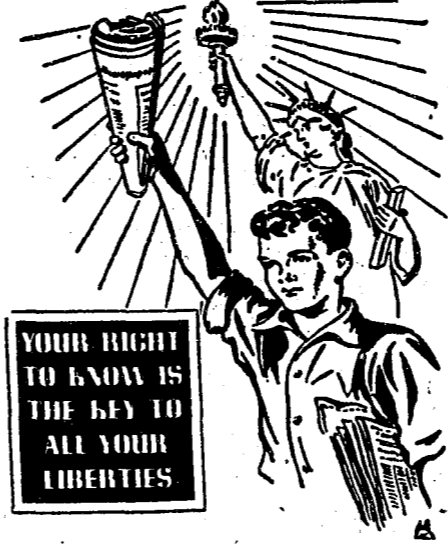

J. A. Abrahamson, the able president from Revelstoke, was replaced by Charles Stewart, Penticton hospital board chairman, while J. F. Hampson, Kelowna, who has acted as secretary of the region for the past five years only consented to carry on this post until a successor could be named by Mr. Stewart.

Delegate to the B.C. association will be Dr. J. C. Wilcox, Summerland, with K. W. Kinnard, Vernon, as alternative delegate. These two appointments must await ratification of the B.C. body on October 9.

Next meeting of the regional group will be held in Oliver, some time in May.

Occupy Bed Space

Most important general discussion arose from the plan to have a home for chronic cases in the interior, to relieve the congestion of interior hospitals. It was stated that more than 60 indigent chronic cases are occupying hospital bed space at the present time in

Council Gives Okay for Fire Truck Project

If a 500-gallon-per-minute pump, with power takeoff and 1,000 feet of 2 1/2-inch hose is provided along with other planned equipment, then the B.C. Fire Underwriters will give complete approval to the plans submitted for Summerland's new fire truck.

Such was the announcement made at Tuesday's council meeting following submission of tentative plans for the new fire truck and equipment to the underwriters at the coast.

Fire Chief Ed Gould declared that such a type of pump would cost about $1,000. This would mean an addition to the $4,000 worth of equipment and renovation work planned for the new truck which was purchased this year for fire protection purposes.

Both Councillors Eric Tait and Harvey Wilson advocated getting this pump and "doing the job properly" and the rest of the council acquiesced to this view.

Provided quotations are in line, Reeve R. A. Johnston was authorized to proceed with the purchase of the suggested pump for the fire truck.

The West Summerland fire district has on hand or on order for delivery shortly 850 feet of 2 1/2 inch hose in good repair, while another 1,000 feet of old hose is available but is in poor repair.

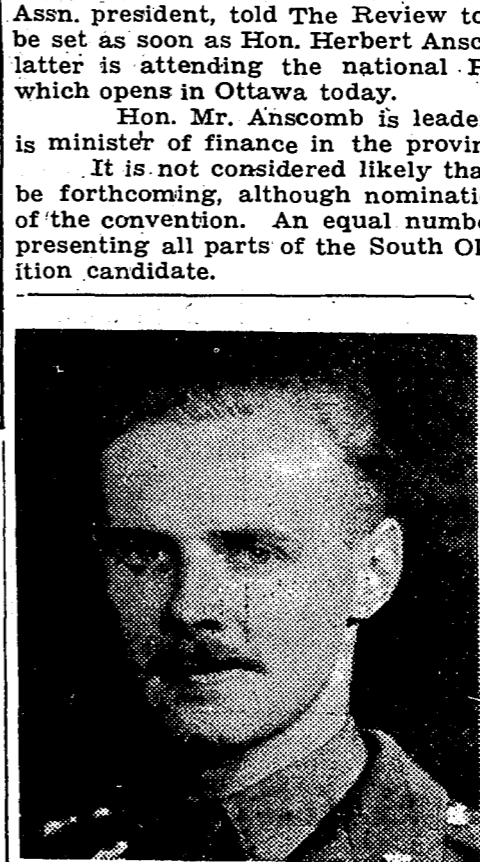

R. D. Browne-Clayton, 31, Will Stand as Coalition By-Election Candidate

Although no date has been set for the nominating convention, it was stated from Kelowna this week that R. D. Browne-Clayton, 31-year-old veteran of World War II from Okanagan Mission has consented to allow his name to stand as Coalition candidate for the forthcoming by-election in South Okanagan provincial riding.

Mr. W. G. Gillard, South Okanagan Progressive-Conservative Assn. president, told The Review today that the convention date would be set as soon as Hon. Herbert Anscomb can come to the Okanagan. The latter is attending the national Progressive Conservative convention which opens in Ottawa today.

Hon. Mr. Anscomb is leader of the Tories in this province and is minister of finance in the provincial Coalition cabinet.

It is not considered likely that any other Coalition candidate will be forthcoming, although nominations will be accepted from the floor of the convention. An equal number of Liberals and Conservatives representing all parts of the South Okanagan riding will choose the Coalition candidate.

The Mikado May Be Presented by Singers-Players

Possibility that the famous Gilbert & Sullivan operetta "The Mikado" may be presented this season by the Summerland Singers and Players club was a highlight of the annual general meeting held on Tuesday evening, at the high school.

Last season, the ever-popular HMS Pinafore was the club's presentation and this operetta was portrayed before packed houses here and in Penticton.

Decision regarding this season's presentations will be made within the next week by the newly-elected executive.

A satisfactory balance sheet was presented to the club, and the 35 members who attended the annual meeting were gratified with the results of their efforts.

An entirely new slate of officers will guide the club's activities this year, Delmar Dunham being chosen to succeed Roy F. Angus as president, Mrs. Lorne Perry replacing Mrs. J. Y. Towgood as vice-president and J. C. Barkwill being the choice as secretary-treasurer, in place of Mrs. N. O. Solly.

Mrs. H. R. Whitmore will represent the singers' section on the new executive and Mrs. N. O. Solly will represent the players' section.

By unanimous consent, the appointment made last year of Mr. W. A. "Bud" Stewart as musical director was left standing. Members expressed enthusiasm about the singers' prospects for a good season under his capable leadership.

Selections from HMS Pinafore rang through the high school at the close of the meeting when the singers' section responded with gusto to an impromptu review of last season's successful presentation.

The Coalition candidate will contest the by-election against Bruce Woodworth, Westbank high school principal, and son of the late J. S. Woodworth, CCF founder. The seat was left vacant on the resignation of W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition member, who contested the Yale federal by-election last May.

On Monday, Mr. Browne-Clayton issued the following statement in Kelowna:

"At the request of a number of friends in South Okanagan, I have consented to allow my name to go before the forthcoming convention to select a candidate to fill the vacancy in the provincial parliament for South Okanagan, as a supporter of the present government."

It was pointed out, however, that nominations will also be received from the floor when the Coalition convention is held next month.

Mr. Browne-Clayton was born in England during Great War 1, coming to Canada in 1920. He came directly to the Okanagan Mission with his parents. His father served with the merchant marine during the first world war.

Mr. Browne-Clayton was educated in Kelowna schools, and joined the armed forces at the outbreak of war in 1939, serving with the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry. He saw action in Italy and returned to Canada in 1944, being discharged the following year. He has a wife and one small child.

Since the end of hostilities he has been engaged in fruit farming at Okanagan Mission.

W. G. Rempel Resigns As Manager of New Cornwall Cannery

W. G. Rempel, manager of the Cornwall Canning Co. Ltd., plant in Summerland, has announced his resignation, effective on Saturday, Sept. 25. His position is being taken by Mr. Karl Rigor, of San Jose, Cal.

Mr. Rempel was appointed manager of the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Assn. cannery in 1946 and held this post until the cannery was sold this spring to the Cornwall interests, a division of Safeway Stores Ltd.

He continued to operate the plant for the new owners until early this month, when he tendered his resignation, this taking effect on Saturday last.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Rempel informed The Review that he is considering plans of operating a small cannery plant here in Summerland. He wishes to operate on the ordinary soft fruits available in the valley and also to provide a more continuous operation by bringing in other products for processing in the off season.

First Apple Tag Day ever staged in Summerland by the local troop of Boy Scouts will be held on Saturday, October 16. Permission to hold this tag day was granted by the Summerland council on Tuesday.

British Columbia Weeklies Take Major Awards for All-Round Papers

First three top trophies for the best all-round weekly papers in Canada in various circulation classes were captured by British Columbia weeklies; the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Assn. convention at Niagara Falls announced last week.

The Chilliwack Progress succeeded the Kamloops Sentinel as holder of the Mason trophy, for the best all-round weekly of circulation class 2,000 and over.

Runner-up to the Progress was the Port Erie (Ont.) Times-Review with the Vernon News in third place.

In the 1,000 to 2,000 class, the Charles Clark cup, held for many years by the Kelowna Courier, was captured by the Creston Review.

For weeklies 500 to 1,000, the Hugh Savage shield went to the Ladner Optimist as the best all-round paper, with the Summerland Review in second place and the Clearholm (Alta.) Press as third place winner.

In the under 500 class, all three awards went to Ontario and Manitoba newspapers.

Among papers of a similar size to the Summerland Review, the Ladner Optimist captured the Printer and Publisher's special award for the best front page and had the second best editorial page.

In the same class, the Grand Forks Gazette won the editorial page contest and the John E. Bedy memorial trophy, with the Teeswater (Ont.) News third.

Four issues are chosen for the comparison of weekly newspapers, the selections this year being the last two issues of March and the first two issues of April.

We Are Happy Today

WE ARE HAPPY today in the knowledge that we have been able to make others jappy and just a little proud of ourselves.

We are proud to have won some small distinction in the realm of the weekly newspapers by capturing the second prize in the Class 500 to 1,000 circulation. This was a Better Newspapers competition which solicited entries from all parts of Canada.

We are happy that our efforts have won this distinction as the second best all round paper in our division in Canada.

We are happy that our staff has been loyal and devoted to the task of turning out a newspaper which has received this small acclaim. Without that honest co-operation on the part of all our staff such an award could never have come our way.

But, most of all, we are happy that the good citizens of Summerland are happy with us. We have received hundreds of congratulations from all sides of the district and, some few from points farther afield.

The Summerland Review is still in its infancy, having only been established two and a half years ago. We have struggled to improve our typography, our printing techniques, our news and editorial set-up and to add bits of new type and equipment which would turn out a better class of newspaper.

All that could not have been accomplished without a large modicum of support from our advertisers, our subscribers and those good people who provide us with scraps of information which we can pass along to the readers.

This co-operation has been most heartening and without such support we would not have been able to produce a newspaper capable of winning national recognition.

Thus, it is plain that all our readers, our advertisers, our boy salesmen who trudge many weary miles to deliver your weekly copy, can all join in the recognition which has befallen this newspaper.

We are happy that Summerland as a whole has received favorable publicity through the medium of this award. Only a progressive community could achieve these results.

For this loyalty and co-operation, we hurry to thank you, firm in the knowledge that you are as happy as we are.

Your Right To Know

THE WELCOME news that The Review had received an award in the Better Newspaper competition of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Assn. comes on the eve of National Newspaper Week, which is being recognized throughout this continent from October 1 to October 8.

For the 1948 National Newspaper Week the slogan, "Your right to know is the key to all your liberties," has been chosen.

In our small way, we attempt each week to disseminate the news of our district, to commend those who have taken an active part in forwarding some community enterprise and to suggest from time to time some plan which we believe will be of benefit to the community at large, or some portion therein.

To be able to tell and to suggest is called "Freedom of the Press". It has come down as a marvelous heritage, from the founders of this Canada of ours. It is not a "smart alec" right which can be abused, because it is governed by the needs, requirements and good judgment of the people of the community.

The people demand the truth wherever it is possible to obtain it, and accuracy in reporting. We do make mistakes. It is only human to err. But to the best of our ability we aim at the truth and accuracy in our statements.

This "Freedom of the Press" is a marvelous privilege, compared with what the press in many other parts of the world enjoys. Only free men enjoy the right of a free press . . . but it is also true that only a free press can guarantee and maintain the rights of a free people.

A free press can criticize the policies of the government and its cabinet ministers, the running of the army. But the press of so many countries in the world today cannot say those things. A man who writes for a government-controlled newspaper, or the dictator press, can say only those things which are put in his mind by his bosses.

And when that happens, the people who read those newspapers are no longer free.

So, National Newspaper Week is just as important to you, the reader, as it is to the editor to this newspaper. It isn't a week in which you are expected to eat more fish, buy a lapel button or don a straw hat. It's simply a week in which, thoughtfully and of your own free will, you should resolve that you will do everything in your power to keep the press of Canada free.

In that way, you will simply be guaranteeing the continuation of your own Freedom.

"YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW IS THE KEY TO ALL YOUR LIBERTIES."

By AGROLOGIST

The superintendent of the experimental station is a very even tempered man. However, he was fighting mad last Monday. Before I had a chance to ask him a question, he blazed forth with both barrels along the following lines:

"Some people are never satisfied! It is our policy to welcome visitors at the experimental station week days, Sundays, holidays, morning, afternoon and evening. I am satisfied that this is a sound policy; it enables many thousands of visitors to enjoy the ornamental grounds and acquaint themselves with the experimental work in progress.

"But some people are never satisfied. Yesterday noon a lady called at the house and asked when lunch would be ready! When I informed her that it was not our custom to serve meals to casual visitors she stated that she understood we served hot meals to anyone requesting this service. The lady seemed quite disappointed when I remarked that in this period of prosperity the Dominion Government did not consider it necessary or advisable to operate free lunch counters on experimental stations. I have no quarrel with the lady as evidently she had been misinformed.

"Not so the hoodlums who raided the vineyard and the melon patch. These plantations are fenced and placarded with signs indicating that experiments conducted therein require that visitors do not pick the fruits or vegetables. Apparently the ignorant morons who raided these plantations either cannot read or they have no appreciation whatever of the importance and value of experimental work. They are not content with stealing a few ripe grapes and a melon or two to eat—no, indeed—they picked the grapes wholesale and scattered them in all directions. They bashed in large numbers of immature melons thereby causing irreparable injury to the vegetable growing industry in the South Okanagan. I do not wish these vandals any ill will but if they suffer for life from stomach ulcers it will be no more than they deserve.

"These melons are being grown for foundation seed, the value of which to the Okanagan vegetable industry is indicated by this letter which I received recently from P. G. James, field man for the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board."

Thereupon, the superintendent handed me a letter which read as follows:

"For the past two days I have been in Osoyoos extracting seed from the Foundation Stock cantaloupe which was grown at the Summerland Farm last year.

This melon is proving very successful at Osoyoos and the growers who have looked over this crop have passed very favorable comments; in fact, it has proved to be a much nicer melon than any other they have in Osoyoos at the present time. Also, the flesh ripens right up to the outer rind and the seed cavity is fairly small, also the netting is excellent.

We have a fair-sized block which has already been inspected by the government seed inspectors and we hope to harvest around 50 to 75 lbs. of saleable seed which will be put under registration.

We thought you would like to know the results of this melon and we certainly wish to congratulate you on the splendid work you have done on this cantaloupe in the past.

We remain,
(signed) P. G. James."

Guess what? Next week's column to you will be written from Montreal, for I'm off on a gay little jaunt to find new things to talk to you about. Nice, eh?

And, have another guess? The week after that I'll be tickling the typewriter for you in—New York. No less. It's a half-holiday, half-work deal, and I'll probably be bursting at the seams with things to tell you.

In the meantime I'm trying to keep as down-to-earth as I can, though my right (or would you say 'write') hand is fast going on the blink, what with seventeen signatures having been drawn from me already.

Have you ever met anyone who eats the skin of the peach? I'd as soon munch on a piece of burnt flannel, myself.

If you're the mother of just one child, you could pop a letter in the mail for him every once in a while. Children love to get letters or parcels, and you could send it from some fairy, or the family cat, or even his own beloved daddy.

How are you getting along with your pickling? Hope you got in on the silverskin onions before they disappeared. There's nothing quite like that piquant flavor in the middle of the winter. Or is there?

Sometime when you're entertaining your man's boss for dinner, how about using peach halves for dessert, and filling the hole in them with frozen strawberries. A slosh of whip-

UBC Engineers Test Air Seal Material for Tires

The department of agricultural engineering at the University of British Columbia has recently carried out a series of tests on a commercial air-seal material which is claimed to prevent under-inflation and tire punctures.

The material is a pliable asbestos product which is blown, under pressure, through the tire valve stem. When the wheel is spun the air-seal is whirled to that section of the tube which underlies the tread, and some of it spreads about an inch up the side walls.

One experiment involved a 6.00" x 16" tube which had been leaking at the rate of two pounds per day. The tube was treated with air seal and inflated to 31 pounds. It has remained at this pressure and in use on a passenger car for 45 days to date.

Treated tires have also been deliberately punctured by driving a

3/16" spike into the tread section. In each case there was a slight escape of air when the spike was removed, but then the puncture sealed completely.

Some question arose as to the probability of treated tires affecting the steering of both cars and trucks. To check this point trials were conducted at speeds ranging from 30 to 85 miles per hour on straight stretches of road. These tests proved conclusively that there was no chance of the air-seal adversely affecting the steering or wheel balance.

Professor J. R. W. Young, acting head of the department of agricultural engineering, feels that the use of this material could be a definite factor in reducing traffic fatalities. In addition, there should also be a considerable monetary saving to each user as it is a well-known fact that tire life is extended when correct pressures are maintained.

Kelowna Paper Says Coalition Party Should Have Been Allowed to Name Candidate

Last week, The Kelowna Courier, in its news columns, expressed the thought that considerable dissatisfaction is being felt in South Okanagan centres regarding the delay in choosing a candidate who will carry the Coalition banner in the expected by-election this fall.

The idea was put forth that the Coalition party, as organized some years ago, should have been allowed to produce a candidate. Pressure from Conservative headquarters at the coast was suggested as being one of the reasons why the Conservative element in South Okanagan was being allowed to choose the possible candidate whose name will be brought before the combined convention of Liberals and Progressive-Conservatives of South Okanagan.

Local Conservative officials have denied these allegations, stating that the Coalition party, as such, never made a move towards bringing forward a candidate and the Conservatives therefore went ahead with their plans, as W. A. C. Bennett, the former member, was a known Tory man.

The Progressive Conservatives have been working closely with the Liberals in the riding in the choice of the possible candidate, local Tories claim.

Since the Courier story was printed, R. D. Browne-Clayton of Okanagan Mission has announced that he will allow his name to stand for the Coalition candidate. Following is the main portion of the Courier story published last week:

Not Judicious

All this has led to a growing uneasiness in non-socialistic circles in the riding. There is a growing feeling that the selection of a candidate to support the government has not been judiciously carried through.

The method of selection adopted was for the Conservatives, as W. A. C. Bennett, former MLA, whose resignation is the cause of the by-election, was originally a Conservative, should select a number of names and present them to a joint convention made up equally of Liberals and Conservatives. The Conservatives have not yet made such a selection.

On the street there is a growing irritation regarding the situation. It is pointed out that it was known almost a year ago that Mr. Bennett would be resigning the seat and that nothing was done in the interval to find a candidate to replace him. It is pointed out, too, that Mr. Bennett resigned his seat last May, but there was no effort to find a candidate until very recently.

The uneasiness on the street is causing increased comment to the effect that it should have been the local Coalition party which found the candidate and not the Conservative Party.

This is a reference to the fact that a Coalition party was formed here some years ago. It was the inspiration of W. A. C. Bennett, then sitting member, who was re-elected as a Coalition and not as a Conservative candidate.

When the party was formed a strong executive was elected and composed of leading Liberals and Conservatives, although the way was open for any other party or organization to join. A very considerable membership in the party was signed up.

Apparently this organization was not given the opportunity of functioning in the present instance. It is rumored on the street that the provincial Conservative party brought pressure to bear on local Conservatives that they should elect the candidate as W. A. C. Bennett had held the seat. This caused the local Conservative group to turn the cold shoulder on the organized Coalition party. With their defection, the party ceased to be a coalition group.

This situation does not rest easy with many of the Conservatives themselves. One strong Conservative supporter expressed himself to the Courier on Wednesday as follows: "Bennett was not a Conservative in the provincial house. He was elected as a Coalitionist and, therefore, the Conservative claims to a right to select the candidate to succeed him have no grounds."

"Moreover, the Conservative party have not succeeded in coming up with an acceptable candidate, and, therefore, they should look to the Liberal ranks for a candidate. It does not matter whether the candidate is Conservative or Liberal. What does matter is that we have a candidate which can win the election. This idea that we must have a Conservative candidate is all poppycock."

"I'm normally a Conservative, but I feel that the Conservatives should forget this attitude of theirs and get together with the Liberals and select the best possible candidate regardless of whether he has a Conservative or a Liberal background."

When approached by The Courier a member of the Coalition party stated: "We were rather left up in the air when Mr. Bennett resigned to contest the federal by-election as a Conservative. In doing so, he left our Coalition party. However, we were still prepared to function until it became evident that the Conservatives in the riding had decided they should select the candidate. It appeared quite obvious that this attitude had been inspired from coast sources. Had we gone ahead and chosen a candidate, we would have been accused of splitting the anti-socialist vote, so we decided to stand pat and allow things to take their course, in the hope that a candidate acceptable to all groups would be chosen."

"The Coalition party, or most of it, at least, is not concerned whether or not the candidate was formerly a Liberal or a Conservative. We just would like to see a candidate who can win the election and make an acceptable representative of South Okanagan at Victoria. The selection of such a candidate should not be hampered by any party strings. The best man should be chosen, regardless of any political affiliations. If the Conservatives haven't got one, the Liberals probably would have."

Mr. A. G. DeBrisay, president of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., was a visitor to Summerland on Monday, Sept. 20, when he attended an executive meeting of the BCFGA Summerland local. It is understood that he discussed the subject of the board of trade request for a processing plant establishment here with the growers' executive.

Visitors From Many Distant Points View Milne's Cannery Here

For many years, Milne's Cannery has kept a visitors' book to record the many persons from distant points who have visited their plant in West Summerland, on the Giant's Head road.

Annually, several hundred names are added to this record, and a perusal of the book indicates that this plant is known in far parts of this continent, as well as across the Atlantic.

Since April, the following home towns of visitors were registered:

From B.C.—Victoria, New Westminster, Vancouver, North Vancouver, West Vancouver, UBC, Prince George, Haney, Mission City, Castlegar, Trail, Revelstoke, Enderby, Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna, Peachland, Penticton.

Alberta—Ghost Pine Creek, Wildwood, Spirit River, High River, Edmonton, Calgary, Turner Valley, Lamont, Grand Prairie, Brooks.

Other points—Dawson, Y.T., Regina, Sask., Brandon and Winnipeg, Man., Tacoma and Seattle Wash., Tawnton, Somersetshire, London, Birmingham, Croydon, West Byfleet, Surrey and Cupar, Fife, Scotland.

Mrs. Don Mundy Talks to Guides On B.C. Mountains

Mrs. Don Mundy, who is district commissioner for Girl Guides in North Vancouver, has been making a tour through the Okanagan in her further capacity of provincial woodcraft adviser to the association.

Mrs. Mundy came to Summerland for a two-day visit with Canon and Mrs. F. V. Harrison, and on Monday, September 27, addressed both the Guides and their junior members, the Brownies.

Speaking to the little ones on Monday afternoon, Mrs. Mundy enthralled them with tales of little known parts of mountainous B.C., and showed them lovely color pictures of mountain flowers and snowy peaks.

In the evening Mrs. Mundy spoke to a well-attended audience of Guides, leaders and members of the association, telling secrets of woodcraft, and relating exciting exploits in mountain climbing. A noted mountaineer herself, she was well qualified to hold the interest of her listeners. At this meeting also many slides were shown.

Following the open meeting, the Guides and leaders met in Mrs. Harrison's home for an informal social hour with Mrs. Mundy.

NEW RESIDENTS HERE

Newcomers to Summerland are Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Suter and their two small children, who are at present living in their house trailer at the top of Peach Orchard hill. Hoping to become permanent residents of the town, Mr. Suter is opening a used car lot at that point. They formerly resided in Cranbrook.

GRAND MISTRESS OF L.O.B.A. VISITS

Grand Mistress of the LOBA, Mrs. Minnie Thomas of Princeton, visited, Summerland LOBA No. 912 on Thursday evening, September 23, when the local lodge made her a presentation of a souvenir silver spoon and a corsage of flowers.

Worthy Mistress, Sister E. Gillespie made the presentation on behalf of the Summerland ladies, and was in turn presented with a corsage from her lodge by Sister V. McCutcheon.

Five lodge members from Penticton visited the meeting, and Ridgedale, Sask., lodge was represented by visitor Mrs. Kennedy.

The evening was brought to a close by a friendly social gathering.

Grand Matron of O.E.S. Visits Here

A special meeting of Summerland Chapter No. 63, Order of the Eastern Star, was held on Friday evening, September 24, in the Masonic hall, West Summerland, honoring the official visit of Mrs. Mary Buchan, Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of British Columbia, who resides at Trail. Mrs. Audrey Marr, grand lecturer, from Langley Prairie, accompanied Mrs. Buchan on her official tour. Visitors from Vernon to Oliver were present for the occasion.

During the afternoon Mrs. Buchan was honored at a lovely tea held at the home of Mrs. Mel Cousins, at which many members were present to extend a welcome to the guest of honor.

Birthday Party Starts Federation Fall Activities

The first meeting, after the summer holidays, of the St. Andrew's Federation, was held on Thursday, Sept. 17 in the church hall. The meeting took the form of a birthday gathering.

Each member was asked to donate one cent for each year of her life.

The highlight was a delicious birthday cake, which Mrs. E. H. Elliott presents to the federation each year, to be divided among the members, present and absent.

Bible reading, shared by Mrs. Boothe, Mrs. K. Lott, Mrs. Gould and Mrs. B. Stent had for its theme "The Faith whereby the Church must live" and was particularly helpful.

Reports and business followed and preparations for the winter's work were discussed. A very happy and optimistic spirit prevailed. Tea was provided by Mrs. S. A. MacDonald.

STUDIES CHINA

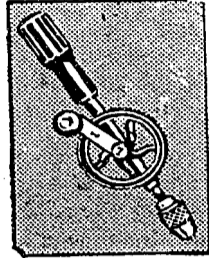

Mission band meetings, after the vacation recess, commenced again on Monday, September 27, in St. Andrew's United church. Mrs. W. F. Ward is in charge of the band, which this year is studying China in relation to Christian mission work.

Rotary as Powerful Force For World Peace Stressed by District Governor Al. Carlson

"Rotary is a powerful force for world peace," Al Carlson, Spokane, Wash., governor of Rotary District No. 103, stressed to the Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday evening when he addressed the Rotarians and Rotary Annex in a joint Ladies' Night dinner meeting.

There were 51 present for this gathering at the Nu-Way Annex with Roy H. Campbell, in charge of boys' work for the Kiwanis Club of Vancouver being the second guest speaker.

Governor Carlson, at the outset, remarked that unless the Union Jack and American flags, prominent at all Rotary meetings, stay together, there is a bleak outlook ahead for the white race.

Covers World

The district official pointed out that Rotary, with a membership of 320,000 and 6,500 clubs in all parts of the world, can provide a strong nucleus towards world peace.

Rotary's basis of membership is unique, he declared, ensuring permanence and stability which lead to understanding, fellowship and peace based on the ideal of service.

Rotary develops the individual member and places a dignity on all useful occupation, again with the ideal of service above self, Governor Carlson continued. Rotary stimulates friendship and in friendship there is beauty, which renews faith in the Supreme Being.

The speaker also emphasized the democratic side of Rotary, stressing that no democracy can survive without the equality of man, which is the fundamental precept of Rotary.

As an instance, he cited the recent Rotary International conference at Quebec, where 446 delegates from all parts of the world gathered, to strive to outdo the other fellow in a demonstration of fellowship which develops into real friendship.

Boys' Work Stressed

Roy H. Campbell, who is in charge of boys' work for Kiwanis in Vancouver, proved an interesting speaker, giving the service club an insight into development of playgrounds and other projects aimed at furthering the interests of juveniles.

Youth, Today and Tomorrow was the subject of Mr. Campbell's address, and he advocated a much greater interest in boys' work, keeping youngsters off the streets. He stressed the need of guiding fatherless boys, in particular.

Vandalism at Experimental Station Causes Serious Loss

Vandalism of a particularly pointless variety has been experienced recently at the experimental station here. Dr. R. C. Palmer reports that sometime during the evening or night of September 20, some person or persons raided the station's melon patch, with very annoying results to the personnel in charge.

Not only were a number of ripe melons taken away, but with a

Mr. Campbell also gave his listeners an insight into the projects undertaken by Kiwanis, Rotary and other service clubs in Vancouver, all with the common aim of fostering a proper spirit and guiding the younger folk of Vancouver.

These service clubs have joined together in the development of the Kerrisdale rink, he pointed out, and this will be a playground for the younger people, under proper guidance.

malicious destructiveness a large number of those not yet ripe enough to harvest seed were smashed and battered beyond reclaim. The melons are grown for seed harvest, and the ruin represents a real loss to the efforts of the station to provide the best varieties of seed for growing in this district.

Dr. Palmer also reports that a great many nuts are disappearing from the nut orchard. This, too, is undoing the work of the station, as the nut yields from various varieties are carefully recorded from year to year, so that the statistical work suffers to the detriment of the general public when the yield cannot be properly tabulated.

HERE'S WHERE WE STAND ON NEW-CAR SELLING

General Motors Dealers' "Foursquare Selling Policy" assures you a Fair Deal when you buy a new car

Let's bring this subject right out in the open. Many conditions still exist which encourage the "gray marketing" of automobiles. You don't like this — and neither do we. There's no law against "under the counter" deals — demanding a bonus for early delivery. There's no law against loading cars with accessories the customer doesn't want or need. There's no law against selling to buyers who make it their business to resell new cars at inflated prices.

But we don't do it because it's not good business. All dealers buy cars at clearly established factory prices which with the exception of transportation, are the same, model for model, all over the country. All start on a fair and equal basis — and should therefore sell at these fair and reasonable delivered prices. So we're making public announcement of our code of fair dealing. Our foursquare selling policy, simply stated, is this:

1 NO PADDING OF PRICES

We guarantee our delivered prices to conform with the manufacturer's recommendation and to contain nothing but standard charges which, of course, include Sales and Excise Taxes. You receive an itemized bill of sale. All prices are an "Open Book" — they are available to you and we sell at these listed figures.

2 NO LOADING OF UNWANTED ACCESSORIES

All cars are offered with factory-installed accessories only and prices are figured to cover these. We pledge ourselves to add no "extras" except those each customer orders — and to avoid using "extras" to increase the delivered price.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our loyal customers and friends for their patience in awaiting their turn for delivery of new General Motors cars.

Although the popularity of General Motors cars is unprecedented, and the supply is lagging far behind the demand, we are doing our utmost to be fair and equitable in their distribution.

3 TRADE-INS DESIRED — BUT NOT COMPULSORY

We will take your order for future delivery, without requiring a trade-in. However, we have many valued used-car customers who also depend upon us to supply them with automobiles. For this reason we would like to have your trade-in, and we'll give you a fair and reasonable allowance for it.

4 NO COLLUSION

While we cannot prevent our customers from reselling new cars, we will not knowingly be a party to such transactions. Our only interest is to deliver new cars to bona fide customers.

We present this platform because we believe it's good business to keep our customers informed.

It's a platform that gives you a fair deal when you buy a new car — exactly the same kind of a deal and treatment you got before the war.

If you wish additional information, it will gladly be supplied by any dealer whose name is signed to this announcement.

Codling Moth Not Affecting Apple Harvest

Reporting for the Summerland-Peachland-Westbank area, the latest horticultural news letter issued by the provincial department of agriculture, horticultural division, gives the following survey, as of September 21:

Since the issuing of our last report the weather has been generally fair and dry. However, winds have become stronger and more frequent often menacing the McIntosh and late pear growers. On Tuesday, Sept. 14, there was a freak rain and windstorm which affected the whole district but was more severe in the Peachland area where it damaged trees and scattered several hundred boxes of fruit on the ground.

In the past few weeks, the soil has dried out very quickly so that many growers have found it necessary to apply late summer irrigation water.

The harvesting of McIntosh has been going on for the past week but movement is as yet slow, since many growers are waiting for better color and maturity. Later apples are coming along fairly well. Delicious are a good size. Newtown and Winesap appear on the small side but may pick up before harvesting begins. Harvesting of Flemish pears is over and that of Anjou well under way.

Prune harvesting is past the peak. This crop was quite badly affected with shrivelling at the stem end. The cause of this is unknown but it appears to be a seasonal ailment, since it is widespread in most areas.

The apple crop is very clean of codling moth but it is interesting to note that worms are quite prevalent in some orchards either where the spray schedule was not adhered to, or where the number of DDT sprays was reduced below the minimum of three recommended. Pear psylla still persists in many orchards. Quite a number of growers are putting on a post-harvest spray for the control of this pest. Fall sprays for the control of Corynum blight on peach and apricot are being applied this week and next.

Both late blight and early blight have been detected in local potato plantings. In the case of late blight, foliage killing sprays are being applied and other precautions taken to protect the crop.

HEALTH CHECK-UP

This fall many young men and women are starting out on their first full-time jobs. This is the time for these young people to have a complete medical and dental check-up in order to get off on the right foot in their business careers. A complete inventory of eating practices and health habits is an important follow-up to the medical examination.

Royalty Watches Intently at Olympic Event

Life Insurance Is Highly Competitive Editors Are Told

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont.—The life insurance business is the most highly competitive of all business activities in Canada today, J. G. Parker, president of the Imperial Life Assurance Company, told delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association here last week.

Mr. Parker is chairman of the standing committee on institutional advertising of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, which was host to the Weekly Editors at luncheon.

After describing some of the problems of the business in Canada, the speaker said that the cry of "Monopoly" was sometimes raised against the life insurance companies.

Said Mr. Parker: "The charge of 'Monopoly' is ridiculous because it is without foundation. If the charge were true you would find that the number of companies operating in Canada was sharply reduced from what it is today.

"Canadian companies are not afraid of competition. In fact, we welcome competition. How else would we be able to enjoy such an enviable position throughout the world if it were not for the competitive spirit that dominates the entire life insurance business here in Canada?"

panies are so highly thought of that they successfully operate in 68 different countries besides Canada. Indeed, they do nearly 40% of their business outside Canada.

"While Canadian life insurance companies are pushing their ways into the life insurance markets of the world, notwithstanding the competition of strong local companies most places they go, companies of other countries are entering the Canadian market.

"During the past year, four new companies have started operating in Canada. Two of them are of Canadian origin and the other pair of United States origin. Besides Canadian and United States companies operating in Canada, there are eight British companies operating here too. Altogether, British and United States companies write more than one-third of the life insurance written in Canada today.

"Does that sound like 'Monopoly'?"

If the Canadian life insurance business were a 'Monopoly' would we allow companies of other countries to come in and take our business away from us?

"But we are not a 'Monopoly'. We are firm believers in the competitive enterprise system. We believe that only through competition in our business can the public good best be served."

O'BRIEN AGENCY IN NEW QUARTERS

Keeping pace with the expansion of business in British Columbia, O'Brien Advertising Limited of Vancouver announces a move to new premises at 928 West Pender Street. Present quarters in the Dominion Building have been bursting at the seams with recent increases in staff, and an ever-expanding volume of work.

The new offices are designed to stimulate creative effort, with skillful use of indirect lighting and air conditioning. Full use of available floor space is aimed at saving unnecessary steps, while noise is reduced to a minimum with office machines placed in sound-proof rooms.

As recently as 1938, O'Brien Advertising Limited had its beginnings with a staff of three. Today there are thirty-five on the payroll comprising experts in every field of advertising and publicity.

The agency since its inception has been identified with the progressive growth of British Columbia and never misses an opportunity to publicize the advantages this province has to offer. Concentrating its main effort within the province, the O'Brien agency has built up a reputation for knowing conditions and problems peculiar to the Pacific coast region.

Lionel Fudge Opens Season With 4-Point

Lionel Fudge has the honor of bringing home the first four-point buck shot in the south Okanagan this season. He captured the fine animal near Brenda lake last weekend.

Incidentally, this is the first deer which Lionel has bagged in the past three years.

Another buck was brought back to Summerland in the past week by Fraser Smith, who downed his prize near Lumby.

Deer are becoming more numerous in this district, while in the foothills to the west numerous traces of black bear have also been discovered.

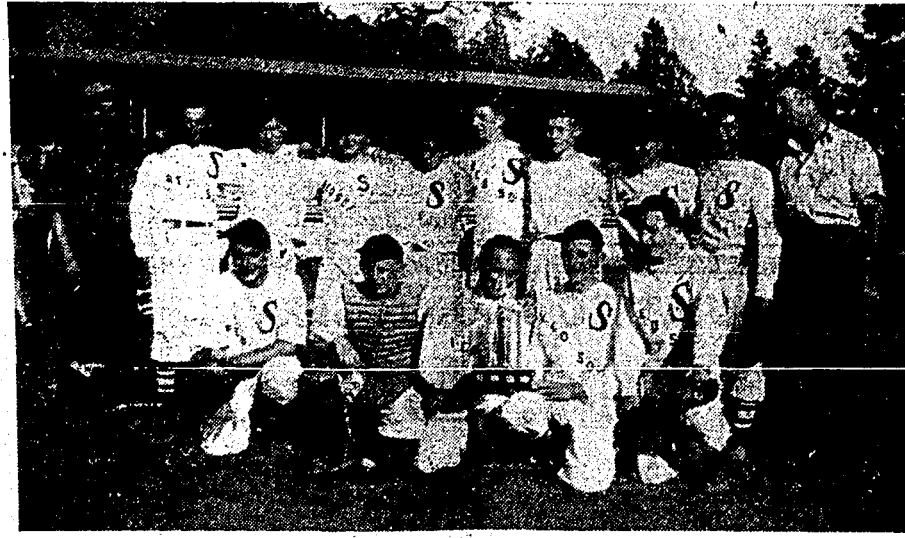

Darryl Weitzel is proud of an exceptional shot he made last weekend, when he downed three blue grouse with one shot.

Grouse have been fairly plentiful this year and several bag limits have been reported by local marksmen. The grouse season ends today.

Duck hunters are invading the Nicola country this week for the opening of the season.

The local sportsmen's club has announced this week that use of a shotgun slug in hunting deer is prohibited. This has been the subject of much discussion among local sportsmen but has now been clarified by the game commission, it is understood.

1948 SOUTH OKANAGAN CHAMPIONS—

NAME PLAYING-COACH
KELOWNA — Appointment of Kenny Stewart as playing-coach for the Kelowna Senior B Hockey Club now has been confirmed. The former National Hockey and Western Canada leaguer has arrived in the city upon the completion of the Alberta senior baseball playoffs. Stewart was catcher with Calgary's Purity 99's, who lost out in the finals to Edmonton Eskimos.

Vernon's Nick's Aces 6-4 at Kamloops last Sunday to capture the Dr. S. A. Wallace trophy and the Interior baseball league championship.

Hec McKenzie, veteran Legion hurler, was the winning pitcher, although he only whiffed three Vernon batters. Al Munk, whose left-handed deliveries were used in all three contests, struck out 8 batters.

The game was won in the second frame when Vernon blew sky high with two men out and one on. Three walks and five errors spelled four runs for Kamloops, enough to win the ball game.

Summerland Marksmen Retain Dragoons Shield In Annual Rifle Shoot

Amassing a total of 480 points, the best score registered in any annual team shoot competition in the interior this year, Summerland's No. 1 team retained the "C" Squadron, B.C. Dragoons shield at the annual rifle shoot at Garnet Valley last Sunday. Entries from Kamloops, Vernon and Kelowna competed with three Summerland teams for the many prizes.

The winning local team averaged 96 out of a possible 105.

A. R. Dunsdon, also of Summerland, captured the grand aggregate prize with a total of 99 points out of a possible 105 on the 200, 500 and 600 yard ranges.

It was a big day for the local sportsmen as 42 marksmen from the three Okanagan centres and Kamloops competed. High scores were the order of the day, as Art Dunsdon's grand aggregate prize was only captured by one point from three other contenders, W. De L. Green of Kamloops, Ted Dunsdon and G. M. Dunsdon, all with scores of 98.

Daniels Gains Council Approval Of Building Plan

As he will not be contravening the existing building lines, M. F. Daniels won council approval on Tuesday to his revised plan for erecting a workshop on his thirty-foot flat-depth property on Shaughnessy avenue in lower town.

Building Inspector R. F. Angus to issue a licence for the original plans, which called for the erection of a cabin and garage.

The building bylaw states that residences must be set back fifteen feet if facing on a 50-foot road or 21 feet on a road wider than that amount. Existing building lines must be conformed to, the bylaw states, while the council may, at its discretion, approve business properties which are not to be set back the required amount.

Mr. Daniels quoted section 22 of the municipal building bylaw which calls for conformation to existing building lines. He pointed out that the Keibel residence to the south of his property and the post office, Gowans' store and the old Hogg building are all built flush to the sidewalk.

He also explained that his second application was for a workshop, and not a cabin as originally planned, although he was not certain just what type of business he planned for his building. He plans a building 25 feet wide by 29 feet deep. The property has 30 feet of level land.

Councillors Wilson and Atkinson brought the discussion to a head by moving a resolution that he be granted permission to build, provided he conforms to other sections of the building bylaw. Councillor C. E. Bentley, also spoke strongly in Mr. Daniels' favor.

TEMPORARY CONNECTION

A temporary half-inch connection will be allowed Mr. William Evans for his property on the lakeshore where he intends to erect a residence, council decided at its Tuesday meeting. No guarantee of service can be given under this arrangement.

Two Months in Oakalla on Charge Of Contributing

Three transient orchard help from Surrey, R.R. New Westminster, who came to the Okanagan for a short period, have had their visit terminated abruptly.

Lloyd C. Flynn's stay was terminated when Magistrate H. Sharmar sentenced him to two months in Oakalla for contributing to juvenile delinquency. On a previous charge of theft Flynn had been given seven days.

The theft involved dishes and other household goods which had been removed by Flynn and two juveniles, a boy and a girl, who were occupying Hans Stoll's picker's shack.

On a charge of being a delinquent the girl appeared before Juvenile Court Judge H. Sharmar and was given six months' probation.

On charges of theft and contributing to juvenile delinquency the boy was given six months' probation on each count.

GIVE MONTHS' REBATE

One month's rebate will be allowed Mrs. Jessie James by the municipality on her domestic water bill because of the inability of the system to supply a steady amount of water during one part of the season, the council agreed on Tuesday.
