Hospital in Serious State with Only Six Patients on May Day

Thought has been expressed in Summerland this week that if the situation does not improve drastically in the next few months the Summerland General hospital will be forced to close its doors.

On Tuesday, May 1, when the new ward rates went into effect, there were only six patients in the Summerland hospital, with the matron and five nurses being employed to take care of them, besides a proportionate staff.

Thirty days previously there had been 19 patients in the Summerland hospital but as soon as the co-insurance clause took effect there were no admissions for the first three days.

Know Worst About Tax Rate Soon

Next Tuesday, citizens of Summerland will know the worst regarding the 1951 tax rate.

Last night municipal council battled until after 11 o'clock in committee to try and keep the estimates within reason.

It is recognized that a sizeable increase in the tax rate is essential to meet new demands on the district this year. With the first full year of operation of the new school, and the increased salaries and wages, education cost will go up at least four mills it is understood.

The newly-formed parks board will need an additional mill to operate this season, Reeve Bentley points out.

From present indications, there will be little if any new roadwork done in 1951. Flush-coating the present hard-surfaced roads to retain the surface already obtained is the first call on the road department's capital cost expenditure and it is doubtful if there will be much left over to continue any hard surfacing program.

However, further meetings of council must be held before next regular council session on Tuesday, May 8, the last meeting before the deadline for estimates, which is May 15.

Along with most other hospitals in the province, Summerland General hospital received a new ward rate of $8.52 on Tuesday, May 1. This was a raise of 52 cents over the former $8 rate.

Consequently, the new co-insurance rate will be $2.50 instead of $2 per day for the first ten days of occupancy.

This means, in effect, that the patients will actually pay all but two cents of the additional ward rate imposed by the BCHS for the Summerland institution.

Summerland hospital has a capacity of 25 beds normally but can accommodate 27 patients if all available space is needed.

In January and February the hospital was generally crowded to capacity, and the matron, Miss M. Bennett was asking the board of directors where to house additional nurses required if those who were then living at home decided not to continue nursing and new out-of-town nurses were required to be employed.

Now, with the introduction of the co-insurance clause, and the abatement of the 'flu epidemic, the hospital is practically empty.

Secretary J. E. O'Mahony has suggested to The Review that the new maternity wing might be closed for the summer months, thus cutting down on the amount of space to be kept in proper order.

It is not possible to cut down much further on the nursing staff, Mr. O'Mahony explains, as provision has to be made for holidays, and according to provincial law nurses are only required to work eight-hour shifts of 44 hours per week.

Closing off the maternity wing might allow a decrease of one in the staff but not much more, Mr. O'Mahony cautiously indicated.

Hospital society directors are meeting in regular monthly session on Tuesday, May 15 and will no doubt devote considerable time to discussion of the serious situation which confronts the local hospital.

It has also been pointed out that the local hospital is now operating on a fixed budget, based on the ward rate of $8.52 per patient day.

If the hospital cannot operate on this scale this year and has a deficit at the year end then the municipality or the citizens by contribution will have to meet it.

Trustees Meet In New Board Room First Time

Local history was in the making when the school board met for the first time in regular session in the room provided for the board in the new junior-senior high on Monday evening, April 30.

The room is attractive and adequate for the purpose, adjoining the secretary-treasurer's office, with dark brown dado, pale green walls above, lime green chairs, and a long table, as well as accommodation for the press.

Various items relating to the new school were discussed such as the need for bicycle racks; the fact that the cafeteria is being used as a lunch room for high school students, and will probably soon be used by elementary school pupils, suitable playing fields for all classes, etc.

W. H. Durick was appointed to represent the schools on the rink association.

The resignation of Miss M. Campbell, home economics teacher, was accepted from June 30, and advertisements will be placed to fill this vacancy.

Mr. A. K. Macleod met the board on matters pertaining to the high school and two members of the students' council, Miss Jacqueline Trafford and Don Allison made a request for financial help with the

Need Three Times More Music in Schools Says Festival Adjudicator

The Okanagan Valley Music Festival came to a successful close in Kelowna last Saturday evening, April 28, with a varied and enjoyable concert, given by finalists from competitions held during the week.

Those competing numbered close to 500 and came from centres from the border to Revelstoke, and performed before adjudicators, John Clements, FRCC, London, Eng.; Elmer Hubble, ACCO, Winnipeg, Can.; and Miss Mara McBirney, Vancouver, Canada.

Mr. Clements, whose studies include voice, violin, piano, organ, composition, and also nine years' extensive experience as orchestral and choral conductor with the British Broadcasting Corporation, had this to say:

"It is my opinion that we would have more articulate, clearer thinkers, and better citizens if we had three times the music we now have in our schools."

He pointed out that "music is a trainer of the brain, and a discipline to the mind." His statements brought forth hearty applause from the audience.

Drop in Sales Tax Refund

Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance in the province has informed Summerland council that the expected portion of the S.S. & M.A. tax which Summerland municipality can expect in this calendar year is $32,500.

In 1950, Summerland municipality collected $36,362.70, which was within a few dollars of the original estimate.

Council agreed that the finance minister is not setting his sights quite as high this year and as there is nothing else to use as a guide the municipal estimates will have to be based on the lower figure.

publication of the school annual, which was left over until the next meeting.

25th MUSICAL FESTIVAL RESULTS

Each adjudicator emphasized again that the standard of marking for the Federated Music Festivals of Canada, has been raised and it is hoped in this way to produce a greater degree of excellence in all classes.

A complete list of Summerland entries and their results follows: Lona Deringer, Bach scholarship class under 15, 3rd; Maurzen Prior, Shirley Clarke, piano duet, under 18, 2nd; Joyce Schumann, Evelyn Washington, piano duet, under 16, 2nd; Shirley Gardiner, vocal solo, under 18, tied for 2nd with Janet Dale of Vernon; Ronald Downes, violin under 10, 3rd; Judy Johnston, dance, under 10 years, national other than Scottish, 2nd in finals; Summerland Girls' Choir, girls' choir, open, 2nd, Sing-Song, 3rd; Linda Betuzzi, piano, under 8, 4th; Lynne Bootho, Marilyn McKay, two piano, under 12, 3rd; Charlie Rennie, baritone solo, 3rd; Johan Bergstrom, piano under 9, 2nd.

J. Betuzzi and J. Kean were Summerland entrants in the Penticton Band which placed 2nd. J. Betuzzi also played in a brass quartette with three others from Penticton.

Ogopogo Comes to Summerland to Stay—

Penticton and Kelowna have recently been scrapping about who owns Ogopogo. There didn't seem to be any finish to the argument as neither city had the answer. But Summerland has now produced the evidence and it is quite evident from the above picture that Ogopogo has forsaken the two warring cities for Summerland shoreline. This picture of Ogopogo was taken at the mouth of Trout Creek last week by ace camerawoman Dorothy MacDonald who was accompanied by Betty Jackson. They state it is an authentic version of Ogopogo and can be verified by any person who wishes to visit Trout Creek Point. Ogopogo has come to make his permanent home in Summerland.

Players Club Dramatic Fantasy-Comedy Gets High Praise from Local Audience

A near-capacity audience chuckled audibly, laughed right out loud, applauded on occasion and sat with evident intent and pleasure as the fantasy "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" raced through its delirious sequences to an illogical conclusion at the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening.

Harry Segall's three-act comedy-fantasy, which in its screen version starred Robert Montgomery, was the vehicle which Lacey Fisher directed Tuesday night as the senior dramatic production of the season by the players' section of the Summerland Singers & Players Club.

Director Fisher himself took one of the major parts, while other stars were Basil Thornthwaite, Alan Butler, Blair Underwood, Marge Butler, and Anne Keyes.

Briefly, Joe Pendleton, a rising sensation of the boxing world, is about to crash in his own plane. He is plucked from the plane by Messenger 7013 and taken before Mr. Jordan. However, he's not due to ascend to heaven for another fifty years and the Messenger is crestfallen that he has made such a grievous error.

Mr. Jordan attempts to have the mistake rectified but Joe's fight manager, Max Levene, has already cremated what he thinks is the lifeless body of Joe Pendleton and there is no body for Joe to occupy.

However, Multi-millionaire Jonathan Farnsworth is murdered by his wife and secretary and Joe takes over his body and guise, much to the complete horror of the two murderers. He falls in love with the daughter of a man who wealthy Farnsworth had swindled and also starts a comeback in the "squared circle" under his new name of Farnsworth.

But Mr. Farnsworth, the original, objects and makes such a fuss with the registrar in heaven that Mr. Jordan has to interfere, have Mr. Farnsworth killed all over again and transfer Joe to the body of a prize fighter who is on the verge of being killed by hoodlums who don't want him to win the fight.

Of course, there are innumerable sideplays and implications in all these mixups, much to the enjoyment of the audience and the participants, as well.

Takes Major Role Well

Joe Pendleton was played by Basil Thornthwaite who took a major part for the first time. His acting was excellent but he hurried his words just a trifle with the result that many good lines were missed by most of the audience.

Alan Butler played the part of the importurbable Mr. Jordan to perfection and, as usual, was one of the favorites with the audience. Another favorite was Blair Underwood, the apprentice messenger from heaven, whose timid ways in face of his mistakes proved quite laughable. A newcomer to local

Only 200,000 Boxes of Apples Left Unsold From '51 Bumper Crop

By last night, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. had less than a quarter million boxes of apples to sell.

That was the more or less cheering news which was issued by the tree fruit industry sales agency this morning, the exact figure being 202,000 boxes.

However, even with this better position there is still no apparent increase in market trends and sales are being made at prices which will not bring much return to the grower, it is feared.

Western Canada demand is slackening this week but still remains fairly steady, according to A. C. Lander, assistant sales manager, this morning.

"One noticeable feature is that Newtowns are becoming more popular on the western Canada market," he remarked. Sales have shown a big increase over last year, he added, noting of course that this has only resulted after a big effort on the part of the sales staff.

There are still local holdings of poor quality apples in eastern Canada and these are cramping efforts of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. to increase shipments to those markets. Mr. Lander termed this week's shipments to those markets as "satisfactory".

A. K. Loyd, president and general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. is returning to Canada early next week after a mission to England on behalf of the B.C. tree fruit industry, but there is still no indication that he has been successful in obtaining a bigger quota of apple exports for this industry.

The sales agency stated this morning that Mr. Loyd is expected to land back in Canada early next week and he will probably spend a couple of days in Ottawa before returning to Kelowna.

The United States markets are still quite weak and no improvement in the FOB price levels has been shown. The poor condition of most United States apple holdings is still the prime factor controlling the U.S. market and depressing price levels.

In the week of April 22 to 28, shipments of apples from the interior of B.C. amounted to 180,758 boxes, leaving 427,000 boxes still to be shipped as at last Saturday.

However, the unsold portion of the apple crop has been decreased to 202,000 by last night, although there is a large quantity of apples not shipped yet but which have been sold.

Last week's shipments constitute a near record for this time of year from interior B.C., it is thought.

Following is the official recording for the month of April:

But with the dry, sunny spell there was also recorded the coldest April temperature on record, 14 above zero on April 19 and 19 above on April 20. Previous coldest April night was 22 above.

The first part of April was comparatively warm, with the high point for the month being reached on April 12 when 73 above was recorded. This was equalled again on April 25. Warmest night was on April 13 when the thermometer did not drop below 48.

Average high for the month was 62 and average low 34, only two-degrees above freezing.

There was no snow recorded in April and in two days, April 27 and 28 the only rain which fell was figured at .24 inches, just enough to moisten the parched topsoil.

Kiwanis Club Receives Praise

"Here in Summerland you have one of the finest clubs in the division; you fellows have a lot of business and you get things done."

Such was the encouraging note brought to Monday's Kiwanis Club of Summerland weekly dinner meeting in the Nu-Way Annex by "Red" Graham, Oroville, division lieutenant-governor on the occasion of his official visit.

Mr. Graham expressed the hope that a new Kiwanis club would be started in Kamloops this year and following the lead of Canadian Kiwanis clubs his home club in Oroville hoped to inaugurate a Teen Town soon.

SCIENTISTS IN CONVENTION

Intensification of Farming on Present Acreage is Modern Trend

Okanagan scientists and research men were to the fore at the B.C. Academy of Science convention at UBC last month. Drs. J. C. Wilcox, H. R. McLarty and C. G. Wood, bridge attendants from Summerland, while Rees K. Powell, of UBC department of chemistry and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Powell, Summerland, also addressed the gatherings.

Dr. J. C. Wilcox, of the experimental station staff, announced that plans are now underway to expand the federal government program of taking water evaporation tests throughout the interior.

"The trend is towards intensification in farming," Dr. Wilcox declared. "In the past we have looked to extension of acreage for expansion. There is in B.C. considerable acreage we can use but the amount of expansion in Canada is not great, so the trend now is expansion by intensification."

The aim now, after quite exhaustive experiments, is to go into the orchards and take soil samples and with that help make estimates as to tests to date have shown a wide variety of evaporation.

He also reported for the Institute of Agriculture, for which he is a director on the national executive, at the annual agronomists' banquet held in connection with the science convention.

Before the Canadian Phytopathological Society, Dr. C. G. Woodbridge presented a paper prepared by himself and Dr. H. R. McLarty on manganese deficiency in Okanagan tree fruits, explaining that this is the first time such a deficiency has been discovered. However, it is thought this can be remedied quite easily.

On behalf of Dr. Maurice Welsh, Dr. McLarty presented a paper on Little Cherry research, which is being published in this month's edition of Country Life.

Before the chemistry section, Rees Powell presented in masterly style a paper providing methods of classifying organic chemical compounds. Both Dr. Wilcox and Dr. McLarty declared themselves as being particularly impressed with Mr. Powell's grasp of this subject.

A second technical paper presented by Mr. Powell was entitled: Quaternary Salt Formation of Clinolines.

J. Y. Towgood

Past president of the Kiwanis Club of Summerland who is being mentioned as the most likely candidate for the post of Lieutenant-Governor of Division 5 of Kiwanis International. Announcement that Mr. Towgood had decided to allow his name to stand for this high post in Kiwanis circles was made by the present incumbent, "Red" Graham, of Oroville, when he paid his official visit to the Kiwanis club here on Monday evening.

Gil Jacobs to Pitch Sunday

Good news for Summerland Merchants was released this morning when Gil Jacobs announced that he would be available for next Sunday's baseball game at Coulis Dam.

The young UBC student has just completed his exams but must return to the coast for a two-week survey course which starts Monday morning.

He intends to drive from Courlis Dam to Vancouver after Sunday's game and also hopes to return to Summerland the following weekend to be ready for the appearance here of the Penticton entry in the Okanagan International league.

Jacobs was the star hurler of last year's B.C. junior championship team, the Summerland Red Sox, and is breaking into senior ball for the first time this year.

He hopes to obtain employment in this district for the summer and if so he will be available for the Summerland Merchants' team each weekend.

Finance the Arena Now

FROM now on it's strictly up to the citizens of Summerland district to provide the financing necessary to complete the Summerland Arena.

A year ago there were many doubters, who hedged about providing money for debentures because they did not think such a project was feasible or attainable in a district this size.

Today, the Arena is an accomplished fact. Granted there are many additions and alterations still to be accomplished, but to all intents and purposes we have an Arena capable of providing ice surfaces for skating, curling and hockey, and space for spectator enjoyment of these games.

But that is the purely physical side of the picture. From a monetary standpoint, the picture is different, although the results of the first few weeks of operation have indicated that it is economically possible to operate such a structure in this community.

The first year of the Summerland Rink Association has been completed and there is money in the bank to provide interest on the debentures which have been sold. From a perusal of the audited financial statement, it would appear once the capital costs are completely paid for, the Arena will stand a good chance of being a financially-successful operation.

But that is where the citizens of Summerland come into the picture. They must provide another $10,000 in debentures to make the Arena a financial success. In return for that money, they have a building which would cost $75,000, at least, to construct by contract today.

This money is available in this district if the citizens will do their part. In $50 and $100 denominations the debenture issue can quickly be sold if the citizens show the same spirit of co-operation which they have always exhibited in other community endeavors.

Although the Arena is operated by an association under the societies act it cannot be classified as anything other than a community proposition. It was community labor which erected the building, in the main, and the rink association is operated by a group of volunteer citizens who have nothing to gain but a lot of hard work and the satisfaction of knowing they are doing a splendid job.

Those who are not in a position to do such work must come forward with their monetary assistance to make certain that the Arena does not falter now that it is so near the ultimate goal.

It shouldn't be necessary for teams of canvassers to tour the district but when they do it is hoped those who can afford the purchase of debentures will lend a helping hand. They obtain a nominal interest rate on their investment and stand a good chance of having the principal redeemed in years to come.

The Arena should be a good investment as long as we have faith in our community and the willingness to co-operate for its development.

PORTRAITS

Joseph Henry Lee-Grayson
Joseph Henry Lee-Grayson is the tall distinguished-looking man who wears an imperial and sometimes a monocle, and lives at Summerland in the former R. H. English home which he and his wife remodelled when they came here in 1943 from Regina.

The Saskatchewan Civil Service was proud of Joe Lee-Grayson, or "Lee-Ge", as his friends call him. Talented and lovable, his daily exchange of banter and wit brightened its offices.

His life history has been as colorful as a Kipling tale, and it is said that in his youth he was invariably intrigued by a good-looking red-haired girl in a green petticoat.

Born in England he commenced a life of travel two months later by going to India to join his father, a commandant in the North West Frontier Force. Like Kipling and many children he was sent to England for schooling, and conditioned by the traditional English public school atmosphere, where a preference for Hindustani led him into quite a few boyish escapades.

After school days were finished, he soldiered with the Royal Horse Guards (The Blues), in England, graduated at the military college in Quetta, India, and was with the Indian Cavalry. He is six feet two, in the best guardsman tradition.

Soldiering was just a pastime for him, though; his consuming interest is the pursuit of art. He studied in Paris, Belgium and Florence and visited most of the important galleries.

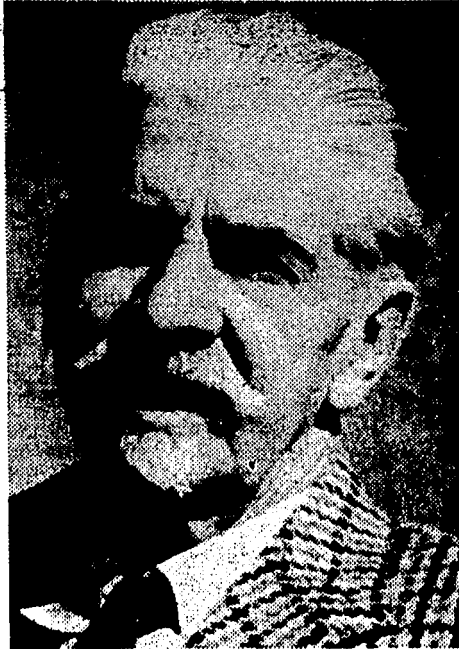

Next to his art, Mr. Lee-Grayson likes to travel and he has roamed every continent except Australia and New Zealand. On the Canadian prairies he farmed for four years in the Qu'Appelle Valley near Tantallon and part of its value to him, was its splendid view.

In 1910 he married Miss Kathleen McNeill of Moosomin and in 1912 went to Regina, the same year that the devastating tornado swept the city. He disclaims any responsibility for it, however.

He went overseas with the CEF in World War I, serving as a first-class warrant officer, and sustaining a permanent injury to one eye on the Somme. His knowledge of army routine, and his remarkable personal qualities earned him a reputation as an outstanding soldier.

After the war he returned to Regina and later entered the Saskatchewan department of health, remaining as director of exhibits for twenty years.

He is an accomplished linguist; and has a wide knowledge of the classics with a fondness for poetry, especially Masfield.

He is an authority on this continent on the subject of heraldry. He does beautiful illuminating and delights his friends at times by surprising them with arresting, original scrolls, screeds, or what-never-you-done by his sure pen.

When Edward, Prince of Wales made a tour of Canada in 1919, Lee-Grayson was in charge of his trip from the time of his arrival in Saskatchewan where he met him at Russell, Manitoba, until the time he left the province, when he handed over to the Alberta authorities. He relates that the Prince kept them "on the run", through not adhering to the program laid down.

At Saskatoon, after reviewing nursing sisters and ex-officers he was supposed to go to the University of Saskatchewan with an RCMP escort. Lee-Grayson in a car driven by the city engineer led off. It was a rutted road and as they crossed the bridge over the Saskatchewan river they were startled to hear a great clatter immediately behind them. HRH had changed seats with the driver and was approaching almost literally by leaps and bounds with the escort at a stretched gallop. The lead car had to press hard on the gas to get to the University ahead to break the Prince's standard at the flagstaff and did so just as he came in.

While in Regina the Prince of Wales did as he pleased, much to the annoyance and discomfort of Sir Percy Halsey who was responsible for the person of HRH, and of those who were in charge of various arrangements.

A stampede had been planned for the amusement of Edward, the Prince, and after the show much to Sir Percy's discomfort he rode a broncho. Cowboys who were badly thrown could name their own refreshments which were served in a booby hutch erected for the purpose. At the invitation of the Prince, Lee-Grayson partici-

Disputed Passage

NOTES from PARLIAMENT HILL

(By O. L. JONES, MP for Yale)

A special committee of thirty members has been named to study several amendments to the dominion elections act. Their duty is to study the act and suggest to the house such amendments as they deem advisable.

This committee will deal with the single transferable ballot system, the best method of extending the franchise to absentees and others who on election day are unable to get to their own polls. The hours during which the polls will be open to single people on a $1,500 or titigation. I have always felt that closing at six o'clock is unfair to workers who can only vote after their day's work is done.

The budget debate continues on its weary way, with the opposition sniping at some of the main features. This week we took the first vote, that on the CCF amendment that exemptions on surtax be given to single people on a $1,550 or less income, and married couples $3,000 or less.

We in the CCF felt that this was a reasonable request, as owing to the high cost of living today these amounts should be exempt, and the net result would not be a great handicap to the government, whose main income is derived from the higher income brackets, corporation taxes, and so on. The amendment was defeated, with the full strength of the government thrown against it.

During this discussion, stress has been laid on the need for decentralization of industry. Members from the Maritimes particularly claimed that since Confederation the Maritimes have lost hundreds of industries, which have established themselves in central Canada, presumably Quebec and Ontario. Mr. Brooks claimed that this was the result of faulty government policy, which allowed such concentration.

He did not ask the government to force individual companies to send branches to the Maritimes, but sought better freight rates, better fiscal policies, and other matters under the control of the federal government be handled in such a way that it would be profitable for industries to disperse their plants and in his case, enter into the Maritime provinces.

The same argument could be used for British Columbia, where high freight rates and the long distance haul are definite handicaps to new industry contemplating moving to the west.

Mr. Sinclair, on behalf of the government, took up the defence of the items that have been criticized in the budget. One of his answers to critics concerned liquor. Mr. Sinclair said that honorable members generally, except the Conservatives, deplored the fact that they had not increased the tax on liquor, and the expression used was that liquor was going Scot free.

"I want to tell you today," he went on, "that liquor is one commodity on which we have never reduced the taxation, even in the glorious days of the sunshine budget. Liquor was the first commodity we hit in the baby budget. Today a bottle of rye whisky, which the distiller sells to the Liquor Control Board for $1.10, costs the consumer $4.25, a three hundred per cent mark-up on the manufacturer's cost.

"We have felt from an examination of our tax records that the point of diminishing returns has almost been reached so far as the liquor tax is concerned. It is aggravated by the condition that there is such a disparity between the cost of manufacture and the cost of sale, and when the actual manufacture is a fairly simple process. You always have the threat of widespread bootlegging and moonshining. It was for these reasons that in this budget liquor was left untouched.

He went on with the next item, candy, pointing out that the government had tangible evidence of the law of diminishing returns in connection with this item. The 30 percent tax imposed through the baby budget created a condition that the candy manufacturers were able to show through their sales, and the department of national revenue could see from the tax collections that the tax was too severe in relation to the tax on other industries.

They were suffering a steady loss of income. For that reason the tax was cut from 30 percent to 15 percent.

Dealing with the 15 percent tax on electric stoves, refrigerators and washing machines, Mr. Sinclair said that the government raised this tax to prevent the spending of money on goods with defence content, pointing out that refrigerator sales last year were double the previous year and three times as much as the year before. These articles use a great deal of material which is necessary for defence, especially copper. He drew attention to the advertisement by the Anaconda Copper Company, headed:

"How many rounds can your kitchen shoot?"

Then they go on to say: "It takes all the copper in your kitchen—in your refrigerator, range, washer, mixer, toaster—to make the ammunition a .50 calibre machine gun fires in less than a minute."

"This fantastic ratio of war to peace—one B-29 to 1,670 electric ranges, one tank to 47 refrigerators—is a problem that is straining every resource of the copper industry. Despite this enormous effort, it is impossible to provide enough copper, brass and bronze for our military needs and all our civilian wants as well."

"The taxes on these things are regrettable but necessary. I think indirectly however this indicates a great rise in our standard of living when members here assert that it is the almost inalienable right of every young Canadian couple who get married to have an electric refrigerator, an electric washing machine and an electric stove. I do not think many members of this House of Commons started out in married life with those possessions."

Of course this last comment called forth a great deal of discussion, as today washing machines, refrigerators and electric stoves have become necessities, while in the period mentioned by Mr. Sinclair probably wood stoves and scrubbing boards were the very latest available labor-saving devices.

GOES TO CONVENTION
Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith was granted council permission on Tuesday to attend the annual municipal officers' association conference at Victoria June 8 to 8.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Last week I was among the crowds who thronged to enjoy the movie "King Solomon's Mines", and found it worth all the acclaim it has received. Its technicolor views of African scenery, animals and natives are little short of marvelous.

But why, oh why, does Hollywood so often take the titles of books which won fame because of their good stories and then completely change the aforesaid good story to fit the monotonous "Boy Wins Girl" pattern which we have seen so many many times before? Is it the only story plot that sex-stupid Hollywoodians can understand?

The fragments of romance—with side-dishes of psychology and philosophy—which were tossed into the film, in between giraffes and snakes and other wild scene-stealers, are too disjointed to make a connected story and there is no suspense whatever; you know as soon as the hero and heroine meet and start sneering at each other that they will end in each other's arms.

And to have a man and woman, after an exhausting day on safari and a still more strenuous evening escape from hostile natives, spend the night on hard tree-branches and then wake up in the morning with hardly a hair of the lady's beautifully-collared copper tresses out of place, and with the man's first thought to seize and kiss her—though supposedly hating her before and after—is surely something that only a Hollywoodian could imagine as resembling real life.

Why did they have to drag a woman into the story at all? In fact, why change the original story plot? It had far more suspense than the film. Starting with an exhausted wanderer dragging himself out of the desert, dying of thirst, to reveal the secret of King Solomon's lost diamond mines, it goes on to the mysterious disappearance of the white man who went searching for them and the coming of his brother, Sir Henry Curtis, to search for him.

A lost diamond mine, a lost brother, a determined attempt to find both in the face of steadily-increasing difficulties—now there's something like a sustained plot. And the difficulties weren't tossed in anything like as casually as they were faked up in the film.

The three white men darned near die of thirst in the desert, over a period of days. The crossing of the mountains took so long that they had to spend a night in a cave on the snow-capped peak of one; and found a 300-year-old corpse of an earlier white adventurer still preserved there. Not cheerful company for an icy night; and before that night was over the teeth of one of the black servants stopped chattering for good and there were two stiffs left in the deep freeze the next morning.

And the actual finding of the diamonds in King Solomon's Mines was not something passed over sketchily in the book, but the exciting climax of a rattling good plot. Seems to me the movie missed a big chance in leaving out the only woman in the book—Gagaool, the hideous black witch, nobody knew how old, who guided the three white men into the diamond caves. Her leers and foreboding chuckles as she led them through the door past the huge balancing rock and into the darkness, her contempt of their enthusiasm for the stone chests of jewels, and her malignant glances as she slipped away under cover of their excitement and sent that balanced rock crashing back into place, sealing them in forever—what a grand bit of character acting that could have brought to the screen!

Oh well, we can't have everything. As a documentary of Africa the film was wonderful; tain't reasonable to expect an elephant hunt, a whole zooful of wild animals, an exciting stampede, exotic native dances—and plot too! Now I'd like to re-read the book—for the dozenth time, I suppose! and keep the movie in mind for background while my flesh creeps delightfully under the wizardry of a plot as is a plot.

Could anybody lend me a copy of "King Solomon's Mines" or any other of Rider Haggard's African thrillers, before that superb technicolor background grows dim in my memory?

THIRTY YEARS AGO May 6, 1921

His shares in Summerland Mercantile Co. have been sold by J. J. Wilson to George Stuart, a business man of Vancouver. Mr. Stuart is expected to arrive here in a few days when Mr. Wilson will withdraw from his business and apply himself to his orchard.

G. Y. L. Crossley has withdrawn from the local firm of real estate agents, G. H. Inglis and Co., and informs The Review that he intends to start in business for himself immediately.

Directors of Summerland Agricultural Association are meeting with great success according to Mr. John Tait, the secretary. Membership promises to be larger than in any year of its existence, and renewed and keen interest is being shown in the apple show.

Progress is being made at the site of the new storage building. A concrete mixer is being installed and gravel drawn for the concrete. Piles for the extension of the CPR trackage on the lake side of the building are being brought in and some carloads of square timbers for this work arrived at the wharf on Wednesday.

A candy factory organized by L. Robinson, one of the newer citizens of Naramata, is about to begin operations there. It is understood that the various Okanagan towns have had samples sent them and that the prospects for business are good.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO May 7, 1926

Summerland boys and girls made a fine showing at the first Kelowna Musical Festival, a red letter day in musical history in the valley, held in the Scout Hall under the auspices of the parent-teacher association of that city. Miss Marjorie King won first solo class and two Summerland boys won first and third prizes in the elementary piano solo class, George Mosowop and Cameron McGowan, respectively. Miss Dorothy Field, senior girls' valedictorian, Cyril Mosowop and Alistair McGowan, junior pianoforte, all secured high marks and commendation for sincere, artistic productions.

June the third, the King's birthday, is to be Summerland's Day. Efforts will be made this year to make the event more successful than upon any occasion in the past. Summerland should be the mecca of the entire Southern Okanagan on this one big holiday of the year.

The first carload of ore ever to have been shipped from Summerland was despatched on its way to the Trull smelter this week from the Kelley mine at Trout Creek. It is believed to be good galena ore, containing silver and lead.

Mr. Charles Stewart was suddenly taken ill this week, with the result that a rather difficult operation was performed at the Summerland hospital. The operation was entirely successful and Mr. Stewart is progressing favorably.

Annual meeting of Summerland Community Band resulted in Jack Logie being elected manager. Other officers are: Honorary president, Reeve Robert Johnston, conductor, G. W. Cope; secretary-treasurer, T. Charly; sergeant, John Beluzzi.

1st Company GUIDE NEWS 2nd Company

A meeting of the 1st Summerland company was held on April 25. The Hepaticas got five marks for inspection, also a mark for attendance and three for patrol corners. The Forget-Me-Nots got five marks for patrol corners. The Buttercups gained five marks for winning a new game.

A court of honor was held at this meeting, and it was decided to have patrol corners once a month only.

Girl Guides have been selling cookies and the project is proving most successful.

Mr. Feltham delivered the first in a series of three lectures for the pathfinders badge. The Guides certainly appreciate his kindness in devoting his time to our meetings.

Girl Guides from the 1st and 2nd companies served at the parcel post tea on April 28, given by the Local Association. Patrol marks are: Forget-Me-Nots 215, Pimpernels 288, Buttercups 292, Hepaticas 229.

With the captain on hand, Friday night's meeting was turned over to Company Leader Frances Atkinson.

After the cookie money was collected, and money from sales for the musical recital, proceeds of which will go to the Youth Centre, Guides went off in patrols to prepare their patrol corners.

Capt. Atkinson passed several tenderfoot tests while the older Guides received requirements for proficiency badges. Later, two memory test games for patrol leaders were played.

For a turn-about the tenderfoots were asked to teach the Guides two of their Brownie games. These were Elephants' Picnic and The Tooth-Brush and The Germ.

Patrol points, Bluebirds, 76; Robins, 72; Canaries, 71; Swallows, 66. Next meeting, Friday, May 4, 7 p.m., Youth Centre.

Plans for Track Meet, Hobby Fair are Made by AOTS Club

Two big enterprises for May were planned at the April meeting of the Summerland AOTS Club, held on Thursday, April 26, in Lakeside United church.

First was the school track meet which the club is sponsoring, to be held on Saturday, May 12. Joe Sheeley reported that plans for this are coming on like a house afire, with schools throughout the valley and as far away as Kamloops and Rossland seeking to enter.

"In fact," said Joe, "we have everything but a track!" However, with Les Gould's help and some volunteer work parties with rakes and shovels, he counts on the track being in satisfactory shape in good time.

Ken Boothe reported that six cups have been donated by various organizations, and the AOTS promptly voted the purchase of the two more that are needed. Don Tait is in charge of ticket sales and arranged for half the tickets to be sold by school pupils and half by club members.

The matter of billeting visiting track contestants could be left, it was felt, to the local school students.

A surprising gift for picking volunteers for various tasks was shown by Joe, Ken and Don in arranging details of the track meet, and much the same technique was employed when the club went on to their second big project, the Hobby Fair, to be held this year on May 28.

President Everett Bates, in reporting on this, announced that George Washington was again heading the Hobby Fair, but the work was more divided this year, with Ernie Bennett and Bill Snow in charge of entries, Bert Whitmore and George Woitte in charge of adult displays, and Bert Stent looking after the school exhibits.

Plans for canvassers to obtain adult exhibits, for Cubs and Scouts to distribute advertising on the Hobby Fair, were mentioned. Mr. Ted White, a visitor to the club, suggested it might be worth while to insure all exhibits.

Committee reports covered baseball, both Peeeweas and Red Sox being sponsored by the AOTS. Camp Sorec which Ernie Bennett announced was doing well and would require only $50 from the club this year; and care of church grounds.

The president asked for a committee to meet the St. Andrew's board of stewards to discuss changes in the parking lot, and Alf McLachlan, Bob Butler, and Bill Jenkinson promptly volunteered.

Bob Butler, reporting for Cubs and Scouts under AOTS sponsorship, requested a second cup for Sixer competition, and money for this was voted at once.

When it was suggested that the May meeting of the club should be cancelled owing to the press of events that month, Ernie Bennett wanted to know how he could get helpers to do work at Camp Sorec, but a flood of volunteers satisfied him, and the meeting then adjourned until June.

1st Summerland Troop

The troop weekend camp up Deep Creek near Peachland proved successful, although a trifle damp at times. There were 21 boys at the camp, with all patrols represented. Campcraft constructions were built in preparation for the camporee at Loomis, Wash., May 18 to 20.

Because of the weekend camp, no meeting was held on Tuesday and there will be no troop meeting Tuesday, May 8. Instead, there will be patrol meetings at patrol leaders' homes. Boys will obtain information from their P/L's.

Those boys who have not obtained uniforms are urged to do so as quickly as possible. There are some second hand uniforms for sale at reduced prices from the secretary.

At the annual meeting of the group committee, held Monday night, S. R. Cannings was appointed chairman, S. W. Feltham secretary and W. R. Boyd, E. F. Smith, G. F. Lewis and A. J. Berry as committee members.

Notices: Next meeting, Tuesday, May 15, 7 p.m., Youth Centre. Full uniform and full turnout for instructions on camporee.—D. V. Fisher.

Take Mountain View Home Old People for Ride

Next Wednesday afternoon, May 9, members of Kiwanis Club of Summerland are loaning their cars to conduct members of the Mountain View Home on a drive around the Summerland district to see the blossoms and other beauty spots.

Such was the announcement made on Monday at the weekly Kiwanis meeting in the Nu-Way Annex by Kiwanian Garnett Peters who had made the necessary arrangements.

He declared that officials of the Home were delighted that the service club would take such an interest in the welfare of the old people who are spending their last days at this well-operated institution.

Some of the more elderly people will only be able to stand a half hour drive but others will be conducted for a two-hour tour of the district.

Refreshments, also arranged by the Kiwanis club, will be served to the Mountain View Home residents at the conclusion of the drive Mr. Peters declared.

Club members greeted his plan with enthusiasm and volunteers to supply half a dozen cars were quick to respond.

Boy Scouts Do Not Get Into Trouble Says Justice Wilson

VERNON—The influence of the Boy Scout movement keeps youths out of trouble.

"I have never run across a Boy Scout who has ever been convicted of a criminal offence," Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, the recently elected President of the B.C. Boy Scout Association, told a meeting of the North Okanagan Boy Scout Association.

"Much of my time is given to the administration of criminal justice," his worship said.

"These days, my brother judges and I have a great deal to do with youthful offenders, sometimes almost all juveniles. Unfortunately these are holdup men, burglars, drug addicts, and many more. The problem of what to do with these young people is a serious one to confront any judge.

"The background of these youngsters who have got into trouble is investigated, and we find early

High School COMMENTS

Last Thursday, two films on traffic safety, sponsored by the board of trade, were shown to the students.

Friday afternoon a student assembly was held in the auditorium with Jacquie Trafford presiding and Amy Yamabe, secretary.

It was announced that a variety show is to be held soon featuring school talent. Also, to raise money for the graduation, the grade twelve graduating class is putting on a tea, sale and fashion show on June 2.

Chaff editor, Don Allison, announced that preparations for the Annual are under way. Rob Fisher is in charge of sales promotion and Don Blacklock is in charge of advertising.

Mr. Brown's school song was voted on at the assembly and was chosen as the official school song by an overwhelming majority. The words to the song, as composed by Mr. Brown are:

"Faithful to our school we stand Students of Summerland. We hold nothing dearer than our old Alma Mater. On we go to happiness, wisdom, knowledge and success, To the world proclaim our faith, in her anew.

CHORUS: Onward Summerland, on to victory.

Stand up and cheer her, through adversity, We line up behind her, cheer for SHS—Rah! Rah! Rah! Without our support she's bound to meet success."

A lengthy discussion was held regarding students' cards and also the rights and privileges of junior high school. At this point the assembly broke loose and became quite disorderly. As a result, it was voted that those who have not purchased students' cards are to be barred from all student activity.

After the meeting, a short auction sale was held with Don Allison, auctioneer. The articles auctioned were things unclaimed from the lost and found department. Time did not permit the completion of the auction, but all the money that was raised is to go to student council funds.

A "Penny Drive" has been going on this week. Strips of adhesive tape were laid down the hall representing the four houses. The students have been sticking pennies on the tape and the house collecting the most money receives a bonus of 100 points, next winner 75

Coulee Dam Trip For Graduates May 20

Twenty-one members of the graduating class of Summerland high school will be taken for a conducted tour of Coulee dam on Sunday, May 20, it was stated by the Rotary Club of Summerland at the weekly dinner meeting in the Nu-Way Annex last Friday. This is an annual treat for the school graduates provided by this service club.

poverty, irresponsible parents, bad company and numerous other causes which furnish many of the answers.

"In tracing the history of these young men, I have not found one of them who had been a Boy Scout," his Lordship declared.

When the "Imperial Leduc" steamed into Sarnia the other day she made important news for all Canadians.

The ship herself was news—the world's largest lake tanker on her maiden voyage. Even greater news was her cargo—the first shipment of Alberta oil into the Ontario market.

This new market for western crude will increase Canada's oil production by almost a half. It means a further saving in foreign exchange; 40 million dollars available if needed for other purposes. It gives the Prairies a bigger market in the east and, consequently, the east a bigger market in the Prairies. Above all, it makes Canada surer of oil supplies in peace or war.

Arrival of the "Imperial Leduc" at Sarnia began a new chapter in the story of Canada's economic development—a nation more prosperous and more secure.

Many Bargains at Lutheran Spring Sale

The ladies' aid of Christ Lutheran church held a spring sale this year on Saturday evening, April 21, in the IOOF hall.

Guests were pleasantly welcomed by the president, Mrs. Andrew Turigan, who officially opened the sale.

All members worked to make the event a success, with Mrs. J. Heichert and Mrs. Ivor Nelson in the home cooking stall; Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Jesse operating the fishpond which interested the children and many of the men.

Mrs. Jack Felker was continuously at the counter where children's clothing, aprons, plants, etc., were sold, with help from Mrs. J. Kilbach, Mrs. Fred Schmidt, Mrs. Wm. Kopp and Mrs. Elmer Harvey, who assisted in serving refreshments as well.

In the kitchen Mrs. Wm. Huva made coffee, capably, and others helping there were Mrs. Wendell, Mrs. Adam Felker, Mrs. Adam Lekei and Mrs. Hollinger.

New residents are Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Thomson, formerly of Faust, Alta., 225 miles north of Edmonton, where Mr. Thomson was engaged in the lumber business. At present the couple are living in Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Blewett's suite, but have bought the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Cowan, Jubilee Road, where they will move later.

Pictured above are Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Chadburn, who are now making their home in West Summerland. This picture was taken following the exchange of marriage vows in the East Chilliwack United church on Saturday, April 14, where the bride's parents were united in holy wedlock just twenty-five years ago. The bride, the former Verda Rosetta Bernard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bernard, Chilliwack, while the groom is the only son of Mrs. Gladys Chadburn of Summerland and the late Gerald Chadburn.

THERE'S A JOB TO BE DONE IN '51

Census Count

The 1951 Census and Farm Operators

The 1951 census will provide information about the farm operator as well as the farm. The farmer will be asked his age, how long he has operated his present farm, and how many days in 1950 he worked on jobs off the farm. The sum of the answers to these questions will be useful in assessing the position of the agricultural industry.

In the early years of this century, when immigration was heavy and the prairie lands were being rapidly settled, the vast majority of settlers were young men and women. As the years passed, the average age of farm operators increased, in eastern as well as western Canada.

During the Second World War the proportion of older people operating farms was particularly high. Since the war, more younger farmers have started operating farms on their own account. Questions, even at ten-year intervals, on the age of operators and number of years farmers have operated their land provide an indication of the number of young farmers starting in business and, generally, on the age distribution of farmers.

In 1941, about 22 percent of the farm operators in Canada were 60 years or more old, whereas in 1921 the figure was a little under 17 percent. Again, the proportion of operators under 35 years was 20 percent in 1941 as compared to 26 percent in 1921. The same general trend will likely be shown for 1951, though the resettlement of war veterans may have increased somewhat the number of younger operators.

The question on time spent off the farm will aid in classifying farms into commercial and part-time farms. In many areas farmers supplement their income by fishing, lumbering, driving trucks and by engaging in many other businesses. For these, the farm provides a home and some basic income. On the average, these farmers do not generally produce much for sale. However, there were 40,000 of them in 1941 and they operated over five percent of all occupied farm land.

Information on their present number and the extent of their operations is thus necessary for a complete statistical picture of Canadian agriculture.

Sour, Red Cherries Good Freezers F. E. Atkinson Tells Rotarians

Tracing the growth and popularity with the housewife of both canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, F. E. Atkinson, head of the by-products laboratory at the Summerland experimental station proved an interesting speaker to the Rotary Club of Summerland last Friday evening at the Nu-Way Annex.

Mr. Atkinson first went back to the turn of the century when chemical preservatives were widely used in canned goods, and Wylie's Poison Squad was endeavoring to prove that some of these preservatives were dilatorious to health.

As a result of Wylie's research, the United States eventually agreed that one single preservative only would be allowed in canned goods and it must be in relation to its food value.

First Frozen Berries

After the public had learned that canned food was pure food, the next step was the introduction of the frozen product, which was first developed at Puyallup, Wash., to take care of a surplus of berries. First shipments were in 40-gallon barrels but by 1929 other fruits and vegetables were being frozen and in retail size containers.

Mr. Atkinson declared that now 400 tons of vegetables can be handled at one plant in Salinas, Cal. This plant concentrated on dehydrated vegetables in the last war but has now switched to the frozen product.

Equipment contains freezing tunnels which go as low as 40 below zero, he emphasized.

"In B.C. we haven't progressed as rapidly as the United States in freezing advancement, but that has probably been a good thing as it has needed a lot of investigation," Mr. Atkinson declared.

Freezing plants are established at Victoria, New Westminster, Chilliwack and Vernon and they are all turning out good quality products. The limited and scattered population of this province and the limited means of handling frozen foods at the retail level have worked against advancement of frozen food trade.

High transportation costs and transportation problems have also been detrimental to progress on this line, he declared.

But Mr. Atkinson believed that each year the freezing industry will become more important.

Freeze Sour Cherries

Dealing with individual articles, Mr. Atkinson declared that apples are being frozen for the bakery trade, that peaches and apricots, with the proper use of ascorbic acid, prove good products for freezing, and prunes may be treated only if they are kept frozen and heated immediately before consumption.

In the United States red, sour, pitted cherries are the main freezers, apart from berries, but there has been no planting of this type in B.C. on a commercial basis. Blocks of one-quarter or one-half acres, not scattered trees, might prove profitable, he considered.

Dealing with general points on freezing, he gave Rotarians tips if they are ever called upon to help with freezing of fruits and vegetables.

Freezing is a time and labor saver and a more comfortable process in the heat of summer, he thought. The products retain their color, flavor and texture, if properly treated, while much of the original food value is retained.

But to attain these objectives, the product must be harvested at the proper time, it must be well blanched and chilled and held at the right temperature.

Mr. Atkinson warned that cooling instructions are often given for too long a period and he advocated chilling quickly after cooking.

"Don't try for mass production," he insisted, but handle a quantity which can be frozen in three to four hours after harvesting.

Concerning canned, frozen orange juice and its relation to apple juice, Mr. Atkinson pointed out that the orange people could not produce a suitable canned orange product, whereas B.C. has produced an excellent canned apple juice.

The freezing of orange juice concentrate is one of the most ingenious methods so far developed, Mr. Atkinson concluded, giving a detailed explanation of the complicated process involved.

HOME AGAIN

Mrs. L. A. Day has returned to her home in Trout Creek after visiting at the coast.

Mrs. J. E. McArthur has returned from the coast where she has been visiting relatives and other friends.

Mr. Ryan Lawley, manager of the Cornwall Canning Company, returned on Tuesday from a business trip to San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Nisbet are home again following a visit in Vancouver where they made the acquaintance of their newest grandson, Michael, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Denny.

Mrs. H. A. Solly returned to her home in Trout Creek last Friday after spending the winter months at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Randall in Trill, B.C. She was driven over by her grandson, Michael Randall, who has the honor to be one of the Canadian Scouts chosen to go to Austria this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd came home on Sunday morning's train, having been away a month. During that time they flew from Vancouver to Hawaii, returning to California by boat, and flying from the south to Vancouver again. They were met in Vancouver by their daughter, Miss Daphne Boyd, who remained in Vancouver for a few days.

ARRIVE FROM FLIN FLON

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Croft and young son of Flin Flon, Manitoba, arrived in Summerland on Monday to make their permanent home here on the orchard property they purchased last year from Mr. Robert Birch.

Three Hostesses for Shower to Honor Miss Annie Joy

Co-hostesses Mrs. W. C. McCutcheon, Miss Doreen Tait and Mrs. R. N. Laidlaw, held a miscellaneous shower on Wednesday evening, April 25, at the home of the latter, to honor Miss Annie Joy, bride-elect of May.

Plans had been made for the honoree to assist her sister at a brush party at Mrs. Laidlaw's house that evening, and she was genuinely surprised when she reached the sitting-room door to hear the strains of the Wedding March and to see a miniature bride under an arch decorated with pink and white streamers and white wedding bell.

This was near a table decorated with pink and white streamers, beside a decorated chair where the bride-to-be was asked to sit while opening her lovely gifts which were behind the little bride and piled under the table.

Those present at the shower were Mrs. T. Joy, Miss Harriet Joy, Mrs. W. Charles, the bride's sister from Oliver, Mrs. J. Embree, Mrs. M. Embree, Mrs. Edson Miller, Mrs. G. Halverson, Mrs. Percy Miller, Mrs. L. Wright, Mrs. P. Willis, Mrs. C. Morgan, Mrs. T. McDougald, Mrs. L. Wolfner, Mrs. Wm. Milne, Mrs. J. James, Mrs. A. Watt, Mrs. M. Laidlaw, Mrs. E. Tait, Mrs. Len Shannon, Mrs. E. P. Davis, Mrs. F. Davis, Mrs. A. E. Parrott, Mrs. D. Orr, Miss Marjorie Mott, Miss Ione Embree and Miss E. Verity.

Gifts were also received from Mrs. Earle Wilson, Mrs. J. Y. Towgood, Mrs. L. Miller, Mrs. George Wardle (nee Davis), who were unable to be present.

Two amusing contests were played, prizes being won by Mrs. A. Watt, Mrs. T. Joy and Miss Mary Steuart.

A dainty supper was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Eric Tait and Mrs. Len Shannon. Table decorations were pink and white with green tapers in silver holders, and the bride's cake was decorated in these pastel colors also with a touch of silver added.

Report Given on Canadian Fashion

The monthly meeting of the Summerland Girl Guide Association was held in the Youth Centre on April 26 with a record attendance of twenty-nine members.

District Commissioner Mrs. Holden enrolled four members, Mrs. G. H. Inglis, Mrs. F. W. Schumann, Mrs. R. I. Cornish and Mrs. Carl Nesbitt. This brings the number of enrolled members to thirteen.

Mrs. Holden gave an interesting report of the provincial council held recently at St. Margaret's school in Duncan. This division, which also includes the Similkameen, sent seven representatives.

It was mentioned that the provincial commissioner, Mrs. Quinell, had been appointed commandant of the Dominion Guide camp to be held near Ottawa this year. Mrs. Holden also told the meeting that British Columbia holds the distinction of being the only province to send Guides to Germany to help with the rehabilitation of German children under the Guide International Service.

Miss Betty Jane Fleming of Vernon served two years in this work and was followed, in turn, by Miss Hortense Warne who will complete her term this coming fall, but the need among the young people is still very great.

It is proposed to send parcels overseas in the near future. Other interesting projects for Guides were also planned at this meeting.

It was impressed upon the meeting that there was a continuous need for more Guide leaders. Many who had been instrumental in starting this splendid work have now retired due to increased home duties. Since training is provided for new leaders, and no previous experience is required, it is hoped that those who are not so closely tied by family obligations will offer their services.

The association made arrangements for representatives to attend the divisional meeting to be held at Hedley on May 19.

Nurses to Take Part in Defence Program Lectures

Nurses numbering over twenty-five attended the meeting called for Tuesday evening, April 24, in the high school library when keen interest was shown in proposed refresher courses.

It has been arranged to hold these courses on May 11-12-14 when Miss Trout, RN, will be sent out by the registered nurses' association to conduct lectures.

There will be two addresses a day, afternoon and evening, and these will be on New Drugs and Their Uses; Surgical and Obstetrical Practices; and Atom, Bacterial, and Chemical Warfare.

While these lectures have been arranged as part of a government civil defence program, they are of interest and stimulation to nurses in active in the nursing world at present, but still wanting to keep up with pertinent scientific advances, the meeting was informed.

VISITING ABROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker have returned from a week's vacation at Vancouver.

ATTEND GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AT OYAMA

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Towgood, Oyama, B.C., who have often visited here, will be interested to hear that their golden wedding was celebrated at their home on Monday, April 30, and will join in the good wishes proffered them at that time. The anniversary was attended by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Towgood.

Surprise Element Of Parcel Post Tea Holds Keen Interest

The surprise element in parcel post teas seems to raise great interest, and at that held by the Local Association to the Girl Guides on Saturday afternoon, April 28, in the Youth Centre, the usual curiosity ran high.

Home cooking sold well and all the packages that had come through the mail from friends found buyers quickly. "It's just like Christmas", was the remark heard often.

Mrs. Harold Short and Mrs. Gibberd were the "postmen" and Mrs. James Marshall and Mrs. Colin Campbell sold baking.

Mrs. Clarence Adams convened tea, assisted by Mrs. Birtles. Sweet little table centres of tiny rock plants and small spring flowers were arranged by Mrs. F. E. Atkinson and Mrs. W. H. Durick, with daffodils brightening the hall. Three Guides from each company were serviteurs for the delicious refreshments.

Making the tea were Mrs. George Inglis, Mrs. Fred Schumann and Mrs. A. F. Calder, while Mrs. E. Hack was at the door.

Youth for Christ Officer at Rally

Rev. Herb Tyler, regional vice-president and director Pacific North-West Youth for Christ international, of Portland, gave an inspiring address to the YFC rally in the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening, April 24, before a large audience.

Guest soloist was Rev. A. Ashbee, Prince Albert, Sask., who was conducting meetings in the Pentecostal church.

Another part of the program were selections on electric guitars by the Schindel brothers.

The Youth for Christ choir was in attendance, with Miss Ella Mohr, pianist, Miss Melva Stevenson accompanied Mr. Ashbee.

HERE'S A PLAN FOR EVERY MAN

New B of M Service Tells You How to Get the Most Out of Your Money

Do you run your money, or does it run you? That's a pretty important question. You can make your income go further, do more—but it takes planning. That's why the Bank of Montreal originated Personal Planning—a sane, practical approach to money management.

In these days of high living costs, you've got to get all the value you can out of every dollar. Personal Planning doesn't deal in money miracles—it won't double your income overnight—but it will show you how to make every cent that you earn do a job of work for you. And how you can get fun out of seeing that it does.

If you are interested in learning how to live within your income and like it, drop into the Bank of Montreal branch at West Summerland and have a chat with Charles Guernsey, the accountant. He'll be glad to give you the free booklet Personal Planning, and discuss its application to your financial problems.

MORE ABOUT— PORTRAITS

pated also, but did not come from the hutch wiping his mouth on the back of his hand as was the cowboy method.

Mr. Lee-Grayson admits he cheerfully handed over His Royal Highness at the Alberta border.

Best known for his water color landscapes, Lee-Grayson exhibited fairly regularly in London, Montreal, and other centres. He has loved to paint the western sunsets, and his prairie scenes have evoked enthusiastic comment. Since coming here he is constantly intrigued with the subtle colors and the change from the bald-headed prairie, and has been painting Okanagan scenes.

While preferring landscapes, he is also familiar with portrait work, and his life-size study of King George V hangs in the Legislative Assembly in Regina. His versatility is shown in his design of the silver plaque in the library in the same building, which contains emblems from the bombed House of Commons in London. In Regina, and here in Summerland, his illuminated addresses have been seen as other examples of his artistic work.

When leaving to come to Summerland Mr. and Mrs. Lee-Grayson were honored by the department of public health at a party, and Mr. Lee-Grayson was given a presentation, by Hon. J. M. Uhrich who lauded his splendid service during the twenty years he was there.

The Lee-Graysons have made a pretty garden at their home near the lake, and can enjoy it the year round in the water colors Mr. Lee-Grayson has made of the colorful iris bed, the forsythia, the changing moods and shades of the lake, which his spirited wife fully appreciates, too.

He detests war, having seen plenty of it; he is sympathetic to youth, remembering his own early pranks; he likes to have a pot of paint and a book of poems around; he thinks with Confucius that "they who see Beauty, possess it."

Tomato Prices Not Settled by Market Board with Cannery

KELOWNA—The Interior Vegetable Marketing Board has released the following prices as arrived at in meetings held with cannery recently.

Tomatoes. No actual price has as yet been arrived at, but prices will be, at least, $5 a ton higher than last year.

Tomatoes, juice grade, has been substituted and will be known as "Puree Grade". Tomatoes to be fully colored as for No. 1, free from decay, mould and sunscald, but may be any size.

Minimum prices will be: No. 1's $32 ton; No. 2's, $22 ton; puree grade, $27 ton.

The cannery have submitted a firm offer of these prices, but the board is still negotiating for better largely on what happens in Eastern ones. The outcome will depend on Canada.

Asparagus. The following prices have been agreed upon: No. 1 grade, five inches in length, 29c per pound; No. 2 grade, six inches in length, 25c per pound; Utility A seven inches in length, 22c per pound. Utility B ten inches in length, 16c per pound.

Beans. A slightly different system of grading and pricing has been set up this year in an attempt to build up the industry of growing and canning this crop.

Prices are: $92.50 a ton for a grade containing sizes 1/4 inclusive.

Jomori Grooves Too Many as Merchants Bow to Princeton Royals 8-2 in Loop Opener

Little Ernie Jomori trudged out to the mound for Summerland Merchants against Princeton Royals on Sunday afternoon as the opening game of the 1951 Okanagan International baseball league got underway. He showed definite possibilities for the future but his control was not quite up to par, with the result that he grooved too many and Princeton chalked up an 8-2 victory after 15 hits.

A cool wind and cloudy skies did not tend to loosen up the game to any degree, but defensively the two teams played mid-season baseball.

It was the fourth inning, mainly that spelled ruin for the Merchants when a barrage of four base-hits gave the Royals a 5-0 lead and put them comfortably out in front.

Wayne Aune, with a four for five average at the bat, turned in the best all-round display, handling ten fielding chances without an error, and covering one whale of a lot of ground in so doing.

Gerein, who has humbled Merchants on previous occasions, was the winning hurler and showed good ability to whiff the horsehide in where it counted in most of the pinches.

Distinct Hitting Edge

It was in hitting power that the Royals had a distinct edge, out-clouting the Merchants 15 to 6. Frank Kuroda and George Taylor were the only two who showed consistency while Jack Dunham was finding the ball and was responsible for the only Merchants' tallies, rapping home two runs with a mighty triple in the fifth, Ernie Jomori and Kuroda having gained the path before him on walks.

Of the newcomers to the team, only Francis Gould was able to touch any of Gerein's deliveries.

The former Red Sox players showed they need plenty of batting practice to bring them into line with senior pitching power.

On the field, the young infield played sparkling ball with Fred Kato handling seven chances at his new third-base position without a miscue. All three Merchants' errors were committed in the outfield, where one difficult fly ball was dropped and two bounding balls were booted.

It was plainly evident that with plenty of practice on the hickory and with some help in the pitching department that the Merchants can turn out a team equal to any in the league.

However, the team definitely showed the need for more practice sessions.

Frank Kuroda developed a charley-horse late in the game and was relieved from further fielding duties, Bill Clark going into right field and Dunham moving over to left.

Summerland Band was in at tendance and played several numbers and O Canada to start the day. Reeve C. E. Bentley tossed out the first ball to inaugurate the season. Because of the coolness of the day the crowd was not large.

Next Sunday, Merchants travel to Coulee Dam for the first away game of the season.

Service Clubs May Stage "Apple Box" Derby this Summer

An "Apple Box" derby may be in prospect for this year if plans of two service clubs can be brought to fruition soon.

Patterned on the famous "Soap Box" derby, an apple box replica may be held on a suitable stretch of highway in this district some time this summer.

This was the announcement at Monday's Kiwanis Club of Summerland meeting when Frank McDonald explained that the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs are considering the advisability of sponsoring this event.

Eddie Lloyd was named president of the Kingpin Bowling League when a highly successful windup cabaret dance was held in the IOOF hall last Saturday night and attended by some hundred members and friends.

Miwa Tada is the new secretary and Mrs. Muriel Walker is treasurer.

Presentation of the bowling league annual trophy was made by President Jim Heavysides to Miwa Tada of the championship Maple Leafs team.

High single: Charlie Haddrell, 361; Marian Kean, 320.
High three: Charlie Haddrell, 882; Anne Carney, 698.
High average: Reuben Huva, 216; Rhoda Gray (Ritchie) 181.

George Stoll Again Head Of Rink Association; Need $10,000 Right Away

George Stoll was unanimously re-elected president of the Summerland Rink Association when the annual meeting was held in the new arena on Monday evening and attended by some 25 enthusiasts.

In one year, the rink association had erected an arena to the point where it could be utilized in wintry weather, had shown a handsome profit on a short operating season and now looked forward to the need of a more extensive campaign to raise further funds by means of debenture sale.

Perusal of the financial statement indicated that $10,000 is needed to pay off the bank loan, outstanding accounts and notes payable.

In the bank and cash on hand, plus notes and accounts receivable total $2,775.17, although it was declared that of the $1,670 in accounts receivable it was doubtful if this entire amount would ever be collected.

Value of the building was entered in the audited statement at $24,838.98 less depreciation reserve of $465.76, while real estate was given a value of $1,565.69.

Registered bonds amounting to $16,445 had been sold, leaving an operating surplus for the first year of $2,248.20, it was revealed.

Net revenue from curling amounted to $757.51, although in total the curling club handled some $1,300. Senior hockey contributed $809.50, with $104.18 expenses. Junior hockey, at 50 cents per player, with no charge for any games, brought in $97.25. Public skating revenue amounted to $142.70.

Miscellaneous revenues were as follows: Advertising $66, donations $222.77, lunch counter $234.70, memberships $36, opening night $453.30, drawing on opening night, $798.54. These revenues totalled $4,219.27, while expenses amounted to $1,192.85. Added to the expense total was depreciation at $472.75 and interest on registered bonds, $305.47, for a grand total of $1,971.07.

Very Good Statement
Treasurer G. A. Laidlaw declared his opinion that this is an exceptionally fine statement, although if the people who pledged themselves to buy bonds and haven't made any attempt to fulfill this promise do not make good the financial status will not be so promising.

President Stoll explained that the only expenses incurred by the hockey club was for sticks, pads and sundry items. No revenue accrued to the hockey club from any of the gate receipts.

There is money in the bank to pay the interest on the debentures, it was emphasized.

Mr. Stoll also explained the alterations needed to make the curling section into full-sized rinks. The outside end walls must be stuccoed, fibrosa laid for the inside rooms, insulate the rooms, provide some type of heating system, and erect bleachers. Also, fireproofing the dressing room walls is another must for the future.

He also called for work parties to help clear the grounds around the arena so that a road can be bulldozed on the west of the building.

Mr. Stoll declared that an extra $5,000 had been expended on placing aluminum sheeting on the roof and ends of the building. This was an expense which had not been considered at the first but he defended this action by declaring that the roof will now last the life of the building, with no upkeep cost.

Red Sox to Meet Osoyoos This Sunday

Another league gets underway this Sunday throughout the South Okanagan when the South Okanagan Junior Baseball league answers the summons to "Play Ball!"

Here in Summerland the 1950 B.C. championship Red Sox crew opens the 1951 season with Osoyoos as the opposition at the Living Memorial athletic park.

Ken Brawner is the likely starting hurler for the Red Sox who have lost the services of Catcher Bob Weitzel, First Baseman Lefty Gould, Second Baseman Fred Kato, Shortstop Sandy Jomori, and Pitcher and Third Baseman Ernie Jomori to the Summerland Merchants this season.

Another distinct loss is Gil Jacobs, who is now too old for junior baseball and who may not even be available for senior baseball here unless a definite effort is made to provide suitable employment for the UBC student in the summer months in this district.

Other league opening games see Penticton Beavers meet Penticton Pirates and Oliver travelling to Nanaimo. Dick Murray's Kelowna juniors, dark horses of the 1950 season, get a bye in the first round.

M-O BASEBALL LEAGUE

Penticton beat Vernon 4-3 and Oliver defeated Kelowna 10-6 in Mainline-Okanagan baseball league games last weekend. Kamloops had a bye. Oliver now has two wins to its credit, Kamloops one win, Penticton one win and one loss and Vernon two losses.

was unanimously returned as president, with H. L. Wilson as vice-president and Carl Nesbitt as second vice-president. Mr. C. H. Elsey was returned as secretary but no one would agree to standing for the position of treasurer. It was finally agreed that this post should be filled by the executive.

Fourteen directors were named, mainly representatives of various interested organizations, as follows: J. W. Mitchell, J. Heavysides, H. Braddick, V. M. Lockwood, G. Hallquist, W. Scotty Ritchie, W. H. Durick, W. G. Snow, Bob Bleasdale, George Woitte, N. O. Solly, G. A. Laidlaw and Joe Sheeley.

It was stated that officers of the association planned to meet the municipal council last night to discuss the future of the arena.

Mr. Stoll agreed to head the drive for debenture sale while Cecil Wade and Gerry Hallquist volunteered to head the work party committee.

The new rates are retroactive to January 1, 1951, and are based on estimated adult and children occupancy, the BCHIS has announced.

Mr. D. Cox, assistant commissioner in charge of hospitals, declared that the BCHIS has made certain suggestions to hospitals.

In considering the old age pensioners payments to hospitals, a statement from Premier Byron Johnson's office states:
"The continuation of the practice of encouraging old age pensioners to pay, whenever possible, at least a portion of their hospital bill, which was in effect prior to the institution of the hospital insurance service and which was to be resumed under the hospital insurance plan has been withdrawn owing to the complete misunderstanding on the part of the public in connection with same, it has been announced by the cabinet."

Hon. A. D. Turnbull, minister of health and welfare, was quoted as stating the "select standing committee of the house, which under the act passed at the last session has been entrusted with an enquiry into various phases of hospital insurance administration."

Walter Toevs Heads Spring Fair Planners

At its last meeting, Summerland Board of Trade agreed to hold a Spring Fair in the new Arena early in June, in a similar fashion to the series of spring events staged up to 1949.

Last year the spring fair plan was dropped because it was not thought sufficient accommodation would be available.

Walter Toevs has been named chairman of the Spring Fair committee, with Walter Toevs Lorne Perry, board secretary, agreeing to be committee secretary, as well.

It is considered by the committee that the 1951 fair will be confined to one day, Saturday, June 9, and plans for that occasion are going ahead rapidly.

New Dwellings Boost Permits For Last Month

Four new dwellings were commenced in April, for a value of $14,900 while three commercial permits for $6,325 and five alterations and additions permits for $1,150 brought the total for last month to $22,375.

Last year, there were 34 permits issued in the first four months for a total of $358,440. Without the school addition, the permits in 1950 to April 30 only amounted to $48,440.

Probably two of the most effective single items about the presentation were the lighting effects and the stage settings.

Lighting was under the charge of Robin Fisher and the full scope of the lighting arrangements in the new school auditorium was displayed to the audience for the first time. Father A. M. Meulenbergh

For the sumptuous Farnsworth living room furnishings were supplied the club by the A. K. Elliott department store.

Two Hundred Athletes Expected on Saturday For AOTS Track Meet

All eyes in the interior athletic world are turned towards Summerland this weekend as the first annual AOTS Club invitational track and field meet is due to take off at the Living Memorial athletic park Saturday morning, May 12.

High school athletes from Kamloops and Revelstoke south to the border and over to Keremeos are expected to be present for this big event which puts this district in the track and field limelight for the first time in history.

Nearly 200 competitors are expected to be here Saturday to compete for eight cups and numerous ribbons.

First of the Okanagan track meets was held in Penticton last Saturday when the Kinsmen club of that city staged its annual invitational meet.

On May 19 the annual Okanagan Valley high schools meet is also being held in Penticton, thus making the third meet in a row for the young athletes.

This weekend, Kamloops, Revelstoke, Salmon, Arm, Vernon, Rutland, Kelowna, Penticton, Oliver-Osoyoos and Keremeos are definite entries in the first track and field meet ever staged in Summerland.

Invitations were also extended to Rossland and Omak but their acceptance seemed doubtful this morning.

Nearly 200 young men and women will be competing in the thirty-eight events on the program.

One of the biggest needs of the AOTS Club committee right now are billets for the visitors. About 50 more billets are needed and Don Allison will be pleased to accept offers of accommodation, the service clubbers state.

Hard-Working Committee

Ken Boothe and Joe Sheeley are joint chairmen of the AOTS track and field committee, with Walter Charles the hard-working secretary. Others on the committee are Don Tait, Pete Greer and Wendell Schwab, with President E. E. Bates and Past President H. V. Stant assisting.

George Woitte and Vern Charles are in charge of the refreshments booth at the Living Memorial athletic park on Saturday.

The AOTS Club is hopeful that Police Sgt. Jack Harrison, well-known Vancouver athlete, and a former sprinter of note, will be here on Saturday to act as official starter.

Jim Panton, provincial recreation director for the Okanagan will also be here from Kelowna to assist in an official capacity. The special events crew from Radio Station CKOV will also be here to record some of the highlights of the big show.

Eight cups are being presented to winning individuals and teams, with two AOTS Club trophies being available for the grand aggregate awards.

Individual trophies have been donated by Rotary, Kiwanis, Legion, Holy Names Society, Junior Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants Assn.

All but hurdle events are being included in the lengthy program. There are three divisions, 14 and under, 16 and under and 20 and under. Relay races for both boys and girls are included in each division.

Sprints are the 75, 100 and 220 yard distances, while quarter-mile, half-mile and one-mile races are included in the track events. Broad and high jumps, pole vault and shot put are included in the field events.

"EXASPERATED" BUT COUNCIL CAN'T HELP

"I cannot find words to express my exasperation," was C. Clough's comment to Summerland council recently when he wrote protesting the application of the penalty for late payment of his water and light rates. The sudden death of his father caused this oversight until after April 20, he declared.

Council expressed sympathy but declared it has no power to make any deviation in policy laid down.

To Organize Civil Defense Next Week

Reeve C. E. Bentley, one of the chief figures in the Okanagan in organizing civil defence plans, has called a meeting of representative citizens for civil defence organization in Summerland for next Monday evening in the library of the new high school.

It is His Worship's plan to acquaint these citizens with the need for planning civil defence organization here and to co-ordinate local preparedness with plans for a valley defence group.

The Okanagan is considered a suitable evacuation point for concentrated coast areas, in case of bombing or attack at sea level, and as such is being considered in the overall pattern being designed for the entire province.

Among the organizations asked to send representatives, besides the municipal council are the school board, board of trade, junior chamber of commerce, Legion, Rotary, Kiwanis, Women's Institute, Boy Scouts, Red Cross, St. John Ambulance.

Tait Again Chosen Head Of Big Co-op

Councillor Eric Tait has again been chosen president of the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Assn., with J. Y. Towgood re-elected vice-president, following the annual meeting which was held in the IOOF hall on Friday evening, April 27.

Dr. D. V. Fisher and F. R. (Tiny) Ganzeveld were re-elected directors for a two-year term, along with Walter Toevs, a new director.

President Tait and Manager George Washington told co-op growers that 1950 saw the first full year of operation in the new packing shed and renovated cold storage plant.

This operation had proved so successful that despite price rises and the short soft fruit crop, packing charges were held to a one-cent increase over the 1949 level.

It was agreed by growers that this was a splendid showing. However, Manager Washington warned that with the new wage schedule to take effect in the coming season and with box shock prices taking another rise, that the packing charge is bound to go up again this year.

However, in the light of existing conditions, the co-op staff would do its utmost to keep the packing charge as low as possible, Mr. Washington promised.

Prize Trophy in 21st Shippers' Golf Tournament Won by C. J. Bleasdale

C. J. Bleasdale, manager of the B.C. Fruit Shippers Ltd. packing house in Summerland, paired with Monty Foster of Vernon to capture the CIL trophy and replica in the organization four-ball foursome competition at the 21st annual shippers' golf tournament at Kelowna, May 7 and 8.

Scoring 60 men and 27 women competed in this annual classic which attracts those interested in the packing and shipping of fruit from all parts of the valley, as well as prairie points.

Next year's tournament will be held in Vernon.

Other Summerland packing-house men at the tournament were C. H. Elsay and Jack Lawler, while Mr. and Mrs. George Washington attended the wind-up dance Tuesday evening.

Other winners in the tournament were:

Open championship, Westminster trophy, Russ Jordan, Penticton; runnerup, Dan Currell, Kelowna.

Handicap championship, Pacific Mills trophy, Doug Buckland, Kelowna; runnerup, Grant Bishop, Kelowna.

R. Jordan and Bill Stuart, Penticton; runnerup, E. Herb, New Westminster and Alan Whyte, Vancouver.

Third flight handicap, Vancouver Ioe trophy, Bill Stuart, Penticton; runnerup, Bob Oke, Vancouver.

New Municipal Hall Plans Proceeding

Municipal council is gathering information more rapidly now on the possibility of erecting a new municipal hall on the property purchased directly east of the Summerland Box Co. office on Granville street.

It is felt that the building proposed will come under the $40,000 figure which council tentatively estimated at first.

McCarter & Nairne, Vancouver architectural firm, has prepared plans and is ready to submit detailed estimates as soon as the council has received more data.

The steel comptroller has replied to municipal council that permission to proceed with this structure cannot be given until more data is obtained on the amount of materials needed for the structure.

It is believed that only reinforcing steel would be required but the architect is being asked to prepare data on this question and forward it to the steel comptroller so that the necessary permission can be given to proceed with present plans.

Council plans for financing this structure have not been discussed in open council session yet.

COUNCIL IS THANKED
Thanks of the Summerland Girl Guide Assn. were tendered municipal council this week for permission to allow a "cookie stand" to operate on Granville street.

Cancer Drive Reaches Goal

Summerland's Conquer Cancer campaign has wound up, Bill Laidlaw chairman of the drive on behalf of the sponsors, the Kiwanis Club of Summerland, announced on Tuesday.

Any persons who might have been missed can leave contributions at Laidlaw & Co. store but Mr. Laidlaw hopes to wind up the drive this weekend and close the books then.

A total of $1,005 had been received by the Kiwanis canvassers up to Tuesday afternoon, which is approximately the same as was collected by the same club in 1950. It is more than three times as much as was ever collected prior to last year.

At Monday's Kiwanis meeting in the NuWay Annex, Mr. Laidlaw expressed his gratification at the success of the campaign and lauded the efforts of Kiwanians who conducted the canvass.

Tax Rate up 7 1/2 Mills to New Record High of 42 1/2; Expenditure at $161,000

Summerland's tax rate is going up 7 1/2 mills to a record high of 42 1/2 mills, it was revealed at Tuesday's council session.

Only by seriously slicing general expenditures, including proposed road hard surfacing, deleting any capital expenditure by the parks commissioners, and eliminating other items was the council able to keep the 1951 tax levy from skyrocketing higher.

After holding the line at 35 mills for the past two years, the rate jumped this season in the face of ever-rising costs of operation.

Cost of the new school unit has taken up the first four mills of the increase. The formation of a parks board has created an extra mill on the rate and the anticipated drop in sales tax refund from the provincial government has caused another mill on the rate. Roads department operations create the final mill, while fractions over each one of these increases causes the final half-mill rise, council has pointed out.

Municipal council feels that it must, because of existing provincial legislation, devote all the sales tax refunds to general municipal expenditures. Therefore, two-thirds of the revenue to operate general municipal financing will come from anticipated sales tax and motor vehicle licence refunds.

SS & MA tax refunds are placed at $33,000 on advice of Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb. Motor vehicle licence refund will be approximately $6,000. These two items total $39,000 out of a total revenue of $61,195.

This leaves the school expenses standing out "like a sore thumb", whereas another look at school costs in relation to entire costs of municipal undertakings provides another picture, it was pointed out by Reeve C. E. Bentley to The Review at Tuesday's council session.

Schools Expenses About Half

Municipal revenue is expected to be $61,195, including five mills raising $13,100. School expenditure is based on an estimate of $37,440.98, with 32 mills raising $86,460 and the 1950 balance of $656.25 making total revenue of $87,116.25.

Debuture tax is expected to raise $11,790, while amounts to be paid into interest and sinking fund account totals $12,068.

Thus it was pointed out that total expenditure for operating Summerland's principal concerns amounts to $161,085, with the school system only requiring $37,441 of this sum, although requiring 33 out of 42 1/2 mills.

"Whatever way it's worked out in the tax rate structure the total is still the same and there is no change in the amount of taxation," Reeve Bentley pointed out. None of the figures include public utilities such as water and electric light.

One mill is expected to raise $2,620 on the 1951 assessment figures. Last year one mill raised about $2,500.

This indicates that property has increased slightly in value and more improvements have been business, it has been agreed in some quarters.

Details of revenue which will come into the general municipal treasury were outlined on Tuesday, and were as follows:

Five mills on $2,620, total $13,100; trade licences $4,000, dog tax $650, building permits $850, rents $250, fines and costs $300, interest on bank account and investments $1,100, tax penalties $125, interest on rates and taxes $250, SS & MA tax $38,000, motor vehicle licences $6,000, cemetery graves $150, tax sale lots $50, library tax $1,900, miscellaneous $100, maps $15, vendor's commission SS & MA tax $75; total $61,915.

Roads Cost Higher

Principal item of expenditure is roads maintenance, which has been placed at $19,045, up about one mill from last year but which would have been a good deal higher if the total roads department program had remained.

In the past week, $1,000 expenditure was lopped from the roads estimates, it was stated. Complete details were not given out as Councillor F. M. Stewart, in charge of that department, was absent on Tuesday.

However, it is known that a partial job of sealcoating will be undertaken out of maintenance expenses, although not all the hard surfaced roads can be completed this year.

In capital costs, $750 has been earmarked for roads, which will probably allow for some hard surfacing on the hospital hill, although this is not definite.

Other expenditures are fairly standard and cannot be trimmed to any degree.

Details of the parks board expenditures may be found in an adjoining column. Total cost is $3,601.28, adding a mill to the tax rate over last year's parks expenditures. No provision was made for any capital expenditure on parks, beaches or cemetery, in view of the high tax rate. It had been hoped to include $1,000 in this year's budget for this purpose.

Other Municipal Expenses

Standard expenditures follow: Council remuneration $1,800, overhead $4,525, advertising $125, election expense $150, filing fees $50, insurance $100, workmen's compensation board $1,400, unemployment insurance $500, group insurance $125, municipal sheds $400, Christmas decorations $25, travelling expense $350, convention fees $125, assessment $700, fire protection $3,000, police protection and magistrate $2,500, building inspector $900, street lighting $1,450, dog tax expense $100, pound $25, sidewalk maintenance $300, refuse ground operation $500, hospitals per diem grant $5,000, public health $450, social welfare $2,500, Okanagan Union Library $2,100, cemetery expense $150, legal expense $250, interest and bank charges $100, sundry $100.

In the nature of grants following are the sums allocated: Summerland Youth Centre Assn. $150, Summerland Band $150, Salvation Army $25, Cadet lighting $25, central welfare $100, Institute for the Blind $25.

No provision was made for any grant to the Summerland Rink Association although a deputation waited on the council in committee last week and sought a grant in lieu of the

Parks Board Estimates Detail Work And Costs for Projects in District

Major expenditure by the board of parks commissioners for the first year of its operation will be for labor and of the total estimates of $3,601, a sum of $2,560 was set aside for this purpose, a perusal of 1951 estimates shows.

At Powell Beach two toilets, repairs to stoves and painting will amount to $135.

Peach Orchard Beach has an estimated $100 allocation, while in Peach Orchard park expenses are $77.50 for water pipe from the hall to the kitchen, and $30 for two tables.

The athletic field will get two wash basins at a cost of $75 while repairs and improvements are detalled at $175. About $200 revenue is expected to be received from this park during the summer.

Living Memorial park playground has an estimated $200 expenditure for repairs, improvements and fertilization.

Improvements to cemetery, outside of labor costs, was estimated at $150 by the parks board.

The board of park commissioners have a permanent parks caretaker, John Graham, and allowance has been made in estimates to provide for his car travelling within the municipality and for some assistance during the busiest portions of the season.

A. K. Loyd Optimistic over 1951 Apple Export Prospects

A. K. Loyd, president and general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. the central sales agency for the tree fruit industry, who has been in the Old Country endeavoring to arrange a better deal for British Columbia apple producers in 1951-52 season, arrived in Ottawa this week and issued an "optimistic" statement regarding the future prospects for the Okanagan.

Tree Fruits declared in a wired message to The Review yesterday that "Mr. Loyd, on his return from his visit to British and Continental markets, was optimistic in regard to export shipments for the 1951 apple crop."

"There exists a strong desire on the part of the United Kingdom to continue a trading program," he stated, "and there is no need to be discouraged about shipments in this and future years."

"Competition, however, is becoming increasingly keen, particularly from Italy and the Argentine Republic, both of which countries are raising their standards to compete with importations from the North American continent," he warned.

No further word has been received as to any definite commitments which Mr. Loyd received regarding the 1951 crop export prospects.

Protects Offshore Subsidy
From Ottawa last week came word that Hon. Douglas Abbott had been acquitted from the floor of the commons with the fact that the United States is subsidizing off-shore exports to most countries to the extent of $1.25 per box.

Protest was made by H. W. Herridge, CCF Kootenay West, and was supported by E. D. Fulton, Progressive Conservative MP for Kamloops.

Mr. Herridge denounced the subsidy as "artificial competition" and stated that because of the situation which barred export shipments B.C. was forced to sell 100,000 boxes of apples in eastern Canada for $1 per box.

Finance Minister Abbott said he was not aware such a subsidy existed in favor of U.S. growers but promised to look into the question of how it would be affected by the Geneva trade agreements of 1947.

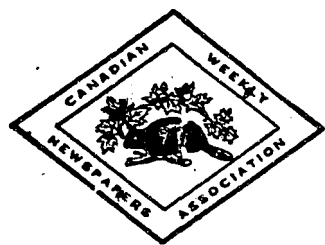

He pointed out that the U.S. tariff on Canadian apples is very much lower than the Canadian tariff on U.S. apples and was one of the few situations where this applied. He promised to investigate.

Mr. Frank Christian

of the firm of O'Brien & Christian, Penticton and Summerland legal firm, who is guest speaker to the Summerland Board of Trade quarterly dinner meeting in the IOOF hall tonight, Mr. Christian, who headed the trade board tourist committee in Penticton last year and who has been prominent in industrial and tourist development in the southern city, will talk on industrial development in the Okanagan, a subject which is of keen interest to the Summerland board at the present time.

Major Undertaking This Weekend

THIS week we commend to the attention of our readers the initial attempt of the AOTS Club to stage a track and field meet in Summerland which is attracting the attention of athletes and sports-minded people generally from all parts of the interior.

There has never been a major track and field day staged in this community before. Up to this year, only the Okanagan Valley schools track meet and the invitational Kinsmen's meet in Penticton were available for most of the athletes who train hard each spring.

It was with the thought in mind that the athletes should have more opportunity to compete as a result of their strenuous training efforts that the AOTS Club decided to promote this major event.

Since their original plans were initiated, the AOTS Club has found it has a terrific undertaking in hand. It has grown to proportions which most club members hardly believed possible.

To some 200 hundred competitors, and hundreds of other school students, teachers, parents and friends, Summerland will be the focal point this Saturday. This is valuable advertising for Summerland district and merits the support of community-minded persons even if they have no particular interest in track and field events.

There is one other point to bear in mind. If community-minded citizens had not prevailed upon this district to support the Living Memorial parks projects, it would not be possible to stage such a big event. The athletic park provides an ideal setting for this gathering.

Why Didn't He Know?

IN THE House of Commons last week Hon. Douglas Abbott, minister of finance, admitted to H. W. Herridge that he was unaware that the United States is subsidizing the American apple growers to the extent of $1.25 per box for offshore shipments to most foreign countries.

This comes as a great surprise to growers of Okanagan apples who have been forced to confine most of their sales activities in the past three years to the American continent because of this "artificial competition".

They are surprised that the minister of finance for Canada who is most closely connected with Geneva trade agreements would be unaware of this flagrant abuse of inter-country trade agreements.

They are surprised that he would be unaware of this situation despite the numerous delegations from the Okanagan, from B.C., and from the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, not to mention the Canadian Horticultural Council which have tried to make their collective voices heard in Ottawa.

Only this spring officials of B.C. Tree Fruits

Ltd. assured growers that everything was being done to combat this unfair competition on the part of the United States. They detailed the number of presentations made on behalf of the Canadian apple exporter to the nation's capital.

And yet Hon. Douglas Abbott was unaware of the situation which has, to a great extent, imperilled the livelihood of thousands of apple producers in this country.

It would appear that the apple delegations had been unable to get past the minister of agriculture in Ottawa and when he said there was no help forthcoming that no other avenue of approach was left open.

We know that the minister of agriculture has been made acquainted with the helpless position of the Okanagan apple growers now hemmed in to the North American continent as far as markets are concerned. If Mr. Abbott was correct in his statement, the Canadian cabinet has never heard of the situation.

It never got beyond Jimmy Gardiner's desk.

PORTRAITS

Kathleen Snowden Adams
From South Africa to South Okanagan; from one gift cow to a Jersey herd; so runs Mrs. Adam's story.

Kathleen Snowden was born in the Transvaal in an old block house at Taphelkop. She remembers the sun-baked bricks that made the walls, and the small loopholes high up on the sides characteristic of forts.

Her father, Earnest Snowden, went there from England in a yeomanry battalion. Later he was one of Sir Robert Baden Powell's Scouts who finally became the South African Constabulary.

The young constable bought a farm at Reitfontein where he tried mixed farming. There were cattle and horses. Native labor was not co-operative, neither understanding nor believing in inoculation of animals. Locusts ate the crops. Altogether it was difficult.

Mrs. Snowden was the only English speaking woman in those parts, so the constabulary made the Snowden home their recreation headquarters.

Mr. Snowden was the school-teacher at Reitfontein, too, giving lessons in three languages. Boer taal, he taught, to the youngest pupils, English to the next grades, and Dutch to the higher grades.

One day some of the constabulary came with a cow for little Kay. It was a present to her, and gave her a lively, tangible interest in the farm.

Next she was off to England with her mother, whose health had broken down, and met relatives whom she had not seen before. One exciting evening in Yorkshire she was taken to a tremendous ball where many, many relatives were gathered. A splendid piper traversed the floor with kilt flying and bagpipes squealing, sending thrills up and down her spine. There was both awe and delight in her sensations and disappointingly an unfriendly little cousin declined to hold her hand through it all.

When the 'African' school term finished her father sold the farm, and her cow, joining his family in Red Deer, attended school there.

During World War I her father went overseas, and she went back to the ranch. When he was invalided home in 1919, hospitalized in Calgary, through all that winter she had thirty head of cattle to feed from stacks; cows to tend in the barn; and horses to look after. That wasn't all. She cut wood in the bush herself, going out with a team of horses, bringing it back, then sawing it with a buck or cross-cut saw. That was just plain hard work, and any girl of lesser stuff would have given it all up for something easier.

All this time she was taking a British Columbia high school correspondence course in the winter, and had teaching in the summer from university students sent to remote parts. She planned to enter a B.C. hospital to train as a nurse.

J. F. K. (Fred) English who taught school at Peachland, and who is a school inspector at Victoria now, was one from whom she had excellent help with her correspondence course when he was in that department.

In 1922 she entered Jubilee hospital, Victoria, school of nursing, graduating in 1925.

Dr. H. E. Young, then minister of health, wanted to interest girls in taking public health courses, so sent a few young graduates into places where health units were established. Kay Snowden worked for a year with the Saanich Health Centre. By living in the centre she saved enough money to go to UBC where she not only graduated with a public health nursing certificate in 1927, but also with second class honors.

Many jobs were open to these public health nurses. She had heard of the Okanagan Valley through Mary Miller of Peachland, a friend who was a VON in Vancouver who, like a real Okanaganite, praised the place and had pictures to amplify her stories.

When a post at Keremeos was offered the new district nurse, it was chosen as the most rural, away from the damp coast climate, and near the Okanagan.

For two years she was the DPHN there, and while she was looking for harmful germs in one way, Clarence Adams, a government fruit inspector was looking for destructive little bugs in another field.

In 1929 they married, coming to live at Summerland.

Their home is the former Hector Sutherland place in Peach Orchard, which they bought from A. W. Nisbet. By a sparkling stream, in green meadows having white birches making shade, their fine Jersey herd may wander. It is called the Glen Okanagan Dairy Farm, and it is under that name some of their cows are registered.

Two of their boys, Gerry and Don, attend Calgary Technical school; their daughter, Phyllis, graduates from high school this year; two younger sons, John and Brian are in the MacDonald school.

Mrs. Adams is known everywhere as a great worker and a staunch friend. She is a member of the Evening Branch of St. Stephen's W.A. and vice-president of the Local Association to the Girl Guides. She still likes country life and animals.

Two Millions for Penticton Building

PENTICTON—Building is underway or plans are fully advanced for structures which when completed in the next two years will be valued at $2 million. These projects include the arena valued at $225,000, the Prince Charles hotel at $335,000 and the new hospital at $1,150,000. Also nearing completion is the $100,000 Masonic Temple. Work has just begun on a $200,000 renovation and two-storey addition to the post office. The fire hall is valued at $50,000 and a new gymnasium-auditorium at $180,000.

You Now Know Where Your Taxes Go

THIS week we are privileged to publish the story of municipal expenditures for 1951.

In most communities we would not look upon it as a privilege but as a matter of public concern, but that has not been the case in Summerland.

For years the municipal council clutched the details of its probable expenditures to its collective bosom and refused to yield any information on probable expenditures apart from the total amounts.

This year, the 1951 municipal council has changed its policy. In effect, the municipal fathers have admitted that they never really did have anything to hide and are now coming right out in the open to tell the public how it can expect its revenues to be expended.

This is an important stride in the democratic handling of civic administration. It is especially necessary this year when the mill rate has taken such a big jump.

In a year of diminished returns in the face of ever-rising cost of living, there will be many disgruntled property owners when they are told what their tax bill will total. Through the medium of Summerland's hometown newspaper they are at last allowed to scrutinize the way in which their tax dollars are going to be spent.

Probably there will not be a great percentage of taxpayers who will make a close study of the figures. Most will be impressed at the time, will concede that costs are rising, utter a few derogatory phrases aimed at the generally high-rising cost of living and will pass on to other more pleasant subjects.

But the point is that for those who take a keen interest in municipal politics and want to know where their tax dollars are going, an opportunity has been given to obtain full information.

We are glad the municipal council has taken this step which we believe is a progressive action.

England where they lived for a couple of years and where her sister was born.

Again they were on the move. This time it was to Canada where her father had filed a homestead claim, preceding them to this country, eighty miles north-west of Calgary.

Western optimism could be the only reason why the place was called Big Prairie, because only six acres were cleared in the middle of the bush surrounding it.

Chester Reinertson lived around there at one time, and so did Fred Watson who was here for awhile some years ago.

Kay Snowden was tutored by her mother and for two years, while a companion for a child at

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Are you troubled with dandruff? Does falling hair spoil your appearance? Are you getting 'thin on top'? Do hair oils, massages, and baldness remedies find in you a ready customer?

Then cheer up, brother; think of the good old days in the golden west when Indians were more interested in white men's scalps than barbers are today, and most men were much less worried about losing their hair than about losing what was underneath it. Must have been quite an experience to be scalped and live, as some did; most were lucky enough to die under the operation. And it was a surprisingly common operation not so very long ago.

Recently I have been reliving the rugged days of pioneering in western America in a book called "Then and Now; or, 36 Years in the Rockies." The author came from Wales to the wilds of Montana in 1864, less than ninety years ago; and his stories of those early days make amazing reading.

Apparently you never knew from hour to hour how long your scalp was going to remain in your possession; Indians in bands and singly roamed over the plains at will, and the first settlers who moved beyond the outposts of civilization took their lives in their hands indeed.

The author lists no less than seventy-six men whom he knew of as having been killed by Indians during the 1860s and 1870s there in Montana, where there couldn't have been a great many white people altogether.

In 1869 a man named James Quail was killed half a mile from where the author was trying his hand at mining. In 1875 two prospectors stopped off at the Vaughn homestead on their way to hunt for gold, and bought from him some oats for their horses; five days later both had been killed by Indians.

That same year two brothers were cutting wood on opposite banks of the Sun River; a party of twelve Indians ambushed and murdered one brother and with the river between them, the other could only look on helplessly. A little retribution was taken that same summer when a rancher riding his range found an Indian calmly skinning one of said rancher's cows which he had just shot; the rancher just as calmly shot the Indian.

Though the Indian troubles in Montana culminated in the Custer Massacre of 1876, and after that the U.S. Army kept pretty strict watch on all red badmen—or bad redman—attacks by Indians on single white men did not cease for several years after.

In 1878 a farmer riding to work on a sheep-shearing station saw two Indians approaching him; one dismounted, came over to the white man, seized his foot and heaved him off his horse. He then took the white man's saddle, which was new, and put it on his own horse, and proceeded to jerk the white man's watch from his pocket. When the farmer resisted his robber, the Indian instantly loaded and raised his rifle; so the white man promptly lost interest in keeping his watch. The Indians then rode away, and the farmer decided that sheep raising in Montana was a more profitable industry for Indians, than for white men.

Several white men, Vaughn relates, were at different times caught by Indians, disarmed, and told to run for their lives, while the Indians took pot-shots at them. One Campbell, received a terrific kick as a starter, and when two years later he came face to face with the Indian who had kicked him, on the streets of Fort Benton, he seized him and dragged him into Baker's store. The Indian's red face paled as he stole himself for punishment; but the white man bought him a shirt and two blankets and showered him with kindness.

"If you hadn't kicked me so hard," he explained, "I don't think I would have been able to run fast enough to escape your bullets."

Which apparently much impressed the Indians, who were very friendly to Campbell from that time on. It was certainly an unusual bit of thoughtfulness on the part of the white man. Most of those early settlers shot Indians as readily as any dangerous wild animal, and scarcely considered them human.

Out door men fought with guns and knives and clubs, in those brave days, to save their scalps; we use costly patent oils and shampoos, applied by soft white hands in heated room. Ah, the deterioration of the modern age!

THIRTY YEARS AGO

With the arrival of the Sicamous on Tuesday evening began the thirteenth annual district convention of the WCTU when a large number of delegates disembarked and were received by local officers of the Union and introduced to various citizens who had undertaken to look after their material welfare during their stay for two days here. An address was given by Mrs. R. Arnot, district president, describing the life of the girls in the WCTU home in Vancouver. Mrs. Lillian Wright, provincial president, gave a splendid address on the work of the Union.

The Evans and adjacent properties at Trout Creek point, heretofore irrigated by the municipality, will be taken over by the Trout Creek Water Community, and all of Trout Creek Point will henceforth be under the one local system, according to arrangements concluded at the regular meeting of the municipal council on Tuesday.

Hon. J. D. McLean has been invited to formally open the new hospital on May 26. Mr. J. W. Jones, MLA, will also be asked to take part in the ceremonies. The Citizens' Band will be in attendance, and the ladies of the hospital auxiliary will receive and serve tea. It is expected that everything will be done to make it a red-letter day in the annals of Summerland, and all citizens are requested to make it a point to visit their hospital on that day.

The forty Summerland Boy Scouts have been working hard for two months to put on a good concert in the gym next Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Crego took the boat on Wednesday evening for Penticton where they are going to reside for the present. Mr. Crego having sold his business here to Mr. Scott Darkiss.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Final pools of Newtowns, Wincaps and Ben Davis have been closed, it is announced by the Summerland Co-operative, and cheques to the amount of approximately $12,000 are being mailed to local growers. Summerland district mourns the passing of a much-loved pioneer, Jeremiah H. Brown, who succumbed to internal injuries sustained in an accident, when he was struck in the abdomen by the handle of an axe. The late Mr. Brown would have been 89 on Oct. 24, this year. He came to Summerland in 1808. Citizens attended his funeral en masse to pay last tribute to his memory.

Summerland was given an unique privilege in being able to witness the splendid results of Miss V. Jones' work in physical culture and folk dances at the Empire hall. Miss Jones took part with the high school students in some of the numbers, and appreciation was evidenced in the rounds of applause.

Junk Day recently conducted in Summerland was well worth while, evidenced by the fact that the committee of the board of trade in charge of finances in connection with the event was able to hand over $67 to the hospital.

Mr. G. Marshall and Mr. G. S. Drawatt returned home on Saturday from Wenatchee. They made the return trip in ten hours.

Mr. Harman of the Victoria Cafe leaves on Monday for Vancouver. He expects to return in a few days.

"The Male Animal" Funniest Comedy to Come Here in Years

Described as the funniest comedy since Life with Father, the UBC Players' club presentation of The Male Animal in the new school auditorium tomorrow night, Friday, May 11, is expected to draw a large and enthusiastic audience.

The UBC players group is being sponsored in Summerland by the Rotary Club and entire net proceeds will be devoted to the Youth Centre.

The plot of the play revolves around a college professor's desire to read a certain letter to his English class and the results of an unwise editorial on the letter in the campus newspaper.

Around this central theme of campus politics are gathered a series of love affairs and the excitement of the Homecoming Game. The play is full of hilarious characters, from the slightly mad leader of the college band to an old football star who can't forget he was once world-famous and now spends all his time working out new strategies for football games.

All these people are thrown together in the frenzied moments of Homecoming, with sometimes surprising and always riotous results. Though the play is set on a college campus, the humor is never limited to "college humor". It is always fast in pace, and the humor never lags.

The play has been a success wherever it has been produced. Its last production, in London last year, ran for 10 months to full houses in London's West End. In connection with this, it is interesting to know that the lead was played by a former member of the UBC Players' Club, Art Hill, who many will remember in the play "The Rivals" in 1942, and as the lead in "Berkely Square" in 1946.

The play was such a success in England that Art Hill is now one of the new stars of the English stage.

Phillip Keatley, president of the UBC Players' club stars in the role of Tommy Turner, the youthful, meek university professor who turns into a lion as a result of threats to his academic freedom and his academic bliss.

Sheila Cameron has been cast as the professor's pretty wife whom he suspects of being smitten with the football hero of their undergraduate days.

Sandy Hanson will be seen as the Lothario-like ex-grid star, and others in the cast are Wendy Martin, Don Withrow, Frank McMaster, Angela Wood, Elizabeth Davis, Barbara Barnes, and Norman Young.

Monday morning an assembly was held at which Dr. J. C. Wilcox, president of the Summerland Cancer Society and Mrs. O'Mahony, secretary, presented Bertha Perritt with a cheque as prize for her winning Cancer essay in the recent Cancer essay contest: "Cancer, what to do about it."

Rotarians Given Brief Glimpse of People of Norway

A brief glimpse of Norway was given the Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday evening at the Nu-Way Annex when Harry Hansen who was a visitor to his native land last year, spoke shortly on the main points of the land of skiers.

He declared the people are no different in Norway than they are in this country and some over there even like to work. However the people in the country do not have the conveniences enjoyed by home owners in rural areas of Canada.

In cities, most persons live in apartment blocks, owning their own suites in these four-storey buildings. Cities are not laid out in square blocks but streets are inclined to wander in a manner entirely different from this country.

A labor government, in many ways quite similar to that of England, is in power. Railways, the street car system and a hospital insurance plan are all government-operated.

Taxes are never deducted from the source in Norway and collections are always a year behind although there is now a movement to try and catch up.

Rationing of coffee, and meats cut down on the standard of living and Norwegians have to conserve more than is done in Canada, he observed. Garbage, for instance, is carefully wrapped and kept for disposal to the farmers.

He declared that Norway's coastline being quite similar to that of the Pacific Coast of B.C., and also compared business qualifications, cost of car licences and snow con-

BOY SCOUT NEWS

1st Summerland Troop

It is now two weeks since a regular troop meeting owing to the weekend camp and the hall being used this week for a musical recital. However, there will be a regular meeting next week, Tuesday, May 15, and a full turnout is required in order to practice concert items.

At next week's meeting arrangements will be made regarding the Camporee at Loomis, Washington. The cost for this will be one dollar per boy for return transportation, plus food, of approximately two dollars. Every boy must have full uniform including stockings and shorts.

It is hoped that every boy will have gained at least one badge before the concert, and in case anyone does not have a PO & R there will be some for sale at the next meeting.

Notices: Next meeting, Tuesday, May 15. Full uniform. Duty patrol, Buffaloes.—D. V. Fisher.

2nd, Summerland Troop

The last weeks have been eventful ones. Two new scouts have joined the troop, Ken Pennington and Robert Monford. Also, a new patrol was formed with Gordon Underwood as patrol leader and Harold Biollo as his second. They are the Beaver patrol.

Next week we are going to eat our supper out in the hills.

Don't be surprised if some Friday night when you are in town you see a number of boys walking, then running and then walking again. These will just be the Scouts practising what is called the Scout pace. This pace was designed to carry a boy one mile in 12 minutes. In this way if a boy knows what time it is at his departure and knows the distance he is to travel he will know the time. Last week Roy Blagborne came the closest to doing the mile in 12 minutes. He was five seconds slow.

Our next regular meeting will be on May 10, with the Lions as the duty patrol.—D.G.

Cub Calls

1st Summerland Cub Pack

The pack is growing steadily, but can still accept a few more boys before summer camp. Patrol Leader Victor Smith is now acting as Cub instructor and another Scout instructor is being obtained for the Cubs. We are sorry that Instructor George Pohlmann has left town for the summer.

Parents of Cubs are asked to see that their boys turn out to meetings with shorts and socks. Shorts and socks are shown in the catalogue each boy has received and may be ordered from the mail order stores in Vancouver. Full uniforms are required for the concert May 20.—J. F. Bowen.

Teen Town

There will be two dances this week-end—one on Friday night and one on Saturday night. Admission is 25c for members, 35c for non members. All the visiting track teams are invited.

The square dancing teams are leaving Friday. We wish them success in their dancing. They will be back on Sunday.

We would like as many as possible to help decorate on Thursday night after square dancing practice.

We hope to make the dance on Friday a success, so that most of them will come to the one on Saturday night. So we will see all the Teen Towners out both nights (we hope).

GUIDE NEWS

2nd Company

Last Friday's meeting was held out of doors - the tenderfoots passed their "laying trails" test and the three types of out door fires were demonstrated by the Captain.

A hike up the mountain was also part of the programme.

The latter part of the meeting was in the form of a farewell party for Miss Volva Wright who has been assisting Captain Atkinson for the past seven months. Miss Wright was presented with a silver bracelet from the company in appreciation of her help and the patrol leaders assisted in serving refreshments which included a large prettily decorated cake with "Good Luck" inscribed on the top. Miss Wright expressed her thanks to the guides and her regret at leaving the company and the work in which she was taking such an interest.

The meeting closed with Campfire, taps and the Guide Prayer, Miss Wright taking the salute in the form of a farewell to the Company.

Mrs. A. H. Shepherd of Vancouver has come to Summerland to make her new home.

Legion to Press Valley Case For Ottawa Tree-Kill Aid

Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion was impressed recently with the necessity of action on the part of the Dominion government to assist growers who lost heavily in the 1949-50 winter kill of fruit trees.

Zone Commanders McTavish of Salmon Arm and Calvert of Summerland presented the Okanagan's case to a recent meeting of the provincial command executive with the result that the presentation is being placed before Dominion command this month in Ottawa.

It is hoped that Dominion command Canadian Legion will take the case before the federal cabinet before the present session ends.

Many Legion members, just starting out as fruit orchardists, were badly hit by the winter kill it was stated. Summerland Legion members heard this report at the monthly meeting last night when it was also stated that arrangements are underway to send cigarettes and comforts parcels to any Summerland men with Canada's forces overseas. The Legion Ladies' Auxiliary is co-operating with the Legion branch in this respect.

Graham Kincaid, zone commander-elect, from Penticton, was present at last night's session and impressed on local Legionnaires the importance of attending the provincial convention in Penticton starting May 20.

The Sunday evening opening ceremony which will be held in the Empress theatre, Penticton, and is open to all ex-service men and the public if there is sufficient room, is particularly impressive, he stated.

Comrade Stone, Unemployment Insurance Commission supervisor for B.C. and a Legionnaire who has had close connections with Legion work in this province also spoke shortly.

He urged attendance at all conventions, whether they are district regional conferences, provincial or national conventions. Comrade Stone also warned members not to start any extensive building program which would "bog them down" and not allow them leeway for normal Legion activities.

These two statements highlighted a brief discussion on parks and beaches at Tuesday's council session.

Parks and Beaches Are in Good Shape

"Peach Orchard park is looking lovely," remarked Councillor Eric Tait.

"Powell Beach never looked better at this time of year," was Councillor Norman Holmes' rejoinder.

Reeve C. E. Bentley had queried board plans for Powell Beach roads and was assured by Councillor Norman Holmes, parks commissioner, that his body wishes to close the south road and widen the north road for two-way traffic.

These two statements highlighted a brief discussion on parks and beaches at Tuesday's council session.

Comrade Stone also warned members not to start any extensive building program which would "bog them down" and not allow them leeway for normal Legion activities.

WORLD'S DEADLIEST—The RCAF's first-line fighter, the famed Canadair-built F-86 Sabre jet interceptor, "sits" for its first aerial portrait. The world's fastest and deadliest plane was throttled to a walk by Canadair test pilot Glen Lynes high over Montreal for this picture. Its final test completed, the aircraft was turned over to the RCAF. Note the angle of the wings, swept back 35 degrees to reduce shock waves in the sonic range.

Meat Markets Close Earlier On Saturdays

Licensed butchers in West Summerland business area have petitioned council to amend the shops closing bylaw to have all meat markets close at 7 o'clock Saturday nights.

The four petitioners, Jimmy's Meateteria, Frozen Food Lockers, Quality Meat Market and Verrier's Meat Market are the only firms licensed as butchers although other stores handle meat for sale. The latter stores, however, are covered by a general licence and are not specifically called meat dealers.

If 75 percent or more of one particular retail trade petition for a change in closing hours then council is compelled by law to acquiesce, it was learned from a perusal of the municipal act on Tuesday at regular council session.

Councillor Eric Tait had moved that the application be accepted and the change made, but had received no seconder. Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith then pointed out that council must make the change if the necessary percentage of retailers seek a change.

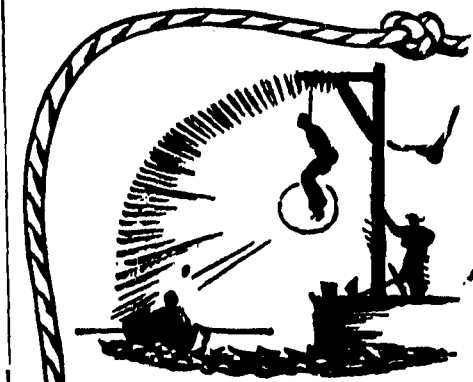

Councillor F. E. Atkinson voiced objection to the meat retailers' move, claiming that it worked against the farmer who would find it difficult to get into town by seven o'clock Saturday night.

It was pointed out that butchers argue that it takes an hour and a half to two hours to clean their premises after regular closing hours and thus it is very late on Saturday night with regular nine o'clock closing.

OFFICE ON ROAD

Council recently discovered that the Summerland Auto Court, operated by J. H. Leveille, has its office on a road allowance in lower town. Council has informed Mr. Leveille that he will be required to pay $15 per year in lieu of taxes on this property.

PLANS OLD COUNTRY HOLIDAY Municipal Electrician T. P. Thornber has been granted two weeks' holiday and six weeks' leave of absence from July 15 to September 15. He plans to travel to the Old Country.

Want Union to Pay Transformer Cost

One of the points which was noted by municipal council when signing a wage agreement with the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union was that the union agreed to stand back of the men in the case of any loss through negligence.

On Tuesday, Councillor F. E. Atkinson made this statement to council and declared that one 15 kva transformer had been found to have been installed without oil. It is costing $160 to have the transformer rewound.

Council considers the union should repay the municipality for this expense and is continuing to negotiate with union members in this regard.

Square Dance Team off for Haney Friday

Tomorrow a group of Summerland high school students members of Summerland Teen Town head for Haney in the Fraser Valley to participate for the first time in the Pacific Coast Teen Town Square Dance Festival.

This festival is open to all Teen Town clubs, youth groups and high schools on the Pacific Coast, including Washington, Oregon, California and British Columbia.

There are three competition classes, the grand championship, Teen Town and high school contests.

Les Gould, Teen Town adviser, is conducting the group to Haney, while the group has been trained by Mr. Peter Greer of the high school teaching staff. Mr. Greer is unable to make the trip as he is needed to coach Summerland athletes in the AOTS invitational track meet.

Leighton Nesbitt is caller and square dancers are Rose Harrison, Merle Heavysides, Shirley Gardiner, Olga Libicz, Don Blacklock, Ross Axworthy, Barry Wilson and Herb Arndt.

An orchestra, consisting of Fred Gale, Jake Knippelberg and Marcel Bonthoux is accompanying the young square dancers.

A youth for Christ rally in the high school auditorium next Tuesday evening features Bill Baum (above), a Jew born in Germany who was forced to leave his native country at the age of 19 because of Nazi persecution. While serving as a public relations photographer in the U.S. Army, he was invited to be a guest of a G.I. gospel team, and was so enthralled by their testimonies that he enrolled in a bible college and since has been on a nationwide tour, having travelled over 15,000 miles through the States, Canada and Alaska.

Little Danger of Flood This Spring

Trout Creek came up twelve inches on Monday evening and is running at a rapid rate but there is little danger of any flooding, it is stated here.

A snow survey bulletin issued at May 1 indicates that the low precipitation in April, combined with warm weather has greatly reduced any thought of floods.

Eneas Creek, however, has been running at full capacity this week and only with difficulty has the narrow channel been able to take the flow.

Between No. 1 and No. 2 dam a week ago Percy Wilson found snow up to his waist.

Had 61 Fish Before Season Opened

Game Warden Adam Monk was prosecutor in Summerland police court last week when Gerda Felker of Summerland was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate H. Sharm for fishing without a licence.

Although not specified in the charge, the game warden testified that Miss Felker had been fishing in closed season at Garnet Valley dam, was using more than one line in the boat, had several undersized fish in her possession and was somewhat over the limit in her bag. She had 61 fish in her possession when apprehended, Mr. Monk charged.

FISHING AT TWIN LAKES

Game Warden Adam Monk told The Review this morning that fishermen at Twin Lakes had good luck last weekend, taking about 300 fish from that district on troll.

PAYMENTS SHOW INCREASE

Despite economic conditions in this district, payments of the first notice irrigation rates were better than those of a year ago, Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith informed council on Tuesday.

WANTS TO RENT GRADER

An application by A. E. Trayler for rental of the municipal grader has been held over by council pending further investigation of licensing requirements.

Mr. Wm. Maier has sold his home in Peach Orchard to Mr. and Mrs. Williams, who have been living in Trout Creek. The Maier family has taken up temporary residence in a house on KVR road.

New Constable Stationed Here

RCMP Constable R. W. (Dick) Green has arrived in Summerland to assist Constable I. G. Thorsteinson in policing not only Summerland municipality but the immediate district, as well.

As there is only one police car available here both constables will work together in policing the municipality and district instead of splitting the work definitely into two classifications, Constable Thorsteinson explains.

Constable Green is a native of Newfoundland and served for 4 1/2 years with the Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve). On his discharge he joined the RCMP and was stationed at Salmo, B. C. immediately prior to being transferred to Summerland last week.

Kercher Likely to Build Substation

Sketch plans for the new Summerland electrical substation which will be located directly south of the present stepdown station, were laid before council on Tuesday. They had been prepared by H. A. Blakeborough, Kelowna, consulting engineer. These plans were scrutinized by council members along with Foreman E. Kercher, who declared his willingness to proceed with the construction of the building if the council wished to undertake the work without letting a contract.

Mr. Douglas Bridger of Vancouver spent the weekend at his home here. It was reported last week that Mr. and Mrs. Bridger had moved to Vancouver. This report was premature, as the family will not be moving to the coast until Mr. Bridger is able to obtain suitable accommodation there.

TEA TO OBSERVE HOSPITAL DAY

The regular meeting of the hospital auxiliary on Monday evening, May 7, in the parish hall welcomed Mrs. D. Lancaster as a new member.

The secretary was asked to write a letter of appreciation to the Jaycees for their work in painting at the hospital which has added so much to the appearance.

Plans were made for a tea and sale of home cooking in the IOOF hall on National Hospital Day, May 12. The oxygen tent will be on exhibit and its uses and method of working explained, which it was thought will be of considerable interest.

For the June meeting members will meet at the hospital at 7 p.m. to see all the improvements that have been made to the hospital during the year, including renovation of the kitchen.

The president, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox was in the chair, and there was a good attendance.

St. Stephen's WA Holds Spring Tea

Saturday afternoon, May 5, the WA of St. Stephen's church held its annual spring tea and sale of work in the parish hall. The event was opened by Canon F. V. Harrison and guests were graciously received by the president, Mrs. Harrison.

Tea was served from small tables each having a bouquet of colorful spring flowers, with larger vases of spring blossoms used as further decoration in the hall. Mrs. C. Clark convened the needlework counter assisted by Mrs. Alice Nicholson, while Mrs. A. F. Calder was in charge of home cooking, with help from Mrs. Blanche.

Miss M. Cartwright was in charge of the sale of an interesting collection of miscellaneous articles.

Furthering tea preparations and serving were Mrs. George Wade, Mrs. F. Haddrell, Mrs. Mellor, Mrs. Wilburn, Mrs. H. Barr and Mrs. E. Hack.

Treasurer's report at the annual meeting of the Summerland branch, Canadian Institute for the Blind, given by Mrs. M. Robinson, showed that $541.25 had been raised here this year.

Of this $135.50 was realized from the annual Tag Day, and $405.75 in contributions following appeal made by letters.

Though the attendance was very small at the meeting, six organizations were represented, and it is known that there is continuous interest in the Society's work.

The chairman, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson discussed the local use of talking books for those who cannot see to read. Secretary, Mrs. A. K. Macleod read the annual report of the executive officer, Mr. Ogilvy, and that of the field officer, Mr. R. Hembling, Penticton, who was out of the district and unable to attend the meeting.

Capt. J. E. Jenkinson is vice-chairman.

Discarded Nylons Useful for Tying Tomato Plants

Do you garden lovers know that there is a whole summer's wear in your discarded nylon hose?

When you next set out to stake tomato plants, it can be a pleasure instead of a chore, and no expense entailed. Simply cut 1 1/2 or 2 inch strips the full length of a pair of discarded stockings—that is from top to toe. (Rayon or silk stockings will also do, but they have less strength.)

When pulled lengthwise, the strips readily roll the raw edges inward, and form ideal "ties". In fact, you will be rewarded with lengths almost twice as long as you cut. The lengths extend, become marvellously soft, elastic, and protective.

When tied and supported with the nylon, tomato stalks and branches respond gently to brisk winds, with no harm to themselves and are quite similar to that of the superelastic branches of gingko trees which seem to have built-in shock absorbers to withstand strong winds.

Once you have tried this method of solving a garden problem you are not likely to revert to other means. When autumn comes, there may be less material for hooked rugs to show at fall fairs, but there are likely to be many large tomatoes.

Will Dedicate Oak Sanctuary Chair

The oak Sanctuary Chair given in loving memory of Helen Iona and Ralph Frank Theed will be dedicated at the morning service at eleven o'clock at St. Stephen's church on Sunday, May 13, Whit Sunday.

An invitation is extended to friends of the late Mr. and Mrs. Theed to be present at this ceremony.

Song for Mother's Day

Now when the morning lights your hair

Let me lift it and let me pull
The strong comb through it while you stare
Into the mirror brimming full
Of your bright image. Let me brush Flowing waves of it smooth as push.

Down your impatient back it flows,
Over my fingers weaves and pours,
While the brush pauses and my heart knows
Years when my hair was just like yours.

Just like yours. (With a whispering hush
Like wind over high wheat moves the brush.)

Then it was I who, poised for flight,
Held by the fragrance-releasing brush,
Leaned in the golden morning light
Close to my mirrored sheen and flush,

While my mother with murmuring care
Remembered years of her shining hair.

—Dorothy Roberts

VISITING HERE—

Miss Ruth Nakamura is expected home in a few days, having completed the UBC term.

Mr. Richard Yamabe and Mr. Jim Towgood have returned to their homes in Trout Creek from UBC.

Miss Mary Ward, Miss Julia Hack, Miss Valerie Tingley and Miss Miticho Imayoshi are among those who are at their homes here from UBC.

Miss Winnifred Harvey and her brother-in-law, Mr. Frank Parker of Vancouver, were weekend guests at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Bertha Harvey.

Miss Barbara Munn and a friend from nursing school at St. Paul's hospital arrived on Sunday evening to stay until the next day at the home of Miss Munn's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. B. Munn.

Mr. Kit Muirhead called on friends here last weekend on his way home to Kimberley from UBC. He was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Beech, Penticton, over the weekend.

Mr. Ron MacRae was home for a few days at the end of last week having finished for the year at UBC and left on Sunday for the forestry camp at Hope, B.C., for the summer months.

Mr. Gil Jacobs, Mr. Richard Palmer and Mr. Arthur Towgood are taking a special two weeks' draughting course at UBC. Mr. Jacobs was in last weekend to pitch baseball for the senior Summerland team and is expected next weekend, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wels came in from Vancouver last weekend and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Milne. On Tuesday Mr. Wels had an operation at the local hospital, and is progressing nicely. When he is able to travel Mr. and Mrs. Wels will go on to the prairies on a trip, and are uncertain where they will make their future home.

HOME AGAIN

Mr. Reid A. Johnston returned from Winnipeg on Monday evening, having attended a conference on behalf of the order of Railroad Telegraphers.

Silk Screen Prints Praised at Show

A recent issue of the Edmonton Journal carried an interesting article by F. Norbury on a show of Serigraphs, or silk screen prints, which was held at the Museum of Fine Arts in the Alberta city last month.

Mrs. A. J. Mann, who spent some of the winter months in Moose Jaw at the home of her mother, Mrs. Grayson, was among those exhibiting at the Edmonton show.

Mrs. Mann paints under the name of Vaughan Grayson, and the paper says this of her entries: "V. Grayson has two tortured tree studies of quality, and an excellent scene in the finished Rattlesnake Point, Kalamalka Lake, B. C.

Plan Old Country Tour This Summer

Mr. and Mrs. J. Duguid, who have lived in West Summerland for nearly two years and made many friends during their stay here left last week for Stettler, Alta. There they will visit at the home of Mrs. Duguid's brother before going to the coast to sail on May 25 for a six months' tour of Scotland and England.

On their return they will spend some time with their son and their daughter in Ontario with plans for their future home indefinite just now.

While here Mrs. Duguid was active in the WMS and other work of St. Andrew's church while Mr. Duguid was a member of the choir in St. Andrew's, a member of the Singers' and Players' club, and in Masonic circles.

Mrs. Duguid is a niece of Mrs. S. Angove.

Ontario Grower Says "Subsidized" Apples From B.C. Cut Market

Claims that B.C. apples undercut the Ontario markets and forced down the price of Ontario-grown apples was made in the April 11 issue of the Free Press Weekly Prairie Farmer, where Writer "Chesterbloom", in ascertaining factors concerning Ontario's proposed marketing act, quotes S. Murray Clark, Liberal MLA for Essex South, a tobacco grower active in the marketing agency drive.

This Ontario marketing act is designed to provide that marketing agencies, having fixed a minimum price, could enforce such a minimum price on all like produce imported in Ontario from other provinces or countries.

Mr. Clark was quoted as stating that this was only justifiable protection for the Ontario growers and cited the uneconomic price cutting in the apple growing industry in Ontario which has no such organized marketing agency.

"The British Columbia apple growers were subsidized last year," he said, "to the extent of $2,000,000. One result was that recently the British Columbia apple agencies sent 100 carloads of B.C. McIntosh apples into Ontario at a price fob British Columbia of $1 a box. The freight on these apples was $1.06 making the price in Ontario $2.06. Before their arrival Ontario McIntosh apples were selling at $2.75 a box. The apple growers had to cut their price by 75 cents to compete with these subsidized B.C. apples."

Mr. Clark was further quoted as saying the effect of this would be to spur the Ontario apple growers into organizing Ontario agencies to prevent such a future price debacle.

Last month, at the fruit growers' session in the IOOF hall, George E. Brown, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. secretary, declared that importations from the United States had already depressed the Ontario market before B.C. shipments were sent there. He declared that the price levels had already dropped and that B.C. had not been the cause of this deflation.

It has been emphatically denied that any subsidy was given on these apples or any apples from the 1950 crop season.

Bonar Sutherland Trying to Locate Plasma Substitute

G. Bonar Sutherland, son of Mrs. Mable Sutherland and the late J. R. Sutherland, who formerly lived in Peach Orchard, has been named as one of three graduate assistants in research aimed at determining suitability of a number of materials—some of them standard equipment in any kitchen—as potential substitutes for blood plasma.

This is to be done by Stanford Medical School physiologists under a research contract received by the university from the American Office of Naval Research.

This is part of a nation-wide program designed to stockpile a suitable transfusion substitute. Certain plasma substitutes now available include, among others, gelatin, pectin, gum acacia, ptyvinyl pyrrolidone, and dextran, a beet byproduct. Gelatin is familiar to any housewife who makes jelly, as is pectin. None of these known plasma substitutes can at present equal plasma in efficiency. The Stanford workers hope to determine what is wrong with them and what can be done to improve them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonar Sutherland are living in Palo Alto. Mr. Sutherland's mother who spent part of the winter with them expects to return to British Columbia

NOTES from PARLIAMENT HILL

(By O. L. JONES, MP for Yale)

On Friday, April 27, Mr. Gardiner confirmed the price of butter would be set at 58c per pound, for No. 1 creamery solids at Montreal. The policy of the board will continue through the dairy years of 1951, 1952 and 1953 to purchase butter at the above price and distribute the butter obtained during the high-production summer months through the trade, during the low production winter months at prices which are considered fair to the consumer.

Further, the minister announced that the government has asked the dairy products board to make a survey of the carry-over as of December 1st in each year, and if it found that there is not sufficient butter to carry the consumers through to April 1st, with a normal carry-over, that the board negotiate with those countries whose butter is admitted to Canada on arrangement at the prevailing duty, for any amount required to distribute through the trade on the same price arrangement as Canadian butter.

It is expected that this policy will result in the farmer receiving a fair return throughout his high production summer season, and that the consumer will be assured a fair price during the high cost winter season.

The British Columbia Telephone Company's bill, which seeks to increase its capital from the present $25,000,000 to $75,000,000, was again before the house.

Members representing the area in which this company operates its services had a great deal to say about the matter, and registered strong objections to such a large increase at the present time. It is contended that it is too much of an increase to be granted at this time, when the government, because of defence needs, is taking control over the expansion of industry and trying to prevent goods in short supply being used for purposes that are not essential. The views of the City of Vancouver were expressed by Mr. Howard Green and Mr. Angus MacInnis. Vancouver hopes that either the bill will be blocked until B.C. Telephone Company promises to change its habits or that parliament will give new guidance as to how the transport board should view inter-corporation arrangements when zone rates are next under review.

Evidence was produced to show the complicated set-up of this company, with its affiliates and subsidiaries, parent company, etc., each presumably taking a bite of the cake produced by the users of the service.

For several years now it has been well known that the Canadian National Railways were operating at a profit, but that the loss of forty to fifty million dollars annually was incurred by its excessive burden of debt, most of it the result of the high price paid for the stocks and shares of the bankrupt and defunct companies that formerly operated this railway.

The Canadian National Railway's overall 1950 deficit of $3,261,000 probably will be the government line's last red-ink entry in a high-revenue year.

The government is taking steps to clear away the clutter of ancient debts that has dragged the CNR into the red steadily, even in times of buoyant operating returns such as last year's record high. Plans are to do this at the current session of parliament through setting up a new capital structure for the $2,500,000,000 company.

The new set-up recommended by the Royal Commission on transportation, slicing the CNR's annual fixed charges drastically, would have left it with a surplus of more than $14,000,000 for 1950. However, the debt-burdened capital structure drew off all of the company's $42,416,000 that was available for interest and left it $3,261,000 short of meeting the interest obligations.

From this you will gather that the new policy should place the CNR on a sound paying basis.

One hundred and fifty members of parliament visited Toronto for a long weekend, as the guests of the board of trade and the city council. The trip had been arranged with care and was carried out like clock-work, allowing us time to visit the Massey-Harris Company factory, the Canada Packers Limited, A. V. Roe Canada Limited, the Toronto Harbour Commission, Hart House, Sunnybrook hospital, Maple Leaf Gardens, the art gallery and the new underground railway.

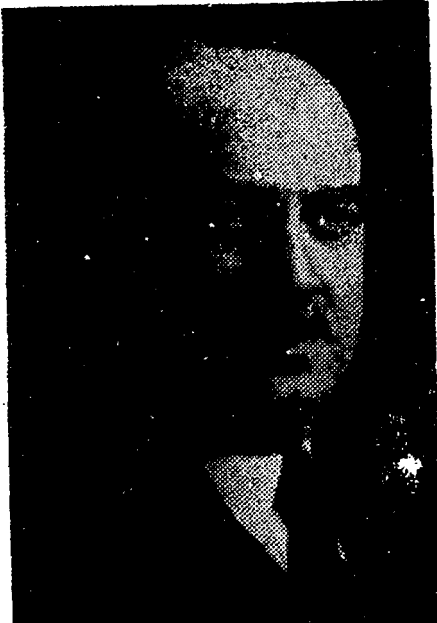

All members were deeply impressed with the progress made in Toronto, especially the Regent Park development. This project is one of the first joint undertakings looking towards the removal of slum dwellings and replacing them by fully modern low-rental housing units, and it reflects great credit on the City of Toronto for taking this progressive step in the removal of a large section of slum area.

On Monday, after our return, some members who had not already spoken on Mr. Drew's motion regarding cost of living, had an opportunity to do so.

Mr. Percy Wright charged that the house is allowing monopolies to have an undue effect on the cost of living, and I quote Mr. Wright:

"I have made that statement on more than one platform and I am making it in this house today. Not one major industry will be investigated. The tobacco industry has never been investigated. The other day the minister brought down the budget and increased the tax on cigarettes by 3 cents. Nevertheless people have to pay 4 cents more, 25 percent more than the increase in the budget. When the minister of finance (Mr. Abbott) was presented with the facts he said: I have nothing to do with it. That is the companies' business. We cannot interfere with their business.

"Why have we got the Combines Investigation Act if we cannot interfere with some of these things in order to find out whether there is any reason at all for such advances? Certainly it is up to the government to see that the people as a whole get a fair deal. They should see to it that when they impose an excise tax or some other tax people will not have to pay not only the tax but an additional 20 or 25 percent to some industry which may exercise complete control over that particular industry.

"We had an investigation of the farm machinery industry before the war. It was proven that a combine existed not only by the investigation which a committee of this house made but also by the investigation made by a committee of the Saskatchewan legislature. It was not a CCF committee either. It was the good Liberal government that was in power there at that time, and which carried on the investigation.

"In the report of the committee they indicated that in their opinion there was a combine. There was never any action taken under the combines investigation act to investigate the industry, nor will there ever be any taken as long as we have this government in power at Ottawa. They will investigate the smaller companies whose actions only affect a small part of the total cost of the goods we have to buy. Until there is some control over the inflationary spiral, some control of companies that are taking advantage of the inflationary special, our cost of living will continue to rise."

Census Count

Farmers Can Help Make the 1951 Agriculture Census a Success

Farmers can aid greatly in the work of the 1951 census to be taken in June, by having answers ready for the enumerator. To facilitate this, copies of the farm schedules will be distributed in advance to all farmers on mail delivery routes, and will be available to others at their local post offices.

In the first place, the enumerator will ask for the legal description for each parcel of land operated by the farmer and whether the land is owned or rented. The farmer will then be asked the acreage of each crop for harvest in 1951, and the acreage harvested and production of each crop in 1950.

Questions on acreages and value of production of fruits and vegetables will be asked of those farmers who specialize in growing these commodities. The value of field crops sold in 1950 will be asked.

West led ♠ Q, which held the trick, and followed with ♠ J, covered with ♠ K and East's ♠ 10. Declarer avoided the common error of covering the first honour led. The Club return was won by South and his ♠ K was taken by West, who led ♠ 9 to South's ♠ 10. East declined to play ♠ K when ♠ 10 was finessed at the next trick, but South did not fall for this ruse. He cashed his top Diamonds and Clubs and then led ♠ 2 to East's ♠ 10, forcing a Heart return that gave him nine tricks in all.

The farmer will be asked the number and value of farm implements on his farm. The number of each class of live stock will also be asked, and the value of sales of live stock and live stock products in 1950.

Of special importance, too, will be questions on numbers of live stock sold, the number slaughtered on the farm for sale and home use. Production and sale of milk in the month of May will be asked, and the number of pounds of butter and cheese made on the farm, as well as the amount of milk fed to live stock and used in the farm home in May.

To obtain the value of products consumed on the farm, the enumerator will also ask the value of the home-consumed farm vegetables.

Most of these questions will be easy for the farmer to answer, but some will require some figuring out. It will add greatly to the value of the census and save the farmer's and enumerator's time if all farmers would prepare answers to the questions outlined above before the enumerator arrives.

How many farmers are there in Canada at present, what is their value, and how does the number and value compare with ten or twenty years ago? The information will be tabulated and published by provinces, and by municipalities and counties within provinces. For the first time, it will cover the farms of Newfoundland.

From 1901 to 1941, according to the farm census of those years, the number of occupied farms in Canada increased from 511,073 to 732,832, or by somewhat over two-fifths. During the same period the area in farms rose almost three-fold, from 63.4 million acres to 174 million acres, while the improved land—that is, the land used for crops, pasture, and orchards—slightly more than tripled, increasing from 32.2 to 91.6 million acres.

The greatest expansion in the forty years took place in the prairie provinces, where the number of farms rose from 55,186 to 296,469, the total area in farms from 15.4 to 120 million acres, and the area of improved land from 5.6 to 65.5 million acres.

Quebec was next in extension of farm area with a rise in number of farms from 141,110 to 154,700, in total farm area from 14.4 to 18.1 million acres and in improved land from 7.4 to 9.1 million acres.

In British Columbia the number of farms increased more sharply from 6,501 to 26,934, with the total area in farms rising from 1.5 to 4 million acres, but the improved land expanding only from 473,000 to 892,100 acres. In the Maritime provinces the number of farms and the total improved farm areas declined, while in Ontario the farm areas increased slightly, but the number of farms fell.

In 1941 the average value of Canada's occupied farm lands and buildings was approximately $17 per acre, the land being valued at $1,953 million and the buildings at $1,077 million. Land values vary considerably in Canada. In some localities the value is as high as $1,000 an acre; in others, the ruling price is as low as $5 per acre.

There have been many changes in the conditions affecting agriculture since 1941 and the 1951 census may be expected to reveal many striking contrasts in overall values and altered values for particular regions.

Floor Price Sought by Producers

PENTICTON—John Third presented a brief calling for a guaranteed floor price for the fruit grower when the fifth in fifteen meetings called throughout the province by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture was held here last week.

C. E. S. Walls, secretary of the federation, is holding these meetings to compile a policy for agriculture, as proposed by Hon. H. R. Bowman, minister of agriculture.

Growers are faced with fixed costs, crop or no crop, and therefore should have a floor price, Mr. Third stated. Growers in many cases have to wait eight months for their crop payments and can easily go broke in that time without realizing their situation.

Mr. Walls warned that there might be a danger that the price would be set too high and so increase the possibility of people flocking into the farming industry. "It does not apply so much to fruit growers but there is a danger in the case of the poultry industry. Too many farmers might result in an export surplus, which is what we are trying to avoid."

"Personally, I would suggest that first a clarification of price controls should be made. We should try to get a formula drawn up to get a fair price established. However, that is more a matter for the federal government rather than the provincial body," he said.

The brief, which was approved by growers at the meeting, includes potential plans for a new government approach to the marketing problems. It recommended that a government agency should study future markets and, from knowledge gleaned, advise growers as to the type of produce to be planted. The agency should also act in a direct advisory capacity rather than be "a clipping service" as it is now. New sub-departments for the agriculture branch of the government are suggested to guide settlers and advise them on the best areas for growing based on type of soil and availability of markets for their produce.

The suggested policy also advocates long-term loans for the purchase of machinery and the rehabilitation of farms and orchards. Wherever possible, machinery pools are advised.

Other recommendations are for the continuation of the junior farmers' education by an association for farmers in their late teens and early twenties. It is also suggested that demonstration schools should be set up in order to give future farmers and growers practical experience in addition to the theory taught in the agricultural colleges. Another item of importance is the proposed establishment of a veterinarian's branch at UBC.

Criticizes Kelowna For Contract Delay

KELOWNA—West-Kootenay Power & Light Co. general manager, R. G. Anderson, has criticized the city council for not agreeing to pass on the decrease in power rates allowed by the new agreement, before July 1. "I consider it to be contrary to the spirit of the contract signed between us which contemplated a reduction being passed on to the consumers within a reasonable time after signing the contract," Mr. Anderson stated.

Summerland made a similar agreement last fall and passed on the saving to the consumers with the first payment due in January, 1951.

OIL MAKES A COUNTRY STRONG

"SURE... I WAS HERE WHEN IT STARTED!"

You can bet Jimmie was on hand when the first Imperial drilling crew turned up at the farm gate. And he's been an untiring fence post superintendent ever since. But that's not all—in his short lifetime he's lived enough years to see the growth of a new major industry.

Less than five years ago Canada's oil producing industry was far from robust. Our oil fields were dwindling and produced only one barrel in every 10 we used.

Today only eight countries in the world are known to have larger oil reserves than Canada. And production this year is expected to meet about one-third of our needs.

Every barrel of this "home grown" crude lessens our dependence on other countries and brings us a step closer to self-sufficiency in oil. With oil increasingly important to our daily life in peace or war, any improvement in security of supply means new security for Jimmie and for all of us.

Canada's newest major industry gives promise of becoming one of her greatest.

One Big Inning Gives Merchants 5-2 Victory over Coulee Dam

With Gil Jacobs hurling championship ball, Summerland Merchants just needed the one big inning, the third, to defeat Coulee Dam 5-2 in an upset victory which has the entire league talking this week.

It was a victory which makes next Sunday's contest against Pentiction Canucks all the more interesting, as a win for the Merchants then will put them right on top of the heap.

Three errors by shortstop Redmond and George Taylor's mighty smash into deep centrefield proved the deciding factors in that helpful third inning which gave the Merchants a 5-0 lead.

Kuroda led off the parade when his grounder was muffed by Redmond at short. Dunham popped one up but Redmond dropped it, allowing Kuroda to scamper home. Kato drew a walk and both he and Dunham were home free on Taylor's mighty wallop to deep centre. Taylor scoring on an overthrow to third.

Gould walked and Daryl Weitzel scored him with a sharp single.

Swan replaced Thies on the mound after this disastrous inning and held the Merchants to one single for the rest of the game.

Redmond redeemed himself somewhat in the sixth when he tripled and scored the Dam's first counter on Walker's single. In the 9th Lowe singled, stole two bases and came home on a wild pitch to finish the scoring.

Daryl Weitzel saved another counter in the seventh when, with Lee burn on second the pulled down a long drive into right centrefield, just managing to get his glove on the horsehide. It looked like a sure triple.

Sandy Jomori was the only Merchant who had any trouble handling the horsehide but even at that he initiated two doubleplays which relieved the pressure greatly in the first and third frames.

Swung Haymaker at Ump

A near-riot ensued midway through the contest over a close decision at first base. Redmond started it by pushing Umpire Bill Sherwood, of Summerland, who made the call against the Coulee player. As players rallied around, Pitcher Swan came dashing over and swung a haymaker.

Fortunately for Sherwood he saw it coming and ducked, the blow just glancing off his forehead.

No charges were made against the players and they were a penitent and contrite group of ball players from then on. If Swan had been thrown out of the game at that stage Coulee Dam would had little defence left.

Manager Ben Trafford expects that Jacobs will be back in Summerland for Sunday's contest against Pentiction, which is expected to be one of the highlights of the season.

EVERY KING NAMED B.C. COUNCIL PREXY

Avery King, well-known Pentiction man who has been president of the Interior Fish, Game and Forest Protective Assn. for several years, has been named president of the B.C. Fish and Game Council at sessions held in Vancouver. He also is vice-president of the Western Canada and Yukon Game Assn.

This trio of officials got Ottawa Giants first home game in the International Baseball League off to a start under bright skies at Lansdowne park against Springfield Cubs. EXTERNAL AFFAIRS MINISTER LESTER B. PEARSON (centre) hit a short flyball pitched by MAYOR GRENVILLE JAMES G. GARDNER (left) was behind the plate. Members of Giants club can be seen in the background. It is Ottawa's first season in the International League after a lapse of 52 years.

Girls' Relay Team Equals Valley Mark

A Summerland junior girls' relay team tied the valley record at the big Kinsmen Club track meet at Pentiction last Saturday as athletes from all valley towns and Omak competed in the first of the string of meets which are now scheduled at various valley points. Shirley Burnell, Yvonne Polesello, Jacque Smith and Orla Raham were the girls who brought the only first prize back to Summerland from the Saturday meet.

Graham Munn had tough luck in the 220 yard dash. He won the race but a protest was entered that the lanes were not properly measured. This was found to be correct and in the re-run Munn, who was suffering from a cold, was only able to place third.

Helen Kean was a strong competitor in senior girls' events, placing second in the 75 and 100 yard dashes.

Vernon Campbell was third in the 16 and under 220 yard dash while Yvonne Polesello came second in the broad jump for the same age group. Irene Menu earned two seconds in the 16 and under dashes, 75 yards and 100 yards, while in the high jump for girls 20 and under Ruth Kliz was second.

These athletes will be carrying Summerland's banner in the big track meet which is being held here this weekend and at the Okanagan schools track meet on Saturday, May 19, in Pentiction.

The local high school track meet is scheduled for May 25 while the MacDonald elementary school track meet is on May 18.

Grand aggregate standings at the Kinsmen meet in Pentiction were: Kelowna 105, Omak 84, Pentiction 75, Chilliwack 63, South Okanagan (Oliver and Osoyoos) 38, Summerland 23, Princeton 22 and Keremeos 5.

Omak did not send a girls' squad so that its high standing in the aggregate was entirely due to the strong boys' team entered.

Scores of 99 Lead at Rifle Club Shoot

As the first preliminary shoot to the big B.C. Inland Rifle Association shoot to be held here for the first time on May 26 and 27, the Summerland Rifle club held its opening competition at the improved local range last Sunday morning.

Len Shannon and George Dunsdon with 99 each were the leading marksmen for the day.

Three girls have joined the club this season and for novices they made good scores. Helen Price had some experience last year and scored a notable 88, while Jill Sanborn and Barbara Price came to the shoot for the first time in their lives.

Complete scores for last Sunday were:

Len Shannon and George Dunsdon 99, Phil Dunsdon 96, John Khambach and Dewey Sanborn 94, Art Dunsdon and Doug Price 92, Fred Dunsdon 92, Steve Dunsdon, Herb Simpson and A. Moyls 90, Bill Young 89, Jack Dunsdon and Helen Price 88, George Stoll 78, Joe Elliott 75, D. Taylor 74, Jill Sanborn 61, Barbara Price 56.

HEALTH UNIT FINDS DISTRICT SATISFACTORY

Four samples of water were checked for bacteriological count by the South Okanagan Health Unit in March and were found satisfactory, council was informed at its last meeting. Sanitary condition of restaurants was also said to be satisfactory and little nuisance has resulted from garbage disposal, the report stated.

GOLF TEAM MEMBER

George Henry, well-known Summerland golfer, was a member of the Pentiction Golf club Hornelatta cup team which played against Kelowna last Sunday. The Pentiction team plays return matches at Kelowna in the fall.

Ken Brawner Whiffs 21 but Red Sox Still Bow to Osoyoos

Eleven torrid innings were needed at the Living Memorial athletic park on Sunday afternoon before visiting Osoyoos ball tossers were able to vanquish the Summerland Red Sox, last year's B.C. junior champions, in the opening game of the South Okanagan junior league.

Ken Brawner went the entire route, struck out 21 batters and still could not get the necessary win.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Brawner, who had the visiting southerners handcuffed most of the way. Almost a complete new lineup from last year's championship squad was trotted out by Joe Sheeley for last Sunday's contest.

Brawner and Mike Maier were the battery in place of Jacobs and Bob Weitzel, Seigrist was on first in place of Lefty Gould, Hooker had Fred Kato's place at second, Robin Fisher was in Sandy Jomori's shortstop spot and Bonthoux had moved in to third where Ernie Jomori used to be a familiar sight for the Red Sox.

Osoyoos took the lead in the third when Thaller, Osoyoos catcher, collected the first of his triples, scoring Bryan Bonthoux' error on Reitmaier's grounder allowed Thaller to score the second count.

First Summerland score came in the second when Gerry Maier was safe on Bryan's error and later scored on another error at second base. The count was knotted in the last of the third when Hooker took advantage of Pugh's two errors to scamper around the bases.

The fifth saw further action when both teams scored two runs each. Plut hit and Reitmaier singled and Thaller's second triple in a row gave Osoyoos a 4-2 lead. But the Red Sox came right back and staged a two-run rally when Brawner hit safely, Mike Maier walked and both runners scored on Seigrist's timely clout.

Besides turning in a masterful pitching job, Brawner also led the Red Sox offensive with three hits in seven trips.

Young Al Hooker, at second base, was outstanding on the defence, handling seven chances without a miscue, including two bad throws which looked like certain giveaways. The Red Sox had but one error in the infield while the outfield played without a miscue. Osoyoos was debited with nine boots.

It was in the column which reads "left on bases" that most of the story could be told. Osoyoos had only five men left without scoring while Summerland had 16 runners left stranded.

This Sunday, Pentiction Pirates come to Summerland to meet the Red Sox. This game was originally planned for Pentiction but the schedule was altered. Summerland Merchants play at Pentiction in the Okanagan International league at the same time.

Thought Road North Was Just a Detour

A side glance at the condition of the Summerland-Peachland section of Okanagan highway was provided in a short comment made at a recent Kiwanis meeting by Lieutenant-Governor "Red" Graham of Oroville.

Local members had been casting amusing references in the direction of Secretary Father Meulenbergh, Jack Lawler and Frank McDonald that they had taken a detour when returning from a trip to Okanagan last week.

"I thought all the detours were from here north," was the quick retort from Mr. Graham, and members sadly shook their heads in agreement.

Seen above are two members of the cast of "The Male Animal", the UBC Players' Club offering which will be seen here tomorrow night at the school auditorium. Frank McMaster and Barbara Barnes are shown enacting a publicity stunt that typifies the spirit of Thurber's Male Animal.

Name Gillard Organizer for Social Credit

Organization of Social Credit leagues in both South Okanagan and Similkameen was completed last week with meetings in Kelowna and Penticton.

Lyle Wicks, Vancouver, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, was chairman for both meetings and was assisted by Orvis A. Kennedy, Edmonton, federal organizer and Fred Colbourne, Calgary MLA.

W. G. Gillard, Summerland, was named South Okanagan organizer along with his duties as organizer for Yale federal riding on behalf of the Social Credit movement.

Hugh Shirreff of Kelowna was named president of South Okanagan Social Credit League along with the following officers:

Wants Action On Open Ditch

Some 48 names were signed to a petition which came before a recent council meeting seeking a betterment of conditions along the Station Road resulting from the open ditch.

The petition wanted the ditch cleaned out and kept in better condition as the vegetable matter decaying causes offensive odors.

Also, another drainage ditch from the W. Read property south to the South Prairie Valley road along the road directly west of the Station Road was sought by the petitioners.

Councillor Francis Steuart was asked to investigate this situation and report to the council. He was not present at last Tuesday's session, being absent at the Rotary convention in Nelson.

Jaycees Disappointed At Lack of Work on Okanagan Highway

PENTICTON — Disappointment was expressed at a meeting of the southern zone of District Three of the B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce that there is no provision in this year's estimates for work on the Penticton-Peachland section of Okanagan Highway No. 5.

W. McDonnell, Kelowna Jaycee president, said that Les Wilson, Okanagan Jaycee councillor, had written Hon. E. C. Carson, M. P. Finnerly and W. A. C. Bennett and had received only one reply: a non-committal statement from Mr. Carson.

"We have been told that this matter is on the agenda of roads to be improved but they will not say when it will be done," Mr. McDonnell added.

John Bennett, Summerland Jaycee president, brought up the difficulty of obtaining motor vehicle licences in his community. He said that there are between 1,000 and 1,100 motor vehicles to be serviced and, though it is too late to do anything about the problem this year, it is hoped that some arrangements can be made for 1952 plates.

Clare C. Way, Penticton, was elected Okanagan councillor to succeed Mr. Wilson of Kelowna.

Fishing NOTES

(By Bert Berry)

FISH LAKE—Road is passable, boats for rent. Fishing has been spotty since the season started. When they are taking minnows there have been a few 1½ pounds and slightly larger taken. Worms seem to get only the smaller ones. Fly fishermen are getting only the odd fish.

GARNET VALLEY—Lots of fish but small is the general rule.

AGAR LAKE—Sandy Munn and Jack Lazenby have reached this lake with light delivery trucks but the road was bad and they did not get any fish. It might be a good bet now, though.

GLEN LAKE—Road impassable. George and Hans Stoll walked in and got no fish. Be a couple of weekends yet.

SILVER LAKE—Road washed out Trepanier way. Have to go via north fork road and walk in.

BIG LAKE (Okanagan)—Has been slow but George Inglis and Charlie Witherspoon both have had some luck. Top fish to date 3 pounds caught by Mr. Inglis, off Summerland.

RUNNING DOGS—I get phone calls and people come in to report dogs running and hunting. Reports show nests destroyed and even hen pheasants killed. Surely with the small population of pheasants these dogs can be controlled.

The law states that during nesting season of pheasants all dogs must be chained or under control. This includes the nights when a lot of the damage is being done.

I would like to appeal to the owners of these dogs to put them under control. The pheasant has enough natural enemies without man and his dog curtailing their reproduction.

Plant and tools $100, trucks (roads) $2000, road equipment $2025, office furniture and equipment $600, municipal sheds $500, sidewalks $550, roads capital $750, municipal hall site $1700, police and prison equipment $400.

Division of the debenture account was as follows:

Hospital bylaw—Debenture interest $900, sinking fund $1,673. Road equipment bylaw—Debenture interest $185, serial instalment $3,000. Asphalt bylaw—Debenture interest $320, serial instalment $6,000.

While estimates were being considered, Councillor Eric Tait asked if any consideration had ever been given to increasing assessment values on property adjoining municipal hard surfaced roads in comparison with those which still fight a dust nuisance each year.

He was told this point had never been considered before in that particular light. Reeve C. E. Bentley has lauded Councillor Norman Holmes, chairman of the finance department, for his interest in this year's estimates. Not for some years has there been a councillor who has shown so much interest in the municipal financial program, he declared.

Hospital Will Not be Closed Directors State Normal Occupancy Today

"There should be no question concerning possible closing of the hospital. We will make every endeavor to keep it operating and if we find ourselves in real financial difficulties we will have to hold a public meeting and acquaint the ratepayers with our situation. But our hospital must remain open."

Police Search For Stolen Peachland Car

RCMP are searching today for a person believed to have stolen a Pentiction car, driven into the lake one mile south of Peachland and then stolen a Peachland man's car.

A car belonging to A. R. Dallimore of Pentiction was stolen Tuesday evening and was found at 3 a.m. Wednesday morning by RCMP Constable I. G. Thorsteinson of Summerland in Okanagan lake about one mile south of Peachland.

The car had evidently been driven at a high rate of speed, missed a corner and hurtled into three feet of water. Blood spots on stones at the lakeside indicated the driver had been injured.

At approximately 2 o'clock that same morning a 1938 blue Dodge coupe, B.C. Licence No. 26-884, was stolen from the open residential garage of Charles F. Anderson of Peachland.

Police believe it was stolen by the same man who took the Pentiction car and have a widespread search organized for the Peachland auto.

Square Dance Team Third at Haney Festival

Summerland Teen Town placed third in the Pacific Coast second annual square dance festival held at Haney, Fraser Valley, last weekend.

Adjudicators recommended the Summerland entry for the execution of the square dance performed but considered that the selection was not complicated enough to earn top honors.

Summerland was the only entry which provided a full orchestra to accompany the dancers. Marcel Bonthoux, Jake Knippleberg and Fred Gale accompanied the party to provide the music.

UBC Square Dancers "B" won Class II Teen Centre championship with Sea Island Teen Town "B" in second spot. There were ten entries.

There were three classes of competition, Grand Championship,

Such was the context of a statement from one member of the Summerland General hospital board of directors at the May monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

Other directors expressed their full agreement with this sentiment and expressed the belief that with careful management the hospital could be made to operate within the limitations of the budget agreed upon at the first of the year.

On the basis of this budget and anticipated patient days, the BCHIS fixed a public ward rate of $8.25 per day. Co-insurance rate is $2.50 per day for the first ten days.

However, at the first of this month only six patients were being cared for in the Summerland hospital by eight nurses and sub-staff.

On Tuesday the number of patients had gone back up to 20 out of 27 beds available, which is a normal occupancy and one which provides for operating costs.

If this occupancy level could be maintained there would be no difficulty in operating, directors were informed.

Won't Close New Wing Consideration had been given to closing the new maternity wing, but it was stated that only a slight saving would be made and this section could not be re-opened again without considerable planning.

Such a move was not considered feasible. It was also pointed out that with the 44-hour week and holidays to be considered in the next few months that it is practically impossible to cut the staff any further.

Ordinarily nine nurses have been employed but the hospital has been getting by with eight in the past few days, it was stated.

Directors were unanimous in their opinion that publicity given by The Review two weeks ago had been proper in that the public should be acquainted with the situation.

However, directors wished the public to know that the hospital would not close its doors without proper warning and every avenue of approach investigated in an endeavor to meet operating expenses.

Teen Centre and High School. The square dancers were conducted to Haney by Les Gould, Teen Town adviser, while cars were provided by Marcel Bonthoux, Jack Lawler and Mr. Gould.

Leighton Nesbitt was caller and the dancing group consisted of Rose Harrison, Merle Heavysides, Shirley Gardiner, Olga Libicz, Don Blacklock, Ross Axworthy, Barry Wilson and Herb Ardwt.

A conducted tour of points of interest in Vancouver was made by the group Sunday morning before starting home. For some of the young people this was a first visit to the metropolitan centre.

Flood Threat Unlikely; Eneas Creek Subsides

Eneas Creek, which had been in partial flood since last Sunday dropped drastically last night and it is not expected there will be any further trouble with this body of water this year.

Trout Creek is running strongly but has given no indication so far of any flood conditions.

Okanagan Lake level is rising rapidly with the partial raising of the dam to alleviate flood condition at Oliver.

Orchards owned by W. S. Ritchie and C. A. Gayton have been partially under Eneas Creek water overflow this week, but to save further damage a ditch was cut across the road last Sunday afternoon to relieve the Victoria Gardens area.

The culvert at the Legion hall, which was cleaned out last year, has taken the big rush of water without any sign of overflow.

"The very high flood potential that existed in the snow packs of the Columbia, Kootenay and Okanagan as reported April 1 has been reduced somewhat during the month of April," the May 1 Snow Bulletin issued by the provincial water rights branch indicates.

It is now considered that there is little likelihood of any serious flood conditions in the Okanagan. High temperatures in April together with light precipitation has resulted in an early runoff and the melting of most of the snow at the lower elevations in those three districts.

"If the present weather continues with normal or below normal precipitation and with warm days and cool nights there should be no danger of widespread flooding," the report for the first of the month indicated.

UBC Degrees to Be Received by Local Students

Today and tomorrow, four Summerland students will receive their degrees at graduation ceremonies at University of British Columbia.

Rees Kenneth Powell, who majoring in chemistry, will receive his Master of Arts degree this afternoon from Chancellor E. W. Hamber, who is conferring degrees for the last time. Brigadier Sherwood Lett is Mr. Hamber's successor as chancellor.

Douglas Denny receives his Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture, having passed with second class honors.

Two Bachelor of Arts degrees will be conferred today to two Summerland Japanese, Richard Norisha Yamabe, second class honors and Michiko Imayoshi.

Last week, W. H. Durick of the Summerland high school staff, received notification that he has received his Master of Education degree from the University of Saskatchewan.

Miss Valerie Tingley is required to write French supplementals before receiving her B.A. degree.

Local Track Team Captures Senior High Trophy at AOTS Meet on Enrolment Percentage

Although Kelowna dominated the meet from a standpoint of total wins, Summerland senior high students and Armstrong junior high captured the grand aggregate cups on a comparison with school enrolment at the big first annual AOTS Club track and field meet at Living Memorial athletic park in Summeiland on Saturday, May 12.

Summerland senior high pupils, with an enrolment of 92, smallest of all schools competing, amassed 26 points for a percentage of 82.2 Armstrong junior high, with 127 pupils and a total of 26 points, had a percentage of 20.5. Kelowna was third with 18.7 percent.

In junior high competition, Armstrong's 22 points and enrolment of 172 was out in front with a 12.8 percentage. South Okanagan (Olivier-Osoyoos) was second with the highest point total of 32 and the third largest enrolment of 300, giving 10.7 percent.

Although Vernon had a slight edge in total points at the end of the morning round, Kelowna soon forged ahead and dominated the senior events, piling up an impressive total of 84 points.

Frances Gillis, flashy Pentiction sprint star, was an outstanding competitor, creating a new valley mark of 11.1 seconds for the 100 yard sprint to defeat Kelowna's J. Minette. This is sensational time and was questioned by officials, but all three timekeepers had clocked her exactly the same.

This is only four-tenths seconds off the world's record for that distance.

Frances showed she was equal to a repeat performance when she tied the valley mark of 9.4 seconds for the 75 yard dash, showing her heels to Kelowna's Marilyn Oatman and Armstrong's N. Haluschak.

However, in the senior 75 yard dash, Marilyn Oatman set a new valley record of 9.3 seconds, with Helen Kean of Summerland giving her plenty of opposition to place second.

Sandra Lipsitt of Kelowna equalled Miss Gillis' time when she travelled the 75-yard stretch in junior competition in 9.4 seconds.

Students Will Make up Time

On Monday evening, May 13, at the regular meeting, the school board unanimously supported the principal and staff of the high school in their action regarding students who were absent from school without permission on the Friday afternoon following the after-Easter examinations, and who were required to make up this time after school hours if a legitimate excuse for their absence was not given by parents.

Inspector Matheson pointed out that in the school act only reasons for absence are: That a child is being educated by some other person; that a child is prevented from attending by sickness or some other unavoidable cause; or that the distance from school is too great.

In all other cases the law requires attendance every school hour every school day.

The school board cannot prosecute parents in the case of children over 15 years of age, but parents of those under 15 can be prosecuted for unsatisfactory attendance.

A resolution was unanimously passed, "that the school board support the principal and staff in requiring pupils to make up time lost in absence from school without permission," and the secretary was asked to acquaint the principal and staff of this action.

Harvey L. Wilson

Well-known local resident who has been named Census Enumerator for Summerland district. Mr. Wilson will be assisted in his duties by Harry C. Howis, also a familiar figure in this district and a retired fruit inspector. Announcement of these appointments was made last Thursday afternoon by Frank Baldoock, Vernon, Census Commissioner for Yale, who was accompanied to Summerland by Frank Paul, East Kelowna, South Okanagan Supervisor for the 1951 Census.

Fruit Board Meeting Set For May 31

Annual meeting of the B.C. Fruit Board and the BCFGA delegates and directors will be held on Thursday, May 31, in Kelowna, it is announced by fruit officials this week.

All the locals' annual meetings have been held and BCFGA directors elected. These directors also serve as delegates to the annual meeting of the B.C. Fruit Board which precedes the BCFGA session.

It is understood that Ivor Newman, BCFGA president, will not be standing for re-election because of ill health.

Of the BCFGA executive, George Lundy of Oliver is considered the most likely prospect to become the new president.

Directors appointed by the locals are listed as follows:

- Kamloops, H. Graeper; Sorrento and Blind Bay, F. D. Barnard; Salmon Arm, W. R. Fulton; Armstrong, E. S. Dookstader; Vernon, George Turner; Coldstream, J. M. Kosty; Oyoama, A. W. Gray; Ellison, A. L. Geen; Winfield-Okanagan Centre, I. A. Gledid; Glenmore, James Snowsall; Okanagan Mission and Kelowna, A. Stubbs; Rutland, N. J. Waddington; South and East Kelowna, E. F. Howlitt; Westbank, J. W. Hannan; Peachland, C. E. Haker; Summerland, C. J. McKenzie; Pentiction, J. A. English; Naramata, E. Sammet; Kaladan, F. W. King; Keremoo-Cawston, J. B. M. Clarke; Oliver, A. R. Garrish; Osoyoos, D. P. Fraser; Grand Forks, Fred F. Popoff; Nelson, G. Noel Brown; Creston-Boswell, E. Ostrensky.

Attempted Rape Assailant Sought

A local girl is reported to have been the victim of an attempted rape assault late Thursday evening at the bottom of Peach Orchard hill.

While returning home after visiting a girl friend, the young girl was attacked by a man who was a stranger to her. She is said to have obtained a description which was passed on by police.

Her screams attracted the attention of a nearby resident and her assailant took to his heels. Police were notified and attempted road and train blocks to trap the assailant. To date, police have not made any report on the case but it is known that the search is continuing.

Civil Defence Plans Gain Impetus as First Organization Meet Held

Under the chairmanship of Reeve C. E. Bentley, a large council consisting of two representatives from each of twelve community organizations is being set up to administer the Summerland Civil Defence Committee, while an executive of seven will be the planning group. Every organization represented on this council will be given a definite task in the organization of civil defence measures in this district, it has been agreed.

The Okanagan has been named a reception area and as such has a different role from the target and cushion areas which have been designated in certain portions of the province.

Every district in the Okanagan must organize to train and equip a responsible group of citizens who would be called upon to act in time of emergency, Reeve C. E. Bentley told Monday evening's organization meet held in the library of the new high school.

Prepare for Evacuees All facilities and utilities must be organized so that they can be used and co-related for the common good, he continued. The Okanagan must be prepared to accept evacuees from the target areas which are the coast region, Trail and Prince Rupert.

The Fraser Valley's role is that of a cushion area, he explained, to assist those operating in the target areas.

Such an organizational plan will be put into effect in any type of major disaster in the province, it was stated. If the organization had been alive in 1948 when the Fraser Valley flood took its toll then a lot of waste time and effort would have been saved.

"It may be this year, it may be five or ten years from now, but we must be prepared for an emergency," was His Worship's message to Monday evening's meeting.

The executive of seven chosen consists of Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, Joe McLachlan, Walter Bleasdale, H. Thornthwaite, S. A. MacDonald and Howard Shannon, with Reeve Bentley as chairman and Councillor Norman Holmes as secretary.

Each organization will be asked to appoint two representatives who will act on the main group council. Those who were present Monday evening included:

- Reeve C. E. Bentley, Councillors Norman Holmes, Francis Stewart; board of trade, J. R. Armstrong, Walter Bleasdale; Jaycees, Fred Walker, Al McIntosh; hospital, S. A. MacDonald, J. E. O'Mahony; Rotary, Joe McLachlan, Vern Charles; Kiwanis, Lacey Fisher, Father A. M. Meulenbergh; Legion, H. Thornthwaite; St. John Ambulance, Miss L. Atkinson, Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony; Red Cross, Jack Dunsdon, Mrs. Marion Cartwright; Women's Institute, Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, Mrs. Sandy Fenwick; radio club, S. Sanborn, Howard Shannon; Scouts, Rev. H. R. Whitmore, J. R. Butler; S. W. Feltham, David Munn; fire brigade, Ed. Gould, Joe Biollo; RCMP Constable, I. G. Thorsteinson; Miss I. Stewart, PHN, Dr. H. Zeeman and Mr. Alcock, medical health unit, Kelowna.

As May 24 falls on Thursday next week, The Review will be published late Wednesday afternoon, May 23. Classified advertising columns will close at noon on Tuesday, May 22. Advertisers and contributors to The Review columns are requested to co-operate next week in submitting copy earlier than usual.

Lack of Funds Blamed for Failure to Start Road Work

Lack of funds was given by N. M. McCallum, chief engineer for the department of public works, as the reason why no reconstruction of the Pentiction-Trout Creek section of Okanagan Highway No. 5 is to be undertaken this year.

W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan, on several occasions has publicly declared that the money for this road work was voted three years ago by the provincial legislature.

However, Mr. McCallum, in reply to a letter from the Summerland Board of Trade asking why there is to be no reconstruction on this section of Okanagan highway despite Hon. Mr. Carson's assurances here last February, was replied:

"The location has been made for this road but no funds are available to undertake reconstruction of this section at this time."

Mr. McCallum went on to say that "the severe winter caused damage in many parts of the province and in some instances the existing road have broken up so badly that reconstruction has been an absolute necessity in order to carry traffic."

Four Teams To Compete On May 24

Next Thursday, Victoria Day, May 24, is to be called "Summerland Day", as an all-day program of events planned to interest all members of the family has been drawn up by the combined Youth Centre-Baseball Club celebration day committee.

Feature of the day will be a four-team ball tournament which will provide some of the best ball of the year for local district fans.

Rutland Adanacs open the tournament at 10:30 next Thursday morning against Princeton Royals. At 2:30 Summerland Merchants entertain Kelowna Elks Red Sox with the finals between the two winners at 4:30 o'clock.

This tournament brings together two teams from the International league, and one team each from the Interior and Okanagan-Mainline leagues.

From the outcome of this tournament should be known the relative strength of the three leagues operating in the hinterland of B.C.

Shortly after 12 o'clock noon a series of kiddies' races will be run off. It had been planned to have senior track events but due to the prevalence of other track meets this month insufficient interest was aroused.

A novel event is planned for 1:45 when baseball "teams" from Rotary and Kiwanis are expected to cavort on the diamond. Their costumes are expected to rival the weird getups which were to be observed at the opening of the new Arena some months ago.

Summerland Band, premier musical aggregation of the Okanagan, will be on hand in the afternoon to enliven proceedings.

In the evening, the Teen Town square dancers who staged such a good performance at Haney last weekend, will give a half hour revue, followed by a regular dance at the Youth Centre.

Net proceeds are being divided between the Youth Centre and Baseball club, with Teen Town assisting in preparations.

Recommend Kiddies' Park for Lower Town

A recommendation is going from the Summerland Board of Trade to the Board of Parks Commissioners that a kiddies' playground be established on municipal property in lower town between Daniels' store and Fred Gale's place of business.

The monthly board meeting agreed with a recommendation from the civic affairs committee that such a 'kiddies' park would be a desirable asset to the young people of lower town area, especially those of pre-school age who do not ordinarily share in the park-playground in West Summerland area.

"I can assure you that the section between Trout Creek and Pentiction is very much better than some other sections throughout the province which formerly had been surface treated with light asphaltic material."

"As soon as some of the more pressing problems have been taken care of this section of highway will be reconstructed," Mr. McCallum concludes.

But this particular section was not included in the department's plans which were placed before the legislature, it has been pointed out.

Last week the board of trade disclosed that, at the instigation of its new industries committee, another letter has gone forward to Hon. Mr. Carson again pressing

New Canadian Citizens

IT IS perhaps unfortunate that the Youth Centre can only accommodate 250 persons for the Canadian Citizenship banquet next Wednesday evening.

This is an affair which will make history in Summerland. It is the first occasion that young people reaching citizenship age and those from other countries who have qualified to become Canadian citizens will be officially recognized by their fellow countrymen in an organized ceremony.

As a public affair it should be attended by every thinking person in the community who has the future welfare of its new citizens at heart. But there is only accommodation for 250 persons. Let us hope that every seat is filled for this momentous occasion in the life of these new citizens.

With the approach of Canadian Citizenship Day, May 23, many prominent citizens have provided us with noble thoughts. "This Canada of ours . . . stands today as a great example of what can be accomplished as a result of a deep respect for and tolerance of the rights and opinions of others," is Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's opinion at this moment.

Vincent Massey in "On Being Canadian" provides this Credo of a Canadian which should give cause for thought at this time:

"I believe in Canada, with pride in her past, belief in her present and faith in her future.

"I believe in the quality of Canadian life and in the character of Canadian institutions.

"I believe in the Commonwealth of Nations within whose bounds we have found freedom, and outside which our national life would lose its independent being.

"I believe in our abiding friendship with our nearest neighbors; an honest friendship without either the subservience or the mimicry which must impair true partnership.

"I believe that Canada is one, and that if our minds dwell on those things which its parts have in common, we can find the unity of the whole.

"I believe that with sound work, the spirit of a team and an awareness of ourselves, we can look forward to achievements beyond our imagining."

THIRTY YEARS AGO May 13, 1921

The Summerland Supply Co., pioneer commercial concern of the community, will soon be no more. At a meeting of the shareholders held last Thursday night, it was decided to go into voluntary liquidation, and W. C. Kelley was appointed liquidator. The Summerland Supply Co. Ltd. was organized by J. M. Robinson and associates when he, as manager of the Summerland Development Co., opened up this territory for settlement. Later control of the business was acquired by A. Stark.

A number of Okanagan fruit shippers have received protests from the Made-in-B.C. Campaign offices in Vancouver against the purchase of five cars of apple box shooks in the State of Washington. The valley this year will use more than 400 cars of boxes, practically all of which will be made in the valley or the province. It is pointed out, however, that the American boxmakers are asking only 12 cents per box, while the B.C. box makers have a price of 18 cents per box.

Principal D. J. Welsh and family this week moved from the Gartrell house, near the Methodist parsonage, to the Wellington Watson cottage, corner Shaughnessy and Ninth.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler with their son arrived in Summerland on Saturday's boat to visit their daughter, Mrs. H. S. Lewes. Mr. Fowler has held the position of postmaster in his home town in Scotland, and is now superannuated by the government for his long and faithful service in that capacity.

E. H. Plant left this week for Banff, where he expects to spend a month or six weeks taking the cure for rheumatism.

An interesting event occurred on Tuesday when a party of ladies met at the residence of W. J. Robinson, in response to an invitation by Mrs. M. M. Robinson to a quilting party in honor of her two granddaughters, Misses Gwen and Marguerite Robinson of Naramata, prospective brides-elect. A very busy afternoon was spent, two beautiful quilts made by Mrs. Robinson, Sr., being finished, after which tea was served by Mrs. W. J. Robinson.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO May 14, 1926

If fine weather continues, the Cariboo highway over the Fraser Canyon will be completed by the end of July and ready for traffic, according to Hon. Dr. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works. Work is proceeding rapidly, says Dr. Sutherland, and barring mishaps and delays, the highway will be completed on schedule. No date for the official opening has yet been set but arrangements for this will be in the hands of the Automobile Club of British Columbia.

Cherries are ripe at Osoyoos and are being picked. Those on the ranch of E. R. Dawson in that community, of the Governor Wood variety, ripened on May 6 this year, which is five days earlier than last year.

Miss J. Sinclair, Summerland, was elected first vice-president of the Okanagan-Kamloops district presbyterial of the WMS of the United church at a meeting held in Vernon on Tuesday and Wednesday. Others attending were Mrs. W. Alexander and Mrs. G. Munn.

Twelve ladies played eighteen holes on the golf course on Tuesday with lunch served on the grounds. The ladies hope to hold numerous events of this nature during the season and this initial event was principally to ascertain the standing of different members of the club. Despite the fact that they were all inexperienced players, an excellent showing was made. Mrs. Theed headed the group with 160 strokes for the 18 holes. Mrs. Alex Smith came second followed by Mrs. Cran and Mrs. Muir Stewart.

News was received this week by experimental station officials that Lieutenant-Governor Bruce will definitely be on hand at the big farm picnic on June 12. The picnic is one of the events of the year in the Southern Okanagan. Following committees have been appointed: Advertising, W. T. Hunter, J. Tait, N. Bentley; sports, J. C. Blacklock, W. M. Fleming, A. McLachlan, G. W. Cope; program, P. Knowles, J. R. Campbell, H. R. McLarty, R. C. Palmer; refreshments, M. Tait, G. W. Johnson, J. R. Barkwill, A. J. Munn; grounds, station officials; finance, A. McLachlan, G. W. Johnson, J. R. Campbell.

PORTRAITS

Arthur Denby Coggan

Arthur Denby Coggan was born in Simla, 8,000 feet up in the Himalayas, of Irish parentage. His father was a roving mining engineer, so the family lived in many different parts of India. In these places there was usually no European school, so the boy was educated by private tutors. All this came to an abrupt end when his father opened a mine three hundred miles from a railroad and two hundred miles from the nearest police post.

This mine was in wild hill country, north of Burma, in Assam. It was a land abounding in wild animals of all kinds, and inhabited by warlike natives of quite different race, language, and religion to the Indians of the plains.

Here he wandered the jungles, a lone small boy, and was never molested by man or beast. He can remember having as pets a leopard cub, a bear cub, and assorted monkeys, parrots, deer and snakes.

Once he was watching a tame sambhur doe grazing in a hollow, when a tiger crept out through the jungle thickness to the bank above the doe. Some instinct must have warned the threatened animal, for it leapt at the same time that the tiger did, and literally jumped out from between its claws.

One day Arthur's mother, in turning out the assortment usually carried in a small lad's pocket, found a small piece of rock. Upon it being examined a ruby was seen to be embedded in it. Great was the excitement in the household, and great the questioning, the miles of scrambling over the hills in search of the spot where it had been picked up, but alas, it was in vain! The place could not be located.

A succession of tutors started again. They came, saw and de-

NOTES from PARLIAMENT HILL

(By O. I. JONES, MP for Yale)

An effort has been made to get recognition for the water transportation and hotel employees that took part in the recent railroad strike and were not given recognition in the settlement. I took part in the discussion on behalf of the workers in this category who earn their livelihood on Okanagan Lake and on page 2617 of Hansard I am recorded as follows:

"I should like to briefly outline a little problem we have in the interior of British Columbia, and this has a distinct bearing on it. I feel I would be remiss in my duties as a member of that area if I did not bring it before the house.

"On Okanagan lake we have barges, tugs and other equipment operated by both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National. The men operating this equipment are well organized, and are part of the transportation system, so were affected by the strike. As has been pointed out by the hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre, today they feel that they have been let down by parliament.

"They were led to believe, rightly or wrongly and I am not going to go into that, that an implicit promise had been made that they were to be treated fairly with all other railroad workers. They took that from the statement of the prime minister (Mr. St. Laurent), and from the preamble to the act. They still feel that way today, and believe they have been badly let down.

"The men employed on these barges and tugs are of a very high calibre, the masters, general officers and the men themselves. Many of them are former naval men or deep sea seamen who have turned to lake service in their advancing years. They feel that they are supplying a vital service in the transportation system, because except for this water transportation the railway would end at Kelowna. They feel, therefore, that they are a vital part of the system, and the same situation would apply to Kootenay lake and the other lakes in the interior of British Columbia.

"It is felt also that no sound reason has been advanced for excluding them from the general recognition of the railroad workers, which naturally produces a divorcing of their group from the general category of railroad workers.

"I wish to place on record the reasons they advanced for placing themselves in the same category as ordinary railroad workers. They are very simple. They are as follows: Continued on page 8 parted hurriedly. It was thought that they were surprised to be in civilization again in one piece, so wild and rugged did the country seem to those unaccustomed to the life.

As a consequence, Arthur was packed off to boarding school. This was St. Paul's school in Darjeeling. This town is in the Himalayas, too, but one thousand miles east of Simla. The school term was for nine months, with three months' holiday in the winter. This was because it was cooler on the plains at that time of the year and a better time for the boys to go to their homes.

Kinchenjunga, the world's second tallest mountain, stood up opposite the school. It was quite close, with a valley between, and because Darjeeling is at a great height, too, seemed in proportion as the range across the lake behind Naramata does to us here in Summerland. Mount Everest could be seen, too, by biking a few miles up the mountain, but its height did not seem remarkable there, either.

Early schooling finished, Arthur Coggan went to Camborne School of Mines in England. This school is a branch of Manchester University. After he graduated he travelled to Canada.

It was while he was working at the Premier Mine in British Columbia, that he met Miss Mabel Mellor in Stewart, B.C. Fifteen miles of Alaska lies between the Premier Mine and the town of Stewart, so the customs and immigration services of both Canada and the United States had quite a busy time during the courtship.

After their marriage moving around continued. They spent a nostalgically-remembered month in Hawaii, going on to South Africa, Rhodesia, and Europe. Moving from job to job meant that they were seeing the world and having a wonderful time as well. Mr. Coggan was never fired and never unemployed, and the couple were enjoying each new place.

Following service in World War II, it was decided to settle down in the interest of the education of their three boys, as they have done in the place formerly owned by the late W. Tullett on Giant's Head Road.

Mr. Coggan says now: "Of all places seen and lived in, I like Summerland best!"

WHEN DID THEY OPEN UP THE WEST?

The "opening up of the west" didn't end when the railroads and the settlers and the wheat had come. Nor is it ended today. It is a continuing story of our country's growth and each generation adds its chapter.

Today it is prairie oil that holds out new opportunity, bringing with it new benefits and new security.

In four years discoveries in the west have increased Canada's proven oil reserves more than fifteen fold and the production of crude is six times what it was. These advances, and the half-billion dollars the oil industry has spent on them, have not benefited the west alone. All of Canada is stronger and more prosperous.

Our people and our factories have been made busier by the needs of the growing oil industry. There are new jobs and new businesses. Many millions of dollars once spent for foreign oil now stay at home—or are available for other purposes. And of special importance, our supply of oil is being made more certain, less dependent on sources beyond our borders.

Opening up of the west goes on, bringing closer Canada's self-sufficiency in oil, giving new strength to the nation.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

In childhood most of my attacks of toothache were mild, and ended with my triumphantly picking the defunct baby tooth from my mouth and displaying it for all to see. Then I'd put it under the living-room rug overnight, and in the morning, fairies would have taken the tooth and left a shining five-cent piece in its place.

In those days the lowly nickel was real money, too, with a purchasing power that would make even today's quarter open its caribou eyes. Many thought it sufficient to purchase salvation on the Sunday collection plate in church, and for a youngster it was a start toward wealth.

Once, when the ache was worse than usual and had steadfastly resisted all siren coaxing to have a string tied from my tooth to the door-handle and the door suddenly shut, I was offered a nickel just to pull my tooth out. Then leaving it under the rug brought another nickel, and with ten whole cents on hand I became avaricious.

I announced to my surprised parents that I was going to pull all my teeth out one by one, and not only get a set of false ones, but have a handsome profit left over, out of two nickels for each tooth. When they told me that a set of false teeth would cost at least fifty dollars, it didn't discourage me at all; what was fifty dollars when one could make ten cents at a single coup?

An older brother told me that false teeth are taken from dead men's mouths, and when this also failed to shake my high resolve, added that I might get teeth from some tobacco chewing old bachelor and have the taste of chewing tobacco in my mouth the rest of my days. I had already tasted the brown stuff once, and the memory of its bitterness, and how the earth suddenly swept up and hit me when I swallowed some, made me give up the false teeth project forthwith.

My first real toothache hit me when I was about twelve years old, and all previous ones paled into insignificance. That fierce gnawing ache, varied by stabbing pains of unbearable sharpness, discolored all my waking hours and haunted my sleep. Warm compresses and sitting near the stove failed to loosen it, toothache-drops merely changed its tune a little. Finally my parents decreed that I must go to the dentist.

They gave me quite a build-up on how wise and capable the dentist was, and how quickly he could stop pain, without going into any details as to his methods, and as I had never been into a dentist's office before, I walked into it now for the first time quite hopefully, sat down, opened my mouth, indicated the tooth, and waited calmly for the miracle to take place.

Sly fellows, dentists. This one, typically, didn't breathe a word of what he was going to do; he examined my mouth, went off and cluttered among his instruments for a bit, chatting cheerily, then came back with a syringe whose slender snout seemed to my startled eyes several inches long, and to my horror he stuck it into my gums. I tried to yell and jump away, but it was no use, and I could feel every millimetre of that fearful weapon as it sank into my shrinking flesh and out again.

During the minute's wait that followed my whole concept of dentists changed; the little office became a torture room, and I wondered fearfully what would have to be endured next. It did not take long to find out; the dentist came back with an even larger and shinier instrument, filled my mouth with it, gripped something I could not feel, and heaved. The hypodermic was nothing to this; when that tooth broke loose from the jawbone I could feel the wrench through my whole skeleton, and all the suffering days of toothache seemed mild compared to the climacteric pain that shot through my jaw as the roots of that tooth rose from some where below my knees.

"There, that didn't take long," said the dentist cheerfully, exhibiting his prize, but it needed no Einstein to tell me that a second or two could seem an eternity.

For the next few hours my earlier dream of having false teeth was back in full force, yet I realized as never before its impossibility. For to get those false teeth would mean having my own removed first, and after that initial experience I was grimly resolved to put that off as long as possible. And all the ensuing years and dental sessions, while many of them much less painful than that first one, have not dimmed the bright certainty of the early resolve.

Teen Town

The dance on Friday night wasn't very good. Most of the billets went to their places when they came at 11 o'clock. On Saturday night there was a big crowd, mostly from Penticton and Kelowna. Where are all our Teen Towners? There won't be a dance till the 24th. The square dancing people placed third in the festival on Saturday. They all enjoyed their trip. We want to extend our gratitude to Fred Gale, Marcel Bonthoux and Jake Knippleberg for giving up their time to play for us at the festival. It sure was good.

Any girl over 16 who would like to enter as Miss Summerland, get in contact with Yvonne Polesello. We would like volunteers instead of Teen Town persuading people at the last minute.

We hope all the people who want to decorate on the 24th for the big dance will turn out. I will tell you later when to come.—Esther Metters.

Mrs. Eve Fisher Awarded Best Actress Cup in South Okanagan Drama Finals

Mrs. Eve Fisher was selected best actress and holder of the Oliver Community Players cup for the ensuing year when the South Okanagan drama finals were staged at Princeton last Friday evening.

A member of the Summerland Players cast in the one-act play, "Between the Soup and the Savory", Mrs. Fisher was singled out by Adjudicator Ian Dobbie, professional director of the Vancouver Little Theatre.

The Oliver Community Players presentation of "Hands Across the Sea", directed by Jim Argue, was awarded the Kiwanis cup for the best play, although the Princeton vehicle was given high rating, along with Summerland's presentation.

The Summerland Singers and Players Club cup for the best male actor, which was won in the initial year of its presentation by Allen Eisey of Summerland went this year to Bruce Echlin of Oliver.

The drama festival was opened at Princeton by Mr. H. S. Hurn, director of school and community drama for the department of education, while Mr. Lacey Fisher, chairman of the South Okanagan drama zone was master of ceremonies for the evening.

Those who participated in the Summerland skit were Mrs. Ivy Mason, Mrs. J. Y. Towgood and Mrs. Fisher. Mrs. Mason was kitchen maid, Mrs. Towgood cook and Mrs. Fisher parlormaid. The latter's naughty interpretation of her part won her the adjudicator's praise.

Mrs. Muriel Creese and Mrs.

Towgood were directors of the play which had won the Caple cup in regional playdowns against two entries from the Penticton Players' club.

Mrs. G. E. Woolliams was in charge of properties. Mrs. A. K. Macleod of makeup and Mrs. R. G. Russel was prompter.

Mountain View Home Members Are Entertained

On Wednesday afternoon, May 9, a delightful drive and tea was arranged for the patients and staff of Mountain View Home by members of the Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Garnett Peters originated the idea and was asked to carry out the plan.

Cars were taken by Mr. C. H. Eisey, Mr. K. Heales, Capt. J. E. Jenkinson, Mr. G. Hallquist and Father A. M. Meulenbergh, while tea arrangements were made during their absence by Mrs. G. Peters, Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, Mrs. Fred Schumann, Mrs. Jack Dundon and Mrs. J. Sedlar.

The tables were prettily decorated with flowers, baskets of apples, candies and party serviettes, and a delicious tea of sandwiches, cookies, cake and ice-cream was served when all returned from the drive, which included a trip to the experimental station.

Capt. J. E. Jenkinson vice-president of Kiwanis, expressed the pleasure of the club in giving this treat. Mr. Peters spoke, also, and presented three mothers living at The Home with a Mother's Day gift.

Miss Pike responded by thanking Kiwanis members for their kindness and thought of those living at Mountain View Home.

High School COMMENTS

The spring edition of the Campus Chaff was issued Friday noon. Work on the Annual is now under way.

A student assembly was held Friday afternoon with Jacqueline Trafford acting president and Amy Yamabe, secretary. Ken Brawner gave the treasurer's report and also urged those who ordered school pins to purchase them as soon as possible.

Don Allison gave a report on the progress of the Annual. He stated that Sales Promoter Robin Fisher is in charge of a poster contest, advertising the Annual. This contest is open to all students.

The main new business of the assembly was a proposed "tea dance" to be held on Wednesday afternoon in the near future. The Esquires orchestra has volunteered to play at this dance, but details have not yet been arranged.

After the meeting, the auction sale, which started last assembly, was continued with Don Allison, auctioneer. Lost and Found articles, ranging from pens to "squirr cameras" were auctioned.

The graduating class is holding a tea, sale and fashion show on Saturday, June 2, in the school auditorium. Everyone is invited to attend. A draw will be made during the afternoon, the prize being a large grocery hamper. Tickets for this draw are obtainable from any grade 12 student. The proceeds are to go to the graduation fund.

Ogopogo Loses Tail on Rough Road

From Kelowna comes another indication of the condition of the Penticton-Peachland section of Okanagan Highway No. 5.

When Ogopogo was being hauled to Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival by Kelowna Regatta publicity seekers, the roughness of the road caused a portion of the monster's tail to snap off.

In fact, Ogopogo almost lost his head and according to the Kelowna Courier "the straw that

Arrangements for Citizenship Day Banquet Told to Women's Institute

Two reports of successful projects, UBC extension sewing classes and showing of Miss Atkinson's water colors, were given at the regular meeting of the Women's Institute, Friday afternoon, May 11, in the parish hall.

It was decided that the question of establishing a custom cannery in Summerland, which had been brought forward for discussion by the new industries' committee, should be left until the next meeting. In leaving this until next month members would have time to think over the proposal, and to discuss it with others, when a larger consensus of opinion will be obtained.

Final arrangements for the Citizenship Day banquet, May 23, were made. The convener, Mrs. H. R. McLarty, reported that many misconceptions regarding the banquet and entertainment were abroad and asked members to clear these up. There is to be a banquet of distinctly national dishes prepared by different racial groups. Following is the presentation by Magistrate Sharman of citizenship certificates to about fifteen people; short addresses by Dr. W. G. Black, official representative for B.C. of the federal department of immigration and citizenship and by local dignitaries; and finally a colorful pageant and short program.

Members were urged to sell tickets for the affair which is open to all.

Mrs. R. C. Palmer, in charge of costuming the pageant asked for a variety of "props", ranging from a train whistle to muskets.

Members have been asked to help with a baking project in the arena at the board of trade spring fair, and decided to assist in this way.

Miss Georgina MacLean, representative of the Canadian Arthritic and Rheumatism Society, who is stationed at Penticton, gave a most informative address on this work. She told her audience that B.C. is progressive in the fact that it is the first province to provide this service, with Alberta and Ontario following its lead. The money collected for this cause is used mainly for research, next education, and then treatment, which last is largely educational.

Cancer Drive Ends With $1,066 Total

Summerland's Conquer Cancer drive was officially concluded last weekend with a total of $1,066.96 being turned over to provincial campaign headquarters, Bill Laidlaw, in charge of the campaign here for the sponsoring group, Kiwanis Club of Summerland, has informed The Review. This is slightly in excess of the 1950 collection.

CORRECTS ESTIMATES FIGURE FOR 1949

Reeve C. E. Bentley has pointed out a misstatement in last week's report on municipal estimates. A figure of $31,045 was quoted for general municipal estimates in 1949. This should have read $52,744, requiring 6½ mills to raise the amount required for municipal expenditure after consideration had been given to sales tax refund and other revenues.

MORE ABOUT—

LACK OF FUNDS

Continued from Page 1 for some knowledge of the new highway location in lieu of the economic situation in this district after two bad crop seasons. The board letter has pointed out that tourist accommodation will not be put up here until the highway location is definitely defined, and with loss of soft fruit crops the district is in need of tourist dollars.

It was also pointed out that local residents could be usefully employed on road reconstruction next winter to compensate for loss of work at other seasons due to crop losses. In answer to a query which arose the month before, the local trade board has received assurance from L. E. Willis, assistant district engineer, Kelowna, that a light oil mix surfacing would be applied to the stretches of highway between Summerland and the Antlers which had to be ripped up because of frost heaving.

NEW OPERATORS OF MAC'S CAFE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bulock, former operators of the Bus Lunch, Vernon, have acquired Mac's Cafe and have re-opened it today. They have laid new flooring and have had a considerable portion of the interior redecorated. The former owners, Mr. and Mrs. John Glaser, plan to return to the operation of their fruit orchard.

Mrs. A. McCargar to Be Standard Bearer

Twenty-six members turned out to the regular meeting of the L.A. to the Canadian Legion on Thursday afternoon, May 10, when Mrs. A. McCargar was appointed to attend the provincial convention to be held at Port Alberni in June as standard bearer and delegate from Summerland branch. Mrs. Annie Johnston and Mrs. Tom Fisher will attend the convention, also. Two new members Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. Harry Bradick were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Frank Young. Mrs. D. Weis, a former member, who is visiting here, attended.

VISITING ABROAD

Mr. J. Sedlar is making a quick business trip to the coast this week. Mrs. R. C. Palmer went out to the coast on Sunday to stay for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, Judy and Jamie, motored to Kamloops last weekend for a short holiday trip. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. R. Leinor were visitors to Copper Mountain on Monday. Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Whitmore and Mrs. E. R. Butler are in Vancouver this week to attend the provincial conference of the United Church of Canada.

Apple Blossoms and Tulips Lovely Background at Foursquare Church

On Wednesday evening, May 9, at 7:30 the Foursquare church at Penticton was beautifully decorated for the marriage of Annie Woolaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Joy, Trout Creek, and Gerald Richard Hamilton, son of Mr. Wilbert Hamilton and the late Mrs. Hamilton of Shelburn, Nova Scotia.

A garden effect was obtained at the front of the church where a white fence and gate was fronted with baskets of apple blossoms and tulips, and before which Rev. Lloyd Ketchum performed the wedding ceremony. Guest pews were marked with streamers of ribbon, apple blossoms, violets and narcissi.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a lovely floor-length gown of white bridal satin, having a round neckline, lily-point sleeves, and peplum trimmed with nylon lace. Attached to her head with a halo, the bridal veil misted to the floor. A cameo pendant was the jewellery worn, and the bride carried an exquisite bouquet of orchids, pink roses, carnations and fern.

VISITING HERE

Mrs. G. Maisonneville of Rutland was a weekend visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Whitaker.

Mrs. J. Evans of Grande Prairie, Alta., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Evans.

Mrs. Don Johnston of Vancouver is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Alice Nicholson on a short vacation.

Mrs. Arthur Gartrell of Vancouver is visiting her father-in-law, Mr. George Gartrell, at his Peach Orchard home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Daniels of New Westminster were weekend guests at the home of Mrs. Dale and Miss Ruth Dale.

Mr. Don Chant of the UBC biological control unit has come to work at the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Trout Creek.

Mr. Edward Oatway of Victoria arrived on Monday to visit his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guernsey.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Nesbitt were here from their home in the Fraser Valley over last weekend, guests of Mr. Nesbitt's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Fisher.

J. Towgood as a student assistant in plant pathology, and Mel Hillman, student assistant in chemistry for the summer months are at the Dominion Plant Pathology Laboratory here. Both are students at UBC.

Two men who have recently joined the staff of the entomological lab, Trout Creek, are Mr. Earl Fridell, from UBC, a student assistant, and Mr. Darrell Rye, who was here last year, returns in UBC extension work on the reasons for poisoning of birds.

Mr. Don Johnston visited over the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. L. Johnston, leaving on Monday evening for New Westminster where he will make his headquarters during the next few months while conducting a geographic survey in the Fraser Valley.

Miss Jean Erant, Penticton, who attends UBC, is a student assistant on the chemistry staff at the entomological lab, while Mr. Ken Williams has come from the University of Saskatchewan, replacing Mr. Ralph Miles, on the permanent chemistry staff. Mr. Miles and his family left some time ago for London, Ont.

Mrs. E. L. Hume-Smith of Chemainus who, with her small son, Lew, are guests at the home of Mrs. Hume-Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Broderick, will stay to attend the wedding of Miss Shirley Taylor and Mr. Frank Tams, which takes place on Saturday afternoon, June 2, in St. Andrew's United church.

Quiet Wedding at St. Stephen's Church Unites Local Couple

A quiet wedding of interest here was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, May 12, in St. Stephen's church by Canon F. V. Harrison, when Miss Florence Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, West Summerland, was united in marriage with Mr. Ernie Adams.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a becoming pretty, light grey tailored suit. Mr. G. Brown was organist for the service.

A reception for approximately twenty-four guests was held in the parish hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams will make their home in Summerland.

Cradle Roll Tea Attracts 43 Mothers

There were forty-three mothers and children at the annual Cradle Roll tea of the Baptist church in the church hall on Thursday afternoon, May 10.

Mrs. Knipfel welcomed the Cradle Roll mothers and children and as part of the program the Girls' Club sang, and two little girls Everdine Wouters and Sandy Knipfel gave a vocal duet.

Mrs. Howard Milne told a flannelgraph story for the children. Tea was in charge of Mrs. W. C. Wilkin, Mrs. H. Wouters, Mrs. N. Bunning and Mrs. E. Bergstrom, and the children were served apple juice, sandwiches and cookies.

VISITING HERE

Miss Peg Stewart, RN, of Chilliwack hospital staff, is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. Stewart in West Summerland this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Blanchet of 670 Mount Joy Ave., Victoria, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blanchet, Parkdale.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Fenwick who will stay until the end of the month are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Mitcheltree and their two children from Calgary, Alta. Mrs. Mitcheltree and Mrs. Fenwick were friends in the Old Country and both are war brides.

Mrs. F. L. Townley and Mrs. Tinniswood Dalton of Vancouver are spending two weeks' holiday at Sharpe's Auto Camp. Mrs. Townley is a sister of Mrs. A. Blanchet of West Summerland and the two Vancouver ladies are repeating their holiday trip of last year.

National Hospital Day Tea Realizes $90

Spring flowers decorated the tea tables when the local hospital auxiliary commemorated National Hospital Day on Saturday, May 12, at the Oddfellows' hall.

A splendid attendance enjoyed the delicious tea and the home cooking table was a popular spot.

Mrs. F. Brinton of Trout Creek was happy to go home and tell Mr. Brinton that he was the lucky winner of the $25 certificate, with ticket No. 241.

During the afternoon the oxygen tent was on display and Miss May Bennet, matron, was on hand to explain and answer questions about it.

The general convenor for the tea was Mrs. A. Dunsdon, raffle, Mrs. Mel Ducommun; home cooking, Mrs. L. Rumball and Mrs. J. Marshall; table decorations, Mrs. E. Smith; refreshments, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson.

Approximately $90 was realized from this enterprise.

Refresher Course in Nursing Attracts Good Attendance

Miss Fern Trout, RN, who was in Summerland to give lectures as a refresher course in nursing proved to be a very good lecturer, and an enthusiastic group of ex-nurses and those actively engaged in nursing averaged twenty-five to thirty in attendance each time she spoke.

On Friday there was an afternoon and an evening lecture, with the subject, New Drugs and Their Uses; Saturday evening the subject was Obstetrics and General Surgery; and on Monday evening Miss Trout drew the attention of the interested group to Atom, Biological, and Chemical Warfare.

While in Summerland she was the guest of a former classmate, Mrs. W. Drake.

ENTERTAINS VISITOR

Mrs. J. R. Armstrong entertained at her home on Saturday evening, May 12, in honor of Miss Trout, RN, who has been conducting refresher courses in nursing at the high school here.

TO GET RID OF MONEY PROBLEMS— PUT THE ACCENT ON THE POSITIVE

CORRECT MENTAL ATTITUDE VITAL TO WINNING MASTERY OVER MONEY

People who overcome challenges—from scaling mountains to mastering financial problems—invariably start with a mental attitude that is "right". To gain the things you want out of life, you first must know what you want; then work confidently towards getting it. People who are pessimistic—or unsure—or who want to put off starting until some other time—have a habit of winding up as "also rans".

That's why Personal Planning at the Bank of Montreal can be such a big help to you if you are seriously interested in getting the most out of your money—and out of life. For Personal Planning is, above all, an attitude of mind... your personal plan is your personal affirmation that you can lick your money problems—that you can learn to live within your income and like it.

Personal Planning puts money where it belongs—at the back of your mind. If you really work to perfect your plan, money problems will rarely disturb your enjoyment of a full, interesting and abundant life. It takes a bit of doing, admittedly, but you can achieve it if you really want to. The first step towards achieving it is to drop into the West Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal and see Charles Guernsey, the accountant. He will be glad to give you a copy of the booklet Personal Planning, without any obligation. Advt.

THERE'S A JOB TO BE DONE IN '51

Census Count

1951 Farm Census To Provide Data On Size Of Farms

How many acres does a farmer in the Maritimes, in Quebec, Ontario, British Columbia or the prairie provinces operate? What changes are taking place on Canadian farms as a result of wider use of tractors, combines and other large-scale farm equipment? The answers to these questions, which are typical of many received by the dominion bureau of statistics, will be obtained in the 1951 census which starts in June next. Comparisons with earlier census data will show the extent of the changes.

According to previous censuses, most farms in Canada are what are commonly called "family sized" farms. They are operated by the owner or tenant with the aid of members of the family and perhaps hired or seasonal help. There is a growing tendency, however, towards larger farms, especially in the grain-growing areas of western Canada. With the greater use of power equipment on farms, increased size has not necessarily resulted in the need for hiring more labor.

In 1901, according to the census of that year, the average area per farm in Canada was 124 acres. The size increased during each census period until 1941 when the average was 237 acres. In Quebec the average rose from 103 acres in 1901 to 117 in 1941, Ontario from 105 acres to 126, New Brunswick from 120 to 124 acres, Nova Scotia from 93 to 116 acres, and Prince Edward Island from 87 to 96 acres. Increases in the Prairie Provinces have been more spectacular, rising in Manitoba from 274 acres to 291, Saskatchewan from 285 to 423, and Alberta from 289 to 434. In British Columbia the average declined

Christenings at Two Services in United Churches

Whit Sunday in the church calendar or Whitsuntide is the seventh Sunday after Easter, and often was shortened to Whitsun. This was because of the white garments worn at this church festival, which was a great season for christenings.

This year, the modern observance of Mother's Day, fell upon the same day, and in St. Andrew's United church five children were christened at the morning service by Rev. H. R. Whitmore.

They were four girls, Betty June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave McInnis; Sheila Lorraine, Mr. and Mrs. J. McLachlan's daughter; Linda Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. LaPlante; and Rita Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Stevenson. The boy was Terry Glen, Mr. and Mrs. M. Ducommun's son.

In the evening at Lakeside United, Mr. Whitmore performed christening ceremonies for six children, four girls and two boys.

The former were, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Charles who was given the names of Christine Elaine; Elizabeth Donna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Orr; Gloria Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Tilbe; and Marjorie Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brake.

The latter were Brian Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Eden, and Garry Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Greer.

PENTICTON STILL DOUBTFUL ENTRY IN PUCK LOOP

Completion of the new Pentiction arena is the deciding factor in Pentiction's entry in the Mainline-Okanagan hockey league next winter a meeting of league officials in Pentiction on Sunday was informed. The southern city has tentatively made application for a franchise in the loop.

Wobbly Infield Loses Extra Inning Game for Merchants

One bad throw by Lefty Gould broke up an extra-inning ball game at Pentiction on Sunday afternoon to allow the Canucks of that city a 6-5 margin in a tightly-contested Okanagan International league contest.

It was a sad ending to an otherwise good ball game which saw the Merchants come from behind with a four-run rally in the eighth to knot the count at 5-all.

Clifton was the winning pitcher, limiting the Merchants to five clouts and striking out twelve. Gil Jacobs was back from the coast but showed lack of practice, walking seven Pentiction batters and only striking out a half dozen.

Burgart was the leading offensive player, getting a double and a triple in four trips. Gould was the only Merchant to find Clifton's offerings for two bingles.

Infield Has Bad Day
Weak infield play was the deciding factor for the Merchants as Sandy Jomori and Kato had difficulty all day, booting three and making a bad throw for two errors each. Ernie Jomori replaced Kato at third in the eighth.

Merchants took an early lead, Kuroda scoring on Gould's single to centrefield which was muffed by Raitt. Canucks came right back in their half of the first to knot the count when Val Eshelman scored on Ashley's single after a smart doubleplay had eliminated two threats.

Canucks went ahead in the third when Burgart tripled and scored on Ashley's long fly to centre.

Another run was added in the fifth when Sandy Jomori booted Val Eshelman's grounder, scoring as Ashley was forced at second with the bases loaded. Two Pentiction runs came across in the sixth to make the count 5-1 as Clifton was safe on Jomori's second error, coming home on Val Eshelman's double. Burgart doubled to score Eshelman.

Then came the eighth which saw the Merchants' four-run splurge. Bob Weitzel started it when Tobasket muffed his grounder. He stole second as Sandy Jomori filed out and Gil Jacobs walked. Kuroda walked and Dunham's single scored Weitzel. Gould singled to score Kuroda, advancing to second on the play. Then Taylor walloped one to centrefield where Chuck Raitt made his second error.

Dunham came across to tie the score and Gould tried to make it from second but was thrown out at the plate. Nesbitt went in to pinch-hit for Kato but grounded out to end the rally.

Going into the last of the tenth Moore was hit by a pitched ball, went to second on a passed ball and scored when Gould threw the ball into the dirt trying to cut off a steal to third base, after Eshelman had grounded out, third to first.

Merchants return to Summerland Living Memorial athletic park this weekend to entertain Brewster.

Phil Dunsdon Scores First 500 Possible

Phil Dunsdon, with the first possible score at the 500 yard range, paced the local marksmen with a score of 99 on the weekly shoot on Sunday at the Summerland Rifle Club range.

Twenty-five shooters turned out in preparation for the BCIRA meet to be held on May 26 and 27. Wm. Louie, BCIRA president from Kamloops, attended and was very well pleased with the alterations made on the local range to facilitate holding this big shoot in Summerland.

J. M. Grant and W. Leeper of Vernon accompanied Mr. Louie on his visit and enjoyed the competition with the local shooters.

Scores for the day were as follows:

Phil Dunsdon 99, Len Shannon and Wm. Louie 95, D. Sanborn and Art Dunsdon 94, Fred Dunsdon 93, Steve Dunsdon and George Dunsdon 91, Doug Price and A. Moys 90, Jack Dunsdon, J. M. Grant and G. Pennington 88, Helen Price, C. V. Nesbitt and Ed. Gould 86, H. Simpson 85, Pop Dunsdon and D. Taylor 83, Bill Young 82, Joe Madison and Joe Elliott 74, W. Leeper and Jill Sanborn 71, Barbara Price 68.

Brawner Just Misses No Hit No Run Game Against Pirates

With two out in the ninth Tomlin found one of Ken Brawner's deliveries to his liking and socked it for a base hit to spoil the elongated young Summerland Red Sox hurler's chances for a no hit, no run ball game, the dream of every hurler who ever walked to the mound.

It was the Red Sox game all the way, with Summerland lads taking a 5-0 victory from Pentiction Pirates, their arch rivals of the past few years.

Henderson, first batter up, walked and died at third, but from then until the ninth inning, when Ball was safe on Eyre's muff in centrefield, not one Pirate saw first base. The otherwise good ball game was marred by an unfortunate accident to Bill Ishiwara, swift young Pirate third sacker, who suffered a leg fracture when sliding into a base. He was a member of the Pentiction high school relay team and had helped his team win the senior boys' 850-yard relay the day before at Summerland.

Ken Brawner opened the scoring in the second inning when he walked and was advanced around. An error and a wild pitch contributed to Eyre's score in the fifth and Red Sox made it 3-0 in the sixth when Gerry Maier tripled and scored on Seigrist's long fly to leftfield.

Eyre and Bonthoux were brought across in the eighth when Fisher's grounder was booted by Morey at short, errors by the battery contributing to the scoring. Brawner whiffed 14 while Ball, losing Pirate pitcher, only struck out four Red Sox.

Despite his one error Bill Eyre played a sensational game in centrefield, pulling off two running catches which "brought down the house".

This Sunday the Red Sox go to Pentiction where they meet the new entry, Pentiction Beavers, for the first time.

both the intermediate and senior dashes, being winners in the 100 and 220 yard events. Summerland's Graham Munn placed second to Desimone in both events and these two will be trying again at the annual Okanagan Valley Schools track meet in Penticton this Saturday.

A Kiess of South Okanagan high school was outstanding in the senior high jump, equalling the valley record set by Brian Weddell at 5 feet 8 inches. He had made it a double win when he took the senior boys' broad jump with a leap of 20 feet 2 1/2 inches.

Pat Hume of Kelowna leaped 16 feet 1/4 inch in the intermediate girls' broad jump to eclipse the best efforts of the senior girls.

Art Maw of Armstrong was a standout in the half mile, breaking into a commanding lead over T. Foley-Bennett of Penticton in the last lap and never looking back. The latter runner, however, came back strongly in the gruelling 440 yard run to shake off a determined bid by M. Garbutt of Vernon to win in 56 seconds.

Summerland's junior girls' relay team was the most disappointed group on the field Saturday afternoon. The flashy quartette had the race "in the bag" when the baton was dropped for the last lap.

It was a grand day for a track meet. The rain on Friday firmed up the track and made running conditions ideal. Although clouds threatened no rain fell to mar the day on Saturday.

Jim Pantou of Kelowna, Okanagan physical education director, was referee and announcer for the meet and did much to keep events moving. Peter Greer was starter, assisted by Miss Marion Campbell. Finish judges included W. H. Durick, Frances Steuart, J. P. Sheeley, D. R. Lancaster. Timekeepers were W. G. Snow, Fred Dunsdon and Joe McLachlan. Recorders were G. G. Brown and Mary Ward. High jump officials were E. E. Bates and Francis Steuart, while broad jump officials included A. K. Macleod, A. Gately and Rev. H. R. Whitmore. Discus and shot put events were handled by H. V. Stent, W. T. Bleasdale and Don Tait.

The AOTS Club committee which handled most of the arrangements for the big day included Joe Sheeley, Ken Boothe, Don Tait, Peter Greer and Wendell Schwab.

Individual cups were donated by various local organizations and were won as follows:

Senior girls, Kiwanis cup, June Minette, Kelowna.

Senior boys, Legion cup, A. Kiess and S. Joss, South Okanagan, B. Desimone, Vernon, tied with 10 points each.

Intermediate boys, Rotary cup, D. Nolan, Vernon.

Junior boys, Holy Name Society cup, W. Hardy, Armstrong.

Youth for Christ Rally Has Varied Program of Talent

Bill Bawn, a German Jew who left Germany for North America a year after Hitler came to power thrilled the Youth for Christ rally in the new high school auditorium Tuesday evening with clever tricks of magic as object lessons illustrating gospel truths.

In his address which followed he told of his life in America, having worked for 12 years in his profession of photography, for Life Magazine and the U.S. army in World War II.

Guest musical talent was supplied by the Penticton Youth for Christ male quartette consisting of Ken Essler, Glen Williams, Dan Starrett and Bob Kent, with Mrs. W. Boyd at the piano.

The Summerland YFC choir, accompanied by Ella Mohr, rendered several numbers, while Lona Deringer was piano soloist.

The "novelitem" for the evening took the form of a presentation of tulips to every grandmother present.

A highlight of the rally was the welcoming home of the former YFC Summerland director, Rev. Robert Birch, here for a short visit while travelling with the Moody Bible Institute films.

Mr. Birch gave a few words of encouragement and praise for all interested in the work of YFC here.

1. The earnings from our efforts go into the railroad coffers.

2. Our pay cheques are issued by the railroad companies.

3. Our work is governed by rules and regulations issued by the railroad companies.

4. Should we incur any expense through breakage or waste we have to explain very thoroughly to some office of the railroad company.

5. From the standpoint of peculiarities of duties our deck crews have to switch and spot freight cars just as do railroad brakemen and conductors. This is additional to the regular ship's duties.

6. Touching on the hotel employees issue we leave it to you to take notice of your railroad time-table and newspaper advertising wherein no punches are pulled in telling you that hotels owned and operated by the railroad companies offer the finest of service and accommodation to the traveller.

7. Last, but not least—when our agreement expires it has to be renegotiated at the office of the divisional superintendent, these recommendations of which are subject to final ratification by the general head office of the railroad company.

"That seems to me to place on record the close touch there is between the water transport workers and the general set-up of the railway transportation system in Canada. They feel that they have the same grievance that the other railway workers have. They went on strike for the same reasons, at the same time, for the same principle, namely the high cost of living and their inability to meet it. They feel that they should not be segregated from the bodies rendering public service under identical conditions, identical management, subject to identical punishment, merit marks and so on.

"Of course, they have to do something about it. They have a feeling that they may again have to consider strike action. I am not saying that is a general feeling, but they have got to do something to raise their present standards.

"May I point out that another thing that seems to me to tie them in with other railroad workers is that before any organized body of workers who contemplate strike action may take such action they must receive the sanction of the government through the department of labor. The water transport workers and hotel employees were granted such permission to take part in the railroad strike. To my mind this is a tentative admission by the department of labor that both groups were subject to the same governing factors and should be dealt with collectively.

"Parliament unconsciously acknowledged the unity of the workers by calling the bill not the railroad workers bill or the water-transport workers bill, but the maintenance of railway operation bill. I submit that the railway could not be maintained without these vital links in its operation. To my mind the act was intended to cover them.

"These men, unfortunately, are still working a 48-hour week and they are still under the 1939 agreement. The company is quite satisfied because that suits them, and they refuse to allow any changes to be made in those working conditions. These men have had no raise in pay since 1948, and we all know how greatly the cost of living has gone up in the meantime. It is on their behalf that I would ask that consideration be given to granting to these men, by negotiation, if necessary, the same terms, the same increases in salary and the same lowering of the weekly working hours. I ask that their case be subject to immediate negotiation. I believe that they are as much entitled to a home life that the longer hours there would give them as are their colleagues with whom they work every day.

"I think that it is unfair, and constitutes an injustice, when one group of a given service is segregated and told, 'You shall have nothing' while the others are treated well according to the settlement made.

"I feel that the government has a responsibility. Whether what has happened was intentional or unintentional is a matter which I am not going to go into at all. But at any rate, the impression was given that these men would be treated on a basis similar to that which was used in the treatment of all other railroad workers that were on strike.

"To bring back the good name of parliament, and I believe the prime minister (Mr. St. Laurent) feels that something should be done on behalf of these men, I appeal to him to use either negotiation or some other instrument—and I do not know what is available—whereby a hearing could be given these men and their case be dealt with on its merits, in order to give them a decent chance to raise their standard of living to meet the present high cost."

WANTS MORE DOCTORS
West Summerland, B.C.
May 8, 1951

Editor, The Review:

I have been reading in the Summerland Review of the increased interest in the state of conditions in our local hospital.

Why is it, that so many of our patients are finding their way to the Penticton hospital which is already greatly overcrowded, while our Summerland hospital has empty beds?

Why is it that so many of our patients are turning to the Penticton doctors for medical and surgical attention when we have a 27 bed hospital in Summerland?

Isn't there some way of attracting the attention of young, competent doctors to our community?

There's room for more doctors here,—let's do something about these conditions and keep our hospital for the people of Summerland.

Yours truly,

Growers Eligible for Tree Loss Grant to Return Forms by June 1

All growers who desire to obtain some measure of financial assistance from the quarter million dollars which the B.C. government has provided the fruit industry to assist those who lost trees in the 1949-50 winter must return by June 1 forms which a tree loss committee set up by the BCFGA has prepared.

Some 4,000 forms have been mailed to registered growers but any grower who has not received a form may obtain one from the horticultural office in Summerland.

The provincial government has sent its cheque for $250,000 to the BCFGA and has requested the growers' parliament to handle the distribution on the fairest basis possible.

J. G. Campbell has been named chairman of the "tree loss committee" which is charged with the distribution of the money. The emergency advisory committee which was set up on June 15, 1950, has endorsed this new committee.

Other members are W. T. Cameron of Vernon, George A. Lundy of Oliver and G. D. Fitzgerald of Kelowna with BCFGA Secretary C. A. Hayden also assisting.

No claim for less than 15 per cent of the total trees in an orchard will be considered by the committee.

Nor will claims for 100 trees or less be considered except under special circumstances which will require that application for investigation must be made in writing.

Growers are advised that dead tree figures used in filling in the form should be those checked by the horticulturist, Mr. Hayden points out. When these figures are not available, the grower's original 1950 dead tree figures should be used.

Besides tree fruit growers in the area from Kamloops, Sorrento, Salmon Arm, through the Okanagan and Kootenay valleys to Creston, those at Lytton, Lilloet, Spences Bridge and Walthachin will be included in the grant relief.

W. H. Robertson, deputy minister of agriculture, laid down terms for the guidance of the BCFGA executive and the emergency advisory committee, as follows:

"THAT the said grant of $250,000 shall be paid to the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association to be applied by them to extend relief to fruit growers within the said area who suffered losses to their orchards by frost during the winter of 1949-50:

"THAT the said grant be allocated and applied by the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association in its sole discretion in the relief of the aforesaid fruit growers, having regard to their need and extent of damage suffered during the said winter:

"AND THAT upon final disbursement of the said monies so granted the association furnish to the minister of agriculture a statement setting out fully all disbursements made.

"If the terms and conditions as outlined in the order in council meet with the approval of your association, will you please have your executive express their approval by resolution and forwarding same to this office. Upon receipt of same a cheque for the above amount will be forwarded to your association."

It was definitely agreed by the BCFGA executive, by the emergency advisory committee and by the tree loss committee that costs of administration and distribution of the relief grant should be kept to the absolute minimum.

As the forms are received, they are being segregated by locals so that a quick start may be made on June 2 on checking and allocating compensation.

Helen Kean Upsets Dope In Sprint

Graham Munn, star athlete for the Summerland high school track team was unable to compete in the big Okanagan Valley schools meet in Penticton last Saturday as he had injured his ankle two days previously.

As a result, Desimone of Vernon had a clean sweep in the 100 and 220 yard dashes which Munn felt he could contest with a good possibility of making a close showing.

Four records were broken Saturday as Kelowna high school just edged out Vernon to capture the aggregate for the bigger schools.

Once again bad luck overtook the 14 and under girls' relay squad from Summerland. In the final lap, with Orla Raham having a good opportunity to capture the event, she pulled a muscle and could not finish the race.

At the AOTS Club meet the previous Saturday the baton was dropped by the Summerland team well out in front.

Helen Kean staged the major upset of the day when she defeated fleet-footed Frances Gillis in the 75-yard dash. The Penticton girl had been clocked in 9.4 seconds at Summerland the week before, which tied the valley record.

The red-haired Summerland miss just edged out Frances Gillis in this major race of the day.

Previously, Frances Gillis had won the senior girls' 100 yard dash with J. Minette of Kelowna second and Helen Kean third.

Irene Menu was ruled off the Summerland team when she broke training the night previously to attend a social function arranged by a group of her girl friends.

Coach Wendell Schwab replaced Irene with Shirley Burnell. Yvonne Polésello placed second in the girls 14 and under broad jump.

Vern Campbell ran a wonderful race for second place in the boys 16 and under 220 yard dash. He just edged out the Vernon contestant in a finish which appeared to many to be a dead heat.

Gerry Kenyon of Penticton broke one valley record when he leaped 11 feet in the pole vault. Daryl Weitzel of Summerland team was tied for third with an Oliver contestant in this event.

Improve North Road Into Powell Beach

The north road into Powell Beach has been greatly improved, made into a two-lane roadway which will serve the requirements of that park area adequately, Councilors Norman Holmes and Francis Stewart reported to Tuesday's council session.

The south road, which borders the Sharpe orchard, has been closed to traffic and is barricaded. Only the one road will be used by cars entering and leaving the beach area.

Merchants Humble Penticton in Benefit Ball Game by 9-5 Score

A six-run rally in the third frame which blasted Apolzer out of the box proved the deciding factor at King's park in Penticton Monday night as Summerland Merchants took the measure of Penticton Athletics, entrants in the Mainline-Okanagan ball league.

Les Howard, pitching his first game of senior baseball, humbled the Athletics, limiting them to one run, until the eighth when his control wobbled seriously and he was relieved by Gil Jacobs.

Final count was 9-5, the game finishing in darkness. Les Edwards, Penticton manager, replaced Apolzer in the fourth but the damage was done and the Merchants were holding onto a comfortable 9-1 lead.

The exhibition contest was played as a benefit for Bill Ichikawa, who broke his leg while playing against Summerland Red Sox here ten days ago.

Kuroda opened the scoring when he singled, advanced to second and scored on Boulding's error at short. Moog got that one back for the Athletics in their half of the first frame when he walked and scored as Tidball was being retired at second base.

But the Merchants strode out in front again in the second when Bob Weitzel opened proceedings with a double, stole third and came across on Kuroda's clout. Dunham scored Howard, who drew a walk, to give Merchants a 3-1 advantage.

Then came the disastrous third when eleven batters faced Apolzer and six runs scampered across as the Athletics infield blew up and Kuroda and Dunham soaked out a double and a triple in rapid succession.

Doubles by Edwards and Tidball in the eighth scored four runs for the Athletics as they vainly tried to cut down the deficit. Jacobs relieved Howard in the ninth and retired the side.

A service of dedication of the memorial plaque to those of St. Stephen's congregation who gave their lives, 1939-1945, will be held on Sunday, May 27, at 12 noon at St. Stephen's church. Relatives of these men are being specially invited to attend the service.

The following are the names of those who are being remembered: R. J. Agur, T. Brennan, A. Clements, L. G. Hickey, E. Hunt, J. R. Jewell, P. Nisbet, A. J. G. Temple, C. Verrier.

At 11 o'clock all Legion members are being asked to parade to St. Stephen's church for the service which will precede the dedication service in the Garden of Remembrance.

Legionnaires will assemble at the badminton hall at 10:45 to march to the church.

List Questions to be Asked In Census Starting June 1

Harvey L. Wilson, census enumerator for Summerland area and his assistant, Harry C. Howis, are in Kelowna this week attending a four-day "school" for all enumerators in Yale riding.

It is important to the success of the census that every person has an understanding of all questions to be asked by the enumerator. If the answers are prepared beforehand the enumerator's task will be much easier.

Fruit growers should obtain information on trees and other data from their packinghouses and the local district horticulturist's office well before the starting date of June 1.

For the ordinary citizen, following are the questions which every man, woman and child living at midnight on May 31 will be required to answer:

1. Surname or family name, and given name.
2. Address.
3. Relationship to head of household. (Head, wife, son, lodger, etc.)
4. Household number. (For code use by enumerator).
5. Sex.
6. Age at last birthday. (Prior to June)
7. Marital status. (Single, married, widowed, divorced)
8. Does this person live on a "farm"? (For complete figures on farm population)
9. How many years of schooling has this person had? (All years of schooling including university but not kindergarten)
10. Has this person attended school any time since September 1950? (Day-time attendance only)
11. Can this person speak English? French?
12. What was the language this person first spoke in childhood and still understands? (For infants, the language spoken in the home)
13. Religion.
14. Birthplace.—In what province or country was this person born? (For those born outside Canada the country of birth according to present international boundaries)
15. Period of immigration (if born outside Canada). (Year of first arrival in Canada as immigrant)
16. Citizenship (nationality). (Country to which person owes allegiance. Non-Canadians include: a. Persons born in the British Commonwealth who had not completed five years' residence in Canada before January 1, 1947, or secured a certificate of Canadian citizenship since that date; b. Persons born in other countries who did not take out naturalization papers before January 1, 1947, and have not so

Fruit Crop Shows More Promise Than Believed Possible After Frosts

Crop prospects are looking brighter now in the Summerland-Peachland-Westbank district than at any time since the end of winter, the first horticultural news letter issued by the provincial department of agriculture horticulture branch declares this week.

"The cherry crop appears to be somewhat more promising than at first feared. Although the frosts of April 19 to 21 appeared to have caused tremendous damage, the trees were carrying far more buds than necessary for a crop, and there now seems to be a light set of cherries on most trees."

"Peaches have shown a satisfactory blossom in the Summerland area. At Peachland and Westbank, peaches are somewhat lighter but should have enough buds for a crop on all but the more marginal orchards."

"Pears have finished blooming in Summerland area, where the amount of blossom has been the heaviest in many years."

"McIntosh and Jonathan blossoms are now falling while Newtowns and Romes are just coming on," the report for May 14 stated. "There has been a surprisingly good bloom on the McIntosh again this year. Frost damage to apple buds was lighter than expected. Considerable chemical thinning of apples is now in progress."

The Penticton area report declares that "fruit bud damage from the untimely low temperatures was not as serious as anticipated. Present indications are that there will be a full crop of peaches, prunes, pears except Flemish Beauty and apples, except possibly Delicious in the Penticton, Naramata and Kaleden areas."

"Damage was more extensive in Keremeos and a light crop of apples is expected in that area. Effects from the winter of 1949-50 are still becoming evident. Some cherry trees which appeared normal last year are now dying back and some apricot trees are showing extensive trunk injury and bark lifting."

The report for Okanagan Falls, Oliver, and Osoyoos indicates that the spring frosts of April caused "considerable damage, particularly to cherries". "The crop picture appears at the moment to be better than it was in 1950 on most crops. Prospects for cherries appear no better than last year. However, the apricot and peach crop, although not near what was obtained in 1949 is a great improvement over 1950."

"Pears, prunes and apples, with the exception of Delicious, look quite good. The king blossom in nearly every blossom cluster on apples was killed by the frost along with some of the side bloom. In most cases there was sufficient side bloom left for crop and with the good pollinating weather in the past ten days when apples were in bloom it is felt the set should be good, on varieties other than Delicious."

Whatshan Hydro Plant Opens June 28

Thursday, June 28, is the date selected for the official opening ceremonies of the Whatshan hydro electric development of the B.C. Power Commission. It will be held at the plant on the Arrow Lakes near Needles. Hon. E. T. Kennedy, minister of lands and forests, will act for Premier Byron I. Johnson.

Rev. R. F. Watts

Principal of the Baptist Leadership Training School, Calgary, who will be the special guest at a young people's rally at Camp Sorec today, Thursday, May 24. Four recent graduates of the school will accompany Rev. Mr. Watts to Summerland. An evening meeting has been arranged for Peachland on Friday, May 25.

Ball Tournay Features 24th Celebration

This morning at 10:30 o'clock Rutland Adanacs and Princeton Royals answer the call to "Play Ball" at the Living Memorial Athletic park. Second game in this major baseball tournament arranged by the baseball club and Youth Centre association, assisted by Teon Town, is scheduled at 2:30 o'clock with the Summerland Merchants meeting the strong Kelowna Elks Red Sox team from the Mainline-Okanagan loop.

Between these two games, at 1:45 o'clock Kiwanis and Rotary will stage what has been called a "Ball Fest", which could be almost anything, and probably will be.

Kiddies' faces will be staged at 12:15 with the Summerland Band making its appearance at 1:30. In the evening, a big windup celebration dance will be preceded by an exhibition of square dancing featuring the Summerland Teen Town square dance team which competed at the big contest in Haney recently.

Choose Queen For 1951 at Dance Tonight

Tonight at the Youth Centre big May 24th celebration dance the young girl who will reign over various functions as Miss Summerland of 1951 will be chosen from a group of eight contestants.

She will be crowned Miss Fair Queen at the first official function—the annual Board of Trade Spring Fair which is to be held in the new Arena on Saturday, June 9.

The eight contestants, all between the ages of 16 to 19, are Marguerite Menu, Olga Libicz, Winnifred Smith, Doreen Kilbach, Joyce Martin, Shirley Gardiner, Betty Green and Esther Metters.

Three judges have been selected by the Summerland Board of Trade to undertake the choosing of the queen. Reid A. Johnston will be master of ceremonies for the event.

Method of choosing the lucky girl will follow the same pattern used last year when a Queen was chosen to be Miss Summerland at the Penticton Peach Festival and to be entered in the Miss PNE contest at the Pacific National Exhibition.

Summerland Teen-Town was responsible for obtaining consent of the eight girls to enter the contest this year.

As soon as the queen candidate is chosen, a Summerland Board of Trade committee will start planning the crowning ceremony at the annual Spring Fair.

Last year, Miss Olive Mason was selected as Miss Summerland, and was Summerland's candidate in the Miss PNE competition at Vancouver.

First Contributors To Piano Fund

Contributions to the high school grand piano fund are being received by the students' council almost daily, and the first list of contributors given to The Review this week is as follows: Lloyd Johnston, Ymir, B.C.; Miss Betty Nelson, Keremeos, B.C.; Gerald Howis, RCAF; Mrs. Harold Mitchell (Joyce Hutchinson) Bermuda; Mrs. R. D. Spencer (Tish Evans), Vancouver; Alan M. Hickey, Prince Rupert, B.C.; Rev. T. E. Harris, Langley Prairie, B.C.; James B. Hack, Crow's Nest, B.C.; Robert Bonthoux, Harold Felker, Min Kita, Nan Thornthwaite, Margaret Thornthwaite, Jim Newton, Summerland.

A.K. Loyd Replies to Attack on Sales Agency by Vancouver Sun Writer

A. K. Loyd, president and general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. has issued a denial of statements which appeared in two issues of the Vancouver Sun last week. Commenting editorially, Mr. Roy Brown of that newspaper claimed that discrimination had been shown by the sales agency.

Mr. Brown contended that because certain fruit was sold in Montreal at a lower price than it was in Vancouver, that discrimination against Vancouver purchasers had been shown.

Mr. Brown also stated that the fruit had been held back by the sales agency in the anticipation of a higher market and that eventually they became alarmed and disposed of it at very low prices, which should be accorded to Vancouver.

"Neither statement is correct," Mr. Loyd has replied.

"We had three million boxes of McIntosh in the valley last year and from the very beginning of the season every possible effort was made to distribute not only McIntosh but other varieties, in their due season."

"It should be self-evident that with an eight million box crop, no other policy could be pursued. No fruit was held back in anticipation of higher markets."

"Almost throughout the season, conditions were such in the United States that any dealer in fruits and vegetables would have been obviously ill-advised to anticipate high markets during the current season.

As a matter of fact, that market has been completely demoralized for months.

"When two and three-quarter million McIntosh had been sold their season was coming to an end and for the disposal of the balance we had to have a proportion in eastern markets. These markets were subject to importations and abundant supplies of local fruit. We either had to meet competition and move our tonnage, or keep it at home, with consequent deterioration and possible unsalability."

"We met this competition, and in order to do so had to absorb a considerable part of what we consider to be an exorbitant freight rate for fruits and vegetables."

"We believe that you will agree with us that under any normal conditions of supply and demand, it is the situation in the market itself which regulates the price. It is not fair or sensible to claim that, because at times prices have to be lowered to retain distribution, this price level should be extended to markets where more normal conditions prevail, particularly when the prices being asked are already extremely reasonable and little, if at all, above the grower's cost of production."

24th May is Summerland Day

EFFORTS to re-establish May 24, Victoria Day, as one of the big celebration days in Summerland should be crowned with success today, if the enthusiasm and drive of three organizations is any criterion.

The Summerland Youth Centre and Baseball Club have joined together, with assistance from Teen Town, to provide an all-day celebration program which merits support.

Major interest will be centered around the four-team baseball tournament which brings four of the top teams in the South Okanagan and Similkameen together. This should prove extremely interesting to the sports fans.

Then there are kiddies' races, the Summerland Band, and many other attractions. Facilities have been arranged so that the family can go to the athletic park in the morning and remain there all day.

In the evening, the Teen Town square dancing team will exhibit its prowess, to be followed by a windup celebration dance . . . all in all, a program which has something for everybody. Two worthwhile organizations are hoping that their efforts will be crowned with success and that the turnstiles will click merrily on May 24.

Empire Day Message

From the Rt. Hon. The EARL OF GOWRIE, VC, PC, GCMG, CB, DSO, president, Empire Day movement.

ONCE again it is my privilege, and my honor, to send you a message for Empire Day but, to my regret, I have to do so when world conditions continue in an unhappy, unsettled and dangerous state. At such a time the maintenance of the wonderful partnership which exists between the various countries which make up the Commonwealth and Empire is of paramount importance.

To foster and improve mutual understanding between the many different races to be found in this large family is the task for which this movement was founded. I can truthfully say that much has been accomplished but I cannot stress too strongly the urgency for continuing our work, consolidating past achievements and making progress in those areas as yet little touched.

This is particularly important and immediate at the present time, when rapid political change is being made within the Commonwealth and Empire whilst world conditions remain so difficult and uncertain.

I am most grateful to all friends and supporters for their past assistance and I confidently appeal to you all, at this critical time, to continue your efforts and strive to achieve the aims and principles for which the movement stands, the maintenance of peace and the furtherance of world prosperity.

I wish you all God-speed and success in your endeavour.

THIRTY YEARS AGO May 20, 1921

At a meeting of the municipal council held on Tuesday afternoon plans and estimates for deepening the channel of Prairie Creek through the meadows and opening another channel along the south edge were discussed with the owners of the larger portion of the meadows. The engineers' report showed that 97 acres would actually be drained by this work, the estimated total cost being $23.30. Council has passed a resolution to the effect that the municipality would bear one third of the cost, with Councillor Scott standing alone in a proposed amendment that none of the cost be borne by the municipality.

The waters of Okanagan Lake are at a high level and the freshets in the creeks have scarcely started. The Review is informed that if the water comes up any higher and the wind springs up, the road between Summerland and Peachland will certainly suffer seriously.

Police commissioners have appointed H. G. King to the position of municipal constable rendered vacant by the resignation of J. C. Arkell. There were four applications for the position. It is believed Mr. King's training and experience particularly qualify him for the position.

To meet the wishes of some of the residents in that section, municipal council is considering the establishing of a pound in Garnet Valley. H. Dunsdon, who has expressed a willingness to conduct the pound, has been asked to give a price on building the necessary corral. John Dale has given notice that he will no longer conduct a municipal pound, and proposes to take down the corral that has been in use at Dale's corner.

D. Lorne Sutherland has arrived from Winnipeg and will take up residence on his orchard property.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO May 21, 1926

Mr. T. B. Young was winner of the first medal competition at the Summerland golf course on Paradise Flat. He made the eighteen holes with a net score of sixty-eight.

Summerland residents have responded splendidly to the call for funds to erect a suitable war memorial here. Since the opening of the fund over one thousand dollars have been subscribed, contributions both large and small pouring into the office of P. E. Knowles, in charge of the fund. The municipality has been awarded a permit to trap beavers at Garnet Valley Dam, some serious damage being done by the industrious little animals recently.

Summerland high and public school students made a very fair showing at Okanagan Valley school track meet at Vernon on Saturday, despite the fact that the boys and girls had a long, tiring ride in a truck from Summerland to Vernon. Summerland public school team took fifth place, only two points behind Vernon public, and Summerland high school took fourth place, ten points ahead of both Armstrong and Oliver. Leslie Gould scored the most points for Summerland, and Edna Smith set the valley record in girls' high jump.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Washington was the scene of a very enjoyable birthday party on May 12, given in honor of their daughter, Sylvia. Some thirty-five young people were present and spent the evening in songs and dancing.

The new Canadian National boat to be operated by the Okanagan Lake Boat Company will be named Pentowna, Capt. P. S. Roe announces, and will be launched from Kelowna on June 20.

Harry Dunsdon

It was quiet except for an arpeggio of song from a meadow lark, or the sweet murmuring of wind in the pines, for the boy walking the train between Enderby and Vernon sixty years ago this week. He was not quite eighteen years old, and had come all the way from Harrow in Middlesex, heading through the bush to a place called Trout Creek.

When he got off the train at Sicamous, Col. Forester's hotel, with room for three, was full, so his bed was on the stair landing. Home, and Trout Creek, seemed far away.

Next day, he was heading south down the Spallumacheen River aboard the little boat that had brought flour to the railroad from Enderby flour mill. His name and destination were printed on the box containing all his belongings which he left at Enderby, and with $2.50 left after his trip, and an equal amount given him to help him on his way, he set out on foot.

There was a small cluster of houses called Spallumacheen, now Armstrong; few ranches, not much of a trail. He cast wary eyes around now and then, thinking he was in the far west, and the possibility of a bear. After he walked and walked in the hot spring sunshine, he finally came over the hill at Vernon, where he saw a few cabins.

The lad was Harry Dunsdon. His fellow-townsmen, Bob Faulder, after whom Faulder Station is named, a Harrovian, had come out to Canada to learn farming, a pupil of George Barclay, at Trout Creek. Barclay was a son of the famous English banking family of that name.

At Vernon Dunsdon was encouraged because a young lawyer named Ireland knew his destination. He even knew George Barclay.

Ireland kept him overnight and in the morning directed him casually to follow the road to the lake where he might find a little boat if not that day, then in a day or two.

Again he walked a long way on another hot day, in time coming to a beautiful lake, only on his left, not right side, as he had been told. He kept on, and in a cloud of dust, a team of horses and wagon approached.

"Where you headin'?" said the friendly driver.

"Trout Creek," was the answer. "Never heard of it, but you keep on goin' and you'll come to Post-ill's ranch. They'll maybe know."

So he kept on, and Mrs. Postill hospitably took him in, saying a man from Trout Creek worked for them. The workman was Dune Woods, and they bunked together in the hay loft that night.

Next trek in the journey was to The Mission south of the present site of Kelowna where the Lequimes had a ranch house, and where a house was being built by David Lloyd-Jones for Lord Aberdeen. Jones, and two brothers, Bill and Ed, were sons of Johnnie Jones, all landowners here, and responsible for the name Jones' Flat. He soon put the young colonist to rights.

"When you hear a whistle, tell me," he directed. "That will be Capt. Shorts' boat going down the lake, and you can get a ride down."

So he was put on the boat along with a gunny-sack containing the mail.

At Montreal he had sent Bob Faulder a telegram and was wondering why he hadn't been met.

When he was put off along the shore near the old wharf there wasn't a person in sight. All of Summerland as we know it was covered with water which went up to the cliffs. There was bush all around as he started to climb up the hill carrying the sack over his shoulder.

Somewhere near the present school block a man came towards him. It was another Jones' boy, and as much interested in seeing what was in the mail, as in a stranger. He took the sack, turned it upside down in the dust, when out fell the telegram sent about two weeks earlier from Montreal. No wonder there was no one to meet him.

Timothy meadows and a clover patch looked a little more like farming than anything he had seen, and soon he was across Sitwash Flat, and at Barclay's.

Faulder and Barclay were out riding after cattle and the cook, an Indian, Johnnie Pierre told the new arrival: "The bears got you."

He could hardly scare him after that long walk, all alone, on lonely trails. Had he gone to Kamloops by train the trip would have been less adventurous to him because Jimmie Schubert drove a stage once a week from that town to The Mission. However, he had met with kindness all the way, and it hadn't cost him a cent of his small stake.

Next day Jim Gartrell rode up offering him a job and board. Mrs. Gartrell was like a mother to him in their log cabin near where Mr. Fred Gartrell's house now stands. All his clothes were still in the box left at Enderby. He spoke to Capt. Shorts about it when he landed one day, and next trip it was put off on Trout Creek beach, having been picked up on the shore at Kelowna, though no one seemed to know how it got there. Nothing had been touched at all.

Next year he preempted 320 acres below Happy Valley, including the present Thornber and Evans' Point property. It was all forest land, and there was no water. The land could be cleared but without water it could not produce, so it was given up, and Harry Dunsdon went up Garnet Valley. He went to Vernon to register the land which he had chosen, then started cutting trees, and clearing. In Garnet Valley there was water.

He built a log cabin which gradually became a succession of cabins, and a centre for all the English public school boys, who had been Barclay's pupils. Faulder, Arthur Preston, Ralph Deans, Jarvis Vaughan, Charlie Kendall, Granville Morgan.

Early tools were axe, adze, and auger. Levels were taken with a saucer of water. They made their own wagon, narrows, dowels. On the cabin was a sod roof until shakes were split. Mr. Dunsdon pioneered.

In 1901 he took a trip home to Annie for Christmas, and in 1904 Annie Beatrice Stevens, the girl of his choice, came out to be his wife. He had known her since she was a baby.

The SS Aberdeen was on the lake then. There was no wharf so the bride-to-be was carried ashore at the mouth of Trout Creek by Jim Gartrell, and taken to the Gartrell home in their wagon.

On June 1, 1904 the marriage took place in the original Anglican church, performed by Rev. Mr. Graven. Everybody in the district was at this, the first wedding to take place in the church. Mr. Dunsdon's brother, Jim, had come from England to live here a few years previously, and was best man, while Mrs. Faulder was matron of honor. There was a great wedding party at the Gartrells, then the happy pair drove in their democrat and team to the fine log house which had replaced the cabins in Garnet Valley, and that has been home ever since.

Dorothy, their daughter, Mrs. George Forster, was the first girl born in Summerland, and Dr. Smith came in his pony cart from Peachland for the event. All the

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

The fleshy man in the big Oldsmobile settled his cigar at a jaunty angle and leaned back comfortably.

"Yes, sir," he said "took me three evenings, and the last one on to two o'clock in the morning, to sell that tractor and implements to that dumb farmer. But I sold him. Yes, sir, $4900 worth, and my 5 percent commission on that is so close to $250 that it might as well be. Not bad for half a week's work; and drawing salary besides."

"No indeed," I said agreeably. "And of course the farmer really needed the machinery."

The salesman replied with a word which I'd better euphemize for this eminently respectable family publication.

"Shucks no! He didn't need a tractor and all that extra power machinery, for a little 40-acre grain-and-pasture farm, any more than I need two noses."

"He didn't need it?" I said, naively bewildered. "And he certainly didn't want it. But you made him buy it, eh?"

"Sure; what the shucks! I didn't make him buy it; and I have to make a living, don't I?"

That was about the end of our casual conversation; and as the Oldsmobile roared away in a cloud of cigar and exhaust smoke, I felt very dubious on both points.

If a man can't do anything better than force people to buy things they don't want or need, then I question just how much right he has to make a living at all. And to say that salesmen of this type don't use force is just the sort of toying with truth that they enjoy.

He hadn't used physical force, no. But is that the only kind of force? A person can bear only a limited amount of physical pain; but isn't there a limit to the mental pressure one can stand, too?

And this matter of mental pressure is something like atomic power; man knows far more about its use for destruction than about defence against it. Modern high pressure salesmanship is an intense and thorough study of all the words, phrases, arguments, pictures, even voice tones, which will affect a person's feelings and break down his mental resistance. What it aims to do by mental pressure is very much the same as what the old Spanish Inquisition, which would never be tolerated today, tried to do by physical torture.

Who shall say whether it is any less painful for a man to be convinced that he is inferior to his neighbors than to have his muscles stretched upon the rack? And "everybody is driving one of these now—or smoking these—or drinking these—" can be potent pressure if applied the right way. So can the implied inefficiency in:

"You'll save much more time with one of these." And we have made such a fetish of saving time although most of us have no idea what to do with the time when we do save it—that we are all push-overs for any time-saving device even though we have to work twice as hard as before to pay for it.

Why, shucks, that poor farmer hadn't a chance against that trained torturer. Most of us haven't when a skilled salesman attacks us, whether it's personally, or through glittering advertisements in magazines. Either type of sales talk is designed with only one thing in mind, to sell stuff; and little details like truth, and ability to pay, are trifles in comparison to the all-pervading sales' thirst.

High pressure salesmanship has reached such a peak today that it seems to me a course of self-defence against it would be more valuable in our school curriculums—or in its curricula?—than many things now contained therein. A course that would demonstrate the differences between truth, and the dressed-up part-truths of sales' talks that would encourage children to plan their own purchases instead of buying whatever salesmen tried to sell them; that would help them to distinguish between things people possess, and things that possess people. Or, if that is too much, just a course in various ways to say "No".

A really good salesman could sell such a course to our department of education, too.

High School COMMENTS

On Sunday, May 20, the Rotary club took the grade 12 graduating class to Coulee Dam. Each year the Rotarians treat the graduating class to a trip and dinner. The five cars left Summerland close to 9 a.m. and reached the dam at 1 p.m., after stopping a while at Omak. For those who had not seen the dam before, it was a thrilling spectacle as the water poured over the spillway—16 tons pouring over every second.

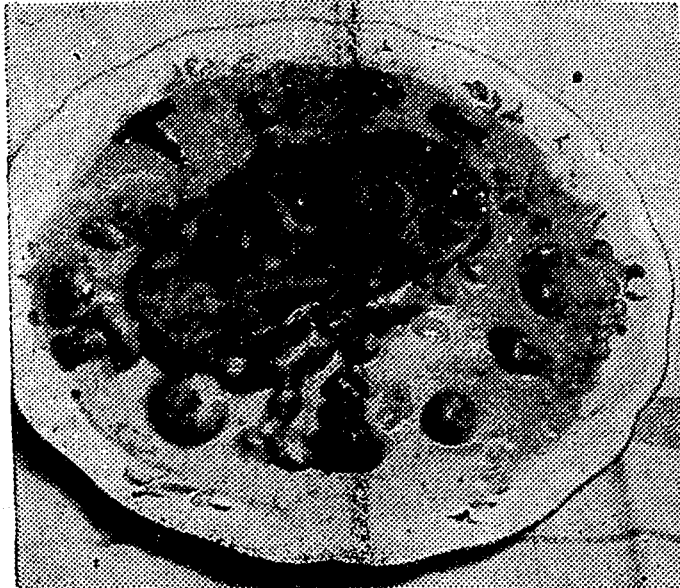

The group was taken on a tour, but it was not as extensive as it has been other years because of the war scare. Although the grads did not see all they hoped to, they had a wonderful time and would like to thank the Rotarians for making the trip possible.

Last Wednesday club periods were resumed. Last year these club periods were weekly features, but were dropped when the school became overcrowded. Now they are back in full swing and are to be held every Wednesday afternoon. There are numerous clubs open to the students, such as handicrafts, camera, cadets, glee, Red Cross, publications, gymnastic and senior science clubs. Each club group is presided over by a teacher.

Don't forget to reserve Saturday, June 2, for the big sale, tea, and fashion show to be held in the school auditorium. There will be a small admission fee but there will be no charge for the tea and fashion show. The draw for the grocery hamper will take place during the afternoon. It is hoped that there will be a big turnout.

If you have a yen for something with a foreign flavor, try this Veau a la Creme. Complemented with whole mushrooms and a tasty sauce, it will satisfy that springtime appetite. Then on the right we have Soupe de Poisson (Fish Chowder to us!) seasoned as only the French can, with thyme, parsley and tomatoes, and brimming with pieces of your favorite fish and macaroni.

(Veal with Mushroom Sauce)
Veal steaks for 4, 1 cup whole mushrooms, 1 tsp. cream, 2 tsp. butter, 2 1/2 tsp. flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, salt and pepper.

Brown veal steaks on both sides, add a little water, cover, and let cook slowly. During last twenty minutes of cooking, add mushrooms to taste, about 1 cup to four servings. As the mushrooms cook, make a thick sauce with the butter, flour, salt and pepper and milk. Remove veal from pan when cooked, and add sauce to the mushrooms, stirring well to mix the juices from the veal. Add the cream, stirring constantly, and simmer, do not boil. When mixed, pour the mushrooms and sauce over the veal. Serve.

(Fish Chowder)

Two onions, 2 buds of garlic, thyme, parsley and saffron, 2 tsp. tomato sauce or condensed tomato soup, 1 cup macaroni or spaghetti, 1 lb. fish, cod or haddock, 6 cups water.

Fry sliced onions and lightly mashed garlic buds in butter. Add salt, pepper and spices to tomato soup, and add to onions in pan. Add 6 cups water, and 1 cup macaroni. Cook 15 or 20 minutes. During the last ten minutes of cooking add the fish, cut in two inch pieces, and simmer. Garnish with slices of toast rubbed with garlic, just before serving.

Grand Orange Lodge Holds 3-Day Sessions

For the first time since 1920, the Grand Orange Lodge held its annual convention in Pentiction last week and was honored by the visit of R. Hardy Small, of Toronto, grand sovereign master of British America.

The three-day sessions were brought to a close on Thursday with some 100 delegates present from all parts of British Columbia.

Mr. L. B. Fuls, Similkameen county master, Peachland, was entrusted with most convention arrangement details, assisted by members of Pentiction and Summerland lodges.

Following are the officers chosen by the annual assembly:

GUIDE NEWS

2nd. Company
The regular guide meeting was held out-of-doors this week. After inspection guides were taken on a hike up Giant's Head and an oral test in observation and local knowledge was given.

All the fire-making tests have now been completed so that all guides are working on their second class projects.

At the meeting on May 11 four Brownies were enrolled as Guides, these were Marjorie Campbell, Gail Stewart, Noella Gibbard and Elsie Karlstrom.

Twelve Guides were chosen to serve at the Citizenship Dinner on Wednesday night and they were also asked to consult their mothers as to whether they could billet a Campfire girl during their two day stay here in July. Suggestions for entertaining these girls will be received at the next meeting.

Mr. Feltham gave his final instruction on the Pathfinder's badge and guides are asked to review this badge as they will be tested in a week or so.

Mrs. Russell White was with us at the meeting and has very kindly offered to continue to help us.

Patrol points: Bluebirds 90, Robins 86, Canaries 80, Swallows 73.

Basket Picnic Opens Anglican Camp Today

Mrs. N. O. Solly of Summerland and Rev. L. A. C. Smith of Vernon have been named general directors of the Okanagan Anglican church camp at Wilson's Landing on the west side of Okanagan lake this summer.

Official opening of the camp takes place today, May 24, when a basket picnic will be held.

Summer schedule commences on June 27 when the first of a series of camps will be held. The program for these camps includes sports, hiking, swimming, boating, camp fires, sing-songs, leadership training and Christian fellowship.

The outdoor chapel is the focal point of the camp. A "camp mother", nurses and swimming instructors will be in attendance, it is stated.

F. J. Nixon of Summerland is accepting registrations for any of the camps, which will be run as follows:

- Adults and young people, June 27 to July 4, chaplain and director, Rev. A. R. Lett. Senior girls, 12 to 15, July 4 to July 13. Junior girls, under 12, July 13 to July 20. Senior boys, 12 to 15, July 20 to July 30. Junior boys, under 12, July 30 to August 6. Family camp, August 8 to August 15.

Industrial statistics in Canada show workers depend on eyesight more than any other sense to earn a living. The figures: eyesight, 87%; sound, 7%; smell, 3.5%; touch, 1.5%; and taste, 1%.

Name Officers of District Associations

Officers of Okanagan Rebekah District Association No. 1 and IOOF District Association No. 1 were selected at annual meetings held in Pentiction on Wednesday, May 9, in the IOOF hall.

Eight lodges each were represented, bringing reports of many activities.

The business sessions were followed by a banquet and dance in the lower hall.

New officers for the Rebekah association are: Chairman, Mrs. Marshall, Armstrong; vice-chairman, Mrs. Norman, Princeton; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ina Evereth, Pentiction; supervisor, Mrs. Ethel Reynolds, Oliver.

Frank Dunningham of Princeton is the new chairman of the Odd-fellows' district association, with C. MacInroy of Kelowna as vice-chairman and Sid Brown, Princeton, secretary-treasurer.

WILL BULLDOZE REFUSE AT NORTH END OF TOWN

Property at the northern entrance to the municipality has been used as a refuse ground by indiscriminate persons. On Tuesday the municipal council decided to hire a small bulldozer to bury the unsightly rubbish which has been dumped at the roadside.

All members of Summerland council attended the quarterly meeting of the Okanagan Municipal Assn. in Penticton Wednesday afternoon.

Boisterous Play Is Presented by UBC Players

An exhausting and boisterous play, "The Male Animal", played before a fair-sized audience in the new high school auditorium on Friday, May 11 when the UBC Players' Club under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club of Summerland presented its spring vehicle.

There was some excellent character acting yet the noisy interpretation of many parts was somewhat overwhelming at times. The audience came away with the feeling that the parts had been overacted, in many instances.

A riotous comedy, The Male Animal still had an undercurrent moral theme which fought the good fight between dominance of the rich alumni against those who would have free-thinking and free expression of thought throughout the university.

Philip Keatley as the rather vague, generally timid professor who wished to be allowed to give his students the finest English quotations no matter whether their origin be tainted with communism or whether they emanated from the most highly-thought-of free enterprise devotee, was exceptionally good and equal praise fell upon his wife, whose part was taken by Sheila Cameron.

Another character part exceptionally well done was that of the maid, Cleota, portrayed by Angela Wood, daughter of Professor and Mrs. F. G. C. Wood, patrons of the UBC Players' club almost from its inception.

Sandy Mason had a lively part as Joe Ferguson, the football hero alumnus. He put a lot into the part but proved to be slightly too overpowering as the rugged ex-footballer.

Others in the cast were Wendy Martin as Patricia Stanley, Frank McMaster as Wally Myers the football hero, Barbara Barnes as Myrtle Keller, Elizabeth Davis as Blanche Damon, Don Withrow as Dean Damon, Norman Young as Ed Keller, Bob Woodward as Michael Barnes and Alex Saunders as "Nutsy" Miller.

The show was originally directed by Sidney Risk, director of Everyman Theatre.

These four young pretty women will be ordained ministers of the United Church of Canada upon their graduation from Emmanuel College, Toronto, where they are completing their theological studies. They are, top row: JOAN DONALDSON of Hamilton, who attended McMaster University (left); and JANE BONE of Rosetown, Sask., from Victoria University. Bottom row: JEAN PRESTON of Hamilton, from Victoria University (left); and KATHLEEN CHRISTOPHER of Schumacher, Ont., from the University of Western Ontario. Women clergy in the United Church officiate at weddings, baptisms, funerals and give sermons at services. Dean A. D. Matheson of Emmanuel College says the women give promise of being effective members of the clergy.

Would Set up Commission to Control Irrigation Districts

Advisability of setting up a commission with overall authority in irrigation matters in the B.C. dry belt was thoroughly discussed at a special conference in Kamloops recently, with representatives of the federal and provincial governments and members of the Association of B.C. Irrigation Districts, executive present.

A brief was read by the ABCID dealing with the "desirability of establishing an irrigation commission." The main function of a commission, "as provided in an Irrigation Act would be to administer any funds set aside by federal or provincial government for irrigation purposes," the brief said.

"Until recently," the brief maintained, "the development of irrigated areas within the B.C. dry belt area has been on a speculative basis. Selection of land areas and crops have been a matter of individual effort.

Greater Economy
"In time errors will correct themselves but it is a long and painful process. The agricultural club and the co-ordinating committee now functioning are steps in the direction of establishing a governing body and indicate governmental interest.

"There is a definite need of some organized body to function as a guide for the future of the valley agriculture, to apply the results of a co-ordinated study of the past, present and future for greater efficiency and economy."

Presiding over the conference was William MacGillivray of Victoria, director of extension, provincial agriculture department.

Other government representatives were: Francis McCallum, Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act engineer, Victoria; Dr. J. C. Wilcox, in charge of irrigation experiments at the federal experimental station at Summerland; E. S. Jones, deputy minister, provincial public works department, Victoria; E. H. Trederoft, comptroller of water rights, Victoria; G. P. Melrose, deputy minister of lands, Victoria; A. F. Paget, Victoria, chief engineer of the Water Rights Branch, and a representative of the Veterans' Land Act.

Heading the ABCID representation was A. W. Gray of Rutland, ABCID president. Others attending were: C. D. Osborne, Vernon, vice-president; H. C. S. Collett of Kelowna; M. Clark of Keremeos; Tom Hughes, Black Mountain Irrigation District; Ken Dobson, Vernon Irrigation District.

FRUIT CROP

In the northern sections of the fruit belt, trees injured during the 1949-50 winter have shown lately their true condition. The young orchards, mostly of bearing age, wintered well.

"On the brighter side, certain undesirable varieties have now been eliminated," the report stresses.

Some Die-Back Shows

Salmon Arm section reports between 50 and 75 per cent of the cherry fruit buds frozen but other crops not advanced sufficiently to be harmed. Earlier varieties of apples are showing every promise of a good crop but many of the later varieties such as Jonathan and Rome Beauty are dying back continually.

"Many orchardists in the Salmon Arm-Sorrento area are finding it necessary to supplement their incomes by working in the lumbering industry, consequently their orchards will suffer from partial neglect. Due to the previous winter injury to fruit trees and recent depressed prices the morale of the growers is not of the best."

From Vernon to Okanagan Centre, apples are carrying a heavy show of bloom, particularly McIntosh "and it looks as though we can expect a very fair crop of fruit if the set is at all average."

"There will be no commercial crop of apricots and a very small crop of cherries in the Oyama and Okanagan Centre areas. Peaches are very much reduced owing to the past winter's damage but trees that are left look as though they will produce a fair crop of fruit. Italian prunes are just past the blooming period and should produce a fair crop."

Kelowna reports a heavy crop of pears, a good crop of apples and prunes while peaches, cherries and apricots will be extremely light. In spite of the fact that there was some damage to apple blossoms from spring frosts, many growers have applied chemical blossom thinning sprays.

"Damage from the winter of 1949-50 is continuing to show up. Several trees for which hope was held last season are failing to respond this spring. This is particularly true of Delicious.

"Labor for agricultural operations is adequate so far this season, but indications are that shortages are apt to appear during the rush season," Kelowna reports.

Dawson Creek Man Takes Summerland Girl as His Bride

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the First United church, Dawson Creek, B.C., on Friday, May 4, 1951, when Joan, twin daughter of Mrs. H. C. Hermiston of West Summerland, and the late J. Hermiston, exchanged marriage vows with Malcolm, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. McLarty, Dawson Creek, Rev. Mr. Rieki officiating.

For her wedding the bride chose a lovely afternoon dress of white-brocade, featuring a low neckline and bertha. She wore a large white-picture hat, and her corsage was of red roses, lilies-of-the-valley, and fern.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McLarty, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, signed the register with the newly married couple.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. McLarty where the rooms were tastefully decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake.

Mr. Allan McLarty proposed the toast to the bride, after which many telegrams of congratulations were read.

Mr. and Mrs. McLarty will make their home in Kilgerian district north of Dawson Creek.

VISITING ABROAD

Miss Bernice Elliott is spending a few days in Vancouver this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Perry are among those who are motoring to Vancouver over the holiday.

Mrs. Mary Milton has flown to England to attend the Festival of Britain and to visit friends and relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Solly and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Wright were weekend visitors to Vancouver, leaving Friday afternoon and returning Sunday.

Mr. Wm. Kopp left on Monday morning to drive with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, Oliver, to Melville, Sask., where he was called because of the death of his grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wood are leaving today for a two weeks' holiday, some of the time to be spent in Yakima, Wash., where they will visit at the home of Mrs. Wood's brother, and some of the vacation in Vancouver, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McAfee.

On Monday, Mrs. H. A. Solly, diocesan president, Mrs. N. O. Solly, recording secretary, Mrs. F. V. Harrison, Okanagan vice-president, Mrs. E. Hack, Mrs. Dave Turnbull, and Mrs. West, Peachland, will motor to Cranbrook to attend the meetings of the Okanagan-Kootenay diocese to be held there on May 30-31.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Berry are the parents of a baby girl who was born at Summerland General hospital on Thursday, May 17.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. L. Wolfe, of Penticton, B.C. at Summerland General hospital on Saturday, May 19.

At Vancouver on Saturday, May 19, a baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dodwell, a sister for Peter.

CANDY STRIPES—This 'summery' dress has full front panels over a sheath skirt. Pearl buttons fasten the bodice, and the fabric is Roman striped silk shantung.

Musical Recital Aids Youth Centre Funds

Flags and baskets of flowers made an attractive stage setting for the musical recital given by the pupils of Miss Kay Hamilton in the Youth Centre on Tuesday evening, May 8, and which was a great pleasure to all those attending.

Entire proceeds from the concert were in aid of the Youth Centre. Mr. F. E. Atkinson, chairman of the Youth Centre committee opened the recital.

The program kept well to time, and great credit went to the smaller girls who continued their numbers with sang-froid when the lights went out, and flashlights were used to light the platform.

Vocal solos by Shirley Gardiner were enjoyed and others taking part were Judy Betuzzi, Judy Johnston, Anthea Morgan, Melva Stevenson, Wilma Matkovich, Muriel Wyles, Midori Matsu, Jean Miller, Eileen Wilcox, Jill Sanborn, Frances Atkinson, Jean Imayoshi, Joyce Schumann, Evelyn Washington, Jane Woolliams, Lona Deringer, Shirley Clarke, Maureen Prior, Preston Mpt, Ken Brawner, Eugene Bates and Miss Hamilton, herself.

The girls' choir opened the program with two numbers, and the final number was an informal singing by the choir.

Mr. Atkinson presented Miss Hamilton with flowers on behalf of the Youth Centre Association and thanked her for her work in thus contributing to the progress of the building.

Federation Hears About Trip to Japan

May meeting of St. Andrew's Federation was attended by forty members and visitors.

Miss Ada Cochrane led the devotional part of the meeting, taking the members back in time to when she had first heard Dr. Kagawa speak.

The federation has been studying Japan and Japanese Missions and guest speaker was Miss Mewa Tada.

Miss Tada showed many beautiful pieces of Japanese embroidery brought from the Orient on her trip there last year, including two exquisite kimonos and a variety of other elaborately embroidered colorful pieces. Displayed, also, were hand woven material, hand painted articles, all in lovely bright shades.

She had brought many hand-made ornaments for the members, to see such as pieces of ebony, inlaid wooden jewel box with a secret compartment, and lacquered boxes, too.

A tiny dog orchestra, hand-carved from wood, aroused interest, and all were fascinating and perfect in the carving.

An ivory rose with a cultured pearl in the centre was beautiful, and chop sticks were shown but not how to use them.

She told a few things about her journey to Japan, and that the day they landed there was a typhoon which blew windows out of the hotel where they were staying. She found the cities much the same as here and quite modernized, but in the country districts the old customs prevail.

All schools she thought to be Americanized in cities, and in Tokyo as many Americans as Japanese were seen.

One department store she found quite breathtaking. Every floor was different; each door inlaid with a different design. Huge pillars were beautifully carved, and chandeliers were of different designs and lovely shapes.

She considered the scenery of Japan unsurpassed elsewhere, with many varieties of evergreen, red maples, flowers a riot of color, mountains and plains as background. While she was in that country the native cherries were in full bloom and were a memorable sight.

She enjoyed the boat trip across the Pacific particularly.

Miss Tada's talk was greatly enjoyed and she was thanked by the president, Mrs. S. A. MacDonald.

Mrs. Basil Steuart gave an interesting account of the WMS presbyterial meeting held at Kelowna recently. It was noted that last year the WMS yearly income exceeded a million dollars for the first time.

At the presbyterial meeting a memorial service was held in which white snapdragons were placed in a basket as each name was read. Included in the list were the names of Mrs. Minshull and Mrs. A. B. Elliott, West Summerland.

Dr. Black who had spent fourteen years in Korea gave an interesting talk to the WMS presbyterial. During the conference a special guest spoke of Dr. Kagawa as the "greatest Christian in the world today".

Mrs. Bancroft was at the piano and special music was given by Mrs. E. E. Bates, Mrs. C. Reinertson, Mrs. P. F. Charles, Mrs. D. Lancaster and Miss Tomika Kawasaki.

A refreshing tea was served by Mrs. Angove, Mrs. McClements and Mrs. S. A. MacDonald.

Lutherans Surprise Pastor on Silver Wedding Anniversary

Most of the members of the Lutheran organization, old and young, in Summerland drove to Kelowna on Wednesday evening, May 16, to attend a surprise party in honor of the silver wedding anniversary of the Rev. and Mrs. Vorath, which was attended by a large crowd.

Taken to the church by friends the couple were completely surprised to find friends from various valley points gathered there.

A wedding service was carried out in the church, an unusual coincidence being that Mr. Vorath had a lovely diamond ring in his pocket which he intended to present to his wife as an anniversary gift, so used this ring at the service, much to his wife's astonishment, and that of the others present.

Refreshments were served in the church basement and a Sunday school program carried out.

Mr. Elmer Harbicht presented the couple with a handsome silver tray and tea service from the Summerland congregation, and Mr. Schimmer, Kelowna, presented the gift of the Kelowna church, a silver casserole and a silver rose bowl.

Rev. Mr. Lang, Oliver, and Rev. Mr. Meyer, Vernon, were present.

In The Garden

Lazy the sun on the garden,
Lazy the leaf on the tree,
Lazy the perfumes drifting—
Fragrance of Araby.

Lazy the sky above me,
Lazy the hills afar,
Lazy the clouds go sailing
Where still blue waters are.

Lazy the bees' low humming,
Drowsy the flowers' hue;
And here am I with work to do—
Lazy too!

—Arthur Wallace Peach.

Oliver Man Named President of Luther League in Valley

The Okanagan Luther League Federation spring rally was held in the IOOF hall, West Summerland, on Sunday, May 20, with over 150 attending. Approximately 90 Luther Leaguers from Summerland, Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna, and Oliver came for the meetings, the additional number being visitors.

Ervin Felker, Summerland, the vice-president, presided over the business meeting, in the absence of the president, Hugo Hack, Kelowna.

Church service was held in the morning with musical selections given by Summerland Luther League choir.

Election of officers resulted in R. Miller, Oliver, president; Roland Vorath, Kelowna, vice-president; Marie Wolgram, Vernon, secretary; and Evie Heichert, Summerland, treasurer.

After the afternoon business session the group adjourned to the Experimental Station enjoying a couple of hours in this beautiful spot, returning to a banquet prepared by the Ladies' Aid of Christ Lutheran church.

Films were shown in the evening. Kamloops League extended an invitation to the federation to hold the fall rally there, which was accepted with pleasure.

LOBA Grand Lodge Sessions at Penticton Are Well Attended

The Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association held their provincial grand lodge session at Penticton, May 15-16-17, with 120 voting members and a large number of visiting members making it a huge success.

Hope Lodge, Summerland, capably exemplified their degree work and emblems of the Orange Order.

All lodges were well represented with many distinguished officers and interesting speakers present, some travelling from Eastern Canada to attend.

These sessions came to a close with the installation of new officers in the afternoon, and a grand banquet, program and dance in the evening in the Incola Hotel.

Those attending from Summerland were Mrs. W. G. Gillespie, Mrs. Edgar Gould, Mrs. Walter Gould, Mrs. Eveline Gould, Mrs. E. Harbicht, Mrs. Fred Carston, Mrs. G. Johanson, Mrs. Frank Dickinson, Mrs. Don Fountain, Mrs. W. Pattle, Mrs. Dodman, Mrs. J. Likel, Mrs. E. Gibbard, Mrs. George Kennedy, Mrs. W. May, Mrs. J. Broderick, Mrs. W. McCutcheon, who was pianist for all the sessions, and Mrs. R. Armour, soloist.

Many Attend Guide Divisional Meeting

On Saturday, May 19, Mrs. Dewey Sanborn, president of the Girl Guide Local Association, Mrs. C. Adams, vice-president, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, delegate, Mrs. W. Durick, badge secretary, Capt. Mrs. W. F. Evans, and Lieut. Mrs. Colin McKenzie, attended the South Okanagan Girl Guide divisional meeting at Hedley.

The meeting was a long one, and many things were discussed, with forty-three in attendance from all centres in the division. Hedley ladies provided a delicious supper at the end of the session which was greatly appreciated. The fall meeting will be held at Keremeos.

Mrs. Atkinson will give a report of the meeting to the Guide Association when it meets on Friday afternoon, May 25, in the Youth Centre.

Juvenile Orange Lodge Opens Session

The provincial grand lodge of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association annual grand lodge held in Penticton, May 15 - 17, was opened on May 15 with the Royal Ann, No. 339, Juvenile Orange Lodge of Summerland beautifully exemplifying their degree work and their numbers in their floor work.

Although this JOL has been organized only a short time the work they have accomplished was excellently exemplified.

Mrs. W. T. Angove of Vancouver is spending a few days visiting at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. S. Angove.

VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Magel, Mrs. E. Adanson, and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Kingsmill of Vancouver were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Heyworth last weekend.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Johnston on Sunday were Mrs. Johnston's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Smith, Vernon.

Mr. Wm. Morton, a former Okanagan College boy, and his son, Jack, of Vancouver, visited on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Dale and Miss Ruth Dale.

Dr. W. G. Black of Vancouver is a guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. R. McLarty while in Summerland in connection with the observance of Citizenship Day, and was guest speaker at the banquet in the Youth Centre last night.

Mr. Noel Lingford who will spend the UBC summer vacation at Beaver Lake was a Sunday visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Nesbitt. Last summer Mr. Lingford was employed at the Summerland Fish Hatchery.

Service Club to Cater for Convention

Members were welcomed at the regular meeting of St. Andrew's Service Club in the church hall on Monday, May 21, by Mrs. S. Blazenko, when thirty-two were present. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. N. W. Gardiner, based on the parable of The Sower.

Mrs. W. Durick gave a report of classes held for the junior congregation during church service, and several members expressed appreciation of this work. Mrs. E. E. Bates offered to organize these classes for the summer months.

A report was given by Mrs. A. J. McKenzie on the progress of arranging meals for part of the time for the provincial Baptist convention which meets here in June. Mrs. W. B. Powell, Mrs. Holman, Mrs. C. Reinertson and Mrs. McKenzie are conveners for this project.

After some discussion it was decided to sell ice-cream, pie and lemonade at the AOTS Hobby Show, May 26, during the afternoon and evening. Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Wright being conveners.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Bates, Mrs. E. Woolliams, Mrs. L. Shannon, Mrs. L. A. Wright and Mrs. Frank Young.

Wide Variety at Rummage Sale

All sorts of surprising things were on display on Saturday afternoon when the Evening branch of St. Stephen's WA held a rummage sale and tea. Spring hats aroused quite a bit of interest and general results of the sale were satisfactory.

Mrs. G. Malton convened the "rummage" assisted by Mrs. E. C. Bingham, Mrs. Eric Skinner, Mrs. Alex Watt, Mrs. B. Lawley, and Mrs. W. Snow.

Tea convener was Mrs. W. Birtles with help from Mrs. B. T. Washington, Mrs. J. R. Armstrong, Mrs. Earle Wilson, Mrs. A. R. Dunsdon, Mrs. Axworthy and Mrs. Sid Myers.

Mrs. D. Turnbull is Appointed Delegate

St. Stephen's W.A. Evening branch meeting on Monday, May 21, in the parish hall heard a satisfactory report of the rummage sale the previous Saturday when contributions were generous and results pleasing.

Mrs. D. Turnbull was appointed a delegate to attend the diocesan meeting at Cranbrook next week.

Plans were made for the garden party to be held in the rectory gardens on July 18.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Moyle and Mrs. J. Lamey.

HOME AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollock arrived home last Thursday after a trip through the prairies and in Ontario. They drove back to this province, having flown east.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCutcheon have returned from a month's holiday in which they motored to Ontario to visit old friends and relatives. They drove both there and back through the United States.

IN COAST HOSPITAL

Mrs. S. E. Dodman, West Summerland, has had word that her husband has been admitted to the Royal Columbian hospital, New Westminster, on Monday, May 14, and that his condition is poor.

KIWANIS SPEAKER

Dr. W. G. Black, who spoke last night at the Citizenship Banquet arranged by the Women's Institute, was a guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club of Summerland meeting in the Nu-Way Annex on Monday evening. Dr. Black's subject dealt with Citizenship in a Democracy.

PIONEER DAYS

The many fans who turned out to the opening game in the Okanagan International league at the West-Summerland diamond yesterday afternoon against Keremeos, were treated to one of the best exhibitions of baseball seen here for some seasons. Both teams played fast, snappy baseball, and eleven innings were required before the Summerland team finally pulled out with a 4-3 win.

Lineups were: Summerland—H. Vanderburgh cf, I. Adams lf, B. Britney 2b, W. Gayton p, T. Galway rf, L. Gould lb, Gertrand 3b, Nicholson ss, Johnston c. Keremeos—J. Carle, B. Carle, Clarke, Miclena, Armstrong, VanBlain, Beck, Prest and Snow. T. Daly, veteran Similkameen baseballer called the balls and strikes, while Dr. Lipsett of Summerland umpired the bases.

Chemical Spray Thinning Can be Great Economy

Chemical sprays have been used successfully for apple thinning. Although not foolproof, this orchard practice can serve as a great economical boost to the orchardist, states the federal department of agriculture information service in a release from Ottawa.

Chemical thinning is preferable to hand thinning, for not only does it reduce the cost greatly, but it also permits an earlier operation. By early thinning, that is, before fruit bud differentiation, there is less chance of the trees being biennial in habit, and the remaining apples tend to have greater size and improved quality.

The set of fruit depends on many factors; inheritance of the variety, soil, vigor of tree, conditions of the previous season and the suitability of the weather for insect pollination. A knowledge of these factors will aid greatly in deciding whether or not these thinning sprays should be used, say D. S. Blair and S. H. Nelson, division of horticulture, central experimental farm, Ottawa.

The dinitros have given fairly constant and satisfactory results with heavy setting varieties such as Melba, applications being made when seventy-five percent of the blossoms are out and the king blossoms pollinated. The sprays are caustic in effect, destroying both the dehiscend and indehiscend pollen. However, if the pollen tube has penetrated more than two millimetres down the style, fertilization is not prevented. For this reason, good judgment on the part of the grower is essential. The part lay of twelve to twenty-four hours may make the difference between success and failure.

The other floral parts and young leaves present are often severely injured by the sprays. However, the trees recover quickly and appear normal at harvest time. The dinitros are likely to overthin in cool humid weather or on trees in areas of poor drainage.

The hormone sprays containing naphthaleneacetic acid can be applied from petal fall till three weeks later. The later applications, while taking a high concentration and sacrificing some size and annual bearing, allow the grower to ascertain the need of thinning.

The effect of the hormone is not immediate. At first there may appear to be an increased set. However, there will be a heavy drop of young fruit which would normally adhere and thus an overall thinning.

The hormones are not caustic, but withering does occur immediately after application. This latter results in some dwarfing and crinkling along the midrib of the foliage which persists throughout the season. This injury has been largely avoided by later applications.

Must Rotate Vegetable Crops To Maintain Soil Composition

Every gardener should so plan his cropping scheme that the physical and chemical composition of his soil will be maintained or even improved from year to year. The ideal way to do this, says L. G. Denby of the experimental station at Summerland is by the annual application of a top dressing of well rotted manure, together with the turning under of a green manure crop such as fall rye every spring when a fairly liberal application of nitrogenous fertilizer is applied to aid in the breakdown of this material.

Where barnyard manure is not available, much the same results can be obtained by spreading properly-prepared compost. Where space permits, a good practice is to plant a third of the allotted garden area to successive green manure crops throughout the season, turning each under with an application of nitrogen as soon as fairly heavy growth has been attained.

If satisfactory production is to be expected from any soil, a program of careful management must be started and faithfully followed. The purpose of the program should be to replace in the soil the essential constituents expended in the production of the previous crop.

The planning and operation of such a scheme can be a fascinating study. The basic principles are simple enough, and centre around the rotation of crops. Root crops as carrots, for example, which remove considerable quantities of certain elements from the soil, should be followed by leguminous crops as beans and peas, which remove other elements and yet do much to build the soil nitrogen supply.

These crops could well be followed by such leafy vegetables as lettuce, spinach or cabbage which in turn place somewhat different demands upon the soil. Such a rotation will also have the advantage of decreasing the incidence of plant diseases which are specific to certain crops.

Occasional applications of commercial fertilizers serve a definite purpose in maintaining soil fertility, but they do not contribute to the supply of organic matter. In most soils the breaking down and the dissipation of the organic matter and humus fraction has a far more adverse effect on the productivity of the soil, than does the loss of mineral constituents. It is vital, therefore, to build up and conserve the organic matter in the soil by the use of manure, the turning down of green manure crops and by following good rotation practices.

Due to seasonal and varietal differences, it is doubtful if the use of chemicals can ever be recommended universally. A grower must study his own set of conditions and, for a start, only a few trees of a variety should be sprayed. The dinitro materials should be used at the rate of 1 1/3 pints or 3/4 of a pound per 100 imperial gallons in full bloom, while the powdered naphthaleneacetic acid preparations should be used at 5 oz. per 100 imperial gallons at calyx or 8 oz. per 100 imperial gallons two weeks later. Liquid naphthaleneacetic acid preparations should be used according to manufacturer's directions.

Richard Lewis Tells Of Plans to Attend World Scout Jamboree

Richard Lewis, the Summerland Scout who will represent B.C. at the World Jamboree in Austria this summer, was introduced to Rotary Club of Summerland on Friday evening, May 11, by Scoutmaster Dr. D. V. Fisher.

Members of UBC Players' club cast of The Male Animal were also guests at the dinner meeting in the Nu-Way Annex and were introduced by their president, Philip Keatley, a former Kelowna boy whose father is now director of school broadcasts for the department of education.

Opportunity for Richard Lewis to go to Austria is a great honor to the local Boy Scout and is also a great honor for Summerland, Dr. Fisher told Rotarians.

Richard gave figures on representative groups from other countries who will be at the World Jamboree, in relation to Canada's meagre 32 Scouts. Belgium is sending 1,000, U.S.A. a similar number, Luxembourg will have 200, Great Britain 1,500, Germany and Italy 600 each, India 120, Persia 20, France 1,500, Switzerland 600 and Iceland 40.

VERNON — After debating the possibility of changing the weekly holiday to Wednesday to conform with other valley centres, city retail merchants have decided to continue their Thursday weekly closing. Most other Valley centres close all day or half day on Wednesdays.

Need for Industries Not Related to Fruit Products Stressed to Board of Trade

Painting a picture of the Okanagan as an ideal place to live and visit, Alderman Frank Christian of Penticton also depicted this valley as an ideal place for secondary industry to be established as guest speaker to the May dinner meeting of the Summerland Board of Trade in the IOOF hall Thursday evening, May 10.

Throughout his talk, Ald. Christian exuded optimism for the future of the Okanagan and dwelt on the tourist and industrial possibilities. He emphasized that the Okanagan is not too far from the coast, is close to the U. S. border, relatively central and has received a terrific impact through the opening of the Hope-Princeton highway.

"I don't think people in this Okanagan Valley realize yet the importance of that highway in bringing the Okanagan closer to the coast," he declared.

Although he is naturally working mainly for Penticton, his permanent place of residence, Ald. Christian considered that communities in the Okanagan are dependent upon one another and what makes one prosperous is bound to have its resultant effect on a neighbor.

Mr. Christian did not think that the Okanagan has done its best yet to cater to the tourist industry.

Clean Appearance Important

Keen, civic government must be prepared to cater to the tourists by providing good roads and by making certain that the community presents a clean, bright appearance. This first appearance is extremely important to the visitor, he stressed.

Good tourist accommodation is essential in every community and that extra service can mean so much to the visitor, he emphasized, also pointing out that lakes well-stocked with fish are a great attraction.

Mr. Christian dealt with the value of advertising and displayed a large, well-framed picture of Okanagan lake beachfront at Penticton as an example of one means whereby tourists can be attracted to a community.

He thought pictures of this nature, hung in railway terminuses of big cities would attract a great deal of attention and be well worth the $40 or $50 each which they would cost.

Turning then to industries, Mr. Christian emphasized that the prospective industrialist is looking for suitable site, cheap power, low rental housing for employees and a plentiful labor supply.

He displayed a dummy of a proposed industrial booklet, which "Penticton Industries Unlimited", a group of community-minded representatives from Penticton council, board of trade and junior chamber is planning to distribute.

One of the chief items which this booklet reveals is that Penticton is easily accessible through all means of transportation, by road, rail and air.

Mr. Christian declared that the Okanagan is essentially a fruit growing area and this will always remain the basic industry. But he felt that there should be a diversification of effort, even on the part of the producers, so that when disasters such as have struck the past two seasons befall the district it will not be too crippling.

He instanced the production of hogs as one revenue-producer for farmers which should supplement fruit-growing.

Decentralize Industries

Other industries which might be attracted here he felt would include a meat packing plant, further cattle raising, mixed farming, pottery or brickmaking to take advantage of natural clay deposits, plywood and paper manufacture and a fruit distillery.

Mr. Christian lauded The Review for a recent editorial which called for decentralization of industry. He felt that to concentrate so much of the province's population and industry in one corner of the province and most of it practically on an island is dangerous.

The speaker quoted in full a statement from E. G. Rowebottom, deputy minister of trade and industry on "Industrial British Columbia." It follows:

"Within the past ten years British Columbia has achieved a new standing as a producer of manufactured products. Rich in farmlands, forests, mineral deposits, and fisheries the province has long been a leading producer of primary products. The development of industrial skills within the last decade has made it one of the most productive provinces in Canada.

"At one time British Columbia was largely dependent on the export of her raw materials, but the enterprising development of natural wealth, the extensive industrial expansion and the continued influx of capital and population is rapidly establishing British Columbia as a great manufacturing province.

Great Progress in Employment

"Indicative of the progress B.C. has made in this direction is the record of production values, and the increase in the number of people employed in the manufacturing industry. Last year, for instance, almost as many people were employed in the more than 3,800 manufacturing establishments in the province as in all four basic industries of forestry, agriculture, mining and fishing.

"The gross value of production climbed to the amazing total of $1,100 million, a far cry from the total of $248 millions in 1939.

"However, despite this spectacular progress, we British Columbians must never lose sight of the fact that if our province is to retain its place in the over-all Canadian economy we must make every effort for a still greater utilization and processing of our raw materials for export, and it is also of the utmost importance that we ourselves buy the goods we produce from our own industries in order to foster the continued growth of the province.

"Given reasonable conservation of resources, the natural products which supply the basic industries of the province are more than adequate for a potential which is ours.

"For a population of a little over a million people, our economic progress has been impressive, but increased production demands expanded markets for our finished products.

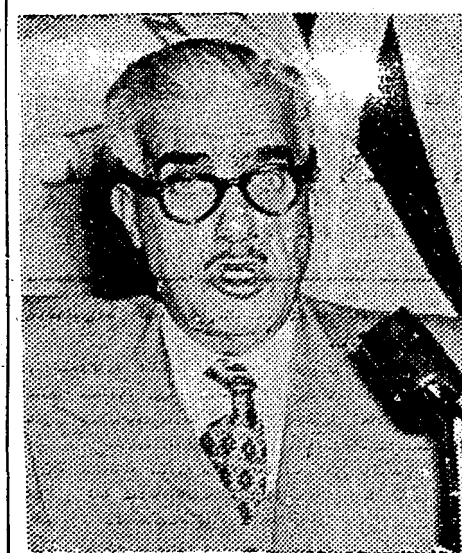

To date, the abundance of raw materials, cheap power, quality, craftsmanship, and facilities for production have enabled us to meet world competition with those commodities we are best able to produce, and the department of trade and industry is constantly endeavoring to discover new markets for existing manufacturers and encourage new industry to take advantage of opportunities it discovers through its world contacts.

"We should not forget the valuable contribution service industries are making to our economy. These enterprising industries are a signal demonstration of faith in British Columbia.

"Low-cost hydro-electric power is encouraging industry to come in and help us develop our natural resources. With over one million horsepower already developed to meet present demands and a potential of over ten million horsepower in our great waterways, we have little to fear that industry will neglect us.

"Power creates industry—industry creates employment—employment creates higher payrolls—the lifeblood of our community."

Mr. Christian was introduced by Walter M. Wright and thanked by Councillor F. E. Atkinson, new industries committee chairman.

W. F. HOLDING, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, recently addressed the joint annual meeting of the Quebec Division and the Montreal Branch of the association and warned them that Canada must alter her national way of thinking if she wants to achieve the greatness her natural resources warrant. "Our exports of raw materials are too high, we should concentrate more on immigration and the eventual production of finished products from our raw materials rather than increasing the export of raw materials."

PRINCETON NAMES FIVE COMMISSIONERS

Princeton ratepayers have selected the five probable village commissioners who will direct the affairs of the Village of Princeton until regular elections are held in December. The five named in a strongly-contested election were Ike Plecash, Winston Pilling, John Ewart, George Gurr and Jack Jenkins.

U.S. OVERHAULS APPLE GRADES

First general revision of apple grades in 20 years is under way in the United States. This project was boosted from a minor to a major overhaul by action of the grade conference held recently at the call of the National Apple Institute.

Sweeping changes are being proposed in the U.S. fancy grade. A new U.S. extra fancy grade is being considered. These two grades would be drawn so as to compare closely with the extra fancy and fancy grades used in the northwest.

U.S. No. 1 is to remain much as it is now, with minor changes to improve wording. USDA plans to issue the new grades in time to apply to the 1951 crop.

OIL MAKES A COUNTRY STRONG

THE ROUGHNECKS ARE MOVING ON!

In the language of the oil fields, "roughnecks" are the men of the drilling crews who probe deep in the earth for oil. You'll find them in any oil field doing the hard tedious work that goes into the drilling of every well.

But roughnecks like it best when the going is toughest and most exciting—when they move on to search for oil where it has never been found. In Alberta the odds are against them, only one wildcat well in 20 is likely to be successful.

Working against these odds, roughnecks' drills have tapped more than a billion barrels of new oil in Alberta since 1947, bringing new prosperity and new security to all Canada. In fact Canadians now produce one in every three barrels they use—but we still must depend on foreign countries for the other two. To be self-sufficient we must have three times our present reserves.

The roughnecks keep moving on in the unending search for oil. As they succeed they benefit and strengthen the entire nation.

NOTES from PARLIAMENT HILL

(By O. L. JONES, MP for Yale)

The estimates for the department of national defence were up for consideration this week to authorize commitments for this purpose of $3,831,270,000.

The discussion following the presenting of these estimates was entirely confined to the defence of the country, both civil and military. The debate produced some very healthy suggestions, particularly with regard to civil defence. Later on, the minister outlined all that had been done and what it is intended to do from now on.

The statements made by the minister gave us some reassurance that this work is being carried on successfully. Up to that time, many of us felt that in the matter of civil defence, Canada was lagging behind all other nations who are preparing to defend their shores from any possible enemy. While this vast sum of money will have a tremendous effect upon our present and future economy, such is the present world tension that no party criticized the huge expenditure.

Regarding the military defence of the country, I am still not satisfied that we are doing all that could be done, and possibly we are relying too much on assistance from the United States in case of need. The failure of Canada to standardize its military equipment was severely criticized and it would appear that from now on, Canada must have two sets of rifles and other equipment, one to match those of the United States when fighting in the same area and another to match those of Britain should our troops be fighting in Europe.

The situation seems absurd, because duplication of this nature must cost the Canadian public millions of extra dollars.

The government has been requested by several members to give an answer to the question whether they intend to ship wheat to relieve the famine in India or not. The prime minister stated that we have been in touch with the Indian government but are not in a position to give an answer to the house at the present time. Meanwhile, these people are starving and dying through lack of wheat that we could very well spare at this time.

This is regrettable because both Communist China and Russia are taking advantage of the situation by supplying India with the needed grain from meagre stock while, apparently, we in Canada are still thinking about it.

The opposition took strong exception to the method under which divorce bills are passed by the house of Commons, proceeding to demand that each bill be discussed. Prior to this, it has been the custom to get anywhere from 50 to 150 bills passed in a matter of seconds without discussion or without any thought being given to the circumstances that called for the divorce beyond the recommendation by the senate committee that the divorce be granted.

Many of these bills, from the evidence printed, would appear to be questionable. That is, it is questionable whether collusion has not been entered into. The reason for the opposition to these bills is not against the principle or divorce, but against parliament being degraded into a cheap divorce mill.

Quebec and Newfoundland refuse to set up provincial courts to take care of these cases, so the federal government has made a practice of taking care of them through parliamentary procedure. The opposition has made the suggestion that an exchequer court in Ottawa take over this work, thereby handling what is obviously a legal matter through the proper legal channels.

The only way the opposition can force the government to act is to hold up the bills and deal with them one by one during the two hours weekly allowed for private bills. Unfortunately, other private bills are held up until the divorce bills are disposed of.

One good suggestion made was the setting up of a family court where these matters could be dealt with from a different approach, namely with a view of reconciliation.

As this letter is being written, the Indian act is up for discussion. Complaints have been registered that the Indians themselves were not given an opportunity to meet the committee on Indian affairs. The minister in charge of this department made a general statement that the Indians were satisfied with the new Act, but from wires and letters received by several members, it would appear that this is not the case.

The Indians feel that the bill does not give them that independence and equality with their white brothers that they feel they are entitled to.

The act does bring certain relief to Indian families and is the most progressive act that has yet been designed to take care of our native Indians.

Three new bills were introduced this week; one to amend the veterans business and professional allowance act. Under this act veterans could borrow money to start or extend a business venture. This act has been in operation for the past few years and many veterans have made a success in business, through being able to borrow money under this act.

The other one was to make the benefits available to veterans also available to those now serving or about to serve in the special forces, both in Canada and abroad. This may help to stimulate the recruiting of men for the special brigade.

From reports in the house, the rate of enlistment is not very encouraging for the department of national defence, although that department is spending a great deal of money in advertising and other propaganda methods to get recruits for this particular service.

The gravity of the situation as we in Ottawa understand it, calls for a great effort on our part to build up strong defensive forces, composed mostly of swift aircraft suitable of intercepting the enemy before they can reach their targets, as well as a net-work of radar warning stations all across the Dominion.

School Spirit Expected to Grow as Pupils Accustomed to New System

At the regular meeting of the school board on Monday evening, May 13, in the board room it was decided that no grant would be given by the board to the high school annual, although the board will take out an advertisement in the book.

It was thought that the students with better organization and extra effort could obtain enough money from advertisements to finance the annual.

It was suggested that a certain amount of time is necessary to unify school spirit and co-operative action following the change-over from senior high to junior-senior high, when groups of younger pupils have become part of the student body, and improvement in concerted efforts should be evidenced another term.

Subject of bicycle racks came up for discussion and Inspector Matheson recommended those made of concrete as used in school district 23, Kelowna. These will be seen by members of the board before action is taken. In the meantime students will be instructed to keep bikes away from the building and off new plantings around the grounds.

The public address system has been installed by Barvic Engineering Co. Vancouver, and is in operation, which accounts for the queer noises emanating from the school at odd hours over a recent weekend.

The secretary was asked to write a letter to Father A. M. Meulenbergh to thank him for his several hours of help in putting up the cyclorama curtains, on the stage of the auditorium.

At the request of the reeve, C. E. Bentley that an appointment be made to the committee for civil defense, Dr. W. H. B. Munn was asked to act.

Board ideas regarding sending school buses to track meets were talked over, and it was thought that there should be a uniform policy throughout the valley in the matter.

Landscaping is progressing well and grass is soon to be planted in various places. Larger trees for shade may be planted next year as the plan develops, and it was pointed out that considerable space is needed for parking around the school.

J. Y. Towgood gave a report on opening of the new Similkameen junior-senior high school which he attended at Keremeos on Wednesday, May 9, along with other board officials.

Census Count

Information On Part-Time Farms In The 1951 Census

Part-time farming is of considerable importance in some parts of Canada, particularly in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia. In June next when the 1951 Census of Agriculture is taken an enumeration of part-time farms will be made.

The 1941 census recorded 40,000 part-time farms in Canada with a total area of more than 4,000,000 acres. Gross revenues from these farms amounted to more than $26,000,000 in 1941 with an average of $646 per farm. Quebec had 12,828 part-time farms in 1941, Ontario 7,075, New Brunswick 4,355, Nova Scotia 4,010, Alberta 3,447, British Columbia 3,446, Saskatchewan 2,762, and Manitoba 1,750.

The population living on this type of farm in 1941 was 178,751 or an average of 4.4 persons per farm. Owners occupied 34,444 of these, tenants 4,158 and 1,679 were occupied by owners and tenants jointly; managers looked after 156 part-time farms. The average size of these farms was 101.5 acres and the average amount of improved land per farm was 31.1 acres. About one-third of the operators worked less than 97 days on the farm.

Part-time farms are farms where 50 per cent or more of the gross revenue is obtained from other sources such as lumbering, fishing, roadwork, and from tourist trade. In the enumeration of part-time farms the census will automatically obtain information on the number and extent of operations of commercial farms—farms which produce for sale and provide the major part of the income the farmer receives.

Paving Program for 1951 Doesn't Include Work in This Area

VERNON—C. W. Morrow, K.C., MLA for North Okanagan, states surveying the route from Schweb's Bridge towards Vernon has now been completed to a point six miles west of the bridge. From that point to where the road joins Highway No. 5 a route has not been definitely located.

In the major paving program announced last week by the public works department, the following sections are to be paved this year:

Osoyoos to U.S. Boundary, 2.8 miles; southern transprovincial highway, from Osoyoos, 4 miles; lakeshore road at Osoyoos, 2.4 miles; side road three miles south of Oliver from southern transprovincial highway, 2 miles; road from north boundary L568 at southern transprovincial highway to U.S. boundary, 2.5 miles; road from L463 on southern transprovincial highway to Osoyoos 2.5 miles; southern transprovincial highway, Rock Creek canyon westerly, 10 miles; Bridesville, Main street, 4 miles; Okanagan highway, Kelowna to Reid's Corner, 5 miles; portion of Main street and Lakeshore road, Penticton, 1.8 miles.

Historical Society Elects Officers

J. B. Knowles was re-elected president of the Okanagan Historical Society at a recent meeting in Kelowna, with three directors chosen for three-year periods, they being Burt R. Campbell of Kamloops, F. M. Buckland of Kelowna and J. B. Weeks of Penticton.

First vice-president is Donald R. Whitham of Kelowna and second vice-president is Mrs. R. E. White of Penticton. H. R. Denison of Vernon is treasurer and Rev. J. C. Goodfellow of Princeton secretary.

Editor is Dr. Margaret A. Ormsby, of Vancouver with Mrs. E. L. Cawston of Penticton as assistant editor.

Honorary officers are: Patron, Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace; president, Hon. Grote Stirling. President Knowles made an appeal for newer and younger members to assist the parent organization by joining the various branches.

what is communism?

Communism is incompatible with the way of life which Canadians know and which most of us wish to retain.

Communism preaches hatred, resents co-operation and despises collective bargaining.

It breeds destruction; it destroys sensible thinking, individual liberty.

Communism destroys all surplus value, even individual initiative and reward.

Communism in power controls all the machines of production—all labour in every phase of its existence.

It controls the armed forces, using them to impose its will on the people.

It controls the courts of justice, allowing no appeal to its mandates.

It fosters the so-called union security clauses to take away the voluntary rights of workmen so that they may be regimented to its own ends.

It regards all religion as poisonous superstition and liquidates them accordingly.

Brewster Humbled 5-1 as Kuroda Hits Three-Run Homer

Frank Kuroda, the Merchants "mighty atom" who covets in left field, found one of Tabor's offerings to his liking on Sunday at the Living Memorial athletic park and lifted it far into his own outer garden for a home run with two on board.

This proved the clincher as the Merchants went on to defeat visiting Brewster 5-1 in an Okanagan International baseball league contest.

Kifer replaced Tabor on the mound for the visitors and held the Merchants scoreless for the rest of the game, but the damage had already been done.

What proved to be the winning runs came in the third frame when Jack Dunham lifted a fat one to the centre pasture scoring Gil Jacobs. Vanderburgh's high fly to deep centre scored Dunham and the Merchants took the lead 2-0.

Kato and Bob Weitzel were on the paths, the former on the strength of a nice double to right field when Kuroda planted his home run effort in the fourth stanza, to give the Merchants a 5-0 lead.

Merchants threatened to make it a walkaway in the fifth when the bags were loaded, but Vanderburgh was forced at the plate, Bob Weitzel struck out, and Sandy Jomori grounded out, to relieve the pressure on Brewster.

Bohringer spoiled Gil Jacobs' chances of a shutout when he patted a smart clout in centre field for a triple, scoring when Sandy Jomori booted one at short, the only error of the contest.

Jacobs held the visitors to six clouts, while his team-mates were garnering seven, five of which were collected off Tabor's pitching.

Best fielding effort of the game was pulled off by "Babe" Kuroda who hauled down a terrific clout by Galideau. The "Babe" went right out to the track to rob the Brewster shortstop of a hit.

Next Sunday, the Merchants travel to Mansfield.

HART WINNER — Milt Schmidt, 33-year-old captain of Boston Bruins, has been voted the Hart Trophy, as most valuable player to his team, in the National Hockey League. It was the first individual award the Kitchener, Ont., native has won in his 12 seasons in the league. He was recently chosen as centre of the NHL all-star team.

Gordon Finch Top Man at Trap Shoot

Gordon Finch of Kelowna, with only one miss in fifty shots, won the high aggregate award at the Summerland Trap Club shoot last Sunday afternoon as marksmen, from widely scattered points gathered here for the annual spring shoot, a highlight for all trap club artists in the interior.

One of the features of the day was the presentation of a new trophy by members of the Lewiston, Idaho, trap club, who are yearly competitors at the Summerland shoot.

This trophy, which will be competed for annually by members of the Summerland club and Lewiston, is a "buddy shoot" prize. All members' names are placed in a hat and paired off.

First winners of this trophy were Gordon Finch and John Khalembach.

Clayton Sullivan, of the Elks club in New Westminster was the winner of the doubles event, having been tied with Gordon Finch and winning the shoot off.

The miss and out event went to C. K. Christian of Lumby, with G. A. Laidlaw of Summerland in second spot.

Runnerup to Finch in the grand aggregate race was Ken Blagborne,

Char-Lee Boathouse Caters to Tourists And Local Residents

One of the bright spots in this district from a tourist standpoint is the Char-Lee Boathouse, located on Okanagan Highway No. 5 in lower town.

Official opening for the 1951 season takes place today, owner Charlie Witherspoon has announced.

Started just a year ago, the Char-Lee Boathouse caters to fishing enthusiasts, pleasure seekers and tourists. Brightly decorated, the premises are an attractive sight for visitors and local resident alike.

In the past year, Mr. Witherspoon has built seven fishing boats, six with inboard motors and one with an outboard. Built of plywood, the boats are fourteen feet in length.

Also, he has a sea flea and a sixteen-foot pleasure boat which is available to take family parties across the lake to picnic grounds on the Naramata side or any other part of beautiful Lake Okanagan.

Just off his boathouse there is anchored a raft and diving stand which once adorned the beaches at Naramata. The raft broke loose some time ago and drifted across the lake. Several attempts were made to return the raft and stand but were unsuccessful so they were abandoned here and Charlie Witherspoon has put them to good use.

His main stand has been enlarged this year, with colored deck chairs and tables to entice the passing visitor.

It is his intention to install an attractive fruit stand in season to cater to the passing tourist. His favorite attractions are "Mountain Dew", an iced orange drink and "Ritz" Red Hots.

President's Supper Held at Golf Club

On Wednesday evening, May 16, thirty-six members of the golf club enjoyed the president's supper, following the competition between president's and vice-president's teams, in which the former won.

Supper was served at long tables in the club house where the big windows look out on such a beautiful view.

Conveners for the occasion were Mrs. T. Fisher, Mrs. Fred Schumann, Miss Mildred Clark, and Miss Marjorie Fenwick.

of Summerland, who was tied with Ed Sigaleit of Lumby each scoring 48 out of 50. In the shootoff Blagborne was able to conquer the northern competitor.

Twenty-five entries were recorded, coming from Lumby, Vernon, Kelowna, New Westminster, Lewiston and Tonasket, besides local members.

Red Sox Bunch Hits to Defeat Penticton Beavers by 6-2 Score

Summerland Red Sox took the measure of Penticton Beavers in the latter's own ballpark last Sunday afternoon by a 6-2 count, as Ken Brawnner chalked up his second victory of the season.

Although the hit department was quite close, the Red Sox managed to bunch their clouts to bring the runs across.

Getz was the losing pitcher, giving up ten bingles while the Beavers were collecting nine off Brawnner, including one extra base hit.

Brawnner turned down 18 Beavers by the strike-out route, while Getz could only collect a meagre half dozen.

Red Sox took the lead early in the game when Bonthoux walked and was brought across on a close play when Hooker's grounder could not be fielded in time to make the play at the plate.

The victors made it 2-0 in the second when Fisher singled and scored on Selgrist's clout and a long fly ball by Bryden. The Beavers came back in the third and fourth to knot the count. Morrison scoring Fraser in the third and the same runner coming across with the equalizer on Getz' double in the fourth.

What proved to be the winning run was scored in the fifth when Hooker singled and was advanced around by G. Maier. A three-run rally in the eighth was just good insurance for the Red Sox as the Beavers could not get to Brawnner for any further runs.

Lineups were as follows:
Red Sox—Bryden rf, Bonthoux 3b, M. Maier c, Hooker 2b, Brawnner p, G. Maier lf, Youngusband lf, Eyre cf, Fisher ss, Selgrist 1b.
Beavers—Burgart ss, McCallum 3b, Garnett 1b, Morrison 2b, Aikens lf, Badgley cf, Jordan cf, Phipps rf, Burtch rf, Fraser c, Getz p.

Mr. Sheeley also announces that Bert Bryden has been named official coach of the Red Sox, with Mike Maier as captain.

BCIRA Championship Shoot Takes Place Here This Weekend

Marksmen from all parts of B.C. are expected to visit Summerland this Saturday and Sunday as the B.C. Inland Rifle Assn. annual shoot is held for the first time at the local range in Garnet Valley.

On Saturday, feature will be a 10-shot match at 200 and 600 yards, also a coached team match. Team and individual shoots at three ranges, 200, 500 and 600 will be the feature of Sunday's program.

The local club is endeavoring to arrange a lighting plant at the range so that a night shoot can be held Saturday night.

Art Dunsdon posted a score of 97 for high man at the range last Sunday. Competition was keen throughout the day with nearly a dozen sharpshooters from Penticton taking advantage of the local range facilities to get their rifles lined up in preparation for the coming championship shoot.

Local rifle club is anticipating a strong contingent of coast rifle shots to come here to compete against interior marksmen.

Alterations and improvements at the range have been concluded by the local club members in readiness for the first event which will take place at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Visitors are being welcomed at the range and accommodation for refreshments is being provided.

Following are the scores of last Sunday's shoot:

Art Dunsdon 97, Len Shannon and George Dunsdon 96, D. L. Sanborn and John Khalembach 95, Steve and Fred Dunsdon 94, Ed Gould 93, Oscar Anderson, Penticton 92, A. Moys 91, Bill Young and Fred Anderson 90, Carl Nesbitt and Doug Price 89, Phil Dunsdon 88, D. Taylor 97, Herb Simpson, Pop Dunsdon and Jim Burns, Penticton 86, Joe Maddison and George Stoll 83, Helen Price 80, Jack Dunsdon 79, Ron Taylor, Penticton, 77, A. E. Waterman, Penticton and Joe Elliott 76, Barbara Price 67, W. Cousins, 2 ranges, 66.

Fishing NOTES

(By Bert Berry)

Okanagan Lake—Definitely coming on now and has shown good catches this last week. Charlie Wharton got a six-pound fish, the biggest one of the season so far that has been reported to me. However, George Inglis has had some up to 3½ pounds and nearly everyone has had their share of the one to one and a half pound ones. This lake is a good bet from now on.

Fish Lake Camp—A note of interest to all who figure on staying for a while. Howard Clarke is not supplying cooking utensils this year, so take bedding, eating and cooking utensils as well as your food.

Fish Lake—Same as last week, a few big ones up to 2 pounds and lots of little ones. Early morning and evening rise for fly fishermen.

Munro Lake—Very good. Everyone has had good catches up to 1½ pounds.

The upper lakes should be open by today and if you can get there should be first-class fishing.

Headwaters Camp—I have had no reports so cannot say if it is open for business. Percy Wilson said a while back he was getting a bulldozer in, so most likely it is okay now.

Glen Lake—Good fishing but a nearly impassable road. Don't try it unless you have a jeep.

Agur Lake—Road tough so far and you could have bad luck on the road. No one reports any fish caught when they have managed to get in.

Echo Lake (out of Lumby)—One party reports good fishing but no really big ones.

Bear Lake—Herb Woods reports fly fishing good, up to 2 pounds. Trolling not so successful.

Benefit Game Here Next Wednesday for Injured Ball Player

Next Wednesday, Summerland Red Sox with a "spiked" team will meet an all-star Penticton junior baseball aggregation at the Living Memorial athletic park in a benefit game for Bill Ishikawa, the young Penticton star athlete who broke his leg while playing here a short time ago.

Most of last year's Red Sox players who moved up to senior company this year will don Red Sox uniforms again and covet against the best that Penticton can produce from its two junior teams.

Game time is 8:30 o'clock, according to Joe Sheeley, Red Sox manager.

Mr. Sheeley also announces that Bert Bryden has been named official coach of the Red Sox, with Mike Maier as captain.

Exclusive Film On Roses to be Here for Show

The June Rose Show was planned at the regular meeting of the Horticultural Society on Friday evening, May 11, in the parish hall.

An exclusive rose film will be obtained from the United States to be shown at the Rose Show. This film should be of great interest to rose growers.

The Valley Flower Show which is to be held here this year, was subject for discussion, also.

Both of these shows will be held in the high school auditorium.

Mr. Nat May distributed 'mums to members for indoor growing and flowering next winter.

The society has an interesting project under way. Two pots of 'mums are being kept watered and under the watchful eye of Canon Harrison, and are to be brought to meeting from time to time when methods of debudding, etc., will be demonstrated by using these plants as specimens.

Mr. Alex Watt showed some of the society's films on homes and gardens in Summerland. Mr. Watt takes these pictures at different times with film provided by the horticultural society, later showing them at its regular meetings.

A time lapse film, showing the growth of flowers at various stages was projected by Geoffrey Solly and proved very interesting.

It was decided that the next meeting will be to view Dr. Marshall's garden and to visit the Experimental station.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

With the arrival of the U.S. Military Advisory Group in Formosa, Generalissimo CHIANG KAI-SHEK has sprung into the limelight again, the war in Korea having overshadowed Chinese Nationalist troop movements in recent weeks. The Group is in Formosa to re-organize the bachelors were interested, and had all sorts of names picked for her, remembering sweethearts at home. Through the years six boys were born into the family. Pictures were taken of them in various stages, developed at home, and printed in the sun.

Mr. Dunsdon, tenting with Frank Woods, cut logs and put in the first small dam in Garnet Valley. They named Woods' Lake and Woods' Lake Mountain above it, during a hunting foray just above the dam.

When he was on the council, he and Will Ritchie, went out to discover Eneas Creek watershed to overcome the water shortage of those days. Through talking with Indians he knew there was water, but poor trails. They found Eneas headwaters, reported it could be dammed, and staked it. Later he and Joe Liddell, and surveyor F. H. Latimer, went in and surveyed the area. This much-needed water source speeded up Summerland's development.

Now the Harry Dunsdon ranch has twelve and a half acres, with a preemption behind of two hundred and fifty-nine acres, pasture and woodland. Mr. Dunsdon is called "Pop" with affection and pride by his family and many others.

For a long time there have been Dunsdons on the school register, and with the family married and settled here, it looks as if the name will be there away into the future!

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

1st Summerland Troop

The international camporee staged this past weekend at Crumbacker Lake, near Tonasket proved unique owing to warm, dry weather. In fact, it was so warm and dry that dust flew everywhere and everyone was glad to swim in the lake, which was little more than a glorified slough.

This annual international event is staged in alternating years in Canada and the U.S. Its purpose is to promote understanding between Scouts of the two countries and to maintain and improve camping standards.

Scouts from every troop camp as patrols and are marked uniformly throughout the camp for their performance during the three days.

Altogether there were 41 patrols from 16 troops participating. Summerland made a very favorable showing, winning two "A" awards and one "B" award for the three patrols participating.

All in all, Canadian Scouts turned in a much better performance than American Scouts, possibly on account of being slightly older.

Scout Concert is being held next Tuesday, May 29, and is the annual Cub and Scout concert. It is hoped that as many Summerland citizens as possible will attend to help the boys and enjoy an evening of varied entertainment.

As an added attraction, the Singers' & Players' club is presenting its play, "Between the Soup and the Savory", which won acclaim at the drama festival.

There will be a rehearsal on Friday night at 7 p.m. sharp. Every Scout and Cub must be present in full uniform. Scouts and Cubs are asked to bring money for tickets they have sold and to make every effort to sell all tickets given them. —D. V. Fisher

CROWDED CONDITION AT KELOWNA HOSPITAL

KELOWNA—There has been no appreciable decrease in the number of patients admitted to Kelowna General hospital since the co-insurance charge was made compulsory in B.C. hospitals. A survey Sunday evening revealed a record number of patients are crowded into wards, while beds have also been set up in corridors.

LIFE INSURANCE COURSE TO BE OFFERED AT UBC

Alert to new opportunities in the educational field, the University of British Columbia is pioneering a course in life insurance in its school of commerce, the first such course to be offered in a Canadian university.

Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzle, UBC president, announces that the commerce faculty is making provision for a new course in life insurance. Broadly, the purpose of the course is to familiarize students in commerce with the practices and policies of this important financial institution, and its role in the Canadian economy; it will comprise studies of risk-bearing and rate-making; the legal background of life insurance; the range of policy provisions in such contracts, and their application to the financial problems of individuals, partnerships, and corporations; the investment practices of Canadian life insurance companies.

Dr. MacKenzle also announced that sufficient financial support for the project had been advanced by the life insurance companies in Canada through the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association to guarantee the continuance of the course for a minimum period of two years.

He said that the lectures will be given by Professor Leslie Wong.

Must Have Co-operation for Hospital Scheme to Operate Says Percy Ward

PENTICTON—Co-operation between government and hospital boards is the only means of arriving at a workable plan for the hospital insurance scheme. This was the contention of Percy Ward, secretary of the B.C. Hospital Association, speaking at the spring meeting of the association in the Red Cross Centre here.

Declaring that theory was of little help in finding an equitable solution to the many problems that arose from the insurance scheme Mr. Ward stated: "We are after a plan that is as near perfect as possible . . . you must keep commenting and criticising and at the same time do your best to co-operate."

The discussions opened with a comment from the chairman K. Kinnard, of Vernon, who cited Vernon as an example of the recent government drive for economy in hospital expenditures.

"The government has decided that expenditures throughout the province must be cut by $750,000 this year. The Vernon hospital is asked to reduce its expenditures by $1900. I don't know how they are going to do it. Costs are tending to increase at the present time."

Mr. Ward explained that the terms that the government had set out were "as fair and as generous" as it could make them but he added "how three government officials in Victoria can estimate exactly what branches of your operation can be subjected to reduced costs, I don't know."

The secretary continued with a warning. "The days of making up deficits are over. Any overspending must be made up locally." Referring to cost cutting he said, "examine your expense accounts carefully and go over them item for item with the hospital officials and you will fully understand each item in case you should have to appeal against reductions."

Monthly Payments
Some consolation was offered to the assembled board representatives by Mr. Ward who stated that, in future, hospitals would receive payment for bills from the government on a monthly basis instead of having a longer wait for the money as was the case in the past.

The representatives showed great interest in the proposed publishing of an itemized account, by the government, of expenditures in all phases of hospital operation. Mr. Ward suggested that the resolution proposed for submission to the government should ask for a balance sheet for 1949. "The others will follow," he said.

Collection of co-insurance was discussed at some length. Representatives of the various valley boards reported that the inauguration of the co-insurance plan had not deterred patients from entering hospitals. A report from the secretary showed that collections through the province were between 60 and 80 percent. "The lowest is 30 percent at one hospital," he said.

Wage agreements with hospital staffs also received the attention of the group. The gathering was warned that any agreements made this year would have to be finalized before November 30 in order to go into effect next year.

It was also stated that no increase in present salaries could be made but cost of living bonuses could be included.

"If costs are expected to increase then an estimate should be included in the salaries budget," said Mr. Ward. "If the fluctuation is much greater than is anticipated then I believe that the government will make the necessary adjustments."

New Tourist Camp Is Being Proposed

Plans for a tourist camp adjacent to the Pollock Motors Ltd. garage at the top of Peach Orchard have been prepared by George Haddrell. A tentative sketch plan of the layout showing four cabins, a vehicle garage and office was presented to council on Tuesday by Building Inspector Roy F. Angus. Council approval to the location of a tourist camp at this spot was given.

PROVINCIAL LIBRARY

VICTORIA, B.C.

Vol. 6, No. 22

West Summerland, B.C., Thursday, May 31, 1951

A Washington car parking on Hastings street early Monday afternoon knocked the top off a fire hydrant, with the result seen in the above picture. It took municipal workmen nearly an hour to find the necessary shut-offs to prevent the huge cascade of water from tumbling down and spreading over the streets throughout the business section.

Record Entry List for First Holding Here of Annual BCIRA Shoot

Interior and coast marksmen shared honors at the Garnet Valley rifle range of the Summerland Rifle club last Saturday and Sunday as the fifth annual B.C. Inland Rifle Assn. shoot was run off here for the first time. Nearly seventy entries, a record for the meet, participated and declared that never in the history of the shoot has it been run with such precision.

Local rifle club officials were praised highly for their efficiency and the large coterie of marksmen from Kamloops, Enderby, Vernon, Kelowna, Penticton, Chilliwack, Vancouver and other coast points enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

Marksmen whose names are familiar to those who follow Bisley and other world-renowned shoots were present at the Garnet Valley range those two days and competed for the large list of prizes and trophies.

Reeve C. E. Bentley officiated at the presentation of prizes late Sunday evening, assisted by William Louie, Kamloops, BCIRA president and George Farquharson, secretary.

Local Girl is Awarded CKOV Scholarship

Out of 25 applicants, Miss Jacqueline Trafford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Trafford of Summerland, and a member of the 1951 graduating class of Summerland High school has been awarded the $100 CKOV scholarship.

Announcement of this award was made last night by J. W. B. Browne, general manager of the Kelowna radio station.

This valuable scholarship will be presented at the graduation ceremonies in the new school auditorium on Friday, June 15, High School Principal A. K. Macleod states.

The scholarship contest is open to pupils from Okanagan high schools and provides $100 towards tuition fees at any university.

ANOTHER RESIGNATION FROM SCHOOL STAFF

Resignation of Miss Esme Richards from the staff of the Summerland high school was accepted with regret by the school board Monday evening. Miss Richards has been in charge of Grade 7 pupils, in the main. Advertisements have already been placed for a new home economics and Grade 4 teachers, but no appointments have been made.

Forty-Year-Old Meadow Valley Farm Sold to Coast Rancher

One of the most important real estate transactions in recent years was concluded a short time ago when the well-known Findlay Munro farm in Meadow Valley was sold to D. C. Gilmore, a dairy farmer from Sea Island, Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Munro will move to Penticton to reside, while Phil Munro intends to remain on the farm assisting Mr. Gilmore for another year.

Purchase price has not been revealed, but the figure of $50,000 has been suggested as the probable turnover figure for the 1,000 acres involved, including modern home and outbuildings.

This farm has a forty-year history, having been made possible by the diversion of Darke Creek which dried up a large portion of Darke (Fish) Lake.

Mr. Munro and the late Joe Arkell were working for the Alf Richardson Sawmill when Mr. Munro perceived the possibilities of this ranch site. He purchased the land from Billy Miller of Peachland and another man, who had not been able to determine how they could drain the property without too great an expenditure.

By diverting the creek, it was possible to out the proportions of Walt Cousins of Penticton, with a total of 194 points, was winner of the grand aggregate for the two-day shoot, just edging out R. O. Chandler, Vancouver, a member with George Farquharson of Kamloops of the 1951 Canada Bisley team.

Norman Beaton of Vancouver was by long odds tops for Sunday's major shoot at the three ranges, 200, 500 and 600 yards. His score of 34-34-33 for a total of 101 was exceptional, considering weather conditions on the final shoot at 600 yards. He won the Lt.-Governor C. A. Banks cup.

Vancouver and District Rifle Assn. captured the main team shoot with an impressive 485 total for the five shots. Penticton was second and Summerland No. 2 third. The Sweet Caporal shield was at stake.

On Saturday, first shoot completed, the Price Ellison cup for 200 yards, went to R. O. Chandler with 49 out of a possible 50, two slights and ten shots to score being registered.

At 600 yards, Walt Cousins posted a brilliant 49 to capture the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. cup.

An eight-man team from the Vancouver and District Rifle Assn. posted a total of 725 points to capture the Summerland shield for best scores at 200 and 600 yards on Saturday. Kelowna was second with 719 and Summerland third with 715.

Fish Lake by more than half and leave an area of about 100 acres ready for cultivation.

Of the 1,000 acres there is now about 110 acres cultivated where hay and a small amount of grain are produced. The rest of the farm is made up of valuable pasture land for the Munro herd of beef cattle.

Mr. Munro at one time had sole water rights on Fish and Munro lakes but now shares those rights with others in Meadow Valley. It was Mr. Munro who developed the lake which bears his name as a storage site.

His farm home is complete with a running water system, an hydraulic ram having been installed at a spring below his house.

After half a century of pioneering in the district west of Summerland, Mr. Munro is preparing to retire to his new home purchased in Penticton. Mrs. Munro is already there and Mr. Munro will join her shortly.

The new owner, with his wife and two children, have arrived to take over their new beef cattle ranch, one of the best sections of farm property in the South Okanagan.

Census is Starting Tomorrow

Enumerators H. L. Wilson and H. C. Howis start tomorrow on the biggest undertaking of the year in the Summerland district, in line with nearly 2,000 like officials across the Dominion of Canada.

June 1 marks the start of the 9th census of Canada and by the end of the month a terrific volume of statistics will have been compiled.

The Review asked the enumerators this morning what information they would like to impart to residents of Summerland which would assist in the compiling of data for the census.

"Will you ask the head of the house to discuss the various questions you listed in last week's Review with his wife. If both adults in a household know the answers to all the questions, then a lot of time will be saved," they replied.

They point out that it is most likely the head of the house will not be present when the enumerator calls. Therefore, the wife will have to answer the questions. If she knows the answers as well as hubby then countless hours of time will be saved.

Farmers come into a different category to the average "Joe".

The farmer has a separate sheet all to himself, plus another sheet asking information on irrigation alone.

The farm census sheets were to have been in the hands of farmers before this but there are many farmers who have not obtained their blanks yet.

Therefore, the enumerators will have to call and leave one of these blanks. If it can be filled in, then the enumerator will go over the form at the time. If it cannot, then a return visit will have to be paid.

Growers of soft fruit and pears only can fill in these forms at once. But apple growers still haven't received their returns for 1950 and do not know the full value of their crop.

Know Returns Shortly
B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., has informed the census administrators that this information will be forthcoming in a very short time.

Area occupied by fruit trees, to a tenth of an acre, is to be given by each grower, the trees being divided into six categories, apples, pears, peaches, plums, cherries and other fruits.

The number of trees in each category is also required and if any grower is unfamiliar with the nummation is available from Alec Watt, district horticulturist.

Apple and pear trees are divided into two categories, those over and those under 10 years of age. Only bearing trees are counted. Other fruits are divided into over and under 5 years of age categories.

Queen-Elect

Marguerite Menu

lovely brunette daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Menu, has been selected Miss Summerland of 1951.

The sixteen-year-old girl will be crowned with all due pomp and ceremony at the Summerland Board of Trade Spring Fair, which will be held in the new Arena on Saturday, June 9.

Miss Merle Heavysides, 1949 queen, will take part in the crowning ceremony as the 1950 queen, Olive Mason, is now residing in Vancouver.

The new queen-elect was chosen at the May 24 celebration dance last Thursday night by a committee of three judges, J. E. O'Mahony, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson and Mrs. Ivor Solly.

Other contestants were Olga Libicz, Winnifred Smith, Doreen Kilbach, Joyce Martin, Shirley Gardiner, Betty Green and Esther Metters.

Reid Johnston was master of ceremonies for this special event on behalf of the Summerland Board of Trade. Obtaining entries for the queen selection contest was handled by Teen Town.

Survey Firm is Ready to Start

Stevenson & Kellogg, firm of management engineers, is ready to start work on a survey of the Okanagan section of the B.C. School Trustees' Assn. to determine the condition and terms of service of teachers in this area, Summerland school board was informed this week.

Teachers have agreed to be interviewed, provided a final draft of the firm's findings is made available to them, it was stated.

It is hoped by the trustees that this survey will reveal the position of teachers in the Okanagan in relation to other professions and determine some relation in the respective remunerations.

C. J. Bleasdale is a member of the three-trustee committee which is in charge of the survey on behalf of the Okanagan section of the B.C. School Trustees' Assn.

Edith Adams, Famous Sun Cooking Expert, to Make Personal Appearance at Summerland Fair

"Edith Adams" of The Vancouver Sun is coming to Summerland's Spring Fair on June 9 in the person of Marianne Linnell, popular staff member of Edith Adams' Cottage. Arriving by train Saturday morning Mrs. Linnell will stage an "Entertaining Made Easy" program at 3 o'clock and again at 9:30, during which she will show women how to prepare fancy sandwiches and other company refreshments with the least possible time and trouble. Keeping up her usual running patter of conversation, as she works on the stage, Mrs. Linnell will impart the kind of information on cooking and entertaining that women find interesting and valuable for day-by-day use in their own homes. While she is in Summerland Mrs. Linnell will maintain the Cottage's famous "Ask Edith Adams" service and Summerland homemakers are invited to ask her any questions they please on cooking, canning and other departments of knowledge served by The Sun's Edith Adams' Cottage.

Mrs. Linnell, who has been master of ceremonies and demonstrator at all the Cottage programs since it was opened by The Sun in January, 1947, is a graduate in home economics of the University of Alberta. As Marianne Pearson she conducted cooking schools in Calgary and Edmonton before her marriage during the war to Squadron Leader Lloyd Linnell, later shot down by the enemy over Berlin, Germany. After his death she came to British Columbia to make her home with her father, Capt. Robert Pearson and her young son, Robbie, the latter of whom will accompany her on her trip to the Okanagan.

MARIANNE LINNELL, B.S.

Two Hundred Visitors Expected Here Next Week For Baptist Convention

Some 200 delegates, wives and other speakers and visitors will converge on Summerland next week for the 54th annual convention of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society of B.C., which will be held from June 5 to 8 at the Summerland Baptist church.

Nearly every district in the province will be sending delegates to Summerland for this important annual convocation which was last held in this area forty years ago, in 1911.

Rev. D. O. Knipfel, pastor of the Baptist church here, is head of the local convention committee and has many subcommittees hard at work arranging for these meetings.

The convention will be opened on Tuesday, June 5, with the WMS sessions which commence with registration at 9:30. Mrs. D. O. Knipfel, president of the Summerland Baptist WMS will give a welcome to the delegates at 10:15, which will be followed by appointment of committees and reports.

Sessions continue throughout the day with a luncheon at 12:45 and a dinner, presided over by Young Women's Auxiliaries at 6 p.m.

In the evening a song service will be held at 7:45 followed by a general meeting which will be open to the public.

The WMS convention concludes Wednesday morning with further business sessions, with a luncheon as a windup at 12:45.

The same morning, Wednesday, June 6, the Baptist church convention gets underway with a meeting of the board of trustees.

Rev. D. O. Knipfel, pastor of the Baptist church, will open the convention with worship at 2 o'clock.

All evening sessions are open to the public and will be featured by outstanding speakers, Rev. Mr. Knipfel points out.

Conclude on Friday
Sessions continue until Friday evening when the evening service will conclude with the Benediction, by the new president who will be chosen to succeed the present incumbent, J. D. Armour.

Rev. Earl C. Merrick, DD, distinguished missionary in Bolivia, will be the special speaker at the Baptist convention and will first address the Tuesday evening session. His first scheduled appearance at the Baptist church sessions will be on Wednesday evening when his subject will be "The first rule of service—faith."

Reeve C. E. Bentley will extend an official welcome to the delegates on behalf of the Municipality of Summerland at this evening service.

Rev. F. W. Haskins, Edmonton, former pastor of the Baptist church here, will be welcomed back during the convention and will speak during the Thursday morning chapel period on "Co-workers with God—God's husbandry."

The convention theme has been chosen as "Co-workers with God."

On Thursday evening, Dr. Merrick will deliver an address on "The hardest rule of service—Faith." Continued on Page 10

Dominion Pays $1,400 To Schools

Summerland school district has received a cheque for $1,415.36 from the federal department of agriculture to compensate for pupils living on Dominion government property who used facilities of Summerland school during the period January 1, 1949 to June 30, 1950.

This is the result of several years' negotiation and only came about following passage of an order-in-council recently authorizing federal departments to reimburse school boards for facilities used in organized areas.

It has been contended for years that pupils who live on federal property and whose parents do not contribute in any direct way to the financing of the municipality, should pay a tuition fee to the school district.

The order-in-council authorized that the tuition plan should be made retroactive to January 1, 1949.

About ten pupils from the experimental station were involved in this payment.

Okanagan Flower Show August 22

Summerland is to have the honor of staging the first Okanagan Valley Flower Show which will be held on August 25.

The executives of all Okanagan horticultural societies and garden clubs have undertaken to sponsor an annual show which will be distinctly of the Okanagan.

At present, four Summerland men, E. H. Bennett, Alec Watt, Wm. Snow and N. May are preparing a tentative prize list for submission to each local horticultural society for its consideration, after which each society is being asked to send suggestions to the central executive.

The Summerland group will meet later with the central when the list will be finalized.

Each local is being assessed a small sum per member as a contribution to the central for operational funds, and some of this money will augment the prize list of the Valley Show as cash prizes.

The central executive will probably supply a cup or bowl for annual competition for grand aggregate prize.

Each member society has been asked to supply a cup or bowl for valley competition, the executive to decide in which class it will be awarded.

The Valley Flower Show will not interfere with local shows although when the big show is held in any centre, that place will not hold its usual large annual show that year.

It is thought that the show will be held in the school auditorium.

Codling Moth is Starting to Show

Codling moth appeared here ten days ago but the cool weather has retarded their progress. Alec Watt, district horticulturist, told The Review today. If warmer weather is in the offing, then a recurrence of the dreaded moths in more profusion can be expected and spraying precautions will have to be taken, he warns. Spraying programs have been held up in the past ten days because of recurring winds.

EXCHANGE OF RESIDENTS
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McLean, Hospital Hill have sold their orchard to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powers, Penticton, who will move here, while Mr. and Mrs. McLean have gone to live at Penticton.

Summerland is a Busy Place

SUMMERLAND is an extremely busy place right now. Every day some new function is presented to keep many persons occupied.

In the past week there has been the highly successful Citizenship Day banquet, an equally successful May 24 celebration, a highly-praiseworthy AOTS annual Hobby Show, and a bangup Scout Concert, besides numerous other attractions not of such widespread interest, but equally of note in their own sphere.

Next week, Summerland plays host to the fifty-fourth annual convention of the Baptist Churches of British Columbia, an honor which has not befallen this community in forty years.

And when the convention is concluded, the annual Board of Trade Spring Fair will serve as a fitting climax to a busy, industrious and profitable week.

We use the word profitable not from a monetary standpoint but in the hope that from the deliberations of the churchmen will result a spiritual gain for this well-known congregation and, although it represents a decidedly different sphere, that from the presentations of the Spring Fair will come a furtherance of knowledge from the displays and lectures and that the community will be brought together in a manner not otherwise possible.

Her Excellency, Queen-elect Marguerite Menu, Miss Summerland of 1951, is to be crowned on this festive occasion and the royal procession has never failed but to arouse the keenest interest among many hundreds of persons.

Summerland is a Saturday night community and on this particular Saturday it will probably set a new record for activity.

In fact, the entire week is expected to be an extremely busy one for this community.

We would welcome the many Baptist delegates to our midst, also those visitors who will be attracted to Summerland for the Spring Fair. Let us show these visitors the hand of welcome for which Summerland is renowned.

100,000th D.P. on Way to Canada

LEONS ZIEMANIS (second from left) 100,000th displaced person to emigrate to Canada, is congratulated by PIERRE JACOBISEN, assistant director general for Operations, International Refugee Organization, at Bremerhaven, Germany. Leons and his parents, brothers and sisters, sailed from Bremerhaven on an IRO ship enroute to Halifax, Nova Scotia.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Thursday afternoon the Summerland hospital was opened when it was estimated that a crowd numbering close to one thousand attended the ceremony. The unanimous expression of recent visitors was that it is the finest small hospital in B.C. and most beautifully situated. Minister of education and public health, Dr. J. D. McLean, formally opened the institution. Mr. H. C. Mellor spoke of the good work and spirit of the contractors, quoting Mr. Bert Harvey: "The building will be a standing monument of what the people of Summerland can do" and mentioning Messrs. Galbraith, Bartholomew and Atkinson.
Summerland has again established her right to Victoria Day as Summerland's Day. On Victoria Day everybody seemed to be on holiday at Crescent Beach, even Jupiter Pluvius, Old Sol being the only one on the job, and he certainly was there, as the subsequent sale of lotions testifies.
KVR wharves at the north and south end of Dog Lake have been completed. Between these the steamer "York" will ply as a connecting link on the branch line being laid from South Pentiction to the Osoyoos country.
Seldom since its opening has the college gymnasium held such a crowd as that on Thursday night. The event was the annual Scout concert and everyone had turned out to give their support to the local troop in their efforts to raise funds for the annual camp.

Principal D. J. Welsh of Summerland high school has been appointed presiding examiner here for the Queen's University banking examinations.
Considerable interest is being taken by Okanagan growers in a series of excursions to be conducted by the horticultural branch to Wenatchee throughout the summer. Last year several parties were conducted by officials of the department and were very popular. As a result the request for further excursions has been general and it is hoped that a still greater number of growers will participate.
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
May 28, 1926
All was well with the world. On Sunday afternoon three Summerland men were enjoying life immensely. What better occupation than fishing under ideal conditions of bright sun, bird song, a winding stream trickling merrily along. Best of all, the fish were biting. But there is always a serpent in the Garden of Eden. In this case it proved to be a fishery inspector. He rudely disturbed the peaceful frame of mind of the fishermen just as they were admiring their catch of trout. Informing them that trout were not to be caught in creeks at this time of year, they were warned to appear in court the next day. Magistrate Coulter

White fined each of the Summerland residents five dollars and costs with a warning.
Mr. Athol Agur, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Agur, is included in a party of mountaineers which will endeavor to scale a mystery mountain at the head of Bute Inlet.
For nearly twenty years Roman Catholics in Summerland have had to hold services in rented halls or private homes. An effort is now being made to raise funds to put up a small church, large enough to accommodate forty people. A committee consisting of Major Hutton, and Messrs. Hutchinson, Henry and Biagioni, has been appointed to receive contributions and make plans. Mr. Carlo Cavani has very generously donated a quarter of an acre in West Summerland for the site.
The Hon. Mrs. Coutts-Marjoribanks has rented the Osler house in Prairie Valley and will reside here for some time.
The Summerland Golf Club has moved its clubhouse to the grounds and the ladies are busy putting it into shape. The golfers hope in a short time to have a club building which will be a credit to the community. The house was moved from the E. R. Simpson property, Summerland Operatic Society sent out cheques to the GWVA and to the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society, Pentiction, donations for the year. Mr. F. J. Nixon has kindly consented to audit the books of the society.

PORTRAITS

Mrs. G. J. Coulter White
Mrs. White has several claims to distinction. She has travelled widely, and yet has lived in one place, Summerland, for forty-two years. Besides that she surprises everyone when she says laughingly that she will be ninety-two next October! A remarkable person she is, spirited, active and alert mentally and physically.
From a United Empire family that came from England to the United States in 1621, her maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Blanchard. Away back before UEL time the Blanchards were Huguenots who left Normandy to go to Britain.
In 1789 they migrated to Truro, Nova Scotia, where her father was born. Later he became a lawyer and practiced in Windsor, N.S. Mrs. White's mother died, and a half-sister of her father's second marriage was Louise, Mrs. Graham Munn.
Education was in Windsor and at St. Hyacinthe, P.Q., a French Protestant school, where French was spoken all week, and English on Sundays.
In 1886 she married G. J. Coulter White, an arts graduate of Acadia University, and the couple went to live on a farm at Sussex, N.B., where this girl was happy seeing the colts and animals and interested in raising turkeys.
Before long Mr. White wanted to study theology and off they went to Massachusetts where he entered Newton Centre Theological College, graduating three years later.
The year of his graduation they took a trip to Vancouver and Victoria. The CPR had finally reached Vancouver, and people thought it was speculative enough to build a big CPR hotel there. All around was nothing east from the hotel, but on one side of Georgia St. were the building were stumps. There beautiful large homes as far as Stanley Park, which already had been wisely set aside for the purpose.

Granville St. past the bridge was thick forest, she remembers, and they were driven in a carriage and pair over corduroy roads to New Westminster, Cordova and Water Sts. were the main thoroughfares at that time. Some idea of the size of the trees going through the sawmills was given the visitors when standing on a log carriage on tip-toe Mrs. White could just reach the top of the log by stretching her arm out full length.

They returned to Annapolis Royal where Mr. White became pastor of the Baptist church. As they worked, the congregation grew and a good parsonage was built.
At the turn of the century another move brought them to Lethbridge, Alta. There were four Baptists there, which Mr. White considered enough to start a Baptist congregation. Two years later a church was erected. They were there in 1906, the year of the big blizzard when on May 24 four feet of snow fell on the level with cattle piled up and frozen against the fences.

In 1907 they were east again. The children went to Acadia University and Mr. and Mrs. White started on a wonderful trip. From England through France, Italy, and Greece, from Athens they took a ship crossing to Syria, landing at Beirut. There they obtained an Arab guide, who oddly enough, had been educated in Texas.
With his help, imagination-stirring historical spots were seen. The train took them over the Lebanon Mountains to Damascus where they saw the Street Called Straight, and the wall over which St. Paul was dropped. Down the eastern side of the Sea of Galilee they went by train, too, visiting Nazareth, and were taken on horseback from Bethlehem through the "country" where a great many places were apparently unchanged since Bible times.
Mrs. White says: "It was like walking through the New Testament."
Through Samaria they travelled, and sat on the edge of Jacob's Well where Jesus talked with the Samaritan woman centuries before.
Here they happened on three priests from St. Hyacinthe, travellers like themselves.
They rode over rough, rocky country until nearing Jerusalem where they were met by carriages and driven to the city, staying at King David hotel just outside the west gate. This was Saturday before Palm Sunday. The week before Easter was filled with sight-seeing as they visited the huge

THE MAIL BAG

BENNETT ON GOVERNMENT
Kelowna, B.C.,
May 26th, 1951
Editor, The Review:
I have noticed with interest statements appearing in the press concerning addresses given by representatives of the Johnson-Anscomb-Wisner government on their political tour throughout the province. I find it amazing that no reasons have been given as to why the increased hospital insurance premiums and co-insurance or why other policies such as the five year driver's license payable in advance, were put into effect.
From this political tour it must now be clear to all that no Coalition exists in the province, but really, there has been no genuine Coalition in Victoria since the present Johnson-Anscomb-Wisner government was formed. This new government has completely strayed from the original policies laid down by the former Premier John Hart and the late Mr. Maitland. Immediately this new Johnson-Anscomb-Wisner government was formed a three percent sales tax was imposed on the people of the province, and that along with other taxes, makes British Columbia the highest-taxed province in the whole Dominion of Canada.
During the last session of the legislature the present government forced through amendments to the "Hospital Insurance Act" enormously increasing the rates and adding heavy co-insurance. These advances were put into effect without giving the members of the legislature a copy of the financial statement of the hospital insurance scheme for their yearly period ended December 31st, 1950. The whole hospital service badly needs a complete reorganization and audit as the overhead operating expenses of the scheme amounted to over one and a half million dollars for the nine-month period ended March 31st, 1950. This is an enormous overhead cost when one realizes that the hospital service does not operate the hospitals but only collects the premiums and pays the money over to the hospitals.

If the Johnson-Anscomb-Wisner government had supplied the members of the legislature with the proper financial report, and if the additional money was genuinely required, then money was available from revenue secured from the social assistance tax, commonly known as the three percent sales tax, as only twelve million dollars was originally expected from this tax and in the last fiscal year this one tax alone collected approximately twenty-seven million dollars.
To prove that the money was in the treasury and available for additional expenses without loading it on many of the people of the province who could ill afford to pay the increased rates, I would refer you to the comptroller general's report covering the nine-month period of revenue and expenditures ended December 31st, 1950. This shows that the revenue collected in this nine-month period was approximately nine million dollars more than expenditures, and no doubt the twelve-month period will give British Columbia one of the largest cash surpluses it has ever received.
I further note that the government members on their political tour are saying "that if any additional money was taken from "consolidated revenue account" to pay hospital costs, then money would be short for roads, education and social services. This is indeed a ridiculous statement when one realizes the enormous taxes in British Columbia and the great current surpluses.

I give one example: If a person bought a small car in British Columbia, say, at a cost of $2500, he would pay $110 in taxes to the Government of British Columbia, made up of $10 registration fee, $25 yearly license and $75 sales tax, whereas if he purchased the same car in Ontario and I believe Alberta, the total provincial government taxes would amount to only $10. In other words, the tax in British Columbia is eleven times as much.
Another point I would like to make clear is that when the last war ended the federal government went out of the gasoline and amusement taxes, the provincial government took over both these taxes, and the amusement tax revenue supplies the money required for the government's share of the building of hospitals, not the Hospital Insurance Scheme.
No proper explanation has been given regarding the necessity of the car drivers' license payable five years in advance. This is bad legislation, bad business and poor budgeting.
I believe that the time has now arrived in British Columbia when members must be elected to represent constituencies and not to be party rubber stamps and jump through the hoop at the crack of the party whip at Victoria.
Now that the present Johnson-Anscomb-Wisner government is collapsing, a provincial election might be called sooner than formerly anticipated, and when this election comes it is my opinion that the issue will be party politics versus a genuine independent movement where members elected would represent their constituencies and not the party machine.
Yours very truly,

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Maybe there are some people who always read heavy, informative books, but it seems to me that either they must read very little, or must feel they have an awful lot to learn. To me, reading is a road to learning, but a means of recreation too; and when I read for enjoyment I'm not ashamed to admit that I turn to light fiction.
Not whoditts, or shootemups, though; not usually. Good ones, yes; but most current detective stories seem to run more to murders and mannerisms than detection; and most westerns not only seem fantastic, but butcher more language than beef. My particular weakness is the straight adventure yarn.
It's all a matter of projection, I suppose. We like the kind of book—or movie or radio program—with which we most enjoy imagining ourselves in the hero's place. I wouldn't care to wade through as many corpses most story book detectives have to, never having met enough of them to feel at home with 'em. Nor would I care for the life of a western hero, who punches cows all day in order to spend a few minutes shooting bad men in saloons on an evening; I'd rather shoot bad men all day and punch cows briefly in the saloons.
But the adventure stories, now... Sometimes nobody is killed at all; the adventures may be with wild beasts, or a storm, or mountain-climbing. In one the hero may be the master of many disguises, in others speak many languages, be a superb boxer, swimmer, fencer, or what have you. He is always very gifted along at least one line, always tall, broad-shouldered, handsome, with smoldering, unforgettable eyes—ahhhh!

Of course, these adventure heroes are too capable to be real. Their deeds are too fantastic to be possible.
Or are they? From scraps I read here and there I suspect that an Englishman of the last century really was all the things adventure story heroes are supposed to be, and the more I read of him, the more unbelievable the sober, authenticated facts become.
His name was Richard Burton. He was born in 1821, and spent his childhood touring Europe, learning many things in many places, and by the time he grew up he had everything. Tall, broad-shouldered, powerful, handsome, with a magnetic personality and eyes so piercing that sober men in English public life referred to them as eagle-like, "panther-eyes", or unforgettable; he was expert at swimming, marksmanship, boxing, and fencing.
At the latter, indeed, he was so good that he would disdainfully disarm celebrated foreign fencing masters in exhibition bouts. When he went to Oxford, his glare and his readiness to challenge other men to duels frightened the poor little freshmen into fits, and started a reputation which increased with the years.
He joined the army, served in India, travelled over Asia and Africa, later visited America, toured Europe repeatedly, and always he loved to 'show off' in the kind of feats dear to fiction heroes, in Karoohi he bribed an attendant to let him ride a sacred alligator across a pond. He took lessons from a snake charmer, tried opium and hashish, wandered around in disguise as a native, became initiated into half-a-dozen odd religions.

But he did more than make exhibitions of himself. He became master of thirty-five different languages, this amazing man. He was the first white man to make the holy pilgrimage to Mecca that is death for a non-Moslem if his disguise is discovered, and wrote a book about it.
He explored many parts of Africa for the first time, nearly discovered the source of the Nile, and his books about natives and their customs remain classics of their kind. He was a great authority on things Arabian, and his translation of the 'Arabian Nights' is famous, frank and forbidden.
But he had the defects of his qualities, too. He was bad-tempered, quarrelsome, and vain. He antagonized many people who could have helped him. He neglected his work to go adventuring, and since this is costly business, was always short of money; and he had such an arrogant opinion of himself that he always felt slighted.
Even when he was knighted in 1867, Sir Richard Burton felt that the honor was overdue and not great enough. He died in 1890 a disappointed man, hero of a true adventure story stranger than any fiction, but lacking the fiction's usual happy ending.

Youth Centre Crowded To Capacity for First Citizenship Banquet

Fourteen new citizens who had just attained their maturity and five foreign-born citizens who have become naturalized in recent months were accorded a royal welcome to Canada and to Summerland in particular as part of a highly entertaining and informative Citizenship Day banquet and program staged at the Youth Centre Wednesday evening, May 23.

Every available seat was occupied in the big hall, which was attractively decorated for the occasion.

Arranged by the citizenship committee of the Women's Institute, with Mrs. H. R. McLarty as chairman, the entire affair was voted an outstanding success.

Unfortunately, after weeks of work, Mrs. McLarty was prevented from attending through illness. Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, WI president, was the leader who took charge of affairs in the absence of Mrs. McLarty.

Italian Spaghetti

An attractive main course of Italian spaghetti prepared by Fred Lenzi, assisted by Nino Sala of Vancouver, was served piping hot to the big crowd.

Girl Guides undertook all serving duties but because of the large crowd the banquet was delayed in serving the hot dishes in proper style. Ice cream and dainty examples of German cookery were served as the confection.

In the kitchen, Mrs. Vern Charles headed a large group of hard-working Women's Institute members whose task was a major one.

Canon F. V. Harrison asked the blessing and once the tables had been cleared Chairman J. R. Armstrong, president of the Summerland Board of Trade opened the main program, explaining the meaning of the gathering.

Reeve C. E. (Ned) Bentley, in extending a welcome to Summerland called on the new citizens to treat their new status as a serious trust.

To be a citizen one must take an interest in the community in every facet of its life, he declared. He warned that mistakes will be made, but it is better to make mistakes when trying to do one's part than to let the other man do it.

Community Effort

Following the presentations and address by Dr. Black, Mrs. Gordon

Ritchie extended the thanks of the Institute to the speaker and acknowledged many persons who had helped in this "community effort".

Thanks were extended to Magistrate Sharman for obtaining these certificates for the young men and women and to the Rotary Club of Summerland for paying for them.

The Girl Guide Assn., Canadian Legion, Mr. Lenzi, the ladies who provided such excellent samples of German cookery and the young Japanese ladies whose artistry had been so effective in the hall decorations.

Mr. Harry Hansen, accompanied by Miss Kay Hamilton, sang "This Canada of Ours", which was composed a year ago for the first Citizenship Day. The audience joined in singing several verses.

Final number on the extensive program was a pageant arranged by Mrs. F. E. Atkinson and depicting Canada's progress from the time only inhabitants were the Indians to the present day when Newfoundland has joined this country as the tenth province.

Mrs. Ann Keyes and Don Allison were the readers who depicted the parts enacted by the characters. Indians were Leighton Nesbitt, Dorothy McLeod and Vern Dunsdon. Then came the French trader and the British settler, depicted by Bert Stent and Jack Dunham. Followed the rebels, Art Crawford, Don Cruickshank and Harry Howis.

Britannia was Rosalie Smith, with Roy Dunsdon as a messenger boy and Bobby Sheeley dashing across in another scene. Kay Hamilton was at the piano and Charlie Nesbitt on the drums.

Finally came the provinces, depicted by Beatrice Davis, British Columbia; Marilyn Wade, Alberta; Mabel McNab, Saskatchewan; Frances Atkinson, Manitoba; Wilma Pilkington, Ontario; Shirley Clarke, Quebec; Joan Dixon, Nova Scotia; Marjorie Stewart, New Brunswick; Sheila Daniels, Prince Edward Island; Gail Stewart, Newfoundland.

Mrs. R. C. Palmer and Marion Cartwright took charge of costume arranging, Mrs. A. K. Macleod of makeup and Mrs. J. Y. Towgood was responsible for the delightful stage setting.

GUIDE NEWS

2nd Company
Friday night's meeting was held out-of-doors. Two staking games were played and another in observation. Dates for tests in poultryman, cyclist, and minstrel badges were set for this week.

The names of Guides who will billet a Campfire Girl while they are visiting here in July were recorded for the committee in charge.

A sister hike with the 2nd Summerland Brownie Pack was organized and will take place next Saturday afternoon. Food for her own supper must be taken by each Guide and Brownie and also the necessary cooking utensils. Hikers will leave from the Youth Centre at one o'clock on Saturday afternoon, June 2. There will be opportunity for many tests to be passed on this hike.

Diane Durick's name was omitted from the list of tenderfoots enrolled which was printed in last week's paper.

Pat Boyd completed her tenderfoot tests and was enrolled as a Guide on Friday night at campfire.

Patrol points: Bluebirds, 97; Robins, 92; Canaries, 88; Swallows, 78.

"Canadians All" In Patriotic Colors

"CANADIANS ALL" in large red, white and blue letters at the top of the proscenium cited the spirit of the Citizenship Banquet at the Youth Centre last week. Streamers in the same patriotic colors ran the length of the tables where flags were used in tasteful decoration. Red, white, and blue streamers trimmed the windows, and went across the hall at the height of the tall windows. Evergreen branches mingled with small Union Jacks and bright-colored Japanese fans on the sidewalls. The whole effect was gay and pretty, and all beautifully done by the Japanese young people of Summerland.

Canada With Her Democracy May Show World Way to Peace

Dr. W. G. Black Tells Banquet

"Canada stands high among the nations for she has a reputation for square dealing and right living; she has a way of living together with the law, with freedom and brotherhood," declared Dr. W. G. Black, B.C. regional liaison officer of the department of citizenship and immigration as he held the intense interest of the 250 persons who attended the big Citizenship Day banquet in the Youth Centre Wednesday evening, May 23.

Expounding a message mainly for the new citizens who were given a warm welcome that evening, Dr. Black's message on democracy and citizenship was a gripping one.

The fundamentals of citizenship should be examined, Dr. Black thought, as he told of the sacrifices made by Canadian pioneers, 50, 60 and 70 years ago.

"Are we prepared to sacrifice as much as these pioneers?" he questioned, "because Canada needs a continuity of sacrifice."

He referred to May 23 being the day before Commonwealth Day and declared that the Commonwealth is growing and aspiring to the great ideal of democracy, which is the main bulwark of the United Nations, the hope of mankind.

"If the U. N. fails, we have lost the last hope of preventing a third world war," he warned. He urged loyalty to Canada, loyalty to a country which is practicing democracy. Canada has taken hold of the greatest principles of democracy.

"How can you live and work and fight for something you don't understand," he challenged, asking his listeners to understand democracy in all its facets, because it is the British and Canadian way of life.

First of all, democracy means the law, the law of the people administered by the courts of justice, with an abhorrence of the big stick, the dagger or anything sinister.

Then, democracy means freedom, of the press, enterprise and freedom from persecution.

"When people obey their own laws in a democracy then they have a maximum amount of liberty, a combination of freedom and control," he added.

"Equality" in status, equal before the law and before God, he termed another fundamental of democracy. "If you believe in the Fatherhood of God then you must believe in the Brotherhood of Man," Dr. Black insisted. Democracy means Christian teachings and those teachings have meant a great deal in developing democracy, he explained.

Under democracy there is a Bill of Rights but its importance depends on how one looks at it. If the bill of rights is administered for the unfortunates then it becomes a bill of duties and becomes glorified.

"Selfishness is the curse of many a land and many an age," he explained. "But if we think of the rights of other people we can make democracy glorious."

"We are living in a dangerous age," he warned at this juncture, countering with the thought that 95 percent of the people in the world want peace.

He called on Canada as a hope in tripping the world towards peace, but in such an endeavor he warned against false prophets who would have Canada abandon all arms, and who would want peace at any price.

"You must distinguish between peace at any price and that which comes under collective security, as applied by the U.N.," Dr. Black declared.

"We want to hope and work for peace," Dr. Black added, calling for more co-operation in industry with less people who are selfish in their demands for walkouts and petty grievances. Such attitudes are weakening Canada, he thought.

"We are young and growing but we have the power to help lead befuddled mankind towards peace because we have a way of life that we know is best," he emphasized.

"Be true to our traditions and little Canada may just well lead the world to peace," he concluded.

New Citizens Cautioned by Magistrate

Magistrate H. Sharman, who presented the fourteen new citizens who have just come of age with their Citizenship certificates at the Youth Centre on May 23, cautioned the young men and women from taking the attitude that the world owes them a living.

"The world doesn't owe you anything," he emphasized, pointing out that they owe their world and their country a great deal.

As the fourteen new citizens took their places on the platform Boy Scouts Ron Lawley of 1st Summerland troop and Ken Bissett of 2nd Summerland troop brought forward Union Jacks and placed them at each side of the stage.

God Save the King was then played and the presentations made, Councillor Francis Steuart calling out the name of each recipient.

Those who received the certificates consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roberge, Miss Mary Stewart, Mrs. Rae Jaster, Mrs. George Taylor, Miss Mitchiko Imayoshi, Melvin Wells, John R. Dunham, Dennis Kean, Leslie Howard, Ronald Miller, Donald Nesbitt, Harold Stein and Lionel Guidi.

Just prior to this presentation, names of five new Summerland citizens who were recently naturalized as New Canadians were introduced to the audience.

Hearty applause greeted each New Citizen who were: Mr. Walter Glaser, Mike Kacuba, Mrs. Frieda Vogel, Mr. Rudolph Vogel and Mr. Luey Wing Fong.

BOY SCOUTS ACTIVITIES

1st Summerland Troop

The spring concert has come and gone and proved to be a success, both financially and otherwise. Great credit and thanks are due to so many people who helped with arrangements and especially to the Summerland Singers & Players club for presenting its excellent comedy, "Between the Soup and the Savory".

Mrs. Towgood, Mrs. Creese, Mrs. Woolliams and Mr. Stan Gladwell must receive special mention for their help in staging the plays and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Sayers for their act; also Mr. F. Doumont for his piano accompaniment.

In the presentation of badges, the following boys received ambulance man's badges: G. Solly, D. Doumont, G. Braka, N. Woolliams, W. Lewis, R. Blowett, Laverne Higgs, J. Fohlmann. The citizenship badge was received by Victor Smith, campers by G. Solly, laundryman's by N. Woolliams and T. Hackman, marksman by Ron Lawley, master-at-arms by G. Hackman, public health man by Laverne Higgs, first class by F. Coggan.

King's Scout badges went to R. Blowett, G. Braka, G. Solly and L. Higgs.

The troop was sorry that Scoutmaster Alan McCargar was absent from the concert owing to a sore throat and it is hoped he will be around soon.

This coming Tuesday, June 5, instead of a regular meeting there will be a beach party at the experimental station beach at 5:30 p.m. Scouts of the 2nd Summerland AOTS group will also be coming and a softball game and other activities are planned. Each boy should bring his own supper and cup. Hot dogs and oolong will be provided.

Notices: Will any boys who have forgotten to hand in ticket money turn it in to Bert Berry at the Sports Centre as soon as possible. D. V. Fisher.

High School COMMENTS

Ladies, don't forget the big tea, sale, and fashion show to be held at the high school auditorium this Saturday, June 2. The doors open at 2:30 and the fashion show will start promptly at 3. Tea will be served immediately following the show.

The dresses, skirts and blouses to be modelled in the show are ones made by the girls themselves in their home economics classes, under the direction of Miss M. E. Campbell. Grades 8-12 are to be presented. It promises to be a good show, so do make a point of seeing it.

The sale will consist mainly of home cooking, candy and some sewing. The admission is 35c, which includes the tea and fashion show. Tickets for the grocery hamper draw are extra and can be obtained from a grade 12 student, or at the door. It means a great deal to the students to have your support, for the money raised will go towards graduation expenses.

Show for Citizenship Day

Last Wednesday, May 23, the grade 8 classes presented a citizenship day program in the auditorium to the delight of the entire student body. Sheila Daniels acted as mistress of ceremonies.

The first part of the program consisted of recitations by the pupils dealing with our wonderful country, Canada. The highlight of the show was a skit, which was excellently done. The scene was an immigration office and immigration officer, Dwaine Greer, was busy checking in immigrants from all over the world who had come to Canada to make their homes, as the curtain opened.

Among the countries represented were the United States, Germany, England, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Ireland, Sweden, Russia, Japan, Greece, Italy, France and Holland. Everyone did his part well and the audience especially enjoyed Freda Daniels, as the "rootin' tootin'" Texas gal, Barry Agur as the Swede (complete with accent), Mabel McNab, as the smiling Irish lass, Shirley Clark as the French ballet dancer and Bill Austin as the Russian Communist.

Bob Boyda, as the customs officer also provided comedy and was very good. The skit ended with Carol Allison reciting "What is a Canadian".

Apart from the skit there were musical numbers. Shirley Schumann sang the French national anthem, Le Marsellaise and Shirley Gardiner sang Song of Liberty. Neither girls are from grade 8, but consented to appear as guest artists.

The grade 8 students should certainly be congratulated on this, the first program of its kind to be put on at SHS, and they deserve further praise as they wrote most of the skit themselves.

ATTEND LUNCHEON

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony attended a luncheon in Penticton at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alec McNeill when the Penticton Board of Trade entertained members of the tourist information bureau of California who are touring the province.

Stan Gladwell Is Re-Elected

Mr. S. Gladwell was re-elected president of the Singers' and Players' Club at a meeting held Tuesday evening, May 22, in the Parish hall.

Mrs. B. Bergstrom is the vice-president, and Mrs. A. Gately is the new secretary-treasurer. An executive consisting of Mrs. Lionel Fudge, Mr. Dave Lancaster and Mr. G. H. Ireland, representing the Penticton orchestra was chosen.

The meeting decided to give donations to the Summerland General hospital, Summerland Band, and the High School Students' Council for the piano fund.

New Legion President —

Pictured above, right, is Donald S. McTavish of Salmon Arm, elected president of provincial command, Canadian Legion, at the well-attended convention in Penitcton last week. With Mr. McTavish is Percy G. Barr, of Victoria. Engraving is reproduced through courtesy of the Penitcton Herald.

Pensions and the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service were two of the chief points of contention at the big Legion convention where 127 resolutions were discussed and aired thoroughly.

Dr. C. G. Woodbridge, president, R. S. Oxley, secretary, and William McCutcheon were Summerland delegates to the three-day affair.

One of the most impressive parts of the convention was the opening ceremony performed in the Capitol theatre on Sunday evening, May 20, which took the form of an "Act of Remembrance" service.

At the annual banquet which wound up the convention, Alan Calvert of Summerland, past president of the local branch and who has just relinquished his post as zone commander, was presented with an honorary life membership in the Saanich branch of the Canadian Legion. This presentation was arranged by the Summerland branch in conjunction with the Saanich branch.

Mr. Calvert, who plans to return to Saanich in the next few days is the first president of that Legion's branch.

Four vice-presidents named at the convention included A. H. (Ralph) Gibson of Cumberland, J. A. Urquhart of Burnaby, J. L. Martin of Saanich, Miss K. Cole of Vancouver. R. MacNicol of Gibson's Landing continues as Dominion representative while F. Townsend of Vancouver is treasurer.

Delegates also urged on the federal government the need for more assistance to the Okanagan to compensate for the 1949-50 winter tree kill.

The convention joined a general Legion stand in favor of compulsory military service being instituted.

Other details of the convention will be given in these columns next week.

WATCH LAKE LEVEL

Residents along Summerland's lake shore are watching the rising waters of Okanagan lake anxiously. Already a number of retaining walls have had to be sandbagged in this district. Okanagan Lake is already one-third of a foot over the agreed maximum.

DELEGATES TO ZONE

Delegates to the Legion Auxiliary zone session at Princeton last Sunday from Summerland auxiliary were Mrs. Annie Johnston and Mrs. R. Armour.

TOPS NURSING CLASS

Miss Barbara Munn had the honor of topping her class in surgery in the Easter exams at St. Paul's School of Nursing, Vancouver.

MORE ABOUT—

RECORD ENTRY

coached by Dr. W. C. Atkinson proved too strong for the Interior team, coached by I. M. Grant, Vernon, a former Bisley marksman.

But only two points separated the teams as the coast marked up a total of 365 and the interior 363.

Summerland's No. 2 team scored a victory on Saturday when it was high in the William Louie trophy competition, for four-men teams at 600 yards. Summerland's keen marksmen edged out Kamloops and Kelowna No. 1 with 186, 185 and 184 respectively.

On Sunday, W. G. Frank of Kelowna was winner of the first shoot, setting up a perfect 35 at 200 yards. He took home the Fish Lake and Summerland cup for the first possible of the meet.

At 500 yards, Oscar Anderson of Penitcton went Franko one better, not only scoring a perfect 35 but marking up a record for the meet with ten bullseyes in a row.

The Osborne McPherson Memorial cup went to this marksman for his high score at 500 yards.

The 600 yard City of Kamloops cup competition was taken home by R. M. Chappell, of Kamloops, with a score of 344. Fellow townsman A. Fulton also scored a 34 but Chappell's was a better record, having more bullseyes in a row at the end of his shooting.

At this range, skies darkened and gusty winds blew up, making shooting quite difficult and requiring continual adjustments of sights to try and compensate for the bad weather.

Up to mid-afternoon Sunday shooting conditions had been excellent.

Another Kamloops man, A. H. Gibson, was winner of the Lt-Governor E. W. Hamber trophy as high tyro in grand aggregate scores for the shoot. He recorded 81 for Sunday and 178 over the five competitions, also capturing the E. W. Work trophy for the three Sunday ranges.

Local Officials Praised

Work of Joe McLachlan, butts officer and those chosen as markers for the two days was given high praise by visitors to the meet. One man who has travelled to all major meets across Canada declared he had never seen better marking at any meet, including the national shoot at Ottawa.

Equally efficient was Range Officer Fred Dunsdon, while George Forster and Earle Wilson were competent assistants to Secretary Farquharson.

Art Dunsdon, as president of the Summerland Rifle club and a member of the BCIRA executive was nominally in charge of the show along with BCIRA President William Louie.

The match committee consisted of Norm Beaton, Vancouver; George Hill, Kelowna; Walt Cousins, Penitcton; Ernie Work, Kamloops; and A. R. Dunsdon, Summerland.

On Saturday the meet was officially opened when President Louie called on Harry (Pop) Dunsdon, grand oldtimer of the Summerland Rifle club to fire the first shot. He registered a bullseye, much to the delight of the onlookers.

Another oldtimer who is a familiar figure on the local range and is a former resident was Fred G. Anderson of Penitcton, who will be 89 in August. He still pulls a mean trigger.

Youngest competitors were Billy Verchere, Vancouver, and A. Grant of Vernon, both 13 years of age.

Four feminine shots were on the record books last weekend, Mrs. Walt Cousins with a 91 topping the "weaker" sex records. Others were Mrs. A. H. Gibson of Kam-

Sixth Annual AOTS Hobby Show Draws Hundreds to New High School Auditorium

Using the bright, new high school auditorium for the first time, the sixth annual AOTS Hobby Show on Saturday afternoon and evening equalled and in many features excelled the excellent shows of other years. A lengthy group of school exhibits from all grades in the MacDonald elementary school added greatly to the overall picture and indicated the great number of hobbies which are projected in the school classes.

Hundreds of persons were attracted to the auditorium for both afternoon and evening shows. Refreshments were served by St. Andrew's Service Club.

On the right of the room from the main entrance, every class in the MacDonald school had an individual entry, showing paper cut-outs, plasticine models, books, pictures and many other exhibits. Collections and features depicting many lands were outstanding.

Local Map of 1903

Among the many interesting features of the show was a map of Summerland, owned by Dr. F. W. Andrew. It was produced in 1903 and shows the district lots in colors. Each individual lot was numbered with the name of the owner inscribed as of that date.

Another interesting exhibit which reminded the crowds of bygone days was the series of pictures taken by Harry (Pop) Dunsdon, showing Summerland as it was in 1894 and another of the same relative scene as it looks today. Other pictures showed the Dunsdon log cabins in Garnet Valley.

In the afternoon only, Mrs. W. H. B. Munn exhibited four of her prize puppies and showed the many prize ribbons won by her kennels.

Along the wall to the left of the entrance, a lovely exhibit of sea shells by Mrs. Blake and Mrs. Howard Milne, along with cypress knees, from Florida swamps, exhibited by Blake Milne.

Throughout the show were many exhibits of exquisite fanciwork created by the energetic ladies of Summerland. In one collection were exhibits by Mrs. James McKenzie, Clara Morin, Mrs. A. Hallam, Miss F. M. Banks, St. Antoinette Sewing Circle, Mrs. F. Davis, Mrs. E. A. Soderquist, Ruth Klux, Mrs. Les Rumball, Kootenay Valley Doukhobor Ladies, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox and Mrs. L. Bartolomeo.

Japanese Display

Possibly the outstanding section of the entire show was the exhibit of Japanese handicraft. Brightly colored, exquisitely-made, it was a treasured collection of fine art and brought many exclamatory gasps of pleasure and delight from the onlookers.

Hand-painted lacquer boxes, fans, ivory carvings, ornamental purses embroidery, a hand-carved dog orchestra, fine china wine and tea sets, and many other art treasures were included in this Japanese display.

loops and Helen Price and Jill Sanborn of Summerland. Peter Cotton, who shot on the local range in 1911 when he was a member of the Bank of Commerce staff here, returned from his Ocean Park home for this shoot and he was as enthusiastic as ever about the Okanagan.

I. H. Grant of Vernon and E. Jamieson of Vancouver were former Bisley team members present, while G. H. Farquharson of Kamloops and R. O. Chandler of Vancouver have been selected for this year's Canadian team.

On Page 6 can be found the individual records for the two-day shoot. Other detailed scores will be published in next week's issue.

ENTERTAINED BEFORE DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Trafford entertained members of the Summerland Merchants' baseball club, their wives and friends to dinner before the May 24 celebration dance last Thursday evening.

Guernsey's prized collection.

At nine o'clock Saturday evening, AOTS President E. E. Bates presented the prizes and also thanked his many committee members for their energy in organizing this highly successful affair.

George Washington was in charge of the Hobby Show committee and was assisted by E. H. Bennett, H. V. Stent, George Woitte, Rev. H. R. Whitmore, Francis Stewart, W. G. Snow, W. Jenkinson and many others.

Mr. Bates paid special tribute to the co-operation of Principal S. A. MacDonald and teachers of his school staff for their class displays. Detailed results of the competitive classes will be given in next week's issue of The Review.

Co-Hostesses Honor Bride of This Week

Mrs. Keith Sayers and Mrs. Alec Watt were co-hostesses at a shower held at the home of the latter on Friday evening, May 25, for Miss Pauline Pearson, in honor of her marriage to Lieut. R. Penny, RCE, which took place on Tuesday morning in The Church of The Holy Child.

The guest of honor was asked to sit under an arched rainbow which ended in a pot of gold containing many lovely gifts.

Two contests were played, the winners being Miss Louise Atkinson and Mrs. Brant Bergstrom.

Those helping with refreshments were Mrs. Wm. Baldwin, Mrs. Walter Wright, Mrs. Roy Wellwood, Mrs. Bill Sherwood and Mrs. Brant Bergstrom.

Present with the above were Mrs. D. L. Milne, Mrs. Blake Milne, Mrs. Wm. Borton, Mrs. C. Minshull, Mrs. G. Chadburn, Mrs. Wm. Jenkinson, Mrs. Eric Skinner, Mrs. Eddie Hannah, Mrs. W. Ward, Mrs. J. A. Read, Mrs. John Keyes, Miss Mary Ward, and Miss Lois Read.

Unable to attend were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. C. E. Pearson, Mrs. H. F. Sergeant and Miss Barbara Braun.

NEW ARRIVALS

At the Summerland General hospital, on Tuesday, May 29, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Sherwood.

A son was born at Summerland General hospital on Tuesday, May 29, to Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Mayrhofer.

Lieut. Richard Penny, RCE Takes Pauline Pearson as Lovely Bride

A lovely quiet wedding took place on Tuesday morning, May 29, at eleven o'clock in The Church of The Holy Child, where Pauline Ann Claire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pearson, West Summerland, exchanged marriage vows with Richard Penny, Lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Engineers, Chilliwack, son of Mr. Penny of Olds, Alberta, and the late Mrs. Penny, before Father A. M. Meulenbergh.

Lacy white spirea and pale mauve iris decorated the church for the service.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride made a lovely picture in her white satin wedding gown which had a tight fitting bodice, buttoned at the back to the waist, and a full skirt. The lace inserts of the skirt matched the lace yoke. A little cap of the same lace fitted her head and held in place a three-quarter length net veil. She carried a charming nosegay of white carnations and red roses.

Mrs. James Schaeffer was the bride's only attendant, gowned in floor-length rose taffeta, complemented by a large white picture hat wreathed with rose flowers, and carrying white carnations and deep cream rosebuds.

Mrs. Henry Schaeffer was at the organ to play the nuptial music.

A luncheon was held at the home of the bride following the ceremony, Mrs. Pearson receiving in a pretty grey and white polka dot gown with grey redingote.

Spirea, tulips, and yellow roses were used in delightful bouquets to decorate the rooms, while the luncheon table had a three-tier wedding cake and bowls of yellow roses.

Mr. John Keyes proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom made response, and Father Meulenbergh spoke.

A smart blue tulle with matching topcoat and white accessories was worn by the bride when leaving on a motor honeymoon to Vancouver Island.

The bride was formerly a public health nurse at Chilliwack, and the couple will make their home at Chilliwack where the groom is stationed at present.

Don Johnston On Industrial Region Survey

Donald R. Johnston, graduate student at the University of British Columbia and son of Mrs. L. J. Johnston of West Summerland will undertake a survey of the industrial possibilities of the Fraser Valley this summer in a joint undertaking of the Lower Mainland regional planning board and the regional development division of the B.C. department of trade and industry.

Mr. Johnston will serve as research assistant to the government division and will operate from the regional planning board offices in New Westminster where he will serve under the board's technical direction.

He graduated from Summerland high school in 1939 and served in the RCAF from 1942 to '45. He received his B.A. in geography from UBC in 1950.

The project will take the form of a key industrial map of the Lower Fraser Valley to be published by the provincial government as soon as the work is completed. It is described as a "comprehensive survey to determine existing and potential industrial facilities."

These include: Resources of the region, availability of raw materials, transportation, and water and power facilities. The area to be covered by the survey is east and south of the Pitt and Fraser rivers as far as Hope.

The government has recently completed a similar map for the Greater Vancouver metropolitan area. Together, the two maps will cover the whole Lower Mainland region.

The regional planning board is composed of representatives of the 28 Lower mainland municipalities. It was set up a year ago to undertake regional planning in the area of B.C. which is experiencing the most rapid development of the whole province. Activities of the board are financed jointly by the provincial government, and the member municipalities through a two cents per capita assessment.

The board at present has a three-man technical staff. A former B.C. Power Commission engineer, recently engaged in regional planning in the eastern United States, will soon join the board as executive director. The staff so far has been gathering information about the region upon which any form of planning must depend. This technical data is also placed at the disposal of member municipalities.

HOME AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. E. Farnon returned on Tuesday morning after an enjoyable motor trip to Victoria where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Hunt, and the children.

Carroll (Chuck) Dawson returned last weekend from Winnipeg where he has completed his second year at the University of Manitoba. He expects to spend the summer in Summerland.

Cheryl Ann McCargar Has Fourth Birthday

Cheryl Ann McCargar's fourth birthday, which was on May 27, was celebrated with a party on Friday afternoon, May 25, when Mrs. McCargar entertained a number of small girls and boys and their mothers at her home.

A delicious tea was served which, of course, included a birthday cake.

Those present were Lynn Rositch, Larry Fetterer, Margaret and Billy White, Trudy Schwab; Cheryl's two cousins, Laven Campbell and Kenneth Keeley, Penticton; and their mothers.

High School Girls To Sell Cooking

The girls of grades 8 - 12 of the high school will hold a tea, sale of home cooking and candy and fashion show on Saturday afternoon, June 2, in the school.

Dresses, skirts and blouses which have been made by the girls in home economics classes under Miss M. E. Campbell will be modelled.

There will be a draw for a grocery hamper, and money raised will go towards graduation expenses.

Baking Contest Will Feature Spring Fair

Summerland Board of Trade assisted by Summerland Women's Institute is getting right down to essentials at the spring fair this year by sponsoring a baking contest in which anyone may make an entry.

Maybe someone feels that she can't make a pie like grandmother used to make. Grandmother will probably be entering her own, and others can be pretty good, too. Anyway, every woman or girl may put in culinary efforts. Men are not barred from entering, so while not exactly expected there may be some surprises.

There could easily be friendly mother and daughter rivalry here, and no doubt this will be another of the interesting spots at the fair.

Someone has suggested that brides-to-be or wanting-to-be, might show what they can do in the well known way to a man's heart by displaying their baking abilities here.

Another point in getting down to essentials is that no ready mixes may be used. It's up to the individual cook to use her skill.

As well as the hope of winning a cash prize there is another good reason for putting in an entry: each bit of baking will be auctioned after the judging, and the money raised in this way will be given to Summerland hospital.

High and elementary school entries are encouraged with five classes just for themselves.

Piano Contributions Are Continuing

This week's list of donors to the high school piano fund is as follows: Mrs. E. Collinson (Marjorie Tingley), Crofton; Mrs. W. W. McGill (Gertrude Elsey), Victoria; Miss Dorothy Britton, Vancouver; Miss Pearl Bolton, Strathnaver; Dennis Hack, Penticton; George Young, Ocean Falls; Jack Amm, New Westminster; Bill Amm, Hope; Mrs. Francis Steuart (Iris Williams), Mrs. W. Atkinson (Eliza Ritchie), Dr. W. H. E. Munn, Walter Thompson, Miss Louise Atkinson, Miss Marjorie Fenwick, Miss Leona Deringer, Robt. E. Weitzel, Summerland.

Many enquiries from persons who did not attend school here but who are interested in the success of the piano fund, have been made and the students' council has stated it will be delighted to receive any donations.

ATTENDANCE SMALL AT GIRL GUIDE SESSION

The Local Association to the Girl Guides held its regular meeting on Friday afternoon, May 25, in the Youth Centre.

Mrs. F. E. Atkinson gave her report of the divisional meeting held at Hedley recently, and because the attendance was small, will repeat it at the next meeting.

The greater part of the business was discussion of the coming visit of American Campfire Girls, when Summerland will have 25 to billet.

Legion Auxiliary Tea Fashion Show Draws Large Attendance

Ladies of the Legion Auxiliary held their annual tea, spring sale and children's fashion show on Saturday afternoon, May 26, and the Oddfellows' Hall was a popular spot for the large attendance.

Mrs. J. A. Read, Mrs. Fred Walker and Mrs. H. O. Pruden were at the door to sell tickets.

The hall was pleasingly decorated with a profusion of mauve and white lilacs and on each tea table was a bouquet of yellow and mauve iris.

Tea committee consisted of Mrs. Howard Shannon, Mrs. Lydia Johnston, Mrs. C. Clough and Mrs. W. Milne, while Girl Guides assisted in serving.

Mrs. S. R. Cannings saw that there was a catch for all those who fished eagerly in the fishpond.

Mrs. W. Howard, Mrs. Annie Johnston and Mrs. Ben Newton were at the apron and fanciwork stall, and Mrs. W. Kopp sold the candy.

The plant stall was a busy spot, taken care of by Mrs. Edgar Gould and Mrs. Elmer Johnston.

Mrs. D. Strachan and Mrs. Dave Taylor were busy, too, at the cooking stall.

"White elephants" were sold by Mrs. Jim Mitchell.

Plenty of surprises were in store at the parcel post section where Mrs. A. McCargar, Mrs. T. Fisher and Mrs. H. Braddock were posties.

Mrs. W. McCutcheon convened the children's fashion show, with Mrs. McCargar commenting. Small models were Angela Taylor, Shirley Ann Kopp, Cheryl Ann McCargar, Pat McCutcheon, and Colin Davis, who delighted the audience at each appearance.

WHEN DID YOU LAST THINK ABOUT A LOAN FOR FARM IMPROVEMENT?

During the past few years thousands of farmers across Canada have made good use of Farm Improvement Loans. They have increased both the value of their farms and their own incomes. Probably there have been times when you thought about applying for such a loan yourself. But when did you last check up on the idea? Conditions and your prospects may have changed since then. The majority of Farm Improvement Loans have been made to help farmers buy machinery of one kind or another. But there are many other good purposes for a loan, such as the improvement of farmhouses and outbuildings, or the installation of electricity, drainage and water systems. Again, these loans can cover the purchase of livestock and the planting of fruit trees. The cost of a Farm Improvement Loan is reasonable too—five percent a year—and it is repayable in instalments especially suited to the seasonal nature of your income as a farmer. Why not think the idea over again, now? Then, if you feel there is something in the FIL plan for you, drop into the West Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal, and have a word with Ivor Solly, the manager. You'll find him very helpful. — Advt.

NOTES from PARLIAMENT HILL

(By O. L. JONES, MP for Yale)

The most discussed subject in the house is possibly wheat and in this connection several questions were asked again this past few days regarding a possible increase in the ceiling price of wheat.

Mr. Argue asked the minister of trade and commerce if it were possible to have the present ceiling price under the international wheat agreement reviewed in view of the rising cost of production.

Hon. C. D. Howe replied that this is an agreement among some forty governments, and it is now in its second year of operation. There are three producing countries involved and thirty-seven consuming countries. Mr. Howe pointed out that the signatories to the agreement would have equal standing. Therefore, the chances of getting the consuming majority to agree to an increase in price would be nil.

A further effort was made to have the basic price increased nearer to the present world price of wheat, but this resolution was defeated in the house.

Two bills accepting the property left to Canada by the late Mr. Mackenzie King were passed by the house, both Laurier House and Kingsmere now becoming the property of the nation. It will be open and available to the use of the public from now on.

Only the Progressive Conservatives advanced any criticism to these bills on the basis of the cost of maintenance, having in mind the excessive cost of the prime minister's new residence which had to be renovated and modernized at a tremendous cost to the nation.

The acquisition of this old house for renovation has already cost well over half a million dollars. It was possibly felt proper to ask if a similar expenditure was liable to be made on Laurier House.

The bill on consumers credit received its final reading. Under this bill, the government seeks, by credit control, to reduce the consumption of materials urgently needed for national defence. Naturally, such a bill would not please retailers and others whose business would be curtailed by this action. Car dealers and others, particularly in British Columbia, will be hard hit by the new ruling and an effort made to have the terms modified for the western provinces proved fruitless.

Steps have been taken by several members of parliament, composed of all parties represented in the house, to form a special committee to investigate the possibilities of an Atlantic Union, the object being to explore the possibilities of getting all the nations who are signatories to the Atlantic Pact to form a nucleus of what would eventually become a federal union comprising all the nations of the world. A similar group has been active in the United States for some time and the Canadian group is an outcome of an interchange of views with its American counterpart.

Many members protested the application of a 20 per cent surtax on incomes, particularly applying to those in the lower brackets. Mr. Knowles pointed out "It is most unfair that married couples with less than $3,000 of income should be called upon to pay this 20 per cent surtax. We all recognize the need to increase the income tax rates if additional revenue must be found. Indeed, when we were discussing the resolution having to do with commodity taxes we objected to taxes of that kind on the ground that they are not based on ability to pay.

"We argued that the fairer tax to employ is the income tax, because it is based on ability to pay. Therefore, we assert that when larger revenues are required the proper kind of taxes to employ include a graduated corporation tax and a graduated personal income tax."

Mr. Knowles continued his remarks by saying "If it were peacetime, today's high cost of living would make our case unanswerable that the exemption level for a married couple should be raised to $3,000 with comparable increase for children. I insist on that: If it were not for the wartime or semi-wartime conditions facing us, today's cost of living would make it essential that there be no income tax below the $3,000 level.

"In view of the situation we are in and the need for additional revenues, I suggest the least the minister should do is exempt those people with incomes between $2,000 and $3,000 from this surtax. The same argument applies with respect to single persons. Their exemption at the moment is $1,000. I should say that certainly the first $500 of their taxable income—the amount from $1,000 to $1,500—should not be subject to this 20 per cent surtax."

Asphalt Mix May be Made Available Here

Local council has decided it will sell asphalt mix for road and path surfacing at $9 per cubic yard, for the municipal mixing plant.

But all applications for such material must be in municipal hands by June 15, when council will decide if it can handle the requirements.

At present a "small" car of asphalt has been ordered but the municipality hasn't storage space for a larger size car of asphalt mixture. It will depend on the number of applications whether the council can afford to order a second car and provide this service to local residents.

Kenyon & Co. Ltd. has asked the municipality to hard surface, the circular driveway in front of the new high school. The Pentleton contracting firm would repay the council on an hourly basis.

Further details on probable cost are to be obtained by the council before an answer is given.

Still Investigating Road Grader Use

An application for use of the road maintainer on private property is still being investigated and last week council decided to obtain information on the cost of a temporary licence. As long as the maintainer is used for municipal road repairs only it does not have to purchase a provincial licence. But if used for private purposes or on work other than municipal projects, then the municipality would be liable to take out a licence, it has been pointed out. A. E. Traylor has sought use of the maintainer to build a road on the Van Huys property at the north end of the municipality.

Lengthy Debate on Subject of Paint Contractor's Licence

When is a painter a contractor who should be charge a municipal trade's licence and when should he be considered just an ordinary workman?

That was the question which created considerable discussion in local council chambers when Bert Bryden appeared before municipal council and sought reconsideration of municipal office stand that he should be required to pay a licence.

Mr. Bryden told council that he is employed as a day laborer in the same manner as a carpenter and that unless he takes a contract for a paint job that he should not be charged a licence.

His stand was defended in council chambers principally by Councillor Norman Holmes.

Final decision rested on definition of a painting contractor as the trade's licence bylaw designates that such a person is liable to pay a licence.

Council finally agreed that a painter who is not accepting con-

Bridge Survey Is Proceeding

KELOWNA—Work is progressing satisfactorily on the survey of Okanagan Lake to determine the feasibility of constructing a bridge between Kelowna and Westside, W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan has stated.

Drilling operations on the east side of the lake in the vicinity of the city park are continuing. To date no reports have been released as to whether the city park is suitable for such a bridge.

Public Works Minister E. C. Carson recently announced that the proposed bridge authority plan has not been scrapped. Mr. Carson claims ferries are too expensive to keep operating and that as soon as one survey is completed the bridge authority plan will be revived again.

tracts but works on an hourly basis should not be required to take out a licence.

No Decision Yet On Dental Plan

At the meeting of South Okanagan Health Unit held at Kelowna on Wednesday, May 16, most of the time was taken up with discussion of the location of Dr. Hall, the dentist who is to be provided to the unit by the department of health some time this fall.

Dr. McCombie, dental director for the department of health for the province, was in attendance, and favored having the new dentist situated in Kelowna, since headquarters of the unit is there, and work would proceed in a normal way from that centre.

Dr. McCombie had several groupings for the meeting to consider, and his A plan was that the dentist start to work in Kelowna-Summerland, school districts 23 and 77. In this division Dr. McCombie stated that there are 587 grade 1 school children, and the average number of children for dentists in the area would be 63.

No decision was reached, and the matter was left for a later meeting to decide.

Fish Hatchery Has Own Water Supply System Installed

B.C. Game Commission has completed installation of its own water service from springs in lower town to the fish hatchery and has thus provided itself with water both for domestic purposes and for fish culture development, council was informed on Tuesday afternoon.

The fish hatchery had been paying the municipality $100 per year for water.

Ownership of the springs now being tapped still remains in municipal hands, council pointed out and decided last week to levy a nominal fee of $10 per year to cover this ownership of the water being used.

CAN INVEST $650

Council was informed last week that another $650 is available for investment in the Summerland Scholarship Fund. This money will be used to purchase Dominion of Canada bonds which may be obtained below par figures at present.

May 24 Celebration Had Something For Every Member of Family Here

May 24 was inclined to be cloudy and windy but only a few specks of rain fell and the weather did not mar the celebration which was staged by the Youth Centre association and Baseball Club, with the assistance of Teen Town.

The celebration started in the morning with Rutland Adanacs defeating Princeton Royals 5-4 in the first baseball game.

Kiddies' races were staged at 12:15 with youngsters from three to 13 competing, three winners in each race receiving prizes at the big refreshment stand which was running full steam ahead all day.

Then came the Summerland Band, resplendent in their smart uniforms. The band paraded around the track and then took its place in the stands to play several numbers.

One of the zaniest performances of the day was staged by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, complete with the weirdest and most varied assortments of costumes ever seen on a ball field. The two teams played two innings of alleged softball, ending when Rotarian Pitcher "Mitch" Mitchell socked out a home run. He claims the score was 13-1 for Rotarians, all on account of his homer.

Two more ball games saw Kelowna Elks take the measure of Summerland Merchants 3-1 and then lose a tough one to Rutland 3-2 in ten innings.

Another attraction at the grounds was a "magic" tent, with two magicians from Vancouver performing.

Dance in Evening
In the evening, the Youth Centre was the setting for an enjoyable dance which was featured by square dancing exhibitions and the choosing of a queen from a group of eight contestants.

Ken's Men supplied the dance music. The Teen Town square dance team which went to Haney for the Pacific Northwest Teen Town championship performed in a special exhibition, with Leighton Nesbitt calling and the orchestra consisting of Fred Gale, Bill Myers, Jake Knippelberg and Jack Dunham.

Three merchandise prizes were given away, the lucky ticket holders being R. A. Smith, Mrs. Wade and J. H. Gould.

Fighting Rutland Adanacs Take May 24th Ball Tourney With 3-2 Win in Tenth Frame

A fighting, never-say-die Rutland Adanacs baseball nine triumphed over highly-touted Princeton Royals and Kelowna Elks Red Sox to capture top prize money in the big Youth Centre-Baseball Club May 24 baseball tournament at Living Memorial athletic park.

Pulling a surprise 5-4 win over Princeton Royals in the morning contest, Adanacs stretched the final contest against Kelowna to the tenth frame, winning 3-2.

In the second game, Summerland Merchants failed to hit Henry Wostradowski and were defeated by Kelowna Elks 3-1.

Approximately one thousand persons turned out for the big tournament and saw three of the most closely-contested ball games ever staged in one day here.

Rainclouds which kept coming up on the horizon failed to materialize right overhead and none of the games was interrupted.

Six errors contributed mainly to Princeton Royals' downfall Thursday morning, as they outhit Rutland 12 to 4 and still couldn't win. Two errors by Nishihara at first base and miscues by Pitcher Harman and Centrefielder Ken Thomas, combined with a walk and one solitary hit gave Rutland four runs in the third frame.

Aune's three-bagger and A. Thomas' homer in the same frame cut the Princeton deficit in half.

In the third the Royals drew one closer when A. Thomas got his second triple, scoring on brother Ken's single.

Winning run came in the sixth when Senger doubled and scored on Fitzpatrick's timely clout. Princeton opened the last of the seventh with Aune's triple, scoring as Nishihara grounded out. Thomas filed out but K. Thomas singled and went to second on an error. Gray walked but Finch-hitter Whitehouse failed to connect and the game was over.

Merchants Couldn't Hit
Vanderburgh was the main "goat" of the Merchants' 3-1 defeat but the real fault lay in their failure to hit in the pinches. Old Hank Wostradowski, who has played many a game for Rutland against the Merchants, is still able to bear down in the clutch and showed his ability in good form last Thursday as Kelowna's hurler.

Merchants looked as if they would go into the lead right off the bat when Kuroda drew a walk, as first man up, stole second and went to third on an error. But there he died as Dunham and Taylor whiffed the ozone and Vanderburgh grounded out.

The balloon blew up in the second when Favell singled to right and Verne Cousins followed with another to centre. MacNabb, Kelowna's second sacker who is more familiar as a Detroit Red Wings hockey player, laid down a bunt which travelled fast past the pitcher's mound.

Both Vanderburgh and Jacobs went after it, then the former ducked back to first. Jacobs' pick-up and throw were sloppy and Vanderburgh dropped the ball.

He then picked up the horsehide and threw it wildly over

Lusty Gale Foils Merchants In Attempt to Beat Mansfield

Summerland Merchants fought Mansfield and a sizeable gale last Sunday at the dusty Washington diamond, losing by a 7-4 count as they failed to push runners across when most needed.

Gil Jacobs' left-side heaves were not very effective against the gale, the ball being caught by the side draft to almost hang in midair waiting to be swiped. Extra base hits off the big left-hander were mainly responsible for Mansfield's victory.

At one stage the dust menace was so bad that the game was halted until a sprinkler could be brought out to wet down the diamond.

Merchants had fears for Daryl Weitzel's safety once as a big tumbleweed almost mowed him down in the centre garden. He just managed to escape by a bit of broken field running.

Merchants shot into an early lead as Dunham walked, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Vanderburgh's single. The latter was brought across by Fred Kato's only single of the contest.

Go Ahead in Second But Mansfield got those back with an encore in the second when Glessner singled and scored on Jasper's triple. Johnsen walked and both runners scored on Pitcher Bower's timely single.

The southerners then made it 5-3 in the third when Jasperse doubled Matthesen home, scoring on Dunham's miscue in right field.

Merchants had added a single tally in the third when Vanderburgh got his second single and scored on singles by Taylor and Daryl Weitzel.

Nelson's home run in the fifth widened the gap and Peterson's triple to open the sixth gave Mansfield a full seven runs.

With two down in the seventh Vanderburgh tripled but was left stranded as Taylor grounded out.

In the ninth Kuroda started a short rally with a walk. Vanderburgh was safe on an error. Taylor poled out a double between right and centre, scoring Kuroda. Vanderburgh was waved home but was put out at the plate on a perfect peg from second base, to squash the rally, and leave Merchants on the short end of a 7-4 count.

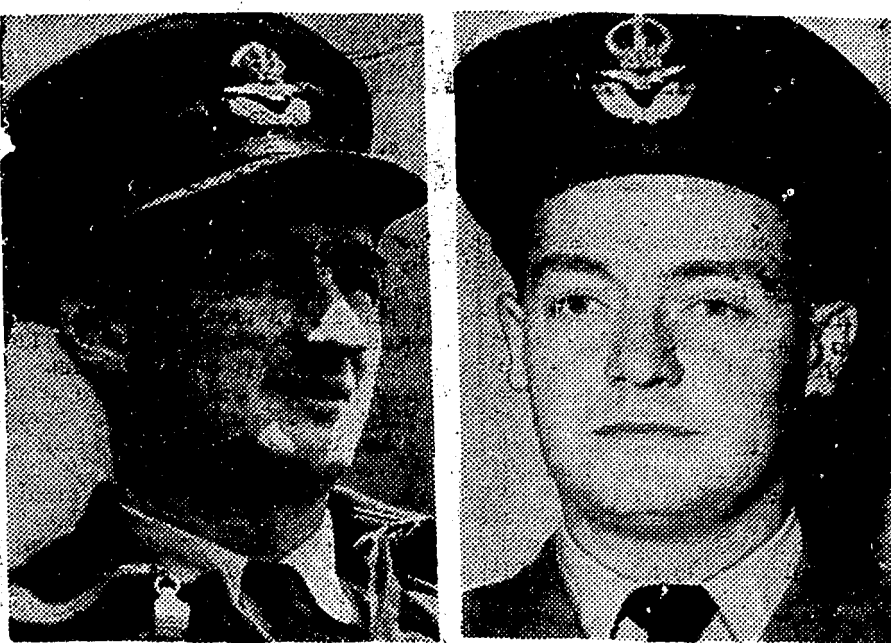

Mansfield only left two men on bases, while Summerland had nine runners stranded. Therein lay the difference.

Next week, Merchants travel to league leading Omak for a test of strength.

Pitchers' Battle Looms Between Sox And Kelowna Chiefs

When undefeated Kelowna Chiefs entertain Summerland Red Sox on June 17 it should be quite a pitchers' battle.

Red Sox have Ken Brawnner who last year hurled one game against Osoyoos to mark up a record 24 strikeouts. This year, he again pitched against Osoyoos in the opening game and mowed down 21 southerners by the knockout method.

Last Sunday, Johnny Wishlove of Kelowna Chiefs faced Pentiction Beavers and pitched a no hit, no run game, striking out sixteen batters.

Roy Wakabayashi, another Kelowna Chief hurler, turned in a 10-strikeout performance three weeks ago, so the Chiefs have plenty of power on the mound.

In three games, these two pitchers have struck out 51 junior batters.

Don Wright is vice-president and Miss Dorothy MacLeod is secretary treasurer. A committee of Rosalie Smith and D. McIntosh was also selected.

Tennis enthusiasts present expressed the opinion that new players are necessary for the successful operation of the club as many older members have ceased their activities or have moved away.

It was felt promising for the future that a number of high school students are showing an interest in the game and have started to play.

Juniors are not being restricted to playing times this year and may make up matches anytime the courts are not occupied by seniors, it was decided.

Fees were set at $7 for seniors, with $5 for two-month period and $3 for one month. Juniors will pay $2 for the season.

Harry Hackman's Westland Pee Wees played their first game of the season last Sunday afternoon when they entertained the Pentiction B-A Oilers. The Oilers triumphed 12-5.

Gerry Maier and Hooker Lead Red Sox Bats to Beat Naramata

Gerry Maier's big bat spelled ruin for Naramata last Sunday at Living Memorial athletic park when he got three hits in four trips, including a three-run homer which cinched things for the Red Sox in the seventh.

Red Sox were out-hit 11 to 10 but still defeated the previously unbeaten Naramata squad 10-3 in a rather loosely played contest.

Hooker was the other offensive star, picking off two doubles and batting in two runs. Besides his batting display, Maier pulled off a sensational "running catch" in the right garden which brought down the house.

Three double plays meant a great deal defensively to the Red Sox.

Red Sox took an early 3-0 lead in the third when Hooker planted the first of his doubles, scoring G. Maier and Eyre, coming home on Ken Brawnner's single. Two more were added in the fifth when two Naramata errors were the main reasons for Cristante and Brawnner scoring.

Naramata's first counter came in the sixth when P. Salting singled and scored on Ward's clout combined with Fisher's miscue.

Red Sox got that one back the same inning when G. Maier scored and added three more on the latter's homer in the seventh.

Naramata made a belated stand in the eighth when three singles brought across two runs but the rally was too little and too late.

Luxton and Barber were the luckless Naramata hurlers, while Brawnner was the winning hurler. He had a bit of an off day but still managed to strikeout six opposing batters.

This Sunday, Red Sox entertain Oliver, the first time these two squads have met this season.

Waddell is Chosen Head Tennis Club

Dave Waddell, one of the most enthusiastic tennis and badminton players in the interior, was elected president of the Summerland Tennis club when the annual meeting was held at the courts on Sunday afternoon.

Don Wright is vice-president and Miss Dorothy MacLeod is secretary treasurer. A committee of Rosalie Smith and D. McIntosh was also selected.

Tennis enthusiasts present expressed the opinion that new players are necessary for the successful operation of the club as many older members have ceased their activities or have moved away.

Ink Spots Win 10-Pin Playoffs

Ink Spots were declared undisputed champions of the Ten-Pin bowling league when the finals were held at 7 and 9 o'clock Tuesday evening. Rolling up a total of 2552 pins for the three games, including handicaps, the Inkspots just edged out the Hopelufs, who had 2535, only 17 points short.

Other scores were equally close, the Jets bowling 2533 for third place and the Bombers finishing in fourth spot with 2519.

Over the season, Muriel Walker with 177 and Reuben Huva with 226 were the high single winners, while high average winners were Sue Weber with 141 and Lloyd Uzick with 158.

Lloyd also captured the men's high three with 568 and Rita Gordon took the ladies' high three with 503 pins.

In the playoffs Tuesday night

Charlie Haddrell paced the Inkspots to victory with a first-game score of 203, highest of the evening. Leading ladies' scores were registered by Muriel Walker and Sue Weber, each with 151 points, without handicaps.

Charlie Haddrell also scored high three for the men, with 516, while Sue Weber outdistanced other ladies with 432 for high three.

Complete results follow: Inkspots — Doug Jelstead 384, Fumi Inaba 407, Sue Weber 432, Chew Tada 414, Chuck Haddrell 516, handicap, 399, total 2552.

Hopelufs—Nan Thornthwaite 375, Reub Huva 450, Ken Heales 450, Don Clark 463, Paul Roberge 431, handicap 366, total 2535.

Jets—Mev Wells 477, Earl Edge 406, Muriel Walker 364, Eddie Lloyd 395, Fred Walker 468, handicap 423, total 2533.

Bombers—Bill Pollock 456, Nick Solly 383, Ernie Heichert 381, Len Zinger 416, Min Kita 469, handicap 414, total 2519.

Mrs. Roy Elsey Here

Mrs. C. Roy Elsey, sister-in-law of C. H. Elsey of Summerland and wife of a well-known former resident, is past president of the WMS and will be chief speaker at the Tuesday afternoon supper session.

President of the WMS is Mrs. J. Ingram Smith, who is also second vice-president of the Baptist church executive.

Yesterday 110 delegates had registered to attend the convention while several large churches had not signified their intentions. It is confidentially expected that at least 200 delegates and visitors will come to Summerland for the four-day sessions next week.

A billeting committee and a scenic drive committee from the Summerland Board of Trade is co-operating with the Baptist committee to accommodate the delegates.

Ladies' organizations are catering for luncheons and dinners.

On Thursday evening, a scenic drive is being organized, to leave the Baptist church at 5:30 and arrive at the experimental station at 6:15. Following short excursions around the lovely station grounds, a box supper will be served by the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary.

Delegates will be driven back to the church for the evening service at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Ken Boothe declares that more billets are still needed to accommodate the visitors next week. If any persons having spare rooms have not been contacted yet Mr. Boothe's committee would appreciate a telephone call.

stone platform on which many buildings of sacred story are supported.

One is supposed to have sheltered the altar on which Isaac was offered as a sacrifice by Abraham; Solomon's temples and Herod's temples have been here, and old, old stables, quarried out of the rock underneath are said to be Solomon's stables. The fire on the altar has been kept burning for many hundreds of years.

Good Friday evening they attended communion service in St. George's Anglican church, thence walking to the Mount of Olives where, in bright moonlight, a solemn service was held on a platform in front of the Russian church, and Mr. White spoke, as did people from various countries represented, joined in their Christian faith.

After Easter Sunday service in an Armenian church they witnessed the annual March of the Pilgrims who lit their candles from the Holy Fire lighted on Easter Day. This ceremony is held under a quarried-out enormous place called The Dome of the Rock, in a most ornate chapel in the centre. Many other church of numerous denominations, besides walks and galleries are housed under this Dome.

On a windy Easter Monday they took ship at Jaffa, great waves tossing the boat about in the shallow water. From the Holy Land they carried home a bottle containing water from the River Jordan. All of the Munn children were christened with this water.

The ship took them to the Suez Canal. Then they went to Cairo with its sights and smells, and a new mode of travel was on camels to see the pyramids.

Next move was to Marseilles and Switzerland, and down to Rome to attend a World Sunday school convention, in Italy seeing Venice, Florence, the leaning tower of Pisa, obtaining impressions of beautiful churches and art galleries.

Return was by way of Switzerland, down the Rhine through Germany, on to Amsterdam. Specially remembered is Holland, the cultivated little farm islands in the canals, the clean look of it.

In Ireland they visited Belfast, where Mr. White's mother and the Coulter family lived. Mrs. White has a fine oak chair sent from Ireland which belonged to the family.

Through the ubiquitous J. M. Robinson they heard of Summerland, and had bought land here, so in 1909 they came, building a home which they called Kalavista, now owned by Mr. A. W. Nisbet. It was a large house, each bedroom having a sleeping porch. During World War I, when Tranquille Sanitarium was overcrowded they consented to use it, as a convalescent home for TB patients.

Mrs. White pioneered in women's fashions here, donning overalls when she found that ladders and skirts don't get along well together.

She was first president of the Women's Institute, and always a great church worker.

Not so many years ago she flew to Chicago and on to Toronto. Just this month she made herself a new summer dress. She knits and sews without glasses, only using a magnifying glass for reading.

She makes her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright in Parkdale.

Once at the mint in Washington she had a million dollars in her hands; but what is that when one has a heart of gold?

Recommend DDT for Cutworm Control

One simple method of combating cutworms in home gardens has been recommended by the provincial horticulturist. The Review learns this week; it is suggested that a teaspoon of 50 percent DDT be placed in a gallon of water. The resultant mixture can then be sprinkled over the garden rows from an ordinary watering can with dire effects on the cutworms, it is stated.

Cucumbers and melons should be protected from the DDT solution but other plants will not be harmed.

W. D. Laidlaw Laid to Rest After 26 Years Residence

The entire community joins with the Laidlaw family this week in mourning the loss of the head of the family, William David Laidlaw, who passed away at his home on Hastings street on Sunday morning after an illness of some months' duration.

A man who had been part of the business and community life of this district for more than a quarter of a century, the late Mr. Laidlaw leaves a host of friends who will miss his quick smile and cheerful countenance.

St. Andrew's United church was crowded to capacity on Tuesday afternoon, May 29, for the funeral service conducted by Rev. H. R. Whitmore. Interment was in Peach Orchard cemetery with friends of many years as pallbearers. They were T. A. Walden, C. E. McCutcheon, T. B. Young, George Washington, Ken Boothe and E. R. Butler.

Born in St. Mary's, Ont., more than 70 years ago, Mr. Laidlaw first came west in 1903, spending two years in Los Angeles. Returning east for a short time he again came west in 1906, this time to Cranbrook, where he became a partner in the firm of Fink Mercantile Co.

It was three years later, in 1909, that he married Margaret T. Ballantyne, of St. Mary's Ont., and brought his bride back to the frontier British Columbia town.

After seven years in Cranbrook, Mr. Laidlaw moved to Okotoks, Alta., where he again entered the mercantile business. He later carried on a similar business in Champion and Picardville, Alta.

It was in 1925 that the Laidlaw family made their last move, this time to the growing community of Summerland. Here he purchased the general store of J. C. Melvin in the West Summerland business district and built up the business to one of the district's main retail outlets.

After World War II, he turned over the men's clothing section to his sons, and disposed of the ladies' wear and grocery sections.

Gerry and Bill Laidlaw have been carrying on the men's wear business in the original store since 1945.

The deceased man was a member of the Masonic and IOOF lodges. He was a strong supporter of the Summerland Board of Trade all his life here.

Throughout his life Mr. Laidlaw was keenly interested in sports, baseball and basketball being his favorite pastimes although he never played either game.

Besides his wife he leaves one daughter, Mrs. J. M. Clark of Keremeos and two sons, Gerald A. and William A. in Summerland; also one brother, A. R. Laidlaw in Calgary.

New Contracts for Pupil Transportation

New contracts for transporting pupils to Summerland schools must be entered into before next school term commences, school board was reminded on Monday evening.

Summerland at present pays the highest per mile cost for transporting pupils of any school in B.C. and Board Chairman C. J. Bleasdale declared that this figure must be reduced in the new contracts or the board will be faced with the operation of its own buses.

This would be a procedure the board would be loathe to tackle, he stated, but the bus companies were allowed a higher figure in order to finance the purchase of new buses three years ago.

REPORTS ON CONVENTION

Alan Calvert of Summerland reported on the provincial command Legion convention in Pentiction to the quarterly South Okanagan zone session last Sunday in Princeton. He was accompanied by R. S. Oxley, local Legion secretary. He took charge of the zone session in the absence on holidays of the new zone commander, Graham Kincaid of Pentiction.

These buses are nearly paid for and the companies involved should be prepared to reduce the rates now, he felt.

Four King's Scout Badges Awarded at Well-Attended Boy Scout Concert

The Youth Centre was filled for the Variety Concert given on Tuesday evening, May 29, by the 1st Summerland Boy Scouts troop and the 1st Summerland Wolf Cub pack.

Mr. S. R. Cannings, member of the Scout local group, gave a short appreciation of Scoutmaster D. V. Fisher, telling of his continuous untiring work with and for the Scouts, and the valuable training being given under his direction.

He mentioned, too, the signal honor coming to Summerland in Richard Lewis having been chosen as one of five B.C. Scouts, and one of thirty-two in all Canada, to go to the international jamboree in Austria this summer, and the fact that this Scout had been trained by Dr. Fisher.

King's Scouts awards were made to Geoffrey Solly, Richard Blewett, George Brake and Laverne Higgs, and a number of other awards were given. Dr. Fisher stated that across Canada all Scouts were being urged to get their ambulance man's badge, as it is considered of great importance in these times of crises. A number of these were presented, and several boys won their useful laundryman's badge.

Also on the program was a Cub Jungle Dance and a Cub Song which the boys and the audience both enjoyed; Scout boxing; a diverting skit Over the Teacups, adapted by Scoutmaster Fisher from one remembered as presented by the late Lt.-Col. W. B. Eredin, Kelowna.

Those taking part in the skit were Terry Coggan, William Lewis, Don Blacklock, Art Draper, Jack Pohlmann, Michael Brinton, Richard Lewis and Lori Klix, with

Pentiction Juniors Trim Red Sox 9-3

Pentiction Junior All-Stars took the measure of the Summerland Red Sox at the athletic park last night in a benefit game for Bill Ishikawa, who broke his leg playing for Pentiction Pirates here.

All-Stars won 9-3, due mainly to a five-run spurge in the fourth when Tomlin started affairs with a triple. This same first baseman repeated his performance in the eighth when he pounded out another three-bagger with two aboard.

All three Red Sox runs were scored in the fourth, Seigrist pounding in two markers after Hooker had already crossed over.

Ernie Jomori was on the mound for Red Sox but was relieved by Bill Eyre in the fourth, after Jomori had been nicked for six runs.

Jordan and Ball were the hurlers for the victors, the latter going on the mound after the third frame.

Mrs. J. Y. Towgood, director, and Mr. Stan Gladwell in charge of properties. The first scene was a tea party in the polite manner and the second scene was the same only in a candid manner. As a singer of considerable merit Jack Pohlmann distinguished himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Sayers contributed two hill-billy numbers, with Mr. Sayers accompanying on his guitar.

The one-act comedy Between the Soup and the Savory in which Summerland won the Caple Cup at the Pentiction drama festival delighted the audience.

A film Indian Canoeemen, a seasonal inviting prelude to summer was shown the concert closing with a campfire scene and singing.

Mr. David Munn and Mr. Alan McCargar are assistant Scoutmasters and Mr. Jack Bowen is Cubmaster. Mr. Frank Doumont was pianist for the show.
