

Tom Wilkinson to Head Department of Marketing If Elected to Victoria

Thomas Wilkinson, CCF candidate for South Okanagan, plumped for a department of marketing in the provincial government setup to assist in the distribution of the products of the Okanagan, when he addressed a large group at Ellison hall on Tuesday evening following Premier T. C. Douglas' address. He was mainly instrumental in placing this plank in the CCF platform, he claimed.

Daylight Saving Time Applies June 15

Confusion over daylight saving time and standard time in connection with the forthcoming provincial election has been settled by Victoria, states Harvey L. Wilson, returning officer for South Okanagan.

Divide Into 14 Areas for Clinic Canvass

Summerland has been divided into fourteen districts for the handing out of appointments for the forthcoming visit of the TB mobile chest clinic which will be here on June 9 and 10 next week.

It is hoped that more than a thousand persons from 15 years of age up will be x-rayed in those two days here.

A complete canvass of the area is being undertaken by the Rotary Club of Summerland assisted by members of the newly-formed Kiwanis Club of Summerland.

W. Clarke Wilkin of the Rotary club has taken charge of the canvass and announces that every house in the community should be covered early next week.

He points out, however, that if any persons are missed that they should come to the clinic anyway and there will be time to put them through. The X-ray takes less than a minute for each person, no clothing need be removed if there is no metal to intervene, and more than 500 persons can be handled in the six hours the clinic operates each day.

Hours are from 9 to 12 each of the two mornings and 1 to 3 on each afternoon, at the IOOF hall.

Co-op to Make Last Apple Payment

Final payments on the apple pools are expected to be made this weekend by the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Assn., Secretary Miss Bertha Bristow announced yesterday.

This pool consists of a distribution of $122,000 on the 1948 apple crop but does not include the Associated Growers and B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. rebates, which are still to be distributed.

Mr. Wilkinson made it clear that he did not think the government should take over the distribution of the Okanagan products, but the growers will need assistance.

He believed the possibilities of greatest distribution would accrue through the assistance of a department of marketing.

"I don't believe in the government doing something you can do yourselves, but you will need assistance," he continued, warning that there would not necessarily be greatly increased profits for the producers but that greater distribution would result.

He declared that often is heard from the prairies the cry that they cannot get enough fruit. B.C. and the prairies are two natural trading areas. The distribution of fruit and vegetables can be done by the people of this valley for the benefit of themselves and the people of the prairies.

"But if you leave it to private enterprise then you will have waste and inefficiency," he challenged.

In the question period he was asked by the editor of the Review to explain the details of the plan he hoped would operate. Mr. Wilkinson replied that it would be possible of arrangement through marketing boards set up in each province now that the enabling legislation is provided by the federal government's new Bill 82.

He stated that a number of plans could be worked out but did not think there was time that evening to go into details. The growers as a whole would have to be behind any plan which was worked out, he added.

He qualified his statement by stating that the powers of a provincial government are limited.

CCF Forced Coalition At the outset, Mr. Wilkinson stressed that he has been a "co-operator" all his life and is a "practical" man.

Dealing with the statement made that the Coalition is the best government B.C. ever had, Mr. Wilkinson believed that, by constructive criticism and offering something better the CCF has forced the Coalition to go the limit of the free enterprise system.

"The CCF has given you better government in B.C. and should be given credit for it. Considering the material there was in the Coalition, we did a good job on them."

Mr. Wilkinson declared that he has had as much experience as anybody in the valley on marketing and the entire Okanagan depends on the marketing of fruit and vegetables.

"We have gone a long way to solve our problems in marketing. Everybody should get behind the extension of this co-operative movement which we have here."

He was scathing in his comments on monopolies and considered that irresponsible people are in charge of monopolies.

Mr. Wilkinson referred to the dark days of the '20s and declared that "unless I read the signs wrongly we are heading for another fallure, now." He stated that a group of 30 irresponsible monopolies are in charge of Canada's monetary system today.

The speaker decried the Coalition government's move in passing legislation which was like handing a "blank cheque" to the aluminum interests proposing to establish plants in B.C.

L. R. Stephens, secretary of the box shock committee, reported that attempts to have the five percent increase in box shock price rescinded had been unsuccessful. Nail supplies will be adequate by the end of July, he reported.

Retirement of W. M. Vance, manager of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., and the appointment in his place of Paul (Tiny) Walrod, formerly production manager was announced by the company's president, A. G. DesBrisay of Penticton.

The latter expressed the directors' appreciation of the valuable services which Mr. Vance had rendered the company and declared that Mr. Vance is a pioneer in the fruit processing industry in B.C.

Change Bylaw Vote Date to Sat. June 18

Due to an error at the municipal office over a confusion of two bylaws, there will be no vote on Saturday, June 11, on the disbandment of the West Summerland fire district in favor of one brigade system which will encompass the entire municipality.

Instead, the bylaw vote will be undertaken on Saturday, June 18, details of the bylaw being published in this issue on Page 6.

At a special meeting of the council Monday evening, Summerland council learned of the confusion over a bylaw which was submitted in 1939 and the one which was actually passed in 1944, cancelled the bylaw which was published last week and gave two readings to the new bylaw.

Only persons owning property in the West Summerland fire district can vote on June 18 on the disbandment of their voluntary fire protection district.

OBSERVE KING'S BIRTHDAY ON MONDAY, JUNE 6

Monday, June 6, is the legal holiday set aside to mark the King's Birthday observance. All retail stores in Summerland area will be closed on this day, which provides a long week-end. The Summerland Fish and Game Assn., second annual Field Day will be a feature for next Monday.

CCF in Saskatchewan Tries For Greater Security for People Claims Premier Douglas Here

"We are seeking to give our people a greater measure of security," was the declaration of Hon. T. C. Douglas, premier of Saskatchewan, in a scholarly address to an audience of some 300 persons in Ellison hall Tuesday evening, as he outlined briefly his CCF party's aims in the prairie province.

Mr. Douglas made a decided impression on his listeners, with his clearcut statements and his easy delivery. The youthful, "mighty atom" from Saskatchewan impressed his audience with his sincerity and his thorough knowledge of his subject.

Mr. Douglas declared he would make no odious comparisons between B.C. and Saskatchewan, as the former province is far wealthier from a standpoint of natural resources.

"But our greatest asset is that we have a group of people who have learned how to be good neighbors, to co-operate and live together."

"In our limited field we have been trying to give our people a greater measure of security."

In security measures, he listed first the farm security act, which he divided into three parts.

First, every farmer who owns his land cannot lose the 160 acres on which his home buildings are located.

Secondly, if he is in difficulty with any other land and can show the mediation board that these difficulties were beyond his power to control, then he can receive a moratorium from the government until he is in a financial position to discharge his liabilities.

Thirdly, in the case of a crop failure, interest on his mortgage or agreement of sale will be cancelled for the year.

Not a single farmer who has asked for protection in Saskatchewan has lost his farm or his home since 1944, Mr. Douglas declared.

The Liberal government at Ottawa attacked the act and has put it to the test of the courts, the decision being still pending, he added.

Mr. Douglas proudly declared that farm debt in five years in Saskatchewan had been reduced from $370 millions to less than $50 millions.

Trades Union Act Security was also given, other workers by means of the trades union act which states that it is an offense for an employer to fire a man for joining a union, provides checkoff regulations and other benefits, including two weeks' holiday with pay.

Greater security for children is provided by means of educational benefits, he declared. Free text books are provided, free hot lunches in a great number of schools and students from rural areas can come in to high school in larger centres for a nominal fee. A million dollar scholarship fund was set up to assist those who have the educational qualifications but lack the necessary money to continue their education.

"It is not how much money they have in their pockets but how many brains in their heads which counts in Saskatchewan," he emphasized.

Premier Douglas then switched to social security measures, declaring Saskatchewan has been paying its portion of a $60 per month pension and also giving free drugs, medical attention and other appurtenances.

Mothers' allowance has been doubled in five years and free treatment, hospitalization and surgery provided cancer cases. Treatment of the mentally ill and TB cases has been continued, while polio cases have been added to the list of those receiving hospitalization.

Premier Byron Johnson Here Next Tuesday to Aid Coalition Campaign

Premier Byron Johnson will touch off the Coalition campaign in Summerland with his arrival here next Tuesday afternoon, June 7 to attend a luncheon, followed by a public meeting.

Accompanying Mr. Johnson will be Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan Coalition candidate.

This will be one of two political meetings of the week planned by the Coalition party, as Mr. W. A. C. Bennett and other valley speakers will be holding a rally here on June 10.

The provincial election campaign is getting into its full stride in preparation for polling day on June 15.

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan and Tom Wilkinson, CCF candidate for South Okanagan held a combined political rally in Ellison hall last Tuesday.

This is only appearance which Mr. Wilkinson will make here prior to June 15, local CCF campaign committee members state.

Plans are well advanced for Premier Johnson's visit here next Tuesday. He will arrive about 12:15 noon, and will be guest at a small luncheon-reception in the Nu-Way. Representatives of the Coalition interests will attend this luncheon.

The B.C. leader will spend an hour hearing delegations and visiting in the business area before proceeding to the IOOF hall for a public meeting, followed by a reception with light refreshments.

He will then continue to Penticton, where he will address a public gathering Tuesday evening, flying to the Kootenays for the last lap of his final tour of the interior of the province prior to election day.

Bennett Meeting On Friday, June 10, Mr. Bennett will come to Summerland again for his windup campaign address. Other speakers are to be announced later.

Harold Winch, CCF provincial leader will come to the Okanagan and plans to speak in Kelowna, Rutland and possibly Penticton but will not be invited to Summerland, it is learned.

From a federal standpoint, the campaign is just beginning to gather a full head of steam.

Last night at Penticton, George Drew, leader of the Progressive Conservative party in Canada addressed a packed audience, Mayor Theo Adams, Vernon, Yale P-C candidate, also spoke to this meeting.

When Mayor Adams plans to visit Summerland has not been announced.

Mr. M. J. Coldwell, leader of the CCF party in Canada, will pay a hurried trip to the west but Kelowna is the only Okanagan centre in which he plans to speak to a public meeting.

O. L. Jones, CCF member for Yale, who is seeking re-election will address a public meeting here on Tuesday, June 21, for his only public appearance of the campaign. Other speakers that evening will be given out at a later date.

Although C. J. McDowell, Liberal nominee in Yale, declared that he will continue in the election campaign nothing has been heard here of his campaign activities and yesterday it was suggested

Present Watch To Retiring Clerk Nixon

"In Appreciation of Faithful Service."

This was the inscription on the gold watch which Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley presented to retiring municipal clerk F. J. Nixon at his home on Monday evening, on behalf of the municipal council and the citizens of Summerland.

This presentation commemorated not only thirty years as municipal clerk from 1919 to 1949 but also service in the municipal office which commenced in 1910.

Mr. Bentley spoke in glowing terms of Mr. Nixon's value to the municipality in guiding the councils through the years and stated that the municipality's strong financial position is largely due to the wise counsel of the municipal clerk.

Each councillor in turn, F. E. Atkinson, Eric Tait and Harvey L. Wilson added their tribute to the retiring municipal clerk and emphasized the high regard in which he is held in municipal circles throughout the province.

Mr. Nixon's retirement became effective May 31 and Mr. Gordon Smith's appointment as the new municipal clerk took effect yesterday, June 1.

Besides the council members, Mr. Smith and Mr. J. R. Armstrong, The Review editor attended the presentation.

Mr. Nixon commenced his duties in the municipal office in 1910 and following his return from overseas duties in 1919 he was appointed municipal clerk.

A year ago he became ill and in January it was necessary that his leg be amputated. Although he is looking in good health and has made good progress he still finds great difficulty in using his good limb and it will be some time yet before he is able to leave his home.

That there is still a possibility that he will not allow his nomination papers to go forward on June 18, the date set for nominations to be filed for Yale riding.

If this proves to be the case, then Yale will see a two-way fight between Mayor Theo Adams of Vernon and O. L. Jones of Kelowna.

Free Methodist Church Profuse With Flowers for Likei-Huva Nuptials

Decorated with snowballs, iris, spirea, peonies and pink and white streamers, the Free Methodist church, West Summerland, was the setting on May 27 at four o'clock in the afternoon for the marriage of Alma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Huva, and Edwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Likei. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Mr. Wachlin of Kelowna.

The young bride was given in marriage by her father, and her wedding gown of white satin had a peplum which fell into a long lace-trimmed train. It had a fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline, and lily point sleeves. The long veil was held in place by a round headband. Red roses and white carnations fashioned the bridal bouquet. She wore a double strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

The bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Miss Wilma Huva and Miss Irma Arndt. The former was in mauve taffeta, with a high neckline, short puffed sleeves, and on the skirt, a peplum. The latter was in a similar frock of green taffeta. Their headresses were of taffeta matching their gowns, and their gloves were of shades to match, also. They carried bouquets of pink roses and peonies.

The groom was supported by Mr. Ervin Felker, and the ushers were Mr. Willy Likei, Mr. Jake Rithaler, and Mr. Wm. Likei.

Miss Ruth Dale played the nuptial music, and during the signing of the register Mr. Jerry Howie sang.

A reception for the one hundred and fifty guests followed in the Oddfellows' hall, where streamers decorated the back of the hall above the bridal table and the chairs arranged for the bridal couple. The bride's table was pretty with pink and white streamers and flowers, and a beautiful three-layered cake in the centre.

The bride and groom's parents received with the bridal party. Mr. John Smith, the bride's uncle, proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Mr. Adam Felker toasted the bridesmaids, and the response was made by Mr. Willy Likei.

Vernon Chosen for Convention of BCFGA if Delegates Can be Housed

If accommodation for 100 delegates can be assured, Vernon will be chosen the BCFGA convention site in 1950, the annual meeting of BCFGA directors at Kelowna last Thursday instructed the new executive.

Progress reports by the hall insurance committee, headed by Chairman G. A. Lundy of Oliver were filed with the meeting last week but it is not expected that a complete report will be available until next January's convention.

Another active committee which reported progress was the pear group under M. V. Hickman, acting chairman who stated that a meeting will be held of all interested pear growers in Summerland in the near future. W. E. Powell is a member of this committee.

Nigel Pooly of Kelowna heads a committee investigating the possibility of central cold storage if the need should ever arise. His committee finds there is no need for such a plan now but the data is being gathered for future use.

How do you attack your daily newspaper? Some people devote hours to it, conscientiously wading through everything from community news items to the arrivals of ships on the financial page. Others consider this a waste of time, and maintain that one should read a newspaper only in a standing position; if you have time to sit down, they argue, you should devote it to reading something more substantial.

Some read the comics first of all, which seems to me a mistake. Not that the comics aren't valuable reading; anything that enables one to relax and smile is certainly valuable. But surely one should at least skim the news first, so that the comics and sports pages may come as a relief to the horrible things the headline writers have cooked up.

And although I'm inclined to agree that a daily newspaper—not, please notice, a weekly, such as this—need not be read too thoroughly, it's amazing what you do find in them.

WINNIPEG—Promotion of William G. Connolly, formerly general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways here, to passenger traffic manager, western region, has been announced. Mr. Connolly succeeds William Stapleton, who has retired after 46 years of railway service.

Last week, browsing longer than usual through an edition of a Vancouver daily, I was especially struck by three things.

One was the fiction right on the front page. Nobody knows, of course, how much fiction we get served up to us as fact news—how many two-column stories are padded out of a dozen words or so of actual fact, how much those facts are selected or colored according to the prejudices and preferences of the publisher.

But this was obviously fiction, for it painted in lurid colors the misfortunes of the people of New Zealand under a socialistic government; and the worst of these, apparently, was that the poor wretches cannot buy new American (or Canadian) cars, but are limited strictly to English models.

Which may be truly terrible; but I know an awful lot of people in Canada, including me, who cannot buy a new American (or Canadian) car either. I'd be perfectly happy to be able to buy any one of several English cars new. After all, England makes the Rolls and the Daimler, as well as the baby Austin; the latter's big brother, the A90, has recently beaten a great many American stock car records. England also makes, I am amazed to learn, three one-cylinder cars able to go 100 miles an hour.

There was more of the same stuff in the article—much more. What a pity to spoil a good front page with such anti-socialist, political propaganda, when a daily newspaper in itself—40 big pages of assorted reading for 5 cents—is one of the biggest tributes that can be paid to the working of the free enterprise "capitalistic" system.

In sharp contrast to news of war and violence, political claptrap, and commercial advertising was the second thing of interest, an installment of the life of Christ, beautifully and movingly written. An odd thing, one might think, to find in a big busy daily; or to be written by a former editor of Liberty and author of detective stories.

Thirdly, on the stock market page—far afield indeed from my usual haunts of sports and comics—a most amazing true story of a man who coolly stole a whole ship out of New York harbor! He sold it for enough to make him rich, was caught, escaped, and fled to a farm at Haney in the Fraser Valley. There he lived for years incognito, apparently, before American detectives caught up with him through a letter to a woman.

So you never know what may be the past of your peaceful farmer neighbors. Or what you may find in the pages of your daily newspaper.

Another Milestone is Passed

THIS edition of The Summerland Review marks the start of the fourth year of publication.

We have been so busy with voters' lists printing and general election business, not to mention the Spring Fair, that we have hardly had time to realize how the time has passed.

When we started this venture in May, 1946, a sage pioneer in the newspaper world gave us some good advice, which ran somewhat as follows:

"The first year, you will be received with enthusiasm. Everybody will be very glad to welcome your new paper, although many will be skeptical that you can last. The second year will be the cooling off year. People will start to take you as a matter of course. The third year, you will realize that you have offended some people and your policies have made a few minor enemies.

"But if you are firmly established and still going strong by the end of the third year, you can pretty well consider that you have arrived."

We will let the readers be the judge. We have attempted to present a newspaper worthy of a fine community. We have endeavored, to the best of our ability to cover all news happenings of the week and to provide as fine an advertising medium for the business men as is possible in this district. If we have failed in any of these categories it has not been through lack of endeavor.

In succeeding weeks, months and, we expect, years, this will be our continued aim . . . to provide you with the best weekly newspaper it is possible for our plant to produce.

The entire staff joins with the publisher in thanking all those who have co-operated so willingly in the past three years—the business men of the community, the public and fraternal organizations, the news boys, those who take time out to give us those small items of news which are so valuable, and the host of others who assist in so many and valuable ways and have given us encouragement.

The Party or the Man

SUPPORT of the candidate or the party is a question which vexes many persons at election time. Sometimes it is the party which gets the nod and at other times the personality of the candidate and his record of honesty and public achievement weighs more heavily than his party affiliations.

In South Okanagan, there is no doubt that we have two outstanding candidates, W. A. C. Bennett, a former MLA, is known as a fearless fighter who does not allow party affiliations to weigh too heavily with him if he believes the party has taken the wrong turning.

Tom Wilkinson is not so well known in Summerland as he is in Westbank and the vegetable growing area on the east side of the lake in the environs of Kelowna. His history has been one of many years plugging for the co-operative farmers' enterprises, especially from a marketing angle.

But in the matter of the parties these two men represent there is a wide variance.

W. A. C. Bennett represents the Coalition interests, under Premier Byron Johnson and Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb. Mr. Bennett's Coalition party is standing on the record of its achievements since 1945 and the future program of industrial development which it is asking the people of B.C. to support by returning the Coalition government to Victoria.

Tom Wilkinson represents the socialists of the province, under the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation party. They have eleven seats in the official Opposition to the Coalition in Victoria. Under CCF Leader Harold Winch, Mr. Wilkinson and the other party candidates wish to oust the Coalition government and substitute a socialist experiment.

So, we have on June 15 two candidates whose personal appeal is great to many followers, but whose parties are diametrically opposed. One has a proven platform of achievement and definite program of expansion waiting to be undertaken. The other wishes an experiment in government such as Saskatchewan has been undergoing these past few years.

Rev. D. O. Knipfel Inducted as Minister of Baptist Church Here in Impressive Ceremony

Rev. D. O. Knipfel was inducted as pastor of the West Summerland Baptist church on Thursday evening, May 26, at a thought-provoking service, presided over by Mr. W. C. Wilkin. There was a large attendance of members of the congregation, and friends from Vernon, Kelowna, Peachland and Penticton.

Rev. D. O. T. Gibson of the Baptist church, Vernon, secretary of the B.C. convention of Baptist churches, spoke for the provincial convention, bringing a welcome to the new minister to this province from Mr. Chas. Bentall, chairman of the B.C. board, and from Rev. Dr. J. L. Sloat, of Kerrisdale Baptist church, president of the B.C. convention.

In this province there is great opportunity for service, since the population has increased over 30 percent in the last few years, he said.

"The Baptist church is on a distinct up-grade," said the speaker, "has a better staff, is better financed, and has a greater building program than for many years. There have been also a commendable number of baptisms."

Continuing, Mr. Gibson spoke of the consciousness of the church for co-operative enterprise. He paralleled the association of Baptists to the British Commonwealth of nations, which are held together by a common allegiance. The churches are held together in Christian fellowship, and not by any form of ecclesiasticism.

He invited Mr. Knipfel to share in this fellowship, locally and provincially.

Tribute was paid to the former pastor, Rev. F. W. Haskins, who is now in charge of young people's work in the Baptist churches in the four western provinces.

"The church realizes the strategic importance of this favored part of B.C.," asserted Mr. Gibson, "and the great influence of small churches throughout the country. The Baptist denomination is the largest Protestant group on the North American continent, and the largest free sect of Christian people in the world. In the last 125 years Baptists have increased 8000 per cent."

He cited the names of well-known Baptists, such as John Bunyan, C. H. Spurgeon and A. H. Strong, and left their names as a challenge to the new incumbent.

Rev. J. A. Roskam, Penticton, formerly of Chilliwack, exemplified "the charge" to the pastor and people. He congratulated Mr. Knipfel on being called to the West Summerland church, spoke of its organization, and the loyalty of the members to the denomination and the pastor. In a kindly, understanding manner he instructed the new-comer to remember Paul's admonition and "to declare the whole counsel of God."

"It is a well-known saying," said he, "take your best clothes to the city, and your best sermon to the country."

A former minister at West Summerland, he had never known a congregation better indoctrinated with New Testament teachings.

To the people he counselled, "Let your enthusiasm continue. The church is your responsibility, and you can make or mar the ministry."

Mr. Wm. Ritchie, senior deacon of the church, replied for the people, giving a warm welcome to Mr. Knipfel, his wife and family, and saying that the congregation was ready to help, concluding with, "each one has a place to fill and will do it to the best of his or her ability."

Mrs. G. J. Coulter White presented Mrs. Knipfel with a bouquet wishing her a happy stay here, and that it would be a long time before it was necessary to move to other fields of work.

Rev. W. S. Angell brought fraternal greetings from the Free Methodist church. Rev. H. R. Whitmore spoke for the Summerland charge, St. Andrew's United, and Lakeside United, for the local ministerial association, and for the Kamloops-Okanagan presbytery of which he is secretary, mentioning the fine friendly relations enjoyed between the Summerland churches. Humorously, he compared the valley to a Dagwood sandwich with the crusts at either end, part of the filling in between, but the real meat at Summerland. Canon F. V. Harrison was at Winfield and unable to attend.

Mr. Knipfel's response to all the speakers was to express gratitude for the communications of welcome and for the gracious reception given to him at the beginning of what he hoped would be an effective ministry.

There was congregational singing at the start of the meeting; the choir sang during its progress with Miss Gerda Arndt taking the solo part, and Mrs. W. C. Wilkin, Mrs. Howard Milne and Mrs. B. Bergstrom were heard in a trio. Miss Ruth Dale was accompanist.

Delicious refreshments were served with Miss Barbara Braun in charge, assisted by other members.

URGES GROWERS TO STATE NEEDS

In announcing that Mr. W. J. Beattie would again be placement officer for the farm labor service in Summerland, the Vancouver office has this to say about the well-known local man:

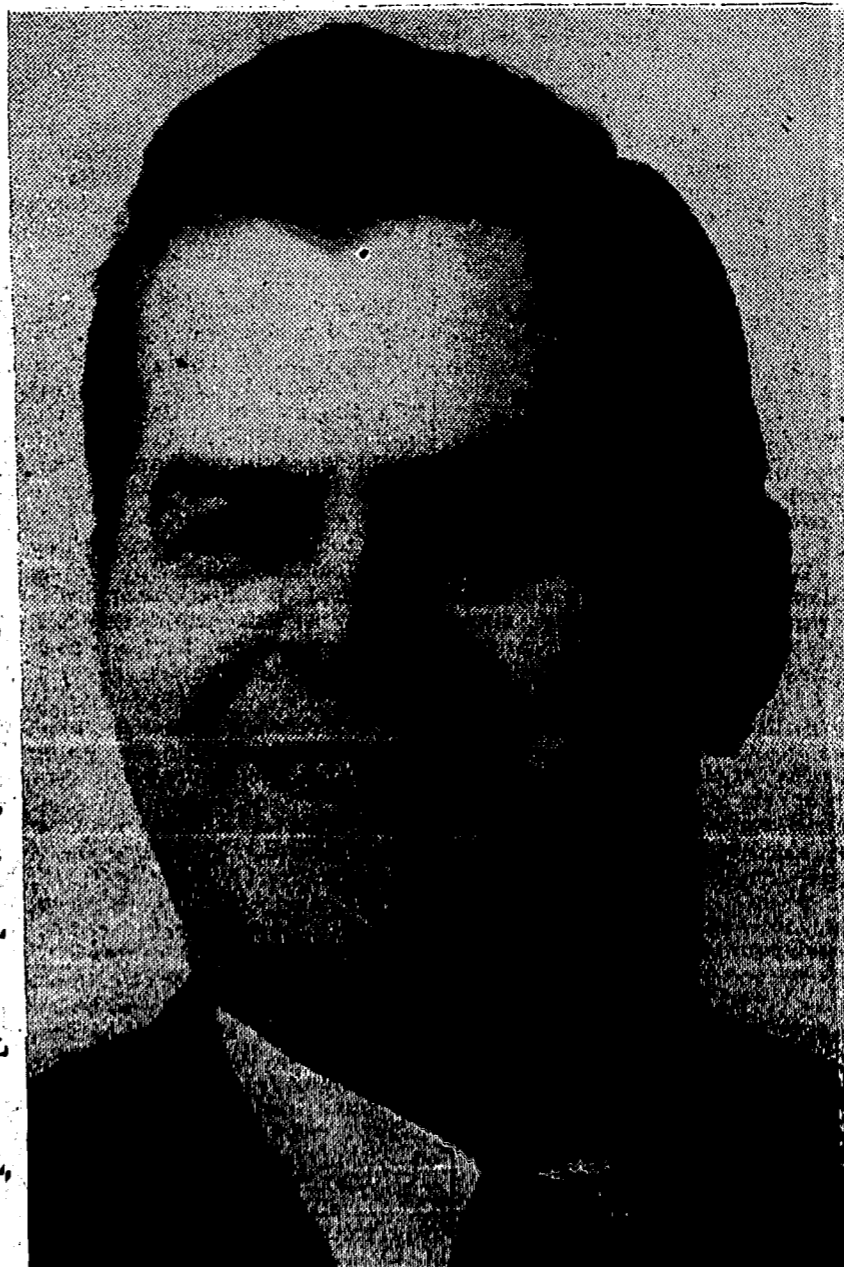

"Over a period of six years since the inception of the program he has rendered very valuable service to the growers in this capacity and they are again urged to contact him and indicate their requirements for the coming season with as little delay as possible."

Mr. Eddie Hannah has been turning out some very nice tolled leather work, a craft which he learned when he was in a military hospital for a long period. The leather used in all the articles he makes is of a high quality, and the more it is used the better it looks, taking on a fine polish. He makes purses in brown and in black, with zipper fastenings.

A. W. Gray Again Heads Irrigation Districts in B.C.

KELOWNA—Election of officers at the annual general meeting of the Association of B.C. Irrigation Districts held on Wednesday, May 18, resulted in the re-election by acclamation of all of last year's executive.

Reports were heard on the negotiations with the provincial department of lands regarding implementation of the Clement Report, and a committee was appointed to study the matter of an irrigation act and an irrigation commission to administer it.

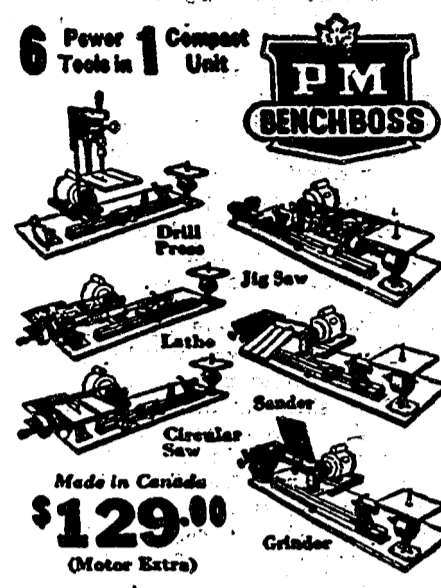

This committee, consisting of H. C. E. Collett, T. S. Hughes and R. W. Corner, with president A. W. Gray as ex-officio member, will investigate the proposal of getting the reaction of various districts in order to present a brief for consideration at the next general meeting of the association.

Most delegates at the meeting were in favor of "going slow" on surrendering their individual authority over their own works and water supplies, but favored some body to administer PFRA and provincial funds on irrigation projects, and to deal with the power commission and the agencies handling flood control in order to get co-ordination of effort in conserving and utilizing water resources of the dry belt.

In his address to the meeting, the president A. W. Gray stated: "I would urge this association to continue to use its weight and influence upon the side of development and expansion, not on a grandiose scale in a precipitate fashion, but steadily and progressively, in keeping with the growth of the country as a whole."

Officers for the coming year are as follows: president, A. W. Gray, Rutland; vice-president, C. D. Osborn, Vernon; secretary-treasurer, C. E. Sladen, Kelowna; executive committee, J. Laursen, Armstrong; R. W. Corner, Glenmore; H. McNeill, Peachland; auditor, T. S. Hughes, Rutland.

Less than half the cost of the individual power tools, yet requires only one (1/2 H.P.) motor. The BENCHBOSS is sturdily built—and most swings easily into positions to drive all six tools. Fitted for speed variations.

CCF IN

tion and medical care free of charge.
In 1944, the CCF government started its plans for a hospitalization program. At that time there were only 3.9 beds for every 1000 population.
When this number was increased to five, the hospitalization scheme was inaugurated. Now the number has been increased to seven and will be 7.5 per 1000 by the year end.
The hospitalization scheme only pays two-thirds the cost, the balance having to come from general revenue, he stated.
"We believe health should have nothing to do with your pocket-book," he declared.
Insurance Scheme
Next, Mr. Douglas dealt with the contentious insurance scheme. The compulsory insurance scheme was inaugurated at $5 per car, made a profit each year, the benefits having been increased in each of the three years.
"Private insurance companies declared that we would go broke at the $5 rate. I suspect that the insurance companies have been going broke in a similar manner for years."
He declared that the rates have now been changed on a sliding scale according to the vintage of the car, the rates ranging from $4.50 for the oldest cars to $10 for new models.

He listed the coverage as including all occupants of the car, every person struck by the car, with doctors and hospital bills being paid and a lump sum for injury and pain, with dismemberment and death benefits.
Also included is collision damage, $100 deductible; public liability and property damage up to $10,000; and fire and theft with $100 deductible. For another $17.50 the $100 deductible clauses can be covered with the government insurance company.
"We are proving that 800,000 people, by pooling their resources, are obtaining a co-operative security which they could never obtain before."
All these benefits cost money and Premier Douglas then proceeded to speak on sources from which the government is obtaining its revenues.
"We were accused of being visionaries, that taxes would go sky high, that we would ruin the credit of Saskatchewan," he continued. "Yet 25,000 more people voted for the CCF in Saskatchewan last year than in 1944."
He declared the provincial debt had been reduced from $215,000,000 in 1944 to $143,000,000 in 1948, "the greatest reduction of provincial debt in the history of Canada."

The CCF government increased revenue from the liquor interests and took a bigger portion of the hotelmen's profits. Royalties from coal, oil, sodium sulphate, timber, zinc, tin and silver were increased. The companies didn't like it, but it was fair.
"There is only one place you can get money and that is from the people who have it," he emphasized.
Crown Companies
He instanced the 11 crown corporations set up by Saskatchewan government in an endeavor to increase revenues. There had been mistakes made in forming these companies and his government acknowledges them, he said.
In dealing with CCF policy, he declared that as long as any enterprise is not monopolistic in character then it should continue as private enterprise.
He boasted that his province has the largest co-operative membership of any province in Canada, and declared that there is an exchange of goods between co-operatives in his province and Great Britain and this policy could be enlarged between B.C. and Saskatchewan.
Of the eleven public co-operatives, or crown corporations, only one has lost money, that being the operation of the shoe factory and woollen mill, which was mainly caused because modern machinery was not available and the big companies would not buy the finished products, he said.
In 1947, a clear profit of $5,300,000 over the entire 11 companies was shown, Premier Douglas stated.
A forty percent increase in the number of people receiving electric power has been noted in five years, and rates have been reduced four times.
The general insurance company, handling all but life insurance, handed over four millions in business and the profit last year was $80,000. This company was started on a capital of $12,000 and cut rates three times, he stated, forcing the private companies to reduce their rates.
Premier Douglas, in closing, deprecated the free enterprise system of "dog eat dog" and the "law of the jungle."
"We don't believe that man is no more than a beast; but that men can help each other, share each other's burdens and produce a standard of living better than any other country."
"We have the resources in this country which should produce a standard of living but we aren't because we are controlled by a system which operated for profit instead of humanity first."

Jack and Jill School Closes

Monday, May 30, was closing day for the season for the first year of the Jack and Jill kindergarten, and there were candy baskets and a little gift for each of the children who have been fortunate enough to be in attendance.
There have been 24 on the roll, which was as many as could be accommodated. The average attendance was 20, with praise for high attendance going to Douglas Laidlaw, Billy Wellwood, Douglas Rumball and George Burnell.

The teachers, Mrs. Howard Milne and Mrs. Francis Stuart, are grateful to the mothers for their co-operation as helpers throughout the year, and to the Baptist church for use of the church parlors.

Children graduating to the elementary school are Douglas Rumball, Angus Whitmore, John Lott, Douglas Laidlaw, Linda Wilkin, Ginny Braddick, June Milne, Judy Johnston, Jackie Adams, and Dawn Knipfel.

It is hoped to continue the school again next October under a special new kindergarten course available from the department of education following, too, the program of rhythm band, music, and Christian education.

Place Flowers on Graves of Members

A committee was appointed from the Oddfellows' and Rebekah lodges to place flowers on the graves of those who were members of the lodges, and on those of their near relatives on Oddfellows-Rebekah Memorial Day, May 29.

This was done last Sunday afternoon. Those responsible for finding flowers and taking them to the cemeteries were John and Sandy Caldwell, Harvey Eden, W. S. Ritchie, Mrs. E. Hannah, Mrs. W. S. Ritchie and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson.

"Money was meant to be a medium of exchange, not as a master of men," he concluded, cutting short his talk so that he could travel to Penticton to address an audience there.

Mr. Herb Lemke was chairman of the meeting and Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley welcomed Premier Douglas to Summerland.

George Inglis' Big Trout Goes to Hospital Patients

Patients at the Summerland hospital had a fine treat of Kamloops trout last weekend, following further successes of George Inglis, who has been taking these fine finny specimens out of Okanagan lake with almost monotonous regularity this spring and early summer.

Last Friday, George landed the biggest beauty of the season, a fourteen-pounder, measuring 33 inches in length.

He turned the fish over to the hospital and the patients enjoyed a fine feed of trout.

George used a Gibbs-Stewart No. 5 to land this beauty.

On Monday, Charlie Wharton landed a similar beauty, weighing only three ounces less than Mr. Inglis' prize and measuring the same in length.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Barclay of New Westminster, arrived Saturday to make their home with the latter's sister, Mrs. J. McPherson.

That is the 8% sales tax. The one the budget missed. The one that hits you hardest. This quotation from a Liberal member of Parliament shows what the government is doing to keep taxes high . . . despite the "bribery" reductions in the budget.

So that you may have a sure, adequate income, the Progressive Conservative Party will - Reduce sales taxes. • Provide deductions to farmers for members of family who contribute to revenue. • Reduce income tax rates and increase exemptions. • End the administrative persecution of farmers by tax collectors.

For your protection the Progressive Conservative Party will take these steps:

PRICES

—Permanent floor price legislation based on these principles:

- A definite formula in the Farm Prices Support Act for arriving at floor prices. • Floor prices will be announced well in advance of production period. • The formula will allow for variations in production and demand for individual products. • The floor price formula will be arrived at in consultation with representatives of producers.

EXPORT MARKETS

Restoration of the Canadian Wheat Board to serve its original purpose as a Marketing Agency for wheat producers . . . and its extension to include the handling of coarse grains.

Inclusion of representatives of farmer's organizations on all Boards dealing with farm matters.

Severe Dieback Is Worrying Local Growers

Sharp frosts a month ago killed 11,000 tomato plants in Westbank, the Horticultural News Letter dated May 25 reports for the Westbank, Peachland and Summerland area.

However, fruit trees have been making rapid growth in this district, with apricots now reaching thinning size.

"The Moorpark variety promises a heavy crop but Blenheims will be light. Peaches have set a fair crop but here and there are light due to leaf curl infestations last year. Certain varieties, particularly Hale and Elberta, did not winter well and set is disappointing.

"Pears, which had a heavy blossom, have set an average crop. Plums, prunes and cherries promise a heavy crop.

"It is too early to estimate apples but so far the Delicious appear very heavy. Winesaps and Staymans heavy, Newtowns and McIntosh patchy.

"Spraying for first brood codling moth started last week and is in full swing now. European red mite is starting to show up here and there. Pear psylla nymphs have been observed in several orchards.

"A severe type of dieback, similar to that usually accompanying boron deficiency is very prevalent in stone fruits this year and is occurring more frequently on the shallow, sandy soils. Peaches seem to be most seriously affected, but prunes and apricots have also suffered. Some Newtown apple trees show similar symptoms.

"Although the disorder has the general appearance of boron deficiency, it is occurring on soils which have received boron applications at the recommended intervals."

Spray Ineffective
Kelowna reports that many growers tried blossom thinning sprays but they appear to be largely ineffective. The report states that this may be because of very warm weather at blossom time and consequently a very short period when such sprays would be effective.

Penticton reports the appearance of cottony maple scale for the first time in many years on peaches, plums and apricots.

"All crops of tree fruits look good except peaches and pears," states the news from Oliver-Osoyoos. "In the Osoyoos area, trees are still dying either completely or partially from winter-kill. Pears did not set well although the blossom was there and the weather seemed to favor pollination."

Club Lists Repairs Needed at Ellison Hall Before Council

Summerland Singers & Players club informed the municipal council that Ellison hall is in need of repairs and alterations, when the council met on Monday, May 23.

Among the changes listed were a new furnace, additional chairs, and a chair storage space, major repairs to the roof, improvements to the stage and removal of two pillars at the rear of the hall.

Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley told the council that Roads Supervisor Don Wright has made a report but as it had not been studied yet he would not disclose the contents that afternoon. It was also stated that Mr. J. Dalrymple had expressed some comments on how the hall could be renovated satisfactorily.

Growers Re-Elect Stirling As Prexy for Further Term; W. R. Powell Named Governor

J. R. J. Stirling, popular Kelowna fruit grower, will remain at the helm of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Assn. for another year, directors of the growers' organization decided at their annual meeting in Kelowna last Thursday afternoon.

"Jock" Stirling succeeded A. G. DesBrisay of Penticton in 1946 and has been an outstanding figure in B.C. natural products circles since the cessation of hostilities. He is also president of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, and has many other posts in agricultural activities across the country.

There was no change in Mr. Stirling's executive as last year's officers were re-elected, as follows: J. G. Campbell, Salmon Arm, for the mainline area; W. T. Cameron, Coldstream, for North Okanagan; Ivor Newman, Glenmore, Central Okanagan; G. A. Lundy, Oliver, South Okanagan, and John S. Hall, Erickson, for the Kootenays.

W. R. Powell, of Summerland was re-nominated as one of the governors of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. The BCFGA directors, according to the constitution, can only nominate the governors, as the growers' sales agency is a limited company, but these nominations must be accepted by the company, which makes the actual appointments.

Only one new governor appears on the list this year, E. Bomford of Okanagan Falls replacing W. H. Morris of Penticton as one of the three governors for South Okanagan. The other two for this area are Mr. Powell and Albert Millar of Oliver.

Other governors who will remain in office are: J. Hanna, Salmon Arm, for the mainline; T. D. Shaw-McLaren of Oyama and Tim Hill of Coldstream, representing North Okanagan; L. E. Marshall of Glenmore and L. G. Butler of East Kelowna representing Central Okanagan; John Hall, Erickson, for the Kootenays.

B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. is also a grower-owned and controlled limited company and the BCFGA directors nominated directors for this body. Mr. Powell is also a director of the processing company.

G. A. Barrat, who is chairman of the B.C. Fruit Board, has dropped out as a director of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. and has been replaced by H. Graeper of Kamloops.

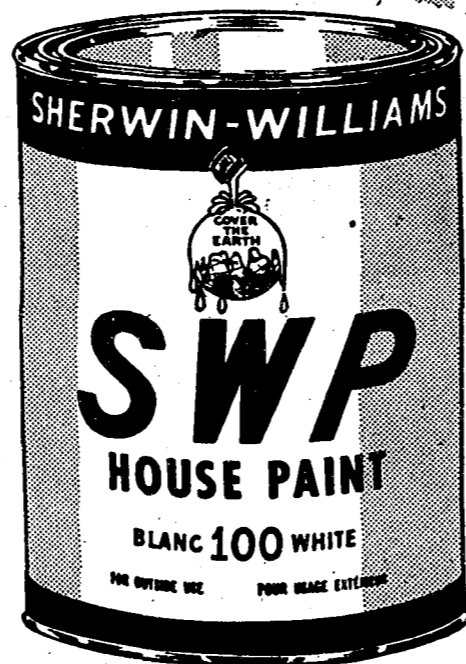

Other directors renominated last Thursday were: A. W. Gray of Oyama, L. Deighton of Oliver, C. C. Macdonald of Penticton, L. G. Butler of East Kelowna, and A. G. DesBrisay of Penticton who is the B.C. Fruit Board representative on this body.

Watering and Cultivation Important

(Experimental Farms News)

If young trees have been planted with care, and if watering at planting has been adequate, they should start into growth within a month, and the objective should be to ensure that this growth is well maintained throughout the summer.

In the irrigated sections of British Columbia, ample soil moisture is the most important factor, says F. W. L. Keane, Dominion Experiment Station, Summerland.

The young tree is not yet firmly established, and is inclined to dry out more quickly during its first summer than will be the case later in its life. In irrigating by the furrow method, particular care should be taken to lead the water by hoe close to the young tree.

Where young trees have been replanted in the gaps of an old orchard, the ordinary furrows are usually three or four feet from the tree trunks, and this is far too great a distance to enable the young trees to receive sufficient moisture.

Next in importance to soil moisture, and closely related to it, is adequate cultivation. During their first summer, trees should be thoroughly hoed not less often than after each irrigation, and preferably oftener. A space of at least five feet diameter round the tree should be kept completely free of competing cover-crop and weed growth, and the soil should be kept loose at all times.

Careful watch should be kept during the growing season for insect pests and diseases which may attack the young tree. For control measures the spray calendar for the district should be consulted.

Protection from animals should also receive attention. If cultivation round the tree is thorough, mice will usually not be a menace during the summer, but pocket gophers can ruin a tree very quickly and these should be trapped or poisoned as soon as their mounds are seen.

It should be the aim of the grower to obtain an average terminal growth of eighteen to twenty-four inches on his young trees during the first summer, and with reasonable care this is not difficult.

Many Projects Discussed by Busy A.O.T.S.

Despite a disappointingly small attendance, the May 26 meeting of the Summerland AOTS Club in Lakeside church hall featured the usual lively discussion of club and community projects.

When the group got down to business after supper and a singing, several members expressed themselves as being strongly in favor of trying to get local Japanese young men to join the club. It was agreed that there is definitely a place for them in AOTS, if they could be persuaded, and plans were made for increasing membership in several ways.

Joe Sheeley for the projects committee reported that the Red Sox baseball team had got off to a poor start but were rounding well into shape, and that Harry Brad-dick had offered to buy shirts for the boys. This was quite acceptable to the AOTS members.

It was suggested that sports for the kiddies should be a feature of May 24 every year, and if the board of trade will no longer sponsor them, the AOTS will.

Bert Stent reported that the AOTS Hobby Fair booth at the Spring Fair had attracted considerable attention with its electric trains, and thanked all who had helped, especially Eric Tait, Blair Underwood and Herb Pohlman for lending their trains.

Ernie Bennett reported for the cemetery committee that there was steady progress both in improving Peach Orchard cemetery and in winning support from the municipal council for its care. He added a word for the parks committee that the Memorial Park is presenting a creditable appearance. Progress was reported from

Would Change "Yale" To "Okanagan" in Federal Elections

VERNON—The Junior Chambers of Commerce in the Valley figured in last week's meeting of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association at Armstrong, in that their proposal that the Federal Electoral District of Yale be changed to read the "Federal Electoral District of the Okanagan," received endorsement by the mayors, Reeves and aldermen assembled in quarterly session. The elector district referred to will take in the same territory.

The Jaycees originated the idea at a recent regional meeting in the Valley. The group feels valuable publicity is lost through the "misnomer."

THE SHOW MUST GO ON SAYS ELEANOR

Little Eleanor Raincock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raincock, Summerland, had rather an unusual accident last week, when playing with other children at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Lewis, they were casting fish-lines. A hook caught in her cheek, necessitating going to the hospital to have it removed.

It seems that she and some of her friends were having a play that afternoon, and nothing daunted, she insisted on going back to see and take part in it. When she returned the performance had just started, and the Daniels, Lewis, and Gillard children welcomed her back, and so did her friends Joan MacDonald and Kenny Bissett.

Bill Jenkinson gave his final report of the AOTS Request Concert, showing net proceeds to be $186.71. This was good news, and on that happy note the meeting adjourned.

Legal Advice Obtained on Lease of Park

Members of the special committee appointed by the Summerland Hockey Assn. to prepare a campaign for a covered ice surface for hockey and curling will be asked to study a letter prepared by the municipal solicitors, Boyle & Aikins, dealing with the suggested lease of a portion of the Living Memorial park-playground.

George Stoll heads this special committee while members are C. H. Elsey and L. W. Rumball. Mr. Stoll has been particularly active in formulating plans for a type of arena, and sought council reaction to a plan for the hockey association to lease for twenty years that portion of the park which is occupied by the outdoor rink at present.

Boyle & Aikins informed the council that dedication of the park should be proceeded with, and pointed out a number of pitfalls which might accrue in the attempt to build an ice arena. The law firm advocated the hockey association becoming a society under the act.

It was suggested that enough property could be transferred to the association if the ratepayers agreed, and that this would be a better solution than arranging a lease for twenty years.

Further study is to be given this subject by Mr. Stoll and members of his committee, in conjunction with the council.

PENTICTON—Good news for the city last week was contained in the announcement that the provincial government will set aside the sum of $55,000 for further work in Penticton creek.

The sum is earmarked for the stretch between Westminster avenue and the mouth of the creek but no specifications of the work to be undertaken have yet been received by District Engineer J. W. Miers.

Okanagan Municipalities Again Ask B.C. Government to Take Over Entire Education Cost

VERNON — Okanagan Valley mayors, reeves and their councils see no other way of lightening the taxpayers' burden insofar as costs of education are concerned than to make the whole issue a provincial government responsibility.

Meeting in quarterly session, Wednesday, May 25, in Armstrong, the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association by unanimous resolution "reiterated its previous stand that the provincial government should bear the whole cost of education, and that the municipalities relinquish their claim for any portion of the Social Assistance and Municipal Aid Tax, if the Province of British Columbia assumes the cost of all education."

A brisk discussion was touched off when a letter from Victoria's Mayor Percy George was read, asking that B.C. municipalities endorse that city's stand, in that the SS and MA tax should be shared equally by the province and the municipalities, and not one percent of the three percent going to the municipalities as at present.

Practically everyone in the assembly of 40 joined in the discussion, climaxed when Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games moved the resolution, flatly declaring that his city was "not in sympathy" with Victoria.

He was emphatic that when the subject of raising more money for social security and municipal aid was first discussed by the Union of B.C. Municipalities in convention at Harrison Hot Springs, the municipalities did not ask for any part of the sum so raised, but suggested it as a method of raising extra funds to pay for the ever-mounting costs of these services.

Alderman J. H. Horn, of Kelowna, president of the Okanagan Municipal Association, was chairman. Representatives of municipalities from Kamloops to Penticton attended.

Amend Health Act

A resolution proposed by Summerland, and carried unanimously, was that the association request the Union of B.C. Municipalities to ask for the amendment of the public health act, so that the installation of washroom facilities be mandatory in all eating establishments serving three-course meals.

As considerable publicity has been to the effect that a pipeline to convey natural gas from Alberta to Vancouver will be constructed, and thence south to points in the United States, Penticton moved a resolution that strong representations be made through the correct channels to have this pipeline extended to serve the cities in the Okanagan Valley. This was endorsed unanimously, each municipality represented agreeing to approach the respective Boards of Trade also to press for this action.

Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games of Kelowna was appointed delegate from the association to attend the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Reeves, to be held in Quebec on June 7-10. His expenses will be raised through special assessment on the municipalities, as is the custom.

The next meeting of the association will be held in Kelowna in August. The invitation from Mayor Hughes-Games was accepted with thanks. Summerland also extended an invitation, and Mayor J. Moffatt, of Kamloops, said that city would be glad to be hosts at

Thief Interrupted In Safe Attempt

VERNON—A thief attempting to break into the safe of the Pioneer Sash and Door Company had his hard work interrupted suddenly on Monday night, May 23.

Manager Frank F. Becker and two M.C. Police constables were chatting at 11:15 p.m. when Mr. Becker heard a scuffle in the back of the office. Through a door window, he saw a man suddenly stand up and run towards the back. The constables and Mr. Becker hurried to the rear of the building, made an immediate search of the area but failed to trace the culprit.

Returning to the office, they found the thief had been at work on the safe. Lying on the floor, near the double-paned, heavy safe, were the tools he had used in his attempted theft. Nothing was stolen.

Gil Jacobs Hits Hall Of Fame With Shut Out

Gil Jacobs, pride and joy of the Summerland Red Sox turned in a no hit, no run performance... as his teammates turned on the steam at Naramata last Sunday to win a South Okanagan junior league fixture 18-0.

The lean Red Sox hurler handcuffed the hapless Naramata lads from the start, striking out nineteen and not allowing one opposing baserunner to get past second. He gave three passes to first and there was one error so only 29 men faced him in the game, the one man getting on bases through a miscue being cut off at third on an attempted steal.

While Gil was mowing them down, the Red Sox were murdering Luxton and Dunham (Naramata's Dunham, not our Jack) who were taken down the road for twenty-two hits.

The Red Sox emulated Princeton in stealing thirteen bases and running wild in general. Bob Weitzel and Dunham led the hitters with four for five each, while Jacobs and D. Weitzel were right behind them on the swatting.

By the end of the third, the Red Sox had advanced to a 6-0 lead over Naramata and from then on it was just a matter of how high the score would mount.

This Sunday, the juniors entertain Osoyoos in another league fixture. The Red Sox have now won two and lost one, with one game rained out in the season to date.

Herb Simpson Gold Button Winner

Following a shoot-off, Herb Simpson won the coveted gold button, symbolic of the highest single score made in the month of May, last Sunday at the Garnet Valley range of the Summerland Rifle club.

Mr. Simpson, along with George, Ted and Phil Dunsdon, had a score of 99 out of a possible 105. George Dunsdon won the silver button and Ted Dunsdon the bronze button.

This is a new contest at the local rifle range this year, and has proved most interesting, having caused a good deal of rivalry.

Scores at the range last Sunday follow: Ted Dunsdon 99, H. Simpson 96, Art Dunsdon 94, Fred Dunsdon, Phil Dunsdon, George Dunsdon and George Pennington 93, Jack Dunsdon 91, Doug Price and A. Moyle 90, Joe McLachlan and Ed Gould 89, Dave Taylor and Fred Anderson 87, George Forster 86, H. (Pop) Dunsdon and J. M. McArthur 81, R. Proudlock 71.

Princeton Steals Coffey Blind To Wallop Merchants 15-4

Summerland Merchants had battery trouble last Sunday afternoon at the Living Memorial athletic park. And that is a mild way of putting it - as Princeton Royals blasted the Merchants in a regular league fixture by a one-sided 15-4 count in a game which had the fans disgusted and walking home after the disastrous seventh frame.

Inability to hold runners on the bases cost the Merchants a ball game which, for six frames, wasn't a bad ball game and featured sensational catches by Walsh and Taylor.

Nine runs crossed the plate in that fatal seventh and dissipated any hopes which the Merchants had of pulling the chestnuts out of the fire.

Al Coffey, who had shown good hurling strength up to that time, clearly did not know how to cope with a heady group of ball players who soon found out that they could steal him blind. And Wendel Schwab's throw to second wasn't strong enough to cope with the big leadoff allowed the runners.

In desperation, Manager Allen Holmes tried every combination possible but could not stem the tide.

Then another chance for a double went west when Taylor dived for a Texas leaguer and just missed, the ball rolling for a two-bagger for Liberatore and the bags were cleared ahead of him. Kovich singled and G. Currie walked.

The pattern of things to come was seen in that frame when Princeton players stole four bases. In the fifth, Princeton took a commanding lead of 8-3. Kovich started things rolling when he singled, went to second on a wild pitch, to third on Coffey's balk and home on a passed ball. Then Ike Mullen singled, stole second and came across on L. Currie's mighty triple. The latter scored on Nishihara's single.

No further scoring occurred until the seventh when fourteen Princeton players made a trip to the plate.

Currie was on the paths when Mullen laid one down to Brawler, who put him out at first. Currie never stopped at second, but raced to third when he noticed Wally Day fast asleep and not covering the third base sack while Brawler was busy retrieving the ball.

L. Currie's single scored G. Currie and the runner advanced around the circuit on two stolen bases and two passed balls. At this stage, Coffey was sent into right field and Hankins entered the mound, but he could not find the plate and walked the first three men before he was yanked.

Coffey was brought back in but Dan Currie, a pinch hitter, hit one through the box which went for a single, scoring LaChance. It would have been a doubleplay if Coffey had been quicker.

Then another chance for a double went west when Taylor dived for a Texas leaguer and just missed, the ball rolling for a two-bagger for Liberatore and the bags were cleared ahead of him. Kovich singled and G. Currie walked.

and that was all for Coffey.

Wendel Schwab went onto the mound, Wally Day went behind the plate and two more runs came across before the final out was made. Nine runs came across on this debacle.

For the eighth and ninth Jackie Walsh was put on the mound and managed to retire Princeton without any more runs.

By this time, Nishihara, the veteran Princeton hurler, was in his element and mowed down the Merchants' batters without mercy. He played a heady game and was a big factor in the Princeton victory.

Eleven stolen bases were chalked down for Princeton, which meant all the difference in the ball game, apart, of course, from the fifteen hits for the winners to eight for the Merchants.

Take Over Companies
 He spoke of the B.C. Power Commission taking over unprofitable small plants and leaving the two profitable companies on their own. The CCF would take over these two companies, he prophesied.

Mr. Wilkinson resented being termed a Communist and stated that the only antidote to Communism is a satisfied people. "If you want to accelerate communism then return the Coalition. The Liberals and Conservatives gave them a good start in the thirties."

He labelled George Drew as the "most dangerous man in Canada", and warned that to elect Drew would be paving the way for a return to the thirties.

Again stating that he is a practical man and a "Conservative Socialist" he urged his listeners to elect a government which "will help you help yourselves."

Queries on insurance were fired at Mr. Wilkinson by Lorne Perry and Walter M. Wright. Mr. Bruce Woodworth, Westbank, added a startling note when he challenged Mr. Wright to inform the audience the amount of premiums he receives on an insurance policy; to repeat a statement which Mr. Wright had made in private to Mr. Woodworth and Mr. Lemke.

Mr. Wright declined to divulge

Manslaughter Case Being Heard Today

The charge of manslaughter against John Newton involving the death on Giant's Head road, on October 15 last of William J. Tullett, commenced in Spring Assizes at Vernon yesterday afternoon and is continuing this morning.

Newton was committed for trial by Magistrate H. Sharman in Summerland police court in the preliminary hearing. The late Mr. Tullett was riding a bicycle on the Giant's Head road and became involved with the Newton truck. He died in Summerland hospital shortly after the accident.

The case was to have come before the assizes last Thursday but was postponed until yesterday afternoon. Harold McInnes, Penticton lawyer, is appearing for the defendant and Harold Galbraith Vernon, is crown prosecutor.

 Bill Baker provided the audience with a discourse on the methods adopted by wholesale outlets in Manitoba to distribute fruit and vegetables in an endeavor to refute Mr. Wilkinson's statement that there is waste and inefficiency in the competitive methods adopted by the jobbing trade.

Ambitious Youngsters Find Good Opportunity In Banking Profession

EARN, LEARN AND TRAVEL AT SAME TIME

A progressive career as an officer of Canada's first bank lies within your reach, if you're a go-ahead young fellow with junior matriculation or its equivalent. Because of the tempo of business today, promotion is steadily becoming more rapid. Senior B of M positions are filled by staff promotion. Tuition fees, with a special bonus, are returned to juniors who pass banking courses. Earning while learning, the young banker is trained in a variety of duties of increasing importance. His training also gives him the opportunity of serving in various parts of the country.

Some of the benefits of service in the B of M are a pension, group insurance, and special allowances and bonuses, and the B of M officer need not fear unemployment in bad times. Like other professions, banking is not a quick means to a high income. But the banker's lifelong professional standing and security compare well to the ups and downs of most men who want a high salary in a hurry, and besides bank salaries have risen substantially in recent years.

If a Bank of Montreal career interests you, see James Muirhead, manager of the B of M branch at West Summerland, tomorrow. He'll gladly tell you more.—Adv.

Horticulturists View Two Gardens

Between twenty and thirty members of the horticultural society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Snow at 8:30 Monday evening to see their garden. There were some beautiful shrubs in bloom, the wiggella roses in white and pink causing many admiring comments. Roses and iris vied with one another for attention. The peonies were coming into blossom and will make a splendid showing. A fine rockery at the back of the house was greatly admired.

The group went on to Prairie Valley to see Mrs. Collar's garden. The delicate tracery of the outlines of the beds, and landscaped effects were noteworthy, as well as the color pictures obtained by carefully chosen plantings. Here refreshments were served by the hostess, plans were made for the Rose Show to be held early in June, and a pleasant social time spent comparing gardening ideas.

Premier Johnson Makes Fine Impression in Brief Visit to this District

In a scholarly, soft-spoken address which did not include at any time one word of condemnation for his opponents, Premier Byron Johnson reviewed the past history of his Coalition government and gave a resume of future commitments to an audience of some 65 persons at the IOOF hall on Tuesday afternoon, June 7.

Although it was an afternoon meeting, the hall was well filled to meet the genial premier who, despite the rigors of a strenuous political campaign, appeared in Summerland unruffled and with a keen sense of humor.

Premier Johnson was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and his son, Byron junior, Percy Richards his executive secretary, W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition candidate for South Okanagan and Mrs. Bennett.

A luncheon, was tendered the visiting party at the Nu-Way Annex at noon on Tuesday, with W. G. Gillard, president of the South Okanagan Progressive Conservative Assn. as chairman.

Premier Johnson denied emphatically the claim of Harold Winch, CCF provincial leader, that the Coalition was formed to defeat the CCF alone. Mr. Johnson traced the history of the formation of the Coalition group from the time it commenced during the strenuous war period.

Premier Johnson declared that every pledge and promise which the Coalition made in 1941 have been fulfilled and here in Summerland the pledge which he made last November concerning Trout Creek has also been fulfilled.

"We have a splendid record and are proud of it," Premier Johnson declared, recalling the time in 1941 when no party had a clear majority, the Germans were being victorious in their phase of the war effort and the picture was not bright to say the least.

OCF Wouldn't Join

Leaders of the three parties were asked, because of lack of a majority and the troubled times, to form a coalition government. Mr. Winch decided to go into the opposition, but "it was to the credit of the old-line parties that they could get together and represent the country at a time like that."

In 1945, the government was faced with difficulties far greater than any government in B.C. ever faced before, he declared, and it was decided that the coalition would remain, for the benefit of the province as a whole.

Again, this year the question was asked: "What would be in the best interests of B.C.?" In the face of extremely trying times, with an influx of population amounting to 300,000, the coalition decided to remain and go to the people on its record.

"The four years lying ahead will be more difficult than the past few years," he prophesied.

Premier Johnson spoke of the accumulation of "war-time" war times, amounting to $42 millions, as there was no labor and little equipment, everything going into the war effort.

In tracing the expenditure of this accumulation, the premier declared that $21 millions went into highways, mostly for capital construction, and no part of the province has benefitted more than the Okanagan in this respect.

He referred to the opening in September of the Hope-Princeton highway, which will be modern in every respect and has cost $12 millions. Also the road from Prince George to Dawson Creek is about two-thirds completed, the entire project to cost $14 millions.

In addition, out of this wartime accumulation, $2 millions were allocated for public building, and $2,800,000 for hospital construction.

Next Wednesday, June 15, Electors go to Polls to Choose B.C. Government

Next Wednesday, June 15, voters throughout British Columbia will flock to the polls to register their decision as to the government which will form the balance of power in the provincial legislature.

Strenuous efforts are being made to have every person registered in the voters' list turn out for this election to exercise their franchise. Many agencies are at work urging the voters to mark their ballots on June 15.

Final political campaign meeting will be held in Summerland tomorrow night at Ellison hall when W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition candidate, presents his views to the local citizens.

On the platform with Mr. Bennett will be four other speakers who will give their views in short discourses. They are W. R. Powell, ex-reeve of Summerland; Capt. C. R. Bull, a former member for South Okanagan; R. M. Hayman, young Kelowna lawyer; and Herb Capozzi, Kelowna UBC graduate.

The CCF rally here was held last week with Premier T. C. Douglas supporting Tom Wilkinson, CCF South Okanagan candidate, on the platform of Ellison hall.

Premier Byron Johnson, who heads the Coalition government in British Columbia, addressed an afternoon meeting at the IOOF hall here Tuesday explaining the program which the Coalition government has followed in the past and giving a scholarly review of the plans for the future.

Mr. Bennett was elected member for South Okanagan in 1941 and 1945 but resigned his provincial seat to enter federal politics in Yale riding last year. Mr. Bennett is one of the best known businessmen in the Okanagan, with retail stores in the three main cities.

The Coalition candidate has had more than six years' experience in the legislature and is seeking re-election on his record as a member for this riding, plus the record of the Coalition government.

Mr. Tom Wilkinson, the CCF candidate, is well-known in fruit and vegetable circles, having been chairman of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board and interested himself in co-operative enterprises ever since coming here in the early 1920's.

It is a two-way fight in South Okanagan next Wednesday as the Social Credit and CCF parties have not named any candidates.

Interest Aroused
Attendance at the two political rallies held here to date indicates that there is a fair interest being taken in this provincial election campaign, and the Coalition interests are hopeful that Ellison hall will be well filled tomorrow night to hear Mr. Bennett's platform and the addresses of his supporting speakers.

Federally, interest is not at a high point but will be intensified between June 15 and 27, the election date.

Nominations are to be filed by next Monday, June 13, with Returning Officer C. H. Jackson in Kelowna. It is reported that all three prospective candidates have accepted blank nomination papers.

Progressive Conservative candidate is Mayor T. R. B. Adams, of Vernon. CCF candidate is the present member for Yale, O. L. Jones, of Kelowna. Liberal convention choice is C. J. McDowell, of Vernon.

Kiwanis Club Presented With Charter by Gov. Langenbach Before Two Hundred Guests

Summerland Kiwanis came into being last night at a banquet and party which will long be remembered by those in attendance.

Governor John J. Langenbach, of Raymond, Wash., who presented the charter to Summerland Kiwanis' first president, F. W. Schumann, ex board of trade president, headed a list of guests which numbered about 150 from all parts of Kiwanis Division 5.

Nearly 250 persons sat down to a lovely banquet prepared by the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary last night and participated in the function which saw the official birth of the newest baby in the Kiwanis International family.

Besides Governor Langenbach, there were present Lt. Governor John T. Young, Penticton; and officers and members of Kiwanis clubs from Twisp, Okanogan, Omak, Tonasket and Oroville, Wash., and Osoyoos, Penticton and Kelowna, B.C.

Penticton was the sponsoring club and was represented, among others, by President W. A. Rathbun and Vice-President Dr. J. H. Stapleton.

Lt. Governor Young acted as toastmaster and after being introduced in President Schumann's welcome speech, he introduced the guests at the head table who included Governor Langenbach and Mrs. Langenbach, Acting Reeve C. Bentley and Mrs. H. Pares, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rathbun, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schumann, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Stapleton, Mr. W. White and Mrs. E. Gillis.

"We feel sure that there is more work to be done in this community than one or two service clubs can handle," remarked President Schumann in receiving the charter.

He promised assistance here in youth development and also informed the district officers that Summerland would give them plenty of co-operation.

The sponsoring club's award, third given to Penticton, was presented by Lt. Governor J. T. Young to Penticton President W. A. Rathbun, who declared that Summerland members wanted to know all the answers about Kiwanis before signifying their intention of forming a club. Ernie Unwin of Penticton was given credit for his hard work in extension circles.

A brief case containing the secretary's complete kit was then presented to President Schumann and other gifts of flagstaffs, gong, gavel and flags were presented to Vice-President William White by Penticton Vice-President Dr. J. H. Stapleton.

Following a vocal solo by Walter Wright, of Penticton, Governor Langenbach proved a witty speaker and one who could provoke much thought. He paid tribute to Lt. Governor Young as one of the two outstanding officials in the district.

Division 5 carries out the purpose and duty of Kiwanis to its conclusion without any prompting, he commented.

Kiwanis, he said, builds a firm foundation of service to its communities; but the new Kiwanis club has an opportunity to build a stumbling block or a stepping stone, he warned.

He felt certain that Summerland Kiwanis will erect a stepping stone for the benefit of the community, the province and the nation. Kiwanis works to reinforce the foundation of the home, church and school. After two world wars, in which too much reliance was placed on the material way of life, more reliance must be given to the spiritual way, he continued.

"There must be more reliance on the golden rule in our mutual relationships."

Governor Langenbach paused to stress the importance of the vote and considered that any person who fails to vote intelligently and progressively for the things they endorse is not a worthy citizen.

Aggressive citizenship is the Oil for Main Street Coming

Completion of grading operations on the two principal blocks of Granville street was conducted by Road Foreman Les Gould on Wednesday. Gravel surfacing has been extended from sidewalk to sidewalk and a good grade obtained. The surface was well watered and rolled yesterday, and the gravel compacted.

It is reported that a car of oil has been ordered and will arrive here at the first of the week. Once the oil has bound the surface, then the final application of MC2, the hard surfacing material, will be applied.

Further work on widening the third block of Granville street east of the business section is being continued.

JOHN J. LANGENBACH

John Newton Acquitted of Manslaughter

John S. Newton, Summerland truck driver, was acquitted by a Assize Court jury in Vernon Thursday afternoon on a charge of manslaughter following the death on Giant's Head road last October 15 of William J. Tullett, elderly Summerland pioneer.

Newton was driving a truck towards West Summerland along the Giant's Head road shortly after five o'clock October 15 when his truck came in contact with a bicycle ridden by the late Mr. Tullett, who was allegedly proceeding in the same direction on the left-hand side of the road.

The Newton truck passed the bicycle on the right-hand side of the road and as the vehicle passed the bicycle was said to swerve into the truck. Mr. Tullett was removed to the Summerland hospital where he died shortly afterwards.

Newton was charged with manslaughter and was committed for trial by Magistrate H. Sharman in the preliminary hearing in Summerland police court.

Defence was conducted by Harold McInnes, Penticton lawyer and prosecutor at the assizes was Harold Galbraith of Vernon.

The jury deliberated for an hour and fifteen minutes before reaching a verdict of not guilty.

Scholarship at UBC is Awarded In First Year to Gilbert Jacobs

Gilbert Frank Jacobs, brilliant young Summerland student, was named among the winners of scholarships at University of B.C., which he has attended the past year with the assistance of the Summerland Scholarship Fund.

Richard Palmer was awarded the Summerland scholarship award last year but it was such a close contest between himself and Gilbert Jacobs that the UBC Alumni Assn. arranged for a secondary grant to the latter.

Gilbert entered first year arts and science course along with 1145 other students.

He was awarded the $100 Beverley Cayley scholarship for the highest standing of any male student in first year English, but allowed this award to revert to Kenneth Samuelsen, 2201 W. 37 Ave., Vancouver.

Mr. Jacobs was awarded the unit scholarship in arts and science for general proficiency in the first year. Each award is valued at $200. No. 1 award went to Charles P. S. Taylor, 1580 West Crescent, Vancouver; second award went to John Vincent MacDonald, by reversion to Ivan Reid Feltham, by reversion to Gilbert Frank Jacobs.

The BCFGA golden jubilee scholarship for proficiency in third year horticulture, $125 was awarded to Francis Victor James, 35565 W. 1st Ave., Vancouver.

B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd. annual prizes of $100 each for expenses of a survey trip to the Okanagan.

awarded for proficiency in geography 102 of Commerce course, went to the following:

1. Jossie Ann Trood De Twornicha, Salmon Arm; 2. Edward Roy Birkett, 4 W 8th Ave., Vancouver; 3. Robert Douglas Lee, 6892 Victoria Drive, Vancouver.

Results of examinations at UBC as affecting local students were not announced by the university, apart from graduation results, which were announced some time ago.

Following are the results which The Review has been able to obtain from contacting local students:

William Amm, passed with second class honors, 3rd year civil engineering.

Joan C. Bonnett, passed with first class honors, 3rd year home economics.

Donald R. Johnston passed with second class honors in his third year arts course.

Richard Yamabe passed with second class honors in second year arts.

Kutch Imayoshi passed with second class honors in third year arts while Michiko Imayoshi passed her second year arts class.

Donna Haskins passed with second class honors in third year arts.

Valerie Tingley passed her second year arts course.

Shirley Harvey passed with one supplemental in her second year home economic examinations.

Richard Palmer obtained first class honors in first year of the arts and science class.

Edward Kita passed with one supplement in first year arts and science.

Arthur Simpson passed his third year agriculture with second class honors.

Fire Blight Appearance in Local Orchards is Worry to Growers

An unusually large number of fire blight infections have been reported from several Summerland orchards in the past few days, Alex Watt, district horticulturist, reports to The Review today.

"Unless care is taken to patrol those orchards within the next few weeks considerable loss may result from the spread of the disease into the main limbs and trunks of the trees and into neighboring orchards," he warns.

"Fear growers would be wise to inspect their orchards immediately for signs of dead, blackened shoots and leaves. A very careful search may be necessary to reveal every infected twig."

Where fire blight is discovered and where the number of infections is not too numerous, Mr. Watt advises cutting off the infected shoots at least two to three feet below the apparently infected area.

Burn these cuttings immediately and disinfect shears after each cut is made.

Use any good disinfectant, preferably mercuric chloride, 1 to 1000. Obtain this at your local drug store and keep it in a glass or earthenware container.

Where the number of infections are numerous and cutting, if resorted to, would force fresh sappy growth which might easily become re-infected, use the zinc chloride painting method.

Zinc chloride is obtained from the drug store in three strengths, 33, 45 and 53 percent. It is used to paint the infected limbs so as to cover the apparently affected portion and also two or three feet of the apparently unaffected limb below the active area.

Weaker strengths are used for lighter wood, while the stronger solution is used on large scaffold limbs and trunks.

Zinc chloride paint dries up the blight in the limb and prevents further spread down into the important scaffold limbs and even the trunk itself. If used judiciously, zinc chloride does not kill the wood itself. Growers intending to use zinc chloride may obtain more complete instructions from the local horticulturist.

Mr. Watt further advises removal of all late blossoms from the trees in the affected orchard.

He also stated that water should be withheld from the trees in the affected area. If possible, skip the next irrigation and keep the trees as dry as possible until the terminal buds on the new growth are formed. This will prevent the formation of further sappy growth in which the blight can spread freely.

If there is any doubt about the correct procedure Mr. Watt wishes growers to contact him at his office.

Dr. Marshall to Address Class

Dr. James Marshall, chief of the department of entomology in Summerland, has been selected to address the 1949 graduating class of the Summerland high school.

Graduation exercises will take place at St. Andrew's United church on Friday afternoon, June 17.

There are 21 members of the graduating class on 1949.

MECHANICAL TROUBLES

Due to mechanical difficulties, this issue which is generally published in mid-afternoon every Thursday could not be released until early evening. The Review management is sorry for the delay and thanks the public for its co-operation, with a special vote of thanks to those newsboys who came back after supper to see that this weekly newspaper got into the homes.

Go to the Clinic Today

With the return of the mobile chest X-ray unit to this district today and tomorrow, we are given abundant proof, if any were needed, that our tuberculosis agencies are in earnest in the plans to carry on a relentless fight against this number one enemy of our youth.

Knowing as we do that tuberculosis is infectious and communicable, we must all see clearly that just one chest X-ray two years ago is not good enough to guarantee safety; that in the interim, between the first survey and the present one, somewhere along the lines of our travel we could have come in contact with the disease and received possible infection.

Realizing this, all right thinking persons will bend every effort to take fullest advantage of this free chest X-ray service. Not only will they do this but they will give leadership to the community by persuading others to do likewise.

Let each of us remind ourselves and our neighbour, that despite progress being made against TB, and with Canada's death rate from tuberculosis now at the lowest in our history, tuberculosis still takes an average of 15 lives daily in our country, and that this disease is still the number one killer in the age group 18 to 35.

But let us remind ourselves, too, that tuberculosis is preventable, that it can be cured, and that it is no disgrace to have tuberculosis but it is a disgrace to do nothing about it. People do not die of tuberculosis, they die from neglect.

By a combination of effort in the province, including the department of health and welfare and its tuberculosis control program, the voluntary agency, which through the sale of Christmas Seals provided the equipment to get on with the job, we are in a strong position to hold our gains as well as take up new positions in the struggle.

It is to the credit of many local organizations and committees working in close cooperation with these agencies that every person in this district over the age of 14, may once again take precautionary measures against this insidious disease. By giving unstinting support to this fine health service we can each contribute to the sum total of the health and happiness of our communities.

Examples of Community Enterprise

COMMUNITY spirit is a valuable asset to any district and nowhere is it more apparent than in Summerland.

There is hardly an appeal which does not receive ready response from a willing citizenry, and not the least of this co-operative enterprise was shown in the recent Board of Trade Spring Fair.

However, there are many other cases in which Summerland shows to great advantage; the recent Red Cross blood transfusion service clinic being an outstanding example.

Summerland fell just three donors short of the figure of 200, which, out of a population of 3,500 does not seem much, but is well ahead of most centres in the province.

Vernon, for example, had 354 persons go through the blood donor clinic and that community boasts nearly 12,000 persons. Kelowna district, which is said to have 20,000 population including the city and rural area on the east side of the lake, had 719 donors give blood out of 1370 who had registered and promised to attend the clinic.

Figures on Penticton's attendance are not immediately available, but it is known that the percentage does not come up to Summerland.

It would appear that this community has made a far better showing than any other Okanagan centre in this particular public service.

In the Red Cross campaign for funds, Summerland was set a quota of $3,000, whereas Oliver, with a comparative population and a larger retail business district when last heard from was struggling to bring its contributions to $2,000.

This is not only significant of the generosity of the Summerland people but also of the organizational ability which is so much a part of this community.

There is one shadow on the Summerland escutcheon, however. The response to the Conquer Cancer and St. John Ambulance Assn. drives did not come up to the usual standard. These two worthy enterprises will suffer because of the lack of response. It is too bad to spoil such a good record.

Remember Election Dates

WHEN only 65.3 percent of the electorate exercised their franchise at the 1945 provincial elections, the cost per vote was $1.79.

At that time, 457,017 voters were registered, but only 309,210 persons voted, casting 471,646 ballots.

In South Okanagan, 5,908 voters exercised their franchise out of 8,159 registered, making 72 percent, which was better than the average for the province.

In this general election, it is hoped to exceed that figure by a good deal. Various groups are working to get out the vote, apart entirely from the two political parties involved.

The newly-formed Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce has a novel plan of attracting attention to the populace at large that June 15 is voting day although exact details of the scheme are very much "hush-hush" right now.

The board of trade is co-operating with its younger group in promoting the get out and vote idea, while latest word from Winnipeg states that the Dominion president of the Canadian Legion is instituting a nation-wide campaign to urge the public to vote at election time.

With these agencies at work, and the press and radio drumming out the dates, June 15 for the provincial election in B.C. and June 27 for the federal election there will be no excuse for any voter who fails to mark his cross on the ballot.

One enthusiast got ahead of himself on Friday, May 27. He approached this office and asked where the voting was taking place. He had the date all right, but he was just a month ahead of time to vote on the federal election. However, his intentions were in the right direction.

Signifying Nothing

By RUSTICUS

"Born four hundred years too late, I was," mourned a man to me the other day. "Think how much more exciting it would have been to have lived in the spacious days of good Queen Bess.

"Compare men's clothes of that day—velvets and silks in vivid colors, plumes and cloaks and swords, with the drab gabardines that we pay so much for today. Think of the fun they had exploring new lands when you could point a ship almost any direction and find something unexpected. Today the whole world is explored and mapped; you can't get away from air routes or motor roads anywhere, and only the scientist in his laboratory can reach new frontiers. Romance and adventure have been mechanized clean away."

On several points he has my sympathy. Men's clothes in modern times have become far less colorful than women's; it used to be the other way about. Yet there are still bright spots. Have you noticed the high school lads in canary-yellow sweaters, wine-colored slacks, vivid plaid shirts and burgundy shoes. Nothing quiet there; it's their feminine counterparts, in blue jeans, who lack color—save on their faces, of course. Why shouldn't older men follow the youthful example?

And though the modern collar and tie for dress occasions may be uncomfortable, they are surely preferable to a starched Elizabethan ruff. Slacks may look sloppy, but imagine the average man's knobby knees, in Elizabethan hose reaching clear to the thigh. And then those baggy short trunks, filled, as they often were, with sawdust padding; a man wouldn't have been safe on the streets in such, last winter, during the fuel shortage.

Underneath the Elizabethan finery, too, was usually such dirty underwear and dirty skins, not to mention lice and fleas, that we would shudder at today.

They weren't nearly so squeamish in those days. In fact, they put up with discomforts in clothing, in food—with practically no fruits or vegetables—in drafty houses heated only by smoky fireplaces and lit by rare windows—that to us today would seem little short of barbaric. I doubt very much if my romantic-minded friend would really enjoy the conditions of four hundred years ago.

As for adventure—it hasn't all vanished. There is still lots of wilderness beneath the air routes and between the highways. You can start out from here with a pack on your back and have quite a few days of interesting experiences before you strike the Fraser Canyon highway; and if you want to keep on beyond that road you won't be likely to strike another till you get up around Prince Rupert. Lots of unmapped country in that area to explore, and you wouldn't lack for excitement and danger.

After all, those early Elizabethan adventurers did not find what most of them were seeking, the North-West Passage, around America to Asia. Men searched for that unsuccessfully for over three hundred years until Amundson at last got through it in 1905. Since that it has remained challengingly unknown until the last few years.

The real exploring of that goal of the old-time sea-searchers was done in the last ten years, and by our own Royal Canadian Mounted Police. In their little auxiliary schooner St. Roch they have twice navigated the passage in both directions, taking the same risks as earlier explorers whose bones and wrecks strew the way, facing the lee and Arctic storms, and winning through.

Adventure is by no means dead; and though the Mounties certainly did not wear their scarlet tunics, yellow-striped navy breeches and Stetson hats on their trip, their clothing on occasion is just about as colorful as anything Raleigh and Spencer could boast. So there, as I triumphantly told my friend, is the answer to your complaints of drabness in both clothes and life. Either copy the high school boys in clothing and hit out in the wilderness—or join the RCMP. Either way he won't lack for adventure; but after the excitement is over, won't it be nice for him to have the comforts of 1949 to come back to?

Unique Float Planned by Junior Chamber to Urge Get Out and Vote Drive

Saturday night, an unusual and unique float will parade through the West Summerland business district, the newly-formed Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce being determined to impress on the minds of local citizens that they should get out and vote on June 15.

Details of the float have not been announced by Les Rumball and his crew of younger men, but they hint that it will be something really out of the ordinary.

However, the parade will be headed by the Summerland Band and will include the new fire engine on display, that much is known for certain.

It is believed that the parade will go through the business district about 7:30 o'clock, the entire theme being "Get out and Vote on June 15".

On the day of the election, this spectacular float will appear in lower town during the lunch hour as another reminder that this is the day to exercise the franchise.

John Bennest is being given credit for the float idea and has been working hard on the project along with fellow Jaycees.

This organization has also obtained a thousand milk bottles cap stickers and other advertising material urging the citizens to vote June 15.

The Summerland Board of Trade is establishing an independent office in the office of Secretary Lorne Perry, where persons not wishing to avail themselves of transportation through political channels can obtain a car to the polls. (The telephone number is 128, W. S. (Scotty) Ritchie is in charge of this committee.)

Coalition committee rooms are being established at the T. S. Manning lumber yard office, where transportation can be obtained by telephoning 113.

The CCF party committee room is situated in the building housing the H. Beaman Furniture Co. display room, but facing on the alley directly east of Hastings street. The CCF committee room phone number is 1920.

Driver Uninjured As Truck Rolls Over

Paul Bodor, driving a logging truck, fully loaded on the Bald Range narrow road, had a narrow escape from serious injury when the road gave way and precipitated the truck down a steep hill. The truck turned over and landed on its top.

Bodor escaped injury but the truck was badly damaged. The truck was nearly stopped on a corner when a soft shoulder on the single-traffic roadway gave out.

The truck is owned by Charles Pollock and Mac Johnston.

Adjourn Smith Case to Saturday

Further adjournment was granted until Saturday morning, June 11, of the case which involves Louis A. Smith, local merchant, charged with selling groceries after hours at his store premises on Rosedale avenue. This is the third adjournment granted since Mr. Smith first appeared and pleaded not guilty to the charge. The case was scheduled to proceed on Tuesday, June 7, but was postponed until Saturday.

Miss Peggy Morley of Vancouver is a guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. Smythe.

MORE ABOUT

responsibility of all, he continued.

Mr. Langenbach spoke of one of the great aims of Kiwanis, the assistance of youth and underprivileged children generally. He termed young people a nation's greatest natural resource and also the greatest source of happiness.

Kiwanis expects attendance and activity of its members and Governor Langenbach believed that attendance in club activity is just as important as in time of war.

"We reap from Kiwanis only that what we sow; we only gain what we deposit; we cannot expect any reward based on someone else's service. The strength of the club is the individual member; the strength of the individual is the club."

Following the banquet, dancing was continued until a late hour to Leander's orchestra.

Telegrams of congratulations were read from Harold C. Jones, district secretary-treasurer and E. O. Peterson, secretary of Kiwanis International.

Others who assisted in the promotion of charter night but who were not at the head table included: J. Y. Towgood, Mel Cousins, and S. E. E. Beech of Summerland; Archie McCarther, Thomas C. Melville and Martin Deacon of Penticton. Dr. W. LaCroix was community song leader.

Great Interest Taken in Retriever Trials, Feature of Second Annual Field Day

Hundreds of persons gathered at the experimental station beach, Trout Creek, on the King's Birthday, June 6, to attend the second annual Field Day staged by the Summerland Fish and Game Assn., and which featured the retriever trials.

Eight well-trained dogs took part in this afternoon-long contest which proved of outstanding interest to the hundreds of dog lovers who were there to witness the event.

Mr. Jack Smythe, well-known coast dog trainer and handler, was on hand to help the local sportsmen stage the trials and to act as judge. His experience proved invaluable in this feature and the exhibitions which he staged with his two prize Labradors was an outstanding part of the day.

Six motor boats were kept busy throughout the day, providing some 600 youngsters with free rides.

Due to lack of contestants, the fly and bait casting competitions were not staged.

On hand as another entertainment feature was a seaplane which was kept busy taxiing local persons around the district.

Sailor is Winner

Following the lengthy land and water retrieving trials, it was found that Sandy Munn's Labrador, Sailor, and Bob Barkwill's black Labrador, Zigs, were tied for first place. In a test to pick the winner, Sailor took the Summerland Fish and Game Assn. cup, with Zigs being awarded the Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn. shield.

C. H. Elsey's black Lab., Bolo, won third spot and Charlie Nesbitt's black Lab., Soxes, took fourth place.

Other dogs entered were George Stoll's pointer, Bob Scriver's pointer, Bud Steuart's black Lab. and Alf Johnston's golden Lab.

Two hundred and fifty pounds of dog feed, in ten-pound bags, donated by Buckerfield's Ltd., were divided among the dog owners as further awards.

Mr. Smythe, assisted by Bill Snow, was the chief judge of the trials while Francis Steuart acted as gun man and Darryl Weitzel and Joe McLachlan as bird throwers.

As an added attraction, and to show the interested crowd what well-trained dogs can do when properly handled, Mr. Smythe, with his golden and black Labradors, staged a retriever display which astonished everyone.

On land, he had both dogs make a double retrieve. Then both dogs made a single retrieve but as the animal returned with the bird another shot was fired and a second bird dropped beside him.

Each dog looked at the second bird only long enough to mark the spot where it fell and continued with his retrieve. When the first bird was delivered the dog returned for the second one.

Following a double retrieve in the water, the test which proved

Barrel Takes 30:5.6 To Run Trout Creek

Keen interest was aroused by the barrel derby staged by the Summerland Fish and Game Assn., on Friday afternoon, June 6, in connection with the second annual Field Day.

The barrel was dropped into Trout Creek at the experimental station bridge and floated downstream to Okanagan lake in a matter of 30 minutes, 53/5 seconds.

Nearly five hundred tickets were sold on the guessing competition in connection with the barrel derby, Miss Audrey Long of Peachland winning first prize of $50 with her guess of 30 minutes, 6 seconds.

Five other prizes of $10 each were awarded, as follows:

Bert Dickins, 30 min. 2 sec.; N. Holmes, 30 min. 10 sec.; P. Thornber, 30 min. 1 sec.; Dr. H. R. McLarty and Bob Neil, 30 minutes flat. Jim Heavysides, assisted by Joe Sheeley, organized and timed the barrel derby.

ANNUAL HOBBY SHOW SATURDAY

The annual AOTS hobby show will be the centre of interest at the IOOF hall this Saturday when hobbies of all descriptions will be on display. This energetic group of men has been busy for weeks planning this annual hobby fair, which has always evinced keen interest and attracted a large number of persons for the afternoon and evening show.

Mrs. H. A. Solly has returned to her Trout Creek home from Trail, where she has spent the past five to six months.

The most astonishing to the spectators was staged.

Two birds were taken over a hundred yards along the lakeshore and hidden in the bushes, and a dog sent into the lake about thirty yards. With arm and whistle signals Mr. Smythe directed the dog along the shoreline until opposite the spot where the birds were hidden.

Still by arm and whistle signals the dog was directed to shore and to the hiding place for the retrieve. Both dogs performed this difficult task.

Local sportsmen have expressed their keen gratification that Mr. Smythe took time off to come to Summerland to assist in this show, as the dog owners received some very valuable training tips, besides the extra interest aroused in the competition from the spectators' standpoint.

Building for Five Months Nears $200,000 Mark Here

Building activity in Summerland district continues to show a decided advancement over last year and indicates that material and labor are more plentiful now than at any time since the cessation of the hostilities.

At the end of the first five

Jaycees May Pick Bathing Beauty

Summerland Jaycees are considering quite seriously acceptance of an invitation from the Kelowna junior chamber to enter a bathing beauty from Summerland in the annual Kelowna Regatta "Lady of the Lake" contest.

This contest takes the form of a pageant the first evening of the two-day water event.

Mait Kersey is head of a committee which is investigating the possibility of Summerland's being represented at the Lady of the Lake contest, his appointment being made at the June meeting of Jaycees held in the Nu-Way annex Tuesday evening.

The Summerland JCC application for membership in the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce has been accepted and the local group is waiting further word on the date of its charter night.

President Les Rumball has been named the Jaycee representative as an ex-officio member of the Summerland Board of Trade executive.

months of 1949, the building permits issued by Roy F. Angus, building inspector, were nearing the $200,000 mark, the total being 70 permits for $193,415.

Seven permits were issued for new dwellings last month, for a value of $15,400. One commercial building is valued at $5,000 and 11 permits for alterations and additions total $5,635.

This makes 19 permits totalling $26,035 for the month of May, compared with 8 in May, 1948, valued at only $5,630.

At the end of May last year 56 permits valued at $68,800 had been issued.

On Saturday evening the high school students held a party on the lawns of the experimental station under the supervision of Miss M. C. Matthews.

The purpose was to raise funds to get an orchestra for the graduation dance.

Games were played and well over a hundred girls and boys danced on the lawn.

The door prize of eight chocolate bars was won by Donald Blacklock. Refreshments were served to the large crowd.

George Stoll to Continue Plan for New Arena Here

Attempts to plan a hockey, skating and curling rink in Summerland have met many snags, but "it must be done and I'm convinced that it will be done", George Stoll, enthusiastic booster for better winter sports here told the Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce here on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Stoll, along with Mr. C. H. Elsey and Mr. L. W. Rumball, has been working since late winter on plans for an arena which might be built on the Living Memorial park playground.

There are many stumbling blocks to the proposal and Mr. Stoll outlined a number of these to the Jaycees. He is still waiting for further word on the cost of Quonset-type arches, which might prove the most feasible method of construction.

Such an arena could only be built here with a considerable amount of voluntary labor, and Mr. Stoll wished to interest the Jaycees in organizing labor gangs if financing of material costs could be arranged.

The speaker had hoped to have his plans formulated in time to make an early start this summer on the project but from present indications there will be no arena here next winter, he sorrowfully

Grease Marks on Cenotaph Mar Surface

Mr. E. H. Bennett, and his park-playground subcommittee of the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee, are perturbed over disfiguring which is occurring on the Cenotaph which now makes an imposing picture on the green lawn of the Living Memorial park-playground in West Summerland.

In the past two to three weeks smudges of grease or oil have appeared on the base of the cenotaph and will require sandblasting to erase.

Also, crayon or lipstick markings have appeared more recently. Broken glass has been found at the base of the cenotaph.

Mr. Bennett and his committee hope that if this is the work of youngsters that their parents will co-operate in putting a stop to this vandalism which is marring a stately monument to those who fought and died in two world wars.

reported.

However, he and his committee are still working out various angles and will keep right on trying, he declared.

Will Ritchie, 84, Goes Modern on Mining Trip

William Ritchie is 84 years of age but his taste for adventure has not diminished with the years.

Summerland Girl Is Principal at Vancouver Nuptials

A quiet wedding ceremony was performed Wednesday evening, June 1, in St. Andrew's Wesley church, Vancouver, by Rev. Dr. McColl, when Thelma Mae White, daughter of Mrs. Wm. White, West Summerland and the late Mr. White, was united in marriage with Mr. Ronald Ernest Ackles of West Summerland.

For her marriage the bride wore a white eyelet embroidered afternoon dress, with all white accessories, and carried a nosegay of sweet peas and carnations.

The groom was supported by Pte. Wm. Strachan.

A quiet reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kennedy, where guests included Mr. W. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Cafferkey, Mrs. J. Strachan, all of Vancouver, and Mrs. George Dashwood of Youbou, B.C.

Last week, on Monday, May 30, Mr. Ritchie accompanied by his son, James Ritchie of Kerehegs and Larry Smith, of Vernon, stepped into a seaplane at Crescent Beach and sailed through the ozone for Slocan lake.

The trip was finished in shortly more than an hour and after an inspection of some mining property in which they were interested the party was ready to return home.

However, the lake was so calm that the seaplane could not take off. The foursome, including the pilot of the L & M Air Service plane from Vernon, was forced to remain overnight and return to Summerland Tuesday morning.

The return trip took longer, as the pilot, D. McIvor of Vernon, would not risk a direct route over the mountains because of fog conditions. Return route was via the Monashee pass to Lumby and then down to Kelowna and south to Crescent Beach.

"In a small plane like that, which doesn't fly very high and doesn't go so fast you can see a lot of the country. It was a grand trip and I enjoyed it very much," remarked Mr. Ritchie on his return.

Secret Agreements Are Not Democratic

In the last Provincial Election, the Labor Progressive Party (L.P.P.) nominated 21 candidates ... yet, this year there are only two lone candidates! (Who yet may withdraw). We all know that L.P.P. is the Communist Party ... we know that the party exists ... we wonder why no more than two candidates have been nominated. Has the L.P.P. infiltrated into and is it now in control of the C.C.F. in British Columbia? When the provincial C.C.F. voted against the Atlantic pact, was it because of heavy pressure from those who might be lending their support to that party?

Want Replies to Questionnaire on Canadian Farms

Farmers throughout Canada are again receiving the annual June questionnaire concerning live stock, poultry, farm labor and acreages on their own farms. The questionnaire is being sent out by the agriculture division of the dominion bureau of statistics in co-operation with the provincial departments of agriculture.

The answers given by farmers to the questions on the forms will provide the basis for estimating the acreage sown to field crops in 1949 and the numbers of live stock and poultry in Canada at June 1, 1949.

The statistics obtained from the survey are used extensively throughout the year. The dominion bureau of statistics is the official source of statistical information in Canada and its figures are used by governments, farm organizations and industry to plan future operations.

The farmer, through his response to the questionnaires sent out by the Bureau, has a real opportunity to help form a true picture of agricultural conditions.

The survey has no connection with taxation. The farmer's individual form is seen only by workers in the Dominion and Provincial agricultural statistical offices and the farmer is protected by law against the wrong use of his return. All individual forms are kept strictly confidential.

Free Methodist Lawn Setting for Nuptials Of Valley Interest

A wedding of wide interest in the valley took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gillespie on Friday afternoon, June 5, at three o'clock, when Rev. W. S. Angell of the Free Methodist church united in marriage Norma Leona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Soderquist, West Summerland, and James Albert Turner, of Osoyoos, B.C., son of Mrs. Katherine Turner, of Big Valley, Alta., and the late Mr. S. Turner.

The ceremony was performed on the lawn under an arch of cedar bows decorated with flowers and streamers.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore an afternoon gown of white jersey with chapel veil, and a pretty headdress of pink rosebuds. Her corsage was of pink roses and white carnations.

Miss Elsie Soderquist, the brides sister, was the only attendant, and also was frocked in white jersey, with roses and carnations in her corsage.

Attending the groom was Mr. Alex Soderquist, brother of the bride.

An informal reception on the lawn followed the service, the large bouquets of peonies, lilies, and a profusion of June flowers and fern making a charming background.

A large table covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tier wedding-cake, with bouquets of peonies on either side, was arranged under an arch of cedar bows.

The bride's mother wore a becoming blue crepe dress, blue hat and corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

Out-of-town guests were the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Windsor, Bridesville, B.C. and his brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Dick Turner, Kettle Valley, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. D. Clarke, Osoyoos, and Vincent Soderquist and Helge From of Westbridge, BC.

For going away the bride donned a rust colored suit with white accessories. The couple motored with camping equipment as they will be travelling most of the summer since the groom is a rider in the rodeos.

They will be attending the Calgary Stampede and will visit the groom's mother at Big Valley, Alta.

STALIN'S SON, Vasilij, wartime Russian air force pilot, will wed Vyacheslav Molotov's daughter Svetlana, is a union of Soviet "first families" according to a report published at London.

Local Man Takes Prairie Girl as Bride on June 1st

In the Free Methodist church on Wednesday, June 1, at 2:30 p.m., the wedding of Helen, daughter of Mrs. Tina Dyck, of Morse, Sask., and the late Mr. Dyck, and Harold Bernard Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, took place.

The marriage was performed against a background of pink peonies, iris and greens, with a white wedding bell and white streamers. Rev. H. E. Luck of Winfield, for whom the groom was named, was the officiating clergyman.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of parachute silk, slightly entrained, having a tight bodice, with sweetheart neckline, the skirt full and slightly entrained. Over this was a very long net veil with halo headdress, and she carried roses, carnation, lupin, pyrethrum and ferns in her beautiful bouquet.

She was given in marriage by Mr. I. A. Gleddie.

Miss Janet Faasse was the bridesmaid, and her floor-length frock was of yellow taffeta, with short cap sleeves and yellow gloves. On her head a wreath of roses held a shoulder-length net veil in place. Her flowers were yellow roses and lilies, mauve aqualegia and fern.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Fraser Smith, while ushers were Mr. Earl Smith, brother of the groom, and Mr. Gordon Faasse.

Miss Laura Mott played the wedding music, and Miss Elaine Miller sang "A Wedding Prayer".

A reception for about sixty guests followed at the home of the groom's parents, Prairie Valley road. The bride's mother was unable to be present because of illness.

Mrs. Smith wore a becoming gown of almond-beige crepe, tan hat and corsage of pink and white carnations. Mrs. H. Miller assisted in receiving.

The house was prettily decorated with pink streamers suspended from a wedding bell, and the bride's table was covered with white rayon damask cloth, and centred with a three-tiered wedding-cake decorated in pink and white.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith; Quesnel; Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Luck, Winfield; Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Gleddie, Elaine and Sheila, Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Daynard, and Mr. Edward Close of Penticton.

After their honeymoon in Vancouver the young couple will make their home in Summerland.

God as Supreme Authority Must Be Recognized

Urging his listeners to regain a fuller vision of God as the supreme authority and declaring that in every man's life there must be some spiritual reality, Canon F. V. Harrison delivered a thought-provoking address to the Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday evening at the Nu-Way Annex.

Canon Harrison gave two instances, one of the old doctor who expressed his belief in God by reciting the Creed with a firm conviction and the atheist who prayed that his soul be saved, if he had a soul.

Between those two attitudes there is a great gap into which category a great many persons fall in the present day, he declared.

If there is no beyond, then the universe is only a phase invented by man for his own intent and the world would pass into extinction, he warned.

Belief in God affords the only possible deliverance he emphasized and the belief in Divine Power over all things alone gives the only answer to human minds.

The speaker drew a parallel between present days and the time when the Roman Empire was nearing collapse, stating there is a real resemblance today to those ancient times, but the reaction of the Romans to the danger to civilization was much different.

Cultured minds then turned inward to the spirit and sought other religions for solace. Now, many do not believe in eternal life. Christianity and civilization are in dire danger, he believed.

OPEN NEW ROAD SOON

VERNON—The six-mile stretch of the Kelowna-Vernon highway which has been under construction since the beginning of December, 1948, will be officially opened to motorists about June 15, according to reports received from the department of public works.

POSTMASTER RETIRES

VERNON—On July 17, after 44 years' service in the Vernon post office, C. B. Lefroy will retire as postmaster. Mr. Lefroy is one of the best-known pioneers in the North Okanagan, having come to Vernon in 1895. He began his post office career in 1905. He was 79 on Christmas Day last.

been a growing belief in evolution and general progress of the universe. The history of constant development which seems bound to continue has pervaded modern minds.

The ancients never thought of general progress or upward evolution, but now nearly everyone has an idea of general progress, that time is to be a bringer of good things and what eventually is to happen is too far away to make an estimate. Many persons have a blind trust in the future, he claimed.

A new consciousness of power has convinced men that destiny lies in human power and that the economic or political gospel is his faith in the future.

"God is now in exile," he quoted and considered that man today may be living again in the times of the Tower of Babel.

He referred to the ever-constant fear of war and the fact that man today has lived through two world conflicts. "They who take to the sword must perish by the sword," he warned.

Nationalism and capitalism are arrayed against each other, but when the gases and the atom bombs have done their work it won't matter which is right," he warned, concluding that man must regain a full vision of God as the Supreme authority.

Service of Witness Held at Winfield On Ascension Day

On Thursday, May 26, Ascension Day, a very interesting "Service of Witness" was held in the Anglican Parish of Wooddale, at the picturesque Church of St. Margaret's, Winfield. The rural deanery of the South Okanagan extends from the Parish of Wooddale to the international boundary, and the clergy and members of the congregations of the parishes of Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton and Oliver were present.

The congregation assembled at the Winfield school and led by the vested clergy, proceeded along the highway to the church singing the Litany. Thus the Service of Witness was linked with the ancient Church of England custom of making Intercession at Rogationtide for God's blessing on the spring work of the farmers in the fields.

In agricultural days in England the congregations and clergy "beat the bounds" of the parishes, singing hymns and the Litany. As the Rogation Days are the three days before Ascension Day, the service at Winfield was a fitting memorial of an ancient custom practiced in a new land.

In England there are many parishes where the beating of the bounds has been a yearly observance service since the 14th century. It is hoped that in the course of time it will be the turn of the Parish of Summerland to hold a similar service.

No Statement on Quantity of Apples For U.K. Shipments

Harold Wilson, president of the U.K. Board of Trade, would not give any inkling as to the quantity of apples which his country might be taking from Canada, A. K. Loyd, president and general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., informed the annual BCFGA meeting in Kelowna last week.

Mr. Loyd met Mr. Wilson in Vancouver recently and discussed the announcement that the United Kingdom had arranged with Canada a token purchase of apples from this country.

Mr. Loyd confirmed this announcement but stated that it might be regarded as a token that large shipments would be made when the United Kingdom's financial position was improved.

Kelowna Will Not Get SS Sicamous

KELOWNA—The S. S. Sicamous, pioneer lake steamer, will not be coming to Kelowna. Word to this effect was received by city council last week from C. R. Reid, C.P.R. divisional superintendent, Revelstoke. On May 17 the city made application for the boat on behalf of the Kelowna Yacht Club, but according to Mr. Reid, plans already had been made to dispose of the boat. It will probably go to Penticton.

Mr. Reid said that after the C.P.R. was advised by the city on April 14 that the super-structure of the vessel would be torn off if it came to Kelowna, it was decided to offer the boat to Penticton. The southern city promised to maintain the vessel intact as a historical museum piece, Mr. Reid said.

Members of the Kelowna Yacht Club expressed disappointment. "The decision has left us flat-footed," declared Darby Hayes, president. He declined to state what the next move would be. Questioned as to whether the Yacht Club would ask Penticton for the boat, he said it is questionable whether Penticton would relinquish rights to the vessel.

More Attention to Protein Content of Lunches Reported

For some time, the health authorities have been carrying on a quiet campaign to interest parents in providing more protein in their children's lunches when they send them off to school.

"While it is appreciated that many of the children have excellent meals at home, the mid-day meal is still of vital importance and should consist of certain foods," declares Miss Joan Appleton, public health nurse.

A survey of the lunchboxes at the school was made about a year ago and a similar test made last month. Miss Appleton was gratified to find that a steady improvement in the lunch box contents can now be noted.

In 1948 only 12 percent of the lunches contained brown bread, but this year the survey showed 44 percent. Meat, fish, eggs, cheese or peanut butter had an average of 71 percent a year ago and has now jumped to 86 percent.

Milk or a milk drink was 52 percent on the first survey and is now 62 percent while those bringing fresh fruit or vegetables last year was 53 percent and is now 67 percent.

LOUIS ST. LAURENT, Prime Minister of Canada

Canada's great Leader

At the polls on June 27 the voter must ask himself, ahead of anything else, who should be head of the government.

In Louis St. Laurent, Canada has found a great national leader.

That he had high abilities of the mind was proved by his career in law. That he had wisdom in cabinet, unique gifts in parliamentary debate and a quick grasp of large affairs, became clear as soon as he entered the Government. In international affairs, as one of the original advocates of the Atlantic Pact, he made himself a world figure who spoke out as no Canadian before him, in the councils of the nations.

He also revealed an understanding of ordinary people, because he is one of them.

This warm and essentially simple human being is the real St. Laurent, the product of the small town, of humble beginnings, hard work, a big family and the friendliness of country neighbors.

In blood, language and instinct he combines the qualities of two great races.

To the voter it is equally important that St. Laurent is the leader of a truly national party, with proved strength from coast to coast, the only party which can hope to form a stable government after the election. His character, his ability and his achievements have made him the leader of all the Canadian people.

Free Chest X-Ray Clinic Closes Tomorrow in IOOF Hall After 2-Day Visit

Since 9 o'clock this morning, a steady crowd of people has been surging into the IOOF hall as the community-wide free chest x-ray survey gets underway for the prevention of tuberculosis. The clinic is continuing until 3 o'clock today and will re-commence at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, Friday, June 10, for the second and final day. It is hoped that well over 1,000 Summerland persons over the age of 14 years will visit the clinic.

This survey commenced yesterday at Peachland and continues until June 27 the final day at the Legion hall in Penticton.

All persons who are x-rayed today and tomorrow can expect a card reporting on their chest condition in about two weeks' time. There are three mobile x-ray units operating in B.C. under the provincial department of health, division of TB control auspices. Dr. H. Zeman, medical director of the South Okanagan health unit has charge of directing the clinic survey while in this area.

The Rotary club of Summerland, assisted by a number of members from the newly-formed Kiwanis club, made a complete survey of the district to hand out appointment cards to all citizens who wished to take advantage of this free service. W. Clarke Wilkin was in charge of this canvass and reports that all personnel worked well and hard in obtaining a coverage of the municipality.

Members of the Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce aided in the publicity campaign in connection with the survey. Those who participated in the door-to-door canvass to hand out appointment cards were as follows:

Garnet Valley, Joe McLachlan; Jones Flat, Francis Steuart, C. J. Bleasdale, Jack Dundson; Crescent Beach and north beach, Ken Boothe, C. J. Huddleston; Peach Orchard, Vern Charles; Quinpoole Flats, George Perry, Jim Muirhead, Father A. M. Meulenbergh; Victoria Gardens, Mel Ducommun, Gordon Smith; Upper Peach Orchard, T. E. Young, F. B. Bedford, Ed (Hilly) Smith; Hospital hill and lower town, S. A. MacDonald, Dr. W. H. E. Munn, J. E. O'Mahony; West Summerland business area and Parkdale, Alan Butler, J. J. Green, Ken Heales; Prairie Valley, R. F. Angus, Don Wright, Frank Pollock; Peach Valley and Paradise Flats, Ross McLachlan, George Henry, Clarke Wilkin; Sandhill and Canyon, Alan Cross.

Winslow is Newest Polling Division

One of the smallest polling divisions in the provincial election this year, is Winslow, which consists of some thirty voters who reside at the Dominion Experimental Station, Summerland.

This new polling division is in Similkameen electoral district as the experimental station is actually just south of the South Okanagan riding boundary.

Those who work at the station but reside north of Trout Creek will have a vote in South Okanagan, while those residing on the station property vote in Similkameen.

South Okanagan Guide Division Is Formed Here

A meeting was held in St. Saviour's parish hall on Friday afternoon, May 27, for the purpose of forming a South Okanagan Division Committee to assist the Girl Guides, and as such was historic in Guide annals.

It was attended by delegates from Rock Creek, Osoyoos, Oliver, Okanagan Falls, Keremeos, Cawston, Penticton, Naramata, and Summerland.

Copper Mountain and Princeton are under the South Okanagan Commissioner Mrs. F. V. Harrison, but were not able to send delegates. Peachland Guides are sponsored by the Peachland Women's Institute, and come into this division, too.

Mrs. Harrison was chairman for the meeting, and Mrs. E. A. Titchmarsh, Penticton Commissioner, acted as secretary for the afternoon. Mrs. Harrison outlined the purpose which was to share ideas and expenses having to do with work affecting the division as a whole.

Mrs. Hyslop, Oliver, gave an interesting resume of the sessions of the division.

Each of which constitutes a health menace to the rest of the people.

The simplicity of being x-rayed today was emphasized by Dr. Zeman who said that 100 persons an hour can be examined by mobile equipment, and that improved techniques make it possible to obtain satisfactory chest pictures through a minimum of ordinary clothing. "No need to undress," she stated.

Perhaps a little known fact about the "mobile" germ hunters is that they were provided entirely from funds raised in B.C., through the sale of Christmas Seals.

of the provincial council meetings held at Victoria in March.

The question of camp-sites was discussed, and need of a permanent place possibly with a few cabins. Equipment was another reason for division work, and the advisability of having a quartermaster was considered.

A division library is to be formed with Mrs. Geo. Darters, Naramata, librarian. A sum of money was voted to buy books as a nucleus for the library. Other books will be added from time to time, and may be borrowed by Guide and Brownie leaders through the local associations, which will appoint a library representative. There will be rule books, nature studies, those suitable for story-telling, and many others.

Mrs. Dewey Sanborn as delegate, and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, president, attended from the Summerland local association, and Mrs. K. McIntosh, Guide captain, gave the report of Summerland Guides. Mrs. Lorne Perry, the Brownie leader was unable to be present.

South Okanagan Commissioner Mrs. F. V. Harrison, will be division chairman; Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, secretary-treasurer; other division committee members will be presidents of local associations; one delegate from each association; and the Guide and Brownie leaders.

Heavy Loss of Bees from Poison Reported at Vernon

VERNON—A heavy loss of bees in the north end of the Okanagan this spring has caused concern among local beekeepers, and at the provincial apiarists' office in Vernon. Reports are that some Vernon apiarists will sustain a loss of several hundreds of dollars. In many cases apiaries have been wiped out.

The loss is so severe it will practically eliminate any honey production in the area affected this year, where in 1948 the average yield of honey was 75 pounds per colony. Six hundred colonies are affected. In North Vernon there is a loss in 75 percent of the colonies of flying bees working in the fields.

No unfavorable reports have been received from Coldstream or South Vernon.

The suspicion that bees have died owing to spray poisoning has been confirmed by the Central Experimental Station Laboratories in Ottawa. Three weeks ago, when the damage was first noticed, samples of dead and dying bees were sent by the provincial apiarists' office to Ottawa for a definite check. A quotation from their report reads: "Every bee examined contained enough arsenic to be a lethal dose for 20 bees."

The question: "Where did the bees come in contact with the poison?" is a poser to experts. The horticultural department has no record of any arsenic of lead or calcium arsenate being used in sprays for fruit trees. The only explanation given is that some growers using either of these compounds have done so without reporting it to the department.

Peonies Decorate Parish Hall Tea

St. Stephen's W.A. used beautiful peonies in large bouquets to decorate the parish hall for the tea which was held on Saturday afternoon, June 4.

In charge of the sewing stall were Mrs. Nicholson, Sr. and Mrs. Chas. Clarke. Mrs. O. Eaton and Mrs. Wm Beattie sold the home cooking and Mrs. E. Hack, Mrs. M. K. Thompson, and Mrs. Gladys Chadburn were responsible for tea.

Austrian Bride of Anton Holler Thrilled with B.C.

Two months ago Miss Erica Meierhofer, secretary to the Canadian Consul to Austria, J. R. Robillard, in Salzburg, in the department of mines and resources, may have been thinking of North America. She probably was, now and then, but hardly that in May she would be leaving as a radiant bride to make her home in Canada.

Mr. Anton Holler went to Austria this spring to visit relatives. He met Erica, and on the 21st of May they were married in Salzburg. That same afternoon they left for Switzerland, thence to London, and on May 28 left by plane, by way of Iceland to Montreal, where they stayed a couple of days. Two weeks from the day of their marriage they arrived at Summerland.

"There were no borders, no customs, no bothersome conductors all the long journey across Canada," said Mrs. Holler, "and already I can feel the freedom of the country. Even the men do not always

Dr. A. B. Eagles to Take Over as Dean Of UBC Agriculture

Dr. Arthur Blythe Eagles, formerly head of the department of dairying at UBC, has been appointed the new dean of agriculture. He will take over the administration of the faculty from Dr. F. M. Clement who retires July 31.

Dean Eagles has a distinguished record as a scholar and an agriculturalist. A British Columbian, he was a UBC Gold Medal winner in 1922 and a research prize winner at the University of Toronto in 1927.

From 1922 to 1928 he worked on a series of fellowships that took him to Toronto, Yale university, the bureau of dairying with the department of agriculture in Washington, D.C., and the National Institute for Medical Research in London, England.

wear a tie."

Mrs. Holler, who is only just twenty-one, has always lived in Salzburg, "the most beautiful city in Europe". It is the home of the famous Mozart Conservatory, centre of universities of philosophy and theology. She saw the American occupation, and as a girl of fourteen, having finished four years of high school, she started nursing in a baby hospital, then nursing in a soldiers' hospital.

Later and for three and a half years she was the youngest court reporter and interpreter in the American court. She interpreted, herself, 7000 cases. There was an Austrian court of "limited competence", and security was very lax. The American court was called upon to try all sorts of cases, and in this way the young Austrian girl perfected her English which she speaks well, and with a sweet-toned lilt.

She tells of everything in dress and food being obtainable, if, and it should be spelled in capital letters, IF, one has money. There is an official currency rate which is practically not in use. The black market gives the real impression of value.

Officially 10 Austrian shillings equal one dollar; unofficially 28-30 shillings is the value. The average family wage is 400-500 shillings. Mrs. Holler earned 1000 shillings, and at that salary she found she could buy just one garment a month, as the rest of her money was needed for essential living costs.

People with children exist with the greatest frugality, milk is allowed, except in very small quantities, only to small children, and rationed to all.

"For ten years I have not been able to drink milk freely. A quarter of a pint of skimmed milk once or twice a week, is all I have had," stated the newcomer.

Austria is now producing 57% of its necessary food supply, but a great part is being used by the Russian forces. Food stores are bolstered by the Marshall plan.

and without it living would be almost impossible.

Mrs. Holler laughingly told of her little brother who said: "Erica, if sometime we can get plenty of food again, I hope I can eat potatoes until I don't want any more."

There are large oil wells in Austria, but the Russians take the output, and the same applies to other industrial products, Mrs. Holler stated.

"Conditions are slowly improving though", she mused. "This year the crops will be better. Things are steady more, and there is hope. Yes, it would be almost normal, if it weren't for the Russians."

School Pupils To Rent Text Books in Fall

It was announced at the regular school board meeting on Monday, May 30, that pupils will be able to rent books at the schools this fall from grades 7 to 12. The department of education will supply text books to the schools, and students will be required to pay $3.50 for the year for grades 7, 8 and 9 and $4 for grades 10, 11 and 12. This will mean a distinct saving to parents and pupils.

It is thought that through the return of the books to the school store room many will be passed from pupil to pupil and the books used much more than they are at present.

Miss M. C. Matthews' resignation was accepted with regret by the school board. She is returning to her home in Ontario at the end of the school term, and leaving the teaching profession.

Mr. Aubrey King, member of the board for the rural area, asked that a letter be sent to the engineer in charge of public works at Kelowna, asking that the road to Meadow Valley be given attention as soon as possible, and that some of the dangerous curves be removed to make conditions safer for the school bus.

Plans for the new junior-senior high school are progressing favorably. Some alterations were made from suggestions made by the school staffs. The general plan has met with the approval of the council, and it is expected that the final sketch plans will be taken to the department of education this month.

Mrs. A. O'Mahony, 94, Hostess at Tea

Mrs. A. O'Mahony entertained at tea on Friday, June 3, the occasion of her ninety-fourth birthday, and thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. Those present were Mrs. K. Lott, Mrs. F. Fudge, Mrs. Lionel Fudge, Mrs. J. Sheeley, Mrs. Wm Jenkinson, Mrs. H. B. Mair and Mrs. H. Tomlin.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Twenty-five Summerland Scouts attended the International Camporee at Oroville May 20, 21 and 22. All four patrols were present and competed against 54 other patrols from about 20 Canadian and American troops.

In all 450 Scouts and leaders attended the camp, which was held about 10 miles east of Oroville up about 3000 feet in the hills. Contrary to experience of recent years, rain did not interfere with the outing.

Everyone felt this was the most successful camporee yet held, and in the Scoutcraft Saturday afternoon competitions, out of 58 competing patrols, Summerland placed first, second and third in aggregate scores. In the overall camping rating the Troop had one "A", one "B" and 2 "C" patrols. Next year we would like all "A's".

Jamboree—Last week full instructions and details on Jamboree arrangements were given to every boy attending. Parents are asked to read these instructions most carefully to see that their boys' equipment complies with regulations.

The balance of the cost of the trip, $50.00 must be paid in to the Scoutmaster or Mr. S. A. Feltham by June 13.

It has been the custom in past years to hold a Scout Rally each year in September. Starting this year it has been decided to hold the rally in June owing to difficulties in getting people to turn out during the fruit picking season. This year the rally was held at the experimental station on June 8.

Troops were in attendance from Penticton, Naramata, Kaleden and Keremeos. The Cubs, Brownies and Guides were also attending as guests. Each unit put on a 5 to 10 minute item on the program.

At the Spring Fair the troop booth showed a profit of between fifty and sixty dollars. The troop, and particularly those boys attending the Ottawa Jamboree wish to thank the public for their generous support.

At last week's meeting two new Scouts received their investiture, Bob Boyda and Lorton Wadell. It won't be long before both these boys will be in line for their second class badge.

Last meeting saw the clean-up of practically all the first class tests. From now on the emphasis will be a few additional proficiency badges, particularly public health man and fireman. Both these badges are King Scout badges.

Dr. Andrew will be present at this coming Friday's meeting to give the first of two lectures on the public health man badge. All Jamboree Scouts must be sure to be on hand for these talks.

Scouts attending the Jamboree are reminded that the balance of payment, $50.50 must be paid into Mr. Feltham by June 13. All boys owing weekly dues are requested to pay up as soon as possible.

Notices: Meeting Friday, June 10, at 7 p.m. in school gym. Duty patrol, Beavers.—D. V. Fisher.

GUIDE NEWS

Last Friday each patrol gave final preparations to the five-minute entertainment for the Guide-Scout rally, which was held last night, at the experimental station. Then games were played, and there was a campfire.

The Guide camp is to be at Deep Creek near Peachland. We will be able to use one cabin, the boats and the diving stand at the Antlers. The fee for camp is $8 and a pot of jam.

We spent the remainder of the time judging the five-minute entertainment, and the Bluebird Patrol will be putting on a comedy skit. The Senior Patrol will have a kitchen band there.

We closed with the Guide prayer and Taps.

Two Local Men Will Lecture to Phytopathologists

This summer the campus of the University of British Columbia will be the convention site for plant disease scientists from all parts of the Dominion. The Canadian Phytopathological Society will hold meetings from June 20-24 at Acadia Camp.

Plant Pathologists from the famous Canadian fruit growing areas of Annapolis and Okanagan Valleys and Niagara Peninsula, as well as wheat rust, small fruit, cereal and forest tree disease specialists will meet at Vancouver to present and discuss scientific papers on plant diseases.

Scientific papers presented by research workers of the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Summerland, B.C., will be:

"Coryneum Blight of Stone Fruits," by Dr. M. F. Welsh.

"Sixty Years with Plant Diseases in the Okanagan," by Dr. H. R. McLarty.

Medical Exam for New Pupils to be Held Next Week

Examination of children who are registered to enter school for the first time next September will be carried out in Summerland next Wednesday and Thursday, June 15 and 16 by Dr. Helen Zeman, medical director for the South Okanagan Health Unit.

Notification to this effect has gone out to all parents registered but if any persons have been missed they are asked to contact Miss Joan Appleton, public health nurse at 148.

These pre-school medical examinations have not been the usual practice in the past but where they have been carried out in other districts they have been found not only to have afforded an opportunity for the parents to meet the medical health officer and public health nurse and discuss their child's health, but defects discovered at this examination can be rectified, in many instances, before the school term commences.

Errors and Weak Hurling Decide Game at Penticton

Neither Al Coffey nor Gilbert Jacobs could stem the tide at Penticton on Thursday evening when the Summerland Merchants went down to ignominious defeat at the hands of the Penticton nine by a 16-5 count.

It was another contest replete with infield errors, mostly credited to a jittery infield, which was made up of a combination of Merchants and Red Sox players.

Coffey stayed on the mound until the sixth, when he injured his ankle base-running and was out of the game and out of play for a few weeks. Gil Jacobs, the Red Sox pride and joy, replaced Coffey but was wild, allowing eight walks in the final three innings.

Nick Drossos had the game well in hand throughout but in the fourth, fifth and sixth frames the Summerland lads started to find loopholes in his hurling.

Score by innings:
Penticton 321 501 202—16
Summerland 000 212 000—5

Summerland lineup was as follows: Kuroda lf, Schwab c, rf, Kato 2b, Taylor cf, Walsh ss, Hankins rf, Brawner 3b, Amm 1b, Coffey p, Thompson lf, Henderson rf, Smith ss, Weitzel c, Furuya 3b, Jacobs p, Rithaler.

Trap Shooters at Penticton Meet

Competing at Penticton on the King's birthday, June 6, a team from the Summerland Trap Club narrowly missed annexing the team shoot in the annual shoot arranged by the southern club.

Kelowna captured the team honors with a total of 107 while Summerland was close behind with 104. Penticton did not fare so well. Members of the Summerland team were Dr. L. A. Day, Bill Laidlaw, Tom Nelson, Phil LeBrun and Frank Pollock.

Frank Pollock tied with W. R. Maxon of Kelowna for the doubles competition first prize.

Other Summerland trap club members competing were Sandy Munn, Bill Nelson and Gerry Nelson.

Red Sox Trounce Osoyoos 14-2, Preliminary to Meeting Chiefs

As a warmup to next Sunday's contest here, when they play the league-leading Skaha Lake Chiefs, Summerland Red Sox trounced Osoyoos 14-2 at the Living Memorial athletic park last Sunday, Jacobs being in complete control throughout.

Thirteen Osoyoos batters went down by the strikeout route, six scattered hits only being allowed. The Red Sox fattened their batting averages with ten bingles, two of them being home runs by E. Jomori and B. Weitzel and two triples by Don Nesbitt and Sandy Jomori.

The Red Sox lost no time in going out in front, scoring three in the first and two more in each of the third and fourth frames. Another single was added in the sixth and then, just for good measure, the Sox came through with six in the eighth to make certain of the ball game.

Osoyoos tallies came in the fifth and eighth, the only two Red Sox errors assisting two hits to bring across the runs.

Allows 12 Passes

Osoyoos' hurling was the visiting team's downfall, twelve walks being passed out by Kellerman.

The Red Sox were no respecters of Kellerman when they got on the bags, stealing sixteen bases during the game.

Peachland, after defaulting to Penticton last Sunday has decided to discontinue play in the league, officials state.

Skaha Lake Chiefs remain undefeated this year and the Red Sox will be out for their hides next Sunday as they try to avenge the first defeat of the year when they played at the Cubs' home grounds.

The Red Sox are tied with Penticton Pirates for second place and Osoyoos is in fourth spot. Red Sox were to have played Penticton Pirates here a couple of weeks ago but the game was rained out.

This replay is now scheduled for Wednesday, June 15.

Tennis Teams Win Away and Lose at Home

Summerland tennis club divided matches against Okanagan Centre and Oliver teams last Sunday, winning away at the northern centre and losing to the southern team at home on the renovated, freshly-painted wooden courts.

These were the first inter-club matches of the season and the club believes that it has a good summer's play ahead. A large number of players has been "turning" out every weekend to enjoy the sport.

Summerland's margin of victory at Okanagan Centre was not great, being 6½ points to 5½ points.

In the men's doubles, Fudge and Solly won both their matches while Wright and Russel lost one and drew one. Ladies' doubles matches found Mrs. Russel and Mrs. Wright dividing their matches, as did Mrs. Cuthbert and Mrs. Beech.

In the mixed doubles play, Fudge and Mrs. Cuthbert lost one, Solly and Mrs. Beech won one, Mr. and Mrs. Russel won one and Mr. and Mrs. Wright lost their match.

Summerland's second team entertained Oliver and lost 12 matches to eight.

Snow and Collins won both their matches while Evans and Don Johnston lost both their matches. Mrs. Evans and Mrs. J. Lamey divided their games while Misses McLeod and McCorkell lost both their matches.

In mixed doubles play Mr. and Mrs. Evans won one and lost two. Snow and Miss McCorkell won one and lost two, Collins and Miss McLeod won two and lost one, while Johnston and Miss N. Thornthwaite won one and lost two.

Harold Cummer is Chief Winner in Shippers' Golf

Fifty-four entries competed on May 25 and 26 for the B.C. fruit shippers golf tournament prizes. Harold Cummer of Canadian Fruit Distributors Ltd., Vancouver office, capturing the Westminster Paper Co. cup, the championship trophy for 18 holes open play. Les Roadhouse, manager of Pacific Mills Ltd., Kelowna office, was runner-up.

Monty Fraser of Vernon captured the Pacific Mills Ltd. trophy, 18 holes handicap, with Frank Scott of Vancouver runner-up.

In the same class of competition, the Vancouver Ice and Cold Storage trophy went to Ed Sherwood of Vernon with K. W. Kinnard runner-up.

Mr. Cummer also took the Pacific Coast Terminals cup for most pars and birdies in the play for the first three cups, Les Roadhouse again being in second place.

Mr. Cummer then teamed with Guy Greenwood to take the four-ball foursomes C-I-L trophy for organizations, with Verne Rose and N. Broom second.

Representing the Associated Growers, Ken Kinnard and Clem Batty won the Bonar-Bemis Ltd. cup for two-ball foursomes. Tom Duthie and Chris Reid, representing Pacific Coast Fruit Exporters were second.

The shippers' trophy, open to other than representatives of fruit organizations was captured by Les Roadhouse, runnerup being F. Scott of Vancouver.

Mrs. Micky Green won the ladies' competition, with Mrs. Chris Reid, also of Kelowna, runner-up. Prizes were donated by Buckersfields Ltd. and Les Roadhouse.

Chris Reid won the approaching and putting play, Ed Pike of Salmon Arm being runnerup. Nobby Broom of Vernon took the long driving competition, with Bert Cookson of Kelowna second.

Injures Back in Box Factory Fall

Charles Leamy, an employee of the Summerland Box Co., suffered a severely injured back on Friday afternoon, June 3, when he fell a distance of about twelve feet from a lumber platform at the box company plant.

Mr. Leamy is a patient in Summerland hospital but it has not been determined to what extent his back has been injured. It was feared that his back was broken, but diagnoses have not been finalized.

Rutland Ekes Out 13-12 Win In Last Frame Over Merchants

Errors, walks and plenty of hits found Summerland dropping a senior ball league contest at the Rutland Adanacs park last Sunday by a 13-12 count in a game which saw about everything in the way of baseball, good and bad.

Hankins went the entire game for the Summerland Merchants, who lacked the services of Coffey, injured in last Thursday's game at Penticton, and Jackie Walsh regular second-sacker.

Rutland opened the scoring with seven runs on six hits and three errors in the first frame, as a big reply to the Merchants two runs in the first part of the inning.

Summerland added another in the second but Rutland countered with one in the third to make the count 8 to 3. Wostradowski, who started on the mound for Rutland was relieved by Veteran Bach in the fourth.

The Merchants countered one in the fourth and another in the sixth to draw closer, but Rutland staged another spurge in its half of the sixth to take an 11-5 lead.

After counting one in the seventh, the Merchants staged a vicious rally in the eighth to bring across six runs and go into the lead for the first time in the game. Two errors by Mallach and four hits were responsible for this Merchants' rally, as the boys batted around the order.

But the Merchants' lead was short-lived as Rutland Adanacs came back in their half of the eighth to knot the count at 12-all. Truitt's clout scoring Mallach.

Hits by Amm, Rithaler and Vanderburgh failed to bring any score across in the Merchants' half of the ninth, Amm being caught between second and third, Taylor flying out and Furuya going down by the strikeout method.

In the last of the ninth, Lingor singled and came home on Wostradowski's clout to end the ball game.

"Jimmy" Thompson started at short for the Merchants but left the game in the fourth when he injured his forehead just above the eye in a scuffle at second. Stitches were required for the injury.

Amm went in at second, Furuya to short, the former on the very next play tagging Wanless out at second and throwing to Vanderburgh for a double.

In the seventh, Amm started another double, throwing Shoenberger out at second, Furuya relaying to Vanderburgh to take Rauser out of the game.

Summerland's lineup follows: Kuroda lf, Schwab c, Amm rf, 2b, Taylor cf, Thompson ss, Vanderburgh 1b, Furuya, 2b, ss, Brawner 3b, Hankins p, Rithaler rf.

Score by innings:
Summerland 210 101 160—12
Rutland 701 003 011—13
Hankins and Schwab; Wostradowski, Bach and Brummet.

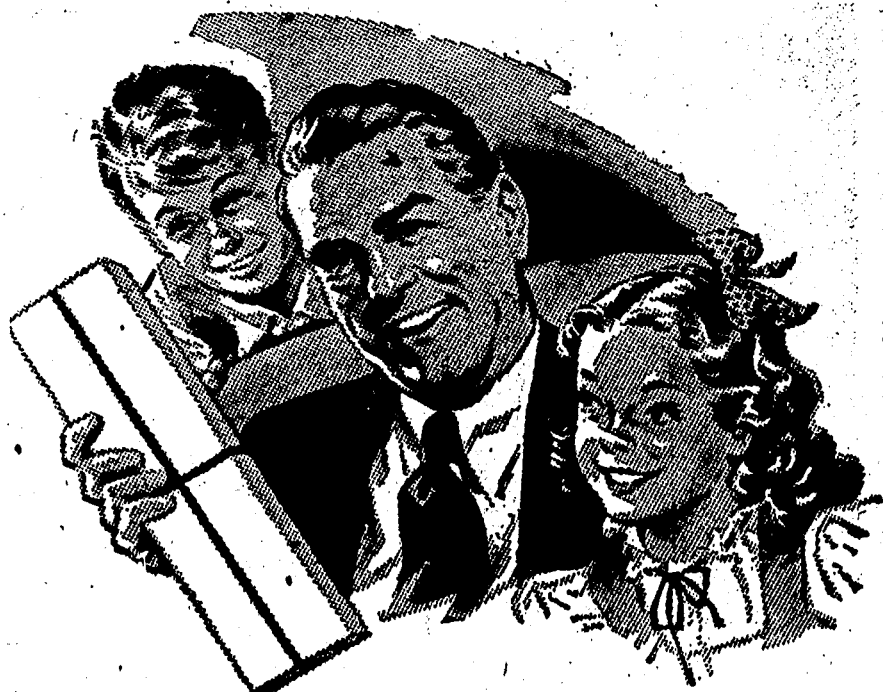

Impound Two Cars After Collision

Two cars not covered with liability insurance have been impounded following a collision on the lakeshore highway in Summerland Thursday evening, about 11:30 o'clock. They were driven by Gerry Nelson and Vernon Schmidt and both were badly damaged to the extent of about $500.

The Nelson car was following another auto and failed to turn out in time to prevent hitting the Schmidt vehicle, which had developed engine trouble and was parked on the side of the highway. B. C. Police Constable Thorsteinson was informed.

The Nelson auto clipped the left rear fender of the Schmidt auto turning it over. None of the occupants of the car was injured to any extent apart from minor bruises.

Premier Byron Johnson discussed municipal, school and hospital matters with heads of these three departments when he visited Summerland on Tuesday. He believed that there would be no difficulty in providing the government share of the proposed new junior-senior high school here and also advised hospital directors as to the procedure to obtain assistance in needed capital expenditures. The disposition of the three percent sales tax rebate to the municipalities was discussed with the council.

all premiums of the old age pensioners, which amount to one million dollars yearly.

Now, with the old age pension at the $50 level, B.C. pays its $10 bonus plus $2.50 of the federal government's increase in basic pension.

There is only one place where the government can collect this extra money and that is from the three percent sales tax, two percent of which goes directly into the department of health and welfare and can be spent in no other way.

In respect of social assistance B.C. is so far ahead of the other provinces in Canada that there is no comparison, he declared.

Social allowances have been increased from $42.50 to $50 per month, the cost of taking care of unemployables this year being budgeted at $3,680,000. Twelve thousand children are dependent on these unemployables and the province must care for them, he declared.

Premier Johnson paused to suggest that a contributory superannuation scheme across Canada must be worked out in the near future, but the difficulty is that the people of eastern Canada are not as socially inclined as those in the west. Ontario, for instance, only spends $500,000 annually as its portion of the old age pensions contribution.

"We are a socially-minded group of people in B.C. and as the government we feel we are doing what the people want."

Municipalities would be in serious difficulties without the rebate of one percent of the three percent sales tax. Last year it was estimated that $4 millions would be the municipalities' share of this tax, but it is now considered that the sum will be nearer $6 millions.

Local governments need expanding revenues as much as the provincial government in these times of increasing population, Premier Johnson acknowledged, and that is the reason the one percent rebate was allowed.

Industrial Growth

The genial premier, who hardly ever glanced at a note, and seldom hesitated for a second, then swung into B.C. Power Commission activities, telling of the tremendous expansion at Campbell River and other points in B.C. The Celanese company near Prince Rupert is now establishing its first unit at a cost of between $15 and $20 millions. Eventually between 1,000 and 1,500 families will receive permanent employment from this company's operations, while the CNR will benefit daily from greatly increased tonnage bound for the other side of the continent.

Premier Johnson admitted that "we took some arbitrary powers" in dealing with the Aluminum Co. of Canada, but he went on to show how justified the government was in this respect.

This company now plans to develop one and a half million horsepower on a river which has no spawning grounds. "Don't let anyone tell you that the aluminum company is going to interfere with the fishing industry of this province," the premier cautioned. The only natural resource which this development will tap is the river water, which has been flowing into the ocean for centuries. The establishment will cost the company nearly $500 millions and will provide a townsite for some 55,000 persons, he believed.

"We are doing everything in our power to bring the aluminum company into this province, and we have a reasonable chance of getting them," he declared.

Premier Johnson described his government's intentions to extend the PGE railway to Prince George and also provide a southern outlet by motor road. He stressed the great wealth still untapped in the northern interior and the possibilities of expansion which the province has in this area.

In conclusion, he stressed the immense tourist traffic which will accrue once the Hope-Princeton is opened and warned that tourist

Bennett Sweeps South Okanagan Defeating Wilkinson as Coalition Adds to Majority With Forty Seats

W. A. C. Bennett, an ex-member of the Coalition forces in the provincial legislature at Victoria as a member for South Okanagan swept back into the favor of the riding yesterday, June 15, along with all but eight other ridings in the province in one of the biggest land-slides in the history of British Columbia.

Premier Byron Johnston's Coalition government has forty seats in the new legislature, while the CCF retained six, one went to an independent and one to a labor representative.

The Coalition gained four seats over the aggregate in the last session of the legislature. The CCF dropped five seats. The independent seat was a loss to the Coalition interests.

The Canadian Press judged last night an hour and twenty minutes from the time counting started that the Coalition government would be returned with a sweeping majority.

Mr. Bennett's majority over Thomas Wilkinson, CCF candidate from Kelowna was 1,823. In last November's by-election the Coalition had a majority of 753.

All over the province the same trend was shown. The Coalition government was being vindicated on every hand. Old-time members of the CCF at Victoria went down to defeat to candidates for Coalition.

Premier Byron Johnston declared last night that this expression of the people's opinion is a great vindication of the free enterprise system and of the government's post-war program partly completed and its plans for the future development of the province.

The genial premier, whose great personality has had a striking influence on the electors following his province-wide campaign whirlwind trip, stated last night the extension of the PGE would proceed at once and the government would continue its efforts to bring new industries to B.C., with special emphasis on the aluminum industry.

Hon. Herbert Anscomb, leader of the Progressive Conservative portion of the Coalition, stated from his Oak Bay constituency last night that the people of B.C. have shown a complete rejection of Socialism-communism, have endorsed the great humanitarian program of the Coalition and the business program outlined.

CCF Leader Harold Winch, although his Opposition forces have been cut nearly in half, was undaunted when he spoke over a radio network and added a scathing comment that evidently the people of B.C. are not "scareproof" yet.

Early Indication Favored Winner

Although the first two polls received by Returning Officer Harvey Wilson last night at his Summerland home, gave Tom Wilkinson, CCF candidate, a majority over W. A. C. Bennett, the CCF lead had been cut and gave an indication of things to come.

First results from South Okanagan arrived at 8:30 and came in rapidly from then on, with the big Kelowna vote of 20 polls plus the advance poll, arriving here at 8:40 o'clock. All but one poll was registered by 9:30, but that one, Westbank, was not received for another hour.

At 9:10 o'clock, Mr. Wilkinson conceded the election to Mr. Bennett, who was heard shortly over OKOV thanking the constituents of South Okanagan for their great vote of confidence.

It was plain that Mr. Bennett was elated and excited as he rushed to the microphone and in his rapid-fire manner gave a few words of thanks stressing at first the support he obtained from the Liberals.

No candidate ever received increased majority over by-election.

In the five West Summerland polls, W. A. C. Bennett obtained a handsome majority of 357, more than a hundred greater than was expressed for R. D. Brown-Clayton at last November's by-election. Last November, the Coalition candidate had a majority of eight in lower town, Summerland, but Mr. Bennett increased that number to 45, receiving 218 votes to 173 for Mr. Wilkinson.

It was in Kelowna that the main decision was reached, as Mr. Bennett had a majority there of 895, whereas last fall the lead for the Coalition was only 333. Both candidates showed gains in the Kelowna polls but Mr. Bennett far outstripped his opponent.

Rutland was retained for the CCF supporters but the majority was considerably reduced. East Kelowna and Ellison were the only other two polling divisions which were retained by the CCF.

Total vote for Mr. Bennett was 6,418, while Mr. Wilkinson polled 4,595, leaving Mr. Bennett in the lead by 1,823 votes. These figures will be altered considerably when the result of the special and absentee votes is better Coalition support than right here in the South Okanagan," he declared. Mr. Bennett also thanked Mr. Wilkinson for a clean election fight which could be a model for the whole province.

Over the entire South Okanagan the poll was heavier than usual, indicating the great interest which was taken in this provincial election and the result of many mediums of publicity used in getting out the vote.

Here in West Summerland the vote was steady throughout the day but not unusually brisk. However, from 7 o'clock to 7:45 the rush to the polls was extremely heavy. It was at this time that most of the new Japanese vote was registered.

West Summerland showed a vote of 76 percent of the possible while lower town in Summerland went one better and had a percentage of 79 percent.

The IOOF hall contained five polls for the West Summerland area while the basement of the Lakeside United church had two polls.

made known in a few weeks' time.

There were 55 spoiled ballots registered with the returning officer last night, making a total vote of 11,068 out of a possible 14,432.

Both political parties worked like trojans throughout election day, with the CCF supporters being particularly active in the morning. There was plenty of transportation for anyone who desired it, the Coalition and CCF cars working throughout the day.

Independent transportation was offered by the Summerland Board of Trade and a number of voters were transported by cars provided by that group in an effort to see that everyone exercised their franchise.

Oldest voter to come to the polls was Mrs. A. O'Mahony, who celebrated her 94th birthday last week. She is the mother of Mr. J. E. O'Mahony, board of trade president and secretary of the Summerland Hospital Society. Extremely sorry for her years Mrs. O'Mahony needed no guidance at the polling booth.

BENNETT'S SMILE OF VICTORY

W. A. C. Bennett, Kelowna hardware merchant, who was returned to the provincial legislature yesterday with a majority of 1823 votes over his only rival, Thomas Wilkinson, Kelowna CCF candidate. Mr. Bennett was first elected to Victoria in 1941 as a Progressive Conservative. He joined the Coalition and was elected again in 1945. In May of last year he resigned his seat to contest Yale federal election and was defeated by O. L. Jones, present CCF member. When Mr. R. D. Browne-Clayton who was elected as member for South Okanagan last November replacing Mr. Bennett, resigned and would not allow his name to stand for renomination Mr. Bennett was again pressed into service as the Coalition standard-bearer.

Jaycees Novel Float Urges Get Out Vote

Shoppers in the West Summerland district were startled Saturday night to see a large float, highly decorated, with numerous strange characters sprawled about, being pulled through the streets.

It turned out to be the Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce float urging everyone to vote on June 15.

John Bennett was at the controls of his tractor, around which had been rigged a framework, covered with bunting and placards urging everyone to remember June 15, election day.

Behind the tractor was towed a boat, suitably bedecked, with a large sail which also was placarded with warnings that everyone should exercise their franchise and giving the times and places for voting.

Dangling fishing rods out the back of the boat were Jaycees Fred Schwass and J. R. Armstrong complete with straw hats and pipes. Talmadge McDonald was busy letting off firecrackers in a tin can to add to the noise of the boat's inboard motor. Jaycees Bob Ramsay and Tony Fetterer were other occupants of the vessel.

Preceding the float was the Summerland Band, playing smart marching music while in the rear was Summerland's new fire engine driven by Bob Bleasdale and containing Fire Chief Ed Gould.

Those who worked extremely hard to make this float possible were Jaycee President Les Rumball, Bob Bleasdale, Talmadge McDonald, John Bennett, Mait Kersey, Mel Ducommun, Norman Coyle.

The band and the float paraded twice along Granville street and then stopped by Smith & Henry, where the band continued to play before moving to the IOOF hall, where the hobby show was in progress.

VOTERS SAID "YES"

Premier Byron Johnson voters yesterday throughout B.C. gave Premier Johnson the signal to proceed with his vast expansion program to open up B.C. hinterland and provide facilities to tap great natural resources.

GRANTS ARE APPROVED

The annual grant of $25 to the Salvation Army was passed for payment by the council on Tuesday. Half of the $250 grant to the Summerland Band is being paid now and the balance will be remitted when tax money is available.

Children Will be Kept Out of School if Road Not Fixed Says Group

Nine ratepayers from Garnet Valley met the Summerland council on Tuesday afternoon and laid their cards on the table, declaring that the three most dangerous corners on their main road must come off and the road widened or they would not allow their children to go to school next September.

It was a determined and grim group which strode into the council chambers on Tuesday and faced Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley and his fellow councillors.

Charges of "promises" made before were handled about but the main issue that the delegation insisted that the corners be removed and the road made safe for the school bus and other traffic was clear throughout.

Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley told the delegation that the council would consider when the corners would be removed but would not give any definite statement as to the exact time. He and other councillors agreed that the road is dangerous and the corners should come off, but it was a matter of when and how the money could be found.

The delegation was off to a rather awkward start when Jim Dunsdon drove straight from the shoulder and told Acting Reeve Bentley: "Ned, you promised me something would be done. We don't want to wait until somebody gets killed."

He claimed the road is the most dangerous in the municipality and since the school bus has been enlarged it is not safe to travel the route when the bus is negotiating the curves.

Harry Dunsdon, Jr., who proved the chief spokesman, then pointed out the danger would be greatly aggravated in the fall when trucks are hauling fruit to the packing-houses.

The three corners which the delegation wishes removed more than any other portion were labelled those near the Blagburne, John Heinrich and Knippelberg properties.

"This council promised us faithfully those corners would come off this year," was the declaration.

"We never made any such promise," replied Councillor Wilson, and as road department head last year he declared emphatically that he had made no such promise in 1948.

"It was in the bylaw. If you were living up there the corners would have been off long ago," replied Jim Dunsdon, looking at Councillor Wilson.

It was explained to Mr. Dunsdon and the delegation that the bylaw did not contain any provision for such roadwork but only covered hard surfacing. One bylaw was for machinery at $12,000 and the other was for hard-surfacing at $28,000.

Hold Responsible Harry Dunsdon then emphatically declared that "if there is an accident to the youngsters the municipality will be held responsible. You have two months before school opens again," he warned the council.

Jacob Folkor told of three scrapes he has had with his auto on the sharp "square" corners referred to and other members of the council.

Held a "Gun" to Council Head

WHEN nine heads of families go to the extent of declaring they will not send their children to school if the main road past their homes is not widened to provide sufficient room for traffic to pass safely, then there is cause for some immediate investigation.

This was the situation which arose at Tuesday's council meeting when a delegation of Garnet Valley residents waited on the municipal fathers and handed out their ultimatum.

They placed a "gun" at the head of the council, which naturally arouses a certain amount of antagonism, but if the cause is severe enough then their action is justified.

There is no doubt that the Garnet Valley road is a dangerous route for any vehicles not practicing the utmost of caution. And when fruit trucks are trundling down with their heavy loads the need for caution becomes more apparent.

It is unfortunate that the delegation aroused some antagonism, by allying to council "promises" and becoming slightly confused over last year's hard surfacing bylaw, but the main issue stood out quite apparent—the need for widening Garnet Valley road and removing three extreme corners.

It is hoped the council will take immediate cognizance of the request, and give the Garnet Valley residents some assurance as to when these improvements can be undertaken. It is a difficult time of year, after the annual budget has been approved, to find extra thousands for such work, but we have an idea that there might be some excess from the rebate on the sales tax.

Tomorrow is Graduation Day

TOMORROW is one of the most important days in the lives of 21 young citizens of Summerland. It is the day when they are officially recognized as having graduated from the Summerland high school and are stepping forth into a world which holds plenty of promise, but plenty of pitfalls at the same time.

It is a turning point in the lives of these young men and women who are leaving the adolescent stage and are nearing the status of full citizenship.

Despite those who would utter pessimistic cries, and despite the day by day chaos of world politics as hurled from the daily press and radio, it is not such a bad old world, after all.

There is plenty of opportunity for all, if one is willing to buckle down and work hard to establish oneself. Through the advancement of science, there is a wider scope for the young person who would apply himself or herself than ever before in history.

There is also, in this country, the freedom to express oneself. The graduate of tomorrow need only look back to Wednesday when the people of this province marched to the polls to elect their government representatives. There were no armed guards, there was no fear, every person who had taken the opportunity to register their names on the voters' list could express his or her choice with impunity.

That is the greatest opportunity which is afforded. . . The right of a free people to express themselves as they desire and to provide for themselves as they see fit in a country which is still committed to free enterprise despite the efforts of a minority.

We wish these graduates the best of luck in their chosen vocations.

The First Printed Year Book

ANOTHER milestone in the history of the Summerland high school was passed this week with the issue of the first printed annual marking the completion of the school year and the graduation of the Class of '49.

This year book is an attractive booklet containing 56 pages of pictures, editorial comment, valedictory, comments on high school students and resumes of the year's activities.

Bob Weltzel was editor-in-chief of this dignified year book and to be and his colleagues go a great deal of credit for such a splendid showing. The entire school should take great pride in their achievement, as this year book is worthy of a school of much greater size.

It is hoped that the high school will continue to take an active interest in such forms of journalism and continue this effort from year to year.

The school editorial staff was aided by Mr. C. D. Kennedy in preparing the Year Book, but most of the material was gathered by the students themselves and the staff members only gave their advice when requested and assisted in the general policy.

It is the students' proud claim that every high school student has his or her name included in the annual, and nearly every student's picture appears, as well.

Signifying Nothing

By RUSTICUS

Little Orphan Annie pulled a dirty trick on me the other day, and it's not the first time, either. I don't mind her never growing up; she may have good reasons, as any adult will agree. Nor her sermons; they are as easy to take in a comic strip as any other way, and many of them are good.

Even a millionaire friend and a shrewd old lady accused of witchcraft are tolerable—they are not impossible. But this ringing in some gentle with magic powers whenever she gets in a tough spot strikes me as being definitely unfair. Punjab and Funjab would be all right if we knew from the start that the whole story was supposed to be fantastic; but when they are plopped down among ordinary people after days of normal comic strip life, why, dash it all, it just isn't oricket.

It takes away all my interest to know that Annie doesn't have to depend on her own brains or ingenuity to get her out of a difficulty, just as it would take away all incentive to work if a person knew he wouldn't lose anything by not working. Of course, in any story or comic strip you're pretty sure that the hero will win out anyway, but it is interesting to read to the end and see just how he does get out of the predicament that any good author plunges him into at the start. Just like a game of cards; you never get tired of seeing how well you can play the hands dealt you in ordinary games, but if you have an opponent who keeps extra trumps or aces up his sleeve so that he just can't lose, your interest soon fades away.

Don't think this is trivial nonsense. It isn't. For there is an increasing tendency in books and comic strips to ring in figures with magic powers whenever the going gets tough. In old days the only magic in the comics was the Katzenjammer Kids' inexhaustible supplies of amazingly adhesive glue; now we have Superman and a host of imitators. It's worse in the comic books than in the strips, and they are drawing an enormous audience.

Are we in danger, as a result, of getting a "magic friend" complex in everyday life? You know, letting ourselves get into all sorts of scrapes in the expectation that some magic will get us out?

Judging from all the squawks and moans that are heard about high building costs, a lot of people start building houses without investigating costs very thoroughly beforehand, expecting some supernatural power to adjust their expenses to their pocketbooks; and in real life that just does not happen.

It's the same with buying real estate, cars, furniture, all sorts of things; do I recall correctly that 70% of all life insurance policies never do get fully paid up?

Maybe we have a touch of it in the educational field, too. We preach the theory that if a youngster goes ahead and gets as much academic education as possible, he'll be better fitted to make a success of life, for sure. Yet "book-larnin'" is no magic, and many a dewy graduate of our academic institutions finds the world a grim place where you've got to work hard and prove definite qualities of character in order to make good. A whole string of university degrees will not magic you out of a tough spot if you've had no more sense than to get into one.

Maybe we should have, in books, films, comics and education, more emphasis on the inexorable laws of cause and result, that every act brings its consequence and the door thereof is responsible therefore. "He who calls the tune must pay the piper," our grandparents used to say, and it still holds true.

I'm going to desert Orphan Annie for a comic that is a little more in line with real life. Moon Mullins, for instance, has a pool ball stuck in his big mouth, and that really does show how foolish actions logically bring unpleasant results. His creator has never yet rung in a magician to extricate his characters from their troubles, and it's going to be really interesting to see how he'll get that pool ball out.

The Necessary Fuel

The Giant of Giant's Head

By B. A. T.

XXVII — Justice in Giantland
Hoarding is a hateful trait,
Some have it all their lives;
It's not so bad with money.
But don't do it, sir, with wives.

Under the just and benevolent rule of the Giant of Giant's Head there was little discord and even less crime in the land. But there would be occasions when the aid of a judge was necessary to settle disputes and, in these circumstances, the Giant sat on the Bench and rendered final judgment. His decisions were so fair, so unbiased, that the matter would be settled for all time, usually to the satisfaction of all concerned.

One court case during the Giant's reign is worthy of mention. For in this particular instance it is possible that the Giant showed favoritism, for man is prone to aid his sex against woman.

The controversy in question was one in which two women were claiming the same man. When one woman rules a man it is serious enough but when two of the fair sex seek domination over the same male, it is often tragic—at least for the man.

The giant in this affair was Big Amous, a small, wrinkled fellow who appeared to have experienced the hard knocks of life, matrimonial and otherwise. But he had a furtive, cunning gleam in his eye. He was the type that would make a good secretary but a poor treasurer.

The giantesses who were fighting for Big Amous were a short dumpy specimen of the Coast Giants and a tall, angular madam who belonged to the Prairie Giant clan. For convenience we will call them Mrs. Dumpy and Mrs. Tall, respectively.

Mrs. Dumpy claimed that Big had married her during his sojourn at the Coast, had lived with her for three years but had escaped during a thunderstorm. Her long, weary search was ended when she had found him living in the shadow of the Head. "I haven't known a day of happiness since I lost him," she sobbed. "Give him back to me, O Giant, and make a lonely woman's heart beat with joy again."

Mrs. Tall stated that she had captured Big Amous at the time of the Giant's oil discovery expedition to Leduc. "He was wild at first but I gradually got control over him. But one day when I was goaded by a buffalo, he ran for a doctor and has been running ever since. O Judge, there will be a similar case to this in 1944. Let me quote from a decision that will be handed down at Pouce Coupe . . ."

"Stay in your era," thundered the judge. "You are still pre-historic and I may say that you not that way, too."

The Giant was in a quandary how to give a just decision on this perplexing case, as strange to say, Big Amous did not want either of those dainty morsels of femininity.

"I could give one of those decisions," said the Giant. "I could out Big Amous in two and give you each half but no one would be satisfied, least of all, Big. I could say that he must share his affection between you but there is none to divide. I might say that he was free and did not belong to either. Have you anything to say, Big Amous, before I pronounce judgment?"

"O Giant King, I have a plan. I will toss a coin in the air. If it falls heads, I belong to Mrs.

Dumpy. If tails, I am Mrs. Tall's slave. If the coin stays in the air for a full minute or does not fall at all, I am free from all restraint."

"That is agreeable to me," said the Giant. "Does it appeal to you ladies?"

"Okay with me," said Mrs. Dumpy.

"Yes," said Mrs. Tall. "The fates will give me justice."

Big Amous took a coin from his pocket and showed it. One side showed Giant's Head, and the other the tail of an Ogopogo.

"Fair enough," said the Giant. "Toss it."

Big hurled the coin into the air and the crowd in the courtroom waited with indrawn breath for it to fall. But it seemed to have dissolved in the air.

"Time it!" shouted the Judge to a court official.

For a minute not a sound was heard as the fall of the coin was awaited. Women wept with the suspense and the men chewed their gum faster to control their emotion.

"Time!" finally shouted the official and the spectators drew a deep breath of relief.

"The coin has given the decision," said the Giant to Big. "You are free."

The two giantesses twined their arms about each other's necks and, crying loudly, left the room. A crowd gathered around Big when he had gone outside and some looked at him with reverence.

"Where did the coin go, Big? Are you a magician?"

Big Amous drew a coin from his pocket—the only one he had ever owned. "I took a course in manual arts at night school. You had better take one in visual training," was all he said as he set out to seek a third wife.

Thirteen Scouts Go To Jamboree at Ottawa

Summerland is to have one of the biggest representations from British Columbia at the 1949 Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree to be held from July 16 to 24 at Connaught camp, near Ottawa.

Thirteen members of the 1st Summerland troop of Boy Scouts will be leaving early next month for the east, their trip made possible mainly by the efforts of the boys themselves, but also assisted by many interested citizens locally.

A special train will leave Vancouver on July 12 containing these Scouts who are between the ages of 14 and 17 and have attained their First Class standing, at least.

The Summerland Scouts who have been chosen for the trip consist of Robert B. Towgood, Leslie Younghusband, Glen Younghusband, Gordon D. Younghusband, Leslie Bingham, Donald Blacklock, Graham Munn, Alfred G. Pohlmann, Victor Smith, Vernon Campbell, George Gerald Washington, Lorne Ian Carston, Walter C. Thompson.

Penticon Scouts include Graham Palmer, James A. Coe, John P. Hatfield, Sholto Heberton, Hugh W. Johnston, James A. Tidball, G. Richard Lewis, Harvie L. Walker, Leslie Parmley and Robert E. Sal-lows.

Gordon Carlinge is going from Kaleden and Naramata will be represented by Howard A. Luxton and Gerald Rayner.

The local Scout committee still has some more money to raise to complete the quota for the trip, and any interested person who wishes to subscribe to the fund may contact the secretary Ed (Hilly) Smith or any other member of the Scout committee.

Miss Joan Appleton was hostess to the Sunday Evening Club on June 5, when over thirty members drove to her home near Skaha Lake, Penticon, and enjoyed tea and supper there.

GUIDE NEWS

On Wednesday the Guides, attended a rally at the experimental station. At the rally Guides, Brownies, Scouts and Cubs came from Keremeos, Cawston, Penticon, Naramata, and Summerland.

Everyone arrived at 5:30, had supper, and a social time until 7 p.m. At seven the flag-raising ceremony took place around the flag-pole on the lawn. Then the crowd went to the large lawn and each company put on a skit for five to ten minutes. This was enjoyed by all. After each company had given their bit of entertainment everyone went to the hillside overlooking the canyon for campfire.

Those Guides who have not passed their second class and wish to go to camp are reminded to work hard on their tests as camp is only a few weeks off. Camp this year is being held at Deep Creek, near Peachland from July 2 - 11.

Jean Peck and Deanna Wileman both received their tenderfoot badges on Friday. Several girls who have just completed their second class tests will get their second class badges on Friday.

Mrs. Magnus Tait Memorial Awards Presented at Final Term Meeting of Local W.I.

The regular June and closing- until-September meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the parish hall on Friday afternoon, June 3, with the president Mrs. A. K. Macleod in the chair.

There was a large attendance of interested women who came to see the entries from the home economics and manual training classes of the elementary school competing in the Mrs. Magnus Tait Memorial awards, and to view the fashion show given by the girls of Grade 12.

Since there were two types of work in the manual training two first prizes were given; one for a fine three-storey birdhouse made by Bobby Nelson, and one for the stool which was Walter Thompson's work.

Marian Turigan was awarded the girl's first prize for her embroidered tray-cloth.

The judges in this annual contest were Mrs. R. Blayney, convener of the W.I. handicraft committee, Mrs. W. R. Powell and Mrs. Gordon Ritchie.

Miss Marion Campbell, home economics teacher at the high school, had supervised making of the costumes on display. Miss Ruth Nakamura gave piano music prior to the show, and Mrs. Macleod was commentator.

Those taking part were Miss Pat Broderick in black taffeta with gold accessories, the dress having a versatility by the removable net overskirt which tied around the waist; Miss Doreen Steuart in yellow tailored flannel, white accessories; Miss Julia Hack in paddy green taffeta; Miss Betty McClure in a practical cotton frock with a butterfly bow in the back; Miss Ruth Nesbitt in an attractive blue and white checked rayon two-piece with navy and white accessories; Miss Ruth Klix in a Loganberry wine tailored wool frock, fine for the cooler days.

Miss Beverly Fleming had a black taffeta afternoon dress with a plaid bow at the back; Miss Helen Kean with a useful tailored grey celanese dress; Miss Louella Polesello in pink flowered cotton; Miss Shirley Wilson modelling Miss Barbara Munn's grey taffeta frock; Miss Ruth Fleming in a very becoming yellow wool dress; and Miss Elsie Hack in blue and white checked gingham.

After the exhibit of their work Ruth gave a piano solo, and Miss Joan Marshall sang two solos accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary Marshall, all of which were a treat to Institute members.

This part of the program ended with Ruth playing Debussy's Claire de Lune.

Mrs. C. H. Elsey congratulated the class on the sewing and moved a vote of thanks to them for the show and for the music, which was applauded.

Silk Screen Prints

Mrs. H. C. Whitaker suggested that a gift of silk screen prints, the work of Canadian artists, be made to the recently renovated and enlarged elementary school, and it was decided to obtain four of these pictures to brighten and add interest in the school.

At the request of Miss Joan Appleton a screen will be procured to divide the room when necessary for medical examinations.

Plans have been made to open an instructional sewing centre in the fall, and permission has been obtained from the school board to carry on these classes in the home economics room of the high school. Some members of the Institute have volunteered to teach sewing and further information regarding this new enterprise will be given in the fall.

It is thought that if the initial efforts are successful, and enthusiasm is shown the help of the university extension department will be sought for other classes in the new year.

Mrs. Blayney, convener of handicrafts, announced that Mrs. Rorke of the Vancouver Sun, may be here in September to give instruction in Linda Lee weaving.

The Spring Fair netted the Institute $66 from the tea stall and special thanks were given to Mr. Bob Bleasdale for his help with equipment.

An extra day will be needed to finish the cemetery cleanup and a number of members volunteered to serve tea to the workers.

A tag day for the blind of B.C. will be sponsored by the W. I. in November.

Roll call was answered with a household hint, and a very nice tea was served to the members, and to the girls from the high school.

Former Local Girl Bride at Kelowna

The marriage of Miss Sylvia Wright, younger daughter of Mr. Walter Wright and the late Mrs. Wright to Mr. Eric Sutton, took place quietly at St. Michael's and All Angels' church, Kelowna on Saturday, June 4, the Venerable Archdeacon D. S. Catchpole officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutton will make their home at Naramata.

Four Candidates Contest Yale Riding on June 27

Four candidates will contest the federal election in Yale riding on Monday, June 27. Returning Officer C. H. Jackson announced from Kelowna following closing of nominations on Monday, June 13.

Besides the three prospective candidates, the fourth "dark-horse" candidate is J. A. Reid, of Salmon Arm, representing the Social Credit party. Mr. Reid was a Social Credit candidate in the 1945 federal election.

Mayor Theo Adams, of Vernon, is the Progressive Conservative standard-bearer, as has been known for some time, while O. L. Jones, present CCF member for Yale will endeavor to retain his seat on behalf of the socialists.

C. J. McDowell, Vernon garage-man, has been nominated as Liberal candidate, despite rumors that he would not contest the riding following the resignation of the Yale Liberal Assn. president, J. Howard Thornton.

Adams Here Wednesday
Mayor Adams will bring the federal contest closer to home when he addresses a public meeting in Ellison hall next Wednesday evening, June 22. Mr. W. G. Gillard, president of the South Okanagan Conservative Assn. will be chairman and the other speakers are still to be announced.

This is the first address here in the federal election campaign although a number of Summerland persons heard P-C leader George Drew address a public meeting in Penticton a couple of weeks ago.

No announcement has been made here of possible speaking dates of other federal candidates, although it is considered nearly certain that Mr. O. L. Jones will be coming to Summerland some time before June 27.

It is unlikely that Mr. McDowell will come to Summerland as there has been no move on the part of the Liberals here to organize on his behalf. A move to organize Penticton Liberals on Monday is reported as not being successful to any degree.

Local Pro-Cons are meeting tomorrow night at the Nu-Way Annex to organize the campaign in Summerland area.

There has been little attempt here to date to take an interest in the federal picture until the provincial election campaign concluded. Now the field is clear for the windup of the Dominion campaign.

Agricultural Party Comes to Vancouver

Eighty members from 25 countries will comprise the International Federation of Agriculture party arriving in Vancouver on June 20 to be entertained by the Government of B.C. and the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

President Jock Stirling of the B.C. federation will be chairman of the luncheon next Monday at Hotel Georgia. The visitors will be driven through the Fraser Valley, Stanley Park, the British Estates and the University of B.C., where on Tuesday they will be guests of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, which is holding its national convention.

President H. H. Hannam of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and Premier Byron Johnson will speak to the visitors, while some of the pioneers in agriculture in this province, E. D. Barrow, William Harrison, W. E. Haskins, G. W. Challenger, C. A. Hayden, B.C. Federation secretary, E. J. Chambers, H. C. Oldfield and W. J. Pitt have been invited to attend the provincial government banquet.

Over 1500 Take Advantage Of Free TB X-Ray Clinic

More than 1500 persons over the age of 14 attended the TB free chest clinic in the IOOF hall on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, but it is estimated that another thousand persons failed to take advantage of the free service.

It was the aim of the provincial department of health, in co-operation with the chest clinic that every person 15 years and over would be x-rayed in an attempt to ascertain if any persons show symptoms of this dread disease.

However, the number of persons x-rayed exceeds the last clinic here and those in charge expressed their pleasure with the local persons who carried out a canvass of the district and arranged appointments.

Members of the Rotary club, assisted by Kiwanis club personnel, made a survey of the district and arranged appointment times. It was soon found that the population here could not be handled in two days.

Here Four Days

Consequently, the clinic officials returned on Saturday morning and again on Monday.

On the first day, Thursday, 588 persons went through the clinic. On Friday, 487 received x-rays. More could have been handled but the equipment broke down for a time in the afternoon. Saturday morning saw 311 go through and on Monday a further 171 had x-rays taken.

This provided a total of 1557, including some 200 school-pupils. It is estimated that about one hundred persons locally visit the interior clinic which pays a visit to the local hospital monthly.

The technicians in charge of the travelling clinic were Mr. Sam Smith and Miss C. Murray.

Members of the Women's Institute assisted in registering the clinic visitors, those taking part including the following: Mesdames A. K. Macleod, S. A. MacDonald, C. H. Elsey, J. E. Britton, F. Roy Angus, V. Charles, A. D. Cogan, M. E. Collas, D. L. Cruickshank, F. J. Dewonck, E. L. Fanchon, A. Gayton, E. M. Hookham, C. E. McCutcheon, H. B. Malr, J. Muirhead, C. V. Nesbitt, C. Orr, R. C. Palmer, G. Perry, L. G. Perry, M. D. Proverbs, Gordon Ritchie, J. E. Sheldrake, J. Y. Towgood, L. Johnston, Alex Smith, D. Wels, H. Whitaker, and Misses Marion Cartwright, Joan Bennett, E. Montgomery, Phyllis Adams and M. Nickols.

Sales Tax Rebate Is Here Now

Summerland municipality has received a cheque for $10,755.19 being its share of the final distribution on the one percent rebate of the three-percent sales tax.

The municipality received an interim payment last December of $7,955.29, making the total $18,712.28.

In addition, the motor vehicle act distribution to Summerland municipality will amount to $5,519.94. This cheque will be forthcoming shortly.

Net sales tax proceeds from July 1 to March 31, 1949, amounted to $14,121,814.78, the municipalities one-third being $4,708,271.59.

Total distribution to municipalities from motor vehicle licences amounts to $1,957,045.56.

Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith declared that the municipal coffers had been down to the minimum and every cent of the sales tax and motor vehicle licence fees would be necessary to finance the municipality until tax collections are made.

If the sales tax proceeds continue at the same rate, it is estimated that in the fiscal year March, 1949 to March, 1950, the local municipality will receive about $22,000.

BENNETT

One amusing sidelight was provided by the man who declared to a Coalitionist that he was going to vote CCF because that meant Conservative. It took a few moments to impress upon him the difference between Coalition and CCF policies.

The morning poll in West Summerland was light, only 295 votes being polled at 11:30 o'clock. By 3:30 o'clock the number had gone up to 678 and at 5:30 the halfway mark had been passed with 888.

By polls in West Summerland, following are the results:

Bennett CCF Rejects
A to B.....	128 71
C to F.....	137 71
G to L.....	139 133
M to R.....	201 66
S to Z.....	188 95
	793 436 4

The breakdown of the two polls in Summerland was not available at press time.

In other Okanagan ridings, the Coalition met with the same results.

Maurice Finnerty, Penticton Legion president, obtained a smashing victory over Bernard G. Webber, of Vernon, CCF candidate. The result was Finnerty 5675, Webber 4093; majority, 1582.

In the North Okanagan, Charles W. Morrow, Coalition whip, defeated William A. Monk, Grinrod farmer, CCF, and Lorne H. Shantz, Vernon bookkeeper, Social Credit candidate.

Salmon Arm riding saw another return of a Coalition member, Arthur E. Ritchie, Salmon Arm alderman, being returned over his CCF opponent Russell C. Freeze.

Arvid W. Lundell, Revelstoke publisher, Coalition, waged a keen fight with his CCF opponent Vincent Segur and obtained a sufficient majority although the contest result was not known until

Trout Creek Bridge Open

The Okanagan's bridge "bottleneck" is no longer in existence.

At the first of the week, the approaches to the new bridge over Trout Creek on Okanagan Highway No. 5 were opened for the first time and work of demolishing the old structure was commenced.

Vic Parker's bulldozer was used to tear off the planking on the old bridge and the abutments have been blasted since, it is reported.

Work is continuing on the fill needed to connect the highway with the experimental station and shale is being hauled to improve the approach to the Dominion Entomological Laboratory situated just south of Trout Creek on the east side of the highway.

Although the approaches to the new highway bridge and the road re-location are quite dusty, the work of providing a modern highway in this section is proceeding apace under the department of public works crew from Penticton.

CLAIMS WATER AND SILT DAMAGING HER PROPERTY

O'Brien & Oxley, on behalf of Mrs. C. O. Brooke, laid a complaint before the council on Tuesday that her property in Lower town has been damaged by water and silt flowing from the W. Arnett property. It would cost $65 to remove the silt, the legal firm stated. The municipal council is replying that it has no responsibility in this matter and that Mrs. Brooke should lay the complaint before Mr. Arnett.

late last evening.

The only CCF gain over Coalition was registered in Grand Forks-Greenwood where veteran Tom Love lost the Coalition seat to Rupert Williams Hagen, Rossland surveyor. Third candidate in this contest was E. S. Orris, publisher of the Grand Forks Gazette, running as an independent.

Kamloops was retained for Coalition when Syd J. Smith defeated CCF Charles A. Thomas and Independent Walter U. Domray.

Randolph Harding, CCF member for Kaslo-Slocan retained his seat by defeating Coalitionist Thomas M. Leask.

In Vancouver it was a clean sweep for Coalition with the exception of Vancouver East, where CCF Leader Harold Winch and Arthur Turner were elected by fair majorities. Harold Winch's father, E. E. Winch retained his CCF Burnaby seat with only a slim margin.

Vancouver Island went overboard for Coalition with the exception of Alberni, where James Mowat, in the last legislature as a Coalition candidate, was returned as an independent. Mr. Mowat was defeated in the Coalition nominating convention by Thomas W. Christie, so Mr. Mowat was nominated as an independent and won easily, defeating, besides Christie, Jack Whittall of the CCF and Nigel Morgan of the Labor Progressive party.

All nine cabinet ministers in the last Coalition government were returned to the legislature. Of the forty Coalition members returned, 23 are Liberals, 14 Progressive Conservatives and three with no previous party affiliations.

Two Appointments For School Staff

Two new appointments have been approved by School District No. 77 (Summerland) for the teaching staff of local schools next September. With a prospective 600 pupils in attendance in the elementary school next fall, two new teachers will be required.

Miss Anne Semek, who has been on the Keremeos staff, will come to Summerland high school to replace Miss C. Matthews, who is returning to Ontario. Miss Semek will teach English and physical education.

One of the two elementary vacancies will be filled by Miss Evelyn Boll.

School Inspector J. N. Burnett informed the school board Monday night that there are now plenty of teachers available for vacancies and that there will probably be an excess of prospective staff members seeking positions throughout the province when the fall term opens.

School trustees are of the opinion that they may have to discontinue providing transportation for Grade 13 pupils who wish to take their first year university course at Penticton.

The department of education was not happy about providing its share of transportation costs at the start of the present term, which has amounted in total to $1,400 for the five pupils making the trips to Penticton.

An estimate of probable students who wish to continue their studies at Penticton next fall will be obtained for the next board meeting later this month.

The appraisal of the renovated elementary school has been completed by the General Appraisal Co. at a cost of $350. Value of the school and contents was placed at $192,000 and insurance coverage will be adjusted accordingly.

Ken McKay Wins Two Rose Cups

There was a good display at the annual rose show sponsored by the Horticultural Society held in the parish hall on Friday evening, June 10.

Roses are considered the flowers of June but in Trout Creek area and at the Experimental Station they were not in bloom yet and residents of these districts were not able to make entries, so the show was not as large as usual.

Competition was keen and the judges, Mrs. R. C. Palmer, Dr. James Marshall, and Mr. E. H. Bennett had no easy time in picking the winners.

The rose challenge cup for the finest 6 named varieties went to Mr. Ken McKay of Naramata. Mrs. W. H. B. Munn won second place and Mr. Wm. Snow took third place.

The Sammet cup for the best artistic display also was taken by Mr. McKay. In this class Mr. Snow came second, and Mrs. M. E. Creese was third.

For the best individual rose in the show the prize was a rose-bowl, and Mrs. Gordon Ritchie was the winner. Mrs. Munn was second and Miss Doreen Tait placed third.

The prizes were presented by the president of the society, Mrs. M. E. Collas.

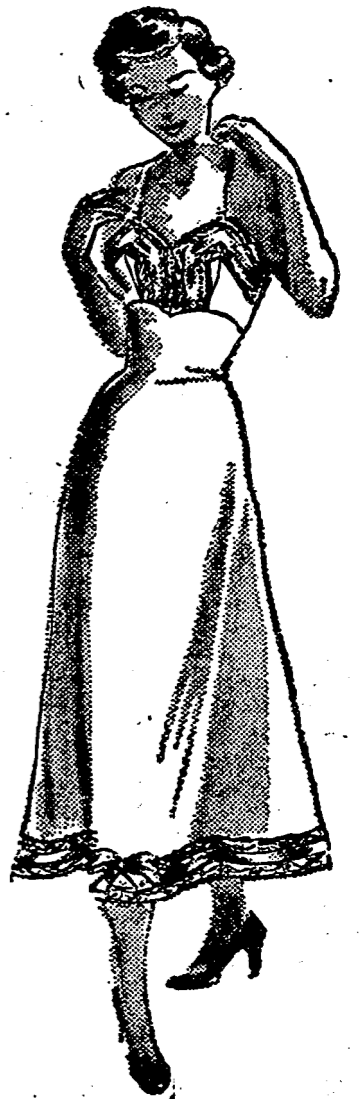

Many people brought paper and pencils to take down the names of varieties they would like to have in their own gardens, which was a good omen for future shows.

Refreshments were served to competitors and admirers under the convenship of Miss M. Fenwick, assisted by Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, Mrs. Alan McKenzie and Mrs. Colin McKenzie.

Mr. Clive Atkinson, secretary, had charge of setting up the hall and entering the exhibits.

Mrs. H. Sharman entertained at tea on Thursday afternoon, June 9, in honor of Miss Peggy Morley of Vancouver who returned to the coast on Friday after visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. Smythe.

Bennett Calls for Control By Growers Rather Than Theory of State Boards

Tom Wilkinson's plan of a department of marketing and his idea that the government should assist the growers in distributing the fruit and vegetables of this province took a rough ride at Ellison hall Friday evening, June 10 as W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition candidate for the provincial election, gave his final public address of the campaign.

Supporting Mr. Bennett in his ideas on this particular subject was W. R. Powell, ex-reeve of Summerland and a governor of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. Other speakers in support of Coalition were Herb Capozzi, former VBC scholastic and athletic star, Kelowna, and Capt. C. R. Bull-ex-MLA for South Okanagan.

Mr. Bennett attacked the Wilkinson CCF plan, declaring that instead of the growers themselves channelling fruit and vegetables to the wholesale markets, the CCF wishes to institute state marketing boards and intimated that they would be operated in the same manner as the ill-fated fish and lumbering boards in Saskatchewan.

"When the CCF criticizes B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. for not setting up its own marketing agencies, it is not criticizing the Coalition government but the growers' sales agency and the BCFGA, the growers' parliament," insisted Mr. Bennett.

He pointed out that in any merchandising scheme more than a single product is necessary, suggesting that many additional lines of goods would have to be marketed along with fruit and vegetables in order to place marketing on a sound basis.

More than one hundred persons were in attendance at this final political rally ending the provincial campaign as far as Summerland area was concerned. Refreshments were served by a Coalition ladies' committee following the meeting.

In addressing the group, W. R. Powell went back to 1939 and reminded growers that the fundamental difference which existed when the sales agency was set up, was: "Shall we take over all facilities in the valley and make them into one unit?"

"I opposed that idea and I still do," declared Mr. Powell, in expressing opposition to the plan of doing away with private enterprise in the wholesale end of fruit and vegetable distribution.

He suggested that in the Okanagan there is a perfect example of private enterprise competing alongside co-operatives in harmony.

Consolidated Gains
The suggestions of Mr. Wilkinson, and C. R. Haker of Peachland, who has been discussing this department of marketing plan over the radio on behalf of the CCF, "are a step backwards instead of consolidating our gains," Mr. Powell declared.

"Why deviate from the policy we have set up?" enquired Mr. Powell. "Why interfere with the people who are willing to co-operate with us in offering our products for sale?" He also declared the CCF campaign had created confusion in the minds of the wholesale trade concerning the attitude of the Okanagan towards the jobbers.

"The statements which have been made are unfair, ungracious and are undoing a lot of things your sales agency has created for you," emphasized Mr. Powell.

In conclusion, he said to his audience: "We know what we have; we don't know what we're likely to get."

Action of the CCF party in B.C. in turning down the Atlantic pact proved to be fine political fodder for the speakers. Capt. C. R. Bull laid special stress on this CCF action terming it "disgraceful".

"As long as they have that hanging over their heads they are not as valuable in opposition as they should be," he emphasized.

Mr. Bennett brought out that this was the parliament of the CCF which turned down the Atlantic Pact, a parliament of accredited delegates who set the policy of the CCF party in B.C. He declared that Dominion Leader M. J. Coldwell sent out the national secretary, David Lewis, to see that the action did not take place, but despite Mr. Lewis presence the CCFers turned down the Pact.

"The little country of Norway knew the value of the Atlantic Pact and signed it even in the face of threats. They knew even if the CCF doesn't. We avoided the third world war by signing the Atlantic Pact," he declared.

In the question period, Mr. Herb Lemke wished to know more of Mr. Bennett's opinions on the three percent sales tax.

"I opposed the three percent sales tax on the question of principle and I still oppose it," Mr. Bennett replied. "If I am ever in power I will endeavor to have it abolished because I think it is an unfair tax."

He added that the CCF opposed the tax and wanted it abolished, at first, but now state that they

If appearances mean anything, everything is rosy at the Paris meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference. would only take off some of the items.

"If it was a good policy to organize controls for war, why not have controls to win the peace?" queried Mr. T. J. Garnett.

Mr. Bennett replied that controls are not necessary as free enterprise will produce more goods and materials than under any other system. He quoted figures showing the tremendous purchasing power, high standard of living, high wage levels under the free enterprise system of the North American continent.

Mr. Dracas asked for figures on the provincial debt and was informed it is approximately $135,000,000, most of which can be placed on the doorstep of the PGE.

At this juncture, Chairman J. Y. Towgood wished to call an adjournment for light refreshments but CCF supporters, chiefly Mr. Garnett and Mr. Dracas, wanted to continue the question period. However, Chairman Towgood won out as he called the audience to rise and sing The King.

Tennis Club Holds Progressive Bridge

The Tennis Club has had extra expenses recently due to repairs made on the courts, and to augment the funds a progressive bridge party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Wright on Friday evening, June 10.

It was a great success socially and financially. Eight tables had been arranged of tennis club members and those interested in the club. High score was held by Mr. J. Lamey and to Mrs. R. G. Russell went the consolation prize.

Refreshments were served following the rounds of bridge.

Growers Are Invited to Demonstration

Of wide interest to soft fruit growers in this district will be the demonstration to be held at the IOOF hall next Thursday afternoon, June 23, when the Okanagan Processors' Club is extending a wide invitation to all persons to attend.

Officials of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the inspection staffs, packinghouse and cannery managers will be on hand to participate in a demonstration which will tend to show the quality and maturity required for processing purposes.

Cans of various soft fruits will be opened and officials will demonstrate the quality and maturity requirements according to grades.

Members of the Okanagan Processors' Club are sponsoring this demonstration and expect a large attendance of growers from all parts of this district.

A similar demonstration was held earlier in the season for the benefit of growers in the Oliver-Osoyoos area and attracted much interest, all concerned obtaining a better idea of the requirements for quality grades of soft fruit.

In the evening, a banquet for packinghouse managers, cannery officials and the inspection branch, along with other officials of the sales agency and the BCFGA is being arranged by the local processors.

This is a family affair

YOUR FUTURE . . . AND CANADA'S

Conditions have been good the last few years. More people are working than ever before — making more, spending more, saving more.

Isn't that what you want? After all, you have a family to think about . . . and you are planning for their future . . .

The Liberals are planning and working for your family's future too.

Here are some of the things the Liberals are doing:

Family Allowances are increased. Already a billion dollars has been invested in Canada's children. Millions of boys and girls are better clothed, fed and housed — have a better chance for an education and a real start in life — because of this Liberal measure. It has brought new security and well-being to countless Canadian homes.

In housing, too, the Liberals have taken the lead in providing Canadians with decent homes. More homes have been built in Canada, in relation to population, than in any nation. Already a million Canadians live in homes built since the war. The liberal government is ready to help solve the low-rental housing problem and has offered its cooperation to provinces and municipalities.

Then, there is the Liberal health program. Already federal grants are helping the provinces to increase their health services. But the Liberals' aim is a nation-wide contributory health insurance plan which will end, for everyone, the tragedy of inadequate health care and the financial strain of lengthy illness.

Or take employment. Liberal measures are helping to maintain employment in Canada at record levels, and at the same time unemployment insurance reserves have been building up. The government has encouraged enterprise and high production. Plants have expanded, new industries started up. New opportunities are being created every day.

Old Age Pensions and pensions for the blind have been steadily increased by the Liberal government. But it isn't stopping there. Its aim is a nation-wide plan of contributory pensions which will help everyone to enjoy a comfortable and secure old age — automatically and as a right.

These are all part of the Liberal program of social betterment . . . a program to achieve a "national standard of social security and human welfare which assures the greatest possible measure of social justice to all Canadians".

Japanese Exhibit, Woodworking Displays and Valuable Collections Feature Fourth AOTS Hobby Show

"Where do they get all these displays? Isn't that work wonderful? Just imagine the patience which went into that display." And the wonder never ceased as hundreds of persons poured into the IOOF hall Saturday afternoon and evening to witness the fourth annual Hobby Show staged by the AOTS Club.

From all parts of the district and from Peachland came prized collections, possessions and works of their own art from many persons in all walks of life. The value of some of the collections was priceless and represented years of care and patience.

From a competitive angle, the display was smaller than previous years but the quality of workmanship displayed by the school pupils was a never-ending source of acclaim.

One of the outstanding displays was that staged by three Japanese girls, Misses S. Kita, M. Tada and R. Nakamura. A large display of Japanese valuables peculiar to the country of their ancestors attracted particular attention.

A life-sized model dressed in native Japanese kimono headed the exhibition, which included colored wood prints, silk garments, teakwood, china, figurines, bamboo cigarette box, and sword and case.

Alongside the life-like Japanese model was another full-length model of a Dutch girl, dressed in her colorful native costume, right down to the wooden shoes. This display was entered by Miss Helen Friesen.

Of all the exhibitions of home-made arts, the woodworking display was probably the feature of the show.

Mr. S. N. Gjeirstead, of Peachland, entered a marvelous exhibition of hand-carved wood figures and useful articles. Horses and dogs predominated in the display, while from one piece of wood was fashioned a lampstand in the form of a pump and handle, with two horses carved out in the foreground. The stand was completed with a little barrel for the "water" from the pump.

Legs of Deer Horns

A chest, cabinet and table completed the display on the stand and in front was an intricate table with legs of inter-woven highly-polished deer horns, the top intricately carved from a light wood.

Tea trays and candlesticks which showed care and precision were displays by W. W. Borton while the expert lathe work of G. G. Peters was on exhibition in the form of lamps, candlestick-holders, trays and ashtrays. A plush-covered stool by C. Prescott completed this show.

Along the east wall of the hall a great variety of handicrafts brought admiring gasps from the visitors.

A lovely oil painting, "Who is it Grandma" by Mrs. J. E. Jenkinson was the first feature, followed by colored scenes in a frame lighted from the rear.

A huge butterfly quilt by Mrs. W. C. Graham adorned the wall and was flanked by a hand-woven rug by Mrs. Charles Clark and a lovely souvenir from France, entered by Lauriel Youngusband.

In the centre was a novel display of cigarette trays and holders, brightly painted and manufactured from various sizes of tin cans by Bert Shields.

Mrs. Howard Milne's display consisted of forty sets of pepper and salt shakers of every make and description imaginable.

A miniature log house made by D. L. Desrosier was the next feature and was followed by a large display of fanciful work by Mrs. Howard Shannon, Ashley Austin, Mrs. F. A. Bleasdale.

Leatherwork of purses and bill-folds was the product turned out for display by Mr. Eddie Hannah, while six paintings in oil and crayon showed the delicate work of Mrs. Helen Tilbe. A large collection of glass and china ornaments was contributed by Mrs. H. K. Lott, while pressed flowers under glass frames formed a pretty picture by Mrs. Walter Powell.

Mrs. R. M. White displayed kiddies' knitted wear and linen work while lovely rugs were displayed by Mrs. H. Tomlin, Mrs. Farrow and Mrs. C. Smythe. A few samples of the intricate needlework turned out by Mrs. George Woltte concluded this portion of the display.

An unusual display of Eskimo clothing and cushion covers was the first feature of the display on the south side. Gertrude Glaser's display of handiwork took the form of an attractive cushion cover, while Indian moccasins, gloves and basketwork were the possessions of Mrs. H. V. Stent.

Halda Indian Craft

Another feature of the entire show was a large display of Halda Indian work and relics and rocks and petrified wood from the Red Deer area.

Mrs. O. E. Mann and Mrs. L. W. Rumball entered this exhibition which included a priceless mat woven from cedar bark by the Halda Indians 127 years ago. Halda totem poles and baskets were among the other ornaments. The collection of rocks and petrified wood from the Alberta region was displayed by Leslie Rumball.

Mr. Carl Christmas displayed another colorful Indian totem pole while Mrs. Harvey Underwood's Navajo blanket was a valuable exhibit. Horsehair rope and a beaded bag were contributed by Mrs. George Gartrell and a collection of arrowheads by Mr. Sandy Fenwick. An Indian mask carved out of wood was Mr. A. K. Macleod's exhibit.

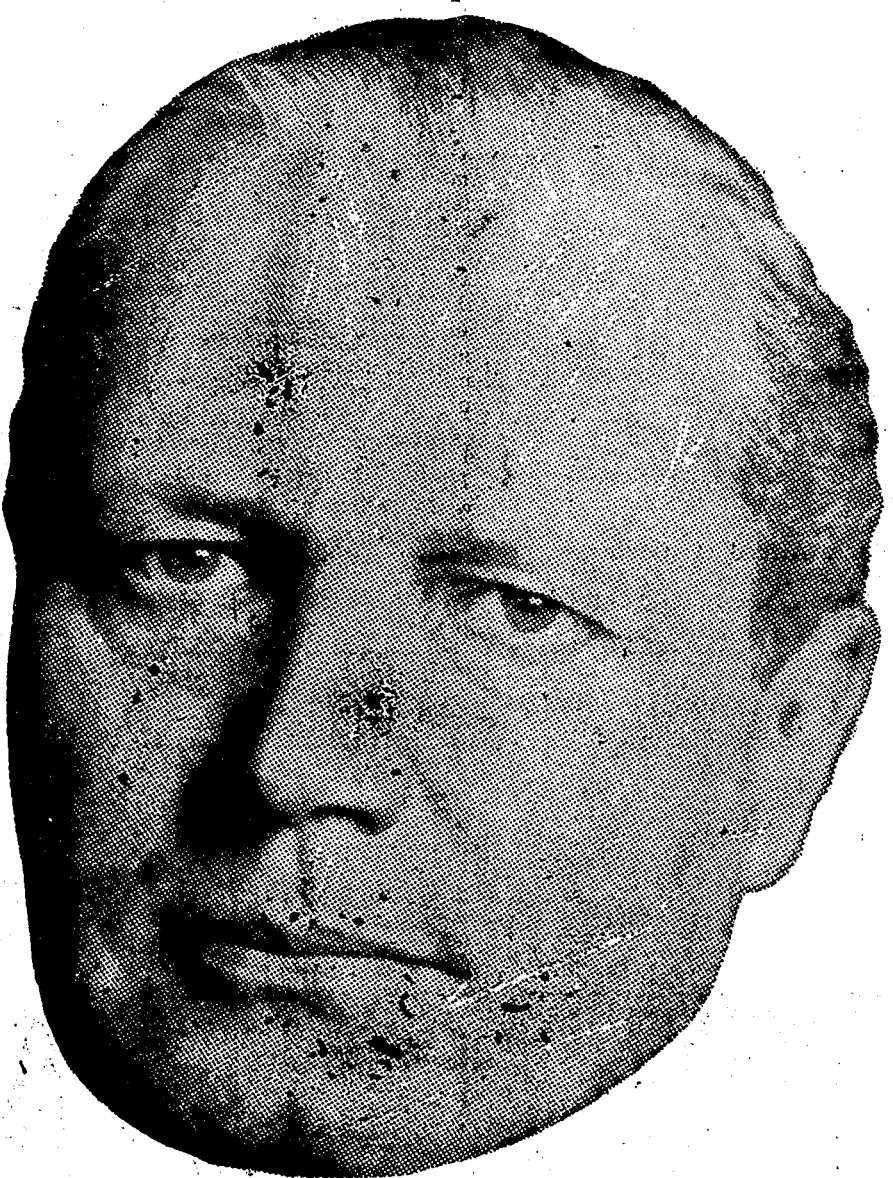

Final display in this series was a group of hand-forged bits and spurs by Norman Swaine while on the wall above was a lovely colored painting of an Okanagan Lake scene by Mr. Irvine Adams.

Included in the competitive stamp collections was an exhibit of great interest from Mr. C. J. (Pete) Adams. This took the form of envelopes with stamps from countries all over the world, most of which were first issue stamps.

Eighty school students entered 146 items in the competitive classes, while 29 adults contributed their exhibitions, many persons showing dozens of items. The affair was well patronized, 475 adults paying admission charges, while an equal number of children were allowed in free.

In the evening, following the street parade, the Summerland Band played outside the IOOF hall for a short period, while Stewart Sanborn with his public address system and George Washington on the mike toured the streets giving publicity to the hobby show.

H. V. (Bert) Stent was the hard-working chairman for the show this year, while others who assisted included Bill Snow, E. H. Bennett, Pete Adams, Syd Feltham, Les Gould, Francis Stewart, Blair Underwood, Herb Pohlmann, George Woltte and Rev. H. R. Whitmore.

DEFEAT your BIGGEST tax problem!

The One The Budget Missed

THE SALES TAX

"This tax costs the Canadian Taxpayer 30 cents for every dollar of processed material."

Despite the "bribery" reductions in the Liberal "Election" budget, the above quotation from a Liberal member of Parliament gives a clear indication of what the government is doing to keep taxes high!

In 1940, Canada's total revenue from taxes amounted to $468 million. Now indirect taxes ALONE have reached $1,072 million!

The Liberal government's methods of applying indirect taxation—not the least of which is the eight per cent sales tax, originally imposed for the period of a wartime emergency—simply disguises the burden and distributes it harshly and unfairly!

Local Bylaw Formed Crux of Case Before Assize Court

VERNON—An Assize Court jury acquitted John Samuel Newton, of Summerland, of a charge of manslaughter, involving the death of William J. Tullett, also of Summerland, on October 15, 1948.

The crown sought to prove that Newton, driver of a three-ton truck, passed a bicycle, ridden by Tullett, contrary to the regulations set down in a Summerland bylaw. Harold W. McInnes, of Penticton, was counsel for the defense and Horace W. Galbraith, crown prosecutor. Mr. Justice Norman W. Whittaker presided.

In his charge to the jury on Thursday afternoon, Mr. Justice Whittaker quoted the section of the bylaw which stated, "A vehicle shall keep to the right hand side of the centre of the street and when overtaking another vehicle shall not go, or attempt to go, over to the right hand side of the overtaken vehicle until entirely clear of it."

In defining manslaughter, His Lordship said, "It is not sufficient to prove the accused broke the bylaw, but that he is guilty of criminal negligence which I have explained to you.

"The evidence is that the bicycle swerved into the truck. We are entitled to assume that William Tullett would not have been riding his bicycle unless he had his hearing, and yet evidence has been brought in to the effect that he had only 25 percent in one ear and 50 percent in the other," he continued.

Mr. Justice Whittaker explained that there was another verdict which the jury could return, that of driving recklessly or in a manner dangerous to the public.

After 30 minutes of deliberation, the jury returned for further explanation of possible verdicts. After another 25 minutes a "not guilty" verdict was returned.

Eye Witness

The Crown based its case on the fact that the accused had, in passing the bicycle, broken the regulations set down in the bylaw. Crown witness Walter Kampe, sole eye witness, gave evidence that the bicycle was being ridden on the left hand side of the truck and, as the truck passed, the bicycle swerved into the platform of the vehicle, throwing the rider onto the pavement.

Dr. W. H. B. Munn, of Summerland, testified that when he arrived on the scene, Tullett was unconscious and bleeding from head wounds. He died later that night in the Summerland Hospital from a compound fracture of the skull caused by "a severe blow head."

Dr. Munn said that he had examined Mr. Tullett about a year and a half before and found that he was partially deaf, having only 25 percent hearing in one ear and 50 percent in the other.

In his summing up before the jury, Mr. McInnes pointed out that Tullett was riding his bicycle on the wrong side of the road and the accused had blown his horn before passing him.

"Tullett either did not hear the horn or chose to ignore it. The accused had a perfect right to proceed as he did," Mr. McInnes argued.

Jury for the trial was Kenneth I. MacLaren, foreman, Kelowna; Charlie K. Christian, Lumby; George S. Bennett, Enderby; John D. Simmons, Kedelston; Richard D. C. Benmore, Kelowna; Terrence W. McNair, Ross J. Murdoch, William R. Peters, Alfred C. Carter, Jr., Alfred William Smith, Gordon O'Neill and Ralph MacDonald, all of Vernon.

Urges Centre Line On Local Highways

Speaking on his recent trip to California and other U.S. points, J. J. Green told Rotarians that one point, among others, impressed him greatly, that being the need on Canadian highways of a centre guide line for traffic. This is of great assistance on all major American highways and must save a great number of traffic accidents. Mr. Green suggested that there will be trouble on the Kaledon-Princeton highway if a centreline is not laid down.

Board of Trade Meeting Told Police Will Double Efforts To Cut Down Traffic Hazards

With the purchase of additional highway patrol cars, the B.C. Police force is intending to expand its highway patrolling of Okanagan highways and will keep a more careful check on the travelling motorists, Mr. H. Beeman, chairman of the traffic safety committee told the Summerland Board of Trade Thursday night at the IOOF hall.

Staff Sergeant Locke, chief of the safety branch, was a recent visitor to Summerland and made a thorough inspection of the municipality and noted various features which would motivate against traffic safety.

He was accompanied in his inspection of the district by Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley and discussed traffic safety problems at length with Mr. Beeman.

It is the provincial police intention to have speed limits in all municipalities standardized at 30 mph so that travellers will know what to expect in every organized area of the province.

Further information on this subject will be forthcoming at a later date, Mr. Beeman stated, but it is known that more constant patrols of the highway from Penticton north and Kelowna south will be undertaken in the near future.

Mr. Beeman's board of trade committee is considering publication of another issue of the Twelve Commandments of Traffic Safety in time for school opening in September.

Don Tait, parks committee chairman, told Thursday's meeting that the fill at Peach Orchard beach has been completed and the committee intends to sow grass and build a small wharf in the near future.

F. W. Schumann, who heads a special committee investigating the possibility of another beach project where the old CNR wharf was once located, declared that his group is not rushing into this project but wishes to have more time to consider other angles.

Walter M. Wright and Secretary L. G. Perry reported on their attendance at the Canadian Chamber of Commerce short course for trade board executives held last month in Kelowna.

The trade board will adjourn for the summer months, the executive being instructed to carry on the necessary duties and keep contact with the working committees.

Organize Caravan

Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley suggested that a special meeting of the board might be called in August to organize a caravan for the opening of the Hope-Princeton highway on Labor Day at Princeton.

Mr. G. A. Graham also suggested that the trade board would be well advised to advertise for investment capital interested in tourist cabin and motel promotion to cope with the expected influx of tourists to the Okanagan when the Hope-Princeton highway is opened.

Before the meeting adjourned for a showing of films, Mr. Herb Pohlmann outlined the needs of the Summerland Band. The executive was instructed to confer with Mr. Pohlmann and plan what the trade board could do in a financial way to assist this new and increasingly-popular organization.

Huge Sign Welcoming Tourists To Okanagan Valley Planned By Associated Trade Boards

Construction of a huge sign welcoming visitors to the Okanagan Valley is being proposed by the Associated Boards of the Southern Interior at the junction of the Princeton-Kaleden highway with the north-south Okanagan Highway No. 5.

This was a highlight of the annual meeting of the Associated Boards held in Oliver Friday evening. Mr. Harold Mitchell of Naramata was the unanimous choice of the boards of trade to continue as president. Mr. J. Jenkins of Princeton was named the new vice-president and Mr. H. W. Whimster of Naramata was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The proposed sign welcoming tourists would be fifty feet long and twenty feet high and would face the end of the Vancouver-Kaleden highway, if necessary arrangements can be completed. Cost is estimated at $600.

Mr. W. Guerard, president of the Penticon Board of Trade has been asked to head a committee to investigate all possibilities.

A suggested layout was placed before the associated board members present at Oliver last Friday which read: "WELCOME. You are now entering the famous OKANAGAN VALLEY."

At the bottom of the sign would be included the road miles to various points in the Okanagan and a few words regarding the famous fruits grown in the valley.

Mr. Guerard also heads a committee to plan a display to attract tourists to the Okanagan at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver.

The seventy-five delegates at last Friday's session supported Westbank's move for an increase in service across Okanagan lake by placing a barge for large trucks on the ferry run between Kelowna and the westside.

President Mitchell reported that the provincial public works department is handling the program for the opening at Princeton of the Hope-Princeton highway on Labor Day but is welcoming assistance in this respect. Mr. Mitchell plans to go to Vancouver shortly and will confer with Hon. E. C. Carson on his opening day plans.

Longer Opening Hours

Word was received from Oroville Chamber of Commerce that efforts are being made to convince the U.S. customs authorities that the border at Osoyoos should remain open 24 hours daily in the busy tourist season. Canadian authorities have signified their willingness to co-operate if the U.S. border officials will make the necessary move along this line, it was reported.

Southern Interior cattlemen pressed for support of a plan to extend the CPR branchline from Osoyoos to Oroville but the session did not give its official blessing, indicating that further study should be given the necessity for this extension before any commitments are made.

Summerland's resolution calling for amendments to the health act to require all restaurants in B.C. serving three-course meals to establish proper and adequate wash-room facilities was given unanimous approval with little discussion.

This resolution originated from a local trade board meeting when the subject was introduced by Councillor F. E. Atkinson. The Okanagan Municipal Assn. has already approved the plan.

HON. LESTER B. PEARSON, Secretary of State for External Affairs, right, receives an honorary LL.D. from CHANCELLOR WILLIAM P. TOLLEY at Syracuse University's 91st Commencement in Syracuse, N.Y. The university graduated 2,505, the largest class in its history.

FIRE BLIGHT IN SUMMERLAND MAY PROVE SERIOUS

Fruit is sizing rapidly and remarkably strong tree growth is noted throughout the area, the latest horticultural news letter of the provincial department of agriculture, issued from Kelowna on June 8 reports for the Summerland-Peachland-Westbank district.

"Cherries have dropped heavily but still carry an average crop. Pears are patchy, but Bartlett and Flemish should reach an average crop. D'Anjous are light.

"Peach and pear thinning is under way and some growers have finished the second cover spray, while others are waiting another week or two with the idea of eliminating one codling moth spray.

"In some areas the timing of cover sprays is becoming quite easygoing, sometimes due to a shortage of spray equipment, but more often due to the increased confidence in the effectiveness of DDT against the moth.

"Aphis of all kinds are numerous in stone fruits this season. European red mite is with us but has not yet become troublesome. Pear Psylla was observed as early as the pre-pink stage on pears but is not, as yet, causing concern.

"Caterpillars of various kinds have been more numerous than usual particularly in apples and pears, where they feed on the young, developing fruit.

"There is very little apple mildew to be seen as yet. The sudden drop in the amount of mildew seen is surprising and seems to be due to climatic conditions rather than cultural practices.

May Be Serious

"Fire blight has appeared suddenly in certain areas of Summerland. There has been some extensive blossom infection which may prove serious if conditions are favorable for the spread of the disease."

Penticon district also reports that fire blight is quite serious in a few pear blocks.

Farther south, in Oliver-Osoyoos, growers in a few orchards are working to combat fire blight. "At the moment, it does not look as if there will be the epidemic encountered in 1948 as the blight has not yet moved out of the twigs. Most of the infection, up to now, has entered through the secondary blossom.

"Wireworms and cutworms are more serious this year than last and the Colorado potato beetle gives every evidence of becoming more serious than it was last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilson, Mrs. A. Dunsdon, and Mrs. H. V. Stent are leaving on Saturday to drive to Vancouver where they will attend the Grand Chapter sessions of the Order of the Eastern Star at Hotel Vancouver, June 20 - 23. Mrs. Florence Stark, Miss Mildred Clark and Miss Dorothy Butler will go by train to be present at the sessions, also. Miss Butler has been asked to act as a page at the meetings, and Mr. Wilson will act as an usher.

Local Legion Colors Carried in Convention Parade by Zone Leader

Colors of the Summerland branch, Canadian Legion, were carried in the parade to the cenotaph at Victoria by Zone Commander Alan Calvert, at the start of the four-day provincial command Canadian Legion convention May 22 to 25.

A full report of convention proceedings was provided the monthly Legion meeting here Wednesday evening, June 8 by Mr. Calvert and Dave Thompson, another delegate from the local branch.

Again, the Legionnaires paraded with their colors in the big Victoria May 24 celebration parade.

"The cenotaph parade was a very inspiring sight and very well attended," Mr. Calvert stated. "The numerous standards of the branches lent color to the scene.

"A very pleasing sight as we marched back to the assembly point was the number of sailors from a U.S. boat in port, who stood at attention and came to the salute as we marched past with the standard bearers of the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes at the head of the color party.

Mr. Calvert was one of twelve of the color party chosen to carry Legion branch colors on to the stage at the official opening ceremony in the Royal Victoria Theatre Sunday evening, May 22.

"At the parade in the morning and also at the theatre at night the Navy Band provided the music and the band accompaniment to the sounding of Last Post and Reveille was something which will live in our memories for a long time to come."

Mr. Calvert did not attempt to discuss in detail the 300-odd resolutions which came before the convention.

Officers Chosen

In the election of officers, E. M. Isman of Vancouver was re-elected president of provincial command, his selection being a popular one as he handled the convention in a capable manner. Other officers were as follows:

Vice-president, D. S. McTavish, Salmon Arm; A. H. Gibson, Courtenay; F. E. DeVido, Trail; E. L. Martin, Saanich; Mrs. E. L. San-person, Chilliwack; honorary treasurer, F. J. Townsend, Vancouver. Dominion representative, R. Macnicol, Gibson's.

The zone commanders will make up the balance of the executive council, which will hold office for two years.

Mr. Calvert paid tribute to A. W. Hanbury of Oliver, for the work and time he has expended for the cause of the ex-service personnel during his term of office as commander of the South Okanagan-Similkameen Legion zone.

"It was with great regret that we saw him step out of the position. It has been a great pleasure and honor to serve with him and I trust I may be given health and strength and ability to carry on the good work."

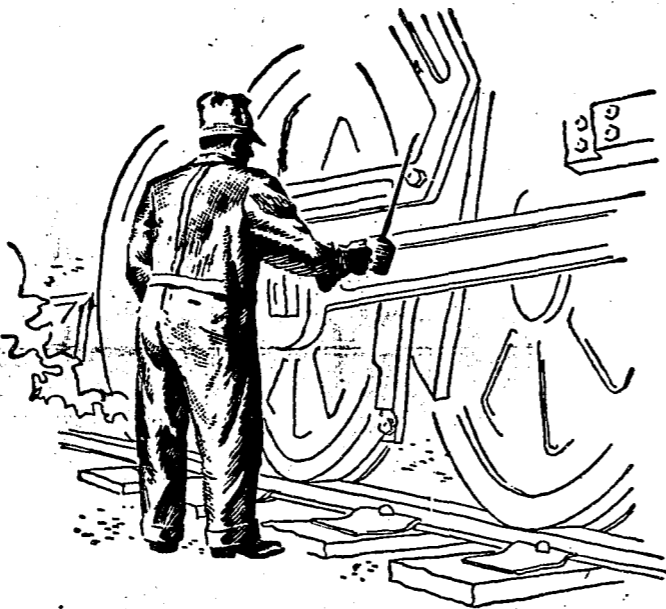

Penticon submitted a bid for the 1951 convention but no decision was reached as to the venue.

Medical Research Will be Assisted

The life insurance companies operating in Canada will provide funds for additional medical research projects at the medical schools of Canadian universities, the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association decided at its annual meeting. As an indication of the nature of the proposed expenditures, the suggestion was approved that the additional funds be used for maintaining research fellowships in those medical schools where present financial resources are not adequate to support outstanding research workers.

Most medical school laboratories in Canada were well equipped to carry on extensive research work. However, the medical schools have some times great difficulty in acquiring and retaining the services of outstanding research workers through inability to guarantee an adequate income over a period of years.

The companies will also make funds available for the continuance of research studies of poliomyelitis and processes of ageing. Both studies are now in their third year.

Oil in the driving gears

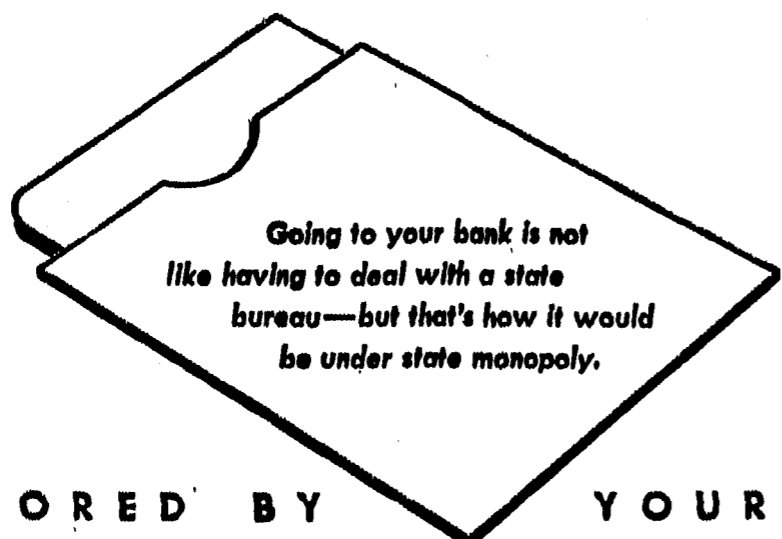

BANK CREDIT oils the driving gears of production, industry and commerce. It helps to produce the goods and provide the services and jobs which mark the Canadian way of life.

"Money in the bank" is the foundation of credit. You and some seven million other depositors have nearly seven billion dollars in the chartered banks.

To pay for work done, goods produced, bought and sold, Canadians issue — every month — upwards of six billion dollars in cheques.

Cashing these cheques, making loans, discounting notes — in many different ways your bank keeps money and credit moving through all the channels of trade and opportunity . . . like oil in the machinery.

This whole vast, private, competitive, efficient process is made possible by your "money in the bank" — and by the experience and skill and integrity of the men and women on Canadian bank staffs.

Going to your bank is not like having to deal with a state bureau—but that's how it would be under state monopoly.

Accept Responsibilities So That Democracy Will Benefit, Urges Rev. H. R. Whitmore

"Democracy cannot endure unless those living in it understand its nature and its advantages and are willing to accept their responsibilities," Rev. H. R. Whitmore informed the Rotary Club of Summerland Friday evening at the weekly supper meeting in the Nu-Way Annex.

This he termed the first lesson of democracy as he outlined the lessons to be learned, the temptations of the democratic system and opportunities "which will make us great."

The Jewish people in the wilderness had a practical democracy, but they were not satisfied to take on the responsibility themselves.

As the second lesson, he declared that democracy cannot endure unless it carefully extends its advantages to all who live in it. History of the Athenians shows that when they reached a certain size and power they kept democracy to themselves, with the result that an oligarchy was set up and newcomers were excluded, resulting in the downfall of Athens.

Franchise Extension
"I was glad to hear that the Indians and Japanese were given the right to vote in our province. We have a great deal of satisfaction in this," he declared.

Rev. Mr. Whitmore listed as the third lesson that there can be no real democracy without a spiritual base. As soon as the spiritual base is taken away a nation starts to decline. Russian took the spiritual base of this democratic country and all citizens there are answerable to the state alone.

"Here, the state is only an institution which makes our rights secure."

"Faith in the method is as important as the goal. Democracy is weakened by each person who does not take his responsibility seriously. Democracy is only as strong as the weakest person in the link."

Rev. Mr. Whitmore also listed as a temptation the idea to believe implicitly in the country rather than one's neighbors. To say that the country must be right when, at the same time, there is suspicion of one's neighbor, of racial prejudices, of national and some religious groups, of one's employer and one's employees is a wrong approach, he maintained.

He quoted: "Only men who respect men can save mankind."

He derided the trend that persons are inclined to believe that certain beliefs are correct beyond any question of doubt and that they must prevail at any cost.

"The only antidote is a vast patience, a reverent humility in the knowledge that we, too, can be wrong. Just look over past history and you will see that even the great leaders were wrong, at times."

Self interest instead of social service the speaker termed as the third temptation under the democratic system. He cited politicians who were seeking office after they had failed in every other one of endeavor. Failure to vote he termed as one of the biggest failures of many citizens under the democratic system . . . a failure to take an interest in the community, the province and the nation.

"If we are getting something for ourselves we are all for it, if for somebody else, then, let George do it."

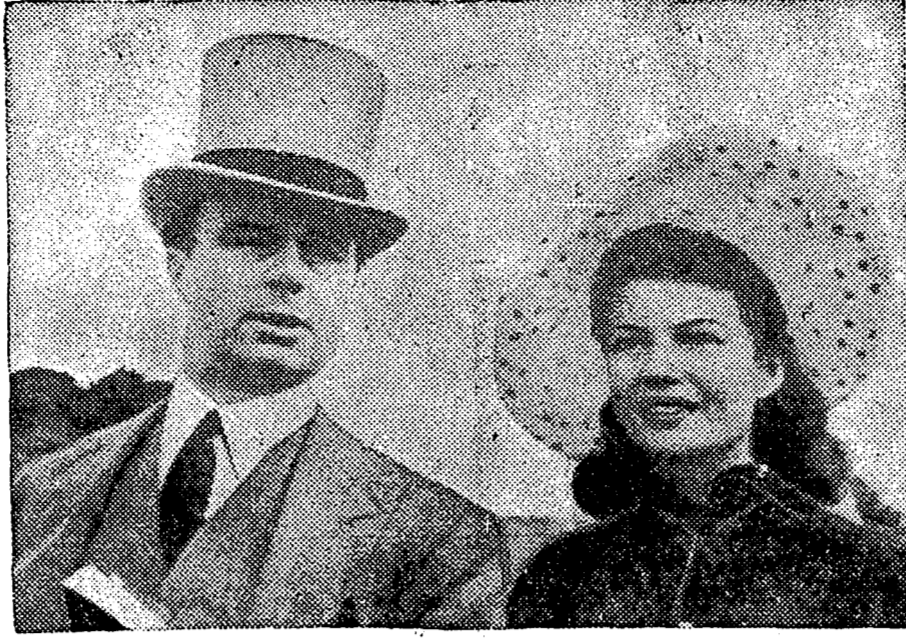

There is also a deplorable lack of interest in accepting positions of importance, to say: "I cannot afford it."

Great Opportunity
Development of human relationships across all barrier of creed, class and race, Rev. Mr. Whitmore termed as one of the opportunities which will make democracy great.

Another trait outstanding in democracy is the opportunity to develop ideas in an atmosphere of freedom . . . freedom of enterprise, freedom of religion. The fact that if there is a better way it will be found is an outstanding attribute to the system, he believed.

A third opportunity is the chance to develop personalities uninhibited by race or class distinction. "We are all just Canucks," he emphasized, "and each one can develop his own personality and rise to the highest places in life."

"Our world needs a Canada with rugged minds and rugged faith . . . the democratic system needs constant attention and renewal . . . Democracy is YOU, you and your neighbor . . . It is no more, no less, it is YOU. Look into the hidden depths of your own heart," he urged in conclusion.

PRINCE ALY KHAN, wearing traditional Derby garb, and his bride, American actress RITA HAYWORTH, look over the field at Epsom Downs, England, as they attend the running of the great English classic. The entries of Prince Aly and his father, the Aga Khan, were far back among the also-rans in the 32-horse Derby field, led by Nimbus. Princess Rita created somewhat of a sensation when she strolled into the paddock. She was all smiles, but showed little interest in the horses, spending most of her time keeping her big white, polka-dot hat stuck on her red hair.

Legion Street Carnival Date Set for July 30

Under the auspices of the Canadian Legion branch, the annual street carnival on West Summerland's Granville street will be held on Saturday, July 30.

This was the decision of the monthly Legion meeting held on Wednesday evening, June 8.

A committee, consisting of N. May, D. C. Thompson, F. Daniels, S. Taylor, R. Ramsay, E. E. Smith, V. M. Lockwood, C. G. Woodbridge and Alex Watt, last year's chairman, was appointed to handle the carnival. The chairman will be selected by this committee.

No summer smoker will be held by the Legion this year, it was agreed.

The Legionnaires voted for the purchase of a new walk-in-type refrigerator unit for the clubrooms. Arrangements for its purchase and installation will be made at once.

A $10 donation for the Girl Guide summer camp in July was authorized by the meeting last week.

ROTARY GATHERING

Kelowna and Summerland Rotary clubs are planning a joint get together at the experimental station here sometime late this month or early in July. A tentative date for the gathering is June 29, but this date has still to be confirmed.

Attends Convention In Nova Scotia

Mr. F. W. Schumann, Okanagan supervisor of the Manufacturers' Life, Summerland, is leaving today for the annual Senior Club convention of his company at Digby Pines, N.S. He will travel by rail to Calgary, where a special plane taking the B.C. and Alberta delegates will be chartered for the trip east. There will be some 16 in the party from the two far western provinces. Convention dates are June 20 to 25 and Mr. Schumann expects to be back in the Okanagan by July 1.

Merchants Go Down Fighting At Princeton by 3-1 Score

Playing their best game of the season, Summerland Merchants went down to defeat in an Interior baseball league game at Princeton last Sunday by a tight 3-1 count. It was a tight, evenly-contested ball game which was in doubt until the final ball was pitched.

In fact, Nishihara's slight tip of the ball as it was labelled for a base hit and was deflected into Kovich's glove was the deciding factor.

Change Limit on Deer in District

Seasonal bag limit in South Okanagan, North Okanagan and Salmon Arm electoral districts has been reduced from three to two deer, Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer announces from Victoria.

Bag limit for elk and moose has been changed so that now only one of either animal may be taken by a licensed hunter.

Any person holding a firearm licence may now shoot raccoon, skunk and wolverine. This permission followed complaints of damage done by these animals on Vancouver Island and Queen Charlotte Islands.

With one away in the top of the ninth and Taylor on third base and Amm on first Thompson laid the wood to a line drive which had all the earmarks of tying the score. But Nishihara, the veteran Princeton hurler, deflected the ball just enough that Kovich could gather it in and he tossed to first for a double play.

Hits were evenly divided, each team gaining six apiece but Princeton was able to bunch its clouts, and thereby won the ball game.

Coffey was back on the mound for the Merchants and was in command most of the way, receiving able support from his teammates. Brawner, although he was weak with the hickory, participated in seven plays at third without a miscue.

One Run in Second Princeton took the lead in the second frame when Vanderburgh's miscue allowed L. Currie a pass to first. Liberatore drove him home for the first counter.

Currie scored again in the fourth, this being the winning tally. First batter up, he clouted Coffey's offering for three bags and came home on Kovich's hit. Kuroda was responsible for

Red Sox Avenge Earlier Defeat by Trimming Skaha Lake Chiefs by 6 to 3

Getting the jump on their rivals right at the start Summerland Red Sox established a three-run lead at the Living Memorial athletic park last Sunday afternoon which the Penticton Skaha Lake Chiefs could never overcome.

The Red Sox played errorless ball behind the heady pitching of Gilbert Jacobs, who struck out twelve of the opposing batters. The Chiefs, who had been undefeated up to last Sunday managed to squeeze across the first run in the seventh, added two more in the eighth but could not hope to catch the local balltossers.

This Red Sox win puts Summerland in a tie with the Chiefs for first place in the southern section of the junior league, both teams having lost one game each.

The Chiefs were nervous at the start of the game, three errors in the initial frame contributing mightily to the Red Sox garnering three runs. Jack Dunham scored the first tally when he gained a pass to first on Johnston's miscue, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and was safely home when E. Jomori's clout was bungled by Bergart.

Two doubles by Jacobs and Sam Jomori brought in two more runs and the Red Sox had established a substantial lead. Another run was added in the fourth when F. Kato singled and came home on Bob Weitzel's hit.

The Chiefs' first score, in the seventh, came when Ashley lifted one of Jacobs' offerings for a triple, coming home on a wild pitch. The Red Sox came right back after the stretch to score two runs, B. Weitzel and Jacobs both getting singles and coming home when Johnston booted another one. This left Summerland leading.

ing 6-1. Two final runs of the contest came in the eighth another triple, this time by Neaves, being mainly responsible for the final scoring by the visitors.

Getz pitched good ball for the losers but he did not receive the support accorded Jacobs and therein lay the difference. Hits were well divided, the Red Sox taking nine and the Chiefs eight. Strikeouts were twelve for Jacobs and 7 for Getz. Only one pass to first was issued by either pitcher.

Next Sunday, Peachland comes to Summerland for another league fixture while this evening the merchants are entertaining Penticton at the Living Memorial athletic park.

Phil Harris Lured To Kamloops Area

KAMLOOPS — The famed radio and movie comedian, Phil Harris has been swayed by the fish stories emanating from the Kamloops district and has given notice of his intention to visit Kamloops in August during a tour which will also take him to Vancouver Island and Vancouver.

Armed with fishing tackle, "a bourbon holster" and the Harris brash confidence, he is prepared to take the fish by storm, he has advised friends in Vancouver.

Harris will probably be accompanied by his guitar-playing gamin Frankie Remley, along with a number of his script writers, but his movie actress wife, Alice Faye, will remain at home with their two children.

L. A. Smith is Fined $1 on Closing Bylaw

Louis A. Smith, West Summerland business man, was fined $1 and $3 costs, or in default three days in jail when he was convicted by Magistrate H. Sharman in Summerland police court of selling groceries after hours laid down in the local shops closing bylaw.

Mr. B. Emerson of Boyle, Aikins & Emerson, appeared for the prosecution while Mr. Smith conducted his own defence.

Constable M. Marcus of the B.C. Police, was the chief witness for the prosecution. He stated that he walked into the Smith general store at 7 o'clock Friday evening, May 20, purchased five pounds of sugar and two cans of corn, and proffered a $2 bill. Change to the amount of $1.04 was returned to the constable, who left the store and tendered both the goods and the change to B.C. Police, Con-the delegation repeated stories of other accidents and near-accidents. "We would rather have had the corners off than the blacktop laid", was Mr. Brawner's contention, referring to the hard surfacing laid last year on the approach to Garnet Valley.

Mr. Felker believed that if the roads department had concentrated throughout the years on widening and providing good roadbeds instead of hard surfacing then residents generally would be better satisfied.

At this stage Acting Reeve Bentley declared: "We will try to get the corners off, but we can't say when."

"I'm not sending my kids to school next September if the corners aren't taken off. It's blooming disgusting," was C. B. Giddow's statement.

Mr. Jim Dunsdon referred to the road being only 13 feet wide in places.

Harry Dunsdon then rose to his feet and called for a show of hands how many Garnet Valley residents were prepared to keep their children out of school if the corners aren't fixed by September.

All nine of the delegation signified their intention of doing just that.

"Not one mother in Garnet Valley doesn't worry herself sick every day until the bus delivers her kids from school," continued Harry Dunsdon.

He then re-iterated that Mr. Bentley had promised him in the spring that the corners would come off.

"I didn't promise," retorted the acting Reeve. "I said I would recommend, but I'm only one member of the council."

Mr. Bentley told the delegation the roads department would investigate the request at once.

Before the delegation went on its way, councillors agreed as a general thing with Councillor Wilson's declaration: "Something has to be done."

But the intention of the council regarding the time when the corners will be treated was not decided when the council adjourned for the day. A further meeting is being held this evening.

Start Youngster's Financial Career With One Dollar

Early Years Are Best In Forming Steady Saving Habit

To your youngster a dollar means more now than it will in later life. If he can retain this youthful respect for money as he matures, he will be likely to form lifelong habits of wise spending and regular saving. As countless "success-stories" show, these habits are of vital assistance in career-building and happy living.

You can impress these important traits on your child's mind by using a simple method. Thousands of Canadian parents have employed it successfully. You just give your youngster a dollar to start a Bank of Montreal savings account. You encourage him to save from his pocket money for some of the things he wants. Thus, you help him to help himself, and he achieves patience and purposefulness.

Why not send him around to the B of M to open his account tomorrow? James Muirhead, local branch manager, and his staff will be glad to assist your youngster to start his own "success-story."—Adv.

Before the provincial election, the Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce caused a stir in local circles when it paraded its novel Get out and Vote float around the business district. The Jaycees hope that their float will have the effect of getting out another record vote on Monday, June 27, for the federal election. The Summerland Board of Trade is offering independent transportation to the polls on Monday, while CCF and Progressive Conservative parties are also requesting voters to telephone their headquarters for transportation.

O. L. Jones Concentrates On Tory Opposition in Final Campaign Meeting

O. L. Jones, CCF member for Yale and CCF candidate for re-election in the federal election next Monday, aimed his chief remarks at George Drew and the Progressive Conservative party when he addressed a gathering of some forty persons in the IOOF hall here Tuesday evening in his first and final appearance of the campaign. Randolph Harding, CCF M.L.A. for Kaslo-Slocan was billed as a co-speaker but failed to put in an appearance. "It's funny to see the Progressive Conservative's hectic call to recruit the Liberals in Yale, when both parties hate each other and are in deadly opposition in Ottawa," Mr. Jones declared. He maintained that small groups of Tories in Yale are endeavoring to obtain Liberal support to defeat the CCF while their leader George Drew is attacking the Liberal government unmercifully in the east.

Victims of Accident in Hospital Here

George Newcomb of Woodlawn, Kelowna, is a patient in Summerland General hospital following a serious accident which occurred Saturday night when the car in which he was riding crashed into the side of Trepanier creek bridge, one mile north of Peachland. His condition was reported yesterday afternoon as "fair," by hospital authorities. He is suffering from a fractured right leg, fractured right pelvis, head and face lacerations. Hospitalized at the same time but since released to return to his home was Robert Saucier, Elliott avenue, Kelowna, who suffered a fractured collar bone and head cuts. Driver of the car, Leonard J. Selzier, 21, R.R.3 Kelowna and another passenger, Ronald Armstrong, 2207 Richter street, Kelowna, were unhurt. It is reported by the car occupants that the car lights blinked out just as the auto neared the bridge en route to Kelowna. Extensive damage to the side of the car was done as the vehicle crashed into the side of the bridge. The structure was undamaged.

COYOTE TRAPPED NEAR LAKESHORE BY PERCY WILSON

A marauding coyote with a taste for geese has been caught by Mr. Percy Wilson at Peach Orchard beach. Late last fall geese and chickens were disappearing from Lionel Fudge's and from the Wilsons. This continued at intervals all through the winter. Two weeks ago the Fudges' prized bantam rooster was taken, and then three setting geese from the Wilsons—right off the nests. Mr. Wilson has been starting out at three in the morning trying to sight the culprit, but with no luck. He enlisted the aid of Gordon Blewett who had a number of coyote traps. They set several of them, and bagged a fully grown male specimen last week.

Second Prize for Canada Won Here by Mrs. T. C. Orr's Hooked Rug Entry

Summerland's Women's Institute learned this morning that its entry of a hooked rug, the exacting work of Mrs. T. C. Orr, has been awarded second prize in the Canadian Tweedsmuir cup competition for all Canada. This rug was winner of the provincial Women's Institute award and then sent to Saskatoon, where it was judged along with provincial entries from all parts of Canada at the annual meeting of the Federated Board of Women's Institutes of Canada. A telegram from Mrs. J. H. East,

The CCF member told his audience that all advances made by the Ottawa government and the Coalition administration in Victoria had come about due to direct prodding of the CCF party. This CCF "Ginger Group" took the lead to have coarse grains removed from the Winnipeg market and forced the government to recognize hospitals as a MUST in any program, he said. Mr. Jones quoted Tom Reid, Liberal MP as giving credit to the CCF government in Saskatchewan for leading Canada in social services, especially hospitalization. The speaker then dealt with "pathetic promises," pointing especially to George Drew whom he claimed was promising lower taxation and more social services. "No one can tell me that you can get something for nothing," he declared. He labelled Drew as the "greatest something for nothing man" in the whole election campaign. Mr. Jones prophesied that the Conservatives will lose 10 to 20 seats in Ontario and won't gain them back in Quebec, declaring that Mr. Drew has tied his party with Duplessis, who was openly opposed to Canada's war effort and to Mayor Houde, who spent part of the war period in a concentration camp.

Choice of Two Men "The choice has come down to two men in this riding," Mr. Jones continued. "The Liberal government is not supporting the Liberal candidate to any extent. He believed the Liberal government will be returned to Ottawa but he also declared that the CCF can be the official opposition. Continuing his attack on the Conservatives Mr. Jones asked his audience to remember that the worst government B.C. ever had was under the Tolmie Conservative regime and the worst government in Canada was the Bennett administration. He pointed out that the Pro Cons fought against the Agricultural Products Act, which he believed is necessary for the control of agricultural exports and which operated satisfactorily during the war. The Pro Cons said the act was unconstitutional but "we in the CCF did all we could to counteract the Tories." He was careful to point out that this act is not the agricultural products marketing act which all parties supported. He charged George Drew with making opposing statements in provincial president and Mrs. S. E. Gummow, provincial superintendent of Institutes, received this morning's news. "Congratulations, Summerland Institute has won second prize in the Dominion Tweedsmuir Cup competition for hooked rug. Terribly thrilled to have an award come to B.C." The rug exhibited by Mrs. Orr shows a garden scene and the workmanship is of excellent quality. She will receive a sterling silver spoon with the Federated W.I. crest.

Four Men Seek Votes On Monday

Next Monday, June 27, voters go to the polls to decide which candidate will represent Yale in the House of Commons at Ottawa. Present member is O. L. Jones, CCF, who was elected a year ago in a by-election caused by the retirement of Hon. Grote Stirling, Kelowna. Mr. Jones is seeking re-election as member. Mayor T. R. B. (Theo) Adams, of Vernon, is the Progressive Conservative standard-bearer. Although he has become well known in the Okanagan for his interest in municipal politics, this is his first venture into the federal field. The Liberal candidate, nominated by the Yale Liberal Assn., at its second nominating convention, is C. J. McDowell, Vernon garage proprietor and a man who has been interested in board of trade and service club work in Vernon for some years. Fourth candidate is J. A. Reid, of Salmon Arm, representing the Social Credit party. He was a candidate in the 1945 election but was far behind the other candidates in this race which saw Hon. Grote Stirling returned to Ottawa with a big majority.

Robert Weitzel Named Fourth Recipient of Summerland Annual Scholarship Award

Robert Weitzel, who will be 18 years of age at the end of June, was announced last Friday as the 1949 winner of the Summerland Scholarship award which provides a $250 grant towards tuition at the University of B.C. Announcement of the award was made by Dr. F. W. Andrew, pioneer retired medical practitioner, who was one of the main instigators of the fund, at the annual graduation ceremonies in St. Andrew's United church Friday afternoon. The winner is one of the most prominent students in the Summerland high school, has been president of the Student Council and editor-in-chief of the Campus Chaff and the first printed Year Book.

Robert Weitzel

There was spontaneous applause on the part of students and parents alike when the large audience which filled the church to capacity learned of the 1949 scholarship winner. An outstanding athlete in high school, Bob Weitzel is captain of the Red Sox baseball team; is an ardent skier, and has participated in many other branches of sports. His organizational ability in school activities was recognized by his fellow pupils when they named him president of the students' council this year.

Bob intends to go to UBC next fall to take his first year arts and science and then branch into an engineering course. Although he has not decided definitely, he has his eye on an aeronautical engineering course.

Born in Penticton, he received his first six years' schooling in the Penticton elementary school, coming to Summerland to complete his schooling from Grade VII to XII inclusive in the Summerland schools. He is the elder son of Mrs. Channon Snow of Summerland.

This scholarship award is based on general scholastic ability combined with interest in extra-curricular school activities and sports. The general basis of the award is similar to that of the Rhodes scholarship.

The two school principals and the reeve form the award committee each year. Principals A. K. Macleod and S. A. MacDonald and Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley comprising the committee in 1949.

School "Old Boys" In announcing the winner on Friday, Dr. Andrew remarked that Summerland high has turned out some distinguished students who have won national and international fame. He referred to Dr. J. Allen Harris, discoverer of Element 61, Dr. Roy Elsey, internationally-known marine biologist, and Dr. James Marshall, "probably the best authority on sprays in Canada" and known to hundreds in the U.S., as well. These three men were graduates of Summerland high who, among many others, have brought credit to the institution, he declared.

Party's Policy Reflects Desire of Canadians Stresses Mayor Adams

"We are proud of our policy, as it was devised and produced by a wide section of the people of Canada assembled in convention at Ottawa last year. It truly represents the wishes, desires and dreams of what the future of this great country holds for a great number of us." Such was the declaration of Mayor Theo Adams, Progressive Conservative standard bearer in the June 27 election in Yale riding to a sparsely-attended public meeting in Ellison hall Wednesday evening. Mayor Adams delivered an appealing address, which was without scathing criticism. His main points centered upon the Progressive Conservative declared policy and his only warning was against the theory of socialism. He impressed the audience with his sincerity of purpose and able approach to his subject.

At the outset, Mayor Adams dealt with the Pro Cons program of contributory social security which he claimed reflects the wishes and desires of the majority of people in this country. "This program is a wide and comprehensive one which we feel can be put into practice... without a means test," he declared. "We do not feel it is the duty or the right of any government to pry into the lives of men and women... the practice of thrift is still paramount in this country and nobody should be penalized thereby," he continued, pointing out that the present means test as applied to pensioners penalizes thrift during the active years.

Program Details He listed the social security program as including retirement pensions at 65 without a means test; accident, sickness and disability benefits; health insurance; to include adequate medical and hospital care; extension of unemployment insurance benefits to include payment for time lost due to sickness or accidents; similar benefits on a non-contributory basis for "unemployables".

"This is a very wide and far-reaching program, AND it has to be paid for," he emphasized. "It is senseless and immoral to offer any such extensive program and pretend that it comes as a gift from the government. This program must be on a contributory basis. By the working men and women contributing according to their means is the dignified way in which this program can be advanced."

"But it is only by the continued expansion of our national income that we can afford this program in the first place; by the continued development of our natural resources and our own continued hard work."

"We believe this program can be carried out because of our great belief in the future of our country," he emphasized. "We can and must devise our economy so that we can live on an expanding level of national income."

Dealing for a moment with Canada's great wealth in natural resources Mayor Adams declared the Pro Con policy is based on the future of the country and "our possible greatness in the future." "We look for a security... but a free security, not a security without freedom."

Coming closer to home, he believed the three most vital concerns for Yale riding are water, a Trans-Canada highway and markets.

He did not claim to be an engineer or to know all the details concerning the valley's need for expanding irrigation projects, but in the overall picture he believed the Okanagan's cornerstone is water. Continued on Page 4

Ten Polls Will Operate For Voters on Monday

Next Monday, there is likely to be a bit of confusion, when the voters go to the polls to vote in the Yale federal election. This confusion, however, can be circumvented to a great degree by the voters themselves ascertaining clearly what polling booth they should go to before they ever enter the halls. In West Summerland there are seven polls at the IOOF hall and three in the Lakeside United church basement, lower town. The polls open at 9 a.m. daylight saving time and close at 7 p.m. daylight saving time, which differs from the 8 to 8 times adopted for the provincial election. In lower town the three polling booths are as follows: No. 134, Summerland East, 340 names; enumerator H. C. Howie. No. 135, Summerland East, South, 151 names; enumerator Mrs. N. Howie. No. 142, Summerland South, East, 325 names; enumerator, C. W. Haddrell. In West Summerland at the IOOF hall, there are seven polls, including one split poll, as follows: No. 136, Summerland Suburban, 285 names; enumerator, H. J. Wright. No. 137, Summerland North East, 377 names; enumerator, W. C. W. Fosbery; this is a split poll and will require two polling booths. No. 138, Summerland North West, 142 names; enumerator W. Fosbery. No. 139, Summerland South Centre, 290 names; enumerator, Mrs. W. T. Bleasdale. No. 140, Summerland South, 169 names; enumerator, W. T. Bleasdale. No. 141, Summerland West, 117 names; enumerator, A. F. Wright.

Disbandment Of Fire Group Carries 61-1

By a vote of 61 to 1, West Summerland taxpayers within the first district zone voted on Saturday to wipe out the West Summerland volunteer fire district in favor of a municipality-wide fire brigade. Some 270 persons could have voted on Saturday but there was little interest shown in the referendum and a large majority of those who went to vote had to be given a detailed explanation of what the vote was about.

This was indicative of the lack of interest on the part of most ratepayers as to the steps being taken on their behalf by the municipal council and the West Summerland Volunteer Fire Protection Society.

W. C. W. Fosbery was returning officer for the poll which opened at 8 a.m. and closed at 8 p.m. at the municipal office.

The result of this vote will be that the volunteer fire protection society will be disbanded in favor of a fire brigade society embracing the activities of a fire brigade which is representative of the entire municipality.

SCHOOL CLOSING NEXT THURSDAY

Next Thursday, June 30, is final day for school before the summer recess.

It is reported by the principals of the two Summerland schools that closing exercises will be held on this day and the promotion lists will probably be ready in time for next week's edition.

High school pupils who have been recommended are not in school this week but will report back on June 30. Those who declared they would supply text books for the rental scheme next fall are expected to bring them to the school by that day Principal Macleod states.

Principal S. A. MacDonald reports that closing exercises for the elementary school will be held about 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning next, when teachers and staff will say good-bye to the school buildings until fall. Examinations commenced in the schools last Monday and are continuing this week.

Monday Sees a Two-Way Fight

ALTHOUGH there are four candidates in the federal election race in Yale next Monday, June 27, the issue before the electors boils down to a two-way fight.

The two candidates who have an opportunity of being elected in Yale are the present member, O. L. Jones, CCF candidate and Mayor Theo Adams, the Progressive Conservative candidate from Vernon.

Although there is a Liberal candidate supporting the St. Laurent government, he is not receiving support from the federal authorities at Ottawa and, because of the cleavage in Liberal ranks in the riding he has practically no organization except in his home town of Vernon and in Kelowna.

Of the Social Credit candidate little is known of him in the southern portion of Yale and it is not expected that he will attract many votes.

Yale has been a Tory riding for years past until the Liberals trotted out the strongest candidate in history at the May by-election last year and so split the free enterprise vote that Mr. Jones went to Ottawa with an outstanding plurality.

This time, however, the situation is entirely different. The Liberal candidate is not expected to attract a large vote and the fight is strictly between the sitting member and Mayor Adams.

Both men are strong candidates. O. L.

Jones has worked hard for the constituency in his year in office. Cynics might say that he had to make a good showing, knowing that another election was in the offing. But even his severest critics must admit that he has worked hard for Yale.

Mayor Adams is another man who has shown great ability to serve the common interests of his fellow citizens. After serving in World War II overseas he returned to his hometown of Vernon, became an alderman and a year later was elected mayor, the youngest man to hold such an office in Canada at that time.

He is an aggressive personality, also very sincere in his efforts and thinking and is an extremely able and strong candidate.

Just as in the provincial election, there is a two-way fight in Yale between those who believe in socialistic doctrines and those who would continue to operate under the free enterprise system.

The result of the Coalition victory in the provincial election will undoubtedly have an effect on the federal campaign. A few weeks ago it appeared that Mr. Jones would have no trouble. Now the picture has changed. Yale riding will see a terrific battle between Mr. Jones and Mr. Adams, with the latter's stock coming up fast in the light of the Coalition victory and the apparent weakness of the Liberal candidate's position.

A Great Triumph

PREMIER Byron Johnson and his Coalition government obtained such a sweeping victory last Wednesday that it surprised most of the party followers, apart from a few of the most sagacious political observers.

It was a mass declaration on the part of the majority of the people of the province that they liked the Coalition performance in the past few years, that they were in favor of a continuation of this program as outlined by Premier Johnson and that they were far from ready to concede a socialist experiment in this province.

Mr. W. A. C. Bennett also had a personal triumph in South Okanagan. Defeated in Yale federal election last year, after resigning his South Okanagan seat, Mr. Bennett swept back into the legislature in Victoria with a majority over CCF Tom Wilkinson which left no doubt in the voters' mind as to who was the popular choice.

A government with such an overall majority as Coalition now boasts is sometimes inclined to slacken off and become careless, without a strong opposition to "needle" it continuously.

Such might be a fear now except for the fact that the Coalition government has a goodly smattering of men of the calibre of W. A. C. Bennett who would not hesitate to oppose their own government if they felt an error was being made.

Mr. Bennett is no rubber stamp. In fact, he is sometimes inclined to go to the other extreme. It will be through such men as Mr. Bennett that the people can rest assured that the government will be kept on its respective toes throughout the next four years.

British Columbia's continued expansion and prosperity is practically assured now that responsible government will be assured for another four to five years, at least.

Premier Byron Johnson's whirlwind tour of the entire province was a big factor in the Coalition victory. His personality impresses all who meet the jovial premier, unruffled by travel and speaking appointments.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

In these days, when provincial and federal elections are bringing noisily home to all of us the worldwide cleavage between free enterprise and state control, capitalism and socialism, my gaze often lingers on two objects on my desk, symbolic to me of the two opposing camps.

One of them is a ball-point pen—now alas, defunct due to lack of the vital fluid—but not yet discarded. The maker's name is Reynolds. Remember when he first introduced ball-point pens, only some five years ago? They sold for around $18.50, and were so effectively advertised that they were bought right and left at that price. Enough, probably, to make Reynolds a millionaire; only a year or so later he was financing a costly round-the-world flight by aeroplane, and I understand he has so much money now that he doesn't bother making pens any more.

Before he quit, though, his pens went down in price considerably; mine, bought in 1947, cost exactly 79 cents. I doubt very much if that was below cost; so Reynolds was probably making well over $12, or some 1600 percent profit, on every pen at the original price.

Right there is one of the glaring faults of the free enterprise or capitalist system, one of the things that gives socialism its appeal. Exploitation for excessive profit. Exploitation of the consumer as long as he's sucker enough to pay excessive prices, exploitation of labor as far as labor will stand for it. It takes only a few examples like the Reynolds pen to leak out to make people wonder about the prices they pay for many items, and about what share of the profits is being offered workers in wages.

But beside the pen lies a holder full of matches.

Ever consider how wonderful a thing is a single simple match? It isn't much over a century since these handy little fire-sticks were introduced. Before that, people had to carry flint and steel and tinder with them, and fire-making was a tedious business of striking sparks with steel and flint, and catching them on the tinder, which had to be blown or waved until—only after repeated tries, usually—it glowed into flame. Little wonder that people gladly paid 50 cents apiece for the first matches, even though one had to carry a bottle of sulphuric acid around with them to light them with.

Fifty cents apiece; and now you get a box of some 300 for 11 cents. There is the good side of free enterprise and competition for markets; it is very questionable whether any paternal system of state control would have developed match manufacture so efficiently—or inspired its invention so soon.

Both great systems, have their weaknesses and their strengths; unless you are fortunate enough to be so strongly prejudiced for one or the other as to have no uncertainties, it puzzles one to choose between them.

The very way Okanagan growers control their fruit industry by a co-operative monopoly is a form of socialism; yet it was developed under a free enterprise system of government. That's a puzzler too. If we had socialism, would growers be allowed to run their industry, or would the government take it over? If they did, how satisfactory would it be? Would it run into red ink, as the government-owned CNR regularly does—or be a boon to the growers, as is the government-owned experimental station?

So I sit and stare at my ball-point pen and my matches in their little ivory holder and weigh one side against the other and wonder how things will go next Monday. Cheap matches and costly pens—or cheaper pens and costlier matches—I wonder which will end up with when the smoke of battle finally clears away?

Would Widen Road At Powell Beach

Only solution to the problem confronting J. H. Sharpe at Trout Creek is for the council to widen the north road to Powell Beach and close the one-way road past Mr. Sharpe's property, it was suggested at last week's council meeting following a complaint received from the Trout Creek orchardist.

Mr. Sharpe stated that cars turning out into his orchard were breaking trees, had damaged the culvert, and that visitors stole his peaches. Council remarked that if Mr. Sharpe had not removed his fence part of the trouble would not occur but also agreed that the proper solution would be to close the narrow road and widen the other route so that cars could pass without trouble.

Water Foreman E. Kercher has been offered an opportunity by the municipal council to attend the annual convention of the municipal engineers' association being held at Harrison Hot Springs Sept. 15 and 16. Mr. Kercher will decide later as to his acceptance.

Vernon Girls Pipe Band to Portland

The Vernon McIntosh Girls' Pipe Band participated in the 11-mile long parade which featured the Portland, Ore., annual Rose Festival on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 9, 10 and 11. Thirty bands and marching units plus 42 floats participated in this gigantic and colorful display. The girls were also entertained aboard the Canadian Cruiser, HMCS Ontario, which also entered a band.

Canyon Creek Dam Will Not Fill

Canyon creek dam will not be filled this year, council was informed in the report from headquarters submitted by Water Foreman E. Kercher last week.

On June 7, the water had reached the 20-foot level in Canyon Creek dam but excess water in the higher levels is draining into the earth and little excess supply exists for drainage into the lake and creek systems.

This dam has never been allowed to fill since it was built.

May 29 report for Thirsk dam showed four inches over the spillway. The gate was closed eight inches on that date.

L. N. Charles presented a petition to the municipal council on June 14 from residents of "middle Peach Orchard" seeking an improvement to the domestic water supply. There is practically no domestic water available except in the period from half an hour after darkness until 5 o'clock the next morning.

Council has promised to investigate this complaint and seek remedial measures.

NOVEL ROSE IN MILLER GARDEN

Gardeners will be interested to hear of a rose in Mr. F. A. Miller's garden at Crescent Beach.

His Signora rose bush which for many years has produced its beautiful normally pink roses which have yellowish tinges towards the centre of the petals has, at the present time, a new shoot about two and a half feet long, coming straight from the root stalk bearing a pink and a clear yellow flower.

They came on separate stems branching from the shoot about an inch apart, presenting a novel sight, and no doubt would demonstrate a theory of heredity if records had been kept.

Stamps Commemorate Halifax Anniversary

At the two local post offices on Tuesday, June 21, a special four-cent commemorative postage stamp was issued to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the founding of Halifax.

This postage stamp bears a scene based on a painting by C. W. Jeffreys, RCA, L.L.D., entitled "The Founding of Halifax, 1749", and portrays men assembling original structures on the present site of the city.

The construction force and military personnel depicted represent the original force brought from England by Hon. Edward Cornwallis, who was commissioned to erect a town on this site and landed at the location on June 21, 1749.

ter and if the valley is to keep pace, with the expected increase in population then irrigation projects must be expanded. The main secondary industry which can be developed in Canada is the tourist industry and to attract visitors in sufficient numbers there must be a well-built trans-Canada highway with adequate feeder routes. This is vital in a sane and secure economy, he claimed.

Canada cannot rely on one friendly nation for its main source of markets, Mayor Adams pointed out. "Canada must regain her markets in the British Isles and the other sterling countries."

Take a Stand

This is a problem which must be tackled by Canadians, he insisted, declaring that "we do not realize we are one of the great nations of the world and we must take our stand and solve this problem in a virile and progressive manner."

"It must be done or the future will be pretty grim," he warned.

Mayor Adams declared that he mistrusts and fears the application of the socialistic theory of government and the theory of state control. He believed that even though citizens are becoming tired of the political campaigns, the two elections have awakened in the electorate an awareness of the emergency facing it today.

"Few of us who, when we realize the exact repercussions which are bound to accrue from the application of socialism, are willing to give up our standard of living and freedom . . . our right to live why and where we want," he warned.

He talked of the inevitability of failure of a socialist government and pointed to the application of socialism in other parts of the world as an example.

"Say on June 27 by a united mandate that the CCF in B.C. is finished," he urged his listeners so that there can be "two live, vital political parties, one in power and the other in opposition at Ottawa, and we can have a return of the real, true, vital form of sound democratic government," he concluded.

Speaking on behalf of the candidate at the start of the meeting W. G. Gillard, South Okanagan Pro-Con president, talked on the relationship of the Progressive Conservative party and the working people.

"We believe the welfare of the dominion depends on the welfare of the working people and the wealth of the country stems from our own initiative," he stressed. "If we take the initiative from the working people we have nothing left."

"The socialists ask us to put them into power. It would be the saddest day of our lives as once they had the power we wouldn't have any power to take that power away from them."

"The only piece of legislation which affected Yale riding in the last session of the House at Ottawa, your CCF member Mr. Jones was not even there," Mr. Gillard declared in referring to the agricultural products marketing act.

"And Mr. Jones came back to the Okanagan and said the act would be held over until the next session when it was already on the statute books," Mr. Gillard emphasized.

J. E. Jenkinson

Another speaker was Capt. J. E. Jenkinson who spoke on the "grand record of leadership" shown by the Conservative party since the days of Sir John A. Macdonald, who laid the foundation of a sound economic policy.

PUBLIC HEALTH COURSE

Miss Pauline Pearson has completed her public health course at the University of B.C., passing with honors in her year's work. She has been appointed to the Cultus Lake district of Chilliwack, where she will take charge beginning July 4.

"The CCF talk of a 'planned economy' but the Conservative party has been planning the economy of this country ever since Confederation," he stressed. "The Progressive Conservatives stand for evolution, not revolution. We cannot afford to place the welfare of our country in the hands of those who would experiment with the economy of our nation," he emphasized.

As a delegate to the Ottawa Pro-Con convention last year, Capt. Jenkinson declared that they had selected an outstanding leader in George Drew and Canada is in need of a leader today.

Col. A. E. Gardner, president of the Summerland Pro-Con Assn. was chairman of the meeting while John Alkins of Penticton introduced Mayor Adams.

Girls Choir Goes on Radio

Tuesday evening brought to a close this season's practices for members of the Summerland Girls' Choir with a party and final rehearsal at the home of Miss Kay Hamilton, who has been responsible for the remarkable showing of these girls in the past few years, climaxed by triumphs at the musical festival in Penticton this spring.

The choir will make its final appearance on a radio program over CKOK, Penticton, Saturday evening, June 25. For this half hour program the girls have arranged a group of choir, solo and ensemble numbers with Paul Birch as accompanist and Shirley Gardiner as soloist.

Arrangements are being made to broadcast the program from the Legion hall, Penticton.

A donation was made to the CGIT to help in defraying travelling expenses of the girls going to Camp Huriburt, near Vernon.

Penticton Gets To Merchants in Ninth Inning

Al Coffey held the visiting Penticton seniors for five innings last Thursday at the athletic park but could not keep control for the final frames as Penticton walked off with a 7-4 victory over the local Merchants.

It was a good ball game but the Merchants could not cope with the deliveries of Gaten for the visitors and were limited to four bingles, two of which were garnered by Taylor.

There was no action across the plate until the sixth when Gaten and Nicholson sped across. Benway would have added a third but for a smart heave in from left field by Frank Kuroda to cut off the runner at the plate.

Raptis started the seventh with a home run. Although the bags were filled afterwards no further runs came across in that frame, runners being nipped at the bags.

Merchants had a brief spell of glory when they went ahead in the eighth with a four-run splurge. Coffey started things with a single and McCargar walked. Kuroda and Schwab were retired but Walsh lashed out a single, Taylor did the same and when Cameron muffed Amm's grounder four runs came across.

It was a short-lived margin, however, as with two away Amm committed a miscue at first allowing Gaten to knot the count. Russell cleaned house with a double and was scored by Gunn for four runs and the end of the ball game.

Walsh handled eleven chances at second without a miscue while McCargar had five assists and one error at short.

Score by innings:
Penticton 000 002 104-7
Merchants 000 000 040-4

Rutland Adanacs travelled to Copper Mountain last Sunday and administered a 14-7 defeat on that hapless crew which has not won a ball game to date but is still in there trying hard.

Fears Facing Man Listed to Rotary Club

Listing the seven fears which face mankind, and adding an eighth suggestion of his own, Rev. D. O. Knipfel, new minister of the Summerland Baptist church, proved a thought-provoking speaker to the Rotary Club of Summerland at the Nu-Way Annex Friday evening.

These fears have an important bearing on the outlook for western civilization, he felt, the first of these being biological. Decline in the birth rate, especially among the educated class is alarming historians and it is feared that dullards and degenerates are being born at too alarming a rate.

Second fear he named as psychological, the question as to whether democracy can establish the right to perpetuate itself being uppermost in men's minds, because of the tendency to think as a group and submit to crowd psychology.

NO BOWS AND ARROWS

Hunting of any game with bow and arrow in B.C. is now prohibited by law, Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer announces. The 1949 game regulations include a new section which makes it unlawful to practice on game of the province.

Political fear is a widespread one that "our democracy is not delivering the goods." He declared that in some cases this fear is correct, as the best men are not always being elected to manage government, as the best men prefer to remain in private business. Another weakness politically is the tendency to fall prey to catchwords and slogans.

Economic fear was not dealt with to any extent, but historical fear was named as the fifth instance. The fear that history repeats itself is one that faces mankind, in that history has shown many examples of the birth of a nation, its growth until it becomes vigorous and strong and then its decline into a decadent state.

"Some historians feel that western democracy is on the way down," he observed.

Sixth fear is the administrative one, that the administration set up to govern the world is so big and complicated that present civilization is not producing people able to keep up with its ramifications.

He named moral fear as the seventh kind, where mankind will sacrifice his ideals for straight deals. Sin cost the U.S. government $40 billions yearly, he pointed out while juvenile crime in the U.S. is estimated to cost as much as any one year of the first world war.

"There is a right for men to feel concerned about the morals of our nation", he opined.

In conclusion, he suggested an eighth fear, the fear of the Lord, which is wisdom. He urged his listeners to put the Golden Rule into action so that there may be progress and no regress. Luxury and lust are two spades which dig the nation's grave, for nations do not die, they commit suicide, he declared.

Twenty-one Graduates of Class of '49 Introduced at Impressive Ceremony in St. Andrew's Church

Twenty-one young people on the threshold of their third stage in life were formally introduced to a crowded St. Andrew's church, West Summerland, on Friday afternoon on the occasion of the fourth annual graduation ceremony of the Summerland High School.

The Class of '49, 21 strong, was introduced in turn by Chairman A. K. Macleod, high school principal, in a ceremony which was a credit to the young people responsible for its arrangement.

Chief point of interest centered around the announcement of the Summerland Scholarship award, which went to Robert Weitzel, popular young athlete and son of Mrs. Channon Snow, of Summerland. Details of the scholarship award are given in another column.

Chairman A. K. Macleod noted at the outset of the program that this ceremony marked the end of four years spent by these 21 graduates in acquiring various knowledge and skills. The graduates had also been able to participate in sports, keenly contested games, and extra curricular activities which, along with the contacts they made with their teachers and each other, have stood them in good stead.

By taking part in these extra activities, the graduates are better fitted to assume the responsibilities which they must do on entering the new world which is unfolding before them.

The speakers were seated below colored streamers, artistically displayed, with the centerpiece a Summerland High School plaque in blue and white.

Inadequate facilities "This graduating class is to be commended for having attained its goal despite crowded, inadequate facilities," declared C. J. Bleasdale, chairman of School District No. 77 (Summerland). He thanked the staffs of both schools for being so patient despite the handicaps which lack of proper accommodation bring.

The class of '49 is only 21 strong today but when the present primary class graduates there will be a class of 80, he predicted. Last year, at graduation time, Mr. Bleasdale had informed the gathering that the elementary school would be renovated. This year, he announced the board's plans for a new junior-senior high school. He hoped that the final draft of the sketch plan will be completed this evening.

From there, the plans go to the department of education and after approval is obtained a bylaw is submitted to the ratepayers. If there is any increase in the estimated figure of 600 pupils for the elementary school this fall, church halls will have to be utilized, he warned.

School activities, including the Verrier Cup

The coveted Verrier cup, presented in memory of the late Robert Francis Verrier, for good citizenship and extra curricular duties as well as scholastic standing, went to Robert Weitzel, who was also later announced as the scholarship award winner. This cup was presented by Principal Macleod.

The H. Sharman marksman's cup was presented by C. J. Bleasdale to Daryl Weitzel, younger brother of the scholarship winner. Miss Joan Bennett, winner of the first Summerland scholarship, presented her father's ski-cup to Ron Ritchie, 1949 winner.

On behalf of House 2, which he captained, Don Nesbitt accepted the inter-house trophy from Miss

List of Graduates In Class of '49

Graduates of the Class of '49 who participated in the graduation exercises, tea, banquet and dance Friday were as follows:

M. Campbell. The huge Fort Gary football cup, emblematic of South Okanagan, soccer supremacy, was won by Summerland last year and Wally Day, captain of the eleven, was presented with the trophy by Mr. W. H. Durick.

Volleyball pennants, also emblematic of South Okanagan championships, went to Ruth Klux and Les Howard, team captains. Mr. C. D. Kennedy made the presentations.

Another coveted athletic award is the OVSA trophy, which was won by Summerland high for the second year in a row at the annual track meet. Jim Birtles, outstanding member, accepted the trophy on behalf of his fellow "thin clads".

Miss M. C. Y. Matthews presented the softball trophy to team captain Sandy Jomori.

For general efficiency in Grade XI, the book prize was awarded Miss Mary Ward by Mr. L. J. Fisher, who said "the world of books has a great deal to offer."

Then came the announcement as to the scholarship winner by Dr. F. W. Andrew.

Dr. James Marshall, himself a Summerland High "old boy" who has gone far in his chosen field of entomology, in giving the address to the graduates gave them a few helpful suggestions.

He suggested that when they leave home they keep in mind what their mothers have done for them and make a point of writing home regularly at least once a week.

"I hope you can get out of your heads that success and happiness are synonymous with money," he declared. "Find out what you like to do and then go ahead and do it," he urged. "That will create the most happiness," he believed.

Service to others he listed as one of the chief forms of happiness in life, while tolerance he listed as a definite necessity. Examine all the angles and do not be too critical of the other fellow if he differs from you, he urged, concluding with a note of warning to be moderate in all things.

Following the invocation by Rev. H. R. Whitmore, the gathering adjourned to the high school lawn where the home economics class had prepared a lovely tea. The tables were centered with a large white birthday cake, appropriately trimmed in blue and with blue icing the first names of the graduates were inscribed.

As president of the Students' Council, Robert Weitzel out the birthday cake.

A banquet for graduates, and invited guests followed in the IOOF hall, after which a dance was held.

ACTS FOR COUNCIL

Councillor F. E. Atkinson has been appointed municipal representative on the special committee set up within the Okanagan Valley Municipal Assn. to deal jointly with representations made by the electrical unions.

PROTESTS BICYCLES BEING LEFT ON PUBLIC SIDEWALKS

Bicycles lying on public sidewalks came in for severe criticism at last week's council meeting when Mr. Frank Hopkins complained that, as he is nearly blind because of his accident a year and a half ago, he has almost come to grief on numerous occasions, due to careless bike owners leaving their vehicles sprawled on the public sidewalk.

Mr. Hopkins was bitter about the situation and suggested that the police should be more alert. The letter had already been shown to E.C. Police Constable Thorsteinson and council was informed necessary action will be taken.

J. R. Armstrong also introduced the subject of bicycles speeding down the pathway through the park and declared that elderly citizens could not get out of the way of such speeders. It was decided to place signs at the entrances to the pathway that this is strictly a pedestrian walk.

Dr. G. H. Harris Reveals Facts Concerning Light Conditions for Plants

Dr. G. H. Harris of the department of horticulture, University of B.C., has revealed some interesting facts about the ways in which plants respond to various light conditions.

In studying the effects of light on plant growth, says Dr. Harris, there are three things to consider: intensity, or brightness of light; quality, or composition of the light in terms of wavelengths; and duration of number of hours of illumination a plant receives each day.

A tremendous amount of work has been done on the first of these, light intensity. As early as the seventeenth century it was discovered that plants would not carry on the food-manufacturing process, now known as "photosynthesis," unless there was a certain minimum degree of light intensity.

Quality and Source
The second aspect, quality, depends on the source of the light. Electric light, for example, is richer in infra-red rays than sunlight is. Glass, as used in a greenhouse, tends to filter out the ultra-violet rays. These ultra-violet rays usually have a stunting effect on plant growth but are beneficial in other ways.

No type of artificial light is a satisfactory substitute for sunlight when food manufacture is considered and it is difficult to produce greenhouse crops that are exactly the same as outdoor-grown plants. However, with careful management they can be made very similar.

Within the last decade the study of light duration has come much to the fore. The most important effect of the day-length seems to be on the reproductive activity of plants. It is well known that most plants show better vegetative or leaf development when they are exposed to long periods of light, but plants vary in their light requirements for flowering and seed production.

"Long-day plants," will flower and produce seed only if they are exposed to long periods of light during the greater part of their development. Under conditions of short light periods these plants will grow well, but will not flower. They must have at least the "critical photoperiod" of approximately 12 to 14 hours of light.

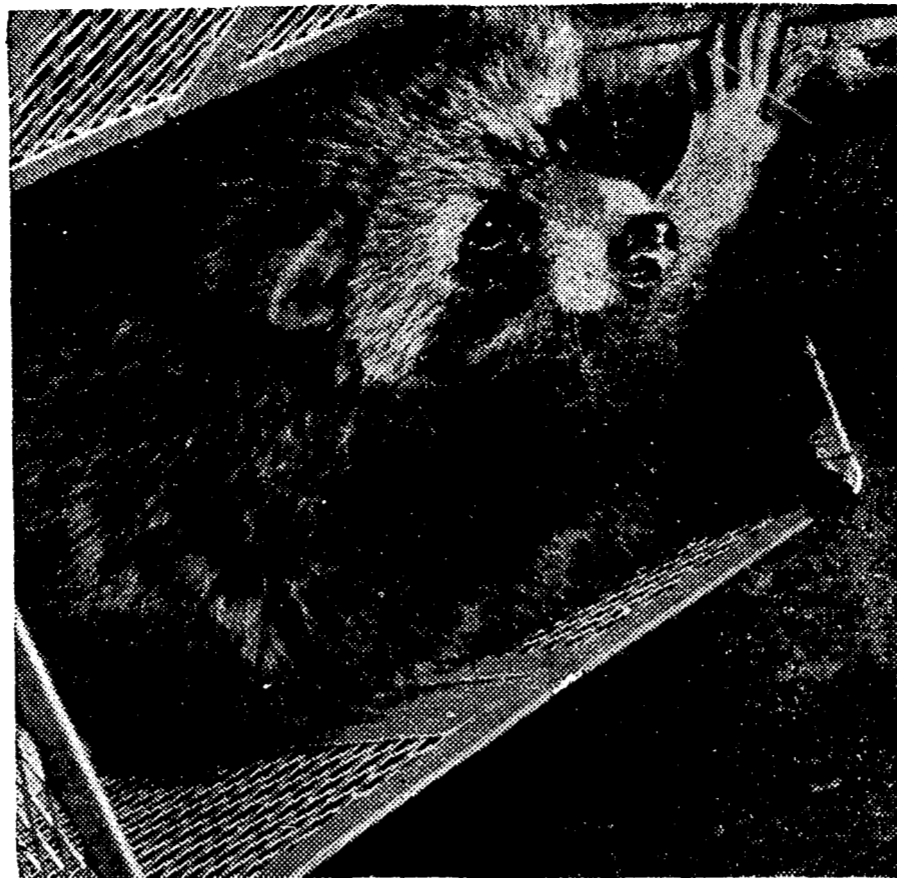

Long-Day Plants
Once the requirements for food manufacture by the plant have been met, the intensity and composition of the light do not matter. Examples of long-day plants are those that normally grow and bloom in late spring and early summer like lettuce, spinach, beet, and radish. For commercial production, spinach is grown in the periods of short days to encourage leaf growth and to prevent it "bolting to seed."

The "short-day plants" grow luxuriantly during the long days, but won't flower unless they have short days—less than the critical photoperiod and even less than ten hours for most. A plant in this group is the winter chrysanthemum.

It is interesting to observe that greenhouse chrysanthemum production does not depend solely on the maintenance of proper temperatures, but also on the fact that the 'mums will not bloom during seasons of long days. These 'mums can be grown in summer, too, but they must be properly shaded so they will receive only the right duration of light.

Other plants are "indeterminate" or "day-neutral;" their seed-producing ability is the same regardless of light duration.

Varied Conditions
In determining which of the three categories a plant should enter, samples of the species in question are grown under varied conditions. Half the plants are exposed to only 10 hours light per day. The other half of the plants are exposed to a "long day" of 18 hours. Electric light may be used to provide the extra hours of light needed as sunlight is not necessary after the daily requirements for photosynthesis have been met. A number of plants have been grown under these controlled conditions but there are many species yet to be tested in this way.

Plants may be native to certain sections of the world and not to others because of the different daylengths in various areas. It is interesting to note, also, that the same species of plant may have different characteristics when raised in a different part of the world. A plant grown in Portland, Oregon, may be distinctly different from the same species grown in Vancouver, B.C., because of the shorter daylength in the more southerly location.

Crops responding favorably to a longer duration of light include cornflower, dahlia, gardenia, marigold, nasturtium, pansy and violet. Crops responding favorably to shorter days are begonia, winter chrysanthemum, and poinsettia. Plants in the latter group require light of a certain quality and intensity for food manufacture, but do not benefit from extra light.

Knowledge of the effect of light duration on plant reproduction is put to use in the commercial production of many off-season crops. In greenhouses, some plants are shaded in summer, others given extra light in winter. Photoperiodism is also a factor in everyday production of fruits, flowers and vegetables, as it helps to determine the choice of crops to be grown in each district.

Osoyoos Man Named Zone Council Prexy

The bi-monthly meeting of the South Okanagan-Similkameen zone council of the Canadian Legion was held at Osoyoos on Sunday, June 19, with a very good representation being present.

This being the first meeting after the provincial convention, it was made the occasion of the annual meeting, and Harley Haines of Osoyoos was elected chairman, replacing A. Calvert, Summerland, who is now zone commander. H. R. Potter of Oliver was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Business was mostly routine. Comrade A. W. Hanbury, retiring zone commander, gave an interesting report of the convention held in Victoria in May. The zone commander brought to the gathering the highlights of a draft copy of the Poppy Day manual to be published by Dominion Command, urging the branches to prepare for their Poppy Day appeal in good time, and arrange it along a business like basis.

Ross McLachlan, H. C. Howis and A. Calvert attended from the Summerland branch.

The zone meeting of the Legion W.A. was held at the same time. It was regretted that delegates from the Summerland auxiliary were not able to be present.

Council Plans New Traffic Bylaw Soon

A complete new traffic bylaw, which will include parking regulations and make provision for stop signs at dangerous intersections and a uniform thirty-miles per hour throughout the municipality is being proposed by the Summerland municipal council.

Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley stated at the council session on June 14 that the highway traffic patrol officer would be conferring here on the subject of traffic hazards before the bylaw is submitted for council approval.

The entire district will be surveyed by the traffic officer in the interests of public safety, Mr. Bentley claimed.

This was the information handed to Harry Beeman, head of the board of trade traffic safety committee, who sought information on the council proposals.

Granville Motors submitted that parking of vehicles near its premises blocks entry to the garage and the gasoline pumps, while councillors declared that other garages have the same problem. This subject will be discussed when the bylaw is being prepared.

NO ROAD PAVING IN PENTICTON

After receiving tenders ranging from $87,000 to $124,000 and realizing that there is only $17,000 left of the bylaw money voted last year, Pentiction council has decided to waive any further road program this year. Only gravelling and some flush coating will be carried out with the balance of the bylaw money and no further appropriation for roads will be considered, the Pentiction city fathers have decreed.

Contamination Of Water Causes Some Concern

Heavy contamination along most of Summerland's waterfront, with the exception of Powell and Crescent beaches, where only slight contamination was noted is stressed in a report submitted to the council and the board of trade by Sanitarian Alcock of the South Okanagan health unit.

Mr. Alcock was checking the waterfront at the suggestion of the board of trade committee headed by F. W. Schumann, which is investigating the possibility of establishing another bathing beach on and near the site of the old CNR wharf which was removed by the government last winter.

The sanitarian not only tested the waterfront conditions and found them heavily contaminated but also the creeks flowing into the lake and found them in the same condition. Prairie creek showed contamination as far back

Purchase Forty Tons Calcium Chloride

Forty tons of calcium chloride have been purchased by the municipality for local roads, it was stated at last week's council session. Use of calcium chloride on highways before paving, to assist in binding the loose material, is becoming recognized as a proper procedure, it is understood. It is the council's plan to treat the Sandhill road with calcium chloride.

These tests were made while flood water was still flowing into the lake and it is considered that the degree of contamination will lessen as the freshets subside.

The sanitarian also was perturbed over the fact that with three million gallons of water being used daily through the reservoir, domestic water is under-chlorinated. He is seeking a report from Shanahan's Ltd., who installed the chlorination plant, as to the reason for this condition, the council was informed last week.

RECIPE HINTS

Apple Brown Betty is an old family favorite.

Apple Brown Betty

Two cups bread crumbs, ¼ cup butter, melted, 1 quart sliced apples, ½ cups brown sugar, ½ tsp. grated nutmeg, juice of one lemon, ½ cup hot water. Mix crumbs and butter lightly with fork. Cover bottom of well-oiled baking dish with crumbs. Spread in bottom, over half the apples, sprinkle with half the sugar, nutmeg, and lemon juice. Bake about 40 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Serve either with sweetened cream or your favorite pudding sauce.

Disposal of Waste Water is Problem Facing Orchardists

With nearly fifty percent of the orchards in Summerland now under sprinkler irrigation and the remainder still resorting to gravity flow, there is a distinct problem arising over disposal of surplus water at the end of the laterals, council members learned last week.

When rain threatens or on Sundays, sprinkler irrigationists are inclined to shut down without any warning. This creates a great increase in the flow through the laterals and generally creates a flooded condition before the situation is eased in the mains.

This situation arose recently in the vicinity of Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley's orchard to the north of the district, he told last week's meeting, while other councillors told of similar instances coming to their attention.

If the sprinkler irrigationist wants to shut down then he should notify the ditchman, was Water Foreman E. Kercher's answer to part of the problem. He pointed out that the irrigation system now is not one thing or the other, as it is about evenly split between gravity flow and sprinkler irrigation.

The municipality will probably have to build bigger waste disposals, but against the cost of repair work is going to be lessened through installation of sprinklers, he thought.

Mr. Kercher, at the instigation of Acting Reeve Bentley, told the story of a calf accidentally getting into the south main and plugging the siphon on a weekend last month. This created quite a flood and damaged properties of Messrs. Schmoigl, Cody and T. B. Young, before the calf could be removed.

Mysterious part of this deal was that no one knew the owner of the calf and that night the animal was picked up in its entirety and spirited away. So the municipality has damaged property on its hands and no calf to account for it.

Hopeful for Radio Inspector Here

There is every likelihood that a radio inspector will be appointed for central B.C., the council learned in a communication received last week from the department of transport, which body stated it is giving "serious consideration" to the appointment in lieu of the many demands made from the interior for the appointment of such an official.

The department commented that it was pleased to note that Summerland municipality is endeavoring to help itself in eliminating radio interference and declared that it is physically impossible for the department to cover every municipality in Canada.

Free Text Books Given to Pupils Up to Grade VI

Details of the text book plan which is being inaugurated this coming term in schools throughout B.C. were explained at length to principals of Okanagan schools at a special conference held by P. G. Barr, officer-in-charge of the text book branch in Kelowna on June 11.

The department of education will supply text books free to pupils of Grade I to VI inclusive and will supply the prescribed text books to pupils in Grades VII to XII for a comparatively small rental fee, he explained.

Rental fees will be between $3.50 and $4 per year for these books, whereas text books new cost between $15 and $30, according to the grade of the student.

In order to institute this plan the government is making a substantial subsidy to the department of education to cover the entire cost of the books which will be rented at these low fees.

This is not a compulsory rental scheme, but those students who wish to purchase their own books must be completely equipped with text books within one week of school opening.

"This is a plan which has been well thought out and is being put into effect at a time when relief of some kind (from mounting educational costs) is necessary", comments Mr. Barr.

"Its ultimate success can be great but depends upon co-operation between parent, pupil, teacher, school board and the text-book branch. We shall strive to do our part and if we are successful in that, we know we are bound to receive hearty co-operation from all other interested parties."

Parents are being asked to turn in school text books, for which their children have no further use, to the local school so that they may become part of the general scheme of providing books at a nominal cost.

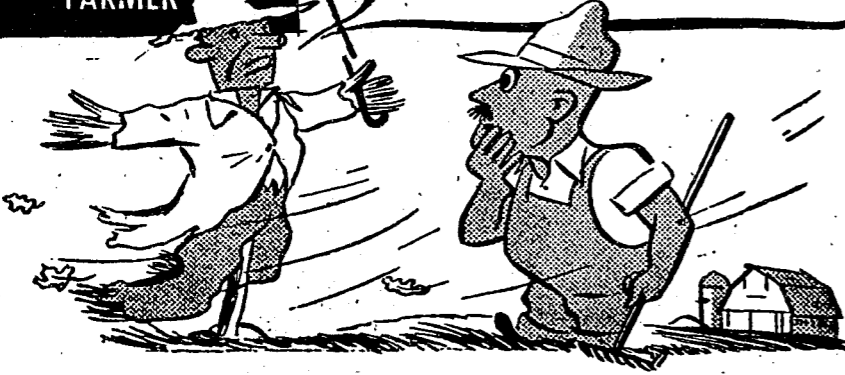

"Co-operation of pupils and parents in presenting these books to schools will lessen the cost in connection with the large issue we will be required to make when the rental plan is launched for next school year," Mr. Barr adds.

GULCH ROAD SURVEY

In connection with recent surveys of property on the Gulch road, R. P. Brown, surveyor, submitted an account for $182.40 to the municipality last week. The council authorized payment.

Vernon School to Cost More Than First Estimates

Vernon school board is facing a difficult decision in regard to its proposed six-room elementary school, which was estimated to cost $85,200. When five tenders were opened the bids were all substantially higher than the original estimate.

Bids were as follows: Bennett & White, $111,632; David Howrie Ltd., $108,925.32; F. Klymchuk, $97,042.70; Dominion Construction, $109,413; Commonwealth Construction, $107,281.

"Without reducing the accommodation I can't see any other adjustment that can be made," declared J. S. Porter, representing McCarter & Nairne, architects.

As Mr. Klymchuk could not guarantee to post the necessary bond, the offer of David Horie Ltd. was accepted by the board, being the next lowest local tender, after being assured that all sub-trades contracts would be let to Vernon firms.

OPEN NEW ROAD SOUTH OF VERNON

The six-mile stretch of Okanagan highway No. 5 south of Vernon has now been completed except for a calcium-chloride treatment which will be applied upon arrival of materials. The new road was opened to the public on Monday, June 13.

The rebuilt section of the highway, which is exactly 6.89 miles long, gives motorists a glimpse of some of the Okanagan's most beautiful scenery. Close to the Vernon end, a lookout point has been constructed which will give tourists an opportunity to stop and take in the beautiful view.

Some of the biggest construction machinery ever used in the Vernon district was employed on this reconstruction job which was commenced early this year.

MEMORIAL DESECRATION

R.R.1 Summerland Editor, The Review:

Re Cenotaph Desecration (vide Review June 9, 1949, page 6). As no one else seems interested may I make the following points, though space would not permit—nor the censor allow—my real comments on this.

It is noted with intense disgust but very little surprise the defacement of this, to most of us, a hallowed memorial.

1st—Disgust because one always thought any memorials were respected. Even the Nazis did not deface the Arc de Triumphe in Paris nor the Canadian Memorial on Vimy Ridge.

2nd—Surprise? There is obviously lack of control and respect increasing daily—vide general press as to "general mischief" and juvenile delinquency.

Uprooted, forlorn, and not yet completed—where are the posts and chains? or any flag pole?—and very unhappily situated on a semi-backlane.

One can only sympathize with our Memorial, now apparently of little significance these days, though other minor anniversaries are stressed such as Feb. 14, Mar. 1, Mar. 17, Nov. 20, to say nothing of Burns' "Night". But what about Apr. 23rd, June 6, or even May 8 and Nov. 11?

In the old Mineral Act and probably in any provincial acts and possibly in most municipal acts there are, or were, very severe penalties imposed on "moving or defacing" any mark, cairn, stake, etc., irrespective of whether these were in correct position, alignment, etc., hence the numerous brazes, cairns, stakes and markers throughout the country. Therefore, surely a solemn and sacred Memorial deserves equal or increased respect.

One may stress utility or modern progress (all in small caps please) but the fact remains the Original Memorial was so strategically placed where the rising generations must see it and where teachers had a symbol of service and sacrifice ever before them to

NEW THEATRE OPEN

Kelowna's new Paramount theatre was opened Thursday evening when Acting Mayor J. J. Ladd cut the silk ribbon. The Canadian premiere of Bob Hope's newest picture, "Sorrowful Jones" was the feature showing of the evening. Lawrence J. Bearg, Toronto, and Frank Gow, Vancouver, executives of Famous Players Canadian Corporation were present for the opening.

stress points so badly needed in these days and so impress the apparent irresponsible youth of today.

Again this a consecrated Memorial to and for all classes and creeds, types and races.

I have heard it remarked "it's not consecrated". To such I would refer them to any good dictionary e.g. Annandale 1925 edition and suggest they look up

New Metre Reader Must be Found

Municipal Electrician T. P. Thornber wishes to be relieved of a large portion of the metre reading in Summerland municipality, Councillor F. E. Atkinson informed last week's council-session.

He is willing to retain about 200 metres in the West Summerland business area, but does not wish to continue readings over the wide area outside this one district.

Council members considered the possibility of awarding a contract to G. W. Pennington for the thousand metres which are outside the main business district. Councillor Atkinson was instructed to take whatever steps would be necessary to have the metre reading undertaken.

Mr. Atkinson also stated that the co-op 440 volt transformer installation was concluded last week and the survey of the Stuart orchard for the power line extension along the lane immediately south of Granville street is proceeding. It is expected that this work can proceed shortly.

Junior Net Stars To Get Chance

All tennis clubs from Kamloops to the border are being requested to operate junior tournaments for boys and girls under 18 on January 1, 1949, as a form of eliminations which are being conducted throughout the province in zones.

This is part of a general scheme throughout Canada for the development of junior players which is sponsored by the Canadian Lawn Tennis Assn.

In the Okanagan, the winners of the local junior tournaments will be sent to Kelowna to compete in the boys and girls open singles events which are part of the Interior of B.C. championships, July 4 to 9.

Winners of these events will be sent to Vancouver to take part in the provincial junior championships. The two best provincial players will be sent to Ottawa and the United States to take part in the national junior championships of this country and the U.S.

Mr. H. G. M. Gardner Kelowna, is B.C. Lawn Tennis Assn. representative of the Okanagan zone.

Plenty of Hits and Errors as Peachland and Merchants Meet

Both Summerland Merchants and Peachland clouted the horsehide for twelve hits apiece, they each made seven errors, but the Merchants won the game easily at the Living Memorial athletic park by a 13-5 count.

It wasn't a bad ball game, but there were too many errors committed on easy plays to make it a tight ball game.

Al Coffey was on the mound for the winners and for seven innings kept the visitors under control. He weakened badly in the eighth and ninth and Peachland started to paste him with abandon. However, the local boys had run up such a commanding lead that the seven hits given up in the last two innings didn't really matter except to the Peachland batting averages.

Veteran Ted Clement was the mound duty man for the visitors, with another familiar face, Verne Cousins behind the plate. Ted couldn't control his ball in the final innings and was in trouble in the last three.

Although both teams committed the same number of errors, most of the Merchants' miscues came when they didn't mean anything to the run column, which was just as well for the shaky Merchants' infield.

For instance, Verne Cousins on his first time to bat slapped one down to Vanderburgh who muffed the twisting ball. Walsh backed him up but his throw back into the game was wide, Cousins scampering to second. When the horsehide was returned to the mound Coffey tried to catch the runner off second, Furuya missing the easy catch and Cousins proceeding to third.

That meant three errors for three bases, but still Cousins didn't score.

Score Three in 1st Merchants got away to a fine start in the first frame when Kuroda walked, was advanced to second as Schwab grounded out and scored on Walsh's single. Taylor socked one just inside first base sack for three bases and was sacrificed home by Vanderburgh for the first three runs.

Peachland got one of those back in the sixth when Verne Cousins singled, went to third on Duquemin's double and came across when Walsh threw wide of home plate.

Summary: Stolen bases, Taylor, Brawner; sacrifice hits, Schwab 2, Vanderburgh; two-base hits, Naka, Flintoff; three-base hits, Schwab, Taylor; bases on balls, off Coffey 1, off Clements 2; struck out, by Coffey 1, by Clements 6; double play, Taylor to Vanderburgh; hit by pitcher, Coffey by Clements, Fulks by Coffey; umpires, McCargar and Bradley.

With two down in the last of the sixth the ball game was won, five runs crossing over for the Merchants. Schwab cleaned up the inning with a beautiful triple between left and centre which was nearly labelled for a complete circuit.

Clements added Peachland's second tally of the game in the eighth and nearly added another but for George Taylor's fine whip in from centrefield to the plate. Summerland came back with four more in the eighth to bring the count to 13-2.

Four hits in a row in the ninth scored three Peachland runs, but the rally was choked off with a doubleplay from Taylor to Vanderburgh.

Verne and Dan Cousins were threats with the hickory while Flintoff had the best average. Kuroda, Schwab and Vanderburgh fattened their averages. Dan Cousins, however, committed three costly errors at second.

With three more Sundays left in the regular league play, three teams are tied for second place with Princeton out in front. Peachland, Summerland and Rutland have won three and lost three of their six encounters. Next Sunday Summerland Merchants have a bye while Peachland plays at Rutland Adanacs and Copper Mountain goes to Princeton.

Benefit Game For Jacobs Is Arranged

Penticton Skaha Lake Chiefs, at their own suggestion, are coming to the Living Memorial athletic park next Wednesday, June 29, to play a benefit game for Gil Jacobs, Summerland Red Sox star hurler, who was the victim of an unusual accident last Friday.

Jacobs was assisting in spraying operations that day when the nozzle of the spray gun flew back and hit the young ball player and scholarship winner squarely on the nose.

Jacobs' nose was badly shattered by the force of the blow and he was removed to hospital. Fortunately, no damage to his eyes was reported.

On Sunday, the Skaha Lake boys volunteered to come to Summerland and play a benefit game for Jacobs, as the young athletic star will be unable to work or play for a couple of weeks, at least, it is reported.

All receipts from the game will go to Jacobs, the clubs assuming all expenses.

This Sunday, the Red Sox entertain Naramata at the athletic park, while a change in schedule has been arranged so that the rained-out game here between the Red Sox and the Penticton Pirates will be played on July 10.

No league games will be played by any junior teams on July 3, play being resumed the following Sunday.

Summerland Merchants have a bye this Sunday and entertain Copper Mountain on July 3, going to Copper Mountain on July 10 for the final game in the league schedule.

Pirates Trim Red Sox by 15-8 Score

After spotting Summerland Red Sox eight runs in the first two and a half innings Penticton Pirates lambasted three Red Sox hurlers for a total of 15 runs to win a junior league contest at the Penticton park last Sunday.

This victory places the Pirates in a tie with the Skaha Lake Chiefs, for first place with Summerland occupying second spot.

Jack Dunham stayed on the mound for four and one-third innings when Campbell's triple decided the Red Sox management that a change was needed. Alan Gould went in and completed that frame but was also hit soundly and he was replaced by Ernie Jomori, who completed the contest.

The Red Sox got eight runs off Ball, Pirates' first hurler, but Campbell went in in the fourth and held the visitors scoreless for the balance of the contest.

It was the pitching which decided the game as the Pirates chalked up an even twenty bingles off the three Red Sox hurlers, although errors at critical moments played a part in the total result.

It was the fifth frame which decided affairs. The Red Sox still held an 8-5 advantage but Campbell's triple brought the count to 8-7, scoring Berdine and Fraser. Johnson's single scored Campbell to even the count, and before Francis Gould and Ernie Jomori combined for a double play to retire the side the Pirates were out in front 11-8 and the ball game was practically over.

Baker and Berdine were the Pirates' strong men with the hickory, apart from Pitcher Campbell, who had a perfect day with a triple, two singles and a walk in four trips.

Francis Gould, Nesbitt, Dunham and Cristante were the only Red Sox batters who managed to collect two bingles apiece.

Free Swim Classes to Start Here on July 6

After a lapse of a year due to the high water of 1948, the free swim classes sponsored by the Summerland Board of Trade will commence on Wednesday, July 6, Mr. Cece Wade, chairman of the committee, announces this week.

It is expected that more than 200 youngsters from 6 to 15 years will be given instruction in water safety rudiments during the two summer months of July and August.

Registration forms have gone to every householder through the mail this week and the committee is urging all persons to fill in these forms and hand them in to the Family Shoe Store or Lakeside Inn by tomorrow, June 24.

Mr. Mel Ducommun is in charge of the registration of youngsters and points out that it is imperative that the number of prospective pupils is known well in advance so that proper arrangements may be made for transportation.

School buses are being used to transport the pupils to Powell Beach where the classes will be held every Wednesday afternoon. Two sets of classes will be held each afternoon, and each pupil will receive eight instructional periods lasting an hour each.

Mr. Don Johnston, well-known Summerland man, and a student at UBC has consented to take complete charge of the swim instruction. He has qualified as a Red Cross instructor on previous occasions and will go to Kelowna next week to receive further instruction at a special Red Cross instructors' class which is operating for four days.

Mr. Johnston will be in charge of all instructors who will handle the large classes expected to attend. After the eight lessons have been completed.

different parts of the country. "He doesn't know where he is heading," declared the speaker.

Mr. Drew is now claiming he will allow "equal pay for equal work", but when the CCF in Ontario proposed this plan the Drew government of that day refused to accept the policy.

laid claim to a strip of Labrador and still wanted to force the issue. The Pro Cons are using a "smear" campaign, Mr. Jones continued, eluding to attacks on the Saskatchewan government and the provincial CCF action in turning down the Atlantic Pact plan.

"The issue is quite clear," Mr. Jones emphasized. "Is Canada to go ahead progressively with the rest of the world or will she stand still or go reactionary?"

"Why do we still have poverty and insecurity in Canada which is the wealthiest country per capita in the world?" he questioned. "We are too stupid to change our economy to meet the needs for this security... a security based on human needs and welfare."

He blamed the competitive system in international trade as the cause of war, unrest and bad housing. He claimed that present day economy is based on an economy 200 to 300 years old and belongs in the days of candles and the horse and buggy. The CCF are crusaders in a new age, he stated.

Swing to Left "The world is going deliberately and in some parts has definitely gone left," he continued. "We in Canada are moving slowly in that direction." He stated the influence of the U.S. is a big factor in deferring more rapid movement towards socialism.

"Why was the election date changed from October to June?" he queried, answering with the belief that the Liberals saw a little cracking in the economic system in the east. Exports had dropped thirty percent in the first three months, and unemployment showed a sharp rise.

Turning then to the Liberal party, he declared that the best the government could guarantee was extra employment for 35,000 men whereas there were more than that number unemployed last winter in the city of Vancouver alone.

And these figures do not include those in the age class of 45 to 70, who are now termed as unemployables, he added.

"We are facing a crackup unless we do something quickly," Mr. Jones flatly declared. He labelled social services as an open admission of the breakdown of the capitalist system.

The cry of Communism within the CCF ranks Mr. Jones termed a "bunch of hooey to scare the people". "The Russian type of Communism to my mind is not Communism at all."

"We are the only political party which takes precautions to see that Communists are not members."

He quoted a U.S. congress committee on Marshall Aid as stating that the only bulwark in Europe against the advance of Communism is the democratic socialist parties.

"In Yale the Tories infiltrated into the Liberal party just like the Communists and disrupted that Liberal party," he accused.

Returning to George Drew, he quoted that leader as advocating the return of Section 98 of the criminal code which would allow arrest without a charge and entering without a warrant. He classed that section a negation of democracy, the kind of law Hitler and Mussolini would have evoked.

He then asked his audience how many had read the Atlantic Pact right through. Not a hand was raised. He claimed this was the same result as experienced wherever he had asked the question.

The Atlantic Pact should never have been an issue in this election, he claimed, as every member of the CCF, Conservative and Liberal parties in the House voted for it. But George Drew had expressed a doubt about the efficiency of any pact, looking back to the Locarno pact and others which had a similar fate.

"Some of our CCF members in Vancouver had the same doubt about pacts because of their history," he declared in defence of the vote against the pact registered by the CCF provincial convention.

"Two weeks later the United church divided in the same way," he continued and the Tories in Quebec went the same way, and the Liberals in Quebec were easily embarrassed.

"There is no stone which can be thrown at the CCF which cannot be thrown at the other parties," he contended.

Old Age Pension Turning to old age pensions, Mr. Jones declared that although a $10 raise was promised from March 31, the allowed total income of pensioners was not altered and he has not found one pensioner who has received the extra $10 per month promised.

He termed the means test the "meanest test" and advocated again its abolition. He declared that the Liberals should not have allowed so much reduction in the higher income brackets and the excess profits tax and should have applied the difference to adequate old age pensions at 65 without any means test.

Arthritis patients should be brought under a sound pension scheme instead of depending on charity, he claimed.

"By continuing the means test we are penalizing thrift," he maintained as he brought his talk to a close. There was little interest shown in the question period and Chairman Herb Lemke soon brought the meeting to a close.

Plan to Purchase College Gym as Youth Centre May Proceed Soon

Appointment of a committee of ten to decide on the purchase of the old college gymnasium on Giant's Head road, at a cost of $3,500, and to institute a canvass to raise $6,000, if deemed advisable, for the purpose of acquiring this old building and renovating it as a youth centre was reached by a public meeting attended by some sixty local residents interested in the promotion of a central meeting place for the young people.

This meeting was conducted under the chairmanship of Dr. D. V. Fisher, local Scoutmaster, at the IOOF hall on Tuesday evening. Mrs. K. McIntosh, local Girl Guide leader, was secretary.

Those organizations which would benefit most from the purchase and renovation plans would be the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Brownies, Cubs and Teen Town, it was proposed. By providing this building, a permanent home for these young people could be obtained.

One of the main points debated was the means of raising the original purchase price and financing the yearly maintenance costs.

The original plan of a limited liability company issuing shares at three percent interest did not find favor with the meeting, majority favoring straight donations to eliminate the yearly interest burden.

Tuesday's meeting was called by Dr. D. V. Fisher, chairman of an inter-group building committee consisting of Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Mrs. K. H. McIntosh, Mrs. James Marshall, Gordon Beggs, Dr. H. R. McLarty, J. R. Butler, A. D. Coggan, E. F. Smith and Joe McLachlan.

It was stated at the outset that the old "college gym", built in 1910, can be purchased from the present owner for $3,500 and renovations were listed at $2,500 for a total of $6,000 necessary capital outlay.

The building is in excellent condition, Dr. Fisher reported, and with the renovations could not be erected today for under $20,000. To build a new hall which would meet the requirements of the youth organizations concerned would cost $18,000, it was estimated.

The old gym has a floor space of 49 by 63, plus a stage, two big rooms under the main floor, a furnace room and one smaller room upstairs. Plumbing and wiring fixtures are already installed.

Included in the renovation cost is an amount of $750 for a new furnace.

Suggest Share Basis Original suggestion of the inter-group committee was to form a limited liability company with an authorized capital of $10,000, selling shares bearing three percent interest at 3 percent. These shares would not be redeemable, and would require an interest outlay of $180 yearly.

Dr. Fisher declared that yearly maintenance costs, including interest had been calculated at $661. He believed that maintenance costs could be raised in approximately this manner: Boy Scouts, $150; public rentals, a minimum of $100; Girl Guides, $75; council grant, $100; parents of youths in these organizations, $2 per family, or $250; total $675.

First objection to this scheme was raised by Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh president of the Girl Guide Association, who favored a donation basis to raise the $6,000 purchase and renovation price.

Mrs. Vanderburgh, Dr. Fisher, Mrs. McIntosh and Mel Ducommun, Teen Town adviser, informed the meeting that the organizations they represent certainly need a permanent home and were entirely in favor of some plan whereby a youth centre could be created.

As discussion ensued, R. S. Oxley stressed the necessity of a youth hall now and its increasing need as this community grows in the future.

A. E. Smith plumped for the share basis, as he considered charitable donations had gone as far as they can at present. He believed that in time the groups involved could buy back the shares and eventually own the building themselves. The value of the building would serve as a tangible asset against the shares issued.

It was suggested by Councillor H. L. Wilson that, until the hall is on a sound financial basis, it could raise a good deal of revenue from dances and other forms of rentals.

D. L. Sanborn took exception to such a suggestion, stating that the youth centre should be confined to youth activities and should be put on this basis from the start and not have to depend on such revenues.

Mrs. Vanderburgh declared that

Big Money Bylaws Likely to Come Soon

Indications of money by-laws to come were given by Acting Reeve C. E. Bentley at Tuesday night's public meeting discussing the proposed youth centre.

The new proposed senior-junior high school will probably cost $400,000, he declared, half of which would have to be raised locally.

The new municipal hall is being proposed this year, but no mention was made as to likely expenditure.

Third money bylaw is for domestic water extension, and if pipe is available, the by-law will probably be presented for a figure of about $25,000.

Australian Grower Inspects Valley

Interesting and very interested visitors to Summerland last week were Mr. Tutton and his son, Brian, who were on their way from their home in Australia to England. "Down under" Mr. Tutton has 140 acres of apples.

In Summerland he visited at the home of Mrs. C. J. Amm, inspecting packing-houses and orchards in the valley and studying methods.

On their return in the fall they hope to come in again to see the industry at the height of its activity.

The apples which Mr. Tutton grows are marketed in England to a great extent where the currency presents no problem.

LISTS PUBLISHED NEXT WEEK

As The Review is publishing on Wednesday this week, the elementary school promotion lists cannot be included until next week's issue. Principal S. A. MacDonald did not wish to disclose the lists prior to the closing exercises taking place Thursday morning.

ELECTED IN YALE

O. L. Jones

O. L. Jones, CCF Member Returned in Yale as Liberals Sweep Canada

In the face of a sweeping Liberal landslide throughout Canada, O. L. Jones, CCF member for Yale, retained his seat in the House of Commons on Monday in a hot election race which saw Mayor T. R. B. Adams of Vernon, Progressive Conservative candidate as his closest opponent.

O. L. Jones polled 10,151 votes, while Mayor Adams had a total of 7,851. C. J. McDowell, Liberal candidate, received 3,987 ballots while J. A. Reid, the Social Credit candidate, polled 844 votes.

There was a considerable drop in voting power in this election compared with the by-election in May, 1948, when Mr. Jones was first elected. Figures for that by-election were as follows:

O. L. Jones, CCF, 12,838; W. A. C. Bennett, Progressive Conservative, 7,933; E. J. Chambers, Liberal, 7,495; spoiled 149; total, 28,435.

In Summerland, Mayor Adams received a small majority over Mr. Jones. His plurality was 85, total votes being as follows: Mayor Adams, 772; O. L. Jones, 687; C. J. McDowell, 190; J. A. Reid, 60; rejected, 8; total 1549.

Last by-election, O. L. Jones had a small lead in Summerland; the figures being: Progressive Conservative, 587; CCF, 603; Liberal, 343; rejected, 16; total 1549.

Contrary to the rest of Yale, Summerland showed greater interest in last Monday's election and 168 more voters cast their ballots.

The total possible vote in Summerland was 2,205, while throughout the riding 41,235 persons could have voted. A year ago 38,389 persons could have voted.

Throughout most of the day voting was slow in the two polling halls, IOOF hall in West Summerland and the Lakeside United church basement, lower town. There were three polling stations in lower town and seven, including one split poll, in the IOOF hall.

The last two hours, however, showed a great upsurge of interest and the polling officials were hard pressed to keep up with the steady rush of voters to the polls. There were a number of persons not on the list who took declarations as to residence here and were allowed to cast their ballots.

In the seven polling stations in West Summerland, Mayor Adams had an edge of 66 votes over O. L. Jones. In the three lower town votes, the Vernon chief magistrate held a 19 advantage, making up the total of 85. Mr. Adams received a clear advantage over Mr. Jones in Penticton and carried Peachland, Naramata, Kaleden and Oliver, as well.

In his home town of Vernon he also received a majority of support over the elected member and his fellow townsman C. J. McDowell, Liberal candidate, who operates a garage business there.

Other parts of the North Okanagan, however, went heavily for the CCF candidate, as did the Similkameen in its entirety and most of the Grand Forks-Greenwood district.

Joseph Buczko Dies in Local Hospital from Burns; Found Naked Before Burning Shack

Accidental death due to burns, of an unknown origin was the verdict returned by the six-man coroner's jury enquiring on Monday afternoon into the death on Saturday of Joseph Buczko, a Canadian Army veteran of World War 11 and a man alleged to be 49 years of age.

Buczko was discovered outside his smoking shack on the Sargeant subdivision about 6:30 o'clock Saturday morning, June 25, was rushed to Summerland hospital where he died just before midnight that night.

Although it could not be discovered how his death occurred, it is believed he was smoking in bed, fell asleep and the bedding caught on fire. Nothing but a few twisted charred remains were left of his bed, while the floor under the bed was burned through and the plasterboard on the walls nearby was severely charred.

Only a few scattered remnants of deceased's clothes could be found, he being stark naked when discovered.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Mary Buczko, who resides in New Westminster, he leaves three daughters, Margaret Annie, Clara Elizabeth and Kathleen Susan, all resident in New Westminster and Mission.

Funeral service was conducted Wednesday afternoon by the Canadian Legion Summerland branch from St. Stephen's Anglican church at 2 o'clock.

Ernest Dietrich told the coroner's jury, conducted by Coroner Dr. F. W. Andrew on Monday afternoon, that his wife had first been attracted by the smoke pouring from Buczko's shack. He ran to investigate and then took a hose and extinguished the fire. While doing this, Buczko was sitting on what appeared to be a log outside the shack but did not appear to know what had happened.

John St. Denis, another neighbor, rushed to the scene and was the first to notice that Buczko was badly burned. He arranged for a taxi to rush the suffering man to the hospital.

Roy Kuroda was also awakened by the excitement and told of Buczko standing outside his shack, from which smoke was issuing, while nearby the man wore the charred remnants of his underwear.

Constable I. G. Thorsteinson described the shack to the jury, stating that it is about 12 by 18, situated on the outside and lined with plasterboard. It contains two rooms, but the only damage from fire was in the vicinity of the bed. The stove had not been lit, he said.

It was elicited from witnesses that the deceased smoked a great deal and had seemed to be quite feeble lately.

Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh declared that Buczko was suffering from second, third and fourth degree burns on his buttocks, back, neck, head, both arms and hands, with a smaller burn on his ankle. Death was reported to him at 11:45 o'clock Saturday evening.

Terrific Headaches

The late Mr. Buczko had been a patient of the witness on previous occasions, when he complained of terrific headaches and a general weakness which made it impossible for him to work. Deceased was mentally slow and was suffering from a vague general nervous system complaint, Dr. Vanderburgh declared, although he had never made a diagnosis of the man's condition from this standpoint.

Cause of death was from shock, due to severe burns and absorption of destroyed tissue and lack of body fluids, Dr. Vanderburgh explained.

Members of the jury were E. C. Bingham, foreman, Harry James Penketh, Ross McLachlan, Maitland Korsev, George Henry and Philip LeBrun.

Little Cherry Splitting Here

There is only a minimum of cherry splitting in the Summerland district despite the rains of the past few days, Alex Watt reports.

He made this observation from investigations made up to Tuesday afternoon. The heavy rain on Tuesday was accompanied by some light hail, but this was mostly confined to the West Summerland business area and immediate surroundings.

Early cherry picking has been proceeding for more than a week and growers are starting on their Bing picking now.

There is a big cherry crop in this district and if the rainy weather abates now without more moisture a good crop should be harvested, it is thought.

Progress on West Kootenay Power Line from Penticton is Reported

Councillor F. E. Atkinson reported progress on the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. high tension line into West Summerland at Tuesday's council session but declared he could not obtain any definite date when the new connection will be made.

He declared that Mr. J. D. McMynn, West Kootenay Penticton manager, reported that all holes are dug and the new poles are in readiness.

Work of raising the poles has commenced from the Penticton end, the crossbars can be installed and the wire strung. However, the necessary insulators are not available yet.

As soon as the poles and cross-arms are in place, the new wire will be strung. This will necessitate shut-downs in electrical service here for about two and a half hours daily between dawn and 7:30 a.m., Councillor Atkinson declared.

This operation will continue for about two weeks but will be the only major shutdown required.

When the insulators arrive they can be installed without any break in service, the council heard.

In the meantime, the new substation in West Summerland has been commenced and it is expected will keep pace with the work of bringing the new 60,000 volt line into this district.

Although no time for completion could be given, it was stated that the power shut-downs would occur in July before the main cold storage operations are commenced.

Canada Is Satisfied

THE great voice of the people has been heard and it has been overwhelmingly Liberal. Prime Minister St. Laurent has gone back to Parliament Hill with the biggest majority in the history of Canadian politics.

It had been generally conceded that St. Laurent would form the new government, but no political observer that we have read or heard ever for a moment dreamed that the country would turn down the Drew-led Progressive Conservative party so forcefully.

Col. George Drew fought extremely hard but to most persons he carried the fight to an extreme. Therein, he made enemies where there was no need. If Drew had confined his criticisms to the major issues and had conceded the smaller points with good grace he would have captured the public fancy to a far greater degree.

But the Conservatives have one small measure of consolation. They were not alone in their defeat. The country decided it did not want George Drew and the Progressive Conservatives at this time but it also showed overwhelmingly that it does not favor a swing to the socialist extreme left.

M. J. Coldwell's supporters in Ottawa have dwindled to a mere handful, half the CCF strength in the last parliament. The Coalition victory in B.C. was a clear indication that the country is swinging away from the socialist theory. The Liberal victory throughout Canada gives another clear indication that the people of Canada are not ready for any change in political administration. They do not want any change.

Here in Yale, it was proved for the second time in thirteen months that a CCF candidate is invincible in other than a two-way battle.

The CCF plurality was cut considerably, mainly because of the doubtful qualifications as a Liberal of Mr. McDowell. This Vernon garageman was nominated by a Liberal convention called by an executive which has since ceased to function. He was not recognized by the St. Laurent government leaders who have swept back into power. But even at that more than four thousand persons, the bulk of whom had no opportunity to know Mr. McDowell other than by name, cast their ballot in his favor.

Such is the incongruity of the voter, and the element of doubt which makes an election such an exciting event.

O. L. Jones can consider his victory a personal triumph. He has been a popular member with the rank and file and despite the swing of the rest of the country he kept Yale, formerly a traditional Conservative stronghold, within the ranks of the CCF party, which is losing face in most parts of Canada—even in Saskatchewan, which was considered their stronghold.

In perusing the unofficial returns, it is interesting to note how the various sections of Yale riding were divided. From Peachland south to the border, the swing was definitely to Adams, Progressive Conservative. He carried Peachland, Summerland, Naramata, Penticton, Kaleden and Oliver, while Osoyoos, once a veritable CCF stronghold, only gave Mr. Jones a small edge.

The Similkameen gave the CCF a majority in nearly all instances while the Grand Forks-Greenwood section, although there were some Adams majorities, gave the CCF an overall victory.

Kelowna was the dividing ground. It was to be expected that Mr. Jones would gain a large vote in his home city, but the big vote accorded Mr. McDowell, which the Adams' supporters were hoping would swing to their ranks, was a deciding factor in the final result.

Vernon gave Mr. Adams an expected lift, but the rest of the North Okanagan went strongly for Mr. Jones and his CCF party.

This vote plainly shows that apart from his home town of Kelowna, Mr. Jones was elected to Yale by other than the main body of the fruit-growers' vote. It was in the settlements where fruit growing is not so paramount, with a few exceptions of course, that the CCF piled up an impressive total.

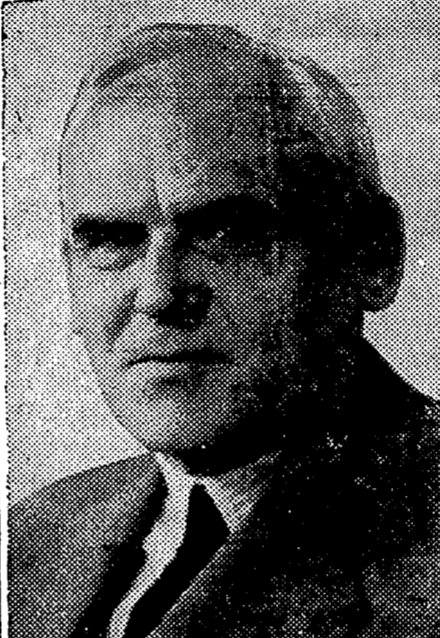

This would seem to lend weight to the argument advanced by quite a large section of the population that Yale should be redistributed, so that the main part of the Okanagan, which has a common cause to espouse, can vote as a group and send their representative to parliament without thought of subsidiary interior districts which have problems foreign to this main fruit growing belt.

It is quite apparent that the miner in the Similkameen has a different viewpoint to the fruit grower of the South Okanagan, and the mixed farmer in the North Okanagan does not agree with the fruit grower in the South Okanagan.

No more work on capital account irrigation system extension can be undertaken until a further money bylaw is voted. The concrete ditch on the north main cost $1.97 per lineal foot, according to a preliminary report by Engineer Fawkes. From 2,500 to 4,000 feet of concrete lining will be needed to complete the north main, the longer length if all the wooden flume possible is replaced with permanent work. The full amount of $35,000 voted by bylaw last fall has been expended and a considerable portion of current revenues diverted for the same purpose.

Mr. E. B. May was the recipient of a heavy sterling silver plate beautifully engraved when friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hespeler prior to the Bank of Montreal manager's departure for Vancouver. Mrs. May was the recipient of two presentations, one from St. Stephen's W.A. and the other representing several women's organizations in the community.

A fifteen percent increase in salaries is being sought by teachers of the Okanagan. The need for more accommodation was made evident when it was pointed out that the central school has four rooms while there are pupils for six rooms.

Formation of a selling organization, the United Seed Growers Ltd., was advocated by a convention of B.C. seed growers in Penticton. W. C. Kelley of Summerland is one of the provisional directors of the new organization.

Dr. R. C. Lipsett is the new president of the Summerland Hospital Society, replacing W. J. Robinson. Mr. E. B. May's post as treasurer has been filled by Mr. O. F. Zimmerman.

Institution of a mail run over the Kettle Valley Railway, now that daily trips are being made over that route, is believed to be started soon.

Pte. Bedford Tingley arrived Thursday evening and was welcomed at the wharf by a number of friends.

The Summerland hospital is calling for tenders for the erection of an isolation building.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Williams have returned from Kerrobert, Sask., to make their home again in Summerland.

Two more returned men, Howell Harris and Ernest Lister, arrived here this week.

Summerland growers received $400,000 for their 1923 fruit crop, a much healthier condition than prevailed in the 1922 crop year.

If voluntary help can be obtained, a bathing house will be erected on the shore in Peach Orchard for use of campers in the tourist park, as well as local residents.

Voting strength in South Okanagan shows Summerland with 332 and West Summerland with 591. Total votes in the riding are 4,646.

Tennis players who played several matches in Penticton last Saturday included Mrs. Hookham, Misses Cartwright, Pope and Joan Cordy and Messrs. Faulder, Dodwell, Theed, Fosbery, Coode and Russel.

Fred Baker has been appointed foreman of the Naramata Co-op and has moved his family to that centre to reside.

One thousand persons from many distant parts gathered here on Saturday, June 14 for a monster picnic arranged by the Farmers Institute, the Women's Institute and the staff of the experimental station.

With a proposed capital of one million dollars, a company to establish a chain of tourist hotels throughout the Okanagan is being proposed by J. M. Robinson.

Officers of the Summerland GWVA tennis club are as follows: President, Mrs. J. Lawler; vice-president, Dr. J. R. Graham; secretary-treasurer, G. Y. L. Crossley; committee, H. C. Howis, H. C. Miller, Roy Siddall.

Signifying Nothing

By RUSTICUS

School's out!

Yesterday was the last full day of lessons, today is the wind-up; you can see it in the happy face of any youngsters — or the sad one of any teacher? Two whole months of no lessons to work at for either of them, lucky beggars.

Especially lucky the youngsters who live here, with all the fruit they want to eat, a grand lake for swimming, hills to hike over, scenery worth sitting and looking at by the hour—unless you happen to sit on a cactus—and plenty of opportunities to earn money if their tastes run that way.

Yet I wonder will they appreciate their vacations a bit more than I did, a half-century or so ago, when I was their age? We had no fruit but wild berries, or the very rarely-purchased boxes shipped in from the far-away Okanagan and doled out like gold; I still remember the name "Stirling & Pitcairn" stamped on every box. No lake handy either; but for one or two precious weeks each summer we used to go to some resort and rent a cottage there.

Wonderful to live for those two weeks right beside a large body of water, to see the lake in all its moods—calm, stormy, smiling, romantically silvered by the moon. To go swimming—we couldn't swim, of course, not being used to water, but we would go in and splash around and try.

And the men would have to pull down the tops of their two-piece bathing suits every time they stood up, to keep from rudely exposing their midriffs. They didn't need to pull their trunks in any direction because they covered them from hips to knees.

A really daring ladies' bathing suit exposed a lot less lady than present street wear, including as it did shoes, stockings, skirt, blouse and —er, bloomers. Seems to me there was a frilly cap too. If any damsel so clad should step into deep water by mistake, there was enough air inside one of those voluminous costumes to hold her up for minutes.

Even the meals were special at

The Lake. We had canned milk then, the only time of the year; Gold Seal sweetened condensed. Grand stuff to spread on bread, or to suck out of the can when nobody was looking. Mother didn't approve of this, but when Father was there for a weekend he would make the milk run very fast out of one of the two little holes in the can by parting his whiskers and unsanitarily blowing into the other.

There were other unusual foods, too; canned meats so that Mother wouldn't have to fuss much about getting meals, and jars of mustard pickles, and cookies from the store instead of home-made ones. Usually there was a bottle of raspberry vinegar, or lime-juice to mix with water, and we thrilled to these strange exotic drinks. Nearly every day, too, there would be a nickel apiece for an ice-cream cone—something we rarely got at home.

Even today the smell of burning gasoline or coal oil will still flash me back to The Lake in early morning, with Mother up lighting the camp stove and everything very still except the rustling of leaves on the trees close outside and the high-pitched chuckling calls that crows there always mingled with their regular caws.

I'd wake up to that smell and those noises, and the sight of a strange room of rough unpainted boards with initials carved in them, and grey paper wasp nests up under the roof, and the thought of The Lake out there, glassy calm in the early morning, waiting for me. So many nice things to think of that I wanted to stay there indefinitely just thinking of them.

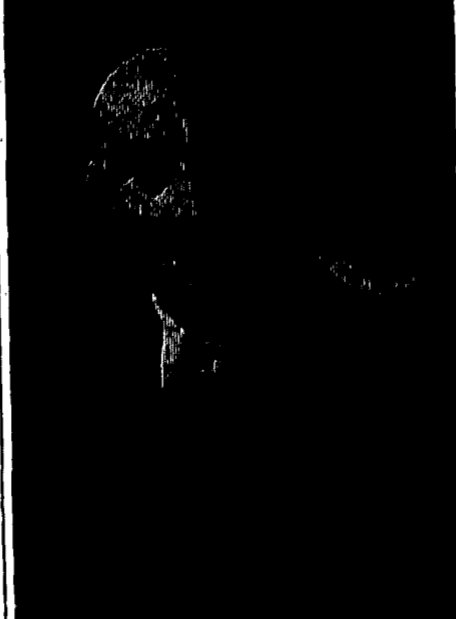

Yet I was eager to get up to see what the day would bring, too. Walks along the beach, or searches in the woods for wild berries, perhaps a trip to the store, or a boat ride; occasionally, when Father came, the delight of a fishing trip. Sometimes we even caught some fish. And it was all so different from life at home; above all, so different from school.

Wonder if Okanagan youngsters, with free swimming lessons, the lake and fishing and fruit so handy they are commonplace, and with today's comparative wealth of spending money, will have any happier memories of their vacations than I still have of mine?

Want Full-Time Doctor to Take Charge of Indians in District

At a meeting of the Okanagan Valley Health Unit held at the municipal hall, Penticton, last Wednesday, June 22, it was decided to write to the Indian agent, Mr. Hett, to suggest that a full-time doctor be obtained to take care of Indians in the southern Okanagan.

In this area there are three reservations, and it is recognized that more attention should be given to these people than they are getting at the present time.

At Westbank, Indian children are attending the schools, and although Indian affairs come under the national department of health the South Okanagan Health Unit stepped into the situation on April 1, and started to attack the problem of preventing disease wherever possible.

This movement has been ratified by the Dominion authorities since that time.

It is appreciated that the staff of the health unit already has more work than can be done by those in charge, and the services of a qualified doctor who could give complete service in prevention and treatment would be of great value, the meeting thought.

At Nanaimo, the government has established an Indian hospital, and there is personnel to attend to the wants of these people.

Indians do not come under the provincial TB X-ray service, and it is known that there are cases of active tuberculosis among their numbers who are not isolated nor restricted in their movements. This is only one instance of the necessity of having someone in charge of, and entirely responsible for, Indian health affairs "on the spot", it was claimed.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh attended this session from Summerland.

Passing of Percy French Shocks Valley

One of the most respected leaders in the fruit industry of the Interior of B.C., and a member of the B.C. Fruit Board since 1939, Percy E. French died in the Vernon Jubilee hospital on Wednesday, June 22, from a heart condition.

Mr. French was a brother of Mrs. George Gartrell of Summerland and had lived in Vernon for 57 years. Born in Winnipeg, Percy moved with the French family to Vernon in 1891. Of the original seven sons of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. French only three survive. They are George at Oliver, Frank at Hedley and Samuel in the Old Country. Predeceasing Mr. French were Brothers Stanley, Thomas and Jack.

He is also survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters. Richard French is at Broadview and Dr. William French has been studying at Toronto; Mrs. Waring Kennedy resides in Seattle and Mrs. T. S. Hughes at Rutland. Another sister, Mrs. C. M. Crawshaw resides in Vancouver.

In 1911 the late Percy French graduated from the Ontario College of Agriculture and joined the B.C. agricultural department as a horticulturist. However, he soon took over the furthering of his own ranch which he had started to develop prior to entering college.

A number of years ago he was named a "master farmer of B.C." in token of his services in agriculture.

In early days he was one of Vernon's foremost athletes, starting in field lacrosse and hockey circles. Besides fruit growing, Percy French was noted as a breeder of purebred, prize-winning Shorthorn cattle.

Music Students Plan Recitals

Last Saturday, members of the Summerland girls' choir were heard over Radio Station CKOK, Penticton, in a half-hour recital from the Legion hall, Penticton.

As the past season has been so busy, the music students are planning recitals in the fall and a program will be mapped out to provide a choir recital jointly with senior piano pupils sometime in October and November.

Members of the girls' choir are as follows: M. Heavysides, R. Harrison, June and Joan Hong, Shirley and Joyce Schumann, Bette and Barbara McClure, C. Shriner, Vera and Jean Miller, M. Turigan, L. Walton, M. Settle, J. McDonald, D. Fleming, E. Brandstrup, Joyce and Sharon Dowds, L. Deringer, E. Washington, M. Prior, M. Willeman, C. Raincock, M. Harbicht, J. Dickinson, Shirley Gardiner.

ers' co-operative movement, he was president of the Vernon Fruit Union and a director and vice-president of the Associated Growers of B.C.

Last month he had been re-elected to the post of B.C. Fruit Board member, a position he held continuously from 1939. He took a leading part in the struggle which ensued in this valley culminating in the start of the growers' sales agency, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

He was also the immediate past president of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and had served on several occasions as delegate to the Canadian Federation conventions.

Son of George Barclay, Pioneer Summerland Settler, Visitor

An interesting visitor to this district met several old-timers of Summerland last Thursday and made himself acquainted with old landmarks.

He was R. N. Barclay, who farms in the North Thompson area. But what made his visit to Summerland most interesting is that he is the son of the late George Barclay, one of the original pioneers of this district and the man who built the first home in what is now known as West Summerland district.

Mr. R. N. Barclay was only three years old when his parents left Summerland for cattle ranching in the Ashcroft area. The late Mr. Barclay Sr. drove his herd of cattle the entire route from Summerland to Ashcroft, his son recalls, although he was too young actually to remember details.

The duplex on the Station road just south of the West Summerland business district and now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Sladen and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong, was the first residence erected in the entire West Summerland area.

It was taken over by the late James Ritchie and Mrs. Ritchie and was considerably enlarged, another complete house being moved to the location and added to the original dwelling.

In latter years, this house was purchased by Mr. Walter M. Wright, who sold to Mr. Len Hill. Present owner is Councillor F. E. Atkinson.

Recognized House

Mr. Barclay recognized the house immediately from old pictures which are in his possession. However, there have been many alterations since the Barclay family resided on the hill overlooking Jones Flat and the upper Peach Orchard area, in the shadow of Giant's Head.

Mr. Barclay was accompanied to Summerland by Mr. Mattock, a pioneer in the seed growing business who, on retirement after thirty years in the industry, received a medal of merit from the Canadian seed growers' association.

Barclay History

Dr. F. W. Andrew, in "The Story of Summerland," has this to say about the pioneer, whose son was a visitor here last Thursday for the first time since he was three years old:

"George N. Barclay, whose father was a member of the English banking firm of that name, arrived here in 1890 with plans to establish a ranch. He bought the collective Lloyd-Jones holdings for $25,000, a large sum in those days.

(David Lloyd-Jones came to the Okanagan in 1880 and married one of the daughters of the late James Gartrell, first man to plant a commercial orchard in the Okanagan, moving to Kelowna where he resided until his death a short time ago.)

"He, (Barclay) moved the (Lloyd-Jones) ranchhouse and some apple trees to a site on Prairie Creek at the foot of Giant's Head, where James Ritchie later made his home.

"Besides raising cattle and horses, Barclay conceived the idea of teaching the business of ranching to young Englishmen—for a fee. His first pupil, in 1891, was E. R. Faulder, a Harrow man. His next pupil was W. R. Deans, also a Harrow man. Other pupils on the Barclay ranch included W. R. Hawtry, C. J. Vaughan, G. H. Moore, A. H. Brown and A. B. Lawrence."

W. C. W. Fosbery worked for the Barclay ranch for a while before taking up a pre-emption.

Partial Laidlaw Passes After 31 Years' Residence

A respected old-time resident of Trout Creek district, Summerland, Partial Laidlaw, passed away at the Summerland hospital on Saturday, June 18, after an illness of some two months.

Born in Aylmer, Ont., March 28, 1876, he spent his early life in Manitoba, marrying Mary Louise Graham at Brandon, Man., and proceeding directly to Humbolt, Sask., where they resided for nine years.

Thirty-one years ago the late Mr. Laidlaw, with his wife and two children moved to Summerland, where he engaged in orchard work.

Surviving are his wife, one son Robert Norris and two daughters, Mrs. Leonard Shannon and Mrs. Eric Tait, and four grandchildren, all resident in Summerland.

Funeral service was held in the Lakeside United church, Summerland, on Monday, June 20, Rev. H. R. Whitmore and Rev. W. S. Angell officiating. Pallbearers were Messrs. C. T. Wilson, A. Rutherford, M. Embree, A. C. Johnson, D. Rutherford and W. Wolton.

Power Commission Sells Electricity To B.C. Electric

The B.C. Power Commission was authorized on Friday by the government to complete an agreement with the B.C. Electric Company Limited to supply power to the latter company at Nanaimo for distribution in the area of operation south of Cowichan Land district, which includes the Greater Victoria area, it was announced by Premier Byron I. Johnson.

The B.C. Electric is to pay $2.23 and one-third cents per kilowatt per month and will take a minimum of 17,500 kilowatts a month under terms of the agreement which goes into effect October 1, 1950.

Under this arrangement the power commission will enjoy a guaranteed revenue of more than $465,000 a year, the premier explained. Further, the commission has agreed to supply up to a minimum of 42,500 kilowatts per month if same is required.

The contract is for 25 years with an option for a 15-year renewal.

the Girl Guides could not possibly pay more rental than $5 per month. E. R. Butler talked in favor of a drive for donations and considered there would be no extreme difficulty in raising the necessary money.

In answer to a query, R. S. Oxley declared it should be possible to have the donations deducted from income tax. He suggested that as much money as possible be raised by donations and if the entire amount is not forthcoming the balance could be raised by mortgage.

J. Y. Towgood questioned stock which could be negotiated and favored the donation plan.

Dr. Cyril Woodbridge favored the formation of a company to manage the building properly.

Miss Joan Appleton queried the annual cost of issuing interest cheques in such small sums.

Quotes Past History

Councillor C. E. Bentley was against interest-bearing shares, in the light of past history of such companies in other communities and considered that a good deal of the renovation work could be carried out by the youths. He warned that chairs and dishes would be needed to equip the hall and no provision had been made in original estimates.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson, who had interjected several suggestions, then asked what amount would be needed to cinch the building purchase and he was informed by Mr. A. E. Smith that an answer could not be forthcoming immediately on that subject.

Mr. N. O. Soily considered that a bylaw through the municipality would be the proper method of financing and although his idea found some support it was not carried by the meeting in the light of other bylaws which are in the offing.

Francis Stewart warned that the Red Cross annual drive only raises $3,000 and he felt a subscription for $6,000 would meet with some difficulty.

When a vote was taken, 22 voted for a donation basis to raise $6,000 and 13 were for a share basis.

Discuss Down Payment

A committee of R. S. Oxley, Councillor F. E. Atkinson and E. R. Butler was then appointed to discuss with Mr. Smith the matter of a down payment and following a short adjournment it was announced that Mr. Smith would accept $1,000 down with the balance payable at 6 percent interest by December 1.

This offer would remain open until the week-end, Mr. Smith advised. Other spokesmen declared that Mr. Smith has other offers for this gym and should not be called upon to hold up the sale for any length of time.

George Washington interjected a new note when he suggested that if the new high school bylaw passes it will include plans for a new school gymnasium and the present school gym might then faith in his ability to represent Yale riding and promised to be a member for all persons, irrespective of political affiliations.

Alleges Misinformation

He added a note of discord, however, when he alluded to "some papers" who had given misleading information to the public on the eve of voting. It is understood that he had reference to a column printed in The Kelowna Courier which was issued on Monday and which referred to a circular issued through the mails in Yale last week-end which made claims as to Mr. Jones' contributions to be turned into the proposed youth centre.

The final upshot of the discussion was that a committee of ten was appointed with authority to decide on what building would be considered most suitable for the proposed youth building; with authority to proceed with the purchase of the old college gym if found most feasible; and with authority to proceed with the raising of the necessary money.

This committee was picked as representing various organizations in the community, as follows: Ross McLachlan, Legion; Joe McLachlan, Rotary; J. Y. Towgood, Kiwanis; Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, school board; E. R. Butler, board of trade; Mrs. F. V. Harrison, Girl Guides; Mel Duggan, junior chamber of commerce; J. R. Butler, AOTS; E. Smith, Boy Scouts; F. E. Atkinson, municipal council.

Councillor Atkinson was later named chairman of the committee and he with Mr. E. R. Butler and Mr. E. F. Smith were appointed a committee to raise the necessary $1,000 down payment if the old college gym was found feasible.

the riding in his year in office. Mayor Adams, in a radio talk following announcement that he had conceded, expressed his "heartfelt congratulations and best wishes for success" to Mr. Jones, the winning candidate.

Throughout Canada, the Liberal party was returned with a total of members never before seen in Ottawa.

The Liberals elected 193 members out of a total of 262 seats, taking 68 in Quebec and 56 in Ontario. The Progressive Conservatives captured 42 seats, the CCF 12, Social Credit 10, Independents 4 and Independent-Liberal 1.

British Columbia

In British Columbia, there are now 11 Liberals, 3 Pro Cons, 3 CCF and one independent.

Howard Green in the new riding of Vancouver-Quadra, E. D. Fulton in Kamloops and Major-General R. F. Peakes in Nanaimo retained their seats for the Progressive Conservatives.

Angus McInnis, Vancouver East, H. W. Herridge, Kootenay West and O. L. Jones, Yale, were the three CCF members who retained their seats.

Liberals gained seats from the CCF in the following ridings: Ralph Campney, Vancouver Centre; G. M. Murray, Cariboo; J. A. Byrne, Kootenay East; and E. T. Applewhite, Skeena.

Liberals gained from the Progressive Conservatives in Vancouver South, where Arthur Laing, well known in the interior holds a slight majority over Mrs. Grace McInnis, CCF; and in Vancouver Burrard, where J. L. McDougall defeated the sitting member, Lt.-Col. Cece Merritt, V.C.

Liberals who retained their seats or won in new ridings are James Sinclair, Coast Capilano; G. A. Cruickshank, Fraser Valley; Tom Reid, New Westminster; Hon. R. W. Mayhew, minister of

Children's Choir Is Entertained

Following their regular practice on Thursday afternoon, June 23, the children's choir of St. Stephen's church, and their leader Mrs. D. Turnbull, were entertained at a party in the rectory gardens by Mrs. J. Y. Towgood. The fourth Sunday in each month a family service is held in St. Stephen's church, and at this service the choir is composed of those children.

Summer Flowers Are Profuse for Peachland Nuptials

The Baptist church at Peachland was decorated with wild syringa, Oregon grape and bouquets of summer flowers for the marriage of Elizabeth Cullen, daughter of Mrs. E. Paetkan, Yarrow, B.C., and Wallace McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McKenzie, Peachland, B.C., on Thursday afternoon, June 23, at four o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. O. Knipfel of West Summerland, pastor of the Peachland church.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Wolite, of Summerland, and was gowned in pink dotted organdy with which she wore a white hat with pink trimming. Her bridal bouquet was of roses.

Attending as bridesmaid was Miss Irene Sundstrom of Peachland who wore a blue taffeta frock, headdress of blue net, and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

The ushers were Mr. Carl Culler, Kelowna, son of the bride, and Mr. Ray Harrington, Peachland.

Mrs. Robert Birch, West Summerland, was at the organ and the soloist was Mr. Daniel Wurgler, Peachland.

A reception for about forty guests followed at the home of the groom's parents, where flowers and bowls of ripe cherries were used as an effective decoration. Mrs. A. J. McKenzie, receiving, wore a grey crepe gown with touches of cerise and flower corsage.

All the lovely bouquets of the bridal party were made at home. On the bride's table were two large bouquets of white peonies, and a three-tier wedding-cake with small pillars separating the layers. On the top were two silver horseshoes.

Rev. D. O. Knipfel proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

At the reception Mrs. Birch had charge of the guest book, and Carl Culler gave musical selections.

The honeymoon will be spent in motoring to Wenatchee, Wash., and other southern points. For going-away the bride wore a blue gabardine suit, white accessories, and corsage of red roses. On their return the couple will make their home at Peachland.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. R. Farrell and family, Powell River; Mr. H. E. McCall, Vernon; Mrs. Hatton, her daughter Lois, Mr. and Mrs. Dorland, Carl and Danny Culler, all of Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred King, Trout Creek, Summerland; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wolite, Summerland; Mrs. Robt. Birch and Rev. and Mrs. D. O. Knipfel, West Summerland.

The larger tea-table from which Mrs. F. V. Harrison, Guide Commissioner for South Okanagan, poured tea was covered with a lace cloth, and in the centre had a silver bowl of beautiful roses. Each small tea-table was centred with a single deep blue clematis and thallitrum. Ten of the older Guides served.

During the afternoon Joyce Schumann, one of the Guides, played instrumental numbers, which were enjoyed.

Everyone was interested to see who would win the draw for the maple leaf quilt made by members of the association. Wilma Pitkington, the youngest Guide present, drew the lucky ticket which was number 885, held by D. Don- esky.

Results from the tea and draw were very encouraging to members of the association.

Canners Consume One-Third Of Industry's Top Quality Soft Fruits, States Bob Grant

Cannery operators, fruit inspectors, sales agency officials and growers gathered at the IOOF hall in Summerland at the invitation of the Okanagan Processors club last Thursday afternoon to participate in a cutting demonstration, which provided an opportunity to discuss uniform requirements in grades and maturity for canning purposes.

Mr. L. J. Kelly, Rowcliffe Cannery, Kelowna, was chairman of the meeting, while the main discussion on grades and maturity was undertaken by F. E. Atkinson, chief of the fruit products laboratory, Summerland.

Mr. Grant then remarked about each fruit in turn, stating that with cherries canners require fruit of a quality and maturity equivalent to that specified for fresh fruit.

Mixed Maturity

In the past, apricots received by the canners have not been entirely satisfactory, he stressed, as there has been too much mixed maturity and the fruit often lacks size.

Mr. Grant referred to the difficulty experienced with some small holders who frequently pick apricots in two pickings when three or four would be needed to provide uniform maturity in the pack. He urged growers to try and keep to only two maturities in a box.

"Do not mix firm cots with ripe ones," he stressed. Okanagan peaches are being sold to both interior and coast canners, Mr. Grant pointed out. He felt that peaches picked four to six days from canning maturity would travel to interior canners easily and would go equally well to coast canners with little danger of bruising or over maturity.

He said, too, that peaches picked for local canners at four to six days from canning maturity could be given other disposition if necessary by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. with less risk of over maturity at destination.

In dealing with pears, Mr. Grant agreed that pricing of canning pears to growers should be on a basis allowing increased price for fruit in better size groups.

Some of the small, immature pears seen at the cutting demonstration that afternoon were not a credit to the B.C. industry. He felt it is possible to produce a tree-ripened prune of good size and high sugar content in any normal season, provided that proper cultural practices are adhered to.

He concluded with a reference to a quotation: "You can't expect a canner to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear." He felt that this applied quite aptly to the local industry.

Bee Behaviour Related to Rotarians by Dr. D. V. Fisher

"Bee Behaviour" was the title for an interesting talk to the Rotary Club of Summerland at the Nu-Way Annex last Friday, Dr. D. V. Fisher, of the experimental station, Summerland, being the speaker. Keen interest in the subject was shown by Rotarians, who plied Dr. Fisher with questions following his talk.

Dr. Fisher's talk was mainly statistical as he related the intense organization of the bees in their activities.

Bees have a range of up to 2 1/2 miles from their hive and can be depended upon to return to the location of their hive every time. However, they are creatures of habit and if the hive entrance is turned around it takes considerable time for the bees to find the new opening location and become accustomed to the change, he observed.

The queen bee starts her production early in the spring and continues until mid-October, producing as many as 4,000 eggs daily, Dr. Fisher explained. A strong hive will contain as many as 75,000 bees at a time.

Housework Chores

New bees are called upon to do the "housework" in the hive and are busy cleaning up and, as they grow older, they gradually acquire a knowledge of the whereabouts of their hive in relation to nearby objects.

After three weeks, they are ready to set out on their life work. Dr. Fisher explained experiments which have proved that bees inform their fellow workers as to the location of new feeding grounds.

It has been proved that bees, when they return from a new source of pollen or nectar go into a type of "dance" in informing the whereabouts of the food.

If the new feeding grounds are located less than 100 yards away, then the bee executes a "round" dance, going in a small circle to give this indication. However, if the location of the nectar is more than 100 yards away the bee executes a "wagtail" dance, which is performed in a type of figure eight.

From observations it has been determined that if the feeding

Junior Forest Wardens Club Commenced Here

Each year a dozen or more senior boys of the elementary school are appointed Junior Forest Wardens, to take part in a movement sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association to help preserve forests. This year the boys formed a Forest Wardens Club, the "Smoke-eaters", with Mr. H. V. Stent as supervisor, and have been holding regular meetings to study forestry, firefighting, and similar subjects.

Six boys took a special course and passed the tests which entitle them to wear the badge of a First Class Warden. These are Donnie Gilbert, Ivan Austin, Laverne Higgs, George Brake, Gary Blagborne and Bert Dodman.

At least one of the boys plans attending the junior wardens' summer camp, and a keen interest is being shown in this forest protection work.

grounds are between 100 and 300 yards away then the bee will make the figure eight-twenty-eight times in a minute. Fewer turns indicate that the distance is much longer.

From the direction the bee is executing its dance, other bees can tell the direction they must fly to find the new feeding grounds.

A bee will work one source of food only, at a time and will average 150 round-trips to the hive daily. They literally wear themselves out in the working season, Dr. Fisher explained.

Next meeting of the Okanagan processors will be held in Vernon, with Bulman's Ltd. being the hosts.

Mr. Bob Grant, an assistant sales manager of B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd., gave the principal address to the processors on Thursday afternoon. Mr. J. B. Lander, sales manager, was to have been present but missed plane connections at Winnipeg and could not attend.

The canner business developed from the old idea of an outlet for second grade and over-ripe fruit, Mr. Grant reminded his listeners, but today it provides an outlet for one-third of the peach, apricot and pear tonnage and slightly less than one-third of the prune crop, all of top quality fruit.

He felt that the canneries should accept fruit which is in a firm ripe condition, provided it is uniformly mature. It is the canner's responsibility to take care of this fruit until it reaches the maturity specified for canning.

Great Interest in Handicrafts Exhibition by Peachland Citizens

(By Mrs. F. E. Wright)

PEACHLAND—The Handicraft Club sponsored an arts and crafts exhibition Friday evening, June 17, in the Legion hall, when many people turned out to show their interest in the work done by the club.

Mr. Mohler, president of the handicraft club, introduced Reeve C. O. Whinton who, with a few remarks, expressed great pleasure in having the opportunity to congratulate the boys and girls on the articles they had made. He mentioned that the club had been financed by public subscriptions, and donations from the PTA Council and other sources, and the generosity of the instructors with their time and talents.

It is the only thing of this kind in town, and he hoped it would continue to get this support as in the past. From the entrance to the hall one walked between two rows of lawn chairs and end tables, all the work of the boys and girls of the club. The chairs were well made, screws holding them together for strength, comfortable to lounge in, and very gay with the different colored paint, some white, others red or red and white; two shades of green were also used.

The end tables were very attractive, well finished, and with the different shades of stain and varnish to finish, showed the good workmanship that had gone into them.

Tables made by the following children were on show: Murray Dell, Teddy Mohler, Sheridan Mohler, Gary Topham, Gretel Domi, Ross Eddy, Don Topham, Verne Ferguson, Eva Bradbury, Noel Witt, Murray Siegrist, Shirley Mae Gerrie, Ralph Bradbury.

Lawn chairs were shown by Rose Knoblauch, Teddy Mohler, Shirley Mae Gerrie, Keith Long, Sheridan Mohler, Gretel Domi, Harold Domi, Ralph Bradbury, Eva Bradbury, Gary Topham, Charlotte Spence and Dorothy Anne Long.

Collection of carving, fish, dog, gun, Ross Eddy; fish, Lloyd Kraft; dog, elephant, Beverly Trautman; corner shelf, Bobby Siegrist; fish, Noel Witt; pencil and pad holders, Doris Knoblauch, Dorothy Anne Long, Shirley Mae Gerrie, Noel Witt.

The animals carved were very realistic, as were the squirrels on the holders, and showed great attention to detail.

Doll's bed, Audrey and Jackie Siegrist.

Mrs. G. E. Smith had on exhibit a beautiful collection of photography, many of the views with coloring showing up every detail of loveliness.

S. N. Gjerstad had in an exhibit of many outstanding pieces of carving, lamps beautiful in design, workmanship and finish, table, mirror frame, salad sets, animals and a variety of other articles making up a table many people spent time admiring.

John Pasemko had another example of what could be done with wood, a lamp and table turned on a lathe, with the different kinds of wood inlaid, teak, African cypress, fir and birch, making two lovely and outstanding pieces of work.

Next came three hand embroidered tea cloths shown by Charles Woltte, two of these had crocheted edges and the other one of tatting, something of an example for the girls to aim at.

The exhibit shown by Rev. H. S. McDonald was a variety of articles, a fishing rod made by himself, lamp, wooden clogs, teeth of a baby shark, metal work done by his son at Royal Roads College, coins and bills from many countries, shell ornaments made by the Queen Charlotte Indians, woven belt, all very interesting.

One table of leather work and glove making was shown by Mrs. F. E. Wright.

Another outstanding exhibit of woodwork was sent in by Mrs. L. Ayres, consisting of a round plate, with many pieces of different wood inlaid, forming different shades of color each way it was moved. A corner bracket, and a small table or stand also were outstanding pieces of work, and would have to be seen to appreciate the beauty of them and the work put into them.

Mr. Mohler gave a short talk, and said they were proud of the work done by the boys and girls. It had been a good year and he hoped for the continued support of the people next year.

He thanked everyone for bringing their exhibits and the instructors for the time and work they had given, K. Domi, F. Bradley, W. Ratzlaff, C. Woltte, S. N. Gjerstad, A. Khalembach. He was sorry Mr. Domi was ill and unable to be there.

The secretary, Rev. H. S. McDonald, gave a report on the financial statement. Material, paint and screws had been bought, also some tools and equipment. Some material was still on hand, ready for another year. The idea of having an exhibit was to show what can be made, and have a greater variety of handicrafts another

Rough Treatment in Berlin Strike

A Russian officer (second from left) gets rough treatment as he tries to force his way through a knot of Berlin railway strikers around the Soviet-controlled railway administration building in the American sector of Berlin. A woman (left) became almost hysterical when the strikers kicked the officer. Strikers seized the building and held it until ousted by American zone policemen who came to the aid of the Russian officers.

School Board at Vernon Gets Veto From Department

VERNON—The department of education has turned "thumbs down" on the Vernon district school board's recommendation for approval on a tender for the six-room Harwood elementary school in North Vernon.

Last week the trustees forwarded for approval to the department the bid of David Howrie Ltd. for $108,925.32, although the Commonwealth Construction Co.'s bid was lower at $107,281. The board did this for reasons that Mr. Howrie was a local contractor and all the sub-trades in the bids were local.

At a special meeting of the board notification from the government was read that this procedure is against departmental policy of accepting the lowest tender. The department favored the bid of the Commonwealth Construction Co. with the note that this company's sub-trades were understood to be local too.

Both bids were well above the estimate in the school bylaw of $85,200. In cognizance of this fact, the board also asked if funds within the bylaw could be transferred from one project to another. The department's answer was that this question would be referred to the minister of education, W. T. Straith, who is away at the present time.

The boys and girls served soft drinks and cookies to close the evening.

A number of Summerland residents were present for this exhibition.

PRESS FOR GAS LINE EXTENSION

KELOWNA—Executive of the Kelowna Board of Trade will press for the extension of the natural gas pipe line through to the Okanagan.

This was revealed Tuesday afternoon when trade board members unanimously endorsed a resolution from the Penticton Board of Trade. The matter will be brought to the attention of the federal government and also the promoters of the pipe line. Danger that the Alberta government might restrict the export of natural gas from the province is overcome by the fact that the whole matter will be under federal jurisdiction as it concerns inter-provincial relations.

A brief will be prepared by the executive to bring before the Associated Boards of Trade at a meeting to be held July 23. Plans are now being made to export the huge natural gas reserves from the Alberta oil fields to the west coast.

Summerland entertained Vernon tennis club last Sunday, June 26, and was successful 10 matches to two, although the Vernon club was handicapped with three of its best players absent.

All four men's doubles sets were won by George Fudge and Dave Snow, as did Nick Solly and Don Wright. Mrs. R. G. Russel and Mrs. D. Wright won their two matches, while Mrs. Beech and Miss Bell dropped their first one and won the second two sets.

In mixed doubles play, Fudge and Mrs. Beech won both their sets for a straight match, Solly and Mrs. Wright lost their two sets, while Wright and Mrs. Russell and Snow and Miss Bell won all four of their sets to annex two more matches.

Peachland Regatta Programs of 1910 Arouse Interest

Peachland residents are showing keen interest in some old programs on display at Fulk's General Store. They concern the program of the Peachland Aquatic Association's second annual Regatta, held on Thursday, July 21, 1910.

Mr. Ken Fulk, while rummaging about in an attic, came across these souvenirs of early days in the South Okanagan.

W. B. Sanderson is the only Peachland resident alive today who was a member of that 1910 Regatta committee.

The committee consisted of Chairman W. A. Lang, Treasurer F. Bywater, Secretary J. L. Vicary, G. Lang, D. Hardie, C. W. White, C. G. Elliott, W. J. Garroway, Dr. K. E. Crompton, G. Mitchell, T. Powell, L. D. McCall, Ferd Aitkins and H. W. Arbuckle.

Starter was G. Mitchell, judges were G. A. Henderson of Vernon and A. W. Wade, Penticton, while the umpire was F. Eyre of Penticton.

The Summerland Citizens' Band, under the direction of Mr. A. C. Pearce, supplied the music.

Mrs. W. A. Lang had "kindly consented to present the prizes immediately at the end of the program."

Besides the swimming races, there were war canoe races, mixed doubles and single canoe races, double sculls, canoe tilting, diving and open gasoline launch races.

A formidable array of silver cups and silver and gold medals was presented the prize winners.

Princess Presents Challenge Cup

TROOPER STOUT will be the first to have his name engraved on the Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup for the Household Cavalry. The event was held at the Richmond Horse Show for the first time. Picture shows Trooper Stout on his horse, "Emporer," being presented with the Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup by PRINCESS ELIZABETH. Watching is the Earl of Athlone, former Governor-General of Canada.

One-Sided Game Goes to Red Sox Over Naramata by 19-7 Score

Three pitchers limited Naramata to two scratch hits, but the visitors managed to acquire seven runs last Sunday at the Living Memorial athletic park when the Summerland Red Sox won a one-sided contest 19-7.

The result was a foregone conclusion from the start when the Red Sox smashed in ten runs in the first two frames, and added another three in the third before Luxton for Naramata retired from the mound in favor of Dunham.

The latter yielded six more but held the Red Sox more in check. Ten errors, with Raitt contributing half of these at short, played a big part in the one-sided score. Alan Gould was the starting hurler for the Red Sox and he held the visitors scoreless for the first five innings. Jack Dunham took over but was wild, a walk, a single and two batters being hit by pitched balls resulting in four runs coming across. Dunham held the Naramata lads scoreless in the seventh and then retired in favor of Ernie Jomori, who walked three, hit another and allowed three tallies in the final frame.

Busiest man on the field was Sam Jomori who handled twelve chances without a falter, while Kato at second was called upon to take eight fielding opportunities.

Biggest thrill of the day was yielded by Joe Elliott who clouted two beauties onto the running track between right and centre field for two home runs. Just for good measure, Jack Dunham added a third circuit drive in the eighth frame. These three homers accounted for six runs.

The juniors have a bye next Sunday but play Penticton Pirates here on Sunday, July 10. This is a replay of a scheduled game rained out earlier in the season. The Red Sox are now tied for second place in the league standing.

Phil Dundson Takes June Gold Button

Phil Dundson, who shot 99 out of a possible 105, was declared winner of the gold button competition for June when the final shoot of the month was concluded at the Garnet Valley rifle range of the Summerland Rifle club last Sunday.

Ed Gould won the silver button with a high of 98, after a shoot-off with George and Fred Dundson. George Dundson won the bronze medal on his shoot-off with Fred Dundson.

At the first of this year, George Loomer, a former crack rifle shot, donated a button which he won many years ago in competition. This button will go to the marksman registering the highest average on five declared shoots.

Two rifle club members have now completed their five shoots and George and Ted Dundson are tied with 95.6 points each.

Ed Gould, George and Fred Dundson were tied for last Sunday's top honors with 98 points each. Art Dundson had 97 and other scores were as follows: George Pennington 95, Dave Taylor 94, Ted Dundson 92, H. Simpson, Len Shannon and Phil Dundson 91, Doug Price 89, Jack Dundson 88, A. Moyle 86, H. (Pop) Dundson 79, J. Khalembach 76, J. M. McArthur 73, R. F. Proudlock 63.

Girl Guides Go To Camp Friday

The regular meeting of the Local Association to the Girl Guides was held in the parish hall on Thursday afternoon, June 23. The speaker for the meeting was Mrs. Dewey Sanborn who gave an excellent report of the meeting held in Penticton in May to form a division committee. She told of the reasons for forming such a group to create a feeling of unity, to share group ideas, and that all in the area might work together more closely.

It was planned to form a central library for the use of Guide personnel and it is hoped that resources will be pooled eventually. The overall thought is that of Guides throughout the world, "To help others at all times".

There was a discussion of plans for the Guide Camp to be held at Deep Creek, near Peachland, July 2-11 which the local association is helping to finance. It is necessary to have a certain quota of Guides and other persons responsible for health and safety. These have been obtained, and the W.A. to the Canadian Legion are lending their stove for the ten days.

The Rotary Club has undertaken to supply transportation for Guides and their equipment, and the Canadian Legion has made a donation towards camp funds. The Guide Captain, Mrs. K. McIntosh will be in charge.

It was reported that Mrs. C. Adams, Mrs. Birtles and Mrs. C. V. Nesbitt, had made 1000 tickets for the quilt raffle.

Mrs. K. McIntosh gave a resume of the rally held at the experimental station on June 8. Mrs. Blayney, badge secretary, said that Mrs. M. E. Collas, president of the horticultural society would act as judge for the fourteen girls who are trying for their gardeners' badges, and will inspect their gardens.

Mrs. Fred Clark was appointed association central library secretary.

No regular meetings will be held during July and August, but will resume in September.

USE YOUR BONDS TO BORROW WHEN YOU NEED MONEY

It's Better Business To Repay a B of M Loan Than to Spend Savings

Like most other people, you may, sooner or later, want cash in a hurry. Whether your reason be opportunity or emergency, a wonderful bargain or a sudden illness, you will show your mettle by thinking twice if it means touching your bonds.

You can easily cash good bonds. But when the pinch has passed, your bonds will be gone too. That's when many people, recall the sacrifices it took to buy their bonds, and they just say they can't replace them "for the time being". The next crisis may find them really short of funds.

You can raise the money you need without spending the savings your bonds represent. At the Bank of Montreal you can borrow against your bonds, and keep your investment intact. And you can repay the loan out of income, in easy instalments.

The cost of the loan is amazingly little. . . in fact, the interest on your bonds practically pays for it.

If you need money for a good purpose, drop in and see James Muirhead, B of M manager at West Summerland or his accountant Ted Beech.—Adv't.
