

Apricot Puree Gives Boost To Final Pool Prices

Growers yesterday welcomed news and satisfaction with the price received was the valuation of the pool this year was the arrangement of fruit and from this move, $57,223 was added to the pool.

The deal may even bring a better return if the puree is sold at a price better than that at which it has been inventoried.

Prices quoted in the pool closing are packinghouse prices:

Fancy PAF	1.021
Local Maturity	.919
Shakeface PAF	1.011
No. 2 PAF	.871
Cannery (per ton)	$82.37

Jam (per ton) .....$41.19

The 'cot pool is the last of the soft fruits to be closed this year. Delay came from the uncertainty of the future for the surplus of nearly 400 tons which were pureed. These have now been inventoried at the $57,223 figure in order to close the pool.

Only the apple pool is now unclosed from the 1952 season.

BCFGA Local Meets

Concerned About Inadequate Pruning To Meet New Minimum Standards

Members of Summerland BCFGa local last night heard some hard facts that bordered on a warning from Governor W. Gordon Wight who gave details of standards in size and maturity that will have to be met for this year's pack. Concern was expressed by several at the appearance of many orchards in the district which clearly do not give indication of sufficient pruning to produce the required standards.

Other speakers at the meeting were Arthur R. Garrish, BCFGa president, convention delegate Eric Tait, Governor W. R. Powell, Governor Albert Miller, A. J. DesBrisay, B.C. Processors and George Northan, manager of the association's hall insurance company.

Mr. Garrish in brief remarks outlined the association's domestic and foreign distribution and spoke of some of the difficulties of the association in trying to keep all producers satisfied. He expressed concern over the position of orchardists who are trying to wrest a living from five or six acres and expressed the view that orchards of this size could not be economically operated and could offer no solution for the problems of these growers.

Mr. DesBrisay outlined what the processing plant is doing in the production of apple juice and said that investigations are being carried out in an effort to find by-products from soft fruits which can be produced economically and give a boost to the marketing of that produce.

Discussion centered on the matter of dumping fruit rather than have it sold at a price which did not cover production costs and Mr. Garrish warned that this was a move which should be avoided if at all possible because of the ill will bred in the consumers' reaction to seeing usable fruit destroyed. Regarding prunes, Mr. Wight, speaking for the sub-committee on soft fruits, said that if a surplus develops such as last year, a "stopping" notice will go out so that growers will be saved picking costs. It is much better, he pointed out, to leave fruit on the trees than to incur ill will by dumping.

Mr. Wight said a maturity committee will tour the valley this summer to offer help to the growers to follow the maturity requirements which have been set to fine limits. This group will work with packinghouses to hold clinics for growers as well as instruct sorters and packing employees.

Many Tributes Paid To Dr. R. C. Palmer

Tributes to the memory of Dr. R. C. Palmer were this week paid by the many friends and associates during the years he rendered valued service to the district.

The annual banquet of the Summerland Speakers' Club scheduled for Tuesday evening was cancelled out of respect for "Dick" Palmer, one of the founders 18 years ago and a regular attendant at the meetings.

Meeting of the Southern District Council last Saturday afternoon opened with silent prayer in his memory and Eric Tait, speaking of the great loss to the district said, "The industry has lost a very close friend whose outstanding qualities particularly adapted him to his task."

Meeting of the Summerland Local of BCFGa last night also opened with silent prayer and President Don Wright in a brief tribute said, "We have lost a friend whose work on our own behalf will stand always as a monument to him and as incentive to those who follow."

Speaking on behalf of B.C. Tree Fruit Producers Association, Mr. Wight can be truthfully said that Dick—as he was known to all of us—held the highest place in our affections, not only on account of his efficiency and deep knowledge of his chosen profession, but because also of his "common touch" in dealing with the hundreds of problems that confronted him annually.

The loss of an outstanding citizen, a fine scientist, and a beloved public servant, will be very widely deplored."

TRADE BOARD MEETING

Guest speaker for the Board of Trade meeting next Thursday evening, April 9th, will be B. A. Tingley, secretary of School District No. 77. The meeting will be held in the IOOF Hall starting at 8 o'clock.

All District Churches Prepare Special Music, Easter Messages

The hillside in front of Mountain View Home will again this year be the setting for the annual Easter Sunrise Service on Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Then at regular services throughout churches in the district, special music and messages will retell the great Easter story.

Red Cross Drive Nears Objective

Donations to the Red Cross campaign this week climbed to within $225 of the $3,000 objective for Summerland and Drive Chairman E. E. Bates today appealed to all those who have not yet made contributions to add their support and send collections over the top.

He pointed out that for the Red Cross to carry on their national program, which is constantly expanding, each community must provide their allotted objective in order to make up the national requirements.

Contributions to the fund are being accepted at A. K. Elliott's and hope is expressed, that the fund which now stands at $2,770.77 will by next week reach the $3,000 mark.

TO EDMONTON

Mrs. E. E. Bates, and her mother, Mrs. Asay, are going to Edmonton for the Easter holiday to attend the wedding of Mrs. Bates' sister.

More Darn Problems From One Old Shoe

Medical clinic receptionist Mary Stewart gathered up mail from the post office box one morning this week and three people were left with problems to ponder.

Mary's problem: Who and why did someone send her an old shoe through the mail?

Post Office Clerk Cris Mair's problem: What became of half of a spare pair of shoes she kept at the office?

Post Office Clerk Dave Cruickshank's problem: What to do now to break the monotony?

Garrish Reports

District Council Hears Outline Of Horticultural Council Sessions

Southern District Council Saturday afternoon heard a report on the February sessions of the Canadian Horticultural Council in Ottawa from BCFGa president Arthur R. Garrish and then ironed out procedure for conducting meetings to eliminate time-consuming discussions which had marked two previous meetings.

Mr. Garrish opened his report on the 31st Horticultural Council session by explaining its function to bring leaders of the agricultural industry in Canada together to assist the federal government in applying packing and marketing regulations.

Because, he said, all proposals of the council are carefully considered opinions, it has gained the respect of all government departments and it is regarded as a real attempt by the industry to shoulder its own problems and work them out on the national level.

He explained that most of the work at the council is done in committees and with two or three meetings going on at the same time, it was necessary to split the delegation in order to participate in all sessions which had a bearing on the local fruit industry.

Referring to the discussions of the council, Mr. Garrish said one point touched on very strongly was the limitations on advertising placed on Canadian producers while Continued on Page 5

Building Permits Reflect Activity

Building inspector's report for the month of April shows building activity in the district continuing with eight permits issued during the month for total work of $21,450. In March last year the same number of permits were issued but for a total of $25,000.

The permits issued last month covered six for new dwellings to a total of $20,400 and two for alterations to a total of $1,050.

Building for the first three months of the year has shown an increase over the same period last year. In 1953, 20 permits have been issued for a total of $35,300 compared to 13 for $31,025 in 1952.

CCF To Nominate Candidate April 25

South Okanagan CCF Constituency Association which replaces the South Okanagan District Executive held its first meeting on Monday, March 30, in Summerland, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Garnett. Mr. Garnett is secretary of the Summerland CCF club.

Jack Snowsell of Kelowna was elected chairman and Terry Dyson, also of Kelowna, secretary.

The new association is open to all members of both organized and unorganized districts.

Special business was arranging of a nominating convention to select a candidate for the forthcoming provincial election, and it was decided to hold the convention at the IOOF hall, West Summerland, on Saturday, April 25, at 2 p.m.

Jaycee Clean-up Drive Next Week

Summerland Junior Chamber of Commerce next week will get behind their annual clean-up campaign and will be out with trucks Wednesday and Saturday to gather trash discarded in home spring cleaning. Wednesday, collections will be confined to Lower Town and Trout Creek while collections Saturday will be in West Summerland.

Any person wishing to have trash removed can have a Jaycee truck call by telephoning 5708.

Socreds To Nominate At Summerland Meet

Social Crediters of South Okanagan on Monday evening gathered at the Women's Institute hall in Kelowna and heard a recording of a speech delivered by federal leader Solon Low at the convention in November. The meeting was well attended and at an executive session which followed, plans were laid for the meeting in Kelowna next Tuesday at which Premier W. A. C. Bennett will present his report on the legislature to his constituents.

Discussion also centered on plans for the nominating convention to be held in Summerland. No date for this session has yet been set.

Legion Zone Session Held Here Sunday

About 80 delegates were present Sunday for the regular zone meeting of the Canadian Legion. This zone extends from Peachland to Osoyoos and from Greenwood to Princeton.

Matters under discussion by delegates covered Legion scholarships and resolutions for the provincial convention in Nanaimo on May 24 to 27.

The subject of Civil defence was raised and members present pledged renewed support.

Signifying Nothing

BY RUSTICUS

Three of us were shooting the breeze in Ye Olde English Coffee Shoppe the other afternoon, and I was holding forth on my pet peeve. As all wish to be anonymous, I'll call myself X.

"There ought to be a bounty," says I — or rather, X. "There ought to be a bounty on people who start a club or association because it's their hobby, or because they want to run something, or because they want to duck the responsibilities of staying home and looking after their families—and then make out that other people have a duty to go. At the very least, the Game Commission ought to declare an open season on them. It's got so bad around Summerland that there are two or three things on every night, and it's considered a disgrace to have any peaceful evenings at home. If these community-minded people would stay home and mind their own business, there wouldn't be any need for many of these community-helping organizations."

Ordinarily Z agrees with me. But now, instead of acting like a graduate of Dale Carnegie's course on how to get along with people, he said, says Z.

"You're partly right. But—what would happen if nobody went to any meetings? We'd get into a habit of just doing what we were told, not caring by whom, as long as we could escape the boring business of attending meetings. Wouldn't that just set things up for a dictatorship? Isn't it the eager beavers among the common people who keep a democracy alive?"

"By golly, you've got something there," I admitted—or X did. "If we don't go to meetings when we don't want to, we may lose the right to go when we do want to, eh? But surely—surely all these organizations aren't necessary?"

"Surely some of them are?" Z retorted; and when I hastily agreed, he pressed home his advantage remorselessly.

"Then where are you going to draw the line? And who's going to draw it? Wouldn't that be dictatorship right there? Human beings have to go to extremes, it seems. It's either too many meetings—or suffocating silence."

We both looked at Y.

"Would you call Britain a democracy?" he asked, clearing his throat for action.

"By all means," we chorused.

"Well," said Y, "I wrote to my English cousins a schedule of one week's doings. The work I'm paid to do, little extras, evenings out, guests in, physical recreation, meetings attended, committees attended, and so on. I was quite proud of how much I had succeeded in crowding into seven days."

"My English cousins replied that it exhausted them merely to read the list; they obviously thought me daft. This couple gives one afternoon or evening a week to helping certain old people who are really infirm—direct warm personal contact, not impersonal service organizations. They may go out to a game or concert one other evening a week. Otherwise they stay home reading, chatting, or enjoying their hobbies."

"Yet when an election comes around, a bigger percentage of voters turns out in Britain than here. And when it comes to important national and international affairs, the British often take a broader, less prejudiced view than North Americans."

"Makes me wonder if all this frenzied rushing around to this and that is the best training for democracy. We might live more happily and wisely, if we took more time for leisurely thought. Though I'm caught in the same dizzy whirl as the rest of you, I'm inclined to think that X is on the right track."

Which of course shows how Ys Y is.

THURSDAY, APRIL SECOND, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREE

A Joyous Feast . . . hope for life beyond secured

This week the Christian world celebrates its most joyous feast of the whole year—commemoration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ—the incident which gives man greatest faith of life beyond death.

Up until that time, man was sustained in his faith by three beliefs, the imperishableness of love, the nature of man and the character of God.

Love is stronger than death. Time and space are powerless to destroy it. In its nature it is, like God Himself, immortal. The greatest belief of life is the parting of friends, and where a life has been entwined with that of another, the grief beggars description. Love is oneness and cannot endure separation; it refuses to believe that the separation can be permanent. Love probably is the main source of the desire for life after death.

And the nature of man. One of the foundational elements of the Christian hope is the value of every individual in the sight of God. Christianity affirms that man is made in the image and likeness of God and that he has in him the breath of divine life. It stresses the incalculable worth of the human personality.

"What," asks Jesus, "Shall it profit a man"—not a rich man, not a wise man, not a good man, but a man—"If he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth."

If man has such value it is surely inconceivable that death should be the end of everything for him, that he should be blown out of existence as a candle is blown out, that he should be obliterated and annihilated. It is not only inconceivable, it is irrational.

As one thinker after another has expressed it, if there is no other life, then this world is a stupid joke. And whose joke?

Then there is the character of God. Jesus faith in immortality is an immediate inference from his faith in God as Father. Take what he said to the Sadducees who did not believe in the resurrection from the dead. "God, he told them, is not the God of the dead but of the living. That is implicit in the fact that He said to Moses, 'I am the God of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob.'"

God was the Guardian and the Guide of these men. He watched over and protected them all their life long. What for? Was it to see them wither and wilt and die? Could he be content to leave them in the dust?

No, says Jesus, nobody who knows what God is could tolerate such a conclusion. Everything is grounded on the character of God, on His goodness, His faithfulness, His Fatherliness. It would be a denial of God's own nature if his children were to be overcome by death. A God who at the last could leave men in the grave would not be the God whom Jesus knew.

The first disciples were never unmindful of these three factors but the rising again of their Master from the grave was the event which first begot in them a lively hope of resurrection from the dead.

He had overcome death; He could not be held by it; He was living in the power of an endless life; and by His rising again He had abolished death and brought life and immortality to light. Nowhere do we find the arguing from a general resurrection to the resurrection of Jesus; they see in the resurrection of Jesus the guarantee of their own.

"But now," cries Paul, "is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept." And again, "God both raised the Lord and will raise us up through his power. That is the Christian faith."

It makes coward spirit brave
And nerves the feeble arm for flight
It takes the terror from the grave
And glids the bed of death with light.

Another Milestone . . . reflection of full support

This past month The Review passed an important milestone in its development among the great family of newspapers published on the North American continent. That was its acceptance for membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

In this step it has joined 2,700 periodicals published in Canada and the United States who, along with advertisers' representatives, operate the bureau to provide definite standards for measuring circulation values.

We of the Review staff are proud of our new association because it means the effectiveness of this paper as an advertising media is guaranteed by a set of standards just as rigid as those set by the department of weights and measures.

Basically, ABC was organized to establish and maintain a standard of circulation measurement upon which mutual confidence between buyers and sellers of advertising in published media could be based. In this, ABC is practically unique as an example of self-government within an industry in which no sort of governmental control exists, although its function closely resembles the sort of regulation which is imposed by governmental authority for the control of standards for weights and measures, food and drugs or exchange of securities.

That the ABC has been successful in establishing a bureau of standards common to all and accepted by all concerned is generally recognized. It is best illustrated by the fact that even the United States government during World War II used the standards of the Bureau for the rationing of paper, not finding it necessary to set up any other standards.

Mid-Week Message

Be not amazed; ye seek Jesus, the Nazarene, who hath been crucified. (Mark 16:8. A.S.V.) Why seek ye the living among the dead? (Luke 24:5) Luke 24:1-10.

During the Easter Season a few years ago I read a story written by a minister. In it he told of having a part in a religious service in a home where word has been received of the death of a son in battle. The service included replacing with a gold star the blue star hanging in the window. In the midst of grief, the members of this family displayed great faith as they read from the Scriptures and sang the great hymns of the Church.

Soon the minister moved away. Some months later he was called to the telephone to answer a long-distance call from the city of his former parish. He recognized at the other end of the line the grief-stricken but faith-possessed father. The father, in a voice choked with rejoicing cried, "Jim's alive! It was all a mistake. He wasn't killed. Jim's alive!"

It is easy for us to sense the exceeding great joy of this father as he found to be alive his son whom he had thought to be dead. There was something of this same joy in the hearts of the women when they discovered that Jesus had, indeed, risen from the dead.

PRAYER

Our Father God, we beseech Thee to let Thy power work in us. Help us to rise from the death of our trespasses and sins to become new creatures; through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Ottawa Report

BY O. L. JONES, MP for Yale

Mr. H. W. Herridge of Kootenay West, moved a resolution, seconded by myself, to the effect that in the opinion of this house, legislation should be introduced during the present session to provide floor prices for agricultural products at such levels as to ensure producers a price-cost relationship not less favourable than that prevailing from 1944 to 1948; such floor prices to be established in consultation with producers' organizations.

The object of the measure would bring stability into agricultural products throughout Canada and Mr. Herridge stressed particularly the need for this support for soft fruits. He pointed out that farm prosperity is essential for a healthy Canadian economy. With a world food shortage we believe that production must be maintained.

Mr. Herridge pointed to the fact that we repeatedly hear our country and our way of life referred to as a Christian civilization. He went on, "In my opinion, it is complete humbug and hypocrisy to consider our a Christian civilization if we do anything to restrict agricultural production, while there are hundreds of millions of people in the world today who are short of food." Mr. Herridge was allowed to speak to the point where the amendment was introduced and then the speaker ruled the amendment out of order. But the effort was not entirely wasted, because Mr. Diefenbaker suggested more or less the same amendment but in words that asked for consideration rather than a direct order to the house. This, the speaker ruled, was in order.

This resolution, which is still under discussion is "In the opinion of this house, consideration should be given by the government to the advisability of introducing during the present session, legislation to provide floor prices for agricultural products at such levels as to ensure producers a fair price-cost relationship." Mr. Diefenbaker stressed the need for stability in agricultural production, urging that credits be arranged with the U.K. to purchase our surpluses.

Certain meat products, eggs, and other farm produce are already receiving a floor price support by the government, and the effect of this discussion is to have such support extended to cover all farm products, as is now being done in Great Britain and New Zealand.

Robert Fair, member for Battle River, followed and placed on the record a lengthy table of how freight rates handicapped western producers when competing for business in the east, pointing out the higher freight rates on such things as electric appliances, barbed wire, cotton and woolen goods and many other things, which served to show the increased cost of living to the farmer. At the same time farm products are gradually taking a beating, which is fairly well known in our own valley where producers of soft fruits and vegetables, particularly tomatoes are facing a tough time.

The minister of agriculture gave a spirited reply claiming that Canadian farmers are better off today than they have ever been in the history of Canada, quoting from the bureau of statistics. Mr. Fair, to prove his point emphasized the struggle going on now in Washington regarding the international wheat agreement where the exporters have united to command a price of $2.10 a bushel while the importers are only prepared to pay $1.95 a bushel. He stated that regardless of whether or not the agreement was signed, the wheat board must not go out of business because in his opinion the board is the last hope of the wheat farmer.

Mr. Gardiner pointed out that the British government informed the Canadian government in 1947 that they did not want any of our food products except wheat. Mr. Gardiner said it was not our business whether or not she was going to take food other than that we did not like it. When England said no, we said, all right, we would try to develop markets which will take care of any difficulties we experience as a result of the fact that Britain is not going to take that kind of food from us.

Mr. Gardiner referred particularly to bacon, cheese and apples. He followed with an outline of what the government had done to assist in finding a market elsewhere for these commodities.

While the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. R. A. Butler was in Ottawa, many of us had an opportunity of meeting him and discussing matters affecting both countries. I, naturally, discussed with him the hope of renewing our apple sales to the British Isles. He was very sympathetic and expressed the hope that arrangement will soon be made whereby exchange of British goods for Canadian goods will be possible.

Other Opinions

GOVERNMENT SHOULD HAVE WITHDRAWN PRO-REC FUNDS

The squabble that has arisen over slashing of the provincial estimates for the Pro-Rec organization furnishes a perfect illustration of the difficulties governments encounter when they depart from their ordinary sphere of operations.

Pro-Rec was organized in the depression years with the laudable purpose of providing organized and healthful recreation for unemployed whose physical and mental condition was not good. The scheme was part and parcel of the first hesitant, groping efforts of governments, provincial and federal, to cope with the human side of an international calamity they were ill prepared to meet.

From those beginnings, the movement spread first to youngsters and later as a catch-all organization designed to promote athletics and gymnastics, even for adults suffering from middle aged spread and housewives' knee.

The original purpose of Pro-Rec has been lost from long view long since. The need it originally met has disappeared, and yet the expense to the taxpayers went merrily on.

In dealing with this situation, the Provincial government made one mistake. It should have wiped the slate clean. Instead it tried a middle course and, of course, those benefiting from jobs and from having their hall rentals paid are howling.

The proper place to teach gymnastics at public expense is in the schools and today most of these institutions are equipped, as in Vernon, with splendid facilities and competent instructors.—Vernon News.

"CONTROVERSIAL"

A strange request has gone out to American book publishers. A letter from the State Department asks them to certify that books they submit for export under the United States information program are not written by "Communists, fellow travellers or persons who might be considered controversial."

Considered controversial by whom? And why? What about "noncontroversial" books by "controversial authors"? What about "controversy" itself?

Is not controversy in one sense the lifeblood of democracy—that free competition of ideas which differentiates a living, growing, many-sided society from the rigid orthodoxy of the totalitarian police state?

Are readers abroad who turn to the libraries of American information centres likely to be much impressed by a selection of books considered "safe" by the most timid, conventional standards of orthodoxy? Or are they likely to be more impressed by the splendid vitality and variety, the stimulus and challenge, of books that mirror the wide-ranging views and the fruitful clash of ideas to be found only in a free society?

Of course, the State Department's purpose to eliminate genuinely subversive books from official circulation abroad is wholly commendable; it is the loose wording of the ban that rings alarm bells.

If American information programs avoid all "controversial" books and authors, they will avoid the stuff of which the town meeting, the open forum, the democratic debate is made. They will avoid the very element that can most unmistakably demonstrate to critics and doubters abroad the difference between American freedom of mind and police-state thought control.—Christian Science Monitor.

Liberals Meet To Plan Campaign

There was an enthusiastic meeting in Kelowna Tuesday night of the South Okanagan Liberal Association which resolved, unanimously, to strenuously contest the forthcoming provincial election.

A full slate of delegates was chosen to represent the riding at the April 8 convention at Vancouver, and the nominating convention set for April 22 at Kelowna.

Indignation was expressed at "the failure of the Bennett government to implement election promises," "sell-out the labor relations board" and "playing politics with hospital insurance."

The meeting gave every indication of being ready to come out fighting.

Harvey Wilson, president of the Summerland Liberal Assn. J. Trippe, former Liberal MLA in Saskatchewan, now resident of Summerland, and Walter M. Wright secretary of the Liberal Association, all attended. These three along with William Ritchie were named convention delegates from Summerland.

At the close of the business meeting, Mr. Trippe addressed the delegates and complimented them on the excellent businesslike way in which they had attended to the matters in hand.

Guides Banquet Date Changed To May 20

The mother-and-daughter banquet of the Guides has been moved to May 20, following a decision reached at the meeting of the Local Association on Thursday, March 26.

The divisional meeting is to be in Allenby on April 18, when Mrs. C. Reinertson will be the delegate and will be accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Durick, Mrs. A. R. Dunsdon, the president and Mrs. Norman Reid, Brown Owl.

Mrs. Reid reported for the Brownies and said that the Golden Hand testing centre had been most successful, and that the division commissioner, Mrs. A. E. Titchmarsh was pleased with the results.

Repeat Performances Draw Large Houses

Summerland Singers' and Players' Club presented the Gilbert and Sullivan musical comedy, Princess Ida, in Kelowna on Wednesday evening, March 25, in the hall of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, when it was well-attended and well-received. It was sponsored by the Anglican Young People's Drama Club.

The sponsoring group served refreshments following the production and Ven. Archdeacon D. S. Catchpole spoke in appreciation of the splendid work of the Summerland society.

On Friday, March 27, the show was produced in Penticton in the high school auditorium with between four and five hundred present, and it was given the same enthusiastic hearing.

HERE FROM ROSSLAND
 Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Powell of Rossland were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Chadburn one evening last week, and attended the Penticton performance of the Singers' and Players' Club in Princess Ida. Mrs. Powell is a member of the Rossland dramatic group which rented the Summerland Mikado costumes, and plays Katsushaw in the show.

RECIPE HINTS

Baked Spareribs with sauerkraut that's been peppered up with onions, apples and seasoning is an old-time favorite.

BAKED SPARERIBS WITH SAUERKRAUT
 Two sides spareribs, salt, pepper, 1 large can sauerkraut, 1 small onion, 1 apple, 3 cloves, ½ tsp. caraway seed, 3 tbsps. brown sugar.

Cut spareribs into serving size pieces. Put a layer of ribs in the bottom of a large roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Combine kraut with chopped onion, chopped apple, cloves, caraway seed and brown sugar. Cover ribs with kraut mixture, then top with rest of ribs. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Add a little water if sauerkraut seems dry. Cover pan and bake in a 325 degrees F. oven for 1 hour. Uncover and cook another half hour. Serves 4.

Prospects Good . . . .

Growing Season Well Ahead; But Danger of Frost Not Past

By ALEC WATT, District Horticulturist
 The past winter has been one of the mildest for many years. The very light snow fall has left the lightersoils very dry below the first foot.

Orchard trees have passed the winter in good condition. Owing to the light snow cover there was little tree damage from mice. The lack of snow or of frost in the ground caused fruit trees to break dormancy very early. Fortunately, cooler temperatures during the latter half of March have checked this rapid development somewhat. However, the season now appears to be about two weeks earlier than the average of the past six years. This earliness is believed to apply all through the Pacific north west.

So far as can be said at this early date, crop prospects look good for the 1953 season. The older apricot trees, particularly in the cannery varieties, have a lighter showing of fruit buds. Nevertheless, younger trees are well covered with blossom buds. Peaches have a heavy showing of buds and so do Bartlett pears. In apples, the crop prospects are again good despite the moderately heavy set which occurred last year. It should be remembered that a sudden severe frost such as happened in 1951 could occur again and could change

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

1st Summerland Troop
 At Tuesday night's meeting there were only 3 boys absent. A good game of hares and hounds was played out-side bringing in points for all patrols. The patrol competition ended with Eagles leading with 679 points, Buffaloes 649, and Hawks 554. The Eagles were presented with a box of chocolates, which when divided netted each boy five tooth destroyers.

The next competition will start next meeting, April 14, since there will be no meeting during the Easter holidays.

Reserve Saturday, April 18 for Appledays—full uniforms is a must for selling apples.

Christmas trees are expected at anytime so be prepared to turn out to plant trees on short notice. None of you will want to miss being in on this deal.

Duty patrol next meeting, April 14—Eagles—D.M.M.

1st Summerland Pack
 Four Brownies passed their Collector's badge test on Tuesday. They are Linda Betuzzi, Louise Shannon, Phyllis Young and Gay Greer. We wish to thank Mr. Stent who tested these Brownies.

At the last meeting before the Easter vacation, we practised our ball-throwing and skipping and learned the third circle in semaphore. The Pack sang a new song, "Six Little Ducks".

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, April 14. Be sure to bring along your Smiles and Fairy Gold, Brownies.—Brown Owl.

New Volumes Added To Library Shelves

A supply of new books including fiction and non-fiction were this week added to the shelves at the Summerland library. Included in the new volumes are:

- Non-Fiction
 Vagabonding Under Sail, Crealock; Sand in my Shoes, Ripley; Whistler, Jeketh Pearson; Tito's Yugoslavia, Newman; His Majesty's Tower of London, Carreet-James.
Fiction

TO SALMON ARM

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Drake and their family, former residents of Hospital Hill, have moved to Salmon Arm. The house they occupied, which is known as the Bank House, has been purchased by W. Gillard.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Locke and their children of Kelowna spent last week-end visiting at the home of Mrs. Locke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright.

FRED SCHUMANN SAYS:

Let Life Insurance Pay the Bills

The debts a man leaves behind him when he dies — hospital, doctor, funeral, taxes — can often wipe out entirely his widow's slender cash resources. A well-balanced Life Insurance program provides immediate cash to satisfy these first claims against your estate. Let me show you our special "Security Graph" service, which will help you estimate how much should be provided for this purpose.

Representing
THE MANUFACTURERS' INSURANCE LIFE COMPANY

HOW much have automobile insurance rates increased?

- In relation to other car costs they've gone down. Each $100 of insurance carried takes a smaller portion of the motorist's dollar than ever before.
- But cars are more expensive. You can't insure the $2,400 car of today as cheaply as the $850 car of 1939.
- So, in dollars, how much have auto rates gone up? An average of 30% for Public Liability and Property Damage. An average of 60% for full coverage.

WHAT affects the cost of automobile insurance?

- The number of accidents
- The average cost of accidents
- The costs of doing business
- The profit or loss of the insurance company

WHY have rates gone up in dollar cost?

● Because accident rates have been soaring. Today one person is killed every four hours in Canada — one person is injured every fifteen minutes — a fender is smashed every two minutes.

THEN HOW have insurance companies kept rates from going much higher?

- By cutting operating costs. Overhead is higher but operating costs per vehicle have been slashed.
- By losing money. Auto insurance companies paid out $65,000,000 in claims last year. They lost $8,300,000 doing it.

THE REMEDY

- Reduce accidents. When the accident rate goes down — unless the cost of each accident goes 'way up' — insurance rates will go down too. Competition makes that certain.

REMEMBER —
 The accident that doesn't happen never costs anybody a dime.

Prizes for School Reading Clubs Presented by Children's Librarian

Miss Eva Webb, the children's librarian, of the Okanagan Regional Library headquarters, Kelowna, came to Summerland on Monday morning, March 30, to present the prizes to the two reading clubs in the MacDonald School.

These clubs have been in operation for several years, and from Christmas until Eastertime, approximately a period of three months, students in the two grades 5, compete in reading.

Records are kept of the titles of the books read, and a commentary on each given by the pupil after he or she finishes a book.

The club in Mrs. B. A. Tingley's room is called the osy Rangers, and prize-winners were Grace Johnson, Tommy Milne and George Guernsey.

In Mr. Farynuk's class those winning prizes were Louise Shannon, Irene Pennington and Kenneth Pushkarenko.

Miss Webb, who is also the Story Lady who tells exciting children's stories over a twice-weekly radio program, delighted the boys and girls by telling them an amusing story, before giving out the prizes.

Provincial Cancer Society Elects Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony to Executive

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony was chosen first vice-president of the B.C. division of the Canadian Cancer Society at the annual meeting held in Hotel Vancouver, Vancouver, on Tuesday, March 24.

Mrs. F. M. Ross, CBE, succeeds R. Bruce Buckerfield as president, the first woman to be appointed president of the B.C. division. Dr. W. H. White, Penticton, was made a director, representing the south Okanagan, a position formerly held by Mrs. O'Mahony.

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony

This year Summerland's Cancer Campaign chairman is G. Hallquist.

Mr. Buckerfield was chairman for the last six years during the great expansion of the society, and in addressing the meeting said, "The year 1952 has been a great one in the fight to control cancer. It has seen the opening of the $730,000 British Columbia Cancer Institute, the installation there of the third Cobalt-60 beam therapy unit in the world, the expansion of the Victoria Cancer Clinic for therapeutic treatment, the establishment of new units at Campbell River, Richmond, Ladner, Cloverdale, Ashcroft, Fort St. John, Dawson Creek and Burns Lake, and the

Bride-Elect Honored At Pretty Shower

Gernet Valley neighbors met at the home of Mrs. G. Gunnarson on Thursday evening, March 26, to honor Miss Sybil Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, whose marriage to E. Ennis of Salmon Arm takes place on Tuesday, April 7.

Mrs. Gunnarson and Mrs. H. H. Dunsdon presented the bride-to-be with a beautifully decorated basket filled with lovely gifts.

Invited were Mrs. Smith, mother of the guest-of-honor, and Mrs. C. Stump, her sister, Mrs. Adam Felker, Mrs. Jack Felker, Mrs. Adam Lelke, Mrs. V. Hockley, Mrs. Jack Bentley, Mrs. M. Greenslade, Mrs. George Dunsdon, Mrs. Steve Dunsdon, Mrs. C. B. Gidlow, Mrs. D. Taylor, Mrs. C. D. J. Taylor, Mrs. John Khalembach, Mrs. Reg Kersey, Mrs. R. and Mrs. Len Shannon, Mrs. Joe Burnell and Mrs. J. Meadows of Trout Creek.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were Mrs. James Dunsdon, Sr., Mrs. V. Brawner, Mrs. N. Blagborne, Mrs. Dickinson and Mrs. Albert Dickinson.

A pleasant evening was spent in contests after the gifts were opened and displayed.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. H. Dunsdon, Mrs. Jack Bentley, Mrs. D. J. Taylor and Mrs. Reg Kersey.

HOME AGAIN

Mrs. D. L. Milne returned on Sunday after spending the winter months in California.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mann have returned from a short holiday in Vancouver.

Miss Rae Armour has returned from Winnipeg where she enjoyed a three weeks' holiday.

Mrs. W. D. Laidlaw is home again after a three-months' trip to Ontario.

Mrs. I. Schwass came home on Sunday evening after spending the winter months visiting at the homes of her sons in Trill and in Lethbridge.

Mrs. Cyril Stent is being welcomed home from the coast, and her many friends are pleased to know that her health is greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Sharpe and Mr. J. R. Sharpe have returned after spending almost a year in Victoria. They are preparing Sharpe's Auto Court for the season and expect to be opening it this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith with Janie and Alan are on a motor trip to Winnipeg.

Harvey Wilson, W. R. Powell, E. V. Tripp and W. M. Wright were among those who attended the Liberal Association meeting at Kelowna on Tuesday evening.

Reports Presented To Auxiliary Council

The South Okanagan and Similkameen zone council of the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary met in the Legion Annex on Sunday afternoon, March 29.

President Anderson of Copper Mountain presided over the meeting which was attended by 15 delegates and 29 members. Reports were read from the various branches and interesting discussion took place.

Reference was made by the president to the sudden passing of Dr. R. C. Palmer, a legionnaire, who was so well-known and respected throughout the south Okanagan zone.

Following the meeting, the Legion zone council joined the Ladies' Auxiliary for refreshments served by members of the local branch.

VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shaw of Quebec are visitors at the home of Mrs. Shaw's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Newton. It is 43 years since Mrs. Shaw saw her brother, Mr. Newton, and the re-union has been greatly enjoyed. This week the Shaws are on a trip to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Grant and their children, Fraser and Linda, were week-end guests from San Anselmo, Calif. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnston. They are visiting in Kelowna this week where they formerly lived, and will be back to Summerland before returning to the southern state.

Miss Irene Stewart, PHN, will be away from April 2-13 to attend the public health annual convention. During her absence the services of Mrs. Cresswell, PHN, Kelowna, will be available in emergencies.

District Council

magazines from the U.S. come into the country carrying unrestricted advertising on behalf of the producers in that country. Opinion was, the speaker said, that if nothing could be done to control the U.S. advertising, then Canadian growers should be allowed the same freedom of expression.

Tariff protection was a subject, he said, that entered into a generous portion of the discussion and he said the seriousness of the imported canned fruit competition was impressed upon the government representatives.

One resolution, he said, urged the government to set standards for import containers to make them conform to the standards used by Canadian packers for the same product.

Mr. Garrish paid tribute to the men who have attended the council sessions as representatives of B.C. growers and stressed the importance of having as council representatives "men who know the score, who know background and recognize fine points of recommendations put to the council."

To give better control over future meetings, the district council approved a resolution of the Summerland local that attendance at the meetings be restricted to delegates and visitors on invitation or on the recommendation of local chairmen.

adian commodities on a much greater scale will take place. Purchase of fruit is one subject to which he is giving attention. One direct result of these talks with the minister in Ottawa has been the purchase of $4,250,000 worth of B.C. canned salmon, and this will be a great help to the packers and fishermen of our province who had a carry over of some 500,000 cases for which they had no market.

Mr. Garson, the minister of justice, is having a rough ride in trying to get his emergency powers bill adopted by the house. All members of opposition parties challenge him to prove the need for such powers, claiming that anything that could be done under the proposed act can be accomplished by acts that are already on the statute book. Last year and the year before, we in the CCF group supported this bill—which has been renewed annually up to now—on the grounds that under it, the government could have exercised powers to control rents and the rising cost of living and other matters that affected the welfare of the people during the economic emergency that we felt existed. The government however, did not exercise these powers to that end merely using them as a convenience to pass certain orders in council.

Mr. Garson charged a certain section of the press and some members of parliament as deliberately misrepresenting the existing laws of Canada. Mr. Garson took particular exception to an article that appeared in Toronto "Saturday Night". He said it was in error when it stated the emergency powers act gave the government the right to pass secret orders which could interfere with personal liberties. He claimed that such editorials as this should not be printed as they reflected scoundrelously on the laws of our country.

Win or Lose

By Jack Dunham.

Summerland has always been the home of many great achievements in the world of sports, but the one that will live on when others have died will be the first years accomplishments of the Summerland Curling Club.

For over a year this ice-house of the broom and stone has been a hub of activity in the winter months and only slowed down slightly last year when the ice melted now and then. Even at that they curled as long as there wasn't too much water on it.

This year, with the advent of artificial ice, more "would be curlers" streamed into the arena to take a crack at the great game and surprisingly enough some of them turned into excellent curlers. As the season progressed some of the old hands, such as Bill Croft, Herb Lemke, Dick Topping, Ernie Coughlin, to mention a few, picked up rinks and journeyed to a couple of the big provincial spiels.

As we all know, the rink of Bill Croft, Herb Lemke, Bill Hopkins and Dick Topping came within an ace of representing B.C. at Sudbury in the Dominion championships. This in itself is enough to crow about. Couple this fact along with Bill Croft winning the Grand Challenge Trophy at Kamloops and we can really start popping buttons. Bill had some help of course from Herb Lemke, Ray Fredrickson and Bob Cranna.

Yes, this has indeed been a year to remember for the curlers and my guess is that next year we will find twice as many local rinks taking part in these big bonspiels. After the showing the Summerland lads made here last weekend there should be no doubt left in their minds that they will soon be on par with any of the other top rinks and clubs in B.C.

Will they repeat . . . ?

The hockey picture is nearing its final stages and the Summerland club is giving its all to again cop the Pentiction Herald Trophy, emblematic of Commercial league supremacy.

The odds seem to be on the locals in the finals against the Garagemen, who, by the way, have practically come out of obscurity to gain a place for themselves in the finals for the league title. If coach Rocky Richardson can get back in uniform for Sundays contest it may mean the difference between a win or loss for the locals. Rocky suffered a rib injury while at work last week.

These games at the Pentiction Arena are proving to be very popular with the fans. They are fast and hard-fought games and typical of amateur play-off hockey anywhere. Give the boys the support they deserve by travelling to Pentiction on Sunday for this first game of the playoff finals. Game-time 1:30 p.m.

Where's the ball team . . . ?

On Sunday, April 19, the Summerland Macs baseball team opens here against Vernon.

Pentiction, Vernon, Oliver and probably others have already held practices to start ironing out the kinks of the winter lay off.

To date the Summerland baseball club have done absolutely nothing to even give us the impression that they are even organized. This, they will shout, is because hockey is still in the spotlight. I must, of course, agree with this but with less than three weeks to go before the first game, something will have to be done quick, mighty quick.

Lets take a look at how the team will probably line up. Unless some new talent arrives the pitching staff will probably centre around Wally Day and Don Cristante who will likely move up from junior ranks this year along with Al Hooker. The catching department is rather touchy right now as Frank Metcalf has made it known that he may not be available this year; however if Rocky Richardson is around he will probably fill this spot.

Lefty Gould will be back at first with Fred Kato holding down the key-stone and Chuck Aikin at third. If Al Hooker does move up to senior, then he will be rounding out the infield at short where he filled in for a couple of games last year.

The outfield will find George Taylor, the Macs top hitter, again cavorting around centre field. Ernie Rucks and Daryl Weitzel with possibly Frank Karoda will fill up the outfield slots.

Finding a manager for the boys seems to be the trouble at this time, plus a good coach. In my opinion its time someone smartened up to the fact that a good peppery playing coach is worth ten bench coaches. With a smart manager, a hustling coach and, nine ball players ready to go on the 19th will be up with the rest of the valley teams from the start. Lets get cracking fellas. If you don't think you can play hockey and baseball at the same time then its about time you learned.

I have just been informed that there is to be a practice at the ball park this Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Lets see a good turnout, and any new comers to town that are interested in playing ball are also urged to get out to the practice.

MAURICE RICHARD has been named the National Hockey League's most colorful player in a pool conducted among coaches, sports writers and sportscasters.

Meet Garagemen Sunday . . .

Summerland Earns Berth In Finals With Overtime Victory Over Packers

Summerland went into the third period of the Commercial loop playoff Sunday afternoon with a two-goal deficit but poured on coal to even up the tally before the whistle and then copped a berth in the finals when Furuya with an assist from Eyre popped in the winning counter at 4:66 of the extra stanza.

Final score was 6-5 to edge Packers from the series and the local pocksters will now meet the Garagemen in a two-of-three series for the league title. First game will be played Sunday afternoon in Pentiction at 1:30 o'clock.

Summerland was at a disadvantage Sunday, with their playing coach and top goal-maker, Rocky Richardson missing from the lineup. Also absent was Sam Imioishi. The locals played fast and hard to make up for the handicap and earned their narrow victory.

Pentiction led off with two goals in the first period while Summerland remained scoreless. In the second, the locals started off a parade of six goals for the period with Packers taking the next. Two Summerland goals evened the score but Packers pulled out two ahead before the end of the period. Locals registered the only two counters of the third period to again even the score and then snatched victory with their overtime marker.

Local Rinks Dominate First Annual Bonspiel At Summerland Arena

The Summerland rink of Bill Croft, Dr. W. H. E. Munn, Earl Inglis and Val Tripple Sunday night took an 11-7 win from the Summerland Hackman quartet to cop the Occidental Fruit trophy as winners in the "A" event in the first open bonspiel staged here.

The three-day event saw some outstanding curling and many of the matches were won or lost with the final rock. The "A" event final reached a tense climax with Croft rink leading three points coming home and Hackman in position to pick up four points with his final rock. He was wide and gave up another point to the winners to give them an edge of four. Curling with Hackman were Gerry Hallquist, Tom McKay and Francis Steuart.

Although more than half the 32 competing rinks were from outside points, only the "B" Event was won by a visiting rink. That was taken by the Topping rink from Oliver. "C" event top honors went to the Young rink of Summerland, which was skipped through the "C" event by Jack McNeill. This rink had brothers Earle and Doney Wilson to complete their number.

The bonspiel was reported an unqualified success both by the committee and those taking part and curling club members are already looking forward to staging the com-

Shuttle Tournament Set For April 17-18

Summerland for the first time will be host for an Okanagan Valley table tennis tournament on April 18 and 19 and a large number of entries are expected for the events being drawn up.

Registrar for entries is Miss D. MacLeod and championship competition will be held for singles, doubles and mixed doubles.

The tournament is to be held in the badminton hall in West Summerland.

RINK MEETING

General meeting of the Summerland Rink Association has been called for 8 o'clock on April 10. The meeting is to be in the IOOF hall and all members have been urged to attend to discuss the problems of continued rink operation.

Behind the 8-Ball

By Gord Crockett

Come Judgement Day, there is one member of the banking fraternity who is going to get one awful raking over if he has to pay in full for the many long, frustrating hours he has inflicted on mankind. He is that arch-sadist who invented the coin wrapper—a device which will stand for all time as the outstanding example of man's inhumanity toward man.

Often while filling my fountain pen I have noticed bank clerks deftly rolling stacks of coins in these strips of paper and often as I thought I might one day become a business man I pictured myself counting out piles of coins into stacks and with a bored air giving a couple of dextrous rolls and twists with a coin wrapper and tossing the resulting compact cylinder of money to one side with a satisfying thud.

With carrier boys paying up in pennies and nickles, I have been given a more generous opportunity to practice this skill than ever I had hoped for. Fine, except that there's a trick to it. Only members of the banking profession, it seems, can use coin wrappers with any degrees of success. The reason for this, although I can't prove it yet, is that bank clerks have three hands. I can't prove it because they are always very careful to have only two showing anytime anybody is around but some day I'm going to catch one of them unawares.

For the benefit of any who have never had 50 pennies, 50 dimes or 40 nickles, when presenting them at the bank, you are expected to have them tightly rolled in a piece of paper about three and one-half inches wide by about seven inches long.

To accomplish this, the first move, of course, is to count out the required number of coins. My system for this is to take a handful, count them three times, take an average of the three answers and then add or deduct enough to bring it out to the desired number. The bank staff have objected to the method but until they suggest a better way, that's the way I do it.

Next move is to lay the stack of coins on its side on the paper. Then you gather up all those that fall on the floor in the process. Next, hold the coins with one hand at one end and the other hand at the opposite end and roll the paper around them—that is if you've got anything left to roll with. If you ever reach the stage of getting the coins rolled up without the ones on either end all falling on their sides, you fold over the ends and the job is completed.

Completed, that is, all but for one thing. The paper has a set of holes and the job must be done so that the combination of holes match up to make peep holes, so you unroll them and start over to see if you can do it with the holes matching.

One method I have found fairly successful, but slow, is to get a round piece of wood the size of the coin to be wrapped and roll the wrapper into a tube then slip it off and poke the coins in one at a time.

Last week after losing a 15-round decision to one of these tormentors, I decided to propose a compromise to the bank teller. I asked him if it would be all right if I just used little paper bags instead. He could have been more tactful. He just gave me a cold look and said "We of the bank staff have been under the impression that is what you have been doing all along."

If they're going to be narky about it, I'll just hand them over tied in the corner of my handkerchief the way I have them in my pocket.

Benney's Fiery Pace In Fire Campaign Speech

Firing the opening salvo in the South Okanagan provincial election campaign, Premier W. A. C. Bennett had to go through a repeat performance Tuesday night when the Kelowna Empress Theatre was unable to accommodate the audience in one sitting. About 50 waited for the second performance to hear a streamlined version of charges of waste, extravagance and chaos he found in government administration when he took office eight months ago. His speech, which can be regarded as setting the pace for the election, gave indication of a fiery campaign ahead.

Mr. Bennett told his listeners of the proposed legislation he had introduced at the session but which was forestalled by "the veto voice of Victoria" because, he stated, the Social Credit government during eight months in office had effected savings of $5½ million and the opposition were afraid of the record, the government would establish if permitted to remain in power any longer.

The legislation he referred to was the proposed drop in car license fees, elimination of three per cent tax from meals under one dollar and the "Rolson Formula" for meeting education costs.

On the contentious "Rolson Formula" which brought about the defeat of the government, he said, "We are proud of it and would be prepared to fight the election on this issue alone." On this subject he said, "There is no patent medicine cure for meeting education costs and we tried to face the problem on a sound business-like basis." He quoted statistics to show how school districts would benefit from the proposed formula and stated over 75 per cent of the districts would get more and none would receive less. Using Kelowna as an example, he said that district had lost $37,000 by the defeat of the measure.

The new formula on meeting education costs was designed, he said, to equalize the burden of expense and place the financing on a continuing sound basis. Sales tax, he said, can not be regarded as a secure means of income because the bulk of payments are coming from big capital expansion projects such as that at Kitimat and when these projects are completed the sales tax income will collapse.

W. A. C. BENNETT

'Worst Piece of Road in the Whole Province'

Speaking of the $41 million roads and public works projects slated for this year, the premier referred to the stretch of road from Summerland to Peachland and described it as "the worst piece of road in the whole province" and said start on rebuilding it will be made this year "and we won't be satisfied until it is completed." The program, he described as "the greatest in the history of the province and every cent of the $41 million is being paid out of current revenue."

Mr. Bennett said the Social Credit government during eight years had reduced the net debt by $21 million which represented a saving to the province of $1½ million a year and next year the saving in interest and debt reduction will be $2¼ million.

The speaker said when he assumed office he found secret orders-in-council passed by the previous administration and charged CCF Leader Harold Winch with failing in his responsibility as leader of the opposition in not being aware of these orders. Mr. Winch's excuse that he could not be aware of them if they were secret was not valid, said Mr. Bennett, because all orders-in-council are numbered and he should have detected the fact that he was not receiving a complete sequence of numbers. Since the Secord government took over, he said, all orders-in-council have been open to the newspapers and the public. He said that he found special lists of contractors who could tender on government supplies and this system, he said, has been changed so that anyone can tender on work for the government and seven days after acceptance the successful tender in open for inspection.

Hints 'Further Great Benefits' from BCHIS

Referring to hospital insurance, the premier hinted of "further great benefits" soon to be added but stated he was not at liberty to announce them yet. Reduction in premiums, he stated, have cut income by $2½ million and of the total cost of BCHIS this year will be $25 million with $15 million coming from premiums. The balance, he said, will be paid from consolidated revenue which means that persons dodging premiums are still paying 40 per cent of the cost. There are more people paying into BCHIS now than ever before, he said, and stated the surplus has been increased in eight months to $8 million and it is in better shape than ever.

He said when the Secord government took over they found chaos in government institutions and charged Okalla prison was being run by the prisoners under the "trustee" system and the greatest dope ring in the province was operating there. This, he said, has been stopped and new construction will further correct the situation at Okalla, as well as at Essondale and at the Boys' Industrial home.

He leveled sharp criticism at the way in which the PGE had been managed and said it was the intention of the government to extend this line into Vancouver and into the Peace River district to open up the interior. In doing this, he said, the federal government will be called upon to shoulder a share of the cost since they too will profit generously from opening additional natural resources.

Chairman of the meeting was Lloyd Miller of Summerland, president of the South Okanagan Social Credit league. Robt. Alstead of Summerland also participated in the program with two vocal solos "The Hills of Home" and "Rolling down to Rio". He was accompanied by Mrs. C. G. Woodbridge.

Legion Branch Members To Parade In Welcome For Governor-General

Members of Summerland Branch Canadian Legion last night laid plans for welcoming Governor-General Vincent Massey when he visits Summerland on May 15 and members were asked to parade at Memorial park on that day wearing

Hospital Patients Get Easter Favors

True to their tradition of thinking of the patients in the Summerland General hospital the members of the Hospital Auxiliary arranged to have a flower on each breakfast tray on Easter Sunday morning, and an Easter favor, in this case, a small Easter bunny, to bring Easter greetings.

These pleasant surprises were greatly appreciated by those receiving them, and were arranged by the president of the auxiliary, Mrs. C. G. Woodbridge, assisted by Mrs. Norris Laidlaw.

Mac's Former Pals At Eastern Station

In a letter to his mother, Mrs. Fred Carston, Peach Valley, AC2 Leone Carston, tells of a "little Summerland" in Camp Borden, with seven former Summerland lads in training there. They are Jimmie, Nicholson, Johnson, Desllets, Walker, Thompson, Carston.

The meeting approved a donation of $25 to the Legion scholarship fund and it was noted that in the past, two Summerland students have been awarded this scholarship.

Two new members accepted into the branch were H. J. Penkoth and W. C. Gallon. Welcomed as a guest was A. N. Shaw of Auclair, P.Q.

D. McIntosh reported on the father-and-son banquet for Scouts and Cubs and said plans are now being finalized for the use of the slopes of Giant's Head for their Christmas tree growing project and said the forestry department has offered to give supervision to the project.

It was noted that during the period of mourning for Queen Mary that Union Jacks in some instances were flown upside down instead of at halfmast and it was suggested that some general information be made known regarding proper method of flying flags.

Name G. Laidlaw AOTS President

Members of AOTS at their annual meeting chose G. A. Laidlaw as new president and heard reports of a successful year of operation. Particular success was reported in the recent membership drive which gave a generous boost to their numbers.

Other officers elected were Walter Charles as vice-president, J. Duguid, secretary and Robert Hutton, treasurer.

The entertainment program for the evening was showing of films, one on a Stanley Cup game and the other "The King's Man" film on Africa.

Projects for the coming year were under discussion and emphasis again will be on boys' work with a track meet scheduled for May and the annual hobby show for June. Plans for the variety concert scheduled for this month were discussed and reports showed arrangements to be shaping up well for a full program.

Next meeting will be April 28 when a film on the World Series will be shown.

Former Resident Passes In Penticton

The death occurred in the Penticton hospital last week of Mrs. Cecil Cope, of Osoyoos, who lived many years in Summerland, having come to British Columbia from England over forty years ago.

The late Mrs. Cope who was eighty-one years of age, was visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Boul, in Keremeos, when she became ill, and was taken to the Penticton hospital where she lived only a short time.

In her early days in Summerland she took an active interest in the work of the Operatic Society, in which her first husband, the late Jack Clements, was a singer. She was a busy member of the Summerland Hospital Auxiliary, too, for a number of years.

The Clements family lived on Paradise Flat and later in Peach Orchard.

She is survived by her husband, Cecil Cope, and by her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Boul. A son, A. J. Clements, was killed overseas in World War II. Four grandchildren survive, Patricia, Beverley, and Jack Boul, and Kenneth Clements.

The late Mrs. Cope was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star and of the Rebekah lodge.

Funeral services were conducted on Saturday afternoon, April 4, in the Oliver Anglican church, Rev. G. T. Pattison officiating. Interment was in Oliver cemetery with graveside service conducted by the Rebekah lodge.

Urge Stiffer Penalty For Drunken Driving

Endorsation of a stiffer penalty for reckless and drunken driving took the form of a resolution sent to the provincial annual meeting of the P-TA being held at North Vancouver this week, from the business meeting of the Summerland P-TA held following a musical program on Thursday, April 2.

There was considerable discussion resulting in formation of the resolution which was passed unanimously.

Mrs. R. B. Barclay Rites Held Today

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. Agnes Carr Barclay, a resident of this district for the past four years, who passed away April 6 in the Summerland General hospital. She was the wife of Robert B. Barclay. Mrs. Barclay was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and was in her 70th year. She came to Canada 42 years ago and has lived in this province for the last 40 years.

Funeral rites were conducted by Rev. H. R. Whitmore and interment was in Peach Orchard cemetery. Final arrangements were under direction of Roselawn Funeral Home.

Local Shuttle Stars Away To Tournament

Among those competing in the recent Kootenay badminton championships at Nelson were Summerland shuttle stars Dave Waddell and Miss Dorothy MacLeod. The pair entered the meet in company with Kelowna and Penticton players. Neither of the local players were successful at the meet.

Following the tourney, Dave Waddell attended the meeting of West and East Kootenay Badminton Association as delegate from Summerland.

Final rites are to be held in Penticton.

Hope for Artificial Ice Plant Lies in Rink Meeting Friday

Action on installation of an artificial ice plant in the Summerland arena is expected to grow out of a meeting called for Friday night in the IOOF Hall. The meeting will start at 8 o'clock.

Need for artificial ice was clearly pointed out this past winter when all efforts to form a sheet of ice were foiled by mild weather and the arena was not used once.

President George Stoll has appealed for a large turnout at the meeting tomorrow, night to give support to proposals of the committee for installation of artificial ice.

Mr. Stoll recently had an opportunity to purchase an artificial plant at a very reasonable price and rather than miss the opportunity to obtain this equipment at a great saving, personally made the purchase in the hope some means will be found to have the rink acquire it. With this equipment it will be possible to install an ice plant at a cost of about $18,000—compared to regular cost of about $40,000.

Mr. Stoll pointed out that the rink can only continue to be a liability until artificial ice is installed and revenue-producing activities can be scheduled without being dependent upon the weather.

He urged that all rink association members, bond holders, those who assisted in the construction of the rink and all those interested in the welfare of youngsters of the district and ice sports be present at the meeting to lend support to association proposals.

Air-Crash Victim Well-Known Here

Seriously injured in a plane crash this week in Germany was Air Vice-Marshal Hugh Campbell, RCAF, a frequent visitor to Summerland. The accident occurred at Weisbaden, Germany, and AVM Campbell is reported to have suffered a fractured leg and spinal injuries.

His wife is the former Helen Sutherland, a former resident of Summerland.

Passing In Alberta Mourned By Son Here

Word has been received here of the passing on April 5 in Camrose, Alta., of Adolphus Spencer Gilbert, father of Roy Gilbert, Summerland.

Mr. Gilbert was in his 77th year and beside the son here leaves one in Penticton, Russell S. Gilbert, one daughter, Mrs. James B. Rhoads in Haney and a brother in Australia.

Final rites are to be held in Penticton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ross of White Rock and their daughter, Miss Helen Ross, who is a nutritionist with the Metropolitan Health Unit in Vancouver, visited Mr. and Mrs. George W. Johnson while here last weekend.

Revision Started On Voters' List

Revision of the provincial voter's list began in South Okanagan riding last week with notices being mailed out to all those persons who did not exercise their franchise at the last election, advising them they must register now or be struck off the list.

Job of bringing the list up to date is being handled from the government office in Kelowna. Government staffers are taking the line that anybody who does not receive a notice can assume they are on the voters' list. Any person whose mailing address has changed since the last election will not, however, receive a card since they are not forwarded by the post office. Such individuals should submit a new registration card. These cards are available at The Review office.

It is the responsibility of the individual to ensure his name is on the voters' list and any person in doubt should submit a registration card.

Appointment of a returning officer for South Okanagan is expected within the next week.

Local Health Nurse To Provincial Meet

Miss Irene Stewart, PHN, is attending the annual institute for Provincial public health workers being held in the ballroom of the Hotel Georgia, Vancouver, which started Tuesday and winds up tomorrow.

Among the 300 people in expected attendance will be members of the provincial health department in Victoria and Vancouver, and field staff members from all health units in the province. An annual occurrence, the institute is designed as a part of the in-service training program for these personnel.

Following an address of welcome to be delivered by the Hon. Eric Martin, minister of health and welfare, the program will officially begin with the opening address by the deputy minister of health, Dr. G. F. Amyot.

Heading the group of some 12 speakers while the institute is in session will be Dr. Hugh Leavell, professor of public health at Harvard University. Dr. Leavell will occupy the main guest speaker's chair this year and will share guest honors with Dr. Donald Galagan who is the regional dental consultant of the U.S. public health.

Included in the intensive, four-day agenda of the institute are talks on public relations, child care in British Columbia, and fluoridation; sectional meetings; field reports; a film showing; a panel discussion on pre-natal care; and a symposium on polio.

Passes In Hospital After Heart Attack

After an illness of about five weeks which followed a heart attack, death of Mrs. Phillip Schindel occurred this morning in Summerland General hospital. She was 57 years of age and a resident of this community for the past six years.

Funeral arrangements, not yet completed, will be under direction of Roselawn Funeral Home.

Confusion In Names Delays Film Showing

Confusion in names between Summerland and West Summerland cheated members of AOTS from seeing a film on the World Series at their last meeting.

The film, was ordered by the Film Council and was expressed from Vancouver with just enough time to arrive here for the meeting—but through error was addressed to Summerland. The time lag in getting express from Lower Town was just enough that the films arrived the morning after the meeting.

This time it ends well. AOTS will see the film at their next meeting.

Still Lots of Frost ...

March Weather Conventions Defied With No Extremes at Start or End

March this year defied the old bromide about "In like a lamb out like a lion" and vice versa, and hovered halfway between the two for both entry and exit. After the extremely mild month preceding, however, orohardists developed new furrows on their brows as the temperature on 19 nights during March dipped to the frost mark.

The weather did hold to one convention and the Ides of March were something to beware when the thermometer hit its lowest point for the month during the early morning of March 15 when it dropped to 22 degrees.

Old Sol gave his attention to the district for 143 hours and helped push fruit growth to about two weeks ahead of last year's season.

Only a half-inch of rain fell during the month and more than half of that amount was recorded on March 11. The balance was accounted for during two light falls.

The mercury reached its highest point on March 24 when it climbed to 63 degrees and on four other days it broke the 60 mark.

Seek Information On Missing Immigrant

Latest list of missing persons issued by the Canadian Red Cross contains the name of a European who was last reported to be in West Summerland. He is 27-year-old Vujadin Tucic who came to Canada from Sibbas, Yugoslavia in January, 1952.

Appeal to the Red Cross for assistance in locating this man was made by Milorad Marjanov.

If any one with information on the location of Vujadin Tucic will contact The Review, it will be transmitted to the Red Cross.

Signifying Nothing

BY RUSTICUS

This is the story of Little Shot, who was not an Indian, as the name I have given him might suggest, but a spoiled white boy whose growth and development I was privileged to watch.

His father had a good job as branch manager of a flourishing business, until depression hit; then the whole business collapsed and Little Shot's father had to doff his white collar with his white collar job and take a position involving rough clothes and considerable manual labor at half his former salary.

He remained quite cheerful outwardly, however, and it was always a pleasure to visit in his home. He was pleasant, polite, and quietly jolly. His wife was pretty and friendly, and remained girlish into middle age. You'd rarely meet nicer people.

But Little Shot was different. He was a pint-sized boy with a pasty hatchet-face who looked and acted like one of the childish horrors in Norris' or Giles' cartoons. He swung cats by the tail, picked live flies to pieces, banged doors, dragged his feet, was rude to visitors, and even at ten or eleven seemed to go out and come in when and as he pleased.

"Now, dear, you shouldn't walk in front of people without saying 'excuse me,'" his mother would reprove in her soft voice, making a little warning face at him.

"You see that you are in by nine o'clock tonight, young fellow, or by golly, you won't sit down for a week. I'm not fooling, either," his father would threaten, sticking his jaw out and grinding his teeth.

If he felt like it, Little Shot might comply; he could be as pleasant as any other youngsters when he wanted to be. But he disregarded warning faces and noisy threats alike when the whim took him; he had learned early that his parents never went beyond words and what harm can mere words do?

Once I slapped his head hard for unbearable insolence, and I suspect it was the first time he had ever felt punishment; he leaped into the air like a startled cat, and his usual scowl was positively ferocious for days.

He was about fifteen then. Still pint-sized, but swaggering around the little town in amazingly good clothes for those times, or roaring around in his father's aging car. He seemed to have first call on both car and money around that home, and I often saw both parents give in, with unavailing protests, to his whining rages. He never seemed to do any work; the nearest he came to it was driving hockey or softball players to and from games—especially the girls.

He wasn't all bad, of course. He could be quite charming, though inclined to be condescending to adults. He was clever enough at school, too, when something interested him; but most of the times lessons were merely something to be endured. He barely scraped through his grades, and repeated two that I know of. It was a thick shell indeed that hid whatever inner core of ambition and agreeableness was there.

When World War II broke out, Little Shot was just old enough to get in, and the glamor of the uniform caught his fancy. At last he's making something of his life, people said, and were thankful, when his father died of a heart attack, that he had seen the boy turn over a new leaf before he passed.

For a few months the army swallowed him; then Little Shot stole an army vehicle for some mad junket, and the army promptly disgorged him. Turned out of the service in disgrace, he got a job in some defense industry, and we had a pitiful letter from his mother hoping he had had his lesson at last.

Next we hear from another source that Little Shot had been caught uttering cheques on which he had forged his mother's signature, and that he was a good prospect for the penitentiary. Somehow he escaped that; probably his mother refused to testify against him, as she always had. He got a job driving an oil truck.

He might have been going straight at last—who knows?—but the oil truck caught fire one day with him in it, and he lived only a few hours after being dragged out of the holocaust.

Some harshly thought it a good thing he died. But surely his was a wasted life. Who was at fault, I often wonder? What could have been done to save him?

Pioneer Days

From Early Files of The Review

Thirty Years Ago, April 12, 1923

B. McDonald, Kelowna, was appointed head of the sales department of the new Associated Growers of British Columbia, and K. W. Kinnard, Vernon, office manager and financial man.

Wm. Johnston was the recipient of a fishing rod, presented by the students of the high school, for the part he played in taking the school basketball team on their trip to coast points. Presentation was made by Reeve J. R. Campbell on behalf of the High School Athletic Association.

St. Andrew's Women's Auxiliary presented Mrs. Adams with a life membership in the WMS from the Methodist section. Presentation was made by Miss J. Sinclair. Later Mrs. Steven gave Miss Sinclair, the president, a fountain pen, as a token of good wishes prior to a trip to the old country.

An order-in-council was approved by the lieutenant-governor, which meant a rebate of taxes on fruit trees to the extent of 50 per cent.

D. P. Ewen was awarded the contract for painting the high school building. He was to give the sides two coats and the roof one, at a cost of $424.50.

Nockaro Nose, a Japanese, was in critical condition at the hospital as the result of a kick from a horse.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd had as their guest, R. Siddall, an old friend, from near Manchester, England.

Mr. Foulkes of Taranakie, New Zealand, a brother-in-law of the late J. L. Vicary, was a guest at the Vicary home.

Twenty-Five Years Ago, April 18, 1923

Dr. Lipssett was elected president of the baseball club; C. N. Macdonald, manager, E. R. Butler, secretary-treasurer; C. E. McCutcheon, treasurer. Plans were being made to purchase a sports ground.

Fruit-growers of the Okanagan were preparing to make a fight for retention of the anti-dumping regulations which were imperilled at Ottawa through action of the government.

The tuneful music of Pinafore was presented by the Operatic Society under the experienced supervision of Mr. Benmore.

G. D. Denny went to Winnipeg to give a lecture on poultry work.

About a hundred friends celebrated Jack Morrow's birthday by a party and dance at Bentley's ranch, Upper Trout Creek.

Among Easter visitors home from attending school at Vernon were Misses V. Solly, E. Theed, and M. Wright.

George Fudge of the staff of the Merritt Herald was home for Easter.

F. W. Grant had purchased the Ekersley lot on account of its proximity to the box factory, and G. Thomas, from England, had taken the Harvey Phinney place.

Taking No Sides . . . the voters can decide issues

WITHIN a matter of a couple of weeks, election talk will again take the fore and people of this province can expect to hear the greatest collection of contradictory statements and conclusions ever thrown at them in an election campaign. To reach a decision before casting a ballot is not going to be easy.

It is the intention of The Review to neither support nor oppose any candidate or party. We believe the newspaper can best perform its service to its readers by giving full and fair coverage in the news columns to all parties and let the voters decide for themselves what is best for the community and the province.

This we believe to be the fairest and most honest service we can provide. We have no crystal ball or magic formula which enables us to understand issues any more clearly than anyone else, but never the less, the printed word has always carried a tremendous amount of influence with the public.

Not a Monument . . . project for whole community

IF Summerland rink had been built as a monument it would this past winter have served at least part of its purpose. But, intended instead solely for functional purposes, outside of the portion used by the curling club, it stood throughout the winter empty and unused with mild weather defying all attempts to form a sheet of ice and so it was next to being a dead loss.

Behind the building of the arena lies a story of outstanding co-operation and unselfish effort on the part of the group of men who spearheaded the construction effort. The contribution to date by those who have taken an active interest in developing the project to its present stage has been tremendous. The time has now come for every member of the community to get into the act and add the finishing touch that will ensure a full season of healthy activity for the youth of the district as well as provide added entertainment for everybody.

The job will not really be complete and the rink revenue-producing until an artificial ice plant is installed in the arena so activities will not be dependent upon the vagaries of the weather.

This past winter a Summerland hockey team took top honors in the Penticton and District Commercial Hockey league. This district had a team of which they could be well proud but because none of the games were played in Summerland, little interest developed in their activities and very few local people even saw this team in action.

It is not fair to expect the same small handful of workers to provide an ice plant as they have the rink. At the present time we have an arena worth in the vicinity of $75,000—erected at a cost of not one cent to the municipality. Normally an artificial ice plant would cost about $40,000 but rink association president George Stoll has personally acquired equipment on the gamble that some arrange-

Mid-Week Message

"Did not our hearts burn within us . . . ?"

(Luke 24:32. R.S.V.) Read Luke 24:30-35.

As Jesus drew near and went with Cleopas and his companion on the road to Emmaus, He asked: "What is this conversation which you are holding with each other as you walk?"

One of them answered, "Are you the only visitor to Jerusalem who does not know the things that have happened there in these days?"

"What things?" asked Christ. As the three walked, He warmed their hearts as He spoke of the truths of God. He opened to them the Scriptures concerning Himself.

When they reached their destination, Christ was invited to stay for the evening meal. In that very familiar way of His, He took bread, blessed it, broke it, and gave it to them. Their eyes were opened. They recognized Christ. Then He vanished.

The two companions of Christ returned to Jerusalem and told the disciples the good news of the risen Lord. How they must have rejoiced together to have these proofs of the resurrection of Jesus!

Many joys come to us when our eyes are opened to the presence of the Lord. Then even death, we discover, has no victory.

PRAYER

Dear Father, open Thou our eyes that we may see our living Redeemer. We pray that He will open to us the meaning of Thy Word as we live today. We too, rejoice in the knowledge of the Resurrection of Jesus. In His name. Amen.

The Lighter Side

Before boarding the train in the city the little city lad had been cautioned by his mother that if the conductor asked his age he was to say he was five years old.

The conductor did ask him his age and the little fellow replied that he was five years old.

"You're a big boy for five years," said the conductor. "How soon will you be six?"

Replied the youngster: "Just as soon as I get off this train!"

Ottawa Report

BY O. L. JONES, MP for Yale

Canada's first privately-owned television stations will possibly be started in Hamilton, London, Sudbury, Windsor, Quebec, Saint John and Sidney, as the CBC board of governors has recommended the application for television stations in these seven cities. The application from Kitchener was turned down, as they wanted the same channel that is now allocated to the CBC in Toronto. These are the first applications which have been considered. It will make Canadians hopeful of the day when television will be available right across the Dominion—some stations operated by the CBC and some privately. Dr. MacCann intends to have a CBC station established in each province which will supply programs to other private stations for more general service.

It will be good news to the farmers of the northern part of this riding to know that the floor price for butter has been extended for another two years, from May the first. The price to be 57 cents per pound given at Vancouver. Last winter the government re-gold the butter to the trade at 62 cents per pound, the four cents per pound difference covering the handling costs. This has been of great assistance to the farmers in meeting the stiff competition offered by margarine.

Several rural mail carriers have written to me asking that their form of tender be changed and their status be similar to other civil servants. In some cases, they wish to have a uniform supplied. This matter was brought up before the house committee, but Mr. Webster, who was to represent the rural mail carriers, was unable to be present, owing to illness. Neither was he able to submit a brief, but he did send a letter on their behalf. Most of the members of that committee were aware of the desires of the carriers in the various ridings. The bill that was eventually passed, allows the postmaster-general to enter into contracts for conveying mail involving an annual expenditure of $1,000 or less and while the contract is still in force he can increase the amount payable thereunder during the unexpired term of the contract and it gives the postmaster-general power to deal with the contract on the basis of the amount generally paid for comparable service in the same area. While this bill does not entirely grant the requirements of the carriers, it will make it possible for the government to improve the contracts that have been the source of a great deal of complaints.

I would also point out that the farm improvements loan act has been passed and now the maximum amount that can be borrowed has been increased to $4,000. This act allows farmers to borrow up to that amount for practically all legitimate farm work, including improvements to buildings and the purchase of machinery. All the qualifying farmer has to do, is to go to the local bank manager and file his application. The rate of interest is lower than the usual bank rate, because the government guarantees part of the loan against loss to the bank. I draw this to the attention of the farmer, as I do not think that the average farmer in the fruit growing area is fully aware of the operation of this act, which is meant to give him financial support for improving his property. I sought information as to the number of loans that had been refused; the minister did not have this information but left me with the impression that very few loans are turned down, unless of course, the farmer is in a hopeless financial position. This act is not operated in the same way as the farm loan board, which loans money for longer periods of time, repayable over a period of several years. I do feel that the raising of the maximum amount to $4,000 will be of great assistance to the farmer.

The government has passed a bill placing the crown in the same position as private persons concerning liability for breaches committed by the servants of the crown or breaches of duty regarding ownership, occupation or control of property and for damages caused by federally owned motor vehicles. This bill will allow civilians to sue the crown for damages caused by the government, civil servants or troops. In the past, residents, particularly in the district of Vernon, have had occasion to suffer damages by military vehicles but the government has always taken the attitude that they are not responsible, although in some cases the evidence has distinctly pointed out that the neglect was on the part of the driver of the government vehicle. The government has promised me to investigate the claim of Enderby citizens for a new post office building in that town. The post office department

It is not our intention to take advantage of this position of influence to press what are actually the opinions of only one person—and one far from being infallible.

Being objective in reporting an election is not the easiest job in the world, particularly when it falls on the one reporter to present all sides. It is made more difficult by the fact that readers are seldom objective. To readers with preformed opinions, objectivity means favoring their views. So in making an effort to report the forthcoming election without bias, we ask the readers to try and read with a lack of bias. Remember, what appears in the news columns is only what somebody has said or done. It does not reflect an opinion.

Because we believe this election is one of the most important the people of this province have ever faced, we will give the most complete coverage possible. And armed with information of the platforms and philosophies of all parties, we hope voters will be able to form a wise decision.

ment can be made for it to be purchased for the rink and this job can be done at a cost of about $18,000.

It would be a tremendous mistake to pass up the opportunity at hand to complete the rink facilities. It is not a job for a few but one for all the members of the community. Everybody stands to benefit from this investment and provision of recreation facilities for the junior members is a responsibility of all.

Friday night there will be a meeting of the Rink Association to discuss means of installing artificial ice so another season of ice sports will not be missed. Every person interested in the welfare of the community should be in attendance at this meeting to help give direction to the committee as to what action they should take to accomplish this necessary project.

Other Opinions

FOREIGN GROWERS FIND BIG PROCESSED FRUIT MARKET

Figures presented last week in the House of Commons covering importations of canned fruits offer a clear challenge to Canadian merchandising enterprise.

As reported in this newspaper, Canadians consumed more than $10,000,000 worth of such edibles as peaches, pears, fruit salad, and tropical fruits, all in prepared state and all imported.

On a per capita basis, this is about seventy-five cents for every man, woman, and child in the nation.

It is quite true that tropical fruits amounted to the largest single item in this huge total, but the importations also included fruits directly competitive with those grown in the Okanagan, in Ontario, and other parts of Canada.

More than 9,000,000 pounds of peaches were purchased, 1,100,000 pounds of pears, and 32,000,000 pounds of fruit salad.

The problem is a merchandising one. Canada cannot increase its tariffs without withdrawing from the world-wide conventions which have been set up in the post war years to try to stimulate the international exchange of goods.

Are Canadian producers, faced with surpluses, not competitive? Are the canners unable to meet foreign competition? Is Canadian enterprise unequal to its American counterpart? These are a few questions which inevitably rise when a market of such gigantic proportions is revealed in our own backyards.—Vernon News.

WE'LL NEVER LET THE OLD FLAG FALL!

Maybe not, but glancing at flags that often are seen flying in small towns, and even in larger places, there are some really tattered old rags that remind one of having braved the battle and the breeze for a thousand years. The common practice is to hang out a flag for some celebration or anniversary, then forget all about it. The wind eventually completes its destruction.

On the Federal government building in town the flag is hoisted every day and lowered at sunset. That is one of the duties of the caretaker. He finds it quite a chore climbing to the roof of the building, but then "dooty is dooty", and the time honored custom must be followed. Moreover, it's an order.

That the flying of the flag is important in the eyes of many people was brought home to us recently when a comparative newcomer, one of our New Canadians, commented that the flags he had seen on flagstuffs in town were a sorry looking bunch of rags. Coming from Europe, where the flying of the flag has ceremonial and symbolic importance, he was struck by the contrast.

We often hear comment that Canadians are very lukewarm in their demonstrations of loyalty and nationhood. Take a public gathering, when "O Canada" or God Save the Queen is sung, there are usually a few lusty souls who lead the singing, while others hardly open their mouths.

We may smile at the flag waving of people in the United States, yet they certainly assimilate their immigrants as citizens who take as much pride in their citizenship as the native born. Here we hardly raise a cheer or give a welcome of applause if a governor-general or a royal personage comes among us.—Macleod Gazette.

WHAT COLOR ARE NEWFOUNDLANDERS?

The Congress of the United States is thinking of making Hawaii a State, the forty-ninth in the American Union. Among opponents of the measure is Representative William Colmer, a Democrat from Mississippi.

Mr. Colmer and other Southerners are worried because most of the people in the Hawaiian Islands are "non-Caucasian." The word used by the German Nazis in the same context was "non-Aryan." In South Africa today it is "non-European." Mr. Colmer would exclude the Hawaiians from the benefits of Statehood because of the color of their skins. "Once let the barriers down," said the learned Mr. Colmer, "and next will come Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Newfoundland and Samoa." How do you like that, Premier Smallwood?—Nelson News.

GRANVILLE ST. WEST SUMMERLAND

Washington Growers Report Results From Various Methods of Thinning

Recently a report of Dr. D. V. Fisher of the Summerland Experimental Station told of experiments in using water spray in thinning fruit tree blossoms. Further reports on experiments on thinning have been received through the BCFGA, from members of the Washington State Horticultural Association. Two growers, Ray Redman, Jr., and Phil Jenkins have both submitted articles on results they have received by various methods of thinning in Washington.

By Phil Jenkins
The value of early thinning, on all varieties of fruit is well known and discussions of blossom thinning sprays have had a prominent part in these meetings.

As growers of fresh market peaches, some of our principal varieties are Red Haven, Hale Haven, and J. H. Hale. For the past several years we have, with the help and advice of Dr. Batjer, developed a bloom thinning spray program with Di Nitros, which is now a basic part of our operation. We feel that blossom thinning pays on all varieties and with some of the early season peaches, especially Red Haven, it is almost impossible to grow any tonnage of good sized fruit with any kind of late thinning.

Because of the many benefits we have obtained with early thinning and the absolute necessity of it with the early varieties, we have in addition to our chemical thinning program, been working with other methods.

One of these other methods we used the past season showed outstanding results. This method was bud and blossom removal by hand.

The purpose of this very early hand thinning was to do a complete job at or before the bloom period and to do away with any later supplemental thinning as required by chemical thinning. Approximately three acres of Red Haven and 1 1/2 acres of J. H. Hale were thinned by this method. Except for a few check trees thinned late, the rest of the orchard was thinned with DN289. Work was done by two women, both of whom were good experienced hand thinners. The thinning was started in the Red Haven block during the last part of March (about one week before the bloom) and was finished in the Hale block in early part of April (just after full bloom). In the Red Haven block the buds or blossoms were spaced out 7 to 8 inches apart (a little closer in the tops and a little farther apart in the bottoms of the tree). A little closer spacing was used in the Hale blocks. It is surprising how easy it is to thin at this time. The buds or blossoms shuck off at just a touch and there are no leaves to hide them. The cost was about 75 cents per tree on about three fourths of chemical thinning followed by supplemental hand thinning; and about one half of conventional June hand thinning.

The trees thinned by this method were far ahead of all other trees in the orchard (including those chemically thinned) in leaf area and fruit size during the early part of the growing season. They were the first trees picked in the orchard and had one to two boxes more fruit per tree. Size was equal to or better than the orchard average. These results were a little more pronounced in the Red Haven block but were outstanding for both varieties.

That sounds wonderful, but—what about frost? With any blossom removal program a grower must either risk frost, be prepared to heat, or be frost free. With this type of thinning you should be in a frost free location, be prepared to heat or so thin only a part of the acreage.

What about fruit set and drop? With the self-fruitful varieties such as Red Haven, drop is no problem—we had none. With self-unfruitful varieties such as J. H. Hale we had a slight drop but nothing to worry about under conditions of adequate pollination. The Hale had several days of bloom before we started thinning. It is more risky to thin them in the bud stage.

There are several other advantages that should be noted. Labor is plentiful at this time and small, well-trained crews can be used over a longer period of time. If part of the orchard is thinned chemically, the same small crew can then be used to do the supplemental thinning. This extends the thinning season into the first of June, (a period of over 2 months). There is no shock to the tree and no danger of even slight foliage damage; thus giving the leaves the quickest possible start.

I would like to stress that any grower trying any of these methods of early thinning for the first time do so on a small acreage so that results may be observed under his own individual conditions. Blossom thinning increases tonnage, increases fruit quality, and decreases labor costs.

By Ray Redman, Jr.
I believe that it has been well established that one of our most expensive operations in the raising of quality fruit is the high cost of the thinning operation.

To further complicate matters, this operation occurs well in advance of harvest—far enough ahead to permit us only a guess as to the market value of our commodity at the time of harvest. This means that you must place a very substantial investment in your product long before any returns on this investment become evident.

Failure to make this investment seriously jeopardizes the chances of even finding a market for your product. In other words, thinning is a must, unless Mother Nature takes a hand, as she is prone to do at times.

This past season we tried three methods of thinning, in an effort to cut down thinning costs. We tried chemical sprays, blossom thinning by hand, and blossom thinning with water. We concentrated heaviest on chemical sprays at blossom time. We also hand thinned five acres and water sprayed ten acres of Red Haven peaches.

We were rather disappointed with our chemical sprays. It should be noted, however, that last year was our first year in any of the three ventures, and the sprays were applied to Red Haven, Hale Haven and Elberta peaches. We received some die-back on weaker terminals and spotty, to no thinning.

Our hand thinning and water sprays showed up much better. We thinned off about three fourths of the bloom by hand methods, and one half with the water spray. We then hand thinned both blocks at the usual thinning time.

For a comparison between the two methods there is little to choose. The water spray turned out to be the cheapest for us, but the hand thinned trees produced the largest average size. However, I believe that this was due partly to an error in my judgment at the later thinning period. The fruit was so much larger than the untouched blocks that a heavier set was left on the water thinned trees. The really outstanding advantage of both these methods over the chemical spray is that you can observe your results immediately.

Our cost for both operations on the water thinned trees was one fourth less than that of the check block.

For procedure in water thinning we patterned our work from that done by Grady Auvil. He has used this method successfully for many years. Water thinning is done by removing the swirl from the spray gun and crisscrossing the limbs with a stream of water delivered at 600 pound pressure. One man can do 8-10 trees per hour and approximately 20 gallons of water is used per tree. Of course, this depends on the tree size and the number of blossoms to be removed.

For next year and, as a summary for this article, we intend to place our emphasis on water and hand thinning. We will use some chemical sprays but not to the degree that we did this year. There are some weaknesses in water spraying that I think should be overcome. The stream of water is too large even with the swirl removed and it does not allow the operator a chance to go back and break up clusters. Secondly, the finer terminal growths have a tendency to bend with the water and do not allow the operator to crisscross in the proper fashion. If we can overcome these weaknesses, I feel sure that we can reduce our thinning costs still further—perhaps 50 per cent.

In losing, I wish to say, that almost anything you can do to reduce fruit set at blossom time works to your advantage, for it not only increases the size of the fruit, but also helps so materially in reducing the cost of thinning.

Antibiotic Drugs Waive Quarantine For Scarlet Fever

There has been a considerable incidence of scarlet fever throughout the South Okanagan Health Unit in recent months. Fortunately most of these cases have been very mild. For every case of clinical scarlet fever there are probably several cases of septic sore throat and other streptococcal infections since the single organism is capable of producing very varied clinical manifestations.

Communicable disease regulations require the quarantine of all contacts of patients suffering from streptococcal infections for a period of at least seven days from the date of the last contact. However, it has been found that some of the antibiotic drugs, notably the sulpha compounds and penicillin, give relatively satisfactory protection to contacts from the danger of developing infection.

In view of this fact the public health authorities have waived the quarantine period for those contacts who are placed under adequate treatment with antibiotic drugs by their family physician.

The control of streptococcal infections is important not only because they cause an unpleasant illness of a few days duration but also because a small percentage of patients run the risk of more serious troubles such as permanent damage to the kidneys or rheumatic fever. Yet the widespread enforcement of quarantine is a very irksome procedure which is difficult to carry out. The alternative of giving the contacts one of the sulpha drugs or penicillin, though it involves some expense, appears to give just as good control as quarantine.

Advances in public health come about through the enlightened cooperation of the members of the community. In this instance the spread of streptococcal infections can be curtailed if all persons will secure treatment for themselves and their contacts in cases of severe sore throat and of fevers accompanied by a rash which may be mild cases of scarlet fever.

Recent estimates show that the average Canadian telephone user, in paying his bill, annually contributes $12 in taxes to the Federal government.

Four-Year Agreement Expires

Open Negotiations For New Contract To Cover Okanagan Fruit Workers

First round of negotiations between the representatives of the Okanagan fruit and vegetable industry and the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions took place on Wednesday, April 1st, in the Board Room of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited, at Kelowna.

The four-year agreement, covering working conditions and packing-house wages, expires April 30. At the Wednesday meeting the requests of both sides were discussed and clarified, and a considerable measure of agreement reached.

It is understood that negotiations will continue, and it is probable that both the employers and the unions will confer with their principals and locals respectively in the near future.

At last week's meeting, Bryan Cooney acted as spokesman for the unions and was supported by Mr. Snowden of Okanagan Centre, Mrs. Tishauer of Keremeos, Mrs. Tilly Atwood of Vernon, William Darroch, Jr., of Kelowna, and Mrs.

Hazel Grantham of Penticton. The industry committee included F. L. Fitzpatrick of Rutland, chairman; John White of Vernon, W. Spear, Kelowna, Frank McDonald, Penticton; A. E. Hill, Oliver; J. Kosty, Vernon; J. A. English, Penticton; Sam Pearson, Kelowna, and L. R. Stephens, Kelowna.

200 Present at Bride's Reception Following Easter Monday Nuptials

Lace and nylon net over satin was the choice of Miss Josephine Lenzi when she repeated vows Easter Monday with Bruno Virgino Comazzetto at 10:30 a.m. nuptial mass in the Church of the Holy Child before Rev. A. Meulenburgh.

The bride is the daughter of Fred Lenzi and the groom son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Comazzetto of Kamloops.

The church was decorated in an Easter motif with lillies and daffodils and the bride's net-over-satin costume included a Juliet cap of lace over satin and finger-tip veil edged with lace flowers cut from the same lace as the gown. Her bouquet was of red and white stephanotis.

Her attendants were Miss Alda Lenzi, Miss Marita Favali and Rosita Appigli. All three wore gowns of nylon net over satin with matching floral headdress and veil. Miss Lenzi chose lime green, Miss Favali, yellow and Miss Appigli, mauve.

Organ music was provided by Mrs. Henry Schaeffer and John Menu sang "Ave Maria".

Groomsman was Reno Comazzetto and ushers were Ernest Comazzetto and Angelo Dorecone.

More than 200 guests were present at the reception which followed at the IOOF hall in West Summerland and receiving with the bride and groom were parents of the couple, Mrs. O. Favali, Ernest Comazzetto, Reno Comazzetto and the bride's attendants.

Mrs. Favali was wearing black and white figured dress with black accessories and a corsage of red carnations. Mrs. A. Comazzetto was gowned in dusty rose with navy accessories and a carnation corsage.

The hall for the occasion was decorated with white, pink and mauve streamers, white wedding bells, sweet peas and narcissus. A four-tier wedding cake featured the bride's table which was covered with a lace cloth and was decorated with white bells, white, pink and mauve streamers, sweet peas and narcissus.

Toastmaster was Joseph McLaghlan and toasts were given by Mel Cousins, Robert Blackmore and Father Meulenburgh. Telegrams were read from friends in California, Trill and Vancouver Island.

Music for the reception was provided by Emma Comazzetto, James Riley and Lionel Guidi.

For going away the bride donned a teal blue suit, lipstick red bag and shoes, white hat with red trim, and white gloves and the couple left by car for San Francisco. On their return they will make their home at Kamloops.

Couple Make Home In Revelstoke After Wedding Trip to Vancouver

United Church manse was the scene of a quiet wedding at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when Sibyl Ailene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith pledged troth with Alan Ivan Ennis, Revelstoke, son of George Ennis, Salmon Arm. Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiated.

The justweds left later in the day for a wedding trip to Vancouver by car through the U.S. after which they will make their home in Revelstoke.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a heliotrope suit with violet straw hat and white accessories and topped this outfit with a white wool coat for going away. She wore a pearl necklace, a gift from the groom, and carried a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Shirley Smith, youngest sister of the bride, acted as bride's maid and for the occasion wore a blue-grey suit with pink accessories and pink carnation corsage. The groom was attended by Hugh Wright.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in Garnet Valley and the 30 guests were received by the bride and groom and their parents.

To receive the guests, Mrs. Smith wore a flowered pink silk suit set off with a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was covered with a lace table cloth made by her mother and was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Toast to the bride was proposed by R. J. Kersey and to the bridesmaid by Hugh Wright.

A telegram of congratulations from Misses Jean and Pat Nicholson of Sicamous was read.

An enjoyable evening of musical entertainment included several Irish songs by William May.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Ennis and Mr. and Mrs. R. Cowie of Vancouver, G. Ennis and Hugh Wright of Salmon Arm; Mr. and Mrs. W. Ennis of Revelstoke.

Recent Bride Feted Prior To Nuptials

Guest-of-honor at a delightful miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Anne Voire on March 31 was Miss Gladys Daniels whose marriage to Jerome Lerner was solemnized on Tuesday. Co-hostesses were Mrs. John Menu and Mrs. Ross Fitzpatrick.

BILL'S AUTO SERVICE

Summerland Parent-Teachers Association held its regular meeting on Thursday, April 2, in the high school, with the entertainment committee, convened by Mrs. E. E. Bates, in charge of the program.

Mrs. Bates and her committee arranged a musical evening, when a number of entrants in the Okanagan Musical Festival, which will be held at Vernon this year, participated.

The selections were in three groupings, piano, band ensembles and numbers from the Mary Pratten School of the Dance.

Young pianists were Ona Willis, Marilyn Embree, and Rita Greber, pupils of Mrs. C. G. Woodbridge and Eugene Bates, a pupil of Miss Kay Hamilton.

From the band and trained by John Tamblin, bandmaster and music instructor in Summerland junior-senior high school, was a brass quartet consisting of Richard McDougald, Harold Biollo, Eddie Matsu and Garry Hackman; clarinet duet by Margaret Marshall and Jean Johnston; trombone trio, Eugene Bates, Neil Woolliams and Bill Wilburn; wood wind octet, John Menu, Barbara Baker, Darlene Bonthoux, Marnie Bleasdale, Eddie Matsu, Barry Langley, Ken Stoll and Jack Gould.

Delightful dancing numbers were a minuet, Lynne Boothe, Barbara Fudge, Lynn Bleasdale and Barbara Beavan; Polish dance, Carol Reinertson; Highland Fling, Diane Haggman, and a Dutch dance, Linda Rumball, Diane Haggman, Audrey Beggs and Elaine Dunsdon.

The evening was not too well attended but greatly enjoyed by those present.

The president, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson thanked those taking part and Mrs. Bates and her committee for their work in planning the entertainment.

Trout Creek Community Association Plans Many Activities for Coming Year

Future activities to be sponsored by the Trout Creek Point Community Association include University Extension courses such as rejuvenating the home, to be given here April 13-25 under the sponsorship of Mrs. A. W. Moyle; band concerts during the summer months; a float entry in the Penticton Peach Festival this summer; 4-H sewing and gardening clubs; pre-school play groups; a local Theatrical group; and a committee was appointed to look into the possibility of tennis courts for Trout Creek Point.

The following directors, Mrs. N. Laidlaw, Dr. M. F. Welsh, C. V. G. Morgan, and G. Chadburn, were elected to serve along with Dr. C. G. Woodbridge, V. Parker, L. Gartrell and Dr. C. C. Strachan.

Retiring directors were Mrs. J. Millmore and Mrs. E. P. Willis.

Twenty-two members were present on Thursday evening, April 2, for the annual meeting, held in the basement of the Church of God, with Dr. C. G. Woodbridge presiding.

Mrs. E. P. Willis gave the membership report in which she stated that 20 families and 9 single memberships were collected giving a total of $38.50.

Lloyd Gartrell, in charge of Park development, stated that benches to accommodate 100 people had been built from fluming lumber.

Community activities' report prepared by V. Parker and read by J. Millmore said that the domestic water petition presented to the municipal council had been accepted. Also, a letter suggesting that a primary school be built at Trout Creek had been written to the Summerland school board. J. Y. Tow-

MORE ABOUT

Pioneer Days

Five Years Ago, April 8, 1948 Miss Dorothy Tomlin and Miss Elsie Boon were up from Oliver for Easter.

It was predicted that a saving of $11,000 would be effected in the new Summerland School District, No. 77, for the year.

Lois Sharpe was to represent the South Okanagan and Similkameen at the Okanagan zone finals in the Knights of Pythias public speaking contest.

Candidates from three parties placed their nominations for the Yale federal by-election to be held May 31. These were W. A. C. Bennett, Kelowna, Coalition MLA for South Okanagan, Progressive-Conservative; E. J. Chambers, Penticton, Liberal; O. L. Jones, Kelowna, CCF.

Daryl Weitzel, Pete Holmes, Don Cristante and Ron McRae, Summerland high school students had a rough trip to the top of Snow Mountain where they stayed overnight in the cabin there. A terrific gale was reported by the boys who walked part of the way, and went part way on skis.

Senior baseball players had started practicing at the school grounds. It was expected that the new interior league would commence play on May 2.

Miss Shirley Bryden and Mr. Louis Wolfe were married on Easter Monday.

Mrs. Ivor P. Barnes wrote from Bexley Heath, Kent, that she expected to leave the old country, about the middle of April and would visit at the home of her son, Rex P. Barnes in Toronto on the way home.

MORE ABOUT

Report

ment has been overwhelmed with requests for new buildings and is remedying the situation as fast as it can. The population growth of B.C. has been such that it has left many of our post offices far behind, being too small and obsolete to cope with the increased business. The post office department has taken steps to meet the most crying needs of any district that I have brought to their attention in this riding.

The emergency powers act has been passed over the strong objection taken to it by the members of the opposition, who still claim the government has not proved that there is a need for such an act. However, it has been renewed for only one year and after the heated discussions that have taken place, it is extremely doubtful if the government will make it operative during the coming year.

The minister of national defence gave a spirited reply to the charges made by Air Vice-Marshal Goodwin, that we are neglecting our own defences against aggression. Mr. Claxton's reply practically admitted some of the charges made, namely, that we have sent our best planes overseas on the assumption that the danger spot is in Europe and not North America. While a great deal of secrecy covers our defence department operations, it is generally felt that healthy criticism of this nature will spur the government on to provide adequate radar and air defence in case of attack.

Win or Lose

By Jack Dunham.

It certainly looks like the Okanagan isn't through with hockey yet. The way the Vees are flying down in Pentiction we may see some mighty fine hockey in the near future. Wish I could say the same for the local pucksters. They are flying, of course, but the way they trimmed the Garagemen in the commercial loop last Sunday gave us an indication of how long that series will last. The Pentiction lads were no match for the Summerlanders and the next game will probably end up somewhat the same.

The locals were suffering a slight manpower shortage but nevertheless carried the play most of the time. The stirring work of Colin Mann on defence was something to see. He was unbeatable as he broke up every play that came near him. The line of Taylor, Roberge and Steininger was terrific as they scored five of the seven local goals. Roberge again centered this line in the absence of Rocky Richardson who is back at work on the CPR, and Paul was his old hustling self as he set up two goals and scored one himself. Taylor was by far the best on the ice, and was skating both ways besides doing a couple of stunts on defence.

The "kid" line of Hooker, Kato and Eyre started off the game like mad, but had trouble finishing off their plays in the Pentiction zone. Al Hooker, after quite a layoff, had trouble getting his bearings at times as he tired quickly. These boys did, however, give a good account of themselves while they were on the ice and were incidental in keeping Garagemen hopping, and were also able to stop any scoring threats that the Peach City boys had.

George Cluett was again between the pipes for the locals and although the stalwart defensive work of Iwayoshi, Furuya and Mann kept the opposition from getting too close in, George did have some tough shots to contend with.

Ballplayers Aplenty Down South

The baseball club had their first work-out last Saturday, but only five of the local diamond hot-shots turned up at the practice.

Down Pentiction way Les Edwards is sharpening up this year's crop of baseball talent. Over 20 players have been turning out and this does not include several members of the Vees hockey team who have signified their intentions of playing ball once the hockey season is finished. Most of last year's regulars will be back with the exception of Bill Raptis who is down at the coast and will probably remain there for some time. Les figures on playing Grant Warwick at the hot corner in Raptis' absence.

Another little item from down south is that Pentiction has applied for entry into the valley senior "B" lacrosse loop this year.

Activity on the Alleys—

The bowling alleys are really getting a going over this week as 16 teams from two divisions battle each other for the right to cart home a batch of silverware that Herb Woods has been polishing up for their new owners.

Nick Solly's Red Sox, one of last year's finalists, are in bad shape with one of their ace bowlers, George Williams out of town at Talk has it that six players from New Westminster have signified their intention of coming to Pentiction to help start the team, one of them a playing coach.

I think that is just about enough nattering about Pentiction!

Getting back to our own baseball picture, which is certainly not in as rosy a state as we would like but will probably brighten very soon. Again I remind all ballplayers old and new, and that includes juniors, to keep in contact with the senior boys such as Taylor, Aikin, Kato as to practice dates. If nothing else, get that arm in shape.

Harold Short, one of the most rabid ball fans and by far the most enthusiastic president this club has ever had, has left us, and the boys are crying in their milk for a new president and also a manager—any volunteers?

THE PICTURE TELLS THE STORY

In almost every Canadian community, meetings are held by church, school, club or associations for the purpose of improving local conditions in neighborhood or school. Showing films or filmstrips dealing with health or welfare subjects can make an excellent contribution to a group's welfare work. These films, if properly introduced and discussed, often get a message across more clearly and forcibly than a lecture. Films and filmstrips are produced by the department of national health and welfare on a wide variety of health subjects and are made available by most provincial departments of health.

Hat Trick for Taylor

Summerland Pucksters Win Herald Trophy In Stirring Comeback

Playing hard, fast and rugged playoff hockey, the Summerland hockey team blasted the Garagemen club 7-1 in the first game of the Pentiction and district commercial hockey league playoff finals for the Pentiction Herald trophy.

Word was received yesterday morning that the Pentiction Garagemen will not contest the playoffs any further, which means that the Summerland hockey team will again hold the Pentiction Herald trophy for another year.

The Summerland Hockey club has been having its troubles all year. The increased strength of other league teams plus a shortage of players has made the locals really have to dig for their victories. Last Sunday's victory comes as an anticlimax to the hard series just completed against the Packers.

George Taylor's goal started things rolling for the locals right off the bat with an assist from Dick Steininger at the 50 second mark of the first period. From then until the end of the initial stanza the Summerland pucksters pressed continuously but could not bulge the twine again. This first period featured rushes by both teams, but aside from the first goal neither team was able to finish off their plays to the extent of a goal. Colin Mann was the most instrumental in breaking up the Pentiction plays before they had reached a scoring opportunity.

The local crew put on a blazing display of scoring in the second frame, netting 6 goals without a reply from the Garagemen. Even when Mann drew a tripping penalty at the 14:15 minute mark the northern boys still carried the play while the Pentiction crew were barely able to cross the locals' blue-line. It was also in this period that George Taylor completed his hat trick and assisted in another goal. About half way through the third period the Garagemen got their first and only goal to spoil George Cluett's bid for a shut-out. From a scramble in front of the Summerland goal, Bird took a wild swipe at a loose puck from about 10 feet out and drove it along the ice past Cluett. This was the only goal scored in the period although both teams threatened at times with the Peach City lads playing better hockey than at any other time in the game.

Considering the fact that the locals played out the first period with only eight players in strip, although Furuya finally arrived and contributed greatly to the defensive strength of the locals, shows that the Summerland boys were by far the best team in Sunday's contest.

Summary:
1st Period: 1, Summerland, Taylor (Steininger), :50.
Penalties: None.

2nd Period: 2, Summerland, Roberge (Taylor) 2:59; 3, Summerland, Taylor (Roberge), 3:39; 4, Summerland, Mann, 6:07; 5, Summerland, Hooker, 10:29; 6, Summerland, Steininger (Mann), 18:13; 7, Summerland, Taylor (Roberge), 19:56.

Penalties: Holowaty, Mann.
3rd Period: 8, Pentiction, Bird (Wyatt, Hannes), 12:24.
Penalties: Roberge.

SUNNY BOY

Sunbaths are good for the baby and he should start them when he is three weeks old. In the winter, he can lie in his crib before an open window in the sunshine, starting with about two minutes sunning for the first few days and gradually increasing exposure to the sun by a minute or so every few days. His eyes should be protected from direct glare and care must be taken that he is not in a draft as he lies before the open window.

Behind the 8-Ball

By Gord Crockett

If you rule out eruptions of Vesuvius and H-bomb destruction, there is nothing to compare with having a five-year-old male visitor around the house. It's an experience that baffles description but if I can find a few parts still missing from my typewriter I'll have a go at the job.

Since we don't have any small fry as standard equipment around our house, we weren't quite prepared for what to expect when a friend gave notice she would be arriving for the week-end with her offspring in tow. Next time I'll have enough sense when I get fair warning like that to observe tornado precautions and nail down everything that's loose.

Biggest disappointment to me over the week-end was in our livestock. I thought they were made of tougher stuff but both the cat and dog collapsed in a complete nervous breakdown after the first day. Pretty poor show on their part I'd say. Why I lasted nearly two days myself.

The animals are slowly recovering from the ordeal but still won't come closer than 50 feet to the house. They seem to have lost faith in all mankind and its apparently going to take a little time before we can regain their trust.

For my own part, I did everything I could to entertain our little visitor but kids that size seem to want to choose their own form of entertainment. I took him out to the woodshed and gave him the axe to play with, even had it sharpened for his benefit. Chopping wood palled as soon as I turned my back so he gave it a workout on the new garden hose and then gave up when he discovered it wouldn't split rocks worth a hoorah.

Next I tried him on a straight razor and left it with him to practice so he'd know how to shave if he should live long enough to start having whiskers. I don't know how he'll make out shaving his chin when the time comes but he certainly did a bang-up job on my shaving brush.

One thing we can look forward to this summer, as a result of the visit will be ready-mixed salads from our garden. The invasion coincided with the planting of our vegetable garden and the cute little rascal proved that it only takes a couple of minutes to plant a half-dozen packets of seeds if you're not too fussy about where they're planted. Now if somebody will just tell me how to tell which are weeds and which are stray varieties of vegetables when they start to come up, I'll be o.k.

We can also thank him for an interesting note of speculation he added to our gardening. When he left he took with him the collection of bright pictures he found stuck on sticks at the end of each row.

If there were any world-shaking news events over the week-end, I'd appreciate it no end if somebody will tip me off as to what happened. By rising at dawn, he was able to beat me to the daily paper by a couple of hours so by the time I got my hands on it he had finished tearing out all the pictures and had them filed away for future study. From the remnants I got a somewhat disjointed account of the day's happenings. For the first time I found myself envying the fellows living in the comfort and serenity of Korea.

The little fellow displayed a strong inclination toward the printing trade when I took him down to the shop to see how a newspaper is produced. My back was only turned for a matter of seconds and he had all the type in two cases jumbled. It takes a printer six years' apprenticeship to learn to do that.

My W.D. has been acting a bit coolish toward me since the visitors left. She claims I lost my temper and insulted her best friend. I didn't lose my temper at all. My voice was very calm and all I said was: "Why don't you take your brat and go back where you came from?" And there was no threat intended either. It was just by coincidence that I happened to have the carving knife in my hand at the time.

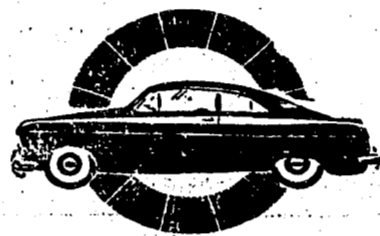

If you'll excuse me now, I think I'll go down to the school yard and amuse myself throwing rocks at little children.

Council Approves Plan For Road Education

Councillors this week gave reception to an application of school trustees to re-locate the school property and passed a motion for necessary action to be taken to close the present road.

Teachers Propose Finance Formula

Local delegates returning this week from Teachers' Federation convention in Vancouver reported lively discussion on education financing and on problems of improving educational services with little time devoted to the discussion of personal matters such as salaries and working conditions.

Attending from this district were Lacey Fisher and Clark Wilkin while from Pentiction were Gordon Clarke, George Gay, T. C. Grant and Miss Gwen Turvey.

A valley teacher was chosen for a top office in the provincial body with the election of Miss Hilda Cryderman of Vernon as first vice-president.

Biggest item on the agenda, delegates reported, was the report of the finance committee on the contentious "Rolston Formula". The committee expressed the opinion that while the formula contained some sound principles, it did not accomplish what it was designed to do to equalize payment of education costs—since it did not take into consideration population growth. The committee presented a detailed analysis and then proposed a system they have developed.

A resolution from the convention urged all political parties to "take education out of competitive politics and adopt a realistic attitude toward the problem of financing."

Teachers also expressed themselves as being in favor of preserving the autonomy of local school boards and opposed any suggestion they be given a status similar to civil servants and administered under a central control.

Promise Action On Hairpin Turn

Representations made to the municipal council "on the spur of the moment" Tuesday may be responsible for prevention of a serious highway accident at the Sandhill.

Magnus Tait, who said he "just dropped in when I heard there was a council meeting on," appealed to the councillors for some action to correct the serious hazard at the hairpin turn at the foot of the Sandhill.

The irrigation system there has been wrecked four times in the last three years by cars unable to negotiate the turn he reminded and said during the past week while working near the bend he had seen a number of cars that came very close to going off the road.

Mr. Tait suggested a checker-board sign should be erected on the hill to give proper warning to motorists of the extreme hazard. Present sign, he said is inadequate and wrongly positioned.

Reeve Bentley said the municipality had wanted to take away some of the bank to reduce the danger but this move had not been agreeable to Fred Gartrell, owner of the property.

Councillors agreed to post more warning signs and Mr. Tait said he would undertake to see Mr. Gartrell to see if an arrangement could be worked out so some of the bank could be cut away.

Apple Day

Scouts Annual Fund-Raising Drive Set For Saturday In Summerland

On Saturday, apples will make their appearance all over the district but these will be no frank early crop from the orchards. Those will come from cold storage and will make their appearance in the baskets of Boy Scouts who will offer them in their annual Apple Day project.

Apple Day is now a familiar and welcome event on the calendar of activities during the year and is the Scouts' sole annual drive for funds to carry out their troop activities.

In other sections of the country, Apple Day is conducted in the fall but in this fruit-growing belt, Scouts reason logically that a juicy delicious apple has more appeal to local citizens at this time of the year than it has in October when many people are wondering what to do with a surplus of apples.

Scouts from both the local troops will participate in the sales campaign and will canvass homes and the shopping district to dispose of their wares.

It is part of the Scout training that members of the movement never ask for a straight handout but always offer something in return for help they receive. There is, however, no set price for the apples—nor is there any limit on how much may be contributed.

On the basis of former responses to this drive, Scouts are optimistic of a successful outcome since members of this community are very familiar with the aims of the movement which stresses the highest ideals of citizenship and world brotherhood.

Councillors, however, lamented the decision of the school board to remove the two lanes of 40-year-old trees that flank the present road, after the change has been made.

At a previous meeting of school board members with the council, the school board agreed to pay for the survey, transfer, and rough grading of the proposed new road site on the north end of the school property. A fifty foot road was agreed upon with rounding corners.

School ground acreage is approximately thirteen acres.

The school grounds serve pupils of two schools, the MacDonald and the junior-senior high, with varying age groups, so that different areas are needed to adequately carry out the recreational and physical educational program. Consequently more room is needed to accommodate this program, and especially the school board believes that a definite safety problem is involved, and that closing the road intersecting the grounds is the only solution to this hazard.

Said J. Y. Towgood, chairman of Summerland school board, "We are planning a long range development of the school grounds and the safety of the children. Proper utilization of the grounds cannot be served nor developments carried out until the road is closed. As well as this there is the element of safety which we consider of prime importance."

When S. A. MacDonald, principal of the MacDonald School was asked his opinion of the road closing plan he said, "I'm about one thousand per cent in favor of it. From the safety angle I have been worried for a long time, and I am keeping my fingers crossed that nothing happens before it is closed."

A. K. Macleod, principal of the junior-senior high school expressed similar sentiments when he said, "I think it is the best thing ever for the children attending the schools. It is a positive menace. Even the legal speed limit of fifteen miles per hour is too fast there, when some children run out to catch a ball."

Miss Janet Crafter has been engaged by Summerland school board district No. 77, to replace Miss Stella Creese, as physical education teacher in the junior-senior high school.

Miss Creese's marriage to Mr. Harold Holwing is an event of Saturday, April 18.

Miss Crafter is graduating this spring from UBC in physical education and until she can come at the first of May, the position is being filled by Mrs. N. O. Solly.

Reject Applications For Logging Rights

An application by McAdam, Bolton & McAdam for timber rights on Conklin Mountain was rejected Tuesday by municipal councillors.

The applicants submitted a bid of $5 per thousand but councillors expressed the opinion they would not wish to have the mountain side stripped of its timber.

It was opined, however, that there may be some of the trees that should be logged off and it was decided to discuss the subject with the provincial forestry department.

Vancouver Police Answer to Costs?

E. Sunderquist has lived in this part of the country more than 40 years but has never been to Vancouver. He's going to have to convince the Vancouver city police of this though.

Today he received a summons from Vancouver for over-parking on Burrard Street. His car's never been to Vancouver.

Another local resident had a similar experience only a few weeks ago. In both cases, license number were quoted correctly.

Maybe this is Vancouver's secret weapon for meeting higher police costs.

Approve Applications For Two Fund Drives

Municipal council this week approved two applications for fund raising drives within the community. First was the Boy Scout Apple Day which is to be conducted this Saturday and the second was for a Hospital Auxiliary tag day which is to be held on May 9.

The Summerland Review

A happy wife and cheering crowds were on hand to welcome MARSHALL TITO, Premier of Yugoslavia, on his arrival home recently following a five day visit to England. Here the smiling couple acknowledges the plaudits of spectators enroute to the rail station in the port city of Split for the overland journey to Belgrade. Tito made the journey to Britain aboard a Yugoslav naval training vessel.

Lull Before the Storm

Only Minor Ripples Showing On S. Okanagan Election Scene

While election interest is rapidly growing in intensity in many spots throughout the province, the political scene in South Okanagan remains only slightly rippled and gives little indication of the election-storm due to break in another couple of weeks.

Agenda Won't Look The Same Any More

Agenda of the municipal council meetings just isn't going to look the same anymore.

Tuesday afternoon when the session arrived at the perennial item under correspondence, "W. Arnett - re Gulch Road", councillors sat in stunned silence while Clerk Gordon Smith read a communication from Mr. Arnett stating he was prepared to accept the council's offer of $300 for a piece of his property where the highway encroaches.

First to regain his composure and speak was Councillor Stewart whose voice carried a note of undisguised incredulity. "Do you mean it's all over?" he questioned.

The incredulity was warranted. For 42 years, Mr. Arnett and the council have been trying to reach an agreement on that piece of property and the matter has popped up on agendas over the years with unflagging regularity.

No, the agenda just isn't going to look the same anymore.

To Add New Ladder To Fire Equipment

Summerland's volunteer fire brigade will soon have a aluminum ladder to replace the hazardous painter's extension ladder they have been using in fighting fires.

Members of the council were prompted to take immediate action on the purchase after attending the school for firemen conducted here this week and seeing the intopost and enthusiasm shown by the local volunteers.

The school was conducted by three representatives of the fire marshalls' office in Vancouver, Arthur Cummings, Earnest Riekey and Aubrey Creed.

The course included ladder practice, knot tying, different kinds of extinguishers and their proper use, hose laying, pump operation, artificial respiration and salvage. The instruction also included two films on fire-fighting practices.

Also in attendance were 4 members of the experimental station staff, who were interested because of the fire protection needed at the farm.

Answer Seven Calls For Minor Blazes

Summerland's volunteer fire brigade on Tuesday night answered their seventh summons for help in 14 days. Previous six were all grass or bush fires but the one Tuesday night was an outbreak on the premises of Dunbar's Bakery.

The fire started from an overheated electrical element which had been left turned on by mistake when the staff left the store earlier. Damage was only slight.

Four of the grass and bush fires started from grass and pruning burning which got out of hand while the other two started presumably from carelessness of passers-by.

COURT OF REVISION

Date for irrigation court of revision has been set for April 21 at 2 o'clock. The session will be held in the municipal hall.

Stoll Re-Elected President

Will Ask Municipality To Become Rink Owners

Municipality of Summerland is to be asked to take over the ownership of the rink and instal artificial ice to give full-season of skating activity here and also give the rink a chance to make operating expenses.

This was the decision reached Friday night by members of the Rink association at a meeting at which about 50 were present to take part in discussions regarding the future of the rink.

The meeting by acclamation re-elected George Stoll as president and chose Harvey Wilson, first vice-president; Louis Burnell, second vice-president; C. H. Elsey, secretary and Wendell Schwab, treasurer.

Named to a streamlined board of directors, were George Woitte, James Heavysides, William Durick, William Snow, Joe Sheeley, N. O. Solly, W. S. Ritchie, Clifford E. Dunn, J. W. Mitchell and L. W. Rumball.

In discussing the future of the rink, it was pointed out that the original plan had been to turn it over to the municipality when it was completed. However, members felt they could do no more with the rink with the equipment at hand. It was proposed that the Rink Association act with the municipality in installing ice-making equipment and operating the rink because work could be carried out at a much lower cost with the volunteer effort that could be provided by the association.

An executive meeting, probably this week, will draft a proposal for terms on which the rink should be offered to the municipality.

Hubby Not Enough To Deter V's Fan

Veracity of the following story is attested to by Ed Butler and Roy Angus and was related in the presence of Rev. H. R. Whitmore so with this unimpeachable source, is printed, as indisputable fact.

During the recent hockey play-offs in Pentiction, one fair backer of the V's was denied the price of admission to one of the games by her not-bitten-by-the-hockey-bug husband.

Nothing so insignificant as a husband could ever deter a real fan from seeing the V's in action so the little woman hiked off to the corner grocery store, stocked up with three dozen eggs which went on the family bill and kept right on going uptown until she found a customer for her eggs.

That night her voice was added to the tumult that cheered the V's on to victory.

Commend Committee For Relief Handling

A grant of $100 for the Summerland Central Welfare committee was approved Tuesday afternoon by the municipal council.

The committee in their application stated the scope of their activities has been expanded as a result of a request from the public health nurse to include supply of such items as glasses and medicines for children of families financially unable to provide these needs.

They pointed out they had been able to operate last year on money left over from the previous year but funds are now getting low and it is necessary for them to make an appeal for support to all organizations which have helped in their financing.

In approving the grant, members of the council commented on the very capable job that has been done by the relief committee.

Needs Growing

Kiwanis To Launch Cancer Drive Monday With Canvass of District

Appeal for the Canadian Cancer Society will be launched in the district Monday with work of canvassing being undertaken by members of Kiwanis Club under direction of G. Hallquist. To carry out the canvass, drive committee has zoned the district into sections and each will be the responsibility of two canvassers.

Need for full support to the campaign was emphasized by Chairman Hallquist who pointed out the success of the work of the society in educating people to recognize and seek treatment for cancer has naturally boosted costs in other phases of activities, such as providing assistance to those unable to finance costs of treatment.

The fight against cancer is one which requires the backing of every person because everyone is vitally concerned. Cancer is no respecter of persons.

Last year was one of the most successful in the history of the B.C. Division of the society.

It saw the opening of the $780,000 British Columbia Cancer Institute, the installation there of the third Cobalt-60 beam therapy

Promoted to Post In Nova Scotia

F. W. Schumann

Promotion and transfer in business circles came this week to F. W. Schumann who leaves Saturday night to fly to Halifax where he will take up the post as Nova Scotia manager of Manufacturer's Life.

Mr. Schumann returned last week from the company convention in Florida where he received news of his promotion.

Mrs. Schumann and their two daughters Joyce and Shirley will follow after the school term is closed.

The pair will leave behind them in Summerland a host of friends made during the time they have been here. Mr. Schumann is a past president of Summerland Kiwanis Club and both have been active members of the curling club.

Raiding Canines Cost Municipality $57

Predatory dogs this week cost the municipality $57. Councillors Tuesday approved for payment a claim by Wm. McLure for six chickens and one from Frank Woodward for a goat all victims of dogs.

Payment was two dollars per chicken and $45 for the goat.

In considering the Woodward claim, councillors recalled only a few months ago they had approved payment of $90 to the same claimant for the loss of two goats and the clerk was instructed to advise him no future claims would be considered unless he could establish he was providing protection for his animals.

Mr. McClure in his claim stated he had lost nine hens but had found the mutilated carcasses of only six. In approving payment for only six, it was pointed out the "corpora delecta" must be produced before payment is considered.

BAND GRANT SOUGHT

Municipal council this week heard an application from the Summerland Brass Band for a 1953 grant of $200. The application was referred to the estimates which are now under preparation and will be presented at the next council meeting.

If you do not receive the magazine Country Life, may I diffidently suggest that you beg, borrow, or even steal the March issue, just out, from a fruit-grower friend?

For besides showing an improvement in agricultural appeal under the guidance of our former Review editor, it contains one of the finest articles on international affairs that I have ever read. (That means, of course, that the author's views coincide with mine; but how much better he expresses them!)

It is the report of a speech made to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture meeting in Victoria by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside. He is second only to Lester Pearson in that group of Canadian diplomats who have won world-wide respect; indeed, more respect outside their country than we, through sheer ignorance, often give them in Canada.

What is more, Dr. Keenleyside is the man who refused to shake hands with that former right-hand man of Hitler, Dr. Schacht, and I respect him a little extra for that. In these times everybody seems expected to do a somersault in political thinking every few years; dastardly enemies became loyal allies, and loyal allies enemies, at the change of a newspaper headline (Wonder who dictates these changes?) And it's good to find in public life a man who is not afraid to show that he doesn't believe a convicted gangster becomes a fine fellow as soon as one turns on a different gang from his.

His speech showed the calibre of his thinking. There are some pertinent comments on agriculture, flashes of humour—Woman's life expectancy is two years longer than man's, to insure that she will always get the last word—and a great deal of information on world affairs which should be required knowledge for everybody in this eighth trembling year of the atomic age.

For instance: "Over half the people of the world cannot read and write, thus providing fertile soil . . . for superstition, prejudice, and fanaticism."

"Over half the people of the world are ill, though most of them could be cured. In over 20 countries, including some of the largest, the life expectancy even for women is about 30 years."

"Most of the people of the world cannot afford decent clothing, housing or recreation."

"In previous years those who suffered believed . . . that it was a law of nature that they should be hungry and ill, ignorant and oppressed. Today everyone, everywhere, knows that it is possible to enjoy material comfort in this life . . . they want freedom and pleasure and comfort here on earth. Thus we have . . . a struggle for political independence paralleled, within all nations, by a demand for a fairer distribution of the good things of life. Two-thirds of the people in the world are in revolt against their conditions of life. Of these, 800 million may be lost to the present generation unless the Western World can prove that it means what it says when it talks of Christian and democratic principles offering every one the best chance for a good life."

From all this Dr. Keenleyside concludes that we Canadians should first of all help keep the Western world militarily strong against possible attack. Secondly, make living conditions as fair and equitable as possible for our own people. And, third, try to help the world's peoples who are less blessed than ourselves, but have not yet been driven by bitterness to Communism. As long as we remain snug in our prosperity, regardless of the misery in the rest of the world, we are simply opening doors to our enemies.

And for those who cling to the old reckless, 'Let 'em stew in their own juice; we can lick 'em if they want a war' policy, Dr. Keenleyside quotes the chairman of the Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy; in case of war, Russian bombers will be able to 'incinerate 50 million Americans in five minutes.' It's got to the stage of 'practise the Christianity you've been preaching, or be blown to you-know-where.'

But no summary like this can do justice to such a speech; get it and read it for yourself. In fact, if I'd said that at the beginning and nothing more . . .

More Care Needed . . . fire can be greatest disaster

SIX times in the last 14 days, Summerland firemen have been called out to extinguish grass and brush fires. In four instances these were the result of people burning grass or prunings and the other two are credited to careless passers-by—probably from a discarded cigarette, or unguarded campfire.

It is costly to the municipality to turn out the fire brigade for these outbreaks and, worse, adjoining property is endangered. Many householders perhaps are not aware that if a fire started to burn trash or prunings gets out of control and spreads to the property of another person, the one who started the fire can be held for damages.

A major fire would be the greatest calamity that could strike this district. No person has a right to take the chances involved in starting grass fires without first taking proper precautions to keep it within safe confines. There is far too much at stake for anyone to take any gamble.

In respect to fire damage, no precaution has ever been devised more eloquent than that of the school boy whose essay on forest fires read "This is God's country; don't burn it up and make it look like Hell."

Get on That List . . . then use your right to vote

FOR the forthcoming election, the province is placing the responsibility for making up the voters' list right on the voter. This means that every person who expects to cast a ballot in the June 9 election should take the trouble to make absolutely certain that their name is included on the list.

In preparing the new list, the names of all those who voted in the last election will automatically be included. Then anyone who did not vote at the last polling or those who qualified as voters since then must complete a registration card to have their name added.

Certainly this is a far more economical system of preparing a voters' list than to carry out a complete house-to-house enumeration to flush out all those entitled to vote and it places the responsibility right on the individual to know that he is included on the list.

This does not seem to be too much to expect of anyone. The right to cast a free ballot is becoming more and more a rare privilege and anyone with the right to exercise it should reasonably be expected to go to a little trouble to make sure they have the power to use it.

Voting is actually more than just a privilege—it is a responsibility and history shows all too painfully clear what has happened in countries where people placed a low value on their right to vote.

The last election in this province produced a state of confusion in the legislature and it is hoped that whatever party is sent to Victoria this time to form a government will have an adequate majority so there will be no repetition of the last situation.

It is not fair to candidates when only a small percentage of qualified voters turn up at the polls. We expect competent men to offer as candidates for a job of great responsibility and little remuneration and it is still more unfair to them if the member chosen is not given a clear mandate by being elected by a majority of the qualified voters.

See that your name is on the voters' list for the provincial election and then exercise your franchise when June 9 voting day rolls around.

Wise Investments . . . boy scout apple day Saturday

"AN apple a day keeps the doctor away" but on Saturday an apple will carry the extra power of keeping our powder dry for the weapon against juvenile delinquency as well as the greatest training ground for future citizens.

Saturday is Boy Scout apple day and once again Scouts will be out in force to vend the luscious rosy-red fruit.

This is the only time in the year the Boy Scouts make an appeal to the public for funds and in keeping with the traditions of the movement their money-raising venture is one which requires an effort on the part of every Scout and they give something in return for what they receive. Scouts do not ask for a hand-out.

Money spent on a Scout apple is money wisely spent because it not only returns a flavorful fruit but is a wise investment in the future.

It is unnecessary to outline what Scouting means to the community, to the country and to the world society because Scouts by their actions have clearly established in the minds of everyone what the movement has accomplished in the relatively few short years it has been in existence. They have done so to the extent that when a person is described a "A Good Scout" it conjures up thoughts of a person of the very highest ideals and the highest qualifications of citizenship. That the term "good Scout" should enter so frequently into everyday conversation is the greatest measure of praise that could ever be paid the Scouting movement.

Scouts of Summerland have done their fair share in promoting respect for the movement. Collectively they have proven themselves to be an active, willing community organization and individually, they have proven themselves to be desirable junior citizens of the district.

It is in the interest of all to promote the work of this fine group, to assist them in developing and enlarging their circle of activities.

On Saturday, every person will have a chance to "be a good Scout" and contribute generously for a Scout apple.

LEAVE ENOUGH TO LIVE ON

The demand for an easing of garnishee regulations in actions for debt, made in the Legislature by Leo Nimsick of Cranbrook again calls timely attention to a legal abuse that's close to barbarous.

For something like 40 years the law governing the garnishee of wages for debt has permitted a creditor to secure an order, without a trial or any judicial process, entitling him to attach all but $65 per month of a debtor's income.

In the case of a room and board bill there's no exemption at all. The creditor landlord can impound everything until his claim is satisfied. And this before the case is even tried.

Now $65 a month may have been a handsome sum 40 years ago. But let a man with a wife and children or even a single man try to live on it today and he'll face starvation.

The original idea of the $65 exemption was to leave the debtor enough to live on. It obviously doesn't fulfill that purpose today. Living costs have more than doubled. Rents are twice or thrice what they were 40 years ago. Food costs have gone up even more.

Imprisonment for debt is supposed to have been abolished. But what's the difference between putting a man in a debtor's prison and throwing a man and his family into destitution?

Mr. Nimsick suggests that the exemption be raised, especially for married persons, to at least $120 per month. He's emphatically right. And he might even go further than that.

Britain has abolished the practice of allowing garnishees of wages prior to a judgement in court. And a good case can be made out of such abolition. Why should a court be able to seize a man's money before he is shown to be in the wrong?

Certainly the amount of the exemption should be raised at any rate. To maintain it at $65 per month is sheer savagery.—The Vancouver Sun.

10 PER CENT OF CANADIANS

"Mental illness is still our largest and most difficult health problem in Canada," Dr. J. D. M. Griffin, general director of the Canadian Mental Health Association, told the 33rd annual meeting of the Health League of Canada. "About 60,000 mentally ill patients occupy hospital beds—and as far as can be determined the peak has not yet been reached."

Dr. Griffin quoted an estimate that about 90 per cent of the patients comprising the general physician's practice suffer from some form of mental disorder. There is "substantial evidence" to support the statement that poor mental health affects in a significant way the lives of about 10 per cent of the population of Canada.

He reported that an increasing proportion of general medical practitioners are acquiring skill in psychotherapy; and as more practical psychotherapy is utilized "we can expect to see the familiar 'bottle of pink medicine' and the hopeful pat on the back gradually disappear."

Dr. Griffin said that Canada is "still desperately short" of adequate psychiatric hospital facilities. In spite of the best efforts of provincial departments, the building of additional accommodation for mental patients never seems to keep pace with the growing need. He felt the trend to develop psychiatric facilities in general hospitals is "encouraging" and the national mental health grants to aid in the provision of new facilities and the training of more psychiatrists, psychologists, and social workers "have been and will continue to be major factors in our successful fight against mental illness."—Comox Free Press.

BY O. L. JONES, MP for Yale

There is an item in the estimates totalling $5,000,000, asked for by the Health Department, and there is speculation as to the purpose of this extra demand on the resources of the country. The National Health Program, which was started in 1948, is up for a review this year, and it is supposed that, owing to the success of the scheme during the last five years, added money is needed for its expansion. It will possibly include medical aid and rehabilitation of disabled adults in the same way as crippled children have been aided. It will also provide for the construction of laboratories to aid doctors in obtaining accurate diagnosis of their patient's illness. It is possible that laboratories will be built in communities that now have no such service. Some of the money may also be used for increasing the equipment and providing more trained personnel in laboratories which are now under-staffed and under-equipped.

The Government already makes grants towards hospital construction, general public health, training of professional personnel, mental health, crippled children, cancer and T.B. control.

The death of Senator Doane of New Brunswick has again drawn attention to the Senate set-up. Already rumours are prevalent of the need of Senate reform, four consecutive terms of office have given the Liberal party overwhelming control of the Senate. At the present time, of the 102 Senate seats, 72 are held by Liberals, 8 by Conservatives, all of whom are getting on in years, leaving 22 vacancies that will be filled by the Prime Minister, possibly this summer; at any rate, before the coming election. With such an overwhelming control, it is fairly obvious that the Senate is merely becoming a rubber stamp for the Liberal party, and efforts may be made to revamp the method of selecting the Senators—by appointing men on their merits or for service rendered to the country as a whole, apart from politics.

Mr. M. J. Coldwell presented a petition to Parliament containing over 100,000 names, asking the Government for the enactment of a comprehensive national health plan, which would provide for all our citizens, irrespective of their income, in regard to medical, dental, optical and other health care. The presentation of this petition will indicate to the Government the national desire of the Canadian people for adequate health protection, irrespective of their personal income.

Mr. Herridge received an answer to three questions that will be of interest to people in this Riding:

(1) Under P.F.R.A. these sums were spent in the various provinces:

Manitoba	$ 4,277,688.00
Saskatchewan	35,276,331.00
Alberta	28,049,108.00
British Columbia	Nil

The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act does not apply to the Province of British Columbia; however, $2,429,939 has been expended under special votes for land protection, reclamation and development in that province under supervision of P.F.R.A. engineers.

(2) This answer disclosed the fact that financial assistance has been given to the tree fruit industry of Nova Scotia, to a total amount of $18,888,000.00 since 1935 to the end of 1952.

(3) During the same period, financial assistance has been given to the tree fruit industry in British Columbia to the extent of $5,412,000.00.

A further effort was made by members of the opposition to get the Government to consider guaranteed prices for farm products. This was in the form of an amendment by Mr. Diefenbaker, followed by Mr. Coldwell who started the resolution, as he pointed out the cost of production on the farm has risen very appreciably. At the same time, many of the prices of farm products have been decreasing rapidly—more rapidly than the farm costs have increased. From the beginning of 1952 to the end of the year, the decline in farm prices was not less than 14%, including all farm commodities produced in Canada. At the same time, the cost of production for our farmers, as well as the cost of living, was increasing. For instance, a jump in price of a 12-foot self-controlled combine which could be purchased in 1945 for $2,800, would today cost approximately $6,000. A week ago, the Minister of Agriculture, speaking in the House, claimed that the farmers of Canada were better off today than ever they were, while, in the same speech, he told us that not more than 10% of the farmers of Eastern Canada made enough money to pay income tax, and not more than

Mid-Week Message

Whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's. (Romans 14:8) Read I Corinthians 15:35-44. Words that will ever remain with me are these: "God bless you, my boy." They were my mother's regular evening blessing.

Mother had passed her 95th birthday. Her life on earth was about to end. Her voice, once so free and clear, became weak. Such words as we could catch revealed her concern for her children and her blessing upon everybody. Unconsciousness came as a sleep. God gives His beloved sleep.

Since watching my mother pass away, I have a better understanding of death and less fear of it. This natural course planned for each of us is truly consistent with the mercy and loving-kindness of our heavenly Father. This is His way of lifting the soul up in His arms and placing it in its true home—the house of many mansions.

Is Christ as real to us as our loved ones are? Does our heavenly home have a place in our reckoning as definitely as our earthly home? Do we look upon death as incapable of having any victory over us because through Christ we can triumph over it?

PRAYER

Abide forever in our hearts, O God, that doubt and fear may have no place in them. Even as we desire to live with Thee in heaven, so would we live with Thee on earth—in child-like sincerity and trust. In the name of our Redeemer. Amen.

Guide News

Guiding activities were somewhat restricted over the Easter holidays but Saturday, April 11, found 25 girls ready to spend the day hiking and cooking by campfire. The hike followed the trail to the irrigation headgate at Trout Creek and on the way the Guides took part in a scavenger hunt, 10 nature items having to be collected.

A sheltered spot was found by the creek to make a few hours of camp and Wendy Wright, Ann Kersey, Nan Solly, Dianne Rumball and Ruby Gronlund were extremely busy, each individual cooking for themselves and two Guides, a full three-course meal to pass one of their first class tests.

The remainder of the Guides proved themselves capable of fire lighting with materials found lying in the vicinity of Camp and using only two matches, all passed this second class test.

After lunch and the extinguishing of fires, a stalking game was held during which the younger Guides passed stalking tests. This was followed by two trails where woodcraft signs were practiced in preparation for a trail in the near future, over Giants Head.

Mrs. R. White and Mrs. E. Blagborne accompanied the Guides.

Girl Guides' Cookie week has been organized throughout the province to raise money to meet an urgent request from dominion headquarters, Toronto for financial assistance from each province. This year, our provincial quota to dominion headquarters will be $2,500. Guides, wearing uniforms will be selling cookies at Alec Watt's office all day Saturday, April 25 as well as taking orders individually from neighbors and friends. The money derived from the sale of these cookies will go toward furthering Guide work and ideals within this province and throughout the whole Dominion of Canada.

Patrol Points now stand as follows: Buttercup 289; Clover 276; Forget-me-not 284; Hepatica 350; Lily of the Valley 283; Orchid 327; Pansy 295; Pimpernel 241.

Summerland Guide Company has been quite thrilled to have an interesting letter from Mrs. Amy C. Robinson of Ipswich, England, thanking them for the gift of money which they sent to help those suffering loss by the recent devastating floods on the east coast of England.

Ipswich was chosen to be the recipient because Guiders Mrs. E. Blagborne and her sister, Mrs. Skeppings, were members of a company of Guides there, and so there was in the letter the special gratitude expressed from those who remembered them as Guides, and who were deeply touched at this gesture from Canadian Guides.

Said the English Guider, "It was so affecting to feel that you who are so many miles away should be thinking of us here in Ipswich, and that you had raised so much money to send to us to help. I am very grateful and proud to think of what the Guide movement can do. It is simply amazing. You from the other side of the world send us a gift which shall be a memorial to the Guide spirit of Canada which will not be forgotten, I assure you."

VISITING HERE

Vancouver visitors for Easter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fredrickson and of Mrs. Ann Clifford were their nephew, Walter Bendixon and his friend, Ray Shasta.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

1st Summerland Troop

This week we had a good game of a hidden message and signalling combined. The Buffaloes, received 15 points and the Hawks and Eagles 5 each.

District Scoutmaster Gordon Blewett paid us a visit and gave the boys a briefing on the International Campore to be held in Oroville, Wash. on May 22-23-24. It is hoped we will be able to send at least one patrol. Come prepared to make your decision next week as the deadline for application is here.

Saturday is apple day, all boys are to be at Mr. Alec Watt's office before nine a.m. in full uniform along with their best manners. Will Larry Lemke and Pat Anderson be at White & Thornthwaite. Cars will be available to take the boys through the different districts in the morning. It is hoped the public will enjoy their apple and give generously as this money will enable the boys to go to camp this summer.

Next Tuesday we have a "Coming-Up Ceremony" when 3 cubs will advance into Scouts. Lets have a good turnout and full uniform.

On Saturday, April 25, we will be planting fir trees on the Giants Head. A forestry representative will be present to supervise the planting. Our turning out in full force will show our enthusiasm. Duty patrol next Tuesday, April 21—Hawks.—D. M. M.

15% of the Western farmers made enough money to pay income tax. Mr. Coldwell claimed that, even so, these figures were rather high. Mr. Gardiner jumped up to say that he had not contended that farmers were prosperous, but merely indicated that they were better off than they had been previously.

Mrs. J. R. Graham of Salmon Arm was an Easter visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Russel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hemingway of Victoria Gardens, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on April 13, at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunsdon with a few family friends who surprised them with gifts and good wishes.

George Forster showed most interesting program of films, and Mrs. Forster provided a beautiful cake suitably inscribed.

It was 50 years ago on an Easter Monday April 13, 1903 in the church of Tyenham, Kent, England, that Catherine Edith Phillips Churchill was married to William Wilson Hemingway of Kilmearney, County Kildare, Ireland.

At that time Captain Catherine Churchill was commanding officer of the Teynham Corps of the Salvation Army.

A huge wedding cake was presented to the couple by the local people and a large banquet held for 300. The young couple rode to and from the church in a carriage drawn by a pair of greys, preceded by the Salvation Army band and followed by the band from the neighboring town.

They made their first home in Reading, coming to Canada a few years later, making their home in Simcoe, Stratford and Fort William, and later Lethbridge, where they arrived in Vancouver in 1912 where Mr. Hemingway was with the C.P.F.

They came to Summerland in 1936.

Besides their daughter here, they have a son, Stewart, RCMP officer in charge of detachment at Radville, Sask.

Mrs. Hemingway is 80 years of age and Mr. Hemingway 78 and both enjoy good health and are very active for their years.

Easter Flowers Used In Decorations At Wedding of Gladys Daniels

The Church of The Holy Child was decorated with Easter lilies and daffodils on Tuesday, April 7, for the wedding at 9:30 a.m. of Gladys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Daniels, Summerland, and William J. Lerner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rochus Lerner of Medicine Hat, Alberta.

Rev. A. M. Meulenbergh officiated at the ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

A lovely wedding gown of Chantilly lace in bolero style was chosen by the bride, the skirt featuring an accordion pleated nylon net insert under the scalloped overskirt. Nylon net in halo effect fashioned the headress which held the lace-edged chapel length veil in place. The bridal bouquet was of carnations, sweet peas, fern and baby's breath.

Miss Joan Daniels was her sister's bridesmaid and for the occasion was tastefully gowned in pastel green net over taffeta with matching net cap. She carried a bouquet of snapdragons in pastel shades mingled with sweet peas, fern and baby's breath.

Harry Daniels, brother of the bride, was the best man.

The church choir sang at the ceremony and during the singing of the register John Menu sang Ave Maria.

A wedding breakfast for the thirty guests was held in the parish hall.

For the wedding Mrs. Daniels was in a becoming navy sheer frock with corsage of red carnations.

Daffodils decorated the tables and a tiered wedding cake was topped with miniature figures of a bride and groom.

Mr. Daniels proposed a toast to the young couple to which the groom responded.

For motoring to points south, the bride changed to a smart navy blue suit with which gold accessories were worn, and a corsage of which carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Lerner will make their home in Westlock, Alberta, where the groom is a member of the teaching staff.

Mrs. Lerner is a native daughter of Summerland and a graduate of St. Paul's Hospital school of nursing.

Out of town guests were Miss Marjorie Mott, Ladner, B.C. and Grant and Bernie Sylvester of Penticton.

Hack-Lye Ceremony . . .

Easter Nuptial Rites In Penticton Of Interest to Many People Here

A profusion of stately lilies and pale yellow daffodils formed the setting for the pretty Easter, Monday ceremony in St. Saviour's church, Penticton, when Doreen Esther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Lye, Penticton, was united in marriage with Dennis Stephen, son of Mrs. Hack, West Summerland, and the late Cyril Hack.

Canon F. V. Harrison and Rev. A. R. Eagles, rector of St. Saviour's church, officiated.

The bride's gown of white nylon tulle posed over a hooped skirt of taffeta was designed by her grandmother, Mrs. John Campbell. French lace fashioned the jacket which had a peplum, Elizabeth collar, and sleeves in lily-points.

Accentuating the coronation influence, which was apparent in the bride's attire, was a seed pearl rhinestone studded tiara from which misted a full length illusion tulle veil. She carried a white prayer book on which were two deep colored orchids and white heather. For "something old" and "something borrowed" the bride wore an heirloom pendant of gold.

Bouffant-skirted gowns of nylon tulle with matching stoles were made identically for the maid of honor, Miss Juanita Biagioni, whose costume was in a peach shade, and for the bridesmaid, Miss Louise Lye, the bride's cousin, whose ensemble was aqua. Both wore tiny seed pearls in their tulle hair bandeaux. Their colonial nosegays were styled of pastel colored spring flowers.

Little Barbara-Ann Emsland is flower girl wore a frock of primrose yellow nylon tulle with tiered layers of the material making the tiny skirt. She carried a miniature nosegay of spring blooms.

The groom's brother, James Hack of Crows' Nest was the best man and ushers were Stanley McPherson of Penticton, and Jack Dunham of Summerland.

Mrs. Fred Burton played the organ accompaniment for the soloist, Mrs. Sidney Wade.

Yellow forsythia and spring blossoms were used effectively to decorate the Masonic Hall where the wedding reception was held. The yellow color theme predominated again when daffodils intermingled with mauve tulips to ornament the bridal table, centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. White tulle circled the base of the cake and silver candelabra held white tapers to complement the table setting.

Dr. A. Earl Wells proposed the bridal toast with the groom responding.

Those serving were Mrs. J. Owen, Miss Doris Reeder, Miss Poggio McLolland, Miss Shirley Anthony and Miss Pat Fletcher.

A two-piece model in grey silk Shantung was worn by the bride's mother at the wedding. With this mauve accessories and a corsage in blending colors were worn. The groom's mother, Mrs. Hack, was attractively attired in navy blue trimmed in white and accessories in navy. Her corsage was in a pastel shade.

The bride donned a knitted suit in aqua spray for travelling on a honeymoon trip to the States and to the coast. She wore a rhinestone studded close fitting hat which matched her suit in color. Her accessories were in British tan and her corsage of orchids.

Other out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stager and daughter, Yvonne, and Robert A. Lye, all of Powell River; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Paton, Sutherland, Sask; Miss Nancy Hack, Edmonton, Miss Elsie Hack, and George Hack, Vancouver; Mrs. James Hack, Crows' Nest; Mr. and Mrs. George Sadler, Revelstoke; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Mair, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Elliott, Mrs. F. V. Harrison, Mrs. Jack Dunham, Rev and Mrs. H. R. Whitmore, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, Mrs. Eva Stewart, Summerland school board received communication from the B.C. school trustees' association referring to the splendid work of the Junior Red Cross Society in the schools of British Columbia.

 Since 1941 many physically handicapped and crippled children in various school districts have been financially assisted through Junior Red Cross funds totalling nearly $10,000. Of those helped there have been seven children from Summerland.
 Through this fund, transportation costs to and from hospitals and clinics are provided for needy children and when necessary, for escorts. Hospital co-insurance, medical, and other necessary expenses are financed. Glasses, hearing aids, wheel-chairs, special shoes and braces and other appliances and equipment as required are provided.
 Summerland has an active Junior Red Cross in the MacDonald school.

Win or Lose

By Jack Dunham

I'm sure, at one time or another, you've all tried to catch someone with the question, "where was Moses when the lights went out?" Well, here's a new one for the books, "where were the Pentiction curlers when the trophies were given out?"

Before I explain, let's take a quick gander at the big Peach Blossom bonspiel in Pentiction last weekend. Summerland curlers practically cleaned up on the major awards in fact, every one of the prizes went out of town (Pentiction, that is). These out of town teams were winners and runners-up in all events, A, B and C and so, from the Pentiction point of view, the finals held little interest for them. Nevertheless, the Peach city men who ran the 'spiel should have stuck it out to the end to see that play ran smoothly throughout. Instead, these fellows did something that is synonymous with some Pentiction sportsmen, they walked out. At the end of the 'spiel there was not a single Pentiction curler in the arena. You'd have thought the boys running the big show would have been there at the end to present the trophies to the winners. But, oh no! The winners simply went and helped themselves to their respective prizes and then went off home to bed. Yes, Pentiction is indeed known for its "fine" sportsmanship.

Another example of Pentiction's outstanding sporting fraternity is the wonderful support they gave the Vees all year and are continuing to do so. They subscribed over $3,000 to hear "the old master painter, who should have stayed in the hills, Dave Reogele, give us the play by play of the series with Fort William.

The fans responded heartily and

Frank Metcalf back with Macs

The news that baseball fans in these parts have been waiting for has come. Frank Metcalf has been talked out of retirement and will be behind the plate again this year, for part, if not all the season. This will give the Macs the shot in the arm they so sorely need.

Frank has always been one of the locals top performers. Not only has he been a steady in-left every one practically breathless with their sudden and enthusiastic response. Truthfully speaking, I was glad that we were going to hear these games, although I would have been much happier if they had, left Sid Godber at home.

I wonder how many of you know that the Red Cross was also holding its annual drive for funds in Pentiction lately? From one source I was told that their quota was $10,000 and from another quarter it was reported to be $7,000. At any rate they did not make their quota. During the final days of the drive the radio station called for its now famous drive for funds: to pay the line charges for the hockey broadcast and as I've said had no trouble raising the necessary monies.

Now here is the part that made me wonder what the human race is coming to. In a phone conversation with one of the big wheels of the Red Cross drive in Pentiction, it was stated by this person that the hockey team had brought immeasurable publicity to that city, and that as long as the people felt that they would rather sink their dollars into a tremendous investment such as line charges, then he would be right behind them. Bravo!

I imagine, by now, that you all have the picture that I've been trying to paint for you. As long as a Pentiction team is winning, then everyone should forget everything, such as Red Cross drives and other such paltry things. But when they lose, every man for himself including visiting curlers. Something like that anyway. I, for one cannot see how sinking $3,000 into broadcast charges helped publicize Pentiction. Can you?

Local Curlers Score Victories

Summerland rinks were to the fore in the Pentiction Bonspiel last week-end and two of the three events were won by local rinks with the Croft quartet taking top honors in the "A" event. A third Summerland rink figured in the silverware with the Hallquist rink placing second in "B" event. Lemke foursome lead the "C" event.

Working under Skip Bill Croft were Bill Baker, Bill Snow and Val Trippe; while serving with Gerry Hallquist were Howard Pruden, Harvey Mitchell and Tommy McKay. Herb Lemke had with him Larry Lemke, Gary Hackman and Richard Blewett.

Sharp-Shooters Top Ladies' Pin League

In Ladies' Bowling league play-off the Sharp-Shooters edged out the Sweater Girls last week and laid claim to the Frozen Foods Trophy which was presented last Thursday. Team members will receive individual trophies.

Members of the winning squad were Lola Day, Betty O'Mahony, Helen Yonge, Connie Bryden, Ruth Lawley and Peggy McRae.

Local Keglers In Second Place

A five-man team of Summerland bowlers fell only 50 pins behind last week in the Okanagan Championship matches at Revelstoke to come away with second place position. The locals in six games bowled 6,590 with Pentiction picking up top honors with 6640.

Jake Lichtenwald with a 339 rolled the top single while high-six went to L. Krantz of Pentiction who topped the pins for 1621.

Members of the Summerland quintet were Don Clark, Jake Lichtenwald, Nick Solly, Herb Wood and George Williams.

Other teams competing were from Salmon Arm, Vernon and Revelstoke.

The annual fishing voyages from Britain to Newfoundland were so valued as training for future British naval recruits that, to discourage settlement there, private ownership of land in Newfoundland was prohibited for three centuries. —Quick Canadian Facts.

Summerland Macs Gunning For Win in League Opener Against Vernon Seniors

The 1953 baseball season gets away to a roaring start here Sunday when the Summerland Macs tangle with the Vernon club. Municipal dignitaries will be on hand along with the Summerland band for the afternoons entertainment.

At 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Reeve C. E. Bentley will toss the first ball at the living memorial athletic park, to officially open this district's baseball season. Down in Pentiction the same procedure as the home-

The local Macs will be paying with most of last years squad returning. The mound staff looks rather shaky at the moment and it looks as though youth will make up one half of it while experience the other. The youth lies in Don Cristante, who is moving up to senior company this year. Don was one of the big guns for last years junior Red Sox. Along with Don will be an old veteran who will be back in uniform this year, Al Coffee. Al pitched some mighty fine ball for Summerland a couple of years ago and it is hoped he will be in shape for Sundays game.

The opposition for the Macs will be provided by Vernons entry in the Okanagan-Mainline Senior Baseball League. Reports from Vernon indicate that the northern team has been strengthened considerably by the addition of a number of that city's hockey players. This, of course, remains to be seen. The Macs seem strong as ever through the Middle with Frank Metcalf behind the plate. Fred Ka-

Manager Needed For Baseball Club

"Wanted—Business Manager, hard work, long hours, no pay. Must be prepared to work under 200 bosses who know how to do the job better than he does. Only willing horse need apply."

This is the advertisement last week being considered by the Senior Baseball Club after they filled all offices but one and were unable to find a taker for the manager's slot.

Dave Stevenson was chosen for the post as president and Frank Kuroda as vice-president. Nan Thornthwaite is secretary.

Coach this year will be George Taylor.

Indications for the coming season are promising, club officials state, but they won't be able to get rolling in earnest until they locate a team manager.

Red Sox, Credit Union Meet In Local 5-Pin Bowling Play-off

Bowl "A" and "B" League bowlers went into play-offs last week emerging in top place in "A", were the Red Sox while "B" honors went to the Credit Union. The two are now engaged in play-offs for top position in the two leagues, with Red Sox taking the lead for the first three games.

Order in which "A" league play-off teams finished behind the Red Sox was Frozen Foods, Bowladrome, Young's Electric, Occidental, Superchargers, Pheasants and Starliners.

Behind the Credit Union in "B" came Harry's Shoe Repair, Dur-nins, B.C. Shippers, Meteors, Verriers, Farm, Nu-Way Specials.

"A" League
High single bowled during the play-off was 352 by Charlie Haddrell with Herb Wood copping high six honors with 1896. Ladies high single was Bonnie Faasse 270, and high-six, Muriel Walker, 1178.

"B" League
Dave Wright rolled a 283 for high single and Dave Stevenson a 1269 for high six. On the distaff side, Bonnie Faasse took both single and high-six honors with 231 and 1028.

B of M Folder Is Helpful to Orchardists

Many growers planning orchard improvements are held back by a lack of ready cash. For such men, the Bank of Montreal's "Quiz for a Go-Ahead Farmer" is especially helpful. This interesting little folder deals with Farm Improvement Loans. It explains what they are, how they can help growers make more money, and how to go about getting a loan.

The "Quiz" emphasizes the extreme low cost and convenience of Farm Improvement Loans. The charge is five per cent, simple interest, repayable in instalments matched to seasonal-income peaks. It includes a check-list of the purposes for which these loans are available, such as payment for new or used implements and equipment; livestock; electrical or drainage installation; and additions or improvements to farm buildings.

If you have farm improvements to make and need a loan to complete your plans, call in at the B of M's West Summerland branch for a copy of the bank's "Quiz" folder. It's yours for the asking. At the same time, have a chat with Ivor Solly, the manager. Mr. Solly is experienced in this type of financing, and you can count on him to help in every way possible. Why not drop into the B of M next time you're in town? Adv.

Back from Course In Civil Defence

Mrs. L. Campbell and Mrs. H. M. Gollnick returned this week from Victoria where they attended a two-week course in civil defence technical training. They will now be available for giving instruction in this phase of the work.

A similar course is to be conducted in Penticton in the near future and it is expected candidates from Summerland will be in attendance.

Alan Laycock of Trail is in Summerland visiting his grandmother, Mrs. I. C. Schwass.

Miss J. Topham-Brown of Vernon was a visitor last week at the home of Mrs. M. E. Collas.

Youth Injures Leg In Logging Accident

Harold Felker, the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Felker had the misfortune on Wednesday, April 8, to have a tractor run over part of his leg and foot causing deep lacerations and extensive bruises, but no broken bones.

The boy was assisting in a log cutting operation on the family pre-emption when the accident occurred.

He was taken to hospital where he is recovering satisfactorily.

Miss Eva and Miss Florence Howden have returned to their home, Blue Acres, at Trout Creek, after spending the winter months in Vancouver.

Final Rites Tuesday For Mrs. P. Schindel

Final rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Katherine Schindel, wife of Phillip Schindel, who passed away in Summerland on Thursday, April 9 following an illness of about five weeks.

Funeral services were conducted in the Pentecostal church in West Summerland with Rev. C. D. Postal officiating, assisted by Rev. C. W. Lynn of Penticton. Burial was in Peach Orchard cemetery with the Roselawn Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Schindel was born 57 years ago in Romania, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Reinheimer.

The family came to Canada in 1902 and settled in Melville, Sask. In 1913 she married Phillip Schindel. They moved to West Summerland about six years ago and Mr. Schindel has since been engaged in fruit growing.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Schindel leaves her father, in Vancouver, five sons, Louis and Reinhold of West Summerland, Alfred and Walter of Melville; Samuel of Calgary; one daughter, Mrs. Victor Rathgeber of Melville, and eleven grandchildren. One son and twin daughters predeceased her.

Here for Easter, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Kennedy, were Mrs. Kennedy's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Balison and their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. David Balison, all of Hefley Creek, B.C.

Hospital Directors Face Problem of Raising Wages

With their budget already submitted to the hospital insurance service, Summerland hospital board at their meeting Tuesday night wrestled with a problem of meeting rising wage costs for hospital employees in the Okanagan. At the beginning of the year, the local hospital boosted rates to bring them into line with all other hospitals in the area but since then there has been an increase of approximately seven per cent in wages at other hospitals.

Harvey Wilson Election Officer

Appointment as returning officer for South Okanagan riding was this week received by Harvey Wilson from chief electoral officer, F. Hurley in Victoria.

Youthful Talent To Stage Concert

Friday, May 1 will see the second annual High School variety concert take place in the high school auditorium.

With all the youthful talent that abounds in the school, this promises to be very worth while.

The concert is being sponsored by the graduation class of 1953 in the annual campaign for funds to pay for the graduation exercises.

The content of the program will extend from hill-billy music and acts, the star of which is Jimmy Peter, to a more serious type of entertainment. The evening will tend to be more on the lighter side however, with a small play and a couple of skits.

There will be several instrumental numbers, including parts of the band.

A hilarious two-man comedy act with Lori Klix and Barry Agur promises to be one of the brighter spots of the evening. The more serious entertainment will be represented by such things as a mixed quartet and a piano duet.

All in all an entertaining evening is in store for everyone.

Local Candidates To Study Defense

First steps in the education of people of this district on what to do in the event of air raids are being taken by civil defense authorities and civil defense officer, Capt. A. M. Temple has announced a course for instructors to start May 5 in Penticton. Several vacancies on this course have been allotted for candidates from Summerland.

The course is to last six weeks and instruction will be given two nights each week.

Capt. Temple has requested that any person interested in taking this course should contact him to arrange for attendance.

Postmaster Ross McLachlan returned this week after a business trip to Ottawa which included brief stop-overs at Toronto and Winnipeg.

Blame William Willett Put Hands Forward, Not Backward To Make Church In Time Sunday

Anyone who arrives at church Sunday morning just in time to hear the benediction pronounced can blame William Willett. Not that Mr. Willett will be around to receive any abuse which may be heaped upon him; he joined his forefathers some decades ago.

But before leaving this mortal coil, Mr. Willett left a recurring mark on civilization—he was the man who 80 years ago started advocating daylight saving time.

This week, farmers will again reflect on the selfishness of the rest of mankind and Saturday night will advance their clocks one hour along with the rest—except they will be wondering how they should go about explaining this change in schedule to their livestock in such a way as they will understand.

Like all Gaul, church-goers Sunday morning will be divided into three parts—the smug majority who will advance the hands of their clocks one hour and arrive at church on time; those who will forget and arrive to meet the rest of the congregation on their way home; and thirdly, those poor befuddled members who will set their clocks back an hour and will show up long after everyone else has been and gone.

And for those bitter souls who can see in the change only the loss of one hour each time, remember, it's only a loan, recoverable in September.

Court of Revision Hears Applications

Three applications were heard Tuesday afternoon by the irrigation court of revision. The court approved one application for reduction of acreage; removed the rate from the property of the Summerland Rink Association and set over for final decision on Tuesday afternoon an application for splitting the assessment on a property which has been sub-divided.

Co-Operative Society Opens New Center

Summerland Co-Operative Services Society this week took an important step in their development with the opening of a service centre at the corner of Hastings Road and Jubilee in West Summerland.

The organization came into being about one and a half years ago for the purpose of maintaining a pool of farm equipment for the use of its members as well as for rental purposes. The society has now grown to 65 members.

In their new center, the society is expanding into repairs and maintenance of farm equipment, as well as rental, and will operate a complete automotive supply and service business. Two men long associated with the garage business in this district are on the staff at the center, Bill Downton as manager and Ole Ringstad as mechanic.

President of the society is Roy Smith and secretary is J. M. McArthur.

Committee To Meet On Coronation Plans

Definite plans for coronation celebration in Summerland will get underway Tuesday evening with a meeting of the committee called to hear reports and discuss general business.

The meeting is to be held in the municipal office at 8 p.m.

First meeting of this committee was held several weeks ago when delegates were asked to advise organizations which they represented of tentative plans for June 2 celebration and the committee will now be guided by reactions to various proposals.

Chairman of the coronation committee is Reeve O. E. Bentley.

New Radiologist Serving Hospital

After a lapse of about three years, Summerland hospital, as well as nearby hospitals, once again has the services of a radiologist.

Dr. J. S. Campbell is now providing this service to the hospitals at Summerland, Penticton, Oliver and Princeton and visits the local hospital every Tuesday afternoon.

HON. LESTER B. PEARSON, right, Canadian Minister for External Affairs and President of the United Nations General Assembly, confers with Trygve Lie, retiring UN Secretary-General prior to the reading of Red China offer to settle the thorny Korean prisoner of war issue. Inset is Dag Hammarskjold, Swedish economics specialist and expert at organization, who was nominated in a surprise East-West agreement and has been elected to succeed Lie in the post of secretary-general.

To Speak In Local Churches Three-Day Session In Penticton May 1, 2, 3 for Interior Gideons

Gideons from throughout the district will gather May 1, 2 and 3 in Penticton for the annual Interior convention and May 3 will be specially observed by Penticton and Summerland churches as Gideon Sunday with speakers from the organization occupying the pulpit for services on that day.

Principal speaker at the conference will be George E. Abbott, Vancouver, past president of Gideons International in Canada. Mr. Abbott will speak at a dinner in the Prince Charles Hotel the second evening of the conference.

Plans are being laid to accommodate about 200 at this dinner. He will also conduct the morning radio service from Penticton Baptist church on May 3.

Chairman of the conference is Neill Thissen of Penticton and secretary is Roy Wellwood, Summerland.

Members from Summerland who will be in attendance are E. L. Miller, V. E. Durnin, T. S. Manning, H. Milne, B. E. Milne, L. Schindel and Roy Wellwood.

Members of the society will be

Will Open Hospital For Inspection In Observance of Hospital Day

Summerland hospital doors will be opened May 13 to admit the public for inspection of the institution in the annual observance of Hospital Day. The day being observed nationally is the one previous but was changed here to coincide with the Wednesday store closing to permit more people to visit and inspect local hospital facilities.

Visitors will be taken through the hospital in groups with members of the nursing staff acting as guides to explain the function of various items of equipment.

Members of the Hospital Auxiliary will assist in the program and will serve tea to visitors in the nurses' residence. In charge of the auxiliary arrangements will be Mrs. Earl Wilson and Mrs. A. Dunsdon.

Propose Memorial For Dr. Palmer Rotarians Attend Wenatchee Meetings

A minute's silence with all members standing was observed in memory of the late Dr. R. C. Palmer, at the regular monthly meeting of Summerland Horticultural Society on Friday evening, April 17, in the parish hall.

Later in the meeting a suitable memorial was discussed to commemorate Dr. Palmer whose aid and influence in the society will be so greatly missed.

E. H. Bennett gave a report of the recent annual meeting of the Central Horticultural Society which was held at Kelowna. A change in some of the displays was advocated and rules regarding shape, size, etc., and some containers, were altered.

R. F. Murray was elected president and Mrs. Brenn was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The 1953 Okanagan Valley Flower Show will be held at Vernon.

At the May meeting of the Summerland Society, Dr. James Marshall will give a talk about roses.

The rest of the evening was spent in viewing four films projected by Film Council member, Wm. Snow. The films were: Science in Bloom, "Canada Carries On" production; Holland, Garden of Europe; Birds of Canada; and Kruger National Park Game Reserve.

Red Cross Drive Brings $2,800

Books on the Red Cross campaign were closed this week with final total at $2,800. Although this sum fell about $200 below the amount collected in the campaign last year, drive chairman E. E. Bates expressed himself well satisfied with the results in view of the fact the collection this year followed closely behind several other very worthy appeals.

Mr. Bates in announcing the closing of the drive also expressed warm appreciation to the many who contributed to the success of the effort in Summerland by assisting in the canvass and to those who supported the effort with their donations.

Socreds Re-Elect Miller President

Summerland Socreds Tuesday night re-elected Lloyd Miller as president of the local association and laid plans for South Okanagan nomination convention to be held May 4 in the Youth Centre. Plans for the forthcoming election were drafted at the meeting.

The nomination convention on May 4 is to be followed by a public meeting at 8:30 p.m. at which speaker will be Social Credit leader, Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who will touch off his election campaign.

Other officers chosen at the meeting Tuesday night were Godfrey Chadburn, 1st vice-president; Henry Mohr, 2nd vice-president; Howard Smith, 3rd vice-president and Harry Hackman, secretary-treasurer.

Delegates chosen to attend the May 4 convention were: H. Mohr, H. Smith, G. Chadburn, J. Miller, A. D. Glenn, A. Arndt, M. Embree, E. Bolton, W. J. Brambley, H. Edward, W. Stein, J. Mott, H. Hackman, Mrs. McDougald, Mrs. J. T. Smith, A. Rhiel, A. Hanson, J. Glasier.

Variety Concert Program Enjoyed

The mystery of the fortune teller was disclosed at the end of the skit by that name, at the Summerland AOTS Variety concert on Friday evening, April 17, in the high school auditorium. Lou Wright and Alan Butler were uncanny in being able to connect the right people with the right telephone numbers, until the end of the act when the table on the stage was moved to disclose Blair Underwood underneath with a telephone book!

In the second part of the program John Holman, T. A. Walden and Blair Underwood were the cast of the skit, The Tea Party.

A third skit, The Mighty Midget, was played by students of the Naramata Leadership Training school.

The vibra harp selections given by Miss Beth Bingham of the Naramata school were well received, and a number in the audience had not heard the instrument before.

Mrs. E. Bergstrom and Mrs. K. Boothe sang delightfully in duets, and graciously danced and sang in a Flora-Laura act of about the 1890 period.

Other items on the varied program included selections by the Summerland band; ensembles from the high school band, and singing by Mrs. Bates' choir.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore acted as master of ceremonies for the evening.

There was a good attendance at this popular affair which has been held for a number of years by this energetic group.

Many Local Entries Summerland Junior Dancers Take Trophy at Okanagan Music Festival

Summerland did well in the Okanagan Valley Musical Festival held at Vernon last week, which was the largest musical festival ever to be held in the valley.

Lynne Boothe and Barbara Fudge won first place in the court dancing class under 16 years of age, and for their execution of the minuet won the cup given for this group. As well as this Lynne Bleasdale and Barbara Bevan tied for third place in the same class.

Diane Haggman placed second in the Scottish group with her Highland Fling and was given 81 marks, with the top mark just 82.

In the "National Other than Scottish" group, in which there were 20 entries, four girls from Summerland did a Dutch dance and made a good showing. Elaine Dunsdon was given 80 points for this, Diane Haggman, 76, Linda Rumball, 75, and Audrey Begg, 70.

Miss Kay Hamilton's entries were Eugene Bates and Lona Deringer in the duet class, pianoforte under 18. In this they won 84 points, the highest mark in the group, as well as the highest piano marks for the evening, and were awarded the Reynolds' cup.

Lona won third place, too, in her pianoforte class.

Pupils of Mrs. C. G. Woodbridge were Marilyn Embree, pianoforte under 12, 80; Ona Willis, pianoforte under 13, 78-79, 157; Rita Greber, pianoforte under 14, 81-78, 150, second in group.

As well as the above, R. Alstead entered in the radio audition on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Woodbridge his accompanist.

Mrs. A. C. Fleming and Mrs. Gordon Ritchie are members of Mrs. Monica Craig-Fisher's Ladies' Choir entered from Penticton which came second in competition.

Mrs. Craig-Fisher's United Church choir placed first in its class.

A number from Summerland attended the festival and they, and those placing entrants, were agreed that the judging was of a high order.

Some people have a gift for doing things in a big way. You know, dress to the nines, order the most expensive food on the menu, drive nothing smaller than Oldsmobiles or Buicks, toss away dimes, quarters, and even four-bits with careless abandon. Sometimes their donations to charities and church are on a much less lavish scale, but they contrive to make these smaller expenditures, too, with a grand gesture.

Me, I envy them, but I'm just the opposite. I do everything in a small way. Buy as much as possible in the five-and-ten, always order the poor man's special in a cafe, squeeze every nickel twice before spending it, and drive a car so tiny that I can't put a bug deflector on it for fear of overbalancing it.

So when I took the family for a trip last Easter, it was no lengthy tour to Alaska, Hawaii, Mexico, or even California. No, we just tootled insignificantly down to the border and forty miles or so across it, stayed a couple of days, and came back as proud of all we'd seen as if we'd covered thousands of miles.

We saw a lot, too. Improvement work on the road to Penticton, for instance, was a heart-gladdening sight. Casual chaps in helmets, cigarets in mouths, were preparing for blasting beside a sign that said "Danger—Dynamite—No Smoking".

Having read in the paper about the $800,000 river-diversion project, we were interested in seeing it, even if it was just at Penticton. Coming back from the south, you can really notice what they're doing to the river. The old Aquatic building is finally torn down, too; after years of stagnation, Penticton is leaping ahead with improvements to her water front and, indeed, to the whole city.

As we drove farther south, it was again interesting to see the first greasewood growing among the sage; isn't this the only part of Canada where it grows? Wild geese were promenading in pairs—you could almost imagine them holding hands—on the mud flats by Vassaux Lake. The little picnic grounds between lake and highway is having a lot of improvement work done, too.

And speaking of improvements, have you seen the new Canadian customs building at Osoyoos? That's one border point where ours really outshines the American. We always heave a sigh of relief when we pass a border without being arrested for smuggling or looking suspicious, and drove on lighter-hearted. Cattle ranching and mixed farming make the American Okanagan valley more interesting to drive through than our own, for the first twenty miles. Then comes the barren, desert-like stretch south of Tonasket, and we were glad to get over it and into the windy bare-looking town of Omak.

Characteristically, we took the cheapest tourist cabins we could find in the town, since they were clean, comfortable, and warm; we never have worried about cabins having the very latest in electric appliances, bathrooms, air-conditioning, and the rest. And it always disgusts me the way 3 and 4-star ratings are given to tourist cabins on the basis of how expensively they are fitted up; surely we aren't the only people who'd rather spend their travel money on travel than on the latest refinements and luxuries in a cabin which one may use only to sleep in.

We shopped, found some things cheaper than in Canada, and some more expensive. Electric light costs more down there, I gathered, than in Summerland, even though they get it from Coulee Dam. We didn't buy any. Had less time to talk to Americans than we had hoped, but found them, as always, friendly and kind.

And so home again, from the land where Cadillacacs are common to that where Austins are common; we met one of the latter pulling a trailer that would have looked big behind a Pontiac. We found both apricots and sunflowers much less advanced here than in Omak, where both were in full bloom. Saw a house with a purple roof, which we had never seen before, and kept a surprised look-out for a purple cow to match, but that is still unrecorded.

Glad to be home again, and quite content with our tiny trip; which just shows how small some people can be, doesn't it?

Growers were asked to pay much more attention to thinning than in the past by W. T. Hunter, district horticulturist, because they were urged to produce only number one apples. They were advised to thin early for best results. Eighty-five per cent of Summerland's apple crop was said to be of the best varieties, with seventy other undesirable varieties making up the remaining fifteen per cent.

Professor A. F. Barsa of the horticultural department of UBC visited the Experimental Station accompanied by G. Moe, associate professor of agronomy.

Water was flowing through the irrigation ditches of the municipal system with the exception of Garnet Valley.

Basil Stuart was appointed one of an executive of three on the board of directors of the Associated Growers of B.C.

Rev. H. E. Livingstone, pastor of the Summerland Methodist church, and Mrs. Livingstone announced they would be leaving early in June for Ontario. Rev. H. J. Armitage of London, Ont., was to take Mr. Livingstone's place with Mr. Livingstone going to London.

Ned Bentley and Bert Peckham, proprietors of the Summerland Garage dissolved partnership. Mr. Bentley took over the interests of his partner and was continuing the business.

The extension of the street lighting service to Dale's corner was completed.

Dr. C. J. Coultas went to Vancouver to remain for two or three months.

Twenty-Five Years Ago — April 27, 1928

Plans were being made for the June sports to be held at the Experimental Station.

A sidewalk was to be built from the corner at Laidlaw and Co.'s store down to the Rialto Theatre as a safety measure for pedestrians.

The Operatic Society were planning to produce the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, Iolanthe, during their next season.

J. W. Jones, MLA, was chosen as the Conservative candidate for the forthcoming election in this riding.

Phil Sourrah underwent an operation for appendicitis in the local hospital.

Dr. F. W. Andrew gave school pupils medical examinations during the week.

A number from Summerland were attending the musical festival at Kelowna.

The additional bowling green which was started the previous fall was being put in shape and making a promising spot. Considerable work was necessary to fix it properly.

R. M. H. Turner's home in Meadow Valley was destroyed by fire, with the building and contents a complete loss.

Not Our Opinion . . . we still hold out high hopes

WRITERS of signed columns of this newspaper are given complete freedom to express any thoughts they wish and just as long as they avoid libel, their copy reaches print untouched by the editor's pencil. The opinions of columnists, naturally, do not reflect the editorial opinion of The Review and may upon occasion be in direct conflict with the paper's policy.

We like it this way because we feel the newspaper can provide a greater service to its readers by reflecting a diversity of opinion.

The case we have in point is the column last week by Rusticus in which he pays tribute to Dr. Hugh Keenleyside for his refusal to 'shake hands with former member of the Hitler hierarchy, Dr. Schacht. Says Rusticus, "I respect him a little extra for that".

Sorry, but we've just got to respect Dr. Keenleyside and Rusticus just a little less for their attitude.

We hold no brief for Dr. Schacht. In fact we privately believe from what we have read that he participated pretty actively in the perpetration of one of the greatest crimes against humanity—but an international tribunal heard his case and granted him his freedom. It is a principle of British justice that a man freed by the courts should be given full opportunity to re-establish himself in a useful role in society.

But there is still a greater code that Dr. Keenleyside and Rusticus have denied—the teachings of Christianity. They have rejected the possibility that a man who has once erred can ever again become a useful and trustworthy citizen. It is a blessing that this is a false premise because if true, there would be few, if any, entitled to the privilege Dr. Keenleyside holds in such high esteem—that of shaking his hand.

One of the fundamental lessons in Christianity has always been "Judge not lest ye be judged". Dr. Keenleyside must be confident of his own record to rise above the teachings of Christianity and the principles of British justice to place himself in the Judgment Seat.

In view of our own many shortcomings, we will cling tenaciously to the belief that there is a chance on Judgment Day for those who try honestly to make amends for past sins and just as tenaciously we will cling to the hope that in the meantime we will never have to answer for them to the smug Dr. Keenleyside.

Vanishing Tourist . . . how about a warmer welcome?

THE tourist season is almost here and tourist industry is everybody's business. And this year as we spread the welcome mat for our visitors, we should do a little soul searching to find out where we have been falling down.

More and more, visitors are coming to British Columbia but statistics show they are making shorter stays and spending less money. Most of these visitors come from south of the border in automobiles. In 1951, 2,219,601 motorists entered Canada on traveler's permits of 48 hours or longer, but in that year there was a drop of $10 million in tourist revenue against the peak year of 1949. Figures are not available for 1952 but they are expected to disclose a continued downward trend.

These shorter visits mean the loss of many tourist dollars. We must all ask ourselves why do our visitors to Canada from the south hurry away. We know we have unsurpassed scenery, so is it our roads, is it the places to stay, or is it our own personal attitude toward these visitors?

The Lighter Side

Slips That Pass in Type

A Springfield, Mass., newspaper advertised under the Help Wanted column for a "delinquent and ambitious girl."

He had the privilege also of viewing a large number of rare Egyptian tummies. (Suburban News, Cleveland, Ohio.)

The police day book here carries this notice: "See the bulletin board for the list of officers to shoot for target practice." (Milwaukee Journal.)

Mayor Thompson commended the city tax collector and all city employees who worked untiringly to complete in 160 days what under normal conditions would have taken 90 days. (Mississippi Daily News.)

Miss H. wore a rose crepe afternoon dress with matching fat. (The Herald, Texas.)

A logger had checked out of his hotel and realized that he had left his logging boots. Returning to the hotel he learned that a newly-wedded couple had taken the room.

They were in that baby talking stage, and as the logger peeked through the keyhole, he saw the bride's tiny mouth, and heard the groom say: "Who's 'ittle mouth is that?"

"Yours", she cooed.

"Yours, darling," she assured him.

"And those 'ittle hands?" he asked, kissing them.

"Yours, of course, dearest," she replied.

"Listen here, young fellow," called the impatient logger through the transom, "when you come to a pair of logging boots they are mine!"

Mid-Week Message

Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should raise the dead? (Act 28:8). Road Acts 26:8-15.

Corporal, the old Christian Negro slave, was dying. Throughout his entire life he had known nothing but the most difficult work. He was deeply religious. Finally, the doctor bent over him and said, "Corporal, it is only right to tell you that you must soon die." With the most radiant smile on his face, he answered, "Bless you, doctor, don't let that bother you. That's what I've been living for."

On his seventy-fifth birthday, Victor Hugo wrote: "When I go down to the grave, I can say, like many others, 'I have finished my life.' My day's work will begin again the next morning. The tomb is not a blind alley; it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight. It opens on the dawn."

Death has no victory in the presence of God, the loving Father. A living faith in a resurrected Christ means eternal life.

PRAYER

Our Father, we thank Thee for the resurrection of Christ and the power of our risen Lord. Help us to remember that we serve a living Christ; and that because He lives, we, too, shall live. In His name we pray. Amen.

It was refreshing to see the unanimity of all parties in favor of a bill that seeks to abolish racial intolerance, by barring discrimination in employment on the grounds of race, creed or color.

This act, sponsored by Hon. Milton Gregg, minister of labor, met general endorsement, although some suggestions were made that it should be extended and endorsement clauses strengthened. This bill makes it an offence for any employer to discriminate against employees or those seeking employment, because of race, color or creed. This same ban is extended to apply to trade unions and their members. Of course, at the present time it only affects those industries under federal jurisdiction in labor relations, including railways, shipping, aviation, communications and other inter-provincial enterprises.

Endorsement of the act will mainly be by conciliation, although court fines up to $500 may be imposed.

Mrs. Fairclough advocated a strong educational program to help make the act effective. She suggested the appointment of a permanent labor commission to carry out this work and to enforce the measure. As it stands, the department staff will administer the act. Alistair Stewart called the bill a "land mark in Canadian labor history", but suggested it should have more power of enforcement. Small details in this bill may be changed during its passage through the House Committee.

Agreement has been reached on an international level for wheat prices with most of the countries concerned with the exception of England. Unfortunately, England feels that the price demanded is too high and has made an offer five or ten cents lower than the one demanded by Canada and the other exporting nations. Mr. Howe announced to the house that he would leave no stone unturned to get the agreement finally working for another two or three years. He pointed out that Anglo-Canadian relations will be adversely affected if Britain does not sign; that it would be most undesirable to continue the pact without Britain and Canada would not be happy about the situation.

Britain being the world's biggest buyer of wheat and for generations, Canada's best customer. The final price agreed was $2.05 a bushel maximum, and the final offer by Britain was $2.00. There is yet time before July 31st—when the present agreement expires—to bring about an understanding with Britain.

During one of the CBC committee meetings, I inquired of A. C. Dunton, chairman of the board, about the progress being made with a new CBC station to be located in the Okanagan Valley. He informed me that his engineers had found that the project was not feasible and too costly for the coverage that could be got by this station in this particular area, so that the project has been abandoned.

However, he did promise that the blind spots, such as Greenwood, Grand Forks, Oliver and Osoyoos would be taken care of; some immediately, and others by a further survey, after finding the best method of giving good reception to the people resident in these blind spots.

He also outlined the policy for television, giving hopes that within a year, most parts of Canada and the greatest percentage of Canadian people will be able to receive television either from the CBC or private stations.

At various times during the last years, I have stated that I strongly support, and have urged the government to grant, the use of natural gas to Canadian citizens first, before exporting it across the border to the U.S.A. as I feel that the interests of Canadian industry should come first when they concern our own natural resources. Exception was taken to this statement by one newspaper in this riding but I am pleased to say that the Hon. C. D. Howe recently announced in the house that the government had adopted the policy of using our natural resources for the benefit of Canada first. Thus vindicating the stand taken by a few of us in the house during the last five years. With this assurance it is to be hoped that developments will take place throughout the whole of B.C. where light industries could very well be introduced.

According to the dominion bureau of statistics, Canada ate more pork by far, than any other meat last year. This should make the minister of agriculture very happy as we have a great deal of pork in our storages, held and owned by the government.

Just a Taste—

The three year old boy had made friends with the neighbor's dog. One day he went through the hedge into the neighbor's yard. The dog came trotting up to the little boy, and with his tail wagging he licked the boy's face. Somewhat really frightened the little fellow screamed.

A man came running to the boy and asked: "Did he bite you, sonny?"

"No," sobbed the little boy, "but he tasted me!"

RECIPE HINTS

Dinner consists of ground beef patties brushed with sauce before broiling, tomato halves sprinkled with cheese, and potato wedges. Round out the meal with a salad, hot rolls, canned fruit.
 Season 1 lb. ground chuck or hamburger with 1 tsp. salt and 1/8 tsp. pepper. Shape into patties. If desired add chopped onion, or garlic salt to the mixture. Brush with barbecue sauce, chili sauce or catsup. Arrange on broiler rack and broil 6 minutes on each side for medium done, 8 minutes for well done.
 To prepare tomatoes for broiling, cut in half, season with salt and pepper and sprinkle with grated cheese. Place on broiler rack when hamburgers are turned. Partially cook quartered large potatoes, brush with butter. Lay on broiler tray with hamburgers when they are put in to broil.

CUB CALLS

1st Summerland Cub Pack
 Many thanks to the 25 Cubs that came out and piled wood last Saturday. The boys wish to thank the ladies for the very nice lunch provided.

We had an outside game on Monday. From now on we shall have more of them as it is getting lighter now. On Sunday, April 26, at 1:30 p.m. meeting at the Youth Centre, there is to be an afternoon ramble. Just bring sandwiches and water bottles. Neckerchiefs and caps are to be worn.
 Will all parents please watch the Cub Calls for special announcement in connection with the Coronation ceremony, and parents, will you please try to get your boys to the meetings on time.
 Next meeting, Monday, April 27, 6:30 p.m. sharp. Duty Six, Tawny Six.—Akela.

High School COMMENTS

Softball season is here again. Last Saturday, in the Living Memorial Athletic park, two teams from Rutland came down and played our senior boys and girls. Our girls won by a score of 20-11, but the boys were defeated by a wide margin. Kelowna teams will play here on Saturday, April 25.

On April 29 the high school interhouse track meet will be held in the Living Memorial Athletic park.

The big news around the school now is the second annual variety concert. It is to be held in the auditorium on May 1. All money received will go toward graduation expenses. At this concert you will enjoy songs, instrumental numbers, skits, band music, plays and jokes. Last year's concert was a great hit and we are sure that this one will be even better. Say, kids, don't forget that your Bluebird annual subscriptions are due at the end of the month.

Brownie Chatter

2nd Summerland Pack
 Friday, April 17, after the holidays, the 2nd pack got together and held the first outside meeting of the year at the Youth Centre.

Sheila Allen received her golden bar.
 The pack is sorry that it is soon to lose Ginny Braddick who is moving to Kaleden. Since Mrs. Braddick is to help with Brownies there, she was welcomed as a visitor at the meeting.
 Tomorrow Dianne Gillard will receive her golden bar, and several girls are working hard on their golden hand. It is expected that there will be a big golden hand day next month.

Mothers are asked to keep in mind the date of the mother and daughter banquet which is set for May 20.—Brown Owl.

ATTEND WEDDING IN EDMONTON

Mrs. K. Norstrum and Ross went to Edmonton to attend the wedding of Miss Donnell Norstrum and H. A. Wallin, an event of the Easter week-end, which took place on Saturday evening at six p.m. in McDougall United church. While away they visited Mrs. Norstrum's mother, Mrs. I. B. Fitzgerald who is ill at her home in North Battleford, Sask. Mrs. Fitzgerald has visited here from time to time.

RECOVERED FROM ILLNESS
 It is expected that D. C. White, agent at the Kettle Valley CPR depot, West Summerland, who has been ill, will be returning to his work on May 4. During his illness and convalescence Frank Smuln has taken the day shift with Alfred Lotts, night operator.

Guide News

At the regular meeting a discussion with regard to forthcoming events started off the evening. As their Coronation tribute the Guides are tackling the job of renovating the Summerland Library. In this connection Mrs. Blagborne listed out the various duties which are to be performed by each Guide. The duties undertaken ranging from curtain making and sign writing to the cleaning of windows and painting of chairs and tables. It is expected the renovation will be completed by the end of May. This service to the community will render the Guides eligible to apply for their Coronation emblem.

During the course of the discussion, Mrs. Alex Inch and Mrs. Don Blagborne were welcomed into the company as Guiders.

A team game was then enjoyed by all, followed by an instructional half hour.

At the conclusion of the evening at Campfire the Senior Patrol staged a short skit, followed by a sing song.

Saturday, April 25, the Guides will be selling cookies at Alec Watt's office.

Early July has been arranged as the time for the Patrol Leaders Training Camp, which is being held at Okanagan Falls. Camp for the younger Guides has also been planned for July north of Kelowna. Those Guides wishing to attend camp are requested to hand in their names by May 23, and deposits by not later than June 1.

Plans for the Divisional Rally at Penticton have been made for June 6. Campfire girls will be travelling up from the States, ten of whom will be billeted with Summerland Guides. Mrs. Rankine Nesbitt, deputy chief of the whole Guide movement in Canada will also be present.

Patrol points now stand as follows: Clover 283; Forget-me-not 294; Hepatica 356; Orchid 332; Pansy 304; Pimpernell 256.

1st Summerland Troop

Tuesday night's meeting started off with the usual flag break. Then we formed up in a horseshoe for our coming-up ceremony.

Lady Cubmaster McCargar and her Cub pack were on hand to present three Cubs, Brian Baillie, Mayne McCutcheon and Lowell Laidlaw, as candidate tenderfoots into our troop.

After the ceremony Mrs. McCargar led us all in a short sing-song. The Cubs then dispersed, and we had a patrol game, followed by patrol corners.

We had a patrol competition in fire rescue work which the Buffaloes won, followed by the Hawks, and then the Eagles.

We are pleased to welcome into our troop two new recruits, Bruce Lemke and Henry Huva.

Ten boys have decided to attend Camporee in Oroville in May.

On Saturday we hope to get down to business and plant fir trees. Plans are to meet at the Youth Centre at 9 a.m. Bring along a mattock if you have one. Your P.L.'s will be informed of any change in plans.

Duty patrol, Tuesday, April 28, Buffaloes. — D.M.M.

TO RESIDE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. E. Beckham arrived here Monday from Vancouver to make their home in Summerland. Later this week they will take up residence at Jones' Flat in the home being vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Braddick. In the meantime, they are guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Gordon Crockett.

The Modern Economical Way to Heat Your Home

Mrs. W. R. Powell, who has been on an extended holiday in Long Beach, Calif., during the winter months, attended the World's Day of Prayer while there, and gave a most interesting talk about the way it was conducted, to members of the Women's Federation of St. Andrew's church at the regular meeting, Thursday afternoon, April 16, in the church hall.

The president, Mrs. R. S. Chapman, was in the chair, and Mrs. Roy Angus led the devotional period.

Two anniversaries were remembered by the federation when Mrs. W. W. Hemingway was presented with a beautiful cake and bouquet of sweet peas in recognition of her 50th wedding anniversary which was on Monday, April 13. Presentation was made by Mrs. S. A. MacDonald.

Mrs. James McKenzie as a token of her 25th wedding anniversary also received a similar cake and bouquet of sweet peas. The presentation was made by Mrs. T. A. Walden to Mrs. McKenzie's daughter-in-law, Mrs. A. J. McKenzie, in the absence of the member being honored.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Janet McNab and her sister Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Bancroft and Mrs. T. J. Garnett.

NEW ARRIVALS

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knippelberg at the Summerland General hospital on Friday, April 17.

At Grace hospital, Vancouver, on Tuesday, April 21, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Jensen. Mrs. Jensen is the former Miss Isabel Atkinson.

VISITING ABROAD

Mrs. Gordon Ritchie and her father-in-law, Wm. Ritchie are leaving tomorrow, starting their journey to England for the coronation.

Alison Stella Creese Says Vows At St. Stephen's Church Nuptials

Quantities of spring blossoms, peach, apricot, forsythia, and daffodils, were arranged in St. Stephen's church on Saturday afternoon, April 16, for the marriage at three o'clock of Alison Stella, daughter of Mrs. Creese, Summerland, and the late Capt. H. H. Creese, and Harold Howling, formerly of the experimental station staff, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Howling, Sheffield, Yorkshire, England.

The ceremony was performed by Canon F. V. Harrison, rector of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by a family friend of long standing, J. E. Cornwall of Ashcroft, B.C., and for the occasion had chosen a charming dark blue taffeta frock, with which red accessories were worn. Her flowers were red roses.

Miss E. Marion Deeble of Vancouver, bride's attendant, was in a pretty frock of turquoise crepe, with dark blue and white accessories, and had a corsage of white carnations.

The best man was Eric Atkinson of Calgary.

The flowers in the church were arranged by Mrs. E. M. Hookham, and Miss Ruth Dale was organist at the service.

Ushers were the bride's brother, W. H. Creese of Kelowna, and R. Smith.

During the signing of the register the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Creese of Kelowna, was soloist.

A reception for 60 guests was held at the bride's home following the ceremony when Mrs. Creese received. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Creese was in a lovely blue and grey ensemble.

Mrs. J. F. Bowen arranged the spring flowers which were used to decorate for the reception, at which the bride's table was dainty with seasonal blossoms and white tapers, and a beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake.

Serving were Anne Solly, Jeanine Bonthoux, Nona Lewis, Carole Allison, Anne Beggs and Lois Harbicht.

Mr. Cornwall proposed the toast to the bride and A. K. Macleod gave the toast to the bride's attendant.

For motoring to various places in the States and to Flin Flon, Man., where Mr. and Mrs. Howling will make their home, the bride donned a grey topcoat over her wedding ensemble.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Creese, Mrs. M. Hayes, Miss M. Hayes, Mrs. H. A. Willis, Miss C. Fairbank, Kelowna; G. N. Gartrell, Mrs. A. Gartrell, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. E. Atkinson, Calgary; Mrs. F. G. Oldham, Mr. and Mrs. E. Boulding, Mrs. M. Sutherland, Miss Lorna Sutherland, D. Sutherland, Penticton; and Mr. and Mrs. L. Badgely and Betty Lou of Kaleden.

The bride has been a popular member of the teaching staff of Summerland junior-senior high school where she taught physical training and was the girls' counsellor.

Named John Gerald At Christening Rites

On Sunday afternoon, April 12, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lashley Haggman was christened at their home.

The boy was given the names John Gerald Lashley and the ceremony was performed by Rev. H. R. Whitmore.

Mr. Haggman's mother, Mrs. C. C. Haggman of Texada Island was here for the event.

Five-Pin Bowlers Wind-up Season With Successful Cabaret Affair

The bowling club wind-up-for-the-season dance on Saturday evening, April 18, was a great success.

It was well-attended by those who have enjoyed bowling during the winter months, and was in cabaret style in the Oddfellows' Hall.

The hall was decorated appropriately with large five-pins and out-size bowling balls in color cut from cardboard and placed on the walls of the hall.

Across the front of the room the trophies were displayed and dancing until midnight was to the music supplied by the Mountain Rascals.

At midnight the retiring president, Bert Bryden, distributed the cups to the winners, assisted by the retiring secretary, Mrs. A. McIntosh.

Following this, the new president, Dave Stevenson, introduced the new executive, and urged those present to turn out to make the next season even more successful than that of 1952-53.

Refreshments were served to conclude the party, with N. O. Solly, convener, and committee members, Mrs. Fred Walker, Mrs. A. McIntosh, Don Hermiston, and Roy Desilets.

HOME AGAIN

A scale-sized replica of Queen Elizabeth I took Montreal artist George Vladar 900 working hours to complete. The project shows the Queen at the height of her reign, at 55, wearing the jeweled robes in which she gave thanks for the defeat of the Spanish Armada. Mr. Vladar was interested in creating a complete series of replicas of all the Queen that have ruled England and the Commonwealth but found that the research and money and time that went into the first model has prevented him from continuing.

The May, Queen celebration in New Westminster is considered something of a spectacle, a model for many other parts of the province.

and mouth disease when the American market was closed, that the government decided to buy and can surplus pork, until now it has 73,000,000 lbs of it, after selling 25,000,000 lbs at a loss of $6,075,000. The cost of producing a twelve ounce tin to the government is 46c a tin and they have been selling it for 30c a tin. If all the store of canned pork is sold at this rate it will be another loss of $18,000,000 or $19,000,000.

While the government stands to be criticised for this large surplus, one must remember that the conditions that forced them to adopt this policy were beyond their control. It is possible that with the proper marketing method, the whole of this surplus could be disposed of at no loss, in a matter of one or two years. At the same time we could turn over a great deal to the United Nations Organization, that seeks to raise the standard of living of some of the down-trodden nations of the world. The exchange of prisoners of war in Korea has brought a hope of peace in this troubled area. While

INTERESTED IN ECONOMY?

"Variety meats" is the term used by nutritionists to describe what many people consider very tasty and economical pieces—heart, tongue, liver, kidneys and brains. These can be made into very savory dishes, greatly favored by the people of many countries. These meats are rich in the nutrients necessary to health, even more so than some of the more expensive cuts.

members of parliament as a whole are anxious to see a settlement, there have been indications that others in the North American part of the world are not so happy. I refer to the collapse of the stock market in the U.S. when billions in stock value disappeared in a matter of two or three days. Let us hope that this does not indicate that peace will bring another depression. We, in Canada feel that the government has sufficiently advanced its plans to prevent the repetition of the 1930 disaster. I would again remind those municipalities, that some years ago prepared plans for any possible period of depression, to keep them up to date.

A service of admission was held in St. Stephen's church on Monday evening, April 20, and Canon F. V. Harrison welcomed 10 new members to the Women's Auxiliary, prior to the regular monthly meeting in the parish hall of St. Stephen's branch W.A.

Reports were given by convenors of the various committees.

New business included naming Miss Elizabeth Theed convenor of a committee which was formed to provide added interest to the regular meetings in the form of speakers, readings, and other entertainment. Mrs. R. A. Fredrickson and Mrs. N. O. Solly are on her committee.

After the meeting adjourned delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Birtles and Mrs. E. C. Bingham.

Auxiliary Crib Club Ends Season Play

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion held the last cribbage party for the season in the Legion Annex on Tuesday, April 14, with eight tables in play.

Ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. W. McCutcheon with Mrs. Fred Thompson winning the consolation.

Leonard Mountford was high scorer among the men, and consolation went to Mr. Deitrich.

Aggregate prizes for the season were presented to: Ladies' 1st, Mrs. F. Thompson; 2nd, Mrs. L. Johnson; 3rd, Mrs. H. Howard. Men's 1st, F. Thompson; 2nd, H. Thornthwaite; 3rd, Leonard Mountford. The committee thanked the players for making the series such a success and announced that it was hoped to start earlier next fall.

Fail To Agree On New Contract

The second round of negotiations on Packinghouse wages and working conditions was held April 16 in the board room of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., Kelowna, between the negotiating committee of the Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions and the industry labor negotiating committee of Okanagan Federated Shippers Association.

Agreement was reached on a number of minor points, but on the main question of wage rates no progress was made, and application is being made immediately for the services of a conciliation officer.

Bryan Cooney acted as spokesman for the unions and F. L. Fitzpatrick for the packinghouses.

NEW ARRIVALS

To Mr. and Mrs. John McKinnon of Peachland, a baby boy was born on Monday, April 13, at Summerland General hospital.

A baby girl was born in Vancouver on Monday, April 13, to Mr. and Mrs. J. Henniger. Mrs. Henniger is the former Miss Marian Richards.

Word has been received here of the birth of a daughter to Lt. and Mrs. Hugh McClarty who are living in Ontario at the present time.

Returning to Canada after 30 years spent in the United States with the passenger department of the Canadian National Railways, A. C. L. Warner has been appointed general passenger agent, British Columbia district, CNR and CNSS, with headquarters in Vancouver. He succeeds S. M. 'Shev' Greene, who retired on pension February 28.

Born in London, England, Mr. Warner began railroading at Montreal in 1916. Four years later, he was sent to the United States with the CNR's passenger department and served in Detroit, Cincinnati, and for the past two years, in Seattle, as general agent.

Town Planning Need Now Urgent, Speaker Warns

Members of Summerland Board of Trade at their last meeting heard a warning from Vancouver contractor and town planning enthusiast, G. E. Baynes that any further delay in developing an intelligent blueprint for this district can lead to heavy costs to residents in the future.

Main point made by the speaker was on the size of lots. Properties are being sub-divided into 60-foot lots at a rapid rate and very soon in some of the crowded areas there will be need for sewers and the cost will be tremendous. Recommendation of Mr. Baynes was that lots should not be permitted smaller than a half-acre and then a sewer system will never be required.

The speaker said there was a thread of selfishness in his remarks because he looks forward to sometime making his home at Trout Creek, but he said, "I don't like the thoughts of paying for sewerage there." "I know what sewers cost," he added, "we make them and we like to make them, but I don't like paying for them."

He pointed to the tremendous cost for sewers in Penticton and reminded that had they held to half-acre lots in the beginning, this outlay would never have been required.

Another speaker at the meeting was B. A. Tingley who gave a brief outline of the employment situation in this district and reminded board members of the problem that exists here of designing some method of finding employment during the early months of the year when no employment is available through the fruit industry.

VISITING HERE

Mrs. Bert Sourbutt of Hardisty, Alberta, has been visiting for two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ingils and with Mr. and Mrs. C. Steuart.

Miss Patsy Dunham of Salmon Arm visited during the Easter holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Campbell, coming down with Miss Jean Peck who visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hadrell.

Guests recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmidt were the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Piller, and Joan, and another brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Piller, and Dale, all of Vancouver.

IMPORTED

... So what?

Side by side on the merchants' shelves — Canadian materials and "imported" goods. Do you get any advantage when you go for "imported" products?

In textiles, at least, the answer is simple. Canadian mills turn out fabrics and yarns that match or better the production of any other textile country of the world in quality.

They are made by Canadians who are paid good Canadian wages; they are designed to please Canadian tastes, meet Canadian needs.

This is no plea to shun "imported" materials. They should be considered along with domestic products by every Canadian consumer, but on a strict what-do-I-get-for-my-dollar basis.

Ask for Canadian textiles if you want the best for your money.

Mr. Loyd is chairman of the Canadian delegation which will include representatives from Ontario and Nova Scotia. Leaving Kelowna the middle of May, the Tree Fruits' officials will stop off at Ottawa enroute overseas, to attend a conference.

This will be the first time the Empire Fruit Council will have met since the end of the war. Purpose of the meeting is to discuss mutual problems and programs regarding shipment of fruit to the U.K. market.

Other members of the Canadian delegation include L. F. Burrows, secretary of the Canadian Horticultural Council; R. E. Sutton, T. L. Meek and F. W. Walsh representing Nova Scotia, and A. Ough-

Large Attendance At CWL Spring Tea

A lovely tea was served on Saturday afternoon, April 11, by the members of the Catholic Women's League in the parish hall of The Church of the Holy Child.

This spring affair was highly successful and well attended, and convened by Mrs. J. Selinger and Mrs. J. Schaeffer, who were also in charge of the home cooking stall. Mrs. J. M. Bettuzzi was taking care of the raffles, which included a chicken, won by Mrs. Ted Wilson; a tea cloth, awarded to Mrs. Phil Pelletier; and a cake which went to Mrs. R. G. Russel.

Aprons were the responsibility of Mrs. A. J. Bonthoux, and in the kitchen to make the tea were Mrs. J. Cristante and Mrs. A. Wolfe.

Those serving were Mrs. Howard Shannon, Mrs. W. Schwab, Mrs. Ross Fitzpatrick and Mrs. P. Pelletier.

ted and W. C. Nickerson, of Ontario. South Africa, New Zealand, Australia, West Indies and United Kingdom will also have representatives.

No Sharp Decline Expected

Anticipate $300 Million Increase In Canadian Capital Investment

While the road ahead for Canadian capital investment "appears to be approaching a peak," it may well be that "the terrain beyond the peak will be more of the nature of a plateau than a valley." This is the conclusion of the Bank of Montreal's latest Business Review in analysing an official survey of "the projects undertaken and the plans made by private enterprise and public bodies to expand facilities of a capital nature."

Underlining the significance of capital investment, the bank report states that close to a million Canadians are employed in construction and in the manufacture of machinery and equipment. "Outlays by these industries are acknowledged to have a strong leverage effect in generating, further income.

"Canada's growth and prosperity in recent years is not unrelated to the fact that a fifth of all goods and services produced have been devoted to the provision of new durable physical assets—a proportion somewhat higher than in the United States and much higher than in most other countries," the bank comments. "It is, therefore, of great significance that the capital expenditure program in 1953 is expected to amount to $5,421 million, close to $300 millions more than actual outlays in 1952."

The review notes that the largest amount of investment is planned by the utilities, followed by new housing construction. Capital outlays of manufacturing and primary industry, in third and fourth places respectively, are scheduled to be lower than last year. "Significant increases are in prospect for trade, finance and commercial services, and for institutions and housing; and since by far the major part of expansion in these sectors takes the form of new buildings, additional demands in 1953 will be directed almost entirely to the construction industry."

The decline forecast in new investment in manufacturing reflects the fact that a number of the larger projects in defence and defence-supporting industries started after the outbreak of war in Korea have now been completed or are nearing completion, the review states. On the other hand, "sharply higher capital investment" is expected in the non-industrial sectors, owing mainly to the lifting of the government restrictions of 1951 and 1952 which favored "industrial expansion and resource development contributing to rearmament."

The bank analysis finds that this year's capital-formation program represents "the smallest percentage, increase in value and, with the exception of one year, the smallest percentage increase in physical volume since World War II." Moreover, the pattern of the program suggests that the amount of construction and equipment put in play may recede more than seasonally toward year-end, as the large number of industrial plants and houses started in 1952 are completed. "In addition, the burst of new construction activity this year in those sectors where expansion had been postponed by official restrictions, and in which the margin of increase over 1952 is concentrated, is not likely to be a recurring feature.

"This does not imply that a decline, if there should be one in late 1953 and 1954, would be of serious proportions," the review concludes. Important sustaining elements exist. Projects for further expansion are evident in the equipping of the railways; in hydro; in oil, iron ore, base metals and atomic minerals; in the backlog of housing requirements; and in the mounting urgencies for the construction of educational institutions, the improvement of highways and the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Win or Lose

By Jack Dunham.

Oh, woe is us, baseball fever in the air once again; but, alas, no junior Red Sox ball team.

Ever since the South Okanagan Junior Baseball league was formed a few years ago the town has had, year after year, a real powerhouse of a junior team. Only a year or two after the league formation the local youngsters captured the interior title from Kamloops. The next year most of the same team returned to junior ranks and went on to cover themselves with glory by winning the provincial title from a Vancouver aggregation.

Last year, the championship junior team, had moved practically en masse, up into senior ranks and manager Joe Sheeley had to scrounge for another brand new ball club. Joe was not happy at the thought of losing most of his hustling young proteges, of 1951 to the Macs but nevertheless came up with another batch of young ball hawks who proved to everyone that they could once again bring glory to Summerland. They played their hearts out all year and although they did not win the league title, they were always up at the top of the heap in league play. Joe Sheeley, along with the rest of us, was probably thinking that this year would be the big one for these lads, who, after one year of experience under their belts, would be the team to beat in '53.

Along came the spring of '53 and the senior Macs began to look very skinny in their ranks. All of last year's mound staff had disappeared, that is Wally Day and Gil Jacobs. Shortstop Sandy Jomeri had found his way into the RCAF. Frank Kuroda found he was too busy and Ernie Rucks was still playing hockey. The Macs found their shortstop worries ended when they snatched Al Hooker up from the juniors. Bill Eyre found senior ball to his liking and also moved up with Al. The senior boys decided they also needed Don Cristante who is now pitching for them.

With these three valued acquisitions the senior boys were all set to go, but poor Joe had really begun to scratch his head as his talent gradually disappeared and was still scratching it two weeks later as he found still fewer junior players around. To make matters worse, many of the boys he had hoped to see out again had stated that baseball was for the birds and they were having nothing to do with it. So, after five years of screaming at, babying, crying over, and teaching young kids, who wanted to be ballplayers, how to take a ground ball, how to hit, bunt, and generally how to be young gentlemen on and off the field, wherever they went, Mr. Sheeley had suddenly found himself with nothing but about 150 pee wees, raring to go. These wee flychasers will be the juniors in a couple of years, but what about this year and next?

It certainly seems a shame that the Red Sox must drop into oblivion after such a colorful past.

Where are all the teen-agers you ask? This is something everyone would like to know. The high school is full of them, but of course if none of them are interested in baseball then we can't very well make up a team.

Probably no one is more disappointed and discouraged than Joe Sheeley, who has gone out to give the senior boys his help, and believe me, they needed it.

In case you're interested fellows, there may still be time to get up a junior team. The equipment and uniforms are there for you, all you need is enthusiasm, if there's any left around.

The Customers Always Write

Summerland, B.C.
April 18, 1953.

Dear Editor:
Up until the latest edition of your paper I have read "Win or Lose" with much pleasure. But, since reading the effort of April 16, I must say I am greatly disappointed and mystified.

It seems to be all about "Sportsmanship" (or rather, the lack of it) in Pentiction. I cannot for the life of me, see where the columnist has displayed any "sportsmanship" in condemning a neighboring town, where to my way of thinking, what they do is entirely their own business. To me, it sounds like a case of "small-town" jealousy, which, unfortunately to out-of-town readers may be mistakenly taken to be the opinion of our very sportsmanlike town. Let us all practice what you preach, Jack.

Thanking you for the space in your paper, I remain
Sincerely,
V. E. McCUTCHEON.

P.S.—Is there not a button on your radio marked "off" which you may turn when listening to someone who does not meet with your approval, Jack?

Kamloops Player Takes Top Honors In Okanagan Table Tennis Tourney

The first Okanagan Table Tennis championships were held Saturday and Sunday evenings, April 18 and 19 at the Badminton hall, West Summerland, sponsored by the Summerland Athletic Club. Over 50 players entered from Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna, Summerland, Pentiction, Poplar Grove and Naramata.

Play was featured by the smooth playing of Kay Kaminishi of Kamloops who stroked his way through the men's singles event without dropping a game. In the semi-finals he topped promising Bud Meckling of Kelowna and then downed Corky Haddrell of Summerland in the final 21-14, 21-10, 21-18. Kaminishi's sound defence and almost miraculous returns of Haddrell's drives drew frequent applause from the spectators. Haddrell pulled two upsets to reach the final, downing seeded Wally Morgan of Pentiction and Dave Waddell of Summerland.

Kaminishi walked off with his second title in the men's doubles, combining with George Myerhoffer of Summerland to eke out victory in a five game marathon from Bob Cuthbert and Howard Shannon of Summerland 21-8, 21-14, 17-21, 18-21, 21-15.

The ladies' singles title went to Marg Barraud of Summerland who upset top-seeded Do MacLeod of Summerland in straight games, 21-18, 22-20. These two then combined to walk off with the ladies' doubles title defeating Dee Morgan and Pat Gray of Pentiction 21-6, 21-11.

Wally and Dee Morgan of Pentiction copped the mixed doubles title in a close tussle with Dave Waddell and Do MacLeod 22-24, 24-22, 21-15.

In the consolation events the Perrie family of Poplar Grove snared two titles, Jim and Bill, father and son, took the men's doubles from Norm Robinson and Edgar Dewdney of Pentiction, then Jim combined with his daughter to top Mickey Bell of Pentiction and George Fudge of Summerland in the mixed doubles. The ladies' singles went to Dee Morgan of Pentiction and the men's singles to Bill Claggett of Kelowna.

The tournament was most successful and ably managed by Dorothy MacLeod. Harry Howie, president of the Summerland Branch of the Canadian Legion presented the prizes.

Complete list of winners and runners-up follows:
Open Events:

Ladies' singles: Marg Barraud, Kamloops, defeated Do MacLeod 21-18, 22-20 (both from Summerland).

Men's doubles: Kay Kaminishi, Kamloops and George Myerhoffer, Summerland, defeated Robert Cuthbert and Howard Shannon, Summerland, 21-8, 21-14, 17-21, 18-21, 21-15.

Mixed doubles: Dee and Wally Morgan, Pentiction, defeated Do MacLeod and Dave Waddell, Summerland, 22-24, 24-22, 21-15.

Consolation Events

Ladies' singles: Dee Morgan, Pentiction, defeated Pat Gray, Pentiction, 21-19, 21-17.

Men's singles: Bill Claggett, Kelowna, defeated John Wiobe, Kelowna, 21-8, 21-13, 21-12.

Men's doubles: Jim and Bill Perrie, Poplar Grove, defeated Norm Robinson and Edgar Dewdney, Pentiction, 21-15, 21-18.

Mixed doubles: Jim and Joan Perrie, Poplar Grove, defeated Mickey Bell, Pentiction, and George Fudge, Summerland, 21-11, 21-11.

Jean Eddie and Dennis Wighton were in charge of the snack bar. Jim Miltimore, Reg Smith and Dave Waddell all assisted in arrangements.

BEN HOGAN pocketed $4,000 recently by winning the Masters golf tournament at Augusta, Ga., with a tournament mark of 274, five strokes better than the old one set by Ralph Guldahl. Hogan, right, is shown with Ed "Porky" Oliver, who finished as runner-up with 279, but which was worth $2,500.

Red Sox Claim Bowling Title

Five-pin League bowling came to an end last week with the play-off between league winners and Red Sox emerged top kleglers by adding to their "A" league victory with a win over Credit Union, winners in "E" league.

With their 158 handicap, the Sox rolled up a total of 6489 pins in the six games. Nick Solly led the pack in total with 640 and rolled a 245 for high single.

Bonnie Faasse led on the distaff side for total pins with 993 while Ruth Caldwell took high single honors with 237.

On the Sox quintet were George Williams, Nick Solly, Bonnie Faasse, Lola Day and Chew Tada. Credit Union team was composed of Gordon Beggs, Amie Beggs, Ruth Caldwell, Bob Butler and Iida Turnbull.

Macs Lose Opening Game Of 1953 OMSBL Season

Close to 200 fans filed into the Memorial Athletic park last Sunday to see the opening game of the 1953 baseball season and were forced to watch the home-town Macs go down to defeat at the hands of Vernon 6-2. Reeve Bentley was on hand to throw out the first pitch. Along with the Summerland band who entertained before the game.

Even though the Macs were on the short end of the 6-2 score they showed they will be a big threat in the league this year. A few new faces were seen around the infield. Al Hooker, with the Red Sox last year is covering short and covering it very well indeed. Al handled three chances in mid-season form, besides being the big gun for the Macs with the hickory, getting two for three. The other new infielder is Hank Farynyuk who is on third base. Hank was playing against his old team mates from Vernon and although he didn't handle any ground balls he looks to be very much at home at the hot corner.

The Vermonites threatened with two down in the first. Graff drew a walk and then Stecyk singled, Graff going to third. However the side was retired when Stecyk tried to steal second and was nailed as Metcalf threw to Kato for the put-out.

The Macs started their half of the first with a bang as Hooker caught Jacksons second pitch and lifted it deep into left center for the first homer of the season. Taylor reached first on an error but the side was retired as Metcalf struck out.

Both sides went out quickly in the second but Vernon scored their first runs in the top of the third when Ike Jackson pounded out a double and then Ray Adams blasted Cristante's first pitch over Taylor's head in center for the second round tripper of the day.

The locals tied the game up in the home half of the fourth when Taylor singled, went to second on a pass ball, third on Aikins single and then scooted home when Spelay bobbled Weitzel's grounder to short. This completed the Macs scoring as Jackson seemed to have them under control from then on.

The boys were hitting the ball but they were the easy pop-up variety to right and center fields. The Vernon infield, from the fifth inning on, played airtight ball and it wasn't until the ninth the Macs threatened again. After Metcalf had popped up, pinch-hitter Bill Eyre lined one over short for a clean single, Verne Borton, home from the RCAF and hitting for Farynyuk drove out another single into center, to put two on and only one out. Weitzel, however, lifted one to right and Coffee lined one into the center field's glove to end the game.

Vernon put the game on ice in the fifth as Cristante began to weaken, up to this time they had only managed two scattered hits off Don, but with two away and Adams on first he filled up the bases with walks to Graff and Stecyk. Big Tony Brummett then stepped up and drove in two runs with a single to right. Al Coffee then relieved Cristante and retired the side.

The northerners scored a run apiece in the eighth and ninth on four hits and a walk to complete their scoring.

Actually there did not seem to be too much difference between the play of the two teams and actually was tops for the first game of the new season. With a few more practices under their belts plus getting the mound staff into form, they will, no doubt, be in the win column from here out.

Behind the 8-Ball

By Gord Crockett

One of the greatest hazards to a man's complete enjoyment of life is having kind, friendly generous neighbors—and I'm knee-deep in them. In fact, I cannot recall ever having known the sweet bliss of having a nice bad-tempered recluse living next to me.

People who have anti-social neighbors never seem to appreciate their good fortune. In fact, some people are so unappreciative as to complain about having such a sterling type living next door to them. Me, I just drool with envy when I hear them grouse.

My trouble has always been that the warm kindly souls living next to me are always "Jack-of-all-trades" characters and can—and will at the very slightest suggestion—supply the necessary tools for any job from building a boat in a bottle to moving the house over to another corner of the lot. And all it takes is for my W.D. to suggest that I build a boat in a bottle or move the house to another corner of the lot and no sooner will I have given the stock answer, "I'd like to but I haven't got the tools" and neighbors will come streaming from all directions, arms loaded with more equipment than a plumber leaves behind in his shop. My peaceful homelife is shattered then until I go to work.

And to make matters worse, my neighbors are always hardy folks who shun the modern labor-saving devices. They always manage to produce the greatest supply of blister-raising weapons ever designed to take the joy out of living.

Last Sunday was a good example of what I run up against all the time. Having a vegetable garden out in the backyard sort of places me in the category of a gentleman farmer and Sunday afternoon I donned a stout pair of walking shoes, a smelly tweed jacket and with my faithful dog at my heels went out to turn on the sprinkler and survey the acreage.

Barely had I made my appearance before the neighbors converged on me to offer helpful hints for gentlemen farmers on how to produce a bountiful harvest of vegetables with no more effort than hours and hours of back-breaking labor.

With my W.D. hovering nearby, I had no opportunity to explain the sole purpose of the garden is so I'll have an excuse to wear my stout shoes, smelly tweed jacket and walk around with my faithful dog at my heels so I crossed my fingers and explained I have no garden tools so didn't think I'd bother this year. Before you could say armoracia rusticana (That's gentleman-farmerese for horse-radish) my "friend" was into his cellar and back with an armload of instruments of torture.

When he came to, he figured he got the blow on the back of the head from stepping on a rake so it seems I will have to figure some less subtle means to ruin a friendship that can mean for me nothing more than blisters and back-aches.

Everytime I think of my wife making notes while he carefully explained what trees and shrubs should be transplanted or pruned, how the raspberry canes should be tied up, the strawberry plants separated and the ground between rows kept loose, I get a clearer idea of what is meant by justifiable homicide.

This week though, I did attain a modicum of success in my campaign to discourage the idea that I was taken on as 17 different kinds of a tradesman to do odd jobs around the house. The washer on one of the taps went on the fritz and, as usual, a neighbor appeared from nowhere to tell my W.D., "There's nothing to replacing a washer, get your husband to do it!" and, of course, added the usual stinger: "If he hasn't got the tools, I'll lend him anything he needs." For those who haven't been caught on the washer replacement deal, here's the system. Find out, if possible, the correct size of washer for the tap and then buy one a couple of sizes too large. If you don't know the size, buy the largest you can get, odds are in your favor that it will be too big. When dinner preparations are just nicely underway, quietly turn off the water, dismantle the tap and throw out the old washer before your leg iron discovers what you have done.

She will have plenty of time to reflect on the advantages of having a plumber for such jobs while you patiently trim the washer to correct size with a razor blade. Those who wish to live dangerously during this operation can keep up a running conversation about the money saved by being able to make home repairs.

This is a chance of a lifetime and should be milked for everything in it so if by any remote chance the new washer works and continues to for more than a week, it should be surreptitiously removed and damaged enough to cause the tap to leak somewhat more than it did before you started.

If I can just pull off a couple more jobs as neatly as this one, I figure I'll have my problem licked.

After all, a man's home is supposed to be his castle, not his private salt mines.

Excursion Planned To Accompany Band

Residents of the Okanagan and Similkameen areas will have their first opportunity to travel to the coast at excursion rates on a day-light trip early in May. Initial arrangements for this special event were made with CPR by Southern Okanagan High School whose band will be participating in the New Westminster May Day celebration on May 8. The CPR now plans to add additional coaches, or an additional train if necessary, and extend the same reduced rates to all who wish to take advantage of a week end at the coast.

This will mean a day light trip both ways through the scenic Coquitella Pass and lower Fraser Valley. Train will leave Penticton on Thursday, May 7 at 7:35 a.m. (Standard time) arriving at New Westminster about 5 p.m. Return trip will be made on Sunday, May 10, leaving New Westminster at approximately 7:30 a.m. (Standard time), reaching Penticton in time for supper.

Reduced fares are good going and returning only on the dates specified, and places between Penticton and New Westminster.

'Going-Up' Rites For Three Cubs

The big moment in the lives of three Cubs, Lowell Laidlaw, Mayne McCutcheon and Brian Baillie came at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, when they met in their regular pack circle for the last time before going up to the First Summerland Scout troop.

The Scouts opened their regular meeting with the breaking of the Flag by Gary Hackman.

The three Cubs then took in the grand howl for the last time. They then stepped into the circle, and repeated their Cub promise.

Akela then presented each boy with the book "Tenderfoot to Queen Scout" which they will use all through their Scouting career. The Cubs then cheered the boys, leaving the pack. The boys and Akela met Scoutmaster Munn in the center of the room. Akela said, "Farewell!" and Scoutmaster Munn welcomed them to the troop.

Mayne McCutcheon joined the Hawk patrol, Lowell Laidlaw, the Eagle patrol, and Brian Baillie, the Buffalo. The Scouts gave three cheers for the new recruits. The Cubs then cheered our Scout troop and the Scouts returned the cheers.

A combined sing-song followed, finishing by singing "Round the Council's Firelight". The Scouting began in earnest for the three new recruits as the Scouts went on with their regular meeting.

WATCH FOR IT WEEKLY IN THE REVIEW

Like so many other things, dogs are different nowadays. Time was when most humans admired big heavy-built dogs, of heroic mould. Like the shaggy Newfoundland dogs, for instance, whose rescues of men and women at the point of drowning received much publicity.

So much that one almost gathered that passenger ships bound for Newfoundland did not bother to unload their passengers at wharf or by lighter; they simply hove to near shore until an obliging storm washed the people overboard, when droves of waiting dogs would swim out and drag all hands ashore in their teeth, with the pups serving their apprenticeship by taking care of the luggage.

Then there were the St. Bernard's. Who did not dream of being lost in an Alpine snowstorm to be saved by a great furry dog with a cask of brandy about his neck? Some Americans, during their unhappy experiment of prohibition, actually went and tried it out, I understand. And after prohibition was repealed, some kept a St. Bernard of their own with brandy barrel on neck, around the yard at all times as insurance against any repetition of the drought, with sometimes a second dog carrying a chaser.

Some smaller breeds were popular, of course; terriers mostly. One of these was the bull-terrier, a trim intelligent fighter rarely heard of nowadays. Richard Harding Davis wrote a superb story, "The Bar Sinister", about a bull-terrier. Our Dr. Andrew didn't do badly with the story of his own "Klinker", either.

So well known was this breed that the snuffing little Boston terrier was often mis-called the "Boston bull". He was in some ways the most intelligent of all; I met one reputed to be able to open and shut doors, and understand almost every word his master said. He was a quiet man.

If I remember rightly, there was Boston blood in Mike, the famous beer-serving dog of the Bowser Tavern on Vancouver Island. He served bottled beer there for years, until modern times brought collision with the Bar-Flies and Beer-Servers' Union. Mike refused to demand more bones for the same day's work, seeing he was already getting all his stomach and teeth could handle, so they squeeze him out with a regulation that no tavern waiter should serve customers on all fours.

But most smaller dogs were not taken very seriously, and all had the advantage of easily-pronounced names. Newfoundland, collie, fox-terrier, bull-terrier, St. Bernard, bull-dog—they were simple and straight-forward.

Now we have new breeds, neither very large or very small, with new names that tie your tongue into knots to pronounce. Doberman Pinscher, Schnauzer, Saluki, Schipperke, Weimaraner. Instead of being friendly companions to man they are important personalities, with very high I.Q.s. Weimaraners, for instance, are supposed to be able to

Thirty Years Ago — May 3, 1923

Members of Summerland Co-operative Growers voted unanimously to purchase the Summerland Storage Co., Ltd., at a price of $90,000, including the land. Approval was given, also, to the purchase of the two Stuart buildings, the land on which they stood, and the equipment, at a price of $15,586.

Summerland Co-op placed orders for the season's supply of box shooks, part with the Summerland Lumber Co. and part to be supplied by a coast mill, B.C. Manufacturers. The coast price is 19 cents and the local price 20 cents. This was a marked advance over the price of 15 cents for the year previous.

University Players were to present the play, "You Never Can Tell" the witty comedy by England's celebrated dramatist, G. B. Shaw.

Miss B. Johnston presided at the piano and James Kean played the traps for the dance given by students of the high school in the parish hall. The proceeds, amounting to about $10 were for the school sports' fund.

H. C. Handley was appointed manager for the Community Lumber Co. Wm. Ritchie who had been in charge for several months, severed his connection with the firm.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Agur on April 27, at the Summerland hospital.

Lt.-Col. Benson, president of Kelowna GWVA visited Summerland on his way to the coast on business.

R. Carefoot applied to the municipal council for irrigation connection for the alfalfa field in Prairie Valley flying above the flume and watered from the domestic pipe line. An effort was to be made to give him flume service.

Twenty-Five Years Ago — May 4, 1923

The high school concert was enjoyed with Miss Ruth Dale, Mrs. D. L. Sutherland, and Mr. George Mossop as accompanists. Miss Mary Powell and Miss Ivy Weaver played delightful piano solos and Miss Dorothy Hunt gave two elocution numbers. The two medallists, Miss L. Sutherland and Mr. E. Newton received hearty applause following their numbers. W. C. Kelley was chairman.

Hospital Day was planned for May 12, from 8 to 5:30 in the afternoon, when the hospital would be thrown open for inspection. Anything and everything was acceptable as shower gifts which it was the custom to receive that day. Tea was to be served by members of the Hospital Auxiliary.

Jamos Strother of Vernon was appointed manager of the Vernon Box Co.

Downtown and White unloaded a car of fine fat animals from Alberta and placed them on Giant's Head for pasture.

Fishing season opened in the lakes with a limit on the catch.

Reeve Johnston secured two fine hoifer calves from Oliver, both closely related to Farleigh St. Mawes Retta, the cow which made the world record at the local Experimental Station the previous year.

Opening of the Living Memorial Athletic Park was set for May 24.

A ratepayers' meeting voted 66 to 14 in favor of the suggestion of the Summerland Memorial Parks' Committee to erect a community hall on the Living Memorial Park-Playground.

Summerland Fish and Game Club planned a Field Day, the first of its kind to be staged here. Plans included retriever trials, fly and bait casting, shooting, and rowboat racing.

G. M. Dunsdon topped the scorers at the Summerland Rifle Range with a score of 65.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Smythe at the Summerland Hospital on Saturday, April 24.

At a quiet wedding Ed Krause took as his bride, Miss Pearl Tressie Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Leach, Owon Sound, Ont. Rev. F. W. Hastings performed the ceremony at the Baptist parsonage on April 28.

David McIntosh arrived to resume his work at the plant pathology lab here, and would receive his degree in agriculture at graduation exercises next week at UBC.

THURSDAY, APRIL THIRTIETH, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREE

Matter of Opinion . . . plumping only defeats system

THE Victoria Colonist quite evidently does not like the Alternative Ballot system of voting which prevails at B.C. provincial elections. It says:

"The problem arises as to how the voters can record their true wishes and have them acted upon without the confusion of shuffled preferences which resulted last time in a political stalemate.

"Much too large a proportion of the 23rd legislature was elected upon fifth, sixth and seventh 'choices'.

"The alternative ballot . . . can only record a preferential tally if the electors express their preferences all the way through the piece. 'Plumping' defeats the purpose of the ballot, wherein only the full expression of the electors' choices can give a proportional result."

Whether we like the present method of voting or not it cannot be said that it is not a genuine expression of public opinion. The ordinary "X" ballot is not where people are used to the proportional representation system they much prefer it to any other form of balloting. With it there is no possibility of any person or party being elected on a minority vote. One journal, in commenting on the so-called "confusion" by The Colonist had this to say:

" . . . it was not the confusion of shuffled preferences which resulted in a political stalemate. The stalemate resulted from an undecided electorate. The alternative ballot did not affect that in any way, for without it there still would have been a stalemate. All the alternative ballot does is eliminate a minority election in any given constituency. Each of the 48 members elected last time finally wound up with a majority, possible under a multiplicity of candidates only by the expression of preferences."

At the coming provincial election we suggest that voters express their complete choice by voting in preference for each candidate and do not "plump". If they do the latter they merely defeat the principles of the alternative ballot.

The Review, like everyone else wants to see one party elected by a substantial majority. We cannot see how the alternative ballot system should affect this in any way.

Popular Decision . . . road program will be welcome

THE 1953 budget for Summerland contains some welcome news for the ratepayers of this municipality. While municipalities generally are announcing increases in mill rate in their new budget, the Summerland council announces a budget that will see the mill rate unchanged and as well provide a generous and sorely needed road-surfacing program for the community.

The council could even have reduced the mill rate this year had the road-surfacing program been passed up but few would advocate that policy.

Estimates of the number of miles of road in the municipality run close to the 150 mark and there is a lot of work ahead to bring many of these roads up to a decent standard. Cost of maintaining surfaced roads is considerably less than that for gravel roads and in the long range, as more and more surfacing is done, the more economical maintenance becomes.

Another important factor which bears on the problem of maintenance is the steadily increasing number of vehicles in the district which mean increased wear and tear on roads. So the sooner roads are surfaced, the better. Human nature being what it is, it is much less painful to pay for this work in a year when it can be done within the same mill-rate structure instead of having the rate increased to include it. Better driving conditions are desired by everyone and will certainly be more welcome than a minor decrease in taxes.

The members of the council are to be congratulated on the budget they have produced and for the program they have blueprinted for the coming year.

Other Opinions

Other Editors Say:

ODD TRANSLATION OF "BRITISH COLUMBIA"
B. K. Sandwell, writing in a recent issue of the Financial Post, takes exception to the French-Canadian practice of calling this westernmost province "la Colombie Canadienne", and stresses that if British Columbians wish to change their name, it is up to them, rather than to Quebec residents. His pertinent observations were as follows:

"A gentleman named Romulus Drolet, who lives in Quebec City, has written me a very pleasant letter in excellent English, in which he attempts to explain the practice of users of the French language, of speaking of British Columbia as 'la Colombie Canadienne', a practice to which I took some exception in a recent column.

"I do not think it ever crossed their minds," he says, "to dictate to a sister province the name it should have. When French-speaking Canadians used the term 'Colombie Canadienne' they logically materialized the preaching from coast to coast that we should think and act Canadian. We would not think of translating British Columbia as 'Anglaise' or 'Britannique', which sounds foreign . . . Our gesture is a testimonial that we consider Mr. Bennett's province as a true Canadian asset to our beloved country."

This is a very kindly explanation, but it does not seem to meet my objection that if the name of British Columbia is to be changed at all the change should be made on the initiative of British Columbia, and possibly with the endorsement of the national authority.

It does not seem logical to me that the people of a province which preserves with reverent care its own flag, designed by itself, the lilies of an ancient French Empire to which it once belonged, should object to another province preserving in its name some suggestion of the title of another ancient Empire, that of Great Britain. The lilies imply no political subservience to France, the title no political subservience to Britain. One is more foreign than the other. The significance is historical, and I claim for the people of British Columbia as much right to say "I remember" as the people of Quebec have to say, "Je me souviens." — Revelstoke Review.

Mid-Week Message

O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? (I Corinthians 15:55). Read I Corinthians 15:51-58.

While sitting on a porch and looking out upon the river Euphrates, I write these lines. Across the river, in the fields, more than one hundred thousand Christians a generation ago chose death through torture and starvation rather than deny their Saviour and live in comfort. They died praying the last prayer of Stephen: "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge."

As one walks in those fields today, human bones in the sand still remind one of their great witness for the Saviour. This is not a story of past ages, but it is twentieth century history. Men and women of our own days have preferred death to a Christless life of ease.

At this time of the year when we ponder Christ's great sacrifice for our salvation, it is well for us to examine ourselves and see how deep our faith is. What degree of sacrifice are we ready to make for the sake of our witness for Christ?

PRAYER

Our Father, the cross of Jesus and the example of those who have followed in His steps remind us that spiritual death is far more to be feared than physical death. Help us to witness for Him at all costs. In His name. Amen.

TOWN PLANNING NEEDED

Editor, Summerland Review:
Recently I addressed your Board of Trade on the subject of Town Planning in Summerland and at that time mentioned I would write to you and set out some of the more urgent needs in your district.

First I think that there will be a continued influx of people to attractive areas as yours in the Okanagan Valley. With the prosperity on the prairies, farmers will be seeking your milder climate. With the increase of congestion around Vancouver, Vancouverites will seek the Okanagan.

Without a plan your most fertile land will be divided into smaller and smaller parcels. A good part of your main industry, the growing of fruit will disappear. You will have the usual ribbon development of poor stores on your main highway, creating traffic hazards and unhealthy social conditions. Your citizens will be saddled with heavy taxes to pay for sewer services. One only has to look as far as Penticton to realize what happens when the citizens leave the planning to the real estate speculator. Then one can see the evils of ribbon developed shopping without offstreet parking, the antiquated subdivision of land in a grid pattern and the tiny lots which can't take the effluent from a septic tank, forcing an expensive sewer system across the town at a cost of 86 mills on the tax dollar.

If your Municipality proceeds with the subdivision of land on Trout Creek into sixty-foot lots the sewer system together with the disposal plant eventually required to service these lots will bankrupt the municipality. I know this to be a fact because we built sewers, both here and in Alberta.

However there is no need for all these unfortunate things to happen in Summerland if your citizens make sure that there is a plan for this growth. A Town Planning Commission could be appointed consisting of intelligent interested citizens. A Zoning Bylaw could be passed restricting the subdivision of residential lots to not less than half an acre, provision for shopping centres with ample offstreet parking. Future parks and school sites could be purchased while land prices are still reasonable. Private and public access and stores should be restricted on your new arterial highway. Every effort should be made to ensure a continual safe flow of traffic on this main road.

Information about planning can be obtained from our University, the Provincial Government or the Dominion Government (Community Planning Association, office at the Vancouver Block, or private consultants at Vancouver).

What Summerland will look like ten years from now will almost totally depend on how interested her citizens are in this plan.

SUCH NERVE ! —

Mr. Murgatroyd believed emphatically that a husband was entitled to a night out alone each week. So every Tuesday night, he went out.

Well, one Tuesday he went out and didn't return. Exactly seven years later, he returned home on a Tuesday and his wife was so happy to see him that she began to phone all her friends.

"What do you think you're doing?" ask Mr. Murgatroyd suspiciously.
"Why, arranging a welcome home party for you tonight," answered Mrs. Murgatroyd.
"What!" protested her husband; "on my night out!"

BY O. L. JONES, MP for Yale

During the last week end the parliamentary committee on the CBC, of which I am a member, visited Toronto to inspect the television installations and their operation. We were shown the difficulties under which this infant body is operating; one being the cramped quarters. The governors of the CBC were our hosts and it seemed like "old home week" as far as I was concerned because one of the members was Mr. Ira Dillworth, formerly of Kelowna and Vancouver, and another Mr. Fergus Mutrie, formerly of Vernon, B.C. Both of whom are held in high esteem by all connected with the CBC. Dr. MacCann announced that he would endeavor to get $2,000,000 set aside for the erection of suitable buildings. At the present time the CBC is housed in the old Havergall College.

Another house committee visited Camp Borden and both committees will continue the discussion on what they observed, when they meet this week.

The Prime Minister welcomed the Crown Prince of Japan to the gallery of the House of Commons. In his welcome, he spoke of some of the history in relation to Canada and Japan. He hoped this mission of his Imperial Highness was a happy omen of better relations between our peoples and of a more effective and keener desire in our countries to work together for the welfare of the whole human race.

A heated discussion arose over an act of the government this week, whereby they used their emergency powers to pass an Order in Council, governing the movement of ships around Korea. The object of the bill was to prevent undue risks being taken by merchant vessels in this area. However, the criticism arose from the fact that the government passed it under the Emergency Powers Act, while it could easily have been done in the democratic way, through the house itself, as we are now sitting. The government claimed that it was a matter of urgency, as they were following a pattern laid out by Britain and the U.S. and had agreed with Mr. Anthony Eden to carry out these proposals. However, it was pointed out that Mr. Eden visited Ottawa several weeks ago, therefore the emergency would seem to exist only in the minds of the government. All parties in opposition to the government supported this vote of censure, the effect of which was lost by the usual overwhelming government majority. There is a strong tendency for the government to ignore the house on such occasions as this, for which they should be severely criticized.

An act that removes the need for radio licences, has finally been passed. There was no opposition at all to this, but there is a strong feeling that the new source of revenue is not satisfactory and the suggestion was made that it be reviewed annually. The proposition is, to turn over to the CBC all funds received from sales tax and duty on radio and television sets and their components. Up to now the income from this source has not been segregated, but it is presumed to be a larger sum than was formerly received from licence fees. On the other hand the financial needs of the CBC are known, while under this scheme their income is unknown. Therefore, members felt, there should be more stability brought into their financial affairs, so that they would know from year to year what they can spend.

A bill was introduced by the minister of veterans affairs to place Korean veterans on the same footing as veterans of the last war, in respect of post war educational facilities and training; also in the application of the Veterans Land Act. This will remedy the cause for many complaints regarding the treatment of Korean veterans.

The same minister introduced bill No. 336, to provide assistance for the higher education of children of certain deceased members of the armed forces. It will cover all children who were pensioned under the Pension Act and will take care of their education above the level of high school matriculation, by the payment of university fees and a monthly allowance while in attendance at a university for a period, not exceeding four years. At the moment there are approximately 12,000 children receiving pensions under this act; all of whom are now potential university students and out of them we should be able to provide many professional men and women who are now in short supply in Canada. Both these bills received unanimous approval.

The bill to abolish capital punishment, introduced by Mr. Thatcher of Moose Jaw, was with-

Guide News

Campfire discussions this week disclosed many exciting plans for the future. One of these included Mrs. Harrison's announcement of a rally day to be held in the rectory gardens on Coronation Day. A young Oak tree flown from Windsor Castle gardens will be planted in the memorial garden near the church, to commemorate this great occasion. Following this a barbecue will be held and in the afternoon a hike for those interested.

Naramata has been chosen as the place to hold "first class day". One Guide will be awarded the coveted "silver cup" as the best all-round Guide. This will also take place in what seems to be the busy month of June.

The sum of 5 dollars has been taken from the funds earned by carol singing at Christmas time and forwarded to the polio fund as our contribution to this worthy cause. This donation will also be another item toward our Coronation tribute.

Extra fees this week Guides! Those who ordered pictures, will you please pick them up as soon as possible.

Two patrols didn't enter their points. Standings are: Buttercups 309, Hepaticas 361, Lily of Valleys 312, Orchids 342, Pansys 316, Pimpernels 266.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH

West Summerland

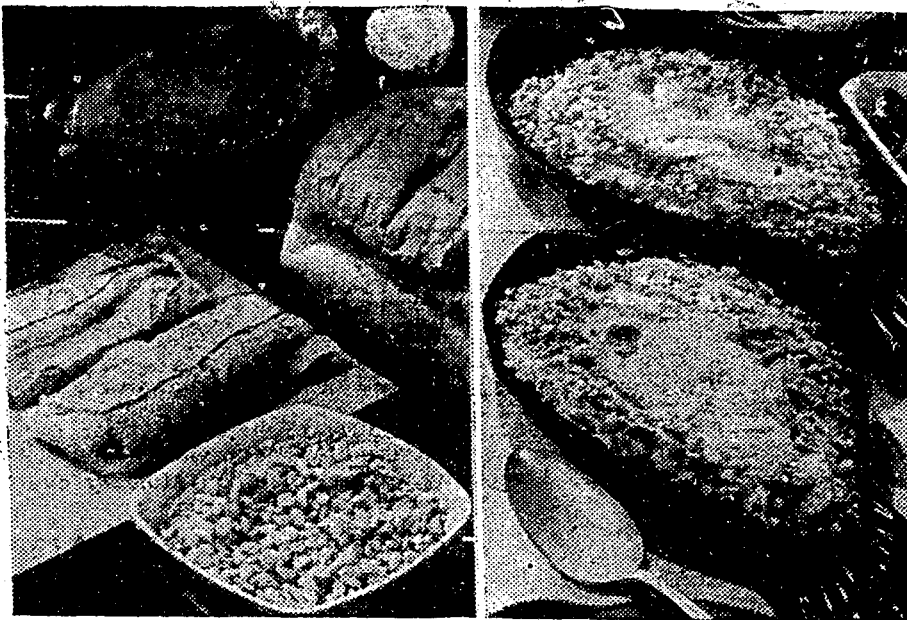

Church of England in communion with the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States.

Services:

Holy Communion all Sundays, except the fifth Sunday of the month at 8 a.m.

Holy Communion 1st Sunday of month at 8 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Morning Prayer, all Sundays at 11 a.m.

Crust: 4 cups soft bread crumbs, 2 tbsp. minced onions, 1/2 tsp. celery salt, 1 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. sage, 1/4 tsp. pepper, 1/4 cup melted butter.

Combine all ingredients. Press into greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 15 minutes.

Filling: 6 tbsp. butter, 6 tbsp. flour, 2 cups milk, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. butter, 1/4 tsp. celery salt, 2 cups flaked cooked or canned fish, 2 tbsp. chopped pimento, 1 cup oven-popped rice cereal.

Melt butter; stir in flour and seasonings. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Stir in flaked fish and pimento. Pour over crumb crust. Crush rice cereal slightly and combine with melted butter. Sprinkle over filling. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 10 minutes, or until browned. Yields 6 servings.

Threat of Apple Mildew Increases Importance of Spray at 'Pink' Stage

(By ALEX WATT)

When the 1953 season first started to break-it looked as if it would be one of the earliest on record. Subsequently, cooler weather gradually slowed things up until now the season is only about a week ahead of the average for the past six years. To date there does not appear to have been any economic frost damage. However, we are not out of danger yet. All tree fruits are in a vulnerable state and a few degrees grees of frost right now could alter the crop prospects considerably.

Peaches and cherries are now in bloom, with pears about ready to come out. Quite a number of growers have tried blossom thinning of peaches either with brushes or by hand. Although this method is not yet in use on a general scale, it is gaining in popularity. Techniques vary all the way from doing an almost complete job of spacing the blossoms by hand to a rapid job of brushing off the blossom buds. Time taken per tree varies from an hour for the hand spacing job to about ten minutes for a quick roughing out with either brush or by hand. Tree size and pruning methods affect speed greatly. Follow-up hand thinning after the fruit has set will be necessary in most cases. Advantages of the blossom thinning method are larger, somewhat earlier fruit and extended thinning seasons making possible the use of a small experienced crew to do the thinning rather than the use of large gangs of relatively unskilled help.

Apple trees are now at the "pink" stage and many growers are planning application of mildew and mite sprays at this stage. Mildew is showing up badly in susceptible varieties like Jonathon and may well get onto Macs, Newtowns and Romes before the summer is out. In addition, apple scab was prevalent last season in the Pentiction area and a few infections were noticed in Summerland. Present rainy conditions are favorable to the spread of this disease. A thorough application of lime sulphur 1 1/2 gals. per 100 gals. or 1 gal. per acre to all apples at this stage will help to control both mildew and scab as well as providing a check on European Red Mites or Clover Mite which may be starting up. This 1953 season may well be the one in which the "pink" spray was the most important item of the year.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Tag Day To Finance Equipment Purchases

Arrangements for the purchase of linens, dishes, and other furnishings necessary at this time at Summerland hospital, were discussed at the meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary held on Monday evening, April 13.

Fifteen members were present and the president, Mrs. C. G. Woodbridge, was in the chair.

To help in the program of continuous maintenance kept up by the auxiliary, it was decided to hold a hospital tag day on Saturday, May 9, in conjunction with National Hospital Week. In this way it was thought everyone would have an opportunity to help the local hospital.

Plans were made to assist at "Open House" at the hospital, on May 13, when it is hoped many will accept the invitation to visit and look around Summerland General Hospital to which the work of the auxiliary contributes so much in comfort, usefulness and beauty.

Legion Auxiliary Marks Anniversary

Twenty-six years of successful endeavor by the Summerland Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion were celebrated on Tuesday, April 21, at an anniversary party in the Legion Hall.

Cribbage games were followed by dancing and bingo. Supper was served at half-past eleven after which dancing continued until one o'clock.

The door prize was won by Mrs. A. McCargar; the ladies' cribbage prize by Mrs. H. Thornthwaite, and ladies' consolation by Mrs. Backmeyer of Penticton.

Men's first award went to Mr. Murray of Penticton, and consolation to Phil Davis.

The draw for the clock was won by H. Howard.

VISITING ABROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Woollams are visitors at the coast this week.

Miss Irene Stewart PHN, attended a conference at Revelstoke last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Alstead are leaving today for New Westminster where they plan to live for a year before returning to Summerland.

Mrs. Frank Davis and her son, Colin have left for Ottawa where they will visit at the home of Mrs. Davis' mother and with other members of her family, expecting to return about the middle of June.

Mrs. M. E. Creese spent last week-end and until Wednesday visiting at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Creese in Kelowna.

HOME AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Janie and Allan, are back after a three weeks' holiday spent in Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Nield and their family returned on Thursday of last week from a two weeks' visit at Mrs. Nield's former home at McConnell, Manitoba.

Receives Collection Of Coronation Coins

An interesting collection of nine new coins bearing the likeness of HRH Queen Elizabeth II has been received from England by E. C. Bingham. They are of a special issue minted to commemorate the coronation.

They are put up in three rows of three in clear plastic for souvenir collections.

Included is a half-crown, a florin, a shilling, and a sixpence. These are silver pieces. As well there is a penny, ha'penny, and farthing, all of copper, and a thrupence of bronze.

Feted In Vancouver
By Fellow Workers

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schumann in Vancouver last week were honored at a banquet given by the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Co. personnel, and were presented with a beautiful silver tea service prior to their leaving to make their home in Nova Scotia.

On their return they were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Shirley Schumann, who visited at her home for the remainder of the week.

Mr. Schumann left for Halifax Saturday and Mrs. Schumann with their daughters will follow in the early summer.

Here From Quesnel For Christening

An interesting christening ceremony took place on Sunday morning, April 19, in the Free Methodist church, when the baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton E. Smith of Quesnel who motored down to visit at the home of Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Prairie Valley Road, was given the name Robert Leonard.

Rev. G. Schnell officiated at the service.

The visitors are motoring to the coast before returning to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Guthrie of Vancouver arrived on Wednesday to visit for a week at the home of Mrs. E. Graham, Victoria gardens.

Week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gould were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. LaPlante, and their two daughters of Grey Creek, B.C.

Mrs. Len Verriere who flew in from Toronto to attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. E. Barclay, left last Friday by car for Vancouver, and left from there Monday to return to Toronto.

Mr. Lawrence Logie of the American army, Seattle, who is attached to the Alaskan communications' branch, motored up for the weekend to visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Logie.

Will Send Another Parcel To Korea

At the regular meeting of St. Andrew's Service Club held on Monday evening, April 20, a letter from Korea was read thanking the club for parcels received. It was decided to collect twenty-five cents from each member to send another parcel. Mrs. M. Cousins was asked to receive the money, or it could be brought to the next meeting.

The new collection plates, which were made by Leslie Gould from wood supplied by F. B. Bedford, were much admired.

Mrs. Lionel Fudge and Miss Nancy Fleming sang a delightful duet accompanied by Mrs. J. Zimmerman.

Mrs. L. Wright led the devotional period, and the president, Mrs. George Washington was in the chair.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Leslie Rumball, Mrs. Archie Scott, Mrs. Myrtle Scott, Mrs. L. Shannon and Miss Minnie Ritchie.

Veteran Baptist Missionary to India Describes Work In Foreign Mission

Mrs. Archie Gordon, veteran missionary of the Canadian Baptist Mission in India, spoke at an evening meeting in Summerland Baptist church on Thursday, April 23. Mrs. Gordon has recently returned from serving at Kakinada in southeast India where her husband has been the principal of the Baptist Seminary in which native Indian pastors are trained for the ministry.

Soon to retire after 39 years of missionary service Mrs. Gordon has had an outstanding career serving in various capacities and in several areas of the Canadian Baptist mission field.

In recognition of her services to the troops during World War II Mrs. Gordon was awarded the Kalser-i-Hind medal by the viceroy of India.

In her address she told of month-long tours among the populous villages of India where throngs of people gather requesting the missionaries to teach and tell the story of Jesus. She paid tribute to the signal service of mission hospitals in their ministry of healing in a country in dire need of medical care. As an illustration of Christian gratitude to God, Mrs. Gordon told of the governor of Bengal, a member of one of the Indian Baptist churches, who gives 5000 rupees of his monthly salary of 5500 rupees to the work of Christ in the churches and in Christian schools and colleges.

Honored By Friends Prior To Departure

To honor Mrs. Harry Braddick who left to make her home at Kaleden, teachers and helpers of St. Andrew's Sunday school met at the home of Mrs. Jack Dunsdon on Tuesday evening, April 22.

After a pleasant evening together chatting and doing a contest, the guests were served delicious refreshments at a table centred with spring blossoms and having a beautifully decorated cake which had been made and inscribed with good wishes by Mrs. Ross McLachlan.

Mrs. Leslie Rumball in a few words spoke of Mrs. Braddick's faithful attendance and help in the Sunday school during the last few years. In conclusion Mrs. Rumball gave good wishes to go with her to her new home, and on behalf of those present presented her with a gift of remembrance.

Others present were Mrs. Harvey Wilson, Mrs. W. Durick, Mrs. Ray Leinor, Mrs. Robert Oxley, Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Miss Frances Atkinson and Miss Marilyn Wade. Unable to attend were Mrs. Sandy Fenwick, Mrs. Walter Toews and Mrs. Marvin Henker.

Evening Branch Sale Successful Event

That one person's discards may exactly fit another's need was adequately shown at the successful rummage sale held by the Evening Branch of St. Stephen's WA on Saturday afternoon, April 18, in the parish hall.

All sorts of odds and ends, dishes, children's clothing, paper covered "thrillers" with their astonishing titles, pictures, and what-have-you, were collected and turned over to those who had uses for them.

Lovely spring cut flowers from Mrs. E. M. Hookham's beautiful garden found a ready market, as did potted and garden plants.

Mrs. Adrian Moys was general convener and many members found plenty to do in connection with the sale.

Mrs. J. Y. Towgood was tea convener and a delicious tea was enjoyed by patrons following bargain hunting.

How many ways do they serve you?
Guess again!

All of these people serve you in useful ways through their jobs. But, like people in all walks of life, they may also be helping you in certain important unseen ways.

Take your postman, for instance. He may have helped to build your home through his ownership of life insurance. It's possible — because the money of thousands of life insurance policyholders is invested for them in building homes throughout the nation.

In the same way your milkman, lawyer or nurse may have helped build new highways, waterworks, schools, power plants or other essential public works in your community.

And—who knows—perhaps your job too was created by these life insurance policyholders' dollars, invested to develop new businesses and industries.

So anyone who owns life insurance — including probably you — does more than provide financial security for his family. He also serves his fellow-citizens in all these useful ways!

Banking Offers Career-Seekers A Sound Future

Today, ambitious young men are finding that banking, as a life work, offers greater scope than ever before.

In recent years, leading banks like the Bank of Montreal have almost revolutionized the working conditions of their staff members. An increased use of mechanical aids has banished much of the dull, routine work.

Opportunity for promotion comes to promising young men far more often than it did to their forefathers. Finally, banking salaries now compare favorably with those in most other occupations. An even more favorable comparison can be made for the bank's pension plan.

That banking can be a satisfying vocation is emphasized by Ivor Solly, manager of the West Summerland B of M. "Good bankers," Mr. Solly points out, "get plenty of opportunity to be of real service to the community in which they live."

If you are interested in banking career, drop in for a chat with me tomorrow. He will be outlining the B of M picture and answer any specific questions you may have.

WCTU Executive Group Hears Plans For World Convention In Vancouver

In view of the fact that the World's Convention of Women's Christian Temperance Union is to be held at Vancouver, June 3 to 8, the Kamloops-Okanagan District WCTU decided to forego the calling of a district convention this year and to meet in executive session, instead, to deal with reports and other business.

It was a group of very earnest ladies who assembled at Vernon April 16, in the First Baptist church, when 30 ladies were present; Mrs. Howard Milne of Summerland presiding. The proceedings were opened with devotional exercises.

Also attending from Summerland were Mrs. V. Durnin, Mrs. J. S. Mott, and Mrs. J. E. Sheldrake, as well as Mrs. Atlee Hanson and Ione Embree of Trout Creek.

At the morning session reports on the work of the union, as carried on by eight branches in the district were given careful consideration; the afternoon session was followed by a dinner prepared by the ladies of the First Baptist church. Mrs. Milne told of her presentation of a brief of the Stevens Liquor Inquiry commission, whose report has not yet reached the public; she also introduced and welcomed the visiting provincial president, Mrs. Jennie Boyer, who then addressed the gathering.

Mrs. Boyer said she was pleased to meet with the Kamloops-Okanagan District executive, WCTU, because there was a good deal to discuss and many of these matters could best be disposed of by a free discussion. The work of temperance in this province has grown to such proportions that it was felt something should be done to give relief, where it was most needed.

The provincial executive had decided to place a full-time field secretary at work, and hoped to have this important office filled in the near future; the lady to be selected would be assuming these duties when she had completed a course of specialized training at the school of narcotics in Saskatoon.

Mrs. Boyer said an immediate effort would be made to extend the work of the WCTU among young mothers, where the situation, she reported, was far from bright at the present time. Last year, Mrs. Boyer continued, the provincial executive had been encouraged with the result of their university project, when 30 contestants registered for the contest, and this year it was proposed to sponsor two bursaries for the winners for the best essays on temperance, as seen from the educational angle.

In 1954 there will be a two-day district convention at Winfield, B.C. Formal thanks were extended to those who had contributed so much to the success of the 1953 meeting. Resolutions which culminated the proceedings have been sent to provincial headquarters. It appears that British Columbia is now to have one delegate at the

Not only the breeds and the names, but even the language dogs speak has changed. Used to be that any respectable dog barked 'Bow-wow'. Then along came wall-eyed Orphan Annie, with her wall-eyed dog who said 'Arf', and that became the proper thing for every dog to say.

I've never held with either the 'Bow-wow' or the 'Arf-arf' school. Honestly, did you ever hear a dog's bark that actually sounded like either of those? Most barks sound to me a lot like the dog was trying to say "Ralph"; you listen and see if you don't agree.

Whether or not the world is going to the dogs, the dogs' world is certainly changing. First thing we know, someone will develop a new breed of nuclear dogs which chase cats with radio activity, eat only

VEGETABLE HINTS

When preparing vegetables for cooking, cut all pieces the same size so that the sections cook uniformly. Too long boiling or stewing not only spoils the flavor but also destroys much of the vitamin content. The minimum amount of water should be used and any liquid left after boiling should be added to soups or gravy to salvage the minerals that have been extracted through boiling.

DANGEROUS GADGETS

A baby's bottle should never be propped up on any object while the infant is feeding. A baby may actually drown from the flood of liquid entering his lungs, if he is not big enough to move away from the bottle by himself. He should be held all the while he is feeding, or at least watched constantly, since such accidents can happen quickly.

Pontiac again gives dramatic proof of its ever-growing popularity! The passenger car registrations (obtained from sources subscribed to by the industry and considered to be reliable) show more Canadians chose Pontiac in 1952 than any other car produced by a competitive manufacturer. Pontiac easily won second place in the entire industry, with a marked lead.

Back of this latest record-breaking story of Pontiac's constantly mounting popularity are the hard facts of Pontiac's all 'round superiority in beauty, value, performance and consistently advanced engineering features.

Pontiac for 1953 offers you a choice of 29 different models in five great series—the Pathfinder, Pathfinder Deluxe, Laurentian, Chieftain Special and Chieftain Deluxe. Pontiac offers you the flashing power and amazing economy of two famous high-compression engines—the Pontiac "6" and "8". Both incorporate numerous refinements for 1953 and the "6" now delivers 115 horsepower with synchromesh transmission and 118 horsepower with Powerglide or Hydra-Matic Automatic Transmissions. No other car offers a range of features that includes dramatic new Dual-Streak styling, new Wide-Horizon vision with one piece curved windshield, increased roominess, luxurious color-keyed interiors, handsome panorama view instrument panel, new crank operated ventipanes and rugged body by Fisher. In addition, Pontiac offers you as optional equipment at extra cost, new, finer Powerglide or spectacular Dual Range Hydra-Matic Drive; new Power Steering; GM Shade-Lite Tinted Glass; the amazing Antronie Eye which automatically dims and brightens headlights.

No other car in the price range it brackets can compare with Pontiac for all 'round value and dependability. Truly, it's tops in everything but price! Visit your Pontiac dealer soon . . . see and drive one of these great cars for yourself. You too, like so many other Canadian motorists, will agree that "Dollar for Dollar, you can't beat Pontiac!"

MORE THAN SKIN DEEP

Industrial skin diseases are an occupational hazard that has been the subject of research for many years. Since different individuals react differently to various substances, it is always wise to report any skin reaction to the health unit in the plant or to the company doctor, who will be familiar with the condition and its cause. Modern industrial concerns usually provide a health unit or the services of a doctor who can diagnose and prescribe treatment for skin diseases peculiar to that particular industry.

When a new baby is expected in a family where there is already one small child, the preparations for the newcomer may leave the first youngster a little lonely and disgruntled. Since he has been the baby and special pet all his life, he may find it hard to share his parents' love with a new child. Making him feel that nothing will lessen their love for him and that the baby is his, too, to love and share, may help him to regard the second child with a more friendly feeling. When visitors call to see the new baby, Junior's ruffled feelings may be soothed if he is brought into the spotlight and referred to as "our elder son" and allowed to share some of the attention.

SERVE CANADA

Soldiers like those of the airborne infantry are helping to guard Canada, ready to drop into action wherever danger threatens. The young man who joins the Army and has completed his infantry training may then volunteer to start training for the proud wings of Canada's "Soldiers of the Sky."

AND YOURSELF

How does a man choose a job? He examines the pay; the working conditions; the opportunities for advancement; the financial security. From every one of these aspects an Army career is excellent. And more -- no monotony of being stuck for years in one place; pension plans after 20 years service; medical and dental care whenever needed -- without regard for cost or time. Opportunities for training and advancement in the Army today are truly outstanding.

IN THE ARMY

Soldiering is a man's life! There are challenges and dangers. But wherever you go, in the Army, you know you can rely on your comrades, trained fighting men who share with you the action of military life. If you think an Army career is for you, enquire about the opportunities for service with the Infantry -- the most important men in the Canadian Army.

You are eligible to join the Army if you are 17 to 40 years of age and able to meet Army test requirements. Applicants should bring birth certificates or other proof of age when reporting for interview.

Milestone In Progress...

Headquarters of South Okanagan Health Center To Open at Kelowna

The opening of the Kelowna Community Health Center which is to take place Wednesday, May 6, is a milestone in public health progress in the Okanagan. This building has been erected by the city of Kelowna to serve the health needs of Kelowna and district and also to serve as headquarters for the South Okanagan Health Unit. This would appear to be a fitting time to review the history of the health unit.

Organized public health in British Columbia may be said to date from 1899 when a medical man was first appointed secretary to the provincial board of health in the person of Dr. C. J. Fagan. Much credit for the development of a sound public health program must be accorded to Dr. H. E. Young, who supervised health matters as minister of education and provincial secretary in the McBride government from 1907 to 1915. After his retirement from the government he became secretary of the provincial board of health and provincial health officer. He continued to hold these posts until 1939 when he was succeeded by Dr. G. F. Amyot who later became deputy minister of health when the department of health and welfare was established.

The provincial authorities have always stressed local responsibility and control in matters of health. With this sign in view the organization of local health units, embracing several adjacent municipalities and school boards, was encouraged in order that local direction might be retained but with areas large enough to employ full-time specially trained staffs.

In 1926 Dr. G. A. Ootmar was appointed bacteriologist in the provincial branch laboratory in Kelowna and appointed medical health officer for the rural areas from Sicamous to Osoyoos. In 1927 twelve rural schools in the vicinity of Kelowna with about 550 pupils combined to form the Kelowna Rural School Association and employed Dr. Ootmar as school medical inspector. In 1928 Mrs. A. F. Grindon was appointed school nurse for these twelve schools and in the same year Miss F. Lyne was appointed school nurse for the Kelowna city schools. In 1929, Dr. Ootmar was appointed medical health officer for the city of Kelowna. Thus in 1929 the nucleus of the health unit was formed with a full-time health officer and two nurses. Dr. W. J. Knox continued as school medical inspector for the Kelowna schools, a position which he had occupied since 1906 and in which he continues to serve. Grants to assist in the development of the health unit were received from the Rockefeller Foundation.

In 1942 the scope of the unit was enlarged to include the territory from Oyama to Penticton embracing the city of Kelowna and the municipalities of Glenmore, Peachland, Summerland and Penticton with the adjacent unorganized territory.

Prior to this time Dr. F. W. Andrew had been medical health officer for Summerland for a number of years, and in charge of school health matters.

The school boards of this area also joined to form the Okanagan Health Unit. In 1946, when a separate health unit was formed in the North Okanagan, the name was changed to the South Okanagan Health Unit.

In 1947, the territory of the unit was extended to include Oliver and Osoyoos and in 1950 Keremeos, Hedley and Princeton were added. The South Okanagan Health Unit has an area of 4,698 square miles. The population is in excess of 50,000 and the school population is 10,126.

The staff consists of a medical director and a nursing supervisor who have responsibility for service throughout the whole area. There are ten public health nurses, four of whom are located in Kelowna, two in Penticton and one each in Summerland, Oliver, Keremeos and Princeton. Two sanitarians have their headquarters in Kelowna and Penticton respectively. The dental director, with his assistant carry out a preventive dental program for pre-school and Grade I pupils in the school districts centered on Penticton, Oliver and Keremeos and Princeton. Necessary stenographic help is employed.

The medical directors of the South Okanagan Health Unit have been:

The South Okanagan Health Unit is administered by a union board of health made up of one representative of each municipal council participating, one representative from each school board and the provincial government agents representing the unorganized territories. It meets once every quarter to receive reports from the medical director, decide on policies and obtain information on public health matters to be taken back to the bodies represented.

In any of the areas represented presentation of health problems may be made to the board through local representatives. Miss Irene Stewart is the public health nurse in Summerland; Mr. Fred Alcock the sanitarian, who may be contacted through enquiry at the municipal office; F. E. Atkinson represents Summerland municipal council, and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Summerland school board. The present chairman of the union board is Alderman A. Jackson of Kelowna. Councillor R. F. Sutton of Glenmore is Vice-Chairman and the medical director acts as secretary.

Each municipality contributes thirty cents per capita per annum towards the cost of the services of the health unit and each school board also has an assessment. The balance of the cost is met from the provincial revenues. The medical director serves as medical health officer for each of the municipalities and as school medical inspector for each of the school boards. In the latter work, he has the assistance of some local part-time school medical inspectors.

F. A. BENDER, of Montreal, has been appointed chief of motive power and rolling stock for the Canadian Pacific Railway, it is announced by N. R. Crump, vice-president of the CPR. A graduate of Queen's University, Mr. Benger has been assistant chief of motive power and rolling stock since 1948, and has had jurisdiction over all branches of mechanical engineering for the railway's diesel and steam locomotives, cars and power plants, as well as supervision over standards and methods. A native of Port Arthur, Ont., he has been with the CPR since 1911. He was largely responsible for the streamlining jobs done on the Canadian Pacific's steam locomotives, including such famous models as the "Royal Hudson" type which hauled the Royal Train of 1939 and the giant "Selkirks", largest steam locomotives in the commonwealth.

drawn at the request of the minister of justice, Mr. Garson, on his recommendation that the whole matter be taken up by the committee dealing with the criminal code, and that proper steps be taken to gather information from those countries that have experimented with the abolition of capital punishment, to find out if the results have been successful or not. Mr. Garson claimed that the results had not been successful in all cases. However, this matter will be given consideration when the new house meets.

The growth of the Co-operative Credit movement was reflected in parliament this week, when a bill was before us that will authorize inter-provincial Co-operative Associations. At present, Credit Unions operate provincially only. This act will allow it to incorporate with members from any or all provinces, whose pooled funds can be transferred for the use of one province or the other. It will operate in much the same way as an

In fact, once upon a time, all business men who advertised were, willing or unwilling, confirmed speculators. They couldn't help it, because in those days they had no way of knowing what they would get for their money.

Today, advertising money can be invested on a basis of facts—the information in the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a national, cooperative and non-profit association of 3300 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. ## Presses For Added Protection Of Grower's Domestic Market

Problems of soft fruit growers came to the fore in the House of Commons last Thursday when Yale member O. L. Jones gave a picture of the import competition which has dealt a severe blow to the industry and urged government intervention to protect domestic markets for Canadian growers. Mr. Jones also proposed long-term low-interest loans to co-operative processing plants to enable them to reduce processing costs by the use of more modern machinery.

Mr. Jones asked for an investigation of the import situation which, he said, "to my mind amounts to dumping".

Following is a text of his remarks: I have received numerous letters setting out the personal loss and inconvenience caused these growers by lack of markets and unfair competition. I have letters showing where the finest prunes that can be grown in Canada, or anywhere else on the North American continent, were sold for as low as 9 cents a crate. I have other letters showing where half a crop had to be dumped in the ravine to get it out of the way.

However, I should like to take this opportunity to deal particularly with the plight of the peach growers. A few days ago I received a letter from a man who has been growing peaches in the Okanagan valley for the last twelve years. In 1949 he picked 40 tons of peaches from his then young and promising orchard. The severe frost of a few years ago killed a third of his trees and damaged almost all the balance of them, with the result that in 1950 he had no crop.

Incidentally those growers received compensation, but his total compensation for the loss of all those trees was only $38, to help him in replanting. This year his orchard recovered to the point where he had 20 tons of first-class peaches. The bulk were sold to the cannery. Some of them netted him $63 a ton and some $40 a ton, or an average of somewhere around $50 a ton. The choicest peaches of all were sold for an average of less than 50 cents a large crate. These were sold as fresh peaches on the domestic market.

The sad part of his story is that while the cost of production was almost $70 a ton, he sold them at an average price of $50. The growers of British Columbia I must say have not been idle in trying to remedy their marketing conditions. They have organized into one of the finest growers' organizations on the whole of the North American continent. But even so they can only see to it that they have a first-class product ready for market. The growers, naturally, look to the government for assistance in protecting the domestic market which, at the present time, could absorb all the peaches grown in Ontario and British Columbia combined, if it were not for what I consider unfair American competition, which last year amounted to approximately 12 million pounds of canned peaches alone. This dealt a severe blow to the Canadian canners, who now have a combined carryover of more than 25 million pounds of canned peaches.

Mr. Chairman, it seems to me the time has arrived when the government should take an interest in this problem. They have taken some responsibility for butter, eggs, pork products and wheat. I do not think that the fruit growers are asking, nor would they accept, charity; but they are asking the government to investigate the situation in connection with the importation of soft fruits from the United States.

I realize that much could be done on a provincial level. We in British Columbia have a soft fruits and vegetables market consuming roughly $5 million worth of those commodities annually. Yet $3 million worth of the products going to that market was supplied by the importation of fruits and vegetables from the United States. As I have pointed out before, this condition is general in every province; it is not confined to British Columbia.

I notice in "The Grower", a publication issued by the Ontario fruit and vegetable association, some very pertinent facts in respect of the marketing of peaches. They set out on an approximate basis the value of the total quantity of peaches sold. I shall not quote the figures, because I would not be in order if I were to do so, but I can say that the processors of peaches paid $2,125,000 in 1951 for 22,627 tons. The domestic fresh fruit market was probably greater than that. They estimate that for 1952 there would be a drop of 2,453 tons in the quantity to be processed. This was caused by the heavy carryover. On June 30, 1951, there was a carryover of 25,355,000 pounds. Naturally this forced a reduction in the pack for 1952-53.

It is pointed out in "The Grower" that during 1951 Canadians imported 11,805,000 pounds of canned peaches from other countries, chiefly the United States, and exported only 57,000 pounds of our own canned product. The publication also points out the fact that from 1948 to 1951 inclusive the sale of imported fruit cocktails jumped from 2,079,971 pounds to 25,397,276 pounds. Estimating a third of the contents of fruit cocktails to consist of peaches, this would indicate another 10 million pounds of peaches imported in that form, or from 5,000 to 6,000 tons.

Without this tremendous and unbalanced importation, Canadian peach growers grew enough to supply the whole market. "The Grower" goes on to blame partly the antiquated processing methods used in Ontario. However, that does not apply to British Columbia, where we have a similar marketing problem. Our methods are quite up to date, in our canneries.

The answer to this complaint could well be for the government to advance loans on a long-term basis at a low interest rate to co-operative processing plants, thus enabling them to bring down processing costs by the use of more modern machinery. I presume that price is a major factor in the sale of canned peaches. Through modern methods of production, methods which we should have with government help, the United States has been able to quote prices that have captured the Canadian market to the extent of 12,000,000 pounds after paying heavy transport costs and a duty of approximately $50 per ton on peaches. I hate to use the term "dumping", but I feel we have a serious situation there which to my mind amounts to dumping, and that is why I think it should be investigated. I realize also that high freight rates, along with the recent increases, will further handicap

Where does the money go?

At times most of us have looked at purse, wallet or bank-book, and wondered: "Where does the money go?"

Each year we at Imperial add up the company's bills to see what happened to the money we received in the previous 12 months for the gasoline, fuel oil and other products we sell. Here's where each dollar of Imperial's 1952 income went:

- CRUDE OIL and other raw materials we bought, plus freight, took more than half of each dollar.
- OPERATING expenses took more than 28 cents. This was the cost of searching for and producing crude oil, and of manufacturing and marketing the hundreds of products we supplied for thousands of uses. Throughout the year high quality products were made available where and when you needed them.
- TAXES to provincial and federal governments took 10 cents. And this did not include gasoline tax, which—depending on where you live—took from 24 to 36 cents out of every dollar you spent for standard grade gasoline.
- DIVIDENDS paid to shareholders for use of plants and equipment amounted to 4.06 cents.
- TO REPLACE worn out equipment and to make sure that we can supply your needs in the future 3.42 cents was put back into the business.

B.C. WANTS PROGRESS!

Suppose you were advising investors about safe and promising places to put their money at risk.

Suppose you had the choice of putting money into the fast-developing resources of Ontario, Alberta, Quebec, New Brunswick ... or of investing in B.C.

And suppose you felt that, hanging over the future of British Columbia, was the possibility a Socialist government might be elected ... under leaders who frankly said that Government should take over practically every industry of any importance in the province ... and certainly would if Socialism succeeded at the polls.

The Free Enterprise Vote in B.C. Provincial Elections

You'd have quite a problem on your hands, wouldn't you? You'd recognize that B.C. was just about the richest and most promising province in Canada. You'd want to advise, "Go right ahead. Get into the British Columbia picture." You'd be reasonably sure the people of B.C. weren't going to go "off the deep end." But you would hope that this kind of uncertainty about the future would be cleared up by British Columbians once and for all. Then you could say with positive assurance, "Send your savings to B.C. The province is going full speed ahead."

Well, that's the issue before British Columbians on June 9th. They'll have the opportunity then to VOTE 1-2-3 for Free Enterprise parties ... and lay these doubts once and for all.

Win or Lose

By Jack Dunham.

The Summerland Macs baseball club seem to be having their troubles these days, but I don't suppose they're any worse off than the Athletics. Both teams have played two games and have yet to win. Both managers, Joe Sheeley and Les Edwards, are scratching their heads trying to put their finger on the source of their troubles.

The Macs were shut-out Sunday and had it not been for Gould they would have been on the tail end of a no-hitter.

Scattered throughout the local line-up are a few pretty fair hitters who have shown that they can really tear loose with the hickory at times. However, Sunday was definitely not one of those times.

The Macs have played what has been considered the two weak sisters of the league. They will now have to tackle a couple of powerhouses in that of Oliver and Kamloops, although, after last Sunday Oliver is not considered such a powerhouse and Vernon not such a weak sister. Oliver, by the way seems to be having troubles down there, we'll have more on that later on.

I'll bet there'll be some changes made in the Pentiction line-up. The Peach-city team has some of last year's juniors up with them. They have been giving Lloyd Burgart a try at short and Heberton has been on the keystone sack.

I believe that both these teams are sure to explode and next week could prove to be it. The Macs have started slow before but have always come back with a bang, and the game in Kamloops Sunday may be the turning point.

Day Looks Good at Coast

It looks like Wally Day is making quite a name for himself in baseball circles down at the coast. The coach of the North Stars thinks he has a real capture in Day, "the big kid from Summerland". Wally performed for the North Stars when he was working down at the coast a couple of years ago. They play a fair brand of amateur ball in the Vancouver league and it will be interesting to see how Wally makes out. From past indications the baseball at the coast is about the same calibre as that in the Okanagan.

Gil Jacobs, on the Macs mound staff last year, is to be home; this week but it is not known whether Gil will be staying or not. It is rumored that he has been offered a summer position in Alberta.

The Oliver Elks have done some

Month of the Charley-Horse

The high school track team is currently getting in shape for the big Valley meets to be held between now and the end of May.

Coaches are busy rounding out a team to take to the annual Kinsmen track and field meet in Pentiction this Saturday. The meet will give a good indication of the strength of the Bluebird sprinters and jumpers. It is hoped they will give a good account of themselves against teams from schools up and down the valley and from re-arranging in their line-up of last year. Ritchie Snyder is back with the southern team and is currently holding down first base. John Vanderburgh has moved over to second and Eisenhut is on third. This line-up seems to be working smoothly with Vanderburgh cavorting around second base as though he owned it. Getting away from baseball we see where Peter Greer, former teacher and athletic director at SHS, is trying to develop an interest in rugby up at Vernon where two coast teams played an exhibition series last week. He was presented with a souvenir football by the president of the B.C. Rugby Union. The ball was one used in the game between Vancouver and Queen's University of Belfast when the team made a visit to Vancouver last month. Lucky Pete, eh!

Six Run Rally Gives Kelowna Shutout Victory Over Locals

A sixth inning rally Sunday afternoon which saw six Kelowna runners cross the plate spelled defeat for the second time this season for Summerland Macs who, unable to push a man across the finish line, went down to a 6-0 defeat. The scores racked up by Kelowna in the sixth were the only ones they were able to register.

The Kelowna big sixth-inning scoring parade got underway when Johnny Lingo with two men out poled a circuit hit with Tostenson on third and Kaiser on second. Coffey was pulled off the Macs mound and Cristante taking his place started off by giving up a base on balls to Salloway. Eto followed and went down the line with a base hit. The two advanced on a wild pitch and then the bases filled with Mitts Koga walking. Eyre then took over mound duty for the Macs and walked Morio Koga to send Salloway home for the fourth tally. Tostenson coming up for the second time in the inning singled and sent Eto and Mitts Koga home, the side being retired when Morio Koga tried to stretch it out too far and was tagged out coming into the home plate. The local boys displayed little of the promise they showed in the opening game a week ago and were able to collar only two hits off Kelowna chucker Mitts Koga. Kelowna picked up a total of eight hits. Cristante stayed on the mound only long enough to pitch to three

BERT BERRY'S Fishing News

May 1 is the opening of the 1953 fishing season for all the local lakes we have in the hills; but remember the creeks and streams are still closed till June 1 to allow the fish to spawn.

We haven't too much to offer yet but we have definite reports on Fish Lake. Howard Clark reports the lake open and road in good condition. Garnet Valley is open and road in good shape. These two spots are the best we have locally. Remember that it will be Eastern Brooks mainly and that they are a gorgor, worms or minnows are best.

We have had a few reports on the boys of school age netting fish at the mouth of the creek in Peach Orchard. We like to see our young folks enjoy fishing but they are breaking the law two ways. First by fishing the creek before June 1 and also using nets or scoops. A spawning fish isn't good to eat and is a potential propagator of many thousands more. I would like to ask them to stop this before they get in serious trouble, and be good sports.

Take 11 Straight Wins...

Topping Rink Brings Home Victoria Bonspiel Honors

Summerland's Topping rink returned this week from the Victoria bonspiel loaded down with new curling honors and an armload of prizes copped by winning the grand challenge event and the grand aggregate. On the rink with Skip Dick Topping were Charlie Wilkinson, Walter Hobbs and Ernie Coughlin.

In the final play, the local quartet came up against the Tom Coates Rink of Vancouver. Both had been undefeated in the spiel play. The final match went into an extra end to break an 8-8 tie at the end of the regular play and a lone point in the overtime gave the locals a record of 11 straight victories.

The two teams played strictly a knockout game which was packed with excitement.

No Quarter Given

The first end was a blank as neither rink had a rock left in the house after the last stone had been thrown. Coates counted one in the second when Hobbs, who skipped for the Topping rink, missed an attempted wick on his rock. Coates had a chance to add to the total but was under draw-weight with his final stone of the end. The third was another blank end and Topping counted one in the fourth to even the score.

Fifth and sixth ends were Coates' undoing. Topping counted two in the fifth, when four rocks were missed by the Vancouverites, and added three in the sixth as Coates' rink wasted another three rocks. Coates counted two in the seventh and Hobbs retaliated with one in the sixth end, leaving the score at 6-4. Hobbs boosted the margin to 8-4 for Topping in the ninth and the 10th was again a blank.

Coates counted two in the 11th and then came the thrilling end, the 12th. Hobbs missed two successive shots to leave Coates with one stone in the house and another near biter on the front ring. Coates drew in and then the measuring stick came out to determine if the front was a counter, but it was a fraction of an inch short and the score was tied at 8-8.

The 13th end was a knockout. Hobbs taking Coates' rock out on his last attempt.

Topping had won from Ross Merdilly of Victoria, 9-8, in the Grand Challenge semis and Ron Harper of Duncan, 7-5, in the Colomist Challenge. Coates won semi-final matches from Harper, 8-6, and T. Eaton Co. Ltd.

Ladies Capture Hecker Trophy

The fairer sex upset the apple cart as well as pins in Hecker Trophy competition last week and the quintet representing the Ladies' League went home with the silverware emblematic of bowling supremacy in the district.

"A" League representatives were only 10 pins behind in the total score but were unable to overcome the 378-pin handicap they spotted the ladies and had to be satisfied with second place.

To the "B" League players went third place position while the Rotary-Kiwanis aggregation occupied cellar spot.

The winners finished up with a count of 3032. Fumi Inaba copped honors for the men with a 279 for high single and 684 for high three. Among the ladies, Flo Adams had the top single with 212 and Nan Thornthwaite high three with 565.

Len Shannon, who pumped in a solid 100 at the Garnet Valley range, helped this score considerably with a possible on the 500-yard range. This possible, however was not the first one of the year. Last week G. M. Dunsdon fired one on the same 500-yard range.

Bill Young and Herb Simpson were next in line, each with a 97. Most of the shooters returned in the afternoon on Sunday to finish up a number of jobs necessary to get the range in top shape.

May 17 and 18 will see the locals take off to the Pentiction range for the BCIRA shoot. The Pentiction club is working like beavers to get their range in shape.

Here are the remainder of last Sunday's scores: S. H. Dunsdon 96, Fred Dunsdon 95, J. Khalembach 95, C. Mann 95, J. Dunsdon, Ted Dunsdon, J. Dunham, G. M. Dunsdon, all with 94; A. R. Dunsdon 93, Phil Dunsdon, D. Taylor, Jill Sanborn, all with 92; George Stoll 85, Joe Elliott 80, E. Desilets 76.

Mother of Councillor Passes In Penticton

A resident of Penticton for 54 years, Mrs. Annie Sophia Atkinson, mother of Councillor F. E. Atkinson, passed away in Penticton Hospital Monday at the age of 81. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from St. Saviour's Anglican church in Penticton and interment was made in Lakeview cemetery.

Mrs. Atkinson was the wife of Edward O. Atkinson and came to Canada 65 years ago from Lincolnshire, England. In 1907 she made her home in Penticton.

Mrs. Atkinson took an active part in community activities and was an ardent horticulturist.

Also bereaved are sons Reginald and Arnold, both of Penticton, a sister Mrs. Mabel Ducharme, a brother, J. B. Jaques, both of Calgary, four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

As "The Grower" points out, surely there is something wrong when a nation of 15 million people are importing 12 million pounds of peaches, whereas a nation of 150 million will take in return only 57,000 pounds of our canned peaches. This problem involves government policy. We ask that a fair break be given the soft fruit growers, both in British Columbia and Ontario, by setting up an investigating body to see if something cannot be done to protect our own domestic markets for our own goods.
