

Gordon Crockett Takes Over "The Review" from Founder J. R. Armstrong

With this issue, The Summerland Review announces a change in operational management. From this date forward, The Review editor and publisher will be W. Gordon Crockett, former editor of the Powell River News and a native of New Brunswick.

J. R. (Tim) Armstrong, who has been publisher and editor since 1946, when the paper was founded, has announced the disposal of his interest in The Review to Mr. Crockett, effective February 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will move to Vancouver where he will become a partner in the well-known firm of L. C. Way & Associates and will be the new editor and publisher of "Country Life in British Columbia."

Established in 1915, "Country Life" is the official organ of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association.

Won Four Trophies. Mr. Crockett comes to Summerland to take charge of The Review.

January 1953 Was Mildest On Record Here

The mildest January on record went down in history last month, the report of the climatological station at the experimental station reveals.

Maximum temperatures ranged from 18 to 57 above, the warmest day of the month being last Saturday. There were only a few cold nights, the lowest being 11 above on January 7.

Actually the coldest day was January 14 when a high of 18 and a low of 12 were recorded.

Mean temperature for maximum and minimum was 35 degrees above zero. The next warmest January on record was 1934 when a mean of 33.5 was recorded.

Rain and snow fell in medium quantities, only one really heavy snowfall being recorded on January 22, when nearly 7 inches fell. All that snow blanket has disappeared from the general limits of Summerland and the district has tawen on the appearance of a March near-springtime atmosphere.

Building Away To Good Start

January building, probably because of the mild weather, took a big boost over the same month in 1952, when four permits were issued by Building Inspector Roy F. Angus for a total of $4,400.

For January, 1953, two permits for $350 were issued.

Two new dwellings' permits were issued last month for a value of $3,800, one commercial garage was listed at $200 and additions and alterations $400.

Throne Speech Predicts Drop In Vehicle Licensing Cost

With traditional ceremony, Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace Tuesday afternoon opened the 23rd session of the B.C. Legislature and in his speech from the throne outlined a program of proposed legislation which includes power and highway developments, educational tax relief, reduced passenger car licenses, penal and mental hospital reforms.

He also informed the government amendments will be proposed to the SS & MA tax regulations to provide further exemptions on meals. Recommendations of the liquor inquiry committee will be presented for consideration, as well.

He said also legislation will be proposed contributing to a solution of the Doukhobor problem.

In his opening remarks, the lieutenant-governor paid tribute to two members claimed by death since their re-election last June—E. C. Carson and A. R. MacDougall—and expressed sympathy to next-of-kin of B.C. men who have given their lives in the Korean theatre.

Foremost legislation to come before the session, he said, will be designed to encourage the development and expansion of natural resources of the province, and to expand the program of building highways without increasing the not debt of the province.

Committees will be set up by the government, to establish equalized assessment values for school purposes throughout the province; to

As news editor of the Powell River News he won best all round paper, best editorial and best front pages awards for his 2,000 to 3,000 circulation class, besides taking home the award open to all weekly newspaper editors for the best contribution to the community served by the newspaper.

Before the war Mr. Crockett worked with daily newspapers in Saint John, N.B., and Halifax N.S. He served with the Canadian army in England, Italy and on the continent. Returning he joined DVA as regional public relations officer for the Maritime provinces.

Mr. and Mrs. Crockett arrived from Powell River on Tuesday and are being welcomed to their new home town.

May Favor Route Via Dump Road

Although nothing has been confirmed, and it is stated that final costs have not been taken, it is understood in certain circles here that the department of public works is favoring the Thornber-Dump Road-Gulch route for Highway No. 97, instead of the Sandhill-Giant's Head road route first suggested.

J. H. A. Stevens, location engineer, is known to have been in the district last Friday.

He made no definite commitments but indicated to one or two large property owners who would have been affected by the Sandhill route that the department might change its mind regarding the proposed route.

Reeve C. E. Bentley admitted to The Review this week that Mr. Stevens had discussed the road location with him. His Worship would not divulge any details of the conversation other than that Mr. Stevens had emphasized his department had not completed its costing of the various routes.

It will be remembered that at the request of The Review and on motion of the Summerland Board of Trade, Hon. P. A. Gagliardi, minister of public works, promised that all possible routes from the lake-shore to the upper levels would be surveyed and costs compared before a definite decision was made regarding future location.

The trade board officially declared it would be satisfied with the public works' decision after such comparisons, and it is understood the municipal council members who looked with some alarm at the Giant's Head road route because of disruption to property and municipal services, also declared they would be content with the final ruling.

Local Driver Fined For Leaving Accident

Convicted of failing to stop at the scene of an accident, Roland J. Lethbridge of Summerland was fined $150, with the option of three months in jail, when he appeared this week in Pentiction police court.

The accident occurred Jan. 1 at the corner of Main street and Eckhardt avenue in Pentiction and driver of the car with which he was in collision, J. Hays, Pentiction, and his two daughters suffered minor injuries.

Great Increase in Credit Union Activity is Reported

The "State of the Union" report by President J. M. McArthur to the packed Youth Centre hall Tuesday evening revealed that the Summerland and District Credit Union has made its biggest advance during the past year and is in the extent that an enlargement of the present office facilities is essential.

Loans made and personal shares deposited increased over 100 percent in 1952 compared to activity in 1951. Dr. McArthur and Manager W. T. Bleasdale revealed in their reports to the Credit Union convention on Tuesday.

Approximately 200 members gathered for a banquet prepared by the LOBA, with the business session lasting until 11 o'clock. Dancing was enjoyed into the morning hours.

Loans Greatly Increased. The statistical report indicated that $386,333.71 worth of loans had been made in 1952, with $264,601.74 in force at the end of the year. Total loans since incorporation

To Seek Higher Pay For FFVWU Workers

Okanagan fruit growers will again this year be faced with demands for pay increases according to a statement in Vernon by FFVWU director of organization Bryan Cooney. The statement came following a policy meeting of the federation last week.

Mr. Cooney promised negotiations will be carried out "honestly and fairly on top of the table" and demands will be supported with arguments of merit.

Said the union officer: "We feel that although prices to growers on some soft fruits were not good, the basic commodity on which the economy of the valley depends is good—that is the price of apples".

Wally Day Bags 27 Points for Close Victory

Wally Day scored 27 points at Kelowna last night to lead Summerland hoopers to a narrow 36-53 victory over the winless Orchard City crew. This win practically clinches Summerland for a playoff spot, and in all likelihood the local lads will meet Pentiction in the semi-finals of the Interior senior B basketball championship.

It was a close game all the way last night, with Summerland having a 26-20 lead at half-time only to have Kelowna forge ahead 42-41 at the three-quarter mark. Summerland outscored the north-siders 15-9 in the final stanza, Day sinking three field baskets and two out of three free throws.

Kato also sank four out of four free shots in the last half to redeem himself after missing some decisive shots in the Vernon game.

Don Cristante had a big evening with 13 markers besides playing a bangup defensive game. Bogress was top scorer for Kelowna with 18 points, Gee contributing a handy ten.

Summerland—Cristante 13, Aikin, Day 27, Weitzel 4, Kato 4, Guidi 1, Nesbitt 2, Nesbitt 2, 56. Kelowna—Tostenson, 5, Gee 10, Hayward 7, Balham 2, Thompson, Wilson, Bogress 18, Gillard 11—53.

AT SCOUT MEETING

Dr. D. V. Fisher and Dr. D. L. McIntosh representing Summerland met last Sunday in Pentiction with representatives of five interior districts to discuss improvements in the Boy Scout training program.

Teachers' Salaries to Go up 4 1/2 Percent as Arbitration Board Award

Four and a half percent increase in salaries will be paid school teachers in the Okanagan, covering ten district school boards and about 600 teachers, it was decided by a board of arbitration sitting at the court house in Pentiction. Arbitration board decision was handed down on Tuesday following sessions which commenced on Friday morning.

School Board Secretary B. A. Tingley estimates that the 4 1/2 percent increase will mean roughly a boost in teachers' salaries of $5,600. Last year salaries of staff members amounted to $90,000 and this year an additional staff member has been added, with another addition likely in the fall term.

J. D. Taggart of Vancouver was chairman of the arbitration board which also had N. T. Nemetz, QC, Vancouver, representing the teachers and P. T. Samson, Oliver, representing the school boards. All ten school districts from Revelstoke and Salmon Arm on the mainline south to Oliver and Osoyoos and west to Hedley and Princeton, along with the teachers involved in those same districts had agreed to abide by the arbitration board findings.

Negotiations had broken down on Monday, Jan. 26, when it was decided to arbitrate. It is understood principals' salaries were negotiated prior to arbitration.

For teachers in the top brackets the salary increase was levelled at an even $200.

Total salary expenditure last year for Summerland teachers was $92,005.85. With the addition of an extra teacher, the salary scale was increased to $94,584 this year.

The new teachers' payroll, with the 4 1/2 percent increase, will be $99,310 while the new budget, which will be increased to provide for out teachers and another addition to the staff in September, will amount to $101,250.

Teachers had sought a 13.8 percent salary increase, while the trustees had countered with a proposal to reduce salaries three percent.

Teachers' salaries had been tied to the cost of living index in previous contract agreements, with salaries to go up or down four percent with every five points differential in the index.

If that formula had been followed this year teachers would have taken a four percent cut. Instead, they have been granted a four percent increase by the arbitration board.

Four Main Arguments

C. D. Ovans, BCTF secretary, Vancouver, presented four major points in arguing the case for the teachers.

First, he declared teaching is a profession and if it is going to compete with other recognized professions, its salaries must present "some fair relationship" to those paid in other professions.

Secondly, he argued that the trend in industry is for the increase in wages to outstrip the increase in cost of living, while teachers' salaries have "barely kept pace with the increase in the cost of living."

His third argument contended that teachers are not sharing in the general rise in the standard of living.

Finally, Mr. Ovans' concerned himself with the teacher shortage, claiming that in order to attract enough people to meet the increasing demand the teaching profession must offer a high enough standard of living to make the profession attractive.

A. D. C. Washington, trustees' counsel from Pentiction, took the stand that when teachers raised their standards then, and only then, will they be in a position to demand a standard of living comparative to

Council Will Debate One Superintendent

One of the chief questions which will come before the municipal council this spring will be the possibility of an appointment of a superintendent for all outside services, roads, electric light and water.

Councillor F. M. Steuart has advocated this move at various times since he has become a council member and on January 27 he reiterated his views, stating that he felt an economy could be effected with one superintendent to ascertain the problems and provide the answers for all departments.

This could be worked out to better advantage now with the retirement next month of the electrical superintendent, T. P. Thornber, he thought.

Councillor Steuart declared he was also looking to the day when

Canners Hold Sessions Next Week at Coast

H. J. (Bill) Barkwill, of Barkwill's Ltd., Summerland, will preside over the annual sessions of the Canned Foods Association of B.C. which will be held in Vancouver from Monday to Friday, Feb. 9 to 13, next week.

Among the speakers at this important conference will be L. G. Denby of the experimental station on Tomato Experiments and R. P. Murray, Okanagan supervising horticulturist on Rotation of Crops in the Interior.

F. E. Atkinson and Adrian Moyle of the fruit products laboratory at the experimental station will give information on Heat Penetration in Tomato Canning while another interesting lecture will be on weather forecasts, as provided by Donald McMullen, in charge of the frost warning service in the interior.

Last two days of the convention will be taken up with judging of samples, Mr. Barkwill explains.

Others from Summerland who will be at the convention included Bob Barkwill, Blair Underwood, Blake Milne and Ryan Lawley.

The following week, at Victoria, the Canadian Food Processors Assn. will hold its annual convention February 16, 17 and 18.

Mr. Barkwill, who is on the western executive, Mr. Atkinson and Mr. Lawley will be in attendance at this session which is headed by F. D. Mathers, Westminster Canners, and has as secretary Phil Robinson, brother of V. E. Robinson, Pentiction, well-known Okanagan fruit and vegetable man.

Pictured above is the Mustang fighter plane which failed to take-off at Sea Island airport on Sunday, Jan. 25, ran through the fence and landed against a dyke across the road. It was piloted by PO Charles Dodwell, former Summerland man and son of P. G. Dodwell of this town. The pilot escaped with only minor head wounds. His escape was the more miraculous as it was the second brush with death experienced by Dodwell in three months. Last November his jet came in contact with another Vampire of the RCAF, which blew up alongside him. Dodwell managed to land his jet without serious injury to himself, while the pilot of the accompanying craft was killed. An RCAP enquiry board absolved PO Dodwell of any blame in the latest crash, stating that a technical defect in the engine was believed responsible. — Engraving courtesy the Vancouver Sun.

Editorial

An Editor Departs

WITH this issue, your editor who helped to establish this weekly newspaper for Summerland, departs for other fields of publishing. His place is being taken by an able successor, one who has already established himself as one of the foremost news editors in the weekly field in Canada.

It is, with regret that your editor for nearly seven years leaves Summerland for other lines of endeavor. But it is with a certain amount of what he hopes is justifiable pride that he hands over the reins of office to the new editor and publisher.

Summerland had been without a weekly newspaper for eighteen years. It had no organ, in that time, in which its day to day happenings, its highlights and its more despondent spots could be recorded.

Since 1946 Summerland as a community has had a voice and one which has been heard to good purpose in many realms of activity. It is our hope that the voice has been to good purpose in moulding public opinion, in fostering those things which need support and in doing a good public service job.

Throughout these intervening years since World War II came to an end, it has been The Review's main endeavor to promote the loyalty of the primary producers to their own marketing organization and their general co-operative setup as defined by the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Assn.

The Review has believed firmly in the inherent right of the producer to organize for his own benefit, as long as the consumer could be protected at the same time. This has been the motivating force behind the natural products marketing act.

This newspaper has not always believed that the officials who were placed in high places within the growers' organization have done the right thing. At times it has pointed out apparent errors in judgment, and has endeavored to help the cause of the growers who supply the lifeblood for this Okanagan Valley.

Closer to home, The Review has fought for an increased interest in municipal affairs, has suggested many times that there should be opposition for those seeking office, so that a healthy, competitive state of affairs could exist in the top government levels of the community.

One of the first issues was that of separation from the school district which encompassed both Summerland and Penticton. The Review helped in this fight for separation and Summerland was the winner in the end. We can all agree that the result has been justified by the accelerated school building program which ensued once Summerland district stood on its own feet.

In other issues which have come to pass, this newspaper has seldom failed to take a stand, and in most cases it has been upheld by the voice of the majority of ratepayers.

The municipal hall issue was a serious problem for a time but was solved through the co-operation which Summerland has come to know as one of its best assets.

More recently, when the department of public works called for the main valley highway to run through a section of the municipality which would disrupt the greatest number of private properties, this newspaper came to the fore and suggested another route.

The Review, with the assistance of many others, was instrumental in having the works department agree to survey all possible highway routes and compare costs before proceeding with its major undertaking.

The Review, we are certain, will continue to serve the community of Summerland well under its new management.

In parting from the community life of Summerland, we would like to sound this one word of warning. A weekly newspaper can only be of service to the community it is attempting to serve, in direct relation to the support the community is willing to give in its turn. A weekly newspaper is a business venture, after all.

A New Editor Takes Over

IN introducing the new editor and publisher of The Review, who takes control of the policies and business management after this week's issue, we have no hesitation in stating that Summerland is acquiring a newspaper man who has made his place in the publishing field already.

Mr. Gordon Crockett has been news editor of the Powell River News for the past three years and has been a consistent winner of awards in the Better Newspapers Competition conducted each year by the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Assn.

At St. Andrew's, New Brunswick, this year Mr. Crockett, on behalf of his weekly newspaper, received the three top awards in his 2,000 to 3,000 circulation class, namely the best all round paper, the best editorial page and the best front page make-up.

Then, in addition, the Powell River News took home the trophy awarded annually to the weekly newspaper, regardless of circulation, which has done the most worthwhile service to the community it served during the past year.

Such a sweep of awards has seldom, if ever, been equalled in CWNA annals.

It is with no trepidation whatsoever that we introduce The Review's new publisher, W. Gordon Crockett, who takes over the reins of office this week.

We wish him luck in his new enterprise and know that he is entering a community whose friendly spirit knows no bounds and whose citizens are among the best people on earth.

It is with regret that we leave the friendly atmosphere of Summerland, but we are content that we are leaving The Review in capable hands.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Newspaper accounts of the "Tobacco Road" affair in Vancouver have fascinated me. Not the play itself, which I've never seen—the movie, which I enjoyed, is a horse of a much more faded complexion, according to author Caldwell—but the trial.

How can a number of witnesses, all apparently intelligent, respectable citizens, differ so widely in their opinions of the play? One group says it was lewd, immoral, disgusting. The other says it was perfectly decent and harmless and a fine piece of work. They can't both be right. Is the one group pure and innocent, and the other of easy morality themselves? If so, which one?

To my father there would have been no question. He had very decided views as to what was decent and what was not, and expected all pure-minded people to agree with him. Just in case they didn't, however, he set himself up as a board of censorship in the family, and the forthright announcement, "I won't have such a book in my house!" was familiar to us all.

As we grew older, we noted that he himself had always read those evil books before forbidding them; he never took anybody else's say-so.

And I was immensely tickled by his attitude toward a certain weighty and sexy—or do they call it "historical" now?—best-seller named "Anthony Adverse". It was highly bally-hooed upon publication, and Father got greatly interested in it. He talked about it so widely that teachers of the Sunday school of which he was superintendent bought it for him—in all innocence—for their annual Christmas present.

Father showed it to me in great triumph, and for the first several chapters was loud in his praise of this masterpiece. Then his enthusiasm lessened, until finally he never mentioned it, though I knew he was still reading it. Finally he drew me aside and said secretively: "You know, that Anthony Adverse is a terrific book; I enjoyed it very much. But I'd hate any of my Sunday school teachers to read it."

The fact that he let me read it without demur was definite proof to me that, after several years of marriage and more of earning my own living, he finally admitted I was grown up.

Cutest thing Father ever did in the censorship line, however, was a few years later. He was about seventy-five years old at the time of the "Anthony Adverse" episode; he was nearing eighty when he was chosen to represent his church at a national conference in Toronto. While away, he went to a movie which had been touted as "shockingly frank", and it must have been too much even for Father. He never breathed a word about his experience to the family, and if one of his travelling companions had not whispered to Mother, we would never have known that he had seen it.

Many psychologists, however, claim that it is not the decent and pure people who object to sin and sex in plays, books, and movies. They say that people who notice these things must have such subjects constantly in their minds, and those who see no evil have the purer minds. What do you think of that, now?

I suspect that there is considerable truth in it. But I also suspect that many well-to-do, well-educated city people of the "sophisticated" type see no evil in a play because their code of morals is quite different from that of the ordinary, family-type, working people of the suburbs, the small town, and the country. The sophisticates take heavy drinking, divorce, illicit love affairs, etc., as a matter of course, and smile in superior scorn at simple people who are shocked by them. Yet the very indulgences which they condone are signs of inadequacy and unhappiness in the lives they lead.

Maybe such people can ignore the immoralities in a play or book and see only the social problems involved; maybe they merely say so with tongue in cheek.

But I'm still not sure whether censorship of plays, books, is a good or bad thing. To forbid anything makes those who want it go after it harder, true; but if it also makes it less likely to fall into the hands of young innocents who know nothing about it—is that bad?

Should books like Erskine Caldwell's "God's Little Acre", for instance, be available to any school child on pocket-book stands in Summerland?

Thought-provoking subject, isn't it?

Library Will Move In Mid-February

Mrs. Muriel Poulkes, librarian for the Okanagan Regional Library, visited Summerland on Jan. 28 and agreed to rent a portion of the former municipal building on Pender street for $10 per month. The section to be occupied by the library about the middle of February is the main office and does not include the council chambers.

Serve Canada...

...in Signals

Service in the Canadian Army is not merely a job, it is a worthwhile career in which the young man fits himself for a successful future, and plays a part in the vital work of keeping Canada secure and safe.

For the young man interested in a trade, the Royal Canadian Signals has much to offer... outstanding trades training... special trades pay and promotion — and, of course, the Canadian Army's outstanding pension plan, free medical and dental care, 30 days annual leave with pay, service at home and overseas. In the Signals you will be working with the most up-to-date communication equipment and methods that science can devise. Your experience and training will be available to you wherever you go in the Army, or in civilian life.

You are eligible if you are 17 to 45 years of age and able to meet Army test requirements. Applicants should bring birth certificates or other proof of age when reporting for interview.

High School COMMENTS

Marion Turigan, June Willis, Dwaine Greer and Preston Mott are the persons who will try to bring honors to Summerland High by debating this year. The topic is "Canada's Immigration Policy".
 On January 23 there were three basketball games in the school gym. The junior A boys beat the junior B boys in the first game, the Penticton senior girls defeated the Summerland senior girls in the next game, and in the last game, the Penticton senior boys won out over our senior boys.
 These teams were all served refreshments by the social committee after their game.
 On January 30 the Summerland junior boys played the senior boys and beat them by the score of 23-21. On Monday, February 2, there was another game and this time the seniors won 22-3.
 The Grade 12 class is beginning to plan for graduation. So far they've had one meeting in which they chose a chairman, Preston Mott, a secretary Arlene Raincock, a committee to plan a variety concert, consisting of Rose Harrison, Marguerite Menu, Arlene Raincock, Preston Mott and Ross Axworthy; and a committee consisting of Marguerite Menu, Merle Heavysides, Brian Berg and Ross Axworthy to arrange for the music and the guest speaker at the graduation ceremony.
 On behalf of all the SHS students, we'd like to say "congratulations" to our curlers who went to the Vernon bonspiel and "better luck next time".

TEEN TOWN

Teen Town icicle frenzy went off with a bang a week ago Saturday with Bob Nelson winning the box of chocolates as a door prize. Our thanks go to Mr. and Mrs. Schwab for being our parent advisers.
 A council meeting was held at Rose Harrison's last Monday night. It was decided that we hold a Cupid's Frolic on Valentine's day, Saturday, Feb. 14, at the Youth Centre at 9 o'clock. Let's have all teen-agers out to this dance.

Genial, white-haired Joe Allen, new Lieutenant-Governor of Kiwanis Division 5 shakes hands with Ed (Hilly) Smith at the IOOF hall last Thursday night, just after he officially installed him as president of Summerland Kiwanis for 1953. N. O. Solly, new vice-president, is on the right. Joe Allen is practically "Mr. Twisp", as he has been the leading figure there for years. The new school building was dedicated to him as a tribute to his community service.

Kiwanians Hear Tribute to J. Y. Towgood at Installation

Tribute to the fine work in 1952, of Lt.-Governor J. Y. Towgood of Summerland was paid by the new incumbent, Joe Allen of Twisp, Wash., who installed Edward (Hilly) Smith and his fellow officers and directors of the Kiwanis Club of Summerland at the IOOF hall on Thursday evening, Jan. 29.
 "I hope I can keep the Towgood record before me as an example," declared Mr. Allen.
 Turning to the local Kiwanians he said "you can be proud that you supplied Division 5 with a lieutenant-governor so universally admired and loved as Jack Towgood. He and his wife won a place in the hearts of all Kiwanians in this division."
Looks for More Members
 Following the installation ceremonies, the new president, Hilly Smith declared he was "happy" to have such a strong directorate and also felt that the new meeting place, the Masonic hall, would tend to increase the scope of the club's activities. He looked for an increased membership in Kiwanis in 1953.
 J. E. Jenkinson, retiring president, spoke of 1952 as a pleasant year and pointed to the melodrama production "Will the Mail Train Run Tonight," as one of the year's Kiwanis highlights.
 Summerland Kiwanis was well represented at the spring conference at Tonasket, Wash., and also had members at the international convention in Seattle, Wash.
 Local Kiwanians staged a summer picnic, a street carnival, organized the Conquer Cancer drive with the record for such affairs, staged a National Kids' Day treat and obtained equipment for a soap box derby which may be held in the coming year.
 Donations to various organizations and charities amounted to $155 in the year, he stated. The pleasant evening's program commenced with the invocation by Rev. A. M. Meulenbergh. Dinner was served by the Catholic Women's League, following which Joe Sedlar led the community singing.

 A comic address by Rev. Andrew McAndrews intrigued those who scanned their programs. The reverend gentleman with the broad Scottish accent turned out to be Lashley Haggman, pianist for the evening, whose description of a Sunday baseball game in Scotland was amusing.
 Guests were introduced and included Mr. and Mrs. Allen and Mr. Gibson, of Twisp, Wash.; Reeve C. E. Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Lashley Haggman, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bleasdale, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kean, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smith.
 Kiwanians at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Towgood, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jenkinson and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Smith.
Toasts Offered
 Toast to the ladies was proffered by F. W. Schumann, with suitable reply by Mrs. J. Y. Towgood. Toast to Kiwanis was proposed by Ken Heales with Father A. M. Meulenbergh replying.
 Walter Wright, accompanied by Mr. Haggman, sang several solos as the chief entertainment feature. Dancing to the Mountain Rascals music concluded the enjoyable evening's program, refreshments being served at midnight.
 Officers for the coming year also include Nicolas Solly, vice-president; Father A. M. Meulenbergh, secretary; C. F. M. (Buck) Guernsey, treasurer. Directors are Bob Alstead, Lacey Fisher, Gerry Hallquist, George Henry, George Graham, Bill Laidlaw and Jack Towgood.

GUIDE NEWS

At the commencement of the Guide meeting, the usual routine inspection was carried out and fees collected. This was followed by patrol corners, where the Guides, as advised at the previous meeting appeared to have everything ready for their miniature gardens, which would make suitable table centres, the time allowed for this being 30 minutes.
 It was surprising to see what can be found in the gardens and hills, even at this time of the year. That the Guides had ingenuity was evident with the gardens which were centred around moss, ivy leaves, small branches cleverly converted into trees, pussy willows and one patrol had even found a wild violet.
 Ornaments had been used to complete them, including small bridges over ponds, ducks, birds and various species of wildlife which are to be found around our gardens.
 The judging of these proved to be a difficult task, each patrol having entirely different ideas, but after much consideration the following results were agreed upon: 1st, Hepatica; 2nd, Orchid, and 3rd, Buttercup patrol. The miniatures turned out to be very good, a suggestion was then made that they be taken along to the hospital; this being performed by the guiders after the meeting.
 Following corners came the training period for badges, etc. The senior patrol also commenced work on its rug. It was decided that two Guides each week should take it home and work on it, Marie Gronlund and Carol Allison being chosen for this duty.
 At the conclusion of the meeting around campfire, the following badges were awarded: Handywoman, Marie Gronlund and Jill Sanborn; cook's badge, Pat Boyd.
 Patrol marks now stand as follows: Forget-me-nots 115, Orchids 129, Pimpernel 120, Pansy 120, Hepatica 129, Clover 112.

WILL FILL TWO ROLES

Municipal council last week decided that when the new municipal electrician is appointed he will also assume the role of electric inspector, work which is being carried out now by the building inspector, Roy F. Angus. It was thought that some duplication of effort could be saved by this move.

CHIMNEY FIRE

Shortly after the noon hour on Friday the fire brigade was called out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tibbe to extinguish a chimney fire. It was put out without any damage to the house.

No Police Raids Likely for Rotary Minstrel Show Here Tomorrow Night

"Not so scandalous as Tobacco Road, but we hope there will be no police interference," was the comment of Rotary directors when asked for comment this week on their forthcoming Minstrel Show scheduled for tomorrow evening at the high school auditorium.
 Reserved seat sale has been terrific but there is still room for more, they claim.
 A goodly share of laughs, and possibly a few shocks are promised at Summerland's first minstrel show staged for many years.
 Negro dancing, vocal quartette, guest soloist from Kelowna, as well as a group of "Negro" harmonica players are some of the features of the show, along with amusing antics, gags and jokes in generous supply, aimed chiefly at neighbors and "folks around town".
 "If the customers get half as much fun out of this show as we have had preparing for it, they'll get their money's worth," was the comment of one busy Rotarian this week.

Every member of Summerland Rotary has a part, and they have been busily engaged for weeks preparing costumes, scripts and stage settings as well as perfecting their dialects and musical "appreciation".
Ken Boothe
 All proceeds will be used for Rotary community endeavors in Summerland.
 Directors in charge of the show are Ken Boothe, Clarke Wilkin and Bedford Tingley while pianist is Tom McKay.
 A dress rehearsal is being held tonight for students who are unable to come to the Friday night performance.

MRS. R. G. RUSSEL TELLS OF TRIP

Bermuda, Land of Blue Skies and Lovely Colors is Aply Described

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Russel returned last week from a two-months' holiday in Bermuda where they visited Mrs. Russel's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mitchell, and saw their little niece, Linda Mitchell, for the first time other than in photographs.

Mrs. Russel, when asked if she would tell a few of her impressions of the little island in the Atlantic, wrote this charming, spontaneous story from the time when Bermuda was first sighted from the plane which they had boarded at New York.

You want our impressions of Bermuda? Our first is looking down through a break in the clouds as we flew there from New York, and seeing the tiny islands below us in an expanse of clear green-blue ocean — stepping out of the plane into a soft balmy 70 degree temperature through the customs (You are not bringing any Christmas presents? "Oh, no!") and Joyce and Linda Mitchell waiting for us.

Then we were swept away in an atmosphere of friendliness and a small car, through the winding roads between stone walls, now over low green hills, now by the bluest of blue seas, over bridges, by old grey churches with their graveyards round them.

There are palm trees and hibiscus, pink houses, green houses, blue houses, all with gleaming white roofs, till we arrived at "Killick's Down", which is a pretty pale green house, set in a terraced lawn with a long row of poinsettias in full bloom.

To me a poinsettia had been a rather spindly thing in a pot which struggled through the Christmas season in a leafless condition and then died. Here they are large bushes, blazing with double and single flowers, inches across, and they last in full bloom for two or three months.

Bermuda houses are built of the coral rock that the islands are made of. This rock is quite soft and can be cut with a saw when first, quarried and is a pale creamy color, but it hardens with exposure and darkens. Both the inside and the outside walls are made of blocks of this rock, very often dug from the actual site the house is to occupy. The "hole" thus formed makes the water tank under the house, which is filled by rain water from the roof.

The roof is made of "slates" of coral with gutters leading to pipes and to the tank. The roof is whitewashed frequently, giving the impression, especially in moonlight, of being covered with snow.

All cooking is done with gas or electricity, and heat is provided by a fireplace, which in the old houses is often raised about two feet above the floor.

Hamilton is the principal city, and the ships tie up along Front St. and on the other side are some of the most wonderful shops in the world. China, silver, glass, woollens and curios, from all over the globe are seductively displayed for the pleasure and downfall of the tourist.

There are nine or ten huge hotels such as the Princess, Castle Harbour, Belmont, Bermudian, and endless guest houses and clubs. Dotted from end to end of the islands are little speciality and curio shops, with baskets and shells, and linens, grass hats and cloaks, and sweaters, toys and some local pottery. It is impossible not to spend money! They'll take it in any currency, and in a charming and leisurely manner, give you your purchase and your change! Life moves at a slower tempo. We were always told "not to rush about so".

St. George is the old garrison town at the eastern end of the island. It dates from 1612 and has the authentic feeling of age and history. Then a man built his home where he liked. There was no town planning, and he wandered along a foot path to visit his neighbor. In time these paths became the official thoroughfares. They're about six feet wide, between high walls, and have retained their old names, Printer's Alley, Old Maid's Lane, Shimbone Alley, and Featherbed Lane.

It is only since the last war that cars have been allowed on the island. Previous to that, you rode in a smart carriage, or peddled a bike. Now the roads stream with small English cars and auto-bikes, and it's much more dangerous to cross a street in Hamilton than it is in New York! There's a 20 mph speed limit, but 20 mph can be very fast on a narrow winding road. And they travel to the left instead of the right, and I never knew whether I was going to be run over from in front or behind!

The sun shines gloriously out of a blue sky with fluffy clouds, and it's just like a warm May day, balmy and soft, and damp. No wonder the flowers grow as they do. Hibiscus hedges with flowers of every shade from deep red to apricot, bananas, grapefruit, limes, are all waiting to be picked. Even the houses look like flowers with their color-washed walls, white roofs and contrasting wooden shutters. And most wonderful of all is the sea, and the beaches. The water is clear, and shines green and blue and purple as far as you can see. The waves roll in to the pinkish-creamy beaches of crushed shells. The water is salty and invigorating, and to us, comfortably warm, though the Bermudians shiver to their toes at the idea of bathing at this time of year.

Bermuda perches on the highest peak of an underwater mountain range, and is twenty miles long and two miles wide. It is over six hundred miles from the nearest land. It is the scene of Shakespeare's play The Tempest and quite possibly all that remains of the lost continent of Atlantis, and I heartily advise everyone to go there at the first opportunity!

CHAUTAQUA WELL ATTENDED

Faulty Nozzles on Sprinklers Throw Too Much Water on Land

Best attendance ever recorded for the two meetings was on hand for the afternoon and evening Chautauqua sessions at the Youth Centre on Thursday, Jan. 29. Keen interest in the subjects was evidenced, with care of sprinkler systems being one of the most important pronouncements made.

Dr. M. D. Proverbs commenced the afternoon session, attended by nearly 150 growers, with his lecture on insect and rodent control, outlining the methods to be used for handling Toxothene, a new mice control material which has been placed on the calendar this year.

Many advantages attributed to Malathion over Parathion were detailed, as it is expected to control all mites and pear psylla, but Dr. Proverbs urged growers to wear masks when using the insecticide as it has an extremely pungent odor.

He also talked on cutworm control for trees and gardens, stating that a DDT dust used one or two days after irrigation would prove a beneficial control. He declared, however, that a 10 percent DDT solution should be used to prevent an accumulation in the soil.

Scientists are still working on woolly aphis-control as only partial answers to last year's troublesome pest have been found. They are still working to find the solution.

Dr. D. L. McIntosh urged the growers to concentrate, on cleaning up fire blight this year using the remedies which have been outlined on many occasions.

Collar rot on cherries and apricots is a blight caused by sprinklers, it has been ascertained, and he asked grower to keep sprinklers at a low level and keep the spray from reaching any height on young trees.

Dr. C. G. Woodbridge's subject was mineral supplements and the shortage of minor elements in the orchard. He stressed boron toxicity and declared that a lot of harm has been done by application of too much boron in many orchards.

In the evening, Mr. R. G. Garry stressed that legumes are particularly good for soft fruit over crops but for apples he was in favor of a sod.

In young plantings, he declared that the trees should have clean cultivation for the first four years, and where young plantings are made in old orchards, a six-foot circle around the young trees should be cleared and four to six inches of sawdust or shavings applied.

In every orchard about 10 tons of humus per acre should be replaced every year, Mr. Garry insisted. Check Sprinkler Systems.

Care of sprinklers was stressed by this speaker who stated that growers should be busily engaged at this time of year checking their equipment as wear in nozzles and other parts of the equipment can be blamed for the excessive amounts of water being used by sprinkler systems.

The soil is getting more water than is required, Mr. Garry stated, and faulty equipment can be blamed for this condition.

He also stressed that too much water closes off circulation and robs the trees of oxygen from the soil, thus resulting in small and immature fruit.

Mr. G. L. Calver, extension agriculture engineer outlined the proper methods of caring for orchard machinery, with special emphasis on orchard sprayers.

D. M. Wright, president of the Summerland BCFGA local, was chairman of the meeting.

Tips to Growers on Chemical Thinning Given at Chautauqua

A. W. Watt, district horticulturist in Summerland, specified the recommendations which are being made for chemical thinning this year when he addressed the annual Chautauqua meeting here on Thursday evening. He has given this talk in other parts of the valley, as well.

Recommendations which he emphasized are the result of the work done by the experimental station and the provincial horticultural branch in the valley and will be issued with the spray calendar.

Only one change has been made in the recommendations for gun sprayers, in connection with chemical thinning, Mr. Watt stating that 1 1/2 pints of 20 percent sodium salt of dinitroresol per 100 gallons should be used at full bloom for Delicious and Romes, instead of 1 1/4 pints.

A new material has been suggested for dilute sprayers only, he stressed. This is a 20 percent sodium and ammonium salt of dinitroresol containing petroleum hydrocarbons. It is recommended at 1 pint per 100 gallons and is applied at full bloom.

The 40 percent dinitro materials are not being recommended this year, on account of variability in results and increased burning foliage effect. In the past blossom, naphthalene acetic acid (hormone) sprays, there is no change from last year.

Concentrate Sprayers. Turning to concentrate sprayers, the 20 percent sodium salt of dinitroresol is recommended at full bloom as in the past, with the strength for Delicious and Romes out to 10 pints per acre. All other varieties should receive 15 pints, he declared.

Post blossom, naphthalene acetic acid (hormone) sprays, are being recommended in concentrate machines for the first time this year, Mr. Watt stated.

Amount suggested for use is a strength 50% greater than that recommended by the manufacturer for pre-harvest drop. A simple method of finding the per acre dosage for this material is to take the manufacturer's recommendation for pre-harvest drop control and multiply by 15.

"Hormone" applications, whether dilute or concentrate, should not be made later than 7 to 10 days from full bloom. "Hormone" application should not be used with varieties earlier than McIntosh.

Not all concentrate sprayers are suitable for chemical thinning, he stressed. A suitable type would be one delivering 75 to 100 gallons of spray in 30 minutes and having a turbine type air blower with tungsten carbide swirl plate nozzles of proper size, according to specifications obtained from Dr. Marshall.

Machines which grossly overspray the lower portions of the trees should be avoided when chemical thinning.

Erratic results which were obtained in 1952 cannot all be satisfactorily explained, Mr. Watt continued giving a few points which may aid the grower in achieving more reliable results:

Weather Conditions: Dry, warm weather at the time of spraying usually causes less thinning effect. Wet or cool weather when spraying or within a few days after, may cause increased thinning effect to the point of over-thinning.

Tree Vigor: Weak trees should be avoided unless the grower wishes to remove most of the crop.

Variety: The danger of over-thinning varieties such as Duchess, Wealthy and Newtown is not great. With Delicious, care must be taken to see that the trees are in good shape and that they are well budded for a heavy crop. When spraying Delicious, amounts should be cut 30 percent in the case of dinitro materials. This also applies to Romes. Red Delicious are a high price crop and could probably stand the expense of hand thinning rather than risk the danger of over-thinning with chemicals.

Timing: Trees frequently do not come into bloom evenly. Cases have been reported where dinitro materials were applied when the blossoms were ready on the south side of the trees but barely open on the north side. Severe over-thinning of the north side of the trees has occurred from this action. In such cases it may pay to wait a day or two before spraying.

Operating the Sprayer: With concentrate machines a uniform speed of travel is important. A rate of 1 m.p.h. is suggested. Variations in speed between 1 m.p.h. and 1 1/4 m.p.h. can cause a difference of 25 percent in amount of material applied with a corresponding variance in the amount of thinning. In addition, all growers were urged by Mr. Watt to plan their chemical thinning earlier this year and to order their thinning chemicals as soon as possible.

Clive Atkinson Leader Again

Mr. Clive Atkinson was re-elected president of the Summerland Horticultural Society at an executive meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Calder on Jan. 25.

The honorary president is Mrs. H. G. Fisher and honorary vice-president Mrs. E. H. Bennett.

Vice-president is Mrs. James Marshall and second vice-president Mrs. M. E. Collas.

Mr. A. F. Calder remains as secretary and Mr. W. F. Ward as treasurer. Tea convener is again Miss Doreen Tait.

Mr. A. W. Watt is convener of programs and of films, and Mrs. E. C. Bingham is the press reporter.

As the flower show committee was not elected at the annual meeting, it will be chosen at the next regular meeting which is on Friday, Feb. 20.

Arnold Paul Takes Haney Girl as Bride

The Lakeside United church was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 31, at two o'clock, when Ada Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Webb of Haney, B.C., became the bride of Arnold Lees Paul, son of Mrs. Nellie Paul, Summerland.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore performed the marriage ceremony.

Wearing a lovely traditional white satin wedding gown and flowing filmy veil, and carrying a bouquet of red roses, the bride entered the church on the arm of Mr. R. Gibbard, who gave her in marriage.

Miss Doris Webb was her sister's only attendant, and was attired in pretty rose taffeta.

Mr. John Abrasimoff supported the groom and Mr. Eugene Bates was organist for the wedding.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's mother.

The couple will make their home in Summerland.

Tailoring Course is Offered by Institute

A tailoring course is being offered by Summerland Women's Institute from April 13 - 25 in the high school.

The classes will be taught by Miss Eileen Cross, home economist, of the UBC department of extension, and according to information received from Miss Cross, some experience in sewing is necessary for those who take the course.

Mrs. V. Charles, who taught night school classes at the high school last year, is one of the directors of the Institute, and is interested in bringing this further instruction to Summerland women. It is thought that anyone who has made a skirt or dress would be in a position to learn much from the tailoring course.

Snowdrops Found In Lakeside Garden

Double flowering snowdrops were found to be in full bloom on Sunday, Feb. 1, by Mr. A. J. Mann as he wandered through his lovely lakeside garden.

The delicate little heralds of spring may have been out some days earlier, though not noticed until Sunday.

Mr. Mann has said that this early flowering is at least six weeks ahead of usual time, since for the past two years the snowdrops have been in bloom about the 20th of March.

Many reports of pansies blooming in Gardens throughout the municipality have also been heard.

VISITING ABROAD

Mr. and Mrs. R. Alstead are visitors at the coast and in the Fraser Valley this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Holler left on Wednesday to motor to the coast, to spend a week's holiday in Victoria.

Mr. Don Agur and Mr. Pete Lenz left on Saturday for the east to fetch a new car, truck and half-ton truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Holmes left on Saturday for Ontario, where they will visit Haliburton and other eastern cities, taking possession of a new car at Ottawa and driving back to the Okanagan.

TO LIVE AT OLIVER
Friends of Mr. J. Bowering, postmaster at West Summerland for many years, who has been living at Penticton for the past five years, will be interested to hear that he has sold his home in Penticton and is going to live at Oliver with his son, Mr. Ewart Bowering.

HOME AGAIN

Miss Nancy Fleming, who has been at the coast, is returning today.

Mrs. H. C. Whitaker, who was at the coast for several weeks, has returned to her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Tingley are home again after spending a few weeks at Vancouver and Harrison Hot Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Russel returned at the end of last week from Bermuda where they were visiting for the past two months at the home of the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mitchell.

VISITING HERE

Miss Mary Ward of Vancouver was a weekend visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ward.

Miss Sybil Smith of Sicamous is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith, Garnet Valley.

Dr. J. Gayton of Victoria visited at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gayton last weekend, en route from Edmonton to his home on the Island.

Graduate Nurse, Peggy Jane Steuart, United to Chilliwack Man Here

Pink and white snapdragons were the flowers decorating St. Andrew's United church on Friday evening, Jan. 30, at seven o'clock, when Peggy Jane, daughter of Mrs. Steuart, Summerland, and the late J. Alan Steuart, was united in marriage with Allen Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKillop, Chilliwack.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. R. Whitmore in the presence of twenty-eight relatives and close friends.

For her wedding the bride was charmingly gowned in floor-length white nylon net over satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt slightly on train. A long-sleeved lace bolero enhanced the lovely costume, and a veil of nylon net fell softly over it. She carried a Colonial bouquet of roses and carnations.

Miss Mary E. Steuart was her sister's only attendant, and was in blue net over matching taffeta, the bodice fitted, with a pretty neckline and puffed sleeves. The full skirt was floor-length, and she carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Roy F. Steuart of Penticton, and the best man was Mr. Harry Schindel of Vancouver.

During the signing of the register, the groom's sister Miss Wilma McKillop played the piano.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barkwill, where the rooms were decorated with pink and white snapdragons.

The bride's mother, receiving, was wearing a lovely moss green crepe gown with black hat and accessories and a corsage of carnations and white heather. Assisting, the groom's mother wore navy and white crepe with navy accessories and her flowers were in a corsage of carnations and white heather.

The bride's table was covered with a beautiful lace cloth with pink tapers in silver holders, and a three-tiered wedding cake.

Mr. H. Schindel proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded, and the toast to the bridesmaid was given by Mr. J. C. Barkwill. Many congratulatory telegrams were received.

For motoring by way of the States to Vancouver where the couple will make their home, the bride donned a rose beige suit with corsage of rosebuds and white heather, and a grey top coat with matching hat.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. D. McKillop and Miss Wilma McKillop, and Miss H. Andriatz, and Miss M. L. McLeod, all of Chilliwack; Rev. and Mrs. J. W. McKillop, Keremeos; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart McKillop, Mrs. J. Larsen, Langley; Mr. H. Schindel, Vancouver; Mrs. J. I. Steuart, Mrs. Edna Steuart, Miss Velma Steuart, Mr. R. F. Steuart, Mr. J. Seccrest, Penticton.

The bride is a graduate of Vancouver General hospital and has recently been on the staff of the general hospital at Chilliwack.

St. Stephen's Hears Good Reports on Activities Last Year

Members of the congregation of St. Stephen's church listened with interest to the excellent report given by the rector, Canon F. V. Harrison, as he reviewed the year's work at the annual general meeting of the congregation in the parish hall on Wednesday evening, Jan. 28. At the same time he thanked the ladies, officers and members for their help and co-operation.

An encouraging financial report was presented by the auditor, Mr. I. H. Solly, in the absence of the treasurer, Mr. A. W. Watt. This showed that the treasurer and the finance committee had accomplished a great deal of work during 1952 with good results.

The usual fine report was received from the Women's Auxiliary and its various branches, and from the Sunday school, all of which were passed with applause.

The following officers were elected for 1953: Lay delegates to the synod, C. J. Clark, K. E. Thomson; substitute delegates to the synod, A. F. Calder, Dr. D. V. Fisher; delegate to the synod, Col. G. Y. L. Crossley; rector's warden, C. J. Clark; people's warden, C. J. Hindleston; secretary, W. C. W. Fosbery; treasurer, A. W. Watt; envelope secretary, A. F. Calder; auditor, I. H. Solly.

The church committee consists of F. E. Atkinson, Miss M. Cartwright, Mrs. D. Turnbull, Dr. D. V. Fisher, H. C. Howis, I. H. Solly, J. Y. Towgood, H. Findlow, K. E. Thomson, W. C. Baker, E. C. Bingham, A. K. Macleod, Bob Barkwill, W. A. Berry, Oliver Eaton and Dennis Nield.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served.

Departing Couple is Honored by Several Parties and Gifts

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong are leaving Summerland to live at the coast and several parties have been arranged in their honor prior to their leaving.

On Friday evening, Jan. 28, over forty of their friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Wright where the rooms were decorated with white and pale pink chrysanthemums for the occasion, and dancing was enjoyed.

Mr. Wright and others spoke to tell the couple how much they will be missed in Summerland in so many ways, and they were presented with a gift as a remembrance of happy times with Summerland friends.

On Monday evening, Jan. 26, the council entertained Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong at the home of Councillor and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson.

A delicious buffet supper was enjoyed after which a "Remember When" book was compiled for the guests of honor.

Those present were Reeve C. E. Bentley, Councillor Francis and Mrs. Steuart, Councillor H. R. J. and Mrs. Richards, Councillor Bill and Mrs. Barkwill, Mr. Gordon Smith, municipal clerk and Mrs. Smith.

Reeve Bentley ably expressed the appreciation of the council for Mr. Armstrong's support and faithful service during his regime as editor of The Summerland Review and extended the best wishes of all present to Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong for their future happiness and prosperity.

Saturday evening, Jan. 31, The Review staff gave a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mev Wells, later going on to the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. McKay for games, music and singing.

On behalf of the staff Mr. McKay spoke in appreciation of Mr. Armstrong's leadership and the pleasant office relations, and presented a going-away gift to Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong.

READY CASH ADVANCED BY B OF M FOR ESSENTIAL HOME IMPROVEMENTS

"A stitch in time saves nine" holds particularly true about improvements and repairs to your home. It is false economy to postpone them even if you are short of ready cash. A low-cost Bank of Montreal loan, made now, may well save you the extra costs which often come from long-neglected repairs.

Whether you need money to paint your home, plaster the ceilings or replace the furnace, it will pay you to have a chat with Ivor Solly, manager of the West Summerland B of M.

Personal Loans at the B of M cost only six per cent a year and are repayable in easy instalments. And you pay interest only on the amount still owing. Thus, if you borrow $100 and repay monthly over a year, the cost is only 27 cents a month. You can borrow more or less, for shorter or longer periods, at proportionately the same cost.

If you need money for home improvements, don't hesitate to call on Mr. Solly. "Lending money is my business," he says. "When you ask for a B of M loan, you do not ask a favor."

NOTES FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

Prairies Disappointed Over Failure of River Project

By O. L. JONES, M.P. for YALE

Two important committees were set up last week; one on defence expenditure, and the other on the C.B.C. Both created quite a controversy regarding the powers that should be granted them and naturally in the case of the C.B.C., objection was voiced by the Conservative members to the principal of government-owned radio broadcasting.

This is rather remarkable in view of the fact that a Conservative premier, R. B. Bennett, was responsible for the original establishment of the Canadian Broadcasting Company. At that time Mr. Bennett and his party insisted on retaining control over broadcasting in Canada.

While some severe criticism can be levied at this corporation, the balance is in its favor as, speaking generally, the C.B.C. has given Canadians some splendid programs. It will be the duty of this committee to investigate not only the details of the opposition, but to discuss policies and programs. I am looking forward to the work of the committee as I have been appointed one of its members.

A big disappointment was felt by the Saskatchewan and Manitoba members particularly over the recommendations contained in the Saskatchewan River Project. It appears that, according to this report, the excessive cost of such a venture would not be warranted.

This report had a similar history to the Currie report, in that information contained therein had leaked out weeks before the report was tabled in the house. Even "Time" of New York had a

Another Team Added to Interior Baseball Loop; Vernon Man New Prexy

At least one more team, and possibly two, will be included in the Interior baseball league for the 1953 season, the annual meeting held in Kelowna last Wednesday afternoon decided. Kamloops Okonots, one of the outstanding interior teams last season, will come into the league for the first time while Princeton Royals are being offered a similar opportunity.

None of the fireworks expected after last year's many disputes over league operation, especially in the playoffs, came to pass and the meeting was an orderly one.

Only slight flareup came when Penticton was queried about gate receipts and the number of free passes issued. Last year's Penticton club president Bert Tidball informed the enquirer that it was none of his or the league's business.

"Curly" Jellison of Vernon is the new league president, replacing Frank Bowfield of Penticton. Maralia of Kamloops is the new vice-president, while the secretary will be from Vernon.

Umpires' schools to be held in Penticton and Kamloops were proposed by the league meeting and President Jellison declared he would make certain that a lot of umpiring troubles which occurred in 1952 will not be repeated this season.

Each team will submit any proposals it might have concerning schedule dates and the entire schedule will then be drawn up by the Baseball Congress office in Wichita, Kansas.

Offer Travelling Expenses
Kamloops Okonots were so anxious to get into the league that they offered the two smaller clubs which would have to travel twice to the main line city, namely Summerland and Oliver, an extra $75 apiece for travelling expenses.

Princeton Royals will be contacted to determine if they wish to make the eighth team in the league. They played in the Upper Fraser Valley loop in 1952.

One of the main troubles with league operation last year, according to the local club, was that no proper meetings were held. The officers of the league ran the entire show.

This will be changed in 1953 as if any club desires a league meeting it need only make the request in writing and such a session will be called.

This was decided upon when Summerland President Harold Short suggested monthly executive meetings in the different towns in the interior.

Summerland also suggested that the semi-finals be the best of three games instead of the present sudden-death decision. The local club also wanted neutral umpires for the playoffs.

Mention was also made of the game in Kelowna last year when Summerland waited an hour for Kelowna to field a team. By that time it had started to rain and Kelowna insisted on going ahead with the contest regardless.

Both Kelowna and Vernon club members were urged by other league members to make a decided move towards strengthening baseball in their respective communities and to bolster their executive ranks so that such occurrences will not happen the future.

Allen Holmes accompanied Harold Short to Kelowna for this league session.

FRANK SEDGMAN, conqueror of all he surveyed on the amateur front, did not mind losing a love set to this lovely lady on his right. She is MRS. FRANK SEDGMAN (nee Jean Spencer) who is currently accompanying Frank on his very successful professional tour. They will be in Montreal February 6. Jean is an excellent tennis player too.

Stoll Protests Refereeing in Commerk Loop After Sunday Loss

George Stoll, manager of the Summerland senior hockey entry in the commercial league at Penticton, is writing an official letter of protest over the calibre of refereeing as evidenced in last Sunday afternoon's contest which saw the OK Packers take a decisive 7-1 decision over the Summerland lads.

The game itself is not being protested but Mr. Stoll believes that referees who come on the ice with liquor fumes permeating the frosty air just shouldn't be allowed.

He also is protesting that one referee before last Sunday's game threatened to evict Rocky Richardson if he dared to open his mouth.

And that is exactly what happened. Rocky Richardson, playing coach of the Summerland seniors, was given two minutes on a tripping charge. He was given a misconduct penalty when he attempted to argue that he had not committed such an offense. Then he was given a match misconduct penalty when he continued to state what he thought of the whole affair.

Skiers Enjoy Twelve Inches Of Good Snow

Twelve inches of packed snow on the Meadow Valley ski run has enabled ski enthusiasts to enjoy their favorite sport the last two weekends.

Last Saturday and Sunday the skiers had good-sized crowds at the ski hill, augmented by Penticton enthusiasts who are joining the local club this season.

Penticton's ski cabin burned to the ground some time ago and the southern plankmen and women decided to join forces with Summerland rather than attempt a reorganization of their own ranks.

It is hoped here that some permanent arrangement along this line may be possible for future seasons and in this way facilities at the Meadow Valley grounds could be augmented considerably.

Arrangements are being made for night skiing, as the lights are being strung this week.

Daryl Weitzel hopes to compete in the Western Canada championships in Vancouver later in the season he announces.

New Rules Help to Sink Local Cagers Against Vernon

In one of the most nerve-rattling battles staged here in many a year, Vernon senior cagers eked out a narrow 59-56 victory over Summerland Merchants in the high school gym last Thursday evening.

It was a see-saw battle which saw Vernon take the edge in the last few minutes mainly through better free throwing, on fouls. Summerland would have had the game if the lads had been able to hang onto themselves but with the chips down they became nervous and threw the ball away wildly on several occasions. Instead of making certain of their shots they heaved wildly and although their percentage was quite good they allowed the opposition to gain the ball more times than should have happened.

Combined with this was the interpretation of the 1953 rule book by the referees. The officials did a good job, as they saw it, but the new rules regarding moving on the block and other queer findings had the fans puzzled, to say the least.

Evidently, if a player screening an opposing player from the man with the ball moves at all it means two free shots for the player screened, if within the last two minutes of play.

Meant Ruin for Merchants
Two such calls in the dying moments of the game spelled ruin for the Merchants, as on one occasion it meant the basket was not counted and in both instances the Vernon team scored valuable points from the four foul shots awarded.

Fans seemed to be unanimous in their opinion, as voiced by many after the game, they would like to revert to the more, simple type of rule calling when a foul was obviously a foul and more persons than the referees could distinguish it.

Wally Day left the floor on five personals early in the last quarter and that meant a big loss for the Merchants. It was the first time that Day has ever been fouled out of a game.

The big, lanky, defenseman notched up 18 points before leaving for the showers, only topped by Sarge Sammartino, the peppery Vernon forward who was held to two free throws in the first two quarters but really got away to a fine stride in the second half of the game.

Roly Sammartino, Sarge's older brother, also went to the sinbin in the final quarter.

Many of the fouls committed by the Merchants in the final ten minutes were useless ones, which should have been avoided but were mainly caused by over-anxiousness. The lead changed hands four times in Summerland's favor during the final quarter, but Vernon tied it at 54-54, scored two field baskets and a free shot to the Merchants' lone field basket as time ran out.

Howard Thornton, new Interior BB Assn. president, was at the game from Vernon and declared that the refereeing problem, including interpretation of the rules so that the crowd could understand them as well as the players, was being threshed out at a ses-

Eshelman, Penticton, High Scorer in Interior Cage Loop

Prior to games played last week, Eshelman of Penticton was high scorer with an average of 18 points per game for the Interior Basketball League, statistics issued by League Manager Wally Janicki have indicated.

Sarge Sammartino, who didn't hurt his average one bit with his 20 points against Summerland last Thursday, had an average of 17 points per game, followed by Jack Fowles of Kamloops with 14 and Wally Day of Summerland with 13, tied with Cece Clark of Vernon and Jack Botham of Kamloops.

Len Fowles of Kamloops and Foley-Bennett of Penticton have 12 points each while Buck Buchanan of Kamloops has 11 points per game.

From the free shot line, Harold Foulger of Kamloops heads the parade with 5 for 5, D. Marriott of Kamloops being next with 5 for 6, while Bennett of Kelowna has the same average. Jack Fowles of Vernon sank 12 out of 16. Sammartino 5 for 7, Jack Bogross of Kelowna and Len Fowles of Kamloops 2 for 3 and Sibson of Penticton 4 for 6.

Only Summerland player mentioned in these statistics is Daryl Weitzel who sank 8 out of 12 for a .666 average.

The team on the bottom at the end of league play will automatically be dropped from the playoffs. This would leave Vernon to play Kamloops and Summerland to play Penticton in the semi-finals, with the winners meeting in the finals for the senior B championship of the interior.

Scores have been getting closer lately with Kamloops edging Penticton 45-40 last Saturday night in a thriller which rivalled the Vernon-Summerland 59-56 game last Thursday.

sion in Vernon last Sunday.

Score at the end of the first quarter was 13-11 for the Merchants and they increased that lead to 23-18 by the half-way mark. With Sarge really starting to pound in the third quarter Vernon went out in front 44-37 at the three-quarter mark.

Leighton Nesbitt made a vallant stab at pulling the game out of the fire in the final stanza but it just couldn't be done.

Vernon: R. Sammartino 12, S. Sammartino 20, W. Janicki 2, Al Munk, Gray 2, Cece Clark 13, Adams 2, Correale 8-50.

Summerland: Cristante 5, Alkin 18, Day 18, Weitzel, Kato 1, Adams, Guid 3, D. Nesbitt 4, L. Nesbitt 12-56.

Two Rinks to British Consols

Besides the British Consols special event to decide the curling rink which will represent British Columbia in the MacDonald Brier Tankard dominion championships, there are 10 competitions which are included in the provincial championship events, commencing next Monday, Feb. 9, at Vernon.

Eleven sheets of ice are available at the Vernon arena and at the curling club in the northern city.

The ten contests are the Grand Challenge, Cammel Laird, Trail, Nelson, Kimberley and Rossland cups, Grand Aggregate, MacDonald Visitors, President Browne trophy and Consolation award.

Two rinks from Summerland Curling club will be competing all week, from February 9 to 14. Olive men Dick Topping and Ernie Caughlin will be the skips, and the two rinks have been practicing diligently in anticipation of these big events.

Members of the two rinks from Summerland CC are:

Dick Topping, skip; Bill Croft third; Hopkins of Oliver, second, and Herb Lemke, lead.

Ernie Caughlin, skip; H. J. Wells, third; Walter Toevs, second; Francis Stuart, lead.

High School Skaters In Speed Tourney

Summerland junior high school had a team in the interior speed skating tourney at the memorial arena in Kelowna last week, competing against senior high calibre skaters.

Despite their handicap of lack of ice for practice at home in Summerland, the youngsters made a good showing, placing third behind Kelowna and Vernon in the 440, 880 and one mile relays. The boys came second to Vernon in the two-mile relay.

Best individual performance was that of young Georgie Stoll, who entered the two-mile men's open and came in fourth. He was the youngest competitor in the race, which saw 16 starters.

In Their New Home

The municipal office staff commenced its duties in the spanking new municipal office building on Granville street this week and appear to be happy about their new "home". Pictured at the opening last week were: Front row, Reeve C. E. Bentley and Miss Jean Ritchie, assistant clerk and treasurer. Standing, Doreen Kilback, Louise Atkinson, collector; Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith, Myrtle Harbicht and Joan Ritchie.

MORE ABOUT TEACHERS

Continued from page 1 that enjoyed by those in other professions. "Our aim is to put a good teacher in every classroom," was Mr. Ovans' reply. "We would like to see a salary schedule to implement that aim." He admitted that if the sole basis for the adjustment of teachers' salaries was the cost of living index that "we would be due for a cut". "The cost of living itself should not be the sole criterion for the adjustment of teachers' salaries," he argued. Nearly Two Millions In the ten school districts concerned, teachers' salaries amount to approximately $1,971,000, Mr. Washington countered, reviewing the history of salary negotiations since 1945. "The teachers have ridden the cost of living all the way up and now that it has fallen they have had to find a new argument... their argument is unrealistic and unsupported by the facts," Mr. Washington declared.

He also argued there is no teacher shortage in this area, and warned that an economic recession may be in the offing, and "the teachers may be out in a last effort to get what they can while they can." "Salary alone is not the argument made here," Mr. Washington concluded. "If, as and when the standard of the teaching profession is raised to what it should be then there will be some merit in the request for higher salaries." Mr. Ovans accused the trustees' counsel of putting his own interpretation on the numerous statistics which he entered as exhibits.

MORE ABOUT COUNCIL WILL

Continued from Page 1 Water Foreman E. Kercher would be retiring and even if Mr. Kercher retained his position for some time the councillor considered that it would be best for the municipality to have one overall superintendent.

Gordon Blewett could be a working foreman in the electrical department with no single superintendent for that department, he stated.

Reeve C. E. Bentley suggested that this subject could be discussed when applications for the position of electrical superintendent, now being advertised in The Review, are opened.

Councillor H. J. Barkwill stated he had been given Mr. Stewart's proposal some careful thought. He suggested a council committee meeting to discuss it. Councillor H. R. J. Richards did not think that from a water department angle any such overall superintendent would be needed. "Not now," replied Mr. Stewart. "There is no improvement needed now, but the present man (Kercher) won't be here forever."

Council will meet in open session on Friday, Feb. 6 at 2 p.m. to consider the electric light applications and if there is time will probably swing into a discussion of Councillor Stewart's proposal. No council meeting will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 10, as three councillors will be absent from Summerland that week.

Along with Wes Greer, Ken Williams and Alan Butler, whose terms have not expired.

J. R. Butler was elected to the credit committee and will serve along with W. H. Hackman and F. R. Ganzefeld.

Before the business session commenced, Miss Kay Hamilton's girls' choir was heartily applauded for their vocal numbers, which included A Good New Year to One and All, Robin Hood, In the Garden, The Instruments and Oklahoma. A double duet, April Showers, was rendered by Viola Ganzefeld, Mable McNab, Carol Cornish and Carole Allison.

Visitors were present from Penticton, Peachland, Keremeos and Kelowna, while main addresses were delivered by George Stirling, field representative of the Credit Union League and George Holtby, B.C. manager of Co-operative Life Insurance Co.

Parks Board Will Extend Work Done in 1952 to Improve Powell Beach

Summerland Parks Board estimates it will spend nearly $4,000 in 1953, with receipts from the athletic park reducing the figure to be raised from municipal taxation to $3,793.

Details of the parks board plans were elucidated to municipal council at some length last week by Chairman W. G. Snow and Secretary E. H. Bennett.

At the same time, the parks board produced rough figures on its expenditures for last year which showed that Powell Beach had had the lion's share of work undertaken other than straight maintenance.

The fill at Powell Beach was the major undertaking last year, and in all $820 was spent by the board in making the improvements to facilities there.

This work will be continued in 1953 and an estimated $543 expended. This year's program will pretty well complete the parks board extension plans for this beach site, at the present time.

Curbing of a portion of the new parking site created by the fill will be undertaken for a distance of sixty feet, parking buttons will be installed and playground equipment installed. Two swings and two teeters are being manufactured by Caretaker John Graham during the winter months.

It is hoped that a slide into the water can also be manufactured, the materials for this construction being estimated at $70.

When the new fill has settled more next year the curbing will be extended, the board hopes, while a turnaround is being allowed at the far end. The entire parking area will be laid out for regulated parking, while a playground is being laid out between the beach and the parking area.

The parking area will be shaded, as another improvement to the general area.

Parks board officials pointed out that last year $816 had been expended for use of municipal equipment.

Peach Orchard Park will also be improved and it is hoped that a swing and a teeter for children can be placed there.

Plans are being made to utilize municipal equipment for two days in levelling and filling for a playground, and as a start in a general cleanup program for the entire area.

Opinion is divided whether the undergrowth should be covered with a foot of fill or whether it should be torn up and destroyed. There are two schools of thought on this subject in parks board ranks, it was admitted, but a decision will be reached soon.

A large sign indicating that Peach Orchard park is available for campers has been suggested.

A large water pipe to service the athletic park is essential to provide proper watering facilities for the large area under grass. It was stated. It is hoped that a program of gradual replacement of the present pipe with a 1 1/2-inch size a distance of 1100 feet will be made.

This replacement program is from the Arndt property north to the park proper.

A permanent lighting extension to the bandshell and for decorative purposes in other portions of the park playground has been included in estimates.

Last year, filling of the swamp at Powell Beach cost $885, it was reported, accounting for a small amount of over expenditure of the budget shown in the financial statement for 1952.

Complete estimates for the coming year are:

Powell Beach $543; Peach Orchard Beach, $50; Peach Orchard Park, $250; Cemetery, $100; Park Playground, $100; Athletic Park, $150; general, $300; wages, $2,500; total $3,993. Estimated revenue, $200, from athletic park rental, leaving a net total of $3,793.

GREAT INCREASE

The directors had plans to increase the size of the building but the loan demand was so heavy that borrowings went to the limit of the Credit Union charter.

"We would rather use the money available for loan purposes than put it into the building," was Dr. McArthur's explanation in answer to queries.

The Credit Union is not for profit, not for charity, but for service," President McArthur added.

Harry Hackmann, chairman of the credit committee, declared that of the $258,167.54 worth of loans approved by his group in 1952, 20 percent of the loans were to consolidate accounts owing by members.

Other figures on loan percentages were as follows: Personal use, 14%; cars and trucks, 14%; orchards, 13%; business, 10%; building, 7%; real estate, 6%; doctor and hospital, education, 3%; vocation, household, insurance and machinery repairs, 2%; taxes and service organizations, 1%.

Wes Greer of the supervisory committee declared that the books of the union are in excellent shape, but more office space is required. Both Manager Bleasdale and Assistant Manager Mrs. Louise Lemke were complimented on their efficient operation.

Roy Smith reported for the education committee.

Directors elected for three-year terms were H. G. Draper, Mark Embree and J. W. Caldwell. They join continuing directors Gordon J. Beggs, Dr. J. M. McArthur and George Lewis.

At a directors' meeting following the business session, Gordon Beggs was chosen president for 1953 with Roy Smith vice-president.

Appeal Response Puts Relief Fund Total Near $500 Mark

Summerland residents this week joined in the nation-wide campaign to aid the victims in the flood-stricken areas of England, Holland and Belgium and a local committee formed under the chairmanship of Reeve C. E. Bentley today reported collections in the district have passed the $400-mark and a number of organizations have announced their intention of participating in the drive.

George Graham New Electrician

George Graham, well-known local electrical contractor on Friday was named by the municipal council to the appointment of electrical superintendent for the municipality to succeed Percy Thornber who is retiring after 50 years service as overseer of the Summerland electrical system.

George Graham is a native son and he worked as a lineman for the municipality for about eight years before he opened his own business in 1939. He handled the electrical contract on the new municipal building and about a year ago carried out an extensive rewiring job at the sub-station.

Mr. Thornber started working on the local electrical system in 1903 when it was operated by the Summerland Development Co. and continued on the job when the power utility was taken over by the municipality in 1910.

Trade Board Honors Departing Publisher

Executive of the Board of Trade gathered for a brief social session last Wednesday to honor J. R. (Tim) Armstrong prior to his departure from Summerland. He was presented with a table lighter by board president Walter M. Wright who paid warm tribute to the efforts put forward by the departing publisher on behalf of the community during his years here.

S. A. MacDonald, auditor of the board spoke also and referred to their association on the hospital board and lauded Mr. Armstrong's work in this connection. Tribute to the important role he has played in community life of Summerland was also voiced by E. R. Butler, long-time treasurer of the trade board; Mey Wells, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce; and Reeve C. E. Bentley. The executive also took advantage of the occasion to welcome to Summerland the new editor of The Review, W. Gordon Crockett.

Library Will Move Probably Next Week

W. C. W. Fosbery, the local librarian of Okanagan Regional Library, is holding himself in readiness for the move from the former library building on the school grounds, which has been sold to F. C. Brind, who proposes to move it down to Hospital Hill.

The library is to be in the main office of the former municipal hall, and shelving, tables, and finally the books, will be moved over as soon as the room is empty, which Mr. Fosbery thinks will be in about a week.

The library van came from Kelowna on Wednesday afternoon when new books were put on the shelves.

Former Resident Speaks . . .

Predicts African Native Revolt Unless Malan Party Defeated

An opinion that, unless Prime Minister Daniel Malan is removed from office in the forthcoming elections in South Africa, a full-scale native revolt can be expected in that country in the very near future, was expressed Monday evening by a former resident who addressed Summerland Kiwanis and told of living conditions in that country today.

Speaker was R. E. Frewer of Peachland who left South Africa about four years ago because of the tense native situation. He said that while life was not too difficult for men, the safety of the rest of the family was a constant source of concern while away from home during the day.

The fascist administration of Prime Minister Malan, he said is the cause of increasing unrest and the situation becomes more serious with each move in Malan's policy of "apartheid" (segregation of races).

Mr. Frewer drew a word picture of South Africa that gave many of his listeners itchy feet as they heard of the delightful temperate climate and lush natural resources but he then blunted the desire to live there when he spoke of the poisonous snakes, spiders and insects that infest the country. There is in South Africa, he said, complete segregation of black and white races with separate trams, buses, entrances to public buildings, waiting rooms and everywhere where people congregate. It is a situation, he said, that will take a long time to solve because segregation is actually necessary since the blacks are tribesmen from the back country with very little knowledge of civilization and are diseased and vermin-ridden. They are extremely dangerous

Members on the committee serving with Reeve Bentley are Mrs. C. H. Elsey, president of the Women's Institute; E. E. Bates, president of the Red Cross, Councillor H. R. J. Richards and treasurer is I. H. Solly.

The fund locally was given a start by the municipal council at their meeting Friday when $100 was voted as a donation. Next boost came when $142 still remaining in the Trout Creek Flood fund was turned over for European flood relief.

Collection depots for contributions have been set up at the Bank of Montreal, Butler & Walden and White & Thornthwaite.

Last night, members of the Canadian Legion voted $25 as a contribution to the fund and St. Stephen's WA have announced a portion of the proceeds from their Valentine tea last week will go for this purpose.

No Soft-Pedaling On Local Peddling

Municipal council Friday gave indication they have no intention of making it easy for outsiders to do business within the community.

An itinerant salesman appeared before the councillors to explain he had started selling in Summerland only a few weeks before Christmas and at the time was not aware he was working in an organized territory where a peddler's license was required. Had he known, he said, he would not have started work in this area until after Jan. 15 when the new license period started.

The salesman said he would be buying a current license but asked for relief from paying the full $25-fee for a license to cover the brief period he worked before the end of the year.

After discussion, the council decided the purpose of the by-law would not be served if they made a practice of making exceptions and informed the visitor he would have to pay the full fee for the last period, and obtain another license now if he wished to continue selling here. He paid the $50.

Band Names Officers

Summerland Band last night at their annual meeting heard reports of a successful year of operation and re-elected Harry Hackman as their president and Herb Pohlmann as bandmaster.

Also re-elected was C. R. Nesbitt as secretary-treasurer and Henry Schaeffer, as band manager. Other officers elected were Charles Betuzzi, vice-president; John Tamblin, assistant bandmaster; Freeman Read, John Betuzzi, Ken Stewart and James Brown, executive members.

REACH SEMI-FINALS

Latest reports on the curling bonspiel at Vernon was that the Coughlin rink from Summerland which managed to remain in the play right up to the semi-finals were finally edged out at 1 o'clock this morning.

The Summerland Review

TWO MINOR FIRES were reported aboard the mighty British liner Queen Elizabeth during a 24 hour period. She is at present in drydock at Southampton, England, where this aerial photograph was taken during a recent overhaul. Although, very little damage resulted from the blazes, the ship was gone over from bow to stern in an effort to detect foul play.

Retail Merchants' Annual

Feel Liquor Store Necessary To Complete Shopping Service

Subject of a liquor store in Summerland and store closing hours came under discussion last Thursday night at the annual meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association at which Howard Pruden was chosen new president of the organization.

To Start on Plans For Coronation Day

Start will be made later this month on plans for a local celebration to mark the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II on June 2. Reeve C. E. Bentley was named by the council Friday afternoon to a committee to get started on local plans and this week invitations went out to a number of local organizations asking them to have a representative present for a meeting on Feb. 23.

From this meeting a committee will be formed to draft a program to celebrate the occasion.

Oldster To Attend Coronation Rites

Among the oldest mingling in the throngs in London to watch their queen ride in state to Westminster Abbey for her coronation on June 2 will be 87-year-old William Ritchie of Summerland who will travel close to 8,000 miles to be in London for the historic occasion.

This week, Reeve C. E. Bentley wrote the agent-general at B.C. House in London to inform him Mr. Ritchie will be making the trip and to express in advance appreciation for any courtesies that can be extended him.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT

Kolowina hoopers will take the floor at the high school gym at 8 o'clock tonight in an exhibition match against Summerland Merchants.

Winter Interlude . . .

Two Vehicles Involved in Accidents With Driving Hampered By Snow

Summerland's spring-like weather came to an abrupt end Tuesday morning when snow started falling, shortly before 9 o'clock and by afternoon had covered the district with a soft white blanket 1 1/2 inches deep.

Driving became exceedingly hazardous although police report only two accidents during the day. At noon, two cars sliding on the fresh snow were in collision at the corner of Granville and Hastings with a total of about $300 damage to the two vehicles. The other pile up was on Peach Orchard hill when a truck, unable to stop as it approached a stalled car, swung around on the road and the dock of the vehicle struck the car, causing about $300 damage. The downtown area was clear of snow by this morning and predictions are for a return of the balmy spring weather.

Officers Installed . . .

Six Legion Members Honored For Quarter-Century Service

At an impressive ceremony in the Canadian Legion hall last night, new officers for the year were installed in their positions by Zone Commander Graham Kincaid, Penticton, who also presented 25-year pins to six members.

Newly-installed president is Harry C. Howis with Nat May first vice-president and W. H. Durick, second vice-president.

Members receiving pins to mark a quarter-century of service to the Legion were W. Boyd, Dr. H. R. McLarty, C. W. Haddrell, S. W. Feltham, A. K. Elliott and W. Atkinson. The latter two were unable to be present to receive their honors.

Plans were laid by the meeting for a drive to bring all veterans living in the district into the Legion.

The branch voted $25 to the European Flood Relief Fund.

Executive of the branch for this year consists of Reeve C. E. Bentley, Ken Boothe, W. Milne, Dr. D. V. Fisher and Howard Shannon. Retiring president after two years service in the office was Dr. C. G. Woodbridge.

Chairmen taking over various committees at last night's meeting were W. McCutcheon, who was re-elected to the canteen committee; Tom Charity, sick; Dr. D. L. McIntosh, Scouts; Howard Pruden, relief; Canon F. V. Harrison, padre, and Davie Jack, sergeant-at-arms.

Add Floral Note To New Offices

Summerland's new municipal office is soon to receive an added touch of color.

Councillors at their meeting Friday afternoon passed a resolution moving a warm vote of thanks to the members of the office staff for the spirit of enthusiastic co-operation they showed by the extra effort they put forward in assisting in moving to the new offices.

To brighten the main office, the councillors passed the hat for a subscription to buy a pair of potted plants to decorate the counter.

Court of Revision Adjourned to Feb. 16

Court of revision scheduled to sit on Feb. 9 was adjourned when a quorum of councillors failed to attend. The court is now set for Feb. 16 at 10 a.m.

Councillors F. E. Atkinson and R. H. Barkwill were absent attending the Cannery Convention in Vancouver while Councillor Francis Stewart was in Vernon at the curling bonspiel.

LOT OF RUBBER

Motorists who grumble about having to replace tires can count themselves fortunate they are not driving graders. At municipal council meeting Friday, reference was made to the recent purchase of two new tires for the grader. Cost: $678.80.

Rotary Minstrel Show . . .

Enthusiastic Reception Given District's Earliest Corn Crop

The valley's earliest crop of corn in history ripened on the stage of the High School auditorium Friday night when Rotarians took the stage for their first annual minstrel show before a crowd which taxed the capacity of the hall.

The response of the audience to the humor, singing and dancing established the black face routines have lost none of their popularity with the passage of time.

The show served to uncover a wealth of unsuspected talent in the community as many well-known local businessmen stepped out of their normal roles to tread the boards.

Central figure on the stage was Lorne Perry in the role of interlocutor, feeding lines to endman Mel Ducommun, Chuck Bleasdale, Ross McLaughlin, Joe McLaughlin, Tommy Young and Art Coggan.

An import from Kelowna, Roy Lobb handled the vocal solos while Tom McKay at the piano handled musical accompaniment for the program.

One talented group was the "Harmonloons"—Ivor Solly, Harold McLarty, Tommy Young and Art Coggan. Their symphonic arrangements of "O Suzanna" and "Ole Black Joe" provided a brand of music probably never equalled anywhere and qualified music critics reported there were times when they came very close to all being in the same key.

Ivor Solly took the stage to give a thought-provoking discourse on the subject of the doughnut and provided the audience with a wealth of little-known information on the subject.

To Select Officers At Annual Tonight

Annual meeting of the Summerland Board of Trade will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the IOOF hall. Main item of business on the agenda will be election of a slate of officers for the coming year.

Annual banquet of the board will be held March 12. Feature of the banquet program will be presentation of the "Good Citizen" trophy for 1952. Selection of the individual to be honored was made this week at the board council meeting but announcement of the name will not be made until the annual banquet.

Narrow Road Stalls Moving Old Library

Municipal council Friday afternoon gave sympathetic hearing to a problem of F. C. Brind but at the moment could offer no solution. Mr. Brind appeared before the meeting and explained he has purchased the old school library building and now wants to move it to his property on Hospital Hill.

The problem comes, explained Mr. Brind, that the road is not wide enough at the corner by Mrs. H. J. Fisher's home to get the house around the corner. He asked if the council had any plans for work at that bend and asked if any work planned could be carried out in the near future since he has to remove the building from the school property by June.

The council advised Mr. Brind there were no immediate plans for work there but said they will study the situation and see if there is anything can be done to assist him.

Ask Authorization Of Extra Magistrate

Summerland may soon have a deputy-magistrate available to handle court cases at any time Magistrate R. S. Oxley is absent from the district. At the meeting of the municipal council Friday afternoon, Clerk Gordon D. Smith was instructed to ascertain from the attorney-general's department if such an appointment can be authorized.

Recommendation of an appointee will be made when authorization for the appointment is received.

Approve Insurance Bid On Municipal Hall

Municipal council Friday afternoon considered tenders for insurance coverage on the new municipal building and contents and accepted the offer of Walter M. Wright. Insurance coverage is $40,000 on the building and $7,500 on the contents.

Clarke Wilkins also proved himself an elocutionist of note as he related the story of Jack Spratt and drew from the verse a significant moral.

Vocal quartet was comprised of Walter M. Wright, Clarke Wilkin, Ken Boothe and Don Fisher. A pair of soft shoe artists, Joe McLaughlin and Mitch Mitchell performed an enthusiastic routine but were prevented from climaxing it with a rousing finish by shortage of wind.

Leaving nothing to chance, the show provided even its own hooker in the person of Dick Palmer. In the chorus were Roy Angus, Harry Brown, Verne Charles, Alan Cross, S. A. MacDonald, George Perry, Gordon Smith, Francis Stewart, Bob Tingley, Jim Green and Harvey Wilson.

Production of the show was under the direction of Clarke Wilkin with script provided by Bob Tingley. In charge of scenery were Mrs. A. K. Macleod, Roy Angus and Ryan Lawley. Production manager was Ken Boothe. Make-up was done by a group of Rotary Annex.

Several members of the cast reported they have received magnificent offers to appear in the Hollywood extravaganza "Who Dat?" but they state this is the first production of that show and they will wait for the last "Who Dat?"

Friends in Need

CANADIANS have long had a reputation for their readiness to lend a helping hand whenever a neighbor is in distress and the people of this district have done their full share in helping to establish that reputation.

Right now there are many friends who need our help—not next-door neighbors exactly but certainly friends of long standing. They are the people of England, Holland and Belgium who have been stricken by devastating floods, their homes and possessions gone.

It is not necessary to recount here the extensive damage that can result from flood. The devastation in and around Winnipeg a few years ago when the Red River went on a rampage is still clearly remembered. There are few disasters that can rob people of hope so completely.

Among the homes stricken in Europe today are many whose doors were opened wide to Canadians during two world wars. To many of these people we owe a great debt of gratitude and we now have an opportunity to make a payment on account. Dollars we can contribute will be a transfusion of hope they so badly need.

A committee to raise funds to assist the flood victims has been organized here and contributions to the fund can be made at the Bank of Montreal, at the municipal office or at White & Thornthwaite. Friends are in need!

Target for Service

CHANGE in management of a newspaper is more than of just passing interest because the local newspaper, although a private business, is an important institution in the community and the editor, besides being a businessman, is, in the fullest sense of the term, a public servant.

In taking over the publication reins of The Review, the new management wishes to take this opportunity to pay tribute to the former publisher. Tim Armstrong earned a warm spot in the hearts of his fellow townsmen for his contribution to the community and since founding this paper seven years ago has given the district a newspaper in which they could take justifiable pride. The honors which he brought to The Review in weekly newspaper competitions were well earned and he has set for the paper a standard it will not be easy to maintain.

The Review joins with the wide circle of friends The Armstrongs have earned in this district to wish them God speed and good fortune in their new venture.

As a target for service to the community, the new management will shoot at maintaining the same high standard which has characterized The Review in the past.

It is our belief that a virile newspaper is essential to a progressive and growing community such as this and we believe we are expected to pursue a vigorous policy as in the past. In this respect, we hope to be able to follow the pattern which has been set for us. Unfortunately, following such a policy means from time to time we will be in sharp disagreement with other members of the community—and often this will be with someone for whom we hold a high personal regard and whose friendship we value. However, it is hoped we will be able to hold those friendships even though we disagree on some one particular issue.

Results of newspaper competitions each year have made it eminently clear that the local newspaper accurately reflects the attitude of the community. You don't find good newspapers in second-rate communities nor do you find poor newspapers in lively, progressive towns. To try and determine which is responsible for the other is like trying to answer the riddle about whether the chicken or the egg came first. However, it has already been established the elements exist here for the production of a newspaper of the very highest standard.

This is exactly what we hope to do and in our efforts to that end, we hope to receive the full support of the community that has been given The Review in the past.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Some superior souls say that the weather is not important enough to be a good topic for conversation.

With that I heartily disagree. Admittedly there are times—a torrid July day, for instance, when everybody you meet asks 'Is this hot enough for you?', knowing full well that (a) it is far too blasted hot for anyone and (b) nobody can do anything about it anyway—when the topic does become worn to boredom.

Yet I'd rather have a person make the most casual and inane remark about the weather than say nothing at all. For even a brief 'Warm today, isn't it?' shows a lot more friendliness than the ordinary formal 'Howdyedo' which is too often all we toss to a passing acquaintance when we meet.

In many cases, the weather is the only thing which two friendly-intentioned but slightly-acquainted people are sure of having in common. Why talk about it, instead of keeping silent about more important topics? And I question whether others are more important. It's the skill of the conversationalist, not the topic, which makes a chat interesting and memorable.

And in any rural district like this, where the basic industry is dependent on the weather, it is an important topic in its own right. Might this mild winter start the sap running in the trees? If so, what is the likelihood of a cold snap coming later on? That could spell disaster to the whole Okanagan. 'Unimportant topic,' indeed; in an abnormal year like this—and I've hardly ever seen a normal one—weather is something that closely concerns us all.

Has there been any winter like this before? A horrified 'No' was the answer from a young fellow who came here eleven years ago; all winters since have been cold with snow, and he has revelled in the skiing. Now this has happened; and ice-free roads are a poor substitute for snow-slippery slopes to lovers of the long slim hickory speedboards.

An old timer who came in 1907, however, didn't think he had ever seen so mild a winter either. That of 1907-08 was very mild, he said, in contrast to the record severity of the year before, but not as mild as this. A Vancouver newspaper, headlined 'Warmest January Ever,' But the following article showed that Vancouver's January average temperature this year, though a record, was only .6 of a degree higher than that of January 1941—the winter before my ski-loving friend came here.

And here in the Okanagan, according to my diary, that winter was one of rain, mud, and mild weather much more than cold or snow. Coldest night was on February 22, when it dropped down to 10 above; and the next morning the Home of the Friendless was in flames, remember? After that the mild weather returned and lasted, with occasional frost, but the spring was cool and wet and there was a hailstorm on July 3.

1940 was almost as mild, but the temperature dropped to 10 above in January, which brought down its average, and there was a good deal of snow in February. It soon melted, though, and there was plenty of rain, slush and mud all winter. I see by the Review that 1934 was pretty mild too.

So 1953 isn't too violently out of line with some past ones. And there may be a good chance that we'll get no really cold weather at all, now that we have come this far without it.

On the other hand, it may be cold as Billy-On by the time this sees print, with snow three feet deep. It's that uncertainty which makes the weather such an interesting subject to talk—or write—about.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
February 22, 1923

Notice of an extraordinary motion to the effect that the Summerland Fruit Union be wound up has been given the shareholders with the notice of annual meeting to be held, March 6.

Wenatchee growers are seriously considering the elimination of the "C" grade and cutting the number of grades of apples to two.

A meeting of parents of pupils attending the public and high schools protested against the action of the school board in insisting on the payment of high school fees in face of the resolution passed at the last annual ratepayers meeting, requesting the abolition of such fees and the same privilege of free education for their children as that enjoyed in the majority of high schools of the province.

The concert given by the choir of St. Andrew's church under their able conductor, Mr. Alex Smith was much enjoyed. Taking part were Mrs. Rumball, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Newton, Mr. T. G. Travis, Misses E. Johnston, Helen and Fairy Adams, Clarence and Irvine Adams, Dewey Sanborn, Mrs. Jenkinson, Mrs. A. H. Stevon, Mrs. Harding, Miss Ida Shields, and Mr. D. L. Sutherland. Miss Banks, who was to play several violin solos, was unable to attend because of illness.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bronley of Shingle Creek on Sunday, Feb. 18, at Summerland General hospital. The Union Oil Co. has decided to operate in the Okanagan.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
February 17, 1928

The high school pupils put on a successful concert which they have been preparing for some time. Miss Stella Wilson and Miss L. Sutherland played a duet. Miss Isabel Laidlaw danced an Irish jig; Janie Simpson, and Jessie Tullett gave a Dutch dance, Iris Williams and Dorothy Nield sang several Hawaiian songs. A play was well put on by Joan Stevon, John Cummings, Jack Purvis and Wilfred Nield.

The Summerland Women's Institute held a successful Valentine tea, when Mrs. E. R. Butler presided.

While coming up the Gulch Road D. Thompson's car had the rear axle give out. It shot down the hill giving him and Nellie a severe shaking up.

Sanitation Inspector Outlines Activities In Health Interest

The importance of sanitation inspection and the broad scope of the subject was the subject of a talk by Okanagan Health Unit sanitarian, Fred Alcock of Kelowna when he addressed the Summerland P-T.A.

Prefacing his address on Community Sanitation with remarks made by Col. Fahey, former deputy minister of education, after his return from Burma where he was sent in the interests of education, some two years ago, he said, "There is need for education in sanitation".

There is need for education in sanitation here, too, and this is part of the sanitarian's job, Mr. Alcock explained. There is a constant increase in standards of sanitation, he continued, with the changes in science and consequent changes in the public mind.

Mr. Alcock spoke of the control of environmental factors inherent in a sanitarian's field, and the local chain of municipal and district bodies responsible for the control being upheld. Among the things which come under the watchful eye of the sanitarian in any district are the water supply, which is sampled regularly, sewage disposal, the milk and food supply, and housing.

Housing included public accommodation such as restaurants, tourist camps, summer camps, recreation centres, schools, processing plants, etc. Under it comes rodent and insect control as well. Sanitary surveys are carried out and the control of communicable diseases, with attention to contacts and carriers.

In schools, lighting, ventilation and humidity, are scrutinized with a health point of view, and Mr. Alcock said it is hoped that in time plans for big buildings, such as schools, will be submitted to health authorities before construction. An important part of the sanitarian's day is in establishing har-

Machine Repair Should be Done In Winter Time

Delays arising from machinery repairs during seeding and harvest time often cause considerable crop losses. It is a good plan to overhaul machinery in the winter months as this gives plenty of time to order spare parts if such are necessary, or to have repairs done elsewhere which are beyond the capabilities of the farm work shop, the federal department of agriculture advises from Ottawa.

Overhauling machinery, all bearings, axles and similar parts subject to considerable wear should be taken apart and examined carefully. Any that are not likely to work well for another year should be replaced. Other parts should be thoroughly cleaned and examined, taking particular care to see that lubricating devices are working properly.

Don't overlook the implements which are used along with tractors such as ploughs, cultivator blades and discs. Sometimes these are so badly cracked or worn that they will not do an efficient job. Others may require sharpening to insure best results.

A reasonable number of well chosen implements all kept in first class working condition will do better work than many implements or machines in indifferent working order.

Other Opinions...

SAY IT WITH BALLOTS

For those who complain about the way the government is running things, one obvious remedy regularly presents itself: They can register their feelings at the polls on election day.

Some do. Too many don't bother.

The national elections draw the best turnouts. In the recent British election, 82 per cent of the voters cast their ballots. In the last presidential election in the United States 51 per cent of the electorate went to the polls. Here in Canada, at the last federal contest, roughly 75 per cent of the voters turned out.

When it comes to provincial and municipal elections, however, the percentages are often downright pathetic. Take 1946, for instance, when less than 25 per cent voted in Toronto's civic elections.

How can you help? You can use whatever means you have at your disposal to encourage others to vote whenever the opportunity arises. Without taking sides you can help to explain to others the issues at stake and point up the fact that a vote is a "here today, gone tomorrow" item.

People who demand the best of governments can make sure of it only by getting out and voting on election day.

The people's voice will be heard at two coming elections in 1953—provincially in B.C. and federally in Canada.

We're all familiar with the old slogan "Vote as you like, but vote!" We like this version better: "Vote any way, but vote anyway!"—Honey Gazette.

It Takes Two To Tango

monious public relations, said the speaker. He must attempt to answer all questions put to him regarding sanitation, and interpret these in terms of local laws, and so bring scientific data to build up a better way of life, he continued.

Miss Irene Stewart, PHN, introduced the speaker, and he was thanked by W. C. Baker.

Reeve C. E. Bentley spoke to give public expression of Mr. Alcock's achievements and congratulate him on the work done by him for the municipality of Summerland.

"... very beneficial to our firm"

Recently the owners of a new business wrote their bank about the way the local branch had helped:

"Having completed our first year in business, and one which we feel has been most successful, we would like to advise you of the splendid co-operation we have received from the officials of your branch. We have consulted your local manager many times, not only regarding financial problems but business problems in general, and his advice has been very beneficial to our firm."

Such service is part of the job of every manager of Canada's 3700 branch banks. He must know the problems of the people he serves—whether business men or primary producers, wage earners or salaried workers. He welcomes every opportunity to make his bank useful to them—and to you.

Our church parade is set for Feb. 22 at 10:45 a.m. to the Baptist

RECIPE HINTS

Quick Spanish Rice
 One quarter cup bacon drippings, or butter, 1 medium onion, thinly sliced (about 1/2 cup), 1/2 medium green pepper, diced (about 1/2 cup), 1 1/2 cups packaged precooked rice, 1 1/2 cups hot water, 2 cans tomato sauce, 1 tsp. salt, dash of pepper, 1 tsp. prepared mustard, if desired.

Melt fat in saucepan. Add onions, green pepper, and rice and cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add water tomato sauce, salt, pepper, and mustard. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil. Cover tightly, lower heat, and simmer gently 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

GUIDE NEWS

The weekly meeting of the Guides on Feb. 4, started as usual with inspection. After this patrol corners were held and each patrol was responsible for a display on Newfoundland. The best work was done by the senior patrol, which included many pictures, articles, maps, and stamps of that province. Imagination was shown by the Forget-me-not patrol in including frozen fish and a small bottle of cod liver oil in their collection.

The senior patrol continued work on their rug, while the other Guides studied or passed various tests for their 2nd or 1st class.

Several applicants for the Skater's badge are hoping for a few cold days so that they can take their test.

It was learned that the miniature gardens taken to the hospital were still in good condition, and are much appreciated by the patients.

At campfire plans were talked over for aiding flood victims in Ipswich, England, and it was decided to hold a parcel post sale and to fill a tape with money for church. Parents will you see that the boys are on time for meeting. Thank you.

Next meeting Feb. 16 at 8:30 p.m. sharp. Duty six, Red Six—Akela.

Patrol marks are as follows: Hepaticas, 140; Orchid, 149; Pimpernel, 133; Lily of the Valley, 138; Buttercups, 131; Clover, 129; Forget-me-nots, 129.

AOTS Plan Drive For Attendance

Under the leadership of President Herb Pohlmann, the AOTS Club plans a drive for larger attendance at its monthly meetings and also an enlarged membership.

This was decided upon at the January session which was attended by some thirty members, thirteen of whom were charter members of the local service club.

An impressive list of club activities was discussed by the first meeting of the New Year, with the report from the March of Dimes, which showed a record collection of $285, topping all others.

C. W. Reinertson reported that the 4-H clubs, in which the AOTS Club has shown an interest in organizing, will soon be started. A film on 4-H in Austria proved interesting to the gathering.

Scouts and Cubs sponsored by the AOTS are flourishing, it was stated, but ASM Arie Van Driel made another vigorous plea for help pointing out that a new Scoutmaster will be needed to replace Rev. H. R. Whitmore when he leaves for Port Alberni later in the year. A new Scoutmaster should take over in April or May, it was thought.

Les Gould is retiring from the Scout and Cub group committee, his place being taken by Bill Fell. The meeting heartily endorsed a vote of thanks to Mr. Gould for his three years' service on that work.

Rev. Mr. Whitmore reported on the central welfare committee, stating that it had had a good year, a new executive is being formed and the AOTS is being asked to supply a president.

Chairman Pohlmann was pinch-hitter for Joe Sheeley, reporting that sports are doing well, with one game having been played between the AOTS-sponsored team and a Kamloops junior aggregation.

Tribute was paid to W. Jenkinson for his work in organizing a successful AOTS Christmas party, which had been much enjoyed.

The Red Cross request that the AOTS sponsor the annual campaign for funds was turned over to the executive for action.

For the February meeting every member is being asked to bring a prospective member to the dinner session.

Next meeting Feb. 16 at 8:30 p.m. sharp. Duty six, Red Six—Akela.

TEEN TOWN

Teen Town is holding a big Cupid's Frolic on St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, in the Youth Centre at 10 o'clock after the basketball game. So, let's have all teenagers out to this dance to make it a success.

Council meeting will be held at Doreen Fleming's next Monday night at 7 o'clock.

Summerland Students At UBC Conference

Summerland High School will be represented at the sixth consecutive conference to be held at UBC for students from all of B.C.'s high schools, which is scheduled to get under way this year on Friday, Feb. 27.

Marion Turigan and Brian Berg are the pupils who have applied to go to the UBC get-together, the object of which is to give the high school students of the province some idea of what university life involves.

High School COMMENTS

Congratulations go to the junior boys who were victorious in a basketball game with Keremeos last Friday night. And to the two senior teams: "Better luck next time".

There will be another game on Saturday, Feb. 14, against the same teams being played in Summerland. So, let's see all of you at the game to support your home teams, how about it kids!

Last Wednesday afternoon films were shown to the high school by the B.C. Forestry department. These films were very much enjoyed by all.

On February 10, the grade 10 and 12 students travelled to Penticton for chest X-rays. On the way home an unexpected snowfall covered the road. This is when the fun began. Everything was o.k. until we started coming up the Sandhill. Apparently the school bus wasn't prepared for slippery roads. In spite of the vigorous efforts made by the students to keep the bus moving, the snow was too much for us.

By the way, who was it that was pulling the bus downhill instead of pushing it forward, eh boys? After an hour or so of

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

This week's meeting we invested seven boys—Leonard Burdon, Dale Kelter, Bruce Bingham, Gerry Polesello, David Brinton, Robert Neal and Harold Oxley.

Leonard Burdon received his leaping wolf badge and Gerry Polesello his one year star from their former Cubmaster, Mrs. H. A. McCargar.

Work on the second class badge was carried out for the remainder of the meeting.

We are very glad to have David Wright as our other assistant. Let's make the time he spends with us worth his while. If we all work together we can have the smartest troop in the district.

Remember boys, on Sunday, Feb. 22 we want a full turn out with complete uniforms for the church stalling around we were rescued by Mr. H. Smith, who brought us a pair of chains.

We all arrived back at school in time for lunch. It was a lot of fun while it lasted. "Wasn't it Mr. Fisher?" We hope Miss Sherwood didn't get her toes frozen in all that snow.

Problems of Blind Outlined In 'White Cane Week' Program

This is White Cane Week, and each year the two national organizations, the Canadian Council of the Blind, and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, join forces to tell their seeing friends about the co-operative success of the blind, and to develop a better understanding of their problems.
The 1953 slogan of White Cane Week is "I Would Help YOU", and this might well be a permanent one.
"We feel", says Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, chairman of the local CNIB committee, "that if people could better understand the blind in the community, they would find it easy to offer assistance. The fellow-citizen who uses a white cane will probably be no different from you. He will think the same thoughts, enjoy the same books and concerts. Blindness knows no race, color, or class distinction."

"Blindness as defined by the federal government, is roughly 10 per cent of normal vision or less. You may meet a person carrying a white cane who has some sight. In practically all parts of Canada, however, it is illegal for anyone to carry a white cane, unless he is registered with the CNIB. So, you may rest assured," says Mrs. Atkinson, "that any person so doing, if not totally blind, is seriously visually handicapped."
"Blind employees are truly an asset to many industries. The blind worker acquires deft skill and high production rate. He is always careful to make use of all safety devices, and once warned about dangerous obstacles, the sightless worker takes good care to avoid them. The accident rate among the blind is remarkably low."
"Some of the industrial jobs blind people perform well are drill and kick press operations, motor winding, assembly of all types. Others work in special fields such as auto mechanics, hospital dark room developing, and lathes."
"Even the deaf-blind, whose handicap is so great, when given suitable work, especially that requiring a keen sense of touch and an alert mind, are incomparably efficient."

Concert Association Planned In Penticton
Mrs. C. G. Woodbridge and Mrs. C. V. S. Morgan, at the request of interested people in Penticton, represented Summerland at a meeting at the Prince Charles hotel on Friday evening, Feb. 6, in connection with a series of proposed concerts featuring Columbia Artists to be held next fall and winter in Penticton.
These concerts are arranged through the Community Concerts Association, Inc., with offices in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, and a Mrs. Williams of the New York office was at the meeting to explain their operation.
Mrs. Hugh Cleland, Penticton is temporary chairman, with Mrs. John Aikins, Penticton, temporary vice-chairman, and Mrs. W. Tidball, Penticton, secretary.
Another meeting is to be on Feb. 18, when more definite plans will be made.
The price for the series of concerts, numbering at least three, and probably more, will be $6 for adults and $3 for students.
Seating capacity of Penticton auditorium is 750, and it is hoped to have a sell-out with reservations for different south Okanagan centres.
It is understood that the concerts, if arranged, would be scheduled so as not to conflict with hockey!

BWI Missionary Here For Special Services
Rev. H. B. Eggleton, Missionary of many years in the British West Indies will be conducting two rally services in the West Summerland Pentecostal church on Monday, February 16.
Many beautiful colored slides will be shown depicting the various aspects of missionary work in the West Indies. A message of real interest to all will be given as well as inspiring music and singing.
Rev. Eggleton was the first pastor of the Penticton Pentecostal church many years ago, and is a man of great experience in the work of the Pentecostal movement.
He is a native of British Columbia and well known throughout the district. As this is the only occasion during his present furlough that he will be privileged to speak to Okanagan Valley churches at a district rally, it is expected that many from the valley will be in attendance.
Residents of the local area are cordially invited to attend both the 2:30 and 8 p.m. services.

Successful WA Valentine Tea Will Aid European Flood Relief

European Flood-Relief will receive part of the proceeds from the most successful Valentine tea held by the Evening Branch of St. Stephen's WA in the parish hall on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 7.

Mrs. R. A. Fredrickson was general convener of the tea, and at three o'clock graciously greeted the guests and gave the timely announcement regarding the division of the proceeds, then announcing that the tea was open. Members were kept busy serving all the friends who enjoyed a delightful tea. Mrs. F. V. Harrison and Mrs. E. F. Weeks, president of the Evening Branch, poured at a table prettily decorated with Valentines and daffodils, which was arranged by Mrs. A. Inch and Mrs. D. Turnbull. The tea convener, Mrs. W. Birtles, was assisted by many members both in serving and in the kitchen. The hall was gay with red streamers and Valentine motifs and novelties, planned and made by Mrs. W. F. Evans, Mrs. A. Moyls and Mrs. E. C. Bingham. Home baking table was convenered by Mrs. R. C. Cuthbert and was a sell-out in no time. Miss Louise Atkinson was convener of an attractive candy stall.

Phenomenal Growth In Observance . . .

Women's World Day of Prayer At St. Andrew's Church Next Week

This year the Women's World's Day of Prayer is to be observed in Summerland in St. Andrew's United church on Friday afternoon, Feb. 20.

Last year was the 25th anniversary of the founding of the day, and at that time 104 countries celebrated this year-round bond among Christians of the world.

In Canada the growth of the observance of the day has been phenomenal, and the number of groups that met in 1952 was 2,338, which does not include the shut-ins, the family groups, nor the isolated little circles away from the beaten path, who nonetheless participated.

The order of service is more than a program and should be cherished. It is prepared each year by a leading Christian woman or group of women, and is chosen with the intention that differing backgrounds and cultures of many countries may be used for the benefit of all in this universal project. Interesting, too, is the list of allocation of offerings always on the last page.

The theme for the 1953 program is "Walk as children of light", with the thought that the simple faith of children in the spirit of their beloved hymn, Jesus Bids Us Shine, might be recaptured.

Francis Willard WCTU Hears Rev. K. Knight

When the Francis Willard (Trout Creek) group of the WCTU entertained the Summerland group of the same organization at a tea at the home of Mrs. J. J. Embree on Wednesday, Feb. 4, Rev. Kenneth Knight of Parkdale Baptist church, was the guest speaker.

Mr. Knight gave an inspiring talk concerning the work of the WCTU organization. Developing his message concerning the inroads of alcohol, he spoke of its effects on one man, physically, socially, and mentally. He told of the different types of drinkers, saying that there is a definite problem in each type of alcoholic drink. Ninety per cent of drinkers, he stated, are moderate drinkers, suffering no apparent harm, but these are the menace to society, he continued.

Mrs. E. Deringer opened the meeting with the hymn, Let The Lower Lights Be Burning, and Rev. A. F. Irving, of the Church of God, led in prayer.

Mrs. J. E. Sheldrake took the chair for the Summerland group introducing Mrs. Blake Milne who led a short devotional period.

Mrs. V. Durnin, on the work of the founder, Francis Willard, impersonated Miss Willard herself, and had different ladies respond with readings which told of the progress of the WCTU in countries where Miss Willard started the movement so many years ago.

Mrs. A. F. Irving closed the meeting with prayer, and a dainty tea was served by the ladies of the hostess group.

VISITING ABROAD

Mr. H. W. Brown is in Vancouver this week where he is attending the Cannery Convention.

Ben Trafford was among those who went out to the coast last weekend.

Dave Waddell leaves tomorrow for Vancouver to fly that evening to Hawaii where he will spend a three-week vacation.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. E. Munn, Miss Barbara Munn and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong left on Sunday morning to motor to California for a two weeks' holiday.

Mrs. J. McPherson left yesterday for Toronto where she will visit at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. Verrier in Toronto. From Toronto she will go to Halifax where she is sailing on March 15 on the Cunarder, Samaria, for Glasgow. Mrs. McPherson will visit in Scotland and in London where she expects to be at the time of the Coronation, and is planning to be home again sometime in July.

Red Cross Ladies Re-Open Workroom

The Red Cross workroom re-opened on Tuesday afternoon, and in spite of the snowstorm which made the roads slippery 15 ladies were present ready for any needed service, and others have indicated their readiness to help.

Mrs. A. K. Elliott, former president of the Red Cross, is convening the workroom and had materials for sewing and knitting on hand. As well as this, Mrs. T. McDonald set up a quilt, and it was well on the way during the afternoon, with plans for another to be started at once.

Mrs. George Henry was busy cutting out work, and it is hoped that former conveners of district circles will attend to take work out to the various parts of the municipality. Mrs. E. M. Hookham came up from Peach Orchard and took things back there to be made up.

It is planned to open the room again next week, and then to decide whether to have it open every week or alternate weeks to help in sending clothing to those who are so greatly in need of it.

NEW ARRIVALS

At Summerland General Hospital on Thursday, Feb. 5, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. G. A. Lane, Peach Valley.

VISITING HERE

Mr. W. S. Amm was a visitor at the home of his mother, Mrs. C. J. Amm last week on his way through from Lethbridge to Hope where he and Mrs. Amm have recently moved from Michel.

ON WAY HOME

Friends in Summerland have received word from Mr. J. K. Doherty and Mr. E. C. Doherty who have been on a trip east to drive a new car home. Last week they were well started on the return trip which is to take them across the southern States, and were staying at the Riviera Hotel at Daytona Beach in Florida.

TO PENTICTON HOME

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McNutt are moving from Trout Creek this week to make their home in Penticton.

Off Varieties of Pears Should be Yanked Out Says Growers' Prexy

D. M. Wright, president of the Summerland BCFGA Local, has expressed the thought that more attention should be focused on the report of the pooling committee at the BCFGA convention in Vernon last month in regard to the pear situation.

This report was adopted by the convention and calls for no monetary returns for a large group of off-variety pears other than the straight market return.

Dr. Neatby, Ottawa, Of Science Services, On Visit Here

Coming here from the Lethbridge Science Services Laboratory, which is the largest in the dominion outside of Ottawa, Dr. K. Neatby, director of science services for the Canadian department of agriculture, was a recent visitor in Summerland.

Dr. Neatby was on a fact-finding tour, meeting and discussing problems with science service workers. He met with Dr. James Marshall and his staff at the entomological laboratory, and Dr. H. R. McLarty and his co-workers at the plant pathology laboratory.

He visited the Summerland Experimental Station and the superintendent, Dr. R. C. Palmer, and Mr. F. E. Atkinson and the staff of the Fruit Products' laboratory and was entertained at luncheon at Dr. Palmer's home.

While here he drove with Dr. Marshall to Vernon where he saw the forest biology laboratory.

While here he addressed the Growers' Chautauqua where he stated that he was pleased with the way the work was being done locally, and remarked on the happy relationship between the various provincial and federal agricultural services here.

Leaving, the Ottawa visitor flew to Saskatoon where he was to be at the University of Saskatoon and confer with those at the science services' lab there.

Hears of Brother's Passing in Halifax

Walter M. Wright, trade board president, has received word that his brother, Charles H. Wright, a prominent figure in the professional and commercial life of Halifax for many years, passed away on January 28. The late Mr. Wright was former Maritime district manager of Canadian General Electric. Born in Renfrew, Ont., he was a McGill graduate in applied science. His association with the CGE company dated from the turn of the century, and he had lived in Halifax since 1909.

Group 1, D'Anjou and Winter Nellis, to be segregated from other varieties and pooled together in a season pool, with fancy grade in D'Anjou receiving 75 cents more than fancy grade in Winter Nellis. The spread in other grades is to be governed by sales history.

Group 2 contains Bartlett's only, Group 3 has Bosc, Dr. Jules and Clapp's Favorites. Group 4 is confined to Flemish Beauty, Boussock, Hardy and Epoch while Group 5 has Louise Bonne and Comice. Group 6 will contain all other varieties.

Groups 2 to 5 inclusive, are grouped together for pooling purposes, with arbitrary differentials between each group but Group 6 is pooled separately. These are the off-variety pears which do not find ready acceptance in the trade.

The pooling committee recommended that a fund be established by deductions from the general pear pool for the purpose of subsidizing the elimination of the off or obsolete varieties designated by the marketing agency.

With such a course designed for future pear operations, Mr. Wright suggests that growers who still have such obsolete varieties of pears in their orchards should commence removing them at once, as there will be no remuneration to recompense the grower other than just sufficient to cover strict operating costs.

Mr. Wright considers this to be one of the most important moves of the entire convention as Summerland has one of the largest pear acreages in the valley.

Hon. Ken Kiernan Upholds Marketing Board Theory, Seeks Clarification of Coast Views

The recently concluded survey of produce marketing carried out by the British Columbia department of agriculture in the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island has indicated a need for three courses of action which might be undertaken within the produce industry in these areas, it is announced by Hon. Kenneth Kiernan, minister of agriculture.

Stated briefly, these are:

1. A concerted program of public relations on the part of the British Columbia Coast Vegetable Marketing Board, to fully acquaint the public with its aims and functions.

2. A continuous policy aimed at improving the quality of produce handled by this board.

3. A more active interest in and support of the board's policies on the part of the growers concerned, coupled with a policy of education among those growers.

The British Columbia Coast Vegetable Marketing Board came into being following enactment of the "Natural Products Marketing (B.C.) Act" in 1934. This board draws its powers from this act, and exercises marketing control over a wide range of vegetables, including potatoes, produced in the Lower Mainland and on Vancouver Island.

Control is complete, covering "the transportation, packing, storage and marketing of the regulated product". It does not extend however, to products imported from other provinces of the United States.

Growers Control of Products

The basic aim of the "Natural Products Marketing (B.C.) Act" is to provide for the primary producer a measure of authority in determining the returns he may obtain from the sale of the products of his labor.

Prior to passage of this act local growers were at the mercy of a disorganized and chaotic market, and often sustained heavy losses, states Mr. Kiernan. The act then, has made it possible for growers operating under jurisdiction of this board to organize and market their produce in an orderly fashion. Orderly marketing can be of immeasurable benefit in "levelling out" prices to the consumer, avoiding sharp fluctuations resulting from speculating practices.

It is perhaps worthwhile to draw these facts to the attention of the general public, and to further emphasize that the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board has no power to fix the price the consumer shall pay, for example, for carrots from California or potatoes from Alberta. Rather, its function is to regulate the flow to market of only that produce grown within that area under its jurisdiction. The mere fact that it must at all times compete price-wise with imported produce rules out the possibility of artificial price-fixing.

Again, it should be noted that this board and similar commodity marketing boards operating under authority of the "Natural Products Marketing (B.C.) Act", are growers' boards.

Board members are not government appointees, but are duly elected grower-members, elected by the registered growers concerned on a basis of one grower, one vote. Voting is at all times by secret ballot.

It is suggested therefore that the coast board undertake to fully acquaint the general public with its aims and functions. In this way the board might gain the support of the public and dispel much of the suspicion and distrust which appears to prevail in many quarters.

It is further suggested that similar steps be taken among both growers and potential growers. The survey clearly indicated that many growers are not fully aware of the underlying reasons for the board's existence or for its inception. It also indicated that many are either completely unaware of or choose to ignore the grading standards established for produce by the government, for the protection of the consuming public. This situation can and should be corrected.

Need Better Standard Quality
Regarding the second point, it has been proven many times that produce of exceptional quality and flavor can be grown in the Lower Mainland and on Vancouver Island. The general tone of complaints registered during the course of this survey indicates, however, that at times there exists a lack of constant quality in that produce offered for sale. It is suggested therefore that this condition might be largely corrected, and the reputation of coast produce enhanced, by more rigid inspection and grading.

When the Provincial Government makes provision for the establishment of a Grade 3 for potatoes, as has been done in the past two years, there can be no valid excuse for the packing of either an inferior Grade 1 or Grade 2 product. There is ample scope for the packing of large volumes within these three grades.

There exists a definite responsibility on the part of every grower to provide proper weight and grade in making direct sales to purchasers for immediate consumption. It might be noted at this point that such sales are legitimate, but that purchases of this kind for purposes of resale are not permitted. Further recommendations in this respect will be forthcoming.

A further responsibility is that of maintenance of ample supply. There can be little justification for growers to complain of the competition from imported produce if they are unwilling to keep their market fully supplied in the hope of gaining financially as a result, states Mr. Kiernan.

From the findings of the survey, it is obvious that "bootlegging" (i.e. selling outside the regulated channels) of controlled produce, chiefly potatoes, has been rampant in several areas. Further, the quality of much of this bootlegged produce was found to be decidedly inferior. Obviously then, the bootlegger performs no useful function. It might be to the advantage of the coast board to impress this fact upon the public. At the same time, those growers who indulge in this practice should be made to realize that in so doing they are weakening their own position.

Since no opportunity has been given in recent years for an overall expression of opinion, it is suggested that serious consideration be devoted to the holding of a plebiscite among all registered growers operating under the B.C. coast vegetable scheme, to determine whether or not a substantial majority favors the continuance of the present system of marketing. An opinion by the growers at large would do much to clear the present atmosphere of distrust and vindictiveness which appears to pervade the local industry at present.

At this point it might be noted that the present chairman of the coast board has been also acting as manager of the board's selling agency. This arrangement is both unsound in principle and undesirable in practice. The chairman's recent declaration of intent to relinquish the latter position is therefore strongly endorsed. No reflection upon the said chairman's integrity or ability is intended thereby, states the minister.

Taking the long view, it seems obvious that the adoption of a progressive coast board policy of public relations, a consistent upgrading of produce and sustained support of their board by the grow-

Tribute Paid to Grote Stirling in House of Commons

Tribute to the late Hon. Grote Stirling, for a quarter century the Conservative MP for Yale was paid in the House of Commons by the sitting member, Mr. O. L. Jones and by Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, prime minister of Canada.

After hearing Mr. Jones remarks, the prime minister declared:

"It was quite refreshing also to hear the tribute . . . to the nobility of character and the service rendered to the country by the former member for Yale, though they were not of the same political allegiance.

"I am sure that all hon. members who had the privilege of being at large, can only lead to a stronger, more vigorous produce industry. This in turn is essential, to a sound agriculture for all British Columbia. But it cannot be emphasized too strongly that the success or failure of orderly marketing in the province rests solely with the primary producers themselves. They alone have the power to determine whether these privileges which they now enjoy shall be retained or withdrawn, Mr. Kiernan concluded.

ing fellow members of the late Hon. Grote Stirling were deeply gratified that there was this opportunity of paying a tribute to his memory, which we all would have been delighted to pay as soon as we learned of his death if it had not been contrary to the usual practice of this house, which is to refer only to those who are still members of parliament."

After reviewing briefly the duties of the minister of national defence, Mr. Jones was reminded "when this department was handled by my predecessor from Yale, the late Hon. Grote Stirling, in 1934 and 1935; and tonight I pay tribute to that hon. gentleman. He served for twenty years as a member of this house and he acted also as minister of national defence.

"He gave of his best with untiring zeal during those twenty years. He was a fine gentleman, a good member of the house and a conscientious administrator. I still find in my correspondence reference to the work he did and the good deeds he performed . . . He was honored by all parties.

The debate continued with reference to the appointment of the parliamentary assistant to Hon. Brooks Claxton, minister of national defence, with Mr. Jones claiming that "definite responsibility should be placed on this individual rather than to make him just a glorified parliamentary assistant with increased pay."

Consider Actual Costs On Long Extensions

Summerland council changed its policy slightly on two extraordinary electric light extensions which came under consideration Tuesday Jan. 27. Generally, only the estimate of a job is taken and the actual cost is never worked out. However, in the case of a long extension to the A. Fenwick property, actual costs were taken and the estimate found to be too high. Consequently, the actual cost of the job was authorized to be the final figure and Mr. Fenwick will receive a $35 rebate.

In the case of the W. Hepperle extension, the applicant queried the length of extension which was found to be at variance with the actual extent, and the council has made an amendment.

In future, figures on cost of lengthy extensions will be kept in order to check with estimates, and the council will weigh each case on its merits.

You get all the power you need with outstanding valve-in-head economy from Chevrolet's great new engines for 1953 — the 108 h.p. Loadmaster, the 125 h.p. Torquemaster and the big 130 h.p. Workmaster — all with new high compression ratios.

more staying power!

Now, heavier, stronger, more durable frames increase rigidity, add to ruggedness and stamina of all 1953 Chevrolet trucks. Long famous for their ability to take the roughest jobs day after day, Chevrolet trucks are now brawnier and sturdier than ever.

more braking power!

In 1953, all Chevrolet trucks up to 1400 Series models are equipped both front and rear with big, powerful "Torque-Action" brakes which make full use of truck momentum for greater stopping power. Series 1100, 1500, 1700 and 1800 heavy-duty trucks use extra-large "Torque-Action" brakes in front; "Twin-Action" type in rear. Both assure quick, smooth, safe stops — provide greater stopping power, greater durability than before.

more economy!

The new and greater stamina of 1953 Chevrolet trucks, plus extra gasoline economy with improved valve-in-head engines, reduces hauling costs per ton-mile, brings you greater year-after-year economy throughout the long life of your trucks.

For 1953, Chevrolet trucks offer new performance, new stamina, new safety and economy — and every model is even stronger, sturdier, more durable than those of past years!

The advanced Loadmaster, Torquemaster and Workmaster engines in all models deliver more power than has ever before been available in Chevrolet trucks. This big, husky, valve-in-head engine with a new high-compression ratio brings you finer performance, faster acceleration, greater hill-climbing ability and substantially greater gasoline mileage.

But that's only the beginning. You get all the proved features and advantages that have made Chevrolet trucks world-famous for their ability to handle the roughest jobs day after day at the lowest over-all cost to you!

Yet, even with all these greater advantages, 1953 Chevrolet trucks give you more for your money than any other trucks of comparable capacity and specifications. Drop in at our showroom and talk over your trucking needs. Let us show you how much more you get for your money with 1953 Chevrolet trucks.

Standard Formula For Library Grants Has Been Adopted

A standard formula for making grants to municipal public libraries and regional libraries of British Columbia was adopted by the public library commission at its January meeting.

Last year the commission distributed $62,030 in grants towards libraries of the province which qualify under the grants schedule. The amount available in 1953 will await consideration of the Department of Education estimates by the legislature.

In establishing the standard basis for the grants the commission agreed to distribute 50 percent of the total allocation on the basis of population figures issued by the department of municipal affairs.

For each qualified librarian holding a BLS degree or a Grade 2 librarian certificate the commission will pay an additional grant of $100.

The balance of the grant total will be distributed among the libraries.

Municipal public libraries affected are those of Kamloops, Nelson, New Westminster, Prince Rupert, Vancouver, Victoria and West Vancouver, in addition to the regional libraries of the Fraser Valley, Okanagan Valley and Vancouver Island.

There's no doubt from the faces of these two men of the pride and esteem each holds for the other; the father—DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, president of the United States, and the son—MAJOR JOHN EISENHOWER, home from Korea for the inauguration of his father as president.

Manufacturers Life Reports New Business Increased in 1952

The Manufacturers Life reports business in force of $1,591 million.

The new business in 1952 was $15 million greater than that written in the previous year and amounted to $213 million.

Payments made to policyholders under their contracts totalled $27 million and were distributed to beneficiaries and policyholders in death claims, matured endowments, annuity payments and other policy benefits, including 3% million in dividends to policyholders.

The assets of the company grew by $42 million to $491 million. Government and government-guaranteed bonds constituted 19% of assets and corporation and municipal bonds 41%; mortgages constituted 18% of assets, preferred and common stocks 11%, cash and other assets 11%.

The rate of interest earned on the assets was 4.46%, an increase over the previous year's rate of 4.29%.

The mortality experience was favorable and contingency reserve and surplus now amount to $30 million.

NOTES FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

Expect Drop In Cigarette Tax In Next Week's Budget

By O. L. JONES, M.P. for YALE

Parliament responded instantly to the distress caused by the cruel floods and mounting death toll in Europe. The prime minister, with the unanimous support of the house, offered Great Britain, Belgium and the Netherlands, any assistance whatsoever that they required. The Red Cross has already forwarded about three hundred cases of clothing to the stricken area.

The sad news reached us at about the same time that a bill was before Parliament outlining the new titles for Queen Elizabeth II, and again we found complete unanimity among all the members, both as to the style of title and the honored position that the queen holds in the affairs of the commonwealth. The prime minister referred to the commonwealth of nations, with the queen at its head, as an effective instrument for the good of free mankind throughout the world.

After approval of the bill the members sang "God save the Queen".

President Eisenhower's declaration to free Chinese troops now on Formosa, brought more reaction than any other part of his speech. Up to now the American fleet has been acting both as policeman and protector, preventing the Reds from attacking Red China. Naturally this change of policy caused a mental upheaval among the members of the house of commons. What the outcome of this change will mean to the free world is hard to judge at this time but later on this week Hon. Lester B. Pearson will make a statement covering the situation.

The defence estimates committee has commenced the work of investigating the Currie report, and I have noted a strange phenomenon. For the first time, the Liberal majority of the committee are doing most of the talking. Their questions and statements seemed to be aimed at minimizing the effects of the Currie report and trying to prove that Mr. Currie's conclusions were not correct and that reasonable precautions had been taken for the protection of Government property, particularly at Petawawa. Mr. Currie refused to withdraw the word "breakdown" that appeared in his report. It is regrettable, but it appears that the government is using the armed forces as a shield to hide the maladministration that was prevalent in the army. This attitude of the government has been attacked and challenged on several occasions but it seems to me that the government is fully aware of the complete breakdown and is seeking scapegoats in any field even to the original individuals who gave an unabridged edition of the report to M. J. Caldwell.

The budget is to be presented on February 19. This announcement created a good deal of speculation as to what it may contain but it is generally felt that although estimates have risen this year, a substantial cut will be passed on to the taxpayers. This premise is based on the continued increasing production over the whole dominion. It is also generally felt that the price of cigarettes will be brought down in order to assist the tobacco growers—who have been fighting hard here in Ottawa for such a price reduction—to try to recapture some of the lost markets for their tobacco.

Efforts have been made to have the minister of trade and commerce disclose the present situation of the negotiations currently taking place towards renewal of the international wheat agreement. The sittings of this international tribunal, formerly took place in England but have now been transferred to the United States with the old agreement about to expire. The wheat farmers of Canada are very anxious to know if a new one will be signed before the old one expires. Naturally they are seeking a higher price but the minister pointed out that all these negotiations are taking place in secrecy and nothing can be divulged until the final agreement has been reached. This agreement has been very important to the basic industry of Canada and it has been the instrument by which the largest portion of our export wheat has found a market overseas. At the same time it has maintained a price sufficiently high to warrant the farmer a secure income.

Another bill has passed under the national defence act making provision for the appointment of an associate minister of national defence. The minister involved, is Ralph Campney, Liberal member for Vancouver Centre. Long discussions took place about this appointment, as it seemed rather extraordinary, that a new member of the cabinet, receiving exactly the same pay as all the other members should become an associate or underling of another cabinet minister. The general reaction of the opposition groups was that the appointment should carry with it a definite responsibility, such as the turning over of all air force material and personnel to the new minister. This would be in keeping with the situation during the last war, when Hon. "Chubby" Powers was minister for air. Stress was laid on the fact that this department last year spent approximately 51 percent of the total national income, administered by one cabinet minister, while the other 19 members of the cabinet, administered a mere 49 percent of our national income. It seems to me that an associate minister without direct responsibility for any department, will not be an improvement on what we have at the present time. Whereas, if he were given half the responsibility of the defence department he would then be answerable to parliament for any defect in that administration.

Summerland Rink Wins Grand Challenge Trophy At Kamloops Bonspiel

Competing in their first big bonspiel, a quartet of Summerland curlers under Skip W. Croft walked off with top honors last week in Kamloops and left 62 teams behind when they brought home the grand challenge trophy.

Individual prizes for the winners were gold wrist watches.

Other members of the winning rink were H. Lemke, Bob Cranna and Ray Fredrickson.

The Croft rink got off to a good start in the 'spiel by winning their first six games—three in "A" event and three in "B". This placed them in the position with the Hobbs rink of Kelowna, the only other rink still undefeated at that point.

In a match with the Hobbs rink in the "B" event, the local foursome lost out four to nine then the Kelowna rink gave up their next game to Topping of Oliver, five to six.

In the final against Hobbs in the grand challenge event, the Summerland representatives took a 10 to four win to claim the top trophy.

Loss to Kelowna in the "B" event placed them in the "F" event competition in which they won their first two games, one from Vancouver and one from Kamloops and then lost their third game to the Jarvis rink of Kamloops.

The Croft rink competed in 13 games during the week and lost only two.

Credit Unions May Be International In Scope Soon

George Stirling, field representative of the B.C. Credit Union League, in addressing the large gathering of Summerland and District Credit Union at the Youth Centre last week, looked forward to the day when the credit union movement would become international in scope.

When this comes to pass, the credit union will have done its part in providing a better understanding between nations, he thought.

One of the objects of the Credit Union League is to maintain a watching brief over legislation passed which might have a bearing on credit union operation, and to recommend changes to the government at Victoria, he explained.

Under the credit union setup one of the largest insurance companies on the North American continent has been set up.

He congratulated the local CU on its splendid turnout of about 200 members and pointed out that the credit union is not just a business but a service to its members. True success in its operation depends on the enthusiasm and support given by the members themselves, he added.

Another speaker who held the keen interest of the audience was George Holby, manager in B.C. for the Co-operative Insurance Company. He stressed the increasing trend towards co-operation among the peoples of the world over the last 2000 years.

Special attention of the meeting was drawn to the junior savings club operated by the local CU. It is one of the three most successful in the province and teaches children the value of thrift and saving, President J. M. McArthur stressed.

He urged that some adult members volunteer to supervise the junior club operations.

W. M. Wright, who was recording secretary for eight years and was the first member to take out a loan, was introduced by John Caldwell. His place as recording secretary has been taken by Mrs. Ruth Caldwell.

Shuttle Teams Top In Tournament

South Okanagan Badminton tournament was held in Penticton on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 7 and 8, with over two hundred entries. In fact, there were so many entries that play was carried on in the old Scout Hall at the schools, and in the new gym.

George Fudge of Summerland was winner of the men's singles, in final play for the title, defeating Ches Larson of Kelowna.

Mr. Fudge playing with Tom Hill of Penticton was also one of the pair winning the men's doubles, in the final games winning over Dave Waddell and Cecil Morgan, both Summerland players.

There were three events, open, handicap and junior.

In the ladies' singles, Eleanor Rutherglen of Penticton defeated Pat Grey, also of Penticton.

The ladies' doubles event saw Dorothy MacLeod, a Summerland entrant and Joan Van Ackeren of Okanagan Centre win over Nancy Stiehl and Mary Stubbs of Kelowna.

In mixed doubles, Dorothy MacLeod and Dave Waddell, both of Summerland, were winners against Ron and Eleanor Rutherglen, Penticton.

P-TA Undertakes Sponsorship Of Teen Town, Poultry Club

Summerland Parent-Teachers' Association undertook sponsoring a 4H Poultry Club which is being formed in the junior-senior high school following a visit of Miss Echo Lidster, provincial head of 4H clubs.

About fifteen girls and boys have indicated that they would like to raise poultry, and Mr. C. Stent has agreed to be the club leader, with assistance from Mr. A. Watt district horticulturalist. Mr. E. E. Bates, agriculture teacher at the junior-senior high who has been instrumental in having the club formed, will assist, and Mr. R. Metters and Mr. Jack Morrow will be on the committee as adult advisors, as well.

The P-TA voted to become sponsors of Teen Town, too, since Mr. Leslie Gould who has acted in this capacity for five years feels that he must relinquish the position.

A committee was formed consisting of Mr. R. Kersey as convenor, and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, P-TA president, Mr. H. H. Dunsdon, vice-president; Mrs. C. Reinertson, the secretary; Mrs. D. Turnbull and Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, which will undertake to find an adult or adults to attend the Teen Town council meetings, and their social functions. According to Teen Town constitution the group may not operate without this adult supervision and interest.

A letter was received from Hon.

Eric Martin, minister of health and welfare, asking for support regarding the construction of a new Boys' Industrial School, money for which is still to be included in the provincial estimates. It was decided to write to the minister endorsing the school, and to the local MLA as well, asking his backing of this important building plan.

A communication from the Summerland Film Council was explained by Reeve C. E. Bentley, and the club decided to support the film council as a community effort and to become a member. At the same time interest was shown in availability of film projector.

The president suggested that members keep in mind the provincial convention to be held in North Vancouver, April 8, 9, 10, when it is hoped Summerland will be represented.

Founders' day, Feb. 1897, was mentioned, since the anniversary falls this month.

Mr. Fred Alcock of Kelowna, sanitarian of the South Okanagan Health Unit was the guest speaker.

McAVOY SUSPENDED
George McAvoy, league bad-man and a member of Penticton V's has been suspended for rest of league fixtures in OAHA, caused through a fracas with the referee in Kelowna last Saturday night.

Locals Win 7-1

Richardson Turns Hat Trick In Match Against Merchants

Playing Coach Rocky Richardson Sunday afternoon turned the hat trick to lead his Summerland senior hockey entry to a 7-1 victory over Penticton Merchants Sunday afternoon.

The locals were never threatened at any time during the game, racking up five tallies before the Merchants bulged the twine with their lone marker in the third stanza.

The game was marked by fast playing with plenty of good passing plays and hard skating on both sides with plenty of back checks.

Taylor touched off the scoring run for Summerland taking the puck from Mann and driving it home at the 15-minute mark of the first period. That was the only score for that period.

The second stanza saw three more tallies racked up for Summerland with Stieninger driving home the first one unassisted on a break away from the face-off which launched the period. Four minutes later, Stieninger came in for an assist on Richardsons first of three goals. Steinger figured again in the next goal which he set up for Taylor.

In the third period, Kato and Fraser each drew penalties in the opening minutes of the frame—the only ones dished out during the game. Kato went off the ice for high-sticking while Fraser was tagged for slashing.

Kato was barely out of the sin bin when he took the rubber from Taylor to register the fifth count for the locals.

Next time the red light flashed was to record the Merchants' only goal when Morrish with an assist from Jackson slipped the disc past goal-minder Sam Imayoshi to rob him of a shut-out. Imayoshi turned ed in a stellar performance for the game.

Richardson then came in for his second and third tallies of the game, registering the second unassisted and the third with help from Campbell and Taylor.

1st Period: 1, Summerland, Taylor (Mann) 15:45.

2nd Period: 2, Summerland, Stieninger 30 sec.; 3, Summerland, Richardson (Stieninger) 4:15; 4, Summerland, Taylor (Stieninger) 13:30.

3rd Period: 5, Summerland, Kato (Taylor) 4:40; 6, Penticton, Morrish (Jackson) 8:30; 7, Summerland, Richardson 13:30; 8, Summerland, Richardson (Campbell, Taylor) 13:45.

Penalties: Fraser, Kato.

free enterprise countries move fastest

In wartime, government intrudes into business and industry because it must cut down on consumer goods and build weapons.

But in peacetime, it has been found, the return of a great degree of freedom to trade and industry is vital to welfare. Otherwise, living standards remain low. An "equal sharing" of poverty is not attractive.

Today, economic progress of the countries now recovering from World War II can be measured by the amount of freedom they have given business and industry to carry on commercial adventure in the hope of making a profit.

Dynamic free enterprise, based on confidence, is still the most powerful force for progress and better living standards the world has ever found.

Behind the 8-Ball
By Gordon Crockett

Once a man starts writing a regular column, there's no turning back. Pride, if nothing else, will compel him every week to grind out enough material to fill that half-yard of white space, and believe me, there's no more severe taskmaster than white space.

The only way out is to move some place else so you'll have a legitimate excuse for ending the stint. And it was, in fact, to escape that bondage that I started looking for a new home.

After nearly three years of working my head to the bone each week to turn out a column, it was with a deep sigh of relief that a couple of weeks ago I turned in what I swore would be my last one.

Then fate stepped in. My former publisher asked me if I would continue doing a column for his paper. I curled my lip.

He told me he enjoyed them. The curl of my lip grew to a sneer.

He said the readers of his paper liked them. I laughed in his face.

He suggested it would cement our friendship. My laugh reached a higher pitch.

He offered to pay me money. I am back at writing a column.

What I'm trying to get across is the same thought as behind the signs once popular in the old-time saloons—"Don't Shoot the Piano Player—He's Doing the Best He Can".

Remember, this is helping me eat!

So as not to impose too much on the good-nature of readers, I will endeavor each week to give valuable information on the wide range of subjects upon which I regard myself an expert and to supply profound opinions.

This past week I broadened my experience to take in the subject of moving. Ah! There is an interesting field.

Anybody contemplating a move, if they want to make it really eventful, should add a couple of animals to their entourage. Kids, I am told, are helpful in adding to the general confusion but I have no first-hand knowledge of this. I'll make book, though, that they aren't a patch on animals for good, thorough, all-round confusion.

For some reason or other, it is part of human perversity that the owners of big cars have a preference for lap dogs while the small car drivers always favors the biggest hound he can lay his hands on.

Us? Small car, big dog!

Starting out from Vancouver last week, I could foresee some difficulties in travelling in a car bulging at the seams with household goods and with a restless dog only two sizes smaller than a bull moose.

That's when The Great Idea struck. I would have a veterinarian give him a sedative and I could just tuck him into a corner of the back seat and let him sleep it off all day.

I can now report the idea is practically faultless. Except that anyone who wants to try it should be prepared after administering the sedative to spend an hour holding the dog down while he tries to fight off the effects of the drug. Otherwise he'll upset all the lamps, coffee tables and anything else in the house not nailed down. Oh yes! You should also be prepared to spend half the night holding him up walking him around in the air to bring him out of it.

Another way to get a dog from one place to another is to put him in a crate and ship him by rail. That's what I'm doing the next time.

We also had The Pooh with us. The Pooh is our family cat and we can trace his ancestry all the way back to his mother. The Pooh waited until we arrived before playing his trump card. He disappeared. So while I spent my time trying to sober up the dog, my wife contributed her share toward keeping the neighborhood awake by calling the cat.

He turned up next day in the coal bin so the whole family is back together again. If our furniture would only get here, we'd all sit down and relax.

One last suggestion for moving: Use upholstered packing cases. I'm getting bruises sitting on the hard wooden ones.

United Church Congregation Holds Annual

Three new members were added to the session and three to the board of stewards at the annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's United Church on Jan. 29. Reports of various departments of the church were heard and a committee was named to find a successor to Rev. H. R. Whitmore who announced his desire to change pastoral relations.

The program for the annual gathering opened with supper served by a combined committee from the Service Club and Women's Federation. About 80 were present.

In his pastoral report, Mr. Whitmore expressed appreciation to all organizations of the church for their contributions and to those who had assisted with church music, with special reference to T. McKay for his willingness to assist as organist whenever required.

New members added to the session were Cyril Stent, Ewart Woolliams and A. C. Fleming. Three vacancies remain to be filled to bring session membership up to 12. New members of the board of stewards are J. R. Campbell, G. Laidlaw and Bert Stent. S. A. MacDonald and T. A. Walden who had announced their intention of retiring from the board this year, consented to act for a further three months and another congregational meeting will be called before the end of this month to fill these vacancies as well as those on the session.

Prepared copies of all reports were distributed to the meeting to facilitate the conduct of the business session and appreciation was expressed to S. A. MacDonald for preparing these copies.

Those presenting reports were Mr. Whitmore on behalf of Mrs. Doney Wilson, Cradle Roll; Mrs. Rex Chapman, Mission Band; Mable McNab, junior choir; Charles Rennie, senior choir; Mrs. A. MacKenzie, Service Club; Mrs. T. W. Boothe, Women's Federation; A. F. Wright, session; Dr. J. Wilcox, board of stewards; Mrs. F. Steuart and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, Sunday school; Mr. Whitmore for William Laidlaw, treasurer's.

Re-Elect Short Baseball Prexy

Harold Short was re-elected president of the Summerland Baseball Club at the annual meeting of the organization Monday night and Nan Thornthwaite was returned to the office of secretary. Alan Holmes was chosen vice-president.

Number of members on the executive was reduced from seven to three.

Discussion at the meeting centered on the problem of finding a coach and manager for the Summerland Macs for the coming season. Dr. L. A. Day, who finished the last season as manager, and Bob Bleasdale, who took over as coach mid-season to finish out the term, have both declined the jobs for this year.

Future for the team this year looks bright with star chucker Wally Day still available for mound duty but a replacement must be found for Catcher Frank Metcalf.

Acceptance of the league of two new teams to boost the entries to eight is still awaited. Kamloops Okonots and Princeton have both made application to enter the loop. Teams presently in the Okanagan Main Line League are Summerland, Oliver, Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon and Kamloops Elks.

Meal Exemption Raised; Car Licence Cut In B.C.'s Record Budget

B.C.'s Social Credit finance minister, Hon. E. M. Gunderson yesterday delivered a record $150 million budget to the legislature on a "pay-as-you-go" plan but changes in the method of financing have stilled comment until it has been studied and analyzed.

Okanagan Assessors Organize New Group

yesterday in Kelowna for organization of an Okanagan Chapter of the B.C. Assessors' Association. As their president they chose Sid Corrick of Penticton. Other officers are F. E. Sabbi, Spillamacheen, vice-president and J. P. Sheeley, Summerland, secretary.

Purpose of the organization is to promote equalization of assessments throughout various areas of the province.

Convention Plans Laid at Meeting

A meeting of the South Okanagan and Similkameen Zone of the Canadian Legion was held Sunday in Penticton with about 20 delegates present.

Chief subjects under discussion were the provincial convention to be held at Nanaimo on May 24-27, and the brief presented on behalf of the Legion with respect to the Liquor inquiry board.

The Summerland Branch presented two resolutions to go before the provincial convention. One recommends that entertainment for troops in Korea should be financed by the Legion on a dominion-wide basis, rather than undertaken by each separate provincial command.

The second resolution from Summerland proposes that a summary of resolutions by the branches to the provincial convention should be distributed to branches in plenty of time for them to receive consideration before the convention.

All branches of the zone reported measures being taken to support the European Flood Relief Fund.

Dr. J. A. Taylor Reports

Health Officer Urges Elimination Of Chocolate Milk From School Fare

In response to requests from school boards Dr. D. M. Black, unit director, South Okanagan Health Unit, has obtained a report from Dr. J. A. Taylor, Victoria, director local health services, regarding the relative value of chocolate and whole milk, and whole wheat and white bread.

In Dr. Taylor's report he states that it is considered preferable to serve whole milk rather than chocolate milk at schools for several main reasons. He says chocolate drink contains less butter fat and vitamin A than whole milk and has a considerable quantity of added sugar which is undesirable for its effect in promoting dental caries.

The health education taught in the classroom, he pointed out, should be exemplified in the school lunchroom and for this reason it is certainly preferable to serve whole milk, in place of chocolate milk.

When the sale of milk is first introduced into a school, Dr. Taylor advised, it is wise to sell only whole milk so that the child does not expect or have the opportunity of choosing either whole or chocolate milk. Where both kinds of milk are offered for sale the re-

Organization Progress Reported For Summerland Civil Defence

Robert Alstead, Red Cross chairman of the welfare department of local civil defence, reports good progress with the organizing of civil defence in Summerland.

Capt. A. M. Temple is director of civil defence in this municipality with Dr. C. G. Woodbridge, deputy director of welfare services under municipal authority.

The Summerland branch Canadian Red Cross Society has undertaken the work of organizing the welfare department, under Robert Alstead's capable direction.

Mr. Alstead states that he has received ready response from the citizens of Summerland who have been asked to assume the duties of supervisors of different departments.

Each supervisor will have an assistant supervisor of his own choosing together with a working staff or team. The supervisors are now in the process of organizing their staffs and are expected to have this work completed within a week.

The government will collect from all sources $167 million and will have available for spending in addition to this amount, $15 million from surpluses of the last two years. They expect to have $7.5 million left over at the end of this fiscal year.

A public works program is projected which will cost a gross of $41 million, but $10 million of this will come from federal government contributions. Included in the public works is $12 million for Okanagan flood control.

A new system of distributing the three per cent SS & MA tax was announced and name of the tax was changed to Social Security and Educational Aid tax. Under the new formula for handling education costs, the government will cut direct grants from $24 million to $2.8 million plus the one third of the sales tax distributable to the municipalities. Provision has been made so that no municipality will receive less under the new formula than it did in 1952.

New logging and mining taxes were introduced to hit at the big operators who are taking profits from natural resources and these taxes are expected to bring in a total of $4 million a year.

The new budget sets a precedent in B.C. history with its "cash on the barrelhead" program of payments with no direct borrowing for public works. Through application of rigid economies in administration, the government hopes to trim $5.5 million off operating costs.

New Volumes Added To Library Shelves

New books added to the shelves of Summerland branch, Okanagan Regional Library this week included both non-fiction and fiction.

Non-fiction—Modern Poetry and the Christian Tradition, by A. N. Wilder, And Then We'll Be Rich by Clare Bell, Delectable Desserts, English Social History, Vol. 4, by G. M. Trevelyan.

Fiction—It's Her Own Funeral, by Carol Carnac, The Burning Man, by S. G. L. Millin, The Far Country, by Nevil Shute, The Velvet Doublet, by J. H. Street, and A Blaze of Roses by Elleston Trevor.

Annual Meeting

Trade Board Chooses I. H. Solly As President of Organization

Members of the Summerland Board of Trade, last Thursday night unanimously chose I. H. Solly as their 1953 president and Harold Reports which reviewed an active year for the board during 1952. Elected as vice-president of the organization was A. K. Macleod.

I. H. SOLLY

Installation of the new president and vice-president followed immediately after the election with Reeve C. E. Bentley officiating.

Retiring president Walter M. Wright in his report touched on some of the more important accomplishments of the board during the past year, mentioning improved early morning facilities at the KVR station; better fire fighting provision for Lower Town and improved mail service, along with a number of matters which had received the board's attention, some of them still under development.

Re-elected to the posts on the board they have been filling were Lorne G. Perry as secretary and E. R. Butler as treasurer. New executive included Robert Barkwill, Frank McDonald, N. Solly, Geo. Henry, Alex Watt, Joe Biollo, Cecil Wade and W. Gordon Crockett.

Under discussion were plans for the annual Board of Trade banquet in March at which presentation of the "Good Citizen of 1952" award will be made. It was decided that because of the nature of the award the banquet should be open to all members of the community who wish to attend and will this year be held in the high school where facilities exist for catering to a larger crowd of diners than formerly. Speaker at the annual banquet is to be Dr. J. A. B. McLeish.

Tickets for the banquet will be on sale in the near future.

No Land Surveyors Trade Board Hears

Anybody know a land surveyor who is looking for an ideal place to settle down?

According to discussions at the Board of Trade meeting last week, it is almost impossible to obtain the services of a surveyor in this district and views were expressed that there is considerable demand for such services.

Reeve C. E. Bentley told the meeting there are only two surveyors at Penticton and at present one is engaged practically full-time by a private business and the other is absent on an extended vacation. He said the municipality often has to wait several months before they can find somebody to do surveying required.

The board decided to contact the Penticton Board of Trade with a view to advertising the opportunity that exists in the district.

Banana Belt Colors Captured On Slides

Following their weekly supper meeting Monday evening, Kiwanians were treated to a program of colored slides entitled "One Year in the Banana Belt", or "Why Go to California".

Producer of the program was district horticulturalist Alex Watt who projected a series of color pictures he has taken in the district and they were presented in a chronological sequence, starting with views during the winter and following through the changing colorful seasons. Mr. Watt provided a narrative while presenting his pictures.

Tribute To Community

Flood Relief Fund Passes $800 ---and Still Gaining Impetus

Summerland European Flood Relief fund today passed the $800 mark and daily is receiving fresh impetus with more organizations in the district laying plans for money-raising events in aid of the fund.

Fund now is only a little more than a week old and response has been termed "wonderful" by committee chairman, Reeve C. E. Bentley.

Reeve Bentley said today that donations are rolling in faster than had ever been anticipated and the response, he added, is a tribute to the generosity and thoughtfulness of the people of this district.

Hardly an organization in the district has failed to respond to the appeal to help the unfortunate flood victims of England, Holland and Belgium and during the next couple of weeks a number of activities will be sponsored to raise money to add to the fund.

An additional contribution will be going from the district with a donation from the Girl Guides direct to the assistance of people victims at Ipswich.

Kiwanians Uphold Curling Reputation

With Summerland curlers distinguishing themselves on all sides, local Kiwanians are also upholding the Summerland reputation in an inter-club challenge competition and last week after matches in Kelowna would have brought home the trophy except it wasn't available for presentation after they earned possession of it.

Clubs of Vernon, Kelowna and Summerland are in the three-cornered challenge competition, and the two outside clubs are now deciding which will have the privilege of meeting the local curlers here on March 1.

Two rinks are entered in the match with total points counting. In last weeks games, the rink skipped by Gerry Hallquist piled up enough points with their 11-6 victory, to offset the loss suffered by the Jack Towgood rink, 7-8. On the Hallquist rink were Hilmy Smith, Scotty Ritchie and Clair Elsey while curling with Towgood were Buck Guernsey, Lacey Fisher and Nick Solly.

Rotarians See Film On Labor Relations

A film on employer-employee relations from the Film Council library provided entertainment Friday evening for Summerland Rotary Club following their regular supper gathering.

During the business session of the meeting, report was heard on the successful presentation of the club Minstrel Show and profits were added to Rotary funds to be used in their various community projects.

Assessment Reduced On Wharf Property

Assessment on CPR property was reduced by the court of revision on Monday by $11,400 to adjust the value after old slip and piling was ripped out and then $700 was added on to cover the new land where it has been leveled off with fill.

Only one other application for reduction was approved by the court. That was one by Dr. D. V. Fisher and assessment on his property was reduced $100.

Tells of Treatment Center

Re-Elect Dr. J. C. Wilcox President Of Summerland Cancer Society

In his chairman's remarks at the annual meeting of the Summerland Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society, Friday evening, Feb. 13, in the parish hall, Dr. J. C. Wilcox, the president, spoke briefly on the opening of the new cancer treatment centre in Vancouver, and of the new cobalt bomb there, the third of its kind in Canada.

He mentioned the wonderful work of the IODE in connection with the Centre, in furnishing and maintaining a solarium at the top of the building, and supplying a daily staff to serve refreshments to anyone needing them.

He paid tribute to the Order of the Eastern Star, saying that the Order has a large room in the clinic for making cancer dressings. Members work in shifts each day, he said, and if a doctor wants a dressing of peculiar shape or quality, he can get it made up in a few minutes.

Dr. Wilcox spoke glowingly of the local Kiwanis Club undertaking the cancer campaign for funds last year and completing it so successfully.

The Summerland delegate to the annual provincial meeting, H. Pruden, brought back an excellent report, which was heard with interest. Explaining the purpose of the cancer aid fund, Mr. Pruden said that it is to help those in low income groups, who are not eligible for help from other sources. He stated that $27,250 was spent on this work last year.

Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, the secretary, reported that two people were helped locally last year with transportation, boarding house, and housekeeper service. Mrs. O'Mah-

To Present Film For Flood Relief

Among the numerous topics under discussion at the Feb. 12 meeting of the Summerland Jaycees held in the home of Al McIntosh, was aid to the European Flood Relief; the awarding of a trophy to school students in connection with their efforts in the forthcoming Jaycee spring clean-up campaign; and conducting an effective speaking group within the club's membership.

Fred Walker is endeavoring to procure from Vancouver a film on world series baseball which will be given a public showing, proceeds for the benefit of European Flood Relief.

It was deemed advisable to enlist the support of the school classes as was done on a former occasion during the Junior Chamber's spring clean-up campaign when lists of clean-up projects around the home were issued the student by the Jaycees. On returning the lists to their teachers, with clean-up jobs checked off as completed at the student's homes, the class showing the most successful record was awarded the Junior Chamber of Commerce Shield for their efforts.

In the course of five evenings separate from regular Jaycee meetings nights, Ted Weeks will coach a class of 10 or 12 members in the art of effective speaking. The material for the course is supplied by national headquarters of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Committee To Study Effect of Budget

New officers were chosen at the Okanagan Municipalities Association meeting in Kelowna yesterday and much of the business session was given over to speculation as to what the new formula for distribution of SS & MA tax will mean to the municipalities financially.

With little information available upon which to base conclusions a committee was appointed to study the effect of the new tax distribution and if it is decided the result will adversely affect the municipalities, another meeting of the association will be called before the end of the month.

Retiring president of the association was Reeve C. E. Bentley and he was replaced in the chair by Mayor W. A. Rathbun of Penticton. New vice-president is Mayor J. J. Ladd of Kelowna and executive members are Alderman R. Ley, Vernon and Mayor N. S. Johnson of Enderby, Secretary-treasurer is H. J. Andrews, Penticton clerk, who replaces G. D. Smith of Summerland.

Editorial

No Moral Issue Here

Move of the merchants of Summerland to try and have a government liquor store established here will probably meet with strong opposition from temperance groups in the district; but is this opposition really fair to the community at large?

There can be no doubt that considerable business is being diverted from local stores because people who wish to buy liquor have to go to Penticton to make their purchases and while there do other shopping as well.

Volume of business is an important factor to a merchant and as volume increases, his purchasing costs can be reduced and his mark-up can be cut so it is to the benefit of every member of the community to keep every dollar possible circulating right in our own home town.

There can be no argument that the abuse of liquor is one of the major social problems in the world today and we would be the first to oppose any move likely to add fuel to this problem; but we can not in all honesty believe the establishment of a liquor outlet here would have that effect.

The problems arising from alcohol stem not from its moderate use but from abuses.

Sufferers from alcoholism have proven that restricting availability is no deterrent to them obtaining alcohol. The experiment in prohibition proved that come what may, people will always be able to obtain liquor and abuses under restrictions are far more rampant. A more recent example was during wartime rationing when per capita liquor consumption was higher than the period preceding and following rationing.

To perhaps a lesser degree, having no liquor outlet conveniently located has the effect of boosting liquor consumption in this area. Persons making purchases will invariably buy more each time because it is not readily available and then because they have it on hand will drink more.

A very serious evil which exists under the present set-up is the dangers involved in people driving a dozen miles back home after a night on the town. This is a hazard not only to those whose driving is impaired but to every motorist on the road.

We are in favor of the establishment of a government liquor outlet here because we believe it will be to the advantage of the community in completing the shopping services available here and because we do not believe such an outlet would contribute adversely to the moral aspects of the use of liquor.

There is no reason why people who use liquor sensibly should be penalized because of a small percentage who abuse it. There are a certain number of car drivers who are a menace on the roads but no one would agree that we should get at this problem by restricting the use of motor cars for all any more than they would advocate overcoming the divorce problem by outlawing marriage. It is a question of analyzing just where the problem comes and aiming corrective measures directly at the problem. Scatter-gun methods can never be effective.

The foregoing are points in favor of establishing a government liquor store in Summerland, however, it is our belief that in any question on which there is a wide divergence of opinion within the community, all sides should be fully aired to give everyone all available information so they can form their own opinion. The Review, therefore, extends to any opposing groups the use of space for a guest editorial.

Foundation Weakening

The request of Premier Bennett to private members of the legislature to save time in the house by foregoing replies to the Speech from the Throne points up the decay which has been gradually creeping into our system of democracy.

Traditionally, the Speech from the Throne is direction from the Queen, through her appointed representative, what legislation she wishes the legislature to approve during the session. As part of the democratic procedure, the people, through their elected representatives, have an opportunity to express their needs and problems before the Queen's business is considered.

In modern practice the speech from the throne is written by the leader of the government party and the system has steadily deteriorated to the present stage where it becomes apparent from the request of the premier that replies to the speech from the throne are regarded as a waste of time and, at best, nothing more than window dressing for the folks back home so the member can return to his riding and state that its problems were placed before the legislative assembly.

Canadians have always treasured their freedoms under democratic rule but over-enthusiastic governments have been steadily chipping away at the foundations of that democracy we cherish. The structure is weakened now to the point where the words of our spokesmen have become nothing more than meaningless mouthings.

What this deterioration in democratic procedure is likely to produce is not too difficult to predict. We have seen it happen in other countries—Germany, Italy, Russia, Spain, to mention a few—and anyone who thinks "it can't happen here" is living in a Fool's Paradise.

We can protect our system of administration only by following closely every move of the government and demanding of our representatives that the will and interests of the people be placed before political expediency.

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Wonder why the game of curling has such a fascination for people? Half Summerland seems intoxicated with it; orchards lie unpruned, children play unwatched. I'm expecting any day to find one of the stores left open and empty and be able to help myself to bargains.

Yet it isn't a lively game at all, like badminton, nor can it keep you exercising as steadily as you like, as skiing can. In curling you throw two rocks in a fine test of judgment and co-ordination. Two small exertions; then you wait around till fourteen others are thrown before you exert yourself again. Seven - eights of the time you are practically out of the game.

That's why the canny Scots put in sweeping, lest people fear they were not getting their money's worth. Why they didn't pick a man's occupation to fill in time, instead of a woman's, boats me; much better to have put in whit-ling, or a hand of bridge or what more fitting than 'draw' poker?

And if motherly influence behind the fathers of the roarin' game did cause a woman's work to be tossed into it, why pick sweeping of all things? Why not cooking, so there'd be a kitchen range to keep warm by, and coffee and biscuits ready at all times, as part of the game? Or bedmaking, so that one could lie down and relax in comfort instead of standing round on the cold ice?

You can't convince me that sweeping will draw a curling rock any further down the ice than mere wishing; in fact, I can't see but what it is more likely to hold it back. If you put hand or face down near a waving broom, you'll find it is fanning air out, not drawing it in. The uselessness of sweeping in curling was proved by scientific tests at the University of Something-or-other, but the curlers came up with another excuse for it: that it clears the ice or any stray bits of straw left from previous sweepings!

If cleaning the ice is the object, why not use vacuum cleaners? A rink of curlers stationed along the ice with Electroluxes plugged in and at the ready, their tam-o-shanters gaily reminiscent of the old-fashioned housekeeper's dust-cap, would take care of stray debris far more efficiently.

Yet for all its peculiarities, curling is a splendid game, as its popularity testifies. I suggest it is a better game than either hockey or basketball, not to mention baseball. And it might well be a better game to have taught in our schools than any of these team games.

Why? Because people of either sex and any age, from twelve to ninety-odd, can curl and enjoy it. Some are better at it than others; but the best curlers pull plenty of poor shots, and the poorest curlers have days when they're unbeatable. And everybody gets fresh air and exercise from it.

You can't say that of the team games, the spectator sports. Half-a-dozen to a dozen picked athletes make up a team, the rest of the people sit in the stands and exercise only their voices and that which they sit upon. In our modern world, life becomes more and more a matter of sitting and standing; many people are badly in need of not-too-strenuous exercise, and curling provides it. For farmers, who get plenty of exercise but less social contacts than townsmen, it is little effort to curl and a fine chance to visit and congregate with others.

I'd like to see our educational authorities wake up to the fact that the team games which are so emphasized in school sports, are limited to only a minority of students. And of the few that do play, how many will continue after they leave school? If curling were a standard school sport more boys and girls would leave school with a recreation they could enjoy for a lifetime than do now. Fishing is the most popular sport in North America. The two together would take care of year-round recreation very nicely for a lifetime if we learned them young.

Judging by the way Summerland's school students are taking to the game whenever they get the opportunity, half that program at least is already well under way here.

Hail Insurance Rates Reduced

Directors of the growers Hail Insurance Company have announced a definite reduction in hail insurance premiums effective for the 1953 season. Premium rates were on a graduating basis over a five-year period and are now changed to annual premium of $30 per thousand in the lower loss areas and $50 per thousand in the higher loss areas.

Following careful study of the operation to date and data collected by hail insurance committees prior to the formation of the company, the directors realize that the company's comparatively low operating expense coupled with greater spreading of risk over the areas will safely allow rate reductions and provide sufficient net premium for claim payments. This will bring the company's operations more in line with the original intent of the growers and enable all growers in all areas to insure their crops up to full value at reasonable cost.

It is anticipated the company will not only continue to build reserve funds but also refund annually the surplus portion of premium.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
March 1, 1923.

Rev. W. A. Alexander attended the annual session of the presbytery of Kamloops held at Vernon when it was unanimously passed that the general assembly of the Presbyterian church be required by the Kamloops presbytery to unite with the Methodist and Congregational churches in Canada.

The importance of the size of the apple to the grower was demonstrated at Yakima when J. F. Stewart, fruit grower of the Granger district, demonstrated that one box of large Jonathans was worth five boxes of small size.

Through the efforts of J. W. S. Logie, arrangements were made for the opening of a class in pottery making. John Kyle, superintendent of technical education, secured the services of Miss Mary Young, who operated a pottery in Banff, to give the course. It was believed that local clay would be suitable for pottery work.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. G. Maddock, Mineola, on Friday, Feb. 23, at the local hospital.

News of the sudden death of Professor Broad came as a shock to the community.

George Gould the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gould, was hurt on the forehead with a snowball.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
February 24, 1928

Figures relative to the cost of the Westbank-Kelowna ferry were produced in the House and were shown to be $2,386,21.

The ancient art of rug-making was being revived in B.C. and a demonstration was scheduled here under the sponsorship of the Women's Institute.

West Summerland was startled by an explosion in the home of Mrs. Siderfin, opposite the United Church, which blew out the front of the kitchen stove, tore a window, sash and glass from the frame, and blew the glass from an upstairs window. It was caused when a metal hot water bottle put to heat on the stove lid, exploded.

Word was received of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mack, formerly Marion Beavis, Sat. Feb. 18.

St. Andrew's Hall was finished inside by the young people of the church making a splendid change in its appearance.

Bluebirds, robins and killdeer were making an appearance, their first of the year.

A second shipment of three pure-bred Berkshire pigs was made to New Zealand by the experimental station.

Other Opinions...

Truly Judicious Labor Dispute Boards Needed

Are conciliation boards the most effective mechanism for the settlement of wage disputes? Certainly the experience of the recent threatened nationwide rail strike suggests the need for a careful re-examination of their usefulness.

The purpose of appointing a conciliation board is to provide both management and union in an industrial dispute with an impartial body whose task it is to suggest a fair and reasonable settlement. The fact that such boards have no sanction to enforce their findings would be of little significance if such findings were unanimous. Public opinion could then be relied upon to bring the parties to an acceptance of the board's findings and recommendations.

Unfortunately, however, unanimity in conciliation board reports nowadays tends to be the exception rather than the rule. The filing of a majority and a minority report has become almost a commonplace. When the conciliation board itself is unable to agree, as happened in the case of the dispute between the railways and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the dual findings tend to fan the flames of discord and to provoke resort to drastic measures.

The weakness of the conciliation board is that it is assigned quasi-judicial functions devoid of sanction, and at the same time, by the very nature of its composition, can never be completely impartial. Such boards consist of an impartial chairman, it is true, but include representatives both of management and labor.

It seems that in devising machinery for the settlement of industrial disputes Canadians have attempted unsuccessfully to compromise between the judicial and the executive approach. The latter, with all its implications of government edict, is clearly undesirable. What is needed, it would seem, is to provide management and labor alike with boards that would be truly judicial in character.—Vernon News.

School Maintenance Staff Gets Increase

At a meeting of Summerland School Board, District 77, held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 11, a new agreement was authorized with the Okanagan Valley School Employees' Federal Union, providing for increases in janitors' salaries as follows: head janitor, raised from $212.80 per month to $215.00 per month; janitors, from $201.00 to $205.00 per month; women sweepers from 75c to 80c per hour.

All these increases are retroactive to Jan. 1, 1953.

NOTES FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

Government Scholarships May be Forthcoming Soon

By O. L. JONES, M.P. for YALE

The defence committee has finally disposed of the Currie report although we shall hear repercussions at different times for many months to come.

It is rather interesting to watch the tactics displayed during this debate in committee. All the Conservative members refrained from asking any questions; presumably contending that the report was correct and there was no object in pursuing it further in committee. The Liberal members of that committee on the other hand were very anxious to minimize the effect of this report on the average Canadian.

They endeavoured to get Mr. Currie to make a statement that these conditions were not general, but merely located in one, or maybe two, camps. However Mr. Currie would not give way and finally the debate on the report collapsed, leaving the committee free to engage in other matters of investigation, although there is pending before that committee a resolution proposed by the Conservatives that Mr. Currie be re-engaged to carry on the probe to all phases of our defence expenditures. It is not likely that this will be accepted because the Liberals on the committee do not agree.

I have received several enquiries from Vernon regarding the possible date when the new Federal building will be erected. In view of rumors that are floating around I may state the present situation which is official. On Jan. 16 this year orders were sent around the various government departments asking their requirements in the new proposed federal building in Vernon. This information is not all in yet. When the requirements of various departments is known, such as fruit inspectors, customs, post office etc, then this information will be turned over to the architects for plans to be drawn according to the space required. When this is completed it is expected that the government will be ready to call for tenders and possibly commerce building late in the fall this year. This same information would practically fit the proposed new federal building at Princeton; where the money for

This man started out for himself many years ago, and soon established a successful one-man business. Then came the problem that after his death his widow might be obliged to sell the business at a loss. Sun Life of Canada Business Insurance solved this. Now the enterprise will be purchased from his widow by senior employees at a figure set during his lifetime.

Cub Calls

At the close of Monday's meeting the boys were surprised with Valentine cookies, which they all enjoyed.

The Ramble on Sat., Feb. 21, is an all day one, meeting at the B.C. Shippers' at 9 a.m. returning about 3 p.m. Everyone is to bring a meal to be cooked out in the open. Dress warmly.

Church Parade, Sunday, Feb. 22, honoring Baden-Powell's birthday. We are going to the Baptist church meeting at Smith & Henry's at 10:45 a.m. or immediately after Sunday school. Full uniforms MUST be worn.

There will be no meeting on Feb. 23. Next meeting, March 2, 6:30 p.m. sharp.—Akela.

TEEN TOWN

Our Cupid's Frolic last Saturday night turned out to be quite a success although it didn't get started until after the basketball game. Our thanks go to Mr. and Mrs. Motors for being our parent sponsors for this dance.

A Council meeting was held at Doreen Fleming's home last Monday night, and it was decided that we have a parent social on March 7 in the Youth Centre at 8 o'clock. There will be a door prize, proceeds from this dance will go to the flood relief. So, lets have every one out to this dance. P.T.A. is now sponsoring Teen Town.

No Change Indicated For School Busses

Summerland School Board has received a communication from the provincial government in the matter of contract transportation of school children to and from school.

This letter states that in most communities where school busses are used for taking children to a central school, the maximum distance which children are expected to walk to the bus stop is two miles in most places, which is half a mile longer than that holding in Summerland where pupils only walk a mile and a half.

While not setting down a definite ruling regarding the matter it was understood from the letter of the department of education, that bus service will be considered only when the distance exceeds two miles.

High School COMMENTS

There were three basketball games played in the gym last Saturday night. Our junior girls beat the Keremeos girls, and then the two Keremeos senior teams beat both of ours. The game between the senior girls was all tied at the end of regulation time so they played two three-minute periods of overtime before the visiting team won the game.

The Oliver senior boys will play here this coming Saturday.

Besides this basketball game, there will be a volleyball tournament, banquet and dance held in the High School this Saturday. The tournament starts about one o'clock, the banquet, for players only, about six, and the dance, at 8:30 o'clock. All school kids are asked to attend the tournament and dance.

There was an assembly last Friday afternoon. After all reports had been made, we got down to the serious business of extending and amending the constitution. All suggested changes passed after much discussion and controversy. If they are passed at the next two assemblies, they will become part of the High School constitution.

All students are requested to attend the band concert to be held tomorrow night, Friday, in the

BROWNIE CHATTER

1st Summerland Pack.

Our whole pack has been working hard since the New Year. The newly enrolled Brownies have learned their knots. We all tied small pencils to our new notebooks with a reef knot and we had a dog show to practice the round turn and two half hitches.

On the first Tuesday in February the pack went for a Traffic Walk, and talked about the road signs and the rules of the road when walking or when riding a bicycle.

One afternoon Tawny Owl taught the younger Brownies how to clean a cut finger and apply a band-aid.

We brushed up on our knowledge of flags with a game, The Queen's Visit, and laid a place at the table for an unexpected guest, with a relay race.

Two of our Brownies, Louise Shannon and Lynne Boothe, passed their test for their Dancer's Badge. Our thanks to Mrs. Pat Agur who visited us at one meeting and tested these Brownies.

Keep those pins shining, Brownies, then just look at those little faces smile.—Brown Owl.

school auditorium. It is being held in order to raise money for the school band. See you there!

That's all for this week.—Marguerite and Merle.

2nd Summerland Pack.

The Youth Centre has been a busy place on Friday afternoons as Brownies dance around their toadstool and play and work together.

Health was the theme for January, and Brownies thought about good health habits and practiced skipping and ball throwing.

Service is the theme for February and we hope every Brownie is trying very hard to be helpful.

Sally Wilson has passed all her tests for her Golden Bar!

Golden Hand testing will be Saturday, Feb. 28. Brownies planning to take this test have been working very hard on knitting, fire-laying compass, semaphore, and other things that they must know to earn a Golden Hand. The Golden Hand is the highest honor a Brownie may earn.

Parents, do help your Brownies with their training, at home. Brown Owl.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Campbell went out to the coast on Friday to spend a short visit at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. St. Dennis, North Vancouver.

Guide News

On Wednesday, Feb. 11 inspection got underway as Capt McIntosh and Lieut. Barraud went to the Summerland Hospital to retrieve the attractive moss gardens the Guides had made and left with the patients these past few weeks.

Following patrol corners at which the Guides collected, pennies in aid of the Flood Relief, Frances Atkinson senior patrol leader took the company in a game called streets and avenues.

Much activity always ensues at each training period and some of the senior patrol ably lent a hand in second class training.

A few reminders that were discussed at campfire were; box ends to add to Kiwanas collection, church parade Sunday, Feb. 22 at the United Church honoring the birthdays of the founders of Guiding, Lord and Lady Baden Powell. Bring money for articles ordered. Camp?

2nd Class Badges were received by; Diane Rumball, Nan Solly, Joyce Dunsdon, Darlene Bonthoux, Wendy Wright, Ruby Gronlund, Bonnie Wilson.

1st Summerland Troop.

Preparations are well under way for the Father and Son banquet which is to be held on Thursday, March 19. Good progress is being made on badge work. These badges must be passed not later than March 10 in order to have them ready for presentation at the banquet.

Our troop will parade to St. Andrew's United Church next Sunday, Feb. 22. Full uniform with the exception of shorts is requested. Please be at the Living Memorial Park Playground at 10:30 a.m. sharp.

An Overnight is planned for Saturday afternoon and Sunday, Feb. 28-March 1. Full details at next week's meeting, so be on hand if you would like to be included in this (sc)outing!

Duty Patrol, Tuesday, Feb. 24—Eagles.—D.M.M.

DAFFODILS BUDDING

Mrs. V. Charles has reported that daffodils are in bud in her garden in Peach Orchard, and their golden trumpets will be among the heralds of an early spring, it is expected.

GMC IN THE 1953 TRUCK SPOTLIGHT

Now, even more than ever, the spotlight's on GMC!
For 1953, GMC trucks bring you new staying power and new safety with heavier, more rigid and durable construction. All 1953 GMC models provide increased horsepower and higher compression ratio. These great valve-in-head engines give you faster acceleration, greater hill-climbing ability—and even greater economy than ever before!
Model for model, feature for feature, these 1953 trucks are the greatest GMC trucks ever built. And with all their solid superiority, they give you real dollar for dollar "Go!"
Drop in at our showroom and talk over your needs. Let us show you how GMC trucks give you more of what you want in 1953.

WITH GREAT NEW VALUES . . .

In Power . . . Three husky, improved valve-in-head engines, new high compression ratios, highlight the GMC power story for '53. Choose the power plant you need from the rugged 108 h.p. Loadmaster, 125 h.p. Torquemaster and 130 h.p. Workmaster engines.

In Performance . . . Over the road and over the rough, GMC can handle the toughest jobs with ease and come back for more. With heavier, stronger, more durable frames, these husky 1953 GMC trucks are the sturdiest, most rugged ever built.

In Safety . . . For fast, smooth positive stops all 1953 GMC trucks up to the 9400 series are now equipped both front and rear with big, husky "Torque-Action" brakes which utilize the motion of the truck itself for extra stopping power. Heavy duty models in Series 9100, 9500, 9700 and 9800 have extra-large "Torque-Action" on the front wheels and famous "Twin-Action" brakes at the rear.

In Economy . . . The big improvements in GMC's thrifty, valve-in-head engines combine with the new, rugged stamina to bring you overall operating economy like you've never seen before. Ton for ton, mile after mile, all year 'round you save money with GMC.

Shower Decorations In Valentine Motif

Mrs. J. Ganzeveld and Mrs. Ross McLachlan arranged a jolly party and kitchen shower on Wednesday evening, Feb. 11, at the home of the latter in honor of Mrs. J. Croft, the former Miss Joan Howard, a recent bride.

The hostesses were assisted in decorating by Mrs. H. Mott and Mrs. Francis Stewart, when the Valentine motif in red and white was carried out effectively.

The guest of honor was completely surprised to find 11 friends assembled in the living-room when she arrived, and later was given the pleasure of opening lovely gifts.

The parcels were presented by Mr. and Mrs. McLachlan's older daughter, Anne, who was in a dainty Valentine costume to carry the large Valentine box containing them.

A number of contests were played and prizes were won by Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. W. C. Baker, Mrs. G. A. Laidlaw, and Mrs. C. J. Bleasdale.

Guests were Mrs. H. Mott, Mrs. F. Steuart, Mrs. F. Ganzeveld, Mrs. J. McLachlan, Mrs. C. J. Bleasdale, Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. G. A. Laidlaw, Mrs. N. Buddingh, Mrs. W. C. Baker, Mrs. H. B. Mair, and Miss Chris Mair. Mrs. V. Polesello was unable to attend, but sent a gift.

The evening concluded with lovely refreshments served by the hostesses.

Miss May Bateman of Vancouver was a week-end visitor at the home of Mrs. Dale and Miss Ruth Dale.

Would-Be Pipers Entertain Club

Ladies at the birthday party of St. Andrew's Service Club were hilariously entertained on Monday evening, Feb. 16, by the rooting, tooting, "Hootin' Annie All-Girls Pipe Band." Dressed in kilts, red hats, weskits trimmed with spoons and forks, men's shoes, diamond socks, and suspenders, 11 members of the club pranced into the party making noises simulating bagpipes.

At first glance they seemed to be holding bagpipes and other instruments, but on closer inspection these proved to be made up of fly swatters, dish mops, plungers, coat hangers, wash tubs, and other unknown or unmentionable objects.

A varied and original program of instrumental, vocal, and dancing selections was rendered by this versatile group amid gales of laughter from the appreciative audience.

The Hootin' Annies included Mrs. L. Fudge, Mrs. R. D. Dunham, Mrs. J. P. Sheeley, Mrs. A. Crawford, Mrs. Leslie Rumball, Mrs. J. Zimmerman, Mrs. F. S. Steuart, Mrs. Mel Ducommun, Mrs. G. Washington, with Mrs. J. Mayne as head Hooter.

Mrs. George Washington, club president, welcomed about 90 members and guests to the birthday meeting.

A devotional service with the theme, "Prayer," was given by Mrs. J. A. Dunsdon.

It was reported that 50 pounds of good used clothing were sent to Korea this month from the Service Club.

Delicious refreshments including a lovely birthday cake were served following the entertainment. Mrs. W. Milne convened the refreshments assisted by Mrs. M. Morrill, Mrs. H. A. McCargar, Mrs. C. V. G. Morgan, Mrs. A. McKenzie, Mrs. R. S. Oxley, Mrs. W. B. Powell, Mrs. G. Ritchie, and Mrs. M. D. Proverbs.

Miss Shirley Schumann was home from Vancouver last week-end to attend the Munro-Polesello wedding which took place in the Church of the Holy Child on St. Valentine's Day. She returned to the coast on Monday evening's train.

Institute Campaign To Aid Q.A. Solarium

The Summerland Women's Institute is sponsoring a drive for funds for the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Cobble Hill, V.I.

This solarium was started as a result of WI efforts throughout the province, and money to help the crippled children who are benefitted there may be put in the boxes which have been placed in Summerland stores for that purpose.

Capacity Attendance At Lakeside WA Tea

Pretty lace Valentines in profusion were used to decorate St. Andrew's Hall on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 14, when the Lakeside WA held a Valentine tea with great success.

Mrs. H. R. Whitmore and Mrs. Wesley Greer, president of the WA, were a welcoming committee at the door, and received about 100 guests.

As well as providing a delicious tea, the WA stocked a candy and home-cooking stall for the benefit of patrons.

Those who were busy with tea preparations and in serving were Mrs. Frank Dickinson, Mrs. H. Pohlmann, Mrs. Don Tait, Mrs. K. Anderson, Mrs. M. McKechnie, Mrs. J. VanGameron, Mrs. A. R. Morgan, Mrs. C. B. Snow, Mrs. Jack Wilson, Mrs. J. Raincock, and Miss Mary Scott.

To Mrs. VanGameron and Mrs. Snow went the added responsibility of the stalls.

Attends Last Rites

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McPherson were in Vernon on Monday to attend the funeral of Mrs. McPherson's sister, Mrs. Edgar Steele, whose death occurred on Friday, Feb. 13.

The late Mrs. Steele was born in Glen Sandfield, Ont. and is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Ted Wickham of New Westminster.

Another sister, Mrs. J. G. Bradford, came with her husband from their home in West Vancouver to attend the funeral.

Munro-Polesello Nuptials

Bride In Traditional White Satin For Rites At Church of Holy Child

One of the largest weddings to be held here was that of Luella Constance, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentino Polesello, Summerland, which took place on St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, at five o'clock in the afternoon, in the Church of the Holy Child, to Dale Robert, son of Mrs. O. Westwood of Vancouver, and Mr. Bud Munro of Victoria.

The alter candles were burning among yellow daffodils and mauve tulips for the early spring wedding, and roses in various shades were in the background. Guest pews were each marked with frilly white doilies holding a red heart and a white rose.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. A. M. Muelenberg in the presence of over 200 guests.

The pretty dark-haired bride who entered the church on her father's arm was preceded by her younger brother, Robert, as ring bearer, and her youngest sister, Aloma, as flower girl.

Robert, attired in black velvet trousers with a long sleeved white blouse with Peter Pan collar; carried the rings on a white satin, lace-trimmed cushion. Aloma was in yellow satin with white lace, floral headdress and heart-shaped bouquet of carnations and spring flowers.

Centre of the bridal procession, the bride was gown in traditional white satin, inset with lace, with the nylon net yoke trimmed with pearls, and the lily-point sleeves of lace. The lovely full skirt fell into a train. Her veil of nylon trimmed with lace was full length and billowed around her from a head-dress embroidered with pearls. She carried rosebuds in a deep red shade intermingled with white carnations.

Alynn Munro and Judy Betuzzi were the two charming little train bearers, who were frocked in dainty floor-length mauve dresses with heart-shaped floral headdresses and heart-shaped bouquets. Miss Yvonne Polesello was her sister's maid of honor, and her lovely gown had a top of green interwoven with silver threads and with a sweetheart neckline. The bouffant skirt was of layers of green net.

The three bridesmaids were Miss Doreen Kilback and Miss Betty Green of Summerland and Miss Mary Truant of Kelowna.

Miss Kilback wore mauve net with matching lace bolero, Miss Green, yellow net with matching taffeta top, and Miss Truant, yellow net with lace bolero of the same shade. All of the attendants wore gloves to match their floor-length frocks, and had similar headdresses, heart-shaped of feathered carnations, and carried bouquets to tone with their dresses, also heart-shaped and fashioned of carnations and spring flowers.

The groom was supported by Bill Vanderburgh of Brookmere, and the ushers were Mike Kocuba, Don Cristante, and Gerald Washington. Mrs. J. Schaeffer was organist for the ceremony and as soloist, Miss Shirley Schumann sang an Ave Maria.

A reception followed in the IOOF hall, when Mr. and Mrs. Polesello, Mrs. M. Munro, the groom's aunt, and Mr. McQuarrie of Powell River, the groom's grandfather received, assisted by the bridal party.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Polesello wore a beautiful black velvet and nylon net gown accented with rhinestones, a becoming white velvet hat trimmed in gold shells, white gloves and bag. In her corsage were red carnations.

Mrs. Munro was in a becoming navy gown with pretty hat and accessories and wearing a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The Valentine decorations were beautifully carried out in the hall enhanced with spring flowers, and the guests were seated at long tables. The tiered wedding cake was centred on a table covered with a lace cloth with bouquets of roses and surrounded with nylon net tulle.

A Menu acted as master of ceremonies. Father Muelenberg gave the toast to the bride and groom, and Fred Schumann proposed a toast to the bride, with reply by the groom. Leighton Nesbitt gave the toast to the attendants with response by the best man.

Assisting and serving were Mrs. S. Pabbi, Mrs. Anna Wolfe, Mrs. W. Olson, Mrs. Glen Woods, Mrs. A. J. Bonthoux, Miss J. Lenz, Miss Bev Fleming, Miss Merle Heavysides, Miss Irene and Miss Marguerite Menu, Miss Phyllis Verrier, Miss Shirley McAdam, Miss Joyce Smith, Miss Joyce Scummann, and Miss Shirley Gardner.

Congratulatory telegrams were read from Mr. and Mrs. A. Valpatt and Mr. and Mrs. R. Orlando, Trail.

Miss Shirley Schumann sang "I Love You Truly," and Miss Shirley Gardner sang "Because You Are Mine," and dancing followed for several hours.

When the young couple left by train for Vancouver, the bride wore a smart green gabardine suit, beige hat with brown suede band, beige gloves, brown suede shoes and handbag. Her corsage was of red roses and white carnations.

On their return they will live in Summerland.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's aunt, Mrs. S. DeCecco, Mr. and Mrs. P. Truant, and A. Merlo, Trail; Miss M. Zilli, Victoria; Miss Shirley Schumann, E. Bognish, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. L. Truant, Mary and Vonda, Mr. and Mrs. S. Truant, R. Vaccaro, F. Mazzaico, Kelowna; the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Plazorenko, Mr. and Mrs. G. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. J. Trombley, Mr. and Mrs. N. Biagoni, Mr. and Mrs. R. Renaldi, Mr. Cavanni, Mrs. Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Biollo, Mr. and Mrs. C. Appigli, Penticton; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Vanderburgh, Mr. and Mrs. C. Reichert, Oliver; the groom's grandfather, Mr. McQuarrie, his aunt, Mrs. A. N. McQuarrie and niece, Wendy McQuarrie, Powell River.

Moot-Senior Citizens' Center

Local W.I. Adds Contribution To European Flood Relief Fund

Twenty-five dollars for European Flood Relief was authorized at the regular meeting of the Summerland Women's Institute, held on Friday afternoon, Feb. 13, in the parish hall.

Interest was taken in the council's request for a representation at a meeting to be held on Feb. 25, to plan for a fitting community recognition of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II on June 2 this year. Two members of the citizenship committee, Mrs. E. M. Hookham and Mrs. A. K. Macleod were asked to attend the meeting as Institute delegates.

In the matter of the B.C. Tree Fruits' Board apple pie baking contest with prizes to be boxes of apples, it was suggested that cases of apple juice would be more appreciated as awards, and the secretary was instructed to take this up with the Tree Fruits' Board.

"Pennies For Friendship" were received, which is two cents from each member, the money going to an international fund, the treasury of the Associated Countrywomen of the World. This fund was started by the late Mrs. Alfred Watt, well known B.C. WI worker, and helps in ACWW work. In this connection, it was mentioned, that the ACWW meeting will be held in Toronto this summer and some delegates from it will be touring through Canada. It is expected that they will visit the Okanagan Valley and some time is allotted to be spent at the Summerland Experimental Station. Mrs. R. C. Palmer was asked to get in touch with members of Pentiction and Naramata WI's in order to correlate entertainment for the visitors.

Mrs. Eric Tait spoke of possible courses to be had during the summer, given by instructresses from UBC. These classes may be had in a variety of subjects, ranging from food preservation, including canning, bottling and processing, to block printing and other things. No action was taken during the meeting, and the subject will be discussed at a later date.

Mrs. V. Charles announced that 19 had signed for the tailoring course to be given in the high school April 13-25 by Miss Eileen Cross of the department of extension, UBC. These classes will be Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays in the high school and the other week days at Trout Creek, and there will be afternoon and evening classes.

Great interest was shown in the establishment of a Senior Citizens' Court, a new WI project which will take much thought and planning. Mrs. E. Farnham, convener of the welfare committee of the WI heads the investigating committee, assisted by Mrs. V. Charles and Mrs. H. R. McLarty, with power to add to their numbers.

Since the meeting was the annual Valentine party an amusing contest on titles of magazines, resulted in Mrs. M. E. Collas naming the greatest number and winning the prize.

Mrs. D. Turnbull sang two pleasing solos, Down Vauxhall Way, and The Valley of Laughter.

The tea table was pretty with Valentines, flowers, and beautifully decorated cakes, and the president, Mrs. C. H. Elsey, and the immediate past president, Mrs. R. C. Palmer, poured tea for the large number attending.

Socially Speaking SOCIAL EDITOR Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh

To Supply Blankets For Welfare Depot

Mrs. R. A. Fredrickson gave a report of the annual district welfare meeting when St. Stephen's Evening branch, WA met in the parish hall, Feb. 16.

The president, Mrs. E. F. Weeks, was in the chair, and after hearing the report, members decided to collect wool to be made into blankets for the local welfare depot.

Reports of church and WA events of the past month were reviewed by convenors and plans for future work discussed.

A donation of $35 was voted from the proceeds of the Valentine tea towards the European Flood Relief Fund.

Convenors for the 1953 work groups appointed were: sewing, Mrs. E. Skinner; knitting and fancywork, Mrs. A. Gately; novelties, Mrs. A. Inch.

The Christmas bazaar date was set for Nov. 28.

A talent tea was arranged for the March meeting, and all members will participate with a donation of "talent".

Members were reminded of the World's Day of Prayer, to be held tomorrow, in St. Andrew's church at 3 p.m., and were asked to attend if possible.

After the meeting adjourned dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. E. B. Wilson and Mrs. E. T. Washington.

WITH VICTORIAN ORDER
Miss Verna Wright, RN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wright who has been on the pediatrics staff of St. Paul's hospital in Vancouver for a year and a half is now with the Vancouver branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Former Summerland Resident Passes

Friends here will regret to hear of the death at San Carlos, California, on Friday, Feb. 13, of Mrs. Eric Agur.

The late Mrs. Agur was formerly Margaret Robertson (Peggy) daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kerr, all early residents of Summerland.

Death followed a lengthy illness. She is survived by her husband, also a former resident of Summerland, a son, Gordon in San Francisco, and a daughter, Barbara, at home.

The funeral took place at Palo Alto, California, on Monday, Feb. 16.

Miss Elizabeth Theed is a niece of the late Mrs. Agur, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Agur are a brother-in-law and sister-in-law.

Large Number Present Eastern Star Upholds Tradition With Successful Social Event

On the evening of Friday, Feb. 13, the local chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star held its annual dance, and upheld its tradition of having one of the loveliest dances of the year. There was a large crowd in attendance and a gay, happy time for all.

To Johns Hopkins For Surgery Study

Miss Jane Zinyk, RN, of the Summerland General Hospital nursing staff, is leaving at the end of the month to take a post-graduate course in surgery at the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Md.

A party in her honor was arranged by the nursing staff of the hospital on Thursday evening, Feb. 12, in the Nurses' Residence. About fifteen were present and Canasta and bridge were enjoyed, as well as the delicious refreshments afterwards.

On her way east, Miss Zinyk plans to visit her home at Edmonton.

Mrs. J. R. Butler was the general convener assisted by Mrs. J. W. Mitchell and Mrs. Gordon Beggs and their committees.

The Youth Centre was decorated with stars, hearts, and spring blossoms, carried out by the capable committee headed by Mrs. Mel Cousins.

Dozens of daffodils were the generous gift of Mr. J. McLachlan and helped to enhance the "Hearts and Flowers" Valentine theme of the dance.

Saxie's orchestra supplied good music for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilson, the worthy patron and worthy matron, greeted guests at the door, and Mrs. George Forster was treasurer for the evening.

Zone President Officiates

Mrs. A. Johnson Installed in Office As Head of Legion Auxiliary

Mrs. A. Johnson was installed as president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion at a ceremony conducted by Mrs. R. Knight, Pentiction, president of the south Okanagan and Similkameen zone council, at the monthly meeting of the LA, Feb. 12, in the Legion Hall.

Other officers are Mrs. A. McCargar, 1st vice-pres; Mrs. K. Boothe, 2nd vice-pres; Mrs. T. Fisher, secretary; Mrs. J. Brown, treasurer; committee, Mrs. H. Howard, Mrs. H. Shannon, Mrs. W. Milne, Mrs. J. Mitchell, sergeant at arms; Mrs. H. Short, standard bearer; Mrs. L. Johnston, sick visitor; Mrs. A. McCargar, social convener; Mrs. J. A. Reed, press reporter.

Mrs. F. Young, the retiring president, was in the chair for the meeting preceding the installation, when plans for the annual May tea were discussed and convenors appointed.

Donations were voted to the Overseas Flood relief and the polio fund.

Visitors from Pentiction LA were welcomed and included Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Potts, Mrs. E. Gougeon, and Mrs. Hooper.

Mrs. J. Selinger was initiated as a member and graciously received into the branch.

NEW ARRIVALS

On Sunday, Feb. 15, a son was born at Summerland General hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Hendrik Roelofs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miltimore are the parents of a baby boy, born on Tuesday, Feb. 10, at Pentiction General hospital.

... THAT behind the name "Manufacturers Life" lies an interesting story for all Canadians? When the Company was formed in 1887 the Canadian economy was mainly agricultural. In his famous "National Policy", Prime Minister Sir John A. Macdonald called for "Manufacturers" to speed the nation's development. Choice of our Company's name was in tune with the times and a tribute to Sir John — its first President.

Government

It was good news to hear the answer given to Mr. R. R. Knight who asked the government if they had considered the implementation of the Massey Commission report in regard to university scholarships. Mr. Fournier on behalf of the government replied as follows: "The government is continuing to study the recommendations on scholarships and other recommendations on art, letters, and sciences, and when decisions are made on these aspects of the report, they will be announced by the government in the same manner as were the previous implementations of recommendations, such as those of the national gallery, the national library and financial aid to universities."

From that answer it would appear fairly sure that the government intends to do something

HAS GOOD ATTENDANCE

Nine tables were in play at the Legion LA cribbage party on Tuesday evening, Feb. 10 in the Legion Hall, with competition keen and everyone present enjoying the evening.

Mrs. Lydia Johnston won the highest score for the ladies, and Mrs. Annie Johnson was awarded the consolation prize.

Among the men, Mr. C. D. Haddrell was top scorer, and Mr. L. Mountford was low.

Refreshments concluded the friendly get-together, which is another in the annual winter series of cribbage games.

about providing either bursaries or scholarships for some of our splendid youth who need financial assistance to attend university.

The question of the South Saskatchewan dam still engages the attention of the house and came in for an official discussion for two or three days this week. The discussion became very heated; charges and counter-charges were made. It appears from statements made that Mr. Gardiner for the last ten years or so has been holding the promise of a development of this irrigation project before the voters of Saskatchewan, which Dr. Diefenbaker claimed was done for political purposes. Mr. Gardiner on the other hand says that it was not so; that it took that length of time to get the plans, and ground surveyed and the report completed. Unfortunately the first figure given for the approximate cost of this scheme was around $60 or $70 million, but owing to higher costs and the larger area to be developed it now has reached the staggering sum of $250 million which some suggest is a minimum figure only. Owing to this higher cost the government is reluctant to launch out on such a scheme as it would bring the per-acre charge for water far too high for economical production of the type of crops that could be grown in central Saskatchewan. On the other hand members from that province claim that it can be done on the recommendations of the P.F.R.A. who had a much lower figure for a similar project, which included power and light products as well. The Conservatives moved an amendment and the CCF a sub-amendment to the effect that the dam be proceeded with.

On the other hand the opposition members claim that this is done to force the government to carry out at least this one of their election promises. Both sides are still heatedly debating the issue on the floor of the house and no doubt it will have far reaching effects on the political fortunes of the various members from that province at the next federal elections. Members representing the sugar beet areas of Ontario have taken an opportunity in the house to place their case before parliament. Their main contention is that the competition offered Canadian sugar from Cuba and other parts of the world has brought ruin to a once prosperous industry. The house as a whole is sympathetic to the protests but it is very doubtful if anything will be done to subsidize or protect the industry as it would mean a higher price to the consumer.

Fire Can Destroy Important Papers In Minute Or Two

Safety-Deposit Box Protection Costs Less than Dime a Week. Each year in this country thousands of valuable documents go up in smoke. Some of these cannot be replaced at any cost, while it is troublesome and expensive to replace others. It is only sound sense that such papers as securities, policies, property deeds and birth certificates, be stored in a safe place.

A Bank of Montreal safety deposit box offers a first-rate way to guard yourself against the loss of valuable possessions. You get "round-the-clock" protection from the twin dangers of fire and burglary, for less than ten cents a week. And documents in a B of M safety deposit box are not likely to be mislaid, either.

Drop into the West Summerland branch of the Bank of Montreal today. Mr. Guernsey, the Accountant, will gladly show you his safety deposit boxes and vault. You'll feel pleasantly relieved once your valuables are in the care of Canada's first bank! advt.

Summerland Wins 11-2...

Richardson, Taylor Each Register Four Goals Against Contractors

With left-winger Johnny Croft out of the game with a broken ankle sustained during pre-game warm-up, Summerland still showed the way to Penticton Contractors last Sunday afternoon and repeatedly bulged the twine to rack up an 11-2 victory.

Richardson and Taylor shared scoring honors, each netting four tallies, while Richardson figured for assists in two more.

Contractors scored their two markers in the first period and were unable to register again during the balance of the game.

Croft suffered his injury just before the game started when his skate caught in the boards and tripped him, at the same time, twisting his ankle.

The penalty box had three occupants during the game. Campbell went off for tripping in the first period, Evans in the third for holding and Taylor in the third for boarding.

Scoring spree started when the game was only a minute and a half old, Campbell taking a set-up from Eyres and Kato to register the first. Contractor's Cadden on a pass from Weeks evened things up but Summerland took the lead with two goals by Richardson, the first unassisted and the second with a pass from Steininger. Weeks came in again for the Contractor's just before the period ended.

From then on, the game was all Summerland's with Eyres on a combination from Roberge and Kato starting off second period scoring right from the face-off.

Three more were tallied in the second frame, two by Taylor who received an assist from Mann for the first and from Steininger and Richardson for the second. Richardson teamed with Steininger for the fourth marker of the period.

Dorothy McLeod Shares Doubles

In the ladies' and men's doubles American handicap, badminton tournament held at Kelowna on Sat., Feb. 14-15, Miss Dorothy McLeod was the only entry from Summerland and with Miss Joan Van Ackeren of Okanagan Centre won top honors in the ladies' section.

Last year the men's doubles were won by George Fudge of Summerland teamed with Ted Cardinal of Penticton.

Mr. Fudge did not enter this time, and the winning pair were Howie de Beck and Peter Wright of Kamloops.

Win 43-41...

Local Cagers Edge Kelowna Squad In Exhibition Game Here Thursday

Hard-working cagers last Thursday night gave Summerland fans a full-size serving of basketball as the local seniors edged out the Kelowna Senior B entry, 43-41 in an exhibition match.

Summerland took the lead almost from the beginning and managed to hold it throughout the game although they were pressed by the visitors constantly.

Top point-getter for the night was Weines of the visitors who garnered 18 points for his side. For Summerland, top scorer was Day who accounted for a personal total of 13.

Don Cristante suffered an injury to his back and it is considered doubtful if he will be able to play the rest of the season.

Hard playing highlighted the game and four black marks were chalked against Cristante of Summerland while Weines had three against him.

Line-up:

Kelowna: Geo 13; Hayward 2; Butcher 4; Thompson 2; Gillard 2; Sanger 1; Weines 18; Wilson, Huddleston.—41.

Summerland: Cristante 3; Alkin 6; Day 13; Weitzel 2; Kato, Adams, D. Nesbitt 6; L. Nesbitt 8; Johnson 5.—43.

Referee: W. D. Clark. Umpire J. Fisher.

Hoop Playdowns Start Here Tonight

In Senior "B" basketball this week, Penticton ousted Vernon, 93-74 while Kelowna edged Kamloops 46-43.

In the play-off schedule, Summerland Merchants will meet Penticton tonight at the High School in the first game of a total-point series.

Vernon and Kelowna are playing off this week a two-game total-point series for the right to meet Kamloops.

	P	W	L	Pts
Kamloops	7	6	1	12
Penticton	7	5	2	10
Summerland	6	3	3	6
Kelowna	8	2	6	4
Vernon	8	2	6	4

Scores last week were: Kelowna 46, Kamloops 43; Penticton 93, Vernon 74.

Skiing Enjoyed by Many Local Fans

Skiing was enjoyed by about 80 people at the Summerland Ski hill on Sunday, and if weather remains the same as at present the ski hill will be in fine shape and skiing will be in vogue every Sunday.

Taylor went in alone for the first counter of the final period and then Campbell with an assist from Mann tallied next. Richardson and Campbell teamed for one and scoring ended with a goal registered by Taylor on a combination from Steininger and Richardson.

1st Period: 1. Summerland, Campbell (Eyres, Kato) 1:36; 2. Contractors, Cadden (Weeks) 5:14; 3. Summerland, Richardson 16:28; 4. Summerland Richardson (Steininger) 17:59; 5. Contractors, Weeks 19:19.

Penalties: Campbell. 2nd Period: 6. Summerland, Eyres (Roberge, Kato) 34 seconds; 7. Summerland, Taylor (Mann) 6:41; 8. Summerland, Taylor (Steininger, Richardson) 11:54; 9. Summerland, Richardson (Steininger) 12:26.

3rd Period: 10. Summerland, Taylor 5:53; 11. Summerland, Campbell (Mann) 9:07; 12. Summerland, Richardson (Campbell) 12:28; 13. Summerland, Taylor (Steininger, Richardson) 13:36.

Penalties: Evans, Taylor.

Bowling League Plans Wind-Up

With enthusiasm high and plenty of ideas for discussion, the kingpin bowling league meeting for election of officers for 1953-54 was held on Thursday evening, Feb. 12 in the Nu-Way Annex.

Dave Stevenson is the new president, with Jack Dunham, secretary, and Roy Desilets, treasurer. Retiring officers are Bert Bryden, last season's president, Mrs. A. McIntosh, secretary, and Jack Dunham entertainment were talked over, as treasurer.

Defaults, prizes, and the annual and it was decided that quite a number of new prizes would be given this year, with the executive already making arrangements for their purchase.

The wind-up party will take the form of a dance or cabaret after league play-offs are completed, and a committee headed by N. O. Solly was set up to plan for the party.

Prizes will probably be on display in the bowling alley before the end of league play.

Unit Expresses Need For Health Laboratory Here

At the annual meeting of the South Okanagan Health Unit held in the unit's new building at Kelowna on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 11, Summerland was represented by Councillor H. R. J. Richards.

It was noted that the annual report for 1952 shows that the South Okanagan covers an area of 4896 square miles with a population of about 50,000. In this area the school population is 10,126.

Future needs listed included improved and enlarged accommodation to increase the efficiency of public health work, particularly in Penticton and Oliver.

Increased staff would also permit a more complete program of work. The sanitarians have large populations and very large territories to cover, and an additional sanitarian would allow much more complete coverage. The government has stated that at present no extra sanitarian may be authorized, and also there are none available.

Extension of the preventive dental service to cover the whole unit is urgently requested by the people and the school boards of the unit.

Improved water and sewerage systems are required in Princeton and in some of the smaller centres of the unit.

The establishment of a branch public health laboratory for the examination of water, milk, blood, sputum and other specimens without the delay involved in sending all samples to Vancouver was expressed as an urgent need.

In a district where so many elderly persons come to retire, provision of accommodation for the aged and chronically ill is urgently needed. These people constitute a heavy load on the expensive facilities of our hospitals and could be much more economically cared for in a suitable home, it was pointed out.

HAROLD, a two-headed water turtle found by a fisherman near Morgan City, La., is compared here in size to a silver dollar. Harold's life is one of confusion because each of his heads controls two of his legs. When one head wants to snooze, the other might want a choice morsel of food. The result—Harold crawls around in a circle. Dr. William O. Sadler, biologist at Mississippi College, said each head has independent action and controls one side of the

Summerland Rink Reaches Finals In Provincial Championship Play

With only one year of artificial ice to give them regular practice, Summerland's Topping rink Sunday afternoon came within an ace of being B.C.'s entry in the Macdonald Brier Bonspiel for the Canadian curling title. They were edged out in the finals of the British Consul event by the Stone rink of Trail by only one rock. The Stone quartet took the provincial playdowns for their third time.

On the Summerland rink were Dick Topping, Bill Croft, Bill Hopkins and Herb Lemke. As second place winners they received inscribed silver Chippendale fruit bowls and as fourth prize winners in the "D" event they received musical steins.

During the play which led up to the B.C. event, the locals played 42 games and lost only two. In the feature event, they were matched seven times and suffered only two losses.

In the British Consul event, they went into the finals to meet the Trail representatives with neither side having suffered a loss. Trail won 11-8.

The finals being a double knock-out match, they had a second chance at Trail when they defeated Green of Vernon, 6-4.

The final game was probably the closest match of any seen during the bonspiel and excitement ran high as the two were tied up coming home. With his final rock Skip Stone drew to the four-foot ring to claim the game and provincial title.

By Gord Crockett

One thing that will never cease to amaze me is the transformation that comes over some people when they fall into an auction sale. At all other times they can be perfectly normal individuals, equipped with average ability to assess values and with a clear mind on what they like and want to purchase.

But just let them come up against an auction and a new light comes into their eyes as they madly try to outbid each other for a moustache cup sans handle or a gross of buggy whips.

This is a subject I am well qualified to discuss because I happen to be an ex-auction-addict myself and I know this is one vice that grips like a vise. (Editor's Note: Please Gord, puns can be a vice, too. You don't have to try all of them.)

My favorite pastime at auctions was to study the eager faces that ringed the auctioneer then get into the thick of the bidding and drop out just before the selling price was reached. This is a game that required a deep understanding of human psychology as well as a delicate sense of timing.

Any one who engages in this practice soon finds he is facing a challenge everytime. He enters the bidding to see how close he can come to the selling price without actually getting burnt. The home-run of this game of course, is to make the next-to-the last bid. A person can certainly collect an unusual assortment of possessions as consolation prizes to remind him of the ones that didn't get away.

But as I say, once started, it takes an awful grip. There is no thrill of excitement to approach that experienced by the fun bidder who plunges in after the auctioneer has started to intone the "going" ritual and the sweet delight of breathless heart-thumping waiting to see if some poor misguided fool is going to step in and claim this eyecore for his own.

The turning point for me came after I went slinking home through dark alleys one night clutching under my coat an epergne with two of the danglers missing. The true sportsman, incidently, always takes home his losses and acknowledges his shame. Only a craven coward will discard them in a trash barrel enroute.

That epergne with its two missing danglers, like a moron with two front teeth missing, mocked me from its perch on the mantle everytime I went in the house. Finally our cat, who ever after occupied a special place in my affections, knocked it over and out it went in the trash barrel—a fate that should have befallen it many years earlier.

It had, however, served a useful purpose. It has never ceased to haunt me and for a number of years now I have had no difficulty in overcoming any slight urge to attend an auction sale. I may have occasionally felt.

In fact I probably would never have found myself at one again had not my wife a couple of weeks ago announced she had never been to an auction and would like to attend one. Knowing my old reactions were now well submerged, I readily agreed, thinking she would no doubt enjoy it.

I am happy to report that I felt none of the old urge and stood amusedly watching proceedings while the auctioneer harried the crowd for bids on a beat-up old lamp.

As the price kept climbing, I suddenly realized that the price took a jump everytime he looked in my direction. I turned to speak to my wife but she was with me only in the flesh. Her spirit was in a different world.

She was in a world surrounded by famed collectors of objects d'art with an auctioneer clad in striped trousers and cutaway offering a treasure from the Ming dynasty for bids registered by a subtle movement of a program of a flick of an eyelid.

Our auctioneer was no fool. This was a common form of trance to him and he knew that every time she tugged her ear it was as good as money in the cash register.

Well that's where we stand now. Just when I manage to get myself cured, I find another addict in our little family circle. So far it's not too serious. I managed to get her away after she had acquired only a lamp and table. The latter was quite a good deal and after repairs and refinishing shouldn't run us into very much more than the cost of a new one—as long as I do the work and we don't place any value on my time. I still think the lamp started life as a whiskey bottle.

Trouble is that I don't know of any cure except to let it run its course until some day she finds herself trudging home clutching an epergne with two danglers missing. That'll cure her.

Guides Sponsor Tea For Flood Relief

To raise money for the flood victims at Ipswich, England, the Girl Guides held a parcel post tea on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 14, in Butler and Walden's store.

Parcels were generously donated by the girls, their mothers, members of the local association to the Girl Guides, and friends, and approximately $25 was realized from the sale.

The Guides are having a penny drive in their patrol corners, and expect to have about $5. from this to, add to the sale money.

This total of an expected $30 is to be sent directly to Guide headquarters in Ipswich, which was the former home of two of the Guides, Mrs. Bruce Blagborne and her sister, Mrs. Skeppings, who now make their home in Summerland.

Be a Good Scout

IN the next few days, members of the local Scout committee will be out on their annual appeal on behalf of the Scout movement in this community.

This is an appeal which should be very close to the hearts of just about everyone. There are few men who have not been helped in their efforts to attain success by lessons learned during their youth as a member of a Scout troop. Many memories of boyhood are enriched by that association.

Also there are few families who have not profited by having a son or daughter associated with Scouts or Guides.

To this movement we all owe a great debt of gratitude for in it growing generations are learning the lessons of good citizenship and unselfish living.

Scout leaders are doing a magnificent job in the guidance they are giving junior citizens and it is only fair they should receive the full support from the members of the community who profit from the work these leaders are doing. It would be unfair, indeed, if their efforts were hampered by a lack of funds necessary to carry on their work to the fullest extent.

A contribution to the Scouts should not be regarded as a donation but rather an investment—an investment in the future of this community; an investment which will earn satisfying dividends as each year new graduates from the ranks of Scouts step up, qualified to take their place as full-fledged members of the community.

Be a Good Scout—Support the Boy Scouts.

Happy Birthday

THIS week, Rotary Clubs in 7,600 cities and towns in 84 countries of the world will celebrate the 48th anniversary of the founding of what has grown into a world-wide fellowship.

Those 7,600 communities in which this birthday is celebrated have been greatly enriched by having in their midst a branch of this organization—founded on the principle of service to fellow men.

Rotary activities throughout the world are based on the same general objects—the development of fellowship among business and professional men, the betterment of communities, leading boys and girls into good citizenship, the promotion of high standards in business and professions, and the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace.

The one basic objective of Rotary is its "Ideal of Service"—which is to be thoughtful of and helpful to others. To attain this objective, Rotary seeks all that brings people together and avoids all which separates them. That is the reason why Rotary has become a world-wide institution, whose ideals have been accepted by men of practically all nationalities and political and religious beliefs.

We are happy to be able to offer congratulations to Summerland Rotary Club on this anniversary. We are happy because we are selfish for our community and, because there is a Rotary Club here, our community is just that much better a place to live. And because we are selfish, we hope the Summerland Rotary Club will have many more years of success and harmony.

Well-Earned Retirement

TO few men is granted the privilege of spending 50 years in public service. That Percy Thornber should be one of that small number has meant that Summerland for the past half-century has received a heaping measure of service in its electrical department.

Service of the municipal electrician dates back to even before Summerland became incorporated and during five decades the name Thornber became synonymous with Summerland power supply.

With his retirement this month, Percy leaves behind him a job from which he has obtained a wealth of satisfaction for he has served this electrical system since the days when water piped to Lower Town from a dam near the Anglican Church drove a small Pelton wheel to supply power for a few hours during the evening.

From that early system, Percy has plotted the various stages of extension and development to build it to its present size. And the Summerland power system will always stand as a monument to the work of Percy Thornber because it is regarded by men in the electrical field as one of the finest electrical distribution systems in the province.

Had this community never received any more from Percy than the labor for which he was paid, it would have had occasion to long remember the service of a faithful employee, but he has given something far more for a share of his personality is woven into the fabric of Summerland lore. His irreplaceable wit has become almost a legend in the district and he had a knack, rare to practical jokers, of always staying within the bounds of good taste and no one was ever caused any mental or physical hurt by being the object of Percy's wit.

He has justly earned his retirement and we join with the rest of the community in wishing "Long and happy life, good and faithful servant".

Signifying Nothing By RUSTICUS

Now that I'm getting a bit long in the tooth myself, it's hard to be sure whether it was my father or myself who remembers the dim dark days before Edison invented or discovered, or generated—the electric light.

But I've always been awed by the miracles of electricity. Many people readily understand it. As a youngster I had a pal who took it in his stride and would make crystal radio sets, and coil shocking devices for the fun of it. He loved to make people start with the latter, but his favorite trick was to put two ends of the shocking machine into a cup of water, which would multiply the shock, then put a cat's paws in it and turn the handle. Talk about jumping cats! It seemed very funny at the time, but since hearing that same friend was married and had children, I've often wondered...

To me the wiring of a house, car, or radio has remained a mystery. As for what goes on in the wires—well, when the fans start talking familiarly of Meg Ohm and Milli Henry and their various other friends, they're all Greeks to me.

The peak of my bewilderment came the other day when somebody showed me a tape recorder and tried to explain how simple it was. No dice. I could talk into the mike and then he'd shove a switch and the thing would send my voice right back to me, but how it did it I'll never know. I was told that electricity held my voice to the tape by some kind of magnetism, but it must have held it too tight, for my voice seemed squeezed very high and shrill when it came out.

Fair frightened me, it did. If people can catch your voice with a machine and fasten it to a piece of tape that easily, to play it back whenever they wish, a fellow is hardly safe to talk any more. Of course, tape recorders are too costly to be common toys now, but if their price goes down and our scale of living keeps on going up, soon they'll be as common as record-players, and who knows what casual unmeant remark may be caught and served up cold later as cause for rage or laughter?

Maybe voices for humans will go out of fashion altogether. Not only will people be scared to talk much, but there'll be no need to.

With these confounded tape machines, a fellow in New York has found that if he fastens a series of pins or nails or paper clips to the tape and magnetizes them, they'll produce the same sounds as a musical instrument or human voice. He's producing a symphony with paper clips and electricity right now. Who knows how soon orchestras, man-made music, man-made and woman-made sounds of all kinds will be obsolete?

Used to be that we had to talk to communicate thought to each other. But it has recently been discovered that the brain gives out tiny electric currents when it thinks. Sure as shooting, somebody will invent a way to transfer the electricity of thought to tape and amplify them electrically into sound. Or, alternatively, show them on a sort of television screen since electric waves can apparently be turned into sight as easily as into sound.

Just last week I saw a picture of a big executive having his thought televised onto a screen. And instead of the important business deal which his companions hopefully awaited, the thought-screen showed a luscious and scantily-clad blonde.

True, it was only a cartoon—and probably in True, at that.

But hadn't we better outlaw this stuff electricity before it is too late?

ADVERTISING IS VALUE

This newspaper carries a lot of advertising. Newspaper advertising is accepted everywhere as the best, fastest and cheapest way to sell things in vast quantities. Advertisers don't need to be told this. They have proven it many times.

But how does the buyer, the consumer, feel about advertising? Does he feel it is a needless expense, an expense that is added to the cost of the things he buys?

Because the part advertising plays in our economy is sometimes completely overlooked it is a good thing to recapitulate the great contribution advertising is making to modern living.

Most of us are familiar with the old argument that by popularizing products, advertising has made possible their mass manufacture and that this mass production has lowered prices.

This overlooks, however, the greater contribution advertising makes. Advertising makes possible better values, gives you more for your money year after year. This is a continuing process, not a static one.

Such a generalized statement demands explanation. How does advertising give us greater value for our money, and continue to give greater value?

Well, in the first place, advertising creates competition for buyers. If there was no advertising there would be little competition for buyers and there would not be the same demand for improved products to meet the pace of competition.

By creating competition for buyers, advertising demands that the buyers be offered value, as much or more value than offered by similar products. This demand for value stimulates each department of a corporation to strive for new and improved types, improved quality, better styling, more attractive packaging, greater guarantees of wear or simpler construction.

Advertising thus becomes the great incentive and accelerator to the creation of better values for the buyer.

And when low price is an important element of better value, and when low cost depends upon large-scale productions, advertising is the sure way of helping to provide the large number of customers needed to warrant that volume of production.

And by providing the buyer with countless explanations of the various products offered him, advertising creates in the customer an appreciation and understanding of what constitutes value. He can compare the various products; he wants to buy. He has a chance to weigh his choice and decide what is the best value.

In Vancouver, and British Columbia, advertising has grown and developed into a skilled science. Advertising agencies, specializing in practically every selling activity, have grown by leaps and bounds, giving employment to hundreds and aiding in the development of business and industry.

Advertising has helped to build Vancouver and B.C. and is consolidating the economic gains we have made in the past few years.

Advertising is not an expense. It is part of the product it sells. And because it promotes and encourages value in every product it is sometimes the most valuable part.—Vancouver Province.

Former U.S. Presidents Objects Of Attacks by Social Creditors

By O. L. JONES, M.P. for YALE

During the week we have been listening with amazement to the views held by Mr. Solon Low, and Mr. Hansell of the Social Credit Party, regarding the United Nations. These views have been attacked by several members, in particular, Mr. Jutras of Provencher, Mr. Byrne of Kootenay East, Mr. Cruickshank of Fraser Valley and several others. Apparently the Social Creditors regard the United Nations as a Socialist and Communist organization and think that it has the approval of internationalists; "most of whom", Mr. Hansell said, "are socialist and it was conceived and brought in to existence by those who visualized a world government and whose desire in the process was to bury national sovereignty." Mr. Hansell went on to charge that the Roosevelt and Truman administrations had sold the very principles of United Nations 'down the river'.

According to Hansard, Mr. Low had this to say about the same two leaders, we quote: "When the full history of these times is written and all the facts have been brought to light there will be many people who will say that the past two presidents of the United States have been the great betrayers of humanity." To my mind, this is an extraordinary statement to make, as it referred to the meeting that took place at Yalta, in which Mr. Churchill took part.

Mr. Low said the two presidents had indicated a more serious lack of foresight and judgement and possibly they had listened too much to unadvised men like Alger Hiss. But, he went on "they will not, on that account be able to escape the judgment of history." Such statements as I have quoted are extraordinary, in view of the fact of the nearness of this country to the United States and the close affiliation of our information services, which service has kept us in close touch with the actions of two great presidents who I feel, history will record, as having been great friends of Canada and the British Empire: men of vision tackling a difficult job at a very critical period in human history. Fortunately, such personal attacks are very rare in the House of Commons. Mr. Pearson, speaking later, had this to say, "one subject came up in the debate, which I think was unfortunate. I refer to the statement made by the honorable member for Macleod. So far as the reputations of President Roosevelt and President Truman are concerned, I think we can leave that to history and when all the facts are known and judgment is written, I feel quite certain that the verdict will not be, that they should be considered as the betrayers of humanity. President Roosevelt was one of the great defenders of humanity. When history is written, it will be so proved." Referring to several inaccuracies in Mr. Hansell's statement, Mr. Pearson said "I hope that at an appropriate opportunity the honorable member for Macleod will admit that some of those statements are demonstrably inaccurate."

The prime minister informed the house that he has been trying since last fall, to find some method whereby scholarships could be given worthy students but so far, has not been able to appoint a suitable committee. The present government has indicated its desire to help students, as well as universities to overcome their financial difficulties, but unfortunately the Province of Quebec has now declared that it will have nothing to do with university assistance. At the back of all this is the feeling

1st Summerland Troop

Nineteen boys turned out this week. Pleased to see so many boys in full uniform. The smart appearance of the troop as a whole depends on each boy doing his part.

Plans for next week-end are as follows—Be at the Youth Centre at 9 a.m. Sunday, March 1. Each boy bring enough food for one meal. If wanting to pass second class cooking, be sure to have 1/2 lb. of hamburger and two potatoes and cooking utensils. Any other badges to be passed, please come equipped. Bring axes or pruning saws to cut poles for the model bridge. Wear warm clothing and rubbers. The plan is to leave for home at 4 p.m. arriving shortly after five.

The pictures of the troop taken at church parade may be had for 10¢—order them from your Scoutmaster.

Patrol scores are: Eagles 81, Buffaloes 93, Hawks 76. Every new badge means 10 more points to your progress in scouting at the banquet.

Duty patrol—Tues. March 3—Hawks—D. M. M.

Cub Calls

1st Summerland Pack

Twenty-one boys turned out for our February ramble last Saturday, everyone had a wonderful time. On Sunday we had twenty-five boys and four leaders out to church parade which we held at the Baptist church. We were warmly welcomed by Rev. Knight and thoroughly enjoyed Miss M. Black's address to us. Our many thanks to you both.

With not having a meeting last Monday we have to work a bit harder this next week to catch up boys.

All boys that have their artist, toy-makers and homecraft badges ready bring them in next week as it is your only chance before the banquet to pass them, so don't forget.

Next meeting, Monday, March 2 at 6:30 p.m. sharp. Duty Six—Green Six—Alcala.

RECIPE HINTS

Give them this Molasses Apple Pie for dessert. It has a novel flavor, and with a little molasses poured over the top, it tastes even better!

MOLASSES APPLE PIE

Pastry for 2-crust, 9-inch pie
5 cups of sliced, tart cooking apples, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt and nutmeg, 1/4 cup all-purpose flour, 1/4 cup cooking molasses, 3 tbsps. butter, 6 tbsps. cooking molasses.
Put apples in 9-inch pie plate lined with unbaked pastry. Mix sugar, salt, nutmeg and flour and sprinkle over apples. Dribble apples with the 1/4 cup of molasses, dot with butter and cover with remaining pastry rolled 1/8 inch thick. Seal, flute edge, cut gash in top crust and bake 40 minutes or until brown in a pre-heated 425 degrees F. oven for 40 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serve warm with about a tablespoon of molasses poured over the top.

Guide News

The meeting got under way as usual with inspection and roll call. A short period in patrol corners followed during which exhibits of Prince Edward Island were set up. At 7:30, Mr. Ross McLaughlin arrived to examine four senior Guides for their postal badge. At the same time Mrs. R. White instructed several other Guides in the theoretical part of the child nurse badge while the rest of the company were busy with tenderfoot second-class and first-class work.

Two of the senior patrol were busy with their rug which is progressing very well. Before campfire the pennies brought by each patrol for the flood relief were collected and we were all very pleasantly surprised to find we had a total of $13.16. Well done, Guides! This with the $24.15 realized at the parcel post sale brings the total up to $37.31. We'll make the total up to $40.00 next week and this sum will be sent to the Ipswich Guide Commissioner to be used wherever it is most needed.

Four members of the senior patrol visited Mountain View home with Mrs. B. Blagborne Saturday February 14. The girls enjoyed the visit very much and four more are looking forward to visiting patients at the hospital this Saturday. These visits are part of our Community Good Deed for the Coronation emblem and also part of the senior patrol's project to "carry their Guide promise out into the wider world".

Over 40 Guides turned out for church parade to the United Church on Sunday. This week is Guide-Scout Thinking Week, commemorating the joint birthdays of the Chief Scout and Guide, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, February 22. It is a week when Guides consider especially the international aspect of Guiding. We remember the words of Lord Baden-Powell: "Look wide!—and when you think you are looking wide—look wider still!" A suitable Thinking Day ceremony will be the highlight of our next meeting.

Tentative plans for a district camp were discussed at a District Guider's meeting this week. As camping is one of the requisites for the first class badge, Guides are asked to please make a special effort to attend camp this year.

The whole Guide movement revolves around camping and woodcraft or 10 days "roughing it" under canvas with Guides from her own and other nearby companies. It is at camp that she is able to put to practical use all the knowledge she has gathered through the winter months at meetings. Parents are especially asked to encourage their girls to attend Guide camp this summer.

Patrol points: Orchid 187, Clover 172, Lily of the Valley 163, Buttercup 166, Forget-me-not 165, Hepatica 163, Pimpernel 160, Pansy 158.

E. E. Bates at Coast For Red Cross Meet

E. E. Bates left on Monday evening's train for Vancouver where he will attend the annual provincial council meeting of the Canadian Red Cross Society Feb. 24-25 as the delegate from Summerland branch. E. Britton is substituting as agriculture teacher during Mr. Bates' absence.

Islands of Romance

Relates Delightful Experiences Of Tour Among Hawaiian Islands

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Milne returned on Friday, Feb. 20, from a three weeks' holiday in the Hawaiian Islands. Mrs. Milne has written an informative account of the delights of climate, beauty, and color found there, underscored by the continuing presence of volcanic activity, as well as something of the industry and economy of this famous Pacific group.

Flying over 2,100 miles of ocean and clouds from Vancouver to the Territory of Hawaii in one night seemed a feat difficult for us to realize. After landing in brilliant sunshine we were thrilled to receive an orchid lei, a garland of flowers which was put around our necks. Not once during the day or evening in three weeks did we need a sweater or coat! Temperature was around 78° in the day time and about 70 during the night with no uncomfortable humidity. The average yearly temperature is 74 degrees with increased humidity in the summer. Although this is the rainy season and a 15-minute shower of "liquid sunshine" is expected each day there was none during our stay.

It was a pleasant surprise to meet McGills from Victoria at church the first Sunday and we had many happy outings together. Mrs. McGill was formerly Miss Gertrude Eisey of Summerland.

Honolulu is a city with many industrial and commercial enterprises. Close to the docks and near the heart of the city is the largest fruit cannery in the world, the Dole Pineapple Company. Here we drank from a fountain of cold pineapple juice and toured the plant guided by an attractive Hawaiian girl, a graduate of the University of Hawaii. We marvelled at the efficient manner in which every part of the pineapple is used.

Drives through the residential area showed beautiful homes and estates, many built far up on the hillsides looking down on the harbor. Gardens had scarlet double poinsettias, colorful hibiscus and orchid hedges with the plants wired to fern stumps set on the ground, brilliant bougainvillea climbing over porches and roofs, and sweet smelling plumerias.

There were widespread banyan trees with many tree trunks formed by vines or roots growing from the branches to the ground and becoming solid trunks; the famous monkey pod trees, dark green with thick shade from which ornamental and expensive wooden articles are made; the African tulip tree with its crown of orange flowers, and the yellow shower tree like solid sunshine. The large kapok tree was interesting to see and the fruits of the papaya, guava, mangoes, breadfruit, avocados, and coconut palms.

We were surprised to learn few citrus fruits are grown.

The bananas are small, but so good, and especially when picked ripe from the tree. The large purple flower is often hidden in the broad leaves.

There are many varieties of palm but not the date palm. Good coconut palms will produce a fruit a day and shed their own dead fronds where other varieties have to be trimmed.

Potatoes are imported from the main land of California so one learns to expect rice as a substitute.

Cotton garments are manufactured in Honolulu and so is ice cream, and soft drinks and many other items.

There is a happy mingling of all colors and races and friendly wide smiles. English is spoken by everyone but the soft musical Hawaiian tongue is occasionally heard. Colorful aloha shirts on the men and summer cotton dresses on the ladies look comfortable. Anyone wearing a hat is known immediately as a "Malahini", a new comer. One of the versatile words is "puka" a hole—whether meaning a volcanic crater, on a golf course, or in your clothes.

Interesting was the drive over the high pass to the other side of the island of Oahu. We looked down 200 feet from the Pali to the neat farms below. This is the cliff where many years ago 1000 men jumped in a suicide pact rather than be taken by the army of King Kamehameha.

Smoke was thick from the burning sugar cane fields as this was harvest time and they are burned over before harvesting.

The only railroad now on the island brings cars of sugar cane from the field to the factory where we watched the process of the unrefined sugar being extracted. This is used by many of the island people. The bulk of it is shipped in 100 lb. sacks to the mainland of California over 2,000 miles away to be refined and then brought all the way back. The white sugar is sold at 16¢ lb. in Honolulu.

The 90-mile drive around this island past beaches and plantations and villages was varied. Many of the workers were from the island of Samoa where the men are known for their skill in knife throwing.

Waikiki Beach is a stretch of glistening clean sand without shells or seaweed. At one end of it is guarded by famous Diamond Head jutting out into the ocean. The outrigger canoes plunge through

Too long under a bushel

Here's a man who does a great deal to benefit his fellow-citizens. Yet for a long time he's been 'hiding his light under a bushel'.

Anyone looking up Main Street, for instance, might never guess that he had a hand in establishing some of its fine new stores, hotels, office or apartment buildings. But he has.

Nor would many people realize that they may have him to thank in part for their homes. Or for the pure water that flows from the faucets. Or the electricity that serves them so many ways at the flick of a switch.

Every week workers take home pay from industries that this man helped to develop. But they're unaware of his connection with their jobs.

He even has an influence on his fellow-citizens' health and the length of their lives!

Who is he?

He's the typical life insurance policyholder—a man who might be any one of millions of Canadians. And it is through investments of his premium money that he helps create public works, homes and industries in their communities. Life insurance money is also contributed to medical research projects seeking to banish deadly diseases.

So, if you own life insurance, get out from under that bushel—and take a bow!

Edmonton Nuptials Of Interest Here

A wedding of interest here, where the bride formerly made her home, took place on Wednesday, Feb. 4, at the manse of the Church of God, Edmonton, when in a candle-light ceremony Ida May Wing was united in marriage with Rueben Rosewell Jenkins, Rev. Chugg officiating.

For the occasion the bride chose a two-piece pale blue ensemble with pink accessories. Her corsage was of red roses, and her only jewellery was a triple strand of pearls.

Mrs. O. Waldie, who attended the bride was in a grey silk afternoon gown complemented with red accessories, and her corsage was of pink roses.

O. Waldie was best man. Later a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Dore, who received in an afternoon frock of pale blue.

Flowers and candles decorated the bride's table which was laid with ecru lace and centered by a triple-tiered cake.

For going away the bride donned a beige gabardine suit with rose accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins will reside in Ponoka.

VISITING ABROAD

Miss Joyce Smith is spending a holiday in Portland.

Increased Attendance Recorded At Women's World Day of Prayer

With a greater number attending than ever before, the Women's World Day of Prayer was observed in St. Andrew's United church on Friday afternoon, Feb. 20, at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Rex Chapman headed the organizing committee and Mrs. J. A. Dunsdon was leader of the fine service.

Films Portray Work Of Missionary Group

A beautiful and interesting film showing the work of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada was shown in the parish hall on Tuesday evening to a group who saw it with pleasure.

Mrs. N. O. Solly projected the picture which was called "The Power Within".

Mrs. Solly showed as well a film comprising shots taken on three motor trips to Alaska, giving an excellent commentary regarding them as the scenes were unrolled.

Women's Federation Ships Korean Parcel

Mrs. A. McLachlan led the devotional period when St. Andrew's Women's Federation held its meeting on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 19, in St. Andrew's hall.

An interesting summary of how the World Day of Prayer is conducted in Africa with excerpts from the study book on that continent was given by Mrs. Myrtle Scott.

A pleasing duet was sung by Mrs. A. C. Fleming and Mrs. H. B. Mair, and the president, Mrs. Rex Chapman, was in the chair.

The business meeting heard reports from the acting supply secretary, Mrs. A. McLachlan, who said that a parcel had been sent to Korea, and asked that further donations be left with Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon.

Mrs. W. Jenkinson reported calls on members who have been ill, and Mrs. J. Clark distributed the mite boxes.

Committees were appointed for the various stalls for the Easter sale.

A group of young people from the Naramata Leadership Training School will be in charge of the devotional part of the next meeting, since March is the month of the annual Thankoffering meeting.

Tea was served by Mrs. R. Angus, Mrs. P. Austin and Mrs. W. C. Budd.

A baby daughter was born at Summerland General hospital on Saturday, Feb. 21 to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Laidlaw.

Collection at Social Aids European Fund

Members of the Lakeside W.A. their husbands, and a few neighbors held a social evening Saturday, Feb. 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Anderson with a collection taken in aid of the European Flood Relief Fund.

Receipts were $22.55, and the jolly evening was enjoyed by the 34 who attended.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. C. B. Snow and Mrs. J. Van Gameron, who acted as hostesses.

CONVALESCING AT HOME

D. C. White, CPR agent, West Summerland, who underwent an operation at Vancouver is convalescing at his home in Penticton.

Representatives of other churches were Mrs. Blake Milne, Baptist; Mrs. J. Raincock, Lakeside United; Mrs. W. F. Evans, St. Stephen's Anglican; Mrs. G. Schnell, Free Methodist; Mrs. J. J. Embree, Pentecostal; Mrs. E. Deringer, Trout Creek Church of God.

Mrs. S. A. MacDonald gave a gratifying account of the zenana bed work in India, which the women of Summerland have supported for 43 years, reading a personal letter from the hospital where the bed is financed. An interesting overall general report was given by Mrs. MacDonald, as well.

For the afternoon the church was decorated with spring flowers; Mrs. H. Milley's delightful solo added much grace to the afternoon; and particularly lovely was the music played by Mrs. Delmar Dunham while the offering was being received and for the processional and recessional periods.

Collection from the day goes to support the zenana bed.

Leadership Courses For Sunday Schools

A leadership training course for Sunday School teachers entitled, "You Can Teach", under the direction of Miss Mary Block, director of children's and teenage work for the Baptists convention of British Columbia, has been held part of last week and at the beginning of the week at Summerland Baptist church.

The ten hour course has been held with a view to assisting and training teachers of the Sunday schools of Summerland Baptist church and Peachland Baptist church.

There has been an average attendance of eighteen to twenty, when the role of the teacher, with emphasis on personal faith and spiritual growth, the use of aids to teaching, understanding the Bible, understanding the pupil, and the challenge of Christian teaching are some of the topics that have been discussed.

Film strips have been shown each evening emphasizing the "why and how" of teaching and learning.

Last evening, Wednesday, Feb. 25, a service of dedication of the teaching staffs of the two churches to the privileges and responsibilities of Christian service brought the course to a close.

Panel Discussion For P-TA Meeting

Six competent speakers have been obtained to lead a panel discussion on the subject, "Is modern education meeting the needs of our children?" at the next meeting of Summerland P-TA, March 5, in the high school library.

Mrs. F. E. Atkinson, the president will preside, with A. S. Matheson, school inspector for districts 23, Kelowna and 77, Summerland, A. K. Macleod, principal Summerland junior-senior high school, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, substitute teacher, J. E. Britton, substitute teacher, Miss Joan Appleton, PHN, Penticton, and Lashley Haggman, of the staff of the labor office, Penticton, each speaking for five minutes.

Following the speakers the audience will be given an opportunity of asking questions with replies to be given by those who led the panel.

VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pruden of Quesnel visited last weekend at the home of the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pruden.

Cpl. Larry McDonald of the RCAF, who is stationed at Lachine, P.Q. is spending his annual leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Nolan, of Whitehorse, YT, who have been on a trip to California spent last weekend and part of this week visiting at the home of Mrs. Nolan's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Solly.

Miss Mary Block, who has been conducting classes in training teachers for Sunday School and other departments of church work, last week and this week at the Baptist church, has been the guest of Mrs. J. Bernhardt while in Summerland.

TEEN TOWN

There will be a big Parent Social coming off in the Youth Centre on March 7 at 8 o'clock. A door prize will be given and refreshments will be sold. Admission for adults 35c, Teen Agers 25c. Proceeds from this will go to the European Flood Relief. So, parents, if you want to see what a good time your kids have at Teen Town, join them at the dance that night. A good time is in store for everyone.

At Vancouver General hospital on Feb. 11, a son, Stephen Cameron, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jan Cross, 2381 Prince Albert St. Vancouver. Mrs. Cross was the former Miss Patricia Walsh.

Behind the 8-Ball

By Gord Crockett

One of the more interesting aspects of moving to a new locale is the many opportunities afforded one to make speeches. To a single man, this would probably hold little interest but to a man whose last unchallenged opinion was when he said "I do", this offers opportunities he just can't afford to pass up. (Or if you prefer: Up which he cannot afford to pass.)

Some wiseacre once said that, when called upon for a speech, a man can keep his mouth shut and appear to be a fool, or open it and erase all doubt. Now this seems like a sage bit of advice, as most bromides do, but I am inclined to believe the author would have been much better off to have followed the first half of his advice himself.

Personally I think if a man is properly prepared he can do much to raise his stock with his speeches to public gatherings.

That part about being properly prepared is, of course, the key to the whole thing. Because of the nature of my work, I have listened to more than my share of after-dinner speeches and on occasions when my insomnia has kept me awake through these orations, I have carefully analyzed the speaker's remarks and reactions of his audience and I believe I now have the key to making after-dinner speeches.

First thing, every speech should have a title. It is not necessary that this title should bear any relationship to what is to be said as its only purpose is so the person making the introduction will be able to announce what the subject is to be. Otherwise, he will probably ask before hand if he may look over your notes and will wind up by giving out with the choicest items of your speech in the introduction. The listeners will promptly forget the title the introducer gives them and that is the reason it is unnecessary that it be related to the subject of the talk. In fact, it is much better if it is unrelated because often the introducer will use the title to speculate on what is going to be said and if you should run into one of that kind you'll have him right off base with his speculations.

Titles can be (a) completely misleading, e.g. "The Life and Habits of the Tsetse Fly"; (b) ambiguous, e.g. "Between the Covers", or (c) entirely vague, e.g. "Whither!" The type employed is purely a matter of personal taste.

A person should be very careful in their timing in speech-making and the most important thing to watch is not to get jockeyed into a position of having to make speeches right after an election. A good speaker should always promise his audience something and if the politicians get in first they will have promised everything and there will be nothing left for the casual speaker. Just before an election campaign is regarded as the most propitious time for speechmaking. Many an amateur has fallen down by keeping too tight a rein on his promises. My advice, where promises are concerned, is don't be niggardly. Your listeners are the very salt of the earth and no promise is too good for them.

Good promises are not hard to find. One good standard one that can be used anywhere is to offer decent roads. No matter what shape the roads are in, no native will ever acknowledge that they've improved since they were used solely by cows so you can always be sure of this being a first-class promise anywhere.

The approach to promises will also afford an excellent opportunity for name-dropping. The subject can be casually introduced by saying "I was talking to Phil Gagliardi a few days ago and I think I'll have him up to take care of whatever's needed in the way of road work." Even those who wish to keep within certain bounds of truth can use this gambit. It isn't necessary to explain that when you were talking to Mr. Gagliardi he was a hundred-or-so miles away in Victoria and couldn't hear you.

Another important point to be remembered is that every speech should be quoted right to the last digit and not in round figures. This has been a pitfall for many beginners but it should be remembered that the purpose of these figures is only to give a note of authenticity to what is being said and it is not intended they should be remembered. If expressed in full, it is much easier for people to forget them while if quoted in round numbers, they are easily remembered and invariably some hammer-head in the audience will want to dispute them just as soon as he is given a chance to open his trap. Since he will probably be right, there's no reason why things should be made easier for him.

The statistics, incidentally, need bear no relation to anything mentioned in any other part of the discourse and can be brought up in passing as being the result of some interesting research you have been carrying out in your spare time.

The method of using this is to just unexpectedly interject some piece of information such as "The energy used by curlers in pushing stones down the ice in one season would be enough to split 3,427,685 sticks of kindling while the energy expended by wives of curlers in splitting 3,427,685 sticks of kindling would be enough to scrub 3,427,685 square feet of floor space."

It will be noted all numbers used are the same. This is a special service to listeners as they then have only one number to forget instead of several.

These are some of the more important fundamental principles I have followed in carving out a career as a public speaker and as testimony to the success of my method, every group I have ever addressed has been left so completely enlightened they have never found it necessary to call upon me for a repeat performance.

On the strength of my success, I pass them on to others who would seek fame and fortune via the after-dinner route.

Recent Bride Honored Prior To Nuptials

All the pretty gifts were put inside an amusing replica of a CPR station when Mrs. J. Selinger and Mrs. Howard Shannon entertained in honor of Mrs. D. Munro (Miss Louella Polesello) on Tuesday evening, Feb. 6.

The surprise shower party was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. Polesello, and Mrs. W. Milne assisted in planning the games and other entertainment.

Other invited were Mrs. W. W. Borton, Mrs. F. Downes, Mrs. C. E. Hankins, Mrs. E. T. Matchett, Mrs. H. R. Vanderburgh, Mrs. T. Fisher, Mrs. A. J. Bonthoux, Mrs. E. J. Bonthoux, Mrs. Paul Bonthoux, Mrs. Ted Logie, Mrs. Glon Woods, Mrs. P. Pelletier, Mrs. Alphonse Menu, Mrs. John Menu, Mrs. J. Cristante, Mrs. S. Fabbri, Mrs. J. Schaeffer, Mrs. W. Schwab, Mrs. C. E. Pearson, Mrs. Mel Monro, Mrs. Doug Campbell, Mrs. F. Daniels, Miss Melba Sprauge, Miss Eddie Bonthoux, and Miss Marguerite Menu.

Describes Life On Pacific 'Eden'

The story of little-known islands in mid-Pacific was related to Rotarians at their meeting Friday night by Paul Walker of Penticton who while serving with the air force during the war was stationed on the Cocos Islands, about halfway between Ceylon and Australia and about 700 miles from any mainland.

The tiny coral islands, he said, are British possessions, owned by an English family since 1825 and natives are supported by the coconut oil factories operated there. The people, he said, live happily almost without contact with the outside world and are practically wards of the Ross family, the English factory owners. They enjoy, he said, a unique social security program with full employment for all, optional retirement at 60 and medical care and punishment for serious crimes is banishment from the islands for life.

Climate, Mr. Walker described as close to perfect as could be imagined and the natural beauty of the islands leaves a lasting memory with anyone who has ever visited there.

During their brief business session, the Rotarians laid plans for ladies' night to be held this week in conjunction with the 48th anniversary of Rotary International and also discussed plans for the annual Easter ball to be held this year on April 10.

The club decided to sponsor one entry for the soap box derby to be conducted here this year and also voted $25 for European Flood Relief.

Talk on Tuberous Begonias Given

"The Lazy Man's Flower, the beautiful tuberous begonia, that gives the most delight for the least work," was the subject of Dr. R. C. Palmer's address to the Summerland Horticultural Society at the regular meeting, Friday evening, Feb. 20, in the parish hall.

Dr. Palmer said that these exciting plants grow well from seeds or tubers, but do not thrive from cuttings, and tubers do not multiply. He continued to say that they are attacked by few insects or diseases and bloom from June to October.

After the speaker had explained the best way to start, plant, and later, winter store the tubers, he demonstrated how to pot plant several tubers. These were auctioned and obtained by lucky members at the end of the evening.

Dr. Palmer showed some colored slides of gladioli which had been sent from the Edmonton Horticultural Society as an exchange of slides for some E. H. Bennett had

As a protection against the chilling winds, Princess Anne wears a muff. With the return of the Queen the Royal Standard flew over London for the first time this year.

To Drive For Members Community Concerts Association Organized at Penticton Meeting

South Okanagan Community Concerts Association was formed on Wednesday evening, February 18, at an enthusiastic and well-attended meeting of representatives of neighboring communities and local groups at a meeting held in the Prince Charles hotel in Penticton. The object of this association is to bring a series of well-known concert artists to Penticton next winter, and booking will be handled through Columbia Artists.

Mrs. Cyril Woodbridge is the representative on the association.

Officers elected were Dr. John Gibson, president; Mrs. Hugh Cleland and Mrs. John Aikins, vice-presidents; Mrs. A. E. Tidball, secretary; Robert McDougall, treasurer. These officers, all of whom live at Penticton, will form the executive.

Other community representatives are Mrs. Dorothy Fraser, Ossoyos; Mrs. Carl McCall, Okanagan Falls; Mrs. R. King, Kaleden; and Mrs. Grove Clough, Naramata.

Membership fees for the series will be $6 with a limited number of children's memberships selling for $3.

A vigorous ticket-selling campaign of one week's duration will be conducted either in the late spring or early fall.

Any interested person willing to help in Summerland will be welcomed by Mrs. Woodbridge.

sent from Summerland. Mr. Bennett gave a running commentary on the slides as they were projected.

Dr. Palmer showed, as well, a collection of his colored slides depicting beautiful Okanagan scenes and flower gardens. Pictures of begonias at the Summerland Experimental Station "White House" showed how adaptable they are both for window boxes and flower beds, producing a fine display of bright blooms.

The new executive took office, and the president, Clive Atkinson, was in the chair.

Report of the Okanagan Valley Flower Show held at Kelowna last year was read, and a letter from Kelowna Horticultural Society with suggestions for improvements of the prize list classes. A. Watt, R. M. White, N. May, E. H. Bennett and K. McKay were nominated as a committee, of which at least two, with Mr. Watt, are to attend the annual meeting of the Valley Flower Show Society at Kelowna.

The Summerland Flower Show committee, consisting of E. H. Bennett, W. Snow and A. Watt were re-elected by acclamation.

A contribution of $25 was voted towards the European Flood Relief Fund.

Tea was served by Miss Doreen Tait and committee members.

School Hoopsters Win One Lose Two

Local high school hoopsters gave the edge to two visiting Keremeos teams on Saturday, Feb. 14 while the third game was won by junior girls. Losing their matches were the senior boys and senior girls. Score in the boys' game was 46-26; senior girls 19-15 and junior girls 19-8. Senior Boys

In the senior boys game, Keremeos supplied the high scorers—J. Beale with 14 points and D. Schmonk with 12. Towgood racked up eight counters for Summerland.

Line-up

Keremeos—J. Beale 14, D. Schmonk 12, M. Schweikert 2, T. McLaren 4, J. McLaren 6, H. Forner F. Glada, H. Beale, S. Jones 3, B. Piercy 3, L. Lowe, 2—46.

Summerland—Draper 4, Towgood 8, Cornish 4, V. Higgs, Klix, Harbicht, Laver 4, Pohlmann 1, Gilbert 2, B. Higgs 2, Youngusband, Austin, Lawley—26.

Senior Girls

Both teams in the senior girls' match worked every inch of the distance with neither able to seize on a lead. The regulation time ended with the score at 10-10 and two overtime periods were necessary to break the deadlock. At the end of the first overtime period the score was 14-14 and in the second the visiting team took the longest lead they had at anytime during the game to finish up at 19-15.

Line-up

Summerland—Aitken 1, Burnell, Rennison 2, Raincock 3, MacDonald, Hooker 3, Jomori, Cornish, Menu 1—15.

Junior Girls

The Summerland junior girls took the lead from the beginning of the game and were never challenged by the visitors but both teams showed that senior teams will have few worries about future supplies of players. What the youngsters lacked in finesse, they made up for in enthusiasm.

Line-up

Keremeos—Knowles, Percy, Schwaeraert 1, Bairman, B. Allison, A. Allison 1, Wurz, Lowe, Almas, 4 Burrard 2, Lundorf—8.

Summerland—Haddrell 2, Kawasaki 6, Bennison 3, Hoffman, Gronlund 2, Cornish, Huva 4, Wilson 2, Inglis—19.

that the government may gradually creep, into control of education which is now the sole prerogative of the provinces. This is indeed unfortunate, as I feel a system of scholarships, such as they had in 'Khaki College', during and after the war—when many veterans were given university courses—should be continued. As a result of these courses, Canada has been enriched by a large number of young doctors, dentists, engineers and other professional men.

The Honorable D. C. Howe's vicious attack on the president of the Canadian and "Dominion" sugar company, is still the cause of discussion in the house. Mr. Howe, while proposing a resolution, seeking to place an embargo, or control, on the importation of Cuban refined sugar, used the occasion to attack Mr. Macgregor, the president of this company—claiming that he had become a one-man pressure group and was seeking to get a higher price for beet sugar for personal gain. It appears that farmers have been carrying out this pressure at the instigation of Mr. Macgregor, but Mr. Howe pointed out that they made millions in profit last year and could very well have paid more to the beet growers out of their record profit. Cuban-refined sugar will still be imported into Canada, but directed to points not now served by the sugar beet refineries. It is pointed out, that if this embargo is placed on Cuban sugar, the present refiners in Canada would be inclined to raise their prices; which would definitely react on sugar consumers throughout the dominion.

Last week I wrote to Mr. Abbott suggesting that married women who find themselves forced to go out to work, to assist in the family income, should have the amount paid for a necessary housekeeper or baby sitter, employed during her absence, deducted for income tax purposes. Mr. Abbott pointed out in his letter to me, that expenses of this kind are primarily personal living expenses and deductions on this point are not allowed. Further, he pointed out that it is possible that well-to-do women who have sufficient income to be tax payers, but who do not work, might claim deductions for amounts paid to maids or housekeepers. This would make it very difficult from an administrative point of view to exclude this group, if such an allowance were to be made. However, he is looking further into the matter.

Honor Miss Candace McDougall

Peachland Pioneer Retires After 42 Years at Post Office

The ladies of Peachland gathered recently for a social afternoon and tea held in honor of Miss Candace McDougall, who has retired from the position of postmistress after 42 years of service in the post office, both as assistant and postmistress. The hostess, Mrs. J. Cameron welcomed Miss McDougall and commented that she needed no introduction to the many ladies present to do her honor.

She also introduced the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. John McDougall and Mrs. Gordon McDougall, all of Summerland, and Mrs. W. D. Miller, a former schoolmate of Miss McDougall, read the illuminated scroll and presented a watch, purse, vanity box, and suitcase to Miss McDougall.

Following Miss McDougall's words of thanks, Mrs. A. West presented her with a corsage of pink carnations and white hyacinths. Ladies of the Women's Institute served tea to the guests, with Mrs. A. E. Miller and Mrs. Watts pouring from the urns at a tea table, centred with a bouquet of yellow daffodils.

Miss McDougall's family are old-timers in Peachland as her mother, a widow, arrived in Peachland with her five children with the first carload of settlers to come to the district, on May 6, 1898. With them were the family of J. M. Robinson, founder of Peachland, and brother of Mrs. McDougall; also the Huston family, the Seatons, Elliotts and Thompsons. Mr. Robinson had brought in carpenters previously to build homes for the new settlers, and although these were not all finished, the families moved in, and it was found that there were enough children to start a school.

The post office opened in the general store in Dec. 1898, with D. H. Watson as postmaster. Mrs. McDougall became assistant, and in 1891 was made postmaster. A few years later the post office was taken to the front part of Mrs. McDougall's home, where it soon required more space as the district grew rapidly, and the McDougall family moved to a new house on front street and the post office had their former home all to itself. It was soon to house also the switchboard and toll office for the telephone system, which remained there till the dial system was installed in 1949.

Mrs. McDougall remained postmistress in the expanding community till her death in 1925, but had as assistant her son Archie, from 1910 who later took over as postmaster in 1925 until his death in 1952. Miss McDougall acted as her brother's assistant and later was postmistress herself. Thus the Post Office has for more than half a century been in the competent hands of the McDougall family, who have served the community faithfully and well. In 1950, a new post office building on the front street, or more properly, Beach Avenue, was built, and this small but compact building is centrally located in the business section of town.

Miss McDougall and her brother served as telephone operators from the very beginning of the telephone system in the Valley in 1907 and Miss McDougall recalls a succession of switchboards, first a small box, later a board with bells of different tones, which rang when calls came in on the toll lines, or the few local phones.

Her day was well filled with getting the mail away early in the morning, keeping the switchboard

To Sail This Month For Tour of England

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Thornber left on Feb. 20 for Vancouver and sailed from that city the next day for England, going by way of the Panama.

On reaching their destination they plan to go on a photographic tour of England and Scotland, touring here and there in a leisurely way.

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Thornber from Summerland where they have such a large number of friends is regretted, but they hope to revisit the Okanagan before too long.

open till 8 p.m., and taking emergency calls at all hours, besides caring for a house and making meals for herself and her brother. Now that the busy years are over, Miss McDougall says she is going to enjoy herself, and not get tied down to anything.

She intends to brush up on her driving, and at the insistence of the ardent curlers of the town has admitted that she would like to go down to the rink and throw a rock. The best wishes of all Peachland citizens are extended to her and also the hope that she may have good health and many years to catch up on all the activities which she has hitherto never had time to enjoy.

Battle Against the Sea

Wealth of Historical Names Linked with Inundated Area

By I. E. PHILLIPS, formerly of Ipswich.

The tragic story of disaster, death and destruction that has overtaken and overwhelmed the people of Holland and to a minor degree, Britain, brings to mind once more the relentless war the sea has for years, nay centuries, waged against the coast of both countries.

Students' Recital To Aid Piano Fund

Keen interest is being shown in a piano recital to be given in March by senior pupils of Miss Kay Hamilton, assisted by the choir. The concert is to be sponsored by the Students' Council of the high school with proceeds going toward the school piano fund.

Preston Mott, president of the students' council reports that Miss Hamilton's senior students will give piano numbers, and the Summerland Girls' Choir will sing "campfire songs."

As well as this students who are in the band will contribute to the program with instruments other than the piano.

On the eastern seaboard of Britain many of the now alas, familiar names appearing in the news of the day reminds one of the stern and bitter struggle that has been carried on day in and day out, week after week and century after century against the inundations of the grey North Sea. Indeed it has been a war in which an armistice could never be granted and always with the enemy slowly and surely gaining ground.

Many times during its long and ancient history has this lovely and unspoiled area of Britain suffered and fought back the invader of its coasts. Not only its old enemy the sea but also the Romans and the Saxons who used to sweep down on the coasts plundering, sacking and eventually conquering the inhabitants.

Here it was within the circle of her own kingdom that Queen Boadicea gave battle against the Roman Legions.

Very few who have lived in or visited the Eastern Counties of England do not know the story and fate of Dunwich and of how it was once the site of a Roman headquarters, eventually passing to the Saxons. Centuries ago this town of Dunwich was a thriving and prosperous one and at one period of its history was the seat of a bishopric a christian centre as it were. Here lived the monks with their monasteries and as the years sped by, its trade continued to increase and expand.

With the coming of the Normans, walls were built to keep out the invader but the efforts made proved to be inadequate to keep out the seas.

One by one the citadels of the town fell, first the sea walls, then the breakwaters followed by the harbor works until at last the sea was surging against the walls of the town itself and these soon shared the fate of the outer bastions. There still remained, however, the streets and the churches but inexorably the sea in its last offensive onslaught swallowed up these also and so it is that now, all that remains of this once proud town are a few walls, the witness to a war of attrition. At sunset, as the last rays glance off returning fishing boats, and if the tide is ebbing, the spire of a church of this once active town may be seen and a cacophony of bells heard by the fanciful.

There is much that still reflects the skill, the art and the industry of the people of the medieval age in the countries of the east. Many of the old Saxon and Norman churches with their wonderful carvings and brasses, their old Tudor buildings and the recently discovered old Viking burial grounds all of which are in a fine state of preservation and continue to attract the admiration and attention of visitors from all parts of the world.

It can in truth be said as in the words of Shakespeare "their names shall be as household words". Many are the familiar names that leap vividly to mind, Harwich the gateway to and the window looking out on to the Continent of Europe in addition to all its traditions and associations with the Royal Navy.

Colchester, a name derived from the Roman conquest of ancient Britain and still standing, a part of the Roman wall that at one time girdled Britain.

Ipswich is the birthplace of the great Cardinal Wolsey, the place where he was actually born still standing. The Great White Horse Hotel where within the pages of Pickwick Papers, Dickens tells of Mr. Pickwick's famous adventure with the lady in curl papers.

At Norwich Thorpe was born the great Lord Nelson and in the shadow of the ancient cathedral there rests the remains of the brave Edith Cavell.

One remembers Great Yarmouth and the scenes enacted there and as portrayed by Charles Dickens in his immortal work, David Copperfield.

Oz Kings Lynn and Captain Vancouver mention may be made that both are synonymous.

Sandringham, the country home of the Queen and whence the Christmas broadcasts of three generations have emanated. East Bergholt and Sudbury respectfully are the birthplace of the immortal painters, Constable and Gainsborough and so it is that one could continue on and on, conjuring up the scenes, the names and the places that will forever remain in the hearts of all those who love and revere this corner of Britain and in which even the desolation and waste of the angry waters can never quite erase from memory.

Thorough Cutting of Fire Blight Will Further Reduce Canker Hazard

By A. W. WATT, District Horticulturist
 During the 1952 season there was a remarkable drop in the amount of fire blight throughout Okanagan pear orchards. It was the first season since 1948 that the horticultural offices were not inundated with inquiries on blight control. Authorities feel that one of the main reasons for the sharp decline in blight prevalence was the hot dry summer which kept the nectar of pear blossoms at a high degree of sugar concentration thus making it a poor medium for bacterial development.

Disregarding the probable reasons for the decline of fire blight in 1952, the important fact for the grower to remember is that the number of over-wintering cankers is now lower than for several years. This affords a first class opportunity for the pear grower to further reduce the hazard by removing and destroying the remaining small percentage of cankers. It should be remembered that all infected tissue including twigs as small as one-quarter inch in diameter may carry the over-wintering bacteria and may serve as sources of infection if allowed to remain in the trees until spring.

Care should be taken to see that the cut is made sufficiently away from diseased tissue when removing the infected cankers. If the cut is made at or near diseased tissue there is a strong possibility that the bacteria wintering-over in the live bark surrounding the canker may still be left in the tree. A safe rule is to cut six inches below any sharply defined canker but where a canker fades out into healthy tissue with no sharp line the bark should be peeled back and the limb cut six inches below the last discoloration on the wood. The operation of searching for fire blight in the orchard and of removing diseased limbs should be separate from that of ordinary pruning. All diseased limbs should be burned before March 31.

The 1953 spray calendar contains a section on fire blight sprays. These are a useful adjunct to the sanitation practices outlined above but are by no means recognized generally as the sole means of control.

For gun (dilute) sprayers the calendar recommends a spray of Bordeaux mixture 1-1-100 i.e. one pound of finely divided copper sulphate and one pound of hydrated lime per 100 gals.

In the case of concentrate sprayers the amounts recommended are three pounds copper sulphate and three pounds hydrated lime per acre. It is recommended that two sprays be applied, one when ten percent of the blossoms are out and a second when the trees are in full bloom. Growers who have a serious outbreak to contend with are urged to consult their local horticultural office regarding the advisability of additional sprays.

Local Member Speaks . . .

Describes Irrigation Success Here To Support Saskatchewan Scheme

Success of the irrigation program in this area was referred to recently during the debate on the South Saskatchewan irrigation scheme to describe what can be accomplished through irrigation.

Speaker was O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, who supported the Saskatchewan project which, he said, " . . . should be proceeded with regardless of cost." Mr. Jones went back in his memory 30 years to speak of the time when there was a similar problem as to whether or not an irrigation scheme should be attempted in his riding which he described as now " . . . possibly more advanced in irrigation than any other part of North America."

"I remember well," he said, "that some of the papers opposed the scheme. They said it was impractical and that the cost would be too great. They said that a cost of up to $30 an acre for irrigation would break the farmers.

"Looking back over those 30 years I well remember the type of land that was involved, covered with sagebrush and in some cases not even capable of sustaining that sagebrush. It was being sold or offered for sale for $5 an acre. A lot of it was bought at that price and some at $10 or $15 an acre. Last summer I was in that same district: It has been irrigated now for about 20 or 25 years. Orchards with young trees on land that was formerly only worth only $5 or $10 an acre are selling at $2,000 an acre.

"The same condition prevails in the area of the Palliser triangle. I believe that if good water can be applied to that land at a reasonable figure the same success can be achieved. I know that in some cases our irrigation cost ran from $15 to $25 an acre, which may be considered high. But as the hon. member for Vancouver South (Mr. Laing) pointed out, the average income per acre on our land is $1,000, so we could well pay that cost. However, if the crops on the prairie are not so lucrative or do not return such a high figure, I claim that alfalfa, beets and crops of that type could very well bear the cost of the figures stated here today, $6 or $7 an acre.

I am satisfied that this scheme would well repay the government in five, 10 or 20 years. As it is that life-giving water, that wonderful stream is emptying itself into the ocean and is of no value. You cannot recover next year or in 20 years what you miss this year. It is a matter of taking steps immediately to apply that water to the land to make the central part of Saskatchewan a prosperous area, giving those farmers who are now applying to leave the district an opportunity to make a livelihood.

I am speaking now from real experience because I have seen worse land, covered with sagebrush, brought into production and bearing crops second to none on the North American continent. I heartily approve of the scheme, and I would like to point out that practically every member from British Columbia, knowing the experience we have had, would give full support to any steps the government care to take to implement this scheme.

I realize that the cost is great and that the government hesitates on that account, possibly because of the fear of repercussions from the rest of Canada; but I can assure them that as far as British Columbia is concerned we will give full support to any scheme the government may deem fit and proper, and that it would be prepared to undertake.

Trout Creek Library To Move Quarters

Not only in West Summerland is there to be a change in library quarters, but in Trout Creek, Bert Parrott, who has kindly allowed the use of a room in his store for library purposes for the past four years, finds it necessary to have the extra room for his business.

As a consequence the Trout Creek branch of the Okanagan Regional Library will be moved to the home of S. Gladwell, who is permitting the basement of his house to be used by the library.

The changeover will be in operation on Wednesday, March 1, and the same hours will prevail, with the same staff in charge.

Hockey Team Plays Vernon

The winter sports scene is moving into its final stages and playoff fever is in the air. Lets take a look first of all at the hockey picture.

After several years of getting nowhere, the senior pucksters have finally cleared the first hurdle on the road to the Coy Cup, emblematic of intermediate hockey supremacy in B.C.

The series with Rutland, who were playing out of the Kelowna commercial loop, was a see-saw affair that finally ended with the locals edging Rutland 8-7 in the two game series.

Latest word from Manager Geo. Stoll and club time-keeper and trainer Louis Burnell, indicates that Summerland will now face

Merchants Have Their Troubles

Turning to the basketball picture things are not too bright on that front. The senior Merchants have suffered two severe losses, those being Wally Day and Don Cristante.

Without these two first stringers manager Joe Sheeley is not holding his hopes too high. By the time you read this column the first of the two-game, total-point play-off series with Pentiction have already commenced. Not being one to predict the outcome of these games I of course will keep my big mouth closed. I do, however think that the locals will have to have an ace in the hole to pull this one out of the bag.

The winner of this semi-final will probably play Kamloops in the finals. There I go, predicting things. I will say though, that Kamloops will have a battle on their hands with the much improvdo his best to give you sports lovers an idea of what goes on behind the scenes in our local community sports picture, and also keep you up-to-date on facts and figures of our home-town heroes.

Vernon in the same type of series as that with Rutland. The first game is scheduled for next Tuesday in the Pentiction arena. Until further information is received from the hockey teams in the north the local fans will be completely in the dark concerning further games.

The loss of Paul Roberge, probably out for the season, and also with Johnny Croft out with a broken ankle, the chances of the Summerland boys in the Pentiction commerc loop don't look as bright as they did. To make matters worse, Fred Kato is leaving town for some time.

If Rocky and George haven't got ulcers now, it certainly isn't their fault.

ed Kelowna Bears. The Bears started the season with a group of listless ball players who were content to play their basketball on the losing end of the game for the rest of the year.

Mid-way through the season the Orchard City boys, with the acquisition of some more players stepped from the lowly to the mighty.

A week ago they slapped down the league-leading Kamloops quintet and the pushed Vernon out of the way to advance into the play-offs.

In the end it will probably boil down to a battle between Kamloops and Pentiction.

Des't give the local boys the support they deserve as they could quite easily pull a fast one on the Pentiction Omegas and really make a playoff battle yet.

Merchants Lose Last League Game

The Summerland Merchants travelled to Kamloops last Saturday night and absorbed a 65-32 defeat at the hands of the Kamloops Senior "B" cagers. This was the final game of regular league play for the Merchants.

For a short time the locals kept pace with the Kamloops quintet, but the northerners, led by the high-scoring brother act of Len and Jack Fowles, pushed all thoughts of victory from the minds of the visitors.

At the half-way mark the Kamloops boys had piled up a 37-17 lead. From then on it was only a matter of how large a total the northerners could build.

Scoring honors for the locals were fairly evenly divided, while Jack Fowles of Kamloops was the chief point-getter of the evening with eight field baskets and four free throws for 20 points.

Chuck Aikin, who has been playing the bucket position along with Gerry Adams in the absence of Day, was checked effectively throughout the game and was unable to score a single field basket. However, he had 10 chances from the free throw line, sinking seven of them.

The Summerland Juniors also travelled to the northern city to take part in the basketball camp.

Although they came out on the short end of a 26-23 game, they did make it a battle right through to the final few minutes when the Kamloops youngsters fired three quick baskets to put the game on ice.

The local juniors were led by Brake and Ask who contributed 11 and eight points respectively.

Scoring: Summerland Jrs.—Ask 8, Brake 11, Parker 4, Parrott, Hackman, Scott, Bonthoux—23.

Summerland Merchants—Aikin 7, Guidi 2, L. Nesbitt 8, D. Nesbitt 4, Weitzel 3, Johnston 8, Adams—32.

Kamloops Srs.—L. Fowles 12, J. Fowles 20, W. Marriott 8, D. Marriott 5, Camp 7, Buchanan 10, Fowler 3, Fargulerson—65.

SHS Cagers Down Oliver, Peachland

High school basketball teams from Oliver and Peachland were visitors at the local gym last week, both teams losing to the SHS Senior Boys.

The Oliver-Summerland game provided the fans with a thriller, Summerland finally edging the visitors in overtime, 27-26. Lauer led the Bluebird scoring with 10 points.

The SHS quintet also downed Peachland earlier in the week 37-30. Vern Higgs was high for the winners with nine points while Kennedy had 11 for the visitors.

Day On Injured List

Omegas Down Merchants 61-36; Injured Day May Miss Play-offs

Summerland's Senior "B" basketballers scared the wits out of Pentiction Omegas for the first half of last Thursday night's contest at the school gym, then faded miserably in the second half to give a 61-36 win to the Peach City quintet.

The first quarter of the game, which proved both fast and rough, ended with Pentiction leading 14-12. Johnston and Aikin doing most of the scoring for the locals.

In the second quarter, however, the Merchants dropped in seven points to the visitors five to even the count at 19 all. Five of the seven points the locals scored were via the free shot route, as the Pentiction lads were beginning to rough it up a bit.

It was also in this second quarter that the Merchants received a blow that may prove to be a fatal one. Wally Day, their big, high-scoring centre, took a hard pass that caught the end of his thumb hard enough to cause a minor fracture. From all reports, it looks like Wally may be out for the rest of the season. With both him and Donny Cristante out, the playoff picture looks anything but bright for the locals.

With Day out of the way the southern lads put on a razzle-dazzle power play that completely overwhelmed the Merchants.

With three quarters of the game gone the Pentiction team had rolled up a commanding 13 point lead with every member taking part in a third-quarter scoring spree.

The final stanza was much the same with the visitors outscoring the locals 19-7, due mainly to the fact that Chuck Aikin, substitute centre for Day, went off in the third quarter on fouls.

Bill Johnston, who, by the way, is a Pentiction boy, played a bang-up game for the locals, chalking up 16 points, the top scoring effort of the night.

Bennett fired seven field baskets and a free throw to head the Pentiction scorers while Eshleman, who is the leagues' top scorer, was right behind with 13.

The game kept referee Bill Clark hopping all night and a total of 36 personal fouls were called.

In the preliminary, the Summerland girls downed the visiting Pentiction lassies 34-11. Marion Aikin and Pearl Hooker each contributed 14 points to lead the attack for the winners.

Individual scoring in the feature game follows:

Summerland—Aikin 6, Day 4, Weitzel, D. Nesbitt 5, L. Nesbitt 2, Guidi 3, Johnston 16, Adams—36. Pentiction—Bennett 15, MacLean 3, Eshleman 13, Jordan 5, Powell 6, Hanlon 7, Russel 8, Burgart 4—61.

Outside Rinks Coming

Expect Sixteen Rinks To Compete In Ladies' First Open Bonspiel

Summerland Ladies' Curling Club this week-end will stage their first open bonspiel and it is expected 16 rinks will be competing for handsome prizes being offered for the four leading rinks in each of three events.

Curling will go on all day on Friday and Saturday and rinks from Peachland and Oliver will be entered against local curlers.

Last week-end in Peachland, local rinks walked off with honors in the "B" and "C" events at the ladies' bonspiel held there.

In the "B" event, Mrs. H. E. Eden skipped her rink to a win over the Fell rink from Kelowna. On the Eden rink were Mrs. A. Dunsdon, Mrs. F. Tilbe, and Mrs. Earle Wilson.

Mrs. William Croft headed the quartet that defeated the Topham rink of Peachland to take top honors in the "C" event. On the rink with her were Mrs. Cecil Wade, Mrs. Walter Toews and Mrs. Norman Holmes.

Not so successful was the rink skipped by Mrs. K. B. Thomson which was awarded prize for lowest score. Sharing mortification with their skip were Mrs. William Milne, Mrs. Les Rumball and Mrs. Jack Raincock.

Penticton Takes Generous Lead In Semi-Final

Summerland Merchants last night gave a healthy lead to Penticton in the first game of a two-game total-point series in the senior semi-finals when they were overwhelmed 74-41 in the High School gym.

In the other half of the semi-finals, Kelowna took a 74-60 victory from Kamloops with Weims scoring 28 points for the winners. Final fixture in that series will be in Penticton Monday night.

Penticton Omegas took an early lead in the match here last night and at no time did the locals ever challenge the visitors. Top scorers for the Omegas were Eshleman with 19 and Bennett with 17 while the hoop parade for the Merchants was led by Day with 12 and Aikin with 10.

Omegas lost two of their players in the fourth stanza when Jordan and Hanlon were waved off each with five personal fouls to his credit.

Referee was W. D. Clark.

Line-up Penticton—Bennett 17, McLean 9, Eshleman 19, Jordan 1, Hanlon 10, Russell 8, Burgart 8, Smith 2.—74.

Summerland—Cristante 7, Aikin 10, Day 13, Weitzel 2, Kato 1, Adams, D. Nesbitt 2, L. Nesbitt, Guddi 3, Johnston 3.—41.

Rumors Persist; But No Decision

Completion of the Penticton-Trout Creek highway and "possible" completion of the Summerland diversion were two of the items included in the public works budget presented this week in the legislature by Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

Rumors continue in the district that a definite decision has been reached on the Thornber dump road and gulch route but no official announcement has yet been made. Surveyors are now taking levels on this route.

According to information received by Socred Association president Lloyd Miller from location engineer James H. A. Steven, the Sand Hill route has been definitely abandoned. He stated further that much better grades have been found on the old dump road and while it appears very favorable, no decision will be made until all costs are available.

Urge Installation Of Auditorium Fan

Although the municipal council Tuesday afternoon returned the school budget to the trustees "for revision and reduction", one of their few earlier observations was that the board should have included in the estimates the installation of a fan in the auditorium in the high school. The trustees were urged by councillors to find some way to include this item in the budget.

The trustees agreed with the need for an air circulating fan in the auditorium but Chairman J. Y. Towgood reminded the council of the instructions from Victoria to keep costs pared to last year's expenditures and he said the board has been very cautious in spending money for purposes not directly associated with education. The school board members agreed to give further consideration to this need.

Successful Bonspiel Here over Week-End

Summerland curlers staged a successful club bonspiel last week-end with top honors in "A" event going to the Topping rink of Oliver, members of the Summerland club. In second place was the McNeil rink, skipped by G. Wood.

In the "B" event, first prize went to the Mather rink of Penticton—all members of the Summerland club. Second honors went to the Towgood rink.

MORE ABOUT—RELATES

the surf with perhaps eight aboard and surf riders lie on their boards and paddle with their hands out to the far surf breaking on the coral reefs and then stand on their boards and skillfully ride the waves toward shore.

Here and there along the beach a few yards from shore are purple patches where coral reefs lie. Hawaiian men and sometimes old women walk over the reefs peering through the water with homemade helmets with windows. They spear small squid for lunch, clutch a bunch of tasty sea weed, or pick up a beautiful piece of coral to sell. There are more sun bathers than swimmers and one sees many shades of tan and some sore looking pink backs.

Hotels border the beach; The massive pink stucco Royal Hawaiian, the Meana with its Banyan Lanai where the programme "Hawaiian Calls" is broadcast every Saturday afternoon to 700 stations around the world; the new million dollar Surf Rider with its fashion shows each week and the Halekani where we chatted with Mr. and Mrs. H. Boyle of Penticton.

There were 46 Canadians at the Edgewater Hotel. Every evening the hotels offer Hawaiian entertainment with singers, dancers and orchestras and welcome guests from other lodges. We admired the pretty hula girls with their graceful hands and swishing grass skirts. Evening wear at the hotel is casual with only the Royal Hawaiian stipulating a tie for men after 6 p.m.

We left Honolulu on the island of Oahu and took a 15-minute flight to Molokai where there are large pineapple plantations and a rugged backbone of sharp mountains and lava formations. There is a large leper colony in a remote and beautiful bay on the island. Then we flew to nearby Lanai a smaller island owned by the Hawaiian Pineapple company. The perfect symmetry of the pineapple fields was unbelievable and the red soil a contrast to the gray green rows.

Next was the island of Maui with its extensive sugar plantations with creamy plumes waving in the soft breezes. We secured a U-drive car at a reasonable rate at the airport and explored the island for five hours. The paved roads were easy to follow and we drove past lovely, modern homes and quiet little villages. Over one door we were startled to read "The Sun Life of Canada" and planned to call in later but we were racing for the plane on the way back. We drove by rugged shoreline and pounding surf and we walked on the rare black sands, reminder of volcanic disturbance.

We saw the first printing press west of the Rockies and the first school built west of the Rockies at the pretty town of Lahaina. This school has been enlarged and is still carrying on at the same location.

Lovely Iao Valley with its amazing "Needle" rising from the floor was worth visiting.

Then we flew on to Hilo, on the island of Hawaii, an hour's flight away. This island is the largest of the group being 450 miles in circumference. The population is largely Japanese and there are several Buddhist temples with elaborate decorations. We stayed the night and obtaining another U-drive, drove to the Mauna Loa volcano. The 25 mile drive to Volcano House was bordered with tree ferns wild flowers and dense semi-tropical growth. The gradual climb brought us to the rim of the crater at 3,000 feet. Still steaming through large cracks near the rim of the 400 feet deep crater the volcano seemed very much alive. There was a spectacular eruption three months ago and according to the scientists it could occur again at any time. There are no villages near it.

Our visit to Pearl Harbour about 10 miles from the city of Honolulu was most interesting. After driving by long warehouses and many buildings we boarded a launch for a tour of the harbour along with navy personnel, past towering battleships and long sleek submarines, cumbersome floating dry-docks and neat corvettes, until we came to the ill fated Arizona which was sunk with 1500 men on Dec. 7, 11 years ago. She is resting on the bottom of the harbour 50 feet below with 1000 men still entombed there. Oil is slowly seeping around the rusty remains. A bronze commemoration plaque below the waving flag is placed on a platform built over the vessel.

The air of the island is clear and free from dust or smoke. People cook with gas or electricity and one notices the absence of chimneys. There are no poisonous insects or snakes and no harmful animals on the island. Children go barefoot and many of the adults wear flat sandals with toe straps.

Leaving the islands on an Australian plane bound for San Francisco we settled into comfortable berths slipping into sleeping bags with knitted covers and soft mattresses. The moonlight on the clouds, and clear stars above, and the dark patches of ocean far below, with the steady drone of the motors made night flying something to be remembered as we said goodbye to the beautiful island of Hawaii.
