EDITORIAL

Let us pause to give thanks on this historic Day for the plentifulness and continuing spirit of freedom afforded us through the years by this great country of ours.

Concerning the Blind

THROUGHOUT the year this community responds generously to the many calls made upon it to support the needs of others less fortunate. The request for our practical concern and interest for the welfare of the blind is one call which knowingly we never overlook. We find it difficult to understand how life might continue to be complete without sight.

To us blindness is puzzling, bewildering, almost without understanding. We do not know how we could continue our family and community relations, our employment, our full life with respect to recreation, social and cultural activities. We do not know how we would meet blindness if it came to us tomorrow. It is good, therefore, to know that something is being done about all this for our blind fellow citizens throughout this province.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is constantly assisting many hundreds of our blind friends to understand blindness and all that it means.
The staff of the Institute counsel and teach in all things which will be supplementary and helpful to those who are without sight. The experience and knowledge of this organization is extended throughout this province by social workers, home teachers, field secretaries, employment specialists, and many others so that the blind of British Columbia now receive those services which are so necessary to them.

We may well ask ourselves "What would we do if we were to lose our sight tomorrow?" The obvious answer would be for us to seek the service and advice of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in order to help us to a fuller understanding of life without sight and the method by which we might become adjusted to it.

Our consideration of the needs of the blind and of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind which provides the answer, will prompt us to be more generous than ever as we respond to the current appeal on behalf of the blind.

The Women's Institute is conducting a tag day on behalf of the blind this Saturday. The Summerland branch of the CNIB has appealed for individual donations on behalf of the same fund. Please be generous in your contributions.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

The Okanagan, with its orchards red with apples, its generous gardens, and its occasional fields of grain, is a grand place to spend Thanksgiving, the great food and harvest festival. The only ingredient of the Thanksgiving dinner which isn't common here is the turkey.

Far different the farm of my childhood; we had to buy all our apples, and our pumpkin pie was synthetically made from vegetable marrows; but we always had a flock of turkeys, and the plumpest of the young birds was the traditional sacrifice for the Thanksgiving feast.

There was one year, however—it must have been 1919, the year my brother got back from World War I—when Mother felt that Thanksgiving was something very special and to do it justice, decreed that we kill and eat the biggest turkey gobbler, the patriarch of the flock.

It was Father's task to kill all table fowl with the axe, and he hated the job, because it was rare that he succeeded in severing the head cleanly, even of a chicken; there was almost always a bit of loose skin left uncut, and before he could get it the next time, the bird would start to kick convulsively, which made things both awkward and messy, and upset Father considerably.

When he took that thirty-pound gobbler out of the coop and saw the girth of his neck and the great folds of loose skin which encased it, he was filled with misgivings.

However, he laid the bird across the block, got its neck straightened out, and was just swinging up the axe when the gobbler turned its head and winked at him.

Startled, Father turned his head decently away again, and again raised his axe. Suddenly the gobbler stretched forth its neck and gave a tremendous gobble which resounded from the hills around;
the axe stroke went wild, the bird broke loose and went pelting across the yard, shouting "Ge-hobble-oh-ble-obbble" triumphantly.

It was too much for Father; he flung the axe down and came charging into the house, his face as red as the gobbler's wattles.

"A confounded axe is no good for a confounded bird like that," he roared. "Where's that confounded sword?"

My brother had brought back a German cavalry sabre as a trophy, and before anyone could stop him,
Father had torn it off the wall and gone storming back outside like the last charge of the Guards at Waterloo. The gobbler was so busy strutting, with all his bronze-back feathers puffed out, tail spread and wings dragging, that he never saw Father till the sword swept; but he ducked like a flash.
Deflated instantly to half the size, he scuttled away in a hurry and Father, breathing fire and slaughter, tore after him.

His idea was excellent; the long blade, which my brother had lovingly honed to razor sharpness, was far surer than a narrow axe to remove a head cleanly. But somehow, Father seemed to hit everything but the gobbler with it.

He took a slice out of a fence post, sliced half through the top board on a wooden gate, and raked a peaceful pig from shoulder to ham.
It was only a surface scratch, but the pig galloped off screaming bloody murder, and various horses and cattle about the yard took fright and began running ponderously in all directions.

Father was not only interrupted by them in his frantic pursuit, but nearly run over several times; he began to swing his sword up threateningly at the larger animals, and it looked as though Mother might have to stagger in from the kitchen with a stuffed Percheron or Hereford on the platter instead of a crisp browned turkey.

So she ran out and persuaded Father that she had changed her mind and they were going to have chicken instead. It was too late to do much else, for the turkeys were too wild ordinarily to select a suitable one from among them and catch him in broad daylight.

However, a small group of them in the barnyard were so busy scratching for grain, so sure that the bell tolled not for them, that they let my parents walk by within ten feet of them, and one raised its head inquiringly. Father made a sudden lunge with the sword, and Mother gave a scream.

"One of my best laying birds," she wailed.
But its head was off slick as a whistle; and we had turkey for our Thanksgiving dinner after all.

Well, the last dance proved to be a great success and we're certainly glad that we have quite a few new members starting. Keep it up, kids! By the way if these new members want to buy a membership card for the rest of the year or until the new cards come out, they'll only cost 50c.
This week there is going to be another dance and we'll also have the ping-pong tables set up for those of you who do not wish to dance. There will also be refreshments and a variety of dances to keep everyone peppy. The dance starts at 8:30 and the admission is 25c for members and 35c for non-members.
The four new council members are: Doreen Killback, Arlene Raincock, Esther Metters and Ken Brawner.
British are considering ending the government monopoly of the air waves in that country. BBC may be faced with competition from private radio stations.

Singers & Players Club
In beginning this column the first thing that we must do is to thank the editor of The Summerland Review for allowing us this space in which we hope to bring you, week by week, news of the progress of Summerland Singers and Players Club for the season 1950-51.
Your executive for this coming season—that is of course the "we" of this column—is Stan Gladwell, president; A. K. Macleod, past president; Mrs. Flora Bergstrom, vice-president; Mrs. Nan Watt, secretary; Mrs. Ethel McNeill, singers' representative; Mrs. Ivy Mason, players' representative. And the first thing we have the pleasure of announcing is that Mr. Bud Stuart has again consented to act as musical director for the Singers and Mr. Lacey Fisher as director for the Players.
Our aim this season is not only to provide activities for all in the community who are interested in singing and acting, but also for those who would undertake other essentials of stagecraft such as scene designing and painting, stage carpentry and lighting, and costuming. Perhaps we may be able later to include directing and writing—in short we may eventually develop complete workshop and studio activities.
The first meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 24, at 8:00 p.m. at the high school.
We plan to produce at least one Gilbert and Sullivan opera and one three-act play and on the evening of the first meeting we are prepared to go ahead at once casting and rehearsing. Music has been ordered and costumes have been acquired for. Set designing can begin at once. We shall have a complete layout of flats to build for the players. We hope, therefore, that everybody interested in helping us this season in any capacity whatever will be at our first meeting two weeks from next Tuesday evening.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES
At the last court of honor meeting troop strength was set for the year at 35 boys consisting of five patrols of seven plus secretary and troop leader.
Four new boys were admitted to the troop, namely, G. Hackman, J. Cuthbert, A. Gillespie and E. Baillie. Hackman is a transfer from 1st Penticton and Baillie from South Burnaby. We welcome these boys and know they will make good Scouts.
There are still a number of boys on the waiting list and these will be accepted as openings occur. Parents are asked to note that the troop has a ruling that any boy missing more than two meetings without a valid excuse received in writing or by phone, from a parent, is removed from troop strength. This ruling has been in effect for nearly two years and is applied when occasion demands. Because of the number of boys who wish to join the troop it is necessary to insist that those in the troop take a real interest in the work.
Patrol standings in points are low: Hawks 156, Beavers 112, Eagles 97, Buffaloes 78 and Cougars 55. Each badge, as awarded, counts 10 points.
The instruction for the evening by ASM McCargar dealt with the composition and history of the Union Jack.
Recruits wishing to take their Tenderfoot flag test may do so next week.
The troop was also favored by a visit from District Commissioner Harley Hatfield, who spoke briefly to the troop and presented Kings Scout certificates to Scouts R. Tingley, L. Carston and L. Youngman. He also presented the silver Arrowhead award to Geo. Pohlmann.
"A" cords were presented to Richard Blewett and handyman badges to D. Doumont and L. Kliz.
A week from Saturday, Oct. 14, is Apple Day and all Scouts are particularly asked to be present at the next meeting to arrange for covering the district on Apple Day.
Notices—Next meeting Tuesday, Oct. 10, 7 p.m. Youth Centre. Duty

Hundreds of Blind Get Needed Aid
Today the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is faced with the job of helping greater numbers of sightless Canadians than ever before. It is a grave responsibility that can only be met with your financial help.
Last year in British Columbia there were 1369 blind cases registered with the Institute. Among other services, these individuals have received training; direct employment and placement through the Institute; they have received full use of the Institute's library of both Braille and talking books; they have been provided with outlets for their products through the Institute's salesroom department; many have received medical treatment, including operations and hospitalization.
In addition, the Institute's prevention service has saved the sight of many who were threatened with complete blindness.
Here are the figures: Number of registered blind in B.C., 1369; receiving social service, 1236; receiving eye service, 56; receiving home teaching, 285; salesroom service, 396; receiving library service, 335; receiving employment service, 205; receiving concessions (streetcar passes, radio licences, theatre passes, reduced rail and bus fares, etc.) 886; receiving allowances, 159; receiving general services, 965; number of registered prevention cases, 3948.
Generous support of the current appeal on behalf of the blind, will insure the continuity of all these services and help to introduce many additional ones which are needed.

High School COMMENTS
For a month now, SHS has been functioning fairly smoothly, despite the overcrowded classrooms. All available space, from basement rooms to the MacDonald School playshed, is being used for classes.
We have started the junior-senior high system, with grades 7 to 12 inclusive, in preparation for our move to the new school.
We welcome five new teachers to this year's staff. They are Miss Richards, Miss Macfarlane, Mr. Brown, Mr. Greer and Mr. Sanford, who teach both junior and senior students.
Five 55-minute periods a day replace the old system of seven, 45-minute periods. To even the timetable we are working on a 7-day week system, for example: If Monday, October 2 is Day 1, then the following Monday, October 9, is Day 6 and so on.
There is a new Campus Chaff staff this year, headed by Editor Don Allison, who hopes to have the first publication out by the end of this month.
Graham Munn is president of the students' council this term. Jacqueline Trafford is secretary and Daryl Weitzel takes his position as treasurer for the second consecutive time.
The council has announced that the school is to be divided into four houses this year, instead of the usual two. There is a new council system, under way, also. There is to be a junior council and a senior council and the students' council, which is over all. The students' council will handle all money matters. Further information on the council system will be given next week.
That's all the news for now—until next time.

Postpone Soccer In Favor of Apple Picking

Shortage of pickers in the orchards has played havoc with the soccer football schedule of the central Okanagan high schools.

A home and home series was arranged between Rutland, Kelowna and Summerland teams, to start last Saturday, but the need for pickers in Kelowna orchards was so great that the games had to be called off.

All three schools boast both senior boys' and senior girls' teams. Rutland is scheduled to appear here this coming Saturday to play games at the Living Memorial athletic park against the local Bluebirds. The two following Saturdays see Summerland Bluebird teams travelling to Rutland and Kelowna.

An attempt will be made to have the postponed Kelowna at Summerland contest played off in mid-week, so that a central Okanagan winner can be declared by October 21. Playoffs with winners in other Okanagan zones will then be arranged.

At Summerland high, boys' soccer is being handled by Peter Greer, while Miss A. Semak is handling the girls' team.

The Summerland girls played their first game of soccer against Penticton last week. The southern girls scored three goals in the first half but were held scoreless in the second stanza.

Quiet Nuptials At St. Stephen's

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Stephen's Anglican church, West Summerland by Rev. Canon F. V. Harrison on Saturday, September 30, at 11 o'clock when Lilian (Mollie) Lee, younger daughter of Mrs. L. E. Lee and the late J. A. Lee became the bride of Richard (Dick) Llewellyn Lloyd, son of Mrs. Hilda Lloyd and the late F. C. Lloyd.

It Means "Get Out of Town"

This is the heading of a leaflet addressed to the people of 10 North Korean cities by headquarters of the U.S. Far East Command. Printed in blue and red, the big letters inside the bomb burst say, "Act quickly! Move away from military targets." The text then warns that while UN forces wish to avoid harming civilians, its planes will destroy military targets.

Agriculture Under Review at Ottawa in Early December

OTTAWA—The annual federal-provincial agricultural conference will open in Ottawa on Monday, December 4, it is announced by Right Hon. James G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture. Sessions will last three days, December 4, 5 and 6, and will be held in the railway committee room of the House of Commons under the chairmanship of Mr. A. M. Shaw, chairman, agricultural prices support board.

As in other years, representatives of the federal and provincial departments of agriculture and of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture will get together to review the past year and to size up the possibilities for the coming one.

Initiated at the beginning of the war to encourage free and frank exchange of agricultural opinion from one end of Canada to the other, such a conference has since been continued at the request of provinces and organized farm groups.

Immediately following the conference the national advisory committee on agricultural services will meet in the board room of the department of agriculture, Confederation building. This committee brings together the deans of agricultural colleges, provincial deputy ministers of agriculture, and federal officials.

Testimonial Dinner On Saturday Night

The high esteem which Canadian newspapermen hold for Walter S. Thompson, retiring director of public relations for the Canadian National Railways System, will be marked this week with the conferring on Mr. Thompson of life membership in the Montreal Men's Press Club.

The only other person to ever receive the same unique honor is Governor-General Viscount Alexander.

The presentation will be made on Saturday, October 7, at a testimonial dinner being held in Montreal in appreciation of Mr. Thompson's untiring work with the nation's press during more than 35 years of handling publicity for the CNR and for many of Canada's most distinguished visitors.

The dinner, which is under the patronage of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, is being attended by several hundred colleagues of Mr. Thompson in press, radio, magazine and public relations fields throughout Canada and from the United States and overseas.

Mr. Thompson retired on October 1st and is being replaced by G. Herbert Lash.

Hope Handles Thousands of Tourist Calls

PRINCETON—The tourist bureau at Hope dealt with an estimated 35,000 travellers during the 1950 season. Frank Dunningham, director for Princeton, reported to the board of trade last week. Cost of operation was less than 10c per head.

Revenue for last year, Mr. Dunningham stated, totalled just over $3,200. Expenses, which included nearly $900 for the pan-abode style building ran to just about $3,000. It is the intention of the directors to cease operation on or about October 15 as by that time finances will have run out and they wish to enter the new year with no debts. Directors felt, however, that the bureau should eventually be open on a year-round basis.

Cost of raising funds had run too high, Mr. Dunningham said. Commissions to agents soliciting for the bureau had eaten up over $600 of revenue. It was felt that if local boards of trade would assume the job of collecting that there would be more to devote to actual operation.

Year-round operation could be managed on almost the same financial income now that the building was paid for if other costs could be cut.

Support for the bureau had been relatively good in the Cariboo district despite a bad season in that area due to the condition of the Canyon Highway.

Mr. Dunningham denied emphatically rumours that the bureau had diverted traffic from the Canyon, stating the ladies in charge had not attempted to advise tourists where to go, but merely how to get there, and provided them with what information they sought as to accommodation and facilities in the district to which they were heading.

More than 4,000 cars were registered at the bureau in the two months a check was kept, and estimating three to four to each car this would mean a total of 15,000 to 20,000 who had made use of the bureau's facilities, said Mr. Dunningham.

In addition, it was believed the number who failed to register, and those stopping earlier in the year, before the register was begun, would bring the total of users to 35,000.

The bureau reported a strong demand for fishing and tourist folders, but stated what was required was a simplified and compact folder for each district. The tourist objected to being handed a bulky collection of miscellaneous folders.

An effort will be made, said from the B.C. Government Travel Mr. Dunningham, to obtain a grant Bureau toward maintenance of the bureau at Hope. It was also suggested that the B.C. Automobile Association might be interested in contributing. A regular scale of contributions for individual businesses, based on what each may be expected to receive from tourist trade, is going to be worked out by the bureau, stated Mr. Dunningham.

Young Hunter Lost For Night Only

Gordon Pohlmann was lost for a short time last weekend on a hunting trip but only during the hours of darkness. Together with Al McCargar and Ron Keeley of Penticton, Gordon set out grouse hunting Saturday afternoon from Fish lake.

When darkness overtook him he found that he did not know his whereabouts, so he made himself as comfortable as possible and with his dog to keep his feet warm spent a lonely night.

In the morning he soon discovered that he had wandered over to Garnet Valley dam. He returned home to report in and went out again to find his two companions who spent several hours Sunday morning in a vain effort to find him.

Can Apples, Tomatoes For Hospital Larder

Summerland General hospital will be well supplied with apple sauce and tomato juice this winter, through the combined efforts of members of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary and the co-operation of Barkwill's Ltd. cannery.

In the past week 186 gallons of apple juice and 550 cans of tomato juice were processed at Barkwill's cannery by the auxiliary members.

The auxiliary has accepted the offer of Mrs. R. Cornish to make and dress a large doll for Christmas raffle purposes.

Mr. J. R. Bentley, who is employed this fall at the coast was a weekend visitor at his Summerland home.

Second Girl Guide Company To be Formed

Decision to form another Girl Guide company and to attempt to form a Ranger company for girls 15 and over has been made by the local Guiders recently.

1st Summerland Girl Guide Company will meet on Wednesdays at the Youth Centre with Mrs. Betty McIntosh continuing in charge. The new 2nd Summerland company will be under the care of Miss Gwen Atkinson and will hold weekly meetings Friday evening.

It is expected that these companies will have membership of thirty girls each when up to full strength.

Mrs. Ruth Caldwell and Miss Louise Atkinson are assisting in the formation of a new Ranger company taking in girls 15 years and over. The Ranger leader has not been chosen, as yet.

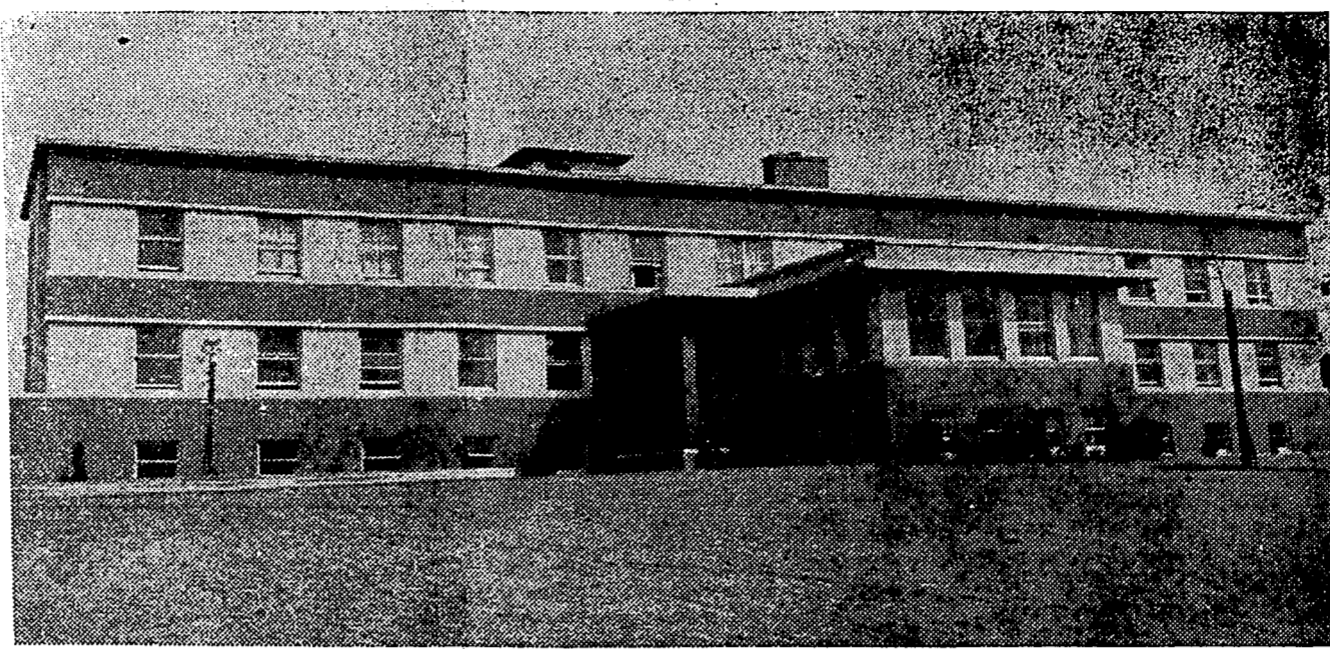

Mrs. William Laidlaw has taken charge of the 1st Brownie pack and Mrs. Ryan Lawson continues to have charge of the 2nd Brownie pack.

One of the most pressing needs for the continuance of this work among local girls is that of more Guiders. No previous experience is needed to become a Guider, it is being stressed.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Elliott returned last weekend from a motor trip which took them as far east as Winnipeg, Man.

United Church Manse Is Wedding Scene

On Thursday evening, September 28, at 8 o'clock, a quiet wedding was solemnized in the United church manse, West Summerland, by Rev. H. R. Whitmore when Mrs. Mary K. Thompson was united in marriage with Mr. Charles Minshull.

The bride wore a lovely grey tailored suit, grey hat with wine gloves and purse and a corsage of carnations in wine shade.

Attending as witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Nelson, son-in-law and daughter of the bride, Mrs. Nelson also wore a most becoming grey tulleur with wine accessories and carnation corsage en tone.

A family reception followed, after which Mr. and Mrs. Minshull flew to the coast where they are spending some time in Vancouver and Island points.

Nuptials At Coast are of Wide Interest

Two well-known families in the South Okanagan were united in a candle-lit ceremony at New Westminster on Monday, September 25, when Barbara Athlone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. McDowell of New Westminster, formerly of Penticton, became the bride of William Stanley McPherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McPherson of West Summerland.

The rites were solemnized in Annieville Lutheran church, with Rev. Mr. Haave officiating.

For her marriage, the bride had chosen a beautiful gown of blue taffeta, ballerina style with blue lace inserts. A lovely accessory note was her tiny chapeau in matching color, trimmed with blue feathers and net veiling.

For flowers she wore a mauve orchid. Her only jewelry was a pearl pendant.

Miss Diane McDowell was her sister's bridesmaid and wore a pink and mauve flowered taffeta dress.

Mr. Jack Stocks of Penticton was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's table was covered with a delicate lace cloth and centred with the prettily decorated wedding cake.

Serviteurs were Miss Jean McPherson, sister of the groom, and Miss Tove Ricci of Vancouver, a school friend of the bride.

For a wedding trip by car through the Okanagan and Cariboo, the bride wore an attractive grey suit with wine colored accessories.

The couple will reside at 458 Forest Brook Drive, Penticton.

The bride attended school in Penticton and worked for some time in the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Mr. McPherson attended University of B.C. and is an employee of Grant King Co. Ltd., Penticton.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McPherson; Miss Jean McPherson of Calgary; Mr. Fred Gardwick of Vancouver and Mrs. George Sharp and son, John, of Chemalun.

TWO SITTINGS FOR THANKSGIVING DINNER Mrs. Colin Campbell and Mrs. Walter B. Powell are convenors for the annual Thanksgiving Day supper which is being held in the United church hall on Monday evening, October 9.

Cancer Society to Continue Combat Against Dread Disease

Welcoming delegates to the semi-annual conference of the British Columbia division, Canadian Cancer Society in Vancouver last week, Mr. R. Bruce Buckerfield, president of the Division, paid tribute to the generosity with which the public had supported this year's "Conquer Cancer Campaign".

"But," said Mr. Buckerfield, "we should not take it for granted that this support will continue. The public will support us only to the extent that we deserve their support, and only so long as we continue to enlarge our activities and, in expending the funds subscribed, are successful in attaining the aims of the society."

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, a Director of the B.C. division of the Cancer Society, attended the conference from Summerland.

Mrs. O'Mahony gave a report on the activities of the Summerland unit and, in the absence of Mr. Sid A. Hodge of Penticton, reported on the South Yale district council.

Dr. O. H. Warwick of Toronto, executive director of the Canadian Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute of Canada was guest speaker. He said that on a per capita basis Canadian efforts in medical research equal those in any other country.

Today, well over $1,000,000 is being spent in Canadian university and hospital laboratories. The National Research Council is spending approximately half a million dollars and the national cancer institute over $350,000. One half of this latter amount is contributed by the Canadian Cancer Society.

So far this year, said Mrs. F. Myer Brown, presenting the welfare committee's report, 217 cases have received welfare assistance, at a cost of $11,049. This welfare fund covers the cost of transportation, boarding or nursing home care, housekeeper service in the home, drugs and special comforts for cancer sufferers.

Dr. G. F. Strong, chairman of the fellowship, research and bursary committee, said that the B.C. Division had given $28,750 so far this year for research projects and post-graduate studies. Recipients of the bursaries are doctors, nurses and technicians who, having completed their advanced training, return to this province to practise. Thus the people of British Columbia, who so generously support the "Conquer Cancer Campaign", benefit directly from the most up-to-date methods of cancer treatment and cancer care.

Education of the lay public as far as early symptoms of this disease are concerned is one of the primary functions.

G. F. Scott, chairman of the education and publicity committee, said that in the last eight months the B. C. Division has spent $14,817 on educational material, films, publications, pamphlets, etc.

The high school essay contest held early this year was an unequivocal success and will be repeated next spring.

"We regard it," said Mr. Scott, "as an excellent means of getting high school students in British Columbia interested in the work of the cancer society, and we are happy to report that we have had encouraging support from high school principals throughout the province.

Delegates attending the conference expressed the view that the meeting had presented an opportunity for discussion and exchange of ideas, essential to progress and increased activity in such an organization as the Cancer Society.

GO TO VANCOUVER
Sale of the Arthur Lamcraft home on the Station road to Mr. Tom Fisher was completed recently. Mr. and Mrs. Lamcraft, who have made a host of friends in this district in the past ten years, have purchased a home in Vancouver and will be moving to the coast this month.

Fishing-Hunting Reports

(By Bert Berry)

FISHING

Fishing on Okanagan Lake has been very good but only for small ones up to two pounds. The harder people will be getting the big ones in November. Just remember, the Kokanee are running but it is illegal to net or gaff them.

All upper lakes are good. Headwaters No. 2 dam gave a really good catch last week. Fishing anywhere is dependable now, so if the deer are hard to get try the fishing.

HUNTING

Lots of hunting so far but not much shooting. Only one deer last week came in and that from the Armstrong district. There has been snow on the upper reaches and if this condition holds we may see the main herds of deer down in our hunting areas. Right now they are still back in the thick brush.

Blue grouse seem to be as plentiful as ever, very few coming back without the chance at limit bags; however they are wild and elusive. (Take lots of ammo), willow are not as plentiful and few have come out. They live lower down and the first few days or hunting thin them out.

George Penntigton and Clarence Lackey left Saturday for the Windermere country in hopes of elk; wish them the best of luck. Alf Johnston and Ron Taylor are back from the same district and report that it's a little too early and they hadn't connected.

Ivor Nelson was away to the Cariboo last week for moose. Seems about the right time for moose as other parties so far came away without game and claimed it was too early.

Ducks opened October 1 and locally there are a few in the sloughs and lakes. A few ducks have been bagged already. Percy Wilson and Ken Heales are going to Merritt country this weekend so we will be able to report on that district next week.

Ezzard Charles

who scored a popular 15-round decision over Joe Louis to become undisputed world heavyweight champion. Louis' attempt at a comeback found him willing and still cunning but lacking the youth and footwork of days gone by.

Local Senior Cagers Enter Interior Loop

Summerland will field a senior basketball aggregation, it has been decided by the hoopsters in the past few days, and will also enter the Okanagan senior loop which will probably comprise seven squads.

Last Sunday at Vernon the annual Interior Basketball Assn. meeting returned Andy Bennie to his perennial position as president and re-elected Jack Hooper, also of Pentiction, as secretary-treasurer.

The senior league which has been operated the past two years by the official hoop body will again function and is expected to comprise Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland, Pentiction, Oliver and Princeton teams.

Pentiction captured the league title last year and went on to a brilliant B.C. senior B championship. The Pentiction entry is expected to be even stronger this season.

Lacey Fisher has consented to coach the local senior team and has called for practices on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and also Sunday afternoons at the school gym.

Will Miss Jack Walsh
Jack Walsh's removal to Kamloops has made a big hole in the Summerland squad and will mean that the mainline city will be bolstered considerably.

However, a number of last year's high school stalwarts will be bolstering the seniors of the past season. George Clark, star of many seasons, will be available once more it is learned while Jack Dunham, Don Nesbitt, Bill Clark, Butch White and Lionel Guild will also be in strip. Newcomers will be Wally Day, Sandy Jomori and Fred Kato.

Keith McLean is expected back shortly to spend the winter after a few months of commercial fishing on the Pacific Coast. It is not known yet if John Vanderburgh will be playing here this season.

Vancouver Arctic Club senior A hoopsters are seeking a game with Summerland hoopsters later this month before the season swings into action at the coast.

Sportsmanship in Team and Individual Play is Stressed

To be a good loser, to win gracefully and to appreciate the lot of others was the ideal of sportsmanship presented by Dr. D. Waddell to members of the AOTS club and guests on Thursday in an address on "The Place of Sports in the Community".

Individual games tend to contribute more to a sense of sportsmanship than do team sports, it was stated by the speaker. He expressed the thought that in team sports the tendency is to place winning above sportsmanship in too many games. Too often a team will lower itself to the tactics of the opposition in order to win.

Dr. Waddell asked members of the AOTS to assist in encouraging young people to play badminton. It is now being promoted on the junior level in the Okanagan with a valley championship to be declared.

Dr. Waddell is in charge of organizing badminton in the valley and he would be pleased to assist both boys and girls to get started in this game which is one of the few that could be carried on successfully in adult life.

Special guests at the club dinner were the winning six of the Cub Pack for the three months' previous. Other guests included Tom Manning and George Perry, of the Camp Sorec committee, whose valuable services in that project were greatly appreciated.

A presentation was made by Bill Jenkinson and Alan Calvert on behalf of the AOTS to Ernie Bennett for his fine leadership, his time and energy expended in making Camp Sorec so very successful, and in appreciation for his many services to the club and community in so many ways. The thunder of prolonged applause which greeted this gesture was indicative of the way the boys feel about Ernie.

Congratulations were expressed to the Red Sox ball club on winning the provincial junior championship. Their present coaches, Joe Sheeley and Harry Braddock, as well as others who assisted the team were praised for their fine efforts.

The AOTS decided to sponsor the noted Swiss lecturer, Oscar Lindi, who is coming to Summerland on Oct. 26. Mr. Lindi illustrates his lectures with slides and films. It was decided to sponsor pee-wee basketball as last year, provided the gym is available.

A report on the Scout troop being formed by the AOTS was given. One reason for its formation was that it was Scout policy to have continuity between Cubs and Scouts. Another consideration is the overflow from the present Scout troop sponsored by the Legion.

At the close of the meeting, Rev. Don Farris of the Naramata school was introduced. He spoke briefly stating that he was soon returning to China and hoped to continue working toward bettering conditions in that poverty-stricken country. He will be working with the United Nation's commission.

President Bert Stent on behalf of the club, wished him every success in his undertaking.

Encourage Juniors in Shuttle Club

Cecil Morgan was elected president of the Summerland Badminton club at a well-attended and enthusiastic annual meeting in the badminton hall Tuesday evening.

He succeeds George Fudge who has guided the destinies of the shuttle club here for a good many years, but who declined to accept nomination once more.

Miss Betty Jackson is continuing as secretary-treasurer while executive members are Miss Evelyn Bowell, Dr. M. F. Welsh and Dr. Dave Waddell.

It is hoped that a greater interest in junior badminton will be created this winter and every effort will be made to interest young players in the sport.

An increased membership even over last year's record number is expected for the 1950-51 season.

YANKEES GO ONE UP

New York Yankees won the first World Series game Wednesday 1-0 from the Philadelphia Phillies, hitting Konstanty for four bingles and his successor Mayers for one. Yanks' winning pitcher Raschi only allowed two hits, and his team played errorless ball to one miscue by the Phillies.

Pentiction Marauders Wallop Kelowna 36-0

Pentiction Marauders, still smarting from the one-sided licking handed them by the more experienced Vancouver Meralomas, travelled to Kelowna last Sunday and smacked that city's Grizzlies all over the lot for a 36-0 Canadian football victory.

Melvin Wells, of The Review mechanical staff, is a valued member of the Marauders, and plays left wing back position.

This was the first game of the newly-organized Okanagan-Mainline Canadian Football league. Next game sees Kamloops appearing at Pentiction on Thanksgiving Day afternoon.

Five-pin Loop Gets Away on Tuesday Night

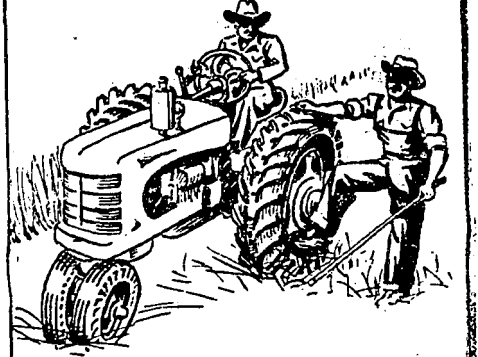

Next week, probably on Tuesday, the new King-Pin five-pin bowling league will get underway at the Bowldrome with at least twenty teams consisting of seven players each competing.

First half of the schedule is being compiled this week by Miss Nan Thornthwaite and will be released by the weekend, it is expected.

This league takes the place of three leagues which operated the last two winters at the Bowldrome. One large loop to encompass the Merchants, Open and Peachland leagues is in prospect. League games will be played Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Fridays will be partly open bowling with Rotary and Kiwanis taking over at 8:30 o'clock probably by mid-October.

Complete details of the first half of the new loop schedule will be published in next week's issue of The Review.

Reduction in Power, Light Rates is Council Present for New Year

When the New Year dawns in 1951 recipients of electric light and power bills from the Corporation of the Municipality of Summerland will have a pleasant surprise...

Cunningham is Interested in Water Supply

Commissioner J. G. Cunningham was most interested in council proposals to provide a more permanent water supply from the lower town springs...

He was reporting on a visit paid to Summerland last week by the game commissioner, following a letter which council had despatched pointing out that only through a temporary dam structure...

Water Foreman E. Kercher has estimated that a permanent dam construction in the area of the springs would cost $1,000 and could be spread over two or three years.

The game commission is thinking of enlarging the fish hatchery here if more property could be obtained, Mr. Cunningham stated.

"You have the best fish hatchery in B.C.," Game Commissioner Cunningham informed His Worship.

He was given a thorough insight into the operations of the springs in lower town and expressed considerable interest in the proposition that a separate pipe be laid from the springs to the hatchery so that if the general supply is depleted at any time, the hatchery would still be assured its water.

Calvert's Favor Zone Jobs

The name Calvert and Legion zone committees seem to be synonymous. Chairman of the South Okanagan-Similkameen zone of the Canadian Legion is Alan Calvert, secretary of Summerland branch.

Legion Hears Part Canada Must Play

Keynote of the convention was that Canada faces a difficult and serious world situation and must prepare herself to meet it, Frank Colclough, Penticton, zone representative to the recent Dominion Command, Canadian Legion convention in Winnipeg informed the Summerland branch last night.

General Crerar, Brooke Claxton, Hughes Lapointe and the Dominion Command president all stressed that Canada must start preparing either for war or a long seige in which the army, navy and airforce must be kept up to required strength, he pointed out.

Legion convention voted unanimously to place Canada on a total preparedness basis which would include scientific mobilization not only of manpower but of all the resources of the nation.

In all, 191 resolutions were dealt with by the Legionnaires, and British Columbia delegates were extremely careful to be present at all sessions. E. C. Legion delegates also came nearer to voting together on all subjects than any other provincial command, despite the many disagreements which ensued in the B.C. caucus, he stressed.

One of the key policies of the Legion is now the children's program, Mr. Colclough stressed. Many branches have adopted a plan whereby Legion members have become foster fathers to children who lost their father in the war.

This is work which cannot be done by a committee or by voting money, but can only be accomplished by individual members devoting their time to the needs of these unfortunate children, Mr. Colclough stated.

It can become the greatest work accomplished by any Legion branch, he intimated.

Building Falls Off Sharply In September

September building fell off sharply, only $4,550 in permits being issued during the month, Roy F. Angus' report to the council on Tuesday indicated.

One new dwelling was commenced at a value of $3,000 and four permits for alterations and additions came to $1,550.

With this lack of interest in building it would appear that the half million dollar mark will not be reached by the year end, Mr. Angus feels.

For the nine months ending September 30, 88 permits had been issued at a value of $485,605. In the corresponding period of 1949, 130 permits were valued at $270,300. In the one month of September, 1949, 23 permits were issued for $27,405 against the meagre amount for September this year.

However, Summerland building stands up well against figures for other bigger valley centres. Vernon's total for the nine months is not a great deal more, at $658,050, but Kelowna is way out in front with $1,240,570.

Finds Little Kitten Abandoned in Rain

This morning, when John Helchoert made his usual trip to the municipal refuse ground, he found a small, yellow kitten mewing pitifully in the rain. The little animal had evidently been abandoned there by some heartless owner.

"A summary of the findings in all districts will be sent to each club contributing to this effort," Mr. Taylor concludes.

Retail Stores Closing Here Monday To Allow Employees Long Weekend In Orchards Picking Big Apple Crop

With the middle of October looming near, the time when most of the apple crop should be picked, the state of emergency in the apple orchards of Summerland still exists.

Every available person is needed to get the bumper apple crop off the trees as there has been a shortage of pickers from the start and as far as outside help is concerned there is little likelihood of any assistance coming here.

Retail stores are being asked to close all day Monday so that employers and employees can go into the orchards and assist the growers. They closed all day Wednesday this week for the same reason.

Rain has hampered the volunteers and regular pickers for the past week and thousands more boxes would have come off the trees by this time if the weather had been better.

Added to the lack of pickers, the shortage of boxes here looms as another big drawback to the picking season.

Postpone Pro-Con Annual Meeting

When apples are ready to harvest and men and women are working hard throughout all day-light hours to pick the fruit before frosts can set in, there is little interest in politics.

At least that was the conclusion some seven members of the Summerland Progressive Conservative Assn. came to on Tuesday evening at the Nu-Way Annex when they turned out for the annual meeting and election of officers.

Such a meagre turnout was not sufficient to transact business, it was felt, so the meeting was postponed until a more propitious time, probably early next spring.

In the meantime, A. E. Gardner will carry on as president and Alan Calvert as secretary.

Blakeborough to Plan Alterations

H. A. Blakeborough, retired Kelowna city engineer, has been retained to provide Summerland municipal council with a detailed plan for renovation of the electrical switching station in West Summerland.

Reeve C. E. Bentley informed council Mr. Blakeborough had visited here at council request while Councillor F. E. Atkinson, electrical department head, was in the east.

Mr. Blakeborough has consented to undertake the planning and will submit his suggestions before the end of the year.

Legion Branch to Press for Money Bylaw to Renovate Ellison Hall

Summerland branch Canadian Legion will spearhead a drive to persuade council to submit a money bylaw to the ratepayers at the December 10 elections to renovate Ellison hall and install necessary furnace so that the old building can be utilized in winter months.

This was the decision of the Legion monthly meeting last night and a committee of President Ross McLaughlin, D. L. Sanborn, Nat May and E. E. Bates was appointed to pursue the dictates of the meeting.

The resolution which was adopted without a dissenting vote recommended that "we take the initiative in having a bylaw submitted for the renovation of Ellison hall, there being no suitable hall of a size for larger functions in Summerland."

Some discussion ensued over the possibility that council might look

Australian Rotarian Presents Pennant

Presentation of a pennant from his home town Rotary club in Leeton, New South Wales, Australia, to the Rotary Club of Summerland was made last Friday evening at the Nu-Way Annex by Mr. Bruce French, an interesting visitor to the experimental station last week.

Mr. French has been investigating research stations in North America on behalf of the agricultural department of Australia and his visit here last week was on the final lap of his journey.

Will Not Take Part in Red Cross Scheme

Just before presstime The Review was informed that "Operation Mercy" will go into effect sometime in the next 24 hours.

"Owing to the demand to harvest the apple crop we do not feel we can take part in such a scheme," Mrs. A. K. Elliott, president of the Summerland Red Cross branch informed The Review this morning in connection with the province-wide "Operation Mercy", a disaster exercise being organized by the Red Cross this month.

Truck drivers and other key personnel who would be needed in such an exercise just couldn't be available because of the demands of the apple harvest and Mrs. Elliott is writing Col. Scott, provincial Red Cross head to that effect.

RCMP, "ham" radio operators, medical health officers, and transportation and communication services are being pressed into service throughout B.C. to participate in this important "disaster exercise" which would lay the pattern in case of any major calamity occurring throughout the province.

A meeting of committee heads was held in Vancouver this week and the incident of disaster in each area has been pre-determined, it was learned.

In a number of areas, adjacent branches are carrying out a combined disaster effort. As the surprise element is a vital part of the operation each branch participating will get a signal on short notice.

Red Cross volunteers, including doctors, nurses, civic officials, first aid trainers and all members of a local disaster committee, who have previously been recruited, will be called out for duty.

Provincial headquarters in Vancouver will be the focal point of the operations and will receive requests for blood plasma supplies, tents, bedding, clothing and transportation — supplies which would actually be called for in case of disaster.

A/G'S REPLY TERMED "NOT SATISFACTORY"

Okanagan Municipal Assn. has received a reply to its questions concerning RCMP contracts from Attorney-General G. S. Wisner, K.C., and these have been circulated by its president, Mayor T. R. B. Adams of Vernon. The latter does not think the answer is a "satisfactory reply" and has sought various municipal reactions.

Sportsmen Requested to Aid Biologist In Research into Habits of Pheasant

Summerland sportsmen, through the local fish and game club, are being asked to aid an important research into the habits and behavior of pheasants this fall.

Through the B.C. Game Commission, biologists at the University of B.C. are planning to gather information on pheasants from various parts of the interior and are seeking the co-operation of interior hunters in this respect.

In a letter to Mr. W. G. Snow, president of the local sportsmen's association, Mr. Ernie Taylor, biologist with the game commission, has issued an appeal to pheasant hunters to assist in appraising the situation regarding pheasants in Summerland district.

Forms have been prepared and will be available here at The Sports Centre on which sportsmen may record the information which Mr. Taylor is desirous of obtaining.

Among the questions the biologist wishes to ascertain are the age, composition, and breeding success and to obtain some of the answers he wants one foot (complete with spur) from each cock pheasant bagged.

"It should be stressed to those who wish to cooperate in collecting data that information from hunters outside of their own district of Summerland should not be included on the kill-card form and only the feet of birds shot within that district should be collected.

"A summary of the findings in all districts will be sent to each club contributing to this effort," Mr. Taylor concludes.

To Educate in Two Ways

THIS winter residents who enjoy something special in the way of films can enjoy themselves and at the same time assist in putting the Summerland Scholarship Fund over the top.

Commencing next week a series of films will be held monthly by the UBC Alumni film society with net proceeds being devoted to the scholarship fund. It is hoped that the entire amount needed to place this fund on a sound financial footing will be available when this winter's activities have ceased.

The film society has chosen seven outstanding films which will probably not be shown in this district in the ordinary commercial way. They are for the most part, educational films which have been produced by top notch artists and are expected to be intensely interesting.

Enough season membership tickets have been sold to ensure a modest success to this undertaking but many more persons could be accommodated. It would serve two useful purposes if more persons purchased tickets for these film showings. It would provide useful adult education and would assist in putting the scholarship fund on a sound footing.

"Dig Down" for Boy Scout Apples

DESPITE previous assertions that tag days generally are for purposes which take a considerable proportion of the proceeds out of town, the Boy Scout Apple Day which is being staged here this weekend is for the purpose of aiding the Scout movement right here.

It would seem rather strange in an apple-growing area such as Summerland to stage an Apple Day and have apples as the tag, but this is the main theme in districts which are not so fortunate as the Okanagan and it is being carried out here, to provide a continuity of objective.

The Boy Scout movement is one which deserves the support of every person. It teaches them the principles of being law-abiding citizens and also gives them the idea that a Good Deed every day is well worthwhile.

It is seldom that Boy Scouts appeal for funds as they are generally able to conduct themselves through their own efforts. But once a year there is a national appeal and this Saturday is the day.

If you wish the young lads of this community to gain good training under the Boy Scout movement, then pay plenty for the apple proffered you this Saturday.

Bennett Bows to Anscomb

PROGRESSIVE Conservatives on Saturday decided in a determined manner that they are satisfied with Hon. Herbert Anscomb as their party leader. They turned down W. A. C. Bennett's bid for party leadership and also waved aside the attempt to separate federal and provincial party issues.

That there was some dissatisfaction with Mr. Anscomb's leadership there can be no doubt but that most party followers wished him to continue in preference to leadership by Mr. Bennett is also quite clear.

Mr. Bennett is an able man and we hope that he will continue to serve South Okanagan in his capable manner. He has been an aggressive and hard working member, not only for the interests of his constituency but for British Columbia as a whole.

There is no great wonder, however, that he was not chosen as the new Pro-Con leader by the majority of his party. "WAC" Bennett has been a rebel for years, not only in his own party but in the governmental ranks. He has not seen eye to eye with any of his leaders and has never hesitated to tell the world of his convictions.

We admire Mr. Bennett for his readiness to voice his convictions and his gameness but these are not necessarily the best raiments with which to clothe oneself in an attempt to become a provincial leader.

Too many party followers, while admitting they admire his courageousness, are still not quite certain of his temperament and where his brashness might lead the party, to be willing to accept him as a leader.

For the time being we will have Mr. Anscomb as the leader of the party in Coalition and we hope Mr. Bennett will continue to be an able and conscientious member of the legislature for South Okanagan.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

As a general rule, I'm not too fond of British Columbia's capital city. It's a beautiful spot, but I've seen Victoria too often with her tourist hair down, burped brown in August or gloomy with rain in winter, to rave about her as some people do.

Two things done by Victoria, however, have struck me lately as mighty good ideas.

For one, did you read in the paper last week about the way they concentrated their Community Chest drive and collected $181,000 in a single day? That might well be an example for Summerland to follow. I've long felt that we have too many campaigns for funds, that we might well adopt a plan of a single Community Chest appeal every fall.

It would require planning for a year ahead, of course. Nobody could suddenly announce that his pet project was really a community affair and launch a campaign to raise money for it.

He'd have to wait till the next annual Community Chest drive, when his baby would be pooled with others by a central committee and each get a share of the total take.

Individual citizens would have to plan a year ahead, too, to make one large annual gift instead of several small ones. There is indeed the danger that a person who might normally give five dollars to each of six different drives might recoil at the thought of forking over thirty bucks to a single one, and therefore total receipts would be less. On the other hand, many people are already meeting canvassers with "Oh, here's two dollars; I could give more, but goodness knows how many more requests there will be . . ."

So the single drive might do just as well as several; it would certainly be much easier on both canvassers and canvasees. The extraction of money may never be painless, but it would at least be less long-drawn.

And if we copied Victoria and had our single drive over with in a single day, that would be still better. If all the advertising and energy now spread over several campaigns each, lasting several days were concentrated into one; if canvassers knew they would have to go out only one afternoon or evening, and citizens knew that they would be asked for money only once in the year and that on a given day—the whole campaign might be conducted and met with a lot more enthusiasm. It could become, in fact, a big annual co-operative community effort, and Summerland has always done well in such. I suspect we'd make a much better showing for our population than Victoria, for their $181,000 is only about $1.80 per head, and last year Summerland contributed practically that much to the Youth Centre drive alone.

The second idea is by no means unique with Victoria; indeed, the one-day drive for the Red Feather may not be. I just happen to have heard of both, lately, from there. This second idea is having a masquerade ball, which Victoria apparently does with great success every winter.

Why doesn't some organization seeking a public event that might make a bit of money try a masquerade ball in Summerland? Most people like dressing up, and many who don't would go just to see the array of pirates, cavaliers, cavewomen, belles, mandarins, Mickey Mice, and all the rest. It would be a regular costume carnival, a Mardi Gras—whatever that is. We might even have as Victoria once did—yep, Victoria—a Lady Godiva in flesh-colored bathing suit and long artificial hair, although I doubt if either Ellison Hall or the Youth Centre could support the white horse as well.

Mo, I'd get me a bright scarlet costume and go dressed as the devil. So many partners have told me I dance like him that I feel I could play the part quite well.

Junior Red Cross Organizes Throughout B.C. for Active Year

With the 1950 school term well under way, students are again organizing their Junior Red Cross branches and making up their program for the coming year.

Canadian Junior Red Cross members have a high standard, which they set in previous years, to live up to this year.

They had a large membership and an outstanding record of service.

In B.C. last year there were 102,706 members in 2556 branches in schools throughout the province. There were more than 880,000 members in the ten provinces across Canada. All these young members are a part of the International Organization which embodies 41 million members organized in 55 countries.

Junior Red Cross is Red Cross in the schools. It is welcomed as an integral part of the school curriculum. Its primary purpose is the development of better citizens of a world community.

The young people plan their own program which is aimed to develop responsibility on the part of every member for the improvement of personal, school and community health, of service for others and of international understanding and tolerance.

In addition to work in their own school and community, juniors in B.C. raise funds for two main projects. One is the B.C. Junior Red Cross crippled and handicapped children's fund through which they have brought health and happiness to thousands of needy physically handicapped children. Junior Red Cross members in B.C. have contributed over $100,000.00 to this fund which has provided transportation, medical fees, wheel chairs, hearing aids, glasses, special braces and shoes, and other medical requirements for less fortunate young friends in their own province.

The other fund that B.C. juniors contribute to is the nationally-administered Junior Red Cross service fund. B.C. boys and girls have contributed about $150,000.00 which has helped send food, clothing, medicines, school equipment and other essentials to suffering children in countries outside Canada, particularly those in war devastated countries.

Because the young Red Crossers feel that through knowledge comes understanding, an exchange of educational literature is carried on between all the member countries. This includes portfolios illustrating the life and culture of a particular country, and an exchange of drawings pictorially illustrating the same thing.

To Junior Red Cross members, it makes no difference about race, creed or color. They feel that the young people of the world should get together and understand one another.

High School COMMENTS

The council has been organized a little better up to this time. The president and secretary of the senior council were chosen last week. Don Allison is president and Amy Yamabe is secretary. The junior council hasn't chosen a president and secretary yet, but they expect to announce their choice this week. As this column stated last week the students' council, headed by president Graham Munn, is over 10th junior and senior councils.

Friday was voting day at SHS. A number of candidates were picked from grades 10, 11 and 12 for the two main standing committees; the social and athletic. Four boys and four girls were elected for the athletic committee. They are Ruth Klix, Helen Kean, Margaret Jomori, Jacqueline Trafford, Graham Munn, Gerald Washington, Gordon Youngusband, and Earl Bryden. Two girls and two boys were elected for the social committee. They are Doreen Stewart, Rose Harrison, Richard Lewis and Don Blacklock.

A high school bowling league has been arranged this year. Graham Munn is the president and Yvonne Polesello is secretary.

Athletic committee members are the house captains for the four houses. One boy and one girl captain a house. The four houses are mixed, junior and senior students, in order to make house competitions operate on a fairer basis.

We were thankful for the holiday on Monday and eagerly await the 20th, when the teachers hold their usual convention, this year at Vernon.

Miss A. Semak was called away on business last week and was replaced by Mrs. Macleod.

The radio club hasn't been officially arranged yet but C.K.O.V. radio station in Kelowna has sent an invitation to SHS asking them to appear on their school program Nov. 27.

Well, everyone, that's all the news for this week.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Saturday, Oct. 14 is Boy Scout Apple Day. It is the one occasion in the year when the Boy Scouts throughout Canada appeal directly to the public to support their organization. The Scouts will not be out asking for a hand-out since that is contrary to rules and principles of the movement; they will be asking the public to buy an apple.

This seems an anomaly in this apple growing area where apples are practically to be had for the asking. However, in most towns and cities in Canada apples are a luxury commodity and well worth the consumers' money. So, in keeping with the rest of Canada the Scouts will be selling apples even in Summerland.

There will be no set price for Scout apples on Apple Day. When you are approached by a smartly uniformed Scout to buy an apple you may pay as little or as much as you wish or feel you can afford. But remember, the money collected stays 100 percent in Summerland for the use of the local Boy Scouts. So on Saturday, Oct. 14 buy an apple!

As a special feature for Fire Prevention Week the troop had a visit from Fire Marshall Gould who discussed some points on fire prevention and control. Each boy was issued a mimeograph sheet to take home which enumerates 18 fire hazards frequently found in the house. He was asked to check over these fire hazards with his father and bring back the sheet filled out for next meeting.

Each complete sheet returned at next meeting counts three points for the patrol.

This coming Saturday is Scout Apple Day and Scouts were assigned territories to cover. Apples, tags and cans may be obtained in West Summerland from the Sports Centre, in Lower Summerland from Gowans Store and in Trout Creek from Scoutmaster Fisher. Any boys absent from the meeting may obtain a territory by phoning the Scoutmaster.

Singers & Players Club

The opera we have chosen for presentation for the 1950-51 season is "Patience" by Gilbert and Sullivan. Music has been ordered, costumes have been inquired for, and we shall be all ready to get to work on the production at our first meeting at 8 p.m. at the high school October 24; one week from next Tuesday.

This story of the wooing of Patience, the village milkmaid, by Reginald Bunthorne a fleshly poet and Archibald Grosvenor an idyllic poet, set against a background of rapturous maidens and dashing dragons is not one of the best-known of Gilbert and Sullivan works but lacks nothing of the ready wit and delightful music always associated with these two composers. There are many colorful choruses and ensembles for both men and women and excellent parts for ten principals.

The performance dates are set for mid March of 1951 and, with cooperation from all of you there is no reason why we shall not be able to keep these dates. It is not generally realized that a great deal of the delay in getting into full swing is due to tardy attendance at the beginning of the season and that irregular attendances at rehearsals contribute very largely to later postponements. We hope this year to get a great deal of valuable work done before Christmas.

We are very pleased to be able to announce that Mrs. Delmar Dunham, who did such excellent work for us last season as accompanist, will be with us again this season.

Hospital Gets Grant In Lieu of Taxes

As the Summerland General hospital had not been given any previous notice that it would be required to pay taxes on land other than that on which the hospital buildings stand, municipal council on Tuesday voted a grant to the hospital society in the amount of taxes to be paid for the first time this year, about $180.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson moved the resolution and received a second from Councillor Francis Steuart that such action be taken. Councillor Tait, a former council representative on the hospital board, was quick to acquiesce.

It had been pointed out at a previous council session that the hospital board did not budget for this expenditure when submitting same to the BCHS and it would be difficult to find the money at this late date.

CRESTON TO BECOME HOP-GROWING AREA

VICTORIA—The Creston area in the Kootenay region of British Columbia may soon become an important hop-growing centre, it is announced by Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, minister of trade and industry.

The regional development division of the department of trade and industry has carried out investigations.

FOR BETTER TRADE—A three-man grain commission left Montreal recently on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France en route to the United Kingdom and Western Europe. The three men will call on the grain trade, millers and government authorities with a view of facilitating trade in Canadian grain in that area. The men are (left to right) R. W. Milner, commissioner of the board of Grain Commissioners for Canada; J. B. Lawrie, executive assistant to the Canadian Wheat Board; and Dr. C. F. Wilson, director of the wheat and grain division of the department of trade and commerce.

Prepare Signs For Local Roads

Signs for municipal roads have been ordered and are expected to be made available before winter sets in. Some dozen 30 miles per hour and 22 stop signs are included in the order which runs to nearly fifty road signs.

Councillor Eric Tait informed council on Tuesday afternoon where these traffic signs would be placed, according to the recently passed traffic bylaw.

There are several no parking signs, while two-hour parking signs will be placed on the street light standards on Granville and Hastings. Taxi and bus signs will be painted on the sidewalks.

The signs will be attached to five-foot posts placed in concrete, and will be "Scotch Light" signs.

CAN ATTEND CONFERENCE

If R. F. Angus wishes to attend the electrical inspectors' conference being held in Hotel Georgia on Friday and Saturday of this week the local council will pay $35 towards his expenses, Tuesday's council session decided.

Sour Cherry Plantings are Considered

What may prove to be another source of employment during the canning season was voiced for the first time at Tuesday's council session when it was stated Barkwill's Ltd. wishes to purchase land in Prairie Valley for the purpose of planting sour cherry trees.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson explained that sour cherries are ideal for canning purposes only and if several acres were brought into production here they would provide additional employment in the canning.

However, this particular land, Lots 29, 30, 31, 32 and 33, DL 439, have been withheld from previous sale by council because of a road allowance which would be difficult to maintain and because services could not be made readily accessible. If planted, irrigation would have to be of a sprinkler type only, it was stated.

After discussion with Foreman E. Kercher, council decided to withhold definite action for a time until further study is given.

It was suggested that instead of an outright sale the land might be leased en bloc for twenty years with first option to renew.

J. B. Munro Retires As Agricultural Deputy Minister

The retirement of Dr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture next month due to ill health, has been announced by Hon. H. H. Bowman, minister of agriculture.

It is understood that Dr. Munro will be succeeded by Mr. W. H. Robertson, provincial horticulturist and assistant deputy minister, who has been acting deputy while Dr. Munro has been on sick leave.

Dr. Munro, who was born at Embro, Ontario, attended Agricultural College at Guelph, taught school for a time, and in 1919 graduated from the University of Toronto with a B.S.A. degree. He received the degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of Ottawa for his research on Indian theology.

Prior to coming to B.C. he served with the federal department of agriculture. In 1920, he joined the provincial government service as agricultural educational instructor at Armstrong and two years later became assistant field crops commissioner. He became deputy minister of agriculture in 1929.

Weekend Free Of Accidents

No accident were reported to RCMP Constable I. G. Thorsteinson over the Thanksgiving weekend, despite the heavy increase in traffic both local and tourist over the "long holiday".

One car, of ancient vintage and bearing an Ontario licence, was discovered off the road and down a bank north of Greata ranch. There was no identification in the car when inspected by the police constable.

Later, Constable Thorsteinson was informed from Peachland that the car owner had requested it be towed into that town and the garageman was awaiting further instructions from the owner, who had gone on to Kelowna.

Blight-Resistant Spud Now Ready After 17 Years Research

OTTAWA—After 17 years of research and testing in seven out of ten Canadian provinces with over 90,000 different seedlings two new varieties of potatoes have proved to be highly resistant to late blight in all field tests throughout Canada and are now in process of being licensed for sale, states the federal agriculture department.

They also possess many other valuable characteristics as to yield, earliness of maturity and cooking quality.

The variety names given these seedlings are Canso and Keswick, and both are available for distribution this fall to certified seed growers in the provinces in which they were grown under contract this year, namely British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Applications for the certified seed of the varieties Canso and Keswick must be made on prescribed forms. Orders will be accepted for a minimum quantity of ten bushels for one variety or twenty bushels for the two varieties. Applications should be addressed to the Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ont. The quantity which will be available of the new varieties cannot be determined until the crop is harvested. Historical Notes. Heavy losses from late blight in the Maritime provinces caused the Canadian Department of Agriculture to initiate in 1933 a potato breeding program at the Fredericton experimental station in the hope of originating varieties resistant to this disease.

In breeding to obtain late blight resistance a wild species, Solanum demissum, found principally in Mexico, has been used in all original crosses.

Canso: Was originally selected because of its high dry matter and starch content. Its maturity and yield are similar to the Green Mountain variety. Tubers are very smooth, bright and attractive. Highly resistant to late blight in field tests.

Keswick: High yielding blight resistant variety with excellent cooking quality. Sets tubers early and is about two weeks earlier maturing than Green Mountain. Tubers not as smooth as in the case of the Canso and having a tendency to oversize in fertile soils.

While the two varieties have shown high resistance to late blight under all field tests to date, it is possible that physiologic strains of the late blight organism may occur which might infect them.

No definite figures are available on Canada's annual loss due to late blight but N. M. Parks, of the horticultural division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, calls it "considerable". Under conditions favorable to it, the disease reaches epidemic proportions in some areas and often destroys entire crops. United States losses due to late blight average 10,000,000 bushels annually.

CAR SALES INCREASE New car registrations to the end of August were 22,581 as against 11,22 for the same period last year, states the provincial motor vehicle branch.

T. B. Young Thinks Labor Government Will Go Down to Defeat Next Time

Listening to the working class sipping their "pint" in the English pubs T. B. Young heard general agreement that Great Britain is a "beautiful country under rotten, bad management," he told Rotarians and Kiwanis clubs on two occasions last week.

The well-known Summerland resident who toured the Old Country and visited portions of Europe, as well, last summer, was giving a second talk on his experiences to these two service clubs on Monday and Friday last week.

He also prophesied that the "labor government will go down to ignominious defeat at the next election."

In Britain he learned that the government is losing 25,000 pounds sterling daily on the socialized railways and eleven men are now employed doing the work of six former employees.

Describing his trips around the British Isles he was thrilled to travel through districts which he had known so well by name but never dreamed he would actually see.

Saw Bomb Damage
Everywhere he observed the air raid shelters and heard grim stories of the heroism of the people during the air raids of the last war. "You just can't imagine the damage caused in London by the bombs until you actually see it," he emphasized.

He marvelled at the rows and rows of chimney pots, the lack of frame construction houses, the confusion of the streets, the ability of London bus drivers, the queues which are part of the British way of life now.

Mr. and Mrs. Young were privileged to see Prince Charles being taken for an airing in St. James park and accompanied by a large entourage.

They also visited Madam Tussaud's, Billingsgate Fish Market, the Stratford-on-Avon theatre, Shakespeare's birthplace and many other points of interest.

On their way across the continent, the Youngs witnessed the mass production of General Motors cars at Oshawa and travelled through the Bowery and Chinatown on the short side tour of New York.

He found the buildings in New York overpowering, while those in London were much smaller.

SHOWN ABOVE is a replica of the statue of Joan of Arc which was donated to the University of Montreal by Maxime del Sarte, sculptor of the 10 foot high, 6-ton statue. The original stands in the square in Rouen, France.

Can Obtain up to $500 in U.S. Funds With Form H Permits

The minister of finance has announced that form H permits for travel funds may now be approved by banks and other agents of the foreign exchange board for amounts up to $500 per trip for bona fide business travel and up to a total of $500 per person during the calendar year for travel for other purposes.

Applications for larger amounts may be referred to the board and will normally be approved for genuine travel expenditures when the duration of the proposed journeys appear to justify them.

The form H travel permit must carry protection against the export to the customs at the time of leaving Canada if a traveller is taking out of Canada more than $50 in U.S. funds or more than a total of $100 in both U.S. and Canadian funds. The H form is considered a necessary protection against the export of capital sums in the form of currency where such exports would not be permitted through other channels.

Individuals may obtain up to $50 in any month for travel in the United States where the applicant will not be taking out of Canada more than $50 U.S. or more than a total of $100 in U.S. and Canadian funds combined.

Banks and other agents of the foreign exchange control board will approve applications up to the equivalent of $2000 Canadian per year for attendance during a full academic year at the university, college or boarding house in the United States.

Banks or other agents of the board may also approve permits for expenditures of Canadian dollars or sterling up to the equivalent of $1000 for each one-month stay in sterling area countries for a maximum period of six months. Applications for larger amounts may be referred to the board. A resident may not use U.S. dollars to meet travel or personal expenditures in sterling area countries.

George Strachan to Take Charge of New Byproducts Laboratory

George Strachan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Strachan of Summerland, has received his appointment in charge of the new byproducts research laboratory being opened at Lethbridge, Alta. It will be his task to organize the new laboratory and develop it.

Mr. Strachan was with the Dominion Experimental Station here three to four years prior to joining the RCAF in 1940. After the war he returned to the byproducts lab here for a year before entering Oregon State College and enrolling in the fruit technology course.

He has now graduated with his BSc and has partly qualified for his master's degree.

His father, Donald J. Strachan, retired a short time ago from the service of the experimental station.

CHEVROLET

The Leader

GIVES YOU MORE AND COSTS YOU LESS

✓ LOW FIRST COST

Hard facts, not fancy phrases, determine any car's value. Study the market carefully, feature by feature and value by value. Then compare the Chevrolet price tag with that of any comparable car. You'll find beyond doubt that this impressive, powerful, six-passenger automobile is the value-leader by far!

✓ ECONOMICAL OPERATION

For all the power you want when you want it, with consistently economical fuel consumption, there's no better engine than the highly-improved Chevrolet valve-in-head, with its ultra-efficient new carburetor. And that's not all! Many thousands of enthusiastic owners will testify that Chevrolet needs less maintenance, less servicing than any comparable car.

✓ COMPLETE DEPENDABILITY

Designed and built for Canadian driving requirements, reflecting its superior craftsmanship in every detail, Chevrolet is further backed by a nationwide organization of skilled service and maintenance specialists. No wonder it is renowned for delivering dependable, trouble-free performance under all conditions!

✓ BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE

Just get behind the wheel of a Chevrolet, and you'll soon know the meaning of brilliant performance. In city traffic, on busy highways, on rough back roads, Chevrolet has the edge on all its rivals. And it stays at the peak of its performance,—mile after mile, month after month.

✓ GREATER ROOMINESS

There's hip-room, head-room, leg-room and room to spare for six adult passengers in a Chevrolet. The big doors swing wide to let you in and out without undue stooping or crouching. And the bigger, more capacious trunk has ample room for all your luggage—and your passengers', too!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

• It's best in its class for styling, for performance, for comfort and for operating economies — yet it costs far less than any comparable car. That's why Chevrolet is first in value!

Let the record speak for itself! In a recent impartial survey conducted among thousands of motorists, Chevrolet proved to be in greater popular demand than any other car.

No wonder Canadians buy more Chevrolets than any other make of car. They know that Chevrolet, built and proved in Canada for Canadians, is unequalled at its price for comfort, safety, lasting beauty and all-round dependability.

✓ HIGH REPUTATION

Here's convincing proof that throughout years, Chevrolet has earned a reputation for unwavering excellence! In a recently conducted coast-to-coast survey, an overwhelming majority of motorists named Reputation as the most compelling reason for Chevrolet's popularity.

✓ MODERN STYLING

In every detail, the new Chevrolet is in the very forefront of the style parade. Those flowing, graceful lines radiate quality from every angle. And don't forget — its consistently advanced styling is one reason why Chevrolet is tops for trade-in value.

✓ GREATER SAFETY

From the blueprint stage onward, built-in safety factors are an integral component of every Chevrolet. The immensely strong box girder steel frame... the exclusive Certi-Safe hydraulic brakes for quick, controlled stopping... the ample reserve of power in the valve-in-head engine—all these and many other Chevrolet features are designed for your protection.

✓ HIGH TRADE-IN VALUE

Records prove that used car buyers as well as new car buyers consistently favor Chevrolet over other cars. That's because Chevrolet is first in the low-price field with all the qualities of much higher priced cars, and also because it's renowned for dependable, year-in, year-out performance.

McTaggart Cowan Impresses MLA's and Boards of Trade With Critical Game Situation

KELOWNA—A new insight into the precarious position of B.C. wildlife resources was given to interior members of the legislative assembly at a momentous, well-contrived gathering here on October 4.

Occasion was a dinner under the auspices of the B.C. Interior Fish, Game and Forest Protective Association with the MLA's and heads of trade boards from the interior as guests. In all 100 persons were present.

Called expressly to impress the seriousness of the dwindling game and fish crops upon the powers that be, the meeting seemed to achieve outstanding success. MLA's and spokesmen for trade boards from Kamloops south to the international border, pledged renewed support for any "reasonable" conservation program.

C. W. Morrow, MLA (North Okanagan) summed up the position of the other elected representatives to Victoria, attending the gathering, by emphasizing that "you don't have to sell your program to us. You have to sell it to the government."

Then he added: "And by the government I mean the Attorney-General."

Earlier the government had come under fire from different speakers for cutting down the game department's administration expenses. MLA's, too, were criticized for passing the budget, giving tacit approval to the slice in game departmental funds.

Could Help More

Mr. Finnerly also reminded boards of trade they could do a lot more in helping the aims of the game association. "Boards of Trade carry a lot more weight with the government than we realize," he asserted.

Earlier, spokesmen for some boards of trade admitted their eyes had been opened. To a man they promised all the co-operation they could muster.

At the outset Mr. King gave a resume of the needs of the interior to lick the problem of fast dwindling game reserves. He asked for the support of the MLA's and trade boards.

Mr. Cunningham gave a short address, citing figures to show the growth of his department and the ever-increasing revenue from resident and non-resident hunting and fishing licences.

Mr. King posed several pertinent questions to the game commissioner, some of which, Mr. Cunningham said, he was in no position to answer. While on a sometimes uncomfortable spot, the commissioner replied to some of the questions as follows:

1. The game department hopes for more money next year, but it never knows from one year to another how much it can count on.
2. Construction of a new hatchery has been started in the Cariboo, with next spring set as the opening.
3. Amendments are on the way covering the new regulations affecting hunting and fishing, by aircraft and four-wheel-drive vehicles.

Precious Meat

Main speaker of the night was Dr. McTaggart-Cowan, who described our wildlife as one of the "three great resources we have."

"If we take care of it and don't abuse it we'll always have it with us," he said.

A much-sought-after speaker on the scientific angle of wildlife because of his ready wit and wealth of knowledge on the subject, Dr. McTaggart-Cowan produced figures galore as he set out to prove the value of wildlife resources to B.C.

He estimated the annual harvest of all game at 5,500,000 pounds. He went on to show that when all the expenses of the hunters are considered, the vast poundage of meat taken annually is the "most valuable meat raised in Canada."

"We are now in a position where we have to take extra special care to build our stocks back to where they should be," he went on. It was unfortunate that the big increase in hunters since World War II came at a time of serious winter kill.

Management Imperative

Drawing a parallel with the forest industry he showed the absolute necessity for scientific management in wildlife. He revealed that at the present time there was one game biologist for each 196,000 square miles in the province.

"That's spread too thin," he maintained. Until more money is provided to the game department the present biological staff is too small to cope with all the problems facing a large-scale conservation program.

What is needed now, he continued, is a transition from the protection terms of thinking to sound management.

During a question period, Dr. Cowan reiterated that the "pheasant crop cannot be killed by shooting cocks only." Part of the trouble is that too many nimrods shoot hens, too.

Actual cause of the country-wide decline is unknown at the present time, he added. There is a possibility pheasants may be cycle birds.

Killed by Sprays

Another reason, affecting the Okanagan, is the greatly increased use of chemical sprays. He said experiments have proven that birds exposed to certain types of spray or feeding off contaminated ground died 100 percent.

The game department at the present time is working with the agriculture department to develop a spray that will not be so injurious to birds, he revealed.

Asked if it would not be better to liberate birds just before the hunting season, he said it would be "economically unsound." The "hazards these birds encounter are almost unbelievable," said Dr. Cowan.

Liberations have their place, he continued, but the technique needs to be improved. Here again the department is short-handed, with only one man working on this phase, he explained. An experiment is now being conducted at Ladner to try to trace the survival Vernon's newest hostelry, the Allison hotel, was formally opened at a banquet at 8 o'clock last evening, October 11. This hotel will be filled to capacity when the annual Okanagan Valley Teachers' Assn. convention opens next week.

Likes Ranch Idea

Upon learning that the BCIFG-PA is considering setting up a pheasant ranch, Dr. Cowan expressed satisfaction. "A pheasant ranch in the interior would be a good idea," he said.

During an open forum session a speaker from the floor lashed out at the practice of putting up B.C.'s game possibilities as a lure for tourists.

Another speaker stressed the necessity of educating resident hunters. He felt this should be done before more restrictions are placed on non-resident hunters.

CLOSE TRANS-CANADA ROAD

To facilitate reconstruction of the highway in the Fraser Canyon, Trans-Canada highway will be closed between Yale and Lytton for approximately two weeks, beginning October 16, it is announced by Hon. E. C. Carson.

PLAN AUCTION SALE

Receives George Medal

The Governor-General, FIELD MARSHAL VISCOUNT ALEXANDER recently invested CAPTAIN GUY D'ARTOIS, DSO., GM., with the George Medal for outstanding bravery and courage in peacetime. The investiture, which took place at Quebec's Citadel, was attended by the heads of Canada's ten provincial governments and Prime Minister St. Laurent, in Quebec for the Federal-Provincial constitutional conference. D'Artois was awarded the George Medal for "outstanding qualities of leadership, bravery, ability and power of decision of the highest order" for bringing about the rescue of Canon J. H. Turner, an Anglican missionary injured in 1947 at Moffet Inlet, Baffin Island, more than 450 miles inside the Arctic Circle.

REDUCTION

namely 5c, 2½c and 1½c per kwh. Irrigation pump power users formerly paid the 6c, 3c and 2c rates. New power rates will mean a great deal to cold storage operations here, besides other smaller power users. Storages Make Big Saving Cold storage plant managers appeared before the council early this year requesting a better deal in rates to bring power rates here down to the level of other valley centres. It was admitted that Summerland power rates were in excess of other centres but that domestic lighting was on a lower level than other Okanagan communities. With the new rates to go into effect in December Summerland will probably have the lowest

Two Accidents Early Wednesday Morning

Two accidents which might have had more serious consequences occurred on Wednesday morning in the vicinity of Peach Orchard. About 7 o'clock Arnold Paul was driving up Peach Orchard road on his way to work at the box factory when the door of his old model car flew open. In attempting to close the door the car went out of control and landed in the bush. The car was badly wrecked but Mr. Paul escaped uninjured. Around 8 o'clock the same morning, a large truck from Simpson's Sawmill Ltd. of Kelowna hit a guy wire at the roadside and tore down several lengths of telephone wires and two poles in the Windy Point vicinity.

domestic lighting rate in the Okanagan.

The new schedule is quite similar to the rates now in effect in centres served strictly by the West Kootenay. That company is expecting to revise its schedule shortly and any savings effected then may be passed on to local consumers. F. E. Atkinson reported to the council on Tuesday.

Basic minimum for power is 75 cents per horsepower per month and in the case of cold storage plants this basic minimum carries on throughout the year.

Although the basic minimum is $1.62 that is not the actual amount which will be paid if accounts are honored by the twentieth of each month. Ten percent discount is allowed on this amount, which reduces the sum to $1.46. Add four cents sales tax and the net result is $1.50, a saving of 30 cents from the present net minimum payment of $1.80.

First three readings of the new electric rate bylaw were passed by council on Tuesday. Final reading will probably be given at the meeting on October 24 and once the bylaw is approved by the department of municipal affairs in Victoria it can be put into force.

This could not be accomplished by November 1, Clerk Gordon Smith stated on Tuesday, so council agreed to the December 1 deadline.

Such reductions which are being passed on to local consumers were made possible mainly through the new contract worked out with the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. and which became effective last month.

ELECTRIC ESTIMATE WILL LAST UNTIL OCTOBER 20 ONLY

Summerland Box Company is being informed that it has until October 20 to come to a decision relative to the council estimate on supplying electrical service to the company's plant near the KVR station.

This deadline has been instituted because of the upward trend of the market, the council fearing its estimates may even now be out of line.

Cost of installing a complete separate service from the West Summerland substation along the road over lower portion of Giant's Head and then along the Station road to the mill was estimated at $3,000, plus the cost of the company substation, which would be $151.80, with labor and foundations being undertaken by the company.

If the Summerland Box Company accepted the proposal and obtained electrical power for its operation it would mean a big increase in electrical energy consumption in the municipality, council feels.

Crescent Beach Easement Bylaw Gets First Readings

Two bylaws received final readings and another first reading at Tuesday's council session.

The new bylaw introduced is called the Crescent Beach Easement Bylaw and has been necessitated because of the alteration of lot lines in the Crescent Beach area.

With the re-arrangement of property lines there, new right-of-way for municipal pole lines has had to be obtained and this bylaw is part of the necessary legal action involved.

Final reading was given the bylaw authorizing an election on December 16 for a board of park commissioners.

This is the first time that the date of municipal elections has been announced in local council sessions.

Also passing its final reading was a bylaw providing municipal sanction to the naming of Giants Head road as a secondary highway.

This is Fire Prevention Week

Here are some tips on avoiding non-electrically caused fires:

SMOKING—Do not smoke in bed, in the attic, closets or garage.

MATCHES—Keep out of reach of children's hands. Place used matches in incombustible trays. Keep "strike anywhere" matches in closed metal boxes. "Safety" matches are safest.

EXTINGUISH SMOKES AND MATCHES BEFORE DISCARDING.

BE SURE THEY ARE COLD
Never use matches to look for articles in dark places. Flashlights are safe.

TRASH AND RUBBISH—Keep cleaned out, especially in basement, attic and closets. Burn safely and never on windy days. Use rubbish burners in built-up areas.

WATCH FIRES TILL OUT

FLUES AND HEATING PLANTS—Have them cleaned, examined and repaired if necessary once a year. Protect exposed woodwork with incombustible shields or mats. Do not pass stovepipes through ceilings, roofs or wooden partitions. NEVER OVERHEAT.

FLUE STOPS—Use metal kind. Do not paper over flue holes or stuff with rags.

ASHES—Use only metal receptacles. Do not dump hot ashes against anything which can burn.

GASOLINE, BENZINE, NAPHTHA—Do not store or use on home premises. They give off explosive vapors even at very low temperatures.

KEROSENES—Do not use to start a fire. Flash-backs and explosions kill and maim scores yearly.

GAS TUBING—Replace with rigid pipe.

GAS PLATES—Protect underneath with asbestos covered with metal.

OIL BURNERS—Use only equipment that has been approved by the Underwriters Laboratory Inc. or the Canadian Standards Association. Look for the approval label.

OPEN LIGHTS, LAMPS—Do not have near curtains or combustible material.

DECORATIONS—Do not place flimsy or combustible decorations over electric light globes or near open lights or heaters.

OILY MOPS, OILY RAGS—Keep mop in closed metal can. Destroy rags. They ignite spontaneously.

A Real Neighborly Spirit

THIS community has long patted itself on the back for its co-operative spirit, its willingness to pitch in and "do the right thing". This spirit has been manifested more than ever in the past few days, when the apple producers of Summerland area faced an emergency. Lack of help, lack of boxes and too much rain hampered the farmers in their endeavor to harvest what will probably result in the biggest apple crop Summerland has ever known. Growers were desperate for help but their pleas did not fall on deaf ears. The merchants, the clerks, the mechanics, the salespeople, the professional people, the high school boys and girls, in fact everyone who could spare a few hours have rallied to the aid of the farmer. The crop hasn't been harvested yet but there is every indication now that the worst is over and within a week the community can settle back to a more normal life. The retail merchants' act in closing all day last Wednesday and again on Monday was an act of friendliness towards their neighbors which should remain as a pleasant reminder for many moons to come. When the cry for help went out it did not go unheeded. Let us hope that the producers and those dependent on the producers for their livelihood remember this act of assistance tendered by the ordinary businessman and his helpers in a time of stress. When the farmer reaches for that mail order catalogue form let him think again of the man who pitched in and helped him in his hour of need. It wasn't any person from that big distributing centre miles away in the east. It was the local businessman and his clerk who responded with a will.

Board of Trade Brings Good News

THE board of trade committee which reported to last week's meeting on the possibility of decorating West Summerland business streets for the Christmas holiday season brought everybody good news. The best news was that the cost would not be prohibitive, about $300 in round figures, and that it could be raised provided the trade board, retail merchants and the municipal council could co-operate and work out a fair basis of financial agreement. A bright and cheerful atmosphere is essential to provide the right Christmas spirit. To visitors and home towners alike the sight of colored lights, green boughs and trees and other signs of the festive season will bring joy to their hearts.

One will probably hear the odd merchant "grousing" that he is always being "nicked" when it comes to any new departure. However, it is to his direct benefit to gain the proper Christmas spirit in the business section. However, he is not the only one to benefit. The public as a whole will enjoy and take pride in a smart-appearing business section at Christmas or any other festive time. And there is where the trade board and municipal council take over their share of the cost. These colored lights can be used not only at Christmastime but on any occasion that the town has a celebration. They will be a useful acquisition and fill a want of some years back.

Poppies to Assist War Veterans

IT is probably a little early but we feel we must urge once again a recognition of Poppy Day and recount what the sale of wreaths means to thousands of Canadians. In Summerland, a large number of civic organizations and business firms have purchased poppy wreaths in the past few weeks. Householders are being requested now to purchase a small "household" wreath and lay it on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day, November 11. Although the Legion undertakes the campaign to sell poppies each year and subscribes most of the funds necessary to organize and publicize the campaign, yet the Legion itself does not benefit from the funds raised in any direct way. However, thousands of needy veterans are assisted by these funds which are used exclusively for the rehabilitation or other aid of war veterans, whether they be Legion members or not. Poppy making is a means whereby several hundred disabled veterans are able to earn a living throughout the year. Funds from the sale of poppies go towards their wages, the cost of material and other incidental expenses. But the bulk of the money is turned over to the aid of veterans and their dependents to provide the necessities of life, payment of medical bills, and other such assistance; maintenance of the veterans' service bureau which acts as a contact between the veteran and the federal government. A portion of the fund is held in trust with the local Legion branch for local veterans' welfare. The rest goes to provincial and dominion Legion commands for purposes already outlined. The local poppy committee is hopeful that a large number of homes will purchase a small wreath and appoint a member of the household to lay it on the Cenotaph Remembrance Day. It would be a fitting tribute to those who fell on our behalf and would prove a means of gaining more interest in this day which has been set aside "Lest we Forget".

Operation Nest Egg Gets Going

EVERYONE has something to save for. That is the official slogan of the current issue of Canada Savings Bonds and brings home the fact that if one invests in the future of the country then there should be no surer investment. Canada Savings Bonds will not return any large yield for the investor. But the investment is so safe because it has the future of Canada behind it, and if we have any faith in our country at all we will agree with this statement. There are many ways in which a person can invest in a Canada Savings Bond. You can take cash savings and invest them in denominations of $50, $100, $500 or $1,000. You can go to the bank and make arrangements for a certain sum to be taken from your account each month on a regular savings plan.

And if you are an employee in a firm you can ask the boss to deduct so much each payday and have that money invested to pay for your Canada Savings Bond. It is this latter category for which Canada Savings Bonds were really invented. The wage earner who might otherwise dissipate his weekly or monthly earning in other channels can be taught to save regularly by this means. When a fixed sum is taken from a wage cheque it is no time at all until you really don't miss it too much. You adjust your mode of living to cope with the lesser pay cheque, and after a time it doesn't seem to hurt nearly as much. So, we believe that the 1950 slogan, "Everyone has something to save for," really is worthwhile.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

When the caveman conked the woman of his choice on the head with a club and dragged her off by the hair to his cave, it may have been animal savagery, but I've a suspicion it wasn't. The underlying reason for his actions, to my notion, was that the poor man was just too shy to utter the non-dartal grunts which signified "I love you; will you be mine?" For shyness is the basis of a lot more queer human actions than we usually admit, and probably always has been. It isn't just a temporary seizure of adolescence that makes girls blush and boys stammer; it is found in gruff grandfathers and garulous grandmothers too, and throughout the years between. Adults sometimes overcome it, but more often they merely develop ways to hide it. Old Grumpymug, for instance, who is so bluff and brusque with everybody that he's considered a bad-tempered, unsociable old bear, may be really a very shy man. It is because he is so shy and nervous when speaking to strangers that he growls and blusters, by way of hiding it; those with whom he is at home know him to be gentle and kindly, and eager to be friends. That's only one of the ways in which adults try to hide their shyness. Algernon Stuffleigh, instead of blustering, just doesn't talk at all. You think of him as a superior snob; actually he is an tongue-tied with strangers as a kid, and suffers tortures of self-consciousness behind that silent facade.

Mrs. Blablat takes the opposite course to hide her shyness. She talks. And talks. And talks on. And the reason she is a foolish chattering bore is because she is nervous, and talk is her particular way of relieving nervous tension. Put her at her ease and you'll find she not only talks less, but much more sensibly. To all three of these, the shouting and guffawing and horseplay of a bunch of adolescent boys, the giggling of a group of young girls, are marks of shocking bad manners. Actually they spring from the same root cause; shyness. We act a part rather than let other people know we are not at ease in public or with company. Probably, when a frontier town

Capt. Weeks is skipper of the Okanagan this week, Capt. Estabrooks being on the sick list with typhoid fever. Mr. R. Johnson's furniture, motorcar, etc., arrived on the Aberdeen and were transferred to his residence at Trout Creek, recently purchased from Tom Beavis. W. J. Robinson, E. B. May and Major Hutton, were appointed a committee to investigate possibility of erecting a new hospital with aid of government grant. Post office authorities are calling for daily mail service tenders between Balcom and Summerland. Summerland entries won some of the major prizes, amounting to $500 each, at the national apple show in Vancouver. The men's club was re-organized last week with H. C. Mellor president, Dr. C. M. Smith vice-president, S. Angove secretary and J. Tait, treasurer.

Government control and sale of spirituous liquors won over prohibition by a large majority in the provincial referendum. Summerland and other towns in South Okanagan all voted in favor of prohibition. Summerland's vote was 385 for prohibition and 237 for government sale. Penticton was 577 to 517. Peachland was 108 to 87, Naramata 68 to 47 and Westbank 43 to 27. Throughout B.C., when all votes are counted, it is expected that prohibition will have about 50,000 votes and government sale 76,000. F. A. C. Wright passed away in Summerland hospital early this morning. Born in Essex, England, he had been resident here ten years. He was chairman of the hospital board and school board and recently resigned as board of trade secretary. While out duck hunting, Harley Hatfield's gun was accidentally discharged, the pellets entering his foot. He is making good recovery in Penticton hospital. On Wednesday two of Summerland's young people, George Henry and Miss Winona Steuart were married at the home of the priest in charge of the Penticton Roman Catholic church. Powerful support to the Kelowna-Naramata project was given by the Good Roads League convention at Nelson last week when the following resolution was endorsed: "Owing to the very urgent need of a through trunk road from Kamloops to Penticton, through the Okanagan valley, both for tourists and commercially, we request the G.R.L. to impress upon the provincial government the necessity for immediate construction of the proposed Kelowna-Naramata road, thus providing a through trunk road from the boundary country to Kamloops." Oldline Liberals of Yale will support Col. C. E. Edgett in opposition to the government candidate J. A. McKelvie, a recent Liberal convention decided. Dr. F. W. Andrew has returned from a visit to New York, Mon-

VETERAN PUBLIC RELATIONS RAILWAY OFFICER RETIRES

WALTER S. THOMPSON, C.B.E.

G. HERBERT LASH

Walter Thompson, Director of Public Relations for the Canadian National Railways, is retiring October 22nd, after 36 years of service with his company. "Walter," as he is popularly known by all, is probably the best known public relations official on the Continent. He has directed the press relations of many important personages, including the personal handling of the tour of the King and Queen in 1939. He is a welcome visitor to every newspaper office—daily and weekly—in Canada. G. Herbert Lash, who succeeds Mr. Thompson, is also a veteran newspaperman, and has been with the company since 1923. He spent five years in charge of the western region and since that time has been in New York and Eastern Canada, the last few years as assistant to Mr. Thompson. He had a distinguished record in World War I, and in the second war served the government in several capacities. He, too, is a welcome visitor to all newspaper offices.

In an editorial comment last week, R. P. MacLean in the Kelowna Courier wrote this under the heading, "Walter Thompson Retires". Last weekend in Montreal a great dinner was held to honor Walter S. Thompson who that day retired as director of public relations of the Canadian National Railways. The dinner was attended by Canadians from coast to coast and there were tributes from the prime minister down. But all the fine things that were said about Mr. Thompson must have fallen short of over-statement. Government and newspaper people and others close to the engine of Canadian life know that few living men have affected it more and for the better than the round and jovial figure which the dinner honored. Probably next to Mr. Mackenzie King he understood his fellow man better than any other Canadian and, again next to Mr. King, he was the ablest politician of his time—in his case, of course, a politician in the strictly non-partisan sense. The Canadian National Railways is what it is in no small measure due to Mr. Thompson. He was an intangible force beyond official title and beyond measurement in the railway's councils. He has been the shock absorber between government, the railway and the people and how he succeeded in reconciling the discordant elements which have struggled to make or break the railway is his own secret. To him have fallen several important and arduous national tasks. It was he who was charged with the organization of the tour of the Prince of Wales and again the Royal Tour in 1929. The quiet efficiency with which these tasks were carried through stamps him as an organizer of no mean measure. His advice has been sought by prime ministers, industrialists, financiers and men from every corner of Canada. He has been a kind of guide, philosopher and friend to the nation at large. Beyond dispute he has been the ablest of his time in the field of public relations and the least obtrusive. Few things of importance have happened in Canada in the last quarter century without this resourceful and lovable shadow somewhere in the background. His retirement is not only a loss to the Canadian National, the nation itself will be the poorer because of it.

A big Conservative meeting was held at recess Tuesday, being addressed by Cyril Mossop and Mable Lockwood, in addition to the candidate. In the interests of Miss King a meeting was held yesterday. Credit for the organization work, in the interests of a keener interest in the government of the country, goes to Ivor Solly and Rhodes Elliott.

High School COMMENTS

Due to circumstances beyond my control, some facts stated in last week's column were false.

"You see, the results of the elections for house captains and social committee members are now considered void," stated the students' council shortly after the column went to The Review office.

Apparently the council slipped up on a few technicalities, which caused complaints from the students. The students' council had "hand-picked" the candidates for the committees, which was not a well-accepted procedure. Also, both girls and boys had voted for the house captains, not as it usually is that the girls vote for their girl captain and the boys, theirs.

Re-elections haven't been held as yet for the social committee, but nominations have been handed in to the council. This time the students nominated the candidates. Perhaps this will prove to the council that the majority doesn't always agree with what they decide.

The boys' houses have picked their own captains this time, but the girls haven't done anything about theirs yet. The boys' captains are: House I, Robin Fisher; House II, Graham Murn; House III, Daryl Weitzel; House IV, Earl Bryden.

Last week the junior council elected its president and secretary. They are Vern Higgs, president and Yvonne Polesello, secretary.

Starting Friday, October 13, most of the senior students were released from school in order to let everyone who possibly could "get in the fight" and help the Summerland orchardists pick their apple crops. All this week students from the higher grades plan to be away apple picking and therefore their classes will cease, but for those who go to school, classes will continue as the school itself is not officially closed.

In other words, if enough students turn up for a class, the class will be held.

That's all for this time—"happy apple picking kids". — Margaret Myers.

GUIDE NEWS

First meeting of the 1st Summerland Guide company on its new meeting night, Wednesday, got underway on October 11 with the appointment of four new patrol leaders who are: Buttercup, P/L Anne Solly; secretary, Anne Beggs. Hepatica, P/L Jill Sanborn; secretary, Patsy Menu. Forget-me-not, P/L Marilyn Wade; secretary, Beryl Dodman.

At campfire, Anne Kersey, Joyce Dunsdon, Darlene Bonthoux, and Hope Hartley were enrolled and Marjorie Inglis received her child nurse badge.

Plans are underway for the annual Hallowe'en party on October 28 for kiddies 6 years and under, and in the form of a fancy dress party.

All patrol leaders will attend the South Okanagan conference this weekend at Penticton. These yearly conferences have proved a great help to patrol leaders as problems common to all companies are discussed, new games and songs learned and valuable friendships made.

Last week's rally at Penticton to meet Mrs. J. Quinell, provincial commissioner, was enjoyed by all. She inspected the Brownie and Guide horseshoe, after which each company and pack put on a five-minute entertainment.

Summerland's skit depicted the usefulness of Guides in any emergency, even to transporting a bonfire from one mountain top to another.

The 2nd Summerland Guide Company held its first meeting last Friday evening with a full company attendance of thirty-two being present. Patrol leaders were elected and they are Frances Atkinson, Louise Walton, Lois Harhicht and Patsy Dunham.

These P/L's are all planning on attending the patrol leaders' conference in Penticton this weekend. This meeting is held every year to give patrol leaders instruction and a general idea of their duty toward the company as well as a chance to meet Guides from other Okanagan centres and to learn of their Guide-

Mr. Vern Manarey, who formerly operated a grocery store in lower town before it was acquired by Daniels' Grocery, has moved to Medicine Hat, Alta., where he has taken a position with Robertson Transport. In a letter to the Kiwanis Club of Summerland read at Monday's meeting he tendered his resignation, expressing regret at his inability to remain in the community.

A general review covering hand and whistle signals, horseshoe and parade formation, the Union Jack and its origin and a study of the Guide Laws and Promise were carried out and later tenderfoots and second class instruction was given.

This Friday we will be meeting with the 1st Summerland Company and Mr. Feltham will be present to test Guides who have taken instruction in map-reading for their first-class test.

A party for pre-school children will be held again this year on the Saturday before Hallowe'en and Guides are asked to get busy and think up games and any other forms of amusement for this party.

Teen Town

Everyone seemed to have enjoyed the last two Saturday nights at Teen Town (at least, I hope they did). The social committee has been trying hard to organize different games and dances to make things more lively. So anyone who has any brainy ideas bring them up to Graham or anyone on the council.

This Saturday night there is going to be a dance at the Youth Centre (as usual). It is going to be called the "Fall Fling". Kinda sounds like something real interesting so let's see everyone there, eh? The dance starts at 8:30 and the admission is 25c for members and 35c for non-members.

There will be refreshments and the ping-pong tables will be set up.

Some of the basic rules of Teen Town have been violated and the council is taking steps to see that there is no continuance. In case someone doesn't know them they are: 1, No smoking; 2, no drinking; 3, no gambling; 4, no profanity. We certainly hope everyone will take note and obey them.

Appreciation is being extended to Howard Shannon of the DeLuxe Electric for helping to provide Teen Town with the music and a PA system. Teen Town is now buying their own records instead of renting them.

Singers & Players Club

Everyone interested in any department of stage production is asked to come to the Summerland Players' Club first general meeting on October 24.

Mrs. Mason, Players' representative on the committee, has arranged for three plays for reading and consideration on that date. They are, Barrets of Wimpole Street, A Doll's House, Lovers Leap.

The play chosen for production early in 1951, to be directed by Lacey Fisher, will be cast as soon as possible.

A full season of activity has been planned by the committee including acting, set-designing, set building, stage lighting, costuming, make-up, properties, play-reading groups. They all offer opportunities for those interested in some

Bishop of Kootenay's Visit is Postponed

Visit of Bishop of the Kootenay, Fred P. Clark, to the Summerland parish of the Anglican church on October 28 will have to be postponed, Rev. Canon F. V. Harrison has been informed.

Bishop Clark is in McDougall Memorial hospital, Kimberley, suffering from pleurisy and other complications, and will not be able to return to his duties until November.

"This rules out my proposed visit to your parish," writes Bishop Clark. "I regret this very much and hope you will make a suitable explanation to your people."

RECIPE HINTS

Macaroni salad flavored with olives, sharp cheese, crisp vegetables, and Russian dressing, is a treat to serve to a hungry family.

Macaroni Chef's Salad

Two and one quarter cups macaroni, 12 stuffed olives, sliced, 1/4 lb. cheddar cheese cubed, 1 cup cubed bologna or other spicy cooked meat, 3 tomatoes, quartered, 1 cucumber, sliced, salad greens.

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender; drain, rinse with hot water; chill. Combine macaroni, olives, cheese, bologna, tomatoes and cucumber. Place in salad bowl with salad greens. Toss with Russian dressing. Yields 6 generous servings.

Set a bowl of salad dressing in centre of round chop plate in a cantelope-half. Pile sliced peaches, melon balls, orange segments and cherries around this and let each person "make" his or her own fruit salad.

Or, cut melon centres into cubes or balls and mold in your favorite gelatin recipe, garnishing with melon balls of a contrasting color. Any fruit-in-season may be substituted for melon, with equal enjoyment.

Secretary B. A. Tingley reported on his attendance at the B.C. School Trustees' Assn. convention in Victoria. He declared that he had obtained a good deal of valuable information on secretarial duties from various discussions.

Use of the school buildings for meetings and other activities was authorized for Miss Kay Hamilton, Summerland Jaycees' gavel club, Summerland Band and Singers' and Players' Club. These groups are to be reminded that they should make arrangements for janitors remuneration.

Chairman Bleasdale pointed out that the board would have to set a policy for rental of school buildings for night activities once the new school is opened.

Household Wreaths For Poppy Day

Members of the Legion WA are assisting the Poppy Day committee of the Canadian Legion this year in a canvass for the sale of "household" wreaths. It is the hope of the Legion committee, headed by W. McCutcheon, that a large number of such wreaths will be purchased so that many homes can be represented at the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day.

Besides Mr. McCutcheon, E. F. (Hilly) Smith at Smith & Henry, A. W. Watt at the provincial agricultural office and J. R. Armstrong at The Review office, are prepared to accept names of those who wish to purchase such wreaths.

Two Legion WA Members Honored

Mrs. D. Weis and Mrs. A. Lamcraft were guests at a farewell party in the Legion hall parlor arranged by the Legion Auxiliary to bid adieu to two members who have been active workers on the auxiliary's behalf.

Auxiliary members staged a sing song and played Bingo before being joined by their husbands, when refreshments were served.

Remembrance Day Banquet is Planned

Twenty-one Legion Auxiliary members met at the church hall on Thursday, October 12, with the president, Mrs. McCutcheon presiding. Main interest centered around the forthcoming Remembrance Day banquet, concert and dance which will be held in the IOOF hall this year.

As seating capacity is limited, all veterans and Legion WA members are being urged by the latter executive to purchase tickets early.

A $5 donation to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was authorized and arrangements were made for parcels to be sent to any local boys in the Korean war area.

Heirlooms of 1700 on Display At Institute Tea

An heirloom trousseau which has been a treasured possession of the Orr family since 1730 was one of the outstanding exhibits at the Women's Institute annual fall variety sale and tea in the IOOF hall on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. T. C. Orr was in charge of this exhibit of priceless possessions and also displayed two samplers, one the work of a five-year-old and made in 1718. The other was just as ancient, being of 1769 vintage.

A shawl, the property of Mrs. M. E. Creese, was made in an Armenian monastery 200 years ago and is a beautiful embroidery example.

Another interesting relic was a "snake", made from green and white beads by Russian prisoners of war in World War I.

Also on display were ancient snuff boxes, drumsticks from a Russian conflict and a piece of lava from the Hawaiian Islands.

Not taking a back seat to this remarkable exhibition was the stall of garden produce arranged by Mrs. R. C. Palmer. An abundance of vegetables, plants, bulbs, flowers and seeds was displayed and found a ready sale.

Mrs. E. C. Whitaker had a splendid stall of home cooking. Mrs. S. A. MacDonald and Mrs. H. B. Mair had charge of the superfluity stall and Mrs. Sheldrake was in charge of the tea.

Through their combined efforts and those of many more members of the Women's Institute about $150 was raised for Institute funds.

But to remedy this situation, the Summerland Guide Assn. is planning a shower tea on October 28 when everyone interested in the centre and the youths it caters to can bring something to fill the cupboards, such as cups and saucers, plates, cutlery, etc.

Thanksgiving Dinner Served to 300 Is Highlight of Service Club Work

Once again the spirit of service and co-operation so evident in the organizations of St. Andrew's United church was very much to the fore and amply rewarded when the Service Club served a Thanksgiving dinner to over three hundred persons.

The help of several AOTS members in setting up tables, the donations of the Women's Federation, the work of several Girl Guides and older girls as serviteurs, as well as the delightful music provided by Mr. T. McKay, Miss Mary Marshall and Eugene Bates all contributed to the success of this large undertaking.

The recently expanded kitchen facilities were taxed to the utmost in catering to the two large sittings which were served a turkey dinner with all the trimmings, at tables attractively decorated with fall fruits.

These facts were brought out in the reports presented by the convenors, Mrs. Colin Campbell and Mrs. Walter B. Powell, and by the treasurer, Mrs. Sydney Feltham, at the regular meeting of the Service Club, which was held in the church hall on Monday evening, Oct. 16.

This meeting, with Mrs. A. J. McKenzie presiding, opened with the singing of the well-known hymn, "Come, Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love", followed by a devotional period, led by Mrs. A. Scott, on the subject of Thanksgiving, based on Psalm 95.

The president then welcomed the visitors present, Miss Cochrane, Mrs. Brown, Miss McFarlane, and Mrs. Sandford.

Following the minutes several letters and cards were read, these being mainly in appreciation of cards, flowers, and gifts sent by the Service Club to members of the club and congregation.

It was announced that the Kamloops-Okanagan Presbytery Women's Association would meet in Rutland on November 9, and delegates from the Service Club were appointed to attend.

A good deal of discussion centred on plans for the tea and bazaar which the club has scheduled for November 18, and it was decided to advance the date of the next regular meeting one week in order to finalize plans for this event at that time.

Tea convenors were appointed, these being Mrs. F. Doumont, Mrs. Denike and Mrs. Brown. The meeting felt that it wanted to keep in touch with Mrs. Suma Ona, a former member of St. Andrew's Sunday school now living in Japan, and it was arranged to send her a parcel for Christmas.

Following the Mizpah benediction, the meeting adjourned and enjoyed the tea provided by Mrs. A. K. Elliott and served by several members.

St. Mark's Church, Vancouver Nuptials Of Interest Here

St. Mark's Anglican church in Vancouver was the setting for the ceremony on Wednesday, October 4, when Shirley Marie Cavin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon T. Cavin of Vancouver exchanged marriage vows with Hector Ian Borton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Borton of West Summerland.

The bridal veil misted over the bride's white slipper satin gown and she carried a bouquet of talisman roses and white carnations.

Miss Patricia Cavin was her sister's bridesmaid and she wore a gown of pale green organdy. She carried a bouquet of bronze and yellow toned mums.

The groom's two nieces Judy and Nonie Harper acted as flower girls and wore gowns of white Swiss organdy over peach and carried colonial bouquets of bronze and yellow mums.

Best man, brother of the groom, was LAC Vernon Borton. Ushers included Mr. William Harper, Mr. Arthur Thomas, Mr. Joseph Bernard and Mr. Ronald Cavin.

After a honeymoon in the Okanagan and on Vancouver Island the newlyweds are making their home in Vancouver.

New Members and Friends Party Planned By Anglican WA

The regular meeting of St. Stephen's Evening Branch WA was held on October 16, with a good attendance of members.

Plans for the "new members and friends" party to be held in the Parish hall on October 30 were made and the president, Mrs. E. C. Bingham, stressed the hope that every member would make an effort to bring at least one non-member with her.

The highlight of the evening was a report given by Mrs. D. Turnbull on her attendance in September at the annual Dominion Conference of Anglican WA's at Timmins, Ont. This report was most interesting and gave an insight into the business and social activities of the conference and emphasized the greater need for missionary work.

The various work committees reported on progress and reminded that bazaar days are not far off.

The meeting adjourned and all enjoyed tea served by Mrs. Kersey and Mrs. Lett.

Paintings by Local Artist on Display

Mr. Alex Fraser, art evaluator and critic of the Vancouver Art Gallery, has purchased one of Mr. Irvine Adams' paintings and has taken another for exhibit at his art shop in the coast centre.

Others will be displayed by Mr. Fraser in the next few months, Mr. Adams expects.

The local artist also has two of his paintings entered in an exhibition in connection with the United Nations folk festival in Kelowna this week.

UBC Students Tour Okanagan

John W. Long, of Greata Ranch, Peachland, was one of three UBC first-year commerce students who were awarded a four-day trip last weekend from Vancouver to the Okanagan as a special prize from B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

The tree fruits sales agency makes this offer, with all expenses paid, to three students who have obtained the highest standing in commercial geography, in their first year of commerce study.

Mr. Long and the other two winners left Vancouver on October 11 and spent two days in the company of Tree Fruits representatives inspecting the picking, sorting, packing and shipping of apples in Penticton and in the area to the south.

On Friday, October 13, they moved on to Kelowna where they were taken on tour of the fruit industry in that region. A banquet was given in their honor by officials of the company, the return journey being made on October 15.

Penticton Jaycees Consider "Sicamous"

PENTICTON—What may be the answer to the question, "Who will look after the Sicamous?" was provided last week by the Penticton Jaycees, who are tentatively figuring out a scheme whereby the CPR sternwheeler could be brought here and be made a sight-seeing attraction for tourists during summer months.

Jaycees would need backing to the extent of $2,500, probably from council, and this money could be repaid from revenues each year. A full-time caretaker would have to be provided by Jaycees.

Telephone Exchange Central Office Open

VERNON—Embracing the newest of construction trends, the sparkling, bright $70,000 Okanagan Telephone Co. exchange and central office was formally opened last Thursday evening. The new building will be officially called the Ross Peers Building and is located at the intersection of 32nd street and Coldstream avenue.

Bring Back Price Control CCF Penticton Meeting Demands

PENTICTON—Re-institution of price control was demanded of the dominion government, in a prepared resolution passed at the meeting of the Penticton CCF party at a meeting held Oct. 6 in the IOOF hall. The meeting was called in connection with the party's national three-year-plan to raise funds and increase membership.

Less than one hundred people were on hand to hear O. L. Jones, CCF MP for Yale, Harold Winch, CCF leader of the opposition in the provincial government and D. C. MacDonald, national treasurer of the CCF voice the appeal. At the end of the meeting, an appeal for financial contributions resulted in $407 being collected in cash and pledges.

All speakers declared that the party was in financial distress and that the members were the people who could pull them through the crisis by contribution and subscription to the party newspaper.

Mr. MacDonald, who is in B.C. on a six-weeks tour, said that in some places for every four new members there were five letting their membership lapse.

Mr. Jones spoke briefly and told of the hard work being done in other parts of Canada to gain members and lift the party from the financial bedrock that it had struck.

Mr. Winch followed Mr. Jones, and after a brief reference to W. A. C. Bennett, in which he said that "Mr. Bennett may have thrown a monkey wrench into Coalition or appears to have done anyway," the opposition leader went on to describe in glowing terms the world of socialism in Britain and the working of the co-operatives in Sweden.

"Great Britain has the greatest social security plan in the world. If the spirit that exists in Europe and Britain were combined with the facilities and the population we have here in Canada, we could have the highest standards of living in the world, and surpluses," Mr. Winch contended.

Referring to price control, Mr. Winch intimated that his party's campaign had caused the Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe to state in the house, "that there may have to be steps taken." This, said Mr. Winch, was a direct invitation to traders to raise prices while they had the chance.

The leader of the opposition accused Hon. Herbert Anscomb of getting the provincial government's wealth direct from the pockets of the people.

In his appeal, Mr. MacDonald spoke of three farmers in one constituency who had subscribed to the party. One man, he said, had given $500 and two others had given $200 each.

The CCF, he declared, were not like the other parties, who got their money in large amounts. They, the CCF, had to rely on small subscriptions from members and could not draw on the sources political opponents had at their disposal. Mr. MacDonald will return to B.C. about this time next year and in the interim, will have campaigned in the other nine provinces.

Purebred Jersey Bull Is Purchased from Experimental Station

SALMON ARM—A purebred Jersey bull, Summerland Glory's Eclipse, has been purchased by J. Kavalinas, Canoe, from the herd of the Summerland experimental station.

Summerland Glory's Eclipse is sired by Spring Vista Mercury Glory whose sire was Volunteer's Mercury, Doc. The dam of Glory is Spring Vista Bravo's Dianna classified as "Excellent" with two gold medals. One of her records when she was six years old totalled 13,397 pounds of milk and 627 pounds of fat in 305 days.

The dam of Eclipse, Summerland Golden Auricula, made 450 pounds of fat at two years in 305 days, for which she was awarded a silver medal. On her present lactation, Auricula as a three-year-old has made 300 pounds of fat during the first 150 days.

The foundation cows in Auricula's pedigree stand 3rd, 4th and 7th in long distance butterfat production. In long distance milk production 2nd, 5th and 7th places are held by the various foundation animals.

While these standings are for Canadian cows only, they indicate sufficient merit of breeding worth in Eclipse to enable him to found a strong herd for his new owner.

No other truck comes close to these 12 features you get in a GMC

Before you buy a new truck, study the chart above. It lists twelve important facts about the trucks offered by GMC and other makers in Canada. You'll find yourself drawing two main conclusions from it:

1. No matter what you want in a truck, GMC offers it... there's no need to look beyond GMC, for GMC and GMC alone offers every style, every capacity, every feature you can require.
2. You can't afford to buy any other make, if real truck value is what you're after! For time after time as you go through the list you'll find a feature you want—important to your profits or comfort or safety—that's offered by none of the other makers listed! No other maker offers more than 2 of the 12 features that the GMC line, up to and including the three ton, gives you.

GMC's many plus values help to explain why a GMC will give you years longer service—with lower maintenance cost. It's a real truck—built by the world's largest exclusive maker of commercial vehicles.

Your GMC dealer will be glad to show you the ruggedly handsome new 1950 models—in a wide range of types and sizes to fill every need. Measured in years of extra service, a GMC is your most economical buy.

Will they ever strike oil in your back yard?

An exciting thought, isn't it? But of course you know the odds are hopelessly against your being that lucky. In fact, you don't expect life to hand you even a very small fortune on a platter. Or do you?

Take old-age benefits, for instance. Undoubtedly many older people really need help. But no over all security plan is going to provide all the income you and your family will ever need in the future. Things just aren't going to be that rosy.

Five million Canadians, among whom you are probably one, want and expect security and independence in their later years. And they are planning for it now, in a way that suits their own individual and family needs.

These far-sighted men and women are enjoying more of the good things of life than ever before, and at the same time protecting their loved ones now and building security for their old-age with life insurance.

Surely you want to help build this kind of future security for yourself and your family. Nearly 5 million Canadian life insurance policyholders are doing it now!

Interior Vegetable Growers Assn. Patterned on BCFGA Lines Now Being Formed

KAMLOOPS—Members of Kamloops Growers Association last week voluntarily transformed their organization into a local branch of the recently-chartered Interior Vegetable Growers Association.

The IVGA was incorporated September 13 under the Societies' Act. The intention is that it shall have the same role in the vegetable-growing industry as the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association has in the tree-fruit industry.

John Desmond of Brocklehurst, one of the five signatories of the IVGA's charter, outlined the aims and objects of the new industry-wide organization. His co-signers were F. W. Hack of Oliver, M. W. Marshall of Kelowna, Bernard Pow of Vernon and M. Kawano of Okanagan Centre.

Every registered vegetable grower will be eligible to membership in the new association. Unregistered producers may be admitted by order of the directors of the local branch.

The directorate of the new association will be composed of those who are elected by the registered growers to be delegates to the nominating convention of B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board.

These delegates-cum-directors will elect the association's six-man executive, one for each of the districts into which the Interior has been divided. Kamloops is in District No. 1 in which also are the Lillooet and Ashcroft areas.

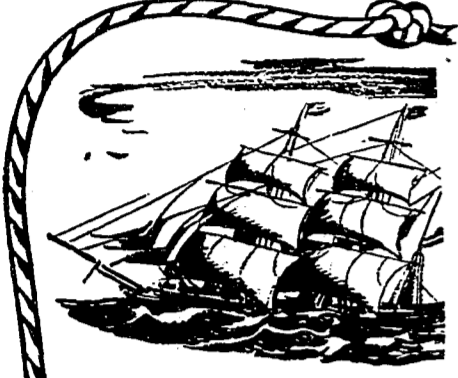

The constitution of the new organization specifically prevents members of the B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board from holding office on the association's directorate.

There is to be only one local branch in each district, but sub-locals may be organized elsewhere in the district.

The branch's annual meeting is to be held at the same time and place as the annual meeting of registered growers that is required by the B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board Act.

Each branch will have a chairman and an executive whose number will be decided by the branch's membership. However, every delegate to the B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board convention must also be a member of the branch's executive.

The sender offered no explanation in an unsigned note but requested that its receipt be acknowledged in the press.

Injury to Premier Johnson Delays Cabinet Conference Over Winter-Killed Fruit Trees

Injury of Premier Byron Johnson in an automobile accident near Quebec City has caused postponement of the scheduled meeting between the BCFGA advisory committee on winter damage to interior fruit trees and the provincial cabinet on October 10, C. A. Hayden, BCFGA secretary, advises.

When it became known that the premier would not be able to attend a cabinet meeting for some weeks, President Ivor Newman instructed Secretary Hayden to contact Hon. Harry Bowman, minister of agriculture, emphasizing the serious nature of the emergency and requesting the minister to appoint a small committee to follow up the survey of winter-killed trees.

This survey was conducted at the direction of W. H. Robertson, acting deputy minister of agriculture.

It has been reported that the Dominion government will accept a recommendation from the B.C. government and will match dollar for dollar, in compensation.

The BCFGA stressed in its wire to Hon. Mr. Bowman that if the replanting of winter-killed trees is held up much longer then the program will be delayed a full year, with consequent loss to the already hard-hit producers.

Mr. Bowman replied from Williams Lake that he would investigate this suggestion on returning to his office this week.

"Appreciate seriousness situation and hope to comply with request," his telegram read. "Gardiner (federal agriculture minister) definite to all provinces will not consider aid till after conference."

The conference referred to is that involving agriculture ministers of all provinces and their staffs, along with federal agricultural heads.

Kamloops Suggests $10

KAMLOOPS—A dominion-provincial subsidy of $10 per winter-killed tree is to be sought by Kamloops and district apple-growers. The grant would be used to defray the cost of removing and replacing the trees slain by last winter's sub-zero temperatures.

Request for the immediate special assistance was made last week at a meeting of growers held in Legion hall under the auspices of B.C. Fruit Growers' Association.

The figure of $10 was agreed upon after J. G. Campbell of Salmon Arm, the Kamloops-Salmon Arm representative on BCFGA directorate, reported he had recommended a $10 grant to the BCFGA special committee which soon is to discuss the winter-kill disasters with the provincial government.

Attends Sacred Regina Convention

W. G. Gillard, one of the chief proponents of Social Credit in this district attended the provincial Social Credit convention in Chilliwack last Friday and Saturday and is now in Regina, attending the national convention being held October 18 to 20 inclusive.

Mr. Lloyd Miller accompanied Mr. Gillard to the Fraser Valley Centre but did not continue on to Regina.

Completes 43 Years In CPR Tug Service

PENTICTON—John Thompson completed 43 years' service in CPR inland waters service when he steered the big diesel-powered tug MV Okanagan into the wharf at Penticton on Friday, Oct. 7. He has served on the Okanagan, Kootenay and Arrow lakes since arriving out west from the Hebrides in 1907.

EMPERESS OF SCOTLAND ON CARIBBEAN CRUISES

Three hundred travel agents and representatives of the Canadian Pacific Railway, including more than 100 from the United States, gathered in Quebec City Tuesday by special train for a preview of the accommodation which will be available on the Empress of Scotland during her Caribbean cruises from New York this winter.

The Empress of Scotland is scheduled to make seven cruises this winter from New York to Jamaica, Venezuela, Curacao, Panama and Cuba. The cruise period extends from December 22 to March 24, with the ship making two 12-day, and five 14-day cruises.

IT CAN AND IT DOES HAPPEN HERE

The free enterprise way is not just a theory, or something to be observed from afar.

The best place to observe how it works out is in one's own community. Size up the successful men of the community, and you will find that in virtually all cases they are successful because they worked hard toward the goal of their own choice.

Successful in this respect does not mean only those who have made a million dollars or achieved wide fame or power. A successful man is one who has gained the place in life to which his ambition directed him, whether that be running a grocery store or practicing a profession or creating a new industry.

The point is that the free enterprise system, which is our Canadian way of life, gives every man the opportunity to become successful according to his ambition and ability. And it works. Look around you for the proof.

It is a way of life worth guarding and preserving.

Don Nesbitt Heads Local Cagers; No Senior League This Winter

With the dropping out of Summerland and Oliver and with Kamloops still doubtful, the interior senior B basketball league has been washed up, Andy Bennie, interior association proxy informed The Review this week.

Decision to play senior C ball, or at least not to enter the league was made at last Thursday's adjourned annual meeting of the cagers in the school gym.

Don Nesbitt was chosen president of the Summerland Basketball Club for the 1950-51 season with Sandy Jomori as secretary-treasurer. Nesbitt replaces Keith McLean who ruled the hoop roost last year.

Penticton, senior B champions of the province, started the season last Saturday by holding the visiting Vancouver Arctic, senior A cagers, to a 60-60 tie after five minutes' overtime.

It is Penticton's plan to bring in a number of coast teams for exhibition games throughout the season, besides playing other senior cagers in the interior.

Summerland will probably seek engagements with both senior B and C teams in the interior and can decide in December whether to stay in C class ball or take the plunge into B class for the interior playoffs.

Kamloops, Revelstoke, Merritt, Penticton, Oliver and Princeton are likely contenders in senior B interior circles this season.

Several rule changes have been announced. Senior and intermediate A teams will play games in two twenty-minute halves in future, instead of the four ten-minute quarters. Intermediate B and junior cagers will play four eight-minute quarters and midgets six-minute quarters.

Intermediate A age limit has been lowered to conform with the Canadian Basketball Assn. junior category. This new limit allows players under 20 at December 31, 1950 to enter intermediate A playoffs this season.

Numbers on shirt fronts are essential this year, Mr. Bennie points out, who also urges all interior clubs to write for registration cards by December 15.

Pro-Rec Grant Is Divided by Sports Groups

Jim Panton, chief of the provincial recreation service of the provincial educational department in the Okanagan visited Summerland on Monday and came to a decision on the allocation of the $400 set aside to assist this community in sports development in the 1950-51 season.

Already, $100 has been expended to assist the annual swim classes and the board of trade, with its depleted funds this year, found the assistance of great benefit in carrying on this work.

Mr. Panton met Cecil Wade, swim class chief, Mr. Dave Waddell, badminton club executive and W. J. Schwab, Pro-Rec gymnastic instructor on Monday and discussed the further slicing of the melon.

It was recommended to Mr. Panton that the ski club be granted $75 towards promotion of instruction of juniors, and that a similar amount be granted the badminton club to promote interest among prospective younger shuttle players.

The balance, $150, has been set aside for the payment of instruction for gymnastic classes which Mr. Schwab is endeavoring to arrange for both sexes at the school gymnasium, probably on Wednesday evenings as before.

There was no ski club executive member present at Monday's conference but it was felt that $75 could be used to good advantage by that organization which commenced junior instructional classes last winter, with good results.

Mr. Panton explained that in the past Pro-Rec has been connected only with gymnastics and calisthenics but the aim of the recreation department is to embrace all sports in the valley which do not come under the category of purely audience-paying team sports.

It is probable that in another winter assistance for junior hockey players will be forthcoming when the new arena is in full swing.

Foster Hewitt has begun his twentieth season of network broadcast commentaries on national hockey league games. Again this year, every Saturday night at 5:05 his famous voice goes out from Toronto over the CBC Trans-Canada network introducing another of the play-by-play broadcasts which have become a tradition.

Now in his middle forties, he has few equals anywhere in sports broadcasting. With his estimated five million listeners he shares a wealth of knowledge; for it was he who handled Canada's first hockey broadcast back in 1922, and he has been at it almost without a break ever since.

Fishing-Hunting Reports

(By Bert Berry)

FISHING

Fishing has been pretty good for any who have braved the cold. Take warm clothing, especially on Okanagan Lake. No really big fish caught, however. Frank Schwass and party went to Little River but the Salmon weren't biting.

HUNTING

Deer seem to be as elusive as ever. Several have been seen but very few bagged in any district. Reports coming in say the herds are not around yet, just the odd stray moving around.

Another report on the Windermere country comes from George Pennington and Clarence Lackey who say the weather has been against hunting there, as it has been too warm.

George Haddrell and son Ronny, with Roy Darke, hit it "on the nose" in the Chilcotin country and brought back three nice moose. They report ducks and geese not so good right there.

Percy Wilson and Ken Heales are back from the Merritt country and report they had fair going on ducks and geese but think that later on will be better, when the northern flight comes down.

Pheasants and quail are fairly scarce, from all accounts, very few getting their two birds per day. However, there are enough around to give a fellow a little sport, it seems.

Remember that the game commission has special, stamped cards for the pheasant survey available anywhere that licenses are issued. Get one and help the commission in this work. Also, please turn in one of the cock's legs, as the commission wishes to gain an idea of the age, strength and health of the pheasant population in each district.

Of course, Canadian National's through sleeping car service between the Okanagan and Vancouver, operates six days a week.

takes the view that hospital insurance is a social service and provides fifty percent of the cost from general funds.

Mr. Detwiller stated that the Hamilton Report is just a guide and is not to be considered as the final word in hospital administration or policy. The people, through the provincial legislature, must make the decisions, he insisted.

The government has no intention of taking over the hospitals and wishes to leave administration to the communities.

But the communities must expect to accept the responsibility that goes with management, he pointed out.

Mr. Detwiller stated the BCHIS is trying to help hospitals finance but he and the service are responsible to the people as a whole.

The former average stay of 9.2 days per patient has recently increased to 10.2 days, whereas U.S. hospitals have an average of between 8 and 9 days. He sought hospital co-operation in lowering the present B.C. figure.

is "shot up" by a visiting gang of cowboys, or "taken apart" by an off-work crew of lumberjacks, the real reason is the same; shyness. The boys were lonesome for human society, but when they got among strangers, too shy to be at home with them; and it would never do for a bold cowpuncher or choker-man to admit, even to himself, that he is nervous and tongue-tied. So he puts on a big show of fierceness to fool others—and himself.

You'd never think that the drunk who staggers up to you on the street or dance-floor, and makes a halitosis nuisance of himself with perfect strangers is shy. Yet it's amazing how many men and women drink because they are ill-at-ease and alcohol acts as a sedative, deadening their nervousness.

It's a queer thing, this shyness. Think of the mental misery it causes in the world, add the discomfort that shy people cause others by their peculiar ways of displaying—they think it's hiding—their shyness, and it would probably rank higher than many physical diseases in the suffering it inflicts.

The cure for it? Don't ask me; I'm a veritable shrinking violet myself. As far as I know, shyness is just one of the many mental quirks which so far have received little scientific study. Perhaps if parents were alert to its dangers and started their children mixing with people early, it would help to lessen the plague, though it seems to strike the most unsuspected youngsters when they reach a certain age. Perhaps self-analysis, to make people realize that shyness was the real root of their unsovable actions, would help adults; I don't know.

Tells Board of Trade About Chamber Meet

Summerland Board of Trade members heard an interesting account of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention at Banff last month from J. I. Monteith, Kelowna Board of Trade president, who was one of several interior delegates to be in attendance.

Mr. Monteith addressed the monthly trade board meeting in the IOOF hall last Thursday evening and complimented J. L. Palethorpe, Penticton trade board president, for his publicity stunt of having peaches placed at the tables for the main convention banquet.

The convention had impressive talks from Brookes Claxton, Gordon Cockshutt, Hon. E. C. Manning, premier of Alberta and a representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The Alberta premier impressed Mr. Monteith as a sincere man trying to do a good job for the people in his province. The convention was told that Alberta's debt would probably be wiped out in five years.

Leads in Small Towns He was informed that B.C. leads the dominion in the number of boards of trade in towns of less than 1,000 population. B.C. has 69 trade boards in such a category, and its total of 110 boards is second to Ontario as members of the chamber.

The convention was informed that employer-employee relations have to be practiced more and more. Talks on defence were another highlight of the convention.

At the outset, Mr. Monteith complimented Summerland on its hospitality and lovely setting. "You have something that we haven't got in Kelowna and that's going some," he declared. "You have a pleasant town and it is always a pleasure to come here."

Four-ton Boiler Crashes at New School Project

Four tons wrapped in the shape of a brand new boiler went crashing through a hole on the north side of the new junior-senior high school on Saturday afternoon when a large crane borrowed from the City of Penticton failed to hold it.

Fortunately, a number of large timbers forming a crib about four feet off the cement floor in the basement of the new school helped to break the fall and it is hoped that the boiler is not damaged.

Work of extricating the boiler and raising it for examination was conducted last night. It is being given a minute inspection this morning.

The crane was recently purchased by the City of Penticton and had not been put into use by that city's public works department. It was rented to Peter Lawson, Penticton heating and plumbing engineer, and brought to Summerland last weekend to lower the two huge boilers into place at the new school project.

Just as the boiler was to be lifted and propelled forward to drop into the hole, some mechanism failed to hold. The boiler tore itself loose, skidded along the dirt and plunged down into the gaping hole.

That it managed to plunge down without turning or wrecking the side walls is considered a minor miracle, as there is just enough room for the boiler to go down.

City of Penticton cancelled payment on the crane until the company's representatives could assure that any faulty mechanism had been corrected.

Interested spectators when the boiler was lifted from its resting place last night were Penticton City Aldermen E. A. Titchmarsh, J. G. Harris and "Casey" Phipps, along with City Engineer John Davies.

New BCHIS Billing Plan is Starting

B.C. Hospital Insurance Service will embark on its new "cyclical" billing plan for insurance premiums this month it is announced by Lloyd Detwiller, commissioner.

The purpose of the plan is to put premium billing on a quarterly basis, although people who wish to will still have the option of paying six months or a year in advance.

It will "stagger" the due dates as between various groups of people so that the rush of payments on two or four due dates each year will be eliminated.

Bills going out this month will be to all people outside the three main cities who make direct payments.

You May Save a Life

NEXT week we have a date in the name of humanity. Every person over 18 years of age who has not been told by a qualified medical man not to participate should stand by ready to donate a pint of blood for the Canadian Red Cross blood transfusion service.

The mobile clinic, which visits Summerland once every year will be here again next Thursday, both afternoon and evening. This district has a fine record for its size but it could really do a lot better. There are many who just cannot be bothered or, perhaps are too nervous to do their part that others may live.

Use of blood in our hospitals and anywhere an emergency arises has become an urgent necessity. The blood service department of the Canadian Red Cross has been hard pressed to meet the demand from physicians. They need an ever-increasing supply as the chart which appears on another page of this issue clearly indicates.

More than one hundred pints of blood are needed every day of the week and the clinic cannot work more than five days weekly as it has too much travelling and other clerical duties to perform.

Therefore, the average must be nearer 200 pints every time the clinic operates. Summerland reached this average last year, but only just, and should be able to supply a far greater amount from its able bodied men and women.

This evening and again tomorrow night, the Jaycees will be conducting a telephone canvass of the district endeavoring to obtain further volunteers for this humanitarian cause. You should not hesitate to do your part in providing a small amount of that vital fluid which may save a life.

That one thought alone—that you may be and probably will be the means of saving another human's life—should be enough to send every right thinking person to the clinic at once.

Put a Curb on Hallowe'en Damage

NEXT week there will be celebrated by practically all of the young people and by a goodly percentage of the older ones, the night when a minor hell breaks loose throughout the land.

We can expect a constant barrage of firecrackers, a ringing of doorbells and demand for a "Treat or a Trick", a barricade of old boards, boxes and other moveable refuse on the roads and all types of funny masks and costumes depicting witches, black cats, pumpkins, and assorted variations.

It will be Hallowe'en and for the young ones it will be a glorious evening replete with thrills, spills, fun and games, with a little bit of mischief thrown in for good measure.

That will be fine, if we could confine Hallowe'en to such activities. But, unfortunately, we haven't been able to stop the brand of harmful "pranks" which are becoming more common each year.

We must expect a certain amount of the more daring acts and if they have a comic side then their daring can be excused. But we are not referring to this kind of act; it is the deliberate act of destruction and wilful damage which we abhor on this evening which was meant to be one of gaiety and harmless mischief.

Last year there were many acts of destruction perpetrated against kindly old people who could ill afford to pay for repair of their damaged property from their meagre savings.

These people had never done the young people any harm, yet these "hoodlums" deliberately tore down fences and ripped off boards with an abandon which bespoke of wanton cruelty.

We cannot afford to pay for sufficient police protection to prevent this wasteful destruction in every section of the community on Hallowe'en. So, there is but one answer. It is up to the parents, principally, to try and instill the difference between harmful damage and mischievous pranks into the young minds of their children.

Teachers in the schools can help in this instruction but it is really the parent whose duty it is to tell their children the difference between right and wrong.

The elementary school is conducting its Hallowe'en Handout campaign once more and pupils in grades 4 to 6 will be busy gathering in the coppers. But the pupils in higher grades will be on the prowl on Hallowe'en and it is to these youngsters that we refer.

If a small number of these young people will do the wilful damage to the park playground which they have perpetrated on ordinary days and nights during the year we shudder to think what they will do on Hallowe'en.

Divide Increases More Equitably

NOW that we have gone against the teachers in one matter, let us hasten to their defence in another dispute which is of some years standing.

Once again when the Union of B.C. Municipalities met for annual conclave the B.C. Teachers' Federation endeavored to obtain a hearing on the subject of teacher participation in municipal affairs.

The teachers' group was not only turned down in its request to be heard at Nelson but the municipal delegates remained firm on their stand that teachers should not be allowed to take part in municipal politics of any description.

This policy may have had a great deal of merit when teachers were the direct employees of a municipality. Now they are employees of a school district and in some instances obtain a good deal of their monthly increment from an unorganized district.

In Summerland's case we have the absurd instance where local teachers, who own property and pay taxes to the municipality, are not only disallowed from seeking office as members of the municipal council but they cannot take their place on the proposed parks board, no matter how much interest they have evinced in the progress of municipal parks and beaches.

It is time the UBCM took another good look at this question. This is an act which smacks too closely of class distinction to be tolerated in such a democracy as we boast in Canada.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

This fashion of men going around without hats on may be a great saving in wardrobe costs, and certainly must save many embarrassing moments, wondering when to keep the hat on and when to take it off in public buildings, at important functions, when meeting ladies, and so on. It obviates all worries too, about leaving your leadgear somewhere and having to rack your brains to remember the place.

But this bareheaded craze leaves every Samson shorn of what was once his crowning glory. Time was, comparatively recently, too, when no sane man would appear in public without a hat, except on a windy day, when a bare head was an understandable accident, or in snowball season, when it was a mark of accurate marksmanship on the part of some youngster.

There was even a popular song written about men's hats; today many would not even understand "Where did you get that hat, where did you get that tile?" And every man had in his wardrobe a variety of headgear to suit different occasions.

For sport or casual wear there was the peaked cloth cap, not the modern tight-fitting ski-type, but a flabby pancake affair with the loose top fastened down to the broad peak with a snap fastener.

When this became undone, the whole top belled above the wearer's head as if about to take off, and to wear it so was a sure mark of what was, in those days, called a rube or hayseed.

For dress occasions the felt hat, as always, was worn, but still more popular was the bowler, derby, or 'Christy stiff'. Now you only see pictures of them in advertisements of well-dressed plutocrats, but at one time there was hardly a home in which the youngsters did not have to fight the temptation of punching, kicking, or sitting on the stiff felt dome that was daddy's Sunday-go-to-meeting headgear. Or maybe not Sundays—maybe bowlers were secular—but they certainly were widely worn, and horribly hard.

The popular color was black, and since men feel more comfortable copying each other in clothes instead of being different, like the trailer sex, black was almost universal. I remember one spring, though, when there was a valiant effort on the part of the hatmakers to popularize bowlers in various shades of brown. One very short, bow-legged little man in our town blossomed out in a startling yellowish fawn creation—and his head was large for his body, too. Laughter floated down the street behind him the first time he wore it; I never saw it on him a second time.

For summer the style was another miserable stiff affair, the boater, or flat-crowned straw. It was light in weight, and too shallow-crowned to go down very far over the head, so it offered an excellent kite for wind to catch. And many a dandy, strutting across the Sunday school picnic grounds on a hot July day in full glory of blue serge and white boater, had to drop his dignity in a wild scramble when a gust of wind came along. Older men would hitch the doggoned thing to themselves with a button and string, but it was not deemed sporting by anyone young enough to think he was still active.

Bowler, boater, felt, cap—and in winter probably a fur wedge—a ridiculous thing which left the forehead and ears fully exposed—often a man had five dress hats in his wardrobe, even if he didn't rate a glossy silk topper.

What a come-down to the present age, when many a man in this mild climate has not a single dress hat, and in colder parts of Canada only some form of protection against the cold. And it isn't just in Canada; over in Africa, they tell me, the pith helmet and double felt tural have had their day too. A

Thirty Years Ago October 29, 1920

Under the leadership of Rev. H. E. Livingstone, C. A. Mitchell and R. G. S. Blackaby the united young people's rally was held in the Baptist church. Addresses were given by Rev. Charles Baker and Principal D. J. Welsh. Music was furnished by Miss E. Snider, T. Beaver and the Baptist choir and Presbyterian quartette.

After a long and annoying delay work has been started on the removal of the big slide on the lakeshore road where it passes the Melior property. Acting Reeve White laid the problem of slide removal before Premier Oliver when local public works department men refused to remove the obstacle.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ritchie, a pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized on Wednesday when their only daughter, Myrtle Elizabeth became the bride of Arlington Raymond Gayton.

W. C. Kelley was the successful applicant for position of assessor at an annual fee of $400. Mr. Leslie McDonnell of Vancouver has been accepted as municipal collector and accountant.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Williams have gone to England to spend the winter months.

The Altamont Lumber Co. Ltd. is the new name of the lumber operation of Fred DeMuth at Altamont on the KVR west of here.

Olivet cherries, picked by Inspector J. Tait on the A. E. Smith orchard are now on display in The Review office. They had been so small they were left on the tree but since then have developed into large specimens.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO October 29, 1925

For the first time in the memory of the oldest resident sleighbells jingled in West Summerland in October. Yesterday a heavy snowfall of five inches was registered. This was a heavier fall than occurred all last winter. In 1919 half an inch of snow fell on October 25 but never before has a fall of five inches been recorded so early.

If water is available fall irrigation will be allowed to those who request it, council has decided.

Trout Creek Farmers Institute despatched a resolution to the district convention in Kelowna which would compel all vehicles on the public road at night to carry a light. The resolution was adopted.

A. S. Matheson reported to the eighth annual convention of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Assn.

on the conference of the Canadian Teachers' Federation he attended in Toronto as a delegate from B.C.

A young lad under 17 years of age borrowed a motor car from Gordon Robertson and collided with a horse and rig driven by young members of H. Dunsdon's family. The lad was fined $20 and costs in court and Robertson was assessed $80 and costs for allowing him to use the truck, despite the fact he had thought the truck was being borrowed for use by the boy's father.

white man doesn't quite go bare-headed there; but he no longer loathes about the special sun-proof headgear once considered necessary. Maybe male heads are getting thicker than they used to be.

The only hope is the younger generation. They still are far more pleased to be hatted than bareheaded, and only if they can choose from a sombrero, a ski-cap, a leather helmet and a couple of pairs of ear-muffs are they content. Yesterday I saw a three-year-old wearing a replica of Daniel Boon's coonskin chapeau, ringed tail and all.

Will lads like these endure the monotony of bareheadedness when they reach mar's estate? It is unthinkable; hope surges again in my heart. I think I can bear up sufficiently to go out and dig a bit of garden for next year—if I can only find my hat.

Excellent turnouts are being maintained, this week's attendance being 32. However, time is lost by a few latecomers every week and those not present for roll call in future will count as absent. Patrol points are now: Hawks 268, Beavers 243, Eagles 221, Buffaloes 167 and Cougars 154. Proficiency badges count 10 points and can easily change this standing.

Meeting activities included a visit to the Summerland Fire Brigade at its weekly practice by the older boys working on their fireman's badge. For the rest of the troop every Scout had practice in whipping a set of new ropes. Properly-whipped ropes never become frayed at the ends and this is part of the tenderfoot tests and a most useful skill for any person to know. This was followed by a review of tenderfoot knots and a knot relay race.

The main topic of the evening concerned the weekend camp, this weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Each patrol leader is arranging food and equipment supplies with his patrol and any Scout absent from the meeting may obtain this information from his patrol leader. Ground sheet, sleeping bag or 4 blankets will be needed by each boy. The troop will assemble at the Youth Centre at 5:30 p.m. on Friday night when the truck will pick up all personnel and equipment. Campsite is on Trout Creek on the Shingle Creek road. The boys will return Sunday about 2:30 p.m.

Mr. W. McCutcheon of the Legion Poppy committee was present to arrange for Scouts to sell poppies on Saturday morning, Nov. 4. Notices: No regular meeting on Halloween, Oct. 31, but next meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 7. Duty patrol, Buffaloes.

High School COMMENTS

Weary students trooped back to school on Monday after a week of apple picking. Rainy weather stalled things a little, but on the whole the students proved a great help to many fruit growers. As most of the students were away for a week, classes, soccer schedules, practices, and so on were greatly upset.

Manual training classes are now functioning in the new junior-senior high school, under the manual instructor, Mr. Gateley.

The social committee was finally elected on Tuesday. Those elected for this committee are Don Blacklock, Richard Lewis, Elsie Hack and Phyllis Adams.

The girls elected their four house captains Tuesday, at noon. The new house captains are: House I, Ruth Klix; House II, Jacqueline Trafford; House III, Mary Marshall, and House IV, Eileen Birtles. A new system of counselling started this week at SHS. Miss A. Semak is the girls' counsellor and Mr. Durick is the boys' counsellor.

The counsellors job is to guide the students along the correct paths in choosing their vocations after leaving school, their courses while at school, and giving them help and guidance where it is needed.

Both counsellors work in the strictest confidence and require complete co-operation from the students. If you have a problem which is worrying you, you arrange for an interview with your counsellor and your problem will be discussed as soon as possible.

That's all for this week, so until next time, so-long kids!—Margaret Myers.

GUIDE NEWS

1st Company
The 1st Summerland Girl Guide company met Friday night with only one absentee, apart from the four patrol leaders who were attending the conference in Penticton.

Several Guides passed their second class health and accident tests while Deanna Wilman, Loretta Ingils and Marie Gronlund passed their first class map reading and compass as well as their pathfinders' badges.

One-year service stars were presented to Carol-Anne Cornish, Marie Gronlund, Loretta Ingils, Patsy Menu, Carol-Anne Short and Deanna Wilman, and second year service star to Beryl Dodman. The latter also obtained her emergency helper's badge.

Plans are being made for a parents' night in November.

It has been decided to conduct a patrol competition for a company song. Entries will be judged early next month and the winning song will be presented on parents' night.

2nd Company
At the combined meeting with 1st company last Friday, Shirley Johnston and Eileen Wilcox passed tenderfoot tests and were enrolled as Guides.

Second year service star was awarded to Jane Wooliams and one-year stars to Pat Morrow, C. Krause, A. Blayney and I. Reinertson.

Carol Krause and Margaret Marshall passed their pathfinders' tests which were conducted by Mr. S. W. Poltham.

Singers & Players Club

On Tuesday evening, October 24, forty-two Singers and Players gathered at the high school to begin work on their 1950-51 season. To be precise there were twenty-eight Singers and fourteen Players present.

We need more Singers to fill out the cast for "Patience"; perhaps next week a few more of you will be able to attend. As for the Players there will be no meeting next week but the week after that, November 7, every effort will be made to get a much fuller turnout, particularly of men.

Mr. Lacey Fisher put his players through casting readings of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street", and this play was enthusiastically received by all those present. The players hope to be able to do this excellent play and to produce it as the first theatrical entertainment in the new auditorium.

Music was distributed to the Singers, who at once, under Bud Steuart's direction and to Mrs. Dunham's accompaniment, began their first practice of "Patience". Records by the Savoy Opera Company were also played.

In a few introductory remarks the president, Stan Gladwell, pointed out that production has been scheduled for mid-March, 1951; that there were, leaving out the three Tuesdays around the Christmas and New Year holidays, just eighteen regular rehearsal periods of two hours each, and that only by full attendances and much hard work right from the beginning could these thirty-six available rehearsal hours be used to the maximum advantage. He also remarked that this might prove a difficult, perhaps even a critical season, but did not elaborate further in this connection.

It is the hope of the executive that nobody left feeling that the evening had not been an interesting and rewarding one.

Next week Mrs. McNeill will begin her short periods of instructions in voice control and sight reading.

TEEN TOWN

Well kids, I think we should call every Teen Town dance a "Fall Fling" by the way the kids turned out. There was a wonderful crowd.

I guess everybody wanted to know what the council was up to because of the resignation of three members. We are going to have a by-election Saturday night (boys).

We'd like to express our thanks to Mr. Tweedy for the boxes of delicious apples. They went like hot-cakes!

The mayor and two council members are travelling to Kelowna on Saturday to attend the Teen Town conference being held there. They will be accompanied by Les Gould, Teen Town's adult advisor.

Keep your eyes glued to the column for further notice about a Teen Town raffle.

That's all for this time, but be sure to turn out for the dance Saturday night in the Youth Centre.

First CWL Card Party is Held

The first of the winter series of CWL card parties was held Wednesday evening, Oct. 18, in the church hall.

The evening was enjoyed by all those who attended. There were not so many present as is usual later in the season as the time of the year is still busy for most people.

Whist was played, and Mrs. J. Schaeffer won first prize for ladies, with Mr. C. Menu topping the men's group.

Ladies' consolation went to Mrs. E. M. H. Turner, and men's low to Mr. George Fosbery.

Delightful refreshments were served after the games by Mrs. Wurst, Mrs. J. Cristante and Mrs. Henry Schaeffer.

OSOYOOS TO BE HOST

After several postponements, the next meeting of the Southern Interior Associated Boards of Trade session has been fixed for Thursday, November 16 at Osoyoos, Lorne Perry, local trade board secretary, has been informed.

Harvest Theme is Prevalent at O.E.S. Annual Fall Tea

Decorations on the tea tables at the lovely tea held by the Order of the Eastern Star on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 21, in the IOOF hall, convened by Mrs. G. A. Laidlaw, were in keeping with the thought of harvest which is uppermost in everyone's mind at this time.

There was a little, red "apple man" in the centre of each table, and surrounding were vari-colored leaves in all the striking autumn shades. Flowers in beautiful bouquets were used as added attractiveness at the front of the hall and on the large serving table.

Mrs. Harvey Wilson, Worthy Matron, received the large number who attended.

Mrs. J. Leinor arranged the decorations and Mrs. George Washington and Mrs. H. O. Tavender worked with her.

Mrs. C. J. Bleasdale and Mrs. K. Heales had the responsibility of the tea tables and acting as servers were Mrs. H. Brown, Mrs. R. S. Oxley, Mrs. Gordon Beggs and Miss Dorothy MacDonald.

Competent backing was given the tea table group by Mrs. Florence Stark and Mrs. Doney Wilson who managed the kitchen and were assisted by Mrs. E. Fanchon and Mrs. F. B. Bedford.

Mrs. Mel Cousins was in charge of the draw for the stuffed chicken and Dick Butler pulled out the tickets. Mrs. A. McLachlan won a jar of honey.

Popular spot was the home cooking stall directed by Mrs. S. W. Feltham and Mrs. H. V. Stent. Treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Butler, was at the door to take the tea collection.

Visitor Shows Slides Of Hawaiian Trip

Miss E. Salter of New Westminster who has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Forster returned to her home on Sunday evening's train.

While Miss Salter was visiting here many friends enjoyed seeing her projections of interesting and beautiful pictures which she took while on a month's trip to Hawaii by strato-cruise: last January.

Her trip, with its many highlights could easily be followed by the pictures recorded from the first flight out into a flaming sunset until the return into a bright sunrise.

Particularly noteworthy were shots of tropical flora including belladonna, bougainvillea, bird of paradise flowers, tree ferns and many other colorful plants.

Miss Salter ended most of her showings with local scenes taken on previous visits here, and many of those who saw her pictures thought that the beauty of a leafy branch loaded with gleaming red apples against a clear blue sky equalled the lush equatorial scenery.

IT TAKES MORE THAN FARMING TO MAKE A FARM SUCCESSFUL

As a farmer, you may have seen one man steadily improve his farm while a neighbor, though starting in much the same circumstances, can never afford it. In many cases, the difference lies more in financing than farming.

Many successful farmers follow one simple rule to finance improvements. They know that keeping too much cash around leads to easy spending. So, as soon as they receive payment for produce, they set part of it aside in a special savings account at the Bank of Montreal. Then they just "forget" they have this money until they need it to finance bigger and better crops, or labor-saving equipment.

You, too, can boost your profits by saving regularly at the B of M. Ivor Solly, branch manager at West Summerland, invites you to drop in now and open your special account for farm-progress financing.—Adv.

Teachers Name Kelowna Man As President

Fred T. Bunce, principal of the Kelowna junior high school, was named president of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Assn. at the annual meeting in Vernon last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, replacing C. W. Wilkin of the Summerland high school staff.

Mr. R. E. Flower, also of Kelowna was named secretary and F. W. Flick of Oliver is vice-president. In his position as immediate past president, Mr. Wilkin will represent the OVTA on the B.C. Teachers' Federation executive.

Summerland schools were closed all day Friday to allow teachers to attend the sessions, which commenced Thursday evening with the guest speaker Dr. Roy Daniels, head of the department of English, UBC, who was a witty, provocative speaker on the subject of "Cost of Education". This session was held in the new Vernon junior-senior high school.

All day Friday sectional meetings were on the program, ending with a banquet and dance in the banquet hall of the new Allison hotel.

C. A. Hayden editor of Country Life, addressed the assembly on "Food and The Teacher".

Address of welcome was given by Mayor T. R. B. Adams; T. R. Bulman represented the school board; and J. A. Spragge, vice-president of the B.C. Teachers' Fed-

Minister and Three Members Shown Extensive Apple Tree Loss in Kamloops District

KAMLOOPS—This district's apple producers' representatives gave Hon. Harry Bowman, minister of agriculture, a first-hand report on the winter-kill catastrophe in Kamloops orchards when he visited here last week.

Last winter's sub zero weather killed or permanently damaged 250 acres of apple trees, most McIntosh, they declared. And the apple crop here this year will not exceed 5,000 boxes or about 3 percent of the expected crop.

Kamloops growers laid before the minister the request for $10 per killed tree as a subsidy from provincial and federal governments.

This subsidy would barely cover the cost of removing the dead trees and replanting, they declared.

They urged Mr. Bowman to try to obtain a quick response to this request. Speedy action is vitally necessary if the replanting program is to begin immediately—which would save a year in the five to seven years required to bring the new trees to maturity.

Promises His Support

Mr. Bowman promised to do all he personally could to focus the government's attention to the problem, but he pointed out some of the several factors that make it impossible for the provincial administration to act independently.

He emphasized that the provincial treasury could not alone provide the millions of dollars required to rehabilitate winter-killed Okanagan, Salmon Arm and Kamloops orchards.

He pointed out that any previous governmental assistance toward the victims of natural disasters had been made with the help of federal grants, and he also emphasized that the whole question of financial responsibility in such situations now is enmeshed in the current negotiations toward a re-division of federal and provincial responsibilities.

He also indicated that his department's experts—and federal officials, also—had been compiling information on the extent of the loss and its permanent effects on the industry.

These studies could not be completed until the conclusion of harvest season, now in progress. The information gathered by these surveys will be primary to the government's consideration of the situation.

Nonetheless, Mr. Bowman promised that on his return to Victoria this week he would re-emphasize to his cabinet colleagues the urgent necessity that a decision, one way or the other, should be reached in the BCPGA's request for help to the industry to overcome a situation that, in the sore-afflicted areas, approaches the catastrophic.

Hon. Mr. Bowman and three other coast members of the legislature who had been visiting the Williams Lake cattle show were driven around Kamloops orchards and shown the extensive tree damage.

The members were Bert Welsh, MLA for Comox, A. D. Hope, MLA for Delta and Don C. Brown, MLA for Vancouver-Burrard.

Meaning of Three Types of Law is Explained to Rotary by J. S. Aikins

"The purpose of law is to achieve or regulate justice between one citizen and another and between the citizen and the state," declared John S. Aikins, well-known Penticton barrister, who was guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Summerland weekly meeting last Friday at the Nu-Way Annex.

Without law, there would be no prescribed rules and it would be up to the whim of the judge to decide; there would be no certainty of justice, he pointed out. Therefore there has been developed a law to guide judges in deciding what is right or wrong.

Justice before the law is extremely important, he continued, pointing out that under fascism or communism there is no reference to any established rule and no one in those countries knows what is or is not a legal act.

In the western world, established rules have been built up over hundreds of years and have the sanction of the force of the state behind them, he pointed out.

There are three main divisions which can be made in the general field of law, Mr. Aikins said, these being criminal, civil and international law.

Man knows that the courts are bound by law and he will be punished if he is wrong according to the accepted rule. Without such law a society is barbaric, he thought.

Criminal Law
Criminal law deals essentially with offenses against society and determines that certain actions constituting criminal offenses against society itself; therefore the state must interest itself in legal rules.

Mr. Aikins emphasized the protection which is given the defendant and the fact that the onus is on the state to prove the offence.

"Life and liberty are our most prized possessions," he declared, "and the law can take them both away. Therefore, the defendant must be given every chance before they are taken away."

"The burden rests on the crown to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt," he emphasized.

In this country the defendant has the right of a full and free defence in open court by a jury of his peers and is also allowed any counsel he wishes. He is given the opportunity to cross-examine witnesses but may not be questioned himself unless he wishes.

Mr. Aikins spoke shortly on the rules regarding confession, pointing out that every precaution is taken that bribery, threats or "third degree" methods are not used, and that the confession has been freely and voluntarily given.

Relation of Civil Law
Civil law he categorized as the relation of one citizen with another or groups of citizens where the state does not think it should deal directly. Rules in civil law cases have been created mainly by precedent or case law and judges are allowed a latitude in their application of the law, he declared.

Finally, international law is most important and must be developed in the years to come to gain some general acceptance as the law in this country, he felt.

"If international law can be developed with an international force to enforce sanctions in the name of that law we may have a world at peace," he predicted.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hansbro of Beebe, Arkansas, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. White. Mrs. Hansbro is Mrs. White's mother.

MLA Reaches for Phone as American Money is Refused

KAMLOOPS—Refusal of a B.C. Game Commission employee to accept American money in payment of non-resident hunting licences, caused Syd J. Smith, MLA, to reach for the long-distance telephone to Victoria.

Mr. Smith gave provincial government officials there "an earful." He protested the refusal of American money as "an insult" to the visitors, and asked pointedly why the B.C. government travel bureau spent money to induce Americans to hunt fish and holiday in B.C.—and another department refused to accept the Americans' money.

The employee had refused to accept American money, even at par, although on the day in question U.S. dollars were at a 4 to 6 per cent premium over Canadian dollars.

Refusal was based on the rumor that she heard American money was fluctuating so much since the Canadian dollar was freed that she wasn't going to take a chance on U.S. dollars falling below par before she deposited the money in the bank!

Mr. Smith was promised by Victoria that some routine would be developed so that a similar instance will not occur again.

In this connection, Mr. Smith proposed to Victoria—and he suggested it again at Monday night's Board of Trade meeting—that all who deal with American tourists should establish, and pay, a uniform rate of exchange. He said it would be "good business to be generous," and he proposed that at the current time a premium of 5 percent should be paid, irrespective of the minor fluctuations of the official rate.

South Okanagan CCF Hears Winch, Jones At Meeting Here

The regular monthly meeting of the South Okanagan CCF district executive was held in Summerland on Friday, Oct. 13. Delegates were present from the constituency CCF clubs.

Mr. Bruce Woodsworth, provincial councillor, reported on the recent meeting of the provincial council, and members discussed the progress of the national expansion drive, reports of which are encouraging.

Harold Winch, MLA, gave a forceful and convincing address on the policy and aims of the CCF, stressing particularly the influence of the CCF group in the provincial house.

Mr. O. L. Jones, MP, in a brief talk, pointed out that although winning the riding for the CCF he represented every member of the riding, irrespective of party allegiance, and was, therefore, anxious and willing to help any of his constituents with their problems in any way he could. To this end he is visiting as many centres of the riding as possible.

Let Contract for Custom Building

OSOYOS—George McLean & Co. of Vancouver has been awarded the contract for the new Osoyoos Customs and Immigration building. The cost is $338,000.

Officials of the successful tenderer have been in the district preparing for bulldozing and leveling of the site which is expected to get under way immediately.

Preaching in Street Ends In Jail Term

KELOWNA—A young Kelowna man, Lorne W. Matheson, son of School Inspector A. S. and Mrs. Matheson, is serving a four-months sentence in a Quebec gaol because he dared to preach the Gospel on the streets of a small Quebec town. He and three other companions were arrested on October 7, bringing the total of such arrests to 25.

The arrests were another incident in the "street war" between regular Baptists and the civic officials of the Quebec town of Val d'Or. Baptist groups desire to hold street services and have been prevented by civic officials on the grounds that they contravene the municipal bylaws regarding obstructing traffic.

As all Val d'Or's civic officials are Roman Catholics, charges of religious persecution have been made and the incidents have received considerable publicity because they would appear to interfere with the rights of the individual citizen regarding freedom of speech.

Lorne Matheson attended high school in Kelowna in 1938-39 when he took his senior matriculation. With the outbreak of war he joined the forestry battalion but later transferred to the 9th Armored regiment.

Serving with this regiment in Italy he was wounded and confined to hospital for six months. At the end of the war he was with his regiment in the Netherlands and Germany.

Upon his discharge he entered the University of British Columbia and completed his master's degree. He then entered the Central Baptist Seminary in Toronto to complete his study for the ministry. He has one more year of studies before he can be ordained.

During the past summer he served as pastor of the Bowmanville Baptist church.

Hospital Contract Let at Kelowna

KELOWNA—Dominion Construction Company has been awarded the contract for construction of a new hospital wing. Of the three firms tendering, Dominion, Bennett and White and Smith Bros. and Wilson, the former submitted the lowest tender.

While the hospital authorities did not reveal the amount of the tender made by the Dominion Construction Company, it has been stated many times that hospital construction today approaches $10,000 a bed and, as there are to be 70 new beds in the addition, it may be assumed that the cost will be between $600,000 and $700,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ward, Pratico Valley, have been enjoying a ten-day visit from their niece, Miss Susan Grose of Banff, Alta., who left on Monday to return to her home.

Part Apple Has Played in World Development is Told

Just what part have apples played in the development of the world since the days of the Garden of Eden? J. M. James, Liberal member of parliament for Durham county, Ontario, took the House into his confidence during the last regular sessions and gave his conferees a few highlights, which included the claims:

That only an apple could have tempted Eve.

That only an apple could have tipped off Newton to the law of gravitation.

That only an apple could have sufficed William Tell when it came to shooting something off his son's head.

That the human body could not do without his Adam's apple.

That Solomon had to run from love to an apple for comfort.

That an apple a day was reputed to keep the doctor away.

That an apple could be treated for eating in more forms than any other fruit.

The Case of Eve

"I would like to deal with the importance of the apple in the development of our world. Even in the beginning there were apples, and poor Eve fell victim to their irresistible charm. She knew that the McIntosh Red upon which she gazed would have a flavor incomparable among all fruits of the earth. She knew that one bite from the apple would make her healthy and wise.

"Could the devil have tempted her with a sheaf of western wheat, a bunch of grapes, a gold nugget, or a B.C. fir?"

"No; it had to be that most attractive of all things, the apple, Newton's Good Luck

"The great law of gravitation was also discovered because of the apple; for when Newton sat under the trees in his orchard and saw one of those apples fall he began to wonder why the apple did not fall upward:

"Could he have discovered the law of gravitation by looking at a Prince Edward Island potato or the iron ore of Labrador?"

"No; you and I must admit that the apple falling on Newton's head was of great importance in the progress of our world.

Consider William Tell

"In national affairs the apple plays a great part. If you will visit a certain town in Italy you will find a most delightful little chapel erected in honor of William Tell, who won his greatest fame because he shot an apple from his son's head. He never could have shot a grape, or a Winnipeg goldeye; therefore the apple all the way round, religion, science, sport and in every other particular, is the greatest of all the fruits, and we owe it an immense debt of gratitude.

"Even in our bodies we have the Adam's apple, and when we talk of a thing of beauty, we say, 'She is the apple of my eye.' Why was it the apple was chosen to set forth those delightful, those entrancing, those incomparable qualities and virtues? Because it has within itself the very essence of value.

Solomon's Word

"But I will give you the best proof of all that the apple plays a part in life when everything else fails. You remember King Solomon. He wrote a love poem at one time; and he had a good deal of experience in love. If ever there was a man qualified to write about love it must be King Solomon. You will find that at one time he got very sick of love, and when he desired something that would be a very excellent substitute he wrote this line in his poem: 'Stay me with flagons, comfort me with an apple, for I am sick of love.' You can picture King Solomon with a jug of cider and a plate of apples, and he found that more consolation than all his wives.

"I could go on giving example after example of the importance of the apple in our economy and in the health of our nation. Let us never forget the adage that an apple a day keeps the doctor away. I could tell of the versatility of this fruit. You can bake it, boil it, roast it or fry it; serve it with meats, or preserve it, or jam it or pickle it. You can drink it; you can eat it. It has many forms and many uses; that is what makes it so wonderful that no other fruit can be compared to it."

Rev. T. R. D. Allen, who was resident of Summerland some years ago, has just completed St. Michael and All Angels' church in Moose Jaw, Sask., which had been only a basement structure since 1923, according to a clipping from the Moose Jaw Times which has been handed to The Review by Mr. A. H. Corns.

Rev. Mr. Allen, who will be remembered by many here, has not been pastor of the Anglican church in Moose Jaw very long but has already done a great deal for the congregation.

Gladiolus Curing For Winter Storage Is Important Work

With the approach of the gladiolus digging season, curing and storing of corms are matters of importance, states the federal department of agriculture information service.

Successful storage depends largely on proper curing. This is especially true in the Pacific coast area where the digging season coincides with rising humidity and descending temperatures.

Curing usually consists of an initial period at relatively warm temperatures for a period varying from a few days to about two or three weeks, after which the bulbs are ready for storage for winter.

The essential feature of curing is the removal of surplus moisture from the corms. With the removal of excess moisture suberization—a toughening of the outer fleshy tissue—takes place. This enables the corm to resist storage diseases more effectively.

It is essential that curing be thorough and started promptly after the corms are taken from the ground.

Curing can be very effectively done in several ways depending on the actual temperatures used. For example, under certain conditions along the Oregon coast, preference is for a 24-hour period at 95 degrees F. with 200-300 feet per minute air velocity and relative humidity below 80 percent. Following this the temperature is lowered to 70 degrees for one week.

In British Columbia, curing can be done effectively by storing in temperatures of 75-80 degrees F. for a period of 10 days to two weeks with reasonable ventilation for removal of moisture laden air. While best storage temperature following curing is still a matter of conjecture, a range between 33 degrees and 45 degrees F. has proved very satisfactory at the Dominion experimental station, Saanichton, B.C., says J. H. Crossley.

Thorough curing of damaged and diseased corms should precede storage. Examination during storage should be periodic as additional culling may sometimes be found to be necessary.

PAY DEPOSIT FOR VOTE ON INCORPORATION

PRINCETON—One hundred and twenty-five dollars of Princeton Ratepayers' Association's money there will be a plebiscite on incorporation some time in the fairly near future. That sum has been deposited with E. C. Bracewell, inspector of municipalities, to cover the costs of the vote.

Premier Johnson Tells Historic Gathering B. C. Recognizes Changes

Premier Byron Johnson, of British Columbia, gave a thoughtful address to the recent constitutional conference of premiers and the prime minister in Quebec City, declaring that his province is well aware of the changing needs of the times. Text of his address follows:

"When this conference was convened last January in the federal capital my colleagues and I were deeply impressed with the historic significance of the meeting.

"On this occasion its importance is further enhanced by the fact that we are convened in the ancient city of Quebec where confederation saw its beginnings. It was here, in this historic provincial capital, so richly endowed with monuments to those who founded the country, that there took place the conference of 1864.

"Today we sit around this table in an endeavor to find a means by which we, as members of a sovereign nation, may amend our own constitution. We are able to meet in these happy and auspicious surroundings through the gracious hospitality of the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Johnson expressed his appreciation of Quebec's hospitality and added: "The British Columbia delegation has come here first as Canadians.

"We are determined to grapple with all the problems in a true spirit of friendliness and with a determination to bring about, insofar as lies within our power, an agreement of such a character that will enable Canada as a nation to deal with those problems and to implement those measures which are of vital concern and in the best interest of Canada as a whole.

"There are important matters of national concern which can only be settled after we have first agreed upon a constitutional method to deal with them. The economic progress and social advancement of our nations rests on such agreement as we can reach at this conference.

"While British Columbia will at all times jealously guard our fundamental provincial rights, we are, nevertheless, fully aware that the passage of time has brought and will bring to the front as national problems issues which were once considered as only a local or provincial character.

"I am firmly convinced that if we are to progress we must recognize that the passage of time brings with it changing conditions. We must, therefore, make it possible for the people of Canada to amend their own constitution in such a way as to facilitate the enactment of measures for the promotion of the welfare of its citizens as required by changing circumstances.

"I mention, but merely by way of example, such measures as a national contributory pension scheme and further steps for the care of the health of our people.

"Though I have not had the opportunity of fully considering the proposal of the Honorable the Premier of Ontario, which we will undoubtedly discuss more fully as the conference proceeds, it occurs to me that subject matters such as those I have just mentioned involving as they must the granting of powers to the Federal Parliament which they do not now possess, and likewise diminishing to that extent the important and fundamental, provincial powers under the heading of property and civil rights, point up the necessity for this conference to deal specifically with subject matters dealt with broadly in some of the sections of the BNA Act.

"Otherwise upon what basis could the courts decide what are and what are not the fundamental or entrenched rights of the Province and upon what subject matters the Provinces and the Dominion are agreeable that amendments should be made without unanimous consent.

"It seems to me, at the moment, that this conference must give more specific direction to the courts than is contemplated in Mr. Frost's proposals if the courts are to function in the manner suggested.

"Mr. Prime Minister, I have nothing further to add at this juncture. Any specific observations, I feel, may best be made when each point is raised.

"The continuing committee has worked diligently and in a splendid spirit of co-operation, otherwise it would not have been possible for us to convene here today to consider their recommendations.

"I trust our deliberations will be inspired by thoughts of the Fathers of Confederation, who envisioned a great country, stretching from sea to sea, completely unified, and with her people working together harmoniously for the common good."

Vernon's New Hotel, The Allison, Built In Seven Months

VERNON—Built at a cost of between $250,000 and $300,000, the Okanagan's newest hotel, the Allison, was opened at formal ceremonies on October 11. The 66-room hostelry is located on the former "City Hall corner", in the heart of Vernon's main business section.

Beautifully furnished, the hotel features the Flamingo dining room, large banquet room and assembly hall, beverage rooms and, under separate management, a cigar and stationery store and a coffee shop.

The three associates in the Allison Hotel Co. Ltd. are James Young, Fred Schell and George Bahrychuk, all formerly of Vancouver, Mr. Young supervised construction of the two-storey building, which was transformed from blueprint to actuality in seven months.

B. C. Paraplegic Centre Makes Fuller Life For Patients

A new wing for the Centre for the rehabilitation of paraplegics at 900 West Twenty-seventh will be formally opened by Lt. Gov. Clarence Wallace on November 1. The wing, covering 18,000 feet and

The beautiful furnishings are especially designed, custom made and exclusive for the Allison.

The hotel features ten comfortable suites and only 18 of the rooms are not provided with baths. Ample baths and lavatory facilities are provided for the latter. Reading and writing rooms also are located on each floor.

Centre, established in 1949, will 5000 feet larger than the original contain every modern device designed to aid in the rehabilitation of orthopaedically disabled, spastics and kindred cases. It is complete with 16 bedrooms, specially designed laundry and remedial swim pool.

The $175,000 needed for its construction was donated by a small number of organizations and individuals.

The new wing is the latest project of the Western Society for Physical Rehabilitation which nearly two years ago established the original $200,000 centre on its present site.

The original rehabilitation centre, first of its kind in Canada, grew out of generosity of the Kinsmen Club and public-spirited doctors and businessmen.

Kinsmen purchased and donated the land on which the centre was constructed. Funds for further development came from the doctors and businessmen.

Premier Byron Johnson officially opened the huge building on January 1, 1948.

Since then, hundreds of men, women and children paraplegics have found the Centre a clubhouse, school and social centre, which has greatly improved their chances of enjoying a better and fuller life.

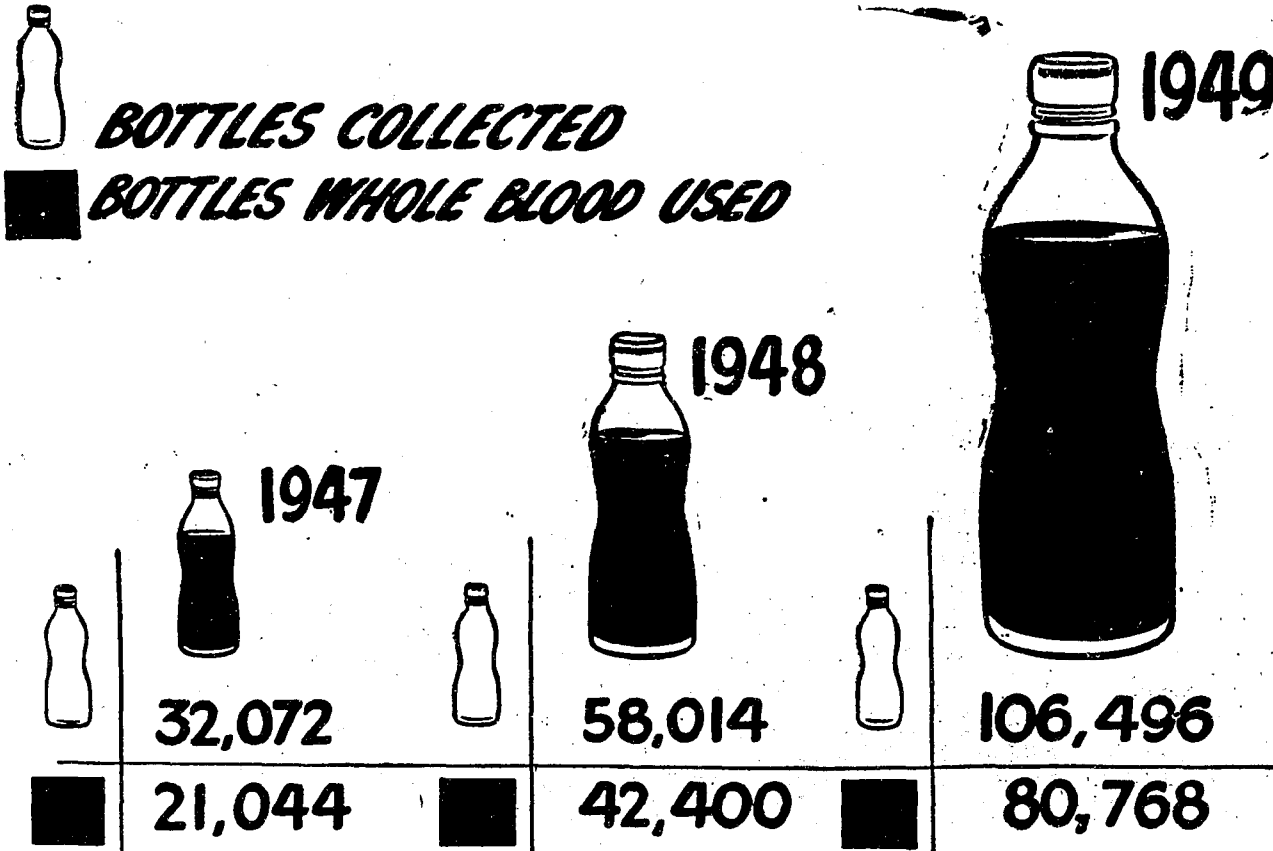

For many it has meant the difference between spending their days in a wheel chair and being able to walk, mount stairs, play games and even drive specially-built cars.

Because of the success that attended efforts at the Centre, need for additional accommodation soon became apparent.

The $175,000 was raised and the huge new wing was established.

NATIONAL BLOOD TRANSFUSION SERVICE

Rate of growth of the Canadian Red Cross Society's free national Blood Transfusion Service is illustrated in this chart. Since the beginning of the service in 1947, the number of bottles of blood used by patients has increased nearly four times. In 1949, voluntary donors contributed three and a half times as much blood as was collected in the first year. This Red Cross service is now established, in whole or in part, in eight provinces.

CLINICAL RH TESTS MADE

Discovery of the RH factor in blood has been responsible for saving the lives of thousands of new-born babies and their mothers. Since 1947, the number of clinical Rh blood tests made by the Canadian Red Cross Society's free national Blood Transfusion Service for doctors and hospitals has increased more than four and a half times, as this chart shows.

EDUCATE CHILDREN TO PICK
West Summerland, B.C.
October 18, 1950.

Editor, The Review:

Please spare me a few lines of your valuable paper to air a subject very much on my mind.

As one who is doing a fair part in picking the harvest of fruit, and also contributing taxes for schools, let me state a few conclusions I have arrived at.

The most important persons in this valley are the professional fruit pickers. Without the fruit being picked there would be no need for business men and other so called leaders of society.

The crying need today is for fruit pickers. Today's scarcity of labor is, in my opinion, not just a passing phase. It will remain so in the future in this valley. As I see it there is but one way to get fruit pickers here and that is to educate the children born here to do the job.

So, I propose that instead of sending the youth of the valley to high schools and pampering them, close it down and get them started at orchard work.

You don't need any education to pick fruit, in fact the less the better. And parents, remember, this education can be dangerous as well as costly. I read in today's Sun that a 22-year-old prodigy in Chicago who became an attorney at 18 now arrested on a murder charge, once tried to choke his mother because she used the expression "Ain't".

If you put them to work picking fruit they'll be too tired to try that on you.

Yours Sincerely,
NORMAN RODDY

BRITAIN LEADS IN EUROPE
Box 64, Summerland, B.C.

Editor, The Review:

In view of the fact that returning visitors to Britain seem to vary about 100% in their evaluation of the results of the regime of the Labour Government, the following information, taken from the United Nations' publication, "Economic Survey of Europe in 1949" will be of interest to puzzled readers.

Given a base figure for 1938 of 100, United Kingdom industrial production stands at 137.

Output per man employed in 1949, Britain ties with Sweden for first place with 118.

Britain holds first place in agricultural production with 119.

Britain ties with Sweden again, for first place.

In percentage of family income remaining after provision for food, clothing, rent and footwear, United Kingdom leads again with 52%. In passing it is worth noting that the comparable figure for U.S.A. is 49%.

Lastly, Britain is the only country in Europe with more jobs than unemployed.

Yours faithfully,
FRANK PLUNKETT

Hoopsters Honor Andy Bennie with Life Membership

PENTICTON — At the annual meeting of the British Columbia Basketball Association Andy Bennie who has served faithfully for many years the cause of basketball and is currently the Pentiction association president, as well as head man of the interior body, was awarded a handsome plaque, emblematic of honorary life membership in the British Columbia Association. The news came as no surprise to Pentiction sport fans who know of Andy's untiring efforts in the interest of local and interior basketball.

The Pentiction Basketball Association under the guidance of men like Mr. Bennie has turned out many fine basketball players that can stand up to players from anywhere in Canada. Pentiction is becoming more famous every year as a basketball town and all the credit goes to Andy and the hard-working members of the local group.

The award is a great distinction for Pentiction as well as Mr. Bennie as there are only three others in B.C. who have been similarly honored in the past. They are Walter Hardwick, of Vancouver, "Cec" Mulholland, of Nanaimo, and Bob White, of Victoria.

Work on Arena to Proceed at Full Speed from Next Week

"We will get rolling next week" was George Stoll's comment on Tuesday when discussing further plans for the completion of Summerland's arena. Mr. Stoll has been extremely busy trying to get his large apple crop into the packinghouse but estimates that this will be accomplished by the weekend.

Those who know Mr. Stoll will expect to see hammers and lumber and nails flying in all directions within a few days, after that remark.

Last of the trusses are being raised and fixed in position this week. In fact, The Review carried a story last week on its front page that three trusses had been erected but Mr. E. E. Tory's crew worked faster than was anticipated and had four suspended before the paper reached the street.

This fact was pointed out to the editor by several observant subscribers.

Favors Aluminum Surface

Mr. Stoll, arena president, declared that decision would be made by a meeting of the Summerland Rink Assn. last night as to the type of outer covering which will be needed for the arena.

minum sheeting because of the cost, Mr. Stoll declared himself as being in favor of this type of covering now, as other means have increased so greatly in the past few months that there is little spread between them and the aluminum surface, which would be expected to last much longer and give more satisfaction.

A concrete wall, six inches thick and six feet high will be erected between the abutments and the roof will come down onto this wall, thus giving nine feet more space on either side, Mr. Stoll has explained.

This decision was reached by the rink association executive last weekend.

Mr. Ralph Blewett has agreed to take charge of the construction of the arena from this stage onward, Mr. Stoll announces.

Now that picking has just about been completed it is expected that the rink group will be extremely anxious to obtain plenty of volunteer help so that the project can go ahead as rapidly as possible and at the least expense.

Fishing-Hunting Reports

(By Bert Berry)

FISHING

Okanagan Lake, for the hardier type, is showing signs of coming back. A 5 1/2-pounder caught last weekend and quite a few smaller ones are being taken right along. A reminder to those interested in "white fish" that it won't be long before they start running.

All the upper lakes have given good fishing to the few who are sticking with it.

HUNTING

With the shortage of apple pickers most of the boys have been working in the orchards. Reports from the hills say there are more signs now and Bill Barkwill brought in a nice six-pointer from Paid Range. So, fellows, you can start oiling up the old rifle anytime now. The herds should start drifting down in fair numbers now.

E. Bonthoux and F. Maddocks took a flying trip to the Cariboo. They weren't lucky. Percy Wilson is going up next week to Mile 83.

Pheasants are few and far between and most of us here are wondering what has been the cause of the pheasant decline. Last winter we knew there were over 2,000 birds because we kept track of the feeding. The only consolation is that "old districts seem in the same boat.

Coyotes, roaming hunting dogs, spray and juvenile and off-season potting are some of the main reasons put forth for this lack because last spring they were here, and there was an excellent hatchling season.

Quite a few ducks can be found around the local lakes but not many transient ducks as yet. Charles Betuzzi was surprised on one lake by finding a small flock of Canada geese in the grass by the shore.

The Merritt country is okay now for a trip.

REVELSTOKE GETS OLYMPIC TRIALS

REVELSTOKE — The famous Mount Revelstoke National Park ski hill has been selected for the Canadian Olympic Trials next season. Word of this came to Ski Club President Art Johnson and brought jubilation in local ski circles.

This means that Canada's top skiers will be in Revelstoke for two or three weeks and will participate in a local tournament which will have widespread significance.

The local club will start at once to plan for the big event.

Continued from Page 1 the job and as a consequence Councillor Francis Stewart favored a percentage basis for all three parties.

Councillor Atkinson wanted a firm decision that day as any delay might mean the lights would not be up for Christmas.

Later in the afternoon, G. A. Laidlaw and Les Rumball representing the trade board and retail merchants appeared while Electrical Foreman T. P. Thornber was also on hand.

Mr. Thornber had sat in on the committee discussion but on Tuesday declared that there is more involved than appears on the surface. He declared that 25 watt bulbs would necessitate an increased transformer capacity for the street lighting system.

He also expressed the opinion that $10 would not cover cost of erecting and taking down the strings.

Mr. Laidlaw explained that the committee's quotation covered the material cost and its assembling, which would be undertaken by interested parties, would not be a part of the expense.

Mr. Laidlaw also understood that the $50 labor charge had been given by Mr. Thornber as an outside charge for fixing the receptacles to the light standards and preparing them for the light strings.
