

Steady Progress in 1950 Is Keynote of Reports At Ratepayers Meeting

General satisfaction with the progress of the municipality in the past year was expressed on Saturday afternoon by the annual ratepayers' meeting which attracted about fifty persons to the IOOF hall. Reports of council committee work and of the school board were heard.

Although no attempt was made to provide a financial standing, Reeve C. E. Bentley, chairman, assured the meeting that Summerland has one of the highest financial ratings of any municipality in B.C.

Finalizing of the new power rate structure with the West Kootenay, passing on a saving to electrical consumers, passing of the new traffic bylaw and laying the groundwork for a new municipal hall were among the features of the past year noted by council.

That the new junior-senior high school should be ready for occupancy early in the new year was the prophecy of the school board.

It wasn't a spectacular year but one of steady progress, reports indicated.

Twenty-Seven Teachers on School Payroll

Following the usual procedure, C. J. Bleasdale presented the school board report on Saturday morning. He pointed out the difficulties encountered in a year when a changeover in system to the new junior-senior high school has been made.

Twenty-seven teachers are now employed, including a commercial teacher who has been employed for the first time. More attention is being paid to physical education and counselling, he stated, while wood-working, metalworking and elementary electricity is to be offered for the first time in the new shop.

In the near future, it is the school board's hope that an agricultural class will be offered.

Going back to the early part of the year, Mr. Bleasdale commented that the government had passed the board's budget without any change and he now could say that "we will stay within the budget".

He gave a good deal of credit for school board affairs to Secretary B. A. Tingley.

Dealing with insurance, Mr. Bleasdale declared the board found itself badly under-insured but, on the strength of a brief from insurance brokers, school board insurance has now been separated from hospital and municipal premiums and has been put under a group co-insurance plan.

On the subject of teachers salary revision, already given a complete coverage in these columns, Mr. Bleasdale expressed the thought that an amicable settlement can be reached. Negotiations are still continuing.

Getting down to the new school, he reminded his listeners, that on March 23 four tenders, all within $12,000, were received with Kenyon & Co. being successful bidder at $330,000.

"We have had a good architect and a good, reliable contractor and thus the job has been much easier for us," Mr. Bleasdale declared. "Believe me, they are doing a good job. Today the school would have cost us $50,000 more."

He dealt shortly with the glass block used in the school construction telling of the difficulty the board had experienced in showing the department of education that saving could be effected.

Glass block was considered not for architectural beauty but for sound, functional reasons, to do away with storm windows and blinds and to conserve heat.

He explained that light is refracted by prisms in the glass brick and is thrown to the ceiling where it is reflected to the back of the room. Thus, the rear is as light as the front.

Glass brick, in the quantity ordered for this school, was only slightly more than cost of window installations and because of its use a saving of $2,250 in furnace installation was made.

"I believe this type of school construction will become a standard for the province," he concluded amidst applause.

"Mr. Bleasdale and the school board have every reason to be proud of what they have done," was Reeve Bentley's comment. He also noted the harmony which exists between the two civic bodies.

His Worship also commented on the honor bestowed on Principal MacDonald when his elementary school was named in his honor. He termed Mr. MacDonald a "very faithful servant and an excellent citizen."

New Record for Electrical Consumption

Before calling on council members, Reeve Bentley expressed the hope that when Summerland celebrates its 50th anniversary a fitting ceremony will be carried out.

Despite curtailed consumption in canneries and packinghouses, 1950 has shown the biggest consumption of electrical energy on record here, Councillor Atkinson declared. He named the figure of 3,069,000 kwh, which is three times that of 1945, and is 84,000 kwh higher than for the same period in 1949.

Sixty new connections were taken out in eleven months of 1950, while highlight of the electrical department year was the signing of contracts with the electrical workers' union and the West Kootenay supply company.

Details of the new agreement have already been published but Mr. Atkinson added that the new deal is on a maximum demand load basis whereby if the load can be spread evenly over 24 hours the greatest saving will accrue.

If 250,000 kwh are used in a month, the first 80,000 is purchased at one cent, the next 30,000 at 7 cents and the balance at 3 cents, quite a saving from the 2 cents and one cent rates before.

"In September we effected a saving of $1,400 and I believe we have gained the same benefit in October and November," Mr. Atkinson declared.

Part of this reduction is being passed on to the consumer, commencing this month. Power users and sprinkler irrigationists using pumps will obtain the most benefit but other categories are down, as well, he said.

Going back to 1947, he pointed out that capital expenditures exceeded profit $11,600 to $7,460. The following year expenditures were $12,500 against $15,000 profit. Last year the ratio was even better at $8,600 to $12,600.

This trend is being continued this year and will continue, he expected, noting that the reserve account will show $9,000 this year.

Biggest project for 1951 is the building of a new substation on which advice of electrical engineers is being obtained.

He suggested that the new station will probably be built alongside the present one, with most of the present equipment being sold to the B.C. Power Commission.

In commenting, Reeve Bentley termed the new power contract one of the most important steps taken in the year.

Ten Years' Supply of Gravel in Sight Now

Complete new installation of the rock crusher plant was the major project of the roads department in 1949, declared Councillor Eric M. Tait. In its new position the plant has ten years' gravel supply and is a permanent-looking job.

"It should operate efficiently and give good service for years," he thought, adding that a new hoist will be needed for the dragline next year.

In the past year, a program of filling and improvement of the road in Garnet Valley was undertaken, another bad corner being blown off.

Sealcoating of the first section of Giants Head blacktopping was undertaken and must be continued on all hard surfaced roads.

Only new section of blacktopping this year was on the "Y" at the foot of the Gulch road. "This is a nice piece of road and if we can continue in this manner it will be a credit to the roads department," he stated.

The roads department was besieged with complaints about the dust nuisance, and it was a temptation to give way to the demands, he continued.

But to spend money on dust-laying alone is like "throwing it down the sink," he believed. He would prefer to continue hard-surfacing until the dusty roads are at a minimum.

Penticton expended a great deal of money on oiling roads for dust-laying and then had to scurry them before the season was over, he pointed out.

The traffic bylaw, which has been passed by the board of trade for years has now been finalized and he hoped the public would respect the new signs.

W. J. Beattie asked if there would be blacktopping material available for driveways, Councillor Tait replying that would be a matter of policy for next year's council but it could be possible to give such a service.

Magistrate Sharman remarked on the need for improvement of the Ward corner on Giant's Head road and Councillor Tait agreed with his contentions.

J. Y. Towgood expressed some criticism of the 30 miles per hour speed limit where municipal roads travel mainly through orchard land. He thought travellers passing through would be inclined to criticize such restriction. It was pointed out that the main highway regulations are no direct concern of the municipality. The new traffic bylaw only concerns municipal roads.

N. O. Solly asked if there would be any chance of widening Giant's Head road between the Charity and Ralph Blewett properties. He considered the narrowness a dan-

Pool Profits Of Processors Say Growers

Summerland growers, meeting for their second session to consider resolutions to come before the growers' parliament in January, yesterday afternoon in the IOOF hall decided to move towards a change in the processing setup so that returns from that grower-company would be utilized to bolster pool prices rather than be returned directly to the grower.

W. R. Powell was the instigator of this thought and it was agreed that a resolution would be framed by Reeve C. E. Bentley, in collaboration with Mr. Powell, to be included in the supplementary list of resolutions for the BCFGA convention in Vernon.

Coupled with this move was the thought that there must be some provision to allow the industry to take the low grades of fruit for processing, rather than culls in a year where there is a surplus supply of apples for markets to absorb.

Control of production as well as marketing is essential for the future of the industry in the light of prospective increases in crops, it was considered.

Reeve C. E. Bentley spoke in severe criticism of the "Grower Member" whose letter against the experimental station $5,000 yearly grant was published in last week's issue of The Review.

Mr. Bentley was disappointed that this grower was not present at the meeting to voice his opinions or that he didn't have the courage to give his proper name to his sentiments.

He stressed the vast sums which private industry expends in research and declared that in comparison the fruit industry's modest $5,000 is minute. He asked that Dr. R. C. Palmer, experimental station superintendent, give a review of research activities carried on.

Dr. Palmer told growers that the BCFGA annual grants had been expended mainly on research into cold storage, sprinkler irrigation and investigations to determine why fruit in a light crop year does not stand up in a manner equal to that of a heavy crop year.

A. K. Loyd, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. general manager, gave a short talk, confining his remarks mainly to increased freight rates, which were given in brief form in last week's issue. He also discussed market prospects which were covered by Mr. Embrey's report last week to the co-op general meeting.

Half Million Building in 1950 Reached

With still a month to go, Summerland building reached the half million dollar mark at the end of November.

Exact total for 96 permits issued at November 30 was $509,180 against 154 permits in 1949 valued at $307,415.

In November alone five permits were issued, two valued at $9,275 for dwellings and three for $1,750 worth of alterations, and additions, making a total of $11,025.

In 1949, November saw 12 permits issued for $19,430 value.

Biggest project this year has been the new school building permit, while in 1949 the co-op building was the largest single project. Without those two permits figures are as follows: 1950, $174,180; 1949, $238,415.

Packing Season Draws to Close

End of the busy packing season has arrived for some plants and is in sight for others.

Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd. finished packing yesterday, while Walter's Ltd. is through today. Summerland Co-op concludes its season next Tuesday or Wednesday while the B.C. Fruit Shippers Ltd. will wind up its activities on December 20.

Cornwall Canning Company is the only one of the four canning plants in operation, its closing date having been set for Dec. 22. Sunoka Fruit Products Ltd. will continue on its usual run which goes through the winter with a minimum staff, as a rule.

Alex Watt, district horticulturist for Summerland, Peachland and Westbank left on Sunday for Yakima to attend the Washington State horticultural meetings.

E. R. Butler received a wire this week from Calgary bearing the news of the passing on Sunday, Dec. 2, of Dan Williams, a pioneer resident of Summerland prior to World War I. ## No Election This Year As Civic Posts Filled Without Any Opposition

There will be no election on Saturday, December 16, when all contests in municipalities throughout the province are decided.

When nominations closed at twelve o'clock noon today, with the official pronouncement of W. C. W. Fosbery, returning officer, all vacancies in civil organizations were filled by acclamation.

Both councillors were returned to office, School Board Chairman was returned and J. Y. Towgood was elected by acclamation to succeed Trustee Dr. James Marshall.

For the first time in history nominations were received for the three offices of board of park commissioners. The three nominations received were E. H. Bennett, W. G. Snow and Harry Brown.

When nominations closed at noon today there were two candidates for the two vacancies on the council, as follows:

Councillor F. E. Atkinson, food technologist, proposed by E. H. Bennett, seconded by Alf McLachlan.

Councillor Norman Holmes, hardware merchant, proposed by Ken Bootke, seconded by E. F. Smith.

For school board nominations were:

Trustee C. J. Bleasdale, packinghouse manager, proposed by Alex Smith, seconded by E. R. Butler.

J. Y. Towgood, fruit grower, proposed by Francis Stewart, seconded by C. J. Bleasdale.

Council members will remain as before and will consist of Reeve C. E. Bentley, Councillors F. E. Atkinson, E. M. Tait, F. M. Stewart and Norman Holmes.

The 1951 school district board will comprise: C. J. Bleasdale, Dr. W. H. E. Munn, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, C. Aubrey King and J. Y. Towgood.

Three new faces have entered the realm of civic administration this year with the introduction of the board of park commissioners. Full details of the nominations, which are also by acclamation, follow:

E. H. Bennett, fruit and bulb grower, proposed by F. E. Atkinson, seconded by Norman Holmes.

W. G. Snow, fruit inspector, proposed by E. H. Bennett, seconded by H. L. Wilson.

One-Year Term
H. W. Brown, contact representative, proposed by H. L. Wilson, seconded by F. E. Atkinson.

Okanagan Apples
Sell for 8s
Each

Mrs. H. S. Lewes was amazed this week to receive a letter from her former home in Aberdeen, Scotland, telling her that Canadian apples are selling there for sixpence and eightpence each.

Russets are commanding the former price and Jonathans the latter. Uncontrolled price is 2 shillings per pound.

Calculated on present rates of exchange, $2.92 for one pound sterling, the two shilling per pound price works out to $11.68 per box.

In the same mail she received a clipping from an English newspaper which told of 6,000,000 pounds of Okanagan apples arriving for the London market.

Mrs. Lewes is still trying to estimate the difference between the return she will get for these apples and decide who is taking the most profit, the transportation companies, the wholesaler or the retailer. She is quite certain that she, as a grower, is making the least percentage.

Union Library Asks Local Areas to Provide and Maintain Buildings

By a vote of 433 to 137, Penticton and Peachland forming the main opposition, delegates to the annual meeting of the Okanagan Union Library decided to amend its agreements to provide that each municipality or school district provide and maintain a building for library purposes.

There will be one exception to this rule. If the municipality or school district insists on a rental being paid that this amount be added to the per capita charge made in that area.

There was a good deal of debate on this subject, Summerland delegates contending that the present basis, wherein some areas provide library with rent-free premises and others charge large monthly rentals is unfair.

Penticton, delegates, Alderman W. Haddleton and Mrs. R. B. White, backed by Mayor Rathburn, opposed the resolution vigorously but all other districts, with the exception of Peachland, were in favor of the move.

One Penticton spokesman intimated that the southern city might even consider removing from the union library scheme because of this rental question.

The voting was taken on a population basis and resulted in nearly 3 to 1 majority.

It was also decided yesterday at Kelowna that the per capita charge be raised five cents to the 55 cent level, for library purposes.

Decide to Open Arena January 13

Official opening of the new Summerland arena has been set for Saturday, January 13.

George Stoll, president of the Summerland Rink Association, assured his executive at a meeting Sunday afternoon that if sufficient volunteers are available in the next three weeks the arena can be readied enough for use next month.

One of the main considerations at present is to raise an additional $5,000 over and above the approximately $20,000 already subscribed in debentures. This additional sum is needed to purchase electrical supplies and to pay for the last of the lumber.

If the full amount of $25,000 can be subscribed, then the arena can be completed in all its main essentials this winter, Mr. Stoll declared.

Plans for a gala opening are being prepared and included in the program is a full-scale drawing with practically all merchants and businessmen in the district supplying some article.

More volunteers for day labor are required at the arena to get the roof on and the sides boarded in. Aluminum sheeting can be applied after the sheeting has enclosed the roof.

Youth Centre Drive Falls Away Short

Officials of Summerland Youth Centre Assn. are rather downcast today as the drive enters the fourth week and only $800 of the $2,500 objective has found its way into the treasury.

Many canvassers have not completed their territories while others have only made a partial attempt to canvass the homes, it has been stated.

From present indications, unless there is a distinct alteration in spirit, the drive will fall far short of its objective of obtaining sufficient money to wipe off capital debt.

This $3,500 would see the youth centre completed in its entirety with all necessary capital expenditures finished and the bank debt discharged.

However, from present indications there is little likelihood that this amount will be forthcoming.

Cheery Note for Christmas

AFTER the severe winter of 1949-50, the sight of winter-killed trees, of little or no soft fruits, the declaration heard last week at the co-op growers' meeting that despite the bumper apple crop price levels are being maintained is an encouraging note.

In fact, the atmosphere at this growers' session, attended by some seventy co-op producers, was one which should bring encouragement to everyone.

One could almost get the feeling that growers are saying, in part: "We have survived a tough season, but we had a big apple crop and now we are getting better returns for our apples than last year.

Our sales agency tells us that there is every good prospect that these prices will be maintained. If such is the case, then our loss on soft fruits will be compensated to a great degree."

That is a happy note for the approaching Christmas season. It is cheery for the grower who can see prospects of better crop payments ahead. It is hopeful for the merchant who has spent many thousands of dollars in providing a well-balanced stock of goods for Christmas gift buying.

It should be a boyant note for everybody in the district as its prosperity depends entirely on the amount of the crop and the returns received therefrom.

Rink Project Needs Help

LAST weekend, the Summerland Rink Association paused in the midst of rapid-fire attempts to complete the new curling-hockey-skating arena and took a look at its financial situation.

It found that its commitments, or absolutely necessary expenditures, to provide major facilities in the arena would cost another $5,000, at least.

It also found that a number of persons who had pledged purchases of bonds had not fulfilled their promises. There is also a big list of persons who were doubtful about the project ever being carried through and stated at the time of the canvass that if they could be convinced an arena would result from the conjectures, then they would assist in the financing of the project.

There can be no doubt in the minds of anyone that Summerland is going to have a rink. Approximately $20,000 in material and labor has been expended to date, but another $5,000 is needed to complete the arena to the point where main facilities have been provided.

Community-minded officials of the rink association have agreed to pledge their names to a bank loan so that the rink can be opened this winter. However, they should not be made to take this risk. Persons who have the good of Summerland at heart and who have not contributed financially yet should come forward now.

And those who cannot afford to contribute financial aid should come out and work on its construction. Laborers are needed night and day, but especially by day, to enclose the arena and prepare it for the winter ice season.

There are many who have not been able to work but who have employed men to work a day or two in their place. Others could follow their example.

This new arena is one of the greatest community efforts ever achieved by any Okanagan town or city. It is a credit to the spirit of many and the energies of a few. But the support of a still greater portion of the community is still needed.

Reeve Bentley is Right

REEVE Bentley uttered a plea at the Okanagan Valley Municipal Assn. conference last Thursday which should strike a responsive chord in every thinking person.

His Worship pleaded for a preparedness campaign throughout Canada so that this country would not be caught "napping" as has happened so often in the past and was especially true at the outset of World War II.

O. L. Jones, MP, in a recent talk here, declared that the western provinces do not have as much realization of the danger which faces the world as those in eastern Canada.

It would appear from Mr. Jones' warning that we are literally doing a lot of wishful thinking with our fingers crossed.

The news from an international standpoint is as serious as ever faced the world. With United Nations' troops falling back hurriedly before the onrush of Chinese hordes in Korea and other eastern countries near the boiling point it will only take one small move to start a third world war.

And in the face of this knowledge what is Canada doing? She has a small permanent army, one special force brigade and a small nucleus of semi-trained men in a reserve which has never been brought up to strength.

But there is another feature of a preparedness campaign which has never faced this section of Canada before to any serious degree—that is, a need for home defence.

British Columbia would be near the front line of battle in case of a war with the communists arrayed against us. The coast of the mainland, especially the crowded district of Greater Vancouver, would be especially vulnerable to airplane or submarine attack.

The Okanagan would be on the air route from the Orient to Trail and other vital centres.

Only a moment's thought will convince one that the situation has its alarming points. Yet, in valley communities there has been no move to organize civil defence. Summerland, for instance, did not even bother to participate in the recent Red Cross disaster exercise.

Even though guidance may be lacking from more important governing bodies, a start could be made in this community towards gearing the populace for civil defence. We imagine it would be an admirable project for the 1951 council, in co-operation with other civic bodies, to put on the agenda right now.

B.C. Apples Exhibit "Steals Show" at Royal Winter Fair, Toronto

Again B.C. Apples provided the most colorful display at Toronto's Winter Fair which features agricultural products each November. This year, the B.C. Fruit exhibit was a large revolving unit, with Red Delicious apples alternating in display with Golden Delicious and green Newtowns. Slanted mirrors doubled the effectiveness of the display, which included, around the base, both standardized and "junior" boxes. Mr. John Hall, a governor of B.C. Fruit Growers Association, and George Brown, secretary of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. with K. L. Johnson, advertising manager, attended the exhibit and answered thousands of questions during the ten days of the fair. Although not entered in competition, these B.C. apples, taken from straight commercial packs, won more than favorable comparison with specially-selected apples from other regions of Canada.

OPOSES PLEBISCITE
Summerland, B.C., Dec. 5, 1950

Editor, The Review:
Re the petition which is being circulated in Summerland requesting a plebiscite on the licensing of a beer parlor in this community, we appeal to all citizens to uphold the honor of our town by opposing the bringing in of a beer parlor.

All who have the welfare of our youth at heart must oppose it. Do not allow your minds to be blinded, or your judgment warped, by any selfish considerations. A beer parlor would be a blight on the business, social life, and morals of our community.

November Saw Approach of Colder Blasts

November was a gloomy month with rain or snow nearly half the days. Winter was gradually coming on in November and in several instances it actually arrived. On one occasion the thermometer ascended to 53 and on three other occasions it went to 50 but otherwise the maximums were in the forties and thirties.

One day, however, on November 22, the thermometer never rose above 26. Low point at night was on November 18 when 18 was registered.

Nearly nine inches of snow fell in the month, along with almost an inch of rain, which resulted in a total precipitation of 1.76 inches.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Recently an affluent friend lent me copies of the Satevepost and Ladies' Home Journal, and the years rolled back from this old grey head as if by magic.

For I haven't seen much of these magazines since I grew up. Ever since I had to pay for my own magazine subscriptions, I have stuck by such home-grown products as Maclean's, the Canadian Home Journal, and the Family Herald, believing them to be fully the equal of any magazines of their kind, and that any Canadian should buy Canadian magazines first to keep acquainted with his own country and its problems.

But if the family budget were sufficiently elastic to cover a second magazine in each of those classes, the Curtis publications would have pretty high priority on my list. For all three of them were in my home all the time I was a kid, as far back as I can remember, and every one is like an old friend.

Why, I can remember the Country Gentleman, for instance, when it was a skinny young weekly instead of a fat monthly; but the quality of its articles and stories was just as high. I read many of Zane Grey's western thrillers as serials in the Country Gentleman before they came out in book form, and still remember the intense suspense from week to week when "The Mysterious Rider" was running. One expected every issue that Hell-Bent Wade would finally draw those big forty-fives of his and draw in a voice as chilly as a refrigerated icicle: "Waal, pardner, yore a pretty smart dodger; dodge these heah bullets;" and it's a wonder some copies didn't have bullet-holes in their wrappers.

Sometimes a western even spilled over into the Ladies' Home Journal. One especially interesting was the life-story of Buffalo Bill's wife; it always seemed slightly sacrilegious to me that such a hard-bitten old plainsman should have any tender family feelings, but I still remember that he and his wife named their baby daughter Arta.

None of the Curtis papers in those days dotted their pages with cartoons or short shreds of wisdom, but one quotation from an article in the Journal still stays with me: "The mistake modern writers make is not in representing sex as the most important thing in human life, which perhaps it is; but as the only thing in human life—which it certainly isn't."

And then the inimitable Saturday Evening Post. How hundred pages of articles, stories, serials, and advertisements for a nickel. They were good articles and stories and serials too, but other magazines were just as good, and I've often wondered what gave the SEP its enormous circulation—largest in the world for years. It wasn't lurid sex, the easy road to best-sellordom used by so many book and magazine-writers today, for the Post always was, and still seems to be, a cut above that sort of thing. It wasn't high emotional tenation, the recipe of modern movies and radio soap operas, for Post stories in the magazine's hey-day had a peculiarly slow, long-drawn-out style.

It must have been that the magazine's late great editor, George Horace Lorimer, knew exactly the right mixture of articles and fiction, of adventure, business, humor, politics, and wisdom, to appeal to the largest possible number of readers.

I'm not at all sure that vast popularity is a credit to any magazine, book, or radio program, any more than it is to a person; in trying to please everybody, any of them is apt to surrender both character and color. You can't correct any evils, initiate any reforms, or take a positive stand on anything, without offending somebody, and thereby losing a certain measure of popularity.

But whether it is colorless or not, I still have a fondness for the old Saturday Evening Post. I can still see our family gathered round the old living-room heater of a winter's evening, with Mother mending and Father reading the latest "Tut and Mr. Tut" yarn to her, while the rest of the family pretended to be busy with something else but all listened and I didn't even pretend. Father had a good voice, and an eye for a good story, and whether it was about lawyers, brokers, boxers or big-game hunters, we always knew that a story from the Post that Father thought worth reading to Mother was certainly worth listening to.

Death Claims in B.C. Continue to Mount

Payment of death and accidental death claims to British Columbia families amounted to more than $4,851,000 in the first three quarters of this year, compared with about $4,332,000 in the corresponding period of 1949, the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association reports.

In the first nine months of 1950, over $4,068,000 was paid on 1,687 ordinary policies, $219,673 on 1,071 industrial policies and $563,000 on 337 group certificates.

Send Box of Apples To Rotarians In England

A box of Okanagan gift apples will be despatched by the Rotary Club of Summerland to the Rotary Club of Sale, Cheshire, England, it was decided last Friday evening following a friendly bulletin from the Old Country extending greetings to the Summerland Rotarians.

The international service committee had selected Summerland for a toast at a recent meeting of the Sale club and those greetings were forwarded, along with a description of club activities.

Sale is a residential suburb of Manchester and the Rotary Club there has a membership of thirty-five.

In appreciation of this international gesture of goodwill local Rotarians decided to ship a box of Okanagan apples. Whether they will be sent from packinghouses operated by Rotarians Chiswick, Blandale of the B.C. Fruit Shippers Ltd. or Vern Charles of Walter's Ltd. was not decided upon.

High School COMMENTS

The basketball game played last Thursday noon was probably the most exciting game the SHS students had seen in quite some time. The set-up was senior boys vs men teachers. The teachers really put zip into their game and made an admirable showing despite the fact that a few of them aren't as young as they used to be.

The final score was 12-12 in favor of the—and that is the question that is going around, who would have broken the tie first? Each team declares that it would have.

Although this game was a lot of fun it was also worthwhile. The admission fee was 10c and approximately $15 was raised. This money will go towards the high school activity funds.

At its last meeting, the senior council discussed the school donating a sum of money to the March of Dimes fund. Before this can materialize, it must be put before the students' council. The matter will probably be discussed at the next students' council meeting.

NEW DIRECTOR

Shareholders at the Bank of Montreal's 123rd annual meeting December 4 elected Hon. Clarence Wallace, CBE, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, to the directorate of the bank. Mr. Wallace succeeds William G. Murrin, former president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., who retires from the bank's board after 14 years as a director.

Well-known in western ship-building circles for many years, Mr. Wallace has been president of the Burrard Dry Dock Co., Ltd., since 1929, and holds the presidency of other leading west-coast ship-building firms. A veteran of the first world war, he is honorary president of the Navy League of Canada and a director of the RCAF Benevolent Fund.

Mr. Murrin, whom he succeeds, is an Englishman who came to British Columbia in 1912 to become mechanical superintendent of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd., and rose to the office of president.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Troop meeting attendance continues excellent with a turn-out of 32 on Tuesday. The patrol competition is really close with points as follows: Eagles 68, Hawks and Beavers 66, and Buffaloes 65.

In the absence of ASM McCargar, David Wright, one of our former troop leaders assisted in the evenings program and in the investiture of Gordon Gillespie.

Mr. Tom Manning examined Scouts for the fireman's badge and the following were passed: R. Tingley, R. Towgood, V. Higgs, Geo. Erake, V. Smith and G. Solly. There will be another examination period for fireman's badge next week.

The following Scouts passed their second class first aid: Draper, Lewis, Wilburn, Woolliams, Ward, Baillie and Hackman. Scouts Lewis and Ward passed their signalling this week.

On Saturday afternoon the troop received a visit from 3rd Penticton Troop for a game of basketball and a few other competitions. The Penticton boys are planning on asking us for a return visit to play volleyball. First Kelowna troop has also invited our troop to play them hockey in the arena a little later on.

Wanted—An assistant Scoutmaster. The troop is urgently in need of another assistant Scoutmaster or instructor to help keep our program running efficiently. A former Scout or Scoutmaster is to be preferred, but any one who feels they could devote a night a week to this

Singers & Players Club

Last Tuesday evening, in spite of inclement weather, twenty-five singers turned up to rehearsal at the high school. This number included our faithful contingent of six from Penticton. The entire evening was given over to excerpts from "The Messiah", carols and other old favorites.

Mrs. Flora Bergstrom brought an invitation from Rev. Mr. Knipfel for the singers to present an appropriate musical program at the Baptist church on Sunday, December 17.

Mr. Bud Steuart felt that a larger choir and more practice would be required to do justice to the selections chosen and therefore made the following suggestion:

Before accepting this invitation he would like as many singers as possible from all sources whatsoever who would join us in this program to attend the rehearsal next Tuesday evening, December 12 at 8:00 p.m., at the high school. It is only fair to mention that two more practices might also be necessary that same week in order to prepare the required program, but for such enthusiastic singers that only means more chances of singing than usually occur in one week.

It therefore rests entirely upon the attendance next Tuesday evening as to whether or not we shall be able to accept this welcome invitation—it goes without saying that we sincerely hope that we shall receive sufficient support to be enabled to do so.

Meanwhile "Patience" takes a back seat, to be revived in the New Year when again attendance at rehearsals will decide if, how when and where any final production will take place.

Having made their final choice of a play as announced last week, the players are now able to give real attention to casting problems. We had five men last Tuesday, including Basil Thornthwaite. Do you recall the splendid job Basil did in "I Remember Mama"?

We mention Basil particularly because this might suggest to other young fellows that they too could find fun and great interest in joining our Players. If a few more men will turn out next week, next Tuesday evening should see the cast completed and serious rehearsals can then go forward immediately although, after next meeting, the Christmas holidays will be upon us and nothing much concrete is likely to be done before the New Year.

Thus all our hopes are based on next Tuesday as an indication of what we shall be able to do early in the New Year. Nor should it be overlooked that one of these productions—perhaps both—will probably inaugurate the new high school auditorium; an historic occasion in the history of Summerland in which all Singers and Players should be proud and happy to play an active part.

very worthwhile cause will be welcomed for interview. For further information see Mr. B. A. Sladen, chairman of the Scout committee or D. V. Fisher, Scoutmaster. Notices: Next meeting Tuesday, Dec. 12. Duty patrol: Hawks.

Ervin Felker was elected vice-president of the Lutheran League, Okanagan Confederation at a meeting held last Sunday, Dec. 3, in Vernon.

Other Summerland young people elected to offices were Lucia Thomas who is the new spiritual secretary and Gary Huva who became recreation secretary.

Fourteen Summerland girls and boys, members of the Luther League, attended.

Rev. Mr. Meyer of Vernon and the Rev. Mr. Lang of Oliver addressed the gathering.

Business meeting was held in the afternoon and followed by a banquet. Later in the evening games were played and the youthful representatives from various valley centres had a chance to get better acquainted.

Wilcox Refuses to Become Involved In Dispute over Minor Element Mixes

Dr. J. C. Wilcox went into a rather lengthy explanation of experiments being carried on at the Dominion Experimental Station on fertilizers and their effects on the soil and trees but he would neither oppose nor commend the minor element mixes which are being pushed by some fertilizer companies.

Because of a controversy amongst growers concerning this type of fertilizer, Dr. Wilcox had been invited to attend last Friday's co-op growers' meeting in the IOOF hall.

In research being carried on, scientists are trying to find out what elements are needed in the Okanagan soil but are taking them individually and are not attempting any collective experiments until the individual results are tabulated.

The major elements are nitrogen, phosphate and potash, he explained.

Of the minor elements, there is no evidence of any further need for calcium, Dr. Wilcox remarked. Magnesium may be needed in some soils but other places in the world which have found a need for this minor element have had to apply it in great quantity.

Iron is lacking in certain areas but as such it cannot be applied in the form of fertilizer, he explained. Okanagan soils are fairly rich in sulphur but he was not prepared to make any definite statement on requirements, as yet.

Can Get too Much Boron

Boron is needed everywhere but is being applied in separate form and it is easy to develop excess amounts if not controlled, he advised.

He declared that some trees may be deficient in manganese, while zinc is lacking but also would have to be used in large quantities for any effect. Copper has not been tested here.

Penticton Entry Wins Canadian Packing Honors

Despite earlier statement that no persons were interested, nine packers from Summerland houses entered the Canadian championship apple packing contest at Kelowna last Thursday. Fifty-two of the fruit industry's top packers participated.

Mrs. Gertie Duncan of the Penticton Co-operative Growers, with ten years' packing experience, won top honors with a score of 91 out of a possible 100 points. Mrs. Anne Peterman of McLean & Fitzpatrick, Oliver, was second with 88.7 points.

These two packers and a coterie of some dozen fruit officials are in Yakima row competing in the international packing competition which is equivalent to the world championship.

Miss Yuriko Jomori, of the Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd., Summerland, topped Summerland entries with a point score of 81.2, which earned her 28th place in the standing.

Other Summerland entries, who were close behind Miss Jomori were: Miss Margaret Dickinson, Walters Ltd.; Miss Gerda Felker, Walters Ltd.; Mrs. Alma Lekei, Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd.; Mrs. Mary Van Gameron, Walters Ltd.; Mrs. Rita Borgstrom, Mrs. Rita Bonthoux and Miss Alda Lenzi, Summerland Co-op; Mrs. Helen Morelli, Walters Ltd.

Amateur Night to Aid Youth Centre

Tomorrow night at the Youth Centre a Summerland amateur night is being sponsored by the Canadian Legion in conjunction with radio station CKOV, Kelowna.

Dave Thompson has been in charge of arrangements for this amateur night show and states he has nearly twenty contestants ready to try for the major prizes offered.

"Grandpappy Jackson" of the Early Bird Hour on CKOV will be master of ceremonies. Net receipts will be donated to the Youth Centre drive for $3,500 in funds.

Mr. W. R. Powell and Mr. Walter B. Powell were visitors to the Washington State horticultural meetings at Yakima this week, returning to Summerland on Tuesday evening.

"We cannot oppose or advocate these minor element mixes as there may be some places where they will do some good," Dr. Wilcox explained.

He openly doubted the claims for some of the fertilizers made by some growers, on the grounds that proper check plots have not been maintained.

Nitrogen in Excess

President Eric Tait remarked that excessive use of nitrogen is being blamed for lack of life in fruit, especially where the orchards are clean cultivated.

Dr. Wilcox also stated, in answer to a query, that there is more lime used here than anywhere else in the valley, yet heavy soils in Summerland area are full of lime, and he also believed that there is plenty of lime in light soils.

From Trout Creek waters, 100 pounds of lime per acre are deposited while Eneas Creek waters provide soils with 300 to 400 pounds of lime per acre, Dr. Wilcox stated.

He believed there is a danger in putting too much lime on the soil.

The inevitable subject of chlorinating the water supply was introduced but Chairman Tait quickly diverted the discussion.

Penticton Students Inspect Co-op Plant

Eighteen members of the Penticton high school agricultural class, led by their instructor, Mr. Campbell, toured the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Assn. packing plant last Monday. This is the second year this class has toured this plant, considered one of the most modern in the valley.

Vegetable Growers Hold Annual Meet In Kelowna Dec. 13

History will be made by Interior vegetable growers when they hold the first annual meeting of their newly-organized B.C. Interior Vegetable Growers' Association in the board room of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited, Kelowna, Tuesday evening, December 13.

This association was established under authority of the delegates to the annual meeting of the B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board a year ago. The committee set up was composed of F. W. Hack of Oliver, chairman; Bernard Pow, Vernon; M. W. Marshall, Kelowna; M. Kawano, Okanagan Centre and John Desmond, Kamloops, with C. A. Hayden, Vernon as acting secretary.

The association has received its certificate of incorporation and its constitution has been approved by the provincial registrar, Victoria.

Directors will elect an executive of six at the annual meeting and this executive will elect a president.

Matters of urgent importance to the vegetable growers will be discussed at the meeting. The vegetable growing area included in this association extends from Pemberton, Quesnel and Lillooet along the mainline to Salmon Arm, through the Okanagan and Kootenays east to Creston.

Mr. Adrian Moyle is representing the Summerland experimental station at the Washington State Horticultural Association meetings being held in Yakima this week.

Story-Book Setting for Lovely Donaldson-Gayton Nuptials Here

One of the prettiest weddings to be performed in Summerland was that in a story-book setting of candlelight, shaggy white 'mums and palest yellow ones, an archway trellis of cedar, small Christmas trees, Christmas lights and silver, when Beverley Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Arnold Gayton, West Summerland was united in marriage with Mr. William Donaldson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Donaldson, Lassodie Mainis, Dumfermline, Scotland.

Rev. D. O. Knipfel performed the ceremony in the presence of about one hundred and thirty-five guests at the Baptist church.

In the bridal procession were three cousins of the bride, Miss Kathleen Gayton of Vancouver, senior bridesmaid, charmingly frocked in a lovely shade of turquoise brocaded floor-length taffeta with small matching cap and carrying a bouquet of deep wine colored 'mums. The junior maids were Marilyn and Marjorie Tedder of Kamloops, whose dresses were alike of yellow floor-length taffeta scalloped at the bottom. On their heads were pretty garlands of flowers in yellow and harmonizing hues, net mitts with yellow ruffles at the top, and carrying sweetpea nosegays to match their costumes.

The bride following on the arm of her father made a lovely picture in the soft light in her blush ivory satin wedding gown, which had a lace yoke, long sleeves and train. Her head-fitting cap was of the same satin and lace, and from it fell a double half circle of net bound with satin, making a fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of bronze 'mums and yellow rosebuds.

Supporting the groom was Mr. Kenneth McKenzie, of Vancouver, a friend who came from Scotland with him.

While the register was signed Mrs. B. Bergstrom sang, "I'll Walk Beside You" to Miss Ruth Dale's accompaniment.

A reception was held in the church hall just after the ceremony. Mrs. Gayton, receiving wore a velvet gown in a rich shade of wine, with black accessories and a touch of wine on her hat. Her corsage was of deep cream 'mums.

The table from which Mrs. Alice Nicholson and Mrs. D. O. Knipfel poured was covered with an ecru lace cloth, centred with a four-tiered wedding cake which had been made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. James Darke. It was beautifully decorated and on the top was an ornament with lily of the valley. On either side were tall pink tapers.

Just beside the wedding cake was a smaller cake, also prettily decorated, with lovers' knots in white, which was sent from Scotland to the bride by the groom's mother. It arrived just in time, the day before the wedding.

Rev. D. O. Knipfel was toastmaster, and the toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. J. J. Smithson of Kelowna, with response by the groom. The groom toasted the bridesmaids and Mr. McKenzie acted as spokesman for the attendants.

Mr. George Perry read telegrams of congratulations and good wishes.

Mrs. W. C. Wilkin sang "A Little Brown Bird Singing," accompanied by Miss Dale.

For travelling to the coast the bride changed to a becoming fawn tulle with matching beret with quill, pretty brown accessories, and muskrat coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson will make their home in the Fraser Valley near Chilliwack.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gayton, Oliver; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gayton, Westview; Mr. Rod Gayton, Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Smithson, Kelowna; Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Gayton, Victoria; Mrs. G. E. Tedder, Kamloops, and Miss Carol Graham, Penticton.

Grand Draw for Prizes Features CWL Tea-Bazaar

Ladies of the CWL had a busy day last Saturday, Dec. 2, when they held a successful tea, bazaar, and bean supper in the hall of the Church of The Holy Child.

Many came to see the various attractions in the nicely decorated hall, and one of the bigger attractions was the table which contained prizes for the grand draw. They were a floral dinner service, a turkey, and theatre tickets. Mrs. V. Polesello and Mrs. K. Smith were in charge of the tickets.

The candy table with many appetizing sweets was convened by Mrs. J. Betuzzi and Mrs. C. Betuzzi. On this table the intriguing gingerbread and candy house in a snowy garden setting was of imaginative interest to children and parents both. The house was made and donated by Mrs. J. Betuzzi.

All the cakes, pies, buns, cookies, etc., set out on the home cooking table sold quickly under the conensorship of Mrs. Hugh McCutcheon and Mrs. W. Schwab.

Mrs. Wolfe and Mrs. Wurst convened the fancy work and apron table and lovely things were sold here.

Mrs. R. G. Russel was in charge of the novelty table where all sorts of things from fancy penny match books to beautiful dolls were sold, and silvered and gilded pine cones added a Christmassy effect.

The CYO looked after the candied apples and popcorn under the supervision of Mrs. Ted Logie and the busy efforts of Freda, Joan and Terry Daniels, who were making popcorn right on the spot.

In the kitchen busily making tea were Mrs. C. Pearson, Mrs. J. Cristante, and serveurs were Mrs. Howard Shannon and Mrs. J. R. Selinger.

The bean supper was served between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. Men of the Holy Name society took over the games after supper, and later the draws for lucky tickets were made.

Winners were as follows: Grand draw—1, dinner set, No. 375, Mrs. Paul Bonthoux; 2, turkey, No. 441, Mrs. Joe Schwab, Vancouver; 3, book of theatre tickets, No. 24, Joan Daniels; gingerbread house—Donnie Gilbert, Salmon Arm; $5, donated by Mrs. Wurst, won by Mrs. H. Schaeffer; guessing weight of fruit cake, donated by Mrs. Frank Daniels, three guessed the correct weight which was 2 lbs. 8 oz.; a draw was made and Mrs. C. Pearson won.

There are some people for whom you know just what to buy for Christmas, but for others it is extremely difficult to choose the right gift. They may be very dear to you, but you still can't work out what to give them.
"Probably you've never thought of the B of M as a Gift Shop", says Ivor Solly, who is the Bank of Montreal manager at West Summerland, "but at Christmas time we can help you out. Especially where the younger members of the family are concerned. For one of the most welcome Christmas gifts is a B of M passbook, the foundation of a Savings Account.
"All you have to do is to drop into the B of M office in West Summerland or Summerland, and open an account in any name you wish—with a suitable first deposit. We'll provide you with a special Christmas passbook cover and gift card. It's really one of the best ways of expressing your Christmas feelings, and you'll be making a gift that will not be forgotten." — Advt.

She Found All The Things She Wanted Right Around Home !!

"Hello, there, Mary. Are you coming over? I've just put the coffee pot on. This coffee in the morning is quite a racket, but I'll be able to get you up to date on all the doings for the wedding. OK.—Yes, well come on right over on it.

"Here you are. Good, well, it did seem sort of crazy celebrating our silver wedding at the same time that Sandra and Jim were getting married, but we have it all worked out. Ned and I always wanted to mark our twenty-fifth anniversary, and when the kids decided to get married on our wedding day, we thought we'd carry the celebrations out together.

"You see the church hall is so big now that we are going to receive at one end while the others are away getting their pictures taken. Maywood likes them to go to the studio, where she has all the right kind of lights and stuff, and you know how awkward it is when there isn't any bride and groom and all the guests wandering around not knowing what to do.

"So, I've got a whole new outfit. It's sort of conservative. I got my hat and dress at Macil's and I needed a new tablecloth, after a quarter of a century, mine are a bit tired looking, and when I was getting my dress I saw one of those lovely Chinese lace cloths. Yes, that's right. They haven't been on the market for a while, and I guess they won't be again with all those Chinese on the march and the trouble over there.

"I'm having it on the table at our end of the hall with our cake

"Of course, Sandra thought she'd get a sports' outfit because she'd wear it more than a fussy one, and she went on a bust and got a lovely soft cashmere sweater for under her suit, and one of those station wagon coats at the Linnea. She'll look cute, too, and wear them all the time.

"I'm practically worn out now with excitement. We're all getting our hair done at La Vogue, and my corsage is going to be silver. Mrs. Hecker is making it. She gets some really pretty flower effects that she makes with different sorts of paper. Sandra and Jim are getting fresh flowers from Don McLachlan and flowers for the church, too.

"Having all this the Saturday before Christmas isn't such a headache as you might imagine. Clough's Bakery is cooking the turkeys and we're getting little cakes from them and from the Cake Box, too. Both bakeries have been so helpful and willing to make things up. They said they just like to have the orders in early so they can plan for them.

"I've been thinking of wedding presents and Christmas presents all at the same time, and I guess some of them will overlap this year, but it's all so exciting and I get practically breathless telling everybody about it all.

"Now just a minute while I get our coffee. What did you say? Oh, sure, that's our old clock ticking. Ned likes to hear it, but I don't notice it at all. Mr. Tupper fixed it up. Hasn't been going for years. Ned has an old horse-timer watch that he's going to get fixed, too.

"Sandra saved up on the side and got Jim one of those waterproof Eulovas from Milnes Jewellery. He's thrilled with it. They swim quite a lot in the summer, and he won't need to worry if he forgets it for a minute, and he maybe will because they'll likely still be honeymooning next summer. He lost his army one somewhere and he's always wanted another Bulova.

"Honestly, the way I go on! And I didn't finish telling you about Sandra's outfit. She thought the color of her station wagon coat was a bit dull so she got some red sheepskin lined overshoes at the Family Shoe Store, and over at the Peter Pan she got the sweetest nylon blouse to wear with her suit when she wanted to be a bit dressed up, and that's where she got her gloves, too. One pair are English woollen ones and the others are the softest kid. Mrs. Peters was telling her the kid ones are made by hand by a Czechoslovakian DP who's living in Vancouver. They can get them to match anything.

"One thing, Mary, I really think those kids are sensible. Jim got a nice new suit and some shirts and those terrific ties that all the boys are wearing, from Laidlaw's. They're all the kind that look just right anywhere, and then he went over to Fisher's and bought a couple of heavy work shirts and trousers. He said his trousseau wouldn't seem right without some work clothes. I always say orchard work is hard on clothes. Anyway those young fellows seem ready for whatever comes in those bright plaid shirts, and another thing, that's sensible, both Sandra and Jim use some of their things when they go up to ski hill.

"Jim is quite a sport and Sandra loves to go out in the hills. In fact, this Sunday they're making quite an expedition of getting the Christmas tree and some greenery to use to decorate the hall and the church.

"Jim has a lot of equipment that he got from Bert Berry at The Sports Centre, his skis and his nockey sticks and gloves. He'll be using them more next year in the new rink, I suppose.

The wedding presents? Mary, it'll be noon and I still have so much to tell you. How about another cup of coffee? We might as well empty the pot.

"Do you know what Ned bought me? There was the darriest English tea set at Holmes and Wades'. It was white with little bouquets of violets on it in their own color. I just loved it, and didn't Ned go down and bring it home to me. He said I'd been pretty good, only breaking two cups out of the set we got when we were married and maybe these would do me another twenty-five years.

"We got Sandra quite a few things. One was a canister set from Holmes and Wades, too, and she always wanted a Hollywood bed, so Summerland Furniture is making it. No. It wasn't so very expensive, and we got her quite a set of colored and plain pyrex and those copper bottomed cooking pots and pans at Butler and Walden's.

"I wanted to get them something sort of special, though, and that wouldn't be too much mixed up with working. You know, to help make their home life enjoyable, so we got rather extravagant and found a radio-phonograph at the DeLuxe Electric. They can build a library of records themselves. We just bought them that lovely song Bless This House. I always get sentimental about it. The words mean so much to anyone starting up a home.

"We've got most of the cooking done. I mean for Christmas. We made the puddings in November. It makes everything so easy when the grocery stores here uptown and in the lower town keep such a good stock as they do. I always say it isn't like living in a small town at all. And the butchers, too. We don't have to shop out of town at all. We thought we might take a look around in some of the other towns, but the roads got slippery so Sandra and I just went over here, and whenever we got a bit tired we nipped into one of the restaurants and had a spot of coffee or tea and started all over again. Sometimes Mr. Wharton was playing Christmas carols over his loudspeaker and that just accented our own happy mood.

The kids have been bowling with their team at the Bowladrome and they intend to keep it up after they are married. They all have fun together there. Janet goes with them when she can. I keep the baby and June for her. It's too bad Harry has to be away so much. She's getting to the wedding celebrations, though.

Wait just a few more minutes till I tell you what she's done. Well, she didn't have a pram for June, so when she was in Elliott's there were some lovely ones, and she said the whole thing was plain as anything to her. She'd buy a pram and the baby could stay in it in the church vestibule since I'd be busy and not able to baby-sit. And she bought it, but the funniest thing, there was a little one just the same, so she went all-out and got it for June. Now they go over town in their mother and daughter outfits with prams to match.

"In the 5c to $1 store she picked up some blanket grips so the baby won't be able to kick out of his covers while the doings are going on, honestly. Mary, they have the cutest things in there, and at Green's Drug store she got some of that Stop-It to put on his 'humb because he's been sucking it all the time, and I was afraid that he would spoil his teeth if he kept it up. That's where Sandra got her new make-up, too, by the way.

"June got the baby a plate and mug set at Elliott's, too, with nursery rhymes and pictures. They're made in England and it'll be nice when he's older, too.

"Oh, do you really have to go? Ten minutes to twelve. It doesn't give you much time to get dinner. I'm glad Ned isn't coming at noon today. I nearly forgot to tell you they shopped around at Sedlar's and are going to paint up the odd second-hand thing. Cousins' Paint Shop has all kinds of queer colors that they seem to want. It's so modern you know to have the funniest colors.

"Well, goodbye, if you really have to go! It's lovely to talk to you, but I guess I did most of it.

"Now she's gone. Mary is nice. Hardly says a thing, and so agreeable! I didn't tell her about the electric blanket the kids bought us from Young's Electric, and about Billie Borton going to make the flower boxes next year over at the other Young's Sheet Metal Works; and the men getting all their Christmas presents at the carages, where I never know one thing from another and they spend hours looking around.

"Well, maybe I'd better put some fresh coffee on. Someone else may be in. There's the 'phone row—just when I was going to 'phone The Review to tell them to save me some Summerland calendars. I just don't see how I'll ever get my work done."

Use Axe on Unwanted Varieties is Plea of Packinghouse Manager

That more growers should use the axe on undesirable varieties of fruit trees was the contention vigorously extolled by George Washington, manager, to some seventy members of the Summerland Co-operative Growers Assn. in the IOOF hall Friday evening in a meeting which was enthusiastic in its questioning and seemed boyed up on a note of optimism.

Mr. Washington spared no punches when he told of the difficulties the packinghouse encountered in trying to handle odd boxes of unwanted varieties. The cost of operating went up considerably because of their presence and they do not give the grower any return for his efforts, he declared.

The voluble co-op manager was so convinced he was on the right track that he suggested a resolution might be put before the annual co-op meeting declaring that certain named varieties be not acceptable by the packinghouse.

Although his suggestion found favor with a few it was not presented to the meeting.

"Growers who don't use the axe aren't making money today," was Mr. Washington's statement. If the pooling setup continues on its present trend there will be little return for these off varieties in five years' time, he prophesied.

He was given backing by W. R. Powell, a former co-op president and now a director of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. and B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. These undesirable varieties are a menace to the whole deal, to the jobber and retailer besides the packer and grower, he declared.

"What I don't like is that the person who is pulling out his trees is still subsidizing the man who hasn't taken them out," he added, in reference to present pooling methods.

Eric M. Tait, meeting chairman and co-op president told the meeting of the suggestion that some of the undesirable varieties be refused by the packinghouse operation. W. S. Ritchie was prepared to move the suggested resolution but there was no seconder and so no action was taken.

Box shortage, spray and fertilizer problems, hauling practices, cull charge, and insurance were among the subjects under discussion at this general co-op meeting.

Mr. Embrey, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. liaison officer, also addressed the gathering. Details of his talk can be found in another column of this issue.

Box Shortage Problem

First topic was the box shortage question which so concerned growers this past season. Mr. Washington declared that no firm order was given the Summerland Box Company until April 17 although he had thought there had been an understanding concerning the co-op requirements before that date.

Shipment of shooks from the box company here were as follows: May 18,000; June, 30,000; July, 18,000; August 20,000; September 36,500; October, 54,000; November 24,000.

In order to try and keep up with harvesting, Mr. Washington declared he purchased 50,000 old boxes from the northern part of the valley as well as an additional quantity of shooks to make up 34,000 boxes.

"We put our apples in boxes, which was more than some other southern towns did," declared Mr. Washington.

"If we cannot get a satisfactory deal in Summerland then we will have to look elsewhere," warned Mr. Washington. "Naturally we want to buy at home but we must get boxes."

Controlled Hauling Pays

President Tait, in introducing the hauling problem, declared that with controlled hauling more apples than ever before were put through daily this year. Between 10,000 and 11,000 went through daily whereas in previous years 10,000 boxes was an exceptional load for one day.

Mr. Washington added a plea for good, sturdy loading platforms and also suggested that if the grower is not present when the truck arrives that the fruit be well marked as to variety and how it should be loaded.

The contentious subject of Saturday hauling brought forth a lot of discussion, particularly regarding soft fruit. The manager urged growers to cover soft fruit from the scorching sun's rays if it has to remain in the open for long.

He also pointed out that the packinghouse cannot afford to pay out time and a half and double time to take care of growers' fruit which was picked late on Saturday.

"We are going to put it into cold storage rather than pay overtime," he declared.

In answer to Capt. Temple's query, Mr. Washington stated that cherries can only go into cold storage if the fruit is in good condition with no splits.

H. Findlow, pointed out that if it looks as if it might rain on Sunday a grower is going to pick mature cherries on Saturday regardless of any packinghouse edict.

It was conceded that this was a fair statement, but President Tait replied that too often the house is slack on Friday and rushed off its feet on Saturday.

Respirators Needed

Mr. Washington pleaded with growers to purchase and use respirators when handling Parathion as it is extremely dangerous. Ottawa is on the verge of striking this deadly spray off the list because it is so dangerous to human lives, it was stated.

J. Y. Towgood was hopeful that growers would be careful as one fatal accident would probably mean its removal and Parathion is a wonderful spray for orchards, he thought.

Cull charge of 15 cents a box is far from adequate, Mr. Washington explained. It should be 30 cents per box but he was willing to settle for 25 cents.

Culls are just another grade of fruit and should be handled as such, he thought, taking their share of the handling charge. President Tait pointed out that culls go through all stages except wrapping and even have to be stored before being delivered for processing purposes, at times.

Some Washington packinghouses have one charge for apple handling up to grader and a packing-charge after that, it was stated.

E. L. Famchon told growers that a time check on their grading is being taken which will give an indication how badly the packing and grading of fruit is retarded through a preponderance of culls.

Mr. Powell declared himself in favor of a higher cull charge as long as some provision is made that a grower badly hauled is not unduly handicapped because of the high cull charge.

In discussion of insurance, President Tait announced that 73 per cent of co-op members are now participating in the mutual co-op life insurance scheme recently proposed. This is the highest percentage of policies in force in any packinghouse in the Okanagan which has tackled the project, he declared.

Young Gives Third Part Of Trip Tale

Sketchy highlights of his trip to the Old Country and Europe were given by T. E. Young in his third and final talk to the Rotary Club of Summerland Friday evening at the Nu-Way Annex.

Mr. Young paid special attention to the handling of the gift apples to the Old Country from the Okanagan and stated that the British government made a profit of 500,000 pounds sterling on these apples, only 50,000 being given away to school children.

He expected that Great Britain would not soon forget the Okanagan generosity and that further orders for valley fruit would be forthcoming as a result.

Britons are Healthy

Mr. Young added a few amusing remarks concerning cost of food in restaurants and hotels, stating that the charge could be measured in relation to the length of the waiter's coattails.

The speaker and Mrs. Young visited Parliament at Westminster but found the discussion dull, although there was a heated argument on the cost of education ending at the time.

The travellers took bus tours to Eton and Oxford colleges, saw Windsor Castle and also travelled to Scotland, visiting among other places Ailsa Castle where a suite of rooms is reserved at all times for General Ike Eisenhower.

The stock fair at Paisley was an interesting affair, while Princess Street in Edinburgh fascinated the visitors.

"Junior" Apple Pack Gets Favorable Reception

Ten thousand "junior pack" boxes have been prepared for market on order of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. this season, it was announced to last Friday's co-op growers' meeting in the IO-OF hall.

This experiment in a half-size package especially designed for small families and apartment house dwellers has been received with approval on several markets, William Embrey, Tree Fruits liaison officer declared.

It was admitted that packing-houses experienced some difficulty in coping with this new order as none of the houses was set up to handle such a package.

However, a neat smart appearance has resulted from this pack, it was stated.

Of the McIntosh crop, 214,000 boxes of junior pack were prepared and 75,000 boxes have been sold already. Delicious and Winesaps will also be packed in this half-sized container.

Bentley Makes Plea for Preparedness Campaign In Face of World Crisis

C. E. (Ned) Bentley, reeve of Summerland, made an emphatic plea to the quarterly meeting of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Assn. at Enderby last Thursday for an all-out preparedness campaign throughout Canada not only to bring the armed services up to strength but to bring about a civil defence program and have Canadians spotted for useful work in time of emergency.

The meeting, attended by delegates from Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna, Vernon, Coldstream, Spallumcheen, Enderby, Salmon Arm, Armstrong and Kamloops, endorsed Reeve Bentley's call for action.

"This association represents a very large part of the interior of B.C.," Reeve Bentley pointed out "and this matter affects the home and freedom of everyone living in the country."

"These are dark days for the world and the situation today brings abruptly to all of us the dangerous situation in which we live."

"The news from Korea today makes us stop and wonder: 'Are our defensive efforts adequate?' And the answer is decidedly 'No'. We are not doing all we can for preparedness and we must remember that we will not have months or years to prepare if trouble comes. The trouble will come suddenly and we must be ready to meet the challenge."

"We should demand that the whole country take steps immediately to organize all men, women and industries for whatever job they will have to do."

Urges Training for Services

"It takes many months to organize properly and to train an army and today we have only the nucleus for an active army. The training of a few thousand men is not sufficient, but every man over 18 years of age should have training for either Navy, Army or Air Force and the necessary number of women for the women's services."

"Every other person should be registered and have his job allotted for civilian defence. Every industry should be geared for peak production of the necessary goods, and any necessary controls should be initiated."

"To me this is a matter of deep concern and, to live, the world must pull together and everyone be willing to take his share of the responsibility and prepare our country for all defensive measures."

"We, the people, are much too complacent about our dangers and think that trouble cannot happen here. But any of you who have seen war-ravaged countries will agree that today this could happen anywhere."

"I want to stress that I certainly do not want to see a scare running through the country—do not want to see hysteria or panic—but urge that we go forward in a quiet and sane manner in making the necessary preparations for the defence of Canada."

"The nations of the free world must pull together to fight against Communism and everyone must take his share of the load—this will affect every home in the country. But it is only by strength that we can be strong and be in a position to stand up for what we believe is right, and protect our homes, our country and our principles of freedom."

"We must build a Canada for Canadians and a Canada for freedom," he concluded.

Increased Indemnities

Penticton delegates found support for their contention that indemnities for council members should be reviewed upward and the municipal association will seek an amendment to the municipal association will seek an amendment to the municipal act accordingly.

Because of its local nature, the delegates turned down a resolution from the City of Salmon Arm urging that the Trans-Canada highway be put in first-class shape between Chase and Revelstoke.

Next meeting of the association will be held in Kelowna, in March, when election of officers will take place. Reeve T. R. E. Adams of Vernon presided at last Thursday's session. Summerland representation being Reeve Bentley and Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith.

Bennett Will Come Here to Talk Problems

W. A. C. Bennett is coming to Summerland soon to meet the municipal council and discuss any problems with which he may be confronted in the next session of the legislature at Victoria.

The member for South Okanagan opened a series of such meetings in Naramata last week when he addressed a well-attended gathering and advocated a genuine highway commission to take care of B.C. road problems.

Mr. Bennett also considered that a permanent formula for school taxation must be found and advocated further amendments and improvements to the hospital insurance scheme.

The member told Naramata residents that the three percent sales tax should not be levied on meals below one dollar and should not be collected from sale of children's clothing.

When in Summerland it is expected that the council, headed by Reeve C. E. Bentley, will urge Mr. Bennett to do everything in his power to have the survey of the provincial highway through this district finalized.

At a recent council session Reeve Bentley's suggestion that Mr. Bennett be invited to meet the council was approved.

Snowsell is Returned by Yale CCF

At the annual meeting of Yale CCF Jack Snowsell of Glenmore was re-elected president when delegates from all parts of the riding gathered in Vernon.

Bruce Woodsworth of Westbank was named vice-president while Mrs. Ruth Purdy of Kelowna is secretary-treasurer and John Bibby of Naramata is riding organizer.

The morning session was devoted to a discussion of the CCYM, the youth movement of the CCF. Peter Dyson, provincial president of the CCYM pointed out that it is the duty of members to try and interest young people to join the CCYM and acquaint them with the ideals of socialism.

Following the luncheon recess, three panel discussions were given by members from the provincial ridings. Members from Grand Forks-Greenwood under the chairmanship of J. Mahoney took as their subject: "Education under Socialism and Labor under Socialism." Other speakers on this panel were J. Penner and Rupert Haggen, MLA.

The panel led by the Similkameen riding was: "What is the Regina Manifesto and how can it be applied today?" Members were H. S. Kenyon and J. Reynolds, Penticton and Doug Fraser, Osoyoos, with Al Tyhurst of Penticton, chairman.

Under the heading "How can socialist planning be applied to provincial affairs?" members from South Okanagan provoked much discussion. Rev. Mr. Petrie of Kelowna voiced the opinion that

Embrey Strikes Optimistic Note that Level of Apple Prices Will be Maintained

Although markets have not accepted quite as many boxes as at the same time in 1949, of the 7,500,000 box apple crop in the interior of B.C. this year 2,765,000 boxes have already been shipped, William Embrey, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd, liaison officer told the general meeting of Summerland Co-op growers at the IOOF hall Friday night.

There was a note of optimism throughout Mr. Embrey's talk and what impressed his listeners most was his reference to the sale agency having been able to maintain price levels despite lowered trends at times on many markets.

At the same time last year 2,857,000 boxes had been sold but the seasons had an earlier start in 1949, it was pointed out.

At the outset, Mr. Embrey commended George Washington, co-op manager, for his early attempts to solve the box shortage problem. He travelled north in search of surplus boxes ten days ahead of any other southern manager, Mr. Embrey stated.

Despite poor harvesting weather and low grades of grain on the prairies, there has been a steady movement to those markets and he expects that this trend will continue until the end of the season.

Crops Exceed Estimates

The Canadian crop was estimated at 16 million bushels against 18 millions last year but in the final analysis Ontario, eastern U.S., Washington and B.C. have exceeded their estimates.

In cold storage in the U.S. are some 57 million bushels of apples.

Eastern Canada has good quality apples this year with color about equal to last year but the keeping condition of these apples is not as good, with the result that a lot of apples are being forced onto the market in a hurry.

Eastern Canada markets are beginning to show greater strength now and the sales agency is shipping heavily to those points now, especially McIntosh and Delicious apples, he stated.

Mr. Embrey was hopeful that this demand from eastern Canada would continue at a steady rate.

Despite a three-week drop in prices in all U.S. markets, Okanagan apple prices were maintained and shipments continued to roll, Mr. Embrey was glad to relate. Up to last week, 830,000 boxes of apples had rolled to the U.S. out of the two million box allotment. At the same date in 1949, some 708,000 boxes had been shipped.

Despite the big storage holdings in the U.S. there is a strong undertone to their markets, Mr. Embrey declared. However, he was afraid that U.S. markets would weaken towards the end of the year.

"We will maintain our prices and socialism is the nearest approach to establishing a Christian society in the economic realm of the world today. Members taking part were Bruce Woodsworth, Westbank; Harry Schmidt, Kelowna, F. Plunkett, Summerland, and John Bibby of Naramata, chairman.

Approximately one hundred and twenty guests attended the banquet. Speakers were O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, and Rupert Haggen, MLA for Grand Forks-Greenwood.

when the markets strengthen again we will ship in volume," he explained.

Old Country Shipments

To the U.K. markets, 400,000 boxes have been shipped. Three or four boats will be loaded this month and the balance in January.

Other export markets to receive Okanagan apples are Hong Kong 6,100, British Malaya 6,700, British West Indies 3,500, Hawaii 3,100 and Venezuela 19,000.

Mr. Embrey explained efforts to obtain offshore subsidy similar to that given to U.S. growers by their government, amounting to $1.25 per box. Ottawa would not agree but did try to keep the Brazilian market off the U.S. subsidy list, to no avail.

Asked concerning Cee grade, Mr. Embrey declared there is a definite improvement in quality of grade this year. In 1949 three million boxes went cee grade.

"Quality and condition of this year's crop is good," he declared in conclusion. The McIntosh crop being so large and having exceeded estimates by such a large margin is one of the big problems this year.

Hunting News (By Bert Berry)

Bert Berry is winding up his weekly reports with an analysis of the deer season.

As far as the take here is concerned, it has been good as the average size has been bigger and most hunters got their buck. A four-pointer is quite common and a five or six-pointer no exception. This gives a good idea of the kind of season we've had.

There has been an increase in bucks this year and I can think of two probable reasons for this. One, there was a migration of bucks who normally go down the Princeton side to this side of the range. The other, and more probable is that the heavy snow on the upper levels has forced the bigger deer down earlier, thus making it appear that there are more deer than usual.

Most hunters got their buck in the last two weeks of the season and there was quite a slaughter on the lower levels. As many as 30 have come in after a weekend to the locker plant.

How can the deer population stand this pressure? Under present conditions it can't and in a few years the deer population will be going down faster and faster.

There are some changes which would help. One is to shorten the season so that hunters cannot get that easy buck on the winter ranges which are easily accessible.

Another is to make shooting reserves of the deer's winter ranges. These two suggestions deal with conservation as far as hunters are concerned.

A big help on another angle is for the government of B.C. to make available enough money to the B.C. Game Commission to hire predatory animal hunters. These could hold down the coyote and the cougar population.

These two animals take a far bigger kill of deer each year than any number of hunters. They are not interested in horns, so many a doe or fawn go to feed these predators.

Lack of money in the game department also forces your game wardens to police terrific areas and no matter how good a man he is, he is lucky to be able to catch the game hog and lawbreakers. There is a dire need of more game wardens here and in all areas, so the game laws now in effect can be enforced.

We have been lucky here this year in another respect. No one has been shot. More luck than good management in many cases, I assure you. Some hunters have had shots whistle close or fall around them. I cannot see why hunters won't be careful, and be sure what they are shooting at.

Ranchers here lost a calf and a cow, shot by hunters who were just irresponsible people who thought they were bucks. Hunters have actually been shooting into bunches of does and from extreme ranges of over 100 yards. These trigger-happy shooters are a menace to our game and it scares a person to go out where someone could mistake him for a deer (with or without horns).

Adult and minor holders of licenses should realize the privilege we in this district have in being able to go out and hunt. Many a good deer hunting area of 50 years ago now only has memories of what once was a deer. Let us try and preserve this privilege here with reason, foresight and common sense.

Three Oliver Cage Teams Victorious

Three Oliver school hoop teams took the measure of Summerland Bluebirds at the local gym in an exhibition series last Friday evening.

For three quarters of the game Oliver was held in check in the senior boys' contest but the visitors ran out on the Bluebirds to chalk up a 44-35 win.

Oliver went out in front 13-6 in the first quarter only to have Bluebirds turn around and catch up in the second to leave the locals ahead 20-19 at the breather. Oliver held a 28-26 margin going into the final quarter but ran away as the game finished.

Graham and Martino were top scorers for the visitors, while honors were evenly divided among the Bluebirds, Nesbitt, Weitzel, Brawnner and Munn being chief point-getters.

It was a low-scoring contest in the senior girls' struggle. Oliver edging the Bluebirds 14-10 after Summerland held a 6-4 margin midway.

Kean and Trafford scored nine Bluebird points while Weddell was high for the visitors.

There was little doubt about the outcome of the junior boys' game as the locals failed to find the hoop throughout. It was a very low scoring first half, Oliver leading 6-4. From then on the visitors took more command and coasted home winners 20-6.

Raham was high Bluebird scorer while nearly every member of the big Oliver squad participated in the scoring.

Team lineups:
Oliver Jr. Boys: Radles 2, Topping 4, Teare 2, Gludovatz, Moriarity 2, McLennan 4, Hammett, F. McLennan 2, Prentice, Bertram 4-20.

Summerland Jr. Boys: Carston 2, Higgs, Solly, Lauer, Gerhardt, Klux, Pohlmann, Doumont, Towgood 2, Raham 5, Coggan-9.

Oliver Girls: Ritter Zarelli, Weddell 4, Stowell, L. Endrey 3, Riches, Goldsberry, Venables, M. Endrey 2, Alexander 3, Johnson-Horner 2-14.

Summerland Sr. Girls: Kean 4, Trafford 5, Jomori, Menu 1, Wilson, Klux, Fleming-10.

George Fudge and Dave Waddell will team together as Summerland's No. 1 threat in the big Okanagan badminton tournament being staged in the new Kelowna shuttle hall this weekend.

About ten of the leading contenders in the Summerland club will participate in this big tourney which is attracting shuttle stars from all valley clubs.

Championship and first and second flights will be played.

Teachers Hold Own On Cage Floor

One of the biggest school gatherings on record crowded the gym last Friday at noon when the male staff members met the senior boys' squad in the annual cage game.

The staff, despite many gasps for breath, managed to keep the lads at bay and held them to a 12-all draw. The boys wanted overtime but the teachers compromised quickly for another game later in the season.

Wendell Schwab got six points,

Last Half is Disastrous at Princeton Gym

For twenty minutes Summerland Merchants played heads up basketball at Princeton Saturday night and took a commanding tempo lead into the second stanza. But that was the end for the Merchants as Princeton took hold of the game and ran the visitors off their feet on the big new gymnasium floor. Final result was a 50-30 victory for Princeton, the winners outscoring Summerland 41-11 in the final half.

Don Rand was a standout for the Merchants, checking the dangerous Mullin to a standstill in the first half and adding eight points as well. Mullin got away in the second stanza, however, and chalked up 22 markers to lead his team to victory.

Sandy Jomori contributed a useful seven points while all players with the exception of Bill Clark found the range. Only seven Merchants made the trip.

Summerland-Jomori 7, McLennan 8, Rand 8, Guldi 4, Kato 5, Nesbitt 3, Clark-30.

Princeton: Plocah 7, Matthewson 1, Kovich 5, Currie 6, Mullin 22, Pringle 7, Huey 2-50.

Rotary Fails In Fellowship Award Bid

Donald R. Johnston, well-known Summerland student attending UBC and candidate for the Rotary Fellowship is a disappointed young man today. Announcement has been made that the choice of this Rotary district has gone to Ronald Sheldon Ross of Pullman, Wash.

Mr. Johnston was promoted for this fellowship by the Rotary Club of Summerland and his qualifications were outstanding for this coveted award.

Disappointment was expressed at Friday's meeting here that the local man was not chosen but Rotarians voiced the feeling that they would not allow this failure to project.

Mr. Johnston's letter of thanks to the Rotary club for its efforts on his behalf was read at the Friday session and follows:

"I wish to thank you most sincerely for selecting me as your candidate for the Rotary International Fellowship. I assure you, your thoughtfulness and kind efforts are deeply appreciated. To be selected by the members of one's 'hometown' for a fellowship such as the Rotary International provides makes the recipient doubly grateful for the honor he has received. My only hope is that I can justify the faith you have shown in me.

"It is difficult to grasp the full significance of a Rotary Fellowship unless one appreciates it by comparison. Of the sixteen pages in the University of British Columbia calendar devoted to the listing of fellowships, scholarships and bursaries, there is not one award or even two in combination which approaches in value, speaking in either academic or monetary terms, that which is offered by Rotary International.

"Rotary offers an opportunity unique in every respect, and if I am fortunate enough to be selected as a Rotary Fellow, it will be an excellent opportunity for me to travel and study in foreign countries, a factor which is so essential in my chosen field of geography.

"I should particularly like to thank Joe McLachlan for all his kind efforts in arranging the details connected with the application forms. My thanks also to Mr. A. K. Macleod and Mr. J. E. O'Mahony for the letters which they wrote on my behalf.

"Again I thank you for all your thoughtful consideration and I assure you I am, indeed, humbly grateful."

ger. Councillor Tait replied that no major improvement would be undertaken until the government decides where the new highway will be located.

J. E. O'Mahony queried when the hospital hill would be black-topped. Reeve Bentley stated many persons consider the grade too steep to black top but Mr. Tait was inclined to agree with Mr. O'Mahony that this stretch should be given a permanent treatment. E. H. Bennett considered the roads department deserves a great deal of credit for maintaining nearly 140 miles of roads in fine shape. In answer to another query, Councillor Tait stated some consideration had been given to making Prairie Valley road a secondary highway.

Renew All South Main in Two Years

Councillor Francis Steuart reviewed the irrigation department's policy of replacing old metal flume with concrete flumes and stated that 5,250 feet of assorted sizes of concrete flume had been renewed.

Besides, some 1600 feet of 92-inch concrete flume had been renewed, had been renewed and the high wooden trestles eliminated, thus relieving the danger to the railway. Two large fills on the south main and another on the flume leading to the reservoir had also been accomplished.

Renewal of the south main in concrete pipe will be completed in two years and will be a great credit to the ability of Water Foreman E. Kercher, he stated.

Sprinklers are making a great difference to the irrigation system, he continued, instancing the case of Peach Valley where hundreds of feet of fluming were eliminated, relieving a washout hazard.

He hoped Jones Flat irrigation scheme could be presented in the new year in by-law form.

Again he paid tribute to Mr. Kercher's work on the domestic water system extension to the north bench and Crescent Beach. Out of the $27,000 bylaw, $5,000 will be left over, he stated.

Fifty-two new domestic water connections were given this year, making the total 1,027 connections.

He appealed to the children and parents in Summerland to stop tampering with gates and flumes and not to float objects in the irrigation canals. He instanced several occasions in the past year when serious washouts were narrowly averted because of the pranks of children.

J. R. Butler suggested that a piping system should be used instead of replacing with cement fluming, as in time the entire system will come under sprinkler irrigation.

Councillor Steuart explained that until there is more call from the growers for sprinkler irrigation then the present type of system has to be maintained.

Asked about chlorination, Mr. Steuart replied that the system is working satisfactorily now, and the taste has been eliminated.

However, an engineer is expected to arrive here soon and the question of Summerland chlorination will be studied more carefully.

In answer to a further query, Mr. Steuart replied that there has been a distinct saving in water through sprinkler irrigation. Reeve Bentley added there are still many persons using too much water,

Seeks Co-operation for New Parks Board

With a budget of only $500 for parks and beaches Councillor Norman Holmes pointed out that little could be done except ordinary maintenance and a small number of improvements. He praised the work of Mr. Stevens at Powell Beach and Mr. Tilbe at Peach Orchard park for their diligence at low cost to the municipality.

Main objective of the council parks committee this year has been the passing of legislation to provide a municipal parks board and this is now an accomplished fact, he pointed out.

"I sincerely hope that the new board will get the full co-operation of the council and service clubs", he added.

Turning to civic finances, Mr. Holmes declared most departments are within their budgets. The sales tax rebate from the provincial government was up nearly 50 percent over the expected receipts and the tax rate was thus kept at the 1949 level.

Before the penalty date, $95,734 in taxes had been collected, only one-tenth of one percent down from 1949 collections. He expected that this deficiency would be caught up before the yearend.

He pointed out that some districts give a tentative financial statement to the annual meeting but as a proper statement is not available until next month he considered this a waste of money.

Reeve Bentley added that there must be comparisons in dealing with financial statements and no proper comparisons could be made until after the year end.

"Summerland has one of the highest financial ratings of any municipality in B.C.", commented His Worship. "It is 16 years since we borrowed from the banks to finance."

Further Meeting to Discuss Halls

Reeve Bentley then commended the fire brigade for an excellent job and mentioned that fire brigade estimated expenditure for the year was $3,025. Every fire which has broken out this year was extinguished before any real damage was done, he thought.

Councillor Atkinson gave a short report on the street lighting plan for Christmas and stated the new lights would be up before long.

Reeve Bentley told of the civic meeting in the near future which would discuss the proposed municipal hall and Ellison hall improvements. He labelled the new municipal hall a "must" in the coming year.

"It is terrible to ask your employees to work in such a hall as we have today," he emphasized.

Mel Monro questioned the spending of money for Ellison hall in the light of economic conditions in the fruit industry and the added hall accommodation being made available here.

Reeve Bentley thanked the municipal staff for its year's endeavors on behalf of the ratepayers while J. R. Butler moved a vote of appreciation to the reeve and council and school board.

Agricultural Survey Being Conducted by Bureau of Statistics

Farmers across Canada are again being asked to supply facts about their farms in order that estimates can be made of the numbers of live stock in Canada and the cost of hired labor. Forms will be mailed by the agriculture division of the dominion bureau of statistics and provincial departments of agriculture will co-operate in this work.

The success of the survey and the accuracy of the agricultural statistics published depend on the co-operation of farmers in filling out and returning the questionnaires. A widespread response from all types of farmers throughout each province is needed in order that the statistics can be based on a sufficiently large number of reports from a representative sample of farms throughout Canada.

The statistics obtained from the survey, are used extensively throughout the year. The dominion bureau of statistics is the official source of statistical information in Canada and its figures are used by governments, farm organizations and industry to plan future operations.

International organizations such as the world Food and Agriculture Organization depend on the bureau to supply up-to-date figures on Canada's agricultural industry.

The farmer, through providing the information needed by the bureau, has a real opportunity to help form a true picture of agricultural conditions.

The survey has no connection with taxation. The farmer's individual form is seen only by workers in the dominion and provincial agricultural statistical offices and the farmer is protected by law against the wrong use of his return. All individual forms are kept strictly confidential.

Local Stores to Re-open Extra Hours Next Week for Xmas Shoppers

Summerland stores will be open two evenings before Christmas but will not be able to open longer than noon on the Wednesdays after Christmas and New Year's because of the municipal bylaw in effect.

Such was the decision of the monthly meeting of the Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn. at the IOOF hall on Thursday evening last.

According to the decisions made last Thursday, following are the hours of the stores for this holiday season:
Wednesday, December 20, open all day.

Friday, December 22, open until 9 p.m.

Saturday, December 23, open until 9 p.m.

Monday, Christmas Day, Dec. 25, closed all day.

Tuesday, Boxing Day, Dec. 26, closed all day.

Wednesday, Dec. 27, open until 12 o'clock noon.

Saturday, Dec. 30, open until 9 p.m. as usual.

Monday, New Year's Day, Jan. 1, closed all day.

Tuesday, Jan. 2, closed all day.

Wednesday Jan. 3, open until 12 o'clock noon.

Close at Noon

Retail merchants discussed the Wednesday closing after the two holiday periods and expressed the opinion that they want to stay open all day but because of the municipal bylaw they are powerless to otherwise than to close at noon.

The bylaw could be set aside for the time being but would involve rather a complicated legal setup and the retail merchants' group decided it would not be wise to tamper with the present bylaw.

President Roy Wellwood expressed the thought that it seemed rather incongruous that some stores were never brought within the scope of the bylaw yet retail merchants under the association would be subject to prosecution if they did not abide by the bylaw regulations regarding the Wednesday afternoon closing.

The opening all day Wednesday before Christmas is allowed under the bylaw provision, one Wednesday in the whole year when such provision is allowed.

The annual meeting of the association is being held in February, a nominating committee of President Pruden and Norman Holmes being appointed to bring in a suggested slate.

Arrangements are being made by the retailers' association to have an attractive Christmas fighting project on the Alex. Stevens property overlooking the West Summerland business section and Christmas trees along the sidewalk.

At the suggestion of Reeve Bentley, larger trees will be selected for the business section to be attached to the lamp standards rather than the small-type trees which have been placed in the flagpole holes along the sidewalk.

These smaller trees have been battered, in many cases, by vehicles parking along the street as the car bumpers cannot help but hit the trees on many spots.

Also, the merchants are arranging for a free matinee at the Rialto theatre on Saturday afternoon, December 23.

MUST HAVE ROADS
On behalf of Mrs. Gertrude Young, Lorne Perry appeared before Tuesday's council session seeking elimination of a road and lane in her proposed subdivision at the top of Peach Orchard hill. Pollock Motors Ltd. has acquired a corner section to be used as a car parking lot. Council agreed that if any further subdivision of the property was made the lane and road must be provided but if only the corner section is removed no provision would be needed to provide further access to the remainder of the property.

Arrangements will be made to have the co-operation of students in making the move to the new quarters.

The speakers' club application for use of a classroom for meetings each Tuesday met with board acceptance.

As the present council has been returned intact for 1951, school board members believe they can make progress towards closing the municipal road between the school properties. The 1950 council gave the project its blessing but did not implicate itself in any financial obligation.

From Victoria has come word that Aubrey King will automatically become trustees for the rural area as well as rural attendance representative as he was the only taxpayer present from the rural district when the annual meeting was held.

It was learned in another communication that school boards are empowered to take out insurance policies to protect trustees when travelling on school board business.

POSTPONE MEETING
As regular meeting would fall on Boxing Day, the final December session of the municipal council will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 27, it was decided on Tuesday.

Hearty applause greeted D. C. Thompson's report that $167 had been raised for the Youth Centre from the Amateur Night program last Friday.

It was announced that the 1951 provincial command Legion convention will be held in Penticton May 20 to 23.

D. L. Sanborn, children's program and education, Peter Greer.

Lorne G. Perry headed the nominating committee and submitted the suggested slate of officers. Got New Secretary Legion members voted $15 to the Tranquille comforts fund, 20 boxes of apple to the Shaughnessy Military hospital ladies' auxiliary and $25 to the local Girl Guides for purchase of a tent.

Announcement that Secretary Alan Calvert would be relinquishing his post was announced by President Ross McLachlan, who declared Mr. Calvert had been "a great help" to the executive in the past year. His place is being filled next year by R. S. Oxley, who will also be branch pensions officer.

Dr. C. G. Woodbridge was the unanimous choice of last night's nomination meeting of Summerland Branch No. 22, Canadian Legion, to succeed Ross McLachlan as president for 1951.

He will be officially elected at the January monthly meeting which will also be the annual session.

Capt. A. M. Temple was unopposed for the position of first vice-president while E. E. Bates and E. F. (Hilly) Smith are the nominees for second vice-presidency.

For the executive of five following are nominees: Reeve C. E. (Ned) Bentley, H. Pruden, A. B. Caldwell, George Clark, W. H. Durick, T. Fisher, H. McCutcheon, W. C. McCutcheon.

Dr. F. W. Andrew was returned to the post of honorary president. filled by acclamation, as follows: Sgt.-at-Arms, C. E. (Tiny) Hankins; padre, Canon F. V. Harrison; sick committee, H. C. Howie; canteen, D. L. Sanborn; social, W. Milne; membership, J. May; house and grounds, Ben Newton; relief,

B.C. to Sell More Apples For Export

Although no contract has been signed yet, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. is hopeful that a deal will be consummated shortly to sell an additional 334,000 boxes of Okanagan apples, mostly McIntosh, to the United Kingdom.

A. K. Loyd states Nova Scotia has been unable to fill its commitments to the UK and a tentative offer has been made by the UK food mission to B.C. to supply additional apples beyond the original contract of slightly more than one million boxes.

United Kingdom officials state that the remainder of the Canadian funds set aside for apple purchases will be made available, namely $610,000.

B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. believes that the removal of certain grades and sizes of apples from storage stocks for shipment to the Old Country will have a tonic effect on the market at home.

Although it is stressed that no contract has been signed, there is every likelihood that 290,000 boxes of various sizes and grades of McIntosh will be included in this additional shipment, along with 35,000 small size Delicious which will include 20,000 boxes cee grade. Balance of the order will be made up of sundry varieties, it is expected.

Plans Well Underway for New Station

Municipal electrical committee has decided in favor of an indoor type construction for the proposed new switching station, Councillor F. E. Atkinson informed municipal council on Tuesday.

A wooden building lined with fire resistant material will be acceptable to authorities and would be 15 by 30 feet in dimensions, he declared. A cement floor sloping so that any oil spilled would drain away into a sump would be essential.

This type of a building can be erected immediately behind the present switching station and will mean that only one shutoff will be necessary to make the changeover.

One of the main items of expense in this connection will be the purchase of a new main switch, Mr. Atkinson reported.

Tentative plans have been submitted by a number of electrical firms and are now in the hands of H. A. Blakeborough, consulting engineer. He will be asked to submit plans for firm estimates to be obtained.

C.G. Woodbridge Succeeds Ross McLachlan as New Legion Prexy

Dr. C. G. Woodbridge was the unanimous choice of last night's nomination meeting of Summerland Branch No. 22, Canadian Legion, to succeed Ross McLachlan as president for 1951.

He will be officially elected at the January monthly meeting which will also be the annual session.

Capt. A. M. Temple was unopposed for the position of first vice-president while E. E. Bates and E. F. (Hilly) Smith are the nominees for second vice-presidency.

Clement Atlee, prime minister of Great Britain, paid a hurried visit to Ottawa last weekend in the course of his conference with President Truman of the United States. Above Mr. Atlee can be seen in discussion with Sir William Slim, chief of the imperial guard staff who accompanied him on his trip to North America.

Uniform Agreement on Salary Sought by Valley Teacher-Trustee Meet

That a committee of valley teachers is meeting a committee of valley trustees this week in an attempt to find a common solution to the salary question in Okanagan schools was the announcement made by C. J. Bleasdale, school board chairman to the trustees Monday evening.

A uniform agreement which will cover all school districts is being sought and the committees will report back to their respective groups. It may be possible to reach a solution before Christmas.

Princeton, Oliver, Revelstoke and Salmon Arm have already formulated a contract with their teaching staff. Mr. Bleasdale, reported from a meeting of the Okanagan branch of the B.C. School Trustees' Assn. held at Vernon last Thursday.

It is doubtful if the contracts awarded in these cases will be satisfactory to teachers in central Okanagan, the board was informed.

Comparisons with schedules of United States teachers in the comparative fruit-growing section to the immediate south was made by local trustees on Monday, the Okmak schedule indicating that although the schedule starts a much higher level than here the higher brackets are not so far removed.

Local trustees agreed to stand by any unanimous decision reached by the meeting of the valley school trustees association following report by its teachers' salary committee.

Delay School Opening
Although coast workmen have started to lay the floors in the new high school classrooms, Chairman Bleasdale expressed doubt that work will progress sufficiently for to allow classes to occupy the new school at the first of the year.

However, it will be only a matter of a week or two weeks at the most before classes are able to make the switchover to the new building, he thought.

All necessary equipment is here now to complete the junior-senior high school plant, Mr. Bleasdale stated.

Arrangements will be made to have the co-operation of students in making the move to the new quarters.

The speakers' club application for use of a classroom for meetings each Tuesday met with board acceptance.

As the present council has been returned intact for 1951, school board members believe they can make progress towards closing the municipal road between the school properties. The 1950 council gave the project its blessing but did not implicate itself in any financial obligation.

POSTPONE MEETING

Hearty applause greeted D. C. Thompson's report that $167 had been raised for the Youth Centre from the Amateur Night program last Friday.

It was announced that the 1951 provincial command Legion convention will be held in Penticton May 20 to 23.

Chinese Resident To Become Citizen

Loung Wing Fong, a resident of West Summerland for 35 years, who came from China in 1894, will be presented with his Canadian citizenship certificate at a ceremony to be held in Kelowna next Tuesday morning.

Loung has operated a laundry at West Summerland for these many years and is a well-known and respected citizen of this community.

Bennett Will be Told Legion Stand

Local Canadian Legion branch is seeking an interview with W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan when he comes to Summerland, to place before him the Legion's stand in regard to B.C. Hospital Insurance Service payments.

It is the Legion's contention that certain categories should be exempt from payment and a Legion Committee wishes to emphasize this point to Mr. Bennett.

Wives of veterans' allowance recipients, recipients of widows' allowance and recipients of dependent parents' allowance should be placed on the exempt list.

To Remove Line from Jenkinson Property

Reeve C. E. Bentley reported to council on Tuesday that Smith & Henry has agreed to a right-of-way for municipal electrical line over their property in order that the high line may not have to cross the J. E. Jenkinson residential property, immediately south.

Mr. Jenkinson would not agree to an absolute indemnity in lieu of a right-of-way over his property as proposed by Lawyer Jon Atkins.

Controls for Canada Should Coincide With United States Says Cruikshanks

Canada is in no position to impose controls by herself but if they are necessary they must be imposed in conjunction with the United States and should "go down the board", George Cruikshanks, MP for Fraser Valley told the Yale Liberal Association annual meeting in Kelowna Tuesday night.

Mr. Cruikshanks was confident that the present government could do everything in its power to preserve peace and that Canada would stand united under the present administration.

Arthur W. Gray, well-known Rutland Grit, was re-elected by acclamation to the presidency of the Yale Liberal Assn.

One of the chief subjects under discussion was the "doublecross" which Dolph Browne of Vernon alleged concerning C. J. McDowell's candidature at the last federal election.

In his reply, Mr. McDowell stated, he had made no promise to Mr. Browne concerning not allowing his name to go before the electors, but he had said that if no support was forthcoming from Ottawa he might not run.

He declared that support in the form of literature and campaign material had been forthcoming from national headquarters although no financial help had been given.

Legion in Support of Defence Plan

Reeve C. E. Bentley's contention that a more direct link between towns and districts in the formation of plans for civil defence should be instituted by proper governmental authorities fell on sympathetic ears when he spoke to last night's Canadian Legion meeting.

He pointed out that in case of bombing at the coast the interior would be overwhelmed by refugees and unless there is an overall plan for the province chaos will result.

Local Legion endorsed the resolution demanding action which was passed at the last meeting of the Okanagan Municipal Association.

Full text of this resolution, which was only available in rough outline last week, has now been prepared for submission to proper authorities and follows:

"Whereas since the conclusion of World War II, the people of our country generally have been lulled into a sense of false security caused partly by our government's failure to realize that the Far East was a potential danger-spot, and partly due to the fact that our people are lovers of peace;

"And whereas the world situation today is such that there might be an abrupt change from a peacetime to a war-time basis;

"And whereas in such an event there would be only a limited time available in which to prepare for war;

"And whereas our defense effort is considered to be inadequate, particularly in regard to civilian defence;

"And whereas it is in the interests of our people as a whole that we should immediately take steps to organize all men, women and industry for the particular job that may have to do in case of emergency;

"And whereas it takes months properly to organize and train an army;

"And whereas at the present time Canada only has the nucleus for an active army;

"Be it therefore resolved by this meeting of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association that we demand that our federal government take immediate steps to organize the country as a whole and to see that every industry is geared for peak production and that all necessary controls should be initiated without delay;

"And be it further resolved that the government be requested to see that every man over eighteen years of age should be fitted for training, either in the army, navy or air force, and that the necessary number of women be recruited for the women's services;

"And be it further resolved that the balance of the nation be registered and be allotted the job for civilian defence."

REST ROOMS NEEDED
Need for rest room facilities in West Summerland business area was stressed before municipal council on Tuesday by the South Okanagan Health Unit. Hand-washing facilities at the ball park were also suggested.

Not Official Policy
In connection with the last election, Mr. Cruikshanks asked if the Yale Liberal Assn's policy had been one of coalition or co-operation with the Pro Cons.

A. W. Gray replied with an emphatic: "Definitely not. Anything done in that line was done by individuals on their own initiative."

Oliver Liberals complained that it takes four to eight months to receive benefits from the Canadian Farm Loan Board and through a resolution asked for steps to remedy the situation. The convention agreed.

Capt. C. R. Bull, Kelowna, sponsored a resolution which called for some form of compulsory military training. "In view of the present world condition be it resolved that we support the federal government to introduce some form of compulsory military training."

Far Away Fields Aren't Really Greener

IT HAS been said many times over, but it will bear repeating once more . . . The place to do your Christmas shopping is right here in Summerland.

The old adage that "far away fields are greener" must surely apply to those who wander afield to do their shopping, or so it would seem.

We who have the best interests of our home community at heart urge everyone to shop right here at home and not travel to the next biggest centre.

Recently we observed that some Pentiction merchants believe too many Pentiction people are travelling to the coast for the Christmas shopping.

Coast papers this week carried a special item that hundreds of Vancouver residents are travelling across into the United States to do their shopping.

Where does this line of thought end? By the time the disloyal home-towner gets through paying for transportation costs and other extras which invariably coincide with any trip away from home he is out of pocket.

We suggest you stay at home, patronize the man who has given you service the other eleven months and we will have a happier and more prosperous community. It has been said before but we intend to keep right on preaching this gospel.

Library Scheme Needs More Books

IT IS difficult to understand the reason for Pentiction's attitude towards the Okanagan Union Library which most representatives are wishing to put on a more solid financial basis.

For some time library buildings in most districts were being supplied free of rental or maintenance costs. But in Pentiction's case rental of $75 or $100 per month was being charged. When Summerland decided to put its library proposal on a par with Pentiction the entire procedure was forced into the open.

As a result the rest of the members of the Union library scheme decided all districts should be treated alike. Practically everybody but Pentiction agreed that it was only a fair proposal.

When one district supplies a building free of charge and another district charges a high rental fee there is naturally going to be resentment aroused. Any deal which is not equal and fair to all concerned is on a shaky foundation.

Last week library representatives from all parts of the scheme tried to work out a plan on an equitable basis. They have succeeded but over the protests of Pentiction city representatives.

The real truth of the situation is that the entire library scheme will go under if more of the money raised by assessment is not put into new books. Administration, rentals and maintenance are taking too large a share of the taxpayers' library dollar.

With each district paying its own rentals, more of the per capita charge can be channelled into the purchase of new books. That will place the library scheme in a much sounder position.

The Brotherhood of Man

THIS week Rotarians were given an insight into one observer's appraisal of the state in which western Europe can be found today.

A Rotary Fellow, Mr. Bill Hayden of Couer d'Alene, Idaho, had spent a year and a half travelling in various parts of Europe. What he found there can be both distressing and hopeful.

It is distressing to learn that the French, for instance, have practically given up hope. They make little attempt to rebuild the structures ruined in World War II for they are convinced another war is imminent. They say: "What's the use?"

This defeatist attitude is hard for us here to understand. But it would be more readily understood if our homeland had been subject to the battles of history. It would only be natural to shrug and say that it is useless to rebuild something which will soon be razed again.

This is a big educational job. It is distressing to hear the speaker state that UNESCO, the educational group of the United Nations, is pitifully weak financially in comparison to the task it faces, even in Europe alone.

We are fairly well convinced that only through education can the peoples of the world be brought closer together with a greater understanding of each others problems.

And yet the United Nations, on which we base our hopes for future survival of the civilized world as we would have it continue, is not able to provide sufficient funds for our educational group to do a worthwhile job. It is distressing.

We were brought face to face with another fact which we have suspected for some time—that the constant change in United States foreign policy since the end of World War II has been most confusing to foreign peoples. They have come to mistrust this foreign policy and the true motives behind the country's attempts to gain a unified world state simply because it has not remained constant in general policy.

Yet throughout the whole talk, this young student of world affairs never lost his hope that peace can be attained if sufficient persons strive for it. Despite the hardships, the mistrust, the suspicion which he has encountered on his travels he still can look hopefully for "peace" and can talk the "brotherhood of man".

That is a hopeful note among the seeds of doubt and dread.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Our local school board is justly proud of the well-equipped rooms in the new school to be devoted to the teaching of woodwork and metalwork to boys, cooking and sewing to girls. These studies are certainly much more likely to be of value to our youngsters when they grow up than much of the academic stuff they are forced to learn; an adult can be perfectly happy and successful without ever dreaming that curds are not something Miss Muffet ate or that gerundives are any different from other root vegetables.

But I sometimes wonder, in my more devilish moods, if it might not be a good idea to teach the boys the cooking and sewing, and the girls the wood and metalwork. After all, the girls, if they marry men of moderate means, may have to learn to cook and sew under very different conditions from a sterile, orderly, home economics room. Many of them will become nurses, business women, teachers, stenographers, or other varieties of old maids—or should we say 'unclaimed treasures?'—and never need to cook or sew.

And those of the boys who need to know woodwork and metalwork will probably have to relearn it to suit the special conditions under which they work. It's very nice to get the preliminaries in school, but it's something they will pick up anyway, if they need it, and forget, if they don't.

Not that I'm saying it isn't a good thing, mind you; but how much more intriguing to reverse the process. Can't you imagine the young lady, when circumstances indicate hinting her suitability ty for marriage to some luckless swain, boasting, not "I can cook your meals or darn your socks or sew," but "I can build a garage, weld a fender, and solder leaky kettles so well you'll never have to buy new ones." It might be pretty effective.

And can't you imagine—or can you?—a boy friend whose dreams of a future home include a cute little corner where he can whip up the seams on tiny garments, much to his wife's delighted surprise? Or whose hope chest includes a special set of stainless steel pottery and pannery for the meals he's going to prepare?

Why shouldn't men stay home and sleep in of a morning and mopefully mop up floors and cook meals for a lifetime? It ought to be just as fair for a man to be married to a carpenter or welder as for a woman. In fact, I know of several women who can saw, straighten and hammer nails quicker than their husbands. Once I knew a man who was so good at needlework that he won the prize for ladies' knitted underwear at the local fair, quite to the—or, ah-grin of some of the local ladies who fancied themselves deft damsels with the needles.

When my sister, who had been a professional woman, married, she knew nothing about cooking or sewing. Of course, she would have known if she had taken them in school, you say. But alas, she waited so long to get married, owing to an acute shortage of offers, that she would have forgotten all domestic arts anyway by that time.

And it didn't matter, for the man who married was an excellent cook, and you could always count on a much better meal at their house on an evening if the wife had been out that afternoon and the husband home than vice versa. When Bill prepared roast chicken with chestnut dressing, and pineapple upside-down cake with whipped cream, one could forget everything but sheer gastric ecstasy.

Of course, my sister stayed home after her marriage and cooked and darned, and all the rest. But she was apprehensive about it for years, and never did enjoy it. And her husband, though he went out to the office daily, much preferred putting around the house, and loved to get home and cook a meal when May was out.

I'm sure that if his wife had gone to work daily and earned the pay cheques, and he had stayed home and kept the house, they would have both been happier. They'd have eaten better. Who knows but that a lot of other frustrated and unhappy men and women of today, if they knew enough about each others work to change places with their husbands, or wives, would not be much happier and better off?

SEEKS SUBSTITUTE FOR BLOOD PLASMA
Mr. Bonar Sutherland, son of Mrs. J. R. Sutherland, Victoria, and the late J. R. Mr. Sutherland will work on furthering experiments in finding a substitute for human blood plasma.

Credit Union Shows Progress

Summerland and District Credit Union, organized in July, 1944, with 19 members who invested $132, has progressed in six years until it has a membership of 350 with total assets of $99,099.28, declared Mr. Walter Bleasdale, local manager this week.

In that period the credit union has loaned to its members $260,000, keeping the interest money at home except for insurance premiums paid to CUNA Mutual, a co-operative insurance company owned by the credit union people in North America.

Legislation authorizing the establishment of credit unions was first passed in 1938 at Victoria, with the safeguard of government supervision.

Since then 220 credit unions have been organized in this province with a combined membership of 50,000 and assets of more than $10 millions.

Services offered through the credit union are insured savings, thrift encouragement, insured loans to members, health insurance and fire insurance through co-operative companies owned by credit union and co-operative members, providing family protection.

On Monday evening the local district school board considered an application by the local credit union for permission to approach the school children through staff members and institute a weekly savings plan.

When a student has saved $5, a share in the credit union can be issued. Thrift amongst the youngsters would be encouraged, the union thought.

Although not in a position to praise or condemn the scheme, school trustees declared that if any teachers wish to institute the plan in a class there would be no objection on the part of the board.

'B.C. Teacher' Magazine tells Story of MacDonald School

"Something of a precedent was set for British Columbia when Summerland School District christened their newly-renovated elementary school 'MacDonald School' recently," says an article which appeared in the November issue of The B.C. Teacher.

"Instead of naming it after some general statesman or old resident long dead, they chose this name in honor of the distinguished teacher who has long been, and still is, principal of that school.

"For 31 years Mr. S. A. MacDonald has held that position, starting back in 1919, when four different buildings housed the elementary grades. In 1922 he became head of a new 8-room consolidated elementary school, and through the years has set records for constant attendance, efficient operating and pleasant public relations which have few equals anywhere in the province.

"Mr. MacDonald has always been a keen supporter of the B.C.T.F. and in 1928 was president of its Okanagan branch, the O.V.T.A. At the same time, he has found time to take a prominent part in community affairs and when the Summerland Board of Trade instituted an annual Good Citizenship award in 1938, Mr. MacDonald was one of its early recipients.

"In recent years the enrolment of the eight grades under Mr. MacDonald's supervision has expanded so rapidly that sixteen classrooms became necessary for them, so in 1948 the Summerland School Board began a building program.

"A four-room addition was made to the elementary school, and the original eight rooms renovated, making it one of the most modern of its kind in the province.

"A new junior-senior high school is now under construction, and rapidly nearing completion, so that Grades VII, and VIII, have passed out of Mr. MacDonald's jurisdiction; but he still has 12 divisions to supervise, as well as teaching part time, in the school that now bears his name.

"This tribute to an outstanding teacher and citizen is all the more pleasing because it has been made while he is still vigorously at work, with years of service ahead of him. It is to be hoped that more schools throughout the province will follow the example that Summerland has set."

The Deadly CHRISTMAS TREE

Reprinted from Rotarian Magazine

Pretty as it is, as your Christmas tree dries out it becomes more of a prime target for fire every hour it is in the house.

Such is the stark warning of the provincial fire marshal's office in a recently-published circular. There have been many such warnings issued recently concerning the dangers of Christmas trees and decorations but none bring home the hazard quite as much as the story by Donovan Fitzpatrick and David A. Weiss in a recent issue of The Rotarian.

Entitled "Your Deadly Christmas Tree", the story follows:

At 6:30 Christmas Eve the little town of Hyndman, Pennsylvania, bustled with preparations for the holiday season. Evergreen wreaths and sprigs of holly decorated lampposts in the downtown district, and the stores were thronged with late shoppers hurrying to make last-minute purchases. In the residential section almost every house displayed a Christmas tree in the front room, brilliant with colored light. And in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Somers Fisher the Christmas tree suddenly burst into flame.

Three hours later Hyndman was a shambles. The entire business district—bank, post office and 12 stores—was burnt out. Twenty-three houses and apartments lay in smoking ruins; leaving 60 people homeless. Mr. Fisher and three others were in a nearby hospital in critical condition. Mrs. Fisher was dead.

The Hyndman fire was no isolated case. From mid-December to late January similar tragedies happen all over America. A Christmas tree blazes up—and the gay holiday ends in death and destruction. The files of the National Board of Fire Underwriters contain hundreds of reports testifying to the terrible power of the Number One Christmas Killer—the evergreen tree.

Fifty-two people burned to death in Christmas fires in the U.S.A. alone last year, 68 in the year before. Hundreds are injured in the non-fatal fires that destroy over a million dollars' worth of property annually.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, in one of its safety pamphlets, points out that "few people realize that the ordinary Christmas tree can be one of the most inflammable objects known. It is filled with pitch and resin. Once ignited it is almost impossible to put out."

The NBFU is not exaggerating. It takes very little to turn a Christmas tree into a blazing torch. In New York City a 6-year-old boy played with his electric train beneath the tree on Christmas morning. A tiny spark shot out—the result of defective wiring—and landed on a lower branch. The boy

Singers & Players Club

The Singers attendance on Tuesday was such as to decide Mr. Bud Stuart in favor of accepting Rev. Mr. Knipfel's invitation to present an appropriate program of Christmas music at the Baptist Church, West Summerland, on Sunday evening, December 17. There will be a further two practices for this service both at the Baptist church, tonight at 8 o'clock and at 2:30 on Sunday afternoon.

Since the bigger the choir the better, any singers who would still like to participate are invited to join us at these times. We must here express our appreciation to our friends from Pentiction for their valuable help with this occasion.

There will be no further Singer practices until next year when work will recommence Tuesday, January 9 at 8 p.m. at the high school.

Mr. Lacey Fisher made further progress in casting "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" but there are still two or three good male parts to be filled. However, with the holiday season so close it was decided to have no further meetings this year and the next Players rehearsal will also be on Tuesday, January 9.

It would have been satisfying indeed to have been able to rest this holiday season with plans well in hand for our two productions but though this will not be possible we should not be too disappointed with the progress we have made so far this year.

It is at the moment an open question as to whether or not we begin our season too early as we are led to believe that after the holidays more interest will be evident and that more prospective Singers and Players will have the time to join us then. They will be welcome and on January 9 it should be possible to proceed with ensembles and stage routine for "Patience" and intensive rehearsals for "Here Comes Mr. Jordan".

Amateur Night Packs Youth Centre to Absolute Limit

Standing room only was the choice of late comers to the big Amateur Night concert staged by Summerland branch, Canadian Legion, at the Youth Centre last Friday evening with "Grandpappy Jackson", popular Early Bird announcer of Radio Station CKOV, Kelowna, as master of ceremonies.

It was his presence which transformed the concert from an ordinary program to one which sparkled throughout.

Contestants were divided into junior and senior classes and a very enjoyable program resulted. Dave Thompson was in charge of the affair on behalf of the Canadian Legion branch sponsors.

All net proceeds are being devoted to Youth Centre funds, and more than $100 was raised by this means.

In junior class, Shirley Gardner's lovely solo renditions won first prize while Shirley Clark and Maureen Prior in a piano duet were second place winners.

Marcel Bonthoux and his piano accordion received first prize in the senior class while Johnny Bettuzzi's trumpet solo earned for him second honors.

First prizes were $10 each and second prizes $5 each.

Following are other contestants: Junior—Miss Kay Hamilton's choir; Shirley Burnell and Barbara McClure, duet; Berry Bird and Sheila Daniels, piano duet; The Five B's, Christmas carols; Valentina Trofimenkoff, solo; The Drum Majorettes, gymnastic routine and baton twirling; Eugene Bates, piano solo; Judy Johnston, sword dance; Dorothy Carston and Beverley Dowds, vocal duet; Kathleen Greenslade, piano solo.

Senior—Joe Bush and His Twigs, hillbilly music; E. C. Deringer, recitation; Harry Howis, vocal solo; Ben Newton, vocal solo.

Those who assisted these artists as accompanists included Miss K. Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Dunsdon, Mrs. D. Dunham and G. G. Brown.

WANTS WATER ESTIMATE
George Fudge has asked council for an estimate on the cost of supplying his Crescent Beach road home with domestic water. He declared that "Mac" Johnston intends to build near his home soon.

Ten Pass Their First Aid Exams

Ten candidates were successful in passing the examinations conducted on December 5 by the Summerland branch of the St. John Ambulance Assn. Instruction in first aid was provided by Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh, assisted by Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony.

The examiner for tests held this month was Dr. W. H. B. Munn.

Certificates—Mrs. Donna A. Charlton, Wesley E. Greer, Mrs. Mary Sedlar and Mrs. Lillie E. Wolfner.

Vouchers—George Lewis, John C. St. Denis, Mrs. Leona B. Witherpoon.

Labels—Charles H. Denike, Donald W. Tait, Miss Doreen Tait.

Troop attendance this week was 30 out of a possible of 34. Point scores are as follows: Eagles 99, Hawks 98, Buffaloes 99 and Beavers 91.

Special instruction on engineers badge was given by Mr. F. Doumont who took some of the older boys over to the box factory and explained the operation of the power plant there. There will be a wind-up on this badge the first meeting in the New Year.

Scout Wilburn completed his second class badge and Scouts Draper, Lewis, Baillie and Hackman passed their Kim's game test.

Special instruction periods were given on axeman'ship, signalling and first aid, and for entertainment two inter-patrol basketball games and two new roughhouse games.

Notices—Next meeting will be on Thursday, Dec. 21 instead of Tuesday, Dec. 19 at the Youth Centre. Please bring running shoes to meetings. Duty patrol, Buffaloes.

GUIDE NEWS

1st Company
On Wednesday, Dec. 6, the 1st company of Summerland Guides held a Parents' Night at the Youth Centre.

We began our meeting with inspection and the best dressed Guide was chosen. Donna Eden gained this honor making two marks for her patrol, the Hepaticas.

Parents were invited to review the patrol corners, and the Guides had a game on their tenderfoot tests and after that a game called "zoo".

Captain McIntosh enrolled Alma Lekei and the emergency helpers, pathfinders, cook and needlewoman badges were given out.

Jill Sanborn received her first-class badge, the first one to be received in Summerland and Anne Beggs received her second class badge.

A program, "Share the Consequences" followed and was enjoyed by both Guides and parents. Refreshments were served while the Guides had campfire.

During the evening Mrs. N. O. Solly very kindly tested a number of Guides for their hostess badges.

We all enjoy having Mrs. Russell White at our meetings and we would like to thank her for her help on Parents' Night.

There will be no more Guide meetings until the new year.

2nd Company

Plan for the whist drive and Mother and Daughter tea have taken up most of the past two meetings. The whist drive is being held by both companies to raise money for necessary funds, and the tea as a Christmas party, and also to assist Guides in winning their hostess badges.

Practically all the first-aid and bed-making tests have been passed and after a few more tests in semaphore and knots the majority of the company will be working on their first class.

After gaining her first class a Guide goes on to work for her emblems, the first of these, the little house emblem, is presented when the child nurse, laundress, homemaker, and cook's badges have been earned and the other, the woodcraft emblem, is presented to Guides who have passed four outdoor badges, the hiker, the woodsman, and any two of the following, naturalist, stalker, tracker, birdwatcher, and astronomer.

Frances Atkinson was introduced as the new company leader, replacing Jane Woolliams who has left the company. Margaret Marshall stepped up to fill Frances' place as patrol leader.

Next meeting—Friday, Dec. 15, Youth Centre, 7 p.m.

Teen Town

The parent social turned out quite well although we did go in the hole a little. The Teen Town sweater was won by Jack Dunham. Congratulations Jack! Some people are sure lucky to win an $8 sweater for a dime.

There won't be a dance this Saturday night but on Dec. 30 there is going to be something we haven't had before. It is going to be a formal dance. You can come either formal or semi-formal, if you wish. We hope to be able to get Ken's Men to play. We are going to invite Kelowna and Pentiction Teen Towns. The admission is 50c each and $1 a couple.

Teen Town crests will be on sale in the near future. They will be 35c each and are grey with maroon letters which are Teen Town's colors. The crest will have TT on it. If any of you want one you'd better get one as they are really sharp.

Three new council members were chosen until new elections in January. They are: Barry Wilson, Jack Smith and Terry Coggan. Six of this year's council members will remain on the council for another year. They are: Graham Munn, Barry Wilson, Ken Brawnner, Esther Metters, Arlene Raincock and Doreen Killback.

THE DEADLY

was burned to death and the house destroyed in the fire that followed.

The NBFU has records of fires started when a careless smoker stood too close to a tree, of fires caused merely by an electric bulb resting against a branch. In many cases, there was no apparent reason why the trees should have caught fire—but they did.

A Christmas tree not only burns easily—it burns fast. The underwriters' laboratories test all kinds of items for safety and sponsored a test... to burn a 12-foot tree. It burned completely in 13 seconds.

Many people believe that certain chemicals will render a tree fireproof or fire resistant. To this the U-L engineers give an emphatic "No". Never yet, officials say, have they tested a solution they can recommend.

A booklet called Fireproofing Christmas Trees, put out some years ago by the (U.S.) department of agriculture, stated that a mixture of ammonium sulphate and water would render an evergreen fireproof. In testing the solution the underwriters' laboratories found it only lessened the tree's resistance to ignition, but also caused the needles to dry out faster than usual. The booklet has been discontinued.

Some time ago a fireproofing "paint" came on the market. One of the NBFU executives tried the solution of his own tree at home. It rendered the tree fire resistant—but it also gave it such a sticky, brownish appearance that his small daughter wailed, "But, Daddy, it doesn't look like a tree any more!"

Until an adequate method of fireproofing comes along, your best bet is to keep the tree as moist as possible. Cut the trunk on a diagonal and stand the base in a container of water. When the needles begin to fall off, get rid of the tree—even if the children protest.

A safety engineer put it this way: "Most people leave themselves wide open for trouble because they regard the danger of Christmas-tree fires as they do auto accident—it won't happen to me." So John Doe, come Christmas, lugs home a tree and proceeds to violate every safety rule in the book.

"He sets up a tree a week before Christmas and doesn't take it down until long after New Year's Day. He puts it near a heater or radiator, or in a doorway. He sprinkles cotton 'snow' around the base and plugs three or four strings of lights into the same socket. If some of the bulbs happen to rest against the branches he doesn't worry. And he forgets to disconnect the lights when he leaves the house.

"Everyone of these signs of ignorance or carelessness can lead to a fire."

1. Select a small tree and keep it outside until a few days before Christmas.
2. Keep the tree moist by placing the base in water and shut off any nearby radiators.
3. Never use lighted candles.
4. Check the electric wiring for worn spots and loose connections, and don't overload the circuits.
5. Be sure none of the electric bulbs touches a branch.
6. Don't allow the children to play with electrical toys beneath the tree.
7. Remove accumulation of gift wrappings from around the tree.
8. Use only fireproof decorations, never cotton or paper.
9. Turn off the tree lights when you leave the house or go to bed.
10. Get rid of the tree by New Year's Day.

Oliver Packer is Second at Yakima

Mrs. Anne Peterman of Oliver placed second to Mrs. Irene Cyr of Yakima, Wash., when the world championship apple packing contest was held at Yakima last Friday.

Mrs. Gertrude Duncan of Penticton, who had placed first in the B.C. championships, was tenth at Yakima, only six points behind the winner.

The championship was awarded on a basis of 92.93 points, Mrs. Peterman being close behind with 92.45.

Mrs. Peterman, however, led all other competitors in quality of pack, gaining 68.79 points out of a possible 75. Crowns of the B.C. girls' packs stood out plainly superior to those of most of the other competitors, it is stated.

Eileen Mountford is Bride at Coast

Friends of Eileen Mountford will be interested to hear of her recent marriage to John W. Broadhurst.

The marriage took place quietly at the home of the brides parents in New Westminster and the honeymoon was spent in Portland, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Broadhurst are making their home at 495 Armstrong Ave., R.R. 8, New Westminster.

The British Columbia second place winner was awarded a $250 prize and was also the recipient of a $50 cash prize and a number of other gifts on her return to Oliver Friday night when the staff of McLean & Fitzpatrick packing-house arranged its annual dance and party to coincide with her return.

IT LOOKS LIKE BUT ISN'T — Even though signed by baseball player Joe DiMaggio himself and with "1000" spread all over it, this impressive-looking Korean banknote is less impressive than it looks. Sent back to Canada by a member of the Special Force in Korea, the banknote is a 1000 Won, and is worth exactly 25 cents.

Military Style Junior Band To be Formed

On Monday afternoon H. Pohlmann and K. Almond representing the Summerland Band met high school students interested in forming a military style junior band.

Thirty-eight students expressed interest in such a project and indicated which instrument he or she would prefer to play.

The band would be composed of brasses and reed instruments, and gradually build up personnel to go into the senior group as opportunity allows.

It is thought that many parents will be pleased to hear of their enterprise and the band's representatives are planning to visit parents in their homes to get their views and further support.

It is hoped to get started early in the new year and it is expected that more than the number who were able to be at the meeting may want to join the junior band.

Prefer Lump Sum for Hospital Payments

B.C. Hospital Insurance Service has warned municipalities that if they do not all agree to participate in the lump sum payment for hospital treatment then the service will have to revert to the 70 cents per patient day plan which was in effect before.

Summerland has joined in the per capita arrangement and has found that it is probably slightly less expensive than the per patient day plan. Also, a great deal of bookkeeping has been eliminated through the municipal office not having to keep track of patients' origin.

As far as the local municipal office is concerned, it would be a benefit if the per capita arrangement can be continued.

"Ming" Trees Fashioned By Horticulturists

"Ming" trees flourished under Dec. 12, in the parish hall. This eager hands on Tuesday evening, was a "work night" for members of the horticultural society, when about forty attended the regular meeting.

Materials had been provided and later the Ming tree dish gardens were auctioned.

Another project was decorating grasses by silvering them.

Seasonal table decorations were an added interest. A number of lovely original, colorful table arrangements were brought in as well as a large Christmas cactus in full bloom, and a beautiful Jerusalem cherry tree from the home of Miss C. V. Rogers.

Canasta Party is Successful Event

St. Stephen's church committee held a successful canasta party in the parish hall on Thursday evening, Dec. 7, convened by Mr. E. C. Bingham. Seven tables were filled and the games were thoroughly enjoyed.

First prize was won by Mrs. A. G. Chadburn and Mr. T. J. Garnett was given the consolation prize. Refreshments were the responsibility of Mrs. D. L. Sanborn and Miss M. Cartwright.

It is planned to continue the parties later with possibly one during the Christmas week.

Grand Piano is School Objective

The students' council of the high school have a project under way to obtain a grand piano for the auditorium of the new junior-senior high.

A piano of this sort would mean that musical artists who usually are heard only in larger centres would be able to come to Summerland. It would also mean a fine and suitable instrument for the building which will be completed early in the new year.

The plan is to send a circular letter to anyone who ever attended the high school asking for a donation of $1.

Records of attendance are only available since 1928, when K. P. Caple was first principal and citizens are being asked to send names, and addresses where possible, of an ystidents that they know to A. K. Macleod, principal, or Miss J. Trafford, secretary of the students' council.

New Teacher on Staff of Schools

Mrs. M. Burwash of Vancouver arrived on Sunday morning to take over the position of commercial teacher in the high school.

The vacancy occurred when Miss McFarlane was forced to leave because of ill health.

Mrs. Burwash has had wide experience as a teacher and is planning to build up the department which was opened this fall in the high school as one filling a decided need on the curriculum.

Another vacancy may occur on the high school staff but the preferred resignation was not accepted at last Monday's school board meeting.

Application of Mrs. Jessie Johnston for the vacancy in the elementary school staff caused by the resignation of Miss Evelyn Bowell, was successful at Monday's meeting. She will take charge of Miss Bowell's class until the June recess.

Council to Decide On Truck Policy

An offer of a local garage firm of a set of truck tires only slightly used was turned down by council on Tuesday when it was found that the price including tubes would be as much as purchasing new tires without tubes.

However, discussion brought forth one statement from Road Foreman Les Gould that he is more interested in the municipality purchasing a new truck than in replacing tires.

Council in 1951 will be faced with the police problem of making expensive repairs to its municipal trucks or deciding to trade them in every two years.

It was also suggested by Roévo Bentley that tires could be re-treaded if they are taken in for repair before they become too far gone.

Mrs. G. Ritchie New President Of Institute

Mrs. Gordon Ritchie was elected president of the Women's Institute and Mrs. A. Fenwick, secretary-treasurer following the annual meeting, Friday afternoon, Dec. 8 in the parish hall.

Mrs. R. C. Palmer was chosen vice-president, and the two other directors are Mrs. E. C. Bingham and Mrs. Mair.

Mrs. A. K. Macleod asked to be released from the presidency of the WI following a two-year term.

The Institute interests itself in many community endeavors and also provincial matters having to do with Home and Country, the motto under which the society works, and presidency or secretarial duties entail a great deal of work.

Prior to annual reports and election of officers Mrs. Macleod gave a quick survey of the history of the WI stating that Mrs. Emily Murphy, the first woman magistrate in Canada, also known as Janey Canuck, was the original president of Canadian federated WIs.

The WI is non-denominational and non-political and always has been supported by the government, and to a certain extent supervised and subsidized by it, she declared.

The year's roll showed 52 paid up members with an average attendance of 27.

The antennae of the local WI are widespread and this was evident in the reports of heads of standing committees.

Mrs. S. A. MacDonald spoke for the Social welfare committee; Mrs. R. C. Palmer for agriculture; and Mrs. Mair, citizenship.

Mrs. M. E. Collas chairman of the nominating committee expressed appreciation of Mrs. Macleod's work as president, and Mrs. S. A. MacDonald spoke for the members in appreciation of the retiring head.

A beautiful film The Four Seasons in the Laurentian Valley was shown by John Palmer during tea.

Mrs. Mair Reports On Visit to Home

Twenty-five dollars was voted to the Youth Centre in response for an appeal for funds at the regular meeting of the Women's Institute, Friday afternoon, Dec. 8, in the parish hall.

Over thirty members were present and heard with interest Mrs. Mair's report of a visit to the Mountain View Home by the citizenship committee. Money was voted to buy pillow cases for the Home which is being operated so well and pleasantly for the aged people who live there.

Mrs. Farnon gave the welfare committee's resume stating that clothing had been collected and the committee is serving as a channel to direct enquirers into other social service departments.

Donations were also made to the Crippled Children's hospital, Vancouver, and to the Solarium, V.I.

School Girls Stage Dinner for Staff

With a T-shaped table setting lovely with candlelight, Christmas figurines, pretty place card favors, pine and Oregon grape, the girls of Grade XI, entertained in the high school Monday evening, Dec. 11, for the high school staff and their wives.

A delicious dinner was served by the girls under Miss Marion Campbell, teacher of home economics, and the guests were sure that the class would easily pass their examinations in cookery.

Following dinner a film was enjoyed.

Say Farewell to Departing Member

The party was held at the home of the honoree's sister, Mrs. S. Wolfe.

All those present joined in singing, "For she's a jolly good fellow", in appreciation of Mrs. Wurst's help and expressions of regret at her departure were voiced.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the social evening.

Complaints of low voltage were received by council on Tuesday and steps authorized to remedy the situation by installing additional transformers. Complaints were from G. E. Woolliams and A. R. Munn.

Doll Princess is Prize at Hospital Auxiliary Tea-Sale

The delightful doll with all its beautiful clothing, each piece a lovely bit of work, which was the draw at the tea held last Saturday afternoon, Dec. 9, by the Hospital Auxiliary in the IOOF hall was won by Mrs. Lacey Fisher with a ticket drawn by John Underwood.

The idea of having such a draw was that of Mrs. Regina Cornish who made and did all the fine sewing on the garments while the knitted parts of the costumes were made by Mrs. James Aitkins. The small dresses, coats, lingerie, and many other things were not just ordinary doll's clothes but were things that might cloth a Dolly Princess, complete with fabulous white velvet cape edged with white fur.

Mrs. Leslie Rumball and Mrs. A. R. Dunsdon convened the ticket sales.

This part of the tea realized over $100 while the home cooking stall convened by Mrs. A. Crawford and Mrs. F. Pollock added a splendid amount to the total.

Tea arrangements were taken care of by Mrs. H. Fiske and Mrs. T. Fisher while Mrs. Harold Short and Mrs. George Graham decorated the tea tables and arranged for serving.

Honor Trout Creek Family on Departure

Friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greber, Trout Creek, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 5, to honor Mrs. C. Sergeant and her three little girls, prior to her leaving this week to join her husband on Lulu Island, Vancouver.

Games, singing and other music were enjoyed during the pleasant evening, and Mr. A. C. Johnson presented Mrs. Sergeant with a pretty tablecloth as a remembrance from Summerland friends. The little girls were given a book as a going-away gift.

Dainty refreshments were served and the good wishes of all present were expressed as the family set up their house at the coast.

The vice-president elected is Mrs. H. R. McLarty, with Mrs. T. Racicot, secretary, and Mrs. T. S. Manniv, treasurer.

Year-end reports showed successful work finished and committees were set up for 1951.

Carol singing was part of the program and Mrs. C. V. Nesbitt, taking the devotional gave the shepherd's interpretation of the twenty-third psalm and also the Indian interpretation.

Mrs. W. C. Wilkin read a poignant Christmas story showing that "As ye sow, so shall ye also reap".

A shower of baby clothing held in response to an appeal for such garments for the Girls' Home, Vancouver, brought many lovely gifts to be forwarded to the coast.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. T. Racicot, this year's vice-president.

Life was Rough but Adventurous When David Jack Came to Canada

After board was deducted a laborer on the railway would get $22 per month while a farm worker, if he was very good, would receive $30.

These were some of the reminiscences of David Jack, well-known retired local resident as he delved into the early past of Canada as he knew it when the railroad had only proceeded as far west as Grandview, Man.

Coming from Scotland more than 50 years ago he knew little of the country which had been taught to him as British North America. The prairies were labelled the Great American Desert in the Scottish schoolbooks and sides he was shown were mainly of huge buffalo herds.

Life was rough and tough in Winnipeg in those days, he related. Hotel doors had long since lost their locks and it was better to barricade your door with furniture before retiring if you did not wish to be "rolled".

There were jobs to be had on every hand in the stores of the growing city and on the farms in the outlying districts as well as on the new railroad which was being pushed west.

Mr. Jack homesteaded in what is now northern Saskatchewan. There was no settlement between his section of land and the Arctic circle.

Between rollicking tales of adventure and various characters he came across, Mr. Jack added a few notes of pathos in a mixture which kept the interest of Rotarians at a high point.

U.S. and Red China File Counter-charges at U.N.

WU HSUL-CHUAN (arrow left), chief Chinese Communist spokesman at the United Nations, tells the Security Council at Lake Success, N.Y., recently, that the U.S. is guilty of "cunning" aggression against China, Korea, Vietnam, the Philippines, Japan and other Asian countries. Earlier American delegate WARREN R.

Memorial Arena to Proceed in Penticton

PENTICTON—Penticton's Memorial arena will be constructed in time for operation next season unless there is a complete crackdown by the government on non-essential types of building. W. K. Nopp, architect, has informed Penticton council the arena can be built within the $240,000 earmarked for the project.

Plans for the new high school gymnasium and auditorium have been shelved as the lowest tender submitted, that of C. J. Oliver Ltd. Vancouver, for $231,800, was found to be too high.

Moose Moving South, May Soon Be Able to Hunt in Kettle Valley

PENTICTON—Moose are beginning to move south into the Kettle Valley country. J. Hatter, UBC biologist told Penticton sportsmen last week. An open season may be possible soon for this section.

Release of chucker partridge has already been made east of Kamloops and a similar experiment will be made in the Okanagan, he declared, stating that local sportsmen are fortunate that the valley is a natural habitat for the partridge.

The biologist reported that the sprays in use by orchardists have been tested for their lethal power and experiments were carried out to find new sprays that would be effective in killing insect life on the trees without harming the pheasants.

Speaking of the reports that Newcastle disease was prevalent among pheasants, Mr. Hatter declared that he felt certain that there was no problem. "The fact that domestic fowls are cooped up and the game birds live in the wilds makes a difference, and you may be sure that if there were cases of Newcastle disease among pheasants, then that would be the end of releases," he declared.

The Big Horned sheep in the Ashnola River area had been the subject of a survey this year. Two men had carried out a check but had seen only more than a hundred out of a herd estimated at 400.

Moose were reported to be moving south and last year one was seen not far from Summerland. Mr. Hatter stated that people were asking for an open season and he continued, "We worked for a month on an investigation of the situation and came to the conclusion that it was not advisable to open the season yet.

"However, many moose are moving toward the Kettle Valley and further south, and we hope that in years to come we shall have a more open season when hunters will be able to take a predetermined number of moose."

Reporting on the recent limited elk season in the Princeton area the biologist stated that the department was satisfied with the results of the experiment. Several elk had been taken and hundreds of hunters had gone into that area after them.

"If we consider the number of licenses bought and the amount of money that was invested in equipment, I think you will agree that it was good business," he said.

The final phase of Mr. Hatter's address dealt with the true meaning of conservation. "The word does not mean complete protection, but good management," he said. "This year we had a bumper crop of willow grouse and many more could have been taken. This year and next are the peak cycle years and it may be ten years before there is such an abundance of grouse in this area again.

"Undercropping in the past has been as big a fault as overcropping," he concluded.

Pressure System Now Suggested

PENTICTON—Alderman Charles Phipps has recommended to Penticton council that Penticton and Ellis creek irrigation systems should be converted to pressure and that the plans and estimates should be prepared by a competent engineer.

Such a system would supply both irrigation and domestic water to the entire bench area, he contended.

Question of meeting costs of replacing open flume with pressure pipe is being studied by Penticton council.

(In Summerland the policy was settled some years ago that growers desiring sprinkler irrigation must pay the cost of changing the system from open flume to pressure pipe).

Value of UIC Book Stressed To Employees

Although Canada's unemployment insurance act has been in force since July 1, 1941, there are still many instances where insured persons suffer inconvenience, and sometimes loss, due to their insurance books not being available when they are needed. Most people realize the value of their insurance book but others seem unaware of its importance.

The unemployment insurance commission renews insurance books each year for every insured worker in Canada, through its chain of national employment offices. The books are renewed without cost to insured persons, and each insured worker should make it a point to know at all times exactly where his current insurance book is located.

While he is working it should be in the hands of his employer. At other times it should be lodged at the local national employment office for safekeeping if the insured person does not intend to re-engage in insurable employment right away. The insurance book is vital, of course, if a claim for benefit is contemplated. Valuable Book

Each insured worker should consider the actual value of his insurance book by realizing that it can contain over $25 worth of individual contributions. It is similar to a bank book as it shows the contributions which each insured person has made. Also, that same book can contain potential benefit rights of over $160, and no one should be careless about a matter of this importance.

Normally, insurance books are in the hands of employers so that they can record the required contributions. This is done in most cases by affixing stamps or by making a meter impression in the book, although in some cases contributions are recorded by means of bookkeeping machines. Each contribution is of great value when unemployment occurs as benefit rights of insured persons are based on contributions that have been recorded to his credit.

It is, therefore, important for an insured person to take possession of his insurance book when he leaves an employer, and he should see that he has a contribution for each day he worked. The insured person should also bring his book to his new employer so that contributions can be recorded from the first pay day onward.

Sometimes insurance books are lost or destroyed through no fault of anyone. When this occurs a new book is issued, free of charge, at any national employment office. It is essential, of course, that this new book be issued under the same number as the number on the lost or destroyed book. If a different number is allotted the insured worker runs a grave risk that some of his contribution history cannot be located when he files a claim for benefit and his benefit rights might thereby be reduced.

The number on an insured worker's first insurance book is his number for life, and all the books he may ever have must carry that original number. Each insured

Experimental Station Wants Information On Apricot Plantings

(Experimental Station News)

Apricot trees in the fruit growing districts of British Columbia have mainly been propagated on apricot or peach seedlings. At the present time peach seedlings are more widely used than apricot for this purpose by commercial nurseries, and it seems to be the opinion among most nurserymen that peach seedlings are more easily obtainable and produce a more uniformly vigorous nursery tree.

Experience at the Summerland experimental station, has shown, says F. W. Keane, that under conditions prevailing here, satisfactory stands of both kinds of seedling can readily be obtained from pits, and that good nursery trees can be grown with equal ease on either stock.

In comparing the resulting trees under orchard conditions, an important point has been observed. Trees on both rootstocks grow vigorously in their early years and in the case of apricots of peach roots a tendency has been noted for the young trees to break off at the bud union when from two to six years old.

This breakage occurs during high winds in summer and early autumn. The trees break cleanly across the union, appearing to show a certain lack of continuity of structure between the wood tissue of the peach and apricot.

Losses of this kind have been reported by growers in Oliver, Keremeos, Summerland, Peachland, Westbank and Kelowna and have also been experienced at the Summerland station: in some cases losses have been as high as 50 per cent of plantings. Similar breakage has not so far been observed in the case of apricots budded on apricot seedling rootstocks.

The Summerland station is anxious to obtain further information on this problem. An experiment is being planned for this particular purpose, but the station also desires to obtain all possible information on the occurrence of this type of breakage in commercial orchards.

person should make careful note of his number (it has six digits in it and is preceded by a letter) and to assist in this connection each insured person is given an identification card which has his number on it.

This card is small enough to fit into a wallet or purse and should be very carefully guarded. When a lost or destroyed insurance book needs to be replaced the identification card should be produced so that the new book can be issued under the correct number.

The commission emphasizes that insurance books are valuable. For their own protection, every insured worker should make sure that he presents his book to his new employer as soon as he starts to work and also should see that he gets possession of his book whenever he leaves a job. Should the book become lost it may be difficult, if not impossible, to give an insured person credit for the contributions it contained. A new book may be obtained but it should be under the proper number or else there is the additional risk of the contributions for past years not being located at time of claim.

No Elections in Peachland Or Summerland this Year

Summerland and Peachland are two of the few municipalities in the province which will not be having an election this year.

Summerland filled its civic vacancies by acclamation but Peachland did not show even this amount of interest in its administration.

Only Councillor F. Khalembach allowed his name to stand for re-election and no other candidate came forward to contest the other vacancy on the municipal council.

Also, there was no candidate willing to devote himself or herself to the duties of school board trustee on the Kelowna district school board.

These two vacancies will have to be filled by acclamation.

Penticton Contests

In Penticton, two aldermen, E. A. Titchmarsh and Charles (Casey) Phipps are seeking re-election. Their ambitions are being opposed by J. W. (Elly) Johnson, an ex-alderman and Frank C. Christian, of the legal firm of O'Brian & Christian. There are three vacancies.

Dr. T. F. Parnley and W. W. Riddell are seeking re-election as school trustees for Penticton School District No. 15, their positions being contested by C. E. Battye. Mrs. R. B. White has resigned from the Penticton school board, the one-year unexpired portion being taken by T. Osborne.

Like Summerland, Penticton will now have an elected parks board. Members will be Alderman A. E. Tidball, now retiring, John Coe, Clare Way and Mrs. Marjorie C. Robinson.

In Kelowna, Aldermen J. J. Ladd and R. F. L. Keller are seeking re-election while other candidates are A. G. Shelley and Jack Jennens for three vacancies.

Kelowna city has elected its school trustees by acclamation, H. A. Truswell and E. L. Morrison being returned to office.

At Vernon, Ald. George Melvin, Ald. D. D. Harris, Amox Baker, Ernest E. Price, Robert W. Ley and R. W. Hodgson are seeking the three council seats.

School board nominations at Vernon are Dr. Michael Lattey, J. G. Strother, John R. Kidston, H. A. (Bud) Mattock and Eric H. Olmstead for two seats.

In the southern section, the villages of Oliver and Osoyoos are having election contests.

Oliver contestants for the three seats on the commission are Andrew Bell, Lawrence E. Evans, E. J. Coughlin, Alfred Reid and Harvey Boone.

Eric Becker, H. H. Hesketh, H. Hunt and E. Lohlein are seeking three commission seats in Osoyoos.

March of Dimes Campaign to Continue Until After Christmas

"Those familiar blue and red cans will remain in local stores until after Christmas," declared E. Bates, board of trade chairman for the March of Dimes campaign this week.

While shoppers are making their rounds of local stores, they will have an opportunity to deposit their dimes to help the crippled children's hospital fund.

Summerland has made a bigger success of this drive than ever before, Mr. Bates revealed. With the help of Teen Town and the co-operation of the schools well over $100 will be collected.

On Saturday, December 2 a line of dimes was started on Granville street sidewalk between Pender and Hastings. Teen Town and board of trade members took their turn in boosting the line along, with the objective of a completely filled sidewalk. This worthy objective was not quite accomplished but despite the coldness of the weather that day $59.30 was realized which gave the campaign a big boost.

At the MacDonald school, pupils were asked to contribute a dime each to assist youngsters less fortunate than themselves. Exactly $30 was raised for the March of Dimes in this manner.

The high school is conducting a drive among the older pupils this week and their contributions are expected to put the campaign well over the $100 mark.

The familiar cans in Summerland stores will be picked up between Christmas and New Year's and the drive brought to a close. Associated with Mr. Bates on the trade board committee are T. A. Walden, Tom McKay and F. E. Bedford.

Difficulty of Instructing Deaf People Explained to Kiwanians

Mrs. Joyce Brown, now a resident of Penticton but for seven years an instructress at the school for the deaf in Saskatoon, gave members of the Kiwanis Club of Summerland a wonderful insight into the training which can be given handicapped youngsters when she was guest speaker at the Nu-Way Annex Monday night.

Besides the language of signs and the forming of letters by means of the hand, the chief method of teaching deaf persons is by means of lip reading.

"You never realize how much you depend on hearing until one time you awake to find yourself in a world of your own... a world of silence except for strange noises you never heard before," she declared.

Deafness causes a complete change of personality in many cases. Four percent of the world's population is either hard of hearing or deaf.

It is more difficult to train a person who has never been able to hear than one who has lost his hearing, she explained.

At her school in Saskatoon, the 150 children were extremely happy, she stated. Handicapped children know they must do a job well and they don't have to be driven. They are very receptive and use their eyes as much as possible, but they can also feel and taste.

Ages range from 5 to 18 years and in most cases no attempt has been made previously to get the child to talk.

Mirrors Are Help

"You have no conception of the difficulty which arises in teaching a child who cannot hear what he is saying," Mrs. Brown stressed. Mirrors are used so that the child can see the image of the instructor as the word is formed by the lips and can also see the action of his own lips.

Ordinary children pick up a great deal by hearsay but the deaf child does not have this advantage; and this is a great handicap.

Besides just teaching them to talk, the school for the deaf tries to teach the handicapped children effective living, Mrs. Brown explained. They are apprenticed to many trades and invariably they make a success of these jobs.

The deaf have an association and members must earn an honest living and not be a charge on the state.

At Saskatoon, the Christmas program "is one of the most amazing things I have ever seen, as it portrays the Christmas story without words," stated Mrs. Brown.

She explained that adult persons are beginning to rid themselves of the uncalled for fear of wearing hearing aids. In some cases, persons have been taught to hear through vibrations, through sense of feeling.

Persons who know they are becoming deaf should aid themselves before it becomes really bad, she warned. A club to help such persons should be formed in every community, Mrs. Brown thought.

Deaf persons who have received proper training can take their place in the world without any apparent difficulty, she concluded.

ALTER MEETING NIGHTS

As regular meeting nights fall on holidays, the Kiwanis Club of Summerland is planning to change its December 25 meeting to December 27 and its January 1 meeting to January 3.

PENGUIN'S COUSIN - Thousands of fish-eating birds known as the Brunnich's Murre, full cousin of the Puffin, appeared in the Montreal area after recent high winds. The birds, bred in the Gulf of St. Lawrence are marine birds and cannot take off from land. Dan Ryan, Sr., president of the Verdun and District Sportsman's Association, is making a personal investigation to see if the birds starved to death or moved on to the Great Lakes. If they are found, he will see what can be done to ship them back to the gulf.

Len Hill Heads Peach Festival

Len Hill, former Summerland businessman, has been selected as the 1951 president of the Penticton and District Peach Festival Assn., succeeding F. O. Bowsfield.

Other officers are J. Petley, vice-president; H. Geddes, second vice-president; A. T. Longmore, secretary; J. Johnston, treasurer.

Shoplifting Increases in Local Stores

Shoplifting by youngsters is growing to a point where it is a serious menace to the businessmen of the West Summerland business district, it was revealed at last Thursday's regular session of the Summerland Retail Merchants' Assn. in the IOOF hall.

President Roy Wellwood reported to the meeting he had hoped that RCMP Constable I. G. Thorsteinson would have been present to discuss the subject but the latter had been unable to accept the invitation.

There is a coterie of chronic adult shoplifters who are a source of annoyance to the businessmen of the district but they are not so much a concern as the young people who come over in groups from the school during recess and at the lunchhour, it was stated.

Petty thievery was the expression used by President Wellwood in describing the activities of a few of these youngsters and he declared their enterprise along this line has reached serious proportions.

The law is there for prosecutions, he declared, if the merchants wish to carry through. It was decided that letters should be despatched to school principals acquainting them with the situation and seeking the co-operation of the school teaching staff in endeavoring to curb such practice.

PREPARE BRIEF FOR VICTORIA

Mr. Rein Johnston returned from Vancouver last Saturday morning after spending a week in the city where he represented the CPR and CNR telegraphers of B.C. at the standard labor joint legislative committee of B.C.

Meetings were held with members of the Workmen's Compensation Board and with delegates from the Unemployment Insurance Board.

A brief was formulated to be presented to the cabinet in Victoria the latter part of January, when Mr. Johnston will be one of the group presenting it.

Bob Barkwill To Guide Ski Clubbers Here

Bob Barkwill was named president of the Summerland Ski Club for 1951 when an enthusiastic annual meeting was held last Thursday evening in the Nu-Way Annex.

Associated with Mr. Barkwill on the executive will be the following: Don Agur, vice-president; Miss Dorothy MacDonald, secretary; Mrs. Rita Bergstrom, treasurer; Walter Powell, sports committee chairman; Daryl Weitzel, hill captain; Shirley Wilson and Ruth Klix, house committee; Shirley Wilson, publicity; Mrs. Bergstrom, social committee chairman.

Honorary membership tickets are being sold by members and they will also serve as admission to the "big" tournament planned for February.

The annual meeting planned some excellent instruction this year. Harry Hansen, a newcomer who learned his skiing in Norway, has offered to coach juniors in jumping.

Night skiing will again be featured this season, with transportation available on Wednesday nights. Rates were set for various age groups at last Thursday's session, as follows:

Elementary, 50c membership, $3 tow; high school, $1 membership, $4 tow; single adult, $2 membership, $5 tow; man and wife, $6 tow.

About 18 enthusiastic skiers journeyed to the Meadow Valley hill last Sunday while a carload came down from Kelowna.

A big party is planned for the hill this Sunday. Further details on skiing and road and hill conditions will be given in The Review sports page from time to time.

Otis Graham, 21-year-old negro from Philadelphia lost a decision to Laurent Dauthuille of Paris, France, in their ten-round bout at the Montreal Forum. Laurent had the middleweight crown in his grasp last September when Jake LaMotta finished him off in the last 13 seconds. Laurent is trying for a return match.

Use Playground Rink Until New Arena is Ready

Until ice is formed and available in the new arena, the Living Memorial park-playground hockey rink will be available when it is feasible to make ice.

This was the decision of a meeting held in the Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd. packinghouse Monday night when prospects for hockey this winter were discussed.

It was made clear by the parks representatives that as soon as the arena is available they will not be interested in making ice any further.

So far as the Living Memorial Parks Committee members are concerned, the Summerland Hockey Assn., which they were instrumental in forming to co-relate hockey in connection with the park-playground rink, will be washed out.

If hockey is to be co-ordinated under one association to deal with the new arena management, then a new organization must be formed, the meeting was informed.

Interest in hockey among school students is at a high level, staff representatives declared, while the senior hockey men stated there is plenty of material available here for a team to compete in intermediate hockey circles.

Those present at Monday's meeting were: L. W. Rumball, George Stoll, C. H. Elsey, Bob Bleasdale, senior hockey club; Peter Greer, Senior high school; W. J. Schwab, junior high school; S. A. MacDonald, elementary school; E. H. Bennett and W. G. Snow, Memorial Parks committee.

PASS LARGE PAYMENTS

Accounts for $45,042.59 were passed for payment on Tuesday by municipal council. It was pointed out that $23,055.32 of that sum goes to the school board to meet that group's commitments.

Bluebirds on Top of High School Loop

By virtue of two decisive victories at the school gym last Friday, Summerland Bluebird basketball teams are on top of the heap in the central Okanagan division of the Okanagan high schools basketball league.

Kelowna senior boys were defeated 44-33 by Bluebirds while the visiting girls went down to defeat by a low 11-4 count.

Graham Munn was the leading sharpshooter for the victorious Bluebirds potting 18 points to head all scorers. Another lanky player, Ken Brawner, was next in line with a neat 11 markers. Ross Lander and Delcourt were the most dangerous of the visiting players, netting 14 and 10 points respectively.

Bluebirds were never headed in any quarter, the second stanza being the deciding factor in the game. The score was knotted 10-10 after the first quarter but Bluebirds splurged to take a 24-14 lead into the second half.

Locals had 32-21 edge at three-quarter mark and staved off the desperate Kelowna attempts in the final quarter.

Helen Kean and D. Fleming were the chief pointgetters for Bluebirds in the preliminary game while B. Lewis was the only Kelowna lassie to bulge the twine for the visitors, who were held scoreless throughout the final half. Kelowna was ahead 4-3 at the halfway mark.

Team lineups: Kelowna Girls: Kerry, Underhill, Burke, Lewis 4, Ghezzi, Lockett, Pollard, Turk, Topham, Boulton—4.

Bluebirds: H. Kean 5, J. Trafford, M. Jomori, R. Klix 2, D. Fleming 4—11.

Kelowna Boys: Weins 9, Lander 14, Willows, Delcourt 10, Scantland, Greenway, Moore, Paget, Butcher, MacKenzie—33.

Bluebirds: D. Weitzel 6, Fisher 5, Brawner 11, Munn 18, Nesbitt 4, Gordon and Glen Youngusband, Thompson—44.

Waddell in Triple Win At Kelowna

KELOWNA—Summerland shuttle stars accepted a Kelowna invitation to attend a district tournament too literally.

They all but swept the top honors in the four-day meet at the Kelowna Badminton Club's new four-courter on Gaston avenue, with Kelowna copping the ladies' single and doubles' honors.

Mary Stubbs was the only local standard-bearer to come through in singles, downing clubmate Mary Blakeborough 11-1 and 11-0 in the final to win the ladies' crown.

Smoothie Dave Waddell of the Summerland Club, walked off with the masculine honors, a triple winner. He captured the men's singles by defeating veteran George Fudge, also of Summerland, 15-6, 15-8.

Fudge and Waddell teamed up to cop the men's doubles ribbons, with

New Coach, More Players Needed by Senior Cage Crew

Because of pressure of other duties, Lacey Fisher has had to give up his coaching duties on behalf of the senior basketball team, it was revealed at Tuesday night's practice at the school gym.

As a consequence the senior cagers are on the lookout for a coach who will guide them in future activities.

Also, the team is in need of further material as Don Rand has returned to the coast to re-enter the Imperial Oil Pacific Coast oil tanker service and Keith McLean expects to leave Summerland for other employment after the holidays.

It is hoped George Clark will return to the cage wars after the new year and if he does it will strengthen the local squad considerably.

15-6, 15-6 triumphs over Kelowna's Bob Robinson and Ted Dodd.

In notching his third laurel, Waddell partnered Miss Carney, also of Summerland, to advance into the all-Summerland final where they ousted Fudge and Mrs. Cuthbert 15-12, 15-6.

Need More Attention To Sanding Roads Council is Told

That the municipal office has received a number of complaints the road department is not speedy enough with its sanding of main roads in slippery weather was Clerk Gordon Smith's report to council on Tuesday.

Councillor Norman Holmes wished to know why the mechanical sander is not in operation. No one could give him the answer but Councillor Tait declared he would investigate.

Reeve Bentley suggested that sand should be available for spreading at stop signs and mentioned some specific instances where it was practically impossible to come to a stop because of the road's slippery condition.

Councillor Tait pointed out that by the time the municipal crew can get around to all places in need of attention, conditions have changed. The crew is a small one at this time of year, he reminded council.

Mr. Smith also reported that one person has offered to spread sand on the Sandhill road if material is left in convenient piles by the roadside.

Business Area Glistens for Busy Season

Yesterday Summerland put on a new face and smartened itself for the holiday season.

Colored lights, sparkling in their newness and gaiety, festooned West Summerland business district last night for the first time, while stately fir trees decorate each lamp standard along both principal streets.

Besides the electrical crew, members of the special board of trade and retail merchants' committees assisted in stringing the lights, while the merchants were responsible for the erecting of the trees.

Instead of small trees in every flagpole stand along the street which were subject to being knocked over by car bumpers, larger trees have been placed at each standard.

The retail merchants also plan to adorn trees on the Alex Steven property and the decorations will be lit there this evening.

Misunderstandings Between Nations Must be Wiped out Rotary Speaker Finds on Tour

Firm belief in the "brotherhood of man" and that peace may be possible despite the suspicions between nations was evidenced in the talk delivered to the Rotary Club of Summerland at the Nu-Way Annex Tuesday evening by William Hayden, of Couer d'Alene, Idaho, one of the students fortunate to be awarded a Rotary Fellowship which allowed him to travel through Europe and attend university in Switzerland.

Mr. Hayden's frank, from-the-shoulder discussion of European people and their beliefs, as he found them, and his open criticism of his fellow countrymen's activities in foreign fields left his audience with the firm conviction they had been hearing a man who is honest in his convictions.

At the outset, Mr. Hayden took his listeners to Paris, which he found to be a dismal city overrun with visiting Americans.

But when he visited the French countryside, he found the people with a frustrated feeling, living from day to day and not making any plans for the future. They ask: "We build up today, what is going to happen tomorrow?"

"Everywhere there is a fear of war between the U.S. and Russia and they feel it will come soon. Try as you might to tell them there is no need for war you cannot convince them," he declared.

Poverty Brings Tears Of Spain, he honestly admitted he was moved to tears by the poverty of the masses. Madrid and Barcelona are beautiful, modern cities, but five minutes from the city centre "you will find the evils of a dictatorship."

In Spain he witnessed "a military clique dominating a people oppressed, pushed down and afraid to speak", he continued. Old people are just waiting to die and the blind are only allowed to sell lottery tickets.

The soil is barren, depleted, with no irrigation. The money poured into Spain has not gone to the people but into the pockets of Franco and his military clique, he charged and the church is "backscratching" this clique.

He condemned the church for its attitude in Spain, where it is impossible to describe how the children live. Babies in arms are already taught to beg.

"I am opposed to U.S. aid to Spain unless it is in material goods and handed out under proper supervision," he declared.

Portugal is under a more benevolent dictatorship and the people have more freedom, he found.

In Italy he found the crowds enjoying an audience with the Pope electrifying, but he wished that such enthusiasm could be engendered every year not just once in every five.

From that country he visited Austria, where the peasant only asks to be left alone. He witnessed one slight example of "Hell Hitlering" but did not think it was widespread.

Rubble Still There In the Russian zone there has been no attempt to clean up the rubble. He hadn't any idea where the people lived or how they existed and it was the same in Germany.

With such a background of military rule and the devastation of war all around them he does not believe Germans can be democratized in less than three generations.

At first the U.S. was firm but then allowed more freedom to the Germans. As a result Germans think the Americans "soft", he declared. The French make them too the line and they respect the French for their attitude as it is what they were accustomed to.

"The British don't seem to care. They are there and they will take what they want as long as they have to remain," was his summing up of the British sector.

The Germans are suspicious of the U.S. motives, he found and told of one question asked: "Why didn't the U.S. keep right on going to Moscow? We would have kept right on with you."

"They couldn't seem to understand that Russia was our ally then," he observed.

Travelling to Denmark he found the Danish flag firmly planted in front of every home, a reminder to the Germans that this is Danish territory. "They hate Dem," was his description of Danish feeling towards the Germans.

But the Scandinavian countries continue to bring German youth to their countries in the summer-time, as was done before the war, in the hope they will build up their minds and bodies and give them the opportunity to see democracy at work.

Gratitude for Aid In Holland he found a real gratitude on the part of the people for Marshall Plan aid. Besides Holland, he could see a definite economic recovery in France and Italy through this assistance.

Although the English do not like ST. ANNE'S CHURCH IS SCENE OF WEDDING On Saturday afternoon, Dec. 9, at St. Anne's Catholic church, Penticton, the marriage was solemnized by Father Bergen of Audrey Joan, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McLean, West Summerland, and Robert George Busch, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Busch, Rockyford, Alta.

Required Reading For Christmas Decorators

Every year, a plague of fires rages throughout Canada from a few days before Christmas to the week following New Year's. Many of these can be traced to special holiday hazards or to carelessness that would not be tolerated at other times.

Christmas Trees

should be fresh, set in water, well supported and away from fire-places, radiators.

Candle Flames

invite fire. Electric lights are just as attractive... but not fool-proof. Before using, they should be checked for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Beware of overloading circuits and make certain that all special lighting is turned off before retiring or leaving the house.

Christmas Wrappings

accumulate quickly. Get them out or burned safely as soon as possible. Have plenty of big ash trays around and beware of smoking near the tree, decorations or piles of wrappings.

HAVE A SAFE CHRISTMAS!

to hear reference to Marshall Plan aid, he never heard one Englishman complain about food rationing or other restrictions. He could not help but wonder how his fellow countrymen would react if their standard of living was reduced considerably.

Misunderstandings he labelled as the main cause of friction between countries, and he listed some of the sayings and actions of U.S. citizens abroad as having fostered a good deal of the misunderstandings.

"When Americans get away from home all hell breaks loose," he jocularly remarked, adding that their display of wealth is most offensive. "Europeans don't see the American people as they really are."

Europe looks to the U.S. as a great leader and many claim that if it had not been for the inspiration of Roosevelt and Churchill their countries would have gone under.

But Communist propaganda has made great inroads in their thinking and the mistakes of Truman have had bad effects, he admitted. When the U.S. changes its foreign policy or makes mistakes, it affects the whole world.

"The faith and spirit of the people in Europe have fallen very low and they lack confidence," he declared, expressing the belief that the church must go to the people and inspire them.

Goodwill and fellowship is the Rotary creed and along with it the brotherhood of man and this is sorely needed in the world today, he concluded.

Rotary Anns were invited to hear Mr. Hayden and partake of a turkey dinner.

I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day

I heard the bells on Christmas day,
Their old, familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet the words repeat
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.

I thought how, as the day had come,
The belfries of all Christendom
Had rolled along the unbroken song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.

And in despair I bowed my head:
"There is no peace on earth," I said,
"For hate is strong, and mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men."

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep:
"God is not dead, nor doth he sleep;
The wrong shall fall, the right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men."

Till ringing, swinging on its way,
The world revolved from night to day,
A voice, a chime, a chant sublime,
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1863.

Winter Solstice

Four days before the eve of the lighted tree, descends the longest night of the lovely year.

Awed in the briefest afternoon, the bright-eyed children dawdle, sniff the clear promise of snow past street lamps, chatter, wander, push white-snubbed noses firmly against the panes of shops and sigh with helpless, hopeful wonder.

High above them, all the glittering rains of stars are covered by the gray-flanked clouds.

Southward tonight another year is born:

While the children scatter home with Christmas eyes, their friend, the sun, swings north from Capricorn.

A Story for Small Children

The princess was rummaging around in the fruit storage room when—pop! down at her feet there rolled an apple! It did not seem to be a common ordinary apple, or it would not have rolled so saucily over to bump her little soft shoe. When she looked at it she saw that it was a Golden Delicious!

"Oh dear!" said the princess, picking it up. "I hope that you haven't hurt yourself."

"They dared me to do it," said the apple—"the other apples, you know. They said I'd be afraid to wriggle out of my pink paper wrapper and roll over to you. I just squirmed and squirmed, and took a deep breath, and pushed, and out I came. Now I have done it, and I'm sorry, and I'm not really ripe yet!"

"I will hide you," said the princess.
She ran into the palace to look for a hiding-place. It was the day of Christmas Eve and everyone was busy, and whenever she opened a box or a cupboard something was hidden there or there were Christmas tree lights put away, or cookies or something, and the apple cried: "That won't do. Someone will be sure to find me!"

The princess looked all over the palace, upstairs and down looking for a safe place to hide the apple. At last feeling quite exhausted she came to the kitchen. The chief cook was rolling out dough with a golden rolling-pin to make a roly-poly pudding with syrup in it for the princess's dinner.

The princess was still looking for a hiding-place when one of the silver saucepans boiled over, and the chief cook left off rolling the dough to attend to it. The instant his back was turned, the princess took some of the dough and wrapped the apple up in it. "No one will think of looking for you there," she whispered.

Then she saw that the door of an oven, out of which the cook had just taken a pan of tarts, was open, and she popped the apple in, to hide it twice over.

"Dear me, what is this?" asked the king at dinner, as he caught sight of a round brown thing on a dish.

"I don't know, your Majesty," was the answer.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

As I go merrily about my last-minute Christmas shopping, buying Burmahave for men with electric razors and gay aprons for ladies who wouldn't know a skillet from a skittle, other harried shoppers often complain, in the course of a quick passing chat of half an hour or so, that "you can't get a decent Christmas present for anyone now under five dollars." Or ten, or two, or whatever fits the financial status they wish to impress me with.

I always agree with them. But even as I pick and choose for an acceptable two-dollar or five-dollar or ten-dollar gift, my mind often reverts to childhood days when I saved all fall to accumulate one one-dollar bill and got presents for the whole family with it.

No store shopping then; not only was our farm far out from town, but we were awed by the glare and glitter of stores and lights, and with no type of 15-cent store handy, we could buy cheapest via mail-order catalogue. How we thumbed through Eaton's and Simpson's, and each junior member of the family made a secret private list, and filling out the Christmas order form was a matter of mystery and high intrigue, with each one writing part and pledging the others not to look, and usually wrote to make sure that their promise was better than we suspected.

How did we get presents for a whole family for a single dollar?

Why, for Mother there was a quarter-pound box of Ganong's delicious maraschino cherries for twenty-five cents; for Father one of those spiky files for his office papers, ten cents. Both of them said they were exactly what they wanted. Older brothers and sisters got hankies, for which they always admitted a modest need. And for the younger members; well, in those days a nickel would buy five long paper tubes of popcorn, all different colors—the tubes, not the corn—and if you ran short of money a couple of them made a nice bulky showing in a small stocking.

Of course, this was after we had found out about Santa Claus. It was also after our parents had found out that we had found out, which was often a year or so later.

This interval—when we KNEW, but our parents didn't know we KNEW—is another vivid memory of childhood Christmases. It was always so exciting to go to bed Christmas Eve and try to stay awake until the stockings—stockings, shucks, we hung up much bigger garments than that in our optimistic family—were filled.

We never achieved it. Mother and Father would settle down in the living-room with a good fire crackling, and we would settle down in bed full of determination; but Father would start to read aloud, and before long the words which we listened to so eagerly at first would become blurred and indistinct and then, Bang, it was Christmas morning.

Once, though, I got a terrible start. Our noisy crew had been unusually successful in staying awake that Eve, and our parents happened to be unusually exhausted from the Christmas rush of cooking, parcelling, and so on. So exhausted, in fact, that just about the time we went to sleep they gave up hope of our doing so and went to bed, setting their alarm clock for some time after midnight.

Before then I awoke, found it dark and still, and eagerly crawled out of bed and over to the chair where my fleece-lined drawers with the ankles tied together had been hopefully hung up the night before. I felt them; they were limp and empty. Horrors! Could it be that there really was a Santa Claus—and I hadn't written to him? Or—worse—that my parents had really meant that stuff about 'be good or Santa Claus won't bring you anything'?

It was a pretty worried youngster who crawled back into the warm bed. Fortunately, sleep soon came again; and while it lasted, the alarm clock rang unheard by me, and weary parents rose and did their Christmas duty. In the morning, my nether underwear was bulging happily in a way it never had on me; and the relief at finding presents there after all was more overpowering than the gifts themselves.

"The chief cook said he found it in the oven, but he thought your Majesty would find it very good to eat."

"Give me a knife, and I'll see."
"My dear," said the queen, "pray be careful. Suppose it should go off suddenly and blow us up!"
"Pooh!" said the king boldly. "Who's afraid?"
And he cut it in two with a single stroke of the knife.

"Why," he said, it looks like an apple. And yet it can't be. For how could an apple get inside—
"Father," put in the princess, "I think it must be the apple I hid. It wasn't quite ripe, and was afraid someone would eat it. But perhaps it won't mind so much now it is cooked."

After that the king asked the princess to show the cook how to hide some more apples, and that is how apple dumplings were invented, and in the palace the king gave an order to the cook to serve them every Christmas Eve at dinner.

On Christmas Day in Canada

Dan McCowan

"On this Christmas Day I am to tell you something of the seasonal doings of animals and birds in Canada. With our migrant birds on coasts that feel the sun, with many animals asleep in dark chambers underground, with the tide of wild life at low ebb, it might reasonably be inferred that there is a dearth of news of interest concerning creatures of the Canadian climate. But such is not the case. From the sea coasts, the forests, the prairie and the mountains there are so many pertinent news items about the furred and feathered inhabitants that I am perplexed as to what to tell you.

The evergreen forests of Canada are silent with snow this Christmas Day. Small flocks of grosbeaks and cross bills, birds especially equipped for extracting seeds from the cones of spruce and fir trees, flit hither and thither in the tall green steeples. The white coverlet on open spaces in the woods bears clear imprint of the feathery feet of walking grouse, of the wing tip of the horned owl, or of the short deep furrow ploughed by a porcupine as it waddled from the base of one pine tree to another. The dinner of this formidable yet peaceable animal consisted today of a simple salad of the inner bark of an evergreen tree, a food more filling than satisfying, but which nevertheless in time of famine has proved a life-saver to many a spiny pig and many a starving Indian. I am convinced that a Canadian porcupine in wintertime exists on a modicum of food obtained with the minimum of effort. An individual has been known to remain aloft in one tree continuously for a fortnight.

Such a lethargic mode of life must seem strange to the industrious bustling woodpeckers. They did not even have a half holiday today but were continuously employed in scanning the tree-bark for torpid insects; and probing all cracks and crannies where grubs might be concealed. The claws, the tail, the bill, the tongue and the shock absorber in the neck have all been especially developed for the purpose of coping with an army of grubs and worms, which, lacking control, would speedily lay waste the great forests of the Dominion. So the woodpeckers had a busy Christmas day and tonight are all asleep, not perched on bare branches exposed to the north wind, but sheltered in small chambers hollowed in the trunks of trees.

The wild goats of Canada live in penthouses on top of the mountains in Alberta, British Columbia and in the Yukon. These lofty habitations are thoroughly air-conditioned but, not very well heated. So the shaggy tenants on Christmas Day as well as on all other days of winter, keep warm by climbing up and down while browsing for small herbage and lichens on the rocks for food. They are all clad in white woolly coats and baggy white trousers. The grandparents wear Santa Claus beards which serve nicely as mufflers on a frosty morning. Both young and old have sole rubbers to keep them from slip-

Christmas Carol

The little Jesus came to town;
The wind blew up, the wind blew down;
Out in the street the wind was bold,
Now who would house him from the uold?

Then opened wide a stable door,
Fair-were the rushes on the floor;
The Ox put forth a horned head,
'Come, little Lord, here make Thy bed.'

Uprose the sheep were folded near,
'Thou Lamb of God, come enter here,'
He entered there to rush and need,
Who was the Lamb of God indeed.

The little Jesus came to town,
With ox and sheep He laid Him down;
Peace to the byre, peace to the fold,
For that they housed Him from the cold!

—Lizette Woodworth Reese.

Christmas Tree in Summer Time

"Christmas Tree in Summer Time" happens every August in Toronto. The children who play on the city playgrounds during the summer holidays make and collect many gifts to send overseas. Then, late in August, they have a Christmas tree and each group brings its gifts.

It sounds very strange to hear the Christmas carols in the hot summer time, but how the children enjoy them!

A Text for Christmas

The law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did.—Heb. 7:19.

ping on the snowy rocks.
The prairie chicken, clucking its way through the willow scrub, plucked buds from the twigs for dinner today. Tonight if the weather is moderate, it will sleep in the lee of a windrow of tumbleweed, or rumple its feathers in a small coulee. When fierce winds sweep across the stubble fields these birds seek shelter in the drifts. Diving headlong into deep snowbanks they are out of the wind, protected from the frost, and concealed from the eye and nose of the hungry coyote.

Today a coyote was in luck if it had one meal. There must be many meatless days in winter for these small wolves—days when grouse are wary and rabbits cannot be ambushed. I am convinced that if a coyote has its meal ticket punched but twelve times in the course of one winter, it will continue to yodel and live to welcome the gophers in the spring.

Most of the red squirrels did their Christmas shopping in October. This afternoon, those that were awake came downstairs from the mossy nest to munch a few nuts or seeds stored carefully in the cellar, or dried mushrooms may have been on their bill of fare today.

The chickadees in all parts of Canada chirped blithely today as they hung from the horizontal bars of the birches or scanned the slender poplar twigs in search of food. I imagine that these plump birds must particularly enjoy Christmas Day, for the small groups seen in winter are usually formed of members of one family remaining in company.

Good Sirs and Ladies all, I pray that somewhere in your warm house tonight a little mouse may be nibbling contentedly.

A score of Okanagan College students returning to their homes by boat drew the fire of the editor of the Kelowna paper when they used, as the boat entered Kelowna, what he terms an American "yell". They were made the subject of an editorial of considerable length.

Messrs. Eyre and Cutbill of Peachland have just finished improving the exterior of their store by a complete painting. The new large warehouse they are building on Peach avenue is rapidly nearing completion and plans are being laid for a grand opening ball and what party to be held in the new building in January.

Fruitgrowers of B.C. will soon meet with keener competition from Ontario on the prairie markets, as eastern fruit shippers are adopting western packing methods. These are considered by experts everywhere as the most up-to-date and efficient in preparing perishable products for shipping. This is information given by one of the largest fruit package manufacturers in B.C. who has recently returned from Ontario, where he investigated the fruit-marketing situation.

For years the eastern grower has packed all his stone fruits in 8 and 11 quart climax baskets with a handle. This has time and again proven to be an unsuitable carrier. With B.C. packages it is indeed very seldom that broken boxes are found upon arrival at the markets.

On Monday Mr. Arthur Nisbet and Miss Grace Denison were united in marriage at Vernon. Mr. Nisbet will be remembered as a former clerk in the Dominion Bank and later at the Mineola Lumber Mills. Miss Denison was also a former resident of Summerland. The couple will reside at Mineola.

On Monday, Dec. 27, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Imayoshio.

A delegation from Summerland, consisting of Messrs. Tait, Zimmerman, McDonald, Baker and Walsh motored to Penticton to interview Dr. J. A. McLean, minister of education, concerning the school situation in Summerland. The doctor listened with interest to a careful statement of the problem in Summerland and declared he was particularly interested in the "unit system" of school buildings proposed by the school board, a system which he knew to be working with great success in California and which he himself had advocated for two years as the best to be adopted in this province in many districts.

Miss Sinclair has definitely decided not to stand for re-election on the school board. Mr. Cope told The Review that he would be willing to remain on the board if the residents wished him to do so. Mr. Jack Logie says that he will stand for re-election.

That the Summerland district is one of the best in British Columbia is the opinion of Mr. Wm. H. Wolan. In a communication received here Mr. Welsh says, "The quality of honey is most excellent and I believe this is one of the best honey districts in the province."

Col. C. A. Scott, commissioner for B.C. for the Canadian Red Cross Society, in a Christmas message to Mrs. A. K. "June of this year saw the first test of the United Nations Organization in its acceptance of the challenge of democracy in assisting the people of South Korea in their stand against aggression. "This, it is felt, should prompt all branches to take stock of resources and see that all committees are adequately staffed. 'Operation Mercy' in which a great number of branches participated, proved an excellent means of infusing new enthusiasm and vigor." Col. Scott concluded with thanks to all branch officers and members who assisted throughout the year.

Regional Development Plans For Valley Survey Told to Trade Board by G. Y. L. Crossley

"In establishing a regional development division the effort is being made to look ahead and try to develop our province along what may be more intelligent lines than it might otherwise," G. Y. L. Crossley informed the board of trade at Thursday's December meeting in the IOOF hall.

Mr. Crossley is field representative for a large portion of the interior from Merritt and Princeton on the west to Grand Forks on the east for the regional development division of the department of trade and industry. He was guest speaker at the trade board session.

"It's one of my joys to try to be of assistance in establishing new industries or helping established ones when they run into a snag or require information," he explained.

"It may interest you to know that the whole population in 1941 was 40 percent employed whereas the newcomers, in 1948, were only 30 percent employed. Of those employed in 1941, 48 percent were employed in basic industry, whereas of the newcomers, who were proportionately less employed, only one-third were employed in basic industry.

"We've issued a full report on land use, a suggested power policy, a report on box shooks and manufacture of boxes in relation to peak labor demand. "We've also completed a fully documented pamphlet about irrigation, irrigated and irrigable lands in the fruit area.

"This shows that we irrigate 48,000 acres, of which 25 percent is sprinkled. Ten percent of the irrigated area is irrigated by pumping. There appears to be another 30,000 acres capable of irrigation. Much of the land presently irrigated by gravity could be irrigated by pumping and gravity water used for lands at higher elevations. Dispersal of Industry

"One important phase of regional development is the encouragement of the dispersal of industry

"We propose soon to issue industrial maps covering the industrial centres of B.C. In the regions I represent, there will be a separate map for Kelowna, Penticton, Vernon and Kamloops.

"Our next step is to complete an economic and industrial survey first of this district. We want to try to find out what exports there are from the district and what imports into it. With the knowledge we already have we know that there are a great many exports from the Okanagan that are distinct from fruit and vegetables.

"One man in the valley is shipping racing shells all over the North American continent. Toronto Varsity is racing in one of his sights now and so is the University of Pennsylvania.

"Another firm is manufacturing one-ton hoists which may be applied to one-ton trucks and which are thus converted into dump trucks. He is shipping 10 to 15 daily.

Perhaps the more important phase, however, is the proposal to try to ascertain the quantities of materials imported into this district. About one month ago representatives of the bureau of statistics were here and discussed with the board of trade and junior chambers in Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton their proposal to cover this matter. Although they pointed out that there was a lot of work involved on the part of local organizations, the suggestion was enthusiastically approved.

Approach Retail Outlets

"The proposal will be to approach every retail outlet in the area, endeavoring to ascertain its direct purchase. We expect to obtain the information from wholesale houses and distributors covering the bulk of importations into this district, but there are many retail outlets who have their own direct connections with manufacturers and this information we will endeavor to obtain from the retail outlet itself.

"There are something like 67 such outlets in West Summerland and 21 in Summerland. A list of commodity types will be attached to the questionnaire... with the assurance the information will be completely confidential."

Mr. Crossley stated he hoped the local trade board would assist in this endeavor and he mentioned the basic factors which will be established by this survey. What secondary industries could be established, what employment is Here's a small message that carries a big, big wish: Merry Christmas to all our friends and neighbors.

Birth of Christ Is Depicted in Realistic Scene

Although many local store windows have carried out the Christmas motif to a fine degree, the section of A. K. Elliott's department store window which has been set aside for the depiction of the birth of Christ has created more interest than any other.

Lifelike figures of the wise men gathered at the manger were constructed by Rev. Father A. M. Meulenbergh, of the Church of the Holy Child. The scene is extremely realistic and has created a great deal of discussion among all those who have seen it.

Father Meulenbergh worked for more than six weeks to create these figures, using plywood, stucco wire, surgical dressings and finally moulding a stucco composition onto the framework.

Ladies of the Catholic Women's League were responsible for the clothing, which has been extremely well made, while Mrs. A. K. Macleod and Mrs. R. G. Russel applied the makeup for each face. Imported palm leaves were brought from Florida to provide a realistic background to the scene. In assembling the palm trees, Father Meulenbergh was assisted by Mike Baron and Al Kluck.

Father Meulenbergh is naturally well pleased with the result of his weeks of effort. He intends to place the figures in his church where they will be framed by the colored window behind the altar.

In the group are depicted the Baby Jesus, the Virgin Mary, Joseph and the Three Wise Men.

The Bands of Today and Yesterday—

Next Thursday, December 28, the Summerland Band is conducting the second in its series of winter concerts in the Youth Centre. Band members are endeavoring to raise funds by means of these concerts to pay the balance on their uniforms and sundry other expenditures, and are appealing to all groups and individuals to attend and hear this fine program of band numbers.

The Summerland Band Of 1903

As far back as 1903, Summerland boasted a band and from the nucleus seen on the right sprang a band which invaded coast centres and took them by storm. Not many present-day citizens here could name these bandsmen but Fred Brind was able to supply three names which puzzled other old-timers.

C. Robinson, Kenneth Hogg, J. W. L. Logie, Billy Sylvester. As far as can be ascertained, Mr. Logie is residing in Victoria and W. L. Robinson in Toronto but the other members of this old-time band are deceased.

Xmas Party for Mission Band

The Baptist church Mission Band held a party at the parsonage on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 13. A candle lighting service was a special part of the meeting which will be remembered for a long time by the children present.

Mrs. W. C. Wilkin and Mrs. D. O. Knipfel served ice cream and cookies as much appreciated refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

Sgt. Howard, RCAF, Home for Christmas

Sgt. George Howard is expected home for Christmas by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Howard, Giant's Head Road.

Sgt. Howard, who is a flight engineer, has been 9 years in the RCAF and since August has been flying the Korean air lift from Anchorage to Tokyo.

Cold Winter

Cold winter now is in the wood,
The moon wades deep in snow,
File cedar boughs about the sills,
And let the fires glow!

The cows must stand in the dark barn,
The horses' stamp all day,
Now shall the housewife bake her pies
And keep her kitchen gay.

The cat sleeps warm beneath the stove,
The dog on paws outspread;
But the brown deer with flinching hide
Seeks for a sheltered bed.

The wolf steps hungry through the brush,
The lean hawk coasts the sky.
"Winter is in the wood!" the winds
In the warm chimney cry.
—Elizabeth Coatsworth.

A crowd filled the Baptist church to capacity on Sunday evening, Dec. 17, when the main part of the church and the halls on both sides were used for those who came to hear the fine Christmas music of the singers' section of the Singers' and Players' club.

Invite Hon. E. C. Carson Come Here

When it was learned that Hon. E. C. Carson had declared he would visit Pentiction to discuss the arterial highway passing through that city, Summerland Board of Trade extended an invitation to the minister of public works to come to Summerland and discuss highway problems in this district.

The local trade board has urged for some time that the re-location of Okanagan Highway No. 5 from Pentiction to Peachland should be made known in the immediate future so that prospective camps and other tourist accommodation attractions could be planned.

There has been no further report on the likely time of Hon. Mr. Carson's visit but it is not likely he will come here before January with Christmas so close at hand now.

Problem of relocating the highway through Pentiction has caused a storm of dissension. Many Pentiction residents want the highway built on the west side of Okanagan river with a new approach to Pentiction across the river to connect with Westminster avenue.

Others want the highway to remain in its present position so that maintenance costs will not have to be borne by the city.

In Summerland area, the problem of routing a primary highway through the congested lower town area has stumped provincial public works engineers for some time and as far as is known here it still hasn't been solved.

Santa Treats the Kids on Saturday

This Saturday afternoon Santa Claus arrives in Summerland.

At 2 o'clock he is due to reach lower town where he will stop opposite White & Thornthwaite premises and dispense bags of goodies to youngsters who will be eagerly awaiting his arrival.

Half an hour later he comes to West Summerland business area where he will be stationed between Granville Motors and the Maywood Photo Studio.

His visit to Summerland this final day of the Christmas shopping season has been arranged by the board of trade with committee members consisting of Lorne Perry, Fred Dunsdon, E. E. Bates, Don Tait and Bill Snow along with other volunteers.

Tickets which may be exchanged for a present from Santa have been given out at the MacDonald school to pupils in Grades 1 to 4. Pre-school children may get their tickets at the Read & Pruden office.

Another treat for the youngsters will be a free matinee at the Rialto theatre on Saturday afternoon.

Here's to a great big package of Merriment and Joy to you all on Christmas Day.

GUIDE NEWS

Saturday afternoon, Dec. 16, Guides of the 2nd Summerland company were hostesses to their mothers and each invited one other adult guest. The girls welcomed, entertained, and served tea, to those who were present in order to qualify for their hostess badges.

Part of the entertainment consisted in presenting three skits and in singing Christmas songs. Captain, Miss Gweneth Atkinson, and lieutenant, Miss Velva Wright, poured tea from a candlelit table. A lighted Christmas tree added further festive air to the happy afternoon.

Company Leader Frances Atkinson was pianist for the occasion.

Xmas Message Can Inspire Says Premier

"I would like to take this opportunity of wishing everyone, not only a joyous Christmas, but one full of contentment," Premier Byron Johnson declared this week.

"While the world is still beset with unrest, the message of Christmas can inspire us to have faith that the reason may yet prevail and that the desire for peace, which rests in the hearts of the people, may yet become a reality if we but follow the precepts symbolized by this holy anniversary.

"At this time our thoughts go out to all those people who not only still suffer from the after-effects of the last war, but who live within the shadow of threatening war.

"Knowing as we do how costly is the price of freedom, but how essential that freedom is to the dignity and contentment of man, we must at this time dedicate ourselves to the task of defending that way of life which has been patterned so much on the principles expounded by Him whose birth we now celebrate.

"This calls not only for determination to defend our freedom, but for patience, tolerance and the will to persuade others that there is a better way of life than one of intimidation and fear.

"Let us then, in approaching our Christmas festivities, pause for a moment to rededicate ourselves to the sacred cause of peace so that there ultimately will be true contentment among all peoples.

Editor The Review:

I have just received from the provincial government forms to be filled out and sent in weekly for collection of an amusement tax. I am not going into the subject of the justness of the government to tax an open air rink or of even being asked to,

Had I made up my mind not to run the rink this year it would have rebounded back to me from every skater and even non-skaters in Summerland. With the progressive physical handicaps worsening every season, especially with my hands in giving change and the loss on the rink last year I cannot possibly pay the tax myself, so will incorporate it into the three prices of admission. I will pay what is left.

This will simplify the collection as I get nearly everyone crowding in at the start.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor and The Summerland Review for inserting this for me.

Singers & Players Club

Thanks to Rev. Mr. Knipfel, the singers' section of Singers and Players presented a program of Christmas music at the Baptist church, West Summerland, on Sunday, December 17.

We may as a community and as a club be proud of the high standard of choral and solo singing which, under our musical director Mr. Bud Steuart, our singers achieved on this occasion.

The program included three Christmas carols with soloists

Mrs. F. Bergstrom, Mrs. K. Boothe, Mr. B. Newton and Mr. Corns, followed by "The Lord's Prayer", and finally selections from Handel's "Messiah" with soloists Mrs. L. Fudge, Mrs. E. McNeill and Mrs. D. Millward.

We have now reached the point with "Patience" where we can proceed no further until we complete our roster of principals and can see ahead of us the prospect of recruiting a full chorus.

While there was no general rehearsal last Tuesday evening we were, under Mr. Steuart's direction, able to make some progress in this connection. This task is an extremely difficult one and decisions are hard to arrive at.

Since the chorus is so much the feature of these productions, in which we have also hitherto excelled, we do not want to run the risk of depicting this excellence; on the other hand the principals have to carry the story along and must be competent to do so. Nor can physical attributes be altogether ignored in such selection—the simple matter of personal height alone for instance is only one consideration of many.

Within these limits artistic integrity must rule so that the cast is considered as a whole; the balance of the whole production must be considered as a unit both vocally and pictorially and within that picture every member of the cast must have his set and chosen place.

A singer removed from the chorus thus leaves a gap which from both these angles must be filled satisfactorily. Beset as it is with difficulties such as these—and more besides—it is small wonder that we will not face this problem until forced by circumstances to do so.

And now, through this column, from us the executive to each of you and from each member of Singers and Players to the others we wish everybody not forgetting the Editor of the Review through whose good offices we are given this opportunity to do so, a Very Merry Christmas.

RETURNING HERE

Mr. Roy Gilbert who moved from Summerland to Salmon Arm some time ago has bought the property known as the Klingsell place near Hospital hill, and it is understood that he and his family intend to come back to live here.

Brownie Pack Hold Tea at Centre with Fifty Attending

The two Brownie packs combined to hold a delightful tea in the Youth Centre on Friday afternoon, Dec. 15, with the tea table prettily decorated with Christmas motifs.

Over fifty mothers of Brownies and other friends attended and were pleased to see an excellent display of dancing and to hear a great many carols sung from memory during a well arranged program.

Brown Owl, Mrs. R. Lawley, and her Tawny Owl, Mrs. Axworthy, were in charge of the 2nd pack and Brown Owl, Mrs. W. A. Laidlaw and her Tawny Owl, Mrs. Bob Barkwill, in charge of the 1st pack.

Brownie pianists were Marney Bleasdale and Diane Rumball, and Miss Elsie Hack accompanied the combined Christmas carol singing at the end of the program.

Dale Henker and Leone Smith of the 1st pack were presented with their golden bars, and a special prize was given to Diane Rumball for her attendance, good work, and tidy uniform.

Marney Bleasdale, Diane Durick, Bonnie Wilson, Pat Boyd, Carol Reinertson, Jean Kersey and Marjorie Campbell of the 2nd pack were awarded their golden hands. Marney, Diane, Bonnie, Pat, Carol and Marjorie also won their house orderly badges and Marney, Diane and Bonnie, their minstrels' badges.

The names of all the 2nd pack were put into a hat and one name drawn to receive a prize, since all had done such good work during the year. Marie Gronlund's name was drawn from the hat, and she was given the prize.

Mrs. Laidlaw and Mrs. Barkwill have recently taken over the 1st pack and have not had a great deal of time with the Brownies yet, but are making excellent progress already.

At tea time the little girls put on their little aprons which they had brought from home for the occasion and served tea very nicely.

Officials of Red Cross at Kelowna Meet

Representatives of Red Cross branches in the Okanagan region met in Kelowna, December 6 for the annual regional conference meeting of that district.

Branches in the area include, Armstrong, Enderby and district, Kelowna, Naramata, Oliver, Osoyoos, Peachland, Penticton, Salmon Arm, Summerland and Vernon.

Guest speakers at the meeting included W. Orson Banfield, president of the B.C. Division Red Cross; Mrs. J. N. Mawer, provincial vice-president; Eric Marsden, chairman, provincial disaster committee; Mrs. Ernest Helliwell, provincial chairman, home nursing and loan cupboards; C. A. Scott, provincial commissioner, and A. W. Thiessen, director of swimming and water safety, all of Vancouver.

Mrs. W. S. Reeder, Penticton, regional representative for the area to the provincial executive, and Mrs. J. H. Horn, vice-president of the Kelowna branch, were in charge of the meeting, and welcomed the guests.

Mr. Banfield, who has just returned from the semi-annual council meeting of the Red Cross held in Winnipeg, reported to the meeting that the Canadian Red Cross is supplying one of eight special relief teams being sent to Korea to assist in relief activities. The league of Red Cross Societies is organizing these teams at the request of the United Nations. Each team will consist of a medical officer, a sanitary engineer and a welfare officer.

He also spoke on the international relief work done by the Canadian Red Cross in the past year. From January 1 to September 30 the society has spent $150,000 in overseas relief and is planning a similar expenditure for the coming year. The Junior Red Cross alone has raised and sent over $50,000 worth of medical and health supplies to juniors in other countries, as well as the work they are doing at home.

Mr. Marsden, who represented Red Cross in this province at the disaster institute held in Winnipeg, which was attended by government and Red Cross officials from Canada and the United States, complimented the Red Cross branches in B.C. for leading the way in disaster planning, through the part they played in "Operation Mercy" the provincial-wide disaster exercise. He urged the branch disaster committees to be well organized and prepared in their own communities to do their share in the overall civil defence program.

Mrs. Helliwell stated that there has been a renewed interest of late in the home nursing classes. She also stated that 22 branches in the province now operate loan cupboards. She urged that all branches mobilize the graduate and the practical nurses in their own areas to work with the disaster committees.

Mrs. Mawer, provincial chairman of hospital visiting, told the meeting that more than 3,000 Christmas gift stockings will be distributed by Red Cross this year to patients in the veteran and T.B. hospitals throughout the province.

Melvin Shelly, student at Kelowna high school, spoke to the meeting on the Junior Red Cross leadership training camp, which he attended this year, along with juniors from Alberta, British Columbia and the United States. The camp was held at Jasper, and was the first of its kind in Canada.

High School COMMENTS

The Christmas edition of the Campus Chaff was issued on Monday. The editors and staff did a good job on this, the second publication this year.

On Monday, December 11, the grade eleven Home Economics class entertained staff members at a dinner prepared by themselves. The dinner was eaten in the hall of the school, which was gayly decorated for the occasion. The tables were also beautifully decorated. The staff members agree that the meal was excellent. Good work girls!

On Thursday, December 14, the grade twelve Home Economics class entertained the school board at a dinner similar to the one given by the grade eleven girls. A brightly-decorated Christmas tree and Christmas lights added a holiday spirit to the meal. After both meals motion pictures were shown in the science room. Everyone agrees both meals were a success.

A drive is now on at the school to raise money for the March of Dimes campaign. The amount collected so far has not been announced, although the contributions could have come in more freely.

We would like to extend heartiest welcome to Mrs. Burwash, who has taken Miss Macfarlane's position on the staff. Miss Macfarlane was forced to leave because of illness and we hope she has a speedy recovery.

There is to be an amendment in the constitution as a result of the voting which took place last week. From now on the students' council remains in office the full year term instead of the usual half year. Also, a boy or girl can preside over the council.

Last Friday the boys volleyball team challenged the men teachers to a game of volleyball. Three close games were played with the teachers winning two of them.

The Christmas banquet and dance took place too late in the week, so a report of it was unable to be written. Look for an account of it in the next Comments column, after the holidays.

The Christmas holidays commenced on Tuesday. The long vacation was certainly welcomed by everyone, students and staff.

That is all for this time, so Merry Christmas everyone and a Prosperous New Year!

May the blessing of peace fall on everyone in the world, this Christmas.

His Majesty will Broadcast Message as CBC Highlights Music and Story on Xmas Day

This year the annual BBC Christmas Day broadcast goes beyond the bounds of the Commonwealth and Empire to include pick-ups in Europe, the Far East, and the United States.

Canada's contribution to the program will come from Ottawa, opening with the sound of the Peace Tower Carillon. The CBC will set up equipment on the roof of the centre block of the Parliament Buildings, behind the Peace Tower, to pick up the sound of the bells, while Stephen Dale gives the world a word-picture of Ottawa, on a Christmas morning. At Mountain Lodge, Tom Benson of the CBC will interview skiers making ready for a day on the slopes.

Listeners will hear from steel workers in South Wales; from a Yorkshire farmer; from Scalloway in the Shetland Islands. In London, Wynford Vaughan-Thomas will describe the scene from Big Ben's platform in Westminster, overlooking the Thames and the burgeoning Festival of Britain site on the south bank, and the microphone will visit the home of a Cockney workman, bombed out in the blitz of 1940.

From Europe, Australian commentator Wilfred Thomas will describe the children's village at Bad Albing, where the IRO looks after homeless European children.

In Oslo, Norway, the program will pick up Odd Nansen, the son of the famous explorer Fridtjof Nansen, who spent five years in a concentration camp.

A picture of Christmas in New England will be contributed by Irish playwright Denis Johnston, now living in the United States; from Australia will come the story of a former European DP in his new home. The program will also visit New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Tokyo, where Michael Barsley will introduce UN forces personnel.

The broadcast will conclude with the Christmas message by the King from Sandringham, where the Royal Family is "home for Christmas".

Early morning listeners will hear the program at 6:00 o'clock. There will be a rebroadcast at 6:00 p.m. and 7:10 p.m.

Hansel and Gretel
The universal folk story and folk songs contained in Engelbert Humperdinck's fairy opera, Hansel and Gretel, hold great charm for listeners of all ages. Adapted from a fairy tale by the brothers Grimm, the work has all the verve and freshness of the original story. It is something for the whole family to hear and delight in.

That is why it has been chosen for broadcast on Christmas afternoon (11:30 a.m. to 1:30). The recorded production is in English and it was made by the Metropolitan Opera Association chorus and orchestra, with a cast of leading American singers. Ernest Morgan of the CBC will introduce the program and act as narrator throughout.

The cast is as follows: Hansel, Rise Stevens; his sister Gretel, Nadine Conner; their father (Peter, a broom-maker), John Brownlee; their mother (Gertrude), Clarinae Turner; the Dew Fairy, Lillian Raymond; and the parts of the Witch and the Sandman, Thelma Votipka. The chorus is heard as angels, woodland voices and children. The conductor is Max Rudolf.

Famous Boys' Choir
A boys' choir which probably includes the most-travelled youngsters in the world will broadcast on Trans-Canada at five o'clock on Christmas night. The choir is Les Petits Chanteurs de la Croix de Bois, of Paris, France, which has sung on five continents and given over six thousand concerts. Recently it completed its fourth North American tour and while in Montreal it recorded a special Christmas program for the CBC.

The original choir was formed in 1907 of boys from the working-class districts of Paris. In the forty-three years of its existence that choir has seen many generations of boys come and go. Its repertoire has been expanded from church music and Gregorian chant (at the start) to include modern works and folk songs of many lands.

Throughout the world, and affiliated with Les Petits Chanteurs in Paris, there are 197 other boys' choirs with a total membership of twelve thousand. They held an international convention in Rome last year, attended by three thousand.

Children's Party
The storytellers, singers and actors across Canada who regularly entertain young listeners will join forces on Christmas Day at 1:30 for an hour of merrymaking, with Mary Grannan in charge.

The show is called CBC Children's Party. Maggie Muggins and her pal, Mr. McGarrity, have promised to lend a hand, and there will be lots of holiday music by an orchestra conducted by Geoffrey Waddington. The highlight of the show will be a quarter-hour drama by Mary Grannan about The True Meaning of Christmas, in which young Roger Newman will have a leading role.

Unemployed Reindeers
Last year Rita Greer's musical comedy Once Upon a Reindeer pointed out that Christmas is just as predictable a day for reindeer employed by Claus and Co., Fast Delivery Service: Christmas Eve they're hired, Christmas Day they're fired, the rest of the year they're not required.

It's going to be the same story for reindeer this year—victims of seasonal unemployment, hunting for work, willing to do anything. Perhaps a job as a snow importer? Entertainers at your Christmas party? Or perhaps a fourth at bridge?

This year the musical has grown to three-quarters of an hour, beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Christmas Day. Ricky Hystop will be in charge of the music, Juliette and Ernie Prentice will sing, and there'll be various other characters popping in and out during the performance.

West Coast Conductors
Among the special Christmas Day programs from Vancouver will be two directed by the well-known west coast conductors John Avison and Jean de Rimanoczy.

At half past eight Mr. Avison leads the orchestra in Ralph Vaughan Williams' "On Christmas Night." This is a quodlibet (what you please) on Christmas tunes, inspired by Charles Dickens' Christmas Carol. The work is written in two "acts", each of three "scenes".

A capacity for combing the world's corners for new music distinguishes Jean de Rimanoczy. In no department has he shown more interest than in the brilliant modern school of English composers. It is fitting, therefore, that he should lead the orchestra in works by two English composers on his Christmas night broadcast. They are Barbara Allen Variations by Carse and Christmas Suite by Rowley. At 10:30.

Lucio Agostini Hour
Glittering arrangements in the Lucio Agostini manner will be the feature of an hour-long Trans-Canada program Andrew Allan will produce on Christmas night, starting at 9:00 o'clock. Current tunes and revivals, some in suave stylings, some in rhythmic, will reflect London, New York, Paris, and Hollywood. Latin America, long one of the Agostini specialties, will be strongly represented; and a prominent place will be given to hits from Out of This World, the new Cole Porter show.

Then there will be a new fantasia by Agostini, recreating in music the days of Father Brebeuf and Father Lalemant in the 17th century, while a group of old French Noels will etch happy vignettes of carol singers, in the snowy streets of French cathedral towns. A special attraction for children will be a fairy tale devised by Allan for Agostini's treatment—to be narrated by Budd Knapp.

Two Revelations

Rev. H. R. Whitmore

"Where is he that is born king of the Jews?" anxiously and eagerly inquired the wise men. This is both question and revelation. They must know where he is because they believe him to be their expected leader. The supreme revelation of Christmas is that of the recognition of the Babe as leader and redeemer, sent from God. They must know where he is, in order to adjust their acts and their thoughts accordingly.

Men find this question primary today. Where is Christ in relation to our own lives? Where is he in our social institutions and in our plans for the future? Have we found him, gone to him, or recognized him as leader? Is our leader absent from the celebration which commemorates his own significant birth? Are we gaily observing an unusual birthday which has simply somehow become surrounded with many beautiful myths and customs? The wise men were startled and interested because of whom Jesus was regarded to be. Because of who he was, it mattered in every way where he was.

Christmas is a time of joy. It is a time for the delight of children. It has the genius of the child-like mind. One is impressed by the joy and gladness of Luke's account. It is fragrant and tingling with emotions—joy, thank-giving, satisfaction and enthusiasm. Christmas is a time for us too to get some new enthusiasm in life, some new impetus and incentive. We need to take new zeal in struggling against odds, in the guileless beauty of children's laughter, and in the power of ambitious, wholesome youth. "The glory of the Lord shone round about them," Surely it can and does around us, too.

This is the spirit of Christmas— heavenly joy, the joy that comes from knowing that a personal Saviour has come, that the world has been changed, and that something distinctly new, great, and wonderful has come to enrich the life of mankind and open up new visions of what it means to live and know God.

The angels' attitude is ours when we fully realize the import of the message and the gift. God now is nearer and clearer, the world is completely changed in every way, and the individual life has been exalted.

This is our exultation when we too have experienced the revelations and thus have cause for the deepest joy that human life can know.

While we contemplate these thoughts may the Christmas joy be yours and 1951 full of those rich and divine blessings to you one and all.

Harken To The Message

Rev. C. E. Preston

Just before Jesus was born, it was a period of unrest, strife and turmoil. It seemed that the country was on the verge of an uprising against the Roman government.

"We read in Isaiah, chapter 9, verse 6, a prophecy concerning the birth of Jesus Christ—"For unto us a child is born, unto us a Son is given; and the government shall be upon His shoulder; and His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

As Mary brought forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn, there was peace throughout all of Palestine. Jesus will always bring peace to the troubled hearts of mankind when He is given the opportunity.

In Matthew 2:1,2 we read—"Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, where is He that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen His star in the east and are come to worship Him."

The wisemen were troubled because they had seen a star in the east and knew it meant "The King of the Jews". "The Prince of Peace" was born. These men were seeking peace and they found peace when they found the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ.

This Christmas of 1950 we face a tremendous hour; an hour in human history large with unborn events. There are ominous movements in the world. The nations are evidently rushing forward to a tremendous cataclysm of world-engulfing war of staggering proportions and terrifying results.

Instead of emerging into a golden sunrise of peace and prosperity, we are rushing headlong into a bloody sunset of war and disaster.

We, as a nation, as individuals, should hearken to the message of the wisemen and once again gather around the altars of our churches and worship the Lord Jesus Christ, the Prince of Peace.

Jesus said, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden and I will give you rest."

God Was In Christ

Rev. D. O. Knipfel

"God has come down to us in the likeness of man".

This is the theme that Paul was dealing with when he wrote to the Corinthians that "God was in Christ", and it is one of the most marvelous facts of Christian experience. No stretch of the imagination can visualize what life would be like if "God had not come down through the singing skies to dwell as the child of Mary and Joseph in their humble home at Nazareth".

Certainly, we would find ourselves without inner peace, or hope, or love in our world—if, indeed we had even the gift of life; for all these things came from God when He gave us Jesus Christ.

"Love came down at Christmas
 Love all lovely, love divine,
 Love came down at Christmas
 Star and angels gave the sign",
 Christmas is the reminder that God was so concerned about our frustrations, our sins, our separation from Him, that He did something tremendous about it. He came down to our dark world in the person of Jesus-Christ. He became accessible, understandable, lovable. We beheld him; whom to know is life, and life eternal. He talked to us about our sins. He promised us forgiveness. He gave us power to become true sons and daughters. And when we have beheld His glory and understood His love, we have been changed. The miracle still goes on. For God was (and is) in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself.

While friends put many gifts into our hands this Christmas tide, may God who comes to us through the Babe of Bethlehem, put into our souls those spiritual gifts which neither life nor death can take away.

Good Tidings of Great Joy

Rev. C. E. Coxson

Good tidings of great joy, is the message that the angels brought so many years ago. At that very time the world was sad—poverty prevailed, taxation heavy and things in the Roman empire were very uncertain.

The world surely was in need of this message of hope; Shepherds and wise men alike received it.

The theme of the message was good tidings of great joy, and the extent is to all people.

Today the world is in trouble; while we here enjoy many of the good blessings of life, the world in other places is gripped by fear, hunger, cold, disease and all the horrors of evil.

Christmas is a symbol of all the message intended for us. Christ is here but he must be welcomed. "Behold I stand at the door and knock." He must be invited into our hearts; He will not intrude. He will bring freedom of thought and all the blessings of true democracy.

We have for a long time taken this for granted. But it is the Gospel of a living Christ that has given us all these blessings, even our Christian civilization.

Let us not spend our time and money at this Christmas season and a time of world need, in revelry and sin, but remember the one whose birthday we are keeping, Christ our Saviour,

May our wish for your happy Christmas light the way for all good things to enter your home and there abide.

If Jesus Had Not Come

Rev. Wm. P. C. Rabel

To look at the "human life of Jesus" does hold all the drama which we ascribe to Him. Wonderful as was His birth, and the circumstances surrounding that event, His was a short life of thirty-three years.

He never ventured farther than two hundred miles from His birthplace; never travelled widely as compared with the adventures of only a peasant ancestry and was born in an obscure and remote province of the Roman Empire. He never wrote a book nor ever endeavored to systematize His teachings.

And yet for all that He never was and never had, insofar as pre-eminence and wealth in this world is concerned, our old world has never been the same since He came. If Jesus had not come, our daily lives would surely be different. In fact, would any or all of us be here at all?—if Jesus had not come.

No Christian Culture

It is not fanciful imagination to suggest that our common practices would be vastly different. I am not referring to our inventions and luxuries which characterize our common and advanced civilization, for these are not the true fruits of the Christian message. However, the human mind, loosed from fear and superstition, and thereby freed to develop its ingenuity, develops these things in the atmosphere of freedom which the Christian way gives, but these are not the true fruits of Christianity.

What Christ in general has contributed to society in His exaltation of such intangible values as love, truth, human freedom, inner peace, abiding joy and beauty of life. These are acknowledged even by non-Christians but only through Christ and by an active faith in His power can men come to fully appreciate their beauty and reality. Where these tangible values are denied and frowned upon as so much "sissy trash", in such lands and under such governments life is cheap. Where Christ is denied and rejected these intangible values last for but a short while for without Him they matter little.

Men only respect truth and love as long as they respect Christ for He is Truth and He is Love. To lose sight of God can only mean that we soon lose sight of our fellowmen also. Faith in the Christ of Christmas and the centuries will humble us to walk with God, and cause us to respect the values which He exalted. These things would not be ours if Jesus had not come.

No Answer to Tragedies
The blighting tragedy of sin is still the "case history of every man." Jesus is the answer to this tragedy for He came "to save people from their sins." (Bible, Matthew 1:21.)

Jesus is the answer to the tragedy of suffering. As to the apostle Paul so to us comes His promise: "My grace is sufficient for thee." An old Christian was heard to pray thus: "Lord, either take away my burdens, or give me grace that they won't matter." And that is what Christ does with our burdens.

Jesus is also the answer to the tragedy of death. In Christ, death is an open door into our Father's house. Without Him we should never know the answer to life's tragedies.

No Christian Fellowship
If Christ had not come there would be no church with healing hands, no message of comfort, no strong bonds of true fellowship. His coming meant a believing people and every Christmas season reassures us that He came because He loved, and because He loved, Christians everywhere, of varied creeds and colors, can love one another. The bond of Christian fellowship is found in Christ. Christ made possible this Christian fellowship and men who are born anew, having become childlike, humble, teachable, and wholesome in spirit, are themselves the basis for this fellowship.

Because of these things we say, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift."

Christmas Is A Challenge

Canon F. V. Harrison

In a very materialistic age Christmas comes with a great challenge. Of what does Christmas joy consist? Is it a mere round of feasting and social enjoyment, that sometimes descends to a very low level of behaviour? The answer is to be found in a realization of what the celebration of Christmas means. It is the joyful celebration of the most wonderful event that ever happened in the world in which we live. The coming of God in the flesh—in the wonder or the Incarnation—means for all who accept it, something that transcends human life and lifts us into those spiritual realms where God is.

Thus we find that in adoration the truest joy of Christmas can be found. The magi came in adoration bringing gifts. We too can adore.

In the highest and best sense, the gifts we give at Christmas to those we love, I believe, spring out of that great spirit of love and adoration, because they represent the outpouring of our hearts. If there is a great sense of holiness as we give each other tokens of our love on Christ's birthday, should there not be a great sense of adoration and awe and love to God, for the wonderful gift of the Christ Child so long ago?

May your hearts be full of this Spirit of Adoration on Christmas morning, so that it becomes for you a very happy day.

BCFGA Executive 'Aghast' At "Delaying Action" of Minister of Agriculture

Consternation reigned in the ranks of the BCFGA executive at Kelowna last Thursday when grower officials learned that Hon. Harry Bowman, minister of agriculture, is seeking further surveys before making any recommendations to the federal minister of agriculture regarding assistance for those growers who lost a large number of fruit trees in the disastrous 1949-50 winter.

Any further delay was strongly condemned by the association's executive meeting with members of the emergency advisory committee which had submitted a lengthy and comprehensive brief to the provincial cabinet.

Hon. Mr. Bowman, in a letter written December 11 from Victoria declared that it would be necessary for further surveys, to be made, this time by BCFGA representatives and representatives of his department, before he would submit recommendations to Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, as federal minister of agriculture, C. A. Hayden, BCFGA secretary states.

President Ivor Newman was authorized by Thursday's meeting to send a night lettergram to Mr. Bowman pointing out that six months have elapsed since the emergency conference of June 15 at which both Mr. Bowman and Col. R. L. Wheeler, representing dominion agricultural authorities agreed that a "state of emergency" existed.

This telegram called on the provincial minister to provide "assistance as set forth in the BCFGA brief presented to the cabinet Nov. 15 last" and requested the whole matter be laid before the full cabinet at its meeting Friday, December 15.

In his letter to the BCFGA, Mr. Bowman reiterated a previous statement that "the question of compensation was one which could not be dealt with until after the dominion-provincial conference" in early December.

"While I was in Ottawa I had an opportunity of discussing this matter of compensation with the Hon. Mr. Gardiner and I have to advise you that his attitude was the same as the attitude which I took when the matter was discussed in Victoria, namely, that no definite decision could be reached until after the conclusion of the dominion-provincial conference on dominion-provincial relations.

"One thing, however, that did seem to be dominant insofar as Mr. Gardiner's remarks were concerned was that it was doubtful if the dominion would be prepared to grant as complete assistance as might be requested and as indicated in the brief submitted by your organization.

Occupational Hazard

"It was felt that a considerable portion of these losses should be considered as occupational hazard and that quite a percentage might be written off on this basis. There was also the point of compensating individuals who, while their losses may have been heavy, are still in a position to recoup their losses without government assistance.

"There is another group, however, who have suffered to the extent that their holdings, if not entirely liquidated, have been forced through losses of their trees to seek other forms of employment and who, in some cases, may be considered as requiring outside aid.

"This group, while it may be small, is one which should, in my opinion, receive further consideration. Insofar as this particular question is concerned it would be advisable for your committee to make arrangements to secure the names of growers in this group in each district where losses would put them in this category.

"If I could have submitted to me a statement by districts, giving the names of growers in this group, together with their addresses, as well as figures showing the original plantings of each individual and the number of trees which have been killed in each case and the possible amount of compensation which would be required to at least give such growers a start, I would be prepared upon the basis of such presentation to again take up the matter with the provincial cabinet and also through the Hon. Mr. Gardiner, with the dominion cabinet.

"With the knowledge which your committee has of conditions in all sections and the figures which are procurable from our horticultural office in Kelowna, I believe that a presentation covering each individual district and growers in those districts could be quickly prepared... If, when such a brief is prepared a member or members of your committee could again come to Victoria to discuss this matter with me I should be very glad indeed to meet such a committee."

Newman's Reply

President Newman's wired reply was as follows:

Replying your letter... this was duly considered today by executive of BCFGA and members of emergency advisory committee and all were aghast at the contents and could not believe that it represented the considered opinion of yourself as minister of agriculture or the cabinet as a whole stop. Six months have elapsed since the emergency conference of June fifteenth which you attended and also Col. R. L. Wheeler directly representing Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture stop. When the evidence was concluded, June fifteenth you and Col. Wheeler both declared that a "state of emergency" existed stop. The conference accepted your proposal that your own department conduct a survey of the damage and full cooperation of our industry in this survey was given stop. We now call on you to provide the assistance as set forth in the BCFGA brief presented to the Cabinet November fourteenth last stop. You will recall that our industry asked for a special session

Bennett Puts Loss At Fifty Millions

W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan, took a step towards assisting the Okanagan fruit industry on his own this week when he wired Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, soliciting his support.

Mr. Bennett inferred that growers will suffer a loss of $50,000,000 from last winter's severe cold. He read the following telegram to Mr. Wismer at the Coalition meeting in Peachland Tuesday night:

"Would ask you to support the growers' reasonable request for replacement of trees killed during last winter's unprecedented cold. Over 300,000 fruit trees were killed and the replacement cost asked is about $2 million, whereas the total loss to the growers for the full bearing trees and the crop for the period of years up until the new trees would be in bearing would amount to a total of $50 millions; so even with the $2 millions help the growers would be standing about 96 percent of the loss themselves and the governments 4 percent.

"I know that if you will personally look into the matter you will agree that this disaster is not one for the social assistance branch but calls for constructive government policy."

of the legislature and must go on record as condemning in the strongest terms your delaying action to which we have been subjected stop. Therefore our industry demands that a special commission or committee be set up forthwith to handle this problem expeditiously on a similar basis to the Fraser Valley disaster stop. "The BCFGA requests that this nightletter be placed before the Provincial Cabinet Friday, December fifteenth."

BRITISH COLUMBIA TODAY

Despite the tragedy of war, the past decade has been one of outstanding social and economic advance in Canada, and most particularly in this Province of ours. Economic developments coincident with an influx of capital for industrial and mercantile ventures, along with enlightened public investment in hydro-electric, highway, railway and related construction, have resulted in a very substantial increase in wealth and population, and in social welfare, health and educational advances that go to make life for the people of British Columbia more complete.

Economic and social growth of the magnitude seen in this Province can only occur in a political area enjoying the rights and privileges of stable government operating on sound economic principals. In British Columbia we find the favourable conditions for such progress which cannot continue without financial assistance, both of a capital and current nature. It can truthfully be said that aided by great natural resources and a secure faith in the future, sound governmental financial administration has made these improvements possible without placing any undue strain upon the economic system.

Great Upswing in Badminton Interest Among Local Juniors

Thirty-six juniors, ranging in age from 10 to 19, practically all of whom never had a racket in their hands before, are being coached at the Summerland Badminton club each Wednesday evening by Dave Waddell.

This is part of a valley-wide scheme on Mr. Waddell's part to encourage badminton by arranging coaching of young players in all Okanagan communities.

He has assisted in Kelowna and Vernon where some seventy young players are learning the game and reports that Penticton, Kaleden and Oliver have a promising coterie of prospective future stars.

"By next spring I expect there will be between 300 and 400 junior badminton players receiving instruction in the Okanagan," is Mr. Waddell's prediction.

If possible, he hopes that an Okanagan championship tournament in three categories, under 14, 16 and 18 can be arranged for next spring, with the most promising juniors from this tourney going to the coast for the B.C. championships.

From 8:30 to 8:30 each Wednesday night Dave Waddell coaches the youngest players up to 13 years and from 8:30 on the older players are given instruction. He hopes that a still greater number of youngsters will be on hand after the New Year.

During the Christmas holiday week there will be no practice session for these juniors but on January 3 sessions will commence again.

Seven rackets have been donated to the junior group, which have helped considerably in promoting interest. Old shuttles which have been used by the senior players are also turned over.

A small grant from the Pro-Rex has assisted Mr. Waddell in promoting this interest in junior badminton here.

Bluebirds Drop Two of Three To Keremeos

Summerland Bluebirds dropped two out of three exhibition decisions to Keremeos at the school gym Saturday night, but the senior boys managed to stave off a determined visitor's rally to hoist the victory flag in the final game of the evening.

Keremeos junior boys took the opener 20-8, while the Keremeos girls walloped the local lassies 22-10. Bluebirds took the senior boys' game 40-36, a disastrous third quarter almost giving the game away.

Visitors started the junior boys' game with a handsome 10-2 lead and never looked back. Locals could only score one field basket in each quarter.

Jones and McLaren were the two main threats for the visitors, while Higgs scored two baskets for the Bluebirds.

Honors were evenly divided amongst local girls but there weren't enough to grab off a victory. Tanton and Wiles scored sufficient points to give the visitors a win by themselves. Keremeos led 15-3 at the halfway mark but the Bluebirds held them even in the final two quarters.

Beal with 18 markers was high point-getter for the visitors while Daryl Weitzel and Graham Munn,

Les Howard and Red Sox Set Two Records for Five-pin League

Last week two records which will probably not be equalled all season were set in five-pin league play when all members of the Red Sox went slightly berserk.

When the smoke cleared they had amassed 1277 points in their second game, Les Howard leading the way with a new league high of 350 points.

Rita Gordon had a brilliant 272, Kay Smith knocked them over for 258, George Williams had a neat 211 and Nick Solly, who had just bowled in the 220-class was low on the team with 186.

For three games, the Red Sox amassed 3026 points, quite a respectable total.

But Rita Gordon had to share her 272 total with Nettie Shannon, who equalled her mark.

But neither player was able to take the high three scores for the evening as Allan Elsey just beat out Les Howard with 672 to 671 and Edna Daniels rolled up 608 for her three games to take high total honors.

Build Small Jump For Junior Skiers

A small jump for juniors was constructed at the ski hill by Harry Hansen last Sunday and should be a valuable aid in bringing along the younger skiers.

Snow conditions were good last weekend at the Meadow Valley ski hill and besides Mr. Hansen, another newcomer to local ski ranks, Herb Woods, is expected to provide some valuable coaching.

For both beginners and experts instruction will begin in the New Year as well as races for juniors with silver spoons as prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miltimore have donated a stove for the ski cabin.

Skiing will be the order of the day on Christmas Eve, this Sunday.

POSTPONE SOUNDINGS ON OKANAGAN LAKE FLOOR

Because of a constant wind, a federal department of public works survey crew had to postpone its soundings of Okanagan lake until April. The party of ten arrived in Kelowna in connection with the survey to determine the feasibility of a bridge across the lake. The barge could not be anchored firmly because of the winds.

By Grace K. Sticht
A star shone down on quiet fields,
Lo, many years ago,
To tell men what the light of Truth
Was there to heal earth's woe.

That light of Truth still shines today,
In spite of hate and greed,
To comfort, heal, and strengthen men
And ever meet their need.

So at this holy Christmastide
Let each one pause to pray
That men will open wide their thought
To see this light today.

This money, which will assist in Christmas shopping problems, represents closing of pools on peaches, plums and prunes and advances on Jonathans and Delicous, as well as all pears with the exception of Bartlett's and Clapp's Favorite, on which advances had been made before.

Many Gather for Jack and Jill Open House Xmas Party

The Jack and Jill kindergarten held its pre-Christmas open house on Friday morning, Dec. 15. The regular school program was carried out as far as possible with mothers, grandmothers and friends of the small students attending to see how the kindergarten work is done.

This year Mrs. F. Stewart and Mrs. H. Durick are the teachers, with Mrs. H. Braddock and Mrs. L. Rumball, the helpers, and Mrs. H. Milne attending occasionally to help with the rhythm band. One mother comes each day of kindergarten to assist with the morning snack.

Movies of the story of Christmas were shown. A film of Rudolf, the famous deer with the red nose, was a delight to the children; the rhythm band played and the Christmas story was shown on the flannel board.

The children gathered around the Christmas tree and each received a gift.

WIFE OF PROMINENT BUSINESSMAN PASSES

Residents of Summerland were shocked to hear on Tuesday of the sudden death of Mrs. Phyllis Elizabeth Mary Green, a well-known local resident and wife of the proprietor of Green's Drug Store, Mr. Jim Green. She is survived by her husband, one baby son Terry and one daughter Sheila, as well as her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Blanchet who came to Summerland a short time ago to reside. She was 42 years of age at the time of her death.

Mrs. Mel Cousins has returned from the coast and the many friends of her father, Mr. F. W. Grant, will be pleased to hear that he is steadily improving in health after a serious illness.

Mailing Bit Heavier Post Office Finds

The big rush of Christmas mail started to ease off at West Summerland post office on Wednesday but to look at the busy clerks one would scarcely credit the fact.

Postmaster Ross McLachlan believes that more Christmas cards were mailed this year than usual and they were behind the post office mailing dates more than usual.

All in all, mailing has been just as heavy as last year for Christmas and may show an increase over 1949, he believes.

The post office will be closed all day Sunday and Monday, December 24 and 25 but wickets will be open all day on Tuesday, Boxing Day.

Miss Irene Stewart, PHN, is leaving on Friday for her home at Penhold, Alta., and will be away until the beginning of the new year. While there she will be bridesmaid for her sister who is being married during the Christmas season.

Two Local Boys Will Attend Boys Parliament Soon

Summerland is sending two boys as representatives for the annual Boys' parliament which will convene at Victoria during the Christmas holidays December 27, 28, 29 and 30.

These two lads are Don Blacklock, troop leader of the 1st Summerland Boy Scout troop, and Gerald Washington, assistant cubmaster.

Summerland's representative the last two years has been David Wright.

Don Blacklock's trip is being made possible through the local Scout group and the Canadian Legion, while Gerald Washington's travelling expenses are being looked after by the Summerland AOTS Club.

Bennett Disqualified To Take Seat on Park Board; Seek Nominations

E. H. Bennett, who was to take his place as a member of the brand-new board of park commissioners at the start of the new year, will not be able to continue in his post.

This week he found that because he rents property from the municipality he has entered into a contract in the legal meaning of the municipal act and thus is disqualified.

He was one of three residents elected by acclamation to the first parks board ever chosen in Summerland. W. G. Snow is the other choice for a two-year term and Harry W. Brown was selected for one year.

Juveniles Shoot Pets With Rifles

Improper use of .22 rifles by juveniles, including shooting of pet animals and birds, besides damaging public property such as street lights was brought forcibly to the attention of council on Wednesday.

A deputation from the Paradise Flat area sought recognition of the problem and sought some concerted warning by the council to parents and youngsters alike.

It was suggested at one stage that use of such weapons be disallowed anywhere in the municipality.

"We look to the corporation for police protection," was the statement of Spokesman Elmer Johnston, but he was informed by Reeve Bentley that he should take his problem to the police.

It is necessary to have first hand information to go into court and it is every man's duty to lay a charge if he knows of a misdemeanor, His Worship pointed out.

However, the delegation replied that it is difficult to summons one's neighbor into court.

George Lane declared that his family's pet dog had been shot Christmas morning. Councillor E. E. Atkinson reported his dog had been peppered on Christmas evening.

Reeve Bentley told of his boat being pinnacled with indiscriminate bullets while cabins at Trout Creek had been similarly damaged.

W. G. Snow, an interested spectator at this stage of the council session, declared that the RCMP that ten lights at the park playground rink were broken last Friday night. He was demanding prosecution and repayment of damage and had been promised action by RCMP Constable Thorsteinson.

Council will issue a warning through the medium of The Review to such juvenile offenders.

THREE FAIL TO PAY

Three alleged dog owners have failed to pay their 1950 dog tax, council was informed yesterday. They will be given one final warning and if payment is not made they will be brought into small debts court.

Council Policy on Treating Roads For Surfacing Given Thorough Airing

Should the policy of laying shale be continued or should a switch be made to laying crushed rock on roads requiring this material was a problem laid before council session yesterday afternoon by Councillor Eric Tait.

It touched off a full-fledged discussion of road problems and several criticisms of the road department operation were forthcoming.

Councillor Atkinson suggested municipal councils reminded him of a chameleon as at one time it was decided shale should never be used again but gradually policy changed. Now it seems the trend towards "no shale" is appearing once more, he thought.

It was explained that the gravel pit and shale pit are located in separate spots and half a day's work is necessary to make the changeover.

Mr. Tait suggested that the worst of the holes are now shale-filled and the roads which have been built up should get a surface of crushed rock while the damp, mild weather persists.

But Mr. Atkinson expressed the thought that the roads are not built

As a result, nominations for the vacancy caused by Mr. Bennett's disqualification will be sought for Thursday, January 11, and if more than one nomination is forthcoming an election will be held on Saturday, January 20.

W. C. W. Fosbery has been appointed returning officer and George Forster deputy returning officer.

Mr. Bennett had been prepared to sign his declaration in preparation of the approaching two-year term when he found that his renting of property from the municipality would disqualify him under the meaning of the act.

Legal opinion from Boyle, Atkins & Emerson, Pentiction firm and from B. C. Braecwell, deputy minister of municipal affairs, was sought but no loophole could be found to allow him to continue.

Mr. Bennett has been renting land for the purpose of growing gladioli for twenty years and as this is a big portion of his livelihood he was not prepared to give up his occupation for the sake of a municipal nomination which has no monetary remuneration.

Two Now Ineligible

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Snow worked closely in the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee in promoting and guiding the formation of the Living Memorial park-playground.

S. A. MacDonald, another member of that committee, had found himself ineligible for selection as a parks board member because he holds a position as a teacher.

Under the municipal act teachers cannot hold civic office no matter how well qualified they are for a post. This has been a much-disputed problem which has come before the UBCM conventions on many occasions.

On Wednesday afternoon, when municipal council reluctantly came to the decision that Mr. Bennett could not be considered as an official parks board member, it was agreed that he would assist the new parks board to the best of his ability.

After an hour-long discussion in which Mr. Snow and Mr. Brown participated in part, it was decided to ask Mr. Bennett to take an ex-officio post as parks manager, or some such position in order that his experience in parks promotion would not be lost to the new parks board.

When asked to join the council conclave, Mr. Bennett was at first reluctant to consider such an appointment but finally agreed to act in support of the board for the first year, at least.

Reeve C. E. Bentley and Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith assured

New Power Line to Box Factory Ready

The new box factory power line has been completed ready for hookup, council was informed on Wednesday. Three transformers are in place and only minor adjustments are needed to make the complete hookup. The Summerland Box Co. Ltd. will be sent a bill by the municipal office for the estimated $3,150 charge. This amount will be refunded the factory on the basis of consumption of electrical energy.

Dominion to Pay Share of Education

After months and years of negotiation, the dominion government has finally agreed that it should pay costs of education to school districts for children of parents who reside on dominion land and who therefore pay no education costs through ownership of land.

This ruling will mean that the treasury board at Ottawa will pay a per capita charge for education to School District No. 77 (Summerland) for children attending local schools from the dominion experimental station.

Nearly a dozen children are in such a category here.

Likewise, the treasury board will pay the 70 cents per day required for persons entering hospital while residing on dominion land.

The municipality pays the equivalent of 70 cents per day to the hospital insurance scheme for local residents who are hospitalized while the provincial government pays a similar amount for those paying taxes in unorganized territory.

Now the dominion government will pay the hospital per capita charge for persons needing hospitalization and yet residing on non-taxable land.

Copies of the authorities passed at Ottawa have been forwarded by O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, to School Board Secretary Bedford Tingley who passed along copies to Reeve C. E. Bentley. They were read at Wednesday's council session.

President Acts As Santa Claus

President J. E. O'Mahony was pressed into service on Saturday afternoon to act as board of trade Santa Claus.

He made an excellent Saint Nick and between his stop in lower town and the time of his departure from West Summerland business area he was able to dispense some 600 bags of goodies to the youngsters.

Pre-school children and those up to grades four in the MacDonald school were recipients of a bag containing oranges, candy and nuts and had the privilege of shaking hands with the illustrious white-bearded gentleman.

It was pouring rain Saturday afternoon so the canopy of Granville Motors was used to protect Santa from the unusual weather.

Santa didn't have his reindeer or sleigh because of the lack of snow, so Bob Barkwill volunteered his truck and decorated it with fir boughs for Santa's means of transportation.

Those on the committee were Lorne Perry, Bill Snow, E. E. Bat-

Rink Group Admits Money Scarce Now

That the Summerland Rink Association is short of money right now but will be starting on another money-raising campaign once time can be diverted from actual rink construction was the frank admission of George Stoll and Harvey Wilson to council yesterday afternoon.

This delegation wished council to give some leeway in paying for the electrical connection which had been priced at a net of $377.

Mr. Stoll wanted council to delay payment day or give them the installation as a grant.

"This latter suggestion brought council protests that there couldn't be such discrimination between community enterprises. Mr. Wilson an ex-councillor, suggested that more consideration could be given the rink proposition but Councillor Francis Steuart did not agree with such a viewpoint.

However, when Councillors Atkinson and Tait intimated they would be agreeable to a three-month hold on payment by the rink group Mr. Stoll readily agreed.

It was suggested that if the rink association wishes council assistance such should be sought on a straight grant basis and not on smaller amounts such as municipal light installations.

Mr. Stoll declared that there has been some thought that the rink association should approach council for a grant in lieu of the purchase price of the Steuart property on which the rink is being erected.

Tonight at the Youth Centre the Summerland Band is holding its second concert of the winter months in an endeavor to meet its commitments of music, instruments and uniforms incurred in the past year. The entire program was given in last week's Christmas edition of The Review.

es, Fred Dunsdon and Don Tait while a number of wives of trade board members assisted in packing.

Enquiry into the reason for the crash of the CPA plane on Okanagan Mountain, about 16 miles north of Pentiction between Okanagan Lake and Chute Lake early Friday afternoon continues in Pentiction today after a coroner's jury had failed to come to any conclusion.

Pilot Quinton Moore, 39, was killed almost instantly while his co-pilot, Leo Doucette died later of injuries.

The 15 passengers, among whom was Miss Dorothy Butler of Summerland, returning from Victoria for the Christmas holidays with her parents, escaped with only minor bruises.

A dramatic rescue-search was conducted from the time flares were observed Friday evening until the last of the survivors were brought into Pentiction Sunday, Christmas Eve.

The ill-fated plane made two attempts to make the flight before being airborne out of Vancouver. First airborne at 8:26 a.m. Friday it landed back in Vancouver 24 minutes later when it was found the undercarriage had failed to retract.

At 10:28 a.m. the plane took off again but severe icing conditions were encountered 35 minutes later and again the plane returned to Vancouver.

At 12:48 p.m. the plane was again airborne and over Princeton the pilot contacted Pentiction airport for a routine check. The plane was flying above the clouds and there was no visibility for the passengers.

It is presumed that he made a circle over Okanagan Lake, thought he was on the right course and starting to come down for the glide into Pentiction airport. However, the plane was too far east and had overshot the course.

Both Pilots are Dead

The two men who could throw some light on the apparent error are both dead and other personnel in the plane would have little knowledge of the procedure followed because of poor visibility.

A westbound CPA plane, just taking off from Pentiction airport talked by radio to Moore's plane. Moore made no indication that he was in any trouble, CPA officials explain, and said that the icing conditions he had encountered earlier had disappeared.

Pilot Moore left his controls, reported to the passengers that he was going to land all right at Pentiction airport and then returned to the cockpit and took command of the plane once more, it has been stated.

A dramatic and well-presented report of her remembrances of the flight can be found in another column, as given The Review by Miss Butler.

She was a witness yesterday when the coroner's jury endeavored to ascertain the cause of the accident.

The jury returned an open verdict and a further investigation is being carried out by the department of transport in conjunction with Canadian Pacific Airlines of the plane would have little

Survival of Plane Crash Victims Labelled "Miracle" By Miss Dorothy Butler

"It was nothing less than a miracle... our successful landing was one in a million."

This is the thought of Miss Dorothy Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Butler, well-known pioneer Summerland residents, who was a passenger on the CPA DC3 passenger plane which crashed on Okanagan Mountain near Chute Lake and northeast of Summerland across Okanagan Lake.

Miss Butler is now resting at her parents home on the lake-shore in Summerland. She escaped uninjured but after the excitement and relief of arriving safely after such a hazardous experience the shock has left her in a nervous state.

Miss Butler has given The Review an excellent account of her experiences from the time the ill-fated plane did leave Vancouver after two false starts.

"It was about 12:45 Friday noon that we left in high hopes that this would be the flight which would take us home for Christmas," declared Miss Butler.

"Shortly after the takeoff we were instructed to use our oxygen masks which were constantly in use as we gazed in comfort at the beautiful cloud formation far below us.

"Not long afterwards, the pilot informed us that we would soon be landing in Pentiction. Not being able to see any landmarks, we were at a loss to see just where we were at this time.

"It was not long before we started to descend and when lowering out of the clouds we were surrounded by tall fir trees which we began to top and thrash around in.

"We struck one big tree which whirled us around completely. Some of the passengers had their safety belts fastened and others did not. The ones who were fastened in seemed to suffer more bruises."

Miss Butler explained that the whole crash happened so quickly that there was no time to realize what was happening until the plane had finished its wild flight.

"After we were landed the stewardess instructed everyone to leave the plane immediately in case the gas ignited and exploded.

No Panic Among Passengers

"There was a shuffling of many confused people, but they showed no signs of panic. We all pushed out into the snow which was about three feet deep in places.

"It was only then that we had time to look around and survey the damage to the plane. The engine had completely disintegrated and many parcels and packages tumbled out of the front storage passage."

(It is believed that passengers would have been in graver danger of serious hurt if the baggage compartment had not separated the main body of the plane from the engine and cockpit.)

"It was only then," continued Miss Butler, "that we all realized the pilots would have little chance of survival and that they had probably sacrificed themselves for the safety of the passengers; and that our successful landing had been one in a million."

"While the stewardess and several trained people were attending the badly injured pilots, we gathered

Prospects for a New Year

THIS is the time of the year, between the feasting of Christmas and the revelry connected with the ushering in of the New Year, in which we should pause to examine the year gone by and speculate on the year to come.

It has been a year of some concern in the Okanagan because of last winter's tree kill and consequent lack of extra employment, yet we have survived this trial without too much adjustment being necessary.

As 1950 was being ushered in there was a great deal of disquietude concerning the economic possibilities. A recession was considered practically a certainty throughout North America.

But mainly due to the necessity of preparing to defend the continent and the gearing of so many industries to production of the tools of war, the slackening of the economic pace did not occur.

Everyone seems to be of the opinion that 1951 is one of the most difficult years to predict with any amount of surety.

The answer to all questions lies in the realm of the communists and their relations with the rest of the world. If the Korean conflict flares into a global war, then any predictions made now would be thrown out the window.

It is not a pleasing prospect. Wars are never pleasant but just expressing the thought that we do not want wars will not prevent them. If we wish to survive we must become strong, or just as strong as our possible adversaries. That is our main prospect for 1951... that we must prepare our country to the best degree so that we can defend ourselves in case of a major conflict in which we must become involved.

Closer to home, the picture of the Summerland district is a happy one. We have completed the harvest of the biggest apple crop in our history and it is selling at prices which will eclipse the returns of 1949-50 by a good margin, if present trends continue.

Last summer we had not soft fruit crop of any account. After a year's layoff the soft fruit trees should be capable of providing a bumper crop.

This will mean more employment, will bring more persons to work in the community and mean bigger retail sales.

Such a prospect is pleasing to the farmer, to the part-time worker and to the merchant and businessman who serves the residents.

However, the bugbear of inflation is likely to continue unabated. Wages will go still higher and it will cost more to obtain the necessities of life.

With the increased cost of producing munitions of war, taxes will likely rise in 1951 to take away still more of the spending power of the people.

But if we can have more employment, both for local residents and others who can be brought in, along with a bumper crop selling on a receptive market the other side of the ledger will not seem so harsh.

Prayer for a New Year

(By Dorothy Ruth White in the Christian Science Monitor)

Help me to recapture the clean, exalted feeling of a New Year's morning today and every day—to remember that this is the tomorrow for which I waited yesterday, to unwrap it carefully and to guard it zealously.

Help me to remember with humility and pride that I am a homemaker, and that as such my job is more honorable, more exciting, more important than any other to which I might possibly aspire. Let me recognize the power that is mine, and let me never take advantage of it.

Help me to remember that my home is the final retreat from turmoil for those I love, and that it is my obligation to make it strong in heart, in spirit, and in substance—a place where my family may find strength and joy, where tired bodies may be renewed, and flagging spirits revived. Let me be inspired in my efforts to provide it with the comforts that count—an easy chair and a good lamp to read by—a friendly book and some well-loved music—a comfortable bed at the close of the day, and in the morning, a hearty breakfast in a warm, clean kitchen.

Give me the wisdom to choose between the important and the unimportant, to know that in the last analysis the things my family will remember about home are the little things—the scent of warm gingerbread—a lighted lamp in the window on a rainy evening—baked beans and candles on the table—the rat-tat-tat of corn popping on the hearth—old furniture that glows with the proud patina of loving care—polished red apples in a blue bowl—all the games we've played together—all the times we've laughed together—the little jokes we've shared—the utter nonsense that has contributed so much to the glory of life.

Help me to remember, always that "home is what we put between us and the world," that to be loved and appreciated is the greatest need of humanity—teach me to be kind instead of critical.

Give me great patience and a saving sense of humor and an inexhaustible source of energy, so that I may be all things to those who depend upon me—and help me to remember that to make a fellow human happy is greater than any work of art.

Help me to remember!

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Blest if it isn't the beginning of another year almost upon us, with all the recollections of the past and wondering about the future that such a time usually conjures up. The real end of the half-century, too, by my reckoning; and we'll probably have another rash of The Man—or The Event—or The Oomph-Girl—of the Half-Century by all who didn't jump the gun on such subjects a year ago. Looking into the future isn't easy, either on the personal or the international plane. One is apt to predict what one hopes for, instead of what is logical or even possible; and it's often a blessing that we get disappointed. Incidentally, there are worse ways of passing an hour at your New Year's Eve party than having your guests write down what they think will happen in 1951—or the next decade or half-century—and keeping the forecasts to see how they turn out.

Of course, brainy chaps like Einstein would probably say that present, past, and future are all the same, time being purely relative, and we could know the future as well as the other two if we were properly tuned up. Rudyard Kipling, in his "Something of Myself," tells of two cases when he saw in a sort of vision things which actually happened to him afterward, as if the future were like a Christmas gift, there but unseen, and he had somehow managed to get a peek through the wrapping.

Others seem to have a sort of general vision like that bearded parson's son, Lord Tennyson, when he wrote:

"I dived into the future, far as human eye could see, Saw a vision of the world and all the wonders that would be."

Ordinarily I don't read Tennyson much. Probably his "Charge of the Light Brigade" is the world's best known monument to the costly errors of high brass in wartime, but it falls on one after the first dozen manglings by amateur elocutionists. Likewise the Brook that bubbles on forever, like some people, eventually grows boring; so does that noble piece which one lad recited as "Bust, bust, bust."

Yet when I picked up my expensive paper-covered edition of Tennyson last night, the old master's music was still evident in "The Splendour Falls," and "Sweet and Low," and "Crossing the Bar." There was still majesty in "Idylls of the King" and adventure in "Ulysses" and good earth in the dialect poems on "Northern Farmer."

And I can still thrill to the poem from which the first quotation comes, "Locksley Hall". How could Tennyson in 1842 have written that he "Saw the heavens filled with commerce argosies of magic sails dropping down with costly bales?"

And what a forecast of today's international situation in:

"Slowly comes a hungry people,
as a lion creeping nigher
Glares at one that nods and winks behind a slowly-dying fire."

"... the heavens fill with shouting,
and there rain'd a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies, grappling in the central blue."

But it is the sequence which I like best, and which holds the most promise for our future.

"Till the war-drum throbs no longer and the battle-flags are furled
In the Parliament of man, the Federation of world."

There the common-sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe
And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law,
Yet I doubt not, thro' the ages
one increasing purpose runs
And the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns."

Perhaps the best wish we could wish for 1951, for everybody, would be that a little of the second part of Tennyson's amazing prediction may begin to come true.

"Fight Polio" Film Ready for January

Hope for complete rehabilitation which a few years back seemed almost incredible, is now one of the most precious possessions of polio patients in B.C.

Reasons are that British Columbia has some of the best and latest equipment for fighting the disease itself and the Western Centre for Physical Rehabilitation, the only one of its kind in Canada, is located in this Western Province. Patients from all parts of British Columbia receive treatments there which enable them to overcome the terrifying after-effects of polio.

The Kinsmen Clubs of B.C. and the Canadian Foundation for Polio-myelitis (B.C. Branch) have played a large part in this happy state of affairs by raising funds to buy the Western Centre for Physical Rehabilitation.

How this is accomplished will be equipment and by assistance to the shown to British Columbians during the second annual "Fight Polio" drive in January by a film now being made in Vancouver.

Tentatively called, "THE WILL TO LIVE", the film will deal with the true case history of a polio patient who regained health and re-establishment into the economic life of the community through money raised by these organizations.

The objective is $60,000. Where Kinsmen Clubs are organized they will have charge of the drive; in other districts various service clubs are offering to put the campaign over. Donations may be mailed direct to campaign headquarters, 207 Rogers Building, Vancouver, B.C. from communities where no committee is set up.

Kamloops Teachers Want Arbitration

KAMLOOPS—Arbitration proceedings early next year to fix the salary schedule of teachers employed by School District No. 24 appears to be a certainty. The teachers have informed the school board they desire arbitration if their demands are not met and last week trustees rejected their proposals.

Teachers in Kamloops area are under a schedule which differs from that of Okanagan teachers and are making proposals for an entirely new schedule. In the Okanagan, the teachers are only requesting an increase in relation to the cost of living index and have not suggested a new schedule for this year.

Tourist travel into British Columbia for the first 11 months of 1950 was up over last year, it is announced by Trade and Industry Minister L. H. Eyres. Vehicle permits issued at border points numbered 210,509 as against 206,343 in 1949.

BRITISH COLUMBIA TOMORROW

In a world fraught with unrest, the economic, social and political stability of Canada has been outstanding in the post-war era. Consideration of the facts cannot but lead to the conclusion that the coming years hold promise of ever greater development in this country of ours. It was once said that "the twentieth century belongs to Canada", and after a slowish start, it appears that this promise is well on its way to fulfillment.

In British Columbia, development of our natural resources and their extension into secondary industrial fields continues. Private enterprise, working hand in hand with the government is sweeping away the inherent difficulties and building a new economy based on the utilization and preservation of resources for the greatest benefit of all.

Development on the scale envisioned can be attained only to the extent that we show our belief in our destiny. And with this in view, the economic and social growth of the province is being encouraged by the efforts of the government. The developments in road and rail transport facilities, hydro-electric power, land settlement and industrial research are being pushed forward. Social changes too, are being carried forward in health, welfare and education and many other ways. Without these, economic advance alone is of little real value.

All this cannot be done without expenditure of large capital sums, and it is the long term plan of your government to provide these facilities so necessary to the continued economic and social progress of our land. With sound financial management all this is being accomplished without great burden on the people of British Columbia. The cost of capital expansion is best illustrated by the per capita debt figures which show the decreasing burden of development upon the people of this province.

Singers & Players Club

The Singers and Players began their 1950-51 season on Tuesday, October 24, 1950 with high hopes that not only would they be able this season to produce two major efforts, a full three-act play and a Gilbert and Sullivan opera, but also to establish a studio block for doing one-act plays and building scenery and so forth.

It did seem to us that there would be sufficient interested persons in Summerland to make these plans not only feasible but desirable. For a diversity of reasons this, in spite of the publicity given us by The Review, has so far proved not to be so.

We can, however, this last week of 1950 review the progress we have made on other efforts with somewhat more satisfaction.

During last summer your executive read plays and reviewed the Gilbert and Sullivan operas and had specific recommendations with which to begin activities. The prime and unanimous choice agreed to by our director Mr. Lacey Fisher and enthusiastically received by the players who attended our first meetings was "The Barrets of Wimpole Street".

In our enthusiasm for this excellent play we possibly spent too much time endeavoring to overcome all the difficulties which stood in the way of production, but finally had to admit that it had us baffled completely and so this project was abandoned.

Other plays were read and discussed, proposed and then abandoned for one reason or another until "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" proved to be the all round possibility we were looking for. This play is consequently now in rehearsal for production some time in the spring of 1951.

While this play provides parts for a considerable number of our players we desire now to start work on one-act plays, one of which might prove of sufficient excellence for us to enter in the Drama Festival for 1951. Mrs. Towgood, with the assistance of Mrs. Woolliams and Mrs. Mason are undertaking this part of the program which can now definitely receive our attention in the New Year.

The decision to try "Patience" for the opera was made early so that we could have the music and records ready for the first meeting in October. Much as we desired to attempt one of the more ambitious and spectacular operas we felt that on the whole it was wiser not to take too big a step forward all at once and to do something presenting fewer difficulties in production, not the least of which was—and still is—the matter of a hall for final rehearsal and presentation in Summerland.

We decided that it would be too soon to repeat one of the earlier operas which we have already done within the last three years. The choice of the charming and delightful "Patience" was therefore altogether desirable and we are certain that it will prove to be a popular favorite with our singers and our audiences. We hope that the experience we shall gain from this opera will enable us to produce one of the more ambitious operas next season.

Our greatest loss and disappointment is that so many of our singers who have been such favorites with Summerland audiences in previous operas are unable to be with us so far this season.

Your executive has the highest ambitions for Summerland Singers and Players and is supported by your patience and enthusiasm in the belief that this club need be second to none in its capabilities. It is with this thought in mind that we shall begin our activities again after the holidays and wish you all a Happy New Year, including the happiness of successful production of both "Patience" and "Here Comes Mr. Jordan".

Past Noble Grands Officiate for Night

At the last regular meeting of Faith Rebekah Lodge, Dec. 18, the past noble grands officiated in the place of the regular officers.

The offices were drawn out of a box and Mrs. Ted Dunsdon had the pleasure of conducting the annual past noble grands' night.

A pleasant surprise was the visit of Mrs. Walter Clark from Kelowna.

During the business of the evening a substantial sum was given to the Youth Centre campaign, March of Dimes and the visiting committee to the Tranquille Sanatorium at Kamloops.

Mrs. H. Hackman affiliated with Faith Rebekah Lodge as a member by transfer from Penticton.

After the meeting a Christmas party was held, beginning with carols, led by Mrs. Walter Clark. These were enjoyed greatly by all the members.

Teen Town

With all the rush about the high school banquet last Tuesday, I completely forgot all about writing the column. Anyhow, there wasn't anything to know that you won't know this week. There was going to be a formal dance this Saturday night as I mentioned before, but because of circumstances beyond our control, it has been cancelled till a later date. Instead, there is going to be just a dance and we hope everyone will turn out for a good time.

It's a long time since we've had a dance so let's see everyone there, eh? It starts at 8:30 and the admission is 25c. I hope you've all had a very merry Xmas and will have a happy New Year.

Need for New Industries Stressed at Trade Board but Approach to Problem Varies

Although both were in agreement that it is essential that new industries should be introduced into this locality there was a sharp difference of opinion on the approach to the subject when Councillor F. E. Atkinson and G. Y. L. Crossley, field representative of the regional development division, Kelowna, tangled at the December board of trade meeting on Thursday, Dec. 14.

"We haven't really tackled this problem to its fullest extent," was Councillor Atkinson's contention in urging the trade board to be more on the lookout for people skilled in making various goods and the capital which could bring new industries to Summerland.

"The board of trade should be exerting more effort on new industries than any other factor," was his contention.

He considered that items which can be produced are those which have a high value in relation to weight, as transportation difficulties arise if the product produced here is too bulky.

Summerland has the advantage of climate and living conditions to attract new industries so that labor can be satisfied, Mr. Atkinson pointed out.

Want Cheaper Power

Mr. Crossley pointed out that industry is looking for low cost power and a large labor pool and he doubted if either could be found in the Okanagan. His division had interested a European firm to come to Canada and establish an industry worth one and a half million dollars but it went to Quebec, finally, because of cheaper labor.

He argued that the best interests of the valley could be served by finding what is utilized most in the Okanagan and endeavor to have it manufactured here rather than import.

But Mr. Atkinson could not agree with this argument, believing that "everything centres on value for weight", watches being one example of an industry which could flourish here as well as anywhere in the world.

W. Snow, president of the local fish and game club, declared there is one industry "going begging" in the Okanagan, that of carp fishing.

Carp inhabit most waters and are a nuisance to sport fish but have a market value in certain areas.

Between 10 and 100 ton of carp could be taken from Okanagan waters annually if the capital was provided, he thought.

Reeve C. E. Bentley declared that more industries must be provided as the density of population per acre is increasing and is forming a problem for the municipalities of the Okanagan.

PAY $300 FOR RIGHT-OF-WAY

Another and probably the final step in the council endeavor to clear the air concerning the municipal power line which traverses the J. E. Jenkinson property was reported by Reeve C. E. Bentley at this week's council session.

He declared that, in company with Councillor F. E. Atkinson and Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith, a tentative agreement had been reached with Mr. Jenkinson whereby the municipality would pay him $300 for a registered and permanent right-of-way across his property.

Cost of moving the line and obtaining a right-of-way across the adjoining Smith & Henry property would be about $450, it was stated.

Although council members expressed their reluctance to accede to such a payment they felt that there was no way out of the problem and agreed that the report of Reeve Bentley's committee be adopted.

Elections in Valley Show Keen Interest

Elections were held in all B.C. cities, district municipalities and villages where acclamations were not accorded candidates, as in the case of Summerland.

At Vernon, R. W. Ley, former Okanagan Telephone Co. superintendent, headed the aldermanic poll with 946 votes. Also elected were Ald. George Melvin, 881, Ald. D. D. Harris, 734. Defeated were E. E. Price 637, A. F. Baker, 517 and Robert W. Hodgson 488.

James G. Strother, well-known here, headed the poll for Vernon school board with 726 votes. Elected with him was J. R. Kidston, 676. Defeated were H. A. Mattock 489, Dr. Michael Latty 447, Eric H. Olmsted 425.

Vernon turned down a plebiscite to join the Okanagan Union Library scheme, 866 being for the scheme and 585 against. The affirmative failed to gain the necessary percentage. A ten-year franchise to the Vernon Bus Lines passed 1,342 to 137.

Vernon taxpayers defeated a by-law to spend $37,550 for an aerial ladder truck. The vote was 875 for and 596 against, insufficient majority to pass. A bylaw authorizing transfer of $5,048 for traffic light purposes passed 1,231 to 219.

Kelowna's new hospital addition costing $215,000 passed with an overwhelming majority, 1,306 in favor to 95 against.

Ald. J. J. Ladd headed the aldermanic poll with 1,099 votes, followed by Ald. R. F. L. Keller with 902 and J. M. Jennens, 863. Defeated was A. G. Shelley with 748.

Philip Moubray and L. E. Marshall were elected councillors at Glenmore. There was no vote at Peachland as F. Khalembach was the only candidate for two council seat vacancies and there was no candidate for school board.

Frank Christian, a member of the law firm of O'Brian & Christian with offices in Penticton and Summerland, headed the aldermanic poll at Penticton with 1,884 votes. Ald. Charles Phipps with 1,805 and Ald. E. A. Titchmarsh with 1,764 also elected. Defeated was ex-alderman W. J. (Billy) Johnson, who polled 511 votes.

Dr. Fred Parmey was returned to the school board with 1,803 votes but Clem E. Batty replaced Trustee W. W. Riddell, gaining 1,208 votes to the latter's 1,178.

After a great deal of propaganda, Penticton ratepayers approved the sale of municipal buildings and fire hall to a Vancouver syndicate who wish to erect a modern hotel. Vote was 1,747 in favor and 388 against.

Need Engineer Here.

Other council members were asked their opinion and Councillor Stuart replied that if the municipality had an engineer then he would be able to supply the answer. But Councillor Tait replied that two engineers have given council opposite opinions on the use of shale in the past.

Mr. Steuart asked what would be the cost of a loader so that the changeover would not be necessary so many times. Reeve Bentley replied it would be about $8,000.

It was decided to continue shaling until next meeting when the subject will be discussed again.

For the coming year a new hoist, cable, bucket and jaws for the rock crusher are necessary and quotations will be sought.

Hard Surface Patching.

Mr. Steuart asked about patching holes in the hard surfacing and this brought the statement from Reeve Bentley that the Station road is in "terrible condition".

vincial public works crew was making a good job of it only last Friday on both sides of Summerland, it was asked.

Answer to this will be obtained by Councillor Tait.

It was also stated that C. H. Elsey, manager of the Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd. had expressed distress about the regrading and filling of the roadway on the south side of his packing plant.

Councillor Tait declared Mr. Elsey had not voiced any complaint to himself or Road Foreman Les Gould and suggested that they meet Mr. Elsey on the spot and discuss any necessary improvements.

Mr. Tait thought Mr. Elsey should have voiced complaints to himself as roads department head rather than to three other council members.

Carol Singing at Homecoming Re-union

Becoming a Christmas homecoming re-union is the annual evening of carol singing at the home of Mrs. Dale and Miss Ruth Dale. This year it was held on Christmas Eve, Sunday, Dec. 24, after the service in the Baptist church.

About fifty were present to enjoy, and to take part in the singing. Rev. D. O. Knipfel played The Holy City on his trumpet as an added musical number.

Among those home for Christmas who spoke briefly in giving Christmas greetings were Miss Michiko Iwayoshi, Miss Valerie Tingley, Miss Ruth Nesbitt, Miss Edna Traylor, Miss Audrey Wright and Mr. Jimmie Maxwell.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses before the guests dispersed to go to their homes with fragments of carols ringing through their minds, and the spirit of Christmas in their hearts.

Girls' Choir Sings Carols at Hospital On Christmas Eve

Continuing a charming Christmas custom, the Summerland Girls' Choir under Miss Kay Hamilton, visited the hospital on the afternoon of Dec. 24, and gathered in the main hall and on the stairs to sing carols.

Members of the choir presented small gifts of Christmas candies to the patients, and to close the program, Shirley Gardner sang, O Holy Night, which was followed by the whole group singing, The Lord's Prayer.

Special thanks were given to the accompanists, Laura Mott and Shirley Schumann, who supplied violin melody to the singing.

In case we couldn't wish it to you directly—here's to a happy new year.

Vitamin B Found in Local Fruit

Fruits can supply many of the vitamins necessary for the maintenance of a well-balanced diet, and being easily digested can readily provide many of the nutrients utilized in human metabolism. A. W. Moys of the experimental station in Summerland, says that fruits, together with vegetables, are the chief source of ascorbic acid, these being the only foods that contribute vitamin C in any large amounts.

Cooking, he says, can considerably lessen the ascorbic acid value of these foods, so whenever possible they should be eaten raw. As vitamin C is not stored in the human body, foods containing this essential vitamin should be eaten daily. Good sources are citrus fruits, tomatoes, cantaloupes, black currants, strawberries and red raspberries. Many other fruits such as apples can contribute significant amounts of ascorbic acid if sufficient quantities are eaten.

Fruits generally have not been found to be outstanding sources of certain other vitamins that have been grouped under the vitamin B complex. Thiamine, riboflavin and pyridoxin, for example, are considered essential components of certain reactions occurring in the body. Most fruits do not contain large amounts of these vitamins but prunes and plums are notable exceptions which may be considered rich in both riboflavin and pyridoxin.

Apricots and pears, though much lower in riboflavin content, are the best sources amongst the fruits, followed by peaches, apples, grapefruit and oranges which are all about equal in value.

Thiamine is also found in fruits, but they do not form as rich a source as do pork, cereal foods and certain vegetables. Prunes once again are the exception, being considered a good source of this vitamin.

Many fruits are rich in carotene, the form in which vitamin A occurs in fruits and vegetables. Apricots are one of the best fruit sources of provitamin A. Prunes and yellow-fleshed peaches also contain large amounts of carotene while plums have small amounts only.

Approximately four ounces of fresh ripe apricots or 12 ounces of fresh peaches or prunes supply the average adult daily requirement for vitamin A. Carotene is present in small amounts in apples, cherries and oranges and in quite small amounts in pears and grapefruit. While these last have some vitamin A value, they can only be considered a relatively poor source of this vitamin.

For the first time in its ten years on the air, Neighborly News will reach listeners as a "remote" broadcast next week. Editor Les Way has moved microphone and typewriter to the offices of the Fraser Valley Record at Mission, B.C.

The broadcasts (for there will be two of them) will be heard on Wednesday, January 3rd. At 5:30 p.m. the CBC will take listeners on a recorded tour of the Fraser Valley Record plant, showing how the paper is printed. There will be interviews with the chief editor, a linotype operator, a compositor, a pressman and the circulation manager. The Record has some of the most modern equipment on the continent. It was in an award-winning class this year at the annual competition among Canadian weekly newspapers.

At six o'clock, in the regular Neighborly News spot, Les Way will include an interview with Lang Sands, owner-manager of the Record, and this year's president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. There will also be an historical and district-progress story of Mission through interviews with A. N. FARMS, NEED CAPITAL, TOO

That's Why So Many Farmers Have Savings Accounts at the B of M

Farming is a business. It's wise not to prophesy about. You can't look ahead and say, "This is going to be a good year," or "This won't be so good." The weather and market conditions and many other factors influence the farmer's profit right up to the last.

That's why the far-sighted farmer plans his finances as carefully as he plans his crops. When things are going well he sets aside as much as he can of his profits, with which to buy in due course more livestock or better equipment, and modernize his farm. Or he keeps the money as a reserve fund against emergencies.

It all adds up to the recognition that farming needs capital, too. One of the best ways to build such capital is to establish a savings account at the Bank of Montreal. When produce cheques are not needed for immediate expenses, there's no better place for them than a B of M savings account. Pay a call soon on Ivor Holly, manager of the local branch. From his many years' experience, he can give you helpful advice on the best way to go about your farm financing.—Advt.

Van Cherry is Partial Answer To Cherry Pollination Problem

Pollination problems with most kinds of tree fruits have not usually been serious in British Columbia. The sweet cherry, however, is a notable exception and most cherry growers are familiar with the necessity of providing adequate pollination in their orchards states a release from the department of agriculture at Ottawa.

The chief commercial varieties which have been grown hitherto, Bing, Lambert and Royal Ann, are not only self-sterile but inter-sterile. In other words, none of these three varieties will set fruit when planted alone or in combination with the other two.

Several of the older varieties, such as Black Republican, Black Tartarian and Deacon have long been known as satisfactory pollinizers for Bing, Lambert and Royal Ann, and were widely planted for this purpose. Unfortunately, none of these pollinizers proved to be a desirable market variety and consequently their use entailed a degree of loss to the grower.

Within the last few years this situation has been improved by the introduction of Van, a variety originated by the Summerland experimental station. Van is inter-fertile with Bing, Lambert and Royal Ann, and with the newer variety Star. Moreover, Van appears to be a desirable variety for the fresh fruit market and for canning, and is somewhat less susceptible than other commercial varieties to cracking in wet weather.

At this station breeding work is being continued with the object of developing black cherry varieties which will be inter-fertile with those already being grown, which will have resistance to cracking, and which will mature at dates earlier and later than existing varieties, so as to spread the picking season.

It is stated by British workers that each cherry variety is inter-fertile with its female parent and this has been borne out by limited experiments made at the Summerland station.

For example Bing, which is a seedling of Black Republican, is pollinized by Black Republican; and Star, which is a seedling of Deacon, is pollinized by Deacon. Consequently, in present breeding work, emphasis is being placed on using seed from such varieties as Bing, Lambert and Van, so that, if a desirable seedling is obtained, it may be expected to be inter-fertile with an established commercial variety.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
 December 31, 1925
 The Summerland representative in the B.C. Older Boys Parliament, Shelley Knowles, left early this week for Victoria where he is attending the sessions of that body in Victoria from December 28 to 31.

Summerland, Peachland and Westbank oppose the proposed new highway on the east side of the lake, which it is estimated would cost at least $1,000,000 to make anything like a safe highway, which at best would be snowbound three months of the year. The opinion is that roads should be given to those who are trying to build up the country, rather than constructing roads through miles of barren country solely for the benefit of American tourists at the expense of British Columbia tax payers.
 Mr. S. Middleton, district horticulturist, and Bryson White, Dominion inspector, paid an official call at the office of John Tall, district fruit pest inspector, during the past week.

Telephone services will be provided on New Year's Day from eleven to three o'clock in the daytime and six to eleven at night. New Year's Day is the one day of the year in which rural mail clerks get a holiday.
 Mr. Alex Smith met with an accident on Sunday morning at the Kettle Valley Railway station. He was loading up a truck when he wrenched his back badly necessitating his laying off work for a few days. His son, Master Edward Smith also had the misfortune to break his arm when he slipped and fell.

council at the outset that all legal angles had been exhausted and no solution to Mr. Bennett's disqualification could be found.

Councillor Norman Holmes, who had promoted the parks board plan strenuously during the past year, and other council members expressed their disappointment and offered various suggestions but none was found to be within the legal limits.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson was so concerned that he was in favor of eliminating the elected board and revert to the original suggestion of a council-appointed parks board.

He was bitter about the disqualification by technicalities of two of the best prospects for parks board work, the men who would have put "heart in the board".

Mr. Atkinson pointed out that the memorial parks committee, of which he is chairman, is ready to wind up its activities but he did not want any such move unless a strong and active parks board was ready to take over.

Reeve Bentley suggested that it would probably take a vote of the ratepayers to disband the elected parks board and in the meantime what about the fate of the two other elected members.

Prepared to Resign
Councillor Atkinson was prepared to have Mr. Snow and Mr. Brown resign. These two men, who had just arrived at the council chambers, stated they were prepared to do so if that was found to be the right solution.

But Councillor Tait suggested caution as the council had been trying for years to get a parks board and it seemed a shame to drop the plan now.

Reeve Bentley suggested that personalities were creeping too closely into the discussion. There was some thought expressed that this was not a democratic manner of approaching the problem.

It was then that the idea of having Mr. Bennett accept some ex-officio post as parks manager came into the discussion. When Mr. Bennett arrived it was discussed at some length and finally he agreed that it would be worth a trial.

Formation of the two new training battalions, within the Canadian Army Special Force, was announced recently by Defence Minister Brooke Claxton.

Mr. Bennett expressed the thought that he had certain definite ideas about parks work which might clash with other board members and he would feel in an uncomfortable position not having any designated authority.

It was also suggested that one of the council members might be persuaded to allow his name to go forward to fill the vacancy which has now been created.

No Snow for Christmas; Good Driving Weather

It was a green Christmas and not even on the lower levels could any snow be seen when December 25 rolled around.

It was also a mild day and the good driving conditions probably assisted in cutting down the number of accidents in the district.

Only one minor collision was reported over the long holiday. This occurred early Sunday morning when Lou Lewis, driving along Hastings street, was blinded by oncoming lights and struck the rear of the B & B Body Shop wrecker parked on the roadside.

Business houses on Saturday were extremely busy as last-minute shoppers rushed around. However, those who were making merry evidently had in mind the extra long holiday ahead and restrained their enthusiasms.

There was less evidence of over indulgence this Christmas than for some time, it is stated by many observers.

Young people who wanted to skate or ski and thus work off some of the extra Christmas fare they tucked away were disappointed that it was a green Christmas. There wasn't enough snow at the ski hill for any activity there.

A number of volunteers worked on the new arena on Boxing Day but there could have been many more to assist in rushing to completion this big structure.

At the Summerland Trap Club a large crowd of local residents and visitors from Lumby, Vernon, Kelowna and Peachland were present for an afternoon shoot with turkeys and hams as prizes. This is an annual affair which is eagerly anticipated by a large group of members and invited guests.

Parents Were Waiting
Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Butler were at Penticton airport early Friday morning to meet their daughter returning by plane from Victoria where she has been for some months acting as receptionist in a medical office.

They remained there until late evening when they returned home, only to be back first thing Saturday morning to continue their anxious wait for some news of their daughter's fate.

They were accompanied by their two sons, Alan and Bob.

In the meantime, RCMP Constable I. G. Thorsteinson, accompanied by Bob Bleasdale, were patrolling Okanagan Highway No. 5 as far north as Great Ranch in an endeavor to find someone who might have observed the plane.

On the return trip, Mr. Bleasdale thought he observed a fire across the lake on a high mountainside. The two men watched and thought they observed a blaze. They radioed the information back to Penticton RCMP office.

Passengers on a Greyhound bus which was passing at the time confirmed the two men's belief that there was a fire across the lake.

"It looked as if somebody was putting more logs on a fire every little while and causing it to flare up," was Constable Thorsteinson's reaction.

A rescue-search party headed by Dr. John Gibson of Penticton left early that morning to try and locate the plane. Flares had also been observed by a plane which had circled Okanagan Mountain.

The rescue party was equipped with walkie talkie radio which was on the same beam as the car radio employed by Constable Thorsteinson. He patrolled Okanagan highway until 8 o'clock Saturday night keeping contact with the Gibson party which failed to make contact with the plane.

It is reported here that the fire observed was one which had been started by some forestry officials and was not caused by the flares or the fires at the wrecked plane.

Major Wilson's Party
Major Victor Wilson, in command of C Squadron, B.C. Dragoons and who lives at Paradise Ranch north of Naramata, was taken up in an airplane Saturday morning to locate the exact spot where the airplane had been spotted earlier.

Once he had the location firmly fixed a rescue party was formed, with Major Wilson in the lead. Alan and Bob Butler, although not completely clothed for such a venture, insisted on becoming members of the party.

They drove in a jeep as far along the Chute Lake road as was possible and then struck up the mountainous hillside on foot. Although the snow was only about two feet deep it was extremely wet and slushy and made walking extremely difficult.

The party had to travel between four and five miles up the hillside. Bob Butler states that in places he is certain no foothold could have been obtained in dry weather but with the soft snow footholds were obtained.

Elevation where the plane crashed is about 4,400 feet.

Major Wilson was in the advance party while Doug McMynn, West Kootenay manager, was in charge of the main rescue group which contained the two Butler men. It was about 4:30 when Major Wilson reached the plane and started the first of the survivors down the hillside.

It was with great relief that the rescuers found all the passengers alive and safe.

Major Wilson, despite his extreme fatigue, set out ahead of the return group to spread the tidings that all but two of the plane's inmates were safe.

It was about 11 o'clock Saturday evening that Miss Butler arrived in Penticton to be greeted by her joyful parents.

Throughout this time, the numbers of offers of assistance and the general demeanor of the entire rescue project were extremely impressive to the Butler family. They felt that everybody was "just wonderful" and the spirit of willing co-operation was beyond description.

The first group of survivors to reach Penticton consisted mainly of women passengers who were not outfitted for the difficult terrain which they had to traverse. Despite their fatigue, the shock of their experience and the hardships there was never a murmur.

Major Wilson's ability as a mountaineer and his stamina and courage were lauded by the Butler family, who also gave praise to Mr. McMynn.

ered firewood and unloaded luggage from the wreck. Soon a little spiral of smoke went twisting into the air and around it went our prayers of thankfulness and hopes of being rescued.

"It was said over and over again: 'This is nothing less than a miracle, but it must be just a dream.'"

"It was then we began to take stock of our fellow passengers who had not uttered a single word of complaint or regret. Suitcases were soon opened and people willingly shared whatever they had.

"Christmas presents were opened and many new sweaters and slippers were gladly given to their newly-formed friends for warmth. "As if by magic coffee and cookies were being banded out.

Heard First Plane

"While most of the passengers spent the night in the plane, others kept the bonfire burning and waiting to give signals should there be scouting planes. About one o'clock (Saturday morning) we joyfully heard the first plane and as it circled round and round we knew we had been spotted.

"In the morning the first planes appeared and dropped supplies by parachute. There were blankets, warm clothing, food, medical supplies and a radio.

"Naturally, the parcels of food were the first to be inspected and then we made a shelter from the parachutes.

"Next, the three paratroopers landed some distance off and it was with real gratitude we greeted them, our first contact with the outside for what seemed to us as ages.

"The first question we asked was: 'Do the people know how many are safe?' The next was: 'Where are we?'

"We were surprised to hear we were 16 miles north of Penticton as we were convinced we were south of Penticton, or even near Hazelton. We could hear trains and that kept us confused.

"The rescue party arrived from Penticton in the late afternoon and one look at them showed the links of tiredness and fatigue turning into ones of real joy at being able to greet us, the survivors.

"We were soon heading with them up and down the mountainsides through three feet of snow with thankful hearts for the safety of so many and mixed with genuine sorrow for the two who had given themselves that we might tread the path leading to home," she concluded.

PLAN CONFERENCE ON SUBSTATION

J. D. McMynn, West Kootenay Penticton manager and H. A. Blakeborough, Kelowna, engineer who is being employed to draw up plans for Summerland's new substation, will be brought together soon to finalize some differences in opinion regarding equipment needed in the proposed plant.

After those details are ironed out, then the two men will be asked to meet representatives of the local council and discuss plans further.

Mr. Blakeborough asked council to meet what amount of money it would be prepared to spend. But Councillor F. E. Atkinson did not think this would be the right approach.

"Let's get a design of a station to meet our needs, find out the cost and then effect economies if necessary," he suggested.

New Kelowna City Hall Draws Praise

Reeve C. E. Bentley was enthusiastic when he told local council some of the grand details concerning Kelowna's new city hall.

The new official home of the Orchard City, which was opened on December 20, at a cost of $200,000 has a palatial council chambers measuring 30 feet by 60 feet. Council members gasped at this statement and were even more impressed as His Worship described the oak horseshoe conference table.
