Solon Low Was Not Impressive

SOLON LOW, leader of the Social Credit party in the House of Commons in Ottawa came to the Okanagan last week and made certain statements at a public meeting in Summerland.

It was very evident to those who heard Solon Low that he had only a vague idea of the operation of the sales agency which 3500 growers in the interior tree fruit area have put into operation after many years of trying to find a solution to their marketing difficulties.

But despite his lack of knowledge, Mr. Low talked of fruit rotting on the ground, of fruit being destroyed by gasoline to make certain that it never reached the consumer, of "Gestapo" methods of fruit inspectors who barred fruit from being handled interprovincially if it did not emanate from official sources.

To those of us who know the interior tree fruit setup well, Mr. Low talked pure rubbish. His were the utterings of a man who was attempting to bandy about glib phrases with the idea of catching an audience's imagination, without careful thought of the background or the probable results of his careless remarks.

And when they appeared in cold, black print and strong exception was taken to the remarks and inferences by those who are in a responsible position in this fruit industry, Mr. Solon Low resorted to the old dodge of claiming aloud that he was misquoted.

If Mr. Low was an ordinary politician, we could understand him. But he is not. He is the leader in all Canada of the Social Credit party. At one time, he was a trusted member of the provincial cabinet in the province of Alberta.

We certainly do not blame B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. and the ECFGA for being indignant with Mr. Low. Grower leaders are harassed enough with idle rumors and speculations among their own producers let alone having a man of Mr. Low's stature in Canadian politics add to their headaches.

Let us be charitable in the situation, however. Let us say that Mr. Low was given bad advice. He must have listened to some disgruntled individuals who were only too pleased to pour out alleged grievances upon such a prominent political figure.

But the one point which we cannot overlook is that Mr. Low would stoop to repeating on the public platform these allegations which a little study would have convinced him of their utter unreasonableness.

We thought better of a man of his stature and of his political party. We have admired the business-like manner in which the Alberta administration has handled provincial affairs in Alberta. Not that we ever thought it was Social Credit but that it was purely what it is, good, honest government based on reasonable lines.

We had also heard that Mr. Low was an able speaker. We believe now that his oratory is excellent, but his choice of expressions leaves a good deal to be desired.

Let us hope that Mr. Low will learn his lesson from the Okanagan—that he will not stoop to repeating idle gossip from the platform and will look well into the subject matter before he asks a people in effect: "How stupid can you get?"

Here in the Okanagan we have a grower-operated and controlled fruit marketing setup. It is set up by government edict but is operated solely by the producers from there on.

Mr. Low extolled an Alberta marketing setup which he described as operating in almost the same manner as our own central sales deal. Yet he was critical of B.C.'s method. It doesn't add up.

PORTRAITS

William Charles Widenham Fosbery

Lunch of bannock and tea made in a little red lard pail was the diet of the west in the early days and expected fare at the beginning of the century.

There was little similarity at Ashcroft in 1897 to anything Will Fosbery had seen before. The Cariboo Hotel where he met his brother, Forbes, who had been in the States and worked his way through the Okanagan to the cattle country, had no resemblance to Mosstown House, his former home on his father's four thousand acre estate in County Westmeath, Ireland, where he was one of a family of ten.

The cowboys leaning on the bar, and the bartender continually polishing glasses, seemed to have little in common with the fellows who had attended Brighton College with him, or with the men in the office with whom he had worked in London.

His brother Forbes had been working on the big Barclay ranch in the Okanagan and was bringing cattle over to Ashcroft, then seething with feverish activity as men prepared to go to the Klondike. What a desolate place it was if it had not been colored by the glint of gold! The wind blew sand up the main street one day, and veering around blew it back the next.

The brothers thought of merging into the gold rush too, but worked awhile on a dam being built on the Bonaparte river, to develop power for light, but when Bob Faulder brought some more cattle over from the Okanagan and invited them back to visit him, they decided to accept.

Forbes and Faulder had horses, but Will hadn't. He had won a saddle on a raffle, but that wasn't much help, so he and Ed Garnet, one of the original Garnet's of Garnet Valley came by train and by the SS Aberdeen, arriving here in the spring of '98.

Claims were being staked all over the southern Okanagan, with Camp McKinney and Fairview thriving spots.

Fosbery earned his first money in Canada helping Mark Howard drill for gold on a small vein on Penticton Creek. The mosquitoes were appalling, and after supper they bolted into their tents closing every little opening that was possible to shut, and smoked as hard as they could to try and keep them out.

At Trout Creek there was a flag to put up to signal the boat to stop for passengers, and travelling just meant rolling up your blankets and taking them along.

Forbes and Will Fosbery both worked for Barclay for five years. When his brother decided to go back to the States, Will wanted to stay under the British flag, so remained here.

Barclay sold out to J. M. Robinson. Will Fosbery continued on the big ranch, and also did surveying for the Summerland Development Co.

It is with satisfaction that Mr. Fosbery remembers that Dr. Knox of Kelowna credited him with saving the life of Fred Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham. The lad was in the bush on the mountainside in Garnet Valley, when his gun accidentally discharged. A bullet went through his foot severing two veins. Mr. Fosbery was riding down the valley having had a pro-Christmas haircut at Harry Dunsdon's when he heard him calling. He almost mistook the sound for a coyote. He climbed the hill, brought him down, put him on his little mare, and took him home. They bandaged the foot but the boy became unconscious from loss of blood as the wound continued to bleed. There was no doctor closer than Kelowna and little first aid available. Mr. Fosbery thought of applying dry flour after cleansing the bullet hole. By patting on small amounts, it was gradually stopped. When Dr. Knox came the next day taking the patient to Kelowna, he commended him by saying, "Your methods were rough and ready, but they saved the boy's life."

One winter he lived comfortably in a tent in the brush under the brow of the "Jill" near where the Arena stands now. There was nothing at all where West Summerland is now but sage with a little creek wandering through, and the blue hills outlining the sky as they do to-day.

In the meantime Fosbery had taken a preemption and water record on Upper Trout Creek. Here he built a good log house. His brother, George, came out from England and another log house went up. He planned an irrigation system from Trout Creek with fluming to carry it. When this was installed apples and pears were planted.

This was sold to Bowen Bros. who ran a dairy farm there, and Mr. Fosbery bought land above Crescent Beach and erected another dwelling. This place he sold later and it became known as the Purves place as a family by that name lived there.

At that time Charlie Thompson was reeve and asked Mr. Fosbery if the municipality could take a water line from the Peachland road through his place giving him domestic and irrigation water and servicing the area around.

Mr. Fosbery agreed, but through the vagaries of the next year's municipal election another reeve took over and a different council. Sometimes municipal things move slowly and it was forty years until the water came that way!!

Mr. Fosbery married Miss Lily Doyle, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander Doyle. After selling their home above Crescent Beach they went to Vancouver, came back to Keremeos, finally coming to Summerland again to live on the Doyle's home place.

When orchard times were hard Mr. Fosbery obtained a municipal job. While in Upper Trout Creek he had charge of the south main ditch from its head gate on Trout Creek, so was not inexperienced. He was put on the irrigation ditch that goes down Hospital Hill. He worked on it for sixteen years, so that it just became known as Fosbery's Ditch!!

Mr. Fosbery helped to build the original St. Peter's Anglican church, and the present St. Stephen's, and has been secretary ever since excepting for one year and

A Special KIND OF SOFTNESS

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

The headlines in the daily paper before me are alarming.

"China Has Refused."

"Russia Uses Threats."

"Prisoner Claims Enemy is Armed with British Weapons."

"Coal Miners Threaten Strike."

Depressed, I turn to the market pages. Bless my news-hungry nose, what's this?

"Eggs, 15c per dozen."

"Hind-quarters of beefs, 6 1/2c to 8c per pound."

That's better. Let's look at some of the advertisements. Here's "Be a Free Man." Below, in smaller type, "Be a Man Among Men." Hum, not much distinction in that.

"Be Strong and Youthful. Act Now. Send for free booklet on Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt. Guaranteed not to Eurn or Blister."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills." "Carter's Little Liver Pills." "Castoria." "Appollinaris." "Seal Brand Coffee, by Chase and Sanborn."

What, bargains? Yes, here's women's fine lace boots, high and dresy, of Vici Kid and Dongola Kid, regular $3.00, for only $2.40. And men's overcoats, $10.00 to $13.50. Men's shirts, regular 75c and $1.00, special, 37c. Men's umbrellas, on the other hand—they should really have come after an item about gloves—are $1.29 and in great demand.

Browsing among the news items on inside pages, I read that Toronto Council received a report on the Kettle River Valley Railway Company, but refused to commit themselves. Also two ladies of Toronto are interesting themselves in the very worthy project of missionary work among the lumber camps. They had been appalled by the answer they got from a lumberman when asked what he did of a Sunday: "I sit in the sun all day; when I can get a cigar I smoke it, and when I can't I just take a quid of 'baccy and make the best of it."

Editorials are on "Democracy," "Telephone Services and Charges," and several on politics. Lobbying, I gather, is a curse. Also the editor notes a tendency for the government to be dictated to by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, which he deplors.

Among shorter editorial comments is this:

"The Japs, who are known as the Yankees of the East, seem to share with their western namesakes the agreeable confidence that they can, if necessary, whip all creation."

Also, Corticelli silk is the strongest silk you can buy because only the cocoons of large, strong worms are selected. Oops, I got among the ads again.

Ah, here's a little item about the famous Mrs. Carrie Nation, of Kansas, who spent another hour and a half in St. Louis today. She visited two saloons, engaged in heated arguments with the bartenders, and at the point of a revolver was forced from a saloon named after her, and which she visited on her previous passage through St. Louis.

"These things will be different some day," she declared. "Look out for me after I get out from under bond in Kansas. I'll close these hell-holes if I have to come back and smash every one of them."

"Buy your Easter Silk Hat at Dineen's."

"Everybody needs toning up in the spring; try Radam's Microbe Killer; it has cured millions." (Millions of microbes?)

What in the world is this paper I've got hold of? Seems a bit yellowed and brittle. The Toronto Globe for April 2, 1901, twelve pages, two cents per copy, $4 per year. Things were certainly different then.

I glance through it again.

"Cancers can be removed by our new Constitutional Remedy."

"Russia is moving warships."

"U.S. President over-rules his advisors."

"This year's census discussed."

"The Chinese question is as puzzling as ever."

"Britain may soon have a new prime minister."

Maybe, despite the low prices of eggs and beefsteak—and workmen's wages—things weren't so different after all.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

October 1, 1926

Mr. A. Agur is intending to make some exhibits of potatoes at Victoria in November when the Potato Bulb and Seed show is held.

Council meeting authorized lighting for Victoria Gardens. Lot owners made application for the light line and $107 is the estimated cost.

Summerland UBC students on their way to Vancouver for the opening were on the train that ran over a cow and left the tracks. They had an exciting time for awhile. They were Miss R. Harris, Miss Weaver, Mr. Ivor Solly, Nicholas Solly and W. Thornber.

Miss Mary Warburton lost in the hills near Princeton for thirty-one days was found alive by Provincial Constable Dougherty and "Pondunk" Davies who were scouring the country between Hops and Princeton since Sept. 4.

W. S. O'Beirne has accepted a position on the Calgary Herald and Walter M. Wright has become associated with the publication and assumes the position of editor and manager of The Summerland Review.

Miss Edna Knowles was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower on Saturday at the home of Mrs. C. Wilson, experimental station, prior to her marriage to Mr. George E. Graham of Victoria.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey King at the Summerland General hospital on Sept. 24.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
September 30, 1921

C. V. Nesbitt, C. B. McCallum, R. K. Robertson went over to Chute Creek on Sunday afternoon, and took George Anderson on as an extra passenger when they started for Summerland about 5 p.m. A gale from the south struck them, increasing in volume, wetting the electrical equipment, causing the boat engine to stall. They were at the mercy of the storm, and were carried as far as Okanagan Mission. They were in the boat until about 5.30 p.m. on Monday when they were taken ashore, wet and pretty tired. On Tuesday they started back for Summerland when a storm struck them again and they put back into Peachland, ending their trip by anchoring the boat there and driving home.

For the third time in succession Mr. George Doherty's Jerry cow, McDermid's Figgis took the Bank of Hamilton challenge cup at the Penticton show last week, which thus becomes the property of her owner, Mr. Doherty's heifer, Summerland Figgis took first in her class at the fair, too.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pentland on Tuesday, Sept. 27, at the Summerland General hospital.

Bert Edwards, who was lately in charge of the barber shop and pool-room at Hotel Summerland, has removed from there to the premises on Shaughnessy Ave. recently occupied by F. LeRoy Black, where he will continue his business as heretofore.

The Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary has engaged the Banff Orchestra for the first dance of the season at Ellison Hall.

Complaints are being made in the upper end of Prairie Valley that range horses are destroying their orchards and damaging their fruit crops. One grower does not think fruit farmers should be at the mercy of a few cayuses against which fences seem to be little protection.

Variety of Activities Reported at First Busy AOTS Meeting for Fall

At the AOTS meeting on September 27, the 34 members and guests present heard an extremely interesting talk on Alberta oil by Bob Richards, who explained the origin of the supply as well as telling where and how it was found.

The speaker was ably introduced by Jim Marshall and thanked in a lively manner by Wallace Boothe.

Ewart Woolliams showed the meeting a map of Summerland dating back to 1908, with lots and owners' names clearly marked on it. The AOTS has had this map framed, and decided that it would be presented to the council as a valuable historical relic. Originally it was given the club by Dr. F. W. Andrew.

Joe Sheeley reported an up-and-down baseball season, but young players steadily being developed to graduate into the Red Sox.

Pre-Peeewe basketball is to be started soon, and a pre-junior league of 4 teams is being organized by Bill Pollock. Joe commented that all this keen interest in basketball by the younger boys has developed from a handful coached by Bert Whitmore a few years ago.

Don Sanford is now coach of the AOTS basketball boys.

Rev. Bert Whitmore moved a vote of thanks to the three men who had helped Joe Sheeley with baseball last summer, and suggested they be invited to the next meeting.

The AOTS-sponsored Cub pack has lost a few boys, but gained more, and is up to full strength, Frank Doumont reported. The Scout troop is badly in need of an assistant-Scoutmaster, Bert Whitmore announced, but when the president asked for volunteers, one of the club guests, Harry van Driel, at once offered to help and has been appointed.

Another AOTS project, Camp Sorec, was reported on by both Ernie Bennett and Bert Whitmore. A total of 485 boys and girls and men used the camp facilities last season, and a lot of improvement work was done.

Thanks were given to Walter Charles, who with eight senior Scouts helped supervise the boys' camp last July, and all members who helped with Camp Sorec work were thanked by the club president, Everett Bates.

Under new business, Mr. Bates suggested that the club consider taking part in the October 28 provincial AOTS church service. He also announced that the Service Club had asked the AOTS to sell tickets and set up tables for their Thanksgiving supper on October 8.

Jim Marshall pointed out that J. R. Campbell had installed much better water-pipe supports for the tables.

Treasurer Bill Jenkinson reported that Francis Stewart, when paid $5 for the use of his truck, had promptly donated it back to the club.

Bert Stent suggested that every man wear a colorful tie for next meeting, as a sort of contest, and on this loud note the meeting adjourned.

Leslie R. Smith

son of Mr. Harold Smith of Summerland and at the time of his appointment the youngest superintendent in the Canadian Pacific Railway service, has been transferred to Revelstoke where he will take charge of the important Mountain division. His post in charge of the Kettle Valley division is being taken over by D. C. Hartley, who comes to the Okanagan from Revelstoke.

Mr. Hartley comes to Penticton after an active service on the main line. He was a member of the Rotary Club of Revelstoke and with his wife and daughter Lola was identified with the Missionary and Alliance Chapel of the mainline city.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

1st Summerland Troop

Tuesday's meeting showed an attendance of 26 out of a possible 31. Let's make it a full turnout next week, on time at 7 p.m.

There is room for one more Scout in the troop. Recruit Ongaro was posted to the Eagles, Pat Anderson and Ed Schanuel to the Buffaloes and Ron Wilson to the Hawk patrol.

In the patrol competition, standing is: Hawks 49, Beavers 31, Buffaloes 34, Eagles 39.

At the court of honor meeting, Jack Pohlmann became P/L of the Buffaloes and Verne Higgs P/L of the Eagles. Ross Tingley resigned as secretary, his place being taken by Ron Lawley.

On the weekend of October 12, 13 and 14, there will be a weekend camp up Canyon Creek. Boys who do not have a packboard or pack-sack should try to obtain one. The Scoutmaster will help any boy make a packboard if he will contact him. Transportation most of the way will be by truck.

Next week there will be special instruction on the knotting badge and a test on topographical maps.

Notices: Next meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 9, 7 p.m., full uniform. Duty patrol, Buffaloes.

2nd Summerland Troop

At last week's meeting, we had the new lineup of patrols. They are as follows, with P/L's and seconds listed:

Lions, Ken Bissett, Walter Uegama; Hawks, Dwaine Greer, Jack Ganzeveld; Cougars, Gordon Underwood, Tommy Jomori; Beavers, Harold Biollo, Jack Gould.

We tried for the first time, a game called "Carry the Message". The boys are placed three blocks apart and five blocks with bicycles. At headquarters, they are given a message of reasonable length and walk or ride to the next boy who takes it on to the next, etc.

To add to the last meeting, we had a pleasant surprise given us by SM Whitmore. He told us that beginning this week, we would have Mr. H. Van Driel, a present employee at the experimental station, as our assistant Scout Master. We were all very glad to hear about it.

We have had the Scout pace two or three times so far this year. The Scout pace is designed to take you 1 mile in 12 minutes. To do this, you must run 20 paces and then walk 20, etc.

Notices—A court of honor meeting will be held right after Scouts on Friday. Duty patrol, Beavers. Please be there early. Next meeting Friday, October 5, 7 p.m. A full attendance is requested.—Eugene Bates, Troop Leader.

Councillor F. M. Stewart was asked last week to investigate a suggestion by Mel Monro that capacity of drains in his area is not sufficient to drain excess water from the Peach Valley road.

High School COMMENTS

I see that there are only about eleven weeks left before the Christmas holidays. Of course, when you realize that this is two and one half months, Christmas doesn't seem so close after all.

Don Blacklock and Ken Brawner, the Chaff editors, are hoping to get started on the first Chaff very soon. If you are asked to help with these publications, either to write or to help with the printing, a little co-operation would be appreciated. It is your paper and the editors shouldn't be expected to do it alone.

In the world of sports at SHS, soccer is holding the spotlight at the moment. The league schedule has now been posted and the first two games in which Summerland takes part are at Rutland on October 6 and at Westbank on October 10. If transportation is available, it would be nice to see a large crowd of spectators out to these games.

Basketball will soon be in full swing and practices have been called.

GUIDE NEWS

1st Company

The last meeting of the 1st company was held Sept. 26 and was opened with inspection, the Buttercup and the Pimpernel patrols getting three points each. The result of the inspection was close this week.

Games were played and relays won.

While Jill Sanborn took tenderfoot with the recruits, Capt. McKenzie asked the guides what badges they wanted, beginning at "A" and going through the alphabet. This will be continued the next meeting.

Duty patrol was the Pimpernel and the News was written by the Buttercup patrol.

TAKE OLD FIRE SHED

Don Orr has been authorized by municipal council to remove the fire equipment shed in lower town. The old fire hose which was stored in the building has been brought to the main fire hall in West Summerland.

Council Files Letter
From Penticton City
On Alternate Power

Last week, municipal council decided against any action on backing up the City of Penticton in requesting the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. to take steps immediately to ensure that an alternative source of power is available in case of breakdown.

Members of the local council took the attitude that the tone of the Penticton city letter was not in accordance with the general attitude this municipality has always adopted with the power supply company.

Councillor F. E. Atkinson stressed the co-operation which has always been noticeable between the two parties and suggested that nothing be done to lessen the friendly spirit existing.

Councillor Norman Holmes pointed out that electrical users would have to pay, through increased rates, for any alternative source of power which is arranged by the company.

Council will arrange a meeting with Mr. Trough, new manager of the West Kootenay office in Penticton.

Details of the Penticton letter were carried in last week's issue in relation to the monthly meeting of the Summerland Board of Trade who received a similar request for support from Penticton.

Mr. Trough will address the October meeting of the trade board on Thursday, October 11.

Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary Noted

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Atkinson celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary at Penticton on Wednesday evening, Oct. 3, when about two hundred of their friends, mostly old-time residents of the South Okanagan, called to wish them happiness.

Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Summerland, were among those present.

Among the wires and cables of congratulations were those from the King and Queen and Premier Byron I. Johnson.

The reception was held at the home of their oldest son, Mr. Reg Atkinson, Canon H. P. Barrett, former Anglican church minister in Penticton, proposed the toast to the elderly couple, while presentations on behalf of Orion lodge of the Masonic order were made by Hugh Cleland and Harold Mitchell.

W.K. Metre Differs
From Local Reading

Summerland municipality, along with some others in the Okanagan, has registered a difference with the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. over maximum demand load taken by the municipality in August. Councillor F. E. Atkinson told council last week an expert has been brought in to the valley by the West Kootenay company and is testing the company's demand metres, in relation to those of the municipalities concerned.

Council Asked to Submit Bylaw for Domestic Water Service to One User

George R. E. Fudge was a one-man delegation to the municipal council chambers last week to request council action towards providing him with domestic water service from the municipal system.

He was prepared to have the council submit a bylaw to the ratepayers, if necessary, to provide him with such a service, but council declined to acquiesce.

Mr. Fudge asked council for consideration of his application for domestic water as he considered himself in the Crescent Beach area and that section had been included in the North Bench - Crescent Beach domestic water extension scheme which received ratepayers' approval some two years ago.

Cost $1,000 for Service
It was determined that the cost to take water to the Fudge residence would be in the neighborhood of $1,000. Mr. Fudge argued that the cost by bylaw to that area was approximately that amount for each user.

There is a potential of three users, Mr. Fudge thought, as if water was to be provided he might sell one portion of his property, while Mr. Johnston owns an adjoining property and has signified interest in building there.

Council replied that it could not base estimates on probable intentions of individuals. Mr. Fudge stated he understood

Mr. Harrison Brown of Hornby Island drove in from the coast with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bleasdale on Sunday and is a guest at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hillard of Vancouver who have been on an extensive motor trip are including Summerland in their itinerary, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Fudge.

there was a surplus from the domestic water bylaw and thought it should be applied to providing his property with domestic water as he was in the Crescent Beach area.

Council replied that the bylaw specified certain areas which would be included in the scheme and Mr. Fudge's property was not included. Anyway, the surplus had already been earmarked for other purposes, Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith told Mr. Fudge.

Earlier that day, council had passed first reading of a bylaw which will transfer the surplus of $7,000 from the domestic water bylaw to the new municipal hall building account.

"How about another bylaw?" queried Mr. Fudge.

"For one user?" asked Mr. Smith, and Mr. Fudge quickly replied in the affirmative.

Pay Bylaw Expenses
Reeve C. E. Bentley pointed out to Mr. Fudge that he would be expected to pay bylaw expenses if the ratepayers did not approve the scheme.

It was also stated that the cost of a bylaw would be about $200 which, when applied to the $1,000 expense of extending the service to one user would make the whole proposition an expensive one.

Mr. Fudge explained to council that the presence of a nearby creek and the shallowness of the lake in his area motivates against a pumping system providing clean water for domestic purposes.

Various council members suggested methods whereby Mr. Fudge could install his own system and get away from the mud nuisance.

It was pointed out that if three users made application the cost would be cut to approximately $500. But this was still too expensive for the council visitor.

Councillor Eric Tait replied that the council has had cases where people have put up nearly as much as that for domestic water.

After a long pause Mr. Fudge again demanded to know from council its reaction to his proposal to put a bylaw to finance domestic water extension to his property.

Councillor Tait expressed sympathy with Mr. Fudge's need for service but he had never heard of a bylaw being put for one person.

"Personally, I'm against it," was Reeve Bentley's reply, pointing out that the council is limited by regulations and cannot deviate from its policy of allowing $144 per applicant who wishes an extension of the domestic water service.

Institute Fall Sale Has Plenty Of Variety

Catching ones attention on entering the annual Variety Sale of the Women's Institute in the IOOF hall on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 29, was the agricultural stall where garden produce, flowers, plants, grapes and chicken in brilliant assortment held the eye, and brought thrifty housewives a-buying.

Mrs. M. E. Collas convened this section of the sale with Mrs. E. C. Bingham, Mrs. T. J. Garnett and Mrs. D. I. Gilman as helpers.

Home-cooking was popular, and a new item appearing on the sales' table was a jar of Boston baked beans and a loaf of brown bread, selling as a unit to take home for supper, or individually. Mrs. Vern Charles was convener here, assisted by Mrs. George Woitte, Mrs. Blanche and Mrs. N. McNab.

At the handicraft stall Mrs. H. Whitaker headed the committee assisted by Mrs. C. Orr, Mrs. A. K. Macleod and Mrs. Roy Angus. The work was prettily varied and useful.

Second-hand clothing occupied a place in the ante-room where there were bargains if one could be fitted, and another department in the hall sold other second hand articles. Convening were Mrs. E. Farnoch and Mrs. H. R. McLarty with assistance from Mrs. Cruickshank, Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, Miss Marian Cartwright, Mrs. Ann Bingham and Mrs. D. Proverbs.

The delicious tea was arranged by Mrs. George Inglis, who had help from Mrs. George Sheldrake, Mrs. R. Blayney, Mrs. Archie Campbell, Mrs. C. V. Nesbitt.

There was a display of prize-winning articles entered by members at the Interior Provincial Exhibition held at Armstrong in September which was interesting to those attending.

The Institute president, Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, welcomed guests and was busy in various ways throughout the afternoon.

Proceedings lost no time in warming up since they commenced with a relay race.

Mr. Harold Smith acted as master of ceremonies for the program while a quartette, instrumental selections, and a skit were enjoyed.

Mr. May was in fine voice for the song which he contributed, and Dr. Fisher led a sing-song.

Dr. R. C. Palmer on behalf of the staff of the experimental station presented Mr. May with a three-piece luggage set.

Mr. G. E. Woolliams presented the retiring member of the station with a camera, a gift from the staff of the plant pathology laboratory. The refreshments were delicious and dancing filled out a delightful event.

PAY YOUR BILLS THE SAFE WAY

Your B of M Cheque Book Will Safeguard Your Budget

There are plenty of good reasons for paying your bills by cheque. Here are three of them:

1. Using B of M cheques is much safer. Your cheque is a record of payment. If you lose or mislay a receipt, you need never fear having to pay the bill again. Your cashed and cancelled cheque serves as your receipt, and automatically becomes proof of payment.
2. It's wiser, too. There's no need to carry large sums in coin and bills around with you. Money once lost is pretty hard to find, but you can't lose the money in your account at the Bank of Montreal, and no cheque is worth a cent until you have actually signed it.
3. With a chequing account you'll find budgeting easier. Your stubs give an exact record of how much you've spent, and your B of M passbook provides a double check on the state of your account. The cost of the service is agreeably low.

Ivor Solly, manager of the Bank of Montreal branch at West Summerland, cordially invites you to open your own account there, and try out these advantages for yourself. —Adv't.

Mrs. E. R. Butler is the lay member from Summerland United church in attendance at the meetings.

This presbytery is one of the most extensive areas in the west, delegates attending from an area bounded by Osoyoos, Princeton, Ashcroft and Golden.

Rev. G. G. Harris of Naramata is Presbytery secretary and Rev. H. S. McDonald, formerly of Peachland and now of Revelstoke is treasurer. Speakers have included Rev. F. E. Runnals of Armstrong, president of the B.C. Conference and Dr. W. Taylor, principal of Union Theological College at UBC.

Engineer to Report On Chinaman's Gulch Road Closing Plan

Civil Engineer R. A. Barton of Penticton will be asked to file a report to municipal council on the Chinaman's Gulch road, to determine if grading of this municipal road tends to increase danger of the bank caving in.

Prior to last week, council had decided to close the road down the gulch, maintaining that keeping it open caused the bank to slide. Seepage in that area has created a situation where slides have been troubling the road for a long time.

D. Shoch appeared before council last week and made an earnest plea for council to reconsider its stand. He declared that closing of the road would not only cut off a shortcut to lower town, but would deny him an exit for his lower fruit lot.

He did not agree with council's contention that grading the road would bring down more slides. He was accompanied by Mr. Bolton, a neighbor also affected by the road closing plan.

While this service is available to those losing sight in later life, considerable adjustment, learning to do things by touch, and leading a normal life under blindness is necessary, before a man or woman can take a place in the work-a-day world. The CNIB home teacher, a blind person herself, directs the newly blind along the path to normal life.

She teaches handicrafts, typewriting, the housewifely arts, but each skill in its own special way opens a door leading out of the darkness imposed by blindness. For those who learn Braille, CNIB's touch type library places more than 22,000 books in a wide variety of reading at their disposal.

For those who find Braille too difficult, "Talking Books", recorded on long playing records, provide an infinite variety of reading. There are 43,000 records in all.

Develop Clubs and Cam Social life and recreation, recognized everywhere as an essential part of normal living, is even more important for the sightless.

CNIB has developed clubs, bowling leagues, summer camps, and a host of organizations, where not only the members, but also the executive is largely made up of blind recreation seekers, who discover they can go right on enjoying themselves in spite of their handicap.

CNIB is also concerned with prevention of blindness, and each year provides countless pairs of glasses, eye treatment and examinations for the financially unable in danger of losing their sight.

It is difficult to describe the role of a service organization like CNIB in the lives of Canada's blind. Perhaps the new residence rehabilitation centres springing up all over the Dominion are a symbol of the need CNIB has filled in the lives of blind Canadians for the past 30 years. At the same time we must not forget that the buildings, the services, and the achievements of the blind have been made possible only through the donations and grants of Canada's sighted citizenry.

CNIB can continue these services only as long as these donations and grants continue to flow in. CNIB makes but one financial appeal each year. The appeal in this district is taking place now. Faced with rising costs, CNIB needs your assistance more than ever. Please be gracious as you are generous in subscribing to The Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Study Proposed Oil Pipeline Interior Route

A party of 27 engineers of the Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company, visited Merritt, Kamloops and other points on the main line last week travelling on a special railway car. The Bechtel interests of San Francisco arranged the trip and the party included heads of contracting companies from San Francisco, Oklahoma, Vancouver and Calgary, studying a proposed oil pipeline route. Hearings on the proposal will start in Ottawa on November 26, this being construction of a line from Edmonton to Vancouver via the North Thompson, Kamloops, Merritt and Hope.

Coast Juveniles who Stole Rifles Here Are Arrested in Kelowna

Two Vancouver juveniles hitchhiking their way through the Okanagan broke into the home of H. Gollnick on the Peachland road last week and stole two rifles, one a .22 rifle belonging to the home owner and the other a .32-40 belonging to D. L. Sanborn.

They proceeded up the hillside behind the house but when their practice shooting attracted the attention of C. Stent they disappeared over the hill.

The next day they were apprehended in Kelowna by RCMP and brought back to face Juvenile Court Judge H. Sharman who placed them on indefinite probation. Their parents took them back to the coast.

Delegation Meets Carson
Penticton-Deep Creek Highway Has Priority, But Depends on Funds

The Penticton-Deep Creek section of Okanagan Highway No. 97 has a high priority on the new road construction program of the department of public works but will depend on the amount of money made available by the legislature for new highway construction next year. This in effect, was the reply given by Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, who was interviewed by representatives of Summerland and Kelowna Boards of Trade last weekend. A brief from these two boards and the Penticton board, which was unable to be represented personally, was presented to Hon. Mr. Carson.

Presentation to Retiring Ranger, Charles Perrin

Phil Munro, president of the Meadow Valley Stock Association, made a surprise presentation at the general meeting of the organization in the IOOF hall last Friday night to Charles Perrin, of Penticton, retiring district forest ranger for the Penticton area. Mr. Perrin was the recipient of a wallet containing $25, a gift from the stockmen of Summerland district in appreciation of his services over the years. J. R. Christie, president of the South Okanagan Stockmen's Assn. was present from Okanagan Falls as a special guest for the occasion, while another guest was Mr. A. Paulson, Kamloops, representing the Kamloops Forest District office. Mr. J. F. Morsh of Peachland introduced the subject of cattle rustling to the general meeting and discussion on this subject occupied most of the business session. Mr. Christie agreed that the situation is becoming serious in this part of the Okanagan and gave one instance where an animal was found shot four times and only the hind quarters taken by the rustler. Examples of losses from the Peachland and Meadow Valley areas were told to the meeting. General feeling was that some of the stockmen should be deputized and given authority to stop and search trucks or cars which are suspected to contain evidence of rustling activities.

Hockey Season Tickets Go on Sale For Penticton Arena

Season tickets for home games by Penticton V's at the new Penticton Memorial Arena are being offered to Summerland residents this week, according to Clarence Burch, who is in charge of the hockey club finance committee. Mr. Burch states that two blocks of seats behind the players' benches and the penalty box have been set aside for persons who do not reside in Penticton. The Penticton Hockey Club realizes that a good many fans from the district outside Penticton will want to reserve seats for these home games, so some of the best seats in the arena have been set aside for their use. Opening game is expected to be played October 20, with the arena opening to the general public in inspection designated as this weekend. In the meantime, the V's are practicing at Kelowna arena, the ice having been offered free to the Penticton club by the Orchard City in the interests of valley hockey.

Gets 15 Pounds of Spuds in One Hill

Roy Wellwood, proprietor of Roy's Men's Wear, is gaining recognition as a farmer as well as a businessman. This week, he is displaying some of the biggest spuds grown here this year. From one hill potatoes weighing fifteen pounds were dug, while two of the specimens weighed 2 1/2 pounds apiece. Another huge potato is on display in Mac's Cafe window, the produce of one of the cafe's employees, Mrs. Fisher. It weighs 2 1/2 pounds.

First White Child in Osoyoos Presents Portrait of His Father

OSOYOOS—Four of the six children of Osoyoos' first resident white family met here for the first time since 1908 on Thursday evening. The occasion was the presentation to the Village of Osoyoos of a portrait of the late Judge John Carmichael Haynes who came to this district 90 years ago. The presentation was made by Osoyoos' first white child, Val Haynes, a son of the early pioneer. Also on hand were three more of the late Judge's children, Mrs. R. B. White of Penticton, Will Haynes of Oliver and Mrs. I. M. Parkinson of Kelowna. The second white child born here, Baba Krueger, was also at the meeting. George J. Fraser gave a brief biography of the man who first settled here and now ranks among

Mr. Carson was not pressed by the delegation to give any immediate answer, but it was stressed that this particular section of Okanagan highway carries an ever-increasing burden of heavy traffic which it is not constructed at present to meet. The heavy burden of big freight vehicles moving from the coast up the Hope-Princeton to Penticton and then north up Highway No. 97 was listed by the delegation.

Hon. Mr. Carson agreed that the highway is not adequate now to serve this heavy freight traffic and expressed himself as being as anxious as the trade boards and the residents here to have the highway brought up to modern standards. However, the project will have to fit into the general province-wide expansion program and if the government takes money from the road department to provide other services then the public works department is powerless to carry out its commitments, the minister pointed out.

He inferred that this was the case earlier this year when the Penticton-Trout Creek section of Okanagan highway had to be abandoned from this season's new road construction program. Mr. Carson also declared that his department has just about decided the probable route of the highway from Penticton to Deep Creek but was not prepared to make any commitment on this score. However, the surveys have been narrowed down to two probable routes, he indicated. The minister also agreed that the relocation and modernization of the Summerland-Peachland section should probably have priority because of the hills encountered and because of the narrowness of this section.

This indicates a slight change from the original plan which had the Penticton-Trout Creek section being reconstructed first. Hon. Mr. Carson met the Okanagan delegation on Sunday morning in Victoria after the party was delayed in Vancouver because of cancellation of plane flights by TCA, on the Saturday. Kelowna was represented by Trade Board President C. G. Beeson, while President J. R. Armstrong represented the Summerland trade board. Dr. W. Roy Walker, president of the Penticton board, also signed the brief but was unable to make the trip. Both trade board officials praised the public works minister for his consideration in giving up part of his holiday weekend to consider their plea. After giving the brief a short scrutiny, the minister remarked that it was a reasonable request and he was in accord with most of the utterances contained therein. He did refer, however, to the comments which pointed out that $200,000 had been allocated for Penticton-Trout Creek in 1949 and $400,000 for Penticton-Deep Creek by 1951. These figures were only used as a guide and were not definite commitments at that time, he pointed out. Ever-increasing costs of new road construction had forced the department to change its appropriations many times during the years, he remarked.

Mr. Carson is looking forward to next year when the link with the Alaskan highway will be completed to the point where traffic will be allowed to traverse the interior B.C. link. This link with the famous Alcan highway will mean that 800 miles will be saved. A tremendous volume of freight and passenger traffic is expected to flow northwards up the central B.C. route next spring when a temporary bridge is put into operation as the final connecting link in the new highway from Prince George to Dawson Creek, B.C.

All Canada is agog with interest this week, following the visit for the first time of Princess Elizabeth and her sailor-husband the Duke of Edinburgh who landed by plane on Sunday evening and commenced their cross-Canada tour on Tuesday with their arrival on the royal train at historic old Quebec. Today Their Royal Highnesses are in Ottawa all day and tomorrow the Princess will inspect the cadets at the Royal Military College, Kingston and will see a combined air show and ground manoeuvres at Trenton RCAF station. Chief of the Air Staff will make a presentation on behalf of the RCAF. An address of welcome by the Mayor of Toronto is included in the day's activities. Saturday, Victoria Cross winners will be presented at the CNE grounds in Toronto before assembled school children. Members of the Toronto Board of Trade will hear an address from the Duke Saturday morning, followed by royal visits to the Maple Leaf Gardens where crippled children will be in attendance at the Shrine circus. Visits to Sunnybrook Military hospital and the Hospital for Sick Children are included in the itinerary that day as well as an inspection of the 48th Highlanders of Canada. The trip across Canada to the west proceeds next week, with arrival in British Columbia scheduled for Friday, October 19. Although no official announcement has been made by the school board, it is anticipated that Summerland schools will be closed that day to allow pupils to travel to mainline centres to see Their Royal Highnesses. Minister of Education Hon. W. T. Straith declared a school holiday on a date which would allow pupils to make the trip north when he officially opened Summerland's new junior-senior high school. The royal train arrives at Kamloops at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon Oct. 19 and leaves an hour later. Civic reception is being held in Riverside Park and it is anticipated that thousands from all parts of the southern interior will be present to see these two famous people. Shorter stops are scheduled for Revelstoke and Salmon Arm with a platform appearance at Sicamous.

Interior Apple Growers to Receive $1,200,000 Subsidy on 1950 Apple Crop Officials Announce in Ottawa

From Kelowna headquarters of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association this morning comes the welcome news that B.C. interior apple growers will have their 1950 pool sweetened by $1,200,000 as the result of successful negotiations with the federal government at Ottawa.

No details of the division have been announced, but on the basis of an eight million box crop this means an additional 15 cents per box on the entire production.

Application was made some months ago to the Agricultural Prices Support Board at Ottawa. The application was accompanied at the time by personal presentations of BCFGA President A. R. Garrish and B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. General Manager A. K. Loyd.

In the past week, these two leaders, along with J. B. Lander, Tree Fruits sales manager, have been in Ottawa pressing for action on the application to alleviate the depressed state which many Okanagan apple growers find themselves in as the result of the low returns from the 1950 crop and the ravages of the 1949-50 winter kill and the severe frosts last spring.

Further work is being done to seek alleviation of the high freight rates to western Canadian markets.

Details of sales of the 1951 crop portion to the United Kingdom are also being worked out and in this respect Mr. Lander is proceeding to London, England, to attempt to finalize the deal.

CO-OP PAYS IN TIME FOR TAXES

In time for the October 15 municipal tax payment deadline, the Summerland Co-operative Growers' Assn is distributing to its shipping members today a payment of $96,200. This payment constitutes an advance on peaches, Bartlett pears, prunes and plums of the 1951 crop.

Want BCHIS To Negotiate New Salaries

Okanagan region of the B.C. Hospitals Association is planning to suggest to its parent body in convention at Vancouver next week that the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service bargain for all B.C. hospitals with the registered nurses' association regarding the proposed new salary structure. B.C. registered nurses are campaigning for starting salaries of $200 per month, against the present starting salary paid here of $175 per month. The annual session of the Okanagan region was held in Princeton last Saturday with delegates from Revelstoke, Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton, Oliver, Princeton and Merritt present. J. E. O'Mahony, Summerland hospital secretary and Dr. J. C. Wilcox, retiring regional representative on the BCHIA were delegates from the local hospital society to this annual meeting. Mr. Charles Nicholls of Princeton was named the new regional chairman and also regional representative to the B.C. association. Mr. McGraw of Princeton will be his secretary. Proposed new wage agreements formed the main topic of discussion last Saturday, it being considered that individual hospitals bargaining with their nursing staff would not be a beneficial course of action. Also, it was again proposed that a uniform scale for board and lodging of nurses in nurses' homes should be obtained, at least in Okanagan region. In this area, charges range from $35 to $45 per month, it was discovered. Percy Ward, secretary of the B.C. Hospitals Association, Vancouver, was present for the Okanagan regional session, along with Mr. Hobson, representing the BCHIS. The B.C. Hospitals Assn. annual convention is being held in Vancouver next week from October 16 to 19 inclusive. Secretary O'Mahony and Matron Miss Verda Snow will go from Summerland, along with a representative of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary.

All Canada is agog with interest this week, following the visit for the first time of Princess Elizabeth and her sailor-husband the Duke of Edinburgh who landed by plane on Sunday evening and commenced their cross-Canada tour on Tuesday with their arrival on the royal train at historic old Quebec. UNESCO Survey in Burma to be Topic At Teachers' Session

Dr. F. T. Falrey, deputy minister of education will address a public meeting of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Assn. in the Southern Okanagan high school, Oliver, at the conclusion of the first day's session of the annual OVTA convention which is being held in the southern centre this Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12 and 13. Theme of the convention is "professional growth", which will be discussed in relation to B.C. teachers by Inspector J. F. K. English of Victoria at one of the general meetings of teachers. Dr. Falrey's topic will be "The UNESCO Survey in Burma", as he was a member of the United Nations mission this year. Summerland schools will be closed all day tomorrow for the convention.

Jaycees Install E. F. (Ted) Weeks as New President for 1951-52 Season

Work of the Junior Chamber in any community is based on the ideal of personal betterment while carrying out constructive community endeavors, it was stressed by speakers attending the annual installation banquet of the Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce at the IOOF hall Tuesday evening, Oct. 9. E. F. (Ted) Weeks, a member of the Summerland schools staff, and his fellow directors and officers were installed for 1951-52 by Clarence Way, Penticton, B.C., Junior Chamber vice-president. Officers installed are Gerry Hallquist, vice-president; Francis Gould, recording secretary; Dave Wright, corresponding secretary; Al McIntosh, treasurer; R. H. (Bob) Broadbald, J. R. Dunham, Don Clark, C. B. (Tiny) Hankins and Frank (Babe) Kuroda, directors. As retiring president, John Bennett spoke shortly, outlining the chief activities of the Jaycees last year in relation to the Jaycee creed. "The Jaycees are a supplementary educational organization of young men learning through constructive action," he stressed, pointing out that in organizing for community endeavors young men are also developing themselves to take an active part in the affairs of their home town. Efforts of the Jaycees in the past year were mainly centered around the Red Cross campaign, the blood donor clinic and the sales of Christmas trees. Recover Stolen Box But No Money Inside

RCMP report no further progress towards recovery of the $500 stolen from the Holmes & Wade Ltd. safe on Monday evening, Sept. 3, Labor Day. However, the metal box containing the money and various papers belonging to the firm was picked up on the school grounds later in the month. It is stated now. All the money was gone but all papers and one cheque was recovered in the container.

Merritt Would Return To Self Government

MERRITT—A delegation will go to Victoria and meet Premier Byron Johnson, Hon. R. C. Macdonald, minister of municipalities and his deputy, B. C. Braeewell, to demand action on Merritt's campaign for self-government and immediate return to local administration after 18 years of commission rule.

Building Last Month Improved

Although there has been little interest in building because of restrictions in certain types of building materials, and the high cost of erecting new buildings, September of 1951 was ahead of the same month in 1950, Building Inspector Roy F. Angus reveals in his latest report. Ten permits were issued in September for a total of $6,890, compared with five permits for $4,550 in the same month last year. One new dwelling at a value of $4,000, one commercial permit for $650 and eight permits for alterations and additions, at a value of $2,240 made up the September 1951 permits issued. For the first nine months of this year, 87 permits for building valued at $137,530 have been issued. In the same period of 1950, 83 permits were valued at $485,605. Leaving out large projects such as the school, Occidental Fruit Co. Ltd. cold storage addition and the arena, permit values of the two nine-month periods show 1951 at $112,530 and 1950 at $150,605.

Guide News

1st Company

Last week all the Guides seemed to enjoy themselves very much. We started with inspection, learned a new game and had patrol corners. Our subject was Africa.

At campfire we had cocoa and cookies, and decided to have eats once a month.

Five girls were chosen to take a Thanksgiving parcel to Mountain View Home on Saturday.

We are very glad to see Mrs. Don and Mrs. Bruce Blagborne back helping with Guides and we hope Miss Kish will like Guiding.

Points follow: Pimpernel 128, Buttercups 127, Forget-me-nots 114, Hepaticas 118.

TEEN TOWN

There wasn't any council meeting this week so I will just tell you about the big dance on Saturday night. It is to be a barn dance so wear your old clothes and straw hat. In two weeks there will be a Halloween masquerade, so everyone get their costumes ready. See you all at the dance Saturday night.

RECIPE HINTS

Who would think that chicken goes with cheese? This casserole combines the flavor of chicken with a cheese biscuit topping, that makes it fine fare for family or guests.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

One third cup butter, 4 tsp. flour, 2 cups chicken stock or milk, 2 to 3 cups cooked chicken, salt, pepper, 1 hard cooked egg, cheese biscuit dough.

Melt the butter. Add flour and mix well. Cook without browning. Add chicken stock or milk or a mixture of the two. Cook 20 minutes, stirring to prevent lumping. Add salt and pepper to taste. Arrange chicken meat, sauce, and sliced hard cooked egg in a casserole. Top with cheese biscuits. Bake in a hot oven (425 to 450 degrees F.) for 20 to 30 minutes.

CHEESE BISCUIT

Two cups flour, 3 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 4 tsp. butter,

1 1/2 cups grated cheese, 2/3 to 1 cup milk.

Sift flour and measure; add baking powder and salt. Sift a second time. Cut in the butter and one cup of the grated cheese. Add milk to make a soft dough. Place on board and knead very lightly. Roll to one-half inch thickness. Brush with melted or softened butter. Cut with a biscuit cutter. Arrange on top of the casserole. Prick with a fork. Bake in a hot oven (400 to 425 degrees F.) 20 to 30 minutes. The remainder of the cheese may be sprinkled over the top a short time before removing from the oven or as a topping when served.

High School COMMENTS

The fizzling and spitting of firecrackers during the past week reminds me that Halloween will soon be here. Remember the time we pushed over... Maybe I shouldn't write about that.

Friday afternoon a senior assembly was held in the auditorium. It was announced that Glen Young, husband had been elected president for the coming year. Congratulations Glen.

At this meeting, ideas for raising money for the students' councils were discussed. One idea was a variety show and the other was to show pictures at noon and charge admission. A motion was passed instructing the council to pay immediately bills resulting from last year's Annual.

Nominations were made for the social committee, but the meeting was adjourned before elections could be held.

Following the assembly, the students watched a magic show which was sponsored by the students' council.

Both boys and girls soccer teams journeyed to Rutland Saturday to play in the first league games of the season. The Sr. boys held the Rutland team to a 0-0 tie but the girls weren't so lucky, Rutland winning the game by a score of 3-0.

All the teams showed a definite lack of finish, largely due to the fact that few practices have been held because of apple picking.

The next games will be played against Kelowna at Summerland on October 16 and at Kelowna on October 18 and it would certainly be nice to see more spectators supporting the teams.

The Mail Bag

Believes Ratepayers Were Fooled by Municipality Summerland, B.C. October 8, 1951

Editor, The Review:

With regard to the proposed new municipal hall—

That large sum of money they propose to use should have been put against the cost of the high school. Look what a difference it would have made to the cost.

But not a bit. They carefully guarded it and hid it, with the idea they could fool the ratepayers and make them imagine that they could build a magnificent municipal hall at no expense to the ratepayers—absurd and ridiculous.

The proposed municipal hall has served its purpose for many years and will serve its purpose for many more. It would be a reckless extravagance to use the ratepayers' money to put up a quite unnecessary municipal hall just for show.

The best thing they can do with that money is to use it to reduce the debt on the high school, which would help keep down the rates.

The municipal finances do not appear to be so straightforward as they used to be. You could always depend on Nixon.

Yours faithfully,
W. H. F. WELSH.

Would Bring Children From Paradise Ranch By Boat to School

Major J. V. H. Wilson, Paradise Ranch, has asked Summerland school board if it would be possible for his children to attend Summerland schools as from Sept. 1952, a meeting of the board learned on Thursday, Sept. 27.

Major Wilson lives in the Pentiction school district and his children are entitled to attend school at Naramata and Pentiction.

It is his plan to bring them across the lake in a good boat, since he feels that he might better and more quickly bring them by water than by the road. It would take an earlier start to arrive at Naramata, or catch a school bus at Naramata for Pentiction, than it would to cross the lake.

The board decided that there was no reason why the request should not be granted providing that the usual fee charged to those not residing in the district is paid, and the secretary was instructed to write Major Wilson to this effect.

Record Number Of Tourists in B.C. Last August

Recreational travel to British Columbia during the month of August established an all-time high for any month in history, announces Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, minister of trade and industry.

A total of 46,773 foreign vehicles entered British Columbia customs ports on traveller's vehicle permits during this period. Previous record high was in July 1950 when 42,809 foreign cars entered the province.

At the same time the eight-month total for 1951 reached 151,023 vehicles, compared to 159,232 in a similar period of 1950, an increase of 14 per cent.

The minister reported that in his opinion the continued improvement in highways and the better accommodations available to the traveller were two of the major factors contributing to British Columbia's steadily increasing visitor industry.

A former well-known resident of Summerland, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, passed away at Gibson's Landing on October 2. Coming here with her husband in 1920 she was a prominent member of St. Andrew's United church and WMS. They resided in the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Blanchett. She is survived by her husband.

Gift of Books Sent to Library by Visitor

A parcel of twenty books has been presented to the Summerland branch of the Okanagan Union Library by a visitor from Edmonton. Judge Thomas L. Cross, of Edmonton, has visited the Okanagan on several occasions and has always remarked on its hospitality and beauties. To show his interest in this community he has made the gift of books to Summerland readers.

When visiting the valley, Judge Cross always stays with his friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd, Laverock, Giant's Head road.

VISITING ABROAD

Earl Fridell, who spent the summer here at the entomological lab, has returned to his home in Vancouver.

Dr. Maurice Welsh, who spent the holiday weekend at his home here, has returned to Creston to continue experiments for the plant pathology department. He will conclude his research work for this year in about ten days and will then return to Summerland for the winter months.

Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh is a visitor at Vancouver this week to see her new grandson at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David R. Walker. She drove to the coast with Mr. and Mrs. John Vanderburgh of Oliver and Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Fisher of Summerland who spent the Thanks. giving weekend holidaying at the coast.

Nu-Way Cafe Has Face Lifted; Seating For Fifty Persons

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Holmes have completely redecorated the cafe portion of their Nu-Way Cafe and Hotel and are proceeding to make further alterations to their hotel rooms.

The cafe walls have been covered with Sylvacord, and present a bright, clean appearance. New fluorescent lighting fixtures add to the general appearance. Gone is the diningroom which was partitioned from the rest of the cafe premises. The entire space is now devoted to booths, which have been provided with leatherette seats.

With these alterations, seating accommodation for fifty persons is now provided in the Nu-Way Cafe. This week another bathroom is being added upstairs in the hotel portion of the building. The interior of the rooms have been either repainted or re-papered and every room is now equipped with either complete bathroom facilities or wash-basin facilities. There are nine rooms available for the travelling public in the Nu-Way hotel now.

The hand-made mahogany table and chairs shown here are a gift from the provinces of Quebec and New Brunswick to Canada's tenth province, Newfoundland. Designed and made by the Montreal Furniture School, the furniture will be used in Newfoundland's provincial legislature.

Richard Lewis Tells Legion of His Adventures on Trip to Austria

An interesting and sometimes amusing talk on his wonderful trip to England and the continent as one of the Canadian Boy Scout contingent to the 7th World Boy Scout Congress in Austria this summer was provided a poorly attended meeting of Summerland Branch No. 22 Canadian Legion last night.

Speaker was Richard Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Lewis, and a patrol leader of 1st Summerland troop, sponsored by the Legion branch.

Richard was one of five B.C. Boy Scouts chosen for this tour which commenced on July 10 and concluded with her return to Summerland on Sept. 6.

There were 32 Boy Scouts from Canada divided into four patrols: in the party which sailed on the Ascania from Montreal on July 18. It was a rough voyage and the sun only shone once but Richard proved a good sailor and was so interested in his chief hobby, food, that he wasn't even seasick.

At Clarence House in London the lads were thrilled to be interviewed by Princess Elizabeth, now touring Canada, and to see Prince Charles.

The Canadian contingent travelled to Bad Ischl, Austria, by way of Dieppe and Richard had little to say in complimentary terms of the French railway cars.

At the Jamboree, 15,000 Boy Scouts from 30 countries were present, some of the largest contingents being from countries which were fighting each other a few short years ago.

Among his souvenirs, Richard returned with an Austrian feathered-hat, typical neckerchief, and short leather pants worn by natives of that interesting country where oxen and the plow are still in vogue.

On the return trip a short glimpse of the Festival of Britain, a peak at the crown jewels in the Tower of London, a visit to Madame Tussaud's waxworks and an opportunity to meet Lady Baden-Powell and enjoy her quick wit were included in the British Isles itinerary.

Again on the return crossing of the Atlantic the boys experienced rough weather which delayed the crossing a full day.

Lower Town Walk Still Possibility

There is still a good possibility that some action will be taken this year on building a sidewalk in lower town in the area of the Charles Booth house. Mr. G. W. Johnson wrote council last week pointing out that residents between A. J. Mann's home and the Walter Wright residence are still waiting patiently for the promised walk.

Councillor F. M. Stewart promised to confer with Road Foreman Les Gould, as soon as the latter returned from his holidays, with a view to getting action on this walk. It was also suggested that Engineer R. A. Barton should "run a line" for the walk while he is doing other work for the municipality in the lower town area.

HOME AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waddell, who spent three weeks visiting their son, Dave, in Summerland, returned to Victoria last weekend. It was their first visit to the Okanagan since they resided on a farm at Enderby forty years ago. Up until two years ago they operated the famous Inglenook Gardens in the capital city.

Local Hockey Star Takes Bride in Edmonton Ceremony

In a recent ceremony at St. Peter's Lutheran church, Edmonton, Miss Doreen Jane Jacobi became the bride of Mr. Richard Maurice Steiniger.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jacobi of Seba Beach. Mr. and Mrs. H. Steiniger, West Summerland, are the parents of the groom. Rev. A. J. Mueller performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of traditional white satin, styled with a lace yoke and lily-point sleeves. The skirt fell in train and she carried a lovely bouquet of red roses and white gladioli. Her jewellery was a cameo necklace.

Mrs. Kenneth Janzow in mauve net and taffeta, carrying carnations, was matron of honor, and little Gloria Jean Taylor was flower girl, wearing yellow taffeta and she carried a nosegay of roses and orchids.

Best man was Mr. Kenneth Janzow, and Master Allan Jacobi was ring bearer. Ushers were Mr. Edwin Jacobi and Mr. Donald Bannman.

At the reception held at Silver Dollar hall, Seba Beach, the bride's mother wore a grey dress with rust accessories to receive her guests. Her corsage was of yellow roses. Mrs. Steiniger, the groom's mother, wore a pretty navy frock, accessories matching, and red roses on corsage.

Following a honeymoon to Calgary, Vermilion and Seba Beach, the newlyweds will make their home at Penticton. The groom has been a star player on local senior hockey teams the last two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Embree left on Monday for a two weeks' holiday at their former home of Castor, Alta.

Former Nurse at Local Hospital is Bride in Quebec

Miss Marion Shannon, RN, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Shannon, Vancouver, who will be remembered as a nurse at Summerland General hospital, was married recently in Grace Chapel, Sherbrooke, P.Q. to Hubert Allan McGee, son of Mr. Frederick McGee and the late Mrs. Mable Louise Paige of Lennoxville, P.Q. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Aurthen Hill.

The bride chose a gown of white satin with panelled lace skirt en train. A dainty headdress of matching material held the fingertip net illusion veil in place, and red roses, white gladioli and rosebuds were in the bridal bouquet.

Miss May Shannon, sister of the bride, was present from Vancouver as maid of honor. She wore a lilac gown with bodice of brocaded satin, and net-over-taffeta skirt. Yellow and mauve sweet peas mingled with gladioli tips in her bouquet.

Following a reception at Rockcliffe, the bride changed for travelling to a navy blue wool gabardine suit with matching and white accessories.

The honeymoon was spent motoring in the New England States and the newlyweds are making their home in Montreal.

The bride is a graduate of St. Paul's School of Nursing, Vancouver, and her groom studied commerce at McGill University.

Autumn Colors Match Glow from Candles as 250 Guests Gather at St. Andrew's for Pollock-Elliott Nuptials

Two hundred and fifty guests thronged St. Andrew's United church, West Summerland, at eight o'clock on the evening of Thursday, October 4, for the marriage of Bernice Burnett, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Elliott, pioneer residents, to Burton Melvin, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Pollock, Summerland.

Banks of autumn-toned flowers in lovely arrangements softly lighted by tall, white tapers, enhanced the double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. H. R. Whitmore. A lighted candle glowed in each window of the church on fall tinted leaves and blossoms.

Given in marriage by her father, the dark-haired bride wore a simply cut beautiful white transparent velvet wedding gown, with high neckline and tiny collar, fitted bodice and long, lily-point sleeves. The skirt fell in soft folds with a slight train. A forward-tilted half-halo hat of matching velvet and fingertip embroidered veil completed the ensemble with a cascade of fragrant gardenias as the bridal bouquet.

A quintette of attendants carried out the autumn color picture in charming forest green and October rust velvet and net frocks.

Those of the four senior attendants were similarly fashioned with bodice of strapless net, deep-cut fitted buttoned short jackets with cap sleeves over full skirts en train. They wore matching velvet head-dresses, net mitts, and carried natural-colored flat wicker baskets having flowers in tone and rust-colored ribbon bows.

Mrs. W. Kennedy, Vancouver, sister of the bride and Miss Connie Harrison, Vancouver, were in the green shade, while Mrs. Frank Pollock, West Summerland, and Mrs. W. Chadwick, Vancouver, were in rust.

Little Pamela Kennedy, the bride's niece, wore a floor-length citron velvet costume with hooped skirt.

Mr. Charles Pollock was his brother's best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Mr. Murray Elliott, the groom's brother, Mr. Frank Pollock, and Mr. Jack Dundson and Mr. J. McLachlan.

Mr. T. McKay, organist of the church, played the nuptial music. A reception followed immediately in St. Andrew's hall, where long tables had lovely candle and flower motifs.

The bride's table was decorated with low bowls of white gladioli and lighted candles. A four-tiered wedding-cake with swan pillars, and a tiny bride and groom perched a-top, was embedded in white tulle, gathered together here and there with pink carnations.

Mrs. Elliott received in a becoming gown of grey crepe and lace with lace bolero, small feathered wine velvet hat, and corsage in pale shades. Mrs. Pollock was in purple with black off-the-face hat and contrasting corsage.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore was master of ceremonies and read congratulatory telegrams, while Dr. A. W. Vanderburgh proposed the toast to the bride.

Pouring were Mrs. Kate Taylor, Mrs. T. McDonald, Mrs. George Henry, Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon, Mrs. T. A. Walden and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh.

Serviteurs were Mrs. L. Shannon, Mrs. R. H. Bleasdale, Mrs. W. F. Evans, Mrs. J. Heavysides, Mrs. J. R. Butler, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. G. Paterson, Mrs. H. Kuhar, Mrs. Godfrey Chadburn, Miss Millie Hudson, Miss Gay Duffton, Miss Agnes Damner, Miss Margaret Kelly and Miss Kay Johnston.

Hydatid Disease Spreads Among B.C. Wildlife, Game Expert Warns

Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan, scientific advisor to the B.C. Game Commission, recently issued an information circular on hydatid disease which should be of interest to all owners of dogs and other animals in relation to their probable consumption of wild life.

Hydatid disease has been spreading in B.C. wildlife and other parts of Canada and is caused by the larval (young) stage of a tapeworm. The adult worm is about one-quarter inch in length and occurs in the digestive tracts of wolves, coyotes, foxes, domestic dogs and some other flesh eaters.

Eggs discharged by these worms pass out with the faeces (manure) and fall to the ground or adhere to the soiled fur of the animal.

These eggs, or tiny new hatched worms are eaten by other animals feeding on grass and leaves. In this way deer, moose, caribou, elk or domestic cow, sheep, or goat become infected, sometimes even mice and other small animals. In the new animal the small worm burrows through the wall of the gut and gets into the blood. There it floats to the lungs, liver, brain or other organ where it settles down and grows and multiplies into a tough, "water" filled cyst (bladder) that may reach the size of an orange.

In moose, deer, etc., these are usually in the lungs and can be felt as hard lumps. If the cysts are cut open the "water" runs out and appears to contain small white sand grains. Each of these sand grains is a cluster of very small tapeworms beads.

If a wolf, dog, fox, etc., eats a cyst it becomes infected with the very small adult tapeworms that grow from these beads after they have been eaten.

Man gets the disease only by eating the eggs or newly hatched young.

He may get these by eating with dirty hands after he has been handling dogs, dog harness, cleaning kennels, or handling anything that may have been dirtied with dog manure.

One serious outbreak among an eskimo population occurred from eating uncooked wild plants in an area where the foxes had the worm.

Children may get it from playing with dogs, or in areas where the dogs infected with the worm have been kept. Children are always putting dirty objects or their hands in their mouths and are particularly susceptible.

In man the cyst is usually in the liver, lungs or brain and grows very slowly. It may be several years before it is large enough to have serious effects upon the infected human. The cyst in man can only be removed by cutting it out.

Man cannot get the disease by eating moose, deer, elk or any other infected animal. He can only get it by eating the eggs on dirty hands or unclean food.

If you have been working with dogs, or skinning foxes, coyotes or wolves, scrub your hands before eating. Don't let children play with dogs that may be infected, and keep your dogs away from where your children play.

To prevent dogs getting infected and giving the disease to you or your family don't let them eat uncooked lungs or liver of moose, deer, elk or caribou. In some parts of the central B.C. over half the moose have the cysts. These are doing no apparent harm to the moose and will do you no harm if you don't let your dogs eat the raw lungs, or liver. Better still take no chances and cook all the wild meat you feed your dogs.

You could eat the cysts raw with no danger—a dog eating them gets the worms and is then dangerous to you.

In summary, these are the main points:

1. An infected deer, moose, elk or caribou, is perfectly safe as human food.
2. Man cannot get hydatid disease from the browsing or grazing animals.
3. Man gets the disease only from eating the eggs on unclean food or on dirty hands.
4. The eggs come from adult worm living in the gut of a flesh eating animal—usually dog or wolf.
5. Unlike man the dog gets the worm by eating the cyst in an infected browsing animal.

Legislature Will Convene October 25

The special session of the B.C. legislature, which was slated for October 22 has been postponed due to the delayed arrival of Their Royal Highnesses Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The session will be called on October 25.

As previously reported, the session will be convened so that the government may recommend to the legislature the acceptance of the federal government's proposal to make pensions available for persons in the 65 to 69 year age group on an eligibility test basis.

PRINCETON—This community is now in actual fact an incorporated village, the order-in-council having been passed last month.

Photographed in flight is a Super Constellation, a newly designed airliner, which is being purchased by Trans-Canada Air Lines for overseas operation. The 65-ton aircraft will fly fifty miles per hour faster and will be capable of carrying more passengers on trans-ocean runs than any present commercial transport. Powered by new compounded turbine-reciprocating engines of 3,250 horsepower each, the Super Constellations will fly non-stop between Montreal and London in 10½ hours.

Ralph E. White, Pioneer Newspaper Man, Dies at His Kamloops Home

KAMLOOPS—Ralph E. White, publisher of the Kamloops Sentinel, who passed away at the mainline city on September 22, was born at St. Martin's, New Brunswick, on October 8, 1875, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. White.

As a young man he was on the staffs of daily newspapers in St. John, N.B.; but in 1911 he migrated to British Columbia with his wife and children.

Summerland in the South Okanagan was his destination, where he became a partner in the original Summerland Review. Soon thereafter he became sole owner of the Review which grew in stature in the years when Summerland was becoming the centre of the then-developing soft-fruit industry of the Okanagan Valley. During this period he was to the forefront, in many efforts, several centering around electrical power and irrigation, which were important, even vital, to the growth of the Summerland area. He served as councillor and then as reeve of Summerland.

In 1925 he disposed of The Review and purchased The Kamloops Sentinel.

With characteristic energy, Mr. White set about correcting the paper's faults, improving and expanding its plant and facilities—all with the objective of giving Kamloops the very best newspaper he could.

Within a brief span of years he was well toward his goal, but during all this quarter-century as Sentinel publisher he never lowered his sights. The result has been that throughout the years The Sentinel twice, under Mr. White's leadership was selected as Canada's best all-round community newspaper, winning the Mason Trophy, awarded by Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, in 1931 and again in 1947.

Active in Organizations, Throughout his life, Mr. White took an active interest in weekly newspaper organizations in B.C. and Canada. He was for many years B.C. representative on the directorate of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Assn. He helped to form and to raise to its present standard Class A Weeklies of Canada. He was a past president of the B.C. Division, CWNA and first chairman of the B.C. Weekly Newspapers Advertising Bureau.

Last year, his confreres in the B.C. Division honored him with honorary life membership, along with two other pioneer B.C. newspapermen, Hugh Savage of Duncan and Charles A. Barber of Chilliwack.

Mr. White was also intimately connected with the development of Radio Station CFJC, Kamloops. He was a staunch churchman, having held many offices in the Kamloops United church, and was an executive officer in the Kamloops Red Cross branch.

He was a member of the Kamloops Rotary club and took an active interest in the cancer society. For more than a quarter century he was a member of Kamloops Elks Lodge No. 44 and was associated with Kamloops Canadian Club, Kamloops and District Board of Trade, and Kamloops Exhibition Assn.

Wants Soccer Team To Play Kelowna

Wendell Schwab has been asked by Jim Panton, Pro-Rec sports organizer for the valley, to help get together a soccer team, comprising players who have left school and still wish to play this energetic game.

A Kelowna senior squad is ready and waiting to meet Summerland, Mr. Schwab states.

Fred Kato, Sandy Jomori, Graham Munn and others are being interested in forming a team which would tackle the Orchard City crew.

Telephone Directory Comes Under Company's Program

The Okanagan Telephone Company's modernization program is even going to affect a change in future editions of the telephone directory. The September issue of the directory, now in the hands of close to 15,000 telephone subscribers, is to be the last of the large book-size directories. Starting with the March issue all future directories will be smaller in overall page size—with listings appearing in two columns instead of the present three-column page.

The directory will feature a full classified section, the Yellow Pages.

The page size of the directory has been changed to conform with standard form of page most generally used by telephone companies with a smaller directory issue. The inclusion of a full classified section is a service that has proven highly successful in all large city telephone directories.

The new classified section will carry all business listings as they appear in the directory. The result will be that the public will refer to the Yellow Pages for all its business calls with resulting faster service.

The progress of the Telephone Company's expansion program is reflected in the September issue of the directory with the appearance, for the first time, of three new exchanges, at Arrowhead, Oyama and Winfield.

Arrowhead received its first local telephone service in July of this year with Long Distance service available through the use of radio-telephone equipment.

Oyama and Winfield were "cut-over" to fully automatic telephone service last week, bringing to seven the total of dial exchanges now

Pro-Rec Will Assist Sports In Summerland

Jim Panton, Pro-Rec Okanagan organizer, paid an official visit to Summerland recently to assist in promoting junior athletic activities for fall and winter.

Mr. Panton agreed that Pro-Rec funds should be devoted towards organizing Pro-Rec gym classes, junior badminton, junior skating for girls and junior hockey for boys.

Peewee basketball may also fall into this category for boys and girls of Grades 7 and under in the elementary school.

Mr. W. J. Schwab states that a group of some 50 boys is ready to start Pro-Rec gym classes, and there is a strong possibility that enough girls will become interested in gymnastics to have a class for them in the evening at the new school gymnasium.

More complete organizational details will be forthcoming now that the school board policy regarding use of the gymnasium has been laid down.

The march issue of the new-style Directory is to coincide with the date of "cut-over" for the first large dial exchange in the Valley, at Kelowna.

NEWS FROM THE GREAT OUTDOORS

(By Bert Berry)

FISHING

Okanagan Lake: Pretty good last week. Everyone who fished seems to have obtained fish but no bigger ones showing up yet.

In general, all upper mountain lakes are producing moderately well for the few who do go for a day's fishing.

Fish Lake has been closed by law to enable Eastern Brooks to spawn. All the rest of the mountain lakes around here are open till they freeze over.

HUNTING

Grouse hunting is still spotty in this district. There seem to be lots of grouse but they are quite scarce.

Have heard nothing about a pheasant season yet, but the game commission should announce what the season will be here in this district very soon.

Ducks and geese are around in small numbers, as yet. Quite a few of the boys have shot some. Gerald Washington was lucky and managed to bag a goose.

Deer hunting has been pretty slow up to now, only one more coming in over the weekend. Fred Gartrell was the lucky one.

My prediction of poor moose hunting in the north seems to be wrong right now. In fact, there are more moose coming in than deer.

The Walker party brought three more in last week. Ralph and Gordon Elwert got another and Archie Campbell also shot one. There would appear to be quite a few bull moose in the north. On Monday night Percy Wilson arrived in with another, while the party headed by Bert Bryden and Marcel Bonthoux tagged one.

Quite a few parties from Summerland are still up there and if they connect there will be lots of moose meat in town.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK—

Most of the dwelling fires which are occurring somewhere every minute of the day, could be prevented.

These things can cause Your House to burn down:

- Defective or overheated chimney flues. Sparks on flammable roofs. Defective or overheated heating equipment. Improperly-handled rubbish. Accumulation of stored articles. Combustible material too close to heaters. Hot ashes and live coals. Smoking and Matches. Children and Matches. Failure of electrical equipment through improper installation and maintenance. Use of flammable liquids in the home. Careless handling of lamps, lanterns, stoves. Careless use of grease and oils in cooking—and ignorance of how to put out burning fat. Spontaneous ignition, through careless storage of unused articles.

THIS IS NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK. OBSERVE THE ORDINARY FUNDAMENTAL RULES OF FIRE PREVENTION EVERY DAY OF THE YEAR

Carelessness Chief Cause of Fires In Canada Says Prevention Chief

Three out of four fires in Canadian homes are caused by (1) matches and careless smoking habits, (2) faulty electrical wiring and apparatus, (3) heating and cooking stoves, etc., (4) kerosene and carelessness, states Stan Ridge of the fire prevention bureau of the Toronto Fire Department writing in a recent issue of the Canadian Underwriter.

Matches should be out of reach of small children and matches with easily inflammable heads should be kept in non-combustible containers, he stresses.

Around the home plenty of ash trays should be conveniently placed—and clean. No smoking should be allowed in bed or where "no smoking" signs are displayed. Lighted smokes should be thoroughly extinguished before throwing away.

Matches in Closets "Don't strike matches in closets, garages or other places were inflammable materials, dust or vapors may be ignited. Because Canadian citizens ignored these rules, some 30 percent of all fires occurred in the last 10 years.

One fire in every ten is caused through faulty electrical wiring and apparatus.

In Mr. Ridge's list of common-sense precautions is his advice to employ a skilled electrician to repair and extending wiring, don't string wire under rugs, over hooks or in any exposed place where they can become worn and therefore dangerous.

One out of every four or five fires is caused by faulty chimneys, flues, cooking or heating stoves, furnaces, carelessness with fireplace or hot ashes, or sparks on roofs.

Most frequent causes of fires in heating plants or appliances are sub-standard equipment, incorrect installation and construction, lack of care in maintenance and unsafe operation.

All heating plants, pipes or appliances should be at least 18 inches from any wall or burnable material. Heaters, including stoves, should be on insulated metal, cement or other incombustible bases. Walls and ceilings near stoves should be protected by asbestos sheathing or other insulating materials. Clean Chimneys Yearly Chimneys should be cleaned every year and repaired promptly when cracks or loose mortar appear. A furnace should never be "forced" to get more heat. Hot ashes should be emptied into metal containers only.

One fire in ten is caused by carelessness with kerosene, gasoline or other inflammable materials and by carelessness in handling candles, open lights, lamps, open gas jets, torches, etc. Using volatile liquids for cleaning purposes in the house causes many tragedies.

They vaporize when exposed to air and can form an explosive mixture that is ignited by a match, pilot light, sparking motor or static electricity caused by rubbing textiles together.

The quickly-spreading vapor may be exploded by a fire or even a smoker in another room. It is never safe to use inflammable, explosive fluids in a home—or in filling kerosene or gasoline stoves or lamps when they are lighted.

Colombo Plan Brings Delegation from India To See Okanagan

Six members of the India agriculture mission to Canada, arranged under the Colombo plan, were guests of the experimental station in Summerland on Friday and Saturday last week.

They were conducted over the station by Superintendent Dr. R. C. Palmer, who arranged for their transportation north to catch the mainline train on Saturday afternoon.

Dr. G. M. Butt, director of agriculture for the Jammu and Kashmir government, is supervisor for 28,000 acres of fruit land in his country.

The Okanagan contains nearly 35,000 acres under irrigation.

Following are the names and titles of the other five members of this party: Dr. J. K. Dubey, director of agriculture for the State of Bhopal; Mr. M. Kanti Raj, deputy director of agriculture for the State of Madras; Dr. S. R. Barooah, director of agriculture for the Government of Assam; Dr. K. G. Joshi, deputy director of agriculture, Madhya Pradesh; Mr. S. A. Hamid, principal, Central Co-operative Training Institute, Pusa (Bihar).

Thanksgiving Dinner Draws Large Crowd

Nearly 350 persons attended the highly successful Thanksgiving Dinner, an annual event which is anticipated eagerly by a large number of local residents who come to St. Andrew's United church hall.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore and president of St. Andrew's Service Club, Mrs. G. E. Woolliams received the visitors on Monday evening at the church hall.

Two sittings were necessary to cater to the large gathering which included members of the Kiwanis Club of Summerland, who held their weekly meeting in conjunction with the dinner.

Autumn leaves, flowers and produce provided an abundance of colorful arrays to provide the decor for the hall.

The Service Club, which handled the affair, appointed three convener, Mrs. George Washington, Mrs. W. H. Durick and Mrs. S. Cannings, to be in charge of the big undertaking.

Their chief committee heads included Mrs. D. R. Lancaster, Mrs. A. D. Wilson, Mrs. R. S. McLachlan, Mrs. G. A. Laidlaw, Mrs. S. W. J. Peitham, Mrs. Harvey Mitchell, Mrs. Lionel Fudge, Mrs. A. F. A. Crawford, Mrs. Ken Boothe, Mrs. A. J. McKenzie, Mrs. Jim Mayne, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, Mrs. Walter Ward, Mrs. J. Ganzefeld, Mrs. Colin Campbell and Mrs. A. K. Elliott.

Others who assisted the ladies' committees that evening included D. R. Lancaster, S. A. MacDonald, G. E. Woolliams, J. C. Wilcox and W. Jenkinson.

Piano and organ selections were enjoyed during the banquet played by Eugene Bates and T. McKay respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton, the latter the former Lavella Day, are visitors from California at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Day. Mr. Hamilton has just been released by the U.S. Army Airforce and the young couple will proceed on to Calgary to visit his parents before returning to the southern state.

stressing the friendship which is so striking a part of all Jaycee functions.

"The junior chamber is simply good citizenship," he pointed out, "and good citizenship is simply cooperation on the civic level".

It was in 1915 in St. Louis, Mo., that a group of young men decided to organize and attempt to combine the wisdom of age with the enthusiasm of youth. Now there are 160,000 Jaycees in the United States and the junior chamber movement has spread to an international level with more than 300,000 members.

Although the individual is being assisted, as well as the community, the strength of junior chamber work is in the unit, Mr. Way declared, urging local members not to lose sight of that important phase.

Toast to the ladies was proposed by Mel Ducommun with response by Mrs. Fred Walker. Retiring President John Bennest was toastmaster and introduced head table guests including Mr. and Mrs. Way, Board of Trade President J. R. Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong and Kiwanis Club President Lacey Fisher.

The stage was attractively decorated with a scene depicting Giant's Head by Stan Gladwell. The entire evening's entertainment program was arranged by a committee headed by Bob Bleasdale.

Following a short program by Jaycees, assisted by Frank Doumont on the piano, dancing was enjoyed to the music of Saxie's orchestra.

Mr. Bill Nelson, wellknown old-time resident of Summerland, is continuing to make good progress in the Summerland hospital and may be able to return to his home next week.

Speculation Rife on Mac Crop

There has been a great deal of speculation among Okanagan orchardists concerning reasons for the sudden drop of McIntosh Reds in local orchards.

The McIntosh is the apple which falls most readily of all, but seldom has there been a season in Okanagan history where the Macs fell in such quantities while other apples were barely mature alongside them.

Dr. R. C. Palmer, when asked last week for an explanation, declared that it might be the result of the long hot dry spell during August and September, and it might also be a result of the late sharp frost in the spring.

Then, again, it might be a combination of the two, but the genial experimental station superintendent wasn't making any definite statements on the subject until it receives further investigation.

In order to shed more light on the temperatures, a ten-year chart of minimum and maximum averages for the months of August and the first fifteen days in September was produced by the experimental station, as follows:

Table with columns: August Av., Max. Min., Sept. 1-15 Av., Max. Min. Rows: 1951, 1950, 1949, 1948, 1947, 1946, 1945, 1944, 1943, 1942

Mainline Cities Will Be Thronged Tomorrow To Greet Royal Couple

All roads in the interior lead to the mainline tomorrow, as thousands of eager residents plan to make the trip north to catch a glimpse of their Royal Highnesses Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, her sailor-husband.

Revelstoke, Sicamous, Salmon Arm and Kamloops will be crowded to capacity with eager loyal citizens eager to wave and cheer the popular young couple who have taken Canada by storm.

Accompanied by Hon. R. W. Mayhew, minister of fisheries, and Mrs. Mayhew, the Royal Couple catch their first glimpse of the Evergreen Playground tomorrow as the royal train moves slowly westward to the broad Pacific.

Official times of arrival and departure have been forwarded to The Review by the department of the Secretary of State of Canada.

At 11:40 o'clock tomorrow morning, Friday, Oct. 19, the Royal train makes a brief stop at Revelstoke, where Mayor Walter Hardman and other officials meet their Royal Highnesses.

The train is due to depart at 12:01 p.m. and will arrive at Sicamous at 1:35 p.m. After a ten-minute stop during which time various dignitaries will be presented, the train rolls on towards Salmon Arm.

Their Royal Highnesses arrive at the CPR station at 2:25 p.m. when Mayor H. W. Seales will be presented. A civic holiday has been

Mice Appear In Orchards

Mice have started to become a menace in Okanagan orchards. This was the disquieting news imparted this week by Alex Watt, district horticulturist.

Although they are not appearing in the large numbers of 1949, yet they are more numerous now than in the fall a year ago, states Mr. Watt.

He recommends that all young trees be either wrapped or wired but he prefers a wiring job as a more permanent protection.

Suitable poison bait as recommended in the spray calendar should be put around in the orchards.

Bring in West Kootenay Crew For Cutover

As soon as equipment arrives, the cutover to the new substation in West Summerland will be undertaken with all possible speed, Councillor F. E. Atkinson informed municipal council on Tuesday.

In order that as little time as possible is lost for users of electrical energy, as many West Kootenay linemen as are available will be brought to Summerland to assist in the switchover.

At that, an outage of approximately four hours may occur, he warned.

An inventory of equipment no longer needed in the abandoned substation will be made and preparations will be made to list it for sale, council was informed.

Some of the equipment has been delayed in shipment from England, but definite arrival in eastern Canada has been confirmed by the contracting company, Northern Electric, in a letter read to council this week.

Old Post Office Is Condemned

Fire Chief Ed Gould reported to the municipal council in his monthly report read to Tuesday's session that the old post office in lower town is "quite a mess" and represents a fire hazard.

From visual observations, Sanitarian Alcock reported the building as dilapidated and unsanitary, and should be condemned and abolished.

Recently some persons have been occupying the old building but council was not certain if they were still in occupancy. Council decided to write the owner, Mrs. Walter Wright, and acquaint her with the contents of the two reports, along with notification that if the building is still being inhabited it will have to be vacated.

Mrs. Wright will also be asked what action she proposed to take towards removing the building.

Summerland Given Benefit of Doubt

West Kootenay Power & Light Co. has admitted a discrepancy between the readings in September of the company's metre and the Summerland metre in connection with consumption of electrical energy by this municipality. As neither type metre is foolproof, the company has given Summerland the benefit of the doubt, and has amended its accounts accordingly, council was informed on Tuesday.

Credit Union Celebrate Today

Credit Unions all over the world are celebrating Credit Union Day today, October 18. There are now 14,000 Credit Unions with six million members having saved more than one billion dollars in North America.

Summerland and District Credit Union has been giving service to its members for the past seven years and in that time 477 members have accumulated assets of $128,000.

Members own their own building and have loaned to fellow members $862,700.

In recognition of this record and to commemorate the special day, local Credit Union members are joining together for a social evening tonight.

NOMINAL FEE FOR WATER

A. W. Johnston informed council on Tuesday that he had not used upper Trout Creek storage water this year but wished to use it in future years. Council decided a nominal fee of $5 should be charged instead of the annual payment of $15 when water is used.

THIS COULD BE SUMMERLAND'S NEW HEADQUARTERS

Above is an architect's sketch of the proposed $45,000 municipal hall which the Summerland municipal council is suggesting for this district. A bylaw re-allocating funds on hand for the purpose of building this hall is being submitted to the taxpayers on Saturday, November 3. The hall would be erected on municipal property directly east of the Summerland Box Co. Ltd. office on Granville street if approved.

Votes on New Municipal Hall and Ellison Hall Bylaws Set for Nov. 3

Municipal taxpayers are being asked to go to the polls on Saturday, November 3, to voice their opinions on the proposed municipal hall and the renovations to Ellison hall.

Approval of the two bylaws has been received from B.C. Bracewell, deputy minister of municipalities, third reading to the bylaws was given by council on Tuesday afternoon and all legal formalities have been prepared for the voting.

As usual, voting will take place at the municipal office in West Summerland and the United Church basement in lower town. Hours of voting are from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., with W. C. W. Fosbery as returning officer.

In order to build the proposed new municipal hall, no further money will be needed to be raised on the credit of the municipality. By diversion of funds from other bylaws which had an unexpended surplus, and by diverting surplus, accounts from the sinking fund, the necessary $45,000 estimated for the construction of the new hall can be raised.

It will not be necessary to raise any further money by bylaw. All that is necessary is the approval of the taxpayers.

The Ellison hall bylaw calls for an expenditure of $12,000 for the renovation of this well-known hall in Peach Orchard park. The renovation program includes a new heating system installation, repairs to the roof, new floor, insulation and minor repairs.

Council was requested a year ago, when the local branch of the Canadian Legion obtained the necessary signatures to a petition, to submit a bylaw for Ellison hall renovation to the people.

Full details of the bylaws may be read on Page 8 of this issue.

The Queen Thanks Reeve and People Of Summerland

Recently, at the opening of the new junior-senior high school, Reeve C. E. Bentley took the occasion to despatch a message to the Queen of England expressing Summerland municipality's profound hopes for the speedy recovery of The King.

This week, under dateline of October 9, a letter has been received from J. F. Delante, assistant secretary to the Governor-General, declaring that a reply has been received from the private secretary to the Queen.

"I am to express to the Reeve," states Mr. Delante's despatch, "The Queen's warm thanks to himself, and all those for whom he speaks, for his kind message which Her Majesty has deeply appreciated at this anxious time."

Dust Nuisance Bothers Exchange

The dust nuisance from the untreated roadway on two sides of their new exchange building is creating a problem for the Okanagan Telephone Co. in Summerland, the council was informed by that company at its Tuesday meeting.

This dust settles on the lightly-oiled apparatus in the exchange and causes false selections of numbers.

The company asked for sodium chloride treatment or, if possible, blacktop. The request will be referred to the 1951 council.

ATTEND PLANNING CONFLAB OCT. 24

Reeve C. E. Bentley, Councillor F. E. Atkinson and at least one other council member have expressed their intention of attending the annual convention of the B.C. division of the Community Planning Assn. of Canada which is being held in Penticton's Legion hall next Wednesday, October 24.

An invitation has also been extended to the Summerland Board of Trade to send a delegation.

REPAIR GUARD RAIL

A car recently went through the guard rail at the bottom of the Sandhill road. Municipal crews will replace the broken rail.

Province-wide Jaycee Week Suggested to Conference Here

Suggestion that a B.C. Jaycee Week be held each year was put before a district meeting of South Okanagan Junior Chamber of Commerce delegates in Summerland Sunday afternoon.

It will be considered further by the member chambers and will be discussed at the next regional meeting to be held in Kelowna on Sunday, December 2.

B.C. Junior Chamber Vice-President Clare Way of Penticton presided, with E. F. (Ted) Weeks, Summerland president, extending felicitations from the local host chamber.

Want Increased Membership

Kelowna, Summerland, Penticton and Oliver Jaycees were present for the afternoon round table conference which discussed, in the main, how to increase membership and attendance at meetings, as well as how to inculcate a better spirit of activity among the various junior chambers.

Kelowna introduced a suggestion that compulsory attendance might be the answer to more interest in Jaycee organizations, but although no definite stand on the idea was taken it is doubtful if any such move will come about.

Penticton is inviting representatives of the senior high school students' council to attend monthly Jaycee gatherings.

Summerland made strong objection to the wording of a recently-received circular urging every Canadian Junior Chamber to join Junior Chamber International at a fee of $10 or be considered "too busy with local activities to bother with the rest of the world".

There was no suggestion in the complaint that JCI is not a well worthwhile organization but Summerland delegates considered the approach as undemocratic and practically serves as an ultimatum.

The meeting agreed that objection to the wording should be taken and the Canadian headquarters in Montreal so advised.

Another Summerland suggestion that all district meetings be held at one central place, Penticton, brought objection from the latter junior chamber that many Jaycees who otherwise would show an interest in district meetings would be deprived of an opportunity to attend.

Member chambers are being asked to debate this question and report to the next regional meeting.

Oliver's Successful Project

Oliver reported a highly successful project of its safety committee. A 12-inch strip of white paint liberally sprinkled with ground glass to provide a reflecting surface, was applied to as many bicycles as could be found in the central Oliver district one Saturday afternoon, with good results and favorable publicity for the Jaycees, it was reported.

It was also reported that a strong Jayceesettes organization is operating in Oliver and has succeeded in raising $580 towards a swim and wading pool. In the main, this women's organization consists of wives of Jaycee members but has no direct affiliation with the male organization.

Schools Have Holiday

Summerland school children receive a holiday tomorrow to enable those who have transportation to go to mainline centres to see the Royal Couple. The holiday was authorized by Hon. W. T. Strath, minister of education, when he officially opened the new Summerland junior-senior high school last month.

authorized there from 12:30 to 3 p.m.

The Summerland Band has been asked to lead the parade.

We Welcome A Young Couple

TOMORROW British Columbia welcomes the Royal visitors to the Evergreen Playground and prepares to do its utmost to show the handsome young couple a reception fitting to their office.

We are certain that Their Royal Highnesses, Princess Elizabeth and her equally popular husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, will be thrilled with the grandeur and beauty of this province.

All the formalities befitting such a Royal occasion will be accorded them, and when they are completed, three days of holiday on lovely Vancouver Island will be theirs, free of public functions, flash bulbs and the roar of acclaim which have been their constant companions on their tour across the country.

To our humble way of thinking, criticisms that too much pomp and ceremony have been instilled into the function-packed Royal tour is just so much balderdash.

Their Royal Highnesses expect the strain of these functions, of hour after weary hour in receiving lines, returning the Eyes Right, of talking to one after the other until the sea of faces must become a blur. But through it all their training and breeding becomes apparent and they can still smile as pleasantly at the end of the tiring day as at its beginning.

Those are the qualities which so endear members of the Royal family to their subjects throughout the world. The King and Queen in 1939 captured the hearts of the nation by their charm and willingness to bestow a smile or a casual nod here and there and to be gracious at all times.

In this present tour, their daughter and her sailor-husband, have shown in no uncertain way that they are able emissaries of Their Majesties.

Instead of pitying them the tediousness of the long days of pomp and ceremony, we should rejoice that they are made of such sterling stuff, that they have that polish and personality which will make their memory live long in the minds of all who are fortunate to be able to see them.

Along with the rest of B.C. and all of Canada we join in welcoming Their Royal Highnesses with the hope that they will like us as much as we are enjoying their visit.

Everyone Benefits With The Grower

SELDOM has news emanating from the nation's capital had such a joyous reaction as that which hit the front pages of the valley's weekly press last Thursday afternoon.

A windfall of $1,200,000 to be poured into the economy of this Okanagan Valley at this particular time will be of untold benefit.

In the face of steadily-rising costs of production, of increasing living costs, returns from the valley's main crop in 1950-51 dropped to a level not experienced since pre-war days.

Growers who had turned their entire capital into the purchase and operation of their newly acquired orchard have been sorely pressed to meet these higher costs. Those who have been fortunate enough to be able to lay aside a nestegg from the more prosperous days, were dipping into reserves.

This subsidy from Ottawa is not a large sum in comparison with the huge crop which was marketed at low levels, but it will serve in many cases to turn "red ink" figures into black. It will give the producer, the man on the land, a new lease on life.

In turn, it will enable many producers to pay off the merchant along the business street who has been forced to "carry" many on the books for some months.

The merchant will be able to purchase more stock in order to provide a better service for customers and the entire population will benefit.

Last Thursday was a Red Letter day for the Okanagan when it eliminated much Red Ink from the farmers' ledgers.

Put Your Money To Work

LAST Monday, the 6th series of Canada Savings Bonds went on the market and by today thousands of Canadians have taken advantage of this government issue to make their savings pay a dividend for them.

In line with other attempts to have Canadians put aside a bigger proportion of their savings as a means of fighting inflation, the government is offering a better rate of interest on the sixth series than ever before. Also, individuals are allowed to buy five times as many bonds as before.

Each Canada Savings Bond bears ten interest coupons of 3½ percent, giving an average interest rate over the life of the bond of approximately 3.21 percent, an attractive rate of interest on savings.

They are obtainable in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000.

There are various ways in which a Canada Savings Bond may be purchased. If you have the cash to lay on the line, then there is nothing to the transaction—you simply buy your bond outright.

But if you haven't the ready cash available, there are two other methods to be adopted. First, if you are employed by a firm, you may purchase bonds on a payroll savings deduction plan. Secondly, you can make your purchase through your bank, investment dealer or trust or loan company and pay monthly instalments through that source.

One good point regarding these bonds is that there is no delay in cashing them. All the holder has to do is complete the redemption form on the bond and present it to a bank and receive cash immediately.

The government believes that "Everyone Has Something to Save For" and believes that this sixth series provides a safe way for millions of Canadians to put their money to work.

What About Licence Issuance

SOME months ago, Summerland was visited by the head of the motor vehicle branch of the provincial government, who held out hope for the establishment in the local municipal office of an issuing agency for the distribution of motor vehicle licences to the residents of Summerland district.

This suggestion was along the same lines as had been advocated by the local municipal council and board of trade. Both bodies welcomed the plan and the municipal council gave its blessing.

From there, the scheme was to be presented to the provincial cabinet for ratification.

That was to have happened last July but so far we have heard no word that the provincial cabinet has agreed to the proposal, which would mean an outlay from licencing funds to remunerate those charged with licence distribution.

Better to start pressing now for this scheme to be put into operation in plenty of time for next March issuance of new licences than to wait until nearly that time and then set up a howl of dismay.

Such a system of decentralizing licence issuance is a sound one and will be of great benefit to motor vehicle operators in centres such as Summerland where there is no regularly-constituted governmental authority. Vehicle owners will no longer need to take half a day off to travel to Penticton for their licences.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

October 14, 1921
J. C. Dufresne, CE, at an informal meeting of the members of the council stated that increased storage for water can be more economically provided at the headwaters of Trout Creek than elsewhere. This is contrary to the opinion of a number of flatlanders who have advised looking elsewhere for storage sites, Canyon Creek and other tributaries closer in being advocated.

The big, new frostproof building of the Summerland Storage Co. contains thousands of boxes already and is almost completed. The floor space in the new structure is approximately 45,500 feet.

The basketball club has been re-organized at a meeting held last week with W. Angove in the chair. Fred Baker was elected coach and G. Guy, manager.

At a ceremony in the high school a delegation from the Women's Institute presented Dorothy Dundas with a prize of $5 in honor of having passed with highest marks from the elementary school at the end of the term. Mrs. F. W. Andrew, in a few well chosen words, made the presentation to which Dorothy ably responded. Eight boys and girls, winners of school garden prizes, were given books. Those winning were Orville Dunham, Alvin Wilson, Lester Gould, Arthur Dundas, Jean Blewett, Emily Wallock Lillian Hunt, and Zoe Fudge. These were presented by Mrs. Angove and Mrs. D. J. Welsh.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

October 15, 1926
Sunday, October 17, has been selected as College Day by the Board of Governors of British Columbia's newest educational institution, Union College, for which ground has been broken on the university campus at Point Grey.

The high school heating system has been in use for many years and has given out. Mr. Borton was given the contract of replacing the plant.

On Oct. 18, Mr. and Mrs. R. Neve received many congratulations on having reached their golden wedding day.

Municipal council met with Mr. W. T. Hunter, superintendent of the experimental station and Mr. Archibald, director of dominion ex-

Royal Dining Room on Wheels

Amid these luxurious surroundings, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh partake of their meals aboard the Royal Train, which is their home for a month on their tour of Canada. The 10-car train, carrying its Royal Party arrives in British Columbia tomorrow and will be in Kamloops for an hour stopover at 5 p.m.

PORTRAITS

Mrs. Adam Stark

When you are thumbing over the leaves of the telephone book, trying to remember numbers with four figures, or fumbling with the dial, doesn't it seem hard to imagine Summerland with exactly two telephones?

That was about 1906 when Florence Hayes worked with her father, Wm. Hayes, the postmaster, in the postoffice at Summerland, handled the two-phone service from a board on the wall, and the government telephone work. There was no direct telegraph connection and out-going and in-coming telegrams were telephoned to Vernon.

No one knows why the two people who had phones didn't have a direct connection and dispense with an operator. They were probably anticipating growth, and in this they were right. Before many years a switch board to handle fifty parties was installed and Miss Hayes was the operator.

She stayed the first week here with distant relatives, Rev. N. K. Simpson who lived on Hospital hill. Later, when Mrs. Hayes came a home was built on the lot where A. D. Wilson lives. It burned later.

Lots of times they walked from near the lakeshore up to Prairie Valley, danced at the Agur's home, and walked all the way back. They were sure to enjoy their Christmas dinner for they walked from their home along the snowy roads to the Gulch road, then up the Gulch to the flat, and away over to the home of their relatives, the Kerrs, on the tip edge of the bluff overlooking the north side of Peach Orchard hill. After dinner there was the return trip, the same way.

Those were early days, indeed, when it was sometimes difficult to keep house. Miss Hayes, straightquidated and Mr. Stark commenced his own business, where latterly the sign, "Fill 'Er Up, Stark", came to be looked for as tourists drove through the lower town.

Mrs. Stark helped her husband in his work, and has always been a good business woman. She was secretary of the hospital auxiliary and then treasurer for fifteen years. When the Summerland Art League was in operation she was its efficient treasurer, too.

Her handwork is well known, and is remarkably beautiful, almost to the point of professional, though it has never been commercialized.
She has exquisite fine, large-size crocheted tablecloths, dainty white embroidered cloths with the loveliest embroidery and hand made lace, and in colors her work is equally beautiful.
When the Women's Institute held fall fairs and apple shows that were big events, she won many prizes with her embroidery. Her hobby was crystallizing fruit, making candy and fruit pastes, which were delicious. She could always dispose of any through the Art League's shop when it was open here.
Last year she took pleasure and interest in, cleverly remodelling her large lakeshore home into a five-suite apartment. For herself she retained the largest suite, which is attractive, roomy and comfortable, having most of the advantages of her former home without requiring quite so much attention. Half of the lovely veranda overlooking the lake is included in her own suite, a delightful spot in summer. As she redecorates she is using bright and pretty modern decor, as well as keeping some of her lovely old furniture.
Mrs. Stark is associate matron of the Order of the Eastern Star this year, and enjoying the experience.
She drives her car and is free to come and go as she prefers, and spends time with her daughter, Margaret, Mrs. W. H. Fleming, Oliver, another daughter, Mrs. C. J. Larama at Ellensburg, Washington, and her son, Mr. Wm. Stark, in Kelowna, and their families. She has seven grandchildren.
An ambition at present is to drive into the States, leave her car and whizz across to the eastern States on the Hiawatha to visit old friends and relatives on the Atlantic seaboard. Nice thing to be planning, too!

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Why do human beings want to write their names on public buildings?

I can understand a person wanting to put his John Henry in certain places, as testimony of some difficult feat achieved. My own should still be on a piece of paper in a bottle in a cairn on top of Mount Albert Edward, on the Forbidden Plateau; I was proud to put it there because it was a hard struggle to get up there, and not many do. It may still be visible carved into the top of a 55-foot forestry lookout tower in northern Saskatchewan, where I liked to climb of a September afternoon to look over the sea of forest and lakes and listen to the bugle of the elk.

But even in places like these one may hesitate, for who knows how soon a place difficult of access will become available to any casual tourist through the building of some new road?

And as for such common public buildings as waiting rooms and washrooms, what can be achieved there to make anybody want to leave a record of his visit in deathless pencil marks on walls or window sills?

Why do people do it? I've seen really well-finished washrooms with their clean white plaster walls so scrawled with pencilled autographs and—er, poetry, that they looked filthy—and were rapidly being made more so. They tell me that such thoughtless scribbling defaces public buildings all over the world, and has been going on for so long that ancient Roman monuments and buildings bear casual inscriptions as senseless as our own.

Certainly it is senseless. It encourages carelessness and filth in places that need to be clean, it discourages both government organizations and private individuals from providing facilities that are often really desirable. Any town the size of Summerland, for instance, should have public washrooms; yet, if erected, they would soon be so desecrated by both our own people and visitors that the expense of keeping them clean and tidy would probably be prohibitive. Many garages and filling stations refuse to provide rest-room facilities for tourists for the same reason.

Why do people do it? Thoughtlessness, ignorance, perhaps; but why do they want to do it? What urge impels them to write on public walls when they would not dream of writing on the walls of their own home?

Is there some psychological reason? Is it people who find it hard to express themselves in written or spoken words, or who have never accomplished much in life, who try to make up for it by writing their names down where they know many people will see them?

And is there any cure for it? Education, perhaps; but education may not reach many of the people most needing it.

Only suggestion I can think of is that every public building should be provided with a special slab and a large sign encouraging people to write their names on it instead of on the walls. And as for the rhymes which many like to inscribe in addition to their names, I'd suggest another tablet on which all the well-known verses and expressions—one hardly ever sees a new or novel one—should be clearly inscribed, and each one numbered.

Then any person who feels an urge to write down a particular bit of obscenity could look it up on the tablet and put down the number instead, thus saving himself a lot of time. Those who came after him would be able to look up his choice by its number, and laugh or otherwise, as their feelings dictated.

Like the convention of professional jokesmiths, who were so familiar with all the jokes ever made that they did not even have them written down for reference; when anyone felt the urge to tell one, he merely shouted out its number, and the rest smiled suitably and went on to the next. But at one number, one of the gagsters surprised the rest by breaking out into a hearty laugh; he had never heard that story before.

Trade Magazine Gives Publicity To Summerland, Young's Electric

Summerland and a local retail business outlet, Young's Electric, came in for some desirable publicity in the September issue of the Trade Builder, a trade magazine devoted to radio and TV, appliance sales and service, and electrical contracting.

Nearly a full page in this issue is devoted to pictures of the attractive window display as seen from Granville street and another of Len Zinger, who was associated with Mr. Young in the store operation prior to leaving for the Peace River district, at the radio repair counter.

The story is headed: "British ish Columbia Dealer Propers with New Store," but Mr. Young is still wondering somewhat about that word prosper.

W. T. Funston, Western Canada editor of the Trade Builder, was the author of the article, which follows:

"Young's Electric have just celebrated their first anniversary in West Summerland, a peaceful progressive community in the heart of British Columbia's famed Okanagan Valley. Formerly in business in Mission City, B.C., Gordon Young, who is assisted by his right-hand man Len Zinger, has always had a desire to locate in the Okanagan and is now satisfied that his choice was a wise one.

Well-Lighted Store
The store is not large but every square foot is utilized and the interior presents a most attractive scene as one views it from the street. Completely visual, it is extremely well lighted by the use of silmline fluorescent tubing in the store proper and seven bullet spots in the window.

The stock is allocated to seven distinct departments: appliances, radios, fixtures, lamps, tubes, gifts and repairs, and there is mighty little in these related fields that Young's do not carry.

The low display shelf just behind the big glass front displays the mixers, waffle irons, fans, etc., while the rest of the traffic appliances are right behind; toasters, irons, clock, coffee-makers, hot plates, etc. Down the left-hand side are the gleaming white stoves, while on the right side are the radios and combinations, plus floor and table lamps. Immediately above the radios are shelves displaying the mantle models as well as a nice assortment of boudoir lamps.

Mid-Store Fixtures
A large, mid-store floor fixture has been built for the sale of such items as car radios, panel and switch boxes, plugs, cords, sockets, doorbells, hearing-aid and car batteries and immersion water heaters, etc. The gift section features items such as electric shavers and flashlights, while the radio tube section has a most complete stock valued at $800.

The lamp department is also varied, with complete selection of lamps including clear, frosted, colored and even sewing machine lamps. The fixture department boasts fluorescent tubing, home and office light fixtures, tri-lights, goosenecks, bullet spots and pin-ups.

A fully-equipped service department is maintained over which Mr. Zinger keeps a watchful eye, and a full-time service man is also employed by the firm. The service department handles all types of appliances and electrical equipment and as Mr. Young says, "We will fix anything if it is at all related to our business."

Victoria Wedding Principals Honeymoon In Summerland Area

At a quiet wedding ceremony in St. Aidan's church, Victoria, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 10, Margaret Mountford, formerly of West Summerland, became the bride of Thomas George Marcham, 1568 Church St., Victoria, Rev. J. Clerihue officiating.

White, gold and mauve chrysanthemums formed an attractive floral background in the church.

A navy silk dress complemented with wine accessories was worn by the bride. Her corsage was pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

She was attended by her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Hassell, who chose a wine afternoon dress and a corsage of pink carnations. J. R. Hassell was best man.

Fall flowers were also predominant at the reception at 408 Parry St., which was held before the newlyweds left on their honeymoon trip to Summerland.

Here, they are guests at the home of Mrs. Marcham's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Mountford.

Mr. Marcham lived in Summerland in the early days, from 1901 to 1909 and this is the first occasion he has visited the valley in that time.

Hasti-Notes Newest W.I. Project Pictures by Summerland Artists

Summerland Women's Institute has originated a number of ventures, and this year has a new and interesting project for Christmas sale.

A committee headed by Mrs. M. E. Collas has planned Hasti-Notes, each having a black and white copy of a painting of an Okanagan scene done by a Summerland artist. Mr. Irvine Adams, Mr. Wesley Tavender, Mr. J. Lee-Grayson and Mrs. Julian Fry, the former Dulcie Fosbery, are the artists who have allowed copies of their work to be made.

Authorization to proceed with these was given the committee at the business session of the regular monthly meeting, Friday, Oct. 12, when it was decided to have 250 dozen made. These will be sold in an attractive envelope and should make a unique Christmas gift.

The Institute calendar this year will have a copy of a painting, too, and for this Mrs. A. J. Mann has contributed one of her Summerland scenes. These will be made up attractively and will be ready for Christmas gifts, too.

Members heard with gratification that the Variety sale held on Sept. 29 was a success in every way with the financial returns satisfying. Clothing left over was given to the Clothing for Korea drive which St. Andrew's church is collecting.

An appeal from the Unitarian Service committee for undernourished children in Europe and particularly Greece received sympathetic response in a donation of $15.

Apple Christmas cards designated by Mr. Frank Moore, a Kelowna grower, to boost the sale of apples had been received and a number of members bought some of the clever cards.

Legion LA to Hold Remembrance Day Banquet

Mrs. Fred Downes and Mrs. Clarence Adolph were received as new members of the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary at the regular meeting, Thursday evening, Oct. 11, in the parish hall. They were graciously welcomed into the society by the local president, Mrs. Frank Young.

At the meeting it was planned to hold a series of card parties during the winter months in the Legion Hall starting on Nov. 6. All Legion members and their guests, and LA members may attend. A grand aggregate prize will be given at the end of the season.

Arrangements for the Remembrance Day banquet to be held on Nov. 12 in the Youth Centre were completed.

It was decided to send parcels to any local boys in service in Korea and it is hoped that anyone knowing names of lads who are there will phone them to Mrs. Frank Young.

A donation was made to the CNIB annual appeal.

St. Andrew's Service Club Plan Bazaar

When St. Andrew's Service Club held the regular meeting in the church hall on Monday evening, Oct. 15, members were welcomed by Mrs. A. J. McKenzie.

"Behold a Stranger at the Door" was the opening song, and the scripture was read by Mrs. H. Blazeko.

Report of the Thanksgiving supper given by Mrs. George Washington was heard with interest and appreciation of its financial success. Mrs. H. R. McLarty will be the speaker at the November meeting, when she will talk on the United Nations.

Plans were made for the annual bazaar which will be on Nov. 17 in the church hall. As a special added attraction on that date the Junior Chior of the church will sing several numbers during the afternoon.

In closing refreshments were served by the tea committee consisting of Mrs. S. W. Feltham, Mrs. J. Dunsdon, Mrs. A. K. Elliott, Mrs. W. Durick, Mrs. Lionel Fudge, Mrs. M. Cousins, and Mrs. A. Crawford.

BAPTIST WMS HOLD THANKOFFERING

The annual thankoffering meeting of the Baptist church WMS was held on Monday afternoon, Oct. 15. Mrs. Ed Krause and Mrs. W. C. Wilkin were hostesses at the home of the latter for the well attended event.

Miss Kay Boulton and Miss Norah Wells Visit Summerland Brownies

On Tuesday, Oct. 9, Guides and Brownies of Summerland were treated to demonstrations in the Youth Centre by Miss Kay Boulton, provincial field secretary, and Miss Norah Wells, a Tawny Owl and Sea Ranger Captain who are travelling throughout the province on Guide work.

The coast visitors were accompanied by Mrs. E. A. Titchmarsh, Pentiction, divisional commissioner, and met members of the association prior to the demonstration. Tea was served by Mrs. W. Durick and Mrs. G. Adams, and the provincial leaders talked also to the Guides.

The Guide Association has received a letter from Miss Carr who travelled up from Washington last summer with the visiting Campfire Girls, in which appreciation and pleasure in the visit was expressed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cristante Honored On 25th Anniversary

Some of the staff of the B.G. Shipper's Packinghouse planned a surprise for the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cristante on Saturday, Oct. 13.

They had a beautifully decorated cake to give to Mrs. Cristante who is associated with them in the packinghouse. To their surprise Mrs. Cristante didn't come to work that morning, so Mrs. B. Trafford and Miss Nan Thornthwaite took it to her at her home in Victoria Gardens.

Later in the day those who planned the surprise had it returned to them in good measure when the honoree arrived with hot coffee and the cake to share with all of them.

A happy time was spent with about twenty celebrating the anniversary together.

Miss I. Stewart Mrs. H. McLarty W.I. Speakers

An interesting talk on nutrition given by Miss Irene Stewart, PHN, was on the program of the Women's Institute on Friday, Oct. 12, when the meeting was planned by the Health and Welfare Committee, convened by Mrs. E. Famchon and committee members, Mrs. S. A. MacDonald and Mrs. Melvin Pollock.

Miss Stewart cited Canada's Health Rules and their importance in diet, and mentioned the importance of vitamins.

To point up her address, basic foods were on display such as milk, powdered skim milk, cod liver oil, vitaminized apple juice, fruit, whole grain cereals, nuts, etc., and the ear and eye at once correlated the important facts.

Since Oct. 24 is United Nations' day, Mrs. H. R. McLarty was invited, to add to the agenda by speaking on the work being done by the United Nations towards food and nutrition in war devastated countries. She gave a short pertinent talk taking those present to wider fields and races where the United Nations is striving with nourishment and dietary problems.

members of the committee who arranged the meeting.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE CAN BE BUILT ON INSTALMENT PLAN

Very Small Down-Payment Starts You Off In Fascinating Hobby — Collecting Bonds

"Despite the high cost of living that often makes saving seem impossible, a good many people have found a way to build a solid nest-egg for the future," according to Ivor Solly, West Summerland manager for the Bank of Montreal.

In the course of a conversation yesterday on the subject of building financial independence, Mr. Solly asserted that the first requisite to saving money was to "go into debt yourself for a definite amount, no matter how small."

"The best way I know to go about this is to sign yourself up for a Canada Savings Bond—in whatever amount you feel you can squeeze out of your income over a year—of $50, $100, $500 or $1,000 denomination."

"You can buy a bond on the instalment plan with a very small down-payment. For example, with as little as $2.50 down you can make the first payment on a $50 bond. On a $100 bond the down-payment is $5. The remaining instalments can be made on an easy, regular basis over the following 12 months."

A special feature of the 1951 issue is the high rate of interest, the B of M manager emphasized. Each bond bears 10 coupons at the rate of 3.5 per cent. The first coupon covers a period of 21 months (equal to 2 per cent per annum), due August 1, 1953. From that date, one coupon at 3.5 per cent is payable annually on August 1, until 1962. This replaces the old rate of 2.75 per cent and amounts to 3.21 per cent over the life of the bond.

Need Nitrogen In Most Soils Of B.C. Interior

OTTAWA—Two fertilizer elements have been found to be almost universally needed in the southern interior of British Columbia—nitrogen and boron. Two other elements are also needed for certain crops on some soils—phosphorus and zinc. In addition, plants have in many cases been found to be lacking in iron or manganese. The one element that is most universally needed, however, and that is most universally applied, is nitrogen, states J. C. Wilcox of the experimental station at Summerland, in a recent release from head office of the department of agriculture from Ottawa.

Nitrogen is obtained from several fertilizers, those most commonly used are: (1) Ammonium nitrate, containing about 33 per cent nitrogen, (2) sulphate of ammonia, containing about 21 per cent nitrogen, (3) ammonium phosphate 16-20, containing 16 per cent nitrogen and 20 per cent phosphate, (4) ammonium phosphate 11-48, and (5) mixed or so-called "complete" fertilizers, containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

In experiments on tree fruits conducted by the dominion experimental station at Summerland and by the B.C. department of agriculture, no response has yet been obtained from potash or phosphate, though the latter does appear in some cases to have helped the cover crops. There appears to be no urgency, therefore, to use complete fertilizers in orchards. The most convenient form for obtaining nitrogen and phosphate together has been found to be ammonium phosphate 16-20.

Of the straight nitrogenous fertilizers, sulphate of ammonia has until recently been the one most commonly used. In tests conducted at the Summerland station, however, this fertilizer has increased acidity in the soil, and has also increased salinity with a tendency toward "white alkali". For general use, therefore, it has very definite drawbacks.

A better fertilizer for general use is ammonium nitrate, which has almost a neutral reaction in the soil and leaves little if any harmful residue. Fortunately, it

Fifty Cent Minimum Per Capita Tax Rate Suggested for Libraries

Establishment of a minimum per capita tax rate of 50 cents as a condition for government grants in the three regional library areas of the province was considered by the public library commission of British Columbia at its September meeting in Vancouver.

In reviewing the cash assessments contributed by municipalities in the regional areas—the Fraser Valley, Okanagan and Vancouver Island—members of the commission noted the varying contributions by the municipalities involved ranged from 40 cents in the Fraser Valley to 65 cents on Vancouver Island.

The commissioners felt that municipalities should be prepared to pay a minimum of 50 cents per capita toward library service in order to qualify for scheduled grants made by the commission. This year the commission has distributed $50,000 among municipal and regional libraries.

While no policy decision was adopted by the commission it was intimated that one of the qualifications for receipt of the grants in 1952 might be a 50 cent assessment.

Commissioners noted that increases in library assessments had

Colored Dessert Apples Will be Wanted by British Housewives

The British public will want colored dessert apples from Canada this year, according to K. Sims of J. O. Sims Ltd., London, one of the private firms which apparently will be buying for the British trade this year.

The British government plans to buy at least $3,500,000 worth of Canadian and US apples this year. The dollars have been allocated but the actual buying will be done by private firms. There will be no more government bulk buying.

The split between the two exporting countries will be decided in forthcoming discussions between Canadian, United States and British authorities. The pre-war purchases by Britain had been 60 per cent from Canada and 40 per cent from the US, but production in the last few years in the US has increased whereas Canadian production has decreased.

What would British fruit importers want from Canadian sources this year? "The bulk of the short-ages, if any, will be colored dessert apples," said Mr. Sims. With Denmark, Italy, Australia, New Zealand and many other countries shipping apples to Britain, competition between suppliers would be keen in December and January especially, he guessed. North American sources might be appreciated more after January.

Had British consumers forgotten about eating qualities and started buying apples on the basis of color only? The discriminatory section of the British public still bought apples by variety for eating quality, but Mr. Sims thought that younger people were more inclined to buy on the color basis.

There were two periods last winter, he recalled, when colored varieties outsold Cox Orange, traditionally the most popular dessert variety in England, but not an attractive looking apple. For one thing, Danish sources had flooded the British market with Cox.

The Ministry of Food intends to allot hard currency to British importing firms on two bases. Half of the proposed 3.5 millions will be allotted to British firms in proportion to the value of their pre-war importations. The other half will be allotted in proportion to importations from all sources since 1st of January, 1951.

not kept pace with the devaluation of the dollar during the post war inflationary period and that the standard of library service had suffered as a result.

LAND RESERVED FOR PARK SITE

Approximately 3,500 acres of land situated at Champion Lakes, seven miles northeast of Trail, has been reserved and set apart for the recreation and enjoyment of the public as a potential park site. In 1942 some 1,280 acres had been reserved but this was found to be too small for this purpose. Consequently, the government has enlarged the area to 3,520 acres.

Unprecedented Development is Reported by B.C. Cancer Division

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony of Summerland was among the 75 directors and delegates who registered for the semi-annual conference of the British Columbia Division, Canadian Cancer Society, held in the Hotel Vancouver.
Reporting on education, research and welfare activities during the first eight months of this year, Division President R. Bruce Buckerfield, said that development has been unprecedented.

Knox, vice-president of the Shell Oil Company in Vancouver and provincial chairman of the campaign committee, said that a final figure in the region of $185,000 could be anticipated. Mr. Knox said that 86 campaign committees had been set up throughout the province and these "committees had collected $83,000—nearly half of the gross returns."
Only a few days later Mr. Knox succumbed suddenly.

This was the scene outside Buckingham Palace in London just after the second medical bulletin was posted on the main gate to explain the condition of King George following a two-hour lung operation. An eight-man medical team attending the 55-year-old ailing Monarch, posted the second bulletin nine hours after the operation. It said simply The King's condition continues to be "as satisfactory as can be expected." The surgery was performed in a specially-equipped theatre on the second floor of the 200-room Palace. More than 5,000 anxious Londoners kept an all-night vigil despite the rain, awaiting word of the condition of the King.

Huge New Diesel Locomotive On Trial Runs Over KVR

Considerable interest has been aroused along the Kettle Valley division of the Canadian Pacific Railway as a new two-unit diesel locomotive, "City of Kingston", carries out experimental trial runs.

If the tests prove successful it is likely that diesel locomotives will replace steam engines on this run. The locomotive seems to have enormous power and is pulling 1500-ton loads which would normally require two engines. Last week four test runs had been completed on the Nelson to Ruby Creek section.

Built in the shops of the Canadian Locomotive Works, Kingston, the new locomotive weighs 640,000 pounds, or 320 tons.

Hooked behind the diesel is the CPR dynamometer car which is a piece of highly technical equipment used for recording drawbar pull and tractive effort to show the best performance rating.

Each unit is a 1600 horsepower diesel-electric power plant, operated and controlled from the head-end cab by the two-man crew. The locomotive is also equipped with a 2500 pounds per square inch steam generator, which is used for car heating when the engine is in passenger service.

Momentum of the train is used to run the huge electric generators as motors, output of which is regulated so as to apply the necessary resistance to the forward movement and thus keep the train under full and easy control.

Advantages claimed for the new type of power are briefly: 1. More efficient transfer of energy from power source to wheels. 2. Greater tractive effort at standing and slow speeds. 3. Availability of diesel for work 87 percent of the time, with no tie-ups for boiler washing, flue cleaning, etc. 4. Fuel load sufficient for over two days' work. 5. Simplified water and fuel supply problems over steam. 6. Shorter monthly inspection time, and general overhaul time when this is necessary. Servicing quicker and simpler. 7. No fuel consumption when standing idle. Starts and shutdowns like any automotive engine. 8. Cleaner operation. No smoke and cinders. 9. Dynamic braking gives marvelous control with less wear on the brakeshoes of engines and trains. 10. Greater ton-mile economy.

"City of Kingston" was recently the centre attraction of ceremonies at Kingston's "Diesel Day" when Alex Lyle, assistant to Vice-President N. R. Crump addressed a distinguished gathering of government, industrial and civic personalities, conveying congratulations to the railway company.

During this celebration Mr. Lyle said, in part: "Those who are familiar with the trend of modern improvements in Canadian railroading will know that the Canadian Pacific Railway is well-launched upon a long-term program of dieselization of much value to the nation, we feel, in terms of improved transportation for the shippers of Canada, and of prime interest to Canadian manufacturers of this type of motive power."

Short Open Pheasant Season Starts This Saturday, Oct. 20; North is Bitterly Opposed

At the request of southern Okanagan sports clubs and with strong opposition from North Okanagan fish and game clubs, the B.C. Game Commission last week declared a short open season on pheasants.

As a consequence, this Saturday, October 20, sees the first day of the open season which will extend to November 4. Bag limit is two a day, ten for the season.

For the first three days, pheasant hunting is from 12 noon until 4 p.m. The rest of the season allows shooting from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

California quail is also to open the same number of days as pheasants in South Okanagan, Similkameen east of Ashnola bridge and Yale electoral districts. Daily bag limit of quail is four and season is 24.

In North Okanagan, European partridge may be shot in the same quantities and the same days as pheasants.

In order to shoot pheasants, hunters must first obtain tags, at 10 cents each. They may be purchased this year in groups of five, whereas last year the full ten tags had to be obtained at one time and there was no chance to turn unused ones back in.

From Vernon comes consternation that the pheasant season has been declared open.

Vernon game club prexy, Frank Becker, stated at a meeting last week that the decision was "very disappointing to me."

He reminded Vernon sportsmen of the interior meeting held in Kelowna where a tie resulted, the clubs from OYAMA south voting in favor of an open season and those in the north wanting no pheasant shooting this season.

President Broke Tie. Says the Vernon News: "Avery King, president of the interior group, was forced to vote to break a tie, and naturally voted for the southern group."

Mr. King resides in Penticton. Joe McLachlan, president of the Summerland Fish and Game Assn., states there was good reason for the southern clubs and Mr. King to vote for a short open season.

In fact, at that Kelowna meeting last July, not all the northern clubs supported the complete closure, as Falkland delegate supported the south and forced the tie vote. Mr. McLachlan states.

Biologists have been studying the pheasant situation closely for more than two years and have not come to any complete finding yet, Mr. McLachlan explains.

Mr. Daryl Rye, assistant to James Hatter, B.C. Game Commission biologist, has been in Summerland district the past two summers making a close survey of the pheasants and their habits.

Mr. Rye has not given out any information directly to local sportsmen, but it has been intimated that pheasants are plentiful (or as scarce, depending upon the way one looks at the situation) as last year.

Some sprays are believed to be harmful to pheasants but it is also believed there may be some new sprays introduced to orchards in this district in the next couple of years that may not be as harmful to these longtails.

There is little thought here that pheasants can ever be as plentiful as they were in years gone by, as the encroachment by new residents has cut down considerably on their feeding grounds, it is pointed out.

Give Dogs Chance to Run. In the face of the fact that there are as many pheasants here as last year, and to give hunters who wish to give their dogs a run and some more training an opportunity local sportsmen advocated a short open season. Mr. McLachlan points out.

With a small number of longtails available, only a few of the hunters will bother going on a pheasant shoot during the 16-day season and the slaughter of the birds will not be great, it is stated here.

On the other hand, great consternation is sounded in Vernon, with the Vernon News sounding off in a front-page editorial, headed: "Who Killed Cook Pheasant? I, Said Game Commissioner."

Vernon News Editorial. Following is the editorial, in full: "A hard blow at true game conservation was struck this week by the British Columbia Game Commission.

Dave Waddell Succeeds Maurice Welsh at Helm of Badminton Club

The annual general meeting of the Summerland Badminton Club was held at the badminton hall on Thursday evening, October 11. In the absence of the president, Dr. Maurice Welsh, Vice-president Harry Beeman was in the chair. Betty Jackson gave the secretary-treasurer's report which was adopted. A motion of appreciation was tendered Maurice Welsh for his work in improving the club last season.

The following officers were elected to office for the 1951-52 season: President, Dave Waddell; vice-president, Maury Moysis; secretary-treasurer, Dorothy MacLeod; ordinary members, Zanda Cuthbert and Jim Millimore.

The president-elect outlined some of the problems facing the club this year, particularly the financial obligations of the club with respect to the Summerland Athletic Club. Suggestions for improving the club lounge through work parties and a call for a membership drive were made.

The club decided to hold its annual Hallowe'en Dance on October 30 at the Youth Centre, but owing to the difficult financial situation this year, the members would be personally responsible for the financial success of the venture. Thus there would be no risk to the Summerland Athletic Club.

A letter was read from the Kelowna Badminton club inviting members to attend their official season opener at Kelowna on October 14.

Club members were asked to consider affiliation with the B.C. Badminton Association in order to help promote badminton in the province. Plans were outlined to the club for the formation of two Okanagan Badminton associations, North and South, the organizational meetings are to be held in the near future at Kaleden and Vernon.

Following the meeting, members

Soccer Teams Battle For School Honors

Summerland senior boys' high school soccer team scored its initial victory of the fall season on Wednesday, October 10 when they played at Westbank and registered a 2-0 win.

Preston Mott and Roland Desllets registered the two winning goals for the Summerland lads.

This gave them one win and one tie in the Central Okanagan soccer league, having played to a 0-0 draw with Rutland.

The girls' soccer squad also played at Westbank last week with the result a scoreless draw. Previously, Rutland girls had emerged victors over Summerland lassies 3-0. Kelowna victorious.

On Tuesday, Kelowna came here and defeated the local lads 2-1 while the two girls' teams battled to another scoreless draw.

Long Summerland goal was scored by the Kelowna fullback, who kicked the ball over his head and into his own goal.

Summerland teams play at Kelowna this afternoon while Rutland comes here on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 20. Westbank plays the final league games here next Tuesday afternoon at the Living Memorial athletic park.

Senior boys' lineup has been as follows: Daryl Weitzel, goal; Alan Hooker, Brian Berg, fullbacks; Ken Brawner, Earl Bryden, Les Bingham, Roger Smith, halfbacks; Glen Youngusband, centre forward; Preston Mott, Vern Higgs, Rob Towgood, Roland Desllets, Barry Higgs and Geoffrey Solly, forwards.

Girls' team lineup follows: Jill Sanborn, goal; Irene Menu, Joan MacDonald, fullbacks; Joyce Schumann, Yvonne Polesello, Wilma Pilkington, halfbacks; Ruby Jonior, Kathleen Yamabe, Pearl Hooker, Yvonne Saucier, Olga Lhibic, forwards; Glenn Heavyviesides, Lolla Lewis, Sheila Daniels, Carol Raincock, Marjorie Stewart, spares.

Stoll Named Puck Director

George Stoll, president of the Summerland Rink Assn., and manager of the Summerland hockey club, has been named a director of the newly-formed Penticton and District Hockey League.

Mr. Stoll and Mr. L. W. Rumball, president of the Summerland Hockey club, attended the organizational meeting in Penticton recently and heard various propositions including a league to operate each Sunday afternoon for a three-hour stretch.

Details of the league's approach to the management of the new Penticton memorial arena have not been heard by Mr. Stoll as yet.

To prepare for the coming hockey season, an organizational meeting of Summerland pucksters is being called for the arena on Wednesday, October 24.

Summerland will be certain to enter one team in this commercial loop and there is a possibility two teams could be fostered, Mr. Stoll believes.

Once ice is available here home games could be moved to the Summerland arena, of course.

Complete Schedule for Use of School Gym is Now Arranged

Basketball, badminton and gymnastic classes will occupy the new school gymnasium and will take up every evening in the week with the exception of Sundays, when there will be no activity.

This was the decision of a meeting of school trustees and representatives of interested groups desirous of using the gym on Wednesday evening, October 10.

A nominal fee was set for practice evenings, but if a charge is to be made for games, then the school board will expect a rental of $10 for each evening set aside and used for that purpose.

It was the school trustees' announced aim to provide the gym facilities for community groups outside of school uses at as low a rental as possible so that sports can be encouraged. However, there is an upkeep which must be considered and these sports clubs must be prepared to meet these nominal costs, it was considered.

The schedule arranged last week will be as follows:

Mondays: 6:30 to 8, AOTS junior basketball; 8 to 10, staff badminton and/or cadet activities.

Tuesdays: 7:30 to 9, girls' senior basketball; 9 to 10:30, boys' senior basketball.

Wednesdays: 6:30 to 10:30, junior badminton under the tutelage and supervision of Dave Waddell.

Thursdays: 6:30 to 8, AOTS junior badminton; 8 to 10:30, senior basketball.

Fridays: School games. Saturday: Mornings, 9 to 12, Pro. Rec gymnastic groups under instructor W. J. Schwab; evenings, senior basketball games.

NEWS FROM THE GREAT

OUTDOORS

(By Bert Berry)

FISHING

Reports from quite a few fishermen tell of lots of fish being caught in Okanagan Lake up to 16 inches, with good, lively action. There were no fish over this size reported but they should be coming soon.

Most fishing on mountain lakes seems to have faded out, not because fishing has gone down but that most fellows have taken to hunting instead. This, coupled with cold weather has just about finished upper lake fishing.

However, for anyone who would brave it, the fishing should be fine.

HUNTING

Grouse hunting finished on October 15. From all reports it was quite a successful season. Quite a few birds but pretty wild; so we can now look forward to next year on this game bird.

Ducks are coming in a little better now. Barry Agur had a nice bunch from local lakes over the weekend; others, too, have had fair success on their tries. No reports of geese this week, but the odd flock will be dropping in as the season progresses.

Views of the Summerland area on the opening of the pheasant and quail season from Oct. 20 to Nov. 4 will be heard tomorrow night at the Nu-Way Annex when the Summerland Fish and Game Assn. holds a monthly meeting.

Deer are coming in a little faster. Two more in over the weekend, to make the score six to date. Two more moose have also come here, making 13 for local hunters.

So far the bucks are keeping to the high levels with the odd one starting to come down; but the main herds have yet to come down and won't until the snow drives them down to easier grazing areas.

A. R. Garrish
President B.C. Fruit Grower's Assn.
Kelowna, B.C.

Dear Mr. Garrish:

I have not yet had the opportunity of scanning the Summerland Review and the Penticton Herald that carried reports of my meeting in the valley last week. I did read a short dispatch carried by the Vancouver Sun of Monday, Oct. 1—From that despatch I would judge that the reporter who wrote up the account of the Summerland meeting was a mischief maker, although my final conclusions in that regard must await a thorough study of his articles by me.

However, it appears from your telegram of Sept. 29, that your main concern was certain "charges" I am accused of making with respect to the distribution of fruit in the prairie provinces. I made no charges whatsoever. It is quite apparent that you swallowed whole what the newspapers reported without making an honest effort to check the accuracy of the reports.

In my meeting at Summerland I deplored the criminal waste of perfectly good fruit in the fruit producing states of the USA, as well as in parts of British Columbia. I emphasized the nature of this waste by stating that many thousands of families on the prairies could not get enough fruit to begin to fill their needs. The accuracy of that statement nobody can deny, moreover, I stated that while I travelled through the Peace River country in August and early September, many housewives, merchants and others complained that they weren't able to get but a small portion of the fruit they wanted. This was particularly true of peaches. One representative of a wholesale fruit distributor told me that the "situation at that time was grim" in Peace River.

The figures quoted in your telegram are perhaps the very best evidence I need to substantiate my statements. You say you have "incontrovertible evidence" that ten thousand packages of peaches were distributed in the Peace River. I believe your figures are incontrovertible. When you realize that there are approximately seventeen thousand families in the country, your figures show that each family might have been able to get a little more than 2/3 of a package of peaches this summer. If I have been correctly informed, a package of peaches contains an average of about three dozen. This means each family had access to not more than 24 or 25 peaches. Now, Sir, do you think that is satisfactory distribution of the abundance which your B.C. growers produce?

In my address at Summerland I did not blame the B.C. Fruit Growers' Assn. for the fact that so many prairie people could not buy the amount of fruit they wanted. But, when any thinking person takes a look at the wastage of perfectly good fruit throughout the producing areas in B.C., and measures that against the unfilled needs of the prairie families, he can only conclude that something is very wrong somewhere.

I stated that the major factor in this fantastic situation was the lack of purchasing power in the hands of consumers with which to buy the fruit produced, at the price maintained by your association. I went further, and explained how, through the use of the Social Credit, compensated price discount (subsidy), it would be possible to increase the annual per capita consumption of fruits in Canada sufficient to use up the entire production, and leave no unsaleable surplus whatsoever. If each family in Canada were to consume just one more box of peaches in a year, more than four million extra boxes of peaches would be bought and paid for and used to increase the health and happiness of our Canadian people, including the growers of the fruit. A similar small increase in the per capita consumption of other fruit would cause worrisome unsaleable surpluses of those to disappear also without waste. I emphasized that our greatest and most important market is the people of Canada.

One more thing I did say, namely, that it seemed perfectly stupid to me that when prairie farmers brought out to B.C. truckloads of grain feeds they were prevented from trading for and hauling out to the prairies truck loads of fruit unless that fruit were purchased through the "authorized channels". I am told that this regulation was established and maintained by the B.C. Fruit Grower's Assn.

I hope that I have made clear what I said about fruit in my Summerland meeting. From the facts as stated here, it must be clear to you that I have nothing to withdraw.

Yours very truly,
S. E. LOW

Big Truck on Peach Orchard

At 11:30 o'clock last Thursday morning, October 18, a huge O.K. Valley Freight Lines truck was trudging up Peach Orchard hill. The u-bolts holding the axle to the frame are believed to have broken, and this action severed the brake lines. As a result the big vehicle and trailer jack-knifed with the above result. Peach Orchard hill was completely blocked, and it took until 4 o'clock that afternoon before normal traffic could proceed. William Metcalfe of Penticton was driver of the truck.

Pays Visits to Headwaters Dams

Water Foreman E. Kercher reported to council on Tuesday, Oct. 16, that he visited Thirsk dam on October 10 and repaired the boom cable before opening the gates wide. There is some boom wood which should be burned at the dam, but it proved too wet to destroy on that day.

On October 13, a visit to Trout Creek headwaters was paid and it was found a little water was coming over the spillways on Nos. 1 and 2 dams, while 3 and 4 were full.

Some trees are growing on the dam at No. 4 and will have to be removed.

Still Some Pipe to Be Laid for Drains.

A three-foot box has been installed at the corner of the park roadway where it turns east towards the new arena. There is still some pipe to be laid and the drainage system which will take care of extra water from the south side of Granville road up to the park entrance will be completed. Councilor Stuart informed council on Tuesday of last week. At the same time, new surfacing material was laid on the roadway fronting the park and on the southern extension of Pender street south of Granville.

Summerland "Old Boy" Talks On Pacific Whaling Industry

It's one whale of a business. That was the conclusion of the Kiwanis Club of Summerland on Oct. 15 at the Nu-Way Annex after listening to an interesting and instructive talk by Dr. Roy Elsey on the whaling industry as conducted on the Pacific Coast by the B.C. Packers Ltd.

Dr. Elsey, a graduate of Summerland schools and considered an authority on marine life, is a director of this company, having been associated at one time with the federal fisheries department in shellfish research.

Whaling in Antarctic

There are two main whaling expeditions, one in the Antarctic and the other on the Pacific Coast, mainly conducted by the B.C. Packers. Dr. Elsey pointed out at the outset of his remarks.

Factory ships from Norway and England invade the southern waters each year, handling 30 to 40 blue whales daily on each ship, with the mammals averaging 70 tons apiece.

Each factory ship contains 12 to 14 hunting boats which bring the catches back to the mother ship where the processing is completed. The season lasts two to three months.

But on the Pacific Coast, the B.C. Packers control five hunting boats which return to shore with their catches for processing. Three of these boats are steam-propelled and two diesel, all five working on a radius of 120 miles from the plant located on the west coast of Vancouver Island at a former RCA station.

Dr. Elsey described the five types of whales which are obtainable in the Pacific.

The blue are sparsely populated, but the seven caught this year averaged 80 feet and weighed a ton to a foot in length.

The finback is the most plentiful, is shaped like a shark and is quite fast, averaging 53 feet. Next in size is the sperm whale which can be found in most parts of the globe, the humpback and the sei whale.

Little is known of the whale population or its habits, Dr. Elsey pointed out, so that the probable catch each year is an unknown quantity. However, his company is endeavoring to do some research on a relatively small scale.

Harpoon Shot from Cannon

Each whaling boat is equipped with a cannon which shoots a harpoon equipped with a twenty-pound time bomb. Attached to the harpoon is a length of nylon cord about 1 1/2 inches in diameter, which is again attached to a length of cable.

Generally, boats manoeuvre within 100 feet of the whale before firing, but hits have been known up to 180 feet. Sometimes it takes four hours to land a whale, and if it submerges and comes up under the boat or becomes entangled with the propeller it becomes quite exciting, Dr. Elsey added dryly.

Experiments have been conducted to electrocute whales and it is known that they can be killed in 20 seconds, a much more humane method. However, the process has not been perfected yet, he intimated.

Biggest day's catch of any boat in the B.C. Packers' fleet was seven whales, Dr. Elsey noted. Boats remain out until six whales can be attached, three on each side, and brought to the shore factory. On the average, there are 150 tons of whalemeat on each side of the boats, when loaded.

This summer, the fleet was extremely lucky and landed 62 whales in one week.

First the whale is stripped of its blubber which is processed for its oil content, mainly used for margarine. Next the head is severed and then the loin meat, which resembles beef, is taken from the backbone.

This meat is processed and is used for poultry and hog feed. The B.C. Packers company was the first company in the world to process the rest of the whale. The bone and the rest of the carcass are placed in big revolving cookers with the oils segregated from the solids, the resultant product having proved extremely valuable as animal protein to bolster plant protein.

This year, 5 1/2 million pounds of otherwise waste material was salvaged in this method and realized $200,000 for the company, he concluded.

To laugh or cry or just to pose is quite a problem for this warmly-garbed Korean youngster. The lunch he clutches in his small fist has been handed to him by the crew of a 426 Transport Squadron aircraft which has just landed in Korea and the two "Thunderbird" officers speculating on the humor of his indecision are F/O C. G. JESSUP, (left), of North Bay, Ont., and F/L J. A. WATT, of Montreal.

Kelowna Man's Car Plunges Down Steep Embankment from Highway

Patrick Gallagher, Kelowna, is in Kelowna General hospital suffering from numerous head lacerations and possibly other injuries, the result of a spectacular auto accident on Okanagan Highway No. 97, near the outskirts of Summerland municipality, at approximately 1:30 o'clock Friday morning, Oct. 12.

Another passenger in the ill-fated car was Roy Bradley, young Peachland man, who escaped uninjured.

The Gallagher car, travelling north, failed to make a left-hand curve and plunged down a steep embankment, rolling over and over until the car doors flew open, arresting the mad flight.

The car is practically a total wreck, having come to a stop about fifty feet above an orchard, about 250 feet below the highway.

Gallagher was taken into Summerland General hospital for treatment and was moved later on Friday to Kelowna. He was proceeding home from the East Kootenays when the accident occurred.

Bradley had "hitched" a ride from lower town in Summerland to his Peachland home.

GREYHOUND BUS CATCHES ON FIRE AT PRINCETON

Wants Rates for Radiant Heating

Colin A. Campbell, local contractor, has queried municipal council regarding regulations concerning installation of radiant heating in local homes. More especially, Mr. Campbell wished to know the probable rate which will be set here. The council will obtain rates charged in Penticton, and by the B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Commission before coming to a decision.

BENNETT MEETS ROYAL PARTY

Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. and Mrs. Bennett, Kelowna, left last week for Victoria, to be present at the arrival of their Royal Highnesses, the Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Mr. Bennett will attend a special meeting of the provincial legislature opening today, Thursday, Oct. 25. This session has been called to deal with old-age pension legislation.

the blaze. Passengers had to wait three hours for a relief bus to come from Penticton. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cook, who were visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barkwill in Summerland, were passengers on this bus.

Forbid Tree Cutting On Giant's Head

Having read in The Review about the prospect of considerable Christmas tree cutting in the vicinity of Summerland this fall, Mr. J. W. Harris wrote the council last week expressing the view that indiscriminate cutting of trees on the adjoining hillsides would spoil the beauties of the district. He specially hoped that tree-cutting on Giant's Head would be discouraged. The council is replying that Giant's Head is out of bounds for any tree-cutting and signs will be posted to this effect.

Local Teachers In Lead Roles at Two-Day Session

A number of Summerland teachers participated in the organization of the 30th annual convention of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Assn. held in Oliver on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12 and 13, when Fred Flick of Oliver was named the new president and John Harsard of Armstrong vice-president.

W. C. Wilkin was chairman of the nominating committee whose selections proved popular with the assembled teachers.

Miss R. Dale was chairman of the Grade 3 arithmetic section, T. P. Moore had charge of Prades 4, 5 and 6 music section, and E. F. Weeks was chairman of the Grade 6 science and arithmetic section.

Lacey Fisher was chairman of the committee organizing a new dramatic group among association teachers in the valley, details of which may be found in another column of this issue.

John Prior, president of the B.C.T.F. and Secretary C. D. Ovens were present for the two-day session and announced the extension of the Vancouver and Lower Mainland teachers' Credit Union to a CU embracing all provincial teachers. In this connection a teachers cooperative, mainly aimed at assisting teachers in their housing problems, is being organized and has gained considerable momentum, teachers were informed. One of the highlights was the address by Dr. F. T. Fairry, deputy minister of education on the United Nations Educational Survey in Burma.

Councillor Succeeds In Kennel Licence

Councillor Norman Holmes is gaining a reputation for persistence and this trait resulted last week with his winning council approval to the passage of an amendment to the municipal dog licence bylaw to provide for operation of dog kennels here for owners having more than five canines.

A $10 licence fee, similar to those in vogue in Penticton and Kelowna, will apply to such kennels.

Not Impressed With Operation of BCHIS Offices in Victoria

CAMPBELL RIVER — H. J. Welch, M.L.A., a member of the special committee inquiring into BCHIS, said that the committee had found there are 646 people working in the service's department, and he was not at all favorably impressed about the way it was run.

The committee went over to the motor vehicles branch, who look after half a million drivers' licences and a quarter million vehicle licences. There were 146 people employed there and they were most impressed with the efficiency of the system.

They got what they wanted to know about a driver and his record in a matter of minutes but it takes the hospital department from three weeks to three months to tell, whether a man had paid his hospitalization dues or not, Mr. Welch declared.

West Kootenay's Double Line -- Trail to Penticton Offers Alternate Power Source

That the West Kootenay Power & Light Co. Ltd. offers now a double line from Trail to Penticton, in order to make certain that there is a constant supply of electrical energy to serve the Okanagan and Similkameen areas was stressed to the Summerland Board of Trade meeting in the IOOF hall on Thursday, Oct. 11, by Norman Truth, Penticton company manager.

Mr. Truth had been invited to address the local trade board after Penticton city council sought Summerland support for a move to demand an alternate source of power for this district in case of a power outage on West Kootenay lines.

At the outset, Mr. Truth admitted that there are a number of possible alternative sources of power available but it would cost a considerable amount of money to install.

"We think we have a good system, it is well-kept and offers an alternative source of power with a double line from Trail to Penticton," Mr. Truth observed.

Single lines operate from Penticton to Summerland, from Penticton to Kelowna and from Oliver to Osoyoos, as well as Oliver to the Similkameen.

Vulnerable Points
The most vulnerable points are on the tops of mountains, as they are harder to reach and therefore more time is lost in repairing damages.

Mr. Truth also stressed the cleared right-of-ways, the roads, winter camps and other essentials which have been provided by his company in order that line service is maintained in all weather.

He declared that there is an inter-connection with the B.C. Power Commission lines, at Kelowna, to provide an alternative source of power if the Penticton-Kelowna line fails.

However, the difference in voltage between the two systems is such that the line loss in trying to serve Penticton from the BCPC system is so great that a full service is impossible.

"Our alternative source of power is our double line from Trail to Penticton," commented Mr. Truth, declaring that only in drastic circumstances will both lines go out at once.

He described the bombings and shooting of insulators which occurred in the Grand Forks district and caused the last major outage. It was after this outrage that Penticton city council demanded action.

Mr. Truth considered that his company is doing everything possible to combat ordinary causes of power stoppage but did not believe his company should be responsible for acts of sabotage.

"You can't consider there have been many prolonged periods (of power failures) except from these acts of sabotage," he declared.

Mr. Truth declared the line to Summerland is well patrolled and is kept in good shape.

Diesel Plant Costly
A diesel plant could be installed at Penticton or Summerland to provide an auxiliary source of power, but it would cost a great deal of money and rates would have to be added considerably to meet this extra expense.

But anything that can be done if thought feasible and the users are willing to pay their share, he added.

He instanced that his company had recently completed a double line from Oliver to Penticton and is now able to provide a more constant voltage.

In answer to a query, Mr. Truth declared a second line from Penticton to Kelowna would be practical in time, but not with the present number of users.

Board members queried several aspects of the power supply situation, while George Washington, manager of the Summerland Co-operative Growers Assn., admitted that the outage situation hasn't been too serious in the past year.

The biggest problem to local packinghouse and cannery operators, Mr. Washington declared, is how long the outage will be.

There is also a possibility of motor loss if power is supplied at too low a voltage and no one is notified.

He gave an instance of the municipal electrical crew not being present at the substation during one recent outage when the power was available for local consumption for a period of twenty minutes.

Mr. Truth pointed out that this is a municipal problem, but he knew from personal contacts that the municipal electrical crew has always been prompt in contacting the West Kootenay office in Penticton endeavoring to find out how long the outage was liable to CANADA SAVINGS BOND SCRAPBOOK - By Jacques.

Walter Wright Describes His Chicago Visit

On Oct. 12, Francis Stuart introduced Walter Wright as the evening's speaker at Rotary's meeting in the Nu-Way Annex, to tell of things he and Mrs. Wright saw in the Chicago part of their summer's trip.

They were met by Mrs. Wright's brother who took them for a drive through the city, out to a suburb, Oak Park the largest village in USA. On their way they stopped last. Many times it is impossible for the West Kootenay office to supply that information when requested by Summerland he pointed out.

Councillor Eric Tait replied to Mr. Washington's complaint that the council had been studying this question for some time. A two-way radio hookup had been considered but was thought too costly for the type of system required. However, the subject has not been dropped and will continue to be pressed, Mr. Tait concluded.

At the conclusion of this discussion, the board of trade ordered Penticton's request to the West Kootenay company filed.

at the Bahai temple, a new sect in the States. This group before building started, had submitted their ideas to architects in widely scattered countries and a French-Canadian received the award. A picture of the temple was passed to the members.

Chicago in the residential areas, he described as a lovely city. Poles and wires were relegated to the lanes. Grand trees, oak, elm and others sent their graceful branches to meet in an overhead arch, a relief from the summer sun and a protection from winter winds. It is a city of innumerable parks, used continually.

Mr. and Mrs. White took them to the musical festival of Illinois which was on at the time. The huge stadium held 80,000 people that night. A most striking parade of 20 bands in gorgeous uniforms opened the events, and formed up like spokes of a wheel to render selections under the 92-year-old leader, a man in his element.

A 1,000 voice negro choir entranced the spectators and a 500 concertina band delighted the appreciative audience. A sensational scene previously announced was staged. The people were asked to get out matches. The lights were turned off, then on the count 1, 2, 3, everybody lit their match and a photo was taken.

A copy of the "Tribune" with pictures of this event and others, brought back as a souvenir, was passed to the Rotarians.

Mrs. Wright's nephew, Lindsay, took them to "a stock car race". Some spectacle! He told Rotary of one race with 26 cars off in a flash. At the first turn of the 1/4-mile track a Packard put on its brakes and turned right around heading into the oncoming motors. The hydrants at each side of the field had bales of hay piled for protection. A car hit one of these and it went up in the air, over the car's top, landed in front of the next one, got hit and broke open. A flake stuck in the next car's steering arms and off it shot onto the grass.

A Chev lost a front wheel and the next car hit that rolling, wobbling disc, turned on its side, and all four wheels hit the track's great wall with a bang. No one was seriously hurt but only about eight cars finished.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright attended two broadcasts, The Breakfast Club and Welcome Travellers, which he described.

Two or three hours were spent at the airfield, one morning. An average of 33 planes an hour arrive or leave that airport. A little helicopter, looking like a grasshopper among the strato-cruisers and air ships, brought the mail from the central post office, picked up their mail and flew back to unload on the city's post office roof.

Museums housed innumerable interesting items. They saw Napoleon's three-cornered hat; the suit George Washington wore when he signed the declaration of independence, old stage coaches and mummies from Egypt.

The aquarium was a spot to hold interest for hours. Colored postcards, brought back were passed to the members showing the hideous and the beauties as they were seen in the grand tanks.

International Commission Expected to Reach Decision Soon on Flood Control Work

Okanagan flood control project cannot go ahead before the international joint commission on waterways has reached a decision on the objections raised by the United States government relative to fishways on Okanagan river. This commission is expected to bring down a decision this month.

Such was the advice given the Okanagan Valley Flood Control Committee by Hon. Lester B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, in reply to a letter forwarded him by Mayor W. E. Hughes-Games, Kelowna, committee chairman.

Funds Have Been Voted

Mayor Hughes-Games referred to his committee's understanding that the project has been accepted by the dominion and provincial governments, and that the necessary funds have been voted but is now held up by dispute over fishways with the United States government.

"Our committee is tremendously concerned over the long delay in implementing this project which has for nearly three years been accepted by both federal and provincial governments," wrote His Worship. "Very bad floods occurred in 1942 and 1946 and a disastrous flood in 1948. Floods again occurred this year and disaster was only averted by a hot, dry summer."

Mayor Hughes-Games declared the situation is steadily worsening and implored the department to treat this matter as an emergency and make an immediate settlement with the United States so that an immediate start can be made on the project.

In reply, Mr. Pearson declared he had been informed by the chairman of the Canadian section of the international joint commission, General A. G. L. McNaughton, that the subject is coming up for consideration at a session of the commission this month.

Aware of Urgent Need

"I should like to assure you", stated Mr. Pearson, "that we are indeed conscious in this department of the seriousness and urgency of this matter. I am also aware that the Canadian section of the international joint commission is fully advised of the facts set out in your letter and will, I feel sure, do everything possible to ensure that a report of the commission's conclusion will be presented with the least possible delay." General McNaughton replied that "You may be sure that the Canadian sections of the international joint commission is fully seized of the importance of proceeding at the earliest practicable date with the proposed works for flood control in the Okanagan and that we will lose no opportunity which is open to us to clear up the international difficulties which presently exist."

Public Works Powerless

Hon. Alphonse Fournier, dominion minister of public works, declared:

"There is very little that this department can do to hasten matters, as the question of American fish rights in this river has been referred to the international joint commission at the request of the U.S. department of state, and until the international joint commission renders a decision in this matter, we are not at liberty to go ahead with any work which might change conditions governing fish migration.

"I assure you that as soon as this matter has been cleared from the international status which it has now assumed, we will do everything we can to hasten construction of the flood control works, but until it is cleared we can do nothing."

Hon. E. C. Carson, provincial public works minister, welcomed the committee's action in endeavoring to obtain action.

"Your action in this regard is appreciated and I trust will be instrumental in expediting decisions by the international joint commission and agreements which remain to be resolved between the national governments," declared Mr. Carson.

Western Division Ski Group Convenes Here on Saturday

Delegates from Alberta and British Columbia will converge on Summerland this Saturday, October 27, for a general meeting of the Western Division, Canadian Amateur Ski Association.

This is an important event for skiing in this valley and indicates an upsurge in interest.

It is hoped by this move that more interior ski clubs will join the main ski body which controls the destinies of the sport generally and delegates tournament dates and rules.

Summerland is the only club in the interior which is affiliated right now with the C.A.S.A.

Delegates will be billeted while here and a banquet is being planned for Saturday night. It is not certain when the business sessions will be held as time of arrival has not been announced.

First general meeting of the ski season was held by the local ski club last Thursday, with a good attendance and plenty of enthusiasm shown by members.

Work parties have already done a considerable amount of work on the ski hill. Erush has been cut on various parts of the hill. The best improvement is that the tow has been extended to give skiers more ski areas.

Next work party will be on November 4 when a full attendance of members is needed to carry out the projected improvements.

Deer Crossing for Highway Proposed

Only nine members turned out last Friday evening for the monthly meeting of the Summerland Fish and Game Assn., with Joe McLachlan as chairman.

Although the attendance was disappointing, those present entered into spirited debates on a number of subjects.

It was decided to request a "Deer Crossing" sign be posted on Highway No. 97 just south of the old municipal shale pit, as this particular point has been used considerably of late years by the animals seeking a route to Okanagan lake.

Some discussion ensued regarding the Vernon suggestion for a Pheasants Unlimited project which would raise between 15,000 and 18,000 birds. It is the Vernon plan to sell them to the game commission but as the latter body has not decided that this is the answer to the pheasant scarcity, no immediate progress is in sight.

An attempt will be made to arouse further interest in this sportsmen's club to ensure a good turnout for the next meeting on December 3.

PENTICTON FOOTBALLERS HOLD STAR COAST TEAM

Penticton's Scarlet Marauders Canadian football squad lost to North Shore Lions last Sunday 11-6. There is a possibility the Marauders may challenge Coast winners, either the Blue Bombers or the Meralomas for the provincial championship, as they made such a good showing last weekend.

NEWS FROM THE GREAT OUTDOORS

(By Bert Berry)

FISHING

Fishing on the whole has just about faded, especially in the mountain lakes; however, good fish up to 20 inches have been caught in Okanagan Lake this week and it should continue pretty fair right along the season. The big lake is not closed for fishing at anytime unless frozen over.

HUNTING

Deer and moose continue to come in in goodly numbers. Three moose and an elk arrived here in the past week, Alf Johnston being the lucky one on the elk.

Deer are starting to move around more and the snow has started them down to the lower levels.

Pheasant season started last Saturday and although not too many have been shot or seen, with a good dog few hunters have returned without one of the long-tails. Not plentiful, but you can get them.

Ducks are arriving from the north and anyone who does duck shooting locally will be getting their share of northern mallards pretty soon.

I would like to point out to the pheasant hunters that there have been justifiable complaints come in from pickers and orchard owners that some hunters are not obeying signs posted and safety measures while hunting. Let's not have any accidents here in this district.

HOLD HOOP CLINIC

A basketball clinic is being held at Vernon tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 26. John "Wink" Willox, chief coast referee, will lead the clinic.

GOOD HUNTING STARTS HERE

Even Dan'l Boone needed a rifle that hit where it was aimed. Good hunting has to have good equipment. One of the reasons so many hunters come to this shop.

Cheer After

nylon net. From the platform the Princess could be seen adjusting her coat and hat then, looking through the window as if to be able to anticipate the situation outside before facing it, she somehow looked rather little and alone as she stood there.

Wrapped in Blanket

Then came the big moment when she came out and down the steps followed by the Duke. There was cheer after cheer from the waiting crowds. They came to immediate attention and stood as the band played God Save the King. Presentations were made and she was wrapped in a white Hudson's Bay blanket for the slow drive through town to Riverside Park, preceded by the band, and followed by cars bearing members of the Royal party and civic officials.

Thousands had gathered in the park where army men lined the route that the cars took through the enclosed space.

The stand where Their Royal Highnesses stood with Mayor and Mrs. Affleck was decorated with red, white and blue, and had white baskets of flowers in the same patriotic shades.

The Princess was sensibly and suitably dressed in a light grey checked tailored suit of the type known as men's suiting, a white blouse, tan oxfords and tan bag of reptile skin, and small grey cone-shaped hat with a self ornament having touches of gold. Over all she wore a beautiful full-length, pink coat, and she was wearing tiny pearl earrings.

The Duke was hatless and had donned a long, light-colored overcoat.

They were given an illuminated scroll from the city. It was done by Mrs. D. Howard.

Little Linda Martin, a Brownie from Tranquille, presented Princess Elizabeth with a lovely armful of pale yellow rosebuds tied with long brown satin ribbon streamers. While the presentations were being made she gave her flowers to Mrs. Affleck to hold for her.

Indian Chief in Headdress

The aldermen of Kamloops and their wives were presented, and Mrs. Millward, a lady alderman and her husband, the city clerk and his wife, RCMP Inspector McClinton, Chief George Leonard of the Kamloops tribe and his poised, attractive wife, Margaret, in beaded buckskin clothes. He was in feathered, and she in beaded, headdress. Capt. Bellew, VC, was presented, too, and two King's Scouts, Tom Kenal and Stewart Manson of the 1st St. Paul troop, Kamloops.

After this the couple made a complete tour of the enclosure, and spoke to many.

The Princess seemed such a slip of a girl, soft-spoken, small, young and a bit hesitant, with a lovely clear complexion and pretty brown hair cut fairly short. No photograph seems to do justice to her and, of course, does not catch her gentle, appealing way. The Duke was completely at ease, smiling and friendly.

There were hundreds of Scouts, Cubs, Guides, Brownies, Canadian Girls In Training, pupils from the Kamloops Indian Residential school, and school children from the surrounding districts.

The Duke drew the attention of the Princess to the wave of little green caps thrown in the air by Cubs as they drew near.

She seemed touched by the children who had come from so many miles away and asked one teacher if they had come from far. When told they had, she said, "How wonderful!"

South African Veterans

She spoke with nurses from the Royal Inland hospital, Kamloops, and the Duke chatted with veterans of the two wars and the South African War. Among the latter were George Doherty and Tom Whitfield, Summerland.

The McIntosh Girls' Pipe Band from Vernon played as they prepared to leave, and the walk around completed, their car was driven in to the grandstand. In it the Princess was again wrapped in the warm blanket and a sort of foot-light which had been arranged in the car shone up on their faces as amid rousing cheers they drove off to entrain for the coast.

And all the roads leading from Kamloops were lighted by the headlights of home-going cars. Many of them would shine until after midnight as loyal Brits went back well pleased with the day's events.
