

Hospital Consultants Should be Fired Says Municipal Meeting Here

That the hospital consultants hired by the B.C. Government, James A. Hamilton & Associates, are seriously interfering with hospital plans and their services should be discontinued was the charge laid before Okanagan Municipal Association delegates in Summerland last Thursday afternoon by Mayor W. E. Hughes-Games of Kelowna.

Association delegates were heartily in accord with the Orchard City's suggestion and unanimously passed a resolution seeking discontinuance of the Hamilton company in the realm of hospital business in this province.

Flood Threat Still Exists Says Report

"The flood potential still exists". That is the advice of the water rights branch in a special supplement issued at May 15 and released last week-end, indicating that water supply prospects had generally remained unchanged during the first half of last month.

"Melting has proceeded quite well but the water content of the remaining snow appears to be still high, compared with 1949."

In general, the snow line in the southern section of B.C. has receded to the 3500-4500 foot level. Water content of the remaining snow mantle has generally increased 3 to 26 percent during the first half of May.

"Compared with the expected total snow melt runoff, the volume of snow water already carried away is little. Steady high temperatures can produce a very high peak flow. Melting season during first two weeks of May has been good, intensive melting during hot spells being checked by cooler weather."

At the 4,700-foot level on Trout Creek, water content had gone down from 10.7 inches on May 1 to 7.2 inches on May 13. On May 15 last year the ground was bare at this level. Snow depth was 20.2 inches.

Mission Creek at 6000 feet, where the ground is still frozen, snow depth May 15 was 58.7 inches. McCulloch at 4200 feet had 10.4 inches of snow.

In the Similkameen, Copper Mountain at 4300 feet was bare at May 14 with nil water content. On May 1, there was 3.3 inches water content in the snow there.

Nickle Plate Mountain at 6200 feet showed 35.7 inches of snow on May 14 with 6.9 inches water content.

Ken Heales Has Low Net Score to Take Midland Cup

Ken Heales was winner of the Midland cup, an annual trophy handicap competition at the Summerland Golf Club on May 24.

He shot a 44-44 for a gross of 88 which, with his 20 handicap gave him low net score for the day of 68.

Runnerup was Bill Laidlaw who grossed 91 and had a net score of 72.

Low gross honor went to C. J. Bleasdale, with a similar score to Ken Heales while low hidden hole prize was captured by Sandy Fenwick and the high hidden hole by Mr. Jardine of Kelowna.

Twenty-five golfers participated in this event which was played under ideal golfing conditions.

School Trustees Satisfied with Progress on New High School

Good progress is being made on the new junior-senior high school building in West Summerland, it was reported to the monthly school board meeting in the medical clinic office on Monday evening.

School Board Chairman C. J. Bleasdale expressed himself as satisfied with the progress and, in answer to queries stated that as far as he could ascertain the contractors, Kenyon & Co., have been employing local labor as much as possible.

Nearly 200 applications for positions were filed with the contractors, he stated, but not many carpenters applied, these vacancies being filled mainly by Penticton men.

Increased Costs
Trustees commented that they were fortunate to have obtained bids when they did as lumber has since increased $10 per thousand and wages are expected to increase 8 percent.

Composition flooring for classrooms as compared with linoleum occupied part of Monday evening's agenda as Chairman Bleasdale contended that composition flooring would be cheaper to lay and less expensive to maintain whereas School Inspector Turnbull maintained that linoleum has been found to be better in the long run and has been accepted by majority of schools on both sides of the border.

A letter from the department was read on the subject which did not recommend composition

Mayor Hughes-Games outlined Kelowna's struggle to obtain increased hospital accommodation. Plans were carefully drawn up by competent hospital architects but were thrown out by the US company. After much consultation, the Hamilton company had agreed to certain alterations in the original plans, but when they were re-submitted they were thrown out once again, he charged.

Such action has caused the Kelowna Hospital Society and Kelowna council much extra work and delay and if the Hamilton people recommendations were adopted they would cost Kelowna and the province a great deal more money, he emphasized.

Other delegates spoke on recommendations in their districts by Hamilton & Associates and they were not popular suggestions.

Consequently, the meeting voted in favor of the immediate discontinuance of the government's deal with the hospital consultant firm.

The Kelowna Hospital Society is so fed up it is ready to quit and let the government take over, Mayor Hughes-Games added.

Reeve Johnson of Enderby wanted greater borrowing power and longer life debenture terms under the municipal act but the meeting took no steps along this line and Mayor T. R. E. Adams, chairman, cautioned against any such move.

Lack of work on highways through cities was stressed by a number of delegates. The public works department has stated it will maintain these stretches of highways but they are "full of holes", the meeting was told.

Mayor Adams, Vernon and Mayor Hughes-Games, Kelowna, were especially vociferous in this regard.

"This reclassification is not working out," declared the latter.

A resolution asking that provision be made by the public works department, for emergency treatment on such sections of highways passing through cities and municipalities was carried unanimously.

Seek 200 for Berry Picking

Two hundred women from 18 years to 50 years will have an opportunity to earn extra money this year and at the same time assist growers in another producing area of British Columbia.

W. J. Beattie, placement officer for the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Service here has been placed in charge of a campaign to recruit 200 women from the Okanagan for berry picking in the Fraser Valley.

This berry picking siege will probably last six to seven weeks and if conditions are similar to last year pickers can earn anywhere from $8 to $22 per day, according to the individual's speed and thoroughness.

flooring in classrooms but did not condemn it. Inspector Turnbull interpreted this to mean that the department would not recommend composition flooring.

However, school trustees could not read this interpretation in the communication.

"I wish the department would say what it means," emphasized Chairman Bleasdale when informed of Inspector Turnbull's talk to department heads at Victoria which seemed to be at variance with the communication to hand.

No decision has yet been made as to the type of floor covering, Mr. Bleasdale having interviewed one school in Vancouver where teachers stated they were perfectly satisfied with composition flooring.

Vancouver School Board has used this type of floor covering in six of its schools.

Community Use
School trustees stressed the hope that the new cafeteria-auditorium will be used extensively for community purposes when they heard a letter from Mr. Ewart Woodlams, on behalf of the UBC Alumni Assn. here seeking information on possible use of this hall for showing of special films on behalf of the Summerland Scholarship Fund next winter.

As trustees do not even know when the auditorium will be ready for use no decision has been made as to rental fees or any schedule of occupancy but they are assuring Mr. Woodlams it will be available for public use.

They Won't Be Parted

DORGE CAMILLE and his bride DELOBARINE of St. Boniface, Man., who were married recently just about a month before they planned the big event. When the couple heard they might be separated on evacuation of St. Boniface, they decided they couldn't risk that. The wedding ceremony took place in St. Boniface Basilica not over a block away from the flooding Red River. Here the newlyweds are shown standing on a dike holding the Red River, which had speeded wedding plans.

Flood Relief Fund will be Boosted by Talent Concert at Local Youth Centre June 9

Winnipeg Flood Relief is to benefit from a mammoth concert party staged by local artists at the Youth Centre on Friday, June 9, it has been announced this week.

It is understood the municipal council is assisting the promotion of this concert, as Reeve C. E. Bentley was instructed last week to promote flood relief work in this community.

Next week at the Youth Centre the Town Talent radio show sponsored by Summerland Merchants with Garnet Peters as master of ceremonies and chief organizer will stage concert for flood relief. Artists who have been heard over the Summerland Town Talent radio show, and others, will be gathered together on the Youth Centre stage for this performance.

Summerland Band, in new uniforms, will parade in the West Summerland business area prior to the concert and will then march to the Youth Centre to provide further music for the affair.

Mr. Peters states that a White Elephant grab bag is to be another feature of the show which is expected to cause much amusement.

More complete details of the concert arrangement will be given next week.

Gross proceeds of the show will go towards Winnipeg Flood Relief as all expenditures are being guaranteed by the sponsors and the municipal council, Mr. Peters states.

Rotary Sends $100
Roy F. Angus, Rotary secretary, states that $100 will go to the flood relief fund as a result of the UBC Players' Club appearance here in their spring presentation, "An Inspector Calls," sponsored by Rotary.

The Kiwanis Club of Summerland is arranging to present a fund to the Kiwanis in Winnipeg on behalf of flood relief.

At the Bank of Montreal in West Summerland up to noon yesterday $238 had been despatched to Winnipeg as individual's contributions to alleviate the plight of those in the prairie city.

Many other donations have gone from Summerland direct to the flooded city to help friends and relatives in distress, while some others are known to have made contributions through radio stations CKOV and CKOK.

LOCAL GIRL WINS POSTER CONTEST

Shirley Clarke, a member of Grade 7 class in the Summerland elementary school, has been awarded a $10 first prize for her poster entry in the Okanagan Council, United Commercial Travellers safety poster contest which concluded recently.

The young girl depicted a car endeavoring to beat a railway train to a level crossing as the subject of her poster.

This prize will be presented at Penticton later this month.

Basic Mill Rate for Municipalities' Share Of Education Favored

SUMMERLAND—After two hours of debate, Okanagan Municipal Assn. delegates, meeting at the IOOF hall in Summerland on Thursday afternoon in quarterly session renounced a plan to seek an increase in municipal share of the SS & MA tax rebate and continued to press for a basic mill rate for the municipal share of the cost of education.

Dissatisfaction was expressed by the chairman, Mayor T. R. E. Adams, of Vernon, who headed the Okanagan municipal delegation to Victoria during the last session of the B.C. Legislature with the reaction of the government towards the municipalities' pleas for relief from education costs.

The mayors, Reeves, aldermen and councillors gathered here on Thursday wanted more than just a stopgap to tide them over this year but a sound, basic setup whereby they would not be saddled with such a big proportion of the cost of education.

A committee of Mayor Rathbun, Penticton, Reeve C. E. Bentley, Summerland and Reeve L. S. Metford of Salmon Arm, after hearing speaker after speaker voice opinions on the education cost trend came back with recommendation that the present 1 percent rebate of the 3 percent SS & MA tax be raised to 2 percent.

This proposal was turned down by a wide majority and delegates voted unanimously to continue pressing for a basic maximum mill rate for education costs.

Okanagan delegates to the UBC-M convention at Nelson in September will stand solidly behind this resolution, it was affirmed.

The actual resolution passed was the same as that approved at the previous quarterly meeting with the addition of the thought that "ranch, farm and other incomes appear to have passed their peak and are now, in fact, declining; it is recognized that the present tax levies for school and all other essential services have reached the saturation point."

Looking to Future
In reporting on the delegation's visit to Victoria, Mayor Adams stated the Okanagan wants a firm base to work towards in future years.

"The government felt quite satisfied in sloughing off any representations in the face of greatly increased anticipated revenues from the 3 percent sales tax. On those grounds the government feels no immediate need to get down to cases, and, as we think it should, to adjust school costs."

He deprecated that there is no spirit of looking towards 1952 and '53. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," seems to be the government attitude, he accused.

"Since our last meeting, our major problem has not been furthered," he concluded, expressing the hope that Thursday's meeting would decide to continue its pressure.

Coldstream reeve J. B. Kidston, reported on the arbitration board which found that Coldstream municipality could not meet school estimates by 20 percent.

Kelowna's Mayor Hughes-Games stated no decision had been handed down yet by its arbitration board.

Reeve Metford, Salmon Arm, pointed out that it is not up to municipal councils to decide if school estimates are excessive, but the municipalities can determine what portion of these estimates it is within their power to pay.

In Salmon Arm's case the board of arbitration found the municipality unable to meet school costs by $9,800. Thus, the municipal council has knocked off $9,800 from the school account, credited it to general municipal account and intends to carry out much needed.

Summerland Artists' Painting Prominent in Kelowna Show

(By Ann Hunt in the Kelowna Courier)
"The dawn was ready for me," said Summerland artist Irvine C. Adams as he summed up his pastel, "Two Trees at Dawn."

He is one of many interior artists that figured prominently in Kelowna's third international art show, which was held last week in the furniture department of the Kelowna Mc & Mc store. The exhibition includes the work of Dutch, English, Austrian and Canadian artists. There are still life, landscapes, etchings, oils, pastels, watercolors, wood cuts, and practically every medium of art in this outstanding collection.

One of the most notable of the one hundred and thirteen paintings was the oil, entitled "Night" by Piet Mondrian.

His work is among the permanent collection of the Museum of Modern Art, New York. He was an exponent of symbolism in his treatment and lived in the era

Apple Bloom Has Prospect Of Big Crop

"Bartlett pears have had a fairly good blossom near lake level and on the front benches but further back the bloom has been very sparse," the second Horticultural News Letter, issued by the department of agriculture horticultural branch at Kelowna states on May 23 for the Summerland, Peachland, Westbank area.

"Flemish have been somewhat better but did not carry a heavy bloom even in the favored areas. Anjou pears have come through with a normal amount of blossom."

"Apple trees are showing an exceptionally heavy blossom. Practically all varieties with the exception of Delicious are carrying more blossom than has been seen for several years. Delicious trees are carrying an average amount of blossom, enough for a good crop should they set well."

"A result of the heavy apple blossom has been widespread interest by growers in chemical thinning."

"The effects of the severe winter continue to show up and since the last News Letter the situation has worsened in some varieties. In some orchards, apricots which had leafed out and started to make an inch or two of terminal growth are now beginning to wilt severely."

"On examination, these trees frequently reveal severe injury at ground level or crown of the tree. Considerable wilting and drying up of large limbs is now showing up in Bing and Royal Anne trees."

"Limbs of Newtowns which carried heavy crops last season are now beginning to dry out and die."

Mrs. Tingley's Class Wins Jaycee Shield

In connection with the Jaycees Cleanup, Paintup, Beautify campaign which concluded last Saturday, pupils in the elementary school were issued with cards listing various places in their homes to check and improve to further the campaign.

Each pupil was asked to check various parts for cleanup, to tell what type of repair job they had accomplished, what types of flowers and vegetables they had planted to beautify their homes and other incidental items.

The Jaycee Cleanup Campaign shield, offered to the elementary school class which showed the most interest in this campaign went to Mrs. Tingley's Div. VI, class.

Second place was won by Miss Bowes' Div. VII, class, third place by Mr. Moore's Div. IV, group and fourth spot by Mr. Week's Div. V, class.

Need for Parks Board More Apparent

LAST week a voluntary group which has been accomplishing splendid work in attempting to improve Peach Orchard cemetery nearly passed into oblivion. In fact, it may yet cease to function if representatives of various groups do not get more support from local organizations and individuals.

The cemetery committee has been endeavoring to interest citizens in work parties and other volunteer tasks to improve Peach Orchard cemetery, which most citizens agree is certainly in need of improvement.

But last week the main point brought out by the cemetery committee was the lack of continuity in planning cemetery work. There is no long-range program as the committee has no money and depends upon council support if any major expenditure is planned.

Councils change from year to year and so do councillors in charge of parks and cemetery work. Therefore, unless the council sets a firm policy and passes it along from year to year, there is no continuity.

These points seem to indicate the need for a parks board in Summerland—a group of interested citizens who would be elected for one and two-year terms and who would take over all work in parks and cemetery.

Such a body could set a long term policy for the public playgrounds including beaches and parks and work towards that goal, allocating certain monies from year to year as befitting the public purse.

Formation of such a parks board would not mean that service clubs and other interested bodies would cease to have anything to do with these public parks. Their projects to improve parks, beaches and cemetery would still be a valuable addition to the main work of the central committee.

Formation of such a parks board has been mooted here for some years but no one has taken any action yet.

It is quite likely that the Summerland Memorial Parks Committee will be handing over its two parks to the council sometime in the next year, having completed these projects to the limit of its finances.

If the council finds itself saddled with the care and upkeep of these extra public properties, besides the beaches and parks it is attempting to service at present, then the task will be a tremendous one for a lone councillor in charge of the parks committee.

Some careful study and organization work now may save a lot of headaches in a year's time.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Summerland, like other Okanagan towns, is apt to have an unemployment problem this summer. What are we going to do about it? It's bound to be our baby, because it will be a temporary local condition; and you may have noticed how reluctant both provincial and federal governments are to admit that any unemployment problem is more than local and temporary.

And it's nothing we can refuse to bother about, because at least two classes of these unemployed will be very valuable to our community in the future, as they have been in the past. Some who have for years been independent fruit farmers are this year facing the bitter prospect of an utter failure of the soft fruit crop on which they depend for their living, and the need of 'working out' in order to obtain sufficient money to keep their families living.

You may say that they should have saved enough money from previous crops at high prices to tide themselves over a twelve months; but brother, be human. Did you?

There is also a group of skilled orchard men who have been accustomed to work for employers rather than on farms of their own, but are as experienced and reliable as any independent farmer. Ordinarily there is a strong demand for their services; because this year there is a partial crop failure some of them may not find their usual employment.

Yet both these classes of men are important to our community, both as citizens ordinarily proudly self-supporting, and as highly trained producers of the fruit on which our entire economy is based. We cannot afford to do without them.

"Very well," you say, "there is bound to be a slight demand for labor in apples and pears, if not in soft fruits. Let's cut out all imported and transient labor, and give what jobs are going to these men."

All well and good; and there will be, we hope, enough employment to take care of them. But have you thought that there is still another class of potential unemployed—more likely to be unemployed than either of the others?

During the recent years of high prices, high wages, and labor scarcity, not a few local boys left school well below high-school-graduation level to "work out". Some found learning hard, others objected to being disciplined; and independence at eighty cents an hour was an irresistible temptation.

The best of them graduated into good orchard men, or into other occupations; the rest represent that most unskilled of our manual labor and, in a year of little employment, the most certain to be unemployed. Already you see them ragged and unhappy, hopelessly making the rounds of hunting for jobs which are already non-existent.

What are we going to do about them? Sure we have the provincial welfare people and the local welfare committee and the churches and so on but these are all charity organizations. They will give food and cast-off clothing; but is that enough?

Charity will sap the independence and self-reliance of these young fellows; idleness will give them too much time for jealousy and resentment and all the black feelings that course through a man's mind when he sees himself less fortunate than his fellows. Only a step from that to juvenile delinquency and petty crime—maybe crime not so petty.

For it is these lads whose ideas of right and wrong, as of other things, are a bit foggy and uncertain, who are most readily led astray by criminal propaganda.

The trials of war criminals in Germany proved over and over again that the men responsible for atrocities—not the higher-ups who gave the orders, but the boys who did the actual beating, torturing, murdering—were nearly always men of low intelligence who did not do well at school and usually left early.

No criminal propaganda to influence them here, you say? Why, the place is full of it. Comic magazines, radio programs, moving pictures, are all beating out the crime theme over and over again, every week, every day.

If we don't want these Summerland boys to degenerate into idlers and criminals, if we don't want to run the risk of our stores and homes broken into, cars stolen, even assaults and shootings—we ought to plan more than charity for these under privileged youths of ours.

Why couldn't our Central Welfare Committee have a labor pool, too? A lot of us who are tightening up and doing without hiring any help are still spending plenty on shows, gasoline, clothes, and various other luxuries. It wouldn't hurt us to cut down a bit and give a little of that money away in the form of wages to those who really need it. If all of us who could afford to give a day or two employment to the labor pool, it would amount to quite a bit together; enough to save the dignity and honesty of all our doubtful young citizens, for there aren't many of them.

It wouldn't be mere charity, for we'd get work in return for it. We all have several little labor jobs that need doing, and trying to do too much ourselves to save a bit of money may easily mean paying it out after all in doctor's bills.

How about planning on giving a bit of work to somebody else in your community within the next three months—the critical time for unemployment here—and phoning the central welfare committee about it today?

Twenty Thousand Letters of Thanks Received from Britain for Gift Apples

This year, for the first time since 1946, British Columbia apples have been shipped to Great Britain. Shipments from the 1949 B.C. apple crop to the United Kingdom totalled 1,593,544 boxes.

Previous to the war Britain purchased annually approximately 2,500,000 boxes of B.C. apples, and twice during the war, in the face of wartime shipping conditions, shipments reached over the two million mark.

Shipments this year were, of course, distributed across the length and breadth of the British Isles. The British Food Ministry saw fit to distribute 50,000 boxes of B.C. apples free to schools and institutions. The appreciative and enthusiastic reception which has been accorded the arrival of B.C. apples augurs well for the future of our B.C. industry in the United Kingdom markets when exchange difficulties have been overcome.

For months letters have been pouring into the office of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., at Kelowna, B.C., from citizens of the United Kingdom. They come from England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales—from towns and cities across the country—written in the careful printing of the 5-year-old; braille of the blind, and the precise English of the scholar.

They come from people of every walk of life from old peoples' homes, veterans' hospitals, monasteries, convents and rest homes. There is a letter from a man 100 years young; letters from crippled children and the Old Continentals.

All tell the same story—the unbounded appreciation of the British people at once again receiving B.C. apples; the wonderful flavor of B.C. apples; and the excellent condition in which they arrived.

Many gifts have been received—small tokens of appreciation for the world's best apples. There's a medal from Hertfordshire, a tea cosy from Ulster and books from Glasgow.

It has been impossible to keep up with the count of letters received. To date, however, nearly 20,000 letters have been received, and they are still coming in with the arrival of every boat.

The task of acknowledging all this correspondence has been indeed a heavy one, and its volume, soon necessitated answering only letters from principals and those in charge of the various institutions. As can readily be imagined, it would have been utterly beyond the capacity of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. to reply to that number of letters individually.

In all cases it has been pointed out to the writers that any fruit that was distributed free by the Food Ministry, in Britain, came from all the growers of British Columbia and from no individuals, and in a letter to the Food Ministry itself it has been stressed that the British Columbia fruit growers are not desirous of accepting credit for a shipment of fruit which it was intended should be part of the season's marketing program—which program might be, and finally was, accorded financial support by the federal authorities.

E. R. Simpson is a provisional director of OUG Fruit Products Ltd., which will have a plant in operation at Vernon this year and may locate a second plant in Summerland.

Assessment of fruit trees with the land for taxation purposes rather than classing them as improvements was the subject of an interesting discussion at the board of trade, but no decision was reached, the chairman being asked to appoint a committee to study the question.

Summerland Women's Institute held a most successful "at home" at Mrs. W. J. Robinson's residence so that members could meet newer residents of the community.

It is proposed to close the town school, pupils there being conveyed to the central school by bus. Sale of the Prairie Valley and Garnet Valley school properties, to provide the necessary money for additional buildings on the Central

We would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Towgood, for chaperoning at our club night on May 27.

During the general meeting Saturday night, it was decided to change the admission for the parent social to 50c for all parents, 75c for non members and 50c for members.

Gil Jacobs was presented with an honorary membership card in appreciation for everything he has done to help Teen Town.

A monthly contest in search for the best Teen Towner of the month, has been arranged by the council. This month's winner is Don Haddrell. This contest is open to all members outside the council.

The program for the parent social on June 3, is as follows: From 9 to 10:30 p.m. there will be dancing to Ken's Men, and from 10:30 to 11 p.m. there will be entertainment for the parents and refreshments. The evening will be concluded with more dancing.

Associate membership cards for the adults are now on sale for $1.00, and can be obtained from any council member.

Don't forget, if you have a hobby that you would be willing to exhibit in the Teen Town section, in the Hobby Show, on June 10, contact Dave Wright.

GUIDE NEWS

Highlight of Friday's meeting was the "Flying Up" to Guides of Golden Hand Brownie Margaret Lott.

After receiving her Brownie wings from Brown Owl Mrs. Mallett the Brownie was sent up to Guides with a grand howl from her pack.

Upon entering the Guide horse-shoe she was met by her future Patrol Leader Kathleen Lewis, who presented her to Captain McIntosh who, in turn, presented her to the company.

The ceremony ended with the singing by company and pack of "God Save the King".

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to teaching and passing of tenderfoot and second class tests.

Guides were given further details regarding the trip to Wenatchee June 10 - 11. Twenty-three Guides from the Summerland company will be going and will be billeted with Campfire Girls for the weekend. Buses leave early Saturday morning and return Sunday afternoon by way of Coulee Dam.

Keen interest and enthusiasm are being shown in this trip and it is hoped that this exchange of visits with the Campfire Girls will become an annual affair.

Guides were also reminded of the South Okanagan Scout-Guide rally to be held at Queen's Park Penticton, at 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, June 7. It is hoped that parents of Guides will endeavor to attend this picnic-rally and so make it a successful family gathering.

Tentative camp plans are being formulated. It is hoped to hold camp at Mr. F. E. Atkinson's summer camp the last week in July

The troop will soon be ready to have a sigh of relief at having concert rehearsals wound up. The Scout concert scheduled for Tuesday, June 6, is the first since about 1929, as closely as we can learn.

The boys have put a lot of work into it, and the general public as well as parents, are invited to support the effort, not only for good entertainment but also to bolster camping funds for the boys.

The final rehearsal will be Monday night, June 5, at 7 p.m. and every Scout must make a special effort to be there despite the holiday. For Tuesday night parents are asked to see that the boys turn out in smart uniforms with shorts.

As a relief from concert practices the court of honor decided the spring weekend camp will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 9, 10 and 11. The camp will be somewhere near Faulder and transportation part way will be provided by truck.

The boys will pack in the rest of the way. Pack boards or pack sacks for bedding and effects are required. The troop will leave at 5:30 in the afternoon on Friday.

This will be an excellent camp at the best time of year and good preliminary training for summer camp at Clearwater Lake.

On Wednesday, June 7 the annual Okanagan South District Scout Rally will be held at King's Park, Penticton. Owing to the pressure of other activities next week, the Hawk patrol only is officially representing the troop. This is a rally for parents and and the first week in August. The fee will again be $6.00 and a pot of jam.

Beryl Dodman received her second class badge and several second year service stars were presented.

Duty patrol—Bantams.

Cement produced in Canada in 1948 exceeded all previous records both in quantity and total value. During the year, 14,127,122 barrels were sold for $28,264,987.

Wildcats are risky

To an oil man a "wildcat" is a well drilled in an area where oil has never been found. Drilling a wildcat is a risky undertaking and a costly one. Some wells have cost more than a million dollars—and have not been successful.

For that reason oil men make as certain as they can, before drilling, that there is a good chance of finding oil. They use the most modern instruments and skills to locate each drilling site; but still the odds are 20 to one against them. Only about one wildcat in 20 becomes a producer.

Over the past 30 years oil men have worked continuously against these odds. In western Canada Imperial alone drilled 134 wells—all dry—before the Leduc field was discovered in 1947.

But the end result has been new oil for Canada and benefits for Canadians. There are thousands of new jobs. Millions of U.S. dollars are being saved as the need for imported oil lessens. And, as another natural resource moves towards full development, the Canadian standard of living climbs higher.

These are real benefits to Canadians and they will increase as more oil is found. But to find more oil and to spread the advantages it brings, oil men must continue to work against long odds.

Sometimes a job that must be done can't be done without great risks.

Bringing you oil is a big job
... and a costly one

BASKET SOCIAL PLEASANT AFFAIR

Last Friday evening, May 26, a basket social provided a great deal of fun for members of the LOL and their wives.

The social was held in the IOOF hall and was arranged by Mr. J. Burnell, master of the lodge, and a committee consisting of Harvey Walton, Loyle Campbell, Dave Taylor, Sr. and Jack Lekei.

At seven tables fourteen hands of 500 were played, and at these Mr. Burnell showed mastery, too, as he won high score. Mr. Walton was given the consolation prize for lowest tally. Mrs. Don Fountain was high in the ladies' count, and Mrs. Kennedy, Victoria Gardens, held low score.

Baskets were auctioned by Mr. Burnell. The prize for the prettiest basket which was made as a doll's cradle with a small doll in it was won by Mrs. Ken Anderson, with Miss Shirley Burnell winning second place for a box decorated as a miniature doll house.

Coffee was made and served by Mr. Loyle Campbell to complement the refreshments contained in the well-filled boxes.

After supper dancing was enjoyed to the music of a local orchestra composed of Wm. Maier, Fred Gale, Keith Sayres and J. Knippelberg.

S.W.J. Feltham Leaves Staff

In readiness for the opening of Summerland's new junior-senior high school, new staff appointments have been made by School District No. 77 (Summerland).

A. M. Brown of Vancouver has been appointed to teach music and French while Peter Greer, also of the coast city, is to teach social, English and general subjects. Mr. Greer is a PT specialist but has not been employed in this capacity. However, trustees expect that he will assist materially in sports promotion in the school.

Alvin Gately of Prince George is replacing the industrial arts instructor, S. W. J. Feltham, who is one of the oldest staff members in point of service.

Mr. Feltham has endeared himself to staff and students alike over his 24 years as manual training instructor here and his retirement comes just at a time when he would have enjoyed the fine, new building and extra equipment without which he has "made do" for years.

Appointments of a librarian-counsellor and a commercial teacher are still pending.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Heyworth were Mrs. Baillie, Mrs. Simpson, her daughter and a friend of Vancouver. Expected today at their home are Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Porter, of Vancouver.

CRADLE ROLL TEA IS HELD IN HALL

Monday afternoon, May 29, was the occasion of the annual Cradle Roll tea of the Baptist church when the evening auxiliary entertained mothers and children of the cradle roll department.

The tea was planned to be held on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilkin but because of the cool and windy day it was transferred to the church hall. Decorations of lovely flowers had been arranged there by the head of the cradle roll department, Mrs. H. W. Brown.

About twenty young children and fifteen mothers were guests of the auxiliary and the mothers all enjoyed the social time while the children played games and amused themselves with toys.

The children had a table of their own at tea-time and were served sandwiches, cookies, and fruit juice.

MORE ABOUT

in the foreground of the picture. There is wonderful composition in this work and the colors of the Okanagan Lake with the mountains rising in the background serve to enhance the outline of the trees. These trees are known as "The Gossips" and they appear intertwined and leaning towards each other, to be in conversation.

"Ramparts" is another delightful landscape by Irvine C. Adams which can be recognized by the scenery of Summerland cliffs. There is a subtle effect of shading and play of lights in the shadows of the trees against the cliffs which rise against a lovely cloud effect sky. The colorings of the leaves, the brown and yellow of early Autumn are skilfully blended.

"Snow Scenes, Peach Orchard" attracted the attention of an art critic of the Vancouver School of Art, who purchased the Irvine Adams' painting.

Watercolors
Another Summerland artist, Mr. Lee Grayson exhibited three exceptional watercolors, Mr. Grayson was the official artist for the Saskatchewan government, and while acting in that capacity, he designed their Coat of Arms.

In his "Saskatchewan Prairie," he portrayed the flat stretches of prairie land, showing the desolate expanse of land, barren of any landscape or trees, with the stubble ground its only beauty. A lone barn stands out in the background of the scene. The blending of soft colors in the sunset throws a warm glow across the land.

Mr. Grayson has also depicted the beauty of the Interior in his two watercolors, "Summerland Cliffs," and "View of Summerland Lake."

HOME AGAIN

Edward Kita has returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kew Kita after conclusion of his first term at the University of Oregon, Portland, Ore.

Mrs. H. Pares, who has been visiting in Vancouver, returned to her home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wright are home again after six weeks spent visiting at Red Deer, Sylvan Lake, Banff and other Alberta points. They state that it is still quite cold in that section of Alberta and they were glad to return to the warmer Okanagan climate.

The death occurred in Vernon on May 24, of Mrs. Agnes Baker, widow of the late Mr. Charles Baker, both of whom made their home in Penticton for many years.

The late Mrs. Baker was eighty-two years of age, and had been ill for a few weeks following a fall in which she broke her hip.

Surviving are one son, Mr. Harold Baker of Vancouver and three daughters, Mrs. Clem B. Smith, of Vernon; Mrs. Reid Johnston, Summerland, and Mrs. Edna Morgan, Vancouver.

Funeral services were held in St. Saviour's Anglican church Penticton, on Friday, May 26 at 2:30 p.m., Rev. W. S. Beames officiating.

Junior Fashion Show and Tea Arranged By Legion W A Contains Novel Ideas

Several new ideas were carried out at the largely attended tea and junior fashion show held by the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion on Saturday afternoon, May 27, in the IOOF hall.

Highlight of the afternoon was the Fashion Show scheduled for three o'clock in which pretty children's clothes were displayed by ten small models. Some of the things worn by the little girls and boys were lent by the Peter Pan Toggery and other were made to be sold later at the sewing stall.

During the show, in which there were ten appearances, Mrs. C. Woodbridge played softly on the piano and announcements were made of the various types and styles of garments worn.

The display ended with a tiny bride and groom, Cheryl Ann McCargar and Ivan Sayres, who carried out their part beautifully. Their delightful costumes had been specially made for this occasion, and Cheryl will wear hers later when she is a junior bridesmaid at a Kelowna wedding. Ivan showed considerable poise and dignity in his wedding togs.

Charming the audience in every appearance, others who modelled were Pat McCutcheon, Drena Strachan, Carol and Richard Newton, Betty and Robbie Canning, Shirley Ann Kopp and Greg Pruden.

Arranging the fashion show with Mrs. H. A. McCargar, convener, were Mrs. T. Fisher and Mrs. Wm. Strachan.

Another novel idea was the parcel post depot with Mrs. Dan Weis as postmistress. Different members of the auxiliary had written friends asking them to send a parcel for the sale containing an article with a value of not more than twenty-five cents. These parcels were sold without being unwrapped and held pretty and amusing surprises for the buyers.

At the fancy work stall were Mrs. Phil Davis, Mrs. Frank Davis, Mrs. Loomer and Mrs. Wm. Armstrong.

Mrs. Wm. Milne was responsible for the candy sales, and at the popular and well stocked home cooking booth on the front platform were Mrs. Wm. Kopp and Mrs. Frank Young.

Selling bedding-out plants were Mrs. George Lewis, Mrs. Mountford and Mrs. Dave Taylor, Sr. There was a good variety of annuals and other garden plants.

White elephant counter was in charge of Mrs. Fred Thompson and Mrs. Harry Howard, and that of children's novelties was managed by Mrs. O. A. Dunbar.

ed by Mrs. Tex Adams and Mrs. Keith Sayres.

General tea convener was Mrs. Bob Smith and assisting her were Mrs. Ann Johnston, Mrs. T. Fisher, Mrs. D. Strachan, Mrs. Ted Logie, Mrs. Eimer Johnston, Mrs. Howard Shannon and Mrs. J. A. Read. Serving were Guides Pat Menu, Margaret Marshall, Lois Harbicht, Ann Blayney and Carol Cornish.

The draw for the blankets was won by Miss Lois Read and the second prize was drawn by a ticket held by Mr. Hughie of Kelowna.

The bride doll at the novelty stall was won by Miss Estelle MacDonald, and the dressed doll at the fancy work booth went to Mrs. Wm. McCutcheon, president of the auxiliary.

Confirmation Service Held by Bishop at Holy Child Church

Sunday morning following eight o'clock mass a service of confirmation was held at the Church of the Holy Child.

For the impressive service the altar was beautifully decorated with flowers and the church was filled to capacity.

Bishop Johnston of Nelson administered the sacrament of confirmation to eleven boys, three girls and two adults. He was assisted by Father A. M. Meulenbergh and Father Sullivan of Penticton.

Mr. and Mrs. Val Polesello stood as sponsors for the children.

Bishop Johnston spoke on the service of confirmation to the interested congregation.

Following the church service those who were confirmed were photographed outside the church with the bishop, and then a confirmation breakfast was served in the church hall.

A special table was arranged for the children and one for the priests, and there were decorated charmingly with fresh bright tulips.

Breakfast was the responsibility of the ladies of the CWL and CYO members assisted in serving.

Peachland Growers Refuse to Pay More Than $15 for Water

Faced with virtual loss of practically all their $100,000 soft fruit crop, Peachland Irrigation district ratepayers are prepared to defy a government edict and refuse to pay more than $15 per acre for water. J. E. Lane, deputy comptroller of water rights, is said to be insisting that Peachland orchardists pay the same as previous years, namely $21 per acre. The Peachland Irrigation District bylaw setting the water rate at $15 per acre has been back and forth four times between Peachland and Victoria and although a deputation of Trustee H. C. MacNeill and Secretary C. R. Haker went to the capital city and was given to understand the lower rate would be acceptable, it has since been refused.

Unanimous approval was given to a motion which pointed out that many full-time orchardists are seeking employment in other industries for financial reasons due to the lack of crop, and demanded that an immediate inspection be undertaken to verify the Peachland statements that reserve requirements are in excess of 1950 requirements.

It was further agreed that the ratepayers authorized the board to proceed with the collection of 1950 rates at the sum of $15 per acre, pending the acceptance by the water rights branch of bylaw number 103 at $15 per acre.

Seven Records Broken at High School Track Meet Here

By a scant four points House I defeated House II in the high school track meet on Friday afternoon, amassing 271 points to the losers' 267.

Seven new records were established, while three others were tied as the young athletes turned in fine performances. Jih Birtles featured largely in the record-busting performances, setting a new leap of 9 feet 11 inches in the pole vault, running the half mile in the new fast time of 2:14.3 and annexing two other first places.

Graham Munn set a new record for the 200 yards when he turned in a time of 25 seconds on a slow track. This young sprinter also tied the record for the century dash for boys 16 and under, and then leaped 17 feet 6 inches in the broad jump for the same age group for a new record.

Don Cruickshank completed the record smashing for the boys, heaving the shot putt 35 feet 3 inches.

Ruth Klux tied the former time of 11 2/5 seconds for the girls' 18 and under hurdles, while Helen Kean set a new mark of 4 feet 6 inches in the girls' 18 and under high jump.

Shannon Leads For Second Week

Len Shannon, for the second week in a row, led the scorers at the Garnet Valley range of the Summerland Rifle Club. It was erroneously reported last week that Lloyd Shannon was top scorer, but it was his younger brother Len who paced the shotmakers. Scores were as follows: Len Shannon 94, George Pennington and John Khalembach 93, Phil Dunsdon, A. Moyis and Art Dunsdon 92, Jack and George Dunsdon 91, Doug Price 90, Steve Dunsdon 87, D. Taylor 86, H. Simpson 85, George Stoll 82, Ed Gould '81, Pop Dunsdon 71, Helen Price 45.

Walsh Turns in Great Show But Merchants Held Scoreless

Jack Walsh entered the fastest company of his career as a pitcher to date last Sunday when he was the lone hurling prospect for Summerland Merchants as they tackled the Penticton Canucks in an Okanagan International league contest.

His pitching display amazed even his most staunch supporters as he set down the Penticton heavy swatters with only nine hits and limited them to two solitary runs, one of which was definitely unearned.

Merchants' supporters were dubious about Walsh's ability to hold down the league leading Penticton nine but he handcuffed them well and got out of three bad holes in each of the first three innings.

On the other hand Les Edwards, new Penticton hurler who cavorted in an Edmonton uniform last year and performed in professional circles before that, had the Merchants eating out of his hand.

Edwards, who also manages the Penticton club, not only had the game under control throughout but he was pitching them so that the Merchants were hitting them for easy outs.

First Score in Fourth

Penticton Canucks got runners on bases in each of the first three innings but couldn't punch a run across. Finally, in the fourth, with two away Dunham booted Drossos' roller, Edwards walked and Nicholson singled to fill the bases, Eshelman's single scored Drossos but Gunn fled out to Vanderburgh to end the rally.

In the eighth, again with two down, the bases filled and Nicholson sent a scorcher into left field to score Ivezich. Drossos tried to score from second on the play but Frank Kuroda's whip to home had him cold.

From the fourth on the Merchants managed to get men into scoring positions but lacked the punch to bring them across.

Red Sox Have To Come from Behind to Win

Summerland Red Sox had to come from behind with a vengeance in the closing innings of last Sunday's ball game at Living Memorial athletic park to eke out a narrow 5-2 verdict over Princeton in a regular junior league contest.

Princeton held a 2-1 margin most of the game and it wasn't until the seventh frame that the Red Sox managed to break through the visitors' defense.

Seven errors didn't help the Red Sox cause at all, but they outthrew the Princeton crew 7 to 4 and therein lay the difference.

Ernie Jomori was the starting pitcher but when he was nicked for two runs in the fifth was relieved by Gil Jacobs, who finished the contest. C. Harman was on the mound for Princeton and turned in a good exhibition, weakening in the seventh long enough for the Red Sox to romp home winners.

This win is the third straight victory for last year's interior junior champs and this Sunday they have a bye.

BASIC MILL

ed public works with this sum, he said.

Even after allowing a portion of the sales tax rebate, Penticton school costs amounted to 27 mills, Mayor Rathbun informed the meeting. In that city 3,500 persons are paying school costs for 10,500, he pointed out.

Need Other Revenues
"If the one percent sales tax rebate is for education then we will have to find other means to provide for general municipal work such as roads, sidewalks, etc. Our community is marking time," he emphasized.

"It is impossible to carry on improvements without some other revenue as we have reached the saturation point in municipal taxation," Mayor Rathbun concluded. Ald. Fitzwallier of Kamloops outlined Kamloops city's position, which is similar to others in that there is not enough revenue to pay the way.

Reeve N. S. Johnson of Enderby pressed for equalization of assessments, and this brought a resume from Municipal Clerk Johnston of Salmon Arm who had had experience with the equalization board and felt that the municipal case was not put up as neatly as that of the unorganized territory.

The latter official asked for legislation to demand that the equalization board bring in its finding by March 31 of each year.

Ald. Smith of Salmon Arm city wanted to know when education costs are going to stop as his city has no money for sewage and water line renewals.

Ald. Frank Ryall gave as his "candid opinion" that the government intends to continue passing the buck in the education situation.

Public works he deemed as important as education in any municipality, and school costs should not be the first call on the taxpayers.

He termed the arbitration board system as a "myth and a joke", and devoid of any idea of common British justice.

Besides that, Ald. Ryall thought the standard of education is being carried at an excessive high point in B.C. He thought the scale should be pared down, as a great majority of students do not make any use of their higher education once they leave school.

"Don't look to Victoria for any lead in cutting costs," he warned. "Any such move will have to come from you gentlemen."

Mayor Hughes-Games wanted to let the school boards make their own levies and be their own collection agencies, but he did not receive any support along this line.

Summerland Position

Summerland is faced with school costs amounting to between 51 and 52 percent of the total amount raised in the municipality, Reeve C. E. Bentley pointed out. When the entire amount of the sales tax rebate was placed against municipal aid, the school portion of the tax rate was left at 29 out of a total of 35 mills.

"We have it in writing from one department in Victoria that we cannot apply sales tax rebate to school costs," he declared.

However, Reeve Bentley warned the delegates against losing sight of the fact that practically every district has passed bylaws for new schools. The ratepayers voted for them and said they were expected to pay for them.

"You can't blame the government for that increase in cost, as we voted for it ourselves."

But Reeve Bentley did point out that municipalities have no control over teachers' basic salaries, which are on an outmoded basis at present, he thought, and that is one point the municipalities can "kick about".

At this juncture the special committee was appointed and when it returned with the prospect of raising the municipal aid portion of the sales tax rebate to two percent there were many objections.

"This new resolution is geared to the sales tax and is not attempting to cut costs at all", objected Kidston of Coldstream.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson, Summerland, stated that a fixed mill rate for education costs would mean a commission to unify all industries and areas but the fundamental point is teachers' salaries, he thought.

"Your resolution should be aimed at control of teachers' salary schedules," he emphasized.

Mayor Hughes-Games supported Councillor Atkinson's contention and urged that the Okanagan go after a set mill rate for school costs.

Mayor Adams, chairman, then called for a vote on the preamble and it carried unanimously.

Review Education Financing

First portion of the main resolution, calling for the provincial government to review education immediately and "in particular the financing of education within the province and to consider ways and means of removing the liability to pay such ever increasing school costs from the owners of land", was also passed unanimously.

But the meeting overwhelmingly turned down the suggestion to raise the municipal rebate to 2 percent of the sales tax, one or two speakers declaring that the government would only raise the tax from 3 to 5 percent and the taxpayers would be no better off.

The original resolution was then unanimously adopted.

Endorsement of boards of trade and ratepayers' associations throughout the area will be sought. Forty delegates attended a luncheon as guests of the Municipality of Summerland, Reeve Bentley welcoming the visitors at noon. Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary catered for the luncheon in the IOOF hall.

Next meeting will be held at Salmon Arm, Ald. T. H. Middleton extending the invitation.

Anglican Bishop of Kootenay Officiates Confirmation Service

On Whitsunday morning, St. Stephen's church was filled to capacity to welcome the Bishop of the Diocese, The Right Reverend Patrick Clark, MA, DD, of Nelson. The Apostolic Rite of Confirmation is always an impressive service, the fact that Sunday was the Festival of the Holy Spirit and the birthday of the Church gave an added sense of rejoicing and worship.

Red being the festival color, the altar was appropriately decorated with red peonies. The Bishop gave an inspiring address to the candidates.

Names of those who were confirmed and admitted to full church membership were: Eileen Jacques, Jill Sanborn, Evelyn Washington, Joan Dickson, Robin Fisher, Robert Nelson, Robert Towgood, Terence Coggan, Richard Blewett, William Krause and Geoffrey Solby.

Girls of the Grade 10 home economics class entertained their mothers to tea at the high school on Tuesday afternoon.

Fruit Industry Plight To be Outlined Before Government Heads June 15

Hon. Harry Bowman, minister of agriculture, has accepted an invitation from the executive of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association to attend a conference in Kelowna, Thursday, June 15, at which the state of emergency that exists will be made to devise plans for cooperation with the orchardists in meeting this emergency.

Cool Weather Means Less Flood Threat

Height of Okanagan lake is rising somewhat but with the cold nights and unseasonable weather there has been no threat of floods in the Okanagan. Trout Creek has been carrying off a large body of water for some days and there is every possibility that the entire runoff will take place without any undue occurrence.

The control dam at the mouth of Okanagan river at Penticton has been kept open since February 27 and the discharge has been governed since that time by the level of Okanagan lake.

A report recently issued by K. W. Morton, district dominion government engineer at New Westminster stated that the dam-keeper had been instructed to keep the control dam full open to allow the discharge to increase as the lake level rises until a flow of 1,000 c.f.s. is reached and then to hold the river at the level then attained.

Mr. Morton realized that this might cause serious flooding in the valley between Okanagan and Osoyoos lakes.

"If the estimated inflow into Okanagan lake of 400,000 acre feet proves to be correct the proposed regulation of the discharge should result in the level of Okanagan lake not exceeding the upper limit of the desired control range of 102.50", Mr. Morton considered.

Flood Relief Fund Concert Friday Night

Entire proceeds from the Summerland Town Talent show being staged in the Youth Centre tomorrow night will go to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, program arranged Mr. Garnet Peters has announced.

This concert is being centered around those who have taken part in the Town Talent show sponsored by local merchants over Radio Station CKOK in Penticton.

Summerland Band, with majorities, will be prominent in this concert program. A white elephant grab bag is to be another feature which should prove amusing.

Among the many artists who will be on the program tomorrow night are the following: Ladies' trio, Mrs. H. Milne, Mrs. Flora Bergstrom, Mrs. W. C. Wilkin; vocal solos; Mrs. Alma Fudge, Mrs. H. R. Whitmore, Charlie Rennie, Ronald Hodgson; duet, Sautley Gardner and Shirley Schumann. Mrs. Ken Boothe and Mrs. Whitmore; Keith Sayers and his guitar; trumpet solo, Johnny Betuzzi; piano solo, Miss Kay Hamilton; monologue, Mrs. Mayne; acrobatics, Wendell Schwab and partners. An orchestra will also be in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Elsey returned last week from a motor trip to the Cariboo where they visited their daughter, Miss Joyce Elsey.

Many Changes Noted in Business Life of Summerland District

Several important changes in business ownerships in West Summerland have taken place in the past few weeks, the sale of the Westland Coffee Bar and milk and cream delivery business last weekend by B. J. Duxbury and Mait Kersey being one of the most discussed.

The Westland Coffee Bar has been acquired by Olive and Harry Hackmann, formerly of Penticton where the latter was employed with Mac & Mac Ltd.

Mr. and Mrs. Hackmann took over their new proprietorship on the King's Birthday, Mr. Duxbury and Mr. Kersey preparing to go to Salmon Arm where they have already made plans to inaugurate a 5c to $1 Store similar to that established last fall here by Edith and Gerry Hallquist.

The Westland milk and cream delivery business has been acquired by Mr. Norris Laidlaw, well-known Trout Creek resident, who will continue to use the Westland premises on Hastings street as his headquarters.

Also this week the sale of Hemingway's Taxi by William Hemingway to Mr. Tom Scott, former Peachland resident and a veteran

An urgent invitation has been sent by the executive to Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, dominion minister of agriculture, and it has been recommended to him that if he cannot attend because of the pressure of the parliamentary session, he delegate one of his executive assistants to be present and listen to the information that will be submitted.

The BCFGA has forwarded to Hon. Mr. Gardiner the minutes of its directors' meeting on May 18 and the provincial horticultural news letter of May 27 as these records contain reliable and comprehensive information regarding the extensive killing of fruit trees during the exceptionally cold weather of last winter and the effect of this destruction on the 1950 crop.

Co-operating to secure exact information, practically up to the day of the conference, are the members of the horticultural division of the B.C. department of agriculture, directed by Ben Hoy, Kelowna, supervising horticulturist, and all the members of the Okanagan Federated Shippers' Association.

Also attending the conference, which will be held in the board room of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., will be members of the provincial legislature from the tree fruit area, extending from Kamloops to Creston; representatives of the federated shippers; Wm. Sands, president of the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union, and key men in the BCFGA including the executive, Arthur K. Loyd, president and general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.; G. A. Barrat, chairman of the B.C. Fruit Board; A. G. DesRivais, president of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd.; G. A. Lundy, president of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Mutual Hail Insurance Company, and others.

The issues that will be submitted to the conference will include the practically complete loss of the soft fruit crop for 1950, the reduced crop of certain apple varieties, the pulling out of trees that must follow and the absence of revenue to growers between the time of re-planting and the first crops from the replanted trees. The interval may extend from five to seven or eight years, it is stated.

Building Hits New High at $400,000 Mark

In just five months, building permits in Summerland have hit a new record high of $400,245 with the month of May showing a sharp increase in value over the corresponding month in 1949.

However, the number of construction jobs underway in the five month period is down sharply from last year, being only 51 this year against 70 in 1949.

At the end of May in 1949, 70 permits had been issued for $193,415, including the new co-op packing house construction and renovation. This year's permits, of course, include the new junior-senior high school construction at $310,000.

For May, ten new dwelling permits were issued for a value of $23,350, the biggest dwelling spurt to be seen here in any one month. One new commercial building was started at $7,000 value and six permits for alterations and additions came to $1,445.

of two wars has been announced. Mr. Scott intends to take over actual operation of the taxi business as soon as his licences arrive from Victoria.

In lower town, in the former premises of the Lakeside Inn, now renovated completely, Mrs. Yvonne Wignall has commenced the Yvonne Shop, carrying a line of dry goods, children's and ladies' wear.

Last Thursday, a new hairdressing establishment was opened in West Summerland in the Clough Bakery block, upstairs. Miss Winnie Appleton, formerly of Kelowna, is operator of this new establishment which is believed will fill a much-needed gap in the business life of the West Summerland area.

Some weeks ago, the King-Pin Bowladrome, operated by Mr. Aha Balloum, was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Woods, who came here from Vancouver and who have already made a wide circle of friends in the community. Mr. Woods is an RCAF veteran of World War II.

Mr. Balloum left Summerland for Saskatchewan where he intended to assist his brother in planting his crop.

Fire Siren Now Rings On Dial 2000

Under no circumstance should anyone dial the number 2000 unless they wish to summon the fire brigade for the purpose of putting out a conflagration.

This is the message of Reeve C. E. Bentley and Fire Chief Ed Gould following installation of automatic equipment at the fire hall and connected with the fire alarm siren last Thursday.

While the equipment was being hooked up one person insisted on telephoning 2000 seeking information regarding the fire alarm.

Every time this person rang 2000 the siren sounded again. The result was much confusion in the business area.

Now that the automatic relay system has been installed the siren will sound automatically anytime the number 2000 is dialed. Special telephones in the homes of seven firemen also ring automatically when 2000 is dialed.

Unless there is a fire to be put out do not dial 2000.

Party of Hundred To Camp Overnight

On June 27, a party of 102 touring YMCA members from Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and Portland are expected to camp overnight at Camp Sorec, experimental station beach.

Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce has been asked to provide accommodation for this party and has already made arrangements for Camp Sorec which will be opening shortly afterwards for the full summer camping season.

The YMCA group plans to visit Banff and Lake Louise and tour through the Okanagan on the return portion of their trip, stopping to inspect the experimental station.

Rossland Tigers Defeat Red Sox 2-1 in Kiwanis Junior Tourney

Rossland Tigers, champions of the Kootenays, emerged victors of the Kiwanis junior baseball tournament staged at the Living Memorial athletic park, Summerland, on the King's Birthday, Monday, June 5, when they eked out a narrow 2-1 win over Summerland Red Sox.

Victory was not certain until the ninth frame when the visitors from over the mountains to the east shoved across the winning tally. In the first game Red Sox were lucky to win 3-2 from Princeton while Rossland trimmed Penticton Chiefs 8-1 in the other preliminary.

Summerland Kiwanis Club staged an excellent junior ball tournament Monday and besides the ball games various guessing contests were staged.

When Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh won the softball when he guessed Keith Elliott's weight almost to the pound he lined all youngsters in the park 10 and under along the first-base line and threw the prize ball into the field. The wild scramble for the ball was a crowd-pleaser.

Brawner's Lone Score
Left-hander Bolsvert of Rossland was in complete mastery of the final game, with the exception of the fourth frame when Chuck Brawner lined a triple to center-field and was scored by Kato's single for the only Red Sox score.

Tiger Captain Campbell at short stop was a tower of strength defensively and saved half a dozen situations with faultless play. Jankola at third and Hackett, catcher, were other standouts for the visitors.

Former Penticton junior hurler Al Campbell, who has joined Red Sox ranks, did a masterful job for the local lads but Lady Luck took a hand in his defeat.

Tigers knotted the count in the seventh when Walters singled and came across on Thomas' sharp clout.

In the ninth, Thomas again singled to left field, advancing Jankola to second. Dunham's throw in was faulty and both runners advanced. Bolsvert hit a high fly to right field where Daryl Weitzel gathered it in and made a perfect throw to the infield. However, the ball bounced high and Bob Weitzel, catcher, was not expecting such a hop, with the result that the ball went to the screen and Jankola scored from third for the winning run.

Princeton lost a tough one the hard way in the opening encounter. Leading 2-1 going into the final stanza, with two down, Daryl Weitzel walked on a 3-2 pitch, stole second, was advanced to third when Brawner's grounder was misplayed by Reimer at second and then was allowed home for the tying run when Umpire McCargher ruled that Catcher Lumborg stepped out of his box in attempting to receive a pitched ball. Dr. Hans Selye, above, the celebrated medical research scientist at the University of Montreal, is on the track of an "X factor" which may have profound implications for the future of medicine, he said at a press conference in connection with the publication of his new book "Stress."

Elderly Lady Had Lived 35 Years In Summerland

Only a scant eight days before she would have celebrated her 94th birthday, Mrs. Anna O'Mahony passed away in the Summerland hospital on Friday, May 26. She would have been 94 on June 3 as she was born in England on that day in 1856.

The aged lady had lived fifty years in Canada, 35 of them having been spent in Summerland.

She is survived by one son, J. E. (Jack) O'Mahony, secretary of the Summerland General Hospital and president of the Summerland Board of Trade; one sister and two brothers in England.

Funeral services were held from St. Stephen's Anglican church on Monday, May 29, at 2:30 o'clock with Canon F. V. Harrison officiating. Interment was in the Anglican cemetery with the Summerland Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Four Okanagan Bands To Present Mass Concert At Experimental Station

Complete with new uniforms, Summerland's Band has now lined up a series of important concerts which will take them well into the summer months. The band will appear in Penticton for the July 1 Gyro sports day and again at the Peach Festival.

Of special interest this month is the massed band concert which will be staged at the experimental station lawn on Sunday, June 25, commencing at 2:30 o'clock and featuring bands from Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna and Vernon.

Kamloops and Oliver also intended to appear here but conflicting engagements on that weekend prevented arrangement.

Mr. Herb Pohlmann, Summerland Band conductor, stated yesterday that final arrangements for this massed band concert were made at the weekend with the other three Okanagan bands.

Each band will be in uniform and together will provide a splendid concert. Later, each band will provide music as a single unit on the experimental station lawn.

It is anticipated that a large crowd of persons from all over the Okanagan will gather at this most prominent beauty spot for this concert.

The Summerland Band appeared on Monday, June 5, the King's Birthday, for the first time in most of the new uniforms. Smart grey slacks with black piping, white shirts, wine-colored ties and blue caps with black band showed excellent fitting.

Only portion of the uniform which has not arrived is the new double-breasted blue serge coats with brass buttons.

The coats are expected to arrive any day from the east as they have been shipped.

Many Other Engagements
On July 1 the Gyro Club of Penticton has requested the Summerland Band to appear for the annual Dominion Day sports there.

The following Saturday, July 8, the band will take part in the Crowning of the Queen ceremony to be staged by the Summerland Board of Trade at the Living Memorial park playground.

Then, on Sunday, July 16, the band is being transported by the local board of trade to Grand Coulee Dam to play at the baseball game between Summerland Merchants and the American town.

Then follows the band's first appearance in the annual Penticton and District Peach Festival.

Last Monday evening, following the baseball games, the band appeared at the park playground, played several numbers before an enthusiastic audience and paraded along the West Summerland business streets with the young majorettes strutting in front.

From all sides have come words of appreciation for the splendid music being provided by the Summerland Band and now that the musicians are suitably attired it is anticipated they will be in more constant demand.

Kelowna Turns Down Beer Parlors

KELOWNA — For the second time in 18 years residents here turned down a plebiscite for beer by the glass to be sold in hotels within the city boundaries. Vote was 2,438 in favor and 2,188 against. The affirmatives just missed obtaining the necessary 55 per cent majority, the percentage being 52.70.

Winfield was more emphatic against beer by the glass. There were 142 people in favor and 353 against.

John Bennest Succeeds Les Rumball As President of Junior Chamber

John Bennest, civic affairs director for the past year, was elected president of the Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting held at the Nu-Way Annex on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Bennest succeeds Charter President Les Rumball. Fred Walker was named vice-president. Ted Weeks will be recording secretary. Don Clark continues as secretary and Frank Kuroda as treasurer.

New directors for 1950-51 are Robert Beasdale, Allen Elsey, Gerry Hallquist, Mel Ducommun and Al McIntosh.

An important decision made at the June meeting was to take charge of cleaning up Peach Orchard beach this year and erecting some picnic stools and tables. It was explained that the bathhouse is in need of paint.

The municipal council is prepared to supply materials if the Jaycees will undertake the work. President Rumball explained and the meeting agreed to devote the necessary time.

Will Crown Queen Here On July 8

Summerland is to have a Queen crowned with all due pomp and ceremony... a queen who will represent the community at the Penticton and District Peach Festival.

Preliminary plans for the crowning ceremony were made Tuesday evening by a board of trade committee which chose Walter Toews as chairman.

It is planned that Teen Town will choose a girl who will be crowned as Miss Summerland at the Living Memorial park playground on Saturday evening, July 8.

Usually, the queen is chosen at the annual board of trade spring fair but as this event was not held this spring the setting has been altered.

1949 Queen Merle Heavysides will place her crown on the Teen Town choice on that evening.

It is hoped to have Maypole dancing and several musical items for part of the evening's program, with the Summerland Band in attendance. The Summerland girls' choir under Miss Kay Hamilton is also being asked to participate.

Bingo will be underway later in the evening to attract the oldsters who wish to participate while a refreshment stand will also be in operation. The trade board committee is also arranging a raffle and plans to give away a Sunbeam Mixmaster.

LACK OF PUBLIC INTEREST SHOWN

Formal notice which was agreed upon recently by the Summerland Cemetery Committee and which has gone out to all organizations which originally showed an interest by naming representatives to work on the group is as follows:

"Whereas the Summerland Cemetery Committee has been in operation for over three years and to date has been unable to effect any substantial improvement in the cemetery, we feel that his committee should be disbanded. It is also felt by this committee that lack of public interest does not warrant our continuing."

No vote on this motion, which was moved by E. H. Bennett and seconded by Dr. James Marshall, was taken at the last meeting but a decision will be made at the next meeting to be held on June 20 in the St. Andrew's church hall.

were suggested by the meeting and are to be considered by a Jaycee-council group.

Due to lack of funds, the Jaycees turned down the suggestion that they enter a Summerland queen in the Lady of the Lake pageant at the Kelowna regatta.

John Bennest reported that on the two main cleanup days last month 80 calls were made by the Jaycees and 14 truckloads of refuse hauled away from private homes. He praised the work of his fellow Jaycee members and was enthusiastic concerning the co-operation his committee obtained from the municipality.

In the course of the campaign several suggestions were made for augmenting the cleanup drive which may well be added to the program in 1951, he thought.

Mr. Bennest also praised Mr. Weeks for his cleanup drive in the schools, where classes were organized to report on their cleanup activity at home.

It was suggested that an information bureau, especially for fishermen and hunters should be established in the business section, preferably at Bert Berry's Sports Centre.

Jaycees End First Year

UNDER the guidance of Les Rumball, Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce is coming to the end of its first year of community activity in this district. This week, John Bennest was selected to succeed Mr. Rumball when the new year commences after the summer recess.

Summerland Jaycees have captured the imagination of local citizens and if members continue to show present enthusiasm and ability to work for the benefit of the community they will continue to grow and prosper.

President Rumball has shown outstanding ability and energy on behalf of these younger businessmen of Summerland. He has sparkplugged most of the activities and his drive has carried many affairs to a successful conclusion.

In the recently-concluded Beautify Summerland campaign sponsored by the Jaycees in a similar manner to other communities across Canada, John Bennest showed his ability as an organizer and it was no doubt due in a large part to his carrying this campaign to a successful conclusion last month which resulted in his elevation to the presidency.

Development of public speakers, giving confidence to young men to speak their minds intelligently before an audience and instilling public spirit into those who are starting to take their place in the community are two important functions of Jaycee life.

A splendid groundwork has been laid by the local Jaycees in this first year and the organization is confident that under its new president, John Bennest, the good work can be carried on even more successfully than in the past.

The Okanagan Faces a Struggle

RECENTLY, Councillor Eric Tait sounded a grave warning to the council and to the community at large regarding the damage which resulted in orchards during last winter's sub zero recordings.

He echoed the opinion expressed by grower leaders in other parts of the Okanagan that a state of emergency exists among growers of soft fruits such as cherries, apricots and peaches.

Not only have these growers suffered a severe loss of crop for this year but many trees have had to be cut back to such an extent that it is estimated the Okanagan will not reach its 1949 soft fruit crop production for another eight years.

For a large number of growers the situation is serious. For the community as a whole the loss in payroll this year is severe.

Compensation for individual grower loss is beyond the realm of the municipality. There is a possibility that Ottawa and Victoria may agree that a state of emergency exists amongst certain orchardists and produce some form of financial relief for those growers who have lost a great number of trees and with them most of their livelihood for the next few years.

Every grower has an individual problem in this depressed state in which the industry finds itself. The number of growers actually wiped out are few in number, but the number in need of some type of assistance in the emergency is considerable.

But even in the face of this condition we would like to temper Mr. Tait's remarks with the observation that we cannot afford to mark time. The community has to progress or it will fall behind in its public works and utilities' expansion. We are not in complete agreement with Councillor Tait that the wisest course is to cut every expenditure to the bone and be content to mark time.

The future of this community and the Okanagan generally is too great to allow us to bow down completely in the face of the present emergency.

In the past the Okanaganite has shown a great tendency to "get by" even in the face of catastrophe. We have faith in the grower of the present to be able to respond as readily.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Despite temporary depression in the fruit industry, the Okanagan remains a pretty good country to live in, and at this time of year it looks its very best. Lawns, orchards, hills, and the pines, and poplars on them, all are fresh and green and everywhere you look there is a veritable feast for the eyes.

True, it doesn't fill the stomach; you can't eat scenery, as the materialists are quick to point out. But on you pitiable materialists, what would life be like if all the intangibles were removed and only your beloved "practical" things left? Earth without scenery, trees without leaves, houses without homes, sex without love, business without credit, acquaintances but no friends, cars but no safe place to leave them—the list is endless.

And all these things—scenery, beauty, love, friendship, trust, credit, honesty, reliability, safety and the rest—are as immaterial as the human soul itself.

"You still can't eat scenery" insists the materialist.

No? A week ago we chose the longer of the two beautiful routes we have to Penticton, and drove along the Green Mountain road. It was very beautiful that day, and the scene was in no way spoiled by the sight of Indian wagons and unhitched horses in many open meadows, and Indian men and women wandering slowly across the grass. They seemed so natural, so leisurely, that they fitted into their surroundings as our hectic hasty cars and persons never do. But why were they carrying sticks and every now and then poking something into or out of the ground with them? Again and again we saw and wondered until finally curiosity got too much for us and we stopped and approached a young Indian couple.

The dark-skinned lady moved shyly away, the man stopped and sat back—on what, we did not know. All around us the dry ground, in which the sparse green grass was making a brave struggle, was carpeted with the rubbery stems and lovely rose-like pink flowers of the rock-rose or spatum—what is called in the United States, where they named a mountain range after it, the bitter-root.

It was these, the Indian admitted quietly, that they were digging: not all of them, just the occasional very largest one. We had known they used them for food; at our obvious interest he thawed out a bit and told us more details.

The "stick" he carried turned out to be a strong iron bar, with a curved chisel point and a wooden Tee handle, which made it not a bad thing to sit back on—something like the Walk-or-sit sticks which every rich English sportsman used to take to a meet or shoot, don't you know. For digging rock-roses it was ideal; the Indian merely stuck the point under the plant he chose, pressed the handle down, and easily pried his prey out of the tough dry soil.

The roots are fairly bulky, and dark brown in color, but our new friend showed how one could easily strip off that brown skin with the fingers, leaving the snowy inner root bare. The crown and stems were then snapped off, and the root added to his store carried in a gunny sack draped from his belt in front. He told us the roots are steamed, rather than boiled, to cook them; elsewhere we had learned that they are often stored for later use, also. Since they take only the largest roots, it looks as though this wild harvest won't materially decrease our supply of these beautiful wild flowers in the future, any more than it has in the past.

We could hardly wait till we could dig a few roots for ourselves, take them home and cook them to see what they were like. The taste was not thrilling; they are slightly bitter, as their name suggests, and rather starchy. But if people were hungry and had nothing else, they'd be mighty acceptable food.

Nor is the rock-rose our only wild flower whose roots are edible; Indians used to eat those of our wild sunflower, and yellow-bells and mariposa lilies, too.

So beauty has its practical side and the materialists are again confounded; you can eat scenery after all.

ratepayers to borrow $15,000 on the credit of the municipality to augment the generous donation of $10,000 by Mrs. Van Allen and erect a new hospital. Financial assistance is also being asked of the government.

Nick Solly Finds Snake in Sprinkler

Orchardists come across some strange things at times as they go about their daily tasks but not many have ever encountered a rattlesnake while uncoupling a sprinkler.

Last week, Nick Solly was doing just that on his orchard on the sandhill and much to his surprise a two and a half foot rattler slid out of the sprinkler pipe when he uncoupled the length.

The snake had been dead for some time and as Mr. Solly has not seen a rattler in the vicinity of his orchard for many years he believes the reptile must have been carried some distance in the irrigation main flume before arriving in his sprinkler pipe.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
June 4, 1920

As the construction program is almost completed municipal council has decided to dispense with the services of the engineer at the end of June.

Rev. Mr. Livingston has been assigned to the Summerland Methodist church.

First annual summer school for teachers will be held at UBC this summer.

Plans for a one-room school building, of a temporary nature and easily convertible into a dwelling are being considered by the school board at a cost of $2,000.

Permission will be sought from

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

The concert has now come and gone and everyone feels due for a rest. The troop wishes to record its appreciation for the generous support of the citizens of Summerland in buying tickets and turning out to see the boys put on their show.

Final returns are not all in but it appears that over $100 was netted for Troop funds. A few boys have not yet turned in their ticket money and parents are urged to see that this is done immediately so accounts can be finalized. The ticket money should be turned in to Mr. "Hilly" Smith at Smith & Henry's office.

Owing to conflict with exams and the probability of bad weather the weekend camp schedule for this weekend June 9, 10 and 11 has been postponed until June 23, 24 and 25, after exams. The summer camp will be from July 27 to August 3 according to present plans.

Notices: Next meeting Tuesday, June 20 at 7 p.m. Everyone should be present to discuss weekend camp. Lists of dues, owing are being supplied to patrol leaders and all boys are asked to make an effort to get their dues paid up to date before next meeting. Duty patrol, Hawks.—D. V. Fisher.

GUIDE NEWS

The Youth Centre and grounds just buzzed with activity during last Friday's meeting of the Guide company. Two thirds of the evening was devoted to tests for second class badges which all Guides are required to hold in order to attend summer camp.

Twelve Guides passed the fire lighting test while others passed first aid, bedmaking, health rules, safety and nature.

Patrol leaders and Seconds discussed, with Guiders, the forthcoming broadcast which Summerland Guides are presenting from CKOK Penticton on Saturday at 6:30 p.m. These leaders also planned details of the Guide display forming part of Saturday's Hobby Show.

Twenty-three excited Guides will be kept busy the latter part of this week, cleaning and polishing parts of their uniform in preparation for the weekend visit with Wenatchee Camp Fire Girls. Guides from Penticton and Oliver will also attend this visit. District Commissioner Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh will accompany the girls together with a lieutenant from Penticton and Guide from Oliver.

Patrol points now stand as follows: Bantams 125, Bluebirds 120, Robins 116, Swallows 116, Thrush 68, Canary 65, Forget-Me-Not 60.

Teen Town

The parents' social held last Saturday night at the Youth Centre was a total success. Special thanks to Leighton Nesbitt for acting as master of ceremonies. He did a swell job. Thanks go, also, to all those who brought cakes and cookies.

During the intermission, Les Gould, in the absence of Mel Monro, talked for a few minutes to the adults, about the importance and object of Teen Town.

The highlight of the evening was the parents' entertainment, Truth and Consequences, in which the following fathers participated: George Washington, Les Gould, Charles Nesbitt, Earle Wilson, Lacey Fisher and Charles Steuart. Mr. Fisher and Mr. Steuart were the only ones that answered their questions correctly.

The rest had to pay consequences. Mr. Washington had to dance with a broom, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Nesbitt had to sing "My Dreams are Getting Better all the Time", and Mr. Gould had to get down on the floor and imitate a dog drinking water.

Following the entertainment, Mayor Doreen Steuart presented Jack Dunham and "Spud" Kita with honorary membership cards.

Dancing to Ken's Men concluded the evening. The lucky winners of the elimination dance were Mrs. George Washington and Joe Thompson.

Don't forget, if you have a hobby that you would be willing to exhibit in the Teen Town section at the Hobby Show on June 10, contact Dave Wright.

Veterans' Allowance Applications Can Now Be Considered in B.C.

Addition of approximately 1500 Imperial, Commonwealth and Allied forces veterans to the ranks of war veterans' allowance recipients in B.C. and much speedier handling of all WVA applications are forecast as a result of two amendments to the WVA Act passed in parliament last week.

"At present there are over 7800 WVA recipients in B.C., including some 1100 widows and orphans, which is about 25 percent of the Canadian total," DVA District Administrator W. G. H. Roaf, Vancouver, has stated.

"New applications are being received here at the rate of approximately 100 a month. We expect this figure will be greatly increased, for the next few months at least, with the extension of eligibility to Imperials with over 20 years residence in Canada."

Mr. Roaf stated the amendment providing for decentralization of WVA adjudication, giving DVA district offices authority to make decisions in all cases, would cut in half the time now required to put an application into effect. Previously, applications had to be forwarded to Ottawa for action by a central WVA board.

Veterans Affairs Minister Milton F. Gregg, VC, explained in the House of Commons during debate on the amendments that decentralization was necessary because of the "constantly increasing volume of WVA business."

He said boards set up in the 18 DVA districts across Canada will be empowered not only to authorize payment of the allowance, but also to review decisions and to increase or decrease awards in the light of new circumstances.

Members of the central board in Ottawa will continue as an appellate division, hearing appeals in all cases and reviewing decisions made by districts.

Two Campaigns Close Officially

Russell Underhill, Vancouver, provincial campaign manager for the Conquer Cancer 1950 campaign, has written to J. E. O'Mahony, local campaign manager, thanking him and his assistants for the marvellous response of local citizens to this drive.

The cancer drive, organized through the Kiwanis Club of Summerland with a house to house canvass, which had never been tried before, realized a total of $1,027.05, three times as much as was raised in 1949.

Final figures for the Canadian Red Cross drive have now been released by Jack Dunsdon, campaign manager here. This drive realized $2,696.47 down somewhat from the $3,000 objective.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thornthwaite and Mr. and Mrs. J. Penketh motored to Vancouver for a holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Thornthwaite returned this week and Mr. and Mrs. Penketh will remain for a little longer vacation.

Canadians Deserve Something Better Say Social Crediters

"We are here because we are satisfied, because we believe that the people of Canada should get something better than they have had in the past," declared W. G. Gillard, chairman of the public meeting called for the IOO! hall last Thursday night by the B.C. Social Credit League.

Mr. Gillard, who said that the half million unemployed in Canada last winter doesn't make sense, introduced Hugh Shantz, Vernon, president of that city's Social Credit group and Lyle Wicks, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, Vancouver.

Social Credit stands for ownership by the people and not by order-in-council, declared Mr. Shantz, in explaining that his organization is the antithesis of socialism, which stands for government ownership.

Answering the question, "What is Social Credit", Mr. Wicks declared that this political faith is "a way of life or a form of society which recognizes the supremacy of the individual."

He claimed that this province is not getting the results it should from its governments in Victoria and Ottawa. He advocated the "pay as you go" policy as adopted in Alberta, which province has not borrowed for capital expenditure since 1935, he said.

Mr. Wicks even advocated building roads only as the revenue of the province can allow each year.

He advocated the return of provincial rights which he claimed were surrendered to Ottawa in 1947. A policy of decentralization is needed in Canada and here in B.C., he declared.

About 35 persons attended this political rally.

"Lonesome-Like" to Be Produced Here

Mr. Lacey Fisher and the cast of Lonesome-Like, the play in which Mr. Allen Elsey won the cup for the best male actor in the South Okanagan drama festival held at Oliver in May will repeat their performance in the Youth Centre following the John Conway Puppet Show which is scheduled for Friday evening, June 23, sponsored by the Guide Association.

The play, which is directed by Mr. Fisher, has Mrs. R. G. Russel, Mrs. W. F. Evans, and Mr. W. C. Wilkin, as other members of the cast. Mrs. Russel and Mr. Wilkin are experienced players who have delighted Summerland audiences before, and Mrs. Evans comes as a new player who gives a sympathetic portrayal of her part.

Mr. Elsey was cited by the adjudicator, Mr. Ian Dobbie, director of the Vancouver Little Theatre as "showing great promise".

Rebekahs Entertain Oddfellows Party

On Monday evening, May 29, members of the Rebekah lodge entertained the Oddfellows and their wives.

It was party night for everyone and all entered into the spirit of playing games and generally having a good time.

Plans for the evening were made by the entertainment and social committee and following the delicious refreshments served, there was dancing for those who cared to stay.

Those largely responsible for the party plans were Mrs. E. Hannah, Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. Stanley Taylor, Mrs. L. Shannon and Mrs. B. T. Washington.

Penticton Riding Club Entertained

About twenty members of the Penticton Riding Club enjoyed a picnic luncheon at the beach home of Capt. and Mrs. A. M. Temple, Trout Creek, on the King's Birthday, Monday, June 5.

It was a beautiful day for the ride up over the hills from Penticton, and down to the lake where the horses were rested during the luncheon period.

Later the party rode back to Penticton taking again the little used old road that was at one time the main line of communication between Summerland and Penticton.

New Slate for Singers - Players Club in 1950-51

A complete new slate of officers was elected on Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Summerland Singers' & Players' Club, Mr. Stan Gladwell replacing Mr. A. K. Macleod as president.

Mrs. Flora Bergstrom is the new vice-president and Mrs. Nan Watt is secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Ethel McNeill of Penticton is singers' representative on the executive and Mrs. Ivy Mason is players' section representative. Mr. Macleod as past president continues on the executive.

Mr. Keith Sayres entertained meeting with recordings he made of the singers' section radio broadcast of Iolanthe over the Summerland Town Talent Show on CKOK.

The singers' section announced that it already has made plans for another Gilbert & Sullivan presentation next spring.

Two more donations were authorized by the annual meeting, $25 going to the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary oxygen tent fund and $25 to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

Previously, $25 donation was made to the Youth Centre and a cup was donated to the South Okanagan drama zone for the best actor at the annual zone-drama festival in Oliver.

Friends Honor Mrs. Clarke Baker

A most enjoyable get-together was held Friday at the home of Mrs. Jack Dunsdon, when teachers and friends of St. Andrew's primary Sunday school department met to honor Mrs. Clarke Baker, who is leaving shortly to make her home in Vancouver, and has been a faithful member of the teaching staff.

After a very happy evening, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Les Rumball, Mrs. Francis Steuart and Mrs. Harry Braddock.

At the close, a picture of Summerland was presented to Mrs. Baker with the good wishes of all present. Besides those already mentioned guests were: Mesdames Art Crawford, Ray Leinor, Harvey Mitchell and Joe Sheeley.

Hold Dog Trials On June 25 at Station Beach

Due to other conflicting events, the local fish and game club decided not to hold the annual sports day this year but will stage its retriever trials on Sunday, June 25, at the experimental station beach. Local dogs will compete and invitations will be extended to dog owners in other parts of the valley to enter their dogs in these trials which proved so interesting to the many persons who attended them last year.

Three land trials and two water trials will be held consisting of single, double and hidden retrievers on land and single and double retrievers on water.

It has been decided to start the trials at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of June 25 and the events are entirely free, the local sports club announced to its membership on Wednesday, May 31, when the regular May meeting was held in the IOOF hall.

Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works, is being invited to Kelowna so that the board of trade can urge on him the necessity of Kelowna-Naramata road construction.

Stating that it would not be possible to put the upper road between Summerland and Peachland into shape for less than $75,000, which cost is prohibitive, S. T. Elliott stated recently after he and W. K. Gwyer, district engineer, had gone over the route.

Rev. H. J. Armitage has gone to the pastorate of the Union church at Rossland.

St. Stephen's church was, the scene of a pretty double wedding on Monday when Mrs. M. G. Wilson's two eldest daughters were married, Miss Helena Hoy Waterman to Mr. Arthur Smith of Kelowna and Miss Ruth Gair Waterman to Mr. John Campbell Craig of Summerland.

Five crates of Governor Wood cherries were shipped on Tuesday by the co-op.

Allen Harris, MA, has just completed a successful year at the University of Illinois. He will receive his doctor's degree in chemistry next year.

Miss Stoner is leaving for California to study poultry ranching methods used there.

Last meeting for the season of the Sunday Evening Club was held on May 28 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Chapman, thus closing an interesting and instructional term for the club.

The attendance has been good throughout the year and there were about fifteen present at this wind-up meeting.

Following the devotional period, which was taken by Mr. Ted Weeks, a social evening was enjoyed.

It is planned to hold a picnic at the home of Miss Joan Appleton, Penticton, on the afternoon of June 18.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the gathering.

GEORGE DUNSDON IS LEADING MARKSMAN

George Dunsdon was leading sharpshooter at the rifle range last Sunday, scoring 95. Ed Gould and Herb Simpson had 93 each. George Pennington 92, Steve Dunsdon 90, F. G. Anderson 89, Doug Price 88, J. McLachlan 87, George Stoll and J. Dunsdon 84.

Scientific Investigation at Hatchery Expected to Mean Great Deal for Sport Fishing

Interesting experiments which will mean much for the continuance of sport fishing in the interior of the province are being conducted by biologists and scientists at the hatchery in Summerland.

Dr. P. A. Larkin, fisheries biologist of the B.C. Game Commission and Dr. Edgar C. Black, of the University of B.C. medical faculty, are the two chief investigators and are being assisted by Miss Margaret Thom, Dr. David Hurn, Mr. W. Wilson and Mr. Charles Lyons.

These investigations will continue throughout the summer months and an interesting resume was given members of the Summerland Fish and Game club at the IOOF hall on Wednesday evening, May 31.

Dr. Black's Study

Dr. Black is investigating the ability of salmonids and coarse fish to extract dissolved oxygen from the water in the presence of varying quantities of carbon dioxide.

It is expected that the results of the experiments will reveal the ability of the various fishes to breathe in their environment. Previous tests performed at fish hatcheries in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Ontario have given some clues as to the ability of the salmonoids to breathe in waters of different temperatures. It is possible that these studies may show up differences in the salmonoids.

Miss Margaret Thom is carrying out investigations on the life history of certain fish parasites, a program that is under the general supervision of Dr. J. R. Adams, department of zoology, UBC. She has now returned to the coast. Life History of Fluke

The investigation deals with the life history of a fluke.

The adult lives in the intestines of a fish-eating bird such as Kingfisher, Loon, Merganser, etc. These minute worms lay eggs which pass out of the bird in the droppings. Should the eggs drop into water and be eaten by a snail they continue their development.

After some time in the liver of the snail the cercariae, or free-swimming larvae escapes from the snail and swims around in the water in search of a fish. When a suitable fish has been found these minute worms attach themselves to the fish with their suckers then proceed to burrow into the fish's skin, where the worms encyst and remain until the fish is eaten by the bird. In the bird the young fluke grows into an egg laying adult, to complete the life cycle.

The encysted worms, or metacercariae, within the fish cause the fish to produce a black pigment which is deposited around each worm. The black spots can be seen and if the finger is run over the skin can be felt as rough spots. These young flukes are not of importance to man as the heat used in cooking the fish will be sufficient to kill them. They do, however, if present in any numbers spoil the appearance of sport fish such as the trout.

Insects and Feeding Habits Mr. Hurn is studying aquatic and terrestrial insects in relation to the feeding habits of trout and hopes to ascertain if a species of B.C. shrimp can be introduced as a food for trout.

Mr. Wilson is investigating insect life as a source of fish food.

Mr. Lyons is engaged in a study of the reproductive capacity of the various age, weight and length groups of trout and a method of determining a lake's population by the age variation of the spawning run. He has now left the hatchery and is continuing his experiments at Beaver lake.

It has been observed that a certain fraction of a fish population spawns first at two years, or first at three years, etc. A fraction may spawn at two and four or three and five years. Therefore, if the total spawning run can be ascertained, then it is possible to determine a lake's population of fish of various age groups by applying this to the total observed spawning.

It is also expected that the nutrition experiments carried out at the hatchery during the past winter on kokanees will be continued with Kamloops trout later in the season by Mr. Stuart Smith of the University of B.C., in addition to other experiments that may be outlined by Dr. Larkin in his survey of the waters of the Okanagan Valley and adjacent areas this summer.

Will Bag Parachute With Rifle at 700 Feet in Exhibition

Conditions permitting, shooting enthusiasts and the general public of the Okanagan and Similkameen districts will see Herb Parsons, one of America's great marksmen, bag a tiny parachute 700 feet in the air, with a high-powered rifle loaded with tracer ammunition.

Parsons' spectacular feat of aerial marksmanship will take place at a free public exhibition at the Penticton rifle range, on Monday, June 19, at 6:30 p.m., it is announced by the B.C. Fish & Game Council which, with the fish and game associations of the Okanagan and Western-Winchester, is sponsoring the performance.

The parachute is fired into the air from a mortar-fired aerial bomb and is riddled by Parsons as it floats to the ground.

Safety in the handling of firearms is as important to Parsons as his spectacular shooting, and his whole program stresses firearm safety as well as entertainment.

Fish Hatchery Releases Trout In Local Lakes

Most of the 200,000 Kamloops trout fingerlings which have been carried in the rearing ponds at the Summerland fish hatchery during last winter have now been liberated in the lakes of the Okanagan Valley and adjacent areas, A. Higgs, fisheries officer in charge of the hatchery states.

Fingerlings from three to seven inches in length have gone into Okanagan, Skaha and Osoyoos lakes and these took most of the stock. Smaller allotments were placed in Otter and Wolfe lakes, Princeton; Mabel and Sugar lakes, Lumby, Alleyn and Kentucky lakes, Merritt; Garnet Valley dam, Summerland and Pillar Lake, Falkland.

Okanagan took 70,000 Kamloops trout fingerlings, Skaha lake took 50,000 and Osoyoos Lake 20,000.

A percentage of the fingerlings for Okanagan and Skaha were marked as a check on growth and migration tendencies, 15,000 going into each lake.

Anglers fishing these two lakes later in the season are requested to watch for marked fish and report any of legal size that are captured, Mr. Higgs points out.

This report should include details as to locality and date of capture; length, weight and sex of fish; and samples of the scales from the side of the body above the lateral line and below the dorsal fin.

Scales may be removed with a jack-knife and stuck to a piece of paper, which should then be folded. Remarks concerning the color and condition of the fish at time of capture will also be appreciated.

Marks used have been the left ventral fin for Skaha lake allotment and the right ventral fin for Okanagan lake.

Once the entire liberation of Kamloops trout is completed approximately 150,000 Eastern Brook trout will be distributed as follows: Twin and Horn lakes, Penticton; Fish lake, Summerland; Madden lake and Okanagan river, Oliver; Mill creek, Kelowna; Gardom lake, Greenrod, and Martin lake, Princeton.

Dunham Loses Ball in Sun, Merchants Lose to Tonasket

With the score tied, two men down and the winning run on the paths, Jack Dunham lost a high fly ball in the sun and it went over his head for a base hit last Sunday at Tonasket to give that town's entry in the Okanagan International baseball league a win 6-5.

That was the actual event which decided the contest but actually several other incidents were equally as responsible earlier in the game.

Sloppy work around second base advanced runners into scoring positions in two instances and Tonasket took full advantage of the situation.

Al Coffey was nicked for three home runs, two by Roy Visser and the third by Robinson, all three going over the fence in left field. The layout of the diamond, as much as any other factor, decided the game in favor of Tonasket.

Most dramatic moment came in the eighth when Tonasket, after tying the score with Visser's second homer, filled the bases. Coffey was yanked and in went young Gil Jacobs of Red Sox fame. H. Visser fled out to Vanderburgh, Ziegler struck out and Jacobs forced Compton to ground out, retiring the side without any more runs.

Merchant's lost a run in the first frame when Vanderburgh hit a beauty to centrefield but strained a tendon in his leg and he only managed to hobble to second. Kuroda's grounder was fumbled at short and a run would have scored if Vanderburgh had been able to reach third as he would have done without his injury.

Visser's First Homer First man to face Coffey was Roy Visser and he proceeded to give Tonasket a big edge with his first homer.

Merchants tied it up in the second when Brawner singled and came home on safe hits by Weitzel and Coffey.

Visser again put Tonasket ahead when he singled, stole second and went to third when George Taylor threw the ball away. Robinson's single scored him.

Robinson's homer started the sixth. Ray Visser walked, stole second and went to third when Coffey threw wildly to second, later scoring on a long fly to left field.

Merchants took control in the seventh with a batting spree which saw Frank Kuroda lace out a mighty triple with the bags loaded. He scored on a passed ball to give the Merchants a 5-4 lead.

Roy Visser's second homer in the eighth knotted the count once more. In the ninth Buchert singled and romped home when Robinson's long fly to centrefield was lost in the sun, going over Dunham's head, and the ball game was over.

Jack and Jill Classes Close for Season

Closing day for the summer vacation for the Jack and Jill kindergarten was on the last day of May, and candy for the children was a special treat that morning.

Both teachers, Mrs. Francis Stewart and Mrs. Howard Milne were present.

Already twenty-four small children have been enrolled for the fall sessions. It is planned to obtain more chairs and tables before autumn classes start and extra instruments for the rhythm band, as well.

When the next classes start Mrs. W. Durick will replace Mrs. Milne as teacher, though Mrs. Milne will continue to instruct the rhythm band. Mrs. Harry Braddick will also continue to assist.

Refused Loan to Buy Orchard So he Now Advises Orchardists

Illustrating the irony of some decisions, J. J. Woods, superintendent of the experimental station at Saanichton, B.C., speaking to the Rotary Club of Summerland Friday night made some observations as to his early history in horticulture in this province.

After World War I he decided to go back to university and graduate in agriculture.

However, Mr. Woods also wanted to buy an orchard under the Soldier Settlement Board scheme. He was turned down and as he had no other means of financing he could not buy an orchard.

So Mr. Woods graduated in agriculture and then he proceeded to go around and advise other farmers who had obtained SSB holdings how to grow the best fruit.

Rotarians laughingly agreed that there was considerable irony to the situation.

Mr. Woods remarked on the local experimental station and other research departments.

"I got a good feeling being around the experimental station and the plant pathology laboratory," he remarked, commenting on the well-kept roads, neat hedges, clean offices and general tidy atmosphere.

were advanced a base each.

This took the heart out of the Princeton lads and Sandy Jomori's hit to centrefield scored Brawner and the game was over.

Jacobs hurled the seven innings of this encounter, striking out six while Grey had eight whiffs to his credit. Each team collected five hits.

Jankola Star Hurler

Jankola, Rossland Tigers' starting pitcher, held Penticton Chiefs to two hits while his teammates put on a 6-run spurt in the fifth to sew up the game and go on to win 8-1 in the other 7-inning preliminary.

Price was on the mound for the Chiefs but he was relieved in the fifth by Getz who held Tigers to one run after putting out the fire.

Jankola went a long way towards winning his own ball game when he hit a three-run homer in the fateful fifth frame. He struck out fifteen Chiefs while Price whiffed 8 and Getz struck out 3.

Al McCargar behind the plate and Wendell Schwab on the paths umpired all three games.

Summerland Plea for Peachland - Penticton Road Work is Endorsed

Associated Boards of Trade of the Southern Interior, at their annual meeting in Cawston last night unanimously agreed to support Summerland Board of Trade's plea to the department of public works to give the reconstruction of the Penticton-Peachland section of Okanagan Highway No. 5 the highest priority.

Delegates from Rutland, Summerland, Naramata, Penticton, Okanagan Falls, Osoyoos, Greenwood, Cawston, Keremeos, Hedley and Princeton re-elected their three major officers.

Harold Mitchell, Naramata was chosen once again as president; with J. A. Jenkins of Princeton as vice-president and W. H. Whimster, Naramata as secretary-treasurer.

Honor Claim For Flooding Of Basement

On the recommendation of Reeve C. E. Bentley, municipal council on Tuesday agreed to honor a claim by A. Briskovich for $100.13 arising out of the flooding of his property immediately after the municipal ditch on the Station road was cut and the water allowed to flow onto private property.

Reeve Bentley declared this was not Mr. Briskovich's fault and he was convinced the complainant had a good case against the municipality.

There would have been flooding under normal circumstances but it would be difficult for the municipality to prove that the diverting of the ditch water had not been detrimental in this instance.

The break in the municipal ditch occurred late in the afternoon and the municipal works crew did not stop to repair the damage but allowed it to continue flowing all night, council was told.

Other members of the council agreed to accept Reeve Bentley's recommendation and authorized payment of the account rendered.

Wheeler Represents Ottawa at Parley

Col. R. L. Wheeler, Ottawa, is representing the Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture today in Kelowna, as the all important fruit industry discussion on loss of trees and crops from last winter's severe temperatures gets under way.

Hon. Harry Bowman, minister of agriculture, is representing the B.C. government.

The fruit industry, through its leaders, is planning to show these government officials that a state of emergency exists in the Okanagan and that some governmental aid should be forthcoming to assist those who have been wiped out.

Town Talent Concert Raises $170 for Manitoba Flood Fund

Thirty-eight "white elephant" prizes were given away as a feature of the concert staged in the Youth Centre last Friday evening on behalf of the Manitoba Flood Relief fund.

Emmece Garnot Peters brought out two "white elephants", mother and daughter, containing the prizes, which were given away to holders of lucky tickets sold to members of the audience of about 200 persons.

Manitoba fund benefitted to the tune of $170 through this concert, as all expenses were the responsibility of the municipal council or the sponsors of the show, the Summerland Town Talent radio show which goes on the air over CKOK each Sunday evening.

Assisting Mr. Peters at the microphone was Reeve C. E. Bentley.

Summerland Band, smartly attired in new uniforms, opened the proceedings with a series of lively band numbers which brought appreciative applause.

Reeve Bentley, in opening the show after the band numbers, remarked that the concert typified the true spirit of Canadianism that a district is financially so hard as the Okanagan after last winter could turn about and assist others in unfortunate circumstances.

Electricians Sign Contract Two Years

Complete agreement has been reached between the electrical workers' union and the municipality over the new wage and hours of work contract which will go into effect for the next two years.

Revelstoke, Kelowna and Penticton have a common agreement with the union but Summerland reached a separate agreement mainly because of the economic situation here. Other communities have other industries besides fruit but here in Summerland the economy is entirely based on fruit.

In the face of severe grower loss, municipal electrical workers here have come to an agreement after receiving the okay by Union Boss Ross at Vancouver.

Seven holidays with pay during the year are now included in the new two-year contract while two new categories are included in the wage scales, being 80 cents per hour for laborer and $9.60 a day for ground and truck operator, a raise of 30 cents for this category.

The municipal application for normal time payment in any eight daylight hours was rejected by the union men in favor of hours 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

Copies of the new agreement are being signed by the municipality and being forwarded to the electrical union headquarters in Vancouver for ratification.

Other municipalities agreed to a seven percent superannuation allowance, it is reported, which has raised remuneration to electricians a total of 10 percent.

D. J. Robbins has traded two houses on the Station road for a 10-acre fruit lot three miles from Keremeos and owned by Phillip Schneider.

Apple Cheques Issued by Co-op

Cheques amounting to $40,000.00 are being distributed this week by the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Association.

This represents a further payment on apples for the season. Final payment will be made as soon as the government subsidy of $2 millions is received by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

Seeks $100 For Jonathan Apple Tree

An interesting legal battle may be on the verge, with the value of one Jonathan tree as the basis of dispute.

Recently, municipal council turned down a claim by F. Wiggenshauser for damages to a Jonathan tree which was destroyed when a pine tree toppled over from municipal roadway allowance in a high wind.

Nineteen years ago Mr. Wiggenshauser asked council's permission to take down the tree but was turned down. None of the council correspondence reveals why he had asked that it be removed.

Now O'Brian & Christian, legal firm is seeking $100 damages from the municipality. If council refuses, then a law suit is threatened.

On the other hand, municipal solicitors Boyle, Aikins & Emerson state that as the tree was growing naturally the municipality is not liable.

Council on Tuesday decided to refer Boyle, Aikins & Emerson to O'Brian & Christian and let the two legal firms endeavor to settle the dispute.

Hundreds Show Keen Interest In AOTS Annual Hobby Show

Tables of rare works of art, of curiously designed exhibits from many parts of the world, of articles which took months of patient work on the part of the exhibitor combined with competitive exhibits in St. Andrew's church hall last Saturday to make the annual Hobby Show arranged by the AOTS club one of the outstanding events of its kind in this community's history.

It was the largest showing of its kind in the post-war years here and drew hundreds of interested spectators throughout the afternoon and evening.

Round the entire room shelves were laden with curios and other exhibits while in the centre of the hall further tables were loaded with interesting exhibits.

Probably the feature exhibit was the replica of Nelson's Monument done in intricate fretwork design by G. P. Patterson. It was one of the outstanding exhibits actually completed by a local resident.

Of special interest along the north side was a series of paintings by Irvine Adams of Summerland, who received acclaim in a recent art gallery showing in Kelowna. Paintings done by or exhibited by Mrs. Rhoda Slater, Mrs. B. Smith, Mrs. F. Tilbe, Mrs. Turnbull and Wilfred Smith complemented Mr. Adams' excellent work.

The picture shown by Mrs. Turnbull was by an artist who exhibited at the Royal Art Gallery, London.

On the centre tables were mainly valued collections gathered together by local residents as a hobby. Here and there were actual models manufactured by the exhibitor such as W. W. Borton's figures manufactured from sheet metal.

Collecting is Hobby

Along side was an English lever watch 100 years old, leather purses made by Mrs. E. Hannah and a collection of horses exhibited by Pat Morrow. E. E. Bates entered a collection of ivory carving while Mrs. Marion Henker showed utility cases.

Miss Doreen Tait's interesting pottery collection viewed with that of Mrs. Blair Underwood and nearby was a coin collection entered by G. G. Peters, along with his own woodwork samples.

A European-costumed doll and other examples of intricate work were exhibited by Mrs. Lapens while Mrs. Amelia Briskovich had on display spinning tools used in Yugoslavia. Harvey Wright exhibited an ancient spinning wheel.

An entire table was devoted to a collection of rocks from Death Valley, Cal., coins and a display of carving from California Redwoods, all the property of Clarke Baker.

Flints, old bones, odd wood formation, bark baskets and other curios were displayed by J. W. Mitchell and George Garrett.

To the left of the main entrance were exhibits of woodwork, by Leo Hoyworth and F. Downs while some intricate crochet work by Mrs. Peters was interspersed amongst competitive items from school pupils.

Hundred Girl Guides Are Given Civic Reception on Visit to Wenatchee Area

Last Saturday morning one hundred Girl Guides from the South Okanagan left for Wenatchee where they were billeted with Camp Fire Girls. Girls from Summerland, Penticton, Naramata, Oliver, Osoyoos and Rock Creek were in the group.

This is the second of what is planned to be an annual exchange visit as part of a project of international good-will and understanding.

Travelling with the girls in the two buses were Mrs. E. A. Titchmarsh, division commissioner, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, district commissioner for Penticton and Summerland, Mrs. H. Hyson, Guide captain, Oliver, and Miss Edith Angove, lieutenant, Penticton.

Last year an exchange camper was sent to Penticton and Wenatchee, and this year it is hoped to have an exchange camper at each of the Guide camps in South Okanagan.

The weather was ideal for the trip and at this time in June the lupins and other wildflowers along the highway were at the height of their beauty.

First taste of lavish American hospitality was at Omak where the party was met by Omak Camp Fire girls who stayed with them while picnic lunch was eaten and who treated them all to "pop".

On the outskirts of Wenatchee the caravan was awaited by Mrs. Mildred Naughten, executive secretary of the North Central Washington Camp Fire girls and Mrs. Nelson Taylor, head of the committee who arranged the trip on the other side of the border.

Plans had been made for the girls to be taken on a conducted tour of the famous Ohme gardens, which as one Guide remarked are "just like fairyland".

At the entrance to the Gardens In The Skies, as they are called, a radio interview - preceded the tour of the garden when officers and girls from various centres told of their home towns and impressions of the trip.

Following this, Mr. Ohme led them along the lovely stone paths explaining points of special interest and later congratulated the leaders on the behaviour of the party giving the girls the freedom of the garden where they wandered about for nearly an hour.

Greeted by Mayor

A little nearer, the Canadians were greeted by Mayor Pohlman and, headed by a police escort and the American Legion band in their brilliant scarlet uniforms paraded through the main street of Wenatchee. Interested spectators lined the way and applauded the blue uniformed Guides who marched smartly along, behind the Stars and Stripes, the Union Jack and their company flags, carried by chosen members. Guides were led by Mrs. Vanderburgh.

The parade ended at one of the lovely shady parks where Camp Fire Girls had assembled to meet their guests. The Guides were brought to attention and sang a verse of the Star Spangled Banner and O Canada before they were dismissed for introductions.

An address of welcome by the mayor preceded each girl being introduced to her hostess.

Supper was served outside with a fire burning in the big stone fireplace which has been dedicated to the Camp Fire Girls of that area.

A concert was held in the Wenatchee high school auditorium when both groups of girls sang and enjoyed companionship and mutual entertainment.

During the late afternoon the leaders were taken to the broadcasting station where they were able to tell the people of Wenatchee at large something of the Canadian Girl Guide movement and

Boys Talk Back To His Worship At Powell Beach

Destruction of municipal property at Powell Beach is continuing even this early in the season, Reeve Bentley informed council Tuesday.

He paid a visit to this popular beach recently and found two Penticton 19-year-olds whiling away the time throwing rocks at a municipal sign.

When His Worship tackled them on their behavior they enquired in no uncertain terms what right he had to interfere. The chief magistrate did not elucidate to the council the manner of his reply.

Tables have been ripped out of the sand, nearly all the signs wrecked and back rests were to be seen floating in the water, he reported.

It was decided that the table legs should be bolted to crossbars and laid in cement at least three feet in the sand.

"Then, if they pry those tables out of the sand I don't know what we can do," one councillor remarked.

Aged Resident Dies At Kelowna After Short Illness

A resident of Summerland for 21 years, Mrs. Agnes Jane Minshull, wife of James Minshull, passed away in Kelowna hospital on Sunday, June 11, at the age of 75 years.

Born in Ontario, the late Mrs. Minshull and her family resided at Russell, Man., for many years before coming to Summerland. Just a month ago, they moved to Kelowna to reside with their daughter, Mrs. A. F. Paget, 1808 Marshall street.

Besides her husband and daughter in Kelowna deceased is survived by one son Russell, in Keremeos and nine grandchildren. Another son, Raymond, died in 1948.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore of the Summerland United churches conducted the funeral service from Days' Funeral Service chapel in Kelowna on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Kiwanis Pledged to Help Others Stresses Lt. Governor Clare Greeley

"Summerland is a better place to live in because it has a Kiwanis Club," declared Clare Greeley, Okanagan, Wash., lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis International division when he paid his official visit to the Kiwanis Club of Summerland at the Nu-Way Annex Monday evening.

The popular Kiwanis officer stressed mainly the good work Kiwanis can do in fostering youth centres, homes for widowed mothers and other such projects which call for some of the milk of human kindness.

"Your kindnesses may not seem very big to you but they are big to the recipients," he stressed. He urged the local members to help somebody else, through united and personal efforts of the club.

He told of Steve Johns, of Kelso, Wash., who could count his friends on one hand until he became interested in a Kiwanis meeting twelve years ago. Deceased by his doctor to die in two years, he is still alive and well, has been president of his club and is a roving ambassador for Kiwanis and the understanding and friendships the club instill.

"Something nice happens to you every day," he reminded his audience. "At the end of the day try and remember what it was. You will feel better."

False Alarm Fire Call Is Traced

Four false alarms from Sunday afternoon to yesterday morning has made the Summerland volunteer fire brigade "hopping mad".

On Sunday afternoon, a voice on the telephone admitted he made a mistake in dialing the fire alarm number 2000.

Tuesday afternoon a false alarm was sounded, no answer greeting the firemen when they tried to find out where the fire was located.

Later that afternoon the siren sounded again and on that occasion a voice said: "Garnet Valley". The fire engine was driven to the end of telephone communication along Garnet Valley without finding any trace of a fire.

Yesterday morning a false alarm was sounded. Joe Biollo, manager of Okanagan Telephone Co. operations here and a member of the fire brigade was able to trace the call and a woman admitted that she had "made a mistake" in ringing 2000.

Domestic Water Project Delayed By Victoria

Provincial officials in Victoria need further information before final approval can be given to the money bylaw for the extension of the domestic water system to the north bench and Crescent Beach areas, council was informed on Tuesday.

Both the council and Water Foreman Kercher are anxious to get ahead with the job and a lengthy list of prospective employees has been waiting an opportunity to be put to work.

However, the council cannot go ahead even with the ordering of materials until final clearance is obtained from Victoria.

Reeve Bentley explained that if the pipe was ordered before the bylaw was approved and some hitch occurred that the work could not proceed then members of the council would personally be responsible for disposal of the pipe at no cost to the municipality.

His Worship has authority to proceed with ordering necessary materials as soon as Victoria gives the green signal.

Accounts totalling $22,467.0 were passed for payment by the municipal council on Tuesday.

False Alarms Are Annoying

JUST what was feared actually came to pass these past few days.

The fire siren sounded an alarm, firemen speeded to the hall, tried frantically to find location of the fire and finally concluded that it was a false alarm.

As a consequence of a hoax or of someone's carelessness, more than a dozen men were inconvenienced at times when they should be relaxing or gainfully employed on regular duties.

Dialing of the number 2000 automatically rings the fire siren and sounds the alarm on seven private telephones installed in firemen's homes.

The fire siren cannot be stopped until a fireman reaches the hall and flicks the switch. As a consequence, when a false alarm is sounded it will wake all within hearing distance of the alarm siren.

These firemen are volunteers whose meagre recompense is hardly enough to pay for clothes they endanger every time they turn out to a fire. These men have volunteered their services to provide a much-needed protection for the entire community.

It is no wonder, then, that they expressed annoyance on three occasions when disturbed by false alarms. Even if we take the charitable view and say that it was not a prankster but somebody who made a mistake in dialing 2000, the situation does not lose its seriousness.

Any person who deliberately turns in a false fire alarm can be considered a public enemy. It is difficult to bring such persons to task for their misdemeanors but it is possible to trace such false calls if caught in time.

Along with most decent-thinking citizens, it is our hope that one of these pranksters will be punished for inconveniencing so many community-service volunteers.

Boost for International Amity

INTERNATIONAL understanding and goodwill were fostered last weekend by the visit of Girl Guides from South Okanagan to Wenatchee and other Washington points. The Canadian girls were thrilled with the visit, they have a better understanding of the mode of life and the similarity of problems existing in Wenatchee and here. On the part of the southern city's people, they had an opportunity to see a group of well-behaved girls, to make new friends across the border and have impressed upon them that the people of Canada are no different to themselves.

The Wenatchee Daily World was so impressed with the "mutual exchange of goodwill fellowship" that it included this editorial in its Saturday edition:

"Today the North Central Washington area is honored by the visit of 100 Canadian Girl Guides as guests of their counterpart in the States, the Campfire Girls.

"The visit marks the second in what we hope will be a permanent custom of mutual exchange of fellowship and goodwill. The Girl Guides will see our beautiful Ohme Gardens, have dinner at Pioneer Park and later enjoy dances and songs around a campfire. Local residents will house the girls in private homes here.

"On their way home Sunday the Girl Guides will visit Grand Coulee dam, the Nespelem Indian reservation and Omak. This fine custom began from the meeting last year at the international border at Croville when a peace marker was dedicated. Later in the season, the two countries and clubs exchanged campers. This practice will be continued, fortunately.

"Here's the best sort of way to promote good international relations and become good neighbors. Few of us realize that Canada, a country of 12,000,000 population, has 85 percent of this population living within 100 miles of the American border. And speaking of that border, there's not a single soldier, battlement, and no barbed wire. You could put the great state of Texas into the province of British Columbia four times and have room left over. But it isn't the size that counts—it's people and their hospitality and understanding. We consider our neighbors across the border the best of friends in peace and war.

"The North Central Washington Campfire Girls' Council and its executive secretary, Mrs. Mildred Naughten, together with Mrs. Nelson Taylor, general chairman of the program, are to be commended for this very constructive project making for international relations and goodwill."

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

It was a relief when darkness cloaked the aching distance and you could dream of a curve or a hill just ahead of the car lights, until what had seemed like a star on the horizon began to grow perceptibly larger and split into two glaring eyes which finally dimmed down and swept by you and left the darkness blacker than before.

A jackrabbit suddenly appeared in the field of the car lights, jumping crazily up and down. To avoid hitting him we braked to less than jackrabbit cruising speed, but he kept dancing back and forth in the lights, hypnotized by their brightness on the gravel road, until we switched them off for a moment and the spell broke and he ducked away in the darkness.

We had been hypnotized too by the distances, the flatness, seeking ever to reach that ever-receding horizon, but finally we gave up and stopped at a small town hotel for the night. It was the typical musty bare room of small hotels everywhere, neither large nor small, dirty nor clean, with porcelain pitcher and basin, a Gideon Bible, a bronze-painted radiator, a rusty stain on the white plaster of the wall.

When we wrenched open the window to let the cool night breeze brush out some of the day's sultry heat, moths flocked in to flutter dizzily around the single electric light bulb. Heavy-bodied creatures with greyish fawn wings measuring perhaps two inches across, whirling about blindly with occasional detours that ended in crash landings on bed, wall or people. We hit out at them irritably with rolled-up newspapers, and they left dusty smudges to mark every place where blows connected.

All of which is to build up an atmosphere usually foreign to this column—sombre, dark, brooding—something to prepare the reader for tragedy and crime, even for murder.

For I could do murder now. The milk of human kindness has curdled in my gullet; my usually gentle, Caspar Milquetoast-ish disposition has hardened to rocky hate. Having within the last ten minutes wiped out seventy young lives, I am not sated, but filled with a monster-like thirst for more.

My eyes glare furiously as I stealthily stir the earth around my prized Russell lupina; my hands are tense and clutched. Ah, another victim! Gloatingly I drag him out, seize two stones, and with one fell blow leave him writhing in green gore. The cutworms have taken too many of my best plants, but now I hunt them down relentlessly every morning, and slowly their numbers are growing less.

Aren't they terrible this year? A dozen or more of the horrible crawling creatures swarming around one defenceless plant, whole rows of peas, lettuce, beans, and corn destroyed; no wonder several sufferers swear that cutworms must "breed right in my garden ground."

Paris Green seems to be still the most effective methods of wholesale disposal of the menace, but there's savage satisfaction in the surer, slower method of hunting them down by hand and crushing them between two stones. Apparently there are insect parasites which work on them too, but some years the cutworms get ahead of the parasites, and we have an epidemic like the present. It may be that our new powerful insecticides have upset the balance between pest and parasite in this, as in other instances too.

And what has all this to do with the little prairie hotel with which this column started? Just this; it was there I learned for the first time that cutworms, instead of "breeding right in my garden," hatch from the eggs laid by those very light-loving moths which we called "millers" and scientists know as noctuids.

So swat all of them you see, next summer. Keep down the weeds around your garden, on which the female noctuids lay their eggs. It might even be possible to get our entomologists to work out some special poison spray formula for these cutworm moths. For their horrible larvae are making murderers of too many peaceful citizens like me; and what if our consciences start troubling us in the dark silences of the night?

Princeton for those who would travel the interior by motor has been severely handicapped. Unless cars are shipped by rail, the motorist from the coast is faced with the long detour by way of passes in Washington State.

Once again the hopes of hydro electric power for the Okanagan are revived with recent reports that the Bridge River Power Co. is preparing for the installation of a large plant with capacity of 175,000 hp, and costing $12 millions.

An extremely pretty wedding was solemnized in the Baptist church, Summerland when Miss Janet M. Brewer became the wife of Thomas MacDonald.

Excavation has started for a building to be erected just west of the West Summerland post office on a site purchased a few months ago by W. Johnston. He intends moving a building he purchased at Midway onto this lot.

Major Leach of Toronto has purchased the J. M. Sutherland property.

Officers of the reorganized Summerland Civilian Rifle Assn. are: Captain, H. Dundas; secretary, C. E. Bentley; executive, F. J. Nixon, C. J. Huddleston and H. C. Howie.

News Letter Indicates All Districts of Okanagan Are Still Viewing Winter Damage

"Apple bloom remained on the trees for an unusually long time this season," the horticultural news letter reported June 7 for Summerland, Peachland, Westbank area. This news letter is issued every two weeks by the provincial agricultural department's horticultural branch, Kelowna.

"Pollination conditions for this crop were good and so far the set seems normal in most areas. The first cover spray for codling moth is now being applied. Most growers are including miticide in this first spray.

"Winter damage is still showing up throughout the area. During the past few days some Rome Beauty and Newtown apples trees have shown signs of wilting and drying up. The wholesale wilting of cherry trees appears to have slowed down and many trees are putting out large green leaves below the wilted portions of the limbs.

"More sheltered parts of the district which suffered little or no tree damage have a good set of cherries.

"Due to the short tree fruit crop there is somewhat more interest being shown in vegetables and small fruits than in previous years. However, the acreage planted to vegetables has not increased very materially, perhaps because of the lack of land for this purpose.

"Cutworms have been a serious pest to commercial growers and home gardeners alike. These pests are more numerous than for many years."

Vernon Area Reports

In the north, the Vernon area reports that damage from winter injury is now more in evidence.

"Many trees came out into blossom and then just withered up and from appearances now, some growers will lose up to 70 or 80 percent of their winter varieties. Delicious appear to be the hardest hit, followed by Jonathan, Rome Beauty, Stayman Winesap, Winesap and Yellow Newtown. McIntosh seem to have come through the winter fairly well although injury is evident in this variety in low lying areas.

"Pear trees appear to be recovering slightly from the winter injury but many trees appear to be wilting."

Kelowna district reports indications of a "good crop of McIntosh apples. Delicious have dropped heavily but there are sufficient left on the trees for a satisfactory crop. Early apples and crabapples have set heavily.

"There is considerable winter injury showing in other varieties which makes it difficult to estimate the crop. The trees are showing more evidence daily of the severe winter. Most mature cherry trees have been so severely injured that they will be removed. Younger cherry trees are in a better condition. Peach trees are almost a total loss. Apricot trees have been severely injured and are showing increased damage daily. The same, to a lesser degree, can be said of prunes.

"Apple trees vary greatly but there is considerable damage in some Delicious blocks and severe injury on the more tender varieties such as Newtown, Stayman, Jonathan and Rome.

"Pear trees are the only ones that have shown any signs of recovery and are looking considerably better than they did a month ago."

"Spotty" Apple Set

Penticton reports that despite one of the heaviest apple blossoms on record, the set at the present time appears to be a "little spotty." Crop is expected to be about the same as last year.

Oliver-Osoyoos shows the same trend as Summerland in that the rate at which many of the injured trees have been wilting has slowed down somewhat in the past two weeks.

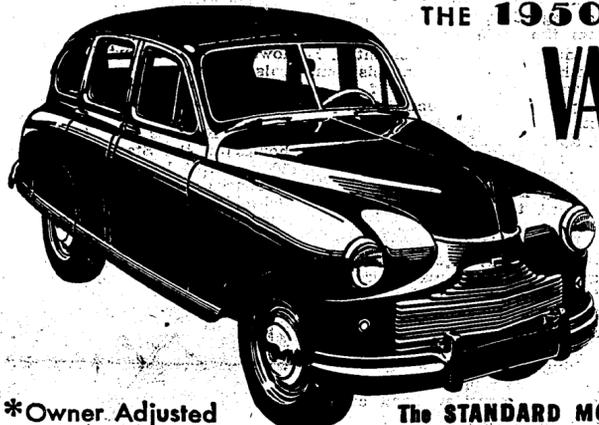

In the Kootenay-Arrow Lakes section the set on cherries is patchy but the trees in most sections appear to be quite healthy and not visibly affected by the severe winter.

Creston had some signs of winter kill after bloom had developed, thus indicating frost injury to the tree trunks. The percentage there is given as apricots 10 percent, peaches 5 percent, cherries less than 1 percent.

Teen Town

Fun was had by all at the Turn-about Dance last Saturday night. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Nesbitt for chaperoning at this event. For the first part of the evening a bean contest was held, which everyone seemed to enjoy immensely. As each girl came in, she was given five beans, and the couple who had the most, at the close of the contest was the winner. The only possible way to get a bean, was to ask a couple that was dancing, a question, and if they answered it by using any form of "yes" they had to give a bean to the other couple. The winners were, Margaret Myers and Kit Muirhead, Julia Hack and Wally Day, and Arlene Raincock and Dave Wright.

There will not be a dance this week because of the high school graduation banquet and dance.

Any girl between the age of 16 and 19, who is interested in competing for the title of "Miss Summerland", please see any member of the council immediately. The contestant crowned "Miss Summerland", will go to the Peach Festival at Penticton in August, and to Vancouver to compete for the title of "Miss P.N.E." All expenses will be paid.

On July 15 there will be a Valley Teen Town Dance here. All proceeds will be turned over to the Hospital. Auxiliary to help pay for an oxygen tent.

CGIT NOTES

The annual banquet of Summerland CGIT was held on Wednesday, June 7, in St. Andrew's hall, attended by mothers and daughters and the executive of the Lakeside and St. Andrew's missionary societies.

The tables were interestingly decorated to represent three United Church mission fields—China, India and Africa. The menu was planned to include foods from each of these countries.

Following the supper president of the CGIT, Arlene Raincock welcomed the guests.

To further carry out the theme of the supper Joan Hong, Louise Gale and Helen Price, CGIT members, read stories on China, India and Africa, respectively.

Everyone enjoyed participating in a game led by Louise Gale. A surprise packet which took some time to unwrap was found to contain marshmallows.

At the affiliation service, Mrs. T. W. Boothe, president St. Andrew's WMS; Mrs. Wm. Caldwell, president Lakeside WMS; Arlene Raincock, president CGIT; Mrs. A. J. McKenzie, superintendent CGIT; members, Midori Matsu, Joan MacDonald, Helen Price and Louise Gale participated. Affiliation badges for mission study were given to the executive of CGIT and others will get theirs at a later date.

A gift of money for mission work was given to Mrs. Boothe to give to the presbytery secretary.

Snow Still Remains at High Levels

During the second half of May there was only a little melting at high elevations throughout B.C., the remaining snow water content being more than twice as high as that of last year, the interim report dated June 1 of the water rights branch states in its snow survey bulletin.

Snow line in the Columbia basin is reported to be between 3500 feet at Revelstoke and 5200 feet at Kimberley.

Precipitation in May was generally below normal, especially in the southeastern section of the province, the Kootenays and Okanagan. Below-normal precipitation can reduce somewhat the expected volume of summer runoff, it is reported. Temperatures up to June 1 had been generally below normal.

"A considerable amount of water, ready to run off, is still stored in the snow at high elevations," the report emphasizes.

Only reading for the Okanagan taken at end of May was on Mission Creek at 6000-foot elevation, which showed 47 inches of snow with a water content of 20.1 inches, compared with 1.5 inches at the same time last year and only four inches less water content than on May 15.

Travel to California On Virus Disease Research Project

Dr. Maurice Welsh, plant pathologist, Walter H. Wilde, entomologist and Dr. C. G. Woodbridge, chemist, left on Saturday for a tour of cherry production areas of Washington, Oregon and California which will take them as far south as Riverside, Cal.

Little Cherry and other virus diseases will be discussed at length by this trio who will join scientists from other Pacific Northwest states who have similar virus problems in their orchard districts to British Columbia.

Last year, this group of scientists came north to British Columbia and found the results of experiments being conducted here. Now the southern portion is being visited to exchange more information.

With the exchanges, scientists on both sides of the border who have the same problems can exchange notes and ideas for the benefit of the producer.

"Flat Top" Aerial Is Answer to Radio Interference

Mr. E. Turner, radio inspector of the department of transport, whose office is in Kelowna, visited the district Thursday and Friday of last week, checking radio interference. Interference located came from the 60,000 volt power line and the noise level was normal for this type of installation, he stated.

dictated no faulty equipment on power line poles. In the Giants' Head area where the power line causes the most interference, a proper aerial is very essential. Several people were visited and in only one case was the proper aerial in operation.

The type of aerial recommended is a single wire "flat top", 40 to 50 feet long and of sufficient height to rise at least 15 feet above the level of the high voltage line. The lead-in to the aerial post of the radio should be taken from the extreme end of the "flat top". This type of aerial should cut down the noise level considerably.

Mr. Turner mentioned that several parties visited did not have radio licences.

If there are radio interferences that are sufficiently continuous to check, Mr. Turner may be contacted at his office in Kelowna.

Reeve Makes Statement

Municipal Office
West Summerland, B.C.
June 14, 1950

Editor, The Review:

The municipal council has spent much time and expense in endeavoring to give the community an efficient and fast system for calls in case of fire and have installed 7 telephones and the siren on the new automatic phone system, all operated when the number 2000 is dialed.

Now we find that we have some irresponsible persons who think it is a joke to dial 2000 just to see what happens, and a number of false alarms have already been turned in. Only yesterday during the council meeting there were two false alarms.

This leaves the council with the only alternative of reverting to the manual control for operating the siren by the first man to reach the fire hall. This means that several very valuable minutes will be lost in sounding the siren and calling out the brigade and the engine turning out to a fire—these might just make the difference in saving a building.

We will offer a reward to anyone giving information that will identify persons putting in false calls.

Number 2000 MUST ONLY be dialed in case of FIRE.

Yours very truly,
C. Edmund Bentley,
Reeve

Four Baby Boys Christened at St. Stephen's Church

An interesting christening service took place Sunday afternoon, June 11, St. Barnabas Day, when four baby boys were christened in St. Stephen's church by Canon F. V. Harrison.

The children were Douglas Calder, son of Mr and Mrs. K. H. McIntosh, whose godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Huva; Ronald James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Huva, and Ronnie's godparents are his mother's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Osler, Montreal; Nigel Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Blagborne for whom Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McIntosh and Mr. Don Blagborne are godparents; and Chris Harry, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fredrickson, whose godparents are Miss Thelma Cork, Mr. Victor Wilson and Mr. T. M. Croil.

Following the service Mr. and Mrs. Huva entertained in the garden at a christening tea for immediate relatives of the first three babies named, and Mr. and Mrs. Fredrickson held a tea at their home at Crescent Beach.

At the Huva home guests included Dr. F. Dickson, Mrs. Roberts, Vancouver, Mrs. Huva's father and grandmother; Mrs. W. Huva, Nella and Esther; Mrs. Phillips, Ipswich, England, Mrs. Bruce Blagborne's mother; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Calder, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wells, Canon and Mrs. F. V. Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Don Blagborne.

The table was covered with a hand-embroidered cloth which was used at Mrs. McIntosh's christening tea and centred with a bouquet of white daisies and pale blue nepeta with pansies in small bowls on either side. On the christening cake was a stork brought from England for the occasion by Mrs. Phillips.

Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Huva and Mrs. Wells poured. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrickson included the godparents, Mrs. Ann Clifford, Mr. Fredrickson's sister, recently here from Ontario and her two small daughters, Carol and Moreen, and Michael Fredrickson.

Joan Bennett Tells WI of 'Home Ec, UBC'

Miss Joan Bennett, first winner of Summerland's scholarship, who graduated with first class honors from UBC this year was the interesting speaker at the regular meeting of the Women's Institute held in the parish hall, Friday afternoon, June 9.

Talking as her subject, "Home Ec, UBC", the speaker told of many of the activities of the course in home economics from an academic and social standpoint.

Her talk was illustrated with charts and examples of work done, such as weaving, tailoring, making of drapes, etc.

Some of the large projects undertaken in term papers were discussed and shown, and courses leading to a BHE degree outlined as well as the fields open to graduates.

Two Wins for Ball Teams Last Night

With Jacobs performing on the mound Summerland Merchants eked out a narrow 6-5 win over Kelowna Red Sox at the Living Memorial athletic park last night. Going into the last of the ninth Vancouver and Taylor tripled to tie the score, Metcalfe's single scoring the latter for the winning run.

At Peachland, Summerland Red Sox had another real tussle, managing to come out on top 4-1.

Chemist will Play Big Part Producing Food for "Brave new World of Future"

"The brave, new world of the future" was glimpsed in some slight measure by Rotarians at their weekly dinner meeting in the Nu-Way Annex last Friday evening when Dr. Allen Harris gave them some insight into methods which will probably be adopted to obtain sufficient foodstuffs for the world's fast-increasing population.

Once chemistry and medicine have advanced sufficiently to solve many of the present-day problems, trees will no longer be used for building or fuel but for food, he prophesied.

Trees Are Important

Trees can be replaced and therefore are much more important in the future economy than such metals as iron and copper.

Trees help the oxygen cycle, the roots absorb salts and sugars can be produced from trees, he stated. Trees produce lignine which is expected to have greater possibilities than cellulose.

Also from trees come nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium.

He termed as too expensive such livestock as cows and pigs, as they only give back a small percentage in food value what they consume. In Germany during the last war, fats were obtained from coal instead of animals.

Fifteen billion persons should be fed comfortably and well on this earth, scientists are now assured, but in that future day to provide sufficient food for everybody such "mainstays" as ice cream and hot dogs will be discarded.

Oxygen Tent Fund Enriched by $50 After WI Meeting

Many items were on the business agenda of the WI at the regular meeting, Friday afternoon, June 9, in the parish hall.

At the request of Mrs. M. E. Colias a copy of Summerland's hospital brief is being sent to Peachland WI for endorsement.

Mrs. T. B. Lott addressed the meeting regarding the hospital auxiliary's efforts to raise funds to buy an oxygen tent for the hospital and the meeting voted $50 to this project.

Mrs. Farnoch asked for volunteers to be at the clothing depot today to receive donations and Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, Mrs. C. H. Elsey, Mrs. George Sheldrake and Mrs. George Woitte volunteered to help.

The Summerland calendar for 1951 was discussed and Mrs. Gordon Ritchie reported on what had been done to date.

Mrs. Macleod reported that a survey of pupils wishing to take agriculture as an option showed that there were not enough interested in taking the course to warrant its being taught.

Acting on a suggestion made by Rusticus in his column in The Summerland Review, Mrs. Macleod asked if a local employment exchange might be part of the work of the central welfare committee and the WI representative on the CWC, Mrs. Farnoch, was asked to take the matter up with members of the committee.

It was left to the home economics committee to plan further courses in the fall, probably with the services of UBC extension who send out instructresses, interior decorating is one of the suggested courses as well as leathercraft and sewing.

Miss Joan Bennett thought that the WI scholarship for a home economics student at UBC whose mother has been a member of a branch of the WI for three years was available to a student in any year.

Mrs. Mair reported for Mrs. McLarty, convener of the citizenship committee, who is in eastern Canada, suggesting that a certificate be presented to young people who are 21 this year, with a suitable presentation ceremony. This was tabled until a later date.

Cannot Stop Travel On Giant's Head Road

There is nothing the council can do to stop through traffic using Giant's Head municipal road which was completely hard-surfaced last year.

Such was the council reply to a board of trade query this week suggesting that the road was not constructed to handle big, heavy trucks such as are utilizing it on through valley traffic now.

The municipal council intends to have this road classified as a secondary provincial highway so that the government will share in its upkeep.

WOULD YOU BE HAPPY ON A LEASH?

It's just as natural to want to get ahead and to succeed in any undertaking as it is to eat. Human beings are made that way.

When an individual starts to work as a clerk—as a pick-and-shovel man—as an interne or as a teacher, he doesn't see himself doing the same job for the rest of his life. He sees himself as office manager or sales manager, as a foreman or superintendent on a big job, as a famous specialist or as a school principal or professor.

Under our system that's where the office managers, the sales managers, the foremen, the superintendents, the famous specialists and educators come from. They come from the ranks—from the fellows who started out as clerks, working men and inexperienced students.

Ours is still the only system that permits the individual the opportunity to choose his job; to live where he pleases; to make the best use of his abilities to get along in the world and to hold his head up as an independent and free person.

It is still the only system that lends itself to steady improvement by democratic processes.

Hospital Auxiliary Raises $300 in May For Kitchen Sink

May was one of the busiest months the hospital auxiliary has had for some time and over $300 was added to the treasury, it was reported on Tuesday, June 6.

Most of this sum will be used for the three new stainless steel sinks in the hospital kitchen, each of which has a compartment 14 inches deep, and for other improvements including the counter working surface in the kitchen, all of which is now stainless steel.

This money was raised from the fashion show and draw and from catering.

The auxiliary's campaign for an oxygen tent is well under way and being favorably received. Mrs. T. E. Lott has been assisting in publicizing the project by speaking to various organizations and it has not been turned down by any group approached to date.

After the business meeting three cups and saucers were presented to members who are leaving town. Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, president, made the presentation to Mrs. William Strachan, Mrs. James Muirhead and Mrs. M. Kersey. Since it was a special affair refreshments were served.

Mrs. Harvey Mitchell is the official delegate from Summerland Rebekah Lodge at the Grand Lodge at Penticton this week and Mrs. Percy Thompson is a member of the important credentials committee.

Rink Canvassers Reach $12,000 Mark in Drive

Solicitors for the proposed ice rink arena in Summerland have obtained pledges of $12,000 in debentures, plus many hours of work. Mr. George Stell, president of the Summerland Rink Association informed The Review this week.

It has been stated that no start will be made on the arena project until $20,000 has been pledged. To complete the main portion of the structure will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000, it is planned.

Mr. Stell states that the rink association has now been incorporated under the societies act of B.C., papers having been received last Monday.

Close to 2,000 hours of work have been pledged by interested persons who may not be in a financial position to take out many debentures, Mr. Stell states.

The energetic rink president is quite satisfied with the progress of the canvass which he describes as proceeding slowly but surely towards its goal.

Metcalfe's Home Run on Error Scores Lone Run Needed for Merchants' Win from Mansfield

A hard-driven single into right field which got by the caretaker and went clear out to the cars brought red-headed Metcalfe all the way round the paths Sunday afternoon at the Living Memorial athletic park and scored the only run of the game. With Jack Walsh hurling headsup ball, the Summerland Merchants scored their second win of the league season 1-0 over Mansfield.

It was a pitcher's battle throughout, with Walsh having a decided edge over Bowers, Mansfield's sturdy hurler. Walsh shut out Mansfield with only three hits while Merchants were gathering seven.

The Merchants played errorless ball throughout. Tupp and Beard, who shared centrefield duties for Mansfield, saved the day on several occasions for their squad.

Probably the outstanding feature of the game was the performance of C. Bowers, Mansfield base umpire. In the view of the stands he made six wrong decisions, two against the Merchants and four against Mansfield. Players on both sides were disgusted with the calls.

Next Sunday, Oliver comes to Summerland for a league game, which should be a sparkler. Oliver was lucky to win the opening game from the Merchants but both teams have strengthened considerably since then.

Brawner Turns In Two Wins For Red Sox

Ken Brawner turned in his second winning performance of the week for the Red Sox last Sunday at Naramata, turning back that town's junior squad by a 7-1 count. Brawner went the first seven frames, Campbell completing the game.

Francis Gould was the offensive Red Sox player, smacking the pill for three singles and scoring the first run in the initial frame on Fred Kato's double.

Brawner scored what proved to be the winning run in the third when he singled and came across on Gould's hit. Campbell added another in the fifth and the Red Sox made the game secure in the eighth with a 4-run rally.

Ken Brawner was also on the mound for the Red Sox when they travelled to Kelowna and played that city's Kodiaks on Wednesday night, June 7. He limited the Orchard City juniors to one run while his teammates were garnering eleven.

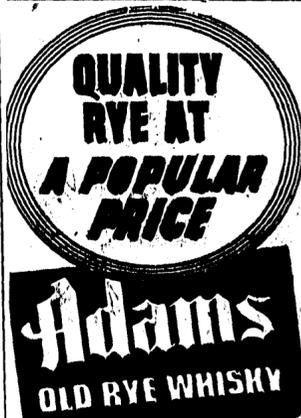

A big four-run rally in the first frame meant all the difference for the Red Sox.

Two birds carved from the horn of a bull in South American were displayed by F. B. Bedford. Interesting work done on empty shell cases were shown by Mrs. E. Guiochet. A collection of miniature copper pieces was the exhibit of Mrs. B. Milne while shellwork was the exhibit of Mrs. J. J. Blewett.

Woodcarving was exhibited by H. R. Klux while drumsticks and other relics used in the battle of Waterloo were on display courtesy of Mrs. Turnbull.

Estonian displaced persons in German camps were responsible for an interesting exhibit produced by Miss Joan Appleton.

High School Graduates Hear Mary Ward Name As Scholarship Winner

Twenty-seven pupils of Summerland high school junior articulation class participated in the annual graduation exercises at St. Andrew's United church Friday afternoon. The church was crowded to capacity to witness the colorful ceremony and hear Dr. F. W. Andrew announce the winner of the 1950 Summerland Scholarship.

Miss Mary Ward, vivacious and popular graduate, was named the fifth student to receive this coveted award which allows $250 towards studies at University of B.C.

Summerland Scholarship Fund was commenced by the UBC Alumni Assn. but has since been turned over to the Municipality of Summerland to administer in trust.

The 1950 graduation class is the largest ever to leave Summerland High.

"Sincere wishes for a happy and successful life," coupled with the hope that they will "always have a warm feeling of affection for the community in which they grew up," were expressed by Principal A. K. Macleod, program chairman. A moment's silence in memory of the late Norman (Pete) Holmes, who would have been a member of the graduating party but for the fatal motorcycle accident a few weeks ago preceded the introduction of the graduates.

L. J. Fisher gave a resume of school activities and also explained the method of student government adopted in the high school. The students' council handled $1,000 during the past year, he stated.

Class poem was read by Graduate Noel (Bud) Green, while James Towgood delivered the valedictory.

Greetings to the graduates were brought by S. A. MacDonald, elementary school principal, who pointed out that each graduate probably has a different idea of success in life, but whatever the conception he hoped their aim would be realized.

Verrier Trophy Winner

Second only to the Summerland Scholarship award was the announcement that the Verrier trophy was won by Ron MacRae. Principal Macleod, in making the presentation, explained that this trophy is for all-round achievement and is awarded to a "good fellow", reasonably good in both studies and sports activities.

The Marksman cup was presented by Magistrate Hugh Sharman to 1950 winner, Daryl Weitzel, who also won the E. H. Bennett ski cup, being the student who "has done most to promote skiing". The Bennett cup was presented by Miss Joan Bennett, first winner of the Summerland Scholarship and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bennett.

Miss Marion Campbell presented OVSAA ribbons won at the annual valley track meet to athletes Graham Munn, Helen Kean, Ruth Klix and Daryl Weitzel.

As captain of the winning House team, House No. 2, Wally Day received the inter-house trophy from Miss A. Semak.

Blocks and pins were then presented by W. H. Durick major blocks going to Olive Mason, Mary Ward, Helen Kean, Ruth Klix, Barbara Metters, Jacqueline Trafford, Ron MacRae, Wally Day, Daryl Weitzel, Jim Birtles, Francis Gould, Sandy Jomori, Fred Kato and Don Cristante.

Minor block winners were Shirley Wilson Ruth Fleming, Dennis Johnson, Margaret Jomori, Mary Marshall, Ceone Eyre, Don Cruickshank, Ken Brawner, Michael Maler, Earl Bryden and Graham Munn.

Pins for those who were prominent in school activities other than sports were awarded to Olive Mason, Jacqueline Trafford, Mary Ward, Ron MacRae, Jim Towgood, Daryl Weitzel and David Wright.

L. J. Fisher announced that two prizes offered by the Klvanis Club of Summerland for the best essays on the "Significance of Easter" had been won by Bertha Parrott and Margaret Maler. They received $5 and $2.50 respectively.

E. E. Estes made the presentation of the efficiency book prize to John Palmer of Grade XI.

Address to Graduates
Concluding portion of the graduation ceremony was the address to the graduates given by C. J. Bleasdale, chairman of School District No. 77 (Summerland).

He commended the class on having reached the goal with the limited facilities provided in the present high school. He also commended the teachers, on doing an excellent job under difficulties.

Too much stress has been laid on university entrance standards.

Gas Truck Destroyed by Fire On Giant's Head Road Here

When the dual rear wheels of a Standard of B.C. gasoline truck fell off suddenly while the vehicle was travelling north on the Giant's Head road about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon the friction resulting caused sparks which, in turn, ignited the gasoline spilled when the truck sagged at one end. The result was the complete demolition of the truck, the breaking of telephone communication and the destruction of about two dozen fruit trees.

Slight Hail Damage Here On Tuesday

Summerland suffered slight hail damage in the Prairie Valley and KVR station area on Tuesday afternoon but escaped lightly in comparison with the Shaba-Lake district south of Penticton where about sixty acres of fruit suffered severe loss.

Tuesday evening, Summerland growers heard a complete explanation of the B.C. Fruit Growers Mutual Hall Insurance Company setup from its president, George A. Lundy of Oliver.

Also with Mr. Lundy was Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh of Penticton, company vice-president.

Summerland, a portion of Kelowna and Salmon Arm are the high risk hail areas in the Okanagan, it was explained.

In these districts this growers' mutual company will only pay out estimated operating costs for hail losses.

The rate here has been set at $81 per thousand for the first year and decreasing each year afterwards.

Payment for hail losses was explained by Mr. Lundy who said that representative samples would be taken from halled orchards, graded as in a packinghouse, then graded for hail marks. The percentage of loss, based on the amount of hail insurance carried will govern the payment of claims.

Crop Insurance Plan
In time, this company can develop into a crop insurance scheme even to the extent of covering losses such as occurred last winter, Mr. Lundy advised, if the growers will co-operate to a sufficient extent.

Up to last weekend $9,000 in premiums had been sold and he expected that between $30,000 and $50,000 in premiums will be realized this year.

This is a highly hazardous business, Ald Titchmarsh pointed out, and although there were many points which were not entirely satisfactory the setup is the only legal way found in which it could function.

A grower can cover his entire crop or only a portion as he desires, it was emphasized.

Over $13,000 in New Rink Drive

George Stoll, president of the Summerland Rink Assn. announced on Tuesday that the rink campaign has now passed the $13,000 mark in pledged sales of three percent debentures. There must be $20,000 pledged before a start can be made, as the total estimated cost is $30,000.

Canvassers are continuing their coverage of all residents in the district to endeavor to obtain sufficient financing to ensure a covered rink for skating, hockey and curling.

Urge B. C. Government to Take Action to Alleviate Distress in Fruit Area

Urging on the provincial government the necessity to set in action machinery to alleviate the distress conditions in the tree fruit industry and also seeking federal government assistance to this end, a representative meeting of growers, shippers, members of the legislature and other prominent officials concluded a "state of emergency" meeting in B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. board room last Thursday afternoon.

For the first time the seriousness of the situation resulting from last winter's severe temperatures was brought out from all points of the fruit industry in the interior.

As a result of this session, a special tree removal program has already been instituted and progress is being made towards the setting up of a special group under provincial government guidance to ascertain the actual loss which the industry has suffered.

On top of all this, the growers' executive has decided to co-operate with the sales agency and urge on Ottawa the necessity for further assistance for the industry in respect of 1949 crop returns and under the prices support act.

From this district's standpoint, three points were emphasized at Kelowna last Thursday:

1. Summerland, Penticton and Naramata, with diversified crops in most orchards, escaped severe loss better than any other district.

2. The loss in turnover this year will probably amount to $8,400,000 over the industry.

3. Besides the grower loss, the lack of employment during the crop season will mean a severe blow to the Okanagan's economy.

For the entire morning reports were received from various industry officials on the loss which occurred. Then, in the afternoon, the discussion turned towards methods of alleviating the condition.

"A Distressing Story" says Wheeler

"It is a distressing story," was the opinion of Col. R. L. Wheeler, Ottawa, head of the fruit branch in the federal department of agriculture, at a direct representative Thursday of B.C. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture.

He was prepared to take back to Ottawa a clear picture of the disaster which has struck the Okanagan.

As the meeting neared its conclusion a committee of W. R. Powell, Summerland; Dolph Browne, Vernon; C. W. Morrow, MLA, Vernon; F. L. (Doc) Fitzpatrick, Kelowna; A. G. DesBrisay, Penticton and George Mabey, Oliver was set up to bring back a resolution.

This resolution, which was adopted unanimously, pointed out that a state of emergency exists because of excessive damage to trees due to the severe winter, thus affecting gravely the economic condition of the whole of B.C.

It was therefore resolved that "it is essential that the provincial government set up the machinery to alleviate the distress condition in the tree fruit industry at this time and, if necessary, call a special session of the legislature to do so."

The dominion government was also requested to render such aid as is necessary for the provincial government to implement this program.

After hearing from grower representatives, the meeting turned to MLA's for guidance as to the best method of proceeding.

Industry MLA's Give Opinions

Syd Smith, MLA for Kamloops, declined any comment, while A. B. Ritchie, MLA for Salmon Arm pointed out that this disaster is not as spectacular as the floods but will hit the country harder and for a much longer period.

R. W. Hagen, MLA for Grand Forks - Greenwood, declared that the disaster proved the danger of depending on fruit alone. He expressed concern for the person who bought orchards at high prices on long terms and now has almost been wiped out.

Maurice Finnerty, MLA for Similkameen was the first one to get down to cases. He believed that some type of moratorium must be provided for the grower who has not paid for his orchard and has been severely hit by winter injury.

For the grower who has some backlog and is a reasonable risk, long-term loans at low interest rates might be the answer to his problem, Mr. Finnerty continued.

And for the grower who is completely wiped out, then some system of rehabilitation grants might be forthcoming.

W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan MLA, declared that ordinary business is always a risk but in this case this is no ordinary risk. He considered the disaster worse than the Winnipeg floods, which only hurts capital assets, whereas in the Okanagan the means of earning a living has been destroyed in many cases.

Mr. Bennett thought that government assistance on a per tree basis might be worked out, along with some revision of the farm loan board assistance to fit the situation. He did not suggest any gift, but recoverable loans.

C. W. Morrow, MLA for North Okanagan, wished to provide legislation which would provide a province-wide moratorium and leave the courts to decide each case on its merits. Tax sales could be completely obviated in suitable cases, he thought. Enlargement of the land clearing act would be possible to suit this emergency.

President Ivor Newman of the BCFGA also stressed the low net returns on apples during the past two years, especially in 1949.

George Fitzgerald, Kelowna BCFGA director, thought growers should have parity prices for the 1949 apple crop and Mr. Newman added that the returns should be on a parity with prices of other commodities which come under the federal prices support act.

Precedent for a tree removal program with provincial and federal assistance has already been set in Nova Scotia, L. R. Stephens pointed out.

The committee which drew up Thursday's resolution, with the addition of Ivor J. Newman, A. K. Loyd, J. B. Lander and G. A. Barrat will continue to act for the industry in this state of emergency and collaborate with any B.C. government committee set

S. W. J. Feltham "Graduates"

Twenty-seven young men and women graduated last week from Summerland High but it was "graduation" for another member of the institution on Friday, as well.

S. W. J. Feltham, for 24 years manual arts instructor at the Summerland schools, has retired from the staff and offered some "parting words" at the graduation exercises in St. Andrew's church Friday afternoon.

"I have tried to teach a little more than woodwork," he remarked. At one time manual art was regarded as a "frill" but now it is recognized as an important part of school training.

Ron MacRae made a presentation to Mr. Feltham on behalf of the high school.

On Wednesday afternoon, June 14, teachers from both schools gathered in the high school home economics room for a farewell tea in honor of Mr. Feltham.

Words of appreciation were spoken by Mr. S. A. MacDonald, principal of the elementary school, who told of Mr. Feltham's qualities of understanding and kindness and the informal counselling given to the many boys who have gone through his manual training classes during their school years from grade 6 until graduation.

He spoke, too, of his loyalty to the school and to his boys, many of whom correspond with him after leaving home, and who on returning go to see him.

Presentation of a suitably engraved silver tray was made by Mr. A. K. Macleod, principal of the high school.

In a prominent place on the table was a beautifully decorated cake with the words, Graduation 1950, on the top. Mr. Feltham cut the first piece of his "graduating" cake.

Miss Mary Ward
Graduate of the 1950 Summerland high school who was awarded the fifth annual Summerland Scholarship of $250 towards her tuition at UBC. Announcement was made at the graduation exercises in St. Andrew's church Friday afternoon by Dr. F. W. Andrew.

This award is made annually from the fund built up by the UBC Alumni Assn. with Dr. Andrew playing a leading role.

Principals of the two schools, A. K. Macleod and S. A. MacDonald, and Reeve C. E. Bentley formed the judging committee.

Miss Ward is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Ward, born in Grande Prairie she came to Summerland with her parents 7 1/2 years ago and has made a host of friends here.

The scholarship winner intends to major in chemistry at UBC.

Jaycees Put Bulldozer to Work Building Road up Giant's Head

By the end of this week a rough trail part way up Giant's Head will become a reality, members of the Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

A Model A type car will be able to reach the first main flat this weekend along the trail chosen and before long it is hoped that the trail will be continued to the top of the Head.

On Sunday a party of nearly thirty Jaycees travelled over the proposed route, finalising plans for a seven-foot road.

On Tuesday a bulldozer operated by Doug Price, with Ken McIntosh assisting, was put to work roughing out the trail.

There has been no difficulty in the first portion of the road building scheme but bedrock has been reached on the second steep pitch which will necessitate more work than was considered at first, Don Clark, Jaycees secretary, states.

It is probable that the Jaycees will promote several work parties this summer to improve the roughing out done by the bulldozer, and endeavor to continue the rough trail to the top.

A Tribute to Our Former Member

"I couldn't have happened to a nicer fellow."
This is an expression heard on many occasions but we cannot think of any more apt connection than in the presentation of a handsome purse to Hon. Grote Stirling, MP for Yale for 23 years.

Friends from many parts of Canada joined together to make a presentation of $5,000 to a man who had endeared himself to thousands by his simple dignity and his unswerving purpose.

Hon. Grote Stirling was a Conservative member of parliament. He naturally thought along his party lines. But above all he considered the riding of Yale which had sent him to Ottawa; he considered his fellow Canadians.

Our former member, who because of ill health has been forced into retirement at his Kelowna home, was much more than a politician. He was an able statesman whose opinions were weighed with more than casual consideration by members of every party.

A gift of $5,000 to some would appear like a great deal of money. But it is really an insignificant sum for a man who has accomplished such a great deal for his country.

It is a pity that the political rules of Canada could not allow him a place in the Senate, especially now that he has recovered somewhat from the serious illness which forced his retirement.

Ready for Another Phase of Life

LAST Friday afternoon, 27 boys and girls, young men and women, completed an important phase in their lives. They were members of the 1950 graduating class of Summerland High School.

In the very dignified manner in which they arranged the graduation ceremony they showed an aptitude for organization which should stand them in good stead in the life they are now entering.

This in itself is a splendid example of the training these 'teen-agers' are receiving in our modern school life. They are being allowed to organize themselves, to carry out school life through their own form of government, to carry out extra curricular activities in which they show a vital interest.

Under this system, they are an independent group of young people ready to accept the complexities of the life they are just entering.

The confidence and self assurance displayed by this graduating class was reassuring. It was not "cockiness" but a calm acceptance of a situation for which they have been prepared.

These young men and women will make a mark for themselves in the generations to follow. We join the rest of the community in wishing these future citizens every success in their chosen endeavors.

Support for Road Construction

FROM some distance away but from a point nonetheless associated with the problem from a tourist standpoint comes support this week for Summerland Board of Trade's urging that the Pentiction-Peachland section of Okanagan Highway No. 5 be placed on a high priority basis for reconstruction.

The Kamloops Sentinel has devoted editorial space to the completion of this link, one of the two remaining sections of the highway uncompleted from the border to Kamloops—in fact, from Vancouver to Kamloops via the Hope-Princeton highway.

The other section of uncompleted highway is the Falkland-Vernon section which also proves a headache for the visiting motorist who has become quite accustomed to the broad, modern stretches found in other portions.

Following is the Kamloops Sentinel version of the situation:

Associated Boards of Trade of the Southern Interior are agitating for immediate modernization of the Pentiction-Peachland section of the Okanagan Highway. Kamloops and every other board of trade hereabouts should join in the campaign, initiated by Summerland Board of Trade. The section of road in question originally was to have been modernized in 1950 but the job has been postponed until at least 1951 and there are those who claim the project has been indefinitely deferred—perhaps because of the insistent pleas for a road on the east side of Okanagan Lake from Kelowna to Pentiction.

Kamloops should be interested in this Peachland-Pentiction road because it and the Falkland-Vernon road are the only two unimproved sectors of the direct route to Kamloops, through the lovely Okanagan Valley, from the United States. Over it comes much of Kamloops' important and growing tourist trade. And until the Fraser Canyon highway's face-lifting is completed five to seven years hence, the Kamloops-Vernon highway, the Okanagan highway, and the latter's connection with the Hope-Princeton highway will be the route used by our other major (and untapped) reservoir of holiday-makers, Vancouver and the Lower Mainland.

There is substantial reason for Kamloops to interest herself in efforts to speed the modernization of the Pentiction-Peachland and Falkland-Vernon roadways, both of which are somewhat outside the nominal sphere of our board of trade's activities.

And apart entirely from our selfish interest in these road projects, we'd really like to see the public works department have the money and opportunity to finish the swell job of modernizing it already has done on most of the Okanagan Highway.

Fishing Reports

Fishing reports from local districts lakes follow:

Okanagan Lake—Fishing is down a little off Summerland, better catches being made from Crescent Beach north to Peachland. Using 50-50's wabblers and yellow and green plugs are starting.

Garnet Valley—Road is okay; fishing fair; fly fishing is coming on with grey-type flies; also regular trolls and minnow fishing.

Flash Lake—Quite similar to Garnet Valley dam.

Upper Lakes above Flash Lake—Fly and regular trolls okay. Murre Lake, fairly small but limit catches; Deer and Eneas lakes, some dandy catches.

Tepee Lake—One local fishing party headed by Bill Snow and Harry Brown found good fishing on fly and lots of fish; also yellow flatfish on troll got good results.

"Emergency" in Fruit Industry Shown by "Typical Losses"

Seriousness of the loss by winter kill throughout the Okanagan was emphasized by figures presented the "state of emergency" meeting in Kelowna last Thursday from various packinghouses by L. R. Stephens. He asked packinghouse managers to submit typical cases and the following are the figures:

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

"Some Poles stole a cow from a German farmer, and its tracks were very clear right to our camp gate, then they ended abruptly, with no sign of struggle or blood. No one could figure out what happened; nor find the cow; it was a complete mystery."

That is just a sample of the tales told us by a girl who had been an UNRRA worker in a camp for displaced persons in Germany after the war. The Poles, she said, were illiterate but marvelous scavengers. Their neighbors, the Balts from Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia, were just the opposite. So high is the standard of education in these countries, that before 1939 brought war's destruction on them, from 70% to 90% of their people were university graduates—which is many times higher than our percentage in Canada. Ignorant foreigners!

And our UNRRA girl had an amusing story of how she had given a quiet DP detailed instructions about how to make an inventory and evaluation of some camp supplies, and when she finished and asked him if he thought he could do it, he answered:

"I think so. I used to be minister of finance in Estonia."

We asked her, of course, about the Russians. That brought a whole series of stories.

"I can't see the mass of Russian people as consistently keen on Communism. It's forced on them from above. You know, for every military officer in their army they have a political one of equal rank—one keeps military discipline, the other makes them toe the party line.

"But the Slav people themselves seemed to me very emotional, and changeable as quicksilver. They may be fiercely fanatic one day, quite jolly and cheerful the next, and resigned and melancholy the third. They're inclined to be melancholy rather than either cheerful or fanatic, as a general thing, and their feeling of the sadness of life makes them quite sympathetic to the troubles of others."

"What impressed me most was their illiteracy. Once I received a letter from a Russian general thanking us for help given his people; a very imposing document with its big red seal. Do you know I used to travel all over with that letter as a passport, and none of the Russian guards or inspectors seemed able to read well enough to tell the difference. We even had several copies made, and one took a man clear through to Bucharest!"

"We had a demonstration of the rough domineering side of the Russians when a general drove up one day and his aide demanded some of our tightly-rationed gasoline. I refused, referring him to military headquarters, but he wanted his own way, and he shouted and pounded the receptionist's desk until all the Russians and DPs within hearing were scared to death. Being a free Canadian, I shouted and pounded the desk right back, till the typewriter nearly jumped off it, and the receptionist nearly crawled under it."

"Finally he gave up and went growling out. I was so mad I sent in a complaint about it, and presently word came back that the insolence of the general's aide had been suitably dealt with. I asked what that meant. 'Probably he's been shot,' was the casual answer."

So she rambled on for hours of Russians, Germans, Americans, English, Jews—rich American Jews in New York and Hollywood had a powerful machine for getting European Jews into Palestine—and others in that hectic international hotbed which seems so remote from us, yet periodically bleeds us of so many thousands of lives, so many millions of dollars.

And the case of the disappearing cow? Oh yes—the UNRRA girl solved that one herself, accidentally. She happened to go to the large house where most of the Poles lived one day when most of them were away; and hearing an odd noise in the upstairs, investigated. There, in a bedroom on the top floor of the house, which was built against a hillside, was the cow, rhythmically changing hay into milk.

How had they got it there without leaving any tracks? Carefully laced on each of the cow's four feet was an ordinary soldier's boot.

Present Hon. Grote Stirling With $5,000 Purse of Gold

At three o'clock last Thursday afternoon, a small group of intimate friends and acquaintances gathered at the home of Hon.
 Grote Stirling, former MP for Yale for 23 years for the purpose of making a presentation.

This presentation took the form of a purse of gold amounting to $5,000, an illuminated manuscript and a silver-plated table cigarette case in recognition of his many years of public service.

Contributions to the Grote Stirling fund came from all parts of Yale riding, from friends in the House of Commons and Senate at Ottawa.

Hon. Grote Stirling served as member for Yale for 23 years, until October, 1947, when he retired due to ill health. He was minister of national defence in the Bennett regime of 1930-35.

Mayor T. R. B. Adams, Vernon, unsuccessful Progressive Conservative candidate in the last federal election, read the testimonial, while the gifts were presented by
 P. D. O'Brien, Penticton, president of the Yale Progressive Conservative Assn.

W. Metcalfe, a friend of long standing, presented Mrs. Stirling with a bouquet of roses, carnations and peonies.

Greetings were also extended by
 A. K. Loyd, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.
 president; E. C. Weddell, K.C., past president of Yale Pro-Cons.; Dr.
 W. J. Knox, past president of the B.C. Liberal Assn.; Reeve C. E.
 Bentley, Summerland; A. S. Hatfield, Penticton, and W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan.

Others present for the ceremony
 included Mr. and Mrs. D. McCal-um, Keremeos; D. K. Gordon, G.
 A. McKay, Nigel Poolley, Kelowna; Joe Watkins, Vernon.

Text of Manuscript.
 The illuminated manuscript was headed: "To a Distinguished Canadian" and read as follows:

"For 23 years you served the constituency of Yale with integrity and high purpose, and your labor earned the respect and esteem of many in high places, and of members of all parties.

"Your achievements and your untiring devotion to the welfare of the people of this riding will long serve as an inspiration to other Canadians.

 "We shall remember your energy, your loyalty, your sincerity and your broadness of vision.

"As a tangible expression of the regard and affection in which you are held, we ask you to accept this small token with which is coupled the very sincere hope that you and Mrs. Stirling may have many years of contentment and good health in your retirement."

The troop held their last regular meeting of the year on Tuesday night and made plans for the weekend camp at Faulder this coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The camp will be held at Faulder and all boys must be at the Youth Centre Friday night at 5:30 p.m. where the truck will load up.

The troop will pack in for the last mile and every boy should have his kit packed on a pack board or knapsack. This is the best location for a troop camp we have ever had and an excellent program is planned. For any last minute details phone Mr. Alan McCargar.

We are anxious to finish the year with a clean slate of all dues paid and Scouts owing dues must hand them to their patrol leader or Mr. McCargar on Friday evening.

Ten bronze arrowhead badges were presented at the meeting to the boys who attended the course in April and these boys are congratulated on their excellent showing.

The Summer camp will be held at Clearwater Lake near Hedley from July 27 to Aug. 2.

Transportation charges will be paid from concert proceeds and the cost of the camp for a week for food will be approximately $7.
 Scouts are advised to start saving for the camp now. Every Scout should figure on attending this camp as it will be a unique camping experience and an excellent opportunity for passing badges and tests and doing real Scouting in real Scouting country. A meeting will be called some time in July to finalize plans.—D. V. Fisher.

GUIDE NEWS

Guide activities during the past two weeks have been many and range from the visit of 24 Guides to Wenatchee, a broadcast by 14 Guides over CKOK Penticton to an entry by patrol leaders in the hobby show. Transportation to the Penticton broadcasting station was provided by G. Beggs, D.
 Blagborne, Mrs. W. Baker, Mrs.
 D. Sanborn and Mr. Gibbard.

Last Friday, Guides trying for their first class badge practiced Schafer's method of artificial respiration on one another while the remainder of the company was stalking and tracking, a second class badge requirement, on the hill adjoining the Youth Centre.

A new campfire song "Hungarian Round" was learned as well as several old favorites being sung.
 We are pleased to have three newly-enrolled Guides in our company, Connie Gibbard, Marjorie Stewart and Marlon Coty.

All Guides are reminded that this week's meeting takes place on Thursday evening when Mrs.
 R. Fredrickson will give the last of the lectures on the emergency helpers' badge.

Resident Here 35 Years Laid To Rest Today

Funeral service is being held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from St.
 Stephen's Anglican church for the late Ralph Frank (Jack) Theed, aged 67, who passed away in Vancouver General hospital on Monday, June 19.

Born in England in July, 1882, the late Mr. Theed came to Canada and settled in Summerland in 1905. For a number of years he operated a fruit ranch in Garnet Valley before acquiring his present homesite on the front bench overlooking Okanagan Lake.

A pioneer who followed the progress of the community with keen interest, the deceased man had a wide host of friends who were shocked to hear of his sudden passing at Vancouver after a short illness.

For 25 years he was a fruit inspector in Summerland packing houses, retiring from this government post in July, 1947.

Predeceased by his wife in January, 1946, he leaves one son John, manager of the Bank of Montreal branch at Gibson's, B.C., and who leaves next month for a similar post in Dawson City; one daughter, Elizabeth, in Summerland and one sister in England.

Pallbearers will be Messrs. W.
 R. Boyd, C. H. Elsey, H. C. Howis
 C. E. Bentley, J. Slater and Dr. A.
 W. Vanderburgh. Interment will be in Peach Orchard cemetery.

"Western" Motif at Birthday Party

Roger Solly celebrated his eighth birthday, Monday, June 19, by asking his friends to come to his party in cowboy attire at the Trout Creek home of his grandmother, Mrs. H. A. Solly, where Mrs. N. O. Solly carried out the western motif by centering the tea table with a tiny corral containing small horses.

Extra excitement was added to the day when the boys were taken to see the truck which was burning on the Giant's Head road, and had a longer ride to the beach than is usual.

Games and swimming were enjoyed and the small boys present were Denby Coggan, Bobbie Bleasdale, Richard Toevs, Edward Tavender, David Smith, Duane Dickinson and Victor Blewett.

Sgt. J. A. Knox who was stationed at Summerland as provincial police and more recently at Vernon has been transferred to Chilliwack, and with Mrs. Knox and their two small sons moved there a few weeks ago.

Here's what a kitchen in Morris, Manitoba, looked like after the Red River had done its worst. The warped cupboards, peeling paint, damaged kitchen utensils and almost unlimited quantities of mud and dirt, are illustrative of the damage done to F. RECK-SIEDLER'S entire home. Replacement of furniture, clothing, and personal effects is the responsibility of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. Contributions may be mailed directly to the Fund in Winnipeg, or paid into any bank in Canada.

Believe Trout Creek Past Danger Point

Last week saw Trout Creek go over the peak of its runoff and unless some heavy and prolonged rains occur in the hills there is little danger of any flood threat for this year local observers state.

Water Foreman E. Kercher reported to council last week that Canyon creek dam was visited on June 8 and the gate opened 15 inches. There was some snow on the hills around Canyon Creek dam.

He also reported "everything satisfactory" at Trout Creek headwaters with little snow left on the slopes.

Council members remarked on the steady runoff shown in Trout Creek for some weeks and expressed the belief that some serious trouble would have occurred but for the deepening and widening of the creek channel.

The rip-rap work executed by the provincial public works department has withstood the pressure of the current well and there has been a noticeable decline in the movement of rocks in the channel.

Forms for growers to fill out in order to participate in the proposed tree removal program are being made available through the district horticulturist's office.

These forms were drawn up by a committee of Ben Hoy, supervising horticulturist, Kelowna; F. L. Fitzpatrick, representing the shippers and G. D. Fitzgerald, B.C. FGA rep., Mr. W. H. Robertson, provincial horticulturist, assisted.

The plan provides that a grower who wants to remove trees shall contact the chairman of the BCFGA (Reeve C. E. Bentley is in that capacity here) who with a packinghouse representative and the district horticulturist will make an examination and reach a decision.

Further details of this plan are to be worked out.

HIGH SCHOOL

Continued from page 1 he declared and with the junior-senior high school being on its road to completion more vocational courses will be offered.

Only 20 percent of the students go to university so it is better to prepare the other 80 percent for other walks of life, he considered.

He stressed the importance of choosing a calling which will provide the maximum of satisfaction and warned that the acquisition of money is not the main goal in life.

"The knowledge that you are helping your fellow man gives a great deal of satisfaction," he observed, urging the graduates to be proud of their community and of Canada.

"The future is yours; make the most of it," he concluded.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. H. R. Whitmore, which concluded the ceremony. Guests then adjourned to the high school lawn for tea while the graduates later staged their graduation banquet in the IOOF hall and their graduation dance in the Youth Centre.

Graduates were Dorothy Arnold, James Birtles, Dorothy Blacklock, Edna Bradford, Don Cruickshank, Wallace Day, Mary Donesky, Francis Gould, Noel Green, John Huva, Sandy Jomori, Fred Kato, Margaret Long, Lorne Logie, Joan Marshall Olive Mason, Melvin Monro, Elizabeth Morgan, Kit Muirhead, Ronald MacRae, Stanley Pattie, James Towgood, Mildred Verrier Mary Ward, Louise Washington, Ella Willeman and Shirley Wilson.

Ice cream was the prize for the children's races and as a treat for them during the afternoon. The grownups played baseball and carried the effects of the unusual exercise into the next day.

Mrs. Fred Schmidt, president of the ladies' aid, was responsible for arrangements which were well planned.

Rev. Mr. Vorath and other visitors were present from Kelowna, and Rev. Mr. Lang from Oliver.

SENDING MONEY AWAY? This Way Is Safe and Simple Too

If you are sending money away for any purpose, you want to be quite sure that it will reach its destination. Well, here's as safe a way of sending money as you can find, and one that's both simple and inexpensive.

Drop into your local branch of the Bank of Montreal, and purchase a B of M Money Order. Such money orders are payable without charge anywhere in Canada (except in the Yukon). Slip the money order into an envelope, mail it, and you can rest happy in the knowledge that you've assured the best protection at really low cost. And you know, too, that the person at the other end won't have to be bothered with any exchange charge; he'll get the full face value of the money order. If you have to send money anywhere more rapidly than by post, have a word with Ted Beech, the accountant at the B of M branch in West Summerland. He'll make sure that your funds are rushed to their destination by the B of M's special telegraphic and cable system. —Adv.

Garden Lovers Enthuse Over Naramata Homes

Naramata gardens offered pleasure and interest to over forty members and friends, when the horticultural society paid a visit across the lake Tuesday evening, June 13. A picnic supper in Naramata park preceded a tour of four gardens.

The first visited was that of Major and Mrs. A. H. Grant, which is charming and reminiscent of English cottage gardens. It is full of excellent material, well grown, with massed borders, and especially lovely Russell lupins and heuchera.

Next in the itinerary was the garden of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Aikins, which was compared to a beautiful stage setting with tall trees and spacious lawns rolling down to the lake where a sea-wall has been built. Interesting rock walls draw lines through the grounds and near a sparkling stream new varieties of water iris and primulas are being tried out. In one part of the garden wild lady slippers have been transplanted successfully.

Mrs. Nuttall's fascinating garden was the third stop. It has been built on many different levels, on a solid rock slope and is covered with Alpine plants. Pockets have been made to form large beds, in which are interesting plants and flowering shrubs. Long borders of roses and peonies give masses of color.

The last garden to be visited on the way home was that of Mrs. A. L. Stewart where new colors in Oriental poppies were featured and also new delphiniums, one a bright pink, called Sensation, and many white specimens. There were very nice rock walls well covered with unusual Alpines as well as sturdy

Bees in Good Shape Reports Heighway; Inspects 30 Hives

Summerland bees got a going over this week when C. C. Heighway, Peachland bee inspector for the provincial department of agriculture, visited the district.

Mr. Heighway examined some thirty hives in the area and found the bees in excellent condition, in most cases hives being very strong.

A good many hives were overpopulated and needed the addition of extra supers.

Mr. Heighway explained that the main honey flow is just starting and that the bees would need plenty of room from now on. No evidence of foul brood was seen in any of the hives Mr. Heighway inspected.

Besides acting as bee inspector Mr. Heighway is president of the Central Okanagan Honey Producers' Association and a member of the Canadian Bee-keepers Council. An ardent supporter of the Honey Producers' Association he is continually urging bee-keepers to join.

Membership in the association affords opportunity for contacts with other bee-keepers and gives the beginner a chance to benefit from the older man's experience, he explains.

Each spring, the association buys its own supply of package bees and these are made available to the members. Association secretary is H. C. MacNeill, also of Peachland.

Street Lights Now Operating On Station Road

Seven street lights have been placed on the Station road and, according to residents along this once-dark stretch of much-used roadway, they make a great difference to pedestrians.

These lights have not been added to the existing street lighting system but are on a separate circuit controlled by a photoelectric cell. If the day becomes dark enough the street lights will come on and stay on as long as darkness prevails.

The electric light department has plans to use this type of installation in other sections of the municipality if the Station road set of street lights proves satisfactory.

BLAME TIME FACTOR FOR ELECTRIC OUTAGES

Outages on the electrical system have been the subject of investigation lately not only by municipal electrician T. P. Thorner but by J. D. McMynn, West Kootenay Pentiction manager. It is thought that the time factor between the switches of the municipal and West Kootenay systems is too close and that an adjustment should be made. If this does not prove at fault then the municipality will have to check its power circuits.

Circle Tour from Coast Through Valley Praised by U.S. Party

That the province's roads are good, accommodation excellent and scenery unsurpassed was the opinion expressed by a group of Pacific Northwest Americans who travelled by bus caravan recently from Vancouver on the circle tour through the Okanagan.

This group travelled from Vancouver to Hope, over the Hope-Princeton highway to Pentiction, up the Okanagan to Kamloops and down the Fraser Canyon to Hope again.

Included in the party were press representatives and those who actually meet the tourists behind the counter at tourist information bureaux.

Through the medium of this tour it was hoped that these representative citizens of Seattle, Yakima, Tacoma, Bellingham and Portland would know the interior of B.C. better and would be able to give the travelling public some first-hand information on conditions throughout B.C.'s newest tourist tour route.

The tour was arranged by the Vancouver Tourist Assn., in conjunction with the B.C. Automobile Assn. and the provincial government, and was led by H. S. Hipwell president of the tourist and automobile groups.

In Pentiction the party was entertained by the Pentiction Board of Trade. J. R. Armstrong, Summerland Board of Trade vice-president, was invited to meet the party on arrival.

Hospital Hill Road Surfacing

Councillor E. M. Tait sought council guidance last week as to the best disposal of nine tons of calcium chloride which remains for roadwork from 1949 purchase.

Nine tons will complete practically a mile of road but there are many miles of roads which could be treated with this combination dust layer and material-binder.

It was decided that about half a mile of the hospital hill should have first priority, but choice between upper Priarie Valley road, Harvey Wilson's road, across Peach Valley or the Crescent Beach road was still in front of the council.

Councillor Atkinson suggested that it was the "road department's baby" and Councillor Tait should recommend stretches to the council but the latter still demurred.

Finally, it was decided to use the balance of the material on small stretches where population warrants it and there it was left right back in Councillor Tait's lap.

"Ham" Radio Men Come Here to Test Portable Equipment

To test portable equipment in preparation for any possible flood or other emergency, amateur radio operators and their families from Kelowna, Pentiction and Naramata gathered at the experimental station on Sunday afternoon, June 11.

No previous preparation had been made, each group arriving independently of the other but all with the same plan in mind.

Three portable stations were brought here and they quickly contacted local "hams", as well as other amateur radio stations in Naramata and Pentiction. One Summerland "ham" was testing portable equipment on the Station road and quickly joined in the fun.

Another big event which is being anticipated is the Okanagan international "ham fest" which is being held this year at Gyro park, Kelowna on July 22 and 23. It is expected that more than 200 operators and their families will attend from many parts of the Pacific Northwest.

Many of these visitors will come to Summerland during their stay in the Okanagan, it is expected.

Among the visitors last Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. M. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Guy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mathie, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gorby, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bews, Al Collins, all of Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. Will Moorehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brock, Mr. and Mrs. Russ Upsdell, Pentiction; Mr. and Mrs. Wes Cairnduff, Naramata; and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hemingway, of Kelowna.

Other recent "ham" visitors to Summerland have been Mr. and Mrs. Max Green and party, White Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Balf, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Lobb, Spring Island; F. Diment, Victoria; A. W. Ackerman, Beaverbell.

No Tariff on U.S. Strawberries

L. R. Stephens, acting chairman of the BCFGA tariff committee has issued a statement regarding press despatches referring to a "raise" in the tariff on U.S. fresh strawberries.

This was not an increase in rates but was merely the application of the seasonal specific rates provided for in the Geneva agreement and which are applied in Canada only when the Canadian product is available for the market, he explains.

This seasonal tariff of 1-3/5 cents per pound applies for a maximum period of six weeks in any year and up to the present time it has been applied only in Quebec and that part of Ontario east of Port Arthur.

"The berry producers of B.C. give every consideration to the interests of the consumer and this seasonal tariff is only asked for when supplies or price conditions justify it.

"Until such time as the seasonal specific duty is applied on strawberries, the tariff is 10 per cent ad valorem."

School Board Plans Bus Transportation

At the school board meeting last week the matter of school bus routes was thoroughly considered. As the department of education has stressed that district transportation costs are excessive, totalling nearly $17,000 for this year, the secretary had ridden all the routes, stops, number of children picked up at each, etc.

The board agreed that reduction of costs would be difficult but thought there was a possibility of combining two routes in one instances.

It was also foreseen that one bus would be overcrowded in September and it might be necessary for some of the older children to walk particularly those living nearest the school.

Entertains Kiwanis Party at Her Home

Mrs. J. Y. Towgood, wife of the Kiwanis president, entertained nearly thirty Kiwanis members' wives at dinner at her home, Monday, June 11 in honor of Mrs. Clare Greeley and her two daughters, of Okanogan, Wash. At the same time, Mr. Greeley, lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis Division 5, was guest at the Kiwanis weekly meeting in the Nu-Way Annex.

Later in the evening, Kiwanis member joined their wives at the Towgood home where a social evening was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Greeley were entertained to tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony on Monday afternoon. Mr. O'Mahony is second vice-president of the local Kiwanis club.

Motorcycle Damage Estimated Over $300

On Friday evening, June 9, at the corner of Rosedale and Granville a car driven by Mrs. R. I. Sargeant and a motorcycle ridden by C. Leighton Nesbitt collided, with damage to the bike estimated at more than $300. No damage was done to the car.

Mrs. Sargeant was proceeding south on Rosedale and Nesbitt was turning left onto Rosedale when the vehicles came together. As the Sargeant car did not carry any "pink slip" it was impounded.

On Sunday, June 11, a car driven by G. W. Johnson and containing Mrs. Johnson as passenger, turned upside down in shallow water off the lakeshore road about half a mile south of T. P. Thornber's residence. No damage was done to the car but Mrs. Johnson sustained a broken nose.

The car was proceeding at a slow rate of speed when the accident occurred.

On May 27, on the Crescent Beach road, a car driven by Mrs. D. L. Sanborn and a Shannon Transfer truck driven by Roger P. Austin met on a sharp curve. Slight damage was done to the Sanborn car and none to the truck.

NOTES from PARLIAMENT HILL

(By O. L. JONES, MP for Yale)

A most interesting motion sought federal assistance to education through the Dominion. I was personally very interested in seeing this motion adopted by the house as it would mean that the hard pressed municipalities and all land taxpayers in British Columbia would be relieved to the extent of any possible federal grant.

Both members of the government and the opposition expressed a wish to have this bill voted upon but when it appeared that a vote would be taken three speakers carried on to kill any possible chance of it being voted upon. They were Mr. Cauchon, Mr. Kirk and Mr. Byrne.

I was both surprised and disappointed that Mr. Byrne, the member for Kootenay East insisted on speaking until the time limit was reached, thereby effectively killing the bill for another year. On the other hand, Mr. Gardiner, had expressed what possibly could be regarded as the government's point of view by saying that he opposed the bill, this giving the lead to other Liberals, so I presume the end would have been just the same.

Nevertheless, it is very disappointing to us who have been active in municipal affairs in B.C. and who realize the great inroads made by school costs on municipal funds that we did not get a definite answer, as the result of what turned out to be an excellent discussion on the need for federal support for education.

An interesting question placed on the order paper by Mr. Hansell produced an answer that shows the apparent conflict there is in our policy of protecting our home market. I refer to his question regarding importation of coal, the answer being that we imported during 1949 from the United Kingdom 331,457 tons, from the United States 21,863,736 tons or a total of 22,195,210 tons.

True, some of this would be anthracite, on the other hand a great deal of that imported from the United States was imported for the use of and by our own Canadian National Railways. On the other hand, we have in Alberta an unlimited supply of coal and in the Princeton area of this riding we have over 300,000,000 tons of coal known to be available and the total produced in the Princeton area ever since coal has been produced there is only about 6% of the known total, some of which is very similar to the coal imported from the United States.

During the debate on the pipelines several speakers questioned the financing of such a project in Canada thereby holding the control in this country, their claim that loose money to the extent of $50,000,000 or $60,000,000 would not be available.

I do not know what these people thought when the finance ministers announced that a loan of $745,000,000 was over subscribed on the opening day. The books of the loan were opened at 9 a.m. and were closed, according to the minister at 9:01 a.m. owing to the loan being very heavily oversubscribed.

As these loans bore interest at 2% for short term and 2 1/2% for long term bonds, it would appear the government created a healthy condition as this money is to be used to liquidate holders loans that carry a much higher rate of interest, thereby saving several millions annually to the taxpayers of Canada.

An interesting discussion took place when the Canada Prize Act was before the house. It had to do with the distribution of prize money. The suggestion in the Bill before us sponsored by the government was that the money accumulated under this heading be turned over to the benevolent fund of the services involved rather than distributed on the basis of so much to each member of the crew according to rank. The majority supported this procedure.

While this prize money belongs entirely to the Navy and some members of the Air Service thought often occurred to me that the foot soldier should also be entitled to prize money. As I know during my service in the army the foot soldier captured very many prizes such as warehouses loaded with goods, trains loaded with goods and ammunition, whole towns and villages, with all their contents and so on, so if the principle of prize money being distributed to the captors is sound, why not give the infantry and artillery men a break on the same basis?

WANTS INFORMATION ON POWER LINE PROTECTION

Arising out of comments made by council recently regarding the power line right-of-way over the Steuart property on Granville street, J. E. Jenkinson wrote the council last week asking what protection the council offers him from the power line which stretches across part of his property on the Baptist hill approach. The letter was referred to the electric light department.

Brownies Windup With Sports Day

Wind-up of the Brownie season until September was the sports day held at Camp Sorec last Saturday. Forty-two Brownies, Brown Owls, Mrs. Leslie Mallett and Mrs. Ryan Lawley, Miss Phyllis Adams and Miss Elsie Hack went down in the morning in the chartered school bus to enjoy picnic lunch, campfire, and games.

There were races, including relays, and suckers made very acceptable prizes. A number of the crowd went in swimming and found the water still quite cold.

Just Imagine! Living in a Creek!

It has been suggested that the persons who are turning in false fire alarms are those who perpetrated an alleged "joke" on residents of Trout Creek a few weeks ago.

Councillor Tait told council recently that he was called to the phone and a juvenile voice enquired: "Do you live in Trout Creek?" On being answered in the affirmative the same young voice continued: "You'd better get out then, the water's cold."

Humble Kelowna With 6-5 Win

After leading 4-2 from the fourth frame on Summerland Merchants weakened at the Living Memorial athletic park to allow Kelowna Red Sox to take one run in the eighth and two in the ninth to forge ahead 5-4.

However, the Kelowna rally was short-lived when Vanderburgh walloped a triple to start the last half of the ninth and was sacrificed home by Kuroda to knot the score.

Red Sox Drop First League Counter To Penticton Pirates

Summerland Red Sox outthit Penticton Pirates and only made one miscue in the field but still lost their first league encounter of the season by a 3-2 count last Sunday afternoon on the Penticton field.

Gil Jacobs struck out seven batters, only allowed six hits but gave up six walks. Opposing hurler Evans only whiffed three, was nicked for nine bingles and walked five but he still emerged the winner.

Pirates went into a 1-0 lead in the second frame when Berdine singled and scored on Estabrook's clout.

The score was knotted in the third when Francis Gould got his second single in a row and was scored on singles from Hooker and Kato. The former was caught between third and home while Kato died at third.

In the fifth the Red Sox went one ahead when Ernie Jomori was scored by Cristante's timely clout.

But the advantage was short-lived as the Pirates' catcher Estabrook drove in Campbell in the sixth. The winning counter came across in the seventh when Johnston walked, was sacrificed to second and came across on Jeffrey's double.

Estabrook had a perfect day with three for three while Eyres, who replaced Hooker, got two singles in his two trips. Francis Gould was batting .500 and continues to be one of the most consistent Red Sox hitters of the season.

Merchants Boot Ball as Oliver Triumphs 7-2

Before a good-sized crowd Summerland Merchants turned in their most dismal performance of the season to lose 7-2 to a snappy Oliver team last Sunday afternoon at the Living Memorial athletic park.

What grieved the cash customers was that the Merchants should have been able to trim the visiting cantaloupe boys but by the time they kicked the horsehide all around the lot they were so far behind they couldn't catch up.

It started right in the first frame when Kuroda and Dunham got to second and third with none out. Vanderburgh tried to bunt in Kuroda from third but missed the ball and Kuroda was caught out, the rally going astray.

Becker singled in the third to start Oliver's first scoring spree. Cousins grounder was a madeto-order doubleplay but Dunham booted the ball. Gibb grounded out but Lawley hit to Taylor who proceeded to throw the ball against the backstop screen high over Schwab's head and let in two runs.

After errors by Brawner and Taylor in the fourth the Merchants were lucky to get by that frame without further scoring. With two down in the fifth Schwab let an inside ball get by him and Gibb scored from third for Oliver's third tally.

Another error by Taylor resulted in Oliver's fourth run in the seventh.

Coffey Finished Game. By that time Jack Walsh on the mound had pretty well lost heart and Oliver started to smack his deliveries in earnest in the eighth. Al Coffey relieved him with two down but Lawley smacked one of his deliveries into centerfield to complete the Oliver scoring.

In the last of the eighth, two errors by Oliver and a single by Vanderburgh filled the bases. Taylor's two-bagger scored Kuroda and Dunham and sent Vanderburgh to third but the latter was caught at home on Brawner's grounder.

With the bags still loaded, Coffey had a big opportunity to put the Merchants back in the game but he didn't even look good in striking out.

Rotary Speaker Debunks Many Common Theories

"It Ain't So." That was the intriguing title of the address given Rotary Club of Summerland last Friday evening by W. Maguire of New Westminster, a keen student of bird and animal life.

He took many commonly accepted viewpoints of fish, animal and other forms of life and exploded theories right and left.

A cactus cannot live without water; a sweet potato is not a potato but a member of the Morning Glory family; a steelhead is not a salmon but a trout; there has never been a true salmon in the Pacific ocean, but they are first cousins to the true salmon found in the Atlantic.

A decapitated snake doesn't die until sundown; hair snakes come from the mane of a horse; rattlesnakes always give a warning before they strike; a snake won't cross a lariat; snakes hypnotize their victims.

Snakes, he said, have good vision, have a keen sense of smell but cannot hear. They can feel vibrations through the ground.

Among many other facts he pointed out that a buffalo is actually not a buffalo but a bison, a moose is an elk and an elk is a grey deer. True insects have six legs while spiders have eight and are not insects.

RED SOX DEFEAT SENIOR B CHIEFS

Summerland Red Sox took the measure of Penticton Chiefs, that city's entry in the interior senior B baseball league 5-0 at the Living Memorial athletic park last night.

Gil Jacobs had the Chiefs eating out of his hand after a shaky start and had 11 strikeouts to his credit. Price was hit heavily in the sixth and was replaced by Apolizer, who finished the game.

Wally Day scored Eyres with a beautiful triple in the first frame but was put out when waved on for an attempted home run for the first score. Gould hit a triple in the third and was scored by Eyres' solid smash.

Three runs scampered across in the sixth to put the finishing touches on the game.

Each local in the riding will appoint a member to the executive, which will also have the past president as a member.

Mr. Harvey Wilson accompanied Mr. Johnston as delegates from Summerland.

Mr. Birch expects to be here until the end of July, while Mrs. Birch, Paul and Alfred will go to a missionary camp, The Firs, just out of Bellingham, Wash., from July 14 to 24.

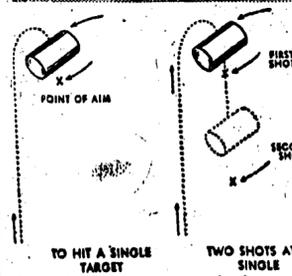

John Birch plans to be at Homewood on Quadra Island where young people's camps are held by the Pacific Coast Children's Missions, under Rev. Alfred Baynes, formerly of Penticton!

In the fall the Birch family will reassemble and are expecting to live in the outskirts of Vancouver.

Shooting Exhibition Thrills Large Crowd

Top-Herb Parsons, crack shot new on his annual cross-country tour, explains (below) at what point to wing aerial targets with a .22 rifle

A large number of Summerland sportsmen travelled to Penticton Monday evening to witness a shooting exhibition by Herb Parsons, a professional sharpshooter employed by the Winchester company.

The display of clever shooting was in aid of the B.C. Conservation Fund and was sponsored by Okanagan fish and game associations.

A number of prizes were given away to ticket holders, a model 12 Winchester 12-gauge pump gun being won by Don Wright of Summerland.

That it was a marvellous exhibition of shooting at its best was the decided opinion of all who witnessed the display.

Summerland Better Valley Average but Fruit Picture is Weak

First official, definite indication of the drop in soft fruit crop production in the Okanagan was released at the weekend by the horticultural branch of the provincial department of agriculture in its news letter which stated that peaches will only be 2 percent of the 1949 crop and apricots 3 percent.

Complete details of the estimates for the Okanagan soft fruit crop are given on Page 2 of this issue.

Massed Band Rally Draws Over 2000

The massed band concert held at the experimental station on Sunday, June 25, was largely attended by people from many points in the valley.

Over 500 cars and an estimated over 2,000 persons started arriving in the morning with picnic lunches and had time to enjoy the beautiful gardens and lawns before the concert started at 2:30 p.m.

The program was planned with all the bands playing together for the first part of the program and then concerts by each of the groups from Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland and Penticton. There was a recess for tea and Summerland band played after the intermission.

Penticton and Summerland had majorettes who gave an exhibition of baton twirling.

Summerland band's new uniforms were admired as well as the music given by them which was considered on a par and in many instances on a higher level than that of other bands playing.

Summerland majorettes also had new uniforms of white satin with blue satin trimming.

The concert ended with the bands gathering to play in unison before dispersal.

David Brewer, 99, Passes Away Today

David Fisher Brewer, aged 99, Summerland's oldest resident, passed away quietly early this morning. He would have reached the century point on Christmas Day this year.

Born of United Empire Loyalist stock, he could remember his great grandfather John Brewer, who refused to fight against his king and joined a group of New Jersey Volunteers and King's American Regiment and came north to York County, New Brunswick in 1783.

John Brewer died when David was five years of age. The young lad lived the life of a pioneer in the rough New Brunswick country, spurred on by the stories of hardships recounted by his great grandfather.

For several years he worked for logging camps and river drives. Once while assisting a crew to get at the key log a jam broke. A falling log hurled him into the water and he owed his life to two companions who rode a log out to his aid and dragged him shorewards by his hair.

A picture of a peach orchard in a British Columbia valley lured the late Mr. and Mrs. Brewer to the Okanagan forty-two years ago to begin a new life of hard pioneer work in this district just being opened to fruit production.

Apart from being an ardent churchman the late Mr. Brewer did not take much part in community endeavors, being content to bring up his family and be diligent in his daily tasks.

He leaves two sons, Franklin at Peace River, Travis at Bristol, N.B.; one daughter, Mrs. T. J. McDonald, Summerland; 7 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren. Funeral service will be held tomorrow, Friday, June 30, at 2:30 o'clock from St. Andrew's United church with Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiating. Interment will be in the Anglican cemetery.

Ogopogo Seen Here and Farther North Three Times Saturday Afternoon

Mrs. Leslie Rumball was among a number of Okanagan residents who saw Ogopogo last Saturday afternoon.

A party of fifteen persons in a Greyhound bus travelling near Peachland is reported to have witnessed Ogopogo streaming north through choppy lake waters while another seven Kelowna residents are also convinced they witnessed the famed Okanagan lake serpent.

Mrs. Rumball was sitting in front of the Rumball beach cottage at Trou, Creek when she saw a commotion in the water about 100 feet off shore and travelling from the vicinity of Powell Beach.

In every instance but apricots, Summerland is slightly ahead of the Okanagan average production in comparison to 1949 crop but the difference is woefully small.

The Okanagan cherry crop will be 19 percent of last year's bumper production, while Summerland is expected to produce about 24 percent.

Peach trees in the Okanagan will yield .028 percent of 1949, while the Summerland percentage is .044, at 14,000 crates.

There will be no commercial apricot crop to speak of here and throughout the valley the crop had shrunk to .031 percent.

The plum picture is brighter, being 37 percent in the valley and 63 percent of the crop which went through the packinghouses here last year.

Prunes are brighter still as the Summerland crop is expected to be 91 percent of the tonnage which was actually shipped through packinghouses and canneries last season, but not counting the prunes which were left on the trees because of lack of markets.

Throughout the Okanagan the prune percentage this year compared to last is only 32 percent.

This entire picture means that there will be a minimum of packinghouse and cannery activity here until the end of August or September.

Canneries Report
Barkwill's Ltd. cannery reports that it has laid no plans for the future but will wait for word from B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. as to what proportion of the soft fruit crop will be available for cannery purposes and at what price.

It maybe that the price for soft fruit may be prohibitive for canneries to operate, it is stated by some sources here.

Milne's cannery is concluding tomorrow a seven-week run on asparagus which has given extra employment to some eighteen workers. Hundred thousand cans of asparagus have been packed in that time.

The Milne establishment has a number of farmers growing pencil and beans, which are packed asparagus style and which will be the next produce to be processed, while a proportion of the cherry crop will also be canned, if it is possible.

It is reported that apricots would cost $200 per ton for local canneries to import from south of the border in order to keep their customers supplied and their employees busy this summer. This price would be prohibitive, they believe.

Mr. Ryan Lawley, manager of Cornwall Canning Company, states his firm has made no decision on its operations this summer.

This week, thirty women left Summerland for the Fraser Valley, as part of the Okanagan contingent needed for berry picking. It is expected they will obtain a month's employment which should help some families needing extra revenue during this ordinarily busy season here.

To Start Work Soon on Project

That work on the North Bench-Crescent Beach domestic water system will start "soon" was the announcement of the municipal council at its regular meeting on Tuesday.

Final authority on the bylaw has been obtained from Victoria and materials have been ordered. A lengthy list of persons wishing employment has been compiled by the water department which will operate the project by day labor. E. Kercher will supervise morning, Friday, June 30, at 2:30 o'clock from St. Andrew's United church with Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiating. Interment will be in the Anglican cemetery.

She screamed for husband Les, who came running to the beachfront, but by that time all he could see were what appeared to be a couple of coils.

Mrs. Rumball states that for an instant the object reared its head and several lengths of coiled body could be observed.

The object was travelling at a speed of at least 25 miles per hour in a northerly direction, the Rumballs state but their neighbor, Steve Cannings, who was called to witness the strange phenomenon, arrived too late to corroborate the story.

Camp Sorec Opens July 3

Camp Sorec, on the experimental station "farm beach", will be opened on Monday, July 3, with 70 junior boys including Cubs and boys from the Religious Educational Council going to camp for a week under the leadership of Rev. H. R. Whitmore, assisted by Doug Bulwer of Keremeos.

This camp, which was practically destroyed by the flood of 1948, has risen again mainly due to the efforts of an AOTS Club committee headed by E. H. Bennett.

By Monday ten main tents will have been erected, plus the dining-room, leaders' tents and cook tent. Mrs. John Dunn is camp cook for the first three weeks.

Junior and senior boys and CG-IT will occupy the camp under the REC guidance from July 3 to 26. The Baptist camps will be held immediately following and summer camps will wind up there with the Girl Guide summer outing.

Miss Summerland to be Crowned July 8 at Park Playground; To Compete for PNE Title

Miss Summerland, this district's official entry in the Miss Pacific National Exhibition contest at Vancouver this summer and representative of this area in the Penticton and District Peach Festival parades and social functions, will be chosen by three judges at an open-air function arranged by the Summerland Board of Trade in the Living Memorial park-playground on Saturday evening, July 8.

At the outset, Summerland Board of Trade planned to have a candidate named by Teen Town and she would be crowned at an official ceremony and would represent the community at the Peach Festival.

Now, however, the program has been greatly enlarged and includes all the regulations laid down for a Teen Town entry in the Miss PNE contest.

Up-to-press-time the Teen Town candidates are as follows:

- Olivia Mason
- Julia Hack
- Cherrie Black
- Shirley Gardiner
- Joyce Dowds
- Maureen Prior
- Luella Polesello

From this group, which will probably be enlarged before July 8, three judges will pick Miss Summerland. The judges are S. A. MacDonald, Rev. D. Knipfel and Miss Ruth Daie.

While they are about it, board of trade members plan to make it a festive night.

Band and Bingo Games
At 6:45 o'clock Mrs. Doney Wilson's young charges will give a display entitled Children's Workshop. At 7 o'clock the Summerland Band will take over with musical selections and Bingo will also commence. A refreshment booth will also operate.

All these functions are planned for the Living Memorial park playground and will centre around the new bandshell being completed by the Kiwanis Club of Summerland.

At 8:30 the actual ceremony will begin with J. E. O'Mahony, trade board president and Reeve C. E. Continued on Page 8 who will be installed officially as president of the Rotary Club of Summerland tomorrow evening at the Nu-Way Annex. He succeeds President Joe McLachlan. Mr. and Mrs. McLachlan and Mr. and Mrs. Steuart attended installation ceremonies at Oliver and Kelowna on Monday and Tuesday. No special ceremony has been outlined for tomorrow night.

Francis M. Steuart

Reach $20,000 Mark in Drive For New Arena

Following a meeting last night, George Stoll, president of the Summerland Rink Association, announced to The Review this morning that the drive to sell debentures for the proposed hockey-curling arena has exceeded the $20,000 mark.

The directors authorized the purchase of property from W. A. (Bud) Steuart west of the badminton hall for the site of this proposed structure.

It is stated that $30,000 will pay for the main structure, including electrical wiring and some inside finishing, depending upon the amount of volunteer labor available.

"We are continuing our campaign to reach the $30,000 objective", declared Mr. Stoll this morning.

Next Thursday, an extraordinary general meeting of the association is being called so that the membership may pass a resolution authorizing the directorate to issue debentures to those who have pledged support of this project.

Reeve C. E. Bentley and all council members have signified their intention of attending the UBCM convention at Nelson September 19, 20 and 21.

Elementary School now Officially Renamed to Honor S. A. MacDonald

An association of thirty years' duration was honored yesterday morning when Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, on behalf of School District No. 77 (Summerland) announced that the Summerland elementary school will be renamed in recognition of its principal, S. A. MacDonald. The elementary school has been under Mr. MacDonald's charge since 1919 when he came here following service with the Canadian Army overseas in World War I.

The name of the Summerland elementary school will now be officially The MacDonald School.

In addressing the elementary school pupils and their parents in front of the school yesterday morning, Mrs. Vanderburgh reminded her listeners that the elementary school has stood for nearly thirty years and was recently enlarged and renovated, so that now "we have a school of which we are very proud."

"We also have a principal who has been with us for over thirty years and we are specially proud of him, too, and of the many years of faithful service he has given. He has given us service not only to the school but to the whole community."

"There has been a close connection between the principal and the school all through the years and they have been associated together in our minds. The school board thought there should be a closer and lasting connection between these two and we believe that the community of Summerland will agree in this and be very pleased that the name of this school has been changed."

"When you boys and girls come back from your summer holidays next fall the new name will have been put up in letters above this entrance—and that new name will be The MacDonald School", she concluded.

Mrs. Vanderburgh also assisted Principal MacDonald and other staff members in handing out diplomas to successful students.

But Principal MacDonald was not the only staff member to be honored as Mr. S. W. J. Feltham, the retiring industrial arts instructor, was presented with a handsome club bag as a gift of School District No. 77 (Summerland) in appreciation of his services over the past quarter century.

Mrs. Vanderburgh, assisted by Secretary Bedford Tingley, made this presentation.

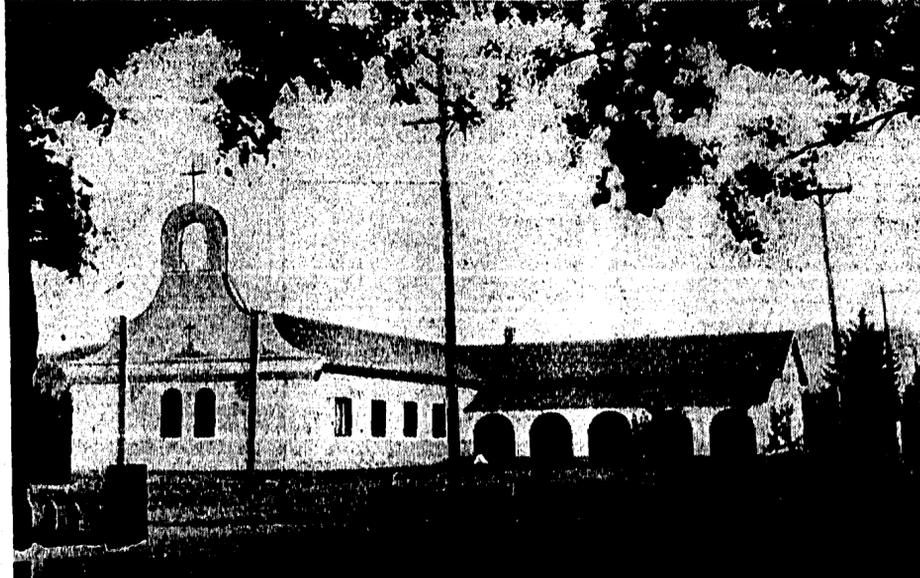

In expressing his appreciation, Mr. Feltham told the pupils they would have something to look forward to when the new junior-senior high school is completed.

She is a member of Grade 7 class and her winning entry depicted a car endeavoring to beat a railway train to a level crossing.

Merger of the Summerland Telephone Co. with the Okanagan Telephone Co. is being undertaken soon and the former company will pass out of existence, the council was informed this week. Summerland Telephone Co. became a subsidiary to the Okanagan system many years ago but the company name still carried on.

The Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Westbank, B.C.

Above is pictured the lovely Renaissance-style Church of Our Lady of Lourdes which has just been completed at Westbank to serve the Roman Catholic church followers in the Westbank and Peachland area.

Rev. Father A. M. Meulenbergh, parish priest, Summerland, was the spirit behind its erection which commenced on April 17 and was completed in record time on June 18.

The main body of the edifice is 76 feet long and besides the church 56 by 30 also contains an apartment for the clergyman. The hall in the west wing behind the arcade is 44 feet by 28 feet with a service kitchen. The church inside is finished in plywood and is equipped with modern facilities, water and electricity.

Know Your B.C. Better

IN OUR advertising columns this week we are reproducing an advertisement which calls upon British Columbians to spend their vacation travelling in their own province.

This is a worthwhile project now that the Hope-Princeton has opened the entire hinterland to the coast motorist and the lovely coast area to the resident of the hinterland.

This series of advertisements has been planned by Home Oil Distributors Ltd. to acquaint travellers with the fact that their best vacation can be obtained travelling right in their own province. Part of the series is devoted to the beauties of the Hope-

Princeton highway which is at the back door of both the Okanagan and the coast resident.

If more and more residents would travel throughout the province on their holidays they would become better acquainted, would know the problems of their neighbors and appreciate the vastness of their own native province.

This British Columbia company is not only boosting its own product but is boosting for its own province in this series of advertisements. "We know that a British Columbia vacation is a thrilling experience," they state.

The MacDonald School

WE FEEL certain that we voice the opinion of the entire community when we add our plaudits to the school board decision to rename the Summerland elementary school The MacDonald School.

When one refers to a school as an elementary school, it means only a classification of grades. The elementary school in future will be grades 1 to 6, with grades 7 to 9 as junior high school.

But when one talks of The MacDonald School, the hall of learning takes on more character, it has a personal appeal.

Principal S. A. MacDonald walks as erectly now as when he stepped out of the Canadian Army 31 years ago and came to Summerland to take charge of the central school. In those intervening years his wise judgment, his cool and carefully-weighted decisions have meant much, not only to school life but to the progress of the entire community.

Mr. MacDonald seldom makes a speech of any length. His words are terse and almost clipped. But when he speaks, his wisdom is acknowledged. There are hundreds of citizens in this community who learned their rudimentary A, B, C's under Principal MacDonald. With one accord they will agree that he was strict but always just. Young and old have admired his sense of fair play and the manner in which he can swing the young pupils along the right road.

When there is a man who commands such universal respect, it is only right that he be honored while still "in harness". His name will remain on this hall of learning many years after he has stepped down from office but he will be secure in the knowledge that his service to humanity was recognized.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Dominion Day — attempts to change the proud name of our first of July doesn't appeal to me much—is almost upon us once more. In this day and place the general idea seems to be to celebrate that day by going to some big commercialized celebration and have a hot, dusty, crowded, good time, with lots of pop and ice cream for the kids and lots of noise and milling about for everybody.

Not so in the days of my childhood—neither pop nor ice cream nor crowds. Even in those days I must have been a modest, retiring soul, for there was always enough crowd and commotion at our little country schoolhouse to be too much for me, and the biggest thing about the first of July for me as a kid was that it was the first day of summer holidays.

No sleeping in that day—the Irishman's idea of rising early to get a long day's rest was mine, too. Everybody on the farm got up early every day in summer anyway—in fact, beyond this blessed land of 8-hour days there are plenty of farmers in Canada still to whom anyone rising later than 5 a.m. is a lazy sluggard. On school days I always slept late and then lay there till the last minute trying to kid myself I was still asleep in order to put off facing the horrible realities as long as possible.

But on the first of July—why, I was up bright and hungry for 6 o'clock breakfast, and out right after to survey yard and barns, livestock and scenery with a proprietary eye. Even the weeds looked fresh and friendly in that early morning sunshine, and the trees, the spreading fields of grain, the vegetable garden and flower beds, all seemed at last to be really mine.

What if an hour or more drifted by in that leisurely survey—I had all day. And sooner or later there would be a whistle to the old collie dog, and off we'd swing to the pasture, up over the hill and out of sight of all houses: Here were hundreds of acres of wild land, both woods and meadow. It belonged to several neighbors, as well as ourselves, but in summer holidays it belonged to me far more than to any of them, and the dividing fence, were no barrier at all.

Certain rites had to be observed that day—not rigidly, but in my own good time. No noise of cars or crowds was there, but noise in plenty was provided, all the same; what better way to celebrate freedom from school discipline than by yelling at the top of your lungs a good few times, and trying out all the old familiar echoes? No pop or ice cream, true; but wild strawberries were usually ripe around July 1st, and I knew every patch. The hot sweet smell of those wild strawberry patches under the July sun, the tangy sweetness of the small berries—far tastier than the big ones you buy—linger with me yet. I'd eat them till my hands were pink and my stomach craved no more, and only then make an estimate of the supply that was left, to report back home whether or not there were enough to warrant picking for preserving.

Either morning or afternoon, whenever the heat grew too sweltering, there would be a dip in one of the several swimming holes the pasture afforded. The shores were slimy grey mud and the water as thick as soup, but it was wonderful to strip off sticky clothes, and sink one's hot bare skin into those cooling depths.

Last remaining thing to do was to pick a bouquet of the big orange-red tiger lilies which usually were well out then, like scarlet stars on the green slopes, and bring them home as a final memento of the day.

With these rites observed and supper done full justice to, I could relax in the cool of the evening with only pleasurable anticipations of the morrow. The sun would set in the same clear sky it had blazed down from all day, but a sky paler now and tinged with green. Nighthawks dived and boomed after mosquitoes high above us; swallows darted gracefully to and from the barn. The mooing of a cow in the back pasture was softened by distance to a sound of unbelievable sweetness; one late crow flapped homeward, making up excuses to cow out to his wife and family when he reached the nest.

And as dusk and bed-time approached, there was no envy for youngsters, in those cars whose lights could be seen on the distant highway as they returned from the big sports day "in town"; mine had been an utterly satisfactory day.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
June 25, 1925

At a meeting in the Parish hall Wednesday night a Horticultural Society was formed with provisional directors W. Fleming, convener, Mrs. Fosbery, Miss Spencer, G. D. Marshall and Bert Harvey.

Joe and Warren Gayton and Ella and Ewart Bowering all were successful in passing examinations at Brandon College.

Internal competition is already having its effect in disrupting the fruit market and bringing down prices says the market commissioner writing from Calgary. Winnipeg is free of consigned fruit and is selling from $1.15 to $2 higher than Calgary which is received shipments on consignment.

A small attendance greeted the annual meeting of the Summerland Agricultural Assn. Primary object of the association is the holding of the annual apple show but as this has not been held for some years interest is at a low ebb. The annual meeting considered the association must be kept alive in order to manage Ellison hall.

The marriage was solemnized in Toronto on Saturday, June 13, of Marjorie Kathleen Hillman, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Hobbs, Elora, Ont., and Dr. Alfred Wharton Vanderburgh, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Vanderburgh of Summerland.

William Davidson, a nephew of Kenneth McKenzie, arrived here from Aberdeenshire, Scotland and is employed by M. G. Wilson.

R. S. Jackson was appointed grand master of the grand lodge of the IOOF.

David Lister has graduated with a B.Sc. degree in electrical engineering from University of Pittsburgh.

Andrew McCulloch, who has been acting as KVR superintendent, will now be chief engineer, with T. C. Crump, of Revelstoke, as general superintendent.

Fishing Reports

Okanagan Lake—Coming along well; 7½ pounder caught off Summerland and numerous others smaller. Good bet any time now.

Fish Lake Chain—Road good and Eastern Brook biting well in Fish Lake. Upper lakes good anytime.

Agur Lake—Coming along well, some good-sized fish up to 2 pounds caught trolling and on the fly. Road has one bad hole at forks.

Glen Lake—Road getting dried out but still tough. Fishing pretty good if you can get them interested.

Silver Lake—Road is passable but latest reports for the week claim fishing is off.

Headwaters—No definite reports but Percy Wilson should be ready by the weekend. Fishing expected as good as any other lakes. Road expected to be at No. 1 dam now.

ART DUNSDON SCORES POSSIBLE AT 500 YARDS

Art Dunsdon scored a perfect target at 500 yards to lead all marksmen at the Garnet Valley range of the Summerland Rifle club last Sunday morning with a 99 score.

D. L. Sanborn was close behind with 98, Herb Simpson had 96 and Doug Price and John Khalembach had 95s. A. Moyle and Len Shannon were tied with 94 each, Phil Dunsdon had 93, George Dunsdon 92 and C. V. Nesbitt 90.

Other scores were D. Taylor and J. Dunsdon 85, George Stoll 81, Murray Elliott 81, Steve Dunsdon 80 and Helen Price 71.

HOW DO YOU MEASURE WEALTH?

Is it in bathtubs? Or radios? Or automobiles? Or washing machines? Or electric stoves? Or refrigerators?

If it is in terms of these material things, men and women working under our Canadian system have a standard of wealth unequalled anywhere in the world except on this continent.

Or do you measure wealth in terms of educational opportunities for your children, and economic opportunities for them after they have finished their schooling? There is no higher standard anywhere in the world than under the Canadian system. In few countries is it even approached.

Do you measure wealth in terms of freedom? Freedom to choose your work, your place to live, your friends, your hobbies, your personal way of life? No place on earth have you greater wealth in this way than in Canada.

Do you measure wealth in terms of opportunity? The Canadian system gives the man or woman who is ambitious, talented, hard-working, all the scope anyone could ask, and the rewards to match.

However you measure wealth, the Canadian system WORKS.

Teen Town

Sorry there wasn't any news last week, but the exams at school were too much. (This is no joke!)

There will not be any Teen Town here this week, because of the international dance at Penticton Friday, June 30. Penticton Teen Town has sent us a special invitation so let's see everybody there to help make it a success. Don't forget, Friday, June 30!

On July 15, we are having an Okanagan Valley dance here. All proceeds will go to the hospital auxiliary to help pay for an oxygen tent.

Voting for Miss Summerland will take place on July 8, so all girls between the ages of 16 and 20, who wish to participate, see any council member immediately.

The girl who wins the title of Miss Summerland will go to Vancouver in August to represent Summerland in the Miss PNE contest. She will also go to the Peach Festival in Penticton. All expenses will be paid.

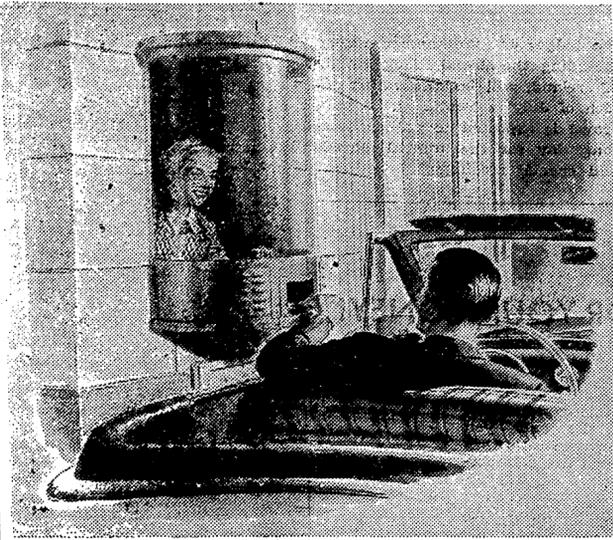

Drop of 35 In School Enrollment

Summerland school population has changed since last October when an all-time high was reached.

At the end of May thirty-five pupils had left the MacDonald School since last fall, and it is estimated that others may be leaving. The high school census remains almost the same as last year.

Since there is this reduction in pupils it is thought that the staff may be reduced by one teacher. The school board accepted the resignation of Miss Peggy Pringle with regret at the regular meeting Monday night, and decided that for the present this vacancy would not be filled in view of the fewer numbers.

Miss Pringle is joining the staff of the Vernon Elementary school. If this condition continues it will mean, also, that none of the basement rooms will need to be used by elementary school students.

An artist's conception of the bullet-proof teller's wicket of the Bank of Montreal's new drive-in branch at 10th and Granville in Vancouver which opened last week. The ultra modern drive-in bank also features a special pram parking space for baby carriages in the main banking room, and a parking lot for those with more lengthy business to transact inside.

The bullet-proof wicket is equipped with an inter-communication system to make conversation between customer and teller easier and a buzzer to summon the teller if she happens to be away.

Apple Crop Indications Are Still Good Says News Letter

Reporting on June 21, for the Summerland, Peachland, Westbank section, the latest edition of the Horticultural News Letter states that "apple crop indications remain good. McIntosh and Newtown are now dropping and thinning requirements for these varieties will be moderate."

"Delicious have set a good crop but will not require as much thinning as the two varieties mentioned earlier. Prospects for other varieties are good."

"Growers are now applying second cover spray for codling moth. Pear thinning is in progress where the crop is heavy enough to warrant it."

"Pest and disease activity is light so far. Very few mites have been reported. Black cherry aphids and woolly apple aphids are being reported but are not yet serious. To date only one new fire blight infection has been seen."

"The trees which have survived to date are now looking better than at any other time this year with some peach trees showing a foot of new growth", declares the report from Oliver-Osoyoos area.

"However, it is felt that the final count of tree loss cannot be calculated until the summer is over."

"All fruit is sizing well at the moment. Cherries are now turning pink and the first of the crop is expected in the packinghouses this week. The only crop which gives an indication of being good is apples... the drop was heavy in most orchards, and as in 1949 singles and doubles are all that is left on most spurs. The only real thinning being done at the moment is on pears and early apples, many growers not considering it worth while to even touch up their trees."

In the Armstrong-Vernon-Oyama-Winfield area the report states that "pears and young prune trees are making rapid recovery from the effects of the cold winter. Apples are very spotty with considerable injury still showing up. Duchess, Wealthy and McIntosh appear to be setting a fair crop. Later varieties are very spotty."

SALMON ARM REEVE DIES SUDDENLY

Major L. S. Metford, OBE, reeve of Salmon Arm, died suddenly on June 16 from a heart attack. He served the Royal Flying Corps for five years coming to Canada after being retired because of flying injuries. He was well known throughout Okanagan municipal circles.

Gray Reports On Ottawa Grit Parley

At a joint meeting of the Kelowna and South Okanagan Liberal associations held at Kelowna last week, A. W. Gray, president of Yale Liberal Assn., reported on the conference of the federal Liberal advisory council which he attended at Ottawa as a representative of Yale.

Mr. Gray indicated that there had been several stormy sessions with the delegates from the west and the Maritimes clashing with the cabinet on several matters, the principal one being the recent freight rate increase.

While in the east Mr. Gray interviewed Hon. Mr. Mayhew, Rt. Hon. Mr. Gardiner, and others principally with reference to the "state of emergency" in the fruit industry.

Although he received no commitments as to direct help in this emergency, Mr. Gray stated that he had received a very sympathetic hearing.

He also interviewed General McNaughton, a member of the International Joint Waterways Commission relative to the development of water systems and power potential in the valley. A situation dangerous to Canada was developing through Canada's non-development of international watercourses, as, by treaty, the prior right to power development of any international watercourse went to the country first to harness and use the water, he pointed out.

The United States, Mr. Gray stated, is far ahead of Canada in this, and Canada is in danger of losing its rights to develop projects through delay.

The Liberal conference passed a resolution urging the federal government to enact legislation to extend the principles of PFRA to all of Canada, and another seeking federal government co-operation with the B.C. government with a view to obtaining a final solution of the Doukhobor problem.

At last week's session, the joint Liberal gathering went on record as endorsing the BCFGA recommendation to the B.C. government relating to the setting up of machinery to provide assistance to the fruit industry; and also favored the application of the agricultural prices support act to the 1949 crop.

KITCHEN SHOWER FOR JULY BRIDE

Miss Betty Jackson and Miss Dorothy MacDonald were co-hostesses at the home of the latter last Thursday evening at a kitchen shower honoring Miss Charlotte Corbitt of the experimental station staff, whose marriage takes place in Penticton July 8.

Invited guests were Miss Nan Thornthwaite, Miss Dorothy Butler, Miss Rosalie Smith, Miss Ann Carney, Miss Mollie Lee, Miss Veva Wright, Miss Ann Semak, Miss Jane Corbitt, Mrs. H. W. Corbitt, Mrs. W. E. Powell, Mrs. J. Eddie, Mrs. E. Richmond, Mrs. M. E. Creese and Mrs. J. F. Bowen.

To carry out the kitchen motif, gifts were presented to the honoree in a model kitchen range.

Contests in the kitchen theme were enjoyed, following which delicious refreshments were served from a rose-centred table.

Delegates Attend Legion Auxiliary Trail Convention

Delegates from Summerland who attended the convention of the ladies' auxiliaries, provincial command, Canadian Legion held at Trail, June 12, were Mrs. W. McCutcheon, president, and Mrs. Tom Fisher, standard bearer. Fraternal delegates attending were Mrs. Dan Weis, Mrs. H. Pruden, Mrs. H. Howard, Mrs. W. May and Mrs. Frank Young.

Two hundred and fifty delegates and fraternal delegates attended and fifty standards were displayed by members in white costumes, with the familiar navy crested caps which distinguish those ladies in the auxiliaries.

Mrs. W. H. Green, West Vancouver, last year's 1st vice-president, succeeded Mrs. E. E. Swan of Victoria as provincial president. Mrs. Green is a veteran of England's nursing force, World War 1.

There was a gain of 1,057 in membership last year. Throughout the province $27,724.65 was raised in Poppy Days last year; $1,000 sent for layettes to English hospitals; and $1,872.90 given to provincial hospitals. Food and clothing parcels overseas took $6,750 while $8,700 was donated to funds other than legion work such as social service, Salvation Army, VON, cancer cause, TB control, March of Dimes, Boy Scouts, church work, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and many other things.

Assistance to veterans at the provincial mental hospital at Escondale was discussed and $650 voted to Manitoba flood relief.

A resolution asking the government to legalize sweepstakes was passed and one to the Canadian Association of Consumers to ask for a cut in price of 15-ounce tinned goods, or that the 20 ounce tin be made available to Canadian consumers.

The convention will advocate free hospitalization without payment of premiums for recipients of war veterans' allowances, widows' pensions, wives and widows of burned-out pensioners, and a lower old age pension date to assist veterans.

Cost of installing street lights on the Station road was $549.00, council learned on Tuesday.

New Road up Giant's Head Is Progressing

President Les Rumball and Committee Chairman Bob Bleasdale drove up the Jaycees' new road to within 300 yards of the top of Giant's Head this week on an inspection trip of the work already undertaken towards blazing an eight-foot scenic road to the Head.

Mr. Rumball was enthusiastic concerning the work already accomplished in one week by a bulldozer.

"A little bit of handwork and any car can travel as far as we did," Mr. Rumball exclaimed.

What stopped the two travelers on their ascent was a 25-foot gap which had a loose fill needing special attention.

About two work parties and the road would be ready for the public, Mr. Rumball declared. Two turnouts giving special vantage points for beautiful scenic views of the valley north and south have been included in the road-building project.

"I don't think we have a grade anywhere that is as steep as the worst part of the Gulch road," Mr. Rumball enthused.

This is only the first step in the Jaycees' plan to promote the Giant's Head as a great scenic attraction for tourists. Once they get the 8-foot road pushed up the hillside they will scheme how it can be widened and how another route can be located to bring the prospective motorists down without retracing the route.

To date the Jaycees have spent $100 on the project.

Number of dog tags issued so far this year totals 278, just one short of the entire issue last year. Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith informed council on Tuesday. About 22 dog owners have not paid their licenses yet, which will bring the total well over 1949.

Peonies Decorate St. Stephen's for Evening Wedding

Pink and white peonies decorated the chancel, the altar railing, and the guest pews, for the marriage of Miss Eileen Jacques, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jacques of Ardrossan, Alta., and Mr. James E. Hack, son of Mrs. E. Hack, West Summerland, and the late Mr. C. Hack. The ceremony was performed in St. Stephen's church on Thursday evening, June 22, at 7:30 o'clock by Canon F. V. Harrison.

For her wedding the bride had chosen a lovely summer afternoon dress of powder blue lace over taffeta and a white picture hat. She carried a beautiful bouquet of red roses and white Esther Reid daisies, and was given in marriage by Mr. H. J. Wells.

As bridesmaid, Miss Mary Stewart wore a frock similar in style to that of the bride but fashioned of yellow eyelet embroidery. With this a white and yellow picture hat was worn, and her flowers were blue iris, cream gladioli, and Esther Reid daisies.

Mr. Dennis Hack acted as his brother's groomsman and ushers were Mr. Murray Elliott and Mr. John Vanderburgh.

During the signing of the register Mrs. H. R. Whitmore as organist played Handel's Largo.

A reception for about forty guests followed at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. E. Hack, who was assisted in receiving by the bride's father, Mr. Arthur Jacques, brother of the bride from Ardrossan, Alta., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Parker, friends of the bride, also from Ardrossan.

An ecru lace cloth covered the tea table and in the centre was the three-tiered wedding cake beautifully decorated with silver leaves and lovers' knots. Mrs. M. Milton, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. W. L. McPherson poured.

Mr. Parker proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded, and Mr. H. J. Wells toasted the bridesmaid with Mr. Dennis Hack responding.

Wires of congratulation were read from Mr. and Mrs. George Hack, Victoria, and from Jean's, Cyril and Wanda Jacques.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. Arthur Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. R. Parker, Ardrossan, Alta.; Mr. Wm. Calder, Seattle; Miss Myrtle Dunham, Vernon, and Mr. Stanley McPherson, Penticton.

Mr. and Mrs. Hack will make their home near Revelstoke, B.C.

Good Response to Auxiliary Appeal For Oxygen Tent

Summerland Hospital Auxiliary is very gratified at the response received to its appeal for money to purchase an oxygen tent for use at the hospital.

The half-way mark in funds has been reached and it is hoped that further contributions will mean that soon this equipment can be ordered.

It has been pointed out to the auxiliary that in the treatment of any case of spray poisoning, due to the use of new sprays, including parathion, it would be necessary to use an oxygen tent, and this is one more reason why it is desirable to have one locally.

Private contributions will be welcomed and may be sent to Mrs.

Mrs. F. V. Harrison Is Presented with Certificate of Merit

Mrs. F. V. Harrison, who found it necessary to resign as divisional Guide commissioner last fall was highly honored on Tuesday evening at Penticton.

Following enrolment of Guides and a Brownie flying-up ceremony, and with district commissioners and Guide personnel from various centres in the South Okanagan for the occasion, Mrs. Harrison was presented with the Certificate of Merit by Mrs. E. A. Titchmarsh, division commissioner for South Okanagan.

Present, too, was Mrs. Midgley, commissioner for greater Victoria, who sixteen years ago was commissioner at Penticton.

Mrs. Harrison was a commissioner at Cranbrook for many years before coming to Summerland, and in the last five years has stimulated the Guide movement in South Okanagan by her interest and ideals so that at the time of her retirement Guide personnel numbered about 500 in this area.

Canon Officiates At Son's Nuptials

A quiet wedding was held on Saturday, June 24, in St. Stephen's church when Mrs. Hired Elizabeth Boffey, widow of the late Mr. Charles Boffey of Creston, was united in marriage with Mr. Cyril Vivian Harrison, eldest son of Canon and Mrs. F. V. Harrison of West Summerland, B.C.

The marriage was performed by Canon F. V. Harrison, father of the bridegroom. The bridal couple left for Vernon where the groom is stationed with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals. They will reside in Vernon for the summer months and later will make their home in Vancouver.

Service Club Has Adjourned Until September Session

St. Andrew's Service Club concluded its spring and summer activities with a meeting in the church hall on Monday evening, June 19.

On this occasion all the women of the congregation were invited to attend with the result that the gathering numbered nearly eighty. The many visitors were welcomed cordially by the president, Mrs. A. J. McKenzie, and thanked for their generous gifts of bazaar materials.

The devotional period was led by Mrs. H. R. Whitmore, whose message "Worship and Prayer" carried forward the theme of "Advancing Spiritually Through Faith", which has been the general subject under consideration this year.

The business meeting was brief, but covered several items including finalizing a contribution to Union College and purchasing new linen for the hall kitchen.

It was decided to hold a Thanksgiving dinner again this year.

A letter was read from the Zenana Mission Society expressing appreciation of the help given them by the Summerland women's organizations.

The departure of a valued member, Mrs. Clarke Baker, was regretted and it was the meeting's pleasure to dispatch a farewell gift to her.

Following the Mizpah benediction the meeting adjourned, and all enjoyed an hour of sociability during which refreshments were served.

Walter Bleasdale Named to Credit Union League Directorate

Walter Bleasdale, treasurer of the Summerland and District Credit Union was named to the board of directors of the B.C. Credit Union league at the annual convention held last week in Penticton. J. H. Wallace was elected to his second term as president.

One of the convention highlights was the formation of a treasurers association to meet at each convention.

J. R. Butler local CU president was official delegate to the sessions in Penticton last week, with M. K. Monro as alternate delegate.

All reports to the convention showed tremendous gains in all type of coverage during 1949-50. Mr. Bleasdale states: "Total coverage at December 31 amounted to $422 millions with that sum mounting to $452 millions by April 30."

Dunne's report for 1950 showed CUNA Mutual still retaining the highest rating possible, that of A plus, (excellent).

Start Insurance Company

Members of the B.C. Credit Unions are in possession of a private bill authorizing an insurance company to commence operation as the Credit Union and Co-operative Insurance Company. It will be set up this fall to cover fire insurance for CU and Co-op members, the convention was informed.

The B.C. Credit Union League report showed steady progress and a year of consolidation. J. W. Burns, managing directors, reports assets had increased $3,744,950 by the year end to a new high total of $10,790,284.

Loans reached a total of $8,772,151, numbers increased 700,160 to a new high of 44,827, he stated. Approximately 200 delegates and visitors attended the banquet in the Legion hall, Penticton, with Mr. Fitzpatrick, inspector of Alberta co-ops as guest speaker.

Walter Bleasdale introduced the entertainment numbers which included Miss Kay Hamilton's girls' choir singing a series of six numbers. Miss Shirley Gardiner was a guest soloist and Mr. Bill Hendry, Penticton, gave two excellent violin selections. As a piano solo, Miss Mary Marshall played a minute. These Summerland artists were highly complimented for their musical attainments. Dance at Ellison Hall

As part of the entertainment for the delegates a dance was held in Ellison hall on Friday evening, June 23.

A crowd of about 180 attended the dance which was convened by chapter representatives Mr. John Caldwell and Mr. Harvey Eden, assisted by their wives.

The evening was considered a great success and dancing was to music supplied by Marcel Bonthoux' orchestra.

Puppet Show and Local Drama Club Draw Big Audience

Friday evening, June 23, the Youth Centre was filled almost to capacity for the entertainment sponsored by the Local Association to the Girl Guides in order to raise money for Guide camp.

First half of the program was the John Conway Puppet Productions, on a summer tour of the valley, from Vancouver.

Squeals of delight from the many children present, as well as the fact that the puppets could be seen and heard plainly at the very back of the large hall demonstrated the possibilities of this type of entertainment which is rather new in the province.

An amusing little skit "As You Wish" preceded the longer play "St. George and The Dragon". In the latter play at times there were four characters shown at once showing the skill of the puppeteers and their versatility. Particularly good were the voice tones of the puppet cast.

The puppet stage, lighting, and costuming were of a high order. Second part of the evening was the play, Lonesome-Like by Harold Brighthouse, directed by Mr. Lacey Fisher.

Cast of the play was Mrs. R. G. Russel, Mrs. W. F. Evans, Mr. W. C. Wilkin and Mr. Alan Elsey. The latter player won an award this spring in the southern Okanagan Drama Festival at Oliver as best male actor in the festival for his acting in this part.

The interested audience gave generous response to the local players.

Heavy Schedule of Games Faces Junior Red Sox

The strong Trail junior baseball club, which numbers several of the players who appeared here on June 5 under Rossland auspices, will play at the Living Memorial athletic park on Dominion Day, July 1, against the Summerland Red Sox.

Manager Joe Sheeley has lined up a series of games for his junior proteges which will keep them hopping for the first few days of July.

Starting with the holiday fixture here against Trail, the Red Sox move to Princeton on Sunday for a junior league fixture.

Then, on July 3 they move south to play Chelan, moving on to Cashmere for a July 4 American holiday fixture.

Last year Cashmere barnstormed as far north as Summerland and staged as nifty an exhibition of junior baseball as has been seen here in many years.

Manager Sheeley will be hard pressed to keep his pitching staff in good condition with this strenuous lineup of games ahead, but states that he feels his charges will be bood for some impressive wins on the tour.

Tennis Teams to Play at Vernon

Kelowna tennis club won from Summerland at the northern courts last Sunday six matches to three with seven others drawn. Dave Collins suffered a sprained ankle but will not be away from his favorite sport for long.

This weekend at least three teams of players from Summerland go to Vernon for the annual American men's doubles tournament. They will be George Fudge and Nick Solly, Don Wright and Dave Collins, Don Johnston and Dave McIntosh.

Last Sunday's Summerland team comprised Fudge and Solly, Wright and Collins, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. N. O. Solly, Mrs. Cuthbert and Miss Betty Jackson.

KAMLOOPS—Eddie Garay and Johnny Erkich, who starred against Summerland Red Sox last year in the interior junior finals have been called to the Victoria Athletics for tryouts.

Red Sox Strong on Hickory to Turn Back Osoyoos 8 to 1

Summerland Red Sox held a definite balance of power last Sunday at Living Memorial athletic park as they smacked out an even dozen hits and scored a convincing 8-1 victory over Osoyoos in a South Okanagan junior league contest.

Francis Gould continued to fatten his average with a four for five performance while Fred Kato had a long, sticking day with a double and a home run with the bases empty.

Ken Brawner whiffed nine opposing players as he limited Osoyoos to four bingles. Two errors by his infield in the seventh robbed Brawner of a shutout.

Red Sox jumped into an early lead when they shoved two runs across in the first on a walk and two hits. They scored another in the second when Ernie Jomori singled and come across on a passed ball.

The third was the big clouting inning and saw Francis Gould lead off with a double, steal home and score on Balas' error. Then followed Kato's homer and Cristante walked, stole second and scored on Pohlmann's single. Two more runs by Sandy Jomori and Eyres completed the counting for the Red Sox in the fourth. Kelly countered Osoyoos' long tally when he was safe at first on Ernie Jomori's miscue and scored when Kato booted what should have been the third out.

Walsh Weakens For 2 Innings At Brewster

Two bad innings spelled defeat for Summerland Merchants at Brewster Sunday, when they went down by a 7-3 score.

After withstanding Brewster's onslaught for three innings Jackie Walsh weakened in the fourth and fifth and the southern boys showed across the necessary tallies to win the ball game and keep ahead of the Merchants in the league standing.

The blond-haired hurler yielded nine clouts to Brewster while his teammates were only garnering six off Tabor and Kiffer, who relieved him in the fourth.

Half the Merchants' hits came in the fourth when Taylor, Brawner and Wally Day combined to send the first two across with the first runs of the game.

The rally was short-lived, however, when Brewster came right back and sent three runs across to go into the lead 3-2, getting four hits off Walsh. The roof fell in when Walsh allowed three passes to first, and two hits in the fifth, four more tallies scampering across. Two errors by Day and Taylor didn't help the situation any.

Both teams tightened up after that, Kuroda breaking the spell in the seventh with a mighty triple, scoring on Dunham's second hit of the day.

Pee Wees Win and Lose to Penticton

AOTS Pee Wees gave Penticton B.A. Oilers a 16-7 drubbing at the Living Memorial athletic park last Saturday afternoon but bowed to Penticton Chevrolets 16-4 on Monday evening in the first two exhibition games of the season.

Despite the fact they had never played against outside teams before the local youngsters put up a splendid showing which augurs well for the future of baseball here.

Seven All Tie Ends In Tenth Frame

Summerland Red Sox invaded Penticton Chiefs' territory last night but didn't quite bring home the scalp, as the two teams battled to a 7-all tie in ten innings.

Down one run going into the sixth Red Sox came to life and blasted in five runs, but the Chiefs came back with three in the same frame and knotted the count in the seventh.

Red Sox went ahead by one in eighth and then the Chiefs took the lead again with a two-run splurge. In the ninth the Red Sox tied it up again and the 10th frame went scoreless.

Washout of Rail Line is Just Averted

Last week, a warning to the general public was issued through the mails by the municipal council under the signature of Reeve C. E. Bentley that further tampering with the water system may lead to serious washouts.

Parents were especially warned of the danger of allowing children to play in ditches or flumes and the placing of objects in them. A short time ago the south main was in grave danger of being washed out because a homemade raft had been allowed to drift free.

"Some parents do not realize they are endangering the whole irrigation system by letting their children play in and around the ditches and flumes and are also endangering the lives of their children," His Worship observed.

On Sunday, June 18, an obstruction in the main ditch from Trout Creek to the south main nearly caused a serious washout of the railway line, he observed.

Divide Work in Tree Removal Valley Scheme

C. A. Hayden, BCFGA secretary, has issued a warning to growers that the B.C. government has not made any commitment concerning the tree removal plan which has been instituted.

Forms to provide an accurate check on the number of trees removed from each BCFGA local district are now on hand at packing houses and the district horticulturist's office.

It was stated last week that the BCFGA chairman, packinghouse representative and district horticulturist would form the committee to check the tree removal plan of each orchard but it has now been deemed this would place too heavy a burden on the BCFGA chairman.

Instead, each BCFGA local chairman has been requested to call his executive together and split the local into districts, each executive member plus the grower's director being a signing party to the agreement.

The forms to be filled out will provide proof of trees removed, show values involved, including replanting costs, and other data necessary to provide the B.C. government with a complete picture of the industry undertaking.

Anglican Campsite To be Dedicated On Sunday, July 2

Next Sunday, July 2, Bishop Clark will dedicate the new Okanagan Anglican campsite on the west side of Okanagan Lake at Wilson's Landing, ten miles north of the Kelowna-Westbank ferry landing.

There the Okanagan Anglican churches have acquired the buildings and property where once the relief camps of the "hungry thirties" functioned. A large playing field, shady picnic grounds and sandy beach have been acquired along with the buildings.

First of a series of summer camps there commenced yesterday, June 28, and will continue until July 5, this being the adult and young people's camp. Senior girls' camp is scheduled for July 5 to 12 followed by junior girls, 12 to 19 and boys under 16 from July 19 to 26.

Programs include sports, hiking, boating, swimming, Bible study lectures, handicrafts, camp paper, and out-of-door chapel.

Camp dean is Rev. L. A. C. Smith of Vernon, director of adult and boys' camps. Mrs. N. O. Solly of Summerland is director of girls' camp. Treasurer is R. G. Birch, Vernon; secretary-caterer, Mrs. Byron-Johnson, Ewing's Landing; cook, Mrs. John Hardeh, Okanagan Mission.

July 1 and 2 have been set aside as visitors' days, while Sunday afternoons are set aside for visitors during the junior girls' and boys' camps.

The dedication service on Sunday will be at 4 o'clock.

SLACK

An ex-U.S. Army Sergeant who may have given Russia an inside tipoff to the first atom bomb explosion in 1945 was arrested by the FBI in New York recently as the second American spy suspect to be seized in 24 hours.

Like 44-year-old chemist ALFRED DEAN SLACK who was nabbed in Syracuse, N.Y., last week, the new suspect, DAVID GREENGLASS, 28, was named as a link in the international spy network exposed with the arrests of DR. KLAUS FUCHS and Philadelphia chemist HARRY GOLD.

Ken McKay of Naramata Captures Most Prizes at Lovely Rose Show

Ken McKay of Naramata was the chief winner of prizes at the Summerland Horticultural Society Rose Show in the Parish hall Tuesday evening, but the best individual rose was submitted by Mrs. George Stoll of Summerland and Mrs. W. H. B. Munn won the prize for the best bowl of roses.

The horticultural cup for six named varieties went to Mr. McKay with an artistic, unique arrangement. Second was Dr. James Marshall and third was Bill Snow.

The Sammet cup for a five-foot rose display also went to Mr. McKay with Bill Snow second.

A bud vase donated by C. Atkinson was the prize won by Mrs. Stoll for her best individual rose, "Narzisse", a pale yellow creation. Mrs. McKay placed second and Mrs. M. Colias third.

Mr. McKay also captured first prize for the vase of 3 roses, Dr. Marshall being second and Mrs. George Woitte third.

Mrs. Munn was winner of the bowl of roses class, with Mr. McKay second and Mr. Snow third.

Quality of the roses displayed was better than in any previous year, experts agreed and the wealth of color made a beautiful display.

One of the special highlights was the beautiful rose display, banked by huge delphiniums, exhibited by the Summerland experimental station.

new rose entitled "Peace" which is a deep cream rose with a pale pink edge.

Refreshments were served and were in charge of Mrs. R. Leinor and Mrs. A. J. McKenzie.
