F. E. Weston Celebrates . . .

Break from Daily Dish Washing Worth Waiting Ninety-one Years For

On Tuesday, Franklin Weston had a break from his usual daily routine of preparing meals and the job of washing dishes and cleaning up that follows. Neighbors supplied his meals to give him a chance to relax and enjoy his 91st birthday.

But next day, the nonagenarian was back to the regular business of looking after his home on Rosedale Avenue where he lives by himself and finds his years no deterrent to living an active life.

Mr. Weston has lived in Summerland for about three years and during that time has become a familiar sight in the community as a regular visitor to the business district. Few have realized he has behind him better than nine decades of living.

During the summer, much of his time is devoted to the quarter-acre of garden behind his home and this fall for the first time he made a slight concession to his years by having a tractor to dig up the garden instead of spading it by hand as he has been doing.

Time hangs a little heavy in the winter, he confesses, but he enjoys extra time to read his bible and take a keen interest in activities of the Free Methodist Church of which he is a regular attendant. He also, he says, gets a chance to do some corresponding and keeps in touch with a native preacher whom he has supported in Libya through the International Gospel

League since 1950. Mr. Weston comes from a line noted for longevity. His mother was 92 when she died in 1920 and her mother lived to 98. His father's father lived to reach the century mark. He was a member of a family of nine and is the last one surviving.

He was born in Minnetonka while the Civil War was going on between the north and the south and clearly recalls travelling by covered wagon through miles of practically uninhabited country which is now the thickly-settled state of Iowa. The family were on their way to Nebraska. From there he started out on his own and headed for Texas where he lived long enough to pick up a Texas draw before heading north to Canada and Vancouver in 1909. He worked there as a carpenter for several years and then in 1917 homesteaded north of Kamloops where he lived until he moved here.

Tuesday he was guest of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. James for dinner at noon and of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith in the evening.

completing terms in office and are standing for re-election. Holmes served two years on the council and was forced to resign in 1951 because of ill health. All three first joined the council in by-elections.

Mr. Barkwill, a cannery operator, first came to the council in January in 1952 when he won a by-election to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Holmes. He was returned to office by acclamation for a two year term in December of that year.

Mr. Butler joined the council earlier this year when he won the by-election last January to fill the vacancy when Reeve F. E. Atkinson resigned to run as reeve.

Mr. Holmes won a by-election in 1950 to fill a vacancy left by former reeve C. E. Bentley who had resigned to enter the contest for reeve. He was re-elected for a two year term in December of the same year but was only able to complete a year of that term before he found it necessary to resign.

Only one of the three school board trustees whose terms are expiring is standing for re-election. He is Mr. Maddocks who was the rural representative on the board but because of a change in procedure this year, he will now stand for re-election in the municipality.

The other two vacancies are those of J. Y. Towgood and Ross McLachlan, neither of whom are offering for re-election. Also to be decided at the election is the question as to whether ratepayers are in favor of the municipality purchasing the Summerland arena and installing artificial ice at a total cost of $62,000. Voters will be asked to answer "Yes" or "No" to the question: "Are you in favour of the Corporation borrowing the sum of approximately $62,000 by Debenture issue to be repaid as to principal and interest by a rate on all assessable lands and improvements within the Municipality for the purpose of purchasing from Summerland Frink Association the land and arena building of that Association at West Summerland and installing ice making equipment therein?"

Paradise Flat Land Offered to Bidders

One of the largest parcels of land ever sold by the municipality is now being advertised for bids. The property is across from A. Fenwick on Paradise Flat and contains between 15 and 18 acres.

Tenders must be filed at the municipal office by noon of Dec. 14.

Frink Shows Profit

A statement from Vernon last week revealed profit on the operation of their civic arena during the month of October was $1,398.

Christmas Express Deadline Nearing

Express shipments should be sent early to ensure delivery prior to Christmas Day festivities, warns G. H. Griffin, manager, Express Traffic Association of Canada.

With thousands of parcels to be handled for both commercial and personal distribution throughout the country, Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Express officers expect a heavy volume of traffic early in December.

Shipments by express from British Columbia to Newfoundland should be in the hands of the express companies by December 8, while shipments from B.C. to the Maritime Provinces, or to Quebec and Ontario, should be expressed not later than December 10, said Mr. Griffin.

Express parcels to be delivered in the Provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan should be sent from B.C. points by December 13. Parcels for Alberta should leave B.C. by December 14 and, for delivery within the province, by December 15.

Apple Marketing About Average

Little change from marketing conditions last week was noted today in the market report of B.C. Tree Fruits which stated sales in Western Canada are still slightly below the corresponding period last year with distribution fairly well divided throughout all wholesale centres and wholesale stocks at Dec. 1 about average.

In Eastern Canada variety demand was similar to last week, mainly for Dollolous with little interest being shown in McIntosh. Most eastern markets are well supplied with locals and in some markets the price eased slightly.

The United States demand from the middle west and south was reported as "fair to good" at price firm to steady. There was practically no change in the eastern situation which continues spotty for western fruit.

Well known interpreter of Spanish dances, Kay Armstrong, pictured above in her fiery portrayal of La Farruca, recently thrilled Summerland lovers of the dance in the Vancouver Ballet School's well received performance here. Miss Armstrong not only manges the school but does much of the choreography and some of the costuming as well, besides giving her spirited dancing performances. Her dance repertoire ranges from modern, symbolic works to such interpretive dances as "Indian Tapestry".

Fred C. Brind Buried Monday

T. Northrup officiating and comrades of the Canadian Legion, of which he was a member, attending in a body.

Growers on Conducted Tours To See Operation of Marketing Agency

The BCFGA has just completed a series of conducted tours of fruit growers through the head office of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited and the Kelowna plants of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. This method of affording growers an opportunity to observe how their business is conducted was originated a year ago.

The reaction was so favorable that at the last convention a resolution recommended that the tours be repeated and more growers given the opportunity of taking part in them.

This year approximately 100 growers from all parts of the Okanagan Valley were shown through the two plants of B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., and the office of their Sales Agency.

The tours were so organized that two groups of 12 or more growers each make the tour on the same day. In the morning one group would meet at No. 2 Plant of B.C. Fruit Processors, while the other met in the board room of B.C. Tree Fruits. After lunch the group that had been through the Processors' plants would meet at B.C. Tree Fruits and the other group would go to Processors.

At the processors they were received by the general manager, R. P. Walrod, who gave them a brief description of the company, its organization, personnel, and general operations. In No. 2 plant the grower watched the whole process of apple juice manufacture. This is the ultra-modern plant which turns out the popular "opalescent" apple juice. At No. 1 plant they beheld the step by step production of "clear" juice and the processing of dehydrated apples.

By means of a diagram on a blackboard in the board room of B.C. Tree Fruits, H. J. Van Ackerson assistant executive, gave a detailed description of the layout of the office and of the location of the various departments. A. K. Loyd was present at this briefing to welcome the growers and answer questions.

Divided into small groups the growers were taken through the office. Watching the teletype machines they saw messages dispatched and received between the sales staff and agents in numerous centres of Canada and the U.S. The procedure following receipt of an order was described, and the dispatchers' routine in assembling and dispatching a car was explained to them.

Legal Battle Looms Over Utility Taxes

Summerland will join forces with Pentiction in a legal battle against West Kootenay Light and Power Co. over taxation on their improvements' within the municipality.

In Summerland, the utility has been levied $329 of which $286 is based on improvements. The balance of $43 has been paid by the company but the remainder is being disputed.

The dispute hinges on the interpretation of the act respecting improvements by public utilities.

A similar situation has also come up with the company in Pentiction and municipal council last week agreed to join with Pentiction in pressing an action against the company.

Touring Ballet Company Provides Entertaining Program of Dance Here

A talented group of youthful dancers delighted an audience in the high school auditorium Friday evening when Kay Armstrong presented pupils of her Vancouver Ballet School in a popular program of interpretive dances several of which featured B.C. themes.

Miss Armstrong is herself a very versatile performer and is well known as an interpreter of Spanish dances. She demonstrated her skill in this field with a performance of La Farruca and then teamed with Danny McPaul for Granada Araba. She is responsible for much of the choreography and many of the costumes in her show.

Miss Armstrong explains the main reason for the tour: "We believe in the future of Canada and that a tremendous upsurge of the arts will result in wonderful opportunities for artists in every field." Certainly if anything will encourage this upsurge of interest, it will be performances such as that by

Elect J. Holman As New President Of BCFGA Local

Summerland growers last Thursday afternoon elected John Holman as president of this local of BCFGA and heard from B.C. Tree Fruits governor Frank Laird an interesting outline of activities in the growers' selling organization.

Vice-president of the local for the coming year is John Caldwell and H. J. Wells was re-elected as secretary.

Report on the past year's activities was presented by the retiring president, D. M. Wright.

The local nominated Eric Tait for the BCFGA executive and also for B.C. Tree Fruits board of governors. D. M. Wright was nominated for the board of B.C. Fruit Processors.

Convention delegates are Eric Tait, W. P. Powell, J. Y. Towgood and F. R. Ganzveld.

Nominated for BCFGA president was A. R. Garrish of Oliver.

Variety Promised In Band Concert

There will be music to suit all types of music lovers at the High School Band Christmas Concert which is scheduled for Dec. 14 in the school auditorium.

The first half of the programme will feature the High School Senior Band in a series of number which range from classical works by F. Chopin, Bach, Mendelssohn and others to modern number by Paul Yoder and Leroy Anderson. Anderson is the composer of such works as Syncopated Clock, Blue Tango and is fast becoming a legend in modern concert music.

The tempos will range from classical chorales through rousing marches and overtures to waltzes and modern blues and Bequine tempos, with Band Director John Tamblin conducting.

Also featured will be a modern dance band under the direction of Harry Crawford. This group has received very favorable publicity every place they have played and promises to be an up and coming organization from which Summerland will hear more.

The Junior band of about 50 members will also be on hand with a waltz number and a selection of Christmas carols. While these musicians have not been playing very long they are already supplying replacements to the senior school band.

The second half of the evening will open with a presentation from the Glee Club under the direction of Clark Wilkin. This will be in the form of a nativity tableau with choir background. Working on this will be Miss Georgina Main staging, Miss Julie Wickenden, scenery, and Miss Leonie Reed, costumes. This promises to be a very moving scene in the true Christmas spirit.

The performance will end when the senior band returns with chorals and a medley of Christmas music arranged by Leroy Anderson.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO — NOV. 28, 1919

One of the most successful affairs in this district's history was staged at Empire Hall where the returned soldiers were entertained by the women of Summerland at a public reception and dance. Rev. H. A. Solly was program chairman and Dr. F. W. Andrew, on behalf of the ladies, welcomed the ex-soldiers back to Summerland. Mr. F. J. Nixon responded for the men.

Under the federal land settlement scheme only those who were experienced orchardists were to be considered for the purchase of existing orchards.

Municipal taxation and the possibility of increasing municipal revenue without adding to the burden of the taxpayers were matters to be discussed by Okanagan municipal officials before a government commission in Vernon.

Peachland was enjoying the enviable position of having electrical energy to spare and being the best lighted town on the lake.

When West Summerland defeated Penticton 24-23, players included Charlie Seuart, Roy Darkis, Arnold Gayton, Harvey Phinney. Summerland lost to Penticton 26-20 and its players included Snider, Peck, Angove, Brown and Reid. Sismey was absent from the local basketball lineup.

THIRTY YEARS AGO — DECEMBER 4, 1924

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Andrew were recipients of an address and presentation in honor of their fifteenth wedding anniversary, at the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary. More than 450 citizens contributed to the presentation.

Alex Munn had gone to Covina, Cal., to join his brother Russell, who was employed as foreman of an orange packinghouse.

With receipts from patients insufficient to operate the hospital, a drive for funds was launched to augment this income, in order that the hospital could continue in operation.

Approximately 3,000 foreign cars visited the Okanagan during 1924.

FIVE YEARS AGO — DECEMBER 1, 1945

Record electrical consumption which, in 11 months ending October 31, exceeded the entire previous year, was announced at the annual ratepayer's meeting.

Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh and Dr. W. H. B. Munn were re-elected by acclamation as trustees of the School Board.

W. Clarke Wilkin was chosen to head the Summerland branch of the UBC Alumni Assn, as president for 1950. Mrs. C. C. Strachan was named vice-president and Miss Marion Campbell, secretary.

Worst B.C. tieup since 1935 was being experienced by the Kettle Valley division of the CPR due to torrential rains which brought down innumerable slides and created washouts all over the CPR and CNR lines.

J. E. O'Mahony was named first vice-president of the B.C. Hospitals Association at a four-day convention held in Vancouver.

To Be Or Not To Be?

All this talk about the necessity for "coexistence" between Communist and non-Communist countries is rather ridiculous when one comes to think about it. What does it really mean. It suggests that one or both sides are of the opinion that the other side has no right to exist, and that as a compromise they should agree with each other to let the other live. There may be some good sense in that when atomic warfare is considered, for that could end existence for both sides. With atomic bombs they could blow each other to atoms. By agreeing not to do that, they could both continue to exist.

Who started this question of coexistence? It arose out of the social doctrines of Karl Marx, who was a sociological Calvinist. He believed in predestination, that Communists were the "elect" and those who did not believe were doomed everlastingly. The chief dogma of Communism is that it can exist only by the destruction of all other social and political systems. That is what is meant by "word revolution," which must be achieved before the Communist millennium arrives. Stalin believed that, and it is the explanation of the Iron Curtain, which was to separate the people of Russia and its satellites from contamination by the rest of mankind. There could be no coexistence of Communists with non-Communists within that charmed circle.

Since the death of Stalin, however, we are told that the present Soviet regime has modified its attitude, if not its views, on the question of coexistence. The hydrogen bomb may have had something to do with that. Mr. Vishinsky has modified the tone of his speeches at the United Nations. He has gone so far as to hint that the Soviet Union might consider co-operating with the non-Communist nations in the reduction of armaments and entirely banning atomic bombs. In other words, the Kremlin is willing to allow us to exist, for the time being, at least, if we will disarm ourselves and not be too inquisitive about what is going on in the way of armaments behind the iron curtain.

But, as I have said, the question as to whether one part of the world can coexist with the other is ridiculous—it is a joke. So far as I know from history, that question has never been raised before among civilized people, and it may be an indication that mankind is reverting savagery, when one tribe would completely exterminate the other in warfare. That very nearly happened in the last world war, and did really happen to some countries in Europe, so far as their national identity and freedom were concerned; Poland, Czechoslovakia and the Balkans for example.

This whole question of our coexisting with Communist Russia reminds me of Hamlet's soliloquy, "To be or not to be?" in which he was arguing with himself whether or not he should commit suicide. He felt that he could not coexist with an uncle who had murdered his father and with all the "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune" which assailed him. Why not have done with it all and put himself out of existence? he argued. But he had doubt as to whether he could really do that, and was "puzzled" with the thought of "something after death." He finally decided it was better to "bear the ills we have than fly to others that we know not of." It seems to me that there is a parable for our times in this quandary of the melancholy Dane. Its application is personal, social, national and international. If we are to exist at all in this world we must coexist with our neighbors and our trouble as best we can.

The American and the Irishman met on board a trans-ocean liner. During the course of their conversation, the Irishman asked, "And where do ye come from?"

"The greatest country in the world!" boasted the American.

"Ah, poor lad!" sighed the Irishman, "tis too bad you've lost the brogue!"

A Note of Thanks . . . a lot of confusion removed

THOSE Summerland voters who last week attended the annual meeting of ratepayers received a lot of help in making up their minds about the rink referendum from Dr. James Marshall who gave about as clear and comprehensive a picture on the situation as it is possible to give.

The Review joins with many other members of the community in saying "Thanks" to Dr. Marshall for the time and effort he expended in preparing this brief along with his own opinions.

This is a type of public service too often found lacking in a community. Here is an issue which has become clouded by rumors and street reports to a point where many people have found it difficult to make up their minds on whether or not they should favor the municipality taking over the rink operation. Only by having an unbiased report and opinion from a man of Dr. Marshall's standing in the community could they have obtained a clear picture of the proposal.

There are few, if any, better qualified to have presented the brief on the rink. He is not a member of the Rink Association nor does he hold bonds of the association. He does not have any family which would benefit from the facilities offered by artificial ice. He has lived most of his life in Summerland and certainly has the best interests of the community at heart. As a close friend of fruit growers, both personally and through his work, he would

Extra Dividends . . . support your local merchants

DURING the four weeks ahead, retail buying will reach the highest peak of the whole year and we hope the bulk of money spent by Summerland Christmas shoppers will be spent right here in Summerland where the purchaser will receive extra dividends for his money.

Yes, we say extra dividends because even though you don't see them, as such, they are just as real as a discount in purchase price or a gimmick thrown in free.

The more money that circulates in a community, the more prosperous that community is—and community prosperity is something that is felt by every member.

More money spent within the community means bigger and fatter payrolls . . . it means expansion and modernization of stores and it means more stores. These things combined all mean more

Support the Band . . . a first-class community asset

THE members of the Junior and Senior High School Band will be approaching residents this week and next for support of the Second Annual High School Band Christmas Concert.

The way in which most money for band needs is raised is from the concerts given by the band during the year. This must keep up with repairs and maintenance of instruments as well as purchasing music and training material. Some numbers which the school senior band buys run as high as $25 for the 85 members as the usual band number is printed for a group of about 28 players. All this has not allowed for purchase of new instruments and a sinking fund for the instruments already owned by the school board.

The instrumental program at the school has grown beyond all expectations and the instruments first purchased were based on an anticipated band

The Lighter Side

He had been fishing half a day and his face, scowling and sour, reflected his luck. The passing native paused and asked sympathetically — "Not much luck, eh?"

"Not much? I haven't even had a nibble in five hours!"

"Lemme see your bait." The native took the minnow from the hook, pulled a bottle of corn liquor from his pocket, poured a bit of it in the bait can and soaked the minnow in it for a couple of minutes, then placed it again on the disconsolate angler's hook. The man tossed it in the water and in a matter of minutes there was a tremendous splashing. After a tough struggle, he finally reeled in his line. The minnow had a 30 pound bass by the throat.

Called on for an impromptu speech at a dinner one night, a Yale graduate bethought himself of his alma mater, and lauded her by showing that the "Y" stood for "Youth", when all might enjoy the benefits of college. "A" stood for the "Appreciation" of fine things which the college makes possible. "L" for "Loyalty", the stem of all endeavor.

After about thirty minutes of that sort of thing, he arrived at and ended with the "E", which he said stood for the "Efficiency" of a Yale graduate.

Three seats down, a drowsing listener aroused himself sufficiently to murmur to his neighbor, "Thank goodness, he didn't attend the Massachusetts Institute of Technology!"

"Do your daughters live at home?"

"No, they're not married yet."

Nature Lover: My, what a beautiful sunset!

TV Fan: Yeah — who sponsors it?

George: Luke, you're impossible. You'll never amount to anything. Why, I'll bet right now there's nothing but pictures of beautiful girls running through your mind."

Luke: "Yep. They're running, alright. They don't dare walk!"

Phyllis K.: "Say, Pauline, did you hear about the cow that swallowed a pint of purple ink?"

Pauline S.: "Well, I suppose she wanted to be a blue blood."

Phyllis K.: "No she mood indigo."

not recommend to them anything which could conceivably become a financial burden.

These qualifications lend considerable weight to Dr. Marshall's recommendation that the municipality take over the rink and provide a full season of skating sports in the community.

There are some members of the district who oppose the proposed undertaking but it is wise to study their criticisms and judge whether they are the result of the same unbiased approach and clear thinking evident in Dr. Marshall's remarks, or whether they spring from petty jealousy or purely selfish interests.

There has been an attempt by critics to grossly exaggerate what the purchase of the rink is likely to cost the individual taxpayer. Dr. Marshall clearly set the record straight on that point with his examples based on the present rate of assessment: that a tax bill of $150 would be increased by six dollars while a taxpayer paying a tax of $50 would be assessed another two dollars. And these figures were on the basis of no profit coming in from the rink which would be applied to paying off the bonds and interest. So even if the maximum assessment should be levied, nobody is going to be paying very much extra—certainly far less than the value which will be received.

We find ourselves entirely in accord with Dr. Marshall's opinion and can envision a rink equipped with artificial ice playing a prominent part in the development of future citizens of the community.

money flowing into municipal coffers which goes out again in the form of public services for the benefit of all.

Summerland merchants are in a rather vulnerable position with this community located in reasonably close proximity to larger shopping centres but certainly it is clearly evident that they are doing their utmost to meet outside competition with large stocks of merchandise and competitive prices.

Summerland residents can congratulate themselves on the extensive shopping facilities available in this community. They have developed only because local merchants have had the patronage of the majority of local residents. When still more decide to shop in Summerland, the local facilities grow accordingly and another dividend may be added to the list.

of about 45 members. The senior and junior school bands now number around 135 members or three times the planned number.

Some of the money raised last year was used to purchase uniforms which will be seen on the members of the band for the first time in Summerland at the Christmas concert on Dec. 14.

When the band attended the provincial band conference in New Westminster last year one of the recommendations made was that for a band our size their should be six more bass horns added. As these are the most expensive instruments in the band, they don't add easily. It is hoped that at least two of these may be obtained this year.

The band already has proven itself as a top-notch group of ambassadors from Summerland on several occasions and it can be expected to progress in exactly the same ratio as it receives support from the community.

Let's make it a real top-notch school band.

Mid-Week Message

Our talents differ with the grace that is given us; . . . the contributor must be liberal. (Romans 12:6, 8. Moffatt.) Read Mark 10:17-22.

Because one of two old church buildings could not be sold, the union of two churches was held up for a few years. Finally, one faithful member took his life savings and bought the old building. For years it was a millstone around his neck; but because of what he had done, the new church building was erected. The unified church was becoming a power for good in the community.

When he had given up hope that he could ever sell the old building, a tire company bought it. He made a very neat profit from the sale. All this profit he called not his own but "the Lord's money." Without interest or legal notes, this fund, was loaned to one businessman after another to get them started in business.

"T.O.C." as Tom Cunningham was lovingly called, more than tithed his personal income also. He really gave of his money and his time until it helped.

Can God depend upon us to give of our time and money and talents until they help the cause of the Kingdom?

PRAYER
Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy many blessings to us. In gratefulness to Thee help us to spend this day in honoring Thee by using our time, our talents, and our possessions in serving others, in Christ's name and for His sake. Amen.

What Can You Do?
The other day a weekly newspaper editor forwarded to me a letter he had received as a result of one of my columns. With the letter he scribbled this note: "I know the fellow who wrote this letter. He is a fine man. He was wounded overseas, and his brother was killed. He's not asking this question for fun. Please give his letter your very best attention."

The letter was too long to reproduce here. But it said, in part, "I operate a service station, and I have a small used car lot besides. I am working hard from seven in the morning until late at night. I think I believe in freedom just as much as you do—but how am I going to do anything about it? I think I did my share. My brother gave his life fighting for it. If the people of this country are such fools that they don't value it, why should I get in a lather? You claim that every man should take time out to say his bit for freedom. Do you honestly think that anything I could say would help?"

Well, that's a hard letter to answer. Obviously, the writer of that letter is, whether he appreciates it or not, fighting for freedom. He is working hard, building a business, making jobs for others, supporting himself rather than asking for support. But I also hope that whenever he finds an opportunity, whenever he hears some crackpot holding forth on the virtues of centralized planning, that he will speak up. He may not speak often, but when he does his words will carry more weight than those of politicians or propagandists.

What Other Editors Say

This Province Of Ours
Many people in the rural part of British Columbia might possibly wonder what they contribute to the province in dollars and cents through industry and business.

The figures are startling, so startling in fact that it is well nigh time that rural citizens hold high their heads along with city-dwellers, for every provincial privilege that is written into the statute books.

Here are some of the figures of rural British Columbia which has been consumed after a detailed survey of the rural portion of the province:—

The gross values of production — agriculture $158,000,000; forestry $496,506,550; fisheries $56,635,000; mining $170,851,194.

Now look at the payrolls of rural British Columbia — agriculture 25,000 employees; forestry 25,000; mining 18,000; fishing 12,000; manufacturing 90,000; miscellaneous 285,000. The average wage in the province in the year 1953 was $63.86, the highest in the Dominion of Canada.

In the rural communities the number of farm dwellings owned and rented number 29,740; powered by hydro development 19,250; home generated sources 990; gas, kerosene lamps 9,500.

Liquor sales in the province (liquor control board fiscal year) for rural British Columbia only $30,064,344. Total sales including metropolitan centres $66,231,401.

Last but not least the total readership of weekly newspapers in rural British Columbia total 400,000 readers.

Comparing these figures against the metropolitan figures, it seems that rural British Columbia is a very important part of the economy of the province, not only in production but in dollars and cents.

With nearly 45% of this rural revenue eaten up by three types of governments, the British Columbia government is now talking about equalization of assessments for taxation purposes. We are glad to see the municipalities at recent convention take a dim view of this new proposed tax legislation. It not only means hardships on landowners if household fixtures, etc. are taxed, but in all reality it means the old "personal property tax" under a new name on equipment and any fixture that is used to carry on business.

Many merchants in Creston are at present paying this personal property tax, under another name when they pay education tax.

With the consumer now paying a 10% federal tax, a 5% provincial tax, present high educational taxes and in some communities an extremely high civic tax, we wonder where the provincial government in any manner shape of form could even embark upon such a program of more taxation. We predict ruination of any provincial government now planning further taxation in times when economic conditions are tightening up.—Creston Review.

TEEN TOWN

On Wednesday night, November 24, a meeting was held at Darlene Bonthoux's. There were about 21 present and we discussed plans for our "Blue Fantasy" Christmas Dance. The dance will be held Dec. 27, with Larry Crawford's orchestra providing the music. We would like to see all our teenagers at this big affair. (Even Santa will be there!)
We also decided to hold a dance Saturday, December 4, with dancing to records. Admission is 25c and all proceeds of this dance will go to the Youth Centre Association, so let's have a good turnout.
Don't forget kids, you have a date with Teen Town on December 4.

APPOINTMENT of Gordon P. Caine as Sales Manager for British Columbia, is announced by Martin Paper Products (B.C.) Ltd. Mr. Caine will direct sales operations from the company's offices in New Westminster. A University of Manitoba graduate, Mr. Caine is former sales manager and a director, of Bulman Bros., of Vancouver.

Scout Activities

During the past two weeks we have been spending a fair amount of time practicing boxing. Boxing is part of the requirement for the Master-at-Arms badge, and besides is good fun and good training. On Family Night this Dec. 3rd there will be two or three bouts put on by the Troop as part of the program.

For Family Night all scouts are expected to be present in full uniform along with their family and friends they wish to bring.

Some boys have forgotten to bring their contribution of two articles for sale at the Scout twenty-five cent table and these articles should be brought on Friday night. Splendid progress is being made on all badge and test work and we soon should have a lot more second class scouts, and after Christmas some first class scouts. One of our former Queen Scouts, Victor Smith is coming each week to help with passing tests for boys who are prepared to take them.

In the patrol competitions the standings are very close with Eagles 553, Buffaloes 539, Hawks 524 and Beavers 504. Any absence, unless explained satisfactorily to the Scoutmaster, loses points to the patrol. Who is going to win the prize of a patrol working rack?

sisted Captain in making wax ornaments for our winter sale. Later, a patrol competition was held and at campfire the songs and acts which the Guides are putting on for Family Night, on Dec. 3 were rehearsed.

Four basketball games and four victories started the series of league games off just well as far as Summerland is concerned, last Saturday night. The score of the games were as follows:

Sr. Boys — 36-15; Sr. Girls — 26-25; Jr. Girls — 12-9; Jr. Boys — 27-14.

Let's keep up the good work! The senior Christmas banquet and dance will be held on Dec. 17. The juniors will be having one too but a definite date has not yet been set.

A student council conference was held in Salmon Arm Friday and Saturday. It was attended by four delegates, Dwaine Greer, Anne Kersey, Carol Cornish and Marie Gronlund, as well as by the student council advisor, Mr. W. H. Durick. They all report that they had a wonderful time as well as gaining several new ideas that will be introduced to the student body at the next assembly.

Inter-house basketball has started now that the soccer games are over. House I girls and House II boys proved victorious in the series of soccer games.

That is all for this week; best of luck to the teams travelling to Kelowna Friday night.

Christmas Theme . . .

St. Andrew's Service Club Reports Successful Annual Tea, Bazaar

Giant's Head, with a sprinkling of snow on the summit, made a fitting background for the very attractive Christmas scene which occupied the stage of St. Andrew's United Church Hall on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 27, for the Service Club sale.

Evergreen trees grew in profusion while three children singing Christmas carols and Rudolf, the red nosed reindeer, highlighted the Christmas theme achieved by Mrs. A. D. Wilson and Mrs. W. H. Durick. Tea tables provided a pleasing contrast with dainty centerpieces of miniature trees encrusted with feathery snow, the work of Mrs. K. Williams and Mrs. E. Britton.

As president of the Service Club, Mrs. Geo. Washington extended a pleasant word of welcome to those patronizing the affair, at the same time taking charge of the fresh flowers offered for sale.

The novelty table, loaded with articles, was under the direction of Mrs. L. F. Haggman and Mrs. J. P. Tamblin, while Mrs. W. B. Powell and Mrs. G. E. Woolliams had charge of the knitting. Fancy work was convoked by Mrs. G. A. Laidlaw and Mrs. C. Denike and aprons by Mrs. J. Sheeley and Mrs. K. Boothe.

The always popular cooking stall was staffed by Mrs. James Marshall, Mrs. S. W. J. Feltham and Mrs. W. F. Ward, with plants as an added attraction. Candy was sold by Mrs. J. H. Holman and Mrs. A. L. Klasoff, with the children congregating at the fish pond convoked by Mrs. J. C. Wilcox and Mrs. J. McLachlan. Boxed Christmas cards were on sale by the Mission Band with Mrs. A. Gronlund in charge.

The attractive tea was convoked by Mrs. Colin Campbell and Mrs. Blair Underwood, assisted by Miss Louise Atkinson, treasurer of the club, and a corps of assistants.

Circle Adopts Name To Honor Missionary

Honoring the wife of their former pastor who is now enroute to India to serve with her husband as a missionary, Women's Missionary Circle of the Summerland Baptist Church has chosen for a name, the Shirley Knight Circle.

At the meeting Thursday night, Nov. 18 members heard a paper prepared by Mrs. W. S. Watson, of Vancouver, read by Mrs. H. Milne, on the need for professing Christians to give leadership concerning the problems of alcohol by personal abstinence and by supporting an educational program to make known the nature and effects of alcohol.

Mrs. W. Sherwood and Mrs. W. M. Wright gave the scripture reading and devotional message prior to the temperance address; admonishing listeners to search out their own weaknesses and to help others to overcome theirs.

The paper presented by Mrs. Milne expressed alarm that drinking within the church has surrounded social drinking with an aura of ecclesiastical sanction and the vital witness of the church savors even of hypocrisy.

The paper went on, "People talk about making it possible to drink decently but the very quality of the drink soon makes it indecent. The public refuses to face up to the effects of alcohol although it is creating our fourth greatest public health problem, is having vast economic repercussions and is recognized as first among the worlds social evils in the tragedies it causes."

"It is estimated that one in every 10 of the young people who start drinking under the age of 21 will eventually become an alcoholic. Resulting from a recent study of alcoholics, it has become evident that 40 percent become alcoholics because of physiological or psychological maladjustments but 60 percent become alcoholics by the mere process of social drinking."

The message ended with the challenge: "We are our brothers' keeper and we must Christianize, educate and legislate in meeting the challenge of social drinking. Will Christ say of us as He said of Mary, 'She hath done what she could'?"

A floor lamp by the piano should have a shade that lets light through and a diffusing bowl to prevent sharp reflections from the piano. Place the lamp to the rear of the player so the bright shade cannot be seen.

Beverley Alexander In Fall Nuptials

St. Andrew's United Church was setting for late fall nuptials on Saturday, Nov. 13, when Ruth Beverley Alexander became the bride of Lawrence Ivan Austen. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander and the groom son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Austen.

For the quiet evening rites, the bride chose a smartly-tailored double-breasted blue suit with red accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. Miss Lorna Alexander, her sister, acted as bridesmaid and was dressed in a navy suit with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Ronald Austen, brother of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Richard Alexander and William Austen.

Rev. Charles O. Richmond officiated at the ceremony and organist was Mrs. Delmar Dunham.

A reception followed at the IOOF hall and following a wedding trip in the States, the couple will make their home in West Summerland.

VISITING HERE

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walden over the weekend were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. Nesbitt of Kamloops.

Mrs. and Mrs. H. Richardson and Mrs. L. Locke have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George Dunsdon for the past several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Mackenzie of Edmonton were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walden.

Mrs. Nash of Enderby was a recent guest at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Kennedy.

R. W. Hughes of the Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, was on an inspection trip of the Summerland Research Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Driel were visitors to Summerland this week.

Ruth Nesbitt Wed In Coast Rites

Scarlet RCMP dress uniforms of groom, best man and ushers lent an added touch of color to Vancouver nuptial ceremonies for a former Summerland girl on Nov. 20 when Ruth Wharton Nesbitt, became the bride of Gerald James Young. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. V. Nesbitt, formerly of Summerland and now of Fruitvale, and the late Mr. Nesbitt.

The rites were performed by Rev. S. M. Hittle in Fairview Baptist Church.

Simple lines of the bride's gown featured unpressed pleats falling from the waistline into an oval train. Her chapel veil was held in place by a small brocaded head-dress. Her bouquet was of white gardenias and lily-of-the-valley.

Her attendants were Mrs. Peter Costanzo as matron of honor, Miss Gwen Lamcraft and Miss Audrey Douglas as bridesmaids.

Attending the groom were Ron Davies as best man, Norman Kenny, Walter Wilychka and Lloyd Smith as ushers.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Donald Nesbitt of Vancouver.

For a motor trip to Seattle, the bride changed to a brown tailored tweed suit with brown accessories and a blonde fur jacket.

TO NEW ZEALAND

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leonard, residents of West Summerland for the past three years, left for Vancouver on November 30; where they will spend one week before sailing on December 7 on the Oronsay for New Zealand, where they will make their home. Their son, Patrick, who is serving with the Royal Canadian Navy, expects to visit his parents when his ship arrives in Wellington early in the New Year.

On their last evening in Summerland, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard were guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Lockwood.

Wool jersey with contrast trim and good detail is the basis of many a fine all-day dress for this time of year. This handsome frock uses satin straps in an interesting fashion that makes it a good choice for wear from luncheon on. The satin outlines the round neckline and continues down the satin-buttoned band in a double line. Shaped darts slim the waist and give softness to the top of the slim skirt which has a self belt.

Honored By Friends

Two members of the staff of Walters Packinghouse were recently honored by their companions with a presentation on the occasion of their departure from Summerland. They were Mrs. B. W. Leonard, who, with her husband, is leaving for New Zealand, and Mrs. Jack Killingbeck, who is leaving for eastern Canada with her husband.

Report on Past Two Months Outlines Activities at Experimental Station

General — T. H. Anstey
Seven judges were supplied to four fall fairs. Dr. Wilcox attended a meeting of the Northwest Section, American Society of Agricultural Engineers and was elected third vice-president. Meetings of the Spray and Variety Committees of the Okanagan Agricultural Club were well attended by Station staff where recommendations were drawn up for 1955.

Miss Britton prepared a broadcast for CBIJ Vancouver on "Food Facts. Dr. Anstey spoke over a local station on F.A.O.

New Cherry Introduced — A. J. Mann and F. W. L. Keane.

Sweet cherry breeding at the Summerland Experimental Station has hitherto stressed varieties of "black" type, since the so-called white cherries have very limited market value in this region. The Station has already reported the introduction of the three black varieties, Van, Star and Sam and these are now being planted commercially throughout the Pacific Northwest.

In the course of cherry breeding, however, a white variety has emerged which is so outstanding in its resistance to cracking that it has been deemed advisable to name and introduce it. This cherry, under the name Sue, is particularly recommended for use in the home garden, but is also suggested for limited commercial trial by growers interested in cherries of Royal Ann (Napoleon) type.

Cooking Test of Early Apples — A. J. Mann

In co-operation with the Home Economist of the Station's Processing Laboratory, cooking tests of 2 apple varieties were conducted. These varieties were all earlier in season than McIntosh.

Of the 29 varieties tested, Anstey, Empire Red, Wrixparent and Yellow Transparent were outstanding, each having a score of 9 out of a possible 10. Almost as good were Table 1 — Influence of stage of bloom upon effectiveness of DN289 applied at 2 pints per acre as a blossom thinning spray.

Date of Spraying	Stage of Blossom Development	Fruit Harvested per Tree	No. of Fruits per Lb.	Soluble Solids Content of fruit
May 8	90% open	160	12.6	20.9
May 10	1 day past full	182	14.9	19.1
May 12	3 days past full	212	15.8	20.0
Check	—	217	17.9	18.9

Anonovka, Hibernial, McCloy (K), 0-271, two red strains of Melba, and Wealthy. All of these received a score of 8. Other varieties ranged from a score of 7 down to 3, the later score being obtained by Dunning. These results are rather similar to those obtained in tests made in 1950. In that year Empire Red the red strains of Melba, 0-271, Wealthy, Wrixparent and Yellow Transparent all rated high. Other high scores in 1950 were obtained by Beacon and by Lodi, but these two varieties were not so successful in 1954.

The Max Red Strain of Bartlett Pear — A. J. Mann

This bud sport, which originated in Yakima, Washington, was brought to the Station for test in 1949. The young trees are now in bearing and it was possible this year to make a preliminary comparison between Max Red and regular Bartlett. When picked at 19 to 20 pounds pressure and ripened for 13 days at room temperature, no significant difference could be noted except in skin color. Max Red is characterized by an all over red blush which appears dull at picking time but which becomes bright and attractive as the ground-color changes from green to yellow. This red coloring contrasts markedly with the normal yellow color of Bartlett. When evaluated side by side, Max Red is as attractive in color as Bartlett, although quite different. It is open to question whether the market would consider a bright red pear to be desirable, since most pear varieties sold here have been yellow or greenish yellow when ripe.

Stage of Blossom Development in Thinning Italian Prunes — D. V. Fisher

Table 1 gives the data for an experiment conducted during the past season to determine the best time at which to apply DN 289 for blossom thinning prunes.

Date of Spraying	Stage of Blossom Development	Fruit Harvested per Tree	No. of Fruits per Lb.	Soluble Solids Content of fruit
May 8	90% open	160	12.6	20.9
May 10	1 day past full	182	14.9	19.1
May 12	3 days past full	212	15.8	20.0
Check	—	217	17.9	18.9

These data indicate that there was a marked reduction in the size of the crop on trees spray thinned on May 8 when 90 percent of the bloom was open. There was, however, at harvest a corresponding increase in size of fruit and of soluble content of the flesh. There seemed to be a progressive decrease in effectiveness of the thinning treatment when the spray was applied at one day and three days past full bloom. The results of chemical thinning were particularly noticeable by observing the number of small, red under-developed fruits on check trees as compared with trees which had been thinned. Although check trees had the largest crops they also had a rather large proportion of small red fruits which would not meet packing standards. The general stage of maturity of fruit on the check trees was approximately 5 days behind that of the fruit from trees sprayed when 90 percent of the bloom was open.

Fruit Filling — C. C. Strachan

Storage tests have shown that apple pie fillings may be kept satisfactorily for at least 9 months at a temperature of 85 to 75 degrees F. Storage at 100 degrees F for one month did not noticeably effect the color, flavor and stability of the canned filling. The color, particularly, also the flavor of pure raspberry and strawberry fillings are adversely affected in a very short time by temperatures much above 75 degrees F. One week at 100 degrees F results in brown discoloration and reduced flavor in strawberry and raspberry fillings. However, black currant and apple blends are much more resistant to the deleterious effects of high temperature storage, and no noticeable loss in color or flavor was found after two weeks at 100 degrees F.

Preliminary tests indicate that very acceptable fillings may be prepared from blends of raspberries with granular apple sauce in a proportion of about 2 of raspberry to 3 of apple sauce. The raspberry flavor seems to be accentuated in this product and the color was satisfactory on initial preparation. The apple sauce acts to a large extent as a thickener and gives the filling a desirable texture. It is just possible that the apple sauce may assist to some extent in retaining the desirable color of raspberry and strawberry. Experiments will be carried out shortly on the addition of a small amount of cranberry concentrate to strawberry and raspberry fillings to see if this will improve the initial color and increase its stability in these fillings.

Tests on apricot fillings indicate that Minute talc, either the regular or -20 mesh granulation, will prove to be the most satisfactory thickening agent. Most of the other thickeners result in too gummy and viscous a product. Very fine Minute talc (40 mesh) is unsatisfactory, resulting in an extremely "long textured and tacky product. Apricots on cooking tend to become viscous so any thickening agent which adds to this characteristic has to be avoided. This latter characteristic also has a disadvantage in that it increases the cooking and heat penetration problem.

B of M Capital At Record High

Revealing the highest capital figures in Canadian banking history, the 137th annual financial report of the Bank of Montreal shows record levels for deposits and loans, with resources at a new high for the bank at $2,548,508,239. The report, covering the year ended October 31, was released this week by Ivor Solly, B of M manager at West Summerland.

The bank's paid-up capital, which for many years stood at $38,000,000, is now shown at $43,927,912, following the recent offering of new B of M stock, while the rest account stands at $87,855,824. When the figures will reach $45,000,000 and new issue of stock is completed, the $90,000,000 respectively—a total in shareholder's funds, exclusive of undivided profits, of $135,000,000—the highest figure for any of the chartered banks.

Beyond this important increase in the bank's capital position, the most notable change in the balance-sheet figures is the very substantial enlargement of $139 million in deposits, which stand at $2,365 million, compared with $2,226 million a year ago.

The bank's traditionally strong liquid position is seen in increases which have occurred in the holdings of government and other securities, now totalling $1,170 million, as compared with $982 million in 1953. These holdings comprise the large part of the bank's liquid resources totalling $1,694,056,090, which equal 70.17 per cent of the bank's public liabilities.

"Commercial and other loans" are up from $787 million to $794 million, while call loans at $97 million compare with $70 million a year ago. A new item in the statement this year is "Mortgages and hypothecs insured under the National Housing Act, 1954" at $10,880,652.

The statement of earnings shows that, after provision was made for income taxes of $6,925,000, net profits amounted to $7,344,274 compared with $7,042,676 in 1953.

Divided payments to shareholders were $5,436,395—about a million and a half less than the bank's tax-bill—and represented the same rate

Hunting and Fishing News

Fishing on the Okanagan has been fair for trolling. Some nice catches up to 5 of trout trolling. Quite a few nice trout caught from rocks among the white fish run. White fish still on and going strong. Tendency is to move farther north and better catches are being made there.

Ducks and Geese very little action on either of these birds. There are a few birds around and the season is into January for them. A few hunters are hunting them and having fair luck on ducks but not on geese.

Deer: The end of another season is here and we can look back to a spotty success for the average hunter. A combination of several factors contributed to this I think. First I don't think the deer population was present in this district in great enough numbers. The ones that are around are scattered and are in hard to get at localities. The game departments biologists recommended a doe season for the last week and now we will have to wait and see how this will react to deer population here. It certainly will clean up the does close in to town and it is their theory that it will

VISITING ABROAD

F. E. Atkinson, John Kitson and Stan Porritt have gone to Ottawa to attend meetings of the Food Research Committee. They expect to be away for a week.

Dr. James Marshall leaves Friday on a tour of the eastern provinces. Dr. Marshall will visit Ste. Jean, Quebec; Kentville, Nova Scotia; and Fredrickton, New Brunswick where he will address meetings on concentrate spraying.

Rev. and Mrs. Lyle Kennedy, Will Ritchie and John McDougald left last Tuesday to attend the induction of the new Baptist minister at Vernon, Mr. Ray Wallock, who has come from the First Baptist Church in Calgary.

increase the breeding vitality of the herd. We certainly hope so because there has been a steady decline in the deer population since 1947. There are quite a few reports on cougar through the whole area. This in itself would have the herd away. Another possibility is that the main herds when they leave their summer ranges do not get here in the same proportion as before and that they go elsewhere. Last but not least and the majority opinion is that the deer population on summer ranges and elsewhere is away down, mostly caused by increase in hunters and their kills every fall.

Clever Cooking . . .

No doubt plans and preparations for Christmas are well under way at your house. One of the nice things you have probably planned to do is to give small jars of your precious jams, jellies and pickles to some friends who you know cannot make their own and will enjoy them very much. They do make such an acceptable gift, especially if trimmed up a little. One effective way to decorate the jars is to cover the top of each one with a white or colored paper doily and tie it down with Christmas ribbon. The lacy edge of the doily should extend well beyond the neck of the jar so that it will make an attractive frill. Another idea is to paste a big Santa Claus sticker, one big enough to cover the top of the jar, and flute a collar of white or red paper around the neck of the jar. Little boxes filled to the brim with an assortment of your Christmas cookies and small cakes will make another welcome gift for some folks who will not be able to drop in to see you at Christmas. The box will look almost too tempting to touch if you cover the open top with cellophane, tape it down over the edges and put a sprig of holly or a bow at one corner.

Here is a suggested assortment of Christmas goodies, not only for your family but for your Christmas gift boxes.

SHORTBREAD
1 cup butter, 1/2 cup fruit sugar, 2 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose (bread) flour.
Cream butter very well until pale yellow in color. Add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Reserve 1/4 cup flour for flouring the board during kneading. Add remaining 2 cups flour to butter and sugar mixture, one-half cup at a time. Mix well after each addition. Turn dough out on to flour-ed board and gradually knead in remaining flour. Divide dough into two parts and knead each one about five minutes or until all cracks in the dough have disappeared. Chill in refrigerator until stiffened, 15 to 20 minutes. Roll out each piece of dough separately to a thickness of 3/8 inch. Cut into diamonds, one inch in diameter or into other fancy shapes. Be sure to cut right through the dough to the board. Place pieces of shortbread on an ungreased baking sheet about one-half inch apart. Bake in a slow oven 300 degrees F., 25 to 30 minutes or until slightly golden. Makes about 36 shortbread.

CHOCOLATE TOPPED SCOTCH CHEWS
1/2 cup butter melted, 2 cups

TOPPING
1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips or pieces, 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts.
Four melted butter over rolled oats and mix well. Add sugar, honey and seasoning and mix thoroughly. Pack firmly into a well-greased 8" square pan. Bake in a moderately hot oven 375 degrees F. for 12 minutes or until mixture is rich golden brown. (Mixture will still be bubbling.) Place pan on wire rack and let stand until completely cold.

Melt semi-sweet chocolate bits or pieces over hot water, and spread on top of rolled oat mixture, sprinkle with nuts and chill until chocolate is firm. Cut in small squares or fingers. Makes 36 pieces 1 1/4" x 1 1/4".

SUGAR COOKIES
1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoon flavoring, 1 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt.
Cream butter, add sugar and cream well together. Add beaten egg and flavoring. Mix and sift together flour, baking powder and salt and add to creamed mixture, blending thoroughly. Roll and cut with cookie cutters into desired shapes and place on a greased cookie sheet, or drop from teaspoon and flatten with a fork, or make into fancy shapes with cookie press. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F., 8 to 10 minutes. When taken from oven sprinkle lightly with fruit or fine granulated sugar, colored green or red. Makes 3 to 4 dozen cookies.

MERINGUE BALLS
4 egg whites, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup fruit sugar, 1/2 teaspoon almond or vanilla flavoring, nuts dates, cherries.
Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Beat in sugar very gradually. Add flavoring. Put this meringue in refrigerator to keep cool. For centres of balls use ground filberts or almonds or a mixture of ground dates, candied cherries and nuts. Add enough of the meringue to hold the nut mixture together. Roll into tiny balls and dip each ball into the meringue. Place on baking sheet and bake in a very slow oven 250 degrees F., for 30 minutes. Then turn heat off and leave in oven until perfectly dry. During baking open oven occasionally to make sure that the Meringue Balls are not browning.

Summerland School Basketeers Win In Four Matches Against Rutland

Four visiting cage teams from Rutland were unable to make any time against their opposite numbers in Summerland High School last Saturday and the local squads made a clean sweep of the four matches. Local junior boys took their game 27-14 and while junior girls found the going a bit rougher but still came out on top 12-9. Senior boys won handily 36-15 and senior girls made their 36-25.

Summerland Senior boys took a three point lead in the first period but saw it whittled to a single point by half-time when they were out-shot in the second. From there on, however, they had everything their own way and picked up 12 points in each of the two remaining periods while Rutland scored only one in the third and three in the fourth.

Top point-getter for the locals was Al Davis who registered 11, followed by Al Birtles with nine.

Pearl Hooker with a total of 17 points sparked her teammates to victory in the senior girls' match. Other big scorer was Sheila Bennison with 14.

Summerland junior boys held the visitors scoreless during the first period while they racked up 10 points and from there on held a very comfortable lead for the balance of the game, although they slowed down during the last half, the Rutland five were unable to do more than hold their own with them.

Junior girls game was notable more for hard work than scoring. End of the first period saw Rutland with four points and Summerland scoreless. A foul shot to give the locals one point was the only scoring in the second quarter. The third quarter saw the Summerland entry open up and they forged ahead to an 11-7 lead. Fourth quarter scoring was all on fouls with Rutland scoring two and Summerland one.

Locals Lose Out To Merchants, 4-3

Still smarting from a shellacking week-ago, Summerland Apple Kings at the hands of the Garagemen on Nov. 21, Summerland Apple Kings still on them and after a hard-fought game came out on the short end of a 4-3 score.

Going into the last period with the score tied at 1-1, the Merchants picked up a pair of goals in the early minutes of the frame and a tail-end drive by the locals wasn't quite enough to chop off the lead after Penticton sneaked in another to make their lead stick.

There was no scoring until the half-way mark in the second period when Getz drew first blood for the Merchants. Eyre balanced the score less than a minute later.

Penticton rammed home two within a minute early in the third and Summerland hopes for tying up the game looked good when Eyre scored again at the 14:30 minute mark. Hopes faded when Moore stretched out Merchants lead two minutes later but with little more than a minute left to play, Siegrist scored to cut the lead to a single goal.

In the other commercial league match of the afternoon, BCD juniors outshone the Garagemen 7-3.

First period — No scoring. Penalties: Getz (5 min.), Furuya (5 min.), Moore.

Can The Summerland Arena Make Money?

Let's Look At The Record!

1953-54 Operation (2 1/2 weeks of ice)
Rent from Curling Club	$ 800
Income from admissions, etc.	1,166
TOTAL INCOME	$1,966
Operating cost for whole year (Including taxes, insurance, repairs, etc.)	$1,483
OPERATING PROFIT	$ 483
(Taken from the Summerland Rink Association annual financial statement)

With the results of 2 1/2 weeks of operation as an indication, there is little doubt that the Summerland Arena with five months of ice can be self-supporting and pay off principle and interest on a $2,000 bond issue. If so, then it will not cost taxpayers one cent.

Nitrogen Balance Must Be Right

Many fruit-growers apply nitrogen fertilizers to apple trees in the late fall. Now is a good time of year, says J. L. Mason at the experimental station to assess the nitrogen level in the apple orchard, and to decide whether to apply more, less or the same amount of nitrogen fertilizer as was applied last year.

If too much nitrogen has been used, the orchard will produce large crops of large fruits but they will have poor color and low quality. On today's highly competitive markets, only the highly-colored fruits are worth anything. The poorly-colored fruits are graded C or culled and are an economic loss to the grower.

If too little nitrogen has been used, the orchard will produce small crops of small fruits of good color and quality. However, the small crops result in low economic return to the grower.

The best position for maximum income for the grower is about half-way between these two extremes. One way for the grower to tell how close he is to the ideal nitrogen level is to examine recent pack-out records. Another way is to measure the lengths of a few terminals growing at about 45 degrees around the outside of the tree.

Trout Creek Friends Honor Newlyweds

Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller who were recently married in Calgary, were honored by Trout Creek friends on Nov. 24 when about 55 gathered in the basement hall of the Trout Creek Community Church of God to stage a shower for the couple. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Miller of Trout Creek.

The pleasant gathering was organized and directed by Miss Edith Verity and Mrs. Gordon Halverson acted as mistress of ceremonies.

The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion.

Misses Marilyn and Arlene Embree sang a duet, accompanied by Austin Raham on the guitar. Several games were played and enjoyed by the group.

The honored couple were recipients of a number of attractive and useful gifts, presented in a miniature "Honeymoon Express" truck.

After gifts were opened, delicious refreshments were served by the ladies.

Nuptials at Coast Of Interest Here

A wedding of Summerland interest took place on Nov. 11 at West Point Grey United Church in Vancouver when Walter Charles Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thompson of West Summerland, took as his bride, Maurine Joyce, eldest daughter of F./Sgt. and Mrs. W. Riding of Vancouver. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. H. Birdsall.

Lace motifs appeared on the nylon-oversatin to create the bride's ballerina gown. A coronet of pearls held in place her fingertip veil.

Joan Mitchell, cousin of the bride, and Carol Riding, a sister, were her attendants. They were attired in pale blue and pink organdy frocks.

In the absence of her father, a great-uncle, W. F. Cocker of Vancouver, gave the bride in marriage.

LAC Harold Schmidt of Saskatoon was best man and the ushers were the groom's brother-in-law, Russel Ker of New Westminster and his cousin, LAC Robert Nelson of Sea Island.

Soloist was T. Lorimer who sang also at the wedding of the bride's parents.

A reception was held for 75 guests at the Orchard Hall.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's parents and Mrs. Tom Nelson of Summerland.

The future home of the newlyweds will be Saskatoon where the groom is stationed with the RCAF.

Congratulatory telegrams included one from the bride's father who is in England.

Sixty Per Cent of Fruit Imports Free of Duty States L. R. Stephens

Mr. Stephens declared that the Canadian housewife has at her disposal the widest assortment of fruits and vegetables in her history. Not only is the variety greater, he declared, but the fruits and vegetables are being presented in a much more attractive and fresher form.

Based on purchasing power, he stated, most fresh fruits and vegetables were actually cheaper today in most cases than they were in 1939. For example, using the average hourly rate in the Toronto area as a "norm", the consumer is able to purchase 11 pounds of onions today for an hour's work as against 9 pounds in 1939; 12 pounds of apples against 10; 6.5 pounds of celery hearts against 4.2; 29 pounds cabbage against 18; 5 pounds No. 1 field tomatoes against 2 1/2; and 25 pounds potatoes against 28. The changes which have taken place in the food industry, even in the past 15 years, are remarkable, Mr. Stephens said.

"Housewives today are demanding fruits and vegetables be made available in small quantities and in packaged form with a resultant limited waste in preparation", he noted.

The demand for quality plus packaging, however, results in greater cost to the consumer because of the much greater cost of handling, increased transportation rates; labor and other charges, he declared.

"If the housewife wants to buy the same type of container and the same quality she bought 15 or 20 years ago, and will buy in the same quantities, she can purchase her fruits and vegetables at a price relatively less than she paid then", Mr. Stephens said.

Stressing the case that, contrary to some opinion, the Canadian consumer is getting farm produce at a low price, Mr. Stephens disclosed that, compared to 1924 the consumer can buy per hour of work 37 pounds of potatoes against 20; 3.2 pounds of beef against 2.8; 2 pounds of pork against 1.6; 2.5 pounds butter against 1.1 and 7.3 pounds of milk as against 3.8.

Q. & A.

On Rink Referendum

Q. Why were children last year denied skating in the afternoon so that the ice would be suitable for hockey in the evening.

A. Soft ice in the afternoons, hard ice in the evenings happened with monotonous regularity last winter due to the mild winter. The children were scheduled for the afternoons and hockey games for the evenings. This would not happen with artificial ice.

It is the Rink Association's duty to make sufficient money to pay interest to the 192 bondholders, and to put a bit aside for redeeming the bonds. That is, making money is a prime factor for the continued successful operation of the rink.

Someone could argue that this is not the correct basis for the operation of recreational facilities for our young people. The solution to this problem is municipal ownership.

Q. How would the proposed artificial ice arena be managed?

A. It would be managed and operated entirely by the Municipal Council—presumably by an Arena Committee.

Q. Are there any arenas similar to the proposed one, in operation in this province?

A. Duncan and Cranbrook with populations much the same as Summerland operate similar through somewhat more expensive arenas than the proposed one. Both show an operating profit.

Q. Is not the present ice surface larger than necessary?

A. It is somewhat smaller than standard Canadian hockey ice and slightly smaller than the old open-air rink at West Summerland. Youngsters should learn their hockey on a suitable ice arena so that they will not be handicapped when playing in other towns. For figure skating the larger the ice the better. Experience of the last three winters has shown that as many as 350 youngsters take part simultaneously in general skating. A crowd of that size requires as much ice as can be provided.

Elizabeth Morgan Honored at Shower

Mrs. A. D. Glen, Mrs. Donald Orr and Mrs. J. Van Cameron were hostesses at a very enjoyable evening party held at Mrs. Glen's home in the Gulch Road on Monday Nov. 29, the occasion being a shower for Miss Elizabeth Morgan, whose wedding will take place shortly.

The gifts were contained in a large box cleverly built up to resemble an old-fashioned CNR locomotive, a tribute to the prospective bridegroom's occupation, and labelled "The Honeymoon Express".

The guest of honor, ushered into the room to the strains of "Here comes the bride," was led to the chair of honor and presented with the exciting train-load of gifts; her mother, Mrs. C. R. Morgan and her grandmother, Mrs. F. Plunkett assisted her in displaying them to the other guests.

Later, Mrs. Orr provoked much laughter by reading a satirical skit entitled "Man," and then arranged a clever thought-provoking contest which kept the guests busy and amused for some time.

Mrs. J. Brown won the first prize in this contest and Mrs. J. Morrow the second and Miss Mary Wolfert, consolation.

Refreshments were served while the bride-to-be cut slices from a prettily decorated heart-shaped cake. Other guests present were, Mrs. G. A. Fisher, Mrs. J. Young, Mrs. E. Spotsburg, Mrs. F. Morrow, Mrs. D. Turnbull, Mrs. F. Brako, Mrs. F. Dickinson, Mrs. Van Cameron, Mrs. A. W. Arnold, Mrs. W. Clarke, Mrs. S. Peter, Mrs. P. Pedersen, Mrs. C. E. Piers, Miss Pat Morrow, Mrs. A. R. Morgan, Mrs. Doug Wakefield and G. Gardner.

Tie With BCD's In Match Sunday

Billy Eyre's star never shone brighter than it did on Sunday when he took a hand in all Summerland goals as the locals battled to a 4-4 tie with the flashy young BCD's in the commercial league.

As the game went into the closing minutes, it looked as though Summerland, with a two goal lead, had victory just about in the bag but the hustling young army men managed to close the gap with two goals in the last six minutes of play.

Billy Eyre scored two of the Summerland goals and was credited with assists on the other two.

1 1/2 Million Bibles Placed By Gideons

Summerland Gideons this week heard a report from their Toronto headquarters that the month of November saw the placing of the one-and-one-half millionth copy of the Scriptures in Canada by The Gideons. This was the cumulative effort of the past 43 years, the period in which The Gideons have been organized in Canada, and carrying on this bible-placing ministry as an association of Christian commercial and business men.

The one-millionth copy of the Scriptures was placed in January 1952, in Victoria Hospital, in London, Ontario, since which time a period of a little over two-and-a-half years, one-half million books have been sent out. Of this impressive total, complete Bibles numbered one-half a million, familiar sights in hotels, motels, hospitals, schools and Prisons. New Testaments made up the balance and were presented to nurses in training, service personnel and to school children.

Apart from these Canadian placements, many thousands of copies of the Scriptures have been sent overseas to England and to Japan. The current foreign enterprise of The Gideons International in Canada is the supplying of upwards of 25,000 copies of a bi-lingual Spanish-English New Testament for distribution in hotel guest rooms in Mexico, a work now well underway.

Teachers Hear Talk On Pension Program

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerland Teachers' Association was held Tuesday afternoon, December 7 in the home economics room at the High School.

Tea was served before the business meeting got under way.

S. A. MacDonald gave a very interesting and informative talk about Teachers' Pensions.

One of the teachers suggested that the teachers and possibly their wives or husbands have a volleyball game some Monday night after the holidays. This suggestion met with hearty approval.

President Ted Weeks reported on the meeting of the executive of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association which was held last month.

Arriving at the Ethiopian embassy in London, Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill wears the apparel of the Order of the Garter. The prime minister, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were the guests of Emperor Haile Selassie, who is in London for a state visit.

Her five-day visit in Canada's capital at an end, Queen Mother Elizabeth bids good-by to Hon. Lester Pearson, secretary of state, while Gov.-General Vincent Massey looks on. Then with the cheers and good wishes of an entire city ringing in her ears, she boarded a RCAF plane headed for New York, where she will board the Queen Elizabeth for a return trip home to England. During her 23-day stay U.S. and Canada, the Queen Mother made easy conquests in countries with her charm and informal manner.

Active Community Worker Fatally Stricken in Sleep

Summerland residents last Friday morning received with shock the announcement that George Woltte, one of the community's most active workers, had died in his sleep. At noon the day previous he had been declared re-elected by acclamation to the parks board.

George Woltte came to Summerland from the prairies 10 years ago and since then has played an active role in all community activities.

Friends filled Lakeside United Church Sunday afternoon for funeral services conducted by Rev. Charles O. Richmond, after which remains were forwarded to Warner, Alberta, for committal.

Mr. Woltte was born in North Dakota and with his parents moved to Alberta in 1911 when the government opened the way for homesteaders, he helped gather 11,000 cattle in one herd. He and his father took up land together, which Mr. Woltte still held at the time of his death. He held about 8,000 acres on which he grew 1,200 to 1,500 acres of wheat each year, and ran Hereford cattle with the Woltte Bar FX brand.

He moved to Summerland following a tractor accident in 1944 but twice each year he visited his holdings in Alberta. When he moved here he operated a ranch at Meadow Valley but later moved to Peach Orchard. The Meadow Valley ranch is still operated by his son, Glen.

Community service was always an important part of George Woltte's life and before coming here he served 21 years on the school board at Powell, Alta. Projects for youth activities could always count on strong support from George Woltte and many hours of his work went into building the Summerland Arena and projects of the parks board and Board of Trade.

He was a member of the board of stewards of Lakeside United Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former May Culter, whom he married at Lethbridge in 1917, two daughters, Mrs. Jake Liebelt and Mrs. Wes Kuhn of Warner, Alta; one son, Glen; his mother who lives

Christmas Demand Ups Apple Sales

Pre-Christmas demand for Okanagan apples this week pulled sales out of the slump experienced during the past few weeks, according to market report this morning from B.C. Tree Fruits.

The report stated there has been a marked upturn in the apple demand in Western Canada and it appears the trade is anticipating a good demand throughout the holiday season. Road conditions are reported as mostly good and temperatures are somewhat above normal.

In eastern Canada the last six days sales show some improvement over the preceding week but generally speaking the demand is spotty. Reports indicate that apple sales at retail levels are fair to good.

In the United States, with both Delicious and Red Delicious cold storage holdings in the state of Washington lighter than a year ago, the market has strengthened this week, particularly on Red Delicious. To date, most wholesalers and retailers in the U.S. have been buying only for current requirements and this has resulted in a good demand developing for pre-Christmas arrival. Sales of Red Delicious and Delicious to the U.S. this week have shown a good increase over last week. The demand for Rome and Staymans is steady and for McIntosh, slightly easier.

Police Again Looking For Bicycle Owner

Local RCMP are in bicycle trouble again.

Striking Itself Out of Work

Less than three months ago the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada expressed serious concern about unemployment and offered proposals for the construction of public works, a ban on overtime and requested that its members refuse to accept extra, outside jobs. In addition, the congress decided to take positive steps toward the attainment of the guaranteed annual wage through collective bargaining.

In the meantime unemployment in unionized industries alone has increased by over ten thousand workmen as a result of strike action by congress leaders at Windsor and Toronto. In other words, members of the congress, who voted for the resolutions deploring the increase in unemployment and urging the government to do something about it, within a few weeks closed down several large industries and put out of work thousands of men who were regularly employed. Even the president of the congress, Mr. A. R. Mosher, who had warned against labor "pricing itself out of work," himself joined the picket line outside the strike-closed Massey-Harris plant in Toronto.

When Mr. Mosher warned labor against pricing itself out of work he was talking common sense, for anything that puts men out of employment should surely be avoided. Then where is the sense in labor striking itself out of employment? The pricing process is slow and unintentional, for no sensible workman would insist on a higher price for his work if he believed it would result in the loss of his job. Yet a union will deliberately decide to strike and put all its members out of their jobs immediately and for an indefinite period. That is a silly form of economic suicide, for the strikers not only cut off their wages to spite their employer, they spite themselves and their families. Before the strike they had incomes, but they now have none.

Perhaps I am a simpleton in this matter, and I may be reminded of "the right to strike." I do not deny that right and am ready to admit that in some instances it has been exercised justly and to good effect by organized labor in the past. But in the present instances and at the present time, judged by the expressed concern and proposals of the Labor Congress, it is wrong to strike and exaggerate the unemployment situation. The congress had the right to appeal to the government to do something about it, and the government and general public have the right to appeal to the congress to do everything in its power to prevent unions striking themselves and many other people out of employment.

To be consistent with its own fears and recommendations the congress should have called a halt to strikes for the time being, and the fact that it did nothing about it is a reflection upon its sincerity. The congress called upon the government to start public works to relieve the situation, and if it were sincere it would have called upon its locals to refrain from closing down private works, which had added to unemployment. The congress called for a ban on overtime, and its locals abolished all work time and thus reduced the annual wages of their members.

In our handwriting exercise books at school we had to copy a classical story about a man whose cart-wheel had got stuck in the mud. He was pictured kneeling down praying to the gods to help him out. The answer came: "Put your shoulder to the wheel. The gods help only those who try to help themselves." And the moral of that is quite simple.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER NINTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY FOUR

Three Questions . . . and there's only one answer

ON Saturday, voters of Summerland will vote on a referendum to give direction to the council whether a by-law should be put to the ratepayers to get approval to raise $62,000 to purchase the Summerland Arena and install an artificial ice plant.

In order to arrive at a decision on this issue, voters should ask themselves three questions:

- Do we need it?
- Are we getting value for our money?
- Can we afford it?

To answer the first question, it is only necessary to look back to periods when skating was possible in the district in former years to gauge enthusiasm of Summerland youngsters for what is practically Canada's national sport. The old outdoor rink was always crowded when skating was available and the same has been true of the Arena since it was built; fringe of Lake Okanagan, James Lake, Sanborn Lake and various ponds in the district are meccas for young skaters whenever they are iced over; at every opportunity, Summerland kids are hitch-hiking into Penticton to skate at the Arena there.

There is no doubt but that the enthusiasm for skating exists and certainly there is no more healthy or wholesome activity we can provide for our youth. A report from Kelowna states a sharp decline in juvenile delinquency was noted right from the time the Arena there was opened.

In making a decision on whether we need it, we should take a second look at the facilities now available—fringe of Lake Okanagan, frozen over ponds, Penticton. Ice on open water around here never freezes thick enough that it is entirely free of hazard to skaters. Never a season goes by but what a few skaters get an icy dunking and it is only a matter of time before there will be tragedy instead of just some discomfort and sniffles when some youngsters goes through the ice.

Most youngsters travelling to Penticton for skating use the hitch-hiking routine. It is not necessary to point out the hazards involved in this method of travel.

Many parents are willing to gamble on these hazards rather than deprive their children of a sport from which they derive so much enjoyment—and perhaps, they're right but if they reject a chance to eliminate these hazards, they are gambling against reckless odds.

On the question of whether we are getting value for our money, we need only compare the proposed cost with the cost of rinks elsewhere. In the larger neighboring communities, arenas have cost upwards of $275,000 and provide few if any more facilities than the one proposed for Summerland. Rinks built elsewhere on the same plan as this one have cost well in excess of $100,000. At $62,000, there is no doubt but that Summerland ratepayers are being offered a bargain rate.

The final question, "Can we afford it?" is one, that is of paramount interest to many. After an exhaustive study of rink financing in other communities, The Review conscientiously believes that with artificial ice, the Summerland arena can be self-supporting.

There are those who argue that other community owned rinks are showing a deficit. That may be right in some cases but not all. Cranbrook is a community of approximately the same size as Summerland and has a rink built from the same plans and it is operating at a profit. Vernon reports a profit at the end of October with the two busiest months of the year to go. Kelowna has been running each year at around the break-even mark and over the past five years reports a profit.

But let's look behind the balance sheet of rinks reporting a deficit. One of the big items in each case is debt service charges. Penticton, for example, started out with a debt of $275,000. Compare the charges on this with the charges of the proposed $62,000 expenditure in Summerland. It represents a difference of about $13,000 in the first year's operating expenses.

Then, too the method of operating a community-owned rink is also worthy of study. It is obvious in practically every case that the board is not budgeting for a fat profit but instead any likely profit is dissipated through capital expenditures on additional facilities or through reduced admission or free skating for youngsters.

A look at the financial statements of the Summerland Rink Association with two and one-half weeks skating last year gives strong indication that with five months skating the rink can be self-supporting.

It has been suggested that once the rink is community-owned, no one will be willing to put any voluntary effort into its operation. This is pure fallacy. What about the municipal council, the school board, the parks board, the hospital board? There are on these boards about 25 men and women who give freely of time, technical knowledge and are money out of pocket—and we are confident there are members of the community who would be willing to give the same degree of community service on the rink board.

Summerland resident have always been proud of their community and of the facilities available here—and justifiably so. Here is an opportunity to still further extend the facilities of the community and we sincerely believe if this proposition is given approval, the decision will never be regretted.

A Good Citizen . . . in the very fullest sense

LAST year when George Woitte was chosen Summerland's "Good Citizen" many people were puzzled as to why he was selected for the honor. His name was never in the paper as president of any organization or chairman of any committee; he never had anything to say himself about working on any community projects. About the only thing any individual could remember about his community activities was that he had served on one or another committee with him and was doing some job that involved lots of work and no glory.

It was no coincidence that just about everyone had the same recollection of his service. Such was the nature of George Woitte.

When the selection committee started to examine his qualifications for "Good Citizen", they found he had an active part in just about every community project in the last 10 years—not as an organizer or planner but with his coat off and sleeves rolled up to tackle the job the planners laid out. No community can ever have too many of his type.

In the decade he made his home in Summerland, George Woitte made a substantial contribution to the community—one for which we shall long be grateful.

The Man of Galilee told us "By their fruits ye shall know them." We knew George Woitte by his fruits. We knew him as a good citizen.

This End of the Wedge

There have been a great many comments on the government's assessment machinery for taxation purposes but it seems to us that Mr. Kirk's comments at the Chamber of Commerce meeting last week make a point which seems to have been overlooked in the cries about the payment of taxation.

Mr. Kirk rightly calls the tax the thin end of the wedge and feels that the broad end will be a personal property tax that will affect everybody.

Government's don't usually strike their hardest blow first. The usual method is to start with a light tap then increase the punishment until we have built up a resistance to it and the final staggering blow doesn't seem half as powerful.

It is not hard to imagine what might happen. The list of machinery exemptions could be cut and cut until nothing, portable or otherwise, would be tax free. The next step might be to tax all personal property of a certain kind and over a certain amount say major electrical appliances.

And so it could go on. From the refrigerator we could go on to the electric kettle and, having exhausted the supply of machines, the hand of the tax-gatherer would be turned to other personal property.

The government, with its accustomed blatant fashion would probably inform us that our houses are taxed, therefore what is wrong with taxing the contents?

The idea of paying a personal property tax in addition to the sales tax isn't as remote as we might think.—Comox Free Press.

Rather Optimistic?

We would hesitate to say that Premier Bennett is a little over-optimistic in his prediction that British Columbia will be free of debt by 1962 (if his Social Credit Government stays in power) as many things over which we have no control may happen between now and then to affect our entire economic set-up and the unprecedented development of the last few years. Certainly such growth cannot go on forever. However, we must give credit where credit is due. Mr. Bennett says his government has reduced the provincial debt from 191 million dollars to 180 millions since it came into office. Based on his statement that is a splendid achievement. The amount of our current debt can be easily carried by the province without any undue hardship on the people. So rather than concentrate so much on the reduction of public debt as a government policy, why not let it remain as at present and give the people something they are paying for, such as highways, ferries, public utilities, etc. It's hardly fair to expect the current generation to pay off the public debt when those that follow get off scot free and have all the benefits and services provided by others.—Creston Review.

History Lesson

When I was a young lad in High School, I had a teacher we nicknamed, Cherry-nose Anderson. When he grew angry, his pleasant Scottish features were stained a cherry red, and his burr had the staccato impact of a machine gun. The thing that angered him most was the way the world neglected the lessons of history.

I thought of him when I read in the paper what Mr. Blee, the British Railway Officer, told the Royal Commission at Ottawa the other day. Mr. Blee said that the wheel has turned a full circle, and that Great Britain, to improve her transportation system, has gone back to much the same type of freedom from statutory control that characterized the earliest days of railway history. The whole trend, he said, was once again "towards wide-open competition."

Cherry-nose would have been delighted by those remarks. It was a theory of his that nations, once they get strong, begin to put chains on themselves. He burned with indignation when he told how American clipper ships were able to out-trade the British navy, which had become ponderous and heavy and bound up in red tape and traditions.

Few historians believed quite so fervently in freedom as did our scholarly principal. He even applied it to our classes. He was one of the first to deplore the business of keeping young men and women sitting all day in straight rows of desks, obliged to raise their hands formally in order to speak, nailed down to a narrow course of study. In his classes, the only discipline was self-discipline, and sometimes we took advantage of it. The school board once thought he was too lax, and tried to persuade him to establish a complete set of rules for classroom conduct.

"Rules be damned," he said. "I know a few boys take advantage of the freedom I allow. And they may fail as a result. Freedom always hurts someone a little—but it's still the best for the vast majority. I'm not going to tangle up a whole class in damnable regulations for the sake of a few!"

He didn't, either. And the school board couldn't complain too much. His classes made high marks. His students, when they graduated, went on to win honors in many fields of endeavour. Perhaps, sometimes, they've doubted his theories—but not for long. History usually proves how right he was.

The Lighter Side

"I wish I knew where Jack was" remarked the young wife.

"I presume, my dear," said her mother, "that you mean you wish you knew where he is?"

"Oh no, I don't," was the sure reply. "I know where he is. He's in bed with a black eye and a headache. I want to know where he was!"

Upbraiding his teen-age daughter for her slovenly appearance a father started in on a tirade of the faults of modern-day children.

"Why, look at your hair," he snorted, "it looks like a mop."

"What's a mop?" asked the girl.

A lovesick youth sent his best girl an orchid. The card read: "With all my love and most of my money."

"What's the matter up at Bill's house?"

"They're taking him away in an ambulance for beating his missus."

An eccentric New York millionaire was attending a party when some of his friends started to kid him about the railroad he was building. Originally planned to span several states, it never became over 30 miles in length. "And," asked a friend with a sly wink at his companions, "how long is this railroad?"

"It don't make any difference how long it is," replied the millionaire. "It's just as wide as any of them."

The trouble is that when success turns a man's head, it doesn't wring his neck at the same time.

Mother: "Be sure you wash your arms before you put on a clean shirt."

Butch: "Shall I wash them for long or short sleeves?"

Mid-Week Message

Now concerning the collection . . . Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him. (I Corinthians 16:1, 2) Read Malachi 3:8-10 or I Corinthians 16:1-4.

Candy, bubble gum, and movies were the chief concern of four giggling girls. They had money to provide themselves with these things, but had little to give to the interests of the church. What they did give they thought would deprive them of more candy, more bubble gum, or another movie.

One day something happened to them. They heard about the title as being the Lord's. One said to the others, "We haven't been fooling anybody but ourselves. We haven't been fooling God. Let's stop pretending we are Christians and start living like real ones."

These four girls are now supporting four girls in a Christian school in South America. The pastor of the four girls who are now giving until it helps says of them, "Their faces and their lives so shine that others beholding their good works are honoring God by doing likewise."

PRAYER

Our Father, we beseech Thee to help us to lift our giving to such a level that it helps. Help us to let our light so shine before men that they may see our good works and glorify Thee, through Thy Son, our Saviour. In His name. Amen.

Clever Cooking . . .

With the calendar reminding us that December days are slipping by it is high time to be making plans, definite plans, for Christmas dinner. After all this is the feast of the Christmas season and at the festive table a spirit of gladness and contentment should prevail. Careful planning which will eliminate eleventh hour preparations as far as possible will have much to do with attaining the desired atmosphere, for the joy of the occasion can then be equally shared by mother, father, sister, brother and good friends or relatives invited to join the family Christmas dinner party.

The first matter that has to be settled is the main course because the rest of the meal will be planned around this.

What kind of poultry to buy? To some extent this will depend on the number there will be for dinner. The traditional turkey is by far the most popular choice, but goose, chicken and duck are also in the running for the place of honor on the Christmas dinner table. All kinds of poultry will be in good supply for Christmas but if you are buying a turkey it is a good idea to order it well ahead of time then you will be sure of getting the size of birds you want. You will be sure too of getting the quality you want if you order a Canada Grade A turkey. There is no hard and fast rule as to the size to buy you will not go wrong if you figure one pound of turkey for each person to be served. This should serve everyone very generously with enough left over to enjoy at another meal or holiday snacks.

Eviscerated, drawn, oven-ready are all terms used to describe a turkey, in fact any kind of poultry, that is ready to be stuffed and put in the oven. The demand for poultry sold this way shows that this is the way most homemakers like to buy it. They are prepared to pay a higher price per pound than they would for an undrawn bird because they know that about a fifth of the weight of an undrawn bird is waste to them.

What stuffing to make?

There are a great many stuffings that are very good with turkey and for that matter good with chicken too. Bread crumbs are the basis of most turkey stuffings, a light fluffy dressing taking soft stale bread crumbs made from bread at least a couple of days old, while a really dry dressing calls for bread crumbs made from bread thoroughly dried in the oven. For a moist dressing a little liquid may be added but in any case melted fat of some kind, preferably butter, should be mixed with the crumbs to give the desired richness. As for seasonings the ones we think of first are savoury, salt and pepper with minced onion or juice following next in line. Now a basic breadcrumb dressing can be varied many ways by adding one or more of these flavor adding foods — chopped celery, parsley, crisp bacon or oysters; blanched, slivered almonds or chopped pecans cashews or boiled chestnuts; pork sausages sliced and browned; turkey giblets cooked and chopped; sliced mushrooms sauteed in butter. Finally here are a few statistics about stuffings. A pound of bread will give about four cups of soft stale bread crumbs and it takes about a cup of dressing for each pound of turkey.

What garnish to use?

Fresh green parsley, good sized sprigs of it, placed artistically around the turkey is always in vogue as a garnish. The decorating should be done just before the turkey is taken to the table but the parsley can be kept fresh and all ready to use in a glass sealer or plastic bag in the refrigerator. Bright green watercress makes an equally effective garnish and green pepper can also be used to add an extra note of color to the turkey platter. Cranberry sauce, jelly or relish is considered a perfect accompaniment for roast turkey, but these bright red berries can be used as a garnish too. Threaded to make a chain they look most attractive gracefully draped over the well browned turkey.

What vegetables to serve?

In many homes it is traditional to serve certain vegetables with roast turkey, creamed onions and turnips being two of them. Both these vegetables go well with turkey and for this special occasion they can be easily dressed up a little. Chopped pimiento, green pepper or parsley can be sprinkled over the rich cream sauce which covers the onions, boiled whole or sliced; and instead of serving the usual mashed turnip you can hollow out small slices or turnip to form individual cups and when they are cooked fill them with green peas or beans. Another suggestion is to fill the turnip cups with creamed onions, garnishing with chopped parsley. Turnips are attractive too if cut in thin latticed pieces using a vegetable cutter, cooked until just tender then coated with butter. For the green vegetable there is a wide choice of both canned and frozen—peas, beans, brussel sprouts, and broccoli to name the most popular. Beets are another vegetable which should not be overlooked for Christmas dinner. One nice way to serve them is in a glistening sauce with a border of green peas or beans. Last but not least there is the potato and with that rich turkey gravy what better way to serve potatoes than mashed and whipped until light and fluffy with a little cream or hot milk and butter.

We bring you—
THE 1955 BUICK
New thriller in Style—
Power—Performance

A General Motors Value.

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of floor-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower—up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepower of every Buick V8 engine—a wallowing 188 h.p. in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 h.p. in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now had done for Dynaflo Drive.

Up goes performance—and gas mileage too When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway.

You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflo unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers —and with the same result: one pitch for get-away, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency. And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrills to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—join the crowds viewing the new Buicks, and make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as we can have a demonstrator available. We promise you the thrill of the year.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Trout Creek Home For Justweds Following Ceremony in Calgary

A Calgary wedding of Summerland interest was solemnized in the Church of God there on Nov. 10 when Lois Bernice Egger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Egger of Calgary, became the bride of Charles Frederick Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller of Trout Creek. Ceremony was conducted by Rev. A. D. Semran.

Pink and white streamers with white wedding bells and baskets of yellow and bronze baby mums decorated the church for the candle-light service and the bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a white ballerina-length gown featuring fitted bodice, of lace over satin, three-quarter length sleeves and peter pan collar. The full skirt was tulle over satin applied with motifs of matching lace centered with rhinestones. A sweetheart shaped headpiece held in place her fingertip veil which was applied with satin bows and she wore short lace mitts. Her fan-shaped bouquet was of red roses and white feathered carnations.

Matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Dorris Gertzen and bridesmaid was Miss Anne Peters. Groomsman was Arthur Radke and ushers were brothers of the bride, John Egger and Gerald Egger.

Bride's attendants wore ballerina length dresses of taffeta with tulle overskirts. Mrs. Gertzen in coral and Miss Peters in aqua. Their headpieces were of matching tulle and taffeta and both carried colonial bouquets of Kokomo carnations. Mrs. A. D. Samran was at the organ and Mrs. Inez Pawluk, a sister of the bride, sang "A Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

About 55 were present at a reception in Picardy's Rose Room and to assist the principles in receiving the guests, mother of the bride was gowned in printed grey nylon taffeta while the groom's mother chose an aqua floral dress. Both wore corsages of red roses.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Fred Miller, uncle of the groom.

The bride changed to a dress of beige tweed with light brown accessories and a yellow coat and wore a corsage of yellow roses for going away on a wedding trip which took them to Banff and through the States to Summerland where they are now making their home.

The HI LIFE

By MARIE GRONLUND

It is amazing how slow a period of math or social can go and yet how quickly a term is over. In less than two weeks, Christmas holidays begin!

Last Friday most of the students attended a performance given by a famous concert pianist, Aladar Excedy.

This Friday the inter-house indoor track meet is being held. It is hoped that a little more house spirit, not to mention school spirit will show itself at this track meet. How about it kids. Incidentally, house names finally have been chosen. They are:

House I — Gamma; House II — Sigma; House III — Omega; House IV — Delta.

Four teams travelled to Kelowna for the second league basketball game on Friday night. Both junior teams proved victorious as did the senior girls. The senior boys all played a wonderful game but although it was a close game Kelowna came out on top.

The senior girls volleyball team won two of their games in Westbank last Saturday but the boys did not make such a good showing.

The High School Band concert will be held on Dec. 14. Practices are being held regularly, and they sure do sound terrific!

This is all for this week. Be good Santa Claus is coming soon.

Baptist Groups Join For World Prayer Day

Members of the Shirley Knight circle and the CGIT of Summerland Baptist Church joined last Friday to mark World Day of Prayer among women of the Baptist Church.

Devotional period was led by Mrs. Blake Milne and special prayers were offered for those engaged throughout the world in Christian work.

Mrs. Flora Bergstrom and daughter Johan joined to entertain the group with a duet.

Scout Activities

The line-up is as follows: Blewett and Northrup from 10 to 12; Smith and Tavender from 12 to 2; Beggs and Mitchell from 2 to 4; Toevs and Holmes from 4 to 6; Izzard and Gronlund from 6 to 8. Be on time at George Graham's lot between Granville garage and shoe shop.
Next full parade will be the first Tuesday after resumption of school. Patrol points Eagles 586, Buffaloes 564, Beavers 552, Hawks 542. Duty Patrol: Hawks.
Happy Christmas to all A.S.M.

The pleased look on C. B. Ewart, centre, is explained by the ruler held by Don McEachnie, left, and the bewildered expression of Dr. J. Gibson, who still doesn't believe his eyes. The ruler says the steelhead held by Ewart is 46 inches. Its weight is 36 pounds, a world record. The monster was caught in Kispiox river, near Hazelton, B.C.

Small Trees Best For Christmas Holly Production

There is always a keen demand for Christmas holly and to supply the needs for this type of business it is necessary to constantly produce young trees so that eventually they will furnish their quota of berried twigs for the Christmas trade. The purpose of a holly propagation experiment at the Experimental Station, Saanichton, is to determine the quickest and most satisfactory method of growing plants that will at bearing age, produce good yields of high quality berried twigs.

The methods of propagation are by seed, grafting, budding, layering and cuttings, says J. H. Crossley. Cuttings have been used most extensively since this method appears to offer the quickest and most economical means of getting plants of the most desirable trees. Many old orchards have different varieties and as some are inferior, production is affected. Future standards are bound to become more rigid, therefore selection and propagation of the right varieties are essential.

In the Station propagation experiments seven kinds of cuttings were taken from each of three selections of English holly, Ilex Aquifolium, in November-December 1953. Included was one male selection since approximately three per cent of plant in any holly orchard must be made to provide effective pollination. The following cuttings were made with current season's wood: (1) 5-inch cuttings with 2 terminal leaves, (2) 6-inch cuttings with 4 terminal leaves, (3) 6-inch cuttings with 2 leaves, terminal wood removed, (4) 3-inch cuttings with 2 terminal leaves, (5) single leaf heel cuttings, (6) single leaf mallet cutting. The seventh type was a 6-inch cutting with 2-year plus current wood with two terminal leaves remaining. Sixty cuttings of each treatment with 20 from each selection were taken. Before inserting the cuttings in pure sand in a propagating frame in a 63 degree F. greenhouse, the bases of the stems were placed in a solution of indolebutyric acid, 50 p.p.m. for 24 hours. Previous experiments had indicated that holly responds to this hormone and that rooting is satisfactory from November-December cuttings.

It is interesting to note that in this experiment the most successful treatment utilized 3-inch cuttings rather than 4 or 5-inch cuttings generally recommended in the literature.

Also of interest are the results with treatment in which a satisfactory percentage was obtained with cuttings minus the terminal growth. Since removal of the terminal growth does not appear to affect rooting, several cuttings can be made from a single branch. On the other hand though better formed young trees are likely to develop from cuttings taken with the terminal bud than from cuttings taken without the terminal bud.

Also noted is the slowness with which the single leaf mallet and single leaf heel cuttings initiate new stem wood after they have been rooted. While such cuttings are economical of wood, sluggish development would be a disadvantage where speed is of prime consideration.

Long cuttings up to 6 inches should be buried about three inches in the propagation bed and short cuttings (3 inches) should be buried about 1 1/2 inches.

Another fire will break out...

That's what is happening right now and 'round the clock somewhere in Canada.

In the average year, the insurance business handles more than $75 million in fire losses—quite aside from other claims.

It is the size of the loss figure which regulates the rates for every different type of fire, automobile and casualty insurance in various parts of Canada. If losses increase out of proportion to earnings, then insurance rates go up. On the other hand, if losses fall off, rates decrease.

In effect, Canadians collectively determine their insurance costs through their care or carelessness.

WE'VE GOT THE ARENA . . .

. . . LET'S FINISH THE JOB

The Summerland Rink Assn., was founded and incorporated under the Society Act of B.C. in 1950 for the sole purpose of building a skating and curling rink. With the active support of the people of Summerland and lots of volunteer labor, the arena was built as it stands to-day.

Due to two mild winters, the children and young people, also the oldsters that love skating, have been very disappointed.

The Summerland Apple Kings, our Hockey Team, which won the Amateur Championship three years in a row, has been playing mostly in Penticton and other Okanagan arenas, thereby making money for those arenas.

It is apparent that artificial ice is the answer to our problem, this problem however can only be successfully solved with the co-operation and help of all the people of Summerland, which of course means that the arena should be owned by the Corporation of Summerland, this solution in turn calls for the coming plebiscite, giving our municipal council authority to prepare a money by-law and let the people vote on it.

Most of the arenas located in B.C. were built and are operated by municipal governments under a taxation basis whereby every taxpayer pays his fair share. Our arena was put up for less money, than any other arena in B.C. The outstanding bonded debt to-day is less than $24,000.

Artificial ice for the skating surface will cost approximately $38,000 this would mean all brand new equipment. For the total sum of $62,000 or less than 2 mills, the Summerland people would own a skating and curling rink well worth at least $100,000. In comparison, the Kelowna, Vernon, Penticton and Osoyoos Curling rinks cost considerably more money than the Summerland skating and curling rink together.

The support of everybody is needed, our children and youngsters are worth it and their happiness and joy on the ice will repay you. Vote yes in the coming plebiscite.

9 Production Up, But Fewer Trees

The number of apple trees in Canada has declined since 1931 by 47 per cent, from 10.2 million trees to 5.4 million, according to a review of trends in production and distribution of Canadian apples by D. W. Ware in the Economic Analyst, a publication of the Economics Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Just over 4 million of the decline was in the provinces of Ontario and Nova Scotia.

The principal reason for the decline, which reached its peak just before 1941 (except in Nova Scotia where the sharpest decline occurred after 1941 with the loss of the traditional market in Great Britain during and since the second World War) has been the increasing specialization of fruit production. Better cultural methods have been adopted, more suitable varieties have taken the place of those of little market value and low productivity, and experience has shown that trees planted farther apart can be sprayed and cared for with no loss of yield. Indeed, Canadian apple production has been increasing despite the decline in trees. In 1931 the average yield per tree was 1.8 bushels, in 1941 it rose to 3.1 bushels and in 1951 it was 3.6 bushels.

What of the future, are new plantings keeping up with probable requirements? In 1951, 3.7 million trees or 69 per cent of the total of 5.4 million were of bearing age, and it takes about seven years for an apple tree to begin bearing fruit. If the life of a commercial apple tree is estimated at 30 years, then in 1951 there were enough non-bearing trees to maintain the same bearing acreage until 1956 or 1957. This assumes that the trees are fairly evenly distributed within their various age groups and that no abnormal loss of trees occurs. In 1951 the proportion of new plantings in Canada was less than in 1941. There were 1.7 million non-bearing trees in 1951 compared with 2.2 million in 1941 and 2.0 million in 1931. Thus in the next ten years and taking Canada as a whole, a smaller number of new trees will be coming into bearing than was the case in the two previous decades.

In sharp contrast to the 1930's when numerous varieties were grown, three varieties of apples account for over 60 per cent of all trees in all provinces except Nova Scotia. They are McIntosh, Delicious and Northern Spy. The reduction in the number of varieties grown is the result of the trend toward varieties which customers prefer and which have resulted in largest return to growers.

The postwar disposal of Canada's apple crop has changed because of the near loss of the United Kingdom market and an increased domestic demand caused by a growing population. Although average total production in the two five-year periods 1934-38 and 1949-53 was about equal, 46 per cent of the commercial crop was exported in the earlier period and only 22 per cent in the later one. This decrease in demand from Canadian processors who, in the five years 1949-53 utilized an average of 22 per cent of the crop compared with 14 per cent between 1934 and 1938. Fresh sales in the domestic market averaged 7.9 million bushels in the period 1949-53 compared with a pre-war average of 5.6 million, an increase of 40 per cent. Though domestic sales have increased, the per capita consumption of fresh apples at about 0.56 pounds has varied little during the last twenty years, so the increased consumption is mainly due to a growth in population.

With every prospect that Canada's population will continue to increase, Mr. Ware suggests that in years ahead Canadian apple growers will become less dependent on the export market except in years of bumper crops.

TEEN TOWN

A Teen Town Dance was held on Saturday night at the Youth Centre. We were disappointed to see such a small crowd, but we hope every teenager in Summerland will come to our "Blue Fantasy" Christmas Dance. As you probably know, this big Teen Town affair will be on December 27. Music will be provided by Larry Crawford's orchestra and dress will be semi-formal.

Dwaine Greer is in charge of decorating and a committee was formed to plan a buffet supper. Members of this committee are Nona Lewis, Anne Adamski, Darlene Bonthoux, Russ Morancy and Bill Ward.

At the meeting held at Russ Morancy's on December 1, Teen Town members decided to go caroling on December 23. All proceeds will go to the March of Dimes. Russ Morancy was elected to the Teen Town council and Mr. Crawford gave us the names of our new sponsors. They are Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. H. L. Sinclair, Mrs. W. B. Greer and Mr. George Clark.

That's all for this week kids, but don't forget the Christmas Dance on December 27.

Guide News

At the meeting on Dec. 1, the Guides made novelties to sell at our Christmas Sale, and four more Guides passed the Pathfinder's badge. These were Marjorie Campbell, Carol Reinertson, Marny Bleasdale and Ruby Gronlund.

We participated in the program on Family Night on Dec. 3 and also had a Home-cooking booth.

Summerland Ties With Garagemen

Summerland Apple Kings battled to another tie Sunday when match with Penticton Garagemen finished up at 3-3.

Summerland got off to a good start with a pair of goals by Seigrist and Furuya to give them a healthy lead in the first half of the first period but Bird scored for Garagemen at the 13 minute mark and then in the second frame, Holowathy tied it up early and Corigan pushed the mechanics out in front at 12:15 of the second.

Summerland battled hard for the equalizer which came at 2:15 of the third when Taylor scored unassisted. Both teams gave with everything they had to get in the winning goal but neither could crack the others' defences.

In the other match of the Commercial League schedule, the unbeaten league-leading Merchants were finally topped by the BCD juveniles who came up from behind to win 3-2.

Return Barkwill, Butler To Municipal Council

Last Saturday, 64 per cent of Summerland voters turned out at the polls in the municipal election and J. R. Butler from the board chose W. A. Laidlaw, W. C. McCutcheon and Harvey Wright from a slate of six candidates.

U. K. Shipments Going Out Daily

There is an extensive daily number of apples to Vancouver, New Westminster for delivery vessels loading for Great Britain and on Tuesday of this week the entire refrigerated capacity of one of the British liners was utilized to carry Okanagan apples.

This was information contained this week in the market report of E.C. Tree Fruits which stated present shipments to the United Kingdom are being timed for arrival during January and early February and shipments will continue through the first two months of the year with 15 to 20 vessels fixed to load apples during the time.

British fruit importers plan on having their Canadian purchases arrive for sale prior to mid-April so there will be no collision between the late Canadian arrivals and the early South African and New Zealand apples.

The shipments to Western Canada are falling off as the trade time the last of their early December purchases to arrive a few days before Christmas. During the next week, Tree Fruits sales representatives will be selling for arrival between Christmas and the new year or in 1955.

The eastern Canadian demand has continued spotty as there are sufficient locals to more than take care of the consumer requirements and some markets report prices as unsteady.

Approve Subdivision To Avoid Legal Snarl

To avoid involving parties to a six-year-old property transfer in a first-class legal snarl, municipal council Tuesday authorized a subdivision of property which failed to meet present sub-division requirements but were careful to note that in doing so they were not establishing a precedent.

Problem had its beginning in 1948 when Pollock Motors, now in liquidation, purchased and paid for a 25-foot lot off a 50-foot lot owned by Lloyd Shannon, north of the former garage location on Hastings. Approval of the council was not obtained before the sub-division was carried out—although it met requirements at that time—and through an oversight the deed was never registered.

Council Tuesday had a request from J. S. Aikin, administrator for Pollock Motors, asking that the council now give a belated approval to the plan so that affairs of the business can be wound up.

Problem is that sub-division regulations now require 30-foot frontage for business property but insisting that another five feet of frontage be obtained for this property wouldn't improve anything since that would leave the remaining strip only 20 feet.

In view of the fact that transaction was carried out in good faith by those concerned and that the requirements of that time had been met, the council gave it the stamp of approval "without precedent".

Teen Town Planning Carol Singing To Boost March of Dimes Total

Combined efforts of AOTS and Teen Town have brought in a total of $117 to date with $75 of this amount being collected in the Dec. 4 tagging carried out by Teen Town.

March of Dimes collection bins in stores throughout the district are expected to bring in a healthy amount to further boost the fund and target for Summerland collection this year is set at $300.

With a turnout of 65 per cent of the voters last year, Summerland led the province in the percentage voting in municipal elections but this year the attendance, although high by comparison with most municipalities, was beaten out in two or three communities. There were 1,369 on the polling list this year compared to 1,274 a year ago.

Spouse of ratepayers who registered to vote apparently did so with a purpose. Of 51 who registered before the election, 45 cast ballots.

Following is the result in the balloting for councillor:

H. J. Barkwill	525
J. R. Butler	629
Norman Holmes	418
Spilled	21

Following is result in balloting for school board:

W. A. Laidlaw	648
W. C. McCutcheon	518
Harvey Wright	444
Frank Maddocks	425
W. C. Baker	231
Spilled	26

Spilled ballots in most cases were ruled out because the voter marked "X's" in the blacked out portion of the ballot following the candidate's name instead of in the square provided to the left of each name.

Holiday Season Closing Hours

Special store hours will commence next week for the Christmas holiday season.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, stores in West Summerland will be open until 6 p.m. and on Thursday, Dec. 23, will be open until 9 p.m. Stores will close at 6 o'clock on Christmas Eve.

Store clerks will get a three-day holiday over Christmas with the stores closed Saturday (Christmas Day) Sunday and Monday. The rest of that week, stores will be open each day, including Wednesday, until 6 o'clock and will be closed for another three-day holiday on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Jan. 1, 2 and 3.

Winter closing hours will then go into effect with stores closing at 5:30 Monday to Friday and open until 8 o'clock on Saturdays.

No New Concessions In Janitor Offer

Summerland school board is not prepared to make any new concessions to janitors in the wage agreement for 1955.

Negotiation committee of the board met recently with C. E. Dods, Kelowna, business agent of the janitors' union. Representing the board was Ross McLaughlin, T. S. Manning and E. A. Tingley.

Bridge Title Retained By Trafford-Snow

For the second year, Ben Trafford and Bill Snow are Summerland's top bridge players. In the finals of the Summerland Athletic Club tourney last week, this team knocked out Alan Walker and Ralph Downing to hold the crown they won in the same competition last year.

Winners of the consolation round were Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Thompson who took a win over Nick Solly and Clare Eisey in the final match. Tournament convener Mrs. C. E. Flars reported the tournament to be highly successful from the club point of view.

LOTS OF RINKS

Kids in Edmonton should be assured of plenty of elbow room for skating this year. The parks board in that city reports 12 hockey rinks and a speed skating oval in readiness for the season. In addition to the parks rinks, the city is also served by about 40 community league rinks.

Nomination Day Set For Dec. 30

Nomination day for candidates to fill the parks board vacancy created by the death of George Woitte will be Dec. 30 and an election, if necessary will be held on Jan. 8.

The candidate chosen will be for the unexpired portion of Mr. Woitte's term which will be all but eight days of the full term. Mr. Woitte's passing came suddenly the day after he was declared re-elected by acclamation for a further two-year term on the board commencing Jan. 1.

Date for the nominations and by-election was set Tuesday by the municipal council and C. Noel Higgin was appointed returning officer and George Forster as deputy returning officer for the poll in Lakeside United Church.

Set February Date For Court of Revision

Summerland council Tuesday was advised that court of revision here will be held in the municipal hall on Feb. 4 at 10 a.m. In former years the date of this court has been set by council but this year has been scheduled by the provincial government. Appeals on both municipal and school assessments will be heard at this session with municipal appeals being heard first.

Another Truck Wheel Added to Collection

RCM Police report another addition to their collection of found articles. This is another truck tire and wheel turned in last week as company for a set already there awaiting an owner.

Latest find was picked up downtown and the owner need only identify it to recover his property.

IN HOSPITAL IN VANCOUVER

Friends of Mrs. John Menu will be sorry to learn she is a patient in a Vancouver hospital.

Second Christmas Concert

High School Band Thrills Audience With Superior Concert Performance

High School Band Tuesday night played their second annual Christmas concert to a packed auditorium and Band Director John Tamblyn and his charges once again drew plaudits from the audience for a performance of outstanding calibre.

The program ran the musical gamut and toe-tapping marches and a medley of Christmas carols proved to be particularly popular with the listeners.

A costumed choir presentation "The Nativity" provided a well-received interlude in the concert as did the exhibition by drum majorettes under the direction of Yvonne Polesello.

The program opened with the march "Event of the Day" and then followed a variety of selections: an overture, "Pacific Grandeur"; étude "Ode to Music"; march, "Champions on Parade"; fantasy "Colorama"; rhapsody "Deep River"; waltz "Waves of the Danube"; concert march "Pomp and Pageantry".

Joan Kilback appeared in a novelty vocal "All I Want for Christmas is My Two Front Teeth".

Preparing for March 'Ruddigore' Staging

Regular rehearsals are now going on as Summerland Singers and Players' club prepares for their next Gilbert and Sullivan which will be "Ruddigore" which will be staged sometime in March.

This will be the eighth in the series of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas to be presented by the local group and musical direction is again being handled by W. A. Stewart with Stan Gladwell again in the role of stage director.

While final casting for the presentation has not been completed, several who have become favorites through the previous performances will again be appearing on the bill. It is the intention of the club, as in former years, to again take the performance to Penticton and Kelowna.

BIG BUSINESS

Operating the business of the corporation of Summerland is well on its way to the "big business" classification. Council Tuesday approved accounts totalling $75,424.14.

Review To Publish Twice Next Week

An extra edition of The Review will be published next week with the regular edition to appear Tuesday afternoon for the benefit of late shoppers and on Thursday will be the annual Christmas Greeting edition.

Deadline for news and advertising for the Tuesday edition will be 5 p.m. Monday with classified ads accepted up until noon on Monday. Deadline for the Greeting edition will be 5 p.m. on Wednesday.

The following week The Review will be issued on the regular publication day.

Pay Silent Tribute To George Woitte

Municipal council Tuesday afternoon paid tribute to the memory of one of the community boards with a minute's silence at the opening of the council meeting in honor of George Woitte.

Speaking briefly of Mr. Woitte's association with the council as a member of the parks board and his activities as a leading community worker, Reeve Atkinson noted "He was certainly a good community worker and took an active part in the parks and arena project. He had the free time and used it generously on behalf of the community."

May Start Another Square Dance Class

Popularity of square dancing in Summerland has brought about the proposal of starting another series of night classes for beginners to handle the large number of aspirants who had to be turned away when the present class became filled.

The new class will be operated under the community programs branch of the provincial government.

Power Consumption Passes 600,000 Mark

Hopes that electrical consumption in Summerland might reach the 600,000 kwh mark before the end of the year were realized in November when consumption was 610,740.

Rapidity of the growth of Summerland's municipally owned electrical system can be seen from the fact that monthly consumption reached the 500,000 kwh mark for the first time only a little more than a year ago (September, 1953).

And no end of the growth seems to be in sight. At the meeting Tuesday, council approved three more applications for additional connections for S. G. Rand, W. G. Ritchie and K. E. Moyles.

Christmas Events Set Next Week

A gay round of social events has been planned for the Christmas season with parties and concerts being held by most of the churches and organizations in Summerland.

Retail Merchants' Association, along with a free matinee for kiddies on the day before Christmas, will be sponsoring the broadcast of Christmas carols starting this week-end and loud speakers will provide the music for the West Summerland district.

Board of Trade Santa Claus will be visiting the district on Christmas Eve and is scheduled to meet the junior members of the community at White and Thornthwaite's downtown at 2:00 and in West Summerland at 2:30 to 3:30 opposite the post office.

Youngsters in grades 1 to 4 at MacDonald School this week received tickets which will entitle them to receive a bag of goodies from Santa. Pre-school youngsters may obtain their tickets at Road & Pruden or White & Thornthwaite.

Retail Merchants matinee at the Rialto Theatre will commence at 1 and 3 o'clock and is for children only. The program will feature a horse opera, "Cattle Town" and "Bugs Bunny Carnival."

By-Law Necessary

Municipally-Owned Rink Favored by 63 Per Cent

By an overwhelming vote of better than 63 per cent, Summerland voters last Saturday expressed themselves in favor of the municipally taking on the Summerland arena and installing artificial ice at a cost of an estimated $62,000. Vote was 532 in favor with 322 casting ballots in opposition. There were 13 spoiled ballots.

The balloting on the referendum Saturday is not, however, the signal to start any actual transfer of work on the arena. It was only a "straw" vote to give the council an indication of the feelings of ratepayers toward the proposal. Before anything can actually be done, a by-law must be approved by the ratepayers, giving council the authority to raise the necessary money to carry out the work.

Action on the rink will not be considered by the council until probably after the first of the year. At the ratepayers' annual meeting Reeve Atkinson stated that the council would be willing to present the by-law if the referendum vote favoring it was over 60 per cent.

On Tuesday, Rink Association President C. H. Eisey appeared before the council and asked, in view of the referendum result, if the council would take early action in preparing and presenting the by-law so that work of installing artificial ice-making machinery would be completed before next season.

Reeve Atkinson told Mr. Eisey the council has not had a chance to consider the matter yet and before taking any action it would first be necessary to hold a committee meeting and also a meeting with the rink association executive. A committee meeting of councillors will not be possible to arrange before the new year.

Breakdown of the estimated $62,000 to be spent by the municipality on the arena is $24,000 to purchase the building and land from the Rink Association and $38,000 for ice-making equipment. The money paid to the rink association will be used to redeem bonds held in the association and which provided the funds for construction of the rink.

Tuesday, Mr. Eisey stated that several new estimates on the cost of installing equipment have recently been received by the Rink Association and, he said, indication is that the work can be carried out for considerably less than the estimated $38,000. "And," he added, "when we get companies bidding competitively, I think we'll see the price cut more."

Power Consumption Passes 600,000 Mark

Hopes that electrical consumption in Summerland might reach the 600,000 kwh mark before the end of the year were realized in November when consumption was 610,740.

Rapidity of the growth of Summerland's municipally owned electrical system can be seen from the fact that monthly consumption reached the 500,000 kwh mark for the first time only a little more than a year ago (September, 1953).

And no end of the growth seems to be in sight. At the meeting Tuesday, council approved three more applications for additional connections for S. G. Rand, W. G. Ritchie and K. E. Moyles.

NO TENDERS

Municipal offer to sell about 43 acres on Paradise Flat went by this week without any takers. About 15 to 18 acres of the land offered is arable. No tenders were received when the time for registering bids arrived and Municipal Clerk Gordon D. Smith reported he had only one enquiry for additional information.

Looks Like Chicken-Raising Could Even be Tougher Than Fruit Growing

Anyone thinking of going into the chicken raising business should first consult with Emmanuel Meckler of Allanco, Alta. Fred Bruloff of West Summerland passes on a clipping from the Allanco Enterprise tells of his plight.

"It's a tough proposition, trying to make money raising chickens, says Emmanuel Meckler, Allanco district farmer, especially if you ship them alive to Edmonton. He brought in his "Grading Statement" to us this week for proof! His average return per chicken (year-olds) was 10 cents, and considering that baby chicks from the

Legion Nominates 1955 Officers

With election of officers for 1955 set for the January meeting, nominations for the various offices were heard at the last meeting of Summerland Branch, Canadian Legion.

Nominated to succeed President Harry Howis, who has held this office the past two years and declined to stand again, were Nat May and George Clark with A. B. Caldwell as 1st vice-president and W. C. McCutcheon as 2nd vice-president.

Nine were proposed for the five-man executive committee. They were Ross McLaughlin, A. D. Glen, L. L. Trippe, Phil Davis, D. C. Thompson, W. Milne, Howard Shannon, J. Selinger, and Max McKechnie.

Nominees for canteen chairman were Don Turnbull and Fred Thompson; for chairmanship of social committee, D. C. Thompson and sick committee chairmanship, Harold Smith. Dave Jack was again proposed as sergeant-at-arms.

Nominated as honorary president was Dr. F. W. Andrew and as chaplain, Rev. A. A. T. Northrup.

NAME SAFETY COMMITTEE

Council Tuesday, appointed department supervisors as their nominees to a safety committee on municipal projects and employees of the municipality will meet in the near future to appoint their own representatives. Council nominees are Ken Blagburn, Les Gould and George Graham. The committee is required by workmen's compensation board.

Relics of a civilization 4,000 years old have been found in Canada's far north by an expedition searching for evidence of Eskimo communities of 2,000 years ago. Dr. Jorgen Meldgaard of Denmark was searching for remnants of what is known as the Dorset Eskimo civilization when he unearthed a treasure of artifacts 200 miles inside the Arctic circle. The findings suggest that temperatures there were once much warmer than they are at present.

Christmas Shopping a Headache? Let Your Friendly Local Shopkeepers Help

The city slicker was chatting with the native sitting on the rail fence and watching the traffic roll by.

"I couldn't stand living out here. You don't see anything. Now, I'm on the move all of the time!"

The fence-rider shifted to a more comfortable stance and drawled—"I can't see much difference in what I'm doin' an' what you're doin' . . . I sit on the fence and watch the autos go by. Reckon it's just the way you look at things."

A restaurant keeper noticed that some of his customers annexed the current day's paper for an irritating long time. He hit on this little piece of sarcasm.

Prominently displayed on the walls was the announcement: "Those learning to read are requested to use yesterday's papers."

One sweet thing to another: "I like men who make things. Like Mr. Potter. He made $50,000 last year."

The Santa Myth . . . time for a true evaluation

NEXT week we will celebrate the most important festival of the Christian year and we believe the time has come when we should reassess our values and bring back into perspective the festival which commemorates the birth of Our Saviour.

We have watched in recent years an acceleration of the deterioration of Christmas celebrations until it now has become only a day when children rush from the beds to see what was left them by a mythical white-whiskered man in a red suit and for adults a season of roistering and gluttony.

And in this way we commemorate the birth of Jesus Christ.

We believe that much of the fault lies in early training and in bringing children up in the belief that Santa Claus is the central figure in the Christmas story. This is a myth condemned by psychiatrists on psychiatric grounds; we condemn it on moral grounds. To a child, the spirit of Christmas is "Please, Santa, give me a train, give me skates, give me a bicycle, give me, give me, give me!" That there is a religious connotation to the day is a mere unimportant side issue to the main "give-me" feature.

The true spirit of Christmas is giving—and in giving we honor Christ by emulating the virtue of unselfishness which he characterized throughout his life. How can children ever learn the spirit of giving in a "Santa-Claus" Christmas?

The true story of Christmas—of a babe, born in the stable of a crowded inn, who rose to be King of Men—is the tenderest, most compelling and most thought-provoking conceivable, yet we have traded it for a shoddy fantasy of a fat little man from the North Pole who climbs down chimneys to distribute largesse to children. And we go on telling children this story knowing full well that they will one day discover they have been led up the garden path—and discovery will come at an age when it is most important that they have implicit faith in what they are told by their parents. It's no wonder psychiatrists condemn it.

If children are taught that at Christmas they give presents to those whom they love to commemorate the acts of the Three Wise Men who brought to a manger in Bethlehem gifts for One whom they loved, then they are learning a true evaluation of Christmas and at the same time a lesson in citizenship.

We find nothing wrong with the exchange of gifts at Christmas because it commemorates a part of the story of The Birth nor do we advocate outlawing the Santa myth—but let us keep it as a myth. Kids get just as big a kick out of pretense even when they know that it is all it is and Christmas will cease to be a big build-up for a colossal disillusionment.

Let us make the celebration of Christmas the kind of festival He would want it to be.

Let's Get Going . . . a clear mandate for action

LAST Saturday the people of Summerland spoke out almost two to one in favor of the municipality taking over the arena and installing artificial ice. Actually it comes as no surprise that the vote should be so heavily in favor of the project. Summerland has become noted throughout the country for its high level of community spirit and it can be expected that its people will get behind any move that means more or better services for the community.

The council now have a clear mandate to go ahead and present a by-law to raise the funds necessary to carry out this work. It is hoped it will lose no time in getting started. It will not be possible to complete the ice installation to give any skating this season but there is ample time to present the by-law to the ratepayers and have the plant installed in plenty of time before next winter rolls around.

It comes as welcome news from the Rink Association that recent estimates on installing ice-making equipment indicate that the work can be carried out for much less than the previous estimate of $38,000. The less the capital outlay on the project, the greater the chance that the rink when operating will pay its own way and Summerland will have its arena without any cost to the ratepayers.

Open Secrets

At the request of a national magazine, I spent yesterday interviewing the executive vice-president of a new oil company that has been opening service stations in Eastern Canada at a rate that makes your head swim. The editor wrote: "The petroleum industry was supposed to be so highly competitive that a newcomer in the field wouldn't have a chance. Yet this man organized a new company, found the money to finance it, and is obviously making a thumping success of it. Find out what kind of a man he is. Try to nail down his personal philosophy and give our readers a glimpse of his success secrets. If you have difficulty getting in to see him, wire me and I'll try to arrange it from here."

I had no difficulty getting into see this man. I had him on the telephone personally within ten minutes. I read the letter from the editor to him. His exact words were: "Come on over, but you'll be disappointed—so will many of your readers. I have some secrets, but they're open secrets."

The first thing I discovered about this man was his blunt honesty. He says precisely what he means. In the course of the day, I asked him what he weighed. He said, "Well, now . . . it's quite a while since I weighed myself . . . but I usually run around 145 pounds."

Quick as a wink, a public relations man on his staff suggested "You'd better make that 155 pounds." He smiled. "The other sounds a bit—small."

"Just a minute there," said the executive vice-president. "If I weigh 145 pounds—that's what I weigh! And I see no special virtue in bulk!"

A slight thing to judge a man by? Maybe—but when you've interviewed as many men as I have you discover that it is on such areas that you are able to separate the phonies from the real men. This man was no phoney!

"About success secrets," he said, "I hate to rehash what everybody else says. But the fact is, most of the copy-book maxims are true. The man who stops merely paying lip service to these truths, and starts to act on them, is sure to succeed."

"Take the well-known saying that Canada is a land of opportunity. It is true. But how many act on it? Our company is merely a symbol of the truth that this is a land of opportunity. I was told, when I started this company, that it didn't have a chance—that the big fellows would squeeze us out. I didn't believe it. Not as long as we have freedom. In a free economy the newcomer always has a chance if he has faith in his freedom. Bigness carries its own discipline. The newcomer can act more quickly, often more efficiently. Everybody knows these secrets—too few have the faith to act on them!"

Mid-Week Message

Therefore, as ye abound in every thing, in faith, and utterance, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love to us, see that ye abound in this grace also. (II Corinthians 8:7.) Read II Corinthians 8:1-5.

Why is it that so many never discover that it is more blessed to give than to receive?

The Corinthian church did. The Christians in Corinth gave until their hearts were overflowing with blessings. What was their secret? They first gave themselves to the Lord. Having done that first, the giving of time and talents and treasure was easy because it was out of love that they gave. Despite their poverty they gave. No one was hurt; everyone was helped.

The church was helped. It was strengthened to carry on its greatest of all tasks. Paul was helped; it encouraged his heart. The Corinthian Christians were helped—in grace and in faith, in their witness, and in their love. What a day it will be when Christians learn the joy of both living and giving!

PRAYER

Our Father, fulfill in us Thy great commandment—to love Thee with all our heart, mind, and strength. Create in us hearts that show that love by giving of self, of time, of money for Thy work and the Kingdom's. For our Redeemer's sake, who taught His disciples to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

TEEN TOWN NEWS

Last week the Teen Town meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford. More plans were made for our "Blue Fantasy" Christmas Dance which is on December 27.

There is going to be a buffet supper at 12:00 with lots of good things to eat.

Decorations are now being planned with Dwaine Greer in charge. The decorating will be done by Teen Town members on December 26.

If you're planning to bring your friend to this dance (and I hope you are) the admission will be $1.00, and if you're coming stag it is 60c.

Teen Town members will be carolling on December 23 from 7:30 to about 9:30, so don't forget to have your porch light on for us. All proceeds will be sent to the March of Dimes.

All those that are going carolling are asked to be at the Bowladrome before 7:00 p.m.

That seems to be all the news for this week but don't forget the dance on the 27th.

Christmas Theme ...

St. Andrew's Service Club Elects Mrs. Colin Campbell President

"God's Perfect Gift" was the theme of the Christmas program at St. Andrew's Service Club on Monday evening. Mrs. E. E. Bates was leader for the presentation with Miss Evelyn Bird, soloist for Chown Memorial Church, giving a captivating rendition of "I Wonder as I Wander" and "Rocker", while Mrs. Shirley Letts lovely voice was heard to advantage in "Holy Night."

Blending charmingly in a double trio were the voices of Mrs. Joan Zimmerman, Miss Christine Mair, Mrs. H. Milley, Mrs. S. Blazekko, Mrs. J. P. Sheeley and Mrs. Ken Boothe in the selections, "Jesus is Born" and "A Christmas Hymn." Mrs. George Washington, Mrs. A. Gronlund and Mrs. D. S. Chapman joined the choir for the selection "Angels from the Realms of Glory" and all joined in the Christmas hymns, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "O Come All Ye Faithful."

Scripture reading was given by Mrs. W. B. Powell, with Mrs. J. P. Tamblin and Mrs. L. F. Haggman presenting the meditation. Mrs. R. D. Dunham was pianist and Mrs. J. C. Wilcox closed the program with prayer.

Main business of the evening was the election of officers which resulted in Mrs. Colin Campbell being chosen as President for the ensuing year. Other officers elected were 1st Vice-president, Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, 2nd Vice-president Mrs. J. H. Holman, Secretary Mrs. Joan Zimmerman, with Miss Louise Atkinson being returned to the position of Treasurer.

Mrs. George Washington, retiring President, welcomed the new officers and graciously thanked the officers and members who had worked with her during her two year term of office. Mrs. Colin Campbell, the incoming President, in a few well-chosen words, thanked the members for their confidence in electing her to the position and pledged her best efforts for the coming year.

It was reported that ten parcels of clothing had been sent to Korea since the previous meeting, also one to the Burnaby Girls' Home and one is ready to be sent to First United Church in Vancouver.

A very gratifying report was given by the Treasurer, Miss Louise Atkinson, on the bazaar held recently. Disbursement of funds was authorized to the Board of Stewards, the Manse Committee and also to the Sunday School to assist with the Christmas party.

Arrangements were made for packing hampers for Christmas on Monday afternoon, December 20th, donations to be left at the Family Shoe Store on Saturday or at the Church on Sunday morning.

The festive season was also evident in the delightful refreshments served by a committee convened by Mrs. James Marshall.

Local Missionary Now Serving in Cuba

Miss Mable Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Henderson, and former owner of the Maywood Photo Studio, graduated from the Bible School at Springfield, Missouri, last spring, later serving as a deaconess and secretary for two months at a church at Wallaceburg, Ont.

Recently she has been called to Cuba where she is a missionary at Nuévitás. She has been working with Mr. and Mrs. Andres Roman who started this work less than a year ago. She may be a co-worker with Miss Maxine Richardson, formerly of Vancouver, whom she has known for a number of years, and who is in the Cuban mission field.

The language is Spanish there and Miss Henderson is busy studying it.

You operate the handle at the side to move your toy cars along the moving belt inside the Car Wash. At the same time a water pump sprays water from the roof to wash each car as it moves through. When empty, you just refill the water tank at the side.

Looks like, works like a real Car Wash

You'll have loads of fun lining up the many toy cars you get along with your Car Wash ... running them up to the ramp, under the water pump and out the other side! Then you give them a wipe with a piece of cloth Mom will give you. You can wash 30 big cars or 60 small ones with every tankful of water! You'll be all ready then to operate this dandy Car Wash ... and wash your pals' toy cars too, when they come over to play with you.

FREE With every Car Wash we'll send you a bag containing approximately 40 plastic toy cars (all kinds—cars, trucks, buses) absolutely free ... They're yours free so you can start right in operating your Car Wash like a real, busy washing station. Hurry, get yours to-day. Mail this coupon Now!

Slack, drapable black wool broadcloth is used for a handsome long jacket suit, worn with a low-necked black satin blouse. It is a perfect choice for smart afternoon or informal theatre wear. The draped neckline is caught in to three-button tab and the very low-placed pockets serve to accentuate the long slim look, of which the slim skirt is a part.

2571 If you are going to make calls at Christmas . . .

- The custom of calling at Christmas has long been a popular one . . . and with each passing year we find that more and more people use the telephone as their friendly, personal way of "visiting" with distant friends or relatives . . . they have found that a Long Distance call can be the nicest gift of all . . .

- The vast flood of Canada-wide calling on Christmas Day becomes so great that Telephone Companies find it a physical impossibility to complete all Christmas calls on that day . . . as a result, many calls to points outside of our system are often subject to delay . . .
- As an alternative to calling on Christmas day, may we suggest—that you place your Long Distance call when things are less hectic . . . say, on Sunday, December 26th, or "after six" on any evening during the Christmas week—your "visit" by phone will be just as welcome then and you will still enjoy the low-holiday calling rates . . . Just call Long Distance—we'll do the rest! (Calls within our system will be completed on Christmas Day, of course.)

Local Interest Focused On New Intermediate Loop

Interest is growing in the new Okanagan intermediate hockey league and with the entry of Kelowna last night, four teams will be competing in the loop. Five Summerland players are on the roster of the Penticton team and the new league is being watched with enthusiasm in Summerland. With the strong likelihood now of artificial ice in the Summerland arena next year, plans are already being laid for the entry of a local team next season which will provide scheduled games of high-quality amateur hockey featuring local talent.

First match of the new schedule was played last night in Vernon with the home-town players taking the edge over Penticton.

Sparkplug for the league has been Summerland's George Stoll who is vice-president of the league. He is also secretary-manager of the combined Summerland-Penticton entry in the league. President of this team executive is Louis Burnell.

Vernon will play a return game with the Summerland-Penticton team on Sunday afternoon in the Penticton arena.

The Hi Life

By MARIE GRONLUND Tomorrow is the last day of school in 1954. Tomorrow night is also the night for the big senior Christmas banquet and dance. Even Santa Claus will be there and a turkey sounds inviting enough to me. A great deal of work has been put into this affair and a good turnout is necessary. All seniors are asked to be sure and attend.

the Rockettes and the Penticton Ladies Association was played in the gym. The Rockettes lost the game by one point, the score being 17-16. It was the first game they have lost this year. Let's hope it is the last one too.

Last Friday, an inter-house track meet was held in the gymnasium. This was the most successful track meet ever staged with school spirit reaching a new high. Let's keep it up, kids! The results of this track meet were:

Gamma 49, Omega 31, Delta 29 and Sigma 23.

I hope everyone enjoyed the band concert. We sure have a band to be proud of, thanks to Mr. Tamblyn. He has performed miracles around this school and I would like to take this opportunity to thank him, on behalf of the band members, and the rest of the students.

The first edition of the Campus Chaff went on sale today. It was filled to overflow with news and gossip for and about SHS. If you haven't bought yours yet, be sure you get yours tomorrow.

I guess that is all the news for this week and this year. Merry Christmas everyone!

Considering New Proposal On Taking Over Arena

Although no details have been announced, a new proposal which will permit the municipality to take over the arena at an outlay substantially below the $62,000 proposed in the recent referendum was reported discussed last night at a meeting of the municipal council and the executive of the Summerland Rink Association.

Asked this morning for a statement, Reeve F. E. Atkinson said the council has put up a proposition to the Rink Association which seems workable from both points of view but no definite action can be taken until a legal opinion has been obtained from municipal legal adviser, J. S. Aikins.

Reeve Atkinson stated a meeting has been arranged with Mr. Aikins for next Tuesday and a statement on the new proposal will be made at the council meeting on Tuesday afternoon.

The proposition which received approval of ratepayers in the referendum two weeks ago was for the raising of $62,000 to purchase the rink from the Summerland Rink Association at a cost of $24,000 and installing artificial ice making equipment at a cost of $38,000. The referendum, however, does not give the council authority to raise the money to carry out the project. Approval of a bylaw by ratepayers is first necessary before this can be done.

It is understood the Rink Association executive is in accord with the new proposal of the council to make financing of the project easier. Said Rink Association President C. H. Elsey, "Our main objective is to provide the youngsters of the district with ice for their winter sports and naturally we are agreeable to any workable proposition that will help accomplish that end."

Intermediate League Schedule Now Drawn

Schedule for the new Okanagan intermediate hockey league has now been drawn up and the combined Summerland-Penticton will play in 12 matches in the four-team loop. There will be six home games played in Penticton and six games away. The first home game is in Penticton tonight.

Summerland players on the combined team are Gordie Taylor, Fred Kato, Bill Eyre, and Al Hooker. George Stoll, is team manager.

Over 70 Attend

Senior Citizens Guests at Party Staged By Local Organizations

Faith Rebekah Lodge, Summerland Rotarians and Oddfellows combined last Wednesday night to entertain senior citizens of the district at a Christmas party and more than 70 sat down to a turkey dinner in the IOOF Hall and later enjoyed a program of entertainment.

A varied program of entertainment included a sing-song of Christmas carols and films.

Idea for the entertainment originated with the Rebekah Lodge and Rotarians then offered to donate the turkeys and Oddfellows offered to arrange films and provide transportation to and from the party for the guests.

Heading the committee for arrangements was Mrs. Walter Bleasdale, assisted by Mrs. John Caldwell, Mrs. Marvin Henker, Mrs. A. G. Bisset, and Mrs. F. E. Atkinson. Present to welcome the oldsters to the event was Reeve F. E. Atkinson.

New Assessments Out Next Week

Assessment notices for the first time under the assessment equalization act will be going out to Summerland property owners next week, and generally the assessments on improvements will be higher. This does not, however, mean that taxes will be higher. In all likelihood, mill rate will be reduced to offset the increase in assessment.

Anticipating misunderstandings that will arise when the new assessment notices are received, Premier Bennett this week issued a statement to outline what the government is trying to accomplish with the equalization of assessments.

Following is the text of the premier's statement:

"The policy of this government is to equalize the burden of local school taxes by ensuring that uniform, as well as equitable assessments are established and, wherever possible, to reduce the dollar tax burden on the small residential and farming real property owner."

"To achieve this end, fiscal measures will be recommended to the legislature at its next session which will ensure that, on the whole, insofar as school costs are concerned, there will be no increase in the amount of tax dollars payable by property owners in 1955. It is also anticipated that these measures, when approved, will prove of material assistance to municipalities, enable a decrease in their over-all local tax burden, and alleviate the tax burden on residential property owners."

The Summerland Review

Instead of waiting until midnight of Dec. 25, Santa Claus made a special trip to see four-year-old Marie Medvezky of Bay City, Mich. The pose that he has adopted here suggests that he came not only to list what she wanted for Christmas, but remind her that if he is to visit her at all on Christmas eve, she must be a good little girl.

Retail Sales Up

Community in Gay Holiday Spirit To Greet Great Festive Occasion

Sands of Christmas shopping time are rapidly running out but with three big days still ahead, indications are that Summerland Christmas stockings will bulge as they never have before.

Christmas parties by churches and various organizations in the district have helped generate the Christmas spirit but the weatherman holds out few hopes that dreams of a white Christmas are likely to be fulfilled.

To aid shoppers, usual Wednesday closing will not apply this week and stores will remain open until 6 o'clock. The next night (Thursday) stores will open until 9 o'clock but clerks will get some time for their own last minute preparations on Friday with stores closing at 6 p.m.

Friday afternoon has been set aside for the entertainment of small fry. Two free shows have been arranged by Retail Merchants Association—the first at 1 and the second at 3. Films being shown are Cattle Town and Bugs Bunny Carnival.

Timed to fit in with show times, Santa Claus will swoop down from his North Pole retreat and arrive downtown opposite White & Thornthwaite's garage at 2 o'clock. After greeting youngsters in that district and distributing bags of candy, he will head for West Summerland and a repeat performance opposite the post office at 2:30.

The visit of Santa is being sponsored by the Board of Trade and treat tickets have already been distributed to the youngsters at MacDonald School. Tickets for preschoolers may be obtained at White & Thornthwaite or Read & Pruden.

Merchants throughout the district report higher Christmas sales and indications are that much of the increase comes from the fact that residents are becoming increasingly aware that values and selections are as good and better in Summerland than in the nearby larger centers and more and more are doing their shopping in their home community.

Christmas parties and concerts have been held throughout last week by churches and various organizations of the district. Most of the women's organizations have held their final meetings of the year with them taking the form of Christmas parties.

Legion Branch Plans New Year Welcome

Veterans and their friends "on New Year's Eve" will welcome in the new year with their annual frolic at the Legion Hall. Legion Committee in charge has extended a welcome to all veterans to join in the gay get-together.

The program will feature dancing from 9 to 2 with refreshments and other entertainment features are planned as well.

Judge Christmas Decorative Schemes At Horticultural Society Meeting

Three contestants copped all the honors in Summerland Horticultural Society Christmas decoration competition at their regular meeting on Friday evening. Decorative arrangements were divided into three groups—table, door and mantle—and Mrs. A. D. Wilson, Mrs. Alex Inch and Mrs. W. C. Gallop captured all the honors.

In the table class, Mrs. Wilson was awarded first place for her arrangement of silvered ivy-leaves and tendrils and bright Christmas ornaments around a white candle in a rectangular container. Mrs. Inch also used the single candle theme—with it in the centre of a circular grouping of green and a red flower—for her entry which was awarded second prize.

Mrs. Inch copped first place with her door decoration while Mrs. Gallop was second. In the mantle competition, Mrs. Gallop placed first with Mrs. Wilson second.

Also on the program for the evening were Nat May with his "Timely Topics", and Miss Doreen Tait who showed films taken while on a trip to Ontario with her father, Magnus Tait, as well as a num-

Name Appointees To Court of Revision

By order-in-council, Reeve F. E. Atkinson, Councillor H. J. Barkwill and Councillor J. R. Butler have been appointed to the court of revision for the Municipality of Summerland and School District No. 77. Reeve Atkinson will be chairman.

The court of revision will sit to hear appeals against assessments of land and improvements on February 4 at 10 a.m. in the municipal hall.

The appointments to the court are made this year for the first time by the provincial government and also for the first time, members will be remunerated for their services. Each member will receive $25 per day and expenses while sitting on the court.

Appointments were made from a list of recommendations by the council.

Alert Merchant Foils Youthful Pair Bent On Christmas Shoplifting Spree

Special Services At St. Stephen's

Special Communion Services will mark the Christmas week-end at St. Stephen's Anglican Church. Communion will be served on Friday night—Christmas Eve—at 11:45 p.m. and again at 9:30 o'clock Christmas morning.

On Sunday, Dec. 26, Communion will be served at 8 a.m. and at 7:30 that evening will be a carol service and sermon.

New Year Frolic At Youth Centre Again This Year

Following success of events of previous years, Summerland Youth Centre again this year will sponsor their popular New Year's Eve dance in the Youth Centre. The holiday frolic has become increasingly popular and is rapidly becoming the big event of the season for Summerland merrymakers.

This year the Youth Centre is bringing from Kelowna Derek De Graaf and his orchestra for the frolic. This orchestra enjoys a reputation of being the finest dance band in the Orchard City.

Committee in charge under Dr. D. V. Fisher has planned for a bigger and better effort to date to make sure the New Year gets a traditional Summerland welcome and refreshments and gay novelties will be included on the program.

Popularity of the year-end event is getting around and the committee reports reservations in for parties from outside points.

Primarily, though, the party was originally planned to give Summerland residents a chance to celebrate the big night of the year in their own community instead of having to travel to outside points. Attendance at the previous functions has proven that it fills a popular want.

Points out the committee, there's another reason for attending a local celebration beside supporting hometown activities: "People are likely to live longer if they avoid driving any distance on that particular night."

Entertain Dancers From Penticton Class

Summerland and Penticton night classes of square dancers joined forces in Summerland on Thursday night for a session to mark the end of classes until after the new year.

Honored during the evening was instructor Les Boyer who was presented with a pair of gloves and Mrs. Boyer was recipient of a corsage of red carnations.

Summerland president George Washington voiced a welcome to the Penticton visitors and expressed the appreciation of the club to Les Boyer for his patient instruction.

Fuss But No Facts Over Unemployment

A statistic can be pretty cold comfort to a man without a job. And yet it is impossible to judge the seriousness of the unemployment situation at Vancouver without some accurate figures which curiously enough have been totally lacking in the existing uproar at the Coast.

People are said to be destitute in the metropolis and soup kitchens are reported being set up by various agencies several months earlier than a year ago. The labor unions are vigorously protesting the situation and the Vancouver City Council is preparing to dispatch a representative to Ottawa.

The unfortunate alderman so chosen would be wise to prepare his case with care. Ottawa is sure to demand the facts before parting with the taxpayers' money and the ordinary citizens of this province, who are certainly sympathetic to any real emergency, would like to know too.

Precisely what is the situation? Much of British Columbia's activities are seasonal in nature and always will be. Are these unemployed, apart from the tragic flotsam and jetsam of a great city, people who have suffered the usual layoffs after a record high season in fisheries, excellent rate of lumber production and manufacturing, and continuing boom level of construction? Any unemployed from Kitimat, where wages were extraordinarily generous, can hardly expect public handouts so soon.

Elsewhere in the province, conditions generally are good. In Vernon, for instance, unemployment is appreciably less than a year ago.

Unemployment is rapidly becoming a word which immediately rouses intense feelings and in such a situation calm reason is likely to be brushed aside. Every Canadian has the fullest sympathy for the plight of genuinely unemployed men and women. The puzzling fact remains, though, that conditions generally are good. Production levels are being maintained and national income is high.

Why, then, this peculiar situation at Vancouver, and why all the fuss without the most meagre supporting facts?—Vernon News.

Working out well

Premier Bonnett in effect congratulated the people of B.C. when he expressed satisfaction with the way the no liquor act was working out. An abstainer himself, his observations carry that much more weight in this connection, since he would not be prone to gloss over any undesirable tendencies. In point of fact of course the public has behaved with commendable restraint.

Once having declared its preference for a new system to broaden the base of liquor sale and consumption and thus dilute the evils of the old system, the public has taken the new forms of outlet in its stride. The prophets of disaster have been confounded by innate good sense of the people. It is a pleasure to be able to say this, a testimony to the basic sobriety of British Columbia and proof that even in this western outpost the graces of social living could be observed equally well as they are in older lands.

It remains only for the public to continue the pattern of moderation, and for the liquor board to keep a sharp eye out for infraction on the part of licence holders. There never was any doubt that British Columbians could comport themselves respectably, but it is nice to have proof of this made so clear. Minor irritations there are bound to be, both with respect to consumption and administration, but on the whole, the new system is, as the premier notes, working out well. Let us keep it that way.—Kelowna Courier.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER TWENTY-FIRST, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-FOUR

Christmas Story . . . in a manger, our king of kings

LUKE 2, 1:14—And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was Governor of Syria.

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David).

To be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was that, while they were there the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there was in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be the sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel, a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord has made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph and the babe, lying in a manger.

MATTHEW 2, 1:14 Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the King, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem.

Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

When Herod the King had heard these things, he was troubled and all Jerusalem with him.

And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea: for thus it is written by the prophet.

And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Judea, art not the least among the princes of Judea: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.

And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him bring me word again that I may go and worship him also.

When they heard the king, they departed: and lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

When they saw the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down and worshipped him; and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts: gold, frankincense and myrrh.

And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

And when they departed, behold the angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there until I bring thee word: for Herod will seek the young child to destroy him.

When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night and departed into Egypt.

Job For Someone . . . we hope it won't go begging

HERE is a job open in Summerland which should prove a real challenge to some community-minded citizen. The man who takes it on will find it calls for lots of work and plenty of criticism, the reward is the intangible one of being privileged to serve the community and he will be hard pressed to fill the shoes of his predecessor.

Colorful Christmas

Christmas is a colorful season; it comes at a time when the world, or our part of it, has lost all its natural colors and is blanketed with a pall of snow. The variety of colored lights with which the main streets are festooned and the shop windows are decorated transform the hard and drab realities of the city into fairyland. The sight of an illuminated Christmas Tree, laden with colorful gifts, transported Charles Dickens into the bright Arabian Nights, and he exclaimed: "Oh, now all common things become uncommon. All lamps are wonderful; all rings are talismans. Common flower-pots are full of treasure. Trees are for All Baba to hide in." The star at the top of the tree reminds him of the Star of Bethlehem, he is with the shepherds listening to the angels' song and following the star-led Wise Men to the lowly manger where they offer rich gifts to the new-born Saviour of the World.

Yes, it is all make-believe, but we need more than ever something to make us believe, to be reminded that there is a spiritual and eternal world in and beyond this brief mundane life of ours. There is an enchantment about Christmas which has the power to vividly recall the past, peer into the future and bring eternity into the present. The flaming amber signal light on the platform of the Toronto Subway always fascinates me. In a rapid transition I am back over the years to the home of my boyhood gazing into the fire on Christmas Eve. I was a fire-worshipper in those days, and gazing into the glowing coal I saw pictures of strange countries, of vast tropical forests, caves and canyons and high mountains, which would suddenly disappear as the burning coal collapsed in the grate.

Christmas with its bright colors makes poets of us all. It was the colors of the rainbow that made a poet of Wordsworth when he sang:

"My heart leaps up when I behold
A rainbow in the sky:
So was it when my life began;
So is it now I am a man;
So be it when I shall grow old,
Or let me die!

The child is father of the man;
And I could wish my days to be Bound each to each by natural piety.

That could be said or sung about the colorful season of Christmas, which takes us back to the simple faith, and wonder of childhood—a faith and a wonder that were born into our world with the Christ Child.

The Lighter Side

The lady of the house summoned a TV serviceman to fix the set. Spreading out his tools, the repairman inquired, "What seems to be the trouble?"

Replied the little woman, "Well for one thing, all the programs are lousy!"

Finding she tired quickly a woman decided to weigh herself. As she stepped off the scales her husband eyed her appraisingly and asked: "Well, what's the verdict? A little over-weight?"

"Oh, no," said his wife. "But according to that height table on the scales I should be about six inches taller!"

Ane job is on the parks board and anyone interested must file application before Dec. 30 — that is when nominations for the by-election close.

It is unlikely there will be any candidates campaigning for nomination — it's not the kind of a job people go looking for — so it is hoped that friends of those known to be qualified will make an effort to persuade them to permit nomination.

Management of parks in Summerland has developed into a fair-sized proposition and the community has been fortunate in having on the board men who have been willing to give generously of time and effort to provide the district with attractive and well-equipped recreation areas. The parks board job is one that is never finished because the more facilities added to areas under its direction, the more work that is involved in upkeep and maintenance. And the scope of its responsibility is being continually broadened.

Summerland ratepayers have been showing a very keen interest in the management of municipal affairs. Elections during the past couple of years have seen a good field of candidates offering for vacancies on community boards and all candidates have been men of exceptionally high qualifications. They have been rewarded by the keen interest ratepayers have shown with a high-percentage attendance at the polls.

In providing many of the recreational facilities in the community, the parks board is doing an important job. Recent discussions have shown the people of this community are keenly interested in the recreational life of the district. It is hoped this interest will be sufficiently alive that they will individually make it a point, even during this busy holiday season to make sure the job doesn't go begging for the lack of candidates.

Mid-Week Message

. . . they saw the young child with Mary, his mother, and fell down and worshipped him. (Matthew 2).

Christmas reminds us of our Creator and our God, that we are not alone in the world. We can't shrug it off, even if we want to. God came to men at Bethlehem and He comes to us now, "stabbing our souls broad awake", compelling us to consider Him, and ourselves in the light of His presence.

The Shepherds and the Wisemen came searching and found that God was seeking them. God seeks men yet, today, here, now. God seeks entrance into our lives, not just into the quiet moments but into the midst of our anxiety, our strivings and our carelessness. He will not be content with a nodding acquaintance or with polite recognition by once-a-year whispering of a creed or with a few moments of carolling. God seeks to possess us completely and always. We will never be content unless He does.

God's seeking may be in a strange way. It was that way in the long ago. A star, angels, a manger, a baby, these were the ways of God. Men looked for a display of pomp and power but instead simplicity and weakness were God's messengers.

Does Christmas remind us of God, His search for us and make us pause to worship? If Christmas does this for us then the sky will seem aglow with radiance, the heavenly host will sweep into our vision, there will be songs in the air which fall from no human lips. If we do not know such moments, then alas for the meagreness of our inner lives. But if we enter upon these high moods, in our souls God In Christ will be with us.

Of Many Things

Important Difference

Myron Kuzych, the Vancouver welder engaged in an heroic court struggle against expulsion from his union, writes me to take issue with a column I wrote some time ago. I had written that I thought he was on the wrong track in denouncing prosperous union leaders for driving Cadillac and smoking fat cigars. I stated that in my opinion, a good union leader should get good pay; and that if the working man became a cheapskate about paying for good leadership, he would be foolish.

Mr. Kuzych was particularly annoyed at my statement, "Only a hypocrite would claim that he does not want to drive a Cadillac."

I think the trouble arose because he felt that I was calling him a hypocrite. I do not for one moment believe that he is. He writes:

"Cigars and Cadillac denote merit (of a kind) only in the entrepreneur, they are useless ostentatious encumbrances denoting nothing but mediocrity in a union leader.

For this reason while cigars and Cadillac may ordinarily have little or nothing to do with Unionism, union cigars and union Cadillac—that is cigars and Cadillac bought and paid for with the money exacted and extorted by means of compulsion and coercion implicit in Union Security—have everything to do with Unionism. They are but two of the many shibboleths by which all intelligent union members can detect a so-called 'union leader' turned labor-merchandizing-entrepreneur.

"That is a hypocrite!"

Not being a union member this subject is somewhat beyond me. Naturally I agree with Mr. Kuzych that Cadillac and cigars bought with somebody else's hard-earned money, and not earned by some service of one's own, but with the money wrung from the long-suffering and practically defenceless dues-payers, could well be marks of the hypocrite. Certainly union members should be free to criticize, and to put careful checks upon their leaders so that misuse of funds can be punished. But to my mind, that is not the real issue. The real issue is the right of every worker to join or not to join a union of his own choice. Getting cigars and Cadillac mixed into the argument doesn't seem to do anything but confuse the issue.

Certainly I did not deliberately set out to ascribe to Mr. Kuzych a view which he neither expressed nor implied. While he and I are certainly not in total agreement, I sympathize with his fight to regain his membership in the Boiler Maker's Industrial Union and his right to work as a free man. I should imagine that many a rank-and-file union member hopes that he will win a resounding victory. My only complaint against him is this. He has discovered that union leaders are far from being saints; but he still seems to harbor the notion that success in business, and the acquiring of wealth, requires imposing social misery on others.

'One-eyed monsters'

The Chilliwack Progress, in its current issue, asks this question: "Whatever happened to the old-time headlight tests police used to make in the road checks?"

That's a good question. "There are more one-eyed monsters on the road now than at any time in history. There are cars with practically no light, cars with lights pointing up into the sky, cars with blinding lights. In a good many cases, it's obvious the drivers of these vehicles don't know what a menace they are."

We don't know the situation in the Fraser Valley, but certainly throughout the Okanagan the police have been very active in recent weeks on conducting tests. Despite these efforts too many drivers seem to operate on the principle that they are unlikely to get caught, for assuredly the situation is bad in the Okanagan, too. A drive of any distance on the main highways will reveal the truth of the Progress' statements.

On a recent trip home from Kelowna at dusk, no less than three of these "one-eyed monsters" were encountered, most of them of a vintage that should long ago have consigned them to the scrap heap.

If the only solution is more road checks by the police and an even sterner crackdown, by all means the authorities should detail sufficient officers and vehicles. The dangerous winter driving scene is almost with us and hazards of snow and ice are quite enough without hot rodders and jalopies to contend with.—Vernon News.

Clever Cooking . . .

'Tis the week before Christmas

When everybody knows,
There is much to be done
So keep on your toes.

It is indeed the good manager who accomplishes all the extra tasks about her home during those flying days just before Christmas and at the same time keeps the regular family routine running smoothly. One thing that has to be done as usual each day is to prepare three meals and this is where the capable manager reveals her attributes for she will not only plan simple meals but will enlist extra help from the family. No one should mind in the least if the meals are somewhat plainer than usual, in fact, it will put everyone in a true Christmas mood if they feel that they are sacrificing in lieu of the festive preparations, and moreover they will be glad to share in preparing some of the meals and in washing the dishes.

There are several ways of saving time and effort in connection with pre-Christmas meals. One is to get in a large enough supply of food so that there will be little or no need to run to the corner store or call the butcher or take a market basket to the self-service shop for more supplies during the week. The amount of food which can be laid in depends of course on the storage space there is in the kitchen cupboards, refrigerator and so on.

Breakfast with most families does not change from one day to the next, so during the week before Christmas it will be much as usual. It is the other two meals, dinner and lunch or supper that can be made different at this busy time. With dinner, as far as the meat course goes, there are several ways of taking short cuts. The roast you buy can be larger than usual so that it can be served at an extra dinner of two, finally perhaps ending up as a big panful of tasty hash for supper. With a larger roast the point is to make enough gravy to last as long as the roast does. Another meat suggestion is to make a large potful of stew, cooking all the meat together and then the two or three times the stew is going to be served adding freshly cooked vegetables. A double size meat loaf, enough to serve the family at least twice, is another way to save time and effort in preparing for dinner. Then too, there are the meats which can be very quickly cooked, for example, liver and bacon, hamburger and sausages. If the meat is being cooked in the oven it is a good idea to cook the whole dinner in the oven—for instance along with a meat loaf, bake some potatoes, scallop a can of tomatoes and bake a custard of fruit pudding.

Vegetables are one food that should be cooked fresh for each meal and here is where some of the teenage members of the family come into the picture. The main thing is to have a supply of vegetables such as carrots, turnips, potatoes and onions in the house ready for them to go to work on. At this busy time an assortment of canned vegetables on the pantry shelf or of frozen vegetables in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator or in the home freezer is a real boon to be sure.

As for the dessert, this is a time to forget about those favourite rather rich ones which take longer than a few minutes to make. The family will probably be all the better for having simple desserts since they will be eating rich food at Christmas. Canned and frozen fruits are what we think of first to solve the dessert problem with fresh apples following close behind. If a double crust pie is the popular dessert with your folks, why not make a deep dish pie with a quickly made biscuit topping or serve the apples alone either baked or coddled. There are any number of milk puddings too which can be prepared in a very few minutes on top of the stove or in a pressure cooker.

Now when it comes to supper, we should think of some of the main foods usually served at supper and then think how these foods can be prepared with minimum time and effort. Eggs, served as eggs and not in mixtures, is one of the answers. Creamy scrambled eggs or a plain omelet will be sure to please everyone, and with eggs at present prices it is economical to use an extra dozen or two. This week do not think about supper dishes that have several ingredients in them and that must be very carefully put together and watched while they are cooking, think instead of big bowls of piping hot soup, either the kind you make yourself by combining a very thin well seasoned cream sauce with sieved vegetables, or the canned condensed soups to which you add equal quantities of milk. Cheese is another item which you can call on and perhaps for a change the family would like cheese sandwiches for supper. All the better for you if you have the older members of the family make their own. Last but not least a pressure cooker can be called into the service to produce many generous servings of "baked beans" for supper. For dessert fruit heads the list, either your home canned fruit or frozen fruits. And instead of those light fluffy cakes topped with icing which you sometimes make for supper, just before Christmas you can very well put some plain cookies on the supper table in their place.

Attending a fashion show in London, Princess Margaret became the centre of style-conscious eyes herself as she appeared in this jaunty hat and modelled this fur stole. Queen Elizabeth's embroidered collar also caused comment in fashion circles. The embroidery was repeated on the pockets of the coat.

THE PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Take notice that the Liquor Control Board of British Columbia, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, has designated the following area as a Licensing area for the issuance of licences under the "Government Liquor Act, 1953":

LICENSING AREA No. 146
DESCRIPTION: South Okanagan Electoral District save and except—
The Corporation of the City of Kelowna.
The Corporation of the District of Peachland.
The Corporation of the District of Summerland.
The Corporation of the District of Glenmore.

And further take notice that the Government of the Province of British Columbia will submit to a vote of the electors in the aforesaid licensing area, under the "Liquor-control Plebiscites Act", R.S.B.C. 1948, Chapter 193, the questions hereinafter set out—

- Are you in favour of the sale of beer, ale, and stout only under a public-house licence for consumption on licensed premises?
(Note: A public-house licence will be similar to the present beer-parlour licence.)
- Are you in favour of the sale of beer, ale, stout, and wine only under a dining-room licence for consumption with meals on licensed premises?
(Note: Dining-room licences will be granted to hotels, restaurants, clubs, railway-cars, steamships, and resorts.)
- Are you in favour of the sale of liquor under a dining-lounge licence for consumption with meals on licensed premises?
(Note: Dining-lounge licences will be issued principally to what are commonly known as cabarets, and to clubs.)
- Are you in favour of the sale of liquor under a lounge licence for consumption on licensed premises?
(Note: Lounge licences will be issued to cocktail-bars. They will be granted only to clubs, hotels, resorts, railway-cars, and steamships.)

The result of the plebiscite taken under the "Liquor-control Plebiscites Act" will be considered by the Liquor Control Board as having a like effect as a vote conducted under the "Government Liquor Act, 1953" when dealing with applications for licences in respect of premises which are not presently licensed under the "Government Liquor Act, 1953". It will not affect the issuance of licences in respect of premises which are presently licensed under the "Government Liquor Act," R.S.B.C., 1948, Chapter 193;

And further take notice that the Liquor Control Board will receive applications for licences in respect of premises within the aforesaid licensing area which are not already licensed under the aforesaid "Government Liquor Act" after the result of the plebiscite held under the "Liquor-control Plebiscites Act" is made known.

RETURNING OFFICER.

Evening branch of St. Stephen's W.A. reported a highly successful tea and sale under general convener-ship of Mrs. Eric Skinner on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 11 in the I.O. O.F. Hall. Gay decorations of the festive season brightened the hall for the occasion and an extra note of color was added while they lasted, by the Christmas decorations being sold at the stall under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Berry and Miss Elizabeth Theed.

Junior organizations of the church also participated in the event with the Girls' Auxiliary under Mrs. A. W. Watt operating a novelty stall and the Junior Auxiliary under Mrs. N. O. Solly, operating a fish pond.

The bazaar was opened by Rev. A. A. T. Northrup, rector of St. Stephen's Anglican church.

Mrs. D. L. Sanborn was convener of the tea while in charge of various sale stalls were Mrs. Earle B. Wilson, Mrs. C. F. M. Guernsey and Mrs. W. F. Evans, homecooking; Mrs. W. G. Gillard, Mrs. E. C. Bingham and Mrs. Alex Inch, novelties; Mrs. J. Y. Towgood and Mrs. A. W. Moyle, flowers and plants; Mrs. W. C. Baker, Mrs. A. G. Bissett and Mrs. A. K. Macleod, knitting; Mrs. Wm. Snow and Mrs. S. Meyer, aprons.

Mrs. Moyle was in charge of decorations while Mrs. A. D. Gatley handled advertising.

Nobody will be any happier this Christmas than Mrs. Joyce Mockenzie and son Ronnie, above. Home with them for the festive season is husband and father Sqdn/Ldr A. R. Mockenzie who was shot down in a Sabre Jet plane over Manchuria during the Korean war and has been the only RCAF prisoner of the Reds. He was released this month after more than two years of imprisonment.

Mr. Knowles resided in Summerland from 1920 to 1930, when he moved to Pentiction. While he lived in Summerland, Mr. Knowles was in the insurance and real estate business and also founded the advertising sheet, the Bulletin. He continued in the real estate and insurance business in Pentiction.

He was born in Watford, England and came to Canada in 1903, making his home Saskatchewan until 1919 when he moved to Vancouver and the year following to Summerland.

'The Real Meaning of Christmas' Theme for Federation Annual Meet

"The Real Meaning of Christmas" was theme when members of St. Andrew's Women's Federation met for the final meeting of the year last Thursday afternoon. The story of the birth of Christ was read from the second chapter of Luke by Mrs. A. C. Fleming and the same theme was carried out in an inspiring essay presented by Mrs. G. Harper. Emphasis was on the need for renewing the religious precepts of Christmas.

Mrs. R. Chapman returned as president with Mrs. G. Harper as 1st vice-president; Mrs. H. B. Mair, 2nd vice-president, Mrs. M. T. Laidlaw, treasurer and Miss Cockrun, secretary. Mrs. H. Milley delighted the members by singing "I Heard the Bells Ringing on Christmas Day." A prayer of praise and adoration was given by Mrs. W. Hemmingway as a fitting close to the devotional period.

Election of officers for 1955 saw tary. Honored on the occasion of her 50th wedding anniversary this week was Mrs. A. McLachlan who was presented with a life membership in the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church by Mrs. T. A. Walden and the gold pin of honor was pinned on the recipient by Mrs. Alex Smith.

Birthday congratulations were extended to Miss Campbell of Mountain View Home and to Mrs. Asay.

A gratifying financial report was presented by the treasurer, Mrs. Laidlaw, who reported a balance on hand after all obligations had been met and a sum of $150 was voted to be turned over to the board of stewards of the church.

Supply Secretary, Mrs. C. E. McCutcheon reported bedding requirements to the value of nine dollars had been sent to Burns Lake Hospital and during the year, 12 parcels valued at $115 were sent to Miss Florence Murray at the Severance Hospital in Seoul, Korea.

Mrs. A. McLachlan reported for the community friendship committee and told of sending during the year, 163 cards and making 300 calls on sick, bereaved and shut-ins.

Following the meeting, a pleasant social half-hour was spent over a delicious Christmas lunch provided by Mrs. M. Pollock, Mrs. W. Ward, Mrs. McNab and Mrs. A. Groulund.

Boxy, tapered lines mark the jacket of this attractive red wool suit with black Persian lamb adds a nice touch to the perky collar which is finished with a casual bow in self fabric. Double slit pockets are curved to the body line. The suit is worn with a black matte jersey blouse. A beret and handbag of Persian lamb complete a handsome outfit.

Greetings . . .

As we review the year 1954, we are moved to a deeper, more sincere appreciation of our friends.

Each year we realize more fully that our friendships are what make life worth living and we, therefore, like to feel that there is a spirit of friendship underlying our business relations with our customers. Our daily experiences confirm this feeling.

So we would like to take the opportunity Christmas gives us to tell you just how much we value your friendship. The press of wordly affairs may have made us neglectful in this respect but the feeling was there all the same.

May the New Year deepen our mutual respect for one another. May our strong friendship grow even stronger—and may our cordial relationship continue to expand through the many years to come.

Cordially yours,

Macil's Ladies Wear and Dry Goods Ltd.

Quarter Century of Food Research Completed by Processing Laboratory

Fruit and vegetable processing laboratory at the Summerland experimental station has completed 25 years of food technological research and a recount of these activities is contained in a quarter-century review which has been issued by the department of agriculture and in a recent issue of the Agricultural Institute Review.

The fruit and vegetable processing laboratory was established at the Summerland station in June 1929 under Officer-in-charge F. E. Atkinson who has continued to guide research at the lab during the intervening 25 years. Mr. Atkinson had worked briefly at the Summerland station previously but moved here permanently when he came here to establish the processing laboratory.

Although work of the processing lab is little known outside the experimental station, and its existence practically unknown outside the Okanagan Valley, the results of its work have been far-reaching and have had an effect on the appearance, taste and quality of many items which appear on the menu in homes right across Canada.

Primary purpose of the processing laboratory was to assist fruit and vegetable growers by developing processed forms for their product. Notable among its achievements have been the development of apple juice canning, cherry brining and glaze fruits industries. Recently the lab has been working in close co-operation with B.C. Fruit Growers own processing company, B.C. Processors Ltd., in the development of an apricot nectar and pie fillings from the many varieties of B.C. fruit.

Staff of the processing laboratory conducts research in every type of fruit and vegetable processing and other investigations have taken them into the field of frozen foods, jam preparation, processing tomato juice and in studying these products have developed miniature processing plants. Many items of equipment developed at the processing laboratory have found their way into industrial plants and have played a major role in the revolution of the fruit processing industry.

With the fruit and vegetable output of the Okanagan on a steady increase, staff at the processing lab find no time to rest on their laurels because the answer to disposing of a large portion of increasingly larger crops will be found in processed products—and when new ideas are developed, they will probably first come out of the ovens and test tubes of Summerland's fruit and vegetable processing laboratory.

And working with Officer-in-charge Atkinson—who, outside the lab still finds time to be Summerland's reeve—are food technologists C. C. Strachan and A. W. Moyles, home economist Miss Dorothy Britton, bacteriologist J. F. Bowen, chemists J. A. Kitson and J. A. Ruck, bacteriology technician E. Smith and processing technicians C. L. Lackey and F. E. G. Plunkett.

In times of national or local emergency, such as floods or forest fires, Canadians suddenly become aware that have a militia, but to Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Letson, (right) that's not good enough. He came out of retirement to determine a way to make the militia a much more accepted part of the life of Canada's youth. His aim is not only to promote enlistment in the militia but to interest professional men and to have their services available. Here he enlists the aid of Col. T. M. Medland, left, executive director of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario.

That Gay Christmas Tree Can Be The Most Dangerous Item in House

As people gather around the Christmas tree during the happy yule season, few seem to realize the potential danger that lurks in that centre of family attention. A Christmas tree, particularly after it has been indoors for a few days, is a highly combustible article and it is not possible to take too many precautions against having it turn a joyous Christmas celebration into tragedy.

The tree should be as freshly cut as possible and kept outdoors until it is set up—preferably Christmas Eve.

When the setting up process starts, the tree should be cut at the base at an angle at least one inch above the original cut. It should be set up in the coolest part of the house and away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces. It

The tree should be stood in a pan or bucket, filled with sand or coal and water, which should be maintained at as high level as possible. These points retard the drying out of the tree.

Candles should never be used on a Christmas tree or near it, and all electric lighting should bear the labels of the Underwriters Laboratory or of the Canadian Standard Association.

The tree should be inspected frequently to make sure no danger has cropped up since the installation.

Electrical circuits which are usually overloaded at Christmas time should be examined and any faulty parts replaced. Fires can start in the wall of a house because of an overloaded circuit not effectively fused.

Decorations are fire hazards, too. Decorations should be of metal, glass, asbestos or flame proof materials. And don't try to burn gift wrappings in the fireplace. The place for their incineration is outside in the yard.

Life savers that are always useful to have handy are operative fire extinguishers and buckets of water. These items should be near the Christmas tree for it is this cheerful object which is highest on the danger list and a sudden burst of flames can be checked without any further trouble by the rapid application of water or extinguisher fluid.

Another feature of social life during the festive season are the dances, concerts and social gatherings in public halls. At such functions a fire easily leads to panic—and panic can kill quicker than the actual fire.

So the public is warned that should the word "Fire" be shouted a person should walk toward nearest exit and remember never to run.

In Dresden, Ont., the same restaurants whose proprietors appeared before a commission investigating breaches of the Fair Accommodation Practices' Act refused to serve Ruth Lor, Chinese-Canadian graduate of the University of Toronto. No report by the commission has as yet been released but the government had said that education not legal power is the cure for discrimination. Miss Lor, above, was refused service in two restaurants, should not block passages or exits.

Experiments at Farm Disclose Best Vegetable Varieties for Okanagan

New and improved vegetable varieties are appearing on the seed market at an increasing rate. Because many of these varieties have been developed under eastern or southern conditions, it is not surprising that actually very few of them perform well under Okanagan condition. Every year, says L. G. Denby, trials are conducted at the Summerland Experimental Station to determine which varieties are most reliable and so should be recommended for home garden planting in this area.

Of the many available varieties of green bush beans, Rival, Logan, and Topcrop have proved to be most dependable. Cherokee Wax and Round-Pod Kidney Wax are the recommended yellow-podded varieties.

Imperida carrot, of the long bunching type, is excellent if grown on deep soil; Nancy and Nantes are excellent carrots for storing over winter.

There is a very wide choice of new sweet corn hybrids to be had. Of course (in order of maturity) Miniature, North Star, Golden Jewel, Hoosier Gold, Barbecue, Bouquet, Golden Cross Bantam and Fiesta have been excellent.

Of the summer squashes Zucchini, Early Prolific Straightneck, and Patty Pan are splendid. For fall and winter Butternut, Kitchennet, Golden Hubbard, Buttercup, Table Queen and Uconn are very worthwhile. Broccoli is an easily grown vegetable which is too seldom seen in home gardens in the Okanagan. Weltham 29 does very well in this region, and a dozen or so plants will amply provide a family of four with fresh or frozen greens.

The average small back yard plot can be a source of great satisfaction throughout the summer months, particularly if a few new vegetables are grown alongside the old stand-bys.

Peachland Hotel Now Licensed Lounge

Peachland's Totem Inn Hotel is now listed as a "Licensed Lounge" permitting the sale of wine, beer and hard liquor.

Manager Pete Spackman returned from Victoria on Monday with the licence eagerly awaited for some time. Doors were opened soon after Mr. Spackman's return and Peachland residents paid their first visit to the new Ogoogo room which adjoins the dining room.

For many years the building was known as the Edgewater Inn and was one of the valley's most popular accommodation spots. Since re-naming it the Totem Inn Hotel, the new owners have renovated it from top to bottom; today it is the pride of Peachland.

More improvements and additional rooms will follow in 1955.

Passing of Bishop Mourned in District

A host of Summerland friends were saddened last week by the sudden passing Thursday morning at Cranbrook of Right Rev. F. P. Clark, bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Kootenay, of which Summerland is a part.

Bishop Clark was 45 years of age and was only 39 when consecrated as bishop. Before election to the post of bishop, he was rector of the Church of the Redeemer in Nelson. He continued to make his home there and he is survived in Nelson by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

He was in Cranbrook to officiate at confirmation rites for a group of candidates, which he did Wednesday night, and had planned to serve communion to the class on Thursday morning.

Shortly after his consecration in Nelson he attended the Lambeth Conference at Lambeth Palace, headquarters of the Archbishop of Canterbury. He was the youngest of 330 bishops attending the conference.

A native of Toronto, Bishop Clark had an outstanding ecclesiastic career since graduating in 1932 from Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., and was ordained by the archbishop of Quebec.

He was successively curate at the Church of the Advent, Westmount

Que., rector of Holy Trinity of Kootenay and Dean of Kootenay for four years before his promotion.

He had also been curate of St. Peter's Church at Regina for two years, sub-warden of St. Chad's College in Regina, examining chaplain to bishops at Qu'Appelle, rector at Pense, Sask., and rector at St. Mathew's Church in Regina, prior to his posting to Vancouver.

He received further honors in June of this year when he received an honorary degree of Doctorate of Civil Law at Bishop's University at Lennoxville.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Funeral service has been tentatively set for Monday afternoon at Nelson.

Most popular of the new Buicks in the Century Series is the stylish Riviera, unmatched in its field for advanced design, power and performance. The Century styling for 1955 features a completely new front end with a wide-screen grille, visored headlights and a roll-edge bumper with strikingly different dual wing guards. It has four ventports instead of three as in the past, Buick's panoramic windshield, and lower rear fenders with a swept-back tail light design. The Century, which last year was the highest powered car for its price in the auto industry, has increased its engine output to 236 horsepower for 1955. The distinctive wheel covers and Buick's sensational new variable pitch Dynaflo transmission are optional accessories at extra cost.

Million Dollars Expected from Christmas Trees

Lucrative Christmas-tree cutting operations have been in full swing in the Kamloops and Nelson Forest Districts for the past six weeks. Before the traffic ends for the year some two million bushy Douglas fir trees will be on their way to brighten homes in their native province, in the prairie provinces, and to widely scattered points in the United States and Hawaii, leaving in their wake an income for British Columbians that will come close to, and possibly exceed, the million dollar mark.

On privately-owned land, trees may be cut for Christmas decorating anywhere in the province, but on crown land cutting is confined to the Kamloops and Nelson Forest Districts. The East Kootenay section of the latter district is particularly suited for the industry and well over half the production of the province comes from the area around Cranbrook and the country to the north of that centre.

There are very good reasons for prohibiting the cutting of Christmas trees on the crown lands of the coast. For one thing, the mild climate and abundant moisture causes the young fir trees to put on annual height growth of eighteen inches to two feet, or even more. This results in the annual whorls of branches being widely spaced and the trees do not present the bushy, conical shape so much desired. The terminal "leader" is too long and limber.

And that same rapid growth which is unacceptable in a Christmas tree means that trees suitable for lumber and pulp will grow in a much shorter period of time and the forest land should, therefore, be utilized to produce that type of product. On the other hand, extensive acreages of forest land in the interior are of poor site-quality, with low annual precipitation, and will not under any circumstances grow pulp or saw timber. Frosts occur fairly early in the fall months and these cause the needles to "set" firmly, so that they will remain on the trees through the cutting, shipping, and selling periods and still be in place to spread their aromatic, woody odor through the house during the festive season.

The British Columbia Forest Service, and thus the people of the province, almost always derive revenue from any Christmas tree cut, whether on privately-owned land, or in the case of those sections of the province where cutting of this type of forest product is permitted, crown land.

The only exception is in the case of privately-owned land granted prior to April 7, 1887. Trees cut from such lands are not subject to any charges. From other privately-owned lands there is a charge, known as royalty, which ranges from 1/2 cent for trees up to 12 feet in height to 25 cents for trees over 25 feet high. From crown lands, the royalty is included in the stumpage charges, which range from three cents for trees two or three feet in height up to $1.10 for trees over 20 feet high.

In the Nelson Forest District, permits to cut Christmas trees from crown lands are issued only to bona fide farmers, to enable them to supplement their incomes from agricultural pursuits. The permittees must operate the permit area to ensure continuous crops of trees, endeavor to improve the quality and quantity of the product, and minimize the fire hazard of the plot.

A Visit From St. Nicholas

(By Dr. Clement C. Moore)

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
 Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
 The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
 In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
 The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
 While visions of sugar-plums danced through their heads;
 And Mamma in her 'kerchief, and I in my cap,
 Had just settled our brains for a long winter nap,
 When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
 I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
 Away to the window I flew like a flash,
 Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
 The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
 Gave a lustre of mid-day to objects below,
 When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
 But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
 With a little old driver so lively and quick,
 I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
 More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
 And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name:
 "Now Dasher! Now Dancer! Now Prancer and Vixen!
 On Comet, on Cupid! on Donner and Blitzen!
 To the top of the porch! to the top of the wall!
 Now dash away; dash away; dash away, all!"
 As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
 When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
 So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
 With a sleigh full of toys—and St. Nicholas, too.
 And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof
 The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
 As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
 Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
 He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot,
 And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot!
 A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
 And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
 His eyes, how they twinkled! His dimples how merry!
 And his cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
 His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
 And the beard on his chin as white as the snow;
 The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
 And the smoke, it encircled his head like a wreath;
 He had a broad face and a little round belly
 That shook when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly.
 He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
 And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself;
 A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
 Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread;
 He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
 And filled all the stockings, then turned with a jerk,
 And laying his finger aside of his nose,
 And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose;
 He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
 And away they all flew like the down on the thistle,
 But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
 "HAPPY CHRISTMAS TO ALL AND TO ALL A GOOD NIGHT."

Birth of the Saviour Was Greatest Event In World's History

Pleasant as it is to dream of a "White Christmas" with its carols and gifts, feasting and merry-making, the sparkling eyes of children delighting in Santa Claus and the wonderful Christmas trees, these things never can symbolize the tremendous significance of the day.

The birth of the Saviour was the greatest event in the history of the world. In spite of all the backslidings, Christian peoples have pressed forward steadily.

However vicious and corrupt, the world today is far better than the world of pagan times; familiarity with the cross and crucifixion has abolished legal tortures and much cruelty—and, if given a chance, might shame us into banishing the curse of international viciousness for the sake of Him who became the Saviour of Mankind.

Most Beloved Carol Is 'Silent Night'

The most beloved carol of the many that are sung in all parts of the world is "Silent Night" that simple and tender German song.

Its origin was unknown for many years. Recent research, however, disclosed that it was written by Joseph Mohr, an assistant priest in Oberndorf in South Germany. The melody was composed by a schoolmaster, Franz Gruber.

The poet and the composer were part of the choir that sang the carol for the first time on Christmas Eve in the Oberndorf church in 1818.

The night it was sung the small church's organ was out of order and the choir sang to the accompaniment of a guitar.

Since then the carol has been sung to the tune of almost every musical instrument in the world and in the language of nearly all the men.

Dr. Clement Moore Was Ashamed of His Famous Poem

Dr. Clement Clarke Moore was ashamed of his famous poem, "Night Before Christmas" and would not acknowledge that he wrote it for more than 20 years.

Today, the poem which begins—"Twas the night before Christmas when, all through the house Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse—is one of the most beloved of all Christmas writings.

Dr. Moore was an aloof professor of Greek and Oriental literature in the Episcopal Seminary in New York. He wrote the poem on Christmas Eve 1822 and read it to his seven children.

He had not planned for the poem to go further than his own family but a relative who was visiting the Moores put a copy in her diary. The next year the relative's father sent it to a newspaper.

Other newspapers printed the jingles and they quickly became known all over the country. The dignified Dr. Moore was embarrassed and considered it beneath a man of his scholastic standing to be the author of children's jingles.

Twenty-two years later, however, he finally publicly admitted authorship of the jingles and it was published in book form under his name for the first time.

MAKE GIFTS ATTRACTIVE

Make your Christmas package attractive because half of the pleasure of the gift is the wrapping and opening a beautiful package. Use plenty of ribbon and gay colored paper. Add bells and Christmas ornaments to the bows. Tie ribbon about the corners and put the bows off-centre to make the package distinctive. A little disguising by putting small boxes in larger ones before wrapping adds to the mystery of the gift.

To one and all, we wish a Season bright as the Star of Christmas morn.

Christmas Can Only Be Happy One If We Do Not Neglect Our Saviour

On that first Christmas night the village of Bethlehem was crowded with people. Descendants of David, they came from every walk of life, gathering at the decree of Caesar Augustus, to the home of their fathers to be taxed. There was joy as families were reunited. But little did anyone realize that this was to be the time foretold by the prophets. Nor did they know how great a guest was to come to Bethlehem that night. And so the angel message to the shepherds was "Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes lying in a manger," for "there was no room in the inn." There the shepherds found Him—not in the room reserved for royal guests, but cradled in the hay. The wise men found Him—not in Herod's palace, but in a humble home. He came from His throne in heaven to a stable. So, mingled with the joy of that first Christmas, there is sadness that so few welcomed the Saviour. Surely had they known, many people and even the inn-keeper himself would have eagerly welcomed Mary and Joseph. It was the same as He grew to boyhood, to manhood, and entered upon His earthly ministry. He had come to His own, but they did not know Him, they did not receive Him. He was despised, finally rejected and crucified, and there were few who were His friends.

The Christmas season again finds a world of increased activity and crowded streets. Our towns and villages are again the scenes of happy family reunions such as there must have been in Bethlehem that first Christmas. This question again confronts us. Will our Christmas be a truly happy one, or will it be shadowed by the neglect of our Saviour? The answer lies with you and me.

This same Jesus, no longer in human form, but nevertheless here is patiently knocking, seeking a place where He may enter and abide. Will we receive this greatest of all Christmas gifts? Will He find hearts and lives in which to dwell? Will He find homes where He is welcome? Only as we welcome Him and make room for Him will true Christmas joy be ours and the angel message of joy and peace be fulfilled in our lives.

Christmas Message . . . Rev. J. E. Shannon

Urges Greater Recognition of True Religious Spirit of Christmas

Once again the clock of time brings to attention the advent of the world's Only Saviour. We are living in a world beset by many ills, no one seems to know the remedy. A physician once gave us the best prescription. His name was Luke and his message is found in St. Luke's gospel, chapter 2 and verse 11, "For unto you is born this day, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." Are we not losing sight of this vital truth in our time? Many things seem to overshadow the true meaning of Christmas. The greatest offender is a myth called Santa Claus. Since Christ is the Saviour, why do we foist this deception upon our children? God is against everything that "deceiveth and maketh a lie". In our festivities there ought to be worship and praise to our loving Heavenly Father who gave His beloved Son to be our Saviour, instead of making so much of the substitute, for such he has become. We have substituted one who cannot save or help for the Christ who Alone can save.

Here then is the true meaning of Christmas given in God's own book, John 3:16, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." What do our children know about Christ the Lord? They know or think they know all about the one who is supposed to represent the spirit of Christmas.

Would it not be better to teach them the true meaning of Christmas? Would it not be better to tell them the wonderful story of the Christ Child who came to Bethlehem's manger nearly 2000 years ago.

What does Christmas mean to you? Is it just a time of revelry and unbridled passions? We ought rather to give praise to God for all His great kindness to us in giving us a Saviour in whom we may find redemption by faith in His sacrifice of Himself.

Snapdragon Favorite Game 200 Years Ago

Snapdragon was a favorite Christmas game in England more than 200 years ago, it is still played in modified form in England and America.

The original game called for a quantity of raisins to be deposited in a large bowl or dish. Brandy or some other spirit was poured over the fruit and ignited. The bystanders then endeavoured to grasp a raisin, by plunging their hands, through the flames.

Truth of Redemption Has Foundation In Story of Jesus' Miraculous Birth

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the editor of this paper for asking me to write a Christmas message. Not long ago I preached from the text: "Whom will ye that I release unto you? Barabbas, or Jesus which is called the Christ?" At that time I said that the editor of a newspaper was somewhat in the position of Pilate who asked this question. To maintain his position, to be a financial success, he must give the people what they want, be it Jesus or Barabbas. It is a satisfaction to me that our editor is thus releasing the Christ. I trust that you, the people—will support him by demanding that the "Prince of Peace" be given His rightful place.

The word "Christmas" is a shortened form of "The Mass of Christ." It reminds us that from earliest Christian days it has been the time when the Church required all the faithful to make their Communion. Together with Easter it is the most important Christian festival. St. Paul said to his converts: "If Christ be not risen then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain."

But the glorious truth of redemption through Christ — His death and resurrection — is built upon the "firm foundation" of the truth of His glorious and miraculous birth. Thus we might say: "If Jesus was not the Christ — the Son of God, conceived by the Holy Spirit; and the Son of Man, born of the Virgin Mary — then His death and resurrection could not have saved us."

Jesus means Saviour. "Thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins," was the message of the angel. Thus it is right and proper that the Christmas story be so well known among us; be given such a prominent place in our religious teaching; for it is the foundation upon which all else depends.

Perhaps it is this realization that causes many, who are negligent at other times and of other Christian teachings, to celebrate Christmas and to flock to church at this season. May this Christmas with its age old message, be used of God to speak to us all. May it be the beginning of a new and deeper understanding of the great love of God, and the redemption which he hath wrought for us.

I do not need to here retell the Christmas story — so old, yet ever new. It is being told and re-told. It should be known by you all. You may hear it again most beautifully in Scripture and carol at the services of the Church. But might I just say that it was the greatest news the world had ever heard. It is still the greatest news known to mankind. In it lies the only hope for each and all of us, both in this world and in eternity.

May the love of God, as revealed in the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem, reach out and touch your life. Thus it will be a happy and holy Christmas.

Christmas Eve Memory List

- Did You Remember . . .
- . . . to take home a few extra toys. If you are expecting two or three neighborhood small fry to drop in, you can be sure six will show up. And three toys and six children do not enhance "Peace on Earth."
 - Did You Remember . . .
 - . . . to check the Christmas tree lights. Not day before yesterday. Not last week. We mean right now. A few stores are still open and you can supply new ones. Better pick up a few ornaments too.
 - Did You Remember . . .
 - . . . that you told all those people to drop in for refreshment tonight? Better check on the cake, cookies, soft drinks, and other goodies.
 - Did You Remember . . .
 - . . . those last minute Christmas cards? If not, you can send telegrams to friends too far away for cards to reach them by December 25. You can even have a messenger call at your house, while the guests you invited in for snacks are there, and probably everybody will remember someone far away who should have a Christmas greeting.
 - Did You Remember . . .
 - . . . to hang some kind of Christmas decoration outside the house, so passing strangers may enjoy some of the Christmas glow that is in your home and reflect it around your town? Remember, everyone has a part in this Christmas cheer not just your small circle, and the more cheer you scatter, the more you will gather.

God Bless Christmas Wrote Chas. Dickens

"There are many things from which I might have derived good by which I have not profited, I dare say," returned the nephew. "Christmas among the rest. But I am sure I have always thought of Christmas time, when it has come around, as a good time; a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time; and therefore, uncle though it had never put a scrap of gold or silver in my pocket, I say, God bless it!"—Charles Dickens. "A Christmas Carol."

DOOR DECORATIONS

In the last few years it has become more and more popular to decorate doors and doorways with bells and tree ornaments instead of the conventional wreath.

Your door and window frame can be made bright and cheerful by framing them with ribbon and sprigs of holly. You can hang the ribbon in festoons across, the curtains and tie at the sides in wide sash bows for colorful effect.

Puritans Outlawed Yule as Frivolous

The Puritan government of England outlawed Christmas in 1643. With the restoration of the Stuarts, Christmas customs and traditions were revived, but Christmas never regained its former prestige in England.

It is observed religiously in the churches and as a day for family reunions and social gatherings, in contrast to the lavish feasting and boisterous merry-making of olden time.

Merry-making and gift-giving come in for their share, however, on December 26 which is Boxing Day. The origin of Boxing Day antedates Christmas and can be traced to the custom of gift-giving during the Roman festival of Saturnalia.

In Christian liturgy December 26 is observed as the feast of St. Stephen, the first Christian martyr, and during the centuries when journeymen and apprentices were in the habit of levying upon their masters' customers, "Christmas Boxes" were collected on St. Stephen's day.

Yule Seal Idea Was From Denmark

This year millions of Americans have received a letter from their local chapter of the National Tuberculosis association containing Christmas seals, the seasonal reminder of the never-ending fight to stamp out the disease.

The idea was conceived by a Danish postal clerk. He thought of the idea in 1903 while mailing Christmas packages and letters.

The clerk was Einar Holboell. He mentioned it to his fellow workers and they decided it would be a great help in defraying the cost of fighting tuberculosis. The idea reached King Christian, who approved, and the image of Queen Louise was placed on the first seals in 1904.

Jacob Riis, Danish-born American, heard about the idea and sold it to the American public in 1907 through a magazine article. A Red Cross worker, Miss Emily Bissell, started the first American sales that year.

JOSEPH PROVED HIS LOVE FOR MARY; MOTHER OF JESUS

Joseph, the bible relates, had to prove his faith in and love for Mary before they were married. It is one of the great love stories of all times.

When Joseph thought of Mary he forgot the difference in their ages; she was the girl he had waited for, his beloved. They were espoused—or, as we would say, engaged—which was almost as official as being married. His heart soared on wings of the approaching wedding day, and then...

What Mary insisted had come to pass, simply could not be! Joseph wanted desperately to believe Mary, but such things just didn't happen, and if they did, they happened to somebody else.

Much as he loved Mary, Joseph was a righteous and God-fearing man and while he couldn't even think of making her a public example, he had just about made up his mind to put her away privately. That is, he thought he had made up his mind. In his heart, he knew he couldn't; what would become of her... of her child!

Then one night, after he had exhausted himself with tortured thinking, he fell asleep and the angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream: saying:

"Joseph, thou son of David, fear not..."

And when Joseph awoke, he did as the angel had bidden him, and took Mary as his lawful and cherished wife.

"Fear not" the angel spoke unto Joseph.

"Fear not" the angel spoke unto Mary.

"Fear not" the angel had declared to the shepherds of Bethlehem.

New Year's and Superstition Go Hand in Hand

Mankind has always been superstitious about New Years.

In olden times families sought a glimpse into the future by the "dipping" custom. The head of the family, with his eyes closed, opened the family Bible and indicated a passage with his finger; the text, solemnly read and interpreted was indicative of the luck—good or bad—that was in store for them.

Probably one of the most widespread superstitions concerned the first person to cross the threshold on New Year's morning. Women and light-haired men were considered unlucky, as were people who walked pigeon-toed.

In some villages, the superstition was taken so seriously that a dark-haired man was hired to be the first-footer. Going from house to house, he would be the first person to cross the threshold, thus preserving the good fortune of the community.

Anglo-Saxons, believing that something might happen when the New Year occurred often climbed upon the roof on New Year's eve so as to have a good view of any such event.

We moderns make as much noise as possible, presumably because our primitive ancestors believed that noise would keep evil influences at a distance.

Guard Against Fire This Yule Season

Guard against fire in your home this Yule season.

The average Christmas tree can go up in smoke in only a minute or so and that doesn't leave much time to call for help.

A live tree with roots packed in a bucket of earth is the safest. Be sure and keep the dirt moistened. A small tree is safer than a large one and festive trimmings can make up what is lacking in size.

Don't use lighted candles. (This may seem an unnecessary precaution in this day of electric lights, but lighted candles contribute to tragic fires every year.)

Check the wiring for the tree to see that it's not frayed and is in perfect condition. The switch for turning off and on electric lights should be at some distance from the tree. Don't plug or unplug lights beneath the tree.

Don't leave tree lights on when it isn't necessary and especially when the family is away from home. From time to time, check over the tree and see if needles near the lights are turning brown. If they have, move the lights.

Watch the calendar. New Year's is the day for the tree to go down. If you should extend the time, don't leave the lights on the tree for more than half an hour at a time.

Place the tree well away from stoves, radiators, and other sources of heat. When you smoke, stay away from the tree. Also be sure that the tree is secured in such a way that it cannot fall. Do not put it near a doorway where it might block an avenue of escape, should a fire occur.

Christmas Card Idea Originated By Englishman

Christmas cards are so much a part of the modern Yule season that one seldom stops to wonder how the idea originated and by whom.

This simple idea of wishing your friends a Merry Christmas brought honor and knighthood to the originator, Henry Cole, a middleclass Englishman.

Cole mailed his cards on a December day in 1846. The cards depicted a Victorian family assembled at the festive board and the traditional Christmas custom of giving to the poor. They also bore the now-classic greeting: A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you.

He had a thousand of the cards struck off by a lithograph. They were such a success that plain Henry Cole subsequently became Sir Henry Cole.

The cards we send today, however, a far cry from those mailed by Cole. The cards you send and receive this year will be designed by famous names in contemporary art.

A Canadian shopping for cards this year may select scenes painted by such famous people as Winston Churchill, Britain's prime minister, and famed amateur artist, and Grandma Moses, one of America's most famous artists.

The demand for cards is so great that many companies spend their entire time in designing and producing them for the holiday season.

Small Towns First To Light Outdoor Trees

It was a small town that first thought of lighting an outdoor community Christmas tree. Four communities are believed to have thought of the idea about the same time—as early as 1913. Two of them, McDonald and Germantown, were in Pennsylvania. Salem, Ore., decorated a large Sitka spruce. Riverside, Calif., illuminated a large evergreen, an Aracuria.

The first national Christmas tree was in 1924 and was sponsored by the American Forestry association. The event is now televised every year for all parts of the country to see.

The most spectacular outdoor displays in the United States are at the White House and Rockefeller Centre in New York. The New York display is possibly the most elaborate in the world.

But it was the small towns that first thought of the idea.

Today, nearly every community in the land has some kind of Christmas decorations. Many communities string colored lights across the street and decorate light posts with evergreens. Many suspend bells and stars at street intersections and have dazzling community trees.

Christmas Candles Are Traditional For Many Peoples

"To learn your luck for the year they say.

Burn a bayberry dip on Christmas day.

If the flame burns bright and the light shines clear,
Good luck will be yours through the year.

This old verse is believed in many lands around the world and is said to be one of the reasons that candles in homes are traditional around the world.

The custom is believed to have originated in Ireland. As the Irish put it: "Who knows, on some Christmas Eve, Jesus and Mary and Joseph may come again, not to Palestine, but to the Holy Isle on the farthest edge of Europe." And it is the custom that the candle can only be snuffed by one named Mary.

Their first use for Christmas is not recorded in the annals of any nation, but that the "Christ Child Candle" burned in the window on Christmas Eve is, according to an old legend, placed there to light His way if He makes an earthly visitation and in atonement for the night of His birth when there was no room for Him.

World Must Look To Bethlehem To Experience True Christmas Spirit

Matthew 1:23— "And his name shall be called Emmanuel, which being interpreted is God with us." Here is the major note of the Christmas story. It is true that Christmas as it is celebrated today means holly wreaths and trees and candles and cards and presents and homecomings and a new surge of friendship and good cheer among men. But the heart and soul of the Christmas message is "Emmanuel - God with us."

The spirit of good will and human love is born out of the consciousness that God has broken through the shadows and is with men in reality and in truth. There is something more than friendly about the term "Emmanuel" which was to describe the mission of the Christ. As Carl Knudson has said, "It is possible to be friendly and still maintain a certain reserve to withhold steady companionship or companionship of any kind. But the deepest friendship demands frequent if not constant fellowship. It expresses itself in an eager desire to share life, to give self. Real friendship means a love that does not measure sacrifice in behalf of the beloved. It is this kind of friendliness which is involved in the meaning of "Emmanuel - God with us."

In this Christmas season we should experience once again that God is with us. To experience this we must go to Bethlehem and see the Christ Child lying in a manger. Can we catch the greatness of this event? God descended down into the human realm—"to be born as a babe", and living and dwelling in our midst.

Let us go even now unto Bethlehem.

The question is however: in what way and in what attitude will we go to Bethlehem?

John Mulholland has said, recalling the visitors to Bethlehem nearly two thousand years ago—"We know nothing of these visitors to Bethlehem except this: they filled the inn. The glory of God passed by, and they knew nothing of it." The star rained its fire and the beautiful song, for the manger of Bethlehem cradled its King. But if they did know there is no record that they gave any heed.

If we should go to Bethlehem would we go as the humble poor went long ago, or as the wise men who came from lands afar, or as the soldiers marching under orders? Ah, no. How strange is the satire that we who spend the most at Christmas, who sing the most carols, who give the most, who want to exalt the Christ the most at Christmas—that we would be the seekers of comfort, the prudent and the careful who would fill the inn: overflowing while the glory of God passes us by.

All the world must go to Bethlehem though some but shut the door to the Christ when they come. All the earth must go to Bethlehem, even if some go but to slay the world's hope. All the world must go to Bethlehem, and some will find the world's wisdom there. All the earth must go to Bethlehem, for there is earth's hope.

Let us go even now unto Bethlehem—and see this Christ. —"And His name shall be called Emmanuel, which being interpreted is 'God with us'."

Egypt Rome Observed New Years in Spring

Ancient Rome and Egypt celebrated New Year in the spring. Egypt used the overflowing of the Nile as a calendar and celebrated the New Year accordingly in June.

The Babylonians began their year in March and the early Romans followed the Babylonian pattern. Bearing this in mind, the custom of invoking the gods of fertility at New Year's time—the origin of which is lost in antiquity—seems logical and appropriate.

The Romans were accustomed to hanging tiny masks of Bacchus upon trees and vines, the idea being to impart fertility to every side of the tree to which the masks were turned by the wind.

Scottish lads always had a howling good time going about on New Year's Eve switching the trunks of fruit trees and petitioning a "good howling crop."

Reflecting the fear of starvation peasant families in various parts of the world baked a special New Year's cake which they dashed against the door; member of the household hastened to pick up a piece and eat it, prayful that neither hunger or want should enter the house during the year.

That Reindeer Is Becoming a Tradition

That reindeer is becoming an American tradition.

Once upon a time there was a reindeer with a built-in flashlight bulb for a nose. You know, Rudolph, the red-nosed reindeer. From a small beginning in 1938, the little animal with the built-in beacon has become as familiar as Humpty-Dumpty and Cinderella to youngsters everywhere.

First invented as a sales giveaway promotion for Montgomery Ward by Robert L. May, Rudolph was featured in many free booklets before he became associated with Christmas. Songwriter Johnny Marks liked the title "Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer," so he wrote a song about it. He was sure he had a success that he started his own Publishing company, using "Rudolph" as his first release. Gene Autry made the initial recording, and that one record sold 2,000,000 copies.

Last year there were 16 different recordings of the song for sale ranging from boogie-woogie by Sugar Chile Robinson to Bing Crosby, and cowboy singers.

Christians Sing of Christ Who Entered Into Daily Life of Men

St. John, in his gospel, skips over the details of the birth of Jesus and seeks to find rather the eternal meanings in that birth. Among the things he tells us is this: "The Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us." (St. John 1:14). I have been fascinated by the literal translation of the Greek word John used. Literally he says "The Word became flesh and tabernacled among us" or "pitched his tent among us."

A tent is not a permanent abode; a fixed dwelling place. It is something that is used on a journey, when we shall be staying at most for a few days at any given spot. It is one of the symbols of the trail, of the pilgrimage, of the on-going way. It is for this reason that I like to think on this text.

Whatever deep theological meanings may be wrung out of the Incarnation, this much at least it means to me. That the Son of God has "pitched His tent" along the same trails of life that we humans have to travel. One of our modern poets can sing of being "lonesome and afraid. In a world I never made." The Christian sings rather of the God who entered into human life, ordinary, every day life, and who has thereby made holy all the common tasks and daily duties of us men.

Home is made holy for it was in and through a home that God entered this world. Parenthood is sanctified, for He has taught us to pray "Our Father." The work shop is a shrine, for He is the carpenter's helper in His childhood. The very world of flower and hillside, of rain and storm, echoes for us the enduring tales he told.

Our griefs and our sorrows are not meaningless, nor in vain, for He has sorrowed at the grave of His friend. Our loves and friendships have in them a kinship with eternity, for He spoke of how much simple kindness and help mean in the sight of God. And the dreamings and aspirations of our souls are not hopeless, for He has linked them in the Beatitudes with the blessings of God.

The Word became flesh and pitched his tent among us. The road of life is a hallowed road, from birth to death, for He has trod it. The sojourns of our souls are sanctified by sojourning of His soul, in the same circumstances. No aloof and unknowable God comes to us in the Christmas story, but one who has "pitched His tent" in the same fields wherein we are called to pitch ours. Let us walk then with reverent feet for the ground on which we tread is made Holy by His treading.

This, too, is part of the Christmas Message.

Christmas Message Rev. A. F. Irving

Questions Start Train of Events As at Time of Birth of Christ

Matt. 2:2 "Where is He that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen His star in the east, and are come to worship Him."

Questions are a most effective way of teaching, as it gets people thinking. Great use is made of this method in the Bible as there are some 3,298 questions in the 1,189 chapters in the Bible. In the old testament the next to the first question is directed toward Adam, the first of God's creation, "Where art thou" (Gen. 3:9), while in the New Testament the first question is directed toward Christ, "Where is He?"

This question started a train of events. The wise men asked the question and soon word came to King Herod, whom, we are told, "was troubled and all Jerusalem with him." If a king were really born that would mean that he, Herod, would eventually lose the throne. This led to his demanding of the chief of priests and scribes the information about where Christ would be born, his interview with the wise men, their going home by another way, and the death of many innocent children in and around Bethlehem, while the baby Jesus was safe on the journey to the land of Egypt.

In this question we also see the faith of these wise men, they did taking the message they had received by some supernatural means as a settled fact, they asked, "Where is He that is born King of the Jews?"

The answer to this great question was found in the Word of God. Herod turned to the Chief Priests and scribes to find his answer. The Word of God, the Bible, will give you the answer to every sincere question you may have regarding Christ.

Today as we ask the question "Where is He?" we are required to search for the answer. As we look around us we realize that He "Christ" is lost amid a forest of evergreen trees, a great array of decoration and brightly colored light, and behind a great pile of gifts and Christmas cards. In many a case the name of Christ has been lost from the word Christmas, and it is written "Xmas"; X marks the spot where something was.

The only place you will find Christ is by looking in the Word of God. There you will find Him as God's only begotten Son, Our wonderful Saviour. May our Christmas celebration this year, be one at which Christ, the person of Christmas, would receive a welcome, if He should suddenly appear.

May God's richest blessings be upon each one of you as we celebrate the birthday of our Saviour at this blessed season.

Council Will Back School Board In Request for Continuing Bus Route

Summerland municipal council will get behind the school board in an effort to preserve present school bus routes in the district. This decision followed a presentation to the council Tuesday by school board representatives which showed that all but two or three of the present routes will be disqualified for provincial grants if new transportation restrictions announced by the department of education are applied here.

School board was represented at the meeting by Chairman J. Y. Towgood, T. S. Manning, Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh and board secretary B. A. Tingley, who outlined the situation regarding transportation to the council.

Purpose in presenting the problem to the council, it was explained, was that if grants are discontinued on any of the routes and the board wishes to continue operating these busses, full cost will fall on the municipality. Last year transportation cost $13,771 with the provincial government covering 80 per cent ($8,288) by grant and the municipality paying the remaining $5,508.

New regulations are that no grants will be paid on transportation for less than two and one half miles for primary pupils and three miles for the older ones. And no grant will be paid on any route on which less than eight pupils are carried.

Mr. Tingley said two Trout Creek runs and possibly the Garnet Valley route will be the only ones to qualify here. He said it was possible the Giant's Head route might be justified although it is shorter than the minimum distance but some pupils have to walk as much as two miles to get to the bus pick-up points.

No Details Yet On Rink Proposal

Reeve F. E. Atkinson at council meeting Tuesday announced a statement on the new proposal for taking over the Summerland Arena could not be made at that time since council legal adviser, John S. Aikins did not have time to thoroughly explore legal aspects of the plan and to give an opinion.

Reeve Atkinson stated it is hoped to have a meeting on Jan. 3 with Mr. Aikin and the Rink Association executive and a statement will be forthcoming following that meeting.

At Tuesday's meeting he presented a prepared statement which disclosed, without details, that the new proposal eliminates payment by the municipality of the $24,000 purchase price for the building, which would reduce the money required to $38,000 to $40,000.

Following is text of the reeve's statement.

"I had hoped that the Council could explain today a plan on which it is living to proceed to prepare a bylaw. However we have been seeking legal advice and this will not be available until at least Jan. 3.

"The first point involved concerns the $24,000.00 of outstanding bonds. The Council does not feel that the Corporation should have anything to do with this item. If the legal problem can be satisfactorily resolved regarding these bonds the bylaw would be for somewhere between $38,000.00 and $40,000.00 and not for the $62,000.00 as mentioned in the referendum.

"I may say that this problem regarding the arena is quite involved and every step will have to be worked out in complete detail before the bylaw is submitted. In this way the ratepayers will know exactly what they are voting for."

Insurance Rates Cut For Okanagan Driver

The majority of Summerland motorists will benefit from substantial cuts in car insurance premiums in 1955.

Local agents for independent companies who are the chief underwriters in this district state that careful driving plus stricter law enforcement is reflected in lower rates for Okanagan car owners.

Young married men and single women under twenty-five who are principal operators of their cars and who have a three years accident free record will benefit by the largest reductions.

Males under 25, owners or principal operators pay the top premiums, but the three year no claims category has been added to this group to reward the careful drivers.

Owners of light commercial vehicles used only for pleasure will generally pay less for their insurance.

The owner of a car with no drivers under 25 using his car for pleasure and carrying only minimum limits of $5 to 10,000 Public Liability, $1,000 Property Damage in 1954 paid the "independent" rate of $19.00. The same coverage in 1955 will cost $17.00.

At the midnight chime of the bells, a New Year will cross the horizon of Time . . . bringing with it the promise of a page, unread . . . the hope of a new day's dawning . . . the inspiration of a fresh beginning. May the promise be fulfilled, the hope realized, and the inspiration rewarded with achievements for you and yours in 1955

An early Sunday morning fire left nothing of the Summerland General hospital but a blackened foundation, twisted pipes and a wrecked chimney. The few patients were removed a few minutes after the alarm was sounded. A defective chimney was believed to have caused the fire. Estimate of the loss was $20,000. Insurance carried was $4,000 on the building and $1,000 on equipment. A mass meeting was scheduled to consider replacement of the building.

Reserve supply of domestic water was becoming alarmingly low due to cold weather.

Frost-proof storage in the orchards and the need for greater storage facilities at shipping points was being advocated by the Farmers' Institute.

Hot drinks for the school children were being provided during the winter months by the Women's Institute.

With a view to building a box factory to take care of all requirements of the district, Summerland Lumber Co. purchased a site near the KVR station.

Summerland temperature ranged from 52 degrees on Sunday to 9 below on Wednesday.

Washington State apple growers were experimenting with pressure tests to determine apple maturity.

W. Johnston reported he had picked up Australia on his new six-tube radio.

FIVE YEARS AGO — 1949

Two defeated candidates who tied at the polls in the December election with 257 votes each, were nominated to contest the by-election. They were Harvey Wilson and Norman Holmes.

A fall of 18 inches of snow in 24 hours on top of seven inches the previous night completely paralyzed local traffic. The record snowfall, however, was followed by a Chinook and hot sun which together were making short work of the thick snow blanket.

Thieves forced the door of Summerland Sheet Metal and Plumbing works and carried off a small safe containing about $200 in checks but no cash.

Announcement came from the premier's office in Victoria that a start would be made early in 1950 on Okanagan flood control, with the federal government bearing 50 per cent of the cost.

The Thrall of Fear

When Premier Malenkov was recently entertaining foreign diplomats at Moscow he jovially remarked, "You're not afraid of us, are you?" When I read that it set me wondering what prompted the question. Was it that the atmosphere of the gathering was restrained in the presence of the new Soviet leader, about whose policy, as successor to Stalin, they were uncertain? Or was the question intended as an intimation that he, Malenkov, was not going to pursue the sinister and frightening policies of Stalin, and wished to assure the diplomats and the western world that they had nothing to be afraid of so far as he was concerned?

Stalin did have western governments and peoples scared, or at least puzzled by his poker-faced "peace" talk, combined with his cold war in Europe and hot ones in the Far East. The latter have been halted for the time being, and Moscow has been offering vague proposals for relieving the cold war in Europe, the obvious purpose of which is to divide and disarm the western powers. If Mr. Malenkov is sincere in his expressed desire for fearless friendship with the western world, we may then assume that he has realized the folly of Stalin's iron curtain and boggy-man policies, which were responsible for the North Atlantic Treaty and general rearmament of the West. Perhaps Mr. Malenkov himself is afraid.

A friend of mine, an artist, who recently visited Russia with a party on the invitation of the Soviet government, in describing his experiences during the tour, tells of how on three different occasions he "felt fear—something I had not felt during my three years of war." He could not explain it or give any reason for the sensation of fear that came over him. He admired the pleasing colors of the principal buildings, both exterior and interior, which were in striking contrast with the drabness of the people, both men and women, in their dun colored and shabby clothing. Wherever the visitors went they were accompanied by interpreters, which almost entirely deprived them of privacy. Whenever they asked questions the interpreter seemed to suspect implied criticism and they were given evasive answers.

All that perhaps explains my friend's periodic fits of fear. But I imagine he caught it from the Russian people who, he said, were strangely silent on the streets and particularly in theatres and public meetings. As for the Russian artists, my friend visited one of these in his studio and considered him a very fine painter, who painted conventional pictures, which the government bought at good prices, enabling him to live in comfort, and then for his own pleasure he painted other pictures which could not be publicly exhibited.

An element of fear seems to prevail not only among the Russian people, but evidently also among the Soviet rulers who are afraid of each other, as witness the periodic purges in high government circles. The liquidation of Beria, who was himself the Lord High Executioner under Stalin, was an amazing example of Communist frightfulness. Premier Malenkov was obviously afraid of Beria as head of the national police, which might be used against his authority in the event of a dispute among members of the presidium. The sudden death of Vishinsky in New York may have been a lucky exit for that brilliant prosecuting lawyer in the mass trials and purges at Moscow twenty years ago. In spite of his virulent attacks on American politics Vishinsky appeared to enjoy the freedom and social life of New York. But in his last photograph, which appeared in the press on the morning of his death, his face was a study in fearful apprehension.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER THIRTIETH NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-FOUR

The Same Old Wish... peace, happiness; prosperity

HERE is, as always, a kind of magic about the beginning of a new year and everyone, greeting old friends with good wishes, feels that we, all of us, are making a new start, even if the calendar is an artificial arrangement to conveniently record the changing of seasons.

What, everyone is probably thinking, does 1955 hold in store for men? And what, we ask in the next breath, does it hold for the world?

No one can guess that. But there will be many strange things—some good and some bad. Last year, moving from crisis to crisis, yet somehow always avoiding final tragedy, showed us how little you can reckon ahead in these times; how barren is all prophesy; how reality is likely to be by far stranger than the wierdest fiction.

There is something that is perhaps a little comforting. Next year for most of us will be very much like 1954 and the years before.

Look back over the shocks and alarms of the last few years. Look back over the events that will fill the history books a century from now and you will see how little they affected the lives of the majority of people in this country. Minorities, everywhere have been uprooted, persecuted, ruined; majorities, certainly in North America, have lived just about as they have always lived while world revolution seethed about them.

Man is a creature marvelous in his powers

At The Gateway... a two-fold challenge to meet

STANDING at the gateway of another year, we again hear the plea for us to rededicate ourselves to the task of building for our children and those to follow them a greater world fellowship.

It is the spirit of youth speaking... the spirit of youth resurgent in the minds and years of all good Canadians stimulated by the arrival of another New Year with its promise and its problems... the problems are grave, striking directly at the freedoms under which this nation and its people have flourished... the freedoms to which all the world aspires... the freedoms that can mean eternal peace.

And thus—during 1955—we are involved in a twofold task. Our defences must be strengthened to forestall envious powers that do not hesitate to

Tide of Progress

ALTHOUGH the world has passed through periods of stress far greater than Lord Macaulay could have imagined when he wrote the following lines in 1830, it is with thankfulness we realize that we live in the world of great prosperity that he was able to foresee; and in his own words, particularly for us in Canada, the tide is still coming in.

"THE present moment is one of great distress. But how small will that distress appear when we think over the history of the last forty years; a war, compared with which all other wars sink into insignificance; taxation, such as the most heavily taxed people of former times could not have conceived; a debt larger than all the public debts that ever existed in the world added together... Yet is the country poorer than in 1790? ... Now and then there has been a stoppage, now and then a short retrogression; but as to the general tendency there can be no doubt. A single breaker may recede; but the tide is evidently coming in.

If we were to prophesy that in the year 1930 a population of fifty millions, better fed, clad, and lodged than the English of our time, will cover these islands... that machines constructed on principles yet undiscovered will be in every house... that our debt, vast as it seems to us, will appear to our great-grandchildren a trifling encumbrance... many people would think us insane. We prophesy nothing; but this we say: if any person had told the Parliament which met in perplexity and terror after the crash in 1720 that, in 1830 the wealth of England would surpass all their wildest dreams... that London would be twice as large and twice as populous, and that nevertheless the rate of mortality would have diminished to one-half of what it then was... that stage coaches would run from London to York in twenty-four hours, that men... would be beginning to ride without horses, our ancestors would have given as much credit to the prediction as they gave to Gulliver's Travels... We cannot absolutely prove that those are in error who tell us that society has reached a turning point, that we have seen our best days. But so said, all who came before us, and with just as much apparent reason.

Mid-Week Message

Fear not; for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine. (Isaiah 43:1) Read 11 Timothy 1:7-12.

At the close of morning devotions, when the final amen was said, a small lad reminded the family that they were not through with their devotions. He said that God wanted to speak to them. So they remained silent for a moment. Then the lad added, "God says to everyone here, 'Fear not'."

There is a "fear-not" for every possible case and every kind of fear. When God asks, "Why are ye fearful?" we are without excuse. To be afraid keeps us from being at our best. It paralyzes the centre of life.

It is a part of God's holy covenant that we serve Him without fear. He has redeemed us. "God and of love and of a sound mind." To "fear not" in the simple and natural consequence of earnestly seeking and faithfully trusting the Lord. Since we belong to Him, we need not be afraid.

PRAYER

We thank Thee, our heavenly Father, for the security Thou hast offered us. May we have that perfect love that casts out fear. Enable us to put our confidence in Thy guidance, for Thou carest for us. In Jesus' name. Amen.

CBC Gets Hot

CBC press agent, R. C. Frazer, was extremely "het up" over my column on subsidized advertising. He says that if I had taken the trouble to telephone CBC to get the facts, I could have been put right.

Those who have tried to get the facts from CBC will laugh loud and long over that. Watson Sellar, the Auditor-General of Canada, has been trying to get the facts from CBC ever since 1951, and has been consistently cold-shouldered. So evasive is the CBC when questioned about finances, the Auditor-General had to qualify the audit certificate. He said quite bluntly that the manner in which CBC kept its accounts during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1954 "was not found to be conducive to satisfactory audit."

Mr. Fraser, himself, as a director of Press and Information Services (a fancy title for a press agent) ought to do some telephoning. He should telephone his boss, A. Davidson Dunton, and get permission to publish a list of those advertisers who pay the whole bill for their show, and those who pay only part of the bill.

When even the Auditor-General is confused by CBC tactics, what's a poor columnist to do? Here's what Mr. Fraser, when talking about subsidized advertising, has to say. See if you can make any sense out of it.

"CBC time and talent charges to advertisers are based on 'circulation'. At the same time it must be recognized that, because of our relatively small population, we may for many years have a situation where the number of television viewers available to the sponsor will not warrant the passing along to the sponsor of all production charges on some types of programs."

What does that mean? Surely, translated into straight English, it means that some sponsors are subsidized and some aren't. Why all the weasel words? And why go on to say, "Sponsors will pay the full cost and more on other types of programs."

I have watched many CBC shows on Television. I can find nothing to show the viewer what programs he pays for out of his taxes and what programs the advertiser deserves full credit for. Surely this should be made clear. Or has CBC been trying to confuse the issue? What advertisers are the pets? What advertising agencies are getting the breaks?

Mr. Fraser suggests that I do not know the basic tenets of advertising, and he insultingly lists a few of the elementary principles. It is rather amazing to find such advertising zeal and skill in the CBC, which is forever throwing out insults at "commercial" radio. Mr. Fraser is beginning to sound more commercial than most private broadcasters ever were!

There is one basic tenet of advertising I know pretty well. If the advertiser wants a good show, with plenty of dancing girls, he should pay the shot for it from a published rate card. There should be no secret about those rates and costs, particularly in a government agency. If Mr. Fraser really wants to give forth with information, let him tell us what advertisers pay the full bill, and what advertisers pay only part!

Clever Cooking . . .

Whether designed for the New Year season or later mid-winter entertaining, a buffet supper party will long be remembered if the setting is a home where genuine hospitality prevails, the hostess one who graciously enjoys the party with her guests, and the supper table is well appointed.

Buffet service for a supper party is ideal for it breaks down formality and at the same time relieves the hostess of considerable work. In our homes today a buffet party is far removed from the elaborate buffets of a century ago. The origin of the expression "buffet" applying to the serving of food goes back to France where, in entertaining royalty and other dignitaries the feast would be lavishly arranged on a tiered continuous table placed against the long wall of the banquet room. The famous French chef Antonin Carême, described as an outstanding food artist, is credited with simplifying the buffet to some extent and making it a more popular service. And so the tiered buffet became a flat table, sometimes being moved away from the wall. However, in our homes today, if it is possible, we do like to have our buffet table against a wall or window with the decorations across the back and the food arranged at both ends and across the front.

In planning a buffet supper the first thing to be considered is the number of guests. The smart hostess does not invite more guests than she can comfortably accommodate. The size of the dining room, the extent of china and silverware, both must be taken into consideration in planning the size of the party. Eight to twelve guests is a convenient number for the average hostess. The menu is very important and here one point that must not be overlooked is that the guests are going to serve themselves. So if you are going to be a buffet supper hostess, make it easy for your guests, eliminate embarrassment and plan to have foods which lend themselves to simple service. The perfect hostess will also thoughtfully consider her menu from another standpoint. She will include only dishes which can be prepared some time in advance, so that she will have little to do immediately before supper is served except to arrange the food on the table.

A word is in order on table arrangements. The dining room buffet may be used as a supplementary serving table, but the supper itself should be served from the dining table. If the room is large the extended table may be left in the centre, but not if it should be pushed back against the wall or window to allow more room for guests to serve themselves. A cut-work or lace cloth makes an attractive table covering, or a damask cloth will serve the purpose, but in either case the cloth should entirely cover the table and extend one foot over the edge. The cutlery and napkins should be placed in groups as they will be used. If there are to be more than eight guests, two containers for each food should be on the table. If there is not sufficient space on the table for dessert, or if a frozen dessert is being served, it can be brought in to the buffet table after the first course. As for serving the beverage, one of the hostess' most intimate friends at the party might be asked to pour the coffee either from the end of the table or from a side table.

Well-made plans for a buffet supper pay dividends. The first thing is to decide the menu, next to do the shopping and then go to work in preparing the food and the table. Most buffet suppers fall into a pattern something like this— for the first course a fruit or vegetable juice or a fruit punch with savoury canapés or small crackers, the main course a substantial hot or cold dish together with a salad or two, relishes and hot rolls or bread and finally dessert and coffee.

Remember this is a party so, the main course can be more elaborate than for the regular family supper. If a hot dish is being served either chicken or turkey a la king, a curry or a casserole of creamed poultry and mushrooms would be suitable. Along with this you would want a crisp salad like tossed greens or a combination of apples, celery and nuts or cabbage with celery or apples and a plate of relishes suited to the main dish being served. A platter of assorted sliced meats such as jellied tongue, roast turkey and baked ham is popular for a cold main course and it is quite all right provided the meat is very tender, tender enough that the guests can easily cut it with their forks. Individual moulds of jellied meat or poultry are well worth the extra effort of making them as, too, is a delectable mousse of chicken or turkey. The main course of the meal might be centered around a substantial salad of chicken, turkey or fish and in this case it is a decided advantage to your guests to make up the salads individually and arrange them for easy serving on a flat platter. And no matter what the main course, a bowl brimful of crisp potato chips is an enjoyable accompaniment.

As for the type of dessert, this will depend largely on what is planned for the main course. If a fairly rich creamy dish is being served then a light fruit dessert or sherbet, with cookies or rather a plain cake would be best. If on the other hand the main course is not very rich, then ice cream, with or without sauces, or a moulded cream dessert or torte would make a delightful and balanced ending to your buffet supper.

Free Farm Booklet Aid To Economy In Orchard Operation

Bank of Montreal Offers Valuable Help to Building Bigger Profits

Every fruit grower knows that real profits are usually the outcome of real planning. An accurate knowledge of his costs and yields make his orchard pay better. The Bank of Montreal has available a Farm Account Book which gives him just this information. It reduces the complicated financial operations of a modern farm into simple, easily-kept-up records.

"I can heartily recommend this book to every orchardist in the district," says Ivor Solly, West Summerland B of M manager. "It was prepared for farmers by the Federal Department of Agriculture. By spending a few minutes each day or so with these records, a grower will soon know exactly where he stands in every aspect of his farming operations. He will know where he is making money, how much it is and where he should cut his losses."

The book includes a permanent record of varieties, crop yields and soil treatments. This provides a valuable check on the year-to-year development of the orchard or farm. Mr. Solly will gladly supply a copy to any fruit grower. There is no obligation.

MR. and MRS. ALF McLACHLAN Mr. and Mrs. Alf McLachlan Honored By Friends on 50th Anniversary

The McLachlans have lived 39 of their 50 years of married life in Summerland, coming here from Leamington, Ont., where they were married in 1913. Five of the seven children also live in Summerland a sixth living in Penticton and the other, Russell, was killed in the service of the RCAF as an air gunner during the war.

Mr. McLachlan operated a greenhouse in Leamington before coming to Summerland and continued the same business here up until his retirement a few years ago when the business was taken over by his son Joe.

Valerie Tingley Says Wedding Vows In Pretty Parkdale Christmas Rites

Nuptial vows were repeated under a holly arch in an attractive Christmas setting in Parkdale Baptist Church, West Summerland, on Dec. 20, when Valerie Jeanne Tingley became the bride of William Allan Tunbridge of Mission City. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bedford A. Tingley of West Summerland, and the groom son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Tunbridge of Mission City.

Rev. Lyle Kennedy, pastor of the church, officiated at the rites.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, the bride was radiant in a strapless gown of French chantilly lace and nylon net over slipper satin. The Basque bodice was fitted and topped by a bolero jacket featuring an Elizabethan collar and lily-point sleeves. A red-tinge effect in her bolero skirt opened in front to reveal pleated nylon underskirt. Her chapel veil of French illusion net fell from a seed pearl tiara. She wore pearls, a gift of the groom and her shower bouquet was centered by a mauve orchid with feathered mums and mauve laceon tufts.

Bride's attendants were Miss Mary Stewart as maid of honor and Miss Merrilynne Tunbridge, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. A brother of the groom, Victor Tunbridge of Kamloops, served as best man and ushers were Fred Tunbridge and Ernie Stack.

The maid of honor wore a yellow strapless gown topped by a lace jacket and carried a colonial bouquet of mauve feathered mums and wore a matching floral headpiece. Mauve net and lace shawl covered the strapless net dress of the bridesmaid who carried colonial bouquet of yellow feathered mums and wore a floral headpiece to match.

During signing of the register, Miss Evelyn Daniel sang "I'll Walk Beside You", Miss Ruth Dale was organist.

Assisting the principals in receiving guests at the reception which followed in the church hall, mother of the bride, was dressed in a poueok blue dress with coral accessories and wore a coco-mo carnation corsage. Mother of the groom was in burgundy velvet with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Christmas decorations were used in the hall and the bride's table covered with a white lace cloth, was centered by the wedding cake and was decorated with holly and white tapers.

Toast to the bride was proposed by R. A. MacDonald.

Assisting in serving at the reception were Mrs. Vince Crowley, Mrs. Fred Tunbridge, Mrs. Ted Weeks, Mrs. Wm. Donaldson and Misses Evelyn Daniel, Pearl Bolton, Mitchiko Iwayoshi and Mildred Clark.

For going away on a wedding trip through the western states, the bride changed to a bright blue knitted suit trimmed with white angora, fur coat and winter white accessories and wore an orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home in Mission City.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Tunbridge, Miss Merrilynne Tunbridge, Ernie Stack, J. Tunbridge and Miss Evelyn Daniel of Mission City; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tunbridge of Chilliwack; Sapper and Mrs. Vince Crowley, F. H. Lee of Vancouver; Victor Tunbridge of Kamloops and Mrs. Wm. Donaldson of Langington, B.C.

Former Stage Artist Here As Evangelist

Miss Ella B. Parmenter, formerly of London, Eng., and now a resident of Windsor, Ontario, will be the evangelist conducting revival meetings in the Pentecostal Church commencing Sunday Jan. 2.

Ever since the woman of Samaria proclaimed Jesus as Messiah, and Mary Magdalene bore the first news of the Risen Lord, women have filled a large place in spreading the Gospel. This has come to be recognized in a far greater measure in the present day.

Miss Parmenter is one of those whom God has been pleased to call and equip for evangelism in Canada. Before she was converted to Christ, Miss Parmenter was an entertainer in night clubs and cabarets of London, Eng., where she conducted her own school of dancing. Coming to Canada for her health, she was converted in Toronto, and has been for years a preacher of the gospel by which she was saved. During the meetings here, Miss Parmenter will relate the remarkable story of her conversion from the realm of professional dancing.

Noted for her keen insight into human nature, and for her clear logical presentation of gospel, Miss Parmenter is considered Canada's first lady evangelist.

Pastor J. E. Shannon and the congregation of the Pentecostal Church join in inviting the public to hear this outstanding evangelist week nights, except Monday and Saturday, at 8 p.m. and on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Meetings will continue until Sunday, Jan. 16.
