

Set For Polling Ince on Tuesday

South Okanagan on Tuesday will go to the polls to choose merchant, fruit grower, farmer or housewife to represent the riding during the next term at the legislature. In this constituency, 14,773 are registered to vote.

To Name Grant For Dr. Palmer

Next convention of the BCFGA will consider a recommendation of the executive that the association research grant to the Summerland Experimental Farm be named after the late superintendent, Dr. R. C. Palmer.

BCFGA President Arthur Garrish Saturday afternoon told the Southern District Council the executive had considered a request for a contribution to the perpetual scholarship fund being created in memory of Dr. Palmer but the association, he said, has no money available which could be used for this purpose.

The research grant, said Mr. Garrish, was a "pet" of Dr. Palmer's and it was felt that in naming it after him it would be a tribute more closely associated with the industry and will serve to bring his name before the growers and newcomers to the station more effectively than anything else could.

Dr. Thomas H. Anstey

Agassiz Horticulturist Named To Top Post at Experimental Farm

Reported this week is the appointment of Dr. Thomas H. Anstey of Agassiz as superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Summerland to replace Dr. R. C. (Dick) Palmer whose sudden passing shocked the valley a couple of months ago.

Dr. Anstey is at present head horticulturist at the Agassiz experimental farm and he is a member of the board of directors of the weed control committee of the Agricultural Institute of Canada.

He is 37 years of age, is married with two children. He is a veteran with a record of four years overseas service during World War II.

An active community worker, Dr. Anstey is vice-president of the Agassiz Branch of the Canadian Legion, is a Scout leader and was active in the formation of a group in Agassiz. He has been a valued member of the United Church choir and has taken the lead in several cantatas.

He went to the Fraser Valley station upon his graduation from university. He is a graduate of UBC and received his PhD at Minnesota State Agricultural College.

There has been no official announcement as to when Dr. Anstey will assume duties at the farm.

Cancer Drive Nets $1,434

Kiwanis this week announced wind-up of their drive on behalf of the Canadian Cancer Society with total collections of $1,434—the highest ever for the campaign in this district.

The Cancer campaign was undertaken by Kiwanis Club for the first time four years ago and contributions this year were more than double those of the first year. Chairman of the drive in Summerland was G. Hallquist and working with him were members of the Kiwanis Club working in teams to cover the entire district.

Popular Program...

High School Band First Concert Draws Capacity Crowd Both Nights

Summerland High School Band attracted more than 1,000 listeners to their first concert series on Thursday and Friday nights last week and an enthusiastic reception was given the efforts of the junior musicians.

School Assembly Marks Coronation

An assembly to commemorate the Coronation was held in the junior-senior high school on Monday afternoon.

The program commenced with singing, "O Canada", and W. C. Wilkin spoke on the purpose of the meeting, in the absence of A. K. Macleod, the principal.

Preston Mott, president of the senior students' council read a scripture passage, and the hymn, "O God, our help in ages past" was sung.

Lacey Fisher read the poem written for the Coronation by the poet laureate, John Masfield, and used part of a recording as narrated by David Niven on The Cavalcade of Elizabeth.

Marlyn Wade, president of the junior students' council read part of Queen Elizabeth's Christmas message, and there was a moment of silent dedication.

Present incumbent is merchant W. A. C. Bennett who less than a year ago took over the office of premier to lead his minority Social Credit through this spring's stormy session of the legislature.

Fruit Grower Tom Wilkinson for the third time is carrying the CCF standard in this riding while making their first appearances on the political hustings are Farmer Vic Wilson of Naramata, representing the Liberal party, and Mrs. E. C. Weddell, wife of a prominent Kelowna barrister, who is the Conservative nominee.

Cards are now being distributed through the mail to voters advising them where their polling station is located. In West Summerland voting will be at the IOOF Hall and in Summerland at Lakeside United Church. E. Ross Oatman, registrar of voters, has requested all voters take with them these cards when they go to the poll to assist the deputy returning officer. Anyone who has changed address since the voters' list was prepared should so advise the deputy returning officer, Mr. Oatman said.

In West Summerland, 1,713 names appear on the voting list while that of Summerland contains 529 names.

Trade Board Offers Free Transportation

Summerland Board of Trade will aid in getting voters to the polls Tuesday by providing free transportation. Anyone wishing independent transportation may call on the board's service by telephoning 5556.

Major Problem...

BCFGA Executive Undertakes New Public Relation Approach

A new approach to public relations both inside and outside the industry was promised Saturday to members of the BCFGA Southern District Council by President A. R. Garrish and central executive member, J. A. English.

New Softball League First Game Tonight

New softball league with four entries has been formed in Summerland and first game is scheduled for tonight at the Living Memorial Playground.

Teams entered in the league are Box Factory, High School, Junior High School and Aces. Match tonight will see the High School and Box Factory clash at 8:30.

IN HOSPITAL

Friends will regret to learn that Walter M. Wright is in hospital following an attack while in his office Wednesday morning. Report from the hospital this morning is that his condition is "very satisfactory".

The youthful instrumentalists displayed versatility in their varied program and especially appropriate was a coneration arrangement prepared by the students which was accompanied by slides showing the royal family.

Miss Kay Hamilton's choir appeared with the band and gave an excellent performance.

Interest was added to the program by a commentary provided periodically by John Tamblin, band director and music teacher at the school. A novelty number, The Synopated Clock, was particularly well received.

Various ensembles from the band performed and those included woodwind, trumpet, violin quartet and trombone sextet.

Surprise climax to the program came when David Woolliams, youngest band member, on behalf of the students, presented Mr. and Mrs. Tamblin with a table lamp in appreciation of Mr. Tamblin's leadership and work in developing the school band.

Not Feeding Troughs; They're For Flowers

Some troughs are missing from the High School. No doubt unkind critics of the younger generation will ask, "What are the kids eating out of, then?" but these have nothing to do with the students' table manners which are just as good as anyone else's. The missing items of equipment are pieces of flume closed off at the ends to be used to hold flowers as stage decorations. The crates that support them are missing, too.

Since these would have very little appeal for anyone in the thieving business, teachers-turned-sleuths have concluded that somebody has borrowed them and failed to bring them back.

They're going to be needed for graduation Friday. Anybody know anything about some troughs?

Here From Edmonton To Operate Motel

Ownership of West Summerland Auto Court this week changed hands with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cashman arriving from Edmonton to take over from Charles Haddrell.

Mr. Cashman has been in the Alberta civil service and was in charge of a government garage and fleet of vehicles until his retirement a short time ago.

Mr. Haddrell plans on returning to ranching, probably in the Cariboo district.

Lawrence Logie of Seattle visited over last week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Logie.

Discussion of public relations was the main item on the agenda for the afternoon and speakers to the subject expressed deep concern at the wave of criticism that has sprung up in the prairies against B.C. fruit growers and also the outbreaks of dissatisfaction through the valley.

President Garrish stated this is a problem which has been worrying the central executive for a long time and warned "we may have to come to the next convention with a sizeable request to cover public relations—but it could cost us a lot more to have prairie people develop an antagonism." He went on, "Why, they've got us classed as a bunch of pirates who will hold up prices at all costs and if we can't get them will ruthlessly dump fruit."

Mr. English explained a new arrangement developed in public relations which will use the services of former Review publisher, J. R. Armstrong. Mr. English said Mr. Armstrong will work closely with members of the central executive in preparing press releases and will be used for personal contact with prairie editors.

It was also stated that more thought is being given at the Kelowna office to keeping growers informed of what the association is doing for them.

Studying Other Possibilities...

Processing Plant Contribution To Apple Pool Doubled This Year

B.C. Processors this past year contributed $310,000 to the apple pool, almost double the amount contributed last year. This was the report made Saturday afternoon by A. G. DosBrisay to members of the BCFGA Southern District Council. Mr. DosBrisay said they had paid $18.25 a ton for 17,000 ton of apples this year compared to $12.64 for 14,900 ton last year.

The processing plant manager stated practically all the fruit used would have had no commercial value otherwise.

Questioned about the capacity of the plant, Mr. DosBrisay said they could handle 1 1/2 million boxes and this year hope to market 700,000 cases of apple juice. Last year, he said, 500,000 went out on the market.

Answering a question as to whether there were any plans for processing soft fruits, Mr. DosBrisay guardedly stated that experiments are being carried on with certain types of soft fruits, the possibilities for which, he said, they did not believe had been fully explored. The speaker, however, had no intention of giving away any trade secrets and beyond that statement would offer no further information.

Record Crowd at Memorial Park to Pay Homage To Beloved Queen Elizabeth on Coronation Day

Summerland Tuesday turned out enmasse to take part in celebrating the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II and upwards to 2,000 people—believed to be the biggest turnout in the history of the district—jammed the Living Memorial Park to witness the coronation day program which was highlighted by a colorful pageant in the setting of the first Elizabethan period.

The program drew a large number of visitors from other parts of the valley. It started at 2:30 with a march past of Canadian Legion, Legion Auxiliaries, Scouts, Guides, Cubs, Brownies and school children and was climaxed by an hour-long fireworks display at the school grounds at night.

As dusk settled on this long-to-be-remembered day, two signal fires flared up on either side of Giant's Head—links in the chain of beacons forged by Scouts all over the British commonwealth of nations. The two fires were in sight for a radius of more than 25 miles.

Mounted Queen Presents Regal Appearance

Mrs. Flora Bergstrom filled the role of a stately young queen as she arrived on the scene riding sidesaddle, her horse led by two young pages, Roger Solly and Denby Coggan. In the queen's entourage were Chester Reinertson, Charles Letts, Don Hermiston and Mrs. Erma Anderson, soldiers; Vaughan Coggan and Neil Woolliams; heralds: Raymond Maddocks, standard bearer; Ken Boothe, lord chamberlain; Audrey Clark, Isobel Reinertson and Carol Reinertson, ladies-in-waiting; Rita Hermiston, Bill Wilkinson, Jim Peter and Keith Long, courtiers; Nan Solly, Johan Bergstrom, Anne Macleod, Bruce Lemke, Bobby Sheeley, Chuck Wilkinson and Lew Lewis, pages.

The royal party was welcomed by Sir John Hawkins and his family, the roles being filled by Clarke Wilkin, Maybelle Wilkin, Linda and Marcia Wilkin.

As the queen walked to her place on the dais, children preceded her and scattered flowers in her path. In this group were Larry Bergen, Marjorie Dewitte, Betty Anne Dunsdon, Ronny Gibbard, Bruce Hallquist, Martin Hoffman, Lawrence Ketter, Harold Nicholson, Darlene Nilson, Aloma Polesello, Alan Smith, Warren Smith, and Vonda Wade.

Maypole dancing opened the program and it was performed by a group of tots trained by Mrs. Doney Wilson. Dancers were Karen Anderson, Lawrence Blazek, Sunny Boyd, Joanne Campbell, Marilyn Dunsdon, Evelyn Gronlund, Kenneth Harbicht, Barry Hodgson, William Metters, Richard Newton, Anne Powell, Anne Ringstad, Ivan Sayers, Kenneth Smith, Linda Smith and Billy Wilson.

Depict St. George's Battle With Dragon

A play depicting the story of St. George and the Dragon was presented under the direction of Mrs. J. Y. Towgood and those taking part were George Stoll, jr., Michael Brinton, Marny Bleasdale, Jane Solly, David Woolliams, David Brinton, Robert Brinton, Mayne McCutcheon, Donnie Tait and Victor Uegama.

A woodwind ensemble was made up of Diane Durick, Frances Atkinson, Margaret Lott, Ross Norstrom, Carleton Sheeley, Diane Berg, Glen Manning, Marny Bleasdale, Lionel Youngusband and John Adams.

Narrators were A. K. Macleod, Mrs. Kay Agur and Blair Underwood. Script was written by Stan Gladwell.

The pageant was a production of Mrs. A. K. Macleod, M. Cartwright, Stan Gladwell, F. E. Atkinson, Mrs. Lionel Fudge, J. Y. Towgood, R. Russel and Mrs. R. Russel. In charge of costuming were Mrs. Keith Sayers, Mrs. W. Sherwood, Mrs. B. Bergstrom, Mrs. Roy Wellwood and Mrs. Doney Wilson.

In attendance during the afternoon to provide musical interludes were both the Summerland Band and the High School Band. Opening remarks for the afternoon program were given by Reeve C. E. Bentley.

The annual Citizenship Day award of certificates to new citizens sponsored by the Women's Institute was included on the program.

Three refreshment booths manned by members of the Legion Auxiliaries, Hospital Auxiliaries and the Women's Institute did a sell-out business with refreshments distributed free to children.

Amplifier equipment for the occasion was provided by Howard Shannon. Floral decorations at the park were arranged by the Horticultural Society.

Excitement is running high in junior dancing circles as students of the Mary Pratten dancing school are rehearsing for their spring revue, in the High School auditorium, Monday night.

Lovely, colorful costumes are being prepared and an interesting program of folk and ballet dancing will be presented under the auspices of the Summerland P.T.A. A piper from Penticton will play for the Scottish dancing.

Long hours of lessons and practice have gone into the productions. Proceeds go toward helping the school band.

The pageant theme proved to be an excellent vehicle for the presentation of the afternoon entertainment and the spacious park provided an ideal monster stage for the production.

History records the first Elizabeth—travelled considerably through England and everywhere encouraged music and dancing and it was a page from this side of her life that was unfolded in pageant as she and her courtiers rode out of the pages of history into the Summerland scene and colorfully clad villagers gathered to perform for their queen.

Invitations have now gone out for the High School graduation ceremonies at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon when 21 members of this year's graduation class will be honored at a program in the school auditorium.

Speaker for the program will be I. H. Solly. The valedictory address will be delivered by Preston Mott and the class poem read by Shirley Allen. Invocation will be given by Rev. H. R. Whitmore.

Because of ill health, Dr. F. W. Andrew will this year be unable to present the UBC Alumni scholarship and his place will be taken by Mr. Ewart Woolliams.

Following the ceremonies, tea will be served by the Grade 10 home economics class of Miss Phyllis Hoath.

Annual banquet and dance for the graduates will be held in the evening.

Mrs. Ben Newton Passes In Hospital

Following an illness of some length, the death occurred in Summerland General hospital on Saturday, May 30, of Mrs. Ben Newton.

The late Mrs. Newton who was born in Paisley, Scotland, in 1897, was formerly Margaret McLuskie (Peggy), daughter of Mrs. J. S. Ritchie and the late J. S. Ritchie. She came with her parents to Summerland in 1908.

In 1921 she was married to Benjamin Newton at a ceremony which took place in St. Andrew's church.

She is survived by her husband, three sons, John Samuel, and James Ronald, of Summerland, and Edward Alexander of Vancouver; her mother, Mrs. J. S. Ritchie and four sisters, Mrs. Wm. Atkinson, Miss Minnie Ritchie, Miss Jean Ritchie, and Miss Joanna Ritchie, all of Summerland.

She was a member of St. Andrew's church, and a charter member of the choir of St. Andrew's. She was also a life member of Summerland Singers' and Players' Club.

Of rather a quiet nature, the late Mrs. Newton was known for her kindly, sweet ways.

Funeral services were conducted in St. Andrew's church by the Rev. H. R. Whitmore on Monday afternoon, June 1, at two o'clock, with interment in Peach Orchard cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Alex Smith, Dan Rutherford, Robert Armour, Dr. James Marshall, T. A. Walden, and T. Charity.

Friends of Renlynn Smuin of Penticton, a nephew of F. W. Smuin, will be sorry to hear that he was in an accident in Penticton, when the tractor he was driving on his father's orchard at Dog Lake, rolled over, badly injuring one of his legs.

Jack and Jill Kindergarten...

Kindertots Graduation Exercises Mark End of Classes for Season

Closing exercises of the Jack and Jill kindergarten were held on Friday morning, May 29, from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. with mothers and friends, little brothers and sisters attending.

Mrs. Francis Stewart and Mrs. Howard Milne, who teach the kindergarten alternate weeks, both took part.

Since it was Mrs. Milne's week to teach, she conducted the opening exercises of flag march, O Canada, and prayer. An assistant, Mrs. V. B. Durin, called the roll, led a happy good-morning song; and gave a welcome to the visitors, which concluded this portion of the program.

Mrs. Stewart reviewed the year's activities and lessons, with the children answering individually. Mrs. Milne led the action songs, rounds, hymns and the rhythm band numbers. In the latter the children wore their red hats and capes, and marched to the platform led by Lillian Hankins who conducted. Other numbers were conducted by Russell Underwood, Wendy Toova, Nancy Fudge and Darolyn Ducommun.

During the snack time, tomato juice, cookies, buns and an ice-cream cone were served to all the little ones.

Novelty bubble pipes were made in the handwork period by closing the end of a straw, piercing little holes with a pin, then rubbing soap on it. Many produced large bubbles, and made some for their brothers and sisters.

The story of the Good Samaritan was dramatized by several children on the platform.

A flag, coloring books, crayons, and a diploma, were given to each student before leaving. After singing their good-bye song, the final session for the season, was dismissed.

The mother's chairman, Mrs. Ken Boothe, and the treasurer, Mrs. M. Ducommun, aided the teachers during the session.

Those who attended the kindergarten last term were Sandra Armstrong, Gerry Boggs, Bronn Borgstrom, Gordon Boothe, Linda Charles, Ronnie Clark, Loo Derozier, Larry Dronsfeld, Darolyn Ducommun.

Signifying Nothing

BY RUSTICUS

I have long been an admirer of George Washington. Both the historical hero and the current local one, for that matter; but this column refers to the former. One thing in his story, however, I object to; and that is the silly fable about his never telling a lie.

Why, any boy tells lies unless he's subnormal. I was very close to subnormal myself, but I can distinctly remember lying like anything to escape a licking in my first year of school. And later I grew so proficient that I won — not a prize, exactly, but a whole day's holiday for myself, plus an anxious after-school visit from my teacher, by the skill with which I lied about my health.

Sometime during adolescence came a spell of idealism when I earnestly tried to tell the truth at all times, but it was tough going, and I soon grew old enough to realize that truth has many facets, not all of them conducive to smooth progress through life.

As I asked once before in this column, quoting Pilate long ago, "What is truth?" Sometimes the plain, unvarnished truth is more of a lie than a lie is.

Take that case of young George Washington. "Did you cut down that cherry tree?" his father threatened. "Father, I cannot tell a lie; I did," the little dope is reported to have answered, whereupon his father spanked him on the spot.

But how truthful was his father? If he had said what he really meant, he might have asked something like, "Did you do a bad thing in cutting down that tree?"

If that tree was infected with aphids, as seems likely in those pre-spraying days, and drapped goo all over the fine clothes of people who walked underneath or kids who climbed; if its fruit was poor and scarce; if it was a threat to the house in every wind-storm, or obstructed Mrs. Washington's view of the scenery from her sewing-room window — then it might have been a very good thing to cut it down. And if his father's question had been properly put, George's "Yes" would not have been truthful at all.

Even if the kid was merely exercising his own initiative and energy — no mean feat to cut down a big cherry tree with a mere hatchet, by George — it might have been better cut down than cut up — or rather, left up; left upright, that is . . .

You're probably thinking right now how horribly immoral I must be (thus finding fault with "truth-telling" in one of the most famous fables of history). But just consider what your life would be like if you started telling nothing but the truth.

When friends invited, "Like to drop in on us for bridge Tuesday night?" You'd answer "No, I'd rather stay home and listen to the radio; it can be turned off when it gets boring." Or when someone asks, "What did you think of my speech — or song — or concert — last night, you'd reply, "It was the louisest conglomeration of corn I ever endured." When wife or girl friend asked your opinion of a new hat or dress, you'd feel compelled to confess, "You don't ever look as if you had much sense, but in that horror you look fresh from a strait jacket at Essondale."

How long would you keep your friends — or your family — or your job — if you didn't tell lies when occasions seemed to advise it?

And are they lies? What your family and friends are really asking for is not an opinion, or even a visit, but some testimony of liking. Every human longs to feel liked, accepted, by his fellow animals. If 'lies' give a fellow human that cheerful uplift, then they are a more truthful answer to what he is seeking than the truth would be.

For 'truth' and 'falsehood' are but words; it is what we make them mean that really matters. Isn't that true?

Pioneer Days

From Early Files of The Review

Thirty Years Ago, June 14, 1923.

With the month less than half gone June had seen a heavier precipitation than any June since records had been kept at the Experimental Station.

An amendment to the fruit act provided that the shipper's name must appear on the boxes, and also that the boxes be properly filled.

The Religious Educational Council of South Okanagan planned to hold a CGIT training camp at the Kaleden Hotel, Dog Lake, from June 29 until July 9, with Miss McCrimmon, of Toronto, a specialist in girls' work conducting the camp.

Mrs. Denton resigned from the staff of the Central School and her place was filled by the appointment of Miss Ruth Graham.

Summerland Women's Institute donated tapes for tennis nets to the public school, for use in the school courts.

Election at Hand . . . only dupes will not be there

ON Tuesday, people of B.C. will be the envy of millions of people in countries scattered around the world. We will be envied because we have the privilege of going to the polls and casting a secret ballot to nominate which of four candidates will participate in framing legislation by which the province is to be governed. The envious ones will be in countries where voting is a thing of the past.

To the people of this country, free voting has been a part of the way of life they have always known and few probably have ever given much thought to the possibility that someday it might pass out of existence. Most people in Canada will argue that the principles of democracy are so deeply ingrained in Canadians that it would never be possible to create a dictatorship in this country. That is just about as fallacious as it is possible for reasoning to be and it is proponents of this kind of reasoning who are going to make it easier for those who seek to change our way of life. It is the dupes who find going to the polls too much trouble and who will make it possible for a minority of qualified voters to control an election.

The purpose of this editorial is to say something that will try and impress on people the importance of casting their ballot. There is nothing original in it because there is probably nothing that has been left unsaid on the subject of why every person should vote.

First Class Job . . . hats off to a fine effort

NO reference to Summerland's coronation celebration would be complete without a word of praise and appreciation to the members of the committee who gave time and effort to planning the program and to those who participated in the highly-successful venture.

The Summerland program at the Living Memorial Athletic Park was one of the finest presented anywhere in the valley and stands as a striking example of what can be accomplished by co-operative effort.

People watching a performance such as that presented at the park seldom realize the amount of behind-the-scenes effort necessary for such a production—and limited time in which to prepare and a limited budget serve to compound the difficulties.

However, the Summerland committee found none of the difficulties insurmountable and their efforts produced an unequalled success.

Productions of this sort do far more than just provide entertainment for the local populace. On Tuesday parties of travellers from all points in the valley were on hand to witness the Summerland celebration. The advertising we receive from sending visitors away well pleased is of great value and more and more we can count on them as regular visitors.

Summerland is rapidly building up a reputation for providing tops in entertainment value—particularly where community projects are concerned

Ottawa Outlook

By PETER GABLE

Five years ago on May 14, the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King rose from his seat in the house of commons and announced plans for the quietest revolution in Canadian history.

It was the five-year national health plan, one of the last major projects of Mr. King's long parliamentary career, a program which he regarded as one of the foundation stones of the national social security structure.

Health Minister Paul Martin, who has guided the program since its inception in 1948, gave Parliament just before its close a review of its achievements and a preview of what's ahead for the future.

Here are a few examples of the achievements in health during the past five years:

1. In spite of an increase in population, the number of infant deaths has declined from 16,333 in 1947 to 14,584 in 1951—a total saving of 10,000 young lives.

2. Hospital accommodation has been increased by 46,000 beds in 144 communities—6,000 more beds than the five-year objective and an over-all increase of 35 per cent in hospital facilities.

3. The tuberculosis death rate has been cut by one-half—down to less than 20 persons per 100,000 population—and 25,000 TB patients have been provided with free streptomycin treatment.

4. In the mental health field, there are now 77 clinics available to the public compared with only 17 in 1948.

5. Cancer diagnostic services have been provided to more than 100,000 Canadians, and modern radiological equipment has been supplied to hospitals and public clinics.

6. More than 4,600 health workers have been added to hospital staffs and municipal health departments, and several thousand have received grants to pay for advanced training.

These are just a few samples of the program's accomplishments. The real achievements have been the salvaged human lives and the repaired minds and bodies.

Health Minister Martin is confident there are more and better achievements ahead. Most of the program will continue for another five years.

Allocations for hospital construction, for example, will probably exceed those of the past five years. In the next 12 months alone, approximately $20,000,000 will be available to provinces and municipalities in this field.

In addition to the 10 categories of grants made available under the first program, the government proposes to move ahead on three new health fronts. To the $100,000,000 granted since 1948 will be added a new $42,000,000 program of special assistance aimed at better care for mothers and children, improved rehabilitation arrangements for the disabled, and better technical facilities for assisting doctors in diagnostic work.

As in the past, the new grants will be made largely on a basis of financial co-operation with provincial and/or municipal governments. Provincial governments, and through them local health districts, will be free to advance projects designed to meet their particular needs.

For example, a province may suggest projects for more "Well-Baby" clinics, for free follow-up home nursing services or for improved child-science research under the first series of new grants for maternal health and child care. Similarly, suitable services for handicapped persons may be developed under the second series of grants; and under the third (and largest) series, a province may propose new x-ray and diagnostic equipment for hospitals and public clinics.

The program has attracted admiration and praise from outside Canada. A few months ago, Dr. J. H. Means, former professor of medicine at Harvard University, wrote in the Atlantic Monthly that Canada was far ahead of the United States in its emphasis on the government's role in national health and welfare.

Martin believes the National Health Plan will stand out in Canadian history as one of the finest monuments to the humanity of parliament and of its founders.

"As long as peace safeguards our progress," he says, "measures such as these are symbols of that continuing and wholehearted collaboration between Canada's public and private health workers that is bringing us ever nearer our common objective, the highest possible standard of health for all Canadians."

The Summerland Review

GRANVILLE ST. WEST SUMMERLAND

No one will probably ever appreciate the true value of their voting privilege until they see it slipping away—or slipped away. But to those who have lost the right, it is of the greatest value. Men have, and will continue to, sacrifice their lives in an effort to regain their lost right to choose freely who shall govern them.

So voting becomes more than a privilege, it becomes a responsibility. We have been granted a heritage of free people. It is our responsibility to protect that heritage and pass it on to posterity with the foundations just as strong as they were when it was passed down to us.

The alternative voting system has provided a measure of protection so that the will of the majority of voters will prevail. To use this system effectively, every voter should mark every name on the ballot in the order of choice. To do otherwise does not in any way help a favored candidate and only serves to defeat the purpose of the balloting system.

Here in South Okanagan riding, whichever of the four candidates is elected, we will have able and honest representation. The important thing is that the one elected be chosen by all the people, not just a handful of voters.

We promised nothing original in this editorial so we make no apologies for summing up with the most oft-repeated slogan of them all:

Vote as you like—but VOTE.

Radical Solution

Editor, The Review:

Once upon a time far, far into the future, it so happened that the results of an election in our great and glorious country showed that none of the political parties could form a government because no party had a clear majority. The date of this happening is so belated by time that no one living today will live to see it and even the youngest sons of the youngest parents may not see it either. However, it was admitted by all concerned that there was no use taking it back to the people because the same thing was bound to happen time and time again.

The elected representatives of the people met in session in order to try and find some way out of their dilemma. One quiet man in the assembly, after listening attentively for days, timidly rose to his feet and asked, "Would it not seem reasonable to assume that we, as representatives of our constituency, have been elected to represent the people of those constituencies? Can we not then, forget our party differences and all work together, passing that which is good for our people and throwing out that which is not good?"

Cries of shame and traitor to the party. Gasps of astonishment from the gallery followed by a stunned silence of all those present. The quiet little man looked wildly round and then with an effort drew himself together and continued, "Honorable gentlemen, I think we must honestly admit that there is something good in all of our platforms. I'm sure that most of the electors, if they would think for a moment, will concede that they, in electing a government, are much more interested in good legislation than in what party makes it a law. Let us then fulfill the obligation we have to those people and govern accordingly."

Silence: now the picture fades, made dim, by time and space, befogged by prejudice and bold intrigue. Grown dark and blurry as if on a television screen, streaked o'er with snow, it clears and fades again, still there but unintelligible, awaiting yet the touch or voice of one small man, who by his firm belief in what is right might sway a continent.

No seer am I to prophecy, or quote, but look into the future as you will, one thing is clear concerning those who vote 'tis, "those who call the tune must pay the bill."

What future holds, no man may clearly see 'tis left to visualize and hold to faith that, that supreme power as it guides the universe may raise the veil and all may know regarding which might stem, from one small man, who has the will to stand and face the multitudes.

Mid-Week Message

When they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marvelled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus. (Acts 4:13.)
Read Acts 5:38-42.

Once a friend gave me a piece of luminous cloth. It glowed in the dark. But it would not shine unless it was first held up to the light.

The lives of the apostles glowed with a strange and wonderful radiance. It was always a borrowed glow. It came from Christ. They had so exposed their lives to the Light of the world that He had passed on to them His luminous faith.

When men look at the apostles, they were amazed. There was something about them that showed unmistakably that they had been with Jesus. They were courageous people. Others could tell from the way they were living that they had been in companionship with Him.

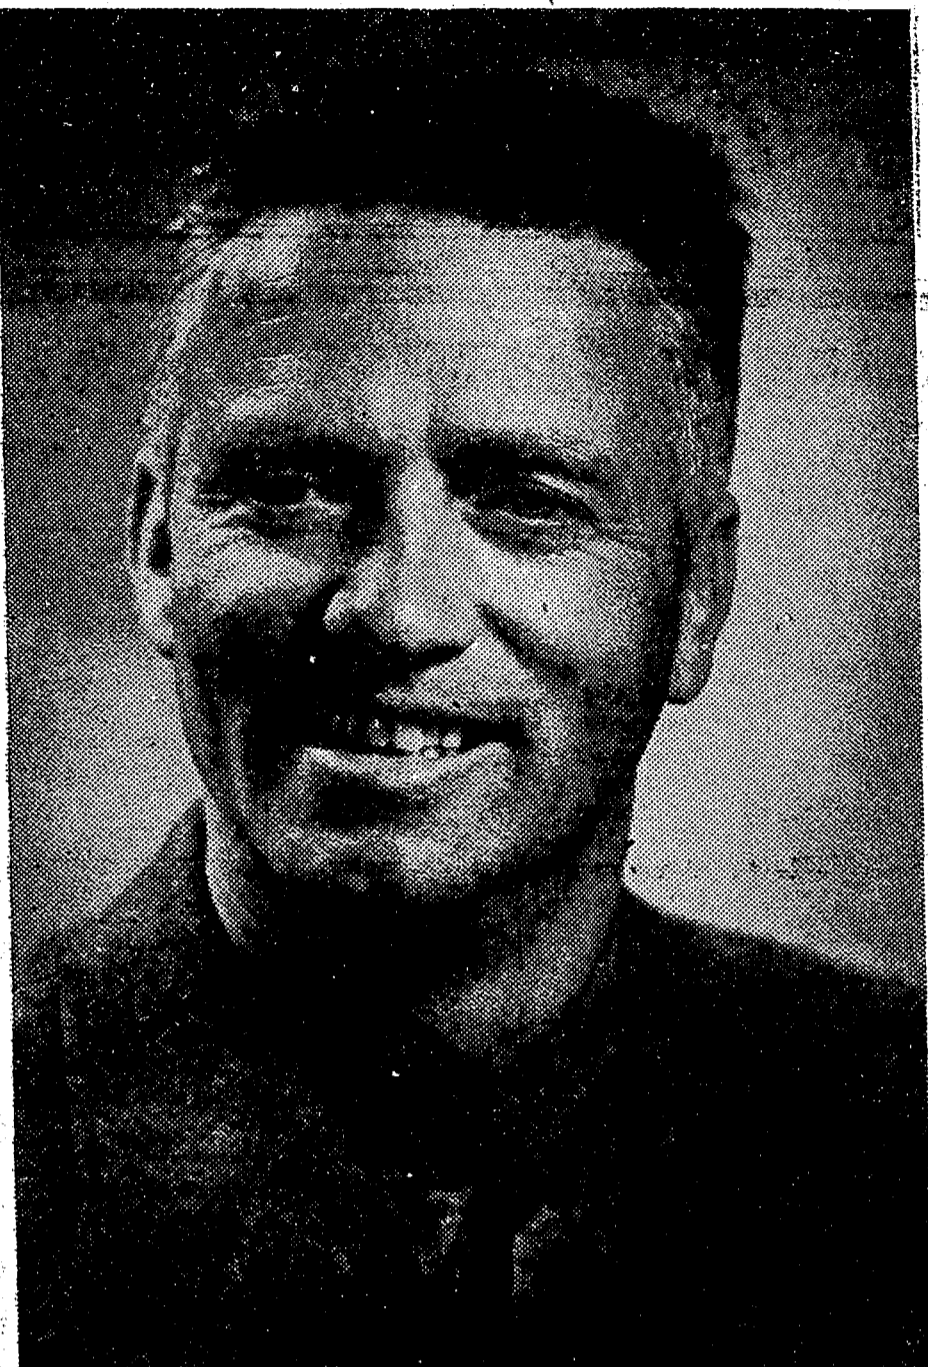

In order for Christ to make a great difference in our lives, it is necessary for us to spend time with Him every day. Then our words and acts will be the working of the Holy Spirit in us, and others will know with certainty that we have been with our Redeemer and Master.

PRAYER

Father, lift up our minds and hearts into daily fellowship with Thee. May we have each intimate contact with the mind and spirit of Christ that He will leave His indelible imprint upon our lives. In the Master's name we pray. Amen.

Evening Branch Plans Annual Garden Party

Mrs. D. Turnbull was chosen delegate to the Kootenay diocesan conference at the regular monthly meeting of St. Stephen's Evening Branch W.A. held in the parish hall on Monday, May 25, with the president, Mrs. E. F. Weeks in the chair.

The conference is to be held at Trail on June 9-10.

Part of the evening was taken up with plans for the annual garden party and much lively discussion took place as to different attractions to be offered to those visiting the lovely rectory gardens that evening. Trying to avoid the rush of the cherry picking time, the date of the annual event was set for July 8, with the hope that the weatherman would co-operate with less rainfall than often occurs that week.

Mrs. R. Blewett was chosen general convenor for the garden party.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses for the month, Mrs. W. F. Evans, Mrs. R. Cuthbert and Mrs. A. Gately.

Surprise Party Marks Wedding Anniversary

Sunday, May 31 marked the 31st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. White, and on that occasion, in the evening, their neighbors on the Sand Hill Road gathered at their home for a surprise party which was greatly enjoyed by all participating.

Mrs. Glen McInnis of Brookmere visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Vanderburgh last week.

On Monday, Mrs. J. E. O'Mahony, president of the St. John Ambulance Association here, entertained at a luncheon in honor of Mr. Edmundson, of Vancouver, executive head of the B.C. St. John's Ambulance Association, who is touring the province regarding the Civil Defense program.

Invited were Capt. A. M. Temple, local head of civil defense activities, Miss Louise Atkinson, secretary of Summerland St. John's Ambulance Association, and Gordon Beggs, vice-president, local St. John's Association.

The visitor had many pertinent and interesting things to discuss.

Wartime Evacuee Back on Brief Visit

Brian Kelly has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Atkinson. He will be remembered by many as the English boy who lived with the Atkinsons for five years during World War II.

Since that time he has been back in England, and now is in Toronto where he does painting and decorating.

Farmers Being Taxed Off Land

The existing unfairness in education costs on farm lands will be removed under a Laing government. This is the most important plank in the Liberal agricultural program. If this is not done in the very near future, farmers will be forced right off their farms, as today as much as 75 per cent of their municipal tax goes to education, and this amounts in many cases to between $7 and $8 an acre. At this rate the municipalities may eventually be farming in a big way.

The Liberals would provide definite grants for education on a per capita basis with additional Federal aid for UBC and vocational training. The Province would assume 80 per cent of education costs to relieve municipalities and rural areas. It is the intention of the Liberal party to study ways and means of removing the inequities on land and property in regard to the school tax.

The Liberal farm program has been taken entirely from suggestions presented by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, which represents all farmers in the province. This is proof that the Liberal party realizes that those that represent farmers are the ones they should take their advice from.

Agriculture is of great importance to this province, the value of

B.C. produce sold annually being around 160 million dollars. The agricultural candidates the Liberal party is offering this year are finest you could get—men who will undoubtedly have the confidence of both the farmers themselves and the consumers. With these men running as Liberals, an agricultural policy has been formulated that will be of the greatest possible mutual benefit to both farmers and consumers—and that's what we need—mutual trust and mutual understanding of our mutual interests.

Why I am your LIBERAL Candidate

Because I am convinced that the Liberal Party has a sound platform, a sincere and experienced leader, and is the only group of candidates capable of bringing the necessary high standards of ability and experience to your government in Victoria. I am proud to be associated with the other 47 candidates chosen to represent the Liberal Party.

While ALL are experienced in their individual fields, here are some representative Liberal candidates:

- LES GILMORE, DELTA (Internationally prominent in AGRICULTURAL CIRCLES): "As one of 7 agriculturists among the Liberal candidates, I join them in assuring good representation for B.C. farmers."
- NANCY HODGES, VICTORIA (Long-experienced in representing the WOMEN'S VIEW-POINT in Legislature): "The women of this Province deserve responsible government and I, with the other three Liberal women candidates, intend to see that we get it!"
- MAJ. GEN. VICTOR ODLUM, VANCOUVER-BURRARD (Outstanding soldier, statesman, Canadian Ambassador, with world-wide experience in INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS and COMMERCE): "I accepted nomination only after assuring myself of the sincerity and integrity of Arthur Laing and his aims. I pledge myself to support them."
- MAYOR F. H. JACKSON, NEW WESTMINSTER (24 years' association with MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT, member of Typographical Union): "With 18 of my fellow Liberal candidates being experienced in municipal governments, among them 3 Mayors, 3 Reeves, 7 Aldermen, 3 School Trustees—I feel that we are truly representative of the people, and can best serve their needs in Legislature."
- W. T. STRAITH, Q.C., VICTORIA (16 CONSECUTIVE YEARS OF SERVICE AS M.L.A., with further background in municipal affairs): "Now, more than ever before, the people of this Province need experience in the Legislature. The 11 other Liberal candidates who with myself have legislative experience can provide this."

"Good Legislators are essential to Good Government. This revitalized Liberal Party has been fortunate in attracting, as candidates, men and women of exceptionally high calibre.

"I urge you to compare the ability and experience of the Liberal candidates with all others in the field before you cast your vote on June 9th. It is only ability which can guarantee stability."

Would Eliminate Means Test . . .

O. L. Jones Urges Minister To Hear Vets' Appeal For Pension Increases

An urgent appeal for an increase in veterans' pensions was made in the House of Commons last week by O. L. Jones, MP for Yale, during a preliminary debate.

Mr. Jones also asked that the government give pension boards greater power to give the "benefit of the doubt" to the widows or orphans of veterans when claims are being made.

Mr. Jones' remarks, as they appeared in Hansard:

Mr. Chairman, I shall not take more than a moment in this discussion. I, too, would like to pay a compliment to the staff and personnel administering the Pension Act. I think that so far as British Columbia is concerned they have received co-operation, and particularly from the Legion.

While we are referring to the department, and its paternal interest in veterans' affairs in general, may I say that I feel sometimes there is too great a stress laid upon the paternal angle in that they are apt to treat returned men as youngsters, children, or people to be cared for, and they are not left with that degree of freedom to which they are entitled.

I refer to those in receipt of war veterans' allowances who are not permitted to earn more than a certain sum of money. The amount they are allowed to earn is so small that, in view of the high cost of living today—and this is particularly true in my province—these people are not living at a very high standard.

I have a letter from one veteran who helped to supplement his pension by raising chickens. The other day he wrote to me saying that the chicken operation had been so prolific that his income had risen to the point where it was above the limit, with the result that he had to sell his chickens, and that today he is doing nothing. I would ask the minister to reconsider his decision and remove the means test from this particular pension.

There is one other matter I should like to bring to the minister's attention. I have had one or two local cases which have been marginal in character where there has been some doubt as to whether the man had died as a result of

Canada Prepares To Deal With Disaster

(This is the first in a series of 10 articles dealing with the preparations Canada is making against possible sudden attack and why every Canadian should be ready for such eventuality.)

Contrary to widely-held opinion, total extinction is by no means inevitable in modern warfare, even under attack by the most powerful weapons yet used.

This is the keynote of instruction contained in a federal civil defence handbook, "Personal Protection under Atomic Attack", published by the Department of National Health and Welfare, whose minister, Hon. Paul Martin, is responsible for civil defence at the federal level.

Intended as a general guide to the population at a time when Canada is organizing and training services to cope with mass disaster, the civil defence manual is predicated upon the possibility that some of our cities could be targets for atomic bombs.

The book was printed before it was disclosed that some nations have carried experimentation with service overseas. In one case the decision was quite doubtful; as a matter of fact I still feel that it was wrong. The result is that the death-dealing weapons into the field of hydrogen explosives, which may be even more lethal than the much-publicized atom bombs. But, experts of the Defence Research Board, Canada, scientific advisers to the civil defence authorities, believe that the principles which it sets forth in layman's language hold good under any type of attack, including those with high explosives or incendiary bombs, and, indeed, are applicable in most types of peacetime catastrophe as well.

"This business of getting ready for attack by an atomic or some other kind of bomb, does not mean that the place in which we live is going to be bombed", the book notes in its introduction. "It simply means that we are playing safe. It's the sort of thing we do all the time when we buy insurance, put lightning rods on the roof and pour anti-freeze into the car radiator. We just don't want to take a chance."

The parallel between civil defence and insurance is drawn throughout informational material issued by the Civil Defence Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare. It reiterates, in all its publications, that, since disaster is no respecter of persons or places, everyone must be prepared to meet any type of emergency, including enemy attack.

Civil Defence is described as organized preparedness, helping to minimize the effects of disaster, save lives and property, maintain production and sustain the country's will to pull through and to fight back out of adversity.

If Canada became involved in a war and was subjected to hostile action, government officials feel that the enemy would be more interested in bombing unprepared communities than those where everybody was ready because, then, they could cause more casualties and do far greater damage. So, the better prepared, the better a community's chances of escaping with little or no injury.

"As a matter of fact," says the government book "our chances according to the law of averages, are pretty good in any case, but they are far better if we take appropriate precautions".

The book goes on to describe the types of atomic weapons which could be used against Canadian communities, explains what to do now to prepare for such emergency, what to do if attack comes and how to carry on afterwards. Included in the manual are clear instructions on construction of basement shelters and outdoor shelters and special hints which may be invaluable to citizens in wartime.

Copies of the manual "Personal Protection under Atomic Attack" are available, free, to all civil defence workers, through Provincial Civil Defence offices.

ALTERNATIVE VOTING

WILL BE USED IN THE COMING

PROVINCIAL ELECTION

HERE'S HOW YOU VOTE WITH ALTERNATIVE VOTING

To vote this way is simplicity itself . . . it is just a case of using the common numerals 1-2-3-4, or as far as you want to go up to the number of candidates listed on your ballot.

Beside the name of your first choice you mark the number 1 . . . then beside the name of your second choice mark 2 . . . beside the name of your third choice mark 3 . . . and so on.

If you "plump", which means, if you mark your ballot for only one candidate, your plumping does not give your favourite candidate one bit of advantage more than if you mark a choice for each of the others . . . there is nothing gained, but you do deprive yourself, should your first choice be eliminated, of your privilege to further express your wishes in the continued counting, which may be necessary in order to establish which candidate enjoys an absolute majority vote.

The Provincial Elections Act provides that all ballot marking shall be done with black lead pencil. Black lead pencils are provided in all polling booths. If a voter uses ink or colored pencil, the ballot is spoiled, and will automatically be eliminated in the counting. Do not spoil your ballot . . . use black lead pencil only.

Closing Apple Pool Figures Disclose Average Increase of 18 cents per Box

The average box of apples of the 1952 crop brought pool prices of about 18 cents more than the average box of the 1951 crop and 88 cents more than the average for 1950, according to figures released by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., this week.

In the 1952 pool, just closed, 5,299,205 boxes of apples brought in excess of $13,500,000 for an average of $2.55.

In the 1951 pool, 4,342,377 boxes brought $10,349,059.60, an average of $2.37.

In 1950, 8,074,566 boxes brought $13,441,923.04, an average of $1.66.

These figures, of course, do not mean that the growers received these prices per box. These are the prices that the selling agency remitted to the packing houses and from them the packing charges must be deducted.

The average packing charge this year is placed by informed authorities at roughly $1.06. Last year they were $1.03.

Deducting the packing charges from the average price per box leaves $1.49 ($2.55 less $1.06). The comparable figure last year was $1.34 ($2.37 less $1.03).

However, there is another charge which must come off before the grower receives payment. This is the cold storage and here the valley average is placed at roughly 20 cents per box. This figure will vary greatly in the various districts.

THE GREATEST INDUSTRIAL HEADLINE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA'S HISTORY:

$550,000,000 ALUMINUM INDUSTRY
FOR NORTH B.C. COAST REGION

From Vancouver to the ends of the earth, this headline told the wide world that British Columbia was on the way to industrial greatness . . . the kind of future of which her people had always dreamed. Investors everywhere turned their eyes toward B.C.

Now Here Is Another Headline

Published a few Days Ago:

CCF Would Seize Alcan, Breweries

DUNCAN — A Socialist government in B.C. would take over the B.C. Electric, the breweries, and "in time" the $550,000,000 Alcan project, at Kitimat, CCF leader Arnold Webster said here Wednesday.

The new leader, making his first Vancouver Island appearance in the campaign, before 100 persons, outlined "Austrian styled" in reply to . . .

NOTE: When this headline appeared British Columbia was shocked. The leader of the Socialists then announced that Alcan would not be taken over provided it "lived up to its social obligations." But the B.C. Manifesto of the CCF to which the B.C. party subscribes, says: "No CCF Government will rest content until it has eradicated capitalism and put into operation the full programme of socialized planning . . . The CCF official programme is to take over "natural resources and the principal means of production and distribution."

GOING UP!

The Free Enterprise
Vote in B.C. Provincial Elections

AS CITIZENS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA WE MAY ASK OURSELVES TWO QUESTIONS:

1. Which kind of headline do we want? We can't have both.
2. If, under any circumstances, a Socialist government in B.C. were to take over the great Alcan investment, where would it get its raw material? Bauxite is not found in North America. Semi-processed raw material would have to come from the people whose property had been seized!

Only free competitive enterprise can carry British Columbia forward under the Canadian freedom system of life . . . can create more jobs, opportunities, rising standards of living and security, more wealth for wide distribution, good union contracts, more public purchasing power.

Frost Warning Service Ended

The 19th season of the frost and wind warning service has come to an end. This service has been provided by the meteorological branch of the department of transport and the BCFGA. At 9 a.m., Sunday, May 31 the last bulletin went on the air from the radio stations in Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon and Kamloops.

Because of the early spring, this season has been about two weeks longer than usual. The first forecast was issued on March 25.

In past years an early spring has often meant the arrival of serious frosts at blossom time. This year, however, apart from two very cold nights at the beginning of April, frost did not present too much of a problem.

A feature of the service this year was the inauguration of spray weather forecasts. These have become necessary with the increase of blossom thinning and have been issued daily in addition to the regular frost and wind warning bulletins.

rough estimates. The actual amount a specific grower will receive will be governed, of course, not only by the packing charges of his house, but also by the varieties he grows and the grades he obtained on those varieties.

However, for rough calculation, it may be said the average grower will receive between $1.30 and $1.35 a box for his apples.

Before he can figure his net profit of course, he must deduct his own operating costs.

That prices were better for the 1952 crops than in the previous two years is readily seen by a quick glance at some grades in some varieties in the pools over the past three seasons.

For instance extra fancy McIntosh in 1952 pool price was $2.81 while in 1951 it was $2.60 and in 1950

Similar results are found in other varieties, the 1951 price being first in brackets and the 1950 second.

McIntosh—fancy medium $2.55 ($2.35; $1.62). Cee wrapped $2.13 ($1.95; $1.35).

Red Delicious—extra fancy medium $3.57 ($3.19; $2.20). Fancy medium $3.18 ($2.82; $1.94). Cee medium $2.66 ($2.33; $1.64).

Delicious—extra fancy medium $3.31 ($3.00; $2.12). Fancy medium $2.92 ($2.64; $1.85). Cee medium $2.40 ($2.27; $1.70).
Winesap—extra fancy medium $3.44 ($3.10; $2.25). Fancy medium $3.18 ($2.86; $2.07). Cee medium $2.85 ($2.55; $1.70).
Newtown—extra fancy medium $2.99 ($2.88; $2.15). Fancy medium $2.74 ($2.64; $2.07). Cee medium $2.35 ($2.27; $1.70).
Other varieties generally show a comparable difference in the figures

The Chateau Frontenac made an imposing background as the Empress of Australia, making her first westbound voyage under Canadian Pacific colors, passed Quebec City on her way up the St. Lawrence River to Montreal. The 19,600-ton vessel was purchased by Canadian Pacific Steamships to replace the Empress of Canada, destroyed by fire at her Liverpool dock last January. She was formerly the "De Grasse" of the French line. This is the first of 10 round trip voyages between Liverpool and Montreal which this vessel will make during the present season of St. Lawrence navigation.

Food Prices Decline . . .

Heavier Spending on Consumer Goods Noted in Review of Past 12 Months

Apart from broad determinants, a number of short-term influences operating in Canada's economy "have brought about a change" in both the amount and pattern of consumer demand, the Bank of Montreal comments in its latest Business Review. Chief among these are "the course of prices and the volume of housing construction." Also, there was the suspension of credit regulations a year ago which possibly affected buying habits to a greater degree.

In the nine months ended March 1952, "volume of retail trade declined by about six per cent from a year earlier," the review notes. It rose "by 12 and a half per cent in the 12 months ended March 1953."

"The main element in the turnaround seems to have been consumer durable goods," the bank states. In the 11 months ended February 1953, shipments by producers of motor vehicles "amounted to 410,000 units as against 353,000 a year earlier. . . . Refrigerators rose to 244,000 from 163,000, while washing machines reached 248,000 compared with 164,000. In the nine months to December 1952, sales of radios increased to 473,000, a rise of 72,000. Television sets, however, showed the most marked increase, rising to 125,000 from 25,000 units a year before.

Foodstuffs Cheaper Other Sales Heavier

Another important influence, the review points out, was that when food prices rose between June 1950 and August 1951, less of the family budget was available for less essential goods and services. Conversely, with the decline of food prices, consumers could afford to buy costlier items.

"Residential construction, which declined during the period of general credit restraint, has since been rising. Housing completions in February of this year were up by 39 per cent over the same month in 1952.

"The rise in retail sales has been accompanied by a spectacular jump in the volume of consumer credit," the review continues. "At the end of 1952 . . . total consumer credit outstanding is estimated by the Bank of Canada to have been $1,530 millions, an increase of $519 millions, or 51 per cent in the space of nine months." An expansion in debt of this size, in so short a space of time, "naturally raises questions that demand careful analysis."

Consumer Credit Growth

The growth of consumer credit "was probably no more than would have gradually been reached had the pre-Korean trend from 1946 to 1950 been pursued without interruption," the review continues. "Moreover, there is evidence that the rate of increase has since diminished." However, the relative burden of consumer credit "depends in the last analysis on the ability of consumers to carry the debt they have incurred."

Available statistics may not provide a wholly reliable indication of this ability "since they beg the question of the relationship of debt to income in individual cases." Aggregate figures, however, indicate that "since the end of the war, total consumer credit outstanding has been rising somewhat faster than the disposable income available to consumers after taxes, but by pre-war standards, the relationship does not appear to be overly high. The average level of consumer credit last year was equivalent to 8.1 per cent of disposable income as against 7.8 per cent in 1950 and 6.1 per cent in 1948." Based on year-end figures, "consumer credit, at 9.7 per cent of disposable income in 1952, was just slightly higher than the 9.5 per cent for 1951."

In conclusion, the review points out that "the past twelve months have been marked by a significant addition to the real income of the consumer, which he has largely taken in the form of durable goods." Whether his real income will rise or fall, or whether, if it rises, he will continue to spend it in the same way, "are questions of vital concern to retailers and businessmen in general." All that can be said now, however, is that "industrial payrolls have continued to expand and that prices have remained relatively stable." Intimations nevertheless, from official sources, of a tapering off this year in the rate of increase in consumer credit outstanding, "point to a change in the pattern of demand that may affect those lines in which sales have been particularly buoyant in recent months."

WARNING

During the past week there were three breaks in the Municipal Irrigation system caused by material being deliberately thrown into the flumes. Parents are asked to impress on their children the danger of playing near flumes and especially of placing anything in the flumes or creeks as this may cause a serious washout on the irrigation system.

The operation of the irrigation system is important to every resident of the Municipality and their co-operation will save much property damage and avoid delays in having to shut the water off while repairs are being made.

A Reward of up to $50.00 is offered for information leading to the conviction of any person damaging Municipal property.

Macs Take First Victory With Win Over Pentiction

With a classy performance Sunday afternoon, Summerland Macs pulled the sting from a beating at the hands of the Pentiction Athletics last week and held the visitors scoreless while they racked up their first win of the season. Score was 4-0.

Eyre went the distance on the mound for the Macs and was touched for only four hits while his teammates collected a total of 10.

Breaking the losing jinx seemed to give the Macs a new lease on life and Tuesday night played heads-up ball only to be edged out by Oliver who sent a tie-breaking run across the plate in the ninth to take a 5-4 win.

Having broken the ice, the Macs can now be expected to really settle down to business with their determination to pick up the handicap of an early-season run of hard luck.

Sunday the boys showed top-notch form in the field right from the beginning and in the first three innings the Pentiction batters went down one-two-three. Summerland showed the way right from the very opening and Hooker, their first man at the plate, tallied the first run.

In the second stanza, Taylor led off and was caught out, at first, Aikin and Weitzel singled but were left on base when Farynyuk and Eyre were caught out. The Macs were still trying in the third and Hooker and Gould both singled for a start but Kato, Cristante and Taylor were sent back in order.

Pentiction started off their fourth session at bat with singles by Moore and Mori but Burgart, Russell and O'Connell were set down in order to leave the two runners on base. The Macs saw Aikin, Weitzel and Farynyuk go down in order.

The fifth frame saw the Summerland hit a scoring rally. In the first half, Eyre held his steady pace and Collins, Neves and Heberton went back to the bench in that order. Hooker, first up for Summerland singled and Gould made first with the help of an error by Neves at third. Kato picked up a free ride to fill bases and Cristante followed with a fielder's choice that got him to first but Hooker was caught out on a throw to home plate, leaving the bases still loaded. Taylor's single brought Gould and Kato home, then Aikin belted a single to right field to bring Cristante across the plate. Getz was sent in to replace Jordan on the mound and the rally ended when Weitzel popped to Neves and Farynyuk fanned.

The Athletics made their only serious scoring threat in the sixth. Moore opened up with a hit but was tagged going to second when Mori laid down a fielder's choice to Kato. Burgart and Russell both took free rides and with the bases loaded O'Connell struck out and Getz popped to left field. Hooker was unable to beat the throw to first when he laid one down the third base line and Farynyuk and Eyre were both retired via the strikeout route.

The seventh saw Heberton take a walk after Collins and Neves had been caught out at first but Getz followed and failed to make first. Gould belted out the only two-bagger of the day but then got caught in a double play when Kato hit to Heberton at second. Cristante and Taylor both collected hits but were left on base when Aikin popped to left field.

Moore was walked at the beginning of the eighth but got no further than second when Mori, Burgart and Russell went down in that order. Summerland batters Weitzel and Farynyuk fanned and Eyre went out at first. O'Connell, first Pentiction batter in the final stanza, struck out, Neves followed and was caught out on a throw to first by Hooker and then Heberton fanned to end the game.

How many products do we get from crude oil?

From eggs, a hen can expect just one product—chicks. But from crude oil, Imperial refines 679 different products, ranging from weed killers to heavy asphalts. And that is not all—crude oil also supplies petroleum gases and other raw materials for plastics and synthetic rubber.

Oil plays a large and growing part in our everyday living. How many of these questions about it can you answer?

- Oil supplies are vital to defence. The gasoline required to move one armoured division 100 miles would run your car for 10 years? 95 years? 350 years?
- The average family car could be operated for 350 years on the gasoline needed to move an armoured division 100 miles.
- Even though gasoline road taxes are higher in all provinces, today's average pay cheque will buy 135 gallons.
- Oil is usually found far underground in the tiny pores of rock such as limestone or sandstone. The word petroleum is derived from the Latin "petra" and "oleum"—rock oil.
- The industry is expected to spend $300 millions on exploration and development this year—about $6 millions a week.
- Imperial's investment in plant and equipment is $30,715 for each of its 13,500 employees, and it is still rising.

How much will the oil industry spend each week this year to find and develop oil fields in western Canada? $2½ millions? $6 millions? $12 millions?

It takes many millions of dollars in plant and equipment to provide high-quality oil products when and where you need them. How much does this amount to per Imperial employee? $3,856? $16,597? $30,715?

I am satisfied and the doctors who knew this man are satisfied that he died as a result of service. There is in the act a section which is supposed to give the benefit of doubt to a pensioner or to a pensioner's widow, but I am afraid that that section is not clear enough. I have come across many cases where the benefit of the doubt has not been given to the widow.

I urge the minister to issue instructions to all boards that in future greater consideration must be given to the power that they have to give the benefit of the doubt to a widow or to the orphaned children of a returned man. I ask the minister to listen to the plea of the returned men in general, particularly the Canadian Legion, in connection with the war veterans' allowance and their request that it be increased to $60 per month for single and $120 for married men. In doing that I do believe he would be carrying out the wishes, not only of the returned men themselves but of the people of Canada who are anxious to pay their debt, who are willing to pay their debt, and who are able to pay their debt to the men who defended them in time of need.

Has Government Tampered With Fruit Growers' Marketing System?

Has the Government of British Columbia tampered with the marketing system of the Okanagan fruit growers? This is a question which, fortunately, at present can be answered in the negative. Unfortunately however, the same does not apply to other aspects of the agricultural industry of the Province. During the Social Credit term of office, the dairymen were vitally concerned with the government's threat to meddle with milk controls. If the Social Credit are re-elected to power, the "writing is on the wall", the dairy industry will lose its control of orderly marketing of dairy products. If this should happen, what branch of the industry would be next to be tampered with?

The Liberal party does not wish or intend to interfere with the present marketing set-ups of the various branches of the agriculture industry but wish to assist them in every possible way to improve the present systems. It is the intention of the Liberal party if elected to power on June 9 to provide a more active Market Branch within the Department of Agriculture and to assist the problems of industry further by promoting closer co-operation between the Provincial Government, the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and the Federal Government.

In the South Okanagan, a farming area, elect a capable farmer who appreciates the value of orderly marketing to represent you in Victoria. As your number 1 choice vote Victor Wilson on June 9.—Advt.

Dollar-A-Day Co-Insurance To Be Removed

The present BCHS system of charging patients one dollar for each day spent in the hospital will be abolished by the Liberals if elected on June 9. The new Liberal platform adopted by a convention of 800 delegates from all over B.C. last April and approved by their provincial leader, Mr. Arthur Laing, calls for the continuation of benefits of hospitalization without co-insurance.

Another plank in the Liberal Health and Welfare program calls for the payment by the government from consolidated revenue of premiums for citizens of low incomes. This would provide much-needed financial relief for hundreds of citizens. If you favor these proposed changes to the Hospital Insurance Act, make Liberal candidate Victor Wilson your first choice on June 9.—Advt.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett

Will Call Fall Session . . .

Bennett Gets Majority On Ballot First Count

"The beginning of the end of the tight Liberal regime in Canada for the past 25 to 30 years". This was the prediction of Socred leader Premier W. A. C. Bennett in a statement to The Summerland Review when election returns indicated his party would be returned to power but this time with a working majority in the legislature.

"The effect of this election on the federal scene is tremendous," said Mr. Bennett. "It was the federal, not provincial, Liberal party that opposed us. Why for the first time in history, they had the Liberal senators from Ottawa supporting their campaign."

The premier in his comments dismissed the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives as being out of the B.C. political picture for all time and said, "We are now back to the two-party system—the free enterprise Social Credit party and the Socialist CCF party." He went on to define Socred political philosophy as being strictly "middle-of-the-road free enterprise. 'Some people,' he said, 'have claimed we are extreme right and others say we are radical. We are neither. We are middle-of-the-road.'"

Mr. Bennett, who during the campaign talked of Socreds taking 30 seats, waxed more optimistically after looking over results of first count and jumped his prediction to "30 to 37". He said he looks for a Socred trend in second, third and fourth choices and expects that in addition to Socreds leading on the first count there will be others elected, too.

Mr. Bennett said he has called a cabinet meeting for Friday and said there will be a fall session "probably the end of September or early in October."

The fall session, he described as an 'extra session' and not a special one. "We will bring up," he said, "the legislation vetoed by the opposition at the last session and perhaps some other things—anything that is really urgent." He declined to elaborate on what might be classified as urgent and mentioned specifically only liquor legislation as being one of the items in this category. He declined to state whether amendments to the IC&A act or the Workmen's Compensation Act would fall within this category. "The regular business we will deal with at this February session."

Protests Growers Not Co-operating

Municipal councillors Tuesday afternoon heard a complaint from water department foreman, E. Kercher that he has not been receiving co-operation from some of the growers and several bad wash-outs have occurred because irrigation sprinklers have been turned off without his department being notified.

Mr. Kercher mentioned particularly an instance a couple of weeks ago when sprinklers on 70 acres were all turned off one Sunday morning and not one of the growers notified the ditchman and a very serious washout resulted when the flume overflowed.

The water foreman pointed out to the council the ditchmen could only maintain a proper flow in the irrigation system if they were advised beforehand when sprinklers are to be turned off. Many growers were of the opinion, he said, that they were not required to notify the ditchman of their intention.

Council agreed to support the water department men in whatever corrective action it found necessary to overcome the problem.

Triple Honors . . .

Preston Mott Scholarship Winner At Annual Graduation Exercises

The eighth annual graduation exercises of Summerland High School were carried out with precision and beauty on Friday afternoon, June 5, in the auditorium when twenty-one young men and women were the principals in this summertime event.

Flowers were arranged across the front of the platform, and the graduating class marched slowly to their places on the platform to piano music by Eugene Bates.

A. K. Macloed, the principal of the junior-senior high introduced the graduates, one by one, telling of their various achievements and activities, and they took their place in the front of the audience, some of them later to be called to the platform again to receive various distinctions.

Anticipated eagerly was the announcement of annual awards. Names of winners are awaited each year with excitement, not only among the student population but within the audience of parents, other relatives, and friends.

Triple honors this year went to Preston Mott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mott, who not only won the Verrier trophy, student award for best all round student, but, as well was given the Summerland scholarship, and was the valedictorian.

As valedictorian, Mott gave a practical, straightforward address, which was delivered in a telling, sincere manner.

In the absence of Dr. F. W. An-draw, who has been ill, the Scholarship award was presented by Mrs. Ewart Woolliams, a member of Summerland branch UBC Alumni.

Principal A. K. Macloed presented the Verrier trophy. The Sharman Marksman cup was won by William Austen, and was presented by E. E. Bates.

Evelyn Washington was the student winning the grade 11 book prize, and this was given out by Lacey Fisher.

New this year were the Women's Institute money prizes to students taking home economics. Mrs. C. H. Elsey, president of the local WI said that these would be given annually in the future, and gave envelopes containing $5 to Evelyn Washington, grade 11, Kathleen Yamabe, grade 10 and Lois Harbicht, grade 9.

Non-activity pins went to Rose Harrison, Merle Heavysides, Preston Mott, Rob Towgood and Brian Berg, with W. W. Durlok on the presentations. These are based on academic work.

No Candidates Forthcoming For Municipal By-Election

Deadline for nominations for the municipal by-election to fill a vacancy for councillor for the balance of this year passed at noon today with no candidate offering to stand for the office.

Vacancy on the council was created two weeks ago by the resignation of H. R. J. Richards who was disqualified from holding office when he disposed of his property in Summerland. He has since purchased property but he must be registered holder for six months prior to the election so will not be eligible until December.

With no candidates for the vacancy, the council may now appoint a councillor to fill out the term which expires in December.

Bennett Sees Tremendous Effect On Federal Politics in Victory

South Okanagan voters Tuesday gave W. A. C. Bennett a thumping 58 per cent of their votes to elect the Social Credit premier on the first count of ballots. He received a total of 6,514 of the 11,137 valid ballots cast. Mr. Bennett was one of only six candidates who had a clear majority on the first count. Four of the six were Social Credit and two were CCF.

Returns from throughout the province indicate clearly that the Social Credit party will again form the government for the province of British Columbia. With four already elected, they are leading in 26 ridings, CCF are leading in 13. Labor in one and Liberal in two.

Final outcome of the balloting will not be known for three weeks or more. Counting of second and third choices where necessary will start after June 30 when the absentee ballots have been distributed.

In South Okanagan, 78 per cent of registered voters cast their ballots, with 11,521 of the qualified 14,773 going to the polls. This was an increase in percentage but a drop in voters over last year. List of voters for this election contained 1,813 fewer names. In the last election 12,413 cast votes but this was only 74.84 of the number qualified.

Totals received by candidates and their percentage of the ballots cast: Bennett 6,514 (58.49%) Wilkinson 2,337 (20.88%) Wilson 1,894 (17%) Weddell 892 (3.52%).

Only other party which showed a gain over their showing in South Okanagan last year was the Liberals. Third place Vic Wilson polled 14.2 per cent against 14.2 per cent polled by the Liberal candidate last year. CCF candidate Tom Wilkinson dropped from 21.39 per cent a year ago to 20.88 in this election while voters who last year gave Conservatives 11 per cent, this time gave Mrs. E. C. Weddell only 3.52.

Indications are that voters in this riding are more familiar with the alternative balloting system. Last year 4.37 per cent of the ballots were spoiled while in this election the percentage dropped to 3.35.

Council Rejects License Fee Protest

Municipal council Tuesday heard a protest from Radio Station CKOK against being assessed a license fee for doing business in the municipality but councillors dismissed the protest as being without grounds and instructed the collector to obtain payment of the fee.

The collector had written the station several weeks ago pointing out they required a license to do business in this municipality and fee is $25 for six months.

M. P. Finnerty, president of the company, replied disagreeing that the provisions of the licensing by-law applied to them, but councillors pointed out it is being paid without question, by another radio station and there is no other section of the trade licensing by-law which applies in this case.

Council to Consider Proposal Of Municipally-Owned Rink

Following a committee meeting with the municipal council last week, Summerland Rink Association this week wrote the council a proposal that the municipality take over the rink from the association as a gift and then rent the rink to the association for a nominal sum on a lease for 20 years or more.

Problem of the rink association is that they are unable to raise funds to instal artificial ice and little use can be made of the rink until such time as an artificial ice plant is installed. Last year they were unable to make a sheet of natural ice.

The rink association proposal is that, subject to consent of their bond holders, they will turn the rink over to the municipality as a gift. The municipality can then ask the ratepayers for a money by-law in order to instal the plant. It is estimated $25,000 would be required for the installation.

By renting the rink then to the rink association, the latter would be able to raise money to pay off the interest and principle to their 2400 bond holders. Bonds issued by the association amount to $2,400.

The council took no action on the association proposal and will get legal opinion before giving consideration to it.

APPROVE ACCOUNTS

Municipal council Tuesday afternoon approved payment of May bills totalling $35,285.41.

TO CONVENTION

Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith left yesterday for Victoria where he will attend the Municipal Officers' Association today and tomorrow.

Dog Damage Up to $324.50

"Worst year for dogs in the history of the municipality."

This was the consensus of council members this week when two claims were presented for chickens destroyed by dogs.

Claims paid this year by the municipality for chickens, sheep and goats killed by dogs have amounted to $324.50.

The claims this week were entered by A. Leardo and J. Imayoshi. Mr. Leardo reported the loss of 51 10-week-old chickens but said he had been able to locate only 31 of the carcasses. Mr. Imayoshi reported loss of 10 chickens of the same age. In the latter case, the police report stated that some brown hair was found clinging to the fence but they couldn't determine whether it was from a dog or coyote. They will get the opinion of an expert.

The council approved payment for the birds at one dollar each, payment to Mr. Imayoshi being subject to police confirmation that a dog was responsible.

Warn Against Panic . . .

Two Summerland Children Infected With Polio Incidence On Increase

Polio is again starting to make appearances through the valley and two Summerland children have already been stricken by the infection. Both are in the Peniticon hospital. Reports from the hospital this morning state the condition of both is improving and medical attendants are hopeful of a full recovery.

In a press release this week South Okanagan Health Unit pointed out the death rate in polio is low and the percentage of those left with paralysis is not great and warned against panic during the presence of the disease. Good hygiene the release stated is one of the most effective defences against infection.

Following is the Health Unit release:

A number of cases of poliomyelitis have been reported from the South Okanagan Health Unit recently and the presence of this dread disease in a community always gives rise to justifiable uneasiness. Unfortunately, medical science has not yet been able to establish the exact method and routes by which the virus of poliomyelitis is transferred from one patient to another. It is known that for every person who develops a clinical case of poliomyelitis a large number, possibly about one hundred, are infected but throw the infection off with minor or no symptoms. The infection is, therefore, much more widely present in a community than would appear from the number of reported cases.

Since we do not know how poliomyelitis is spread, medical science can only recommend that the general principles of good hygiene should be practised to their fullest extent. Cleanliness of the person and the home should be maintained and flies should be excluded as it is probable that they can carry the virus from infected sources to foods. Over-exertion and chilling should be avoided as they might lower the natural resistance to infection. There is a possibility of infection being spread by nasal secretions and swimming pools should be avoided. It is not considered advisable to close schools for while in school the children are under discipline in well-ventilated classrooms; out of school they would probably be just as much exposed to infection and more apt to lower their resistance through over-exertion.

The death rate in poliomyelitis is low and the percentage of those left with paralysis is not great. Methods of and facilities for treatment have improved greatly in recent years. The best of facilities are available in B.C.

The present rise in the number of cases cannot fail to cause concern but we must face the presence of poliomyelitis with resolution and avoid anything resembling panic. The regular work of the community must go on.

Clear Mandate . . . and now we all pull together

THE election sound and fury—insofar as South Okanagan riding is concerned at any rate—has died away and the electors have made their choice.

To Premier W. A. C. Bennett we join in offering warmest congratulations. His was a victory which must be to him a source of deep satisfaction. He returns to the legislature in Victoria with the knowledge that he is there representing the majority of voters in this constituency.

To the voters—even those who opposed the winning candidates—there is a certain sense of pride to have the man who represents this district as premier of the province—and present indications leave little doubt but that Mr. Bennett's Social Credit party will again form the government.

During the heat of an election campaign, po-

Readers' Forum

West Summerland, B.C.

The Editor, Summerland Review:

At the last meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association a question was read from the question box which was of such interest to parents of the graduating students of the Summerland High School that it was decided to answer it through the press. It was asked who was responsible for deciding on the requirements for dress, flowers, and accessories for graduation exercises, since there was a feeling that the cost of these had become excessive.

There was some suggestion these requirements were the result of a ruling made by the school. However, the principal, Mr. A. K. Macleod, has pointed out in his opening remarks at each graduation that the young people themselves plan and carry out arrangements, the teaching staff acting only in an advisory capacity. At no time is any student told what he or she shall wear, this being strictly a matter between the student and parent. Expenses for decorations, food, dance, music, etc., are taken care of by funds raised from student activities, notably the variety show, and the students have never been authorized by the school to solicit funds for this purpose.

While the holding of these exercises is part of the official policy of the Department of Education and is generally commended, it has been suggested by some that a spirit of competition is developing so that each successive class tries to outdo the preceding one, particularly in matters of dress. Since this could lead to crippling extravagance, perhaps it might be wise to establish standard procedure so that the necessity of "keeping up with the Joneses" need not exist.

When the P-T-A reconvenes in October it is planned to bring this question up for discussion, and it is hoped that all parents interested in this and other problems will make a special effort to attend.

Yours truly,

LAURA REINERTSON (Mrs. C. W.)
Secretary Summerland P-TA

BY RUSTICUS

In those far-off faerie days before jet planes, atomic bombs, and labor-saving devices had robbed us of leisure and illusions, it used to be fun to speculate occasionally about wizards and witches, spirits and occult cults. These, instead of space-ships, were the magic that caught childhood's imagination; and adults, though professing indulgence for childish beliefs, passed many a happy hour discussing the powers of African witch-doctors, Indian fakirs and Tibetan lamas.

Let's think back on those days again, and see if we can escape reality a little while.

Suppose you had a bottle. Of what, you make your choice, as long as it had never been opened. For when you opened it, the contents was not pain-killer, or moose-milk, or tomato ketchup, but a genie.

A genie who swirled out of the bottle-top like a great cloud of dark smoke which half-filled the room and towered over mere man. 'I am the Slave of the Lamp,' remember?

What he would say, and what you would say, is a delightful matter for conjecture.

Suppose—just for fun—you were sceptic of his power. And he, by way of the queer proofs that genies use, said to you,

"Name the greatest inventions of mankind."

What would you name? Atomic bombs, of course, and jet engines—and maybe ordinary gas and steam engines; and television and radio and moving-pictures and airplanes and electricity — and a couple of others.

Suppose the genie said: "Very well, these are what you call man's greatest inventions; therefore they must be the ones you could least do without. I am going to leave those intact, and cancel out all the others—the unimportant ones. You can tell then if your guess was right."

He vanishes, then, through the ceiling, the way any well-bred genie goes.

You gasp and scratch your head, and move your feet. And all your clothes fall off. You didn't mention sewing, or buttons. If you didn't mention weaving, the cloth itself would fall apart into threads or fibres.

Embarrassing, what? You snatch at a paper to cover your nudity—but you forgot to mention paper-making. The dailies and the magazines that were on the chesterfield have disappeared; a few bits of wood and rag are lying about.

Gasping again, you sit down on the chesterfield to collect your thoughts. Boy, what a hard sit-down that was! Your list to the genie hadn't mentioned springs, so the chesterfield cushions no longer have them.

Crash! Down goes the whole chesterfield. You forgot to mention the saw; and that all wood had to be sawn. All your furniture in the house is falling to planks, because you hadn't mentioned the saws, either, that hold it together. Awfully simple little invention, the idea of thread on a metal peg; but did you ever think how invaluable it is in saws and bolts?

By this time you feel pretty rocky, so you stagger out into the kitchen to brew a cup o' coffee. There is the electric stove, all gleaming chromium and white enamel; thank goodness you mentioned litical opponents not infrequently grow harsh in their assessment of each other. But it is perhaps one of the richest ingredients of our democratic heritage that behind such statements, in nearly every case, no real enmity exists and with the campaign ended the participants of all parties pursue their courses with an increased respect for and friendliness toward their former campaign opponents.

With the election behind us, there is but a single goal ahead—the development of this great province to make it an even finer place to live. It is the duty of every person to now set aside political differences and unite solidly as British Columbians to put forward every effort in that direction.

Mental Recession

A few years ago when there was a great deal of talk about a recession or a depression because people feared business would be adversely affected by war reconversion problems, we published a little story which may have a moral at this time. Here is the story—with minor revisions to fit the current situation:

A man lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs. He was hard of hearing so he had no radio. He had trouble with his eyes so he read no newspapers. But he sold good hot dogs.

He put up a sign on the highway telling how good they were. He stood by the side of the road and cried: "Buy a hot dog, Mister." And people bought. He increased his meat and bun orders. He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade. He got his son home from college to help him.

But then something happened . . . His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio? If we have world peace, it will be bad for business. There may be a big recession coming on. You had better prepare for poor trade."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son has been to college. He reads the papers and he listens to the radio, and he ought to know." So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders. Took down his advertising signs. And no longer bothered to stand on the highway to sell hot dogs. And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight. "You're right, son," the father said to the boy. "We are certainly headed for a recession."

Pioneer Days

From Early Files of The Review

Thirty Years Ago — June 12, 1924

Summerland's fruit crop for 1923 had totalled $400,000, which was a great improvement on conditions of the previous year.

Percy Foster was awarded the mail route contract. Mr. Foster intended to use horses instead of a motor car.

Miss Vivian Jones had tendered her resignation on the high school staff, which was accepted with much regret.

Summerland municipality had bought some of its own bonds which were issued for the purpose of assisting the Hospital Society in building the new hospital.

The first cherries of the season were shipped during the week.

Rowcliffe, Ltd., of Kelowna had leased the T. B. Young building and was to engage in fruit shipping here. R. F. Dynes of Penticton was to be in charge.

A mud slide on the Laundry Road had blocked the back road to the hospital.

The hospital cabaret in Empire Hall was a great success.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ritchie on Saturday, June 7.

Mid-Week Message

At midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God. (Acts 16:25.) Read Acts 16:25-34.

Paul and Silas had reason to be miserable. Their backs were bruised and bleeding, their feet fastened in the stocks, the dungeon was dark. Then why did they pray and sing at midnight—not the time we usually sing or pray?

The answer is suggested by a lovely story of that seventeenth century saint, George Herbert. On his way from his little parish to Salisbury Cathedral, he had helped a poor man whose horse had fallen beneath a heavy load. He arrived at the cathedral late, his garments sadly soiled. He told what had happened, and added, "What I have done for that poor man will be music at midnight to my soul."

In the same way, we may be sure, Paul and Silas were happy because they had delivered a poor, afflicted girl from the malady which wicked men had sought to exploit. The Holy Spirit dwelt in Paul and Silas. They knew the joy of His companionship. The remembrance of kind deeds gives peace in the midnight hour.

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, fill us with Thy love that it may overflow in gentle words and kindly deeds. Amid all the pains and hardships of life, we pray that Thou wilt comfort us by Thy grace, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

From coast to coast in Canada, quite a large volume of printing has been produced using the Coronation theme. It is evident that the British Crown is still the most valuable in the world.

How much does a wildcat cost?

A "wildcat" is a well drilled in an area where oil has never been found. Drilling costs vary, but the average wildcat in western Canada runs to more than $100,000. One well cost $1,600,000—and found no oil!

Oil is making an increasingly important contribution to our standard of living. How many of these questions about it can you answer?

How many wildcat wells find a new oil field—

1 in 3? 1 in 7? 1 in 23?

Since 1939 the cost of living index has risen by 85%. During that time has the price you pay for gasoline gone up by—44%? 79%? 103%?

A lot of oil has been discovered in the west since 1946. In that time have Canada's oil reserves increased—4 times? 23 times? 37 times?

How many companies, would you say, are engaged in the oil business in Canada—

23? 174? 750?

Canada's growing oil industry means orders for many businesses, jobs for many Canadians. Last year Imperial's purchasing department bought equipment and supplies from Canadian firms amounting to—$12 millions? $56 millions? $110 millions?

The long-term average in western Canada is 1 in 23. Only 1 in 87 has found a field capable of producing as much as 2,000 barrels a day.

The average retail price of gasoline is only 44% higher than prewar, even with higher road taxes in all provinces.

Reserves have increased 23-fold in the past six years. Canadian fields now supply all the prairies and part of B.C. and Ontario.

About 750 companies in which the public has an investment interest, as well as several hundred private firms and partnerships. And this doesn't include the thousands of privately operated service stations and other retail and wholesale outlets for oil products.

$56 millions. About 4,500 Canadian companies sold Imperial supplies ranging from heavy steel plates to paper clips.

RECIPE HINTS

This attractive salad platter, featuring a mould of mixed canned vegetables surrounded by marinated peas and whole green beans, will win praises when paired with cold sliced ham and crisp potato chips

Mixed Vegetable Aspic

Dissolve 1 package lemon-flavored gelatin in 1 1/2 cups hot water. Add 1/2 tsp. salt, 2 tsp. grated onion and 1 tsp. vinegar. Chill until slightly thickened. Drain one can mixed vegetables. Fold the vegetables and 1/2 cup shredded cabbage into gelatin. Pour into mold. Chill until firm.

Vegetable Salad Platter

To make this salad arrangement place a bed of salad greens on a large serving plate. Unmold a mixed vegetable aspic and place it in the center. Chill and marinate canned peas and whole green beans in French dressing and circle the mold with mounds of them. Garnish peas with tiny celery slices and separate the vegetable with rows of cucumber slices. (Ruffle edges by drawing lines of a fork lengthwise along whole cucumbers to make deep grooves.)

Savory deviled ham rolled pinwheel fashion with tender biscuit dough makes a delightful hot-bread to accompany chilled vegetable salads. For variety you might serve tiny cornbread sticks or muffins made with your favorite recipe or an easy ready-mix.

GUIDE NEWS

Coronation Day will be one long remembered by Guides of the Similkameen and South Okanagan, not only because of its historical value and pageantry, but also because of the wonderful rally held in the rectory gardens, with Canon and Mrs. F.V. Harrison the host and hostess.

At 11 a.m. a large horseshoe was formed on the lawn directly in front of the rectory. The ceremony opened after three gold cord Guides had marched the colors on, and "O, Canada" had been sung.

Then Canon Harrison dedicated the little oak tree, a sapling from an oak in Windsor Castle grounds, which he obtained for the occasion, and put it in the ground. Mrs. E. A. Titchmarsh, the divisional commissioner, finished the planting, adding her good wishes, and the hope that the little tree grow strong, in the knowledge of the devotion Guides feel toward their Queen.

A letter from the Queen was read, which expressed her appreciation of the way in which we were remembering her Coronation. Again the gold cord Guides marched on, this time to present Mrs. Harrison with a blown sand brass plaque, engraved with the words, Queen Elizabeth II, June 2, 1953, and having the trefoll below. This plaque is to be placed by the tree, and as the tree grows, it will be suitable for placing on it. This was a surprise for Canon and Mrs. Harrison, and the Guides had paid for it themselves, by bringing extra fees to one of their weekly meetings.

After singing God Save the Queen Guides were dismissed until lunch time, and during the interval many girls met old acquaintances from previous rallies and camps.

Rangers served a most delicious luncheon of salad, cold meat, bread buns, with plenty of ice cream and generous portions of cake as dessert, while Canon Harrison was kept busy uncapping bottles of 'pop'. There is no way of saying how grateful we all were to have such a gracious host and hostess, and to thank them for the wonderful luncheon supplied. Most of us grumble when we have to prepare a meal for one family, and can hardly imagine preparing for such a large group as one hostess did! We think Mrs. Harrison would agree with us in saying Guides showed their gratitude by being on their very best behavior, so that one could hardly believe there were so many present.

BROWNIE CHATTER

2nd Summerland Pack

Work has progressed slowly in Brownies the last while due to outside activities which have kept us busy. The Brownies joined in the parade on Coronation Day and it was a ceremony I am sure they will long remember. On June 6, 31 Brownies of the first and second pack attended a rally in Penticton, and met with Guides and Brownies from all parts of the South Okanagan, Similkameen and Oliver boundary districts, where they welcomed 70 Camp Fire Girls from the United States. They took a picnic supper and were given a bottle of pop to go with it.

There are only two more meetings for the second pack before the holidays and we are sorry to say that when we meet again in the fall, we will be losing several of our golden hand Brownies to Guides. However, we already have the names of some girls wanting to join us in the fall, and we would like to have the names of any other girls turning eight by then who would like to join Brownies as the openings will be limited.

During the summer we will be having a beach party, at which time tests for swimmer's badge will be given, the date of which will be announced in the paper during the holidays.—Brown Owl.

Concert Series Complete Sell-Out

Close to 100 Summerland members next season will enjoy the four concerts of the South Okanagan Community Concert series. That is the number of local people who subscribed to the series before the Penticton High School auditorium capacity was sold out on the last day of the campaign Saturday and the membership rolls closed with over 700 members.

This becomes the first association to be formed in Western Canada and interest in the concert series was indicated by membership subscriptions which came from distant points such as Grand Forks and Princeton.

Tentative plans for the season call for concerts in October, November, February and March.

Selection of artists has already been made and confirmation of the engagements is now awaited. First will be a concert by the Longine Symphonette, a 30-piece orchestra conducted by Michael Piatro which four times has been selected by music editors and critics of U.S. and Canadian daily papers as radio's top concert ensemble. Next will be the distinguished Negro contralto, Carol Brice.

Planned for the third concert is Herman Godes, brilliant European concert pianist and the series will close with the famed Metropolitan opera tenor, Eugene Conley.

Programs will be mailed to subscribers as soon as the artists and dates are confirmed.

In this festive royal year, London milliners are determined that hats will be worthy of the occasion. The creation above, named "Chimney Sweep," is a black straw bonnet trimmed with chimney-sweep brush heads. It was designed especially for the Coronation season. Below is "Cafe Creme", a coffee-and-cream straw bonnet.

Tiny Tots Popular . . .

Dancing Pupils Delight Audience With Revue Staged in High School

The first number on the program of the first Revue of the Mary Pratten School of Dancing was Tiny Tots in Action, and, to many, this was one of the most entertaining numbers on a varied and skillful bill.

The flower-colored little frocks, the dainty steps and gestures, and the eager-to-do-it-well attitude of the little girls, was thoroughly appreciated by the audience who filled the school auditorium on Monday evening, June 8, under the sponsorship of Summerland P.T.A.

The little girls who opened the program were Breen Bergstrom, Cheryl Wellwood, Peggy Lee Wellwood, Linda Bullock, Janet Bullock, Susan Wilson, Marla Gately, Janice Beggs, Betty June McInnis, Janet Tamblin and Nancy Fudge.

Interesting to see were the exercises of the Royal Dancing Academy which are taught as routine beginnings, and these were displayed by Grade 1 pupils, Linda Rumball, Darlene Shannon, Ann McLachlan, Donna Laidlaw, Diane Haggman, Ginny Braddick, Elaine Dunsdon, Audrey Beggs, Judy Bettuzzi, Linda Bettuzzi, Beverley Bullock and Elsie Karlstrom.

Grade II girls gave a demonstration of more difficult exercises, and in this group were Barbara Fudge, Barbara Beavan, Lynne Boothe, Lynn Bleasdale, Louise Shannon, Vicki Cuthbert, Carol Reinertson, Anne Macleod and Carol Hackman.

A great deal of time and thought had been put into the beautiful costumes worn by the dancers, and some girls had as many as five different changes.

To round out the evening's entertainment, and to exhibit more advanced types of choreography, some of Miss Pratten's pupils came from Penticton, to add their grace and give a touch of sophistication.

Among those who came from Penticton were several who have won awards in festival competition. Marcia Rowland and Donna-Day Washington have been seen before by those who have followed the dancing classes, and Jo-Ann Hill is known here where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Len Hill formerly lived. Others from Penticton were Evalyn Lyons, Linda Leslie, Lorna Schwenk, Janice Walker, Lorraine Drossos, Brenda Parker, Joan Webb, Jeanine Chapman, Wilma Unwin, Judy Watson, Hallie Smith, Diane Allington, Dinna Lindberg, Bernice Anderson, Norma Hugo, Beverley Bond, Kathleen Moore, and Evanne Netherton.

The pretty minuet which won festival honors was danced here again by Lynne Boothe and Barbara Fudge, Lynn Bleasdale and Barbara Beavan, Louise Shannon and Carol Hackman.

There were Russian, Spanish, Dutch, Irish, and Polish dances, with a piper for the Scottish numbers.

Popular was the Highland fling by all the girls of grades I and II, with each in kilt, and the audience was delighted with the ballet numbers, when costumes were in rainbow shades.

Mrs. C. Reinertson acted as gracious chairman for the evening, and two of the smallest pupils made presentations to Miss Pratten and her brother, of Kelowna.

Mrs. Jack Dunsdon presented a corsage of red roses to Mrs. Lionel Fudge for her help, as accompanist, and in many other ways.

Makeup was by Mrs. A. K. Macleod and Mrs. C. F. M. Guernsey.

Thanks to you . . .

. . . who gave so generously of time and effort to assist me in contesting the election in South Okanagan. The strength of my conviction which led me to let my name stand as Liberal candidate was renewed many times during the campaign.

It is encouraging to know that while the flame of Liberalism in British Columbia has dimmed, the New Liberal Party numbers among its adherents many with the courage of their convictions who can be counted upon to keep alive the spirit and principles of Liberalism for the time when the party will be called upon to give stability to government and preserve that important ingredient of democracy—free enterprise.

To you voters who cast your ballots for me, let me say . . . Thanks to You . . . for having the courage of your convictions and faith in me.

5 AOTS Lay Plans For Hobby Fair

At their May 28 meeting 33 members of the Summerland AOTS Club listened with interest to Dr. J. C. Wilcox's account of some of his experiences on a trip to Great Britain last year. His talk was illuminated with humor and many touches of human interest, and even a flash of remarkably good Scots dialect thrown in for good measure.

The meeting heard a very satisfactory report on the recent AOTS track meet, and Joe Sheeley passed on praise from Jim Pantan, who said the AOTS meet was organized so well it compared very favorably with the UBC sports events the week before. He gave much credit for this to Walter Charles, the club's vice-president.

Difficulties in obtaining leadership for the AOTS Scout troop were reported by Scoutmaster Rev. H. R. Whitmore, both in group committee and in assistants to handle the Scouts at meetings. Volunteers were called for and Gordon Eggs and Everett Bates volunteered to act on the group committee and meet after the main meeting adjourned to see what could be done. Don Tait reported that everything was going well with the AOTS Cub pack.

Plans were made for the Hobby Fair on June 20 and for work on Camp Sorec, the next two projects of this busy service club. Money was also voted to help two outstanding Summerland girl athletes attend the Victoria track meet on May 30.

There was a brief discussion about new land for a cemetery, the AOTS having given the lead to the community in cleaning up the Peach Orchard cemetery in years past.

The meeting was conducted by vice-president Walter Charles.

Jersey Breeders Spend Day at Farm To Study Latest Dairying Methods

Members of the North Okanagan Jersey Breeders Club from Malakwa to Okanagan Mission, and visitors from the Fraser Valley, Vancouver Island and South Okanagan attended a field day at the Experimental Station, Summerland, B.C., on May 31. Despite the fact that the Parish Show at Armstrong was held the previous day, breeders and their families numbering over 120 were on hand.

An inspection of the plant introduction nursery was the first item on the program. J. E. Millmore outlined the purpose of the nursery and commented on some of the more interesting varieties of alfalfa and brome grass. A ladino cover crop in an adjacent orchard attracted much attention.

The visitors next inspected the nearly filled trench silo. The Paterson buck rake was demonstrated and there were many inquiries about this method of making silage. The advantages and disadvantages of this method as compared to the conventional upright silo were fully discussed. Later, alfalfa-brome silage from the upright silo was examined and found in excellent condition.

A picnic lunch was enjoyed on the lawn of the ornamental area. Tea, coffee, cream and sugar were provided by the station and served by wives of staff members. After lunch A. J. Mann gave a short welcoming address, outlining the changes in the nature of experimental work since he had first started to work at Summerland.

After lunch the group reassembled in the pasture field to hear Dr. J. C. Wilcox discuss soil moisture and irrigation schedules. One of the most interesting points of Dr. Wilcox's discussion centred around the feel of the soil when another irrigation is required. While still in the pasture, J. E.

Millmore outlined the pasture management practised. The comparison between fresh daily grazing and rotational grazing was well illustrated by the manner in which adjacent fields were grazed. Visitors inquired about the metal posts for the electric fence.

The group next assembled in the dairy barn to inspect the herd. The breeding, age, classification and R.O.P. records of each cow were posted above the appropriate stall. Many comments were made about Summerland Standard Flo, who at 18 years and 4 months is the Canadian Champion Jersey Lifetime Butterfat Producer. Mr. and Mrs. E. Lacey, who bred her dam, Sunflower Flora, were present.

O. C. Evans, western fieldman of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, outlined the advantages and purposes of the classification program and then illustrated the method used in classifying, while making Summerland Star's Elite officially "Good Plus".

The visitors then guessed the weight of Summerland Pandora's Bernadette. Mrs. E. Williamson came within one pound and was awarded a petunia plant as a prize, when the group reassembled for coffee. Before the last of the visitors had departed, two additional inspection trips were made to the trench silos.

HOW TO SHIFT INTO HIGH IN SAVING FOR THAT CAR

Dreaming of a new car or an "old favorite" at the used-car lot? It will cost you at least one-third down and the rest over 18 months. But it's for that cash on the line that a bankroll really comes in handy!

And that's why tens of thousands of Canadians, in every province, add regularly to their Bank of Montreal savings account. They find it just as hard to save as the rest of us. But they'd rather plan for worthwhile things than spend their money on non-essential items.

The best way of saving regularly nowadays is through Personal Planning, the Bank of Montreal's money-management plan. With Personal Planning you can save, despite today's high cost of living. That's because Personal Planning helps you to save in your own way, unlike old-fashioned budgeting. And, when you save in your own way, you do a better job than if you're trying to force yourself into somebody else's ideas.

Why not take the bull by the horns today? Open a B of M savings account and use Personal Planning to help you really save. Any member of the staff at the West Summerland branch of the B of M will gladly give you literature on Personal Planning and help you to open an account.—Adv.

And would there be any dishes, plates, cups, or pans? Maybe that chap was right, you re-

Look at Mainline Loop Statistics Shows Anything Can Still Happen

By T. W. Janicki
(Statistics are as of May 24)

Baseball this year has taken a tremendous upsurge in popularity and it is a small wonder in view of the improved quality of ball being played. Almost all games played have been very close and were decided in the late innings of the match, baseball fans can ask for no more!

The league standings show Kamloops to be in the lead without a loss but this is not to be misinterpreted to mean that Kamloops are unbeatable. They have proven themselves the best club in the league but have had to come from behind in at least two ball games... indication enough that they are not beyond defeat, and reason enough for us to say that any one of the clubs in the league could come out as champion. If Kamloops wins, it will be only after a struggle and ball fans everywhere in the interior can be sure that they will see the finest ball ever, before a champion is named. The league standings are as follows...

Another outstanding feature of the league to date has been the exceptional batting by various members of the league. There has been 11 home runs in the 17 games played.

Player	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Harold Cousins, Oliver	6/12	500
Gordy Beecroft, Kam	12/25	480
C. Anderson, Kam	8/17	472
Russel Graff, Ver	10/22	454
Eddie Kielbiski, Kel	4/9	444
Len Fowles, Kam	9/23	388
Bill Neives, Pen	3/8	375
Keith Buchanan, Kam	8/22	375
Tony Brummett, Ver	9/25	360
Mickey Martino, Oliver	8/23	345
Buddy Russel, Pen	7/21	338
Allan Hooker, S'land	8/24	333
Joe Welder, Kel	2/6	333
Joe Favell, Kel	7/23	302
Lorne Bay, Oliver	3/10	300
Ray Adams, Ver	7/25	280
John Vanderburgh, Oliv	5/20	250
Ross McDonald, Pen	2/8	250
Bill Inglis, Ver	2/8	250

In field play, Kamloops have shown their superiority again by completing 5 successful double plays and have committed 11 errors to the 17 to 22 that all other clubs have committed. Kelowna have been good for three double plays.

The error 'Kings' of the league are both short-stops... Bill Sibson of Oliver with 9 and Tony Spelay of Vernon with 7... Must be a hot spot, eh?

While we're on the subject of 'Kings', several players are trying their darndest to get off the spot but will chalk up strike-outs. They are Ray Pawluk (Vernon) with 8, Joe Kaiser (Kelowna) with 7, Francis Gould (S'land) with 6, and Don Moore (Penticton) Allan Hooker (Summerland), John Lingor (Kelowna) each with 5 strike-outs.

When the pressure is on, many a good batter becomes just another statistic but others become heroes. These are the men who come through with the important clutch-hit, stolen base, or winning run. The following have established themselves as feared batters because of coming through when it counts.

Player and Team	Rns.	RBI
Keith Buchanan, Kam	5	8
Ron Evenson, Kam	9	4
Len Fowles, Kam	6	4
Harold Cousins, Oliver	2	6

Bob Sokolofsky, Kam	7	1
C. Anderson, Kam	3	6

Ball Games cannot be won without strong pitching power and good catching. Good batteries have been the difference in many games to date. Len Gatin of Kamloops has won all six of his starts in league play while Wally Leismester of Vernon and Harold Cousins of Oliver have each won all three of their starts to take top honors. Ted Bowsfield has been outstanding for Penticton in winning two of three starts in that he has allowed 12 hits and 7 runs in 30 innings pitched and has struck out 41 men. Other of the more-or less regular chuckers are listed below...

Player	IP	H	R	SO	W
Gatin, Kam	54	43	20	51	6

Vernon Gets Assist From Weather To Score 3-1 Victory Over Macs

Rain and a trio of double plays Sunday conspired against Summerland's hard-luck ridden Macs and gave Vernon a 3-1 victory in a seven-inning pitcher's duel that saw Eyre top Vernon hurler Jackson in the statistics department but still emerge the losing pitcher.

Both teams played tight ball, each side being tagged with only two errors. Eyre pitched to 22 batters and held them to five hits while Jackson chucking to the same number gave up six. Both were tapped for a two-base hit. Eyre racked up six strike-outs as against two for Jackson. Eyre gave up three free rides while Jackson held down to two.

Vernon claimed first blood in the first stanza with Adams making the circuit after reaching base on a single and went the rest of the way on Graff's two bagger. They picked up their other two runs in the fourth with Graff and Steyck taking the honors.

Macs scored their lone run in the sixth when Gould took a base on balls, reached second when Cristante got a free ride, went to third on a passed ball and then beat the throw to home plate when Taylor sent a fly to right field.

Vernon picked up three double plays. In the second frame, with one man out and Weitzel on first, Farynuik hit into an Adams-Spelay-Graff combination. In the fourth, Spelay at short took two out single handed when he caught Aikin out and tagged Taylor trying to get back on second. Next inning, Weitzel and Farynuik went down together when the latter hit to Steyck who touched second and then beat Farynuik with his throw to first.

Notes Progress In Irrigation Of Pasture Land

A highlight in the program of installation of irrigation equipment and seeding of permanent pasture was recorded on May 29, when Dr. J. C. Wilcox, research officer in charge of investigations on plant nutrition, soils and irrigation at the Summerland experimental station in Summerland and R. G. Garry, soils and irrigation specialist, department of agriculture, Kelowna, visited some half dozen farms in the Salmon River-Vernon areas.

Representing the Co-op Association were W. C. Cameron and Len M. Weist who had previously planned and laid out the irrigation systems examined on Friday.

Dr. Wilcox expressed pleasure in seeing such steady and good growth in this modern type of irrigation. He also commented on the bright future which can be looked forward to by dairy farmers in the Okanagan who take advantage of modern methods of pasture management. Glen Garry also commended the farmers who had made their decisions in favor of the modern pasture and irrigation program.

Dr. Wilcox is well known across the dominion in connection with his many and varied activities in the field of agriculture, particularly in regard to plant nutrition and soil conservation. His publication "Sprinkler Irrigation of Tree Fruits and Vegetables in British Columbia", is a popular manual on many farms.

Mr. Garry is an expert on methods of irrigation and soil.

Sunshine Totals 240 Hours in May

Three times during May the temperature surged above the 80 mark but continued low nightly temperatures—which twice dropped within two degrees of freezing—held the mean for the month to a coolish 57 degrees. On only one day of the month, May 16, did the sun fail to show itself and three days it beamed for very close to 14 hours. Total sunshine for May was 240 hours.

Rain was noted on 11 days of the month but five showed only traces and the total for the month was less than one inch.

To the voters of South Okanagan I wish to express my appreciation for the confidence expressed in me by the first-count majority I have received.

I am happy the Social Credit party will now be able to form a government with a working majority and stability is again restored to B.C. government.

My position as Social Credit party leader prevented me from spending very much time in this riding during the campaign and I wish to express a note of appreciation to the great number of willing workers who carried on the campaign on my behalf during my absence, not for personal gain but with a sincere interest in bringing a stable government to B.C.

To these people and to those who designated me as first choice on their ballots, I want to very sincerely say

The motorist's dream of a first class, black-topped road from coast to coast is approaching fulfillment as a result of the government's Trans-Canada highway program.

Piloted by Resources Minister Robert Winters, the plan calls for completion of a cross-country route by the end of 1956, and there is reason to believe the target date will be reached on schedule in most parts of the nation.

More than $100,000,000 has been committed to construction of the road to date. Half of this money has been advanced by the federal government and the remainder by the participating provinces.

When completed, the road will meet the best of modern highway standards. With 24 feet of pavement and 10-foot safety shoulders on either side, it will be considerably wider than most roads built in Canada before the war. Though some variations in this standard—22-foot pavement along certain sections—are being permitted, engineers are confident it will be as good a highway as the most critical motorist could demand.

Mr. Winters, himself an engineer, believes most participating provinces will complete their share of the work by the target date, and that traffic will be flowing over long portions of the road well before the end of 1956.

"There is no reason to believe," he told Parliament recently, "that there is any province that could finish in the time allowed. . . They still have four more construction years to go and good progress is being made."

This year, the federal and provincial governments expect to spend more than $54,000,000 on the route, the largest amount appropriated in any single construction year since the seven-year agreements were signed in December, 1949.

How fast is work progressing? Measured in miles, the construction record to date sounds less impressive than it really is. Most provinces, with encouragement from federal engineers, have been tackling the toughest sections of the road first. Ontario, for example, has spent $38,500,000 to date, and most of this has been on heavy work through the country north of Lake Superior.

British Columbia is working on one of the most spectacular and costly sections through Hell's Gate canyon.

Engineers say it is virtually impossible to measure the mileage completed to date. Few sections have been finished in the final sense, and even those which are paved require further work on bridges, shoulders, etc. A considerable part of the money spent so far has gone toward the costly job of clearing a right-of-way through rock, muskeg and rolling terrain.

It's hoped here that removal of steel controls and a general easing of defence pressure will speed construction work in the next few years. The heavy demand for labor, materials and engineering personnel in other fields has cut heavily into the program since 1949, but engineers think the fact the highway is as far ahead as it is in the face of these other claims is evidence of the importance attached to it by participating provinces. They see this year's record outlay as a further indication that the provinces are determined to complete the road.

When the Trans-Canada highway is completed, it will be one of the great scenic routes of North America, rivaling any other road on earth for mile age of consistently high standard and tourist attraction. It will be one of the largest engineering enterprises ever undertaken in Canada, characteristic of the pioneering spirit which drove railroad steel through the same rugged country in the 19th century.

THURSDAY, JUNE EIGHTEENTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREE

Dangerous Apathy . . . civic interest at lowest ebb

PEOPLE of Summerland last Thursday witnessed a real tragedy in their municipal affairs. With a vacancy on the municipal council to be filled for the balance of the year, no one on nomination day appeared to state their willingness to accept the public duty.

To the present members of the council, this lack of interest can be interpreted as an oblique compliment. When things aren't running right, there are always lots of people clamoring to get on the council to do a big clean-up job; but when everything runs smoothly, "let George do it" is the popular philosophy.

While it is nice to reflect that our present council is doing a very competent job of managing our public business, it is a sobering thought that of the ratepayers in Summerland, there is not one willing to take a part in helping to run the community business.

We think it a rare privilege to live in Summerland. There are few communities anywhere that offer the amenities and the real good things of life that we find here. But if we want our home town to stay the way we like it, then a few more people will have to show an interest in its affairs.

Service on a municipal council is a pretty much thankless job. Solomon himself could not keep everyone happy on the multitude of issues on which a decision must be passed in the routine of conducting community business. The remuneration that goes with the job is little more than a token for the time it requires. So the greatest payment comes to the councillors from the knowledge they are helping make Summerland an even finer place to live and that they are playing an important part in the development of a wonderful community. This is indeed a rich reward and it is tragic to think it not enough to entice even a single candidate into the field. While the present councillors have done an excellent job, it doesn't mean the composition of the council could not be improved. The group can only operate at its greatest efficiency when the diversified interests in the community are all represented.

Geographically, the municipality is split into two well defined sections and both should be represented at the council table—but Lower Town is not represented. Not because residents there are in a minority because a candidate from that district need only have filed nomination papers last Thursday and he would have been elected by acclamation. The merchants are an important segment of the community and have interests varied from those of fruit growers—but they are not represented on the council. They could have been.

There are other viewpoints which could broaden further the council outlook and give the board a better cross-section opinion in its deliberations, but none felt it their duty.

This apathy toward municipal business can easily lead to a very embarrassing situation for the municipality. Unless there are enough in the field to make it an election in December, it may be the present situation will repeat itself. A person taking on public office has the right to know that he is the popular choice of the voters and is not just in there because there was no one interested enough to oppose him. It is only courtesy for the community to let him know when he is assuming office that he does so with its confidence.

The next municipal election is just about six months off—plenty of time to flush out enough candidates to ensure an election and a chance to pick the best possible material for a very important job in a very important community.

Dread Enemy Back . . . precautions are important

ONE of the most-feared enemies of mankind today—Polio-myelitis—has struck again in the district and whether extent of the outbreak is to be mild or widespread remains to be seen. One thing is certain, to help check the spread, every possible precaution should be taken.

Unfortunately, medical science so far has been unable to determine exactly how polio is spread and doctors can only suggest precautions which may possibly be effective. However, for the lack of anything more definite, every one of their suggestions should be regarded as the most important and chances are that in following them all rigidly, one or more will be effective.

First recommendation of the medical profession is that the general principles of good hygiene be practiced to the fullest extent. This is, of course, sound advice at any time but extra care should be applied during the present outbreak.

Flies may very well be the principle carrier of the virus so every person should declare a personal war on flies.

Over exertion and chilling should be avoided as they lower the natural resistance to infection. It is known that for every clinical case of polio, a large number of people—probably about 100—are infected and throw off the infection with only minor or no symptoms. It is therefore in every person's interest to be well and able to throw off any infection.

It is also believed the virus may spread from nasal secretions and swimming pools should therefore be avoided during the outbreak.

Parents should not feel concerned that schools have not been closed in the face of the mounting incidence. Children in school are under discipline in well ventilated rooms and are certainly under safer conditions than if they were out of school and engaging in strenuous play.

Medical authorities in the district are watching developments closely and it is certain they will continue to recommend the course which will give the greatest security to the public health and limit the spread as much as is humanly possible. Everyone can help by co-operating fully with the health officials.

Editor: The Review,

This letter is the result of the attitude of a number of growers towards our marketing system as administered by the board of governors of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited. Recently a resolution was passed at a meeting of the Peachland-Westbank local of the BCFGA, calling for the resignation of the governors and sales staff of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited.

We have in B.C. legislation that has made it possible to operate a controlled marketing scheme in the fruit industry which is the envy of thinking men in similar industries all over this continent. This marketing system is being used as a model by other parts of Canada and the United States. It has without any doubt played an important part in the prosperity of this valley. As a grower born and raised in an Okanagan orchard I shudder to think of the financial chaos we would have experienced if we had not had orderly marketing during the past season. This orderly marketing was administered for the industry by the very men some are now endeavoring to condemn.

The financial returns for the past season's soft fruit crop were in places very disappointing. Because of this many growers are prone to blame the first people that comes to mind, namely, our sales staff. It is far from my mind to maintain that B.C. Tree Fruits officials make no mistakes. They have made them in the past and will make them in the future. This is understandable when one realizes the multitude of problems calling for quick and careful decisions in the moving of a highly perishable product. I fail to see where anything was done during the past season that warrants the storm of adverse criticism raised during the past few weeks. The marketing agency was confronted with a very heavy crop of fruit, running heavy to sizes and quality that the consumer did not want. This fruit was in competition with a similar product from our neighbors from the south, but which fruit enjoyed lower transportation rates. In addition to this the strength of the Canadian dollar in relation to the U.S. dollar eliminated any tariff protection. Also the general transportation picture in Canada has given the benefit to the Ontario producer to the detriment of the Okanagan producer. Consequently an important part of the Prairie markets have been invaded by Ontario fruit. It would have taken a magician to sell all the fruit at top prices under last year's conditions.

The apple pool returns are now in the hands of the growers and in general should be satisfactory. However had our sales organization weakened and taken the easy way out while a large part of the apple crop still remained to be moved, a quite different result could have been obtained. It takes courage to maintain a price under conditions of fairly heavy supply, and I sometimes wonder how long we can expect our selling organization to do its best in face of the continuous sniping which is taking place.

At the growers' convention last January the main theme was soft fruit and how we as growers could correct the mistakes of last season. I am satisfied that we took the right course when we decided that in order to improve our marketing position we first had to improve the size, maturity, and general quality of the product. Quality is what the consumer is asking for and after all he or shee is a final arbiter.

At this convention we returned Arthur Garrish as president of the BCFGA; and made some changes in the executive of the BCFGA and board of governors. General confidence was shown in the officials of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited. No local raised the objections that are rampant today. The elected delegates attending the convention are your representatives and the time and place for contentious points to be discussed are at your local annual meetings and then on the floor of the convention.

It is very unfortunate that in this campaign to belittle the work of the board of governors that a remark has been made to the effect that the governors receive a commission on every box sold. It is only fair to point out that the governors do not receive any stipend or commission but only receive a day's pay and expenses for governor's meetings they attend. In addition they are required to attend the BCFGA local meetings, district council meetings, and meet delegates and industry representatives at any time. Some of the governors of Tree Fruits Limited have been doing this ever since the organization came into being at no personal gain to themselves. One certainly has to be philanthropic to donate this much personal time purely for the general betterment of the industry.

I as a grower with a stake in the future of this industry wish to express complete confidence in our board of governors and sales staff with special reference to Mr. Loyd and Mr. Lander. I would urge any grower with a problem or suggestion to take it first to his local of the BCFGA and have it thoroughly discussed. If he is still not satisfied with the answer he has obtained then he would ask his local to approach the board of governors with a view of his discussing the subject with that organization. It is only through thorough discussion that a problem can be properly resolved and very possibly to the benefit of both parties.

Respectfully submitted for continued orderly marketing.

Yours truly,

E. M. Tait

Signifying Nothing

BY RUSTICUS

Although I did finally surrender in the matter of the chickens, I hasten to affirm that there are still a number of too-common columnistic topics which I have resolutely refused to write about.

Not a word have you read from me, for instance, about the recent provincial election, though the blazen bias of the Vancouver newspaper I take, in a land which boasts of having a free and fair press, repeatedly roused me to wrath.

Probably I'm the only columnist in the Commonwealth who heroically abstained from adding to many words already poured forth upon the Coronation, also. For this I am quite hopeful of being be-knighted by Her Majesty when she gets around to it, and rather fancy the Order of the Thistle; haven't worn a garter for years, and that beautiful green robe which Thistleians are entitled to wear certainly catches my eye. And I've always loved their motto; not in its Latin form, 'Nullo me impune lacessit,' but in the delightful, defiant Scots translation, 'Wha daur meddle wi' me?'

However, this is for the future. What all this is leading up to is a third topic of current interest which I simply cannot resist; the surmounting of Everest.

Not that I'm any alpinist. While I love getting to the top of any mountain that is climbable with ordinary effort, such as our own Snow Mountain, the idea of going up perpendicular rock faces with rope and pitons makes me shudder. It wouldn't be so bad to die of exhaustion and lack of oxygen in a place where you could collapse comfortably on your feet, but these steep cliffs and knife edges where one slip sends you plunging down thousands of feet—ugh!

But I've found our own Rockies and Cascades such a feast for the eyes that it would be wonderful to even see the Himalayas, where the 'low' passes are higher than our higher mountain tops. Imagine how magnificent Snow Mountain would look if it were four times its present height!

And there is something thrilling about the heroism of the men who tackle Everest. The story of Mallory and Irvine, struggling gamely up from 28,000 feet in the icy, gale-swept wilderness where even to breathe is a tremendous effort, is an epic. 'When last seen they were still struggling toward the peak.'

What good is it? I don't know. What good are most of the things we spend so much time and effort on? It fascinates me, that's all. Perhaps because the conquest of earth's highest pinnacle represents also the pinnacle of man's eternal, struggle against the elements of earth, a struggle which anyone who loves the outdoors must always be keenly aware of.

Seeing that the greatest heroes of attempts on Everest were British, it's gratifying that it was a British party which finally succeeded. But isn't it significant that an Asian shared the honors with an Anglo-Saxon; in fact, beat him to the top and helped him up afterward, according to the latest press report? After all, Everest was in his bailiwick; he had put a lot of effort into this and previous climbs and richly deserved success; and finally, Tensing Bhutia's achievement is a striking proof that the old ideas of the superiority of people within white skins over people in brown ones are out of date.

Tensing Bhutia and Edmund Hillary climbed to the top of the world. It was a wonderful accomplishment. We don't know yet whether they could see much from the top, whether they were too exhausted to look, or whether the view was shrouded with mist. It doesn't matter. These two men conquered Everest; the world lay at their feet for a moment, and it will never seem quite the same to them again.

Mid-Week Message

Joseph . . . was surnamed by the apostles Barnabas. (which means, Son of encouragement). (Acts 4:36. R.S.V.) Read Acts 9:28.

Some people choose an assumed name to conceal their own. The apostles changed the name of a man from Joseph to Barnabas! They called him what they thought he was — "Son of encouragement."

"Son of encouragement"—what a nickname! In our first glimpse we see him generously encouraging help for the poor. When Saul came to Jerusalem professing conversion, many were skeptical and alarmed. Barnabas went directly to Saul and discovered the truth. He it was who encouraged the transformed Saul to active service in Antioch. For a whole year they labored together there. Interestingly enough, "the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." Later on, we see him standing by Mark, a young man, and thus encouraging him. As we read Paul's Epistles and Mark's Gospel, it is well to remember that Barnabas, this "Son of encouragement," helped to make them possible, for "he was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and of faith."

PRAYER

O Lord, give us grace that we may not cause those who struggle to stumble or to despair, but help us to be sons and daughters of encouragement. In the name of Him who calls to us, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." Amen.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Only eleven boys out this week so we could make no arrangements regarding summer camp, the first week in August. Next week is the last meeting of the season. Those interested in going to camp must either turn out to the meeting or let the Scoutmaster know before the meeting of their intentions. A good camp is a well-planned one and this takes time and your cooperation.

There is to be a Silver Arrowhead course the last week in August at Shuswap lake. Only boys who have their Bronze Arrowhead are qualified to take this course, so will you boys notify your Scoutmaster this week if you can possibly make it.

Twelve boys in full uniform and bicycles are urgently needed to be at the Fire Hall Saturday morning June 20 at 8:15 to help with the program of the Civil Defence. Please turn out at 8:15 p.m. sharp, boys, and enjoy the satisfaction of going your part. Our motto is "Be Prepared".

A number of recruits passed their tenderfoot tests this week. Be sure to bring your staves and gadgets next week. If the required badges arrive in time, we will invest all boys who passed.

Don't forget we want a full turnout next week.—D.M.M.

BROWNIE CHATTER

1st Summerland Pack

The Brownies of the 1st Summerland Pack are having their final meeting next Tuesday, June 23. It will take the form of an enrolment ceremony where six Tweenies will be welcomed into our pack. These new recruits will swell the enrolment to twenty-four and so each six is completed. When the fall term commences, we shall bid farewell to five Brownies who will be going on to join the Guide Company. There is no room left in the pack, however, as five girls have already registered to replace these older Brownies.

Trudy Mitchell passed her Collector's badge test last week and was complimented on her neat collection. Mr. Stent kindly tested Trudy's work.

As a Coronation tribute the Brownies of our pack decided to set aside their Fairy Gold in May and June to buy picture story, coloring books, and crayons for the children's ward in the hospital. This is a pack project—several of the Brownies are growing potted plants, on their own at home, to give to shut-ins.

Plans are being made for a picnic at the beach, during the summer holidays, when it is hoped that several Brownies will be ready to take their swimmer's test.—Brown Owl.

VISITING HERE

Guests for a few days at the home of Mrs. Alex Inch are her sister, Mrs. Syd McBryde, and Lynda and Ronnie, of Oliver.

GUIDE NEWS

Another memorable day in the lives of the Okanagan Girl Guides was June 6, the day of the huge rally held in Penticton.

Over 500 Brownies, Guides, Rangers and Camp Fire Girls of Washington with their leaders assembled in the Penticton arena. A huge double horseshoe was formed to welcome the Camp Fire Girls and the welcoming address was given by Mayor W. A. Rathbun. Mrs. M. Naughton, executive director of the Camp Fire Girls, was introduced by Mrs. A. E. Titchmarsh who is the divisional commissioner of the Girl Guides, followed by the group singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "O Canada". The Rangers were also introduced to the visiting Camp Fire Girls and then free time was held followed by supper.

After supper, the Brownies and Guides outdid themselves in a colorful display of some of their activities. A dance by a group of Summerland girls under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Blagborne received favorable comment.

The Okanagan girls enjoyed the description of the Camp Fire Girls of some of their work and of the meaning of the beads which they wear instead of badges. Each bead is a symbol of proficiency in Camp Fire work. The ceremony ended with everyone joining in the Guide campfire conducted by Mrs. Titchmarsh.

At Wednesday's meeting, the Guides worked hard in displaying the many articles that represented the resources, products and industries of Ontario which was their patrol corners for the week. The task of choosing the winners was found to be difficult. The winners were: Orchids and For-Get-Me-Nots, first prize; Pansies and Hepaticas, second prize, and Buttercups, third prize.

While the PL's and Seconds were holding Court of Honor, Mrs. Don Blagborne and Mrs. S. Skippings conducted Guide games followed by instruction and test work. Guides were instructed in first aid by Mrs. C. A. Witherspoon. Mitzi Jomori received her second class badge and Darlene Bonthoux her health badge.

Local Members Named Officers Of Whizz-Bangs

One hundred delegates from many points in British Columbia attended the annual re-union meeting and banquet of the Whizz-bang Association (? C.M.R.—B.C.D.) which was held in Penticton on June 7. At the meeting, William McCutcheon, of Summerland was elected president of the association and Ben Newton of Summerland was elected secretary.

Following a parade by the members to the cenotaph in Penticton, a business meeting was conducted at which the officers for the coming year were elected. At the banquet, in memory of the members who passed away during the year, seven chairs were left vacant at the head table, one in memory of the late Fred Brind (2 C.M.R.) of Summerland.

Next year the annual re-union will be held in Summerland.

At campfire, Guides who had bled Camp Fire Girls over the week-end related some of their happy experiences.

Patrol points now stand at Orchids, 120; For-Get-Me-Nots, 115; Pansies, 110; Buttercups, 110, and Lilies of the Valley, 105.

B.C. HOSPITAL INSURANCE SERVICE

Announces A NEW, EASIER

PREMIUM PAYMENT PLAN

Starting July 1st, 1953, a new plan for the payment of B.C. Hospital Insurance premiums will go into effect. It's a plan that makes it easier for you to enjoy the full benefits and protection of B.C. Hospital Insurance. All arrears have been suspended—and under the new plan will not accumulate. In addition, all persons who pay their premiums regularly will automatically build up an "insured benefits" period. This period will assure you protection should you be unable to pay a premium because of temporary financial difficulties, seasonal lay-off or unemployment. Here is exactly how the plan works:

"INSURED BENEFITS"

By paying your premiums regularly, whether by direct payment or payroll deduction, you will become eligible for "insured benefits." One month of "insured benefits" will be built up at the end of each fully-paid six-month period. This will continue to build up, providing all premiums are paid regularly, until a maximum of three months' "insured benefits" has been attained after eighteen months of continuous payment. This means that if you cannot pay a premium by a due date and you have from one month to three months of "insured benefits"—B.C. Hospital Insurance will pay the hospital bill should you or any of your dependents go to hospital during this period.

If you pay your full premium during your "insured benefits" period, you will be fully covered by Hospital Insurance without any waiting period. However, if you pay your premium after your "insured benefits" period has elapsed, you will be subject to a waiting period before being fully eligible for benefits. The first "insured benefits" period will be available January, 1954, for all persons who have paid their premium due June 30th, 1953.

If You Pay By Direct Payment...

If you pay your premium by direct payment, you make payment twice a year—on June 30th, to cover the period from July 1st to December 31st and on December 31st to cover the period from January 1st to June 30th. Each six-month period is separate. There will be no arrears. If you cannot pay on time, you will not be eligible for Hospital Insurance until fourteen days after you pay, unless you have "insured benefits." It should be noted that "insured benefits" do not constitute exemption from full premium payment. If you have not paid premiums for the previous six months (e.g. January 1st to June 30th, 1953), you will be subject to a one month waiting period.

This one month waiting period is necessary to prevent people from paying premiums and receiving benefits only when they know they are going to hospital.

If You Pay Through Payroll Deduction..

If you make payment through payroll deduction, your deduction will be made one month in advance (instead of six months as before.) Each deduction provides Hospital Insurance coverage for the following month. Persons who are now prepaid six months in advance will retain this additional protection, as there will not be any refunds, but persons coming on payroll deduction from now on, are not required to pay six months in advance. "Insured benefits" will be built up through regular premium payments.

YOUR NEXT PREMIUM IS DUE JUNE 30th

Please make sure you return the billing notice with your premium payment.

Socially Speaking

60 Countries Represented . . .

Local Temperance Women Attend World Convention in Vancouver

An enlightening and educational experience was enjoyed by the delegates who attended the convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union held during the week-end for the first time in Western Canada on the UBC campus in Vancouver. Delegates from Summerland were Mrs. V. Durnin, Mrs. J. Mott, Mrs. Howard Milne and Miss Marilyn Milne who travelled to the coast accompanied by Mrs. S. J. Weeks of Kelowna and Miss Laura Boggs of Penticton.

The delegates to the convention represented 60 countries throughout the world, all of them speaking English although some of them spoke with charming accents of their native land.

On Sunday afternoon Rev. Dr. Villette, principal of the United Church Theological College at Edmonton, Alberta, and former pastor of the Canadian Memorial Church in Vancouver, spoke on the lack of moral indignation today and of the liquor problem. In the evening representatives from Korea, India, Burma and Japan told of the work of the Temperance Union in their countries and how their people appreciated the aid both the Temperance Union and the United Nations are giving them. It was noted that there are 5000 Temperance members in Japan.

Monday evening, which was the closing session, included a mosaic of all the women, dressed in their native costumes and each giving a short talk on her country to the 2,000 delegates present.

Mrs. Forrester-Paton of Scotland, president of the Christian Temperance Union, was present at the convention with her husband who is the world secretary of the YMCA.

Mrs. Turnbull Gives WA Diocesan Report

At the regular monthly meeting of St. Stephen's Evening Branch WA on June 15, Mrs. D. Turnbull gave a very interesting report of the 45th Kootenay Diocesan Board of the WA meeting which she attended in Trail on June 9 and 10 as a delegate from the Summerland Branch. The theme of the successful annual meeting was "We look backward with thanksgiving and forward with faith."

Following a business meeting where details of the July garden party were discussed, delicious refreshments were served by the June hostesses, Mrs. T. B. Lott and Mrs. A. Inch. The members assisted Mrs. J. Y. Towgood in the wrapping of many surprise packages for the garden party fish pond.

Showing of Cartoons Proves Interesting

Over 200 people attended the showing in the IOOF hall Saturday afternoon and evening of the 100 interesting original Norris cartoons loaned by the Vancouver Sun.

Mrs. C. H. Eisey, Mrs. A. K. Macleod and Mrs. H. Whitaker were conveners for the WI sponsored event. Tea convenor was Mrs. T. J. Enstone.

Local Club Honors Mrs. H. Whitmore

Mrs. H. R. Whitmore was honored at the June meeting of the St. Andrew's Service Club when Mrs. A. J. McKenzie, past president, presented Mrs. Whitmore with a gift and a lovely bouquet of flowers. Mrs. McKenzie expressed her appreciation for the help Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore have given the club and wished them every happiness in their new home in Port Alberni.

Mrs. I. C. Schwass, who is moving to Lethbridge, Alberta, was also presented with a gift and flowers as a remembrance of the Service Club.

Interesting speaker of the evening was Miss Elizabeth Sutherland of Penticton, an exchange teacher to Glasgow, Scotland, in 1951. Miss Sutherland showed colored films taken in England and the British Isles and proved to be a charming speaker as she told about her experiences as an exchange teacher.

Mrs. C. Campbell welcomed the members and Mrs. George Washington, president, was in the chair. The devotional was given by Mrs. Whitmore.

Mrs. Blair Underwood agreed to help with the Mission Band next season. Arrangements for the care of the junior congregation will be taken care of by Mrs. E. E. Bates.

Mrs. L. Fudge, Mrs. J. P. Sheeley, Mrs. K. Boothe, Mrs. H. Milley, Miss Chris Mair and Miss Nancy Fleming entertained the members by singing two delightful musical selections.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the convenor, Mrs. F. Steuart, and Mrs. S. Blazeko, Mrs. R. Bleasdale, Mrs. E. E. Bates, Mrs. H. Allison and Miss Louise Atkinson.

VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bollman of Kelvington, Saskatchewan, spent the past week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. McColl, Station Road.

Mrs. W. C. Parker of Vancouver left on Monday after visiting for a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Nicholls, on Hospital Hill.

Mrs. Nancy Evans, of London, England, is here visiting with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Brind and will remain here for about three months.

Gordon John Penny Christening Principal

Gordon John Penny, three-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Penny, was the principal in a christening ceremony in the Catholic Church on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Father A. Meulenbergh officiated at the rites.

For the baptismal service, the small grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pearson and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Penny of Bethune, Saskatchewan, wore an heirloom gown of white embroidered voile trimmed with lace edging. God-parents named for the tiny principal were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keys.

Summerland WI Hears Talk by Mrs. Wilcox
 Mrs. J. C. Wilcox was guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Summerland WI held in the Parish Hall Friday afternoon. Mrs. Wilcox spoke on her trip to England, especially describing the city of London.
 Mrs. H. Whitaker, president of the WI, occupied the chair during the business meeting. Final reports of the committees, home economics, welfare, citizenship and hand-crafts, were given. The citizenship committee reported that a net profit of $37.50 was made at the WI booth on Coronation Day.

Following the business meeting, tea was served by Mrs. O. Eaton, Mrs. Pollock and Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon.

After the summer vacation period, the WI will hold its first meeting in September.

Berry Growers Fail In Marketing Effort

To explore means whereby a unified approach might be made to the problem of marketing the British Columbia strawberry and raspberry crops, some 200 growers met recently in Abbotsford on the invitation of the Hon. Kenneth Klerman, minister of agriculture, according to a recent issue of Markets Bulletin put out by the B.C. department of agriculture.

As in other lines of fruit, this province is the most northerly area in North America where strawberries and raspberries are grown commercially. Other regions are earlier in hitting the market each year and prices are more or less set before the B.C. products are ready to move. Yet, well over a half of B.C.'s annual strawberry and raspberry production must be marketed outside the province. This competition with other producing areas involves much that is beyond the control of B.C. producers and processors.

The meeting failed completely to achieve any advance towards a solution of the marketing problem.

"Thus far", to quote the Markets Bulletin, "there has appeared no A. K. Loyd or A. G. DesBrisay on the horizon to inspire unification in the interests of the primary producers. It may be that the location of the Coastal growing areas does not provide a climate favorable to the development of leaders. Whatever the cause, the fact remains that whatever degree of stability or progress is achieved must inevitably be determined for the time being at least by the harsh laws of economics, made harsher by disorganization throughout the entire industry."

Afternoon Tea Fest Honors Mrs. J. Smith

Mrs. Ross Mansell was hostess recently at afternoon tea served in honor of Mrs. J. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are making their home at Mission City in the Fraser Valley.

After the serving of delicious refreshments, Mrs. Mansell expressed the good wishes of the friends and neighbors in attendance as she presented Mrs. Smith with a token of good will, a coronation souvenir of a pretty cap and sash decorated in gold with the Royal arms and emblem.

Mrs. Smith expressed her regret at leaving Summerland and her many friends.

Gay Strawberry Social Planned by Local CWL

The annual strawberry social of the Catholic Women's League will be held amidst a profusion of summer flowers on June 20 on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Russel, Gulch Road.

On the program for the festive afternoon will be a home-cooking sale under the sponsorship of Mrs. F. Jacobs and Mrs. R. Gilbert, band music by several members of the Summerland Band and pony rides for the youngsters directed by John and Eddie Menu.

Convenors of the kitchen are Mrs. A. Wolfe and Mrs. J. Cristante and serving will be Mrs. J. Schaeffer and Mrs. J. Betuzzi. General convenors of the affair are Mrs. R. Russel, Mrs. A. Wolfe and Mrs. J. Schaeffer.

Growers Report Less Effectiveness With Thinning Sprays This Year

In the latest news letter of the department of agriculture, local growers are reported to have met with less success this year with apple thinning sprays and powdery mildew owing to excessive rain is giving increasing trouble.

Following is sections of the report dealing with Okanagan districts: Summerland, Westbank and Peachland:

As reported June 10: Since the issue of our last news letter the weather has been cool and dull with occasional showery periods. Temperatures have been favorable for growth of tree fruits and vegetables and even tomatoes have made fairly good progress despite the lack of summer heat.

Growers have completed the first codling moth spray and some are starting the second spray. The thinning of apricots is pretty well completed. Thinning operations are now being directed to peaches and pears. Many growers report that thinning sprays for apples were less effective than in 1952. Powdery mildew continues to give trouble on both apples and pears and has doubtless increased owing to the favorable weather conditions. Green peach aphid have given trouble in some lots, but where trees are in good vigor the aphids do not cause much damage. Peach leaf curl is very evident wherever dormant lime sulphur sprays were not applied. Mites have appeared in scattered orchards but are not generally troublesome.

At Peachland and Westbank there has been an increase in the acreage of potatoes and onions planted but plantings of other vegetables particularly tomatoes have not altered much from the 1952 season. Vegetables are making good progress with tomatoes somewhat ahead of last year at this date. Cutworms have given trouble in some localities. Grasshoppers have been emerging for the past two weeks and are very numerous throughout the district. The Westbank district is in the process of forming a grasshopper control zone to combat these pests. Penticton, Naramata, Kaleden, Keremeos:

As reported June 9: Except for three days during the past fortnight, the weather has been cloudy or overcast with occasional showers. Rain fell most of June 7 so that trees were wet continuously for nearly 24 hours.

The thinning of apricots has been completed in most orchards and size is excellent for this time of year. The size of pears and prunes is also excellent while that of apples and peaches is quite variable. Likewise the set of apples is quite variable even with trees of the same variety in the same orchard.

Growers are greatly concerned with regard to the disease situation. The application of sprays has been seriously interfered with by adverse weather conditions and spray schedules have been badly disrupted. Apple scab infections are in evidence, especially in orchards where recommended control practices were not rigidly carried out. Powdery mildew is probably the worst in years, both on apples and on pear while fire-blight is more prevalent than at this time last year. Some insects are equally troublesome, including fruit tree leaf roller, woolly apple aphid, green peach aphid, peach root borer and "cottony" scale on apricots. Codling moth and mites have not been very much in evidence so far.

Very little change has been made in vegetable acreages in the Keremeos-Cawston area this year. While early indications were that 400 acres would be set-out in tomatoes this year, growers reduced their plantings somewhat so that only 296 acres have been planted. Okanagan Falls, Oliver and Osoyoos:

As reported June 9: Rain and dull weather have prevailed for the past two weeks, hampering farm work considerably.

The fruit is sizing well at the moment. Thinning is now progressing, with several peach growers expecting to be finished this week. Growers who tried blossom thinning are generally well pleased both by the labor saved and the extra size attained up to the present time.

Due to the poor weather considerable difficulty has been experienced in applying the cover sprays at the proper time. Apple scab and peach mildew have necessitated control measures on some lots. Black cherry aphid has built up on some blocks so that it will need further control before harvest. Mites and woolly aphid have been noted but have not built up seriously as yet.

Although the vegetable plants appear healthy, the cool weather has held the growth back. Commercial quantities of cucumbers are not expected until next week. Potatoes are now coming into blossom and digging should commence shortly. Grasshoppers appeared several days ago but due to the weather they are not serious as yet.

Armstrong, Vernon, Oyama, Winfield and Okanagan Centre:

As reported June 10: Since our last report the weather has been mostly cool and showery with the odd sunny spell. The Vernon area experienced a very heavy down-pour of rain on the afternoon of June 5 accompanied by hail which did some damage to approximately 500 to 600 acres in the B.X. area. Some hail damage was also caused in the Armstrong area on May 29 but did not appear to be too serious. Tree fruits are sizing fairly satisfactorily. It is still too early to estimate the apple crop as drop in McIntosh and Delicious is still going on. Thinning of apricots is about over and growers are now thinning peaches and pears. Thinning of early varieties of apples such as Duchess and Transparents is now being carried on when weather permits.

First picking of strawberries appears in the local stores during the past week but will not be general for another week. Berries appear to be of excellent quality.

All vegetables are making rapid growth. Early cabbages should be available before the next news letter and the first crop of head lettuce from the Armstrong area was shipped on June 9. The local markets have been supplied for some back or other signs of winter in-

Construction Still Behind Last Year

Summerland construction during May totalled $20,450 and brought the total for the first five months of the year very close to that of the same period last year. Present total for the year is $56,885 compared to $64,445 in 1952.

The May amount was made up from four permits for new dwelling totalling $19,000 and six for alterations to the amount of $1,450.

In May 1952, there were 13 permits to the amount of $10,295. Number of permits issued during the first five months was 40 against 38 a year ago.

Building inspector Roy Angus stated that projected building for this month will put local construction ahead of last year during the first half of last year.

Orchards and ground crops generally appear in a thrifty condition, although heat loving plants would benefit from warmer weather.

Insect pests are well under control. Growers are applying the second codling moth spray. Mildew on apples and pears continues to be prevalent and is severe on several blocks of Jonathan apples. Apple scab and pear scab are making an appearance and could cause concern if the present showery weather continues. Some growers are spraying for this disease.

Crop prospects for orchard crops continues as reported previously, good yields on all fruits with the exception of cherries. Apricots and peach thinning is being finished. Pear and apple thinning is proceeding and all available labor is being utilized for this operation.

Shipments Higher . . .

Packinghouses Clearing Decks To Prepare for 1953 Fruit Crop

Packinghouses throughout the Okanagan are in the midst of cleaning out their huge storage warehouses and overhauling machinery in preparation for the 1953 crop.

Last two carloads of the 1952 apple crop left the valley recently, bound for Montreal. Total B.C. apple shipments to the fresh fruit markets for the year was 5,226,660 boxes, an increase of 936,843 boxes over the previous season. These figures do not include apples which went to canners and processors.

According to J. B. Lander, sales manager for B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the growers' selling agency, 2,250,000 boxes of apples went to Western Canada markets, some 1,000,000 boxes to Eastern Canada, including Newfoundland, and 1,800,000 boxes shipped to the USA. Off-shore markets, mainly Brazil, took 150,000 boxes.

While the 1952 crop was not up to its usual color standards, due to weather conditions, Mr. Lander reported the year "highly successful" for B.C. apples.

But apple growers will not know until this week as to how much they will receive for their 1952 produce. According to B.C. Tree Fruits' president, A. K. Loyd, the apple pool closed three weeks ago. It is anticipated the net price to the grower will be a little higher than last year.

Mr. Loyd refuted a recent story in the Vancouver Sun which quoted Sam Cohodas, of Cohodas Brothers Ltd., Ishpeming, Mich., to the effect the distributing firm would purchase $2,000,000 worth of apples this year.

"No such contract is in existence," he said, "nor have any forward contracts been made regarding this year's crop." Nevertheless Tree Fruits would be glad to sell Mr. Cohodas all the apples he wants.

Canada Prepares To Deal With Disaster

(This is the second in a series of 10 articles dealing with the preparations Canada is making against possible sudden attack and why every Canadian should be ready for such eventualities.)

What About These A-Bombs?

Seeking to dispel mystery which creates uneasiness, Canadian civil defence authorities have set out, in manuals and other material prepared in connection with the national preparedness program, to tell people just what may be expected from the much-publicized and even more misunderstood "A-bombs."

Full details on the types, effects and special attributes of atomic weapons are contained in the book "Personal Protection Under Atomic Attack", which has been made available to all interested in defending Canada against possible enemy onslaught.

Those training in the various civil defence services are being taught even how much damage and how many casualties might be expected from the various types of bomb bursts, and anyone who reads the federal publications can obtain a very good idea of what to do before, during and after raids, even with the most deadly weapons yet devised.

Belief that atomic weapons would destroy the earth is foolish, say the experts. Although atomic weapons hold more death and destruction than man has been able to put into one package before, and the new hydrogen bomb may be even more devastating, their power is limited.

Radioactivity

Danger from radioactivity, which most people fear, is less serious than generally believed. Fewer than 15 per cent of Japanese A-bomb deaths and injuries were caused by radioactivity and, had the Nipponese known how to prepare against A-bombs, that percentage would have been reduced considerably. Radioactivity, Canadians are reminded, isn't anything new. It occurs in X-ray and even in rays from the sun. It is only harmful when absorbed in overdoses, just like sunburn.

Fortunately, almost anything that stands between a person and these rays acts, to some extent, as a shield, although considerable thicknesses are required to give complete protection. Manuals explain how much covering is required to ward off dangerous rays, and advise those caught outside in a raid to seek cover to minimize possible radioactive effects.

Heat Flash

When an A-bomb bursts, a wave of intense heat travels in all directions at about the speed of light. Here again, fortunately, it goes only in straight lines, so that buildings, etc., can protect you. One major danger from such heat flash is the fires it may start. Damp or foggy weather reduces the range of the heat flash and clothing, even, offers some protection. There is not much danger of heat flash burns at a distance of more than 5,000 feet from the bomb burst, if there is sufficient haze to reduce visibility to one mile.

Blast

Experts don't attempt to minimize the terrible toll which would be taken by blast. It would be capable of crumbling buildings like matchwood. Buildings up to a mile and a half from the point at which a bomb exploded would be severely damaged, if not totally destroyed. That is why people are advised to throw themselves down, wherever they may be when the bomb goes off. They should get under cover, even if it's only a desk or a table, indoors. The stronger the building in which they shelter, of course, the safer they'll be.

Canadians are reminded, too, that structures may be weakened by bomb blast, so they should keep away from buildings which may fall, even long after the blow has passed.

Types Of Bursts

Of the three types of A-bomb bursts, that which goes off high in the air is worst, since it spreads havoc downwards over a wide area. If a bomb explodes in water, such as a lake, river or the sea, it may fill the air with particles of radioactive droplets, which can do damage, as well as create a water surge detrimental to the shoreline. A "ground-burst", exploding at ground level, would have restricted damage range, but would cause quite a 'quake and, too, might send up a lot of radioactive dust.

Knowledge Is Power

These facts are being made known to the Canadian public as widely as possible in order that all may know what to expect and, therefore, what to do about such possible dangers. Knowledge is power, and, at least, Canada won't be caught totally unprepared. In fact, the main objective of governments at all levels is to see that the country is not caught unawares—that it is not only ready, but trained, to cope with catastrophe, no matter where or when it strikes.

BCFGA Maturity Committee Forms

The special soft fruits maturity committee, organized to achieve uniformity and size of soft fruit in the Okanagan, started functioning Monday.

The committee, appointed by B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, includes A. W. Barford, representing the B.C. agriculture department; J. E. Britton, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.; and W. G. Snow, the federal agriculture department.

Its duties, to be carried out throughout the soft fruit season, will consist of interpreting and outlining maturity standards at shipper meetings and by personal calls at packing houses.

It will also endeavor to reach a uniform standard of maturity throughout the valley and to inspect loose and packed fruits. The inspection will be restricted to fruit at packinghouses.

The committee will report to the shipper concerned, principals of the committee members, senior fruit inspector for packing houses and B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

Field man of the packing house is expected to pass on to individual growers any report on his fruit.

In announcing setting up of the committee, BCFGAs stressed that the committee will act primarily in an educational capacity and not as an appeal board.

Information given to the grower is designed to assist him in harvesting.

Okanagan Lake—Been very good lately and fish up to 7 lbs. being caught. The mouths of creeks have been producing good fish for trollers. Spinners and casters doing o.k.

Fish Lake Camp—Fish lake has had been partly good. Kamloops are coming back here and if this continues we will have another good lake. The upper lakes are spawning but if you stay away from the spawning areas the fishing is good.

Headwaters Camp—Have had a couple of repeats from here. Crescent was good fishing, but there are some spurnous around. Took catches of small fish on rest of chain.

Bear Lake—Fair fishing here this last week, the fish finished spawning or just about now.

Shannon Lake—Getting better now that it is warming up. Good catches of perch.

Reports on northern fishing spots all show pretty good fishing and large fish being caught. Arrow and Kootenay very good also.

I checked with Game Warden Monks on the new regulations. Garnet Valley dam but not the creek, the legal limit is 6-inch fish. The same applies to Trout Creek.

First Power Boat Racing on Lake

Word has been received in Kelowna that permission for the first sanctioned power boat racing in the Western Division of the Canadian Boating Federation has been granted. News of the decision was released by Dr. Gordon Wilson of Kelowna, director of the Western Division.

Dr. Wilson predicts at least 150 entries in the 22 events, which will be run off July 30, 31, August 1, at the 47th International Kelowna Regatta. There will be at least 15 boats from California, and five Junior Gold Cuppers. Lou Meyers, who holds the world's record for the 48 cubic inch, will be racing, also.

The courses on Lake Okanagan will be officially surveyed before and after the races, under the direction of Tom Hughes, B.C. Department of Public Works. Stop-watch timing will be used, and any records made at this first sanctioned power boat race west of the Great Lakes, will stand on this continent. Art Jones of Kelowna, the 72-year-old builder and racer of boats, will try for the Canadian record in "E" class—a closed course, in his "Miss Kelowna" runabout, powered with an overboard Mercury Block. Jones now holds the Wilson trophy for the fastest boat owned on Lake Okanagan.

Registration in all events will close Wednesday, July 29, at 9:00 a.m. All racers must wear crash helmets and approved racing life jackets. They must show their 1953 registration cards in either the Canadian Boating Federation or American Power Boat Association, plus the registration card for their boats.

World Tennis Champions to Meet In Kelowna To Battle For Title

The World Tennis Championships will take place in the Kelowna Arena in Kelowna on Tuesday evening, June 30, at eight p.m. In closely matched games, Frank Sedgman, tennis pro from Australia; Jack Kramer, a Montebello, California, champion; Ken McGregor, a young pro from Australia, and Pancho Segura, diminutive player from Guayaquil, South America, will battle for the champion tennis title of the world.

Jack Kramer, oldest of the quartet, is 31 years old. His tennis career has been waged against adversity in many forms—appendicitis in 1942, ptomaine poisoning in 1943 and service in the Second World War—but nevertheless he came through with flying colors, winning the Wimbledon's world title in 1947 and recapturing the Davis cup for the second time in 1946. He has defeated such well known tennis champions as John Bromwich, Dinny Pails, Bobby Riggs and Pancho Gonzales and will now attempt to down Frank Sedgman for the world title.

Frank Sedgman, aged 25, has been playing tennis since he was a youngster of eight years old. He won the Wimbledon title and then came to the U.S. to capture two straight Nationals.

Another pro from "Down Under" is Ken McGregor, a 23-year-old athlete who shared four major international doubles championships—Australian, French, English and American. He will join with Pancho Seguras in an attempt to outplay Kramer and Sedgman in the doubles.

Pancho Seguras started his tennis career at a very early age when his father got a job as caretaker of a tennis club. He soon received recognition by winning the championship of South America. He went to the United States and won the intercollegiate for three straight years at the University of Miami. His main adversary in the coming event will be capable Ken McGregor.

In the singles it will be Sedgman vs Kramer and Segura vs McGregor and in the doubles event Kramer and Segura will be matched against the tough team of Sedgman and McGregor.

All seats for the World Tennis Championships are reserved. Admission is $2.25 and $1.50.

Kamloops Strengthens First Place Hold With 6-2 Triumph Over Macs

Summerland Macs came up with too little too late on Sunday afternoon and Kamloops racked up their eighth win out of nine starts to strengthen their first place grip with a 6-2 win at the Living Memorial Ball Park in Summerland. Eyre was on the mound for eight of the innings and managed to hold the visitors to seven hits but his teammates racked up seven errors to give the Okonots the openings they needed.

Next Summerland match will be here Sunday when the locals meet the Kelowna Orioles at the Living Memorial Park.

For visiting chucker, Len Gatin, it was his eighth win in as many efforts and he held the Macs scoreless until the ninth inning when they marked up their pair of counters.

Okonots collected two runs in the third and one each in the fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth.

Hard luck player Sunday was Summerland's third sacker Farynyuk who was credited with three errors—two of them costly to his team. His error in the fifth allowed Evensen to come home and his seventh stanza fumble permitted Evensen to reach first and he later completed the circuit.

Evensen and Len Gatin each collected three-base hits.

Locals were trapped in a double play in the fifth when Gould hit to second baseman Evensen who threw to first to catch Eyre before he could get back on base.

Draper was named as alternate and W. T. Bleasdale will attend the convention as delegate to the CU & C Health Services Society and as a director of the B.C. Credit Union League. The Credit Union convention will be attended by policemen, firemen, loggers, fishermen, farmers, steel workers, civil servants, teachers, etc.—all types of men and women who do the world's work. The event will bring together nearly 400 delegates from approximately 230 Credit Unions throughout B.C. In the crammed two-day session the delegates will hear the routine reports, elect officers for the coming year and discuss such vital topics as school savings, duties of officers, league dues, Credit Union chapters, supplies, educational activities, and financial reports. Special attention will be given to reports of the progress of the Credit Union National Association (CUNA) and CUNA Mutual Insurance Society now serving the eight million Credit Union members on the North American continent. The latter organization provides insurance on the member's savings, wiping out any loans, or portions thereof, upon the death or permanent disability of the borrower. R. A. Monufet, managing director of the B.C. Credit Union, advises that the league has concluded its 14th year with a membership of approximately 75 thousand and total assets of 24 million dollars. The Summerland and District Credit Union was organized in July, 1944, and since that time has made steady progress. Their membership at present totals approximately 880 members who have assets of almost $380,000. Since incorporation they have made loans to their members totalling $863,000. They are members of the B.C. Credit Union League and also of the B.C. Central Credit Union, and for the past three years have had the honor of having a member on the board of directors of the B.C. Credit Union League.

The Summerland Review

Vol. 8, No. 25

West Summerland, B.C., Thursday, June 25, 1953

5c per copy

Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, left, Prime Minister of Canada, stands with Sir C. Maurice Bowra, Vice-Chancellor of Oxford University, before proceeding to the Sheldonian Theatre to receive the degree of honorary Doctor of Civil Law. Conferment of the degree had been postponed for two years because Mr. St. Laurent, in England for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth, was previously unable to visit Oxford.

Co-Operation Good . . .

Civil Defence Test Shows Local Plans Progressing

Summerland's first civil defence test Saturday morning gave the local organization a chance to test progress on its arrangements and civil defence officer, Capt. A. M. Temple, expressed pleasure at the manner in which the test operation was carried out.

New Farm Head Expected July 2

Newly-appointed superintendent of the Summerland Experimental Farm, Dr. T. H. Anstey, is expected to take over his duties here on July 2. Dr. Anstey has been horticulturist at the experimental farm at Agassiz since 1946 and in his new duties succeeds the late Dr. R. C. Palmer.

A native of British Columbia, he graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1941 with the degree of B.S.A. and took his master's degree from the same university in 1943. He obtained his Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota in 1949.

During the last war Dr. Anstey served as lieutenant with the Canadian Army from 1942 to 1946. Prior to his return to Canada he spent several months taking refresher courses at the horticultural experiment station, East Malling, Kent, and at the Long Ashton research station near Bristol.

Dr. Anstey was awarded a scholarship by the Agricultural Institute of Canada in 1947 and was the recipient of the Conway MacMillan Memorial Research Fellowship in 1948.

Although he has specialized largely in the field of plant nutrition, Dr. Anstey has made contributions in plant breeding and chemical herbicides for horticultural crops.

He brings to his new position a good general knowledge of horticulture and British Columbia experience in addition to his academic training and scientific contributions.

Labor Picture Looking Better

Labor picture which looked somewhat bleak up until a few days ago has brightened considerably with an influx of transients starting and labor placement officer Wm. J. Beattie today said there now appears to be nothing to worry about here.

Many communities in the Okanagan are much worse off than Summerland, Mr. Beattie said, and he expressed confidence the situation will continue to improve steadily as the season progresses.

Order-in-Council . . .

J. Y. Towgood Temporary Magistrate During Absence of R. S. Oxley

J. Y. Towgood

Appointed this week by order-in-council at Victoria to serve as magistrate in Summerland during the absence of R. S. Oxley, was J. Y. Towgood. Mr. Towgood's appointment is temporary and will be cancelled and Mr. Oxley reinstated on the return of the latter.

Mr. Towgood is an orchardist and a long-time resident of this district. He is chairman of School District No. 77.

Municipal council recently asked the attorney-general's department for the appointment of a deputy-magistrate to fill the office at times when the regular appointee is absent from the district. It was explained, however, it is contrary to policy to have two magistrates in a district of this size so Mr. Oxley's appointment has been cancelled while he is on extended motor tour to eastern Canada.

Water Works Reports Shortage of Water In Lower Summerland

E. Kercher, superintendent of water department notified municipal council Tuesday there is a shortage of water in Lower Summerland. The old spring which supplies suffered a loss in supply and volume has consequently dropped alarmingly. Cribbing and a new concrete wall for the old spring Mr. Kercher's solution to this problem but this will still not meet the demand.

He reports the second spring is in good condition and suggested that a reservoir situated above the level of the springs and fed with spring waters would boost the pressure. There is no place, he said, where water can be obtained at a higher level without probable damage to lower springs.

Water in Canyon Dam is up to nearing the 27 foot level and the No. 4 dam is at the 24-foot level. Dam No. 1 is now five inches over the spillway and dams Nos. 2 and 3 are four inches over the spillway. They are being fed with snow water and the run-off from heavy rainfall in the hills.

Rotary President To Be Installed

Incoming and outgoing district governors of Rotary district will be here Friday evening to participate in installing in office the newly-elected Summerland president, Mel Ducommun. Incoming district governor is Dolf Brown of Vernon and just completing a term in that office is Edwin Smith of Wenatchee.

Retiring Summerland president is S. A. MacDonald. The new president will take over at a dinner set for 6:30 in the IOOF Hall.

About 70 Rotarians, along with their wives, are expected to attend with visitors coming from Vernon, Kelowna, Oliver, Penticton and other points in the valley.

COUNCIL EXHIBIT

Eight four foot by three foot double-sized panels giving illustrations on why a community should be planned will be featured in an exhibit in Summerland soon. The panels sponsored by Community Planning Association of Canada, will show lack of planning versus planning and will probably be placed on display in the council chambers.

SICK LEAVE

At the council meeting this week a decision was reached on sick leave for municipal employees. It was decided employees will receive 12 days per year sick leave or one day per month, plus the accumulation from previous years to a maximum of 18 days leave per year.

Kiwanis Sponsor . . .

Two Local Youngsters Contestants In Mission Soap Box Derby July 1

Two Summerland boys will be among the 119 entries from 31 R.C. communities who will take part in the B.C. Soap Box Derby at Mission City on July 1. The boys, first from Summerland to participate in this annual race, are Terry Turnbull, 12, and Glen Taylor, 13. The local entries are being sponsored by Summerland Kiwanis Club.

MAY PURCHASE ROLLER

The Summerland municipality will purchase a road roller from the Vancouver Machinery Depot if, after further inquiries, a satisfactory price agreement can be reached, council decided at its Tuesday session. The roller is at present in use here on a rental basis, being used on the corporation surfacing program. If purchased, 80 per cent of the rentals paid on the machine will be applied against the purchase price.

This year's car builders will come from as far north as Dawson Creek, a new entry; east to Fernie; west to Victoria and Port Alberni; and south to the international boundary to compete in the derby.

Winning racer will travel free to Akron, Ohio, in August to compete for the international championship and $15,000 in scholarships.

The derby will be a major feature of the annual Mission City and District Board of Trade strawberry festival.

It will run this year for the first time on Canada's first permanent soap box derby track, a blacktop strip 900 feet long and 300 feet wide in Mission fair grounds.

The derby will begin at 9:30 a.m. July 1 with the opening rounds of the derby and will swing into action again at the conclusion of the festival program.

A. W. Moscarella, publisher of The Vancouver Province, will open the new derby track at 3:50 p.m. and racing will continue to the championship at 5:30, concluding with a derby banquet at 6:15 p.m. The event will be broadcast by CBC on the provincial network on July 1 from 6:15 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.

Approve Expenditure To Clear Roadsides

Municipal council Tuesday afternoon approved expenditure of $300 to clear away grass and brush at the side of roads where in many cases a serious hazard is created for motorists where it overhangs, forcing people to walk on the pavement.

Council members reported several complaints about conditions in various parts of the municipality and the problem was a subject of discussion at the last meeting of the Board of Trade.

Parties Preparing . . .

Four-Cornered Contest Ahead In Federal August 10 Election

With the air still not cleared of the provincial election, party supporters are starting to gird for what promises to be a four-way fight in the new federal riding of Okanagan Boundary. Three parties have set dates for nominating conventions during the next two weeks and the Progressive Conservatives state they will set a date within the next few days.

Only the CCF have a clear idea who will be their standard bearer in the August 10 federal contest. He is O. L. Jones, who has been the member from this district. His choice at the CCF nominating convention in Penticton Saturday evening is a foregone conclusion. The meeting will be in the KP hall at 7:30 p.m.

Believes Polio Outbreak on Wane

No new cases of polio were reported this week in the South Okanagan area and Dr. D. M. Black, chief medical officer of the health unit, today stated he believed the present outbreak to be on the wane but warned the most dangerous period for polio infection is still ahead and emphasized the need for continued precautions.

Dr. Black described as unusual the recent outbreak in the valley which reached 29 victims. This, he said, is early in the year for the infection to be so general and warned that July and August are the months when greatest precautions should be taken. He reiterated that general principles of good hygiene closely adhered to were the most effective protection against possible polio infection.

Deisel Switch Now Completed

Summerland yesterday heard CPR steam locomotives on the Vancouver-Medicine Hat run whistle their swan song, giving way today entirely to big deisel-electric engines.

Starting today the Kettle Valley express out of Vancouver will be pulled over the 962-mile route by deisel power and likewise the Kootenay express from Medicine Hat operating the daylight runs through the spectacular Coquihalla Valley and the picturesque British Columbia territory. Steam power will be switched to service on the prairies. Maintenance of these new rail giants will be carried out at Nelson where the $1 million deisel maintenance plant is now in partial operation and is expected to be completed early in September. Altogether 73 of these deisel engines are expected to be operating in the Kootenay and Kettle Valley regions over Canadian Pacific lines.

Victory Picnic Set For Holiday

South Okanagan Societies on Wednesday will celebrate the decisive victory of their leader in this riding with a field day at the Experimental station which is expected to draw crowds from all points in the Okanagan Valley.

Missing will be the honored candidate, Premier W. A. C. Bennett. He is in Eastern Canada and will be represented by health and welfare minister, Hon. Eric Martin. Mr. Martin will open the picnic program at 2 p.m. and will address the gathering later in the afternoon. Other prominent party members are expected to accompany Mr. Martin here.

A program of sports and entertainment have been arranged for the afternoon.

APPROVE HALL RENTAL

Municipal council Tuesday afternoon approved application from Walters Ltd. for rental of Ellison Hall at $30 per month during the packing season.

Liberals have set July 3 for their nominating convention to be held in the IOOF hall in Penticton. Serving on the nomination committee to propose the name of a candidate to that meeting are Harvey Wilson and W. R. Powell of Summerland, A. W. Gray and R. M. Hayman of Kelowna.

Social Credit party has indicated they will field a candidate and they will meet in Penticton on July 7 to decide who it will be. In Liberal circles, two names well-known in the valley are being mentioned as possible candidates—Arthur Garrish, BCFGA president and A. K. Loyd, president of B.C. Tree Fruits. Mr. Garrish offers no comment on the rumors and Mr. Loyd is at present in England.

Only name so far rumored as a possible Social Credit candidate is Ivor J. Newman of Kelowna. Mr. Newman told a Kelowna Social Credit meeting recently that he has no political aspirations but his statements have not stifled suggestion that he may yet emerge as candidate.

Although Pro-Cons are lagging in the matter of nomination plans, they were first to get their campaign under way in this riding with Kamloops MP E. D. Fulton addressing an organization meeting in Penticton last Friday night.

Fourth Term . . .

Eric M. Tait Named Councillor To Complete Richards' Term

New member of Summerland municipal council is Eric M. Tait of Trout Creek who Tuesday afternoon was appointed to the office by the council to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of H. R. J. Richards.

Mr. Tait's appointment is to complete Mr. Richards' unexpired term which ends in December.

Appointment of a councillor became necessary when no candidates appeared on nomination day two weeks ago.

Mr. Tait is a former councillor and is thoroughly familiar with municipal business. He served three two-year terms, being first elected in 1946.

Mr. Richards resigned a month ago when he was disqualified from holding office when he sold his property here and ceased to be a ratepayer. He has since acquired more property and may be back in the municipal election field in December.

List of Improvements Sent to Council Meet By Board of Trade

Several recommendations by the Board of Trade were presented in a letter read at the municipal council meeting Tuesday afternoon.

They were: that over-hanging bushes should be removed from the road allowances; that parking signs be placed in front of Super-Valu and on the opposite side of Granville Street to indicate the manner of parking to be used, angle or parallel; that a stop sign be placed at Phillip's corner; and that a sidewalk be constructed from the Living Memorial Playground to the corner known as Dart's corner.

The council members reported most of the recommendations have already been looked into.

Road Plans Ready In About Two Weeks

Plans for the Summerland highway diversion will be completed in probably about three weeks and shortly after that time final decision on what route the new road is to follow will be announced.

This is the latest information received from the provincial highway department. Work of preparing tracings would have been completed much sooner, it was explained but progress was delayed during the election.

Municipal Council Hears Grant Plan To Aid Hospital

According to the BCHS, capital expenditures are not included in the hospital budgets and in order to make repairs and general improvements in the buildings and grounds of the Summerland General Hospital, the Summerland Hospital Society Tuesday proposed to the municipal council a plan to meet these capital expenditures.

Plan is for the council to include the hospital in its schedule of annual grants. The federal government will pay one-third of the total cost of improvements as will the provincial government but it is up to the hospital society to raise the remaining one-third. The problem is "How?"

Ivor H. Solly, Hospital Society representative, proposed that a quarter-mill be tacked on the mill rate and be collected as part of the city revenue. Following lengthy discussion, the matter was finally tabled until August when the council will get opinions on the proposal at the meeting of the Valley Municipal Association which will be held in Oliver.

CEMETERY REPORT

Parks board will be given a boost in their efforts to plan a new section for a cemetery in the municipality, the council decided at their meeting this week. The parks board had nothing further to report this week but they will be asked to have a section surveyed and a plan of the proposed cemetery handed in to the next council meeting.

SCHOOL BOARD GRANT

Local school board asked the municipal council for a grant of $10,000 for school district No. 77 in order that the school teachers might be paid before the summer recess. The request was granted.

Shown above is an artist's conception of how the Canadian Pacific Railway's newly-ordered train ferry will appear when she goes into operation between Vancouver and Nanaimo in May, 1955. William Manson, vice-president of the CPR's Pacific region at Vancouver, announced that a contract for building the ship has been let to Alexander Stephen and Sons Ltd. of Glasgow, Scotland.

Signifying Nothing

BY RUSTICUS

The most picturesque vocabulary I ever met was my father's. He didn't have to resort to swearing, either; in fact he had a strong religious aversion to it. Once when I was a youngster he lectured me sternly about the evils of such words as 'Gosh' and 'Gee,' pointing out that they were just subtler ways of saying 'God'.

Since they formed a large part of my own youthful vocabulary just then, and his own favorite expressions were 'O Lor!' and 'God bless my soul', not to mention an occasional explosive 'Damn' when he was milking cows on a hot night in fly-time and the switching tails got too unbearable, I felt aggrieved. But subordinates in any army must suffer in silence, and it must be admitted that aside from these expressions, we never heard Father swear.

It didn't seem to handicap him, however. To see him chasing marauding chickens out of his pet strawberry bed, of earth, and roaring, 'Run, you cackling idiots, you giddy trespassers, you drunken sweeps', at the top of his voice, was a stirring experience. And when he characterized Mother's latest new hat with a snorted 'Where'd you get that abortion?' well, blasphemy itself could have been no more damning.

If, on the other hand, the hat's objectionableness was due to age, he would be apt to inform her it was a 'decrepit monstrosity' and ought to be 'hors de combat'. Father had a fine store of French and Latin phrases from his public school days. 'Verbum sap, you know,' he would probably add. We all took 'noblesse oblige', 'tempus fugit', and similar small tit-bits in our stride, but once when one of my brothers was bemoaning his luck, Father stumped me by murmuring sympathetically, 'O Tempera, O Mores'. When I piped up inquiringly, he informed me with a wink that they were a couple of Irish families who had fallen on evil days, and I accepted this as gospel for years.

He was always interested in new or imposing words, and we all knew that the 'aurora borealis' was the northern lights, and that they were 'inexplicable atmospheric phenomena'. He was tickled to discover that a conjuror was a "prestidigitator", and once after shouting to me that the chickens needed feeding, stood listening thoughtfully to birds rattling away at their empty metal dish and remarking thoughtfully, 'The tintinnabulation of the beaks, beaks, beaks'.

At the same time, he believed that $64 words, like $64 pairs of trousers, were not to be worn lightly; normally, he called a spade a downright spade. Although gardening was his hobby, he never displayed his erudition in words like 'rhizome', 'mutation', and the like; and though he did habitually use 'antirrhinum' and 'escholtzia' for snapdragon and California poppy, he never dreamed of referring to asters, zinnias, sweet peas, etc., by any but their common names.

His other hobby, religion and the Bible, provided many a fine phrase for the proper occasion. The cat was not merely put out at night when Father was feeling gay. He was 'cast into outer darkness', often 'with wailing and gnashing of teeth'. A fussy hair-do was apt to be 'vanity of vanities'. We were often told that we 'perceived through a glass darkly'. And we were very pleased when Father foot-noted a remark of ours with 'Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings'. Once I caught him sneaking up on some poaching calves, with a large stick in his hand, muttering through clenched teeth, 'Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites'.

It seemed that calves, chickens and children—the minor crises of life—provoked his best verbal efforts. How he used to flay me for slowness! 'Come on, misery; drag a little faster slowpoke'. And 'slowcoach' and 'slowcome' and once even 'slowcome-podgie'.

Doubtless he would never have achieved so many verbal masterpieces if he hadn't moved in middle life from an English city to a Canadian farm, with its many new irritations; or if he had not had a large family. But alas, as his family reached adolescence they were prone to bitterly resent choice expressions that had awed them earlier, and it has taken years to reach the stage of properly appreciating them.

Don't Take Chances . . . eliminate water tragedies

MORE than 100 people drowned in British Columbia last year. This represents more than 10 per cent of all accidental death. An even more regrettable feature of these water fatalities is that many of them could have been avoided.

Swimming season is just about at hand and every person would be wise to give some thought to the basic water safety rules recommended by the Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety department:

1. Learn to swim well. This does not mean the ability to swim 50 feet; but at least 100 yards without undue fatigue; to tread water or float for at least five minutes.

2. Never swim alone; never go out in a small boat alone.

3. Never disobey the rules governing the area in which you swim, boat, fish or hike, etc. They are for your protection.

4. Stay away from currents, weeds, rocky areas, industrial areas, boating areas when swimming. As much as possible, swim only at supervised beaches and pools.

5. Never take a dare or a chance. If you have any doubt as to your ability to do certain things in the water—then don't do them.

6. Never permit a non-swimmer in a small boat, that is a canoe, row boat or small sail boat. Life preservers offer no excuse for permitting such people in small craft.

7. Make sure your small craft has the safety equipment that the law requires. Remember a wooden boat will not sink. If it capsizes use it as a life raft and call for help.

8. Never approach a drowning person unless this is absolutely the only means of saving him. The clutches of a frantic drowning person spell death for both. Use anything handy to reach out to them, such as an oar, towel, short rope, etc.

9. If you are a parent make sure your children learn to swim and also learn to respect the water at as early an age as possible.

10. Home fish ponds, pools and ornamental gardens containing water require constant supervision. They can provide a serious hazard if there are young children around.

New Life For Many . . . campaign against suffering

THERE are 600,000 Canadians who are suffering from rheumatic diseases, of whom 100,000 are totally or partially disabled. Many of these are children, with years of life ahead of them. Whether those years are to be passed in a wheelchair in endless endurance of crippling pain, or whether they may bring a measure of satisfaction and achievement depends entirely on diagnosis, treatment and home care.

Very few families are capable of giving the best of care to patients in their homes. Physiotherapy calls for expensive equipment, and even supervision of exercises requires special training. With the best will in the world, many patients are unable to help themselves.

It is, therefore, on the principle of helping others to help themselves that the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society has inaugurated a program which includes the establishment of mobile physiotherapy units frequently attached to arthritis clinics supported by the society. Already 22 such units are in operation in B.C. and the society is planning to establish three additional units this year. More than a third of its total funds will be devoted to this purpose.

Under the direction of the patient's own doctor, these units bring needed physiotherapy treatments right into the homes of the patients. They also bring a practical hope of social and economic security to people who have resigned themselves to permanent invalidism and dependency.

Already the society's files are filling with reports describing the rehabilitation of rheumatic cases. In the past, it has been estimated that Canadian industry has lost nine and a half million days' work every year due to the rheumatic diseases, and that Canadian workers, in their turn, lose 70 million dollars in wages alone. By restoring the use of crippled limbs to their fullest capacity and then guiding patients into employment suitable to their restricted abilities, it is hoped that many people can become once more productive, independent members of society.

Arthritis and rheumatism totally or partially disable 100,000 Canadians, confining 15,000 permanently to bed or wheelchair. Every dollar spent on bringing these people into a more normal and even partially self-supporting life, saves hundreds of dollars to the community as a whole.

But it is not on a merely commercial scale

Canada was in better condition when there were more whittlers and fewer chisellers.

Mid-Week Message

Teaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark. (Philippians 3:13, 14.) Read Romans 12:1-5.

About 1803 Ludwig Beethoven said, "I am not satisfied with my works up to the present time. From today I mean to take a new road." And the great composer wrote such music as the people had never heard before.

Paul, the apostle, recognized how easy it is to settle down comfortably into routine living as a Christian when he wrote the determined words: "I press toward the mark." He held before himself continually goals yet unattained.

If each of us were to resolve: "From today I mean to take a new road," applying that resolution to the practice of brotherhood or to our ways of thinking and doing, life would be more abundant than it has been. When we walk in old, familiar ways too long, we often find ourselves limping along in a rut rather than striding forward toward the rich, rewarding goals of the spiritual.

PRAYER

Our Father, stir within us a discontent with half-hearted living. Reveal to us the areas of life where each of us needs to press forward. And strengthen us as we seek to "take a new road." In our Redeemer's name we pray. Amen.

Ottawa Outlook

By PETER GABLE

What do farmers think of the federal government's record in agriculture?

Every political organizer with his ear to the ground knows this will be one of the key factors in the forthcoming federal general election. It can swing the vote in a majority of federal constituencies.

Agriculture Minister James Gardiner, whose career on the hustings goes back to 1914 without a single personal defeat at the polls, thinks farmers will continue to support the present government.

This may be scarcely an unbiased view of the election outlook, but Gardiner is an old hand at gauging public feeling, and he backs up his forecast with an impressive recital of facts and figures. The government's record in agriculture for all practical purposes is Jimmy Gardiner's record. He has been minister of agriculture under the King and St. Laurent administrations since 1936.

Here are some of the reasons why Gardiner thinks the farm vote will back the government again:

First he cites the record of expenditures on agriculture. The Meighen government in 1921 spent $5,500,000 during its last year in office. The following year, the new Liberal government under Mackenzie King asked parliament for $9 million. When the Conservative government under R. B. Bennett was returned in 1930, the outlay was reduced again to $6,600,000. Last year, the St. Laurent administration spent more than $100 million on its agriculture programs.

Then Gardiner cites the government's record in farm legislation. Liberal administration, he says, have approved vast new programs of special assistance to agriculture—the prairie and maritime farm rehabilitation acts, the agricultural co-operative marketing act, the prairie farm assistance act—providing drought insurance ($144 million in the past 14 years), and many others.

One of the agriculture department's most ambitious and successful programs has been the policy of encouraging movement of feed grains from the great prairie breadbasket area to livestock producers in eastern Canada and on the west coast. The program, under which a freight subsidy is paid on feed grain shipments, has involved expenditure of $188 million. It has given eastern and west coast livestock producers the opportunity to purchase feed at a reasonable price and at the same time has encouraged production of feed grains on the prairies.

Perhaps Gardiner's proudest achievement was the passage of the agricultural prices support act in 1944, guaranteeing farmers a reasonably stable return for their produce. Today, for example, the government maintains a "stop-loss" price of 58 cents a pound on butter during the summer months. The Agricultural Prices Support Board purchases surplus butter in the summer months, stores it and sells it to the wholesale trade in the wintertime, with carrying costs added.

What about opposition charges that Canada has lost the British market for meat and dairy products? Here is Gardiner's answer:

"Britain is buying carcass beef in London at 16 cents a pound. We are selling ours at 39 cents a pound in Montreal. Britain is buying her bacon at 31 cents a pound. We are selling ours at 45 cents in Montreal.

"Britain is buying her butter at 41 cents a pound. We are selling ours for 60 cents in Montreal. Britain is buying her cheese from New Zealand at 24 cents a pound. We are selling ours at 30 cents in Montreal. Britain is buying her eggs at 46 cents a dozen. We are selling ours at 53 cents a dozen.

"Why should we wish to sell those products in London at those prices in preference to prices received in Montreal or Toronto?"

The present government, Gardiner says, has done more for farmers than any other government in Canadian history. That's why he believes they will back it again at the forthcoming general election.

The Lighter Side

"Dad, why does the law limit a man to only one wife?"

"My son, when you are older you will realize the law protects those who are incapable of protecting themselves.

What does the bride think when she walks into church?"

"Aisle altar hymn."

1st Summerland Troop

Fifteen boys have definitely decided to go to camp. Any others that may decide to go must let the Scoutmaster know this week. After that time it is doubtful whether latecomers can be accommodated.

All the boys who were examined for their tenderfoot badges passed. They can get their uniforms for camp, and will be invested there. A meeting will be called just previous to camp. Watch the paper for announcement of the date, Scouts.

Pack boards should be prepared now. These will be essential for the overnight hike. Plans for making them can be had from Scoutmaster Munn. He will also be pleased to lend a hand to any Scouts who have difficulty making theirs.

All parents will receive a letter regarding camp procedure and requirements at the earliest possible date.

Let's hope the weather improves, and our eight days together in the great outdoors make good conversation for winter evenings! Yours for good Scouting and a good time.—David Munn.

BROWNIE CHATTER

2nd Summerland Pack

The final meeting was held on Friday, June 19, with almost a full attendance.

Mrs. Durick was our guest and presented each Brownie with a pencil as a token of her interest in Brownies. She presented Nancy Young with her golden bar and Dianne Gillard and Elinor Raincock with their second year service stars. Margaret Hutton had also earned her second year star and it was sent to her in the hospital. We are glad to hear she is home again and doing well.

Tawny Owl made cookies for the Brownies in the shape of Brownie men and decorated them accordingly. The Brownies made letter holders for their mothers and ended with a game.

Two Brownies, Elinor Raincock and Nancy Graham passed their Golden Hand tests and will receive them in the fall.

Thank you Brownies for a good attendance all season and watch for an announcement in the paper about your summer swimming party.—Brown Owl.

CUB CALLS

1st Summerland Pack

On Monday, June 22, we held our last meeting for the summer. We started off by having our picture taken for our yearbook. All parents interested in getting some, please call at the Sunwood Studio to look at negatives and order them, same price as last year.

John Lott was our best Cub of the year and received the plaque which he will keep for the next year. Three boys had perfect attendance for the year, they were, Wayne McCargar, Tommy Milne and Douglas Rumball. Good work boys, keep it up.

The following badges were presented: John Lott, artist; John Underwood, collector; Robin Moss, house orderly; Tommy Milne, house orderly, first aid, and Richard Milne, house orderly and first aid. We then played games and finished off the meeting with ice cream and cake.

Our ramble, fishing trip on Saturday, June 20, was a bang up one. Quite a few fish were brought back, but no sunburns. Many thanks to Bob Barkwill for the loan of his truck.

Our summer camp is at Kelp's mine, July 13 to 17 inclusive. Letters will be sent out to parents. Happy holidays boys, from all the Old Wolves.—Akela.

Afternoon Rites ...

Knight-Field Nuptials Solemnized In Setting of Summer Flowers

An original gown of white organdy featuring a sweetheart neck-line, wide, frilled sleeves and a bouffant skirt, embroidered in an all-over pattern of white velvet flowers and leaves of silver thread was worn by Shirley Anne Field of Brantford, Ontario, when she became the bride of Reverend Kenneth Knight of Summerland.

The lovely bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Field of Brantford, Ontario, carried a bou-quet of sweetheart roses and a wreath of flowers held in place her finger-tip veil of illusion net. She was given in marriage by her father.

Rev. Fred Bullen officiated at the afternoon ceremony in Park Baptist Church in Brantford, Onta-rio, which was decorated with deep pink and white snap-dragons accented with ferns.

Attending the bride were brides-maids, Miss Marion Heath and Miss Shirley Heatlie, both of Toronto, Ontario, who wore identical gowns of ice-pink organdy over pink sa-tin with violet velvet sashes and matching slippers. Their head-bands were of violet velvet and pink summer flowers and they carried nosegays of sweetheart roses, sweet peas and pansies.

Best man for the groom, son of Mrs. William J. Knight and the late William J. Knight, of Estevan, Saskatchewan, was Rev. Ian Hind of Goderich, Ontario. Ushers were Rev. Lloyd Pierce of St. Cather-ines, Ontario, and James Trotter of Toronto, Ontario.

Soloist was Miss Mary Williams who sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Following the wedding rites, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Assisting in receiving the many guests were the mother of the bride, wearing a blue crepe Romaine gown trim-med in lace with black accesso-ries and a corsage of pink roses, and the mother of the groom wear-ing an afternoon dress of Alice blue tissue-faille with navy acces-sories and a corsage of talisman roses.

For an extended motor trip through western Canada and the USA, the bride donned a navy and pink linen suit with navy acces-sories and a gardenia corsage.

Out-of-town guests at the wed-ding included many friends and relatives from points in Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Colum-bia.

Bride Lovely in White ...

Many Guests Attend Wedding Of Maureen Prior, Glen Warren

Over 130 guests witnessed the lovely wedding vows of Maureen June Prior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Prior, and Glen Arthur Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Warren. The ceremony took place in the flower-decorated Kingdom Hall of Jehovah Witnesses in West Summerland on June 20, V. R. Dunscombe officiating.

The beautiful young bride enter-ed the hall on the arm of her father and was seated at the altar with the wedding party. She wore a white afternoon dress of nylon sheer with white accessories and a dainty pale pink hat held in place her tiny veil. Her corsage was of pale pink roses.

Mr. Dunscombe, a special repre-sentative of the Watch Tower So-ciety, spoke on the scriptural as-pects of marriage.

Attending the bride was Miss Margaret McLean of Kamloops who wore a mauve nylon sheer with white accessories, a hairband of mauve summer flowers and a corsage of yellow roses.

Victor Matkovitch was bestman for the groom and ushering were Tony and Paul Matkovitch.

During the signing of the reg-ister, musical selections were played by Mrs. Grace Ferlin of Penticton and Miss Sharon Dowds.

Following the wedding ceremony a family supper was held amidst a profusion of gay summer flow-ers on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents. Receiving the guests were the mother of the bride wearing a white after-noon gown of crepe with white accessories and pink carnations, and the mother of the groom wear-ing a navy dress of nylon sheer accented with white collar and cuffs. Her accessories were navy and she wore a corsage of yellow roses.

The young couple post-poned their honeymoon for ten days when they will travel to New York City to attend the World Assembly of Jehovah Witnesses at Yankee Stadium. Upon their return they will take up residence in West Summerland.

Out of town guests at the wed-ding were Mr. and Mrs. McLean, Peter Purnell and Alvin Kelley of Kamloops; Miss Jean Thatchuk of Vernon; Mrs. Blanche Warren of Penticton and Mr. and Mrs. Ju-lus Ardis of Keremeos.

Local Churches Honor Whitmore Family at Social

About 200 members and friends of the United Churches of this dis-trict were present at a farewell so-cial party given in honor of Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Whitmore and fam-ily Monday evening in St. Andrew's Church Hall.

Greetings were brought by Canon F. V. Harrison of the Anglican Church, Rev. G. Schnell of the Free Methodist Church, Rev. C. D. Postal of the Pentecostal Church and Rev. Kaboyama of the Okana-gan Japanese Church of Kelowna. Speaking in commentary form they each mentioned the friendly relationship between the Whitmores and the churches and wished them good luck in their next field of en-deavor.

An interesting program of enter-tainment followed commencing with a sing-song directed by Art Flem-ing with Mrs. Fudge at the piano. Miss Chris Mair and Miss Nancy Fleming entertained the appreciative audience with a duet and Wallace Boothe sang a solo. Mrs. Alma Fudge and Mrs. Laura Boothe sang a character duet and a humorous radio skit was enacted by Les Gould and George Washing-ton.

One of the highlights of the eve-ning was the presentation by Rev. Kaboyama who, on behalf of the Summerland Japanese Church, presented Rev. Whitmore with a Parker pen and pencil set and from his own church in Kelowna with a beautiful hammered copper pic-ture of a Mongolian dancer and an exquisite lacquer vase. J. R. Campbell, on behalf of Rev. Whit-more's own congregation, present-ed him with a purse of money and spoke of the considerable number of accomplishments of the church during Rev. Whitmore's service in Summerland.

Most Ravaging Epidemic

Asking Doctors To Take Lead In Cutting Automobile Death Toll

Two Montreal physicians, Harold Elliott and H. L. Rounthwaite, are campaigning to enlist the help of all Canadian doctors in reducing the annual toll of death from automobile accidents. They have recently published articles in the Journal of the Canadian Medical Association and in the magazine Health on the subject.

"Although the death rate from road accidents is the most ravaging epidemic in Canada every year, it is strange that the medical profession in general has not considered it to be a medical responsibility," write Drs. Elliott and Rounthwaite. "If, however, 56,000 people were killed or maimed in Canada during the next year from typhoid or influenza, the whole country would be up in arms about it.

"The medical profession has demonstrated steady progress in other epidemics in the past, and, in our opinion, it is the best equipped group in Canada to adequately encompass and reduce the death rate from highway accidents."

They point out that 67 per cent of the 2,408 automobile passengers and drivers killed in Canada in 1952 died as a result of head injuries. This would indicate that crash-shut doors may be very important safety features of automobiles, since many of the head injuries resulted from the victims being thrown out of the car when the doors flew open at the moment of impact.

Plastic Windows

The doctors feel that many scalp lacerations and compound depressed fractures of the skull, caused by flying glass, might be prevented by the use of plastic window shields.

Other mechanical factors requiring consideration by car manufacturers include a flexible steering wheel that will yield to torsional stress, and soft dashboards with no projecting instruments.

So far as speed is concerned as an accident fact, they report that the majority of fatalities occur at speeds between 30 and 40 miles per hour, so speeds that are not normally regarded as excessive, but are too fast in certain combinations of circumstances. Speed itself, is blamed for about 35 per cent of fatal accidents.

$1,300 Buys a Lot— Of Higher Education

Putting your youngster through high school and college is a costly business. And, if you're like most people, you will have to prepare for that expense well in advance. An easy way to do it, should you not need the Family Allowance Cheques for their primary purpose of paying for the youngster's day-to-day expenses, is to earmark all of them for his later education. The cheques for one child, saved in a B of M account until the age of 16 is reached, total more than $1,300, including interest. It's a handy start toward a higher education. And it means you have ready money in the bank available for any unexpected opportunity or emergency. Start while your youngster is still tiny, and you'll have a sum which will really count when the first college bills arrive. Why not drop into the B of M next time you are passing, and open your child's "Fund for the Future." Ivor Solly, manager of the West Summerland branch, says any member of his staff will gladly welcome the opportunity of assisting you in putting this good idea into practice. —Adv.

Dog Licencing Draft Studied By Council

Draft of a new dog licencing by-law was considered Tuesday afternoon at the municipal council meeting.

Highlights of the draft included the cost and application of dog licences, rules governing the dog pound and pound-keeper and age restrictions of dogs needing licences as well as other articles concerning the general welfare of dogs in the municipality.

Under the proposed by-law all dogs six months old or over, male or female, must wear a dog tag which will cost the owner $2. The fees for the license tags are due on Jan. 1, each year and expire on December 31. All fees for dog licences will be paid at the municipal office. Receipt should be kept in order that new tag can be issued in case of loss. A dog pound will be established in the municipality with an authorized pound-keeper who will be paid 10 per cent of the total licence fee collection.

Canada Prepares To Deal With Disaster

(This is the third in a series of 10 articles dealing with the preparations Canada is making against possible sudden attack and why every Canadian should be ready for such eventuality.)

How are we setting up disaster services?

Aim of Canada's civil defence services for dealing with disaster is, broadly, to minimize the toll of catastrophe, in terms of human suffering, to keep loss to a minimum, to maintain production and bolster the "will to fight", where there is a hostile force to combat, and to maintain the "will to come back" from natural calamity.

Government manuals issued for public information detail the essential measures to be undertaken as designed to reduce loss of life and injury, to afford medical and other assistance to the civil population, to ensure that essential production will continue, to restore public utilities and services as quickly as possible and to mitigate property damage which may have been caused.

Since civil defence, in its very essence, is the assurance of the continuity of community services, the main operational responsibility, apart from overall planning, training and co-ordination, falls on those local municipal agencies which are called upon from day to day to maintain the normal amenities of life in Canada's urban communities and other organized areas.

Thus, civil defence authorities point out, self-help and mutual aid—keys to the defeat of disaster—are responsibilities of each and every citizen. The local governments—the municipalities—are responsible for the provision of an organization so that the people can produce co-ordinated self-help.

Provincial governments are charged with providing mutual aid between communities and the federal government's role is that of ensuring that appropriate defence measures are taken, that there are services to put them into effect and that such activities are co-ordinated for maximum effectiveness.

Defence Areas

For civil defence purposes, Canada is divided into target, mutual aid and mobile support and reception areas. Their names are self-explanatory. They embrace every section of the country—cities most likely to be attacked or where disaster would wreck the heaviest toll, communities not so likely to be struck, where supporting aid could be mobilized quickly to help those which suffer, and the rest of the country where, in addition to emergency relief, facilities could be enlisted for care of victims of the areas devastated.

Defence Services

Communities organized to deal with disaster are setting up services which include: police, with volunteer auxiliaries; fire, with volunteers, to meet extraordinary fire hazards; health services, organized for the treatment of casualties and maintenance of community health standards; ambulance volunteers, for rapid movement of casualties; rescue workers, for recovery of people trapped in collapsed buildings; welfare volunteers, to reduce such stress on the public as disaster might bring; engineers, to aid in restoring public utilities, clearing debris, etc., and wardens, to provide aid, information and leadership to local groups and individuals in coping with their troubles.

Organizing Apace

The federal government has gone far to see that adequate services are established, trained and equipped. It has provided siren warning systems to possible target areas, contributed to the cost of provincial civil defence projects, under-written part of the cost of standardizing such essential tools as fire-fighting equipment, trained thousands of people who, in turn, will instruct others in approved civil defence methods, provided special radiological and other instruments, and has carried on a continuing information program to tell Canadians what they should do if disaster strikes.

The government has also done much to alert and prepare medical people, social workers and others needed to care for casualties, and has stockpiled medical supplies and other essential equipment at strategic points across the country.

The provinces have all set up civil defence organizations and

Background of Tree Fruit Breeding Outlined To Horticultural Society

June meeting of the Summerland Horticultural Society was well attended by members who met in the Log Cabin at the Experimental Station on Friday evening.

On the previous Wednesday members had been invited to visit Mrs. H. G. Fisher's beautiful garden on Hospital Hill and many had taken advantage of the chance to see what real garden enthusiasts can do with a typical sandy Summerland hillside. Enclosed in a cedar hedge it is protected from the wind and many lovely shrubs and perennials thrive there making it like a miniature park. A long rockery is a mass of color with many interesting rock plants in it. The rose garden drew many compliments rivaling a lovely wall of honeysuckle and many other delightful flowers in this lovely spot.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by the Friday meeting to be sent to Mrs. Fisher for her kind invitation.

A large canvas sign is to be purchased and set up in the corner of the High School grounds to advertise the rose show being held in the auditorium on June 25. W. Snow gave information about the rose show and said a new class was being added this year to consist of any one or more species of roses displayed in a vase, to try to bring out to the show more of the older types of roses.

The speaker for the evening was A. J. Mann, acting superintendent of the Experimental Station. His topic was "Breeding Varieties of Tree Fruits" and he traced the life history of the Sparton apple—one of 5 selected seedlings started many of the major cities have established and are training strong forces for emergency duty.

Canada is indeed preparing for concerted action to tackle whatever emergency may arise. Not the least important of her efforts has been directed towards enlisting the active interest and co-operation in these measures of the individual citizen. Self-help being the essence of civil defence, the country is anxious that everyone should know what to do in disaster and that every community should be so organized, trained and equipped that loss, both human and material, would be kept to a minimum.

at the Summerland Station by the late Dr. R. C. Palmer in 1926. It was a hand pollinated cross of the MacIntosh and Newtown and after 20 years of testing was declared a good planting variety, only to be taken off the planting list three years later due to reports from several growers of breakdown. Mr. Mann had brought these trees through their latter tests himself and still considers the Sparton one of the best fall apples.

The history of propagating new fruits dates back to the 18th century and Mr. Mann gave examples of several seedlings being discovered and through the persistence and faithful propagating of a few farsighted orchardists apples such as the Delicious and Golden Delicious were given to the world market. A man named Hiatte on an Iowa farm entered fruit from what he was confident was an outstanding apple seedling tree and a judge at the fair confirmed his belief with the result that Delicious apple trees are in most of the orchards in the districts.

Golden Delicious was propagated from a seedling discovered by A. A. Mullen in a mountainous district. Mr. Mann spoke of how scientists are constantly trying and searching for something better in tree fruits and how all trees must be tested in various climates, soils and locations for many years before being recommended for permanent orchard planting. Keeping qualities of the fruits are also tested over the years and also hardness and appearance are noted for shipping varieties.

Mr. Mann demonstrated the keeping qualities of some varieties, by cutting samples of Red Delicious, MacIntosh, Sparton and Jubilee, that had been held in cold storage since last fall. He then mentioned several varieties of tree fruits that are now in process of testing including the largest white cherry in the world, and the most varieties of apricots.

Mrs. Mann showed slides of a number of varieties of tree fruits that have been bred at the Sum-

Summerland Freemasons Attend Penticton Grand Lodge Sessions

Members of the Summerland Lodge A.F. & A.M. together with Freemasons, some 200 in number, from other lodges throughout B.C. and the Yukon, gathered in Penticton last Wednesday for one of the largest conventions ever to be staged in that city.

The convention, under the auspices of the lodges in district 10, was a two-day affair which started Thursday and ended Friday. In session Thursday was a meeting of the Grand chapter of the Royal Arch Masons of B.C. under the chairmanship of Most Excellent Companion Andrew Coultts, of Vancouver. Chairman of the grand lodge sessions was Most Worshipful Brother Lawrence Healey, also of Vancouver.

About 200 men attended the grand chapter meetings Thursday and the same people helped make up the 600 delegates to the Grand Lodge.

Besides the delegates there were wives and visiting Freemasons from lodges in Alberta, Washington and Idaho. In all, nearly 800 visitors were in Penticton over the two days.

Business sessions occupied much of the delegates' time Thursday and the election and installation of officers was held on Friday.

A social highlight of the two-day session, following a scenic drive to Naramata, was the tea which was held Thursday afternoon in the Glengarry Room of the Hotel Prince Charles. Invitations to the tea, were arranged under the supervision of Edina Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and was attended by local and visiting wives of members and members of the Eastern Star. It was reported that more than 250 guests attended the affair.

For entertainment a concert was arranged for visitors at 8 p.m. Thursday evening in Gyro Park, when a 14-piece ensemble was featured in the program.

On Friday a golf tournament was held for the guests and during the afternoon tea was served.

Washington Crop Predicted Heavy

Washington State growers expect to raise heavy crops of soft fruits this year, according to reports received from across the line. According to Washington State Fruit Commission figures, estimates having been carefully sifted, apricot and peach production will equal last year's, with about 13,000 tons of apricots and 20-25,000 tons of peaches. Cherries will be heavier with a total of 16,000 tons. This is about 3,300 tons more than in 1952. There will be a larger plum and prune crop. The estimate for the State of Washington is 20,000 tons. The 1952 tonnage was 11,275. An exceptionally heavy crop of Bartlett pears is expected. It may reach a total of 105,000 tons.

On the Canadian coast and prairie markets, the chief competition to Okanagan fruit comes from the State of Washington.

Oliver Girl Gets New Lease on Life Following Treatment at CARS Center

Buddy Geddes was a pretty girl of 22 who lived with her parents in Oliver, B.C. Since 1947 she has been a virtual invalid from rheumatoid arthritis. She suffered great pain in her hands and feet, her left knee was becoming crippled and she became so stiff it was impossible for her to go up and down stairs except by going backwards a step at a time.

She was so thin and ill that life, instead of being full of romance

Lawns Don't Require Excessive Watering

Contrary to the belief held by many, lawns are not excessively "thirsty" during the hot summer months, and do not require daily watering.

Heavy soils eventually become water-logged by continuous summer watering and all roots, except those on the surface, suffocate from lack of air. Beneficial soil bacteria also cease to function without air, and this prevents the grass from getting essential nutrients.

In any case, common lawn grasses grow vigorously in the spring and fall and are sub-dormant during July and August. Heavy watering at this time will only help the weeds and clover to outgrow the grass.

Don't water until the soil is dry, which doesn't normally occur until late June or July. Then water only every ten days, depending on rainfall and soil conditions, but be sure to sprinkle enough water to penetrate to a depth of four inches.

Frequent light watering serves only to encourage surface rooting, and this results in weak plants that cannot stand up under drought conditions and will be subject to winter kill and subsequent infestations of weeds and clover.

Don't be alarmed if the lawn appears dry at times. This conditions the soil and results in stronger plants with deeper roots. The eventual dense turf cover prevents excess evaporation and reduces the necessity for artificial watering.

If a proper fertilizer program is carried out, it is possible to develop a healthy, good-looking lawn in any part of Canada where there is reasonable rainfall without resorting to summer watering.

and fun, became a painful and monotonous existence. Her teenage friends dropped away and hope of training for a career faded as the days brought no relief from arthritis.

In 1950 her doctor referred Buddy to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society's physiotherapist, who travelled in her Bluebird mobile unit from Penticton to Summerland, Oliver and the other towns in the South Okanagan.

After months of home care Buddy was transferred to the CARS medical centre at the Western Society for Rehabilitation on February 17, 1953. Here she was given special intensive treatments, including hydrotherapy, physiotherapy, cortisone, social casework and rest. After four months her legs are nearly straight again, she has put on weight and can walk up and down stairs normally. After vocation tests she started to learn typing.

One June 12 Buddy returned home, not an invalid, but as a business girl on holiday, for she is returning to take the six months' business-course arranged for her by CARS, at the Vancouver Vocational Institute under the government training scheme. She will need to take care for some time, but she knows how to do that.

Buddy is just one example of the good that can be accomplished by co-operative effort. The people of the lower Okanagan have many such examples right in their own towns. They have done the work and collected the funds and CARS has done the rest, restoring those who might, without this co-opera-

Teachers' Meet Set for Kelowna

Summerland teachers, along with more than 600 from eight sub-locals of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association, will meet in Kelowna on Oct. 15 - 16 - 17 for the 32nd annual fall convention. The Okanagan region extends from Revelstoke to the U.S. Border and takes in Princeton.

Kelowna and District Teachers' Association has charge of the convention. Walter Ratzlaff, principal of East Kelowna School, is convention chairman, and Claude Bissell, vice-principal of Rutland High School, has charge of program arrangements.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of B.C.

Convention officially gets under way October 15 when registration and pooling takes place in the Kelowna Senior High School between 7 and 8 p.m. An informal party has been planned the first night.

On the second day there will be four sectional meetings. General business meeting will be held in the afternoon, followed by a banquet. The public meeting, to be addressed by Dr. MacKenzie, will follow the banquet.

Third day session will include two more sectional meetings; an address by Dr. MacKenzie to secondary teachers; and a talk by T. Boyes, principal of Vancouver Normal, to teachers whose interests are in the elementary field.

Camp Sorec Scene Of Youths' Camp

The Trout Creek Community Church of God is sponsoring a youth camp to be held at noon at Camp Sorec from Friday, June 26, to Wednesday, July 1.

During the evenings of camp week, services will be open to the general public as will the services Sunday morning at 11 a.m. and Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

A picnic lunch will be served at noon on Sundays and visitors are asked to bring a basket lunch. Speaker for the Sunday services will be Rev. H. Kernutt of Moscow, Idaho, who has a definite message for young people.

Everyone is welcome to attend the services. The camp gates will be opened approximately one half hour before the public services commence.

Last Inning Rally Gives Macs Edge Over Kelowna

Summerland Macs, Sunday, gave indication they have every intention of overcoming their early-season string of failures and in the bottom of the ninth inning against Kelowna gave the fans their money's worth by wiping out a two-run deficit and adding the winning run to cop the match 6-5.

For their Sunday success, the Macs are indebted to Borton and Weitzel who each connected for two-base hits and to Kelowna's first sacker Tostenson, whose error put Eyre on first and permitted Egely to reach home.

The Macs recent acquisition, Wakabayashi, went the distance on the mound and made the visitors work for the seven hits they managed to collect off his offerings. Kielbiski, hurling for Kelowna, was touched for the same number of hits.

Notable in the playing of the local boys was the way they settled down to business and only one error was chalked against the team—Chucker Wakabayashi being the guilty member in the second frame. Six times the Kelowna boys blotted their copy book.

The Kelowna nine set the pace from the opening gun and first man up in the game, Mits Koga, left his mark on the score board. Lingor, third man to step up to the plate, belted out a twin-bagger and he also completed the circuit before his side was retired. Summerland drew blood on the second on a series of loose plays by the visitors when Cristante made first on an error, went to second on a passed ball, earned his way to third and then came home on an error.

Macs tied up the ball game in the third when Hooker, with two down, poled out a triple to send Gould the rest of the distance from first.

In the fifth the Orchard City boys duplicated the manoeuvre and went one better. With two out, Mits Koga got a free pass and then went the rest of the way on Favell's triple. Lingor then connected for a single to score Favell and put Kelowna two runs in the lead.

Summerland cut the lead in half in the same inning when Borton singled, went to second on Weitzel's sacrifice, reached third on an error and went home on Gould's single.

The score remained unchanged from then until the ninth when Kelowna set out to put the game on ice. Morio Koga picked up a free ride and Kielbiski drove into deep left field for a triple to score Koga to again push them up to a two-run lead. They reckoned, however, without the rally Summerland had been saving up and the three local runs went across the plate with not an out being tallied.

BERT BERRY'S Fishing News

Okanagan Lake has been very good to the fishermen as a whole. Some very nice catches have been made. Ed Matchett made a very nice catch that I saw.

Fish Lake Camp. Fish Lake has been very good this last week not only on the Eastern but on fair-sized Kamloops. The upper lakes are pretty well over spawning and will be improving from now on.

Garnet Valley Dam. Not bad for the fellows who know the lake. There is a six-inch size in here now.

Glenn Lake. Fair reports from here.

Headwaters Fishing Camp. Lots of fish and some bigger ones being caught at present.

Bear Lake. Very good reports of big fish reported from here.

Tee-Pee Lakes. One report in from here show fairly good fishing especially for trolling.

Quite a few reports from the Vernon and Kamloops area shows very good fishing.

One party into Baker's Lake, packed in but found the fish spawning heavy.

That's what Gary Middlecoff, of Memphis, Tenn., added to his season's golf earnings by winning the Round Robin tournament at the Meadowbrook Golf Club Westbury, Long Island, N.Y. The 32-year-old dentist clinched the rich first prize with a four-under-par 66 in the final round, winding up with a 42-point total plus. Jimmy Demaret finished second with 89 plus points. Cary, who is hugging the championship trophy, is a member of the United States team that meets the Canadian professional squad in the Hopkins Trophy International Matches at Beaconsfield on June 5, 6 and 7.

Mac's Aces Win 16-7 Over Unlucky Jr. High In Softball Battle

Mac's Aces completed their latest game here in the Summerland Junior Softball league with a 9-run lead over their unlucky opponents, the Junior High School. The final score at the end of the last inning was Mac's Aces 16 and the Junior High 7.

It was evident, however, that rain and a wet field hampered the ball banging of both teams, but it is hoped that the game tonight between the Box Factory and the Senior High School will prove to be more of a crowd thriller.

Softball fans are reminded of the games every Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Dunsdons Cop High Score at Rifle Shoot

Scoring a possible on the 200 yard range at the Summerland Rifle Club shoot last Sunday, enabled Art Dunsdon to tie with brother George Dunsdon for top spot with a score of 98.

Close behind came E. Gillespie, F. Dunsdon and Colin Mann with 96 each. Bill Young, E. Desilets, A. Moyle all had 94. Other scores were: Jill Sanborn and J. Khalem-bach, 93; D. Taylor and Phil Dunsdon, 92; R. Desilets and Jack Dunsdon, 90; H. Simpson, 89; Pop Dunsdon, 78, and Gordon Gillespie, 74.

Predictions of Spectacular Year Hold Good For Mainline Ball Loop

By Walter Janicki

From the results of 25 games reported up to June 17, there is every indication that the pre-season predictions of an exceptional year in OMEL ball are coming true. Games continue to be close and in the balance right into the late stages of the games. There have been several extra inning contests and many crowd-pleasing games have gone by the way.

The league has not been without the spectacular either. There have been 22 home runs, seven triples and 46 doubles. And, as though this was not enough, there has been exceptional pitching by Kamloops' Len Gatin who has won 9 out of 8 starts and Penticton's Young Ted Bowsfield who has pitched two 2-hit games, a one-hitter and a three-hitter in the four games he has completed. Ted has averaged three strike-outs in every two innings he has chucked (75 in 48 innings). He has further chalked up 15, 16 and 19 strike-out games to lead in the pitching department.

In the hitting race, Kamloops' Buck Buchanan still leads the mighty by swatting three homers while team-mate (and rookie) Gordy Beecroft has poled out five doubles to lead in that department. Vernon's Russel Graff has four doubles while Kelowna's John Lingor, Vernon's Ray Adams, and Oliver's Mickey Martino have each pounded out two home-runs. The league batting averages have flattened somewhat as the league grows older and players who have been riding a hitting streak in the past have had to continue in the hitting way or be dropped from the top of the list. Those batting over .250 are as follows:

Bill Nieves, Pen	3 12 .250
Ted Bowsfield, Pen	5 20 .250
Aubrey Powell, Pen	2 8 .250

Defensively, Kamloops have been by far the best club as they have completed seven double plays and committed only 12 errors afield. Summerland and Vernon have worked out for four double plays each but have committed 26 and 23 errors respectively. Penticton have committed 20 errors, Oliver 23 and Kelowna have found the going tough in getting 32 errors. Team standings now are as follows:

	W	L	Ave.
Kamloops	8	1	.888
Kelowna	5	3	.625
Vernon	5	4	.555
Penticton	4	4	.500
Oliver	3	5	.375
Summerland	1	9	.100

Swimming Classes To Begin July 8

Under the direction of competent instructors, first lessons of the Rotary swimming classes will commence at 2 p.m. at Powell Beach on Wednesday, July 8. The classes are sponsored by the Summerland Rotary Club.

John Kitson will be supervisor of the free lessons for youngsters from 6 years to 15 years inclusive and Miss Beverley Fleming will be head instructor. Other instructors include Misses Joan Dickson, Marjorie and Loretta Ingils, Evelyn Washington, Doreen Fleming and Pat and Sheila Day.

The Red Cross attempts to teach water safety and help reduce, summer by summer, the high toll of death at the beach. Since 1948 the number of drownings has decreased by 50, due to the extensive Red Cross program.

A recent survey showed that only one Canadian in 10 is able to swim and only a comparative handful of swimming Canadians have a working knowledge of water safety. Children and adults, under the guidance of selected Red Cross instructors, qualified in teaching methods and life saving, learn principles of water rescue, life saving and artificial respiration.

Each year the Red Cross holds several instructor schools throughout B.C. Instructors from Summerland who will travel to Kelowna on July 3, 4, 5 and 6 for a Red Cross sponsored course in water safety at the Kelowna Aquatic Association building will be Miss Beverley Fleming and John Kitson. The course is under the auspices of the Water Safety Instruction School of the Red Cross.

Behind the 8-Ball

By Gord Crockett

Now that we've got a brief lull between elections and a chance to get some writin' in the paper again, seems like I got to get one nose back to the grindstone and start earning my keep the hard way. It's particularly important now that there's another mouth to feed around our way.

That other mouth, incidentally, was supposed to load me down with so many column ideas that I'd never again have to cudgel my brain but so far, he's been a dead loss. Just another free-loader as far as I can see.

One trouble with this dodge is that there's always somebody handy with suggestions for how column ideas can be developed. Not the ideas themselves, of course, but ideas for ideas—if you get what I mean.

When I started doing a weekly stint a few years back, I was the most carefree, unencumbered little fellow you ever saw—but that didn't last long. I had been turning out columns only a short time when a friend dropped into the office one day for a very confidential talk. "Watchername", he said to me—seems he never could remember my name—"Watchername, I'd like to see you get ahead with that column of yours so that's why I'm telling you friend to friend that it's getting stale. What you've got to do is 'breath some new life into it. Now take that fellow Scott, frinstance, he's always writing things about his wife and that's the sort of thing people like. My boy," he said, "you've got to get yourself a wife, then you'll be loaded with column material."

The idea seemed sound and I was forced to agree with him that bachelors never did anything worth writing about so I took the only path open to me that would save from whatever is the fate of idea-less columnists. I wasn't long in finding out that interests vary and soon I had a visitor who wanted to help me turn out a column people would read. It sounded like an interesting departure so I listened. "Listen," he says, "you don't think people are going to read your stuff when you keep writing about your wife all the time. You want to get a pet and then you'll really have something to write about. Why look at Eric Nicol. He's always writing something about his cat and everybody reads his column. It's good!"

It seemed almost too good to be true. Here's Nicol being compared to Stephen Leacock all the time and all I've got to do is get a cat and I'll be just as good. I latched onto the next stray that went past the door and whisked it off home. Fame at last in my grasp! All I had to do was chronicle the activities of the dear snarling little beast and I had nothing more to worry about.

Nothing for a few weeks, that is, until a couple of dog lovers cornered me. Seems that feline stories don't set too well with dog fanciers and these fellows let me have it straight that their subscriptions were as good as cancelled unless I got off what they rather unfeelingly referred to as "tripe about cats" and started dishing up something a little more hairy-chested like stories of dogs. "Look at Barry Mather and Jean Howarth," they tell me. "They're always telling about things their dogs do and look at the number of fans they have." I had to keep them from cancelling their subscriptions at all costs so 50-pounds of dog flesh was added to the ever-widening family circle.

All this time, I'm still supplying my own ideas. Not one of these ventures paid off in column material but at least I'm not running out of helpful friends. "Get yourself a youngster around the house and you'll never be at a loss for something to write about," a would-be reader tells me. "Why," he says, "I'd even subscribe to the paper if you were writing a column about a kiddy's antics. All the GOOD columnists write about their kids." Subscriptions aren't easy to get these days so that accounts for the latest addition to the chow line.

It may be that the little guy has been trying to pass on some ideas to me ever since he arrived home last week. If that's what he's trying to do, I wish he'd speak a little clearer—not louder, but clearer.

Anybody else with suggestions can do me a great kindness by passing them on to some other writer. I'm into this thing far deeper than I ever intended in the beginning and out of five eating off the budget now, four of them are free-loading. If any more get in the act, I'm going to have to give up eating completely and I'd like to stall that day off as long as I can.

Refer Fee Protest To Legal Adviser

Following a dispute over a trade license fee with CKOK in Penticton, councillors at their meeting Tuesday afternoon decided to refer the matter to their solicitor John S. Aiken.

According to a municipality by-law, the radio station is required to pay a trade licence fee of $50 per annum. But CKOK insists that it is doing a service in and for the municipality and should have to pay only $10 as is their fee in Penticton and Osoyoos.

It was decided at the council meeting on Tuesday that the ditch on the Prairie Valley Road will gradually be deepened for a more adequate drainage system.
