

Peak of Bings Reached Here With Crop Over Estimates 20 Percent

One of the biggest cherry crops ever handled on the fresh fruit market is now just over the peak in Summerland district and has caused packing houses a few headaches in the past week.

Up to last night, 13 straight cars of cherries had left Summerland for distant markets, besides a large number of packages for re-shipment in cars from other valley points, especially Peachland and Penticton.

Up to last Saturday, two cars had been shipped but on that day four more left Summerland, while Monday saw three, Tuesday four and last night another quartette was on its way.

In all varieties the crop has exceeded estimates and because the processors are not taking as many cherries as usual, Deacons, Windors and Royal Annes are being packed for the fresh fruit market, a situation which has not arisen in years.

Despite the heavy crop, the market is remaining firm and the prices are said to be adequate to bring a good return to the growers.

Funeral Today For Robert Arnott, 78

One of the well-known and respected residents of the Okanagan Valley for 36 years, Robert Arnott, passed away at the Summerland general hospital on Tuesday, July 5, at the age of 78.

Funeral service is being held for the deceased man this afternoon, Thursday, at 2 o'clock from Lakeside United church, Summerland, with Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiating. A large group of friends is expected to be present, attesting to the esteem in which he was held in the community.

Born in Scotland, the late Mr. Arnott came with his family to a farm near Brandon, Man., at the age of 13 and resided there until 1902, when he moved to Roblin, Man. There he and Mrs. Arnott were married and in 1913 they moved west to Armstrong.

In that North Okanagan community, Mr. Arnott carried on his first occupation, farming, and also entered the nursery and insurance businesses. He took an extremely active interest in community affairs at Armstrong and was a delegate for years to the meetings of the old Okanagan United Growers.

In 1928, Mr. and Mrs. Arnott moved to Summerland and made a new home in Peach Orchard. Due to his keen interest in community affairs it was not long before he had made a wide circle of friends here.

The deceased man was an indefatigable worker in church affairs and had been an elder of the Presbyterian and United churches for nearly fifty years.

Besides his wife Mary here, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. A. M. Gartrell of Vancouver, and Mrs. R. J. Tate of Centralia, Ont.; five grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. T. D. Mitchell of Barrier, B.C. and D. Mitchell of Barrier, B.C. and Man. and one brother, Mr. William Arnott, also of Roblin, Man.

Interment in Peach Orchard cemetery will follow the funeral service, Summerland Funeral Home being in charge.

Mr. V. Polesello has bought the house and property of the late Mr. T. Ramsay.

Eight-Weeks Old Baby Sails From Rotterdam For Summerland Home

When the Dutch passenger ship, Volendam, sailed from Rotterdam on June 17, the very youngest of the 1500 personnel was eight weeks old Djeurertje, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hendrik Wouters, who were leaving their home in Amsterdam to make a new one in Canada.

The baby was snug and "ship-shape" in an easily-carried wicker basket—something like the one in which everyone imagines Moses to have been hidden among the rushes. Who knows what destinies await her in the country of her adoption?

Tired of rising prices and increased struggle for the sort of living they wished for themselves and their four children they arrived in Summerland on July 1 and are at the home of Mrs. Wouters' brother, Mr. N. Buddingh. A year ago Simon Buddingh and his family came here, and it is hoped that other relatives may join them year by year.

Hendrik Wouters will work for Lionel Fudge for a year, as it is only as a farmer that he could emigrate. Already he is picking cherries and liking it. A plumber in Holland, at present he is happy just to be able to pick fruit.

He is an artist, too. As a hobby he does beautiful etchings and oil paintings which could hardly be called amateur. He sees the beauty of the mountains, so different from the flat dyke land of his native country. As well as his own tongue he speaks French, English and German.

The cost of living in Holland is more than double the price here. Sugar is 30 cents a pound; butter $2.25. Though the guildler practically equalled the dollar before the war it is worth about 40 cents now. There is plenty of clothing, of a better quality than ours, but the average person has no money to buy it. By the strange fortunes of war coffee and chocolate which were produced in such quantities in former Dutch colonies are the only things rationed in Holland at the present time.

There are 50,000 men with no houses in Amsterdam, making tremendously crowded dwellings, while the population is growing rapidly. Emigration is a necessity, almost, with 40,000 coming to the labor market each year.

Machteld, or Magda as she is called, aged eight and a half, topped her class in Grade 2 this year, and will be entering elementary school this fall. Bola, the boy who has been attending kindergarten has a little drawing book with pictures he has made of tulips and a windmill. He will start in September, too. The second girl, Everdionore, is three, and the baby will stay in her comfortable basket for many weeks yet.

The family was allowed to bring $80 per person and with work at hand say: "We are content."

Dave McNair Will Study U.S. Schools

Dave McNair, formerly B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. sales manager has been given an important assignment which is taking him in to the United States, where he will investigate the retail merchandising schools being held for the benefit of retailers who handle fresh fruit and vegetables.

Mr. McNair's assignment has been arranged by the Canadian Fruit & Vegetable Wholesalers' Assn. and the Canadian Horticultural Council, with the assistance of the federal agricultural department.

After a study of the U.S. methods, Mr. McNair will formulate plans whereby they can be adapted for use in eastern and western Canada.

It has long been felt in fruit and vegetable circles in Canada that the retailer should be given more instruction on the proper handling of perishable products, temperatures at which they should be kept and proper methods of display.

If these schools are adopted and retailers given proper instruction, greater distribution of fresh fruit and vegetables, with fewer losses, will result, it is hoped.

Sprinklers Must Keep Water off Roads

Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley introduced a slightly controversial topic to last week's council session when he asked that sprinkler irrigationists be required to keep their water off the roadways.

Mr. Bentley received council support in this contention and it was agreed that all sprinkler owners should be notified that they must take the necessary steps to keep their water off the roads.

A number of motorists have received a severe drenching from sprinkler systems which are not properly regulated, council members instanced.

Councillor Atkinson considered it would be impractical to eliminate some water going on the road verges but it was decided no leeway should be allowed.

It was also pointed out that those using the ditch method of irrigating are required by bylaw to keep their water off the roads but there are many instances throughout the municipality where infringements of this legislation are found.

REEVE JOHNSTON HOME AGAIN AFTER TRIP

Reeve Reid A. Johnston, with Mrs. Johnston and Miss Margaret Johnston returned last night from their extensive holiday trip which took them to Winnipeg, Ontario cities, and south to Tampa, Florida, where Mr. Johnston was a delegate from the Brotherhood of Railroad Telegraphers to the international convention.

Holmes & Wade Warehouse Fire Damage is Placed at $3000

Holmes & Wade Ltd. hardware store on Hastings street was threatened with entire demolition and other adjoining building premises were in danger of being wiped out when fire broke out in the warehouse portion of the hardware building early Tuesday morning, July 5.

Fortunately, the fire was caught in time, was confined to the simple rooms and did not spread to the main portion of the hardware store.

Damage is estimated at about $3,000 including the paint destroyed, paint brushes, linoleum, mattresses, and furniture which fell prey to flames or smoke and the damaged building.

Fire was discovered by John Vanderburgh and Jack Amm, who were returning from a Kelowna trip, saw the smoke and turned in the alarm at approximately two o'clock Tuesday morning.

The Summerland Volunteer Fire Brigade responded with alacrity, this being the first major fire to which the new fire truck could be propelled.

Fog Nozzles Help

The new fog nozzles were extremely handy in fighting the fire and because of their use the blaze was confined to the one room. Only a small portion of the ceiling around the closed door into the main portion of the hardware store was charred by the flames.

The smoke was intense and spread throughout the store but did no appreciable damage other than in the warehouse itself.

No positive explanation is given for the blaze, except that spontaneous combustion caused by some type of inflammable material is presumed to be the cause.

Norman Holmes and Cecil Wade had attended a meeting of the swim class committee in the front part of the store until about 9:30 Monday evening, and had later checked the warehouse. There was no sign of any fire then, they declare.

They had also shut the door connecting the warehouse with the main part of the building, otherwise the extra current set up by the larger space would probably have spread the blaze far more rapidly and more extensively.

Frank Pollock whose garage and home adjoin the hardware premises was one of the first men on the job when the alarm was turned in. He grabbed an extinguisher, gained entrance to the warehouse and endeavored to fight the fire himself. Unfortunately the extinguisher hose got away from him and foamite splashed across his face and glasses. It was rather a painful operation to remove the chemical.

Early Tuesday morning, when the final embers had been extinguished the fire fighters were treated to coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pollock.

Loss has been estimated at just over $2,000 for damaged stock and about $1,100 to restore the wooden warehouse and redecorate portions damaged by smoke or flames.

The building is owned by Mr. V. M. Lockwood, who is a patient in

Committee Makes Down Payment on College Gym For Use as Youth Centre

Purchase of the old "College" gymnasium on the Giant's Head road from A. E. Smith by a group of twelve citizens, was confirmed on Saturday morning, when $1,500 was borrowed from the Bank of Montreal and $1,000 on the purchase price paid to the former owner.

The gymnasium is being purchased as the Summerland Youth Centre by the specially-appointed committee named at the public meeting held on June 26 for the purpose of obtaining a hall suitable for the youth organizations of Summerland.

Purchase price of the building is $3,500. A down payment of $1,000 has been made and the balance is to be paid by December 1.

Balance of the loan taken out by the committee will go towards repair of the roof of the old gymnasium and other repairs and renovations. New windows are to be installed and other necessary alterations made to put the building into as good shape as possible for occupancy when the summer season ends.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson has been appointed chairman of the committee charged with the carrying out of preliminary work and instituting a campaign to raise $6,000, the figure believed necessary to complete the purchase and make necessary renovations.

Chief occupants of the building will be the Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies, and Teen Town, it is expected, but the premises will also be available for any other youth organization or activity which is deemed feasible.

Scoutmaster Dr. D. V. Fisher and Dr. H. R. McLarty, vice-president of the South Okanagan Boy Scouts Assn. have been two of the prime movers in the initial stages of the planning this inter-group youth activity building.

The official name of the building will be the Summerland Youth Centre and the organization being set up will take this name, as well.

Steps will be taken to incorporate under the societies' act, to provide necessary safeguards for the venture.

Twelve persons signed their names to the loan at the bank Saturday morning in order to meet the down payment on the building.

Councillor Atkinson states that Boy Scouts and Girl Guides are planning to organize work bees at the new Youth Centre and a painting program is being arranged.

Plans to Insulate and Heat

Plans to insulate the building and provide needed furnace facilities are being made by the committee, so that the building will be suitable for use in the winter months.

The committee has not revealed its exact plans as to the campaign for funds which will be instituted.

However, it is fairly certain that the idea to issue three percent bonds has been discarded and either a canvass for voluntary donations or a campaign to sell non-interest-bearing shares will be instituted in the fall.

The committee chosen to proceed with the campaign to raise funds, purchase the building and make necessary renovations consists of the following ten: Joe McLachlan, J. Y. Towgood, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, E. R. Butler, Mrs. F. V. Harrison, Mel Ducommun, J. E. Butler, E. F. Smith, F. E. Atkinson and Ross McLachlan.

Capt. H. P. Coombes Dies in Vernon

VERNON — Capt. Horace P. Coombes, 69, former secretary of the Vernon Board of Trade from 1928 to 1945 and former secretary of the Vernon branch, Canadian Legion, passed away suddenly on Wednesday, June 29. Funeral service was held Monday afternoon, among those attending being Alan Calvert.

Early Days of This District Are Recalled by Death of R. V. Agur

The death of Robert Van Alton Agur at the coast on June 25, following an operation, brought to the mind of many old-timers the early days in this district when the trees were young, and when Balcoma, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Powell, was built by Mr. Agur's father, the late R. H. Agur.

The Agur family came from Winnipeg over forty years ago, and their home was the show place of the area. The gardens were landscaped down to the creek, and flower beds and tennis courts were part of what was then an unusual sight in this semi-arid valley, where irrigation systems were growing, and orchards starting.

The Agur's summer home which has been enlarged and is now the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Evans was a natural beauty spot on the lakeshore, and it was from it that the late Allen Agur sailed his boat, the Onaway. He was a keen yachtsman and entered the regattas which were so popular in those days at Naramata, Penticton and Kelowna.

He and his brothers preempted Bathfield, and built the log cabin there, near Loon Lake, and spent

Big Building Total For Six Months of 1949

Although June showed a drop in building activity, the six month total for 1949 in Summerland area has the extremely healthy total of $212,535, which compares favorably with any other Okanagan centre.

Kelowna, for instance, has a six months' total of only $468,862, while a year ago the total was $1,537,472.

Six permits were issued for new dwellings last month, the value being $17,000. There were no new commercial or institutional buildings but nine permits were issued for alterations and additions, amounting to $2,120.

These two figures total 15 permits for a value of $19,120, whereas in June, 1948, the same number of permits brought in a total of $28,150 value.

However, the six-month total exceeds the 1948 June 30th figure by a great deal, as it stood at only $96,950 then.

Activity in new dwellings, plus the major construction being conducted by the Summerland Co-operative, has accounted for the big building value total in Summerland this year.

A large number of new homes are in process of construction and it is recognized that a still greater number will be erected when competent carpenters and contractors have more free time.

Loyd Confirms Executive Posts

KELOWNA — Official appointment of several executive posts in B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., were announced last week by A. K. Loyd, president and general manager.

J. B. Lander has officially taken over the post of sales manager. Mr. Lander succeeds Dave McNair who resigned June 1.

Other appointments are A. C. Lander, assistant manager; D. C. Stevenson, assistant sales manager; R. A. Grant, assistant sales manager; H. B. Ewer, manager offshore sales department and K. L. Johnson, advertising manager. Some of the appointments were made several months ago, but the posts are now confirmed by Mr. Loyd.

A. C. Lander was former assistant sales manager; Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Grant, former sales desk, while Mr. Ewer was in the traffic department.

many days there in summer and in winter.

Allen Agur was educated at Upper Canada College before coming to Summerland to make his home here.

In the early days of the BCFGA the late Mr. Agur kept the local association together, and personally canvassed the district for members. He was on the executive for many years, and also took an active interest in local fruit packing circles when they were in their infancy.

In failing health for some time his death came as a recurrence of trouble from which he had formerly suffered.

He leaves his wife, Christine, who has returned to California, two brothers, Philip and Eric in California, and two sons, Don who has taken over the cottage at Crescent Beach, and Pat of Brom River, B.C. Another son, Robin, was killed while serving in the airforce in World War II.

Funeral services were conducted by Canon F. V. Harrison from St. Stephen's Anglican church on Thursday afternoon, June 30, and interment in the Anglican cemetery.

Summerland's Youth Centre

IT WAS extremely gratifying last week to hear a group of representative citizens discuss the need in Summerland for a youth centre.

There was a healthy divergence of opinion as to the method of obtaining the necessary capital for the formation of such a centre, but the main point that a youth centre is essential was never disputed at any time.

Last year, an attempt was made by the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee to establish a community hall which would have served as a type of youth centre, but because of the wide variety of opinions concerning the size and extent of the hall the money bylaw was defeated.

Editorially, the Review queried at the time: "Where do we go from here?" The purchase of the old college gymnasium on the Giant's Head road and its renovation as a youth centre seems to be the answer... the answer as far as a relatively low expenditure is concerned.

This old building was the scene of many athletic combats and other community endeavors in years past. Many thrilling basketball games were observed before the building fell on evil times and gradually was discarded because of lack of proper maintenance and interest.

Today, the building is being acquired for a small portion of the cost which would be entailed if a new structure was constructed. Plans are already underway for the renovation of the structure and the provision of an adequate heating system.

The sum entailed in this scheme is approximately $6,000, which is a relatively small amount if a suitable meeting place can be obtained for the youth of the community. But the raising of this money still presents a formidable problem.

To institute a voluntary canvass of the district would raise a good portion of the fund, sufficient to make a start on the scheme, at least. But it is doubtful if such a canvass would raise the full $6,000, in view of the history of the memorial parks drive, which had a much more popular appeal and fell short of its $25,000 objective by some $8,000.

It would appear to us that the formation of a proper company or association with authority to issue non-interest-bearing shares to subscribers in the community would have more appeal than a straight voluntary contribution basis.

Those holding shares in the building would probably never realize any monetary value but they would have the assurance that should interest in the building wane and it proved impossible to carry on the venture as a youth centre the building could be re-sold for other purposes and the original subscribers would be reimbursed at least a portion of their original subscriptions.

Not that we believe such a state of affairs would occur, but the mere fact that a proper safeguard is provided would appear to have a more popular appeal than a voluntary subscription list.

It is heartening to know that twelve good citizens had the interests of the community at heart to an extent that they have backed a note at the bank for $1,500 to ensure the start of this venture in aid of our most precious asset—the youth of today who will be the men and women of tomorrow.

Safety in the Water

THIS week sees the start of the board of trade free swim classes which are so popular and also so necessary for the safeguarding of our younger people.

Due to the high water last year it was impossible to hold these classes and a group of youngsters were denied the privilege of learning about water safety. It is to be hoped that this age group has enrolled this year, along with others who have obtained some idea of the rudiments of conducting themselves in the water.

The Canadian Red Cross Society is always to the fore in this regard and assists the local water safety committee in carrying out its lessons each summer.

The Red Cross has issued some elemental rules in water safety and the most important of these are given herewith:

Learn artificial respiration; the briefest delay in applying it may cost a life.

Where to swim; if possible swim in a supervised area; investigate unknown water before swimming or diving; respect "danger" signs.

When to swim; late morning and afternoon are the safest hours in which to swim.

Temperature and time; between 70 and 80 degrees is the best as warm water relaxes too much and colder exhausts; thirty minutes is long enough in the water for the average swimmer.

Swimming after eating; wait at least two hours after eating a regular meal before swimming.

Panic contributes to most accidents; learn to scull and tread water; novices must stay in shallow water while learning to swim.

Exhaustion; avoid over-activity before a swim; over-exertion while swimming and extremely cold water also contribute to exhaustion.

Always have a companion when fishing, swimming or boating; never swim alone.

Reaching aids; learn how to use all reaching aids; how to use floating objects to support yourself; how to throw handline and ring buoy.

Cramps; scull to support yourself and call for help; to ease leg cramps, take a deep breath, submerge, and ease cramped muscles with thumb and fingers of one hand, pressing through the muscles, to meet those of the other hand.

Currents; never buck them; swim diagonally across and with the flow; if unable to reach shore, drift to save strength and call for help; if caught by an undertow, go with it and swim diagonally upwards to the surface.

Weeds; use gentle, drawing and shaking movements to get out of weeds; swim with the current, not against it, until freed.

Signifying Nothing

By RUSTICUS

Every time I read a popular article eulogizing modern psychology, a disillusioned smile lights up my weather-worn countenance like a neon sign on a rooftop.

Once upon a time I too was a believer; so enthusiastic that I read book after book on psychology, even took a couple of courses in it. Which was a mistake.

For about 97 percent of all the books and courses, consisted of (a) detailed studies of morons, cretins, and other abnormal humans, mainly Jukes and Kallikaks, and (b) detailed discussions of how the nerves and senses work, and long boring diatribes on how to measure and time them in white rats, black roosters, and red-checked chimpanzees.

The final conclusion for me was that the psychologist himself was about the stupidest of the lot.

For what average people want from psychology is neither (a) nor (b), but just some understanding of why so-called normal people react as they do—also, perhaps, how to make them act differently when we want them to.

To wade through standard psychology books and courses in hope of finding this is like searching a stack of chaff for a few grains of wheat.

You'll do a lot more toward winning friends and influencing people by exercising what Grandfather used to call "plain common sense," which is not given to everybody in quantity, but may be added to by years of studying people—in the flesh, not in books. These fortunate beings who are generously endowed with it—we all know the odd one—know a lot more about why people tick, even though their schooling is scanty, than many a psychologist with a string of degrees.

Best thing psychology has done for normal people, possibly, is to give names to some of their commonest reactions. Rationalizing, for instance. You know how you can persuade yourself that a week-end in the woods is an absolute necessity for your shattered nerves whenever you want to go fishing? Or how important it is for the kids to see the circus—if you are the one to take them? Likewise how shabby and absolutely unbearable an old dress, or suit, or car, or house, suddenly becomes when you get the yon for a new one?

That's rationalizing, and probably none of us realizes how much we do it every day.

Then there's projection, which isn't showing movies on a screen, yet is closely connected. For we all project ourselves into the persons we see in a show, or read about in a story, and get enjoyment out of imagining that we are having the money or thrills or adoration that the characters we watch or read about enjoy.

That works in reverse, too. Some of our most ardent crusaders against various mild vices—drinking, gambling, swearing, loss of temper—are not saints themselves, but subject to the same inclinations as those they blame. So they project their own weaknesses into others, and having thus wriggled out from under, are all the more severe in condemnation of the other fellow.

We've heard a lot, too, about inferiority and superiority complexes. The former term has been freely applied to any shy, backward, mousey person; the latter to anyone who seems proud or conceited.

Once a home-town neighbor, whom I privately considered rather a bird-brain, surprised me by suggesting that the two classes are really one. The conceited or arrogant person doesn't actually feel superior, or even sure of himself, she argued; he secretly knows of certain mental, physical, or family shortcomings which make him feel inferior. So he tries to hide them by putting on a show of superiority, to fool other people, and even more, to fool himself.

Mrs. Newrich's ostentatious display of jewels and limousines is to compensate for her poverty-stricken childhood, her aloofness is really due to the fact that she's scared to open her mouth because her grammar is so atrocious. And so it goes.

Even though I sometimes wonder if that neighbor lady was hitting at me, there is a lot of consolation in that idea of hers when anybody treats you with infuriating condescension. In fact, she was a good practical psychologist; and you don't need to have read a single word on the subject to become the same.

Pioneer Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO
June 27, 1919

Miss Frederica Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Oliver, will be instructress for the new domestic science class which will be inaugurated in the schools next September.

The embargo on apples entering the United Kingdom from other countries will be lifted as far as Canada is concerned, now that hostilities have ceased, the president of the British Board of Trade has announced. Several British fruit buyers are expected to visit the Okanagan to arrange shipments of valley apples this fall.

"Change Here for the Famous Fruit and Mixed Farming District" is the sign to be painted near the kiosk at Sicamous for the education of those who travel on the mainline of the CPR.

Engineer Fawkes has submitted estimates covering proposed expenditures on the irrigation system, including continuance of cement work on the north main for 3,500 feet to connect with the new flume, concrete lining portions of the south main, completing the Garnet Valley siphon, replacing old flumes with larger and new ones. Estimated costs are: North main, $8,385; south main, $9,693; siphon, $700; Garnet Valley, $5,000; Trout Creek canal, completing, $10,814.26; total, $49,592.26.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
June 26, 1924

J. W. Jones was re-elected for a third term in the legislature at Victoria with a handsome plurality of 627. Mr. Jones totalled 1887 votes, in being returned to the Conservative benches. C. B. Latta, Liberal, had 1280; J. W. S. Logie, Labor, had 105; and H. E. D. Lyons, Provincial Party, had 323 in South Okanagan. Latest count provincially shows the Oliver Liberal government with 20 seats, Conservatives 18, Provincials 4, Labor 3 and Independents 3.

ASKS PEOPLE TO WAIT
Summerland, B.C.,
July 4, 1949.

Editor, The Review:
Would you please print the following letter in this week's Review.

It has come to our attention, that certain people have been around town, trying to create interest in a rink to be built in a neighboring town. These people also are endeavoring to get Summerland people to invest money in their rink.

We would like to ask the people of Summerland to hang on to their money—for a little while longer. Before the summer is gone, we feel sure we will have concrete, detailed plans for an indoor skating and curling rink.

When our committee of the Summerland Hockey Ass'n was asked to look into the possibility of an indoor rink, there was no time limit or deadline set and we as a committee do not propose to bring before you any snap or fly-by-night proposition, but a sound plan. We are thoroughly looking into the matter from every possible angle and when satisfied that we have all the answers, will bring our findings before you.

Thank you Mister Editor.

Tree Fruits Are Showing Good Growth

All tree fruits are growing rapidly and look to be in excellent condition...

The Summerland - Peachland-Westbank area declares that Delicious apples have set a very heavy crop and are sizing well.

Pear psylla and red mite have shown up in quite a number of orchards but have not yet become serious.

Penticton district, including Kaleden and Keremeos, reports the Bing and Lambert crop to be of good size and quality.

Other districts in the Okanagan also report a heavy drop in apples, especially McIntosh and do not believe the thinning problem will be as acute as in other years.

Metre Reading Contract Goes To Pennington

George W. Pennington is being hired by the municipal electric light department to take charge of metre reading, on a contract basis.

There were several other proposals considered by the municipal council last week, but this contract figure was the most acceptable.

Municipal Electrical Foreman T. E. Thornber, who undertook metre reading before, will have $25 sliced off his transportation allowance per month.

There are approximately 1200 electrical metres in the Summerland municipal area and it is estimated that reading them each month will occupy about six to seven days.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

This June has seen the completion of one of the most successful year's work in the history of First Summerland Troop. Out of a troop of 34 boys there are 11 King Scouts, four First Class, eight Second class and eleven Tenderfoot Scouts. In addition 14 boys have won A, B or C "all round" cords representing ownership of 6, 12 or 18 proficiency badges.

The troop is particularly indebted to the following instructors and examiners who have in large measure made this year's achievements possible: Mr. G. R. Egges, Dr. C. G. Woodbridge, Dr. F. W. Andrew, Dr. W. H. B. Munn, Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh, Mr. C. Denike, Mr. Earl Inglis, Mr. Noel Lingford, Mr. David Wright, Mr. Hugh McLarty, Mr. T. S. Manning, Mr. S. J. Feltham, Mr. Walter Charles, Mr. Bert Stent.

Tuesday, July 12, fourteen Scouts will board the bus for Kelowna enroute to the First Canadian Scout Jamboree to be held in Ottawa July 16 to 24. These boys have worked hard to meet the requirements in Scouting proficiency required and have earned nearly all the money required for the cost of their trip. The contingent from our local troop is by far the largest from any troop in B.C., and is an achievement of which Summerland may well be proud.

Final work on King Scout proficiency badges has been given in recent weeks by Dr. F. W. Andrew for the public health man badge and by Mr. T. S. Manning for the fireman's badge.

The troop is exceedingly glad to welcome back Darwin Harbicht who broke his thigh while skiing last winter. Darwin is making a fine recovery and will soon be back to normal.

Uniforms are still in short supply, particularly neckerchiefs. The thanks of the Scoutmaster are warmly extended to Mesdames McCargar, Carston, Borton, Dou-

Young Accident Victim Related Here

Kenny Biollo, aged 6, was killed when he slipped while crossing the street in Kamloops on Dominion Day. A car, just starting up from a stop sign, did not see the young lad dart across the street and ran over the youngster. He died on his way to hospital.

The young lad was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amerigo Biollo, of Kamloops. Mrs. Biollo is the former Jennie Betuzzi of Summerland and Mr. Biollo is a brother of Mr. Joe Biollo, newly appointed Okanagan Telephone Co. repair supervisor here.

JOINS REVIEW STAFF

Mr. Lloyd Maynes, formerly on the mechanical staff of the Prince George Citizen, has come to Summerland to join the Review "back shop" staff. Since his arrival here he has been joined by his son Bill. Mr. Maynes' family is residing in Enderby.

PROBATION OFFICER

mont, Blacklock and Bingham, who have made up a year's supply of scarves for the troop. These neckerchiefs are available at cost for 40 cents from the secretary Don Blacklock.

Summer Camp—An excellent summer camp is planned for those boys not attending the Jamboree. The camp will be held at Fish Lake July 19 to 25, with two leaders in charge. Provision for wet weather has been made by fixing up the old log cabin with a new roof, windows, screen doors and a dining table.

The materials have been supplied by the District Association and Mr. Colin Campbell and his staff have made the repairs as a contribution to the good of the cause.

This cabin is available to all Scout troops and is being used this week by 2nd Penticton troop. A special meeting will be called soon for those boys attending the summer camp. — D. V. Fisher.

Little German Girl Couldn't Speak English Last Fall, Now Gets Class Citizenship Award

Last fall, when Helen Sellinger entered the Summerland elementary school she could not speak English.

But, on Thursday morning last, before more than six hundred fellow pupils and interested parents, little Helen Sellinger stepped up to the steps of the elementary school to receive her honor roll as having shown the best citizenship in her class, Division 10. Miss Helen Fahman is her teacher.

The proud little girl came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franz Sellinger from Germany last year and the family is now residing in Summerland.

Principal S. A. MacDonald, who conducted the closing exercises, was proud to announce a new elementary school record for Division 1, nine pupils registering perfect attendance for their year's work. Honor rolls were distributed to the students by Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh while the address to the Board Chairman C. J. Bleasdale.

Mr. Bleasdale commented that it has been a disturbing term because of the renovations to the school building and he congratulated the pupils and their teachers on their accomplishments.

Standing in front of the freshly decorated school plant, Mr. Bleasdale urged the children to "take pride in your school".

"It belongs to your mother and father, who put up nearly $100,000 for its renovation; and that's a lot of money. Every cent put out for unnecessary maintenance is another cent which cannot be devoted to athletic and other school equipment."

Mr. Bleasdale hoped that in another year the new junior-senior high school would be an accomplished fact and a proper assembly room would be provided so that the closing exercises would not have to take place outside, crowded around the entrance steps.

Mrs. M. E. Collas, on behalf of the Women's Institute then distributed the book prizes which are the Mrs. Magnus Tait Memorial prizes. Recipients were Bobby Nelson, Walter Thompson and Marian Turigan.

Following are the recipients of class honors for the 1948-49 school year:

Division 14, Miss Banks—Proficiency, Lorna Charles; citizenship, Emilie Bonthoux; attendance, Dianne Hannah, Margaret Greenslade, Richard Milne.

Division 13, Mrs. Allison—Proficiency, Johan Bergstrom; citizenship, Grace Johnson; attendance, David Smith.

Division 12, Miss Montgomery—Proficiency, Wesley Schindel; citizenship, Phyllis Young; attendance, Victor Uegama.

Division 11, Miss Nickols—Proficiency, Ona Willis; citizenship, Lowell Laidlaw; attendance, Donald Tait.

Division 9, Miss Pringle—Proficiency, Edwin Matsu; citizenship, Dennis Hanson; attendance, Leone Smith.

Division 8, Miss Dale—Proficiency, Diane Durick; citizenship, Kathleen Greenslade; attendance, Noreen Bennisson, Marny Bleasdale, John Brandsma, Melvin Gillespie.

Division 7, Mrs. MacRae—Proficiency, Anne Kersey; citizenship, Glen Manning; attendance, Darlene Bonthoux, Beryl Dodman, Eric Gardiner, Pat Morrow, Max Ongaro, Harold Biollo.

Division 6, Miss Kirkpatrick—Proficiency, Barbara Baker; citizenship, Lo's Harbicht; attendance, Douglas Charles, Joyce Dunsdon, Sheila Daniels.

Division 5, Mrs. Tingley—Proficiency, Ann Blayne; citizenship, Walter Uegama; attendance, William Lewis, Robert Parker, Terry Farrott.

Guide Camp At Peachland Busy Place

Deep Creek park at Peachland which is the property of Peachland municipality for recreation purposes is a busy spot; these days with thirty-six Girl Guides from Summerland's first company camping there from July 2 - 11.

There are six patrols and every one is taking part in some of the duties that go to making a successful camp.

On the first of July, the day before camp was opened Mr. J. McLachlan, Mr. F. Steuart, and Mr. Roy Angus of the Summerland Rotary club transferred and set up the tents. They were assisted by Canon F. V. Harrison and Dr. Vanderburgh.

The tents were hard to erect as the pegs kept striking rock. It was quite late in the evening when the Rotary volunteers finally left, and the next day they, and other members of the club supplied transportation for equipment and supplies, and for the girls. Mr. K. McIntosh also gave valuable help.

There are eleven tents, and the cook-stove was kindly lent by the W.A. to the Canadian Legion.

The dining-table is down by the creek, and through the whole camp there is heard the pleasant sound of running water. The creek serves as a splendid refrigerator and is a great asset to the place as a campsite.

Guide Capt. McIntosh is in charge, and Guides whole and part-time include, Mrs. D. Blagborne, Miss Gwynneth Atkinson and Miss Phyllis Hill. Members of the local association go up every day to see to necessary daily wants.

The nurse is Mrs. Ferrara of Penticton; Miss Lois Sharpe is in charge of swimming classes and of water safety. Mrs. L. Derosier is perhaps the busiest person there as she has undertaken the cooking and appetites never wane in camp.

Mrs. J. Y. Towgood will give a lesson in voice training and dralates. Guides' own service was held last Sunday, and next Sunday will be visitors' day.

A cabin at The Antlers camp houses the nurse and gives access to the diving-board and boats there, while the whole Guide camp has been adopted by the general obliging proprietor, Mr. Noel Dawson.

Division 2, Mr. Stent—Proficiency, Evelyn Washington; citizenship, Doreen Fleming; attendance, John Brandsma, Ruby Jomori, Ronald Mitchell, Jacqueline Smith, Bruce Youngusband.

Division 1, Mr. Kennedy—Proficiency, Merle Heavysides; citizenship, Walter Thompson; attendance, Karst Brandsma, Louise Gale, Allan Hooker, Kathleen Lowie, Victor Smith, Robbie Towgood, Mary Wileman, Donnelly Woodbridge, Bobby Nelson.

MORE ABOUT PEAK OF

ern Canada markets. Response is good from the customers.

In Summerland, about 75 women and girls are employed in the packinghouses sorting and grading cherries. The new soft fruit graders are said to be speeding operations, cutting down on the handling of the fruit and eliminating a small portion of the help problem.

The Sunoka Fruit Products Ltd. is going full blast on cherry processing but the local canners are not taking any quantity of cherries for the 1949 pack. Most of the canning concerns are waiting for apricots before taking on any staff of major proportions.

However, here again the canners do not expect a big pack of apricots, as the cannery 'cots do not indicate a sizeable crop this year. The fresh fruit apricots will be well up to usual totals but the cannery 'cots are way down.

Canners did not take any Black Tartarians this year but about 3,000 cases found their way to market before the more acceptable varieties started.

Help is no problem for the orchardist now, provided accommodation is available, W. J. Beattie, chief of the farm-labor service reports.

Two weeks ago, when cherry picking was starting and many growers still needed plenty of help for soft fruit thinning, the situation was desperate, and reports of growers offering unusual contracts for thinning their orchards were heard from many producers.

However, this situation is reversed and there is plenty of casual labor available now. In fact, laborers seeking employment are being turned down by the labor office on many days. Twenty workers failed to obtain employment in one day here recently.

A large contingent of girls from

Teen Town

Hiya kids! Now that summer is here again, Teen Town has been revived, so that's the reason for the column. So far, the council has had only three meetings so things aren't in full swing yet.

Members of council are: Mayor, Jack Dunham; secretary, Mary Ward; treasurer, Spud Kita; city engineer, David Wright; aldermen Pete Holmes, Leighton Nesbitt, Bev Fleming, Joe Elliott, Denny Hack, Doreen Steuart, Ruth Fleming and Jacquie Trafford.

Don Cruickshank has been appointed chief of police so all you wrong doers had better look out.

Keep next Saturday night open for a big lawn party at the Living Memorial athletic park (the ball diamond, in other words). There will be free transportation leaving the school at 8:30 sharp. A big scavenger hunt will be held from 8:30 to 10 and then lots of good dancing. And all this for only 25c including free cake and cookies.

This applies only to Teenagers with Teen Town cards. All those without their cards have to pay 35c but if you wish to obtain one see Spud Kita. So come on everyone lets see you all there and make this party the most successful of the summer.

Rossland-Trail area arrived here a short time ago in time for the main cherry picking. Most of these girls came here last year and when cherry picking is finished they will probably be absorbed in the canneries, Mr. Beattie states.

Mr. Beattie stresses the need for growers to provide adequate accommodation if they wish to have help available which is worthwhile. "It is very discouraging to have good men turned away from the district because of lack of accommodation on the growers' orchard," Mr. Beattie declares.

PAT BRODERICK BECOMES BRIDE OF LONDON MAN

Miss Rita Patricia Broderick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Broderick, was married quietly at the home of her parents on Saturday afternoon, June 25, at four o'clock, to Mr. Bernard Llewellyn Hume-Smith, son of Mrs. C. E. Hume-Smith and the late Mr. Smith of Putney, London, England.

The Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiated in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a floor-length dress of white eyelet sheer, with a silk net veil. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies and roses.

Miss Edith Dracas attended as bridesmaid. Her frock was of pink marquisette, and her flowers were roses.

Mr. Godfrey Chadburn was groomsmen.

A reception followed at the bride's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hume-Smith left by train in the evening for Vancouver Island, and for travelling the bride wore a blue-grey gabardine suit with pink and white accessories. They will make their home at Campbell River.

Miss Marjorie Mott recently returned from a holiday at McCord and Moose Jaw, Sask. She came back by way of Vancouver where she visited her sister, Miss Emily Mott.

Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Solly and their eldest son, Geoffrey, left by car on Wednesday to motor to Marsh Lake, Y.T., where they will visit Mrs. Solly's sister and her husband at Marsh Lake Lodge. They will travel via the Alaska highway, a route they traversed two years ago.

Major W. R. Tweedy spent the past week in Vancouver.

Dr. Andrew Thanked For Donation of "Klinker"

Dr. F. W. Andrew, author of the popular "Klinker", a history of his favorite canine, has received a communication direct from Margaret Alexander of Tunis, wife of Canada's Governor-General, thanking him for the donation of the book to the library at Ottawa.

"I want to tell you that we are very glad to have this book of yours in the library and most grateful for the kind contribution to our collection of books," she writes.

This library is one which is being formed at Government House and in which Lady Alexander is taking a great personal interest.

All Jones Flat Growers May Change to Sprinklers

Biggest proposition in sprinkler irrigation ever to be faced by the municipality was announced last week at the regular council session when it was stated that the entire Jones Flat area intends to switch over to the modern form of irrigating.

No decision was arrived at by the council as this big turnover in the system will require a great deal of study and considerable financing before it becomes an established fact.

Water Foreman E. Kercher pointed out that miles of flume could be discarded in the Jones Flat area if all growers institute sprinkling, as some 400 acres would be involved.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson declared that on the same basis as the Sandhill joint sprinkling program, the cost of the Jones Flat changeover would be in the neighborhood of $8,000.

Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley suggested that a ten-year local improvement scheme might be the answer from a financing standpoint. Bonds might be sold to growers involved, it was also suggested.

"We as a council should do everything possible to assist in sprinkling systems, as anybody who goes on it would never go back to furrows," was Councillor Eric Tait's contention.

The entire area involved obtains its irrigation water supply from an extension of the north main, it is pointed out.

In order to supply irrigation water for sprinklers, the open main ditch would be discarded in favor of a pipe system.

Water Foreman Kercher also pointed out that maintenance costs to service that area would be eliminated to a large degree and would affect next year's maintenance program, as a portion of the main is in need of repair work.

This point and many other factors will be considered before a conclusion is reached on bringing the entire area into sprinkler irrigation. A pipe line as far east as C. J. Huddleston's property would be the result, it is thought.

The council's attitude since the inauguration of sprinkler irrigation here is that any change from the gravity flow type should be financed by the growers themselves. However, this policy was adopted when only scattered growers were adopting the new method of irrigating.

In this instance, a solid body of growers covering a wide portion of the fruit-growing area, is involved.

Kelowna Man Buys Bowladrome

Of wide interest to the hundreds of five-pin bowlers in the Summerland district is the announcement made this week of the purchase of the National Bowladrome on Granville street by Mr. Abe Salloum, formerly of Kelowna.

Mr. Salloum proved himself a young business man with a good "punch" when he inaugurated the Kelowna School Supplies business in Kelowna about two years ago. He has recently disposed of this popular business and has purchased the bowling alley here.

The new owner intends to remodel the front portion of the building to provide further facilities and will re-open the sports centre as the King-Pin Bowladrome.

A further announcement regarding the re-opening plans will be forthcoming shortly, Mr. Salloum states.

Softball: Girls Drop 10-1 Decision

Summerland softball girls were held to a single run by Penticton girls at the latter's home ground on Sunday last, the southerners taking the long end of a 10-1 count.

It was a snappy contest, but the Summerland girls could not cope with the deliveries of G. Waterman, Penticton hurler. Only in the second frame, when Summerland scored the single run, did more than three batters face Miss Waterman in any one frame. Freida Honowski, Summerland third sacker, counted this lone tally.

Penticton was champion of the South Okanagan loop last year and looked good value to recapture the crown in last Sunday's contest.

Score by innings:
Summerland 010 000 0—1
Penticton 202 141 x—10

Pat Herda and Evelyn Heichert; G. Waterman and H. Gordon.

Summerland lineup follows: E. Heichert c, H. Kean 1b, Agnes Honowski 2b, Iris Braddick 2b, Freida Honowski 3b, K. Smith ss, Rae Armour lf, Barbara Metters cf, Frances McLennan rf, Pat Herda p.

Fudge and Solly Lose at Vernon

George Fudge and Nick Solly, defending champions, lost to Kelowna's two top doubles players 11-9, 6-3, in the finals of the Okanagan valley doubles championships, held at the Vernon Country Club tennis courts last Sunday afternoon at the conclusion of a gruelling American tournament.

Ernie Winters and Buss Taggart of Kelowna scored the victory over the strong Summerland duo in an exciting and strenuous match.

Other Summerland players who competed at Vernon were Don Wright, Dave Collins, Dave McIntosh, Don Johnston and Dave Snow.

Girls' Softball Team Trims Oliver

Summerland girls' softball team triumphed over Oliver on the local school grounds on Sunday, June 26, by a one-sided 24-7 count, in seven innings of regular play.

Scoring ten runs in the first frame, it was a coast in for the local lasses as Pat Herda handled the hurling duties in a capable manner.

This victory was a complete reversal of the previous Sunday's game at the Cantaloupe city when Oliver had won 17-3.

Score by innings:
Oliver ..... 2 1 2 2 0 0 0—7

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER IS SON OF LOCAL WOMAN

Closing Exercises At St. Andrew's Sunday School

The summer closing exercises of St. Andrew's church Sunday school were held on June 26.

There was special music consisting of piano duet by Jane Williams and Mary Marshall, and Shirley Gardiner sang a solo entitled Holy Spirit Hear Us.

Mrs. Nell spoke to the children about evacuee children in Europe, giving instances of rehabilitation and adoption into English homes.

Mrs. T. W. Booths who has been superintendent for the past year while Mrs. F. E. Atkinson had a year's leave of absence presented twelve completed memory verse cards, and she gave a New Testament to the boy and girl completing a special memory course first. They were Gordon Underwood and Frances Atkinson. The teachers presented the perfect attendance prizes.

The senior department of the school sold bricks at five cents apiece to pay for the chimney on the new church hall, and Frances Atkinson who had sold the most bricks gave $88 to Mr. T. A. Walden, the church treasurer as a result of the efforts of the group.

On behalf of the congregation Mr. Whitmore thanked the teachers and Mrs. Booths, and Doreen Fleming presented her with a bouquet of roses as a mark of appreciation.

Mrs. F. E. Atkinson spoke briefly, also.

The primary department under Mrs. F. Stewart had a special closing service, too.

There were a number of parents in attendance at both ceremonies.

Release Travel Film "Highway Sixteen"

Release of the latest production of the B.C. Government travel bureau's motion picture division, a film entitled "Highway Sixteen" is announced by Trade and Industry Minister L. H. Eyres.

REVIEW OF SPORTS

Skaha Lake Chiefs Scalp Ernie Jomori in Final Frame To Beat Red Sox in Thriller

Diminutive pinch-hitter Wilkeson clouted one of Ernie Jomori's offerings in the ninth frame to drive in Ashley for the deciding run to give the Pentiction Skaha Lake Chiefs a 3-2 victory over Summerland Red Sox at the Living Memorial athletic park Wednesday night, June 29, in a benefit game of assist Gilbert Jacobs, Red Sox star hurler, who suffered a badly broken nose in an orchard accident recently.

It was the best ball game of the year and was a heartbreaker for Ernie Jomori to lose, as he pitched masterly ball right up to the last frame.

It was Gil Jacobs' benefit night last Wednesday but actually it was Ernie Jomori's ball game as the smart little Japanese hurler mowed down the visiting Chiefs and sent them scrambling back to their wigwam right up to the last frame.

After yielding two doubtful hits in the first frame, the Chiefs waved their bludgeons in vain and were held hitless until the final stanza.

In the meantime, Don Nesbitt found one of Pitcher Getz' offerings to his liking and proceeded to smack it into deep left field for a circuit clout. Then, in the eighth, Jack Dunham drew a pass to first, proceeded to steal second and third and came home on Francis Gould's smart single.

That made the count 2-0 and it looked big as a house in a game where hits were at an extreme premium.

But stout-hearted Ernie weakened in the ninth and both Johnston and Neaves patted him for singles and Apolzer was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bags with none down.

Burgart connected for a high fly to right field, which was neatly caught and heaved to Catcher Bob Weitzel. Johnston on third didn't intend to try for a score but Neaves ran him off and forced him towards home, where he was tagged on the base-line for a double-play.

Winning Runs

Ashley, however, lined a straight drive into left field to the foul post for a triple, knotting the count. Then in came little Wilkeson, who drove another hit into centerfield, scoring Ashley for the winning tally.

With two away in the last of the ninth, Norman Holmes, pinch-hitter, drew a pass and Ernie Jomori connected cleanly for a driving ball which was picked off luckily by Johnston at first to end the ball game.

Two double plays were features of the sixth frame. Neaves, the Chief's catcher attempted to bunt but skied the ball, Dunham making the putout and relaying to first to catch the runner.

In identically the same manner, Sandy Jomori skied a sacrifice and Eshelman at third gathered it in and made the double at first.

Threat by the Chiefs in the fourth and eighth found Sandy Jomori pulling down line drives to throw out base runners at first for two double plays.

Jomori had a big edge in pitching until the final frame as he had struck out 12 batters and allowed only two hits. However, that last ditch stand by the Chiefs took Jomori's scalp and the ball game.

Len Shannon Scores Second Possible on 500 Yard Range

For the second successive week, Len Shannon scored a possible 35 on the Summerland Rifle Club's 500-yard range last Sunday. With this high score, and a total of 97, over the three ranges, Len was high scorer for the day.

Plans are being made for the invitational shoot which is to be held here on August 4. Teams are expected to be present from Vernon, Kelowna and Kamloops while individual rifle shots from many other interior points are also planned on attendance.

Other scores last Sunday were as follows: H. Simpson, G. Pennington and A. R. Dunsdon 95, Ed Gould and Ted Dunsdon 83, D. Taylor 81, Phil Dunsdon 80, Jack Dunsdon, D. Price, E. T. Washington and J. Khalembach 88 each, George Dunsdon 87, Mel Riha 85, Pop Dunsdon 84, J. M. McArthur 79, Joe McLachlan 75, J. Knippelberg 72.

RED SOX MUST WIN SUNDAY TO GAIN SECOND SPOT

This Sunday will see a crucial baseball contest for the popular Summerland Red Sox when they take on the Pentiction Pirates at the Living Memorial athletic park.

The Pentiction Pirates played Naramata last night and were favorites to win, which would necessitate the Red Sox defeating the Pentiction players next Sunday to remain in the running for second place.

Next Sunday is the final league game for the Pirates and on the following Sunday the Red Sox play their final contest at Osoyoos, which the former are favorites to win.

Thus, the Red Sox have to defeat the Pirates and Osoyoos in their next two league games to end up in second place in the league standing. The Skaha Lake Chiefs are out in front with only one loss and likely to stay in that position as they play bottom place Naramata and Osoyoos in the final league contests.

League standings are as follows, not including the Naramata-Pirates game last night:

	P	W	L	Pct.
Skaha Lake Cubs	7	6	1	.857
Pentiction Pirates	7	5	2	.714
Summerland Red Sox	7	5	2	.714
Osoyoos	7	3	4	.428
Naramata	7	1	6	.146

Merchants Lose In Ninth to Princeton On Dominion Day

Summerland Merchants and Princeton Royals played another nip and tuck struggle at the Dominion Day baseball tournament, Princeton taking their third straight victory over the Merchants by a 9-8 score.

In the first game of the tournament, Summerland eliminated a second Princeton team by a 15-4 count, Coffey having no trouble in defeating the less experienced Similkameen lads.

Taylor brought loud acclaim when he slammed the ball over the fence in the fifth frame of the first game for one of the longest home runs in the history of the Princeton park. That was the start of a five-run rally which was sufficient in itself to win the contest.

In the second contest, Jackie Walsh did yeoman duty on the mound for six innings, but he was weakening and retired in favor of Coffey for the final three frames.

The game was lost in the last half of the ninth as the Merchants had a two-run lead, 8-6. Two errors, a walk and two singles brought in three runs and decided the ball game. Nishihara drove in the winning tally.

Dan Currie started on the mound for the victors but was relieved by Nishihara, who brought his team through to victory.

Score by innings:
Summerland 102 014 000-8
Princeton 110 102 103-9
Walsh, Coffey and Schwab; D. Currie, Nishihara and Schull, Liberators.

Merchants Still Have Chance to Make Playoffs

Next Sunday sees the final games in the regular league schedule of the southern section of the Interior baseball league and Summerland needs its expected win at Copper Mountain badly to stay in the league race.

Rutland Adanacs play Princeton in the other league fixture, which is expected to go to the Princeton squad which is licking its wounds from two previous losses and is expected to leave no stone unturned to defeat the central Okanagan boys.

If Princeton beats Rutland Adanacs and Summerland defeats Copper Mountain, Summerland will be in a tie for second place and a sudden-death playoff will result. The winner will then play Princeton for the right to meet the northern section winners. Only the first two teams in the section may playoff to enter the league finals.

Revelstoke is leading the loop in the northern half, with Kamloops CYO in second spot, it is reported.

Peachland played its final game last Sunday, absorbing a licking from the powerful Princeton team. Standings of the southern section teams follow:

	P	W	L	Pct.
Princeton	7	6	1	.857
Rutland	7	5	2	.714
Summerland	7	4	3	.571
Peachland	8	2	6	.250
Copper Mountain	7	1	6	.142

Grandpappy Holmes Shows Copper Mountain Some Tricks

Alan Holmes, who pitched a mean game of baseball in the days before he became a grandfather, showed that there is still plenty of pep in the "old boy" yet when he went on the mound last Sunday when Al Coffey's sore arm drove him from the game and was big value for the Merchants 12-7 victory over visiting Copper Mountain.

It was one of the slowest games of the season with sloppy play spoiling the effect for the spectators. Neither team had much ambition and it wasn't until the contest was half over that the Merchants seemed to take much interest in affairs.

Jackie Amm was the hero of the day when he sped around the paths twice for two home runs. Anybody slower than a 10.3 man wouldn't have made the circuits but Jack showed his ability to burn up the paths.

Copper Mountain took a 7-0 lead in the game before the Merchants decided to get cracking. A triple by Aune and some bad fielding cost the Merchants two runs in the second frame before Coffey took himself out.

Alan Holmes had difficulty finding the plate and when Barabash touched him for a triple with the bases loaded things looked bad for the locals. In the fifth Holmes' delivery wobbled again, sufficient for another run to come across, but from then on the Merchants took over the ball game.

Amm Drives Them In

Day started things in the fifth with a snappy double and Amm followed with his homer for the first two scores. Holmes drew a walk and was driven around. Kuroda was caught in a hot box when he overran third and although the mighty atom twisted and squirmed was tagged out.

Copper Mountain suffered a severe loss on the play, however, as Gurnsey, short stop, cracked a bone in his ankle trying to catch Kuroda.

Amm drove in two more runs in the sixth and the Merchants exploded all over Copper Mountain in the seventh to take over the lead 10-7, and cinch the ball game. With the score knotted and two men on the paths, Amm lifted another ball into the outer left garden for a circuit drive and put Summerland ahead 10-7.

Poor base running cost Copper Mountain several potential scores in the last half of the game, Al McCargar covering himself with glory when he nipped three men trying to make second and another trying to steal third.

Al Hurd was the left-hand chucker for Copper Mountain and he had the Merchants well shackled until the fifth. In the seventh, he was replaced by another portside heaver, Vic Gerein who proved to be the losing pitcher.

The Merchants have lost the services of Wendel Schwab, at summer school, and Chuck Brawner, young third baseman, who broke one of his toes when hit by a foul ball at Princeton on July 1.

Wally Day took over third base job last Sunday and Jackie Amm was at short. McCargar behind the plate.

Next Sunday, the Merchants travel to Copper Mountain for their final league game of the season.

Legislature to Have New Annex

Contracts totalling $1,362,811 have been awarded for a new permanent annex to the legislative buildings in Victoria states Public Works Minister E. C. Carson.

The general contract was awarded to Dawson and Hall Ltd. at a price of $1,028,905. Heating, ventilation and refrigeration went to W. R. Menzies at $49,667 and the same company was awarded the contract for piping and ancillary controls for four steam boilers at a price of $62,789. The Vancouver Iron Works was awarded the contract for four boilers at $221,310.

The new building will be a four-storey steel and concrete structure with a full basement. Consideration is being given a plan to construct an underground corridor of 350 feet to link the main building with the new annex.

GUIDE NEWS

June 17th, Guides had their first taste of fire drill. Three small boys had accidentally set fire to the dry grass above the flume on Giant's Head. Guides, equipped with buckets quickly formed a bucket brigade from the flume to the fire, and assisted by members of the tennis club extinguished the flames in short order, and before a great deal of damage was done. The three small culprits took advantage of the excitement and disappeared.

The company was very thrilled when Mr. Wharton very kindly donated a beach ball to them.

Great Variety Of Weather is Shown in June

A great variation in weather was shown in June, the report from the experimental station recorder indicates. Highest temperature for the month was registered early in the month at 94 on June 6. Lowest temperature was near the end of the month when the thermometer dropped to 38 on June 29. On that particular morning frost was recorded in some of the higher regions of the district.

On one day, June 21, the longest day of the year, no sunshine was recorded at all in Summerland. Just over half an inch of rain fell during the month but the rainy spell terminated before any great amount of damage could be done to the cherry crop.

Following is the complete report for June:

MANY PARENTS SAVE FAMILY ALLOWANCES FOR THEIR CHILDREN

MONTHLY CHEQUES WILL PAY FOR EDUCATION OR OTHER FUTURE EXPENSES

As a parent, you may be interested in the constructive way thousands of Canadian parents are using their Family Allowance payments. They do not feel the need for using this money for the immediate requirements of their children. Instead, they regard these cheques as instalments toward buying their children the golden key to tomorrow's opportunities — education.

So, every month, these parents deposit all or part of their Family Allowances in special savings accounts at the Bank of Montreal. They know that, if these cheques go into a child's own bank account from the first, he will have over $1,000 to his credit at the age of 16 — a fine financial backlog for a college education.

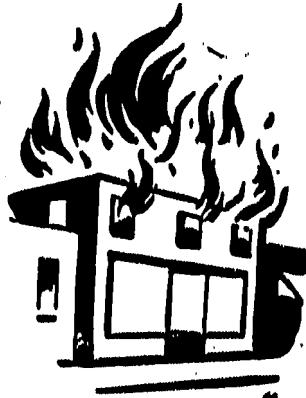

Besides, when he is old enough, you can encourage your youngster to add to this fund by regularly saving something himself — out of pocket-money or earnings from his newspaper route. The savings habit will benefit him all his life. And, in the event of emergency or opportunity, this money makes a valuable extra reserve.

James Muirhead, local B of M manager, invites you to open an "education" account at his branch. Drop in when your next Family Allowance cheque arrives.—Adv't.

School Board Chair Goes to Victoria With Plans For New Building

C. J. Bleasdale, chairman of School District No. 77 (Summerland) goes to Victoria this weekend to obtain permission of the department of education to proceed with the local school board plans to institute a new junior-senior high school unit located on the former W. C. Kelley orchard property, facing Granville, Rosedale and Kelley streets in West Summerland.

If the department okay the rough plans and specifications, then the school board will approach the local council to present a by-law to the ratepayers to raise by debenture issue the sum necessary to proceed with the work.

No definite figures have been announced as to the total cost of the structure and equipment, but it is known that the expense involved will be in the neighborhood of $400,000.

Police Crack Year Old Theft Ring

Six months' sentences were meted out this morning in Kelowna to Schumaker, Schuck and William Leonard Avender, who pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering. Lavineway, driver of the car, was sentenced to six months.

The other two suspects pleaded not guilty and asked for a remand.

For eleven months, B.C. Police have worked faithfully to crack a suspected ring of thieves operating between the Okanagan and Vancouver. This ring was believed responsible for the daring break-in of the Summerland Groceria on the morning of August 6, 1948, when $4,500 worth of cheques, cash and cigarettes were stolen.

This morning, six Kelowna and Vancouver men were brought before Acting Magistrate G. A. McKay in Kelowna police court, to answer to five charges of breaking in to stores and garages in Summerland, Penticton, Westbank, Kelowna and Vernon.

It is believed that they have been involved in thirteen break-ins throughout the Okanagan but have only been charged with five such cases.

Chief of the robberies was the Groceria break-in here, when thieves forced the door leading from the south side lane, jimmied the small vault within the open safe and escaped with cheques valued at $3,000 and $1,200 in cash, besides nearly $150 worth of cigarettes.

Some of the cheques were subsequently cashed in Vancouver offices. At the time, a special B.C. Police investigator, Detective Constable T. A. Quigley of Nelson came to Summerland to work on the case.

On Monday, July 4, just eleven months after the daring break-in here, B.C. Police arrested Edward Senger and William Harrington in Vancouver.

At the same time, in Kelowna, four other men were arrested, they being Nicholas Schuck, Joseph Schumaker, Bernie Lavineway and Avender.

All six men have been charged with breaking and entering the five Okanagan premises. Most of the other valley business places were garages, where little cash was taken but quantities of tools and other garage equipment disappeared.

B.C. Police quickly made arrangements for all charges to be transferred to Kelowna police court, where it was expected this morning the men would plead guilty to the charges.

Although it took many months, the police believe they have cracked a serious theft ring which operated in the Okanagan, with an outlet for goods being maintained at the coast.

Jaycees Pick Ruth Nesbitt As Candidate

Miss Ruth Nesbitt, who was a graduate in the '40 class of the Summerland high school in June, has been selected by the Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce as Summerland's entry in the Lady of the Lake contest in connection with the annual Kelowna Regatta on August 2 and 3.

Miss Nesbitt, a popular member of the Teen Town set, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nesbitt and is a native daughter of Summerland.

The Lady of the Lake contest is held each year on the first evening of the regatta and is staged by the Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce on behalf of the regatta interests.

The chosen queen will reign over the balance of regatta activities, and will be present for the opening ceremonies in 1950.

Kelowna Jaycees extended an invitation to the newly-formed Summerland Jaycees unit to choose a Summerland representative. Malt Kersey, head of a local Jaycee committee, announced the choice of Miss Nesbitt as Summerland's representative last weekend.

Travel on Hope-Princeton to Be Delayed

Travel over the Hope-Princeton highway from Labor Day forward will not materialize, but the official opening will probably be held on that holiday, in any case.

That is the word brought back to the Okanagan by Harold Mitchell, associated trade boards president following a conference with public works department officials at the coast.

Mr. Mitchell states that the department will proceed with the official opening ceremonies, but will not throw the road open for general traffic until October.

Due to unforeseen circumstances, the road work has not progressed as rapidly as was expected, but the public works department is adamant in its stand not to open the road until the hard surfacing is completed, it is stated.

Ask Board of Trade Members To Endorse Scheme to Join Two Summerland Post Offices

Executive of the Summerland Board of Trade has called a special meeting of its membership for next Tuesday evening to discuss a subject which is expected to arouse a great deal of discussion. If the weather remains at its present high level, then the discussion may become heated.

General membership of the trade board will be asked to sanction a suggestion to the postal authorities that the name West Summerland be eliminated in favor of the two post offices being named just Summerland.

The board executive has gone on record as favoring this plan and members of the council also signified their intention of supporting it. Reeve Reid A. Johnston was not present when this council support was obtained.

In brief, the plan would ask the postal department to have all incoming mail delivered to one post office. From the coast, this would probably mean that the mail would be taken off the eastbound train at the present West Summerland station, delivered to the present West Summerland post office, where it would be sorted into groups.

By having the one sorting office for incoming mail, the name West Summerland could be eliminated and all mail coming here could be directed to Summerland, thus eliminating the confusion between the two post offices, Summerland and West Summerland, operating within one municipality.

With the mail being taken off the eastbound train at the West Summerland station, there would be no delay in mail delivery in the lower town, as it could be shuttled down as quickly as happens at present, those who favor the scheme declare.

Now, the coast mail is delivered

KILLS RATTLESNAKE

Clarence Adams exhibited a three foot six inch snake on Monday which he had killed in Garnet Valley. The reptile had eight rattles and was a fine specimen, if one can admire snakes. Mr. Adams has killed many rattlers but he only had a stick less than two feet long when he attempted to kill this one and therefore had some difficulty.

Two Big Subdivisions in West Summerland Are In Planning Stage Now

Two important subdivisions, involving between forty and fifty lots are being contemplated on adjoining blocks in the centre of the West Summerland section.

One involves the W. A. Steuart property facing Granville street from the Summerland Box Co. office east to Rosedale avenue and south to the Loyle Campbell property at the foot of Giant's Head.

The second subdivision includes all of Loyle Campbell's holdings, which would be divided into 16 or 17 dwelling lots.

Included in these two deals are plans for some important road extensions and the possible purchase of a small part of the Steuart property as a site for the proposed municipal hall.

No definite assurance that the subdivisions will go forward has been received, but it is known that tentative plans have been outlined.

If the Steuart subdivision proceeds, it is Mr. Steuart's plan to allow a roadway through his present orchard which would provide an extension of the Giant's Head road from its intersection with Rosedale avenue, at St. Stephen's church.

In order to make this nearly a through, straight road, ten feet of the Summerland Athletic club property would have to be annexed and dedicated as a road allowance.

It was considered this would be possible but some doubt was expressed at Tuesday's council meeting by R. G. Russel, on behalf of the athletic club operating the tennis and badminton clubs.

At a previous meeting, Mr. Russel declared in a letter that the athletic group would agree provided the council did not interfere with the hedge which is outside the Anglican parish hall and which actually encroaches on the road allowance.

At that time, the council declared that the deal for a road allowance was between Mr. Steuart and the athletic club, and further that the council could not be a party to any move which would entail leaving a hazard on a municipal road.

Mr. Russel, when he appeared this week, declared that the athletic club was against having a through road past its property and gave the council the gist of the club's stipulation regarding the hedge.

It was pointed out by council members that regardless of the opening up of the Steuart subdivision, the Anglican church hedge must be moved back, as it constitutes a traffic hazard when cars are parked alongside.

The entire hedge is on the road allowance and must be moved back at least in line with the church cement wall, which is also slightly over the road line, as well.

Councillor C. E. Bentley informed Mr. Russel, and other council members that he had interviewed Canon F. V. Harrison and Mr. C. J. Huddleston on the subject and they were "agreeable" to the move, expressing the thought that they had been expecting such an order for some time.

Mr. Russel suggested that the "agreement" was because the council held the authority to enforce the hedge removal.

Councillor Harvey Wilson pointed out that this corner by the church is a "bottleneck" and is unsafe... that the hedge would have to be moved back regardless of the subdivision plans.

"There is great opposition within the athletic club to providing the ten feet as it would mean a straight through road," declared Mr. Russel.

Council members pointed out that for the sake of the community it must be a straight

Granville Has Face Lifting Job Completed

Summerland's Granville street has had its face lifted.

For a week, mounds of prepared hardsurfacing mix have been dumped on the centre of the street and yesterday the municipal maintainer, operated by Road Foreman Les Gould, spread the mixture ready for the final rolling.

The complete street will be covered by the new permanent cover and will present an attractive, smooth appearance.

The block between Rosedale avenue and Kelley has not been completed to the full width, as the municipality is obtaining an additional fourteen feet from the school district board and will make a fill to bring up the level for a full width throughout.

It is intended to use material from the school property for this fill, once the excavation for the new junior-senior high school commences.

Dumping of pre-mix for the Pender street surfacing was completed on Tuesday and probably will be completed by the weekend.

All the principal streets in West Summerland business district will be completed when Pender street is finished.

It is expected that the road crew will swing to the Sandhill road and its extension to Trout Creek as the next major hard-surfacing project for the summer.

Most of this work will be done by laying the MC2 heavy oil from the oil truck, except in the steepest spots, where the pre-mix method will be adopted.

Blacktop for Shaughnessy to Be Laid Soon

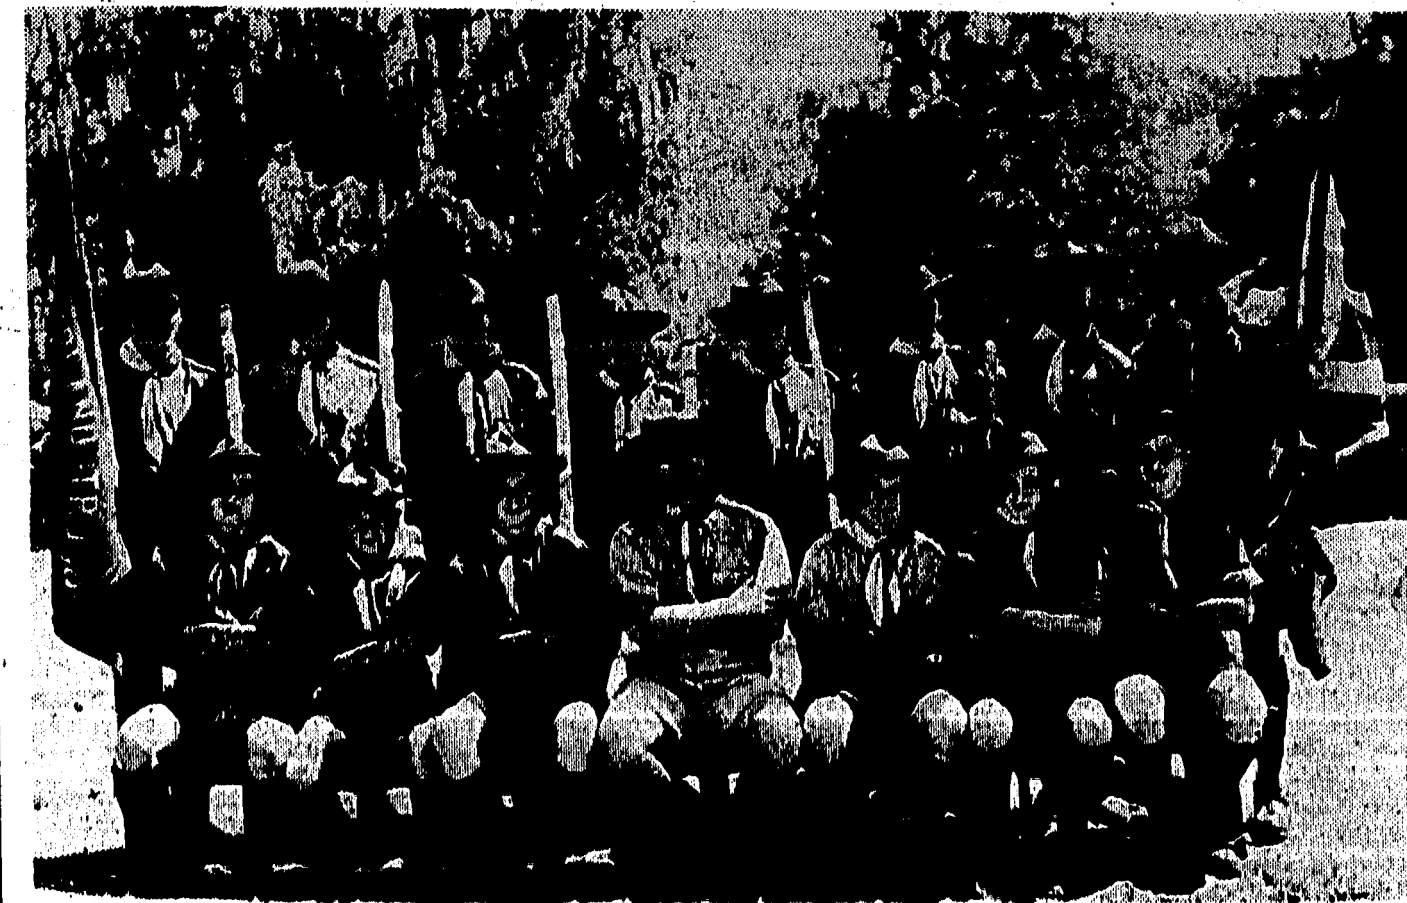

Shaughnessy avenue through lower town has been oiled this week and provincial department of public works officials state that it will be blacktopped in about two weeks' time.

This section of the provincial highway was badly broken up in the spring heave and the dust nuisance has caused considerable anguish to the business men and home owners in this section ever since.

For a time the road was so badly heaved that it was almost impassable.

Attention of the assistant district engineer at Kelowna was drawn to its condition a short time ago by the municipal council, an answer being forthcoming this week that the road would be fixed in "a week or two".

These Scouts Are On Their Way to Ottawa Jamboree—

The largest per capita representative group from B.C. proceeding to the first annual Boy Scout Jamboree at Connaught Park, Ottawa, boarded the Greyhound bus in West Summerland on Tuesday afternoon on the first leg of their big adventure across the continent.

Fourteen members of the 1st Summerland troop of Boy Scouts, eleven of them being King Scouts, made up this party of young lads who set out for the thrill of their young lives. They joined a special train from Vancouver at Bloomous.

All the boys are 1st Class Scouts, and 11 have attained the King Scout class. One lad has a C all-round card for 18 or more proficiency badges, three have B all-round cards for 12 or more proficiency badges and nine have A cards for six or more badges.

At 11 o'clock on Monday, July 18, the first Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree will be opened at Connaught Park, Ottawa, by Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Chief Scout for Canada. Registration totals 2,740, with B.C. sending 418, being the second largest Canadian contingent, Ontario having the largest with 948.

Special bus trips to acquaint the Jamboree Scouts with Canada's capital are being arranged. Each day, from July 10 to 22, some 700 Scouts will leave camp at 9 a.m. to visit the parliament buildings, the war museum, the Dominion archives, the RCAF station at Rockcliffe, the national museum and the Dominion Experimental Farm. Included in the Jamboree are 110

Call Meeting Soon to Organize Fire Brigade Society Locally

Proposing that a fire brigade society should be formed at once to assist the volunteer fire fighters, Councillor C. E. Bentley met with unanimous council approval on Tuesday. The municipal councillor will confer with the fire brigade members and arrange for such an organizational meeting.

It was stated that the Kelowna method, wherein the fire brigade society appoints its own fire chief and controls the operation of the brigade would be the most feasible plan here.

Councillor Bentley is in Kelowna today and intends to ascertain the operation of the brigade society there.

An audit of the books of the West Summerland Volunteer Fire Protection Society will be undertaken shortly to wind up the affairs of that group which ceased to exist on June 30 following passage of the bylaw authorizing its disbandment.

The fire brigade now comes under municipal control and operates as a unit on behalf of the entire municipality.

One problem which must be faced with the installation of the dial telephone system will be the operation of the fire siren.

At present, when an alarm is telephoned to the local exchange, the operator on duty merely presses the switch to sound the alarm. But when the dial phone system is operating there will be no operator in the local telephone exchange, as it is automatically controlled.

A similar situation is being faced in Armstrong, where the dial phones have been operating for some time, and the result of investigations there will be watched with interest here.

It was stated by Councillor Bentley on Tuesday that some person should be employed to see that the fire truck and other equipment is maintained in good order. He favored the employment of Fire Chief Ed Gould at a monthly salary for this purpose. No action was taken by the council, pending the organizational meeting of the proposed society.

Volunteers Should Wait Until Sought

THERE has been general commendation of the work of the volunteer fire brigade for the quickness of its response and the rapidity with which the fire was extinguished in the recent Holmes & Wade Ltd. hardware store fire.

Many highly inflammable items were menaced by the flames and the smoke was intense but in a short space of time the main portion of the fire was extinguished and confined to the one room in which it commenced.

Not only did the individual members of the brigade indicate that they have been well and capably trained in the art of fighting fires, but the modern equipment which the municipality and the now-defunct West Summerland Volunteer Fire Protection Society provided the brigade was observed to be highly efficient.

The new fog nozzles blanketed the blaze and smothered it efficiently within a short space of time. The value of such modern equipment was emphasized at this blaze and the cost of the nozzles, for instance, was saved many times over in the prevention of spread of this one fire.

However, as well trained and equipped as the volunteer department is now, it cannot be expected to do its best work when it experiences interference. Granted, this interference has been well meant, but nonetheless it constitutes an undesirable menace to efficiency within the brigade.

At the Holmes & Wade fire some well meaning non-brigade members dragged a length of hose from the truck and started across the street before discovering that they were carrying the connection for the hydrant towards the fire and not the nozzle end.

These men were well meaning and were deserving of praise up to a point for their diligence. If they had acted on orders by the fire chief or his deputy then their attempts at helpfulness would have been appreciated a great deal more.

It is an assuring factor when there are many willing hands at any threatened disaster. Such an attitude of being willing to risk personal loss in order to help a neighbor is highly desirable.

But Summerland has a well equipped and trained fire department. It is expected to know the modern practices of fighting fires. If the brigade members need help, then a call for more volunteers will naturally be sent around. Then is when the assistance of onlookers would be most welcome, but not before.

Interest in Fire Brigade

WHILE on the subject of the fire brigade, the importance of a fire brigade society or association should be stressed at this time.

The West Summerland Volunteer Fire Protection Society was disbanded at June 30 following the recent vote of ratepayers in the district concerned. The fire brigade is now an entire municipal responsibility, but needs more assistance than one member of the council can provide.

In order to provide an executive body to assist the actual brigade a society should be formed, with one of the directors being a member appointed from council ranks.

It would function much as the West Summerland district group but would be representative of the entire municipality.

At Tuesday's council session, Councillor Bentley indicated that he would take an active part in calling a meeting of interested citizens in order to inaugurate an association.

An active and well-organized fire brigade is an essential part of the community activities. In order that it function smoothly and in the best interests of the community it should have a well-organized executive group. Countless thousands of dollars can be saved Summerland by such an organization. Even lives can be saved when there is an efficient fire department operating in the event of a disastrous holocaust.

A fire brigade society can provide the necessary continuity of operation, can make recommendations year by year to the municipal council which provides the necessary funds and can make certain that the brigade itself is kept up to strength and has the necessary tools to maintain its efficiency.

When such an organizational meeting is called it is hoped that a large number of interested citizens will attend.

Postal Scheme is Vital One

RECOMMENDATION that the name West Summerland be eliminated from postal addresses in this district and that the entire municipality be embraced under one postal address, Summerland, is being advanced by the executive of the board of trade at a special meeting next week.

In broad terms, the trade board directors are suggesting that all mail come in to one central post office, be distributed to the necessary channels, rural route and the second post office, and thus eliminate the confusion which exists at present.

Under the present system the municipality is divided because of the existence of two post offices, Summerland and West Summerland. There is confusion because of this division and to the uninformed it would appear that two separate communities are in operation here.

There are some undesirable features concerning this move, the chief being the existence of a West Summerland CPR station and a Summerland station on the lakeshore. There might be further confusion unless the transportation company was urged to make a move similar to that being proposed for the postal offices.

This is a serious step, but it is not new. Thirty years ago attempts were made to follow similar ideas, but they fell through. Any such suggestion should be well considered before any action is taken. But the ultimate reason for the plan is to eliminate the division between two sections of the one community.

If this can be done without any injury to one section, then it will be worthwhile.

Signifying Nothing

By RUSTICUS

Remember the story of the man whose hotel caught fire in the night, and he was so deliberately cool that he wanted to put on shirt, tie, and coat before going out, then strolled around urging everybody to be equally calm until someone pointed out that he had omitted his trousers?

They say—you know how they say—always introduces a julep bit of gossip, usually untrue—that one of our local men once dashed out of the house to rush to a night fire, and was starting the car before he noticed that he too was pantsless, though probably panting. Of course he had a personal interest in that particular fire—they say—so there was more excuse for him.

We do get excited about fires, don't we? It's rather foolish in some ways; in any community as up-to-date as this and with the very efficient fire department we have, the ordinary citizen dashing to a fire is more likely to clutter up traffic and get in the firemen's way than he is of any real help. Often, too, if it is not a home that is on fire and no persons are in danger, the damage is completely covered by insurance, and the fire actually results in no loss. Sometimes it is a gain, if the building is old or—well, you too have probably heard of prosperous businesses which have grown out of a well-chosen, well-insured fire or two. They say!

When lives are in danger, property uninsured, or no fire department organized, then indeed it behooves every neighbor to get to a fire as soon as he can, and give all the help he can. Probably it is generations of this, passed on, like red hair from parents to children, that makes us still rush to fires, even though it is merely to thrill at the sight of human skill and equipment battling the fierce red demon.

Even in less progressive communities, where neighbors can be of real help in case of fire, however, that excitement which grips us all often does more harm than good. For excitement may produce heroism, but it chokes off logical thought. I've seen helpful people at a house-burning rush to break in the windows to get at the fire, and the resulting draft of air merely fanned a smoulder to a holocaust. I've seen people dash bravely in to save the furniture, and throw it violently out of upstairs windows. Once a big husky fellow made a very brave rush into a burning house which nobody else had been able to enter, and where all sorts of valuable possessions were burning uninsured, and staggered out carrying—the telephonol!

All this excitement is often more of a hindrance than a help in fighting the red enemy. Yet of course, if nobody got excited at all —including the firemen—it too would be a bad thing. What good would a phlegmatic fireman be? We can be thankful that we obviously have none such in Summerland.

The ideal would be, of course, just enough excitement to work fast, and enough coolness to do the right thing. The best example of this I have ever heard is the case of a 10-year-boy caught in a hotel fire some years ago in Florida.

His father, a shoe salesman, had inadvertently looked the youngster in their fourteenth story room when he went out, and when fire broke out below, the lad was trapped. Many adults would have jumped out of the window from sheer excitement; the boy did much better. Dashing into the adjoining sample room he emptied box after box of rubber overshoes, put on the smallest pair he could, then a large pair over them, and so on until he had seventeen and a half pairs on each foot. Only then did he leap out of the window.

The rubber cushioned the shock of landing so well that he was entirely unhurt. Unfortunately, it also made him bounce, and each bounce taking him higher, the poor lad had to be shot four days later to keep him from starving to death. They say!

Pioneer Days

July 4, 1919

Improvements to the Summerland irrigation system as proposed by the municipal council and the raising by a debenture issue of $72,000 were unanimously endorsed at a ratepayers' meeting. On a 20-year debenture issue the amount to be raised annually would be five mills on land.

While alighting from a car, Municipal Clerk F. J. Nixon fell to the street and fractured an ankle bone.

At two points on the Kamloops-Kelowna branch of the CNR grading operations have commenced.

Journeymen 1700 miles in three cars, a party of six adults and nine children reached Summerland from far off Tisdale, in northern Saskatchewan. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gould, and five children, Mr. Gould's two sons, Arthur and Edgar and their wives and little ones. Fifteen days were consumed in making the trip.

Summerland will require a school building with ten classrooms, an assembly hall, manual training and domestic science rooms, science laboratory, library and teachers' rooms, also lunch and playrooms, states Inspector Anstov of the department of education.

Capt. J. C. Kennedy of the Royal Irish Fusiliers is back in Summerland. When he left to join the services he was a member of the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff.

C. J. Duncan has rented T. E. Young's implement warehouse and has remodelled it as a fruit packinghouse.

Among returning servicemen welcomed home in the past week were G. R. Hookham, Harry Reynolds, Lee Hatfield, Ralph Brown, Guy Brook and Cliff McWilliams.

A new and ingenious potter's wheel has been designed by Carl Nabbit, assisted by S. W. J. Poltham, and has been shipped to Victoria, where it will be demonstrated at summer school by Miss Cordy. The machine has been made from discarded automobile parts.

About 1,000 voters did not vote at the recent election in this riding and each will shortly receive a letter from the Registrar of Voters asking the reason for not having exercised the franchise. Without exception Summerland has the most suitable tourist park of any centre he visited in a two

FINAL TALLY FOR SOUTH OKANAGAN

Harvey L. Wilson, Summerland, returning officer for the South Okanagan provincial election, June 15, has issued the final corrected count following an official tabulation on Thursday, July 7, twenty-one clear days following the election.

It will be noted that a large portion of the absentee ballots were rejected for various reasons, mainly non-conformance with regulations. In many instances voters filled out an affidavit that they had signed registration cards but it was found that their cards did not exist in the files of the registrar of voters in Kelowna.

The total vote cast was 11,395 of a possible of 14,432 names on the list, or a percentage of 78.9 percent, which is considered well above the average and is believed to indicate the extreme interest aroused in the provincial election which saw Mr. W. A. C. Bennett returned as Coalition member for South Okanagan, in a contest against CCF Tom Wilkinson.

Resorts in B.C. List Thousand

The issuance of a new and extremely practical form of auto court and resort listing folder is announced by Hon. Leslie H. Eyles, minister of trade and industry.

The folder, designed to be of assistance to both tourists and travel agents, lists over 1,000 resorts and stopping places licensed by the department and gives a brief description of the various areas and facilities available.

weeks' tour which took him to many parts of B.C. and Washington, Dr. H. S. Timberlake of Vernon has stated.

Scouts and Cubs who went to camp at Hastings Park, Vancouver, included John and Dick Benmore, Billy Andrew, Bob Butler, George Haddrell, Jimmy Clark, Walter Paoy, Fred Bleasdale, Bob Scurrah, Wesley Tavender, Billy Stark, Ronald and Stanley Taylor, John Theed, Gordon Lott, Percy McCallum, Horace Bryant, Denis Nield, Robert Doherty, Tommy Harris, Nick and Ivor Solly and Willie Thornbor. Those in charge included Cubmaster C. Clay, Bernard Taylor, Mrs. W. J. Taylor, Mrs. Benmore, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Andrew.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY IN B.C.

The release of the monthly issue of "Business Activity in British Columbia" discloses that various indicators of economic change in the provincial economy point to a sustained level of business and industrial activity throughout the summer months of this year, the government announces.

Frozen Foods Retain
Flavor Declares A. W. Moyls

Freezing preserves the flavor and natural characteristics of a large number of foods, says A. W. Moyls, fruit and vegetable products laboratory, Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C. Strawberries, raspberries, peaches, peas, corn, broccoli, spinach and asparagus are examples of fruits and vegetables that freeze very successfully.

On the other hand, freezing of celery, lettuce, cucumbers, radishes, pears and watermelons has, so far been unsatisfactory. It should be pointed out, too, that certain varieties of the same fruit or vegetable are more adaptable to freezing than others.

In addition, the quality in the frozen product depends not only upon the type and quality of the raw material, but also upon the method of freezing, pre-treatment, packaging, type of storage, length of storage, and care in handling until it reaches the consumer's table.

Spillage changes in thawed frozen foods are similar to those taking place in the fresh product, but proceed at a very much faster rate. Many consumers do not appreciate this fact, believing that frozen products, like canned goods, will keep indefinitely in the unopened container. This is not so. Frozen foods are not sterile. They should be used preferably before thawing is complete.

Food in the frozen state is subject to dehydration unless covered with a film of ice or oil, or packaged in tin or other moisture-vapor-proof containers. Changes caused by the presence of oxygen may also occur. The effect of this oxidative process may be lessened by the use of air-tight packages. In some instances the addition of sugar or an anti-oxidant such as ascorbic acid, to fruit packs, has decidedly beneficial effects on color and flavor. To retain desirable color, flavor and texture in vegetables, it is essential that they be properly blanched (scalded) in boiling water or steam before cooling, packaging and freezing. This preliminary treatment is necessary to prevent undesirable changes which may otherwise take place in the frozen vegetables.

Some foods may be stored longer than others, but there should be no carryover from season to season. To retain maximum quality in the frozen product for a twelve-month period of storage, it is essential that the product be stored at 0° F. or lower. At this temperature, provided that they have been properly prepared and packaged, foods in the frozen state are not subject to serious chemical, physical or microbiological changes. Storage temperatures higher than 0° F., especially if they are fluctuating, are detrimental to quality, and under such conditions undesirable changes will occur in foods relatively quickly.

In comparison with unrefrigerated fruits and vegetables, quick freezing conserves the vitamins. It also provides a more interesting and varied diet. This method of food preservation has made great strides in the past few years, and as the years go by will become of even greater value to the busy housewife.

Ball Grounds so Popular Councillor
Needed as Umpire

Councillor Eric Tait is acting as umpire these days but not in the usual role taken by those hard-boiled characters who officiate at baseball games.

The ball grounds at Powell Beach have become very popular to all ages and are in great demand, so much so that the younger fry approached Councillor Tait last week with a complaint that the older players are monopolizing the grounds to such an extent that they have only one practice night left.

Municipal fathers agreed with Councillor Tait that this situation should be rectified and urged him to act as umpire in the dispute. At the beach itself, two fire rings were recently installed by a municipal work crew under Foreman E. Kercher. These are substantial in nature and are expected to be a decided acquisition to campers in that area.

Tables and benches have been repaired but, while the work was being undertaken some rowdy individuals visited the beach and broke up several signs and did other destructive acts.

Proper disgust was registered at the council session last week when told of these acts of vandalism and B.C. Police Constable Thorstenson will be asked to patrol the beach on occasions.

From Nesbitt Motors

Months of intensive police investigation have been concluded with the arrest and conviction of John W. Colton, Jr., in Kelowna police court, on four charges of breaking and entering, including the forced entry of Nesbitt Motors last fall, when a radio was stolen. The charges involve a garage in Vernon, a Penticton store and a Kelowna equipment company.

Acting Magistrate G. A. McKay sentenced Colton to six months' imprisonment on each of the charges, all terms to be concurrent.

Colton confessed to the breaking in of the Nesbitt Motors premises, it is learned. The local garage firm had notified police last fall of the theft of the radio, but had no knowledge that the building had been forcibly entered.

Teen Town

Sorry about giving you the big build up on the lawn dance in the last column and then not having it come off. But circumstances beyond our control and also the fact that it was impossible to obtain lighting facilities prevented the function from being held—or in other words, it was impossible for the deal to come off.

But the dance at the IOOF was very successful and I am sure a good time was had by all. If the dances keep up like that Teen Town will be really rolling, so keep coming you kids because there is plenty of fun in store.

About next week. So far this is very unofficial but I believe there will be another dance at the IOOF hall Saturday night at the usual hour. So let's see everyone out on the floor dancing and make this dance even more successful than the last.

If any of your readers (all two of you) have any suggestions as to how Teen Town could be improved, mention it to any council member and they will bring it up at the next meeting.

Well this is all for now but keep an eye open for the posters around town with news of the dance.

Cemetery Grounds

On the suggestion of the cemetery committee, municipal council is considering the installation of a gravel box at the Peach Orchard cemetery. This box could be located near the toolhouse and prevent small amounts of gravel being left in various sections of the cemetery, it was stated.

Last month a work party of nineteen persons, fifty percent Japanese Canadians, did further valuable work in beautifying the cemetery but there still remains a great deal of work to be carried out, the cemetery committee declares.

Experiments in weed-killing are being carried out and proving effective.

"Vacationist" from Vancouver is
115 Years Old

PENTICTON — A 115-year-old "vacationist" from Vancouver, who arrived in Penticton to "spend his holidays," on Dominion Day, was a Penticton visitor last week.

Alvarez Haabsburg, who was 115 last Friday, was found in the vicinity of the CPR tracks, and was taken to police headquarters where he was held for his own protection over the weekend before being turned over to local welfare authorities.

He himself claims to be 135 years old but records indicate his real age is 115.

Police discovered that in addition to a great many odd and ends in his pocket, the aged man had $462.80 in his possession. Fearing for his safety, police held him at headquarters for the weekend.

The centenarian was very vague as to the means by which he came up to Penticton. Police discovered a bus ticket to Seattle in his possession and believe that he came here by bus.

He is friendly and talkative with other inmates at McRobbie's Boarding Home and freely talks of property he owns in Washington which, he claims, he is going to sell before settling down.

Mr. Haabsburg, a resident of a rest home for the aged in Vancouver, has previously succumbed to the wanderlust. Earlier this year he was reported missing and wandered Vancouver city streets for four days before he was picked up, suffering from hunger and fatigue, but otherwise unharmed.

Joe McLachlan Succeeds Dr. R. C. Palmer at Helm of Rotary Club of Summerland

Joe McLachlan, popular young Summerland man, was officially inducted as president of the Rotary Club of Summerland for the 1949-50 season at an informal and highly-entertaining annual session held in the IOOF hall on Friday evening.

Joe McLachlan Rotary.

Mr. McLachlan succeeds Dr. R. C. Palmer as president of this service club here. In accepting the gavel from the retiring prexy, Mr. McLachlan thanked his fellow members for their confidence and promised to make the coming year an active one in the annals of Summerland Rotary.

Vice-president Francis Steuart was installed in his new office by Ross McLachlan. In his position, Mr. Steuart has charge of club service and he announced the following committee chairmen:

Bowling, Dr. L. A. Day; magazine resume, Dr. W. H. B. Munn; classification and membership, A. W. Nisbet; fellowship, R. A. Johnston; program, C. J. Huddleston; Rotary information, James Green.

For the third successive term, Roy F. Angus was inducted by Gordon Smith as secretary-treasurer. T. E. Young is the new sergeant-at-arms, inducted by C. J. Bleasdale.

New directors of the Rotary club are Mel Ducommun, international service; Jim Muirhead, community service; S. A. MacDonald, vocational service. These new officers were installed by Alan Cross, Ken Boothe and Dr. H. R. McLarty, respectively.

Honorary membership for 1949-50 is being bestowed on Fred J. Nixon, a former member who was forced to resign because of illness.

Perfect attendance awards were received by five club members, Gordon Smith, Alan Cross, George Perry, C. J. Huddleston and Roy Angus.

Perfect Attendance
Two of these members, C. J. Huddleston and Roy Angus, have not missed a meeting since the Rotary club was inaugurated here and were given suitable applause from the gathering for this evidence of keen interest in the club.

Rotary Anns were guests of the Rotarians at the banquet and installation ceremonies Friday evening, the toast to the ladies being given by Rotarian C. J. Huddleston and the reply by Rotary Ann, Mrs. W. H. B. Munn.

Guests at the function were Kiwanis President Mr. F.W. Schumann and Mrs. Schumann, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong. Miss Ruth Dale played for community singing, which was led by Mr. Schumann.

Beautiful corsages were prepared for all the female guests present. The banquet was under the direction of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary.

road through as otherwise it would provide just one more traffic hazard.

Mr. Russel agreed to discuss the subject with the club members again. Council reminded him that his club members have been trespassing on Steuart property for years to gain entrance to their property and expressed the thought that they should be willing now to acquiesce to Mr. Steuart's proposal. Road on East of Park

Still another roadway which is of community interest is linked with the two subdivisions.

The Summerland Memorial Parks Committee and Mr. Steuart are said to have reached an agreement with the council that they will both donate twenty feet of their property to provide a traffic route along the east side of the park.

This road from Granville street south would connect with a road which would come down the north line of Mr. Campbell's property. Mr. Campbell has agreed to move the hockey rink farther west if his road is allowed to link with the road along the east side of the park.

This move will give Mr. Campbell an easy access to his property.

It has been suggested that the Summerland Lawn Bowling Club, which is seeking new grounds, may purchase property from Mr. Steuart adjoining the badminton and tennis courts.

Council has asked Mr. Steuart for a price on eighty feet of property directly east of the Summerland Box Co. office, as a possible site for the proposed municipal hall. Mr. Steuart recently quoted $1,770 as the purchase price for $0.75 feet.

It had been the council plan to erect the proposed municipal hall west of the box company office, but members are now inclined to the belief that this section should be left open as an imposing entrance to the Living Memorial park playground.

Valley Apple Crop Exceeds 1948 Harvest

The Okanagan's apple crop will exceed that of last year by more than 300,000 boxes for a total just under the seven million mark, the provincial government horticultural department estimated in its report issued at the first of the week.

Total apple crop expected to be harvested this year will run to 6,987,505 boxes, as compared with the 1939 crop of 6,663,241 boxes.

However, in Summerland there will be a slight drop, as the crop is expected to run only 481,000 against 495,851 a year ago.

Peachland and Westbank areas conform to the rest of the valley, however, and are on the increase this year.

The northern portion of the valley will have a bigger apple harvest as will Oliver-Osoyoos, which is expected to show the biggest increase. The pear crop, however, will be down throughout the valley to a total of 558,750 boxes, while last year 549,111 were shipped. Summerland's decrease is in line with this general dropoff in production, as are all other districts with the exception of Oliver-Osoyoos, which expects to go up to 95,000 boxes from 76,865 a year ago.

A complete table of estimates on apples, crabapples, pears and grapes may be found on the editorial page.

Entomological Lab is Opened

The official opening of the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Trout Creek, took place on Sunday afternoon when staff members and their wives, Dr. and Mrs. H. R. McLarty and Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Palmer, representing the other government agricultural services in Summerland held a tea in the laboratory building.

Guests included, also, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brock, Mr. and Mrs. A. Marlowe, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bent, all of Penticton, Mr. and Mrs. A. Baillie, Mr. and Mrs. I. Adams, Summerland, the men who took part in the construction and their wives.

A very nice tea was arranged by Mrs. Cecil V. G. Morgan and poured by Mrs. P. Davis. Visitors were shown over the building.

AOTS Suggests Permanent Camp be Set Up At Experimental Station Beach

At the June meeting of the Summerland AOTS, held in the Lakeside United church basement hall, Rev. H. R. Whitmore made an appeal for the South Okanagan AOTS Clubs to get behind the boys' and girls' camp at the experimental station beach, and get it established on a permanent footing.

He explained the difficulties caused by hoodlums destroying any camp property left there after camp closed, and the need for some organization to take the responsibility of keeping the camp up instead of its falling into disuse, as this year.

There was an enthusiastic response from the members, and a committee of Ernie Bennett, Austin Walden, Walter Charles and Joe Sheeley was appointed to make a start at it.

Owing to there being no camp held this year at Trout Creek point, local youngsters must go to Camp Huriburt near Vernon, and Bob Butler appealed for cars and drivers to take them up, and for funds to pay their expenses.

There was a prompt and generous response to the call for cars, and the drivers scorned the idea of taking expense money, so the question of financing the trips was settled at once.

Joe Sheeley reported that projects seemed to consist mostly of baseball, but the Red Sox were doing well, and appreciating their new uniform shirts. He praised the fine job of transportation being arranged by Ken Boothe.

Bert Stent reported that the Hobby Fair had been a great success, drawing good crowds and clearing over forty dollars financially. He spoke of the splendid co-operation given by many members in the work of putting the fair on.

Alan Calvert regretted the poor attendance at this and the previous meeting, but plans a big membership drive for the fall session.

Ernie Bennett reported that work was being done at the Peach Orchard cemetery, steady improvement being noticeable, and that there are plans for a new road, an enlarged rink, and a bandstand in the Memorial park playground, which is coming into extensive use.

Talmage McDonald has been doing a lot of work on the St. Andrew's church grounds, and reported considerable improvement there.

Don Talt had two very interesting films to show the members, and the meeting then adjourned until sessions are resumed in the fall.

Girl Guide Camp Breaks Up After Enjoyable Time

The Guide camp at Deep Creek near Peachland disbanded on Monday afternoon, and members of the Rotary club brought the girls and their equipment back again by car and by truck.

Ideal camping weather gave plenty of scope for swimming and for a campfire every evening which was held at the mouth of the creek, when cocoa was served before bedtime, and Saturday night there were hot-dogs.

The camp ran very smoothly and Mrs. Bonnet, commissioner at Oliver and camp supervisor for the district at her inspection on Saturday morning said that everything was in very good order.

Two excitements were when a large swarm of bees decided to light on the top of the largest tent, and were rather anxiously watched until they moved farther up the draw and everyone sighed in relief; the second was when the creek suddenly rose due to one of the dams being opened and in a short time dishpans and pails containing supplies were making towards the lake on the heightened current.

They were retrieved and although the occupants of tents nearby were moved the water gradually subsided and in the morning was normal again.

It was regretted that more of the older girls were unable to attend but most of them have found work for the summer months.

It is hoped that an annual camp may be held, and experience gained this year should be valuable for future ventures.

HOME AGAIN—

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Plunkett returned last Friday from a holiday spent at the coast where they visited relatives and friends, and attended the wedding of Mrs. Plunkett's cousin, Miss Gae Vosper which took place in Christ Church Cathedral on June 2 with the reception at Hotel Georgia. Part of their vacation was at Capilano where they stayed at the home of Capt. John Vosper, father of the bride, who is a retired sea captain.

Mrs. Arthur Gould came home last Tuesday from Victoria where she holidayed for a month with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gould.

Miss Joy Pattie has returned after an enjoyable vacation visiting in Vancouver and Seattle.

Miss Audrey Davis returned to Vancouver on Friday after two weeks' holiday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Davis.

Lower Town Library Has 45 Members

The lower town branch of the Okanagan Union Library has proved to be a successful undertaking and there are forty-five people who take advantage of the books kept there, with the number increasing steadily. It will remain open for the summer months with the librarian, Mrs. Frank Plunkett in charge.

At present there are some interesting books on the shelves about the ancient sport of archery which is being revived in many places, and in which there is an interest locally. Also among the books are some on weaving.

NEW ARRIVALS

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. F. Downes at the Summerland hospital on Saturday, July 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson are the parents of a baby boy who arrived on Sunday morning, July 10, at the Summerland hospital.

RETURNED HOME

Mrs. R. V. Agur returned to California last Friday, and Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Agur left for their home at Brem River, B.C., on Monday evening.

GO TO KELOWNA

Several members of the Orange Lodge of Summerland and their families celebrated the 12th of July in Kelowna this week.

Canadian Fashions

Among the lush fabrics being used by Canadian designers for fall fashions is surrah. Here it is used to fashion a simple dress with high cardigan neckline and tri-color box-pleated skirt. Shoulders are rounded and sleeves are long and snug.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf McLachlan returned on Tuesday from a trip across Canada as far east as Oshawa, where they took delivery of a new car and drove home via the United States.

DAISY-LORE

Old School Friends and Children at Re-Union

About ten years or so ago. Under summer's blue, Three of us sat in a daisy field, Saying, "Daisy, tell us true, One I love; two I love, and Three I love, today," Thus we read the petals as We plucked each one away. Now one you love, two I love, Three she loves today, Our babies are dimpled and very sweet, But Fortune is an old jay, Though the daisies told us truly, What a prank to play, Not one of us thought of the tiny loves, That are dear to us today!

Mrs. R. M. Johnston and Mrs. Harvey Mitchell had the happy idea of a class re-union since two of their school friends, Mrs. W. McIntosh, Toronto, Ont., and Mrs. R. J. Tate, Centralia, Ont., were visiting here at their former homes.

The thought materialized into a beach party and tea at the Johnston cottage at Crescent Beach on Monday afternoon, June 28.

It was a beautiful calm day and the old friends and their collective fifteen children enjoyed swimming and talking over school days and happenings since that time.

A delicious tea was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. E. Bergstrom. Those at the get-together, besides those previously mentioned were Mrs. G. A. Laidlaw, Mrs. K. Heales, Mrs. W. McCutcheon, Mrs. B. Berry, Mrs. Don Tait, Mrs. W. Sherwood, Mrs. W. R. Powell and Mrs. W. M. Wright were guests, also. Unable to be present were Mrs. Linnie Hale, Penticton and Mrs. E. Foy, Copper Mountain.

Legion W.A. Holds Picnic Luncheon

A picnic luncheon in pleasant lakeside surroundings was held today by the W.A. to the Canadian Legion due to the hospitality of Mrs. H. R. McLarty.

Members and some of their children were present and after luncheon the regular meeting was held with the president, Mrs. W. McCutcheon presiding, and plans were made for the street carnival to be held at the end of the month.

Vancouver Nuptials Unites Well-Known Local Couple

A quiet wedding of interest to their many friends in Summerland took place in Vancouver on Saturday afternoon, July 9, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. N. B. Roantree, when Mrs. Bertha Gillis and Mr. Wm. White were united in marriage.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few relatives and close friends by Rev. T. W. Reed of St. Mary's United church, Vancouver, formerly minister at St. Andrew's United church, West Summerland.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Dr. David Wright, and was attired in a very becoming grey gabardine suit with accessories in mauve and grey, and a beautiful corsage of mauve orchids.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Maclean, and for the occasion Mrs. Maclean had chosen a two-piece navy crepe suit. Her accents of color were pink, and in her corsage were pink and white carnations.

A reception followed when the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Dave Chapman of Kelowna. Mr. and Mrs. White are motoring on Vancouver Island and will go to Seattle before returning to make their home at Summerland.

WILL TAKE SERVICE

Rev. H. D. Whitmore of Overbrook, Ont. Rev. H. R. Whitmore's father, will preach in St. Andrew's United church on Sunday morning.

First Hikers Go Up Snow Mountain

First persons to climb Snow Mountain since John Grnham, lookout man for the forest service ascended to his summer cabin are Alf Baker of Faulder and Dick Turner of Rossland. They report that climbing conditions are excellent and that the hike was an extremely pleasant one.

Every summer several expeditions go up Snow Mountain to enjoy the wonderful scenery and enjoy the wild flowers which bloom in profusion and are of a kind not found often on the lower levels.

Merchants in 6-4 Victory At Mountain

Jumping into a four-run lead early in the contest, Summerland Merchants managed to keep a lap ahead of Copper Mountain at the latter's sloping diamond last Sunday to win the final league scheduled game by a 6-4 count.

This win puts the Merchants in a two-way tie for second place and may necessitate a sudden-death play-off with the Rutland Adanacs.

Vic Gerein went the route for Copper Mountain and his left-hand hurlings had the boys talking a little to themselves but not too much. The Merchants snaffled 13 clouts off Gerein while Al Coffey was limiting the mountaineers to eight bingles.

Frank Kuroda and Norman (Jimmy) Thompson had a big day with the hickory, getting three for four, while Amm and Coffey were right in the money with two hits each.

Coffey's sore arm seems to be improving and he whiffed six batters last Sunday. Al McCargar behind the plate was his usual peppy self and kept the team on its toes throughout. Walsh had a busy day at second, handling eleven chances with only one miscue.

Two double plays, the first started by Day and the second by McCargar in succeeding innings, cut off two prospective chances by Copper Mountain.

It was in the last frame that the game was decided, the Merchants holding only a slim 4-3 lead. Two more runs were brought across when Day was safe on a couple of errors and Amm and Coffey clouted base hits to score Day, Coffey galloping home on Walsh's timely double.

Copper Mountain came back strongly when Barabash was safe on Day's boot, and came across on Bognar's single. There the game ended, however, as Solnes filed out to Amm.

ATTEND WATER SAFETY CLASSES—

A record for the Red Cross swimming and water safety program was established when fifty instructors from Kamloops to Pentiction converged in Kelowna for advanced instruction in swimming and life saving methods. It was the largest class of instructors ever assembled in one spot in the province for Red Cross instruction.

son, Kelowna; Mrs. Edna Littlejohn, Naramata; May Marr, June Wiens, Joan McKinley, all of Kelowna; Sandra Harvey, Revelstoke; Patsy Laidman, Vernon; Audrey Nelson, Kelowna; Gwen Parker, Okanagan Mission; Anne Husband, Vernon; Bobby Cooper and Muriel McQuarrie, Revelstoke.

Second row—Sharon Becker, Armstrong; Lillian Scantland, Kelowna; Ruth Klux, Summerland; Florence Linfield, Armstrong; Eleanor Souerby, Kamloops; Jean Macdonald, Pentiction; Dru Deeks, Vernon; Royce Moore, Kelowna; Lois Sharpe, Summerland; Mary Chadwick, Vernon; Audrey Nelson, Salmon Arm; Barbara Bernbach, Pentiction; Dawn Faulkner, Salmon Arm; Sue Husband, Vernon. Back row—Jim Scantland, Kelowna; Bud Mulholland, Revelstoke; Roger Tait, Okanagan Mission; Don Johnston, Summerland; Brian Weddell, Vernon Swerdfeger, Don McKenzie, all of Kelowna; Phil Rounds, Naramata; Bill Rothfield, Armstrong; John Boyd, Kamloops; Dick Mitchell, instructor, Vancouver; Frank Kennedy,

Two Hundred Attend Swim Classes at Powell Beach

Nearly 200 youngsters are participating in the annual board of trade swim classes at Powell Beach each Wednesday afternoon, Don Johnston, popular instructor in charge of the classes, announces.

When registration was closed some 175 boys and girls had requested to join the swim classes and since then their ranks have been swelled by another twenty-five who were a little late.

Two classes are being held each Wednesday afternoon, the pupils being conveyed to Powell Beach by Smith & Henry and White & Thornthwaite school buses.

Along with Mr. Johnston are two of the local swim instructors who participated in the record Red Cross course for instructors at Kelowna at the month-end. They are Ruth Klux and Lois Sharpe. This proved to be the largest class of instructors ever assembled in one spot in B.C. for Red Cross instruction.

Other instructors who are giving the youngsters their lessons in water safety are Earle Ingils, Alan Butler, Bob Weitzel, Art Munro and Murray Elliott.

Cecil Wade, executive member of the trade board in charge of the swim classes is acting as first aid man and assisting generally in the instruction work. Mr. Johnston states, while the services of F. W. Schumann are being called upon from time to time.

Yesterday's class was the second in the series and the lessons really started in earnest, the first Wednesday being mainly devoted to organizational work.

Merchants to Meet Rutland On Sunday

Summerland Merchants' chances of continuing in the southern section of the Interior Baseball league playoffs depends entirely on the outcome of next Sunday's sudden-death contest at the Living Memorial athletic grounds.

Rutland Adanacs and the Merchants finished the league schedule tied for second place.

On Tuesday, the local management completed negotiations with Rutland to play a sudden-death fixture here on Sunday, the winner to meet Princeton for the right to play the winner of the northern section of the league for the Interior loop championship.

Advertise Kelowna Regatta at Calgary

Arranged by the Kelowna Board of Trade, Mainline Association of Boards of Trade and the Kelowna Aquatic Assn., a float depicting Ogopogo and advertising the Kelowna Regatta was included in the Calgary Stampede opening parade Monday morning, while a booth where regatta literature is distributed has been set up at the Stampede grounds.

Two Possibles at 500 Yards Scored On Rifle Range

Despite the hot weather, scores at the Summerland Rifle Club were quite consistent last Sunday, with 14 of the sixteen marksmen scoring 90 or better for their aggregate on the three ranges.

George Pennington and Herb Simpson both scored possible 35's on the 500 yard range.

George and Ted Dunsdon had the best aggregates for the day with 95 each, but were only a shade ahead of Fred Dunsdon, Doug Price and Art Dunsdon, who each scored 94's.

Len Shannon and Tom Washington had 93's and a trio of Mel Rihna, John Khalembach and Phil Dunsdon scored 92 each. Jack Dunsdon and Dave Taylor scored 91 each and Herb Simpson and George Pennington broke the 90 mark. Ed Gould shot an 86 and Carl Nesbitt had 79.

Jacobs Whiffs Seventeen as Red Sox Cinch Second Place

Summerland Red Sox took a stranglehold on second place in the South Okanagan junior league standings when they shoved the Pentiction Pirates aside and down into third place with an easy 5-1 win at the athletic park last Sunday.

It was Gil Jacobs day again as the popular young port-sider was on the mound for the first time since his accident and he made good to the tune of 17 strike-outs, even though he has not fully regained his strength.

Another willing and earnest hurler was Campbell of the Pirates who hurled good enough baseball for any team but did not get the support to equal his performance.

Only in one inning, the fifth, was Jacobs in any trouble. With one away he hit Maisonneuve, struck out Bardine and then yielded two solid smashes to Johnston and Campbell, the latter scoring Maisonneuve for the only counter by the Pirates.

The Red Sox took an early two-run lead on bad errors by Johnston, backstop and Jeffery in centerfield. Sandy Jomori actually struck out but when Fraser dropped the ball he beat the peg to first. He then proceeded to steal second and raced home when Fraser threw the ball into the centre garden.

There was no further scoring until the sixth when Norman Holmes Jr. connected for a solid smash into centre which went by the fielders for a complete circuit clout, Jacobs was on the paths ahead of him. The scoring was completed in the eighth when Nesbitt singled and was scored by Bob Weitzel's clout.

The Red Sox go to Osoyoos for the final league game of the schedule and if they win will have cinched second place.

Estabrook, Pentiction base umpire, made three doubtful calls which aroused the ire of the fans.

of the general plan and facing Granville street. To the west will be the industrial arts, home economics and science laboratory section. The counsellors' rooms, and suite of offices will separate the western section, all single storey construction, from the two-storey central classroom unit.

Gym and Cafeteria

The gymnasium will be located partly behind and to the east of the classrooms and the final section on the east and facing Rosedale avenue will be the cafeteria auditorium, which includes a modern stage and facilities to serve approximately 400 students at lunch hour.

More complete details will be provided in later issues of The Review as the school board and council plans to submit a bylaw to the ratepayers take shape.

From present plans it will be an impressive structure but one which provides adequate facilities for teaching practical subjects such as industrial arts, home economics, stenography, and other allied subjects which are hampered now because of lack of facilities.

If the educational department consents to its share of the costs, then the school board will seek council action on a bylaw to the ratepayers probably at the next regular council session on July 26, if not before at a special meeting.

ASK BOARD

Continued from Page 1 through to Penticton where it is loaded on a truck and brought back up the valley on the route through to Kelowna.

This service is satisfactory except for the winter months when the train arrivals are delayed considerably, it is pointed out.

One of the chief drawbacks to the scheme will be that the KVR station will probably continue to be named West Summerland and there may be delays in delivery of freight and express which, if marked just Summerland, would automatically arrive at the lakeshore CPR station, it will be pointed out on Tuesday.

There is a delivery charge at present on all express and freight which arrives at the lakeshore CPR station and must be delivered to the upper town area.

A majority of the trade board executive has approved the plan as suggested, although several members did not vote either way, it is stated.

President in Favor

J. E. O'Mahony, president of the trade board, has long been an exponent of the plan to eliminate the confusion which exists in the minds of persons not well acquainted with the district in the fact that the names Summerland and West Summerland indicate two separate towns, whereas they are both part of one common area, the Municipality of Summerland.

The trade board executive considered this subject such a vital one that it decided to call a special general meeting of the board, despite the fact that general meetings are seldom called in July or August.

At the June 28 meeting of the council, President O'Mahony and Vice-president J. R. Armstrong presented the trade board executive views and obtained an assurance from the council members that they would support such a plan to the postal authorities if the trade board would write a letter.

No action was taken by the executive, such a letter being forthcoming only if the general membership gives approval.

Board of Trade Favors Combining Post Offices Under One Common Name

With a majority of more than twenty, the Summerland Board of Trade went on record Tuesday evening at a special meeting in the IOOF hall as being in favor of an executive plan to recommend to the post office department that operation of the two post offices in Summerland municipality be combined under the one common name of Summerland.

About thirty-five members attended, and six voted against the resolution. Several non members, but interested citizens, attended the meeting but, of course, could not take part in the vote.

It is the trade board plan that the incoming coast mail would be dropped at the West Summerland CPR station and brought down to a central post office, named Summerland, where it would be sorted for rural route, the lower town post office and those obtaining their mail from the post office now known as West Summerland.

Under this method, the trade board considered that the name West Summerland could be eliminated, and the entire district would be known, from a post office standpoint, as Summerland.

Main opposition came from Reeve R. A. Johnston and J. W. Mitchell, CPR station agents here, while George Perry warned against the move and several other speakers cautioned that there would be confusion in freight and express delivery here.

Discussion lasted about an hour. The meeting adjourned immediately after the vote which carried about 27 to 6.

The board of trade will now draft a communication along these lines to the postal authorities, with a copy to the municipal council for its endorsement. While Reeve Johnston was absent, the board of trade was assured by the council of its backing in the proposal.

President J. E. O'Mahony presented his and his executive's views on the subject at the outset of the session, which was a special meeting called for purpose of discussing this proposal only.

"Summerland municipality is being divided into two towns, to the detriment of the municipality as a whole," the president claimed. Now there is an opportunity to consolidate the community under one name due to "unfortunate circumstances," he continued, referring to the death of the late Thomas Hickey, postmaster at Summerland, whose position has not been filled.

"We would be doing a great thing for Summerland if we get under one name," he continued, pointing out that the board executive had had a sympathetic hearing recently from a visiting postal inspector. Explains Proposal

He explained that coast mail should be taken off the train at the CPR West Summerland station and brought to the present West Summerland office. It would all be addressed to Summerland and could be sorted here and delivered to the other post office as required.

In this manner, the 24-hour delay because of wrongly-addressed mail would be circumvented, he believed.

Mr. O'Mahony stressed the loss of prestige suffered by this district in being divided under two names. "We are divided into two villages instead of being incorporated into one good-sized town."

Reeve Johnston then asked what encouragement the board had received in its suggestion that the mail be taken off the eastbound train here.

Mr. O'Mahony replied that the postal inspector had had no authority to commit the department.

West Summerland Postmaster Ross McLachlan asked how many extra trips between post offices would be necessary under the proposed scheme, to which President O'Mahony replied that this would be a matter for the postal authorities to work out but that the inspector had agreed that an improved service between the two should be inaugurated.

Queried about the rural route, Mr. O'Mahony replied that this would also be a matter for the postal authorities to decide but it

Name Fruit Board Member Tomorrow

E. C. Fruit Board will select its third member, to replace the late Percy French of Vernon, tomorrow, according to advice received from G. A. Barrat, chairman of the board.

The B.C. Fruit Board has the power to replace any person who dies or resigns from membership without calling a special meeting of growers or seeking a further election.

As Mr. French was representative of the north part of the Okanagan it is anticipated that another North Okanagan man will be chosen. The name of James Goldie, well-known Okanagan Centre fruit grower has been rumored as the likely choice as candidate.

Along with Mr. Barrat of Kelowna on the board is Mr. A. G. DesBrisay, of Penticton, representing the southern growers. He is also president of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., the grower-owned and controlled company which operates the processing plants.

Cancer Clinic For Penticton This Autumn

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony who returned last Friday morning from an executive meeting of the B.C. branch of the Canadian Cancer Society reports a very interesting and productive meeting.

It was decided to establish three diagnostic, pathologic and consultant clinics in the interior this fall. They will be situated at Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon. These larger centres have indicated places to house patients and facilities for such clinics.

It was not determined at the July meeting whether mobile clinics will be held, but plans are forming to undertake this sort of service.

A doctor will be obtained by the society at a salary of $9000 per year who will visit throughout the province once or twice a year to consult with local doctors. This doctor will be an executive director of the society and will report back to headquarters regarding his findings.

A sum of $50,000 was voted to be given to the Medical Research Institute for a laboratory to further cancer research. "This type of building is very much needed to carry on investigations and will be built as soon as possible, and is all part of the national service which the Cancer Society is establishing throughout the dominion, Mrs. O'Mahony reports.

Late Mrs. F. A. Bleasdale Brought Family From England 26 Years Ago

A respected and well-known mother of eight who brought her young family to Summerland twenty-six years ago and raised them to take prominent positions in the community, Mrs. Frances Annie Bleasdale, passed quietly away early Friday morning, July 15, aged 68.

Although she had been in ill health for some time, the deceased woman had recently returned from a trip to Vancouver and had appeared to be improved. Her passing came as a shock to her wide circle of friends.

Born in Cockermouth, Cumberland, England, Mrs. Bleasdale was predeceased in 1923 by her husband, who was manager of the West Cumberland Times of Cockermouth.

The following year she brought her family to Summerland, where her brother, Harry Thornthwaite, had established his home. Two sisters, the late Mrs. Syd Sharp and the late Mrs. Mollie Smith, both resided in Summerland.

In her quarter century of life in this district, the late Mrs. Bleasdale took an extremely active part in Legion W.A. circles. Her fancy-work won high praise and was coveted on many occasions when she donated special work to be raffled or auctioned in aid of worthy charities.

She was also an active worker in United church circles here.

Mr. Harry Thornthwaite is the only surviving brother of a family of five girls and two boys. She leaves five sons and two daughters, Jim in Alabama, Walter, Charles J. and Robert in Summerland and Fred in Westbank; Mrs. Percy Thompson and Mrs. Leslie Gould, both Summerland residents.

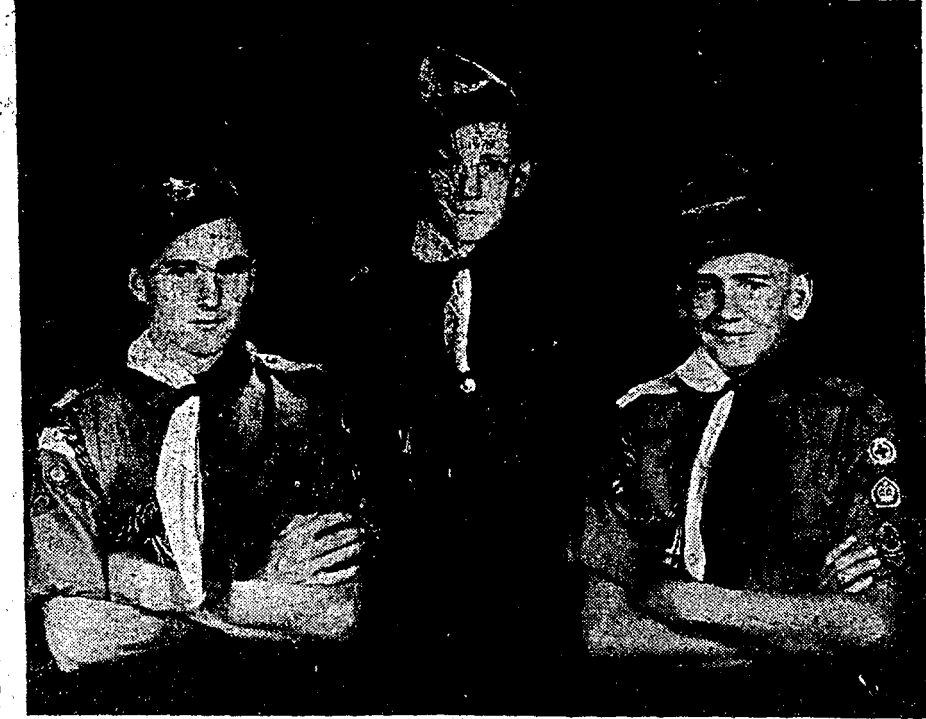

A third daughter, Mary, passed away shortly after the family came to Summerland from England.

Funeral services were conducted from St. Andrew's United church on Saturday afternoon, July 16, at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiating. Interment was in Peach Orchard cemetery with Summerland Funeral Home in charge.

Pallbearers consisted of Messrs. Harvey Wilson, Harold Smith, Harry C. Howie, Rae Fredrickson, James Clark and Joe McLachlan.

Members of the Legion Auxiliary carried a beautiful array of flowers from the church, the extent of the floral tributes indicating the esteem in which the late Mrs. Bleasdale was held in the community.

Three Brothers Attend Jamboree at Ottawa

It is believed that this is a record as no other centre in Canada can boast "three in one family" attending this Jamboree. All three boys are First-Class Scouts and all three own Grade A all-round proficiency badge cords. In addition, Gordon and Glen are the proud possessors of King Scout badges.

Gordon, age 15, is Patrol Leader of the Eagle patrol; Glen, age 14, is Second in the Hawk patrol, and Leslie, age 14, is a member of the Beaver patrol.

Mr. and Mrs. Younghusband of Summerland also have two younger sons and a daughter.

Eight Sons and Daughters Gather Here For Parents' Golden Wedding Anniversary

With all their children and many other relatives gathered from many parts of Canada and the United States gathered together for the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Arby Emery, Station Road, Summerland, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary here on Tuesday, July 19.

It was a happy day for the elderly couple, who have resided in Summerland since last year, as a large family party, augmented by other close friends, attended a picnic dinner at Powell Beach at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The gathering spent the day at the beach and a tea was served later in the afternoon.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Emery were born in Iowa and were married at O'Neill, Holt County, Nebraska on July 19, 1899. Mr. Emery operated a hay and cattle ranch in that western State for many years before coming to southern Alberta in 1911.

Another decade in their lives was spent in the vicinity of Champion, Alta., before they moved farther west in 1923 to Westbridge, B.C.

Last year, they left their West Kootenay home and moved to Summerland, where they have taken up permanent residence.

Mr. Emery is hale and hearty at 69 and Mrs. Ada Emery is enjoying good health at 76. Both principals were highly delighted that all their eight sons and daughters were able to come to Summerland for this big occasion in their lives.

From High River and Stavelly, Alta., came their two sons Glen and Clarence.

A daughter, Mrs. Ina Taylor and her son arrived, this week from Vancouver. Mrs. Taylor's daughter, Mrs. Louise White of London, Ont., also came here with her daughter, the Emerys' only great grandchild.

Another daughter, Mrs. Clara Nelson, arrived from Beaverdell. Fred Emery, the third son, is resident in Summerland, while Fern Emery, section foreman at Lois, arrived with his wife and child.

From Clapperton, B.C., came another daughter, Mrs. Myrel Johnson, with Mr. Johnson and their four sons.

From farther afield, North Portal, Sask., came the fourth daughter, Mrs. Hazel Loos and her four sons.

Ten grandchildren and one great grandchild were present besides the eight sons and daughters.

Mrs. Ada Emery's brother, J. H. Emery of Kendrick, Idaho, and her two sisters, Mrs. Glee Pierce and Mrs. Irene Engle, both of Spokane, Wash., drove north for the happy occasion.

Besides immediate relatives, friends attending the anniversary included Mrs. M. McCutcheon of Westbridge, B.C., Mrs. Ellen Sodequist and Mr. and Mrs. A. Gronlund of Summerland.

Seven Vehicles Involved In Highway Accidents Here Over Last Week-end

Seven vehicles were involved in smashups on Okanagan Highway No. 5 and municipal roads last weekend in the worst series of traffic mishaps in the history of the district. Fortunately, only one person was injured to any extent, although the damage to vehicles was extremely extensive.

Out of four accidents, only one charge has arisen, Mrs. Isobel O. Spiller, of Kelowna being charged by B.C. Police Constable Thorsteinson with failing to allow half the roadway.

This charge arose out of a spectacular three-car accident about six miles north of Summerland on the provincial highway Friday evening. Mrs. Cornelius Martens of RR1 Matsqui was confined to hospital with two broken ankles, and suffering from severe shock, as a result of this crash.

On Saturday night, a motorcycle turned over at the bottom of Peach Orchard and took out a cluster of mail boxes. Sunday afternoon, a car and a Greyhound bus collided at the corner of Pender and Jubilee. Late Sunday evening, a car with two passengers, dropped twenty feet over the bank at the bottom of Peach Orchard hill. Neither passenger was injured.

It was about 7:30 o'clock Friday evening when the car driven north by Mrs. Isobel O. Spiller of Kelowna rounded the sharp corner just north of the government gravel pile six miles north of Summerland and collided head on with the southbound auto driven by Cornelius I. Martens of RR1 Matsqui and containing Mrs. Martens and their daughter Elvina.

Close behind the Martens car was a light delivery truck, owned by Butt & Bowes of Vancouver and driven by Archie O. McCordale of 273 Maple St., Penticton. The light delivery could not be stopped in time and connected with the rear of the Martens car, damaging one fender. Driver escaped injury.

The Martens' car, a 1947 coach, is practically a total wreck as a result of this accident, while the Spiller auto was also badly damaged.

Mrs. Spiller was taken to Kelowna General hospital by a passing Californian. It was feared that she had suffered internal injuries, but was later released when it was found that she had suffered bruises only.

Other occupants of her car were Mr. M. Head, a recent arrival from England, and two children, Aivan and Olive Spiller. Mr. Head and one of the youngsters suffered head, face and arm cuts and bruises none of which was serious.

Mr. Martens and his daughter were not injured but Mrs. Martens is still confined to Summerland hospital suffering from two broken ankles and shock.

Both Dr. W. H. E. Munn and Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh were summoned to the scene of the accident to treat the injured persons.

Motorcycle Crashed - On Saturday evening, three motorcycles were proceeding north from Penticton and approaching the Peach Orchard hill when one of the vehicles, driven by Ben Mathers of Penticton and having as a passenger Margaret Severson of the same city, went out of control, hit soft gravel at the side of the highway and careened into the brush, knocking down the mail boxes.

Neither driver nor passenger was hurt as they were thrown clear. It was claimed that the gas feed on the motorbike became stuck and forced the machine out of control.

The motorcycle cavalcade was able to proceed on its way north. A slight accident occurred at the corner of Jubilee and Pender at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon between the Greyhound bus, driven by Herbert G. Bohn of Penticton and a car driven by Robert W. Henderson of Summerland.

The bus was turning right onto Jubilee and Mr. Henderson was proceeding west on that street, the latter's fender connecting with the bigger vehicle.

There was little damage to the bus, but the one fender on the Hon-

Service Clubs Will Gather For Picnics

Several hundred service club members and their wives from many parts of the southern interior will converge on Summerland on Sunday to enjoy the beauties of the district and especially those at the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland.

Gyro clubs from Kelowna, Penticton, Osoyoos and Keremeos have issued invitations to their members and Gyrettes to attend an annual picnic at the experimental station Sunday afternoon. It is anticipated that at least two hundred visitors will attend.

The same day, Kiwanis club members and their wives from the Kelowna, Penticton and Summerland clubs will gather at the experimental station beach for the inauguration of an annual softball tournament and picnic get-together.

The Kiwanians had hoped to go to the experimental station for part of the function but will be confining their activities to the beachfront.

Dude Ranch is Planned Here

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christmas of Selma Park, B.C., have bought 1140 acres of land from the Jas. Ritchie estate. The property starts just below Garnet Valley dam and extends in a large area to the east. They have water rights on Garnet Valley dam and have several boats for rent now.

At present they are living in the cabin north of the dam and Mr. Christmas is doing some logging on the place, but their intention is to start a Dude Ranch there.

For the winter months Mrs. Christmas and their two children will move to Peach Orchard so that the children can attend school.

Mrs. Christmas is Mr. Max McKechno's sister.

SUPPORT YOUTH CENTRE

At their weekly dinner meeting in the Nu-Way Annex Summerland Kiwanis club went on record as being ready to support the new Summerland Youth Centre to the utmost of its ability.

Biggest Cherry Crop in History Concludes With 386 Cars Shipped

Biggest cherry crop in the history of B.C.'s interior has now been shipped to market except for the final loading in Creston and Nelson area. With a fairly good quality sustained throughout and with little rain to start splitting, the crop exceeded estimates more than twenty percent.

Up to last night 386 cars of cherries were shipped from the Okanagan and Kootenay points, mainly to the fresh fruit market.

The Okanagan is now cleaned of cherries after a hectic packing season when the fruit came in a rush to the packinghouses. For the most part quality was good, although there will be some blow-bots from cars which went out at the end of the season, A. K. Loyd, B.C. Tree Fruits general manager, declares.

With the exception of a "dip" in the middle of the deal when supplies were at their height prices were fairly well maintained, he states.

Last week 280 cars, mainly cherries, vegetables and some early apples left the Okanagan to bring the total to July 18 to 721. This is higher than even 1947, which showed 684 cars at that date and last year only 280 cars had gone out on the same date.

Demand is right on the fresh fruit market for apples and they should be in full swing next week, it is thought. Some early peaches are coming in but ten days will elapse before Rochester are in full swing. A few plums are being handled by the sales agency.

Mr. Loyd states that demand for apples is also keen and that early Duchesne will start to move next Monday.

Peach Orchard Hill Signs

IN THE past two weeks, three more accidents have occurred at the bottom of Peach Orchard hill, where a sharp curve changes the course of Okanagan Highway No. 5.

None of these accidents involved more than one motor vehicle at a time, and two of the three accidents were the result, mainly, of the drivers not being warned in time that a sharp corner was right ahead.

Time after time the traffic safety committee of the board of trade has urged that proper signs be erected at this dangerous corner. How many times this suggestion has gone forward to the public works department is not known at time of writing, but it is known that the Kelowna office has been told on numerous occasions that some drastic action must be taken.

Accidents of the type recently occurring at the bottom of Peach Orchard would indicate one of two things, and both are relevant.

One is that motorists are travelling at too high a rate of speed to negotiate the turn properly.

The other is that the warning signs are not sufficient to give the travellers who have never been over the highway before an opportunity to check their speed and take the corner in a proper manner.

There is a sign on the south side of the corner indicating the turn, but it is placed too close to the actual corner and is not predominant enough. Going south down the hill there is no sign at all.

We believe that the "checkerboard" type signs should be adopted for this hill. We also believe that the public works department should be forced to erect these signs with all possible speed so that further loss of property and possible risk of limb can be averted to the fullest possible degree.

The public works department has been notified of the need. On the shoulders of the officials in charge lies part of the blame if further accidents occur, which might have been averted if motorists were given proper warning.

The Story of a Hardware Man

THERE are a lot of people who will disagree with us, but we are firm in our belief that the person who makes his living in the community should support the businessmen who are endeavoring to serve him and help build up the community into a better place in which to live.

Of course, there are times when one just cannot get certain items even in a business district as extensive as Summerland. They must be obtained elsewhere because there is not sufficient call for the item to warrant the storekeeper keeping a plentiful supply in stock.

On the other hand, the shopkeeper who does not attempt to supply the main needs of his customers in the line of goods which he is exclusively carrying is just as guilty of a misdemeanor as the person who is always going to the larger centre or the mail order house just because the glitter of a larger display attracts him.

An illustration of mail order buying was recently revealed in the Rossland Miner and the story is so timely that we hasten to reveal it. It comes from the proprietor of a small town hardware store.

A farmer came in one day to buy an axe. After looking over the merchant's stock he found an axe that suited his purpose and asked the price. When the merchant told him the farmer staggered a bit and claimed that he could purchase the same identical dod-blasted axe six-bits cheaper from a mail-order catalogue.

The merchant thought for a moment and then offered to sell the axe at the mail-order price, for cash. His customer snapped up the offer and dug down in his jeans to smack the money down on the counter.

"That's 11c more," said the merchant, "Seven cents for the money order you would have sent, and four cents for the stamp."

Muttering something about "niggardly storekeepers," the farmer coughed up another 11 cents, which was rung up on the cash register. The merchant thanked him and bid him good-day as he went to wait on another customer.

"Hey," yelled the farmer. "You forgot to give me my axe."

The hardware man blinked a minute and then explained patiently: "I can't give it to you now. You'd have to wait two weeks to get it from the mail-order house. Come back in a fortnight."

After the farmer had been subdued by a couple of other customers, who feared for the hardware man's life, the merchant explained that one of the reasons his prices were higher was because he offered his people a service and convenience the mail order firm could not offer. "It has cost me something to keep that axe in the store, waiting for you to come and buy it. What is that service worth to you?" he asked.

"Six-bits," said the chastened farmer, handing over the money.

Signifying Nothing

By RUSTICUS

The other day I ended some ponderous statement with a clinching "That's a sure thing," and a seventy-year-old youngster promptly took me up with,

"Say, you're away out of date. People don't say that any more; the latest expression, which everybody but you is using, is 'That's for sure!'"

What a blow that was. One of the surest signs of growing old, though I omitted it from my list a few weeks ago, is losing interest in current slang. When you drop behind the parade of popular expressions, brother, you know you've had it; you're as dated as the sister whose skirt still has the old look. (Wonder if the kilts of Highland regiments have the New Look yet?)

Funny stuff, slang — "funny queer," I mean. Remember when that expression was on everybody's tongue? Like popular songs, slang lasts only so long, then is abruptly forgotten; a dentist friend of mine calls both "temporary filling for cavities in the mind." So that as it may, it gives one an odd feeling to look back on slang over the years. Why, there was a time before World War I when no sophisticated person failed to say as often as possible,

"Skiddoo for you," or "23's your number." Why 23 and not 24, to make the even two dozen, I could never understand; but "skiddoo," and likewise "skeddadle," were good expressions for "go away." Then came "beat it," with the story of the man, accused of stealing a rug, who explained indignantly, "Well, when I asked the lady for a job, she told me to take this rug and beat it, and that's what I did."

There has been a long succession of words for begone. Also for a stupid person; I can think of boob, sap, dumb cluck, drip, droop, goon, heel . . .

Often slang seems more expressive than ordinary correct speech. "Scram" seems much more peremptory than "go away." "Sprag," used for a beginner in the RAF, is another good one, short and expressive.

Of course, that other word for a greenhorn, "Cheechako," is good too, and though out of date now, may be worth perpetuating, for it is part of British Columbia's own special slang, Chinook, that peculiar third tongue spoken by both whites and Indians without being the proper language of either. At one time everybody in the Okanagan was familiar with this peculiar language; now if you say "Klahowya tillicum" to any but an old timer, he thinks you're squirrel bait for sure.

Probably the biggest contribution of slang to the language in recent years has come from the jitterbug fans; you'll have to get details from some rug-cutter, though they tell me that that too has had its day.

That's the trouble with slang; expressions which were vivid and good when they were newly coined become worn to boredom so soon. Everybody tries to use them on every possible occasion, parroting the popular phrase instead of trying to think of anything better. Soon they become meaningless from over-use, and a new slang expression has to be coined, only to be pounced upon soon after birth, and worried to death in the same way.

Lucky the boy or girl, man or woman, who keeps abreast of current slang, enjoying its savour while it is still fresh and bright, but knows enough to discard it when it wears too thin and can fall back at will on the solid accuracy of sound English when he really wants to describe a person, thing, or situation to make others see it too.

years, Mr. Frederick Brent, father of Joseph and William Brent, passed away on June 14 at Altnhelm, Oakland, Cal. He erected the first flour mill in the interior and first settled in Okanagan Mission district in 1868.

Miss Florence Muriel Banks of Vancouver will be the teacher of the new junior department in the central school.

Members of St. Andrew's church realized their minister, Rev. W. H. Bates, needed a holiday. So they made a whip-around and presented him with a cheque for $150 on the eve of his departure for Vancouver.

Mr. Theo Herman, "Our Tailor", has opened a tailoring business in his new home.

Further assurance that visitors are always welcome at the experimental station comes with the announcement that a log house as a visitors' shelter is to be erected.

Gordon Robertson returned recently from service in the army. Pte. J. Tullett reached Halifax on July 8. Hilton Snider has returned from overseas and has rejoined the Fruit Union, and James Mitchell is back from overseas.

Campbell McAlpine was recently awarded second prize in an essay contest conducted by a Vancouver daily. He received a silver cup and $3 cash.

Lieut. A. W. Vanderburgh arrived in Montreal from overseas on Thursday. He will visit in Ontario before returning to Summerland.

Elimination of crosspaths in the Peach Orchard cemetery would provide 20 to 24 new plots in the upper section alone and would delay the opening up of a new section of the graveyard, Councillor Eric Tait reported to the council last week.

Councillor Tait, Foreman E. Kercher and a representative of the Summerland Cemetery committee will inspect the cemetery in the near future to consider further this suggested change. Council agreed that the crosspaths are unnecessary and that it would be a desirable move.

Peachland is Concerned Over Timber Sale

Three companies are reported to be seeking a valuable stand of spruce in the vicinity of headwaters of both Summerland and Peachland water supplies. One of these concerns is the Summerland Box Co.

According to Councillor C. E. Bentley, who reported at last week's council session, the Peachland Irrigation District is becoming concerned with the future lumbering operations, fearing that the denuding of the hills will cause a more rapid runoff and Peachland's water supply will be jeopardized.

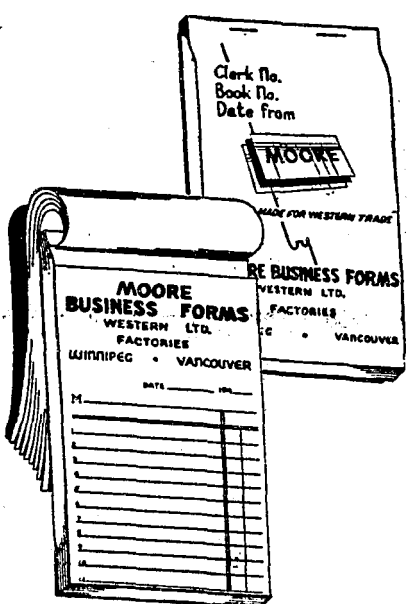

Mr. Hamish MacNeill, of Peachland recently sought Summerland support in his attempt to prevent any move on the part of forestry officials to grant timber removal permits for this district.

Asked concerning Summerland's stand on the question Water Foreman E. Kercher declared that he could not truthfully state that Summerland would be affected by the move, as No. 1 dam draws most of its supply from points apart from Peachland's main sources, although they are in the same vicinity.

"I am certainly in sympathy with the Peachland position but I doubt if we have any strong argument against the logging operations," was Mr. Kercher's statement.

However, Mr. Kercher will be going into headwaters area with forestry and Peachland officials and hold a watching brief for Summerland's interests.

Ascorbic Acid Overcomes Tendency Of Browning in Freezing Peaches

(Experimental Farms News)

Several thousand housewives in Western Canada have suffered losses in frozen peaches as a result of browning of the fruit. They purchased top quality fruit at a fancy price and prepared it for quick freezing expecting to serve at some later date an attractive dessert which had all the color, aroma and flavor of the fresh peach.

Instead, the frozen product had become a dark brown and exhibited anything but a sense of attractiveness.

The two questions which immediately arise are, "What happened?" and "Can the browning be prevented?" The answer to the latter is "Yes."

The actual browning is caused by a group of minute chemical substances in the fruit known as enzymes which cause a change in color of the catechol-tannins when the fruit is exposed to the oxygen of the air, says A. L. Shewfelt, Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Man.

Some varieties of peaches are now being developed which are practically devoid of enzyme activity and thus do not brown readily when exposed to air. A notable example is the new variety Sunbeam.

The more widely known varieties such as Elbertas, Vedette, Valiant and Veteran have browning tendencies which can be overcome by exercising suitable handling procedures and by adding ascorbic acid to the syrup used for freezing.

A 1-ounce bottle of pure ascorbic acid is sufficient for about 150 pints of product. If the local locker plant operator does not handle ascorbic acid it may be obtained from any drug store.

A sugar syrup is first prepared by heating together two parts of sugar and three parts of water by weight. A quantity of this syrup may be prepared, filled into glass jars and held in the refrigerator or a cool place up to one month.

Before the jars are sealed and while the syrup is still hot, the ascorbic acid is added at the rate of 1/2 level teaspoon per quart of syrup.

After peeling the fruit, it should be sliced immediately into the syrup or else steps taken to cover the slices with syrup as soon as possible. The usual precautions should be observed to remove as much of the air from the package as possible before sealing and to transport the product to the freezer with a minimum of delay. The product should be thawed in the package for the most part as long exposure to air will nullify the anti-browning effects of the ascorbic acid. Correct handling and treatment of frozen peaches can assure one of the finest of frozen products.

Seeks Price on Traffic Signal

Without any previous warning, Reeve R. A. Johnston dropped a mild bombshell into the council discussion on Tuesday, July 12, when he queried Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber regarding the cost of installing a traffic signal at the corner of Granville and Hastings.

However, Mr. Thornber must have been forewarned as he immediately quoted a cost of $662 for an automatic signal, operating for three traffic flows.

There was no discussion when the council heard the price, it being decided to leave the question of such an installation "for the time being."

Teen Town

Hail to our new Mayor, David Wright. In case any of you kids have been hearing rumors that David Wright is the new mayor of Teen Town, believe them because for once the rumor is true. David was elected at the last Teen Town council meeting, and I am sure that we couldn't have got a better one.

Mary Ward was elected deputy mayor. And on behalf of all the Teenagers of Summerland I would like to thank Jack Dunham for the wonderful job he did as Teen Town mayor for the past year and a half. Thank you Jack, it was swell!

The council was rather disappointed at the turnout for the dance last Saturday night. It looked rather like a flash back of the winter dances. Also, remember that the dance starts at nine o'clock not somewhere between quarter to and quarter past eleven.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the silver tray to Joe and Doris McLachlan inscribed "To Joe and Doris from Teen Town."

All the news I dish out about dances, lawn parties, etc., is entirely unofficial so please don't get too mad if the events are not held. But I am pretty sure that next Saturday night Teen Town will be holding a beach party at Powell Beach. Transportation will be provided, so watch the posters that will be put up around town.

BOARD OF TRADE

would probably be logical, under the suggested setup, for the rural route to emanate from the upper post office.

The question of confusion of freight and express deliveries to the business district was then introduced by both Reeve Johnston and J. W. Mitchell.

It was pointed out that such traffic, if addressed "Summerland" would automatically go to the lower town CPR office where persons in the West Summerland area would have to pay extra delivery charges.

Councillor C. E. Bentley then spoke as a strong advocate of the proposed change. "People wonder what we are doing here," he declared and stressed that all organizations are prefixed with the name "Summerland" and yet their address is West Summerland.

He pointed out that in any directory, except the Summerland telephone book, Summerland and West Summerland are divided and indicate two widely separated places. "It's a silly situation," he argued.

He suggested also that a three-cent postal rate between the two post offices might result but Mr. Ross McLachlan declared that would come about only if one post office was designated a sub-office.

To this, Mr. Lacey Fisher pointed out that the three-cent rate applies between West Vancouver and Vancouver.

Alf McLachlan asked that if there are any real objections to the plan, especially by the railways, then the meeting should learn about them.

Reeve Johnston replied that he was not representing the CPR but was speaking as a private citizen.

Smartest Move
"This is one of the smartest moves ever brought before the citizens of Summerland," was the opinion of George Stoll.

W. M. Wright gave instances of the present confusion in mail service and resultant delays.

Ken Boothe wished to obtain more information as to the method which would be adopted to designate the railway stations. Reeve Johnston replied that railways seldom change the name of any station and he doubted if any change in the designation West Summerland would accrue at the present station.

"If you upset this appellation you will be years getting this thing straightened out," he prophesied. He instanced that Dog Lake had been changed to Skaha lake and yet had never been accepted by Penticton residents.

J. R. Armstrong replied to His Worship that Dog and Skaha are the same names and that the name

Skaha had always been the correct designation.

Alf McLachlan rose again to support the elimination of the confusion which exists between the two names. He believed that much business is lost to this district because of the confusion. "There are many reasons why we should make a real effort to rectify this situation," he thought.

Frank Daniels considered that the freight and express angle was being treated too lightly and believed that more confusion would result from the elimination of West Summerland.

Most business houses will designate the proper destination of express and freight shipments, Mr. Alan Calvert interjected.

W. R. Boyd felt that for a time there would be confusion because of the proposed change but it would rectify itself in time and he believed this should not be a deterrent if the scheme was considered in the best interest of the district in the long-run.

George Perry stated that there was no confusion now in receiving mail in his office. He feared that if one postal name was accepted, in time the lower town office would be done away with and that section put under rural route.

Several speakers disagreed with this sentiment, believing that the lower town post office is essential and would remain as such.

At this stage, J. R. Armstrong moved that the recommendation of the executive be accepted. Councillor C. E. Bentley seconded the motion and a standing vote was taken.

Free Methodist Youth Conference Held at Winfield

The first youth conference held by the Free Methodist churches of the Okanagan Valley was at Winfield July 11 - 16 and was a great success and very encouraging to those in charge of camp planning and administration.

Rev. and Mrs. Joseph James of Kamloops who are well known here were heads of the conference, and Miss Mary Hepler, B.C. child evangelistic field worker came from Vancouver to assist.

About 60 boys and girls aged from eight to sixteen inclusively attended from various valley centres.

Rev. W. S. Angell, pastor of the Free Methodist church at Summerland took a leading part, and young people from Summerland who enjoyed the conference were Bob and Marie Faasse, Beryl Moore, Connie and Judy Smith, Donald Graham, Tommy Gillespie, Hazel and Helen Miller, and Mervyn and Meade Seigrist.

Expects to Return To Valley Soon

Promising to come back just as soon as she can, Miss Elsie Weaver, an exchange kindergarten teacher who has been in Victoria from England through the past school year, left the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Elsey, whom she visited last week.

Arriving last summer on the Empress of Canada Miss Weaver has been delighted with things Canadian, and was trying enthusiastically to fill her time as fully as possible by seeing and learning ways in B.C.

She stopped over in Summerland on her way across Canada and to New York where she will sail for England on the Queen Elizabeth.

She is one of a family of ten, nine of whom are scholarship winners, and during the war she helped in the evacuation of children from the city to the country. She teaches underprivileged children in London.

ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gillard entertained at dinner last Wednesday evening when their guests were Reeve R. A. Johnston and Mr. J. W. Mitchell.

VISITING HERE

Mrs. Edith E. Garrett of Regina, Sask., has come to Summerland to visit her granddaughter, Mrs. Alan McCargar.

Picnic Luncheon For Legion W.A.

A very enjoyable time was spent on Thursday, July 16, by the ladies of the auxiliary to Legion branch 22 when, at the Trout Creek residence of Mrs. H. R. McLarty, they combined business with pleasure by having a picnic luncheon at 12:30 previous to the regular meeting.

As a surprise treat raspberries and ice cream were served to the guests.

Mrs. Packham of Edmonton was a welcome visitor, who had served in the forces during the World War I. She kindly watched the children at the beach while the members had their meeting.

The monthly overseas parcel draw was won by Mrs. J. A. Read, who will send it to a relative who contracted T.B. during this war.

Arrangements were made for the street carnival which will be held July 30 and which promises to be bigger and better than ever.

Meets Friends on Trip to Alaska

Miss Dorothy Britton came in by plane from Vancouver on Monday afternoon to spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Britton, following a ten-day cruise to Alaska.

In the northern city of Whitehorse she met Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Solly, who motored up over the Alcan Highway. At Ocean Falls Miss Britton was stopped on the street by a young man who turned out to be Richard Palmer, who is spending his summer vacation with Pacific Mills Ltd.

The entire cruise to Skagway and Whitehorse was in ideal weather, but a little variety was added when the plane came through the storm which struck the valley Monday afternoon. During the worst bumps passengers had seat belts fastened but landed safely at Penticton only a few minutes late.

ATTENDS SUMMER SCHOOL

Miss Joyce Elsey who has been teaching school in northern B.C. is attending summer school in Victoria and is expected to return to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Elsey about Aug. 6.

Rectory Gardens
Lovely Setting For Annual Party

At the end of a very hot day the beautiful rectory gardens were a surprisingly cool, welcoming spot for the annual garden party held by the Evening Branch of St. Stephen's W.A. The band played and family groups came with little girls in their party frocks and small boys with their hair particularly well combed.

Everyone enjoyed the relaxation and refreshments and the W.A. is establishing a pleasant tradition in this summer evening event.

As an innovation it was decided to measure the size of the feet of people who came, and admission of one cent per inch was charged. A prize was offered for anyone whose foot was fifteen inches in length but no one won the award.

Mrs. T. B. Lott was general convener for the successful and well-attended affair. In charge of refreshments were Mrs. B. T. Washington and Mrs. James Muirhead. Mrs. Eric Skinner and Mrs. H. O. Tavender arranged the needlework stall, and Mrs. Earle Wilson the home cooking. Mrs. Clarence Adams attended to the supply of cold drinks, and Miss Mildred Clark sold ice-cream. Mrs. Dewey Sanborn's candy stall was a popular place.

Mr. E. C. Bingham and Mr. C. J. Krause headed the games' committee

The lighted waterfall made a pleasing background to the beautiful garden, which itself was lighted with colored globes.

Summer School For R.C. Church

The Church of The Holy Child is holding its annual summer school for children in the church hall with Sister Andree and Sister Eugenia, Sisters of the Atonement from Greenwood as teachers.

The classes started on Monday, July 18 and will continue until Sunday, July 31.

About forty children the majority from Summerland and a few from Peachland are enrolled with classes from nine in the morning until three in the afternoon.

While in this district the Sisters are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCutcheon.

Surprise Party For Bride-Elect

Miss Mickey Matthews, popular member of last year's high school staff, who left the end of June for her home in Northern Ontario where her marriage takes place this month was given a surprise party at the home of Mrs. C. H. Elsey on Tuesday evening, June 28. Co-hostess with Mrs. Elsey was Mrs. Lacey Fisher.

Miss Matthews was surprised by a room full of friends who wished her much happiness in her new home and presented her with an electric coffee percolator as a permanent remembrance.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments to the guests who included Mrs. E. H. Bennett, Mrs. A. K. Macleod, Mrs. Durick, Mrs. Ted Beech, Mrs. J. Y. Towgood, Mrs. J. Mason, Mrs. Bertha Harvey, Mrs. Allan McKenzie, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Misses Marion Cartwright, Phyllis Hill, Elizabeth Theed, Ruth Nakamura, Mitchako Imayoshi, Isabel Campbell, Marion Campbell, Mary Vanderburgh and Marcia Harvey. Mrs. R. G. Russel and Mrs. Lorne Perry were unable to attend. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. David Hayward and Mrs. Wm. Baker of Kelowna.

NEW ARRIVALS

A baby son, who is to be called Robin, was born on July 15 to Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Agur at the Summerland hospital.

HOME AGAIN—

Miss Minnie Ritchie, and Miss Joanne Ritchie returned on Monday morning after spending a holiday at the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rumball have returned from a holiday in Calgary where they enjoyed seeing the Calgary Stampede.

COUNCIL DENIES LOADING GRAVEL

Mrs. Gordon McDougald claimed in letters to Road Foreman Les Gould and the council, read at the latter's session last week, that municipal gravel trucks had taken fill from her property without permission, and named July 4 as the date of the act.

Council was informed by Councillor Bentley that a close check had been made and it had been determined that municipal trucks were not involved. The council decided that no more gravel will be obtained from Mrs. McDougald's property.

Westbank Branch Has Full Status

On Monday, the Westbank sub-office of the Bank of Montreal acquired full-branch status with W. John D. Walker as manager. Sub-agency service is being provided Peachland on Tuesdays and Fridays and will be handled from the Westbank office, which will be closed for those two days each week.

Vernon Garden Lovers Come Here

More than forty members of the Vernon and District Horticultural Society chartered a special bus on Sunday, July 10 to travel to the Summerland experimental station for the annual picnic.

Nat May conducted the party on a tour of the gardens and the visitors had an opportunity to see many types of hybrid lilies, propagated at the station and now at peak bloom, as were the roses. Annuals were also reported as reaching their best bloom.

The Vernon enthusiastic nature lovers reported that spruce and other varieties of evergreen trees attracted special attention with their symmetry, variety and size. Another attraction noted with special interest was the collection of cacti in their natural setting of a desert scene.

To Improve Domestic Water Line By Replacing Pipe in Peach Orchard

Domestic and irrigation water problems confronted the council on Tuesday, July 12, and it is likely that definite action will be taken to meet difficulties, which have been occurring for many years.

Water Foreman E. Kercher reported that it would not be feasible to tap springs in Peach Orchard as the water does not respond to tests. As an alternative, to provide a more adequate domestic supply, he advocated replacing 750 feet of three-quarter and one-inch line from Vern Charles' property with 1 1/2-inch pipe.

This would not be the very best solution, but would provide a more adequate supply at a minimum of outlay, he thought. The program would cost about $800.

There would still be the problem of the flume through the cemetery which must be met sometime, he pointed out.

At the suggestion of Reeve Johnston, who was at the helm of council proceedings for the first time since his lengthy holiday, the council agreed to instruct Mr. Kercher to proceed with this new pipe installation.

For many years, growers along the front bench area in the vicinity of Betuzzi, Harvey Wilson, A. M. Temple, etc., have declared that there has not been sufficient pressure or water to take care of irrigating needs properly.

This section has been taking water from the domestic pipe line for orchard irrigation.

Councillor Wilson suggested that consideration should be given to installing a pipeline down from Giant's Head to serve the affected growers and to relieve the domestic water system, which cannot stand the additional load placed upon it.

Sometime ago the cost of this plan was estimated at $2,000, Councillor Bentley pointed out.

The scheme will be taken under advisement when the fall and winter program of irrigation and domestic water replacements and extensions is to be undertaken.

The Hilborn lake pump is to be started this week and orchardists in that area have agreed to operate the pump with occasional supervision from Foreman Kercher, Councillor Wilson reported.

Foreman Kercher reported on Tuesday that overflow from George Posthuma's irrigation seeps back to the municipal flume, causing it to overflow and seep into Gus Johnson's orchard. He was instructed to see that Mr. Posthuma took only sufficient water for his needs and was informed that B.C. Police Constable Thorsteinson would be sent along to see that his orders were enforced.

Suggests Closing Of Powell Beach For Thirty Days

"If we closed the beach for thirty days it would teach these people a lesson," emphatically declared His Worship Reeve Johnston at last week's council session when informed of the vandalism which has occurred this year at Powell Beach.

"But it's not only Summerland people involved," cautioned Councillor C. E. Bentley, who told of visitors from Penticton and other valley points who have held boisterous parties on the beach.

Councillor Eric Tait declared the need for a parks caretaker who would be employed the year round for parks and beaches and who could keep a watchful eye on the beaches in the summertime.

Mr. Magnus Tait, who kept an eye on the beach for the past two years, is unable to undertake this duty this year.

Over eighty cars were parked at one time at Powell Beach on Sunday, July 10, and created a parking problem.

It was considered essential that the road be extended by means of a fill to allow cars to get right through to the point.

In the congestion on Sunday, cars trespassed on the Sharpe orchard property, causing damage, it was stated. Mr. Sharpe recently removed his fence.

Council Told Where It Can Take its Pole Line — Maybe

Recently, the municipal council sought legal permission for a pole line right-of-way through Sandhill property registered in the name of A. H. Kiebel, now resident of Kelowna. This lot has been purchased by Percy Wilson but is still registered in Mr. Kiebel's name.

Mr. Kiebel, however, had a different idea. He claimed that the council kept him waiting a considerable length of time before agreeing to sell him the property and the wastage of time had cost him considerable money, not to mention inconvenience.

If Mr. Wilson was agreeable he would raise no objection, but he refused to sign his name to any documents until the council reimbursed him in the amount of $50 for delaying the original sale so long.

And then came the brightest note of all. Mr. Kiebel told the council that "if this doesn't agree with you, you can go around the place."

The council expected to be told to go somewhere else, but will now deal with Mr. Wilson or will take Mr. Kiebel's advice and circle the property with the pole line.

TAKING THREE-YEAR COURSE

Miss Noreen Anderberg of Sunburst, Montana, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Max McKechnie who is spending the summer with them, graduated from high school in Sunburst before coming here. In the fall she will go in residence at Haver College, Haver, Montana, where she will take a three-year course to train as a medical secretary, with a position guaranteed on graduation.

A. W. Moys Has Century on Rifle Range Sunday

One of the highest scores of the season was registered by A. W. Moys last Sunday at the rifle range in Garnet Valley, who scored a possible at 500 yards and made an even 100 on the three ranges. He heads the race for the gold button with George Dunsdon in second and Len Shannon in third place.

This Sunday, Summerland marksmen are travelling to Vernon where they will participate in an annual shoot.

Individual scores last Sunday were: George Dunsdon 99, Len Shannon 98, Art Dunsdon 97, Ed Gould 95, Fred Dunsdon and Doug Price 94, Phil Dunsdon 93, Ted Dunsdon and John Khalembach 91, H. Simpson and Mel Riha 87, D. Taylor 86, C. V. Nesbitt 84, B. T. Washington 82, J. M. McArthur and C. Lackey 79, H. Dunsdon 76, Joe McLachlan 71, W. C. W. Fosbery 69.

Tiny Lad Rescued After 18 Hours

VERNON—"He's coming out on a horse!"

These words, shouted down the hillside above Okanagan Lake, caused sigh after sigh of relief to be gasped joyfully about 12:45 p.m. Tuesday, July 12.

Little two and a half year old Mickey Funk had been found. One of the most intensive searches ever organized in the Vernon area had been successful after the small but wiry tot had been missing from his parents' camp for 18 hours.

E. W. "Ted" Grahame and Leon Irvine, searching the area on horseback, had heard the boy whimper and found him tangled up in some underbrush, near a slough about two miles from the camp site.

Provincial Police, civilians and Army Cadets had conducted a search on land, water and in the air without success since 6 p.m. Monday.

Jack Amm's Homer With Two On Takes Merchants to Finals

Jack Amm is the toast of the Summerland Merchants this week. The fleet-footed short stop lifted one of Henry Wostradowski's offerings into deep centre field Sunday afternoon at the Living Memorial athletic park for a circuit drive, scoring Vanderburgh and Brawner ahead of him to win the sudden-death playoff against Rutland Adanacs 9-7.

It was a grandstand finish to a game which was tense with thrills and which saw the score go back and forth between the two teams. The Merchants were trailing 7-6 when Amm blasted his mighty clout to win the ball game.

Although Amm gets the glory, he must yield some of the plaudits to George Taylor who kept Summerland in the game with two more circuit clouts in the early stages. Not only that, but Taylor played a whale of a game in the centre garden and blasted many Adanacs hopes.

In fact, apart from one error in judgment by Kuroda, the outfield turned in the best performance of the season, and such support was badly needed as the Adanacs were hitting Coffey with some regularity.

This Merchants' win sends them into the sudden-death playoff for the southern division championship of the Interior Baseball League. The boys go to Princeton next Sunday for this classic and the winner plays the northern division champs in a two out of three series.

Rutland Adanacs and the Merchants were tied for second place and had to play last Sunday's fixture to break the deadlock.

Rutland's team was handicapped by injuries to several important players but it was really a matter of coming through in the pinches which decided the contest.

The Adanacs collected eleven bingles off Coffey while the Merchants were picking a mere nine from Johnny Lingor, who lasted until the fifth frame, and then Hank Wostradowski.

Lingor yielded five and Wostradowski four, while both pitchers gave a base on balls.

Take Early Lead

It looked like a sad day for the Merchants when the Adanacs took a 3-0 lead in the first frame. Bu-lock, leadoff man, connected for a solid clout into left field and the stands groaned as Frank Kuroda ran in too far and the hard hit ball went sailing over his head for a home run.

Truitt then walked, went to second when Jackie Walsh dropped the ball, stole third and romped home on Wostradowski's long fly to centre. Then Brummet blooped one to the short outer garden where Walsh got his glove on the pill and failed to hold. He was scored by Lingor.

George Taylor led off in the second to connect with Lingor's delivery for a home run between left and right fields.

No other Merchants' batters reached first until the fourth frame when Taylor repeated his performance with a clout which was even mightier than his first.

Thompson then lined one hard at Lingor who got his glove on the ball and deflected it into his face. He dropped instantly and appeared to be knocked out but recovered soon and was able to continue on the mound. Vanderburgh's single scored Thompson but Brawner popped up.

That left the Merchants behind 3-2 but the Adanacs responded with a three-bagger by Auch who was scored on Bulock's long fly.

Merchants in Lead

But the Merchants took over the lead and chased Johnny Lingor from the mound in the last of the fifth. Amm started things when he drew a walk. Coffey was safe when Auch fumbled at short and Kuroda singled in Amm.

Thompson ran for Coffey and he was brought in from third on a perfect squeeze play, McCargar laying down the bunt. Walsh struck out but was safe at first when Andy Kitch missed the ball. Taylor got on the same way scoring Kuroda but Taylor was caught trying to steal second, the coaches not showing any co-ordination as Walsh did not move off third. Thompson filed out to end the rally and leave the Merchants ahead 6-4.

Back came the Adanacs in the seventh, however, when with two down Amm failed to throw fast enough to catch Bulock at first. The latter went to second on a passed ball, to third on a balk and was scored on Truitt's single.

That looked like a costly run which should never have been allowed by the infield.

In the eighth the Adanacs took command again when Lingor singled, stole second and came across on Andy Kitch's bingle. R. Mallack drove Kitch home to put the visitors out in front 7-6.

But the Merchants were far from licked and with one down Vanderburgh was safe on W. Mallack's error, Brawner singled and Amm drove home the winning runs.

Red Sox Will Start Playoffs This Sunday

In the final game of the junior league series, Summerland Red Sox performed according to routine and walloped fourth-place Osoyoos by a 13-1 count, to cinch second place in the league standings.

The southern league playoffs now commence with the Red Sox playing Osoyoos in a two out of three series, first game to be played at the Living Memorial athletic park next Sunday. Skaha Lake Chiefs, league leaders take on third-place Penitton Pirates in the other playoff section.

Ernie Jomori had no difficulty whipping the southern lads on their home grounds last Sunday as his teammates blasted Patt and Kellerman for thirteen hits and as many runs. The wiry little Japanese lad limited the Osoyoos boys to two hits and struck out eleven batters.

The Red Sox ran wild on the paths, stealing thirteen bases. Dunham being the biggest thief with five sacks to his credit.

The Red Sox went into an early lead with two runs in the first and another four in the second to set up the contest right there. A five-run spurge in the ninth wasn't really needed but fattened the boys' batting averages.

Kelly scored the lone Osoyoos counter in the fourth when he walked, was advanced on Dunham's miscue and was scored by Pelkey's single.

Sandy Jomori had a perfect day with the hickory when he drew a double, three singles and a walk in four official trips.

Tony Brummet is Signed by Scout For St. Louis

Tony Brummet, youthful Rutland catcher, who has appeared here on many occasions with the Adanacs and who played a major role with that team here on Sunday, may have an opportunity to reach the "big time".

Recently, at the St. Louis Browns baseball school, held at Kamloops, Brummet caught the eye of the Browns' chief scout and was signed to go to California next spring to try out as a catcher. All his expenses will be paid.

Brummet also was noted with interest by Bill Brenner and Bob Brown at the Vancouver Capilano's spring training school held at Penitton this year.

The young Adanacs' catcher impressed the Browns' scouts all the more as he was trying out despite a broken finger on his right hand.

MEANEST THIEF STEALS HEADS

In the heat of the summer months, when water is essential to the continued growth of tree fruits which are the livelihood of the orchardist, the meanest thief is he who steals sprinkler heads.

The Summerland district has been particularly free of such thefts but over the July 10 weekend reports were heard of several instances. Keith Elliott lost three sprinkler heads from his sprinkler system, the miscreants coming to his property armed with pipe wrenches to remove the valuable sprinkler heads.

It is not always possible to obtain this equipment at a moment's notice and much valuable water could be lost through the delay, orchardists point out. Water at this time of the year is vital to the fruit crop.

KELOWNA—Taxpayers in the Orchard City will shortly be asked to ratify four money bylaws totaling $372,000.

"There is nothing we can do about it right now; we just have to wait for the new West Kootenay line."

Such was the council comment last week when informed that four motors had burned out in the Trout Creek area last week, allegedly due to low voltage.

Until such time as the new 60,000 kva high tension line is brought into West Summerland and the municipality can supply from the new substation back to the Trout Creek area, it is beyond the power of the municipality to control low voltage in that district, councillors stated.

Councillor Eric Tait declared he had not observed any evidence of low voltage in his section of Trout Creek.

ready shortly while another bylaw calls for a $120,000 electrical program and the fourth, $15,000 for a new residence for the aged.

It is also believed that a hospital bylaw may also be presented in the near future.

Turn Down Chance To Purchase Old Phone Line Truck

Summerland council was confronted with an opportunity last week to purchase a used 1938 Studebaker truck, used by that public utilities company for line repair and maintenance work, for $1,000.

It was stated that the engine would probably need an overhaul but the truck, although it had travelled 80,000 miles had never been used for any particularly heavy work.

Some councillors were in favor of taking a look at the old truck with a view to purchasing it to replace the present electrical department vehicle. Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber declared that maintenance costs on the present truck are mounting and new tires will soon have to be purchased.

"I'm not in favor of buying a 1938 truck. We have a junkyard full of old machinery now and I don't want to extend it," was the emphatic statement of Councillor C. E. Bentley.

Reeve, Johnston suggested that Councillor Bentley inspect the proffered truck but Councillor Bentley replied: "I'm prejudiced." "Okay, we won't touch it," replied His Worship and there the matter ended.

Miraculous Escape

Probably the most miraculous escape from serious injury occurred at 11 o'clock Sunday evening when Mr. and Mrs. W. H. W. Paget, of 114 Munroe avenue, St. James, Man., failed to negotiate the sharp corner at the bottom of Peach Orchard hill.

Their car turned over the bank, dropped some twenty feet and landed on its top. The rear of the vehicle was completely collapsed but the front section was not caved in to any extent and the two passengers thus escaped with minor bruises and shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Paget are missionaries who have speaking engagements in many widely scattered parts of this continent and they were extremely perturbed that their journey had been interrupted so unfortunately.

Asked how she was feeling after the accident, Mrs. Paget is quoted as saying: "I'm rather hysterical, but I don't really know why. After all, I spent two years in a Japanese prison camp during the war."

DON'T SELL YOUR BONDS IF YOU NEED QUICK CASH

Like hundreds of thousands of Canadian in recent years, you probably have bought a nest-egg of bonds for your future. But now you may need money to meet an emergency or opportunity, and the question is whether to sell those bonds.

James Muirhead, the Bank of Montreal's branch manager at West Summerland, strongly advises against it. "Bonds represent money you've already saved," he says. "If your proposition is sound, you can keep your nest-egg intact by simply borrowing against your bonds at the B of M. When you've repaid your loan in easy instalments, you'll still have your savings in reserve."

You'll be in good company if you take Mr. Muirhead's advice. Many thousands of people, he says, use their bonds to borrow at the B of M every year. The entire cost of a loan against Government Bonds is exceedingly small; indeed, it is little more than the interest you receive on the bonds themselves. — Advt.

A. J. Beer Talks To Kiwanians on Human Frailties

Human relationships, or the study of human differences as revealed in difficulties and compensations, was the topic of a short address to the Kiwanis Club of Summerland on Monday evening in the Nu-Way Annex by Mr. A. J. Beer, a former Summerland resident holidaying here from his California home.

Mr. Beer is on a year-long holiday tour of the North American continent but he still believes that the Okanagan, in its own way, is a beautiful country.

"I know of no place which is more beautiful in its own right than the Okanagan. It is a place which I have loved very sincerely," he declared.

Listing a number of the difficulties which beset human relationships, Mr. Beer declared that the differences in color and languages play a big part, as do the differences in educational standards and ideologies, history and adaptability.

But there are compensations in the world today which are tending to get over the differences in human relationships.

He listed transportation as one of the compensations, as faster modes of travel are throwing people, trees, animals and insects closer together. Faster communications are breaking down boundaries while inventions are playing a big part in bringing people closer together.

Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union Executive Apply for Strike Vote

Possibility that the fruit packing and canning industry may be tied up next month loomed today following a decision made by the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union (FVWU) last week-end to apply to the labor relations board at Victoria to take a strike vote among the 2,500 union members.

Reason for this action is said to be the result of a breakdown in negotiations with the Okanagan Federated Shippers' Association to agree with a decision of a conciliation board which recently held hearings in Kelowna.

On Sunday, the union executive met in Kelowna, W. H. Sands, union organizer, announcing that the executive decided unanimously to apply for the strike ballot.

If taken, the strike ballot will probably be held next week, and as Mr. Sands remarked on Monday: "In the event of a strike . . . which we have no desire . . . it is going to hit the grower."

There are eleven locals from Osoyoos to Vernon in the FVWU, the only recognized affiliation in Summerland district being among employees in the Cornwall Canning Co. None of the packing house employees here has joined the union.

Wages are not an issue in this dispute but union security, holidays with pay, hours of work and overtime and wage classifications are the main points in dispute, Mr. Sands states.

Following is the reported interview given out last week by Mr. Sands, in Vernon, prior to Sunday's executive decision:

Stephens Gives Viewpoint of Industry

L. R. Stephens, secretary of the industry labor negotiating committee issued a statement from Kelowna yesterday advising "that they have accepted all the recommendations of the conciliation board, with the exception of the one with reference to the union shop."

"This particular recommendation suggested a modified form of union shop, but the industry representatives felt that they had gone as far as this perishable industry should be asked to go when they granted the Rand Award three years ago.

"The Rand Award gives the unions a very large measure of security in that all employees are required to contribute to the union through the packinghouse the equivalent of union dues while they are working.

"The fruit industry representatives feel that it has been entirely fair with the union and has given them every encouragement, but the matter of enlisting membership for the union is a matter that should be left in union hands and not made a responsibility of the employer in the form of union shop," Mr. Stephens concluded.

Fire Brigade Discusses Its Future Plans

Reeve R. A. Johnston and Councillor C. E. Bentley met the Summerland fire brigade on Friday evening and had a round-table discussion on future plans of the brigade in lieu of the changed status now that the brigade covers the entire municipality under the guidance of the municipal council.

A copy of the Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade Assn. constitution was submitted to the local brigade members for study and it is expected that the latter will submit their thoughts on the local setup to the council at a later date.

Councillor Bentley also reported to the council on Tuesday that the reel on the new truck is not satisfactory and a horizontal-type reel will have to be substituted. The vertical reel now in use only allows 100 feet of hose, whereas 150 feet is needed.

The problem of the siren, once the dial system is in operation, is still to be met, but no decision will be made until the result of the situation in Armstrong is known. Armstrong has a similar problem confronting fire authorities with the institution of the dial system at the first of the week.

St. John First Aid Post Located At B & B Service Station on Highway

Location of a first aid post in the B. & B. Body Shop service station at the top of Peach Orchard is announced this week by the Summerland centre of the St. John Ambulance Assn.

A stretcher, blankets, bandages and other first aid equipment will be on hand at this post, primarily for highway accidents in the Summerland area. A 24-hour service will be available.

Also, a list of trained first aid men who are on call in case of emergencies will be posted at this service station.

This is a service which the local branch of the St. John group has been hoping to establish for some time.

Recently, lectures on first aid were concluded by Dr. F. W. Andrew and the class attendants received examinations conducted by Dr. W. H. E. Munn.

Those who were successful in passing first aid examinations and who received their awards this week were:

Certificates: S. R. Cannings, M. L. Embree, John Huva, G. F. Lewis, J. C. St. Denis, Mrs. Ella Willis, E. P. Willis, Mrs. I. B. Witherpoon.

Voucher: K. W. Broderick.

Labels: J. L. Brown, C. H. Donlako, H. Simpson, D. W. Tait, and B. T. Washington.

VERNON—The 11 locals of the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union (FVWU) in the Valley will each hold meetings this week to decide whether or not the union will make formal application to the labor relations board at Victoria for a strike vote.

Declaring "this is the only legal step we can now take," W. H. Sands, union organizer, of Kelowna, told The Vernon News in an interview last week that if the locals give the go ahead signal, application will be made about the first week in August. The decision is up to members of the 11 locals.

This action was taken following refusal by the Okanagan Federated Shippers' Association to agree to a decision of a conciliation board which recently held hearings in Kelowna.

Wages are not an issue in the dispute between the fruit and vegetable workers and the employers.

In the negotiations for a 1949 agreement, Dean Clement was appointed by the labor relations board to act as special conciliator and to conclude the industry wide agreement. He suggested a settlement which includes what the union describes as a "modified form of union security—not closed shop or union shop."

The union states this proposal was agreed to by the employees, but not by the shippers.

A conciliation board, consisting of W. R. McIntyre, of Victoria, chairman, E. J. Chambers, of Penticton, employers' representative, and Franklin Valair, of Vernon, union representative, was next appointed, and held hearings in Kelowna.

Included in this board's decision, say union officials, was a further modified form of union security. In explanation, Mr. Sands declared the modified plan handed down by the board was that all persons now members of the union must remain so and that all persons working six continuous months or more must become members.

Said Mr. Sands: "We accepted it, but the shippers turned it down."

Members of the industry's negotiating committee were reached and they advised that the industry was prepared to accept all the recommendations of the coalition board with the exception of the one with reference to union shop.

The spokesman said that although the recommendation of the conciliation board was a very modified form of union shop the industry negotiating committee felt it had already gone as far as the perishable commodity industry should be asked to go in the granting of the Rand Award and the check-off a few years ago.

The committee felt it was unreasonable for the union to ask for any further measure of union security.

The industry also felt that it had been entirely fair with the union and also that the matter of enlisting membership is a matter which should be left in the union's hands.

Two Vancouver Youths Are Sentenced to Hard Labor for Thefts From Groceteria Here

After an all-day session on Friday, Acting Magistrate G. A. McKay in Kelowna police court on Saturday sentenced two Vancouver youths to a total of 18 months' hard labor on charges of breaking and entering the Summerland Groceteria early in August, a year ago.

Edward E. Senger, aged 27, received one year hard labor and William Harrington, 20, will serve a six months' sentence.

Both men elected speedy trial on Thursday last and pleaded not guilty.

Sergeant R. B. McKay, in charge of the Kelowna detachment, B.C. Police, presented a lengthy prosecution list of witnesses in the case against Senger and Harrington. Previously, four Kelowna youths were implicated in the same case and received sentences ranging from six to three months.

Two of these convicted youths appeared as crown witnesses in the cases against the Vancouver ring-leaders of the breaking and entering the Summerland Groceteria and stealing cash and cheques valued at more than $4,000.

An earlier story on the conviction of the four Kelowna youths can be found on page 3.

Defence Counsel Tom Hurley of Vancouver was heard by the magistrate on Saturday morning.

Local Witnesses

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Rumball, of the Summerland Groceteria, Mr. Tom Charity and Mr. Frank Arnusch were witnesses from Summerland, while Mr. Howard Slingby of Osoyoos and Mr. R. D. Spencer, Bank of Montreal accountant in Vancouver and formerly on the local branch staff, were also summoned as witnesses.

According to evidence produced last week, the Vancouver youths were the ring-leaders in this crime wave, while the Kelowna men were stooges. Laviney was given three months in jail only, as he took no actual part in the breaking and entering but remained outside in the auto used by the men.

Start to String New Power Line

West Kootenay crews started on Tuesday morning to string the high tension line between Summerland and Penticton which will connect with the new stepdown station being erected in West Summerland on the Giant's Head road.

As a result, there is a complete power shutoff each morning from 4:30 on. Generally, it will not last past seven o'clock but yesterday morning no electrical power was available until eight o'clock.

It is anticipated that it will take two weeks for the West Kootenay to string this line, which will bring 60,000 kva power right into West Summerland and is expected to alleviate the shortage during the heavy industrial season each summer and fall.

Salmon Arm Man On Fruit Board

G. A. Barrat, chairman of the B.C. Fruit Board, announced last week-end that James G. Campbell of Salmon Arm has been appointed to succeed the late Percy French as the North Okanagan representative on the legislative body.

Mr. Campbell is a well-known fruit grower in the Salmon Arm district and has served the fruit industry well in the past few years. He is a BCFGA executive member and is a councillor for the Municipality of Salmon Arm. He was a former director of the Salmon Arm Farmers' Exchange.

McDowell New Grit President

C. J. McDowell, Vernon, defeated Liberal candidate in the Yale federal election on June 27, was named temporary president of the Yale Liberal Assn. at a special meeting held in Vernon on Monday evening.

He will hold office until the annual meeting, which will be held in September. Mrs. Dean, who had resigned in May as secretary consented to continue in her post until the annual meeting.

Reeve R. A. Johnston, president of the South Okanagan Liberal Assn. and Councillor H. L. Wilson were delegates from Summerland.

Estimates For New School Plant Approved at Cost Of $406,000 by Victoria

Estimates for Summerland's proposed junior-senior high school have been approved by the department of education in Victoria and the plans in general have also passed the government departments, subject to some minor changes.

These alterations have been made by the architect, William K. Noppe, Penticton, and have been forwarded to Victoria for alteration.

In total, the new school plant is estimated to cost $406,000. Half of this amount will be provided by the provincial government and the balance by the school district.

Summerland council is meeting tomorrow evening, with the school trustees, to pass formally the estimates and plans.

Then, the council must prepare a bylaw to submit to the ratepayers authorizing the raising of the municipality's share of the school building cost. It is hoped that this bylaw will be prepared in time to seek the voters' decision by the end of August.

The school trustees have prepared their bylaw but will probably wait until the municipal bylaw is ready before submitting the vote to the rural portion of the school district.

The estimates which have been approved at Victoria and which the council will consider tomorrow night are as follows:

Building	$340,000
Architect's fees	20,000
Equipment	46,000
Total	$406,000

The provincial government share will, therefore, be $203,000, leaving the school district to raise the same amount.

Rural portion must raise 6.16 percent or approximately $12,500. This leaves the municipality's share at 93.82 percent or about $190,500.

Besides ten classrooms, the new school plant includes a combined cafeteria-auditorium with stage, a gymnasium, manual arts and home economics rooms, science laboratory and library, besides administrative offices.

School trustees are now laying plans to present this project to various organizations in the community prior to the presentation of the bylaw.

Court Cases Arise From Road Crashes

Charge of failing to keep to the right-hand side of the road against Mrs. Isabel O. Spiller of Kelowna, which was to have come before Magistrate H. Sharman in Summerland court on Tuesday has been postponed until Friday.

This charge arises out of the sensational three-vehicle smashup on Okanagan highway six miles north, just past the gravel pit, when cars driven by Mrs. Spiller and Cornelius Martens of R.R. 1 Matsqui collided and a light delivery truck owned by Butt & Bowes, Vancouver, could not stop in time and rammed the Spiller vehicle.

Mrs. Martens was taken to Summerland hospital suffering two fractured ankles but is now recovering.

Another court case will be heard on Tuesday, August 2, by Magistrate H. Sharman when Joseph Lawrence, Vernon, will be charged with hit and run tactics.

This case also emanates from a collision about six miles north of Summerland, at approximately the same spot as the three-car smashup. Lawrence is alleged to be the driver of a light delivery which sideswiped a car driven by Eugene Campbell of Kamloops, and failed to stop following the accident.

This accident occurred on July 20, Campbell's car was proceeding north and the light delivery was travelling south.

C. W. Morrow, MLA for North Okanagan, will defend Lawrence. The case was to have been heard last Tuesday but was postponed until August 2 at request of defence counsel.

POST GRADUATE WORK

Miss Dee Hills, R.N., of the hospital staff is leaving Summerland at the end of the month to go to Vancouver where she will take a post-graduate course in surgery at St. Paul's hospital.

Carnival on Granville Street Saturday Night

This Saturday, Granville street from Pender to Hastings will be the scene of the annual Legion street carnival which has proved so popular for many years. Added attractions are expected to make this year's show more popular than ever Tom Charity, chairman of the carnival committee, states.

The kiddies' pet parade, always a popular event, is expected to have a bigger entry list than ever and the big srowd will be treated to a splendid display of decorated pets.

The larger kids, mostly teenagers, are planning a "dress parade" which is a new feature this year. Games of all descriptions will flourish throughout the evening while the Summerland Band and the Legion pipe band from Penticton will be on hand.

An added attraction this year is the windup dance at the IOOF hall.

Merchants Trim Red Sox 8-1 in First Game For Local Ball Crown

More enthusiasm than has been shown all year was exhibited at the athletic park last night when the Summerland Merchants took a stranglehold on the local baseball championship by defeating their junior rivals, the Red Sox, 8-1, in a decisive victory.

Second game of this series will be played next Wednesday.

It was distinctly a pro-Red Sox crowd last night, but it was decidedly the Merchants' game after the first three innings. Both teams dashed up a good brand of ball and it was only the heavier hitting power of the Merchants which decided the contest.

Al Coffey limited the Red Sox to three hits and struck out seven batters, while the Merchants' nicked Gil Jacobs for nine clouts, including a double by George Taylor and a smashing triple by Frank Kuroda. Jacobs had a slight edge on strikeouts, with eight.

Took Early Lead

Hits by McCargar and Walsh and a two-bagger by Taylor brought in the first two Merchants' runs in the fourth for the first scores. Frank Kuroda added another in the fifth when he drew a walk, stole second and went to third on Gould's bad throw and came home on Walsh's single.

The seventh saw some tense moments when Vanderburgh, Brawnner and McCargar filled the bases, but Walsh grounded out and relieved the tension.

Again the crowd went hysterical for the Red Sox when, in the eighth, with two on and two away Jimmy Thompson walked out to Coffey and called for a deliberate walk for Kato, to fill the bases. Sandy Jomori flied out to left to end the rally.

In the last of the eighth the Red Sox really fell apart. Kato failed to touch the sack at second for the start of a good double play and the bags were filled. Vanderburgh grounded out but he scored Day in the process, advancing runners to second and third. Brawnner topped one which rolled only a short distance from home plate. Bob Weltzel grabbed the horsehide and stepped on the plate thinking it was a forced play and again all runners were safe, although the Red Sox management booted mightily, claiming Brawnner had been struck by the batted ball.

Then came Kuroda who punted one to deep left field for three bases and put the finishing touches on the ball game.

Coffey was robbed of a shutout in the ninth when Wally Day threw low to first base and Francis Gould scampered home from second. If Day's throw to first had been good it would have been the third out.

Score by innings:
Red Sox . . . . . 000 000 001—1
Merchants . . . . . 000 210 05x—8

Keep the Streets Clean

THE other day we observed a young lad, to all intents and purposes of normal intelligence, take off the wrapping on a candy bar, open the door of a restaurant and deliberately toss the paper onto the street.

A similar occurrence can be observed dozens of times in the business area daily when careless persons litter the streets with paper and other refuse until a disgraceful mess is created.

Now that the business area hard surfacing is fast coming to a conclusion, the presence of so much litter on the streets is even more embarrassing. The municipal council had cause recently to ask the retail merchants' association to confer with its members on the subject, seeking merchants' support to the plea for them not to sweep sidewalks in front of their premises onto the road but collect and destroy any litter on the walks in the same manner they would adopt inside their stores.

"There can be no doubt that you will agree wholeheartedly with this idea," the retail merchants' secretary wrote the membership. "We now have good streets within our business area. Let's keep them clean."

We would urge the public in general to follow the line suggested by the council and the retail merchants and keep the streets clean. We shudder every time we come along the business streets Sunday or Monday mornings. The trash which is scattered about is nothing short of disgraceful in a prosperous and progressive community.

The situation was alleviated to a degree while the refuse containers, placed on the sidewalks by an advertising company, were allowed to remain. But these containers have now been removed and only on one location is there any container wherein paper can be placed.

It should be possible for the council and the merchants to work out some scheme whereby standard containers could be placed on the streets, with the council works department emptying them at proper intervals.

In some places in British Columbia the merchants employ a street cleaner part time to make certain that the sidewalks and road allowance outside their places of business are kept free of trash and are as attractive as the inside of their stores.

We Still Dream of Road Completion

THROUGHOUT the province, as one scans the weekly press, comments on roads and highways can be read. Mainly, the average citizen or board of trade is rather critical, forgetting in the main the broad program which the provincial public works department is undertaking.

In the north, Salmon Arm says the Trans-Canada highway is in a disgraceful condition. In the Kootenays there are complaints that the southern trans-provincial is not proceeding as rapidly as many would desire.

Closer to home, Princeton residents are grumbling that too much machinery has been taken off the Hope-Princeton highway for use in other sectors by the same contracting firm and that is given as the reason for the delay in Hope-Princeton highway opening.

Right at home, we are wondering what has happened to the projected reconstruction of the Penticton-Peachland highway portion, the last link in Okanagan Highway No. 5 to be changed over to a modern motor highway of proper width. Public Works officials promised a survey this year to indicate the approximate route which the reconstructed highway will take.

When a motorist becomes used to a wide, straight highway upon which he travels for many miles, he cannot immediately accustom himself to a stretch such as the Penticton-Peachland link presents. Consequently, he is inclined to travel too fast over a narrower type of road.

Above all, there are two extremely dangerous points on this sector. One is the Peach Orchard hill southern approach and the other is located about six miles north of the main business section, just north of the provincial gravel pit.

Whenever we hear of accidents north of Summerland it is almost automatic to think of that danger point six miles north—and we are nearly always right.

It seems a pity that the public works department did not do everything possible to complete the entire Okanagan highway section in readiness for the Hope-Princeton section instead of leaving this thirty-mile stretch of narrow, winding road right between two completed fine pieces of highway.

However, we imagine the pressure from the sections east of the Okanagan was too great and, after all, there is still not enough machinery to go everywhere.

It would be nice, however, to think of a completed highway through the Okanagan which would eliminate these extremely dangerous points and save thousands of dollars property damage, apart from possible lives lost.

Signifying Nothing

By RUSTICUS

Anyone who thinks of an author as a lucky person who gets well paid, in money and leisure, for just dashing off a few words at odd moments and sending them in to editors—"I know I could easily do it myself if only I could find the time," some quaintly add—ought to read Kenneth Roberts' latest book, "I Wanted to Write."

Roberts has always been bluntly outspoken. In fact, he must have startled a great many Americans who, like other nationalities, are taught a distinctly top-sided version of their own past history in school. American historical tradition has always made out that the men who evolved the Declaration of Independence and started the American Revolution were uniformly heroic patriots and admirable citizens in every way; and all who opposed or did not actively aid them, mere scum.

Roberts in "Oliver Wiswell" and other historical novels has clearly shown that the reverse was not infrequently true, and that the Loyalists were generally the most intelligent and respected citizens of any community. His "Lydia Bailey" shows up the graft and incompetence of early American government officials just as clearly.

It's a different and very refreshing point of view. Like that of the Englishman who defined Paul Revere, the hero who roused American patriots from their beds to battle, as "that chap who ran for help." Too bad we haven't a popular writer who will do for British and Canadian history what Roberts has done for our neighbours, and do it as entertainingly.

In "I Wanted to Write" the Roberts' lands is tilted at the windmill of misapprehension about authorship. Easy? Well paid? Upon graduation from university in 1908 he went into newspaper work at eighteen dollars a week, and spent nine years in that apprenticeship, gradually working up to forty dollars a week, before he dared cast off into the uncertain seas of free-lance journalism.

He was luckier than most, at that, for in his first year of supporting himself by independent writing he earned nearly five thousand bucks—more than double the average income of all experienced professional writers. A few years later he was receiving up to two thousand dollars apiece for several articles a year from the Saturday Evening Post. I can't see that Mr. and Mrs. Roberts should have suffered from malnutrition at that rate.

When he turned to writing books, however, the picture changed. From 1930 to 1937, he worked steadily, searching out material and weaving it into plots, to produce four books. He took no holidays, often worked twelve to fourteen hours a day for days in a row, wrote thousands of letters, read hundreds of books, in order to have every detail of each book correct. Yet each of those four books netted him about as much money as one Saturday Evening Post article.

Most people would have been discouraged. Roberts never lost faith in himself, lived cheaply, sandwiched the odd article in between books to fetch needed cash, and hammered away at his historical novels. The fifth one, "Northwest Passage," hit the jackpot and became a best seller; but Roberts still spent three careful years on his next book, "Oliver Wiswell," and five on its successor, "Lydia Bailey."

All his books shed fascinating light on the dark places of history; they are informative as well as highly entertaining. He has never stooped to court cheap popularity by sex and flith, and in "I Wanted to Write" he makes clear his utter contempt for any author or book publisher who does. He hasn't much use, either, for girls—or men—with expensive tastes. Or for Hollywood. Or for the way Pulitzer Prizes are awarded to writers.

With all of which this simple columnist heartily agrees. In fact, I'm almost exactly like Mr. Roberts, except that he lives in Maine and Europe and only writes best sellers and SEP articles, while I live in Summerland and write for the Review. Doubtless he would not want to trade places; I'm very doubtful if I want to, either.

past year, taking a special interest in the extra-curricular activities of the students.

He had been advisor to the students' council in the publication of the first printed annual ever issued from Summerland high school.

The late Mr. Kennedy came back to the Okanagan to assist his parents in the operation of their fruit orchard in Naramata. Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Kennedy, his parents, were pioneer fruit ranchers in the Naramata area.

Kennedy moved his family to his parents' home, the latter going to Penticton for their retirement.

He had been principal of the West Vancouver high school before returning to the Okanagan and was known in many school circles at the coast.

Besides his parents, he leaves his wife and two youngsters, a boy and a girl.

Rev. R. A. McLaren, of the Leadership Training School, Naramata, conducted the funeral service from the Penticton Funeral Chapel on Monday afternoon.

Assistant To Principal Passes Away Suddenly

Charles Duncan Kennedy, aged 41, assistant to the principals of the two Summerland schools, passed away suddenly on Saturday morning in the Penticton hospital following a short illness.

The news of his sudden passing came as a great shock to his rapidly-widening circle of friends in Summerland, where he had instructed in the schools for the

Kelowna Police Corporal is Credited With Smashing Ring

KELOWNA — Four Kelowna youths were sentenced to a total of 29 months imprisonment by Acting Police Magistrate G. A. McKay, bringing to a close one of the biggest crime waves to hit the Okanagan in years.

Two other men—both from Vancouver—arrested in connection with a series of 13 break-ins that occurred last year and touched off a police probe lasting nearly a year before the case was broken, were remanded in custody pending arrival of counsel from Vancouver.

Sentenced Thursday morning, July 14, were:

Joseph Schumaker, 19, six months on each of five charges of breaking and entering. Sentences were concurrent.

William Avender, 20, six months on one charge of breaking and entering.

Nicholas Ralph Schuck, 18, six months on each of two charges of breaking and entering. Sentences concurrent.

Bernard Lavineway, 22, three months on one charge of breaking and entering.

Remanded were Edward E. Senger, 21, and William Harrington, 20.

All six youths were charged with breaking and entering the Summerland Groceries on August 16, 1948, and stealing $1,202 in cash, $2,820.73 in cheques and merchandise to the value of $138.84.

Some of the stolen cheques subsequently were cashed in Vancouver.

The four Kelowna men all elected summary trial before Acting Police Magistrate McKay and pleaded guilty. The Vancouver youths asked for a remand without electing for trial. No plea was taken.

Sgt. R. E. McKay NCO in charge of the B.C. Provincial Police Kelowna detachment, said the main credit for breaking the crime ring goes to his second in command, Corporal Bill Davidson.

Cpl. Davidson had been working on the case for nearly a year. A big break came recently when William John Colton Jr., Kelowna, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering premises in Kelowna, Vernon, Penticton and Summerland. Colton was sentenced to six months on each of the four charges, all terms concurrent.

Colton and Schumaker were involved in break-ins at the Peerless Pipe and Equipment Co., Kelowna, August 26, 1948, Star Garage, Penticton, July 27, 1947, Nesbitt Motors, Summerland, October 1, 1948, and Kenoshenko Motors, Vernon, October 9, 1948, Cpl. Davidson said.

Schuck was also implicated in the Peerless Pipe break-in with Schumaker and Colton.

Sure at last, after months of intensive probing, Cpl. Davidson went to Vancouver over the July 6 weekend. There with the help of B.C. Police Detective-Sergeant J. A. McDonald, Vancouver, Cpl. Davidson touched off the mass arrests by taking Harrington into custody on Commercial Drive.

Senger already was in police hands, serving time in Oakalla on a theft conviction.

Davidson then phoned to Kelowna, and local police proceeded to pick up Lavineway, Schumaker and Schuck in that order. All three were under lock and key by 3 a.m. Tuesday, July 12.

Avender was arrested by Provincial Police at Chase, and joined the other three Kelowna men in the local lock-up Wednesday, July 13.

Only man to give any trouble according to Davidson, was Harrington. He fought savagely when placed under arrest but was subdued by Davidson and McDonald.

Police intimated there may be other arrests shortly in connection with other, as yet unsolved, break-ins. But the majority of them now are cleared up with the arrest of Harrington et al.

Teen Town

I guess you readers (?) are getting pretty tired of me saying, "well next week there will be a Lawn Dance at the Park or a beach party at Powell Beach," and then just having a plain dance at the IOOF hall. But believe me, these are circumstances beyond my control.

I just get the unofficial word from one of the councillors and then turn up at the council to find everything has been changed. But this week (please read on) there isn't going to be any Teen Town. Don't be too disappointed but just remember that the Legion is holding their big Street Carnival that night. So we thought you kids would rather be at it for a change as it only comes once a year.

The purpose of the name cards at that last dance, which was, by the way, an introduction dance, was to get every one acquainted with everyone else. However, I think it failed slightly in its purpose as the dance was composed of mostly Summerland kids with a smattering of new ones.

This turnout of the Summerland 'teen-agers is what we like to see, but we would also like to see more new kids there. So if any of you "old timers" know any new 'teen-agers from different parts, tell them about Teen Town and bring them to the dances.

I've said this once before but it is very important so I will mention it again. If any of you have any suggestions as to how Teen Town or the Council could be improved please mention them to any one of the councillors or come to one of our meetings.

First improvement, "I move we get rid of that kid that writes the Teen Town column. She knows nothing now and never will. All in favor (an' immediate raising of hands) Carried!" That's O.K. I didn't want the job, anyway.

Famed Radio Star Billed For Regatta

Kelowna's 43rd annual Regatta, scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday, August 2 and 3, is expected to draw bumper crowds from all parts of the Pacific Northwest, with swimmers and divers who participated this week in the British Empire Games trials in Vancouver headlining the visiting aquatic stars.

Feature entertainer for the evening program will be Bill Thompson, who is better known as the hen-pecked "Wallace Wimple" on the Fibber McGee and Molly radio program. He also takes the parts of the Old-Timer and Horatio K. Boomer, on the same program.

Miss Ruth Nesbitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Nesbitt, will participate in the annual Lady of the Lake contest and pageant Tuesday night. She represents Summerland in this annual contest, arranged by the Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Nesbitt is being sponsored by the Summerland Jaycees. She will go to Kelowna Monday evening for a rehearsal and Tuesday evening for the big pageant.

Satan's Hell Drivers are another feature both days, while the first night there will be an RCAF pyrotechnic display. RCAF planes are participating in the official opening of the new Kelowna airport on Monday, August 1.

Power boat, war canoe, and rowing races go on both days, while many bands, water skiing, wrestling and dancing attractions have been arranged.

It is anticipated a large number of Summerland persons will visit Kelowna on these two big days.

Will Re-survey Road Opposite Anglican Church

A new survey of the Giant's Head road from the intersection west to the W. A. (Bud) Stuart property, using the St. Stephen's church cement fence as the southern boundary of the road allowance was authorized by the municipal council on Tuesday.

It had been suggested that the road should be swung south to take out part of the hedge opposite the rectory so that a gradual sweep onto the proposed road on the Stuart subdivision could be allowed.

However, this was opposed by the Summerland Athletic club, when spokesman R. G. Russel stated recently that the club would give ten feet of its property to provide a roadway, with Mr. Stuart allowing thirty feet, only if the hedge remained.

This whole subject was reviewed by Canon F. V. Harrison in a letter to the council, written prior to a council delegation of Councillor C. E. Bentley, Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith and Building Inspector R. F. Angus meeting with the Anglican church authorities.

Canon Harrison pointed out that the late Archdeacon H. A. Solly had made allowance for the church property extending onto the original road allowance by providing ten feet from the Solly property on the north side of the road.

He declared that the council had recognized this transfer of road allowance from south to north when it set up its electric light poles along the northern boundary of the road.

However, it was pointed out on Tuesday that the council had made this deal for ten feet of road allowance with Mr. Alf McLachlan when he subdivided the Solly property.

Canon Harrison expressed opposition to the rumor that the council was prepared to bring in a bulldozer and eliminate the church hedge and warned that legal action would be taken to prevent such a move. He claimed the hedge is on church property and not on the road allowance because of the deal made years ago by the late Archdeacon Solly to compensate with a strip of land north of the road.

Councillor Bentley pointed out that this letter had been written prior to the visit of the municipal delegation to Canon Harrison.

At first, Councillor Bentley expressed a desire to have the situation clarified legally but other council members suggested that a re-survey would gain any point the council desired.

It was felt that once the hedge is trimmed and the road allowance on the north side cleaned out that sufficient width for road purposes would be provided.

Such an action would meet with the wishes of the athletic club, which operates the badminton and tennis clubs and that group and Mr. Stuart could then proceed with the original plan of providing a roadway between their properties.

Dial System At Armstrong Starts; Work Advances Here

On Monday last the inauguration of the automatic telephone system in Armstrong and district was marked, culminating months of work on the part of the Okanagan Telephone Co.

The conversion affects 113 private and business lines and 58 party lines, states the Armstrong Advertiser.

Here in Summerland telephone crews have been busy for some weeks changing over lines, installing the dial type of phones. Also, work on constructing a new automatic telephone exchange on the company's premises at the rear of the present exchange building is progressing.

The July dinner meeting of the Armstrong Board of Trade was held on Monday evening with officials of the telephone company as special guests.

Cot Splitting Is Reported

Wet weather is damaging Wenatchee Moorpark apricots and a great deal of splitting is being reported from some orchards, local packinghouse managers state.

The Moorparks are peaking right now, with 6,000 to 8,000 boxes a day being shipped from the local packing sheds.

Picking of cannery varieties has commenced and will be in full swing next week when all canneries will also swing into major production.

Peach plums and Duchesse apples are being picked in quantity, thirty percent of the Duchesse having gone already. Pears are sizing well in most orchards.

Library Grants' Increases Sought At Meeting Here

The mid-summer meeting of the Board of Management of the Okanagan Union Library was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Summerland, on Thursday, July 21, at 2:30 p.m.

Those present were Mrs. F. J. Foot, East Kelowna; Councillor J. W. Johnson, Mrs. R. B. White, Penticton; Mrs. M. Pfoelkes, Gen. R. F. L. Keller, Kelowna; Mr. G. C. Hume, Glenmore; Mrs. A. D. McKay, Peachland; Mr. T. H. Elliott, Salmon Arm; Mr. H. Page Brown, Spallumcheen; Mrs. George Simpson, Osoyoos; Capt. A. C. King, Oliver; Mr. Hugh Sharman, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Summerland; and Mr. Norman Lidster, New Westminster, chairman of the public library commission.

After the regular minutes and reports the matter of government grants for library work came up for discussion and it was moved by Mr. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Brown, that the minister of education be asked to increase the estimates of the public library commission to implement the recommendations for grants as set out in their program for library development in B.C. This was carried.

Mr. Lidster, speaking to this resolution, said that formal education is from the age of six for about twelve years, but education may be carried on through the medium of the library throughout a whole life.

A catalogue of all the books in the union library has been prepared. There is a copy at each branch, and copies may be bought for $1. Through these books anyone may see what is available for reading, and may get any book listed.

The board considered dropping insurance on books and equipment. Since 1936 the sum of $1877 has been spent on premiums. There have been five fires in that time, two in branches and three in schools from which $264 was received from insurance companies. The wide distribution of books decreases the risk, and it was thought that the expense was not warranted. The matter was left for the present since the policies were paid up for some months.

Certification of librarians was talked over, and the chairman, Mrs. Foot, stated that it is hoped that a library school will be established at UBC. There are only two library schools in Canada at present, one at Toronto University and the other at McGill. There is a school in Seattle whose graduates are accepted in this province, and it is attended by many students wanting to qualify for library work.

It is hoped to have representation on the board from Oliver village possibly before the next meeting.

After adjournment tea was served, at which Mrs. H. Sharman poured.

ACCEPTS INVITATION TO ANNUAL KELOWNA REGATTA

An invitation has been extended Reeve and Mrs. R. A. Johnston to attend the annual Kelowna Regatta as guests of the Kelowna Aquatic Assn. Reeve Johnston intimated to the council on Tuesday that he and Mrs. Johnston would be pleased to accept. An invitation to enter a Summerland float in the regatta parade was turned down for lack of time.

Motor Trip To California Takes Trio 3,000 Miles

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, and their daughter, Frances, returned on Saturday, July 23, from a motor trip which took them about 3,000 miles from home.

Mr. Atkinson attended the convention of the Institute of Food Technologists to which there were about 1,000 delegates from all parts of the United States. Twenty-two were present from Canada, about half of this number from B.C.

The IFT is a professional group of technical people working on the various phases of food manufacture.

The prevention of discoloration in milling of apples for natural apple juice was the subject on which Mr. Atkinson spoke to this group.

The Atkinsons experienced weather varying from 106 degrees in the Sacramento Valley to 65 degrees in San Francisco, which temperature means a hot day there. A cold fog rolls into the city from the sea every afternoon and evening this time of the year, and warm clothing is very necessary. It was found, too, that a fat pocketbook was another real necessity in Frisco.

As part of the convention a ladies' program was conducted for three days, which included sight-seeing trips throughout the city, and a luncheon at the Mark-Hopkins hotel. Following this luncheon a most interesting lecture was given by one of San Francisco's leading florists on flower arrangements for the home and the making of corsages.

Sleeping accommodation was very plentiful for the travellers with attractive motels all the way. In one stretch of 18 miles there were 72 motels, and all appeared to be busy. The rates were reasonable and every comfort considered. In one motel cool drinks were found in the refrigerator, the "honor" system being used for payment.

Mr. Atkinson visited the cannery of Libby, McNeil and Libby at Sunnyvale where he worked in 1928, and where he noticed a tremendous growth in the industry.

A great many points of interest were visited—the Mary Hill Museum on the banks of the Columbia River; Dr. McLaughlin's house at Oregon City; the State Capitol of California at Sacramento and that of Oregon State at Salem. These were a source of genuine enjoyment and education recommended to any visitor to these parts. Coming back through the Redwoods of California was another delightful experience and the Redwood Burl Novelty Shops a source of wonder, remunerative to the state and their owners. Over all the trip was enjoyable and enlightening to the Atkinson family. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson think that in this part of the world more consideration should be given to establishing places of interest, souvenir shops, and spots to visit, which would help break the traveller's day of rolling along mile after mile.

SILVER TRAY IS TEEN TOWN GIFT

On Saturday evening, July 16, at the Teen Town dance David Wright, the newly elected Teen Town mayor, presented Mr. and Mrs. Joe McLachlan with a beautiful large silver tea-tray in recognition of the help and interest given to them through the seven years that Teen Town has been active here.

Mr. McLachlan was adult advisor for five years following the inception of the club, and he and Mrs. McLachlan have kept continuous touch with the teen-age group. The tray was engraved "To Doris and Joe from Teen Town."

The first mayor was Jack Amm, who has been followed by Lawrence Hookham, Rhoda Mason, Donald Rand, Alfred Kita, and Jack Dunham who held the office for two years prior to the present appointment of David Wright.

Miss Isabel Cummings, assistant librarian from the main library at Ottawa, who is making a tour throughout the Dominion visiting various laboratories and experimental stations, was in Summerland in her official capacity over the week-end and until Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Packham of Edmonton are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. McNair and Allen of Vancouver are guests of Mr. J. W. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Griffin of Vancouver are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Beech and family of Prince George arrived Tuesday evening to visit Mr. Beech's brother, Mr. Ted Beech and Mrs. Beech's brother, Mr. Art Sladen. Mr. Jack Beech is a former member of the Summerland high school staff and has recently been appointed principal of the Prince George high school system.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. McDonald this week visitors are Mrs. McDonald's niece, her husband, and their two daughters: Mr. and Mrs. E. Pandachuck with Lynn and Lois who drove down from Grande Prairie, Alta., on a holiday trip to the Calgary Stampede and are making a short stay in the Okanagan before returning to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smart of Seattle with their daughter Nancy, and Nancy's friend Marilyn Lyden, were guests at the home of Mrs. John Ritchie last week for a few days. Mrs. Smart is Mrs. Ritchie's niece.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Spencer and their two children of Vancouver, visited Mrs. Spencer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Evans from Friday to Sunday last week.

Mrs. Alex Wilson of Calgary is the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. T. F. Hickey.

During July, Mr. and Mrs. George Wolffe have been hosts to a number of visitors from Alberta points. The guests include Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolffe, Mrs. William Soice, and Mrs. Lily Woodford, all of Warner, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Soice, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Wolffe and daughter, of Lethbridge, Alta.; and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Culler and daughter, of Wrentham, Alta.

TAKE ANNUAL TREK UP SNOW MOUNTAIN

On Sunday a large group of people from the experimental station and their friends, headed by Mr. Alex Watt, made a trip on foot to the summit of Snow Mountain. They found snow at the top, but the abundance of flowers in the meadows nearby and on the way up were beautiful, and the fresh clear air made it seem like spring.

Dr. Thurman is an internationally-known educator.

VISITING ABROAD

Last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Denike left by motor for a holiday trip to Williams Lake, B.C., planning to return by way of Vancouver in about two weeks.

Mrs. Don Wright and her two daughters are spending a vacation in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shannon visited in Nelson for a few days last week.

Mr. J. R. Armstrong spent Friday and Saturday in Vancouver attending an executive meeting of the B.C. Division, Canadian Weekly Newspapers Assn. and the B.C. Weekly Newspapers Advertising Bureau.

to Vancouver last week. While at the coast Mr. Thornber was taken suddenly ill and fell into a plate glass window. He received several cuts on the head, which required hospital attention.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Towgood spent the week-end in Kamloops.

Ted Gould, who has been on a thirty-day leave from the airforce at his home here, left on Saturday to visit his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Gould at Victoria. When he returns to the service he will be stationed at Calgary.

Accompanying Mr. Frank Pollock to the coast last week were Mr. Geo. Graham, Mr. Frank Benhison and Mr. Jack Broderick. The party left by car last Friday, returning Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Ritchie, her granddaughter, Mrs. J. Samson and Mrs. Samson's sister-in-law of Vancouver, are visiting this week in Keremeos at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Ritchie.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Young and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon left yesterday to motor to Vancouver where they will be joined by Mrs. R. S. Jackson and will take a boat cruise to Alaska.

Mr. Ryan Lawley flew to Calgary and Taber, Alta., last week on a short business trip.

RETURNS TO SUMMERLAND

Mrs. Alfred Williams has returned to make her home in Summerland, and has bought a house in Victoria Gardens.

Flies To England And Visits Many Points Of Interest

Mr. W. C. W. Fosbery has received an entertaining letter from his daughter, Mrs. Julian Fry, who with her husband and little daughter, Joan, flew to England some weeks ago to be away from their Kamloops home about six weeks.

At Maldon, Essex, they were guests of Mr. Fry's sister, Mrs. Diamond, who has visited here, and who lived at Kelowna for some time. Her daughter, Miss Betty Diamond spent a summer living in Summerland with Mr. and Mrs. Fosbery. Mrs. Diamond will be remembered as an artist and now has started to make very attractive pottery.

Mr. Fry's grandfather was the famous English painter, Roger Fry; his father the well-known English judge, Edward Fry. The family will visit various aunts and cousins, and Mr. Fry, who is secretary of the B.C. Beef Cattle Co-operative Association will go to Hereford, and also will attend the Royal Agricultural Show at Shrewsbury. They will visit, too, Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft Clark, the latter Gen. Smuts' daughter.

Mr. Fosbery's native heath is Ireland and he was interested to hear in the letter that flying over Ireland large round circles were noted frequently, left uncultivated in the middle of many fields. They were mentioned as possible "fairy rings" of which one reads in Irish stories, or as Celtic earthworks. Mr. Fosbery remembers them as ancient burial places on "raths."

At Cheddar in England, the travellers visited the gorge with its amazing formation, and went into the famous caves.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD GIRL BURIED HERE

Funeral service for Beverley Eileen Emery, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emery, Summerland, was held from the Free Methodist church, Summerland at 2 p.m. on Saturday, July 23, with Rev. Mr. Garrett of Kelowna officiating.

The young girl passed away just after the celebration of her paternal grandparents' golden wedding anniversary, on Tuesday, July 19.

Besides her parents, she is survived by her brother Ronald, two sisters, Marilyn and Janice and both grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Emery and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Soderquist, all of Summerland.

Pallbearers consisted of her uncles, Messrs. John Lees and Glen Emery of Saskatchewan, Clarence Emery of Alberta and Fern Emery of Carmi, B.C.

HOME AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dodwell and their baby son have returned to their home in Vancouver after a two weeks' holiday at Crescent Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. White, who were married at the coast recently, returned on Friday by way of Seattle after a motor trip on Vancouver Island.

Mrs. Edward Smith is home again from Minneapolis where she visited her mother for a month.

Miss Edna Gould had a visit within a visit when she spent the week-end at New Westminster at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. McPhail, returning to her home here Monday morning before going back to her position at Edmonton the end of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lott, Margaret and Johnnie, returned at the beginning of the week from a motor trip to Nelson, B.C.

Mrs. E. Clark has returned to her Vancouver home after spending a month at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, B. C. Police Constable and Mrs. I. G. Thorsteinson.

Resident Here Two Years Passes In Vernon Hospital

Frederick John Down, aged 67, a resident of Summerland for two years, passed away in the Vernon Jubilee hospital on Wednesday, July 20, after a short illness. He had been visiting his son when he became ill and was taken to the Vernon hospital.

Funeral service was held from Vernon Funeral Chapel, on Friday, July 22, with interment in the Vernon cemetery.

Born in Fenella, Ont., the late Mr. Down came west at an early age and homesteaded in Saskatchewan, later moving to Alberta where he farmed in the Hannah and Craigmyle areas for many years.

Two years ago he moved farther west and located in Summerland where his sons, Harold and Leonard operated the Nu-Way Cafe for some time.

Besides two sisters and five brothers residing in Ontario, he leaves his wife, Mary and three sons and five daughters, Harold

Tiny Lad Killed By Strangulation

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. David Munn were saddened on Monday afternoon to hear of the unusual and unpredictable death of their younger son, George, aged 18 months.

Jimmie, aged 4, came downstairs that afternoon saying that his younger brother George, was asleep. When Mrs. Munn went to put a cover over the lad she found that his head was through parallel bars at the foot of the bed and that life was gone.

Dr. F. W. Andrew conducted an enquiry, stating that in his many years of practice he had not seen a similar case. The coroner declared that death was due to strangulation.

A private funeral service was held on Tuesday afternoon from the Munn home, Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiating.

Vocational Service Will be Stressed

Joe McLachlan, newly-installed president of the Rotary Club of Summerland gave his fellow members a resume of the presidents and secretaries assembly which he and Secretary Roy F. Angus attended at Kamloops, when Rotarians met for their regular dinner meeting at the Nu-Way Annex recently.

Out of the entire District No. 152, only two clubs were not represented, Mr. McLachlan stated. Vocational service is being stressed in Rotary work, he pointed out, intimating that he would endeavor to lay more stress on this endeavor in the coming year.

Governments Consider Projects In B.C. to Cost $7 Millions

If the 20-odd irrigation projects being considered by the provincial and federal governments, were all brought to a conclusion, it would involve over 2,000 additional farm units aggregating in excess of 75,000 acres at a total cost of around $7,000,000, it was estimated recently by the committee which has been appointed to review all irrigation projects in the province.

The co-ordinating committee, of which Ben Hoy, of Kelowna, is a member, met in Kamloops to consider latest recommendations and proposals. Other members of the board are F. M. McCallum, regional engineer, P.F.R.A. Kamloops; Dr. J. C. Wilcox, dominion experimental station, Summerland; H. Allam, district superintendent, V.L.A., Edmonton, and R. C. Farrow, comptroller of water rights, Victoria. Mr. Hoy is the supervising horticulturist, department of agriculture, in Kelowna.

Four Projects Cleared
It was pointed out when the committee was formed early this year, 2 projects were listed for consideration. Four V.L.A. projects have been cleared by the committee and recommended to the two governments and construction is either in the planning stage or underway.

These are Westbank-Cawston Bench, near Keremeos; Nisconlith and Johnston-Western Canadian projects, near Kamloops.

On a further seven projects, information was available and the committee has initiated the making of further surveys and reports, to complete the necessary data, insofar as the available staffs of the various agencies concerned will permit. On two of these projects, public meetings indicated that the prospective users were not interested and they were laid aside for the time being.

On the remaining nine projects there is little or no data available on which to base recommendations. Data considered necessary includes land ownership whether private or crown; suitability of land; availability of water, engineering surveys and cost of projects and estimated cost per acre of water delivered to the users.

Many Factors
Besides collecting and studying factual data, other factors have to be taken into consideration, and various bodies consulted. The accessibility of an area by road or rail is important. Distance from the nearest market, and probable shipping costs of the agricultural products recommended have to be considered. Also the extent of existing social amenities available to new settlers.

The most suitable crop for a given project has to be considered in relation to the available area. For instance, with prevailing marketing conditions for tree fruits, any considerable expansion of acreage for these products would be unwise at the moment.

On the other hand the dairying industry could be expanded with advantage; milk is presently being shipped from the lower Fraser Valley to interior points. This is not only uneconomic but the time will soon come when the lower mainland, will require all of its own local supply.

The fattening of beef-cattle for the market is another field which could be exploited in many areas of B.C. just as it is in Alberta.

In considering a particular project, the ultimate cost of water to the user, having in mind the recommended type of crop, is usually the deciding factor in determining whether it is economically feasible or not.

For instance an area unsuited for orchard culture, might be excellent for dairying or mixed farming, and have all the necessary amenities; but might still be uneconomic on account of the cost of water to the user, since this type of agriculture can only carry water charges that are a fraction of those which orchard lands can afford.

Huge Task
In considering these various and complex factors the marketing boards and B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. are often consulted, while the reports of the various local agricultural club committees on post-war rehabilitation are freely consulted, and are of great value.

The magnitude of the task involved may be judged from the fact that the 20-odd projects so far listed, if all were feasible and brought to a conclusion, would involve over 2,000 additional farm units, aggregating in excess of 75,000 acres and the total cost would probably exceed $7,000,000.

VERNON WANTS SICAMOUS TO REMAIN AT LANDING

VERNON—The Vernon Board of Trade would like the old S.S. Sicamous to remain at its present mooring at Okanagan Landing. The board has expressed the thought that Vernon has a prior claim over Penticton, which city is believed to have finalized a deal with the CPR whereby the old stern-wheeler will be moored on the Penticton lakeshore for use as a museum.

It is a human tendency to blame everything and everybody but ourselves for our failures.

Jack complains about his working conditions, his boss and everyone he deals with on the job. Somehow it hasn't occurred to him that, although his environment is not perfect and should be improved, the main cause of his trouble lies within himself.

Reports show that the commonest cause of job failures is not lack of technical skill, but poor personality qualities—particularly a non-cooperative attitude, unreliability and lack of initiative.

Those who have the opposite qualities — cooperativeness, dependability and driving initiative — are not blind to the defects in their environment. But instead of criticizing, you will find them trying to improve those defects through their own efforts.

Above all, you will find them trying to correct their own personal shortcomings. To such men the world offers the "biggest rewards!"

Most men who have won success because of their initiative also like to provide for their own and their families' future by their own efforts. Life insurance offers the most dependable way to do this.

Merchants Bow Out of Playoffs After Thriller At Princeton, Lose 5-4

Three double plays loomed extremely large last Sunday at Princeton when the Royals of that mining centre defeated Summerland Merchants 5-4 in the sudden-death contest which decided the winners of the southern division of the Interior Baseball league. It was a game in which there was plenty of action, and the suspense was at a high point throughout.

Twice the Merchants took the lead only to have Princeton knot the count the first time and then go out ahead in the eighth with the winning run.

Princeton now plays the winner of the sudden-death Revelstoke-Kamloops CYO game for the northern division championship. This will be a two out of three series.

Al Coffey failed to get a single strikeout on Sunday but he was not hit hard and received good support except for the third frame, when errors by Walsh and Vanderburgh resulted in three runs coming across, the latter's wild throw being the most flagrant error.

Snappy fielding on the part of both infields resulted in many promising rallies being nipped in the bud. Three double plays, the final one retiring the Merchants in the ninth, proved too much for the Okanagan men to cope with.

Nishihara was on the mound for the winners, but he did not have the control he has exhibited on other occasions. He was nicked for nine bingles and struck out only four batters.

Apart from his one miscue, Walsh was a tower of strength on the defensive, handling eight good chances. He also singled the first three times at bat, but was only brought around for the complete circuit once.

Amm was kept extremely busy with another eight chances, all of them being perfectly handled. On one occasion, however, he could thank Vanderburgh's long reach for the successful completion of the play.

Three Run Lead
Summerland really exploded in the third when, with one away,

Kuroda walked and scored on McCargar's smart double. Walsh connected for his second single and advanced when Mitchell let the ball go through him in right field. Walsh scored after Taylor's long fly to left field was gathered in.

With the count 3-0 in their favor, the Merchants proceeded to blow their real opportunity to win the ball game. Tony Kovich was safe when Walsh failed to field his grounder. Mullen flied out to Walsh who made a splendid catch. G. Currie singled but when his brother Laurie drove one to Vanderburgh, who made a neat pick-up it looked like a cinch double play.

Vanderburgh's throw to Amm was away wide and the ball bounced out into left field where it also got past Kuroda, who was coming in fast to cover the play at second, two runs scoring. The tying run came home from third when Mitchell lined to left field. Kuroda tried to nip L. Currie at the plate but his throw was wide.

Double plays in the fifth and sixth ruined two Summerland chances to score.

In the seventh, the Merchants went ahead again when Vanderburgh drew a walk, and came across on Amm's hard drive through the box and past G. Currie at second. Coffey singled Amm to third, but Kuroda's grounder retired Coffey at second and McCargar grounded out, Nishihara to Mullen and that rally was over.

In the eighth, the damage was done. G. Currie walked, stole second and was singled home by Mitchell. Thomas singled and Nishihara drove a high fly to right field, Mitchell scampering home ahead of Thompson's throw-in, which was wide of the plate, leaving Princeton ahead 5-4.

Amm gave the Merchants some hope in the ninth when he smack-

Tennis Pro Tour Is Cancelled

Mr. Roels, a professional tennis instructor from Vancouver, was to have made his appearance in the Okanagan this week but R. G. Russel reported on Monday that his tour had been cancelled. It had been hoped he would be here last evening to give instruction to junior players. He was to appear here under auspices of the B. C. Lawn Tennis Assn.

New Fishing Camp Starts

Percy Wilson has recently completed a deal whereby he has obtained fishing rights to Trout Creek headwaters and has established a fishing spot known as Headwaters Camp.

There is one cabin and tents available now and Mr. Wilson is planning the erection of other suitable accommodation this fall and spring. The road into the camp will be greatly improved, as well, Mr. Wilson declares.

Last week he dispelled any doubts about the fishing possibilities of the camp when he brought out six lovely trout ranging from 2 to 3½ pounds as the result of Saturday morning's catch.

Another fisherman who is smiling these days is George Stoll, president of the Summerland Fish and Game Assn. George landed a 14½-pound Kamloops trout from Okanagan lake last week-end. He declares this beauty gave him more fight than any other fish he ever had on his line.

RCAF Mobile Unit To Pay Visit Here

A mobile unit of the RCAF will visit Penticton on Monday, Aug. 1, to provide information on enlistment for trade training in Canada's air force. The unit, in charge of F/L Howarth, will be located at the Incola Hotel, where he will conduct personal interviews from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m.

At present there are openings in the RCAF in practically any trade desired, including radio, technical, clerical, etc. Also, young men under 25 with junior matriculation education or better, are eligible to apply for aircrew training.

ed one of Nishihara's offerings for his second single, Coffey flied out and Kuroda lined one down to L. Currie at third base, who threw to second to catch Amm, the double play being completed in time to catch Kuroda at first.

And that was the end of the Merchants' chances to cop the southern title and go into the finals of the Interior loop.

Red Sox in First Win of Playoff Ball

For a time on Sunday, it appeared that Osoyoos would give the Summerland Red Sox a run for their money in the first game of the semi-final series for the southern junior league championship. However, Osoyoos wilted in the fourth and never threatened after that time.

The Red Sox won handily by a 13-2 count and will go to Osoyoos this Sunday odds-on favorites to cop the series in two straight.

Four pitchers faced the two teams, Ernie Jomori starting for the Red Sox and being relieved by Jacobs in the fourth; Kellerman lasted until the sixth when Kelly took over the mound duties for Osoyoos.

Osoyoos went out in front by two runs in the second when Kato booted one, and Jomori allowed a walk and single. Kato got back his error in the last of the second when he singled, stole second and scored on two successive wild pitches.

In the fourth the Red Sox took command with a six-run spurge which saw ten players face Kellerman. Another three were added in the fifth and the game was sewed up. Kato's three-bagger in the eighth with two aboard, plus a passed ball resulted in the final three runs, leaving the Red Sox ahead 13-2.

Two double plays, Sandy Jomori to Kato to Gould and Dunham to Gould to Dunham relieved the tension in the first and seventh frames.

Mixed Doubles Net Tourney At Centre

Three Summerland tennis couples participated in the mixed doubles American tennis tournament held on Saturday and Sunday at Okanagan Centre. George Fudge and Miss Bell were the leading contenders from Summerland, entering the finals, where they were defeated by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Homer-Dixon of Vernon, 6-4, 6-3.

Before entering the finals, Fudge and Miss Bell had a hard fight to defeat Mr. and Mrs. Morton of Oliver.
Other Summerland players in this tourney were Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Russel and David Snow and Miss McLeod.

Kelowna Takes Rifle Shield At Vernon Shoot

Summerland Rifle Club marksmen, seventeen strong, participated in the annual B.C. Dragons rifle association shoot at Vernon last Sunday, but although they returned with some cash prizes, no silverware accompanied them.

Kelowna No. 1 team, with a total of 484 points, annexed the B.C. Dragons shield, with Kamloops No. 1 in second place and Summerland No. 1 in third with 471 points.

Ten teams from Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna and Summerland competed for the team aggregate, while some sixty marksmen were present for all types of competitions.

Leading marksman was Fred Simmons of Vernon who scored 102 points out of a possible 105 at three ranges, George Dunsdon with a score of 99 points, was high man for the Summerland shots.

Wind, rain and some sunshine combined to puzzle the shooters as to how best to combat the elements and at times there was a combination of all three weather conditions.

Summerland's No. 1 team was composed of George Dunsdon, Len Shannon, Phil and Art Dunsdon and A. W. Moyls.

The Summerland Rifle club is preparing for its annual rifle shoot, which attracts visitors from most interior points, on Sunday, August 7, at the rifle range in Garnet valley.

Prunes Will be Problem Crop This Season Declares A. K. Loyd, of Tree Fruits

From Kelowna last week, A. K. Loyd, president and general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the growers' sales agency, made some declarations concerning the prospects for the 1949-50 crop, indicating that with the continuance of Canada's austerity dollar program the soft fruit picture promises a fair prospect. He stressed the necessity for uniform maturity in picking and packing and urged the growers to improve the standard of product.

Of special interest to local growers is Mr. Loyd's warning concerning prunes, which will prove a fairly heavy crop. Cannerys have a large carryover of prunes from the 1948 pack and it is expected that a bigger proportion will have to be handled on the fresh fruit market.

Referring to 1949-50 season, Mr. Loyd stated it is too early to do more than guess as to the situation which confronts the industry this year. The Tree Fruits' official however, pointed out some of the problems that could be encountered, and also sounded a note of caution to newcomers who are apt to think the sales agency should be able to sell anything at any time, and at a good price.

Heavy Cherry Crop

Mr. Loyd stated: "So far, aside from vegetables, cherries have been the major crop. The outcome is bound to be affected by the continuance, or otherwise, of the austerity program, and our own guess is that—with the dollar situation being still acute—we will not find the government too willing to spend dollars on commodities which we can provide ourselves for our own markets. That, however, remains to be seen.

"Insofar as cherries are concerned, we have the largest crop that we have ever had, and the estimates have been exceeded by 20

Jones' Plurality Over Adams is Given at 1,563

KELOWNA—Official figures released by C. H. Jackson, returning officer, indicate that O. L. Jones, CCF candidate, received a majority of 1,563 over his nearest competitor, Mayor Theo Adams, Progressive Conservative, and a majority of 7,667 over the Liberal, Chas. McDowell, in the recent Dominion election in Yale riding.

The official totals give Jones 13,222 votes, Adams 11,659, McDowell 5,555 and Reid 902.

There were 181 spoiled ballots. Of the 41,927 persons on the list in Yale, 31,519 voted.

The majority of the soldier vote went to the Liberal. He obtained 40 votes while Jones polled 28 and Adams 22. Reid had two soldier supporters.

In the by-election one year ago, Jones received 12,599, Bennett 7,807 and Chambers, Liberal 7,227. In the general election of 1945, Hon. Grote Stirling received 8,681; Jones 6,704; A. W. Gray, Liberal, 4,231; Reid, Social Credit, 1,655 and Clapp, Labor-Progressive, 777. In the general election of 1940, Stirling had 8,272; Jones 7,253; Morrow, Liberal, 6,596.

Council Approves Postal Change

On the motion of Councillors C. E. Bentley and F. E. Atkinson, the municipal council on Tuesday approved the suggestion of the Summerland Board of Trade that the name West Summerland be eliminated from the postal system in vogue here and that all mail coming here go to one post office, named Summerland, for sorting and delivery to the two post offices and the rural route.

Council approval of the suggestion will be forwarded to the postal authorities in Vancouver. Although council members looked to Reeve R. A. Johnston for comment and suggested that he had veto powers, His Worship offered no comment, declaring that his opposition was personal and not as reeve of the municipality.

through the activities of the pear committee, set up by the industry. Substantial advances have been made in the past five or six years in the handling of pears, and in view of the existing new plantings, every possible cooperation should be forthcoming in putting out a good commodity.

"As for the apple crop, numerically it would seem to be about the same as last year, but an increase of a size or two can very easily produce a higher number of boxes. The U.K. shipments, of which we have heard various rumors, will probably not amount to a great deal, and are intended more as a pledge of continued interest by the U.K. in the importation of Canadian fruit.

"Gift" Apples

"There may be the opportunity to ship 'gift' apples this year, but at the present time we are only beginning to negotiate in this connection, and will not have anything of value to reply to questioners for at least a month. Fortunately, interest seems to have been aroused in this respect at an earlier date than last year, when we tried to formulate plans and had them more or less working out and they were changed in November to such an extent that it became impracticable for us to proceed further.

"There is a good opportunity to consolidate our position as the primary fruit shipping district in North America if we continue to maintain—and where possible improve—our standards. On this depends the prosperity or otherwise of the industry."

percent in some instances. An overrun of this kind naturally complicates decisions arrived at on the basis of previous information. For instance, we hoped that the salvage cherries, too immature to rate for the fresh fruit market, could all be sent to the processors. With the heavy over-run, and commitments already made in regard to tonnage of certain varieties, we found that this salvage was too heavy to be absorbed by this outlet, which is already experiencing considerable competition from Italy. Consequently, we had to discontinue the acceptance of this immature fruit and the pooling committee made the best thing ruling that it could to deal with the situation.

"During the commencement of the cherry season there is a place for a certain tonnage of early varieties, including Black Tartarians, provided there occurs no volume importation of Bings. The Tartarian variety had previously been disposed of to the cannery but this year—with a carryover of this commodity—the cannery were not interested in purchasing further supplies. When the markets have a volume of other and better varieties, they simply are not interested in this type of cherry. They do not want them at all, and if they are forced on them, the discount is so heavy that it becomes a liability instead of an asset to the grower.

"Some newcomers are apt to think that the sales agency should be able to sell anything at any time, and this is probably true—at a price. This price, however, can do two things. First of all, it can reflect a return to the grower which is of no use to him whatever, and secondly, it can depress the general tone of the market until the reception for the bulk of the cherry crop is threatened. Furthermore, arrivals—particularly of Black Tartarians—are too often unsatisfactory and start the cherry deal off 'on the wrong foot.'

"We have much sympathy with growers who have a considerable quantity of these cherries in their plantings, but we also believe that they will admit that the presence of these as pollenizers greatly increases the tonnage of the other varieties. The only position that is sound in regard to them is that under certain conditions of season and earliness, they may produce something extra for the grower. Under adverse conditions they will not give him a cash return as such, but will give him an indirect advantage in the increased set on other plantings.

"From all accounts we have a good crop of apricots, and everything possible should be done here to insure, as near as possible, uniform maturity in the packs.

Peaches Heavy

"We have a heavy crop of peaches, and unless the season betrays us, we do not anticipate the same trouble with peach rot as we had last year.

"Our problem crop will be prunes, of which there seems to be great quantities everywhere, with reluctance on the part of cannerys to accept as great a tonnage as usual.

"We are hopeful of further improvement in pear shipments.

OROVILLE CLUB MEETS KIWANIS

Headed by Clarence Chamberlain, president, four members of the Oroville, Wash., Kiwanis club paid a visit to the newly-formed Kiwanis Club of Summerland at its weekly supper meeting in the Nu-Way Annex, Monday, July 25. These four visitors discussed with local members problems of committee organization and gave many useful hints for use in work here, especially in youth service. Oroville has the only Key Club in the division, which consists of leading students in the upper school grades who are affiliated with Kiwanis work and assist other groups in the school.

President F. W. Schumann urged members to attend the annual Kiwanis district convention in Portland, September 4, 5 and 6. A caravan of Kiwanis cars from Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton and Osoyoos is being organized.

The local proxy also commented on the success of the Kiwanis picnic held at the experimental station beach last Sunday and attended by Kiwanians from Penticton, Summerland and Kelowna. He complimented G. G. Peters on arranging for a cup which went to the winning softball team.
